Tests May Aid N-Pact Approval

County to Double Residents by 1980 as Detroit Shrinks

Oakland County can be expected to nearly double its population by 1980, the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission announced today.

While the five counties around Detroit are growing by more than a million residents, Detroit and several suburbs will lose residents during the next 17 years, according to the commission.

Oakland County, with a population estimated at slightly over 700,000 people, is expected to gain 690,000. This is equal to its population recorded in the last official census in 1960.

★ ★ ★

The commission forecast large population increases for Bloomfield and Farmington townships, for Warren and Sterling townships in Macomb County, and Livonia and Taylor Township in Wayne County.

The total population of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe and Washtenaw counties is expected to rise from 4,035,920 in 1960 to 4,762,500 in 1970 and 5,796,000 in 1980.

Detroit, however, is expected to decline in population from 1,670,144 in 1960 to 1.6 million in 1970, with population then remaining about the same for the following 10 years.

The Detroit suburbs of Highland Park, Hamtramck and River Rouge also are expected to lose residents.

"Although population decline seems to be a dirty word, there is nothing wrong with it," said Aaron J. Blumberg, a commission market analyst.

★ ★ ★

"A decline in population doesn't necessarily denote decay," he said. "You can lose residents and still have economic and housing development growth."

Macomb county can also be expected to double its 1960 population of 405,804 residents, reported the commission.

Monroe County may gain about 75,000 residents, and Washtenaw about 88,000, it said.

★ ★ ★

Outside Detroit, Wayne County's population is expected to grow from 996,153 in 1960 to 1.3 million in 1970 and 1.7 million in 1980.

★ ★ ★

The five counties will continue to account for slightly more than half of Michigan's population, said Blumberg, provided, among other things, "there will be no devastating war or prolonged economic depression."

Indonesian Aid: More or Less?

Broomfield Objects to 'Slap in the Face'

WASHINGTON — U.S. Reps. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, and Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, today voiced sharp objections to a reported U.S. move to step up aid to President Sukarno's regime in Indonesia.

Broomfield called the reported aid increase "a slap in the face" of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Broomfield was the author of an amendment approved by the committee last week that would end all U.S. assistance to Indonesia unless President Kennedy makes a formal finding that such aid is vital to U.S. interests.

In a closed session of the House group yesterday, Broomfield demanded an explanation by the Administration.

He said Foreign Aid chief David Bell apparently was in Europe last week trying to interest U.S. allies in helping Indonesia at the same time the House committee

Cooling Rains Loom in Area

Thunderstorms on the agenda for tonight will end in the morning with temperatures a little cooler during the weekend.

Monday will be warmer, but Tuesday and Wednesday will be cooler, the highs near the normal 79 to 85. Lows for the period will average 55 to 64.

Showers are forecast again Monday or Tuesday.

Today's 15 miles per hour southerly winds will become 10 to 20 m.p.h. tonight then shift to northwesterly tomorrow afternoon.

Sixty-two was the low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The recording was 77 at 2 p.m.

Tests Show City Prepared for Water Change-Over

City officials, concerned over side effects the change-over to Detroit water might have, were breathing a bit easier today.

The worst is over. Only the possibility of some temporarily rusty water remains when the new water is introduced to homeowners late Friday and early Saturday, Aug. 9 and 10.

Officials were most concerned about the change in pressure and its effect on existing mains, ser-

City officials today reminded Pontiac residents that the ban on lawn sprinkling will still be in effect this weekend from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

vice lines and plumbing in individual buildings and homes.

All pressure tests have been completed.

The city's water pressure has been increased 15 pounds per square inch, according to Herbert G. Parker, water superintendent.

The pressure hike resulted in breaks in four mains and "a rash of calls from homeowners reporting breaks in service lines leading into homes or plumbing," Parker said.

"Most of the leaks occurred in basements, and most of them came on the north side, around the Fisher Body plant.

City Plumbing Inspector Peter Hickey added that such breaks are usually unavoidable and occur in old, galvanized service pipes which do not meet current plumbing code standards.

★ ★ ★

"We are now pumping at a pressure of 85 pounds per square inch at the plant," Parker noted. "Our former pressure was 70 pounds."

Officials expect to bring in Detroit water while the city sleeps. The new pumps will begin working and all the city's wells will be turned off simultaneously at midnight Friday, Aug. 9.

"We frankly don't know what to expect from the temporary chemical imbalance which will exist in the water system," Parker said.

"We expect there will be some discoloration of water possibly some unpleasant taste or odor. However, there won't be any interruption in the flow of water."

"We expect to do extensive flushing in areas where we get complaints of rust," he concluded.

Convict Ends Stay Atop Water Tower

FORT MADISON, (AP)—A convict who expressed his displeasure at his 25-year sentence with a five-day camp-out on a 140-foot state penitentiary water tower, is back on the ground.

William T. Bradley, 45, faces disciplinary action by prison officials. Fellow inmates expressed disapproval of his antics.

Ward Drifting Nearer Death Still in Coma

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward failed to respond to treatment for bronchial pneumonia and an overdose of drugs and drifted closer to death today.

A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's physician "has expressed increasing concern for his patient."

The society osteopath has been in a coma since he took an overdose of drugs Wednesday, shortly before he was convicted of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

Ward was breathing with the aid of an artificial lung and receiving nutrition and stimulants intravenously.

He had shown no improvement since last night, when he was said to be barely alive.

W. Mayne Butcher, the hospital spokesman, said at 3 p.m.: "Dr. Ward's condition remains unchanged.

"There is no return to spontaneous control of breathing and all tests to detect such a return have proved negative.

Ends Total Ban Fear

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's announcement the United States will continue underground weapons testing may aid his drive for Senate ratification of the limited nuclear treaty.

Kennedy told his news conference yesterday that subterranean tests will continue. They are excluded from the agreement reached with the Soviet Union and Britain prohibiting testing in the atmosphere, space and underwater.

Confident the Senate will approve the test-ban treaty, the President also said a nonaggression pact with the Soviet bloc might be worthwhile if it provided "greater security for Berlin."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said he thought it "advisable" for the NATO powers to discuss Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposal for an East-West nonaggression agreement to see whether it would serve the interests of the West.

He also stated he was ready to give France nuclear weapons and know-how if President Charles de Gaulle reversed his field and agreed to sign the limited test ban treaty and cooperate in "integration" of NATO forces — possibilities generally considered dim.

Continuation of underground testing may alleviate the fears of some senators that this country might voluntarily put a moratorium on such tests in an effort to get the complete ban toward which Kennedy said the United States will keep on striving.

It also served notice that American efforts to perfect more effective nuclear weapons will continue with the kind of experiments scientists generally estimate cover 80 per cent of the nuclear development field.

No U.S. Arms for South Africa

Will End Sales Over Segregation Policies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States announced today it is banning by the end of 1963 the sale of all weapons and military equipment to South Africa because of that country's racial segregation policies.

The embargo was disclosed by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in a speech before the U.N. Security Council. He spoke after Ghana's Alex Quaison-Sackey had denounced South Africa as an outlaw and asked the council to consider expelling it from the United Nations.

Stevenson told the council the United States already had banned the sale of military equipment that might be used by South Africa to enforce its racial apartheid policies and is now ready to make such a ban complete.

He said the ban could not become fully effective before the end of the year because of existing commitments, including the sale of air-to-air missiles and torpedoes for submarines.

Quaison-Sackey charged that South Africa is engaged in an extensive military build-up, creating a threat to the security of the newly independent nations of Africa "and to the whole world."

Stevenson denounced South Africa's racial policies as "an evil business" and declared:

"My country will support efforts to bring about a change in South Africa."

So far, he said, efforts of the United Nations "have yielded no tangible results. There has been no forward motion. Indeed, there has been retrogression, calculated retrogression."

Rusk Bound for Signing of Document

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves for Moscow tonight to sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty and to explore the chances of further East-West understanding.

The signing of the treaty, in which the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain pledge to abstain from testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water, will be a ceremonial affair Monday.

The pact was initialed last Thursday by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, Britain's science minister, Lord Hailsham, and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister.

Rusk will be accompanied to Moscow by high administration officials and six senators—four Democrats and two Republicans.

He has been invited to remain in the Soviet Union after the signing ceremony, and the Moscow conferences are expected to last three or four days.

To what extent and for how long Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, will participate in these talks was not immediately clear. He, Rusk and Gromyko will sign the treaty in the Kremlin's magnificent St. Catherine Hall.

Khrushchev, officials said, is expected to start the talks with Rusk on Tuesday. The place is undetermined, although Khrushchev is known to have planned a vacation at the Black Sea. Later, the discussions likely will be held in Moscow with Gromyko.

The four Democratic senators who will accompany Rusk are

JFK to Persist in Rights Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he thinks it is probably right that his advocacy of civil rights legislation is costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity, but he is going ahead.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that there is "a national crisis of great proportions" over the racial issue that any President would have to meet it.

While he agreed with a questioner that the political cost may be heavy in terms of his expected bid for re-election next year, he said the crisis is at hand "and we are going to deal with it."

★ ★ ★

"My judgment is that both political parties will finally come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our citizens and advance their right to equality of opportunity," he said.

DISPUTES POWELL

Kennedy made it clear he does not agree with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., that Negroes should ignore white help in the leadership of the civil rights movement.

Kennedy said that with 10 per cent of the population (Negroes) being directly affected, it is a national problem."

"Therefore," he said, "it requires the work of both Negroes and whites."

★ ★ ★

The President also made it known that he is displeased with some recent Negro demonstrations which he described as fringe actions without further pinpointing them. He said such demonstrations were self-defeating.

Car No. 590,071

Pontiac Ending Year

The last 1963 Pontiac, number 590,071, will be driven off the final assembly line at about 11 p.m. tonight.

★ ★ ★

While looking forward to the next model year, Pontiac officials, will have a fond remembrance for this last car, which helped shatter all previous production records for the General Motors Division.

E. M. Estes, Pontiac general manager, said 68,138 more Pontiacs have been assembled than in the 1962 model run, and 35,981 above the record output of 1955.

Regular-sized automobiles numbered 485,581, while 131,490 were in the Tempest series.

★ ★ ★

Model change-over and inventory will result in furloughs of about a week for most of the 10,500 production workers, Estes said.

Setting up new production programs and parts stockpiling precedes actual assembly of the first 1964 models, about Sept. 3.

Auto output at Pontiac division reflected the continuing 1963 success story for General Motors, which produced a total of 371,813 passenger cars during July, compared to 325,976 the same month last year.

GM also sent 52,896 trucks down assembly lines, well over the 40,285 of July, 1962.

Ford Motor Co. totals last month were 167,868 cars and 37,489 trucks, contrasted with 178,454 and 31,653 last year.

Chrysler Corp. recorded its best July since 1957, with 87,150 vehicles, of which 78,635 were automobiles. This compares with combined output of 58,590 last year.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Division Draws Praise

"No one has gotten a bigger kick out of Pontiac Motor Division's wonderful year than I have," said Robert C. Critchfield, former general manager. "The record they currently broke is one we set eight years ago."

"E. M. Estes, his associates and the men along the assembly lines have done a magnificent job. First, they've produced a terrific line of cars that deserve the great public support that they've received. Secondly, they've held the manufacturing quality up and the sales job reflects credit on all concerned.

"When we built that 655,000 in 1955, it was a tremendous number of automobiles, but the 1963 model will pass this by some 35,000 plus. It isn't easy to lose a record that you went all out to set, but I can't imagine having it happen in better circumstances.

"What car do I drive now? Are you kidding? Mostly a Pontiac. I'll have one until they put me away for good, and I hope that last ride in the well known vehicle has a Pontiac motor."

New Protests Hit Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Racial trouble broke out on a new sector in Chicago today.

A demonstration sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality began at 74th St. and Lowe Ave. on the South Side at the site of construction of mobile classroom units for the Chicago Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

Police reported some of the participants lay down in the street but most stood. The purpose was to block trucks, but excavation work at the site proceeded.

★ ★ ★

Weird tactical warfare without any actual fighting was waged in an alley leading from the site being cleared for classroom buildings.

Negroes and some white persons sat down in the mud in front of the trucks. Police asked them to get out of the way and, when they refused, carried them to patrol cars which hauled them to the Englewood Police Station.

Among the sitters were two Negro women who sat in the slime, each holding a weeping child in her lap.

★ ★ ★

A white man and a Negro woman sat in the alley briefly before they were toted to a patrol wagon. A white girl and a Negro man blocked another truck temporarily before they, too, were taken to stations.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blistering political row among Senate Commerce Committee members capped today their hearings on President Kennedy's bill to ban racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

The uproar was touched off by questions Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., put to Minnesota's Democratic Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag who had testified for the bill.

Scott asked Rolvaag if he had not voted at the recent governors conference in Miami to abolish the resolutions committee so that the state executives could avoid taking a stand on civil rights issues.

Rolvaag replied he had voted to abolish the resolutions committee but not for the purpose Scott stated. He said there was a full, free, open discussion of civil rights at the conference, with "no gagging" of anyone.

★ ★ ★

Scott said one Republican governor — meaning Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York — had sought to have action taken on civil rights. He asked if Rolvaag had not joined in voting to table the motion.

★ ★ ★

Rolvaag replied that the executive committee was directed by a 38-3 vote to study civil rights matters thoroughly and to report back later.

Red Chinese Blast Soviets

Labeled 'Monsters' for Approving N-Ban

TAKYO (AP) — Red China called Soviet leaders "freaks and monsters" today for approving the nuclear test ban treaty, while Moscow accused Chinese Premier Chou En-lai of acting in bad faith as long as four years ago.

★ ★ ★

Albania, allied with Peking, pitched into the war of words by accusing Premier Khrushchev of "unconditional concessions and capitulation to the imperialists" in agreeing to a partial nuclear test ban with the United States and Britain.

The Peking People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, launched an attack against the Soviet Union and its Western partners in the test ban treaty.

"Reflects the ugly face of U.S. imperialism, which is aggressive by nature, as well as the servile features of those who are warmly embracing U.S. imperialism.

★ ★ ★

"The exposure of these freaks and monsters in their true colors is an excellent thing for the revolutionary struggle of the peoples and the cause of world peace," the editorial continued.

The People's Daily accused the three treaty partners of acting as "nuclear overlords, while the overwhelming majority of (other) countries are to kneel down on the ground and obey orders meekly, as if they were nuclear slaves."

Khrushchev was named directly in another blast. Liao Chengchih, vice chairman of the China Peace Committee, told a rally in Peking: "In the past few years Khrushchev had all along been anxious to make a deal with U.S. imperialism in order to push the Soviet general line of peaceful coexistence."

New Restaurant to Open Away From Landmark

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Kreilach have moved into a new home and soon will be opening their new business — both away from the landmark in which they lived and made their livelihood for 18 years.

The new location for their restaurant — in Bloomfield Lanes at 1520 N. Woodward — will not be far from the old Bloomfield Barbecue which they operated until Sunday.

The restaurant-grocery store at 1620 N. Woodward is being torn down. A Socony-Vacuum service station is being constructed on the property.

Kreilach said the grocery portion of the building has been in existence for 125 years and has had three additions.

The Kreilachs, who lived above the restaurant, have now moved to a home on Square Lake.

They plan to open the new Bloomfield Barbecue in Bloomfield Lanes about Aug. 12. The snack bar of the building is now being enlarged to accommodate the restaurant.

Kreilach has applied for a liquor license for the establishment but said it was a temporary location.

The Kreilachs have discontinued their grocery interests and will confine themselves to serving breakfasts, lunches, dinners and snacks.

In their family-operated business at the old location, they had been open 19 hours a day, working split shifts to do so. They operated 360 days a year.

1st Hurricane of Season in Caribbean

MIAMI (UPI) — The season's first tropical storm, Hurricane Arlene, was found about 800 miles east of the Windward Islands today with top winds of 100 miles per hour.

The San Juan, P.R., weather bureau was preparing the first advisory in the hurricane at the time the Miami weather bureau reported it had been discovered.

The Tiros weather satellite photographed "a very suspicious area" in the tropical Atlantic yesterday and a Navy Hurricane Hunter plane from Puerto Rico confirmed the existence of a full-blown hurricane in a reconnaissance flight today.

★ ★ ★

The first indicated position of the storm's center showed it to be about 1,200 miles east-southeast of San Juan, the Miami weather bureau said. This would be more than 2,000 miles southeast of Miami.

At the same time, a rain-laden easterly wave of squalls was marching westward across the Caribbean.

Small craft warnings were posted along the northern rim of the Caribbean as far west as the island of Hispaniola.

There were reports of wind gusts up to 40 miles per hour this morning but weathermen said they were expected to diminish later today.

Scattered Korean Gunfire Is Labeled Insignificant

From Our News Wires

ALONG THE TRUCE LINE, Korea — Scattered gunfire again broke out in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea early today, but a U.S. 1st Cavalry Division officer indicated the shooting was insignificant.

Nevertheless, tension remained high along the 151-mile truce line where four Communists, three Americans and one South Korean were killed in skirmishes Monday and Tuesday.

American and South Korean troops of the United Nations Command (UNC) appeared ready for any trouble, but the immediate danger of war seemed to have faded.

Lt. Col. William D. Lynch, commander of the 1st Cavalry's 1st Reconnaissance Squadron, said the predawn shooting was by American soldiers firing at possible infiltrators. Lynch heads the Army unit responsible for observation posts up front.

"There has been no increase of major activities," he said. "We had sporadic firing last night (but) most of our contacts are at night."

"Last night there also were some mine detonations," he said.

★ ★ ★

"We feel we probably got quite a few (infiltrators) before they got through," the officer said. But he said there was no way to check because night foot patrols have been ruled out, and the North Koreans can take their wounded back before helicopters can fly over the zone in daylight.

"We are fighting a night war up here," Lynch commented. "If anything moves we shoot."

The only U.N. patrols at night are made in armored personnel carriers.

SHARP PROTEST

Meanwhile, the UNC was readying a sharp protest to Communist North Korea over Monday's Red ambush in which two American soldiers were killed and a third wounded.

A U.N. spokesman said Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior member of the armistice commission, will deliver the protest at a meeting of the commission Saturday at the truce village of Panmunjom.

The UNC called the meeting to protest the machine gun and grenade attack on a 1st Cavalry jeep by a band of North Korean soldiers.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. denounced as "vicious and unprovoked" the attack made from inside the demilitarized buffer zone about 25 miles southwest of Seoul. The American soldiers were just across the zone border, inside South Korean territory.

Storm Rips Into Chicago; Lake Swells

By United Press International

A destructive summer thunderstorm raked metropolitan Chicago today and was followed by seiche conditions which sent the level of Lake Michigan bobbing.

★ ★ ★

The Chicago storm swirled out of a squall line which covered much of the Midwest. More heavy storms were reported in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Indiana.

★ ★ ★

Chicago's storm turned the skies black over the loop during the morning rush hour.

Thirteen persons were injured when a bus smacked into another on the South Side during the downpour. Lightening sparked home fires, West Side viaducts were flooded, and wires and trees were down throughout the city.

A lightening bolt knocked the U.S. Weather Bureau's radar tracking system out of commission at Chicago.

Seiche conditions — an atmospheric phenomenon which can lower or raise a lake's level and sometimes take on dangerous tidal wave proportions—followed the storm.

Son of Judge Indicted in NY

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Bronx County grand jury indicted Gareth Martinis, 23-year-old son of an acting Supreme Court Justice, on charges of vehicular homicide in the auto deaths of five persons.

Martinis, center of a storm of controversy because three Criminal Court judges acquitted him on drunken driving charges, surrendered at the office of Bronx District Attorney Isador Dollinger. He will be arraigned later today before Supreme Court Justice Peter Quinn.

The jury indicted Martinis on counts of vehicular homicide, one count for each of the victims of the three-car collision last May 19. He also was charged with assault in the case of Eugene Kramon, the only other survivor of the Henry Hudson Parkway crash.

★ ★ ★

Dollinger announced he would move "for the expeditious prosecution of the charges to the fullest extent of the law." He said he legally could not disclose testimony on which the indictment was based, but he said the grand jury "reached the decision that the defendant should be charged with operating a motor vehicle in such a reckless and culpably negligent manner so as to cause the death of another . . ."

JFK Adviser Pleads Guilty

Ex-Dean at Harvard Admits Tax Delay

NEW YORK (AP) — James M. Landis, former dean of Harvard Law School and special adviser to President Kennedy, pleaded guilty today in federal court to late filing and payment of income taxes for five years.

He explained that the pressure of involvement in public affairs had compounded a situation brought about by the sale of inherited securities "to meet a pressing family need."

The U.S. attorney for Manhattan said the charges were filed because Landis did not meet government standards of voluntary disclosure." The returns were all filed recently," the prosecutor added.

The charges are misdemeanors carrying a maximum penalty of a year's imprisonment and $10,000 fine for each count.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said that Landis subsequently filed returns for the years in question and paid the taxes due. Landis also had offered "full cooperation" in the investigation, Morgenthau said.

Landis, born in Tokyo of American parents, served as law dean at Harvard from 1937 to 1946. He also has been general counsel to the American Mercantile Exchange, a special trial examiner for the U.S. Department of Labor, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board and has served as a member or consultant to various governmental agencies and commissions.

He once was a Supreme Court law clerk to Justice Louis Brandeis and served Kennedy as an efficiency expert, advising on federal regulatory agencies.

At German Border

Crowd Sees 2 Die

From Our News Wires

GOSLAR, Germany — Shouts of "You are murderers" rang across the East-West border in Germany today near a spot where Communist guards shot down a man and a woman in plain sight of hundreds of witnesses.

Residents of Hohegeis, a vacation resort about 12 miles southeast of this city in lower Saxony, screamed their anger whenever a Communist uniform hove into view.

It was opposite Hohegeis that an East German Army sergeant and a private opened fire yesterday on two persons who tried to escape the Soviet zone.

★ ★ ★

Both would-be refugees were dressed like farm workers. The man carried a scythe on his back.

While hundreds of horrified tourists watched helplessly from West Germany, the East Germans mowed down the man with submachinegun-bullets.

The woman was stopped by the first burst of fire and was led away, apparently wounded.

The man, hit in the leg, limped on toward the border but the guards killed him with a second burst.

The tourists, among them Swedes and Danes, were inspecting the barbed wire and barricades. After a stunned silence many cried in rage: "Murderers!," "Bandits!" Some hurled stones in the direction of the borderguards.

★ ★ ★

"Shut your traps!" one East German officer shouted. The tourists responded with a fresh hail of stones.

Not until two hours later did the Communists remove the body of the man from the weeds, only a few yards from freedom.

Tests May Aid OK

Kennedy continued on other Cold War topics:

CHINA — The growing population of Communist China, the fact that it is surrounded by weaker countries, organization of its government along Stalinist lines and Peking's advocacy of war to advance the Communist cause pose "a menacing situation."

The possibility that China might develop into a full-fledged nuclear power in a decade means the United States may face "potentially a more dangerous situation than any we faced since the end of the second war."

SUMMIT—"I don't really see at the present time" that a summit meeting "would serve a useful purpose."

ANTIMISSILE — "The problem of developing a defense against a missile is beyond us and beyond the Soviets technically," although the United States will continue to work on the matter.

MULTILATERAL — A "multilateral force represents the best solution to hold the alliance together" and nothing has happened of late to lessen "the need on both sides of the Atlantic for the closest cooperation on military matters, on economic matters, on political matters, on foreign policy matters."

LATIN AMERICA—Efforts of the Alliance for Progress should be intensified. The problems in Latin America "are almost insuperable." While the United States ignored them for years, there is now a common recognition "that there is the necessity for revolution in Latin America. In my opinion, it can be peaceful."

The two Republicans are Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee; and George D. Aiken of Vermont, second ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Others in Rusk's party will include Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and William C. Foster, head of the Disarmament and Arms Control Agency.

Khrushchev is expected to press Rusk to conclude a nonaggression treaty between the Atlantic Alliance and the Warsaw Pact nations.

At his news conference Thursday, Kennedy said he was primarily interested in such an agreement because it could mean "greater security for Berlin."

Ceremony Planned for Graduates

Commencement exercises will be held tonight at Pontiac Central High School for summer school graduates.

A total of 114 seniors completed high school requirements this summer, but only 88 will take part in tonight's ceremonies.

Eleven of the graduates are from Pontiac Northern High, while 68 come from Pontiac Central and 15 come from neighboring school districts.

Planned for 8 p.m., the graduation ceremonies will be held in the PCH auditorium.

Arnold W. Embree, director of guidance and pupil personnel for Pontiac schools, will be the main speaker. School Board President William H. Anderson will represent the board of education.

William Suhr, class vice president, will deliver the invocation, while Margo Distel will be the student speaker.

Summer school principal Donald McMillen will present the graduating class. Anderson will award the diplomas.

Miss Joyce Livingstone will be the organist for the commencement.

The graduates will wear the caps and gowns for their respective high schools. Other high schools beside Pontiac include Lake Orion, Avondale, Clarkston, Milford, Walled Lake, Waterford Township and West Bloomfield Township.

Broomfield Hits Aid to Indonesia

was voting to cut off such aid.

Hays, also a member of the committee, said, "That was really flaunting it in our face."

Hays vowed angrily to introduce an amendment on the House floor to cut off U.S. aid to Indonesia altogether.

"It will ban any aid whatever, any kind, shape or form — period!" Hays said.

The Administration was reported yesterday to be considering, along with some of its free world allies, extending $250 million worth of aid to Indonesia in the next year.

Both Broomfield and Hays said they had no idea that the United States was promoting a free world increase in aid to Sukarno's government.

Broomfield said there had been strong evidence presented to the committee that some supplies of U.S. surplus powdered milk sent to Indonesia were being "sold on the black market in the streets of Jakarta." He said the labels were not even removed.

Korean Turncoat Re-Entry Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Cpl. Lowell D. Skinner, the Korean War turncoat who has left Communist China, still retains his citizenship and can re-enter the United States, the State Department said today.

At the same time, the Army said that it has $1,705 in back pay waiting for Skinner when he comes home, if he wants to claim it.

It was understood that Skinner's Chinese wife, left behind when he crossed into Hong Kong yesterday, would qualify to enter the United States under a nonquota but that she had expressed no desire to follow him on his trek back to the United States.

Tourists Stranded as Seamen Strike

MARSEILLES, France (UPI) — More than 15,000 tourists, many of them Americans, were stranded in France today because of a maritime strike.

Officers and sailors of the seamen's union walked out Wednesday night for 48 hours in an effort to win higher pay.

But last night, the union announced the walkout would be extended at least another day and that no ship would leave Marseilles or Nice before noon tomorrow.

Junior Editors Quiz on WHALES

QUESTION: Why did "Moby Dick" have this special name?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: "Moby Dick" was the savage sperm whale featured in Herman Melville's famous book of the same name. Although this particular whale appeared in a book of fiction, much about him was true.

Moby Dick was a "rogue" whale — one who would turn on whale hunters when they attacked him and chew their boats to pieces or smash the boat and men with mighty blows of his tail. A number of rogue whales have been recorded.

Frequently, seamen recognized them by certain markings, and as they swapped stories they invented names. Dick, Tom and Jack were familiar names and often the seamen added some other name to this.

There was a celebrated whale called "Timor Tom" and another named "New Zealand Jack." In the book, Melville tells how Moby Dick can be recognized by his snow white hump (he was an albino or white whale), by his crooked lower jaw and by the nest of twisted harpoons other attackers had left sticking in his hide.

According to the book, Moby Dick had once bitten a leg off fiery Captain Ahab, who then vowed to chase and capture him. In the end, however, Moby Dick sinks both the captain and his ship.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Few whalemen were violent and furious like Captain Ahab. Whaling was their business — a very important and exciting one. See if you find out about whaling and what it meant to America in the old days. Whale oil fetched a high price. But what was it used for?

Jumpy Radio Director Avoids Morning Traffic

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Program Director Vic Bastien of a local radio station literally drops in to see how things are going at the station.

Bastien, who doesn't like the morning rush hour traffic, parachutes to his post at the transmitter by aiming for a pasture across from the station. He has more than 100 sky dives to his credit.

Vatican Blasts Red Philosophy, Asks Vigilance

VATICAN CITY (AP)—In one of its strongest attacks on basic Communist philosophy, Vatican Radio said Thursday that communism cannot be assimilated either by Christianity or by free humanity.

★ ★ ★

"Neither the evolution of the times, nor geographic and ethnic configurations are able to confer on Marxism and communism title of recommendation for free peoples and even less for Catholics," a Vatican Radio broadcast said.

★ ★ ★

Apparently referring to the Moscow test ban accord, the commentary said there is a duty to promote and encourage initiatives that favor peace among peoples but there is also a duty for "constant and untiring vigilance against Communist ideology, blocking off each road of penetration."

4-H'ers to Parade Through Pontiac

A marching band, color guard, fire engines and gaily-decorated floats will be featured in this year's 4-H parade when it passes through downtown Pontiac Monday.

Scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. at Saginaw and Auburn, the 41-unit caravan will travel north and pass the reviewing stand on the old court house site.

It will disband at the corner of Saginaw and Fairgrove.

Most of the county's 4-H clubs will be represented by floats, clowns or walking units.

TO WAVE 'HELLO'

Pontiac's Mayor Robert A. Landry and this year's 4-H king and queen will be on hand to wave "hello" to the viewing crowds.

★ ★ ★

Queen is Carmen Sue Miller, 17, of Brandon Township and king, Tom Middleton, 18, of Oakland Township.

Believed to be traveling the farthest to take part in the parade is 13-year-old Lyn Ann Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Warner, who live on a farm near Wiedman in central Michigan.

Lyn Ann was visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Roberts, 44 S. Midland, when she won the freckles contest at last year's fair.

PARADE MARSHAL

Also participating will be the parade marshal, Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson of Meadowbrook Farms.

The 4-H floats will be judged by Arno Hulet, Bloomfield Township treasurer; Max Adams, manager of Pontiac's Chamber of Commerce; and Clayton Mellin, a Michigan State Fair official.

Units will pass in review before the judges to the beat of music from the Lake Orion High School band and the Detroit Edison Co.'s calliope.

★ ★ ★

The Romeo Peach Festival publicity float promises to be one of the most attractive in the parade. Already the winner of trophies in other area parades, it features three pretty girls and a giant red heart.

An antique fire engine and prancing horses also are expected to be crowd-pleasers in the parade, which will be closed with a huge "Come-to-the-fair" banners.

Monday's parade will kick off a week of exhibits, contests, and midway rides offered at the 4-H fair, to take place at the fairgrounds on Perry just south of Walton.

CROWNING SET

Winners of the parade trophies will be announced at a 7:30 p. m. program Tuesday at the fairgrounds, which will also feature crowning of the new 4-H king and queen.

★ ★ ★

Some 1,500 county 4-H'ers will be competing for awards given out during the fair week, which opens to the public at 10 a. m. Tuesday and will close with a horse club contest Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Judging of cattle, sheep, dressmaking ability and even photography will be included in the fair activities.

Water Problem to End in Utica

Switching of Source Takes Place Tuesday

UTICA — In ceremonies scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday Mayor Fred Beck will wash away one of Utica's biggest worries — water pollution.

He will turn a valve switching the source of city water from the Clinton River to a 24-inch water main which feeds into the city from Detroit.

The area of the city presently receiving Utica's water will be converted to the Detroit water with the turning of the valve.

★ ★ ★

However, that area recently annexed from Shelby Township will be cut into the line after about a week, as more work remains to be done on the lines.

In recent years, it has been necessary to shut off city water service because pollution of Clinton River threatened the sterility of the water.

For the past two years, the city council has been working to correct the problem.

★ ★ ★

By bringing water to the recently added Shelby Townsbip area, the council will be fulfilling a promise which it made prior to the special annexation election in June 1962.

★ ★ ★

In April Utica issued $157,000 in special assessment bonds to provide water service for the residents of the 300-acre annexed area. Most of the properties are in Shelby Manor Subdivision.

★ ★ ★

Utica will be serviced by pumping facilities at Detroit's Dequindre station.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Beck will be joined by other city officals as well as members of the Detroit Water Board for the ceremony, which will be staged at the Utica City Park, Van Dyke and Hall.

Marriage Performed by Father of Bride

FARMINGTON — Rev. Walter C. Ballagh performed the recent ceremony uniting his daughter Norma Carol and Ronald Colin Ludy in marriage.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Ludy, 2299 N. Opdyke, Pontiac Township. Rev. and Mrs. Ballagh live at 23935 Farmington.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice and bouffant satin skirt that cascaded into a chapel train.

★ ★ ★

A pearl crown held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion. She carried an arrangement of Stephanotis and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Beverly O'Tyson of Lake Orion. Shari Ludy, sister of the bridegroom, and Karen Capo were bridesmaids.

On the esquire side David Ballagh, brother of the bride, served as best man. The guests were seated by Bob Turner and Ronald Olsson.

★ ★ ★

A reception in the church parlor followed the evening rites. The couple honeymooned in Milwaukee, Wis.

293 Water Accidents, 147 Drownings in State

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police report there have been 147 drownings in 293 water accidents during the first seven months of the year. The death toll was up two from the same period last year.

The drownings included 53 swimmers or waders; 28 who fell from bridges, docks or piers or through ice; 21 boat passengers; and 16 boat operators.

Research is underway at Michigan State University to standardize the old carpenter's standby, the 2 x 4. The lumber industry is in the process of reaching an agreement on exact specifications for the 2 x 4, according to a forest products scientist at Michigan State University.

More than 100,000 Michigan people are employed in the production of $750 million worth of forest products each year.

Drain Tunnel Caves In; 2 Are Rescued

ROYAL OAK (UPI)—Two men were rescued early today after being trapped in a cave-in for more than two hours in the huge 12-Town Drain.

★ ★ ★

First reports had the men being buried under some 18 feet of dirt but it was later discovered that 20 feet of a 50-foot section had caved in and they were in the front 30 feet.

Joe W. Jones, 42, and Hubert W. Bell, 51, were pulled out at approximately 4:30 a.m. They were unharmed and treated at a local hospital and released.

Jones said he was in a similar cave-in in Denver in 1957 and that rescue operations took more than three hours.

EXPRESSED FEAR

Bell said he could hear the rescue operations going on above them and expressed fear that the drill the rescuers were using would hit a large water main, causing it to burst and flood them.

The section they were working in before it collapsed is part of a 10,000-foot tunnel for the huge drain project.

Jones and Bell said they were working in the tunnel when suddenly sand and silt started pouring in behind them. About 20 feet of the section collapsed.

★ ★ ★

A long steel shaft had been sunk and enabled rescuers to talk to the two men while they tried to free them. But the shaft was too narrow to pull the two men through.

A second hole was dug through the street and after more than two hours the two men were pulled out.

After Ortonville Rites

Couple Residing in Holly

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Residing in Holly following their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Allen Williams, who exchanged their vows in the Ortonville Methodist Church.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the former Mary Lou Ann Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steele, 5135 Hillsboro. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams, 153 Church, Ortonville.

★ ★ ★

Rhinestones outlined the Sabrina neckline of the nylon lace gown the bride chose for her wedding. Other styling features were a bouffant skirt and long, pointed sleeves.

A jeweled rose petal headpiece held her fingertip veil. Her bridal bouquet was comprised of white carnations and red roses.

Edna Steele was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Judy Williams and Jacqueline Quick, both sisters of the bridegroom.

Debra Williams, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl with Robert Steele, brother of the bride, serving as ring bearer.

Best man was John Noble. The guests were seated by Everett Cleveland and Fred Kwapis.

Accused Killer to Stand Trial

Gostlin Ruled Sane in Novi Slaying Case

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer yesterday ruled that 20-year-old James G. Gostlin is mentally competent to stand trial for the Dec. 20 hammer slaying of a Novi girl.

Judge Beer rejected a defense contention that Gostlin, of Dearborn Heights, should be committed to Ionia State Hospital as a criminal sexual psycopath.

The ruling came after a hearing at which three psychiatrists and and a psychologist testified. Though the witnesses generally agreed that Gostlin was a sexual psycopath, they differed in the particulars and Judge Beer indicated he was not convinced.

★ ★ ★

Commitment as a criminal sexual psycopath would, in effect, dismiss the first-degree murder charge against Gostlin, who is accused of slaying Shirley Husted, 11, of 2299 Austin.

Appointed defense attorney John O'Brien said he is considering an appeal of Judge Beer's ruling.

O'Brien's petition for the hearing said Gostlin "has for a number of years . . . committed assaults on minor female children."

Gostlin told police after his arrest that he had raped his 11-year-old niece, who was babysitting near the Husted home, before he attacked the Husted girl and her parents, Wesley, 40, and Rita, 33, with a hammer.

Car Collides With Train; Girl, 21, Meets Death

She was alone and pronounced dead at the scene.

Farmington Sets Hearing on Street

FARMINGTON — A proposed street improvement project for downtown Farmington will be considered at a public hearing Monday night.

Offered "to eliminate discrepancies" in curbs on Grand River Avenue, the project would include raising the street level, sloping the sidewalk and increasing the height of the curb.

Because of the better alignment of sidewalk and highway, the steps would be eliminated from the shopping district.

Distance between the two levels now varies from nine to 18 inches, necessitating three steps in some places.

If the job is undertaken, the highway will be raised eight to 10 inches, according to City Manager John D. Dinan. When new sidewalks are installed, their pitch would be increased on the side toward the store fronts.

This would make the curb eight inches high rather than the present four — but there would be no steps.

Parts of the highway and curbing marked for renovation are the southwest and northeast corners at Farmington Road, 500 feet on the north side of Grand River east from Farmington Road and about 200 feet on the south side of Grand River west from Farmington Road.

Plans have been approved by the State Highway Department which will pay for new curbing.

The rest of the estimated $20,000 cost would be borne by the property owners along the improved strip and the city at large.

It has not yet been decided how this part of the cost would be split.

After Monday night's hearing on necessity, another hearing would have to be held to establish a special assessment district.

★ ★ ★

"We could take bids Aug. 15 and expect to start the work shortly thereafter," Dinan said. "It will take a couple of weeks."

The hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the municipal building.

Troy Chief Says 'Clash' Led to Firing

TROY — Fired Police Chief David Gratopp today said a "personality clash" with City Manager David E. Firestone was the reason for his dismissal Wednesday.

He also said he had planned to retire from the position this fall.

The ousted chief added that he was going to request a hearing before the City Commission, because he believes "the people desire to know about this."

Gratopp was asked to resign early this week, but was fired Wednesday after he refused to go along with the request, according to Firestone.

★ ★ ★

Firestone said Gratopp lacked the ability to manage the 17-man police department.

Today Gratopp countered, saying Firestone had "used policemen for messenger boys around City Hall.

"We anticipated growing problems and additional work," the chief said, "but couldn't ever get the personnel to handle it."

★ ★ ★

Gratopp also accused Firestone of telling him to "go out of Troy and find a job elsewhere."

The city manager said he has been giving Gratopp both written and verbal warnings for more than a year about the chief's lack of administrative ability.

Boat Accident Fatal to Man

PORT HURON (UPI) — A Royal Oak Coast Guardman was killed early yesterday in a freak boating accident.

Gerald Yoes, a boatswain mate 3rd class, was killed instantly when a taut line with four boating cleats tied to it snapped and whiplashed. The line and cleats struck him in the head.

The Coast Guard said he and another man were attempting to free a grounded boat when the accident happened.

Thieves Roll Out Dough

DETROIT (UPI)—Thieves added insult to injury yesterday when they used a two-wheeled dolly belonging to the Good Housekeeping Co. warehouse to cart away a 1,200 pound safe containing $400 in cash.

FOR STATE DEPARTMENT — Renowned sculptor Marshall Fredericks of Bloomfield Hills and Royal Oak designed this 3-story-high statue which will adorn the courtyard of the State Department Building in Washington, D.C. Photographed from the seventh floor as it's being assembled, the statue features a 9-foot-high figure of a man straddling a huge globe, a symbolic planet in each hand.

Detroit Mayor Gets Protest

DETROIT (AP) — Fifteen Negroes staged 90-minute sit-in at Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's office yesterday demanding appointment of a Negro police commissioner and other concessions.

Mayor Cavanagh declined to see them and they departed.

Cavanagh called their demands "ridiculous and absurd" and said he did not regard the group as representatives of Detroit's Negro people.

The group, identifying themselves as members of Uhuru, a Swahili word meaning "freedom," also demanded the arrest of Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel B. Olsen, disarming of all policemen, and withdrawal of White policemen from Negro neighborhoods.

3 Landings in Cuba Told by Exiles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An anti-Castro commando group claimed credit today for three landings in Cuba announced June 20 by the Cuban Revolutionary Council and said there will be more soon.

Carlos Bandin, head of a faction of the Revolutionary Recovery Movement (MRR), which withdrew from the council after the landings were publicized, announced:

"Disembarkation No. 4 will follow and could leave in a matter of hours.

"The fifth commando group already is armed and trained.

"The sixth is training in the environs of Miami and in the Everglades."

The June landings, Bandin said, "are the start of a plan that we hope will culminate in liberation of Cuba."

The program, he added, calls for infiltration of men into Cuba for a campaign of sabotage, internal agitation and attempts on the lives of important figures in the Castro regime.

The plan is being carried out in liason with the Cuban underground, Bandin said.

There is radio contact, and underground representatives arrive periodically by small boat, then return to Cuba after consultation, he added.

Bandin said of the reported June 20 landing: "There were no men nor bullets furnished by the council. All were supplied by us."

The council, which had been criticized by other exile groups for publicity given the landings, said it had no comment at present.

34 Viet Cong Killed in Fight

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese marines overran a major guerrilla headquarters in southern Camau yesterday after engaging a platoon of Communists and killing 34, government authorities said today.

Officials said the command post was Communist headquarters for the western provinces.

An American military spokesman said a U. S. Army L19 spotter plane was downed by Red gunfire in the north central highlands yesterday.

The American pilot suffered a broken leg and was flown to the Philippines for treatment, the spokesman added. The name of the pilot was not announced.

The Saigon government also reported that government forces killed three guerrillas attacking an outpost in the Mekong Delta yesterday. It said the Reds wore Russian steel helmets and that two Russian submachine guns were captured.

Support Given PGIDC Speaks Well for City

Pontiac may well take pride in the resounding support given to the formation of a corporate entity to further the City's industrial growth. Returns still incomplete show the $100,000 capital requirement well oversubscribed.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Greater Industrial Development Corporation thus organized is now in position to exercise options on a 25-acre tract to become an industrial park, the purpose of which is to attract new industrial enterprises on a sound and equitable basis. It will also provide accessible area for expansion of new plants outgrowing initial facilities.

The scope of PGIDC ideally complements activity beginning to be evidenced on the urban renewal front, with the perimeter road an important unifying factor.

★ ★ ★

The signatures of a true cross-section of local institutions, organizations and citizens make up the honor roll of dedication to Pontiac's immediate and long-range progress.

While congratulating this public-spirited body on its contribution to a worthy cause, The PRESS highly commends the community leaders who instigated the project and the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce for advancing and guiding it.

Government Agency Distinguishes Itself

The history of domestic and international do-goodism, fostered by the second ROOSEVELT's tendency toward social experimentation, is by no means lighted with shining examples of brilliant achievement.

Reasons for the low batting average of the idealistic governmental concepts are not hard to find.

In the first place, the projects are in most cases in the realm of the abstract rather than the concrete. This imposes an almost insurmountable barrier to objective evaluation—with great latitude for divergent interpretation—of accomplishment.

★ ★ ★

In the second place, the agencies once formed usually operate beyond or beneath the ken of the public, with little general cognizance of either the aims envisioned or the progress obtained.

Finally, since so many of the programs are innovations, the administration is ipso facto in the hands of inexperienced or impractical directors.

This latter condition opens wide the door to political favoritism and nepotism—examples of which are abundant.

★ ★ ★

But by way of a praiseworthy reversal, we find the U. S. Peace Corps a highly-regarded and effective instrument of global good will.

An idea adopted by President KENNEDY, the Corps was formed two years ago amid considerably less than deafening approval.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the questionable soundness of it is lightly credited with JFK's selection of his brother-in-law, ROBERT SARGENT SHRIVER, 47, to head it.

"He told me," says Shriver, "that everyone in Washington seemed to think that the Peace Corps was going to be the biggest fiasco in history, and it would be much easier to fire a relative than a friend."

★ ★ ★

But the new director of the design held out in KENNEDY's 1960 campaign happily blends idealism with a fine background of practical, realistic experience and personal accomplishment.

Today there are 4,826 Peace Corps volunteers in 47 countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Participating and assisting in varied areas, the corpsmen have been accepted with uniform enthusiasm and appreciation by the aided countries, usually with request for wider and deeper involvement.

★ ★ ★

The success of the organization has been such that 12 other countries have imitated our venture, with West Germany about to enter the field.

It is good to see a Federal agency distinguish itself by effective administration and attainment of hoped-for results.

Distrust Remains Despite N-Pact

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It was June 14, 1946, when Bernard Baruch, U.S. delegate to the new U.N. Atomic Energy Commission, stated the American case for the future in the atomic age, or the future as it seemed then.

Less than a year before, on Aug. 6, 1945, the atomic age opened with the dropping of the first bomb on Hiroshima.

MARLOW

"We are here," Baruch told the commission, "to make a choice between the quick and the dead.

"Behind the black portent of the new atomic age lies a hope which, seized upon with faith, can work our salvation. If we fail, then we have damned every man to be a slave of fear."

He was a prophet beyond his own imagining.

★ ★ ★

He outlined the American plan: An international atomic development authority to control all phases of atomic development. Then for 17 years the nations talked about it but did nothing.

For the explosion at Hiroshima did more than destroy a city. It not only filled nations with fear of the bomb but with a profound misgiving about one another that was more unnerving than their fear of the bomb.

The Russians, to start with, wouldn't buy the Baruch plan. They had no bomb of their own then but they wouldn't let the United States have a monopoly if only until the Baruch plan became a reality, if ever.

And by 1953 they had developed their own hydrogen bomb and went on from there. In time the British and French, too, had their own explosions, the French far behind the British.

LIMITED PACT

Then last week in Moscow, after all the years of talk and distrust, the United States, Britain and Russia agreed not to have nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space or under the sea. It was a very limited agreement.

★ ★ ★

They couldn't agree to give up testing underground. And they didn't agree not to go on building more weapons, although the United States and Russia already have enough to eliminate themselves and probably half of mankind.

Even so the Moscow Agreement, limited as it was, could be considered a first step perhaps toward more far-reaching understandings. Thus it might seem the other nations, with or without the bomb, might have a sense of exhilaration.

It didn't happen. The repercussions from Hiroshima were still too intense.

In this country there was a feeling of gladness that at least something had been accomplished after 17 years but it was dulled by this first, immediate reaction: What are the Russians up to now?

Historians, looking back upon this trembling time, may feel that man's pathetic condition in 1963 was summed up unintentionally Wednesday when W. Averell Harriman addressed a luncheon at the National Press Club here.

★ ★ ★

Harriman, the American representative who reached the test ban agreement with the Russians last week, tried to allay the suspicions and the puzzlement of his audience:

"There's no secret agreement in this thing, no gimmick in it, no secret understanding."

Then, as if to be sure suspicions weren't washed away in optimism, Harriman said the agreement on a test ban didn't mean Premier Khrushchev had abandoned his hope of communizing the world. Harriman said he hadn't.

David Lawrence Says:

Troops Implement Civil Reforms

WASHINGTON — It seems incredible that, with all the denunciation that Americans have heaped on the Soviets for indoctrinating their troops with the social and political ideas of communism, the people of the United States should be reading this week in their newspapers about speeches in the halls of Congress alleging that the Kennedy administration is trying to use the armed services to propagate its doctrines of social reform.

LAWRENCE

Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, Democrat, is a high-ranking member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and chairman of its Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee.

In a speech to the Senate Wednesday, he cited the directive which has been issued by the secretary of defense ordering commanders at military bases to declare "off limits" any businesses or areas where any racial discrimination may occur. The senator said in his speech:

"It is now proposed that the military profession itself be utilized as a driving force in the establishment of a new social and political order which involves race relations and individual associations in off-base areas surrounding our military establishments . . .

SOCIAL WEAPON

"This new and previously unheart-of mission is designed to shape our military force as an instrument for social reform and can result only in irreparable injury to the military profession. In addition, it is a grave and serious challenge to the long-established and traditional concept of complete separation of the military from all political matters and activities. . . .

"Paragraph C (of the directive) places clear and heavy responsibility upon the military commander in the field of social reform. It provides:

"Every military commander has the responsibility to oppose discriminatory practices affecting his men and their dependents and to foster equal opportunity for them, not only in areas under his immediate control, but also in nearby communities where they may live or gather in off-duty hours."

Senator Stennis not only calls attention to the economic coercion involved in using military commanders to determine what places of business shall be patronized but he says the new directive brings into play the factor of influence in promotions.

Mr. Stennis declared that the new directive "will affect the promotion and career advancement of officers affected" and that he could not conceive of any step which would be more destructive of officer morale.

He quoted from a presidential commission's report which proposed that officers "showing initiative and achievement" in this activity will enhance their performance ratings and obtain favorable consideration for promotion and career advancement."

"Militarism" is a term used to refer to military men who usurp power to control civilians, but there seems to be no word except possibly "politics" to define efforts by civilians to use the military to carry on social-reform programs. Senator Stennis said:

"This may be only the beginning. If political activity is condoned and encouraged in this field, the president some day may not be able to extricate the military from other political activity that could follow."

Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana, Democrat, on the same day denounced an order by which the Federal government will withdraw contracts for the civil defense adult education program if a state doesn't sign on the dotted line an agreement against "discrimination."

He declared that "what can't be done by the law and under the law is done by executive order or by departmental directive."

Bob Considine Says:

Tycoon's 'Wild Dream' Happy Reality in Hawaii

HONOLULU—Henry J. Kaiser, now 81, goes busily about the job of building from the ground up the city of Hawaii-Kai. He is sure he will finish the job in the next ten or 15 years, and live happily thereafter among the 50,000 residents.

CONSIDINE

There are empty reaches around his own handsome home in Hawaii-Kai, but his "Kaiser pink" cranes, earth movers, jeeps and dredges continue to make the unmistakable sounds of progress. Each swing of a carpenter's hammer or slush of a plasterer's trowel adds substance to another "wild dream" of Kaiser's coming true.

They laughed when he said he could build, in some improbably short time, Hoover, Grand Coulee, Bonneville and Shasta dams, the piers for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, and 500 bridges in Cuba. They urged him to stay out of the hotly competitive automobile business, but in the ensuing battle he provided the world with the Jeep. It was suicidal to buck the entrenched aluminum colossi, as well as the steel and cement giants. But his companies made hundreds of millions in those three fields. They said behind his back that he must be getting senile when, upon having difficulty getting a hotel suite on a visit here in 1954, he bought a slum area just beyond the end of the Waikiki Beach sand and built the Hawaiian Village Hotel and Convention Hall for which he designed a new aluminum (Kaiser) dome.

The man should have been thinking of retiring. He had behind him more monuments than are almost ever allotted a single person: fleets of Liberty ships, a huge medical care program, hospitals, clinics, foundations and 51 assorted companies bearing his name or imprimatur.

"To me it seems that nothing short of the wildest forces of nature and time and the finger of Jehovah have changed the face of the earth as much as Henry J. Kaiser has changed it," Rep. Wright Patman of Texas said on the floor of the House on the occasion of Kaiser's recent 81st birthday. Patman was proposing him for a mythical congressional medal of honor.

'Cut Aid, Balance Budget to Salvage Gold'

President Kennedy said to a few legislators: "If France and Germany should present their dollar credits for payment, the U.S. would be bankrupt." The remark was prompted by the plight of our gold stock. U.S. gold totals $15.633 billion. Gold obligations and commitments to foreigners amount to $27.350 billion; domestic gold requirements stand at $12.755 billion. The total U.S. deficit is a shocking $24.467 billion! This has arisen principally from foreign aid and military assistance. Secretary Dillon warned: "I don't think we can run deficits of this magnitude much longer. Maybe one or two years."

★ ★ ★

Despite this warning the plan is to continue present scale foreign aid and military assistance. As deficits continue so will the outflow of gold continue. It can lead to bankruptcy. And this means complete economic chaos for us and the free world. Only deep cuts in foreign aid and in overseas military spending and a balanced federal budget will restore confidence in the dollar, and thereby arrest the flight of gold.

Great Crisis

The Chicago Sun-Times

This nation is facing its greatest internal crisis since 1861. The righteousness of the Negro's move cannot be disputed. The methods followed by some of the proponents, both white and Negro, should be deplored.

★ ★ ★

The head of the Chicago chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality offered his resignation. The offer was a protest against the "militant tactics" adopted by some of the CORE members. The recent sit-in demonstrations at the board of education are an example. The demonstrators defied their leaders, control passed to a small militant group and there was violence and damage. The right to demonstrate peacefully is inherently American. That must not be denigrated because of the action of small, uncontrollable elements within an economic segment of our society.

The leaders seeking redress or recognition assume the responsibility of control. The incidents at the board of education in Chicago; the picketing of construction sites in New York and other demonstrations accompanied by violence are examples of a lack of civic responsibility on the part of the leaders and the participants.

There are some who feel that violence for the sake of violence is vitally necessary. The leaders of the Negro movement must control this element. Otherwise eveything they work for will be lost in a wave of antagonism that is beginning to become evident. The Negro is rightfully asking for equality. The right to peacefully demonstrate to attain that equality is not questioned. But the Negro is also bidding to be accepted as a responsible citizen of the United States. Violence is not a credential for the assumption of that responsibility. It is now time for responsible leadership to become evident in this fight.

It has been said that "Michigan raises half of the cherries of the world and that half of Michigan's crop is grown in the region of which Traverse City is the center." It was in this region that the first cherry orchard was planted early in the century.

★ ★ ★

From this small beginning the industry has developed to its present proportions, and in 1928 the business men of Traverse City arranged the National Cherry Festival. The significance of the festival was defined by Arthur H. Vandenberg, late Senator from Michigan at the festival in 1931:

★ ★ ★

"The National Cherry Festival is one of the important events of our national life. The country as a whole will come to acknowledge this fact as time goes on. In the Japanese empire the cherry festival has long become one of their great and useful symbolisms. It is a very beautiful thing to observe the universal enthusiasm with which the Japanese empire greets its cherry blossoms. But they are without fruit. In our own country we have not only the beauty and inspiration which flower with a fully equivalent display of blossoms: we also have the utility which comes with a great contribution to the wholesome and delectable food supply of the American people."

Six of the victims were taken to Walson Army Hospital at Fort Dix for treatment of their injuries.

Public information officer 1st Lt. Wade T. Nixdorff was unable to disclose further details.

First reports indicated about 20 ambulances were rushed to the scene of the accident — one mile north of the military installation's southern boundary.

The Army ordered men out in boats to search a lake adjacent to the accident scene for possible victims.

The injured lying along the highway were treated by both military and civilian medics.

The trainees, dressed in dark green fatigues and carrying rifles, were marching along a dimly lit section of the highway when the car crashed into them.

Army officers reported that a platoon sergeant was carrying a fluorescent paddle and small flashlight at the time.

The car which struck the soldiers bore a 78th Infantry sticker and was believed registered to Robert Keyser of Toms River, N.J. The soldiers were identified tentatively as members of Co. D of the 3rd Training Regiment.

3 Hurt in French Fight

MONTPELLIER, France (UPI) — Two soldiers were injured and an Algerian consular attache suffered cuts and bruises last night when French paratroopers and Algerians clashed. Police were investigating the incident.

5 Cities to See Televised Tape of Play Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. has completed plans to televise a taped version of a play which will be shown in five cities the night it opens on Broadway.

Contracts were signed Thursday between Westinghouse and William Hammerstein and Michael Ellis, coproducers of "The Advocate," a three-act drama about the Sacco-Vanzetti case set to open Oct. 13 at the Anta Theater. It will star James Daly.

"The Advocate" will be taped on a duplicate set in a television studio. There may be live pickup of the theater audience.

The play will be shown on Westinghouse stations in Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

Fear Sparks Reprisals

Chinese Persecuted in India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Chinese community in India is probably the most insignificant—but the most harassed—in all of Asia.

Chinese residents number only 17,219 in a total India population of 450 million.

Some 3,000 members of this small group have been jailed or deported in the past year. Thousands of others have suffered socially or economically for being Chinese.

* * *

Persecution was the inevitable result of Communist China's border raid on India last autumn. The invasion led to spy scares, anti-Chinese riots and rigid controls on the movements of Chinese residents.

But before the Red invasion, the Chinese here probably met with less prejudice than in any other Asian nation. They lived quietly and well, as carpenters, shoemakers, dentists and small businessmen.

The Chinese community was too small to accumulate the kind of economic power which has created resentment toward them in other nations.

Their preference for keeping apart from the rest of the population, blended smoothly with the Indians' own system of watertight caste groups and religious communities.

The Chinese began settling in India 80 years ago. Most of them landed in Calcutta, where half of their own community still lives.

The Calcutta "Chinatown" ran its own schools, and published three daily newspapers. The Chinese were so accepted as part of the city that they could vote in municipal elections, even though only a few of them had bothered to qualify for Indian citizenship.

Smaller groups of Chinese settled in other big cities, or scattered through the growing, frontier state of Assam. By 1959, the rustic little Assamese capital, Shillong, boasted 176 Chinese restaurants.

Every one of these restaurants has now been closed. All the Chinese have been driven from Assam.

Many of these uprooted Chinese were imprisoned in the Deoli Internment camp, in the Rajasthan Desert. A total of 3,000 were locked up and slated for deportation.

About 2,300 of these have left, or will soon leave, for Communist China.

The remaining 700 say they prefer the Indian camps to the Communist mainland.

* * *

But anti-communism is small protection for the individual Chinese, thanks to the Indian government's long-time policy of alternately ignoring and downgrading Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime.

The Indian government was itself responsible for pushing thousands of Chinese residents into the arms of Peking, by making them choose between Communist citizenship or the vulnerable status of stateless persons.

While Nationalist-Communist differences were breaking out in Calcutta street fights in the late 1950s, the government was publicly supporting Peking while ordering the expulsion, in 1958, of a Nationalist newspaper editor.

* * *

This policy helped lump most Chinese together as officially pro-Peking. The policy of nonalignment continues to foster that impression.

The nonaligned propaganda machine pours out daily attacks on "Chinese imperialism," or "the dragon."

It never mentions that the dragon is a Communist, or that millions of Chinese still oppose its regime.

* * *

For the unlettered Indian masses, it is hard to believe that a Chinese can be anything but an enemy.

Motorists Encounter Pickle Jam on Curve

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Motorists traveling on Highway 101 found themselves in a real pickle.

A truck loaded with pickles had spilled 21 barrels of them as it rounded a curve, completely covering the roadway with a slippery coat of pickles. It took the fire department and highway crews over two hours to clean up the mess.

'Cleo' Sparks 2nd Lawsuit

Movie Head Accuses Epic Producer of Libel

NEW YORK (UPI) —"Cleopatra," the most expensive movie ever made, has sparked another big lawsuit.

★ ★ ★

Spiros Skouras, board chairman of 20th-Century Fox, filed a $3-million libel suit in U.S. District Court yesterday against Walter Wanger.

Wanger, erstwhile producer of "Cleopatra," already has filed a $2-million damage and breach of contract suit against Fox, Skouras, Fox executive Darryl F. Zanuck and New York Post columnist Earl Wilson.

Skouras' libel suit concerned the recently published paperback book, "My Life With Cleopatra," written by Wanger in conjunction with Joe Hyams, according to court papers. Skouras said the book pictured him as "incompetent and irresponsible as a film executive."

★ ★ ★

The book, Skouras said, has held him up to public scorn and caused him "pain and anguish" worth $2 million.

Wanger was given a film credit as producer of the $40-million movie but was cut from its staff before it was completed. Wilson wrote an article claiming that Wanger had been fired.

Blood Test Set for Brando, Child in Paternity Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Marlon Brando and the infant daughter of a Filipino dancer will undergo court-ordered blood tests before an Aug. 15 hearing in connection with the mother's paternity suit against the actor.

A superior court judge set the hearing date yesterday when dancer Marie Cui testified that Brando acknowledged as recently as last Friday that the "child is probably mine."

Miss Cui, 25, seeks $775 monthly temporary support from the actor on her claim that he fathered her 5-month-old daughter. She said Brando, 37, had paid expenses incidental to the birth, but since has refused to pay the child's expenses.

★ ★ ★

Judge Edward R. Brand said he would appoint two doctors to make the tests. An attorney representing Brando, who did not appear in court, said tests already had been made. But Miss Cui's attorney, Bernard Cohen, said he was not willing to accept the findings.

Agree on Joint Efforts on Re-Entry of Capsules

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The United States, Britian and Australia have agreed to undertake a joint program of basic research into re-entry of space capsules into the earth's atmosphere.

Acting Defense Minister Shane Paltridge said today "project dazzle" will employ black knight research rockets fired from Australia's Woomera range. The project's purpose is to help in the development of new means for identifying and tracking re-entry objects.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Dust Is Sometimes the Culprit of Allergy

Q—I have an allergy to dust. What is the treatment?

A—In some persons with a hard-to-define allergy, common house dust may be the culprit. But often it is hard to pinpoint the element in the dust that is responsible.

BRANDSTADT

Dust is a combination of human and animal dandruff, molds from both outdoors and indoors, lint, clay, and soot.

The treatment is similar to that for any other allergy. Avoid contact with dust, especially by inhallation, as much as possible. Your doctor may prescribe epinephrine and antihistamines for relief of asymptoms. For long-range protection, get desensitizing shots.

Although commercially prepared house dust antigen can be used for this purpose, the best results are usually obtined by using a preparation made from the sweepings in your home.

Q—Tests show that my adrenal glands are overactive. Is this Cushing's disease? Could it cause cancer?

A—Cushing's disease shows up in an excess of fat which accumulates in the face, causing "moon-face"; in back of the shoulders, causing "buffalo hump"; and in the abdomen. The blood pressure is increased, the victim tires easily, there is an excessive growth of hair on the usually nonhairy parts, there may be bleeding under the skin, and the bones become weak through a lack of ability to retain calcium. As a result, they may collapse.

With more than half of the victims, a tumor of the adrenal gland is the cause. Changes in the pitutary gland are usually present, but these are probably a result, and not the cause, of the disease.

Since some of the tumors of the adrenal associated with Cushing's disease are malignant, it would be more correct to say that this type of cancer is a cause of the hyperactivity of the adrenals than that the hyperactivity caused the cancer.

★ ★ ★

Surgical removal of the adrenals is the recommended treatment, in any case. This was not possible before adrenal cortical hormones became available but now, with these suppliments to replace the essential adrenal secretions, persons with Cushing's disease can be restored to a more normal life.

Q—My right hand turns numb when I go to bed every night. What would cause this?

A—Numbness can result from injury to a sensory nerve in the hand or to a disease anywhere throughout the sensory pathways. It is impossible to pinpoint the cause of your numbness without a thorough examination.

★ ★ ★

Q—What is radiculitis? My doctor has me wear a body brace for it.

A—Radiculitis is an inflammation of the root of one of the large nerves that branches off from the spinal cord. A body brace should help you to avoid making movements that would irritate this nerve. Treatment depends on the cause.

'Serious National Problem'

Aid Dropout, JFK Asks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kenniedy has assigned Americans interested in education some August homework — help convince teen-agers they should finish high school and not drop out.

The President opened his news conference yesterday with a statement warning that the dropout is a "serious national problem."

He said that, unless drastic steps are taken, past experience shows that 400,000 young Americans will fail to return to high school this fall and another 700,000 will drop out before the end of the school year.

Kennedy pointed out that the labor market is increasingly demanding higher levels of education.

"Young people must be made aware they are shaping their whole lives by this decision," he said. "I ask all American parents to urge their children to go back to school this fall and to do everything possible to enable them to do so."

★ ★ ★

He also appealed to community leaders to assist in the stay-in-school program.

"This is something practical we all can do," Kennedy said.

He also announced he is allocating $250,000 from the presidential emergency fund to help schools throughout the country provide services of guidance counselors during the month of August when they normally would be on vacation.

Negotiations Bring Increase in Wages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations concluded during the first six months of 1963 brought wage increases averaging 4.2 per cent to some 900,000 workers affected, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said that those receiving the increases comprised about seven-tenths of all 1.25 million workers benefited by contract negotiations during the first half of this year.

★ ★ ★

Those not receiving wage increases received fringe benefits not translated into money value by the bureau.

Daddy's Caddy Draws Attention on Sunday

DEFOREST, Wis. (AP) — When the Robert Ethun family goes out a Sunday drive their car may not be the newest on the road but it attracts plenty of attention.

The family's "fun" car is a 1913 Cadillac which was restored by Ethun, an antique car fancier. The old Phaeton, with its black body, leather seats, convertible buggy top and big red wheels, provides plenty of room for Mr. and Mrs. Ethun, their daughter and three sons.

Trip Must Be a Bunny Hop

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Bobby Tomala, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Tomala, watching his uncle pack for one of his frequent business trips, asked where he was going this time.

★ ★ ★

"Cedar Rapids," replied the traveler.

"I want to go see the rabbits too," insisted Bobby.

Pyrrhus Used Elephants Before Hannibal's Trek

ROME (AP) — Hannibal was not the first to invade Italy with elephants.

★ ★ ★

King Pyrrhus of Epirus, now Albania, brought 20 war elephants to the battle of Heraclea in 280 B.C. He won overwhelming victories against the Romans there and the following year at Asculum. But his losses were so heavy he said "One more such victory and I am lost."

JFK 'Trying' for Scribes in Viet Nam

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — President Kennedy wants the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) to know he's doing his best to deal with conditions complained of by American reporters in South Viet Nam.

Charges that American reporters in the troubled Asian nation are being harassed were forwarded to Kennedy two weeks ago in a letter from the ASNE president, Herbert Brucker, editor of The Hartford Courant.

In a letter received by Brucker yesterday, Kennedy described the situation in South Viet Nam as "peculiarly complex" but said he is doing all he can to change the conditions that are handicapping American newsmen.

"It is difficult for me to see what we have left undone," he added.

Brucker had referred to an alleged assault on American reporters July 7 by Vietnamese plainclothes police. Even American officials, he said, occasionally "do not support efforts to report events as they are."

★ ★ ★

"It is not yet certain that all possible efforts are being made to prevent further deliberate obstacles to free reporting," Brucker added.

Navy to Check Storm Suspect

MIAMI (UPI) — A Navy hurricane hunter plane will leave Puerto Rico today to investigate a suspicious cloud area that was spotted east of the Antilles by the Tiros weather satellite.

The Miami Weather Bureau requested the investigation yesterday after the Tiros satellite photographed the suspicious cloud formation.

Meanwhile, a weak to moderate easterly wave moved into the windward passage between Cuba and Hispanola today, showering rain in its wake.

★ ★ ★

Weather forecasters said the wave was carrying top winds of 25 miles an hour and was moving west at about 15 mph. Forecasters said no intensification in the wave is expected.

Man Finds His Wife Armed to the Teeth

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—When his wife put the bite on him, her husband put the bite on her too—for a divorce.

★ ★ ★

After testifying that police once had to break his wife's teeth-grip on his arm, the man was granted a divorce in circuit court. "I still have the scar on my arm," he declared.

Links Yanks and Buddhists

SAIGON (AP)—South Viet Nam's vice president voiced suspicion today that Americans are involved in the Buddhist antigovernment campaign and said he has asked U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr. to investigate.

Vice President Nguyen Ngoc Tho was asked at a news conference whether the Saigon government had any direct evidence of foreign intervention in Buddhist problems.

"Actually, I shouldn't say," Tho said, "but there have been rumors of such things. I have asked Ambassador Nolting to verify if the rumors are justified."

Nolting said he could not comment on the remark until he had seen an official transcript of the conference.

★ ★ ★

High Vietnamese government officials have frequently charged that Americans were interfering in domestic affairs, including plots against the government. The United States has repeatedly denied it.

Tho noted that the government has offered to set up a commission of Buddhist leaders and government officials for on-the-spot investigation of complaints.

Buddhist leaders earlier this week rejected any more conferences with the government until their key demands have been met. One of these demands is that the government publicly accept blame for several recent bloody incidents.

South Viet Nam's leading scientist, Buu Hoi, met with his mother, a Buddhist nun, who has volunteered to burn herself alive if Buddhist demands are not met.

Buu Hoi returned from France yesterday. He is Vietnamese ambassador to several African states.

★ ★ ★

Friends of the family said he told his 67-year-old mother, "There are many ways for supporting the Buddhists besides suicide."

Afghans, Red China Settle Border Strip

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Afghanistan and Red China initialed a treaty today defining their narrow strip of common border in a remote mountain range.

The easternmost tip of Afghanistan's Wakham Panhandle, sandwiched between the Soviet Union and Pakistan, touches on China's Sinkiang Province. Mountains in the area rise to 20,000 feet.

The border was outlined in the 19th century but never has been marked.

★ ★ ★

The Afghan-Chinese treaty is to be signed in Peking, it was announced. Details will be published here and in Peking.

On June 7, a 73-year-old Buddhist priest, Thich Quang Duc, burned himself alive in the middle of a public intersection. Since his martyrdom, he has become a symbol of Buddhist resistance. The Buddhists contend that they are being persecuted by the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, which is dominated by Roman Catholics.

Purse Snatcher Robs Star's Former Wife

LONDON (AP)—Princess Sylvia Djordjadze, former wife of Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Clark Gable, was robbed Thursday of a handbag she said contained $12,500 worth of jewelry.

The bag was snatched in a West End shop.

Nighties at Noon

Bored Diners Get Snappy Fashion Show

By DIAL TORGERSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — That's funny, you think, walking into the dim, cool restaurant from the blazing noon outside. That girl by the end booth seems to be naked.

★ ★ ★

Not quite, you realize, as your eyes adjust to the gloom. She's wearing something. It looks like a leopard skin bikini.

A bikini? At high noon? In a restaurant?

"Hi!" says the blue-eyed blonde, when she gets to your booth. "Like my suit? It's simulated leopard. Helanca stretch. It's $22.98, or $19.98 in plain colors."

That's right. It's for sale. You have just walked into what must surely be the ultimate in dry goods merchandising: The blue-plate special fashion show.

★ ★ ★

About noon each day tiring businessmen crowd into suburban bistros to see what two martinis and a club sandwich will do for the state of the world.

And 50 times each week, in Southern California suburbs from the foothills to the sea, the men get something extra: a fashion review.

★ ★ ★

The number of fashion shows presented each week is steadily growing, despite the dark suspicions of countless wives and barbed comments by innumerable secretaries.

★ ★ ★

Leaders of professional modeling groups and fashion salons have termed the bistro offerings mere "skin shows." One newspaper denounced them as immoral.

COMBINED EFFORT

The whole thing started about four years ago by a restaurant owner with a bored, male lunch-eon trade and a lingerie store owner who couldn't get men into her shop.

The lingerie lady draped the fluff on statuesque girls, and marched them past the businessmen at the restaurant.

After the first shock things worked out this way:

Businessmen crowded into the fashion show restaurants to ogle and chat with pretty girls clad in bikinis, baby dolls, negligees, bathing suits and the like.

The restaurants found themselves with a show so spectacular the customers forgot to complain about the service.

And the lingerie sales were terrific.

"The average man doesn't want to go into a lingerie shop to pick out something for his wife," said Merridy Bell, a retailer who was staging a show in a San Gabriel Valley restaurant. "Here they can see just what it looks like, make their selection, and I go out to the car, get it, and gift wrap it on the spot."

One of the models, dark-eyed Renee Mishkin, paused to explain what it's like to wander around a crowded restaurant in a nighty.

"Oh, it shakes you up, at first," said Renee, 27, happily married, and the mother of two boys and a girl. "It takes a while to get used to. I live in Hollywood, 20 miles away, so I rarely see anyone who knows me.

★ ★ ★

"But I look across a table now and then and there's someone I know. Once it was my husband who dropped in. It shakes you up, all right."

★ ★ ★

Renee was a garment district fashion model in New York before coming to Los Angeles.

"I get $10 a show, four or five days a week, plus a commission on anything I sell," she said. "This way I can make $70 a week for just a few hours' work."

★ ★ ★

So the girls make good money, the businessmen go back to work cheered and refreshed, their wives get negligees for birthdays, and the restaurants prosper.

Who gets hurt?

"Us," said one of four girls sitting together at a table. "We're secretaries. We have to buy our own lunches. And negligees? Are you kidding?"

U.S. to Urge U.N. Restraint

Wants Moderation in S. Africa Policies

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States planned today to counsel moderation among African nations seeking sanctions against South Africa for her racial discrimination policies.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson was listed to speak at the morning session of the Security Council, which is considering South Africa's segregation or "apartheid" program.

A few hours later, he was scheduled to leave to join the American party attending the signing of the test-ban agreement in Moscow.

★ ★ ★

Before leaving, Stevenson was expected to caution the 32 African U. N. members that extreme measures taken against South Africa would harm no one but the United Nations itself.

There has been talk of demands by the Africans for the expulsion of South Africa from the United Nations or an arms embargo.

★ ★ ★

But informed sources said demands for expulsion or the imposition of sanctions were voted down by African delegates yesterday in agreement with the U.S. policy of moderation.

★ ★ ★

U.S. sources have let it be known an American vote would be cast in favor of an arms embargo provided it were understood the embargo applied only to arms which might be used for police work against Africans.

★ ★ ★

The United States could not go along with a total embargo on all arms shipments, they said. It was not immediately clear whether this was what the Africans were seeking.

Scranton Declines Spot in Presidential Primary

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania Thursday declined an invitation to run in West Virginia's presidential primary election next year.

★ ★ ★

Scranton, a Republican, said he was not a candidate for president.

Jan. 1 was not observed as New Year's Day until 1753, the year England adopted the Gregorian calendar. Prior to that it was on March 25 in England and all her colonies.

Rail Union Threatens to Fight JFK at Polls

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — At the gleaming marble-and-glass headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, a large picture of President John F. Kennedy is draped in black crepe. The political connotation is obvious.

A high official of the union, commenting on the macabre exhibit, warned: "whether or not the work rules dispute is settled by the Aug. 30 deadline, there will be a real political maelstrom in next year's election."

RUTH MONTGOMERY

The railway brotherhoods have historically endorsed an overwhelming majority of Democratic candidates, despite the fact that they have backed more Republicans than any of the other labor unions.

Now convinced that the administration they helped to elect has let them down, they are angrily threatening to take their fight to the ballot boxes in next year's presidential election.

★ ★ ★

The brotherhoods charge that railroad management has refused to bargain in good faith.

Blaming the President, a top spokesman declared: "Management has made no attempt at real collective bargaining since Kennedy announced that a railroad strike could not be tolerated, and Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz has repeatedly said much the same thing. This gives management a perfect excuse to sit tight."

At issue are 40 to 50 thousand firemen and brakemen's jobs, which management says are no longer necessary with diesel operation. Several presidential fact-finding boards have ruled in favor of management.

The brotherhoods claim that at least 50,000 additional jobs will be affected if the new work rules go into effect.

The brotherhoods are vigorously fighting JFK's request for congressional action to refer the dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) for what amounts to compulsory arbitration.

★ ★ ★

Labor leaders, charging that ICC is management-minded, insist that trainmen could not get a fair deal there.

For instance, only a few weeks before the President's action, the brotherhoods took the unusual step of filing a suit against the ICC, charging it with "arbitrary, capricious" action and abuse of its powers in permitting a merger of the Central of Georgia railroad with Southern.

JOBS CUT IN HALF

Thanks to mounting mergers, railroad jobs have been cut in half during the past 10 years, to 750,000.

Besides the threatened loss of another 50- to 100,000 jobs by work rules change, the brotherhoods point out that 75 per cent of the railroads in the country are now in the process of merger.

★ ★ ★

Just before the Cuban crisis, the ICC examiner had recommended approval of a merger between the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard railroads—the two main lines serving Florida.

When it was discovered that Russia had installed offensive missiles in Cuba, such vast quantities of troops and material were rushed to Key West that the two railroads had to borrow rolling equipment from all over the country, and all of their tracks were used to capacity.

Had the merger already gone through, 1,000 miles of track in Florida would have been ripped up, greatly slowing the mass movement.

★ ★ ★

Unions contend that this is only a sample of the far greater catastrophe that could result from impending mergers, if the U.S. had to transport troops and equipment cross country, as it did during World War II.

★ ★ ★

Further, the Florida East Coast Railroad — the only line serving our vital Cape Canaveral missile base — has been on strike for seven months. The company refuses to pay the 10-cent-an-hour pay raise which all other lines granted to the nonoperating brotherhood.

The railway union is pinning its fading hopes on a Senate resolution backed by Sen. Vance Hartke and 20 others, to investigate the finances and ownership of U.S. railroads.

Although the railroads are required to file with ICC their 30 largest stockholders, almost all those listed are Wall Street brokerage houses, or foreign banks.

Three of the largest stockholders of Pennsylvania Railroad are listed merely as Swiss banks.

★ ★ ★

"Nobody knows who really calls the shots on railroads and the cutback of passenger service," a union executive complained, "because the real owners are a secret.

★ ★ ★

"It is therefore possible that a foreign power could acquire enough stock to rip up our rail tracks through mergers, and cripple the use of railroads in national emergencies."

Deepening Crisis

Unscrupulous Profiteers Exploit Negroes

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One day in June 1962, a real estate broker dropped in at a home in a town far out on Long Island.

Were the owners interested in selling their home? They were not.

They should be, the broker advised. Soon it would have no value. The reason: Negroes were living in the neighborhood.

★ ★ ★

The owners, who are white, still were not interested. The broker left his business card in case they changed their minds. He went next door to pay a similar call.

The broker's enterprise was nipped in midspiel when New York state lifted his license for "blockbusting," which is considered "against the public interest."

★ ★ ★

Blockbusting — inducing the panic sale of property at a loss when Negroes move into a white neighborhood — is only one of many ways in which individuals can profit from racial segregation and discrimination.

★ ★ ★

There are other ways in which the Negro is exploited—not necessarily because he is black but because being black has placed him in a vulnerable social, cultural, economic position.

NORTHERN PROFITEERS

Exploitation in housing has been the subject of numerous inquiries in metropolitan areas in the North. Substandard housing reaps enormous profits for landlords through a variety of techniques: reducing large units into many small ones, charging high rents on the basis of persons occupying the quarters, drastically reducing services and upkeep.

AP Photofax

A WAY OUT? — New York children, fenced into their Harlem apartment, are symbolic of the Negroes who, according to their leaders, are a captive market. They must often pay too much for everything, because they can go nowhere else.

Even in such things as the purchase of food, Negroes contend they have paid a double premium: higher prices and lower quality. A large chain was accused recently of having different price structures in New York in stores dealing with predominantly white customers and those with Negro and Puerto Rican customers. The Negro customers allegedly paid more for the same goods. The company attributed the situation to store management error.

★ ★ ★

One of the major complaints of Negroes in the North is that they have been shortchanged in job opportunities. While no man may profit directly from such a system, in a sense the white worker profits in reduced competition for his job. It is in the struggle for jobs that the North has witnessed some of its worse violence.

In New York, Philadelphia and other cities, the Negro has been demonstrating in demand of jobs.

Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) has been particularly active, and heads have been cracked as pickets blocked movement of supply vehicles or sought to keep workers from going on the job. Some construction has been halted by pickets.

It is almost axiomatic in the Negro community that Negroes pay more for less. Reginald A. Johnson, associate director for housing of the National Urban League, calls it "the race tax."

Since the business of profiteering in race is a shadowy operation there are no good estimates of its profits. But a self-proclaimed blockbuster, writing under an assumed name in the Saturday Evening Post, said in effect:

"If you can't make $100,000 a year, you're loafing."

HOW IT WORKS

Blockbusting usually works like this:

Elm Street is all white. The houses are not new; perhaps they are a bit over the hill. A few blocks away, there is an all-Negro neighborhood.

One day, a white family moves away. A real estate speculator sells the house to a Negro family. The Negroes move in.

The speculator contacts Brown, another white Elm Street homeowner. He reminds Brown of his Negro neighbors, adding with a knowing look, "And you know what they do to property values."

★ ★

The speculator offers to buy the house. Brown agrees to sell. He sets the price at $12,500. The speculator laughs. With Negroes in the neighborhood and more certain to move in, he says, he couldn't get more than $10,000 for it. Brown sells at $10,000.

The house is offered to Smith, a Negro, for $15,000. It's inflated and Smith knows it but the house and the neighborhood are better than those usually available to Negroes. Smith buys.

The speculator takes his $5,000 next house, the next block, the next town.

Blockbusting is the most spectacular way in which unscrupulous people reap a financial windfall from the fact that one race is often uncomfortable in the presence of another. But all methods have a common denominator: The Negro is a captive market.

"The white person can escape," says Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the Urban League. "The Negro can't."

Unspectacular but steady profits are made, Negro leaders say, in the so-called Negro ghettos of the North — Harlem in New York, the South Side in Chicago, Fillmore Street in San Francisco.

Ghetto landlords, most of them white but some Negro, are able to make money without spending much.

"They don't have to worry about improving the property," says Dr. Warren Banner of the Urban League. "The Negro isn't going to move. Where would he go? The owners just milk the property and forget it."

Some owners keep their properties in repair. A noticeable number don't.

RAMPANT VIOLATIONS

Last spring, inspectors discovered 91 violations of the health code in a Harlem tenement. They included rat infestation, disrepair, accumulated refuse and inadequate heat.

★ ★ ★

Race profits also are made on the money market. Some channels for obtaining money are closed to the Negroes, particularly in mortgage loans.

"The money we lend is not our own," says a Chicago banker. "We must invest it in sound paper. Negroes just have a tough time meeting our mortgage standards."

★ ★ ★

"When a person applies for a loan," says Banner, "the bank looks at his job and his collateral. It relates this information to its experience with people in similar situations.

"Negroes are most likely to have marginal jobs with less security. Generally speaking, the neighborhoods into which Negroes are permitted to move are the neighborhoods no one else wants. The house is not worth much as collateral."

The speculator, of course, is always willing to step in to help for a price.

★ ★ ★

Banner cites as an example the case of a Negro who had a chance to buy a house at its market price of $17,000 and wound up paying $21,000 through a speculator when the bank turned down his loan. handle," says Banner. "The house handle," says Banner. "The house is old because that is usually the only type they will sell to a Negro. He has no money left for repairs. He has to rent out rooms to make ends meet."

"Segregation," Young says, "invariably means inferior schools which in turn means a ready source of cheap, unskilled labor. The Negro doesn't make much money. He is confined to the ghetto, the slum.

"The small merchant on the corner gives him ghetto credit. The merchant can charge more for his goods. The Negro has to pay. He can' tgo anywhere else."

U Thant Asks Yemen Retreat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has asked Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic again to get out of the civil war in Yemen, authoritative sources report.

Under an agreement last April, Saudi Arabia was to suspend military aid to the deposed Yemeni royalists and the United Arab Republic was to withdrawn an estimated 28,000 troops it sent to help the republican regime.

The U.N. sources said Thant made his appeal because of reports that neither side had lived up to the agreement.

Saudi Arabia's Mecca Radio claimed yesterday that followers of the deposed Yemeni king, Mohammed Al-Badr, have launched a march on the republican capital of San'a from 70 miles away.

Flower Seeds Giving Kicks?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Vance Hartke says the reason morning glory seeds are selling so well is that teen-agers have found they can get their kicks from eating them.

Hartke, an Indiana Democrat, asked the Senate Commerce Committee yesterday to investigate whether sale of the seeds should be controlled. He said the seeds contain a substance like that found in a hallucination-producing drug called LSD25 which, he said, is a dangerous and violent poison.

Long-Time Detroiter Succumbs at Age 104

DETROIT (UPI) — Funeral services will be held tomorrow for one of Wayne County's oldest residents, Frank Perry, who died yesterday at the age of 104.

Perry moved to Detroit nearly 50 years ago when he took a job with the Department of Public Works. His wife died in 1947 and up until the time of his death, he lived with his son.

Expenditures of state governments in the United States increased from $15.1 billion in the fiscal year 1950 to $34.7 billion in the fiscal year 1961.

Girl Starts Family War

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son brought his girl (from a large city) home for us to meet. She is 21, and our son is 24. The girl was invited to be our guest for as long as she wishes.

ABBY

We have four other children, from 12 to 19. We welcomed this girl with open arms, but she started a war the first night she was here.

She wears nylon, see-through baby doll pajamas, and thinks nothing of coming out in the evening to watch TV in that outfit. And in front of everybody!

My husband is only 43, Abby, and that is not old. The younger children remark that daddy is wearing sun glasses in the house so nobody can see his eyes roll around.

My son says he doesn't see anything wrong with it. I offered the girl my red and green plaid bathrobe, but she refused it. How can I impress upon her that it isn't right to sit around in front of my family like that?

AT A LOSS

DEAR AT: No 21-year-old girl can be this naive. Tell your son if he doesn't see anything wrong with it, YOU do. Give him five minutes in which to straighten her out. And if he doesn't do it — its your assignment, Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Silly as this may seem, I would like to clear something up. I am a bachelor by choice. I live with a divorced sister, age 71.

She has a habit of yawning. I know it is no crime to yawn, but you should see my sister! She opens her mouth so wide it is a wonder she doesn't dislocate her jaw.

She never makes an effort to stifle her yawn even slightly, nor does she cover her mouth. Correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't it possible to yawn with one's mouth closed?

I do it all the time. It is not quite as satisfying as yawning with an open mouth, but in public, it's rude to show one's tonsils.

My sister tells me I am crazy, that no one can yawn with his mouth closed. Well, I do. Am I the rare bird? Or is she just stubborn?

KEEP ME NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: It IS possible to yawn with one's mouth closed. But few people have the control to do it. There is no excuse, however, for failing to cover one's mouth while yawning.

DEAR ABBY: I think Aggie's trick with the cat food canapes was a good one! Your readers can be assured that fresh cat food would never hurt anybody; their food is as carefully inspected as ours — if not more so.

And somebody ought to tell "Must Know" that if one gets sick after a cocktail party, it wasn't the CANAPES.

New Book Tells How to Flunk

MONTICELLO, Ill. (UPI) — Students at the Monticello College for women know what it takes to flunk.

W. F. Starkey, the college's director of information, prepared what he called "a guide for college freshmen," to be used only if the girls want to fail.

Starkey's list of things to do led off with "classes," which he said, "the women should attend as few as possible. This will give you more time for such all-important character-rounding activities as bridge, beer drinking and sleeping."

Second on Starkey's list was "books," which he advised, "don't open any more than is absolutely necessary because unused text books bring a higher resale price at the end of the year."

"Cars" were third. Starkey said automobiles on the campus "will provide transportation for week-night dating . . . and a means of escaping from the daily grind of classes."

Starkey said of "organizations," join as many as possible, and "do a good job in these organizations and don't let studies interfere."

How Much Money Should Coed Get?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

It's fairly simple to figure college costs when you're dealing with the big items, such as tuition, lodging, and transportation. But when it comes to those vague but vital little extras—occasional new clothes, snacks, entertainment, maybe the beauty shop—that's when parents begin to flounder. Just what is a reasonable allowance for a college-going daughter?

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley:

Our daughter goes away to college this fall and we are at a loss as to the proper way of determining her allowance. Since she is the first to go away, and none of our friends have children of this age, I have no one to ask.

MARY FEELEY

There is no financial problem, but we don't want to give her too much either. Her tuition and board will be paid by us. I assume her allowance (by the month and placed in a checking account) must cover everything else—books, snacks, beauty parlor, occasional clothes, entertainment (when there are no dates) and anything else that might come up.

* * *

She is excellent in budgeting her money, but we don't want her to worry about running short. Any information you are able to give will be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. E. K., "Midwest"

Dear Mrs. K.:

I think you'd get the soundest advice from the dean of women at the college your daughter is planning to attend. Campus life varies, depending on the particular school and the locality. While the dean may not care to suggest a specific sum as an allowance, she can certainly give you some ideas of the usual pattern followed by the girls there.

What the social activities are, what opportunities may arise for off-campus expenses, etc. This would steer you in planning your daughter's wardrobe and estimating what additional items she might need. Write the dean in care of the college. Even if she's away at the time, staff members will be on hand who can doubtless provide information.

Of course, a chat with an alumna of recent vintage would be ideal for your purposes, if you can locate one in your community. Perhaps the college business office can give you the address of an alumnae group to which you can write. Don't feel hesitant about asking those who have the answer.

Dear Miss Feeley:

A friend of mine who lost her husband recently mentioned that social security paid for part of the funeral expenses, in addition to what she receives for herself and her children.

Can you give me more information about this? What could a widow with two children, 7 and 9, expect if her husband had been covered by social security the 15 years?

Mrs. W. B., New York City

Dear Mrs. B.:

The widow could expect a lump sum toward funeral expenses, equal to three times the husband's primary insurance, but not exceeding $255.

If the husband had paid Social Security taxes on $3,600, for example, his monthly benefits at 65 would amount to $105.

His widow would get a mother's benefit equal to three-fourths of $105 or $79.80. The two children together would get one and a half times the $105, or $157.60. Total family benefits, $236.40 while children are under 18.

The widow should inquire promptly about such benefits at the local Social Security office, as such payments are not made automatically.

It would be necessary to present the husband's death certificate, the marriage certificate, and birth certificates of the children. It would take approximately six to eight weeks to process the claim if all the papers were in order.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper. She will answer questions of widest interest in her column.)

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Williams II of Watkins Lake announce the engagement of their daughter Patricia Ann to Laurence J. DesChamps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence J. DesChamps of Walled Lake.

An Orchard Lake Miss

Parties Fete Bride-to-Be

Climaxing a round of prebridal parties for Linda Marie Simpson, Orchard Lake, will be cocktails and luncheon Wednesday with Mrs. Leo Donaldson of Sylvan Village.

The spinster dinner for the bride elect and her attendants was given Thursday by Mrs. Edward Walczyk of Keego Harbor.

* * *

Mrs. Leon Farnsworth of Birmingham entertained at Monday's shower. Mrs. Floyd Kerby, Mrs. Herman Thierry and Mrs. Arthur Gottschalk, shared hostess honors.

Kitchen gifts were brought to the home of Mrs. Keith Copeland on Green Lake recently. Mrs. Vernon Vradenberg was cohostess.

Mrs. Harold Knisley of Orchard Lake honored Miss Simpson at a linen shower, with Mrs. Robert Ferrier assisting.

* * *

Cohostesses at a recent miscellaneous shower were Mrs. Darwin Simpson and Mrs. Richard Traicoff in the Simpson home on Cass Lake.

The Louis K. Copelands, Orchard Lake, parents of the future bridegroom, John Wayne Copeland, will give the rehearsal dinner Thursday in Rotunda Inn. The Filon J. Simpsons are parents of the bride-elect.

Lions to Show Best Runners, Kickers, Passers at Wisner

Entries Listed for Pre-Game Special Events

Michigan Junior Miss to Attend Blue-White Intra-Squad Contest

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

SSssshh! Don't say the word too loud. (Pete Rozelle might be listening). But we'll "bet" that in the special events prior to Saturday night's intra-squad game at Wisner Stadium, Jim Martin will win the field goal kicking prize; Yale Lary takes the honor in punting; Dan LaRose outdashes the linemen; Dan Lewis outruns the backs and Roger Brown takes passing honors.

Roger Brown? Passing honors?

The huge 300 pound defensive tackle will compete against quarterbacks Milt Plum and Earl Morrall in passing for distance and accuracy and Gail Cogdill will be his target. Plum and Morrall have been handicapped. Their receivers will be tackles Floyed Peters and Mike Bundra.

The pre-game activities will start at 7:30 p.m. and money awards will go to the winners.

GAME AT 8:00 P.M.

At 8:00 p.m., the third annual Blue-White intra-squad scrimmage will start with the offense playing their regular scoring rules and the defense getting points for stopping the offense from first down (1); fumble recovery (2); interception (2); blocked field goal (2).

Coach George Wilson has selected his players for the five pre-game events. In the passing-receiving contest, seven "teams" will compete.

The passer will aim for his receiver in a marked circle, 40, 50 and 60 yards away. As a judge of the passer's accuracy, the receiver must catch the ball within the circled area. A dropped ball will go against the duo.

★ ★ ★

"This will put a little pressure on the receiver to hang on to the ball," said Wilson. We know Brown can throw it a long way but this will be a test of accuracy as well."

Other features of the Saturday night scrimmage will be a half-time display of fireworks and the presence of Diane Girard of Lincoln Park, Michigan Junior Miss who won the crown in Pontiac last January.

★ ★ ★

A doubtful starter in the scrimmage is Terry Barr, who suffered a leg injury in contact this week. Barr, however, is expected to be ready to go against the Cleveland Browns in the first exhibition game of the season, Saturday August 10th at Tiger Stadium.

Tickets at $1.00 and $1.50 for the scrimmage Saturday night are available at 18 locations around Pontiac and they will be on sale at the gate at 6:30 p.m. A crowd of 6,000 is expected.

The events and participants are as follows:

PUNTING (Distance and Accuracy): Yale Lary, Pat Studstill, Earl Morrall.

FIELD GOAL KICKING (Distance and Accuracy): Jim Martin, Wayne Walker, Sam Williams, Milt Plum.

DASH FOR LINEMEN: Dan LaRose, John Gordy, Roger Brown, Darris McCord, Mike Bundra, John Lomakoski, Frank Imperiale.

DASH FOR BACKS AND RECEIVERS: Dan Lewis, Tom Watkins, Gail Cogdill, Dick Compton, Albert Greer, Pat Studstill, Bruce Maher, Dick Lane, Karl Kassulke.

Proud NFL Champs Favored Over Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, proud National Football League champions the last two years, and the All-Stars, chesty collegiate greats of last season, clash tonight in the 30th annual midsummer football classic at Soldier Field.

The collegians haven't beaten the pros since 1958, when the Detroit Lions were spilled 35-19 in Otto Graham's debut as head All-Star coach.

★ ★ ★

The Packers whipped Graham's group 42-20 last year with a three-touchdown spurt in the last quarter and Bart Starr's record five scoring passes.

Green Bay rules a 14½ point favorite to repeat, padding the pros winning edge to 20-8 in the rivalry sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities Inc. Two games have ended in ties.

The kickoff, before an expected crowd of some 65,000, is 9 p.m. EST with radio and television starting 15 minutes earlier via ABC. Temperature around 80 degrees is forecast with thundershowers likely.

AERIAL BOMBS

Football fans undoubtedly will see an aerial bombardment by the All-Stars, whose quarterbacks include Terry Baker of Oregon State; Ron VanderKelen, Wisconsin; Sonny Gibbs, Texas Christian, and Glynn Griffing, Mississippi.

Although Graham has been noncommittal, VanderKelen, a left-handed passer like Baker, may be used the most. He came up unheralded as a Wisconsin senior last fall to steer the Badgers to the Big Ten title and set Rose Bowl records of 33 pass completions, 401 yards gained in the air and 406 total yards. Wisconsin lost to Southern California, however, 42-37.

VanderKelen's big target was end Pat Richter, who heads the All-Star receivers along with Paul Flatley of Northwestern, Kentucky's Tom Hutchinson, Washington State's Hugh Campbell, Jackson State's Willie Richardson and three of the fastest halfbacks ever on the All-Star squad—Bob Paremore, Florida A & M; Charlie Mitchell, Washington, and Larrry Ferguson, Iowa.

Speed, power, hefty defensemen rangy secondary; pass protection strength—all seem to be at Graham's command. But putting them together in a cohesive unit in the short time of three weeks is what makes the head coaching job tough.

In the last two years, the Packers have proved to be among the truly great teams in professional football history. It is a trademark they wear with fierce pride.

They carry this prestige against a group of 50 eager players who were the best of 1962's college seniors. It will be a good indoctrination as they prepare to enter the pro ranks themselves. After the game, all 50 go to various camps—40 divided among 13 NFL clubs and 10 to five in the American League.

The Packers will be without the services of their middle linebacking star, Ray Nitschke, who has a twisted back, and scoring champion Paul Hornung, suspended for at least a year for gambling. All-pro fullback Jim Taylor may see only limited duty with a knee injury.

Tigers Return Home to Indian Visitors

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers open an eight-game home stand tonight with the Cleveland Indians as their first opponents before moving out again for a 10-day road trip.

The Tigers, with a 43-59 record, are 22½ games off the pace set by the league-leading New York Yankees. Kansas City is in front of Detroit by three and one-half games and the Tigers lead the cellar dwelling Washington Senators by seven and a half.

Jim Bunning is scheduled to be on the mound tonight for the Bengals seeking to improve on his 7-11 record. He will be opposed by Jim Grant.

Negro Netter on U.S. Team for 1st Time

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Arthur Ashe, the first Negro ever selected for the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team, conceded with a big grin today that "there's more pressure on me now" to win the Eastern Grass Court Championships.

"They'll all be shooting for me," Ashe said, referring to the other players, "so I guess I'll have to shoot back."

Ashe, a 20-year-old junior at the University of California at Los Angeles, was named Thursday to the four-man team that will oppose Mexico in the American Zone semifinal Davis Cup match Aug. 16-18 at Los Angeles.

Although ranked No. 18 among this year prompted his selection, according to W. Harcourt Woods, of Short Hills, N.J., chairman of the Davis Cup committee.

MacHarg Is Medalist at 71

Match Play Starts Today in GAM Meet

Match play started today in the annual Golf Association of Michigan championship at Lochmoor with qualifying medalist Dave MacHarg of Dearborn facing Frank Connolly of Lakepointe in his first test.

MacHarg was the only player to break par as he went 34-37-71 and only one player, Jim Smith of Lakepointe was at par-72.

Defending champion Bud Stevens fired a 74 and he goes against Mack Suprunowicz of Lakepointe in his first match today.

In the feature events yesterday, Stevens also lost his driving contest title to Bill Albright of Detroit Golf Club. Albright's tee shot went 279 yards.

Bill Newton of Ann Arbor was second at 271 and Stevens was third at 265. Last year Stevens won the driving event with a 315-yarder at Grosse Ile.

CUTOFF AT 80

The cutoff for the final 32 match play players was at 80 and there was an eight man playoff for three spots. One player who failed to make the cut in the playoff was five-time Michigan Amateur champ Glenn Johnson.

Don Dykstra of Lochmoor, Dick Gasteiner of Indianwood and Bob Corely of Jackson won the playoff spots.

These were the qualifying scores Thursday:

Henry Carr's Dash Sets Pace for U.S.

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Detroit's Henry Carr ran the fastest 400-meter relay leg ever yesterday, bringing the United States 1,600-meter relay team to within a shade of the world record.

The team's 3:02.8 clocking still was the best 1,600-meter relay effort this year and helped the United States track team to a 141-82 victory over the West German national track squad.

★ ★ ★

Lester Milburn of Houston, Tex., led off the relay with a time of 46 seconds flat. Arizona State's Ulis Williams followed with a :46.4 and Rex Cawley of Farmington, added a :46.1 effort before passing the baton to Carr, who flashed around 400 meters in 44.3 seconds.

In the hurdles, Cawley nipped lanky Jim Allen of Seattle at the tape. Both were timed in :50.1.

The next anticipated victim is the British team, in London tomorrow and Monday. The team flies to London today for the meet that will wind up the tour.

Yesterday, Bob Hayes' 20.6 in the 200 meters and Frank Covelli's javelin throw of 264 feet, 9½ inches were better than the Moscow marks.

Wednesday, Hayes Jones, of Pontiac took the high hurdles in 13.6 seconds and the 400-meter relay team won in 39.7, both better than the Moscow marks in events the Americans lost there.

The other American victories yesterday were in the high jump, Paul Stube with 6-7; steeplechase Pat Traynor, 8:44.4; shot put, Dave Davis with 58-8½; triple jump, Ralph Boston with 52-2¼; 1,500 meters, Morgan Groth with 3:42.2; and 10,000 meter walk, Ronald Zinn with 46:50.8.

The Germans won only the 10,000-meter run on the final day, and the hammer throw and 5,000 meters on opening day.

Keaggy Nears Archery Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sixteen-year-old David Keaggy of Waterford Township, was close to winning the national archery championship as the final round of competition began Friday.

★ ★ ★

He won the International round title earlier in the meet.

Keaggy, who finished third in the international tournament at Helsinki recently, had 2,778 points. His closest competitor was Tom Veirs of Cincinnati with 2,720. Frank Tinley of Akron, Ohio, was third with 2,694.

★ ★ ★

Women's national champion Nancy Vonderheide was far ahead of second place Dr. Grace Amborski of Toledo. Miss Vonderheide had 2,988 and Miss Amborski 2,883. Jewel Hamilton of Flagstaff, Ariz., was third with 2,822.

Birmingham AC Hosts Suburban Swimmers

Birmingham Athletic Club will host the annual Suburban Inter-club Swimming Association meet Saturday and Sunday.

Competing for team honors will be the host club, Orchard Lake Country Club, Pine Lake CC, Forest Lake CC, Meadowbrook CC, Bloomfield Open Hunt and Birmingham CC, the defending champion.

There will be 24 events for youths 16 years old and under. The starting times are 1 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

Yanks Injury List Down to Big No.1

By The Associated Press

After limping and wheezing to their current commanding lead in the American League chase, the New York Yankees resume the drive for their 28th pennant tonight with their once lengthy injury list reduced to a Big One.

The Big One, of course, is Mickey Mantle. The switch-hitting slugger's present disability is an ailing left knee, which struck him before he had fully recovered from the broken left foot he suffered June 5.

* * *

Otherwise, the Yanks are well off heading into the four-game weekend series at their friendly ballpark in the Bronx against Baltimore. Roger Maris will be back in right field and Joe Pepitone at first base. Maris has been idled by a series of ailments this season, the latest a sprained left hand that sent him to the sidelines last Monday. Pepitone was struck on the right elbow by a pitch Wednesday and taken out of the game against Kansas City.

BENCH STRENGTH

With Mantle and Maris the prime casualties, the Yankees have had 40 cases of ailing or injured. But their remarkable depth in talent has enabled them to make a runaway of the race. They've been particularly hot at home—and during the past five weeks.

Since June 29th the Bombers have won 25 of 34 and have stretched their lead from one game to eight. They've been 39-12 at Yankee Stadium and so far on the current home stand which winds up with the four-game set against the Orioles, the Yanks have won 11 of 14.

The entire league was idle Thursday night, with the only game scheduled—Boston at Baltimore—rained out. In the only National League action, the Chicago Cubs whipped Milwaukee 10-2 and St. Louis shaded Cincinnati 3-2.

Also on tonight's AL schedule—Chicago's second-place White Sox are at Los Angeles, Boston has a doubleheader at Washington, Cleveland plays at Detroit and Minnesota at Kansas City.

What's with Joey Jay, Cincinnati's two-time 20-game winner who last year couldn't buy himself, and this year can't find himself?

That's the problem plaguing Reds' officials, who were astounded last year when Jay made an unprecedented move to buy his own contract, and are confounded this year by Jay's inability to produce for Cincinnati's National League pennant hopefuls.

The 27-year-old right-hander absorbed another setback Thursday, logging loss No. 15 to go with only four victories as the fifth-place Reds dropped a 3-2 decision to St. Louis and fell 8½ games behind first-place Los Angeles.

Only one other NL game was scheduled. In that, the fourth-place Chicago Cubs clobbered Milwaukee 10-2 as Ellis Burton became the fifth player in NL history to hit home runs batting right and left handed in the same game.

One Loop Title Now Decided

Optimist Lakers Win Waterford D Crown

One chief foe showed up last night and another didn't in the Waterford Township junior baseball program.

As a result, one team missed a league title for the moment and another has one.

Frostop forfeited its Class D game with the Optimist Lakers for lack of players and the latter now is the league champion.

The Waterford Merchants wish that Lakeland Optimist had not fielded a team, too, because the merchant nine was upset again by its Class F foe and now has to play off a first place tie with the Drayton Daisies.

Paul Furneax pitched a one-hitter as the fifth place Optimist squad pinned an 8-3 defeat on the co-champions.

In another Class F contest, the Mavericks topped the Waterford Center Rebels, 11-5; while the center's Tiger entry in Widget ball fell to the Drayton Merchants, 12-6.

The Bobcats' Gary Western in Class E raced home from second base with the winning run on an infield single in the last inning for a tight 2-1 victory against the Optimist Aces.

Ferree Has Slim Lead

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Jim Ferree, who shot an opening 64 to take a one-stroke lead in the $35,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament Thursday, has his enthusiasm tempered by memories of other experiences on the Keller course.

"I started playing well last week in the Western Open at Chicago," said the bespectacled 32-year-old Californian whose last tourney victory came five years ago. "I played my best golf of the year Thursday, but I still remember last year and another year."

* * *

Ferree was coming down the 18th fairway on the final round last year with a chance of a good size check. But he staggered in with a triple bogey eight on a hole many pros figure to be an easy birdie.

Pontiac's Gene Bone fired a 39-37—76 in the opening round which was 12 strokes behind the leader.

CAN'T PLAY — Peggy Van Eckoute, 11, keeps her ball and glove ready in case the boys let her play in the Grosse Pointe Farms Little League. So far, the lefthanded pitcher has been allowed to hurl one inning in an all-star game. She yielded two runs, but fanned three. The league rules don't ban girls.

PAR OR BETTER

By JULIUS BOROS U.S. OPEN CHAMPION

STANCE IS SECOND ONLY TO GRIP

Once the golf grip has been mastered, the next step is the stance.

The latter is second only to the grip in importance.

The first time any person swings a club, he or she is not aware of any fancy footwork.

The beginner merely steps up to the ball in a comfortable manner, places his feet in a position that will enable him to swing, and hits the ball without falling on his face.

PROBLEM

The problem from the first swing of the club is one of fundamental balance.

The problem never changes as long as you play.

The player changes as his game progresses, however, and it generally isn't long until his stance becomes a riddle and a problem.

He fidgets and slides his feet around until he has made a project out of a simple fundamental.

I don't mean to imply that any stance will suffice as long as you can stand up after you swing, but want to stress right from the start that the main purpose of the stance is to maintain balance.

* * *

That brings us back to my original point about the beginner who takes a natural stance to maintain balance without actually realizing why he stands beside the ball in that manner.

He has no idea how to place his feet.

He merely wants to continue to stand on them while he swings his club.

That is balance!

BALANCE — Julius Boros points out that the problem from the first swing of the club is one of fundamental balance.

Low Average Batter Turns Power Hitter

Low average batters sometimes can carry big sticks.

Lakeland Pharmacy's Class B entry in the Waterford Township softball program found out the hard way last night.

Spencer Floor Covering's Stan Larkin couldn't manage more than one hit in any game this season (he had seven all told) until last night when he belted a single, double and triple to lead Spencer to a 3-2 eight-inning playoff victory over Lakeland.

Larkin's triple drove in the first run and let him score the second early in the contest, and then he belted a two-out single in the eighth inning to drive in the winning run for pitcher Jerry Thomas.

Jim Attard had a solo homer for the losers who now must play West Side Lanes to see which will tangle with Spencer for the playoff title.

In a Class C contest, Haskins Chevrolet whipped Lakeland Pharmacy, 8-5, City softball action saw Pontiac State Hospital clinch a "B" league playoff spot with a 5-4 win over First Church of the Brethren; and Pontiac Millwork topped Jet Bar, 7-6, in a "C" game.

Haskins won its second playoff game by coming from behind on Landon Morris' fourth inning single.

Norm Haggadone's eighth - inning single drove in the winning run for Pontiac State Hospital. Gary Devault had a solo home run for First Church.

Pontiac Millwork rallied for two runs in the last inning as Herb Watkins produced a key single. Dave Black retired the last nine men in order to get the win.

CAN WIN TITLE

Harvey's Colonial House of Pontiac can wrap up its second softball title this season this weekend in the Inter-City Softball League.

HCH has already won the city championship and a clean sweep of its doubleheaders this weekend would decide the Inter-City chase.

Highlighting the action will be a pair of games Sunday against second place Port Huron at an undetermined local site.

Pontiac Elks 810 also has a problem. The last place Elkmen will play two games Saturday night against Spencer Floor Covering at the Drayton Plains diamond, two more Sunday afternoon in Flint and then come right back for a city playoff contest at 8:30 p. m. on the Beaudette Park diamond, making 5 games during the period.

Rolladium Lass Wins Crown in U.S. Meet

Special to The Pontiac Press

PORTLAND, Ore. — Mary Jo Kurk of the Pontiac Rolladium Skating Club won the Senior Ladies speed championship here yesterday in the North American Roller Skating meet.

Miss Kurk, who lives in Royal Oak, copped the title by winning the 440-yard race. She edged Janet Ford of Mt. Morris, Mich.

Leon Courtney, Oklahoma City, Okla., won the intermediate lad speed championship.

The novice men's figure championship went to Kenny Streight, San Jose, Calif. The same category for women was taken by Linda Evey, Louisville, Ohio.

City Optimist Nine Scores 'D' Upset

The Pontiac Optimist, behind the strong pitching of Dave Drass, pulled one of the biggest upsets of the junior league season yesterday when it defeated regular season Class D National League champ Arnold Drugs, 2-1.

The winners were able to muster only three hits off losing pitcher Larry Frye, but two unearned runs in the third inning proved costly to the Drug nine.

The victory put the Optimist's in the stand-by position in the post-season tourney.

Arnold's will now meet Kampsen Realty, 22-6 victor over St. Fred yesterday.

Kampsen pounded three St. Fred hurlers for 16 hits, three by Varnie Cole, to eliminate the Rams from further playoff activity.

Tom Negoshian went the distance for Kampsen, scattering six hits.

The Pontiac Merchants spotted the Pontiac Boys' Club a 3-0 lead in the first inning, and then roared back to take a 5-4 Class E National League contest.

Rick Rhoney's triple and a two-run single by Kevin Mirovsky paced the three-run Merchant rally in the fifth inning.

Chuck Bailey got credit for the victory in relief.

John Wheeler's no-hitter for the Moose highlighted Widget playoff activity. The winners collected only three hits, all homers, to edge the Hawks, 4-0.

3 'Gift' Runs Produce Win

Talbott Bows, 8-7; Cranbrook Must Wait

One strike was all that stood between Cranbrook and the Class A baseball regular season title last night.

But Talbott Lumber, fighting desperately for the fourth and final playoff berth in the city circuit, couldn't retire that final batter and Huron-Airway captured a thrilling, 8-7 victory.

The victory kept alive H-A vanishing hopes for a tie with Cranbrook in the race and also prevented it from falling into third place in the standings.

Talbott rallied from a 5-1 deficit in the first two innings to lead, 7-5, with two out and one on in the final inning.

A costly error and two walks narrowed the gap to one run, and Ron Murray put a broken-bat grounder into center field to bring in two runs and break up the ball game under the Jaycee Park lights.

Cecil Morgan, who came in to fan two lumbermen with the bases loaded and one out in the sixth inning, gained the victory. Morgan and two other Huron-Airway moundsmen were touched for 13 hits and four walks, but stranded 11 Talbott runners.

H-A benefitted from nine walks as it only had seven safeties in the contest.

A doubleheader is slated for tonight with Local 594 seeking to clinch fourth place when it meets the last place Oxford Merchants at 6 p.m. The 8:30 p.m. nightcap will send M. G. Collison against the Barbers, the latter attempting to tie Talbott for fifth place.

The 11th Frame

This could be the year that makes or breaks the Pontiac Traveling Classic bowling league.

Very definitely this season will probably determine the extent of response and appeal the unusual circuit will have for area bowlers and bowling fans.

Created one summer ago and further developed last winter with a seven team set-up, the Traveling Classic League had an organizational meeting last Sunday at Huron Bowl.

It wasn't well attended.

Yet reports have as many as 14 area establishments interested in sponsoring teams. Reportedly only four were represented at the first meeting.

Obviously if the league is going to attain the high prestige level it needs to thrive, changes will have to be made. A big forward step will be in achieving the proprietors' cooperation in scheduling.

A plan to have all matches at the same house (on a rotating basis) appears to be a good move toward helping the league in this direction.

The individual bowlers can help, also, by sticking with their team and sponsor through the season. At least one sponsor from last year was not satisfied with the response of team members.

League officers can give the league a boost by performing their duties with foresight and a firm, but fair, hand. Misunderstandings such as arose in the playoffs last spring must be avoided before they have a chance to arise.

The league is good for local bowling. Its start has been an inconsistent one. This is the year to sail a true course.

PIN FALLINGS

Tom Mayes at Montcalm Bowling Centre in town has his eye on the church bowling league business. Several of these leagues have agreed to bowl there but he still has openings during the middle of the week.

A clinic with filmed and live instruction for men, women and children is planned for early in the regular season. Information is available at the Montcalm desk.

Joe Puertas reportedly will be the sixth man on his 300 Bowl house team this season. Others lined up include the "spare master" Monroe Moore, George (Chico) Chicovsky, Larry Crake, Bob Murphy and Joe Foster.

Those last five averaged around the 1,000-pin mark last year in league play, but not as a unit.

Team and some league openings for the coming season are still available at Howe's Lanes. Barb Howe has her eye on a women's classic loop at 9 p.m. Thursdays and is seeking teams.

Men's and mixed league openings still exist on most nights. Junior league teams and other daytime slots also are available.

Prime league and team spots are being offered by Timberlanes Pontiac Recreation.

Mrs. Sipley Holds 1st in Silver Lake League

Mrs. Alice Sipley continued to lead the Thursday Silver Lake Ladies Golf League by posting another victory yesterday. She has 24 points, five ahead of Mrs. Adele Campeau.

Mrs. Sipley won low gross with a 51. There was a tie for low net between Mrs. Chris Green and Mrs. Marcella Thompson with 33s.

Tied with 14 putts were Mrs. Campeau, Mrs. Katie Dell and Mrs. Sipley.

Two Features Saturday at Hazel Park Track

Hazel Park will present two attractive features on it's program of ten races tomorrow.

The $10,000.00 Great Lakes handicap has drawn nine nominees headed by Ulm who took the Michigan Handicap championship in 1962 by winning nine rich events.

The Bryan Wise runner recently captured the $7,500.00 inaugural handicap at Hazel Park on opening day.

Ulm's chief opposition will come from Loyal Son who has maintained a similar ranking on the Ohio Circuit for the past two seasons.

Loyal Son won the $25,000.00 Sweepstakes at Detroit and a $20,000.00 stakes at the New Orleans fair grounds.

* * *

Other contenders are: Peter Fuller's Lucky Uncle, a stakes winner both in Michigan and in California in 1963; the Nutts who captured two rich handicaps in Chicago and Gay Revoke victorious in a $15,000.00 stakes at Omaha.

The $7,500.00 Hillsdale will be co-featured with Sonny Fleet, winner of two $10,000.00 handicaps this year; Sol Invictus and Magic Realm, an Ohio invader as the prerace choices.

Post time Saturday at Hazel Park is 2:00 p.m.

About service, that is. They say I sound like I was running a service station instead of a car dealership. Maybe they're right. After all, I sas a service manager for seven years. And I'm convinced that good service builds and holds business more than any other one thing.

But, please remember . . . we're in business to sell cars, new Ford cars and used cars of all makes. Then we keep them and you sold with better service, quality car care and Ford total performance. Makes sense, doesn't it?

Garden Utopia Not Impossible

New Plan Cuts Work, Increases Leisure Time

A yard where mowing is a pleasure, trimming eliminated and weeding almost extinct?

Impossible you say?

★ ★ ★

Not so, with a new plan introduced by a leading power equipment manufacturer which provides 28 short cuts to easier yard care.

Here are some of the rules which landscaping experts give for keeping yard appearances up and maintenance down:

1. Avoid sharp corners. Gentle curves make it easier to mow the lawn and provide a more pleasing design.

2. Make all paved areas flush with the lawn so equipment may roll freely.

3. Use brick mowing edge between lawn and plant beds and adjacent to house to eliminate trimming.

4. Use plentiful mulches to reduce weeding.

5. Use flush paving to eliminate trimming around lawn obstructions such as clothes poles, gas and water pipes.

Adherence to proper landscaping rules, some power equipment, and careful thought to construction materials can make your yard a mowing pleasure where trimming is eliminated and weeding almost extinct. Minimum maintenance outdoor housekeeping is now a reality, leaving plenty of time for other leisure activity.

Plants Hit Top Growth This Year

Plants have shot off into space this summer. They've hit the ceiling of porches, hang from the overhang of roofs, and have turned sunporches into greenhouses.

And one man said recently of his jungle-like surroundings, "I expect to see a monkey come swinging by at any minute."

Some plants have been moved from their indoor settings. And new ones are added.

There are many advantages to the arrangement: the satisfaction of being surrounded by flowers and foliage, no matter the weather, and it's a lot easier than weeding an outdoor garden.

Every sort of container is used, from those that are improvised like wire salad baskets or Easter-style baskets to wire, redwood, cedar or flower pot containers available at florists and other shops.

If you hang plants high in the air, remember they must be watered.

The joy can go out of a project that requires removing 17 plants from brackets or ceiling suspensions for water.

The best bet is to hang the majority of plants on walls within reach, with one or two strategically placed from the overhang of a roof or a ceiling of a porch.

Newspapers could then be placed under plants to catch the excess water.

Middle-Agers Should Relax

Dr. Peter Steincrohn says, "The middle-aged man should relax outdoors on weekends, conscience-free. Learn to be lazy —and avoid danger. After 25 or 30, competitive exercise is superfluous—and hurtful.

"Exercise is a disease, exercisitis," that attacks the sheep-like mind of man. If it makes you happy—well, maybe you just don't want to live a long life."

If what Dr. Steincrohn says is true, then many people are going to need something to relax on. And what could be better than the miniature conestoga wagon shown here with NBC's Tom Kennedy and Sibyle Collier?

You will find it has a number of advantages. The top keeps out the sun and may be lowered in front to keep out the rain. Wheels make it easy to move.

A handy table pulls out from the side for snacks and drinks. Two bright-colored furniture pads are used for the back and bottom. Just the thing for a peaceful, outdoor afternoon snooze.

And what is more, here is another item that gives your yard a pleasant homey atmosphere.

This project is built from standard stock wood available at all lumber dealers. Building the covered wagon is comparatively simple when you use the easy-to-follow plan. A list of required materials and step-by-step directions is included.

★ ★ ★

To obtain the plan for building the covered wagon chaise No. 315, send $1.00 by currency, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

Back Yard Popular

Move Back to Nature

Millions more Americans join the back-to-nature movement each summer as they find new ways to enjoy outdoor living in their own back yards.

How to turn ordinary back yards into things of beauty and utility keeps architects, landscape designers and small contractors busy much of the year.

This healthy return to nature, says one architect, is not just a passing fad; actually, people are finding a new dimension of living. The best part of this, he said, is the low cost.

Sometimes, the architect pointed out, just the installation of a bench with a high back creates the nest for a cozy corner where the outdoors can be enjoyed.

Actually, most outdoor installations which make this new form of family life so attractive are more elaborate, but not necessarily costly.

Azaleas Stand Heat if Plants Are Mulched

Your azaleas will withstand the summer heat better if you mulch them. While mulching is not a substitute for watering, the cover will help the plants retain moisture and they'll look healthier, especially if they are used as foundation plantings beneath the overhang of your house where little rain reaches.

Tomato Plants Suffer in Extremely Dry Soil

Don't let the soil near your tomato plants become very dry. Drought followed by heavy rain frequently causes cracked fruit. Blossom end rot is worse under dry conditions.

Treatment with tomato fungicide and insecticide about every 10 days will help ward off disease.

Epic to Be Costliest U. S. Movie?

'Greatest Story' Filming Ends

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — This is the week when "The Greatest Story" finally gets told.

★ ★ ★

Shooting on the biography of Christ began last Halloween and was to end this week. Superlatives are dangerous in this town, but its possible that "The Greatest Story Ever Told" was the most expensive film made entirely in this country. The cost was estimated at $19 million by a trade paper. George Stevens, producer-director, shuns talk of costs as "commerce."

THOMAS

When I paid a final visit to the company, I found the Three Wise Men plodding their camels across the Stage 16 desert. On Stage 14, Max Von Sydow as Jesus was making his way through the mountains on the Forty Days in the Wilderness.

★ ★ ★

Von Sydow, a Swede, has acquired many Americanisms during his stay here. Recently he was asked why he doesn't see the daily rushes. His reply: "I don't dig myself."

There was a pause as the set workers moved mountains made of papier mache for the next shot, and the actor descended for a brief chat.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, it is hard to believe that it is coming to an end," he sighed. "For a long time there was no ending in sight, so I didn't even think about it. I was amazed when I was told there were just a few days remaining."

The company had begun to scatter to the various parts of the world whence they came. All but four of the Apostles had been dismissed; they had said farewell, shaved and departed.

★ ★ ★

Soon all will be gone but Stevens and his permanent company. He will be faced with the six-month chore of cutting and scoring the finished film. Then it will face the public, probably at Easter, 1964, and he will learn if it had been worth all the passion and sweat he had put into it.

"You never know until it goes out," he commented as he paused between the two companies. "But I think I have done all I can.

★ ★ ★

"It has been long and hard, but I think that is how you have to make films nowadays. You used to think of making a movie for six or eight weeks at the Radio City Music Hall, then two weeks in your home town and a few more dates and that was it.

"Now you are thinking in terms of a six-month's or year's run in each city. You can't just toss off pictures nowadays.

★ ★ ★

"I take time. I like to shoot from all angles so I can have freedom and fluidity in the cutting. I like to get right into a scene and show the third and fourth walls.

★ ★ ★

"They did that in the old days. I was watching 'Viva Villa' on television last night, and it had more interior feeling than most pictures nowadays. A few still get it. David Lean did with 'Lawrence of Arabia.' Fellini does. So does Kurosawa."

Because of the earth's centrifugal force, 5,000 tons of cargo loaded on a ship in the vicinity of the equator would weigh 25 tons more at the poles.

Pupils Learn Food Tastes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Children in Glendale School's first and second grades are learning what some unusual foods taste like, as well as where and how they grow.

As part of a study project the youngsters use a large wall map to locate the places various food products are grown and to trace the routes used in shipping them to Madison.

Then each gets a sample of the item under discussion. Papaya juice has proved their favorite.

S. Africa Bars Honorary Trip

GLASGOW (UPI) — Chief Albert Luthuli, African peace prize winner, has been refused permission by the South African government to visit Glasgow for his installation as honorary rector of the city's university, the students' representative council announced.

Council President David Holmes said Chief Luthuli wrote them expressing extreme disappointment. No reasons were given for the South African refusal, Holmes said.

CHICAGO (AP)—Birger Osland, 93, who helped establish the Norwegian-American Steamship Line and later founded a Chicago investment company, died Thursday.

Fire Drives Patrons Out of NY Theater

NEW YORK (AP)—A fire in a basement transformer sent 6,000 patrons pouring out of the Radio City Music Hall Thursday night.

A stage show and movie showing were canceled, and all the patrons got full refunds.

A spokesman said the fire posed no danger to the theatergoers, but the theater was evacuated so the damage to the transformer could be repaired.

Parents Consent as Miss Rast Weds Mr. Rast

BRUNSWICK, Mo. (AP) — "The wedding invitations sounded strange — even tou us," say Mr. and Mrs. O. Odell Rast of Brunswick, whose children married one another.

* * *

The marriage was actually the happy ending of a dual romance. Miss Melinda Lou Miller, while a second year student at Stephens College, introduced her mother, who was then a widow, to the widower father of her boy friend, Everette Rast.

"We were both courting at the same time", the senior Mrs. Rast recalls. "Odell and I married in March 1962, but we insisted that Melinda complete her studies at the University of Missouri before marrying Everette, a Missouri graduate."

Skopje Dies With It's People

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — The sound of bulldozers and dynamite. The smell of death and the sight of rubble. That was Skopje today just one week after a catastrophic earthquake turned the city into a pile of ruins.

A week has passed since the earth trembled and brought the capital city of Macedonia down on its builders.

The days since then have shown that in addition to the estimated 1,500 to 2,000 persons who died in those few seconds, the city itself died at the same time.

Those who have not been found in the rubble now will never be found. Their homes will be their graves. Fewer and fewer bodies are being taken out.

★ ★ ★

Bulldozers and heavy equipment smash into the rubble of the downed buildings, leveling it as much as possible. Across the city, dynamite blasts echo as other rubble is blown up, or tottering apartments are brought down.

In a sense, Skopje is still valiantly hanging on to life. But it is the Indian summer of life because in the end a new Skopje must be built in some other place.

The main reason for leveling the city as soon as possible is to prevent any possibility of disease.

★ ★ ★

More than half the city's 200,000 residents already have gone, leaving only able - bodied men. Most of those who left have gone away forever.

Halts Testing in Evers Killing

BRANDON, Miss. (AP) —Circuit Judge O. H. Barnett has ordered the State Mental Hospital to suspend psychiatric tests of Byron De La Beckwith, indicted for murder in the slaying of a Negro integration leader, pending a habeas corpus hearing.

Judge Barnett yesterday set Aug. 9 for the hearing seeking release of Beckwith from the hospital, where he was sent July 25.

Defense attorneys asked for the hearing, charging the 42-year-old Greenwood fertilizer salesman's detention for mental tests was illegal and unconstitutional.

Dist. Atty. Bill Waller of Jackson, who served as prosecuting attorney in the murder case, had raised the question of Beckwith's sanity.

Beckwith was charged with killing Medgar Evers, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in an ambush shooting outside Evers' Jackson home June 12.

U. N. Assembly Chief Lauds Ban Breakthrough

RENSSELAERVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—The partial nuclear test ban treaty is "the first break in a circle of suspicion," says the president of the U.N. General Assembly.

Sir Mohammed Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan said Thursday night he hoped the treaty would lead to further easing of world tensions.

Provide Good Materials

Brilliant 3-Year-Old Shouldn't Be Pushed

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Dear Dr. Nason: My 3½-year-old daughter seems to be a brilliant child. She spoke sentences at 11 months. She competes easily with children two to three years older than herself. She asks intelligent questions and grasps all explanations quickly.

DR. NASON

Can you recommend a place where we can have her I. Q. determined?

Mrs. B. W. T., Milltown, N. J.

Answer: Tests for the measurement of I. Q.'s at three and one-half are not very accurate.

By providing enough books and sufficient materials, such as crayons, pencils and paper, you will enable your child to grow and learn at her own rate.

All you need to do is to provide the opportunity for growth.

Dear Dr. Nason: I had two years of junior college when I decided to dropout and work. Now I want very much to return to school and complete my education, and I would like some advice on improving my study habits.

Miss P. C., San Mateo, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Answer: While you are out of school take one course each semester in evening school.

Use this course as a basis for improving your study skills. Study ahead. Organize the course thoroughly. Learn more than you have to.

A year of practice should help you get a running start on your last two years.

Dear Dr. Nason: Although my school days are in the distant past your articles have been helpful. My problem is being a slow reader.

I would like not only to increase my speed but it would be helpful in my present position for me to be better informated on the numerous important topics of the day.

Unfortunately I have neither the time nor the funds to join a rapid reading group.

What can you suggest?

Miss L. A., Washington, D. C.

Answer: Slow reading is primarily a habit.

Decide to read faster and you can read faster. From the newspaper headline you can tell something of what you may expect to learn by reading that article. Look for that "something" as you read.

After reading part of the article hesitate long enough to check with yourself on what you have learned. If you can't say, you probably have not read fast enough. Your mind is wandering.

Speed up! You soon will get the habit of fast reading.

You can write Dr. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. He will answer in his columns questions of widest interest.

Long-Range Rocket Produced by U.A.R.

CAIRO (AP) — The multistage rocket the United Arab Republic displayed publicly July 23 has a 625-mile range, the weekly newspaper Akher Saa reports.

★ ★ ★

With that range, it could strike Israel and Jordan, most of Lebanon and parts of Syria and Saudi Arabia.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper said the rocket is intended as a space research vehicle, and independent sources said its value as a military weapon was questionable.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

JACOBY

Perhaps the one characteristic that separates the good player from the average player is that the good player is always careful to give himself the best chance for success.

South's three no-trump contract is so normal that anyone would arrive at it. The opening lead of the jack of spades is just as normal and South has to win the trick.

It also should not take South any time at all to see that it is up to him to attack the diamond suit, so he leads a low diamond toward dummy. If West rises with the ace South will have no further problems, but West will play the seven and dummy's jack will hold that trick.

Right here is where the sheep and the goats are separated. The careless player will lead the queen of diamonds from dummy. West's ace will capture the trick and from then on South will be struggling with a lost cause. He will never be able to make more than eight tricks.

The careful player will lead a spade back to his own hand and a second diamond toward dummy. West will have to play his ace, but instead of capturing the queen he will merely pick up the deuce. South will make three diamond tricks and his contract.

You hold the same hand. West passes after your one heart overcall. North bids one spade and East passes. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Saturday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way"

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Contacts made in unusual areas. Means you go to new places . . . meet new people. Day to GIVE and RECEIVE. Lunar cycle indicates interesting activity.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Good lunar aspect today highlights peek into future. Means your intuition springs into action. You can perceive the general trend of events. Listen to inner voice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Day in which your talents, abilities are due for GREATER APPRECIATION. Your curiosity, open-mindedness, quick quips, intrigues peoples. Instead of being annoyed, they are fascinated.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22): Avoid tendency to make demands. Best to do more listening than talking. Associates add to be super-sensitive. Public reacts to your efforts. Be sure you offer only the best.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21): Dynamic efforts pay off. Means nothing halfway. Key is work, bit of extra effort. Tonight, relax with persons you respect. Avoid tendency to go to extremes.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Good for appreciating the good things you possess. Day to live life to hilt . . . create joy instead of being bored. Fine for finishing projects, attending social affair in evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Your ability to stick to truth earns tremendous admiration. Avoid temptation to take "easy way out." Means difficult path leads to greater rewards. Attend to details nerty.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Good time to deal with relatives, neighbors. Exchange plans. Spread influence. Display sense of humor. Try to win over one who has been difficult. A day for practicing GOLDEN RULE.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Things that mean much to you come to fore. You can obtain what you require. Show appreciation to one who helps. Be loving, generous. Permit sense of fair play to shine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Cycle high. Display originality, independence of thought and action. Set sights on goal, then shoot for the mark. State case clearly. Others are sympathetic and cheer for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Visit those who are less fortunate. Don't forget to send card if anniversary is due. Take care of "little" matters. Be thoughtful. You help yourself today by aiding others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Fine for socializing, winning friends and impressing important people. Do so by being INTERESTED in what people say. . . . more concerned with their problem. Be sincere, and discreet!

IF SATURDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you possess drive, determination and remarkable sense of humor.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: ARIES individuals must not try to accomplish too much at once. CAPRICORN persons should make new contacts.

Trade Fairly Active

Wall Street Posts Small Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pulled out of a mixed pattern and posted a small gain early this afternoon.

Trading was fairly active.

★ ★ ★

Changes of key issues ranged from fractions to around a point.

Brokers were hopeful that the market could hold up on the basis of a decline in unemployment, better retail and department store sales and action on the tax cut bill.

Oils and chemicals turned in the best showings. Other groups were mixed.

HILTON LOSES

Hilton Hotels, which omitted the dividend, opened late on a block of 10,000 shares, off 3 points. It later lost another ¼.

Also late in opening was Du Bois Chemical, which is discussing a merger with W. R. Grace & Co. It was up ¾.

After announcing plans to market a French-made executive aircraft, Pan American World Airways opened with a gain of ⅜. This later turned into a fractional loss.

★ ★ ★

Parke Davis looked like it might turn out to be the most active stock of the day, trading on successive blocks of 6,900, 1,000 3,300 and 38,200, off ¼ at 26. It later held a ⅛ advance.

Shell Oil advanced ¼ on blocks of 10,000 and 5,000 shares and then picked up another ¼.

Family Finance added ⅜ on a block of 25,200.

Royal Dutch and Standard Oil (Indiana) moved up fractionally.

Bethlehem Steel added a fraction while other steels were unchanged. General Motors and Studebaker were ahead slightly.

★ ★ ★

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed with trading moderate. Advances were made by Brillo, Falcon Seaboard, Irving Air, Pall Corp. and Victoreen. Losses were taken by Technical Operations, Syntex, Giant Yellowstone and Data Control.

Corporate and U.S. Government bonds were mixed.

No Job Loss, Army Assures

Defense Dept. Shift Won't Cut Work Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says its total number of jobs in Detroit will be increased rather than decreased in a projected shift of personnel in auto supply operations.

A Detroit Democratic congressional group was told yesterday that 808 jobs will be abolished or taken out of the city but that 853 jobs will be created or brought into Detroit. The changes will be effective Jan. 1.

The Army Defense Automotive Supply Center is involved.

The Army said the agency will be abolished and its services taken over by the Army-Tank Automotive Command.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon scheduled a meeting in Detroit today to report the circumstances.

Loss of the agency had been deplored by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh in a protest to the Department of Defense.

However, the congressional group, including Sens. Philip Hart and Patrick McNamara, said it had been assured there would be "no procurement loss and no loss in employment levels."

Jobs reportedly are being shifted to Columbus, Ohio, with affected employes having the choice of staying in Detroit with preference on hiring to new jobs.

Chances Rise for Wage Law

LANSING (AP) — Chances that Michigan will become the 34th state to enact a minimum wage law appeared somewhat stronger today on the basis of testimony delivered at the first of 16 legislative hearings on the subject.

As a Joint House-Senate Interim Committee opened its summer study of minimum wage Thursday, opinions expressed by several traditional foes seemed to indicate they feel passage of such a bill is virtually certain.

Rep. Don Gordon, R-Leland, chairman of the interim group, said the hearings will determine whether a minimum wage is enacted by the 1964 legislature, but added:

"All things being equal, a year from now Michigan will have a minumum wage law."

PROPOSED BILL

The Leland Republican was among the House Labor Committee members who voted last April against sending a Senate-approved bill to the House floor.

The bill came out anyway, but was defeated by stalling tactics of Republican opponents on the last night of the session despite strong bipartisan support and Gov. George Romney's endorsement.

Gordon explained yesterday that now, as then, he does not flatly oppose a minimum wage but feels the issue should have more study than has been given in the past.

CHANCES IMPROVE

Otis Cook, lobbyist for the Michigan Retailers Association, testified against the bill yesterday but told a newsman later that chances for it being passed "are definitely improved".

"I think anybody will agree with that," said Cook. "We are still opposed, but if there is to be such a law, it ought to be all-inclusive—no exemptions."

Harry Hall, executive vice president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, said his organization "does not view a minimum wage bill as inevitable but certainly much more likely than in the past."

Gov. George Romney's support for a minimum wage bill, plus the backing of some legislators who heretofore have opposed it, boost the chances for passage, Hall said.

In testimony before the committee, Hall said only a small percentage of the State Chamber of Commerce's members would be affected by a minimum wage because most now pay employes more than a wage floor would require.

Labor union officials and other proponents of the bill urged a $1.25 minimum wage to fill "an economic need" and repeatedly stressed the point that many persons can draw more income from welfare than by working for low wages.

"Why should they take a job for less than $1 an hour when they can make more on welfare" asked Gus Carantza of Local 235, Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders Union (AFL-CIO).

James Bowden, commissioner of labor, said Michigan is now one of 17 states without a wage floor and added: "If we don't move on this, Michigan will probably stand alone."

Grain Prices Narrow During Early Trade

CHICAGO (AP)— Prices in the grain futures market worked into a rather narrow range today in early transactions on the board of trade with speculators on both sides.

Soybeans were under moderate pressure at the start the declines ran to about two cents a bushel on the August delivery but demand improved on the setback and prices quickly firmed. Tenders on August commitments in the pit continued circulating rather freely. Brokers said they imparted some weakness to the market.

Hundreds Visit

Bank Has Opening Day

Community National Bank's 14th office opened yesterday at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads.

Branch manager L. Jay Clark, 4563 Kempf, Waterford Township, said several hundred persons visited the office during its first day of operation for a quick tour or to open accounts.

Exterior of the branch is of green marble and aluminum, framing expanses of glass.

Inside, the customer steps on white terrazzo floors and immediately notices the dark walnut paneled walls.

An unusual feature is the chest-high counter which is the only barrier separating cashiers and patrons.

"We've tried to get away from the old fashioned iron grills and cages that create a cold feeling," explained Clark.

The branch, along with its full banking services, offers extended hours for shoppers.

It will be open 11:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. daily, and 9 a.m. to 1 on Saturdays.

The CNB branch has a night depository, a side drive-in window, and ample parking space for walk-in customers. Inside, there are private rooms for safety deposit box holders.

(Q) "I would like some information concerning Treasury 4's of 1980 which you wrote about recently. Are these bonds tax-exempt? I have a large amount of Series E bonds, some matured, and I am considering converting these into Treasury 4's." T. H.

(A) It is a pleasure to me to discuss government bonds, which are certainly the safest securities in the world.

U. S. Treasury 4's, like all other government issues, are exempt from state income taxes but are fully subject to similar Federal levies.

You cannot actually convert your Series E bonds into Treasury 4's of 1980. You must redeem them and then use the proceeds to buy the latter issue. By so doing your entire Series E accrued interest becomes subject to Federal Income tax, and before making any move I believe you should consult a tax expert.

The amount of tax liability might more than make up for the slight difference in yield you would gain by switching to Treasury 4's.

(Q) Why do you never mention Chesapeake & Ohio? Don't you think their $4 dividend rate is secure and will continue?" R. D.

(A) I should like first to set the record straight, if I may.

Chesapeake & Ohio has been mentioned here 7 times in 1962 and 1963. I have always considered this railroad to be efficiently managed under able president Tuohy.

I have been disturbed, however, by the decline in earnings from $8.33 a share in 1957 to $3.59 a share in 1961 and $4.31 a share last year. Since the dividend was not earned in 1961 and there was a very slight coverage in 1962, the market prices the shares on a 6.5 per cent basis — a yield high enough to indicate general doubt as to the maintenance of the $4 rate.

If I owned this stock, I would stay with it, but I would avoid new purchases at present.

Legislators Extend Terms

Eye Extra Time for Judges

While digging into the problems of scheduling elections under the new State Constitution, legislators have turned up a fringe benefit for four Oakland County Circuit Court judges and possibly for the county's five elected officials.

It's extra time in office before running for re-election.

* * *

Legislative Committees working out proposals for new bills and revisions to enact the new document's provisions plan to recommend the following:

Extending six-year Circuit judge terms to seven years.

Doubling the two-year terms which county officials won last fall into four-year stints.

Lenthening of the judicial terms is a virtual certainty.

Oakland County's four elected Circuit Court judges would be affected. They are Clark J. Adams, William J. Beer, Stanton G. Dondero and Frederick C. Ziem.

All were elected in 1959 for terms scheduled to end Dec. 31, 1965, but expected to be extended to Dec. 31, 1966.

When the new constitution takes effect Jan. 1, it will eliminate the traditional odd-year spring elections in which Circuit Court judges have been elected. The nonpartisan contests will be held in the November general elections in even-numbered years.

ONLY ALTERNATIVE

Since the document also specifies that no official's term can be shortened by such changes, the first even-year election in which the judicial races can be held is 1966. Extending the terms by one year is the only alternative.

The recommendation was working out by a legislative interim committee headed by State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, in cooperation with another committee chaired by Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare.

Roberts' committee prepared proposed legislation to enact judicial provisions of the constitution, while Strange's committee deals with election matters.

* * *

It was Strange's committee that came up with a proposal to extend the terms of county officials by two years, a recommendation that gained the support yesterday of a special subcommittee headed by Sen. Garry E. Brown, R-Schoolcraft, which is studying problems arising from adoption of the new documents.

This change would allow election of county officials, who get four-year terms under the new constitution, to coincide with elections for governor and other state officers in nonpresidential election years.

Affected would be the terms of County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry, Sheriff Frank W. Irons, Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy, Treasurer Charles A. Sparks and Prosecutor George F. Taylor.

They were elected last fall and normally would come up for reelection in 1964. But that would start the new four-year terms in the presidential election year cycle.

Rep. Strange said his committee preferred not to have it this way.

EXPECTS CHALLENGES

State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, however, said he expected there would be court challenges of the legislature's power to extend the term if the proposal is adopted.

The county's fifth Circuit Court Judge, Arthur E. Moore, and the two new judges to take office Sept. 6 — attorneys Philip Pratt of Pontiac and James S. Thorburn of Royal Oak — would be affected differently.

All three must be re-elected in 1964 if they wish to keep their posts.

Moore was appointed by Gov. George Romney to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of the Late Judge H. Russel Holland in February.

Romney named Pratt and Thorburn for new judgeships created for the county this year by the legislature.

They would be able to win only two-year terms in 1964, so that all seven of the county's Circuit Court judges would come up for re-election in 1966, according to the proposal developed by Sen. Roberts' committee.

In 1966, three judges would get six-year terms, two would be elected to eight-year terms, and two for 10 years in a staggered arrangement worked out by Roberts' committee. Afterwards, they would settle into six-year terms.

If the new constitution had not been adopted, Moore would have served out Holland's term only until Dec. 31, 1965 if reelected to the unexpired term in 1964. As it stands, he will serve a year longer if elected in 1964.

Pratt and Thorburn would have sought six-year terms in 1964.

Roberts said it could be arranged so that the three could seek six-year terms in 1964, leaving only four terms to be staggered in 1966.

But this would have meant special legislation to take care of this Oakland County situation, Roberts said.

"We wanted to apply one formula to the entire state," he said.

Halt Forgery Hearing So Child Can Be Born

DODGE CITY, Kan. (UPI) — The forgery charges facing the suspect were important; but another event was more immediate. The sheriff asked when it could be expected.

"Today," said the suspect, a pregnant woman. She was hastily released and the hearing postponed.

Road Toll Hits 944

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 944 persons in Michigan this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll on this date a year ago was 827.

To Train Jobless as Nurses Here

A training program to turn unemployed persons into licensed practical nurses was under way today with the first contingent of 30 students attending classes.

Merrill F. Walls, employment manager of the Pontiac Michigan Employment Security Commission office, predicted the group would have no difficulty finding jobs when it graduates a year from now.

Walls explained the program is set up under the federal Manpower Development and Training Act.

The 48-week course of instruction, with classroom work at the downtown Hubbard Building and on-the-job training at area hospitals, is supervised by Pontiac Public Schools.

* * *

The 90 enrolled in the program, divided into three classes, are mostly heads of families. They receive a $35 weekly stipend. Second and third classes do not begin until the previous group completes basic instruction.

Calls for Early Diagnosis of School Dropout Problem

The chief cause of school dropouts — academic failure — dates back to the earliest days of a child's attendance at school, Oakland County Supt. William J. Emerson told educators this week.

Emerson, commenting on a letter sent to almost every school district in the county by President Kennedy, called for the early diagnosis of academic disability.

The superintendent sent a letter this week to each of the 29 school districts in the county. He offered the facilities of his office in combating the dropout problem.

* * *

In Pontiac, Monroe M. Osmun, 100 Ogemaw, a veteran school board member, said he would discuss Kennedy's letter at the next board meeting.

The President urged "a massive, nation-wide effort this summer to persuade our young people to return to school in September."

Kennedy pointed to the lack of job opportunities for inadequately trained youth.

"Equal opportunity for education and for employment is a phrase without meaning unless the individual is prepared to take advantage of it," the President wrote.

* * *

"Young people and adults alike who have been disadvantaged need special programs in both general and vocational education," he added.

President Kennedy also urged the establishment of biracial commissions across the country to aid in solving the variety of problems surrounding the dropout problem.

The President asked for an initial report by Aug. 15 on the progress made locally to fight the dropout problem. He requested a further report by the end of September.

Emerson cited academic failure as the chief cause of dropouts. He said language arts deficiencies are the most crucial.

He said the improvement of academic proficiency was the biggest single preventive measure to avoid academic failure and the resulting dropout problem.

House Fire Causes Damage of $3,000

Fire last night caused an estimated $3,000 damage to a one-story frame house at 986 Lakeview, Waterford Township, and an additional $1,500 damage to contents.

The blaze, reported to the fire department at 6:23 p.m., may have started in a waste basket in the corner of the bathroom, Waterford Township firemen said.

The $6,000 house is owned by Eileen McClain of North Hollywood, Calif. It has been occupied by James Bell.

Reduced Proposal

School Board to Study Budget

A reduced budget which will not fill staff vacancies or authorized additional positions will be presented to the Oakland County Board of Education next month.

The new budget will be curtailed from the previously adopted preliminary budget of $370,832 because the State Tax Commission recently rejected a bid by the school board for an increase in its tax allocation.

County Superintendent William J. Emerson said the new budget is being developed around three principles:

- The budget will not contemplate the firing of anyone.
- It will not contemplate filling two vacant staff positions in the reading clinic.
- Seven positions will not be added that previously had been included in it.

The county superintendent said these would be part of his recommendations to the school board. He said several other areas were still under study.

The county school board meets Aug. 22 to decide how to overcome rejection of its tax appeal.

* * *

Emerson said he had contacted the five-man county school board and there was not any "general interest" in appealing the commission's verdict to the courts.

He indicated the reason for this decision was that any court fight would have held up the levy of school taxes in many school districts throughout the county.

This would have created hardship in many instances, Emerson said.

The previous budget of $370,832 would have required a .16 mill tax rate. The final .10 allocation would bring in approximately $238,676.

* * *

Although Emerson will recommend a deficit-spending budget, he was confident that the budget and the deficit could be managed without any "financial crisis."

He said the deficit would not be out of line with the deficits that have existed in many school districts in the county at various times.

"'If we fulfill our legal obligations," he added, "there is no way not to run a deficit."

Emerson said he could not speculate on the size of the deficit because he did not know what action the school board might take on his budget recommendations.

The superintendent said the county schools would try to maintain its programs at their present levels.

'NOT GOOD POLICY'

"'I don't think it would be good public policy to disband them because of one year's shortage of funds," he explained.

Emerson said every one of the county's programs had proven its worth in academic achievement on the part of pupils.

"I also think that in this next year there is just as much a need for academic achievement as there ever was," he added.

Okay Bond Sale Application

Waterford Township Board of Education members last night took another step forward in the school system's $6.25-million school construction program.

* * *

At a special meeting, the board authorized the filing of an application with the Municipal Finance Commission to sell $4.25 million in bonds.

A second resolution to the state superintendent of public instruction seeking qualification for the entire bond issue also was passed.

The $6.25-million building program was approved at the polls last June 10.

* * *

The $4.25-million bond issue sought now will cover construction costs of six new school buildings and eight additions planned over a five-year period.

An additional bond issue of $2 million will be sought later to finance furnishings in the new facilities.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe estimates that actual construction will begin in about three months.

* * *

Plans call for completion of two new elementary schools in Sections 12 and 21 of the township by next fall.

Also slated for readiness by September 1964 are additions to Crary Junior High School, Waterford Township High School and five elementary schols.

Board members reviewed preliminary drawings on the proposed construction projects last night. Final approval of the architect's drawings will be up for board consideration Aug. 15.

* * *

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of one administrative employe and appointed another.

Paul Ripley, assistant principal at Pierce Junior High School, resigned this post to become an assistant professor of literature at Northern Michigan University in Marquette.

The board confirmed the appointment of Richard Way, 36, as principal of Lambert Elementary School. Formerly a principal at Okemos, Way succeeds James Poteet who resigned to take a position with an industrial education firm.

* * *

Board members approved 15 new teaching contracts. Approximately 30 teachers are still needed for the 1963-64 school year.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS FOR their kindness and for the donations so thoughtfully given at the death of our husband and father, William H. Fishell. — Mrs. Rose Fishell and Mrs. Rosalind Kruger.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GEORGE Willis who passed away August 2, 1957. Ever remembered by his wife Nora, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dear wife and mother, Gladys Mills who passed away three years ago today, August 2, 1960.
Deep in our heart lies a picture,
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we shall keep it
Because she was one of the best.
Sadly missed by husband, and sons, Mother and Dad.

Attention Real Estate Brokers
Do you have a 3-bedroom home for sale that is vacant? Usually when a home is vacant it is harder to sell because it does not have as much appeal as it would have if someone were living in it. Maybe we can help each other. Junior executive is building a new home and must move into area immediately — I will rent your vacant home for 4 to 6 months, furnish it and maintain the home so that you can still show it for sale. This would help me and at the same time be beneficial to you by having the home maintained and payments made while on the For Sale market. Would prefer Waterford in Lady of the Lakes parish, Call LI 9-4776, if toll reverse charges.

JR. EXECUTIVE
3 BEDROOM home needed immediately by young Jr. Executive and family moving into area. Prefer Waterford area near Lady of Lakes Parish. Top character and credit references available. Call LI 9-4776. If toll, reverse charges.

The lot is 100 x 180 and the rear yard is fenced. The location of the home is equal to the quality of its construction. Priced at only $19,900, now is the time to act on this one.
BARGAIN HUNTING
If you're looking for a brick, 3 bedroom ranch home, in an excellent neighborhood but in the medium price range, let us show you this one. The living room and front bedroom floors are parquet, there is a brick fireplace, aluminum storms and screens and an attached 2½ car garage. Located on a circle drive at the end of the road, the 100x600' lot offers room and privacy. It abounds with shade trees forming a very picturesque setting in an exclusive environment. The full price is only $17,990, $1,800 down, plus costs will move you in. Don't hesitate on this one, act now.
NORTH END
Here is a good north end location, within walking distance of Pontiac Northern and Madison Junior High Schools. Check this 3 bedroom, aluminum home, for real quality. Wet plaster walls, oak floors, birch cupboards, marble sills, built in oven and range, aluminum storms and screens and an attached garage. Located on a roomy lot and priced right at $13,900, it should move.
SOUTHERN COMFORT
If you appreciate Early American atmosphere and "gracious living" you should treat yourself to an inspection of this home. The spacious, 8 room home is located on 8 acres, includes a barn and a swimming pool and frontage on the Huron River. This is a large farm home, built in 1824, that has been completely remodeled and restored. The attached 3½ car garage is 36x20, the master bedroom is 24x24 and there is over 5200 square feet of living space in the home itself. There are four bedrooms and three full baths; two of the baths very spacious, with vanity tables. Both the living room and the family room contain a fireplace. The hardwood floors are beautifully preserved and the home is spotless throughout. This masterpiece is the figurehead of "Tamalin Farms," in White Lake Township. Located just west of Bogie Lake Road, on Cedar Island Road it will be open for your inspection Sunday, from 2:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. Drop in at your leisure, a member of our staff will be present to conduct your tour and answer your questions.

To Ask County Employe Wage Hikes

Salary increases for Oakland County employes in 1964 totaling at least $250,000 will be recommended by the County Board of Auditors Monday.

The exact recommendation, which will be presented to the salaries committee of the County Board of Supervisors, hasn't yet been determined, said the auditors today.

But they assured the figure will at least equal the $250,000 proposed in a tentative budget this spring.

It will include across-the-board increases for all of the county's 1,400 employes to various degrees, according to the auditors.

They will tell the salaries committee that the recommended increases are necessary to retain and recruit qualified personnel in county government.

Professional, technical and nonprofessional employes are included in the auditors' recommendation.

None have received pay raises since 1962 unless they were able to advance into higher positions.

In a recent statement, the auditors maintained:

"Even with the last raises granted to county employes two years ago, the salaries of the county's administrative, professional and technical employes, who constitute approximately 29 per cent of the county work force, were just rising out of the marginal category."

LOWER QUALITY

Vacancies requiring skilled and trained employes are becoming increasingly difficult to fill, they added, and, "In general, the county finds itself getting lower quality persons than it has been able to attract in the past.

"In the local area, private employers have continued to grant cost-of-living increases while the county has stood still.

"Other governmental employers, including the federal and state governments, local governments and many school districts, will have had one and in some cases two upward salary adjustments between 1962 and next January."

★ ★ ★

The county is in competition with these units for many types of employes, the auditors pointed out.

The county's personnel department noted an employe turnover rate of 20 per cent last year. This year's rate of attrition is estimated at 26 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The department reported 67 county positions presently remain vacant for lack of qualified applicants.

Board Asks Power to Classify Movies

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The New York State Board of Regents asked the legislature Thursday for more power to classify movies according to their suitability for children.

It also asked that children be barred from unsuitable movies unless accompanied by a parent.

In the last 15 years, the board said, court decisions have weakened the state's movie licensing law until obscenity is the only ground for denying a license.

The board, which issues the licenses, said it wants classification to "reflect the broader concern for the moral and emotional well-being of young people."

Bodies of 6 Recovered at Blast Scene

SUDBURY, Ont. (UPI) — The bodies of six persons have been recovered from the ruins of a service station - restaurant near here that was demolished by an explosion of unknown origin late yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Another person was critically injured and five others were in fair condition in hospitals following the explosion at Hammer, 17 miles north of here.

Two others suffered minor injuries but were treated and later released from a hospital.

The names of the six dead were not released. Ontario Provincial Police still were searching the smoldering ruins for the body of a seventh person who was believed to have been in the building.

★ ★ ★

In critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital there was Giselle Lebelle, 15, Field, Ont.

Hospital officials said five others, Linda Duguay, 14, Rene Menard, 14, John Ross, 17, all of Hammer, and Edward Thorpe, 27, Sudbury, were in fair condition.

Harry Telenko, 33, and his 9-year-old son Richard, were taken to the hospital but later released.

★ ★ ★

A witness who was driving past the service station when the explosion occurred, said: "The whole building seemed to come completely off the ground and then crumble."

Convoys Ignore Red Objection

BERLIN (UPI) — The U.S. Army today ignored Communist objections and sent four convoys over the East German highway to West Germany.

The convoys passed through Soviet controls "without trouble" and were processed "normally" by Soviet control officers, an Army spokesman said.

The convoys were the first U.S. movement over the 110-mile autobahn between West Berlin and West Germany since Walter Ulbricht, goateed East German Communist leader, voiced objections on Wednesday.

Ulbricht in effect accused the United States of using the convoys and motor patrols in East Berlin for black marketeering.

He claimed Western troops were smuggling out valuable industrial products from East Germany.

Drops Charge of Gambling

Charges of gambling and possession of gambling equipment against a 20-year-old Pontiac youth have been dismissed by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Judge Moore took the action after hearing arguments from defense counsel that Frank Campanaro of 294 S. East Blvd., was not caught gambling by arresting officers, who therefore had no right to search him.

Judge Moore agreed. He suppressed the evidence of dice found on Campanaro, which left no evidence to support the charges.

★ ★ ★

Campanaro and Arthur Sabourin, 484 N. East Blvd., were arrested March 11 for allegedly conducting a dice game behind Scrib's Bar and Restaurant, 130 S. Telegraph. Sabourin is free on $500 bond pending trial on the gambling charges.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Kentucky Town Turns Brown, Washes Down

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP) — Residents of this southeastern Kentucky town of 7,000 were elated Thursday when they found they could wash away their troubles.

★ ★ ★

When they got up Thursday, many residents on the south side of town found their white frame houses had turned a funny-looking brown.

★ ★ ★

The flustered residents found that most of the brown stuff would come off by wiping or washing.

Still, it doesn't solve the mystery of how it happened in the first place.

★ ★ ★

County Health Sanitarian O. M. Haynes thinks it all came when the atmosphere became contaminated by some type of gas that reacted with an agent in the paint to cause the brown coloring.

Satellite Completes First Orbit of Sun

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Mariner 2 spacecraft launched to study the planet Venus completed its first orbit of the sun yesterday. The spacecraft, launched Aug. 27, 1962, from Cape Canaveral, has traveled about 540 million miles since then.

★ ★ ★

Radio contact with the spacecraft was lost on the 129th day of its mission but it has radioed important scientific information about Venus, including the fact that the surface temperature of the planet is 800 degrees and details on cloud formations surrounding Venus.

2 U.S. Tourists Accused

Reds Charge Spy Activity

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia has accused a United Press International correspondent and an American professor of trying to lure a Soviet citizen into U.S. intelligence.

★ ★ ★

The government newspaper charged that Don Larrimore, a Russian-speaking American newsman, sought out a young Soviet identified only as Felix S. during a tourist visit to Moscow in 1956 and 1957.

Later, it continued, an American professor of Slavic languages from Minneapolis, Minn., who used the names Irving Shaw or Joseph Shaw visited Felix and suggested he provide secret information for Western intelligence.

'SNARES PREY'

The paper said Larrimore was a "collaborator of the intelligence of the U.S.A." who "snares prey which others later take in hand."

"His activities are financed, of course, not by UPI, but by the Central Intelligence Service," said Izvestia. "He did not succeed in returning to Moscow, so now he has decided to try his luck in Poland."

★ ★ ★

Shaw was said to have been caught photographing secret objects during his visit to Moscow and ordered out of the country in 1958.

Izvestia said Felix told Soviet police about his contacts with the Americans after his father found two $50 bills in a letter to his son from Shaw.

DENIES CHARGE

United Press International in New York said Larrimore denied ever having been in CIA employ. UPI added it was puzzled by Izvestia's statement that Larrimore had not succeeded in returning to Moscow. It said the Soviet foreign ministry had granted him a visa to join the UPI staff there long after the alleged incidents in Moscow.

UPI said Larrimore had been assigned meantime to its Rome bureau and the Soviet visa was not used.

Little Folks Wind Up Annual Convention

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The "Little People of America" all under 4 feet 11 inches tall, closed their annual convention yesterday.

One of the final items on the agenda was "Selected Short Subjects."

Heavyweight Fighter Clay Fond of Poets and Poetry

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Cassius Clay and several of his brothers showed up to grace the opening of singer Betty Madigan and the poet of the piano, Carmen Cavallero. Folks were truly impressed.

WILSON

Cassius was there (1) because he's becoming a recording star, doing "recitin', poems and jokin'", and (2) because he's moved into the hotel and it's handy, and (3) because he loves other poets.

George Jessel, Israel-bound again, hopes he won't be run out of Monte Carlo when he stops off. Jessel saw Prince Rainier at the Kentucky Derby, and exclaimed, "We've got more people in this box than he's got in his whole country."

But Not Unanimously

House OKs Funds for Space

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, continuing its strong support for the U.S. space program, has authorized more than $5 billion for such projects as landing a man on the moon, but for the first time, the approval was not unanimous.

The vote of 443 to 57, yesterday authorized the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to spend $5.2 billion in the current fiscal year compared with $3.7 billion last year.

The dissenting votes were cast by 55 Republicans and two Democrats — Reps. Howard W. Smith, Va., and E. C. Gathings, Ark. Last year, the smaller NASA authorization was approved without opposition.

* * *

President Kennedy had requested $5.7 billion in space funds, but for the first time, a substantial reduction of a half-billion dollars was made by the House space committees before the bill was sent to the floor.

Some of the funds may be replaced by the Senate. Its Space Committee has agreed to authorize $5.5 billion for the program, almost $300 million more than the House. If the Senate agrees with the committee action, the difference will be worked out in a House - Senate Conference Committee.

Opposition to the program may have reflected some members' disenchantment with the moon project and with the success of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the President's brother, in obtaining tentative agreement to a $50-million NASA research center for the Boston area.

OVERTURNED VOTE

The Senate Space Committee, overturning an earlier vote, yesterday approved an initial $5 million for the electronic research center. In the House, members agreed to a $3.9-million authorization for the same project.

The House approval for the huge space program also was a rejection of several members' argument that a man on the moon would be less helpful to the nation than a tax cut now for the man on the street.

Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash., said he agreed with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that spending billions on a race to the moon is "nuts."

However, no amendments were offered to reduce the $2.4 billion authorized in the bill to finance Project Apollo. This may have reflected a view expressed by Space Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., that if the United States does not put a man on the moon "somebody else will."

Beer Distributor Dies Swimming at Cottage

His body was found in five feet of water. Sands was a beer distributor in the area.

Italian Political Factions Meet to Set Up Strategy

ROME (UPI) — The ruling Christian Democrats and their heirs to Benito Mussolini's Fascist political ideas held separate party conferences today to plan strategy for the coming months.

The Christian Democrats, postwar Italy's strongest party, were expected to approve making another attempt at a center - left government when the caretaker cabinet of Premier Giovanni Leone steps down in November.

There were indications the party's national council would approve the cautious approach of party Secretary Aldo Moro, who wants the Socialists to share government responsibility and to move further from the Communists.

In the last center - left government, they supported the Christian Democrats but were not in the cabinet.

* * *

The Italian Social Movement (MSI) — successor to Mussolini's outlawed Fascist party — has another kind of problem. Its ranks are split on whether to seek more support through the ballot box or by means of brass knuckles.

The MSI, which gets only about 5 per cent of the vote in national elections, does not express its differences in those exact terms, but it is divided into groups that do.

Party leader Arturo Michelini has been striving to present modern Fascism as a respectable, conservative movement within the bounds of Democracy.

* * *

But the rowdies of the party, who believe in fighting Communists in the streets and often end up fighting each other in party meetings, want to stick to the old brass knuckles methods.

The present MSI congress was almost certain to produce a fresh round of name-calling and perhaps some fighting between the factions.

The Christian Democrats have been debating the center-left issue for the past four days.

* * *

Moro got a standing ovation last night when he told the party council there are "no valid alternatives" to the center - left government because of Christian Democratic losses in the last elections.

Nixon Huddles With English Foreign Minister

LONDON (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his family arrived from Paris today and Nixon went to lunch with Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

*

A U.S. Embassy official said Nixon's visit to Lord Home was entirely private.

The Nixons came from Paris, where they spent five days. They are winding up a tour of Europe and will spend five days in Britain.

* * *

Nixon told newsmen in Paris that rumors he might succeed Eric Johnston as head of the Motion Picture Association of America are "purely imaginary."

The Christian church is believed to exist in every capital city of the world with but three exceptions — Lhasa in Tibet, Mecca in Arabia and Kabul, Afghanistan.

Tests May Aid Senate N-Treaty OK

Might Calm Fears

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's announcement the United States will continue underground weapons testing may aid his drive for Senate ratification of the limited nuclear treaty.

Kennedy told his news conference yesterday that subterranean tests will continue. They are excluded from the agreement reached with the Soviet Union and Britain prohibiting testing in the atmosphere, space and underwater.

Confident the Senate will approve the test ban treaty, the President also said a nonaggression pact with the Soviet bloc might be worthwhile if it provided "greater security for Berlin."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said he thought it "advisable" for the NATO powers to discuss Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposal for an East-West nonaggression agreement to see whether it would serve the interests of the West.

He also stated he was ready to give France nuclear weapons and know-how if President Charles de Gaulle reversed his field and agreed to sign the limited test ban treaty and cooperate in "integration" of NATO forces — possibilities generally considered dim.

Continuation of underground testing may alleviate the fears of some senators that this country might voluntarily put a moratorium on such tests in an effort to get the complete ban toward which Kennedy said the United States will keep on striving.

It also served notice that American efforts to perfect more effective nuclear weapons will continue with the kind of experiments scientists generally estimate cover 80 per cent of the nuclear development field.

County Population to Double by 1980

Oakland County can be expected to nearly double its population by 1980, the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission announced today.

While the five counties around Detroit are growing by more than a million residents, Detroit and several suburbs will lose residents during the next 17 years, according to the commission.

Oakland County, with a population estimated at slightly over 700,000 people, is expected to gain 690,000. This is equal to its population recorded in the last official census in 1960.

The commission forecast large population increases for Bloomfield and Farmington townships, for Warren and Sterling townships in Macomb County, and Livonia and Taylor Township in Wayne County.

The total population of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe and Washtenaw counties is expected to rise from 4,935,920 in 1960 to 4,762,500 in 1970 and 5,796,000 in 1980.

Detroit, however, is expected to decline in population from 1,670,144 in 1960 to 1.6 million in 1970, with population then remaining about the same for the following 10 years.

The Detroit suburbs of Highland Park, Hamtramck and River Rouge also are expected to lose residents.

"Although population decline seems to be a dirty word, there is nothing wrong with it," said Aaron J. Blumberg, a commission market analyst.

"A decline in population doesn't necessarily denote decay," he said. "You can lose residents and still have economic and housing development growth."

Macomb county can also be expected to double its 1960 population of 405,804 residents, reported the commission.

Monroe County may gain about 75,000 residents, and Washtenaw about 88,000, it said.

Outside Detroit, Wayne County's population is expected to grow from 996,153 in 1960 to 1.3 million in 1970 and 1.7 million in 1980.

The five counties will continue to account for slightly more than half of Michigan's population, said Blumberg, provided, among other things, "there will be no devastating war or prolonged economic depression."

Indonesian Aid: More or Less?

Broomfield Objects to 'Slap in the Face'

WASHINGTON — U.S. Reps. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, and Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, today voiced sharp objections to a reported U.S. move to step up aid to President Sukarno's regime in Indonesia.

Broomfield called the reported aid increase "a slap in the face" of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Broomfield was the author of an amendment approved by the committee last week that would end all U.S. assistance to Indonesia unless President Kennedy makes a formal finding that such aid is vital to U.S. interests.

DEMANDS EXPLANATION

In a closed session of the House group yesterday, Broomfield demanded an explanation by the Administration.

He said Foreign Aid chief David Bell apparently was in Europe last week trying to interest U.S. allies in helping Indonesia at the same time the House committee was voting to cut off such aid.

Hays, also a member of the committee, said, "That was really flaunting it in our face."

Hays vowed angrily to intro-

Car No. 590,071

Pontiac Ending Year

The last 1963 Pontiac, number 590,071, will be driven off the final assembly line at about 11 p.m. tonight.

★ ★ ★

While looking forward to the next model year, Pontiac officials will have a fond remembrance for this last car, which helped shatter all previous production records for the General Motors Division.

E. M. Estes, Pontiac general manager, said 68,138 more Pontiacs have been assembled than in the 1962 model run, and 35,981 above the record output of 1955.

Regular-sized automobiles numbered 485,581, while 131,490 were in the Tempest series.

★ ★ ★

Model change-over and inventory will result in furloughs of about a week for most of the 10,500 production workers, Estes said.

Setting up new production programs and parts stockpiling precedes actual assembly of the first 1964 models, about Sept. 3.

Auto output at Pontiac division reflected the continuing 1963 success story for General Motors, which produced a total of 371,813 passenger cars during July, compared to 325,976 the same month last year.

GM also sent 52,896 trucks down assembly lines, well over the 40,235 of July, 1962.

Ford Motor Co. totals last month were 167,868 cars and 37,489 trucks, contrasted with 178,454 and 31,653 last year.

Chrysler Corp. recorded its best July since 1957, with 87,150 vehicles, of which 78,635 were automobiles. This compares with combined output of 58,590 last year.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Division Draws Praise

"No one has gotten a bigger kick out of Pontiac Motor Division's wonderful year than I have," said Robert C. Critchfield, former general manager. "The record they currently broke is one we set eight years ago."

"E. M. Estes, his associates and the men along the assembly lines have done a magnificent job. First, they've produced a terrific line of cars that deserve the great public support that they've received. Secondly, they've held the manufacturing quality up and the sales job reflects credit on all concerned.

★ ★ ★

"When we built that 555,000 in 1955, it was a tremendous number of automobiles, but the 1963 model will pass this by some 35,000 plus. It isn't easy to lose a record that you went all out to set, but I can't imagine having it happen in better circumstances.

"What car do I drive now? Are you kidding? Mostly a Pontiac. I'll have one until they put me away for good, and I hope that last ride in the well-known vehicle has a Pontiac motor."

Ward Drifting Nearer Death

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward failed to respond to treatment for bronchial pneumonia and an overdose of drugs and drifted closer to death today.

A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's physician "has expressed increasing concern for his patient."

The society osteopath has been in a coma since he took an overdose of drugs Wednesday, shortly before he was convicted of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

Ward was breathing with the aid of an artificial lung and receiving nutrition and stimulants intravenously.

He had shown no improvement since last night, when he

City Breathes Easier on Water Changing

City officials, concerned over side effects the change-over to Detroit water might have, were breathing a bit easier today.

The worst is over. Only the possibility of some temporarily rusty water remains when the new water is introduced to homeowners late Friday and early Saturday, Aug. 9 and 10.

Officials were most concerned about the change in pressure and its effect on existing mains, ser-

City officials today reminded Pontiac residents that the ban on lawn sprinkling will still be in effect this weekend from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

vice lines and plumbing in individual buildings and homes.

All pressure tests have been completed.

The city's water pressure has been increased 15 pounds per square inch, according to Herbert G. Parker, water superintendent.

The pressure hike resulted in breaks in four mains and "a rash of calls from homeowners reporting breaks in service lines leading into homes or plumbing," Parker said.

"Most of the leaks occurred in basements, and most of them came on the north side, around Fisher Body Plant.

City Plumbing Inspector Peter Hickey added that such breaks are usually unavoidable and occur in old, galvinized service pipes which do not meet current plumbing code standards.

MORE PRESSURE

"We are now pumping at a pressure of 85 pounds per square inch at the plant," Parker noted. "Our former pressure was 70 pounds.

Officials expect to bring in Detroit water while the city sleeps. The new pumps will begin working and all the city's wells will be turned off simultaneously at midnight Friday, Aug. 9.

"We frankly don't know what to expect from the temporary chemical imbalance which will exist in the water system," Parker said.

"We expect there will be some discoloration of water possibly some unpleasant taste or odor. However, there won't be any interruption in the flow of water."

"We expect to do extensive flushing in areas where we get complaints of rust," he concluded.

Thunderstorms Due, Ending in Morning

Thunderstorms on the agenda for tonight will end in the morning with temperatures a little cooler during the weekend.

Monday will be warmer, but Tuesday and Wednesday will be cooler, the highs near the normal 79 to 85. Lows for the period will average 55 to 64.

Showers are forecast again Monday or Tuesday.

Today's 15 miles per hour southerly winds will become 10 to 20 m.p.h. tonight then shift to northwesterly tomorrow afternoon.

Sixty-two was the low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The recording was 68 at 1 p.m.

JFK to Persist in Rights Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he thinks it is probably right that his advocacy of civil rights legislation is costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity, but he is going ahead.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that there is "a national crisis of great proportions" over the racial issue that any President would have to meet it.

While he agreed with a questioner that the political cost may be heavy in terms of his expected bid for re-election next year, he said the crisis is at hand "and we are going to deal with it."

we are going to deal with it."

"My judgment is that both political parties will finally come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our citizens and advance their right to equality of opportunity," he said.

DISPUTES POWELL

Kennedy made it clear he does not agree with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., that Negroes should ignore white help in the leadership of the civil rights movement.

Kennedy said that with 10 per cent of the population (Negroes) being directly affected, it is a national problem."

"Therefore," he said, "it requires the work of both Negroes and whites."

The President also made it known that he is displeased with some recent Negro demonstrations which he described as fringe actions without further pinpointing them. He said such demonstrations were self-defeating.

Rusk Bound for Signing of Document

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves for Moscow tonight to sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty and to explore the chances of further East-West understanding.

The signing of the treaty, in which the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain pledge to abstain from testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water, will be a ceremonial affair Monday.

The pact was initialed last Thursday by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, Britain's science minister, Lord Hailsham, and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister.

Rusk will be accompanied to Moscow by high administration officials and six senators—four Democrats and two Republicans.

He has been invited to remain in the Soviet Union after the signing ceremony, and the Moscow conferences are expected to last three or four days.

To what extent and for how long Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, will participate in these talks was not immediately clear. He, Rusk and Gromyko will sign the treaty in the Kremlin's magnificent St. Catherine Hall.

Khrushchev, officials said, is expected to start the talks with Rusk on Tuesday. The place is undetermined, although Khrushchev is known to have planned a vacation at the Black Sea. Later, the discussions likely will be held in Moscow with Gromyko.

The four Democratic senators who will accompany Rusk are Cold War Ease in Treaty Talks?

Further Gains Sighted as K Leads Red Group

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's decision to take personal charge of the Soviet delegation to next week's Big Three talks here raised hopes today that he is ready for further steps to ease the Cold War.

The Soviets announced last night that Khrushchev would put off his vacation in order to be in Moscow when Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home arrived Monday to sign the partial nuclear test ban treaty with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Gromyko and the two Western nuclear negotiators, Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham, discussed nuclear treaty progress in relation to the cold war in their talks last month.

★ ★ ★

These are the main features of the Khrushchev "peace package," as made known in his speeches and statements:

—A nonaggression pact between NATO and the Warsaw defense alliance. The West is reluctant to agree to this, fearing implied recognition of communist East Germany, a Warsaw Pact member.

★ ★ ★

—Control posts to prevent surprise attack. Khrushchev has suggested stationing foreign inspectors to check on troop build-ups and movements, but details are not clear.

★ ★ ★

—Freezing of arms budgets and reduction of foreign troops in both East and West Germany. Again, it is not fully clear from public statements how this would be controlled.

Urges Passage of Rights Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Karl F. Rolvaag, Minnesota's Democratic governor, urged Congress today to act against what he termed the genuine and immediate challenge of racial injustice by passing a public accommodations law.

He told the Senate Commerce Committee a federal law banning discrimination by retail stores, hotels, restaurants and other private establishments catering to the public would complement and strengthen similar state statutes.

Rolvaag also said that "such a law would serve to emphasize and dramatize on a national level the public policy which prohibits discrimination not only in public accommodations but in every aspect of life."

The governor was one of the last witnesses called by the committee as it neared the end of five weeks of hearings on the bill.

Elsewhere, on the racial front:

● In New York, arrest of seven pickets blocking the entrance to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Manhattan office was followed today by the arrest in Brooklyn of one of the pioneering "freedom riders."

James Peck, 48, white, of Manhattan, was picked up for sitting in a gateway to block access of trucks to the Downstate Medical Center construction project.

★ ★ ★

Authorities assigned six police to every picket at the Brooklyn construction site today to prevent a recurrence of violence in massive civil rights demonstrations that have resulted in nearly 700 arrests.

Approximately 234 policemen, some mounted, attempted to break up a new tactic to slow down construction vehicles.

By 10 a.m. Pontiac time, 14 persons, including nine women, had been arrested on charges of disorderly conduct or resisting arrest, bringing to 675 the number who have been arrested at the hospital site.

★ ★ ★

● In Charleston, S. C., 87 white merchants agreed to a six-point desegregation plan and Negro leaders promised not to picket their stores yesterday.

The agreement was reached after almost eight weeks of racial protests in Charleston, where the first shot of the Civil War was fired 102 years ago.

Leaders of the anti-segregation Charleston Movement said picketing would continue outside stores that have not agreed to the plan.

● In Los Angeles A nationwide "skills bank" designed to channel qualified Negro workers into skilled jobs, will be organized by September, the national Urban League says.

Red Chinese Blast Soviets

Labeled 'Monsters' for Approving N-Ban

TAKYO (AP) — Red China called Soviet leaders "freaks and monsters" today for approving the nuclear test ban treaty, while Moscow accused Chinese Premier Chou En-lai of acting in bad faith as long as four years ago.

★ ★ ★

Albania, allied with Peking, pitched into the war of words by accusing Premier Khrushchev of "unconditional concessions and capitulation to the imperialists" in agreeing to a partial nuclear test ban with the United States and Britain.

The Peking People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, launched an attack against the Soviet Union and its Western partners in the test ban treaty.

"Reflects the ugly face of U.S. imperialism, which is aggressive by nature, as well as the servile features of those who are warmly embracing U.S. imperialims.

★ ★ ★

"The exposure of these freaks and monsters in their true colors is an excellent thing for the revolutionary struggle of the peoples and the cause of world peace," the editorial continued.

The People's Daily accused the three treaty partners of acting as "nuclear overlords, while the overwhelming majority of (other) countries are to kneel down on the ground and obey orders meekly, as if they were nuclear slaves."

Khrushchev was named directly in another blast. Liao Chengchih, vice chairman of the China Peace Committee, told a rally in Peking: "In the past few years Khrushchev had all along been anxious to make a deal with U.S. imperialism in order to push the Soviet general line of peaceful coexistence."

New Restaurant to Open Away From Landmark

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Kreilach have moved into a new home and soon will be opening their new business — both away from the landmark in which they lived and made their livelihood for 18 years.

The new location for their restaurant — in Bloomfield Lanes at 1520 N. Woodward — will not be far from the old Bloomfield Barbecue which they operated until Sunday.

The restaurant-grocery store at 1620 N. Woodward is being torn down. A Socony-Vacuum service station is being constructed on the property.

Kreilach said the grocery portion of the building has been in existence for 125 years and has had three additions.

The Kreilachs, who lived above the restaurant, have now moved to a home on Square Lake.

They plan to open the new Bloomfield Barbecue in Bloomfield Lanes about Aug. 12. The snack bar of the building is now being enlarged to accommodate the restaurant.

Kreilach has applied for a liquor license for the establishment but said it was a temporary location.

★ ★ ★

The Kreilachs have discontinued their grocery interests and will confine themselves to serving breakfasts, lunches, dinners and snacks.

In their family-operated business at the old location, they had been open 19 hours a day, working split shifts to do so. They operated 360 days a year.

Armed Pair Rob 2 in Avon Twp.

Andrew Skibowski of 1933 John R, Avon Township, was robbed of $66 in $2 bills plus $7 in Canadian money last night by two armed gunmen wearing masks.

Skibowski told sheriff's deputies that he and his son-in-law, Arthur Lambert, 4252 Collins, Avon Township, were watching television at Skibowski's house when the intruders burst into the front room at 10:20 p.m.

Skibowski, who collects $2 bills, said the pair took wallets from him and Lambert and then steered them into a rear bedroom at gunpoint.

Lambert's wallet contained no money.

Argentine Sees Merit in Oil Deals

CRUZ DEL EJE, Argentina (AP) — President-elect Arturo Illia says foreign oil companies are needed to help develop Argentina's oil but their present contracts must be changed.

"For me it is a simple problem," the country doctor told an interviewer at his hill country home yesterday. "The contracts are made wrongly. They go against the interests of the country.

"We have an organization—the State Oilfields (YPF), which suffers because of this."

During the election campaign, Illia said he would cancel oil contracts with foreign firms which include Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Oil and Union Oil. He has toned this down since, indicating that foreign capital would not be barred.

"I do not mean to say that some contracts are not necessary," said Illia. "I recognize that in part they are needed for our progress.

"But the contracting companies know that the contracts are juridically wrong. I think that in time the contracting companies will have to use their good will to negotiate them again in open light. If they show that good will, we will gladly pay indemnification."

Scattered Korean Gunfire Is Labeled Insignificant

From Our News Wires

ALONG THE TRUCE LINE, Korea — Scattered gunfire again broke out in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea early today, but a U.S. 1st Cavalry Division officer indicated the shooting was insignificant.

Nevertheless, tension remained high along the 151-mile truce line where four Communists, three Americans and one South Korean were killed in skirmishes Monday and Tuesday.

American and South Korean troops of the United Nations Command (UNC) appeared ready for any trouble, but the immediate danger of war seemed to have faded.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Col. William D. Lynch, commander of the 1st Cavalry's 1st Reconnaissance Squadron, said the predawn shooting was by American soldiers firing at possible infiltrators. Lynch heads the Army unit responsible for observation posts up front.

"There has been no increase of major activities," he said. "We had sporadic firing last night (but) most of our contacts are at night."

"Last night there also were some mine detonations," he said.

★ ★ ★

"We feel we probably got quite a few (infiltrators) before they got through," the officer said. But he said there was no way to check because night foot patrols have been ruled out, and the North Koreans can take their wounded back before helicopters can fly over the zone in daylight.

"We are fighting a night war up here," Lynch commented. "If anything moves we shoot."

The only U.N. patrols at night are made in armored personnel carriers.

SHARP PROTEST

Meanwhile, the UNC was readying a sharp protest to Communist North Korea over Monday's Red ambush in which two American soldiers were killed and a third wounded.

A U.N. spokesman said Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior member of the armistice commission, will deliver the protest at a meeting of the commission Saturday at the truce village of Panmunjom.

The UNC called the meeting to protest the machine gun and grenade attack on a 1st Cavalry jeep by a band of North Korean soldiers.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. denounced as "vicious and unprovoked" the attack made from inside the demilitarized buffer zone about 25 miles southwest of Seoul. The American soldiers were just across the zone border, inside South Korean territory.

Antisocial Convict Returns to Flock

FORT MADISON, (AP)—A convict who expressed his displeasure at his 25-year sentence with a five-day camp-out on a 140-foot state penitentiary water tower, is back on the ground.

William T. Bradley, 45, faces disciplinary action by prison officials. Fellow inmates expressed disapproval of his antics.

★ ★ ★

Bradley came down from his lofty perch voluntarily Thursday night, four days and 13 hours after prison authorities first saw him on the tower early Sunday. Authorities said he appeared to be in good condition.

'Lay-Down' On in Tense Windy City

CHICAGO (UPI)—Negroes lay in the mud at a school emplacement site today three miles from the tense South Side area where racial violence has erupted for four consecutive nights.

The "lay-down" demonstration, in protest against what Negroes charge are segregated classrooms, took place during a series of driving rainstorms.

Police arrested 26 of the demonstrating Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) members. They were taken to Englewood Police Station, already crowded with Negroes and whites arrested last night in the tense area surrounding 56th and Morgan streets.

At least 24 persons were injured, most of them by flying glass, and 41 persons were arrested last night around the apartment building where Negro families have moved in. They brought to 133 the number of persons picked up during four nights in the adjoining Negro and white areas.

Eighteen men and eight women, all Negro, were arrested at the CORE "lay-in" today.

★ ★ ★

Eighteen mobile classrooms, much like house trailers, were being placed on rented property at 73rd and Low streets in an area known as "Lilly Gardens Park."

Integrationists have claimed these temporary units were ordered implaced to foster segregated schools.

The demonstrators lay in the street and on the ground in an attempt to prevent trucks from entering the site, in the manner of integrationists at New York construction sites.

Last night around 56th and Morgan, crowds shouted curses and beaved rocks and bottles in Chicago's worsening racial situation. Both white and Negro persons were arrested.

Mac Prepared for Last Confab

Parliament to Meet in Final Session

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, "wounded" and "pained" by recent scandals, prepared today for the final session of Parliament before a summer recess that may put the seal on his own political career.

★ ★ ★

The House of Commons was meeting for the last time until the middle of October.

For Macmillan's conservatives, the recess will be one of intense activity aimed at deciding whether the 69-year-old prime minister will remain in control.

A series of severe domestic and foreign setbacks, capped by the Profumo scandal, have put Macmillan's position in jeopardy, mainly with his own Parliamentary party.

★ ★ ★

The vice trial of Dr. Stephen Ward has been a mixed blessing. It served to keep the public eye on the sordid events connected with former War Minister John Profumo. But it also brought sympathy for the prime minister as a man victimized unfairly.

★ ★ ★

He told a television interviewer last night he thought he had the backing of the party and the country as a whole. But he admitted such things as the Profumo case and the subsequent disclosures about Profumo's relations with playgirl Christine Keeler have cut deeply...

"They have wounded me and pained me but there are things you've got to do and see through not lose your nerve," Macmillan told the television interviewer.

The fact that Macmillan did not lose his nerve over the Profumo case has enabled him to leave Parliament at the recess without having been forced out.

★ ★ ★

He has remained deliberately cryptic, however, on his plans for the future.

duce an amendment on the House floor to cut off U.S. aid to Indonesia altogether.

"It will ban any aid whatever, any kind, shape or form — period!" Hays said.

The Administration was reported yesterday to be considering, along with some of its free world allies, extending $250 million worth of aid to Indonesia in the next year.

Both Broomfield and Hays said they had no idea that the United States was promoting a free world increase in aid to Sukarno's government.

Broomfield said there had been strong evidence presented to the committee that some supplies of U.S. surplus powdered milk sent to Indonesia were being "sold on the black market in the streets of Jakarta." He said the labels were not even removed.

'NO RETURN'

"There is no return to spontaneous control of breathing and all tests to detect such a return have proved negative.

"The physician expresses increased concern for his patient at this time."

Meanwhile, Julie Gulliver, 23, a red-haired singer who was Ward's daily companion during his trial, told newsmen:

"There's a whole crowd of people right now praying for Stephen to die so that their names won't be mentioned.

At German Border

Crowd Sees 2 Die

From Our News Wires

GOSLAR, Germany — Shouts of "You are murders" rang across the East-West border in Germany today near a spot where Communist guards shot down a man and a woman in plain sight of hundreds of witnesses.

Residents of Hohegeis, a vacation resort about 12 miles southeast of this city in lower Saxony, screamed their anger whenever a Communist uniform hove into view.

It was opposite Hohegeis that an East German Army sergeant and a private opened fire yesterday on two persons who tried to escape the Soviet zone.

★ ★ ★

Both would-be refugees were dressed like farm workers. The man carried a scythe on his back.

While hundreds of horrified tourists watched helplessly from West Germany, the East Germans mowed down the man with submachinegun bullets.

The woman was stopped by the first burst of fire and was led away, apparently wounded.

The man, hit in the leg, limped on toward the border but the guards killed him with a second burst.

The tourists, among them Swedes and Danes, were inspecting the barbed wire and barricades. After a stunned silence many cried in rage: "Murders!," "Bandits!" Some hurled stones in the direction of the borderguards.

★ ★ ★

"Shut your traps!" one East German officer shouted. The tourists responded with a fresh hail of stones.

Not until two hours later did the Communists remove the body of the man from the weeds, only a few yards from freedom.

Kennedy continued on other Cold War topics:

CHINA — The growing population of Communist China, the fact that it is surrounded by weaker countries, organization of its government along Stalinist lines and Peking's advocacy of war to advance the Communist cause pose "a menacing situation."

The possibility that China might develop into a full-fledged nuclear power in a decade means the United States may face "potentially a more dangerous situation than any we faced since the end of the second war."

SUMMIT—"I don't really see at the present time" that a summit meeting "would serve a useful purpose."

ANTIMISSILE — "The problem of developing a defense against a missile is beyond us and beyond the Soviets technically," although the United States will continue to work on the matter.

MULTILATERAL — A "multilateral force represents the best solution to hold the alliance together" and nothing has happened of late to lessen "the need on both sides of the Atlantic for the closest cooperation on military matters, on economic matters, on political matters, on foreign policy matters."

LATIN AMERICA—Efforts of the Alliance for Progress should be intensified. The problems in Latin America "are almost insuperable." While the United States ignored them for years, there is now a common recognition "that there is the necessity for revolution in Latin America. In my opinion, it can be peaceful."

The two Republicans are Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee; and George D. Aiken of Vermont, second ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Others in Rusk's party will include Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and William C. Foster, head of the Disarmament and Arms Control Agency.

Khrushchev is expected to press Rusk to conclude a nonaggression treaty between the Atlantic Alliance and the Warsaw Pact nations.

At his news conference Thursday, Kennedy said he was primarily interested in such an agreement because it could mean "greater security for Berlin."

'Further N-Ban Not Likely Now'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early ban on underground nuclear tests is not likely, William C. Foster, director of hte U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, said today.

The reason for this, Foster said in an interview with Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., is that Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia probably will first insist on a nonaggression pact.

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union recently agreed to a pact to ban nuclear testing in the atmosphere, under water and in outer space.

★ ★ ★

"Our negotiators believe that the Russians intend to push for a nonaggression pact first and this will hamper any attempts to extend the ban," Foster said.

Hart said he intends to vote for the limited ban when the treaty goes to the Senate for ratification, but asked:

"If the United States and Russia slow up on weapons development, won't this give other nations, like China and France, the opportunity to catch up?"

Foster said that posibility is remote.

★ ★ ★

The nuclear club is a very expensive one," Foster said. "The dues are extremely high and it takes a lot of time to become a topranking member."

Heavy Rain, Hail Mar Fair Pattern Throughout U.S.

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes from the past several days today—fairly pleasant in most areas with showers and rain in scattered sections.

Fairly heavy rain and hail and strong winds Thursday hit sections of the East and thunderstorms rumbled across the northern and central Plains eastward across the Upper Mississippi Valley.

★ ★ ★

Severe lightning and thunderstorms struck the Maryland-Delaware region Thursday night. Four persons were killed, two by lightning and two in a boating accident. Power was disrupted in sections of Baltimore.

One man was killed by lightning and two children were killed in traffic accidents during a thunderstorm which swept across Pennsylvania Thursday. More than one inch of rain fell in Philadelphia in a one-hour period. Hail stones the size of golf balls pelted the Harrisburg area for about seven minutes during a thunderstorm.

Deepening Crisis

Unscrupulous Profiteers Exploit Negroes

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One day in June 1962, a real estate broker dropped in at a home in a town far out on Long Island.

Were the owners interested in selling their home? They were not.

They should be, the broker advised. Soon it would have no value. The reason: Negroes were living in the neighborhood.

★ ★ ★

The owners, who are white, still were not interested. The broker left his business card in case they changed their minds. He went next door to pay a similar call.

The broker's enterprise was nipped in midspiel when New York state lifted his license for "blockbusting," which is considered "against the public interest."

★ ★ ★

Blockbusting — inducing the panic sale of property at a loss when Negroes move into a white neighborhood — is only one of many ways in which individuals can profit from racial segregation and discrimination.

★ ★ ★

There are other ways in which the Negro is exploited—not necessarily because he is black but because being black has placed him in a vulnerable social, cultural, economic position.

NORTHERN PROFITEERS

Exploitation in housing has been the subject of numerous inquiries in metropolitan areas in the North. Substandard housing reaps enormous profits for landlords through a variety of techniques: reducing large units into many small ones, charging high rents on the basis of persons occupying the quarters, drastically reducing services and upkeep.

AP Photofax

A WAY OUT? — New York children, fenced into their Harlem apartment, are symbolic of the Negroes who, according to their leaders, are a captive market. They must often pay too much for everything, because they can go nowhere else.

Even in such things as the purchase of food, Negroes contend they have paid a double premium: higher prices and lower quality. A large chain was accused recently of having different price structures in New York in stores dealing with predominantly white customers and those with Negro and Puerto Rican customers. The Negro customers allegedly paid more for the same goods. The company attributed the situation to store management error.

★ ★ ★

One of the major complaints of Negroes in the North is that they have been shortchanged in job opportunities. While no man may profit directly from such a system, in a sense the white worker profits in reduced competition for his job. It is in the struggle for jobs that the North has witnessed some of its worse violence.

In New York, Philadelphia and other cities, the Negro has been demonstrating in demand of jobs.

Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) has been particularly active, and heads have been cracked as pickets blocked movement of supply vehicles or sought to keep workers from going on the job. Some construction has been halted by pickets.

It is almost axiomatic in the Negro community that Negroes pay more for less. Reginald A. Johnson, associate director for housing of the National Urban League, calls it "the race tax."

Since the business of profiteering in race is a shadowy operation there are no good estimates of its profits. But a self-proclaimed blockbuster, writing under an assumed name in the Saturday Evening Post, said in effect:

"If you can't make $100,000 a year, you're loafing."

HOW IT WORKS

Blockbusting usually works like this:

Elm Street is all white. The houses are not new; perhaps they are a bit over the hill. A few blocks away, there is an all-Negro neighborhood.

One day, a white family moves away. A real estate speculator sells the house to a Negro family. The Negroes move in.

The speculator contacts Brown, another white Elm Street homeowner. He reminds Brown of his Negro neighbors, adding with a knowing look, "And you know what they do to property values."

★ ★ ★

The speculator offers to buy the house. Brown agrees to sell. He sets the price at $12,500. The speculator laughs. With Negroes in the neighborhood and more certain to move in, he says, he couldn't get more than $10,000 for it. Brown sells at $10,000.

The house is offered to Smith, a Negro, for $15,000. It's inflated and Smith knows it but the house and the neighborhood are better than those usually available to Negroes. Smith buys.

The speculator takes his $5,000 next house, the next block, the next town.

Blockbusting is the most spectacular way in which unscrupulous people reap a financial windfall from the fact that one race is often uncomfortable in the presence of another. But all methods have a common denominator: The Negro is a captive market.

"The white person can escape," says Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the Urban League. "The Negro can't."

Unspectacular but steady profits are made, Negro leaders say, in the so-called Negro ghettos of the North — Harlem in New York, the South Side in Chicago, Fillmore Street in San Francisco.

Ghetto landlords, most of them white but some Negro, are able to make money without spending much.

"They don't have to worry about improving the property," says Dr. Warren Banner of the Urban League. "The Negro isn't going to move. Where would he go? The owners just milk the property and forget it."

Some owners keep their properties in repair. A noticeable number don't.

RAMPANT VIOLATIONS

Last spring, inspectors discovered 91 violations of the health code in a Harlem tenement. They included rat infestation, disrepair, accumulated refuse and inadequate heat.

★ ★ ★

Race profits also are made on the money market. Some channels for obtaining money are closed to the Negroes, particularly in mortgage loans.

"The money we lend is not our own," says a Chicago banker. "We must invest it in sound paper. Negroes just have a tough time meeting our mortgage standards."

★ ★ ★

"When a person applies for a loan," says Banner, "the bank looks at his job and his collateral. It relates this information to its experience with people in similar situations.

"Negroes are most likely to have marginal jobs with less security. Generally speaking, the neighborhoods into which Negroes are permitted to move are the neighborhoods no one else wants. The house is not worth much as collateral."

The speculator, of course, is always willing to step in to help—for a price.

★ ★ ★

Banner cites as an example the case of a Negro who had a chance to buy a house at its market price of $17,000 and wound up paying $21,000 through a speculator when the bank turned down his loan: handle," says Banner. "The house handle," says Banner. "The house is old because that is usually the only type they will sell to a Negro. He has no money left for repairs. He has to rent out rooms to make ends meet."

"Segregation," Young says, "invariably means inferior schools which in turn means a ready source of cheap, unskilled labor. The Negro doesn't make much money. He is confined to the ghetto, the slum.

"The small merchant on the corner gives him ghetto credit. The merchant can charge more for his goods. The Negro has to pay. He can't go anywhere else."

U Thant Asks Yemen Retreat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has asked Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic again to get out of the civil war in Yemen, authoritative sources report.

Under an agreement last April, Saudi Arabia was to suspend military aid to the deposed Yemeni royalists and the United Arab Republic was to withdrawn an estimated 28,000 troops it sent to help the republican regime.

The U.N. sources said Thant made his appeal because of reports that neither side had lived up to the agreement.

Saudi Arabia's Mecca Radio claimed yesterday that followers of the deposed Yemeni king, Mohammed Al-Badr, have launched a march on the republican capital of San'a from 70 miles away.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Vance Hartke says the reason morning glory seeds are selling so well is that teen-agers have found they can get their kicks from eating them.

Hartke, an Indiana Democrat, asked the Senate Commerce Committee yesterday to investigate whether sale of the seeds should be controlled. He said the seeds contain a substance like that found in a hallucination-producing drug called LSD25 which, he said, is a dangerous and violent poison.

Legislators Extend Terms

Eye Extra Time for Judges

While digging into the problems of scheduling elections under the new State Constitution, legislators have turned up a fringe benefit for four Oakland County Circuit Court judges and possibly for the county's five elected officials.

It's extra time in office before running for re-election.

★ ★ ★

Legislative Committees working out proposals for new bills and revisions to enact the new document's provisions plan to recommend the following:

Extending six-year Circuit judge terms to seven years.

Doubling the two - year terms which county officials won last fall into four-year stints.

Lenthening of the judicial terms is a virtual certainty.

Oakland County's four elected Circuit Court judges would be affected. They are Clark J. Adams, William J. Beer, Stanton G. Dondero and Frederick C. Ziem.

All were elected in 1959 for terms scheduled to end Dec. 31, 1965, but expected to be extended to Dec. 31, 1966.

When the new constitution takes effect Jan. 1, it will eliminate the traditional odd-year spring elections in which Circuit Court judges have been elected. The nonpartisan contests will be held in the November general elections in even-numbered years.

ONLY ALTERNATIVE

Since the document also specifies that no official's term can be shortened by such changes, the first even-year election in which the judicial races can be held is 1966. Extending the terms by one year is the only alternative.

The recommendation was working out by a legislative interim committee headed by State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, in cooperation with another committee chaired by Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare.

Roberts' committee prepared proposed legislation to enact judicial provisions of the constitution, while Strange's committee deals with election matters.

★ ★ ★

It was Strange's committee that came up with a proposal to extend the terms of county officials by two years, a recommendation that gained the support yesterday of a special subcommittee headed by Sen. Garry E. Brown, R-Schoolcraft, which is studying problems arising from adoption of the new documents.

This change would allow election of county officials, who get four-year terms under the new constitution, to coincide with elections for governor and other state officers in nonpresidential election years.

Affected would be the terms of County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry, Sheriff Frank W. Irons, Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy, Treasurer Charles A. Sparks and Prosecutor George F. Taylor.

They were elected last fall and normally would come up for reelection in 1964. But that would start the new four-year terms in the presidential election year cycle.

Rep. Strange said his committee preferred not to have it this way.

EXPECTS CHALLENGES

State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, however, said he expected there would be court challenges of the legislature's power to extend the term if the proposal is adopted.

The county's fifth Circuit Court Judge, Arthur E. Moore, and the two new judges to take office Sept. 6 — attorneys Phillip Pratt of Pontiac and James S. Thorburn of Royal Oak — would be affected differently.

All three must be re-elected in 1964 if they wish to keep their posts.

Moore was appointed by Gov. George Romney to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of the Late Judge H. Russel Holland in February.

Romney named Pratt and Thorburn for new judgeships created for the county this year by the legislature.

They would be able to win only two-year terms in 1964, so that all seven of the county's Circuit Court judges would come up for re-election in 1966, according to the proposal developed by Sen. Roberts' committee.

In 1966, three judges would get six-year terms, two would be elected to eight-year terms, and two for 10 years in a staggered arrangement worked out by Roberts' committee. Afterwards, they would settle into six-year terms.

If the new constitution had not been adopted, Moore would have served out Holland's term only until Dec. 31, 1965 if reelected to the unexpired term in 1964. As it stands, he will serve a year longer if elected in 1964.

Pratt and Thorburn would have sought six-year terms in 1964.

Roberts said it could be arranged so that the three could seek six-year terms in 1964, leaving only four terms to be staggered in 1966.

But this would have meant special legislation to take care of this Oakland County situation, Roberts said.

"We wanted to apply one formula to the entire state," he said.

Halt Forgery Hearing So Child Can Be Born

DODGE CITY, Kan. (UPI) — The forgery charges facing the suspect were important; but another event was more immediate. The sheriff asked when it could be expected.

"Today," said the suspect, a pregnant woman. She was hastily released and the hearing postponed.

Road Toll Hits 944

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 944 persons in Michigan this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll on this date a year ago was 827.

To Train Jobless as Nurses Here

A training program to turn unemployed persons into licensed practical nurses was under way today with the first contingent of 30 students attending classes.

Merrill F. Walls, employment manager of the Pontiac Michigan Employment Security Commission office, predicted the group would have no difficulty finding jobs when it graduates a year from now.

Walls explained the program is set up under the federal Manpower Development and Training Act.

The 48-week course of instruction, with classroom work at the downtown Hubbard Building and on-the-job training at area hospitals, is supervised by Pontiac Public Schools.

★ ★ ★

The 90 enrolled in the program, divided into three classes, are mostly heads of families. They receive a $35 weekly stipend. Second and third classes do not begin until the previous group completes basic instruction.

Calls or Early Diagnosis of School Dropout Problem

The chief cause of school dropouts — academic failure — dates back to the earliest days of a child's attendance at school, Oakland County Supt. William J. Emerson told educators this week.

Emerson, commenting on a letter sent to almost every school district in the county by President Kennedy, called for the early diagnosis of academic disability.

The superintendent sent a letter this week to each of the 29 school districts in the county. He offered the facilities of his office in combating the dropout problem.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, Monroe M. Osmun, 100 Ogemaw, a veteran school board member, said he would discuss Kennedy's letter at the next board meeting.

The President urged "a massive, nation-wide effort this summer to persuade our young people to return to school in September."

Kennedy pointed to the lack of job opportunities for inadequately trained youth.

"Equal opportunity for education and for employment is a phrase without meaning unless the individual is prepared to take advantage of it," the President wrote.

★ ★ ★

"Young people and adults alike who have been disadvantaged need special programs in both general and vocational education," he added.

President Kennedy also urged the establishment of biracial commissions across the county to aid in solving the variety of problems surrounding the dropout problem.

The President asked for an initial report by Aug. 15 on the progress made locally to fight the dropout problem. He requested a further report by the end of September.

Emerson cited academic failure as the chief cause of dropouts. He said language arts deficiencies are the most crucial.

He said the improvement of academic proficiency was the biggest single preventive measure to avoid academic failure and the resulting dropout problem.

House Fire Causes Damage of $3,000

Fire last night caused an estimated $3,000 damage to a one-story frame house at 986 Lakeview, Waterford Township, and an additional $1,500 damage to contents.

The blaze, reported to the fire department at 6:23 p.m., may have started in a waste basket in the corner of the bathroom, Waterford Township firemen said.

The $6,000 house is owned by Eileen McClain of North Hollywood, Calif. It has been occupied by James Bell.

Reduced Proposal

School Board to Study Budget

A reduced budget which will not fill staff vacancies or authorized additional positions will be presented to the Oakland County Board of Education next month.

The new budget will be curtailed from the previously adopted preliminary budget of $370,832 because the State Tax Commission recently rejected a bid by the school board for an increase in its tax allocation.

County Superintendent William J. Emerson said the new budget is being developed around three principles:

● The budget will not contemplate the firing of anyone.

● It will not contemplate filling two vacant staff positions in the reading clinic.

● Seven positions will not be added that previously had been included in it.

The county superintendent said these would be part of his recommendations to the school board. He said several other areas were still under study.

The county school board meets Aug. 22 to decide how to overcome rejection of its tax appeal.

★ ★ ★

Emerson said he had contacted the five-man county school board and there was not any "general interest" in appealing the commission's verdict to the courts.

He indicated the reason for this decision was that any court fight would have held up the levy of school taxes in many school districts throughout the county.

This would have created hardship in many instances, Emerson said.

The previous budget of $370,832 would have required a .16 mill tax rate. The final .10 allocation would bring in approximately $238,676.

★ ★ ★

Although Emerson will recommend a deficit-spending budget, he was confident that the budget and the deficit could be managed without any "financial crisis."

He said the deficit would not be out of line with the deficits that have existed in many school districts in the county at various times.

"'If we fulfill our legal obligations," he added, "there is no way not to run a deficit."

Emerson said he could not speculate on the size of the deficit because he did not know what action the school board might take on his budget recommendations.

The superintendent said the county schools would try to maintain its programs at their present levels.

'NOT GOOD POLICY'

"'I don't think it would be good public policy to disband them because of one year's shortage of funds," he explained.

Emerson said every one of the county's programs had proven its worth in academic achievement on the part of pupils.

"I also think that in this next year there is just as much a need for academic achievement as there ever was," he added.

Okay Bond Sale Application

Waterford Township Board of Education members last night took another step forward in the school system's $6.25 - million school construction program.

★ ★ ★

At a special meeting, the board authorized the filing of an application with the Municipal Finance Commission to sell $4.25 million in bonds.

A second resolution to the state superintendent of public instruction seeking qualification for the entire bond issue also was passed.

The $6.25-million building program was approved at the polls last June 10.

★ ★ ★

The $4.25-million bond issue sought now will cover construction costs of six new school buildings and eight additions planned over a five-year period.

An additional bond issue of $2 million will be sought later to finance furnishings in the new facilities.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe estimates that actual construction will begin in about three months.

★ ★ ★

Plans call for completion of two new elementary schools in Sections 12 and 21 of the township by next fall.

Also slated for readiness by September 1964 are additions to Crary Junior High School, Waterford Township High School and five elementary schols.

Board members reviewed preliminary drawings on the proposed construction projects last night. Final approval of the architect's drawings will be up for board consideration Aug. 15.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of one administrative employe and appointed another.

Paul Ripley, assistant principal at Pierce Junior High School, resigned this post to become an assistant professor of literature at Northern Michigan University in Marquette.

The board confirmed the appointment of Richard Way, 36, as principal of Lambert Elementary School. Formerly a principal at Okemos, Way succeeds James Poteet who resigned to take a position with an industrial education firm.

★ ★ ★

Board members approved 15 new teaching contracts. Approximately 30 teachers are still needed for the 1963-64 school year.
