United Press Photo

CABLE-SPINNING NEXT—The third season of construction on the $100 million Mackinac Bridge has started and workmen are busy getting ready for the spinning of the five-mile span's cable this summer. Bridge Builder VIII, one of the fleet of tugs being used on the project is shown above, heading toward span's 552-foot tower piers. Two more seasons of work are in prospect, as the bridge is to be completed by November of 1957.

Lake Ships on Move Again

'Oatmeal Slush,' Sunken Vessel Stall Progress

Coast Guardsmen Lead Freighters Past Wreck; Crash Probe Monday

DETROIT (AP)—Shipping moved cautiously and slowly today through two partially plugged bottlenecks in the Great Lakes Waterway. Within the last 48 hours approximately 200 ships had been stranded in one or the other.

In one bottleneck, the St. Clair River, was a 527-foot freighter which sank after a head-on collision Thursday night. In other, the St. Marys River, was an oatmeal-like sea of slush ice which some freighters couldn't slop through without assistance.

The Soo tie-up is estimated to have cost shipping firms between $350,000 and $400,000.

The coast guard began last night passing one-at-a-time approximately 40 vessels stranded on either side of the Freighter A. M. Byers in the St. Clair.

Some 200 feet of 30-foot deep water was found around the stern of the freighter, which went down slanting crosswise in the St. Clair shipping channel, where the river enters Lake St. Clair.

TUG LEADS THE WAY

The giant Tug John Roen IV was the first vessel around at 11:30 p.m. Then the Coast Guard Cutter Tupelo began shepherding others around.

Two captains from the Great Lakes Carriers Assn. rode the Enders S. Voorhees, the first downbound vessel to test the narrow, current plagued passage around the Byers.

Deep, slush ice made progress slow and tedious on the St. Marys last night, and a forecast of northwest winds brought new apprehension today.

Northwesterly winds packed the ice so tightly in the river above the Soo Locks earlier in the week that at one time 150 ships were stymied between lakes Superior and Huron.

SLUSH CLOSES IN

Light winds, generally westerly or southerly, eased the situation yesterday and 52 freighters made it through the locks between the United States and Canada by nightfall. But only five more took the chance and made it through between then and midnight.

Icebreakers were of little use. As fast as they plowed through the deep slush, it closed in behind them.

Like the St. Marys, the St. Clair River is a vital link in the Great Lakes Waterway. The St. Clair joins Lakes Huron and St. Clair, and the latter subsequently is

Truman Nuptials Quiet and Dignified

Margaret Marries Her Man Today

FROM AP AND INS WIRES

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—Nature is splashing this midwestern town with its best bridal bouquet for today's nuptials: balmy breezes, 70 degree temperature and solid gold sunlight.

Harry S. Truman's daughter Margaret, as happy a young woman as ever lost her heart to a man, gets married today.

* * *

The blonde-haired girl who grew to young womanhood in the White House and Clifton Daniel Jr., the handsome foreign correspondent who wooed and won her in a whirlwind romance, exchange vows in little Trinity Episcopal Church.

After a brief reception in the big, white-framed Truman home at 219 N. Delaware St., they will fly off to Nassau.

And her father, the former President, can relax from the ordeal that every father of a bride can understand.

HARRY IS HAPPY

"I am happy because Margaret is happy," he said. "The more I see of Margaret's young man the better I like him."

Daniel, 43, assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times, and the 32-year-old radio-TV actress-singer pursued their arm-in-arm course about Independence while Truman's neighbors looked on approvingly but with a minimum of hubbub.

Wedding day dawned with premarital events moving like clockwork on the quiet and simple pattern upon which mother, father and daughter agreed.

It was at Trinity Episcopal Church that Truman, a life-long Baptist, was married to Bess Wallace 37 years ago.

Margaret, when she goes down the aisle with her father, will carry a prayer book given her by grandmother Wallace when she was confirmed in 1940.

She will wear something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, as befits the occasion, but she asked permission to keep secret just what those articles are.

The church was decorated with large pots of woodwardia ferns and white chrysanthemums and white stock. Candelabra with 18-inch white tapers were interspersed among the flowers and ferns. There were two large candles on the altar.

Only members of the families, a few close friends and a few members of the press were invited to the ceremony, to be performed by the rector, the Rev. Patric Hutton. The bride will wear an ankle-length biege gown made of centuries-old Venetian lace. The gown was designed by Nicol Fontana of Rome, who will be one of the wedding guests.

TWO ATTENDANTS

Margaret will have two attendants, Mrs. W. Coleman Branton, Kansas City, and Mrs. John Horton, Los Angeles, daughter of John Snyder, Truman's former secretary of the Treasury.

The groom will wear trousers of tiny black and white shepherd plaid, gray weskit and Oxford gray jacket.

Touring Soviets Impress British

Red Bosses Embark on Let's-Be-Friends Mood After Cold Reception

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Bulganin appeared today to be breaking through Britain's cold reception to their visit with a forceful "let's-be-friends" offensive.

Khrushchev, who has been making all the more important Soviet pronouncements so far on the tour, has obviously impressed Britons with arguments that an arms race in a superscientific age must lead to disaster.

The two Soviet leaders and their party left this morning for another day full of rush and bustle.

Their schedule was so tight it seemed to preclude any of the baby-kissing tactics employed by former Soviet Premier Malenkov a few weeks ago in captivating British crowds. British government officials seemed intent on preventing a repetition of that.

They headed first for the atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, with lunch at Oxford, sightseeing in the country, and more talks at Chequers, official country home of Prime Minister Eden, where they will spend the night. Tomorrow they have an audience with Queen Elizabeth II at Windsor Castle.

A small crowd of 300, polite but undemonstrative, saw the Russians leave their hotel headquarters in a 14-car convoy. The party included Igor Kurchatov, Soviet nuclear scientist, and Khrushchev's son, Sergei, a science student.

Pontiac Trackmen Take Early Honors at Relays

By H. GUY MOATS
Special Writer, Pontiac Press

MANSFIELD, Ohio—Under a bright sky but with a stiff southern wind blowing, more than 1,000 prep athletes today were vying for honors at the Mansfield Relays.

Pontiac's first efforts in this nationally-recognized relay carnival were victories in the heats—the 100-yard dash and the high hurdles. Two of Pontiac's high jumpers were still in competition as the tremendous field was slowly whittled down.

Perhaps the best peformance of the preliminaries was Hayes Jones' heat victory in the 120-high sticks. Hayes ran in the 6th heat and ran away from his field of 6 other competitors to post a brilliant 14.9 mark.

Jim Taylor, running in heat 7, had trouble with his hurdles, hitting 3 but winning the heat at 15.9 seconds.

In the same event in heat 8, Jim Moore of Flint Northern posted 15.6 to win the heat.

* *

In the 100-yard dash Freeman Watkins was the winner of the 2nd heat at 10.7. The 1st heat was won by Peter Harwood of Shaker Heights, Cleveland, at 10.4, the best mark up to that point.

In the field events the only Pontiac man to work was Bill Douglas who jumped 20 feet 5 inches in his first jump. Hayes Jones was expected to better 22 feet. He had not jumped at noon.)

Alex Barge, 5-3 Pontiac jumper, and Hudson Ray, 6-5 high jumper, both remained in the competition at noon, clearing the bar at 5 feet 6 inches.

This affair is a real kaleidoscope of color. Teams are here from more than 115 schools.

Semi-finals and finals will be run off this afternoon.

City Couple Hurt in Plane Crash

John H. Stewart, Wife, in New York Hospital After Accident

A Pontiac man and wife and a couple from Grand Blanc were injured yesterday when their airplane crash-landed during a snow storm near Waterloo, N. Y. yesterday.

John H. Stewart, an insurance agent, and his wife, Fay, of 890 Argyle Rd., were listed in good condition in Waterloo Memorial Hospital, as were Mr. and Mrs. George Cover, companions in the return trip from a convention in Montreal.

State police said Stewart was at the controls when the engine stalled in the storm.

The foursome had flown from Syracuse, N. Y., police said, and were en route to Flint.

'Honeymooners' Isle Welcomes Prince, Princess

PUERTO POLLENSA, Balearic Islands (AP)—Prince Rainier III of Monaco, and his bride, the former Grace Kelly, arrived in the tiny port of this "honeymooners' isle" today for a three-day visit.

The royal yacht, Deo Juvante, dropped anchor in the landlocked harbor of the remote but beautiful resort in these Spanish islands shortly after noon.

The captain of the yacht said the crossing from Monte Carlo had been extremely rough and the newlyweds were resting. He said the Prince and his bride planned to go ashore for a visit tomorrow.

Pollensa is a lovely but inaccessible spot on the other side of the island from Palma.

State GOP Convenes in E. Lansing Today

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan Republican leaders assembled here today for a joint meeting to spur plans for the 1956 state campaign.

Huddling at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State University campus were the Republican State Central Committee and the 1956 Republican campaign committee.

Thus far, Don Leonard, former state police commissioner, is the party's only major announced aspirant for the gubernatorial nomination.

A state committee spokesman said the party leadership was determined to work out the most extensive organization and campaign ever put on by the Republican Party in the state to get its story to every voter."

Seen as Solution to Deficit

Action Expected on Move to Increase Postal Rates

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's bill to raise postal rates still is in committee, but post office officials say it should emerge soon now that the farm issue is out of the way.

Summerfield commented on the bill in testimony before the Post Office and Civil Service Committee of the House of Representatives March 13. A copy of his testimony was forwarded to The Pontiac Press by Pontiac acting postmaster Leslie H. Dean.

If passed, Summerfield says, the bill would come within $53 million of wiping out his department's annual half-billion-dollar deficit.

Major revenue increases would come from the proposed one-cent hike in first-class stamps, from 3 to 4 cents. Annual increase would be $295.7 million, the department says.

Domestic air mail stamps, to rise from 6 to 7 cents, should bring another $16.4 million, and miscellaneous increases in second class mail (publications) should total $16.8 million.

Third class hikes are expected to raise an additional $77 million

Total increases will bring $407.4 million in additional annual revenues, the department says. The average annual deficit over the past 10 years has been $460 million.

Summerfield says the bill will accomplish a threefold purpose:

It will provide interim rate increases as a step toward balancing the postal budget.

It will establish a permanent rate-making commission with power to prescribe postal rates under policy guidance of Congress.

And it will express "the determination of the Congress that the Post Office shall be operated on a sound financial basis."

The Postmaster General says postal costs have risen 107 per cent since 1952, but "for all practical purposes, our rate level today is little changed from the level of 1932."

"There can be no possible justification for passing on to our children and our children's children our unpaid postage bills," Summerfield concludes.

She Looked Pretty – So Daniel Got a Heart Murmur

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—This is how the romance of Margaret Truman and Clifton Daniel got started.

* * *

Margaret wrote in her autobiography, now running in Good Housekeeping, that the newsman's sense of humor first attracted her to him.

"What trait first interested you in her?" Daniel was asked at a news conference.

"She had on a very lovely dress and looked very pretty," he said "That was enough to arouse my interest."

That was last November, at the home of George Backer, former editor and president of the New York Post, where they first met.

They had their first date three days later.

Officials to Eye Water Problem

Municipal Heads Plan Tri-County Conference in Birmingham

An analysis of area water supply problems will be the main topic on the agenda May 2 when municipal officials from three counties will convene in Birmingham for the annual District 4 meeting of the Michigan Municipal League.

The delegates, comprising mayors, village presidents and other elected officers, will represent Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties.

The conference will also include a panel discussion of the services available to communities through various state agencies.

The discussion will be followed by a question-and-answer period in which Michigan Highway Dept. officials will explain laws having to do with city and village street programs.

The meeting will be one of 10 state regional meetings conducted by the 400-community organization.

Robert Slone, village manager of Rochester, is secretary of the group.

Reds Seek Halt of H-Bomb Test

Russians Charge U. S. Violating U. N. Pledges With Slated Experiment

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia has charged that the U.S. hydrogen bomb test next month in the Pacific will violate international law and American pledges to the United Nations.

The Soviet Union asserted in a note to the United States that the test would "menace the lives of the peoples of the trust territories as well as those of the people of the Pacific states."

The note said this "is incompatible with the aims and principles of the international trusteeship system" as set forth in the U.N. Charter.

* * *

The United States originally set the test for May 1 in the Eniwetok atol area of the Marshall Islands, a trust territory obtained in World War II. It postponed the test until May 8 because of what it called "technical difficulties."

Russia has carried out large nuclear tests of her own, apparently deep in Siberia.

In Tokyo, a Japanese scientist said yesterday the Russians apparently had exploded a new type of hydrogen bomb in March, using thorium instead of uranium in the casing of the bomb. Thorium is a comparatively rare radioactive element.

The scientist, Dr. Seitaro Koyama of Niigata University, said he reached the conclusion after analyzing radioactive rain and dust.

Rust Not Dangerous Says Water Official

Although rusty water complaints continue to flood the city's water department, the situation is no worse than before, Joseph W. Gable, superintendent of the department, said yesterday.

Initial steps were taken yesterday in preparation for the addition of chlorine to the water which will destroy any bacteria present.

Workers are continuing to flush hydrants from where the complaints originate, Gable stated. "There is still nothing to fear because of this rust," he added.

Before the chlorine can be added to the water, calgon, which oxidizes the water, will be added to the wells in about three weeks, Gable said.

Lathrup Man Heads Area Assessing Unit

Leonard Watchowski, administrator of the Lathrup Village, was named president of the Oakland County Assn. of Assessing Officers at the group's annual business meeting at Hotel Waldron.

Other officers elected were Frazer Staman, vice - president; Theodore Koella Jr., treasurer, and Herman Stephens, secretary.

Howard Crenshaw was chosen to serve on the Executive Board for three years, Frank Vol drew a two-year term, and George Kostisbak was elected for one year.

Thomas M. Corcoran, president of the Detroit Board of Assessors, was guest speaker at the annual meeting.

Mother of Publisher in Critical Condition

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. C. L. Knight, the mother of newspaper publisher John S. Knight, was reported in critical condition early today at Bedford County Memorial Hospital. She had been found unconscious yesterday on the floor of her Bedford hotel room.

A nurse at thehospital said Mrs. Knight was placed on the critical list by Dr. Harry Shimer, a Bedford physician. She was reported to have suffered an attack of uremia.

A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Knight stopped at Bedford on an automobile trip from her Akron, Ohio, home to New York. She was found by her chauffeur.

Rescuers Seek 4th Lost Miner

Nothing Heard Yet From Buried Utah Worker as Crews Continue Digging

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP)—Rescue crews, already successful in freeing three coal miners trapped by a cave-in, dug deeper today for a fourth man still missing.

Still entombed somewhere three miles inside the dark mountain tunnel is Joseph Otterstorm, 58, crew foreman from Sunnyside, the father of six.

* * *

Workmen clearing the rubble of the cave-in have heard nothing from Otterstrom since the roof of the mine collapsed at 1:40 p.m. Wednesday. Kaiser Coal Co. operates the mine, 125 miles southeast of Salt Lake City.

* * *

Hopes of workers and relatives, brightened by the return of three miners from the cold, coal-rock tomb, began to fade as the digging crews worked through the night, but found no sign, no tapping signal, from Otterstorm to show he was alive.

The three rescued men jumped under sheltering machinery Wednesday when they saw a huge chunk of coal dislodge from the tunnel roof and come crashing down. They waited 39 to 44 hours without food or water for rescuers.

* * *

Officials said they believed the cave-in was caused by a small, localized earthquake, known in miner jargon as a "bounce."

SUNK IN 17 MINUTES

The Byers went down about 35 water miles northeast of Detroit within 17 minutes after it and the E. M. Ford, a 420-foot cement carrier, jammed head-on in the St. Clair. The Ford was empty; the Byers loaded with 9,000 tons of limestone.

The Ford, its bow stove in and rent, went out of control, but managed to get an anchor down and finally was towed to Detroit for repairs.

Crews of bothe freightetrs, 30 on the Byers and 34 on the Ford, escaped serious injuries, although several were bruised and shaken up. Only one required hospital first aid.

* * *

Neither Skipper John Engilson of the Byers nor Thompson Campbell of the Ford would comment to reporters on the cause of the collision. The Coast Guard ordered an investigation at 1 p.m. Monday in the Federal Building in Detroit.

William A. Reiss, vice president of the Reiss Line of Sheboygan, Wis., which owns the Byers, blamed what he said was faulty steering gear aboard the Ford for the mishap.

Court Decree Ends Dispute Over James Vernor Estate

The estate of the late James Vernor, wealthy head of a ginger ale firm, was divided yesterday in a compromise settlement.

Under a consent decree entered by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, the widow agreed to accept in cash two-ninths of the total estate, but relinquished the family's palatial home in Bloomfield Hills.

The widow, Mrs. Emma W. Vernon, had sought to break the will which left full control of the company to a son by a former marriage, James Vernor III, and two grandchildren.

The decree gives Vernor five-ninths of the estate and the remaining two-ninths will be split equally between his children, James and Grayce Shannon.

Under the compromise, Mrs. Vernor's share was unofficially estimated to be about $500,000.

She will receive cash equal to two-ninths of the 945 shares of James Vernor Company stock, valued at $1,300 each, but will gain no control in the company.

The will had left Mrs. Vernor the home, at 707 W. Long Lake Rd., and 40 per cent of the rest of the estate, exclusive of stock. It also set up a trust fund for the other three heirs consisting of real and personal property.

Mrs. Vernor was the former Mrs. Lionel M. Woolson, widow of the Packard Motor Car Co. official who died in a 1930 plane crash.

Mrs. Woolson and Vernor were married Dec. 24, 1952. His first wife had died in 1950.

Vernor had headed the firm many years until his death earlier this year. One of Detroit's oldest companies, it was founded by his father.

Retired Industrialist to Seek State Post

Harvey V. Beggs, of Bloomfield Township, said yesterday he will seek election as State Representative in the Third District on the Republican ticket.

Rep. Richard C. Van Dusen announced he would not seek re-election to the post.

Beggs, 63, is presently retired after 10 years as owner of the Metal Finishing Corp. of Hazel Park. He is married and the father of two children, both married.

He was a political candidate in Wisconsin and also a preferred candidate for the Detroit City Council in 1946.

Death Notices

Baby Boy Hopwood

A graveside service was held this morning at 10 o'clock in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery for Baby Boy Hopwood, infant son of Glen R. and Doris Reeves Hopwood of 428 Hickory Lane. The Rev. Paul R. Havens of the First Methodist Church officiated.

Surviving besides his mother and father are a brother, Dennis, and a sister, Nannette, both at home.

The baby was dead at birth Thursday in Pontiac General Hospital. Arrangements were by the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home.

Charles MacArthur, 60, Was Film Playwright, Helen Hayes' Husband

NEW YORK (INS) — Charles MacArthur, 60, playwright, film writer and husband of actress Helen Hayes, died this morning in New York Hospital.

* * *

Co-author with Ben Hecht of the famed "Front Page," a hilarious play about newspapermen, the former newsman was stricken last Tuesday with nephritis, a kidney ailment, and severe anemia. New York Hospital, where he died at 7:01 a.m., said he suffered a hemorrhage early this morning.

At the hospital when he died was Miss Hayes, to whom he had been married since 1928.

The hard - drinking, exuberant, one-time madcap of Chicago journalism was the son of a Scranton, Pa., Presbyterian minister.

CRACKJACK REPORTER

Hecht and MacArthur, crackjack reporters and practical jokers, later teamed up to write five plays and 15 film scenarios.

MacArthur and Miss Hayes had one daughter, Mary, who died Sept. 22, 1949, of polio, at the age of 19, soon after becoming ill while appearing in a play with her mother.

Their adopted son, 17-year-old James Gordon MacArthur, recently turned to acting, and had a successful TV debut.

GALLANT IN COURTING

MacArthur was always a colorful, extremely independent figure in whatever activities he engaged in. When he met Miss Hayes for the first time at a cocktail party, he handed her a bowl of peanuts and remarked:

"I wish these were emeralds."

At the time of his death he was working with Anita Loos on the adaption of Ludwig Bemelman's "To the One I Love the Best," a book about Lady Mendl.

Largest Dinner in Motor City History Honors Controversial Teamster, Hoffa

DETROIT (AP)—The biggest party of its kind Detroit ever has seen was thrown last night for James R. Hoffa, controversial ninth vice president of the Teamsters Union. It was a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner that drew 2,800.

Hoffa said the $265,000 it netted would go to establishment of a children's home in Israel on a 25-acre tract acquired in Jerusalem by Histadrut, Israeli trade union federation.

* * *

Hoffa said the dinner idea sprang "simultaneously" from labor and industry groups "who are all my friends." Harold J. Gibbons of St. Louis, secreteary-treasurer of Hoffa's central teamsters council, and Joel Goldblatt, president of a Chicago department store, were sparkplugs of a 165-member sponsors committee.

TARGET OF CRITICISM

Hoffa has been the target of criticism of congressional committees in their investigation of union welfare funds in recent years, and his deals with the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn., has brought a threat of ouster for the Teamsters from the recently merged AFL-CIO, which previously kicked out the ILA as gangster ridden.

Dave Beck, international president of the Teamsters, apparently took cognizance of public criticism of Hoffa, in telling the diners:

"There are few men in labor who have not together with their families suffered libel and false accusation.

"I detest a racketeer or a Communist as much as any man in America. I subscribe to insistence that our organization be officered by sincere, honest, honorable men and women. I do not believe or condone destruction of men by gossip and rumor."

The 2,800 diners overflowed the coliseum of the Michigan State Fairgrounds and some ended up eating in the kitchen area as a 25-piece orchestra provided by the Detroit federation of musicians furnished music.

Evader Forks Over $26,426 in Back Taxes

WINDSOR (UP)—It cost $1,000 a minute for 45 minutes for Norman Ramm, prominent accountant and businessman, to make amends for seven counts of income tax evasion yesterday.

Ramm pleaded guilty to all charges.

* * *

He was ordered to pay $26,426 in back taxes, accumulated interest and a $15,000 fine and costs. The total was slightly over $45,000.

Bruan O'Regan, income tax investigator, said he and a five-man team spent 18 months on the case. During that time they conducted more than 1,000 interviews with Ramm's clients.

Twenty accounts had been altered and receipts reduced, said O'Regan. Completely removed from Ramm's tax return were 49 other accounts.

A small corps of Independence police are standing by to make certain that Harry S. Truman's orders ("keep it dignified") are carried out. Hundreds of admirers will clump around the church for a peek at their local girl who made a good match in the big city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel, Clifton's parents arrived by plane yesterday from Zebulon, N. C., and were met by the young couple.

Other guests were arriving too—Mrs. Perle Mesta, Truman's ambassador to Luxembourg; John Knox Barrow Jr., of Ashoskie, N.C., the bridegroom's childhood and college friend who will be best man; and the two friends who will be ushers, George Backer, at whose New York home Miss Truman and Daniel met last November, and his boss, Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times.

2 WEEKS IN NASSAU

Shortly after the informal buffet reception, Margaret and Cliff leave for Nassau and a two-week honeymoon.

"He said he'd teach me to swim," brags Margaret, throwing her finace one of these raptured looks the painters long to capture.

During the honeymoon, the couple will stay at the home of friends of Daniel, secluded except for a convenient staff of servants.

"We had several offers from friends for our honeymoon," Daniel pointed out, "and we considered Egypt and Hawaii and other places. We picked Nassau finally because it is most convenient for a short trip."

Margaret's fiance, like herself, appears to be unusually devoted—particularly considering that he is a long-standing bachelor employed in the blase newspaper business.

With the exception of Harry S. Truman, who habitually uses the cock's crow for an alarm, the bridal party slept as late as they were able after a festive rehearsal dinner at the Kansas City Club last night.

* * *

But abroad in the town, townsfolk went to their jobs especially early so that they could leave work in mid-afternoon to watch the fun.

There were candelabra in the church, wedding cakes in the oven, and love bugs in the air. Altogether a momentous day for Margaret.

Godfrey Drops 'Friends' Show

May 25 Is the Last Day; Others to Be Continued; Work Too Heavy

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey will discontinue his Wednesday night television variety show, "Arthur Godfrey and His Friends," after the May 25 telecast.

* * *

CBS-TV, in an announcement yesterday, said Godfrey's Wednesday night show, on the network since Jan. 12, 1949, will be dropped at the behest of Godfrey to lighten his work load.

Concerning Godfrey, CBS said he "has been contemplating this move for some time because of the increasing pressures of maintaining his current schedule of radio and television programs, one of the heaviest in all of broadcasting."

* * *

Godfrey has been devoting 13½ hours a week to various programs.

He will continue his "Arthur Godfrey Time" morning show on radio Monday through Friday and on TV Monday through Thursday, and his Monday night "Talent Scouts" on TV and radio.

Dag Will Talk With Lebanese

Syria, Jordan Are Next on U. N. Envoy's Mission to Effect Area Peace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Back in his Beirut headquarters, Dag Hammarskjold headed into conferences with Lebanese leaders today prior to embarking on new moves next week in his Middle East mission for peace.

* * *

The U. N. secretary general expressed confidence that "we are on the right road" as he completed four days of talks with Israeli leaders in Jerusalem.

During that time, he announced an Israeli - Egyptian cease - fire agreement. The pledges by the two nations to refrain from hostile acts along their volatile border area represented Hammarskjold's biggest accomplishment in the first two weeks of his mission.

Hammarskjold conferred with Egyptian leaders in Cairo before going to Jerusalem.

He is scheduled to visit Jordan and Syria next week to seek similar pledges between those nations and Israel.

* * *

The Jordan-Israeli border has been marked by outbreaks this week. An Israeli spokesman said Jordanians slipped inside Israel Thursday night and fired at a military car in the Judean hills. He said the Israelis fired back.

Hart Views Problems in Exchange Address

Education, highways and care of the mentally ill were cited as being among the main problems faced by Michigan officials yesterday when Lt. Governor Philip A. Hart addressed members of the Pontiac Exchange Club at a noonday luncheon.

In the same speech, Hart urged participation in politics on a local level as a means of obtaining better candidates and improving turnouts of voters in general and primary elections.

* * *

The state official also stressed the importance of remaining on guard against Communism as a threat to world peace. "They (the Communists) believe we will destroy ourselves," he said.

Much of his address was devoted to stressing the equality of races. "It is the individual who is either a 'saint' or 'sinner'," he said, "and not the groups."

Waives Examination on Larceny Charges

A Waterford Township man was charged yesterday with failing to build a new home for which he and a partner allegedly had accepted a $1,200 down payment last fall.

Ben F. Shanahan, 39, of 1278 Hira St. waived examination on a charge of larceny by conversion and was bound over for appearance Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Police are still seeking the second man, named in a warrant issued at the request of Linus F. Belanger, 235 Earlmore Blvd., who said he was the victim.

Shanahan was freed under $1,000 bond set by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Receives Cuts in Crash

Emmett W. Schmidt, 25, of 652 Lookout Dr., suffered lacerations of the chin when the car which he was driving rammed into the rear of a parked vehicle on S. Marshall Street Friday at 10 p.m. Schmidt was treated and released by Pontiac General Hospital.

The Day in Birmingham

Prize-Winning HS Band Slates May 3 Concert

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham High School Band, which won a first division rating in March, will present its annual spring concert on May 3. Program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the high school gym.

The band was qualified for the state festival to be held in Ann Arbor by award of the first rating in Class AA band competition at the Southeastern Michigan Band Festival at Ypsilanti.

Band Director Arnold W. Berndt, is guiding the 29th year of instrumental music in Birmingham schools. Including the band, he has 700 students in grades fourth through twelfth.

When he came to Birmingham, there were only 16 instrumental music students, and those only in the high school. That first year he took music down through the fourth grade. It began a program that is today guided by Berndt and four assistants.

* * *

Two of those assistants are Harold Jones and Burton Bronson, who began music study in that first fourth grade class. They have since taken degrees in public school music, taught in other cities, and now are on Birmingham's music staff.

The high school band has 75 members, who with their parents are selling tickets to the concert.

Mrs. Norman B. Weston of 944 Kennesaw road is general chairman of the band parents committee.

Dutch elm disease is being battled in an all-out spray campaign this month, according to Charles W. Gale, superintendent of forestry and parks. All the 8,000 elms on streets and public properties will have received a spray by May 1.

Clarence E. Lee

Service for Clarence E. Lee, 50, of 1609 Graefield, who died yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital, will be at 2:30 p.m. Monday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery.

He came here from Berkley three years ago. Surviving are his wife, Marie, and his brother, Fred, of Highland Park.

Hurtling Car Lands in Swamp; One Hurt

A 24-year-old Rochester man was in serious condition with back and kidney injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today after an early morning accident in which the car he was driving went out of control and landed on its top in a swamp.

* * *

Marvin Thornsberry told Romeo State Police he missed a sharp curve, rolled over several times and landed in the swamp two miles north of Lakeville on Rochester Road. The Thornsberry car was traveling south when it left the road at 5:30 a.m.

Both the driver and Edward Kennedy, 22, a passenger also of Rochester, were thrown from the car before it landed, according to the investigating troopers.

They reported the men walked back to the highway and were given a ride by a passing motorist to Kennedy's home.

Woman, 62, Receives Injuries in Collision

A woman passenger, 62, received slight injurites when the car she was in collided with another pulling out of a gas station yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Clara Haun, 23 Myrtle Dr. was released after treatment in Pontiac General Hospital. Pontiac police said she was riding with her daughter, Mrs. Delores Smith, 32, of 631 E. Tennyson Ave., who was headed west on Orchard Lake road and slowed down for a traffic light at Telegraph road.

The other driver was William F. Stephens, 47, of Detroit, police said.

Reflections

The World We Rule

We are one of millions, yet each of us rule a world.

While we may perform the most menial of tasks, it is important. It is the way we accomplish our task, our mental attitude toward it, the energy we expend in doing it, and the way we complete it determines the failure or success of our domain.

The president of a great corporation first learned to rule himself. That mastery of himself led to greater responsibilities; leadership, position and eminence and his wealth. The young man standing before a minister with his soon-to-be bride is a potential tyrant or wise ruler. A boy asking for his first job is in reality asking to rule a world; if he proves his worth, rules with wisdom and diligence he will be happy and wealthy! Start now, today, to rule your world as you would have someone else rule it.

Eisenhower Discusses Foreign Policy at Newspaper Editors Session Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A gathering of newspaper editors today awaited a major speech by President Eisenhower. Administration sources said it would provide a "review and a look ahead" at American foreign policy.

But before Eisenhower's address tonight, members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors arranged to listen to a luncheon talk by Adlai Stevenson, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination. The subject of Stevenson's speech has not been announced, but he has been a frequent critic of Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

JONES TAKES HELM

The setting for Eisenhower's speech will be a dinner ending a three-day convention of some 400 editors from around the nation. The speech will be broadcast (10 p.m. EST) by all major radio networks. The CBS television network also will carry it.

* * *

At that same dinner, Jenkin Lloyd Jones, 44, editor of the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune, will be installed as ASNE's president for the coming year.

* * *

The society's board of directors was scheduled to elect new officers today, but under a policy of succession in office, the selection of Jones as president was a foregone conclusion. The former Navy officer has been first vice president, thus putting him in line to succeed Editor Kenneth MacDonald of the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

* * *

Under the same practice of succession, Virginius Dabney of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch was scheduled to move up from second vice president to first vice president, thus putting him in line for the presidency one year hence.

Empire State Eases 'No Drink' Restriction

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—From now on, bartenders in New York State can't refuse to serve alcoholic beverages to persons they consider "apparently" intoxicated.

* * *

Gov. Averell Harriman signed a bill today specifying that a patron must be deemed "actually and apparently" drunk before a drink may be denied.

The old law permitted bartenders to refuse service if the customer was "actually or apparently" intoxicated.

Only Republican president to serve two full terms was Ulysses Simpson Grant.

Waterford Students Rally as Snag Hits Field Lights

$3,800 Needed This Weekend

Bonds Repayable After Five Years Will Insure Place for Graduation

By WILMA GREENWAY

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Waterford Township High School students, shocked at the knowledge that the athletic field lights they need for graduation are not yet assured, today started a 2-day push to call in $3,800 in bond pledges.

Lights on the school field are a "must" if 270 graduating seniors are to have relatives and friends at their graduation June 13. The school gym cannot accommodate the capacity crowd expected.

A good many of the school's 1,096 pupils will be out calling on residents today and tomorrow. They will ask those who made pledges to back them up with cash, and also try to get enough new $50 bond subscribers to make up for any who default. Outright cash donations, for any sum at all, also will be welcomed.

The lights and fencing for the field are to be financed by $25,000 in bonds, sold by public subscription at 1 per cent interest and redeemable after five years.

SEEMED "SURE"

Pledges for the bonds were secured months ago by the hardworking students, and this month $21,200 in cash apparently made the lights a "sure thing." The balance could be called in later to pay for the fencing, students thought.

* * *

Wednesday, however, the school was notified by the superintendent of schools office that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission would not approve the lighting contract until the full $25,000 was on hand.

A delegation of students who attended the Board of Education meeting last night to urge action on the lights were told that the legal requirements demanded the full amount be in before any work could be started.

Student Council meetings yesterday culminated in a special all-school assembly in which the proposition was put to the school's 1,096 students. If the students could procure the needed $3,800 this weekend, there probably would still be time to get the athletic field in readiness for an outdoor graduation.

REVENUE BONDS

Every available student will be a bond salesman this weekend. Bonds are sold in $50 denominations and will be retired, starting in five years, out of revenues from field games and activities.

Students are asking Waterford residents to "Put Your Faith in Youth," and buy one or more bonds this weekend. A high school graduation is a big thing—something a boy or girl wants his whole family to attend—and of course the lights are also needed for other school activities and sports.

James DenHerder, assistant superintendent of schools, told the Pontiac Press that the state finance commission approval should come within 10 to 15 days after the bond money is in. Bids have been taken, he said, and low bidder on the lighting is Transformer Inspection Co. of Royal Oak.

* * *

A call to Bernard G. Eskhout, secretary-treasurer of Transformer Inspection Co., brought reassurance that if the contract was approved by the end of next week, the lights would be up in time.

WON'T LET THEM DOWN

"We won't let the kids down," Eskhout said. "We'll place the order for materials on a "hold" basis as soon as we have assurance that the money is in, pending the finance commission OK and final awarding of the contract."

Meanwhile students expressed a determination to bring in the bonds. Said senior class president Carole Fortin:

"We thought the lights were a sure thing. Then this bombshell fell and we were told we might not have a place to graduate. At first, the students were surprised and indignant.

"But we're not licked yet. We believe most of the people who have pledged bonds will make that pledge good now—and for those who can't we're hoping enough new people will buy bonds to take up the slack."

School principal Thad Carr pointed out that bonds are not limited, and anyone may buy as many as they wish in $50 denominations. "We are also accepting outright contributions toward the lights," he said.

"The students have done a tremendous job in bringing in $21,200 to pay for the field improvement which will benefit the whole township," Carr said. "I'm sure the people won't let them down when they are so near their goal."

OXFORD — "Blossom Time" is the theme chosen by Oxford Junior Women's Club for its spring dance to be held tonight from 9:30-1 in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Jack Lockwood, general chairman, is being assisted by a committee of six members.

A Detroit orchestra will play for the dance, which is open to the public.

Proceeds will go to local charities which are sponsored by the club.

Contracts Prepared by School Board

WALLED LAKE—Following two special meetings of the Walled Lake Board of Education this week, contracts are now being prepared for members of the teaching staff according to agreements reached with the salary committee of the M.E.A. district and the board.

Starting salaries for teachers with four years training and a degree are $4,200 with a maximum reached after 10 years of $5.500.

Those with Master's degrees start at $4,400 and reach a maximum of $6,000 in 12 steps. Annual increments are $100 or $150 depending on the step of the individual in the scale.

Alpha Sigma Phi Frat Initiating 2 Area Men

Paul Shoemaker of White Lake and Doug Forrester of Rochester will be initiated into Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity at the installation of the Gamma Kappa Chapter at Michigan State University. The ceremony will take place at the chapter's newly acquired house in East Lansing this weekend.

Paul is a sophomore, majoring in mechanical engineering, and Doug is a senior majoring in business.

Plane Prop Churns Air to Save Farmer's Apples

BANGOR, Mich. (AP)—An airplane propeller will really mix it up on the Harry Wakeman orchard this year. Wakeman hopes it will save a crop of apples that might otherwise fall to spring frost.

The propeller sits on a 30-foot tower. When the auto engine that runs it from a ground mount revs up, the propeller will churn the air some 30 feet above the ground.

The University of California has found that air 30 to 40 feet above the ground is often five to ten degrees warmer than the air that lies on the cold earth.

Those five to ten degrees can make the difference between frost and no frost, between apples and no apples.

A similar machine was tried up north by Michigan State University experimenters.

The whole machine costs $1,875 installed with the engine that runs it extra. But Wakeman says that one crop of frost free apples at a fair price would pay for the machine.

Area Churches List Services

Guest Preachers, New Worship Arrangements Are Announced

Special services and guest preachers have been scheduled in several Oakland County area churches this weekend. Among those making announcements are the following:

AT WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

A new order of service at the Crescent Hills Baptist Church has been adopted by the congregation according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. Ben A. Bohn.

The new plan is for a combined worship service of both church and Sunday school at 10 a.m. followed by the sermon by the pastor. Sunday school classes are held at 11 a.m. for a 45 minute period.

Preceding the sermon the pastor will gather all the children in the congregation about him and tell them a Bible story after which they will be dismissed to the primary and kindergarten rooms.

The services are being held in the Monteith School.

SPEAKER AT HOLLY

The Rev. Ben Bohn will also be guest minister at the First Baptist Church of Holly Sunday evening. Members of his congregation plan to attend the service.

DRAYTON PLAINS

First Baptist Church will accept into membership the largest number ever to be received at one time into the church, at its 11 a.m. service Sunday.

A total of 26 new members who have been baptized and voted into the church will be formally accepted, the pastor, the Rev. James E. Taulbee, said.

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP

Guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service at the Commerce Methodist Church here Sunday will be Dr. Gordon Phillips.

His sermon topic will be "Successful Church of the Future."

Dr. Phillips has served as chairman of the Board of trustees on church extension of the Detroit Methodist Union.

PRESBYTERY COUNCIL

"Getting Christ into our Community" will be the theme of the Flint Presbytery Council when it meets at the Lamotte Presbyterian Church, Marlette, Sunday afternoon and evening.

Lloyd M. Collins, secretary of the National Council of Presbyterian Men will be the speaker. There will also be a panel discussion on "What Can Men's Chapters Do About It."

Two Michigan Persons Drown in Texas Canal

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Two Michigan persons and a Texan drowned yesterday when their car ran off a ferry landing.

* * *

Police identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thomas of Battle Creek and Mrs. Lena Mae Thomas, 48, of Corpus Christi.

A fourth person, Leo Thomas, 54, also of Corpus Christi, was injured seriously.

* * *

Investigators said they believed the driver mistakenly hit the accelerator instead of the brakes causing the car to plunge into the intercoastal canal.

Two hundred guests attended the candlelight rite, performed at an altar adorned with baskets of white gladioli.

Sally is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith of 1600 Gray Rd. and Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weir of 106 Howard St. here.

The bride wore for her wedding a dress of white nylon net and Chantilly lace, with molded bodice, high collar and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of sequins and seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of white gardenias and trailing ivy.

Maid of honor was Phyllis Batzloff and bridesmaids were Mildred Markwood and Sue Smith, sister of the bride. Two other sisters, Kathy and Sherry, assisted as flower girls.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Earl Weir, and acting as ushers were Tom Weir Jr., and Richard Avery, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A wedding reception was held afterward in the American Legion Memorial Building.

The newlyweds will make their home on Howard street in Lapeer.

Herb Shriner Tagged for Hour Variety Slot

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Herb Shriner's been tagged to be one of its "r-r-really big" men next year—with an hour variety show—but he claims he doesn't intend to be any genius.

★ ★ ★ ★

"If you go all out, you may go on out right through the other side of the room," Harmonica Herb says. "I don't plan to come up with anything very revolutionary.

SHRINER

"I'll see if I can get away with some more of my singin'," he adds. "I've got great hopes for the show, but to tell the truth, me and Pixie never buy anything when the payments last longer 'n 13 weeks.

"Television's too uncertain. Firin' is bound to go on forever in television. Everybody fires people, but Godfrey and Sid Caesar are the only ones that get caught at it. I'm sure some day some big TV star is going to come on and say 'I think I've had it, as of right now I'm firin' myself'."

Herb's been trying to find out what night he'll work.

"I look 'em square in the eye and say 'What night am I on?' and they say, 'If we find out, we'll try to get permission to let you know.'

"I'll continue interviewin' and wave on Ed Sullivan's show. I've always wondered what those people'd have said if Ed had allowed them to say anything."

"I'll do a monologue, but I don't know whether I'll open the show with it. It never seemed right to me that way. You work for 20 years to be a star of your own show and then you have to go on and open it.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Maybe that isn't the right place to tell jokes.

"Maybe a guy just had his Adams Apple cut out on 'Medic' and the poor guy's layin' there dead and gone and a comedian comes on and tries to tell jokes. Somehow, you resent him."

Herb, who's been a quizmaster on "Two for the Money" for four years, is wondering whether he'll have a chance with the TV audience now.

I told Herb that everybody's talking about him.

"It isn't so bad when people talk about you," Herb said. "It's when they won't talk to you that it hurts."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Cleo Moore, posing for pictures, asked a friend to hold a package, then forgot it. Later she phoned anxiously about it—it held 10G's in jewelry . . . Bernie Green sent a wire to Johnnie Ray at the Desert Inn: "Your opening was the greatest since Moses crossed the Red Sea."

★ ★ ★ ★

Siri, a showgirl in "The Ziegfeld Follies," was asked about her accent. She said, "It's Swedish, but I'm adding Hungarian."

Two dancers quit the forthcoming musical, "Shangri-La"; refused to dye their hair black . . . "Alexander the Great" may be an alltime biggest moneymaker . . . Dizzy Gillespie's jazz band, touring the Middle East, has one female musician—the trombonist.

Singer Toba Stevens was ordered by Equity to change her name, 'cause a Toby Stevens was already registered. (She's now Toba Sherwood) . . . Part of the fiddle section of "My Fair Lady" was late after intermission the other night. The conductor found the violinist talking to a customer in the audience—Jascha Heifetz.

Will Tell His Story Next Week

Cowboy Returning to His First Love—the River

(Floating down the Mississippi, with the catfish bitin'—it's a dream of every boy, or anyone who has ever read about Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer. For Roy Rogers, cowboy film idol of millions of youngsters, the dream comes true next week. And as he and his party make their way down the Mississippi, Rogers will write stories on the trip. In the following article Rogers describes the trip he will make and tells how it came about).

By ROY ROGERS

It all started back in Cincinnati, Ohio, I guess, when I was a little buckaroo of two and was too young to know what actually was taking place.

My father was a riverman and his father before him was, too. So I guess I come by it naturally. My father and my uncle Will built a house boat which was to be our home for five years on the Ohio River. I vaguely remember mom and dad packing all our possessions on board the "Ark" and sailing out of Cincinnati for Portsmouth.

The river was full of wonders and excitement for me as I lived aboard the "Ark" for the next five years and grew to love the water which has held a constant fascination for me through the years.

1,000-MILE JOURNEY

So it is no wonder now to be planning a boat trip down the Red River and the Mississippi River over a course that will total more than 1,000 miles and which I hope to travel in about seven days.

* * *

My party will consist of six boats, all Yellowjackets, because they are my favorite. I have used many types of boats for ocean and fresh water fishing and for outboard racing and the Yellowjacket which is made of laminated plywood seems to offer more than any of the others I've tried. We will start our river safari from Denison, Tex.

R. A. McDerby, president of the Yellowjacket Boat Co. at Denison, wil furnish our party with new equipment which will save us packing and shipping our equipment and gear from Los Angeles.

During my 15 years of motion picture making, I made many movies with the Red River Valley as the locale and I sang many songs about Red River Valley. But actually I never saw the Red River Valley to speak of. By making this trip, starting from Denison on April 25, I will have the opportunity to explore it from one end to the other.

My 15-foot boat will be powered by a single outboard motor of 40 horsepower which should be plenty of power going with the current.

FIRST REAL VACATION

I haven't had a vacation in quite a spell. About the best I've been able to do in several years is take a day off between assignments and I figured this was as good a time as any to take the bull by the horns and get away from the pressures that have been building up.

We will take five boats with two men each—fellows I have fished and hunted with and found to be good companions. A sixth boat will carry supplies and spare parts in case we encounter any difficulties,

Our equipment will include fishing tackle and gear, Dutch cook ovens, food, gasoline and other supplies. We will all carry sleeping bags and pitch camp along the shoreline for the night.

The distance is approximately 1,025 miles, and going downstream with a fairly good current and outreach New Orleans, our destination, within seven days, barring stormy weather and mishaps.

We are looking forward to some mighty fine catfish along the way and when we approach New Orleans, we plan to line up six abreast and race wide open down the Mississippi to the finish line.

People who have learned about our trip have wired all sorts of offers to furnish supplies and aid en route. Boy Scout troops all along the way want to meet us and prepare our meals. Food processors have offered to supply our needs gratis, and it's been fun just getting ready.

Knobby Knees Finish Debut of Bermudas

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — As the thermometer rose to 80 degrees here yesterday, groups of high school boys in two city schools turned up wearing Bermuda shorts.

* * *

The expanse of knobby knees was too much for school officials, and the boys had their long pants back on again before the day was out.

* * *

A spokesman for the superintendent of schools said there was no ruling covering the knees, but it would be up to the individual schools.

THE JUNIOR CIRCUS — 6
Mitzi on the Trapeze

Mitzi is the star of the flying trapeze in our Junior Circus. She began working on the trapeze when she was very young and now she is very skillful.

For the last of your circus cutouts, color the picture and paste it on cardboard.

Now cut out the parts with care, and punch holes with a pencil point in the ends of the two crossbars. Bring a thread down through the left end of the top bar, through the left end of the bottom bar, across to the right end of the bottom bar, through that and up again to the right end of the top bar. Leave the ends, so they can be tied into a loop and the trapeze can be hung up.

Cut through the dark black line around Mitzi's fingers and across her insteps. Then you can slip the threads behind these tabs, as shown in the close-up sketches.

Mitzi can stand up on the trapeze with one foot braced against the rope, and she can hang by her hands from the lower bar. Perhaps you can even make her hang by one foot from the lower bar. Try it.

Now you have your complete circus and can get it all set up.

(This idea was first submitted by Sharon Schumm, Rockford, Ohio. Junior Editors award $10 for usable ideas, so send in yours care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Water Authority Gets Supervisors' Approval

Our County Supervisors have served the community's interests well by unanimously approving the proposed Southeastern Michigan Water Authority.

This action, like the earlier vote of approval by Macomb County's supervisors, was one more preliminary step essential to any effective effort to solve the long range, two-county water problem. It came after consideration by the board of proposed articles of incorporation for the water authority.

Under these articles the Authority is empowered to issue bonds, condemn land for its use and make contracts. At first financing will be through loans from the two county boards but these will be repaid as soon as bonds are sold.

According to Royal Oak's Mayor Kelley, who presented the articles of incorporation, the Authority will set about seeking a source of water adequate for the two counties, probably Lake Huron. In discussing the matter of source with Rotarians recently, City Manager Willman said there was not much difference in cost between Lake Huron and Lake St. Clair.

★ ★ ★

That the need for the new Authority and for more water is great, can't be disputed. Every survey made in the last several years has emphasized this. For Pontiac, solution of its long range water problem is imperative. On it depends the City's continued growth as a great industrial center.

Thanks to the wisdom and foresight of the supervisors, the organization needed to attack this multi-million dollar problem soon should be in operation.

DEW Line Progressing

Brief lifting of security regulations permits revelation that good progress is being made in construction of the U.S.-Canadian Distant Early Warning, or DEW Line.

The work already done on this project offers ample justification for pride among the citizens of both countries. Steadily growing somewhere north of the Arctic Circle, this third radar fence is designed to give earlier warning of air attack from the north than provided by the Mid-Canada and Pine Tree Lines.

Because of its geographical location, the construction task presented unusually difficult problems. Much of the equipment and supplies had to be flown in and bases for the engineers and construction men established in the bleak, frozen and almost uninhabitable Arctic emptiness.

In truth, an area shunned for centuries, had to be transformed into an outpost of civilization. Not only is the unrevealed cost of the project known to be high, but accidents have taken a heavy toll with 27 lives lost. Nonetheless, all reports agree that military and civilian personnel of the two countries are doing a tremendous job.

★ ★ ★

When completed, some 1,500 miles north of the U.S.-Canadian border, the DEW Line, recently inspected by Defense Secretary Wilson, should be a source of great comfort for Canadians and Americans alike. There will be reassurance in the fact that it will provide some four to six hours earlier warning of enemy attack than can be provided in this jet age by existing warning facilities.

Looking Back 300 Years

One of New England's newest and most interesting tourist attractions is the 1954 restoration of the Colonial era's Saugus Ironworks.

Rebuilt two years ago on the original site ten miles north of Boston, the plant is as complete and looks the same as it did 300 years ago.

There, until its closing November 30, tourists will see smoke pouring from a chimney and water rushing along wooden troughs to turn seven water wheels. These supply power to massive leather bellows, a giant forge hammer and rolling and slitting machinery.

★ ★ ★

No iron will be produced, of course, but visitors will see exactly how the ponderous machinery operated and the conditions under which our pioneer workers labored. Among the features of the restored plant are the stone blast furnace, rebuilt from stones of the original building, the forge, rolling and slitting mill, warehouse and wharf.

Another feature standing high on a hill, is the quaint house provided for the 17th century ironmaster with its period furniture. The plant itself, on the banks of the Saugus River, was operated from 1646 to 1670.

★ ★ ★

Credit for this opportunity to look back 300 years into our industrial beginning goes to the Nation's iron and steel producers who financed it. Last year Saugus Ironworks attracted 17,000 visitors from 48 states and 13 foreign countries.

State Democrats Set Out to Charm the Voters

By GEORGE L. WALKER

LANSING—Michigan Democrats, as colorful and noisy as gypsies at a tambourine jam session, hitched up their wagons this week and jolted off on the 1956 campaign trail.

It was an astute a collection of gypsies, full of good stories and eager to display their political sleight-of-hand.

The faces the Democrats put forward to the people were friendly and full of vigor. They knew what to say and said it well.

Led by Gov. Williams in a shiny limousine that looks like it might have trouble rounding corners, the Democratic caravan rolled into Kalamazoo Thursday and unloaded its sprightly passengers, five of the six members of the Democratic State Administrative Board.

★ ★ ★

The quintet looked and acted as if it had enjoyed its year-long sojourn on top of the political pile and had every intention of staying there.

GLOW OF HUMILITY

Here was Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, a charmer with a delicate glow of humility and a fluency that borders eloquence.

Hart displayed in a speech before Democratic women his masterful talent for the sincere approach and the skill he has for the extemporaneous.

He scolded the press for suggesting that the Democrats' "educational tour" was really a campaign affair and insisted that politicians have a sacred duty to report their activities to the people.

There was Aud. Gen. Victor Targonski, blasting Republicans for the way they ran the office during the last 100 years and protesting that not all justices of the peace are crooked even if some have been caught with their hand in the till.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State James M. Hare, an ex-professor of government at Wayne University, conceded that not all sheriffs are incapable of licensing drivers but the highways would be a lot safer if his own licensing service had the power.

REPORTS EXPLOITS

And there was big, smiling Sanford A. (Sandy) Brown, who left his farm in the Thumb to become state treasurer. Sandy gave out with reports of his own money-saving exploits and complaints about the Republican farm program.

★ ★ ★

Last, but far from least, was Williams himself, looking a little tired and maybe a little bored with it all, but nonetheless the master politician in the presence of whom white-haired ladies twitter and bright-eyed young men look spellbound.

When the ballots are down, when the people form in long, gray lines before the polling places, it is personality that counts, the human qualities of the politician.

State Republicans know the Democratic administrative officials have the advantage of incumbency. They see them as a hard team to beat, despite the presence of Ike's name at the top of the Republican slate.

St. George, Honored Monday, Didn't Do Either Feat That Made Him Famous

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Legend is always more powerful and more obstinate than fact. St. George, who is honored Monday, certatinly did not do either of the two things that made him famous.

In the first place, he is best known for having killed a dragon just in the nick of time to save a beautiful princess. This was near the town of Selena, in Libya. When George and the princess led the subdued dragon into the town, the entire population was converted to Christianity and all were baptized—20,000 in one day.

The fact that there is no such thing as a dragon has never hurt this legend in the least. Nor has anyone, apparently, ever been bothered about the staggering mathematics of the baptisms at Selena—20,000 in one day, which would be 800 per hour, 13 per minute, in a full 24 hour day.

The other legendary feat was George's appearance centuries after his death as a giant warrior, towering in the midst of the Christian armies during the Crusades and frightening off the Moslem foe merely by the awful majesty of his countenance. So many stories of these apparitions were brought back to England by returning Crusaders that St. George was, by popular acclaim, declared the patron saint of England.

DISREPUTABLE CHARACTER?

The great historian Gibbon had serious doubts about even the character of this famous George. Gibbon identified him with a quite disreputable bishop of Cappadocia named George and said it is a shame a person of such unsavory reputation "has become transformed into the renowned George of England, patron of arms and chivalry."

Not many scholars agree with Gibbon, however. One may dismiss the legends, but it is impossible to get around the fact that there was in the third Century some giant of the faith named George, whose activities were so conspicuous and so important that he captured men's imaginations and their hearts. Nothing will ever dethrone him now.

As patron saint of England, George is one of the "Seven Champions of Christendom." The other six are the patrons of Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France, Spain and Italy.

SECOND GOSPEL

On April 25th, in the year 68 occurred the death of John Mark, the writer of the second gospel. Converted to Christianity by the great St. Peter himself, Mark had been Peter's assistant and traveling companion. After the Apostle died, Mark put together his Gospel out of his memory of what Peter had told him of the Lord's life and teaching.

Some have said this Mark was the same one who, as a lad, had been in the company that followed Jesus, but there is some reason to be doubtful about this. The writer of the second Gospel shows very limited knowledge of the geography of Palestine, which should have been quite familiar to anyone who grew up there.

St. Mark is said to have founded the Church in Egypt.

LAST FAST DAY

No many people in New Hampshire will observe it, or even know about it perhaps, but Thursday in that state is the only legal Fast Day left in the United States, one of the last remaining evidences of the early New England combination of Church and State.

* * *

Years ago Maine and Massachusetts also had an annual day of prayer and fasting every spring, but both these states have long since repealed the law requiring such a day. An attempt at repeal in New Hampshire failed in 1897, and the Governor is still under obligation to proclaim the fourth Thursday in April as Fast Day.

Some church services will be held, but the general amount of prayer and fasting in New Hampshire today will probably be about the same as on any other day.

Tip on Parkinson's Disease Pays Off; Calcium, Vitamin D Ration Aid Wife

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

In your excellent article on Humidity or humidifying the indoor sahara you spoke of the time when you were "serving time in purgatory.' I don't get it. Could you take few moments of your valuable time to explain it? (Mrs. J. H. C.)

Answer—Well, for years now I have been in paradise. So when I referred to the time when we lived up north I called it purgatory—not allowed to say hell in print. Webster will tell you what purgatory is. I hope we never meet there—but still, it might be worse.

Years ago you said that if one got an adequate daily ration of calcium and vitamin D it would be a great help when the change of life occurred. I did as you advised and never had a hot flash or had to go to a doctor. (Mrs. A. E. G.)

Answer—Which doesn't necessarily prove anything except that an adequate daily ration of Ca and D—well, I mean to say that it does no harm. For pamphlet on The Menopause send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In your article you said by all means encourage one with Parkinson's disease (paralysis agitans) and we find my aunt does much better when she keeps busy at something than just sitting around. (B. A.)

Answer—Pamphlet on Parkinson's on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope. Clipping of this item is not a request. Yes, it is essential that the individual with this condition keep busy doing something. Numerous men and women with shaking palsy have improved remarkably since they got into the game of bowls. The truth is that the trouble is purely physical and does not in the least affect mentality—that is, if the victim doesn't just sit and freeze.

You said aspirin is safer than acetanilid or phenacetin for relief of ache or pain. But my husband can't take aspirin—if he takes any his eyes swell shut, his throat swells and his whole body . . . please tell me what would be safe for him to take for pain. (Mrs. H. C. W.)

Answer—I know of nothing that would be safe. He should take only what his physician orders or approves—that is, if his condition warrants the use of pain-killers.

Your health talks are always real, and I'm old enough to agree with you. That one about the dampness on Chapel street did more good . . . I'd like to keep a copy for my grandchildren. (Mrs. H. H. J.)

Answer—Thank you, Ma'am, but I have no copies. However, send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet The Habit of Bed-Wetting.

We use rain or snow or ice water for drinking. Wonder whether we are missing the minerals the body gets from well, spring or river water. (E. A. C.)

Answer—I know of no scientific evidence that the body assimilates any minerals in natural water.

Ho-hum, now I have time to dwell on the perils of Pauline, since the children are away at college. The only trouble I have managed to develop so far is hot flashes, which are particularly disturbing my sleep. (Pauline ....).

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for . . .

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist

It Isn't Necessary to Be a Minister to Offer Fine Leadership in Churches

Bert is floundering around in indecision about his life work. He wants to be a clergyman. But the odds are somewhat against him, so I reminded Bert that the founder of Christianity, plus all 12 Apostles and even St. Paul, were laymen. Yet see what they have done for the cause of morality.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-336: Bert B., aged 31, is married and has two children.

"Dr. Crane, I need some vocational advice" he began, unhappily.

"I am a die maker and have a steady job. But my mother always wanted me to be a clergyman.

"I couldn't see things her way, while I was younger but now I realize the valuable leadership that preachers offer their communities.

"So I am wondering if maybe I shouldn't go back to school and study to be a minister.

"I have a wonderful wife and she says she will sacrifice to help me go to college. So what do you suggest I do?"

LAYMAN OR PREACHER

Nowadays the churches are emphasizing that ministers obtain four years of college and then an additional three years in theological seminary.

* * *

That means seven years of schooling would lie ahead of Bert. The financial strain would likewise be great, since he is married and has two children to support.

So I reminded him that a layman can exert a tremendous amount of good if he will serve as a spark plug in the church.

Indeed, the founder of the Christian religion was a layman. For Jesus was not of the priestly tribe of Levi, nor had he attended a theological seminary.

Jesus was a carpenter from the non-clerical tribe of Judah. If on earth today, he would possibly speak to us as a member of the Carpenter's Union.

Furthermore, Jesus chose 12 Apostles to serve as the mainstays of the new Christian religion. Oddly enough, not even one of those Apostles was a clergyman!

No, they were ordinary workers, such as fishermen, farmers, tax collectors, etc. Christ was surrounded by many trained clergymen but he didn't select even one of them for an Apostle.

PAUL'S SPARK PLUGGING

The greatest spark plug in building new churches during that first century A. D., was also a man who worked all day as a tentmaker. His name was Paul.

He probably devoted 10 hours per day (maybe 12) to his job of sewing canvas to make tents.

Only when, figuratively, the quitting whistle had blown, did he shift his energy to the absorbing hobby or avocation which has made him famous—namely, the job of preaching on street corners and the founding of little mission churches.

Clergymen are the most influential men in modern society and we need to recruit topnotch youth for these vital posts.

But laymen should never feel discouraged. They can emulate St. Paul and leave a lasting imprint of their constructive personality on civilization, just by their lay work in moral societies.

Think of the splendid services rendered by laymen in the Red Cross and Community Chest Drives. Think of the devoted laymen who lead the Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, or the YMCA, YWCA and CYO.

Think of unselfish Sunday school teachers and superintendent, like Raymond Fern whom I mentioned yesterday as launching the "Compliment Club" as an entire Sunday school project.

So in Bert's case I suggested that he could probably do more good for the cause of the church as a livewire layman and Boy Scout leader than go back to college for a seven-year schooling. Do you agree?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Commends Newspapers' Lead in Juvenile Decency

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

There for a while it seemed that all one could find about youngsters in the papers was something detrimental. You could almost get the impression that there wasn't a decent teenager around.

But recently I've noticed that newspapers have been doing a fine job of pointing up the good things done by our young people. Instead of playing up the mistakes of a few, papers now seem to be emphasizing accomplishments of the majority of teenagers who are decent, wholesome boys and girls.

It's about time that attitude was taken, and I want to commend the newspapers for the fine lead they've taken in promoting teenage decency.

Glenn Yuille Cites Milk as One Miracle of God

A short time ago milk became a very important item in our bill of fare . . . when it looked like it wouldn't be available.

It should give us pause for thought, how wonderful God is to man, to provide such a fine food for our benefit. Of course, some people will scoff at that. Every time a human being partakes of a cool glass of milk, he should thank God and also realize that only God could have provided it.

The mystery of how a cow can eat grass and hay all day, and with her three or four stomachs distill it into milk, is another mystery that God doesn't let man in on. A cow is just another miracle in this maze of miracles in this God-created world. Everything in this world is a miracle creation of God . . . including yourself.

U. S. Information Agency Does Away With 'Surplus'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has no farm surpluses in the vocabulary of the U. S. Information Agency (USIA). Instead, it has "reserves" of wheat, cotton and so forth.

* * *

"Surplus" is one of the words frowned on by USIA for use in Voice of America broadcasts, press services and other material distributed in or beamed at foreign countries.

USIA has distributed a list of words it regards as good and bad, with comments, to all its cooperating branches. Copies were sent to interested members of Congress, as well, and one of them made the document available to a reporter.

In countries where the U. S. farm situation is not understood, the agency instructions say, "farm surplus" may have a bad psychological effect.

Understandably, words relating to Communism and the Soviet Union make up a good part of USIA's lexicon. The agency recommends using "Communist conspiracy" where possible rather than "Communist party," but it cautions against indiscriminate use of the word "Red." Its reason: Some Socialist parties, though strongly anti-Communist, use a red flag and similar symbols.

"Communists" is not to be used in USIA material to refer to all the inhabitants, or all the soldiers, of a Communist-governed country.

USIA writers and speakers are to be careful with the word "capitalism" also—"We want to associate American capitalism with the man in the street." Recommended are such phrases as "people's capitalism, Democratic capitalism, dynamic capitalism, American capitalism, modern capitalism, social capitalism, everyman's capitalism, popular capitalism, free enterprise, free economic system, capitalism for the people."

USIA does not want its people talking about "small countries" —presumably even when referring to the wedding in Monaco. Nor are they to talk about "underdeveloped" or "less developed" countries. Name the countries, they are told, or speak of "emerging" or "newly developed" nations.

Arab names are not to be excessively streamlined, for example by amputating such prefixes as Abu, Ibn, Sayf or Al. USIA directs that the Egyptian Prime Minister's name shall never be shortened beyond Abd Al-Nasir.

USIA speaks of the Communist East German, North Korean and North Vietnamese "regimes," not "governments."

HILDRED KRONLOKKEN

THOMAS TIPTON

MacDowell Chorus Hosts Guest Artists This Evening

Appearing this evening with the MacDowell Male Chorus will be guest artists Thomas Tipton and Hildred Kronlokken.

Miss Kronlokken, a native of Sacred Heart, Minn. did her undergraduate work at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree. While attending Luther College she was a four year soloist with the Nordic Cathedral Choir, and for three years was Messiah soloist. She appeared as soloist in several oratorio performances in the vicinity and was choir director in a local church.

She is now completing her graduate work in voice at the University of Michigan. She directs the Lutheran Student Center Choir and is a teaching assistant in voice at the university. Her accomplishments also include her appearance in the opera workshop where she was heard as Pamina in "Magic Flute." She has been soloist with University Choir and with the Michigan Singers.

* * *

Miss Kronlokken recently took first place among the women in the Great Lakes Regional Metropolitan Auditions of the Air at Cleveland, and sang with the Cleveland Symphony on television. Last December she won the Battle Creek Symphony Contest and appeared as soloist with the orchestra. This summer she is slated to sing the soprano part of the Verdi "Requiem" at Interlochen International Music Camp.

The role of Michaela with the Toledo Opera Company in their performance of "Carmen" was sung by Miss Kronlokken April 11.

Mr. Tipton, a baritone, made his operatic debut at the New York City Center in 1952. Since that appearance, Mr. Tipton's performances in opera and concert have been received with enthusiasm.

In 1947, after service in Europe with the American Army, he resumed his musical education at Michigan State University where he received a Bachelor of Arts in voice. In the summer of 1949, he interrupted his studies at the University and traveled to Italy where he remained for three months of intensive vocal study.

Immediately following graduation the young singer won the Michigan Grinnell Foundation Scholarship which led to his operatic debut as "Bob" in Menotti's "Old Maid and the Thief" under the direction of the composer. His performances with the opera company resulted in engagements with the Northerners of Chicago, the Grant Park summer concerts in Chicago, the Lansing, Saginaw and Detroit Symphony Orchestras, the Tulsa Philharmonic and the Kansas City Philharmonic.

* * *

Mr. Tipton received his Master of Music degree in voice in 1955 from the University of Michigan and is currently a member of the voice faculty there. During this season, he has appeared in the New York City Center Opera's fall productions in Detroit, with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and in concert and recitals in the eastern and southern portions of the country.

This evening's performance of the MacDowell Male Chorus and their two guest artists will be held in the auditorium of Pontiac High School at 8:15 p.m. The program will include:

I Pray to Thee—(Carmen), Georges Bizet
Hist! Hist!—(The Maid of the Mill) . . . . Dr. S. Arnold
Summertime (Porgy and Bess) . . . . George Gershwin
Hildred Kronlokken, Soprano
Maurice Hisnon, Pianist

Wants Men to Attend Bridal Fete

Hostess Wonders About Propriety of Mixed Shower

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "I would like to give a shower for a friend of mine, but instead of having all women as is customary, I would like to have a mixed group.

"Most of her friends are either married or engaged, and I thought it would make for a much pleasanter evening if the husbands and fiances were invited. Will you please tell me if such a plan is permissible?"

Answer: Usually when men are to be included, they are asked to come in after the bride-to-be has opened her presents.. However, if it is a household shower instead of a personal one, there would be no objection to asking the men to the shower.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister died very suddenly two weeks ago and of course none of us is going out socially at the present time. However, my mother won't even let us turn on the television set.

"I can't see how this could possibly be considered disrespectful and it would certainly help to relieve the strain we have been under. Will you please tell me if it is wrong for those in mourning to turn on the television set?"

Answer: I cannot see anything wrong in turning on the television set, and I think sitting in idle silence for hours and days on end is the most distressing thing possible to do.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me on what occasions a cross-stitch tablecloth is porepr? The one I have reference to is very fine and really quite beautiful, but nevertheless it is still just a cross-stitch tablecloth is proper? opinion is proper only for very casual use."

Answer: I don't thing a cross-stitch tablecloth could be improper on any table, and one of very fine quality may even be used for a large and extremely formal dinner.

The Extra Dimension

When washing lingerie, handkerchiefs, gloves, pour a few drops of cologne into the clear rinse water. The fragrance will cling to the fabrics, giving them an extra dimension of loveliness.

It's Spring---and That Means Time to Diet!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When 9-Day Diet appears in "Why Grow Old?" you can be sure that it's spring!

* * *

Each year along with the robins and flowers and new leaves comes this short diet series to help you get ready for swimsuits and light summer clothing. We are likely to pick up a few extra pounds dunring the winter months, in fact many of us are apt to pick up a few most any old time when we become careless about our calorie intake.

However, many women begin the fall slim and sleek or just a little overweight and then comes Thanksgiving. We just get over that when Christmas arrives, with New Year's celebrations following immediately afterward. Then, too, we are less active physically in winter weather and cold winds whet our appetites.

The result of all this may be a gain of from 5 to 10 pounds, just the number you can lose in nine days time. It is so much easier to stick to a diet if you know just what you can accomplish in a given length of time, especially when the time is short.

* * *

So 9-Day Diet can solve your problem quickly if you have a few pounds to lose. If you are many more than 10 pounds overweight it will give you an encouraging start on a longer reducing trek.

Monday I will give you your diet for Tuesday so that you will be able to do your marketing. Therefore, 9-Day Diet will begin on Monday in The Pontiac Press and last for nine days. Each day the menus for the following day will appear in this column.

The complete 9-Day Diet booklet is available for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

If you would like to have my complete 9-Day Reducing Diet in a pocketbook-size booklet, send 10 cents and a stmped, self-addresed envelope. Address Josephine Lowman in care of Pontiac Press.

Miss Roosevelt to Be Married

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The granddaughter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Miss Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, will be married here tonight to Henry D. Lindsley III, Midland, Tex.

The late President's wife planned to be here for the 8 p.m. ceremony at the All Saints Episcopal Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert H. Stewart Jr., and Henry D. Lindsley Jr., both of Dallas.

The bride is the daughter of Elliott Roosevelt, now of Meeker, Colo., and Mrs. Harry T. Edison, Fort Worth.

Pin Infant Deaths on Small Staffs

DETROIT (INS) — Wayne county health commissioner blames the high infant death rate in out-county areas on the lack of staff members to provide nursing, educational and clinical services.

Dr. Cadwell said the out-county area had 206 infant deaths for a rate of 26.2 per 1,000 live births and has been climbing for two years.

The health commissioner said the national rate is 26.5 and the state average 24.8. He added the out-county rate was 24.3 in 1954 and 25.6 in 1955.

* * *

Several months ago, Dr. Cadwell protested vigorously, but unsuccessfully, when the Wayne County board of supervisors slashed his budget by $50,000 on the grounds that local communities should provide more financial support.

Area Students Preparing for Nation YWCA Week

First event in National YWCA Week, to be observed April 22⅝ 28, for the Pontiac YMCA will be a city-wide Y-Teen Recognition service, held Sunday at 4 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church.

Highlight of the Recognition service is the announcement of the outstanding senior high and junior high Y-Teen for the year. Each club has submitted the name of a member whom the girls considered best personified the spirit and ideals of Y-Teens. Members of the Teen Age Program committee during the past year, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Williams, have served as judges.

Candidates nominated included, for Senior Highs, Marcia Thomas, Pontiac High School, and Betsey Comps, Waterford High. Junior High candidates are: Marcia Adair, Isaac E. Crary; Cherie Peters, Washington; Judy Tanner, Eastern; and Norma Martin, Jefferson.

* * *

Guest speaker for the program will be Miss Anna Peck of Detroit, Director of World Fellowship activities for the Detroit YWCA, who attended the World's Council meeting in London last fall. Her topic will be "Adventures Abroad With the YWCA."

Participating in the service will be Y-Teens: Pat Lawrence of Waterford, who will give the opening worship and lead the responsive reading; Shirley Guthery, Washington, who will offer the prayer and read the Scripture lesson; and Mary Sarros, Pontiac High, who will introduce the speaker. Frieda Griesbach of Waterford, will have charge of the music. Y-Teens also will serve as usher and will take up the offering, which will be devoted to World Fellowship.

Traditional closing of the recognition service is a candle lighting ceremony, when the junior and senior girls chosen as most outstanding, will pass the light from their candle to each of the Y-Teens, symbolizing the spreading of the light around the world.

The recognition service is open to the public.

Bright Bits of Gelatin Dot Dessert

Mrs. Clara Uses Four Fruit Flavors in Icebox Cake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Here's a recipe for one of the prettiest desserts you can imagine eating. It takes time to make, but it's worth it. Anyway, you can make this refrigerator cake the day before you want to serve it.

Mrs. Ralph Clara shares with us her recipe for Cathedral Window Cake. She's a busy person, active in the Deborah Circle of her church and in a bridge club.

Mrs. Clara is also the registrar of the United Church Women and a past grand officer in the Eastern Star.

CATHEDRAL WINDOW CAKE
By Mrs. Ralph Clara

1 package lime gelatin
1 package lemon or cherry gelatin
1 package orange gelatin
1 package grape gelatin

Dissolve each package of gelatin (you may use any combination of flavors, being careful to vary the colors) in 1½ cups boiling water. Pour into flat pans. When hard, cut into ½ inch squares.

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
½ cup pineapple juice
½ pint whipping cream
¼ cup sugar

Soak gelatin in cold water, add hot water and pineapple juice. Let cool until partially set. Whip cream and add sugar.

Fold unflavored gelatin mixture and multi-colored gelatin squares into whipped cream. Be careful not to break up the squares.

Line a flat 9x13 pan with ½-inch slices of angel food cake. Pour in gelatin mixture. Cover with additional slices of cake.

Chill 24 hours before serving. Serve with a dab of whipped cream. Serves 12-16 easily.

Sylvan Shores Women's Club Holds Meeting

A musical program was enjoyed by members of the Sylvan Shores Women's Club when the group met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John B. Nicolls Jr. on Sylvan Shores drive.

* * *

Cohostesses at the affair were Mrs. William B. Aitkens, Mrs. Harold J. Hemming, Mrs. Arthur P. O'Neill and Mrs. Ameil Peterson.

Ingrid Soderberg presented several vocal numbers and Diane Beach played selections on the violin. Both were accompanied by Lyndon S. Salathiel at the piano.

Pam and Pennie Nicolls played a piano duet. Completing the program were vocal duets and a solo number presented by Mrs. George Putnam and Mrs. Nicolls.

* * *

In the business meeting Mrs. C. I. Humphries reported the group had made 200 cancer pads in the past month. Members also voted to contribute to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Clarence Failing presided at the tea table during the social hour.

Mrs. G. Eldred Mathes was presented the hostess gift. A guest of the group was Mrs. George Newton.

* * *

A card party is planned for the next meeting.

To stop a run in a nylon stocking, smear moist soap along both ends of the run. The soap will wash out and the stocking can be repaired when convenient.

CONNIE ARLENE CULVER

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Culver of Drayton Plains announce the engagement of their daughter, Connie Arlene, to Donald E. Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis H. Burns of Huron street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Travel Talk Will Feature New Zealand

A travel lecture by Andrew Scott, with color slides, on "Highlights of New Zealand," will be presented Sunday at 5 p.m. by the Senior Zions League and Junior League of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The lecture will be held at the church on Front street.

Mr. Scott is formerly of New Zealand. He has lived on Fiji and Tokelan Islands before moving to Canada where he now lives. He has written several scientific papers on the origin and distribution of Polynesian stone tools.

A statistical paper on the distribuition of stande adzes, cutting tools differing from an ax in having an arching blade set at right angles to the handle, is his main endeavor now.

The paper will be based on his classification which has been accepted by the Third Pacific Science Congress.

He is a graduate of Graceland College in Iowa, and the University of New Zealand. At present he is teaching in a district high school at Essex, Ont.,

The sponsoring groups are under the directorship of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kramer and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fishwild.

Airy Garden Party Look Pretties Up City Clothes

This season, even if you're going to dinner in a slick city restaurant, you'll look as if you're going to a garden party. It's the prettiest fashion in many a summer, a fashion that makes a point of being feminine.

This Jo Copeland model with its diagonal criss-cross bands of slightly gathered Val lace decorating the bodice is sure to be one of your most successful dresses. Its cool, notched collar sits away from the neck, its skirt has all-around inverted pleats stitched to the hipline for smoothness.

A custom-made, precisely perforated pattern, you'll find it easy to make in gingham, printed cottons or silks, shantungs or any of the novelty widths. This hand-cut, custom-made pattern is not standard sized but is the only pattern available with exclusive designers' retail sizing measurements for a more accurate fit, better styling, less altering.

Open perforations allow for easy markings without damaging tissue; also timesaving, fabric saving, money saving; no tracing wheel or carbon paper needed; easy to follow instructions for beginners. From this chart select the size best for you.

Bust	Waist	Hips (Inches)	Sizes	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
35	25	36	12	16¾
36½	26½	37½	14	17
38	28	39	16	17¼
40	30	41	18	17½
42	32	43	20	17¾

Size 12 requires 5¼ yards of 36-inch material for dress. To order Pattern 1259, state size, enclose $1. Airmail handling requires 25 cents extra.

Address American Designer Patterns, P. O. Box 535, G. P. O. Dept. P6, New York, N. Y. The 144-page Pattern Booklet XII costs 50 cents. If paid by check, add four cents.

Teenagers Discussed by Policewoman

"Our Teenagers" was the theme of an address given by Patricia Sweeney of the Pontiac Police Department before Wisner PTA Thursday afternoon.

"There is no secret formula for a good child, neither is there one definite thing that causes a juvenile to be delinquent," she said. "We do know that abnormal situations cause juvenile delinquency—use of alcohol by one or both parents; lack of church attendance or fanatical religion; overindulging a child with material things; and also divorce.

"The blame for delinquency lies sometimes with the child and sometimes with the parents.

"Every child is born selfish and unless taught otherwise will be the kind of adult who takes care of his own wants and desires first, even at the expense of others.

"Kindness and honesty should be taught to a child early in life. A policewoman can't give a lecture to a 15-year-old delinquent girl and send her home a normal child."

Miss Sweeney explained, "Children desire a certain amount of discipline; it gives them something to look up to and respect.

"A child who has had a great deal of love but no discipline has no respect for anyone. He is frustrated and seeks attention for himself; boys break windows or steal cars, while girls shoplift or run away from home."

Announcement was made of the PTA State Convention to be held in Detroit, enabling more members to attend. Mrs. William J. Thomas is handling arrangements.

Members of the PTA were urged to attend open house and workshops at the Pontiac State Hospital during Mental Health Week. Mrs. James Vincent and Mrs. Thomas are handling reservations.

* * *

The attendance banner was won by Flora Owen's second grade class, and community singing was led by Mrs. Donald Weiss.

The social hour was arranged by Mrs. Robert Klinger and Mrs. Leroy Kock. Assisting were Mrs. Paul Maddox and Mrs. Eugene R. Flynn who presided at the tea table.

But Why Don't YOU Pray To The Saints?

Praying to the Saints, we know, is almost solely a Catholic practice.

Many other people, it seems, regard the practice as silly, futile and even idolatrous. They imagine that all prayers must be addressed directly to God, and that there is no need for such intercessors and mediators as Saints. Some seem to think Catholic veneration of the Saints is in opposition to the doctrine that Christ is the one Mediator between God and man.

If it is hard for others to understand why Catholics pray to the Saints, it is equally hard for Catholics to understand why other Christians do not so pray. It is a custom which has been observed in the Church since the time of the Apostles. Its merits are clearly indicated in both the Old Testament and the New, and Catholics the world over can testify that God does, indeed, listen with special favor to the prayers addressed to Him in our behalf by the Saints.

It sounds illogical to Catholics to recite in the Apostles' Creed, "I believe in . . . the Communion of Saints . . ." and then to scoff at prayer to the Saints. The difficulty, it seems to us, is that there is confusion concerning just what the Saints are. There is certainly confusion concerning the Catholic attitude toward Saints, and Catholic customs with respect to them.

Belief in the Saints depends upon the conviction that we can help one another with our prayers. Catholics have no doubt about this. We read, for example, in Genesis, God's instructions to Abimelech to ask Abraham to pray for him: "He shall pray for thee, and thou shalt live" (Genesis 20: 7,17).

God had mercy on the children of Israel because Moses prayed for them. At another time God said ". . . and my servant Job shall pray for you; for him I will accept" (Job 42:8). The new Testament contains equally convincing testimony. St. Paul asks repeatedly for the prayers of the faithful. In the Epistle of St. James, we find: "And pray one for another, that ye may be healed" (James 5:16).

If God heeds the prayers offered by sinful mortals in behalf of one another, how much more surely will he listen to his friends, the Saints in Heaven, who are in a position to know the needs expressed in our prayers to them? If the individual appeal "of one for another" is heard in Heaven, how much more certainly will God hearken to the swelling chorus of prayer rising up from the "communion of the faithful" in Heaven and on earth? And if the Saints in Heaven are not concerned for us, why should there "be joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth" (Luke 15:10)?

If you want to know more about the Saints and how they can help you, write today for our Free Pamphlet entitled: "But Why Don't YOU Pray To The Saints?" It will be mailed in a plain wrapper. Nobody will call on you. Write today—ask for Pamphlet No. KC-47.

Dean of Faculty Will Be Rabbi S. E. Saperstein

Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein of Temple Beth Jacob will be the Dean of Faculty during the first two weeks of August at the Union of American Hebrew Congregations Session on Lac La Belb, Oconomowoc, Wis.

* * *

This will be the fifth summer season of prayer, study, work and play for boys and girls belonging to the National Association of Reform Temples.

* * *

The theme of the session which Rabbi Saperstein will lead is "The Prophets." It will be directed to students in the eighth, ninth and tenth grades of Temple Religious Schools.

300 Delegates Expected

BATTLE CREEK (UP)—Some 300 delegates are expected Sunday at the 20th annual convention of the Brotherhood of the Michigan Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Armin G. Weng, president of the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary, Maywood, Ill.

Inaugural Recital Scheduled April 29

An inaugural recital on the newly enlarged organ at Christ Church Cranbrook will be performed Sunday, April 29 at 8:30 p. m. by Claire Coci, the official organist of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Society.

* * *

Miss Coci has played with major symphony orchestras, given recitals from coast to coast, and was the first female organist to be invited to play at West Point.

During her recital at Christ Church she has elected to play selections from Mozart, Bach, Franck, and the famous Dutch composer, Monnikendam.

* * *

The organ on which she will perform has been completely renovated, including the installation of a new peddle board, 31 new ranks of pipes and 21 new stops.

Open to the public free of charge, the Coci recital is the first program in Christ Church's spring concert series. Later this month, Dr. Maurice Garabrandt, head of music at the church, begins the annual carillon recitals which continue every Sunday afternoon until June.

Confident Living

Personnel Manager Hires by the Light of Their Eyes

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A successful personnel manager once told me that he hires people by the kind of eyes they have! "I look over the applications they have filled out, giving their past records," he said, "but what it says on the application form is only a minor consideration. I base my final decision on what I see in their eyes. If a man's eyes are sleepy and dull, I don't want him. I want alive-eyed people!"

* * *

I don't know how good a system that is from a practical standpoint, but I must confess, ever since I had that conversation, I take a good hard look at myself each time I get before my shaving mirror. One thing is sure — he was right in that the only people who are good for any job are those who are alive inside and out. And isn't that what we all really want — to be fully alive in every sense of the word?

'MOST UNCOMFORTABLE CHAIRS'

I remember one night about five years ago being on a train going from New York to Pittsburgh. A man came into the dining car and sat down across from me. "These are the most uncomfortable chairs," he groaned. Then he asked, "What are you eating?" I told him.

"Any good?" he demanded. "I never get a good meal in a dining car."

He ordered and I never saw a man consume so much food. "Wasn't that awful?" he asked, after finishing everything in sight. "This is a terrible train, isn't it?"

"I think it's a fine train," I said. "One of the best on the Pennsylvania. I might even call it a gleaming institution of shining steel speeding through the night, with romance in every detail of its construction."

'WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU?'

"Romance!" he snorted. "There's no romance in this life."

"What's the matter with you?" I asked. "A man like you, in good health, shouldn't be thinking so glumly and negatively."

"Well, I'm not happy," he said. "I'm half sick. I'm tired. I'm nervous, I'm discouraged and gloomy. I've got aches and pains and I'm getting old and fat. Can you tell me what to do?"

"Yes, I can," I replied promptly. "In the first place, when you sat down, you should have said: 'Glad to see you. Isn't this a wonderful dinner?' "

"I didn't think so," he muttered. "I'd have been dishonest if I'd said so."

'I CAN'T TALK LIKE THAT!'

"You were dishonest in not saying so," I told him. "You must have thought it was good because you ate every bit of it. After dinner, you should have said: 'This is a fine train and things are wonderful. Tomorrow's going to be a great day for me!' "

He stared at me. "I can't talk like that!"

"You can," I assured him, "if you have faith in the power of God in your life."

We continued our conversation quite a while on that train. I urged him to deliberately practice looking at the hopeful and positive side of life. The next morning, when we arrived in Pittsburgh, the smoky overcast skies threatened rain. I heard the porter say to my companion of the night before, "Did you have a good night, sir?"

"Not too good," he said. Then he saw me and grinned. His attitude changed and he said "Oh, hello, Doctor, isn't this a beautiful morning?" He was learning already.

* * *

That's the way to come alive. Think positive, vigorous, dynamic thoughts. Affirm goodness, happiness and health and you will develop them. Assume that as long as you live Almighty God will continue to pour into you His own re-creation of life, vigor, vitality, force and energy. When you live this way, you'll have what everybody really wants — life.

GEN ELMER B. SACHS

General Elmer B. Sachs, founding director of Sky Pilots of America, will speak at several services in Pontiac area churches Sunday, Monday and Wednesday.

A former police detective of Evanston, Ill., Gen. Sachs believes that a strong Christian character built into our youth is the greatest defense against Communism as well as the only sure method of breaking down juvenile delinquency.

Sky Pilots is an international Boys' Organization for churches. Gen. Sachs has traveled all over United States, Canada, Alaska, Hahaii and other countries presenting Sky Pilots.

At the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, he will speak at Donelson Baptist Church, 2227 Elizabeth Lake Rd.; Sunday evening at 6:15, he will be guest speaker at Christian Temple, 505 Auburn Ave. and at 7:30 in Elmwood Methodist Church, Auburn Heights. The Christian Men's Club will hear him at their noon luncheon, Monday, at the Waldron Hotel.

At 8 p.m. Monday, Gen. Sachs will speak at Avon Park Pavilion, Rochester and on Wednesday evening, he will be at the General Baptist Church, 249 Baldwin Ave. at 7 p.m.

Senior Students to Start Study Sunday Morning

The Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, pastor, announces a special series of study for Senior High School students starting Sunday at 9:45 a.m.

The text book selected for the course is "Christian Youth and the Homes of Tommorrow," by Dr. Edfin Dahlberg. It deals with family relations.

Some of the subjects are as follow, "Do You Choose Love or Does Love Do the Choosing?" "What Do You Expect in a Life-Long Partner?" "The Wage Earning Wife," "Selecting a Vocation," "What Does the Rapid Increase in Broken Marriages Indicate?" "Sex, Health and Happiness" and "Scarificing Permanent Values of Immediate Pleasures."

The course will be led by Andrew Pepper and will be held in the balcony of Fellowship Hall.

Hollywood Headlines:

Kay Thompson Finds Out That It Pays to Quit Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Kay Thompson is an object lesson for the proposition that it sometimes pays to quit your job.

* * *

Ten years ago she walked out of her job of teaching MGM stars how to sing. Soon afterward she became the queen if the night club circuit.

MORE CONQUESTS

Today she is branching out in two more directions — as a best-selling author and a movie actress.

Kay is chic, lanky and possessed of an acute sense of rhythm and a loud, clear voice. Her singing brought her early success as a vocalist with Fred Waring and others. She landed at MGM as vocal coach in the great musical film era of the '40s.

"It was an easy life," she recalled wistfully. "Supposing June Allyson had a date at 2 to go over a song for 'Two Girls and a Sailor,' which was my first picture there. She'd come in at 4 and then spend most of the time before the mirror fixing her hair. But she'd have the song ready by the time it was needed."

* * *

"It was the same with Gloria DeHaven. She'd fix her hair in front of the mirror, but eventually the song would get done."

JUDY AND LENA

Miss Thompson also worked with Judy Garland and Lena Horne, but she denied reports that she taught them their stuff. "They were too accomplished to be taught," she said modestly. "All I did was go over the songs once with them."

* * *

After "Good News," she decided to leave the studio. She explained:

"I was getting a divorce and I wanted to get away and have a whole new start on everything. Besides, I think they were going to fire me anyway."

* * *

Instead of getting away from it all, she teamed with the Four Williams Brothers in a night club act that was the peak of sophistication. For a decade she prospered in what she calls "the saloon business."

BEFORE CAMERA

Lately her career has taken two new turns. After all these years, she is finally appearing in front of the camera. She is playing a terribly chic fashion magazine editor in "Funny Face" with Fred Astaire and Audrey Hepburn.

* * *

The least likely turn in her life is her emergence as a book writer. During her days with the Williams Brothers, she used to exchange banter with them in a small-girl voice. The voice eventually became a mischievous imp named Eloise. Miss Thompson, who had long appeared at New York's Hotel Plaza, decided to try a literary work injecting Eloise into that staid hostelry.

* * *

She collaborated with artist Hilary Knight on a book called "Eloise," and it is now prominent in the best seller lists. Miss Thompson is also getting good mileage on her record about Eloise.

College Exams Slated by Selective Service

WASHINGTON (UP) — Selective Service today announced a special college qualification test will be held May 17. It will be for college students who were unable to take this year's regular tests for reasons beyond their control.

The regular tests were held yesterday and last Nov. 17.

Applications for the special test must be postmarked not later than midnight May 7. Application cards may be obtained from local draft boards.

Playwright MacArthur Remains Seriously Ill

NEW YORK (INS)—Playwright Charles MacArthur, 61, husband of actress Helen Hayes remains in serious condition in New York Hospital where hs is undergoing treatment for nephritis, a kidney ailment.

The Pulitzer and Oscar-winning playwright was stricken on Wednesday. His illness caused Miss Hayes to cancel a May 6 TV appearance in "The Cradle Song."

Hagler Freed in Murder Trial

Oklahoma Jury Debates 5 Hours Before Giving Acquittal Verdict

SULPHUR, Okla. (AP)—Fred Hagler Jr., 38, an admitted Fort Worth, Tex., playboy, was acquitted last night by a District Court jury of a murder charge involving the death of an unknown man.

The body of a man which has never been identified was found in a smouldering station wagon on a lonely mountain road near Davis more than 18 months ago.

5-HOUR DEBATE

The jury of 11 men and 1 woman deliberated just over five hours before reaching the verdict, freeing Hagler, a former $23,000-a-year asphalt salesman.

After the verdict, jurors said that one point caused the acquittal decision. That was whether the man was dead or alive at the time the vehicle was burned.

* * *

During the five-day trial, the state built its case on circumstantial evidence, asking life imprisonment for what it contended was a $300,000 life insurance plot. The state claimed Hagler substituted a man for himself and burned his former wife's station wagon Oct. 10, 1954.

THREE BALLOTS

P. A. Barton, a member of the jury told a newsman that three ballots were taken in reaching the verdict. The first was 7-5 for acquittal and the second 10-2 for freeing Hagler. It was at this point, Barton said, that the jury asked Dist. Judge W. J. Monroe if it could listen to a recording of the testimony of a key state witness.

* * *

The witness was Dr. Alfred Shideler, pathologist at the University of Oklahoma Medical School, who made the autopsy report.

Shideler said the victim was alive at the time of the fire, in his opinion. But, under cross examination he admitted there was a possibility for doubt.

* * *

The state presented 43 witnesses and 64 exhibits. It attempted to prove that Hagler took out large insurance policies, then after the station wagon burned, changed his identity to Dale W. Waggoner.

Anne Baxter Fights for Hodiak's Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Anne Baxter has informed Superior Court that she will claim all the $25,000 estate of her former husband, John Hodiak, for their daughter, Katrina, 4.

* * *

The actor died last Oct. 19, leaving no will, so his property ordinarily would go to his daughter. But his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hodiak, sued for title to their present home, claiming that in 1944 their son induced them to leave their home in Detroit, promising they would have a home here the rest of their lives.

* * *

The property was purchased for $14,500, the parents contend, and they say they have spent $10,000 of their own money in improvements. Their suit was brought against their own daughter, Mrs. Anne Silva, administrator of the actor's estate.

Dutch Jungle Gal, Ex-Child Bride Legally Married

BERGEN - OP - ZOOM, Netherlands (AP) — Bertha Bertogh, 19, "jungle girl" who was the child bride six years ago of a Malay teacher, was married this week to a Dutch cabinet maker, it was learned today.

* * *

The bridegroom is Johan Gerard Wolkenfelt, 21. Their engagement was announced last December. No publicity was given to the civil ceremony which will be followed later by a religious wedding. She is a Roman Catholic.

Annulment of Bertha's Moslem marriage four years ago to Mansoor Adabi touched off a wave of riots in Singapore.

* * *

Japanese invaders captured Bertha's parents 13 years ago in the Netherland East Indies. But her Malay nurse smuggled Bertha into the jungle and raised her. The Hertoghs, freed in 1945, found Bertha in 1949 living near Singapore with her Malay husband. A British court annulled the marriage and Moslems rioted in the crown colony.

* * *

Adabi, now working for a law firm in Singapore, sent best wishes to the couple when their engagement was announced. He married a Malay girl in February, 1954.

Ah, Yes! Charity

SALEM, Mass. (UP) — Henry C. MacNeil, 23, has learned it cost him $36.70 in hospital bills to be a hero. He swam 500 yards through cold, choppy waters last week andrescued Fred Page, 12, who was drifting out to sea in a rowboat. Thoroughly chilled, he was held overnight at Salem hospital for observation. MacNeil, a student, says he doesn't have the $36.70 and doesn't know where he can get it. He does odd jobs to support his wife and small child.

Princeton Stays Mum on Alger Hiss Visit

PRINCETON, N. J. — Princeton University's board of trustees has voted to keep hands off a controversial invitation by a student group to Alger Hiss for a speech on the campus.

At the same time, the board expxressed unanimous disapproval of the invitation by the American Whig-Cliosophic Society, a campus debating group, to the convicted perjurer to speak April 26.

The action was taken at yesterday's regular meeting of the board with Gov. Robert B. Meyner and Princeton President Harold W. Dodds attending as nonvoting ex-officio members.

The invitation to Hiss, a former State Department official who served a prison term for perjury after denying he passed secret papers to Whittaker Chambers, an admitted courier of a Soviet spy ring, has brought praise and fire by various groups and members of Congress.

PHS Thinclads Set for Mansfield Relays Today

By H. GUY MOATS
Special Writer, Pontiac Press

MANSFIELD, Ohio — This Central Ohio industrial city today is the mecca for the outstanding schoolboy athletes of the Buckeye State, Southern Michigan and Western Pennsylvania.

More than 1,000 are gathered here for the Silver Anniversary of the Mansfield Prep Relays.

According to the founder and director of the meet, Harry Mehock, Michigan is well represented with 13 teams, including Pontiac High School, 1955 champions of Michigan.

Among the other well represented squads from Michigan are Ann Arbor University High, Detroit Catholic Central, Flint Northern, Birmingham, Berkley, Adrian, Detroit St. Joseph, Flint Atherton, Inkster, Monroe, Milan and A. E. Smith of Wyandotte.

* * *

In the only event staged Friday afternoon, Flint Northern's four-mile relay team finished 13th in a field of 16. The event was won by Mt. Lebanon High School. The Pennsylvania quartet won in a time of 18:57 which is a new meet record. Flint's team posted a time of 20:20.

Coach Wally Schoerke and the PHS squad arrived late Friday afternoon and limbered up lightly at the relay field before going to various Mansfield homes to spend the night.

The squad was in good physical condition ready to make a bid for national, or at least midwestern recognition.

Preliminaries started this morning with the finals slated for late this afternoon.

OCSC Slates First Skeet Shoot Sunday

The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club will hold its first registered skeet shoot of the season Sunday. A 100-target all-gauge event is scheduled over four fields, starting at 10 a. m.

Bud Rose, skeet chairman, and Bob Thieffels will be in charge of the event, with merchandise, trophies and chevrons going to the champion, runner-up, and class winners. There will also be events for two and five-man teams.

Entries close at 4 o'clock.

NBA Recommends

Boxing Age Limit Is Urged

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—A point scoring system and a maximum age limit for professional fighters has been recommended for all states by a National Boxing Assn. committee drafting a national code to govern the sport.

A two-day meeting of athletic commissioners from six states ended yesterday with two panels deciding on scores of major provisions that should be included in a uniform law.

The committee's decisions were handed to four deputies of the Pennsylvania attorney general, who will compile a rough draft of the proposed code.

Commissioner Alfred M. Kline of the Pennsylvania commission said the draft probably would be submitted next month to the executive committee of the NBA before consideration by the annual NBA convention.

Henry Lamar, of the Massachusetts Athletic Commission, said the panel on general and safety provisions which he headed, suggested minimum and maximum age limits of 18 and 35 for professional fighters.

"The one exception on the maximum would be those who are currently active even though over 35. But if they are inactive for one year, then the limit would apply."

The second panel on licensing and enforcement, headed by Julius Greenstein, Portland, Me. of the Maine commission, recommended the code include the "10 point must" scoring system.

Fullmer Given Unanimous Nod

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gene Fullmer's slambang victory over Ralph (Tiger) Jones here last night sent his stock as a middleweight jumping upward. And even before he was in street clothes, Fullmer was making plans to boost it again next month against Charlie Humez in New York.

The jut-browed West Jordan, Utah, copper miner, outslugged Jones for a unanimous decision in a bruising and cleanly fought 10-rounder before 2,574 fans. He weighed 160 to Jones' 157½.

Although they mixed it up in furious exchanges all of the way, there were no knockdowns.

Referee Lou Parker gave Fullmer a 97-94 edge, and the two judges rated it 96-95 and 97-89, while the AP card put Fullmer ahead 96-95.

Orion, Bloomfield Hills Drop Diamond Encounters

Lake Orion's baseball team took it on the chin for the 2nd time in as many days Friday afternoon as visiting Romeo delivered a 14-3 knockout punch. Madison posted a 7-0 decision over the Dragons Thursday.

The Bulldogs collected only eight hits off three Orion pitchers, but 12 errors handed the winners all the assistance they needed. Romeo scored one run in the 4th, three each in the 6th and 7th innings, and seven in the 7th.

Williams worked on the mound for Romeo and scattered seven hits while striking out nine. He yielded a single run in the 4th and two in the 7th.

Bloomfield Hills, playing its 1st Southeastern Suburban Conference game, bowed to invading Huron Valley, 12-4.

Bloomfield's Harlan Davis collected a triple and double in three tries and Harvey Pranian doubled and drew three walks for a perfect day at the plate.

Madison continued its winning ways with a 5-1 victory over Royal Oak behind the three-hit hurling of Jack Tompkins. Tompkins aided his cause at the plate with a bases-loaded triple in the 6th inning.

Milford Thinclads Win Howell Meet

Milford outdistanced five other high schools Friday night to win the 3rd annual Howell Invitational track and field meet.

Russ Gabier's Redskins won four 1st places and scored in every event to compile a total of 62 and 11/14 points. Fenton, the defending champion, took the runner-up spot with 47 and 1/7 points.

Farmington scored 25 and 11/14, Grand Blanc 23, Howell 22½, and West Bloomfield 13 and 11/14.

Skipper Golfers Defeat Pontiac

Paced by the steady shooting of Jack Reynolds, Waterford High's golf team nosed out Pontiac, 8-7, in a dual meet Friday afternoon at Pontiac's Municipal Golf Course. Course.

Reynolds fired a 77, fashioned on rounds of 37 and 40, to take medalist honors in addition to scoring a 3-0 shutout over his PHS opponent, Tom Cross. Cross shot an 86.

Waterford's John Wettlaufer fired 83 to blank Sam Coleman who had 85; Dale Wheeler shot 79 to score a 2-1 decision over Pontiac's Dick Whitmer who posted 84; Dick Singleton of PHS shot 81 to shut out Clelend Charboneau who had 90; and Bob Clapp's 97 was good for a 3-0 win over Waterford's Tom Furtney with 99.

Tigers Still Only Team Without Win

Detroit Falls on 5 Hits to Cleveland, 3-1

Lone Run for Bengals Scored in 1st Frame on Sacrifice Fly

CLEVELAND (UP) — The Detroit Tigers will be the last Major League baseball team to win a game this season. Determined rooters only hope it might be another case of having the last laugh.

* * *

When the toothless Bengals dropped their 3-1 decision to the Indians here in Cleveland yesterday, they picked up the dubious honor of being the only one of the 16 major league clubs without a triumph.

And unless the Detroiters can come up with some way to score some runs it may be quite a spell before they do win a game.

Going into today's game with the Indians the Tigers have a total of three runs in three games. They've collected 18 hits. Two of the 18 were home runs which means that the other 16 hits produced only a single run.

To the credit of the mound staff, the Detroit pitching has been good. Only nine runs have been scored against the Tigers in three games — an average of three a game. The lowest earned run average in the league last season was 3.23 by New York.

Ned Garver hasn't won a game in Cleveland since 1949, and he lost again yesterday. He gave up only six hits, including a home run by Gene Woodling.

* * *

The homer came in the first and tied the score. In the 5th with two out Bobby Avila beat out an infield single and Woodling drew a walk. Hal Smith singled home Avila.

The Indians added a run in the 6th on a double by Chico Carrasquel and a single by Jim Hegan.

The Tigers got only five hits off Early Wynn—a pair of singles by Earl Torgeson and Frank House and one by Bill Tuttle.

Manager Bucky Harris shook up his batting order and had Tuttle leading off with Harvey Kuenn in the cleanup spot. The combination led to the run in the first inning as Tuttle singled and eventually scored on Kuenn's sacrifice fly. But from then on nothing helped.

Favor Head Man

Jamaica Race Televised

NEW YORK (AP)—Jean Baptiste must prove in the Wood Memorial today whether or not he rates a train ride to Louisville so Pinehurst, N.C. will have something to cheer about in the Kentucky Derby two weeks from today.

* * *

The 3-year-old colt owned by Mrs. Lloyd P. Tate of Pinehurst, and trained by her husband, doesn't have to defeat Head Man, the heavy Wood favorite. Just make a good showing in the big $50,000-added Jamaica test for 3-year-olds.

* * *

Head Man with Eddie Arcaro in the saddle, is tabbed at 4-5 odds-on to capture the 32nd running of the Wood, which will be televised (CBS) from 4:30-5 p.m., EST today.

Rawls in Lead of Dallas Meet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., held a one-stroke lead going into today's round of the $7,500 Dallas Women's Open golf tournament.

* * *

Miss Rawls shot a 2-over-par 73 in yesterday's second round for a total of 145. Tied at second were Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N. C. and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, both with 146's.

* * *

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., first round leader, soared to an 80 and dropped way down the list with 150.

Miss Rawls was erratic, taking a double bogey seven on the eighth hole where she three-putted after hitting into a trap. She missed the ninth green for a bogey and had birdies on five and six with seven-foot putts.

* * *

Miss Faulk went six over par with a 42 on the front nine and couldn't make it up.

Titans Play Spring Grid Contest Today

DETROIT — University of Detroit closes spring football drills this afternoon with the annual game against the alumni squad.

The Titans, co-champions of the Missouri Valley Conference last season, have only four starters back, but coach Wally Fromhart will be counting heavily on a pair of ex-Marines and a good crop of newcomers to lead the varsity.

Steve Piskach, a highly touted quarterback and fullback Bill Dando are former Quantico Marine stars.

Game time is 2:30 p.m. with no admission.

Bosox Beaten 7-1, White Sox Hold AL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a new season all right, but the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff is still staggering around with a homer hangover.

The Red Birds were clipped for 185 home runs last season and that was good for an all-time major league record. Now it looks like the mark may not last the year.

In three games, St. Louis pitching has been pickled for eight homers including the only grand-slam so far in either league this season (by Cincinnati's Ray Jablonski, the ex-Card). Three of them came last night to overhaul an early St. Louis lead and get Milwaukee started on a 5-4 decision that left the Braves unbeaten atop the National League.

Eddie Mathews smacked a pair, his first of the season, and Wes Covington poked the other, with a man on base, in a pinch-role as Milwaukee went 3-0 for the season. Right behind are Brooklyn, Roger Craig's nifty four-hitter and and Philadelphia, which edged the New York Giants 2-1 on a bases-loaded single by Del Ennis in the 10th.

The Chicago Cubs whacked Cincinnati 12-1 in the other game behind a four-hitter by Sam Jones, who fanned nine.

In the American, Mickey Mantle drove in four runs as the New York Yankees walloped Boston's Red Sox 7-1; the Chicago White Sox remained unbeaten and in first pace by beating Kansas City 6-3 as Ron Northey triggered a three-run ninth with a pinch, two-run homer; Cleveland won its first, beating Detroit 3-1 behind Early Wynn's five-hitter; and Baltimore gained its first decision with Gus Triandos' two-run homer that beat Washington 3-2.

* * *

Milwaukee's homers came off starter Tom Poholsky, the big righthander who gave up 26 gopher balls last season. Reliefer Stu Miller was the loser, however, on Bobby Thomson's sacrifice fly that scored Mathews, who had singled, with the unearned winming marker in the eighth.

The Phils loaded the bases without a hit off reliefers Hoyt Wilhelm and Steve Ridzik before Ennis belted his single, a near-miss homer. Jim Greengrass homered to give the Phils an early lead until George Wilson's pinch single tied it in the seventh. Jack Meyer won in relief of Herm Wehmeier, who went nine and retired the first 11 men he faced.

Mantle's third 1956 homer, a three-run job, iced it for the Yanks in handing the Red Sox their first defeat. He aggravated a thigh muscle beating out a RBI bunt, however, and will be out a few days. Whitey Ford spun a five-hitter while New York rolled up a 4-0 lead to chase Willard Nixon, the only pitcher to beat the Yanks four times last season.

Northey's big blow came off reliefer Tom Gorman at Kansas City after Gus Zernial had squared the score at 3-all in the eighth for the A's. Dick Donovan started and hit a two-run homer for the Sox, but Dixie Howell picked up the decision in relief.

Marilynn Smith Selected Pro Aide at Forest Lake

Marilynn Smith, one of the nation's outstanding women golf professionals, has been named associate pro at Forest Lake Country Club.

MARILYNN SMITH

A native of Topeka, Kansas, Miss Smith will be a teaching pro under Bob Gajda, and she will also represent Forest Lake for the balance of the 1956 season during the LPGA tour.

She will thereby be the host pro for the LPGA championship at Forest Lake June 21-24.

* * *

At 25, Miss Smith is already a veteran of seven years in the pro ranks. She turned pro shortly after winning the 1949 Women's National Collegiate title while representing the University of Kansas.

During the winter circuit of the LPGA this year, Miss Smith finished her best rounds as runnerup in the St. Petersburg Open in February.

She is also serving as co-chairman of the LPGA tournament committee.

Three Tied at Hot Springs

Wininger Fires 64 to Share Lead in 3rd Round of Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Bo Wininger made the hard ones look easy—and vice versa—in the second round of the $15,000 Hot Springs Open golf tournament.

* * *

The stocky Oklahoma City pro yesterday dropped in a long putt from just off the green for an eagle three en route to a record-tying 30 on the front nine, an 18-hole total of 64 and a share of the lead.

He started today's third round over the par 36-36—72 layout even with Pete Fleming, a home pro and the most consistent of the leaders, and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., at 133.

Favorite Cary Middlecoff had a tougher time finding the cup and posted 35-35—70 to go with his first round 65 for 135 and fourth spot.

Buster Cupit of Ruston, La., who, like Fleming, is semi-retired from tournament golf, was tied with George Bayer, the long-distance knocker from Cincinnati at 136. Cupit had 67-69 for the two rounds and Bayer posted a pair

Maxwell, the first day leader, missed several short ones that would have kept him in front. Four putts stopped just short of the hole on the last four greens.

Entries Being Accepted for Girls Tourney

Entries are being accepted for the annual Michigan State Girls' Open Tennis Championships which will be held on the Kingswood courts at Cranbrook, May 17-27.

The tournament, sanctioned by the Western Lawn Tennis Association has two divisions, singles for girls who have not reached their 18th birthday before January 1, 1956 and singles for girls who have not reached 15 before January 1st.

Entries for older girls must be in by May 12th, and for younger girls by May 19th.

Meet the Pro

WALLY BURKEMO

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The last of our series in presenting the leading pros in the Oakland County area is Wally Burkemo who needs no introduction to golf fans of Michigan.

WALLY BURKEMO

Starting his 8th season at Franklin Hills Country Club, Burkemo just finished his most extensive winter circuit in which he hauled in nearly $7,200 by placing in the money in 11 of 12 tournaments.

* * *

Despite his winning the Seminole tourney against such "old pros" as Snead and Hogan, and also considering his fine play at Baton Rouge, Miami Beach and San Antonio, Wally still holds in his mind his victory in the PGA at Birmingham Country Club in 1953.

"It was a great thrill winning in the hometown area," he said.

* * *

Wally started playing competitive golf at 14 and stayed an amateur until 1945 when after his discharge from the service he turned to the pro ranks.

After a year as Edgewood pro and eight seasons under the old master Al Watrous at Oakland Hills, Wally took the post at Franklin Hills and has been there since.

His assistant at Franklin Hills is Joe Watrous, one of Al's three golfing sons.

Your Neighbor's House

Young Couple Use Clearing in Woods to Build House With Pre-Fab Frame

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Early settlers often chose a site for their home near a running stream. They chopped down trees, then used the logs to make the house. When they were through, their homes fitted into the landscape, blending well with the forest.

The Joseph Mulhollands are not early settlers in the strict sense of the word. They do, however, have a home deep in a wooded area. They have fitted their house into the landscape, although the materials are brick and flagstone and siding.

Cragin road is a new area just beginning to have a number of homes on it. It starts at Inkster road, winds up and down hill and ends at the Mulholland property. Said property consists of a shade over two acres.

The Mulhollands are a young couple with three daughters. There's Sherry who will start school next fall. There are the twins, Jan and Joan, who are two-year-old imps (that's their mother's opinion).

The L-shaped house is built in a clearing, high above a swift stream. You pass the bedroom wing as you go up the hill to the front door.

The length of this wing, says Mr. Mulholland, was determined by the location of one shagbark hickory tree that he refused to chop down.

"Yes," agreed his wife, "everytime I suggested something about the size of the house, he vetoed me. He wouldn't cut down any trees." Only one had to be sacrificed to the building.

If you enter the door at the left of the front terrace you are in the utility room. There is also a small pink and gray lavatory conveniently located here.

The interior walls in this room are the same as part of the exterior walls—texture 1-11 siding. Eventually the appliances will be hidden by folding bamboo doors, and this room will look like merely a passageway to the bedrooms.

If you enter the door to the right, at the end of the window wall, you are in a flagstone passageway. Half a story up, and directly in front of you, is the kitchen-dining area. To the right, on your level, is the living room.

Breathless is the best way to describe the view from the living room windows. Two of the four walls are glass and, as yet, are curtainless. Since there is no one for miles around to look in, that is no drawback.

Far below the house is Bonnie Brook, the aforementioned stream. This year, with all the rain and snow, it is particularly rapid.

Across the valley is undisturbed woodland, with many varieties of trees and wild plants. There will be dogwood soon. In past springs the Mulhollands found hundreds of wild flowers.

They picnicked on their lot for two years before building, so already know the charm of the four seasons. There's a picnic table in the side yard.

The 20x17 foot living room has a red brick fireplace with a raised slate hearth. Next to the fireplace there is a coat closet with a planter box on top. This can be watered easily from the dining room level.

The floor is oak parquet, one wall African mahogany. The rug is hemp, a material that can take the beating it gets from the younger generation.

All the ceilings are white insulating board with exposed beams stained to match the redwood house frame.

The furniture is birch, in a style that fits in well with the house itself. Two small sofas are upholstered in gold. The arm chair has a tangerine covering.

Back in the front passageway and up six steps to the kitchen . . . This is a U-shaped work area, separated from the dining room by a breakfast bar and overhead cupboards.

All the storage units are mahogany with steel knobs. The double sink is stainless steel. Counter tops and splash boards are turquoise plastic. There's a double spot light above the sink and a bamboo shade to control the sunlight.

The floor in this entire area is gray spatter-print asphalt tile. One wall in the dinette is mahogany, the other red brick like the fireplace it backs.

The small birch table has two natural birch chairs and two enameled black. There are five stools in front of the breakfast bar. The china cabinet is also a combination of natural birch and black.

So far, no one has fallen OFF the dining room floor. There is to be a railing around this room at a future date.

Six steps down from the main level, and you're in the recreation room. It's still in the building stages. The furnace is screened off from the main room.

There's an indoor barbecue in this room and a window wall that gives another magnificent view of the ravine. An outside door leads to a narrow patio at the side of the house.

In the bedroom wing there are two separate rooms and one pair of connecting rooms. All the doors have unusual brass latches on them. As yet, the twins can't open them.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulholland have a bedroom with a view in this house of views. There are long windows on the ravine side of the house. These, Mrs. Mulholland has curtained in brown and white. The smaller windows above the bed have white curtains.

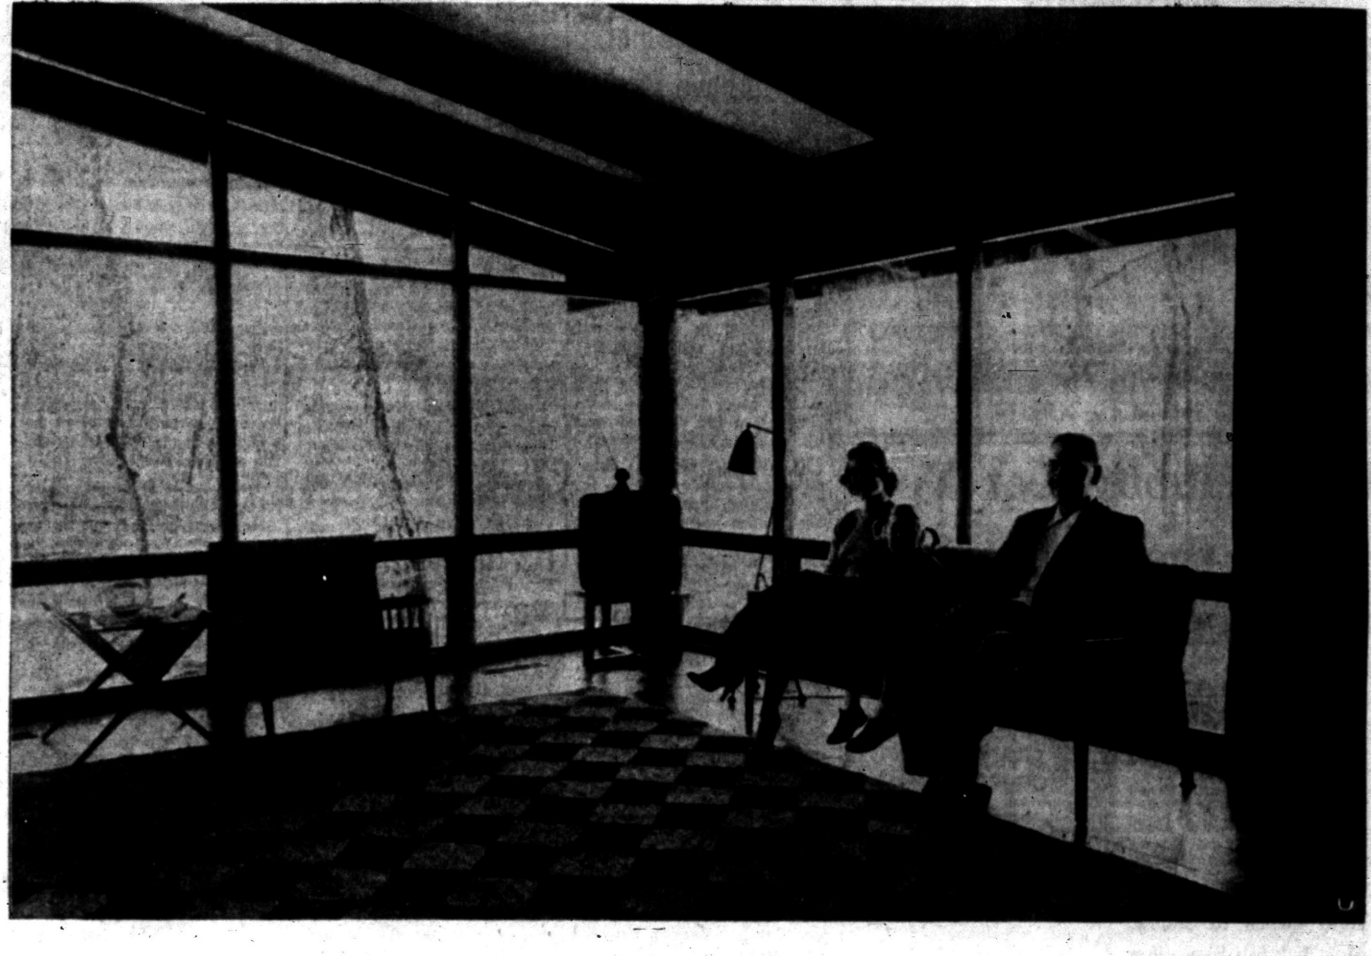
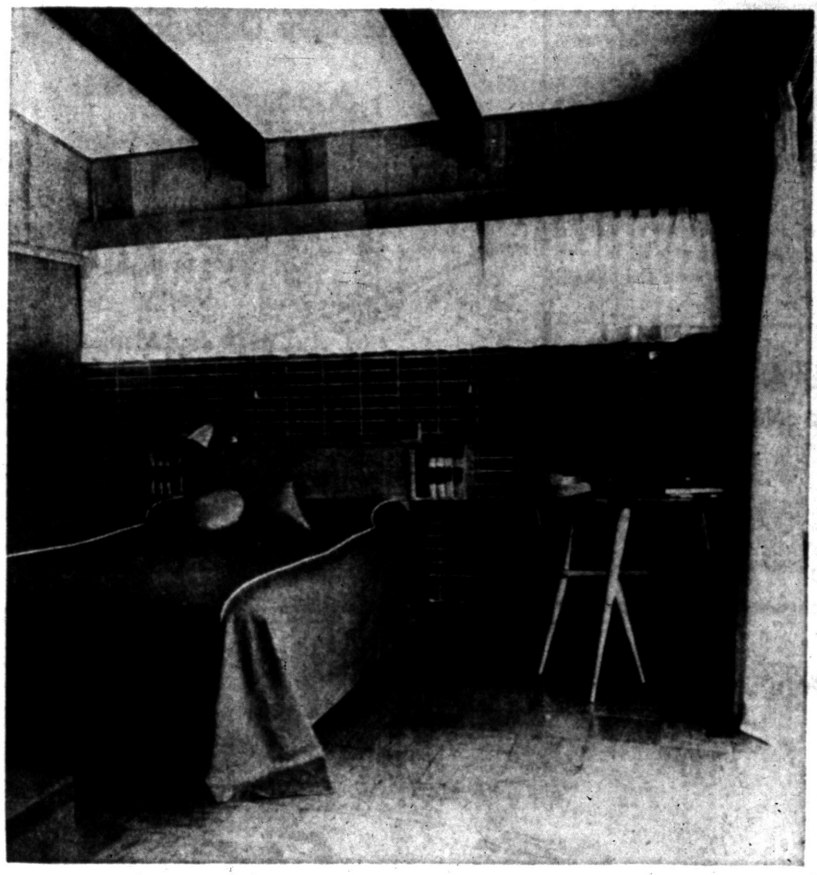
REDWOOD FRAME HOUSE — The framing for the Joseph Mulholland house on Cragin road is a pre-fabricated basic building unit. The living wing of the house has large areas of glass, while the bedroom wing has only small, high windows. The exterior is red brick and texture 1-11 siding. That isn't snow in the foreground. The picture was taken at noon on a sunny day. The Mulhollands were able to fit their new house into the level spot among the trees, with the loss of only one tree.



GLASS LIVING ROOM — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mulholland and their eldest daughter, Sherry, sit for their picture in the living room of their new home. The windows at the left overlook a deep ravine and a wooded hillside across the brook. On the right the ground is level with the house. White insulating board and dark, stained beams make up the ceilings in all the rooms. Like many modern couples, the Mulhollands have used a hemp rug in their living room. It goes well on the oak parquet floor.



GREEN AND BROWN BEDROOM — Mr. and Mrs. Mulholland's bedroom has one wall finished in an unusual manner. The wall behind the bed is green glazed brick. Above the brick there is a trio of small windows. The bedspread is brown with white piping. The window at the right frames an ever-changing view of tree-studded hillside.

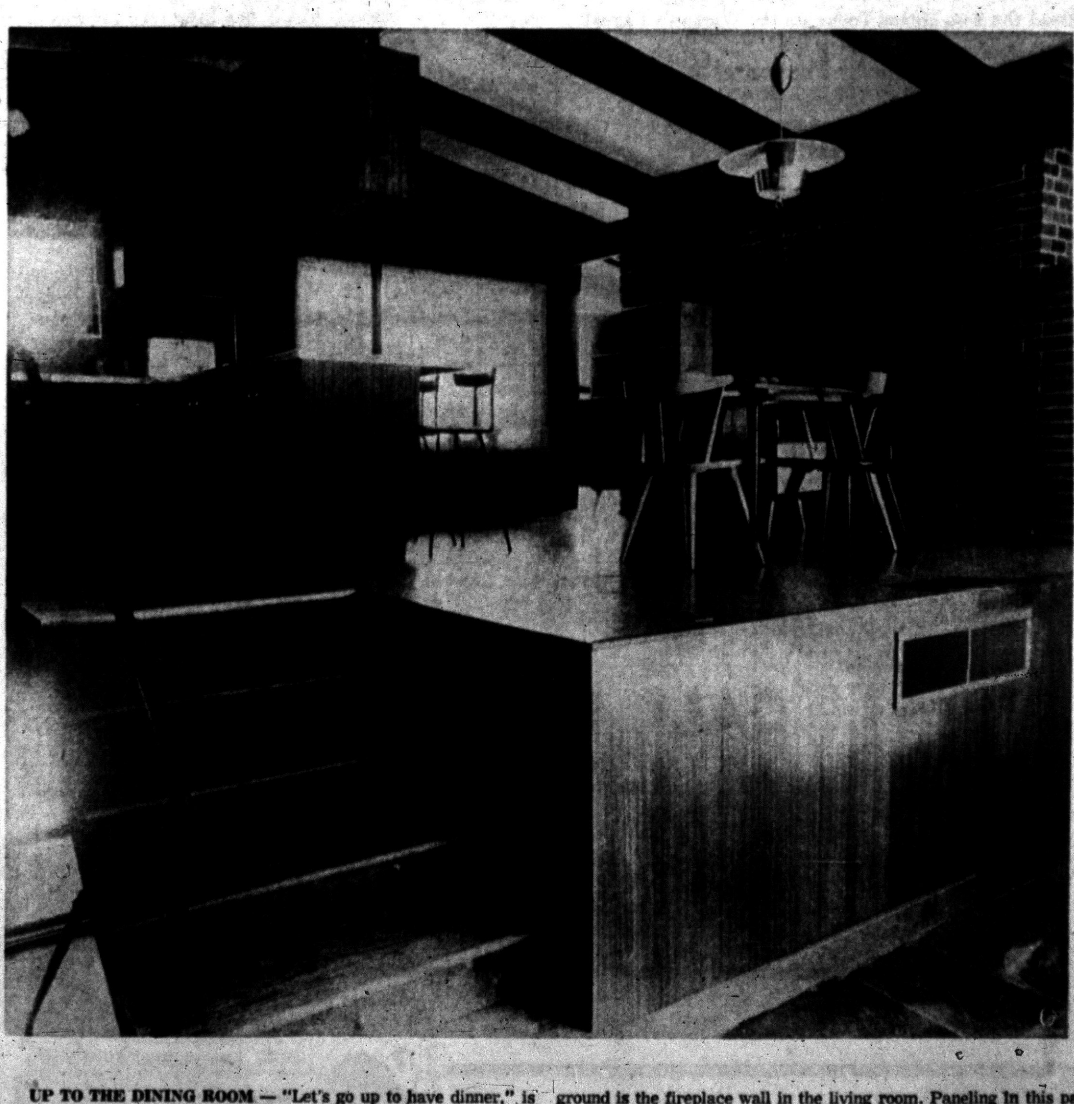
TWINS AT PLAY — Jan (left) and Joan Mulholland have a tea party for the Press photographer. We know Jan is at the left because her mother said so! This room is the twins' playroom. An adjoining room on the opposite side of the house is their bedroom. The brick wall beneath the windows has been painted white. Other walls are paneled in birch.



UP TO THE DINING ROOM — "Let's go up to have dinner," is what the Mulhollands say to their guests. The top level of their new home contains the kitchen and dinette. The brick wall in the background is the fireplace wall in the living room. Paneling in this part of the house is all mahogany. The hanging lamp over the dining room table is brass.

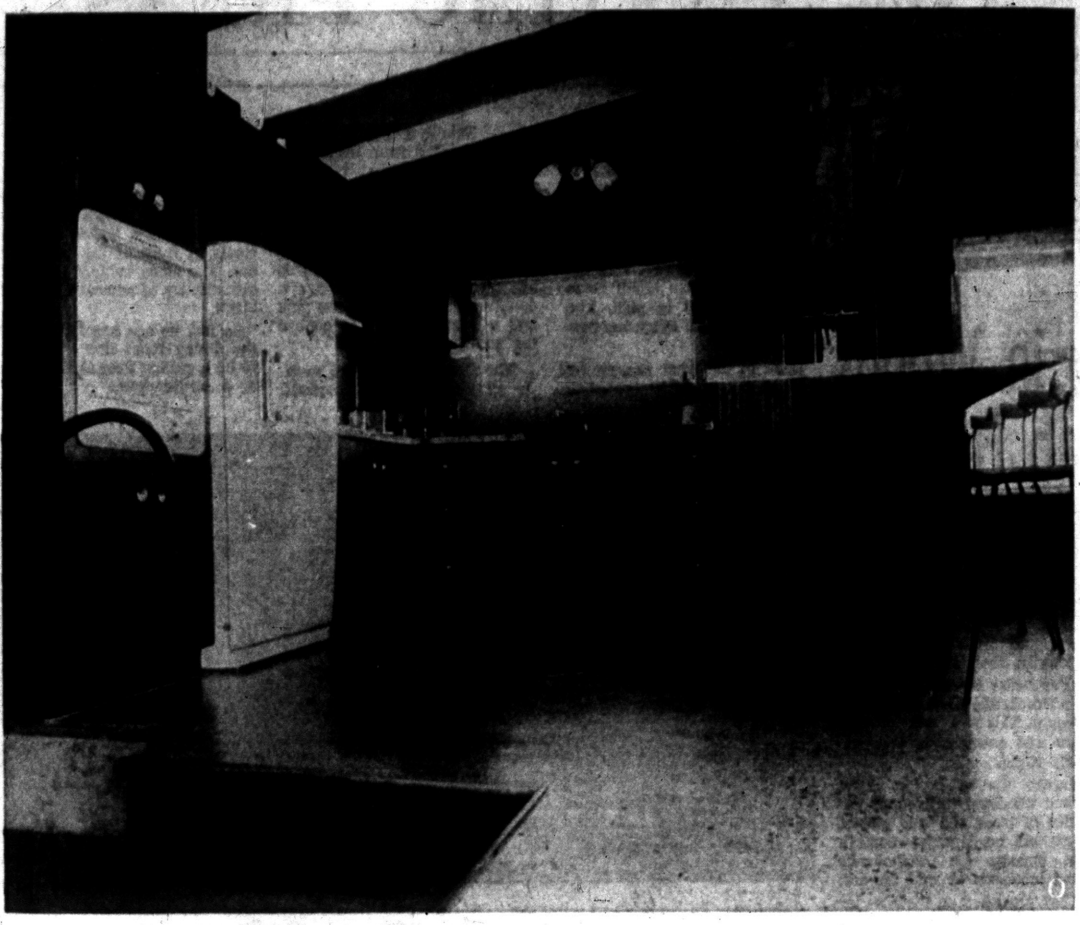
A Special Feature of

The PONTIAC PRESS



COMPACT KITCHEN — The asphalt tile floor is a gray spatter print. All cupboards are mahogany with steel handles. There is lots of work space in this small unit. The breakfast bar and all work surfaces are covered in turquoise plastic. Over the stove there is a stainless steel hood. Matchstick bamboo shades are used on all the windows in these two rooms.

Behind the bed the wall is green glazed brick. The closet walls have been painted to match. Birch paneling is used on the rest of the room. All bedroom floors are oak parquet like the living room.

To contrast with the birch furniture there is a brown bedspread piped in white. Coral throw pillows add an accent color.

Their bath has tan and gold coin dot paper with aqua background. The tile is brown and tan. There is a stall shower.

Sherry is four and likes pretty things. Her bedroom is done in pink, coral and beige. Her mother combined these colors in strips of glazed chintz for her curtains.

All the doors are coral. One wall is white brick, the others paneled birch. There is fluorescent lighting over the windows.

Jan and Joan share two adjoining rooms. They sleep in one, play in the other. Mrs. Mulholland says this arrangement will allow them to have separate or combined rooms in the future.

Both of these rooms are the same, with gray doors, white brick walls under the high windows, and birch walls. Pink, red and white harlequin pattern curtains brighten the windows.

The Mulholland family has two pets. One is a German shepherd pup named Caesar. He was a house warming present whose antics are good for a laugh any time. The second pet is Mr. Mulholland's Jaguar car.

Last Memorial Day Joe Mulholland started building his house. With the help of two workmen he put in long hours every weekend. Most of the work he did himself, except for plumbing, masonry work and wiring. As a heating expert, he could install his own furnace.

He planned the house on paper, just the way the family wanted it. Then he took his plans to Robert Steensen of Detroit who drew up the final working plans.

An unusual feature of the Mulholland house is the use of prefabricated redwood frames. These frames come in twelve-foot sections which may be combined in units of any length, shape, size or division. All Mr. Mulholland had to do was show the manufacturer his layout, and the frames were delivered.

These redwood frames are windproof and are sealed with a penetrating wood preservative. The interior surfaces are already sanded. They are constructed in a local factory.

This modern young couple have done what their pioneer grandparents did—built a home for their children. They've worked hard in the process, but they've had fun.

Sherry, Jan and Joan will grow up in a house designed just for them and the kind of family life they lead. Lucky little girls!

Choose the Timeless Style for Furniture

NEW YORK — You don't have to call in the second-hand man to remove all your furniture if you want to change the appearance of your home. You can effect major changes by keeping your furniture and merely revising your color schemes and accessories.

* * *

Like the fashion field, where the "basic dress" becomes formal or informal with the type of accessories worn, homes, too, can develop a whole new personality with a comparatively simple change of colors and such accessories as draperies and lamps.

* * *

One basic rule, however, must be observed in the initial selection of furniture. Choose a style which manufacturers call "timeless" because its good proportions are enhanced, not overshadowed, with just the right minimum of elegant adornment, regardless of the decorative motif which surrounds it.

Home Shoppers Now Selective

Budding optimism over the future of the residential construction market appears to be joining the sound of the turtle and the rise of the sap as signs of approaching spring.

* * *

From various quarters recently have come observations, which if borne out, may help cushion the slight letdown forecast for home building activity this year—100,000 fewer units than the 1955 volume, according to the National Association of Home Builders.

One method of keeping active in home building cited by several observers is to study the market for favorable areas in which customer appeal should be exploited. It is said, for example, that most new home shoppers these days are likely to be more selective than they were during the years of the acute housing shortage.

This increasing selectivity is evident in the growing number of residential customers who size up the builders' product by checking for such quality materials as copper plumbing and ceramic tile baths and kitchens. In many parts of the country they also are looking for comforts like air conditioning and conveniences and safety features like ample electrical wiring and outlets to accommodate the ever-increasing number of appliances used in the American home today.

* * *

Besides having to plan their sales to meet the requirements of choosier customers, home builders are being advised to adjust their appeal to effects of the continued expansion and dispersion of industrial operations, to recognize the need of replacing substandard housing units, to join with real estate interests in programs to combat urban blight, and to meet displacements caused by shifts of families from rural to urban areas, from state to state and town to town.

Modern Living Is Return to Grandma's Way of Life

Great-grandma might be more at home in the "house-of-tomorrow" than you.

* * *

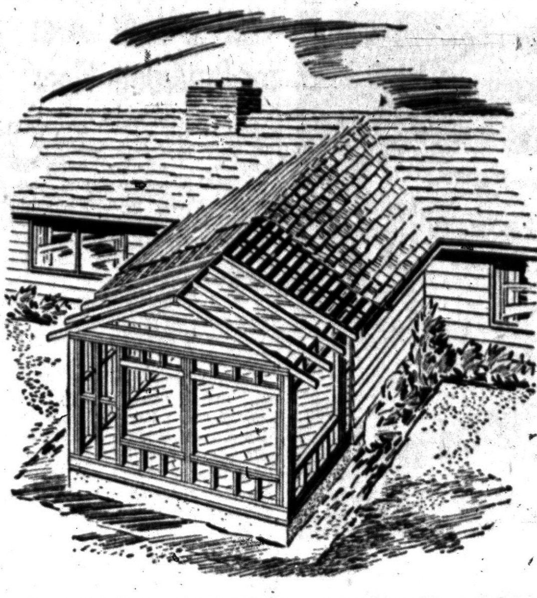
Granted, the gadgets of push-button living would intrigue and astound her. But she'd be comfortably familiar with the spacious kitchen—large enough for neighbors' visits—and she'd recognize her front-and-back parlor in the special-purpose areas that will be standard equipment in the years immediately ahead.

Seems that building trends have come round full cycle, and the return of the many-childrened families to the hearthside—well, okay, to the TV set, then—is showing up in demands for the rambling, divided proportions of the big old-fashioned house. The modern box-like structure with its square little rooms is on the way out, according to a recent survey of home builders. Today house-hunters are looking for "nooks and crannies" that mean charm.

The special poll revealed, surprisingly, that topping the list of requirements was a "house we can do something with" and while that had many interpretations it meant generally that the "front-parlor" living room must have a "back-parlor" auxiliary that could be devoted to the routine of daily living. Called variously a den, all-purpose room, recreation room, TV or music room or just a "place where the kids can play," it invariably made the most-wanted list.

While the demands for plenty of sectionalized living space may have been of good old-time flavor, the requirements for automation convenience and comfort were definitely Twentieth-Century in character.

Garbage disposal units, hot water in every tap, immediate hot water, wall cooking and refrigeration facilities, a set-it-and-forget-it heating system that could be converted quickly to air conditioning, built-in vacuum "cleaner" to rid the house automatically of dust and dirt, safety in the form of fire alarms and sprinkler systems, every-room outlets for TV and high fi, and even an intra-mural communications set-up were the requests that recurred consistently.



SKELETON IN EVERY HOME — Every home has a skeleton it can be proud of. When you peel back the cedar shingles, roofing boards, sheathing and siding, there is your skeleton, the sturdy frame of your home. The nation's most popular and widely used framing lumber is fir and a home properly framed in this lumber will last for centuries.

A scrap merchant in Ostend has bought a squadron of Spitfires—paying from $500 to $700 apiece for the antiquated planes.

Bathroom Often Hard to Clean

Keep Essentials Handy, Use Toothbrush on Tile, Sponge Out Tub

In many ways, the bathroom is the most difficult room in the house to clean. It has to be done often and thoroughly because this is the room where everyone gets himself clean.

Technique on floors is individual. For cleaning the cracks between tiles, the most common bathroom flooring, an old toothbrush is best. Thick soapsuds with ammonia added should do the trick.

Many women prefer not to wax their bathroom floors, but where the tile or linoleum is old, it's indispensable. Old flooring can soak up soil so that the dirt never comes out.

Cleaning the tub calls for a sensible compromise on a cleanser. A very harsh cleanser will also remove the surface of the tub gradually. It then becomes very hard to clean indeed.

A couple of good cellulose sponges should stay in the bathroom all the time, as should cleanser, soap flakes, ammonia and disinfectant, if it's a help.

* * *

A small can of glass cleaner also saves steps for work on the mirror, which gets smudged easily.

The laundry hamper, if it's right in the bathroom, should get aired out and cleaned now and then, too. Pennies and old bits of string seem to congregate therein.

A big help for the fastidious bathroom cleaner is Jonny Mop, a plastic handle with a mitten-like cellulose pad on the end. This cleans the bowl and then is flushed down.

* * *

A container or shelf for all the cleaning equipment is a big help in the big bathroom, also.

Vertical Panel Boards Give Added Emphasis

If you have a room with ceilings that are too low, here is a suggestion for correcting the problem. Panel the room with vertical panel boards.

* * *

Be sure the panel boards have a definite and pronounced pattern to give added emphasis to the vertical lines and this will have the effect of raising the height of the room.

Piano Location Very Important for Best Sound

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Taking care of a piano is like taking care of any furniture except that it's a musical instrument, too.

* * *

The National Piano Manufacturers Association says new owners of pianos should have them tuned three or four times the first year and twice a year thereafter.

Placement of the piano also is important. The Association says it should be kept out of direct sunlight and away from radiators to insure the best musical tone.

Hammers, dampers and other felt materials in the music-making workings are moth repellant, but the Association says that a home with special moth problems should give pianos extra protection. A bag of moth-repellent crystals should be hung in the interior.

* * *

Polish and dust the piano just like any other furniture. To keep the keys bright, wipe them with a cloth that has been dipped in plain water or a mild soap solution and then wrung almost "dry."

Furnace Sizes Aid New Building Plans

If home-building plans are more "flexible" nowadays—and they are—it's largely because heating equipment comes in greater varieties of sizes and shapes.

* * *

Where yesterday the furnace was an architect-restricting monster in the basement fed by storage bins or tanks, today's heating plants are not only neat and compact, but of such adaptability that they can be installed anywhere that suits the blueprints.

In a survey of current products, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assocation finds that gas heating plants now can be installed in as little as two and three-fourth square feet of space and can be mounted in attics, first-floor closets or alcoves, crawl spaces under basementlesss houses and attached garages, as well as in basements.

Gas furnaces are of the forced warm air or gravity types, the former now in greater use. Gas boilers, producing so-called "wet heat," circulate steam or hot water for comfort heating. GAMA also points out that since gas is supplied through utility mains, there is no space required for storage of fuel.

STURDY FURNITURE — Something which every homemaker wants; furniture that can take it. This "Magnolia" bedroom group by Kroehler is as durable as it is handsome. The specially treated top surfaces resist stains from spilled cosmetics, liquor and even lighted matches. A panel headboard has sliding doors covering handy compartments for magazines and books. The horizontal chest trim and dresser is the handle of the sliding drawers.

Wall to Wall Cover for Bathroom Floor

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Nothing is as cozy in a bathroom as luxurious carpeting stretching from wall to wall, but most housewives consider it an impossible dream because of the obvious bathroom hazards — cutup space, and water and other spillage possibilities.

But it is not only possible to have such a carpeting; you can even put it down on a do-it-yourself basis.

The carpeting is a deep pile cotton that comes in yard-wide lengths and it launders beautifully in a washing machine. The Needletuft wall-to-wall BathRug has a latex back, it is both sun fast and tub fast and comes in 12 smart decorator shades ranging from pastels through the dark colors.

The colors are coordinated to the towels put out by three of the leading manufacturers so you can have a matching bathroom if you desire.

Modern Bath's Step-Down Tub

Made of Ceramic Tile, It Is a Far Cry From Ben Franklin's Copper Shoe

Son of a soapmaker, and gifted with a lavish imagination, Benjamin Franklin took personal delight in introducing the first formal bathtub to America.

It was made of copper and fashioned in the shape of a shoe. A small grate in the "heel" was used to keep the water warm. Although his habit of receiving callers while sitting in the tub has not exactly caught on in this county, frequent bathing with lots of soap and water has.

We're probably the bathing-est nation in the world today. In fact, we've come a long way from the shoe tub of Franklin's day to the step-down tub of 1956.

This latest innovation is a real bathing beauty. It's a tub set below floor level and usually lined with a sanitary and waterproof material like ceramic tile. Leading designers are happy about the new-type tub because it offers no unnatural obstruction to the design flow of the room. When a versatile surfacing material like real tile is used on walls, floor and tub, a colorful design unity is achieved.

Marcel Breuer, architect of the UNESCO building in Paris, accomplished the same decorative untiy in a bathroom design of his by blending an all-tiled but floor-level tub with ceramic walls, floor and vanity countertops.

Benjamin Franklin would have approved. It was his aim, as it is the three famous architects', to make bathing as pleasant and natural and relaxing as possible. We've taken giant strides since the days of Ben's shoe tub to the step-down bath of today but the aim has been the same!

Removing Old Paint? Then Read This Article

When the old paint coating on a piece of furniture has become so thick or rough that you wish to remove it, you can do the job with paint-varnish remover. Apply it to a small area at a time and let it stand until the old coating has softened — about twenty minutes. Then do your scraping with a putty knife and steel wool.

When all the old coating has been romoved, wash the piece with mineral spirits or turpentime to take off any vestiges of wax that may be left from the paint-and-varnish remover. Let the surface dry thoroughly, then apply your priming coat and — finally, your finishing coat.

Home Loan Interest Rate Likely to Stay Unchanged

Interest rates on conventional home loans made by savings and loan associations are likely to remain unchanged in the next six months, despite somewhat "tighter money" conditions, a nationwide survey of the United States Savings and Loan League indicated today.

* * *

This was one of the findings of the annual coast-to-coast survey of conventional loan practices made by the League, the national trade organization for the savings and loan business.

Conventional loans are those made at the risk of the lending institution, as compared to FHA and VA loans where the risk is carried by the federal government.

The League's survey, released today, included these highlights:

1. Of the 1500 associations replying to the survey, 90 per cent forecast that interest rates on home loans granted in the next six months would remain the same as they are now. Of the remaining 10 per cent, eight per cent predicted rates would rise, and only two per cent said they would be lower.

2. Approximately 600 associations, or 40 per cent of those replying to the survey, reported 5 per cent as the "most frequent" rate at which they are making conventional loans. Thirty-five per cent of the respondents said 6 per cent was the most frequent rate, and the remaining twenty-five per cent of the replies listed 5½ per cent as the most widely used rate.

3. The maturities on conventional loans for new construction have increased slightly during the past year, with 37.5 per cent of the responding institutions reporting the "typical maturity" on new construction running between 20 and 25 years. A year ago, only 33.7 per cent of the responding institutions reported loans of this length as the "typical maturity."

4. The maturities on loans for the purchase of existing homes are, however, virtually identical with those of a year ago. Unlike the loans for new construction, there has been no lengthening of terms. Of the loans on existing homes, 48 per cent were for maturities under 15 years, 34 per cent had maturities between 15 and 17 years, and only 18 per cent had maturities over 17 years.

HOW TO MAKE AND HANG CURTAINS
PATTERN 325

CURTAIN HELP—There is more to hanging curtains and draperies than meets the eye. There is the matter of fixtures—the right kind and how to place them. A valance shelf may be needed, or a simple cornice box. These questions arise whether curtains are made at home or bought ready made. If material is bought by the yard there are sewing details that will make the difference between a home made and a professional job. Measurements are important, too. How much to allow for headings, hems and shrinkage? Or how much fullness for different kinds of material? Pattern 325 illustrates the steps in measuring to avoid waste; the various fixtures; hanging French pleats, traverse rigging, lining problem windows. Price of pattern is 25c postpaid. Put in Gutters to Catch Heavy Spring Rainfall

One job is necessary this spring for owners of new low-cost project homes—putting up gutters to catch those heavy rains.

Many of the new low-cost homes come without gutters on the roofs and homeowners probably became aware of that when winter thaws left a coating of ice on the front and back steps.

To avoid the relatively high cost of putting gutters all around the house, the enterprising homeowner might get two six-foot sections of gutter pipe—one for the front and one for the back.

This won't solve the entire problem but at lest the doorways will be safe to walk under during rains when accumulated dirt drains off the roof along with the water.

And during winter months there won't be that pile of ice on the steps.

It's Out-of-Doors Again! Go Get the Ole Paint Brush

WASHINGTON, D. C. — As summer comes along, your outdoor furniture is only one of many items that can profit from the attention of your paint brush. Porch floors and steps, fences, screens, trellises, arbors and iron work also come in for their share of attention. For all of these surfaces, there are special finishes these days, formulated to do the jobs required.

• • •

Finishes for porch floors and steps, whether wood or concrete, are designed to take two kinds of punishment, the wear and tear of foot travel and ravages of weather. For a finish coat, the tough, hard-wearing porch-and-deck paint is advisable for wood as well as concrete. When working on wood, use a slightly thinner version of the same paint for a primer. For cement, an alkali-resistant primer is often recommended. Also suitable for concrete floors are the rubber-base and similar coatings. Before these are applied, hard and glossy concrete should be roughened with a weak solution of muriatic acid.

When painting steps that may have to be used before they are completely dry, do the job in two operations. Paint the first, third and fifth steps the first day. Do the second, fourth and sixth the next. This way, there will always be dry steps to walk on.

Worn fibre porch rugs can be renewed with canvas paint or exterior stain. If the rug is badly discolored, don't use stain, as it is transparent and the blemishes will show through.

DON'T FORGET SCREENS

The frames of screens should be painted so that they match the color of their companion window and door frames. This may mean, of course, that the inside colors differ from the outer ones. The screen wire should also be painted — on both sides — and before the frame is coated. Steel or galvanized screens need the protective coating to prevent their rusting.

While copper and bronze wire screens do not rust, they should also have a protective coating because a corrosive wash develops which will stain and disfigure any light-colored areas below them. Spar varnish or special screen paint should be used. Both types of coatings can be applied with a spray gun, brush, short-napped roller or an inexpensive screen-painting tool, made from a block of wood and covered with carpet on one side. While the paint or varnish film is still wet, it's wise to jar the screen sufficiently to keep the openings in the mesh from becoming clogged.

For fence posts, trellises and arbors, there are special products which retard the rotting of wood which must be placed underground. These are known as wood preservatives. Get the non-staining type if you plan to paint the wood to harmonize with the exterior color scheme of your house. For the finish coats on a fence, use regular house paint. This will serve also for trellises and arbors, although you may wish to use trim-and-trellis paint which is made especially for the purpose.

• • •

Trim-and-trellis paint, as well as other types of exterior enamel, are also advisable for exterior iron work. If there are any signs of rust on the iron, they must first be removed. Any bare spots should then be coated with an anti-corrosive primer — available in any paint store — before the new finishing coat is applied.

Ceramic Tile Conducts Heat From Radiant Ducts

The popularity of the new adhesive method of installing ceramic tile has prompted the question by many: Can real tile be installed with adhesives over radiant-heat ducts? The answer is "Yes." Industry-approved adhesives, those bearing the U. S. Department of Commercie hallmark CS181-52, should be used.

Ceramic tile is an excellent conductor of heat and will maintain at the highest those benefits of radiant heating — uniformity, dependability, comfort. By using adhesives, installation costs can be significanty reduced in many cases, too.

Never paint outdoors when there is a high wind—unless you want dust and bugs blown onto your fresh paint. Best time to paint is during clear, dry weather.

Don't Be an Acrobat

When painting furniture outdoor, select a place to do the work that is protected from the weather and free from dust. Paint the lower sections of chairs and tables first. Turn them upside down so you can work at a convenient level. Then turn them right side up and finish the job. This will save you from having to become an acrobat for the day.

ALL-ELECTRIC HOME—Here's a push-button house that works. Inside there is provision for every conceivable electric servant. Outside, the construction is economical. Vertically grooved plywood and an asphalt shingle roof have been specified. Drywall construction is used inside. This house is being shown at the New York Home Building Exposition in May.

Modern Equipment Use Offered by House of Week

An all-electric house, planned to exploit the maximum advantages for better living through the use of modern equipment, is featured in Design A-113 for The House of The Week.

An oversize kitchen and adjoining family room for informal activities and relaxation have combined dimensions of more than 11 by 35 feet. Here is space for every conceivable new invention in electrical equipment for the home.

An abundance of electrical outlets in all rooms indicate the almost limitless conveniences now available in modern electrical devices, such as electric blankets in bedrooms, sun lamps and hair dryers in bathrooms, ventilating fans, radios and television sets, as well as the blending of illumination from portable lamps with fixtures designed for scientific light conditioning.

MODERATE SIZE

Moderate in size, this house should not be expensive to build. The total floor space is 1,821 square feet, exclusive of garage. Herman H. York, the architect, insures economical construction by specifying exterior plywood siding of the vertically grooved 111 type, asphalt shingles for the roof and drywall construction inside.

With such economy, many attractive details can be added, such as sliding glass doors from both the master bedroom and family room to the rear garden terrace, which is open to the sky through exposed rafters. Other dressing includes a dramatic window wall in the dining room, sliding windows in all rooms, folding accordion type doors in at least five locations and many other niceties in modern equipment.

This also is a flexible house. It is well planned for either a two-bedroom or three-bedroom family. The third bedroom is convertible for use as a quiet den, a sewing room, a study or library.

A major economy is achieved in efficient planning of the bathroom. This is a combined powder room and complete bathroom. By providing an 8-foot vanity counter with large mirror space and built-in lavatory in the powder room, the bathroom facilities can be used by more than one person at a time. This means less plumbing and fewer heavy fixtures than two bathrooms need.

EXTRA LAVATORY

An extra lavatory can thus be afforded off the laundry, adjacent to the kitchen, garage and side door.

The living room is especially well proportioned. As you enter the front vestibule, the entire living room opens to the right. A large fireplace dominates its inner wall, directly opposite the front windows. A low indoor planting box is planned next to the fireplace to add a garden touch to living room and dining room.

You'll find an abundance of sensibly planned closets. The master bedroom has a large walk-in closet. The front bedroom has a closet 8 feet wide enclosed by folding doors. Coat closets are found in both front and rear vestibules.

Indoor entrance from the garage, which can be either one or two-car in size, is a pleasant convenience in bad weather as well as for the grocery laden housewife in any weather.

By bringing the garage forward from the house, the driveway is shortened and the front patio is given attractive shelter.

2 KITCHEN SINKS

The big headline in this plan is its kitchen. Here are two sinks—one an electric sink facing the front kitchen windows with dishwasher adjoining; the other a sit-down sink in the middle of the room. The sit-down sink is planned for the prevention of backaches during the preparation of vegetables. It is placed in a low breakfast bar so that dishes can be deposited in it without taking one step.

A new type of wall-hung refrigerator also projects into the room to save steps and to bring it within quick reach of both sinks as well as cooking facilities and work surfaces.

A modern type wall oven at convenient height to eliminate stooping, is separated from electric top burners to leave a maximum of work counters on each side of both of these essential units.

Home economists and engineers of General Electric advised Architect York in the planning of this kitchen. They have based its arrangement on scientific tests for step saving and the reduction of fatigue.

This is a push button house that works.

House to Appear in Gotham Show

Design A-113 shown on this page will be built in New York's gigantic new Coliseum for the International Home Building Exposition in May.

It has been planned to demonstrate the theme of the exposition—"Showcase for Better Living."

It will be built on the first of four floors of exhibit space in three days, including all decorating and furnishing, in order to be ready for the half-million visitors expected.

The only variations from the plan shown here will be omission of the basement and lowering of the roof to suit its indoor location. The garage will be set back slightly from that shown here in order to accommodate the circulation of crowds around the house. Space planned for basement stairs will be used to demonstrate year-round air conditioning by use of a heat pump.

Mixed Prints More Evident in the Recent Room Styles

CHICAGO (INS)—It's okay to mix prints if you match the colors in furnishing a room this year.

* * *

Decorators are breaking the long-standing rule of identical prints in the same room at high-style showrooms in Chicago's American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart.

Judging from a survey of the showrooms, the prints should be flowery or at lest resemble something identified with gardens—leaves, bird, fruits or butterflies.

Lemon and strawberry prints showed up as cushions on little side chairs not far from a couch covered in quilted chintz, featuring apricot and white flowers.

Both prints had the same leaf green background.

In many of the setting heralding a comeback for prints, they were used to accent white-on-white sofas. But even the sofas had floral resigns, in raised, quilted or embroidered motifs.

A chair in quilted apple green silk was set next to a chintz sofa printed in the same green and white and teal blue posies.

Generally, when solid colors are used in combination with floral prints, the colors are drawn from the same palette—spring greens, petal pastels and dewy whites.

* * *

For instance, in a beautiful bedroom setting, a teal blue bedcover was patterned in apricot fruits and bright yellow blossoms. The toss pillows used as accent touches were silk, one in apricot and the other in yellow.

Seven out of ten passengers between the United States and South America travel by air.

What Is HIGH PRESSURE Steam Curing?
IT IS THE BEST METHOD OF CURING CONCRETE BLOCKS KNOWN TODAY!
Blocks are placed into massive cylindrical Autoclaves, where they are subjected to 350 degrees steam at 100% humidity under 125 p.s.i. This process accelerates the hardening, produces a superior Lightweight Concrete Block which is STRONGER . . . permanently!
This method also stabilizes the strength of the block, and reduces future shrinkage and expansion by at least 50%. Eliminating cracked walls!
Blocks are ready for immediate use when they leave the Autoclaves, having been given a treatment equal to at least 28 days of moist curing!
Nearly $250,000 has been spent in our plant to install High Pressure Curing . . . to assure our customers they are receiving the best products available!

Outdoor Furniture Rolls Into Gardens and Patios

NEW YORK — Summertime will see a new connotation to the expression that America is "a nation on wheels." This year, the most carefree vacation-day "traveling" will consist of rolling furniture outdoors for garden or patio entertaining.

• • •

Mobile units — tea carts that glide on rubber-tired wheels, tables and seating units that fold for carrying, and occasional pieces so light in weight they can be picked up with one hand — are the furniture industry's convenient, work-saving answer to the perennial hostess complaint that as the days grow longer, so does her guest list.

Among the wealth of new pieces designed to make entertaining as relaxing for the hostess as for her guests is a mobile beverage cart from Troy Sunshade Company. Two roomy trays of expanded metal provide ample space for transporting refreshments and serving apparatus from kitchen to garden in one trip. The trays — one of which has individual compartments for ten glasses and four large-size beverage bottles — slide out and are interchangeable.

For those who would add an even more festive air to their outdoor setting, optional equipment for the same highly styled cart is a printed or striped cotton-fringed umbrella that spreads a protective shading over contents of the server.

CLASSIC TABLE

The classic picnic table, too, is apt to be sporting a set of wheels this year. One version, topped with a two-way tilting umbrella, has a rack below where a pair of picnic benches receive a "free ride." Thus the entire compact set can be rolled effortlessly to the desired shaded spot.

Equally mindful of the fact that summer is no time for undue exertion are firms who have stressed lightweight construction materials — anodized aluminum, wrought iron, rattan, natural cane and woven wicker. Yet from the imaginative treatment of design, color and finish, one would think their sole purpose was to keep in step with fashion rather than to save steps and labor for the homemaker. Gold-finished aluminum, wrought iron in a rainbow of colors and enameled finishes in pink as well as black and white give evidence of the high style trend.

From Gallo, comes a new bar server with a panel front in madagascar or bamboo plastic cloth. Brass footrails and expanded metal shelves add decorative charm to this practical piece. And providing a nostalgic note for modern devotees of the western barbecue is another firm's old-fashioned redwood chuck wagon, equipped with a spit and an insulated cooler.

• • •

Particularly good news for the budget minded are pieces that can be "borrowed" from indoors to provide extra seating or serving space as needed. Perfect for this situation are nested tables that come apart and may be transferred outdoors for individual serving units. One firm is featuring a set of four nested ottomans—black wrought iron with vinyl plastic covered seats — that are fun for seating small fry visitors according to size places.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—Sometimes it's very difficult to remove old putty from a window frame. Is there any easy way to get it off?

A—One fairly easy way is to run a hot soldering iron across the putty, just ahead of your putty knife. The heat will soften the putty and it will come off more easily.

• • •

Q. — When installing mineral batts as attic insulation, is it important to fill the small, odd-shaped spaces around pipes and electric cable? Or is it sufficient to insulate the clear, open spaces between studs and rafters, assuming that the odd-shaped spots are so few and small they don't matter?

A—It is highly important not to miss a spot. A conscientious job of installation is required if mineral wool is to give its full measure of summer and winter comfort and fuel savings. If possible, slide the insulation between pipes or cable and the wall. If there isn't enough room to do this, slit the batt or blanket and sandwich the pipe or cable between the two pieces.

• • •

Q—The paint on the outside of my house looks dingy, even though it was put on only a little over a year ago. Is it possible to wash exterior paint?

A—Soap and water often can freshen exterior paint. Use an ordinary scrubbing brush. If the brush is attached to a pole you won't have to move the ladder so much. Start washing at the bottom of the house and work up. This will prevent the dirty water from running over dry parts of the wall and leaving hard-to-remove streaks. After a whole wall has been washed, it can be rinsed with a garden hose.

Use Wallpaper in Many Ways

NEW YORK (INS) — There are many ways to decorate with wallpaper besides the usual method of covering four walls with it.

• • •

Wallpaper can even substitute for drapes. Pick a pattern that blends in with the color, mood, period and purpose of your room, but that contrasts with the shade of the painted walls.

Then apply the paper to either side of your window. You can make your paper "drapes" just as wide as you wish, and of course they should extend from floor to ceiling.

For a further touch, you can use the same paper to cover the mouldings near the floor or up near the ceiling. It's not a good idea to use this trick on both, since it frames the room and tends to make it look too small and too symetrical.

Or you can make as wide a pattern on your walls as you like if you match the color of your walls to the background of your paper. If you have white walls, for example, buy a paper with a fairly wide repeat on a white background.

• • •

Instead of papering the entire wall, do it in panels, leaving painted spaces between, further separating the print.

Mahogany Is Grandma

Mahogany is the grandma of famous names for wood figures. Mottle, fiddle-back, swirl, crotch, broken stripe, were first used to describe mahogany, the wood in which many beautiful grain patterns first became known.

Water Marks? Take Action!

Water marks in the ceiling under your upstairs bathroom are a signal for immediate action.

* * *

Over the years water leaks and seepage probably cause more damage to your property than any other single element.

Inferior surfacing materials in the bathroom are the usual cause for escaping water and condensation to damage downstairs walls and ceilings. Often the homeowner chooses a waterproof material like ceramic tile for the bathroom wainscot and a substitute material for the floor. For only a few dollars more he could have had complete protection.

Here's what to do if water is escaping from your bathroom: First, check walls and floor for persistent damp spots if the surfacing material is not tile. Ideally, of course, the room should be modernized with a really waterproof material.

If your bathroom is tiled yet allows water to get through its surface, the fault is probably that some of the cement between tiles has come out. You can easily remedy this by buying some commercial grout, mixing it with water to the consistency of heavy cream, letting it set for about 10 minutes, remixing and applying to the tile joints with a sponge.

Water often escapes through the crack between bathtub and tilework if the tub was not properly hung to begin with. All tubs should rest on tub hangers so they won't be affected by floor settlement.

* * *

If the tub does pull away from the wall, not being properly installed originally, all you can do is to thoroughly recaulk the tub line.

NEW ENGLAND MEETING HOUSE FOR MARTINS AND SWALLOWS
PATTERN 340

COMMUNITY HOUSE — Some birds are so sociable that they like to make nests in a community house. This miniature New England meeting house with 12 compartments for nests is sure to attract purple martins and swallows. These summer visitors more than pay their way by destroying countless insects. This house should be set atop a post at least 10 feet from the ground and well apart from trees and buildings. It has been found that a barrier against cats and squirrels, fixed around the post a couple of feet below the house is necessary to attract martins. Pattern 340 may be ordered separately for 25c or with the Bird House Packet No. 2 containing a variety of houses at $1 postpaid. Pontiac Press, Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, N.Y.

USEFUL FENCE — An American institution, the fence is many things to many people. Here it serves as an interesting backdrop for the garden, complementing the natural foliage. With easy-to-work woods like those of the western pine region, fence building is no longer a profession — it's a hobby enjoyed by industrious home owners everywhere.

Some Fundamental Rules About Putting in a Fence

"Don't fence me in" may be a popular subject for songs, but it isn't a true statement of American habits.

* * *

As a matter of fact, we like to be fenced in for a number of reasons. The rising popularity of outdoor living and the resulting desire for privacy is one. To keep intruders out and children and pets in is another. A fence can serve as a needed windbreak or partition one section of the yard from another.

Sometimes a fence is chosen for purely ornamental reasons. A low rail fence, for example, can make a tall, narrow home seem wider. A high board fence can shield an unsightly service area from the street. Many different styles of fences are built to act as attractive backdrops for plants and shrubs.

Whatever the purpose and whatever the style, the fence is probably the number one do-it-yourself project. With the increasing popularity of the board fence using ordinary square-cut lumber, it's easier than ever for the week end workman to build his own. Because of their easy workability, resistence to splitting, and economy, the woods of the western pine region are popular fence materials.

BASIC RULES APPLY

The ten different species from this twelve-state region range in color from creamy white to dark, rich-grained woods and are available in knotty or clear grades. So whether a painted, stained, or natural finish is desired, there's a wood to suit your purpose.

Regardless of the style of your fence, certain basic rules apply. Use four-by-fours for posts and two-by-fours for stringers, the horizontal connecting members. Or, you can choose from many designs—or create your own—using horizontal boards and eliminate the need for stringers.

Place posts about eight feet apart and dig holes as close to the diameter of the posts as possible, preferably with a post-hole digger. The hole should extend about one-third the length of the post and should be lined at the bottom with several inches of gravel for best drainage. For added strength, posts bordering a gate should be sunk in concrete, and in cases of exceptionally loose soil all posts should be placed in concrete.

* * *

Added strength can also be gained by nailing "shoulders" to the posts to act as rests for stringers. and speaking of nails, be sure to use galvanized or aluminum nails throughout so that the fence will not become rust-streaked.

* * *

Chemical treatment will insure the long life of your fence. For best results use one of the penta preservatives, developed by the Western Pine Association and available under a variety of brand names at lumber yards and hardware stores. Be sure to cover the ends as well as surface of all boards and posts and wait 48 hours before applying the finish.

Plastic Wall Paneling Provides Easy Upkeep

Easy upkeep of walls and ceilings is an important feature in the planning of new homes. One way to achieve this is by specifying paneling of predecorated hardboard with baked plastic finish. Its smooth, hard surface can be wiped clean with a damp cloth, and it needs no redecorating.

Finished in plain colors, wood grains and marble patterns, the paneling is appropriate for all rooms. Some homes have been built with all-Marlite interiors.

Landscaping Does It

If you must keep an eagle eye on the building budget, try this money-saving move: adopt for your new home simple frame construction in the shape of a rectangle. If neighboring structures are the same shape and construction, variety can be obtained by landscaping with various shrubs and plants, adding a terrace and attaching a breezeway and carport.

Before Starting to Paint—It Will Pay You to Read This

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Balmy Spring weather brings people out into the fresh air. Nature starts to unfold its wondrous colors as flowers make their appearance and grass takes on its brilliant green sheen. And so is born the idea of making the home equally as attractive—and the family starts a painting project.

* * *

Before attempting to paint exteriors, it is well to carefully inspect the house. See that the gutters have been cleaned. Note where previous coats of paint have chipped or peeled. Remember that paint will last longer and look better if proper precautions are taken. Such precautions may require sealing of knots in lumber, caulking around doors and windows to prevent rain from entering, checking the roof and, in short, making a military inspection.

When you are ready to paint, ask your paint dealer for the proper paints. There have been many technical advances in recent years and paints are designed and formulated for specific purposes, Some are for concrete, other for brick or lumber, some are for trim surfaces such as windows, doors and gables.

Painting gives you an opportunity to express your own personality in the choice of colors. While white is still popular in many areas, there has been a tendency to make homes individual through the use of color. Light pastels are favored in Southern regions while in more northern zones many homes are painted gray, green or more vivid shades.

The same rules of precaution and preparation apply to the inside of the house. Cracks should be filled and smoothed. Walls should be washed to take off any grime or dust which may have accumulated. Then they should be thoroughly dry before paint is applied.

The new interior paints are relatively free from odor. They can be applied with a brush or roller and virtually flow across the surface with least effort. It is best to start at the top of the wall at one corner and paint down, doing about three square feet at a time. Then lightly cross brush so the paint has a smooth finish. Before you know it the room is finished and you can entertain in it the same evening.

One can let imagination run riot when color planning a room. It is well to harmonize the walls with the rug or drapery, as these are the largest surfaces. For trim colors, select one dominate color, such as may be in the flower on the drapes or the major pattern on the sofa.

And you can do wonderful tricks with color, such as making the room appear longer by painting the end walls in a lighter shade, or make a long room look shorter by using a darker tone at the ends. Ceilings can be made to appear higher or lower, in the same manner.

* * *

Closets can be made brighter by painting the interiors a bright yellow and you can add a measure of safety by painting the risers of the basement steps a light color.

* * *

There are so many beautiful things you can do with today's wonderful paints—and Spring is the ideal time to start.

Long Narrow Rooms Need Room Dividers

If you have a long narrow room and want to break it up into something more attractive you have two easy steps. A room divider cutting across the long portion will help break the room into more proportionate units and creates the illusion of two rooms.

Paneling one wall or two opposite walls with fir or hemlock with strong vertical lines in the panel board patterns will also help.

Floor Joists Tip

Floor joists should be spaced 16" on centers and bridged at least every eight feet. If the subfloor is omitted, 25/32" finish flooring should be used and the joists spaced 12" on centers — bridged every four feet.

Gas Clothes Dryer Eliminates Sneezing

Gesundheit . . . ho sai guy . . . salute . . . instantina . . . God bless you—put them all together and what do you know? That somewhere in the world someone has sneezed.

Of course, despite these polite responses, the sneezer would have preferred not to have sneezed at all, and might not have if there were a gas clothes drying in the laundry.

One of the advantages of indoor, automatic drying is that linens and clothing are spared the constant bombardment of flying dust and sneeze-provoking pollen that they get when they "hang out."

* * *

If you do not have a dryer, bring the laundry in as soon as it is dry. The longer it hangs on the line the more pollen and dust-ridden it becomes—and the faster it wears out whipping in the wind.

Kitchen Personality

Time was when the living room or the bedroom gave the surest clue to the personal characteristics of a house's occupants. Now it's the kitchen that's becoming the key to a family's personality. Introducing new functions to the kitchen naturally means spending more time there. In turn, that means wanting a kitchen that is more pleasant, congenial and attractive than the one-time clinical-looking cooking quarters or the cramped apartment scullery.

Ready for Cleaning?

Outside—clean up the yard. Sift sand in the sand box and rid it of nails and glass. Go over play equipment. Burning household trash on a windless day and in a metal incinerator. Inside—empty the attic of trash accumulated during the winter. Are the cellar stairs clear? With warm weather cleaning you'll be doing a lot of lifting; so start practicing. Use leg and shoulder muscles, not the back, and apply the lift slowly.

Window Repair? Just Read This

If you are facing a repair job on your window or door screens, here are a few suggestions that may make the job an easier one.

* * *

Perhaps you want to replace a whole section of old screening. First, you will have to remove the old molding. Use an old chisel or a putty knife as a lever. To avoid splitting the molding, start at the center and work toward each end.

When you put the molding back again after tacking on the new section of screening, use a nail set to counter-sink the brads in the old holes and fill in over the heads with Plastic Wood.

Be sure to use copper tacks with copper and bronze screening; galvanized steel tacks with aluminum or steel screening. If moldings do not fit tightly at the corners, use Plastic Wood to fill the gaps and prevent water from seeping in. To reinforce frames that are loose or broken at the corners, you can buy mending irons in a variety of shapes.

For small holes in wire screening, you can buy a packet of already-cut patches, or you can cut your own from a strip of new screening. In either case, the patch is held in place by bending down the ends of the wires on the edges, pushing the ends through the screening around the hole, and bending them against the screening.

If you cut your own patches, pull a few wires off each edge to provide ends that you can bend.

Home Owners Double Within Past 15 Years

In the past 15 years the number of American home owners has more than doubled. Approximately one-third of the housing production was in price classes within the reach of families of modest income.

In 1955, for example, an estimated total of nearly 450,000 homes were produced to sell for less than $12,000. These included 93,000 homes selling for less than $7,000; over 140,000 selling between $7-$10,000; and over 208,000 between $10-$12,000.

Construction shifts are working around the clock on the new royal palaces in Jidda, Saudi Arabia.

ELEGANCE IN THE BATH—Elegance enters the bath with a handsome new blend of formal styling, gleaming brass and sturdy modern plastics. Formica walls and counters, in delicate tracery of muted pinks and greys, make this French Provincial setting worthy of Marie Antoinette. Called Milano, the new plastic design is created by a unique kaleidoscopic method which brings nature's own variety to the patterning. The maple vanitory base seems to be wood, but is also washable formica. Brass carriage lamps and lavabo are charming period accents.

Attack the Furnace First in Spring Cleaning Battle

Driven by the homemaker with a broom in her hand and a towel around her hair, Operation Spring Housecleaning is about due to roar into the family scene as the first major event in this year of national celebration of Operation Home Improvement.

* * *

One of the most effective ways to ease the cleaning operation is to attack it at its source. That usually is the furnace in the basement or utility room. Your "attack" may be a little late for cutting down on furnace dirt and grime this year but it will be insurance for next year.

If you heat with oil you can accomplish wonders by a few simple cleaning operations—also, by checking your furnace to see if it is equipped with some of the newest advancements which have been developed to insure its cleaner, quieter operation.

One of these unique developments is a small, inexpensive valve called Delaytrol which can be installed on the fuel line. As the name implies, it "delays" the flow of oil to the burner for from six to eight seconds after the burner is turned on until the blower fan accelerates to full speed. It shuts off the flow of oil instantaneously when the burner is turned off.

REPLACE FILTERS

Its advantage to good housekeeping is that it reduces sooting which sometimes contributes to the dinginess of homes just before spring cleaning time.

Filters should be replaced about every eight weeks, but if the present ones still are good, cover them with newspaper to keep off dust. If you can see through a filter when it is held in front of a light, keep it. It can be vacuumed if you choose.

After you've washed or painted walls, protect them by sizing, a process that takes only about 20 minutes for an average room. Sizing merely means covering the paint with a coat of starch to keep off the dirt. It's a process used by many decorators.

* * *

Dissolve one cup of dry starch in a cup of cold water, add two quarts of boiling water and two tablespoons of vinegar. Mix in a galvanized pail until most of the cloudiness is gone. Then apply evenly with a wide brush or roller.

* * *

It' usually cheaper to have checkovers and repair work done in the warm season.

Incidentally, keep the fuel oil tank full during the summer to prevent condensation of moisture and rusting in the tank.

Hatchway, Steel Door Resist Termites, Decay

Many home owners find it difficult to keep soil from collecting around the wood hatchway which covers their steps from the basement. Termites may enter the wood from the soil and work their way into the house.

This danger can be prevented by replacing the wood hatchway with a modern steel basement door which resists termites and decay.

Front Door Emphasis

Now that so many houses are being built around flagstone patios and terraces, it's sometimes hard to figure the whereabouts of the front door. By painting it a bright, eye-pleasing color, you can supply the needed emphasis to identify it. The same color, repeated in a floral border, adds further charm to your house.

Designer 'Raps' Modern Trend

NEW YORK (INS) — Charles Eames, designer of the famed Eames chairs, as well as toys, fabrics and even homes, doesn't think modern furniture is perfect by any means.

'Modern has a long way to go'' Eames said, "although it's starting to fill the need for less expensive, more comfortable pieces. Take the whole storage system—it isn't really well developed. Homes are better than they used to be, but that doesn't help the people living in older houses."

Although firmly identified with the modern way of doing things, not to mention being synonymous with the latest developments in chairs, Eames says:

"This doesn't mean people don't have or shouldn't have reverence for old things—only that substantial property can be an encumbrance. You wonder when you plan a move whatever will you do with Aunt Felicity's bedroom suite.

"The kind of old thing I would like you don't find every day and when you do, it's expensive."

It's Weather-Resistant

Tractors, which need to be able to take rugged treatment, are given an especially durable coating. To some, heated enamel is applied with a spray gun. The lasting weather-resistant finish is then baked on.

THREE SAFETY TIPS — Check fireplace walls for heat, metal stair edging that may trip you, and don't use a metal fork in a mixer — it may break the bowl.

Buying That New House? — Check Its Safety First

Let the buyer beware of that new honeymoon cottage. It might contain booby traps—one reason it is a good idea to investigate the safety of a home before moving in.

* * *

Test your fireplace by building a fire and placing both hands on the outer wall of the chimney. If it is not comfortable to the touch, your fireplace might not be insulated properly.

Locate the fuse box in your house. Mark circuits for each fuse. Find out if the house is adequately wired before you start loading the circuits with a lot of extra appliances that will require plenty of juice.

Check to see if stair treads are from cellar steps if they are the kind that are likely to cause accidents. Replace skiddy surfaces wi rubber treads.

If cellar steps have no hand rails have some put on at once. It is a good idea too to make sure the cellar light can be switched on from upstairs. If you can possibly have the door open away from rather than into the cellar another hazard has been overcome.

When choosing furnishings for your home, remember that area rugs come with nonskid backings and that sheets or pads may be purchased to use beneath them if they do not have a backing.

Sliding doors on kitchen cabinets will save a lot of bumps from opened doors, if you still have a chance to choose doors.

Step stools should be chosen for sturdiness. They should be well braced with nonskid rubber treads or plastic foot pads.

READ INSTRUCTIONS

You'll be safe with kitchen equipment by reliable companies. Be sure equipment instructions are clear. If you are going to cook with a pressure cooker, be sure to get good direction for its use.

When placing furnishings be sure that no area rug is put at the top of the stairs unless it is anchored to the floor. Do not wax stairs unless you use a runner.

Other things to keep in mind for safety's sake are:

Never stick a metal gadget into the broiler unit to test the meat or put anything but a rubber spatula into your blender or mixer.

DISCONNECT FIRST

Disconnect all electric gadgets before you clean them. If you use soap on the kitchen floor be sure to rinse it off before it dries.

When cooking, turn handles of pots away from the front of the stove. Choose cleaners that are non-inflammable, nontoxic. There are good safe ones available.

Plan to wear short sleeved house dresses at the stove and knee-length ones when cleaning so that you do not trip on that step ladder.

3-Bedroom House Favored by Buyers

The buying public continues to show a strong preference for larger houses. Consequently, the three-bedroom house has become the most popular in the field. Approximately two-thirds of the new dwellings started in 1955 fell in this category.

Extra features — larger lots, landscaping, high quality equipment, family rooms, TV rooms and the like — are proving to be more and more important.

Mahogany Preferred

Current furniture design trend in natural wood finishes has created new interest in grain patterns. Because of the great variety of grain patterns found in mahogany, designers prefer it for the unlimited figure combinations it offers.

Spring Cleaning Outside Job, Too

Beauty, Value of Home Depends on Condition of Exterior

Spring cleaning strictly an inside job?

Not on your life. You may not be able to see beyond your own walls but everyone else views your home from the outside.

The beauty and value of any home depend just as much on the appearance of the yard and landscaping as on the interior. Don't allow the outside of your home to become a stepchild because of concentration on the interior during the clean-up spree this spring.

This extra attention is especially important as the trend toward indoor-outdoor living gathers momentum. Dealers in quality building materials like textured woods and ceramic tile have anticipated this trend by diversifying their products for use out-of-doors. Get outside and follow this procedure:

Inspect the yard. Heavy rains may loosen the earth in sloping areas and endanger the stability of large trees. If the season has been dry, the lawn may require attention to revive wilted areas before the roots suffer.

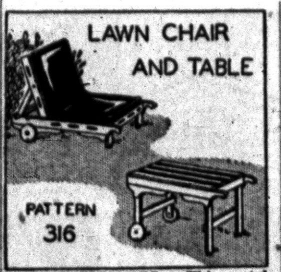
How's the shrubbery doing? Trim shaggy shrubs to even them up and replace sickly plants. Plan ceramic tile raised planters for changing elevations in a flat, uninteresting yard.

Reserve space for a play area for the children preferably in a grassy spot. Separate the playground from clothes lines and rubbish containers.

If your home already boasts a patio or terrace, improve it by adding hospitable touches like a barbeque pit or outdoor grill.

For Wicker Work

A spray gun—or one of the new aerosol-type paint spray cans—is a great aid in recoating wicker furniture. If you work with a brush, be careful to see that the enamel you use does not collect at the intersections. Should you wish to preserve the wicker's natural color, use spar varnish.



MATCH MATES — This matching table and chair set has several members that are interchangeable so one pattern will serve for making both pieces. They are of simple design to be suitable for outdoor use and easy for the weekend craftsman to make. Note the wheels and handles for moving the pieces about wherever needed. The weather resistant cushion is bought ready-made and is available in various colors. The price of pattern 316 for making both pieces is 25 cents. The Lawn & Garden Furniture Packet containing patterns for five pieces designed for the home handyman to make with either hand or power tools is priced at $1 post paid. Address order to: The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept. Bedford Hills, New York.

FHA–VA Will Underwrite Modernization for Homes

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. — Residential property owners were urged recently by a spokesman for the National Association of Real Estate Boards to take full advantage of the favorable housing improvement financing terms available under both the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration.

* * *

In a luncheon address sponsored by the Schenectady Real Estate Board, Walter S. Dayton, Bayside, Long Island, N.Y., chairman of the NAREB Build America Better Committee, explained the various long-term, low-interest-rate provisions of FHA-insured or VA-guaranteed home improvement loans.

"Long term credit at a modest interest rate offers the greatest hope for substantial residential property modernization. Unfortunately, too few property owners are aware of excellent financing that can be obtained to enable them to spend the necessary dollars for complete modernization or rehabilitation of their dwellings," Dayton said.

"For example," he said, "the popular FHA Section 203 applies to more than mere home buying. Many persons overlook the fact that this section can be used to finance improvements to structures containing not more than four dwelling units.

MAXIMUM—$20,000

"Home owners can use this section to refinance and incorporate in a new mortgage the modernization costs, plus, of course, the unpaid balance due on an old mortgage. Under this proviso, the owner goes to FHA and shows his plans for modernization. FHA makes its usual appraisal of the dwelling and issues a conditional commitment that it will insure a mortgage up to 30 years, at 4½ per cent interest, based on completion of the improvements. The maximum insurable mortgage is $20,000.

"The owner takes the conditional FHA commitment to a lender who will finance the modernization costs. When the modernization is finished, the lender wraps up the package containing both existing mortgage indebtedness and modernization costs and puts them in one new mortgage loan," Dayton said.

Dayton told his audienece of real estate businessmen, civic leaders, and municipal officials that "concentrated programs are under way in many cities throughout the nation to eliminate slum dwellings and to restore once-attractive neighborhoods to new usefulness and liveability."

City officials, he said, are firmly enforcing adequate, modern codes pertaining to health, safety, and sanitary of housing. Property owners, meanwhile, are voluntarily putting their dwellings under repair with an estimated "$5 billion going into improvements of residences in 1956."

Full-scale, enthusiastic support for housing improvement and neighborhood conservation is being given by realtors, builders, civic groups, businessmen, citizen associations, and others.

* * *

"Cities cannot afford to allow futher depreciation of urban residential areas. In many cases, suburban growth is reaching the saturation point. A painful price will be paid in the near future by those communities which do not act today to conserve or rehabilitate those neighborhoods that have been allowed to fall into decay through inadequate improvement measures," he concluded.

Earl English Takes Special Work Course

GRAND RAPIDS—Earl English of the Stewart-Glenn Co. of S. Saginaw St. will attend the four-day repair and refinishing course here April 23-27 sponsored by the Furniture Manufacturers Association of Grand Rapids.

Experts will demonstrate the most effective methods of removing scratches, glass rings, cigarette burns on both leather and wood, tests for varnish, lacquer, shellac, color matching, shading, French padding, etc.

Techniques of finish application, basic chemical properties of finishing materials and trends in furniture finishes will be explained by representatives of nationally-known manufacturers of wood finishes.

F. W. Dunn, Managing Director of the Furniture Manufacturers Association, said that each trainee will be capable of doing work heretofore available in only a relatively few large metropolitan or specialized areas."

Cigar Smokers Need That Large Ashtray

Homemakers should know that cigar-smoking is increasing, and should plan accordingly, a young wife reminds her clan.

* * *

"Look to your table tops, rugs and other furnishings," she urges. As a matter of fact, table tops should be a matter for concern by the mannerly men themselves, but floor-coverings, furnishings and the like come within the woman's jurisdiction.

"A thoughtful wife or hostess will keep a commodious ashtray handy for the cigar smoker, to alleviate the unsightly overflowing of ashes in a tiny tray for cigarettes," says one alert observer of the smoking scene.

As for disposing of the contents of ashtrays and making away with ashes carelessly spilled on carpets or furniture, there is nothing to compare with the trusty household vacuum cleaner.

* * *

Empty the ashtrays onto the carpet in the morning-after cleanup, make the area spic-and-span clean in a jiffy with a swoop or two of the lavor-saving "vac."

More Water Vapor Stays Inside Homes

Modern living in a house generates much more destructive water vapor than was the case years ago. For example, the washing and spin drying of 10 pounds of clothes in an automatic washing machine still leaves them with approximately 10 pounds—or pints—of water in them. If these are dried indoors, there is only one place for the water to go—into the air within the house.

* * *

To further complicate all this moisture vapor generation is the fact that modern houses are smaller and there is correspondingly less volume of air into which this vapor can be dissipated.

To protect the structure of your home, be sure you have adequate ventilation at all time.

Expect More Color in New Bathrooms

More and bigger bathrooms with colored fixtures are expected to set the style trend in new homes built this year.

Demand for additional, more spacious and colorful bathrooms has grown steadily since 1947 when only one home in ten had a second bath. Today the one bathroom home is hard to rent or sell.

Desire for additional facilities is tied in with larger families, better incomes and higher standards of living. Homes equipped with two full baths plus a powder room provide more comfort, added convenience and room for a family to spread out.

Here's 7 Ways to Make Nothing From Something

What with do-it-yourself, every time you turn around these days you're faced with lists of ten ways to do this, or eight ways to do that. But now, at last, we have the list to end such lists—seven ways of making nothing out of something.

In this case, the "nothing" is a very useful "product" indeed. It's what comes out of a gas incinerator (along with a little ash) after a busy day of burning the useless "somethings" that accumulate around the house and grounds.

This "nothing from something" roster was published by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association to help incinerator owners gain full use from this versatile appliance. Here is the list:

1. Garbage disposal: Eliminates all-weather trips from house to garbage containers.

2. Leaf burning: Ends this fire hazard by easily consuming your fall harvest of leaves. Aside from the safety factor, you will save countless hours of waiting around for the fire you built in street or yard to burn out.

3. Spring (or any-old-time) cleaning: Spells finis to cluttering of corners, closets and basements with accumulated trash.

4. Closet reorganizing: Many people don't realize their incinerator will gobble up the "holey" shoes, baggy trousers, outmoded dresses, threadbare coats and "sat out" suits that just hang around because they are too far gone to give away.

5. Rodent and insect control: Discourages infestations of tiny visitors who find that the pristine "nothing" left by gas incinerators makes very unappetizing fare.

6. Health factors: Saves many a sacro-iliac strained carrying heavy refuse cans to the curb. And homemakers also report they have fewer colds in the winter because they no longer have to brave freezing weather to handle the garbage detail.

* * *

7. Collection expense: There are now 30 different types of incinerators, ranging in size from one to four bushels. They are easy and economical to install, requiring only a simple flue connection, and, GAMA reports, they cost less than half of what it takes to operate any of the mechanical disposal devices.

Also, they end most collection expense—a problem not only of the householder but of the community as well.

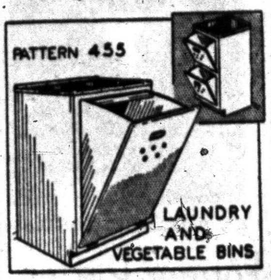
Workshop Patterns

by Ruth Wyeth Spears



AN ANSWER—Pull-out bins are the answer to many household storage problems. Here are two that the home handyman can put together without frustration. Both cabinets are sink and stove high and the directions on the pattern illustrate how to apply heat-proof tops to match kitchen counters. To save steps put one of these bins at the end of a passage, in the bathroom or a closet. As a time and motion saver the two-bin vegetable cabinet is unequaled for the space it takes. Pattern for both bins will be mailed for 25c. If you are planning a kitchen the packet of five standard patterns for new or remodeled kitchen will be useful to you. Price of packet is $1. Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, N.Y.

Use Soap in Closets

Wash closets and drawers and clean inside before storing moth-susceptible fabrics. Even, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, if the storage space is to be sprayed before being filled, it is safer to use hot soap or detergent suds and rinses on closet and inner furniture surfaces first.

Read Paint Labels!

There is such a wide variety of paint material available today that it's more important than ever to read the information regarding each product on its label. Study directions carefully before opening the can so that no colorful smear interferes. Because the manufacturer knows his product better than anyone else, it's more than wise to follow his suggestions exactly.

Soil Bank Funds Face Big Fight

GOP in House Seeking Sound Legislation for Appropriation Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans drew party lines tighter today in opposition to a soil bank appropriation without a new law to set up the program.

Many Republicans joined Democrats on the House Appropriations Committee Thursday in votingfor a $1,200,000,000 appropriation to pay farmers for taking land out of production and putting it to conservation uses.

* * *

Yesterday, however, GOP members issued a minority report saying they wanted the funds approved "consistent with sound legislative procedure and authorization."

* * *

Both the general idea and the $1,200,000,000 authorization were included in an omnibus farm bill vetoed Monday by President Eisenhower because of price support and other provisions. Eisenhower asked a separate measure to set up the soil bank alone, as he had originally asked.

'35 LAW AIDS IKE

An authorization bill normally precedes any appropriations. But the Appropriations Committee said Eisenhower had ample authority under a 1935 law, and proceeded to approve the funds, subject to House and Senate action. Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) said only six Republicans and one Democrat voted against the move, although all Republicans opposed a committee report on it.

* * *

The minority report challenged the committee's authority to vote the funds without specific authorization. The administration has insisted, despite Democratic claims, that the 1935 law is not broad enough to cover the program.

* * *

On that point, the minority report said no more than 250 million dollars of the appropriation could be used for anything but preventing soil erosion. It said only a taken out of production this year. The emergency appropriation would expire Dec. 31.

City Building Inspector Attends State Meeting

Maurice J. Gordon, a Pontiac building inspector, this week attended the Building Officials Institute held April 19-20 at the University of Michigan.

The institute was sponsored by the university's Extension Service in cooperation with the Michigan Municipal League.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Ronald Donis, alias Wilhite, minor. Cause No. 13652.

To Herman Donis, father of said child.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that the present whereabouts of the father of the said minor child is unknown and the said child has violated a law of the State and that said child should be placed under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the name of the people of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Juvenile Court, Oakland County Service Center, Court House Annex, 1200-B West Blvd., in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 1st day of May A.D. 1956, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing.

It being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Arthur E. Moore, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 18th day of April A.D. 1956.

Congregational Is Host Church

Mrs. O. Lundbeck Lists Chairmen; Conference Dates, May 16-17

"For the Future of the Kingdom," is the theme of the Michigan State Conference of Congregational and Christian churches which will be held May 16-17 in the First Congregational Church here.

Among the guest speakers will be Dr. Jerald C. Bruner, dean of the Federated Chicago Theological Seminary; Dr. Truman B. Douglass, world famous preacher and writer; Lillian S. Gregory, national secretary of the Congregational-Christian Women's Fellowship and the Rev. Russell T. Loesch, minister to chaplains in the Armed Services.

Serving as general chairman will be Mrs. O. H. Lundbeck. Assisting her will be John Madole, chairman of housing; Mrs. Dexter Craig and Mrs. Dora Dawson, transportation chairmen and Mrs. W. H. Vann, registration.

Mrs. Elwood R. Bigler, president of the Pontiac Women's Fellowship Group will head the information and greeter's unit and Mrs. Stanley Kipp will be in charge of luncheons and dinners.

Charles A. Wilson and Mrs. Edna Bondurant will take care of printing and signs. Donald Frayer is slated for usher chairman, Mrs. A. W. Selden, publicity; Mrs. Donald B. Hogue and Mrs. John Morrison will take care of decorations.

About 350 are expected to attend the various sessions.

Pontiac Church Aids Red Cross Officials

Over 13,000 articles of clothing were distributed by the Seventh-Day Adventist Clothing Depot in the Standale and Hudsonville tornado area, according to reports received by the local church.

The Adventists semi-trailer van was officially designated by the Red Cross as an emergency clothing depot for that vicinity.

The welfare center of the Pontiac church is a part of the state-wide disaster network cooperating with the Civil Defense and Red Cross officials.

More than 3,300 pieces of clothing have been distributed by the local group in this area.

Berkley Resident Fined on Animal Cruelty Count

A Berkley woman was fined $15 in Berkley Municipal Court after being charged with cruelty to animals by the Birmingham Hunmane Society.

Mrs. J. Bruce, of 28777 Brentwood St., paid the fine plus $5 costs after pleading guilty April 17 before Judge Ralph Finley.

Mrs. G. Carl, president of the newly-formed society, signed the complaint against the defendant for abandoning a dog March 17.

Water Enthusiasts Warned to Be Wary

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons has issued a warning to area swimming enthusiasts about going in the water too early.

Irons stresses both the danger of drowning and the fact that it is easy to get water cramps in cold water. He also includes use of old boats as a definite hazard.

The Sheriff says boats should be thoroughly inspected before using since many are left out all winter and could sink in the middle of a lake or stream. He lists rafts as another early spring danger and advises parents that children should be kept away from gravel pits.

Irons pointed out that this is a bad time of the year for swimming since protective lifeguard operation has not been established.

Motorcyclist Killed

FLINT (AP)—Carl Stanley Lane, 27, of Flint, was injured fatally yesterday in the collision of his motorcycle and a car, on a Genesee County road two miles east of Flint. Mrs. Dorris Tallman, 54, also of Flint, the driver of the car, was not injured.

REV. WILLIAM H. DONALDSON

Former Pastor to Be Honored

Rev. W. H. Donaldson Ordained 25 Years Ago in Trinity Baptist

The Rev. William Howe Donaldson, former minister of Trinity Baptist Church, will be guest speaker at Trinity Sunday morning. He is at present pastor of Zion Baptist Church, Peoria, Ill.

As a child, he attended Trinity Baptist Sunday School and later served as its superintendent. He was also president of the Usher Board and a member of the Board of Deacons.

After his graduation from Theological School, he was licensed and ordained as a minister by the members of the church and served a term here.

The Rev. Mr. Donaldson is celebrating his 25th year as a pastor. At 3:30 Sunday afternoon, the male chorus of Peoria who will accompany Mr. Donaldson here, will present special music in his honor.

A graduate of American Theology Seminary, the Rev. Mr. Donaldson is active in both religious and civic organizations of Peoria.

Persistent Wife Wins Battle of Green Shingles

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Roy Moise has won the battle of the green shingles.

* * *

Her husband recently decided to spruce up their frame store and apartment and Mrs. Moise decided she wanted the color to be Chesapeake green.

St. Louis City Art Commission had to be consulted because the building was near a park. The commissioners said no green, use white instead.

Mrs. Moise was more persistent then the commission, the Commission gave up yesterday, a month after the dispute started.

Said Mrs. Moise, "I'm glad its over with . . . we were almost ready to tear down the building."

5 Port Huron Men Sentenced in Theft

PORT HURON (AP)—Circuit Judge Edward Kane sentenced five men to prison terms Friday in the March 20 theft of a quantity of copper wire from the Electric Auto Lite Plant.

William Hardy Miller, 33, was given a 3-5 year term in Southern Michigan Prison and Raymond Currie, 38, and Charlie Studway, 31, both got 2½-5 years.

Joseph Blanchard, 28 and Leonard Cureton, 28, were given 60 day terms and two years probation. All the men are from Port Huron.

Drivers Suffer Bruises in Area 2-Car Collision

Only minor injuries were suffered in a two-car crash at Walton Blvd. just west of Clintonville at 12:10 a.m. today.

Drivers Elmer E. Young, 30, Ortonville, and Thomas F. Dunn, 22, of Drayton Plains, were the injured. Young received a bruised right elbow, while Dunn had bruises to the legs, arms and chest.

They were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Clarkston Man Injured

Thomas Reves, 25, of Clarkston, fractured one of his left ribs when he fell out of a moving car in the driveway of his home Friday at 10:20 p.m. He was treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital.

Heart Victims Can Receive Second Chance

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If heartbeat is restored within four minutes a person has a good chance for continued life, says a new medical study.

* * *

So critical is the time limit that more physicians—and even many dentists—should be trained for instant emergency action, including opening the chest and squeezing the heart rhythmically until it begins beating, Drs. Seymour L. Cole and Eliot Corday of Beverly Hills reported yesterday.

* * *

They said that, in analyzing 132 cases in Los Angeles hospital operating rooms, they found the hearts usually stopped from too much anesthetic, blocked airways or nerve reflexes.

* * *

Thirty-five patients were brought back to life and all but two are healthy—their hearts restarted in four minutes. The other two had permanent brain damage, the doctors told the American College of Physicians.

Guard Unit Advances Five to Higher Rank

The promotion of five enlisted men to higher grades was announced yesterday by Capt. A. J. Largent, commanding officer of Co. M, Michigan National Guard.

Named corporal was Pfc. Richard W. Anderson, 834 W. Huron St.; while Pfc. John C. Beauchamp of 4547 Horseshoe Dr., was advanced to Spc. 3-c.

Given promotions to private first class were Pvt. Kenneth E. Witherspoon, 785 Lapeer Rd., Oxford; Pvt. Eugene D. Klienow, 513 Madison St.; and Pvt. Michael A. Walford, of 3197 Harron St.

Guest Speakers Slated for Sunday Services

Major and Mrs. Ed Nelson of Detroit Divisional Headquarters will speak at all services of the Salvation Army Sunday.

The Nelsons are in charge of all young people's work in the Eastern Michigan.

Special music will be provided by the local Salvation Army band.

Services are scheduled for 9:45 and 11 a.m.; 6, 7 and 7:30 p.m. with Captain and Mrs. Magnus A. Michalsen in charge.

Elkton Youth Killed in Car-Bike Crash

CASS CITY (AP)—Eugene Shuff, 15, of Elkton, was killed Friday night in the collision of his bicycle and a car on M81 just outside Cass City.

Sheriff's deputies said the driver of the car, Marvin Winter, 18, of Cass City, told them the bicycle had no lights. He said he did not see the boy in time to avoid the accident.

Pair Robs Cash Register of $20 After Purchase

Two men stole $20 from his cash register while he was showing them his assortment of candy, an Avon Township grocer told Sheriff's deputies Friday. The larceny took place at 1:50 p.m. at 2366 Auburn Road.

The store owner said the men had purchased three oranges and gave the impression they were trying to decide which candy they wanted to buy when one of them took the money and ran out.

County Deaths

FRED H. HULTZ

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Service for Frazer H. Hultz, 51, of 28450 Haggerty Rd., will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from Thayer Funeral Home, with burial in Wixom Cemetery. He died Thursday after a three-week illness.

Mr. Hultz had been a rural mail carrier in the township for the past 17 years. He leaves his wife, Shirley; a daughter, Mary, at home; and a brother, Clyde, of Tennessee.

Mrs. LeRoy Gregory

DAVISBURG—Service for Mrs. LeRoy (Elizabeth) Gregory, 74, of Andersonville road, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Davisburg Methodist Church, with burial in Davisburg Cemetery. Her body will lie at the Bendle Funeral Home, Holly, until 12 noon Monday, when it will be taken to the church.

Mrs. Gregory died suddenly Friday. She leaves her husband; three brothers, Thomas Newcomb of Pontiac, Alfred of Gardena, Calif., George of San Fernando, Calif.; two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Maps Chart River for Canoe Travelers

A set of four maps in full color covering nearly 100 miles of the Huron River will be available free to canoeists, starting April 23, from the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

The route is down river from the Proud Lake Recreation Area to Lake Erie. Travel time between certain prominent points is given and all distances are marked. All public lands and camp sites for canoeists on state land and Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks are indicated with notes on what facilities are available in each place.

H-C-M-A naturalists, William Hopkins and Charles Damm, prepared the information after a series of exploratory trips last summer.

The maps are offered free as a public service at the Authority's Detroit office, 1750 Guardian Building, WO. 1-5865, and at the parks through which the route passes — Kensington Metropolitan Park, Dexter - Huron Metropolitan Park and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park.

News in Brief

Released on a $300 bond, Harold R. Specht, 34 Ortonville, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday to appear April 30 on a charge of non-support.

Richard L. Thomas, 18, of Royal Oak, began a 90-day sentence in the Oakland County Jail Friday after pleading guilty to a charge of entering without permission in a hearing held by Royal Oak Municipal Justice Fletcher R. Renton.

Pleading guilty on two counts, Oscar Patterson, 29, Detroit, was lodged in the Oakland County Jail yesterday to begin a 30-day sentence handed down by Springfield Justice Emmett J. Leib who imposed fines of $50 and costs of $25 on the separate charges of reckless driving and violation of his operator's license.

Martha A. Smith, 18, of 348 Seward St., was placed on six months probation yesterday when she pleaded guilty to unlawfully taking and using a motor vehicle before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. She was given over to the custody of her mother.

Card of Thanks 1

THE WIDOW AND FAMILY OF the late Benjamin W. Richardson of 647 Raskob Ave., gratefully acknowledges the beautiful flowers and the many lovely cards ano expressions of sympathy received during their bereavement.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR father, William Schramm, who passed away April 22, 1952.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps his memory ever dear.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
Sadly missed by his daughters.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GOLDIE Richardson, who passed away 5 years ago April 22.
My lips cannot tell how I miss her,
My heart cannot tell what to say,
God alone knows how I miss her,
In a home that is lonesome today.
Sadly missed by Albert and Children.

IN MEMORY OF FELIX DEJAGER, who passed away 3 years ago April 21.
Not dead to us who loved him,
Not lost, but gone before;
He lives with us in memory,
And shall forever more.
Sadly missed by Sons and Daughters.

...TV SERVICE?
The firms listed below are LOCAL service organizations, dedicated to honest, prompt and efficient maintenance of your TV. Don't confuse them with so-called AUTHORIZED service companies that subcontract your service work on a percentage basis. Obviously, this system will cost you more. Call an OCEA member for reliable service at reasonable prices.
