

U.S. Traffic Toll Passes 230 for Holiday Period

Slow-Rising Figure Includes 50 Victims
Under the Age of 18

By The Associated Press
The toll of traffic deaths in the nation's long Thanksgiving weekend rose slowly today.

Deaths thus far in the holiday numbered 232, including 50 victims under the age of 18.

The tabulation of holiday traffic fatalities began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

During a recent nonholiday four-day period, an Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes, showed a total of 442 traffic deaths.

However, the National Safety Council did not make an advance estimate of highway deaths for the long weekend.

The council said it considers the Thanksgiving period as basically a home holiday which does not involve as much driving as other major holidays.

Censure of Israel Is Near in the U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council headed today toward a censure of Israel for its reprisal attack on three Jordanian villages Nov. 13. Diplomats hoped it would have a calming influence on the tense situation in Jordan, as well as in the Israeli-Arab border area.

Mali and Nigeria submitted a resolution to the 15-nation council which described the Israeli attack as "a large-scale military action in violation of the U.N. charter and of the general armistice agreement between Israel and Jordan."

In a nod toward Jordan's demands for economic penalties the resolution declared that military reprisal actions could not be tolerated.

Bomb in Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A bomb exploded today in a supermarket in the heart of the American colony in Caracas. Police said it was the third terrorist attack on U.S. property this week.

WEST GERMAN ACCORD NEAR—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt (left), the leader of the German Socialist party, and Kurt Georg Kiesinger (right), the Christian Democrats' candidate to head a new government, face newsmen in Bonn yesterday after emerging from a meeting which Kiesinger said, brought the two major parties near an agreement on a coalition government.

White Lake Crack-Up Is Fatal to Youth

A Royal Oak youth was killed early today when the car in which he was riding skidded off Williams Lake Road in White Lake Township and slammed into a tree.

Bruce Johnson, 20, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident near the intersection of Lodge Road about 3:30 a.m.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said the driver of the car, Thomas L. Taffe, 19, of 3370 Fox Bay, White Lake Township, suffered only a slight facial cut in the mishap.

Taffe told deputies he had asked Johnson for a light for a cigarette when the car swerved out of control and slid some 300 feet broadside into the tree.

Deputies said power jacks were needed to free the victim's body from the nearly demolished passenger's side of the car.

Troops for Viet Key Issue in Australian Election

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The commitment of 4,500 fighting men in Viet Nam is the big issue in tomorrow's Australian national elections. Prime Minister Harold Holt's government, which sent the troops to war, is heavily favored to survive.

"Foreign policy is the very core of this election and that's how it has been, if foreign policy is taken to mean the wisdom of being involved in Viet Nam," Holt declared early in the campaign.

Despite a rash of anti-Viet Nam demonstrations, political circles say that feeling does not appear strong enough to give victory to the Labor party of Arthur A. Calwell.

Labor has 53 of the 134 seats in the retiring Parliament and needs a big vote swing to win a majority and unseat Holt. The ruling Liberal-County party coalition has 71 seats. There is one independent.

On the eve of the election, Holt continued to get strong press support.

The Melbourne Age said he seemed certain to win. The Daily Telegraph viewed the Viet Nam issue as "the preservation of Australia's alliance with America," an argument advanced repeatedly by Holt.

Much of the dispute is over the use of Australian conscripts in Viet Nam.

In campaign speeches, Calwell said: "We will act, in consultation with the American authorities, immediately if we become the government, to withdraw all conscripts in Viet Nam."

VC Force Bested by Green Berets, S. Viet Irregulars

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Vietnamese irregular companies and their U.S. Green Beret Special Forces advisers came out on top tonight in heavy combat with a Communist force in the tangled jungles of War Zone C, an American command spokesman announced.

A U.S. Army company linked up with the 240 or so irregulars, he said, and "the Viet Cong fled." There was no final report of casualties on either side, though initial advice was that allied losses were light.

American artillery and air strikes had pounded the Communist troops in the action, in Tay Ninh Province nine miles southeast of Tay Ninh City and about 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

North Vietnamese troops wiped out a similar Vietnamese force in the same region a month ago.

The Tay Ninh action was the most spectacular ground contact in a day which saw U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops chase the Viet Cong up river valleys of the central coast while 25th Division infantrymen scoured caves in the highlands and found numerous graves.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes were beset by heavy weather over North Viet Nam for the eighth day in a row yesterday, but chalked up a total of 161 missions.

RECORD MISSIONS

U.S. Marine Corps planes were active in South Viet Nam, flying a record 257 sorties against Viet Cong targets, mainly in support of ground operations in the vicinity of the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams.

U.S. officials, meanwhile, untangled the confusion surrounding the Thanksgiving Day ambush of an American civilian-military convoy on Highway 11 south of Dalat.

Final casualty figures announced today were one U.S. military man killed and six wounded, one U.S. civilian killed, one Canadian civilian killed, four Koreans killed, one Filipino killed and one Vietnamese killed.

One U.S. civilian and a Canadian, a Korean and Vietnamese also were wounded.

The new official figures were much lower than the 20 reported killed and 18 wounded announced on Thanksgiving Day.

A spokesman said one military water truck and two Page Communications Engineering Inc. vans were destroyed, and three Page vans seriously damaged.

U.S. 25th Division troops got revenge of a kind for the convoy ambush when they jumped on a Viet Cong ox cart convoy moving east about 20 miles northwest of Saigon in Hau Nghia Province.

A total of 15 ox carts were seen in the convoy and a check this morning showed 15 oxen dead, four empty carts, two individual weapons, a radio and some documents.

Drills Used in Scranton Mine Blaze

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — More rotary drills were brought into the southern section of Scranton last night to "blast off" deadly carbon monoxide gas rising from an underground coal mine fire.

Over Wednesday and yesterday, 10 holes were drilled in attempts to locate the fire and to allow the fumes to escape.

Mayor James J. Walsh said holes would be drilled until the fire is pinpointed and efforts can be made to put it out. This could mean drilling 120 holes, he said.

Police and National Guard troops roped off an eight-block section of this city in Pennsylvania's anthracite region to guard against looting at homes evacuated after the fumes began rising during the past week.

Health officials have declared at least four houses "unfit for human habitation."

NO DEATHS

The fire is in abandoned mines under Scranton.

There have been no deaths resulting from the current outbreak of fumes, authorities said.

The mayor said the holes drilled so far have not reached the fire. However, the holes, which go to a depth of 125 feet, are allowing fumes to escape into the air. The holes are about 25 inches in diameter.

About 30 National Guard troops were called in by Gov. William W. Scranton. A team of 36 firemen trained in gas detection is working "around the clock" to test for fumes, Walsh said.

Man, 50, Is Held in Highland Twp. Woman's Murder

A Brighton man is held in the Livingston County Jail on a first-degree murder charge following the stabbing death of a Highland Township woman.

Donald J. Cronk, 50, was remanded to the jail without bond pending preliminary examination Dec. 1 before Howell Municipal Judge Stanley Berriman.

The victim, Mrs. Ruth E. Stoodley, 40, died of a stab wound in the chest, apparently inflicted yesterday, according to Brighton State Police.

Cronk, a former sporting goods dealer, was apprehended last night at nearby Lakeland by Brighton post detectives.

Santa Really Gets Around; He's Several Places at Once

Christmas season brings Yuletide greetings and Santa. Or, should one say Santas?

One Santa arrived by helicopter this morning at Miracle Mile. He'll be in town Fridays 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturdays 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Monday through Thursday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. through Dec. 24 at his workshop in the arcade area.

Another Santa arrived at the Pontiac Mall about the same time.

He'll talk to children from 1 to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays through Christmas Eve when he leaves his igloo at 3 p.m.

Santa will also be handing out goodies at Federal's from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow and from 5 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturdays, and 1 to 8 p.m. Sundays, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. the day before Christmas.

And Santa will be in Sears' toy department from 10 a.m. to noon, 2 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays through Dec. 24.

Custom Pontiacs Top Display

Two customized show cars — the St. Moritz and the Surfdrifter — will highlight the Pontiac Motor Division display at the 51st annual Detroit Auto Show opening tomorrow at Cobo Hall. The show is open daily from noon to 11 p.m. through Dec. 4.

Also within Pontiac's 12,950-square-foot exhibit area will be 18 new 1967 Pontiac and Tempests including a Grand Prix convertible, a GTO and Bonneville Brougham and two cutaway models of the overhead camshaft six-cylinder engine and 428-cubic-inch V8 engine.

Of special interest will be a display of old and rare automobile emblems.

On one of Pontiac's revolving turntables will be a specially designed Grand Prix convertible called the St. Moritz.

SURFING THEME
Pontiac's second show car is a GTO convertible and is named the Surfdrifter.

The surfing theme is carried out with an exterior finished in a high-pearlescent surf-blue pearl paint.

All of Pontiac's 1967 models represent a new approach in automotive styling combined with many new engineering features designed to increase the safety, comfort and convenience of driving.

Offered for the first time are a Grand Prix convertible and three new station wagons, two in the Executive series and one Tempest Safari, all with simulated wood exterior paneling.

Sweeping new roof lines on all two- and four-door models, major design advancements in both front and rear ends, a Pontiac exclusive of recessed windshield wipers and exhaustive detail to safety.

An energy-absorbing steering column, a dual braking system and an inside nonflare tilting rear-view mirror are standard equipment on all 1967 Pontiacs and are just three of the many safety developments available as standard equipment on every model.

PONTIAC ST. MORITZ—A skier admires Pontiac Motor Division's customized show car, the St. Moritz, before it goes on display at the Detroit Auto Show opening tomorrow at Cobo Hall. Pontiac will also exhibit a second customized car, the Surfdrifter, at the Detroit show.

Small Deadly Rifle Is Viet Gls' Friend

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
HARTFORD, Conn. — (NEA) — A century and a half ago a turbaned tinker named Sam Colt invented a weapon which shot 10 to 20 shells a minute and helped civilize the western half of the United States. Cavalrymen called it the Peacemaker.

More recently, the manufacturing concern named for Colt invented a weapon which shoots 650 to 850 shells a minute and is helping civilize the southern half of Viet Nam. Infantrymen call it the Troublemaker.

Both guns were designed to destroy the enemy, of course, but the comparison ends there. A single of the latter exceeds a dozen of the former.

Colt's M-16 rifle makes a man a crowd. It is the most accurate, reliable and destructive method of individual firearms extermination the American soldier has ever possessed.

ACCURACY?

Tolerance in the Troublemaker is figured more exactly than in jet aircraft engines and at 300 yards a man can group endless rounds in a foot-square bull's-eye.

RELIABILITY?

Modern engineering has nearly eliminated all stoppage possibilities except wear. Even rust is combated; the metal is of noncorrosive aluminum alloy.

DESTRUCTIBILITY?

An M-16 will burst a steel helmet open one-fourth of a mile away and the cartridge can put a baseball-sized hole in the flesh of a targeted human being.

"I'm prejudiced," admits one Colt engineer, "but this is an incredible rifle. I venture to say that if our enemy would have had it about a century ago, our soldiers would be living in teepees today."

PRESENT ENEMY

Also, he adds grimly, if our enemy in Viet Nam had the Troublemaker to day, greater numbers of our soldiers would be fortunate to be living at all.

For all of this praise, however, the weapon has its critics. And if the gun has caused considerable war among the Viet Cong in Southeast Asia, it has done some of the same among various interests here at home.

Some military people for example, have downplayed the M-16 as a "one-theater rifle" — good for jungle combat but not necessarily for conventional warfare.

Some politicians have condemned it as excessive. One has said that it provides too much firepower for the average soldier.

"One bullet at a squeeze causes massive wounds and has should be enough," he main-been unfavorably compared to Latin. "More than that is just a World War I 'dumdum' — a regulation bullet filed down to waste of ammunition." — make it spread upon impact.

Some civilians have also complained. The Troublemaker's Use of the Geneva Convention sort of tumbles to target) tion.

Man of Many Roles

By JEAN SAILE

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — There's a new breed of farmer: stocking the nation's cupboards and deep freezers.

He's informed, businesslike, active, politically, lives comfortably and likes his work.

Typical of the new generation is Leslie (Bill) Wright, 29, of Seymour Lake, an unsuccessful candidate earlier this month for township supervisor.

An election last June renewed his membership on the Brandon Community School Board, however.

He is currently being considered for the Ford Alumnus and eligible for one of the company's national "Efficiency Awards."

ON RECOGNITION

The 45-year-old Wright is the recipient of a recent letter from the Almanac, which states he has been recognized as one of the nation's farmers making outstanding production records.

National fame would not be new to Wright.

His picture and story of his ingenious feeding system for hogs was featured in a cover article last year in Hog Farm Management, a national trade magazine.

Wright is proud of his system — made economically from wood — and designed to insure equal feeding for each sow.

FEEDER PIGS

Ambitious and enthusiastic, Wright has found his best crop to be feeder pigs. Consequently, he expects to feed some 600 during February as his 60 brood sows get around to the business of winter farrowing. Each sow farrows twice a year.

Wright keeps the piglets until they attain the weight of 40 pounds and sells them to feeders who fatten them for market. He has buyers in the surrounding states as well as Michigan.

Once a cattle farmer, Wright says he's found pigs more profitable. "There's a quicker turnover."

He gets about $16 for a young pig and figures that pays for feed and equipment.

JOB COMBINATION

Wright wasn't always just a farmer. For 26 years, and go, he's also a milkman, combining the job with farming for 15 of those years.

It was hard work and long hours, Wright said, "I used to get up at 2:30 a.m. and go to bed at 10:30 p.m. Since I left the milk route, I can sleep in until 5 a.m."

The work of running his 574

Leslie Wright And His Business—Pigs

acres, owned and leased, falls to Wright, his wife, Edith, and four daughters — Carol Ann, 16; Patty, 14; Kathryn, 10; and Marjorie, 8.

There are no hired hands to help out.

AREA HISTORY

Yet Wright still has time for a consuming interest in the history of the area. He has friends, oldsters spotted about the country whom he visits for long hours to sponge up their recollections of the early days.

A growing collection of old books and atlases add to his lore. He's an expert on the Civil War and on World War II history. Wright is a saver — he collects things.

He would have liked to collect a hundred more votes in the Nov. 8 election, but one defeat, he said, won't keep him from trying again.

"They've got to get to know your name," he reported.

GOVERNMENT

Wright, whose dancing eyes reflect his enthusiasm for life, grows serious when he talks about government.

"It's a sacred thing to me, and I don't like to see any loss of local control."

"That," according to Wright, "is the direction of socialism."

And Wright, who holds human endeavor in great regard, has a good deal of respect for his pigs as well.

INTELLIGENCE

"They're so intelligent and are physically so near like a human that they're used for medical experiments. Why, pigs even get ulcers!" he said.

"A pig has to have a little hay to munch on in her pen. Otherwise, she gets bored and first thing you know, she's got the whole pen torn apart."

Boredom, in Wright's estimation, is something to be avoided.

Holiday Death Toll at Least 10

Fog and Rain Factors in 3 Road Fatalities

By United Press International — Two hunters and a young Alameda woman were killed in a crash on a foggy, rain-slicked road last night, boosting the holiday weekend death toll to at least 10.

Five other persons died in a two-car wreck near West Branch just two hours before the holiday period began officially at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said a car driven by Carol Marie Sullivan, 29, Alameda, crossed the centerline on M27, 14 miles west of Alameda, and smashed into a car carrying two hunters.

Both Miss Sullivan and the hunters, Thaddeus Knochel, 82, Wyandotte, and George Joseph, 52, Southgate, were killed. Police said the two men were believed to be brothers although they spelled their names differently.

Robert Asenz, 19, Wyoming, was killed early today when his car collided with another auto on a Grand Rapids street.

Elaine Joyce Blair, 24, Detroit, was killed yesterday evening when she lost control of her car on M75 just north of Standish and smashed head-on into another car.

Robert D. Gross, 22, Wayne, was killed yesterday morning when his car crashed into an abutment on US23 north of Ann Arbor.

Robert R. Rooks, 19, Pinckney, was killed in Ann Arbor yesterday when his car ran off a city street and hit a tree.

Timothy R. Marshall, 3, Stockbridge, was killed early yesterday in a two-car crash near Stockbridge.

KILLED ON STREET — A pedestrian, Emma C. Allen, 40, Garden City, was killed Wednesday night on a Garden City street.

Timothy Fitzpatrick, 10, Detroit, died late Wednesday when his motorcycle struck a utility pole, and Edward Woodward, 12, Flint, was killed when his bicycle was hit by a car on a Flint street.

Other tragedies included the accidental shotgun death of Lyle Stadler, 24, Mount Morris Township.

Police said Stadler was shot by another hunter, Earl Alexander, 16, Flint, while hunting 10 miles northwest of Flint.

A miner identified as James D. Aili, 26, Ironwood, was killed Wednesday night when thrown from his ore truck in a White Pine Copper Co. mine at White Pine.

School Bond Vote Is Set for a Saturday

UTICA — School officials driver pools for transportation here think they've got a good to the polls and that schoolgirls thing going and they're not would be available for baby-sitting jobs.

They've sidled another Saturday election — this one Dec. 10 — on a school bond issue. The one that passed two years ago, after a string of failures, was approved on a Saturday.

While novel in its timing, such an election automatically insures a higher turnout at the polls, according to Schools Supt. Philip Runkel.

Most husbands are home on that day. They can vote, and in turn can stay home and baby-sit while wives vote.

A check of precincts along about noon can insure the needed manpower for a telephone campaign in weak voting areas.

Labor Official Helps Faculty on Curriculum

MILFORD — High School faculty members are drawing on the knowledge of all segments of the community in their study designed to improve the curriculum of the school.

The story was undertaken, according to William R. Force, director of instruction for the Huron Valley School District, because the faculty "is looking for all the ways possible to improve the education."

At the latest session, Russell Leach, a labor union official, encouraged teachers to search for better programs and creative means of increasing the school's holding power and cutting down on high school dropout rates.

He said most apprenticeship programs require a high school education and that the less education one has, the more he is apt to be "bumped."

Robert Seaton of the General Motors Proving Grounds stressed the need to prepare youngsters for the "middle groups," those who don't go on to college, for entrance into a technical school.

EYED BY INDUSTRY

He said industry will be looking for engineers and technically-trained personnel who are either college graduates or graduates of a two-year technical school.

High school students will be dismissed between 11 and 11:15 a.m. Dec. 1 and Dec. 19 to let students to attend the study sessions.

Junior high school pupils will be dismissed at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 7 and Dec. 19.

Citizens Unit Told of Classroom Need

LAKE ORION — A need for additional classrooms next year, particularly in the high school, was detailed for a group of citizens this week in a meeting at Lake Orion High School.

It was the organizational meeting of a citizens' committee — 35 members strong — appointed to make a detailed report of possible solutions to building needs to the Board of Education by next May 1.

Francis A. Miller, 809 E. Clarkson, was named chairman; Julius Myers, vice chairman; and Mrs. Martin Parker, secretary.

Dean Spittler was appointed chairman of the finance committee; Dan Abbey, growth committee chairman; Russell Johnson, facilities chairman; Nicholas Treinen, program chairman; and Mrs. S. B. Clay, publicity chairman.

The first and third Tuesdays of the month were chosen as meeting days.

Troy High School May Lose 80-Member Marching Band

TROY — The high school may lose its 80-member marching band unless a satisfactory arrangement regarding practice is worked out and adopted.

Principal Joseph Richard and band director Larry Dickerson spoke to the board of education this week in an effort to determine whether the band is worth the effort.

No action was taken on Dickerson's request that class time be allotted for practice.

Dickerson explained that practice sessions have of necessity been conducted between 7 and 8 a.m. For those students who are active in athletics or who hold after-school jobs, the early practice means an over-long working day.

Merchants Join Utica Program

UTICA — Nearly the whole community is becoming involved in an effort to improve the school district's distributive education program.

Local retail, wholesale and service merchants will meet with business teachers at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the Metropolitan Federal Savings Building, 45676 Van Dyke, to form an advisory committee.

The program, offered as a part of the school's vocational education plan, attempts to prepare students in all phases of a commercial field.

James King, vocational education director, points out that a mechanics student is not ready to operate a gas station.

He must be trained in display, retail sales, wholesale procurement and business management in order to have a successful career.

St. Joseph's Event Slated

ORION TOWNSHIP — St. Joseph's Immaculate Heart of Mary Guild will host its annual autumn card party at 8 p.m. Tuesday at St. Joseph's parish hall.

Proceeds from the party will be used for the organization's projects. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Mrs. Wilbur Shaw, 20 Jackson, Lake Orion, is general chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. William Sweeney and Mrs. Wallace Theunick.

He explained that band practice requires the presence of every participating student, otherwise the practice is useless.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board, in other business, engaged in a discussion of science facilities for the high school.

Lapeer OKs Contracts on Two Projects

LAPEER — The City Commission recently awarded sewer and water contracts to the firm of Corey and Hartwig, of Hadley at a total cost of $34,430.14.

Sanitary and storm sewers and a water main are planned for South Court and a sewer alone is planned for on South Elm.

Manager Arnold Whitney was asked to prepare plans and estimates on a six-inch water main on West from South Main to Baldwin.

The city will investigate the Michigan Municipal Employees retirement system with a view to future use.

Charles Pearson and Richard Schadel were appointed as delegates to the Michigan State Council for Jan. 21 at the Lansing Civic Center.

Theft Reported at Country Club

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — An undetermined amount of money was taken from the new Bay Pointe Country Club, 4000 Haggerty, sometime between 2 and 9 p.m. yesterday.

Police said the theft was discovered by the caretaker as he was making his rounds. They said entry was gained through the rear fire door.

West German Political Front Shaky

The internal strain of political rivalry tied to the resurgence of a far right movement (National Democratic Party) accused of neo-Nazi leaning, seriously threatens West Germany's position as the model democracy of post War II Europe. Its economic and political stability has made it America's major Western ally and a strong counterbalance to de GAULLE's extreme brand of nationalism.

Cracks in the political front have been showing for some time. A month ago, Chancellor Ludwig ERHARD relinquished his post when the Free Democrats withdrew from the coalition with the chancellor's Christian Democrats by which ERHARD had maintained a slim margin of control in the Bundestag (national parliament).

Since then, he has maintained a caretaker cabinet until the country's warring political elements could fashion a working alliance to re-establish functional government.

The national crisis, however, has marked time pending the outcome of two important state elections—those of Hesse two weeks ago and Bavaria last Sunday.

Both elections sent shivers down the backs of moderate West Germans when the National Democrats (NPD) made dramatic gains, reflecting the rise of fascist sentiment in Western Germany.

Since neither major party—Christian Democrats or Socialists—can hope to muster a ruling majority in the Bundestag, observers believe they may be forced into each other's arms in order to break the legislative deadlock.

Such a political marriage of convenience would entail philosophical concessions of monumental proportions for both parties. Whether an effective catalyst will be found is an open question. But the governmental vacuum that now obtains is a ready-made opportunity for the NPD and its inflammatory platform to make further inroads into the consciousness of the West German populace.

Students Mock Academic Free Speech Right

The bad example set by a minority of Harvard students during the appearance at Cambridge of Defense Secretary McNAMARA has now been exceeded by a minority of Brown University students at neighboring Pembroke College.

On invitation of the Inter-House Council, Gen. EARLE G. WHEELER, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, appeared to explain why the United States is in Viet Nam. He barely had a chance to do so. A dozen students charged the stage. Police and student ushers traded punches with the demonstrators. The speaker's podium was overturned, and Gen. WHEELER was hastily ushered out a side door.

Freedom of speech is a cherished American tradition, but as the late Mr. Justice Holmes once observed, "The most stringent protection of free speech would not protect a man in falsely shouting 'fire' in a theater and causing panic."

The present U.S. Supreme Court may be edging toward the same conclusion. By a 5-4 vote, the court upheld the trespass conviction of 32 civil rights demonstrators who refused to leave the premises of the Tallahassee, Fla., county jail in September 1963. "The state," noted the majority, "no less than a private owner of property, has power to preserve the property under its control for the use to which it is lawfully dedicated."

Some limit, it appears, may have to be placed upon freedom of speech to guarantee its legitimate use but to guard against its degeneration into a license to riot. If that is the way the Supreme Court is trending, there are many champions of civil liberties who will welcome the trend.

America Is Magnet for Foreign Brains

While America is losing its gold reserves to Europe, Europe is losing its intellectual reserves to America. Of the two, the "brain drain" would seem to be the more serious problem.

Each year, Western Europe loses 12 per cent of its new crop of research workers to the United States, reports News Front.

Between 1956 and 1961, 1,300 scientific workers a year immigrated to the United States, many of them the continent's best. Of the 631 members of our National Academy of Sciences, 18 per cent were trained and 21 per cent were born outside the United States.

America may have a balance of payments problem, but not in the knowledge market. In 1961, for example, Western Europe paid the United States $206 million more for technical knowledge and royalties than we paid to Europe for similar know-how.

Army, Navy to Settle Grid Contest

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: "It might have been."

Such must be the sentiments of the lone contestant of the Press' Annual Football contest who had picked Detroit's Lions against the San Francisco 49ers in yesterday's game. Had the Lions won, the contest would have ended and their supporter become the sole owner and proprietor of the $500 U.S. Savings Bond winner's award.

But the five contestants who had backed the 49ers were kept alive by the 41-14 clobbering their team dished out to the Lions. Oddly, the figures in the score of both teams were identical—it was their order that caused all the trouble for the Lions.

The five now go on to the final game of the contest's schedule—Saturday's colorful shindig between the Army and Navy. Three of yesterday's intrepid entrants will pull for a Cadet victory, two will sink or swim with the Midgies. No tie is predicted.

So, what's all this to be for the windup of the contest and determination of the winner? There are three options, to throw in a word much liked by our Secretary of Defense:

• Should the game end in a tie, it would be automatically scrubbed, and the five contest survivors would share the winner's award.

• Should Army win, the verdict would be a three-way tie, and a ditto split of the bond.

• Should Navy win, two would divide the honor and financial fruits as co-winners.

It has been many a moon since five contestants have taken the contest to the final game. The odds against such a phenomenon would assuredly set Euclid—the old math master—to spinning in his sepulcher.

Monday, we'll have a wrap-up of the 1966 Press Football Contest—an event marked by sustained interest and a record number of participants.

'I Shot An Arrow Into The Air—'

David Lawrence Asks:

What's Best President Training?

WASHINGTON — Because of the number of Republican governors who have just been elected or reelected, there has naturally been a tendency to look for potential presidential candidates among them.

This raises a question that has often been discussed but never settled — whether the best presidents of the United States have come from those holding federal office or those occupying state or local posts.

There are many good arguments in favor of selecting a governor to be the party nominee, since he has served as chief executive of a state government, but the real problem is finding the man with the right kind of training for the particular issues that are dominant when he takes office.

Few governors, for example, have had much experience in dealing with international questions. Yet today these are of a critical nature and can have a tremendous impact on the whole domestic economy.

There is no question about the fact that Lyndon Johnson — who won the vice presidential nomination with the support of the speaker of the House — had had an unusual training in Congress and that this has helped him to a large extent in dealing with legislative matters since he became president.

MUST STUDY

A governor who has the responsibilities of a state office and yet wants to be nominated for the presidency must begin to study national and international problems, and unless he has the money to build up a staff of his own, he is not likely to be as well-prepared as some rival who has private resources.

Governors are handicapped, too, by the fact that generally they are not too familiar with politics outside their own states, and it requires a lot of time for them to line up support in other states. They usually must be at the mercy of political organizers, some of whom they may not know too well.

The senator or member of the House who achieves political prominence, on the other hand, makes friends with the members of Congress from other states. Also, being in Washington, he is likely to be frequently in contact with the national headquarters of the party.

In the final analysis, much depends upon the ability of the winning candidate to learn quickly the background of the main issues and then to apply good judgment in making national and international policies.

Out of all the potential candidates for the presidential or vice presidential nominations next time, only three men—President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey and former Vice President Nixon—have had any leadership role in the legislative branch of the federal government as well as experience in the executive branch.

Bob Considine Says:

Dodgers Without Koufax Sukiyaqi Without Saki

TOKYO — Walter O'Malley seemed surprisingly calm about the shutdown of his private gold mine named Sandy Koufax when I called on him in his Tokyo hotel suite. Perhaps he was still in shock.

"It hurts us, of course," said the man CONSIDINE whose Los Angeles Dodgers had just finished a disastrous but happy exhibition tour through Japan. "But we can hope that Don Drysdale comes back and we get 10 wins from one of the new kids. That would balance the pitching books."

He knew the blow would fall, sooner or later, this winter.

"We've been anticipating this for some time," he said of his superb pitcher's retirement in the prime of life.

"We're not going to try to talk him out of it, of course. You don't do things like that when a man's physical condition is involved. Far as we know, there is no remedy for Sandy's type of arthritis."

"I haven't the slightest idea what he'll do," O'Malley said, tacitly writing Koufax off as part of the Dodgers organization. "I think Al Hart of our City National Bank has him in real estate, and there's that apartment he owns."

"Sandy has always been very well advised. He's not one of those ballplayers you have to worry about in later years."

HALL OF FAME

"The first thing they ought to do is elect him to the Hall of Fame. He's the greatest I ever saw."

The Dodgers, or an unreasonable facsimile of them, was nice, lost eight and tied one during their barnstorming through Japan. They broke all attendance records by drawing almost $60,000 paid admissions at prices comparable to our World Series levies.

They performed (and lost badly to a Japanese all-star team) in front of Emperor Hirohito and the empress. They lost their last four games and were denounced here and there in the American community. The charge was gold-bricking.

Without Koufax and Drysdale, and what with Capt. Maury Wills going AWOL after three days in Japan, the Dodgers were hardly the team that drew 2,600,000 to Chavez Ravine last season.

Bereft Mother Blames Hunter in Death of Son

Did you kill my son? Are you the one who fired the wild shot? Did you hear a young boy scream and cry for help? Did you just leave him there to bleed and die?

If you are the one, may God have mercy on your soul, for I damn it with every breath I take. May He forgive you for I never shall. My son was killed Saturday, November 19 while hunting in Cheboygan County. He was only fifteen years old.

For three years, I have been driving my children back and forth to Pontiac Northern High School. I have had to line up nearly every morning and night for the convenience of people who ignore the "In Only" and "Out Only" signs and insist upon going in where it says "Out" and out where it says "In."

Nearly all these drivers are adults who should know better and who should be trying to set a good example for the youngsters. Something should be done about this before someone gets hurt.

Questions Press' Endorsement of Farnum

As a long-time reader and former admirer, I have been greatly confused as to the reasoning used in the 19th congressional race. I appreciate your support of Romney and Griffin. That is why I can't understand your endorsement of Billie Farnum.

After the election you said Farnum had done as much for this district as any Congressman in history and you attributed Farnum's defeat with "resting in the palms of labor leaders' hands plus voting blindly for every measure to come out of the White House." If such weaknesses were so apparent, such an astute political observer as yourself must have been aware of them.

I would be interested in an explanation of your partisanship in this congressional race. I would also like to know if you intend to give Jack McDonald, Congressman-elect, the same loyal support?

Question and Answer

Senators serve a six year term and a third of the Senate is re-elected every two years. How was it done in 1789 when the Senate was set up? Two-thirds of the Senators wouldn't have served a full term. This could not have been the case.

GAIL BARTON

771 E. WALTON BLVD.

REPLY

As a matter of fact, it was the case. Senators chosen at the first election were divided into three classes, the seats of the first class to become vacant at the end of two years, of the second class at the end of four years and the third class at the end of six years.

Shrinking Savings

Reader's Digest

Consider how the merciless price spiral of inflation strikes hardest at those who can never catch up. In Pennsylvania a bright-eyed 80-year-old man confesses that he cannot afford to live much longer. "I thought I had all the savings I'd ever need, but food and rent keep costing more. It won't be too long before I run out of money," he says. "That worries me more than dying."

A 67-year-old widow in Florida declares: "My Social Security benefits shrink every time I go to the store. The President is concerned about the cost of steel—but what has he done to curb food prices?"

A young mother of three children in Nebraska says, "Granddad had to move in with us because his retirement money was just eaten away. It's breaking his heart because he is no longer independent. That's more important to him than anything."

An 85-year-old woman in Washington, D.C., is looking for a $50-a-month room with a hot-plate because she can no longer afford to live in a commercial hotel. "My savings have been wiped out by high costs," she says. "I'm just sliding down into poverty."

In Ohio a retired barber exclaims: "Doesn't our government in Washington realize how badly it is bleeding those of us on fixed incomes?"

Such cases can be multiplied by the millions. They tell of the terrible penalty that inflation is imposing on those who can least afford it. And what is happening to them should serve as a frightening warning to all, for none of us can escape the consequences of the daily inflation of the dollar.

Fund Started to Honor Famed Aerospace Scientist

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A memorial fund is being created to honor the late Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, a noted scientist, engineer and administrator who devoted a lifetime of national service to bringing the United States into a position of world leadership in aviation and space science.

The Hugh L. Dryden Memorial Fund will be used to establish an award and to build a non-needed large auditorium at the National Academy of Sciences here.

The auditorium, which will seat 700, will be an integral part of the academy's main building.

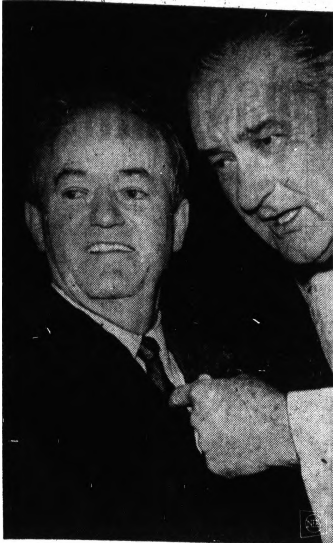

A preliminary design for the auditorium has been prepared by the architectural firm of Harrison and Abramovitz, whose previous buildings include the United Nations Building and Radio City in New York.

Establishment of the fund was announced here by Mrs. Dryden,

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of the National Academy of Sciences.

WASHINGTON — His driving spirit unchecked by 1966 political warfare hurtful to the Democrats, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey winds up his second year as the busiest and best-prepared No. 2 man in U. S. history.

Had President Johnson's operation meant a long recovery period, the vice president could have assumed the Chief Executive's duties almost without a ripple of change.

The president's "brain trust" is Humphrey's own top circle of advisers. The vice president is as current on today's crucial world affairs as this morning's cables and intelligence reports can make him.

Says an important official: "When he has to fill in, Humphrey can very comfortably move in with the people who are there (in key administration posts) now."

At 55, the "Happy Warrior" of the 1964 campaign has been deeply sobered by his two years close to the awesome core of American power. He shares none of it, but he can feel it.

SAME TODAY

Yet Hubert Humphrey is not all that different today. He is still a man who speaks in exclamation points, still an uncapped volcano of ideas, still a man in perpetual motion (352,000 miles traveled in 22 months).

Governed by what one appraiser calls his "raging activism," Humphrey daily reduces his schedule to kindling. He was late for his own wedding to Muriel Buck in 1936 and has seldom been on time since.

He is as earthily amusing today as in his brief, abortive 1960 presidential bid, when he fanned with one of his own placards a man made car-sick by a campaign bus lurching along in West Virginia.

Even stony-faced Secret Service losses.

EARLY LIBERAL

Humphrey's early liberalism, evidently concealed the tough pragmatism he and his aides say was there all the time and now aligns him firmly on the President's side in the Viet Nam war.

That persistent, determined show of toughness on Viet Nam cost the vice president what one assistant estimates as two-thirds of the country's liberal academic community — once loudly in his camp.

In this aide's view, though many of these "defectors" seem to have swung to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, they may come flocking back to Humphrey when the emotional roadblock of the war is removed.

Insisting always that he is the Hubert of old, the vice president nevertheless moves increasingly in the spheres of high power, where action is prized and doctrine scorned.

VARIED TASKS

More and more, the tasks thrust upon him by Lyndon Johnson make him — in the executive branch — a kind of general coordinator of enterprises which slash across department and agency lines.

The net of this is to give Humphrey a steadily deeper knowledge of administration, which he has seen little of since his fiery days as mayor of Minneapolis in the 1940s.

But his critical value as the Smiling Persuader among his old Senate colleagues on Capitol Hill is undimmed. Lacking the leverage of LBJ, he still can play the game of favors and grab an old friend's arm to whisper winning words.

Humphrey, the exuberant political animal, could not have done otherwise than respond willingly to his party's call to the road in 1966. His 34,000 miles in 36 states this fall earned him much gratitude despite Democratic losses.

Will Films Produced for TV Make Profit?

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Can the movie industry make brand-new feature movies for television and still turn a profit?

That is the question that producers are mulling over, now that the networks are feeling the need for such a product. With the dwindling of supplies of theatrical movies that have not yet been released to television, new ones will be needed.

As part of a deal with MGM, CBS will pay $800,000 apiece for 18 future films. It appears that these movies will be released in theaters first, then on television. The network reasons that the publicity of a theatrical release can only help the films' appeal for television viewers.

NBC has ordered a schedule of films from Universal for an undisclosed amount. Three of these "world premiere" films will be shown on the Tuesday night movie, five on Saturday night. The first appears Saturday night: "Fame Is the Name of the Game," a comedy-mystery with Tony Franciosa, Jill St. John, Nanette Fabray, Lee Bowman and Jay C. Flippen.

AN EXPLANATION
Universal's Jennings Lang explained the economics of the features-for-television:

It's Time to Dream...
Once again you are a young miss. Tonight you make your debut. Ah! There you go... surely the most lovely creation in all of the world... and the show... truly Cinderella must live again. Softly you brush your hair... a halo for your lovely young face. Would you like to recapture that night of long ago? 2nd Debut has a very special line-smoothing formula that goes a long way toward bringing back that youthful look. It makes your facial skin drink small but sufficient quantities of water... facial lines temporarily smooth out, as the water beneath the skin's surface pushes them upward and out of sight. 2nd Debut-formulated with C-E-F 1200 for normal skin-with C-E-F 1200 for double potency. ARRIVALS LTD., CHICAGO, U.S.A.

nomically sound. Prices for features are going up, and we can get added revenue from showing some of the films overseas. Of the first 10, 14 say about four would do well in foreign theaters.

"The features are also helpful as pilots for series. Our next three are designed with that in mind — I Love a Mystery" with Les Crane, "Ironside" with Raymond Burr, and "Outsider" with Darrin McGavin or Harry Guardino."

Lang said the new features are comparable to the regular movie product with these exceptions: They won't be spectacles with mob scenes and huge sets; the films can't afford million-dollar stars like Paul Newman and Julie Andrews; nor can they hire top directors like Billy Wilder or William Wyler.

FOREIGN FIELD
"On the other hand, I have been talking to foreign directors like Fellini, Dassin, Richardson and Godard about making films for us next year," Lang said. "I told Fellini: 'How would you like to show your Rome to 40 million Americans?'" He was excited about the idea.

In at least two respects, the new features may be better on television than movies made for theaters, Lang said. Directors are instructed to frame their shots so figures on the edge of the screen won't disappear.

Lang, a large, bearish man of vast enthusiasm, sees the features-for-television as the wave of the future.

"Now the big sponsors are talking about paying for movies to be made. Ford, which paid two million for 'River Kwai,' now is exploring what we could make for them for two million. If we were assured two million from expected returns overseas, we'd have four million to make a movie with. Think what we could make with that kind of budget!"

Police Course

EAST LANSING (AP)—About 50 Michigan police and sheriff's officers will take up the questions of marked versus unmarked traffic patrol cars and one-man versus two-man patrols next week. The officers will take a Michigan State University short course Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

His and Her Airplanes— $176,000

By TOM JOHNSON
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An Oklahoma oilman wound up in Dallas one Christmas Eve some 15 years ago.

Remembering that he hadn't bought his wife a Christmas present, he headed over to a store he'd heard about.

It was about closing time when he got there. Quickly surveying the sidewalk display windows, he couldn't decide what to buy her.

So he rushed in, went to the executive offices on the seventh floor, and arranged to have two complete display windows — complete with their varied exotic wares — dismantled and transported to his front lawn in Oklahoma.

The job was finished in time for his wife to open her presents on Christmas morning.

TALL TEXAS TALES
Tales such as that one prompted Texas author George Sessions Perry to remark of Neiman-Marcus:

"It's not a store, it's a state of mind."

And that "state of mind" becomes perhaps most eccentric around Christmas time, when all manner of bizarre gifts, some at six-figure prices, go on sale.

The store insists that all its Christmas gifts are useful, even if unusual.

24 KT. COMMODE SEAT
And who's to say that a commode seat isn't useful? Neiman's advertised one last year — "A 24 kt. gold plated throne" — for only $250.

President Stanley Marcus keeps a tight security clamp on each year's Christmas offerings until about the middle of October, when the glossy, colorful gift catalogue is sent to some 250,000 charge account customers.

A sampling of items from recent Christmases gives a general picture of what to expect:

- Toy tiger draped and decorated with diamonds and other precious stones — $1 million.
- Black Angus steer, on the hoof with silver barbecue-serving cart — $1,925 (dressed for freezer, $2,230).
- Ermine bathrobe, $6,975.
- His and Her airplanes, matched pair — $176,000.
- Chinese "junk" (advertised as "Gift for Christmas") — $31,700 shipped to the Port of Houston.

MAMIE AND GRACE, TOO
Recipients of the Christmas catalogue reportedly include Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower and Princess Grace of Monaco, among others.

A U.S. Army officer in Korea is said to have ordered 50 of the publications one winter to distribute to his men so they might be reminded of what they were fighting for.

The 1965 catalogue offered these Christmas presents:

- Handspan lace handkerchief — $300.
- Empress Chinchilla coat — $8,975.
- His and Her para-sails — $361 each.
- "The Pet Cookbook" and chocolate scented rubber bone — $10.
- Man's western style hat — $250.
- Pine wood play wagon for children — $145.
- Video tape recorder and camera — $1,345.
- One 14-ounce tin of fresh caviar — $130 (shipped fresh to customer on request).

NO CERTAIN TYPE

A Neiman-Marcus spokesman said the people who buy these gifts "could be anyone; we have no one certain type of customer."

She then told of how a man came in last season and asked a store official to fix up "something nice" for his wife's present.

The present turned out to be several cashmere sweaters stuffed inside a giant brandy snifter — sprinkled with rubies and diamonds.

Romans Strained

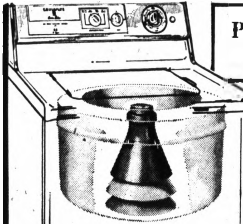

Many people think that gift giving at Christmas time originated with the Wise Men's gifts to the Infant Jesus. However, long before then, the Romans gave each other "strenae" or good luck presents during their winter festival, the Saturnalia.

Enjoy the Holidays Ahead...

Controversy Over National Cemetery Space

Millions Can Get U.S. Burial

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 40 million persons—more than one-fifth of the U.S. population—are eligible for burial in a national cemetery.

These are military personnel, veterans, their wives and minor children; and their number has been rising steadily each year.

Yet, there are only about one million gravesites available in the Army's national cemeteries.

A controversy has arisen about them so what to do—or whether to do anything at all. Is it a government responsibility to provide the graves?

NO SITES

The question arose recently when the families of certain young men killed in Viet Nam wanted to bury them in national cemeteries near their homes. But there were no available in the Army's national cemeteries.

In Congress, some members urged an extension of the present system or enlargement of a specific cemetery. Various veterans organizations campaigned to get an enlarged system. They have promised to pursue the fight in Congress next year.

"A man who gives his life on the battlefield in Viet Nam has a right to be buried in a national cemetery," Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr., D-Del., told the house.

"It is incongruous that a man may be given a $4 million fighter plane in which to fight but denied a $21 plot of ground in a national cemetery should he give his life in combat," Leslie M. Fry, Reno, Nev., national commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said in a statement.

NOT ALL

Of course, not all those eligible will choose to be buried in a national cemetery. Most veterans are buried in private cemeteries that they or their survivors have chosen.

An official of the American Legion told a House subcommittee in June that the families of one out of four men killed in Viet Nam are choosing to have the remains interred in a national cemetery.

This is a much higher ratio than in the past.

The Army told the same committee that a 1961 study showed that fewer than 10 per cent of the persons being buried in national cemeteries were men killed on active duty, and their families. More than 90 per cent were veterans and their dependents.

HIGH COST

The estimated cost of expanding the present system so there would be at least one national cemetery in each state would exceed $2 billion for development, exclusive of the cost of land, the Army said.

For about a decade, the various administrations followed a policy formulated under the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration of opposing further expansion of the present system.

As each cemetery is filled, it is closed. Actually, this means that all gravesites in the cemetery are committed, for until 1962 a person could reserve a site next to the grave of a family member.

The policy now permits several members of a family to be buried on one site. With the prior reservations, thus, in closed cemeteries there still may be thousands of more burials for years to come.

85 CEMETERIES

The Army administers 85 national cemeteries; all of the gravesites in 24 of these are either reserved or occupied. The interior Department administers 13 national cemeteries which are of historical significance, and all of the gravesites in seven are committed. Sixty-seven cemeteries are open to new burials.

Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from Washington, is a special case.

Here are the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the burial place of many illustrious military leaders of this country, and the grave of President John F. Kennedy, along the thousands of others.

New available gravesites in Arlington will be depleted by the year 1965. But the cemetery has a special significance for this nation, and many studies now are being made as to what can be done about Arlington.

LACK LOCATIONS

There are no national cemeteries in New England, for instance, or near large cities such as Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit and Dallas, so that often the burial entitlement has turned, not on the veteran's status, but on the accident of geography.

Government spokesmen have said the fair and effective way for the government to participate in the burial of veterans is through the payment of cash burial allowances, rather than attempting to provide a government-operated cemetery system.

Most Veterans are eligible for a $250 burial allowance through the Veterans Administration. In

Drug Abuse Can Cause Kidney Ills

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — About 20 per cent of all cases of acute kidney failure studied at Georgetown University Hospital here were caused by toxic compounds.

The list includes phenacilin, which the U.S. Food and Drug Administration has placed under a warning label concerning prolonged or frequent use, although it is sold over the counter in aspirin combinations.

Men Like Car Accessories

Not so long ago it was accepted that the way to a man's heart was through his stomach, but now with frozen foods and pre-prepared gourmet meats this is no longer the route to take.

A man's preoccupation these days, especially if he is a young man, is with his car rather than his stomach. And the way to reach him is by way of his auto rather than his taste buds.

So this Christmas think of giving him a gift for his car, rather than for himself. It'll be your way of telling him that you're really with the "customizing" car kick.

"Customizing" means giving a car a personal touch, adapting it to one's own taste. It means status, it means being an individual.

It could be a shining Kandy Apply paint job, way-out embossed Woody gear-shift knob or an electric trunk and door opener to eliminate standard hardware.

And not incidentally a "customizing" gift means safer driving, too. Statistics show that a fellow with a customized car—drives as carefully as a gal with newly polished finger nails making sure she won't ruin their beauty.

It's time again at Groves High School to organize the group trips for students during the spring and summer vacations.

The trip that Groves are most aware of is the one to Spain this coming summer.

Groves students may travel to that country to stay for a period of 4 weeks at a cost of approximately $1,000, $50 for the airplane flight from here to New York City and back, $738 for the expenses from New York to Spain, expenses in the country, and the return trip, and suggested $300 in spending money.

Jacqueline Gryan, a Groves Spanish instructor, will take 10 to 20 students to study at the University of Santiago de Compostela. After four weeks of study in the northern part of Spain 10 days will be spent touring the country.

There was also a Spanish trip last summer when Mrs. Sandra Whitaker, another Spanish teacher, chaperoned 17 students. At that time the travelers attended the University of Salamanca.

Their weekend trips included excursions to Avia, ancient birthplace of Spain's patron saint, a 15th century monastery, El Escorial, the Roman aqueduct at Segovia, Little Versailles at La Granja and a bull-fight in Madrid.

After the course at Salamanca was finished, they toured the country before leaving for home.

Dominican Entertained by Seniors

By KATHIE DERYCKE
"He's everywhere, he's everywhere." Chickennan, the current radio serial character, visited Dominican Academy's senior talent show Wednesday.

The program, entitled, "This Is Us," was not an ordinary talent show. It attempted to show the different moods and abilities of young people today.

The 15-member class provided an afternoon's entertainment for faculty, visitors and the student body.

Among the characters portrayed were Chickennan, who was mistaken for a turkey on Thanksgiving, Jean Dixon, who foretold prophecies for a group of "buns," and Al Johnson, who sang his famous song, "Mammy."

Music reflected the versatility of teen-agers, as the seniors showed interest ranging from classical, to honky-tonk, to jazz, to folk music.

COUNTRY MUSIC
Country hills music was provided by Clifton Clowers and his Wolverline Mountain Boys.

Dancing, a vital activity in a teen's life, was also present. Dances covered cultures from primitive Africans to the modern Spanish sounds of the Ti-juanas Brass.

The religious aspect climaxed the program as the seniors progressed from slow religious songs to a rollicking version of "When the Saints Go Marching In."

"No Time for Sergeants" was shown to students at a special assembly, Monday.

Students at WBHS to Get Half-Day Off
By MARGIE MISANGYI
Thursday, West Bloomfield High School will have the continuation of the faculty's In-Service program in the afternoon, giving students a half-day free.

Problems of next year's ninth graders will be investigated.

Seniors at WBH will take Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SAT), on Dec. 4, at 8 a.m. trip to Acapulco during spring vacation but plans are not yet definite.

Another tour of last summer is being repeated this year with the same sponsor, Gayla Dilla of the counseling department.

This trip is to include much of Europe. Last year's participants started in England and traveled on to Holland, Germany, Austria, and Venice where they embarked on a two-week cruise to Corfu, Crete, Athens, Lebanon, Israel, Rhodes and Yugoslavia.

In Lebanon, the whole group donned the traditional robes of the country and tried their hand at camel riding. After that it was on to Rome, Florence, Switzerland, France, and back to London for the return flight to Michigan.

To many seniors, their last year in high school would not be complete without going on the annual senior trip to the East during Easter vacation.

The seniors in the past traveled to New York City by train then to Washington, D.C. A few revisions will take place this year.

Instead of traveling by train they will take buses due to the removal of dining cars on the trains and more time will be allowed in New York. All together the tour lasts 8 days and includes many historic landmarks.

The Ski Club at Pontiac Northern will ski Mondays and Wednesdays at Pine Knob.

Each homeroom participating received the name of a family. Students then donated money and canned goods to complete the basket.

Wednesday the annual senior-faculty basketball game was held. The faculty has only been defeated once in the history of Pontiac Northern.

Dennis Shields was chosen "Mr. Ugly Athlete" by the student body. Each penny collected was considered a vote and Dennis had the greatest number of votes.

The organization that sponsored Dennis, the Varsity Club, received the circulating trophy for its efforts.

COLLECT $11.84
Total monies collected, $11.84, went to the International Club.

The Future Teachers Club was reorganized this year under the direction of Ann Marcellie, faculty member.

The club is considering several projects including Christmas stockings for patients in the children's hospital, a tour of local colleges, and a car wash as a money making project.

RAYMOND SAARI

Defeated Township Treasurer Asks Promotion in Field

YPSILANTI (AP) — After Raymond Saari lost the election this month as Ypsilanti Township treasurer, he applied for the first treasurer's opening he could find.

Treasurer of the United States of America.

Why not? the 29-year-old Saari thought.

"One job is as good as another," he said.

SENDS TELEGRAM

Saari sent a $1.29 telegram to President Johnson, asking for appointment to the post recently vacated by Mrs. Kathryn Granahan. He noticed the job opening in a news story saying Mrs. Granahan was resigning because of poor health.

Compared with the Ypsilanti Township treasurer's job, he cent.

"It's just a bigger office. The accounting procedures would not be any different. The number of employees and amount of money would be greater."

After all, Saari figures he is qualified because of "quite a big job" he performs as township treasurer. "We collect over $5 million in taxes, plus special assessments, each year."

Saari adds that he runs an efficient office — "We always collect in our county the highest ratio of taxes — 98 to 99 per cent."

He's no stranger to Washington: "I've been on official visits for the township."

The eight-year Air Force veteran, former truck driver, former boxer and onetime school teacher says he's in excellent health and will "entertain any reasonable offer" from President Johnson.

"Money is really no object," said Saari who is paid $11,600 a year in Ypsilanti Township. "I've been rich and I've been poor and I don't see any difference between the two."

Saari, married, the father of a 1-year-old boy, is a Democrat who lost in Gov. George Romney's Republican election for-sweep.

He asked for a recount in his one-vote loss to Republican James Cooper, an accountant with General Motors Corp.

Saari bedges on which treasurer's job he would take if he was offered the U.S. position. "I would have to resign either one or the other."

Hawks, eagles and owls are not considered dangerous unless their nests are molested, according to the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

Death Toll at 83 in Bulgarian Airline Crash

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The yushin 12 turboprop at Bratislava, capital of Slovakia near the Czechoslovakia was believed to have crashed at the last stop before it went down Thursday night.

He said six of those killed may have been Westerners.

The Hungarian report conflicted with information given Thursday night by the Czechoslovak CTK news agency that an undetermined number of passengers had left the plane at Bratislava. The CTK report included a death toll lower than None of the names of the 76 passengers and eight crew members reported on the plane's list was released. Unconfirmed reports said the victim included an East German ambassador to East Germany, a Bulgarian opera singer, a Frenchman and a German.

The plane was en route from Sofia to East Berlin via Budapest and Prague. It made an unscheduled stop at Bratislava because of worsening weather.

Kurier, Vienna's largest-circulation daily newspaper, said the radio communications between the TABSO Airlines plane and the Bratislava airport tower functioned until the moment of the crash. Airport authorities kept the messages secret.

Barber to Retire After 44 Years

It's 'Stop the Tresses'

By LOIS MANDBERG
 The paper arrow points to Saturday on the calendar by the door. That's retirement day for Frank O'Brien, who cut his first customer's hair more than 44 years ago.

The barber blots out each passing day with a huge X, noting "the last two weeks are longer than the other 44 years."

But as his solid, capable hands deftly scissored the short hairs off the back of a customer's neck, O'Brien reminisced:

"I stopped in Pontiac on my way to a new job in Ann Arbor 41 years ago. While walking out from lunch, I stepped into a barber shop. The owner offered me a temporary job — and I'm still in town today."

O'Brien came to town with three years of barbering experience in South Dakota. He eventually opened his own shop in Saginaw and 23 years later, moved to his current location at 22 Telegraph.

DOORS TO CLOSE
 The four-chair shop, which opened 15 years ago, will close when O'Brien walks out of the door tomorrow afternoon.

The other two barbers in the shop have taken jobs elsewhere.

The shop owner, whose own brown hair is white at the temples, elaborated on men's hair trends during his cutting years.

"Increasingly shorter hair has been the trend over the past 20 years," he said.

ENGLISH STYLES
 "Most men with English or long-haired styles rarely come into a barber shop. They haven't really affected my business."

Wrapping a sheet around the next customer, a slim, young executive with short hair, the barber explained that all types, from student to the retiree, entered his shop.

"And they want all types of cuts. Most people don't ask for a cut by name. They'll tell me, 'the same, only a little shorter' or they'll point and say 'take through Ellis Island in the 19th off a little here and a little there,' he chuckled.

O'Brien described his own curly head as a "no-shave" cut. He thought of him into memories of the days when "people stopped in just for a shave."

"Men rarely do any more," he added. "I may get six shaving requests a month if I'm lucky."

After working on the young executive's hair, O'Brien placed the scissors back in the electric sterilizer, mentioning the machine was the most important invention since he had become a barber.

TO GO SOUTH
 Upon leaving the business, O'Brien and wife, Emma, plan to go south for several months. They'll then relax in their home at 9736 White Lake, White Lake Township.

Down the road live their two married daughters, Mrs. John Clark of 9450 White Lake and Mrs. Charles Brock of 9560 White Lake.

ANTICIPATION — Barber Frank O'Brien prepares for his retirement which starts tomorrow. A 44-year hair-cutting veteran, he looks forward to putting down his scissors.

The trousered look strays from the sports domain into the category of complete femininity, via the influence of rich and lustrous boulevard velvet, in these two hostess costumes by Peer Negligee.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Velvet Holiday Attire Invades Home Scene

Way down in her heart, every lady, even the most outwardly practical, delights in acquiring a luxurious kitten-soft velvet for the home, to wear before her cherished family, or when she plays the role of a gracious hostess. These velvets look rich and expensive, but American designers have produced them at tempting prices to fit every one's budget.

There's a fashion boom in velvets for formal wear that has spread over into the home scene with a phenomenal variety of styles that cater to every pampered female whim and fancy. Some come in very regal and romantic hostess gowns; others vary from sophisticated peignoirs to young-young pants suits and granny cages.

STYLE VARIETY

The new collections in Boulevard velvets have been created for every mode—the real mother, the siren, the great lady, the breezy young activator, or the easy-going loll-about. Whatever their fashion personality, each of these velvet beauties has the same intrinsic endearing charm of luxury-loving femininity.

Long hostess gowns that create an atmosphere of complete serenity are designed with softening touches of toga-draped necklines, oriental bandings of embroidered ribbon, or beaded yokes. One lovely flowing robe takes a cue from choir boy vestments with a cowl collar that dips in back into a looped tie.

Velvet pants stride into the at-home circle in fascinating variety, from exciting jump suits, knickers and jaunty pantaloons to formal hostess costumes of dramatic satin-sashed culottes. One of the most dramatic starts with a long velvet rajah coat that opens its button-studded front to reveal tapered trousers.

For those look-your-best occasions, attending the theater or a college tea, the velvet suit rates front-row honors with its flair for quiet elegance. Kay-Selig seizes off the luminous beauty of Boulevard velvet with distinctive styling touches in this three-piece suit of loop-buttoned jacket, easy-line camisole skirt and a lame over-b blouse.

Not His Mother

Blame Belongs to Mate

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about a mother-in-law who agrees with your husband (her son) that he should run around with other women when he goes on vacations alone?

We have been married for 18 years and until two years ago I knew nothing of his escapades. I always trusted him when he was away from me. My mother-in-law says, "He works hard and deserves to have a good time. Besides, what difference does it make to you that he sleeps with other women—you have enough to eat and are warm."

Formerly I loved my husband very much. Now, I'm not so sure. Her—I loathe. What is your advice?

THE JACKASS

DEAR JACKASS: (Sorry about that, Madame, but that's the way you signed yourself.) How did your mother-in-law get into the act? Your husband is the villain, yet he gets by with a tap on the wrist, while you unleash a storm of contempt on your mother-in-law for merely condoning this misconduct. Why?

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the girl whose boyfriend wouldn't kiss her because he was afraid of spreading germs reminded me of a poem I learned years ago:

To kiss a miss is not unlawful,
But to miss a kiss is simply awful.
Kissing spreads germs, it is so stated,
So kiss me, baby, I'm vaccinated.

Sincerely yours,

POET LAURIE YET

DEAR ABBY: My husband's cousin was recently married. We were unable to attend the wedding, so when they returned from their honeymoon I telephoned her and asked if we could call on them and give them their wedding gift in person.

She was very cool and simply said, "That won't be necessary." Since I had the gift anyway and wanted her to have it, I delivered the gift myself. I wasn't invited in but was left standing at the door.

The following day our gift was left on our doorstep with a note explaining that she had no use for it as she had received two of the same. She asked specifically that we not replace it with another gift.

I am absolutely bewildered. Do you think she was offended because we didn't attend her wedding? Or could she be miffed because the gift came late? If you were I, would you send her the cash and ask her to buy what she needs?

BEWILDERED

Dicksteins Are Dinner Hosts

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dickstein of Illinois Avenue entertained his parents, the Herman Dicksteins of Chippewa Road, for Thanksgiving dinner.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Dickstein and children, Sheri and Gary, of Oak Park and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winkelman and children Leon, Stephen, and Sara, of Beverly Hills.

Dr. and Mrs. David Baru of Ann Arbor were also guests.

DEAR BEWILDERED: If I were you, I wouldn't waste my energy trying to figure out WHY she was offended, miffed, or whatever. Her behavior was Inexcusable. I'd send her nothing.

DEAR ABBY: My wife just took a job as a "topless" waitress. She says she doesn't see anything wrong with it. Is there a restaurant or some night club that features "bottomless" waiters? I would like to get even with her.

NICK

CONFIDENTIAL TO "XYZ" IN LOCKPORT, N. Y.: One never "announces" a trial separation. The husband usually quietly moves out of the house. The less talking you both do to friends the better your chances for reconciliation.

The deep-pile richness of this velvet is the perfect foil for the beautiful simplicity of this strapless, mink-banded evening gown by Cameo. There is more interest at the back with draped panel that falls in fluid lines. Fabric is not perishable because it has a scientific finish to make it spot-and-crush resistant. Price about $170, line available locally.

Velvet is master of the art of making the at-home relaxing hours a time of sheer beauty. With its pampering, luxurious softness and radiance it creates the ideal atmosphere of peaceful feminine serenity and comfort. These two styles by Karam (left), the long, flowing velvet robe, flashed with a yoke of pearls and (right) the exotic leopard print jumpsuit in velvet with scoop neck and bell-bottom legs demonstrate the fabric's versatility.

Adoptive Parents Look for Adorable Bundle

By BEA SWORDS
Part III of A Series

In talking with people who have adopted children in recent years we got some down-to-earth comments.

A social worker told me with great humor and understanding, "Everyone is looking for Shirley Temple, the Gerber baby—it takes time to convince them that these kids are just ordinary kids."

"We can't guarantee satisfaction in looks. Kids change, tall to short, fat to slim, blue eyes to gray. There is no guarantee," he laughed. "Somehow you don't find people abandoning their natural children because they aren't the 'dream child.'"

A local woman who had adopted two children told me, "Well, there isn't any greater risk in raising someone else's child than in raising your own. You just tell them what they should know, you show them by example and the growing up—they have to do. Children become free agents after awhile. You just teach them and hope it takes."

One family had had a particularly disillusioning start with their adopted son. He had come from a very unhappy situation where he had lost first his mother and then finally was abandoned by his father.

It took his adopted parents some time to gain his confidence that no one was going to leave him again. At the moment, he is as happy and confident as any other seven-year-old boy.

It takes time. That is the important thing. You don't win the confidence of an older adopted child overnight, but when you do, it is a rewarding experience.

With the infants, it is an easier matter. They simply grow up always knowing your love for them. A very wise social worker told me, "Children don't remember being born. They don't really care about that. A mother is just a biological fact. Any woman who can bear a child can become a mother, but a mother is something more than that. 'A mother is someone who kisses, hurts, scolds and still loves whether a child is good or bad. Real mothers are the women who care for their child.'"

The young and precious party dresses this year take on richest airs when they are made up in special Boulevard velvet, the meaningful fabric that took top honors in the European collections. Slim-line velvet shift (left) layered with ruffles of white lace at neckline and cuffs, and the velvet party dress (right) enriched with black lace at the high neckline, cuffs and yoke are pictured above. Both styles by Gay Gibson and about $30. Line is available locally.

Superb flowing softness and complete femininity are expressed at their finest in this gracious hostess toga by Dorian Macsoud. The long gown ripples in gentle movement from gathered fullness at the draped toga neckline. The fabric is the newly developed "matte" velvet, endowed with a closely napped surface that eliminates sheen and makes bright colors glow with new clarity.

Husband Demands 'His Right to Privacy'

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I once knew a man who believed he loved his mother. He didn't. Nobody with the possible exception of saints could have loved her — and even they, I expect, would have had to do an awful lot of praying to manage the task.

For she was a woman who could no more resist trying to control you than a drug addict can resist the narcotic which gives him his momentary illusion of power. You couldn't sit in a room with her without her immediately attempting to rearrange your furniture for you.

If you changed the subject when she asked you who had just called you on the phone, her face and neck broke out in red spots of repressed fury.

So, when her son finally collected the gumption to marry, his wife couldn't ask him when he would be home for dinner. If he went out, the question "Are you going for cigarettes?" sent him into violent temper.

His privacy had been so meticulously invaded by his mother that he'd become slightly gaga on the subject of privacy. This poor man saw his prying, controlling mother in anyone who asked him any question about his personal arrangements — and felt compelled to board even the most unimportant information.

It is a sad condition which may contain some relevance for the reader who writes:

"My husband has a fit if I try to clean his 'office' — a room off our downstairs hall where he does work he brings home from his real office. Now our 18-year-old son has started calling me 'interfering' for cleaning his bedroom. "Yet neither he nor his father will do a thing about cleaning their rooms themselves. All I'm doing when I try to straighten up for them is to make their rooms more pleasant to be in."

But it's unstraigthened rooms that they find pleasant. So why not let them have them?

Look. It's not an untidy room your husband is demanding. It's his right to privacy. And his insistence on it has, I expect, very little to do with you. It has to do with another woman—the one he grew up with to whom he never dared say, "Mind your own business, Mother." That he can say it to you is a cause not far but for self-contradiction.

He's telling you that he regards you as capable of respecting his privacy. So you're one up on Mother. See it like that, and he'll gradually lose his fear that you're going to steal it from him, too.

Make a Raisin Cake With Pork Sausage

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor The day before Thanksgiving, Kate McLean telephoned in a most unusual holiday cake recipe. She wants us to give credit to the woman who gave her the recipe, Mrs. Paul Brewster.

For anyone who does not like much fruit in a cake, this is ideal, says Kate. And be assured, there is no taste of pork sausage when it is done.

SAUSAGE CAKE

By Mrs. Paul Brewster

- 1 pound bulk pork sausage, not highly seasoned
 - 1 pound raisins
 - 1 cup nutmeats
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 2 teaspoons nutmeg
 - 2 1/2 cups flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Mix sausage and sugar with water, then add raisins and nuts. Let cool. Add sifted dry ingredients. Pour into 10-inch greased tube pan. Bake 1 1/2 hours at 325 degrees. Makes one cake.

Ivory Is Delicate

Home economists recommend washing ivory-handled table silver in warm suds and rinses. Hot water may cause ivory to turn yellow.

Mrs. Brewster who is a newcomer to the Pontiac area likes to travel and to collect cups and saucers. She also enjoys needlework.

DEAR POLLY — I play Santa to 10 grandchildren each year. This year I plan to make new wardrobes for their many dolls. I am stumped over what can be done to the dolls' hair, advertised as wettable, comable and reusable. A doll hospital is too expensive and my beauty operator just threw up her hands. DEAR POLLY — When several boxes partially full of cereal are taking up needed cabinet space, I simply mix them together. The children enjoy eating them as usual with milk and sugar.

My kids labeled one drawer in the kitchen "Mom's Impossible Drawer." In it go rubber bands that come around the paper, trading stamps, old pins, screws, buttons, and so on.

They laugh at it but know that this is where we will find almost anything that has not been put in its proper place. These usually are small things that would get lost if left lying around.

I know this does not conform with the saying, "A place for everything and everything in its place," but I am a busy working mother and save many steps by not taking that one needle to the sewing box "right now." I keep small boxes and lids in the drawer and things are somewhat separated according to the type of "junk."

When I have a few spare minutes, I take the drawer out and go from room to room putting these things in their proper places. — BETTY

49ers Feast on Lion Meat Instead of Turkey

Detroit Growl Diminishes in 41-14 Lacing

Coast Team Thrashes Motor City Eleven in Every Respect

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
Whoever heard of anyone having Lion meat for Thanksgiving Day dinner?

Would you believe the San Francisco 49ers? Not only did the 49ers have a feast but they had Lion a-la-mode for desert at Tiger Stadium, going back to the coast with a 41-14 victory.

Yesterday's Lions' performance before 53,000 nation-wide TV viewers' eyes have awarded the Christians in the Coliseum.

They managed a couple grows early in the contest to take a 14-10 lead but after that, a mighty warrior by the name of Ken Willard made shambles of the once vaunted front line of defense.

Even the Lions' offensive line couldn't provide an adequate shield to protect their young leader Karl Sweetan.

The visitors rolled up 496 yards on offense to show why they are one of the best offensive teams in the NFL.

Defensive end Clark Miller, a 5-year veteran, and Jim Norton along with cohorts Charlie Krueger and Roland Lakes, two big tackles had Sweetan scrambling to all sides of the field.

It was difficult to conceive that this was the same team which played so well against Baltimore just four days before.

Even though the Lions intercepted five of John Brodie's passes their rushing yardage was an anemic 47 yards, 19 of which Sweetan picked up.

FAST LEAD
The 49ers took a 10-0 lead after a field goal by Tom Davis from 14 yards and a 27 yard return of a pass interception by linebacker Mike Dowdle.

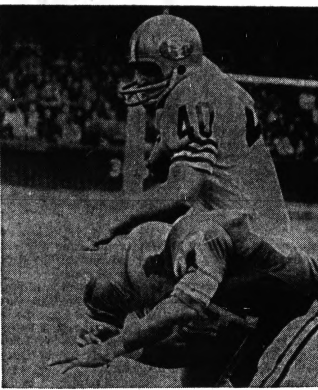

The Lions' strack back to make it 10-7 after the first period when John Robinson went 79 yards on a punt return.

Just before the quarter ended Sweetan led Ron Kramer with a beautiful 68 yard pass play to the Frisco exit. Another pass to Pat Studstill carried to the one and the quarter ended.

TOM NOWATZKE then went over and it was 14-10 for Detroit. After Davis' field goal made it 14-13, the Lions got a break when Wayne Walker intercepted a Brodie pass.

Sweetan, scrambling all over his backfield, got off a pass to Gail Cogdill to the Frisco but as in previous game the old seams, the penalty nullified the play and the ball was back on the Lions' 35, killing the drive and forcing a punt. The penalty was for an ineligible receiver downfield.

From their own 42, the 49ers marched the distance with Brodie hitting halfback Dave Koy (Continued Page C-3, Col. 4)

WORKHORSE—San Francisco 49ers' fullback Ken Willard grimes as he collides with Detroit Lions' defensive halfback Bobby Thompson in their game yesterday in Detroit. Willard started a 41-14 49er victory by ripping through the Lion defenders for 114 yards.

SPORTS

Whipping May Hurt Sweetan's Rookie Bid

The 41-14 thrashing of the Detroit Lions yesterday by the San Francisco 49ers may have ruined Karl Sweetan's chances for "Rookie of the Year" honors in the NFL this year.

The former Pontiac Arrow star who took over from Milt Plum six games ago was pushed into contention for the honor with several sparkling performances since the 27-24 loss a month ago in San Francisco.

Up to a couple weeks ago, the top contender for the honor has been Tommy Nobis of the Atlanta Falcons, the high priced linebucker from Texas.

It was pointed out by writers participating in the voting that Nobis went to the Falcons with a great reputation and doing a fine job as linebucker for the cellar team which has won one game this year.

However, Sweetan moved into the Lions' starting post without fanfare and his good college reputation and no great college performance convinced many that he had brought the Lions out of the doldrums offensively.

VOTING SOON

There are 45 votes cast from the 15 NFL cities, three with each team and the voting for the various honors takes place next week.

Unfortunately, Sweetan had his poorest game yesterday and his teammates offered little help with their poor performances.

With the help of Minnesota, Baltimore and Chicago writers against whom Sweetan had better days, there is still a possibility the young quarterback could gain the honor.

Playing with bruised ribs and slightly swelled hand, Sweetan was hit continuously by the red-dogging 49ers as he rushed his passes.

LIONS SHATTERED

Written on the chalk board in the dressing room yesterday were the lines: "Today's game is on National TV. All pros will be born and reputations will be shattered in today's game."

How true it turned out to be, unfortunately, for the Lions.

Boston Batters Red Wings

BOSTON (AP)—The hapless Detroit Red Wings, in the midst of one of their worst slumps in recent years, had little to be thankful for Thanksgiving Day.

The Boston Bruins, once the doormat of the National Hockey League, demolished the Wings 8-3 at Boston Garden.

In the only other NHL game, league-leading Chicago blanked Montreal 5-0.

The loss was the fifth in a row for Detroit and its eighth straight on the road this season. The Red Wings have been out-scored 28 to 9 in the losing streak.

Eight Boston players shared in the scoring. Only two skaters failed to collect either a goal or an assist.

GETS TWO
Norm Ullman scored two Detroit goals. Ted Hampson got the other.

Boston built up a 4-0 lead before Ullman's two tallies cut the gap briefly in the first period. But the Bruins scored two more times to roar out in front for keeps.

The ruthless Bruins peppered Detroit goalie Roger Crozier with 43 shots. The Wings collected 33 shots on Bruins' net.

Goalie Gerry Cheevers, but missed on several good opportunities.

The Black Hawks scored three times in the first ten minutes and coasted to victory over the 6th of his NHL career.

U.S., Canada in Ice Draw

Pair Battle to 4-4 Tie at St. Paul

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)— Canada's National hockey team struck from behind in the final period to gain a 4-4 tie with the U.S. Nationals Thursday night.

The United States led 4-3 going into the final period, but Marshall Johnson and Bill MacMillan connected for the Canadians to tie the score.

The United States had lost to the Canadians 4-3 earlier this month in Winnipeg, Man., ran up a 4-0 lead in the first period. Herb Brooks, Bill Masterton and Tom Huxley all beat goalie Ken Broderick in the first 20 minutes.

Canada got on the scoreboard early in the second period, on a goal by Jean Cusson. Dave Metzger got one back for Americans midway in the second. Ted Hargrave set the stage for Canada's comeback 15 seconds from the end of the period when he stole a long cornered shot past goalie Carl Wetzel.

Redlegs' Ace Captures NL's Rookie Honor

NEW YORK (AP)— Tommy Helms of the Cincinnati Reds, a shortstop in the minors, a second baseman in the spring and a third baseman in the summer, has been named National League Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

A 20-man committee, composed of two writers from each National League city, gave Helms 12 votes.

Sonny Jackson, Houston shortstop, was second with three votes, followed by Tito Fuentes, San Francisco shortstop, with two votes. The remaining votes were divided among Cleon Jones, New York Mets' center fielder; Randy Hundley, Chicago Cubs' catcher; and Larry Jaster, St. Louis pitcher. Each got one.

The Tech team, now with a 2-1 record this year, was 23-6-1 a year ago.

The Larries had a 15-8-1 mark last season.

FLYING EFFORT—Detroit Lions' halfback Bob Felts (45) tries to somersault over the San Francisco line early in the game yesterday at Tiger Stadium in Detroit and winds up in this position. Defensive back Mike Dowdle halted Felts for no gain. No. 45 is 49ers' Elbert Kimbrough. Lions' quarterback Karl Sweetan (14) is in background. San Francisco won, 41-14.

Navy Gridders Without 'Stars'

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)— "We've got to win this game," Don Downing, Navy's 230-pound linebucker and captain from Lorain, Ohio, said today. "We can't let another class graduate without a star on their football letters."

The little-publicized but highly-cherished emblem will be one of the main driving forces behind the Midshipmen Saturday in their 67th service battle against Army before a sellout crowd of 100,000, and a national television audience at Philadelphia (1:30 p.m. EST ABC-TV).

ATTACHED
The star is attached to the varsity letter of the player who has been a member of the team that whipped Army.

"The last class to be graduated without getting a star was the class of 1949," Downing recalled. "Every senior knows that unless we win Saturday we will be the next. It would be a memory hard to live with."

Boilermakers Big 10's Top Offensive Unit

CHICAGO (AP) — Rose Bowl-bound Purdue best on offense in the Big Ten. Champion Michigan State best on defense. That's how final statistics wound up Friday.

It was a season in which four single game and season records were broken and one single game mark tied.

They were: Single game—Most field goals three, Ohio State vs. Illinois Oct. 8; total offense yards — 407 Wednesday at the University of Michigan State and Notre Dame will debate the question: "Resolved: Our team is No. 1."

Three judges will be on hand to eliminate the possibility of a tie vote. The Irish and Spartan grid teams played to a 10-10 tie last Saturday.

Olympian Upset; Harrier Triumph for Kansas State

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Tarty Harrison of Colorado State upset Olympian Oscar Moore of Southern Illinois for the individual title and Kansas State's Big Eight champs took the team crown in the U.S. Track and Field Federation Cross Country Championships Thursday.

Harrison, who was 27th in the six-mile course at Echo Hills Golf course and won by more than 75 yards over Moore's 30:03.

A total of 76 runners finished the race. Houston was third with 71. Southern Illinois had 90. Brigham Young 116. Colorado State 122 and Kansas 139.

In the only other NBA game scheduled, Wilt Chamberlain scored 27 points, grabbed 31 rebounds and made seven assists in sparking the Eastern Division-leading Philadelphia 76ers to a 140-123 triumph over San Francisco, the West's No. 1 team.

Wally Jones and Billy Cunningham each tallied 20 points for Philadelphia and NBA scoring leader Rick Barry netted 36-27 in the first half — for San Francisco.

Central Wins Flint Classic

Senior Back Paces 13-7 Victory

Special To The Press
FLINT — Senior halfback Ed Andreck made the best of his first chance at a starting role with Flint Central.

The speedy Andreck, gaining a starting role when Earl Gladney was ruled ineligible, hauled in a pair of touchdown passes here yesterday to spark Central to a 13-7 victory over city rival Northern in their annual Thanksgiving Day game.

Andreck hauled in a 15-yard scoring pass from quarterback Tim Bograkov and snared a 36-yarder for the winning points in the fourth period. Bograkov kicked the PAT after the first TD.

Northern's William Wallace went 30 yards with a lateral in the opening period and John Cross kicked the point.

Who needs rear wheels?

The front wheels on the MG Sports Sedan do all the work. They pull. They steer. They cling to the road like cleats. They serve up fast, safe, disc-brake stops.

The front wheels are where the power is. MG's front wheel drive takes the Sports Sedan straight as a string to where you direct it.

The front wheels are where the weight is. MG's competition-proved engine is up forward where it ought to be, and where its poundage delivers extra traction, even on tricky surfaces.

True, the rear wheels help support the car. But it's the front wheels that tell them what to do—as part of MG's rugged Hydroelastic® (liquid) Suspension System. They actually telegraph news of road conditions to the rear wheels, so you stay on the level, no matter what.

What does it add up to? Simply this: no car is more roadworthy than the Sports Sedan. It holds steady and true, in spite of slick, snow, breeze and bumps. Most reassuring, whether you drive for the sport or for the family (of five).

Incidentally, the modest price includes all 5 wheels.

Hanoi Exodus Said Launched

300,000 Already Out
---Filipino Magazine

MANILA (UPI) — Hanoi has begun mass evacuation of its 650,000 residents in apparent anticipation of U.S. bombing attacks on the city, an anti-American magazine reported today.

Antonio S. Araneta Jr., assistant general manager of the Filipino magazine Graphic Weekly, reported that during a recent 10-day tour of North Viet Nam, he learned that 300,000 Hanoi residents already had been evacuated.

Araneta wrote that the North Vietnamese capital "looked a bit empty. In fact it was actually being evacuated."

"Out of a population of 600,000, nearly 300,000 had already been evacuated."

"I understand that they plan to evacuate more than 200,000 more before the end of this year, apparently in anticipation of eventual bombing by Americans."

RELICS RELOCATED

Araneta also reported that machines and workers from at least one factory had been relocated, and that priceless relics of Hanoi's revolutionary museum had been removed elsewhere.

The journalist said that he also toured Phua Village, about 18 miles from Hanoi, and was told that the community was attacked last Aug. 12 by U.S. planes which dropped two "gas bombs" and one "lazy dog bomb." The latter, he said, was apparently meant not to kill, but to maim.

The magazine article was accompanied by photographs of U.S. children, whom the captions identified as victims of American bombs.

Town to Have Lots of Cash in Year 2214

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)

In 248 years, if all goes well, New Bedford expects to have a $75 million fund to spend as it wishes.

The fund was established in October 1923 by 75 businessmen who subscribed $10 each. The $750 was deposited in Merchants National Bank, not to be touched until 291 years later—in 2214.

As of last month, the fund had risen to about $1,800, its rise slowed considerably by the drop in interest rates in the late '20s and '30s.

The businessmen provided that the city fathers can spend the money at their discretion—starting in 2214.

The fund idea came from Wayne C. Morse, then of Meriden, Conn. He believed that $750, at four per cent interest, compounded annually, would swell the fund to the $75 million.

An electric dryer puts sunshine in your laundry room and a bright spot in your bank book

An electric dryer dries clothes evenly, like the sun—only better because electric heat is gentler, more controllable than the sun. Colors don't fade. Clothes stay bright. So does your bank book. Here's why.

Model for model, an electric dryer costs about $20 less than a gas dryer. And if you buy now, this lower price includes installation. So you save more, right from the start.

You also save in the long run... because electric dryers cost nothing for electrical repairs or labor, thanks to Edison's no-charge service. Based on manufacturers' repair policy premiums, this repair service can save you up to $120 over a 5-year period.

And it doesn't matter where you buy your electric dryer, so long as you're an Edison customer. (This is the only no-charge dryer service offered by a utility company in this area.) Look into a modern electric dryer now at your appliance dealer's or Edison office.

Library Group to Pick Officers

Election of officers and presentations by foreign exchange students will highlight the annual meeting of the Waterford Township Friends of the Library at 8 p.m. Monday in the west dining room of Pierce Junior High School.

Officers to be elected for 1966-67 consist of a president, a vice president, a secretary, a treasurer and two board of trustees members.

Current president of the group, which has a membership of about 100 persons, is Mrs. Robert Elsie of 3528 Babybrook, Waterford Township.

Students slated to participate in the program are Sue Rose, Lars Irenius and Marja Bjelvelid. They will show slides and answer questions about foreign lands.

A senior at Waterford Kettering High School, Sue, 16, spent last summer as an exchange student in Chile. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rose of 2222 Pauline, Waterford Township.

A guest in the Rose home, Marja, 17, is from Bennebroek, the Netherlands. She, too, is a senior at Kettering.

From Stockholm, Sweden, Lars, 17, is a foreign exchange student at Waterford Township and John Lennon replied: "Just High School this year. A senior, he is the guest of the Charles Frick family, 3838 Covert, Waterford Township.

PILOT ON BOARD

The pilot boat approaches a freighter at sea to pick up a Sandy Hook Pilot.

Huge ships entering or leaving New York harbor are constantly in danger. Narrow channels, strong tidal currents, reefs and shoals must be contended with. Traffic comes from all directions. In an emergency there is frequently no time to make decisions.

Sandy Hook pilots, the men who guide the huge ships into and out of the harbor, are trained to take action instinctively.

How good are they? During the past five years they handled 123,000 ships with a rate of incident of only 89/1,000th of one percent—88 percent of these minor.

The Sandy Hook pilots are available 24 hours a day, every day and night of the year. They observe no holidays and charge no overtime pay.

Training, prior to receiving a full-fledged branch pilot's license and the right to guide ships in and out of the harbor, is rigorous and long. It lasts at least 15 years.

The first eight years are spent on pilot boats and riding ships with licensed pilots. They must work their way up from the lowest rank, called "spare boy," to motorboat operator. At the same time they must pass a number of examinations qualifying them for licenses in both boating and communications.

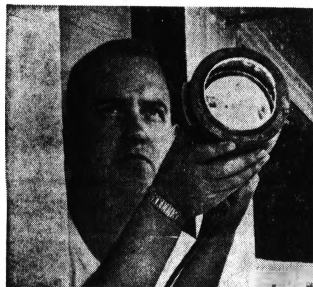

The next seven years are spent in "on the job" training, during which time the trainee learns how to handle ships, progressing from small to large ones.

Each year he is re-examined for renewal of his license until he finally qualifies for the position of full branch pilot and earns the right to take ships of all sizes into and out of the harbor.

Of Demand, Supply

Toys Caught in Squeeze

NEW YORK (AP) — Santa may have trouble filling his orders this Christmas.

Some toys are in short supply and some others will cost more.

The toymakers blame what they call drastic shortages of labor, raw materials and parts, and increases in the prices of plastic, vinyl, copper, steel, clothing — even doll wigs.

"We have orders for 17.5 million games and we'll be lucky to get out 16 million," said Robert B.M. Barton, president of Parker Brothers, Inc., Salem, Mass., which makes about 125 different games and kindergarten supplies.

SOLD OUT

Barton said the four already was sold out of his games.

"Labor is terribly tight in Salem and worse at our plant in Des Moines, Iowa," Barton said. "Supplies are tight. It is most difficult to get molds for plastic items, paper and board, little specialty items. They're all tight."

Jerome M. Fryer, president of U.S.A. Toys, Inc., said shipments were running late.

"But it isn't a critical thing," he said. "There will be some things people won't be able to get, but there will be plenty of toys generally."

$2.3 BILLION

Fryer estimated that the nation's toy sales, which ran $2.3 billion in 1965, would be up 7 per cent this year.

Fisher-Price Toys, Inc., East Aurora, N.Y., manufacturer of toys for preschool youngsters, estimates its sales are up 20 per cent.

It is out of three items, including a roly-poly chime ball. The little figures in the ball are handpainted in Hong Kong, and workers haven't been able to keep up with the demand.

Corgi said it couldn't take any more orders for its Batmobile. "The demand is far beyond what we expected," a spokesman said.

SOLD OUT

Lionel Toy Corp. is sold out of its Winnie the Pooh phonograph, but expects to be able to deliver most other items in time for Christmas. The problem is in small parts: a 22-cent piece for a train chassis, for instance.

Steff said it couldn't keep up with orders for its 89 sprawling pig.

Mattel, Inc., Hawthorne, Calif., is sold out of Cheerful Tearable, the little blonde doll who smiles or cries watery tears, a toy distributor reports.

Topper Toys of Elizabeth, N.J., has tripled its employee and had been working nights since September to meet demand, turning out 16,000 Baby Magics a day.

Baby Magic is the magnetized blonde who opens her eyes, drinks and cries when you wave the magic wand.

"Consumers are buying later but we'll have no problem meeting orders," said Ronald D. Saypol, executive vice president. "We expect to sell 1.25 million Baby Magics this year, and we'll deliver right up to the end of the year."

Unesda Doll Co. of New York City reports shipments are slower than usual across the board. One reason is labor problems; another, later orders. Sales are up 40 per cent from 1965.

Orders have come in so late there is trouble filling them, said Bob Sklarsky, vice president.

WILL DELIVER

"But I doubt little girls will be disappointed," Sklarsky said. "We'll manage to get them before Christmas."

J.C. Penney Co. which put heavy emphasis on toys in its Christmas catalog, expects holiday sales to be up 10 per cent.

"We are not overly concerned," a spokesman said. "Generally we should be able to take care of orders. But there may be isolated cases of shortages."

Shoppers who do find the toys their children want may find they cost more than a year ago. More increases are likely next year.

COST MORE

Fryer predicted they would be up substantially in 1967.

"I'd say 5 per cent or more would be in line generally," he said.

Fryer, president also of Gabriel Inc., which makes plastic toys and hobby kits, phonographs and electronic toys, said some of the items in his own line wouldn't be changed, and some might go up about 15 per cent.

Prices already has raised the price of its 38-inch walking doll, Wispie Walker, 7 1/2 per cent, but its Fee Wees are unchanged.

"Our costs are up across the board," Sklarsky said. "Labor, the minimum wage, union increases, plastics, corrugated boxes, textiles, doll hair, vinyl bodies, heads — just about everything has gone up."

He said he thought a 5 per cent increase next year was reasonable.

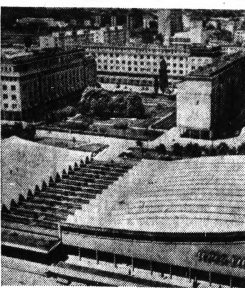

PRICE HIKE

Eldon Toys, Hawthorne, Calif., anticipates selective price increases of 5 to 7 per cent next year, Robert Silverstein, president, said.

Topper also expects some price increases next year, following a small increase on its Johnny Eagle rifles this year.

THEN AND NOW—When the Nazis scurried from Warsaw, they left a smoldering ruin. At left is a view of Castle Square in 1945.

Today, Warsaw is a modern city. In the foreground (right) is a supermarket. Behind it is a college dormitory.

Warsaw: Miracle of Rebirth

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WARSAW, Poland — Every Sunday Warsaw is invaded by the red-necked Poles who arrive from the provinces to gaze at the miracle of reconstruction here.

Starting early in the morning the buses roll in, loaded with fishermen from Gdynia and Odessa, coal miners from Katowice, or with peasants from the central plain. These simple folk stare at the palaces and churches, the statues of Copernicus and Chopin, and they go away convinced that the monuments they have seen are centuries old.

Yet almost nothing in Warsaw dates back further than 1944. The Old City section of Warsaw, for example, has all been reconstructed in the past 20 years, but with such loving attention to detail that it looks exactly as it did before the war. The result is instant history.

The Polish people have a terrible need to believe in their past, in their history, and ultimately — in themselves, so deeply has their confidence been shaken by the war and the German occupation.

Hilder boasted, "I shall make Warsaw a long-forgotten name on ancient maps." And he almost succeeded, for the retreating Nazis destroyed 85 per cent of the buildings. They blew up all the bridges across the Vistula River, dynamited sewers, electric cables, water mains. They even uprooted trees in the parks and burned them.

DEBATE MOVE

When it came to rebuilding Warsaw after the Nazis had been chased out, it was debated whether to move the city's site a few miles down the river, or to rebuild on rubble with the rotting corpses of 200,000 dead underneath.

"It was a moral decision real," explains Czeslaw Kotela, the city architect. "In opting to rebuild Warsaw on the same site, we were serving notice that Poland cannot be destroyed despite the German efforts to wipe out our history and our culture."

"Our first task was to patch up the few damaged buildings that were still standing in order to shelter those who had drifted back to the city," Kotela recalls. "Some 300,000 people returned to Warsaw within one month after the liberation. There was no water, no electricity and most of these people squatted in the ruins."

As the city arose from the ashes, the city planners could turn their attention to reconstructing the historic buildings and monuments, in particular, the Old City with its famous medieval marketplace.

Here they were in luck. By some miracle a series of paintings which the Italian painter Canaletto had made of Warsaw in the 18th century had been hidden from the Germans. Impressions of pride and interest."

These paintings as a guide, the architects began work on the Old City.

SKILLS TAXED

"It taxed our skill, because the Old City is a mixture of gothic, baroque and Renaissance styles, and we had to copy these in minute detail," says the city architect. "Our masons had to learn how to make the plaster cherubs that decorated many of the old houses."

Today the only major historic building that has not been rebuilt is the Royal Palace, which was partly destroyed by bombs in 1939, later finished off by dynamite.

"We have drawings for the entire Royal Palace, including the interiors, but we are waiting for the money," says Kotela. Estimated cost: $8 million.

It has been worth it, the enormous expense and labor of rebuilding Warsaw to look as though it had a 700-year past? "You have seen for yourself the faces of the people from the provinces who come to inspect the rebuilt city," Kotela suggests. "You have seen their expressions of pride and interest."

Insects Imported to Fight Plant Pests

By Science Service

CANBERRA, Australia—three insect parasites are being imported to attack lantana, the most serious weed pest in the New South Wales and Queensland coastal areas.

Two are leaf-mining parasites and the third is a stem and root borer.

The director of the Federal Government's Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization's division of entomology, Dr. D. F. Waterhouse, said that some of 'types of insects now being imported will be most effective in the U.S. Department of Agriculture on a large number of economic plants to ensure that the parasites would not attack lantana.

Results will not be known for Queensland, but they may also be two or three years, when stocks be tried in northern New South Wales. Tests were done in Hawaii by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on a large number of economic plants to ensure that the parasites would not attack lantana.

Other species which had previously been imported to destroy them were attacked by native girardi, ootoloma scabripennis, and parasites and were unable and phagiotomus spinipennis. Tests in high rainfall areas in Hawaii have suggested that the retired U. S. servicemen.

His only hope is to get them to abandon the club suit. East produces the ace of clubs and South makes the brilliant, deceptive play of the king. If he just drops the ten East will know that South holds but one other club and will continue the suit. When South drops the king East is likely to decide that South's other club is the queen and that South has two club stoppers.

Let's see how East thinks after South does drop the king. He analyzed a fourth best lead. His Review of the bidding shows that West can only hold two or three high card points and that they almost surely will be in spades. He counts enough potential tricks to defeat the contract with a spade shift and leads a spade.

South puts on the king and leads a diamond. In spite of the fact that West played the three of spades on the first spade lead East is likely to try another spade and South makes his contract. East could still have beaten Justice Emil Ewald of Menominee ordered Slick jailed without bond pending a Dec. 2 examination.

The body of Walter T. Wojcik, 30, of Harris Township was found near his farm near here.

Slick was arrested Wednesday by State Police in Ypsilanti and returned to Menominee.

Accountants Agree on Tax Reform Need

EAST LANSING (AP) — About 255 independent Michigan accountants, attending a tax clinic, agree that the Legislature must reform Michigan's tax structure next year.

Their resolution, adopted Wednesday, said surplus funds in the State Treasury soon will be done and called for new sources of income, "with all citizens sharing their just portion of the costs."

They opposed "any form of deficit financing for government services."

The accountants urged the 1967 Legislature to provide revenues needed for a growing state and to eliminate any inequities existing in present tax laws.

Conference Set on Fiscal Reform for State Schools

DETROIT (AP) — A state-wide conference to study fiscal reform for Michigan's public schools will be held at Detroit's Cobo Hall Dec. 14.

The meeting is designed to eliminate annual financial problems and assure adequate support and fair distribution of tax money.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Detroit Council of Parent Teachers Associations (PTA).

"We intend to keep our promise to the people of Detroit and to the State Legislature to take the panic out of school financing," said Mrs. Jane Tate, president of the Detroit PTA Council. But she added the meeting would consider fiscal reform for all Michigan schools.

Grownups Learn to Read

It's Never Too Late...

By PAT McCARTY

Most of the people this story is about will not be reading this. But they will be able to look at the pictures.

They have gone through 18 to 50 years "looking at the pictures" of life and stumbling over or ignoring the written words they cannot comprehend.

Inability to read is not the only academic frustration these people have experienced — they also have trouble with writing and arithmetic and the knowledge built on these skills.

Their difficulties in these areas have only multiplied the effect of hard times on their lives.

MOTIVATION

However, they now are working to narrow the gap between themselves and you who are reading this.

Providing the central motivation for the 10 students enrolled in a basic education course at the Hayes Jones Community Center is their desire to get better jobs.

The class is one of 15 operated by the Pontiac School System. Under the program, 180 persons are attempting to bring their reading, writing, speech and arithmetic skills up to society's norm.

Eight of the nine women in the class are receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) checks for support of their families. The one man is collecting Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADC-U).

BABY-SITTING ALLOWANCE

To permit them to spend three hours of every weekday morning in class, the State Department of Social Services gives the ADC recipients a baby-sitting allowance.

Established under provisions of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the program is designed to bring students up to an eighth grade achievement level in basic skills.

Once they have reached that level, participants can go on to high school evening courses or special training programs.

Most of the women in the course have their sights set on food services, wanting to work as waitresses, cooks' helpers or in related areas.

BETTER JOBS

Although there have been no "graduates" since the course was started in the fall of 1965, two or three have quit to accept jobs better than those they left.

Because enrollments are accepted anytime, class size has changed during the year.

Makeup of the group also is varied. Some of the participants had completed eighth grade prior to taking the course but are not proficient in all subjects at that level.

For others, leaving second grade is but a dim memory from their past.

OTHER BENEFITS

Besides acquiring skills to build their job potential, students receive other benefits.

"My daughter thinks it's a good idea," said Mrs. Pauline Reynolds, 525 Whittemore, proudly. "She's always asking me to help her with her homework and she's in the ninth grade."

Another reported she finally was able to help her daughter pass seventh grade mathematics.

For Vernon Cockerham, 728 Cortwright, the course represents an opportunity to overcome the disability which has held him back on previous jobs.

HAS TO LEARN

"To get a job and hold it, I have to learn to read and write," he said.

The course is taught by Mrs. Comma Berryhill of Detroit, who has a similar class in Oak Park in the afternoons.

"We stress arithmetic and English," she said. "I bring in other subjects myself to kind of break the monotony."

Teaching adults to read is not the same as working with children.

SPECIAL WORKBOOKS

Special workbooks have been published to guide adults in acquiring the skill without subjecting them to childish stories.

The lessons, though simple, refer to home and family life through the eyes of a parent and spouse.

An example: "She and I make plans to get together."

"We save some money from each payday."

"I put our money in the bank."

The students also are treated like adults in class. They are allowed to smoke during the sessions and all contribute to a kitty to provide coffee for breaks.

Instruction in the class is highly individualized since the students perform on about four levels in any given subject.

Mrs. Berryhill, who has taught at both the elementary and secondary level of public school, notes that adults learn more slowly than children and that they have to be really dedicated to return to schooling.

Her students at the Hayes Jones Center have from two to five children each and a multitude of problems to keep them distracted.

"They have so much on their minds," Mrs. Berryhill said.

"They have to worry about money running short, how they're going to get by until the next check comes and their problems with kids."

"It's amazing that they do as well as they do."

TALKING TIME—As the teacher for one of Pontiac School System's basic education courses for adults, Mrs. Comma Berryhill stresses English and arithmetic but realizes the value of give-and-take discussion sessions. Seated beside Mrs. Berryhill as she presents a point to be pondered is student Vernon Cockerham, 728 Cortwright.

BREAK TIME — Getting a mid-morning boost via the community coffee maker are Mrs. Betty Tyler (left), 199 Willard, and Mrs. Silvia Garland, 286 Harrison. Coffee breaks and chats about students' home lives lead informality to their class at the Hayes Jones Community Center and help to "make them feel like they are somebody," according to teacher Mrs. Comma Berryhill.

SELF-EVALUATION — Mrs. Pauline Reynolds, 525 Whittemore, keeps a close check on her progress in arithmetic by comparing her answers to those in a master workbook. Besides spelling, basic education students claim they're most frustrated by fractions. Nevertheless, class members have tallied a remarkable attendance record, considering all the family problems that could keep them at home.

WORLD OPENS UP — With more than a little satisfaction, Mrs. Lila White of 4061 Cass-Elizabeth, Waterford Township, runs through a lesson in a reading skill builder book. At 51, Mrs. White is the senior member of the class. She hopes the basic education course will be a stepping-stone to a tailoring class. The advanced class would increase her potential as a seamstress doing work in her home.

Map Shows Boundaries For The Five Zip Code Areas In Pontiac

Mail Flow Smooth, but Warning Given

Increased use of Zip Codes and the hiring of temporary Christmas employees are helping to keep the Pontiac Post Office on top of the mail flow, according to Clarence Smith, Pontiac superintendent of mails.

But residents must still send Christmas mail as early as possible and Zip Code everything to help prevent the mail stream from clogging up, Smith warns.

Postal authorities say Zip Coding insures a faster, more efficient delivery by eliminating excessive reworkings of mail.

The combination of the five Zip Code digits enables any mail sorter in the U.S. to throw a letter into a bag which can be sent directly to a local post office.

Pontiac Zip Codes are 48053 to 48058 and 8. Zip Codes for other areas are Bloomfield Hills 48013, Birmingham 48008 to 13, Troy 48064, Rochester 48063, Lake Orion 48035, and Clarkston 48016.

OTHER NUMBERS
Also Davisburg 48019, Waterford 48096, Drayton Plains 48020, Milford 48042, Union Lake 48085, and Orchard Lake and Keego Harbor 48033.

Zip-a-Lists, sent to every resident during Zip Code Week last month, are trickling into the post office at the rate of 25 to 30 a day.

The lists of addresses on the cards are being Zip-Coded by postal clerks and returned to senders as quickly as possible, Smith said.

More Zip-a-Lists are available at the post office.

BUSINESS MAIL
Eighty per cent of all mail is generated by business, according to postal authorities. By January 1967, all second-class mail, controlled circulation and bulk-rate third-class mail — primarily circulars and magazines — must be Zip-Coded, according to a recent post office edict.

National postal authorities say the department expects to save about $60 million annually thanks to Zip-Code. The current national postal budget is $4.8 billion.

Thirteen temporary clerks and 20 mail carriers have been hired at the Pontiac Post Office to help during the Christmas season. The clerks are also helping with the Zip-a-Lists. Approximately 17 more clerks still are needed.

Smith reminds postal patrons that all Christmas parcels going by air mail to Viet Nam or other overseas military areas should be mailed by Dec. 10.

DEADLINE HERE
Packages going by surface means should already be in the mail if the senders want them to arrive at their destination by Christmas.

All first-class mail, personal sound recordings and parcels weighing five pounds or less and measuring not more than 36 inches in length and girth combined will be airfreighted on a space-available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas, according to a recent postal edict.

These articles must be mailed no later than Dec. 1 as they will be moved by surface transportation within the country to the point of embarkation.

Poisoning of Water Probed in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police are pressing an investigation into the mysterious poisoning earlier this week of the water supply in a fashionable residential section of Caracas inhabited by many diplomats and wealthy Venezuelans.

There were no casualties in the poison scare, which sprang up Tuesday when residents detected a strong odor of insecticide coming from their water taps.

Residents of the area usually drink mineral water or boil tap water, police said. The area's water supply is independent of city mains.

Laboratory technicians identified toxic matter in the water as "clordano," a chlorine-based substance used in insecticides, and said it could be fatal if consumed pure, but probably would produce only a skin rash if taken in diluted form. Earlier reports had identified the agent as "folcidol."

School Budget Row to Force Borrowing

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—School Superintendent Claude Farley says the Pike County School Board will have to borrow money at the end of December to continue operating unless a budget dispute with four magistrates is settled.

The magistrates have been in jail since Oct. 25 for refusing to approve the board's budget, which calls for a tax increase. The board says the tax boost amounts to about 10 per cent, but the magistrates contend it would raise taxes 20 per cent. State law limits the hike to 10 per cent.

Farley said Thursday that under state regulations, the school board can borrow up to 75 per cent of its budget. He said the board would continue to borrow money, if necessary, as long as the state would permit it.

DANGER OVER

"The danger is over," an official said. "It wasn't done to kill anybody. Whoever did it wanted to spread alarm and consternation."

Police declined to comment on the investigation but informed sources said both criminal and political units were involved in the probe. The Health Ministry has termed the poisoning deliberate.

Officials reported earlier they believed the poisoning was the work of the Armed Forces of National Liberation, a terrorist and guerrilla organization backed by Cuban Communists.

There has been an upsurge of Communist-backed terrorism around the Venezuelan capital in the past two weeks.

Police also were reported checking out a juvenile band which has been blamed in the past for thrill-killing of pedicreed dogs and vandals.

Art Lovers Coming to Aid of Florence

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—In an spontaneous outpouring of affection for this flood-ravaged city of Renaissance treasures, art lovers around the world have rallied to help Florence heal its wounds.

The cause has linked bankers and beatniks, connoisseurs and common laborers, the famous and the unknown of at least 30 lands.

Three weeks after floodwaters ruined some of Western culture's most precious relics, these art lovers have set in motion a far more friendly flood-pouring into Florence millions of dollars in cash and supplies, thousands of hours of volunteer labor and the knowledge of scores of art experts.

Much of the assistance has gone to save the poor, homeless and sick of this city of 450,000, as well as to salvage its art.

ENORMOUS JOB

The job of restoration is enormous. Dr. Ugo Proccacci, superintendent of Florence galleries, has estimated it will take more than $30 million and at least 20 years. Experts have listed damage to 1,300 painted masterpieces and several million books and ancient manuscripts.

But the response so far has been impressive. From Italy have come cash gifts to a government relief fund totaling more than $1.9 million. Money gifts from other countries are expected to reach several million dollars.

Dozens of aid committees have been hastily organized. Mrs. John F. Kennedy is honorary president of the New York-based Committee to Rescue Italian Art, which hopes to obtain $2.5 million for emergency "first aid" restoration. Other honorary officers include Claire Boothe Luce, former ambassador to Italy; and David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

RESCUE OPERATIONS

The State Department in Washington said that following the Nov. 4 floods across northern and central Italy, U.S. forces in Italy flew 800 hours of helicopter rescue operations. They also airlifted a German water filtration plant and 24 Dutch water-tank trucks and disinfectants.

The department said Americans delivered 18,600 C rations, 1,500 cans of evaporated milk, 2,600 blankets, quantities of diesel fuel, 150,000 vitamin C tablets and other medicines and supplies.

The Agency for International Development allocated $100,000 for emergency needs and the U.S. forces provided free use of generators, pumps, earth-moving vehicles and other equipment.

The State Department said the overall amount of financial assistance from American governmental and private sources already has been put by some Arts, flew in Italy to inspect re-

ABSORBENT PAPER

To help blot moisture from delicate canvases, the Japanese government has promised 4,000 sheets of absorbent rice paper. The Soviet Union and Canada have offered expert help.

Actor Richard Burton narrated a 45-minute documentary film by Italian director Franco Zeffirelli, to be shown in other countries to raise funds.

"Now Florence needs the help of all," Burton said. "To just say thanks to Florence is too little for all this city has given us."

College students and beatniks living in Florence, including many Americans, have spent long hours in foul-smelling cellars, groping in hip-deep filth for fragments of art.

Art experts have flown in from Europe, the United States and Israel. Nineteen specialists, led by Lawrence J. Majewski, associate professor at New York

Rights Budget Increase Eyed

State Director Cites Backlogging of Cases

DETROIT (UPI)—The executive director of the State Civil Rights Commission, Burton I. Gordin, said yesterday the commission will seek "a substantial increase" in its 1967-68 budget.

Gordin says the additional funds are needed to hire eight more investigators because the commission has nearly 800 cases backlogged.

"At present, it takes us up to six months to settle disputes," Gordin said. "This has created a crisis in the number of cases on the agenda."

The commission's current budget is $943,000.

Gordin would not say how much of an increase he would request. "We want to talk this over with the Budget Bureau and Gov. Romney first," he said.

TOTAL COMPLAINTS

Gordin said when the commission was formed three years ago, it had about 200 civil rights complaints a year. But there are now almost 1,500 annually.

"In this business, we can't afford the delays in settlements, because often a man's job or a home he wants to buy is at stake. He should not be required to wait six months to get a decision," Gordin said.

The 600 cases now being worked on concern housing, employment, law enforcement, education, public accommodations and complaints of discrimination against the aged.

The commission has an authorized staff strength of 94, but only 83 persons are now employed.

It took 14 years to build the Brooklyn Bridge.

Gamblers, Officials to Go Before U.S. Jury in Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Nevada gamblers and state gaming agency officials are expected to testify in a federal grand jury investigation beginning today into alleged casino rackets in the nation's gambling capital. The grand jury is to hear information from an Internal Revenue Service investigation of claims that gamblers "skim" profits from the tops of their multimillion-dollar casino tills and hide them from tax men.

The state officials will be among the first to testify. But indications are that they will not appear until Monday. Names of the state officials and gamblers summoned to the hearing were not revealed.

The initial purpose of the grand jury will be to determine if casinos have reported their full income," said U.S. Atty. Joseph Ward.

UNDERWORLD FUNDS

The FBI has claimed that money from "skimming" is funneled into the underworld of Chicago, Cleveland and Miami. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has said Nevada's legalized gambling "occupies a position of major importance in the scheme of organized crime and racketeering."

Ward said the investigation at the start would not involve allegations of underworld connections.

Officials refused to speculate on whether any FBI evidence might be tainted because it was admittedly gathered by electronic eavesdropping in at least one casino on the Las Vegas strip.

The IRS was expected to claim it was unaware of the FBI eavesdropping and that its tax information was not gathered through "bugging."

HEARING HELD

Nevada's Gaming Control Board and parent Gaming Commission held closed-door hearings into the FBI claims in August.

Justice and Treasury Department officials refused to testify. But the state interviewed 40 gamblers under oath.

Gaming Board Chairman Edward A. Olsen said the hearing uncovered no evidence of substantial rate offs or of any underworld connections.

Whether the grand jury will investigate, the FBI claims is expected to be determined by the information obtained in its probe of what Ward called "the tax aspects of casino operations."

JURY TO DECIDE

The grand jury will decide the length and scope of its investigation, Ward said.

Gov. Grant Sawyer promised that the state would aid the federal investigation.

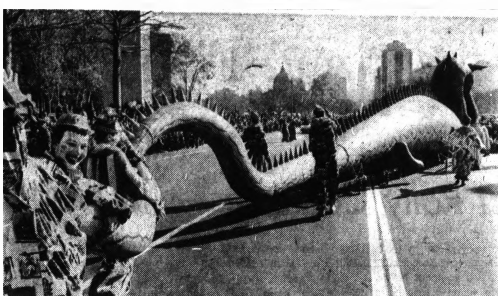

Under Olsen's direction, undercover agents from the state gambled at the tables posing as tourists — and counted the casino profits made from all gamblers at each table.

Olsen said the agents counted a cash drop of $1,326.424.

DIFFERENT COUNT

"This contrasted with a drop of $1,302,196 reported — by the casinos — on the same tables, for a deficit of $24,228 or 1.8 per cent," Olsen said.

The limited scope of the sampling, coupled with the leeway for human error in these undercover tallies, could well account for this minimal discrepancy," he said.

TAIL IS DRAGON—A grinning clown helps support the tail of a dragon-shaped balloon weaving down Philadelphia's Benjamin Franklin Parkway in the city's 47th annual Thanksgiving Day parade yesterday. Crowds estimated by police at more than one million lined the parade route to see the 100-foot-long "reluctant dragon" and 40 other balloon floats, along with 5,000 marchers.

Lots of Clowning Around

Parody of 'Hamlet' Premieres

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK—Those strolling players who do a bit in "Hamlet" get a show all their own in "Those That Play the Clowns," which premiered Thursday night at Broadway's ANTA Theater.

In the affair, which was conceived by Michael Stewart and which stars Alfred Drake and Joan Greenwood, there's a good deal of striving for breezy period comedy, but the results are more strenuous than merry, a half-speed merry-go-round.

Drake does the blistering, charming rascalship with tight, breeches, boots, goater and limp style that has been his forte since he ran into Shakespeare.

with-music in "Kiss Me Kate" and pins with some of the Bar's lines.

This time there is no Cole Porter attempt to sustain the jest. The play starts as Miss Greenwood, a hollow-eyed stage has-been in a dusty reefer robe, and her tattered trio of male aides arrive at a wayward inn in Denmark way. After a few swagging romps with the inmates, they are summoned to Elsinore by the melancholy prince.

CRIBBING, PUNNING

This opens opportunity for a hilarious lampoon of the famous play within-a-play bit about catching the conscience of the some soldiers arrive to arrest them — there's a murky bit of business — and the stage is set for a third act intended as wildly racing farce, but which limps rather badly under Robin Midgley's direction.

MEMBERS OF CAST

Beside the stellar twosome, the large cast includes Edward Franz as the autumnal Romeo; Grayson Hall, as Inkeeper and Queen; and Edgar Steinhil and Thayer David, the miming companions of Miss Greenwood and Drake.

The settings by Michael An-nals are aptly atmospheric with an upper level that converts variously into a castle arena and a high road upon which the hopefully merry-band makes final exit in a cart.

"Those That Play the Clowns" before that, however, trudges more than it frolics.

What other press critics said: Walter Kerr, New York Times: "... Playwright Michael Stewart has apparently set out to discredit Hamlet, the players, serious drama, vaudeville, dialogue writing, Tuluhan Bankhead and Mack Sennett, more or less in that order."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "... In 'Those That Play the Clowns,' ... (Michael Stewart) has written an imaginative comedy ... that is often farcically entertaining, although it emerges as a somewhat attenuated and belabored sort of romp. ... 'Those That Play the Clowns' is a fresh conception that might have been aided by a score."

30 Jailed in Rock 'n' Roll Melee

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) —

Police arrested about 30 persons at the Municipal Auditorium Thanksgiving night after a disturbance — first termed a riot — broke out at a rock 'n' roll dance. One officer held a broken band, one was cut on the wrist and a third cut on the chin.

Three persons fired blank pistols in the auditorium, McMeachin said.

The auditorium was not damaged, he said.

McMeachin said those arrested were charged with one or more of four counts — drunk, disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and creating a public disturbance. He said some were freed after posting bond.

"Then they started throwing bottles. We stopped the dance and emptied the building because of the danger of flying panions of Miss Greenwood and Drake."

JAMAICA, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Ann Herst got an electric bill that shocked her. It was for one month's electricity at $1,493.19 — compared to her normal bill of $14.93.

She got a little excited until her son explained that a computer at the Consolidated Edison Company probably had made a mistake. He was right.

ERRONEOUS AUTOPSY SKETCH — This diagram is a portion of Exhibit 397 in the report of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. A former Navy doctor, Cmdr. J. Thornton Boswell, has admitted he made a mistake in the hasty autopsy sketch, possibly causing critics of the report to suggest there may have been a second assassin. He said the lower bullet wound was at the base of the neck, not as indicated in the diagram.

For Poverty Unit

NAACP Picks Delegate

George H. Wilhelm, who resigned last May from a key position in the county anti-poverty unit, today was named by the Oakland County NAACP branch as its representative on the commission that shapes war on poverty policy.

In a letter to the County Commission on Economic Opportunity, Charles M. Tucker Jr., NAACP branch president, specified the organization's selection of Wilhelm as its representative.

The letter, directed to commission chairman Carl F. Ingraham, asks that Wilhelm's name be submitted to the commission's nominating committee and to the full commission for approval.

Tucker had been the NAACP representative on the 55-member commission but was resigned from the post three months ago due to policy disagreement.

"I left simply because I disagreed with the commission's policies and procedures," Tucker explained after submitting his resignation.

RENEWAL OFFICIAL

Wilhelm, 40, of 2654 Penna. West Bloomfield Township, is now director of urban renewal for the Village of Rochester.

Last Jan. 14 he resigned as assistant director of Pontiac's urban renewal program to become director of the South Oakland Community Action Center for the war on poverty.

His resignation four months later was the result of policy disagreement, according to Wilhelm.

A University of Detroit civil engineering graduate, Wilhelm feels that his extensive urban renewal background and war on poverty experience will be beneficial to him as a commission member.

"I am concerned with program development, not personalities involved in the anti-poverty campaign," Wilhelm said.

Second Auto Is Sought in Biker's Death

West Bloomfield Township police are looking for a second car involved in an accident Wednesday in which a 13-year-old Keego Harbor boy was killed while riding his bike on Orchard Lake just north of Maple.

Police said Sammie L. Jenkins, 3031 Portman, made a U-turn into the path of a car driven by Hanna Berger, 5365 Centerbrook, West Bloomfield Township about 5:30 p.m.

They said a second car, described as a late-model, dark-colored car, struck the boy but left the scene after stopping briefly.

The driver did not get out of his car, they said.

An autopsy yesterday failed to determine which car was actually the cause of the death.

Witnesses told police it was impossible to see the boy as he was wearing dark clothes and riding without a light on his motorcycle.

Canada Irked on Peking Bar

May Recognize China if U.N. Attempt Fails

OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—Prime Minister Lester Pearson has made it clear that Canada is impatient about continued isolation of Communist China and may recognize the Peking regime if it is not seated in the United Nations.

In a foreign policy debate in the House of Commons Thursday, Pearson said that if the seating of mainland China at the U.N. "is impossible at present and we make no progress on this score, then we have to consider the other form of recognition by approaching the government concerned to see whether, bilaterally, recognition can be brought about."

But he added that it might not be a question of Canada recognizing Red China — it might be a question of Peking recognizing Canada.

Pearson said his government had "no illusions that Peking's policy has suddenly changed" or that she had suddenly become "eligible for membership in the U.N. as a peace-loving nation which is likely to observe the peace-keeping principles of the charter."

The question was, he said, "to see that a suitable basis can be found in that world assembly so that a government which represents 700 million people in this world can become a member of that organization."

Adults Asked to Aid Child Book Group

Adult leadership now is being sought to organize the Junior Great Books Program on a countywide basis.

Persons interested in becoming discussion leaders have until tomorrow to register for a tuition-free training course.

Enrollments are being taken by Great Books Program coordinator Mrs. James Worley of 18200 Buckingham, Beverly Hills.

Tomorrow also is the registration deadline for schools to indicate they want to participate in the program.

The training course for adult leaders will begin in January, with eight two-hour sessions scheduled.

Classes will be held in Birmingham, Southfield, Ferndale and Royal Oak.

More than 800 children in Oakland County now are participating in the 65 extracurricular Junior Great Books discussion groups available.

At least 150 adults will be needed for the discussion groups scheduled to begin next fall at schools Countywide.

Yank Red Prisoner Describes Ordeal

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — In the stark, stone prison cell behind the Iron Curtain, a light bulb was the enemy.

"They try to keep you tense," remembers John Van Altena. "At night the light is turned on every 10 minutes. Even after you learn to sleep with it, it bothers you."

Van Altena, a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin, spent 17 months in prison in East Germany for trying to smuggle a mother and child through the Berlin wall.

"It would have been very easy to let myself go," he said. "At night you could hear prisoners scream and yell and beat their heads against the doors."

He paused.

"You realize it could happen to you in two minutes if you let yourself go," he said.

Van Altena, 23, a dairy farmer's son from Milton Junction, Wis., at the university. He won't talk about how or why he became involved in the short-circuited escape but in an interview he described his prison ordeal for the first time.

He was working as an airlines interpreter in West Berlin in October 1964 when he was jailed.

East German security police, waiting with triple the normal guards as he approached the wall from the Communist side, found an East German mother and her child hidden in his car.

Van Altena was armed with an automatic pistol. He was sentenced to eight years.

In prison, he said, survival hinged on mental discipline. "You have time to do a lot of thinking," he said. "You learn to control your thoughts. I spent days mentally pursuing a single subject."

SOLITARY CELL

Van Altena was in solitary confinement for one year. Many of the guards were women, burly and coarse. They complained, he said, when the screams disturbed their card games.

The prison where he spent most of his time was in East Berlin. He was interrogated at most daily. Guards were everywhere. Signal lights prevented the transfer of more than one prisoner at a time in the hallways.

An Indonesian, beaten during questioning, slipped Van Altena cigarette papers covered with handwriting. Van Altena said he smuggled them out of prison on his body and turned them over to the State Department, but the Indonesian's fate is not known.

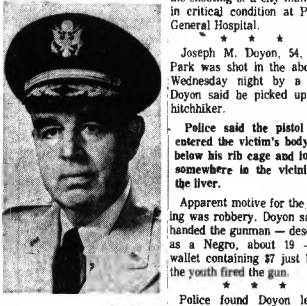

He was released.

The State Department negotiated Van Altena's release last March.

Van Altena still had more than 4½ years of his sentence to serve when, he said, one of the interrogators asked, "How would you like to have a beer in West Berlin?"

Two hours later he was free. "I knew I was free but it didn't sink in right away," he said. He left prison 14 pounds lighter and nervous. Seventeen months of bread and soup left him with a bad leg and one other thing he can't explain.

"I can't eat sweets," he said. "I used to love sweets. Now I can't stand the sight of a candy bar."

HEART ATTACK FATAL — Maj. Gen. Tom V. Staylor, 38, deputy commander of the Army Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., died at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C., yesterday. He suffered a heart attack.

A new Oakland University librarian has been appointed by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

W. Royce Butler, 52, was named to head OU's Kresge Library. He will succeed Floyd Cammack, who is currently on a year's leave of absence and will return to Oakland University as an associate professor of linguistics in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Assistant Librarian Lawrence Aud, 28, North Hill Circle, Rochester, has been serving as acting librarian.

Butler has been associate director of libraries at York University in Toronto, Ont., since last year.

He previously held departmental offices in the libraries of the University of Denver, 1962-65, and Boston University, 1961-62.

DEGREES

A native of Canada, he received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of British Columbia and a master of library science degree from the University of California.

Nalin J. Unaker, 31, was appointed assistant professor of biology effective Oct. 15. He has been a research associate at the University of Toronto.

Unaker received his bachelor's and master's degrees in India, from Samaldas College and the University of Bombay, respectively, and a doctor of philosophy degree from Brown University.

Leaves of absence were approved for V. STARLET'S TEARS ON STAGE

Were Not Staged Tears

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — In this crazy business, I'm often compelled against my wishes... to investigate the problems of girls, especially young, pretty girls.

So when little blonde British-born Jill Haworth, who's 20, burst into tears on stage at the opening of "Cabaret" while they were taking curtain calls, I had to find out why. I asked her about it afterward at a celebration party at Arthur.

"Yes, I was crying hysterically," she said. "It was from relief and happiness and from being so glad it was successful."

What they didn't know at the party was that Jill had handed a newspaper review of the show in her dressing room. She began to read it aloud to two friends. As she read it, she saw that it was a fierce blast at her though favorable to the rest of the show. She didn't whimper... she read it all the way through.

"This girl has such guts!" Joel Grey said later. "She is strong like iron. They threw new scripts at her at the last minute. Lotte Lenya and I said we could never have learned those changes. But Jill didn't know how scared she should have been and so she did it..."

Jill may prove the greatest of them all. (Horace Plummer evidently thinks so, too. He came here secretly to be with her.)

My mother-in-law celebrated her 82nd birthday. Son Chan of the House of Chan gave her a swinging party where in addition to all the other gourmet dishes, he served a "Chan-wich."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Sexy Omar Sharif was with a beautiful blonde at Sign of the Dove... Françoise Hardy, here for the "Grand Prix" opening, will go to the Coast... to have a date with Elvis Presley... Gary Merrill took his and Bette Davis' 14-year-old adopted son Michael to the Copa to see Jerry Vale.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "There's no reason I shouldn't have a sports car," said a Pen & Pencil driver. "After all, I have the closet space for it."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "People who keep saying money isn't everything are probably still saving for something to take its place." (Al Newman.)

EARL'S PEARLS: "All the world's a stage," says Barry Trupin, "and the politicians have their union cards to prove it."

Sharon Tate, who's a vampire in "The Vampire Killers" and a witch in "13," describes herself as the girl next door—"if you live next door to a cemetery"... That's earl, brother.

U.S. Changing Program to Boost Jobs in Ghettos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is changing the tone of its economic development program in an effort to bring more jobs to Negro neighborhoods.

Encouraged by an experiment in Oakland, Calif., the Commerce Department has embarked cautiously on a plan to use federal grants and loans for industrial expansion to the hiring and training of local hard-core unemployed.

The name of the game is to get more change for the money," Ross D. Davis, assistant secretary of commerce for economic development, said today.

By change, he meant reducing the unemployment rate in areas where the lack of jobs has been a persistent problem. Davis said the program should mean more jobs for the Negro and the reservation Indians especially.

TRYING TO GET JOBS

"We're trying to get jobs for the people in the ghetto," he said in an interview.

To accomplish this, the Economic Development Administration will insist, where feasible, that industries using facilities built with federal grants and loans hire and train as many of the local hard-core unemployed as practicable.

In its earlier operations, the agency merely provided the money to help communities suffering persistent unemployment to attract new industries and thus increase over-all job opportunities.

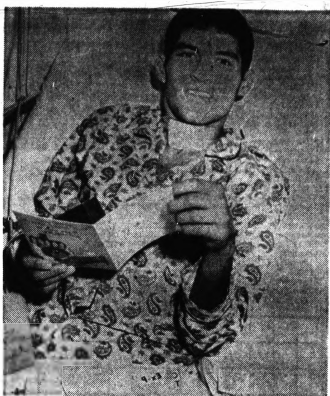

Now, Davis said, the agency will try to attack the problem in a more specific way. He called it part and parcel of a continuing effort to reduce unemployment.

In Oakland, this will mean the filing of an employment plan to be reviewed by a local board and ultimately by the Economic Development Administration.

The percentage of long-term unemployed which can be included in any plan will vary according to the skills needed in a particular plant. In Oakland, the agency expects it to range from 20 to 30 per cent of the new jobs it hopes to create.

Davis said the extent to which this type arrangement, or one like it, might be used is still unknown. It will only be used, however, where the local community is willing to cooperate, he added.

Two projects which included the new philosophy were approved last month — to train Indians for a new plant at Lake Havasu City, Ariz., and to train hard-core unemployed in the Everett, Wash., area, where the Boeing Co. plans a major expansion.

HE'S THANKFUL — Ramon Yslas, 17, of Tucson, Ariz., had a lot to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. Ramon suffered a head injury Oct. 28 while playing in a football game. His life was touch-and-go for three weeks, but doctors say now that he will be all right.

3 Arraigned in 'Indian' Case

BAY CITY (AP) — One man and two youths were arraigned here Thursday on charges that they were the "Indians from Detroit" who netted $10 in an armed robbery.

John Ruschke, 21, Robert L. Sharron, 20, and Randolph Matuzewski, 18, all of Bay City, pleaded innocent.

Mrs. William Summerfield, who lives near M15 just outside of Munger, said someone shot an arrow through the kitchen window of her home one night a week earlier.

"We're out of gas. We're full-blooded Indians out of Detroit. We want money. Give us money or we'll shoot your house full of arrows," a voice from the darkness said.

She put $10 on the windowsill. It was plucked up.

Man Faces 'Mean' JP on Thanksgiving

DOWAGIAC (AP) — A man accused of stealing a 28-pound cooked turkey from a restaurant here on Thanksgiving Day came up against the self-proclaimed "toughest, meanest justice of the peace in all of Michigan."

Julius L. Papoi Jr., 24, of Cassopolis posted $1,000 bond Thursday in the court of Justice Robert A. Wilson on a charge of breaking and entering.

Papoi was accused of breaking into Shaw's restaurant in downtown Dowagiac and stealing the turkey from the kitchen. The owner's husband, Lyndell Shaw, said he heard a window close and chased two men or we'll shoot your house full of arrows," a voice from the darkness said.

The men returned the turkey and left, and Shaw called police. Papoi was arrested a short time later in a tavern.

N.D. Senator Encouraged After Viet Visit

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Sen. Milton R. Young said today there is "considerable encouragement on the military side" of the war in South Viet Nam.

Young gave this assessment after lengthy high level briefings at headquarters of the U.S. Military Command.

The North Dakota Republican said, "We are able to defeat and disperse the Communist units wherever we meet them."

The military briefings and meetings with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, top U.S. commander, and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge were highlights of the senator's first full day in Viet Nam.

CONFERENCE

one of the key programs in the U.S. effort. This program has not been going well.

The senator said Westmoreland did not indicate to him how many additional troops he will need. There now are 350,000 American servicemen in Viet Nam.

The U.S. commander made no request for help in getting any specific types of military equipment, Young said.

The average public school classroom teacher has about 12 years of experience, the National Education Association disclosed in a survey.

U.S. Traffic Toll Passes 200 for Holiday Period

Rate Appears to Be About Normal for a Regular Weekend

By The Associated Press
The nation's death toll in traffic accidents passed the 200 mark today in the early part of the extended Thanksgiving weekend. The total, however, appeared near the same figure for a nonholiday weekend.

The count of highway fatalities, which started at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, was 202, including 41 youths under the age of 18.

The tabulation ends at midnight Sunday, covering a period of 102 hours.

During a recent nonholiday four-day period, an Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes, showed a total of 546 traffic deaths.

However, the National Safety Council did not make an advance estimate of highway deaths for the long weekend.

The council said it considers the Thanksgiving period as basically a home holiday which does not involve as much driving as other major holidays.

RECORD HIGH

Traffic deaths hit a record high of 615 during the Thanksgiving weekend last year. Since the AP started tabulating highway deaths for the holiday eight years ago the lowest total was 442 in 1960.

Good Weather for Shopping

Christmas shoppers may look forward to a few more days of mild temperatures. There's a chance of rain Monday or Tuesday.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will average 10 to 15 degrees above the normal high of 39 to 43 for the next five days.

TODAY — Mostly cloudy with showers ending early this afternoon. Expected high 55 to 60. Turning cooler this afternoon. Partly cloudy and cooler tonight with a low 33 to 38.

Winds southwest at 15 to 22 miles shifting to west to northwest this afternoon, diminishing tonight.

TOMORROW — Partly cloudy and a little cooler.

SUNDAY — Partly cloudy and mild.

Car Hits Tree, Youth Killed

Passenger Crushed in White Lake Twp.

A Royal Oak youth was killed early today when the car in which he was riding skidded off Williams Lake Road in White Lake Township and slammed into a tree.

Bruce Johnson, 20, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident near the intersection of Lodge Road about 3:30 a.m. Oakland County sheriff's deputies said the driver of the car, Thomas L. Taffe, 19, of 8370 Fox Bay, White Lake Township, suffered only a slight facial cut in the mishap.

Taffe told deputies he had asked Johnson for a light for a cigarette when the car swerved out of control and slid some 300 feet broadside into the tree.

Deputies said power jacks were needed to free the victim's body from the nearly demolished passenger's side of the car.

Christmas season brings Yuletide greetings and Santa. Or, should one say Santas?

One Santa arrived by helicopter this morning at Miracle Mile. He'll be in town Fridays 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturdays 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Monday through Thursday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. through Dec. 24 at his workshop in the arcade area.

Another Santa arrived by sleigh at the Pontiac Mall about the same time.

He'll talk to children from 1 to 9 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays through Christmas Eve when he leaves his igloo at 3 p.m.

Santa will also be handing out goodies at Federal's from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays, and 1 to 9 p.m. Sundays, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. the day before Christmas.

And Santa will be in Sear's toy department from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. 3 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays through Dec. 24.

Australia Vote Issue Is Viet Involvement

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The commitment of 4,500 fighting men in Viet Nam is the big issue in tomorrow's Australian national elections. Prime Minister Harold Holt's government, which sent the troops to war, is heavily favored to survive.

"Foreign policy is the very core of this election and that's how it has been, if foreign policy is taken to mean the wisdom of being involved in Viet Nam," Holt declared early in the campaign.

Despite a rash of anti-Viet Nam demonstrations, political circles say that feeling does not appear strong enough to give victory to the Labor party of Arthur A. Calwell.

Labor has 52 of the 124 seats in the retiring Parliament and needs a big vote swing to win a majority and unseat Holt. The ruling Liberal-County party coalition has 71 seats. There is one independent.

On the eve of the election, Holt continued to get strong press support.

The Melbourne Age said he seemed certain to win. The Daily Telegraph viewed the Viet Nam issue as "the preservation of Australia's alliance with America," an argument advanced repeatedly by Holt.

Custom Pontiacs Top Display

Two customized show cars — the St. Moritz and the Surfdrider — will highlight the Pontiac Motor Division display at the 51st annual Detroit Auto Show opening tomorrow at Cobo Hall. The show is open daily from noon to 11 p.m. through Dec. 4.

Also within Pontiac's 13,950-square-foot exhibit area will be 18 new 1967 Pontiac and Tempests including a Grand Prix convertible, a GTO and Bonneville Brougham and two cutaway models of the overhead camshaft six-cylinder engine and 429-cubic-inch V8 engine.

Of special interest will be a display of old and rare automobile emblems, many of which are now nonexistent.

On one of Pontiac's revolving turntables will be a specially designed Grand Prix convertible called the St. Moritz.

Green Berets, Strike Force Oppose Reds

Civilian Irregulars Link Up With Troops; Reinforcements Due

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Vietnamese strike force and its U.S. "Green Beret" advisers were locked in heavy combat tonight with an enemy force in the tangled jungles of War Zone C.

American air strikes and artillery pounded the Communist troops as the Vietnamese and the U.S. Special Forces men were reporting holding their ground.

Details of the action in Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon were sparse, and there was no report of the number of Green Berets involved.

An additional company of Vietnamese civilian irregulars — about 120 men — was reported to have linked up with the original strike force during the afternoon, and both forces were reported still engaged with the enemy at nightfall.

Early reports said the Vietnamese casualties were light.

REINFORCEMENTS

The battle area is in deep jungle near where U.S. infantrymen are operating. Preparations were being made to rush reinforcements into the fight.

North Vietnamese troops wiped out a similar Vietnamese strike force in the same region a month ago.

The Tay Ninh action was the most spectacular ground contact in a day which saw U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops chase the Viet Cong up river valleys of the central coast while 25th Division infantrymen scoured caves in the highlands and found numerous graves.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes were beset by heavy weather over North Viet Nam for the eighth day in a row yesterday, but chalked up a total of 101 missions.

RECORD MISSIONS

U.S. Marine Corps planes were active in South Viet Nam, flying a record 257 sorties against Viet Cong targets, mainly in support of ground operations in the vicinity of the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams.

British-Soviet Talks End, Called 'Useful'

MOSCOW (AP) — British Foreign Secretary George Brown left for London today after three days of talks with Soviet leaders about Viet Nam, control of nuclear weapons and other world problems.

"I had the most useful visit I could have possibly hoped to have," Brown said.

"We had the closest cooperation in our talks" with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Brown said.

It was understood that the Soviets also considered the talks useful. Some sources described Brown's meeting with Kosygin as "full, frank and friendly."

"We have been extremely frank, we have been friendly," Brown added in a brief statement.

Before departing in a light snow, Brown met privately for 15 minutes with Gromyko and aides from both sides in an airport lounge. There were no immediate details on these talks.

WITH GROMYKO

Gromyko had an interpreter at his meeting with Brown. Two Foreign Office aides and an interpreter were with Brown.

The two sides had agreed to keep the group small. That excluded the British ambassador to Moscow, Sir Geoffrey Harrison.

Health officials have declared at least four houses "unfit for human habitation."

NO DEATHS

The fire is in abandoned mines under Scranton.

There have been no deaths resulting from the current outbreak of fumes, authorities said.

The mayor said the holes drilled so far have not reached the fire. However, the holes, which go to a depth of 126 feet, are allowing bottled-up fumes to escape into the air. The holes are about 25 inches in diameter.

About 30 National Guard troops were called in by Gov. William W. Scranton. A team of 36 firemen trained in gas detection is working "around the clock" to test for fumes, Walsh said.

PACESETTER

Sweeping new roof lines on all two- and four-door models, "major design advancements in both front and rear ends," a Pontiac exclusive of recessed windshield wipers and exhaustive detail to safety keeps Pontiac the pacesetter for the industry.

An energy-absorbing steering column, a dual braking system and an inside nonflare tilting rear-view mirror are standard equipment on all 1967 Pontiacs and are just three of the many safety developments available as standard equipment on every model.

Kidnaped Teen Escapes; Suspect Held

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—A 17-year-old Windsor youth was held captive for six hours before he managed to escape from a nearby Lake Erie cottage, police reported Thursday.

The youth, Ian Berks, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Berks of Windsor. Except for a momentary head bump, he was not harmed, police said.

The abduction took place on a ride by a man who knocked him unconscious as he entered the car.

"Things were pretty scrambled from there on," said the elder Berks. "But somewhere along the route he remembers being blindfolded."

Ian told authorities he was taken to a cottage and bound.

He managed to free himself, telephone calls were a prank at first, but soon realized the caller had his private telephone number and only could have obtained it from his son.

Young Berks gave his father directions to the cottage and officers found him there when they investigated. Police said Snively's parents owned the cottage. They said Snively had no previous criminal record.

Bloomfield Hills Board Picks Personnel Director

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education has appointed Clyde Fisher of the Crestwood School District in Dearborn as personnel director of the school district.

Fisher, who will start his new duties after the first of the year, is now assistant superintendent of the Crestwood schools. He has been in administrative work for 10 years.

School Supt. Eugene L. Johnson explained that the new position was created because of the opening of three new schools in the near future, the district will soon employ about 200 teachers.

School officials have been informed that their new high school, being built with money from an $11-million bond issue approved last spring, will not be completely finished by next September.

The academic area will be complete, according to Johnson, but the nonacademic portion including the pool, gymnasium and possibly shop and music areas will not be finished. Johnson said the architects are doing all they can to expedite the program.

In order to stay ahead of the enrollment increase, an 18-room addition will be started on the West Hills Junior High School as soon as it is completed in February.

The junior high school is also being considered with funds from the bond issue.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Archaeology will be discussed in an illustrated lecture sponsored by the Cranbrook Institute of Science at 8:15 tonight at the Rackham Auditorium, Detroit.

Dr. James B. Pritchard, curator of the Section of Biblical Archaeology at the University Museum, University of Pennsylvania, will illustrate the method by which the results of field archaeology can be related to the complete, according to Johnson, written sources in the Bible but the nonacademic portion including the pool, gymnasium

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department is permitting automakers to sell cars to U.S. servicemen through overseas post exchanges as one step in a crackdown on unscrupulous auto dealers.

Role of U.S. in Asia Bank Is Assistance

TOKYO (AP)—The United States, one of the two largest financial contributors in the Asian Development Bank, will not propose "American approaches" but will confine itself to assisting in the bank's activities, U.S. Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said today.

Speaking at the second day of the bank's inaugural meeting, Fowler said, "Our role as a non-Asian country is to assist, to help, to encourage, to support."

"But our support must be consistent with our over-riding responsibility and obligation to achieve and maintain a reasonable equilibrium in our own balance of payments and thus help preserve the continued sound working of the international financial system, of which a dollar, as good as gold, is a crucial element," Fowler said.

Fowler emphasized that the success of any regional organization "depends not only on the creation of orderly and fruitful arrangements within the region, but also on strengthened ties between the region and the rest of the world."

Truck Driver Acts Fast, Helps Save 4 From Fire

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A truck driver who helped rescue four travelers from a fire-ravaged auto seconds before it was hit by a speeding train, says too many people pass the buck by "letting George do it."

James Martin, 32, said he "didn't do anything that spectacular" in the early Thanksgiving Day rescue on U.S. 39 near Plymouth, Ind.

"It was only my fair share as far as one human to another," said the father of five. He has been honored twice as Ohio driver of the month by the Ohio Trucking Association for earlier acts of helpfulness and is a part-time policeman in Granville.

"I just don't pass anybody up who needs help," Martin said, noting that he had asked police at the scene not to give out any details of his deeds.

Illness Claims Native of City

Mrs. Leone K. Menard, 79, of 1914 Bedford, Beverly Hills, wife of the late Harry Menard, Detroit realtor, died Wednesday after a two-year illness.

Service will be 11 a.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel, William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Mead of Beverly Hills and Mrs. Frank E. Egan of Franklin; two sisters, Mrs. C. Henry Purdy of Pontiac and Mrs. Mac T. Whitfield of Bloomfield Township, and two grandchildren.

After her marriage Mrs. Menard moved to Detroit with her husband where she joined the North Woodward Congregational Church.

CLUB AFFILIATION
She was a member of Detroit Athletic Club and of Village Women's Club, Bloomfield Hills.

After the family moved to Beverly Hills, Mrs. Menard transferred her church membership back to the Pontiac church.

The family suggests any memorial tributes be given to a charity of the donor's choice.

Small Deadly Rifle Is Viet Gls' Friend

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
HARTFORD, Conn. (NEA) — A century and a half ago a furrow-browed tinkerer named Sam Colt invented a weapon which shot 10 to 20 shells a minute and helped civilize the western half of the United States. Cavalrymen called it the Peacemaker.

"One bullet at a time should be enough," he said. "More than that is just a waste of ammunition." Some civilians have also complained. The Troublemaker's controversial operation (its bullet sort of tumbles to target).

More recently, the manufacturing concern named for Colt invented a weapon which shoots 650 to 850 shells a minute and is helping civilize the southern half of Viet Nam. Infantrymen call it the Troublemaker.

Both guns were designed to destroy the enemy, of course, but the comparisons ends there. A single of the latter exceeds a dozen of the former.

Colt's M-16 rifle makes a man a crowd. It is the most accurate, reliable and destructive method of individual firearms extermination the American soldier has ever possessed.

ACCURACY? Tolerance in the Troublemaker is figured more exactly than in jet aircraft engines and at 300 yards a man can group endless rounds in a foot-square bull's-eye.

RELIABILITY? Modern engineering has nearly eliminated all stoppage possibilities except wear. Even rust is combated; the metal is of noncorrosive aluminum alloy.

DESTRUCTIBILITY? An M-16 will burst a steel helmet open one-fourth of a mile away and the cartridge can put a baseball-sized hole in the flesh of a targeted human being.

"I'm prejudiced," admits one Colt engineer, "but this is an incredible rifle. I venture to say that if our enemy would have had it about a century ago, our soldiers would be living in teepees today."

PRESENT ENEMY Also, he adds grimly, if our enemy in Viet Nam had the Troublemaker today, greater numbers of our soldiers would be fortunate to be living at all.

For all of this praise, however, the weapon has its critics. And if the gun has caused considerable war among the Viet Cong in Southeast Asia, it has done some of the same among various interests here at home.

Some military people for example, have downplayed the M-16 as a "one-theater-rifle"—good for jungle combat but not necessarily for conventional warfare. Some politicians have condemned it as excessive. One has said that it provides too much firepower for the average soldier.

Will Films Produced for TV Make Profit?

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Can the movie industry make brand new feature movies for television and still turn a profit?

That is the question that producers are mulling over now that the networks are feeling the need for such a product. With the dwindling of the supplies of the theatrical films that have not yet been released to television, new ones will be needed.

As part of a deal with MGM, CBS will pay $800,000 apiece for 18 feature films. It appears that these movies will be released in theaters first, then on television. The network reasons that the publicity of a theatrical release can only help the films' appeal for television viewers.

NBC has ordered a schedule of films from Universal for an undisclosed amount. Three of these "world premiere" films will be shown on the Tuesday Night movie, five on Saturday Night. The first appears Saturday night, "Fame Is the Name of the Game," a comedy mystery with Tony Franciosa, Jill St. John, Nanette Fabray, Lee Remick and Jay C. Flippen.

AN EXPLANATION

Universal's Jennings Lang explained the economics of the features-for-television:

It's Time to Dream..

Once again you are a young man, alive with youthful romance. Tonight you make your debut. Ah! There, your gown... surely the most lovely creation in all of the world... and the show... truly Cinderella must live again. So why brush your hair... a hair for you lovely young face. Would you like to see that night of song again? 2nd Debut has a very special line... something that goes a long way toward bringing back that youthful look. It makes your facial skin drink small but sufficient quantities of water... facial lines temporarily smooth out, as the water beneath the skin's surface pushes them upward out of sight. 2nd Debut formulated with C-E-F 1200 for normal skin with C-E-F 1200 for double potency. Get it at your drug or department store today. ARRIVALS LTD., CHICAGO, U.S.A.

nomically sound. Prices for features are going up, and we can get added revenue from showing some of the films overseas. Of the first 10, I'd say about four would do well in foreign theaters.

"The features are also helpful as pilots for series. Our next three are designed with that in mind — 'I Love a Mystery' with Les Crane, 'Ironside' with Raymond Burr, and 'Outsider' with Darrin McGavin or Harry Guardino."

Lang said the new features are comparable to the regular movie product with these exceptions: They won't be spectacles with mob scenes and huge sets; the films can't afford million-dollar stars like Paul Newman and Julie Andrews; nor can they hire top directors like Billy Wilder or William Wyler.

FOREIGN FIELD

"On the other hand, I have been talking to foreign directors like Fellini, Dassin, Richardson and Godard about making films for next year," Lang said. "I told Fellini: 'How would you like to show your Rome to 40 million Americans?' He was excited about the idea."

In at least two respects, the new features may be better on television than movies made for theaters, Lang said. Directors are instructed to frame their shots so figures on the edge of the screen won't disappear.

Lang, a large, bearish man of vast enthusiasm, sees the features-for-television as the wave of the future.

"Now the big sponsors are talking about paying for movies to be made, Ford, which paid two million for 'River Kwai,' now is exploring what we could make for them for two million. If we were assured two million from a sponsor and two million from expected returns overseas, we'd have four million to make a movie with. Think what we could make with that kind of budget!"

QUESTION: Who did the carving on Mount Rushmore?

ANSWER: The Mount Rushmore National Memorial is a tribute to four great American presidents: George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

To emphasize the importance of these men a granite cliff was chosen high in the mountains of South Dakota. The cliff starts more than 500 feet over the valley below it and is 5,725 feet above the level of the sea.

The height means that the monument rises higher than the Great Pyramid in Egypt. The heads of the presidents are so huge that the height of Washington's head would equal that of a five-story building. His total height, if his figure had been proportionately carved out, would be 456 feet.

This vast monument was designed by Gutzon Borglum, a famous sculptor. Borglum made models of the heads. These were cut out of the cliff by workmen under his supervision, using drills and dynamite.

The work, begun in 1927, was interrupted when the sculptor died in 1941. However, it was finally completed by his son, Lincoln Borglum.

Doctor Says Aging Starts at or Before Conception

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Dr. N. O. Calloway had merely proposed that human beings be born to age when they're born, many other scientists would have agreed with him.

But Calloway proposed human beings begin to age when they're conceived and perhaps before they're conceived. Only time will tell how many other scientists will go along.

To scientists, aging is not the passing of time by itself. It is a biological process which slowly but inexorably reduces overall efficiency of function.

Life begins when one cell fertilizes another, as everyone knows. Fertilization creates continuing energy. Calloway asserted a decline in the efficiency of energy production sets in at once.

But suppose, said Calloway, these two cells, the ovum and the sperm, had aged before their union? After all, each had lost some of their chemical vigor.

In that case, the resulting individual would have aged before he was conceived. Will his life span be shortened as the result? That remains to be shown, Calloway conceded in making his argument to the American Geriatrics Society.

"However, the mere fact that a species (rather than individuals of a species) ages and finally disappears strongly suggests that, although each individual may begin with a high degree of functional efficiency following the fusion of the gametes (ovum and sperm) there is a gradual change in the species which renders it unable to compete in its environment."

From his base in Madison, Wis., Calloway has given years to the study of aging in people and other species. He destroyed any idea that aging begins at birth or at any fixed point afterward.

"To take the pulse of the newborn and relate it to age is in error since the heart has been beating for many weeks prior to birth," he said.

"Similarly, the chemical reactions which control the energy production and survival of the individual have been occurring long before birth."

49ers Feast on Lion Meat Instead of Turkey

Detroit Growl Diminishes in 41-14 Lacing

Coast Team Thrashes Motor City Eleven in Every Respect

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
Whoever heard of Thanksgiving Day dinner?

Would you believe the San Francisco 49ers? Not only did the 49ers have a feast but they had Lion meat for desert at Tiger Stadium, going back to the coast with a 41-14 victory.

Yesterday's Lions' performance before 53,000 ticket buyers and millions on nationwide TV would even have scared the Christians in the Coliseum.

They managed a couple grows early in the contest to take a 14-0 lead but after that, a mighty warrior by the name of Ken Willard made shambles of the once vaunted front line of defense.

Even the Lions' offensive line couldn't provide an adequate shield to protect their young leader Karl Sweetan.

The visitors rolled up 486 yards on offense to show they are one of the best offensive teams in the NFL.

Defensive ends Clark Miller, 8-year veteran, and Jim Norton along with cohorts Charlie Krueger and Roland Lakes, two big tackles had a spectacular scrambling to all sides of the field.

It was difficult to conceive that this was the same team which played so well against Baltimore just four days before.

Even though the Lions intercepted five of John Brodie's passes they still rushing yardage was an anemic 47 yards, 19 of which Sweetan picked up.

FAST LEAD

The 49ers took a 10-0 lead after a field goal by Tom Davis from 14 yards and a 27 yard return of a pass interception by linebacker Mike Dowdle.

The Lions struck back to make it 10-7 after the first period when John Robinson went 29 yards on a punt return.

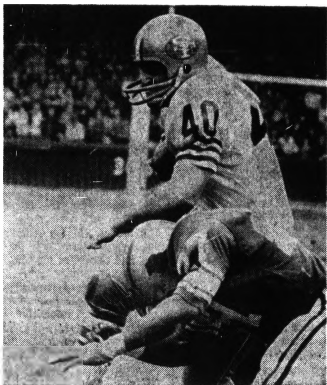

Just before the quarter ended Sweetan led Ron Kramer with a beautiful 68 yard pass play to the Frisco exit. Another pass to Pat Studstill carried to the one and the quarter ended.

Tom Nowatzke then went over and it was 14-10 for Detroit.

After Davis' field goal made it 14-13, the Lions got a break when Wayne Walker intercepted a Brodie pass.

Sweetan, scrambling all over his backfield, got off a pass to Gail Coghill to the Frisco box as in previous game the old nemesis, the penalty nullified the play and the ball was back on the Lions' 25, killing the drive and forcing a punt. The penalty was for an ineligible receiver downfield.

From their own 42, the 49ers marched the distance with Brodie hitting halfback Dave Ko (Continued Page C-3, Col. 4)

Boston Batters Red Wings

BOSTON (AP)—The hapless Detroit Red Wings, in the midst of one of their worst slumps in recent years, had little to be thankful for Thanksgiving Day.

The Boston Bruins, once the doormat of the National Hockey League, demolished the Wings 9-3 at Boston Garden.

In the only other NHL game, league-leading Chicago blanked Montreal 5-0.

The loss was the fifth in a row for Detroit and its eighth straight on the road this season. The Red Wings have been outscored 28 to 9 in the losing streak.

Eight Boston players shared in the scoring. Only two skaters failed to collect either a goal or an assist.

GETS TWO

Norm Ullman scored two of Detroit's goals. Ted Hampson got the other.

Boston built up a 4-0 lead before Ullman's two tallies cut the gap briefly in the first period. But the Bruins scored two more.

Michigan Tech '6' Suffers 4-1 Loss

CANTON, N. Y. (AP)—The St. Lawrence Hockey team defeated Michigan Tech, the defending champions of the Western Conference, 4-1, Thursday night for its second straight victory in two games this season.

Larrie Goale John Went recorded 37 saves, 22 in the final period, to preserve the win. Michigan goalie Rick Best had 20 stops.

The Tech team, now with a 2-1 record this year, was 23-6-1 a year ago.

The Larries had a 15-81 mark last season.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Canada's National hockey team struck from behind in the final period to gain a 4-4 tie with the U.S. Nationals in an assist.

The United States led 4-2 going into the final period, but Marshall Johnson and Bill MacMillan connected for the Canadians to tie the score.

The United States had lost to the Canadians 4-3 earlier this month in Winnipeg, Man., ran up a 3-0 lead in the first period.

Herb Brooks, Bill Masterton and Tom Horley all beat goalie Ken Broderick in the first 20 minutes.

Canada got on the scoreboard early in the second period on a goal by Jean Cusson. Dave Metzner got one back for Americans midway in the second. Ted Hargrave set the stage for Canada's comeback 15 seconds from the end of the period when he slid a long screened shot past goalie Carl Wetzel.

Redlegs' Ace Captures NL's Rookie Honor

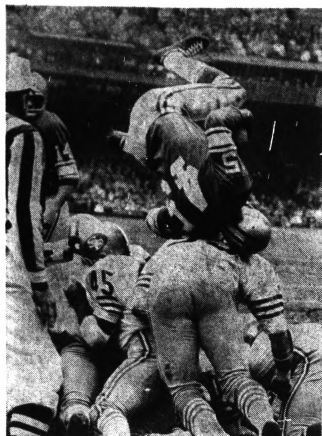

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Helms of the Cincinnati Reds, a shortstop in the minors, a second baseman in the spring and a third baseman in the summer, has been named National League Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

A 20-man committee, composed of two writers from each National League city, gave Helms 12 votes.

Sony Jackson, Houston shortstop, was second with three votes, followed by Tito Fuentes, San Francisco shortstop, with two votes. The remaining votes were divided among Cleon Jones, New York Mets' center fielder; Randy Hundley, Chicago Cubs' catcher, and Larry Jaster, St. Louis pitcher. Each got one.

NEW YORK (AP)—Previous winners of the National League Rookie of the Year honor:

FLYING EFFORT—Detroit Lions' halfback Bob Wells (45) tries to somersault over the San Francisco line early in the game yesterday at Tiger Stadium in Detroit and winds up in this position. Defensive back Mike Dowdle halted Wells for no gain. No. 45 is 49ers' Elbert Kimbrough. Lions' quarterback Karl Sweetan (14) is in background. San Francisco won, 41-14.

Navy Gridders Without 'Stars'

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—"We've got to win this game," Dan Downing, Navy's 250-pound linebacker and captain from Lorain, Ohio, said today. "We can't let another class graduate without a star on their football letters."

The little-publicized but highly-esteemed emblem will be one of the main driving forces behind the Midshipmen Saturday in their 67th service battle against Army before a sellout crowd of 100,000 and a national television audience at Philadelphia (1:30 p.m. EST ABC-TV).

ATTACHED

The star is attached to the varsity letter of the player who has been a member of a team that whipped Army.

"The last class to be graduated without getting a star was the class of 1949," Downing recalled. "Every senior knows that unless we win Saturday we will be the next. It would be a memory hard to live with."

yesterday, Robinson was hit by end Kent Kramer (89), and halfback Dave Kopay (43) rushed into recover the ball at Detroit's 25-yard line.

Whipping May Hurt Sweetan's Rookie Bid

The 41-14 thrashing of the Detroit Lions yesterday by the San Francisco 49ers may have ruined Karl Sweetan's chances for "Rookie of the Year" honors in the NFL this year.

The former Pontiac Arrow star who took over from Miller six games ago was pushed into contention for the honor with several sparkling performances since the 27-34 loss a month ago in San Francisco.

Up to a couple weeks ago, the top contender for the honor has been Tommy Nobis of the Atlanta Falcons, the high priced linebacker from Texas.

It was pointed out by writers participating in the voting that Nobis went to the Falcons with a great reputation and was doing a fine job as linebacker for the cellar team which has won one game this year.

However, Sweetan moved into the Lions' starting post without fanfare and no great college reputation and his performances convinced many that he had brought the Lions out of the doldrums offensively.

VOTING SOON

There are 45 votes cast from the 15 NFL cities, three with each team and the voting for the various honors takes place next week.

Unfortunately, Sweetan had his poorest game yesterday and his teammates offered little help with their poor performances.

With the help of Minnesota, Baltimore and Chicago writers against whom Sweetan had better days, there is still a possibility the young quarterback could gain the honor.

Playing with bruised ribs and slightly swollen hand, Sweetan was hit continuously by the red-dogging 49ers as he rushed his passes.

Written on the chalk board in the dressing room yesterday were the lines: "Today's game is on National TV. All pros will be born and reputations will be shattered in today's game."

How true it turned out to be, unfortunately, for the Lions.

Two Key Games on Slate

A pair of key local contests, dot the slim high school basketball schedule tonight.

St. Frederick entertains St. Michael in a Macomb Parochial League bid-offer at Madison Junior High School, while power - packed Birmingham Groves plays host to city rival Seaholm.

The Mikemen of St. Michael are favored to take the Macomb championship and they'll try to convince St. Frederick's Rams that they deserve the favorite's spot. Game time is 8 p.m.

Other Macomb games have Waterford OLL entertaining Our Lady of Lakes Richmond St. Augustine and shared the league title last year with 9-3 records.

Long St. Rose.

Groves won 18 straight games last year before dropping a close decision to Ferndale, the eventual state champion, and the Falcons have a lot of material returning from that squad.

Local Tankers Battling for Honors in AAU Meet

The fifth annual Thanksgiving Day age-group swimming meet began today and will continue through Saturday at Pontiac Northern High School pool.

Some 600 swimmers in all ages for 19 different events are participating in the AAU sanctioned meet.

Preliminaries got under way at 9:30 a.m. this morning and will begin at the same time Saturday.

Medals and ribbons will be awarded through six places in each event.

The Pontiac Swim Association, sponsors of the meet, is dedicating it to the memory of Henry A. Cook, former secretary of the Michigan Association of the AAU. The Cook Trophy will be presented to the outstanding swimmer in the meet.

The higher age groups and the longer distance events are scheduled for this evening.

Last weekend in an age group meet at Livonia Stevenson High School, Pontiac swimmers failed to gain a first, but many of the local entries were among the top five in each event.

Spartans Pace Loop Defense

Boilermakers Big 10's Top Offensive Unit

CHICAGO (AP) — Rose Bowl-bound Purdue best on offense in the Big Ten. Champion Michigan State best on defense. That's how final statistics wound up Friday.

It was a season in which four single game and season records were broken and one single game mark tied.

They were:

Single game—Most field goals — three, Ohio State vs. Illinois Oct. 8; total offense yards — 607 by Michigan State vs. Iowa Nov. 4; fewest penalties (tied) — none in Ohio State vs. Minnesota Oct. 29.

Season — Best passing average — 586 by Purdue; most yards gained by opponents passing — 196.9 by Indiana.

Purdue won the total offense title with an average of 363.9 yards per Big Ten game while Michigan was second with 354.7.

In defense, MSU was tops, yielding an average of 22.4 yards with Michigan second with 236.9.

MSU was No. 1 in rushing with a 223.9 average. Again Michigan was next with 191.6.

The front wheels are where the Purdue was in passing with 392.3 and the Wolverines second with 163.1.

Spartans, Irish in Talking Duel

DETROIT (AP) — The question of the nation's No. 1 college football team may be settled Wednesday at the University of Detroit Theater. The university announced that debating teams from Michigan State and Notre Dame will debate the question: "Resolved: our team is No. 1."

Three judges will be on hand to eliminate the possibility of a tie vote. The Irish and Spartan grid teams played to a 10-10 tie last Saturday.

Five Share Lead

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Roberto De Vincenzo and four other Argentina pros tied for first round lead Thursday in the Argentina Masters Golf Tournament with two-under-par 68s.

Bob McCallister of Corona Calif., topped the foreign players with a 35-36-71. Jim Ferrie of Savannah, Ga., had a 36-38-72 and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco 37-37-74.

Banner Day for Driver

JACKSON (AP) — Driver George Williams won the Kentucky for his efforts at Jacksonville's Harless Raceway Thursday night. Williams won the third race bringing in Miss Silk and the fifth with Rip Ko San. Captain Breeze, reined by Robert Searle Jr., nipped favorite Craighy in a photo finish eighth.

EX-CHIEF — Former Pontiac Central center Larry Platt came off the bench to score 14 points in a losing cause for the Highland Lakes campus team of Oakland Community College last week against Auburn Hills campus. He may crack the starting lineup tonight at Port Huron Community College.

Defensive-Minded Celtics Check St. Louis, 101-78

By United Press International

The Boston Celtics have sent the St. Louis Hawks back into dorm broke the century mark, scoring the majority of the time between 70 and 90 points per game. Then came the era of Bob Cousy and Bob Pettit, and the scores began soaring almost consistently over 100 each game.

LOWEST TOTAL

The Celtics, whose strong suit has always been defense, held St. Louis to its lowest point total in a decade by downing the Hawks 101-78 Thursday night.

No complete was Boston's dominance that only one Hawk — Lou Hudson — scored 20 points and only three more players hit double figures.

Player-coach Bill Russell netted only eight points but turned in his usual outstanding defensive job and hauled down 23 rebounds. Larry Siegfried scored 24 points.

In the only other NBA game scheduled today, Bill Chamberlain scored 22 points, grabbed 31 rebounds and made seven assists in sparking the Eastern Division-leading Philadelphia 76ers to a 140-123 triumph over San Francisco, the West's No. 1 team.

Wally Jones and Billy Cunningham each tallied 20 points for Philadelphia and NBA scoring leader Kader Rick Barry netted 36-27 in the first half — for San Francisco.

Olympian Upset; Harrier Triumph for Kansas State

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Tarry Harrison of Colorado State upset Olympian Oscar Moore of Southern Illinois for the individual title and Kansas State's Big Eight champs took the team crown in the U.S. Track and Field Federation Cross Country Championships Thursday.

Harrison, who was 27th in the NCAA meet Monday, didn't take the lead until 200 yards from the finish line. He ran 29:57 on the six-mile course at Echo Hills Golf course and won by more than 75 yards over Moore's 30:03.

K-State, runner-up in the NCAA meet, squeaked past San Jose State 96-67 for the title with Houston third at 71. Charley Harper led K-State with a seventh-place finish. A total of 76 runners finished the race.

Houston was third with 71. Southern Illinois had 98, Brigham Young 117, Colorado State 122 and Kansas 139.

Central Wins Flint Classic

Special To The Press

FLINT — Senior halfback Ed Andreck made the best of his first chance at a starting role with Flint Central.

The speedy Andreck, gaining a starting role when Earl Gladney was ruled ineligible, hauled in a pair of touchdown passes here yesterday to spark Central to a 13-7 victory over city rival Northern in their annual Thanksgiving Day game.

Andreck hauled in a 15-yard scoring pass from quarterback Tim Bograkov and snared a 36-yarder for the winning points in the fourth period. Bograkov kicked the PAT after the first TD.

Northern's William Wallace went 30 yards with a lateral in the opening period and John Cross kicked the point.

The front wheels on the MG Sports Sedan do all the work. They pull. They steer. They cling to the road like cleats. They serve up fast, safe, disc-brake stops.

The front wheels are where the power is. MG's front wheel drive takes the Sports Sedan straight as a string to where you direct it.

The front wheels are where the weight is. MG's competition-proved engine is up forward where it ought to be... and where its poundage delivers extra traction, even on tricky surfaces. True, the rear wheels help support the car. But it is the front wheels that tell them what to do—as part of MG's rugged Hydro-draulic (liquid) Suspension System. They actually telegraph news of road conditions to the rear wheels, so you stay on the level, no matter what.

What does it add up to? Simply this: no car is more roadworthy than the Sports Sedan. It holds steady and true, in spite of slick, snow, breeze and bumps. Most reassuring, whether you drive for the sport or for the family (of five).

Incidentally, the modest price includes all 5 wheels.
