23 Persons Killed in Helicopter Crash

PARAMOUNT, Calif. (AP)— A big passenger helicopter en route from Disneyland to Los Angeles International Airport puzzlingly came apart in the air last night and crashed, killing all 23 aboard, including 9 Ohioans on a family vacation.

A team of experts began analyzing wreckage to try to find what happened.

As authorities worked to identify victims, Mrs. Jack Garner of Columbus, Ohio, said she was notified that her parents, grandmother, three uncles and two aunts were listed as on the Los Angeles Airways flight.

She listed them as Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Mack, her parents, Walter Mack, an uncle, and Ina Sanders, her grandmother, all of North Canton, Ohio, and aunts and uncles Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sanders of Mingo Junction, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Culp of Canton. She also named Mary Katcher of Steubenville, Ohio, a family friend, as aboard.

The twin-rotor craft broke apart 16 miles from Los Angeles International Airport.

★ ★ ★

The cause of the crash was listed tentatively as rotor failure after witnesses told of seeing a rotor blade spin off the craft moments before it plunged to earth, raining debris over a dairy farm.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles Airways suggested the crash may have been caused by a collision but William Byerly of the Federal Aviation Agency said investigators had no evidence of it.

The bodies of all 23 persons aboard were found in or near the wreckage, many of them still strapped in seats. Witnesses said they heard a loud pop before the helicopter crashed in two large sections and dozens of smaller pieces.

DISNEYLAND FERRY CRASHES—This is the wreckage of a large helicopter which crashed on a dairy farm in Paramount, a Los Angeles suburb, last night while en route from Los Angeles International Airport to Disneyland. The craft, which witnesses said came apart in the air, carried 23 persons, none of whom survived.

Congress Passes Credit-Cost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Johnson a major consumer protection bill requiring disclosure of the annual cost of interest on most loans and credit purchases.

The Senate and House enacted the bill yesterday with near unanimous support.

"I am overjoyed that the truth-in-lending bill so ardently sponsored by President Johnson has passed both houses," said Betty Furness, the President's adviser on consumer affairs.

The far-reaching measure, a highly controversial subject on Capitol Hill for eight years, was broadened just before enactment to include besides credit disclosure:

- The first federal limitation on the amount of a worker's wages that can be garnished (ordered withheld for payment of debt).
- The fixing for the first time of strong federal criminal penalties against organized loan sharks who extend, finance or collect payments on credit with unreasonably high interest.

$100 BILLION COVERAGE

The bill will cover about $100 billion in annual loans and purchases.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief Senate sponsor, said if it "increases price competition among creditors, consumers can save millions or even billions of dollars a year through lower interest charges."

The bill first was introduced in 1960 by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill. Strong opposition from retailers and lending institutions continued for years.

Stores which extend credit and financial institutions which make loans will have to make two important disclosures under the bill:

- The annual interest rate figured on the declining balance of the obligation.
- The total cost of the credit in dollars and cents over its full life.

★ ★ ★

The total cost requirement will not apply, however, to first mortgages on homes.

Harriman, Thuy Agree Failure of Talks Possible

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, conceding that the U.S.-Vietnam peace negotiations could fail, said today: "You can't keep talks going just as a propaganda medium."

North Vietnam's envoy to the discussions, Xuan Thuy, had raised Wednesday the possibility of failure. In the same speech he appealed to U.S. and world opinion to put pressure on Washington to end promptly and unconditionally all bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam.

Harriman was asked today when he left his office in the U.S. Embassy whether he considered Thuy's statement a threat.

He replied that he didn't take it as "much of a threat," that it seemed to him to arise naturally from other subjects Thuy had been discussing. Then Harriman added: "It's always a possibility, you know, that these talks would break down. The talks can just as well break down on the United States side if they (the Americans) think they (the North Vietnamese) are taking advantage of the restraint in the bombing."

Earlier in the day, Harriman had dismissed Thuy's statement of yesterday as a matter not to be taken seriously. In his second encounter with newsmen, at midday, he apparently had given the question further thought and decided to counter the North Vietnamese maneuver with one of his own.

Involved in this appeared to be the obvious question of who would be blamed if in fact the talks did eventually collapse.

"My own judgment," he said, "is that we're here for a long time, that the other side feels they want to have talks, and certainly President Johnson has shown every indication of wanting to come to agreement.

"But you can't keep talks going just as a propaganda medium. We have to move into a period of more productive results."

175,000 Jobs for 'Hard Core'

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II said today the nation's businessmen have pledged to provide more than 175,000 permanent and summer jobs so far in a drive to find work for the hard-core unemployed.

Ford discussed the campaign at the annual Ford Motor Co. stockholders' meeting in Detroit.

Ford, who is chairman of the board of the automotive company, also heads the National Alliance of Businessmen, established by President Johnson to place 100,000 hard-core unemployed in jobs by the summer of 1969 and 500,000 by the summer of 1971.

★ ★ ★

"I have been surprised and encouraged by the support the Alliance has received from government agencies, community organizations, labor unions and especially from the business community," Ford said.

CRISIS EMPHASIZED

Discussing racial strife, Ford said riots that swept Detroit and other cities last summer and this spring represent the most serious domestic crisis since the Civil War.

Reviewing the company's progress in the industry, Ford said results so far in 1968 have been excellent."

Pontiac Div. Sales Jump for Period

Pontiac Motor Division reported today that its daily rate of sales during the middle 10 days of May jumped 33 per cent over last year.

Thomas L. King, general sales manager, said that 21,806 new cars were sold during May 11-20.

This compares to 18,464 units sold last year.

He pointed out that there were only eight selling days in the period compared to nine in the same period a year ago.

Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first arrests in the Poor People's Campaign were made today as police jailed an estimated 75 demonstrators who were singing outside a House office building.

Detroiter Held in City Robbery

A Detroit man was arrested late yesterday in connection with the April 30 armed robbery of $50,000 from two GMTC Credit Union employes, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) revealed today.

Taken into custody in Highland Park about 7:15 p.m. was Robert Lamar Moree, 22, according to an FBI spokesman.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested on a warrant charging him with violation of the Federal Bank Robbery Statute.

Moree will be arraigned on the charge, which carries a maximum penalty of 25 years in prison upon conviction, in Federal Court in Detroit this afternoon, the FBI said.

U.S. MARSHAL

He will then be remanded to the custody of the United States marshal's office.

★ ★ ★

Agents said the combined investigative efforts of the FBI and Pontiac detectives led to Moree as their prime suspect in the robbery, which was executed in midday in the parking lot adjacent to the credit union, 939 Woodward.

The bandit had apparently waited at a nearby bus stop until the employes returned from the Community National Bank Branch across the parking lot.

★ ★ ★

He escaped in a waiting car with a canvas bag containing the money, according to a witness.

Tentative Plans Discussed for Urban Redevelopment

Tentative plans for redevelopment of Pontiac's downtown urban renewal land were discussed yesterday between top-level city administrative officials and architect-designer C. Don Davidson, a University of Detroit architectural professor, and Marvin Skelton, a financial consultant.

Davidson and Skelton are representing an unnamed developer who will soon make a proposal to the city for purchase of 27 acres of urban renewal land.

City officials were optimistic that continued progress could be made toward bringing a definite proposal before the City Commission, probably within the next month.

Davidson first announced that a plan would be presented to the city at a meeting of the Pontiac Area Planning Council March 7.

PROPOSAL TO BE PRESENTED

He said then that a proposal which should meet city approval would be presented in 60 to 90 days.

Davidson said results so far indicate he will just about meet that timetable.

City officials and representatives discussed a number of facets of the plans as now developed. Davidson said he believes that the proposal will fit into the urban renewal plan adopted by the city in 1961.

If all goes as expected, the representatives said, the proposal would be publicly unveiled before the City Commission or the Pontiac Area Planning Council.

★ ★ ★

As outlined publicly so far, the plan — being developed by Davidson and Bruno Leon, dean of U. of D.'s school of architecture — will emphasize construction of office buildings and apartment units.

★ ★ ★

There also will be a number of ancillary uses in the urban renewal area.

Weekend Soaking Forecast for Area

The Pontiac area will probably have a good soaking over the weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forcasts occasional periods of rain and minor changes in temperatures today, tonight and tomorrow. Not much change is Saturday's prediction.

Temperatures aiming for the mid-60s today will fall to 48 to 54 tonight.

Southeast-to-east morning winds will continue at seven to 17 miles per hour.

HIGH PROBABILITY

Precipitation probabilities are: today 100 per cent, tonight and tomorrow 70 per cent.

Fifty-two was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had moved to 56.

Youth Dinner Emphasis Positive

The emphasis was on the positive at last night's Pontiac Citizen's Committee on Youth awards dinner.

Five persons and an organization were honored for their contributions to youth at the annual dinner at the Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lino Romero, director of Oakland County Community Health Consultation and Education, urged a promotion of the positive and normal in adolescents rather than the abnormal. He delivered the main address to approximately 125 persons attending.

★ ★ ★

Among those present were the previously named teens of the week, who received recognition for their accomplishments.

AWARD RECIPIENTS

Awarded certificates were Mrs. David Saks, Rosemary Gayton, William Lacy, Cressy Larson, Clarence Barnes and the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA).

Mrs. Saks, active with the United Fund and the Pontiac Area Planning Council, taught language and physical education to immigrant children and has served as youth adviser at Congregation B'nai Israel in the city.

★ ★ ★

Miss Gayton, who works with the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity, is helping form a youth employment agency to aid youngsters in finding summer jobs.

Lacy is assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and pupil personnel services for the Pontiac School District.

CONTRIBUTION CREDITED

Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Urban League, was credited by the committee with an outstanding contribution toward improving the status and quality of involvement and opportunity for Negro youth.

Larson, who has worked with underprivileged boys and has served as youth consultant for several foundations, is the director of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

The PPOA was recognized for its support of youth athletic endeavors and contributions to the Oakland County Children's Center and the children's ward at the Pontiac State Hospital.

Judge Urges Anticrime Drive

Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore today issued a strong plea to state and Detroit area officials to undertake an intensive prevention program against crime.

Moore used the sentencing of Giles G. Gallaher of Ferndale on second-degree murder as a platform for expressing his concern over the rising crime rate and what he termed the failure of authorities to deal with the problem.

Gallaher, 22, was given 1-50 years in the state prison for the shooting last September of Michael Sass, 18, during an argument in a Royal Oak drive-in restaurant.

In recommending to correction officials that the maximum sentence be served, Moore said Gallaher is "typical of America's insurgent young criminals; youth who have been taught or permitted to flout society and exhibit disrespect for the law."

Oakland County, he said, has led the way in crime prevention, but now "the bad influence of vicious criminals and uncontrolled social offenders and plain immorality infesting Metropolitan Detroit is now spreading throughout adjoining counties."

Moore urged that the governor, the Legislature, the county boards of supervisors and the Detroit Common Council act immediately to solve the problem.

Unless this is done, said Moore, "the seeds of more and more crime and rioting are being sown. This is the only way to return permanently to an orderly community. With law and order restored, then, and only then, many social, economic and public services must be provided."

Using a high crime area in Detroit's 12th Street school community as an example to underscore his point, Moore said that no community can better itself until it is first "relieved of this unbearable burden."

He said a method must be devised to immediately remove the 1 or 2 per cent in the community who are juvenile delinquents and law violators.

Supervisory programs also must be set into motion for other violators before the balance of the good citizens in the community "can shed their fears, undertake worthy community and personal projects and upgrade the area in question," said Moore.

"Detroit, Wayne County and the State of Michigan are all most derelict in failing to face the problem," he said.

Rocky Pleases State GOP

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller apparently sparked a "we-want-a-winner" mood yesterday among Michigan delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The New York governor and presidential hopeful spoke to delegates and alternates for more than two hours behind closed doors. Response to his remarks was enthusiastic.

★ ★ ★

"Many of these people who were pro-Nixon were very impressed with Rockefeller," said Joseph Farnum, 2061 Avon Lane, Birmingham, chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee. "He did an outstanding job as far as I'm concerned."

Another delegate said, "I want a winner and a lot of other delegates want a winner."

Many undecided delegates said they liked the governor's frankness in responding to questions.

Questions about Vietnam, civil rights, fiscal and foreign policies, the draft and other issues were given Rockefeller prior to his visit.

★ ★ ★

Nixon will answer the same questions June 7 in Lansing.

Republicans have resolved to support Gov. George Romney as a favorite son.

WHAT ROMNEY WANTS

Rockefeller said Romney "wants to make the delegation an effective voice at the convention for the kind of government he believes in."

The New York governor declined to speculate on how much support he gained during his one-day trip.

HHH Gets Boost in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey's presidential aspirations received a boost in Pennsylvania today as 40 prominent state Democrats lined up behind his candidacy.

Former Pennsylvania Gov. George M. Leader announced formation of a Pennsylvanians for Humphrey Committee and praised the Vice President as the "Democrat who can win."

Some observers speculated the committee would guarantee Humphrey a majority of the Democratic delegation to the national convention.

DONALD E. BISHOP

Avon Lawmaker Is Candidate

State Rep. Donald E. Bishop, R-Avon Township, today announced his candidacy for reelection.

An attorney, Bishop, 35, of 1816 Ansal is serving his first term in the House as Representative from the 63rd Legislative District.

A member of the appropriations committee, Bishop said that the major lesson he has learned in Lansing is that most all legislation derives from a money foundation.

★ ★ ★

"Financial responsibility definitely does not mean budget cuts for the sake of cutting," he said. "The budget should show a prudent amount of growth in relation to economic development."

IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION

Bishop said that as a legislator the most important consideration to bear in mind is that there must be a priority arrangement for spending.

★ ★ ★

"As long as growth stays in line with economic realities, it is a sign of progress," he added.

★ ★ ★

"Some essential areas such as education must receive primary consideration. This is why I fought so hard to restore the $480,000 cut made in the Oakland University budget by the Senate.

★ ★ ★

In another education matter, Bishop recently was a cosponsor of a resolution that would have prohibited sliding scale tuitions such as used at Oakland University but it failed for lack of a needed two-thirds majority.

Editor Reveals Candidacy for State Legislature

Aldo Vagnozzi, chairman of the 19th Congressional District Democratic organization, announced today that he is a candidate for state representative in the 64th legislative district.

Promising to carry on a vigorous campaign based on issues, Vagnozzi said his job as editor of the Michigan AFL-CIO News has given him considerable insight into the workings of the Michigan Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Vagnozzi of 26193 Kiltartan, Farmington Township, has been involved in politics since he was an undergraduate at Wayne State University where he received his degree in journalism.

★ ★ ★

Vagnozzi, 42, also is treasurer of the Oakland County Democratic Committee and former president of the Farmington Township Club. He was an alternate delegate to the 1960 Democratic national Convention.

FIRST DEMOCRAT

The district which he is seeking to represent is made up of the cities of Farmington, Keego Harbor, Lathrup Village, Orchard Lake and part of Southfield, and the townships of Farmington and West Bloomfield.

★ ★ ★

He is the first Democrat to announce his candidacy for the office presently held by Raymond Baker, R-Farmington.

★ ★ ★

Born in Roseto, Italy, Vagnozzi emigrated to the U. S. when he was 7. Because of his fluency in Italian he served as an Army interpreter during World War II. He and his wife Lois have two sons and two daughters.

May 30 Summit in News Strike

MADISON, Wisc. (UPI) — Noted labor mediator Prof. Nathan P. Feinsinger said in a statement released yesterday that a meeting of all parties involved in the 190-day Detroit newspaper blackout has been called for May 30 in Detroit.

Feinsinger, a law professor at the University of Wisconsin, said the meeting "with representatives of the principal parties involved in the Detroit strike is with a view to an early and final disposition of all remaining unresolved issues."

Rap Convicted on Gun Charge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — H. Rap Brown was convicted last night of violating the National Firearms Act and was given the maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Brown was freed on bond pending appeal after the biracial jury returned its verdict in federal court.

★ ★ ★

Under terms of the $15,000 bond, Brown's travel was restricted to the Southern District of New York State.

The immediate sentencing by U.S. District Judge Lansing L. Mitchell was at the request of William M. Kunstler, of New York, chief defense attorney for the Black Power advocate.

PLEA FOR LENIENCY

Kunstler included a plea for leniency, describing the government case as an effort to "silence" Brown, a frequent and fiery speaker at civil rights rallies.

"It is time this persecution must stop and this is persecution of the most blatant sort!" cried Kunstler. "We recall that everything Adolf Hitler did was 'legal.'"

Avon, Rochester Agree on Sewers

BY JEAN SAILE

AVON TOWNSHIP — What appears to be a mutual back-scratching may heal the split between the City of Rochester and the township over sewers.

The township needs presently city-owned easements and the city needs the sewer pipe.

Avon Township last night said it was ready to sell and reports are that Rochester is ready to buy 2 cfs (cubic feet per second) capacity in the Paint Creek Arm of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor as it proceeds through town. The purchase of capacity would save the city the expense of building its own sewer through town.

The 2 cfs isn't much compared to the total capacity of the proposed 54-inch main and the township isn't going to miss it much, according to Donald W. Ringler, assistant Oakland County Department of Public Works director.

SELLING PRICE

The proposed selling price is $20,000, based on cost percentage less a percentage of the federal grant received by the county for the project.

Despite Supervisor Cyril Miller's protestations of township generosity in the face of Rochester's refusal to join the program at its inception, Ringler noted cooperation would be mutually beneficial.

A figure mentioned at the time Rochester was being considered for inclusion put the then village's share of the cost at $50,000. Because it has its own sewage disposal plant where it still intends to treat the sewage transmitted through the interceptor. Rochester officials wanted no part of the new expense.

The threat of forced inclusion is credited with election results which made Rochester a city and completely separate in government from the township.

ABANDON PLANT

One of the big items in that decision was the stipulation that Rochester would have to abandon its relatively new sewage treatment plant. It was noted last night by engineers that the city would still probably have to abandon the plant at some future date because of more stringent regulations regarding sewage treatment.

★ ★ ★

While the interceptor usage cost is considerable less to the city under the present plan, Ringler noted that a new pumping station will have to be built where the interceptor drains off into the sewage treatment plant.

★ ★ ★

Getting together on sewers was the second indication at last night's township board meeting of new-found township-city cooperation.

A report on the division of assets between Rochester and Avon revealed agreement regarding ownership of the park, township hall and garages.

FREE USAGE

As okayed by the board, the city will get the park with township residents to have free usage for five years. Stipulations are that the park — comprised of 18.18 acres — is to be operated as a park for 20 years and that if it isn't, ownership will revert to the township.

The park was township-owned, but is located within the corporate limits of the newly incorporated city.

★ ★ ★

The township hall and two township garages, also located within city limits, will remain in the hands of the township.

Keego Council OKs Building Borrowing

KEEGO HARBOR—The City Council here has taken steps toward the construction of a building to house the city's department of public works.

The council has given approval for the borrowing of $22,000 to be put into the building fund.

Council is also asking the planning commission to consider rezoning of land directly east of the City Hall as a site for the building.

The city already has preliminary plans for the structure.

AUTHORIZATION

In other recent action, the council authorized the mayor and clerk to execute the city's agreement with Pontiac on use of Pontiac's land-fill on Kennett Street.

★ ★ ★

Keego Harbor residents are to purchase dumping permits at the City Hall. Fees are $1 per pickup truck, 50 cents per carload, and $1 per cubic yard for large trucks.

★ ★ ★

A motion made in 1957 pledging 20 per cent city participation in blacktopping of streets was rescinded.

The council then instructed the manager to find out the amount cities similar to Keego Harbor are contributing for roads.

NOT CERTAIN ON SHARE

Councilman Vernon B. Edward, who made the motion and called for its nullification, explained that he wasn't sure if 20 per cent was the share the city should pay for paving of intersections and streets around the City Hall.

The original figure was set without detailed study, Edward added.

Tabled by the council was a request for a letter of approval regarding a 16-unit boat pier for Sylvan Bay Apartments of the Bert L. Smokler Co. The pier is planned for the Sylvan Lake side of the apartments.

The Smokler firm is requesting the letter as part of the procedure in applying for a pier permit from the State Conservation Department.

Before a letter is issued of either approval or disapproval, the city wants the Smokler Co. to assure that only 16 pier units will be built and that they will be restricted to apartment tenants' use.

Jet Airport Eyed for Imlay City

IMLAY CITY — This village's future may hold a small-jet airport, if a proposal suggested to the planning commission is realized.

Planning consultant Michael T. Manore of Parkins, Roger and Associates, Inc., of Detroit, outlined the possibility to the commission during consideration of the village's master plan.

Manore said an airport capable of handling small jets would be an "excellent complement" to other transportation facilities which appear likely for Imlay City in the future.

By 1990, he pointed out, the projected population for the village is 15,000, with another 15,000 predicted for surrounding Imlay Township.

TWO FREEWAYS

Also, State Highway Department plans call for two freeways—M53 and M21—to intersect near the village, which is already served by two railroads, Manore said.

★ ★ ★

To develop and administer the proposed airport, Manore suggested that the village and the township form a joint authority.

★ ★ ★

Because of the space needed for a jet runway, he said, the airport would probably have to be located south or west of the village, rather than inside the village limits.

Head of Board Praises New Superintendent

"We are extremely pleased that he has accepted our offer," said West Bloomfield School Board President Leonard Grossman about the district's new superintendent, Dr. Anthony P. Witham.

"We are confident that he will provide us with dynamic, forward-looking leadership," Grossman continued.

Witham signed a three-year contract with the board Monday. He fills the vacancy to be left by Dr. Leif Hougen whose contract expires June 30. The salary set for Witham is $22,000.

The career of Witham, 37, now assistant superintendent of Monroe Public Schools, has been entirely in education.

SETON HALL GRAD

He graduated from Seton Hall University in South Orange, N.J., and recieved his master's and doctorate degrees in educational psychology and curriculum development from Wayne State University.

He has taught elementary and junior high in Berkley Public Schools. He then worked for the Genesee County Intermediate School District as curriculum consultant and reading specialist for four years.

Witham spent one year as director of learning improvement services for the Flint Community College and then joined the Monrow system in 1963.

The new superintendent has directed Michigan Week activities in Monroe County the past two years.

William will be moving here in June with his wife, Betty, and daughters, Lisa, 10, and Carol, 6.

Summer School Sign-Up Is Near

WALLED LAKE — Registration for summer school in the Walled Lake District begins Monday.

Deadline is June 21 and, for secondary credit courses, June 24.

★ ★ ★

Recreation programs for elementary and secondary youngsters take in softball, Ping-Pong, tennis, archery, wrestling, basketball, and dances.

Adult extension courses planned are judo, welding, woodworking, intermediate and refresher shorthand, Bishop Sewing I, watercolor painting, and bridge.

COURSES FOR CREDIT

Credit courses meeting every day for two hours for six weeks include American and world history, math, English, typing, and science.

Fees range from $1 to $20. Further inquiries can be made to Oliver Rose at Walled Lake High School.

Swimming Pool Regulation Proposed in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — A city ordinance regulating all swimming pools that are more than 12 inches deep has been introduced before the council.

The ordinance will be up for final adoption at council's next meeting, June 4 at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The proposed ordinance calls for regulation of electrical work, plumbing, construction, location and fencing.

Penalties provided by the ordinance, as proposed, including $100 fine or 10 days in jail or both.

HISTORICAL COMMISSION

In other action at a recent meeting, the council created a Walled Lake Historical Commission on the recommendation of City Manager Royce Downey.

Council has asked Downey to select seven residents to serve on the commission and present the list for council approval.

★ ★ ★

"Every community needs to have its memory preserved," affirmed Downey.

He envisions the commission gathering historical data about the city and possibly purchasing an old house as a museum.

★ ★ ★

Council also awarded to Dow Chemical Co. the contract for dust control chemicals at $350 per application. The city has planned four applications.

Services Increased at Library in Novi

NOVI — About 1.1 million books and 3,500 films have become available to users of the Novi Library at 25870 Novi.

This increase in services is due to the library's recent joining with the Wayne County Federated Library System.

Users can order books and films through the Novi Library which makes the request to the Wayne system.

The membership in the system will cost users no more than the fees already charged, said Librarian Mrs. Robert Flattery.

White Lake Board Again Votes 'No' to Dawson Island Bridge

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A second unanimous "no" has been voted by the Township Board against the proposed bridge and causeway between Dawson Island in White Lake and land to the northeast.

The vote was taken at the request of the State Conservation Department which is weighing Mrs. Estelle Dawson's request to erect the bridge.

★ ★ ★

The conservation department has said that it has the last word on the bridge issue.

The first vote of the board for the department was taken last November.

A public hearing on the bridge permit was held May 9 by the department at Township Hall. Both sides of the issue were aired, with most of the nearly 100 residents attending expressing strong opposition to the structure.

'NO NEW EVIDENCE'

"The board felt that there was no additional evidence from the recent hearing to change its mind," explained Township Supervisor James Reid.

In other action at a recent meeting, the board discussed improvement of Hill Road from M59 to Brooks Elementary School, about one-tenth of a mile.

★ ★ ★

Planned is a meeting of the Huron Valley Board of Education, the county, the township and state highway department officials to study the project.

Avon Township OKs 3 Projects on Walton Blvd.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The township board approved plans last night for two large commercial developments and another apartment-home complex on Walton Boulevard.

The board agreed to waive building height requirements to allow Claridge Properties to erect a 10-story medical office building at the corner of Walton and Livernois.

The high-rise building is proposed as part of a $15-million complex comprising shopping and office facilities.

The board gave approval to the Aikens Fund of Pontiac for development of a shopping-office plaza northeast of the corner of Walton and Adams estimated to cost more than $10 million when complete.

DEFINITE PLANS

James Howlett, attorney for the developers, said definitely that Mitzelfeld's and Demery's Department Stores would be a part of the complex. Also proposed is a theater and restaurant.

Abutting the proposed commercial property is a site planned for apartments and homes for which the township board gave the go-ahead to Argonaut Investment Co.

★ ★ ★

The company proposed 110 homes in the $45,000 class behind the Danish Old Peoples Home along Brewster Road and 298 apartment units adjacent to the Danish home along Walton.

Trustee Earl Borden cast the lone dissenting vote for rezoning approval.

Auburn Heights JCs Elect Officers

Robert C. Lewis Jr. of 716 Southhampton, Pontiac Township, has been elected president of the Auburn Height Area Jaycees.

Lewis is a floral designer with Garden Gate Greenhouse Inc., 570 Auburn, Pontiac, and is currently a candidate for the Avondale Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

Other officers elected are James St. Louis of 54 College, Pontiac Township, internal vice president; Rober Wood, 3621 Havens, Pontiac Township, external vice president; James Weaver, 224 Grey, Pontiac Township, secretary; David VanderLaan, 1277 Ashover, Bloomfield Township, treasurer; and Tomas Lawson, 83 Purdue, Pontiac Township, and Gerald Hanley, 3470 Greenwood, Avon Township, directors.

Youth Guidance Head Reelected in Avondale

The Avondale Area Youth Guidance Committee has reelected Gerald Hanley, 3470 Greenwood, Avon Township, as chairman.

He will be assisted by George Billings, vice chairman; Mrs. Edward Loeser, secretary; and Mrs. Raymond Ballard, treasurer.

Chicken Dinner Slated

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The Thomas Chapter, OES, will serve a public chicken dinner from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday at Oakwood OES Hall, 5855 Oakwood.

In Independence Township

Fire-Equipment Purchase Eyed

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board is considering the purchase of $50,000 worth of new township fire equipment.

The fire chief and his assistants have been instructed to prepare specifications relative to pumpers and tankers. Also under consideration is the construction of a new fire hall on township property at the corner of Maybee and Pine Knob roads.

★ ★ ★

Officials noted that the township fire fund, fed by a special 1-mill levy, is now at $70,000 and that another $40,000 can be expected with collection of the December tax bills.

Four residents of the Sashabaw-Maybee road area have asked the township board for a traffic light at the intersection in view of Tuesday's fatal accident there.

SEVERAL YEARS

It was reported that for several years the township board has attempted to get a light at the corner and also on Dixie Highway at the Sashabaw and Maybee road intersections.

★ ★ ★

Supervisor Duane Hursfall said that traffic counts taken by the Oakland County Road Commission and the State Highway Department had so far resulted in denial of such installations. He said the installation of traffic signals could be accomplished only by either county or state governmental body, depending on the roads involved.

The possibility of a meeting between citizens and both road groups was discussed, but no definite plans were made.

Library hours will be changed beginning June 3 on recommendation of the library advisory board. The facility will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

An ordinance which would allow for the splitting of recorded lots not currently allowed under the state's recently adopted "New Plat Act" was presented for study by attorney Paul Mandel. No action was taken.

NATURAL BIRDLAND—Ducks know where the living is easy, and three of them take off for an afternoon swim on the pond behind the Gust Headbloom home, 1470 N. Livernois, Avon Township. It won't be long before a coterie of fuzzy ducklings are following in their wake.

'Drug Abusers Are Sick'

BY L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor-Suburban

"The drug-dependent patient is a very sick cookie. Don't throw him out of your office."

This was the plea made last night to a small group of physicians at a dinner meeting at the Kingsley Inn by a nationally ranked drug expert.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Herbert A. Raskin, clinical associate professor at Wayne State University and consultant to the Detroit Psychiatric Institute and the Detroit Department of Health, spoke to members of the Pontiac General Hospital drug abuse committee.

Physicians, he indicated, sometimes don't want to treat the drug-dependent person regarding him much in the same light as the alcoholic.

Dr Raskin sketched the drug abuse problem in terms of a pyramid. At the broad base of the pyramid is the drug experimenter — the one-time only or periodic drug user, while at the top is the smaller number of individuals dependent on a drug or drugs.

He emphasized that the problem often is not the drug, but what personality the individual brings to the drug.

★ ★ ★

"For years we've been looking at drug addiction from the wrong end of the barrel," explained Dr. Raskin. "We're been looking at it from the drug (standpoint) and not from (the view of) the person taking the drug."

Drug abuse exhibits a host of wide variations, according to Dr. Raskin. The range is from mild to total involvement, he explained.

PSYCHOLOGY INTERACTING

He indicated the basic consideration in drug abuse is the person's pscyhology interacting with the drug in terms of time and dose.

"There isn't any drug substance that can't be used properly, but no drug is safe if used improperly."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Raskin added that alcohol is the drug most often used improperly.

Since alcohol is both the most dangerous and legal, the drug expert said the physician finds it difficult in arguing with young people who contend marijuana should be legalized.

Dr. Raskin predicted that the history of marijuana would follow that of alcohol.

"Marijuana will move in the same direction as alcohol," he said, "and someday — if enough of us feel it can be controlled — we'll legalize it."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Raskin said that when the 19th amendment (prohibition) was repealed, the country decided that since 95 per cent of the people could handle it, the 5 per cent that couldn't would be sacrificed.

"You can't legislate dosage, however," he added.

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY

Dr. Raskin pointed out it would be impossible to say ('you can have two reefers a day') or to set up a panel to determine what individuals could or could not use marijuana.

He further pointed out that there is a growing social philosophy in behalf of legalizing drus.

★ ★ ★

With drug use and abuse there is a progression depending on the person and what he brings to his reaching out for drugs, according to Dr. Raskin, who is chairman of both the American Medical Association alcholol and drug abuse committee and the similar state society's committee.

Dr. Raskin forecast that the courts would soon change the legal view of the alcoholic, determining that the public drunk is a medical problem and not a criminal.

CLIMAXED STUDY

Dr. Raskin's appearance last night before the Pontiac General drug abuse committee climaxed a study of the problem by a group of about 10 area physicians.

The committee intends to set up a speakers' bureau to address civic groups and school children.

Loan Bill Loses; Sunday-Liquor Vote Is on Tap

LANSING (UPI) — Fears of new financial burdens on money-troubled families was a big factor yesterday in the defeat of a bill to allow loan companies to handle middle-sized loans.

On tap in the Senate today was a third "final decision" on Sunday liquor sales.

The controversal intermediate-loan bill would have authorized loan companies licensed and regulated by the state to handle loans of $1,000-$3,000 a higher interest rates than are charged by banks.

Opponents charged this would only help the loan companies but would create a burden on already debt-ridden families.

REBATE DEFEATED

Also defeated in the House was a bill to rebate $34 of the $35 fee paid each year by each uninsured driver to the motor vehicle accident claims fund if he gets insurance within a month after getting new license plates, and an amendment that would have repealed the $ annual fee now paid by insured drivers.

The House also did its share of accepting a compromise with the Senate on the sweeping bill to make landlords keep their property in good shape.

Citywide Plan for School Race Balance Asked

The Pontiac schools' citizens human relations committee has asked the school board to develop a citywide plan to promote racial balance in the district's schools.

The committee, which has expressed dissatisfaction with board's plans to relieve de facto school segregation, favors a modification of what is called the Princeton (N.J.) Plan.

First used in the late 1940s, the plan abolishes segregation between two schools by having all of the students of the two combined attendance areas attend one of the schools for certain grades and then all of them go to the other school for other grades.

For example, all seventh and eighth graders who go to predominately white Washington Junior High School and all Negro Jefferson Junior High would go only to Washington.

FALL FIGURES

All ninth graders who now go to both schools would go to Jefferson.

Figures last fall showed that 61 per cent of Pontiac's 6,696 Negro students attend predominately Negro schools.

Last December, the board of education adopted short-and long-range plans to relieve de facto segregation.

The short-range plan allows students from Jefferson to attend any other junior high school in the district next fall, provided that there is room and not too many other Negro students there and that they get there by their own transportation.

LONG-RANGE PLAN

A long-range plan includes the phasing out of Jefferson.

Pontiac Area Urban League, Pontiac Area Council of Churches and the school human relations committee say the desegregation plans are only a token gesture toward racial balance.

★ ★ ★

John Rogers, chairman of the human relations committee, says the group wants integration of elementary schools, which is not included in the short- or long-range plans.

DeGaulle to Plot Strike Strategy

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle called in his Cabinet today to plan moves to combat the massive strikes strangling France. Meanwhile, the Ascension Day religious holiday shut down most of the small stores and factories that had not been struck.

Paris had a deserted air as the Cabinet ministers drove up to the Elysee Palace. It was like a Sunday except that fewer cars than normal were out because of gasoline shortages and the taxi strike.

★ ★ ★

Army trucks which have been used for emergency transportation took the day off.

Over the nation, it was the same story. Restaurants, movie houses and food shops — many of them largely depleted of staples — were about the only businesses open.

CABINET SHUFFLE LIKELY

The Cabinet meeting was expected to be the last for several ministers. A Cabinet reshuffle is believed in the offing.

A few cracks developed in the strike front, but the number on strike was still estimated at 8 million, half the nation's work force.

Over North Vietnam

U.S. Loses 2 More Planes

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. Command today announced loss of two more planes over North Vietnam.

The command's statistics showed American pilots are flying more missions against the North and losing more planes than they did before President Johnson restricted them to the southern part of the country.

U. S. troops losses continued high, with 549 Americans reported killed in combat last week. It was the second highest weekly toll of the war.

The South Vietnamese governmeint reported 475 of its tropos killed last week. The allied estimate of enemy killed was 4,765.

PLANES LOST YESTERDAY

The two planes were lost yesterday as American fliers logged 135 missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, the highest number flown this month. The U. S. Command said three crewmen were missing.

Radio Hanoi claimed North Vietnamese gunners downed four planes yesterday and captured all the pilots. It charged that the United States is continuing "to conduct barbarous raids" on North Vietnam while W. Averell Harriman, the U. S. representative at the Paris peace talks, "claims the U. S. is ready to 'de-escalate the war.'"

Loss of the two planes raised the total reported lost in combat in the North to 10 in May and 842 since the start of the air war more than three years ago. One of the planes lost yesterday was a Navy photoreconnaissance RF8 Crusader, the other an Air Force F4 Phantom.

In February nine American warplanes were announced lost over the North. In March the number was 11. During April, first moth of Johnson's curtailment, 16 planes were reported shot down.

MORE MISSIONS

The increase in losses was matched by an increase in missions flown.

During March, while northeast monsoons still were producing heavy cloud cover and rain, 2,648 missions were flown over North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The monsoons began to lift in April. Pilots then were limited to bombing North Vietnam below the 19th parallel and 3,412 missions were logged. So far in May pilots have flown 2,645 missions.

Egypt Seen Creator of 'Made Work'

Don't be surprised if Egypt suddenly lays claim to the invention of mass employment schemes such as WPA, CCC and, recently, the Job Corps, supposed innovations of 20th-century economics.

She can base it on a British professor's theory that the pyramids were built not primarily as tombs, but as social activity to keep an idle populace out of trouble.

Looking back a few milleniums, Oxford University's Dr. KURT MENDELSSOHN notes that around 2700 B.C., Egyptian rulers succeeded in establishing a strong, central government after centuries of an uneasy and often broken peace between the upper and lower sections of the Nile valley.

Good times came to the land of the pharaohs. There was even a population explosion, but no one worried about it because an extensive irrigation and flood control program provided food for everybody.

There was a lamb in every pot and a camel outside every tent. Unemployment was at a minimum, except for three months out of every year when the Nile overflowed its banks.

This annual flood, according to MENDELSSOHN, posed somewhat of a problem for Egypt's rulers.

"During this time," he says in Science Journal, "the population was essentially idle except for the possibilities offered by tribal warfare."

★ ★ ★

So, in order to keep the restless masses out of fights, bars and belly-dancing joints, the rulers came up with the bright idea of building pyramids, MENDELSSOHN theorizes.

They could, he points out, commandeer a large labor force for three months each year and arrange for its feeding from the royal grain reserves. Thus the workers could be kept busy under supervision and, therefore, out of mischief.

A thought: Would a revival of the pyramid-building business, or something like it, do anything to settle current unrest in Egypt's neighborhood?

Scientist Says Rats Get Kick Out of Drinking-Water

An interesting story of rats making pigs of themselves comes from the laboratory of Dr. JOSEPH MENDELSON of Rutgers College, N.J.

The psychologist has discovered that the animals don't necessarily drink because they're thirsty; they get thirsty in order to drink.

The rats were outfitted with stainless steel electrodes in their brains touching the areas that regulate thirst. When they tripped a lever, they got an electrical stimulation that made them thirsty.

After numerous experiments, Mendelson noted that the rats would not press the thirst inducing lever when water was unavailable. But the same rats would continue to press the lever as long as water was available, even though they were already loaded to the gills, just so they could enjoy the reward or "fun" of drinking.

★ ★ ★

Presumably, there is a lesson here for humans.

Set 'em up again, JOE, while we ponder it.

Fewer and Fewer People Grow More and More

The trend toward fewer and fewer people on the farm which means that ever fewer people are growing the food and fiber for an expanding nation is continuing. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, farm employment last January reached the lowest point since records have been kept. The total farm labor force for the week of January 21 to 27 was only 3,493,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

Modern U.S. agricultural techniques have completely reversed the historical relationship between man and the land. For thousands of years, the land demanded and received the labor of man to the limit of his ability if he wished to keep himself and his family from starving.

Today this story is entirely different in the United States.

Man has learned with the help of science and industry to exact tribute from the land in the way of food and fiber on an ever-increasing scale. One farmer now feeds scores of people.

Whether this freedom from enslavement to the land remains permanent will depend to a great extent upon our ability to recognize the factors that made emanicipation possible.

These factors include such things as the right of self-government, the right to own property, and all of the other freedoms we have enjoyed in the United States for nearly 200 years.

Wallace Aim: Election in House

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Since speculation is a human pastime, I suggest as subject for thought what might happen if George Wallace gets electors of his American Independent Party on the ballot of 30-odd states this November.

MOLEY

My survey of several states indicates he might well get something over 50 electoral votes. His expectations are higher, but that sort of thing serves only for campaign oratory.

★ ★ ★

The mischief he is proposing is to throw the election into the House of Representatives. For the major candidates may run a close race and make such an election possible.

Many Americans, sensing that possibility, will be getting out their World Almanacs and turning to the text of the U.S. Constitution and examining, perhaps for the first time, the procedure required for the election of a President.

NEW HOUSE

Many possibilities provide material for speculation if, as is quite possible, the votes for Wallace should throw the election into the House next January — in the new House elected in November.

But the more probable result would be that the "representation" in the states carried by Wallace would vote for the Democratic candidate. For Wallace's party will have no candidates for the House and the states which he might carry have heavy Democratic majorities in the House now.

★ ★ ★

In the present Congress, 29 states have Democratic majorities in the House and the GOP has 18. Three are tied and would not count. Thus the Republicans must win House majorities in 26.

A fair guess is that such a reversal of strength is probable only if the Republican candidate wins by a landslide, in which case there would be no election at all in the House.

DESPITE ATTACKS

The mischief in the Wallace candidacy is that he might well elect a Democratic president even though he would have bitterly attacked him in the campaign.

He might, of course, dominate the Alabama delegation in the House and force it to vote for him. And that might be true in Mississippi and possibly Georgia. Or he might tell them to vote for the Republican candidate as the lesser "evil."

In that case, if neither major candidate received a majority of the states by March 4 the new vice president would move into the White House in permanent possession. And who would that be?

It would be the candidate for vice president who received a majority of the electoral vote. For Wallace will not or at least has not yet selected a vice presidential candidate to run with him. And one of the vice presidential candidates of the major parties would be that person.

★ ★ ★

If he should select a vice presidential candidate on his ticket and prevent the nonelection of a major-party candidate, the choice would go to the Senate under Amendment XII. And there the Wallace man would not be considered and a majority of members would decide. And since the next Senate will probably be Democratic, the Democrat would be chosen.

David Lawrence Says:

Court Attacks Property Rights

WASHINGTON—Nobody in official life would venture to exalt communism but, little by little, owners of private property are being deprived of their rights through rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States.

LAWRENCE

The latest decision proclaims that, even though a number of stores may combine to have their own private parking lot, this cannot be protected against picketing by labor-union advocates or by minority-group "demonstrators."

★ ★ ★

The case decided this week by the high court overruled a Pennsylvania state court which had enjoined picketing of the parcel-pickup area of a supermarket and the adjacent parking lot in a suburban shopping center.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, however, in writing the majority opinion, dealt not merely with the activities of labor-union pickets who were trying to keep business away from stores whose employes were nonunion, but also broadened picketing rights so as to include "consumers protesting shoddy or overpriced merchandise, and minority groups seeking nondiscriminatory hiring policies that a contrary decision here would have."

NET EFFECT

The net effect of the Supreme Court opinion is that a parking lot owned and operated by private businesses is nevertheless subject to picketing and demonstrations.

★ ★ ★

Although the case on which the decision was rendered this week arose out of picketing by labor unions, the ruling opens up the whole question of whether the premises of a retail establishment is a "public" place to which anybody can have access at any time for "communicative purposes" — such as arguing with customers in a store that they should refrain from buying goods until the owner changes his attitude on a public issue.

★ ★ ★

Certainly this is a broader interpretation of the "free speech" concept than has ever been rendered before by the Supreme Court of the United States.

RULING SIGNIFICANCE

The significance of the ruling may have far-reaching effects not merely on labor-union controversies but on the rights of demonstrators and crusaders to intrude on private property.

The real question is who is going to compensate the store owner when his business is directly injured by the license now apparently given by the Supreme Court to demonstrators or pickets to damage at will the owner of any business without incurring any responsibility for the loss.

Bob Considine Asks:

Why Ignore Fun City as Peace Talks Site?

NEW YORK — Why didn't anyone suggest New York City as the site for the peace negotiations? Why not? It could have broken any deadlock.

CONSIDINE

If Ho Chi Minh decided to do the talking for his side, he'd find Fun City fun. After all, he worked here as a waiter in a Chinese restaurant during one of his periods of being exiled from Indochina by the French. He could eat at his old joint during the course of the meetings.

★ ★ ★

His cause and that of the Vietcong has vociferous champions here in New York. He would have felt very much at home on the Columbia University campus, as did a couple of his avid admirers, Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown, and the young man who proudly waved the Vietcong flag from the ivy-clad tower high on Morningside Heights.

He would find New York more hospitable than, let's say, Warsaw. Poles, as well as Czechs and Romanians are "Getting Drunk on Freedom," as the lead article in the current issue of Atlas magazine backs up with chapter and verse.

WOULD BE SAFE

Ho (and any other world figure except perhaps Nasser) could ride to the New York meeting site in a subway, taxi, bus, or go on foot — and be perfectly safe. By contrast, President Johnson, if he chose to do his own talking, would have to be spirited to the talks.

The President of the United States, leader of the Free World, champion of civil rights, sworn enemy of poverty, distributor of needed aid to more than 100 nations, etc., etc., etc., might find New York City more hostile than would Ho.

★ ★ ★

It is a commentary on the times (and on the increased vigilance of the Secret Service) that the President can no longer announce in advance where he intends to appear, cannot just step into a car and go for a ride through the streets, cannot take in a movie or a stage show or go to a public restaurant — as you and I.

On the occasions of his latest trips to New York the President has come into the city by chopper, using the sheep meadow of Central Park as a heliport.

Police protection along the route of his ride to his assignments has been without precedent, with the possible exception of the security which engulfed Nikita Khrushchev when the latter came here to beat his shoe on a U.N. desk.

Reader States Criticism of News Media Reporting

After reading newspapers and watching politicians on television, I am convinced that we are trying to prove to the world that we are a sick and declining nation. Politicians promise everything and pass new legislation whether we want it or not. They constantly make new laws then turn them over to the law enforcement agencies who become the scapegoat when they try to enforce them and irate or irresponsible groups cry "police brutality."

★ ★ ★

Any act of violence or civil disorder is blamed on lack of education. This seems to be the politician's cure-all for everything. The news media are equally to blame for the continual rise in the national unrest. It seems the motto is any bad news is good news. The publicity given some has been sickening.

★ ★ ★

Kooks broadcast how they could burn their draft cards or their country's flag, loot stores, shoot at police and riot for any or no reason. They get full coverage. If these incidents were reported and depicted as they are—lawless, treason and intolerable—then the Stokleys and Rap Browns and college draft dodgers wouldn't be encouraged to go on to greater acts of national destruction.

'Politicians Are Overburdening Taxpayers'

The current breed of politicos seems to have a one-track mind—ways and means of getting more and more taxes from the over-burdened taxpayer. A special medal should be issued to the Independence Township Board for its resolution to employ two men at $2.50 per hour to update property assessments for all homes in the Township. After the increase caused by the State equalization formula, this is adding insult to injury.

★ ★ ★

Of course, at $2.50 per hour, they will be highly trained, qualified assessors. It is expected the job would more than pay for itself and increase the Township coffers. Isn't it time that all these tax burdening incumbents were voted out of office? All taxpaying voters should show their displeasure by not returning to office any and all incumbents, then the future may hold some promise other than tax bankruptcy.

Commends Coverage of Opportunity Center

I commend The Pontiac Press for the article on the North Central Opportunity Center. This is exactly the type of thing our group in Lake Orion is trying to get across to people. We do not believe that just because a child has problems of one type he should be dropped at the wayside. Isn't it better for all concerned if the taxpayers' money is spent on an ounce of prevention instead of a pound of cure?

'Urge Open Housing Ordinance Approval'

The Pontiac Area Jewish Community Council, consisting of Pontiac Chapter of B'Nai B'rith, Congregation B'Nai Israel and Temple Beth Jacob, believing that every individual has the inalienable right to purchase, own, lease and rent property regardless of his race, religion, color, creed, national origin or ethnic background; and further believing that the adoption of an open housing ordinance in the City of Pontiac will further such inalienable right, thereby goes on record as urging all electors of Pontiac to vote to approve such "Open Housing" ordinance at the referendum election to be held June 24.

Suggests Moving Clocks Ahead Three Hours

I think we should move the clocks ahead three more hours in Michigan. I used to start work at 5 a.m., then 4 a.m., then 3 a.m. But the clocks still said 5 a.m. By moving the clocks ahead three more hours I would start work at 12 a.m. and would get third shift premium instead of just day rate.

Replies to Letter on Upgrading of Licenses

In reply to a recent letter on upgrading tavern licenses, why not oppose the licensing of additional liquor in supermarkets, party stores, corner markets and drugstores? These stores sell approximately 88 per cent of all liquor consumed, with no restrictions to quantity or amount consumed. Wouldn't these problems be better handled in businesses that operate under strict local and state laws?

★ ★ ★

With the increase in taxes and operating costs, the tavern owners need upgrading, without discrimination, to be able to compete for the small remaining part of our business against golf courses, bowling alleys, private and public clubs, Class C bars, hotels, motels, ski resorts, etc.

'Proposed Dump Could Poison Our Water'

I believe the eventual poisoning of both the Clinton and Huron River watershed systems would be the end result of a proposed 50-acre garbage dump above Maceday Lake. The Waterford Township Board of Appeals will make a final ruling on the garbage dump permit May 25th at 10 a.m. at the Waterford Township High School. Waterford and White Lake Township citizens must cry out now against this garbage dump. They must not be given a permit to poison our water supply.

Credit-Reporting Agencies Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate antitrust investigators are quietly examining credit reporting agencies to find out if federal laws are needed to protect ordinary citizens against agency mistakes that can ruin a person's credit rating.

★ ★ ★

The antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., plans early summer public hearings on evidence gathered by its investigators over the past several months.

★ ★ ★

"People are frightened," said a subcommittee investigator. "With the volume of credit multiplying, and increasing reliance on credit-reporting bodies, we must see if credit reports are as fair and accurate as they should be."

The customer who buys merchandise on credit in essence asks the merchant to approve his credit rating. The credit manager likely asks his local credit bureau what its centralized records show about the person's bill-paying habits. He may also question a credit bureau in the customer's former hometown.

PERSONAL DETAILS

A man looking for an insurance policy or a job may have credit agency checks run on him that involve not only his credit but other details of his

The price of a report is cheap. For 4 to 8 cents, the credit grantor can see if his potential customer is on a nationwide list of bad risks.

★ ★ ★

For $25, an insurance company can get a rundown on credit, personal habits and other details of an individual's life which may be based on from 2 to 10 interviews of his friends and associates.

A House subcommittee on privacy has been quizzing credit-reporting agency officials for several months in attempting to determine whether their activities constitute an invasion of privacy.

Hart doesn't raise that question. The senator assumes as fact that information on a person's finances must be available in today's credit card society. His investigation is aimed at finding out whether legal safeguards are needed.

★ ★ ★

An investigator for Hart's subcommittee said it has received scores of complaints from persons who claim to have been victimized by credit reporting snafus, and hopes to get more before hearings begin.

Among examples in the subcommittee files are these complaints:

A middle-income man from a Southern state told investigators that his new automobile had so many defects that the manufacturer's credit financing division finally agreed to take back the car and require no further payments.

★ ★ ★

About this time the man was hired for a better job. But he lost the job when his credit record turned up with a blot on it. It turned out that the auto firm had listed the return of the defective car as a repossession —and wouldn't change the records.

The man's new employer said "right or wrong, I can't be bothered" and fired him, the subcommittee investigator said.

A man in the housing business in an Eastern state had numerous lines of established credit to hi; several corporations. He got into a dispute with a bank over who was responsible for a $10,000 liability. The bank filed a $50,000 suit. Within a week, all of the man's other financial sources cut off his credit, the investigator said.

IGNORE DISMISSALS

The Hart subcommittee source said credit reporters quickly and regularly put suit-filing information into a person's files but are far less diligent about recording the dismissal of suits or settlements which favor the defendant.

Conyers Asks Del Rio to Remain Uncommitted

LANSING (UPI) — U.S. Congressman John Conyers of Michigan has asked State Rep. James Del Rio, a Detroit Democrat, to remain uncommitted in the three-way race for the Democrat presidential nomination.

Del Rio yesterday circulated a copy of a telegram from Conyers dated Wednesday that asks Del Rio to join with other national black leaders in a wait-and-see stance.

Conyers said a committee has been formed to interview the candidates with a view to determining the one that has the program "most relevant" to the needs of the Negro community.

Conyers said he had a series of meetings during recent months with the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Ralph Abernathy, Harry Belafonte, Richard Hatcher, Floyd McKissick, Stokely Carmichael, James Farmer and other black leaders to form "a national committee of inquiry which will concern itself with the qualifications and platform of the presidential candidates."

★ ★ ★

"The committee has resolved to remain uncommitted until such time as the determination can be made as to which of the candidates has the program which is most relevant to the needs of our people," Conyers said.

Coed Economizes by Living in Auto

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Living in a creaky 1949 model station wagon, Cheril Gordon, a 21-year-old college coed, says she keeps expenses down.

"Every night I look for a new parking place," says Miss Gordon, who calls her mobile home "Old Green Moose."

★ ★ ★

"I try to find a place where there are no bright lights, in some residential area under lots of shady trees. Sometimes you have to drive an hour to find one."

Although her father worries, Miss Gordon insists she is "perfectly safe." She is a junior majoring in physical education at Sacramento State College.

NO ONE ON STREETS

She explained Wednesday: "I usually study on the campus until after midnight, and there's never anyone on the streets when I park this Old Green Moose. I sleep in my gym clothes and at 6:30 every morning I just hop right into the front seat and I drive off."

Besides, Miss Gordon said, "the window panels are high and no one would ever suspect a girl is sleeping inside."

★ ★ ★

She showers every morning at the college gymnasium, and can even set her hair before an 8 a.m. class. She keeps her clothes in her gym locker, and "really it's all very convenient."

For cooking, Miss Gordon stows a Japanese grill amid her mattress, books and tennis racket in the cluttered rear portion of the car. A lounge chair is propped against the interior side of the vehicle.

$35 A MONTH

"I can get along very nicely without much money," Miss Gordon said. "I spend about $35 a month—and most of that is for gas."

Miss Gordon's father, a retired Air Force sergeant, lives 45 miles away in Fairfield.

"My father is constantly saying I'm off my rocker. He says, 'You're nuts but you've got guts.' But he wants me to finish my education, and we just don't have enough money to do it another way," she said.

Del Rio Cites Detroit Audit

LANSING (UPI) — Rep. James Del Rio, D-Detroit, Wednesday said a report released by Detroit's auditor general affirms House Investigative Committee findings that there has been mismanagement of funds in Detroit's antipoverty program.

Del Rio, at a news conference, said auditor Philip A. Mackinder's report showed that "sloppy" accounting of funds occurred in both 1965 and 1966.

★ ★ ★

The investigative committee said errors were found by the auditor in payroll and attendance records, in expenditure records and in budget revision records.

★ ★ ★

The committee, which is authorized to continue its investigation until the end of this year, last week turned its findings over to Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, the U.S. attorney general, the U.S. Justice Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

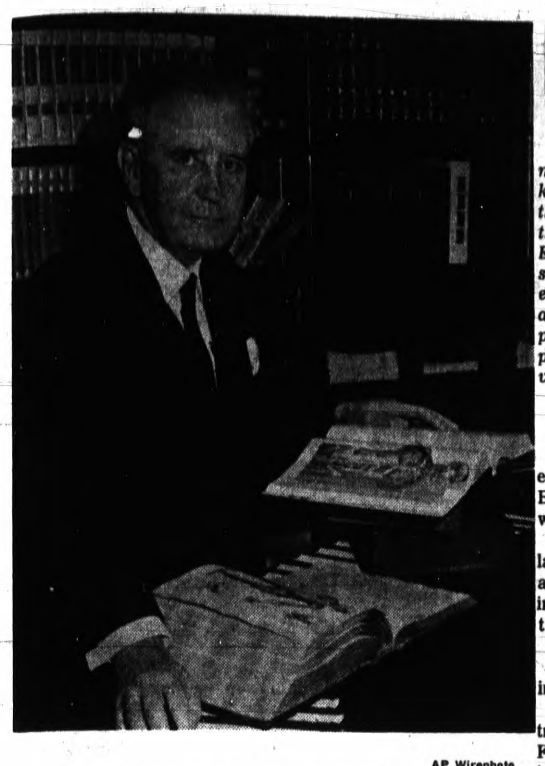
Britannica, 200 Years Old, Eyes Future



AP Wirephoto

A HEAP OF LEARNING—When first published in 1771, the Encyclopaedia Britannica took up three volumes. Its 23rd editor-in-chief, Sir William Haley, compares that edition with the current one, a 24-volume affair, in his Chicago office.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Three men started an inventory of knowledge in 1768, aiming it at the English-speaking peoples of the world. They called it the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Now, some 75 million volumes and 22 editorial heads later, more than an ocean away from its birthplace in Scotland, the encyclopedia celebrates its 200th anniversary, in Chicago.)

By WILLIAM CONWAY
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The new editor-in-chief of Encyclopaedia Britannica opened the interview with a size-up of the future.

"The spread of the English language — I suppose largely as a result of war — broadened interest in Western civilization," Sir William Haley said.

★ ★ ★

It also, he added, widened interest in reading about it.

English, the language of trade, Haley went on, replaced French, the idiom of diplomacy, in global usage.

"Airline pilots of the world use English," he said. "It will become the dominant common language."

That and that increase in education all over the world, he said, will give the reference work he edits "a tremendous future."

Haley speaks with the authority of a man who has been handling words professionally for a half-century.

★ ★ ★

He went to sea as a radio operator on a merchant ship during World War I. Back ashore in England, he tacked into journalism, and became managing editor of the Manchester News at 29. In 1943, Haley switched to the British Broadcasting Corp. as editor-in-chief and, in 1944, moved to the director-general's post. He became editor of the Times of London in 1952.

Then, at age 66, he became the 23rd in the long line of editorial heads of Britannica.

SPELLS OUT CONCEPT

Haley — slender, erect, white-haired — has occupied since Jan. 1 an office furnished sparingly with three chairs, shelves of books and a desk. The desk surface was bare except for two sheets of paper. Haley had been reading one and making notes on the other with a pencil. He removed his gold-rimmed spectacles and spelled out his concept of Britannica.

"First," he said, "I see it as the widest possible means of education of any publication.

If it is going to fill that role, it must be edited to be understood by the greatest possible number of readers. At the same time, it has to maintain the quality and authority it has had ever since those three gentlemen started it 200 years ago."

STARTED IN 1768

The three gentlemen were William Smellie, a writer of convivial habits; Colin Macfarquar, a printer; and Andrew Bell, an engraver who stood 5-feet-6 and began his career by engraving crests on dog collars.

They started a compendium of knowledge in December 1768 in Edinburgh, Scotland, and gave it the name it has borne for two centuries.

"Utility," editor Smellie wrote in the preface of the first edition, "ought to be the principal intention of every publication."

That thought fathered how-to-do-it articles on such things as beekkeeping, bleaching and brewing. Another entry offered a cure for baldness which suggested that the head be rubbed with a freshly cut onion "until it be red and itch."

FIRST EDITION

The first edition totaled 3,000 sets. It was completed in 1771, and packed three million words into three volumes.

The set now numbers 24 volumes, with about 36 million words on 28,000 pages.

With all that wordage, some errors are bound to get through. The classic, perhaps, was an abstruse mathematical formula that was buried up to its square roots in an article on physics. It got printed upside down and remained that way for 15 years. The author himself detected it when he finally sat down to redo the entry.

The episode underlines one criticism of Britannica — that some articles are written by specialists who are not accustomed to writing for the general public.

Another concerns the difficulty of keeping up to date in these ever-eventful times.

There is a printing every year now. Each of approximately 175 advisory editors reviews his field annually to see what entries need to be revamped or replaced. During a five-year period, 1963 to 1967, new articles totaled 5,800.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman estimated that 75 million volumes — the count is kept by books instead of sets — of Britannica have been sold through the years.

Despite a name that is as English as cricket, Britannica has been owned only by Scots and Americans.

PURCHASED IN 1901

A go-getting American, Horace E. Hooper, and associates bought Britannica in 1901. They moved it to the United States later. But, for a while, the corporation didn't do well financially in its new base.

Hooper talked about the business one day with a friend and fellow golfer, Julius Rosenwald, who built Sears Roebuck and Co. into a huge mail order house.

★ ★ ★

"You have the sales organization," Hooper said. "You should take over the encyclopedia."

But, in 1943, Sears presented the publishing company to the University of Chicago. William Benton, was was a vice president of the university at the time, acquired the common stock of Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. A spokesman said that since then the university has received more than $29 million in royalties.

EARLIER PAY

Benton — advertising man, former U.S. senator from Connecticut and now U.S. ambassador to UNESCO — has been chairman of Britannica for a quarter century.

The pay to contributing editors once was two cents a word. Albert Einstein earned $86.40 for a piece on space-time. George Bernard Shaw received $68.50 for a treatise on socialism.

★ ★ ★

Now, a spokesman said, the rate is flexible.

Britannica occupies four floors of what used to be a warehouse at 425 N. Michigan Ave. While work goes on there, as usual, a series of dinners and exhibits this year will mark the bicentennial.

Ground Rules for Girls Who Wed GIs in Hawaii

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press News Features

WASHINGTON—The June marrying season is upon us, and that means a lot of brides-to-be will be flying to Hawaii to wed soldiers arrived from Vietnam on rest and recreation leave.

I wrote Lelia L. Rankin, supervising marriage license agent for the Hawaii Department of Health asking for the latest rules so prospective brides can avoid any frustrating or heart-breaking mixups.

BAULCH

Both parties to the marriage must appear personally before the marriage license agent of the judicial county circuit. The Honolulu office is at 1250 Punchbowl. The hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Both must present premarital health certificates on the prescribed Hawaii form or on a form from a state having similar requirements. No Hawaii residency is required.

WAITING PERIOD

There is a normal three-day waiting period after application for a marriage license before the ceremony, but this can be waived by petitioning a district court judge. The judges are pretty lenient about this.

The legal age for marrying is 20. Under that age you have to have the notorized, written consent of both parents.

★ ★ ★

The minimum age is 18 for males and 16 for females. And for anyone 21 and under proof of age is required in the form of a certified copy of a birth certificate or baptismal record.

One extra reminder: Before you go to Hawaii arrange for hotel or other accommodations. Getting a place to stay isn't easy.

RIOTS' SILVER LINING

One of the silvery-lining aspects of the recent riots in Washington was realized by the police department. While soldiers and police were patrolling side by side the boys in blue did some recruiting for the police force.

As a result, 74 soldiers took exams to join up and 65 passed. They can get out of military service up to 90 days early to take jobs in this city, which is short of police.

★ ★ ★

Congress has completed action on the new housing bill for veterans in time for the summer home buying season, as I predicted earlier.

The main thing it does is increase the VA guaranty on loans from $7,500 to $12,500. That doesn't limit the total loan. But the VA can guaranty no more than 60 per cent, with a ceiling of $12,500.

BIG PROVISION

Under the new rules a veteran will be able to buy a home that costs more than the reasonable value as determined by VA appraisal, but the VA won't protect his loan beyond $12,500.

Another big provision will increase to 6¾ per cent the ceiling on interest on VA and FHA loans, which has made getting such loans difficult — especially in areas where builders have had to absorb discounts ranging from 5 to 10 points on no down payment sales.

Now the VA administrator will be permitted—until Oct. 1, 1969—to set the interest limits on VA home loans to meet the money market situation. He has to work this out with the secretary of housing and urban affairs, who handles FHA loans.

★ ★ ★

And now the VA administrator can help the veteran who buys a home with a GI loan guaranty and who finds himself owning a home with serious defects overlooked by VA inspectors. The VA can pay for the repairs, pay the home owner for them or take the home off the veteran's hands. The VA decides each case. Claims have to be made within four years after the loan is closed.

HEARINGS COMPLETED

The House Veteran Affairs committee has completed hearings on three other veterans bills and there seems little doubt they'll get through Congress this year.

Probably the next action will come on a bill putting under the Veterans Administration cemeteries now cared for mainly by the military and other agencies.

★ ★ ★

Next in line is legislation raising compensation for service-connected disabilities. The rates still haven't been decided but probably they'll be about 8 per cent for those receiving $10 to $90 a month and a healthy $100 for those permanently disabled receiving $300 a month.

★ ★ ★

An entirely new program is on tap for widows of men who die of service connected disabilities. For one thing, it would offer these widows school or college scholarships. And such widows who remarried and lost their veterans' widow benefits could regain them if widowed or divorced again. This privilege would not be extended, however, to widows of other veterans.

Victory Scored for Odd Names

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A blow has been struck for persons with such names as Ix, Quoork, Uy, Xixie, Yip and Zzzyandottie. And for Iqhal, Quackenbush, Ung, Xarhoulacos, Yzquierdo and Zap families.

These people, all of whose names appear in the city telephone directory, will be able to buy monogrammed stationery for the first time. Hallmark Cards here has produced a line of initial letter papers using all 26 letters of the alphabet.

Stationery manufacturers traditionally omit the initials I, Q, U, X, Y and Z when producing monogrammed papers because relatively few persons' names begin with these letters.

The company also retained Andrew Szoeke to design the alphabet. But not because of his own name. Szoeke is a noted New York calligrapher. Beautiful freehand writing, his specialty, is today almost a lost art.

Guido N. Conti

HOLLY — Service for Guido N. Conti, 44, of 15073 Riviera Shores will be 10 a.m. Saturday at Dryer Funeral Home with burial in Crestwood Memorial Gardens, Grand Blanc.

Mr. Conti died yesterday. He was employed at the Wolverine Machine Products Co.

Surviving besides her husband is her mother, Mrs. Maude B. Becker of Orion Township.

Legal Aid Society Busy, Says Director

Oakland County's expanded Legal Aid Society is off to a flying start, according to its new director.

William R. McNamee, who assumed his post in April, gave his first report last night to the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO).

He said in April, the program had handled about 190 cases. About half of these involved family and/or marriage difficulties, he said. Other cases were divided between housing problems, rent, employment, etc.

McNamee told the OCCEO that about half the persons involved were job-holders whose salaries were low enough to qualify them for the poverty level.

NATIONAL STANDARDS

Afterward, McNamee explained that a working man making $100 per week with six children would qualify under national standards on poverty.

He said that though these cases were often adequately housed and fed, the low amount of money per person in the families left little for any kind of extras including legal aid.

★ ★ ★

The trouble the families encountered mostly centered around credit buying and indebtedness, he said. "They get in over their heads," he commented.

McNamee said the Legal Aid Society, which has about $100,000 for operations this year ($25,000 last year), now has a backlog of two weeks in applications for aid.

REASON FOR BACKLOG

He attributed this to the area not having legal aid on such a high level previously. As a result, he said, many of the problems had existed for years.

★ ★ ★

McNamee speculated that either the case load would drop after the Legal Aid Society's four lawyers caught up with the backlog or else further expansion of the program would be necessary.

★ ★ ★

In other activity, the role of OCCEO had to be defined by Thomas W. Fowler Jr., acting chairman, and Edward P. Revis, acting director.

★ ★ ★

The question came before the commission as to why OCCEO staff members did not take a more active part in integrating school systems and in organizing Head Start programs.

★ ★ ★

The men indicated staff members and community aides are directed to advise and provide services but that organization of groups or movements were mainly the responsibilty of the persons, neighborhoods or communities involved.

Smother Flames

If a grease fire starts while you are cooking, do not attempt to remove the burning articles from the stove or you may get a bad burn. Instead, quickly turn off heat and cover the flame with a pan to smother it.

Detroit Still Hunts Police Head

DETROIT (AP) — Help Wanted: Police commissioner for nation's fifth largest city. Hours irregular, headaches many. Pay, $30,000 a year. Apply to Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, City-County Building, Detroit, Mich.

This job has gone begging since last Oct. 5.

★ ★ ★

The mayor is apparently having trouble finding a qualified man to take charge of the Detroit's police force, a force which in the past year has been hit by a "sick-call" strike to protest pay, has had to handle the nation's worst racial riot in recent history and which now must deal with a citizenry that is arming itself at a rapid rate.

Several times Cavanagh has advised newsmen they could expect announcement of a new commissioner in a matter of days, but he hasn't yet come up with an appointment.

WANTS TO RETIRE

Ray Girardin, for 25 years top crime reporter for the old Detroit Times, has been commissioner 4½ years and wants to retire.

Girardin advised Cavanagh prior to his 65th birthday last Oct. 5 he'd like to get out, but would hang on until the mayor could find a successor. Twice Cavanagh has obtained waivers for Girardin to continue, and could keep doing this for another year and a half.

★ ★ ★

But Girardin's current retirement waiver expires a week from this Saturday (May 25) and Girardin says he hopes the mayor comes up with someone, "acting or permanent," because he's anxious to begin a book he's under contract to write: "On Being a Cop."

On the word "permanent" may hang Cavanagh's failures to land any one of several widely known people he'd attempted to interest in the job.

ELECTION IN 1969

If Cavanagh hopes to continue as mayor he must stand for election in November 1969. He can give no guarantee he'll be elected if he runs. So the best a new appointee could bank on would be 1½ years in the job.

A spokesman for the New Detroit Committee, made up mostly of leading businessmen and industrialists, denies a report that the committee offered to underwrite on a long-term basis the pay of an outstanding appointee, come what may in next year's elections.

Possibility of new racial troubles this summer may also have discouraged would-be applicants. An eruption last summer resulted in 43 deaths and millions of dollars damage, plus abuse and around-the-clock duty for policemen.

Negroes complain that the police force is less than 10 per cent Negro, although the city's 1.6 million population is well over 30 per cent Negro. They claim discriminatory hiring practices prevent many Negro applicants from getting police jobs.

GUN SALES SOAR

Pistol registrations have been at double the rate of 1967, and a sharp uptrend has been reported by dealers in shotgun, rifle and ammunition sales. Some suburban police departments have supervised gun clinics and target practice for citizens.

Authorities have warned against either white or Negro communities becoming "armed camps."

In Detroit, as elsewhere, crime in the streets is on the increase and some critics have accused Cavanagh of requiring a "too soft" approach by police. Cavanagh counters that he favors rigid but humanitarian law enforcement.

Among those whom Cavanagh reportedly has attempted to interest in the commission's job are John Bugas, retired Ford Motor Co. vice president and a former Detroit FBI chief; William Hundley, the National Football League's security chief and also a former FBI agent, and Sanford Garelick, No. 2 man in the New York City Police Department.

NO REORGANIZATION

Something which might scare off others occurred only last Tuesday. Common Council killed by a 7-0 vote Cavanagh's proposed reorganization of the Police Department and also struck from his budget an additional 57 patrolmen to the department's authorized strength of 4,500.

Council did, however, approve a boost in the pay of patrolmen to bring them July 1 to $10,300 a year after four years of service. This would make Detroit's one of the world's highest paid police departments, with other salaries graded upward from patrolman.

★ ★ ★

Detroit policeman have their own union: Detroit Police Officers Association. And it gave Girardin several headaches before finally winning the pay boost.

First there was a slowdown in writing of traffic tickets, then an epidemic of "blue flu," during which patrolmen reported themselves in droves to be ill. These actions underscored their wage demands.

POLICE ABUSED

Police took a going-over from the public after last summer's riots, most complainants contending the department failed to act swift enough in the beginning, and Cavanagh later said: "Perhaps there were errors in judgment made by me in those first hours."

A few Negroes complained police moved too swiftly and roughly to ward off any major disturbance in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis, Tenn., earlier this year.

Cavanagh replied that a lesson learned in the 1967 riots was that "prompt and effective action is critical to keeping the peace."

Cavanagh named the Rev. Hubert Locke, a Negro, as administrative assistant to the commissioner, but after 1967's riots, Locke resigned to return to Wayne State University as director of religious affairs. The post still is vacant.

BANKING NEGROES

Highest ranking Negroes in the department now are District Inspector George Harge, a rank on a par with an Army colonel, and Stanley Rich, second deputy commissioner and department secretary.

When he first won election in 1961, with massive support from Detroit Negro precincts, Cavanagh persuaded George Edwards to resign as chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Cout to become his police commissioner.

Edwards left to accept appointment to the U.S. Court of Appeals at Cincinnati in December 1963, and Girardin, then a special assistant to the mayor, was named to succeed Edwards.

Edwards had succeeded Herbert W. Hart, a millionaire former grocery chain operator and often ranked among the country's 10 best-dressed men. Hart was appointed by Louis C. Miriani, whom Cavanagh unseated but who since has won a council seat.

Before Hart, commissioners had included Edward S. Piggins, a lawyer who is now a Wayne (Detroit) County Circuit judge; Don S. Leonard, retired state police commissioner and now a Recorder's (Criminal) Court judge in Detroit, and George Boos, a retired U.S. Secret Service agent.

A physicist has developed a process that he claims will make it possible to record on both sides of sound and video tape.

Effort Mounts to Cure Leprosy, End Fear of It

By Science Service

GENEVA — Few diseases frighten more than leprosy. From ancient, still-primitive peoples to modern societies, it conjures up the thought of a fellow human being with terminal symptoms of rotting limbs and a nightmarish face — classic images that provoke panic. The picture may be overdrawn.

Leprosy does, indeed, mysteriously infect people of every race and skin pigment. The truth, difficult for a skeptical world to learn, is that the disease is not extraordinarily contagious, and somehow, most people have little-understood, built-in defenses. Most mates of victims are safe. Prompt drug treatment prevents deformity and disability even in the infected.

* * *

The World Health Organization (WHO) is focusing not only on extensive research to discover the mode of transmission — and possibly a vaccine — for leprosy, but on the cultural aspects as well.

* * *

"Horrified communities must end the age-old isolation of lepers," says Dr. L.M. Bechelli, chief WHO medical officer for this disease.

Dr. Bechelli and his colleagues, in Geneva and throughout the world, are campaigning against leper colonies and against congregation of patients after treatment. "Discharged patients must be assimilated into the general population and discouraged from gathering in villages," he urges.

* * *

WHO estimates about 11 million cases exist; some three million have been registered. Almost two billion people live in areas, usually marked by unsanitary environments and malnutrition, where prevalence rates of one per thousand indicate the magnitude of the risk.

* * *

In Africa, up to 10 per cent of some peoples are infected. Brazil knows of tens of thousands of cases. China, Korea, Burma and India are other troubled countries.

More than half of cases are believed to be registered in Africa, the Americas and Asia, and about a fourth of these are under treatment, except in Asia where only about 12 per cent are being treated.

INDIA RATE HIGH

India has the highest rate, with about 2.5 million cases estimated. Mongolia seems remarkably free of leprosy.

Recently medical journals have reported on use of BCG vaccine, a tuberculosis weapon, against leprosy. But WHO's medical scientists, among others, find that, "So far, no significant difference in BCG-vaccinated and control groups has been established after two years of follow-up examinations."

Attempts to find chemicals that will confer immunity are receiving high WHO priority. In one trial with Dapsone (diphenyl sulfone) now progressing in India.

A Look at TV

Old Series Still Great

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I usually finish work about midnight or one in the morning, and most of the time I like to unwind before going to bed by — what else? — watching television.

The stuff I like to unwind with is the stuff that requires an absolute minimum of thinking — maybe a half hour or so of an old, bad crime movie that you can just tune into and out of at random, without feeling committed to it. It is a sort of visual version of the old detective novel habit before going to sleep.

Well, here in the Hollywood area we have quite a few television stations that go late into the night — and the wee hours that follow. But they are all getting pretty thin on good movie material that hasn't been seen before, and I know some of the parts in the old pictures by heart.

So naturally one switches channels looking for something new. Well, we have had some really wonderfully terrible Italian sex-and-scandal epics, with bad dubbing, ridiculous plots and everything else a late-night television fan loves in his heart.

REAL SURPRISE

But guess what the real surprise is. Friends, some of the best reruns in the late night hours are the old television series that we all pretty much thought were pretty good for video but wouldn't hold up too well against movies, no matter how bad the ancient Hollywood films. It's not true.

For example, recently I have been hung up on reruns of one of the best television series ever made, "Naked City." It is not only better than many good small pictures from Hollywood's past — it is a lot better than numerous so-called quality films. Of course we knew "Naked City" was fine stuff even when it was first shown, but I confess I am surprised at how really well it holds up.

★ ★ ★

I've seen late-night rerun of "East Side - West Side," the George C. Scott series about a New York social worker which was canceled after a short run on CBS-TV, but was very good. And it holds up, too.

And even a series that I thought was vastly overrated, "Eleventh Hour;" about psychiatrists and their cases, is a great improvement quite often over some of the hashed-over old movies.

SIMPLY TERRIFIC

I've seen it also on the latenight lineup, and have found myself watching it to the end — though perhaps not as avidly as "The Untouchables," which is still simply terrific.

So never fear that television will run out of the late-night stuff that we addicts need in order to survive the days that follow. So long as television grinds out the series that we find fault with in their first runs, we will always have material to enjoy in their second and third and fourth latenight runs.

Driver Charged in Picket Case

MIDLAND (AP) — A Dow Corning Co. supervisor was charged Wednesday in Midland Municipal Court with careless driving following an incident at a picket line Monday.

Harold Richards allegedly attempted to drive his car through a picket line at the Dow Corning plant.

Dead State GI Remembered as Samaritan

DETROIT (AP) — Sgt. Harry Koyl, of Detroit, an Army medic in Vietnam," was always doing 'extra' and going that added mile to help his friends."

The extra effort cost him his life.

Koyl, 22, was killed May 7 by Vietcong small-arms fire during the 9th Infantry Division's defense of Saigon.

His mother, Mrs. Adeline Koyl of Detroit, received a letter from one of Koyl's friends, Spec. 4 Garry B. Green, telling of her son's death.

HE VOLUNTEERED

Green of Los Angeles said Koyl volunteered to go on the operation to replace another medic who had cut his foot.

As the troops were entering the Cholon area of Saigon, Green said, they were attacked by Vietcong. He said that after a U. S. soldier was wounded and yelled "medic," Koyl, with dressing in hand, ran to aid the soldier and was also wounded. But he kept running toward the wounded man, Green said, until he was shot again and killed.

★ ★ ★

"Harry was always doing 'extra' and going that added mile to help his friends," Green said. He added that Koyl "radiated a peace of mind and an assurance that what he was doing was right."

According to his brother, William, Koyl could have stayed out of the service because of a bad knee.

Bermuda Conservatives Win

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Bermuda's pro-British white party drew wide backing from the resort island's Negro majority and rode an apparent backlash against rioting last month to a 3 to 1 victory today in the colony's first one-man, one-vote election.

The conservative United Bermuda party took 30 of the 40 seats in the House of Assembly while the Negro Progressive Labor party won only 10. The Labor party had promised to cut the colony's 359-year-old ties with Britain.

The Bermuda Democratic party, also largely Negro, was blanked.

The United party's victory had been expected, but its proportions were a surprise. The white-dominated party asserted Negro mobs who rioted April 25-26 were incited at least in part by the Labor party.

No violence or even minor incidents were reported during the balloting Wednesday. The British frigate Leopard was anchored offshore, however, as a precaution.

Walter Robinson, the Labor party leader who said his forces would win 26 seats and have the British out in "six months to a year," lost in his district.

Whites took 26 of the 40 seats, although about 55 per cent of the 20,918 eligible voters were Negroes. The United party ran 13 Negro candidates, and seven of them were elected.

Many of the Negroes were voting for the first time, due to reduction of the age requirement from 25 to 21. The whites also lost an advantage with the removal of property qualifications that had given some property owners two votes in previous elections.

Sir Henry Tucker, a wealthy banker who leads the United party, will become the chief minister in charge of the government. He said the election showed that "the Negro Bermudian is moderate, conservative and intelligent."

'VINDICATION'

"I regard it as vindictation for the average Bermudian who believes in harmony between the races," he said. "There has been a mandate against independence."

Under a new constitution, the parliament and the executive council it names will run island affairs. Only foreign relations, defense and internal security will continue under the resident governor chosen by the British government.

Tucker had stressed in his campaign that victory for the Labor party would drive away American tourists and investors who are the major source of income on the island 680 miles southeast of New York. He said the Laborites had "Soviet friends."

U.S. Education Benefits—10

Federal Funds Offered to Lure Nurses

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 10th article in a 15-part series on U.S. educational and training benefits available to you.)

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Publications

Our society's need for nurses is apparent in the educational stimulus provided by federal funds in this field.

Federal loans up to $1,000 a year are available for students enrolled full-time in accredited schools of nursing in public or non-rofit colleges, universities, junior colleges and hospitals.

★ ★ ★

Loans are repayable to the school over a 10-year period which begins one year after study is completed.

Students must need the money to continue their studies and be qualified by academic standing.

MAY BE CANCELED

As much as 50 per cent of the loan plus interest may be canceled for five years of full-time service as a professional nurse in a public or nonprofit organization.

Nursing schools may not award National Defense Student Loans to students who are eligible for Nursing Student Loans.

JANET FERRY

Engagements of two children of Oakland University Chancellor D. B. Varner and Mrs. Varner are being announced this week. Judy Varner (left) will marry James Arthur Seaman, son of William Seaman of Okemos and Mrs. Shirley Seaman of Wooster, Ohio. Judy, who will graduate next month from Albion College, is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Her fiance is a graduate student at College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio. Janet Ferry (right), daughter of the Joseph Ferrys of Lonesome Oak Drive, Oakland Township, is engaged to Thomas A. Varner, a student at Michigan State University.

Women's Section

She's Expected to Provide the Transportation

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A few of us have been invited to a girl-ask-boy Sweet Sixteen party. Do the boys supply the transportation or do we meet them there? How about the gift, do they chip in with us, even if they don't know the girl? We would appreciate your help. — Patty

★ ★ ★

Dear Patty: When a girl asks a boy to a party, she is ordinarily responsible for the transportation unless the boy can drive, in which case you can suggest that he do so. If he lives so far away that it's impractical for your father to drive you to pick him up, or a cab would be too expensive, you may ask him to meet you at the party.

Since it's a birthday party, the boy should chip in and give a gift with you, whether he knows the girl or not.

INTRODUCING FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Post: My question concerns introductions and on what occasion one would not introduce a companion. For instance, if I am with a friend and meet someone she does not know, do I immediately introduce the two, even though there is no extended conversation? Another instance is being with a friend in a shop where one knows the clerk by name. Should the friend be introduced? — June

★ ★ ★

Dear June: Whenever your conversation consists of more than just, "Hello, how are you?" you should introduce a friend who is with you to whomever you meet. This also applies if you know a salesgirl in a shop well enough to call her by name.

It should be friendly and helpful to both to say, "Joan, this is my friend, Sue Smith."

OPEN MAIL?

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who says she has a perfect legal right to open and read mail addressed to her husband; I maintain that the law of privacy takes precedence over marital ties. Who is right? — Phyllis

Dear Phyllis: Frankly, I do not know what the legal answer is to whether a wife has the right to open mail addressed to her husband, but there is no question as far as etiquette is concerned.

The privacy between members of a family as well as between strangers is essential to everyone. Of course, there should be no secrets between husbands and wives, but this does not imply that it is correct to encroach on the other's privacy.

Letters are the personal property of those to whom they are addressed. No other person, as far as I'm concerned, has any right to read them without permission.

Honor Lulu B. Going

A certificate of appreciation was given to Lulu Becker Going (Mrs. Harry) by the board of directors of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society.

★ ★ ★

The presentation was made at the 94th annual dinner meeting Wednesday by Marshall E. Smith, past president of the Society.

★ ★ ★

Since her retirement as a teacher, Mrs. Going has been actively engaged in family research and local and area history.

★ ★ ★

In the September 1948 issue of Michigan History, the publication featured "The Art of Homemaking," an account of the homemaking career of Mrs. Going's grandmother, Mrs. Chloe Durkee Coonley, written by her granddaughter.

ACTIVITIES

She is also active in General Richardson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, First Methodist Church of Pontiac and numerous other groups.

★ ★ ★

She resigned as an honorary board member of the Oakland County Hospital Association when she moved recently into St. Anne's Mead in Southfield.

Her Intuition Is Warning to Keep a Close Watch on This Situation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last month my husband received word he is being transferred out of the city in September. It's a promotion and will mean more money, but I am not happy about it. You see, he tells me that his secretary is filing for divorce (no children) and she is going with him!

ABBY

Abby, do you believe in a woman's intuition? This secretary has worked for my husband for nearly three years. I knew that she was very pretty, quite young, and married. (Happily, I assumed.) I knew that my husband had taken her to dinner occasionally when they had worked late. I also knew that he had taken her to lunch, but I suppose many such luncheons are for the purpose of discussing business.

I am sick inside. I have the feeling that something is going on between them. Should I ask my husband if there is something he wants to tell me? If my suspicions are correct, am I wrong in trying to make it easier for him to tell me?

ONLY GUESSING

DEAR GUESSING: Tell him what is on your mind, and don't worry about whether you are making it "easier" for him. Make it easier on yourself. And quit guessing.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When a teen-age daughter looks her mother right in the eye with hate and says, "I don't owe you anything. I didn't ask to be born," what is a mother supposed to say?

STILLWATER

DEAR STILLWATER: "No one asks to be born. What a child 'owes' his parents for the gift of life is never repaid to the parents. It is passed on instead to their children."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Why can't mothers take the time to call the home of a "strange" playmate who comes to visit?

My daughter was only three years old when some youngsters helped her over the fence which surrounded our yard.

When I discovered she was gone, I was nearly hysterical, and soon had the whole neighborhood driving up and down the streets looking for her. Thank God we found her safe, three streets away — in the home of a child only slightly older than she was.

At three, our daughter knew her name and telephone number, but her playmate's mother never bothered to ask her name, or if her mother knew where she was.

If a strange playmate comes to my house, I always ask, "What is your name? Where do you live? Does your mother know where you are? When do you have to be home?" Then I phone the mother to double-check.

Please put this into your own words, Abby, and print it. It could spare many a mother the terrifying nightmare of having to hunt for her child after dark.

MRS. M.H. PARAMUS, N.J.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. H.: Your words are fine. Thank you for writing.

'Moo'-ve Over, Please and Let Me in Picture

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (UPI) — T. T. Brady of Sweetwater told Robert C. Hicks once, in jest, he would give Hicks a cow if Hicks would marry Brady's daughter, Connie.

Hicks did so, last Saturday, and Brady held to his word. The dowery consisted of a Jersey milk cow and a $100 bill.

Hicks, an accountant, and Connie Brady, a registered nurse, were married Saturday in First Christian Church in San Angelo. The bride and groom posed with the wedding party — and then with the cow — following the ceremony.

On Handling Money From Summer Job

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

Our son is just out of high school and thinks he has a good opportunity to land a summer job. He's not quite sure but he thinks his net pay will be around $45 a week.

What should he contribute to the household? We'd like your opinion.

FEELEY
Mrs. B.A.R., Chicago

Dear Mrs. R.:

Out of that steady income, $11 to $15 a week for room and board would be a reasonable amount. That's one-fourth to one-third of his paycheck. It leaves him $30 to $34 for working expenses, entertainment and a savings program.

★ ★ ★

But don't let your interest in his new financial status end with room and board. Heaven forbid that you should try to tell him what to do with every dollar he makes. But don't take the attitude that a lot of parents — and young people, too — take toward a summer job. Since it's temporary, they shrug, not much planning can be done, since not a great deal of money is involved.

LEARN

Not a lot of money, maybe. But a prime opportunity to learn and observe. One thing a young wage-earner can learn, no matter how far down the job scale he starts, is that private enterprise grows strong when the profits are put back into the business.

At this point, he himself is a "private enterprise." He needs to think in terms of expanding his know-how. A part of his profits should therefore be invested in himself — in more education and more specific training in whatever type of career he's interested in. This is a point of view you can suggest and encourage and possibly even make allowances for in setting a charge for his room and board.

Sometimes, of course, there is real need in the family for another income, and the new wage-earner's contribution is all-important. And I thoroughly agree that young people should begin to pay their way in some part with the first paycheck. But the first summer job is certainly the time for serious planning toward bigger things.

And that doesn't mean a bigger car or a bigger slice of night life. See if you can help your son start thinking about investing in his own potential, which is about the only sure investment around these days.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

Would you set us up a retirement budget? My husband and I need to stretch our money.

We own our home and plan on interest from savings in the bank to pay taxes and insurance on the house. Our monthly income from Social Security and Teacher Retirement is $221. There are vegetables and fruits raised here so I can and freeze foods. Our old car is used mostly to run around town. Thank you for your help in planning our spending.

Mrs. W. B.,
College Place, Wash.

Dear Mrs. B.:

I'm going to suggest a monthly plan which is based on national average spending for a retired couple. But you may well want to adjust some of these figures:

★ ★ ★

Food, $76; household operating costs, $20; clothing, $20; personal allowances, $20; gifts and contributions, $10; car operation, $40; recreation, $10; medical (doctor and drugs), $25. Total, $221.

★ ★ ★

If you're both in good health, your medical costs may run less than the $25 a month allotted. And you might spare a dollar or so from household operating costs to add to your personal allowance or recreation fund.

Conference on Women at Marygrove

Marygrove College will be the scene of an all-day conference on women's needs, particularly legislative, on Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The conference will have as its objective a common program for presentation to the new Occupational and Safety Standards Commission.

The conference call was directed to organizations containing working women in all forms of employment, from domestic service to the professional-technical-managerial level.

The Michigan Legislature repealed last June, through Bill 199, the 10-hour day, 54-hour work week restriction on Michigan employers which had protected thousands of working Michigan women since 1908.

In July, Senate Bill 225, which repealed all other protective legislation for women, was passed, and established the present nine-member commission which has the authority to make rules, establish codes and occupational standards for the protection of the "life, health and safety of the employes."

★ ★ ★

In March, 1968, Atty.-Gen. Frank Kelley ruled that the hours limitation would remain in full force and effect until the new commission had conducted hearing and established such substitute laws as they see fit to adopt.

That commission has been appointed and will soon conduct hearings on these matters.

NEED?

Among the problems to be discussed at the conference will be "Is there a continued need for legal protection for working women?" (i.e. regulation of permissible overtime, weight-lifting limitations, etc.)

★ ★ ★

Chairman for the day is Eloise Spencer of the Metropolitan YWCA. Keynote speaker will be Dr. Ethelene Crockett of Crittenton Hospital.

The engagement of Jeannine Marie Fuller to Parachute Rigger 2.C. Gary Nelson, USN, is announced. The bride elect is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fuller, formerly of Davisburg. Her fiance, who is currently stationed in Japan, is the son of the Orville Nelsons of Highland.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Cook of Pine Knob Lane, Independence Township, announce the engagement and late summer wedding of their daughter Janet Elaine to Patrick H. Duvendeck of Flint. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jerry P. Duvendeck of Prudenville. Miss Cook attends Taylor University and her fiance attended General Motors Institute.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. What makes eyelids itch and what can one use to make lashes grow?

A. If your eyelids itch, you probably have an infection or are suffering from as allergy. You should seek medical advice. There are products on the market which profess to promote the growth of eyelashes. I do not know how effective these are. I think that the stimulation which comes from brushing the eyelahses upward, gently, a few minutes each day is helpful. Use one of the little brushes designed for applying mascara.

Q. How can I possibly plan adequate meals for my family (none are overweight) and still lose weight myself? I just cannot have two sets of meals because of the extra work and expense.

A. It isn't necessary to plan two sets of meals. That would indeed be expensive and also troublesome. Here are a few suggestions. Substitute fresh fruit for desserts for yourself. Drink powdered fat-free milk instead of whole milk.

Cut the fat off of meat and skip the gravy. Season your food separately, cutting down on butter or margarine. Use a low calorie salad dressing, whether you make it yourself or buy it. Take small servings.

★ ★ ★

Remember the preparation of food makes a great difference. One example, you can give the members of your family a baked apple with a marshmallow while you eat your apple uncooked.

Too Much Responsibility Is the Killer

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I have told you that my British husband served in Britain's armed forces in World War II. So that you know.

What you may not know is that a British soldier's dependents' allowance is considerably less than in America. And is lessened again when exchanged for American dollars. So, at the outbreak of World War II, I had to find a job to earn money sufficient to keep me and my young child alive.

To earn it I had to locate a situation which would protect her in my absence. I failed to do it. Oh, I found the job! I wrote radio programs for psychiatrists on good parenthood. One after another of those protective situations fell apart — situations which included everything from boarding houses through day nurseries to a boarding-school whose cost denied me train fare to visit my baby for nearly a year.

I spent most of my inward time wishing, God knows how often, that I were an African mother, one whose society permits her to carry her baby on her back as she works. But this mercy, of course, was not granted to me by my society.

This, at the end of World War II, I was as licked as the Nazis.

SUFFERED

I mentioned these multiple and anguished defeats suffered by me, a white mother, a White Anglo-Saxon Protestant WASP for only one purpose — to assure that I know what is suffered by black mothers who, for this reason or that, must work to keep life in their babies' bodies.

This column and the following three I shall write are written as a memorial to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and to his work in behalf of poor people.

WASP that I am, I am possessed of a sting. So now I use it. I use it to try and penetrate the thick hides of welfare dinosaurs in high places — those obsolescents whose every program in behalf of black working mothers is as incoherent as they are irrelevant and disconnected.

Absolutely detached from the one essential needed, so needed by their babies — the securing of their mothers against exhaustion by labor that makes joy in their babies just too hard to come by.

Yesterday there caroled to me some fool in my town's welfare department, "The purpose of day nurseries is to teach mothers responsibility for their children."

★ ★ ★

I hooted with laughter and hung up the phone. "Responsibility for children"? If our too little responsibility is bad, too much of it is the killer.

Young Housewife Official Referee for Basketball

NAPLES, Tex. (AP) — When Mrs. Shirley Tenbrook isn't busy with housework or taking care of her two daughters, 3 and 6, she's occupied with her job as the only woman referee in Texas.

A former basketball star at James Bowie High School in Simms, she was the Northeast Texas area's top girl basketball player from 1954 to 1958, scoring around 2,500 points in her career and averaging 36 points a game as a senior.

★ ★ ★

Encouraged by coaches and referees who knew her, she took her state official's test last fall and has refereed several games a week during the basketball season. So far, she has limited herself to junior high boys' and girls' games and high school girls' contests. "High school boys play too rough," she explains.

Retouch Lips Discreetly After Dining

If you are a beginner at the art of applying lipstick, and must retouch your lips after you've dined or lunched in a restaurant, do it with great finesse, says beauty authority, Max Factor. Never grind it on and become a public spectacle.

★ ★ ★

The famous expert says he sat spellbound at a restaurant, not long ago, and watched a young woman take out a lipstick and mirror and began to repair the damages. She opened her mouth and bore down on her lips with the lipstick until her mouth was stretched in and out of shape.

★ ★ ★

Then, she grimanced with a flashback of lips and a display of upper and lower teeth to see if lipstick had strayed, and removed the vagrant color with a lovely white napkin.

★ ★ ★

Factor's advice? "Don't follow such a procedure. It not only puts poor manners on display, but makes all observers shudder." Instead, begin your lip coloring in your own boudoir and make sure your lipstick outline is applied to stay.

★ ★ ★

When dining is over, a discreet glance into a small makeup mirror and a once-over-lightly while your mouth is held in a beautiful position, will do the trick.

DISCREET MOVEMENT

Then, if you see the color needs further distribution, carefully and quickly compress your lips so you won't ruin the lipline. Do this while you lower your head to put your lipstick and mirror away, and not even the most exacting man will notice.

Any further repairs should be made in the powder room.

PSH Unit to Celebrate

The 12th anniversary of the Oakland County Citizen's Committee of Pontiac State Hospital will be celebrated with an annual meeting Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the new Fairlane Center.

Dr. Donald Dawson will speak on the medical facilities for mental patients. Dr. Donald Martin will serve as toastmaster with Dr. James Johnson as tour guide for a public inspection of the new Center.

The Committee will hold its meeting and election of officers at 6:30 p.m. in the same building.

A coffee hour will follow the meeting which is open to the public.

Sylvan Shores Slate Is Named

Mrs. Thomas Gunther will serve as president for the 1968-'69 season for the Sylvan Shores Women's Club.

At the final meeting of the year held Monday in the Woodbine Drive home of Mrs. Louis Schimmel Jr., Mrs. Schimmel was elected vice president; Mrs. Jack Rhoades, secretary, and Mrs. Ronnie Voorheis, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

In other business, Mrs. T. E. Folsom was received into membership and donations were voted for the Drayton Plains Nature Center and the Sylvan Shores Improvement Association.

Novel Remembrance

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The telephone rang Wednesday and Mrs. J. Robert Devous answered it.

"Happy anniversary," the voice of a stranger said. Mrs. Devous asked how a stranger knew it was her 20th wedding anniversary.

"Some man had given me a flower and your telephone number to call," the stranger explained.

★ ★ ★

It went on all day. Strangers —"at least a hundred"—calling from all parts of the city, wishing her a "happy wedding anniversary." One woman called and said she was from Tulsa, Okla., and "This nice man gave me a rose and said, 'Please telephone my wife.'"

★ ★ ★

"He's been a busy little boy, all right," Mrs. Devous said about her husband, a 42-year-old insurance agent.

IMPULSIVE CHAP

Mrs. Devous said her husband did "spur-of-the-moment things which has made our married life very exciting."

"You know, he never asked me to be his wife . . . He asked me to be the mother of his children."

The couple has six.

Mrs. Devous said that despite the telephone calls, she managed to work up a dinner of fried chicken and strawberry shortcake.

Measles Vaccine Now Being Tested Widely

One of the most exciting races against time is now being run by scientists around the world to head off another epidemic of German measles — a disease that has particular dread for pregnant women.

★ ★ ★

The last epidemic of German measles occurred in 1964-1965. Its tragic consequences were some 20,000 birth abnormalties and thousands of deaths before and during birth. The "cycle" of the disease indicates another epidemic is expected in the early 1970's.

German measles was regarded for many years as little more than a discomforting inconvenience. The rash seemed as much a part of childhood as jump ropes and roller skates.

But in 1941 an Australian eye specialist became aware of an unusual number of birth defects after an outbreak of German measles.

HARMS FOETUS

Medical researchers then discovered that a woman who contracts the disease during the first three months of pregnancy can pass the virus to her unborn child.

The virus destroys the unborn baby's delicate tissues and can cause spontaneous abortion, severe brain or heart damage, mental retardation, eye cataracts, deafness, asthma and other serious defects.

★ ★ ★

German measles may be less contagious than ordinary red measles; whatever is the case it remains a threat into adult life. Studies indicate that 15 to 20 per cent of pregnant women are not immune to German measles.

★ ★ ★

Research has shown that women who contract the illness during the first month of pregnancy face a 90 per cent chance of giving birth to an abnormal child. During the second month, the incidence is 50 per cent, decreasing to 10 per cent in the third month.

VACCINE

Late last year, two scientists from the National Institutes of Health, Dr. Paul D. Parkman and Dr. Harry M. Meyer, Jr., announced that barring the unforeseen, a vaccine they developed against rubella — the virus known as German measles — should be generally available within two years.

The vaccine — a weakened strain of German measles virus — now is being tested, the scientists said.

★ ★ ★

Several U.S. pharmaceutical companies also are working on German measles vaccines. Among them are Merck Sharp & Dohme, Park, Davis & Company, Eli Lilly and Company, Philips Roxane Laboratories and Smith Kline & French Laboratories.

Last month, Merck reported the successful completion of initial community trials with its vaccine, and said it should be ready for the market next year if federal approval is given.

Bobbin Color Warning

Before filling the sewing machine bobbin, run about 12 inches of the thread over a crayon of contrasting color. This bit of color will serve as a warning that you are coming to the end of your bobbin thread. It avoids continuing to sew after the bobbin is empty.

Summer, 1969, vows are planned by Sharon Elaine Holden and Spec. 4 Roger L. Caverly, USA. The bride elect is the daughter of Troy W. Holden of Crane Street and Mrs. Michael Foster of Frembes Road. Her fiance, who is presently stationed in Korea, is the son of the Larry Caverlys of Thirza Street.

Slate Fetes at 2 Schools

Mrs. Hinkley, retiring principal of Central School, will be honored at an open house Sunday from 2-5 p.m.

Mrs. Hinkley, who was principal for 12 years, resides in Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Also feted during the affair which takes place in the school gymnasium, will be Mrs. Alva Thomas and Mrs. Anne Pelissier, retiring secretary and teacher, respectively.

LeBARON

The multipurpose room of LeBaron School will be the seting Sunday for a tea-reception honoring retiring teachers Mrs. Gordon Henry and Mrs. Clinton George.

The affair will be held from 3-5 p.m.

The public is invited to both events.

MSU Resident Assistants Aid Students

By MARK EICHER
MSU Correspondent

A team of 352 Resident Assistants bring the vast machinery of Michigan State University within the grasp of its 30,000 undergraduates.

Each residence hall floor has at least one Resident Assistant (RA), a student familiar with University policy and procedure, whose duties include academic advising, referral, student orientation and emergency aid.

Sixteen of the RAs are from the Pontiac area.

Linda Leonard, a senior from Pontiac, describes her position of Resident Assistant as that of "an outsider who helps students, especially freshmen, to adjust to college life. Adjustment is a major problem."

"The most important aspect," she said, "is being there when you're needed. A lot of times it's just talking to them."

★ ★ ★

Linda's sentiments were echoed by Gary Sipperley, Auburn Heights junior, and Thayer Tischler, Bloomfield Hills junior.

BE A LISTENER

"There are guys on the floor," said Gary, "with pretty serious problems. They are not so much asking for help as for someone to listen to them."

Thayer said that the ability to communicate is most important for a Resident Assistant.

Gary pointed out another important part of the position is being a source of fellowship.

★ ★ ★

"It is essential for people to get to know each other, and they can do this through the RA," he said.

"At the beginning of fall term my room became sort of a gathering place."

Rebecca Lyke, Walled Lake sophomore, said, "The number one function is to be a friend. That encompasses the whole thing."

ADMINISTRATOR

Bud Quitiquit, Waterford senior, emphasized the Resident Assistant's role as an administrator.

"Tre RA assists students in any way he or the student feels necessary and gives the student a close touch with the administration," said Bud.

Others did not readily agree that the Resident Assistant is part of the University administration.

Miss Leonard, an RA for four terms, said, "I am a mediator rather than an administrator."

"I'm in a fuzzy area," said Miss Tischler. "I must relate to the girls as a college student, but I must also relate to the fact that I have been hired by the administration."

I have to interpret what the administration says and how it applies to the kids the best I can, however, too many kids see the RA as a disciplinarian."

"People never quite realize you are a human being," she added.

DISAGREEMENT

Thomas VanderVelde, Union Lake senior, said, "Administration is a large term. I can't say I am a part of it or not. I am part of the residence hall staff."

His sister, Priscilla, also an RA does see herself as part of the administration.

"I am hired by them to uphold rules. I have to follow those rules and keep my eyes open," she said.

Though a Resident Assistant is obligated to enforce University rules and regulations, most of the RAs interviewed said that policing is not a main function.

Many said that they have gained much from their position.

Miss Lyke commented, "I've learned so much. They've given me much more than I could give them."

★ ★ ★

Sipperly said it is most gratifying that the students take the Resident Assistant into their confidence.

"It is challenging because I want to help, but frustrating sometimes."

In return for their work, Resident Assistants receive remuneration of their room and board fees.

"You really do earn it," said one RA. Officially a Resident Assistant is expected to work 40 hours a week, but because of the nature of the job it is difficult to measure the working hours.

TRAINING

Training includes a special preschool workshop in the fall and a three credit course taught by the Residence Hall Program Office staff.

Other area Resident Assistants include Nancy Mills, Holly junior. From Birmingham are: Carol Bowden, Susan Derrick, Carol Sue Feinthel, Judith Koch, John Leach, Cheryl Marsh, Kathleen McPhail, and Linda Spence.

Noise Is Menace to Health, Safety and Efficiency

NEW YORK (UPI) — Noise hurts. A report in "Family Safety," publication of the National Safety Council, says long-continued noise menaces health and destroys efficiency. It also produces fatigue, encourages inattention and lack of concentration.

★ ★ ★

Around the house, the experts suggested, help matters by building sound barriers. Use linoleum or resilient tile on hard floors.

Use thick rugs with a proper heavy cushion beneath. Use drapes and overstuffed furniture to hold down reverberations that magnify noise.

Brush Away Drudgery of Spring Chores

Thoughts turning to everything but housecleaning? Here is one hint to help cut down on your chore time. Assemble an inventory of basic household brushes and store them where you can find them.

★ ★ ★

There are brushes for everything from basting and bottle brushes to the familiar scrub brush, long-handled utility brush and radiator brush for cleaning, telescopic brushes and special barbecue-grill wire-bristled ones.

★ ★ ★

Keep all your brushes clean for best, most time-saving use. Soak them in a pine oil cleaner, rinse and shake off excess water. Hang them up to dry.

★ ★ ★

If you're looking for a new storage idea, try a French butcher's rack usually used for hanging pots and pans. Brushes will get air, you'll know where they are and with the colorful plastic handles, they'll even look slightly glamorous.

'Coming Thing' Is Irradiation of Food Products

Around the corner for housewives are irradiated foods.

★ ★ ★

Now waiting Food and Drug Administration approval, irradiation proponents say the method will eliminate spoilage, give year round availability to seasonal items, end diseases, lower prices and make meal preparation quicker.

SURVEY

According to a current survey, only about 6 per cent of consumers know about irradiated foods. After an explanation, only 20 per cent showed hesitation about trying irradiated foods.

★ ★ ★

The older, low income, less well-educated people showed the most resistance to the new food preservation process.

A recent survey indicates that 21 per cent of the citizens still practice their religion in Soviet Russia.

Who Looks Out for the Children?

By BETTY CANARY

"We live on a quiet street, have a yard with a fence and a nice play area. Doesn't this sound like an ideal setting for my three-year-old? It isn't! Because parents of other children in the neighborhood have no rules for their children, and allow them to wander . . ."

The writer of this letter wants to know if I wonder why she has dreaded warm weather. No, I don't wonder. I know.

★ ★ ★

I once lived next door to two brothers who spent hours pushing each other, in a grocery cart, down their driveway and into a busy street. I would dash out and grab them and their mother told me it wasn't my business and she was glad she had "exuberant" boys.

I have a friend who would put her 18-month-old daughter into a playpen on the porch and every morning a neighbor would pop her daughter (under two) in with Susan and then go shopping. "I've brought Ann to PLAY with Susan!" she would say.

During a visit in Michigan I saw a mother allow her three preschoolers to play in a cornfield while hunters went through it shooting pheasants.

A Kentucky woman tells me she once pulled a toddler from a rain-swollen ditch and when she took the child home the mother slapped the rescuer. This same woman says that now, two years later, she watches a small boy ride his wagon down a dark subdivision street while cars screech to a halt around him.

She says she is afraid to do anything about it and sits on her front porch and prays no car will hit him.

★ ★ ★

I know of a family which cannot understand why a son has been stealing from a local hardware store. Yet, this same child wandered the neighborhood wearing wet diapers, was fed by strangers when he would wander in with their children.

Neighbors stopped him when he set fires in garages and once he was rescued (he was four at the time) from the top of his three-story home after he climbed out an attic window. Neighbors called the fire department and ladders were in place before his mother was found. She was watching her favorite television show in their "family room."

★ ★ ★

I think mothers should stop worrying about being over-protective when all they are doing is watching their children. They shouldn't be afraid they are practicing Momism when they are really being sensitive parents. What we really need is an organization which is at least as interested in stray children as the SPCA is in untended dogs and cats.

The Donald M. Renshaws of Rochester announce the betrothal of their daughter, Ruth E., to Richard L. Kemler. He is the son of the John C. Kemlers, also of Rochester. A February, 1969, wedding is being planned.

New Method Is Announced

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — A new birth control injection that works silimar to "the Pill" but lasts for three months may be marketed next year, the Upjohn Co. announced.

R. T. Parfet Jr., president and general manager of Upjohn, told the firm's annual meeting that the drug, Depo-Provera has been developed as a "useful and practical" contraceptive measure.

★ ★ ★

He said the firm has asked the Food and Drug Administration for approval of the drug and Upjohn may market it next year if that approval is given.

The injection would have to be administered by a doctor, a spokesman for the firm said. No estimate on the cost per injection was available.

★ ★ ★

Upjohn said the end result and method of the injection was similar to the widely used oral contraceptive pill; but because the fluid is suspended in the blood stream it would retain a longer degree of activity.

★ ★ ★

Thus only one injection would be needed every three months compared to the daily ingestion required by the oral contraceptives.

Cleaning Agents for Paint Brushes

When a fast-drying latex paint has been used, clean your brush immediately with mild soap and water, followed by a thorough rinsing.

★ ★ ★

A brush that has been used with an oil-base paint, enamel, or varnish can be properly cleaned with turpentine or mineral spirits if the paint has not dried in the brush. When shellac has been used, alcohol is the best cleaning agent.

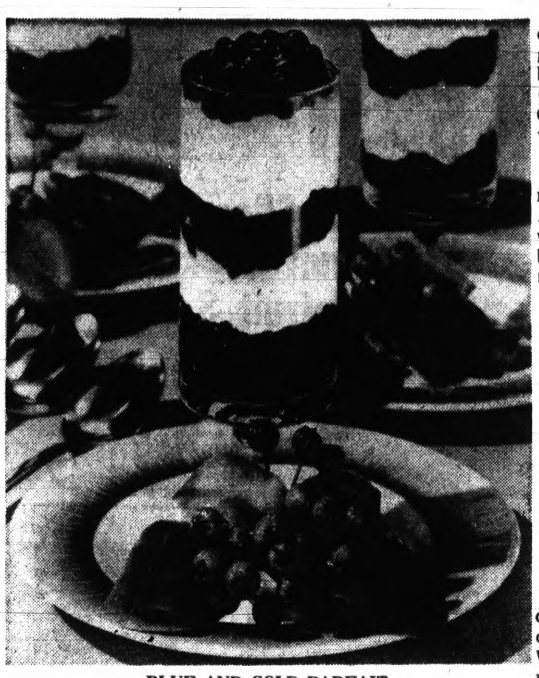
TURKEY AND INDIAN CORN BREAD



BLUE AND GOLD PARFAIT

CHERRY CREAM PIE

SUPPER DISH—This combination stars three Michigan foods. Bone 4 chicken breasts and slice with the grain into thin slices. Cook one pound asparagus until crisp, but not limp. Season and keep hot. Slice one pound of fresh mushrooms and saute in 3 tablespoons butter. Keep hot. Saute chicken slices in more butter until golden brown and tender. Sprinkle with few drops lemon juice and remove to sizzling hot shallow casserole. Top with mushrooms and asparagus. In skillet dash ¼ cup white wine and let bubble up. Scrape all brown particles from skillet, stirring well over high heat. Now add ¼ cup more white wine and bubble up again. Add salt and pepper to taste, pour this savory sauce over the chicken, asparagus and mushrooms in the hot casserole and serve immediately. May be re-heated. Makes 4 servings.

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

There's almost an embarrassment of riches in the material we have to choose from when we're discussing important foods grown or processed in Michigan.

Processing cereals offers jobs to thousands of workers in the western part of the state. If you've ever seen that torrent of corn flakes pouring into the boxes, you'll never forget it.

Think of that when you try this coffee cake made with the same corn flakes.

CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
⅔ cup milk
1 cup corn flakes
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Beat butter, sugar and egg yolks together. Stir in sifted dry ingredients. Add milk, stirring only until combined.

★ ★ ★

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Spread in greased round 9-inch cake pan.

★ ★ ★

Crush corn flakes slightly; combine with remaining ingredients. Sprinkle evenly over batter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve warm. Yield: 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

Michigan introduced boned, rolled frozen turkey to American cooks. Here is a new way to prepare it, adding corn bread batter to the nearly roasted turkey.

TURKEY AND INDIAN CORN BREAD

1 (2 lbs. 8 oz.) frozen boneless turkey roast
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups corn meal
3 cups milk
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Dash cayenne
2 cups (1 lb. 1 oz. can) whole kernel corn, drained

Heat oven to very hot (450 degrees). Prepare roast according to package directions. When internal temperature of roast reaches 140 degrees (1 hour 40 minutes), remove roast from oven. Save the drippings.

★ ★ ★

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a 9x13-inch baking pan. Place roast in center of pan.

Meanwhile, prepare Corn Bread: Beat eggs. Gradually add corn meal along with milk, baking powder and seasonings. Stir in corn. Pour corn mixture around roast. Return to oven.

Bake 20 minutes or until lightly browned and set. Serve hot with gravy made according to package directions. Yield: 6 or more servings.

★ ★ ★

Many of Michigan's fruits are made into the popular canned pie fillings.

BLUE AND GOLD PARFAITS

1 12-ounce can (1½ cups) unsweetened pineapple juice juice
¼ cup sugar
1 cup quick cooking rice
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) blueberry pie filling

Combine pineapple juice, sugar, rice, salt and butter in a heavy saucepan; bring to a boil and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add a small amount of hot mixture to egg yolks; stir into the hot mixture.

★ ★ ★

Return to heat for a minute or two, stirring constantly. Add the lemon peel; cool. Fold the beaten egg whites and whipped cream into the cooled rice mixture.

Layer rice mixture and blueberry pie filling into parfait glasses. Chill until serving time. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

COUNTRY CREAM CHERRY PIE

1 No. 2 can (2 cups) cherry pie filling
½ cup ground almonds
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon almond extract
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
1 8-inch unbaked pastry shell

★ ★ ★

½ cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine cherry pie filling, ground almonds, ½ cup sour cream, egg, almond extract and cinnamon; pour into pastry shell. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Cool.

★ ★ ★

Combine remaining sour cream and sugar; put through a pastry tube or spoon around edges of baked pie.

*Almonds may be put through a blender.

PEACH PECAN PIE

3 eggs, beaten
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) Peach Pie Filling
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 cup pecan halves
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 10-inch unbaked pie crust

Combine eggs, pie filling and salt. Add corn syrup, pecans and vanilla. Pour into pie crust. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 45 to 50 minutes or until set.

Wheat germ, another of Michigan's processed cereals, plays an important part in this main dish recipe.

WHEAT GERM SAUSAGE SWIRLS

1 lb. ground pork sausage
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup wheat germ
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
½ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 cup milk

Fry pork sausage in ungreased skillet until gray and crumbly. Drain edcess fat. Add celery and onion. Saute until lightly browned.

Add ¼ cup wheat germ and ½ can undiluted mushroom soup. Mix well. Set aside.

Measure flour, baking powder, salt and remaining ¼ cup wheat germ into bowl. Stir well to blend. Cut in shortening and cheese with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal.

Add milk. Stir with fork until all ingredients are moistened. Turn out onto lightly floured cloth-covered board. Knead gently 20 times.

ROLL OUT

Roll dough into a 9x12 rectangle. Spread sausage mixture evenly over dough. Roll up like jelly roll, starting with 9-inch side. Seal lengthwise seam. Cut into 6, 1½-inch pieces.

Place cut side down in sallow 1½-quart baking dish or close together on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Serve with Cheese Sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Cheese Sauce

½ cup grated sharp Cheddar Cheese
½ cup milk
Remainder of condensed mushroom soup (½ can)

Combine ingredients, heat and stir until cheese is melted.

WHEAT GERM SAUSAGE SWIRLS

Rhubarb Has a New Use

Michigan is first in the nation as a producer of hothouse rhubarb. It can be bought from late in January almost until the fresh variety is available.

Although this recipe was originated with hothouse rhubarb, it will work equally well with fresh.

RHUBARB ICE CREAM

2 cups rhubarb
½ teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
red food coloring
1 tablespoon confectioners sugar
1 egg white
1 cup whipping cream

Combine rhubarb, sugar and water; simmer until tender; tint. Chill and add lemon juice. Pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm. Break into chunks and beat with electric mixer until smooth.

★ ★ ★

Beat egg white; add sugar and fold into rhubarb mixture. Whip cream and fold in. Freeze. Makes about 4 servings.

Corn Bread Put Into a Pudding

Use leftover corn bread for corn bread pudding.

Combine 3 cups of coarsely crumbled corn bread with ⅓ cup of raisins, ½ teaspoon of cinnamon, ½ cup of sugar, 3 cups of milk and 2 beaten eggs. Spoon into shallow baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven about 45 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Makes 6 servings.

When making deviled eggs, if the yolks are pale in color, they may be brightened with a few drops of yellow food coloring. And if you notice, the brighter ones are always eaten first.

Saute Shrimp and Add Wine

What kind of guy is your dearly beloved?

In the new "How to Keep Him (After You've Caught Him) Cookbook" by Jinx Kragen and Judy Perry (Doubleday & Company, Garden City, New York, $4.50), culinary suggestions are given to help you pamper any type of spouse ranging from "good old Charlie" to "the man in the grey flannel lederhosen."

★ ★ ★

If your cookbook-reading attention span is ordinarily about two minutes, this is one book that may keep your attention from cover to cover. A comic cookbook? Yes.

But the International Shrimp Council suggests that after you try this recipe for Shrimp Sumatra, you may agree with us the book contains a lot of sense when it comes to cookery.

Shrimp Sumatra

2½ dozen large shrimp, shelled and deveined
3 tablespoons butter, or more
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
¼ cup sliced green onions
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup dry white wine

Saute the shrimp in the butter over medium heat for 5 minutes. Add the mushrooms and onions and salt and pepper. Cook slowly until the shrimp turn pink, about 3 minutes. Add wine. Simmer and stir reverently for just 2 more minutes. Serves 2.

Mix Green Beans Right Into Potatoes

Here's an excellent way to combine two cooked vegetables.

Potatoes With Green Beans

1½ cups mashed potatoes
½ of a 9 ounce package frozen cut green beans, cooked.
2 ounces (½ cup) shredded cheddar cheese

Prepare the potatoes from instant potatoes using milk and butter according to package directions. Mix in the drained beans. Turn into a buttered 8-inch glass pie plate. Sprinkle with the cheese.

★ ★ ★

Bake in a 25-degree oven until piping hot — 10 minutes or longer. Makes 3 generous servings.

TOFFEE ICE CREAM ROLL — Fill a delicate coffee-flavored cake roll with softened vanilla ice cream and bits of crushed English toffee bars. Use more of the crushed candy to top the whipped cream garnish.

Ice Cream and Candy in Coffee Flavored Roll

Every woman wants a few "spectacular" dessert recipes in her file box for family special occasions or guest entertaining. Here's a showoff Toffee Ice Cream Roll delight that will have your friends exclaiming, "You mean you made it yourself?"

Get out your jelly roll pan and try this new cake roll creation with a taste surprise . . . it's candy! Mixed into the filling of softened ice cream are crunchy bits of chocolate-covered English toffee candy, chopped pieces of the famous candy bars found everywhere.

More bits of the candy sprinkled over a dollop of whipped cream make a glamorous topping for each cake roll slice.

Prepare the Toffee Ice Cream Roll the night before, or morning of your party so that the ice cream becomes firm again. Chill the candy bars and you'll find them easy to chop into bits with a large sharp knife.

Toffee Ice Cream Roll

¾ cup sifted flour
2 tablespoons instant coffee
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup granulated sugar
confectioners' sugar
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
1 cup chopped chocolate-covered English toffee bars
½ pint (1 cup) whipping cream, whipped

Sift together flour, coffee, baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks and vanilla until lemon colored. Add ¼ cup sugar gradually and beat until very thick.

Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks. Add remaining ½ cup sugar gradually and continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold yolk mixture into egg whites. Fold in dry ingredients.

Spread batter evenly over greased and waxed paper-lined jelly roll pan (15x10x1-inch.) Bake in 375 degree oven until done, about 12 minutes. Turn cake out onto clean linen dish towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar.

Gently peel off waxed paper at once and trim off the lengthwise crusts. Roll cake jelly-roll fashion in towel; cool on rack. Unroll cake; spread with ice cream and sprinkle with ⅔ cup chopped toffee bars.

Roll up tightly, wrap in foil and store in freezer until serving time. To serve, slice and top with a dollop of whipped cream and a sprinkling of remaining chopped toffee bars for each slice. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Fruit and Sausage Stuff Veal Breast

Economical cut of meat makes a worthwhile main dish.

STUFFED VEAL BREAST

½ pound bulk sausage
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
1½ cups packaged seasoned croutons
¾ cup chopped prunes
Small boned veal breast, about 2½ pounds
1 can (10¾ ounces) chicken gravy
⅛ teaspoon thyme

★ ★ ★

In a 10-inch skillet, cook together the sausage, onion and celery, crumbling sausage with a fork, until vegetables soften. Mix in croutons and prunes. Arrange over half of veal; fold meat over and skewer edges together.

★ ★ ★

Roast in a small shallow pan in a 325-degree oven about 1½ hours. Siphon fat from pan. Into pan drippings stir gravy, drained mushrooms and thyme. Continue roasting until veal is very tender — 1 hour or longer.

★ ★ ★

Thin gravy, if necessary, with liquid drained from mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

Careful Packing Is Important

Many a student on an out-of-town campus, even the most sophisticated sophomore, will admit to an occasional pang of homesickness. Nothing is as welcome as the friendly aroma and deliciousness of home-baked cookies!

And many a mother and sweetheart delights in sending a batch of favorites to that special person away from home.

While some cookies are good travelers, others, particularly the crisp variety, tend to break into pieces and arrive at their destination in crumbs.

Here are some tips on how to package and mail treats from home.

1) Choose cookies that travel well: these include soft drop cookies, brownies, fruit bars and squares. Cookies On-The-Go for example, are perfect travelers and taste good, too!

2) Pack them correctly . . . in plastic bags: place six to eight cookies or bars in individual sandwich size plastic bags. If mailing box is discarded, you can be sure that plastic bags keep cookies clean, well protected.

If you wish to send brownies, bake them in a disposable aluminum pan. When ready to pack, simply slip the brownies — pan and all — into the larger, food-wrap size plastic bag and secure with tie band.

3) Use a sturdy cardboard box: place bags of cookies in a sturdy box. To cushion cookies, line bottom of box and fill each crevice with crumpled tissue paper, unbuttered popcorn or ready-to-eat sugar-coated cereal. Top with paper napkins. Tape box shut. Wrap in heavy brown paper. Tie securely.

4) Address it clearly: print name, address and return address on box — don't forget the zip code number. Cover labels with clear tape. Mark "FRAGILE"—send AIR MAIL.

5) For overseas mail: if you wish to mail cookies overseas, it is necessary to use metal containers. Save two-pound coffee or shortening cans for this purpose. These are light, travel well and resist infestation.

Line can with one food wrap size plastic bag by placing seam end of bag in bottom of can and overlapping top of bag over top of can. Stack sandwich size bags of about 6 cookies each in can. Secure larger bag with tie band. Cover with plastic top. Tape to secure.

It is not necessary to place cans in box. Simply wrap, in heavy brown paper, tie and address.

If package is being mailed to an A.P.O. number, keep the weight below five pounds and print S.A.M. on the ouside for "Special Air Mail" rate.

★ ★ ★

Cookies are a cheering gift for someone away from home. Next time you mail cookies keep the above tips in mind and the goodies will stay just as fresh and moist as in your own cookie jar. Try this recipe:

COOKIES ON-THE-GO

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ cup soft shortening
1⅓ cups brown sugar, packed
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 egg, unbeaten
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup finely chopped, unpared apple
1 cup dark or light raisins, chopped
¼ cup apple juice or milk

Start heating oven to 400 degrees. Sift flour with baking soda. Mix shortening, brown sugar, salt, cinnamon, orange rind and egg until well blended. Stir in half of flour mixture, then nuts, apple and raisins. Blend in apple juice, then remaining flour mixture. Onto greased cookie sheets, drop rounded tablespoons of dough, 2" apart. Bake 11-14 minutes, or until done. Makes 3 ½ dozen.

Catchall Recipe

The next time you are making macaroni and cheese, add those leftover string beans and that bit of bacon or ham left from breakfast. Not only will it color up the macaroni and cheese making it more appealing to the eye, but it adds flavor and heartiness to the macaroni and cheese.

Lots of Color in Arizona Salad

The quiet, sleepy town of Phoenix of the early 40's is changing rapidly into a soaring and spreading metropolis. Highrise buildings are going up. Homes undulate around and up Camelback Mountain and spread across the valley.

★ ★ ★

The creative and free spirit of wide open spaces with sunshine almost every day stimulates the newly arriving families to build homes that are unique to the area and for their particular needs. Every day is a combination of work and play.

★ ★ ★

When the Roosevelt Dam was completed in the early 1900's Arizona began to stir. More water was made available to irrigate the fertile land that is now known as the Salt River Valley.

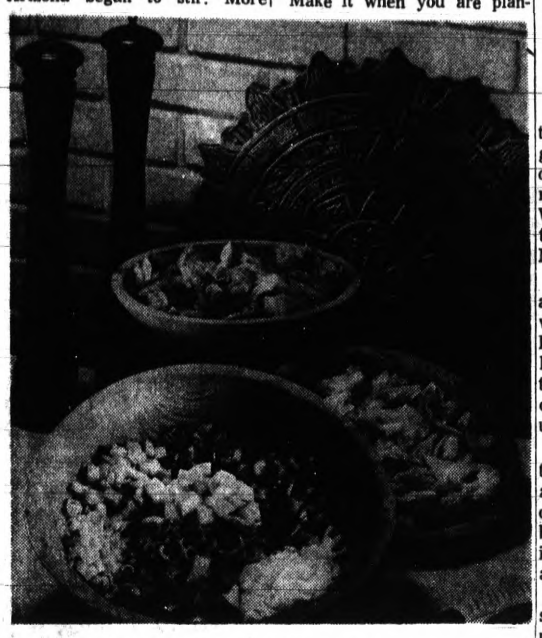
★ ★ ★

To make business and vacation a pleasure, the Del Webb's Towne House has provided all the modern facilities for work and play under one friendly, hospitable hotel roof.

★ ★ ★

In the Aztec Room you can enjoy appetite-tempting food. One of the favorite salads enjoyed by western produce men has been called Valley of The Sun. A tossed affair that includes many fresh vegetables grown in the valley.

Make it when you are planning a barbecue party for 8 persons.



VALLEY OF THE SUN SALAD — Salad lovers will be happy to see this colorful mixture. The greens are romaine and iceberg lettuce. In addition to small pieces of raw vegetables, you'll find crumbled bacon and diced hard cooked eggs. The dressing uses wine vinegar.

Valley Of The Sun Salad

1 bunch romaine
1 head iceberg lettuce
1 1-3 cups green pepper, diced
1 cup Burmuda onion, chopped
2 cups tomato, diced
½ cup celery, finely sliced
3 green onions, finely sliced
¼ Cup stuffed olives, sliced
4 hard cooked eggs, diced
6-8 strips of crisp bacon, crumbled

Dressing

1 small clove garlic
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup salad oil
⅓ cup red wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon powdered dry mustard freshly ground pepper
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce

Prepare dressing ahead of time. Crush peeled clove of garlic with salt and a few drops of oil. Add salad oil, vinegar, mustard, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Blend together with whip. Refrigerate. Makes 1 cup.

Cut off butt end of romaine and separate leaves. Let cool water run over the individual leaves. Hit the butt end of the lettuce on a side of the sink and twist it out with fingers. Run cold water into the center. Turn upside down to drain.

Shake as much water out of the romaine leaves and lettuce as possible. Lay out a large cloth towel. Tear lettuce into bite-size chunks. Cut romaine into 1" pieces. Roll into towel and put in refrigerator.

Several hours ahead of time, select a large salad bowl and put each of the salad ingredients into the bowl. Cut each item into a size that is easy to eat but not too fine. Put back in the refrigerator covered with saran or foil.

When ready to toss salad, put the salad greens into the bowl with other ingredients and toss with the dressing. Makes 8-10 servings.

Ketchup Has More Uses Than French Fries Dunk

But why must it be the romantic-type lovers who get all the praises? Why not lovers of food? What good word is there for them?

The word is recipes . . . and they come from the H. J. Heinz Company in a new booklet called "In-Wich, On-Wich and Sandwich."

This full-color booklet features more than 30 recipes using ketchup. One of these is Hacienda Sauce, a spicy, Spanish combination of ketchup, onions, peppers and chili powder.

Served on omelets or fish, it proves why everyone loves a lover, especially a lover and server of good food.

Hacienda Sauce

*½ cup fresh frozen chopped onions
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup tomaoto ketchup
¾ cup water
½ teaspoon salt

* Onion and green pepper in oil until tender. Add ketchup and remaining ingredients. Simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve over omelets or fish. Makes 2¼ cups.

*½ cup fresh chopped onion may be substituted.

Ketchup Lovers (and lovers of good food) who wish to have a copy of "In-Wich, On-Wich and Sandwich," need only send 10 cents (no stamps please) to cover postage and handling plus their name, address and zip code to:

MARTHA FRICK

'A' Student Teen of Week in Waterford

An A-average girl scholar with devotion to school affairs has been chosen Waterford Township Teen of the Week.

Selected is Martha Frick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Frick of 3838 Covert. She is a junior at Waterford Township High School.

★ ★ ★

She is rated by her teachers as being an outstanding citizen and scholar with a friendly personality. She has the confidence of both students and teachers.

Among her activities are: alternate on the student council, chairman of homecoming decorations committee, cochairman of council affairs committee, chairman of the flag committee, manager of the girls' basketball team and girls' letter club member.

TO HELP OTHERS

"Other than getting a good education, the most important goal in my life is to use the talents and abilities with which I am blessed to help others," Martha says.

She plans to study teaching at Albion College after graduating from High School.

Nature Center Fund Drive Set

A spring fund-raising drive for $58,000 is under way for the Drayton Plains Nature Center. The property is currently being held in trust.

This wilk game refuge and natural science facility is a nonprofit organization devoted to fostering nature appreciation and teaching conservation education.

★ ★ ★

The center, off Hatchery near Dixie, includes 81.6 acres in the former State Fish Hatchery and the adjacent 55.8 acres of meadows and woodland now being held by the Natural Science for Youth Foundation.

The former hatchery building serves as a museum, study center and taxidermy workshop. Some 10,000 persons have visited the site since it opened in April 1967.

Authorities believe that Australia has sufficient iron ore to be able to export it for the next 200 years.

Bonnie and Clyde Are Shot Down by South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Memo to Bonnie and Clyde: you are not welcome in South Africa.

Fashions inspired by the gangster film can be seen on Johannesburg's Eloff Street, but its roaring guns and racing getaway cars will not appear in movie houses here.

★ ★ ★

South African Broadcasting Corp. has barred the film's musical theme from its airwaves.

Parliament interrupted discussion of weightier matters to confirm the decision banning the cinema hoodlum and his gun moll.

DEFENDS FILM

Helen Suzman, lone representative in Parliament of the tiny Progressive party, said she saw "Bonnie and Clyde" overseas and thought it "brilliantly acted." She said South African audiences were mature enough to view it.

Not so, decided Interior Minister Pieter M. K le Roux. He said he had not seen the film himself, but was confident that its ban by the Publications Control Board was in order.

South Africans are ardent moviegoers, since there is no television.

Prosperous suburbanites discreetly pass the word to close friends that "Bonnie and Clyde" can be seen at the private showing of a print sneaked into the country for a day or two. Other South Africans remark smugly that they visited neighboring Swaziland or Mozambique to see the film.

NOT UNPRECEDENTED

The banning is not unprecedented. Among other recent films rejected were "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," "The Graduate" and "In the Heat of the Night."

James T. Kruger, a member of the ruling Nationalist party, told Parliament that "In the Heat of the Night" portrays a dumb white detective and a smart black detective who always made the white cop look stupid. This, Kruger said, "could only be detrimental to race relations."

★ ★

Mrs. Suzman said 25 of 695 movies submitted to the film censors were rejected and 325 were approved subject to deletions.

Some films are cut so drastically they are almost unintelligible. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" had 15 deletions.

SUSPICIOUS

Several members of the governing party demand still stronger controls over films. Descendants of fundamentalist pioneers are highly suspicious of foreign movies, books and magazines. In the world of one parliamentarian. "It is time South Africa told the world that it was not prepared to sink into the morass of moral decadence along with it."

Books are probably under even more pressure than films because of the vagueness of censorship. Present legislation contains 97 definitions of the term "undesirable."

Etienne G. Malan, member of the opposition United party, said about 11,000 titles are now banned.

"One of the main aims of literary censorship is to exclude hard-core pornography, but in practice it is having a much wider effect," says Ellison Kahn, a law professor at the Witwatersrand.

There is no complete list of what South Africans may not read. Each batch of illicit books is proclaimed in alphabetical lists in issues of the Government Gazette.

The Communist party is outlawed in South Africa and so are all books, newspapers, magazines, phonograph records and postage stamps from the Soviet Union.

The government bars the nude female in illustrations on phonograph record jackets. Cut-out paper bikinis were hastily applied after the crackdown. All issues of Playboy magazine are banned and so is Jean Paul Sartre's "The Age of Reason."

W. African Nations Aren't Easy to Run

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP) — Soldier-reformers are having no better luck than the civilians they overthrew in making nations out of the chaos of postindependent West Africa.

As a result, this may be the year some civilians return to style, despite the soldiers' bewilderment and reluctance to give up power.

★ ★ ★

It already has happened in diamond-rich, cash-poor Sierra leader, Siaka Stevens, rose to power in the wake of a revolution by noncommissioned officers.

Nowhere are the difficulties of the soldiers more apparent than in Dahomey, an ancient but small French-speaking coastal land living in the palm oil and kernels it sells.

NO ONE FOUND

Its military regime — the second since independence in 1960 — insists it wants "retour a la caserne," a favorite phrase meaning a return to the barracks. It can't find a suitable civilian to hand power to.

Seventy-five per cent of Dahomeyan voters boycotted an election the military arranged among five candidates virtually unknown even in a country of about two million population. More than 80 per cent of those who did vote selected a World Health Organization physician, Basile Adjou Moumouni, 45, who has spent most of his time recently in Brazzaville.

★ ★ ★

The military president, Col. Alphonse Alley, and his army colleagues annulled the election and disrupted their timetable which called for the return to civilian rule by June 17 — six months after they deposed Dahomey's first military ruler, Gen. Christophe Soglo.

"Ah, if a machine gun were the only qualification to rule," sighed a former Dahomey foreign minister, Emile - Derlin Zinzou, "the world would have no problems."

NEW VOTE SEEN

Alley said the government would try to arrange new elections, but it is believed he will eventually have to come to terms with two toppled former presidents, Hubert Maga and Sourou - Migan Apithy.

They ordered their backers to boycott the May 5 elections. The response has been interpreted as a credit to their strength and a sign the voters repudiated the soldiers.

★ ★ ★

The rest of West Africa's military regimes look like this:

● Ghana—Lt. Gen. Joseph A. Ankrah, chairman of the ruling National Liberation Council, promised a return to civil rule about two years after a coup toppled President Kwame Nkrumah in February 1966. Still in power, the council has been reluctant about announcing a timetable despite steps which resulted in a draft constitution. It appears the soldiers and police want to remain until 1970. The Ghanaian economy was staggered by a huge debt left from Nkrumah's rule. The military has halted the slide but has not ben able to lift the economy.

● Nigeria — The federation's young officers worked themselves into civil war over the secession of astern Nigeria as independent Biafra. The fighting threatens to disintegrate the land which has the largest population in Africa. Before the war started, soldiers running the federal government planned a return to civilian rule by mid-1969. Last June, after the secession of Biafra, the military ruler, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, brought in civilian commissioners to his government. Nigeria's external affairs commissioner, Dr. Okoi Arikpo, says: "The prospect of continued military rule does not at present raise any apprehensions in the minds of people whose disgust with the politicians is still very strong."

● Togo: Tucked between Ghana and Dahomey, the military regime of this coffee republic appears to be settling for a long run. Col. Etienne Eyadema, a former sergeant, said in April, the army would return to the barracks only when civilians showed they had the good of the country at heart. He felt entrenched firmly enough in May to visit West Germany.

● Upper Volta: This landlocked area is destined to remain under army rule until 1971. President Sangoule Lamizana announced early in December 1967 the army would continue to rule for four years; two weeks later the former civilian president, Maurice Yameogo, tried to commit suicide. Now there is speculation Lamizana may release the former president from arrest and permit wider activity of civilians in the government. Upper Volta is a poor country of more than 4 million persons who do not grow enough food to feed themselves and who depend for foreign exchange on the sale of cattle driven hundreds of miles to southern markets along the coast. Lamizana has been unable to coax more financial help from his rich southern neighbor, Ivory Coast, or from the former colonial power, France.

Most West African military rulers share problems rather than success. Or, as one Dahomeyan intellectual who was active in politics said, "One may do anything one wants with a bayonet — but don't sit on it."

Concert Group Is Oldest in U.S.

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The Hutchinson Community Concert Association, just completing its 32nd program, is the oldest continuous community concert group in the United States.

Through the years the organization has brought to the stage of this south central Kansas city such performers as Eileen Farrell, Cesare Siepi, Robert Merrill, Piatigorsky and Rudolf Firkusny.

The black-eyed pea grows wild in Asia.

Major Crime Up in Cities

CHICAGO (AP) — A national survey of 423 American cities reveals that major crime is growing, with larger metropolitan areas experiencing a rapid increase.

Police departments were asked by a radio communications firm about the status of community relations, crime rate and police staffs.

★ ★ ★

The survey shows that the overwhelming majority of communities have no program for promoting community-police understanding for lessening interracial tensions.

During 1967, 41 per cent of cities over 100,000 population reported some form of racial disturbance; towns under 100,000 were almost free of racial incidents of any kind.

★ ★ ★

The typical city has one policeman for every 700 citizens. The percentage of full-time, trained officers has increased, and there has been a steep decline in volunteer and part-time forces.

Platt National Park, Okla., is the smallest of the U.S. national parks.

Thalidomide Defendants Go on Trial Monday

AACHEN, Germany (AP) — Bettina is 7 years old and is learning to write—with her feet. She was born without arms.

At another desk at a special school in Hamburg, her classmate Martina draws a picture of trees and people who have healthy limbs. She carefully guides the pencil with one of her own deformed hands. When the recess bell rings, Martina's stunted legs prevent her from running to join the other children at play.

★ ★ ★

There are about 6,500 Bettinas and Martinas in 20 countries, from Austria to the Philippines. More than 2,000 live in West Germany.

Why they were born with malformed limbs will be the central issue of a criminal trial opening before the Aachen State Court Monday.

PROSECUTION STAND

The prosecution contends the malformations were not accidents of nature but the result of human negligence with negligent manslaughter and inflicting bodily injuries in what some medical authorities have termed the "thalidomide catastrophe."

Hermann Wirtz, 71, president and chief stockholder of the family-owned company, underwent surgery this month and is not expected to be tried with the other eight. The prosecutor's office said Wirtz probably would be tried separately when he recovered.

★ ★ ★

In 1957-61 the company developed and sold thalidomide, a soothing and sleep-inducing drug. The drug was withdrawn from the market after Dr. Widuking Lenz, a pediatrician, reported a possible link between it and a wave of infants born with malformed limbs. The drug also was blamed for the deaths of some malformed infants soon after their births.

The mothers reportedly had taken thalidomide in the early stages of pregnancy.

300 PLAINTIFFS

Soon after the Lenz report, the first of what eventually added up to about 300 criminal complaints was filed by one of the parents of these children at the office of the Aachen chief prosecutor, Heinrich Gierlich.

Five years of investigation led to a 972-page indictment taken from 60,000 pages of evidence.

The trial is expected to last at least two years. It promises to be involved. Gierlich said in announcing the indictment last year: "In nature and size this case is without precedent. It is of immense consequence for all concerned."

★ ★ ★

The defendants face maximum sentences of five years imprisonment, and a decision against them would open the way for parents' civil damage claims, possibly totaling $25 million.

The prosecution has called almost 400 witnesses, including 29 scientific experts. The defense is expected to have at least as many expert witnesses.

★ ★ ★

The 300 complaintiffs include a number from abroad. The drug is known to have been manufactured in England, Sweden, Israel, Brazil and Japan and was marketed in a number of other countries. At the peak of its popularity Cruenenthal produced up to one million pills a day in West Germany.

A few malformed infants also were born in the United States, where a federal drug administrator, Dr. Frances Kelsey, blocked sale of the drug. The mothers there reportedly were wives of U.S. servicemen who had been stationed in West Germany or women who had received the drug from abroad.

★ ★ ★

To guard against a mistrial in the event of illness during the trial, the court has called in three alternate judges and six jurymen as a reserve. Under German law, a case must be retried if a trial is interrupted for more than 10 days.

LIKELY ISSUE

One of the issues the defense may raise is whether the present law can cover alleged victims who were embryos at the time the offense is supposed to have occurred.

The defense also may introduce testimony indicating thalidomide has an antiabortive effect, and, rather than causing malformations, may preserve malformed fetuses that normally would be rejected by miscarriage.

★ ★ ★

Defense witnesses also are expected to cite statistics differing with those of the prosecution and to contend that 80,000 pregnant women took the drug in West Germany and that only 4,000 of them bore children with malformed limbs. The argument is that on the average 25,000 children still are born in West Germany each year with physical or mental defects.

5 GIs From State Killed in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Michigan men were among the latest 39 Americans who were killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

Colorado Mishap Kills Detroit GI

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Army Spec. 4 Walter Silka Jr., 20, of Detroit, was killed Wednesday as he walked near an interchange on I-25 in Colorado Springs.

Draft Dodger Seized in Massachusetts Church

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. marshals seized a convicted draft evader in a church Wednesday, touching off an hour-long dispute which ended with police beating back antidraft demonstrators.

Robert A. Talmanson, 21, of Boston was carried from the altar of the Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church to a rear door where some 200 youthful protesters sang and shouted, "Hell no, Tally, you won't go!"

★ ★ ★

Marshals carried him to a car waiting in a parking lot nearby, but the demonstrators rushed past police and surrounded the vehicle, which was immobilized for a half-hour by demonstrators lying on its roof and in its path.

Police reinforcements sent a flying wedge to drag Talmanson to a waiting police van which sped away. The move touched off a series of fist fights in which demonstrators were hurled to the ground and at least 15 were taken into custody. They later were released.

TRAFFIC SNARLED

Rush hour traffic was snarled in the confusion.

U.S. Atty. Paul S. Markham, who was in charge at the scene, said Talmanson was picked up in the afternoon instead of the quieter night hours because "it would be a sorry state if the United States government had to sneak around in the nighttime to enforce the law."

Police fought protesters who tried to free their companions or throw themselves into the path of the wagons.

REMOVED FROM 'SANCTUARY'—Convicted draft evader Robert A. Talmanson, 21, of Boston is carried by U.S. marshals from his "sanctuary" in the Arlington Street Church in Boston yesterday. A wild street fight between police and howling protesters ensued. At least 15 demonstrators were taken into custody. Talmanson faces three years in prison.

The Rev. John Harmon of Boston, an Episcopal minister, had his clerical collar ripped from his throat in a scuffle. He was one of several clergymen at the scene.

Left inside the church was Army Spec. 4 William Chase, 19, of Dennis, a Vietnam veteran who the Army said is absent without leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash. The marshals ignored Chase, since there is no federal civilian charge against him.

Chase and Talmanson spent two nights in the church with members of the Resistance, an antidraft group, which claimed sanctuary for the pair.

About 150 demonstrators marched to police headquarters, three blocks away, after the scuffles and shouted complaints against "police brutality."

Talmanson was taken to Suffolk County jail to be held until federal officials choose a prison where he will serve a three-year term for failing to report for induction.

He lost an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court last week.

State House Rejects Plan for 4-Year Term

LANSING (UPI) — House members Wednesday turned down one resolution that would extend their terms from two to four years, but heard another introduced that would do the same thing.

The resolution that failed, 52-47, proposed a constitutional amendment to elect House members in presidential years. It needed 73 votes to pass.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, sponsored the resolution supported by those who contended that two-year terms required too much time campaigning.

House Speaker Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, opposed the bill saying, "Voters should have the chance to express themselves every two years."

IN AND OUT

Other House members opposed the resolution because of the presidential year clause. They said it would mean members could be swept in and out of office on presidential coattails.

House members are the only state offices who have two-year terms.

Less the four hours after the resolution was voted down, Rep. Joseph M. Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores, introduced a resolution that would, again, extend the terms of House members, but also would reduce the size of the legislative body from 110 to 99 members.

Snyder said reducing the membership would save Michigan taxpayers about $500,000 each year since it would eliminate some legislative and clerical salaries.

★ ★ ★

Another proposed constitutional amendment just to cut down the size of the House, but not tamper with the length of the terms, was to be voted on today in the House. The reduction in membership would be in a strict one-man, one-vote ratio according to the 1970 census, and would go into effect Jan. 1, 1973.

Why don't you settle that newspaper strike?

The letter reproduced here, while dated April 15, was received by The Detroit News on May 15, 1968. The letter accompanied by petitions signed by 251 News readers carries its own message. We urge you to read it and our reply.

April 15, 1968

Mr. Martin Hayden, Editor
Detroit News

Dear Mr. Hayden,

We, the undersigned, concerned by the continuing stalemate in your labor negotiations are civically and personally disturbed by the impact you are having on the economic, political, social, educational and entertainment fields of our community.

We do not know of the righteousness of either side's stand, but we do unanimously agree that your private positions must be subordinated to the greater common good of the public.

We believe that your inability to demonstrate the statesmanship required for leadership in our great metropolitan community demands action by those of us who are most affected, the public. Therefore, we the undersigned, hereby promise, if the strike is not settled by April 30, to enforce an economic boycott upon you and the unions to bring the most pressure possible to resolve the impasse and return normalcy to our city. We promise to cancel our subscriptions on that date for a period equal to the number of days you have been on strike since November 1967.

Your good will and concern proved by successful negotiations on or before April 30 is solicited.

A copy of this letter will be sent to the President of the newspaper unions.

cc: Mr. J. Cavanagh,
Mayor of Detroit

Attachment

Dear Petitioner:

As a News reader, you deserve a serious response to your petition to Mr. Hayden.

We share your disturbance over the length of the strike and your wish to settle it promptly. We'd like also to share with you some of the problems that prevent a settlement.

But first may we comment on your last sentence? There is, unfortunately, no one president of the newspaper unions. A loose confederation of newspaper unions exists and meets from time to time. It has no power to negotiate for the 14 unions nor authority to ratify the 23 separate contracts involved. The two newspapers must deal with the individual unions.

Because each union's negotiators are elected by its members, something like a political atmosphere prevails. Each negotiator tries to outdo the other in securing an advantage for his membership. This is understandable—this is partly what each is elected to do. But the effect is a leap-frogging of demands that cannot be met and can result in a long strike by one or more unions.

For a number of years and several rounds of negotiations, Detroit newspaper bargaining has been "pattern" bargaining: the first union to settle a contract set the basic money package for the other unions. The other unions have found this acceptable, until this year.

This year the Teamsters settled first (as they did in the previous round of negotiations in 1965), and settled for a large pay increase. But some other unions want more. They still are competing with the Teamsters and with one another.

While this is not merely an economic strike over questions of wages and hours, the offer accepted by the Teamsters is impressive. It would bring weekly wage scales of craft unions to a much higher rate than the average for their fellow members in the top 20 cities. For example, Detroit printers already are paid a weekly base wage of $164.09. Acceptance by the printers of the newspapers' three-year settlement with the Teamsters would bring this scale up to $175.09 weekly during the first year of a new contract. The average of the top 20 cities as of May 1, 1968, is $160.33.

Some people ask us: "If you are willing to pay such high wages why not give a few dollars more and settle this?" The answer is that money alone is not the answer.

A few unions now are trying to take advantage of this prolonged and most damaging strike to extract fundamental changes in working conditions, management control, and employment procedures. If agreed to, these changes would be detrimental to the long range economic health of the newspapers and thus of their employes.

In short, we are trying to survive.

A number of daily metropolitan newspapers have died in recent years and others are barely alive. The Detroit News is subject to the same ills, pressures and demands that killed five newspapers in New York City in a very few years.

Here are some of the demands we consider unreasonable:

- A demand that a union will decide the number of its members to be assigned to certain jobs, whether or not that number is necessary to get the job done.
- A demand that a union be permitted to control hiring so that the available work force is restricted. This would lead to more shifts at premium rates, and hence to unjustified and unnecessary extra costs to the newspapers.
- A demand that supervisors, members of management, be subject to disciplining by the union members they supervise.
- A demand that a union have control over how many newspapers may be printed within a given time, and the times at which The News will be printed.

These are but a few of the many difficult demands that have been made. Some would dilute the right of management to manage. The result would be chaos.

Acceptance of reasonable demands is one thing. Surrender to unreasonable demands for the sake of peace now would be both short-sighted and temporary. We want not only to resume publication soon—we also want to stay in publication after we resume. We believe that you, as a News reader, want that, too.

Again, thank you for the concern expressed in your petition. We care very much about our readers. We are doing everything reasonable men can do to settle these disputes and return to you the newspapers you want—now and for the years to come.

Sincerely yours,

Peter B. Clark

RFK Draws Overflow Crowds in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy wound up a full day of campaigning through eastern Oregon Wednesday, drawing overflow crowds at each stop on his wide-ranging itinerary.

The New York Democrat hopes to carry this momentum into the Portland area today. He said earlier he felt his image suffered when he drew small crowds in Portland last week.

★ ★ ★

Typical of frenzied crowd scenes that marked Kennedy's campaigning in other states was his reception Wednesday in Ontario.

The crowds packed so tightly around his open car that Kennedy jumped out and jogged ahead toward an enthusiastic rally in the town square.

ENTHUSIASM

Kennedy's most enthusiastic supporters at the rally seemed to be youngsters.

"If I become president," Kennedy said, "one of the first things I'll do is lower the voting age to 6."

Kennedy concluded his Wednesday campaigning for Oregon's Tuesday primary vote in The Dalles, a city of 15,000. An estimated 4,000 persons turned out to hear him speak at a junior high school.

Kennedy's schedule today was less rigorous. After breakfasting with clergymen, the candidate planned a tour of Portland's harbor aboard a sightseeing boat.

Belafonte Aid Will Benefit King's Family

ATLANTA (UPI) — Singer Harry Belafonte maintained a $50,000 insurance policy on the life of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. which will be added to the meager estate the slain civil rights leader left his family.

Chauncey Eskridge, an attorney for the King family, said yesterday the policy has not yet been paid. Belafonte was a long-time friend of Dr. King.

Eskridge had announced earlier Dr. King did not leave enough property or funds to warrant filing probate papers. He left no will, and his estate amounted to $5,000 in joint bank accounts with his wfie and a mortgage insurance policy which paid for his house.

Eskridge said Dr. King had donated most of the royalties from five books and $50,000 that accompanied the Nobel Peace Prize to the Southern christian Leadership Conference he headed, to Morehouse College, and to Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Valve Led to Jetliner Crash, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A defective valve started the fire that burned away the tail of a jetliner which crashed near Blossburg, Pa., last June, killing all 34 persons aboard, the government said yesterday.

Citizens Group Warns

'Paris Talks Hopes Too High'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A blue-ribbon citizens group including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower voiced fear today that many Americans have been misled into expecting "too much, too soon" from U.S.-North Vietnamese talks in Paris.

Americans think of negotiations as a road to peace but there is unmistakable evidence Hanoi's leaders consider negotiations as another way to fight a war, said a special panel of the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

It warned against expecting to "win at the conference table what we have not won on the battlefield" and against "losing at the conference table what we have fought so hard, and given so much, to protect."

While the group favored exploring for "a reasonable time" prospects for a peaceful settlement, it rated poor the chances for productive negotiations now.

The 1,700-word statement on "negotiations: Hopes versus Realities" was issued by a 14-man special panel on negotiations.

The citizens committee was organized last fall by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and includes both living ex-presidents — Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman—in its nationally known membership of about 190.

★ ★ ★

It labels itself a nonpartisan group setting forth the views of the "silent center" of U.S. public opinion on Vietnam as distinguished from vocal critics of the right and left. Its past expressions have been generally favorable toward Johnson administration policy.

Besides Eisenhower, the 14 signers of the special statement include Gen. Omar N. Bradley, former Joint Chiefs of Staff chairman; former Gen. Lucius D. Clay, now a senior partner in Lehman Bros.; former Harvard University President James B. Conant; former Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.; Archbishop Robert E. Lucey of the Catholic Archdiocese of San Antonio; and Mary P. Lord, former U.S. representative on the U.N. Human Rights Commission.

FIGHT-TALK PLAY

The statement said North Vietnam's policy is to fight and negotiate, counting on battlefield success to force its conditions at the conference table. "A camouflage surrender" of Southeast Asia would erode the whole non-Communist world security system, it said.

★ ★ ★

"Regretfully, our committee feels obliged to express its fear that many American citizens have been misled both by supcommitments in Vietnam to place too high a value on negotiations or on 'talks' in themselves—and to expect too much, too soon . . ."

"Instant victory is unfortunately not available to us on the battlefield or at the negotiation table . . ."

The largest expenditure ($17.7 billion) by state governments during fiscal 1966 was for education.

Montana Cold, Snow, Distance---and Money

Repertory Unit Has Obstacles

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The Montana Repertory Theater is trying to bring live drama, a personal kind of theater, to the people in the Northwest. But, in addition to fighting bitter cold weather, snow and distance, it is up against financial problems, too.)

By NEIL BIBLER
Associated Press Writer

MISSOULA, Mont. — The Rocky Mountains' only touring drama company is playing the shoestring circuit this season, but the Montana troupe has bigger things in mind.

One is a possible $500,000 federal grant for a unique program to set up a playwright colony, then devote a season to its plays.

* * *

There are few state-supported repertory theaters in the United States. The Montana Repertory Theater draws its state support through the back door: it had no money to match federal funds from the new Montana Arts Council, so Montana University became the repertory's angel.

The school pays director Firman H. Brown, university Drama Department chairman, and some others to more than match the $12,400 in federal aid. In-residence campus performances earn $8,000-$10,000. With $13,500 from its tour, the group operates under a $49,000 budget.

SUBSIDY NEEDED.

"Subsidation becomes as necessary for the arts in this region as it is for agriculture," Brown says.

Montana's population of 720,000 totals less than that from which any of the nation's major community theaters can draw.

* * *

The 32-member troupe is the first such body in Montana history, also the first touring company in 50 years. It took three plays to 11 towns in Utah, Idaho and Montana March 8-31 for 31 performances.

The point, says Brown, is "to create a warm, lively, personal kind of theater" to meet "the growing need and awareness of the people of the Northwest for live theatrical performances."

NEW MONEY

New money may come from Title III federal funds for the tour's educational aspects, but the big dream — and the big money — centers on new plays and playwrights. A Washington official told Brown, "If you discovered just one George Bernard Shaw, it would be worth the investment of half a million."

The tour, however, is worry enough. Any such trek provides staggering problems of logistics. The company also must contend with zero weather, snow and distance. Montana is 500 miles long and 300 miles deep.

"One worry is exhaustion," says Brown. As in most tours, actors double as stagehands.

But the next step is to double the tour — and the budget: $95,000 next year, Brown hopes. And cut the cast to 14 for the season.

FEW ARE PAID

Only four of the troupe's actors are paid, and one of those, Roger DeBourg of Red Lodge, Mont., is a University of Montana drama teacher. Others are Eileen Gallagher of Helena, Mont.; Patricia Maxson of Missoula and Robert McLaughlin of Bozeman, Mont. Students round out the troupe.

* * *

Brown heads a paid staff of five. All but technical director Robert Cocetti of Denver, Colo., are members of the university faculty.

Plays are Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple," and Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar."

Products made in the 52 shops and factories in Federal prisons and correctional institutions brought in $4 million in fiscal 1967.

Village Gets Free Bridge... but What for?

PARRAS, Mexico (UPI) — The town fathers of Parras don't understand the puzzling ways of Hollywood and probably never will.

They're happy, in any event, that they now have a bridge.

★ ★ ★

It all began when director Sam Peckinpah, working on a western — "The Wild Bunch" — proposed to build a railroad bridge over an arroyo on the edge of town.

The town fathers were delighted to get a free bridge — the first in the history of the town. But they pointed out to Peckinpah that there was no railroad line anywhere near to use the bridge.

BLOW UP

Peckinpah said that made no difference, he was going to blow up the bridge anyway for a scene in the movie.

The townspeople said that would be too bad. It was such a nice bridge and certainly a use would be found for it. Blowing it up would be a great waste.

★ ★ ★

Not even Pancho Villa, on his depredations through the area 50 years ago, was quite so destructive, they argued.

So Peckinpah said all right. He still had to blow up the bridge for the cameras, but then his crew would repair it.

Pakistan Strives Desperately to Reduce Birth Rate

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — A visitor to a government minister's home or office in Pakistan is likely to be served tea in a cup bearing a small circular seal showing a mother and two children.

That same seal is showing up all over the country—on billboards, on the back of municipal buses, on car bumpers and village walls.

★ ★ ★

It is the symbol of Pakistan's family planning program, a desperate drive to reduce this country's birth rate from 50 to 40 per thousand.

country's birth rate from 50 to Boynton, chief health officer for the U.S. Agency for International Development in Pakistan. Although his responsibility encompasses many health problems, Boynton has found himself deeply involved in the family planning program.

3 PCT. GROWTH

"The country has a 50 per thousand birth rate and a 20 per thousand death rate, for a net growth of 3 per cent," he says. "There are 125 million people in East and West Pakistan today and a 3 per cent growth rate would double the population in the next 23 years.

"By 1970 the Pakistan government wants to reduce the birth rate to 40. But at the same time, medical advances may drop the death rate to 15. This would give a 2½ per cent growth rate."

★ ★ ★

Boynton said it is estimated Pakistan has 20 million fertile couples: "If you got five million practicing family planning, and it is assumed there is 70 per cent effectiveness, you would meet the goal."

Today it is estimated that Pakistan has 2.2 million couples practicing family planning.

DEVICES USED

Boynton says 700,000 women are using the intrauterine contraceptive device known as the loop. About 30,000 persons per month are undergoing vasectomies or tubectomies and the remainder are using conventional contraceptives.

American involvement began in 1959, and Sweden has been helping since 1960, providing $6 million worth of male devices per year. Britain is supplying foam contraceptive and the Ford Foundation has offered $800,000 this year.

★ ★ ★

The program, Boynton says, jumped to life in 1964 when President Mohammed Ayub Khan appointed M. H. Enveradil as commissioner of family planning. In one month he wrote the entire family planning scheme for Pakistan's third five-year plan, 1965-70.

"His plan is a world model," Boynton says, pointing out that Env:radil has overcome bureaucratic red tape and succeeded in taking the program to the village level.

MANY SOURCES

About 100,000 distributors of contraceptives have been found, including barbers and teashop operators.

A major step was the training of family planning visitors, women who have no higher education but who are given a special one-year course in the insertion of loops.

"There were not enough trained doctors and if we had had to wait, the program would have failed," Boynton says. "Today we have about 1,000 'visitors' and 300 to 400 more are being trained every year."

★ ★ ★

The "visitors" help also in that they overcome the reluctance of many rural women to be seen by male doctors.

MIDWIFE USED

Most rural villages still maintain the traditional midwife, called a Dai. There are about 50,000 of these and now they are being trained to give family planning information to villagers.

Another technique is monetary incentive. Boynton said a doctor is given eight rupees, about $2, for every loop he inserts. Midwives and others are given 2½ rupees for every person they bring to a family planning clinic for insertion of a loop or undergoing sterilization.

★ ★ ★

"No one knows all the answers," Boynton says, "but we've got a good start. We have found it is possible to do something effective."

Junior Editors Quiz on EARLY ART

Question: Did early men have arts and crafts?

Answer: Scientists believe men started to use crude stone tools a million or more years ago, but think that arts and higher crafts did not begin to appear until about 50,000 years ago. The hunting of animals seems to have been responsible for the first art.

Our pictures show how this may have come about. Early men lived by hunting animals and naturally got to know their shapes. Some found they could draw lifelike animals on walls. Many such are still to be seen.

A frequent use of animals was to carve bone or horn, like the wonderful horse's head.

Still another was imitating the handsome patterns on animals' skins, such as that of the giraffe in our picture. Notice how the pebbles at the bottom, decorated by some primitive craftsman, resemble animal patterns.

The piece of beautiful printed bark cloth carries this kind of inspiration still further and bears a curious resemblance to certain forms of modern art.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Firm to Buy Its Ex-Parent

DRESHER, Pa. (UPI) — Corporate acquisitons are a dime a dozen these days, but an acquisition with a new twist involves a company that has decided to acquire its former parent.

The original parent, Selas Industrieofenbau of Dusseldorf, Germany, once had an American subsidiary which was seized by the U.S. Government in World War I.

After the Armistice it became an independent U.S. firm, Selas Corp. of America.

Since then, "child" and "parent" have gone their separate ways, each using the same name ("Selas," the Greek word for bright light) and each making industrial heat-treating equipment.

★ ★ ★★

Now the original parent company is to be absorbed by the child. Subject to expected approval by the U.S. Government, the American Selas company will operate its former German parent as a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Space Technology Gets Down-to-Earth Applications

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The nation's space program has taught it much about the moon and the planets. But perhaps as great a beneficiary has been the earth itself. The technological breakthroughs of the space age already have begun to produce solutions to earthly problems, particularly in medicine and law enforcement.)

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Thanks to techniques and equipment developed in the nation's space program, big city police departments may soon be staffed by "instant cops" armed with computers that can tell immediately if a crime has been committed and list the likely suspects.

Other space-age technological breakthroughs could produce better cities; air and water free of pollution; improved education and transportation systems.

"We've disproved the critics who said that going to the moon is not going to help solve problems on earch," Said Dr. Richard L. Lesher, the National Aeronatucs and Space Administration's assistant administrator for the Office of Technology Utilization.

"A spacecraft," he explained, "is a small planet in which you have water and air pollution, physiological, engineering and all sorts of problems. So, whatever we learn in those fields will carry through to the solution of problems on earth.

RETURN ON INVESTMENT

"We've just started to increase the return on our investment by getting the second and third-order benefits in many fields."

★ ★ ★

Medicine has been the biggest beneficiary so far, with new devices to monitor the sick and aid the handicapped.

In the near future, law enforcement agencies are expected to see a dramatic and highly useful fallout from the space program.

Many police departments already are using computers to aid their fight against crime. Before long, individual police cars may be equipped with small computers that would provide officers with at-a-glance information on such things as crimes in progress, identification of stolen automobiles and fingerprints.

QUICK ANSWERS

With the computer, an officer who encounters a person in suspicious circumstances could make a direct query to a central computer facility. In seconds, he would learn whether the circumstances constitute a cause for arrest, what the court decisions on this type of crime have been, and whether the suspect has a criminal record or is wanted.

Future policemen also may carry such space-developed weapons as pocket-size electronic gadgets with communications, recording and alerting features; a passive night telescope that could quietly spot a man 500 yards away in total darknes; a highly-sensitive sniffing device to locate hidden narcotics; an infrared detection system that could focus on an auto taillight and tell exactly how fast it's going, and a computer that could identify voice signatures.

Communities across the country have enlisted aerospace firms to help with urban, social and economic problems such as logistics, power generation, pollution, waste management, information handling and transportation. California state and local agencies have led the way, mainly because of the concentration of aerospace firms in that state.

SECURITY STUDY

The California Department of Corrections, for example has awarded TRW Inc. a contract to study external security systems to keep prisoners from escaping from its 13 institutions. TRW developed the external security system for the nation's Minuteman missile silo sites.

North American Rockwell has used laser technology to measure tiny movements in the earth's surface as a means of predicting earthquakes.

★ ★ ★

Westinghouse Electric Corp. is using space systems and management methods in a program to revitalize America's cities and in planning cities of tomorrow.

General Electric Co. has an exeprimental program with Detroit to introduce program planning and budgeting techniques learned through cost-effectiveness work on Defense Department space contracts.

In cooperation with the San Jose, Calif., Unified School District, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is designing an instruction program to encourage culturally deprived children to aim for scholastic success as a step toward job success.

★ ★ ★

Avco Corp., Aerojet-Agneral Corp., General Dynamics, McDonnell-Douglas and other firms are working with various cities in an effort to solve water pollution and water management problems.

★ ★ ★

Some of the most meaningful space spinoffs have occurred in the medical field. Among them are:

- A cardiac sensor developed for monitoring and diagnostic work on research animals is being implanted in human subjects. It is so tiny it can be inserted by hypodermic needle into an artery and then maneuvered to the end of a thin flexible tube into the heart.
- A computer technique that clarified Mariner spacecraft photographs televised 140 million miles from the vicinity of Mars is being used to make medical Xrays more revealing.
- Small biosensors used to monitor astronauts' physical condition during flight are being used in hospitals to permit one nurse, seated at a remote console, to monitor the condition of many patients simultaneously.
- A "sight switch" developed for possible astronaut use is being tested as a means to help immobile patients gain some control over their environment. In some tests they have been able to operate an electric wheelchair merely by moving their eyes.

HAMMERS INVENTED

In the nonmedical area, space technology has led to the invention of electromagnetic hammers to smooth and shape large panels of metal such as those used in shipbuilding; a camera system that senses radiant sources like runway lights to help bad weather airplane landings; remote sensors for temperature measurements in inaccessible places; long-wearing, highly heat-resistant paint; and a 24-ounce battery-operated television camera the size of a package of cigarettes, now used for monitorfng industrial processes.

Lesher noted the world readily recognizes the economic and practical benefits derived from communications, weather, navigation and other applications satellites.

"The task of our office," he said, "is the transfer of the knowledge gained from those less conspicuous items of new technology.

"We are, in effect, attempting to design a kind of bank — a knowledge bank. We are asking those who generate new knowledge to invest it in this bank and encouraging all citizens to withdraw knowledge from the bank."

HELP FROM NASA — Dr Richard L. Lesher (above) of the Office of Technology Utilization holds glasses originally designed for use by astronauts. The glasses can enable an immobile patient to control electric devices through an infrared detector sensitive to eye reflectivity. A helmet (left) based on those worn by astronauts has equipment to measure oxygen consumption while the subject exercises. Air goes in one side and out through a breath analyzer.

Detroit School Now King High

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Board of Education has changed the name of Eastern High School to Dr. Martin Luther King High School after petitions were gathered by students, faculty and citizens seeking to honor the slain civil rights leader.

As part of its tribute to King, the board also announced the formation of a citywide scholarship fund in his memory.

English Royal Treasures Will Be Topic of Book

LONDON (UPI) — A unique book illustrating and describing many of the royal treasures at Buckingham Palace — most of them never before seen by the public — is to be published in the autumn.

Orders from all over the world are already arriving for the book, the first comprehensive study of the royal collection published for almost half a century. Four writers and three photographers worked on the compilation for four years.

Some of the priceless objects d'art in the palace have been exhibited to the public in a small gallery opened in an annex of Buckingham Palace in 1962 as "The Queen's Gallery." From time to time small, exquisite samples from the royal hoard are placed on display.

But most of the items in the book have not been seen by outsiders and will not be unless the queen decides to open the State Rooms to guided tours. Advocates of this opening say it can be done without disturbing the privacy of the royal family who live in another wing of the vast building.

PALACE A HOME

But Queen Elizabeth considers the Palace a home rather than an official building and is not believed disposed to open it.

Anyone can go in to the Queen's Gallery at the price of two shillings and sixpence (30 cents) entrance fee so long as their behavior satisfies the keen eyes of the attendants, all tall ex-Guardsmen, wearing the Queen's redcoated livery.

★ ★ ★

Currently on exhibition is the multimillion-pound Royal Van Dyck collection, gathered together in one room for the first time. The collection is one of the best in the world by the Dutch artist, who came to England as court painter and was knighted by King Charles I.

Dr. Oaks Says:

Marijuana Threat to Youths

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another, in a weekly series of articles on health topics issued by the Oakland County Medical Society. Dr. Oaks is the collective voice of the society.)

Drug abuse is increasing among members of the so-called "now" generation. Because so many young people are "turning on" to the tune of pep pills, marijuana and even more potent narcotics, there is widespread alarm.

In Oakland County there are steps being taken by various medical and legal authorities to combat what is a clear and present danger. More than any other reason, it is probably the very nature of adolescence that makes drug abuse among the young such a potential problem. In another day tobacco and alcohol caused a similar concern.

Thrill-seeking and new experiences are very much a part of growing up. Finding your own answers to age-old questions is more than a casual hobby for the teen-ager.

But, what form does drug abuse take? Initially, a young person's use of drugs may be confined to pep pills or other mild stimulants—most available without prescription off the drugstore shelf. So-called hard stuff, like heroin, is not an early factor. For that matter, it may never be.

USE INCREASES

In recent years, drug abuse among young people has increased primarily through the use of marijuana, which is illegal in most of the western world.

Coming from preparations of the cannabis plant, marijuana has no known use in medical practice in most countries. It came to this country just in the last 60 years.

★ ★ ★

Commonly smoked in a cigarette, marijuana so prepared has acquired a variety of nicknames. It is known as reefers, sticks, joints or as hay, grass, pot, weed or tea. Like the many-more-times-powerful and dangerous LSD, marijuana is a hallucinogenic drug—an alleged mind-expander.

The reaction of the human body to marijuana can best be described in a comparison to alcohol. For example, it is a solvent of the conscience, relieves inhibitions and alleviates feelings of hopelessness, powerlessness and apprehension.

Marijuana—its effects can last up to 12 hours — slows reflexes and causes other sensory derangements. Thus, it acts much like alcohol.

In the normal individual, assuming there are no basic emotional defects, there is no lasting dependence on marijuana, nor any lasting mental or physical changes through its use.

This again is similar to alcohol. There are no lasting mental or physical changes from a cocktail, although sustained use does cause eventual damage.

Despite these aspects of the drug, however, they do NOT diminish the risks of marijuana use. Even the temporary reaction has been and will be severe with potential tragic consequences in terms of self-harm and antisocial behavior.

Army Calls Up 'Exempt' Reservists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several hundred Reservists who were assured last year that they would not be called up are now being ordered to active military duty, the Pentagon conceded today.

The Reservists were excused from the 1967 punitive call-up because their units had been dsbanded and it was no fault of theirs that they were not taking part in weekend drills.

★ ★ ★

But, the present mobilization of the Reserves is on the basis of need, the Army said, and these men fare no better than others when the computers grind out the name to be tapped.

★ ★ ★

Some of the Reservists, who had made plans on an assumption that they would be civilians indefinitely, have hotly protested and have contended that they were assured they would not be called.

CONTRARY TO RULES

The Army said a Reservist cannot be assured he would never be called up because it would be contrary to regulations.

Most of the men who encountered the double jeopardy in successive years and escaped only the first time are in areas around Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio, St. Louis, Mo., Houston, Tex., Los Angeles, Calif., Atlanta, Ga., and New York City.

★ ★ ★

The concentration is due to the fact that the Army Reserve divisions were disbanded in these areas in a 1965 reorganization.

The individual Reserves now being mobilized are part of a call-up of 24,500 men, mainly in units, announced by the Pentagon April 11.

ALREADY REPORTED

The units, after members were given 30 days to settle their civilian affairs, have already reported to mobilization stations. But the individuals who will serve as "fillers" in the units, are only now being called and will not report for duty until late June.

The original estimate was that 3,500 "fillers" would be needed, but the total has turned out to be 4,100, because there were more vacancies than anticipated in the units.

As a consolation prize, for those who failed to escape in the second round, individuals are being called only for periods usually less than 18 months.

In the Jacoby method, a two diamond response to an opening one no-trump is a transfer of spades. This leaves the two spade response free for something else and we use it to show a minor two suiter of indefinite strength.

JACOBY

The opener rebids to two no-trump with at least one and a half stoppers in each major suit. Otherwise he rebids three clubs with clubs as good or better than diamonds and three diamonds with better diamonds than clubs.

★ ★ ★

If responder has a good hand he goes past three diamonds. If he has a poor hand he passes a three club or diamond rebid and bids three of his better minor if the rebid were two no-trump. In all those cases the final contract will be a three of a minor.

Today's North hand is perfect for the best response. North does not want to let South play at one no-trump. It would be nice if North could get to play at two of a minor but East and West can make at least three spades and West would surely try a two spade bid if North merely responded with a minor suit sign off at the two level.

★ ★ ★

South isn't at all happy when North drops him at three clubs. That is, until he sees the dummy. Then he sees that he is in a fine contract and should make it after the heart lead.

Assuming that East takes his ace of hearts and continues the suit, South wins with his king and plays ace and one diamond. West wins and forces dummy where upon South should lead a trump toward his hand.

If East ducks South wins the trick and continues trumps. Eventually he sets up dummy's last two diamonds and winds up losing two diamonds, one heart and one club.

♣♦CARD Sense♠♥

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	?

You, North, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 9 7 6 5 4 ♣ J 9 5 4 3

What do you do?

A—Bid two spades if you and your partner follow Jacoby methods. Otherwise pass and take your medicine.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Again your partner opens one no-trump. This time you hold:
♠ 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ A 10 7 6 5 ♣ K J 8 4 3
What do you do now?

Castro Intends to End the Draft

Military Training Will Be Part of Education

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro intends to do away with the country's fledgling military draft in a move to beef up the quality of the armed forces.

"In the future, a not-too-distant future," Castro told a crowd recently, "compulsory military service as it is now will disappear." He said the draft will be replaced by a new system where both young men and women get military training as part of their education.

★ ★ ★

Currently, males 15-27 are liable for three years' compulsory military service, and there are few deferments.

Castro's aim clearly is to get more qualified technical personnel in the regular armed forces, estimated at more than 200,000.

YOUNG PEOPLE

"We intend to establish as soon as possible so many technological and senior high schools that our military units will be sufficiently furnished with such personnel, with young students who will make up the bulk of the soldiers," he said.

"Needless to say, nothing makes a military commander happier than to have a technological school assigned to one of his units."

Cuba's military darft began in early 1964 following compulsory registration of all males 16-44. The first batch of draftees was released last summer. The government immediately urged them to take advantage of their training by offering them chances at further study or technical jobs in agriculture and construction.

The government also has called for 50,000 young volunteers to work in the fields of Camaguey province for three years. It said volunteers would be exempt fro the draft. Both men and women have joined the labor brigade.

BETTER USE

Leaders have been talking for some time of making better use of female high school graduates. The switch to military training in all schools is designed to take care of that.

Women are not expected to be assigned to combat posts, although military commanders frequenly rteport attempts by women to enlist for this type of service, including pilot training. Women now serve in some branches of the armed forces and the militia.

Coincidental with the graduai elimination of the draft, Castro has announced a plan to build a reserve force of tank and armored vehicle drivers.

His plan is to form a construction brigade of 5,000 heavy equipment machines and 15,000 men by the end of this year.

Analysts Seek Defense From Jokes, Satire

By Science Service

BOSTON — Psychoanalysts in the past have not done much to counter the sneers and satire aimed at their profession. To them it's a cost of the kind of work they do.

They interpret jokes about the couch and Freud and criticism of the value of psychoanalysis and the scientific worth of analytic theories more or less as evidence of public fear. Ever since Freud, psychoanalysts have expected the public to react defensively against their probes of the unconscious.

★ ★ ★

But now the stakes are higher. The field of mental health is taking off in a big way. New community mental health centers promise to reach many thousands of people with a variety of nonanalytic tools — drugs, new therapies and techniques aimed at changing behavior rather than solving internal conflicts.

★ ★ ★

A casualty of this headlong rush to action is likely to be interest in the unconscious psyche: just the subject on which analysts have spent years building a body of information and theory.

THEORETICAL IDEAS

There is a danger that mental treatment will become too superficial, says Dr. Burness E. Moore, associate clinical professor at Yale University and a training analyst at the New York Psychoanalitic Institute. "The contribution of the psychoanalyst to theoretical ideas may be completely lost."

★ ★ ★

Faced with the threat of diminishing influence over mental health, the American Psychoanalytic Association decided not to counterattack, but to educate the public and the public press in the ways of its science.

★ ★ ★

"In the past, we made no effort," says Dr. Moore. "Now we are trying to represent ourselves as accurately as possible."

It has not been easy. From an initial reluctance to even talk to reporters, psychoanalysts have moved to restrained and cautious communication with the professionals who report their work to the public.

SENSE OF WARINESS

Years of misinterpretation have built up a sense of wariness on the part of the analyst, explains Dr. Martin A. Berezin, Boston analyst on the Harvard faculty as well as the staffs of Beth-Israel and McLean Hospitals.

★ ★ ★

"Experience with a good deal of resistance and hositlity has led older analysts to exercise great caution in dealing with the outside world, adds Dr. Moore.

State Building Group Backs New Capitol

LANSING (AP) — The State Building Commission has adopted a resolution favoring construction of a new State Capitol and retention of the existing structure.

★ ★ ★

The three-point resolution calls for:

- A new Capitol to be erected on land about three blocks behind the present structure.
- Maintenance of the existing Capitol for its historical significance and for use by other state groups.
- Expediting by the Legislature of a Capitol construction plan.

DESIGNS STUDIED

State officials, legislative committees and the building commission currently are studying several architectural designs for a new Capitol, said A. W. Languis, state building director and commission secretary.

★ ★ ★

The Joint Capital Outlay subcommittee already has recommended a $500,000 appropriation to get the new Capitol construction under way before 1970.

★ ★ ★

As now projected, the new Capitol would house all of the legislative offices, committee rooms and other legislative facilities, including House and Senate chambers, plus the executive office.

Paris Historic Treaty Capital

Viet Peace Talks Continue Tradition

WASHINGTON — More than any other city, Paris can claim the title, "Treaty Capital of the World."

Since the discussions ending the Seven Years' War in 1763, Parisians have been hosts to countless conferences. The tradition continues with the present Vietnam talks in the old Majestic Hotel, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

Many historically significant pacts are known solely as the "Treaty of Paris" or the "Peace of Paris." One of the earliest, the 1782 treaty ending the American Revolution, was negotiated by an American team that included a precocious 15-year-old, John Quincy Adams.

As a conference center, Paris witnessed its busiest years at the close of the Napoleonic Wars. The peace period began amicably.

GOOD-NATURED HERO

Occupation forces from Russia, Prussia and Austria entered the city without bloodshed and quickly discovered Paris' charms. Prussian Field Marshal Gebhard von Blucher, the good-natured hero of the Battle of Lutzen, lost one million gold francs in a single evening at No. 113, the city's leading gaming house.

"It's so like a party," a hostess commented, "it's a pity it's a conquest."

★ ★ ★

Persuaded by the skillful Charles Maurice de Talleyrand-Perigord to be magnanimous in the Treaty of 1814, the allies refrained from demanding financial reparations.

The aura of goodwill faded when Napoleon escaped from Elba, only to be defeated at Waterloo. The allies, no longer inclined to leniency, imposed a staggering indemnity of 700 million francs in the Second Peace of Parish, signed in 1815.

WOODROW WILSON

More than a century later, a distinguished assembly gathered in Paris for the Versailles Peace Conference. President Woodrow Wilson came in person to promote a League of Nations.

The conferees from 27 nations also included British Prime Minister David Lloyd George, French Premier Georges Clemenceau and Italian Prime Minister Vittorio Orlando. The treaty with Germany was signed. A generation later, Adolf Hitler destroyed the peace and the league collapsed.

★ ★ ★

More recently, a Paris summit conference on Germany ended abruptly in 1960 after the Soviet Union shot down an American U-2 airplane.

Paris talks usually are held in opulent surroundings such as the Palaces of Versailles and Fontainebleau. The present negotiating site offers a slightly less elegant environment.

FINEST HOTEL

The Majestic, now the International Conference Center, was considered one of Paris' finest hotels when it was completed in 1908. In the early days of World War II, it provided office space for the French Information Ministry. German occupation forces later commandeered it for an army headquarters.

Part of the 1944 plot by German officers against Hitler probably was planned in the Majestic.

★ ★ ★

Although shadowed with the grime of Paris, the gray stone structure near the Arc de Triomphe retains a quiet dignity befitting its role in international diplomacy.

Canada Has Too Many Corporals

OTTAWA (UPI) — Because every third man in Canada's armed forces is a corporal, the country's military rank structure is in danger, according to some critics.

Marcel Lambert, Progressive Conservative member of the House of Commons from Edmonton West, told the Commons Defense Committee there are more than 35,000 corporals in a force of just over 100,000 men.

★ ★ ★

He said this is causing unrest among the servicemen for whom the rank of corporal has always implied leadership ability.

Douglas Harkness, former Conservative Defense Minister, said promotion in Canada's armed forces based on technical skill is destroying the rank structure.

PAY BOOST

He said men are being given corporal's stripes as a means of increasing their pay. Previously, it took 10 years or more for a man to move up from private.

Under the new system, the corporal's stripes are given once a recruit has completed five years' apprenticeship and been accepted into the permanent force.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Gen. E. M. Reyno, chief of personnel on Canada's new united force, agreed promotions to corporal have been stepped up, but denied it endangered the military rank structure.

He said it is one way to retain skilled technicians in the armed forces whose training could bring higher salaries in civilian jobs.

DIFFERENT APPROACH

Reyno said Canadian servicemen still have military pride to keep them in the armed forces, but that today's youth has a different approach to life.

"If we train a man well, he knows he has a marketable skill," the general said. "We have to provide compensation to offset the attractions of a civilian job."

How Is Your Social Image?

Columnist Presents Prestige Check List

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Checked your image lately?

You should. Your social image is as important to your success as oil is to the smooth functioning of your automobile. Both should be checked periodically.

BOYLE

It isn't necessary to call in an outside specialist to check your prestigate rating. If you know the symbols, you should be able to handle the job yourself.

★ ★ ★

All things considered, it is probably better that you do. Why, if you should be slipping a bit, let anyone else become aware of that fact. Better to keep your problem to yourself.

However, you can be sure your prestige rating is pretty high if—

Before the annual office dance, your boss's wife calls your wife to find out what to wear.

THROWN OUT

When your kids get thrown out of one expensive school, two other expensive schools are willing to take them in.

Your secretary never fails to bring you a big red rose on your birthday. She's so proud to be on your team that she'll even work 4½ minutes late on Friday without a whimper, just to be sure the week's work is wound up properly.

When you're overdrawn at the bank, the manager uses that only as an excuse to call you up and ask when you'll play golf with him next.

Hippie Leader Out of Money

'Free U. S. in Exile' Is Losing Supporters

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The president of the Free U.S. Government in Exile is down to his last cent.

President Sheldon Cholst hasn't paid his electricity bill, so there's no electric light in his "White House."

His two-man cabinet went on an unauthorized hitchhiking trip and never came back.

The worst of it is that the long-haired "hip people" who crowd Vientiane's psychedelic scene have turned out to be fair-weather friends. When his money ran out, they lost interest in him.

EX-PSYCHIATRIST

Cholst is a sun-tanned, 44-year-old ex-psychiatrist from Brooklyn who ran through much of a small fortune left by his realtor father in a search for what the hip people call "the ultimate freedom."

The search led him through a drug conviction in England to Thailand and finally to Laos, which has no effective restriction on the production, sale and use of narcotics.

In Vientiane, the new mecca of long-haired "travelers" tired of a square world, Cholst settled into a palm-shaded white bungalow a stone's throw from the embassy of the real U.S. government.

He blames secret American pressure for the fact that no foreign government — not even the Laos government — has taken any notice of his exile regime. But he was greatly heartened recently when two reporters of the Soviet news agency Tass came to interview him and Radio Moscow carried a story about him.

THIRD EYE

On Vientiane's Junky Strip, a shabby collection of bars, brothels and opium dens, Cholst opened a nightclub called the Third Eye, which quickly became a favorite gathering place of the hip group. Homemade marijauna cigarettes are on sale there for 8 cents each.

Until recently, there was also a small back room known as the Den, where young guests reclining on comfortable cushions were served opium at 25 cents a pipe.

Method Gives Illness Fighter New Promise

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—A "miracle" disease fighter that never quite panned out — interferon — is giving new promise because of a new way of administering it.

Once touted as a solution to ills ranging from colds to cancer, interferon has never worked as hoped. Now, scientists in Rochester, N.Y., report a new way of inducing the body to make the substance — at least in mice.

★ ★ ★

Their method involves the transfusion of white blood cells that have previously been stimulated to make interferon.

Most of the work to date on interferon has sought either to find a way to produce enough of the protein for injection, or to find some agent that will induce the body's own interferon production.

INDUCED PRODUCTION

Dr. Lowell A. Glasgow of the University of Rochester School of Medicine says his research group has induced interferon production in the white blood cells of mice, then transfused these cells into other mice.

The transfusion of these interferon factories, Dr. Glasgow says, provides the host with continual high levels of interferon at very small risk. He notes that blood cell transfusions have been shown to be safe by decades of experience with millions of patients.

★ ★ ★

For a decade, interferon has hung like the grapes of Tantalus, always slightly out of reach. It was identified in 1957 by the late Dr. Alick Isaacs as the substance responsible for one viral infection's interference with the development of a later arriving virus. Interferon at first was hailed as a potential answer for just about every virus disease known.

Interferon is a chemical produced by cells under attack by a virus which blocks reproduction of the virus. It is a cell's first line of defense against viruses.

'Pork Barrel' Halt Unlikely to Save Much

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nationwide work stoppage on dams and other public works projects that are less than half completed may be forced on Congress by the White House if the lawmakers insist on a $6-billion slash in government spending.

But both Congress and the administration may find it's easier to take projects out of the "pork barrel" than to put them back in. As a result, any "savings" are likely to be small at best.

★ ★ ★

The proposal, discussed behind closed roors on Capitol Hill as part of the 10 per cent surtax and spending reduction plan, calls for halting construction on flood control, navigation, irrigation and other projects during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

★ ★ ★

If applied across the board without exceptions, work would grind to a halt on more than 100 projects now under construction by the Corps of Engineers, the chief builder of "pork barrel" projects. Construction by other agencies, such as the dam-building Bureau of Reclamation, also would be affected.

WOULD HIT WEST

Particularly hard-hit would be the West and states such as Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana and Illinois.

A UPI analysis, confirmed by the Army Engineers, indicates that immediate "paper savings" in the 1969 fiscal year might be about $400 million if work comes to a halt on new corps projects. The Bureau of Reclamation budget might be cut by about $150 million.

★ ★ ★

But such savings probably would be illusory at best—and, in some cases, perhaps impossible.

For example, the biggest single item in the Army engineers budget for fiscal 1969 is $65 million to continue work on the $360 million Libby Dam in Montana. It appears unlikely this work could be halted entirely since a treaty with Canada requires the United States to complete the dam in 1972.

PENALTY PAY

Or consider the $248-million Dworshak dam in Idaho, for which the Corps of Engineers is seeking $45.5 million during the next fiscal year. Contracts totaling about $115 million already have been awarded. If they are washed out, the government would be liable for undoubtedly large penalty payments to the contractors.

★ ★ ★

Even a temporary suspension of many projects probably would mean higher price tags in the long run due to a continuing inflation in the cost of materials and land. There also would be the cost of protecting partially completed projects.

★ ★ ★

The work proposal was not mentioned in a report by the House-Senate conference committee which recommended the $6 billion cut. But Deputy Budget Director Charles Zwick confirmed in closed-door testimony before the House Appropriations Committee that it was under consideration.

Church Music Dull, Minister Laments

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Church music should have meaning to prevent worshipers from falling asleep in their pews, asserts Gordon McMillan, newly-named minister of music at Central Methodist Church here.

Characterizing present-day church music as low quality with words people don't understand, McMillan points out: "People put up with church music so they become, unless showmanship goes along with it, unconscious of it just like they 'don't hear' other noises."

★ ★ ★

The 17th Century music was very good, says the 27-year-old graduate of Redlands University in California, where he later spent five years running musical production for the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

"But," he adds, "music bogged down in the 19th Century and never got over it." As an organist, he advocates Bach to barouqe plus "the best music of all eras."

Heavenly Call Can Be Made ---for a Price

HARIDWAR, Northern India (UPI) — In this holy city on the holiest of Indian rivers, you can place a telephone call to heaven.

A sadhu (holy man) wearing saffron robes moves among the tens of thousands of people who come to Haridwar to bathe in the sacred waters of the Ganges.

★ ★ ★

An aide to the sadhu whispers into the ear of the pilgrim: "My chief talks to God every day for 20 minutes. So can you if you make the offering."

The long-distance toll to heaven is five rupees (about 65 cents). You talk into a conch shell which the Sadhu holds in his mouth.

NO REPLY

You hear no reply from heaven. But the faithful believe.

India is a vast fairyland of religions, a land filled with holy rivers, holy cows and holy cities.

★ ★ ★

Most of India's 385 million devout Hindus (total population 472 million) believe seriously in ancient rituals such as this: dip yourself once into a holy river, and you wash away 1,001 sins — no more, no fewer.

The great Ganges flows out of the high Himalayas, and the first holy city it touches is Haridwar, which means the Doors of Heaven.

BEST DAYS

Once in six years, the sun passes a point in the zodiac marking the best days in which to wash away sins. More than a million pilgrims are said to come to Haridwar at that time for a great bathing festival.

Into Haridwar they come, and into the heart of the city named Hari-ki-Pauri (the Feet of God).

★ ★ ★

Some pilgrims come to wash away their sins in the sacred waters.

Others come to adjust their income taxes by giving tax-exempt donations to religious organizations.

LEARN TECHNIQUES

Still others come to earn money by such techniques as booking long-distance telephone calls to heaven.

Some of the priests who come to minister to the pilgrims are wealthier than a maharajah, owning palaces and stables filled with elephants and horses.

College Keeps Greeley Ties

NEW YORK (AP) — Pace College has gone north, instead of west, to build on the history of Horace Greeley.

★ ★ ★

Greeley's advice was "Go west." Pace College has moved northward twice to locations that are landmarks in the life of Greeley, founder of the New York Tribune.

★ ★ ★

The liberal arts college is located on Park Row, the street in lower Manhattan which once was New York's newspaper row.

When the college recently dedicated the cornerstone for its $16-million addition, it recalled the history not only of Greeley but the college.

WHERE IT STARTED

The addition, just north of the college, is being erected on the site of the old Tribune building. It was in the Tribune building, in fact, that Pace College got its start.

★ ★ ★

In 1906 two brothers, Homer and Charles Pace, borrowed $600 and rented rooms in the newspaper building to open their night business school.

★ ★ ★

The business school became a four-year liberal arts college in 1948.

Pace College made its other move northward in 1963 when it opened Pace College Westchester, its four-year campus near Pleasantville, in Westchester County, N.Y.

ANOTHER LINK

Administration offices of the new campus are in the building in which Greeley spent his last days. Greeley was a patient of Dr. George C. S. Choate, and the frame structure in which Greeley died in 1872 was a hospital wing of Dr. Choate's home.

Tourist Corps Proposed to Better Image

WASHINGTON — Foreign travelers who loudly criticize restaurant food and undertip taxi drivers often are dismissed as "tourists" — an epithet that ranks somewhere between "idiot" and "boor."

Stephen Streeter, a world traveler and president of the American Tourist Association, Inc., deplores the deterioration of the tourist's image and wants to do something about it. He proposes an International Tourist Corps, composed of vacationers willing to do more than sight-see.

★ ★ ★

The words "tourist" and "tourism" have gone separate ways, he said. "As the concept of tourism has gained worldwide respect and recognition, it has acquired idealistic and humanistic meanings.

"Paradoxically, the tourist has lost much of his favorable public image; he is depicted as a caricature on stage, screen, and television," Streeter told the National Geographic News Service.

FRENCH CHEF

Corps members could include an American hotel manager who, while vacationing in Uganda, demonstrates modern bookkeeping methods to hostel keepers. A French chef may offer free culinary lessons to Midwestern restaurateurs while traveling across the United States.

"The fact is that many tourists are interested in vacationing only and that means having a good time," Mr. Streeter said. "We must convince them that good times and a better understanding of other people are not in conflict."

★ ★ ★

Residents could serve, too. A Frenchman living in India might be an assistant group escort for Parisian visitors. A multilingual American may translate menus for tourist-minded restaurant owners.

★ ★ ★

Members at home could coordinate local hospitality groups to aid confused foreign visitors, and greet travelers at airports and railroad stations. The cost would be minimal — only administrative expenses, Mr. Streeter said. Members pay their own way.

ONE PCT. INTERESTED

Typical corps members would be "multicultural" — perhaps foreign-born, with extensive civilian or military travel abroad. About 50 million Americans qualify and one per cent of all Americans traveling abroad would be interested, Mr. Streeter estimated.

Some 19,500,000 Americans — mostly tourists — visited other nations in 1967. By Mr. Streeter's reckoning, 195,000 of them were prospective corps members.

He envisions the corps as an integral part of international tourism, the largest single item in world trade. More than 138 million people spent some $14 billion in foreign travel in 1967.

Tourists account for almost half the foreign exchange earnings of several nations. By 1975, the number of foreigners visiting the United States will total 16,000,000 — compared to less than 9,000,000 in 1967.

U.S. CITIZEN

Mr. Streeter, a native of Austria-Hungary and a United States citizen since 1940, has submitted his plan to the 87-nation International Union of Official Travel Organizations. The coprs would be administered by the Union, national tourist authorities and government tourist offices.

"Once tourists are made aware of what is expected of them it is reasonable to assume that their image will improve," he said.

Safe Thieves Take Some Precautions

YATES CENTER, Kan. (AP) — Thieves got away with $650 from a safe at the Cantrell Motor Co., although tear gas bombs, placed in the safe for protection against robbers, exploded properly.

★ ★ ★

Another break was reported the same morning at the National Guard armory four blocks away.

★ ★ ★

Two gas masks were taken there.

WAYNE MORSE

Senator Wary but Confident

Leading Opponent in Primary Is Slipping

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An air of wary confidence hangs over the headquarters of Sen. Wayne Morse, one of the Senate's most fierce critics of the Vietnam war, as he seeks renomination in Oregon's May 28 Democratic primary.

His leading opponent is Robert B. Duncan, a Johnson administration defender, who is waging a vigorous campaign but one which some of those close to him admit privately is not moving well.

Seven months ago, the situation looked very different.

A major poll taken in October —the results became known only recently—showed Duncan with 51.1 per cent of the Democrats and Morse with 39.8.

But then Morse went to work. He ranged all over the state, mending fences, renewing ties he knew he could count on and greeting voters just about everywhere.

CONTINUING GAIN

In March, the same pollsters took another reading. This time Morse was in front, 49.4 to 39.9. A fresh poll in the area around Portland, where one-third of the state's Democrats live, showed that as of May 5 Morse was continuing to gain.

Duncan, 47, was the Democratic nominee in a close but unsuccessful race two years ago with another Vietnam critic, Republican Sen. Mark O. Hatfield.

★ ★ ★

In that contest, Vietnam was a key issue. But this time, with President Johnson out of the running and peace talks under way in Paris, the war is no longer central.

One of the personable young Duncan's problems is finding a key issue on which to best Morse, 67, a senator for 23 years and a campaigner of unquestioned brilliance.

LOCAL TOPICS

Duncan no longer emphasizes the war as an issue but instead has focused on local topics, the national problem of civil disorders and on Morse the man.

He had debts after the Hatfield race and has had trouble raising money for this campaign. It was three weeks before election day that his first radio commercial was broadcast and he still has had no television commercials. He had no billboards anywhere in a state where the billboard is a regular means of political communication.

★ ★ ★

Morse, on the other hand, has raised considerable sums from all parts of the country and since mid-March his soft-sell prime-time television advertisements have pictured him as a sober, unruffled statesman equally at home with his grandchildren, his farm animals or crushing world problems.

His frequent talks in all parts of Oregon have been low-key discussions of his record and of problems he says he still wants to help Oregon and the nation solve.

Duncan has assailed Morse as a man who gets no results and whose angry dissents on Vietnam policy went beyond the bounds of proper debate.

He charged that Morse and Hatfield connived two years ago to defeat him and that the Republicans—Morse's former party— are now raising money for Morse.

★ ★ ★

Organized labor's role in the campaign has been ambivalent. Some local unionists, resentful of Morse's role in recent arbitration efforts in railroad and airline disputes, are backing Duncan. But Morse enjoys some national labor support.

Duncan says two factors will help him immensely: a relatively large undecided bloc and bitter anti-Morse sentiment.

Phones Ringing Racial Accord

Kansas City Calls for Understanding

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "Hello. I'm Ted Otteson, and I'm white. Jim Wilson gave me your name, and I'm just calling to say hello."

The man on the other end of the line was a Negro. Kansas City was undergoing the worst racial disturbance in its history, and a friendly call from a white man he didn't even know was just about the last thing he had expected.

★ ★ ★

"Well, hello!" he finally managed to say, "It's nice to hear from you."

That was the beginning last month of Operation Hello—a practically spontaneous effort by whites and Negroes of Kansas City to break through an invisible barrier.

SIMPLE, DIFFICULT

The objective: Help members of both races do something so simple and yet so difficult—just talk to each other.

The method: Conduct a sort of chain letter by telephone. People call members of another race, mention the name of a mutual acquaintance and exchange names of friends to call.

That's all there is to it.

★ ★ ★

Otteson, a slim, 43-year-old counselor with the Neighborhood Youth Corps, told how the idea came to him during racial troubles last month in which six Kansas City Negroes died and nearly $1 million in property was destroyed by fire.

"I just got to thinking there must be something ordinary people could do to keep this from happening again." the India-born son of missionary parents said softly.

PERSONAL CALLS

"But it had to be something personal and something small enough so the average person would do it."

More

Kansas City's shooting and burning ended in a few days, but Operation Hello is still snowballing along. Otteson said he has no idea how many people are involved, but already several hundred whites and Negroes have made thousands of calls.

★ ★ ★

"I was so surprised," said Mrs. Al Nicholson, wife of a tavern owner, as she told of receiving a call from a white woman she didn't know.

"But she was so pleasant, I believed her and gave her some other names to call."

TALK TOPICS VARY

Mrs. Nicholson has made some calls of her own, and she said not all the conversation with white strangers is about racial problems.

"We just talk about things in general — our families, our work — just everything," she said.

★ ★ ★

"It may not be the complete answer, but it certainly can't hurt anything. I'm sure there are some prejudiced people in Kansas City, but I think most white pople just have never come in contact with Negroes.

"At least this gives them an opportunity to be friendly."

Wilbur Goodseal, 38, a Negro speech consultant with the city-school board, reported surprise seems to be the initial reaction of whites he has telephoned in Operation Hello.

SILENCE FIRST

"You get a slight silence at first," he said. "Then they become quite enthusiastic and eager to discuss things.

"People on both sides need reassuring that there are people concerned about their welfare. are just as worried about the Whites are learning Negroes violence going on as they are."

Goodseal added the telephone talks could lead to personal meetings between whites and Negroes who ordinarily might have little if any contact with each other.

"It's a very warm, friendly thing," he said, "but very difficult to describe unless you've tried it."

Mrs. Otteson explained she and her husband had always considered themselves free of any racial bias. But after talking with Negro strangers on the telephone, she realized that for the first time she was thinking of them as individuals instead of as a faceless group.

"It's like," she concluded in a tone touched with wonder, "breaking down a wall you didn't even know was there."

Care of Teeth, Diet Pay Off

Preventive Dentistry Works, Expert Says

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — When the director of the first Institute of Preventive Dentistry lectured at the Indiana University Dental School in Indianapolis yesterday, he had living proof in the audience that cavities can be prevented. His 25-year-old son, a student at the school, hasn't a cavity in his head.

Any child whose parents start him with the proper diet and dental care can achieve this result, says Dr. Joseph L. Bernier, former chief of the U.S. Army Dental Corps.

"I first got the idea of preventive dentistry when I discovered that thousands of men in the armed services had never used a toothbrush," Dr. Bernier explains.

Teeth can last a lifetime, but you have to begin early to give them a chance. More than 20 million Americans have lost all their natural teeth, and 90 million more have missing teeth or some that are either decayed or filled. That's more than half the total population.

IT'S IMPORTANT

Army experiments with troops who brushed their teeth and didn't prove again the importance of the habit.

Dr. Bernier recommends a total program that begins with living in the right place — where there is fluoridated water (naturally or artificially).

★ ★ ★

Brush with a fluoride toothpaste after every meal, coupled with massage of the gums. Even this is not enough. Regular applications of stannous fluoride by a dentist after professional cleaning is also required.

Dr. Bernier does not prohibit candy, but says it should be eaten in moderation and preferably after meals rather than between. Diet should balance carbohydrates, fats and minerals, he says.

The baby gets calcium from the mother, and the mother should watch her diet while she is pregnant, but the belief that "good teeth are inherited" has not been proved.

Indiana University, like the University of Michigan and many other colleges with good dental schools, emphasizes research aimed at prevention of caries and gum troubles. Georgetown's institute includes a national appeal through an educational program.

Asked if the preventive program won't "work dentists out of a job," Dr. Bernier says that should be the aim of any program for the public health.

Famed Citadel 125 Years Old

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — The Citadel, one of the oldest military colleges in America, is observing its 125th anniversary in 1968.

The Citadel has provided more commissioned officers in the U.S. Air Force than any other college or university except the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The military college is steeped in history and service during the past 125 years. According to historians, the first shot of the War Between the States was fired by Citadel cadets on January 9, 1861.

Presidents of The Citadel have been leading army generals, such as Charles P. Summerall and Mark W. Clark.

Pineapple Imports Hurt

HONOLULU (AP) — Foreign pineapple imports are hurting Hawaii's most famous product.

The Hawaii Pineapple Growers Association reports that the U.S. imported more than 4 million cases, a new record, in 1967. American buyers paid an estimated $21 million for the more cheaply produced foreign - packed pineapple.

The Pineapple Growers said Hawaii's production in the past 10 years has averaged between 12 and 13 million cases of canned pineapple, as its share of the world market has dropped from 56 per cent to 42 per cent.

While Hawaii's production of canned pineapple has fluctuated only slightly during the past 10 years, the total world production increased 46 per cent.

Slugger Killebrew Beats Tiger Defense

Harmon's Hit in Eighth Halts Detroiters, 4-3

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Slugger Harmon Killebrew crossed up the Detroit defense and his own manager Wednesday night to single home Minnesota's winning run in a 4-3 Twins' victory over the Tigers.

Killebrew poked a single to right field with the Tigers overshifted to the left side of the infield—as so many teams do against the home run star. His hit scored Tony Oliva, who had doubled, with the winning run in the last of the eighth.

WENT TO RIGHT

"We needed only one run to win the game," Killebrew explained, "so I was going to right field.

★ ★ ★

I thought the second baseman stationed about a step to the right of second moved farther toward first base just before the pitch. But I was definitely going for right field."

★ ★ ★

Tiger Manager Mayo Smith called it "one of those nights."

"I thought we were going to come back and win it, like we have so many this season," said Smith.

Twins Manager Cal Ermer, who has left it strictly up to Killebrew whether he takes a poke at right field in this situation or still goes for the long ball, admitted he wasn't sure what Harmon would do.

★ ★ ★

"That shows you what kind of team player Harmon is," Ermer said.

Killebrew said the situation dictates what he does. "When you need only one hit to get a run and the shift is on, I think it's good for me to go to right. I've done it several other times this year."

GOOD MANAGING

Ermer had to laugh at how the game was won by Minnesota.

"This is good managing," he said. "My bottom three batters get my first three runs. I get a single by Ted Uhlaender, Jerry Zimmerman gets hit by a pitch and then I get a home run from my pitcher. And my home run hitter Killebrew goes to the opposite field to win it."

★ ★ ★

Twins' starter Jim Perry hit a three-run homer in the second inning, staking himself to a 3-0 lead. He gave up only two hits through seven innings, but one was a homer by Don Wert.

In the eighth, Wert hit his second homer of the game and fifth of the season to make it 3-2, then the Tigers tied it on Gates Brown's triple and Al Kaline's pinch single.

★ ★ ★

Ron Perranoski, who gave up Kaline's hit and had to be relieved in the ninth, got credit for his fourth straight victory. Fred Lasher was the victim of the Twins' eighth and took the loss.

★ ★ ★

Kaline didn't start because of a back strain, but is expected to be back in the lineup Friday night at Oakland. X-rays taken of his back here did not show any trouble. "It's feeling a little better," Kaline said. "But I could still feel it."

Sports Scene Quieted by Turmoil in France

PARIS (AP) — The French Amatuer Golf Championship, scheduled to start Thursday, was postponed indefinitely and Sunday's soccer matches were suspended as a result of the national work stoppage which has vertually paralyzed France.

★ ★ ★

The International Auto Federation announced Wednesday, however, that the Monaco Grand Prix auto race Sunday would take place. After a day's postponment, matches in the women's Federation Cup amatuer tennis team competition began on the Roland Garros courts.

Standen suffered a torn cartillage March 30 against Atlanta.

TAMING TIGERS — Minnesota Twins pitcher Jim Perry bears down during his work against the Detroit Tigers in Minnesota last night. Perry worked until the eighth and then gave way to reliefer Ron Perranoski who gained credit for the Twins 4-3 decision.

Indianwood Meet Has Four Flights

There'll be a new champion in the fifth annual Indianwood Invitational Golf Tournament which got under way over the 6,904-yard Lake Orion course this morning.

Roy Ryan of Indianwood and Chuck Byrne of Birmingham teamed to take the title last year, but neither is on hand for this year's event.

★ ★ ★

Byrne is in Florida, while Ryan, winner of the 1962 Trans-Mississippi championship, is entered in the 72-hole Michigan Medal Play which opens tomorrow at Orchard Lake Country Club.

★ ★ ★

The field at Indianwood will play an 18-hole qualifying round today and the low 64 will be tossed into four flights for the opening of match play tomorrow. Finals are slated for Sunday.

THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1968 D—1

PCH Hopes to End Drought in Tourney

Blanked since the inaugural event in 1952, the Chiefs of Pontiac Central appear ready for their strongest challenge since that time in the Pontiac Press Invitational Golf Tournament.

The 17th annual Press tourney is slated for 18 holes tomorrow over the 6,305-yard, par-72 Pontiac Country Club.

Central's only trip into the winner's circle came in the '52 competition at Pontiac Municipal Course, and since then, the Chiefs have watched a handful of other schools dominate the event.

There'll be competition for PCH to be sure when the field of 25, four-man teams tee off tomorrow morning. PCH coach Tom Osler, while not denying his squad had the strength to take the title, put the finger on another team.

WATCH MILFORD

"Watch for Milford," says Olser. "They have a young team and they were exposed to tournment competition last week in the regional."

In that regional at Brighton, Walled Lake was fourth and Pontiac Central fifth.

★ ★ ★

Expected to challenge the Chiefs for the top honor are Waterford, Walled Lake and Southfield.

Graduation took most of the talent from the team of Waterford Kettering so the Captains would have to produce a superb effort to retain the title.

FIVE-TIME WINNER

Perennial challenger Bloomfield Hills Andover also appears out of the running. The Barons, who have won the title five times, lack the balance they've shown in previous years.

Walled Lake has won the title twice — 1960 and 1963, Waterford once (1956), while Birmingham Seaholm, no longer a member of the tournament, won it a record six times.

★ ★ ★

A couple of records could fall in the firing which is attracting some of the area's top golfers.

The team mark — four men — was set by Kettering last year at 316 and that mark is in jeopardy. Another which may be a little harder to crack is the individual score of two-under-par set by Ron Holden of Andover in 1964 and tied by Russ Streeter of Walled Lake in 1966

Detroit Olympics continued to dominate play in the infant professional box lacrosse league schedule with five straight wins.

Detroit's rookie netminder Merv Marshall managed to score another goal and now has 10 points in five games.

In the Western Division, Victoria won a hard hitting 11-7 game over Portland to move into first place.

Classy Lineup Gunning for State Medal Crown

The cream of Michigan's amateur golf world goes through 36 holes of qualifying Friday in the annual closed Golf Association of Michigan Medal Play Championship at Orchard Lake Country Club.

'67 MEDALIST

Gary Quitiquit of Kettering was medalist last year with a 74. He's now a member of the Oakland University golf team.

Central's hopes for golf honors were boosted in the winter by the transfer of Gary Balliet from Avondale to PCH.

★ ★ ★

A long hitter, Balliet has posted an average of 74 this season and he'll be one of the contenders for the medalist honor.

Norm Runyon has an average of 79, while Albrey Tipton and Dick Kallis both are averaging 81. All are capable of better scores.

HOME COURSE

Waterford is on home ground at PCC. Coach Jim Amell's four starters are averaging under 80.

Heading the Waterford squad is Rod Skelton (75) with Randy Berry (76) a close second. Rounding out the team are Larry Vallance (78) and Scott Niederluecke (79).

Walled Lake has a lot of balance and the squad has turned in steady performances all season. Heading the Vikings is Houston Hill (76), with the other three bracketed at 80 — Doug Jessup, Jim Wallace and Tom Ostrander.

Southfield won its regional outing recently at Farmington and the Blue Jays, like Walled Lake, have thrived on balance and steadiness.

ONE-TWO PUNCH

The one-two punch of Robert Scheuer (74) and Keith Mohr (78) make the Blue Jays tough. Helping them will be Marv Blemley (78) and Pat Walters (80).

Milford continues to improve and the Redskins have a pair of challengers for medalist in Rick Yeager (78) and Dave Baker (79). To win, they'll need good performances from Ted Weinberg (82) and Matt Partridge (85).

★ ★ ★

Royal Oak Kimball has some fine performers but the Knights are unfamiliar with the course so they may suffer in that area. Leading Kimball are Doug Collick (77), Bill Rogers (78), Pat McGaughey (79) and Mike Sheridan (80).

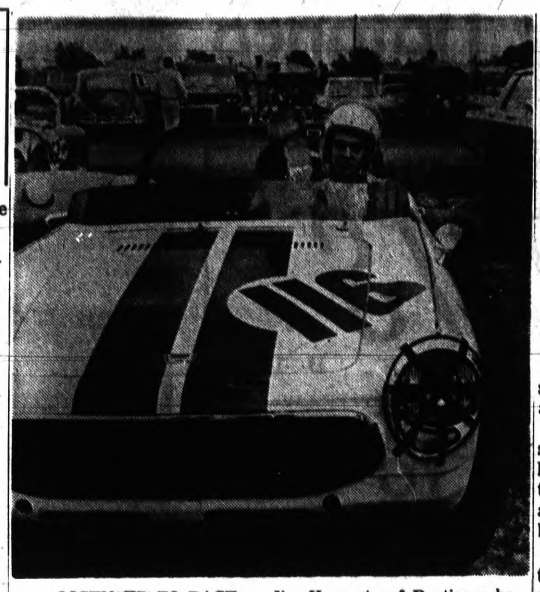
Pre-Race Test Okayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Racing Commission approved Wednesday a request for prerace testing of starters for the famed Little Brown Jug, a major harness horse race held in the fall at nearby Delaware, Ohio.

The request was made by Delaware Mayor Robert Sheets, who said it would be used to help determine the cause of the death of Dancer's Image, the 1968 Kentucky Derby winner.



LICENSED TO RACE — Jim Haggerty of Pontiac, who drove last year as a novice, is now fully licensed to compete in the annual Spring Sprints this weekend at Waterford Hills. Racing will be held Saturday and Sunday, with a special ladies' race Saturday.

Local Track Starts Season

'Spring Sprints' Scheduled

Waterford Hills opens its 1968 sports car racing season Saturday and Sunday with seven events on Saturday and nine races Sunday. This is the club's ninth year.

The "Spring Sprints," as the first weekend of racing is called, will consist of 10-lap races on May 25 and a combination of 10 and 15-lap events on May 26 over the 1½-mile course located on the grounds of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, five miles north of Pontiac on U. S. 10, on Waterford Road.

ENTRY LIST

Frank Cipelle, president of the Road Racing Club, announced that over 140 cars and drivers had entered the competition and that the organization would conduct races in 24 classes of sports cars, an addition of two new classes over the traditional 22 categories previously recognized.

★ ★ ★

Entries have been received for five states and Canada for the Spring Sprints.

Paul Susalla, St. Clair Shores, Mich., is the defending point champion. He drives an NSU in the Sedan 1 class.

Richard Brown, Birmingham, driving a McLaren Ford, set the all-time course record of 67.17 miles per hour in the Fall Classics last September and he is expected to continue his dominance in the "C"-Modified class.

★ ★ ★

In addition to men's competition in all classes, there will be a special ladies' race on Saturday. The leading women pilots then compete on Sunday with the men.

SATURDAY PROGRAM

The May 25 program opens with the first race at 2:30 p.m. Sunday's events begin at 12:15 p.m.

Admission prices are $2 on Saturday and $3 Sunday.

★ ★ ★

A ticket for the entire weekend can be purchased at the gate for $3 on Saturday.

Local entires include:

Don Capron, Lake Orion; Conrad Niesiak, John Kubiac and Werner Christman, Utica; William Schumacher, Jon Clemens, Richard Denny, Rich Moxley, Bill Barber, of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Tony DeLorenzo, Bloomfield Hills; Tom and Mary Swindell, Jim Haggerty, Hazen Briggs of Pontiac; Art White, Waterford; Gordie Harrison, Drayton Plains; Jim Branem and Larry Clingman, Farmington.

Lady Golf Pro Keeps Hoping

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Jeaneane Lesko, 33, personifies the winless on the Ladies PGA golf tour. She's convinced the money tree is just around the corner.

★ ★ ★

The slim, attractive wife of Tom Lesko, a Los Angeles accountant, has never won a cent on the tour except in pro-am events. But she says she has a feeling the $20,000 13th annual Dallas Civitan Women's Open this week will be the break through.

Hope Runner Honored

HOLLAND (AP)—Ray Cooper of Hope, who won the 100 and 220 yard dash events in the MIAA Field Day and ran the anchor leg on the Dutchmen's victorious mile relay team, has been named Most Valuable Player in MIAA track this year.

Area Cindermen in State Meet

Class A Event Is Scheduled for Ann Arbor

Local Runners Expect to Take Big Share of MHSAA Titles

Oakland County trackmen are expected to take a big share of laurels in the Michigan State High School Athletic Track Championships this weekend, but Battle Creek Central is expected to run away with the team honors.

Battle Creek is expected to outrace Flint Northern for 880 team relay honors in view of the 1:27.9 posted by the Battle Creek quartet this year.

DOUBLE WINNER

Battle Creek's Andy Johnson could be a double winner in the hurdles with Pontiac Central's Bob Johnson as his closest possible challenger.

★ ★ ★

The Battle Creek Johnson had a 14.1 and 19.0 in the high and lows in the regionals, while PCH's Johnson shows a 14.2 and 18.9 respectively as his best efforts in the two hurdles this year.

★ ★ ★

Mike Imirle of Bloomfield Hills is a strong choice to take honors in the 880. His time of 1:55.5 is tops in the county.

★ ★ ★

Waterford's Dave Galloway and Pontiac Central's Jon Costello are also strong challengers for the mile run. Galloway's 4:21.5 is the best in Oakland County this year and one of the best in the state.

SKIPPER VAULTER

Larry Biskner of Waterford is another top choice for an individual triumph in the class A state meet at Ann Arbor. Biskner's 14-7 is tops in the country and the state currently.

★ ★ ★

In Class B competition at East Lansing, Mike Koerner of Cranbrook could be a contender, as well as his entry in the two mile run.

★ ★ ★

The weekly times of Oakland County track, are compiled by former Pontiac Central coach Dean Wilson:

Waterford Wins, 1-0

Skipper Pitchers Shine

The well of good pitching shows no signs of running dry at Waterford Township High.

Making his first start of the season, Steve Goit fired a one-hitter — the fourth in a row for the Waterford pitching staff — as the Skippers blanked Cranbrook, 1-0.

Township rival Kettering also took advantage of some good pitching on the part of Dennis Wooster to hand Clarkston a 2-1 setback.

Goit was in command all the way, losing his no-hitter when Cranbrook picked up a single in the second.

The Skippers put together three straight singles in the seventh to give Goit the only run he needed. Mike Sheldon led the way with a single, Terry Crawford picked up the second and Frank Ballard's single sent Sheldon across the plate. The win upped Waterford's record to 15-8.

Kettering (6-9) also waited until the seventh to push across the winning marker.

Mark Karwas scored on a fielder's choice in the fourth for the first Kettering run, and Mike Harkey's single with one out in the seventh and Steve Lyon across with the winning marker.

Clarkston's lone run came in the first when Jeff Keyser picked up a bases-loaded walk to send Rich Johnson home.

Elsewhere, Livonia Franklin (7-3) won the Northwest Suburban title by downing Oak Park (4-6), 4-1, while North Farmington (5-5) was whipping Wayne John Glenn (6-4), 5-3.

Tom Snyder picked up three hits and Steve Eversman had two to pace the North Farmington attack. Charlie Wiggins' double in the ninth sent home two runs to bring Franklin the victory.

In another game, Walled Lake pushed across three runs in the first and made them stand up in a 4-1 verdict over Milford. Steve Fogle led the Walled Lake attack with three hits.

League Golfing Crown Bagged by Waterford

With three players scoring in the 70s, Waterford Township won the Inter-Lakes League golf championship by 11 strokes yesterday at Pontiac Country.

The Skippers' five-man team closed with 390 for the 18 holes, followed by Walled Lake (401), Livonia Stevenson (402), Pontiac Northern (415), Farmington (445) and Southfield Lathrup (464).

Rod Skelton paced the Waterford victory with an even par 36-36-72. Teammate Larry Vallance carded a 76 and Randy Berry a 79.

Houston Hill posted a 75 and Doug Jessup a 77 for Walled Lake. Kevin Sidley of Stevenson also carded a 77, while Farmington's Tom Karwoski posted a 79.

In Recruiting

Coach Hits Jackpot

A recruiting bonanza could bring a turnabout in the basketball fortunes of the Highland Lake campus of Oakland Community College.

Coach Lynn Reed, who suffered through a 5-17 record last season, had a more successful campaign in the recruiting arena where he skimmed off the cream of the local talent.

★ ★ ★

If all of them enroll at OCC this fall and indications are that they will, it would put the Highlanders in a position to challenge the best the junior college circuit has to offer.

Among those headed for Highland Lakes are Bob Traylor (6-3) and Don Hayward (6-3) of Pontiac Northern; Len Cole (6-3), Frank Russell (6-0) and Walter Causey (6-3) of Pontiac Central; plus Dan Sioma (6-3), Dan Fahlgren (6-0) and Brian Haskins (6-0) of Waterford Our Lady of Lakes. Haskins was named Most Valuable Player on the WOLL quintet at a banquet last week. Russell and Traylor were on the '67-'68 All-County team.

Other possible candidates from Pontiac Central include 6-5 center Rudy Churchwell and guards Louis McNeil and Ardell Shelton.

From Wayne John Glenn, Reed has attracted 6-7 center Bill Sturtevant.

RETURNING PLAYERS

Returning from last year are Tim Moller, Jerry Wright and Greg Glynn, all of whom turned in respectable individual performances.

★ ★ ★

Some of the area's top cross-country talent is also heading for Highland Lakes.

The cross-country runners include Julian Gloomis of Pontiac Central; Gene Santos of Pontiac Northern; cousins Paul and Dennis Waling of Milford; Bill Marten of Waterford; Ed Fairchild, John Nadoni and Bob Wright of Walled Lake. Holdovers on the Highlanders team are harold Boone and Al Nickerson of Pontiac Central along with Craig Owen of Holly.

Romeo Coach in New Post

Romeo is in the market for a new head basketball coach today.

Coach Larry Randall, 30, who held the top post two years, announced today that he has accepted the head basketball coaching position at Jenison High School near Grand Rapids.

Leaving with Randall is Dave Vandevelee, who served as freshman coach at Romeo. He'll be the junior varsity mentor at Jenison.

Romeo had a couple of good years under Randall. The Bulldogs owned an 11-8 record two years ago and reached the district finals. This past season, the Bulldogs shared the championship in the Oakland A League with Lake Orion and made it to the Class B regional finals. Over-all, Randall had a 28-11 won-lost mark.

Takes Baseball Award

ALBION (AP)—Bob Bonacci, a senior catcher at Albion, has been named the Most Valuable Player for the 1968 MIAA baseball season. His .500 batting average was the second highest in conference history.

Sets School Record

Andy Jugan of Orchard Lake St. Mary set a school record Tuesday when he won the halfmile in 1:58 as the Eaglets lost a 77-41 decision to Dearborn St. Sacred Heart.

Player Top Choice in Golf Tournament

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Gary Player has been tabbed as the favorite to win the 11th annual Memphis Open Golf Tournament, but the South African says, "I don't believe there is such a thing as a favorite in one particular tournament."

Player, who turned in a two-under-par 68 in a practice round over the Colonial Country Club Course Tuesday, said that "maybe over a year's time you can pick a man to lead money winnings, but that's all. I don't believe you can do it in one event."

Most of the pros who will begin firing for the $20,000 top money in the $100,000 open Thursday morning spent Wednesday touring the 6,500-yard layout in the pro-am preliminary.

Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are listed as No. 2 choices by the oddsmakers.

★ ★ ★

Mason Rudolph, who came in third in the inaugural open in 1958 while he was still an amateur, said he expected the winning score to be close to the eight-under 272 turned in last year by Dave Hill.

★ ★ ★

Player, who has been involved in two playoffs in the open here—he lost both—says he likes the Colonial layout even though "I wouldn't say this course is more suited to my game than others. I'm not a believer in big greens. They eliminate the approach shot. Here the course isn't long, but you miss a green and it can hurt you. It puts a premium on iron shots."

★ ★ ★

Pert Judy Cook of Kansas City, Mo., paced the 12 women finalists with 4928. It took 4692 to make the cut.

Slugger Epstein Heads for Minors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Epstein, the big slugger whose refusal to report to the minor leagues last year forced Baltimore to trade him to Washington, was sent to the Senators' Buffalo farm club Wednesday.

The 230-pound first baseman was hitting only .099 this season and had struck out 26 times in 91 times at bat. At one point this season, he was hitting only .086.

Epstein said he would report to Buffalo and probably would play Friday night.

Dodgers Win, 2-0

Drysdale Halts Cards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Drysdale's own teammates kept him from closing in on a National League record Wednesday night. It's not likely that he'll complain.

Until the ninth inning of the Dodgers' game with St. Louis, it looked as if Drysdale would win his fourth 1-0 game of the year. Carl Hubbell of the 1933 New York Giants holds the record with five.

But then Ron Fairly drove in a run with a single in the ninth and ruined the whole thing. The Dodgers won 2-0 and Hubbell's record is safe for a little while longer.

Through the seventh, the Dodgers managed only one hit off Bob Gibson, but it was a good one: Wes Parker's run-scoring double in the third.

Drysdale stopped the Cards, who have now lost five of their last six games, on five hits. He hasn't allowed a run in his last 29 innings.

John Guillean struck out 14 and gave up only hit — a double in the third — in pitching Pontiac Catholic to a 2-0 victory over Royal Oak St. Mary yesterday.

The Titans, now 6-3 in the Northwest Catholic League, picked up their two runs in the second on singles by Jim Benthem and Paul Schmansky along with an error and a sacrifice fly.

In another one-hitter, Birmingham Brother Rice managed only one hit — a single by Biran Gromek in the sixth — in dropping a 1-0 verdict to Detroit Catholic Central yesterday.

The win gave the Detroit club an 8-0 record and the championship in the Central Division of the Detroit Catholic League. Mike McGowan doubled and rode home on George Kuhneth's single for the lone run in the third.

HAPPY HITTERS — Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell (left) and Maury Wills were a happy twosome yesterday after leading the Pirates to a 13-6 win over the Cubs. Wills collected his 1,500th major league hit while Stargell drove in seven runs on three homers, a double and a single.

CHICAGO (AP) — Willie Stargell whacked three home runs, a double and a single and drove in seven runs Wednesday in pacing Pittsburgh to a 13-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Stargell's feat established a season high in the majors for homers and runs batted in for a single game.

The slugging outfielder, who had driven in only 11 runs in his first 30 games, homered with the bases empty in the first and fourth innings and with one runner aboard in the eighth.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hard-luck Dave Giusti missed by only four outs Wednesday of getting his name in the record books as a no-hit pitcher and some compensation for a frustrating season.

The 28-year-old Houston pitcher hurled 7 2-3 innings of no-hit baseball before Cincinnati's Pete Rose blooped a single to left field off the glove of left fielder Jimmy Wynn.

"I really think this is the best game I've ever pitched in my major league career," said a disappointed Giusti after winding up with a two-hitter and a 1-0 victory.

Knicks, Cage Ace Don May in Agreement

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks have coraled Don May of Dayton, the star of the most recent National Invitation Basketball Tournament, and they may owe it all to Arthur Morse's reputation as a tough negotiator.

"I now own one-sixth of the Knicks," Morse boasted while chuckling Wednesday after May was signed to a contract by the National Basketball Association team.

★ ★ ★

Morse, a Chicago attorney who represents basketball and football players in negotiations with professional teams, was referring to May and Cazzie Russell, another of his clients.

Russell, the former Michigan All-America, signed with the Knicks for a reported $200,000 in 1966.

May was the Knicks' second draft choice but 32nd overall in the NBA's annual selection of college players earlier this month.

Varying Speed Noted at '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — There may be a wider gap between the fastest and slowest cars in this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race than there was last year, judging by performances in practice this week.

Last year 6.439 miles per hour separated the pole winner and the slowest car to qualify for the Memorial Day grind. But while speeds among the first-day qualifiers last Saturday were up over last year's same group, it appeared the rest of the field may not improve much on the bottom of the list.

★ ★ ★

Last year's pole winner, Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., averaged 168.982 m.p.h. in qualifying, while this year Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., hit a record 171.559 m.p.h. to win the pole position.

COMPARE SPEEDS

The slowest car last year to make the field qualified at 162.543 m.p.h. and the experts generally felt it would take speeds in the 163-164 m.p.h. bracket to make this year's race.

★ ★ ★

However, with 17 spots still to be filled in the final round of time trials Saturday and Sunday, only a handful of the unqualified machines have been turning laps in the 164 m.p.h. range. Now the experts aren't sure what to expect this weekend.

Although 42 cars were on the track for practice laps Wednesday, only six machines hit 164 m.p.h. or better, including two racers which already have been qualified.

Leonard was the fastest driver of the day, turning a lap at 169.268 m.p.h. in his turbine, but that was about two miles an hour slower than the record qualifying speed which won him the pole position Saturday.

Three accidents marred Wednesday's practice session, but none of the drivers was injured.

CAR DAMAGED

Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., who qualified Saturday in another racer, was shaking down a car assigned to Carl Williams of Grandview, Mo., when the machine slid 288 feet in the southeast turn, striking the wall and knocking off both right wheels.

★ ★ ★

The car slid another 264 feet along the wall and made a half spin to the inside of the track before it came to a halt. The car was damaged extensively.

★ ★ ★

Jim Malloy of Denver, the only rookie who qualified Saturday, struck the wall in the north short chute with his racer.

Grid Attorney Denies Talk of Strike Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Dan Shulman, labor attorney for the National Football League Players' Association, denied Wednesday the players had taken a strike vote.

The 16 player representatives and several other members of the association, which became a union during the off season, will meet Thursday with a committee of NFL owners.

★ ★ ★

"We absolutely have not taken a strike vote," said Shulman.

"I have every reason to believe that we will be able to negotiate. We know our side is ready to sit down and talk. Of course, if they turn up their nose at us, we will have to try our case."

NO ELABORATION

Shulman didn't elaborate.

The players are asking for an annual $5 million payment to the pension fund, $500 a game for preseason games and a minimum salary of $15,000.

★ ★ ★

The owners spent much time discussing the situation at their recent meetings in Atlanta.

Entry Deadline on AAU Duel Set

NEW YORK (AP) — June 10 is the closing date for the entry list of the 80th annual national AAU track and field meet at Sacramento, Calif., June 20-21, event chairman Hilmer Lodge said Tuesday.

Because of the Olympic games in October, track events will be run in meters instead of yards.

Join the Covered BARBECUE Bandwagon . . . . . with a Weber, of course the distinctive "kettle shape" tells you it's a WEBER covered barbecue. You improve flavor and tenderness of barbecued dishes 100% with a Weber. Natural juices and flavor are cooked in, not out.

WEBER kettles are built to last, can never burn or rust out. Handsome porcelain enamel finish is easily wiped clean. It's completely weatherproof. Unique Weber design uses separate grills for charcoal and food.

Adjustable dampers let you control heat. You slowly broil meats, fowl and fish rather than char them. Cooking is done by timing rather than watching, just like your inside oven. To top it all off you'll save so much charcoal, in a season or two your WEBER will pay for itself. Weber kettles are available in variety of sizes and bright colors.

Oakland Ace Whips Indians

OAKLAND (AP) — Jim Nash pitched a five-hitter, slammed a home run and scored another run on a bases-loaded walk, leading the Oakland Athletics to a 2-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night.

The Oakland right-hander struck out 10 on the way to his second victory against four losses and helped himself at bat with his first homer of the season — a leadoff shot against Stan Williams in the fifth inning.

The Red Sox sewed up the victory with two third-inning runs off Rick Clark, 0-3. Two walks and a single by Carl Yastrzemski netted one run and another scored on a throwing error by right fielder Jimmie Hall.

NEW YORK (AP) — It has been said that John Wyatt occasionally applies some slippery substance to baseballs before aiming them toward home plate. Vaseline . . . saliva . . . or whatever is handy.

Don Buford applied some good, hard wood to one of Wyatt's pitches Wednesday night. It slipped into the right field stands at Yankee Stadium, making the little guy the hero of Baltimore's 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

UPSET — Boston Red Sox' Joe Foy topples California Angels' second baseman Bobby Knoop as he slides into second in the eighth inning in a bid to break up a double play in their game in Anaheim, Calif., last night. The slide didn't help, however, as Knoop stepped on the bag for the force at second and fired to first in time to get George Scott. Red Sox won, 4-0.

Weather Sparks Fishing Activity on State Rivers

GRAYLING (AP)—Cool weather and frequent rain has sparked trout fishing activity on the bait sections of the Au Sable River system and Upper Manistee River, reports Chum Longworth, executive manager of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce.

He says fishing is on the Au Sable main stream, south and north branches. The north branch still has fine catches of Stone Flies through early afternoon and evening.

Southfield Leading

Decision Near in SEMA

Southfield and Birmingham Seaholm will have to wait another day to see who wears the baseball crown in the Southeastern Michigan Association.

The Maples of Seaholm (9-5) pulled within a half game of Southfield (9-4-1) by whipping the Blue Jays yesterday, 4-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Mike Hilkene.

SECOND DECISION

A victory by Southfield would have ended it, but Seaholm bagged the decision and in doing so marked the second win in three games against the Blue Jays this season.

★ ★ ★

Both teams wind up the season Friday. If Southfield wins or is rained out, the title belongs to the Blue Jays. If Southfield loses and Seaholm wins, then the Maples wear the crown. Rainouts or tie games are not replayed under a SEMA rule.

Hilkene struck out seven of the Blue Jays and had an easy time after his teammates pushed across four runs in the first inning.

The runs came on a grandslam homer by sophomore John Bratton.

In another SEMA game, Rich Blair scattered four hits and fanned 10 as Royal Oak Kimball (6-8) downed Hazel Park, (4-10) 5-0.

Race Set for Sunday

Drivers Set Hot Pace in World '600'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—All 10 drivers who qualified in Wednesday's first day of trials for Sunday's $152,000 World 600 stock car race broke the record six-mile average of 154.877 miles per hour.

The fastest was Connie Allison, who turned three laps of the mile and one-half tri-oval in a Ford at an average of 159.222 m.p.h. He won $1,500—$1,000 for capturing the pole starting position and $500 for breaking the record.

Allison, 26, the NASCAR rookie of the year in 1967, also broke the one-lap record when he clipped 160.180 m.p.h. on his first lap. He became the first driver ever to better 160 m.p.h. at the Charlotte Motor Speedway.

Cale Yarborough, who had held the four-lap mark and the one-lap record of 155.395, qualified a Mercury in third place at 158.857.

In the first row outside spot will be Lee Roy Yarbrough, who qualified in second place in a Mercury Cyclone at 159.208.

Ten more spots will be filled today, 10 more Friday and eight in time trials Saturday. The remaining six cars in the 44-car field will gain entry in a 30-mile race beginning at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The 600, world's longest stock car race, will begin at 12:30 p.m. EDT Sunday.

David Pearson, a Ford driver who has won seven straight races, qualified to start in the second row beside Yarborough. He was fourth fastest at 157.527 m.p.h.

Demands Are Made at Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Negro athletes at Iowa State University have demanded that basketball Coach Glen Anderson, baseball Coach Cap Timm and trainer Bob Billings be fired "unless they have a change of attitude," the Des Moines Register said today.

The firing demands were made in a list of grievances presented to the ISU Athletic Council earlier this week, the paper said.

NO ACTION

The council took no immediate action, but is expected to consider the two pages of complaints at a meeting June 5.

The athletes, member of a group known as the Black Students Organization, said they will boycott all athletic teams and forfeit their scholarships if the demands are not granted.

★ ★ ★

Bruce Ellis, a non-athlete from New York, heads the organization, and Willie Muldrew, All-Big Eight lineman from Chicago, is vice president.

Neither Negro organization leaders nor the school officials would reveal the complaints.

But, the Register said it learned in addition to the firing demands, other grievances include:

The athletes want a Negro head coach or assistant in at least one major sport. There are no Negro members of the coaching staff at present.

— They want ilne-ups in every sport to be chosen on the basis of ability, not a "black-white quota."

— They want to be called either Afro-Americans or blacks, not Negroes.

★ ★ ★

— They want to be able to hold jobs during the school year because most are from low-income families.

— They want permission to live off-campus in apartments and rooming houses.

★ ★ ★

The Register said the Negroes' complaint against Anderson was that Don McLaughlin, a Negro on last season's freshman basketball team, "was not given a fair shake."

OTHER SCHOOLS

Iowa State is the fifth Big Eight Conference school to experience protests from Negro athletes this spring. Others are Kansas, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Colorado.

HAPPY PISTON—The Detroit Pistons and 6-7 Happy Hairston agreed on terms for the 1968-69 season yesterday. He came to the Pistons last season in a trade with Cincinnati. Signing of Hairston brings the number of Pistons under contract to seven.

Marichal Rankled by Boyer's Blast

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — San Francisco's Juan Marichal, rankled by Atlanta claims that he threw at Clete Boyer when the Brave infielder was hit, said Wednesday night "I never throw at anybody—especially not .220 hitters."

Boyer, hit on the right wrist Monday night by a Marichal pitch, had charged that the Giant's pitcher hit him intentionally. Boyer, batting .211, missed the last two games because of injury.

DENIES CHARGES

"I wasn't throwing at him," Marichal told Hal Hayes of the Atlanta Constitution. "He was expecting a curve ball. I threw him a fast one and he fell into the pitch."

★ ★ ★

Marichal was apparently upset by Boyer's comment that the Giant pitcher "was bush" for throwing at him.

"How can Boyer call anybody bush after what he said during the winter about Rico Carty," Marichal said.

Boyer was critical during the winter of Carty's hustle as a Braves outfielder. Carty, like Marichal a native of the Dominican Republic, has since been sidelined by tuberculosis.

"That's probably why he was trying to hit me," Boyer said, "trying to make up for what was said about a fellow countryman."

U. S. Netters Face Mexicans

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Davis Cup teao goes The U.S. Davis Cup team goes into the North American zone final round Friday armed with a big serve and power volley against a physically small Mexican quartet relying on speed, defense and finesse.

The host squad could win 5-0 if it gets off to a 2-0 start in Friday's singles matches or it could be pressed to pull out a 3-2 verdict if the Mexicans can salvage a 1-1 draw for openers. The lone doubles match will be played Saturday; the final two singles on Sunday.

Few concede the Mexicans a chance to beat the fired-up Americans, featuring Arthur Ashe, Stan Smith and Bob Lutz.

Sayers Untouchable

Halas Replies to Rumor

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner-Coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears came up with a humorous gimmick Wednesday to emphasize that brilliant halfback Gale Sayers is an untouchable on the pro football trade mart.

He circulated a press release in the form of a stock denial of reported New York Giant deals for Sayers. It read:

"For the sixth time since early in January, the Bears today categorically denied that Gale Sayers has been traded to the New York Giants.

★ ★ ★

"The latest report appeared in —— and said that the Giants would send ——— players and —— DRAFT CHOICES to the Bears."

Most recent rumor scoffed by Halas was that Sayers was headed for the Giants in exchange for nine New York players.

Halas commented: "The latest erroneous report probably doesn't merit the dignity of another denial except we should really try to keep even with them. There should be a separate denial for each new trade story, so this is it:

★ ★ ★

"Sayers is a positive untouchable and is not for sale or trade. The only market on which he can be found is the stock market with Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis on La Salle Street."

Two Orioles Get 'Message'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Blair and Larry Haney of the Baltimore Orioles have received orders to report for active duty with the Army in late June, an Orioles spokesman announced Wednesday.

Both players have been members of the Army Reserve since 1964 and face the prospect of two-year tours of duty, less the time already spent on active duty.

They are scheduled to undergo physical examinations Thursday morning at Ft. Holabird in Baltimore.

Blair, an outfielder, has been ordered to report to Ft. Knox, Ky., June 26. Haney, a catcher, has been ordered to report to Ft. Dix, N.J., June 22 for reassignment to Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

Toledo Wins Two

Jacksonville in Squeaker

By the Associated Press

If the Jacksonville Mets can summon any glory from their seventh place in the International League standings, it has to be at the expense of the Richmond Braves.

And so it was again Wednesday night as the Mets posted a come-from-behind 4-3 victory that marked their sixth straight win over the Richmond club.

Toledo jumped past Syracuse into fifth place by sweeping a doubleheader from the Buffalo Bisons 6-3 and 6-2. Left-handers Jack DiLauro and Jim Rooker handled the mound chores for the Mud Hens and were backed Dave Campbell.

★ ★ ★

Jacksonville was led by Amos Otis, who slammed a two-run homer into deep left field in the sixth inning to gain the winning margin. It was Otis' fourth homer of the year and the third at the expense of the Braves. Tug McGraw got the victory.

Nats Win Shutout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Bertaina took a two-hit shutout into the ninth but needed relief help from Dave Baldwin Wednesday night as Washington stopped Chicago 2-0 on Sam Bowens' two-run homer.

★ ★ ★

The victory ended a four-game Senators losing streak.

Bowens broke up a scoreless pitching duel in the sixth with a drive that eluded left fielder Tommy Davis. Davis crashed into the fence as he leaped for it, but both his glove and the ball dropped into the Senators' bullpen for a home run.

Camera Day for Tigers Is Set June 1

There will be more camera clicking than ever at Tiger Stadium on Saturday, June 1, when photo fans take part again in another Gold Seal-Tiger Camera Day.

New arrangements have been worked out which will give the fans a better chance to shoot all of their favorite Tigers during a 30-minute period before the Tigers take on the New York Yankees at 2:15 p.m.

The camera brigade will be permitted on the field from 1:10 p.m. to 1:40 p.m. and this year will be allowed to use the entire warning track around the playing field — a move designed to eliminate congestion

The players will circulate inside a rope barrier enclosing the grassy playing surface.

Thus, a camera fan can stand in one spot and shoot all of the players, coaches and Manager Mayo Smith as they move from one position to another.

Cowboy's Gun 'Was for Cow'

Saddle Maker, 81, Recalls Old West

CAWKER CITY, Kan. (AP) — Clifford Coad, 81, saddlemaker and one-time deputy U. S. marshal in this northern Kansas area, says the cowboy had many reasons for carrying a gun.

"It was at Woodston," Coad said, "that I was a deputy U. S. marshal. In those days I always carried a revolver, but it was mostly because of the 'ornery' longhorn cattle we raised.

★ ★ ★

"If one got too sassy, it was sent up to the chuck wagon."

Coad is at work in his shop daily. His saddles are marked by an unusual length and depth allowing the weight of the rider to be distributed over a wider area on the horse's back.

ALL KINDS

"Dad used to say," Coad explained, "that he didn't care what a saddle weighed as long as it had length and depth. And I make mine that way."

But Coad makes all kinds of saddles.

"Once I made a silver-mounted saddle that had pure silver oak leaves as large as the palm of your hand," he said.

★ ★ ★

Coad's shop is distinguished by a number of old saddles, one made by a John J. Jenny at Richmond, Va., more than 125 years ago, a number of U.S. Cavalry remount saddles, and his pride, a Texas Ranger saddle used by famed Ranger Zac Taylor.

The Ranger saddle was an uncomfortable affair, Coad said. It consisted of a bare bullhide-covered saddle tree with stirrups hung from straps suspended from the tree. There were no skirts on the saddle and the seat was a small leather pad.

Button Signals 'Run for Life'

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, B.C. (UPI) — When Mike Pittaway presses the button, his co-workers run for their lives.

Pittaway of Revelstoke, B.C., is an avalanche watcher in Western Canada's Glacier National Park above Montana.

★ ★ ★

He is one of six trained observers working with the National Research Council of Canada in testing a system designed to get road-clearing crews out of the way of any sudden snow avalanches.

The danger to road crews is real. Two men were killed in 1965 by an avalanche at Rogers Pass. B.C.

Pittaway said there is a maximum period of three minutes from the time an avalanche starts until it reaches the highway. Road crews have that time to abandon their slow-moving "cat" or grader and run out of the avalanche path.

To give them more time to escape, NBC engineers have devised a system using modified Citizen Band (CB) communications equipment.

★ ★ ★

Pittaway and other avalanche watchers are stationed in a safe location up to a mile away from where road crews work. The observers can watch trigger areas.

★ ★ ★

At the first sign of danger, Pittaway presses a button on his transmitter to ring an alarm bell in the cab of the snow-clearing vehicle. The operator must then abandon his machine and run for his life.

Brazil Navy Frees Red Tracking Ship

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Soviet satellite tracking ship Kegostrov was released by the Brazilian navy Wednesday after being held for 18 days in the port of Santos.

The 5500-ton vessel was seized May 4 in Brazilian territorial waters by the aircraft carrier Minas Gerais and escorted to Santos, authorities said.

★ ★ ★

The release order from the navy ministry followed guidance from the foreign ministry, which last week accepted formal apologies from the Soviet Embassy.

Flight Downed on Golf Course

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) — A pilot gently landed his twin-engine turboprop airplane Wednesday on the 414-yard first hole at the Park Hills golf course.

★ ★ ★

Fred W. Robinson of Long Beach, Calif., was alone in the 18-passenger aircraft he was ferrying from Toronto to Pasadena, Calif. Heavy rain, thunder and lightning forced him to make an emergency landing.

Robinson was unavailable for comment.

Buses 'Bugged' for Protection

BEDFORD, Mass (AP) — An electronic automatic bus identification system that can summon police, maintenance or supervisory assistance, as well as improve efficiency, was introduced here by Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

The system features a solid-state FM receiver than can be mounted on utility poles or buildings along bus routes.

★ ★ ★

Each bus in a fleet would be equipped with a tiny FM transmitter which could send out a special identification signal continuously.

As the bus comes within 50 feet of a receiver, its signal is picked up and transmitted to a central computer location where it is available to dispatchers.

Trading Is Active

Gains Hold Slight Edge in Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains held a dwindling advantage over losses in the stock market early today. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a small loss due to weakness in some key stocks.

Xerox rose more than 2. Control Data and Merck dropped about 1 each.

A number of issues were involved in corporate action, but their stocks showed little response.

Gold-mining stocks were mixed as the price of gold in London eased again while gold markets on the European market were closed for Ascension Day. American-South African gained a fraction. Homestake and Campbell Red Lake were fractional losers.

Occidental Petroleum, Royal Crown Cola, Coastal States Gas and Brunswick were among the most-active fractional gainers.

Preweekend evening up by traders was the normal expectation for today, and fears of new credit tightening by the Federal Reserve Board continued to restrain sentiment.

The outlook was dampened further by a statement from U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman conceding that the U.S. - Vietnam peace negotiations could fail.

Wednesday the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks rose .7 to 330.3.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Negro Panel to Study Candidate Platforms

DETROIT (AP) — Many prominent Negroes throughout the country are forming a national committee to study presidential candidates and platforms to decide which will most benefit Negroes, informants report.

Among those mentioned as members of the committee were the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference sponsoring the Poor People's campaign in Washington, and Stokely Carmichael, militant former head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

★ ★ ★

The committee apparently plans to announce its existence soon, probably within a few days, but it came to light Wednesday in Lansing, Mich., where state Rep. James Del Rio, a Detroit Democrat, told newsmen he had accepted an invitation to join the "national committee of inquiry."

The invitation came by telegram from U.S. Rep. John C. Conyers Jr., a Democrat from Detroit's heavily Negro 1st District.

REMAIN UNCOMMITTED

"The committee has resolved to remain uncommitted until such time as a determination can be made as to which of the candidates has the program which is most relevant to the needs of our people," the telegram said.

It asked Del Rio to "urge our people to remain uncommitted until all the candidates have been personally interviewed" by the committee.

★ ★ ★

"There are commitments that can be fulfilled prior to the convention that we would like to extract," Conyers said in the telegram.

There was no elaboration on what sort of commitments he had in mind.

Conyers and Carmichael could not be reached for comment. Abernathy said in Washington that the SCLC was considering the possibility of departing this year from its past practice of being nonpolitical.

Del Rio said he understood that the candidates would be invited to appear before the committee, explain their views, answer questions, and, after deliberation, the committee would "make some formal statement to the Negro community."

Some sources said the committee has been developing for more than four months, has a top echelon membership of about a dozen persons, and a much larger second echelon that would include many Negroes prominent within their own states while not well-known nationally.

Del Rio said Conyers' telegram mentioned that the committee idea had eben discussed with singer Harry Belafonte, who last month was the star attraction at a fund-raising rally in Detroit for Conyers; Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind.; Floyd McKissick, director of the Congress of Racial Equality; and James Farmer, former head of CORE.

Jewelry Store Looted; Area Youths Held

Three youths caught with loot reportedly from the Holland Jewelry Store, 34 S. Broadway, Lake Orion, are in Oakland County Jail today for investigation of breaking and entering.

The three were apprehended by Lake Orion officers and sheriff's deputies in an apartment behind the jewelry store shortly after the early morning burglary.

★ ★ ★

In jail are Jesse Darnall, 19, of 3050 Clarkston, Lawrence Spicer, 19, of 585 Joslyn and Gary Ludeman, 19, of 982 Mill r, all of Orion Township.

Jewelry with estimated value of $5,000 was found in a pail in the apartment and in a cardboard box outside the apartment, according to Lake Con Police Chief Neal Leonard.

★ ★ ★

An open door at the store was spotted at 2:30 a.m. by Patrolman Michael Wesolowski as he made night rounds. As police were investigating they received a tip that the suspects were in the nearby apartment. They entered and made the arrest, Leonard said.

State Scores Success as Landowner

ANN ARBOR — Public success and private failure are mixed in the story of how the State of Michigan came to own and maintain more than 4½ million acres of land.

Michigan was practically forced into becoming a land manager, recalls R. J. Greffenius, retired U.S. Forest Service conservationist from Colorado who is a research scholar in the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources.

In the 1880s and '90s, as forest lands were cut and burned and as farmers failed on the infertile soils of northern Michigan, these lands were abandoned to the state for nonpayment of taxes, he points out.

By the early '90s this flow of tax-delinquent lands became a flood, so the state in 1893 decided to take full ownership of them.

STATE HELD HOPE

Greffenius notes the state still hoped to control land abuses by getting the land back into private ownership, first through homesteading and later by direct sales.

"However, the abuses continued and a few discerning individuals prevailed upon the state to retain some of these lands as state property," he recalls. "So the first state forest of 35,000 acres was created in 1903 under a Forest Commission directed to reforest burned-over lands and to provide fire protection."

Between 1910 and 1930 the state recognized the recreation potential of these lands and with legislative authority created state game and recreation areas, Greffenius points out. As recreation use increased, more lands and funds were dedicated to parks and recreation areas. At the same time provision was made for wildlife.

Crime Bill Combines Four Major Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The staggering year-by-year proliferation in crime has been called the major domestic problem facing the nation and one of the most crucial issues in this election year.

Aghast at the mounting toll of murders, rapes and robberies, the wave of violence in the ghettos, and the power of crime cartels, Congress is eager to crack down.

★ ★ ★

The most ambitious effort to curb what Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., calls "this scourge of lawlessness" is a four-part omnibus anticrime bill now under consideration by the Senate.

Actually, the package contains four major bills. A couple of them might not pass or would be vetoed on their own. Linked together, all stand a better chance of survival.

FOUR PROVISIONS

The major provisions are the Johnson administration's "safe streets" act, a two-year, $400-million program to improve local law enforcement; a Southern-inspired attempt to overturn Supreme Court decisions in the field of criminal law; broad authority to wiretap in the investigation of major crimes; and a ban on the mail order sale of handguns.

The package is riddled with controversy — disputes over provisions within each section as well as strong disagreement over which sections should be killed and which should be retained.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson has written Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield endorsing the "safe streets" act and has repeatedly demanded a stronger gun bill.

But he asked the Senate not to saddle the bill "with provisions raising grave constitutional questions" — as do both the other sections.

'TRAGIC MISTAKE'

On the other hand, Richard M. Nixon, running for the Republican presidential nomination, said it would be a "tragic mistake" not to adopt the wiretapping provision. He said certain Supreme Court decisions "have had the effect of seriously hamstringing the peace forces in our society."

★ ★ ★

The Senate probably will complete action by the end of the week. After that the bill must be returned to the house or to conference.

★ ★ ★

The house, acting first, last year approved a $50-million one-year authorization for the "safe streets" act but did not consider the other parts of the Senate package.

The one part of the bill most Senators want is the "safe streets and crime control" act.

2-YEAR AUTHORIZATION

As approved by the committee that section has a two-year authorization — $100 million the first year and $300 million for the second — to help improve local law enforcement.

It offers federal matching grants for a variety of planning and action programs such as police training, education, and the development of new equipment and techniques to combat crime.

★ ★ ★

For many years the Supreme Court's critics, especially Southerners and conservatives, have been horrified at its decisions in the field of criminal law.

Until now they could do nothing but cringe and attack the rulings. Now, the senate has a chance to decide whether to upset some of these decisions.

EYEWITNESS TESTIMONY

One part of the omnibus bill would overturn the court's sharply criticized decisions on voluntary confessions, eyewitness testimony, and the use of a federal habeas corpus.

A profusion of eavesdropping gadgets and great controversy about the ethics of wiretapping have prompted the Senate to legislate on electronic snooping.

★ ★ ★

The bill would ban the use of snooping devices by anyone except federal and state law enforcement officials. A violation would carry a penalty of a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

However, the legislation gives federal, state and local law enforcement officers broad powers to wiretap. It could be used in the investigation of virtually every felony, including murder, kidnaping, robbery, extortion, narcotics and labor racketeering.

COULD TESTIFY

In contrast to present regulations, by which wiretapping is permitted but contents cannot be disclosed in court, law enforcement officers could testify on what they overheard.

The bill's gun control controversy has already been resolved, at least tentatively.

The Senate last week indicated its approval of a section which would ban the mail order sales of pistols and limit over-the-counter sale of such handguns to state residents over 21.

The proposal, which originally won the endorsement of the judiciary committee, now appears firmly embedded in the omnibus bill. It could be amended before final action, and it is subject to being killed, however.

Girl, Hit by Car, Gains Slightly

An 11-year-old Waterford Township girl, injured critically April 28 when hit by a car on Parkway near Totem Lane, remains in serious condition but has shown some improvement, according to Pontiac General Hospital authorities.

★ ★ ★

A hospital spokesman said Yolanda Whitener of 1549 Parkway was moved from the intensive care unit to the pediatrics ward May 15.

★ ★ ★

She suffered head injuries when struck by the car.

Waterford Township police said they could not determine whether the victim and the friend she was walking with were on the road when the accident occurred.

Girl Suicide's Parents Freed

PHEONIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The parent of a girl who turned a gun on herself rather than shoot her pet dog as punishment were acquitted Wednesday of manslaughter charges.

Superior Judge William Holohan granted a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ault of Pheonix.

★ ★ ★

The judge ruled the prosecution did not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the Aults committed a crime in the death of their daughter, Linda Marie, 21.

Testimony indicated the Aults told their daughter to shoot her dog as punishment for staying out all night and having sexual relations with a lieutenant from Williams Air Force Base.

Instead, Linda raised the pistol to her head and committed suicide.

GI's NOTHING DOWN

Approximately $450 moves you into this cute 2 bedroom bungalow located in Waterford Twp., lake privileges. Full-price for this home is $9,500.

TED'S CORNER

Should you try to sell your home yourself, list it with a professional, "The Realtor"? Here are a few proven facts. You do not have the time to arrange for financing — the realtor can save you needless expenses. You may accept an insincere offer and spend months perhaps and litigation to free your property in order to put it on the market once more. The realtor will enlist the service of fellow real estate agents giving the owner the advantage of his entire local sales market. Most buyers seek a reputable broker because they realize the pitfalls of direct negotiations. The realtor will price the property to sell at a fair market value. The average owner over prices but eventually accepts a price below the market value. Let your broker do the talking and leave the selling to us.

2-Room School Graduates 4

BIRNEY, Mont. (AP) — Gov. Tim Babcock lunched on barbeque in a driving rain, then presented diplomas to the four members of the eighth grade graduating class Wednesday in this southeastern Montana community of 20.

"I particularly enjoy this graduation because the class is just twice the size as mine when I graduated from the Cracker Box Creek School System, District 3 of Dawson County, in 1934," Babcock, the Republican candidate for reelection, said.

Police Officials Slapped for 'Hands Tied' Excuses

EAST LANSING (AP) — The President of the American Bar Association today called on law enforcement officers to "get off the defensive" and work to improve their effectiveness.

"Police have been finding, with increased frequency, it seems, reasons for their difficulties that are totally unrelated to a constructive attempt to improve their lot," said Earl F. Morris.

★ ★ ★

His comments were included in a speech prepared for delivery to the National Institute on Police-Community Relations at Michigan State University.

Some police, he said, have criticized recent Supreme Court decisions as verdicts that bind their hands.

POLICE HAMSTRUNG

Morris cited a letter written by a chief of police that said:

" 'The innocent public, police who are hamstrung in trying to perform their duties, judges whose hands are tied in deciding a case, all these are practically at the mercy of any person who decides to commit a criminal act.' "

But, Morris continued, it should be noted that the crime rate in this country had been increasing before the controversial Supreme Court decisions.

And, he said, "While it unfortunately continues to rise, the curve did not go up sharply following any one or all of the decisions."

Liquid metals, sodium and potassium, are being tried as rocket engine fuel.

State Girl Falls, Drowns in Lake

DELTON (AP)—A 5-year-old girl drowned Wednesday at Pine Lake in Barry County, northeast of Plainwell.

Mickey McGregor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell McGregor of Delton, reportedly was fishing from a lake-side dock when she fell into the water.

Police Reserve Bill OK'd

LANSING (UPI) — A bill that would create a special reserve State Police force to be used in case of emergencies passed the House Wednesday, 79-20.

But the bill was held up until today for another try at giving it immediate effect—needed if it is to go into effect this summer.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. John F. Toepp, R-Cadillac, was debated on and off for two days by Negro members who said it was discriminatory.

Cases pending before the United States Courts of Appeals climbed to 5,763, a new record, in 1967.

23 Persons Killed in Helicopter Crash

PARAMOUNT, Calif. (AP) — A commercial helicopter ferrying 23 persons from Disneyland broke apart and crashed in flames yesterday halfway through its 32-mile flight to Los Angeles International Airport.

The bodies of all 23 persons were found in or near the wreckage on a dairy farm.

The cause of the crash was listed tentatively as rotor failure after witnesses reported seeing a rotor blade spin off the craft.

Witnesses said they heard a loud pop before the twin-rotor Sikorsky S61 plunged to earth. Two large sections landed a few feet apart and dozens of smaller pieces scattered over the two block farm.

Most of the passengers' bodies were still strapped in seats.

COLLISION SUGGESTED

The possibility of a collision was suggested by Los Angeles Airways, owner of the helicopter service. But William Byerly of the Federal Aviation Agency said investigators had no evidence of it.

Thirteen federal officials from Washington flew to investigate the disaster.

★ ★ ★

In Stratford, Conn., the Sikorsky division of United Aircraft Corp., said Ralph Lightfoot, engineering manager, and A. A. Coronato, chief of aircraft design, left today to assist Los Angeles Airways in investigating.

Officials worked through the night securing the wreckage and recovering and identifying the bodies.

Identifying the dead was laborious, with only sketchy information available, but it was reported the list included persons from throughout the United States.

The crash was the first fatality in the helicopter firm's 21-year history. The S61 carries a crew of three.

DISNEYLAND FERRY EXPLODES—This is the wreckage of a large helicopter which crashed on a dairy farm in Paramount, a Los Angeles suburb, yesterday while en route from Los Angeles International Airport to Disneyland. The craft, which witnesses said exploded in the air and disintegrated, carried 23 persons, none of whom survived.

Congress Passes Credit-Cost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Johnson a major consumer protection bill requiring disclosure of the annual cost of interest on most loans and credit purchases.

The Senate and House enacted the bill yesterday with near unanimous support.

★ ★ ★

"I am overjoyed that the truth-in-lending bill so ardently sponsored by President Johnson has passed both houses," said Betty Furness, the President's adviser on consumer affairs.

The far-reaching measure, a highly controversial subject on Capitol Hill for eight years, was broadened just before enactment to include besides credit disclosure:

- The first federal limitation on the amount of a worker's wages that can be garnished (ordered withheld for payment of debt.)

—The fixing for the first time of strong federal criminal penalties against organized loan sharks who extend, finance or collect payments on credit with unreasonably high interest.

$100 BILLION COVERAGE

The bill will cover about $100 billion in annual loans and purchases.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief Senate sponsor, said if it "increases price competition among creditors, consumers can save millions or even billions of dollars a year through lower interest charges."

★ ★ ★

The bill first was introduced in 1960 by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill. Strong opposition from retailers and lending institutions continued for years.

Stores which extend credit and financial institutions which make loans will have to make two important disclosures under the bill:

- The annual interest rate figured on the declining balance of the obligation.
- The total cost of the credit in dollars and cents over its full life.

★ ★ ★

The total cost requirement will not apply, however, to first mortgages on homes.

Rap Convicted on Gun Charge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — H. Rap Brown was convicted last night of violating the National Firearms Act and was given the maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Brown was freed on bond pending appeal after the biracial jury returned its verdict in federal court.

★ ★ ★

Under terms of the $15,000 bond, Brown's travel was restricted to the Southern District of New York State.

The immediate sentencing by U.S. District Judge Lansing L. Mitchell was at the request of William M. Kunstler, of New York, chief defense attorney for the Black Power advocate.

PLEA FOR LENIENCY

Kunstler included a plea for leniency, describing the government case as an effort to "silence" Brown, a frequent and fiery speaker at civil rights rallies.

"It is time this persecution must stop and this is persecution of the most blatant sort!" cried Kunstler. "We recall that everything Adolf Hitler did was 'legal.'"

"The issue of black or white was only brought into this case by the defendant!" shouted U.S. Atty. Louis LaCour. "We deeply resent statements making such a comparison to Hitler."

Brown was convicted under a section of the act forbidding anyone under indictment on a felony charge to transport a gun across state lines.

Pontiac Div. Sales Jump for Period

Pontiac Motor Division reported today that its daily rate of sales during the middle 10 days of May jumped 33 per cent over last year.

Thomas L. King, general sales manager, said that 21,806 new cars were sold during May 11-20.

This compares to 18,464 units sold last year.

He pointed out that there were only eight selling days in the period compared to nine in the same period a year ago.

Harriman, Thuy Agree Failure of Talks Possible

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, conceding that the U.S.-Vietnam peace negotiations could fail, said today: "You can't keep talks going just as a propaganda medium."

North Vietnam's envoy to the discussions, Xuan Thuy, had raised Wednesday the possibility of failure. In the same speech he appealed to U.S. and world opinion to put pressure on Washington to end promptly and unconditionally all bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Harriman was asked today when he left his office in the U.S. Embassy whether he considered Thuy's statement a threat.

He replied that he didn't take it as "much of a threat," that it seemed to him to arise naturally from other subjects Thuy had been discussing. Then Harriman added: "It's always a possibility, you know, that these talks would break down. The talks can just as well break down on the United States side if they (the Americans) think they (the North Vietnamese) are taking advantage of the restraint in the bombing."

FURTHER THOUGHT

Earlier in the day, Harriman had dismissed Thuy's statement of yesterday day as a matter not to be taken seriously. In his second encounter with newsmen, at midday, he apparently had given the question further thought and decided to counter the North Vietnamese maneuver with one of his own.

Involved in this appeared to be the obvious question of who would be blamed if in fact the talks did eventually collapse.

★ ★ ★

"My own judgment," he said, "is that we're here for a long time, that the other side feels they want to have talks, and certainly President Johnson has shown every indication of wanting to come to agreement.

"But you can't keep talks going just as a propaganda medium. We have to move into a period of more productive results."

Harriman was asked whether the North Vietnamese were taking advantage of the bombing limitation which President Johnson ordered March 31 in a move which eventually led to the talks here. He replied: "So far, they have not restrained their infiltration.

Committee OKs Reserve Center

Location of a new $380,000 Army Reserve Center in Waterford Township met approval of an Oakland County Board of Supervisors committee yesterday.

The buildings and grounds committee unanimously approved leasing the land, owned by the county, to the Army. The proposal will go before the entire Board of Supervisors at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the county courthouse auditorium.

★ ★ ★

A representative of the Chicago District of the Corps of Engineers told the committee the structure would replace present rented facilities at 40 Walnut in Pontiac.

It would be the new home of the 2nd Battalion, 2nd Brigade (BCT), and Battery C, 4th Battalion, 20th Artillery. Both units are composed of Pontiac area reservists.

IN COUNTY CENTER

The new building would be located on Watkins Lake Road, north of Pontiac Lake Road on 3½ acres of land in the county center. The Army would lease the site for $1 and after 25 years the building would revert to county ownership, under the proposed agreement.

The Army spokesman said if he received a lease or agreement by June 30, construction could start within the year and be completed in about 16 months.

Committee members said the advantages to the county would be in obtaining, after 25 years, a large building free of cost. The added security to the community with better Reserve facilities was also cited.

A disadvantage would be loss of the 3½ acres which could be used for county buildings, committee members said.

Tentative Plans Discussed for Urban Redevelopment

Tentative plans for redevelopment of Pontiac's downtown urban renewal land were discussed yesterday between top-level city administrative officials and architect-designer C. Don Davidson, a University of Detroit architectural professor, and Marvin Skelton, a financial consultant.

Davidson and Skelton are representing an unnamed developer who will soon make a proposal to the city for purchase of 27 acres of urban renewal land.

★ ★ ★

City officials were optimistic that continued progress could be made toward bringing a definite proposal before the City Commission, probably within the next month.

Davidson first announced that a plan would be presented to the city at a meeting of the Pontiac Area Planning Council March 7.

PROPOSAL TO BE PRESENTED

He said then that a proposal which should meet city approval would be presented in 60 to 90 days.

Davidson said results so far indicate he will just about meet that timetable.

★ ★ ★

City officials and representatives discussed a number of facets of the plans as now developed. Davidson said he believes that the proposal will fit into the urban renewal plan adopted by the city in 1961.

If all goes as expected, the representatives said, the proposal would be publicly unveiled before the City Commission or the Pontiac Area Planning Council.

★ ★ ★

As outlined publicly so far, the plan — being developed by Davidson and Bruno Leon, dean of U. of D.'s school of architecture — will emphasize construction of office buildings and apartment units.

★ ★ ★

There also will be a number of ancillary uses in the urban renewal area.

Weekend Soaking Forecast for Area

The Pontiac area will probably have a good soaking over the weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forcasts occasional periods of rain and minor changes in temperatures today, tonight and tomorrow. Not much change is Saturday's prediction.

Southeast-to-east morning winds will continue at seven to 17 miles per hour.

HIGH PROBABILITY

Precipitation probabilities are: today 100 per cent, tonight and tomorrow 70 per cent.

Youth Dinner Emphasis Positive

The emphasis was on the positive at last night's Pontiac Citizen's Committee on Youth awards dinner.

Five persons and an organization were honored for their contributions to youth at the annual dinner at the Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lino Romero, director of Oakland County Community Health Consultation and Education, urged a promotion of the positive and normal in adolescents rather than the abnormal. He delivered the main address to approximately 125 persons attending.

★ ★ ★

Among those present were the previously named teens of the week, who received recognition for their accomplishments.

AWARD RECIPIENTS

Awarded certificates were Mrs. Louise Saks, Rosemary Gayton, William Lacy, Cressy Larson, Clarence Barnes and the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA).

Mrs. Saks, active with the United Fund and the Pontiac Area Planning Council, taught language and physical education to immigrant children and has served as youth adviser at Congregation B'nai Israel in the city.

★ ★ ★

Miss Gayton, who works with the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity, is helping form a youth employment agency to aid youngsters in finding summer jobs.

Lacy is assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and pupil personnel services for the Pontiac School District.

CONTRIBUTION CREDITED

Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Urban League, was credited by the committee with an outstanding contribution toward improving the status and quality of involvement and opportunity for Negro youth.

Larson, who has worked with underprivileged boys and has served as youth consultant for several foundations, is the director of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

The PPOA was recognized for its support of youth athletic endeavors and contributions to the Oakland County Childrens' Center and the childrens' ward at the Pontiac State Hospital.

Judge Urges Anticrime Drive

Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore today issued a strong plea to state and Detroit area officials to undertake an intensive prevention program against crime.

Moore used the sentencing of Giles G. Gallagher of Ferndale on second-degree murder as a platform for expressing his concern over the rising crime rate and what he termed the failure of authorities to deal with the problem.

Gallaher, 22, was given 1-50 years in the state prison for the shooting last September of Michael Sass, 18, during an argument in a Royal Oak drive-in restaurant.

In recommending to correction officials that the maximum sentence be served, Moore said Gallaher is "typical of America's insurgent young criminals; youth who have been taught or permitted to flout society and exhibit disrespect for the law."

Oakland County, he said, has led the way in crime prevention, but now "the bad influence of vicious criminals and uncontrolled social offenders and plain immorality infesting Metropolitan Detroit is now spreading throughout adjoining counties."

Moore urged that the governor, the Legislature, the county boards of supervisors and the Detroit Common Council act immediately to solve the problem.

★ ★ ★

Unless this is done, said Moore, "the seeds of more and more crime and rioting are being sown. This is the only way to return permanently to an orderly community. With law and order restored, then, and only then, many social, economic and public services must be provided."

Using a high crime area in Detroit's 12th Street school community as an example to underscore his point, Moore said that no community can better itself until it is first "relieved of this unbearable burden."

He said a method must be devised to immediately remove the 1 or 2 per cent in the community who are juvenile delinquents and law violators.

Supervisory programs also must be set into motion for other violators before the balance of the good citizens in the community "can shed their fears, undertake worthy community and personal projects and upgrade the area in question," said Moore.

"Detroit, Wayne County and the State of Michigan are all most derelict in failing to face the problem," he said.

Rocky Pleases State GOP

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller apparently sparked a "we-want-a-winner" mood yesterday among Michigan delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The New York governor and presidential hopeful spoke to delegates and alternates for more than two hours behind closed doors. Response to his remarks was enthusiastic.

★ ★ ★

"Many of these people who were pro-Nixon were very impressed with Rockefeller," said Joseph Farnum, 2061 Avon Lane, Birmingham, chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee. "He did an outstanding job as far as I'm concerned."

Another delegate said, "I want a winner and a lot of other delegates want a winner."

Many undecided delegates said they liked the governor's frankness in responding to questions.

Questions about Vietnam, civil rights, fiscal and foreign policies, the draft and other issues were given Rockefeller prior to his visit.

★ ★ ★

Nixon will answer the same questions June 7 in Lansing.

Republicans have resolved to support Gov. George Romney as a favorite son.

WHAT ROMNEY WANTS

Rockefeller said Romney "wants to make the delegation an effective voice at the convention for the kind of government he believes in."

The New York governor declined to speculate on how much support he gained during his one-day trip.

May 30 Summit in News Strike

MADISON, Wisc. (UPI) — Noted labor mediator Prof. Nathan P. Feinsinger said in a statement released yesterday that a meeting of all parties involved in the 190-day Detroit newspaper blackout has been called for May 30 in Detroit.

Feinsinger, a law professor at the University of Wisconsin, said the meeting "with representatives of the principal parties involved in the Detroit strike is with a view to an early and final disposition of all remaining unresolved issues."

'SCHOOL DAYS' REVIVED—Like children of an earlier age, these Waterford Township pupils rush into a one-room schoolhouse. Their visit is part of a Michigan Week celebration by Waterford Schools. The children are brought to inspect the Moses Wisner home site (background) at Oakland and Wisner. The one-room schoolhouse on the property is the former Drayton Plains School which went out of use in the 1920s.

DONALD E. BISHOP

Avon Lawmaker Is Candidate

State Rep. Donald E. Bishop, R-Avon Township, today announced his candidacy for reelection.

An attorney, Bishop, 35, of 1816 Ansal is serving his first term in the House as Representative from the 63rd Legislative District.

A member of the appropriations committee, Bishop said that the major lesson he has learned in Lansing is that most all legislation derives from a money foundation.

"Financial responsibility definitely does not mean budget cuts for the sake of cutting," he said. "The budget should show a prudent amount of growth in relation to economic development."

IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION

Bishop said that as a legislator the most important consideration to bear in mind is that there must be a priority arrangement for spending.

"As lone as growth stays in line with economic realities, it is a sign of progress," he added.

★ ★ ★

"Some essential areas such as education must receive primary consideration. This is why I fought so hard to restore the $480,000 cut made in the Oakland University budget by the Senate.

★ ★ ★

In another education matter, Bishop recently was a cosponsor of a resolution that would have prohibited sliding scale tuitions such as used a Oakland University but it failed for lack of a needed two-thirds majority.

Editor Reveals Candidacy for State Legislature

Aldo Vagnozzi, chairman of the 19th Congressional District Democratic organization, announced today that he is a candidate for state representative in the 64th legislative district.

Promising to carry on a vigorous campaign based on issues, Vagnozzi said his job as editor of the Michigan AFL-CIO News has given him considerable insight into the workings of the Michigan Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Vagnozzi of 26193 Kiltartan, Farmington Township, has been involved in politics since he was an undergraduate at Wayne State University where he received his degree in journalism.

Vagnozzi, 42, also is treasurer of the Oakland County Democratic Committee and former president of the Farmington Township Club. He was an alternate delegate to the 1960 Democratic national Convention.

FIRST DEMOCRAT

The district which he is seeking to represent is made up of the cities of Farmington, Keego Harbor, Lathrup Village, Orchard Lake and part of Southfield, and the townships of Farmington and West Bloomfield.

He is the first Democrat to announce his candidacy for the office presently held by Raymond Baker, R-Farmington.

★ ★ ★

Born in Roseto, Italy, Vagnozzi emigrated to the U. S. when he was 7. Because of his fluency in Italian he served as an Army interpreter during World War II. He and his wife Lois have two sons and two daughters.

Police-Plaguing 'Sniper' Wiry

HOUSTON (UPI) — A supposed sniper holding a huge industrial complex along the Houston ship channel at bay for nearly eight hours today turned out to be a short circuit in the wiring system at Mayo Shell Co.

The deficient wire was discovered around 5 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Neal Rogers, criminal investigator for the sheriff's office, said the search which brought in more than 100 policemen, an armored car, two Humble Oil and Refining Co. tugboats and several fire trucks was being called off.

Ed Sehlke, yard superintendent for Mayo Shell, said the 220-volt wire, installed two weeks ago, was used to run a conveyer belt at a storage hopper situated about 10 feet from the channel.

SHOT IN HEEL

When the wire popped, it gave off a sound like a rifle shot. It was so realistic, in fact, that a policeman reported being shot in the heel of his shoe.

The first reports of gunfire came about 9:30 last night. For the next eight hours, more than 100 policemen darted from one tank to another looking for a gunman.

★ ★ ★

With each new report during the night, persons in the sprawling complex would hurl themselves to the ground or behind buildings.

The short in the wire caused a conveyor belt to bounce against a metal pipe, producing a realistic sound of pellets hitting metal.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A public meeting, at which residents of this school district may ask questions pertaining to the June 10 millage election, will be held Monday evening at Andover High School, 4200 Andover.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by Citizens for Bloomfield School, the meeting will begin at 8 p.m. with a brief presentation by board of education Trustee Donald C. Hyde, Supt. of Schools Eugene Johnson, and H. Eugene Weiss, chairman of the citizens' panel.

★ ★ ★

They will explain the present financial status of the district, how the proposed property tax increase of 9.5 mills will affect it, and the alternatives if no additional millage is approved by voters.

A question-and-answer period will follow.

'ONLY OPPORTUNITY'

According to Weiss, the meeting will be similar in format to one held last fall in the Andover gymnasium when the board and teachers had reached an impasse in contract talks.

Avon, Rochester Agree on Sewers

BY JEAN SAILE

AVON TOWNSHIP — What appears to be a mutual back-scratching may heal the split between the City of Rochester and the township over sewers.

The township needs presently city-owned easements and the city needs the sewer pipe.

★ ★ ★

Avon Township last night said it was ready to sell and reports are that Rochester is ready to buy 2 cfs (cubic feet per second) capacity in the Paint Creek Arm of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor as it proceeds through town. The purchase of capacity would save the city the expense of building its own sewer through town.

The 2 cfs isn't much compared to the total capacity of the proposed 54-inch main and the township isn't going to miss it much, according to Donald W. Ringler, assistant Oakland County Department of Public Works director.

SELLING PRICE

The proposed selling price is $20,000, based on cost percentage less a percentage of the federal grant received by the county for the project.

Despite Supervisor Cyril Miller's protestations of township generosity in the face of Rochester's refusal to join the program at its inception, Ringler noted cooperation would be mutually beneficial.

A figure mentioned at the time Rochester was being considered for inclusion put the then village's share of the cost at $50,000. Because it has its own sewage disposal plant where it still intends to treat the sewage transmitted through the interceptor. Rochester officials wanted no part of the new expense.

The threat of forced inclusion is credited with election results which made Rochester a city and completely separate in government from the township.

ABANDON PLANT

One of the big items in that decision was the stipulation that Rochester would have to abandon its relatively new sewage treatment plant. It was noted last night by engineers that the city would still probably have to abandon the plant at some future date because of more stringent regulations regarding sewage treatment.

★ ★ ★

While the interceptor usage cost is considerable less to the city under the present plan, Ringler noted that a new pumping station will have to be built where the interceptor drains off into the sewage treatment plant.

★ ★ ★

Getting together on sewers was the second indication at last night's township board meeting of new-found township-city cooperation.

A report on the division of assets between Rochester and Avon revealed agreement regarding ownership of the park, township hall and garages.

FREE USAGE

As okayed by the board, the city will get the park with township residents to have free usage for five years. Stipulations are that the park — comprised of 18.18 acres — is to be operated as a park for 20 years and that if it isn't, ownership will revert to the township.

The park was township-owned, but is located within the corporate limits of the newly incorporated city.

★ ★ ★

The township hall and two township garages, also located within city limits, will remain in the hands of the township.

Head of Board Praises New Superintendent

"We are extremely pleased that he has accepted our offer," said West Bloomfield School Baord President Leonard Grossman about the district's new superintendent, Dr. Anthony P. Witham.

"We are confident that he will provide us with dynamic, forward-looking leadership," Grossman continued.

★ ★ ★

Witham signed a three-year contract with the board Monday. He fills the vacancy to be left by Dr. Leif Hougen whose contract expires June 30. The salary set for Witham is $22,000.

The career of Witham, 37, now assistant superintendent of Monroe Public Schools, has been entirely in education.

SETON HALL GRAD

He graduated from Seton Hall University in South Orange, N.J., and recieved his master's and doctorate degrees in educational psychology and curriculum development from Wayne State University.

He has taught elementary and junior high in Berkley Public Schools. He then worked for the Genesee County Intermediate School District as curriculum consultant and reading specialist for four years.

★ ★ ★

Witham spent one year as director of learning improvement services for the Flint Community College and then joined the Monrow system in 1963.

The new superintendent has directed Michigan Week activities in Monroe County the past two years.

★ ★ ★

Withan will be moving here in June with his wife, Betty, and daughters, Lisa, 10, and Carol, 6.

Swimming Pool Regulation Proposed in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — A city ordinance regulating all swimming pools that are more than 12 inches deep has been introduced before the council.

The ordinance will be up for final adoption at council's next meeting, June 4 at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The proposed ordinance calls for regulation of electrical work, plumbing, construction, location and fencing.

Penalties provided by the ordinance, as proposed, including $100 fine or 10 days in jail or both.

HISTORICAL COMMISSION

In other action at a recent meeting, the council created a Walled Lake Historical Commission on the recommendation of City Manager Royce Downey.

Council has asked Downey to select seven residents to serve on the commission and present the list for council approval.

★ ★ ★

"Every community needs to have its memory preserved," affirmed Downey.

He envisions the commission gathering historical data about the city and possibly purchasing an old house as a museum.

★ ★ ★

Council also awarded to Dow Chemical Co. the contract for dust control chemicals at $350 per application. The city has planned four applications.

Services Increased at Library in Novi

NOVI — About 1.1 million books and 3,500 films have become available to users of the Novi Library at 25870 Novi.

This increase in services is due to the library's recent joining with the Wayne County Federated Library System.

★ ★ ★

Users can order books and films through the Novi Library which makes the request to the Wayne system.

The membership in the system will cost users no more than the fees already charged, said Librarian Mrs. Robert Flattery.

Avon Township OKs 3 Projects on Walton Blvd.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The township board approved plans last night for two large commercial developments and another apartment-home complex on Walton Boulevard.

The board agreed to waive building height requirements to allow Claridge Properties to erect a 10-story medical office building at the corner of Walton and Livernois.

★ ★ ★

The high-rise building is proposed as part of a $15-million complex comprising shopping and office facilities.

The board gave approval to the Aikens Fund of Pontiac for development of a shopping-office plaza northeast of the corner of Walton and Adams estimated to cost more than $10 million when complete.

DEFINITE PLANS

James Howlett, attorney for the developers, said definitely that Mitzelfeld's and Demery's Department Stores would be a part of the complex. Also proposed is a theater and restaurant.

Abutting the proposed commercial property is a site planned for apartments and homes for which the township board gave the go-ahead to Argonaut Investment Co.

★ ★ ★

The company proposed 110 homes in the $45,000 class behind the Danish Old Peoples Home along Brewster Road and 298 apartment units adjacent to the Danish home along Walton.

Trustee Earl Borden cast the lone dissenting vote for rezoning approval.

Keego Council OKs Building Borrowing

KEEGO HARBOR—The City Council here has taken steps toward the construction of a building to house the city's department of public works.

The council has given approval for the borrowing of $22,000 to be put into the building fund.

Council is also asking the planning commission to consider rezoning of land directly east of the City Hall as a site for the building.

The city already has preliminary plans for the structure.

AUTHORIZATION

In other recent action, the council authorized the mayor and clerk to execute the city's agreement with Pontiac on use of Pontiac's land-fill on Kennett Street.

★ ★ ★

Keego Harbor residents are to purchase dumping permits at the City Hall. Fees are $1 per pickup truck, 50 cents per carload, and $1 per cubic yard for large trucks.

★ ★ ★

A motion made in 1957 pledging 20 per cent city participation in blacktopping of streets was rescinded.

The council then instructed the manager to find out the amount cities similar to Keego Harbor are contributing for roads.

NOT CERTAIN ON SHARE

Councilman Vernon B. Edward, who made the motion and called for its nullification, explained that he wasn't sure if 20 per cent was the share the city should pay for paving of intersections and streets around the City Hall.

The original figure was set without detailed study, Edward added.

★ ★ ★

Tabled by the council was a request for a letter of approval regarding a 16-unit boat pier for Sylvan Bay Apartments of the Bert L. Smokler Co. The pier is planned for the Sylvan Lake side of the apartments.

The Smokler firm is requesting the letter as part of the procedure in applying for a pier permit from the State Conservation Department.

★ ★ ★

Before a letter is issued of either approval or disapproval, the city wants the Smokler Co. to assure that only 16 pier units will be built and that they will be restricted to apartment tenants' use.

Jet Airport Eyed for Imlay City

IMLAY CITY — This village's future may hold a small-jet airport, if a proposal suggested to the planning commission is realized.

Planning consultant Michael T. Manore of Parkins, Roger and Associates, Inc., of Detroit, outlined the possibility to the commission during consideration of the village's master plan.

★ ★ ★

Manore said an airport capable of handling small jets would be an "excellent complement" to other transportation facilities which appear likely for Imlay City in the future.

By 1990, he pointed out, the projected population for the village is 15,000, with another 15,000 predicted for surrounding Imlay Township.

TWO FREEWAYS

Also, State Highway Department plans call for two freeways—M53 and M21—to intersect near the village, which is already served by two railroads, Manore said.

★ ★ ★

To develop and administer the proposed airport, Manore suggested that the village and the township form a joint authority.

★ ★ ★

Because of the space needed for a jet runway, he said, the airport would probably have to be located south or west of the village, rather than inside the village limits.

Summer School Sign-Up Is Near

WALLED LAKE — Registration for summer school in the Walled Lake District begins Monday.

Deadline is June 21 and, for secondary credit courses, June 24.

★ ★ ★

Recreation programs for elementary and secondary youngsters take in softball, Ping-Pong, tennis, archery, wrestling, basketball, and dances.

Adult extension courses planned are judo, welding, woodworking, intermediate and refresher shorthand, Bishop Sewing I, watercolor painting, and bridge.

COURSES FOR CREDIT

Credit courses meeting every day for two hours for six weeks include American and world history, math, English, typing, and science.

Fees range from $1 to $20. Further inquiries can be made to Oliver Rose at Walled Lake High School.

White Lake Board Again Votes 'No' to Dawson Island Bridge

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A second unanimous "no" has been voted by the Township Board against the proposed bridge and causeway between Dawson Island in White Lake and land to the northeast.

The vote was taken at the request of the State Conservation Department which is weighing Mrs. Estelle Dawson's request to erect the bridge.

★ ★ ★

The conservation department has said that it has the last word on the bridge issue.

The first vote of the board for the department was taken last November.

A public hearing on the bridge permit was held May 9 by the department at Township Hall. Both sides of the issue were aired, with most of the nearly 100 residents attending expressing strong opposition to the structure.

'NO NEW EVIDENCE'

"The board felt that there was no additional evidence from the recent hearing to change its mind," explained Township Supervisor James Reid.

In other action at a recent meeting, the board discussed improvement of Hill Road from M59 to Brooks Elementary School, about one-tenth of a mile.

★ ★ ★

Planned is a meeting of the Huron Valley Board of Education, the county, the township and state highway department officials to study the project.

Auburn Heights JCs Elect Officers

Robert C. Lewis Jr. of 716 Southhampton, Pontiac Township, has been elected president of the Auburn Height Area Jaycees.

★ ★ ★

Other officers elected are James St. Louis of 54 College, Pontiac Township, internal vice president; Rober Wood, 3621 Havens, Pontiac Township, external vice president; James Weaver, 224 Grey, Pontiac Township, secretary; David VanderLaan, 1277 Ashover, Bloomfield Township, treasurer; and Tomas Lawson, 83 Purdue, Pontiac Township, and Gerald Hanley, 3470 Greenwood, Avon Township, directors.

Youth Guidance Head Reelected in Avondale

The Avondale Area Youth Guidance Committee has reelected Gerald Hanley, 3470 Greenwood, Avon Township, as chairman.

He will be assisted by George Billings, vice chairman; Mrs. Edward Loeser, secretary; and Mrs. Raymond Ballard, treasurer.

Chicken Dinner Slated

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The Thomas Chapter, OES, will serve a public chicken dinner from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday at Oakwood OES Hall, 5855 Oakwood.

In Independence Township

Fire-Equipment Purchase Eyed

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board is considering the purchase of $50,000 worth of new township fire equipment.

The fire chief and his assistants have been instructed to prepare specifications relative to pumpers and tankers. Also under consideration is the construction of a new fire hall on township property at the corner of Maybee and Pine Knob roads.

★ ★ ★

Officials noted that the township fire fund, fed by a special 1-mill levy, is now at $70,000 and that another $40,000 can be expected with collection of the December tax bills.

Four residents of the Sashabaw-Maybee road area have asked the township board for a traffic light at the intersection in view of Tuesday's fatal accident there.

SEVERAL YEARS

It was reported that for several years the township board has attempted to get a light at the corner and also on Dixie Highway at the Sashabaw and Maybee road intersections.

★ ★ ★

Supervisor Duane Hursfall said that traffic counts taken by the Oakland County Road Commission and the State Highway Department had so far resulted in denial of such installations. He said the installation of traffic signals could be accomplished only by either county or state governmental body, depending on the roads involved.

The possibility of a meeting between citizens and both road groups was discussed, but no definite plans were made.

Library hours will be changed beginning June 3 on recommendation of the library advisory board. The facility will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

An ordinance which would allow for the splitting of recorded lots not currently allowed under the state's recently adopted "New Plat Act" was presented for study by attorney Paul Mandel. No action was taken.

Record Earnings for Quarter

Kresge 3-for-1 Stock Split OK'd

DETROIT (AP) — Shareholders of S. S. Kresge Co. yesterday approved a three-for-one stock split, effective at the close of business June 3, and H. G. Cunningham, chairman and president, reported record earnings for the fiscal quarter ended April 30.

Kresge stock closed at $90.75 a share Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange. The company operates variety stores and K-mart department stores in the United States and Canada.

Directors approved a quarterly dividend of 25.5 cents per share, payable June 14 to stockholders of record June 3. This would be equivalent to 8.5 cents after the split.

Cunningham reported profits for the quarter ended April 30 were $7.8 million, or 69 cents per share, on the 11.3 million shares outstanding. In the similar 1967 quarter, profits were $3.9 million, or 35 cents a share. Sales were $336.3 million, compared with $263.5 million.

In authorizing a three-for-one split, Kresge stockholders cut the par value per share from $5 to $1.66 and raised the authorization from 20 million to 60 million shares.

★ ★ ★

"Our consolidated sales increase of 27.6 per cent for the first fiscal quarter," Cunningham said, "again led by a wide margin the previous year comparisons of all other national retailers, continuing an unbroken pattern of the past five years."

Crime Bill Combines Four Major Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The staggering year-by-year proliferation in crime has been called the major domestic problem facing the nation and one of the most crucial issues in this election year.

Aghast at the mounting toll of murders, rapes and robberies, the wave of violence in the ghettos, and the power of crime cartels, Congress is eager to crack down.

★ ★ ★

The most ambitious effort to curb what Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., calls "this scourge of lawlessness" is a four-part omnibus anticrime bill now under consideration by the Senate.

Actually, the package contains four major bills. A couple of them might not pass or would be vetoed on their own. Linked together, all stand a better chance of survival.

FOUR PROVISIONS

The major provisions are the Johnson administration's "safe streets" act, a two-year, $400-million program to improve local law enforcement; a Southern-inspired attempt to overturn Supreme Court decisions in the field of criminal law; broad authority to wiretap in the investigation of major crimes; and a ban on the mail order sale of handguns.

The package is riddled with controversy — disputes over provisions within each section as well as strong disagreement over which sections should be killed and which should be retained.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson has written Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield endorsing the "safe streets" act and has repeatedly demanded a stronger gun bill.

But he asked the Senate not to saddle the bill "with provisions raising grave constitutional questions" — as do both the other sections.

'TRAGIC MISTAKE'

On the other hand, Richard M. Nixon, running for the Republican presidential nomination, said it would be a "tragic mistake" not to adopt the wiretapping provision. He said certain Supreme Court decisions "have had the effect of seriously hamstringing the peace forces in our society."

★ ★ ★

The Senate probably will complete action by the end of the week. After that the bill must be returned to the house or to conference.

★ ★ ★

The house, acting first, last year approved a $50-million one-year authorization for the "safe streets" act but did not consider the other parts of the Senate package.

The one part of the bill most Senators want is the "safe streets and crime control" act.

2-YEAR AUTHORIZATION

As approved by the committee that section has a two-year authorization — $100 million the first year and $300 million for the second — to help improve local law enforcement.

It offers federal matching grants for a variety of planning and action programs such as police training, education, and the development of new equipment and techniques to combat crime.

★ ★ ★

For many years the Supreme Court's critics, especially Southerners and conservatives, have been horrified at its decisions in the field of criminal law.

Until now they could do nothing but cringe and attack the rulings. Now, the senate has a chance to decide whether to upset some of these decisions.

EYEWITNESS TESTIMONY

One part of the omnibus bill would overturn the court's sharply criticized decisions on voluntary confessions, eyewitness testimony, and the use of a federal habeas corpus.

A profusion of eavesdropping gadgets and great controversy about the ethics of wiretapping have prompted the Senate to legislate on electronic snooping.

★ ★ ★

The bill would ban the use of snooping devices by anyone except federal and state law enforcement officials. A violation would carry a penalty of a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

However, the legislation gives federal, state and local law enforcement officers broad powers to wiretap. It could be used in the investigation of virtually every felony, including murder, kidnaping, robbery, extortion, narcotics and labor racketeering.

COULD TESTIFY

In contrast to present regulations, by which wiretapping is permitted but contents cannot be disclosed in court, law enforcement officers could testify on what they overheard.

The bill's gun control controversy has already been resolved, at least tentatively.

The Senate last week indicated its approval of a section which would ban the mail order sales of pistols and limit over-the-counter sale of such handguns to state residents over 21.

The proposal, which originally won the endorsement of the judiciary committee, now appears firmly embedded in the omnibus bill. It could be amended before final action, and it is subject to being killed, however.

Girl, Hit by Car, Gains Slightly

An 11-year-old Waterford Township girl, injured critically April 28 when hit by a car on Parkway near Totem Lane, remains in serious condition but has shown some improvement, according to Pontiac General Hospital authorities.

★ ★ ★

A hospital spokesman said Yolanda Whitener of 1549 Parkway was moved from the intensive care unit to the pediatrics ward May 15.

★ ★ ★

She suffered head injuries when struck by the car.

Waterford Township police said they could not determine whether the victim and the friend she was walking with were on the road when the accident occurred.

Negro Panel to Study Candidate Platforms

DETROIT (AP) — Many prominent Negroes throughout the country are forming a national committee to study presidential candidates and platforms to decide which will most benefit Negroes, informants report.

Among those mentioned as members of the committee were the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference sponsoring the Poor People's campaign in Washington, and Stokely Carmichael, militant former head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

★ ★ ★

The committee apparently plans to announce its existence soon, probably within a few days, but it came to light Wednesday in Lansing, Mich., where state Rep. James Del Rio, a Detroit Democrat, told newsmen he had accepted an invitation to join the "national committee of inquiry."

The invitation came by telegram from U.S. Rep. John C. Conyers Jr., a Democrat from Detroit's heavily Negro 1st District.

REMAIN UNCOMMITTED

"The committee has resolved to remain uncommitted until such time as a determination can be made as to which of the candidates has the program which is most relevant to the needs of our people," the telegram said.

It asked Del Rio to "urge our people to remain uncommitted until all the candidates have been personally interviewed" by the committee.

★ ★ ★

"There are commitments that can be fulfilled prior to the convention that we would like to extract," Conyers said in the telegram.

There was no elaboration on what sort of commitments he had in mind.

Conyers and Carmichael could not be reached for comment. Abernathy said in Washington that the SCLC was considering the possibility of departing this year from its past practice of being nonpolitical.

Del Rio said he understood that the candidates would be invited to appear before the committee, explain their views, answer questions, and, after deliberation, the committee would "make some formal statement to the Negro community."

★ ★ ★

Some sources said the committee has been developing for more than four months, has a top echelon membership of about a dozen persons, and a much larger second echelon that would include many Negroes prominent within their own states while not well-known nationally.

Del Rio said Conyers' telegram mentioned that the committee idea had eben discussed with singer Harry Belafonte, who last month was the star attraction at a fund-raising rally in Detroit for Conyers; Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind.; Floyd McKissick, director of the Congress of Racial Equality; and James Farmer, former head of CORE.

Girl Suicide's Parents Freed

PHEONIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The parent of a girl who turned a gun on herself rather than shoot her pet dog as punishment were acquitted Wednesday of manslaughter charges.

Superior Judge William Holohan granted a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ault of Pheonix.

★ ★ ★

The judge ruled the prosecution did not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the Aults committed a crime in the death of their daughter, Linda Marie, 21.

Testimony indicated the Aults told their daughter to shoot her dog as punishment for staying out all night and having sexual relations with a lieutenant from Williams Air Force Base.

Instead, Linda raised the pistol to her head and committed suicide.

Van Gogh Painting to Be Auctioned

An important painting of his mother by French impressionist Vincent Van Gogh is to be sold at Christie's art auction house in London June 28, the firm said yesterday.

The painting—the only one Van Gogh did of his mother—is being sold by the Rev. Theodore Pitcairn of Bryn Athyn, Pa., whose Monet painting brought a world impressionist record of $1,411,200 at Christie's last Dec. 1.

The Rev. Mr. Pitcairn began buying impressionists in the 1920s. His father was one of the founders of the Pittsburgh Glass Co.

Van Gogh did the painting of his mother from a photograph a few months before he went insane at Arles, France, in 1888.

Jewelry Store Looted; Area Youths Held

Three youths caught with loot reportedly from the Holland Jewelry Store, 34 S. Broadway, Lake Orion, are in Oakland County Jail today for investigation of breaking and entering.

The three were apprehended by Lake Orion officers and sheriff's deputies in an apartment behind the jewelry store shortly after the early morning burglary.

★ ★ ★

In jail are Jesse Darnall, 19, of 3050 Clarkston, Lawrence Spicer, 19, of 585 Joslyn and Gary Ludeman, 19, of 982 Miller, all of Orion Township.

Jewelry with estimated value of $5,000 was found in a pail in the apartment and in a cardboard box outside the apartment, according to Lake Cion Police Chief Neal Leonard.

★ ★ ★

An open door at the store was spotted at 2:30 a.m. by Patrolman Michael Wesolowski as he made night rounds. As police were investigating they received a tip that the suspects were in the nearby apartment. They entered and made the arrest, Leonard said.

State Scores Success as Landowner

cess and private failure are mixed in the story of how the State of Michigan came to own and maintain more than 4½ million acres of land.

Michigan was practically forced into becoming a land manager, recalls R. J. Greffenius, retired U.S. Forest Service conservationist from Colorado who is a research scholar in the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources.

In the 1880s and '90s, as forest lands were cut and burned and as farmers failed on the infertile soils of northern Michigan, these lands were abandoned to the state for nonpayment of taxes, he points out.

By the early '90s this flow of tax-delinquent lands became a flood, so the state in 1893 decided to take full ownership of them.

STATE HELD HOPE

Greffenius notes the state still hoped to control land abuses by getting the land back into private ownership, first through homesteading and later by direct sales.

"However, the abuses continued and a few discerning individuals prevailed upon the state to retain some of these lands as state property," he recalls. "So the first state forest of 35,000 acres was created in 1903 under a Forest Commission directed to reforest burned-over lands and to provide fire protection."

Between 1910 and 1930 the state recognized the recreation potential of these lands and with legislative authority created state game and recreation areas, Greffenius points out. As recreation use increased, more lands and funds were dedicated to parks and recreation areas. At the same time provision was made for wildlife.
