Report 43 Killed as Jet Explodes on Takeoff

Taylor to Urge N. Viet Raids?

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor believes that U.S. air strikes against Communist bases and supply lines in North Viet Nam and Laos could contribute to victory in South Viet Nam.

He also believes that the outcome of the anti-Communist guerrilla war is "very much in doubt."

MAXWELL D. TAYLOR

The ambassador's appraisal, made in an interview with Life magazine, set off speculation that he might recommend an escalation of the war when he meets this week with President Johnson in Washington. Taylor flies home Wednesday.

"Military action outside the country, just as pure military action inside the country, will not win it itself," Taylor cautioned in the interview.

"Let us say generally that the issue is very much in doubt. The winner will be the one that has the ultimate will to win. But the military aspect is only one piece of it."

U.S. policy makers, dissatisfied with the way the war has been going, have been studying the possiblity of extending to the north to check support of the Viet Cong.

CHINA INTERVENTION

Some observers fear Communist China then might take a direct hand.

Taylor said the Communists have grown in strength despite heavy losses.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, said in the Life interview that body counts show 12,000 Viet Cong have been killed so far this year compared with 6,000 government casualties.

He said actual Communist losses probably totaled 18,000.

"It is absolutely inconceivable to me that the Viet Cong could ever militarily defeat the armed forces of South Viet Nam," Westmoreland said.

Saigon was hit yesterday by its most serious antigovernment riot since Premier Tran Van Huong took power two and a half weeks ago.

Huong ordered police and paratroopers to use tear gas to disperse a march of 1,000 Buddhists on the government palace.

★ ★ ★

An earlier Buddhist demonstration in which a score of persons were injured and 40 arrested touched off the palace march.

Lost Hunter Leaves Wilds

Was Missing in U. P. Woods Since Friday

HOUGHTON (AP) — Missing since Friday in frigid, snow-choked Upper Peninsula woods, a 33-year-old Grand Rapids deer hunter found his way out today.

Robert Fisher, a bridegroom of about 13 months and an engineer, complained of frostbitten feet, but otherwise seemed in good spirits, said Deputy Sheriff Jerry Buschell, who talked by telephone with Fisher.

Fisher walked out of the woods at Messner's Mill in the community of Toivola, about five miles north of the village of Donken, outside of which he disappeared.

Buschell ordered Fisher brought immediately to a hospital in nearby Hancock for examination.

★ ★ ★

Fisher found his way out as authorities expressed "fear of the worst" in his disappearance in an area 20 miles southwest of Houghton. Searchers had found the woods choked by two feet of snow. Overnight temperatures had ranged down to 20 there.

ONE FIRE

Fisher said he got a fire started Friday night, but was unable to get one started either Saturday or Sunday night, his matches having become damp.

★ ★ ★

He said he stayed alive by covering himself with boughs of pine and cedar trees.

Strikes Settled, Ford Preparing to Roll Again

Starts Calling Back 80,000 to Make Up Lag in Production

DETROIT (AP) — With the last of its local strikes settled, Ford Motor Co. plans to begin turning out automobiles again tomorrow.

The first of 80,000 laid off or strike-idled employes returned to manufacturing plants over the weekend and passenger car assembly lines tentatively were scheduled to begin rolling again tomorrow in Dallas, Louisville and Wixom.

★ ★ ★

Three truck lines, which the strikes did not shut down, continued today, but Ford said those at Kansas City and Mahwah, N. J., may be forced down because of a lack of parts from tonight until Friday. The Louisville truck line is to continue through.

MAY BE WEEK

Ford said it may be a week before it gets its coast-to-coast network of 17 assembly plants fully back into the 1965 model car production race.

Ford, crippled since Nov. 6 because of what it called parts shortages resulting from United Auto Workers Union walkouts, had lost production ground to its rivals, General Motors and Chrysler.

In what the company called the cumulative effect of the parts shortage, the last assembly line had closed down Friday night.

★ ★ ★

The strike at a key parts plant in Sterling Township, Mich., was disposed of yesterday. Strikers at the 6,500-man plant ratified an agreement reached earlier.

LAST SETTLEMENT

Settlements also were announced at the two Wayne, Mich., assembly plants — last of the nine which went on strike. Their 3,000 employes were called to ratification meetings today.

All nine local plant strikes had been over local agreements to supplement the national Ford-UAW agreement of Sept. 18.

Over the weekend the company sent recall-to-job telegrams to thousands of workers over the country.

SALUTE TO YOUTH — Olympic champion Hayes Jones (left) presented his gold medal to the youth of Pontiac at the "Salute to Youth" rally held in Pontiac Northern High School yesterday. Jones won the first place medal in the 110-meter hurdles held at the 1964 World Olympics in Tokyo. Accepting the hard-earned award on behalf of Pontiac's junior citizens is Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Pontiac Pays Tribute

900 Attend 'Salute to Youth'

Pontiac's junior citizens had their day yesterday as over 900 proud parents, participants and spectators filled Pontiac Northern High School's auditorium in the city's first official "Salute to Youth."

★ ★ ★

"Salute to our youth," said Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., "is Pontiac's number one project."

"People are often too quick to criticize youngsters instead of praising them for their assets and achievements.

"While we are saluting Pontiac's young people, we want to give their parents a pat on the back. For it is their encouragement and direction that acts to the children's good."

★ ★ ★

STANDING OVATION

As the spotlight focused on a former Pontiac youth and present Olympic gold medal winner, Hayes Jones, the applause rang out and the entire assemblage rose to its feet in a standing ovation.

"I thank you, all," said Jones. "And I would like to have you meet the two people who gave me the courage and the strength to go on, my mother and my wife."

Following this brief introduction, Jones turned to Mayor Taylor, holding the gold medal he won at the Tokyo Olympics.

"Mr. Taylor," he said. "I am honored to be able to give this medal to you for the youth of Pontiac."

In accepting, Taylor stated that the medal would be displayed in City Hall where it would be kept in trust should Jones ever desire to have it returned.

The 205 youngsters honored during the three-hour ceremony were awarded certificates signed by officials of the sponsoring committee, Pontiac Citizens' Committee on Youth, and lapel pins.

Each pin bore the emblem of its winning category. There were 14 categories in all.

Thousands Around Globe Pay Tribute to Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—A cluster of white rosebuds and jasmine lay among hundreds of other floral offerings on a grave in Arlington National Cemetery.

A somber President and Mrs. Johnson, both dressed in black attended a special memorial service in Austin, Tex.

Air Force planes flew over Cape Cod in the missing buddy formation — one position vacant.

In these and many other ways a thoughtful nation paused yesterday to remember, and pay tribute, on the first anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

The tragedy that had reached around the world was relived around the world in solemn ceremonies, as hundreds of thousands put aside part of their day for their own private ways of remembering.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy sent a small spray of wildflowers to the grave. They were delivered by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

The president's widow remained in seclusion with her two children, Caroline and John Jr., at their weekend Long Island residence.

The mother of the 35th president, Rose Kennedy, attended two Roman Catholic Masses at Hyannis Port, Mass., where the Kennedy family has its summer home.

Sen.-elect Robert F. Kennedy and his sister, Mrs. Sargent Shriver, knelt by the Arlington grave to lay roses on it, and to pray.

7 Convicts Kidnap Pair in Escape

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—A band of escaped convicts held a Walla Walla couple hostage at knifepoint for several hours early today as they fled into Oregon in the couple's car.

The seven prisoners, including three murderers, escaped from the Washington State Penitentiary through a 40-foot tunnel last night.

Warden Bob Rhay said Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jeppe of Walla Walla were kidnaped by the convicts in an alley behind the Jeppe home as the couple was returning from church services.

Jeppe told Rhay one of the convicts drove the Jeppe car to Gresham, Ore., where it was abandoned in a field.

★ ★ ★

The prisoners, all involved in previous jail escapes, left Gresham in a blue station wagon which they presumably had stolen, Rhay said. Gresham is just east of Portland.

WEREN'T HARMED

Rhay said the Jeppes told him they were not "treated badly at all." He said the couple was unharmed although they were threatened with a homemade knife.

The Washington State Patrol said the search now is being concentrated in Oregon. Officers said it is presumed the convicts still were traveling together.

It was the second escape within four years from a maximum security cell block in wing six.

★ ★ ★

In 1960, five inmates of that wing fashioned a ladder of the frames of their bunks, overpowered some guards and tried to go over the wall.

ALL CAUGHT

Two of the convicts were shot and wounded in the attempt. The others were recaptured outside the prison by noon the following day.

Harold Schoesler, a correctional officer at the prison, said the men had dug through a cement floor in the cell block and tunneled about 40 feet to a point outside, "right

Quints Born to Paris Pair

PARIS (AP) — Quintuplets — three boys and two girls — were born today to Mrs. Monique Sandor, 27, at a clinic in suburban Asnieres, attendants reported. All were reported in good health.

The babies weighed an average of just over 2.5 pounds each.

The Sandors already were the parents of two children—4 and 6 years of age.

Most Survivors of Italy Tragedy Listed as Grave

TWA Boeing 707 Hit Grader While Trying to Halt Lift-Off

ROME (AP) — A four-jet airliner carrying 72 persons exploded in flames today after colliding with a road grader and about 43 of those aboard were reported killed.

The plane, a Trans World Airlines Boeing 707, was gathering speed for a takeoff at Fiumicino Airport, but suddenly wobbled, hit the road grader and exploded.

Of the 72 persons aboard—55 passengers and a double crew totaling 17—at least 29 survived.

Most suffered grave injuries and were rushed to hospitals.

Among the passengers were reported to be 26 TWA employes and families.

PILOT SURVIVES

Among the survivors was the pilot, identified as Capt. Vernon Lowell, Glen Head, N. Y.

The flight, TWA 800, originated in Kansas City, Mo., and stopped in Chicago, New York, Paris and Milan before reaching Rome. It was headed from Rome to Athens and Cairo.

Accounts of mechanics and other workers at the scene said the crash occurred this way:

The plane was speeding down the runway when flames erupted from one of the wheel assemblies.

★ ★ ★

The plane started to wobble as the captain applied the brakes. By this time the plane had passed the end of the runway and crossed on into a cross-runway under repair.

OUTSIDE MOTOR

The plane's right outside motor knocked over a parked road grader. As the plane skidded to a halt, doors opened and passengers began jumping out.

There was an explosion, the plane burst into flames. Then other explosions smattered the wreckage.

Brought to hospitals were a Martin Chappler, Ernest Havell Jones, an American serviceman from Louisiana, and two Ethiopian citizens, Didane Kenu, 23, and Tespaye Tetle, 24. They were only slightly injured.

★ ★ ★

Witnesses said fuel poured from one of the plane's tanks after it hit the grader.

FUEL IGNITED

The fuel ignited, they said, and the plane exploded 200 yards further along.

It was the second major air disaster in Italy this year.

Forty-five persons were killed

Bill Collector 'Big' Success

Advertisers and subscribers to Oakland University's student newspaper are paying their bills with unusual regularity, since Cliff Edwards of 1081 Voorheis, became the paper's new business manager.

Edwards stands 6 feet 6 inches tall in his stocking feet and weighs 240 pounds, reasons enough to be leery of personal encounters.

A junior majoring in business administration, Edwards is on leave of absence from a plant security job at General Motors Fisher Body Division.

Edwards' success is partly due to his experience. At 34, he has had more experience chasing down delinquent debtors than his predecessors.

He is completing a college education interrupted in 1951 by a prolonged illness. The illness had made him ineligible for an ROTC scholarship he had been receiving.

News Flash

DALLAS (UPI) — A federal judge today ordered bankrupt farm tycoon Billie Sol Estes to forfeit a bail bond and a marshal took him into custody. (Earlier story, page B-8.)

OU STAFFER — Doorways at Oakland University's student newspaper offices have to be tall to accommodate Cliff Edwards of Pontiac. Edwards, the paper's new business manager, dwarfs diminutive Sheri Jackson of Union Lake, managing editor. Edwards stretches to 6 foot 6, while Miss Jackson barely makes 4 feet 11.

Winter Is Planning to Remain With Us

After waiting months for autumn to cool things off, winter appears to have become impatient and stepped in early to bring temperatures down in a hurry.

For the next five days, temperatures will average about five degrees below the normal high of 41 and low of 30. It will turn colder Tuesday and Wednesday and remain cold through Saturday.

Precipitation will total two to four-tenths of an inch in snow flurries Wednesday and Friday.

Temperatures today rose more than 20 degrees from a low of 20 before 8 this morning to 42 degrees at 2 p.m.

New Rating Method Is Asked by 'Blues'

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross - Blue Shield today asked the State Insurance Department for permission to change their methods of rating subscribers.

The plan would replace the community rating system with a group experience factor — meaning that subscribing groups would pay according to actual usage of their hospital and insurance protection.

It will mean reductions and increases — to a maximum of 20 per cent above or below the average in the first year — for about 2.5 million Michigan residents, spokesmen for the community health care plans said.

It will affect 700 of the 15,000 Michigan groups covered, but will not involve a basic rate change, said Blue Cross President William McNary and Dr. Sidney Adler, president of Blue Shield.

STILL AVAILABLE

The Blues will remain available to all, regardless of age or condition of health. The only reasons for cancellation will re main fraud or nonpayment, they said.

No group with fewer than 100 contracts will be rated on its own experience, and individual subscribers will be affected even less, they said.

* * *

About 80 per cent of all Michigan residents are covered by health care plans of some kind —about half of them by the Blues.

The merit rating system has been under study for about a year, they said.

MORE EQUITABLE

The modification of its rating system will result in a redistribution of income for the nonprofit organizations, spokesmen said, and in a more equitable distribution of rates.

"We've been losing all the better groups," a spokesman said, "to private insurance firms, who offer better rates."

The change is also intended to encourage the groups with a lower experience factor to remain, they said.

"Unless corrective action is taken, the blues will face the prospect of a spiraling rate structure and the loss of better groups," a University of Michigan study of health and medical economics said in 1961.

World Pauses to Recall JFK Tragedy

Cardinal Cushing. He called the slain president one of "God's greatest gifts."

SILENT PRAYER

Tens of thousands stood in silent prayer at New York's Kennedy Airport and in Dallas at the hour of Kennedy's death.

World leaders again issued declarations of sorrow, as so many of them had exactly one year before.

They came from French President Charles de Gaulle, Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, and Spanish Gen. Francisco Franco, among others.

In Bonn, Mayor Wilhelm Daniels laid a wreath at the John F. Kennedy Bridge across the Rhine River.

BUST UNVEILED

Dutchmen flocked to Amsterdam's Kennedy Avenue to look at a bust of the late president which was unveiled Sunday.

Italians joined Americans in Rome's Santa Susanna, the American Roman Catholic Church, to attend a requiem Mass celebrated by Archbishop Lawrence J. Sheran of Baltimore.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy received a bouquet of red carnations from German students. Two teen-aged Tokyo girls made their monthly pilgrimage to a Kennedy memorial at Yokota Air Base, where they placed carnations, lilies and chrysanthemums.

* * *

There were even a few remembrance services behind the Iron Curtain.

* * *

The Warsaw popular daily Zycie Warszawy published a tribute to Kennedy.

MAN OF PEACE

In Moscow, the Soviet Communist party paper Pravda praised the late president as a man of peace, and urged President Johnson "to develop the realistic tendencies which were planned in the Kennedy years."

* * *

In Washington, more than 30,000 Americans, their lines black against the Virginia hills, climbed the long slopes to the eternal flame that burns above Kennedy's grave.

There were young adults and old, babies in carriages and aged in wheelchairs.

* * *

President Johnson's daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, each brought a long-stemmed yellow rose to place beside the wildflowers which the widow had sent. There was a wreath from the President.

LIGHT TORCH

In Los Angeles, a torch was lit at the Memorial Coliseum to burn from the time on the clock when he was shot until sunset. A 74-year-old veteran of two world wars stood in front of his home there at 6 a.m., and raised a flag slowly, with arthritic hands.

"He did more than any other president has done for democracy," said the flag-raiser, Enrique Moreno. "This lives on today."

* * *

In San Francisco, hundreds were turned away from an overflow crowd at St. Edward's Roman Catholic Church, where Mayor John F. Shelley and other top city officials attended a memorial service.

Might Have Saved Him, Jackie Brooded

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the anguished aftermath of the assassination, President John L. Kennedy's young widow was deeply troubled for a time by a thought that she might have saved him.

* * *

It occurred to her that if she had happened to be looking at her husband when the assassin opened fire, she might have been able to pull him down out of the path of the fatal bullet. He was hit twice, the second bullet taking his life.

Evidently she finally reached the conclusion that this might-have-been could not really have happened, because in telling the Warren Commission about it she employed the past tense "I used to think."

GAVE TESTIMONY

Mrs. Kennedy gave her testimony June 5 at what was then her Georgetown home to Chief Justice Earl Warren and the counsel of the Warren Commission, J. Lee Rankin. The then Atty. Gen. Robert L. Kennedy was present.

The testimony was included in the volumes of evidence on which the Warren Commission made its report Sept. 27. Some of these volumes have just become available to the Associated Press.

* * *

While several witnesses have spoken of Mrs. Kennedy's remarkable self-control during the tragic Nov. 22 in Dallas, her testimony disclosed how deeply she was shocked. She said, for example, she has no recollection of crawling toward the back of the presidential automobile, as pictures show her doing.

ESSENTIAL PORTIONS

Essential portions of Mrs. Kennedy's statement, after she described the beginning of the motorcade in Dallas:

Mrs. Kennedy: "Mrs. Connally, wife of Gov. John B. Connally of Texas," said, 'We will soon be there.' We could see a tunnel in front of us. Everything was really slow then. And I remembered thinking it would be so cool under that tunnel."

* * *

The car moved toward the overpass.

"That is when she (Mrs. Connally) said to President Kennedy, 'You certainly can't say that the people of Dallas haven't given you a nice welcome.'

VERY SLOW

"I think he said — I don't know if I remember it or if I have read it — 'No, you certainly can't,' or something. And you know then the car was very slow and there weren't very many people around.

"You know, there is always noise in a motorcade and there are always motorcycles beside us, a lot of them backfiring. So I was looking to the left. I guess there was a noise, but it didn't seem like any different noise really because there is so much noise, motorcycles and things. But then suddenly Gov. Connally was yelling, 'Oh, no, no, no!'

* * *

Rankin: "Did he turn toward you?"

Mrs. Kennedy:

"No; I was looking this way, to the left, and I heard these terrible noises, you know. And my husband never made any sound. SO I turned to the right and all I remember is seeing my husband, he had this sort of quizzical look on his face, and his hand was up, it must have been his left hand. And just as I turned and looked at him, I could see a piece of his skull and I remember it was flesh colored. I remember thinking he just looked as if he had a slight headache, and I just remember seeing that. No blood or anything.

FELL IN LAP

"And then he sort of did this (indicating), put his hand to his forehead and fell in my lap.

"And then I just remember falling on him and saying, 'Oh, no, no, no!' I mean, 'Oh my God, they have shot my husband.' And 'I love you, Jack,' I remember I was shouting. And just being down in the car with his head in my lap. And it just seemed an eternity.

* * *

"You know, there were pictures later on of me climbing out the back. But I don't remember that at all."

Rankin: "Do you remember Mr. Hill (Secret Service agent Clinton J. Hill) coming to try to help you on the car?"

Mrs. Kennedy:

DON'T REMEMBER

"I don't remember anything. I was just down like that.

"And finally I remember a voice behind me, or something, and then I remember the people in the front seat, or somebody, finally knew something was wrong, and a voice yelling, which must have been Mr. Hill, "Get to the hospital!" or maybe it was Mr. Kellerman (Roy H. Kellerman, Secret Service agent who was riding next to the driver), in the front seat. But someone yelling. I was just down and holding him."

Toll of Hunters in State Is 27

Seven Days Are Left in Michigan Season

By The Associated Press

Michigan's deer hunting season pushed into its final seven days today with a total of 27 hunters dead.

Eight victims, including a father shot and killed accidentally by his son, a hunting companion, lost their lives from gunfire.

* * *

The others died of heart attacks.

The weekend's snow storm, a prewinter fall that for its extent and depth was earlier than usual, favored hunters with help in tracking deer.

HUNTERS HOME

On the other hand, the accompanying sudden cold blast also was reported responsible for keeping many would - be hunters out of the woods.

The severe conditions moderated on Sunday with temperatures rising.

* * *

Two hunters, Jacob Folkersma, 49, of Rudyard and Foster Smith, 20, of Jackson, were shot and killed by accidental gunfire on the weekend.

RUNNING DEER

The Chippewa County sheriff's office said Folkersma was shot by his son, Arnold, 17, as the two were firing at a deer that ran between them while they hunted north of Rudyard.

The father and son were about 125 yards apart, sheriff's men said. A snow squall was in progress at the time.

* * *

Smith was shot by another hunter in Maple Ridge Township of Alpena County.

The other hunter was being held for investigation. The Alpena County sheriff's office said a manslaughter warrant may be issued.

* * *

Harold Gerlach, 42, of Stanton died of a heart attack while hunting three miles northwest of Stanton.

Alonzo Geiling, 46, of Wyoming, was found dead Saturday, apparently of a heart attack, in woods of Midland County's Jerome Township. A native of Sanford, Geiling had returned to hunt in that area.

43 Said Dead in Plane Blast

March 28, Easter Eve, when an Alitalia Viscount crashed into Mt. Vesuvius trying to land in Naples in fog and rain.

* * *

The worst air disaster in Italy occurred June 26, 1959, when a TWA Super Constellation crashed in a storm near Milan. Sixty-eight were killed.

There were conflicting reports on the time the explosion occurred.

While some persons said the blast occurred just as the plane lifted off the ground, others said it exploded while on an approach strip just before reaching the runway to begin its take-off.

* * *

An airport employe said he noticed a flame from an engine, saw the jet roll another few meters and stop.

DOORS OPENED

He said the doors opened and passengers began jumping out. At that moment, he said, an explosion ripped it to pieces.

According to one version by witnesses, the plane actually was making its takeoff run, lifted a few feet off the runway, then dropped back, while the pilot tried desperately to brake it to a stop.

One wing of the plane was reported to have struck a heavy roller at the edge of the strip, damaging the wing and causing fuel to pour out.

According to this version the fuel ignited and the plane exploded 200 yards farther along.

An airport employe said:

"I heard the blast, turned, and saw people blown into the air. Then the flames broke out and explosions continued."

First of the identified injured was Elizabeth Loretta Cartley, 39, of Santa Monica, Calif. She was taken to Rome's San Camillo Hospital suffering from various fractures.

Motorized Rome police and ambulances from Rome and nearby Ostia rushed to the scene.

Ex-Official for County Is Dead at 72

A retired real estate salesman and former county official, Lewis C. Jarrendt, died Saturday following a brief illness.

* * *

Service for Jarrendt, 72, of 3328 Indiandale, Orchard Lake, will be 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Sparks-Griffin Chapel.

Graveside military rites will be conducted at White Chapel Cemetery.

A former manager of Pontiac City Lines, Mr. Jarrendt served as Oakland County Drain Commissioner in 1933-34 after 10 years as deputy.

* * *

He served in World War I and WW II, retiring with the rank of major, and was a former county Civil Defense director.

PAST COMMANDER

A past commander of Cook-Nelson American Legion Post, he was active in the affairs of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and Grace Lutheran Church.

He is survived by a son, Lewis W., of Orchard Lake and a sister.

Traffic Survey Shows No Footbridge Needed

BIRMINGHAM — The Baldwin-Maple intersection is not a particularly hazardous one, is used by few children and probably could not be improved by the installation of more traffic safety devices.

These are the findings resulting from a study the City Commission authorized in June to determine whether a pedestrian bridge should be built under that carrying traffic across the River Rouge.

Recommendations will be presented to the commission tonight.

The footbridge had been suggested as a means of protecting children on their way to and from Holy Name School.

* * *

Results of a police department traffic survey Nov. 9 were surprising, according to City Manager L. R. Gare.

'SURPRISED US'

"The pedestrian crossing count also surprised us," he noted. "We found that no school-children crossed Maple until after 3 p. m. on Nov. 9."

The next day police learned pedestrian traffic after 3 p. m. consisted of five high school students and two from Holy Name.

Gare has joined traffic engineer J. J. Dobelek of Detroit in recommending that the footbridge not be constructed but that some trees and shrubs be removed from the north side of Maple east of Baldwin to improve visibility.

* * *

Noting that pedestrian use of the intersection does not warrant increased traffic controls, Gare also said that the footbridge would be unusable one month a year because of high water.

ATTRACTIVE PLACE

"It would be an attractive place for the children to play and the possibility of falling or being pushed into the water would be present," he said.

* * *

"It should also be remembered that sex deviates occasionally create problems when they find an isolated area such as this," he added.

With the onset of colder weather, the Birmingham Recreation Department has moved up to Wednesday the opening date for the municipal ice rink at Eton Park.

* * *

The department originally had scheduled the opening for Thanksgiving. However, if the weather holds the hours for open skating Wednesday will be 4-6 p. m. and 7-9 p. m.

Nab Suspects in Theft Try in Birmingham

Birmingham police are holding three suspects and seeking two more in an attempted larceny from Roberts Furs yesterday afternoon.

Three men, who refused to give police their names, were caught yesterday at a roadblock manned by Southfield police in Beverly Hills.

Still at large are two men last seen in a black 1964 Ford bearing Michigan license plate YR 8456.

Police said five men were caught in the act of stealing fur coats from the establishment at 550 N. Woodward shortly before 5 p.m. yesterday.

* * *

They were seen and chased on foot by the owner of the adjacent building, Gerald's Beauty Shop. The would-be thiefs, police said, had pryed open the beauty shop door and smashed a hole in the wall separating the two businesses.

CHASED MEN

The owner of the shop chased the men until they got into a car with an Illinois license plate. He then notified police.

The three men taken into custody were caught on Kennoway Court, after they had jumped out of a stolen car at Pleasant and Northlawn. Four shots fired by police hit the vehicle, police said.

Congo Rebels Delay Death of Missionary

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congolese rebels said today they have granted a stay of execution to American medical missionary Dr. Paul Carlson pending the outcome of diplomatic negotiations outside the Congo with the United States. A broadcast indicated the stay was for only 24 hours.

* * *

This report was made in a broadcast by rebel leader Christophe Gbenyne. The rebels in Stanleyville had scheduled Dr. Carlson's execution for today.

Central government troops led by white mercenaries resumed their advance on rebel Stanleyville.

They captured the town of Lubutu, about 120 miles southeast of the rebel capital.

In a Stanleyville radio broadcast heard in the Central African Republic, Gbenye added: "We expect results of the first negotiations before 24 hours." Gbenye was speaking of talks in Kenya on the fate of Dr. Carlson and about 1,000 white hostages held by his forces.

* * *

Unions Put Off Railroad Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Postponement of a nationwide strike scheduled for 6 a.m. today will allow rail traffic to move as usual this Thanksgiving week, but negotiations between the railroads and three unions will resume next week in Washington, D.C.

The three nonoperating shopcraft unions put off the threatened strike for least a week yesterday after receiving an urgent request by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Later yesterday, J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, telephoned Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U. S. District Court that the carriers were dropping an injunction petition which sought an order barring the strike.

Both sides accepted Wirtz's suggestion to resume talks in Washington Nov. 30.

The unions, representing 49,000 employes, are the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the Sheet Metal Workers International Association and the International Association of Machinists.

A union spokesman said Wirtz was advised in response to his request for a postponement "that for the first time there is some hope of settlement of our dispute."

as close to the wall as they could get."

"They'd probably been at it for six months," Schoesler said. He said he did not know how they got through the cement. Warden Bob Rhay said homemade shovels were found in the tunnel.

* * *

DANGEROUS MEN

State patrol dispatcher Willy Johnson described all seven men as dangerous.

The tunnel was discovered between 9:30 and 10 p.m. The men had last been seen at dinner about 6 p.m.

Rhay said the tunnel was just big enough for the men to squeeze through.

* * *

IN FOR MURDER

Maseros was serving a life term for first-degree murder in the slaying of a service station attendant during a holdup in Seattle in 1961. Thomas was serving life for second-degree murder in a jealousy shooting at Auburn, Wash., in 1963. Wallen was serving a life term for murder from Spokane, Wash.

St. Peter, Thomas and Loux participated in a daring break from the King County Jail in Seattle in 1961. They were among eight prisoners who lowered themselves out a 10th-floor cell on a rope made of sheets.

Eric Heber, 14, of 32805 Bellvine died yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He was the second victim of a crash which had killed Timothy W. Guenther, 17, of 32575 Plumwood.

Heber was a passenger in Guenther's car, which hit ice on West Maple and skidded into an Oakland County salt truck just west of Whysall.

A 65 - year - old Birmingham woman was killed Saturday when the car in which she was riding skidded into oncoming traffic on the New York State Thruway.

New York State Police said Mrs. Olympia Szybke of 1535 Penistone was dead at the scene of the accident in Pembroke Township, about 25 miles east of Buffalo.

Mrs. Szybke was riding in a car driven by Dr. Primitivo Rova, 35, of Fairport, N.Y., who was uninjured.

Detroit's Papers Return Wednesday

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's two regular daily newspapers, strike-idled for 131 days, sped efforts today to prepare for publication Wednesday.

The Detroit News, an afternoon paper, and the morning Detroit Free Press called back their entire total staffs of more than 4,000 persons.

When the papers come out Wednesday, it will be their first appearance on the streets and subscribers' doorsteps since last July 13.

British Interest Rates Hiked

LONDON (AP) — The Bank of England discount rate was raised today from 5 to 7 per cent.

The action was taken to help turn the tide of Britain's trade deficit, which the government says may reach 800 million pounds — $2.25 billion — this year. The higher interest rate will attract foreign money to Britain.

A spokesman for the bank said the change was made "primarily to strengthen the international position of sterling," which has been under severe attack in world currency markets.

* * *

The announcement said Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan will make a statement on the raising of the discount rate this afternoon in the House of Commons.

Callaghan's statement, a treasury spokesman said, "does not foreshadow any other measures."

The rise is the highest since July 25, 1961, when Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd instituted a period of austerity in an effort to halt another payments crisis.

The basic cause of the financial difficulties is that Britain is spending more abroad than she is selling and the deficit is growing.

The new Labor government instituted a 15 per cent surcharge on all imports except food and raw materials earlier this month in an effort to reverse the trend.

This brought the regime into conflict with most of Britain's suppliers, especially her partners in the seven-nation European Free Trade Association — EFTA.

* * *

The Bank of England discount rate is the interest rate that borrowers throughout the nation must pay on loans, mortgages and the like.

* * *

The first danger sign of weakness of sterling came on Friday when the pound declined to $2.78¼, the lowest level in eight years and the floor at which the Bank of England must step in and buy to prevent the pound going lower.

The pound reacted sharply to the raising of the discount rate and rose five-eighths of a cent to $2.78¾.

SURE SIGN

The bank was believed to have paid out between $30 million and $60 million Friday to buy sterling.

The drop of the pound was a sure sign that foreigners were getting rid of pounds because they feared they would be devalued.

The Labor government previously had said it wanted to avoid raising the discount rate because it would tend to stagnate the economy.

Reaction to the move was not long in coming.

A spokesman for the Chamber of Trade said: "It is bound to put up the cost of living, which we regret very much, but in view of our present position we realize the inevitability of it."

About 2.89 per cent of the United States gross national income of the advertising.

Shoots 3 in Football Spat

ADRORA, Mo. (UPI) — Mrs. Olive Claus, 43, who doesn't like to see footballs rolling across her yard, is in jail today. Three of her neighbors, who own a football, are in the hospital.

The trouble began yesterday when Warren Ormsby, 24, and his brother, Mike, 12, were playing catch with the football in the street. The ball rolled into Mrs. Claus' yard.

Mrs. Claus had warned the two before that if that ball ever came into her yard again, they would never get it back.

She sent her son, Bill, to get the ball. He put it on the front porch.

Warren Ormsby retrieved the ball. But before he could get back into the street, out stepped Mrs. Claus with a shotgun and opened fire.

The pellets struck Warren Ormsby and his stepfather, Dale Daum, 43, who had entered the scrimmage. Mike also was struck in the left leg and side by the pellets.

They were listed in satisfactory condition last night at an Aurora hospital.

Mrs. Claus was taken to the Lawrence County jail at Mt. Vernon, Mo.

Postage stamps Honor John F. Kennedy

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (EN)—A very unusual series of large diamond shaped postage stamps honoring John F. Kennedy was issued recently by the Kingdom of Yemen . . . half the stamp bears a striking portrait of JFK with appropriate inscription—the top section depicts American space craft in flight . . . This very unusual set of three stamps sold out day of issue and are now quite scarce. Because of the intense interest in JFK memorial stamps issued by foreign nations, Elmont has prepared a collection containing recently issued John F. Kennedy stamps from Colombia, Argentina, Chile, and Togo, plus the popular Yemen set mentioned above. Interested collectors may obtain this extraordinary collection of 9 different stamps memorializing John F. Kennedy by sending $1.00 to Elmont Stamp Co., Queens Village 29, N. Y. On Utica School District Issues

Urge Informed Electorate

UTICA — Officials of three municipalities have banded together to assure a well-informed electorate on a proposed $8.5-million school bond issue and two millage propositions for the Utica School District.

While retaining neutrality in view of their being elected officials, members of the governments of Shelby and Sterling townships and the City of Utica signed a statement Saturday urging informed voter action in the Dec. 12 election.

The statement reads as follows:

"As a public official within the Utica School District, I wish to acknowledge the necessity of a sound educational program for the children of our community.

★ ★ ★

"The Utica Board of Education will be presenting bonding and millage issues affecting our school program on Dec. 12.

URGE EVERYONE

"I urge everyone to become well-informed about these issues and to exercise their voting franchise to improve our educational support."

The statement was the result of a meeting between the school board and officials representing the two townships and the city.

Suggested by Sterling Township Trustee David R. Maddox, the gathering was designed to provide an opportunity for discussion of the Dec. 12 election and the issues to be voted upon at that time.

★ ★ ★

After a presentation of the issues and an explanation of the intended uses of the money to be asked, some discussion of a direct endorsement of the propositions was held.

SOME FELT

But some of the officials present felt that an endorsement of the proposals should not be made by elected officials, and the statement was then approved.

The statement was signed by the following officials:

Lorin E. Evans, Shelby Township supervisor; Jack B. Millard, Shelby treasurer; Odilon Houtekier and Walter B. Oshinsky, Shelby trustees; and Mae E. Stecker, Shelby clerk.

Others were William F. Brown and Frank J. Maisano, newly elected Sterling trustees; Harry Awdey and Maddox, Sterling trustees; Eunice Kopietz, Utica clerk; Charles W. Stone and Kenneth Titsworth, Utica councilmen.

LEFT BEFORE SIGNING

Utica's mayor Fred Beck was present, but left before the statement was signed.

Schools Supt. Fred Atkinson said that the statement will now be sent to other officials who were not able to make Saturday's meeting.

The $8.5-million bond issue covers future building needs and can be effected without a hike in taxes.

One of the two millage propositions asks for a renewal of the present 5-mill levy for 1966 and 1967.

ADDITIONAL MILLAGE

The other asks an additional 6 mills for 1965, 1966 and 1967. Both are for operating funds only.

★ ★ ★

Approval of all three propositions would have a net effect of raising school taxes by $6 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

Santa As He Will Look In Rochester Parade Dec. 5

Dec. 21 Vote on Bond Issue

New Dryden School Facilities Are at Stake

DRYDEN TOWNSHIP — Ten elementary classrooms, a new library and a new cafeteria will be at stake Dec. 21 when Dryden School District voters cast ballots on a bond issue proposal tentatively set at $375,000.

Although plans are not completely worked out yet, these facilities will definitely be included in the bond issue proposal.

The present library and cafeteria are in a vintage 1908 building, which would be demolished and replaced with the new building if the voters approve.

Schools Supt. Fred Patterson said a special school board meeting will be held when the architect's plans are available for study.

More complete details of the proposal and its financing will be made public after the meeting.

Company for Santa Sought in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Santa wants more company.

He will have quite a number of friends in the Dec. 5 Christmas parade, but he's hoping more will join him.

The parade, highlight of the preholiday season in Rochester, features St. Nick as its main attraction.

Also in the line of march will be floats entered by area clubs, churches and business firms, plus precision drill teams, several school bands and other participants.

Parade cochairmen Joseph Watson Jr. and Harold Milton ask those interested in entering to register at the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce office.

OUTSTANDING FLOATS

Prizes will be awarded for the most outstanding floats in several categories.

The chamber sponsors the annual parade through the heart of town and last year augmented its day-long program to include a Miss Rochester Holiday Pageant and Ball.

The pageant now has been postponed to February in order to give local girls more time to prepare a talent, one of the requirements for the contest winner to go on to the Miss Michigan Pageant next spring.

Prospective candidates for the local crown may submit entries now, however, according to Mrs. Betty Levick, chamber secretary.

ELIGIBILITY RULES

To be eligible to compete, local entrants must be single, be between 18 and 23 years of age and reside in the Rochester area.

★ ★ ★

The parade, which traditionally launches the holiday season in Rochester, will form at 2 p.m. at Woodward and proceed down Main to Third Street.

Then from Third it will turn up Walnut and disband at the American Legion Hall on West University where refreshments will be served to the participants.

Service Set at St. Paul's

ROCHESTER — The annual Thanksgiving Eve service at St. Paul's Methodist Church will feature the Chancel Choir's presentation of a cantata, "Ballad for Americans."

Director is Frank Irish.

★ ★ ★

The Woman's Society of the church is sponsoring the 8 p.m. service in which a Thanksgiving meditation also will be given by Mrs. Lowell Schneider. It is entitled "Lord, Show Us a Sign."

PLAN JOINT SERVICE — Discussing Wednesday's 7:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve service at First Methodist Church, Clarkston, are (from left) Rev. Alexander T. Stewart, vicar, Church of the Resurrection; Rev. Jack Giguere, associate pastor, First Methodist Church; and Rev. Donald Sinclair, pastor, United Presbyterian Church. Rev. Stewart is general chairman of the special service for which the Protestant churches of the Clarkston area will unite. Rev. Giguere will speak and music will be provided by the Calvary Lutheran Church choir.

4 Persons Die on State Roads

By The Associated Press

State Police recorded only four traffic deaths over the weekend as many Michigan motorists apparently abandoned the streets and highways due to snow and icy temperatures.

State police attributed the low figure to the drop in temperatures and the fact that snow-covered highways at the beginning of the weekend kept many would-be motorists at home.

The Associated Press tabulation of weekend traffic fatalities began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The victims:

Mrs. Geraldine Polzin, 38, of Flint and her daughter, Blanche, 17, were killed Saturday in a two-car collision north of Goodrich in Genesee County. They were passengers in one of the cars.

DETROITER DIES

Stanley Carson, 27, of Detroit was killed Saturday when his car struck the rear of a truck spreading salt to melt snow on Detroit streets.

Timothy W. Guenther, 17, of Birmingham was killed Friday night in a two-car collision in Bloomfield Township of Oakland County.

Oxford Fire Is Confined to Office

OXFORD — A fire caused by defective wiring was kept from growing to disastrous proportion yesterday by the Oxford Fire Department.

Firemen succeeded in confining the blaze to the offices of Dr. Theodore B. Walton, a Detroit optometrist, at 46 S. Washington.

The office is located in Churchill's Apartments, and a number of apartments are over the office.

Assistant Fire Chief Perry Earp said that the fire started from defective wiring leading to Dr. Walton's neon sign.

★ ★ ★

According to Earp, the fire started shortly after noon yesterday and posed a danger to a cleaning establishment next door as well as the apartments in the building.

PLACED ON ALERT

Other fire departments were placed on alert in case the fire got out of control, but the Oxford firemen quenched the blaze in about an hour.

★ ★ ★

Earp estimated the damage to the building at between $1,500 and $2,000, but added that some of Dr. Walton's equipment was also damaged.

White Lake Seeks to Up Blood Supply

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Red Cross bloodmobile will be at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, 9086 Hutchins, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Through the bloodmobile's appearance, the White Lake Community Blood Bank plans to rebuild its diminished supply of blood.

★ ★ ★

The bank will be open from 2 to 8 p.m. Any donors are welcome, whether they want to give their blood to the White Lake Community Blood Bank or to another.

White Lake Parish to Mark 30 Years of Development

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP— The 30-year development of Cedar Crest Lutheran Church from an abandoned building to a three unit religious center will be marked at a special ceremony Sunday.

Rev. Eugene C. Ryding of Valparaiso, Ind., a former pastor of Cedar Crest, will be the speaker at the 4 p.m. anniversary service.

Music will be provided by the adult choir of St. Mark Lutheran Church of West Bloomfield Township, under the direction of Earl Garrels.

Cedar Crest is located at 485 Farnsworth. First attempts to establish a church there in 1929 failed, leaving an abandoned fieldstone building which stood empty for five years.

Then, through the efforts of Emil Klomp and his late wife, the building was deeded to the English District of the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod, with the provision that a church be organized within a given length of time.

FIRST SERVICE

The first service was held Nov. 25, 1934. The new mission attracted between eight and 35 worshipers on the Sundays of its first year of operation.

Soon after the parish began, Rev. William Mundt, a retired Detroit minister, began to serve it on a nonresident basis and remained its pastor for 11 years.

Rev. Otto Diefenbach, now of Melbourne, Fla., became the first resident pastor and served from 1945 to 1948.

Present pastor of the church is Rev. Ronald A. Michel, installed in December, 1961.

★ ★ ★

Cedar Crest's second building, an educational unit, was dedicated Jan. 19, 1959. It was erected by the members at an approximate cost of $25,000.

FIRST TEACHER

In the fall of 1959 John Remetta Jr. began his work as the school's first teacher and principal. There were 20 children in four grades that year.

Since then the school has added a grade a year and now has an enrollment of 80 and a four-member teaching staff.

In January the congregation deciated its third building, an $85,000 educational unit which houses the Christian day school and provides space for expanding the Sunday school.

The congregation now inoludes 275 adult communicants, with about 300 children attending Sunday school.

Parents to Hear Talk on Retarded Children

TROY — Parents of retarded children of the Special B classes will hear a talk by a county official Dec. 1 at Morse School on Hickory Road.

Speaker at the 8 p.m. session will be Mrs. Ann Zuzich, chairman of the county subcommittee on mental retardation. Her topic will be "The Community Health Board and Its Plans."

Santa Plans to Fly In for Romeo Visit

ROMEO — Santa will come down from the sky—not in his sleigh but in a plane—Thanksgiving morning to pay his traditional pre-Christmas Eve visit to Romeo children.

Close to 1,000 youngsters and parents are expected to flock to Romeo Airport to be on hand when St. Nick's plane lands at 11 a.m.

He will be greeted the minute he alights by his young admirers and led to his throne where they will line up to talk to him in person.

He will have candy and popcorn to pass out to each child while the parents are treated to coffee and doughnuts inside the hangar.

This is the 17th straight year the Highland Sales furniture and appliance store has sponsored St. Nick's arrival in town and the party that follows.

Republican State-Level Strength in South Suffers in Johnson Landslide

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four years of strenuous effort to build a two-party system in the South, Republicans saw their strength at the state level decline in President Johnson's landslide victory.

★ ★ ★

"Operation Dixie," heavily financed by the Republican National Committee, was geared to establishing local GOP organizations capable of electing state officers and members of Congress a swell as contributing electoral votes to Republican presidential candidates.

★ ★ ★

Although Sen. Barry Goldwater carried five Southern states and the GOP scored a net gain of four Southern House seats, Republicans lost ground at the local level where they were trying to broaden their base for the future.

A survey of 13 Southern and border states showed that in the Nov. 3 voting, Republicans lost a net of 31 seats in state Houses of Representatives. In the turnover they won 10 and lost 41 they previously held.

WHERE THEY WERE

In state Senate races, they lost four seats and gained four, leaving them just where they were.

★ ★ ★

The states covered in figures compiled by the Senate Republican policy committee's staff as part of its breakdown of election returns included Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, all of which Goldwater carried, Republicans gained five state House seats and two Senate places.

★ ★ ★

Oddly enough in Tennessee, which Johnson carried, the GOP picked up four House and two Senate seats.

The Republicans suffered their greatest losses in the border state of West Virginia where Johnson racked up a 2-1 margin in the presidential race. There they drppped 15 House and three Senate seats.

In the President's home state of Texas, Republicans lost nine House seats and remained blanked out in the state Senate.

In Florida, where Johnson's margin was relatively small, eight GOP House seats went down the drain but the party managed to keep its two seats in a Senate dominated by 43 Democrats.

GOP losses in North Carolina were nine in the House and one in the state Senate.

★ ★ ★

In Arkansas the GOP placed one Republican in the House, its sole representative in a legislature with a total of 135 members.

Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

Counting present lineups in Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana and Virginia, which held no legislative elections this year, Republicans now hold less than 1 per cent of the House seats and slightly more than 8 per cent of Senate places in the various states.

The lower houses have 1,461 Democrats and only 117 Republicans. The count in state Senates is 457 Democrats, 40 Republicans.

State Airman Dies in Montana Crash

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Airman 2.C. Robert Henry Dixon, 22, Glasgow Air Force Base, was killed Sunday when his car crashed against a bridge between Missoula and Great Falls, Mont.

Sheriff Dave Middlemas said Dixon of Mount Clemens, Mich., was driving toward Missoula when his compact car gradually left the highway and hit the end rails of a timber bridge over Flat Creek, on Montana 20 about 45 miles southwest of Great Falls.

Middlemas said a driver following behind said Dixon appeared to have fallen asleep. There were no skid marks on the highway.

Still Alive and Voting

MODENA, Italy (AP) — Sante Malavasi, 78, cast his vote in the Italian elections Sunday, one day after he was three times judged clinically dead.

Malavasi suffered a heart attack Saturday. Doctors said his heart stopped but they restored it to operation by use of a heart apparatus. Twice more that day his heart stopped and twice more he was revived.

★ ★ ★

Sunday he said he felt better, so doctors let him vote in the hospital polling station.

How You May

Never Take a Laxative Again!

New Miracle Regulator Keeps Waste Soft—So Bowels Move Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—After 12 years' research, scientists have discovered a wonder-working substance that corrects constipation entirely without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon—becomes dry, hard, difficult to move. To give relief, laxatives have to force action by flushing, irritating or distending the intestine.

The new miracle substance—known medically as dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate—works in a completely different way. It is not a laxative! It simply makes natural moisture in the colon moisten and soften dry, hard waste more effectively. Then normal elimination follows naturally. Thus by working only on waste, not on you, the substance corrects constipation and restores regularity as no laxative can.

This new discovery has now been made available at drugstores under the name REGUTOL. It is safe—not habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try REGUTOL—discover for yourself that you may never need to take a laxative again!

It Seems to Me . . . .

Should City Name Committee to Study Financial Situation?

Pontiac's City Commission must have more money to run the City.

There's no alternative.

How?

★ ★ ★

The Commission studied the situation and came up with an income tax as the best answer. Since then, the plan has been the target of citizens within the walls and without. Some living outside say:

"Since I don't live in Pontiac, why should I pay half a share?"

Those working at the next desk and living within the corporate limits are saying:

"Why should I pay twice as much as my fellow employe when he earns the same amount at the same job, ten feet away?"

And others merely say:

"We oppose an income tax, anyway." Always — yes, always — there will be opposition for any tax that's proposed anywhere.

And there we stand.

★ ★ ★

Still, the inescapable fact is:

"Pontiac needs more money."

The City has been handicapped ever since the 15 mill limitation was passed more than a quarter of a century ago. The matter seems to resolve into this question:

"Shall we add an income tax; or shall we raise the mill limitation and add to the property tax?" The city is now absolutely hamstrung and handicapped beyond all reasonable limits through this millage limitation.

★ ★ ★

The current Commission had nothing to do with the shortage of income. Times have simply moved onward, with the city firmly anchored in the mud. It has been an unhealthy condition and the previous commission refused to step up to the facts and face the problem. Several years ago we accumulated an overage, but this was eventually dissipated. It had to be. There was no other answer and the last commission — (one of the weakest in all Pontiac history) — simply avoided the unhappy facts and hid in the bushes.

★ ★ ★

The current Commission is vastly stronger and proposes to face the issue. Costs have gone up everywhere on everything. It's inescapable in civic financing as well as in other matters.

What to do?

Apparently, it's a millage increase or an income tax. The current state regulations on the income tax are anything but encouraging. Here at The Press we believe they're very badly drawn. This isn't the fault of the City Commission but it doesn't improve the deficiencies in the setup.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the City Commission should name a study commission of outstanding citizens to pursue the subject in detail and come up with a recommendation. This is what the Board of Education did with gratifying results.

At The Press, we believe in the City Commission. We realize it faces a tough, rough job. It was inherited. Nothing that the members did — or failed to do — brought it about.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the commission is doing exactly the right thing. Perhaps it would have had more chance had it sought a vote to raise the millage. Would an appointed committee of leading and outstanding citizens studying the whole question and submitting recommendations to the electorate help clarify the atmosphere?

"JUST What IS Your View Of NATO, General?"

David Lawrence Says:

Base Closings Raise Questions

WASHINGTON — Decisions on all expenditures for the defense of the United States are, theoretically at least, not to be influenced by politicians seeking to curry favor in their communities.

LAWRENCE

Taxpayers' money is supposed to be spent for strictly military purposes and not to gain votes in electing congressmen or senators to office.

Yet the howl that has gone up from various parts of the land because of the closing of certain military bases—causing, of course, some unemployment — is a dramatic example of the misconceptions that prevail today concerning the use of public funds.

Senators and representatives of both parties whose constituencies will be affected are protesting loudly and demanding reexamination, if not reversal, of the orders issued.

★ ★ ★

As a matter of fact, the actual number of persons involved in the unemployment resulting from the closing of the bases announced last week is not large. The hardships, to be sure, will be severe for the few who are affected.

10 PER CENT

Out of a total of 6,700 installations of the Defense Department in January 1961, Secretary McNamara has closed or curtailed only 669, which is 10 per cent of the total.

Similarly, out of the total of approximately 3,721,000 persons employed in the armed services, both military and civilian, a very small number —less than 4 per cent — has been affected by all the cancellations.

Although there will be commendation for Secretary McNamara's willingness to take the responsibility for the closing of bases which he announced last week, many questions will be asked as to why the installations were not discontinued earlier.

Even more pertinent is why the electorate has been led to believe that the continuance of certain military installations is related to politics.

Nothing has been said as yet as to what will be done with the billion dollars that is to be saved by Secretary McNamara when the shutdown of bases is completed. But it is already apparent that the money will be used elsewhere in the defense establishment.

Thus, in October 1963, the personnel in the military services got a $1-billion pay raise, and in October 1964 they received another $208 million in pay increases.

The secretary plans to ask for $250 million more in pay for the military this year. So all of this so-called savings will be offset by new expenditures.

★ ★ ★

It is a salutary development, of course, to have the people told that their Defense Department really thinks in terms of efficiency and not of waste or political preferment.

But there is a lot more proof needed before a convincing case will be made that public funds are not being used for political purposes.

Too much of the people's money already has been spent to gain the support needed in particular states to win elections.

Bob Considine Says:

Knockout Over Tariffs May Occur in JFK Round

GENEVA — I always thought the Kennedy round was the one in which he knocked out Dick Nixon. But it's an involved and gingerly attempt to alter and improve the economy of a great portion of the world by wholesale reduction of jealously defended tariffs.

If it survives the haggling now being waged here by economists in striped pants, it will be the "historic moment," as Eric Wyndham White, executive secretary of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, predicts.

CONSIDINE

It would also add further definition to the image of John Fitzgerald Kennedy as a young president who initiated or gave his name to an extraordinary number of changes affecting his own and foreign lands.

This is an oversimplification, but the idea behind the Kennedy round is to persuade the 60 big and little nations which belong to GATT to quit stabbing one another's products in the back, let as many as feasible cross borders with half their tariff burdens lifted.

★ ★ ★

It is called the Kennedy round because five concessions of the original GATT pact have already been achieved and this is the sixth, the final, and by odds the toughest to find accord.

DILLON ROUND

The fifth concession was called the Dillon round, after the unsinkable secretary of state. It enabled the nations to haggle item by item over tariffs.

After three laborious years of such dealings there now has been achieved an average 8 per cent reduction on the border bounties charge on about 20 per cent of the goods the U.S. imports.

That's peanuts compared to what the Kennedy round might bring.

It proposes 50 per cent slashes right across the board unless a member nation can show cause that if it lets in other nations' widgets at half the customary tariff then its own widget industry will go to pot and its widget workers will be dumped on the dole.

What it could mean to the average American is that he could buy a lot of foreign things —ranging from British atomic reactors to Japanese transistor radios—for a noticeably cheaper price.

Pontiac Police Opposed Changing Traffic Light

I received a courteous and helpful letter from Inspector William K. Hanger, acting chief of the Pontiac police department, in response to my recent letter regarding the traffic light on Huron street. He informs me the state highway department has complete control of this light and all others on state trunk lines. Anyone interested in this problem should direct appeals to the department.

★ ★ ★

Chief Hanger objected to the change of signal operations on weekends on the same grounds I listed in my letter. He has been in contact with the district office and has formally requested that the light be returned to its former continuous operating status.

★ ★ ★

It is heartening to know we have the backing of the Pontiac police department in this matter.

'Children Are Buying Newsstand Filth'

In regard to the letter of November 19 on no filth on the newsstands, I can appreciate the fact that this family is in no danger as far as pornographic literature is concerned. The fact still remains that this filth is on the newsstands and boys and girls are spending millions of dollars for its publication.

Starting the Christmas holidays the first part of November is the best thing that has happened. How could we celebrate Christmas in a mere twelve days? It was nice when we could get in the spirit as early as Thanksgiving, but now we don't even have to wait that long. Maybe in a few years the Christmas season will overtake Labor day.

Johnson Elected

The Japan Times Weekly

President Lyndon B. Johnson's victory in the United States Presidential election would seem to show that the American people were less sharply divided on the issues than had been supposed. Mr. Johnson will retain his high office on the basis of a powerful margin of popular votes.

Now that Mr. Johnson in due course will be an elected President, there is no reason to suppose that his policies will be materially different from those followed during his period of power since the assination of President Kennedy elevated him from the Vice Presidency to the White House.

Mr. Johnson's foreign and domestic policies were calculated to keep the United States in step with developments in the rest of the world — developments which are generally regarded as constituting forward steps in the onward march of humanity.

Senator Goldwater's ideas were considerably different. We are still at a loss to know what he would have proposed to do if he had been elected. But he gave much prominence in his speeches to state and individual rights and made no secret of his belief that the federal system had been abused.

No doubt there are a good many Americans who feel that the Federal Government does press heavily on the individual and the local community but this pressure of the central government is today a feature of political life in all countries.

There has been obviously no rising tide of dissatisfaction, however, that would warrant the belief that a withdrawal into the isolation and self-sufficiency of the American past could be possible or desirable in these days. Yet it seems that Senator Goldwater had some such ambition. How far he wished to set the clock back we do not know but it is obvious that the American people wish to press forward, not to retrace their steps.

While saying this, we may add the thought that this election has served to clear the air in certain respects: That national considerations must come first, and local ones put in second place, may be regarded as definitely decided; but wherever possible we may expect the Federal Government to respect wisely directed opinion in various regions of the country. But it is manifest that such a question as that of Civil Rights, for example, must be solved on a national level and from a national standpoint.

Outside the United States, we believe the result of the election will be received with widespread satisfaction. Reasonable foreign aid to the developing countries will be continued, the defense of the Free World upheld. Anglo-American cooperation assured, and the close friendship and economic partnership between the United States and Japan preserved and even allowed to grow greater.

Report From Cuba Shows Castro Is Firmly Entrenched

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following is the first of five dispatches by a United Press International reporter who spent four weeks in Cuba on special assignment to survey the effectiveness of its Communist government and to test the mood of its people.)

By JOHN VIRTUE
United Press International

HAVANA — Premier Fidel Castro, backed by Soviet economic aid and a well-equipped army and civilian militia, appears to be solidly in control of Cuba today.

The economy is shaky, due in part to the U.S. embargo, and the food situation has gradually worsened over the last two years. It is doubtful whether Castro enjoys anything near the popular support that he commanded earlier in his revolution.

Despite this, the resistance of his opponents is mainly passive, although there are scattered slowdowns and sabotage. Many Cubans try their best to live with the Communists system and keep out of trouble.

His opponents are controlled mainly by the informer system, especially the 100,000 defense committees located in every block in Cuba. The committees keep tabs on all comings and goings and suspicious actions in their blocks.

★ ★ ★

Antigovernment conversation at a restaurant table stops when the waiter goes by. Talk stops when a car pulls up at an intersection for fear someone in the next car might overhear it.

GOT RESULTS

It was knowledge gained from such sources which resulted in the underground roundups and seizures of arms during the Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961. It is said the underground has never recovered.

Castro, unlike his predecessor, Fulgencio Batista, spares no manpower in tracking down armed opponents.

★ ★ ★

Because of these factors, there is a widespread feeling among antigovernment Cubans — and in diplomatic circles — that no internal uprising nor exile invasion will overthrow Castro.

HAD A CHANCE

They feel that only a U.S.-backed invasion would succeed, but that there will not be one because the United States had its chance during the missile crisis of October 1962.

The anti-Castroites appear to have lost considerable faith in the Cuban exile groups, especially those in Miami.

"The exiles live in another world," is a common statement. "They have completely lost touch with Cuba and do not know what is going on here."

REPORTS BOOMERANG

These reports boomerang on the exiles because Castro lets them stand, knowing that they will probably be aired by Miami radio stations or the Voice of Cubans who know them to be incorrect.

The U. S. embargo is hurting Cuba, especially in the area of spare parts for machinery.

The shortage of parts also manifests itself in everyday life as daily cars are disabled, air-conditioners break down and water systems stop working.

NOT ENOUGH

But there is general agreement that the embargo even if it were twice as effective, would not by itself topple the government as long as the Soviet Union continues to aid Cuba.

However, Castro made overtures to the United States earlier this year in order to get the embargo lifted.

He is said to have been prompted by fears that President Johnson, if elected, would meet with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and that a deal might be made involving Cuba, just as one was made during the missile crisis.

HELP ASSURED

Khrushchev has since been ousted, and the new Kremlin leadership reaffirmed "full solidarity and resolute support" for Cuba.

Castro's feelers to the United States were said by diplomatic sources to embody a promise to stop subversion in the hemisphere and to open talks on compensating seized U.S. firms.

But as long as Russia maintains its economic support, time is on the side of the 38-year-old premier because he has banked his future on the coming generation, which will owe everything to the revolution.

★ ★ ★

The students are the elite of Cuban society, especially the "Becados," the scholarship students who fill the beautiful homes left in Havana's Miramar and Vedado sections when their owners fled into exile.

RED EDUCATION

Educated in Communism's dialectical materialism, they will be the administrators and technicians of the future.

In the meantime, Cuba remains an armed camp. Guns along the Malecon Drive in Havana point out to sea where a U.S. warship remains constantly in sight on the horizon.

The skies over Havana are alive with powerful searchlights at night.

Signs Point to Continuation, Spread of U.S. Teacher Rebellion

By G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The teacher rebellion which erupted across the nation this fall is not a sometime thing.

Every sign points to its continuation, and its spreading to other sections.

Witness:

— T. M. Stinnett of the 900,000-member National Education Association: "The teachers in this country finally are fed up to the teeth with the shabby treatment they've been getting. They're going to do something about it."

— Albert Shanker, president of New York City's United Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO: "Teachers have developed a sense of their own dignity and worth. No longer will they tolerate the kinds of conditions they have been putting up with for years."

Teacher rebellion is nothing new in this country, but never before has it been so bitter and so widespread.

Strikes and walkouts have been called in Pawtucket, R.I.; Louisville, Ky.; Catossa County, Ga., and in Louisana and Oklahoma.

Warnings flags are flying in New York and New Jersey, and in the hundreds of overseas schools operated by the Defense Department.

There is watchful waiting in the state of Utah, where the teachers appear to have won their fight.

Salaries are the big issue, but not the only one. Teachers also want better working conditions, including smaller classes, and a stronger voice in setting education policy.

Only a few years ago, teachers confined their grumbling to the confines of the faculty lounge — if they had one — or the privacy of a professional meeting.

CHALLENGING BOARDS

Today they seem willing and able to challenge the local school board, as in Pawtucket; protest a statewide election, as in Oklahoma; take on the governor and legislature, as in Utah and Louisiana; or even go to the mat with a powerful branch of the federal government, as in the case of the overseas schools.

In Catoosa County, Ga., teachers walked off the job when it appeared they might not receive their November paychecks. Local officials floated a $37,500 loan to keep the schools open.

* * *

There is an uneasy truce in Louisville, where the voters turned down a tax increase which would have provided higher salaries. The teacher strike has been called off, but the teachers have turned to the courts for redress.

Oklahoma teachers took a one-day "professional holiday" when the state's voters rejected four educational measures, including one for higher pay. The teachers have appealed to the legislature, with a threat of a school boycott if more money isn't forthcoming.

In Louisiana, teachers marched on the state capital to dramatize their demands for higher salaries. If the legislature and the governor don't provide them, the teachers may boycott the classrooms.

The National Education Association has accused the Defense Department of reneging on its promise to pay the teachers overseas on a scale comparable to large U.S cities. Unless this disagreement is settled, the NEA is expected to blacklist the overseas schools, and ask its members not to take positions there.

Teacher salaries are set by local school boards, based on the amount of money available from taxes.

Thus, in Catoosa County, Ga., and in Louisville, the teachers protested the amount raised locally. In Oklahoma and Louisiana, the rebellion was sparked by failure of the state to provide more money.

* * *

Every teacher protest stirs unrest elsewhere; every teacher victory makes another protest certain.

The teacher rebellion is like a snowball just starting downhill. It's growing bigger as it picks up momentum, and the end is not in sight.

Next: The causes.

Mackie to Brief Highway Unit

LANSING (AP) — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, who becomes a congressman Jan. 1, will meet with the newly appointed State Highway Commission today.

The four-man, bipartisan commission, provided for in the new State Constitution and appointed by Gov. George Romney earlier this month, will assume Mackie's powers.

* * *

Mackie, a Flint Democrat, was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives Nov. 3. He was the nation's last elected highway commissioner. The commission will appoint a state highway director to carry out its policies and run the department.

Mackie said last week he will "brief the new commission on our past, present and future programs and cooperate fully with them to insure uninterrupted progress of our highway program."

Mackie said he called the formal meeting of the commission after he learned that it planned to meet informally in Lansing this morning. State law provides that the commission meet at least monthly at the call of the commissioner before it assumes its duties.

It also provides that the commission assist in preparing the department's budget request for the fiscal year beginning July 1. That budget already has been presented to the State Department of Administration, Mackie said, "but we will review it with the commission."

Although Over-All Average Up Since 1900

Life Span Not Much Better for Those Over 40

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON — While the average life expectancy of Americans has increased to about 70 in this century, people who reach 40 are not much better off than their counterparts of 1900, a panel of heart specialists said today.

★ ★ ★

The reason: Chronic diseases, such as heart disease and cancer, which strike most frequently among the middle-aged and the elderly, "persist today largely unabated."

★ ★ ★

A committee report submitted to the Second National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases said that since 1900 approximately 25 years have been added to the life span of newborn Americans because of such factors as the conquest of many infectious diseases.

"Life span has gone up from about 45 years in 1900 as an average figure to almost 70 years today," it said.

LIFE EXPECTANCY

It added: "When one poses the additional question, what is the life expectancy today of a person aged 40, compared with a person aged 40 in 1900, then one finds the improvement in life expectancy for persons of this age discouragingly slim—particularly for the males, most particularly for the white males."

The report continued: "For women, almost eight years have been added to life expectancy at age 40, compared to 1900. For the men, only four years have (been) added. Progress has really been slight in this area.

★ ★ ★

"Adult males cannot expect to live much longer today than their counterparts could in 1900."

The report was prepared by a conference committee assigned to assess "community services" that have become available during the past 15 years for coping with atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries responsible for most heart attacks.

'UNMET NEEDS'

The committee, headed by Dr. Jeremiah Stamler of Chicago's Board of Health, is one of several divisional committees and subcommittees assigned to survey progress and "unmet needs" in the treatment, diagnosis, prevention and rehabilitation of all forms of heart disease.

The conference as a whole is expected to propose measures for action by federal, state and local governments, as well as by voluntary health agencies, the medical profession and the general public.

Stamler's committee reported: "In contrast to the advances made against infectious diseases and malnutrition, the chronic diseases, which also existed in 1900, persist today largely unabated. Moreover, they have emerged as much more important problems, both relatively and absolutely."

The panelists said prospective epidemiological studies indicate that the average middle-aged man—if found to be free of coronary heart disease upon clinical examination — has about one chance in five of developing it before age 60 or 65, and about one chance in 15 of dying of it.

RISK FACTORS

The report said there are various risk factors for developing coronary heart disease in middle age — including obesity, "heart strain patterns," a family history of diabetes, and "heavy cigarette smoking."

It added: "Men free of all . . . (such) . . . defects, the lowest-risk men, have only about 1 chance in 30 or 40 or 50 of developing clinical coronary heart disease before age 60 or 65.

★ ★ ★

"In marked contrast, men with two or three or more of . . . (such) . . . abnormalities have one chance in two, two chances in three, three chances in four or worse."

"Most of the requests," said chief dispatcher Richard D. Hall, "were for the Beatles."

Have you priced a tiger lately?

Take the GTO, for instance. The greatest tiger of them all. Even real tigers cower when this baby speaks. It loads 335 horses under that hood. Plus bucket seats. Carpeting. Real walnut dash. And like that. Yet it sells for less than a lot of pussycats with imitation stripes. And of course the GTO's optional 360-hp engine puts it so far out in front of the pack that it gets kind of lonesome. Then there's the LeMans. Same kind of pizzazz. Same kind of crackle. Only with slightly smaller teeth. But don't worry. It can still handle the pussycats. If you haven't priced a tiger lately, you'd better. Now.

Costly House Office Building Is About to Open for Business

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — What may be the costliest building in the nation — the Rayburn House Office Building — is about to open for business.

★ ★ ★

Although the cost is estimated now at $86.4 million, another $35.7 million is being spent for related construction. This brings the total to more than $122 million.

★ ★ ★

By comparison, the Pentagon, completed in 1943, cost $75.2 million. New York's Empire State Building cost $42 million, Chicago's Merchandise Mart cost $32 million and the United Nations buildings in New York cost $72 million.

The last congressional office building to be completed, the 1958 Senate Office Building, cost a mere $21.2 million.

LATE SPEAKER

The Rayburn Building, named for the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, has a 60-by-20-foot swimming pool, a gymnasium, three levels of underground parking and handsome three-room office suites for 169 representatives.

★ ★ ★

They will choose offices in January on a seniority basis. The other 266 representatives will remain in the two earlier buildings, which are being remodeled to provide each member with a three-room suite.

★ ★ ★

The new building covers a two-block area across from the Capitol and sprawls down the side of Capitol Hill.

★ ★ ★

The main entrance, pillared and Romanesque, is flanked by two huge statues. One, a seated gentleman with a sword, is called "Majesty of the law." The other, a mother figure with child at her knee, is named "Spirit of Justice."

SCULPTURED PLAQUE

In the lobby is a place for a sculptured plaque of Rayburn. Cost of the plaque, according to the architect of the Capitol: $35,000.

Big as it is, the Rayburn Building is shaded by the Pentagon across the Potomac as far as office space goes. But the cost is another matter.

★ ★ ★

The Capitol Architect's Office — he is J. George Stewart, a former congressman, and he is not an architect, — says the present estimated cost of the building — $86.4 million — is $9.5 million more than the estimate in 1962. The figure includes land, foundations, furniture and the like.

Associated with it is a $7.7-million subway train system to carry congressmen the block from the building to the Capitol. $11.7 million for property acquisition nearby, new underground parking garages, and the remodeling of the existing two buildings.

HEARING ROOMS

The Rayburn Building, besides providing room for 169 congressmen, includes many large and luxuriously appointed committee hearing rooms, with associated office space. These occupy much of the ground floor.

In the subbasement there are six "quiet rooms," presumably for those who like to take an afternoon nap.

In each office suite is a separate office for the congressman, with a private entrance from the hallway, a lavatory, and a walk-in filing closet that includes a built-in safe large enough to serve a supermarket.

The double doors of each suite open into a central office with work space behind a translucent glass screen. The walls are lined with built-in filing cabinets.

★ ★ ★

The third room is another working office with walls lined with filing space, plus another lavatory and the piece de resistance: a kitchenette with cabinets, countertop and built-in refrigerator.

The entire floor space is covered with wall-to-wall carpeting of a surpassing softness and thickness. Each office will be completely furnished.

AN INSIDE FIT—Little Daniel Meblin found himself a size 50 ski boot in a stunt calling attention to a California winter sports fair in San Francisco.

NEW MODEL — This is Buick's new Riviera Gran Sport, which goes into production this month. The new model features special options and equipment that set new performance highs in the sports car field. Two options, one a "performance package" and the other a "ride and handling" option.

Officials Chosen for Inaugural Ball

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warren Woodward, a vice president of American Airlines, and Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of the House Democratic whip, are the chairman and cochairman of the 1965 Inaugural Ball. Their appointments were announced this weekend.

Woodward is a native of Austin, Tex., and a long-time friend of President Johnson. Mrs. Boggs, whose husband is a Louisiana Democrat, also served as cochairman of the 1961Inaugural Ball.

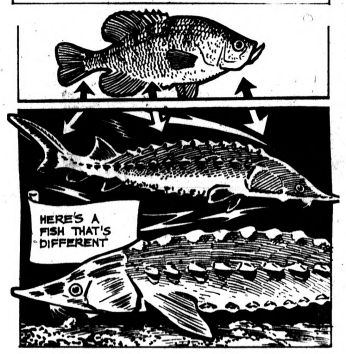
Junior Editors Quiz on FISH



QUESTION: Why does a sturgeon look so different from other fish?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The fish at the top of the picture look familiar to those of you who live in the Great Lakes and Mississippi valley region — it's a white crappie — you may have caught dozens of them.

Compare this very typical fish with the sturgeon below; the arrows show three especially striking points of difference.

Notice that the crappie's tail is balanced or symmetrical, while the upper part of the sturgeon's tail is much longer, resembling that of a shark.

Sharks are very primitive, ancient fishes: some kinds having remained almost unchanged for 100 million years. The sturgeon looks different because it, too, resembles its primitive ancestors and so has retained a primitive type of tail.

The plates on the body are also ancient in type. Instead of being flexible like the crappie's scales, these are hard like armor, covered with a kind of enamel. Many ancient fishes had such "ganoid" scales.

Notice that the crappie has true jaws, but the sturgeon's mouth lies underneath, another primitive characteristic. When the sensitive feelers detect a bit of food on the bottom, the sturgeon pokes out a kind of mouth tube and sucks it us.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up "caviar," find out what it is and what its connection with a sturgeon might be.

Khrushchev Kin Now Editor of 'Soviet Union' Magazine

MOSCOW (AP)— Alexei Adzhubei, stripped of power in the downfall of his father-in-law, Nikita Khrushchev, has been named an editor of the magazine "Soviet Union," it was learned today.

The former editor of the government newspaper Izvestia and one-time member of the Soviet Communist party's powerful Central Committee is now chief of the magazine's publication section.

The magazine confirmed the appointment in response to a telephoned question.

Adzhubei's wife and Khrushchev's daughter, Rada, was found working at her old job on the magazine "Science and Life."

Adzhubei's new job is with an illustrated monthly magazine published in 17 different languages. Efforts to contact him personally since Khrushchev's ouster have been fruitless.

TOLD BY EDITOR

A Western newsman saw Rada in the "Science and Life" office and asked to speak with her. He was told by the editor "She does not want to see anyone from the press."

The editor was asked on the whereabouts of the Khrushchev family. "They are all in their places," he said. Asked where, he replied, "In Moscow, I think."

Khrushchev's whereabouts have remained a mystery since he was deposed Oct. 14.

* * *

Various reports have indicated he was living at several different Moscow addresses, at a country dacha, at a hospital outside Moscow, and on the Black Sea.

The world's only double-barreled cannon can be seen on the lawn of the city hall in Athens, Ga. It was cast in Athens during the Civil War and designed to fire two balls connected by a chain. It was a failure.

To Display King-Sized Tree House

Pontiac area residents who have never seen the huge redwood trees of California, will have an opportunity to get some idea of their size next week.

A giant redwood tree serving as a three-room house will be on display in the K-Mart parking lot at Glenwood Plaza, North Perry and Glenwood, Nov. 29 - Dec. 5.

Built by a California man, who 16 years ago decided to show the world the enormity of redwoods in his native state, the house is made from a section of a tree eight feet in diameter and 33 feet long.

Keith H. Straughan, in his travels as a diesel mechanic, found people didn't believe when he attempted to describe the size of trees from his home state.

* * *

He and his son proceeded to build a home out of a redwood near Eureka, choosing a log 33 feet long and weighing close to 19,000 pounds.

The tree from which the log was taken was 14 feet in diameter at the stump cut and 267 feet high. It was 1,900 years old.

REDWOOD HOUSE — It takes a heap of wood to make a home, but in this case, — just one redwood log. It will be at Glenwood Plaza in the K-Mart parking lot, North Perry and Glenwood, for a week beginning Nov. 29.

Plan Greens Market

Four area branches of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will participate in the annual Greens Market, Dec. 11, in the CAI Building.

Mrs. Fred Bohlman, general chairman, suggests reservations for the luncheon to be served by the Women's Club of the GAI from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Table settings and flower arrangements to be judged by WNF&GA graduates may be viewed from 11 a.m. through 7 p.m.

FOOD BOOTH

Sylvan Lake branch, with Mrs. George Kieffer as chairman, will feature canned mincemeat, mince pies and baked goods.

Lorraine Manor branch will have doll clothes, bazaar items and baked goods. Mrs. Robert Smith is chairman and Mrs. Glenn Hickson, cochairman.

Mistletoe rings and packaged nut confections, along with Christmas novelties, will be found at the Brookside branch booth. Mrs. Carl Bird is chairman.

GREENS

The Waterford branch will specialize in greens, wreaths, swags, roping and Della Robbia wreaths. Mrs. Bohlman is in charge.

The market is open to the public without charge.

Just Pay Your Own Half of Bill

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I would like to know what is the proper way to handle the following situation:

My wife and I arrange with friends to have dinner in a restaurant. At the end of the meal the waiter brings the check to me and the other man either doesn't want to notice the "evil menace" in our midst, or else he just plays dumb.

What do I do? Pay the check and be a sucker as my wife seems to think I have to be?

* * *

A: If it has been clearly understood beforehand that the dinner is to be Dutch treat, when the waiter brings the check to you, simply put the amount you owe, plus your tip on the bill, hand it over to the other man and say, "I think this is my half," and let him pay it.

Q: I would like to know if I committed a breach of etiquette. Two weeks ago my boyfriend in the service had a birthday and as I hadn't the slightest idea what to buy him, I enclosed five dollars in a birthday card and asked him to please buy something he wanted with it.

I have been told that it was an improper thing to do. Was it?

* * *

A: I'm sorry, but I must agree that it was not a proper gift to give your boyfriend.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest will be answered in this column.

OU Group to Give Play in December

For their second production of the season, the Oakland University Meadow Brook Theatre Guild will stage "The Birthday Party," Dec. 3-5.

Written by British playwright Harold Pinter, the play takes place in a single room, which serves as a refuge from reality for the main character.

Area students who will have parts in the play are Jim Rousku, Barbara Carrick and Sixten Netzler.

Curtain time for the three performances in the OU Little Theatre is 8:30 p.m. OU students will be admitted free and there is an admission charge for the public.

Tom Aston is adviser for the Theatre Guild.

Beta Chapter Sees Fashions

Mrs. Florence Brown presented a fall and winter style show from Beeline Fashions, Inc. at a Thursday meeting of Beta chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority.

Plans for the charity project were completed at the home of Mrs. Elmer Dieterlie. Mrs. John Piechowiak cohosted the meeting.

Nurses Give Tea

The registered nurses at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital gave a tea for all hospital personnel Friday in honor of "Michigan Nurse Week."

Cochairmen were Mrs. Lenore Swenson and Ann Tamargo.

Then Marriage Goes 'Boom'

Little Things Build Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When there are so many important problems in the world, why do you bother with silly complaints like, "My husband insists on wiping his hands on my dish towels"?

ABBY

DISAPPOINTED IN EUGENE, ORE.

* * *

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Very few marriages fail because of one great big earth-shaking problem.

A collection of minor irritations tends to build up, and then . . . BOOM, marriage on the rocks!

DEAR ABBY: We are so pleased and proud that you gave nationwide attention to our Mason School Block Plan.

If other parents want to adopt it, there is no limit to the amount of pain and brutality we will have spared innocent children.

All that is required to make this plan work is one responsible mother in every block who will volunteer her home for a few hours each day as an "island of safety."

School children are instructed to seek refuge in any home with the "block plan" sign in the window, should they be bullied by other children, chased by a dog, followed by a stranger, or become suddenly ill.

Anyone wishing free information on how to organize this plan may write to:

MASON PUBLIC SCHOOL
OMAHA, NEBRASKA

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE LAITNER

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what is proper concerning a widow wearing her wedding ring.

My father died two years ago and my mother has started dating.

* * *

Now she no longer wears her wedding ring. But she wears her engagement ring on her right hand. This has upset me.

I think it looks as though she is divorced. Shouldn't a widow continue to wear her wedding ring until she marries again?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: No. Only a widow who has no interest in dating continues to wear her wedding ring.

It communicates to all eligible men that she is neither available, nor interested.

Widows who would like to date, and eventually remarry, leave their wedding rings in the drawer.

The Nation's First Lady Starts Her Second Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lady Bird Johnson begins her second year in the White House today with a new confidence and happiness.

She became the 32nd first lady of the land in the wake of an event which sent waves of shocked horror through the world — the assassination last Nov. 22 of John F. Kennedy.

* * *

In those early days in the White House she felt she was walking in another person's shoes. At first she seemed almost to tiptoe through the great mansion.

But with her husband's smashing Nov. 3 election victory, the dark-eyed first lady suddenly seemed to feel that the prize was the Johnsons' in their own right.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN

No President's wife ever campaigned more vigorously for her husband. The Lady Bird whistle stops by train and plane were unique in U.S. political history. Her example spurred other political wives to get out on the hustings.

Mrs. Johnson, normally a halting speaker, achieved eloquence in moments of heckling during her southern tour that would have put any politician to the test.

She stood up under the booing and demanded her right to speak, evoking the admiration of a nation. A many-faceted person, she seems shy and reserved but is strong as steel in moments of crisis.

* * *

No one was ever better prepared to be first lady than Mrs. Johnson. She has been on the Washington scene since she came here 26 years ago with Johnson, then a freshman congressman. During the years of Johnson's vice presidency, she often filled in as hostess for her predecessor, Jacqueline Kennedy.

ENJOYS LIFE

In short she knew the ropes. Almost more than any other President's wife in recent times, she shares her husband's interests and is by his side on almost all public occasions. She does not see life in the White House as a "splendid misery." She enjoys every minute of it.

They are a closely knit family. The moment Johnson reaches the family quarters he calls out, "Where's Bird?" She is a calming influence on her sometimes outspoken spouse. During the campaign she sent up little notes, "You're speaking too long."

* * *

Mrs. Johnson is an organized hostess. She can give a party on short notice — a necessity in view of her husband's hospitable nature. A "can do" woman herself, she gives luncheons honoring what she calls "women-doers" who are making unique contributions to the country.

With the start of the drive on poverty, she became the President's eyes and ears, making trips to Kentucky and West Virginia to see first hand the conditions of the destitute and uneducated.

FRIENDS EVERYWHERE

She has friends everywhere who would do anything for Lady Bird. They have rallied to her side many times as she has to theirs. When the Johnsons' long-time friend and aide, Walter Jenkins, collapsed under a morals arrest exposure, the first lady was the first to speak out in sympathy for him and his family.

Mrs. Johnson is 51 but looks much younger. Admirers often exclaim, "Why, she's much prettier than her pictures."

* * *

She has never been too clothes conscious. But suddenly she finds she has to be. The public has a probing eye. Sometimes she doesn't trust her own taste, having always chosen her costumes for practicality and travel.

She has asked Robin Duke, wife of the state department's protocol chief and a walking model, to help her outfit herself for the inauguration where she will be constantly on parade.

EXPECTS TO TRAVEL

In the next four years, she is expected to do a lot of traveling and has set a pace of "seeing America first." Her rubber raft trip down the Snake River caught the imagination of the country and showed her to be a woman who loves nature and the outdoors.

When she moved into the White House a year ago, Mrs. Johnson said that her role must "emerge in deeds not words."

She is busy making her forecast come true.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Douglas of Argyle Avenue announce the engagement of his daughter Suzanne to Paul Ravitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ravitch of Benton Harbor. Her fiance is a graduate of Central Michigan University where she was a former student. A Jan. 31 altar date is set.

The Fred J. Harrells of Clawson, former Pontiac residents, announce the engagement of their daughter, Geraldine Gladys to William Forbes III, son of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Forbes of Chadwick Drive. Both are attending Michigan State University.

Reweavers Shortage Is Shown

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) —American smokers are burning holes in their clothes faster than people can be trained to reweave them.

★ ★ ★

The national shortage of skilled reweavers was cited by Morton Mallin, founder and director of the Eastern School of Reweaving in Hempstead.

★ ★ ★

He estimated that there are only about 2,000 qualified reweavers in the United States who make their services available to the public.

MORE CAPABLE

Several hundred more are capable but make repairs only for friends of relatives.

Cigarette and cigar burns, plus moth damage, account for more than 60 per cent of the work brought to reweavers.

★ ★ ★

Mallin estimated the trade volume of reweaving done in the U.S. at about $20 million a year.

★ ★ ★

The families of Mallin and his wife, Gloria, were reweavers for generations. She assists him in grading the work sists him in grading the work of students who require a great deal of practice.

★

"Theory is fine," he said, "but experience is more important."

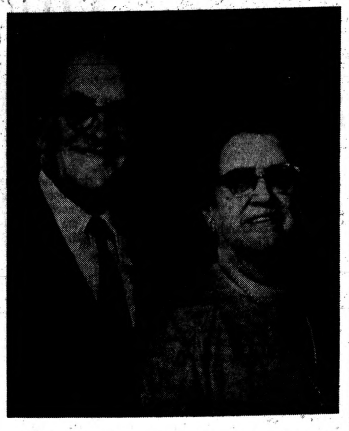
Recent Rite Is Announced

The Ivan R. Sheldons of Utica announce the recent marriage of their daughter Rae Lynne to James Arthur Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Skropsky of Hall Road, Springfield Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Maurice II of Alexandria, Va. attended the couple at the ceremony in Upper Marlboro, Md.

The couple is residing in Alexandria, Va.

The bride is a recent graduate of Carnegie Institute of Technology.



Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sherwood of Oxford were married Dec. 2, 1914. The couple will be honored Sunday with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Sherwood Forest Lodge in Davison. The couple has one son, Don of Davison, five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. They have lived in Oxford Township for 50 years.

Helping Mom Helps Daughter After Marriage

It's a mistake to assume that push buttons can substitute for brains.

★ ★ ★

With early marriages the rule, a schoolgirl should learn her housework along with her homework.

★ ★ ★

No matter how efficient her home laundry equipment may be, the bride must know how to put the clothes into the washer, how to set her dryer, how to use her steam-spray iron properly, and how to use her new cleaning equipment.

★ ★ ★

This indicates that today's mother-daughter team should abide by the old-fashioned principle that a girl learns to keep her own house by helping to keep her mother's.

End Dry Skin
Wrinkles form in the colder weather because the skin contracts, making it hard for the little oil ducts to feed and protect the surface skin. Those of you with dry skins should take a little extra care at this time of the year. Ask your druggist for a little oil of olay and smooth it over the face and neck daily, before you make-up and again before retiring. This hygroscopic (moisture attracting) oil will give the complexion a youthful bloom and is the finest protection against wrinkle dryness.

Does Shame Prevent an Unyielding 'No'?

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our 6 - year - old boy is nearly 11 years younger than our next child and is really the "baby" of the family.

★ ★ ★

I guess we have all spoiled him. He is a whiner. He doesn't exactly cry if he doesn't get his way but keeps after you begging for it in a half-crying, complaining voice.

His big brother and sister have begun to call him a 'cry-baby" and so does another boy who lives on our street.

As a small child, he was sickly and . . .

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Did you resent having this child after so many years of freedom from mothering babies?

NOT AGAIN

Did you feel, "Oh no, not again! I'm through with childbearing, pregnancy discomforts, sleepless nights and tussles with toddlers!

"I don't want anothor baby.?"

Were you ashamed of this resistance?

If you were, it may account for your inability to resist your child's whining with a firm and unyielding, "No!"

★ ★ ★

If we have been ashamed of our resistance to a child's demand to be born, it is easy for us to feel shame at resisting any of his later demands.

EVERY WISH

We indulge his every wish to appease our own sense of wickedness. We feel that we've cheated him by resenting his existence. We try to make the cheat up to him by giving him his way in everything.

★ ★ ★

Then comes the day when we are compelled to deny him his way. He feels himself outrageously injured — and begins to whine in protest.

He's sure, you see, that we'll come through with a yes if he whines long and complainingly enough. And he's right.

We will give in so long as we cannot face our shame at not wanting him.

★ ★ ★

We can't maintain a firm and unyielding no to his wish to play outside in the rain because the no we felt toward his birth still reproaches us with our unwelcoming and "unloving" meanness toward him.

★ ★ ★

If your inability to give this child a firm and unyielding no does derive from shame of not wanting him, it's not going to help one bit to tell you to give it to him.

NOT WICKED

First, we have to see how cruel is the shame. We have to see that it wasn't wicked at all to look forward to freedom from mothering babies and to feel disappointed and resentful at our new pregnancy's denial of it.

★ ★ ★

We have to see that our resentment, though not a maternal feeling, was a most understandable human one.

We have to begin to make room for the human in us as was the mother in us.

Four Newcomers Attend Gathering

Four new members attended the Saturday meeting of Pontiac Junior Musicians in the Starr Avenue home of Lorine June Pritchett.

★ ★ ★

They are: Billy Garfield, Kirk Lockhart, Karen Reh and Shari Shelton. Other guests were Bobby and Linda Pritchett.

Portrait photographs taken and framed by a professional photographer make an attractive focal point for this family room. There they stir many happy memories associated with the subjects.

With Photographs

Create Private Memorial

Portrait photographs are the key to wall-to-wall beauty of a kind that no painted masterpiece can rival, for what art is so dear to the heart of the family as photographs commemorating its own milestones.

The best type to feature are the ones taken by a portrait photographer, a full-time professional who is an expert at lighting, posing and camera techniques.

★ ★ ★

Included should be photographs taken of the family's brides, when children depart for college or jobs, when Dad gets a promotion and when confirmations, engagements and important anniversaries are celebrated.

★ ★ ★

Framing is a simple matter. Most portrait photographers are experts at that too. A do-it-yourself buff might try matting them with wallpaper, buying inexpensive frames and painting them in gay colors to match the color scheme or gluing a string of pop pearls to the inner edge of a plain wood frame.

Since two of the trends in photographic portraitures are direct color and large-size pictures, one suggestion is to dramatize a fireplace or console by hanging a single stunning photograph above it.

A potpourri of photographs can be displayed with equal verve when they're mounted on sliding track between the shelves of a bookcase, arranged on a rectangle of perforated hardboard or grouped on a screen covered in plain fabric.

When hanging a number of photographs in assorted sizes, the better part of prudence is to start with a piece of paper the size of the area to be covered. Arrange the framed photographs on the paper.

Trace around each, remove and you have a pattern. Tape the pattern to the wall and use it as a guide for driving the nails. To keep plaster from shattering, spread a piece of transparent plastic tape on the wall before nailing.

THREE ARRANGEMENTS

Framed photographs also can be hung on a length of fabric shaped like an old-fashioned bell pull with a tassel at the bottom, hung on several streamers of bright ribbon each topped with a bow, or grouped in antique frames around a dressing table mirror.

In any case, the result will be a personalized wall decoration that stirs many happy memories when it's viewed. It will be a conversation piece, a pictorial history and a completely original effort.

Candlelight Ceremony for Ward Wedding

Dianne Carole Maxfield and James Finley Ward were wed in a candlelight ceremony, Saturday, in the Bethany Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Her parents, the Gerald Maxfields of South Avery Road, were hosts at the reception in the Coral Reef Room, Airway Lanes.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace accented the bride's gown and cathedral-length Watteau train of white peau taffeta. A Swedish tiara of seed pearls caught her illusion veil.

WHITE ROSES

She held a cascade bouquet of white roses and carnations during the evening rite performed by Dr. Emil Kontz.

Carol Kresge was honor maid and Sally Ryan, bridesmaid. Susan Toteff was the junior attendant.

★ ★ ★

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Wilbur F. Ward of Grafton, W.Va. and the late Mr. Ward, had his brother Richard Ward of Martinsburg, W.Va. for best man.

Seating the guests were Richard Gratson, Mount Clemens, Robert Mogge and William Maxfield.

★ ★ ★

After a southern honeymoon, the couple will reside in the new Independence Square Apartments, Waterford Hill.

Polly's Pointers

Gift of Month Idea

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My in-laws recently had an anniversary and I could not think of a thing to give them that they might need or want.

★ ★ ★

My husband wrote out a clever card which said they were enrolled in our own Gift of the Month Club. Now each month on the date of their anniversary, they receive a small gift.

I usually bake cookies, send a glass or two of homemade jam or jelly or a loaf of my banana nut bread and find they are delighted and look forward to these little monthly surprises.

This would also work for shut-ins or youngsters on the monthly date of their birthdays.—MRS. L. G.

DEAR POLLY — I am surprised that anyone can be so thoughtless as to salvage pockets, buttons and zippers from garments about to be discarded.

It is seldom that discarded garments are so completely worn out that they cannot be used by someone less fortunate.

Fires, illness, unemployment and other disasters sometimes leave individuals or whole families destitute. For the sake of suffering humanity have a heart and use your head.—R. E. A.

DEAR POLLY — When baby bottles were no longer needed as such at our house, I had several large-necked ones left on hand.

I discovered they made wonderful refrigerator storage jars for leftover soup, gravy and so on.

They take up a minimum of space, are easily washed and filled and the plastic ones are unbreakable. Best of all, they were put to good use. — MRS. B. I.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — One of my ambitions is to own a Polly Dollar. I know your column has covered so many good uses for plastic bleach and detergent bottles but I have still another to add.

For our 5-year-old I made a megaphone from such a bottle. Remove the label and wash the bottle throughly.

Cut off the bottom and with the handle to hold on to, the youngster can sing to his heart's content even though mother may need ear plugs.—SUNNY

Hot Immigration Battle Due

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the 4th in a series of dispatches exploring chances for President Johnson's legislative proposals in the new 89th Congress. A UPI reporter who has been bird-dogging immigration legislation foresees a tough battle on the issue.)

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, who wants to get an immigration bill through the next Congress, shares some of the same problems as the man who is planning to build a boat in a bottle.

The model-builder has to worry about getting his ship through the neck of the bottle. Johnson has to get his bill past the House and Senate judiciary committees, and the fit could be just as close.

The battle, and there will be a hot one, will be over proposals to repeal the 40-year-old national origins quota system of immigration contr l. It will involve basic U.S. immigration policy and probably excite more passion than anything since the civil rights bill.

The Johnson immigration bill is expected to be patterned closely after the proposal submitted to Congress in 1963 by the late President John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

That bill did not pass, principally because there were not enough votes in the two committees to advance it.

SAME PROBLEM

The same problem faces Johnson and his congressional lieutenants. But for a chief executive who in the last session was able to squeeze through Congress such bills as civil rights, school aid and tax reductions, the immigration bottleneck does not appear impassable.

The situation appears most delicate in the 35-member House Judiciary Committee.

Supporters of the Kennedy bill never had a difference that the bill never got out of the predominantly hostile immigration subcommittee headed by Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio.

★ ★ ★

The larger Democratic House majority that rolled in with the Johnson pr sidential landslide could change the judiciary committee situation.

MEMBERSHIP CHANGE

Supporters of immigration legislation are hoping that the lar over-all ratio of House Democrats will decree a change in committee membership that would put their bill over the top.

If the Democratic membership of the committee were increased from 21 to 23, legislation of the type proposed by the administration would have a chance.

In the Senate, a change of party ratio is unlikely, but the vote shortage for the administration bill in the 15-man judiciary committee was not as acute in the last Congress either.

★ ★ ★

It seems likely that the application of Johnson's vaunted powers of persuasion to one or two key senators could turn the trick.

FLOOR DEBATE

Once the committee problems are solved, the resulting bill still has to stand up to debate on the House and Senate floor. But supporters feel the votes are there in both chambers.

The Kennedy immigration bill touched on a number of controversial questions, but the overriding issue it raised was abolition of the national origins quota system.

The quota system has been in the law since 1924, and has provoked arguments from the start. The system is a device for controlling immigration to the United States from other countries.

At present, 155,600 quota immigration "numbers" are divided among more than 100 countries. Each country's yearly quota is based upon its percentage of the nationality "mix" present in the United States at the time of the 1920 census.

MORE NUMBERS

The result has been to allot many more immigration numbers to Northern and Western European countries than to other parts of the world.

Specifically, the system provides for 104,000 immigrants from Great Britain, Ireland and Germany and 51,000-plus to the rest of the world.

It is important to add that the quota system actually provides only one-third of the yearly immigration into the United States.

A series of laws enacted since the McCarran-Walter Act of 1952 have authorized the entry of hundreds of thousands of displaced persons, political refugees and others without regard to the quota system.

In addition, Congress yearly approves thousands of individual "private" laws to permit the entry and naturalization of named individuals.

The administration proposes to eliminate quotas at the rate of 20 per cent a year for five years.

At the same rate, a "pool" of immigration numbers would be built up.

This proposal would put roughly the same limit on yearly immigration as now exists. There would be some increases due to immediate increases in quotas for countries now at the minimum of 100 per year, as well as other changes, but officials estimate the total would go up only 13,000.

This does not rule out arguments over the size of immigration. Some opponents of the administration plan, citing high unemployment and housing and school shortages, argue that the practical effect will be to boost immigration by more than 60,000 a year and prepare the way to "throw open the gates."

Another issue that will come up is an extension of the old dispute between Congress and the White House over day-to-day control of tariff policy.

The executive branch has won the tariff battle, and many congressmen feel the administration bill would give it the same grip on immigration policy.

Supporters of the bill reply that the present attempt to control nonquota immigration with private bills is getting out of hand.

They argue that Congress can maintain its constitutional control of immigration policy without trying to decide itself on each potential new citizen.

Tokyo is the world's most populous city, with 10,261,425 inhabitants. This estimate was made in April, 1963. The second and third most populous cities in the world are London and New York, respectively. New York's population is now 8,090,000 (U.S. Census Bureau report, Oct. 1, 1964) compared with London's 8,171,902 (estimate based on 1961 census.)

Peaches, Nuts and Pickles Make a Good Broiled Garnish

Broiled chicken is a good choice. Basted with a sauce made with butter, sweet pickle liquid and the syrup from canned peaches, these little birds are choice morsels, indeed. Peach halves are filled with chopped peanuts and sweet fresh cucumber pickles and are also broiled.

This is a wonderful flavor combination, and the chickens and peaches arrange beautifully on a platter. Rice and some of the basting sauce would be good with this dish.

Peachy Pickle Chicken

1 can (1 pound) cling peach halves
½ cup sweet pickle liquid
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons paprika
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 broiler chicken halves (about ½ pound each)
½ cup ground peanuts
¼ cup finely chopped drained sweet fresh cucumber pickles
Cooked rice

Drain peaches; reserve ½ cup syrup. Combine reserved syrup, pickle liquid, butter or margarine, mustard, paprika, salt and pepper. Cook over low heat to boiling point and cook 2 to 3 minutes longer.

Arrange chickens on broiler pan. Brush with butter mixture. Broil 7 inches from source of heat, turning chicken every 15 minutes and brushing with butter mixture frequently. Broil about 45 minutes or until fork-tender.

Meanwhile, combine peanuts and pickles; mix well. Fill peach halves with pickle mixture. Arrange on broiler pan and broil about 5 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Serve chicken, stuffed peaches and rice with remaining butter mixture. Makes 4 servings.

If it is impossible to broil 7 inches from source of heat set oven dial at 300 degrees.

Michigan Navy Beans Serve New Purpose Fixed in a Dip

Canapes and hors d'oeuvres are always a real part of a party. And how often the compliments flow for the clever hostess who serves something new and different along with the usual fare!

It will be hard to guess that these appetizing and delicious recipes start with a simple navy bean base. They're sure to rate bravos from everyone on your guest list. Try any one of them the next time you entertain and see.

Hot & Tasty

1 cup baked beans
2 tablespoons chili sauce
Thinly sliced bread
Slices of bacon

Season beans with chili sauce and mash slightly. Spread slices of bread with mixture and roll up, jelly roll fashion. Wrap in slice of bacon and fasten with toothpicks. Toast under broiler till bacon is crisp. Cut in crosswise slices and serve on cocktail picks. Serve in a whole grapefruit with olives, pickles, sausages, etc.

Calypso Dip

1 cup boiled navy beans
1 teaspoon horseradish
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
⅓ cup pimiento stuffed olives, chopped
Dash of onion powder
Tabasco to taste
Mayonnaise to moisten

Drain and mash beans. Add all other ingredients and mix thoroughly. Serve with chips or on crackers.

Party Gala

1 cup baked beans
2 teaspoons chives, finely chopped
1 teaspoon parsley, finely chopped
2 tablespoons salad oil
Lemon juice
Tabasco

Mash beans to smooth paste. Add chives, parsley, salad oil. Then mix in enough lemon juice and tabasco to taste. Chill in refrigerator and serve on crackers.

Pontiac May Get Federal Youth Corps Program

Pontiac is among four Michigan communities that may have a Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) program, part of the federal war on poverty.

Morris Riger, acting regional director of the U. S. Labor Department's NYC, said four proposals — Pontiac, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Detroit — are being reviewed.

★ ★ ★

If established, the NYC program calls for part-time employment in public or private nonprofit institutions for disadvantaged youths age 16-21.

Object is to provide financial aid so students can stay in school, or obtain work experience to find full-time employment.

Barber 'Swings In' on His Customers

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Dick Gordon, injured in a car-motorcycle accident, won't be able to walk for many months, but he is back at his barber shop cutting hair, thanks to an ingenious mechanical contraption.

His brother Don, a body and fender worker, designed a swinging stool attached to the barber chair and a swinging leg rest for Gordon, whose left leg was broken and right hip fractured. With it he is able to give a haircut, answer the telephone, reach his tools and tonics and punch the cash register.

Dems Support Tax Committee

Group Commended for Its 'Civic' Efforts

The Pontiac Democratic Club voted "full support" yesterday to the newly formed Citizens Committee on Taxation.

The tax committee was formed to study city finances and campaign for a referendum on Pontiac's income tax ordinance.

The Democratic group also commended the tax committee for its "civic efforts."

Added to the taxation committee were Robert Jackson, chairman of the 19th Congressional Democratic District, and State Rep. Arthur J. Law, as a consultant.

The citizen's committee reported today that 2,700 signatures had been secured so far in the drive to force a referendum on the tax.

Retired Admiral Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Vice Adm. Willard A. Kitts III, whose naval career stretched back to 1916, died of a brain tumor Saturday at the Bethesda Naval Hospital. He was 70 years of age. Adm. Kitts was the holder of the Navy Cross and of three Legion of Merit awards. He retired from the Navy in 1951 and more recently was associated with General Electric Co.

40 Hurt in Bus Wreck

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Two buses collided head-on near here today when one of them tried to overtake a truck on a highway. First police reports said about 40 persons were injured. All were believed to be Spaniards.

Man Injured

Teens Jailed After Fight

Three teen-agers are being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of felonious assault following a fight early today off Auburn Road near the Country Kitchen Restaurant at 2041 Auburn in Pontiac Township.

Held are Robert Blackledge, 19, 142 Merrimac; and Michael A. Bartley, 17, 2094 Windy Hill, and David R. Marchewka, 17, 249 Robin Creek, both of Pontiac Township.

In fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with head wounds is Robert Paramo, 21, of 204 Franklin. Two other youths, deputies said, were involved in the fight. They are David Cantral, 20, who listed his address as 20979 Dewey, and Patrick Allen, who listed his address at 7 Short.

Preliminary investigation has indicated, according to sheriff's deputies, that the six got into an argument at the restaurant.

★ ★ ★

Following the argument the two groups got into two separate cars and drove down Auburn to a point where the fight started.

USES TIRE IRON

Paramo told deputies that one of the trio — either Blackledge, Bartley or Marchewka, attacked him with a tire iron. Cantral was believed to have been assaulted with a wrench, deputies said.

When deputies arrested the trio they found two tire irons, a wrench and a homemade "blackjack" in the car.

Investigation is still under way by deputies.

Estes Faces Jail at Hearing Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, accused of violating a $10,000 bond, is under subpoena to appear before U.S. Dist. judge Sarah T. Hughes today.

Estes, the former farm tycoon, is under indictment here on charges of making false financial statements to the Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation.

★ ★ ★

In asking the subpoena, U.S. Dist. Atty. Barefoot Sanders said Estes has violated repeatedly conditions of the bond by leaving the boundaries set by the 100 counties in the northern district of Texas.

Offer $25,000 for Information About Key Nazi

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The price on Martin Bormann's head is $25,000.

West German authorities have promised that reward for information leading to the arrest of Bormann, one of Adolph Hitler's top lieutenants during the Nazi regime.

★ ★ ★

Bormann disappeared at the end of World War II. He subsequently was sentenced to death in absentia by the Nuremberg War Crimes Tribunal.

★ ★ ★

Although Bormann was reported killed in Berlin street fighting in the closing days of the war, and was declared legally dead by a German court in 1954, there have been recurrent rumors that he is alive, hiding out in exile, possibly South America. If alive today, he would be 64.

Specialist Cites Huge Heart Work Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you live to be 70, your one-pound heart will have chalked up a lifetime job equivalent to carrying a 10-ton load 10 miles.

That was the illustration given Sunday by one of the nation's top heart specialists in describing the "fantastic amount of work" done by the human heart —and the difficulties in trying to develop an artificial, robot heart to duplicate it, even temporarily.

★ ★ ★

Dr. E. Cowles Andrus, professor emeritus of Johns Hopkins University Medical School, told a news conference he believes a crude artificial heart could be developed in several years.

But he said a robot heart useful in treating cardiac disease shapes up as achievable only "in the more distant future."

Dr. Andrus is director of the second national conference on cardiovascular diseases which opened Sunday under the joint sponsorship of the American Heart Association and agencies of the U.S. Public Health Service.

He said the mechanical heart-lung machines developed in recent years are very valuable. But he declared they constitute artificial hearts only in a limited sense in that they provide only a "bypass" that does not handle the entire circulation."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says the amount of radioactive strontium 90 detected in milk continued to decline in August.

The August national average was 22 picocuries per liter of milk daily, compared with 26 in July and 30 in May and June. A picocurie is one millionth of one millionth of the radioactivity from one gram of radium. The Federal Radiation Council has established an intake of 200 picocuries a day, averaged over a year, as an acceptable health hazard.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the health service said the strontium 90 fallout effect of Communist China's nuclear test would not be detected in monthly milk reports for several months.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., says the proposed multilateral nuclear force of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "is a reversal of the trend toward peace and arms reduction set in motion by the nuclear test-ban treaty in 1963."

★ ★ ★

McGovern said in a statement Sunday he is inclined to view the proposed mixed sea force as impractical. At best, he said, it will require at least a year of careful study by Congress before a worthwhile judgment can be made.

McGovern said in his statement that the multilateral force "could disrupt the Geneva arms negotiations, reverse the progress we have made toward better relations with the Soviet Union, encourage militarism and alienate our historic French ally."

ATTENTION MEN UNDER AGE 25

Sentry reports good news (at last) about car insurance for young men—married or single—who qualify.

If you're under 25, you know what a big extra premium you pay for car insurance. Now, Sentry Insurance offers a 15% discount for young men who qualify. (This is in addition to Sentry's 15% discount for driver education.)

HOW TO QUALIFY

Young men under 25 qualify for the Sentry Preferred Young Driver Discount on the basis of a simple questionnaire that takes only about 20 minutes. It is not a test of driving skill or knowledge. It is completely confidential. There is no penalty for young men who do not qualify for the extra discount. Come to the center listed below to find out what this can mean to you!

Big-Hearted County to Make Sure Santa Finds Juvenile Wards

By BILL EASTHAM

"Will Santa know where to find me this Christmas?"

This is a question the supervisory staff of the children's care facilities of Oakland County Probate Court will be hearing frequently in the next few weeks.

And thanks to a big-hearted community and a hard-working staff, the answer is, "Yes, he certainly will."

He will arrive right on schedule with a special bagful of toys, clothing and goodies provided by the generosity of countless Oakland County organizations and individuals.

* * *

Dea Keim, assistant director of the Children's Center, estimates the county will be caring for some 350 juvenile wards at Christmas time. They will range from a few months to 19 years of age.

FOR THE TOTS

Lillian Wickman, head supervisor at the Children's Center, said most of the direct donations of toys and clothing in the past have been for the little tots.

* * *

But fortunately, Mrs. Wickman says, there are usually enough cash donations to enable the staff to go out and buy needed articles for the older children.

Besides the gifts, the county's wards — some without parents, all without homes — will have all the "extras" that more fortunate children will have.

The Royal Oak Kiwanis Club is planning a party for the teenage children at the center Dec. 11.

FOREMEN'S CLUB

Another is scheduled for the younger children Dec. 17 by the GMC Truck & Coach Foremen's Club, which has thrown a party for the county kids for the past 14 years.

Another party in the children's cottages adjacent to the center will feature Santa Claus himself, courtesy of the J. L. Hudson Co.

Mrs. Wickman, who is coordinator of the county juvenile Christmas activities, said, "None of this would be possible without the wholehearted support of civic and service organizations, church groups, Girl and Boy Scout troops and dozens of individuals from all over the county.

* * *

"If we didn't have their generous cooperation, most of our children wouldn't have any Christmas," Mrs. Wickman said. "We greatly appreciate their support."

TWO GIFTS

Every one of the children at the center, the cottages, the youth home on the grounds of the Tuberculosis Sanatorium and in 135 boarding homes throughout the county will receive at least two gifts.

Each one is wrapped and labeled to show the sex and age of the child that should receive it — a monumental task that has already begun.

As Christmas approaches more and more staff members will spend what little spare time they have wrapping gifts.

* * *

The whole staff, secretaries and all, will work all day and far into the night on the final "wrap - up", a couple of days before Christmas.

ENJOYABLE WORK

Susan Bailey, supervisor of the boarding home department, said, "We enjoy wrapping them as much as the kids do receiving them."

Huge quantities of wrapping material are consumed in the process, of course, and donations of this type are gladly accepted, Mrs. Wickman said.

Another important part of Christmas is candy, fruit and nuts, donations of which Mrs. Wickman said are as greatly appreciated as nonperishable items.

And last, but by no means least, are Christmas trees.

TREES NEEDED

"We can use a 12-footer in the lobby of the center," Mrs. Wickman said, "and we need one more seven-footer for the cottages."

Several smaller sizes can also be used in other areas of the children's facilities, according to Mrs. Wickman.

Donors are encouraged to make their gifts available to the child care staff as early as possible, as a last-minute rush of donations would be almost impossible to classify and wrap in time for Christmas.

"And we prefer to receive unwrapped donations," Mrs. Wickman said, "so we can be sure that each child gets something he can use and enjoy."

* * *

Anyone wishing to help make this Christmas a merry one for the county's juvenile wards may contact Mrs. Wickman or Miss Keim at the Children's Center.

Artist Outlines Plan

Offers to Help Vandals

CHADDS FORD, Pa. (AP) — "This is the way I have chosen to try and make some good come out of this unfortunate incident," said artist Andrew Wyeth as he announced he would forgive vandals who damaged his studio last Oct. 21, if:

They "come to me personally and make restitution according to their conscience and ability to pay; give solid evidence that they understand the personal harm in their act and would never repeat it.

"Any who do not fulfill these to me will be prosecuted."

Wyeth said state police had told him they have the names of about 20 of a gang of some 50 youths who sacked his studio, smashing and damaging art works.

* * *

Wyeth said eight had visited him Saturday to apologize, pleading their lives "lacked excitement and real things to do."

Plentiful Harvest Reflected in '64 Thanksgiving Menu

Turkey Halves Are Economical Buy

Most half turkey roasts weigh from 7 to 12 pounds and make from 15 to 25 servings. A front quarter — largely white meat—may weigh 4½ to 7 pounds, while a rear quarter — mostly dark meat — may weigh 3½ to 6 pounds.

★ ★ ★

There is economy in such a purchase, reminds USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. Generally, larger birds are priced slightly lower per pound than smaller birds and have a greater proportion of meat on the bone.

★ ★ ★

Part-turkeys can be roasted, stuffed or not, just like whole birds. Heavy paper covering the cut side will help keep in stuffing and juices.

Raisin Bread for Dressing

Turkey takes on new importance with a savory sausage stuffing made from raisin bread. A few extra raisins, crisp celery, onion and thyme add special flavor to the mixture.

Raisin Bread Stuffing

1 (15-ounce) loaf sliced raisin bread
1 pound pork sausage
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
⅜ cup dark seedless raisins
1 teaspoon thyme
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Toast bread and cut into small cubes. Brown sausage, stirring occasionally to break up meat. Drain off and reserve drippings. Combine sausage with bread.

Saute onion, celery and raisins in ½ cup drippings (if less than this amount remains, add butter or margarine to make ½ cup). Add thyme, salt and pepper. Mix lightly with bread and sausage.

Makes about 2 quarts, enough for 15 to 18 pound turkey.

Little Tarts Topped With Cutouts

Spices, tangy orange juice and pumpkin blend together to make Orange Pumpkin Tarts a dessert everyone will relish. Small, tender pastry shells filled with tangy pumpkin are sure to add the "just-right" finishing touch to your Thanksgiving dinner.

Add special interest to Orange-Pumpkin Tarts by placing a clever cutout on top of the filling. Roll out the pie crust dough and cut a pastry turkey or pumpkin.

If you don't have a cookie cutter the right shape, use a cardboard pattern. Place it on the rolled pastry dough, and trace around it with a sharp knife.

Bake the pastry cutouts on a greased baking sheet. Then, place them on the pumpkin filling before serving.

Orange-Pumpkin Filling

⅔ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup cooked pumpkin
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup hot milk
½ cup chopped nuts

Mix sugar, salt, spices and pumpkin. Combine orange rind, orange juice, eggs, milk and nuts and add to pumpkin mixture, blending well. Pour into unbaked pastry shells. Makes 8 tarts.

How Much to Buy?

A 12- to 13-pound turkey that is already stuffed and a 4-pound boneless young turkey roast will supply about the same amount of meat to serve; or enough for 12 to 16 persons.

Here's how to figure the amount to buy: Plan on 1½ pounds of ready-to-stuff turkey, 1½ to 2 pounds of stuffed turkey, or ½ pound of boneless turkey roast per person.

1964 Thanksgiving Turkey Is Simple to Prepare

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

This is one week in the year when menus throughout the country are almost standardized —turkey with all the trimmings.

Each year it is easier to prepare Thanksgiving dinner. You have your choice of any size bird from five pounds up. You may buy a boneless turkey roll. In some stores you can find cut up turkey.

And if you want the least amount of work, you can buy a ready stuffed turkey.

Directions for the ready stuffed turkey are in the wrapper. They are usually put into the oven while still frozen. Just make sure that you read and follow the instructions.

Boneless turkeys and turkey rolls also carry special instructions which you should heed.

For all other turkeys: preheat oven to 325 degrees. Wash and pat the bird dry. Rub cavity with salt. Spoon dressing into body and neck cavities; do not pack.

Twist wing tips onto the back. Cross drumsticks and tie to tail with soft string. This keeps stuffing in place. Bake extra stuffing in a foil-lined casserole.

Place bird on rack in shallow pan. Brush all over with soft shortening. Place large piece of foil over bird, tucking down around sides. This keeps bird moist, prevents over-browning and eliminates basting.

Follow roasting chart below. Remove foil 30 minutes before end of roasting for browning, if desired.

Lift turkey onto warm platter and let stand about 30 minutes before serving so that juices stop running and carving is easier.

TURKEY ROASTING CHART

Approximate Time
325 degrees

Weight	Time
6-8 lbs.	2-2½ hrs.
8-12 lbs.	2½-3 hrs.
12-16 lbs.	3-3½ hrs.
16-20 lbs.	3¾-4½ hrs.
20-24 lbs.	4½-5½ hrs.

Use a meat thermometer, inserted in center of inside thigh muscle if you want to be sure turkey is done as you like it.

Fowl is done when leg moves easily at joint and drumstick meat is soft to finger pressure. Thermometer should measure 185 degrees. Roasting times above are only approximate.

We like dressing made with toasted bread cubes. Here is a basic recipe.

Basic Stuffing

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
4 cups chopped celery
4 quarts toasted bread cubes (2 1-lb. loaves)
3 teaspoons poultry seasoning
¾ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup water or broth from giblets.

Toast bread cubes in oven. Saute onions and celery in butter or margarine until onions are transparent. Add bread cubes and seasonings; mix well. Add liquid; mix lightly until slightly moistened.

This is enough for a 10-14 pound turkey. One package prepared stuffing mix may be substituted for 1 pound of bread.

Indian Mythology Had a Turkey

We all know that the American Thanksgiving started in Massachusetts in 1621 when turkey symbolized the feast given in thanks for the corn harvest that would see the Pilgrims through the coming winter.

Maybe it's not important which came first, but two thousand miles from New England the Jicarilla Apaches of the Southwest had a definite idea. One of their most popular mythological characters was named Turkey. He was credited with bringing corn to the people.

Before the Europeans came to America the turkey was the only bird domesticated by the Indians for food.

If the Apaches were right, Turkey deserves the appreciation of every American. Corn provides basic feedstuffs for livestock and poultry. Corn goes into bread and pudding and fritters.

And refined products of the corn kernel, such as starches, syrups, sugars and oil, provide ingredients for hundreds of processed foods that may be found on Thanksgiving tables.

Good Any Season

Good even in winter: jellied madrilene with a little red caviar fork - stirred into it and topped with sour cream and minched chives.

ORANGE PUMPKIN TARTS

Relish Tray Takes Place of Salad

Instead of a green salad, a tempting relish tray can do the midcourse honors at the Thanksgiving feast. Of course, the star of the tray will be individual cranberry molds made with canned or fresh cranberries, crushed pineapple, diced celery, real mayonnaise and unflavored gelatin.

Cranberry Relish Molds

One envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water or pineapple syrup
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 can (1 pound) whole cranberry sauce
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
¼ cup finely diced celery

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat. Gradually stir into mayonnaise; add sugar, salt, allspice and lemon juice.

Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in cranberry sauce, pineapple and celery. Turn into 4-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Individual molds may be served on chilled pineapple slices. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Two cups fresh cranberries may be used instead of canned sauce. Put fresh cranberries through food chopper. Increase sugar to ½ cup; sprinkle over chopped cranberries. Let stand 10 minutes. Proceed as with canned sauce.

Brazil Nut Stuffed Celery

Two 3-ounce packages cream cheese
¼ cup commercial sour cream
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts
3-inch pieces celery stalks

Soften cream cheese; blend together with sour cream and curry. Stir in Brazil nuts. Spoon into celery stalks or force through pastry tube with wide fluted opening. Sprinkle with additional curry powder, paprika or finely chopped parsley. Makes 2 cups filling.

RELISH TRAY — Tempting is the word for this relish tray. Behind the molds of cranberry (from the left) you'll find pickled crabapples, watermelon pickle, kumquats and stuffed celery.

Make Gravy That's Tops

Pour drippings into pint or quart measuring cup. Skim off fat. Add broth made from giblets to make needed amount of gravy, pour into saucepan.

If browned-on juices stick to pan, pour some of the broth into pan, return to oven a few minutes to dissolve, then pour into saucepan.

For each cup of broth, allow 1 tablespoon flour. Mix with a small amount of cool broth, then add to broth in saucepan. Stir and cook until consistency of heavy cream, unwhipped.

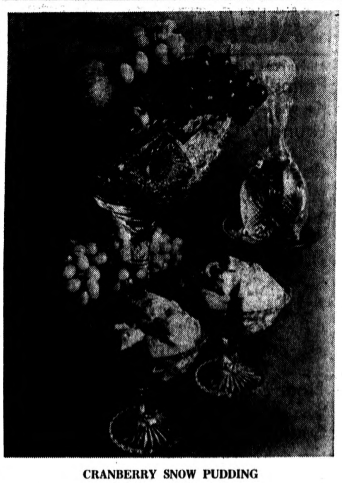
Taste, add additional seasonings if needed, simmer a few minutes, and serve.

Miniature Roast Good for 1 or 2

Very new is the miniature boneless turkey roast that weighs just 2 pounds. Unlike its larger counterpart, it is available with all white meat or with white and dark meat.

An additional convenience is added by having the small turkey roast packed and frozen in a covered aluminum pan that goes from the freezer to the oven. The juices in the pan can be seasoned with a little sage, salt, and pepper and thickened for gravy.

The roast is just right for a hot meal for two or three; it is excellent to cook, chill, and slice for a cold meat tray or for sandwiches.



CRANBERRY SNOW PUDDING

Calorie Count Is Low

Desserts are hard on waist watchers and never more so than at holiday time. But don't despair; you can satisfy that sweet tooth.

Using fresh cranberries, make a light dessert that is not only good to eat, but pretty to look at.

Cranberry Snow Pudding (Low-Calorie)

½ pound fresh cranberries
2 cups water
2 tablespoons sucaryl solution
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1¼ cups water
¼ cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons sucaryl solution
½ cup evaporated milk, chilled

Combine cranberries, water and the 2 tablespoons sucaryl in saucepan; cook until skins pop. Force through food mill. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the water; add hot cranberry liquid; stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Add remaining 1 cup water, lemon juice and the 2 teaspoons sucaryl solution. Chill until mixture begins to set.

Beat chilled evaporated milk until stiff. Fold into cranberry gelatin. Spoon into dessert bowl or individual sherbets. Chill until serving time.

Some Cooks Like Oysters in Stuffing

It's easy to prepare the stuffing for turkey when it gets a start. Then with a few touches of your own, you will have a delicious stuffing the whole family will enjoy.

Oyster Stuffing

1 onion, chopped
⅓ cup chopped celery
¼ cup butter, melted
1 pint small oysters, drained
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
½ cup hot water
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup light cream

Saute the onions and celery in the butter until soft. Add the oysters and parsley, and cook until the oysters begin to curl. Add herb-seasoned stuffing, water, salt, and pepper. Toss lightly. Stir in the cream; stuff turkey cavity, which has been rubbed with butter and salt.

Parish Tries New Mass

Sweeping Changes in Catholic Rites

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK—A layman in a dark business suit stood facing the Roman Catholic congregation, and read from the scriptures, "Brethren . . . may you walk worthily . . . growing in the knowledge of God."

The setting was an image of things to come next Sunday in Catholic parishes throughout the country — a new mode of active communal worship with about half of the Mass being said in English.

* * *

In the forerunner here, the people rose after reading of the Epistle and in unison intoned a psalm in English instead of the priest alone doing it in Latin.

"Out of the depths I cry to you, Lord, O Lord, hearken to my voice! Alleluia."

HYMN SINGING

Then following more scripture came another unfamiliar experience— hymn singing. "Now thank we all our God with hearts and hands and voices . . ."

The service, at Manhattan's Corpus Christi church Sunday, foretokened some of the sweeping changes to be inaugurated a week hence in the nation's approximately 17,500 Roman Catholic parishes.

NEW LITURGY

They change then to a new liturgy, much of it for the first time in the people's language rather than Latin, and the congregations join actively in prayers, responses, litanies and song.

Authorized by the Vatican Council in Rome last year and set in motion in this country by the American bishops, the reforms are considered among the most significant and widespread in impact in the Church's history.

* * *

They will make for heightened resemblances between Catholic and Protestant worship.

Aimed at transforming the generally silent Catholic congregations into vigorous and vocal participants, the changes assign to them many overt functions heretofore reserved only to the clergy.

HARD TO CHANGE

"It's going to be very difficult for many people to change their habits," said the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Arthur A. Campbell, pastor of Corpus Christi. "A lot of them have been mostly spectators all their lives."

But the new approach, he added, means "they'll cease to be mere viewers and be genuine participants."

Red China Rules Out All N-Ban Plans Except Own

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China ruled out a variety of proposed approaches to the problem of curbing nuclear weapons and insisted its own plan of total abolition is the only valid one.

* * *

The Chinese, who exploded their own atom bomb Oct. 16, rejected suggestions they should engage in the disarmament conference at Geneva or meet with the four other nations which possess nuclear weapons — the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France.

* * *

Peking also spurned proposals to destroy vehicles for the delivery of nuclear warheads and for a treaty banning all nuclear weapon tests.

* * *

In refusing to participate in the Geneva talks, Peking said it would "have nothing to do with the United Nations" until the world organization expelled the Chinese Nationalists and gave their place to the Communists.

ROME (AP) — Italians voted for the second and final day today in nationwide local elections that could bear on the future of Premier Aldo Moro's harassed government.

* * *

About 90 per cent of Italy's 33 million voters were expected to cast ballots by the time the polls close, but the outcome may not be known until Tuesday.

Moro's national alliance was not at stake, but serious losses at the local level could weaken his Christian Democratic party. It already is split by factional differences.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China pledged solidarity today with its little, pro-Stalinist ally Albania in a message promising "to stand forever shoulder to shoulder with the Albanian government and people."

The Chinese also sent a delegation to Albania's 20th anniversary celebrations. It was headed by Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien.

MANILA (AP) — A team of Cabinet officials flew to Mindanao Island today to assess damage from Typhoon Louise and to see what could be done for victims.

* * *

In Surigao del Norte province, on Mindanao's northeastern tip, 312 deaths were reported in the capital alone.

* * *

Dozens of deaths have been reported on other islands in the central Philippines that were in the typhoon's path last Thursday and Friday.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Heavy snow storms blanketed parts of Czechoslovakia today, blocking railroads and highways, the news agency CTK reported.

Snowplows were out to clear the tracks and roads.

Ex-Dean Succumbs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Merton Leroy Ferson, retired dean of the University of Cincinnati Law School, died yesterday after a long illness. Ferson, 88, also had been associated with Hastings College of Law in San Francisco, George Washington University in Washington and the University of North Carolina.

Relief Due Snow-Pelted Eastern Areas

By the Associated Press

Clearing skies promised relief today to the eastern edge of the Great Lakes region where weekend storms dumped up to three feet of snow. Only flurries were predicted for today.

Dry weather prevailed throughout most of the rest of the nation, except in the Pacific Northwest. Snow continued to accumulate in the mountains there, and rain drenched lower altitudes. Cape Blanco, Ore., had 1¼ inches of rain Sunday afternoon and evening.

In the East, 38 inches of snow was reported over the weekend at Tug Hill, N.Y., and as much as two feet of snow piled up in other spots on the eastern and southern shores of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. More than 200 motorists were stranded Saturday in western New York and two women were killed there in weather-connected highway accidents.

Southwesterly breezes raised temperatures to near normal in the middle of the United States after two very chilly nights.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 1 degree above zero at Houlton, Maine, to 75 at Key West and West Palm Beach, Fla.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's Big Ten football champions will have a few days to savor their recent successes and make plans for the Rose Bowl trip before actually getting down to the hard work of practice sessions again.

The Wolverines completed their regular season with a 10-0 victory over Ohio State at Columbus Saturday to win their first conference football title since 1950.

★ ★ ★

The championship — along with the coveted trip to the West Coast for the bowl game—though hoped for, was not taken for granted by Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Head Coach Bump Elliott said Sunday he had no idea when the Wolverines would be able to start practice for the bowl game or when they would journey to Pasadena.

UP IN AIR

"Things are a little bit up in the air right now," Elliott said. "We are not too sure just how many days we are allowed and we have to consider that our players have exams coming up.

"Things should start shaping up Monday."

Elliott, who starred on the Wolverines' 1947 conference and Rose Bowl champions, will be making his second trip there as a coach. He was an assistant at Iowa when the Hawkeyes won the championship in 1956.

The Wolverines, winners of only five games in the last two seasons, finished with an 8-1 record, 6-1 in conference play, and missed a perfect season by one point. They lost, 21-20, to Purdue.

Elliott reminded reporters Saturday that he had said at the start of the season that Michigan would be a better ball club. And, if things went just right, "we could be real tough."

Fast developments by a number of sophomores, a stubborn defense and a highly-successful running game paced by quarterback Bob Timberlake all figured in Michigan's championship drive.

MADE BREAKS

"This is a team that made its own breaks. Other teams may sit back and wait for the breaks to come their way, then take advantage of them.

★ ★ ★

"But this team went out, played hard and forced the other team to make mistakes."

Timberlake, who fell 15 yards short of setting a single season total offense record for the Wolverines, passed 7 yards to Jim Detwhiler for the lone touchdown, and booted a field goal and extra point against Ohio State.

★ ★ ★

The touchdown came just 44 seconds before the end of the first half and was set up by a fumble recovery by end John Henderson on the OSU 20.

★ ★ ★

The Buckeyes' Bob Rein bobbled the ball while trying to catch a 50-yard wind-assisted punt by Stan Kemp.

The 18 mile-an-hour winds and 20 degree temperatures prevented either team from mounting a passing attack.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's Rick Volk twice intercepted passes in the fourth quarter to end late bids by the Buckeyes.

★ ★ ★

Volk's 24-yard punt return set the stage for Timberlake's 27-yard field goal early in the final quarter.

Lions Need Field Goal to Tie, 23-23

Blocked Point Prevents Win From Vikings

Cogdill Is Casualty as Injury List Again Mounts for Detroit

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — Alumni of Detroit pro football were honored at Tiger Stadium, but ironically there were active Lions' alumni playing for the Minnesota Vikings who did more to prevent a Detroit victory and force a 23-23 tie before 48,291 in bitter cold.

A blocked extra point of Wayne Walker's was the actual margin stopping a Lions' win, but former Detroit players Grady Alderman, Larry Vargo, Tom Hall and Karl Kassulke played important roles for the Vikings.

The game also added to the Lions' mounting list of injuries when Gail Cogdill, the brilliant pass receiver suffered a shoulder separation in the final minutes of play and is out for the season.

Defensive back Bruce Maher, who has been outstanding in the safety spot for the past few games, also suffered a shoulder injury but it was believed to be a pinched nerve.

KEY PLAYS FAIL

Milt Plum, despite the ailing throwing arm, had another good passing day with 17 of 28 passes for 248 yards, but once again in key situations the offense collapsed with fumbles, interceptions or faulty running putting an end to sustained drives.

★ ★ ★

The Vikings' lone sustained touchdown was a 15 yard pass from Fran Tarkenton to Tom Bedsole after four minutes of the first period.

The other scores came as a result of three field goals by Fred Cox and a 26 yard runback of a pass interception by 275 yound defensive tackle Jim Prestel.

The Lions scored twice on Plum's passes to Jim Gibbons and Terry Barr and another when Sam Williams picked up a fumble and went four yards into the end zone. Wayne Walker also booted a 37 yard field goal with 24 seconds remaining to tie the score.

After Yale Lary had to punt a ball which bounced to him from center at the goal line, Minnesota started its first drive on the Lions' 46.

TITLE CARRIAGE — Baltimore coach Don Shula gets a two-Colt powered championship ride after his Memorial City squad clinched the National Football League's western division title laurels yesterday at Los Angeles. No. 61 is Lou Kirouac.

Colts Collect Division Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, if they choose, can relax.

They have locked up the Western Division title of the National Football League.

It happened Sunday, when the Colts won their 10th straight game, 24-7, over the Los Angeles Rams.

The brightest part of the Sunday was the crowd, 72,137. It was the largest here since December, 1960, when San Francisco played to 77,254 and Baltimore 75,461.

The divisional title was the first for the Colts since 1959, the year they defeated New York for the NFL championship.

The Colts were happy but not too jubilant. They did throw Coach Don Shula and owner Carroll Rosenbloom into the

There was a solemn pronouncement by the Colts' veteran defensive end, Gino Marchetti. He said this was his last year. This was possibly the sixth season Marchetti has announced his retirement.

The rams, for one, hope Gino means it this time. The big fellow was, as usual, a monster to them.

The Ram quarterbacks, first Roman Gabriel, and in the second half, rookie Bill Munson, can attest to the Colts' blitz.

Gabriel was spilled six times for 56 yards loss trying to pass, Munson five for 46. This meant a total loss of 102 yards, as well as 11 important plays.

SKIMPY YARDAGE

The yards lost this way approached the total net yards gained, which was a skimpy 131

Harland Svare, the Rams' coach, was silent on whether Munson or Gabriel will start against the Vikings at Minneapolis-St. Paul next Sunday.

Shula, with Johnny Unitas, has no problem for his game at San Francisco.

"It's been a helluva year, there's no other way to say it," said Shula. "We had a good training season and it was quite a shock when we lost to Minnesota in the league opener.

"There was a lot of soul searching when we went up to Green Bay. Our win there was the key to our season."

Detroit, N.Y. Tie, 3-3

Wings Cling to Slender Ice Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings held to their one-point lead in the tight National Hockey League race today, thanks to the stickwork of veteran Norm Ullman and reserve forward Lowell MacDonald.

The two scored all the Detroit goals, MacDonald's single score coming in the last few minutes, as the Red Wings and New York Rangers fought to a 3-3 tie Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

MacDonald, 23, who had scored in only four previous NHL games, dashed the length of the rink for the tieing counter.

Earlier Detroit twice had lost leads provided by two goals by Ullman.

Detroit stays in front in the NHL race with the slim margin over the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs. The Red Wings have nine victories against six defeats. The tie Sunday night was their third.

Before MacDonald's rink-length dash to beat goalie Jacques La Plante, Bob Nevin had given the Rangers a 3-2 lead. He scored early in the third period. MacDonald rescued Detroit from defeat with less than four minutes to play.

Nevin, faking goalie Roger Crozier, backhanded the puck into the cage while New York was one man short with Larry Cahan sitting out a penalty. It was Nevin's second goal of the game.

★ ★ ★

Ullman, scoring his seventh and eighth goals of the season, put Detroit ahead 1-0 in the first period in a combination play with Doug Barkley and Parker MacDonald.

New York quickly tied it on Nevin's first goal, a 30-foot shot. Detroit went back ahead 2-1 on Ullman's goal in the second period, a shot from close-in. Bill Marshall quickly tied it again for New York.

The Red Wings had the upper hand in shooting. La Plante made 31 saves and Crozier 23.

'Missed' Putt Brings Jack Money Crown

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The 1964 championship of the PGA circuit was decided on the very last putt in the year's final tournament.

Big Jack Nicklaus edged Arnold Palmer on a 15-foot putt — not his or not even Palmer's, but one missed by Gay Brewer Jr.

Had Brewer sunk the ball on the 18th green of the Oakbourne Country Club course in Sunday's final round of the $25,000 Cajun Classic, Palmer would have retained the money championship he had won the two previous years.

The putt cost Brewer $200. He'd have won $2,100 by finishing alone in second place, but he had to settle for a tie with Nicklaus, while Palmer finished third.

Nicklaus' $1,900 prize money here boosted his earning to $113 284 — $81.13 more than Palmer made.

TOP MONEY

The showdown for top money honors of the year overshadowed the blazing triumph of Miller Barber, who won the Cajun Classic — his first official tour victory ever — by five strokes.

While the temperature hovered just above freezing and most players hovered just above par, and higher, Barber, a balding 3-year-old Louisiana native, fashioned a 68 and a 67 in the marathon windup Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's 36 holes was scheduled after rain washed out the opening round of play.

Palmer rushed away as soon as Brewer finished putting and was in the air in his private plane winging directly over the Oakbourne clubhouse as Barber and Nicklaus picked up their checks.

"I sure wanted to win this one," said Nicklaus. "But this is one time I don't mind finishing in a tie for second."

Pistons Rebuff Rally by SF 5

Coach DeBusschere Hits 19 for Winners

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Detroit Pistons opened a 17-point lead early in the third period, then held off a Wilt Chamberlain-led comeback by San Francisco for a 99-97 National Basketball Association victory over the Warriors Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

After the Pistons moved to a 60-42 lead midway in the third period, Chamberlain got hot and pulled the Warriors into an 86-86 tie with seven minutes to go.

But Coach Davie DeBusschere and Terry Dischinger sank consecutive baskets and the Warriors never could get closer than two points again.

50 POINTS

Chamberlain, who scored 24 points during San Francisco's 34-point third quarter rally, ended with 50 points despite missing 13 of 21 free throws.

DeBusschere led the Piston attack with 19 points, while Rod Thorn had 17 and four other Pistons were in double figures.

The loss extended the Warriors' losing streak to six on their new Civic Auditorium home court. They have yet to win there.

Eying Trojans, Oregon State

Southern Cal Must Defeat Notre Dame

By The Associated Press

It's Michigan in the Rose Bowl but the Wolverines may have to sweat it out a week before learning the identity of their opponent — Oregon State or Southern California.

★

Over-all records favor Oregon State but the Pacific Coast selectors are expected to wait and see how Southern California fares against top-ranked Notre Dame Saturday.

Should the Trojans happen to unseat the mighty Fighting Irish, a feat nine others have failed to do this year, they likely would be tapped for the host role at Pasadena. If the Trojans lose, it would send the pendulum swinging to Oregon State.

TENTATIVE VOTE

Athletic directors of the eight Pacific Athletic Conference members take a preliminary vote today. If they're not unanimous, then the next ballot will be put off until Nov. 29.

Oregon State and Southern Cal finished with similar 3-1 records in conference play but Oregon State's over-all 8-2 mark is more impressive than the Trojans' 6-3. The PAC selectors have no strings attached. They can pick whom they please.

With one more week of heavy football, headlined by the Notre Dame-Southern Cal game at Los Angeles and the Army-Navy service spectacle at Philadelphia, the major bowl line-up is almost set.

Here it is:

ROSE BOWL — Michigan, 8-1, vs. Oregon State, 8-2, or Southern California, 6-3.

COTTON BOWL — Arkansas, 10-0, vs. Nebraska, 9-1.

ORANGE BOWL — Alabama, 9-0, vs. Texas, 8-1.

SUGAR BOWL — Louisiana State, 7-1-1, vs. Syracuse, 7-3.

GATOR BOWL — Florida State, 8-1-1, vs. opponent yet to be named.

NY Fans Aroused by Beating

Serenade Fails to Rile Giants' Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — The strains of "Good Bye, Allie" serenaded Coach Allie Sherman and his New York Giants Sunday as they left Yankee Stadium after absorbing a 44-17 beating from Pittsburgh.

Sherman, working on a five-year contract that still has three years to go, shrugged off the fans' reaction in the clubhouse. He has coached the Giants to three straight Eastern Conference titles in the National Football league before this cellar finish.

"Of course, I heard it," he said. "They are entitled to do anything they want. I don't worry about those things.

"This is the way I look at it. I am a professional football coach. In moments of fulfillment I appreciate the nice words of other people but I get my real satisfaction within myself.

"When things are tough, I have to dig down within myself again. I have faith in myself and the people who are with me."

Sherman found something to cheer in the play of Gary Wood, his rookie quarterback, and in the play of Frank Lasky, a rookie tackle who did a good job of handling John Baker.

★ ★ ★

"I think I may start Wood one of these days," he said. "That doesn't mean we are putting Y. A. Tittle on the shelf. We want to see what Wood will do as a starter."

Tittle was shaken up in the first half when he was kicked on the head. He did not play the second half. Steve Thurlow, rookie halfback, suffered a probable rib fracture and was taken to a hospital for observation.

NEED HELP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals realize they need help in order to win the National Football League's Eastern title, but Coach Wally Lemm still is proceeding on the old axiom that to deserve help you have to help your self.

"We're alive, but we can't just sit back and hope for Cleveland to lose," Lemm said Sunday after the Cards defeated Philadelphia 38-13 and cut the Browns' first place margin to 1½ games with three games to play.

St. Louis stands 6-3-2, Cleveland 8-2-1 as the NFL heads into the final three weeks of the regular season. The Browns lost Sunday to Green Bay, thus breathing new life into St. Louis.

The Eagles on a pair of field goals by Sam Baker took a 6-3 lead in the second period, but then they lost the handle on the ball, or, as Lemm put it, the Cards jarred things loose.

Bills Meet San Diego

Buffalo, Gilchrist Stay in Spotlight

By The Associated Press

The American Football League spotlight which focused on Cookie Gilchrist and Buffalo last week swings 3,000 miles this week to focus on Cookie Gilchrist and Buffalo.

Gilchrist, the wild Bill of the Buffaloes, was bounced from the team last week in a serious dispute with Coach Lous Saban, placed on waivers and apparently headed for another club in a hassle that threatened to wreck Buffalo's Eastern Division title hopes.

Gilchrist, however, made his apologies to coach and players, was reinstated and the loss of the league's top rusher for the $100 waiver price averted.

Gilchrist should be looking to make further amends in a key clash at San Diego Thursday that could be a preview of the championship game.

The Bills lead the Eastern Division with a 9-1 record to Boston's 8-2-1. The Chargers lead the Western sector with a 7-2-1 record and will be looking to take a big step toward nailing the title by increasing their bulge over runner-up Kansas City, 5-5.

THREE BOMBS

The Chiefs remained in contention Sunday as Len Dawson passed for three touchdowns before suffering a broken nose in a 28-19 victory over Houston that handed the Oilers their eighth consecutive defeat.

★ ★ ★

In the only other game scheduled, Billy Cannon scored three touchdowns for the first time since 1962 and Cotton Davidson passed for three scores as Oakland whipped New York 35-26.

Boston defeated Denver 12-7 Friday night while Buffalo and San Diego were idle, and preparing for their Thanksgiving Day battle.

★ ★ ★

Dawson passed 19 and 26 yards to Fred Arbanas for touchdowns in the first half as the Chiefs built a commanding 21-10 lead, then fired a five-yarder to Chris Burford in the third period. Dawson got the broken nose on the final TD and the Chiefs were unable to score again.

★ ★ ★

Dawson completed nine of 13 passes for 92 yards before he left while Abner Haynes had his best day for the Chiefs since the club left Dallas, gaining 156 yards on 25 carries.

FIRST ATTEMPT — This trio of bowlers made their first attempt at Bowlerama qualifying over the weekend but it won't be until after all singles handicap qualifying is over before they know if they reached the finals. Left to right, John Winkelman shot a 611, Ray Brancheau 649 and Odie Miller 630.

First Qualifiers for Bowlerama

Qualifying continues in men's singles handicap at Huron, Airway and Montcalm next weekend and many of the top scores from Saturday and Sunday are certain to be wiped out.

Doubles qualifying also begins next Sunday at Howe's Lanes and 300 Bowl in the '64 four-event Pontiac Bowlerama, and bowlers are reminded that Wednesday midnight is the deadline for next week's bowling.

★ ★ ★

Top Honors for the weekend went to Arnold Luttrell of Pontiac who is a 160 average bowler in the Master's Bowling League at Westside. Luttrell had games of 200-203-194 plus his handicap in qualifying at Airway. Behind him at Airway was Ernie Kulaszewski with 647 and E. M. Fife, 639.

At Huron Bowl, Ken Bousum of Royal Oak rolled games of 192-216-228 plus 33 for a 669 total. Tim Miller rolled 659, Fred Tobias, 654 and Ray Brancheau 649 at Huron.

At Montcalm, Walter Maule of Pontiac, 158 average bowler, hit 231-165-162 and led the house with 648 with his handicap. Don O'Tolle hit 645 with a 229 game.

NEXT QUALIFYING

If last year's tournament is any indication, large squads should shoot for the lead at these three houses next Saturday and Sunday and from there at least one of every 10 will go into the finals. Last year with ties there were at least one of every seven bowlers who made the finals and every qualifier is assured of a prize.

★ ★ ★

Entry blanks are available at most houses in Oakland County. Bowlers can also enter the doubles, team and actual's singles part of the tournament at this time.

Midwestern 5 Drops 2nd Tilt

Midwestern Baptist Seminary will find the championship road in the Michigan Christian College Athletic Association basketball league a lot tougher this season.

★ ★ ★

Undefeated champions last winter, the Falcons dropped their second straight of the new campaign at Grand Rapids School of Bible and Music Saturday afternoon, 72-60.

★ ★ ★

Freshman Ralph Wingate poured 39 points into the basket for Midwestern, hitting 14 of 24 from the floor. The winners also were paced by a plebe performer, Jerry Price, with 24.

Cleveland Bid Slowed, 28-21

49ers Lose to Bears on Sideline Rule

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The conservative Green Bay Packers turned gamblers with the aces showing and the Cleveland Browns were caught napping in a game of National Football League showdown Sunday.

Trailing 14-7 at halftime, Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr crossed up Cleveland's defense on a fourth down and one situation at the outset of the third quarter.

★ ★ ★

Starr dropped back and passed down the middle to Max McGee. He finally was overhauled at the Cleveland one, setting up Jimmy Taylor for a touchdown plunge.

The tally ignited the Packers, who went on to upset the Browns 28-21 and slow Cleveland's bid for its first Eastern Division title since 1957.

★ ★ ★

"That was a big play," Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi said. "Starr called it on his own. We didn't plan to pass on such a situation."

Cleveland fullback Jimmy Brown piled up 66 yards in 15 carries in the first half, becoming the first player in NFL history to rush more than 2,000 times. Brown was manhandled by Green Bay middle linebacker Ray Nitschke after the intermission and managed just eight more yards in five attempts.

★ ★ ★

NEW WAY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just when it appeared they were going to win their second straight game — something they haven't done in two years — the San Francisco 49ers discovered a new way to lose one.

In what must rank as their most disheartening defeat of the season, the 49ers lost a 23-21 decision to the Chicago Bears Sunday and thus dropped into sole occupancy of the National Football League's Western Conference cellar.

★ ★ ★

The defeat was particularly galling because the 49ers:

— Got inspired running from Dave Kopay, a free agent no one expected even to make the team.

— And had Tommy Davis kick a 49-yard field goal that would have provided the winning margin, only to see the kick disallowed.

Davis' field goal came in the waning seconds of the first half, after San Francisco had rallied to cut Chicago's early 14-0 lead to three points at 17-14.

LINE DRIVE

With time running out, the 49er field goal unit rushed on the field and Davis booted a long, low line drive. The ball squeezed over the cross bar as the gun sounded and the 49ers headed happily for the dressing room with what appeared to be a 17-17 tie.

But in the rush to get the kicking team on the field, some players ran off of the gridiron on the wrong side. The officials ruled an illegal procedure penalty, nullifying the field goal.

Another Conquest for Miss Wright

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Like Alexander the Great, Mickey Wright has run out of worlds to conquer.

With her six-stroke victory in Sunday's tour-closing Mary Mills tourney — her 11th of the year — the 29-year-old Dallas blonde becomes the girls' all-time high money winner.

Miss Wright celebrated her 10th year as a golf pro this month. In those 10 years, she has now won $176,994 — including her $29,800 prize money this season.

She jumped past Betsy Rawls, whose winnings total $173,411.

Illinois Blanks MSU, 16-0

Future for Spartans Looks Brighter

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State has high hopes for a better football record next fall. Meanwhile, the Spartans are wishing the University of Michigan the best of luck in the Rose Bowl.

★ ★ ★

MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty was among the first to congratulate the Wolverines for their Big Ten win.

"I know Michigan will be a great champion for the Big Ten," Daugherty said. "They won it the hard way and deserved it. That Bob Timberlake probably was the finest player we faced all year."

MSU President John Hannah gave an official seconding of the congratulations.

"We are pleased that they won," he said of Michigan, "And glad that it was one of our schools from the State of Michigan. They have our complete support."

Daugherty, evaluating his own team after the 16-0 shutout Saturday by Illinois, said his outfit "ran true to form."

The predictors, Daugherty said, pegged MSU just about right—to end up in the second division while fighting for the first.

★ ★ ★

MSU finished with a 4-5 overall record and 3-3 in the conference for sixth place in the Big Ten standings.

"But with these leftovers we have and the sophomores coming up next year we hope to be a greatly improved team," Daugherty said.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty gave a very simple explanation for the loss.

★ ★ ★

"They simply overpowered us," he said. "They have probably the finest defense we met all year. We just couldn't run against them. We had more grace than they did but we weren't able to get the ball across."

Said Daugherty of Illini fullback Jim Grabowski, who topped the Big Ten in rushing, "he's a fullback who runs like a halfback."

City Pro 5 Drops Second Tilt

BENTON HARBOR—The Pontiac Nationals learned another North American Basketball League lesson Saturday night as they lost an uphill 107-102 struggle to the Twin City Sailors.

A 14-point loser in their NABL opener at Grand Rapids when they were vicitimized by two slumps on offense and a lack of conditioning on defense, the Nationals were a better ball club.

The appearance of 6-3 Henry Hughes, former Adrian College great, at forward did much to improve the Pontiac quintet. He missed the opener due to transportation problems.

★ ★ ★

Hughes pumped in 13 points as the Nationals jumped into a 20-11 first quarter lead. Forward Charlie North hit the game's only three-point field goal to give Pontiac its nine-point spread.

But Benton Harbor called time, organized its forces and then proceeded to rip the Nationals' defense apart. Trailing 25-20, the Sailors ran up 15 straight points. They never were behind, again.

Coach Bob Bolton and his forces still didn't organize their defense well enough and Pontiac soon was behind 56-40. It was a 15-point deficit at halftime and again late in the third period.

★ ★ ★

Former Loyola All-American Jerry Harkness came off the home team bench to spark Benton Harbor with key baskets four times as the Nationals threatened to narrow the gap.

SQUEEZE PLAY — Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton is squeezed between linebacker Wally Hilgenberg and defensive end Sam Williams as he tries to get off a pass in the second quarter of the game against the Lions in Detroit, yesterday. The game ended in a 23-23 tie.

Syracuse, Nebraska Fall

Upsets Mar Bowl Scene

BLUEBONNET BOWL — Tulsa, 7-2, vs. Mississippi, 5-3-1.

None of the bowls can offer a game with national championship implications as the game between the Nos. 1 and 2 teams, Texas and Navy, last New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl.

Notre Dame, firmly fixed in the No. 1 position with an imposing 9-0 record, has withdrawn from consideration, helped along by the fact the big bowls couldn't wait, anyhow.

DEEP FREEZE

The Irish smashed Iowa 28-0 in freezing cold at South Bend and now need only to take care of Southern Cal to wind up their first perfect football year since 1949.

Alabama, the No. 2 team which has chosen to spend the holidays in Miami's sunshine, has a rugged Thanksgiving Day assignment coming up with Auburn, an old rival that upset the Tide last year.

Upsets took a little of the shine off a couple of the New Year's Day games. Nebraska, playing Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, had its 16-game winning streak snapped by Oklahoma 17-7. And Syracuse, headed for the Sugar Bowl, suffered its third loss, a 28-27 defeat by West Virginia.

The defeat of Nebraska left only four major teams with perfect records, and two of these, Notre Dame and Alabama, are still in danger. The others are Arkansas and Princeton, 9-0.

Seeded Netmen Beaten

AUSTRALIA (AP) — Seeded Frenchmen Pierre Barthes and Francois Jauffret were eliminated in a quarter-final match of the New South Wales men's double championships at White City today.

The French pair lost in straight sets to Owen Davidson and Bill Bowrey, 8-6, 8-6, 6-4.

LOSING HAIR?

Warren Feathers, Claysburg, Penna., shows results he received by the Lesley Home Treatment Method. He did not have male pattern baldness.

MEN AND WOMEN
Hair Consultant Here Tomorrow; To Explain Hair Problems

The worst enemies of hair are neglect, mistreatment and improper hair care. A little time spent now may save a great deal of regret later.

Mr. F. I. Brodie will be in Pontiac, Michigan at the Hotel Waldron on Tuesday, November 24, 1964, hours 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Come in and talk with the Lesley Consultant regarding your hair and scalp problems. Learn how you can treat yourself right in the privacy of your own home.

FREE CONSULTATION

If you have dandruff, excessive hair fall, thinning hair, excessive oiliness or dryness, itchy scalp, or if your scalp is still creating hair you should take positive action at once.

You incur no charge or obligation by coming in for the consultation. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not we believe you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE

If you are accepted for treatment, you will be given a written guarantee for the length of time treatment is required, on a prorated basis. Nearly half of our clients are women.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Lesley treament nor any other treatment is effective.

Cogdill Lost as Lions Tie, 23-23

Williams hit Tom Mason for a loss, Tarkenton then passed 15 yards to Bedsole all alone in the corner of the end zone. Cox converted and it was 7-0.

The Lions couldn't get past midfield in the first period. One long pass intended for Barr on the Viking 30 was batted away by Vargo, playing the safety spot.

Early in the second period, a 55 yard pass play to Barr put the ball on the Viking four and two plays later Plum hit Gibbons with the five yard TD.

Defensive back George Rose raced in to block the point and Minnesota still led, 7-6.

A 27 yard punt return and a 15 yard penalty gave the Lions the ball on the Viking 28. They moved to the five but here Tom Watkins fumbled and Vargo recovered to stop the Detroit threat.

They then moved to the Detroit 12 and Cox booted a 20 yard field goal to make it 10-6 at the half.

The opening drive of the second half netted Minnesota another field goal, a 45 yarder by Cox, making it 13-6.

FAKE KICK

The Lions then marched to the Viking five and on a fake field goal, Gary Lowe tried to throw to Ryder, but Rose intercepted to end another Detroit threat.

A moment later, passing on a screen play to Nick Pietrosante, the ball was short and Prestel picked it off and went all the way, 26 yards, to make it 20-6.

Just before the third quarter ended, Bobby Thompson hit Mason on the Viking four. The ball squirted out of his hands and Williams picked it up and went four yards for the TD to make it 20-13 with Walker's PAT.

A pass interference penalty, when Rose tripped Barr, for 35 yards was assessed against Minnesota early in the 4th period. Plum then passed from the 18 to Barr on the five. Barr had possession, fumbled, took it on the first bounce and went into the end zone for the TD. Walker tied it at 20-20.

Another Lions' threat ended when Lary intercepted a Viking pass and ran 24 yards to the 22. On the first play however Ed Sharockman intercepted Plum's pass and brought it back to the Viking 32.

A 39 yard field goal gave Minnesota a 23-20 lead and the Lions took over with 2:12 to play.

Plum hit Barr with a 31 yarder, and threw a couple short passes to Barr and Cogdill to the Viking 27. Another pass to Cogdill to the 16 was nullified by a motion penalty and put the ball back to the 32.

★ ★ ★

On this play Cogdill was hurt and there were 24 seconds left when Walker tied it. In desperation, the Vikings sent Cox in to go for a 60-yard field goal, with one second left, but Watkins took the ball on the two, just short to the right to end it in a tie.

Port Huron Six Loses

By The Associated Press

Des Moines whipped Port Huron 7-2 Sunday night to continue to lead the International Hockey League and keep alive a string of eight straight victories.

In other IHL action, Toledo beat Muskegon 6-4 and Fort Wayne clobbered Dayton 9-1.

Someday, someone may learn how to make a better whiskey than this. But, as of today, nobody has.

Caution Urged for New Democratic-Dominated House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top-level Democrats are counseling colleagues to proceed with caution in considering major changes in the House rules when the new Congress meets in January.

They are apprehensive that the House, with Democrats outnumbering Republicans 295 to 140, may become "a runaway house" and pass legislation neither sponsored nor desired by the administration.

★ ★ ★

Numerous changes in the rules have been proposed, mainly by spokesmen for Democratic liberal groups, and all are aimed at expediting President Johnson's legislative program. But their application would not be limited to Johnson bills.

Officially, House leaders have not expressed publicly their feeling about the proposed changes. In private conversations they have voiced some misgivings.

RESULTS SEEN

As a result, there may be only a few relatively minor changes approved by the Democratic caucus preceding the opening of the House on Jan. 4. More far-reaching alterations could be made later in the session if the need arose. A majority vote of the House can change the rules at any time.

Most of the proposed changes would weaken the grip of the Rules Committee on bills approved by other committees having jurisdiction over legislation. The Rules Committee has no legislative jurisdiction. It served as a legislative clearing house.

Most legislative measures cannot reach the House floor for a vote unless the Rules Committee approves. There are ways under existing rules to bypass the committee, but they seldom are effective and the committee can delay House action indefinitely if a majority of its members want to.

★ ★ ★

The committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., is composed of 10 Democrats and five Republicans. Actually control usually is exercised by eight Democrats classified as liberals.

CONSERVATIVE GROUP

Before the committee was enlarged from 12 to 15 members in early 1961, a conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats often dominated and frequently frustrated the House leadership.

The conservative grip was all but broken when the membership was hiked. Since then House leaders have found the committee more cooperative.

★ ★ ★

In the Congress that adjourned last month, no major administration bills were bottled up by the Rules Committee although it required some deft manipulation by the leaders to get results at times.

Because the Rules Committee theoretically is an arm of the leadership, it often holds up legislation at the request of the leaders.

CHANGES PONDERED

Changes designed to curb the Rules Committee include a proposal to limit to 21 days the time the committee could delay House votes on legislation approved by other committees.

The so-called 21-day rule was tried out in the 1949-50 Congress and was junked after a two-year trial. The late Sam Rayburn, speaker at the time, reportedly was not happy with the way the rule worked in practice. It divested the leadership of some of the control it had over determining what bills should come to the floor.

Should the 21 day rule be reinstated next year, it undoubtedly would contain a safeguard giving the speaker power to veto a legislative committee chairman's request to call up a bill bottled by the Rules Committee for more than 21 days.

"Without such a safeguard," a top Democrat said privately, "a legislative committee could get out of hand and report legislation under pressure from special groups and there would be no way to prevent a vote."

NO REAL TROUBLE

"We have had no real trouble in recent years with the Rules Committee," he added. "It usually has been responsive, if at times balky. It has been blamed for some actions it took at our request."

There may be a change in the committee's own rules.

One suggestion is that the committee have regular meeting days instead of convening only at the call of the chairman. This would prevent Smith from delaying action simply by leaving the capital.

The committee also may lose its control over bills passed by both the Senate and the House but needing clearance by conference committees because of differences. The only way such bills now may go to conference is by unanimous consent of the House or by approval of the Rules Committee. A proposed change would clear the way by a simple majority vote of the House.

LIBERAL ASSAULT

Liberals also are considering an assault on the power of the House Ways and Means Committee, which in the last Congress bottled up the administration's medical care bill.

★ ★ ★

The committee now is composed of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans. Liberals are insisting that the ratio be changed to 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans because of heavy Democratic House gains in the 1964 elections. The two new Democrats would be nominated by the leadership and undoubtedly would be friendly to the administration program.

Storm Puts Damper on Sailing Plans

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Three disillusioned sailors have abandoned their big dream of sailing a trimaran around the world after a two-week bout with a boat damaged by stormy seas.

★ ★ ★

"We're pretty well disillusioned," said Bill Winters, 32, of Philadelphia. "The around-the-world trip is financially impossible now because many of our charts and books were ruined."

★ ★ ★

The three Philadelphia men, Winters, Ron Emery, 29, and Pete Fascenda, 32, said they left home Nov. 8 and hit a storm in the Atlantic on Thursday, Nov. 12. Their boat was towed into Savannah late Sunday.

★ ★ ★

For two days, they said, they battled the storm with high winds and water breaking over all three hulls of the trimaran and managed to send a call for help before their battery was drowned out.

OCEAN SEARCH

When the battery was finally revived Saturday, Nov. 14, they said they found that the Coast Guard was conducting a 3,000-square-mile search for them. They radioed they were okay and told the Coast Guard they did not need assistance.

Winters, a stereotype worker for a newspaper, said they were never lost even during "that narrowing night when all hell broke loose."

★ ★ ★

He said they called the Coast Guard for help six days later when their rudder gave out. However, he said, a Coast Guard plane flew over every day to make sure they were safe.

★ ★ ★

The 35-foot boat, which was built by Winters and Emery, "sailed itself" during the storm, Winters said, but "the nights doubled the terror." Fascenda, a compositor with a typography company, said that "for the first time in my life, I was scared." He said he grew up on a boat.

SAIL TO BERMUDA

The men, who had planned to sail to Bermuda on the first leg of the voyage around the globe, said they would stay in Savannah for a week and then sail to Miami. "After that, it's undecided," said Winters.

Each said he had lost at least 10 pounds in the two weeks since they left Philadelphia. They stood two-hour watches at the wheel, "hardly eating anything," and had to bail out the boat about every 12 hours.

Says Ike Believes GOP Needs Unity Mechanism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower believes that some kind of "mechanism" is needed to weld together the defeat-scattered elements of the Republican party.

★ ★ ★

That is the report from House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind., who conferred with Eisenhower at the general's request Saturday in Gettysburg, Pa.

We talked quite a time about the need for a mechanism which will weld together all levels and views in the party," Halleck said. "I hope to work toward that end, and so does Gen. Eisenhower."

He declined to say just what he and Eisenhower had in mind. He said "a lot more thought and consideration" would have to be given to the matter before any decision is made.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., has suggested that some sort of advisory council or committee be set up outside the Republican National Committee to give the GOP's views on issues or proposed legislation.

BRUSHED ASIDE

But Halleck, recalling the Democratic advisory council established after Eisenhower's 1952 election victory, seemed to brush aside this idea.

He said the Democratic council "never amounted to a tinker's damn."

There was an intimation, at least in Halleck's view, that the logical GOP power center now will be in the Republican leadership of Congress.

★ ★ ★

Halleck noted that the joint congressional GOP leadership had met almost weekly since 1960.

GENERAL RULE

He said that as a general rule the chairman of the Republican National Committee sat in on those sessions.

He suggested that the leadership meetings might be broadened in the future by occasional inclusions of Republican governors and other top party figures.

Halleck declined to speculate on the cause of the GOP debacle. "We've still got to find out more about what happened," he said.

He conceded that he and Eisenhower discussed "some of the things that contributed" to the Republican defeat. But he said they made no attempt to reach a conclusion "as to just how the difficulty might have been."

FUTURE ROLE

He said he and the former president did not discuss the future role of Dean Burch, who was Sen. Barry M. Goldwater's choice for Republican national chairman.

Halleck declined to say whether Burch should now resign.

He pointed out, however, that the national chairman has never been the party's policy-maker.

The chairman's role is more of an organizational one, he added.

The Indiana Republican said that he and Eisenhower agreed that the GOP "has had a setback, not a disaster. A campaign was lost, not a war. I have served though far worse troubles in years past. Both of us expect strong Republican gains in 1966 and a very promising situation in 1968."

Barry Plans to Resume His Column

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater and the Los Angeles Times have announced that when he returns to private life in January he will resume writing a syndicated newspaper column.

The column will provide "responsible opposition" on political questions.

The announcement was made last night by the Arizona Republican and Otis Chandler, publisher of the Times.

The Los Angeles Times Syndicate, which introduced Goldwater's column in 1960, again will distribute his three-times-weekly offering. Goldwater suspended the column when he decided to seek the GOP presidential nomination. At that time it was appearing in about 175 newspapers in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Since he was defeated earlier this month by President Johnson, Goldwater said:

"Providing responsible opposition will be my prime function as a private citizen deeply concerned with politics.

"Moreover, in my earlier writing efforts, there were many matters which I was not able to discuss in print due to my senatorial obligations. When my Senate term expires and I resume writing, these restrictions no longer will apply."

He said he expected to do most of his writing at his Phoenix, Ariz., home.

Chandler said he was delighted to have Goldwater back in the columnar ranks and added:

★ ★ ★

"I believe that newspaper readers will welcome the continuing exposition of his conservative point of view."

U. S. Envoy to Take U. of Hawaii Post

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones said today he will resign soon to become chancellor of the Center of Cultural and Technical Interchange at the University of Hawaii.

★ ★ ★

Jones, a veteran of 14 years in the diplomatic service in Asia, said he had not yet submitted his resignation to President Johnson but that he had informed Indonesian President Sukarno of his intention to leave.

Jones has been ambassador to Jakarta since February 1958. He is a close friend of Sukarno.

Poker Game Raided, and He Had 2 Jacks

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police conducted a raid on a poker game at a veteran's club near here and arrested nine persons Sunday. One was charged with operating a gambling house and the other eight with gambling.

One player was especially disgruntled. When the raid came he had two jacks as hole cards.

Olives Lend Nut-Like Flavor to Stuffing

Practically everyone has a family-favorite stuffing for poultry. Habit being what is, it's easy to get into a rut and make the same stuffing time and again without trying new ones that might be equally appealing to palates.

★ ★ ★

Definitely new — and definitely delicious — is "Italian Olive Bread Stuffing." It's a hearty mixture of toasted bread cubes, ripe olive wedges, crisp crumbled bacon, green pepper and tomato paste temptingly seasoned with onion, garlic, oregano and basil.

★ ★ ★

This recipe makes enough stuffing for a turkey weighing nine to eleven pounds; the ingredients may easily be doubled for a larger bird. Be sure to toast the bread cubes throughly on all sides; otherwise, the stuffing might be too moist for some tastes.

If you want gravy for the stuffing, prepare a thin gravy with turkey drippings and broth from giblets rather than a creamy gravy. However, gravy is really not necessary for this moist stuffing, which would be equally good with chicken or pork.

In case you have never before heated ripe olives in stuffings, with vegetables or for meat and fish sauces, you have a taste treat in store. Heating brings out to a remarkable degree the unique nut-like flavor of the olives.

Italian Olive Bread Stuffing

1½ cups ripe olives
8 cups day-old bread cubes
8 slices bacon
Butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon basil
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
½ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Cut olives into wedges. Toast bread cubes, stirring occasionally, in 350-degree (moderate) oven 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown on all sides.

Cook bacon crisp. Drain on paper towels; crumble bacon. Measure bacon drippings; add butter to make ½ cup. Saute garlic and onion in drippings until onion is tender-crisp.

Stir in all remaining ingredients except bread and olives; heat to bubbling. In large bowl toss bread and olives with heated mixture.

Makes 2 quarts stuffing (enough for 9- to 11-lb. turkey).

Expensive Dish but Worth It!

When you need to splurge in jigtime, this is the dish!

Seafood Newburg with Wild Rice

½ cup wild rice
1 package (11½ ounces) frozen lobster newburg
1 package (6 ounces) frozen king crab meat, thawed and drained

★ ★ ★

Cook the wild rice according to package directions or your own favorite method. Heat the lobster newburg according to package directions for double-boiler heating; about 10 minutes before the lobster is ready, add the crabmeat. Serve over the hot cooked drained wild rice. Makes 4 servings.

Nutty Rolls Are Yummy

Pass tasty Peanut Butter Swirls at coffeetime — impressive, yet so easy to make.

Prepare a basic scone recipe based on 2 cups of flour. Roll out to a rectangle 6x18 inches. Spread with a filling made by creaming together ¾ cup each of butter or margarine, peanut butter and light brown sugar.

★ ★ ★

Roll up as for a jelly roll and cut into 18 one-inch slices. Place in greased muffin cups or 2 greased 8-inch round pans. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a preheated 425 degree oven.

★ ★ ★

Remove from pans immediately and brush with confectioners sugar icing.

Dutch Eating Is Hearty, Simple

Combine mashed potatoes with sauerkraut and frankfurters, add a sprinkling of caraway seed and you'll have a dish that is strictly Dutch.

STAMPOT VAN ZUURKOLL MET WORSTJES
(Mashed Potatoes and Sauerkraut with Frankfurters — Holland)

1 can (1 lb.-3 oz.) sauerkraut
3 cups water
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1 pound frankfurters
1 envelope (4-servings) instant mashed potato granules
1 cup water
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Drain sauerkraut. With a sharp knife, cut through sauerkraut in can, criss-cross fashion to break up stringiness. Combine sauerkraut, water, and caraway seed in a saucepan. Cook over low heat for 30 minutes.

Place frankfurters on top of kraut; continue to cook 10 to 12 minutes.

Meanwhile prepare mashed potatoes. Measure the 1 cup water and milk into a saucepan. Heat just to boiling. With a whip or fork stir in envelope of potato granules; whip briskly. Add salt, pepper, and butter.

Remove frankfurters. Drain sauerkraut; mix with mashed potatoes. Heap in the center of a platter. Arrange frankfurters around the mound. Makes 4 servings.

Peanuts Good Added to Salad Sandwiches

Peanuts will add an unusual crunch or flavor appeal, as a subtle garnish or main ingredient, to many different menu items. Furthermore, they provide important nutrients and energy food value.

★ ★ ★

For example, stir peanuts into creamed onions, cooked rice or cooked green beans.

Whole peanuts also make a tasty addition to cold salads, such as apple, turkey or grated carrot-raisin.

For another tasty fall salad, slice bananas into 1-inch lengths, dip into lemon juice (to prevent browning), roll in chopped peanuts and serve with unpared apple wedges atop salad greens.

Peanuts mixed with cream cheese will make a tasty change-of-pace sandwich filling, for lunchboxes or parties. Try this blend, for example, in toasted raisin bread sandwiches.

Marks Take a Holiday at Colgate U.

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Learning often takes a back seat to getting good grades. But, for one month at least, learning and self-development can be the central goal of each Colgate University student.

During the month of January each year, Colgate students are to be relieved from the pressure of working for grades and will be free to struggle for true education. During the rest of the year, Colgate will follow in the path of such other universities as the University of Southern California, which requires each student to take only four basic subjects instead of the usual five. They will have fewer electives.

DR. NASON

The new four-course program means that students from now on will be given more time to fewer subjects, which will be studied in greater depth. In place of the fifth course which, in the past, was too often selected by students as a "pipe" (easy) course, Colgate is introducing a January Special Studies Period.

Students have been loath to new approach to study for fear it would lower their grades. Now they can investigate new fields of study without danger of jeopardizing averages. And they will be encouraged to become more versatile in their study procedures.

Those students who take full advantage of this opportunity should reap rewards far in excess of the time and energy required.

Colgate professors feel that:

"In addition to broadening and enriching the cirriculum generally, the University hopes the studies period will do two things:

"1. Nurture the habit of independent study. The student will be under the supervision of a professor during this period, but there will be no regularly scheduled classes or examinations, and achievement will be measured by the amount and quality of independent work.

"2. Provide an opportunity for the student to broaden his work in fields other than his area of concentration without endangering his grade point average or his prospects for graduate school. A physicist, for example, may be encouraged to try painting and on economist to undertake biology. The only marks will be 'honors,' 'satisfactory,' and 'unsatisfactory'."

In my own student days, my English professor chided me for always basing my themes on materials with which I had long been familiar and neglecting new areas.

I pointed out that this procedure brough me A's, whereupon he guaranteed me an A in the course provided I would try writing on new subjects for whi h I first had to do library research and individual interviews. This wise professor made it possible for me to broaden my education experience without endangering my grades.

Colgate is offering this type of learning to its entire student body. It should facilitate the solution of one of the most prevalent problems in helping students improve their educational experiences. Pressure for grades is so great that they hesitate to change their narrow pattern and become more versatile.

Students at Colgate are looking forward to the month of January. Educators everywhere will be watching the results.

One of the nicest things about the World Bridge Olympiad was the vuegraph. One match was shown on this machine each session, and it gave the audience a chance to watch the experts perform under the most difficult circumstances possible.

JACOBY

Take this hand from the match between Chile and Argentina as an example. The bidding is that when Luis Attaguile of Argentina sat South.

Before the play started it was announced that the Chilean South player had bid and made four spades undoubled.

The play at four spades had been rather simple. West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the jack of clubs after East dropped the deuce. East had led a second diamond which South ruffed. South went after trumps. When they broke 2-2 spread his hand explaining that he would ruff two of his clubs in dummy and discard the last one on dummy's long heart.

The defense against four spades doubled started out the same way but Senor Attaguile did not make the hand. What's more the commentators predicted that he would go down.

The reason for his downfall was East's double. Senor Attaguile decided that the double was based on ace-king of clubs and ace-jack-small of spades. Hence, he finessed against that jack only to go down when West produced it.

What do you lead?

A—Deuce of spades. You want to start getting trumps out as quickly as possible so that your high cards will all take tricks.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing, your partner bids two hearts. What do you do now?

Trading Fairly Active

Tight-Money Fear Dips Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined today amid fear of tighter money. Trading was fairly active.

★ ★ ★

The raising of the British bank rate to 7 per cent from 5 per cent brought concern that U.S. interest rates would be boosted also, thus dampening the market and the economy.

★ ★ ★

Rails were off fairly sharply. The postponement of the railroad strike deadline was regarded as less of a boon than a reprieve—some Wall Streeters having hoped for a settlement.

The result was that some leading rails took sharp losses.

FRACTIONAL GAIN

Ford responded with a fractional gain to the news that walkouts at the company had been settled. Other stocks in the auto group were unchanged to lower.

★ ★ ★

Oils, airlines, tobaccos, building materials and drugs declined.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .8 at 331.8 with industrials off .7, rails down 1.2 and utilities up .1.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional gainers included Felmont Petroleum (ex dividend), Creole Petroleum and Signal Oil "A." Among small losers were Aurora Plastics, Syntex and Massey-Ferguson.

BONDS SAGGED

U.S. Government bonds sagged in reaction to news of the boost in the British bank rate. Corporate bonds declined similarly. Trading was moderate and mostly in the hands of professionals.

Economy Outracing Elderly

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Old people are steadily faring better in our economy, but life is still not fair enough to many of them.

BOYLE

The average income of a retired couple has risen to $3,350 a year, and one out of three couples whose breadwinner is past 65 earns $5,000. But — the bad news is that one of three also brings in less than the $2,500 level the U. S. Department of Labor considers essential to a "modest but adequate" standard of living.

★ ★ ★

Women now make up nearly a fifth of the membership of U.S. labor unions.

Have you learned anything lately? Some 23 million American adults are going to school. On the other hand we also have 11 million grownups who have less than six years of schooling. Educators refer to them as "functional illiterates." One of the brightest men I ever knew could be so classified. He was my father, who only went through the third grade, but conducted a business, owned two houses and a farm, and raised five children. It is my opinion that he would punch in the nose anyone who called him a "functional illiterate."

BEING BORN

Quotable notable: "Life is a sentence that man has to serve for the crime of being born" — Calderon.

Here is something to mull over: It is said that more than 90 per cent of blue-eyed cats are hard of hearing.

★ ★ ★

Socrates, a henpecked husband who has sometimes been referred to as the wisest man who ever lived, was wary of any legislation to make the sexes equal. He warned, "Once made equal to man, woman becomes his superior."

History lesson: George Washington, one of the wealthiest of U.S. presidents, often was short of cash. He had to borrow money to go to his first inauguration, but his estate at his death was valued at $500,000 — and he owned 33,000 acres of land.

Ice causes fewer automobile accidents than fog.

Tuberculosis, known as "the white plague," is by no means quelled. Some 35 million Americans harbor TB germs in their bodies, and the disease kills 10,000 of us annually.

Folklore: It is good luck to see a new moon over the right shoulder, bad luck over the left shoulder. If a rooster crows on your doorstep, company is coming. A bride married in black silk will live a life of woe. Rub a wart with a dishcloth, then bury the dishcloth, and the wart will go away.

Quickies: Considerateness is the quality that girls say they seek most in a husband. People are bored a third of their waking lives, according to psychologists. American motorists will journey 130 billion miles on pleasure jaunts in 1965. To no one's surprise, it has been found that teen-agers spend more time on the phone than all U.S. businessmen combined.

It was Tennessee Williams who observed, "Life is an unanswered question, but let's still believe in the dignity and importance of the question."

De Gaulle Asks Europe Unity

French Leader Wants U. S. Influence Out

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle called on West Germany again Sunday to join France in forging a united Europe free of American influence.

Speaking at the 20th anniversary of the liberation of Strasbourg from the Nazis, he said it was time for the Bonn government to respond to French efforts to establish friendly relations.

★ ★ ★

He declared that a West German decision to join the United States in manning a nuclear fleet under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "would gravely wound the great hope" of French-German cooperation.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle paid tribute to the United States for its role in the liberation of Strasbourg, but he made clear his prime aim is to liberate Europe from what he considers too much American influence.

REVERSE TREND

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government has reversed the German trend of close cooperation with France begun under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer with the signing of a French-German friendship pact in January 1963.

AP Photofax

ON STRASBOURG STREET — Wearing the uniform of a Brigadier General of the French army, President Charles de Gaulle of France drove through the streets of the French city of Strasbourg yesterday during the town's 20th anniversary of the liberation from the Nazis. At the city, near the German border, de Gaulle urged a united Europe.

Love Your Enemies Is a Potent Policy

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI) — Two separate church notices here left the reader in a quandry:

Said one: "Strong drink is your worst enemy."

The other: "Make your worst enemy your best friend."

The New England section of the country received its name from Capt. John Smith. The wooded hills, narrow green valleys and rocky hillside reminded him of his native England.

AF Probes Plane Crash

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP) — Air Force investigators probed today for the cause of the crash Sunday of a light transport plane which claimed the lives of six military personnel.

The aircraft struck a power pole, crashed and burned in a pasture two miles west and a mile south of here.

★ ★ ★

The propeller-type single-engine plane was based at the Lincoln, Neb., Air Force Base and was operated between Atlas missile bases, one of which is near Nebraska, City.

Lincoln AFB spokesmen identified the victims, all stationed at the base, as the pilot, Maj. Robert E. Wilson, 42, Edinburg, Tex.; Maj. Lee A. Craft, 40, Modesto Calif.; Lt. Chester E. Higgenbotham, 32, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Sgt. Harold L. Hrenchir, 33, St. Joseph, Mo.; Airman Donald W. Moore, 23, Troy, N.Y.; and Airman David R. Theriot, 23, Kirkwood, Mo.

Wilson was a member of the 818th Headquarters Squadron. The others were members of the 511st Strategic Missle Squadron.

The base spokesman said the plane was on a "routine mission."

Tribute Is Paid by Friends to Crusading Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Statesmen and fellow journalists around the world paid tribute during the weekend to Roy Wilson Howard, crusading editor and publisher, who died Friday night at the age of 81.

Howard, chairman of the executive committee of the 17 Scripps-Howard newspapers and a former president of United Press, suffered a heart attack in the lobby of the Pan Am Building where his office was located. He died a few hours later in Doctors Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Private funeral services, attended only by members of his family, were held Saturday. The body was cremated.

Crowd Ignores Pleas for Help

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 45-year-old business executive told police three young men and two women dragged him from his car yesterday, beat him and stole $218 while several bystanders ignored his pleas for help.

John Cain told South Gate, Calif., officers that it even took him nearly 30 minutes to find someone in the crowd who witnessed the savagery to lend him a dime to summon aid.

The manufacturer from the South Gate district was taken to Oak Park Hospital, where his condition was reported as fair.

Police said Cain told them he was in his auto behind other cars waiting for a train to pass. Three men and two women approached his car, opened the door, dragged him out, pushed him to the pavement and kicked and beat him.

Cain told officers his assailants also ripped of his coat and took $218 from an inside pocket, then tried unsuccessfully to tear the rings from his fingers.

Traffic Jammed Four Hours on New NY Bridge

NEW YORK (AP) — The spanking-new Verrazano-Narrows Bridge spanning the entrance to New York Harbor climaxed the first 24 hours of its life with a monumental traffic jam.

★ ★ ★

Police reported that so many sight-seers had flocked to the structure Sunday they caused a four-hour traffic jam, with cars backed up for miles on both approaches.

★ ★ ★

Traffic officials said about 100,000 cars had crossed the span in the first 24 hours. It is the world's longest single-span suspension bridge and Staten Island's first structural link with the rest of New York City. It connects Staten Island with Brooklyn.

County Sailor Drowns; Was Surfing in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — A U.S. Navy seaman apprentice drowned Saturday while surfing at Maili Beach near Honolulu, police said.

The victim was Joseph Walko, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Walko of Clawson, Mich. He was stationed on the Island of Oahu, Navy officials said.

Free Health Tests Offered in County

Free health tests to detect tuberculosis, diabetes, and other chronic illness will get under way throughout Oakland County today.

The tests are offered by the County Department of Health.

★ ★ ★

The site for this week's testing, is the Glenwood Shopping Plaza. Tests were to be offered today 1-3 and 4-8 p.m.; Tuesday, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. and 3-7 p. m., and Wednesday, 10 a. m.-2 p.m. and 3-5 p.m.

Cable Breaks, Cuts Power for San Juan Islands

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — "The Thanksgiving turkey is probably out the window, unless they use charcoal broilers or something, but otherwise we're getting along fine."

R. E. Hartzog, editor of the Friday Harbor Journal, summed up the situation Sunday as Washington's San Juan Islands faced several weeks of power rationing.

★ ★ ★

An underwater cable from the mainland broke Thursday night, cutting off the supply of nearly 6,000 power users. The break was tentatively located Saturday. William Frans, Bonneville power administration area manager, said it is impossible to tell how long the repair job will take, but it will be weeks.

Diesel generators are supplying part of the need.

U.S. Didn't Clear Steers

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Of the 1.2 million head of cattle imported into the United States from foreign countries in 1963, some 81,000 were rejected, according to Dr. John O'Harra, vice president of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Inspectors check animals at ocean and border points of entry where federal veterinarians carry out quarantine and inspection regulations.

They also are present at every major air and ocean port where animal by-products may be brought in by travelers.

Train Rams Auto; Driver Listed as Fair

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A 34-year-old Lansing factory worker lived to tell of his car's being dragged 345 feet and its motor being flung 75 feet by a passenger train at a crossing six miles southeast of Charlotte Sunday. a hospital here.

★ ★ ★

He is Vern J. Swarthout of rural Charlotte. He was reported in fair condition today at a hospital here.

He suffered arm, leg and feet fractures among other injuries, and spent four hours in surgery.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's deputies said Swarthout told them he had been hunting in the area and that he neither saw nor heard the train before it struck his car.

Daily Press of Detroit Sues for $7.5 Million

DETROIT (AP)—Daily Press, Inc., which has published the Detroit Daily Press during Detroit's newspaper strike is plaintiff in a $7.5-million antitrust damage suit against United Press International and owners of the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press.

Daily Press said in a U.S. District Court suit that United Press International refused "without legal justification" to make its services available to the Daily Press. It alleged that the Evening News Association and Knight Newspapers, Inc., conspired to prevent such services.

Big Florida Seaport

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Tampa is easily the largest seaport in Florida, for it does twice the business of the second largest port, Jacksonville. Port Everglades ranks third, with five times the tonnage of Miami.

Mother Slain by Sniper Shot

DETROIT (AP) — A 27-year-old mother of two children was killed Sunday by a sniper who shot through the rear window of a car in which she was riding on Detroit's east side.

She was Mrs. Robbie Hughes of Warren, who was separated from her husband, Bobby Jack, 29.

★ ★ ★

Police picked up a man for questioning shortly after the slaying, but did not charge him immediately and refused to reveal his name. They, however, cleared Mrs. Hughes' husband of any implication.

Philip Lee, 23, a Warren neighbor of Mrs. Hughes, said the two of them had just left a bar and were driving away when he heard a shot and Mrs. Hughes slumped over.

★ ★ ★

A bullet entered through the rear window of Lee's convertible, passed through the woman's head, cracked the windshield and bounced into the rear seat. Police recovered it.

Lee said he had made a U-turn and was driving past the bar when the shot rang out.

Order Mental Test for Heiress Suspect

NEW YORK (AP) — The beneficiary of a $300,000 trust fund, accused of staging a $211 holdup with an antique pistol, has been sent to Bellevue Hospital for observation.

★ ★ ★

Judge Ludwig Glowa ordered the test Sunday for Mrs. Carol Dillon, 55, widow of an advertising executive, after her attorney told him: "We don't have a criminal here, we have a patient."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dillon, who lives in Manhattan, was arrested shortly after the Saturday night holdup at a Manhattan delicatessen. Police said the robbery weapon was an unloaded 1859 pepperbox pistol.

No One Has Claimed Old Scaffold Key

LONDON (UPI)—The lost property office of London Transport has a key in its possession which leads to the Newgate Prison scaffold, demolished 60 years ago.

There have been no claimers since it was left at the luggage office three months ago.

Crated Man Asks Return to Israel

ROME (AP) — Mordechai Ben Masud Louk, the Israeli fugitive found chained in a diplomatic trunk consigned to Cairo, asked today to be allowed to return to Israel and face trial.

The Israeli Embassy in Rome said Louk had expressed this wish to consul Isachar Shamgar, who visited him in a villa outside Rome where he has been held in protective custody.

Louk is charged by Israeli judicial authorities with minor crimes but he could face more serious charges of spying for the United Arab Republic. Rome police said Louk told them the Egyptians forced him to spy for them.

Italian police have said formal criminal charges will be filed against four Egyptians implicated in the crated-man mystery. None of the four is in police custody.

★ ★ ★

Two are United Arab Republic diplomats expelled from Italy last Wednesday for trying to smuggle Louk to Cairo from Rome in a trunk labeled diplomatic mail. The two others were listed by police as Youssef Amed Khalter, an employer of the U.A.R. embassy here, and a man identified only as Abdel Salem.

The Israeli Embassy in Rome said no demand has been made so far by the Israeli government for Louk's extradition because the Italian police report on the case had not been received by Israeli authorities.

Senator Has a 'Bunny'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Among the fauna to be seen at the Capitol when Congress convenes in January will be an authentic "bunny," courtesy of Sen.-elect Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md.

★ ★ ★

Tydings' office said this weekend that Mary Ellen Terziu, the camera "bunny" at the Baltimore Playboy Club, will join the senator's Washington staff. She is described as "efficient, experienced, accomplished" and — last but surely not least — "attractive."

The blonde Miss Terziu, who volunteered to work for the Tydings campaign in September, is no novice to Capitol Hill. She previously served on the staffs of two other senators.

2 of 3 Children Saved as Ice Breaks on Pond

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP) — Two sisters and their brother ventured onto the thin ice on a farm pond eight miles east of Moberly yesterday. The ice broke.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Wallace of Moberly, managed to rescue two of the children, but 9-year-old Rosetta Marie drowned.

Allegan Man Dies

TRADE

GOLDEN "C"

Opportunity for you to trade your Michigan motel or resort for an outstanding Class "C" money-making bar. Top location and business expanding, but present owner has made enough money and wants to retire to the country. Terrific life of operating a good resort or well-located motel. Let us worry for you, if you want a money making business, to trade for, call us on this.

Opportunity

To trade your idle hunting lands for a 240 acre productive farm. Has 132 acres tillable now, plow. Ten buildings in top shape. A 6x96 pole barn, 40x60 cattle barn. Very nice older, but modernized farm home. Stop paying taxes on your land, seldom use and trade it for this fine farm.

Johnson Host to Georgians

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson entered the second year of his presidency today by entertaining a blue-ribbon delegation of Georgia politicians at his ranch home.

The Georgians, representing the political power structure of one of the six states Johnson lost in the Nov. 3 election, arrived Sunday in response to a presidential invitation to drop in for several days and do some deer hunting.

* * *

Politics also was certain to figure in the conversations among Johnson, Gov. Carl Sanders, Democratic Sens. Richard B. Russell and Herman E. Talmadge, Judge Robert Russell of the Georgia Supreme Court, former Gov. Ernest Vandiver and Democratic State Chairman J. B. Fuqua.

Sanders was an all-out Johnson supporter in the election campaign, to the point where he possibly endangered his own political future in a state where Johnson's advocacy of the 1964 Civil Rights Act was the key factor in Georgia going Republican for the first time.

JOINED IN CAMPAIGN

Talmadge and Judge Russell joined Sanders in accompanying the President on his campaign travels in Georgia. Sen. Russell was absent.

Some of the Johnson properties in this central Texas hill country — notably the Scharnhorst ranch not far away — abound in deer. The hunting season opened here 16 days ago. So far as is known, Johnson has yet to try his luck.

* * *

Sunday the President and Mrs. Johnson made a helicopter trip to Austin, 65 miles to the east, to attend interdenominational memorial services for the late President John F. Kennedy at University Methodist church.

Accompanying the somber first family to the services was one of Johnson's old political allies, Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, who was wounded in the flurry of shots that killed Kennedy in Dallas last Nov. 22.

RETURN TO RANCH

Now fully recovered, Connally and his wife, Nellie, returned to the ranch with the Johnsons.

The President also sent off a telegram to John Nance Garner on the former vice president's 96th birthday. Johnson extended to Garner "my warmest affection."

* * *

A year earlier, one of John Kennedy's last acts had been to make a birthday telephone call to Garner, who lives in Uvalde, Tex.

A CYCLE CHANGE — French cyclist Michel Rousseau displays his "bicycle of the future" at Paris meet. It has a smaller front wheel with turned-out handle-bars just over it. He says changes permit the rider to crouch in a "more aerodynamic position."

'Real Show' Ignored

BASINGSTROKE, England (UPI) — Fifty old people continued sipping tea and watching TV last night while firemen put out a blaze on the floor above them.

Airlines, Movies Benefit

Films on Flights Here to Stay

By BOB THOMAS
A PMovie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Recently a Californian visiting New York called an airline to confirm his return reservation.

"What's the movie?" he asked.

"We'll be showing 'Murder Ahoy'," said the passenger agent.

"Oh," replied the traveler. He had seen "Murder Ahoy" on his flight to New York. So he called another airline and booked passage on a flight that was showing "I'd Rather Be Rich."

THOMAS

* * *

The passenger was this reporter, and the experience introduced me to a new, high-flying form of entertainment that is becoming an important factor in the fortunes of two industries: movies and airlines.

* * *

TWA was first to introduce airborne movies, starting on transatlantic flights two and a half years ago. Later the service was extended to transcontinental flights, in both first-class and tourist.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

Thomas McFadden, vice president in charge of marketing, considers the movies an important factor in TWA's climb out of the red and into sizable profits.

Other airlines took notice. This year American Airlines began offering movies on cross-country flights — or stereophonic music for those preferring more relaxed entertainment. Continental Airlines began its Golden Marquee movie service between Los Angeles and Chicago in August and then inaugurated films between Los Angeles and Houston.

* * *

A fortnight ago United Air Lines started offering movies on all flights to Hawaii. Installations are now being made to extend the service to coast-to-coast planes after the first of the year.

* * *

Nearly everyone seems pleased with the new form of show business. The film companies are delighted with the word-of-mouth publicity created for movies by the opinion-setting air travelers, many of whom had lost the film-going habit.

GROWING SOURCE

Rentals of movies to airlines is also a growing source of revenue. It is estimated that production companies now earn $3 million a year from that source, with the figure likely to double next year.

* * *

The airlines see movies as an inducement for more Americans to travel by air. "Seeing a show eases that first-flight anxiety," declared one official.

* * *

Passengers generally seem enthusiastic. Movies help while away the time on what could be a boring flight. A pilot swears this to be true: He once flew in early to John F. Kennedy International Airport on a tailwind and his passengers refused to disembark until the movie was concluded.

One element seems displeased with airplane movies: Certain foreign airlines. At a recent meeting in Athens of the International Air Transport Association, a proposal was made to ban entertainment on transatlantic flights.

DON'T WISH

The announcement stated member airlines "in their determination to resist increasing costs and continue fare reductions to the public do not wish to incur the additional expenses involved in the provision of new audio-video equipment."

TWA's McFadden shot back that the airline has been able to provide motion picture diversion while fares were decreasing. Saying the films have therapeutic value, he concluded: "Our customers like movies, we like movies, and we intend to keep them."

Indeed, movies in transit appear to be here to stay, and not only in the air. Inflight Motion Pictures, pioneer of the field, has made an agreement with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to show films on its passenger trains starting next month.

One of Those Days: Best to Stay Home

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — A missing float turned up Sunday at the Point Adams Coast Guard station, while the Coast Guard was searching the Columbia River for it.

The 60-by-6-foot wood and metal float broke loose Saturday from an interstate bridge under construction between Astoria and Megler, Wash.

The float, used in working around piers, lodged in the Coast Guard's mooring station during the search.

Shade Stops Smoldering

Fights Fire With Shadow

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A fireman fought a fire at this desert community by casting his shadow.

Sunlight fell on two statues holding small mirrors in the window of a lamp shop yesterday. The mirrored light hit a patch of carpeting, which began to smolder.

A passerby called firemen.

The firemen decided that, instead of breaking the window, they would telephone the owner to unlock the door, then move the mirrors and stop the smoldering.

* * *

Rookie fireman Robert McInelly was assigned to stand between the sun and the mirors and make shade.

KEY ARRIVES

The key arrived, the smoldering carpet was extinguished, and McInelly was released for other duties.

Small Fire Forces 750 to Flee Hotel

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 750 dinner guests at the New York Hilton Hotel were evacuated from the grand ballroom when a small but smoky fire broke out in an adjoining serving room last night.

* * *

Police said the guests descended to the hotel's second floor without incident. Mayor Robert F. Wagner had been one of the dignitaries attending the annual dinner for the Rabbi Jacob Joseph School but he had left shortly before the blaze was discovered.

* * *

Musicians continued to play as the guests left the third-floor ball-room, but then they also were forced to leave, because of dense smoke. The only reported injury was to headwaiter Rudy Schubert, 52, who suffered burns trying to extinguish the fire.

Says Interest Rate Hike Will End Prosperity

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, warns that the raising of interest rates will destroy the nation's prosperity.

* * *

Patman, a long-time opponent of government efforts to tighten credit, said this weekend there were growing indications the Johnson administration planned to raise interest rates. He said "high representatives of the banking industry" were behind the move.

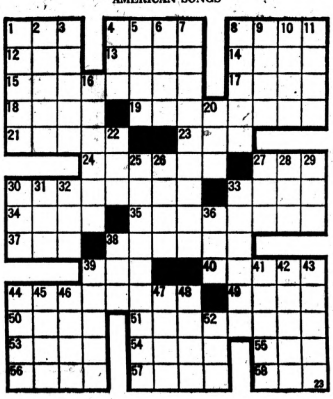
AMERICAN SONGS



'Why Don't More Songs Sing Praises to the Gals?'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "We need girl song writers"—claimed Rosemary Clooney the other morning at the Americana Royal Box—"who'll write female superiority songs. There are so many male superiority songs . . .

WILSON

"Like 'My Man,' which makes a hero out of a brute. 'He beats me. He isn't true. What can I do?' We need more 'There Is Nothing Like a Dame' songs and less of the Kipling philosophy, 'A woman is only a woman bu a good cigar is a smoke.' "

Rosie appeals to Carolyn Leigh, Dorothy Fields, Betty Comden, Mary Rodgers — and other gal tunesmiths — to eulogize the females. "Reason for the male superiority songs is obvious," she said. "They were written by men!"

Robert Preston, B'way new Great Lover, has the dressing room at the Lunt & Fontanne Theater that Richard Burton used in "Hamlet." Liz picked him up there almost every night just in case.

"Gripe Letters, Inc.," operated by Martin Katz and his wife Dorothy, 365 West End Ave., will write you a scorchingly nasty letter to somebody in beautiful prose for about $20 . . . The Internal Revenue's digging deeply into nightclubs' under-the-table payoffs to big stars . . . Mayor Wagner told Paul Scrivens: "I won an elocution contest when I was 11, and have been going downhill as a public speaker ever since."

David Merrick denounced Producers Bob Weiner and Joe Cates as "finks" when they were voted out of the League of NY Theaters for making a separate union settlement. Now that Merrick's pulled out, Weiner wired him, "Do you want to form a Little Fink League?"

Joe E. Lewis suddenly discovered in Toots Shore's at 2:30 a.m. that a $25,000 star sapphire ring (a gift from New Orleans Roosevelt proprietor Seymour Weiss) was missing from his finger. He denied he drank it.

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sybil Burton's discussing with producer Fred Brisson whether to appear in his next show, "Alfie." . . . The ex-husband of a famed entertainer, who hoped for a 250G divorce settlement, just got the check—$3,000 . . . The French consul gen'l attended the cafe debut of the Swingle Singers of Paris, at the Village Gate.

Former fighter Paul Berlenbach mentioned the Cassius Clay surgery, at Sammy's Bowery Follies: "In my day we couldn't afford an operation until after the fight" . . . Elke Sommer's making a film in Germany for a mere $10,000 — she has to work out an old contract . . . One of the top musicians is so in hock he had to mortgage his home . . . Sign in a local saloon: "Home of Rudolph the Red-Nosed Bartender."

Elliot Gould praised his wife, Barbra Streisand: "She's one of a kind — like Fred Astaire, Sophia Loren, and Y. A. Tittle" . . . British actress Julie Christie is mentioned for the "Dr. Zhivago" romantic lead.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: New York's wild life isn't disappearing, claims Barbra Streisand—it's just moving to Greenwich Village.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Anybody who uses the expression "free as a bird" hasn't bought his Thanksgiving turkey yet.

VP-Elect Visits Family Today

Raids Brother's Store of Fresh Drug Supply

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey rests and visits family members today before flying east with a fresh supply of drug products to treat the aches and pains of a vice president.

A former practicing pharmacist, the vice president-elect went to his old home town of Huron, S.D., Sunday to visit his brother and elderly mother.

* * *

While there, the senator picked up some items at the Humphrey drugstore, operated by his brother Ralph.

Humphrey took two large bottles of aspirin fablets, and laughed, "I may need a lot of these."

OTHER PAINS

The vice presidency may bring pains other than headaches, he indicated, adding a couple of bottles of rubbing alcohol to his collection from the store shelves.

Humphrey and his wife, Muriel, flew back to Minneapolis Sunday night.

* * *

They plan to visit with daughter Nancy, Mrs. Bruce Solomonson, and her family, then fly to New York where the senator has a speaking engagement Tuesday evening.

* * *

In Huron, they spent about two hours at the nursing home where Humphrey's widowed mother, Christine Humphrey, resides. She is in her 90s and in poor health. The family visit was private.

Probing Death of Man Found Shot in Woods

GARDEN (AP)—State police today were investigating the death of an Indianapolis man whose body was found in a wooded area five miles south of this Michigan village. The man had been shot once in the head.

Sgt. Bernard Grace of the Manistique State Police Post identified the dead man as William R. Loomis, 39, of Indianapolis.

* * *

Grace said the body was found Saturday by a party of deer hunters. He added that the victim was dressed in a business suit and was not believed to have been hunting.

* * *

Grace said an autopsy Sunday showed the victim had been shot once in the head. He said he did not know whether the man had been slain and added that an investigation was continuing.

Johnson Looking to Next 4 Years With Confidence

(EDITOR'S NOTE — President Johnson has completed his first full year in the White House office into which he was thrust by the assassination of John F. Kennedy. Following is an account of his stewardship thus far and the problems ahead.)

By ALVIN SPIVAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Johnson today began his second year as the nation's chief executive, confident that he can translate his landslide election victory into a solid record of achievement both in domestic and world affairs.

Since assuming the presidency upon the assassination of John F. Kennedy 12 months ago Johnson has shown himself a skilled master at working his will with Congress.

He has dealt with crisis on the world scene with firmness. He has won election as president in his own right and is looking forward to his coming four-year term with confidence.

With Texas vigor, Johnson has imprinted his own brand of presidential style on the American scene.

It consists of a blend of forcefulness and persuasion, folksiness and shrewdness.

Since Nov. 22, 1963, the New Frontier of the Kennedy era has been supplanted by the Great Society program of Johnson.

The twang of New England has given way to the homely drawl of Texas.

Johnson's most impressive first-year successes were scored in Congress where his long experience as a leader stood him good stead.

★ ★ ★

In his first session of working with the House and Senate, Johnson won passage of 47 of 51 major legislative proposals he adopted from the Kennedy program.

RIGHTS ACT

Chief among them were the civil rights law and the two-year tax cut bill which Kennedy had submitted before his death. Other measures which Johnson obtained from Congress marked big breakthroughs in the fields of conservation, education and job opportunities.

Johnson himself proposed a billion-dollar "War on Poverty" and the program was approved.

Now backed by greater Democratic strength in Congress, Johnson already has churned up a new program of legislation he is confident will be enacted this session.

High on his priority list is a bill to institute medical care for the aged under the Social Security program. It was one of the four measures on which he did not succeed last year.

TAX CUTS

Johnson also has announced he will ask and undoubtedly get Congress to cut federal excise taxes. Slated for elimination are the levies on such consumer items as cosmetics, furs, luggage, handbags and toilet goods.

Still in the works is a series of studies undertaken by expert task forces in 15 fields. On their recommendations, Johnson anticipates constructing the legislation for the Great Society he has made the theme of his administration.

He envisions it as one in which Americans would join to "rebuild the entire urban United States" in the next 40 years, preserve the natural beauties of the country and promote educational opportunities for the booming crop of youngsters now growing up.

On the world front, Johnson played his role in a relatively minor key. In prospect is the possibility that he may take a more active part in the days to come.

For the most part, Johnson's first year was marked by a continuance of the relative Cold War calm that followed Kennedy's decisive handling of the Cuba missile crisis and the signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty.

The President demonstrated toughness when last summer he ordered U.S. warplanes to strike against torpedo boat nests in North Viet Nam in retaliation for harassment raids against American destroyers in the Tonkin Bay.

On an earlier occasion, he moved swiftly when Communist Cuban leader Fidel Castro cut off the water supply at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

★ ★ ★

Johnson immediately arranged for the shipment of water to the base and directed the dismissal of hundreds of Cubans working at Guantanamo with a resultant loss of needed dollars to Castro's hard-pressed economy.

Stormy problems still face him, however.

The Viet Nam conflict continues in a state of jeopardous flux, prompting serious consideration of whether a stiffer U.S. military effort is needed. The unity of the NATO alliance is under strain with French President Charles de Gaulle pursuing a balky course. Red China has exploded its first nuclear weapon.

Further question marks were raised by the replacement of Nikita S. Khrushchev as Soviet premier and leadership switches in Britain, Italy, Japan and other countries.

The President underscored peace as the main aim of his administration and used it effectively in the campaign against his GOP presidential rival, Barry M. Goldwater.

As a person, Johnson has taken on a mixed image — a combination of warm vitality and driving ego. He has gone with compassion to the porches of the poor in Appalachia . . . been accused of arm-twisting to gain his ends in Congress . . . sorrowed when his longtime trusted aide Walter Jenkins was discovered to have been twice arrested on morals charges . . . charged with covering up for a protege, former Senate Democratic secretary Robert (Bobby) Baker.

He has pulled the ears of his beagles to the outrage of dog lovers, doted on his wife and two daughters, shaken hands with passing tourists at the White House gates, taken the White House news corps on exhausting perambulating press conferences that have gone on for miles and on one occasion been chided in print for driving 90 miles an hour down a Texas highway with a swig of beer "within sippin' distance."

In his election triumph, he welded together an overwhelming coalition of support that ranged from top business executives to steelmill puddlers, that embraced Negroes, Catholics, farmers, liberals and huge numbers of Republicans.

★ ★ ★

It is on this broad base of support that he will serve in the next four years.

In his recent book, "My Hope for America," Lyndon B. Johnson, 35th president of the United States, wrote:

"From that awful day on November 22nd when President Kennedy was assassinated, I have had but one thought, but one conviction, but one objective; to be the president of all the people, not just the rich, not just the well-fed, not just the fortunate, but president of all America."

Legal Authority Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Arthur Nussbaum, 87, a legal authority and author, died yesterday. Dr. Nussbaum fled his native Germany in the 1930s. He did pioneer work in writing commercial arbitration law and was a research professor at Columbia University.

Fire Claims Mother, Two Tots

KALKASKA (AP) — All Kalkaska's people grieved today for young James Ryckman's great loss.

A fire in Saturday's snowstorm took the lives of Ryckman's wife, Barbara, 20, and both their children, Carlebe Sue and James Gerald.

★ ★ ★

A sudden blaze, its cause undetermined, swept the small frame home in this northern Michigan resort community of 1,500 population.

Ryckman, 21, employed at the oil dealer distributorship of his father, Willard Ryckman, was at work at the time.

"He is all shook up," said Mrs. Earl M. Woodman, wife of the Kalkaska County sheriff and friend of the family.

A neighbor, Leo Blaisdell, 18, suffered burns in a vain rescue effort.

Young Blaisdell, spurning warnings, dashed into the burning home and brought out the body of Mrs. Ryckman. He could not reach the children.

Taylor to Urge N. Viet Raids?

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor believes that U.S. air strikes against Communist bases and supply lines in North Viet Nam and Laos could contribute to victory in South Viet Nam.

He also believes that the outcome of the anti-Communist guerrilla war is "very much in doubt."

The ambassador's appraisal, made in an interview with Life magazine, set off speculation that he might recommend an escalation of the war when he meets this week with President Johnson in Washington. Taylor flies home Wednesday.

GEN. MAXWELL TAYLOR
MAXWELL D. TAYLOR

"Military action outside the country, just as pure military action inside the country, will not win in itself," Taylor cautioned in the interview.

"Let us say generally that the issue is very much in doubt. The winner will be the one that has the ultimate will to win. But the military aspect is only one piece of it."

★ ★ ★

U.S. policy makers, dissatisfied with the way the war has been going, have been studying the possibility of extending to the north to check support of the Viet Cong.

CHINA INTERVENTION

Some observers fear Communist China then might take a direct hand.

Taylor said the Communists have grown in strength despite heavy losses.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, said in the Life interview that body counts show 12,000 Viet Cong have been killed so far this year compared with 6,000 government casualties.

★ ★ ★

He said actual Communist losses probably totaled 18,000.

"It is absolutely inconceivable to me that the Viet Cong could ever militarily defeat the armed forces of South Viet Nam," Westmoreland said.

Saigon was hit yesterday by its most serious antigovernment riot since Premier Tran Van Huong took power two and a half weeks ago.

Huong ordered police and paratroopers to use tear gas to disperse a march of 1,000 Buddhists on the government palace.

★ ★ ★

An earlier Buddhist demonstration in which a score of persons were injured and 40 arrested touched off the palace march.

Unions Put Off Railroad Strike

Assure Transportation During Holiday Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Postponement of a nationwide strike scheduled for 6 a.m. today will allow rail traffic to move as usual this Thanksgiving week, but negotiations between the railroads and three unions will resume next week in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

The three nonoperating shopcraft unions put off the threatened strike for least a week yesterday after receiving an urgent request by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Later yesterday, J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, telephoned Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U. S. District Court that the carriers were dropping an injunction petition which sought an order barring the strike.

Both sides accepted Wirtz's suggestion to resume talks in Washington Nov. 30.

★ ★ ★

The unions, representing 49,000 employes, are the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the Sheet Metal Workers International Association and the International Association of Machinists.

SOME HOPE

A union spokesman said Wirtz was advised in response to his request for a postponement "that for the first time there is some hope of settlement of our dispute."

7 Convicts Tunnel Way to Freedom

WALLA, WALLA, Wash. (AP) —A band of escaped convicts held a Walla Walla couple hostage at knifepoint for several hours today as they fled into Oregon in the couple's car.

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Seven convicts, including three convicted murderers, crawled to freedom through a tunnel last night from their maximum security cell block at the Washington State Penitentiary.

The Washington State Patrol and Oregon State Police set up roadblocks for the seven, all veterans of previous jailbreaks.

Harold Schoesler, a correctional officer at the prison, said the men had dug through a cement floor in the cell block and tunneled about 40 feet to a point outside, "right as close to the wall as they could get."

"They'd probably been at it for six months," Schoesler said. He said he did not know how they got through the cement. Warden Bob Rhay said homemade shovels were found in the tunnel.

★ ★ ★

"The men were not armed when they left, unless possibly they had homemade knives," Schoesler said. "They would have no firearms at any rate. Apparently they left on foot."

DANGEROUS MEN

State patrol dispatcher Willy Johnson described all seven men as dangerous.

The tunnel was discovered

Winter Planning to Remain With Us All Week

After waiting months for autumn to cool things off, winter appears to have become impatient and stepped in early to bring temperatures down in a hurry.

For the next five days, temperatures will average about five degrees below the normal high of 41 and low of 30. It will turn colder Tuesday and Wednesday and remain cold through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures today rose 20 degrees from a low of 20 before 8 this morning to 40 degrees at 1 p.m.

Strikes Settled, Ford Preparing to Roll Again

Starts Calling Back 80,000 to Make Up Lag in Production

DETROIT (AP)—With the last of its local strikes settled, Ford Motor Co. planned to begin turning out automobiles again today.

The first of 80,000 laid off or strike-idled employes returned to assembly plants and manufacturing units as Ford prepared to rejoin the production race on 1965 model cars.

Ford, crippled since Nov. 6 because of what it called parts shortages resulting from United Auto Workers Union walkouts, had lost production ground to its rivals, General Motors and Chrysler.

In what the company called the cumulative effect of the parts shortage, the last assembly line had closed down Friday night.

★ ★ ★

The strike at a key parts plant in Sterling Township, Mich., was disposed of yesterday. Strikers at the 6,500-man plant ratified an agreement reached earlier.

LAST SETTLEMENT

Settlement also were announced at the two Wayne, Mich., assembly plants — last of the nine which went on strike. Their 3,000 employes were called to ratification meetings today.

All nine local plant strikes had been over local agreements to supplement the national Ford-UAW agreement of Sept. 18.

Over the weekend the company sent recall-to-job telegrams to thousands of workers over the country.

★ ★ ★

Company officials said full production and complete recall of all 80,000 men likely would not be possible before Nov. 30.

STAMPING PLANT

The big stamping plant at Chicago Heights, Ill., reopened last night.

★ ★ ★

By authoritative estimates, Ford lost 70,000 units of passenger car production during the strikes. Ford's normal capacity is about 10,000 cars a day.

SALUTE TO YOUTH — Olympic champion Hayes Jones (left) presented his gold medal to the youth of Pontiac at the "Salute to Youth" rally held in Pontiac Northern High School yesterday. Jones won the first place medal in the 110-meter hurdles held at the 1964 World Olympics in Tokyo. Accepting the hard-earned award on behalf of Pontiac's Junior citizens is Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Pontiac Pays Tribute

900 Attend 'Salute to Youth'

Pontiac's junior citizens had their day yesterday as over 900 proud parents, participants and spectators filled Pontiac Northern High School's auditorium in the city's first official "Salute to Youth."

"Salute to our youth," said Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., "is Pontiac's number one project.

"People are often too quick to criticize youngsters instead of praising them for their assets and achievements.

"While we are saluting Pontiac's young people, we want to give their parents a pat on the back. For it is their encouragement and direction that acts to the children's good."

★ ★ ★

Dedicating the program to the memory of John F. Kennedy, Taylor pointed out, "Our late President, idolized by youngsters everywhere, recognized that destiny lies in the hands of the young."

STANDING OVATION

As the spotlight focused on a former Pontiac youth and present Olympic gold medal winner, Hayes Jones, the applause rang out and the entire assemblage rose to their feet in a standing ovation.

"I thank you, all," said Jones. "And I would like to have you meet the two people who gave me the courage and the strength to go on, my mother and my wife."

Following this brief introduction, Jones turned to Mayor Taylor, holding the gold medal he won at the Tokyo Olympics.

"Mr. Taylor," he said, "I am honored to be able to give this medal to you for the youth of Pontiac."

In accepting, Taylor stated that the medal would be displayed in City Hall where it would be kept in trust should Jones ever desire to have it returned.

The 205 youngsters honored during the three-hour ceremony were awarded certificates signed by officials of the sponsoring committee, Pontiac Citizens' Committee on Youth, and lapel pins.

★ ★ ★

Each pin bore the emblem of its winning category. There were 14 categories in all.

Thousands Around Globe Pay Tribute to Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—A cluster of white rosebuds and jasmine lay among hundreds of other floral offerings on a grave in Arlington National Cemetery.

A somber President and Mrs. Johnson, both dressed in black attended a special memorial service in Austin, Tex.

Air Force planes flew over Cape Cod in the missing buddy formation — one position vacant.

In these and many other ways a thoughful nation paused yesterday to remember, and pay tribute, on the first anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

The tragedy that had reached around the world was relived around the world in solemn ceremonies, as hundreds of thousands put aside part of their day for their own private ways of remembering.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy sent a small spray of wildflowers to the grave. They were delivered by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

JACKIE IN SECLUSION

The president's widow remained in seclusion with her two children, Caroline and John Jr., at their weekend Long Island residence.

The mother of the 35th president, Rose Kennedy, attended two Roman Catholic Masses at Hyannis Port, Mass., where the Kennedy family has its summer home.

Sen.-elect Robert F. Kennedy and his sister, Mrs. Sargent Shriver, knelt by the Arlington

TWA Reports Liner Hit a Truck While Trying to Halt Lift-Off

ROME (AP) — A TWA four-jet airliner with 72 persons aboard burst apart in explosions today as it was about to leave Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport at Fiumicino. About 50 persons were reported killed.

Trans World Airlines in New York said the plane hit a truck. Capt. J. E. Frankum, TWA vice president, said the jetliner at the time was trying to abort its takeoff.

Unfortunately, there was a truck in the vicinity of the runway," he added.

Reports of the number of survivors brought to Rome hospitals varied from 20 to 25. Most were reported in grave condition.

★ ★ ★

The TWA office ii Rome said the plane carried 55 passengers and a double crew of 17. Among the passengers were 26 TWA employes and their familes.

CONFLICTING REPORTS

It was TWA Flight 800 from Kansas City, Chicago, New York Paris and Milan to Rome, Ath and Cairo.

There were conflicting reports on the time the explosion occurred.

While some persons said the blast occurred just as the plane lifted off the ground, others said it exploded while on an approach strip just before reaching the runway to begin its takeoff.

★ ★ ★

An airport employe said he noticed a flame from an engine, saw the jet roll another few meters and stop.

DOORS OPENED

He said the doors opened and passengers began jumping out. At that moment, he said, an explosion ripped it to pieces.

According to one version by witnesses, the plane actually was making its takeoff run, lifted a few feet off the runway, then dropped back, while the pilot tried desperately to brake it to a stop.

One wing of the plane was reported to have struck a heavy roller at the edge of the strip, damaging the wing and causing fuel to pour out.

According to this version the fuel ignited and the plane exploded 200 yards farther along.

BLOWN INTO AIR

An airport employe said:

"I heard the blast, turned, and saw people blown into the

Bill Collector 'Big' Success

Advertisers and subscribers to Oakland University's student newspaper are paying their bills with unusual regularity, since Cliff Edwards of 1081 Voorheis, became the student paper's new business manager.

Edwards stands 6 feet 6 inches tall in his stocking feet and weighs 240 pounds, reasons enough to be leery of personal encounters.

A junior majoring in business administration, Edwards is on leave of absence from a plant security job at General Motors Fisher Body Division.

Edwards' success is partly due to his experience. At 34, he has had more experience chasing down delinquent debtors than his predecessors.

He is completing a college education interrupted in 1951 by a prolonged illness. The illness had made him ineligible for an ROTC scholarship he had been receiving.

Chiang Urges Backing

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek has appealed, in an indirect way, for the United States to endorse a counterattack by his people against the Communists on the China mainland.

OU STAFFER — Doorways at Oakland University's student newspaper offices have to be tall to accommodate Cliff Edwards of Pontiac. Edwards, the paper's new business manager, dwarfs diminutive Sheri Jackson of Union Lake, managing editor. Edwards stretches to 6 foot 6, while Miss Jackson barely makes 4 feet 11.

Congo Rebel Stays Execution

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Rebel leader Christophe Gbenye has stayed the execution of American medical missionary Dr. Paul Carlson again but he says the stay will end today.

Central government troops led by white mercenaries resumed their advance on rebel Stanleyville.

They captured the town of Lubutu, about 120 miles southeast of the rebel capital.

In a Stanleyville radio broadcast heard in the Central African Republic, Gbenye added: "We expect results of the first negotiations before 24 hours." Gbenye was speaking of talks in Kenya on the fate of Dr. Carlson and about 1,000 white hostages held by his forces.

★ ★ ★

For Osteopathic Fund

Urge 'Small' Donations

Pontiac's campaign to raise $375,000 to purchase a site for the proposed osteopathic college has reached the home stretch stage thanks to excellent public reaction.

Funds still are needed, however, if the goal is to be met.

With the bulk of the big gifts already in, campaign officials are counting on a host of small contributions to close the gap and bring the drive to a successful conclusion.

Citizens wishing to make contributions or pledges may do so using the accompanying coupon. All checks should be made payable to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

★ ★ ★

The proposed 164-acre site of the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine is bounded on the north by Auburn and by Opdyke on the east.

Planners of the multimillion facility agreed to locate the college in Pontiac if the city would provide the site.

Funds for the site must be obtained by Jan. 5 in order to complete the deal.

Contributions to the college site campaign should be mailed to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the Riker Building, 33 W. Huron.

Any contribution, regardless of the amount, will be appreciated.

Exiles Claim Try to Kill Fidel

MIAMI (UPI)—A spectacular aerial assassination attempt on the life of Fidel Castro was beaten back by antiaircraft guns in Havana over the weekend, a Cuban exile group said today.

★ ★ ★

The alleged attempt was made Friday night when a B26 bomber took off from an undisclosed location in the Caribbean to eliminate Castro as he spoke at a baseball stadium.

But exile sources said the flight was ill-timed, arriving over Havana before Castro reached the stadium. Antiaircraft fire struck the twin-engined, World War II bomber nine times, and a crewman was seriously wounded.

The attack was claimed here by the Revolutionary Insurrectional Recovery Movement (MIRR).

★ ★ ★

Orlando Bosch, secretary of the MIRR, said the aircraft was severely damaged by the ground fire and "made a difficult landing" on returning to its base.

OPERATION NAMED

A MIRR spokesman said the attack was named "Operation John F. Kennedy," and was meant to assassinate Castro, who was "lying to the people."

The exile group said it would continue sacrificing "tears, pain and blood" in an attempt to win back Cuba.

In another development, a top Cuban exile leader predicted yesterday that "1965 will be the year of liberation of Cuba" and Castro will be overthrown next year—maybe even by the Soviet government.

★ ★ ★

Manuel Artime, 32 - year - old leader of the Revolutionary Recovery Movement (RRM), said that the bearded Communist leader is working "desperately" to avoid "elimination" by his Soviet ally.

DENIES CHARGE

Artime came here from his headquarters "somewhere in Central America" to make a personal denial of press reports that his forces were involved in alleged whisky-smuggling operations in Costa Rica.

He said "Communist agents" are trying to spread dissension among Cuban exiles.

Artime, who moved his exile center of operations out of the United States more than a year ago, said he is revising his earlier estimate that it will take one to three years to overthrow the Castro regime, backed by Soviet arms.

★ ★ ★ ★

"There may be five per cent of Cuba's people presently loyal to Castro and the Communists with another 10 per cent 'neutral' . . . but we know at this moment at least 85 per cent of the Cubans are against Castro," he said.

GREAT BLOODSHED

Artime said he realized "there will be great bloodshed and lots of killing and some chaos," in removing communism from Cuba, but added that internal strife apparently is helping soften up the target.

Insurers Ask New System

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross - Blue Shield today asked the State Insurance Department for permission to change their methods of rating subscribers.

The plan would replace the community rating system with a group experience factor — meaning that subscribing groups would pay according to actual usage of their hospital and insurance protection.

★ ★ ★

It will mean reductions and increases — to a maximum of 20 per cent above or below the average in the first year — for about 2.5 million Michigan residents, spokesmen for the community health care plans said.

It will affect 700 of the 15,00 Michigan groups covered, but will not involve a basic rate change, said Blue Cross President William McNary and Dr. Sidney Adler, president of Blue Shield.

STILL AVAILABLE

The Blues will remain available to all, regardless of age or condition of health. The only reasons forcancelation will remain fraud or non - payment, they said.

No group with fewer than 100 contracts will be rated on its own experience, and individual subscribers will be affected even less, they said.

★ ★ ★

About 80 per cent of all Michigan residents are covered by health care plans of some kind —about half of them by the Blues.

The merit rating system has been under study for about a year, they said.

MORE EQUITABLE

The modification of its rating system will result in a redistribution of income for the nonprofit organizations, spokesmen said, and in a more equitable distribution of rates.

THOUSANDS PASS GRAVE — Two long lines of people move steadily toward the picket fence-enclosed grave of John F. Kennedy yesterday in Arlington National Cemetery. Thousands of visitors passed by the grave on the first anniversary of Kennedy's assassination.

In Boston about 3,000 persons, including Patricia Lawford, the late president's sister, and state dignitaries, attnded a memorial Mass celebrated by Richard Cardinal Cushing. He called the slain president one of "God's greatest gifts."

SILENT PRAYER

Tens of thousands stood in silent prayer at New York's Kennedy Airport and in Dallas at the hour of Kennedy's death.

World leaders agains issued declarations of sorrow, as so many of them had exactly one year before.

They came from French President Charles de Gaulle, Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, and Spanish Gen. Francisco Franco, among others.

In Bonn, Mayor Wilhelm Daniels laid a wreath at the John F. Kennedy Bridge across the Rhine River.

BUST UNVEILED

Dutchmen flocked to Amsterdam's Kennedy Avenue to look at a bust of the late president which was unveiled Sunday.

Italians joined Americans in Rome's Santa Susanna, the American Roman Catholic Church, to attend a requiem Mass celebrated by Archbishop Lawrence J. Sheran of Baltimore.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy received a bouquet of red carnations from German students. Two teen-aged Tokyo girls made their monthly pilgrimage to a Kennedy memorial at Yokota Air Base, where they placed carnations, lilies and chrysanthemums.

There were even a few remembrance services behind the Iron Curtain.

The Warsaw popular daily Zycie Warszawy published a tribute to Kennedy.

MAN OF PEACE

In Moscow, the Soviet Communist party paper Pravda praised the late president as a man of peace, and urged President Johnson "to develop the realistic tendencies which were planned in the Kennedy years."

In Washington, more than 30,000 Americans, their lines black against the Virginia hills, climbed the long slopes to the eternal flame that burned above Kennedy's grave.

There were young adults and old, babies in carriages and aged in wheelchairs.

President Johnson's daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, each brought a long-stemmed yellow rose to place beside the wildflowers which the widow had sent. There was a wreath from the President.

LIGHT TORCH

In Los Angeles, a torch was lit at the Memorial Coliseum to burn from the time on the clock when he was shot until sunset. A 74-year-old veteran of two world wars stood in front of his home there at 6 a.m., and raised a flag slowly, with arthritic hands.

"He did more than any other president has done for democracy," said the flag-raiser, Enrique Moreno. "This lives on today.

In San Francisco, hundreds were turned away from a n overflow crowd at St. Edward's Roman Catholic Church, where Mayor John F. Shelley and other top city officials attended a memorial service.

Might Have Saved Him, Jackie Brooded

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the anguished aftermath of the assassination, President John L. Kennedy's young widow was deeply troubled for a time by a thought that she might have saved him.

★ ★ ★

It occurred to her that if she had happened to be looking at her husband when the assassin opened fire, she might have been able to pull him down out of the path of the fatal bullet. He was hit twice, the second bullet taking his life.

Evidently she finally reached the conclusion that this might-have-been could not really have happened, because in telling the Warren Commission about it she employed the past tense "I used to think."

GAVE TESTIMONY

Mrs. Kennedy gave her testimony June 5 at what was then her Georgetown home to Chief Justice Earl Warren and the counsel of the Warren Commission, J. Lee Rankin. The then Atty. Gen. Robert L. Kennedy was present.

The testimony was included in the volumes of evidence on which the Warren Commission made its report Sept. 27. Some of these volumes have just become available to the Associated Press.

★ ★ ★

While several witnesses have spoken of Mrs. Kennedy's remarkable self-control during the tragic Nov. 22 in Dallas, her testimony disclosed how deeply she was shocked. She said, for example, she has no recollection of crawling toward the back of the presidential automobile, as pictures show her doing.

★ ★ ★

"You know, there were pictures later on of me climbing out the back. But I don't remember that at all."

Rankin: "Do you remember Mr. Hill (Secret Service agent Clinton J. Hill) coming to try to help you on the car?"

Mrs. Kennedy:

DON'T REMEMBER

"I don't remember anything. I was just down like that.

"And finally I remember a voice behind me, or something, and then I remember the people in the front seat, or somebody, finally knew something was wrong, and a voice yelling, which must have been Mr. Hill, "Get to the hospital!" or maybe it was Mr. Kellerman (Roy H. Kellerman, Secret Service agent who was riding next to the driver), in the front seat. But someone yelling, I was just down and holding him."

know then the car was very slow and there weren't very many people around.

"You know, there is always noise in a motorcade and there are always motorcycles beside us, a lot of them backfiring. So I was looking to the left. I guess there was a noise, but it didn't seem like any different noise really because there is so much noise, motorcycles and things. But then suddenly Gov. Connally was yelling, 'Oh, no, no, no!'

★ ★ ★

Rankin: "Did he turn toward you?"

Mrs. Kennedy:

"No; I was looking this way, to the left, and I heard these terrible noises, you know. And my husband never made any sound. SO I turned to the right and all I remember is seeing my husband, he had this sort of quizzical look on his face, and his hand was up, it must have been his left hand. And just as I turned and looked at him, I could see a piece of his skull and I remember it was flesh colored. I remember thinking he just looked as if he had a slight headache, and I just remember seeing that. No blood or anything.

FELL IN LAP

"And then he sort of did this (indicating), put his hand to his forehead and fell in my lap.

"And then I just remember falling on him and saying, 'Oh, no, no, no!' I mean, 'Oh my God, they have shot my husband.' And 'I love you, Jack,' I remember I was shouting. And just being down in the car with his head in my lap. And it just seemed an eternity.

★ ★ ★

"You know, there were pictures later on of me climbing out the back. But I don't remember that at all."

Rankin: "Do you remember Mr. Hill (Secret Service agent Clinton J. Hill) coming to try to help you on the car?"

Mrs. Kennedy:

DON'T REMEMBER

"I don't remember anything. I was just down like that.

"And finally I remember a voice behind me, or something, and then I remember the people in the front seat, or somebody, finally knew something was wrong, and a voice yelling, which must have been Mr. Hill, "Get to the hospital!" or maybe it was Mr. Kellerman (Roy H. Kellerman, Secret Service agent who was riding next to the driver), in the front seat. But someone yelling, I was just down and holding him."

ESSENTIAL PORTIONS

Essential portions of Mrs. Kennedy's statement, after she described the beginning of the motorcade in Dallas:

Mrs. Kennedy: "Mrs. Connally, wife of Gov. John B. Connally of Texas," said, 'We will soon be there.' We could see a tunnel in front of us. Everything was really slow then. And I remembered thinking it would be so cool under that tunnel."

★ ★ ★

The car moved toward the overpass.

"That is when she (Mrs. Connally) said to President Kennedy, 'You certainly can't say that the people of Dallas haven't given you a nice welcome.'

VERY SLOW

"I think he said — I don't know if I remember it or if I have read it — 'No, you certainly can't,' or something. And you

Toll of Hunters in State Is 25

Seven Days Are Left in Michigan Season

HOUGHTON (AP) — A deer hunter missing since Friday in frigid, snow-choked Upper Peninsula woods was reported today by state police to have found his way out. They said he was suffering frostbite and had been taken to a hospital.

By The Associated Press

Michigan's deer hunting season pushed into its final seven days today with a total of 25 hunters dead.

Eight victims, including a father shot and killed accidentally by his son, a hunting companion, lost their lives from fire.

★ ★ ★

The others died of heart attacks.

The weekend's snow storm, a prewinter fall that for its extent and depth was earlier than usual, favored hunters with help in tracking deer.

HUNTERS HOME

On the other hand, the accompanying sudden cold blast also was reported responsible for keeping many would - be hunters out of the woods.

The severe conditions moderated on Sunday with temperatures rising.

★ ★ ★

State police said sheriff's men, along with conservation officers and volunteers, sought vainly on the weekend for Robert Fisher, 33, lost Grand Rapids hunter. Fisher has been unreported since Friday in the Upper Peninsula.

Two hunters, Jacob Folkersma, 49, of Rudyard and Foster Smith, 20, of Jackson, were shot and killed by accidental gunfire on the weekend.

RUNNING DEER

The Chippewa County sheriff's office said Folkersma was shot by his son, Arnold, 17, as the two were firing at a deer that ran between them while they hunted north of Rudyard.

The father and son were about 125 yards apart, sheriff's men said. A snow squall was in progress at the time.

★ ★ ★

Smith was shot by another hunter in Maple Ridge Township of Alpena County.

The other hunter was being held for investigation. The Alpena County sheriff's office said a manslaughter warrant may be issued.

★ ★ ★

Harold Gerlach, 42, of Stanton died of a heart attack while hunting three miles northwest of Stanton.

EMPLOYES STUNNED

Employes of airlines at the airport were stunned.

"It's the worst accident we ever had here," one said.

An employe working in an office less than 200 yards from the plane said:

"I rushed to the window as soon as I heard the blast. All I could see was flames.

When the papers come out Wednesday, it will be their first appearance on the streets and subscribers' doorsteps since last July 13.

Birmingham Area News

Traffic Survey Shows No Footbridge Needed

BIRMINGHAM — The Baldwin-Maple intersection is not a particularly hazardous one, is used by few children and probably could not be improved by the installation of more traffic safety devices.

These are the findings resulting from a study the City Commission authorized in June to determine whether a pedestrian bridge should be built under that carrying traffic across the River Rouge.

Recommendations will be presented to the commission tonight.

The footbridge had been suggested as a means of protecting children on their way to and from Holy Name School.

★ ★ ★

Results of a police department traffic survey Nov. 9 were surprising, according to City Manager L. R. Gare.

'SURPRISED US'

"The pedestrian crossing count also surprised us," he noted. "We found that no school-children crossed Maple until after 3 p. m. on Nov. 9."

The next day police learned pedestrian traffic after 3 p. m. consisted of five high school students and two from Holy Name.

Gare has joined traffic engineer J. J. Dobelek of Detroit in recommending that the footbridge not be constructed but that some trees and shrubs be removed from the north side of Maple east of Baldwin to improve visibility.

★ ★ ★

Noting that pedestrian use of the intersection does not warrant increased traffic controls, Gare also said that the footbridge would be unusuable one month a year because of high water.

ATTRACTIVE PLACE

"It would be an attractive place for the children to play and the possibility of falling or being pushed into the water would be present," he said.

★ ★ ★

"It should also be remembered that sex deviates occasionally create problems when they find an isolated area such as this," he added.

With the onset of colder weather, the Birmingham Recreation Department has moved up to Wednesday the opening date for the municipal ice rink at Eton Park.

★ ★ ★

The department originally had scheduled the opening for Thanksgiving. However, if the weather holds the hours for open skating Wednesday will be 4-6 p. m. and 7-9 p. m.

7 Convicts on the Loose

between 9:30 and 10 p.m. The men had last been seen at dinner about 6 p.m.

Rhay said the tunnel was just big enough for the men to squeeze through.

IN FOR MURDER

Maseros was serving a life term for first-degree murder in the slaying of a service station attendant during a holdup in Seattle in 1961. Thomas was serving life for second-degree murder in a jealousy shooting at Auburn, Wash., in 1963. Wallen was serving a life term for murder from Spokane, Wash.

St. Peter, Thomas and Loux participated in a daring break from the King County Jail in Seattle in 1961. They were among eight prisoners who lowered themselves out a 10th-floor cell on a rope made of sheets.

One fell to his death. Seven reached the ninth floor, made their way out of the building and were captured. St. Peter was sentenced as an habitual criminal and Loux for auto theft.

★ ★ ★

Barrett is an ex-wrestler whose left arm was amputated at the elbow after a guard winged him with a rifle as he was attempting to escape over the wall of the prison in January 1963. He was sentenced in 1962 for second-degree burglary, the latest in a string of convictions which have kept him in jail for more time than he has been out of it.

MADE ESCAPE

Mullenix, serving time for armed robbery, escaped from the Grant County jail in Ephrata, Wash., in February 1963.

Nab Suspects in Theft Try in Birmingham

Birmingham police are holding three suspects and seeking two more in an attempted larceny from Roberts Furs yesterday afternoon.

Three men, who refused to give police their names, were caught yesterday at a roadblock manned by Southfield police in Beverly Hills.

Still at large are two men last seen in a black 1964 Ford bearing Michigan license plate YR 8456.

Police said five men were caught in the act of stealing fur coats from the establishment at 550 N. Woodward shortly before 5 p.m. yesterday.

★ ★ ★

They were seen and chased on foot by the owner of the adjacent building, Gerald's Beauty Shop. The would-be thiefs, police said, had pryed open the beauty shop door and smashed a hole in the wall separating the two businesses.

CHASED MEN

The owner of the shop chased the men until they got into a car with an Illinois license plate. He then notified police.

★ ★ ★

The three men taken into custody were caught on Kenmoway Court, after they had jumped out of a stolen car at Pleasant and Northlawn. Four shots fired by police hit the vehicle, police said.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Should City Name Committee to Study Financial Situation?

Pontiac's City Commission must have more money to run the City.

There's no alternative.

The only question is:

How?

★ ★ ★

The Commission studied the situation and came up with an income tax as the best answer. Since then, the plan has been the target of citizens within the walls and without. Some living outside say:

"Since I don't live in Pontiac, why should I pay half a share?"

Those working at the next desk and living within the corporate limits are saying:

"Why should I pay twice as much as my fellow employe when he earns the same amount at the same job, ten feet away?"

And others merely say:

"We oppose an income tax, anyway." Always — yes, always — there will be opposition for any tax that's proposed anywhere.

And there we stand.

★ ★ ★

Still, the inescapable fact is:

"Pontiac needs more money."

The City has been handicapped ever since the 15 mill limitation was passed more than a quarter of a century ago. The matter seems to resolve into this question:

"Shall we add an income tax; or shall we raise the mill limitation and add to the property tax?" The city is now absolutely hamstrung and handicapped beyond all reasonable limits through this millage limitation.

★ ★ ★

The current Commission had nothing to do with the shortage of income. Times have simply moved onward, with the city firmly anchored in the mud. It has been an unhealthy condition and the previous commission refused to step up to the facts and face the problem. Several years ago we accumulated an overage, but this was eventually dissipated. It had to be. There was no other answer and the last commission — (one of the weakest in all Pontiac history) — simply avoided the unhappy facts and hid in the bushes.

★ ★ ★

The current Commission is vastly stronger and proposes to face the issue. Costs have gone up everywhere on everything. It's inescapable in civic financing as well as in other matters.

What to do?

Apparently, it's a millage increase or an income tax. The current state regulations on the income tax are anything but encouraging. Here at The Press we believe they're very badly drawn. This isn't the fault of the City Commission but it doesn't improve the deficiencies in the setup.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the City Commission should name a study commission of outstanding citizens to pursue the subject in detail and come up with a recommendation. This is what the Board of Education did with gratifying results.

At The Press, we believe in the City Commission. We realize it faces a tough, rough job. It was inherited. Nothing that the members did — or failed to do — brought it about.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the commission is doing exactly the right thing. Perhaps it would have had more chance had it sought a vote to raise the millage. Would an appointed committee of leading and outstanding citizens studying the whole question and submitting recommendations to the electorate help clarify the atmosphere?

What do YOU think?

Excellent Coverage . . . .

A comment on the Warren report says:

★ ★ ★

"Within 48 hours, the print and electronic media reported the Dallas story so accurately that the Warren Commission, in ten months and with unlimited resources, did not alter the basic outline of what the Press had reported."

★ ★ ★

Under the direct pressure imaginable and facing the utmost urgency for speed, the newspaper and TV men covered one of the biggest stories of our times and fulfilled their mission with incredible speed and accuracy.

This is world reporting today.

You can bank on the AP and UPI.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

It's easy to understand DANNY KAYE's autumn dive from near the top to 75th place if you saw the last few dismal shows . . . . . Government officials find prices are hiked about $2.50 on every $100 worth of goods in stores that issue trading stamps. Hence, the Federal Trade Commission is issuing an edict forbidding claims that "trading stamps are free." . . . . . Rumor says TV's "Outer Limits," "The Reporter," "Mr. Broadway" and "Mickey" are dangling by slender threads. "Dick Van Dyke," "Andy Griffith" and "Gomer Pyle" are clicking big . . . . . An Encyclopedia editorial board agreed the "most important step in 1964 was the disgraceful fact all barriers came down in obscene literature." (And there's a new book about to hit the stalls that outdoes everything we've seen).

Trusted scouts recommend SUSAN MCGEEN as one of the area's attractive young ladies . . . . . "JUST What IS Your View Of NATO, General?"

David Lawrence Says:

Base Closings Raise Questions

WASHINGTON — Decisions on all expenditures for the defense of the United States are, theoretically at least, not to be influenced by politicians seeking to curry favor in their communities.

LAWRENCE

Tax payers' money is supposed to be spent for strictly military purposes and not to gain votes in electing congressmen or senators to office.

Yet the howl that has gone up from various parts of the land because of the closing of certain military bases—causing, of course, some unemployment — is a dramatic example of the misconceptions that prevail today concerning the use of public funds.

Senators and representatives of both parties whose constituencies will be affected are protesting loudly and demanding reexamination, if not reversal, of the orders issued.

★ ★ ★

As a matter of fact, the actual number of persons involved in the unemployment resulting from the closing of the bases announced last week is not large. The hardships, to be sure, will be severe for the few who are affected.

10 PER CENT

Out of a total of 6,700 installations of the Defense Department in January 1961, Secretary McNamara has closed or curtailed only 669, which is 10 per cent of the total.

Similarly, out of the total of approximately 3,721,000 persons employed in the armed services, both military and civilian, a very small number —less than 4 per cent — has been affected by all the cancellations.

Although there will be commendation for Secretary McNamara's willingness to take the responsibility for the closing of bases which he announced last week, many questions will be asked as to why the installations were not discontinued earlier.

Even more pertinent is why the electorate has been led to believe that the continuance of certain military installations is related to politics.

Nothing has been said as yet as to what will be done with the billion dollars that is to be saved by Secretary McNamara when the shutdown of bases is completed. But it is already apparent that the money will be used elsewhere in the defense establishment.

Thus, in October 1963, the personnel in the military services got a $1-billion pay raise, and in October 1964 they received another $208 million in pay increases.

The secretary plans to ask for $250 million more in pay for the military this year. So all of this so-called savings will be offset by new expenditures.

★ ★ ★

It is a salutary development, of course, to have the people told that their Defense Department really thinks in terms of efficiency and not of waste or political preferment.

But there is a lot more proof needed before a convincing case will be made that public funds are not being used for political purposes.

Too much of the people's money already has been spent to gain the support needed in particular states to win elections.

With the short skirts, half the world can easily see if the other half has a leg to stand on.

Bob Considine Says:

Knockout Over Tariffs May Occur in JFK Round

GENEVA — I always thought the Kennedy round was the one in which he knocked out Dick Nixon. But it's an involved and gingerly attempt to alter and improve the economy of a great portion of the world by wholesale reduction of jealously defended tariffs.

If it survives the haggling now being waged here by economists in striped pants, it will be the "historic moment," as Eric Wyndham White, executive secretary of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, predicts.

CONSIDINE

It would also add further definition to the image of John Fitzgerald Kennedy as a young president who initiated or gave his name to an extraordinary number of changes affecting his own and foreign lands.

This is an oversimplification, but the idea behind the Kennedy round is to persuade the 60 big and little nations which belong to GATT to quit stabbing one another's products in the back, let as many as feasible cross borders with half their tariff burdens lifted.

★ ★ ★

It is called the Kennedy round because five concessions of the original GATT pact have already been achieved and this is the sixth, the final, and by odds the toughest to find accord.

DILLON ROUND

The fifth concession was called the Dillon round, after the unsinkable secretary of state. It enabled the nations to haggle item by item over tariffs.

After three laborious years of such dealings there now has been achieved an average 8 per cent reduction on the border bounties charge on about 20 per cent of the goods the U.S. imports.

That's peanuts compared to what the Kennedy round might bring.

It proposes 50 per cent slashes right across the board unless a member nation can show cause that if it lets in other nations' widgets at half the customary tariff then its own widget industry will go to pot and its widget workers will be dumped on the dole.

What it could mean to the average American is that he could buy a lot of foreign things —ranging from British atomic reactors to Japanese transistor radios—for a noticeably cheaper price.

Voice of the People:

Pontiac Police Opposed Changing Traffic Light

I received a courteous and helpful letter from Inspector William K. Hanger, acting chief of the Pontiac police department, in response to my recent letter regarding the traffic light on Huron street. He informs me the state highway department has complete control of this light and all others on state trunk lines. Anyone interested in this problem should direct appeals to the department.

★ ★ ★

Chief Hanger objected to the change of signal operations on weekends on the same grounds I listed in my letter. He has been in contact with the district office and has formally requested that the light be returned to its former continuous operating status.

★ ★ ★

It is heartening to know we have the backing of the Pontiac police department in this matter.

'Republican Party Was Destined to Lose'

'Children Are Buying Newsstand Filth'

In regard to the letter of November 19 on no filth on the newsstands, I can appreciate the fact that this family is in no danger as far as pornographic literature is concerned. The fact still remains that this filth is on the newsstands and boys and girls are spending millions of dollars for its publication.

Anyone who says there is no such literature comes under the category of "They have eyes and they see not. They have ears and they hear not."

'Christmas Season Continues to Grow'

Starting the Christmas holidays the first part of November is the best thing that has happened. How could we celebrate Christmas in a mere twelve days? It was nice when we could get in the spirit as early as Thanksgiving, but now we don't even have to wait that long. Maybe in a few years the Christmas season will overtake Labor day.

I have taught my family that one was never too busy or too upset emotionally to be polite. There is no excuse for rudeness. Lately I have felt I should "eat my words." I have received 24 telephone calls advertising various things. I have listened politely while I dripped water, had things boil over on the stove, kept guests waiting and held up bridge games. I'm through. I'm done. I'm sick of it.

Any advertising representative that calls me to the telephone will be put on a list called "never to buy from." So, if I say politely "no thank you, but may I have the name of the company again please," it's for my records.

Johnson Elected

The Japan Times Weekly

President Lyndon B. Johnson's victory in the United States Presidential election would seem to show that the American people were less sharply divided on the issues than had been supposed. Mr. Johnson will retain his high office on the basis of a powerful margin of popular votes.

Now that Mr. Johnson in due course will be an elected President, there is no reason to suppose that his policies will be materially different from those followed during his period of power since the assination of President Kennedy elevated him from the Vice Presidency to the White House.

Mr. Johnson's foreign and domestic policies were calculated to keep the United States in step with developments in the rest of the world — developments which are generally regarded as constituting forward steps in the onward march of humanity.

Senator Goldwater's ideas were considerably different. We are still at a loss to know what he would have proposed to do if he had been elected. But he gave much prominence in his speeches to state and individual rights and made no secret of his belief that the federal system had been abused.

No doubt there are a good many Americans who feel that the Federal Government does press heavily on the individual and the local community but this pressure of the central government is today a feature of political life in all countries.

There has been obviously no rising tide of dissatisfaction, however, that would warrant the belief that a withdrawal into the isolation and self-sufficiency of the American past could be possible or desirable in these days. Yet it seems that Senator Goldwater had some such ambition. How far he wished to set the clock back we do not know but it is obvious that the American people wish to press forward, not to retrace their steps.

★ ★ ★

While saying this, we may add the thought that this election has served to clear the air in certain respects. That national considerations must come first, and local ones put in second place, may be regarded as definitely decided; but wherever possible we may expect the Federal Government to respect wisely directed opinion in various regions of the country. But it is manifest that such a question as that of Civil Rights, for example, must be solved on a national level and from a national standpoint.

Outside the United States, we believe the result of the election will be received with widespread satisfaction. Reasonable foreign aid to the developing countries will be continued, the defense of the Free World upheld. Anglo-American cooperation assured, and the close friendship and economic partnership between the United States and Japan preserved and even allowed to grow greater.

Although Over-All Average Up Since 1900

Life Span Not Much Better for Those Over 40

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON — While the average life expectancy of Americans has increased to about 70 in this century, people who reach 40 are not much better off than their counterparts of 1900, a panel of heart specialists said today.

★ ★ ★

The reason: Chronic diseases, such as heart disease and cancer, which strike most frequently among the middle-aged and the elderly, "persist today largely unabated."

★ ★ ★

A committee report submitted to the Second National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases said that since 1900 approximately 25 years have been added to the life span of newborn Americans because of such factors as the conquest of many infectious diseases.

"Life span has gone up from about 45 years in 1900 as an average figure to almost 70 years today," it said.

LIFE EXPECTANCY

It added: "When one poses the additional question, what is the life expectancy today of a person aged 40, compared with a person aged 40 in 1900, then one finds the improvement in life expectancy for persons of this age discouragingly slim—particularly for the males, most particularly for the white males."

The report continued: "For women, almost eight years have been added to life expectancy at age 40, compared to 1900. For the men, only four years have (been) added. Progress has really been slight in this area.

★ ★ ★

"Adult males cannot expect to live much longer today than their counterparts could in 1900."

The report was prepared by a conference committee assigned to assess "community services" that have become available during the past 15 years for coping with atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries responsible for most heart attacks.

'UNMET NEEDS'

The committee, headed by Dr. Jeremiah Stamler of Chicago's Board of Health, is one of several divisional committees and subcommittees assigned to survey progress and "unmet needs" in the treatment, diagnosis, prevention and rehabilitation of all forms of heart disease.

The conference as a whole is expected to propose measures for action by federal, state and local governments, as well as by voluntary health agencies, the medical profession and the general public.

Stamler's committee reported: "In contrast to the advances made against infectious diseases and malnutrition, the chronic diseases, which also existed in 1900, persist today largely unabated. Moreover, they have emerged as much more important problems, both relatively and absolutely."

The panelists said prospective epidemiological studies indicate that the average middle-aged man—if found to be free of coronary heart disease upon clinical examination — has about one chance in five of developing it before age 60 or 65, and about one chance in 15 of dying of it.

RISK FACTORS

The report said there are various risk factors for developing coronary heart disease in middle age — including obesity, "heart strain patterns," a family history of diabetes, and "heavy cigarette smoking."

It added: "Men free of all . . . (such) . . . defects, the lowest-risk men, have only about 1 chance in 30 or 40 or 50 of developing clinical coronary heart disease before age 60 or 65.

★ ★ ★

"In marked contrast, men with two or three or more of . . . (such) . . . abnormalities have one chance in two, two chances in three, three chances in four or worse."

Have you priced a tiger lately?

Take the GTO, for instance. The greatest tiger of them all. Even real tigers cower when this baby speaks. It loads 335 horses under that hood. Plus bucket seats. Carpeting. Real walnut dash. And like that. Yet it sells for less than a lot of pussycats with imitation stripes. And of course the GTO's optional 360-hp engine puts it so far out in front of the pack that it gets kind of lonesome. Then there's the LeMans. Same kind of pizzazz. Same kind of crackle. Only with slightly smaller teeth. But don't worry. It can still handle the pussycats. If you haven't priced a tiger lately, you'd better. Now.

Pontiac May Get Federal Youth Corps Program

Pontiac is among four Michigan communities that may have a Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) program, part of the federal war on poverty.

Morris Riger, acting regional director of the U. S. Labor Department's NYC, said four proposals — Pontiac, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Detroit — are being reviewed.

★ ★ ★

If established, the NYC program calls for part-time employment in public or private nonprofit institutions for disadvantaged youths age 16-21.

Object is to provide financial aid so students can stay in school, or obtain work experience to find full-time employment.

Barber 'Swings In' on His Customers

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Dick Gordon, injured in a car-motorcycle accident, won't be able to walk for many months, but he is back at his barber shop cutting hair, thanks to an ingenious mechanical contraption.

His brother Don, a body and fender worker, designed a swinging stool attached to the barber chair and a swinging leg rest for Gordon, whose left leg was broken and right hip fractured. With it he is able to give a haircut, answer the telephone, reach his tools and tonics and punch the cash register.

Dems Support Tax Committee

Group Commended for Its 'Civic Efforts'

The Pontiac Democratic Club voted "full support" yesterday to the newly formed Citizens Committee on Taxation.

The tax committee was formed to study city finances and campaign for a referendum on Pontiac's income tax ordinance.

The Democratic group also commended the tax committee for its "civic efforts."

Added to the taxation committee were Robert Jackson, chairman of the 19th Congressional Democratic District, and State Rep. Arthur J. Law, as a consultant.

The citizen's committee reported today that 2,700 signatures had been secured so far in the drive to force a referendum on the tax.

Man Injured

Teens Jailed After Fight

Three teen-agers are being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of felonious assault following a fight early today off Auburn Road near the Country Kitchen Restaurant at 2041 Auburn in Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Held are Robert Blackledge, 19, 142 Merrimac; and Michael A. Bartley, 17, 2094 Windy Hill, and David R. Marchewka, 17, 249 Robin Creek, both of Pontiac Township.

In fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with head wounds is Robert Paramo, 21, of 204 Franklin. Two other youths, deputies said, were involved in the fight. They are David Cantral, 20, who listed indicated, according to sheriff's his address as 20979 Dewey, and Patrick Allen, who listed his address as 7 Short.

Preliminary investigation has indicated, according to sheriff's deputies, that the six got into an argument at the restaurant.

★ ★ ★

Following the argument the two groups got into two separate cars and drove down Auburn to a point where the fight started.

USES TIRE IRON

Paramo told deputies that one of the trio — either Blackledge, Bartley or Marchewka, attacked him with a tire iron. Cantral was believed to have been assaulted with a wrench, deputies said.

When deputies arrested the trio they found two tire irons, a wrench and a homemade "blackjack" in the car.

Investigation is still under way by deputies.

Estes Faces Jail at Hearing Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, accused of violating a $10,000 bond, is under subpoena to appear before U.S. Dist. judge Sarah T. Hughes today.

Estes, the former farm tycoon, is under indictment here on charges of making false financial statements to the Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation.

★ ★ ★

In asking the subpoena, U.S. Dist. Atty. Barefoot Sanders said Estes has violated repeatedly conditions of the bond by leaving the boundaries set by the 100 counties in the northern district of Texas.

Offer $25,000 for Information About Key Nazi

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The price on Martin Bormann's head is $25,000.

West German authorities have promised that reward for information leading to the arrest of Bormann, one of Adolph Hitler's top lieutenants during the Nazi regime.

Bormann disappeared at the end of World War II. He subsequently was sentenced to death in absentia by the Nuremberg War Crimes Tribunal.

Although Bormann was reported killed in Berlin street fighting in the closing days of the war, and was declared legally dead by a German court in 1954, there have been recurrent rumors that he is alive, hiding out in exile, possibly South America. If alive today, he would be 64.

Specialist Cites Huge Heart Work Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you live to be 70, your one-pound heart will have chalked up a lifetime job equivalent to carrying a 10-ton load 10 miles.

That was the illustration given Sunday by one of the nation's top heart specialists in describing the "fantastic amount of work" done by the human heart —and the difficulties in trying to develop an artificial robot heart to duplicate it, even temporarily.

★ ★ ★

Dr. E. Cowles Andrus, professor emeritus of Johns Hopkins University Medical School, told a news conference he believes a crude artificial heart could be developed in several years.

But he said a robot heart useful in treating cardiac disease shapes up as achievable only "in the more distant future."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Andrus is director of the second national conference on cardiovascular diseases which opened Sunday under the joint sponsorship of the American Heart Association and agencies of the U.S. Public Health Service.

He said the mechanical heart-lung machines developed in recent years are very valuable. But he declared they constitute artificial hearts only in a limited sense in that they provide only a "bypass" that does not handle the entire circulation."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says the amount of radioactive strontium 90 detected in milk continued to decline in August.

The August national average was 22 picocuries per liter of milk daily, compared with 26 in July and 30 in May and June. A picocurie is one millionth of one millionth of the radioactivity from one gram of radium. The Federal Radiation Council has established an intake of 200 picocuries a day, averaged over a year, as an acceptable health hazard.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the health service said the strontium 90 fallout effect of Communist China's nuclear test would not be detected in monthly milk reports for several months.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., says the proposed multilateral nuclear force of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "is a reversal of the trend toward peace and arms reduction set in motion by the nuclear test-ban treaty in 1963."

★ ★ ★

McGovern said in a statement Sunday he is inclined to view the proposed mixed sea force as impractical. At best, he said, it will require at least a year of careful study by Congress before a worthwhile judgment can be made.

McGovern said in his statement that the multilateral force "could disrupt the Geneva arms negotiations, reverse the progress we have made toward better relations with the Soviet Union, encourage militarism and alienate our historic French ally."

ATTENTION MEN UNDER AGE 25

Sentry reports good news (at last) about car insurance for young men—married or single—who qualify.

If you're under 25, you know what a big extra premium you pay for car insurance. Now, Sentry Insurance offers a 15% discount for young men who qualify. (This is in addition to Sentry's 15% discount for driver education.)

HOW TO QUALIFY

Young men under 25 qualify for the Sentry Preferred Young Driver Discount on the basis of a simple questionnaire that takes only about 20 minutes. It is not a test of driving skill or knowledge. It is completely confidential. There is no penalty for young men who do not qualify for the extra discount. Come to the center listed below to find out what this can mean to you!

News of Area Service Personnel

David C. Oesehger, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Oesehger of 1091 Heights, Orion Township, was recently promoted to warrant office W-1 in ceremonies at the Coast Guard Training center at Groton, Conn.

Oesehger, an electronics technician, has been in the service nine years. He is presently stationed at the training center where he is studying advanced electronics.

Four area servicemen recently sailed from the East Coast to take part in operation "Steel Pike" in Spain. The combat training exercise was the largest amphibious operation conducted in the Atlantic since World War II.

In the practice landing, 28,000 Marines of the Second Marine Division, Second Marine Aircraft Wing and Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, along with a battalion of Spanish Marines took part in a mock assault on beaches in southern Spain from landing craft and helicopters.

The combined Marine landing force was carried and protected by a U.S.-Spanish fleet of 94 vessels, including ships of the United States' Military Sea Transport Service and chartered ships of the U.S. merchant fleet.

Most of the U. S. units taking part in "Steel Pike" will return to the United States during the first week in December.

● Marine Sgt. Darwin H. Lewis, member of Marine Observation Squadron One, normally based at the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, Jacksonville, N. C., participated in the exercise.

He is the son of Mrs. E. M. Lewis of 59 Monroe.

★ ★ ★

● Another was J. D. Duvall, hospitalman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Duvall of 1952 Warwick.

Duvall is a member of the First Battalion, Second Marine Regiment, Second Marine Division, normally based at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

● A member of the First Battalion, 10th Marine Regiment, Second Marine Division, normally based at Camp Lejeune, was also there.

He is Marine Pfc. Leonard M. Hardiman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Hardiman of 101 Jackson.

● Concluding the list is Marine Pvt. Larry L. Wormnest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Wormnest of 248 Briscoe, Waterford Township.

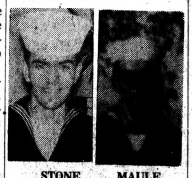
He is a member of the Second Battalion, Eighth Marine Regiment, Second Marine Division, which is normally based at Camp Lejeune.

Recently promoted Musician 2.C. Eugene E. Stone received a campaign medal and ribbon for being part of the task force participating in Viet Nam action this month.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Glyn D. Stone of 302 S. Sanford is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School.

He is currently serving aboard the USS Kearsarge, an antisubmarine warfare carrier, cruising in the South China sea and the Bay of Tonkin.

He is on his second seven-month cruise with the Seventh Fleet Band 187.



STONE

MAULE

William H. Maule, son of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Maule of 3365 Bathurst, Avon Township, was recently home on leave.

Currently stationed at the Destroyer and Submarine Pier, Norfolk, Va., Maule is a former student at Avondale High School.

He completed his basic training at Great Lakes after enlisting March 27, 1963.

★ ★ ★

A member of the Air Force Academy freshman class that recently joined the cadet wing upon completion of basic cadet training is Cadet Eric P. Wentzel.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wentzel of 7823 Buckthorn, West Bloomfield Township, he is a member of the class of 1968. His four years of study at the academy will lead to a bachelor of science degree and a regular Air Force commission as a second lieutenant.

The cadet is a graduate of Walled Lake High School.

'YOUNGEST MAN' — Former Vice President John Nance Garner, shown looking over his huge birthday cake, claimed he was the youngest man at the celebration yesterday honoring him on his 96th birthday. Some 250 friends from around Uvalde, Tex., helped him eat the king-sized cake, which carried an eagle and the six flags that have flown over Texas.

Plentiful Harvest Reflected in '64 Thanksgiving Menu

Turkey Halves Are Economical Buy

Most half turkey roasts weigh from 7 to 12 pounds and make from 15 to 25 servings. A front quarter — largely white meat—may weigh 4½ to 7 pounds, while a rear quarter — mostly dark meat — may weigh 3½ to 6 pounds.

★ ★ ★

There is economy in such a purchase, reminds USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. Generally, larger birds are priced slightly lower per pound than smaller birds and have a greater proportion of meat on the bone.

★ ★ ★

Part-turkeys can be roasted, stuffed or not, just like whole birds. Heavy paper covering the cut side will help keep in stuffing and juices.

Raisin Bread for Dressing

Turkey takes on new importance with a savory sausage stuffing made from raisin bread. A few extra raisins, crisp celery, onion and thyme add special flavor to the mixture.

Raisin Bread Stuffing

1 (15-ounce) loaf sliced raisin bread
1 pound pork sausage
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
⅜ cup dark seedless raisins
1 teaspoon thyme
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Toast bread and cut into small cubes. Brown sausage, stirring occasionally to break up meat. Drain off and reserve drippings. Combine sausage with bread.

Saute onion, celery and raisins in ½ cup drippings (if less than this amount remains, add butter or margarine to make ½ cup). Add thyme, salt and pepper. Mix lightly with bread and sausage.

Makes about 2 quarts, enough for 15 to 18 pound turkey.

RAISIN BREAD STUFFING

Little Tarts Topped With Cutouts

Spices, tangy orange juice and pumpkin blend together to make Orange Pumpkin Tarts a dessert everyone will relish. Small, tender pastry shells filled with tangy pumpkin are sure to add the "just-right" finishing touch to your Thanksgiving dinner.

Add special interest to Orange-Pumpkin Tarts by placing a clever cutout on top of the filling. Roll out the pie crust dough and cut a pastry turkey or pumpkin.

If you don't have a cookie cutter the right shape, use a cardboard pattern. Place it on the rolled pastry dough, and trace around it with a sharp knife.

Bake the pastry cutouts on a greased baking sheet. Then, place them on the pumpkin filling before serving.

Orange-Pumpkin Filling

⅔ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup cooked pumpkin
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup hot milk
½ cup chopped nuts

Mix sugar, salt, spices and pumpkin. Combine orange rind, orange juice, eggs, milk and nuts and add to pumpkin mixture, blending well. Pour into unbaked pastry shells. Makes 8 tarts.

How Much to Buy?

A 12- to 13-pound turkey that is already stuffed and a 4-pound boneless young turkey roast will supply about the same amount of meat to serve; or enough for 12 to 16 persons.

Here's how to figure the amount to buy: Plan on 1½ pounds of ready-to-stuff turkey, 1½ to 2 pounds of stuffed turkey, or ½ pound of boneless turkey roast per person.

1964 Thanksgiving Turkey Is Simple to Prepare

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

This is one week in the year when menus throughout the country are almost standardized —turkey with all the trimmings.

Each year it is easier to prepare Thanksgiving dinner. You have your choice of any size bird from five pounds up. You may buy a boneless turkey roll. In some stores you can find cut up turkey.

And if you want the least amount of work, you can buy a ready stuffed turkey.

Directions for the ready stuffed turkey are in the wrapper. They are usually put into the oven while still frozen. Just make sure that you read and follow the instructions.

Boneless turkeys and turkey rolls also carry special instructions which you should heed.

For all other turkeys: preheat oven to 325 degrees. Wash and pat the bird dry. Rub cavity with salt. Spoon dressing into body and neck cavities; do not pack.

Twist wing tips onto the back. Cross drumsticks and tie to tail with soft string. This keeps stuffing in place. Bake extra stuffing in a foil-lined casserole.

Place bird on rack in shallow pan. Brush all over with soft shortening. Place large piece of foil over bird, tucking down around sides. This keeps bird moist, prevents over-browning and eliminates basting.

Follow roasting chart below. Remove foil 30 minutes before end of roasting for browning, if desired.

Lift turkey onto warm platter and let stand about 30 minutes before serving so that juices stop running and carving is easier.

TURKEY ROASTING CHART

Approximate Time
325 degrees

Weight	Time
6-8 lbs.	2-2½ hrs.
8-12 lbs.	2½-3 hrs.
12-16 lbs.	3-3½ hrs.
16-20 lbs.	3¾-4½ hrs.
20-24 lbs.	4½-5½ hrs.

Use a meat thermometer, inserted in center of inside thigh muscle if you want to be sure turkey is done as you like it.

Fowl is done when leg moves easily at joint and drumstick meat is soft to finger pressure. Thermometer should measure 185 degrees. Roasting times above are only approximate.

We like dressing made with toasted bread cubes. Here is a basic recipe.

Basic Stuffing

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
4 cups chopped celery
4 quarts toasted bread cubes (2 1-lb. loaves)
3 teaspoons poultry seasoning
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup water or broth from giblets.

Toast bread cubes in oven. Saute onions and celery in butter or margarine until onions are transparent. Add bread cubes and seasonings; mix well. Add liquid; mix lightly until slightly moistened.

This is enough for a 10-14 pound turkey. One package prepared stuffing mix may be substituted for 1 pound of bread.

ORANGE PUMPKIN TARTS

Relish Tray Takes Place of Salad

Instead of a green salad, a tempting relish tray can do the midcourse honors at the Thanksgiving feast. Of course, the star of the tray will be individual cranberry molds made with canned or fresh cranberries, crushed pineapple, diced celery, real mayonnaise and unflavored gelatin.

Cranberry Relish Molds

One envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water or pineapple syrup
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 can (1 pound) whole cranberry sauce
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
¼ cup finely diced celery

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat. Gradually stir into mayonnaise; add sugar, salt, allspice and lemon juice.

Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in cranberry sauce, pineapple and celery. Turn into 4-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Individual molds may be served on chilled pineapple slices. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Two cups fresh cranberries may be used instead of canned sauce. Put fresh cranberries through food chopper. Increase sugar to ½ cup; sprinkle over chopped cranberries. Let stand 10 minutes. Proceed as with canned sauce.

Brazil Nut Stuffed Celery

Two 3-ounce packages cream cheese
¼ cup commercial sour cream
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts
3-inch pieces celery stalks

Soften cream cheese; blend together with sour cream and curry. Stir in Brazil nuts. Spoon into celery stalks or force through pastry tube with wide fluted opening. Sprinkle with additional curry powder, paprika or finely chopped parsley. Makes 2 cups filling.

RELISH TRAY — Tempting is the word for this relish tray. Behind the molds of cranberry (from the left) you'll find pickled crabapples, watermelon pickle, kumquats and stuffed celery.

Good Any Season

Good even in winter: jellied madrilene with a little red caviar fork-stirred into it and topped with sour cream and minched chives.

Indian Mythology Had a Turkey

We all know that the American Thanksgiving started in Massachusetts in 1621 when turkey symbolized the feast given in thanks for the corn harvest that would see the Pilgrims through the coming winter.

Maybe it's not important which came first, but two thousand miles from New England the Jicarilla Apaches of the Southwest had a definite idea. One of their most popular mythological characters was named Turkey. He was credited with bringing corn to the people.

Before the Europeans came to America the turkey was the only bird domesticated by the Indians for food.

If the Apaches were right, Turkey deserves the appreciation of every American. Corn provides basic feedstuffs for livestock and poultry. Corn goes into bread and pudding and fritters.

And refined products of the corn kernel, such as starches, syrups, sugars and oil, provide ingredients for hundreds of processed foods that may be found on Thanksgiving tables.

Some Cooks Like Oysters in Stuffing

It's easy to prepare the stuffing for turkey when it gets a start. Then with a few touches of your own, you will have a delicious stuffing the whole family will enjoy.

Oyster Stuffing

1 onion, chopped
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup butter, melted
1 pint small oysters, drained
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
½ cup hot water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup light cream

Saute the onions and celery in the butter until soft. Add the oysters and parsley, and cook until the oysters begin to curl. Add herb-seasoned stuffing, water, salt, and pepper. Toss lightly. Stir in the cream; stuff turkey cavity, which has been rubbed with butter and salt.

Make Gravy That's Tops

Pour drippings into pint or quart measuring cup. Skim off fat. Add broth made from giblets to make needed amount of gravy, pour into saucepan.

If browned-on juices stick to pan, pour some of the broth into pan, return to oven a few minutes to dissolve, then pour into saucepan.

For each cup of broth, allow 1 tablespoon flour. Mix with a small amount of cool broth, then add to broth in saucepan. Stir and cook until consistency of heavy cream, unwhipped.

Taste, add additional seasonings if needed, simmer a few minutes, and serve.

Miniature Roast Good for 1 or 2

Very new is the miniature boneless turkey roast that weighs just 2 pounds. Unlike its larger counterpart, it is available with all white meat or with white and dark meat.

An additional convenience is added by having the small turkey roast packed and frozen in a covered aluminum pan that goes from the freezer to the oven. The juices in the pan can be seasoned with a little sage, salt, and pepper and thickened for gravy.

The roast is just right for a hot meal for two or three; it is excellent to cook, chill, and slice for a cold meat tray or for sandwiches.

CRANBERRY SNOW PUDDING

Calorie Count Is Low

Desserts are hard on waist watchers and never more so than at holiday time. But don't despair; you can satisfy that sweet tooth.

Using fresh cranberries, make a light dessert that is not only good to eat, but pretty to look at.

Cranberry Snow Pudding (Low-Calorie)

½ pound fresh cranberries
2 cups water
2 tablespoons sucaryl solution
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1¼ cups water
¼ cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons sucaryl solution
½ cup evaporated milk, chilled

★ ★ ★

Combine cranberries, water and the 2 tablespoons sucaryl in saucepan; cook until skins pop. Force through food mill. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the water; add hot cranberry liquid; stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Add remaining 1 cup water, lemon juice and the 2 teaspoons sucaryl solution. Chill until mixture begins to set.

Beat chilled evaporated milk until stiff. Fold into cranberry gelatin. Spoon into dessert bowl or individual sherbets. Chill until serving time.

★ ★ ★

Makes 8 servings. Each serving contains 41 calories; 2.5 grams protein; 1.5 grams fat; 5 grams carbohydrate.

Red China Rules Out All N-Ban Plans Except Own

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China ruled out a variety of proposed approaches to the problem of curbing nuclear weapons and insisted its own plan of total abolition is the only valid one.

★ ★ ★

The Chinese, who exploded their own atom bomb Oct. 16, rejected suggestions they should engage in the disarmament conference at Geneva or meet with the four other nations which possess nuclear weapons — the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France.

★ ★ ★

Peking also spurned proposals to destroy vehicles for the delivery of nuclear warheads and for a treaty banning all nuclear weapon tests.

★ ★ ★

In refusing to participate in the Geneva talks, Peking said it would "have nothing to do with the United Nations" until the world organization expelled the Chinese Nationalists and gave their place to the Communists.

ROME (AP) — Italians voted for the second and final day today in nationwide local elections that could bear on the future of Premier Aldo Moro's harassed government.

★ ★ ★

About 90 per cent of Italy's 33 million voters were expected to cast ballots by the time the polls close, but the outcome may not be known until Tuesday.

Moro's national alliance was not at stake, but serious losses at the local level could weaken his Christian Democratic party. It already is split by factional differences.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China pledged solidarity today with its little, pro-Stalinist ally Albania in a message promising "to stand forever shoulder to shoulder with the Albanian government and people."

The Chinese also sent a delegation to Albania's 20th anniversary celebrations. It was headed by Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien.

MANILA (AP) — A team of Cabinet officials flew to Mindanao Island today to assess damage from Typhoon Louise and to see what could be done for victims.

★ ★ ★

In Surigao del Norte province, on Mindanao's northeastern tip, 312 deaths were reported in the capital alone.

★ ★ ★

Dozens of deaths have been reported on other islands in the central Philippines that were in the typhoon's path last Thursday and Friday.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Heavy snow storms blanketed parts of Czechoslovakia today, blocking railroads and highways, the news agency CTK reported.

Snowplows were out to clear the tracks and roads.

Parish Tries New Mass

Sweeping Changes in Catholic Rites

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK—A layman in a dark business suit stood facing the Roman Catholic congregation, and read from the scriptures, "Brethren . . . may you walk worthily . . . growing in the knowledge of God."

The setting was an image of things to come next Sunday in Catholic parishes throughout the country — a new mode of active communal worship with about half of the Mass being said in English.

★ ★ ★

In the forerunner here, the people rose after reading of the Epistle and in unison intoned a psalm in English instead of the priest alone doing it in Latin.

"Out of the depths I cry to you, Lord, O Lord, hearken to my voice! Alleluia."

HYMN SINGING

Then following more scripture came another unfamiliar experience— hymn singing. "Now thank we all our God with hearts and hands and voices . . ."

The service, at Manhattan's Corpus Christi church Sunday, foretokened some of the sweeping changes to be inaugurated a week hence in the nation's approximately 17,500 Roman Catholic parishes.

NEW LITURGY

They change then to a new liturgy, much of it for the first time in the people's language rather than Latin, and the congregations join actively in prayers, responses, litanies and song.

Authorized by the Vatican Council in Rome last year and set in motion in this country by the American bishops, the reforms are considered among the most significant and widespread in impact in the Church's history.

★ ★ ★

They will make for heightened resemblances between Catholic and Protestant worship.

Aimed at transforming the generally silent Catholic congregations into vigorous and vocal participants, the changes assign to them many overt functions heretofore reserved only to the clergy.

HARD TO CHANGE

"It's going to be very difficult for many people to change their habits," said the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Arthur A. Campbell, pastor of Corpus Christi. "A lot of them have been mostly spectators all their lives."

But the new approach, he added, means "they'll cease to be mere viewers and be genuine participants."

Relief Due Snow-Pelted Eastern Areas

By the Associated Press

Clearing skies promised relief today to the eastern edge of the Great Lakes region where weekend storms dumped up to three feet of snow. Only flurries were predicted for today.

Dry weather prevailed throughout most of the rest of the nation, except in the Pacific Northwest. Snow continued to accumulate in the mountains there, and rain drenched lower altitudes. Cape Blanco, Ore., had 1¼ inches of rain Sunday afternoon and evening.

In the East, 38 inches of snow was reported over the weekend at Tug Hill, N.Y., and as much as two feet of snow piled up in other spots on the eastern and southern shores of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. More than 200 motorists were stranded Saturday in western New York and two women were killed there in weather-connected highway accidents.

Southwesterly breezes raised temperatures to near normal in the middle of the United States after two very chilly nights.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 1 degree above zero at Houlton, Maine, to 75 at Key West and West Palm Beach, Fla.

Serenade Fails to Rile Giants' Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — The strains of "Good Bye, Allie" serenaded Coach Allie Sherman and his New York Giants Sunday as they left Yankee Stadium after absorbing a 44-17 beating from Pittsburgh.

Sherman, working on a five-year contract that still has three years to go, shrugged off the fans' reaction in the clubhouse. He has coached the Giants to three straight Eastern Conference titles in the National Football league before this cellar finish.

"Of course, I heard it," he said. "They are entitled to do anything they want. I don't worry about those things.

"This is the way I look at it. I am a professional football coach. In moments of fulfillment I appreciate the nice words of other people but I get my real satisfaction within myself.

"When things are tough, I have to dig down within myself again. I have faith in myself and the people who are with me."

Sherman found something to cheer in the play of Gary Wood, his rookie quarterback, and in the play of Frank Lasky, a rookie tackle who did a good job of handling John Baker.

★ ★ ★

"I think I may start Wood one of these days," he said. "That doesn't mean we are putting Y. A. Tittle on the shelf. We want to see what Wood will do as a starter."

Tittle was shaken up in the first half when he was kicked on the head. He did not play the second half. Steve Thurlow, rookie halfback, suffered a probable rib fracture and was taken to a hospital for observation.

NEED HELP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals realize they need help in order to win the National Football League's Eastern title, but Coach Wally Lemm still is proceeding on the old axiom that to deserve help you have to help your self.

"We're alive, but we can't just sit back and hope for Cleveland to lose," Lemm said Sunday after the Cards defeated Philadelphia 38-13 and cut the Browns' first place margin to 1½ games with three games to play.

"We'll have to take Pittsburgh next week, then Cleveland and finally Philly again," Lemm said. "If we do that, then we have a right to hope for Philly or New York to beat the Browns."

St. Louis stands 6-3-2, Cleveland 8-2-1 as the NFL heads into the final three weeks of the regular season. The Browns lost Sunday to Green Bay, thus breathing new life into St. Louis.

The Eagles on a pair of field goals by Sam Baker took a 6-3 lead in the second period, but then they lost the handle on the ball, or, as Lemm put it, the Cards jarred things loose.

Israel Lang dropped the ball on the Eagles' 14, and Bill Koman fell on it. Bill (Thunder) Thornton carried twice to the one, and John Crow swept wide into the end zone for a touchdown. Jim Baaken, who earlier booted a field goal, converted and St. Louis led 10-6.

Cleveland Bid Slowed, 28-21

49ers Lose to Bears on Sideline Rule

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The conservative Green Bay Packers turned gamblers with the aces showing and the Cleveland Browns were caught napping in a game of National Football League showdown Sunday.

Trailing 14-7 at halftime, Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr crossed up Cleveland's defense on a fourth down and one situation at the outset of the third quarter.

★ ★ ★

Starr dropped back and passed down the middle to Max McGee. He finally was overhauled at the Cleveland one, setting up Jimmy Taylor for a touchdown plunge.

The tally ignited the Packers, who went on to upset the Browns 28-21 and slow Cleveland's bid for its first Eastern Division title since 1957.

★ ★ ★

"That was a big play," Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi said. "Starr called it on his own. We didn't plan to pass on such a situation."

MADE DECISION

"I thought I could catch them by surprise," Starr explained. "The odds were in our favor since they were looking for a run. When I saw the Browns bring all their guys up close to the line, I decided to call it."

Cleveland fullback Jimmy Brown piled up 66 yards in 15 carries in the first half, becoming the first player in NFL history to rush more than 2,000 times. Brown was manhandled by Green Bay middle linebacker Ray Nitschke after the intermission and managed just eight more yards in five attempts.

★ ★ ★

NEW WAY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just when it appeared they were going to win their second straight game — something they haven't done in two years — the San Francisco 49ers discovered a new way to lose one.

In what must rank as their most disheartening defeat of the season, the 49ers lost a 23-21 decision to the Chicago Bears Sunday and thus dropped into sole occupancy of the National Football League's Western Conference cellar.

★ ★ ★

The defeat was particularly galling because the 49ers:

— Got inspired running from Dave Kopay, a free agent no one expected even to make the team.

— And had Tommy Davis kick a 49-yard field goal that would have provided the winning margin, only to see the kick disallowed.

Davis' field goal came in the waning seconds of the first half, after San Francisco had rallied to cut Chicago's early 14-0 lead to three points at 17-14.

LINE DRIVE

With time running out, the 49er field goal unit rushed on the field and Davis booted a long, low line drive. The ball squeezed over the cross bar as the gun sounded and the 49ers headed happily for the dressing room with what appeared to be a 17-17 tie.

Bills Meet San Diego

Buffalo, Gilchrist Stay in Spotlight

By The Associated Press

The American Football League spotlight which focused on Cookie Gilchrist and Buffalo last week swings 3,000 miles this week to focus on Cookie Gilchrist and Buffalo.

Gilchrist, the wild Bill of the Buffaloes, was bounced from the team last week in a serious dispute with Coach Lous Saban, placed on waivers and apparently headed for another club in a hassle that threatened to wreck Buffalo's Eastern Division title hopes.

Gilchrist, however, made his apologies to coach and players, was reinstated and the loss of the league's top rusher for the $100 waiver price averted.

Gilchrist should be looking to make further amends in a key clash at San Diego Thursday that could be a preview of the championship game.

The Bills lead the Eastern Division with a 9-1 record to Boston's 8-2-1. The Chargers lead the Western sector with a 7-2-1 record and will be looking to take a big step toward nailing the title by increasing their bulge over runner-up Kansas City, 5-5.

THREE BOMBS

The Chiefs remained in contention Sunday as Len Dawson passed for three touchdowns before suffering a broken nose in a 28-19 victory over Houston that handed the Oilers their eighth consecutive defeat.

★ ★ ★

In the only other game scheduled, Billy Cannon scored three touchdowns for the first time since 1962 and Cotton Davidson passed for three scores as Oakland whipped New York 35-26.

Boston defeated Denver 12-7 Friday night while Buffalo and San Diego were idle, and preparing for their Thanksgiving Day battle.

★ ★ ★

Dawson passed 19 and 26 yards to Fred Arbanas for touchdowns in the first half as the Chiefs built a commanding 21-10 lead, then fired a five-yarder to Chris Burford in the third period. Dawson got the broken nose on the final TD and the Chiefs were unable to score again.

★ ★ ★

Prep Quintets Await Tipoff Tomorrow

A handful of teams in the Pontiac area will get an early jump tomorrow night on the 1964-65 high school basketball season.

In two local contests, St. Michael's Shramrocks play hosts to Utica St. Lawrence at Madison Junior High School and Emmanuel Christian entertains New Baltimore St. Mary.

Elsewhere on the Tuesday schedule, Birmingham Seaholm opens at home with Royal Oak Dondero providing the opposition, Orchard Lake St. Mary journeys to St. Stanislaus, Roseville is at Fordson, Yale at Imlay City, Warren Cousino at Madison Lamphere and L'Anse Creuse at Center Line.

Pontiac Central will open Friday night at Waterford. Pontiac Northern opens the campaign at home Dec. 1.

First Qualifiers for Bowlerama

Qualifying continues in men's singles handicap at Huron, Airway and Montcalm next week-end and many of the top scores from Saturday and Sunday are certain to be wiped out.

Doubles qualifying also begins next Sunday at Howe's Lanes and 300 Bowl in the '64 four-event Pontiac Bowlerama, and bowlers are reminded that Wednesday midnight is the deadline for next week's bowling.

★ ★ ★

Top Honors for the weekend went to Arnold Luttrell of Pontiac who is a 160 average bowler in the Master's Bowling League at Westside. Luttrell had games of 200-203-194 plus his handicap in qualifying at Airway. Behind him at Airway was Ernie Kulaszewski with 647 and E. M. Fife, 639.

At Huron Bowl, Ken Bousum of Royal Oak rolled games of 192-216-228 plus 33 for a 669 total. Tim Miller rolled 659, Fred Tobias, 654 and Ray Brancheau 649 at Huron.

At Montcalm, Walter Maule of Pontiac, 158 average bowler, hit 231-165-162 and led the house with 648 with his handicap. Don O'Tolle hit 645 with a 229 game.

NEXT QUALIFYING

If last year's tournament is any indication, large squads should shoot for the lead at these three houses next Saturday and Sunday and from there at least one of every 10 will go into the finals. Last year with ties there were at least one of every seven bowlers who made the finals and every qualifier is assured of a prize.

★ ★ ★

Entry blanks are available at most houses in Oakland County. Bowlers can also enter the doubles, team and actual's singles part of the tournament at this time.

Midwestern 5 Drops 2nd Tilt

Midwestern Baptist Seminary will find the championship road in the Michigan Christian College Athletic Association basketball league a lot tougher this season.

★ ★ ★

Undefeated champions last winter, the Falcons dropped their second straight of the new campaign at Grand Rapids School of Bible and Music Saturday afternoon, 73-60.

★ ★ ★

Freshman Ralph Wingate poured 30 points into the basket for Midwestern, hitting 14 of 24 from the floor. The winners also were paced by a plebe performer, Jerry Price, with 24.

Fairly Active Trading

Stock Mart Moves Irregularly

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YOR K(AP)—The stock market moved irregularly early today in fairly active trading.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

An exception was Du Pont which took a 2-point loss, dampening the averages.

IBM and Polaroid slid more than a point each and erox was down nearly 2.

Motors were mostly unchanged, with Ford up a fraction following settlement of the walkouts at the company.

* * *

Rails were scrambled despite postponement of the railroad strike. Baltimore & Ohip dipped more than a point. Santa Fe and Pennsylvania Railroad were firm.

Steels were unchanged to very narrowly mixed.

Losses of key stocks depresse the industrial average.

Opening blocs included: American Telephone, off ⅛ at 67½ on 10,000 shares; Westinghouse Electric, off at 44 on 10,000; and Ford, up x at 58 on 7,000.

On Friday The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 to 332.6, record high.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.
