

Williams Enters Race for U. S. Senate

DETROIT (AP)—Former Governor G. Mennen Williams jumped as expected into the Michigan U.S. Senate race today and resigned as assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

He became the Democrats' first announced candidate at an elaborately staged news conference attended by about 200 party leaders.

The question remained: Will Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh challenge Williams in the Democratic primary?

The six-term governor declared: "The two main challenges before us today are to maintain the Kennedy-Johnson prosperity and to achieve honorable and peaceful resolution of the war in Viet Nam."

Williams, running for the seat to be vacated by retiring Democrat Patrick McNamara, had toured the state for 10 days building support.

He said the tour was "heartwarming" . . . I have received inspiring encouragement from workers in previous campaigns, from many who rose to party leadership in recent years and from young voters who were still in school when I was governor.

Observers saw the gathering of leaders—including former Gov. John Swainson and State Democratic Chairman Zoltan Ferency—as both a tribute to Williams and an attempt to show Cavanagh that the bulk of party leadership was with Williams.

Williams declared that his involvement in foreign affairs helped bring his decision to run for the Senate.

I feel I could continue to work for peace in the world and at the same time advance the interests of Michigan and the United States in the national government."

He said his experience as governor and in state and federal agencies would help him work for "increasingly fruitful federal-state relationships."

Williams, 55, declared that prosperity "must mean full employment at good wages, an adequate return for farmers and businessmen, war against poverty and the widest enjoyment of the good things of life by all people."

He said that in Viet Nam he supports effective military defense of South Viet Nam, social and economic development and continued search for every opportunity to achieve an honorable peace."

SELF-GOVERNMENT
"We cannot withhold votes from Americans in Alabama and Mississippi and at the same time urge self-government in Rhodesia. We cannot neglect want at home while fighting poverty abroad."

In accepting Williams' resignation in a "Dear Soapy" letter, President Johnson said: "Despite the fact that your decision rests upon your reasonable and understandable desire to serve the public in elective office once more, I am nevertheless deeply regretful that we will not have your fine and steady hand in critical assignments which you have discharged so well and faithfully, under the leadership of both President Kennedy and myself."

BOMB DROP — A U.S. Marine bomber jets go a "package" of napalm meant for North Vietnamese troops battling with U.S. Marines and regular South Vietnamese troops 335 miles northeast of Saigon yesterday. Nearly 1,000 Reds are said to have been killed in the engagement.

Marines Crush North Viet Unit

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The U. S. Marines brought their first year in Viet Nam to a thunderous finish today by joining with crack South Vietnamese troops to shatter a 2,000-man North Vietnamese regiment.

Nearly 1,000 Communists were said to have fallen before the combined air-ground assault by 6,000 Leathernecks, government paratroopers and rangers in three days of blistering fighting, that the Marines called their roughest action—and best showing—of the war.

The fierce battle tapered off into a mop-up operation today, with the Marines and Viet Nam troops in pursuit of small bands of Red survivors.

Prisoners said the regiment had been in South Viet Nam only a month since it filtered down from the North by the jungled Ho Chi Minh trail, allied spokesmen reported.

But the victory was costly to the allies. Marine officers told correspondents at the battle scene along the central coast that the Marines took their heaviest losses of any single battle in Viet Nam, although overall Marine casualties were described as light. The toll came in the initial assault on Friday.

Eleven helicopters were hit by the Communists and two knocked down. The withering Red fire also forced down a Marine Phantom jet. The two crewmen ejected safely offshore.

The Marines brought the weekend fighting in a coastal valley 335 miles northeast of Saigon to a rousing climax last night by storming the North Vietnamese 21st Regiment's command post, capturing 95 weapons and seizing a store of enemy records.

While the fighting raged on the ground, U.S. spokesmen said two American jets were lost over North Viet Nam.

The Communists sent up at least eight surface-to-air missiles against American aircraft attacking North Viet Nam Saturday and yesterday, but none of the Soviet-made SAMs hit their mark.

New GOP Chairman Is Birmingham Exec

Joseph R. Farnham of Birmingham is the new chairman of the Republican party in Oakland County. The 39-year-old Chrysler Corp. engineer was the unanimous choice of the organization's executive committee to succeed Dale A. Feet.

Feet resigned Feb. 21 so he could devote more time to his career as audit manager with a national accounting concern. He headed the county GOP for 17 months.

Active in the Republican party since 1959, Farnham has served as party organization director for the past year.

A graduate of Yale University and the Chrysler Institute, Farnham, 497 Golfview, is employed as assistant chief engineer in the Engine Electrical Department at Chrysler.

He is a member of the company's General Officers Management Club and chairman of the Chrysler Legislative Affairs Committee.

ALL ASPECTS
Farnham, whose activities in the party have included every aspect of the organizational and campaign operation, is also active in the Boy Scouts. He was chairman of the District 5 troop organization team in Detroit.

He is a past director of the Detroit Junior Board of Commerce.

Members of the executive committee who made their selection at a meeting Saturday wholeheartedly praised Farnham.

Weatherman Says Flurries Due to End

Light snow fell on the Pontiac area this morning, with the weather forecast calling for occasional flurries ending this afternoon or evening.

Clearing and cold with lows from 12 to 20 degrees is the outlook for tonight.

Deep South Attack Dismissed by Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court upheld today key sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, in the majority opinion, dismissed a Deep South attack on constitutional grounds of the law.

"We hold," Warren said, "that the sections of the Act which are properly before us are an appropriate means for carrying out Congress' constitutional responsibilities and are consonant with all other provisions of the Constitution."

Justice Hugo L. Black wrote a separate opinion concurring in part and dissenting in part.

The tribunal upheld the power of Congress under the Constitution's 15th Amendment to suspend state literacy tests and similar voting qualifications, and to authorize the attorney general to appoint federal examiners to register qualified voters in various sections of the country.

WARREN OPINION

Warren's opinion declared: "Hopefully, millions of non-white Americans will now be able to participate for the first time on an equal basis in the government under which they live. We may finally look forward to the day when truly 'the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.'"

Nephew Also Free

Candace Acquitted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Blonde Candace Mossler set out today, as she put it, to mother a brood of adored children and to "pick up the pieces" of a $33-million business.

She was asked in the presence of her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, following their acquittal yesterday in the 1964 slaying of her multimillionaire husband:

"Mrs. Mossler, will you and Mel Powers be married?" In a little girl voice, normal for her but tinged it seemed with a trace of vexation, Mrs. Mossler with her children behind her, replied at a news conference: "We don't have any intentions in that direction."

Union between aunt and nephew is generally forbidden by American law, although it would be possible outside the United States. Florida law prohibits marriage between blood aunt and nephew.

Less than three hours earlier, Mrs. Mossler and Powers had been acquitted by an all-male jury of the brutal slaying of her husband, Jacques Mossler, 69.

He was gray, slender, and in the words of the state, stood in the way of an incestuous love affair between his wife and her nephew. The defendants, if convicted, could have gone to the electric chair.

Mossler died of a heavy blow atop the head and 29 stab wounds after screaming "Don't, don't do that to me."

Turnout Called 'Pretty Good' in 2 Districts

23 Candidates Will Be Cut to 12 for April General Election

Sunshine and snow greeted Pontiac voters this morning as they trekked to the polls to cast ballots in six district primary elections.

Voters will cast only one vote in the respective district primary races.

There will be two winners of nominations for City Commission in each district. These two will vie in the April 18 general election when commissioners are elected from each district by the city-at-large.

The polls will be open until 8 p.m.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley said there are 30,061 registered voters in the six districts, compared to 26,100 in the 1964 primary election.

Initial reports on today's voting showed a "pretty good" turnout of voters in Districts 1 and 6.

The brief snow this morning did not appear to hamper early voters.

23 CANDIDATES
Twenty-three commission candidates are involved in primary contests.

Seeking nomination in each district are:

T. Warren Fowler Sr., 59, of 59 Lake.

William A. Garling Jr., 40, of 502 Bloomfield.

Charles M. Tucker Jr., 33, of 161 Earlemon.

Samuel J. Whittier, 53, of 453 Harvey.

DISTRICT 2
Kenneth H. Cumberworth, 50, of 28 Newberry.

Robert C. Irwin, 36, of 345 W. Iroquois.

George Grba, 35, of 28 Kimball.

Leslie H. Hudson, 43, of 361 Gallogly.

Clifford A. McGinnis, 36, of 112 Adelaide.

DISTRICT 5
John A. Dugan, 57, of 363 Nelson.

Roland Folk, 36, of 628 Joslyn.

William B. Hine, 31, 499 DeSota.

Gerald Kehoe, 54, of 599 Lenox.

LBJ Tax Plan for Viet Faces Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's tax plan to raise $6 billion for Viet Nam war costs today faced its toughest test in the Senate — a move to strip it of $1.2 billion in excise tax hikes.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., claimed widespread Senate support for his drive to eliminate the tax legislation proposed temporary increases of 1 per cent in auto excises and 7 per cent in telephone service taxes.

"There's a lot of people who feel the way I do," Hartke told United Press International yesterday.

"These excise taxes are really nothing, compared to what they need for Viet Nam. And anyway, we're all expecting a legitimate (income and corporate) tax increase later this year for Viet Nam."

Lodge, an apartment building on Key Biscayne, where Mosser lived in No. 20 with his wife and their adopted children.

Behind Mrs. Mosser and Powers at the unusual news conference in a downtown Miami hotel were Mrs. Mosser's two blonde grown children by her first marriage, and the four attractive youngsters she and Jacques Mosser adopted during their marriage.

Most of them figured in the eventual disposal of Mosser's $33-million banking and loan business.

"By July the entire estate should be distributed," said Mrs. Mosser's chief attorney, Clyde Woody.

Mrs. Mosser, sensitive about her age, places it at 40. Powers, 5-foot-5, darkly handsome, is 28.

The jury heard more than 100 witnesses during the seven-week trial in a white-walled, sixth-floor courtroom. Included were convicts the state called from penitentiaries who swore Mrs. Mosser and her nephew had plotted for two years to kill someone to kill her husband.

STATE CLAIM

Falling that, the state claimed, they undertook to do it themselves.

The prosecution asserted Powers made his way into the Mosser apartment, slugged the sleeping victim with a large, empty soda bottle, then put a knife 39 times in Mosser's body after wrapping it in an orange blanket.

The only eyewitness was a pet dog, Rocky, who barked violently during the slaying.

Hospital Fund Meeting at PNH Tonight

More than 300 public campaign volunteers are expected to meet tonight at Pontiac Northern High School to receive instructions and select the names of prospective donors to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund.

Robert R. Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank of Pontiac and Pontiac area chairman for the campaign's community division, will preside.

Bernard R. Tresnowski, assistant administrator of the hospital will explain the hospital's problems and needs.

Those attending will hear how the campaign has progressed to date, and their specific part in the program to raise a minimum of $2.25 million which will provide the funds to enlarge and remodel St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

For a total expenditure of $6.5 million the hospital will add 150 beds, completely renovate the existing buildings, and enlarge all the supporting services such as X-ray, surgery, laboratory, outpatient, and emergency.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain is expected tonight along the Oregon coast, in eastern Texas, and mixed with snow in the northern Rockies. Snow is predicted in western Pennsylvania. Cold air moves into the central states from Canada while warmer air moves north into the Gulf States and across the Western states.

Senate majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted a close fight. And Senate majority whip Russell B. Long of Louisiana, who is also chairman of the finance committee, worked during the weekend to rally votes for the administration measure.

Worrying Long and Mansfield, most were enlistments in Hartke's campaign from among Republicans as well as a number of Democrats irritated over Johnson's handling of excise taxes during the past year.

The President told Congress he needs the additional revenues to pay for rising Viet Nam war costs and to help dampen inflationary pressures within the economy.

Besides the excise levies, the House-passed bill would bring in an additional $4.8 billion in revenues during the next 15 months.

SCENIC BUT DEADLY — A devastating blizzard began to ease its grip on the north central part of the nation today. Sixteen deaths have been blamed on the storm.

Death Toll in Blizzard Stands at 16

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Road-plowing crews and rescue missions began bringing relief today to blizzard-battered parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

The toll of deaths stood at 16.

Ranchers were coming up a heavy loss of livestock, especially in South Dakota.

Helicopters and airplanes, bulldozers and plows worked to relieve thousands stranded in what has been termed the Dakota worst storm in decades.

Travelers who had taken refuge in stores, cafes, service stations, or homes continued their journeys.

HUMAN KINDNESS

Stories of human kindness and heroic effort came out of the chill, snow-swept land.

Like the North Dakota farm boy, who scanned the whitened countryside and got worried when he didn't see smoke coming out of a neighbor's chimney.

The 12-year-old boy put on his coat and overboots and trudged through deep snowdrifts to the farm of Lowell Brown, who lived alone.

There, he found the 65-year-old farmer dead, his body draped over a windmill brace in the yard — a victim of the blizzard which lashed the Dakotas three days last week.

There was a staggering loss in cattle and sheep — perhaps run in the millions of dollars.

One rancher, Frank Maciejewski, Sr., of Timber Lake, S.D., estimated his at $100,000.

Enrollment Record for OU Department

Oakland University has established an all-time record for the year's enrollment in the continuing education department.

Registration for the spring term reached 2,242 this week with these courses still scheduled to begin.

Previous record of 1,974 was set in the 1965 fall term.

his time and talents in every aspect of party work," said former state chairman Arthur G. Elliott. "He will make a capable and popular county chairman."

ON VACATION

When contacted in Nassau, where he is vacationing, and informed of his election, Farnham remarked, "Naturally, I am pleased."

"In the seven years that I have been active in the Republican organization, I have been privileged to work under the leadership of three fine county chairmen (Feet, Charles Lyle and Elliott).

"I am proud to become one of them and I shall endeavor to live up to the standards that they have set."

Dr. Robb recently spent six weeks in the war-torn country at his own expense after, he says, the U.S. government told him osteopaths wouldn't be welcome there.

"When I got there, they asked me only how long I had practiced medicine and what kind of work I had done — they didn't ask what kind of degree I had," said Robb in an interview.

HELP NEEDED

"These people need every sort of help, from skilled surgeons to midwives. I'm sure they would welcome even an African witch doctor if he could help relieve someone's ailment," he said.

So Robb and a delegation of Michigan Jaycees, who have taken up his cause and hope to back him with part of a million-dollar fund, plan to meet in Washington with the South Vietnamese ambassador, Wednesday or Thursday.

Robb said they'll explain their program and seek approval for massive shipments of medical supplies and equipment. Robb

Gray-haired, married and the father of three children, Robb has done overseas volunteer work before. He went to Haiti a few years ago after that island nation was ravaged by a hurricane.

When the White House issued a call last summer for physicians to go to Viet Nam to care for the civilian population, Robb again volunteered.

"But after they learned in Washington that I am an osteopathic physician, they said the Vietnamese medical authorities must pass upon the qualifications of American doctors assigned there and that these authorities would not recognize the osteopathic degree," Robb said.

So last November he plunked down $1,180 for a roundtrip ticket to Saigon, filled two suitcases with medicine and flew to Viet Nam on his own.

GETS WELCOME

There, he said, he was welcomed with open arms and worked from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. with time out only for meals and a brief midday nap.

"The overworked medical staffs are doing marvelous things," Robb said. "But they are forced to work with equipment which in some cases is not as good as the gear I carry in my fishing tackle box."

Why is Robb willing to uproot his family and have them trade the comforts of a suburban home on a lake for an uncertain future in Asia?

"Well, I've reached the age where another set of clothes and another set of golf clubs aren't important," he said.

Left-Wing Club Is Blown Up

Dynamite Said Used in San Francisco Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police Inspector Robert McClellan says the explosion which shattered the national headquarters of the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs may have been a dynamite charge — as much as 40 pounds of it.

The blast Sunday ripped open the inside of the club's ramshackle two-story building, spraying glass and wood fragments on neighboring buildings and littering the street. There were no reported injuries.

"We have no definite leads or suspects," said McClellan. He said the blast may have been a dynamite charge placed under the front porch of the building, located in a run-down residential section several blocks from the city's Civic Center.

The explosion came less than 48 hours after the Justice Department moved to require the DuBois Clubs to register as a Communist front organization. On Saturday, in Brooklyn, N.Y., a street fight erupted when DuBois Club members called a news conference at a home, to the annoyance of neighbors.

POLICE ACCUSED

The Brooklyn club members accused New York Police Sunday of "standing by while we were beaten, kicked and punched."

Six club members were arrested in the street fight. Four were charged with carrying weapons, including an air-gun and a knife.

The clubs were organized in San Francisco in 1963 after the death of Negro Communist W. E. B. DuBois, who renounced his citizenship and moved to Ghana.

DuBois had been instrumental in founding the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People but broke with it and then with the United States, chiefly over the matter of how hard to push for Negro rights.

EMPTY BUILDING

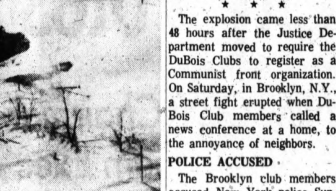

McClellan said the building was empty at the time of the blast, heard 15 miles away. He said that some members of a "street gang known as the Marquis" had been meeting in the building about an hour before the explosion.

The club issued a statement which said the act was "undoubtedly that of some ultra rightists."

The statement also said in part:

"The bombing was, in effect, invited by the Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach's recent order for the DuBois Clubs to register as a so-called Communist front organization."

"We in the DuBois Clubs do not deny that there are Communists in our organization, and we defend the right of Communists to participate in the political life of our country."

City Youths Charged 'Highway Patrol' Irregulars

Two Pontiac youths, who allegedly conducted their own police patrol early yesterday along the I-75 expressway, were scheduled to appear before Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson today to face possible charges of impersonating police officers.

One motorist, Arthur Durham of Pontiac, reported the incident to police because he thought the youths looked too young to be policemen.

Durham said the youths were driving a new car equipped with a flashing red light on the dashboard.

He gave the license number of the youths' automobile to police who in turn notified the parents.

Five Trucks Respond to Hospital Alarm

Three engines, an aerial unit and a ladder truck from the Pontiac Fire Department were called to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on a false alarm yesterday about noon.

Firemen said the alarm was apparently triggered by utility repair men working on telephone lines.

Medical 'Army' Readied by Area Doctor

A Waterford Township osteopath will meet this week with Vietnamese representatives as the Michigan Jaycees have adopted Robb's Viet Nam project to secure medical assistance for Viet Nam children.

Dr. Jerome J. Robb, 52, of 1142 W. Huron wants to "make the Viet Nam battle against disease his life's work."

Dr. Robb recently spent six weeks in the war-torn country at his own expense after, he says, the U.S. government told him osteopaths wouldn't be welcome there.

Open Occupancy Talk Slated Tomorrow Night

BIRMINGHAM — A public meeting on open occupancy has been scheduled by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Council on Human Relations for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Baldwin Library auditorium.

The principal topic of discussion will be the "Good Neighbor Pledge" campaign which the council plans to conduct in the area this spring.

Speakers at the meeting will be Bruce R. Van Dusen, chairman of the campaign, and Shelby Newhouse, a member of the council's board of directors.

Alan W. Joslyn, president of the council, which covers the Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills school districts, said committees will be organized at the meeting and specific jobs assigned to volunteers.

"This is an opportunity for residents of our area to do something tangible about open occupancy in Birmingham-Bloomfield. Through a concentrated program of education and information, we hope to create a climate in this area which will encourage residents to welcome people of all races, creeds and religions as neighbors," he said.

The council was organized more than two years ago to provide leadership in all phases of human relations in the area.

The annual drawing for the exchange of mayors, a part of Michigan Week Festivities, was held Tuesday.

This exchange, said to be the only event of its kind in the world has been conducted for the past 15 years.

A special feature on "Accessorizing the Home" will be presented by Mrs. Ned Heinzelring of the Boy and Girl Scout Post in Bloomfield Hills for the West-side Christian Women's Club Tuesday.

Mrs. Heinzelring will speak at a club luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at the Community House.

Other features of the luncheon will include a solo by James Alexander, a tenor soloist with the Detroit Bible College choir. Mildred M. Murata of the Far Eastern Gospel Crusade will speak of her role as an evangelist in Hachioji, a suburb of Tokyo.

Law Group to Air Police Code

WASHINGTON (AP)—An eminent jurist and legal scholar, contends that "policemen, district attorneys and trial judges have become increasing unsure of the law" in the absence of firm legal guidelines.

As proposed by Prof. Paul M. Bator and James V.orenberg—the latter is executive director of the National Crime Commission—the code would require police to warn arrested persons of their right not to answer questions and to consult family, friends and lawyer.

—Limit to four hours after arrest the questioning of persons, regardless of whether an attorney is present.

—Bar police from persistent questioning after the arrested person has indicated he does not wish to talk further.

—Exclude from trial evidence any statements obtained in violation of the code's provisions as well as evidence that would have been unobtainable if the accused person's rights under the code had not been violated.

—Require police to make sound recordings of their required warnings to the arrested person and of the interrogation, and provide such recordings to his counsel.

The code would not require police to furnish counsel at the stage of the investigation, until the accused is brought before a magistrate.

Infant Boy Is Baptized

BRUNTLIFFE, England (UPI)—Splunker Mike Briggs, 28, took his four-month-old son, Andrew, 30 feet underground to have him baptized at a subterranean waterfall.

"Pothing is a fascinating hobby," said Briggs. "We want to introduce our children to it as soon as possible."

Greenlee, accused of misusing half-a million dollars in his bank's funds, was sentenced in 1963 on his plea of guilty to 12 counts of such irregularities.

A government investigation disclosed delinquencies in loan payments far in excess of permissible amounts.

Space Rescue Procedure Said 'Entirely Feasible'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Man must learn how to rescue orbiting astronauts stranded in a disabled spaceship because "It is a problem we all know will one day confront us," a recovery force expert said today.

"Space rescue is entirely feasible and well within the known state of the art," said Col. Emil G. Beaudry, vice commander of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service at Orlando, Fla.

In a technical paper presented during the opening day of the third annual Space Congress, Beaudry said one analyst concluded there is a 62 per cent probability of at least seven emergency situations in space involving 22 men in the next 20 years and a 58 per cent probability of two or three emergencies within 10 years.

He observed the vast amount of effort project officials now take to insure astronauts' safety before they are launched and logical extension of this traditional humanitarian role.

"STANDING BY"
"There is no reason today—certainly in the reasonably near future—why an operational rescue spacecraft could not be ready and standing by in the event of distress or tragedy during manned flights," Beaudry said.

"For example, a launch vehicle such as the Titan 3 with its great weight-lifting capability and mission versatility could easily carry a rescue crew, medical facilities and technicians aloft to assist in any way required."

In a related paper, an engineer said the ability to rendezvous with another object in space—as astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott plan to do March 15—"opens up a myriad of possibilities," including rescue.

Bank Official in Fraud Case Out on Parole

DAVISON (AP)—Former banker George Greenlee is on parole—busy at his wife's farm after a little more than two years of incarceration.

The 52-year-old executive vice president of the former Davison State Bank was paroled from the federal correctional institution at Milan Friday.

Greenlee, accused of misusing half-a million dollars in his bank's funds, was sentenced in 1963 on his plea of guilty to 12 counts of such irregularities.

Greenlee's bank failed and stockholders lost an estimated $40,000.

It Seems to Me . . .

Russia's Farming System Far Behind United States

Is communism really as stupid and inept as it appears?

Let's consider some facts.

Russia has slightly more people than we do, and they have more tillable soil by a wide margin. The Communists have been working on this "agricultural problem" their way for more than 40 years. Today they have four and a half times as many people working on farms as we do.

They produce a third as much meat.

They come up with 60% as much grain.

Their wheat supply was so inadequate, they had to buy millions of tons from "us capitalist nations." Here was abject humiliation. And yet the thickheaded, nincompoops are busting their bloody necks and going "all-out" to feed themselves.

We pay farmers to produce less.

So-o-o-o-o-o, all this Communist state control, and the ascendancy of government has been a belly flop and farce for a half century. Are the Russians merely incredibly dumb, or is their "system" that far behind ours?

Insider's Newsletter, says the baffled Reds have approved $100 million for more modern farm machinery and a study of current methods.

'Fight' Draws Skepticism . . .

Probably no "fight" in history has drawn any more skeptical and unfavorable comments than the imminent brawl between back-room CLAY and no-gun TERRELL. Clamor has arisen in many sectors demanding the whole fiasco be dropped, outlawed and declared a public affront.

Clay was once pronounced too near the moron fringe to qualify for the U. S. Army or Navy. Now the mental requirements seem to relax. The bulk of the recent heavyweight imbroglios have been so sordid, inferior and incomprehensible that the bulk of the American people hold their noses.

This one offers no relief.

Mr. Goad currently plans on an extended vacation which he hasn't enjoyed in years. And after that—golf—I suspect. And who is any more entitled to surcease from the high-pressure grind engulfing big corporate executives?

Echo answers: "No one."

Suggestive Cuban News

Cuban news is fragmentary and spasmic but it's highly suggestive. There's dirty work afoot.

Fairly reliable reports suggest that seven mysterious un-

What do we do now?

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Since the mints started producing these new coins, the older ones are inexplicably slipping out of circulation. Some suspect hoarders and some say its sentimentalists. Half dollars are the biggest targets.

David Lawrence Says:

Speculation on '72 Is Premature

WASHINGTON — It seems as if the calendar has been eliminated and an interval of six years has been brushed aside.

LAWRENCE

Lots of things, however, can happen in six years. If President Johnson is reelected in 1968, he will be ineligible under the Constitution to run in 1972, but if a Republican defeats Mr. Johnson two years hence, the race in the Democratic party for the nomination would be wide open in 1972.

If by chance Humphrey has succeeded to the presidency at any time before 1972, on the other hand, he would be the natural candidate of his party for the presidency in the subsequent election and possibly for reelection four years later.

An aspiring competitor always dreams of the unexpected—that serious dissatisfaction, inside or outside the party, may create a condition receptive to his own candidacy.

Political experience shows that publicity is one of the most important things that a would-be candidate must obtain.

ADDED ADVANTAGE
Naturally, a vice president gets plenty of it, and so does a senator from a state like New York.

In Kennedy's case, to be sure, there is also the added advantage of his having been a member of the Cabinet in the administration of his brother, whose name is revered by many millions of citizens.

The historical record shows, on the other hand, that a family relationship with a president is not a significant factor in winning that office. An individual has to be appraised on the basis of his own capacity to serve the country at the particular time he is seeking a presidential nomination.

Sen. Kennedy's position on many public questions has yet to be developed, and he'll have an opportunity in the next six years to do so. His youth might be looked upon by some voters as a handicap now, but in 1972 he would be 47.

ONE REASON

One reason, presumably, why the New York senator is traveling around and making so many speeches on international as well as domestic questions is, that he is trying to overcome any impression that he is too youngful or inexperienced to become the nation's chief executive.

Humphrey has lately had worldwide publicity. He is familiar with the game of politics, but he has not had the benefit of nationwide contacts with the local Democratic organizations, such as Sen. Kennedy possesses as a result of the major part he played in the management and financing of the Democratic presidential campaign of 1960.

Capital Letter:

Government of Today Would Stun Jefferson

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Ghost-writers are already at work on the spellbinding speeches that Democratic legislators will be delivering at fund-raising rallies honoring Thomas Jefferson's birthday next month.

Jefferson, the patron saint of the donkey Montgomery party, adamantly opposed a strongly centralized government. He believed in states' rights, and because he disagreed with Alexander Hamilton on the issue of presidential powers, he even resigned as President Washington's secretary of state.

The government which has emerged as a result of the New Deal, the Fair Deal, the New Frontier and the Great Society bears little resemblance to that envisioned by our founding fathers.

Nowadays Uncle Sam prescribes the hours that we can work, tells us with whom we must work, decrees the hours that we can work, tells us with whom we must work, decrees the minimum wages which we can accept, and withholds taxes from our pay checks.

The government concerns itself with the products that we buy. And the way they are manufactured, advertised and labeled.

CONSTRUCTS HOUSING

It constructs housing, determines who can live in it, and how much rent shall be paid. Uncle Sam uses our tax money to send billions of dollars worth of food, armaments and technical assistance overseas, some of it to Communist governments like Yugoslavia and Poland.

He pays a third of the world's cost of the United Nations, which uses some of the money for aid to Communist China.

He supplies armaments to India and Pakistan, and they fight each other.

APPOINTMENT

The federal government has not only usurped most of the taxing power of cities and states, but has decreed how states must apportion their own legislatures.

Until recently even Uncle Sam admitted that education was the sole province of states and local communities, but now he is financing a Head Start educational program for mopelets, a tutoring program for first graders, an Upward-Bound program for high school students who need their college tuition underwritten, and countless other grants and loans for schooling.

The government tells farmers how much they can grow, and subsidizes who cooperate.

Well, brace yourself, Mr. Jefferson, for all those political orations that are about to be delivered in your name.

Elderly Citizen Discusses President's Job

My age is 79 and I was a captain in the AAF, 1st World War. My father's ancestors settled in Massachusetts in 1600; my mother's ancestors in N.Y. State in 1620.

The President of the U.S.A. should not be commander in chief of the Army, Marines, Navy and Air Corps. He should not appoint anyone to office. No one man is worth $50,000 per year as one man's mentality isn't big enough to handle all the things he has to pass on. A man past 65 years of age should hold no office in federal government.

Suggests Safe Driver's Insurance Company

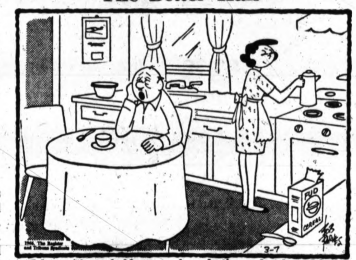

The uninsured motorists law is the worst law ever passed in the state of Michigan. Already hundreds of license plates have been stolen.

Insurance companies have the go-ahead to charge any amount they want. Reckless drivers are being kept on the road. All they need is $35.

Why can't we have a safe driver's insurance company instead of making the good drivers pay for the bad ones? It's time we took reckless drivers off the road or insurance will cost almost as much as cars in the future.

Press Comment

The Denver Post

Scientists in Berkeley, Calif., have developed an antenna system that they believe can detect the television emissions of any civilization that has television as far away as 200 light-years, which takes in a range of some 80,000 stars, some of which might have life like our own.

The antenna system, once it is developed, will consist of an orchard of 100 foot dish antennae like those now used for radar. About 10,000 of these in an area 10 miles in diameter would be needed to do the job. All these antennae would be aimed at a patch of sky about the size of our sun, and their receptors would be controlled in a way that would make them work much like a radio-telescope antenna, except that the result would be an optical picture of the patch of space on which the antennae were turned, showing any sources of radio emissions as tiny star points of light.

This is all the development of Dr. Bernard Oliver, who is currently president of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers. He is also head of research and development for an electronics firm.

The only trouble with Dr. Oliver's antennae is that they would cost five billion dollars to produce. That seems like an awful lot to spend on a television antenna when we don't even know if the programs are any good.

A newspaperboy experiences things that can't be learned from books. He has tough going at times aside from the weather. On occasion he may run into a hard-to-please customer and sometimes people who owe him money move away.

At times he'll have to return two, three or more times to collect money he has already earned. But far and away most folks he deals with are honest, considerate, friendly and appreciative. They admire a young fellow who isn't afraid of work and who's learning how to cope with life.

There's one aspect of this matter which may come as a surprise to the business community. Last year the boys who, under contractual arrangement buy our newspapers wholesale at times retail them to subscribers, earned more than $75,000, much of which went to their own money, of learning local, area and national self-reliance, service, trustworthiness and all the other qualities that go into handling a newspaper route.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Health Role of Fears May Be Increasing

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three related articles written for the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

The quality of fearfulness is not strained — it falls alike on young and old, male and female, rich and poor. Man has always known fear and anxiety.

Thornton Wilder ably expressed this thought in his play, "The Skin of Our Teeth," which showed BRANDSTADT that through the ages man has been confronted with a series of crises and that one way or another he has always come through them.

It is possible that, with modern systems of communication and a resultant greater awareness of distant dangers, fearfulness is playing an increasing role in the mental and physical health of the people.

The annual sale of tranquilizers would indicate that this is so.

Fear and anxiety, although related, are not precisely the same.

Anxiety is characterized by a lack of confidence in oneself, a feeling of dependency on others, an unwillingness to develop new skills and easy fatigability, irritability and discouragement.

A fear has a definite cause (fear that one's discomfort is due to an incurable disease) while anxiety is a vague apprehension due to causes buried in the subconscious and often hard to uncover.

Fear, far from being a bad thing, is the force that prompts us to adopt safety precautions in our daily lives.

Fear of cancer has definitely reduced the death rate from this disease by leading people to seek an early diagnosis.

MORE DESTRUCTIVE

Anxiety on the other hand is more destructive than constructive.

The man with anxieties feels trapped and is likely to develop high blood pressure, a peptic ulcer, mucous colitis or some form of neurosis.

The neurotic may be defined as an essentially normal individual who is losing his battle against his anxiety.

It is estimated that nearly half of the people who consult their doctor are suffering from causes in which anxiety plays a major role.

Says Man May Adapt to Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A scientist has found that animals — and perhaps people — may eventually adapt to smog.

The possibility of building up an air-pollution tolerance was reported by E. J. Fairchild, a research pharmacologist who spoke here at the American Medical Association's conference on air pollution.

In an interview with the Los Angeles Times today, the U.S. Public Health Service researcher said experiments indicated that laboratory animals' lungs adapted to varying amounts of smog.

"The animals' lungs developed a resistance to air pollution no longer so sensitive to the irritating chemicals in the air," Fairchild said.

LITTLE CHANGE

On the other hand, he added, when the animals were exposed to a steady, consistently high level of air pollution, their lungs were not changed much.

Thus, he said, intermittent exposure to air pollution — resembling conditions found in smog-plagued cities — could conceivably create mass local protection against smog.

But Fairchild was quick to explain that concern about what smog does to health should not cease.

In the first place, he said, the experiments were only on laboratory animals at the Division of Occupational Health in Cincinnati, Ohio. And, he emphasized, it isn't scientific to project the findings to man.

Also, Fairchild said, the smog in the experiments was much thicker and more irritating than the smog men encounter normally.

FORT MYERS Newest SUBURB!

FACTS ABOUT FORT MYERS
Fort Myers is one of the beauty spots of the world. It is a tourist center and retirement haven. People from all over the world come to stay a week — then remain for a lifetime. And that's not surprising because Fort Myers is near the beautiful Gulf of Mexico where the year round temperature is a mild 73.4 degrees and delightful day follows delightful day.

HOW CAN YOU SEE?

American International assures the purchaser a full money back refund for any reason within sixty days from date of purchase and a six month exchange privilege for any homesite of equal value at NO EXTRA COST.

FACTS ABOUT SAN CARLOS

Is this good land? Very definitely. The land adjoins U.S. 41, the famous Tamiami Trail, about 9 miles south of the burgeoning city of Fort Myers. It is directly in the path of growth and progress. Every lot is less than five miles from the Gulf of Mexico. It is high, dry, choice land.

ARE THERE HOUSES AND UTILITIES?

Yes. There are now over 200 homes built and occupied at San Carlos Park. And here are other features. A big shopping center, a recreation center in constant use, telephone and electric available to every piece of property and best of all — friendly neighbors.

WHAT ABOUT THE AREA — FT. MYERS — LEE COUNTY?

Lee County and Fort Myers are among the fastest growing areas in the U.S.A. For example, Lee County doubled its population from 1950 to 1960 and — by present increases — will double its population again by 1970. Lee County is growing four times faster than Florida and eight times faster than the U.S.A.!!! Imagine what such growth can mean to you!

SPECIAL LIMITED OFFER!!

For those who act now we will send upon receipt of your home site deposit, the book "LIVING IN FLORIDA". This book has 156 pages crammed full of information about Florida. It tells you in detail how you can make your "nest egg" grow by investments in Florida real estate. It describes the areas beneficial for artists, artists and rheumatism. It gives you a "doctor's formula" for adding 10 to 15 years to your life expectancy.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL guarantees a full MONEY BACK REFUND for any reason whatsoever for 60 DAYS from the date you purchase your homesite. It's so easy to order! Warm Friendly Gift? Well, Maybe

Is There a Spark Sport?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Am I losing my mind? Please tell me what a "good-by gift" is. I always thought "good-by gift" was a present given to someone who was leaving. Well, listen to this: My husband is leaving Portland. His firm is transferring him to San Francisco, so he bought his secretary a pair of antique andirons as a "good-by" gift. Why should he give her a "good-by" gift? She isn't going away, he is. Please straighten this out for me.

ABBY

(Maybe he wants to be sure she'll keep the home fires burning.)

DEAR ABBY: What makes men customers want to pull a waitress' apron strings? We have our aprons tied in a neat bow, and after it has been pulled by five or six wise guys it looks all limp and ragged.

I've had to wait several men on the hands with my order pad to keep them from pulling at my apron strings. Every waitress I know who wears an apron with a bow in the back has the same trouble. Why? A woman would never untie another woman's bow.

DEAR UNTIED: It's the little boy in some men that prompts them to be impish. They think it's cute. They're only trying to call attention to themselves. Some women use the same childish technique when they see a man with a bow tie.

Five Welcomed by DARS

Three Pontiac women have been added to the membership roster for General Richardson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Joining Mrs. Kenneth Newell, Mrs. Benjamin Hawkins and Mrs. Don E. Newman, of Pontiac are Mrs. J. M. Lomerson of Lake Orion and Mrs. Frederick Humes of Lansing.

Committee reports for the past year were read at Friday's meeting in the Mt. Clemens Street home of Mrs. T. W. Jackson.

STATE MEET

Delegates to the state conference, March 15-17 at the Bancroft Hotel, Saginaw, will be Miss E. Grace Clark regent; Mrs. E. G. Clark and Mrs. Nelle M. Prye. Alternates will be Mrs. Bradley D. Scott, Mrs. Frank E. Allen and Mrs. Jackson.

Mrs. John Tomlin of Rochester will serve as a page at both the state conference and the Continental Congress, April 18-22, in Washington, D.C. She has also been named assistant state chairman of state conference pages.

Assisting hostesses were Jessie Brewer, Mrs. William Kalwitz, Mrs. W. E. C. Huthwaite, Mrs. Stewart W. Turner, Mrs. D. E. Adams, Mrs. Frank B. Geris, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Julius Feldkamp, Mrs. Wesley Stewart and Mrs. Frye.

PBX Club Meets

The PBX Club of Pontiac will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Pontiac Police Department.

Should She Shake Hand of Deb?

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband and I have been invited to a debutante party which is being held at a private country club. This is the first time I have ever been to a party of this sort.

Will you please tell me if I am supposed to shake hands with the debutante when going down the receiving line and also, do I say anything to her?
Q: You shake hands with the debutante as well as with the hostess. If there is a queue of people coming at the same time, there is no need to say anything beyond, "How do you do" and passing on as quickly as possible.

If there are no others entering at the time, you make some pleasant remark such as, "How beautiful your bouquets are!" or "How lovely you look!" or "Your dress is enchanting."

TOAST

Q: I have been asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding. I am told that it is my duty to propose the toast to the bride and groom at the reception.

I'm rather a shy person and not good at this sort of thing. Can you suggest a suitable toast?

A: You are not expected to make a speech or give a long flowery toast. When the glasses have been filled, you rise and you need not say more than, "To the bride and groom," or, "To the bride and groom. May their life together be one of unending happiness."

Q: Will you please tell me the correct way to word a reply to an invitation addressed to Miss Mary Jones and Guest?

A: You write: Miss Mary Jones and Guest accept with pleasure, etc.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Named Prexy for Heritage

Mrs. Franklin Read was re-elected president of The Heritage Society, at the March meeting in the home of Mrs. Mert Jennings on Wenonah Drive.

Other officers named were Mrs. John Napley, vice president; Mrs. Charles Hutson, secretary; and Mrs. C. W. Selton, historian.

Various types and styles of spoons made of coin silver and sterling were shown by Mrs. Read, supplementing her paper on "The History of Spoon Making."

Guests were Mrs. J. E. Graybiel, Mrs. B. S. Sneed Jr. and Mrs. John Hayes.

The group will not meet in April. Hostess for the May 5 meeting will be Mrs. Donald Fillmore.

Bright Star Reappears Friday

Overture to Opera V, being presented at Pontiac Northern High School Friday 8:30 p.m., represents an important musical event of particular interest to the Pontiac area.

Barbara Gibson, a resident of Hammond Lake and an internationally known opera star, is emerging from retirement as a featured performer in the Overtures.

Originally from New York City, this coloratura soprano studied voice privately with Cesare Sturani.

She made her professional debut with the NBC Radio "Bell Telephone Hour" in 1949. Her stage debut was made as Gilda in "Rigoletto" at the Cincinnati Opera during the 1953-54 season.

Miss Gibson has done much of her work in the media of radio and television; particularly noted among these appearances were those she made with Toscanini.

SANG ABROAD

She toured Europe, appearing in many famous opera houses, and was offered a contract with the La Scala Opera Company. She refused, due to family commitments, thus bringing to a premature close her brief but brilliant career.

When Dr. David DiChiera, producer of the Overtures, discovered that Miss Gibson was residing near Pontiac, he prevailed upon her to accept a leading role in this year's production.

Tickets for the Friday evening performance are still available at the Grinnell Pontiac Mail store.

Organ Society Will See Film

The Pontiac Area Hammond Organ Society will open its Tuesday evening program in Grinnell's Downtown Store with a sound movie titled "Meet the Organ" from the Delta Visionary Service in New Orleans.

This educational series film traces the history of the organ from Japanese bamboo wind poles and organ pounders to the present space age organ phenomena.

Members of the March program committee are Robert Darr, Pontiac; Harold Dawe, Rochester; Mrs. Robert Linkswiler, Auburn Heights; Mrs. Herbert Tressider, Square Lake Road; Paul Maccari, Livonia and Mrs. Robert Morrow, Southfield.

The public may attend the meeting.

3 Boys Return Home in MSU Glee Club Event

Three Pontiac boys will be in the Men's Glee Club of Michigan State University when it appears for a concert at Pontiac Northern High School at 8:15 p.m. March 28.

William and John Kimball, sons of the Clarke Kimballs of Ogema Road, and Roger Putnam, son of the George Putnams of Renfrew Street are members of the group.

Directed by Loren Jones of the MSU Department of Music, the singing men will present a sparkling musical program ranging from earliest music to the most recent.

The Singing Statesmen begin early in the fall with a music clinic at Gull Lake to audition new voices and to prepare for a busy season as MSU's musical ambassadors.

During the school year, the Glee Club visits communities in Michigan and surrounding states for concert appearances. The vocalists are also favorites at campus events, where they perform frequently.

NATIONALLY KNOWN

The group has become known to millions across the nation through appearances on the nationally televised "Dinah Shore Show" and "Ed Sullivan Show," and performances before various national organizations, including an appearance with Dinah Shore at a national conference.

ence of the American Dairy Association in Chicago.

Recent highlights include joint concerts with men's glee clubs from other universities, including Michigan, Wayne State, Ohio State, Toronto, Indiana, Ferris State and Northwestern.

The annual spring vacation concert tour in 1964 took the group east from Michigan to New York City, where they performed in the Rockefeller Center Plaza as a part of the Easter Parade.

The men also were featured at the inauguration festivities of President Eisenhower at Washington, D.C., in 1957.

The program will be sponsored by Pontiac Public Schools Music department.

Garden Unit Plans Program on Japan

Slides of Japan will be shown by Mrs. John C. Calhoun at the meeting of the Oakland Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Club. Mrs. Paul Wilson of Troy will host the 12:30 p.m. dessert event on March 14.

Cohostess for the international meeting will be Mrs. Archie Coran.

A bit of St. Patrick's Day luck will be evident at the March 14 "Luncheon Is Served" program sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Trinity Methodist Church. Shown from left working on the noon event are Mrs. Malcolm McClenahan of Longworth Drive and Mrs. Charles Tuson of Rowley Street. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lindquist will provide musical selections and a nursery will be maintained. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Amount of Savings to Send Is Up To GI

By MARY-FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

We have two sons going into the Army this month. The 19-year-old is a happy-go-lucky, generous person — generous to a fault — and has only $115 in his savings account. The younger boy is a naturally thrifty person.

He has fun, FEELEY but somehow manages to get along without lots of unnecessary things. By consistently saving, he now has $1,052 in the bank.

Each has only a $1,000 life insurance policy. What I want to know is: will they automatically be given more insurance when they enter the service? I understand this is at a much lower rate than if they buy it commercially and the premium is taken out of their monthly wages.

Also, does the government send home a portion of their wages if they ask for that arrangement? How much would be a fair amount for me to put into their savings account each month?

Although their wages will be low in the Army, isn't it true that they have the advantage of skipping at the PX?

"Mid-West Mother"

Dear Mother:

Your sons can take advantage of GI insurance, once they are in the service — $10,000 maximum per man. It isn't automatic. They have the privilege of taking it or not. But since the cost is low — $2 a month deducted from their pay — they'll certainly want it.

Base pay is $87.90 for that first four months; after that, $93.90.

The Army isn't going to budget the pay checks, so it's up to you and your sons to decide how much they can send home. And they'll have to do the sending. As for what would be fair, wait awhile and let circumstances determine this.

It's true that shopping at the PX will save them some money. But remember your sons will be paying for haircuts, snacks, postage, insurance and recreation. A car would be another item. If they are content to stay on the base that will keep little money in their pockets.

But if they go into town for fun they aren't going to have much change left over. I suggest that instead of your trying to put a figure on their savings, let them tell you. That thrifty younger son will figure it out.

Dear Miss Feeley: Your recent article on getting more wear out of men's suits was interesting, and prompts me to pass on this suggestion which has worked well for me:

When the edge of a vest gets worn, I buy five feet of binding braid, a half-inch wide, in a suitable color. Then I take it to my tailor and ask him to bind the edge that gets worn from buttoning and unbuttoning. The result is a "new" vest.

H. H., Portland, Maine

Dear H. H.: A lot of other men will say thanks for that tip. And maybe you can use another. H.A.M., of Durant, Iowa, writes: "Most men carry their wallet in their left hip pocket. Eventually they wear a hole in the seat of their trousers."

"Here's what I do to all of my trousers: take a 2-inch square piece of adhesive tape and stick it to the inside of my trousers at the lower right side of the pocket. This prevents the wallet from wearing the fabric."

(For Mary Feeley's letter on Savings, send 10 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to her in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Tots to Vie for Crowns in Contest

Members of the Waterford Jaycettes are urging area parents to enter their youngsters in the Pixie King and Queen Contest.

The competition will be in connection with the Waterford Jaycee Home and Sport Show March 25-27 in the CAI Building on Williams Lake Road.

A photograph no larger than five by seven bearing the child's name, age and phone number may be sent to: Waterford Jaycee Auxiliary, 3582 David K. Waterford, by Saturday. Children from two to four years may be entered. Only the first 50 entries can be accepted.

A voting display unit will be set up at the Pontiac Mall from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. March 19. Voting also will be possible at the show.

The crowning will take place March 27 with prizes for the winners.

Wise Woman Keeps Faulty Figure Hidden

By HELEN HENNESSY Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

NEW YORK — The bare trend has been creeping up on us season by season. But now that Paris launched its spring fashions with the nude look in full swing, this seems like a good time to stop, look and listen before we buy the copies that will soon be here.

The transparent evening gowns shown in Paris and worn over bra and briefs or body stockings aren't likely to be volume sellers here (or there, either, for that matter). But bare midriffs, deep side cut-outs and nonexistent backs may well take over from bargain rack to couture salon.

We can only hope that the wise girl who knows her limitations is legion.

The side cut-outs which bare a good part of the bosom in profile can only be attractive on those not handsomely endowed.

Only the flattest midriff can stand exposure and not be an ugly protrusion. And a back that isn't trim and slim should remain under flattering wraps. It's difficult to dress in what is publicized as "in" fashion today unless you have the figure of a page boy or a sub-teener. And it's too bad that styles just as current and easier for most women to wear aren't. My wife tells me we can given the same attention and reported as scrupulously as are the shockers. For these do exist.

PRETTY FASHIONS

Because pretty clothes that don't bring on gasps are only mentioned casually, many women believe that to be fashionable they must earn overweight figures into little-girl dresses and heavy legs into eye-catching lace stockings. And now they're sure to pop out in large bumps here and there in the new cut-out fashions.

Anyone hell-bent to wear what's new no matter how it looks on her might be interested in what a cross-section of men think about the new fashions from lace hose to nudify.

This subject came up at a large party where the men ranged from portly corporation presidents to college students in their 20s. A stylishly-coiffured, plumpish, gray-haired lady arrived in the new pale lace stockings, white halter-neck dress with no back and a hemline that crept up to mid thigh when she sat. She wore a small fortune on her back.

But it should have been on her younger sister. A handsome man about 45, who looked as though he would enjoy the leg show, said to me: "What's happening to women? That skirt is too short even for a kid."

A conservative, elderly gentleman joined us. "That's not-

IMAGINATION AT WORK

"I like women covered up," he said. "It leaves something to the imagination. Remember those high-necked, long-sleeved sheer things Katharine Hepburn used to wear — with just the right underthings, 'you know'?"

His son (early 20s) spoke up. "Don't mind dad," he said. "He's outdated. He even thinks colored fancy stockings have a 'fuzzy look'."

"Well, they do," pop interjected. "And the thick ones make every girl's legs look heavy. I don't like fat legs and I'm not too old to look yet."

The young man explained that he liked low heels, textured stockings and short skirts because they made a fellow feel less in awe of a girl. He likes his girls to look natural, not all dressed up.

But on the bare look (pop's peep holes) he agreed with pater. "At a party when a piece of your date sticks out every here and there it will be embarrassing. But he's not all anti-nudity. Bikinis, he likes."

Each man was, of course, considering his contemporaries. Naturally, the college kid likes young things on his dates. They have young figures.

SEEING OWN WIVES

The older men were seeing their own wives in clothes that should be worn only by their daughters. And it seems to me that when any man objects to an expanse of feminine pulchritude showing, the wrong woman is showing it.

Before you dip disastrously into the clothing budget remember that you can be in fashion without looking ridiculous.

Much that is new will be right for you. But not everything. Good taste should tell you what to avoid.

Girls Demonstrate

"A Promise in Action" will be demonstrated from 3 to 4 p.m. Saturday at Herrington School by the 300 Girl Scouts in the Will Rogers and Herrington school areas.

Each of the 21 troops has been assigned to present part of the Girl Scout or Brownie promise and Scout laws. Some community service in connection with their law or promise will be explained.

Group to Elect Officers

An election of officers will be on the agenda for members of Kappa Kappa Gamma North Woodward Alumnae Association when they meet March 15.

Mrs. Val Corradi of Bracken Drive will hostess the 12:30 p.m. gathering.

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Gerald Robinson, Mrs. William R. Ludwig, Mrs. M. Dale McKay and Mrs. Ronald Nelson.

The morning unit of this group will meet March 16 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Lois Place of Birmingham.

PTA Open House

An open house is planned when Kennedy Junior High School's PTA meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

After observing classroom and gymnastic demonstrations, parents will hear the ninth-grade choir and the school band.

Do Buttonholes by Hand First

For a neat buttonhole, try working the button hole by hand first, then cutting between the rows of stitching with a single-edge razor blade. If buttonhole is held over a straight clothes pin kept in the sewing basket just for this purpose, you get a neater job. It is easier to cut over the groove in the clothespin.

Chop suey means "small bits."

Cash, Good Dress Unrelated

An interesting disclosure came out of a recent survey of the clothing habits of students in Philadelphia. A sampling of opinions was taken at four distinctly different types of school — selected to isolate, where possible, different trends in the city where there are approximately 500,000 boys between the ages of 13 and 17 years.

Out of the welter of opinions figures and facts — perhaps the most important was this report: "Students whose parents have lesser means are inclined to dress better than offspring of the wealthy, in this particular area."

It's further proof of the oft-made point that grooming depends not so much on the money spent on clothes, as on the "know-how" in selection and wearing!

Why Grow Old ?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q I am counting calories because I must lose weight, for health as well as good looks. I have read that a reducer can munch on celery sticks to her heart's content because celery has so few calories. I have found this to be a very filling and pleasant way to "fill up" between reducing meals. However, my doctor tells me that celery is too high in sodium for my special condition.

A. Try carrot sticks, cauliflower buds and radishes.

Q My mother is 65 years old. In the past six or eight months little bags have appeared around her eyes. I have noticed this same thing in women even younger than my mother. This is affecting her life in every way. Can anything be done about it?

A. These can be successfully removed by plastic surgery.

Q I am 19 years old. Can you tell me if electrolysis on the breasts is dangerous? I have long dark hairs around the nipples and would like to have them removed.

A. See a competent skin specialist. This is not dangerous when properly done.

Q I used to have a wonderful figure until about eight months ago. Now I have a roll of fat hanging over my belt. It is very embarrassing! I would like to get rid of it. Do you recommend certain exercises for the weight between my shoulders and my waist?

A. Since this roll appeared so suddenly I guess that you have gained at least 10 pounds. Count calories in order to lose. Also do the following exercise. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder height. Keep the arms in this position as you twist your trunk as far to the right as you can. Now twist to the left. Continue alternating left and right. Try to look at the back of the room with each twist.

Q I'm 5 feet 1 and weigh 97 pounds. I have very skinny legs which look out of proportion to my body. To top that off, I have very big feet. Skinny legs and big feet just don't go together. Is there any way to make my legs larger (without eating) or my feet smaller?

A. You did not give me your age but even if you are only 15 you are about 10 pounds underweight. A gain will make your legs larger. You can also increase their size by developing the calf muscles. I can't help you with the feet.

Mary Saranen and Ralph Bartles, both of Oliver Street, organize their facts and figures concerning teen-agers for Wednesday's PTSA meeting at Pontiac Northern High School. Five students will participate in a youth panel discussion on the subject "Let's Talk It Over," moderated by instructor Stanley Rogell. The program will be at 7:30 p.m. in the school library.

Fake Lashes? 'Naturally'

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
False eyelashes of mink or synthetic fiber are here to stay. That is if they are properly applied and cared for.

The modern girl is an on-the-go type. She has learned that proper eye make-up gives her added appeal. False eyelashes are a logical part of her make-up when they are thin and natural-looking for daytime or longer and thicker for evening.

For quick home care and application or travel, make up a traveling kit for your eye-lashes.

A small plastic box will do. In it keep two or three rubber bands, a fat round pencil, a small round, goose-neck mirror, tweezers, some cotton swabs and some grease-proof paper.

Also, a change of lashes prolongs the life of both pairs of lashes.

Care is important to keep lashes looking clean and properly shaped. When a fixative builds up on the base of the lashes, hold the lash hairs firmly between the thumb and first finger.

Grip the glue strip with tweezers and gently pull away. A short soaking in warm water keeps the lashes soft and fluffy.

After removing from the water, place on a flat surface. With a cotton swab, stroke the excess water from the lash, from base to outer edge, with a rolling motion.

Put lashes on paper when they are completely dry. Put a pencil on top and slowly roll the paper around the pencil. Secure the paper with a rubber band.

Your lashes will be ready for you when you want to pop them on again.

Monte Sano and Pruzan

Here's a new shape to "check" into the next season, designed by the famous Monte Sano and Pruzan. The collar neckline is deep, the set-in sleeves 3/4 length, the waistline sashed in a soft-leather bowed belt (purchased). The beautiful box pleated skirt flares out and is so graceful when in motion.

Originally made in a small checked wool, but equally good in many other fabrics such as velvet, velveteen, linen, shantung, brocade and tweeds. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit.

Camp Happiness Is Hard to Forget

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — It's called Camp Happiness, but there are no happy campers — not when the games end in torture and legs are twisted until the pain is unbearable.

Spawmed by effective brainwashing techniques inaugurated by the Chinese Communists in the Korean conflict, Camp Happiness is designed to prepare soldiers for possible enemy treatment in Viet Nam.

The camp, a prison mock-up at Ft. Benning near here, is not escaped via death, or defection, although the soldier-students sometimes think that might be the only way out.

"All of them are learning," said Lt. Col. Fred Cleary, a veteran of Viet Nam fighting. "Later on, if they are captured they'll know how to keep from being brainwashed."

HOLD MEMORY

Officer candidates nearing graduation after 23 weeks of training quickly learn Camp Happiness will etch into their minds indelible memories of genuine pain.

This was demonstrated to the latest "prisoners" when one spoke out of turn as the "commander" was giving the new inmates his usual propaganda speech.

"Nobody wants to see your ugly face," said the prisoner. The commander, Capt. J. C. Reid of Richburg, S.C., showed the prisoner that Camp Happiness is not a pleasant place.

ON THE POLE

"Put this man on the pole," Reid ordered. Guards grabbed the prisoner, twisted his legs around a pole, bent one foot painfully underneath him and then pushed him backwards. "Insolent capitalist pig," growled one guard as the prisoner writhed in pain.

The other prisoners watched silently as the tortured prisoner groaned "Okay, I'll apologize." In Korea, American prisoners sometimes cracked under the strain of Communist mental torture techniques. Some even defected.

The government decided that

NO HAPPY CAMPER — Genuine pain is registered on the face of this unidentified soldier undergoing training at Fort Benning's Camp Happiness, a mock prison where soldier-students learn what they might have to bear if captured by the enemy in Viet Nam.

American soldiers had been men mentally and physically to withstand the real thing. "Of course, they will be treated worse than this by the enemy," said Cleary. "But at least they get the idea."

Although they spend only one day behind the barbed wire, the officer candidates receive a first-hand idea of the sort of treatment they can expect if captured.

They experience the methods used to try to demoralize prisoners — weariness, hunger, continuous beating down of the will to resist, and even torture.

This experience, along with knowledge of Communist aims and techniques, prepares the

About-Face for Firemen

DENVER (UPI) — Denver firemen, who spend most of their time dousing fires, will have a chance to set a blaze this week.

Fire Chief Cassio Frazzini said his men will set at least two fires a day starting tomorrow at the 13-floor Park Lane Hotel, a Denver landmark which is scheduled for demolition this spring.

"We've been looking for some big buildings where we could set some fires and get some experience fighting school and hotel fires," said Frazzini. "This is going to be a wonderful opportunity."

Shot Kills Bosch Bodyguard

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Several persons, including a high police officer, have been arrested in connection with the fatal shooting of a guard at the home of former Dominican president Juan Bosch.

The officer, identified only as a police major, was accused by Bosch of shooting his personal bodyguard in the back of the head from a speeding car which opened fire at the home of the ex-president yesterday.

The incident sparked a brief firefight between the other guards at the Bosch residence and a group of policemen stationed at a nearby camp. Two civilians were wounded.

Several jeeploads of U. S. paratroopers sped to the scene and forced a cease-fire by pulling their vehicles between the warring factions.

Morillo refused to give any further information about the persons detained, saying only that "several arrests" had been made in connection with the incident.

REPEATS CLAIM

Bosch, meanwhile, reacted to the shooting fray by repeating his claim that the country was not in the proper climate for national elections.

In an impromptu news conference at his home, Bosch said, "We cannot conduct elections here with people killing people for political reasons."

He told newsmen his Revolutionary Dominican party (PRD) has not decided on a candidate for the general elections scheduled for June 1. He said this will be done at a party convention later this month.

Bosch, who was ousted in a military takeover in 1963, has been frequently threatened with assassination since he returned to his island home last September.

But yesterday's attack was the first time terrorists have attempted anything in the vicinity of his residence.

Witnesses said the men in the speeding car were dressed in the uniforms of police officers, but this could not be confirmed.

Bosch is considered one of the top contenders for the nation's top post in the coming elections. He represents the liberal-leftist movements in the badly divided country.

BLUE RIDGE MTS.

QUESTION: Why can seashells be found on top of the Blue Ridge Mountains?

ANSWER: The Blue Ridge Mountains, covering parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia, belong to the Appalachian Mountain system, part of which is shown on our map.

Looking at their towering splendor, it is hard to realize that this land was once underwater.

The impress of a seashell on a Blue Ridge rock is not an actual shell; it is the trace of an extremely ancient animal who once lived under seawater.

The Appalachians arose somewhere about 200 million years ago. The dotted lines in our map show land and water as it appeared in one of the periods before the Appalachians had arisen: the Ordovician Period.

Then, huge inland seas covered much of what is now land; the dotted lines show where he land was. At some time in that distant past a little seashell animal was trapped in the mud which turned to rock.

Then the Blue Ridge Mountains rose up and hoisted the rock into the air. Now, Jerry is examining the trace of that ancient animal, still clearly visible after hundreds of millions of years.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are few hobbies so fascinating as making a collection of fossils. Read about them, and ask your friends if any fossils are to be found in your area.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas is on another campaign for the conservation of natural resources.

Douglas, 67, a veteran of Himalayan climbs and a hiker with more than 40 years' experience, led a band of hikers on a three-mile jaunt in New York's Hudson River Valley yesterday to publicize the need for conservation of the area.

The 200 hikers walked along the Corton Aqueduct in little more than an hour.

Included in the march was Mayor Sheldon DOUGLAS Wagner of Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y., who gasped, "How did I ever get into this?"

Mayor Lindsay Turns Entertainer

Politics has a new entertainer — none other than Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

He appeared Saturday night in an annual show of political writers known as the Inner Circle at which the city administration is roundly lampooned.

Dressed in a straw hat and white gloves and carrying a cane, the Republican mayor strutted onto the stage for a dazzling five-minute song and dance act. He was accompanied by Florence Henderson, star of the Broadway show, "Fanny."

Some 1,300 guests in the audience at the New York Hilton Hotel included Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

A 'Rich' Inheritance

Singing Hymns Ended Youth's Shyness

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 11th in a 40-part series by famous and unknown persons on how faith in God made a difference in their lives.)

By GEORGE BEVERLY SHEA
As Told To Fred Bauer

Not long ago when an allergy forced me to take a month off from my work as a singer with Billy Graham Crusades, it gave me the chance to visit my 84-year-old mother back in Syracuse, N.Y.

One night in her apartment about 3 a.m. I woke up coughing. I tried to muffle the sound by keeping my head under the bed, but in a minute or two I heard her in the next room fumbling for her slippers.

Mother's don't change: the instinct which had her on her feet at a whimper from one of her eight babies was getting her out of bed now.

A few minutes later there was a rap on my door and in she came with a cup of hot tea and a plate of her own oatmeal cookies. Except for the white hair framing her face in the light from the bedside table, it might have been 50 years before.

Both of us were remembering an earlier illness when I was between 10 and 12 years old, a mysterious infection which kept me out of school nearly two years—and turned an already shy boy into a monument of self-consciousness.

Big for my age anyway, when I went back to school and was placed in a room with boys and girls two years younger than I was, I wanted to sink through the floor. I'd never been a talkative child but now the founts of speech seemed to dry up altogether.

The few times when I had to speak in public were agony.

PROBLEM PERSISTED

The problem persisted even after I had left home and was making my own living.

Once in Chicago I was trapped into giving a talk. Wistfully I thought of my father's warm, wise, seemingly effortless sermons back home. A Wesleyan Methodist preacher, dad always had been as fluent as I was tongue-tied.

And then inspiration came. What if dad were to outline a talk for me? I wrote giving him the subject and begging him to suggest some good points and anecdotes. "Don't fail me," I wrote, "this is an emergency."

Dad's reply didn't fill a third of the space on a penny postcard. "Son, God helped Basil's donkey to talk so I'm sure He can do something for you. Love, Dad."

HELPED MOVE

But although dad would never do for me what I could do for myself, it was he and mother who, with faith and love and patience, helped me at last to move beyond the shyness that would have robbed my life of any chance for service.

As mother and I talked that night, the past seemed very close. I looked down at the teacup in my hands, the well-remembered pattern so reminiscent of other talks.

I found myself recalling other objects that her love and dad's had endowed with special meaning for me.

The first was a piano. The Shea family had no need for an alarm clock: our day started with Mother singing at the piano.

FAMILY HYMNS

There was something wonderfully reassuring to us children about mother singing at the beginning of each day, her resonant soprano ringing through the house. Dad loved to sing, too, and family hymns were part of our daily devotionals.

In singing I found a release from the old problem of bashfulness. Perhaps in the music I was able to forget myself for a while—at any rate as I grew older I poured out in song, thoughts and feelings I had no other way to express.

The final vignette focused on a straight-back chair. It was the chair in which my father sat the night he delivered his final sermon at Willett Memorial Church in Syracuse.

At age 73, cancer had ravaged his body and left him too weak to climb into the pulpit. In the congregation to hear him conclude 53 years of preaching were his eight children and mother.

SPIRIT STRONG

Though dad's body was weakened, his spirit was never stronger. His sermon was one of great reassurance. In a sense, his words were much the same as those we found in a note beside his bed after he had gone.

"Life has been wonderful," he wrote, "the promises of God precious, the eternal hope glorious."

I placed the empty teacup on the nightstand. It was still dark outside but dawn was not far away.

"God has blessed us in many ways," Mother echoed my own unspoken thought. Her hands were gathering up the dishes. "Can I give you something more?" she said.

She meant tea, but my thoughts were still on those other things. A piano, a straight-back chair — music, and God, and hope eternal.

"Thank you, mother," I said. "You've given me everything I need."

Next — Bill Meyers, President Johnson's press secretary, tells why he lost this political post even though he had been selected for promotion.

LET'S ALL VOTE MONDAY

The right to vote is precious. Many persons of all races and creeds have given their lives for this privilege. Wars have been and are being fought for this right of Freedom of Choice. We all have an obligation to our City and District to vote for the Candidate of your choice Monday.

I deeply and with great appreciation thank those persons (our Clergy, Civic, Community Leaders and so many others) who encouraged my candidacy and participation in a clean campaign. We do not know at this time the decision of our District, yet we have and will keep our pledge of clean campaigning not based upon personalities, hate within our District or City.

No matter what the outcome of the election we all must live in our District and our City. Win, lose or draw, we cannot force the future with hate, malice or mistrust. We all must work together to provide "Progress for Pontiac".

I deeply thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

CHARLES M. TUCKER, JR.
Candidate for City Commission District 1

Viet, Price Issues to Aid GOP--Morton

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said today the "sleeper" issue of Viet Nam and voter resentment over steadily rising prices will mean votes in the pocket of the GOP next November.

Morton, chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, predicted that his party would gain at least 45 House seats in this fall's elections.

Morton said that Republicans concur generally with the Johnson administration's conduct of the war in Viet Nam. But, he added, the GOP would benefit from public confusion over the "many contradictory statements from the administration over the past three years."

The senator's views, aired in a television interview, agreed with the assessment GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss made at a news conference Saturday.

Bliss, taking time out from two days of meetings with party chairmen from 35 cities, told newsmen that Democratic "infighting" over Viet Nam was contributing to brighter Republican prospects for the elections.

FAMILY QUARRELS
The chairman added that family quarrels among Democrats over the war were bound to help the GOP and he hoped they would continue.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers took a different view of the Viet Nam debate in a radio interview, however. He applauded the discussion within the party and said it was proper.

"The Democratic party is discussing issues of war and peace and that, it seems to me, is what it is supposed to do," said Moyers.

"If the Democratic party ever stopped debating these issues, and carrying on this public discussion of the consequences of these issues, that is the time I would personally begin to worry about the Democratic party," he said.

Sporting Mood for Lawmakers

MSU-U. of M. Game
Tops Day's 'Agenda'

LANSING (AP)—At the top of the legislative calendar this week is one of the hottest items of the session to date—the Michigan-Michigan State basketball game at East Lansing tonight.

The House and Senate usually start their week with an 8 p.m. Monday opening. Both chambers moved the starting time to the afternoon to make sure the meeting would not conflict with the game — which many lawmakers plan to attend.

The game could have decided the Big Ten title, but Michigan wrapped up the conference crown Saturday with a 105-92 victory over Northwestern. Michigan State fell to Indiana, 86-76.

Lawmakers, however, could find themselves faced with even hotter and less enjoyable issues as the week progresses.

COUNTY BOARDS
The House has before it a controversial bill to apportion county boards of supervisors on a one man-one vote basis from single-member districts.

Opponents deliberately got the chamber tied in procedural knots its last time up ago, after two hours of heated debate, it was listed in the "unfinished business" column.

Another potentially explosive question is a constitutional amendment to return to the practice of gubernatorial appointments to fill judicial vacancies.

It is scheduled for preliminary debate today, but was expected to be postponed until after a House Democratic caucus later this week.

REFINANCING
The Senate has on its schedule the House bill designed to refinance the $100 million Mackinac Bridge, cut down on interest costs and reduce tolls, but could easily delay consideration indefinitely.

In the House is a bill to name the structure after former Gov. C. Mennen Williams. Sponsor Victor Steeh, D-Mount Clemens, said he would consider sending it back to committee "because some people regard it as being too political."

Red China Claims U.S. Plane Downed

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China said today a U.S. pilotless high altitude reconnaissance plane was shot down over south China Saturday.

It said the downing was the third "enemy plane" brought down by Chinese air force units this year.

The claim, broadcast by the New China News Agency, charged the United States had stepped up its intrusions into Chinese air space and territorial waters as part of its efforts to expand the Viet Nam war.

Officer Thought Leading Cong Rated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese general believed leading Communist forces in South Viet Nam is rated as a first-class strategist, an able planner and a competent field commander.

This evaluation of Lt. Gen. Hoang Van Thai has been made for Washington officials after painstaking exploration of the Chinese-trained general's background.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Thai, former assistant chief of the North Vietnamese Joint General Staff, infiltrated into South Viet Nam in early 1964 "and reportedly is the current commander of the Viet Cong armed forces."

McNamara also said a second North Vietnamese lieutenant general named Luong also was a 1964 infiltrator into South Viet Nam.

POLITICAL CHIEF
Luong may be in charge of political affairs for the highest Communist headquarters in South Viet Nam, McNamara said.

No details in Luong's background were available. However, it is known that Washington authorities have been given a rundown on Thai.

He was described as popular with the troops, as well as being a capable leader.

EXPENSIVE TASTES
He is reported to have acquired what was described as expensive tastes.

It appeared unlikely he could satisfy such tastes while living in the back country of South Viet Nam.

No information was available on Thai's family, nor his physical description, his language abilities or his religion, if any.

That was said to have been born some 50 years ago in North Viet Nam, some 40 miles south of Hanoi.

CHINESE ARMY
He probably was a teacher between 1928 and 1938 and is said to have served in the Chinese army.

U.S. authorities have been told that Thai has had both Chinese and Soviet military training, spent time at a Japanese naval school, and lived in Europe before returning to Viet Nam prior to 1939.

In 1939, Thai fled to Kwangsi in southern China with the man who was North Viet Nam's top military figure, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, probably returning to Viet Nam between 1941 and 1943 to help build the military forces of the Communist-led Viet Minh.

These include a member of the Central Committee of the ruling Lao Dong Communist party, a deputy in the National Assembly, deputy minister of national defense, director general of training in the Ministry of Defense and member of the National Scientific Research Board.

After World War II, Thai rose to chief of staff of the Viet Minh army fighting the French and in 1952 directed Viet Minh operations in the Tonkin area.

WAS PROMOTED
He was promoted to lieutenant general in 1960 and the positions he holds show clearly his importance in the Hanoi hierarchy.

These include a member of the Central Committee of the ruling Lao Dong Communist party, a deputy in the National Assembly, deputy minister of national defense, director general of training in the Ministry of Defense and member of the National Scientific Research Board.

Thai is regarded as an advocate of the Red Chinese hard line school.

Bond May Get Zapped

Batman Grabs Spotlight at Toy Fair

By SALLY RYAN

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Will Batman pop? Good before Christmas?

From across the country, 954 toy makers have emerged from their Bat caves to show 10,000 commercial toy buyers here what they can expect next fall.

Nearly all of them are offering Batman. Batmobiles, Bat-cuffs, Batrangers, Batman Oil paints, Batman trace-graphs, Batman sunglasses, Batman hats, Batman helmets, Batman kites and Batman hop bags so little boy wonders can sock him — Zok! Wham! Biff!

No one, however, apparently wants to be known as Boy Wonder. Batman's teen-age sidekick Robin is all but ignored at the 63rd annual American Toy Fair that opens today.

COMIC BOOK HEROES

The rediscovery of comic book heroes has brought back Superman. Winnie-the-Pooh is back, and so is Alice in Wonderland.

Then there is James Bond, who was never away.

There is a battery-operated model of the Thunderbolt boat that separates in the middle to become a hydrofoil, and at least two versions of Bond's Aston Martin sports car, ejecting enemies through the roof.

There are girl spies, too — namely Honey West, a doll who comes with a karate outfit and a slinky evening gown, along with a bracelet that turns into handcuffs.

COST MORE

Many of the toys will cost more next Christmas, but no across the board increases are in sight. Some manufacturers say they will raise prices on specific items — a doll here, a ball there — to cover increased costs of labor, plastic, metal and packaging.

A miniature car that cost 49 cents last year, for instance, will cost 55.

Toy manufacturers have gambled huge sums on new toys, picking up characters from television and movies before they know how the public will react.

"It's a big gamble," said Jerome M. Fryer, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A. Inc.

HAVE COURAGE

"You just have to have the courage to do it."

Fryer estimated 1965 retail sales of toys were $2.44 billion. He predicted this year that they would be up 5 to 10 per cent, with a trend toward more expensive toys.

It looks as if 1966 will be a little world for little people.

There are miniature cars — Mustangs, Volkswagens, beach buggies, Lotus Fords and Pierce Arrows, some motorized, some radio-controlled and nearly all with doors and trunks that open, revealing motors and spare tires.

ROAD RACING

From there, the next step is road racing sets, costing $15 to $500, with Detroit test tracks, stunt drivers and Le Mans tracks.

Last year's miniature ovens have inspired a rash of new things for little cooks, including a chocolate factory, a fireman's train and dairy stand. There is even a set so little Lois can make her own bubble gum.

There are miniature dolls, 2½ to 4 inches tall, with rooted hair and painted eyes; a fireman (Bunsen Burnie) who comes with his own fire engine; a girl

And what of big dolls after last year's walkers who now rollerskate?

CUDDLY BABY

There is a cuddly baby (Cheerful Tearful) who cries watery tears when you raise her arm and smiles sunnily when you lower it, and a magnetized darling (real live Lucy) who shakes her head no at spinach but nods "yes" at her bottle.

Barbie, who now changes her hair and dress colors with a magic solution, has a new model, cousin, Francie, and 7-year-old twin brother and sister, Todd and Tutti, more of the little people, designed to extend the Barbie family to lower age groups.

Todd is another of the new boy dolls.

GI Joe, who began it all, is back in a green beret special forces outfit, along with a Negro companion and a Japanese imperial soldier, a helmeted German trooper, a Russian infantryman, a French resistance fighter, a British commando and an Australian jungle fighter.

TOY SOLDIERS

There are sets to cast toy soldiers and another battle game, Guadacanal. There are the usual Army and Air Force Jeps, Lugers, Arisaka rifles and the like.

"We don't create war," said Fryer, the toy makers' president. "You shouldn't blame children because adults are fighting."

Heart-Lung Resuscitator Saving Lives

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Modern science can "raise the dead" if the person's heart has not stopped beating too long.

A new 19-pound heart-lung resuscitator called a Cardi-activator is saving lives even as patients are moved to the ambulance. The machine, developed by W. J. Mullikin of Washington, D. C., replaces an earlier model he invented several years ago.

In 1961, Science Service reported that a 67-year-old man had been revived five times within two hours at Georgetown University Hospital using the earlier model.

The patient had been under treatment for aneurysm, but soon after he was admitted to the hospital he had a coronary attack that stopped his heart completely.

Mullikin was not satisfied with that heavy model, however, because it was difficult to carry to an ambulance for quick treatment.

SEEKS PATENT

He has therefore applied for a patent, not only for the heart-lung resuscitator, which permits oxygen to ventilate the person's lungs through a mask after his heart has been mechanically massaged, but for a seven-and-a-quarter-pound Cardi-activator for heart resuscitation only.

A third new invention for which a patent has been applied is a four-pound portable type of EKG, or electrocardiograph, that is battery operated.

Rescue squads and fire departments as well as hospitals and other institutions are using these inventions.

While Law's Away,

a Thief Will Play

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Policeman Gary Raymond and Salvatore Macalusa collared a man apparently in the act of stealing a battery from a parked car.

The suspect insisted he was only checking the battery for a friend. So Raymond took the man into a nightclub to find the friend, who corroborated his story. Meanwhile, while Raymond was in the club, someone stole his nightstick, flashlight and clipboard.

Board Verdict Due on Avon Rezoning

AVON TOWNSHIP — The fate of 46.6 acres of land between Hamlin and Avon roads is to be decided by the Township Board Wednesday.

The Township Zoning Board and the Oakland County Coordinating, Zoning and Planning Committee have already recommended the area be rezoned from general farm to light industrial.

Opponents of the proposed rezoning expect residents to turn out in large numbers Wednesday night to register protests.

More than 100 persons protested the plan at a zoning board meeting in January. At that time, a petition bearing 270 signatures opposing rezoning was presented to the board.

Most of the objections centered on the devaluation of property if light industry is allowed, and increased traffic which would "change a peaceful, safe neighborhood into a nightmare."

WAY OF LIFE

Opponents also claim that a way of life will be changed if rezoning is allowed. They illustrated their point Saturday by delivering notices of the meeting by horseback.

"We were trying to show that there won't be any horses allowed here anymore if the area is rezoned," said Mrs. John W. Chastain of 1921 Livernois.

R & C Robertson, Inc., wants the land rezoned for industry of a type which a spokesman says will resemble the new Holley Computer Co. in Rochester.

The section is part of an area designated as an "industrial corridor" in the township's master plan.

MONEY SPENT

When the township zoning board recommended approval last month, it pointed out the township has spent considerable money on a master plan to serve as a guide for development and that this is one of the first rezoning requests which fits in with the plan.

Members also noted that the terrain makes the land suitable for light industry and that heavy utility poles across the property make it less desirable for residential use.

Legal counsel for the Hamlin-Livernois Homeowners Association has indicated the group may take the matter to court if necessary to prevent rezoning.

SPECIAL DELIVERY — Pamphlets advertising an upcoming meeting in Avon Township were delivered by horseback Saturday to illustrate the fact that horses may become extinct in part of the township if industrial rezoning is approved. "Pony Express" riders Diane Healy (left), 2330

Livernois, and Barbara Chastain, 1921 Livernois, deliver the notice to Melvin M. Edwards, 790 Hamlin. The meeting will be held Wednesday at the township hall. Proposed is rezoning of 46.6 acres between Hamlin and Avon roads from general farm to light industrial.

Public Meeting Tonight on School Merger Plan

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — School district residents will have an opportunity tonight to make known their feelings about the proposed merger of the Brandon and Clarkson school districts.

The Brandon Board of Education will hold a public meeting at 8 p.m. at the Brandon High School, Orionville.

It is the first of several public meetings scheduled prior to the April 4 annexation vote in the Brandon district.

The proposed merger has the approval of both boards of education, the State Department of Education and Oakland Schools Supt. Dr. William J. Emerson.

It does not, however, have the approval of several Brandon Township residents, including Supervisor Richard Wilcox and Orionville Village President Charles Sherman, who are among the leaders of the opposition.

HASTE CLAIMED

They claim that the Brandon board acted "too hastily" without studying the overall ramifications.

Wilcox said the people were "sold a bill of goods" when they were not presented with both the advantages and disadvantages of the annexation.

Their main argument is that construction of a new high school would eliminate what is now the center of the Brandon community.

"The whole community revolves around the school," Wilcox pointed out. "If the high school is moved south, it will do more harm to the community than be offered."

MERGER BACKED

Proponents of the merger claim that the move would produce a more diversified and better education for the children.

They feel that a broader educational program would be provided because it would allow for more specialization and less duplication.

Board of education trustee

Frederic Howard points out that it would cost Brandon residents $4 to $8 per $1,000 of assessed value to build a new high school. If the combined districts build a high school, the estimated increase is $1 or $2 per $1,000. The combined districts would total about 100 square miles with an enrollment of about 7,000.

Area Students Are Teaching

Over 20 students at Western Michigan University from the local area are taking part in practice teaching programs through out Michigan.

All seniors at the university, the students who are spending the semester in the final stage of preteacher training are Joseph Galatito of Armada; Robert Galan of Romeo and Richard Quandt and Ellen Ricketts of Utica.

Also participating in the program are Nancy Forbis, of 218 Crescent Lake and Judith Mall of 2450 Litchfield, Waterford Township; Glenda Coleman, 32241 Old Forge, Susan Graham, 31295 Orchard Lake, Donald McKay, 28218 Quail Hollow, Richard Young, 20928 Meadowlark and Lee Youngs, 22741 Mayfield, Farmington Township.

Others are Michael Yeagley, 131 Park, Holly; Ross Gillespie, 650 S. Fieldstone and Robert Knerr, 1857 Ansel, Avon Township; Michael Harrington, 7821 Eldora, West Bloomfield Township; Lloyd Brewer, 750 Decker and Philip Cunningham, 7842 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake.

PTA at Union Lake

to Discuss School Aid

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Federal aid to education will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Union Lake Elementary School PTA.

Speaker for the 8 p.m. program will be John Williams, administrative assistant to Walled Lake Schools Supt. George G. Garver.

Lower Prices Forecast on Hog Market

EAST LANSING — Farmers can expect lower hog prices and higher milk prices this year, two agricultural economists say. J. A. Hofer, a Michigan State University swine specialist, believes hogs may be marketed in larger numbers in late fall and winter of 1966-67; driving prices down.

Now is the time, he said, for swine producers to place profits back into investments that will improve their efficiency.

This will prepare them for the "inevitable cost-price squeeze which always follows the period of higher prices," said Hofer.

MSU's John Ferris said despite modest increases in milk prices paid to dairymen in 1965, daily operations declined.

NUMBER OF CATTLE

The number of dairy cattle in Michigan dropped by about 47,000 head — more than the total for the previous five years, he said, and milk production was down 7 per cent from 1964.

Nationwide, milk production dropped only 1 per cent in 1965. Dairying cutbacks, Ferris said, apparently were a case of the tight labor situation, attractive prices, rising feed costs and pasture conditions.

Auxiliary Elects Slate of Officers

SOUTHFIELD — St. Anne's Auxiliary officers elected at its recent annual meeting were Mrs. John Gilray, 4730 Avondale, Bloomfield Hills, president; Mrs. Harlan Splawn, vice president; Mrs. Victor Gutt, recording secretary; Mrs. William Martin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. David McFarland, treasurer and Mrs. Ben Ragland, parliamentarian.

The auxiliary provides activities for the occupants of St. Anne's Mead, a retirement residence sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

The residence, located on 12 Mile Road, opened in December to provide a home for retirement-aged men and women and has been scheduling a full slate of activities for them.

At Stony Creek

New Park Building to Open

The new Visitors Center Building at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park five miles northeast of Rochester will open Friday for public use.

The two-level structure is located at the main park entrance on a hill adjacent to 26 Mile Road two miles west of M53 and six miles north of Utica.

Over one million visitors are expected to come to Stony Creek Metropolitan Park during 1966 according to James Clarkson of Waterford Township, Oakland County's representative on the seven member commission of the Haro-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

The Visitors Center Building is the new central headquarters for Stony Creek and has 4,482 square feet of useable space with a lobby, information center, communications room and restrooms open for public use.

CONCRETE TREE

Additional space is allotted for park personnel, general storage area and an emergency vehicle garage. The L-shaped, two-story building is constructed of steel, reinforced concrete, glass and fieldstone and uses a "concrete tree" theme similar to the design of Baypoint Beachhouse at the swimming site along Stony Creek Lake.

A contract in the amount of $222,222 was awarded Feb. 11, 1965, to the Dale E. Cook Construction Co. of Pontiac for construction of the building.

Promenade lighting and parking space is provided outside the building, which was designed by Wakely-Kushner and Associates of St. Clair Shores. The Visitors Center Building and the newly completed M-53 Freeway, Utica bypass section, plus the opening of the four-lane divided 26 Mile Road west from M-53 to the park are three major improvements to benefit park users in 1966.

Medical Crisis—1

U.S. Facing Shortage of Doctors and Nurses

(EDITOR'S NOTE: With new demands pressing on it from all directions, American medicine today faces a time of crisis. But from this period of testing, new patterns of better health care may emerge. This is the first of five articles appraising the nation's medical picture today and tomorrow.)

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The young, dark-haired doctor in Boston paused, searching for his words.

"It's a tidal wave," he said. "There's simply a great tidal wave of demand and human need for more and better health care, boiling up all across the land."

Standing on the traditional shoreline, to meet this wave, are some 280,000 physicians, about 600,000 nurses, and 97,000 dentists.

Before the wave subsides, says a surgeon in Houston, it will strain, drown, or change many traditional ways of supplying the nation's medical manpower and meeting the health needs of its people.

NEW STRUCTURES

In their place will rise some new structures in the house of medicine, new kinds of health assistants, new ways to keep people healthy, to extend life, to add to its quality.

This now is a time of crisis, of a serious shortage not only of doctors and nurses but also technologists and others possessing dozens of needed skills, according to many, though not all, leaders in various responsibilities of medical and health care.

Seek Baffling Disease Clue

May Link Environment to Multiple Sclerosis

By Science Service

CHICAGO — A possible link between environment and multiple sclerosis (MS) could be a "valuable tool" in searching for the cause and cure of the disease, says the American Medical Association.

Cases of MS seem to appear in clusters, and there is apparently some as yet unknown environmental factor that is distributed in the same way, reports Dr. John F. Kurtzke, a neurologist at the Georgetown University School of Medicine and the Veterans Administration Hospital, both in Washington, D. C.

It would be "significant," says the Journal of the AMA, if it is indeed turned out that MS is an acquired disease, caused by factors outside the body.

Dr. Kurtzke studied worldwide distribution reports on MS and published his findings in the Archives of Neurology. Although he does not speculate on what these factors might be, he does eliminate some possibilities.

Climate or diet seem to be ruled out because the cluster areas are too small to be affected by these. Heredity may not be a factor, either, inasmuch as two generations of patients in Denmark and Switzerland were surveyed with no familial relationship.

The highest frequency of MS is found in the northern United States, southern Canada and northern Europe, where there are 30 to 60 cases per 100,000 population.

Medium-frequency zones, in which five to 15 per 100,000 cases are found, include the southern U. S., southern Europe and Australia.

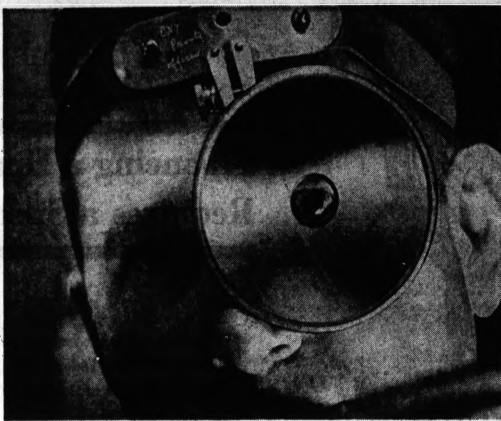

Asia and Africa seem to have the lowest incidence of the disease, although Dr. Kurtzke concedes that figures may be distorted by a lack of adequate surveys in some areas.

EYES THE FUTURE—A young Boston doctor peers through an ophthalmoscope as though to eye the future of United States medicine, which today faces a time of crisis.

Demands of medicine grow by leaps and bounds. More and better health care is the goal.

The shortages "will get worse before they get better," authorities in many cities agree.

The tidal wave springs from many sources:

1. Medicare, starting July 1, providing hospitalization under insurance for up to 18 million citizens of 65 or over.

INCREASE DEMAND

Medicare is certain to increase demand for hospital beds, surgical, medical and nursing care. No one is sure how much. "But ready or not, here it comes," one doctor remarks.

2. Coming establishment of regional centers for heart disease, cancer and strokes, designed to spread the best, most modern knowledge and techniques more broadly through communities.

3. Spread of prepaid insurance plans for medical and hospital care, removing some of the financial hesitation to seek attention.

4. Growth of comprehensive community mental health centers, already provided for under federal and state laws.

POPULATION EXPANSION

5. Expansion of population—there are nearly 200 million Americans now. And now many people know more about medicine; they expect more and better care.

6. And—possibly most significant in total numbers—millions of neglected poor people are being introduced to the chance for better health care.

"Deduct, on the home front, doctors drafted for military service to tend fighting men in Viet Nam. The last call, in February, was for 2,496 doctors. More may be needed if the war widens, if more men fall ill of malaria or other diseases resistant to present drugs.

All this surge of demand is rising to test a system of medicine, American medicine, which in many respects is the best in the world. At its highest level, it is without peer. It has many strengths, superb quality.

SOFT SPOTS

Medicare is certain to increase demand for hospital beds, surgical, medical and nursing care. No one is sure how much. "But ready or not, here it comes," one doctor remarks.

For years, the United States has been importing doctors—one in six doctors licensed each year was graduated from some foreign medical school.

Doctors are not always available in emergencies.

They are in short supply or lacking in some small towns and rural communities. Most hospitals lack 10 to 25 per cent of the nurses for whom they have positions.

Doctors are not all of equal skill and knowledge, any more than persons in any profession. New knowledge, new techniques flowing rapidly from research impose "continuing education" or else slippage of a physician's medical art, even to the point of mediocrity.

POOR PEOPLE

Of what use, many ask, is new life-saving knowledge if it is not applied quickly, and well? Millions of poor people do not receive good or timely care, despite free clinics, despite donations of time by dedicated doctors.

And there are inevitable strains because "the doctor" is, after all, a human being—like service to tend fighting men in Viet Nam. The last call, in February, was for 2,496 doctors. More may be needed if the war widens, if more men fall ill of

"She woke me up at 2 a.m. to say her baby had a one-degree temperature; I'm afraid I barked at her." "I don't know if he's really following the prescribed diet, so I don't know exactly what to think." "She rejects any suggestion there can be an emotional element in her stomach pains."

Every patient has some personal experience, and frequent gripe, about physicians or hospitals.

"I kept my finger on that buzzer and it was 20 minutes before that nurse ever showed up." "The doctor completely missed the diagnosis; it turned out my mother had cancer." "You should see the bill I got!"

HEALTH CARE

Perhaps there's no hope of resolving all such problems between patient and doctor or others giving health care to an individual.

But medicine is no exception to "the rapid turning of the wheels of change," writes Dr. Ward Darley of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Several deans of medical schools agree: "We need new ideas, new experiments to solve problems, and medical schools should take much of the lead."

"We won't crack some of the problems until the public de-

PUBLIC NOT AWARE

"And the public is not aware of the problems."

Now, says Dr. Robert Ebert, dean of Harvard Medical School, "the social pressure to change our medical ways is enormous. People are demanding good health as a fundamental right."

"Unless the private sector of medicine comes up with the answers, the tendency will be to legislate those answers." "Our problem, basically, is how to step into the 20th century in some respects," adds Dr. Raymond Pruitt, acting dean of Baylor University Medical School in Houston.

NO DEARTH

There is no dearth of ideas, suggestions and proposals to remedy problems and to improve medical and health care.

A great trouble, says Dr. John H. Knowles, Administrator of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, "is that everyone is feeling just part of the elephant. No one feels much commitment outside the area of his own interest."

And it is a big, old and complicated elephant.

DISCOVER MERCURY!

"Smartest purchase since Louisiana!"
Lewis and Clark said, expeditiously.

Linda Lewis of Detroit and William Clark, a catering executive, from Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, had never met until they met up with Mercury and Mercury Comet.

We brought them together for an expedition which led to a joint discovery. And what they discovered, they liked!

"I like that Mercury Comet," said Mrs. Lewis. "The inside is gorgeous. The outside is dreamy."

Linda Lewis

It's a bigger car than I ever imagined.

(Ed. Note: We told Mrs. Lewis that Comet had grown up a whole size. In length, size, and room, Comet is now the big, new-generation driving machine.)

"Mercury is my kind of car," said Bill Clark. "It's got the solidity and luxury a fellow like me enjoys on the road."

"That Stereo-Sonic Tape System"—and the idea that you can take your own music with you—is great.

"In every kind of driving situation, the quiet performance from that Marauder 410 V-8 is really exceptional!"

"And the looks, Mercury has a design all its own. If you're your own man, you want your own look. Mercury's got it."

We suggest that you have a lot of discovering to do at your Mercury dealer's. Why not make an expedition there, today?

Here are some more discoveries by Lewis and Clark!

- Mercury's silk-on-satin ride—The way Mercury moves is unique. Smooth, substantial, hushed.
- Mercury's unique looks and features—Exclusive styling, power door locks*, and Stereo-Sonic Tape System*.
- Mercury's wide choice of models—17 in four distinguished series including two wagons with exclusive Dual-Action Tailgate. And 13 models in Mercury Comet!

S. Korea May Seek Closer U.S. Ties

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Some legislators of South Korea's ruling Democratic-Republican party may come up this week with a resolution urging revision of the Korea-U.S. defense pact.

NEWSOM

It would be sought as a further means of guaranteeing Korean security in return for the dispatch of more Korean troops to South Viet Nam. U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said at a news conference in Seoul that revision of the pact was not necessary.

The U.S. has pledged that aggression against South Korea will be regarded as aggression against the U.S. itself.

But some junior legislators want it in stronger language, and in writing.

Red Cosmonauts: Responsible Moscow sources, pool-pooed reports that the Russians soon will launch a team of six cosmonauts as another step toward a manned flight to the moon.

A more educated guess is that they will await tests on the orbiting dogs, Veterok and Ugolyok, before launching a similar manned flight to test survival in hitherto untended radiation zones.

Some romantic observers are guessing that a manned lunar landing will be timed for the 50th anniversary of the Russian revolution in November, 1967.

But hard-headed scientists who know their business don't expect it for several more years.

No Room at the Inn: Moscow hotel space is inadequate any time but its even worse now that the Soviets are preparing for the party congress to be held later this month.

Newsmen, diplomats and visiting professors and businessmen are being evicted from hotels, moved into smaller quarters or jammed into inadequate apartments to make room for the expected mobs of delegates.

Church-State: Western diplomatic circles in Warsaw fear the Communist regime will severely restrict Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński's exercise of his functions as primate of Poland. They point to the increasingly personal nature of the criticism of the cardinal in the Polish press for his letter of reconciliation to the German bishops, which the regime said was interference in official Polish foreign policy.

Trouble de Gaulle: The wave of strikes which hit France in the last week, or so is likely to be only the beginning of mounting labor trouble, particularly in nationalized industries.

Next to be hit probably will be the Paris bus services, followed by a nationwide gas and electricity stoppage.

The labor unions also are considering a 24-hour nationwide general strike because the government is trying to hold wage increases to about four-and-a-half per cent annually. The unions say this is insufficient.

4 Nations Enter Probes of 3 Japanese Air Crashes

TOKYO (AP) — Aviation experts from four nations began intensive investigations today in the wake of three successive airline disasters in the Tokyo area that killed 321 persons.

Japanese officials also launched urgent studies of aviation safety in Japan and renewed calls for a new airport.

Two crashes Saturday and Sunday killed 98 Americans, including 75 in a tour group aboard a British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 bound for Hong Kong.

Heavy rains on the lower slopes of Mt. Fuji, site of the BOAC crash Saturday, that killed all 124 aboard, hampered studies being made of the twisted wreckage.

CLEAR SKY

Photographs of the BOAC jet which spun out of a clear sky showed the plane began disintegrating while falling. Smoke traced from the full length of both wings.

Pieces of the Canadian Pacific Airlines Douglas DC8 jet that crashed Friday in a fog at the Tokyo airport were being picked over by more experts. That crash killed 64 of the 72 persons aboard.

On Feb. 4 a Boeing 72 jet operated by All Nippon Airways crashed in Tokyo harbor and killed all 133 persons aboard. It was the worst crash involving a single plane.

Among the investigators arriving from the United States, Britain and Canada was John G. Adams, a member of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board. He said he would study all three crashes, all of which involved American-made jets.

Identification of the BOAC victims continued in the small city of Columbia, at the foot of Mt. Fuji. Workers said the task was extremely difficult because the bodies were badly mangled.

Identification of the bodies in the Canadian Pacific crash also has not been completed. Most of them were badly burned.

Bodies of the American victims were being taken to the Tachikawa U.S. Air Force base outside Tokyo.

Heard testimony

Sir Giles Guthrie, board chairman of BOAC, and R. B. Phillips, vice president of Canadian Pacific, arrived for the investigations. As the foreign teams studied the wreckage, Japanese authorities started hearings on the disasters.

HEARD TESTIMONY

Testimony was heard from airline pilots and air controllers. Transportation Minister Tōrōta Nakamura announced that the Prime Minister Eisaku Sato had instructed him to speed up plans for a new airport.

The big BOAC plane, which was bound for Hong Kong and London, flew past Mt. Fuji because many of the passengers had expressed a desire to see the famed landmark. It was a clear day but warnings of high winds near the Fuji area were issued after the plane took off.

Most of the passengers still had their seat belts fastened when their bodies were found.

TAIL SECTION

The tail section of the plane was found more than two miles from the main part of the fuselage, indicating it was wrenched off as the plane fell. The front of the fuselage, including the pilot's cabin, was more than 300 feet from the main part.

Haggard aviation officials had a brief scare Sunday night when a U.S. Air Force C130 Hercules transport ran off the runway at the Tachikawa base and plunged into a rice field. None of the five men aboard was hurt.

Thousands of Japanese flocked to the Tokyo airport Sunday in hopes of seeing some of the wreckage of the Canadian jet and anything connected with the BOAC crash. They clustered around the wreckage of the types of aircraft that had crashed.

Conservatives Control Austria

Party Has Majority After Sunday Election

VIENNA (AP) — Chancellor Josef Klaus and other leaders of his Conservative People's party discussed today whether to man the government alone or continue the coalition with the Socialists which has governed Austria since the war.

In national elections Sunday, the Conservatives for the first time won a majority in Parliament. They picked up four more seats for a total of 65 in the 165-seat lower chamber.

The Socialists slipped from 75 to 47 seats and the right-wing Freedom party from 10 to 6.

The Democratic Progress party of former Socialist Interior Minister Franz Olah failed to make the grade. Olah lost his independent seat but made inroads on the Socialists in vital areas.

REDS DEFEATED

The Communists, who supported the Socialist candidates in 24 election districts, were defeated in their only try for a seat from downtown Vienna.

Although Klaus is no longer dependent on the Socialists for a majority, the tradition of coalition government has become so strong there is considerable pressure for its continuance.

Klaus gave no indication of his plans for the new government but described the election result as a "clear rejection of the Socialist-Communist popular front."

The Socialist party chief, Vice Chancellor Bruno Pittermann, has indicated readiness to join Klaus in a new coalition. The two parties divided the Cabinet posts evenly in previous governments. If he is ready for a new coalition, Klaus is certain to insist on at least one more ministry for his party.

HEAVY DEFICIT

This could be the Foreign Ministry, held previously by Socialist Bruno Kreisky, or the Transport Ministry, which controls the national railways. It was the heavy deficit of this state enterprise that caused the budget crisis which forced the previous government's resignation.

The Foreign Ministry would give the Conservatives a platform from which to activate "bridge-building" policies with Communist East Europe and to push for economic association with the West's European Common Market.

Griffin Is Urging Federal Action in School Law Suit

DETROIT (AP)—The Justice Department at Washington is being urged by Rep. Robert P. Griffin to intervene in litigation over Michigan's auxiliary school services law.

Griffin made the request of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach Saturday in a letter declaring the government has a "direct and urgent interest" in view of similar federal legislation.

The auxiliary services law, challenged on constitutional grounds by the American Civil Liberties Union and others, requires public schools to extend certain special school services to parochial and private schools. The suit charges this violates the principle of separation of church and state.

Reagan Tells Reason for Abrupt Behavior

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Ronald Reagan, who stalked out of a meeting of the California Negro Republican Assembly, says he made the abrupt departure because of "demagogic references" by fellow gubernatorial hopefuls that he is "a racist or bigot."

Reagan jumped to his feet Saturday night and shouted to an audience of more than 100: "I resent the implication that there is any bigotry in my nature."

"Don't anyone ever imply I lack integrity. I will not stand silent and let anyone imply that — in this or any other group."

In reply to Reagan's statement about "demagogic references," one of his rivals for the GOP nomination, former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, said:

VAGUE TERM

"The phrase 'used demagogic references' is itself so vague that it bears the attributes of hysteria."

"I challenge Mr. Reagan to state precisely where any such implication could be deduced either by my words or the words of any of the delegates or candidates."

Reagan, replying to Christopher, said: "It is possible that Mr. Christopher and I have different ideas as to what contributes to party unity. And in my opinion, that cause would not be advanced by any further comment from me."

Reagan, who recently had the flu, plans to enter a hospital Tuesday for an examination, an aide said. The aide said it would be a routine checkup and that Reagan is not ill.

The political row started when Reagan left the meeting Saturday muttering a few inaudible words and slamming his fist into his palm.

Reagan later issued the statement which said he returned to the convention and "made it perfectly clear that at no time was my anger directed toward the delegates or the conduct of the convention."

Worry, Not School Homework, Blamed for Student Pressures

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

How hard should a student be made to work?

A mother recently described the pressures under which her son, a high school senior, is working. Competition for top grades and recommendations to preferred colleges was taking its toll.

Her son, a conscientious boy, was averaging six hours on his homework each school night. She feared that so much work would affect his health. Some of her son's classmates had actually developed ulcers. She blamed the school for assigning too much homework.

It isn't the work that produces ulcers. It is the students' worry and fear that perhaps, they are not succeeding well in school because they have not experienced the thrill of success through great effort. When a student has accomplished an assignment through hard work which he felt at the beginning he could not do, it gives him a great feeling of pleasure and satisfaction.

The question of how much homework should be demanded is difficult to answer. Some students work 10 times as fast as others even when every student in the class knows how to do the work.

This means that the assignment for the fastest student would require five hours for the slowest. Yet all students should be required to work. There is nothing wrong with work.

Many students feel incapable of succeeding well in school because they have not experienced the thrill of success through great effort. When a student has accomplished an assignment through hard work which he felt at the beginning he could not do, it gives him a great feeling of pleasure and satisfaction.

If a child must spend all his spare time at his books, the answer is not to eliminate work from his life. However, if schoolwork is to be brought into a proper balance with the rest of his life, some careful thinking must take place.

The Possible Causes are:
 • The student may not be working efficiently.
 • He may be working slowly merely from habit.
 • He may not be learning effectively in class.
 • He may be taking too many courses.
 • And then, of course, there is the possibility that his teachers are actually making unreasonable assignments. Homework, with the opportunity for independent study and the development of self-discipline and good work habits, holds a vital place in our educational system.

Since it takes place outside the classroom, teachers are usually unaware of the problems which their students face in completing assignments. How the car in which she was riding ever, it is their responsibility and a semitrailer truck collided that students learn to work with Huntville, Ind. Her daughter-in-law, Miriam Sheldrake, 39, of Anderson, died in the crash.

Dies From Injuries

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Sheldrake, 77, of Grand Rapids, Mich., died here Sunday in injuries suffered Jan. 20 when the car in which she was riding ever, it is their responsibility and a semitrailer truck collided that students learn to work with Huntville, Ind. Her daughter-in-law, Miriam Sheldrake, 39, of Anderson, died in the crash.

FLAMING DEBRIS—A section of the flaming roof of The Circle Club in Pittsburgh plunges toward firemen fighting the five-alarm fire yesterday on the city's North Side. Fire fighters said the blaze at the club and three adjoining buildings caused an estimated $75,000 damage. There were no injuries.

Citizen Control Is Necessary for Police Dept. Review Board

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
 Executive Director
 National Urban League

New York's Mayor Lindsay has announced his intention to expand his police department's complaint review board to include a majority of civilians. By so doing, he has unleashed a hornet's nest. Protests have come loud and clear from citizens worried that the police-man's power to fight crime will be impaired, as well as from policemen themselves, who fear that they will be at the mercy of individuals unfamiliar with the problems involved. I believe that these fears are unjustified.

ment, he is entitled to get a fair hearing before a public body made up of members not directly a part of the department, members who can bring a greater sense of independence to their judgments.

The accused patrolman will have his rights protected at such a hearing, and, if he is exonerated, will not have the suspicion hanging over him that the decision was "fixed," which is likely in a purely departmental hearing.

Perhaps the greatest problem facing the policemen in our great cities is the tension which exists between them and minority groups who, for the most part, are concentrated in ghetto areas.

BRUTAL DEFENDER

Most Negroes in our cities come from the South, where the policeman is most often seen as the brutal defender of segregationist practices. Even in the North, many policemen seem to operate under a double standard—a set of rules for dealing with white people, another, more harsh, for dealing with Negroes.

Policemen are drawn from all walks of life and share the prejudices which many people have. The problem is that the policeman must not only be more honest than most people, but also must lay his prejudices aside in the performance of his duties.

There have been a number of instances in recent years where policemen have abused minority group members in situations which would not have occurred had the victims been white.

It is this unfairness which a civilian board can correct. By providing a forum for the impartial handling of charges of abuse of authority, the existence of such a board will ease the tensions which now are so harmful. Police in the ghetto must be seen as protectors, not enemies. The board will help them improve their image.

It is instructive too, to examine the experiences of other cities which have review boards. They have found no impairment of police efficiency nor have they had undue numbers of complaints. They have found significantly better relations in the ghetto areas where the crime rate was highest and the need for cooperation greatest.

CIVILIAN CONTROL

The principle of civilian control of military and quasi-military organizations has always been basic to democracy, as is the principle of the accountability of public officials to the citizenry.

When a citizen has a complaint to lodge against a member of an organization as powerful as the police department, he is entitled to get a fair hearing before a public body made up of members not directly a part of the department, members who can bring a greater sense of independence to their judgments.

Leftist Ahead in Guatemala

2 Military Opponents Trail in Vote Tally

GUATEMALA (AP) — Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro, the leftist civilian candidate for president of Guatemala, took a lead of more than 2 to 1 over his two military opponents in returns today from Guatemala's capital.

Unofficial returns from the voting Sunday in 110 of the capital's 279 precincts gave Mendez Montenegro, candidate of the Revolutionary party, 21,188 votes and Col. Miguel Angel Fontana of the National Liberation Movement 8,965. Col. Juan de Dios Aguilar de Leon, government-backed candidate of the Institutional Democratic party, trailed with 6,628.

The figures were issued by poll watchers of the Revolutionary party and the National Liberation Movement. The first official returns told the same story. The vote from 36 precincts gave Mendez Montenegro Aguilar de Leon 2,104.

Mendez Montenegro, a lawyer who proposed sweeping social and economic reforms, had been expected to do well in the capital.

He said he had received reports that he was leading in several rural provinces.

A heavy turnout kept the polls open for hours after the scheduled closing time, delaying the start of the vote count. Army patrols in Guatemala City and provincial areas reported no violence.

The election also was to choose 55 members of Congress, 324 mayors and many city councilmen.

Like Father, Like Daughter

2nd Sinatra Sings to Success

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It's no great surprise that a Sinatra record is the No. 1 seller in the country today. Would you believe it's Nancy Sinatra?

You would if you were attuned to the teen-age beat. Nancy's song "These Boots Were Made For Walkin'," is atop the top 40 in sales and radio play. Over a million copies have been sold in this country and the record is soaring in Australia, England and other countries.

All this is extremely gratifying to Nancy, a petite, well put-together, blonde-streaked brunette.

"After recording so many records with so little success, it's pretty hard to believe what is happening," she says.

No one is happier with her hit than her noted parent, Frank Sinatra.

How did this all come about? Nancy is quick to give credit where credit is due: to an independent record producer, Lee Hazlewood. He went to Reprise and said he wanted to produce some numbers with Nancy Sinatra. A date was arranged.

Hazlewood, who is also a songwriter and singer, presented Nancy with "So Long, Babe," which she recorded. At the time she previewed the half-finished "Boots," Nancy was enraptured with it, but he refused to give her the song until he had completed it. She recorded the number at his second session.

Now Nancy is reaping the rewards that a smash seller can bring. She has made the Ed Sullivan scene and next Saturday appears in Hollywood Palace. Today she starts a new movie, "All the Fallen Angels," a motorcycle cult epic in which she costars with Pete Fonda.

For three weeks it just sat there," she recalled. "I thought to myself, 'Oh, boy, failed again.' It's pretty crushing to work on records year after year and have nothing come of them."

"But then 'Boots' caught on in Hawaii and became the number-one record. Then it took off in Albany and Philadelphia. Finally it went big in Dallas, and that was a revelation. If it could sell in Dallas, then it might sell in the South and Midwest."

It did. Sales zoomed all over the map. Reprise tooted up as many as 72,000 records in one day.

Ends Texas Stay

Johnson Back at Desk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to Washington today after enjoying what an aide described as "considerable relaxation and rest" at his Texas ranch.

Deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming said the chief executive was weary when he flew to Texas Friday night. He said Mrs. Johnson had encouraged him to get a change of scenery.

"I think he's gotten considerable relaxation and rest down here," said Fleming.

The press aide said Johnson planned to spend a normal week at his White House desk, possibly sending Congress one or more special messages covering new legislative proposals.

CHURCH SERVICE

When Johnson arrived for Sunday services at the Episcopal church of St. Michael and All Angels at Blanco, Tex., yesterday. The President and Mrs. Johnson attended the service at St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Johnson replied that it was good to be home — that the past two months had been difficult ones.

During the afternoon, Johnson issued a proclamation encouraging Americans 65 and older to sign up for a supplemental medicare program that would help them meet doctor bills. This voluntary program costs $3 a month.

Anyone who fails to join the plan by the March 31 deadline must wait another two years, when monthly premiums might be higher.

DISTINCTIVE

The voluntary program is distinctive from the regular medicare program covering hospital bills, which is automatically provided under the Social Security program.

Johnson also announced Sunday the selection of a 15-member task force that will go to South Viet Nam Saturday to help plan increased efforts to promote education and health there. Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner will head the team.

International Unit Ends Study of Waterway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savings on shipping costs would not be enough to warrant the cost of a waterway connecting the Hudson and St. Lawrence rivers, an international study panel has concluded.

The International Champlain Waterway Board reported its findings to a joint commission of United States and Canadian governments which had requested the study. A public hearing on the report is scheduled for May.

School buses account today for 70 per cent of the total bus output in the United States.

"10,000 HOURS OF STUDY PER MAN"— TO HELP HOLD PLUMBING AND HYDRONIC HEATING COSTS DOWN IN THE DETROIT AREA

500 of them are being schooled right now.

They will have to have 1,000 hours of classroom study and 9,000 hours of on-the-job training before taking a journeyman's examination, because they help safeguard your family's health and safety.

When and if they pass, their services will represent a real bargain to you because they will apply specialized education and skills that will enable them to work more swiftly.

All things considered, the rates for their services are low indeed.

Mart Falls in Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market fell sharply in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The ticker tape ran behind transactions as leading issues took losses of 1 to 7 points.

Issues, airlines, electronics, office equipment, photographic stocks and many others in the "glamour" section of the market which had the widest gains took the biggest losses.

Long-term profit taking was a big factor in the decline, brokers said, and this was com-combined with the recent worries about tight money and the technical condition of the market itself.

The Dow Jones industrial average plunged well below the level of about 925 which formed the springboard for a vigorous technical rally last Thursday.

Some analysts thought a "selling climax" might be developing and that, if so, it might "clear the air" and give the market a firmer base from which to advance.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange in heavy trading. Down about a point were Syntex, Molybdenum, Banif Oil, Chromalloy and Atlas Consolidated Mining.

Xtra Inc. was off about 2. Down fractionally were Kaiser Industries, CCI, Cubic Corp. and Disposal. Up a point or more were Selsco, Hoe & Co., Caldor, Stanley Aviation and Andrea Radio.

Corporate and U.S. Government bonds were mostly unchanged in light dealings.

Teddy Joins Bobby in Calling for Talks With Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called for direct negotiations with the Viet Cong in an effort to end the war in Viet Nam.

Appearing on NBC's television radio program "Meet The Press" Sunday, the Massachusetts Democrat said he agrees with his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., who has advocated that the United States give Viet Cong assurances this country would not bar them from participation in a South Vietnamese government.

"I support direct contacts with the Viet Cong," Kennedy said in answer to a question. "I think that would be helpful and constructive. I would also include them in any kind of negotiations in South Viet Nam."

The Johnson administration has said the Viet Cong should not be treated as a separate entity because they are the creation of and an arm of the North Vietnamese government.

SUPPORTS COMMITMENT

Kennedy said he supports "our fundamental commitment in Viet Nam" and the effort to bring about a negotiated solution.

"I realize as well if the negotiated solution is not going to be possible that it is possible we will have to go to a military solution," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)

Special bonuses totaling $3 million are awaiting 86,000 highly trained servicemen — if they are able to — when they know they are coming to the bargaining table, ought to be permitted to consult about free elections and then if they are able to win support in free elections, based on that support that we are going to abide by them."

WASHINGTON (AP)

The special bonuses vary for importance and supply of the skill. Servicemen with some key skills, such as missile mechanics and sonar technicians, could receive up to $10,000 — the maximum $8,000 "variable reenlistment bonus" plus the standard $2,000 reenlistment bonus.

WASHINGTON (AP)

The new bonuses, approved by Congress, will be allotted over the next 16 months. The Defense Department is expected to ask for an extension of the program beyond June 1967.

Bees, which are one of the best — organized of the insect groups, have their own heating and air conditioning systems. Some bees keep the hive cool in the summer by fanning with their wings while in the winter they warm the queen by using son, 43, at Mrs. Anderson's home.

Mrs. Moseler, a former model and chaperon to beauty queens, is alleged to have shot her husband and Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, 43, at Mrs. Anderson's home.

Arraignment Is Today in Shooting of Pair

MUSKEGON (AP)

Mrs. Moseler, 46-year-old suburban Spring Lake housewife, was to be arraigned in Muskegon County Circuit Court today on assault charges in the New Year's Day shooting of her husband, Lawrence, 49, and a woman.

Mrs. Moseler, a former model and chaperon to beauty queens, is alleged to have shot her husband and Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, 43, at Mrs. Anderson's home.

CAB: Pilot Error Is Chief Cause of Plane Accidents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board's latest study of 50 private plane accidents shows that pilot error was the chief cause of about three of every five crashes. A total of 56 persons died in the accidents.

The results of the CAB study, made public during the weekend, also showed that poor maintenance, faulty preflight inspection or inadequate preflight planning caused nine of the crashes. Bad weather was the cause of five — in two cases inadequate or inaccurate weather forecasts contributed to pilot difficulties.

In one accident, a design deficiency in the plane's flap system was blamed. The defect, found in a Cessna 337, was ordered corrected under CAB regulations.

Heist-Slaying Suspect Held

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joseph Molter, 43, gray-haired and unemployed, was being held without bail today awaiting grand jury action on charges he moved down a row of loan office employees during a $500 holdup Friday.

Two of the victims died almost instantly from bullets through the head and two others were wounded, one of them critically.

Molter, of Cornwells Heights, Pa., was arrested Saturday and identified by two employees of the Household Finance Co. office as the holdup man who gunned down their four co-workers after he lined them up facing a wall.

Acting Police Commissioner Edward Bell said Molter admitted the slayings.

He said Molter told investigators he panicked when one of the men made a move toward him and started firing because he "thought the women might scream."

Police said he had once been a mental patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Coatesville, Pa. Molter served in the paratroopers during World War II and in Korea, where he won a Bronze Star.

Spinster Dies as Death Calls a Second Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henrietta Landau, a 71-year-old spinster who was declared dead Friday but began to moan as she was being wheeled into a mortuary embalming room, died yesterday at Roosevelt hospital.

The hospital did not announce the cause of death, but a spokesman said the woman had Parkinson's disease and a history of heart trouble.

Miss Landau's doctor pronounced her dead Friday, signed a death certificate and her body was removed to a mortuary. A few hours later, as attendants were wheeling her into the embalming room, they heard low moans coming from the woman.

$80 Makes Teachers Do-It-Yourself Dusters

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The eraser-dusting assignment will remain in effect at Public School 41 because the Parent-Teacher Association decided $80 was too much to spend for an electric duster.

Principal Charles Delaporte said the PTA had considered erasing the dusting detail when first told the mechanical device would cost $87.

Spartan Skaters Join
Denver in NCAA

By The Associated Press
Michigan State and University of Denver will represent the Western Collegiate Hockey Association in this year's NCAA tournament.

weekend home-ice WCHA playoff victories, Denver whipping
North Dakota 5-4 in overtime and MSU upsetting the defending NCAA champs from Michigan Tech 4-3.

Michigan Tech, regular season champions of the WCHA with a 22-4-1 record, dropped behind the Spartans 4-1 in the second period and couldn't catch up.

Mike Jacobson, Mike Coppo,
Tom Mikola and Dick Coppo scored for MSU, while forward son, Steve Yoshino and Rickey Yeo tallied for Tech.

The victory gave State a 13-3

Top Rated Quintets Fade Among Losers

By The Associated Press
And then there were none.
Like the old nickel cigar.

songs that rhyme moon and June, and Edsel autos, college basketball's last two undefeated teams faded quietly away over the weekend.

But Adolph Rupp and Don Haskins expect to have Kentucky and Texas Western back making plenty of noise in the NCAA playoffs which open tonight.

Both the Wildcats, ranked No.
1 and the second-rated Miners had 22-game winning streaks snapped Saturday and both Rupp and Haskins, while disappointed, hoped the defeats would teach their teams lessons.

Kentucky backed into Rupp's
22nd Southeastern Conference crown when Vanderbilt dropped a 92-40 decision to Mississippi State while the Wildcats were being upset by Tennessee 69-62.

"Maybe they'll listen to me when I talk to them Monday and tell them they can be beaten," said Rupp. "We made too many mistakes to win."

ONE GAME
Kentucky completes its regular schedule with a meaningless SEC game against Tulane tonight. Then Rupp has until Friday to repair his club's confidence for the Wildcats' NCAA playoff debut against the winner of tonight's Dayton-Miami or Ohio battle — one of two Midwest Regionals scheduled for Kent, Ohio. Chicago Loyola takes on Western Kentucky in the other.

Haskins had less time to regroup Texas Western. The Miners dropped a 74-72 decision at Seattle Saturday night and came right back tonight against Oklahoma City in the Midwest Regional at Wichita. Houston plays Colorado State in the other Midwest game.

"I don't think anyone knows the effect (of the defeat) — we won't know until tonight," Haskins said. "I didn't want to lose. But you don't correct errors very well when you're winning.

In tonight's other NCAA playoff doubleheader, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia takes on Providence and Davidson meets Rhode Island in the Eastern Regionals at Blacksburg, Va.

Meanwhile, the nation's other big post-season tournament,
New York's National Invitational, completed its 14-team field with the addition of New York University, San Francisco, Villanova and Wichita. The NIT opens Thursday.

EAST LANSING (AP)—"We are going to be trying mighty hard," said Michigan's All-American Cazzie Russell of tonight's basketball game here with Michigan State.

"And the pressure's off," said Michigan coach Dave Strick, who saw his team clinch the Big Ten championship Saturday with a 105-92 victory over Northwestern.

Michigan State lost any chance for a share of the championship Saturday when Indiana tripped the Spartans 86-76.

Michigan's victory over Northwestern, sparked by a record 48 points by Russell, gave the Wolverines their second straight undisputed Big Ten basketball championship. The Wolverines tied for the title in 1964.

It had looked for a time as though the title might be decided here in the final regular-season match for both teams. But Indiana ruined that chance Saturday.

"We had to catch on to a hot day," mourned MSU Coach John Benington.

BETTER SHOOTING
Indiana shot 55 per cent to offset superior rebounding by MSU. The Hoosiers led 36-28 at the half and never trailed in the second half. MSU shot only 38 per cent from the floor.

"We had a bad first half and it was too much to recover," Benington said. "We're not a good outside shooting team. But we can tip. We controlled the game in the basket, but the ball wouldn't go in for us."

Vern Payne and Max Walker scored 20 points each for the Hoosiers, while Stan Washington topped MSU with 23 points. Michigan ran its Big Ten record to 11-2 with the victory over Northwestern, while MSU stands 9-4.

The Wolverines ran the score to 40 before the Wildcats got on the scoreboard with Mike Weaver's bucket.

Michigan connected at a 54 per cent average from the court, compared to 37 for Northwestern. The Wolverines outboarded the Wildcats, 61-48.

GAME MARK

Russell, who broke his own single-game record of 45 points for Michigan, said afterward, "I was just worried about winning the game, that's all. Then they told me I only needed a couple of baskets for the record and the team wanted me to go for it, so they fed me, and I got them."

Long Time, No See, Wife

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A woman walked up to Bing Lee, a Raleigh Chinese laundryman, held out a piece of paper and said "Hello, wife."

This was Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Bing Lee were reunited at the Raleigh-Durham airport yesterday after 34 years. They stared at each other a long moment, shook hands quite formally, then shed a few tears.

"I take things as they come," Lee said, "I don't get excited about anything."

Lee last saw his wife in 1932, the year he left China to return to the United States. He first came to this country in 1921, then returned to his homeland in 1929 and was married. His wife has been living in Hong Kong.

"It costs a lot of money to come to this country," Lee said, explaining the long separation.

"But I am getting old. Mama is getting old. The family should be together."

JOSEPH R. FARNHAM

Feet resigned Feb. 21 so he could devote more time to his career as audit manager with a national accounting concern. He headed the county GOP for 17 months.

Active in the Republican party since 1959, Farnham has served as party organization director for the past year.

A graduate of Yale University and the Chrysler Institute, Farnham, 497 Golfview, is employed as assistant chief engineer in the Engine Electrical Department at Chrysler.

He is a member of the company's General Offices Management Club and chairman of the Chrysler Legislative Affairs Committee.

N. Viet Unit Is Smashed by U. S. Marines

Claim 1,000 Killed; Regiment Scattered in Joint Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (P) — The U.S. Marines brought their first year in Viet Nam to a thunderous finish today by joining with crack South Vietnamese troops to shatter a 2,000-man North Vietnamese regiment.

Nearly 1,000 Communists were said to have fallen before the combined air-ground assault by 6,000 Leathernecks, government paratroopers and rangers in three days of blistering fighting, that the Marines called their roughest action — and best showing — of the war.

The fierce battle tapered off into a mop-up operation today, with the Marines and Vietnamese troops in pursuit of small bands of Red survivors.

Prisoners said the regiment had been in South Viet Nam only a month since it filtered down from the North by the jungled Ho Chi Minh trail, allied spokesmen reported.

But the victory was costly to the allies. Marine officers told correspondents at the battle scene along the central coast that the Marines took their heaviest losses of any single battle in Viet Nam, although overall.

Marine casualties were described as light. The toll came in the initial assault on Friday. Eleven helicopters were hit by the Communists and two knocked down. The withering Red fire also forced down a Marine Phantom jet. The two crewmen ejected safely offshore.

The Marines brought the weekend fighting in a coastal valley 335 miles northeast of Saigon to a rousing climax last night by storming the North Vietnamese 21st Regiment's command post, capturing 85 weapons and seizing a score of enemy records.

While the fighting raged on the ground, U.S. spokesmen said two American jets were lost over North Viet Nam in raids Saturday.

Auto Strikes Tree; Area Driver Dies

An automobile accident claimed the life of a Waterford Township man in White Lake Township last night.

James C. Warner, 76, of 3853 Iris was killed when his car went out of control and struck a tree. Witnesses told White Lake Township Police that Warner was traveling east on Elizabeth Lake at about 50 miles per hour when his car skidded off the icy highway.

Warner died shortly after the mishap at Pontiac General Hospital.

He was alone in his car, according to police.

ACQUITTED PAIR — Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Powers, held a news conference in Miami, Fla., yesterday after being found innocent in a murder trial charging them with killing Mrs. Mossler's husband.

Candace, Nephew Are Found Innocent

MIAMI, Fla. (P) — Blonde Candace Mossler set out today, as she put it, to mother a brood of adored children and to "pick up the pieces" of a $33-million business.

She was asked in the presence of her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, following their acquittal yesterday in the 1964 slaying of her multimillionaire husband.

"Mrs. Mossler, will you and Mel Powers be married?"

In a little girl voice, normal for her but tinged it seemed with a trace of vexation, Mrs. Mossler, with her children behind her, replied at a news conference:

"We don't have any intentions in that direction."

Union between aunt and nephew is generally forbidden by American law, although it would be possible outside the United States. Florida law prohibits marriage between blood aunt and nephew.

Less than three hours earlier, Mrs. Mossler and Powers had been acquitted by an all-male jury of the brutal slaying of her husband, Jacques Mossler, 63.

He was gray, slender, and, in the words of the state, stood in the way of an incestuous love affair between his wife and her nephew. The defendants, if convicted, could have gone to the electric chair.

Mossler died of a heavy blow to the head and 20 stab wounds after screaming "Don't, don't do that to me."

The time was 1:45 a.m. June 30, 1964, the scene Governor's Lodge, an apartment building on Key Biscayne, where Mossler lived in No. 2C with his wife and their adopted children.

Behind Mrs. Mossler and Powers at the unusual news conference in a downtown Miami hotel were Mrs. Mossler's two blonde grown children by her first marriage, and the four attractive youngsters she and Jacques Mossler adopted during their marriage.

Dem Choice Expected to Face Griffin for Pat McNamara Seat

DETROIT (P) — Former Governor G. Mennen Williams jumped as expected into the Michigan U.S. Senate race today and resigned as assistant secretary of state for African Affairs.

DETROIT (P) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams planned to end months of speculation today by announcing whether he will run for U.S. senator.

The question remaining: would Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh challenge in the Democratic primary?

Since late 1965, the six-term governor had said he would consider running if Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., retired. McNamara announced his retirement late last month for health reasons.

WEEK TOUR Williams immediately took a week-long tour of the state ostensibly designed to quiz party leaders about his possible candidacy.

The tour — including a visit with Republican Gov. George Romney — generated rumors of Detroit for the 55-year-old Williams who admitted Wednesday he had heard nothing to dissuade him from running.

Cavanagh, whom most Democratic leaders would rather see run for governor, is expected to announce his Senate plans within a week or 10 days. He said flatly last week he will not challenge Romney.

A Cavanagh-Williams contest in the Aug. 2 primary could produce the party's worst split since the 1960 gubernatorial primary, when labor-backed John Swainson upended James Hare.

Blizzard's Toll Put at 16 Dead

Thousands Aided in Dakotas, Minnesota

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Road-plowing crews and rescue missions began bringing relief today to blizzard-battered parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

The toll of deaths stood at 16. Ranchers were counting up a heavy loss of livestock, especially in South Dakota.

Helicopters and airplanes, bulldozers and plows worked to relieve thousands stranded in what has been termed the Dakota's worst such storm in decades.

Travelers who had taken refuge in stores, cafes, services stations, or homes continued their journeys.

HUMAN KINDNESS

Stories of human kindness and heroic effort came out of the chill, snow-swept land.

Like the North Dakota farm boy, who scanned the whitened countryside and got worried when he didn't see smoke coming out of a neighbor's chimney.

The 12-year-old boy put on his coat and overshoes and trudged through deep snowdrifts to the farm of Lowell Brown, who lived alone.

There, he found the 65-year-old farmer dead, his body draped over a windmill brace in the yard — a victim of the blizzard which lashed the Dakotas three days last week.

FIGHT FOR SURVIVAL

Vigettes like this were commonplace as rural and city folk alike fought for survival against the storm.

Six of the storm deaths occurred in South Dakota, and five each in North Dakota and Minnesota.

There was a staggering loss in cattle and sheep — perhaps running in the millions of dollars.

One rancher, Frank Maciejewski Sr. of Timber Lake, S.D., estimated his at $100,000.

Snow Is Expected to End; Warmer Weather Likely

Light snow fell on the Pontiac area this morning, with the weather forecast calling for occasional flurries ending this afternoon or evening.

Clearing and cold with lows from 12 to 20 degrees is the outlook for tonight.

Tomorrow would be partly cloudy and warmer with highs in the 30s.

There's a chance of rain by Wednesday afternoon, with rising temperatures.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 16. The temperature was 29 at 1 p.m.

LBJ Tax Plan for Viet Faces Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's tax plan to raise $6 billion for Viet Nam war costs today faced its toughest test in the Senate — a move to strip it of $1.2 billion in excise tax hikes.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., claimed widespread Senate support for his drive to eliminate from the tax legislation proposed temporary increases of 17 per cent in telephone service taxes.

"There's a lot of people who feel the way I do," Hartke told United Press International yesterday.

"These excise taxes are really nothing, compared to what they need for Viet Nam. And anyway, we're all expecting a legitimate income and corporate tax increase later this year for Viet Nam."

Senate majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted a close fight. And Senate majority whip Russell B. Long of Louisiana, who is also chairman of the finance committee, worked during the weekend to rally votes for the administration measure.

Worrying Long and Mansfield most were enlists in the house's campaign from among Republicans as well as a number of Democrats irritated over Johnson's handling of excise taxes during the past year.

The President told Congress he needs the additional revenues to pay for rising Viet Nam war costs and to help dampen inflationary pressures within the economy.

Besides the excise levies, the House bill would bring in an additional $4.8 billion in revenues during the next 15 months by speeding up collection of corporate taxes and by creating a graduated payroll withholding tax rate.

The bill would provide additional revenues only for the rest of the current fiscal year and the next one starting July 1.

While the excise tax hike would be ended in 1968, the "temporary" levies lasted more than 10 years before Congress voted to cut them only last summer.

'Short Circuit' for a Waistline

500-Pound Patient Hits 400, Sees 110

BYRN MAWR, Pa. (AP) — A surgeon at Bryn Mawr Hospital says his 400-pound patient is evidence the doctor's weight-reducing technique works. The patient used to weigh about 500 pounds.

Dr. Manrico A. Troncelliti, the surgeon, said today the patient, Abdul Ibrahim Adas, 24, of Kuwait, had lost about 100 pounds in two months following an operation to "short circuit" part of his intestine.

SCENIC BUT DEADLY — A devastating blizzard began to ease its grip on the north central part of the nation today. Sixteen deaths have been blamed on the storm.

The jury heard more than 100 witnesses during the seven-week trial in a white-walled, sixth-floor courtroom. Included were convicts the state called from penitentiaries who swore Mrs. Mossler and her nephew had shopped for two years to hire someone to kill her husband.

Hospital Fund Meeting at PNH Tonight

More than 300 public campaign volunteers are expected to meet tonight at Pontiac Northern High School to receive instructions and select the names of prospective donors to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund.

Robert R. Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank of Pontiac and Pontiac area chairman for the campaign's community division, will preside.

Bernard R. Tresnowski, assistant administrator of the hospital will explain the hospital's problems and needs.

Those attending will hear how the campaign has progressed to date, and their specific part in the program to raise a minimum of $3.25 million which will provide the funds to enlarge and remodel St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

City Youths Charged 'Highway Patrol' Irregulars

Two Pontiac youths, who allegedly conducted their own police patrol early yesterday along the I-75 expressway, were scheduled to appear before Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson today to face possible charges of impersonating police officers.

The pair, Martin Rahja, 18, of 1001 Vorheis and Gregory Drinkwater, 20, of 210 S. Tilden, surrendered to State Police and admitted they had been stopping "errant" motorists and reprimanding them for their driving.

One motorist, Arthur Durham of Pontiac, reported the incident to police because he thought the youths looked too young to be policemen.

Durham said the youths were driving a new car equipped with a flashing red light on the dashboard.

He gave the license number of the youths' automobile to police who in turn notified the parents.

Gas Station Worker Shot During Heist

A 69-year-old gas station attendant was shot in the left leg as a robbery by a man who robbed him of $20.

Earl Ward of 595 Valencia told Pontiac police he was working in a rest room at the Clark Service Station, 960 Oakland, when a man with a gun burst in about 4 a.m.

"Get back, I want your money," Ward quoted the man as saying.

Ward said the man then shot him once in the leg with a pistol, took the $20 and fled the station over a back fence and down an alley.

Medical 'Army' Readied by Area Doctor

A Waterford Township osteopath will meet this week with Vietnamese representatives as part of his home-state campaign to secure medical assistance for Viet Nam children.

Dr. Jerome J. Robb, 52, of 1142 W. Huron wants to "make the Viet Nam battle against disease my life's work."

Gray-haired, married and the father of three children, Robb has done overseas volunteer work before. He went to Haiti a few years ago after that island nation was ravaged by a hurricane.

When the White House issued a call last summer for physicians to begin.

Dr. Robb recently spent six weeks in the war-torn country at his own expense after he says, the U.S. government told him osteopaths wouldn't be welcome there.

"When I got there, they asked me only how long I had practiced medicine and what kind of work I had done — they didn't ask what kind of degree I had," said Robb in an interview.

HELP NEEDED

"These people need every sort of help, from skilled surgeons to midwives. I'm sure they would welcome even an African witch doctor if he could help relieve someone's ailment," he said.

So Robb and a delegation of Michigan Jaycees, who have taken up his cause and hope to back him with part of a million-dollar fund, plan to meet in Washington with the South Vietnamese ambassador Wednesday or Thursday.

Robb said they'll explain their program and seek approval for massive shipments of medical supplies and equipment. Robb

It Seems to Me . . .

Russia's Farming System Far Behind United States

Is communism really as stupid and inept as it appears? Let's consider some facts. Russia has slightly more people than we do, and they have more tillable soil by a wide margin. The Communists have been working on this "agricultural problem" for more than 40 years. Today they have four and a half times as many people working on farms as we do. They produce a third as much meat. They come up with 60% as much grain. Their wheat supply was so inadequate, they had to buy millions of tons from "us capitalist nations." Here was abject humiliation. And yet the thickheaded nincompoops are busting their bloody necks and going "all-out" to feed themselves. We pay farmers to produce less. So-o-o-o-o-o, all this Communist state control, and the ascendancy of government has been a belly flop and farce for a half century. Are the Russians merely incredibly dumb, or is their "system" that far behind ours? Insider's Newsletter says the baffled Reds have approved $100 million for more modern farm machinery and a study of current methods. We have the "capitalist" plan. (That's a dirty word in Russia.) Who is beating the everlasting daylight out of whom in this race for supremacy?

'Fight' Draws Scepticism . . .

Probably no "fight" in history has drawn any more skeptical and unfavorable comments than the imminent brawl between back-room CLAY and no-gun TERRELL. Clamors have arisen in many sectors demanding the whole fiasco be dropped, outlawed and declared a public affront.

Clay was once pronounced too near the moron fringe to qualify for the U.S. Army or Navy. Now the mental requirements seem to relax. The bulk of the recent heavyweight imbroglios have been so sordid, inferior and incomprehensible that the bulk of the American people hold their noses. This one offers no relief.

Makes Way for Youth . . .

One of the finest characters in this area—or any other—just completed his life span with General Motors and steps gracefully to the sidelines. He makes way for youth. With GM, this is mandatory. Louis Clifford Goad bows out as an Executive Vice President with one more of his super-friendly smiles. He has long and intimately been associated with the success and advancement of the biggest corporation in the world and his own personal contributions loom large and stand in the front ranks. The All-America University of Illinois infidel became a super-All America in the highly competitive marts of trade. Mr. Goad currently plans on an extended vacation which he hasn't enjoyed in years. And after that—golf—I suspect. And who is any more entitled to succumb from the high-pressure grind engulfing big corporate executives? Echo answers: "No one."

Suggestive Cuban News

Cuban news is fragmentary and spasmodic but it's highly suggestive. There's dirty work afoot. The sneaking Russians are busy. Fairly reliable reports suggest that seven mysterious underground weapon sites are now located within a short distance of the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo. These might wreak a fearful havoc in a strategic hour. The late John F. Kennedy measured up to a threat like this. What do we do now?

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter: Since the mints started producing these new coins, the older ones are inexplicably slipping out of circulation. Some suspect hoarders and some say it's sentimentalists. Half dollars are the biggest targets. . . . Staid Bostonians are started to hear music emanating from corner mailboxes. Transistor radios are mailed that start full blast. . . . Overheard: "Girls may be afraid of mice but they're willing to go out with a wolf." Trusted scouts tell me Sue Turner deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . Bob Hope, Jimmy Stewart and Bing Crosby are reputedly the wealthiest of the Hollywood crew. All are estimated at $100 million. Allowing for usual movie exaggeration, they'll never be candidates for Appalachia. . . . Overheard: "Yes, I remember him well when he was nothing at all and he hasn't changed a bit" . . . Hamburgers are currently having a big run locally and they've crashed Europe. . . . One of the biggest leaps in business today is in the motorcycle division. The upswing in the boat business was the talk of the Nation for several years, but the midgest sized transportation has won first honors now. (Of course nothing ever equals the automobile business). . . . Brig. General JOSEPH W. STILLWELL broke his back, cracked seven ribs and ruptured his spleen in a parachute jump. Quoth he: "There's really nothing wrong with parachuting—it's just the landing." David Lawrence Says:

Speculation on '72 Is Premature

WASHINGTON — It seems as if the calendar has been eliminated and an interval of six years has been brushed aside, for the public is supposed to be interested in the rival ambitions of Hubert Humphrey and Robert F. Kennedy to be president of the United States. Lots of things, LAWRENCE however, can happen in six years. If President Johnson is reelected in 1968, he will be ineligible under the Constitution to run in 1972, but if a Republican defeats Mr. Johnson two years hence, the race in the Democratic party for the nomination would be wide open in 1972.

If by chance Humphrey has succeeded to the presidency at any time before 1972, on the other hand, he would be the natural candidate of his party for the presidency in the subsequent election and possibly for reelection four years later. An aspiring competitor all ways dreams of the unexpected — that serious dissatisfaction, inside or outside the party, may create a condition receptive to his own candidacy. Political experience shows that publicity is one of the most important things that a would-be candidate must obtain. ADDED ADVANTAGE. Naturally, a vice president gets plenty of it, and so does a senator from a state like New York.

In Kennedy's case, to be sure, there is also the added advantage of his having been a member of the Cabinet in the administration of his brother, whose name is revered by many millions of citizens. The historical record shows, on the other hand, that a family relationship with a president is not a significant factor in winning that office. An individual has to be appraised on the basis of his own capacity to serve the country at the particular time he is seeking a presidential nomination. Sen. Kennedy's position on many public questions has yet to be developed, and he'll have an opportunity in the next six years to do so. His youth might be looked upon by some voters as a handicap now, but in 1972 he would be 47. ONE REASON. One reason, presumably, why the New York senator is traveling around and making so many speeches on international as well as domestic questions is that he is trying to overcome any impression that he is too youthful or inexperienced to become the nation's chief executive. Humphrey has lately had worldwide publicity. He is familiar with the game of politics, but he has not had the benefit of nationwide contacts with the local Democratic organizations, such as Sen. Kennedy possesses as a result of the major part he played in the management and financing of the Democratic presidential campaign of 1960.

Capital Letter:

Government of Today Would Stun Jefferson

By RUTH MONTGOMERY WASHINGTON — Ghost-writers are already at work on the spellbinding speeches that Democratic legislators will be delivering at fund-raising rallies honoring Thomas Jefferson's birthday next month. Jefferson, the patron saint of the donkey party, adamantly opposed a strongly centralized government. He believed in states' rights, and because he disagreed with Alexander Hamilton on the issue of presidential powers, he even resigned as President Washington's secretary of state. The government which has emerged as a result of the New Deal, the Fair Deal, the New Frontier and the Great Society bears little resemblance to that envisioned by our founding fathers. Nowadays Uncle Sam prescribes the hours that we can work, tells us with whom we must work, decrees the hours that we can work, tells us with whom we must work, decrees the minimum wages which we can accept, and withholds taxes from our pay checks. The government concerns itself with the products that we buy. And the way they are manufactured, advertised and labeled. CONSTRUCTS HOUSING. It constructs housing, determines who can live in it, and how much rent shall be paid. Uncle Sam uses our tax money to send billions of dollars worth of food, armaments and technical assistance overseas, some of it to Communist governments like Yugoslavia and Poland. He pays a third of the world's cost of the United Nations, which uses some of the money for aid to Communist China. He supplies armaments to India and Pakistan, and they fight each other. APPOINTMENT. The federal government has not only usurped most of the taxing power of cities and states, but has decreed how states must apportion their own legislatures. Until recently even Uncle Sam admitted that education was the sole province of states and local communities, but now he is financing a Head Start educational program for mopelets, a tutoring program for first graders, an Upward-Bound program for high school students who need their college tuition underwritten, and countless other grants and loans for schooling. The government tells farmers how much they can grow, and subsidizes those who cooperate. Well, brace yourself, Mr. Jefferson, for all those political orations that are about to be delivered in your name.

Voice of the People: 'Clarkston Should Vote on Current School Issue'

Why do the people of the Clarkston school district have nothing to say on the Clarkston-Brandon school annexation? If we merge with the Brandon district, we will have their board running on our school ballot. We agree they need changes in their schools, but why do we have to be the ones to make them? We feel the people in Clarkston should be allowed to vote on this issue also. MRS. WANONA HILLMAN MRS. MARY ANN SEE Clarkston

Elderly Citizen Discusses President's Job

My age is 79 and I was a captain in the AAF, 1st World War. My father's ancestors settled in Massachusetts in 1600; my mother's ancestors in N.Y. State in 1620. The President of the U.S.A. should not be commander in chief of the Army, Marines, Navy and Air Corps. He should not appoint anyone to office. No one man is worth $50,000 per year as one man's mentality isn't big enough to handle all the things he has to pass on. A man past 65 years of age should hold no office in federal government. Suggests Safe Driver's Insurance Company

The uninsured motorists law is the worst law ever passed in the state of Michigan. Already hundreds of license plates have been stolen. Insurance companies have the go-ahead to charge any amount they want. Reckless drivers are being kept on the road. All they need is $35. Why can't we have a safe driver's insurance company instead of making the good drivers pay for the bad ones? It's time we took reckless drivers off the road or insurance will cost almost as much as cars in the future. KAAREN MILLER 275 South Anderson

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Press Comment The Denver Post Scientists in Berkeley, Calif., have developed an antenna system that they believe can detect the television emissions of any civilization that has television as far away as 200 light-years, which takes in a range of some 80,000 stars, some of which might have life like our own. The antenna system, once it is developed, will consist of an arch of 100 feet dish antennae like those now used for radar. About 10,000 of these in an area 10 miles in diameter would be needed to do the job. All these antennae would be aimed at a patch of sky above the size of our sun, and their receptors would be controlled in a way that would make them work much like a radio-telescope antenna, except that the result would be an optical picture of the patch of space in which the antennae were turned, showing any sources of radio emissions as tiny star points of light. This is all the development of Dr. Bernard Oliver, who is currently president of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers. He is also head of research and development for an electronics firm. The only trouble with Dr. Oliver's antennae is that they would cost five billion dollars to produce. That seems like an awful lot to spend on a television antenna when we don't even know if the programs are any good. How Many? General Features A woman angrily jumped out of her car after a collision with another car. "Why don't you people watch where you're driving?" she shouted angrily. "You're the fourth car I've hit today!" Young Businessmen . . . Roomie (Va.) Times Every October the Nation's newspapers honor their carrier boys. We cite the young gentlemen as representing the best of beginning business. The picture of beginning business is a young man, earnest more than man in the sphere of earning their own money, of learning self-reliance, service, trustworthiness and all the other qualities that go into handling a newspaper route. So, even in this kind of weather, our hats are off to the carrier boys.

Teddy Joins Bobby in Calling for Talks With Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called for direct negotiations with the Viet Cong in an effort to end the war in Viet Nam.

“I support direct contacts with the Viet Cong,” Kennedy said in answer to a question. “I think that would be helpful and constructive. I would also include them in any kind of negotiations in South Viet Nam.”

The Johnson administration has said the Viet Cong should not be treated as a separate entity because they are the creation of and an arm of the North Vietnamese government.

SUPPORTS COMMITMENT

Kennedy said he supports “our fundamental commitment in Viet Nam” and the effort to bring about a negotiated solution.

“I realize as well if the negotiated solution is not going to be possible that it is possible we will have to go to a military solution,” he said.

Kennedy said the “only and the fundamental point” which his brother made in his statements on Viet Nam “is that the Viet Cong themselves ought to be able to — when they know they are coming to the bargaining table, ought to be permitted to consult about free elections and then if they are able to win support in free elections, based on that support that we are going to abide by them.”

The special bonuses vary from importance and supply of the skill. Servicemen with some key skills, such as missile mechanics and sonar technicians, could receive up to $10,000 — the maximum $8,000 “variable reenlistment bonus” plus the standard $2,000 reenlistment bonus.

The new bonuses, approved by Congress, will be allotted over the next 16 months. The Defense Department is expected to ask for an extension of the program beyond June 1967.

Bees, which are one of the best — organized of the insect groups, have their own heating and air conditioning systems. Some bees keep the hive cool in the summer by fanning with their wings while in the winter they warm the queen by using their bodies as blankets.

Arraignment Is Today in Shooting of Pair

MUSKOGEE (AP) — Mrs. Leona Mosler, 46-year-old suburban Spring Lake housewife, was to be arraigned in Muskegon County Circuit Court today on assault charges in the New Year's Day shooting of her husband, Lawrence, 49, and a woman.

Mrs. Mosler, a former model and chaperon to beauty queens, is alleged to have shot her husband and Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, 43, at Mrs. Anderson's home.

CAB: Pilot Error Is Chief Cause of Plane Accidents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board's latest study of 50 private plane accidents shows that pilot error was the chief cause of about three of every five crashes. A total of 56 persons died in the accidents.

The results of the CAB study, made public during the weekend, also showed that poor maintenance, faulty preflight inspection or inadequate weather forecasts contributed to pilot difficulties.

In one accident, a design deficiency in the plane's flap system was blamed. The defect, found in a Cessna 337, was ordered corrected under CAB regulations.

Heist-Slaying Suspect Held

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joseph Molter, 43, gray and unemployed, was being held without bail today awaiting grand jury action on charges he mowed down a row of loan office employees during a $500 holdup Friday.

Two of the victims died almost instantly from bullets through the head and two others were wounded, one of them critically.

Molter, of Cornwells Heights, Pa., was arrested Saturday and identified by two employees of the Household Finance Co. office as the holdup man who mowed down their four co-workers after he lined them up facing a wall.

Acting Police Commissioner Edward Bell said Molter admitted the slayings.

He said Molter told investigators he panicked when one of the men made a move toward him and started firing because he “thought the women might scream.”

Police said he had once been a mental patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Coatesville, Pa. Molter served in the paratroops during World War II and in Korea, where he won a Bronze Star.

Spinster Dies as Death Calls a Second Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henrietta Landau, a 71-year-old spinster who was declared dead Friday but began to moan as she was being wheeled into a mortuary embalming room, died yesterday at Roosevelt hospital.

The hospital did not announce the cause of death, but a spokesman said the woman had Parkinson's disease and a history of heart trouble.

Miss Landau's doctor pronounced her dead Friday, signed a death certificate and her body was removed to a mortuary. A few hours later, as attendants were wheeling her into the embalming room, they heard low moans coming from the woman.

$80 Makes Teachers Do-It-Yourself Dusters

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The eraser-dusting assignment will remain in effect at Public School #4 because the Parent-Teacher Association decided $80 was too much to spend for an electric duster.

Principal Charles Delaportie said the PTA had been considering erasing the dusting detail when first told the mechanical device would cost $75.

Sheriff Seeks Four Weekend Break-Ins Suit Dismissal Investigated by Deputies

$25,000 for Damages Asked by Ex-Deputy

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons this morning filed a motion in Circuit Court asking for dismissal of a $25,000 demand suit entered against him last month.

The suit, on behalf of former deputy I. Worth Hitchcock, 47, of 71 S. Broad, Hilly, alleges that Irons slandered Hitchcock through statements given to newspapers following Hitchcock's dismissal from the sheriff's department.

Carlton S. Roeder, Pontiac attorney representing Irons, claimed the suit's allegations are "uncertain and incomplete" and do not constitute grounds for action.

Judge William J. Beer scheduled a hearing on the motion for next Monday.

Hitchcock and two other deputies were released from their positions with the county in December for what Irons described as "conduct unbecoming a deputy."

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies are investigating a string of four weekend break-ins, two of them within 24 hours at the same store.

Victimized were Dairyland Milk Depot, 3310 Auburn, Pontiac Township; Holdsworth Market, 2525 Auburn, Pontiac Township; and Jay's Bar, 54 W. Auburn, Auburn Township.

The two break-ins at the milk depot were the third and fourth times the firm has been hit in two weeks.

Each time $50 in change has been taken from a cooler.

The store was entered early yesterday and again late last night, deputies said.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

An estimated $35 worth of dairy products were taken yesterday was taken yesterday from the Holdsworth Market, which deputies said was entered by someone who pried the rear door open with a crowbar.

Jay's Bar reported $140 missing early yesterday, apparently taken by a thief who broke a window at the rear of the tavern to gain entrance.

The money was taken from cash boxes on coin-operated shuffleboard, pool and cigarette machines.

2-Car Crash Injures Man

A 21-year-old Waterford Township man was injured in a two-car crash yesterday on Dixie Highway near Andersonville Road in Waterford Township.

Listed in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital is Leonard H. Kilgore of 2094 Wilder.

The driver of the other car, Larry F. Cain, 22, of Detroit was not hurt, according to township police.

X-ray examinations in the United States do not involve any serious risk, but the exposed area should be limited, according to physicians.

Knife Used on Cabbie

Boy, 13, Held as Robber

A 13-year-old boy was captured by Pontiac police early today about an hour after a cab driver reported he was robbed of $54 by a teen-age passenger who held a knife to the driver's throat.

Allen Henry, 50, a driver for Yellow Cab Co., told police he picked up the youth about 2 a.m. and was told to "go to Kuhn Street."

Henry said the youth had been in the cab a few minutes when he pulled out a pocket knife, grabbed Henry and held the knife to the driver's throat.

His assailant then took $54 in cash and a changer containing $4, fled from the cab and hid, Henry said.

Sgt. Earl W. Skrobek and three patrolmen responded to the call and traced footprints in the snow from the cab to an address on Prospect.

SEEN FLEEING - The youth was then seen fleeing across a field. He ignored a warning shot fired into the air by Patrolman Dallas J. Fletcher.

Police chased the suspect down several streets before finally apprehending him beneath a pickup truck parked on Granda.

Found on the youth, police said, were the cash and coin changer taken from Henry.

The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Pope Names Birth Control Study Group

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI today officially announced appointment of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, the conservative head of the former Holy Office, as president of the papal birth control study commission.

Liberal Julius Cardinal Döpfner of Germany and anti-birth control John Carmel Cardinal Heenan of Westminster were appointed vice presidents.

The Pope also appointed 13 cardinals and bishops — three of them American — to serve on the commission, along with more than 50 experts who have been working on the problem for nearly two years.

The Americans were Lawrence Joseph Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore, Md., Archbishop Leo St. Paul, Minn., and Archbishop Joseph Francis Dearn of Detroit.
