U.S. and Mexico in Disagreement

Support Different Plans to Fight Red Aggression in the Americas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The good neighbors of the Rio Grande—Mexico and the United States—lined up in friendly but earnest opposition today in the 10th Inter-American Conference debate on the Red peril.

Both agreed that communism menaces the peace and welfare of the Western Hemisphere. They differed sharply on the best way of dealing with it.

The United States wants adoption of its draft resolution pledging the 21 American republics to take joint action against any attempt by international communism to take over one of their governments.

Mexico wants the warning addressed not to "international communism," which it labels as an "ideology," but to non-American agents of foreign powers who try to intervene in the internal affairs of American republics.

The Red debate was expected to end in adoption of the U.S. resolution tomorrow. Ten of the Latin-American nations already have voiced support for it, assuring majority passage.

The debate is being followed with intense interest by delegates since objections to the U.S. resolution center on the principle of nonintervention in the internal affairs of American republics, a principle to which all the Latin-American nations adhere without reservation.

Mexico contends that the U.S. proposal conceivably could commit the American states to intervene against a sister republic which adopted a Communist government of its own volition.

Mexico's Roberto Cordova insisted each nation has the inalienable right to adopt any kind of government it desires, "even a Communist government," provided it is done through the free will of its people. Only when a foreign power seeks to impose its form of government on the Western Hemisphere are the American republics justified in taking action, he said. U.S. Secretary of State Dulles replied his resolution was a "foreign policy declaration directed against those in non-American lands who operate the subversive apparatus of international communism... and (who) demonstrably are putting that apparatus into use against this hemisphere. "We would warn them that we are aware of their design."

Guatemala's Red-tinted government has won a lot of sympathy from Latin-American delegates by contending the United States is using communism as a pretext for future intervention in Guatemalan internal affairs.

Dulles sought to clear up that point yesterday, saying, "Our admonitions are not addressed to any one of our republics or to the Western Hemisphere."

Shiawassee County Jail to Get Remodeling Job

OWOSSO (AP)—The Shiawassee County Jail is not going to be torn down after all. The jail was condemned by both the State Fire Marshal and the Corrections Department three years ago.

Voters balloted in favor of building a new jail. But they balked when it came to floating a $250,000 bond issue to finance construction. A compromise was reached Thursday and the jail is going to get a $14,000 refurbishing.

BHS Press Conference Is Attended by 147 Students

(Editor's note: The Birmingham High School column has been prepared by Frank Phillips, an associate editor of the Highlander, the students' newspaper.)

By FRANK PHILLIPS

Heavy snows bogged down four schools, but 11 others attended the Eastern Michigan League Invitational Press Conference at Birmingham High School last week.

The conference proved worth-while for the 147 students who attended. Inter-school relations were strengthened, new friends were made, newspaper and yearbook policies were discussed and information was obtained from professional newspapermen and advisors.

Highlighting the conference were the judging of each school's publication and the awarding of the Birmingham Eccentric plaque to the Hazel Parker, student publication of Hazel Park High School.

Birmingham took honors for having best combined newspaper and yearbook.

Contests were also held for various types of writing. Birmingham winners were Mary Ellen Budd, column; Cherry Harris, news story; George Glover, of Cranbrook, editorial; John Hobart of Birmingham was a winner for news photography.

"Precious Heritage," a film made at Birmingham High School by a Detroit firm, was shown recently to education students at Michigan State College, through the cooperation of the Birmingham school board.

Thomas Carson, a driver training instructor and coach here, spoke to the students on problems of first-year teachers and physical education facilities at Birmingham.

The Student Congress dance "Spring Fever," presented last Saturday night, proved to be a financial success. According to student congressmen, those attending the dance praised Russ Weaver's band for its music.

A profit of $240 was reported. Students also voiced requests for another dance in the informal party style.

"Green Pastures" was approved as Proscenium's spring production at a recent meeting of the Dramatic Club.

Try-outs will be open to anyone with dramatic experience. Musical background for the production will be provided by vocal teacher Victor Ulrich and the choir.

New Proscenium members are Donna Boileau, Carol Goodhue, Rosalie Rue, Carolyn Schaub, Bev Bleakley, Trudy McKewen, Charlene Suttin, Jo Beecher, Nancy Brown, Ann Shenfield, Sue Spencer, Beverly Harris, Sandy Overguard, Helen Black and Penny Sears.

Birmingham High School girls recently attended try-outs for a fashion show to be presented here by a Detroit department store next Tuesday in the Little Theater. Forty-one out of 116 girls were selected by three fashion experts to model for the show, which will be held at 3 p. m.

Seniors and faculty members were measured for their caps and gowns last week by a company representative, the cap and gown committee and John Petralis, faculty adviser.

Work on the third issue of Capital Bound, an explanatory pamphlet for the Washington group, is now under way, according to Dorothy Ojala, editor.

The issue will feature points of interest in New York as well as in Washington, and a "You Can Imagine" section of humorous, imaginative happenings to group members.

A Future Teachers of America Club charter will be presented in the near future to the high school club by Principal Ross A. Wagner.

The charter will make the club a permanent member of the organization. The club will also be named in honor of Martha Baldwin, a former Birmingham teacher after whom Baldwin School and library were named.

Members of the sophomore class are being asked to prepare acts for the class variety show.

Directed by Harriet Watson, class advisor, the show will be presented at an all-school assembly in the near future. Other advisors are George Pappas, Mrs. Arciel Wyatt and Miss Frieda Ward.

Harriman Gets O'Dwyer Nod

Favored by Ex-Mayor Over F. D. R. Jr. as the Dem Governor Choice

WASHINGTON (INS)—Former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer said today he favors W. Averell Harriman over Franklin Roosevelt Jr. as the next Democratic candidate for governor of New York state.

The former ambassador to Mexico, now residing there, was interviewed by radio-television commentator Drew Pearson who asked him to comment also on the administration of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Pearson remarked: "And Gov. Dewey has apparently got in some troubles. He found as a clean-up governor there were some people around him who weren't too clean."

O'Dwyer's comment was, "Well, I saw something about that and I'm inclined to think there should be more consideration given to the head of a large state, a large city... unless you can show that the governor, or the mayor, or the executive, had some knowledge that this thing was going on, I think it's unjust to hold him responsible."

He added after further questioning: "You have to be fair to Dewey."

Asked about his stand on off-track gambling, O'Dwyer said that since "people will gamble... in New York and any other place" it should be taken from under the influence of the underworld "by legal control."

He said: "It's a cowardly thing to see all of this gambling handled by the underworld when it could so well be controlled by the state and federal governments."

Commission Demotes Ecorse Police Chief

DETROIT (AP)—Alvin Royal is no longer police chief in suburban Ecorse. He was demoted to detective lieutenant Thursday when the Ecorse Police and Fire Commission found him guilty of insubordination.

He was specifically charged with refusing to follow commission orders and openly defying two commissioners. Royal was replaced as chief by Insp. Alvin Cillman.

Shelley Winters Will File for a Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Shelley Winters' attorney said last night she will file a divorce suit soon in Santa Monica Superior Court against Vittorio Gassman, Italian actor.

Jerry Giesler, who filed the suit in Santa Monica last Jan. 18, said the couple has reached a friendly agreement and that Gassman will not contest the divorce action, which will charge mental cruelty.

The agreement reached in Rome provides for Miss Winters to retain custody of the couple's 11-month-old daughter and for Gassman to pay $5,000 a year toward the child's support.

Doubts Ike Veto of Farm Crops

Ellender Believes He Lacks Courage to Turn Down Parity Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today he doesn't think the President "would have the political courage to veto" a congressional decision to extend present farm price supports.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said he would recommend such a veto to President Eisenhower. The President and his farm Cabinet member have recommended a program of shifting to a flexible system of price supports, ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

It would replace the present fixed 90 per cent support program on basic crops which expires at the end of this year.

Under fire for two days by the House Agriculture Committee for his proposals, Benson was summoned back for further questioning.

Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn.) announced in advance that he was drafting a plan to get rid of the dairy products now bulging government warehouses.

Benson disclosed yesterday he will announce before April 1—possibly next Monday—the administration program for getting rid of mountainous dairy surpluses, including butter stocks which reached a total of 311 million pounds this week.

There were indications this program would divert butter into regular trade channels at prices to the advantage of the housewife.

"I should think they ought to find a disposal program," Andresen commented. "They've been working on it a long time."

Ellender, ranking Democrat on the Senate committee, has moved for a two-year extension of the 90 per cent supports in the Senate without waiting a decision by the Agriculture Committee.

He said he has backing of 50 or more senators.

French Hit Vietnam Near U. S. Aid Center

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French Union troops, tanks and artillery smashed a strong Vietminh drive today near Son Tay, a key center for U. S. economic aid projects. The French reported 125 rebels were killed and 42 captured.

The American Foreign Operations Administration has been pouring money into irrigation and other agricultural improvements in that region, 35 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The Communist-led Vietminh, which has threatened to destroy U. S. aid projects, infiltrated around Son Tay. "Several companies" of the rebels finally entrenched themselves in the village of Can Kiem, 10 miles to the south, a French army spokesman said. In fierce fighting, the French beat off two attacks and drove the Vietminh into the surrounding hills, it was reported officially. French losses were described as "light."

Truth, Re-discovered, Can Stimulate Dullish Minds and Thus Lift Horizons

By ERWIN CANHAM
Editor, The Christian Science Monitor

There are many different roads to faith in God. I found mine this way:

When a small boy of 10 sees his mother change from a lifelong semi-invalid into a picture of blooming health and fruitful activity, he is naturally happy and grateful . . . and he is curious about what has worked the change.

And when he sees his father change from a restless, incontinent, trouble and aimless man into a person of purpose and conviction, he suspects that something big has happened.

I was that boy. I saw those amazing changes. And I wondered.

My youth was spent in Auburn, Maine, in a happy, peaceful, serious, hard-work environment. It was a part of our family tradition to work hard—children, too.

We had very little money, but we never felt poor. Until I was in high school, I doubt if our family income ever averaged as much as $30 a week. My toys were often secondhand, my clothing strictly utilitarian, and our diet very plain.

Despite her frequent illnesses, my mother helped make both ends meet by working whenever she could in the newspaper office where my father was employed.

For years, my parents were itinerant country correspondents for the newspaper. They would travel to surrounding towns by street-car, by train, or often by horse and buggy to gather the news and write it up for the paper. Often I was taken along.

Thus was our little family well-knit. We shared our thoughts and our pleasures. Our very sharing, however, meant also sharing the inadequacies and uncertainties of life. Life was tolerable, life was sometimes fine, but life was, somehow, always overcast.

Overshadowing us constantly was my mother's recurrent illness. Because my father was always restless and insecure, there was no focal point in our lives. Despite all the fine and lovely things I recall, we lived, nevertheless, in an atmosphere of spiritual gloom and low-visibility. In every sense, we were earthbound.

Then disaster struck. My mother became seriously ill with tumors in her throat, and doctors said they could do nothing for her.

In the months preceding this crisis, my mother had heard of Christian Science. Now, so desperately near death, she asked me to obtain the services of a Christian Science practitioner.

We located one, over 100 miles away, and we asked her by telephone to give my mother an absent treatment because we could not bring them together.

Treatment, we learned, is prayer. Prayer used in the manner of the request made to Jesus by the centurion (Matthew 8:5-10) who asked that Jesus heal his servant.

Jesus on this occasion agreed to go to the sick man's home, but the centurion said that was not necessary—he knew, if Jesus said it would be so, it would be accomplished.

"And Jesus said unto the centurion, 'Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee.' And his servant was healed in the self same hour."

Across the distances, then, we joined in prayer.

We prayed, we prayed hard . . . My mother was completely healed. From then on until her passing, nearly 40 years later, my mother enjoyed the most radiant of good health.

That morning, my father's life changed too. Imbued with this new possibility of spiritual healing, he derived from my mother's experience the strength which was to conquer all the problems that faced us.

Suddenly his life began to take on direction and purpose, which he never again lost. Ultimately he became the agricultural editor of two daily newspapers in Maine. For 30 happy and fruitful years, he traveled among his farmer friends, recording their progress towards better ways of farming and stimulating others to better methods.

Naturally I was vividly aware of the change in my family, and in myself. My own sickly boyhood turned into a vigorous and healthy life. From that day forth I do not recall a single moment when I was prevented, by sickness, from meeting whatever responsibilities faced me.

There came one period when I had to demonstrate my capacity. Entering a city high school from the country, I did not do well. I graduated with very mediocre marks and had to take entrance examinations in four subjects in order to be accepted by Bates College.

I realized that what I needed for the progress I wanted was far more than the knowledge I lacked, so, with the aid of my parents, I turned more actively to Christian Science, and used the strength of its spiritual resources. I began more seriously to study and to live the faith which I had known for eight or nine years.

As any man, if truly in search of God has learned, my mind responded to the stimulation of Truth re-discovered, and my horizons lifted.

I passed the examinations. In college I was on the honors list the first semester. I never looked back.

I know now that we all have at hand the well-springs of God's power. I believe that almighty power, whether it knows it or not, is eager for a spiritual dawn.

Many men today are saying, sometimes with a voice of anguish, that peace can be found only in the minds of men.

All we need to do, to fulfill that peace, is to understand and apply the spiritual strength which has already brought human society through many wildernesses, and will ultimately lead into the promised land of God's governing.

Engagement News Heralds the Approach of Romantic Spring Season

Capezio Shoes Have Romantic Past

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

When you hear the name Capezio, you immediately identify it with shoes, but do you know of the romance behind those shoes?

A cobbler, Salvatore Capezio came to the United States in 1887 and opened a shop across from the Metropolitan Opera.

Pavlova, the famous dancer, always came to Capezio's to have her slippers repaired, but one day when the cobbler could no longer repair the shoes, he decided to try his hand at making ballet slippers.

These slippers were the first ever made in the United States, but the famous dancer was so pleased with them, she wanted to have all of her slippers made by Capezio.

Something very important happened to Mr. Capezio at that point—his conversion from a regular cobbler to that of a shoe customer was in the making.

He always loved dancers—he even married one—so he seized upon the opportunity to devote himself solely to the art of shoeing them.

His creations caught the Met by storm, and the artists adored the things he made for them. The demand for the slippers continued, and today 90 per cent of all ballet slippers in the United States are made by the company he founded.

Mr. Capezio died in 1940 at the age of 70, but not before Capezio had become a synonym for dancing shoes everywhere.

Since a dancer's feet must be pampered, both on and off-stage, terpsichoreans began wearing soft, flat ballet slippers for street wear. After a time non-professional women began to take notice, deciding they could enjoy the luxury of comfort too.

The new look with the flaring ballerina skirt, sweaters and blouses helped to impress Capezio with the consciousness of the non-professional American woman.

New York designers, recognizing the need for a complete fashion look, have this company design shoes for many of their costumes.

Today, the shoes which are designed from the ballet slipper are made in all fabrics and leathers, and very often customers purchase the shoes with the idea of getting a costume to match.

These shoes are comfortable, attractive and, most important of all, there is a Capezio for every occasion.

Capezio received the Coty and the Neiman-Marcus awards for its greatest contribution to the fashion world.

Capezios, which may be purchased locally, will soon be available for men.

'The Heiress' Boasts Extra Busy Cast

BIRMINGHAM — Three of the busiest people in Birmingham are included in the Village Players' March invitational production, "The Heiress." Presentation dates are Friday and Saturday evenings, March 26 and 27.

Walter Skinner, as Dr. Austin Sloper, will play the role that Basil Rathbone made famous when the play was first presented in New York City in 1947.

In addition to the demands of his business and rehearsals, Mr. Skinner is also president of the Birmingham Community House. Before he was elected to that office he had agreed to head the Community House's annual fund-raising drive, the Roll Call.

The role of Catherine Sloper, heiress to Dr. Sloper's fortune, will be played by Mrs. Edward J. Potter. Besides dividing her time between three small children and frequent rehearsals, Mrs. Potter is in the throes of moving to Chicago.

The director of "The Heiress," Mrs. Berrien C. Ketchum, is also directing the annual Roll Call for the Birmingham Community House. This makes it necessary for her to spend five days each week in her office at the Community House.

Mrs. Ketchum is also adult adviser to the Thespians, a high school dramatic club. This group of about 130 members from the 9th and 10th grades meet twice each month to study all phases of play production. The Thespians recently produced "Danbury Fair."

Other members of the cast for the Village Players' show are Ralph Skinner, H. J. Crichton Jr., Mrs. Rolfe C. Spinning, Mrs. Charles N. Blunt, Mrs. Granville Ryan, Mrs. William R. Candler and Mrs. George T. Dwelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Reed have just learned that the reservations they have been waiting for have come through and they will sail for Europe from New York on the United States April 10.

First they will go to England for a short stay and then cross over to the continent and go straight to Paris to meet their daughter, Peggy Ann, who is taking her junior year at Smith College abroad.

During Peggy Ann's spring holiday the three will travel about together through France and Switzerland.

After a few days in Nice, Peggy Ann will return to her studies in Paris and Mr. and Mrs. Reed will do some traveling through Italy before sailing for home on the Independence from Naples. They will arrive in New York May 25.

While the Reeds are in New York City they will visit another daughter, Sarah, who is studying dancing there.

Their third daughter, Lisbeth, will vacation in Idaho with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Snook of Los Angeles, while her parents are away.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Parrish and their daughters, Karen and Sonja, are leaving next Wednesday for a three-week vacation at Lauderdale-by-the-Sea, Fla.

Thursday, Mrs. Ralph H. Hunt and her daughter, Bonnie, will also leave for the same place. They will be gone for three weeks and they will be joined later by Mr. Hunt and son, David, who will go down for his spring vacation from Ohio Wesleyan University.

Mrs. A. J. Brandt is in College Park, Md., seeing her new grandson, William Fritz Brandt, born March 6. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Brandt. His mother is the former Matice Fritz.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris M. Halsted are planning a buffet supper to be given in their home on Dorchester road, March 20. Their guests will be a group of friends who meet from time to time for dinner and cards.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Owen A. Luckenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Backus, Mr. and Mrs. T. Norville Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Burke and Dr. and Mrs. Loren C. Spademan.
