Swainson Leads Dems to Sweep of State

Young Legless Veteran Caps Meteoric Career

Kennedy Wins Presidency

From Our News Wires

DETROIT (AP)—Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson climaxed a meteoric political career today by winning Michigan's office of governor just six years after first being elected to the State Legislature.

Swainson's victory over Republican Paul D. Bagwell, a former Michigan State University speech professor, also came only a little over 15 years after he was carried from a battlefield in France with both legs shattered by a land mine.

With qualifications, Bagwell conceded defeat at 6:42 a.m. at his Lansing headquarters after clinging all night to the hope that late returns might reverse the early tide running in favor of his opponent. In final returns, Swainson topped Bagwell by 41,000 votes.

to the hope that late returns might reverse the early tide running in favor of his opponent. In final returns, Swainson topped Bagwell by 41,000 votes.

Democratic candidates — from president through top state offices — carried Michigan in an unprecedented outpouring of votes.

With all the 5,074 precincts reporting, Kennedy had 1,681,619 to Nixon's 1,616,741.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, who couldn't get the Democratic party's nomination for governor, proved for the second time that he was the party's best vote-getter.

Hare's margin of victory over his Republican opponent, William Kreger, was greater than that of any other candidate for state office in Michigan.

Although there were more precincts reporting in the governor's race, Swainson polled fewer votes than Hare.

Defeats Bentley With Support of Labor and Old People

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, the Democratic incumbent, rode back into office on a liberal platform and the support of labor and the old folk.

Final returns showed him topping Rep. Alvin Bentley of Owosso 1,662,255 to 1,543,899.

McNamara, told early today that he had beaten Bentley, a four-term Republican congressman, smiled and said that this is a great good news.

"I don't know, however, if a victory statement as such at this time is going home and go to bed."

Bentley, grim and unsmiling, went to bed a little before 4 a.m. at his Owosso home. He did not concede then.

McNamara said he had no immediate plans for legislation.

"We'll just have to get the boys together and talk it over," (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

GOP Holds 6 County Posts

Six county incumbents were swept back into office for another two years yesterday on a traditional Republican tidal wave.

A record 255,000 turnout — representing 81 per cent of the county's estimated 300,000 registered voters — helped protect the Republican monopoly on the county positions.

In the 1956 presidential year, 252,891 voters went to the polls.

Returned to offices by comfortable margins of nearly 25,000 votes over their Democratic challengers were Prosecutor George F. Taylor, in his first election bid, Sheriff Frank W. Irons, who continues as leader of the county ticket, Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr., veteran Treasurer Charles A. Sparks, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry and Surveyor Ralph A. Main.

One has to go all the way back to the 1930s to find a year when Democrats put one of their candidates in the courthouse.

Appointed to the post of prosecutor only 11 months ago, Taylor, 64, of Bloomfield Township, withstood a concerted effort by Birmingham attorney George J. Fulkerson, and kept the job. Fulkerson led his Democratic county candidates with 123,676 votes, but this wasn't enough to match Taylor's 152,145.

Democratic County Chairman James M. Ginn expressed dissatisfaction that the candidates weren't able to capture any of the six local positions. With Republican majorities narrowing in past elections, Democrats had looked to this year.

In his bid for a fourth term, Irons, sheriff since 1955 and former Berkley police chief, swelled his lead to a total of 163,644 over Homer High, Oxford auto dealer and a former plant protection officer. High, 33, received 125,323 votes.

Murphy, 37, of Pontiac, will begin his third term as overseer of the county's court records Jan. 1 by virtue of his 158,543 to 128,815 win over former union official David S. Lees of Troy.

Sparks, the 65-year-old dean of elected county officials, improved his winning spread considerably over his close 1955 margin as he easily handled Rochester factory worker William K. Benson, his foe two years ago, also. Sparks scored 158,364 votes to Benson's 131,746.

Some of Ginn's forces had pinned high hopes on closing out Spark's career, which began in 1933, and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Broomfield and Roberts Win

U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, yesterday turned away his second national and state Democratic attack and won his third term in Washington.

With the returns still unofficial until the votes are canvassed, Broomfield received 161,631 votes to the 128,674 recorded for retired

Oakland County voters have promoted Farrell E. Roberts of West Bloomfield Township to Oakland County's 12th District seat in the State Senate.

Unofficial returns today showed the 38-year-old Republican state representative victor over Democrat S. Jerome Bronson by a vote of 154,905 to 132,330.

Nixon Concedes Defeat in Neck-and-Neck Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrat John F. Kennedy today won the presidency — the youngest man and the first Roman Catholic ever elected to the nation's highest office.

See-sawing Minnesota finally came to rest in the 43-year-old Massachusetts senator's camp at 12:30 p.m. EST and put him over the 269 electoral votes he needed to wrap up mathematically a victory that for many hours had been prospectively his. Kennedy's electoral vote count at that point was 272.

Republican Richard M. Nixon's electoral total at that time was 177. The popular vote at that time stood: Kennedy 31,498,552 for 50.4 per cent of the counted ballots; Nixon 31,010,340 for 49.6 per cent.

With two big states — California and Illinois — still undecided, it was possible for Kennedy to wind up with a wide electoral vote margin. But the popular vote showed a nationwide division of sentiment that swung by less than a fraction of one per cent. Kennedy won by scoring where it counted most — in the bigger states.

Nixon formally conceded the election of Kennedy in a dramatic announcement at 12:47 p.m. EST, a few minutes after Kennedy had clinched the election.

Nixon sent this telegram to his Democratic rival:

"I want to repeat through this wire congratulations and best wishes I extended to you on television last night. I know you will have the united support of all Americans as you lead the nation in the cause of peace and freedom in the next four years."

President Eisenhower sent his congratulations to President-Elect Kennedy "for the victory you have just won at the polls."

The President said he will send the new president-elect a more comprehensive message later "suggesting certain measures that may commend themselves to you as you prepare to take over next January the responsibilities of the presidency."

The message to Kennedy was released by the White House with three other telegrams. They went to the losers, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and to the vice president-elect Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy's victory caps a string of political successes for the Boston Irishman, son of a multimillionaire. He fought the Japanese during World War II as commander of a torpedo boat, returned home and was elected Congress, then ousted Henry Cabot Lodge.

Thursday will be quite cold, with the high about 40, the weatherman says. Temperatures will be a little warmer late Sunday and Monday.

Precipitation will average about one half inch in snow or rain late Friday or Saturday with frequent snow flurries at other times. The lowest thermometer reading before 8 a.m. was 40 degrees. The recording at 2 p.m. was 44.

Governor Fouts Integration Plan

Louisiana School Issue Tangled Due to 13 Bills Signed by Davis

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis Tuesday signed into law 13 bills throwing a web of legal entanglements around two New Orleans schools scheduled to be integrated next Monday.

Davis was signing the bills almost as fast as the Senate passed them. All emergency acts, they become effective immediately.

Among the 13 bills signed by Davis were the interposition bill, which allows for the arrest of any federal official trying to force integration, and one giving him authority to permanently close every school in the State of Louisiana.

The Senate, brushing aside opposition from the New Orleans delegation, passed all 13 of the bills Davis called them into special sessions.

Opposition from the New Orleans senators did not grow until the 11th amendment, giving Davis authority to close the schools in the face of disorders, came up.

All the laws are designed to bog down the scheduled integration of two elementary schools by five Negro first graders — all girls — next Monday.

Stevenson Still Favorite of This Persistent Dem

EAST DETROIT (AP) — One Democratic diehard in this suburban Detroit community refused to back his party's standard bearer — Sen. John F. Kennedy — in Tuesday's presidential election.

Instead, the persistent voter wrote in Adlai Stevenson as his choice.

Grant Incentive Pay to Undersea Sailors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Tuesday signed an executive order giving incentive pay to crew members of under-water experimental or research vessels such as bathyscaphs.

The order also permits such pay for all crew members assigned to Polaris missile-carrying nuclear submarines.

The White House explained that the Polaris subs have two crews — one on shore and another operating the boat.

Under the old order, a crewman had to be on the submarine to receive extra pay for hazardous duty.

The White House said the "off-ship" crew changes places with the operating crew when a nuclear submarine comes into port.

Half of Japan's arable land is devoted to rice production.

Tradition Ended in South

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern voters wrote an end to 100 years of political tradition in the presidential election.

Seven of the 12 southern "Bible Belt" states cast their ballots for Roman Catholic John F. Kennedy and a strong civil rights platform.

Four went for Republican Richard M. Nixon and a civil rights plank almost as strong. Mississippi rejected both major parties and by a narrow margin elected an unpledged slate of presidential electors.

There was a heavy Republican vote everywhere in Dixie. But many political leaders who had regarded the national Democratic platform or given Kennedy only lukewarm support found their states going heavily for the Massachusetts senator.

Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia went for Nixon, as they did for President Eisenhower.

South Carolina, where former U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes campaigned for Nixon, had been expected to go Republican for the first time since reconstruction days. But Kennedy took the state by a narrow margin.

LOUISIANA SWITCHES

Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina and

Texas also went to the Democrats. In Louisiana, which went for Eisenhower in 1956, a big vote was cast for the segregationist States' Rights party.

Although the Republican party failed to add to its number of Southern congressmen—retaining its present five—the GOP swept to a surprisingly large number of local offices in Florida.

In rich Palm Beach County, where Democratic Sheriff John Kirk has just helped crack the state's most baffling murder case, Republicans swept Kirk, two county commissioners and the registration supervisor out of office. The GOP won eight seats in the Florida Legislature.

Republican gubernatorial nominee George Peterson polled more than a half million votes in losing, and State Republican Chairman G. Harold Alexander proclaimed that Florida "is now a two-party state."

There was no immediate indication where Mississippi's eight unpledged electoral votes would go. Georgia's 12 electors were nominally unpledged but expected to go to Kennedy. Six of Alabama's 11 electors could under law withhold their vote from Kennedy.

The five GOP congressmen in the South who kept their House seats were Reps. Charles R. Jones of North Carolina, William C. Cramer of Florida, B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee and Richard Poff and Joel Broyles of Virginia.

Congress Majority Leader Re-Elected

BOSTON (UPI) — Congressional Majority Leader John W. McCormack has won re-election to a 17th consecutive term without opposition.

The veteran congressman from South Boston first went to Washington in the 70th Congress and has served there ever since.

His nephew Edward J. McCormack Jr. also won re-election to another term as Massachusetts attorney general.

Nixon Gets 2-1 Margin in His Home Precinct

JOHN A. VOLPE

SEN. LEVERETT SALTONSTALL

Pick GOP Governor, However

Massachusetts Backs Favorite Son Jack to Hilt

BOSTON (UPI)—Massachusetts voters gave Democrat John F. Kennedy a thumping home state victory but criss-crossed party lines to elect a Republican governor and hold a U.S. Senate seat for the GOP.

Republican John A. Volpe, prosperous Winchester contractor, was elected governor and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall was returned to a third full term in the upper branch of Congress.

Volpe, making his first run for any political office, defeated Democratic Secretary of State Joseph D. Ward and Saltonstall turned back a challenge from Democratic Springfield Mayor Thomas J. O'Connor Jr.

The Kennedy sweep over Vice President Richard M. Nixon, although not strong enough to carry in Ward and O'Connor, brought victory to all the other Democratic state-wide candidates.

Volpe, 52-year-old former state public works commissioner, was the first Roman Catholic ever chosen for governor by Massachusetts Republicans since Kennedy is the nation's first Catholic president.

With 1510 of the state's 1984 precincts complete, Kennedy was swamping Nixon 1,053,068 to 578,288.

The Kennedy victory in which he picked up the state's 16 electoral votes was never in doubt here. He jumped off to a lead in the early returns and although the margin varied throughout the night, he never was headed.

The Volpe-Ward and Saltonstall-O'Connor fights were nip and tuck. Boston gave Ward a margin of only 50,000 votes and O'Connor a margin of only 35,000.

O'Connor conceded at 3:55 a.m. today.

Saltonstall carried O'Connor's home city, although the mayor had hoped to carry Springfield by a margin of 5-1 or better and the City of Boston by 75,000 votes.

The other state-wide winners, all Democrats, were: Lieutenant Governor Edward F. McLaughlin Jr., president of the Boston City Council; Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack; Secretary of State Kevin H. White of Boston; State Treasurer Rep. John T. Driscoll of Boston and State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley.

Five Democratic congressmen were elected without opposition, including majority leader John W. McCormack, Reps. Edward P. Boland, Thomas J. Lane, Thomas P. O'Neill and Philip J. Philbin. In addition Rep. Silvio O. Conte, a Republican, swept to an easy victory and his second term by defeating Democrat William H. Burns.

Pennsylvania Cities Win State for Jack

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy won only 15 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties but tremendous margins in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh gave him enough momentum to win the state's 32 electoral votes.

Philadelphia went for Kennedy by 326,000 and Allegheny County (Pittsburgh) by around 109,000. Statewide, however, Kennedy appeared likely to win by less than 140,000 over the Republican nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Returns from 8,986 of the state's 9,044 precincts gave Kennedy 2,011,259 and Nixon 2,367,187. Kennedy's victory — only the fourth for a Democratic presidential candidate in Pennsylvania since Civil War days — came only four years after President Dwight D. Eisenhower rolled up a winning margin of more than 600,000.

Kennedy had roughly 52 percent of the vote against Nixon, while Eisenhower—in his 1956 win over Adlai E. Stevenson—had a winning percentage of 57. Both John F. Kennedy and Nixon made intense efforts to win Pennsylvania, spending — with their vice-presidential running mates — 30 days in the state.

Despite Kennedy's win, the Republicans picked up two congressional seats from the Democrats, making the state delegation 14 Democrats and 16 Republicans. The legislature was a different story. The Democrats were holding their slim majority in the House and needed only a victory in one of two races in which they were leading to take the Senate.

Japan's Trade Barriers Hamper U.S. Exports

Speaking in New York at the Far East conference, Eugene M. BRADMAN, director of that division of the Department of Commerce, suggested that Japan should lower restrictions on the importation of American goods more quickly.

Although Japan recently lifted restrictions on some 270 items made in the U.S., it still has more restrictions than any other comparable trading nation. Also many of the tariff cuts are linked to import quotas and mean little.

During early postwar years there was some excuse for quotas but our liberal policy has greatly increased Japanese exports to this country. Mr. BRADMAN is of the opinion that a Tokyo should reciprocate and adds: "Our businessmen are impatient and rightly so. They feel the time has long since passed for the denial of reciprocity by our trading partners. They want to reap the benefits of the tariff concessions granted to us by Japan and other countries which have been vitiated over the years because of restrictions."

Cooperation is the life of mutual foreign trade. Protectionism is outdated for any industrial country although there are those in the U.S. pressing for it.

The trend toward freer trade will be reversed, however, if some nations accept its benefits without lowering their own barriers on our imports.

Germans Learn Facts About Hitler and Nazis

For some time there have been justified complaints that West Germans had been given no clear picture of the Nazi period. In fact, surveys showed that German youths not only had no understanding of Hitler but actually regarded him as a hero.

All that is being changed. A week ago the West German and South German television network showed the first of 14 one hour programs dealing with the rise of Hitler after the death of Pres. von Hindenburg. Observers say it was a factual account and showed that Nazi power depended on brute force.

Further emphasizing this attitude, the influential German newspaper Frankfurter Allgemeine has this to say of the arrest in Argentina of ADOLF EICHMANN, the Reich's chief security officer:

"One of HITLER's inhuman executioners is finally brought to justice—15 years after the Nazi regime of terror was struck down. That EICHMANN has met his hunter and, above all, his judge evokes a sense of satisfaction which, however, in view of the mass murders of which he is accused, can nowhere exist untainted by revulsion. Here, in Germany, horror is mixed with shame in the minds of the thoughtful. His crime was without parallel."

Something perhaps might be said for withholding the crushing truth about HITLER and Nazism from German youths until they again could take pride in their prosperous and powerful country.

Canada Suggests Plan to Assist Disarmament

A worthwhile Canadian plan to give smaller non-nuclear nations a greater voice in disarmament negotiations has been presented to the United Nations. To the surprise of no one, Russia immediately reacted unfavorably.

Soviet delegates have been demanding agreement on complete disarmament first and then negotiations on nuclear controls afterward. They withdrew from the 10 nation disarmament committee last June and show no disposition to return.

The Canadian plan suggests that a neutral chairman, perhaps even from a non-U.N. member country like Switzerland, would be more effective in presiding over meetings. It urges that technical studies be undertaken at once to provide the necessary groundwork for negotiating. It would invite smaller nations to submit proposals.

In addressing the U.N., Canada's secretary for external affairs, HOWARD GREEN, stated the situation clearly: "We believe that the non-nuclear powers... must put the pressure on the nuclear powers to see that the search for agreement is not dropped but is continued with the utmost urgency because the fate of the whole of humanity is at stake in this question."

Smaller nations might be in a better position to exert pressure for renewal of negotiations. While Russia wouldn't be inclined to accept an invitation from Washington, the Soviets could save face by acceding to the small nations plan.

In any case the Western world must keep trying. Our very survival depends on it.

Election Echoes

Pontiac Area Played a Very Prominent Part in Contests

Dick: Who lacked the Jack that Jack had.

Here's the latest Oakland County first. The most gigantic stunt ever attempted in television, the four-hour talkathon of the last day of the 1960 presidential campaign, with Richard M. Nixon in the local role, took place at a studio in our Southfield Township.

The exercise of the right of suffrage had a very humble start in the Pontiac area. In its first participation in a presidential election, Pontiac polled 3,365 and Harrison 2,353.

But in 1960, in that crucial contest of a century ago, our city and county followed the entire nation, and quickly rallied to the support of a newcomer in national politics.

Abraham Lincoln, the county vote being 4,411 for him to 3,768 scattered among Stephen A. Douglas and other Democrat opponents.

It is quite worthy of note that in the first election in Pontiac, history tells us that "practically every man voted."

In the outlying townships in our county the record was almost as good, "in spite of the fact that many of the voters were obligated to travel many miles through an uncharted wilderness."

When we compare this with our record on Tuesday, Nov. 8, 1960, isn't there some cause for sober reflections?

The Greatest Plum of All

Businessmen Glad Election Is Over

WASHINGTON — Businessmen, more than any other group, are glad the election is over. They have been anxious and hesitant. It wasn't altogether the fear that, while one party would adhere to sound fiscal principles, the other would take a chance on deficit spending.

It was the uncertainty itself which produced a psychological reaction that added up to a pause rather than a movement ahead. For despite all the volume of words Lawrence couldn't tell just what policies they would encounter in a new administration.

The country is passing through a "readjustment" or "readjustment." But this alone would cause little concern. Thoughtful students of economic problems know that something "more fundamental" is causing anxiety.

It is the rapid growth of economic blocs in our midst which at the moment can stifle the business progress of the nation and throw it into a tail spin.

Neither candidate dared to mention it but the real cause of our economic upheaval and the narrowing profit margins for business is the irresponsibility of groups that hold vast economic power. The steel strike caused the present recession.

Yet not a word came from either campaign speaker to enlighten the people on the same menace that faces American prosperity in the future.

If a group of labor leaders can tie up the economy of the country by a prolonged strike and are not held accountable for their actions by any public authority, the result must be chaos.

How long can America face up to the competition with the Soviet Union if each group here can do as it pleases without regard to the public interest?

This is a political question, but the campaign hasn't answered it. Recession after recession is to be expected if the country is to be subjected to costly strikes, irrespective of the capacity of business to absorb higher and higher wage costs.

The politics inside trade unions has reached proportions dangerous to the future stability of the economy.

PROFIT PROBLEM

Here is what the "Monthly Letter" of the First National City Bank—an analysis recognized as sound and authoritative by most businessmen—had to say in its November issue:

"Although doing more business and handling more money in the aggregate than ever before, American corporations this year have been facing a difficult challenge in maintaining their profit margins."

"In a new era of intensified competition, the profit margin has become a critical factor in the survival of the fittest."

domestic and international commerce, which has denied opportunity for price increases and led to at least spotty price weakness, efforts have been required to shave controllable expenses in every possible way.

Nevertheless, uncontrollable elements of cost—principally employment costs—in company with failure of sales to reach higher levels, have trenched upon corporate net earnings.

When profits are related to sales, and examined on a quarter-to-quarter basis, a slow but sure erosion of margins became apparent.

"The profits pinch reflects struggles of business in coping with a new environment of worldwide competition... with markets more and more competitive, discounts from list have become commonplace while sales efforts have had to be intensified.

At the same time, wages, taxes, and other cost elements have continued upward about as rapidly as in previous years."

What does all this mean? It certainly can't mean that the government is able to engage in another such "pump-priming" venture as brought ruinous results during New Deal days.

It can't mean that more and more luxuries are to be appropriated for by the government in the name of "social welfare" and without regard to the capacity of corporations or individuals to pay higher taxes.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Carbolic Acid Can Remove Bald Spots, Woman Thinks

One day when I was an intern I tried an experiment before a group of interns and nurses. I immersed my hands in a basin of pure liquefied carbolic acid (phenol) for a minute.

The hands turned white. Then I immersed them in alcohol for a minute and returned, and there was no ill effect.

In those days it was customary to apply pure liquefied carbolic acid to the stump left on removal of the appendix, and follow it by an application of alcohol. Alcohol, however, is useless and perhaps dangerous to use as an antiseptic for carbolic acid.

Now comes an interesting report from Mrs. G. K. S., who says:

"Thirty years ago my husband had several patches of alopecia areata (spots of baldness). 'Our doctor, an M.D., told us to wind a wisp of cotton on a match stick, dip it in pure carbolic acid and paint the bald spots, being careful to go well to the edge of each spot."

"Let it remain until the spot turned white, then dip a second cotton-wound match stick in alcohol (rubbing alcohol will do) and apply at once, saturating each spot thoroughly. After this a thin scab formed on the whole scalp and soon new hair began to grow in each spot, until the whole scalp was as healthy as before."

"This really works. Have seen it done many times since. Just thought it might be helpful to other readers who have a similar condition."

If I were younger and my alopecia were in spots, I'd try the treatment myself. As it is I'm not complaining—I have to do it sweep my hand over my dome and I'm groomed."

Voice of the People

Does Our American Law Also Protect the Guilty?

The concept that a person is innocent until proven guilty has been overemphasized in this country. In our honest zeal to uphold the sanctity of the individual we have created a bulwark of laws designed to protect the innocent. Now we are beginning to realize that while such laws do protect the innocent they are being effectively used to thwart justice from being meted out to the guilty. Our court system is grievously hobbled because of it.

The situation has become so aggravated that victims of criminal abuse are ill-served in institute court action without a preponderance of evidence against the accused. Yet must cases where such evidence exists, seldom reach the court room where the accused has the chance of settling out of court.

Normally only the lawbreakers too poor to exploit all the legal loopholes are in danger of being convicted in today's courts of law. This weakness has crept into our jury system, also. All is not well when a judge must plead with an American jury to do its sworn duty in the face of overwhelming evidence of guilt against the accused.

It's high time we in America assumed our moral obligation to society by dealing out justice to the lawbreaker. To fail in this is to deserve to be regarded as a nation of moral hypocrites.

'Why Use Children to Sell Magazines?'

I strongly object to children being taken from classes in order to increase the sales and profits of any commercial organization. We send our children to school for an education, not to be used as pawns for a magazine concern.

When they are being encouraged through dismissal of classes in preference to a sales assembly by a few paltry gifts, how can the children be expected to keep their minds on their work? They are too busy selling magazines.

The school does benefit from the sales, but the total percentage of profit for the school is so terribly meager when compared to the profit gained by the magazine company. If the magazine outfit is bent on increasing sales, they can hire regular salesmen, people who need jobs, not children who should be in school studying.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Child Is Naughty to Get Attention

Bobby is just 4, but he has hit upon a similar ruse that he employed by 24-year-old Frank in yesterday's case, and 47-year-old Howard on Monday. So scrapbook these true office cases, for they are valuable raw data for diagnosing human problems in your own home. This is a clinical column, so discuss the cases fully.

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE G-421: Bobby L., aged 4, is a well behaved child.

"Or at least he was till a month ago," his worried mother began.

"Then we had our second baby. It was also a boy. And within a week, Bobby started wetting the bed."

"Why Dr. Crane, he had been broken of that mischievous habit for two years."

"But now he has started up all over again. Do you suppose something has gone wrong with his kidneys?"

He was shoved aside amid the clamor associated with the new baby.

Prior to the homecoming of his infant brother, he had been the big shot around the house. He was an absolute ruler, without any threat to his supremacy.

Suddenly, and without adequate warning, his parents let a usurper take over the royal throne which Bobby had monopolized.

For Daddy and Mommy paid far more heed to the newcomer. They jumped to attention whenever he wailed.

And a wet diaper was always a cause for immediate attention from Mamma.

Even though Bobby was only 4 years of age, he subconsciously knew he must beat the intruder at the latter's own game.

If wetting the bed brought Mamma and daddy's evoked her Bobby's sympathy, he decided he could employ the same strategy.

So he reverted to a habit he had overcome 2 years earlier.

PROVOCATIVE NAUGHTINESS

And it really produced results, for now Mamma was worried about Bobby. Daddy, too, showed more concern, even though he is irritable and has spanked Bobby a couple of times.

Many children, in their desperation to re-win the attention of their parents, will deliberately perform naughty acts.

They would rather suffer a paddling, but be back in the spotlight of parental attention, than to go unheeded and disregarded.

Children will often go out of their way to annoy Daddy, father or mother, largely as an attention attracting measure.

Even late teen-agers and some folks of mature years, will likewise resort to provocative naughtiness to hold the attention of a person whose love they feel is slipping away from them.

That, for instance, is often why a phlegmatic husband past 40 will throw aside his teetotaler behavior and suddenly take to drink.

WARN THE FIRSTBORN

baby, by all means give the first-born ample warning.

And do a "selling" job so the firstborn will have his ego inflated at the arrival of the newcomer. This will help to build a love between brothers and sisters. Need I remind you of Cain and Able?

Love must be evoked and evolved so show a child like Bobby that it can help lead the baby "because you are such a BIG boy, Bobby."

The same goes for putting the perambulator in the room.

Send for my booklet on the "N-Uroclast," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 30 cents if you wish to stop the bed wetting habit.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms—tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jay's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jay's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Dem Tide Sweeps Through New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (P) — Democrat John F. Kennedy swept to an election day victory in New York State by 400,000 votes and the tide ousted Republicans from control of the state's congressional delegation.

On the state legislative front the GOP lost some ground in both houses but retained control despite Kennedy's strong showing in traditional Republican upstate areas.

With returns practically complete today, Kennedy had 5,889,083 votes to 5,468,283 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP candidate.

Republicans, who gave President Eisenhower a 1.6-million-vote margin in the counties outside of New York City in 1956, could produce a Nixon edge of only 280,000 in the same territory Tuesday.

Kennedy piled up a plurality of nearly 800,000 votes in New York City, a Democratic stronghold, for the overall victory that gave him the state's prized 45 electoral votes.

The Kennedy victory spelled failure for an intensive campaign by Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to deliver the state to Nixon.

Democrats took control of the congressional delegation 22-21. The changes were in the New York City-Long Island districts.

In the presidential voting, Kennedy drew heavy support from upstate cities with large Roman Catholic populations.

The Democratic nominee also ran well in areas with economic problems.

Kennedy took Erie County (Buffalo) by 276,688 to 211,201, Niagara County (Niagara Falls) 51,005 to 49,317, Oneida County (Utica) 63,371 to 58,150, and Clinton (Plattsburgh) 10,613 to 8,781.

He captured such cities as Batavia, which had never supported a Democratic presidential candidate; Rochester, Auburn and Elmira, all of which supported Eisenhower in 1956 and 1960.

The Democratic nominee won Brooklyn by 646,173 votes to 327,014 and Bronx, Manhattan and Queens by large margins. He lost only one of the five New York City counties, Staten Island.

The religious issue worked in Kennedy's favor and Jewish and Negro voters rallied behind Kennedy. State party fights, if not forgotten, were submerged.

35 to Be Inducted From Oakland County

Inducted from the Pontiac area this week were Kenneth E. Spicer of 31 Elwood St.; John A. Hasse, 183 S. Marshall St.; Donald L. Hamilton, 141 N. Squirrel Road, Pontiac Township; James V. Moore, 5221 Westview Road, Independence Township; Donald L. Martin, Waterford; Kenneth L. Bush of Orionville; William E. Lawson Jr. and Tony W. Berryman, both of Birmingham; and Roy L. Catholic and Non-Catholic States Voted for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (P)—States where Catholics abound and states where Catholics are a rarity gave their electoral votes to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy was the first Roman Catholic to seek the White House since Alfred E. Smith made his bid for the presidency in 1928 against Herbert Hoover.

Smith went down to a crushing defeat. He carried only eight states, to Hoover's 48. He got only 87 electoral votes to Hoover's 448. And he received only 15 million popular votes, to 21 million for Hoover.

Outside the South—and until then, the South had been solid for Democrats since reconstruction days—the popular New York governor won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island, both states with heavy Catholic populations.

He lost such Southern states as Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

No one ever knows for sure what causes a voter to make up his mind. Smith had a lot of things going against him—his accent graded on the ears of many and his stand against prohibition alienated others.

But since Smith's defeat 32 years ago, this conviction grew among many politicians:

A Catholic could not make a strong bid for the presidency. Both in 1928 and 1960, the religious issue stirred deep feelings in the United States, which now has a percentage of 21.6 per cent baptized Catholics.

Twenty-eight years ago, as now, there were high-principled, assuredly nonbigoted men, who opposed Vatican policy and wondered aloud what effect it would have on a Catholic president.

Then, as now, there were tactics of a different sort. In 1928, for example, pictures of a new tunnel under construction in New York were circulated, with the intimation that it was a tunnel to Rome for the Pope to come to America if Smith won.

In 1960 booklets were circulated linking Rome to the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Nobody will ever know how many Protestants voted against Kennedy because of his religion, or how many Catholics voted for him because of his faith. Both Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon said they wanted no votes for religious reasons.

Outside the South—and until then, the South had been solid for Democrats since reconstruction days—the popular New York governor won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island, both states with heavy Catholic populations.

He lost such Southern states as Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

No one ever knows for sure what causes a voter to make up his mind. Smith had a lot of things going against him—his accent graded on the ears of many and his stand against prohibition alienated others.

But since Smith's defeat 32 years ago, this conviction grew among many politicians:

A Catholic could not make a strong bid for the presidency. Both in 1928 and 1960, the religious issue stirred deep feelings in the United States, which now has a percentage of 21.6 per cent baptized Catholics.

Twenty-eight years ago, as now, there were high-principled, assuredly nonbigoted men, who opposed Vatican policy and wondered aloud what effect it would have on a Catholic president.

Then, as now, there were tactics of a different sort. In 1928, for example, pictures of a new tunnel under construction in New York were circulated, with the intimation that it was a tunnel to Rome for the Pope to come to America if Smith won.

SWAINSON VICTORY SMILE — Michigan governor-elect John B. Swainson and his wife Alice embrace at the Democratic headquarters in Detroit early today. Swainson had rolled up a lead in the gubernatorial race with his Republican opponent Paul D. Bagwell who conceded at 6:42 a.m. Swainson, a 35-year-old Plymouth lawyer who lost both legs in a land mine explosion in France, has three children. He served in the State Senate from 1954 until 1958 when he became lieutenant governor.

She'll Wed White Bird

Japanese Bride for Chief

DURAND (AP)—A Michigan Indian chief and a Japanese maiden plan to settle down in this Shiawassee County community after their marriage, probably next month.

Chief White Bird, known to summer tourists for his tribal ceremonies in the Tawas area, will marry Miss Hiroko Ninomiya in Tokyo, where the couple met two years ago.

Miss Ninomiya, a Tokyo University graduate, is a dental technician.

Chief White Bird, who uses the name of George Cook, is a structural steel worker.

WORKED FOR COMPENSATION

As head of the 5,800-member Saginaw - Swans Creek - Blackriver Chippewa tribe, Cook, 45, has appeared before the U.S. Indian Claims Commission in the legal struggle for Indian compensation on land in Michigan.

The chief's mother, Mrs. Julia Cook, who operates Cook Canteen Products in Flint, says she is "looking forward very much to meeting her new daughter-in-law."

After the ceremony, in line with traditional custom, Miss Ninomiya will get an Indian name.

U.S. Agriculture Dept. Signs Pact With Chile

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department announced Tuesday it has signed an agreement with Chile providing for sale of $28.4 million worth of surplus U.S. wheat, cotton, tobacco and other commodities under the Food for Peace Program.

Chile will pay for the commodities in Chilean currency, much of which will be loaned back to finance earthquake reconstruction projects. Sales will be made by private traders, with purchase authorizations to be announced later.

Psychology of Today's Crime Is Pressure

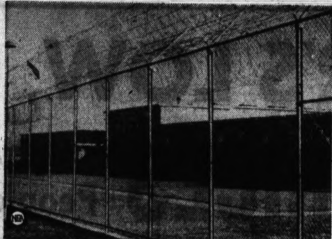

NEW YORK (NEA) — Luckily for scientific research the crime rate in the U.S. has never been higher, crime has never paid better, and the chance of stuffing out crime syndicates has never been more remote.

All in all, the last 15 years since the end of World War II have given researchers a grand opportunity to draw an intimate profile of the American criminal — who

Only one out of 10 criminals is psychotic or cut off from reality. The remaining nine know very well the difference between right and wrong.

They feel guilty for the crimes they commit.

They lack a sense of identity—a knowledge of who they are or what they stand for or where they belong in society. They feel, often, he is and why he is not a law-abiding citizen like the rest of us.

WHAT DIFFERENCE between those inside and outside prison fences?

The profile has been put together by Dr. David Abrahamson in a replacement of his previous standard text called "The Psychology of Crime."

It is drawn from thousands of studies, many of them his own. And if the picture he paints resembles anybody you know, call the police.

that money will give them a sense of being "somebody."

SUFFER FROM CONFLICTS They suffer from conflicts which most frequently are unconscious and which arise because of their inability to withstand the demands of their instinctual drives and of society.

"They want immediate satisfaction," Dr. Abrahamson explains. "They do not want to wait, work up to success, struggle."

There is usually a symbolic meaning behind their antisocial acts. They may be acting out an old quarrel, getting even for an old injustice.

Often they come from loveless homes where there has been a basic misunderstanding between their parents. Usually, their homes are only houses—sometimes slums, sometimes mansions—with everybody going his own way.

They can see around them all sorts of pressures to cheat, lie, steal—and even to kill.

"Crime," Dr. Abrahamson says, "is a part of the American culture."

"We are engulfed by an attitude whose aim is to find shortcuts, keep moving, get ahead and get away with something. We have very little idea of who we are or what we stand for."

"Our homes are more and more loveless. We are no longer able to raise our families well without outside help. We have no real idea of what success means or how to get it—other than material accumulation."

Boy Wins Blue Ribbon in 4-H Sewing Contest

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP) — Boyd Bowles of Jackson was the first boy ever to compete in the Wyoming State Fair 4-H style revue.

He walked off with a blue ribbon for the all-wool shirt and trousers which he made and modeled. Bowles is a farm boy who has finished five years of 4-H sewing work.

"We know the difference between right and wrong. But we have lost our sense of conviction. Consequently, we conform." So does the criminal.

Nature Pulls Error but Results Good

BARTLETT, Calif. (UPI)—U. S. industry is profiting from Nature's error not far from Death Valley, lowest point in the United States.

Agas ago violent geological convulsions thrust up the towering Sierra Nevada and produced the wrinkles of Death Valley, which at the lowest are 283 feet below sea level.

But this "mistake" proved a happy one for the 20th Century American businessman, because it trapped millions of tons of valuable salts before they could escape and become diluted in the ocean.

Today in this Owens Valley community of Southeastern California these salts are processed into soda ash at a new plant of Columbia Southern Chemical Co.

This white, free-flowing, dustless material is shipped in bags or bulk by railroad to supply glass containers, metals processing, paper, soap and chemical manufacturing industries of the Far West.

Three Old $100 Bills Just Child's Play

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—An old account ledger has been among the children's play things at the Donald Bailey home for several years. The kids have mutilated it, scribbled in it and torn out pages.

Recently, one of them ripped off the cover and out fell three $100 bills.

A coin dealer offered $120 each for an 1882 gold certificate and a 1903 bill. The third bill was an undated federal reserve note and will be cashed.

Mail Goes Through—but, So Late?

MONTROSE, Colo. (AP)—Postmaster Bud Loesch received a small package from the Denver Post Office with a letter asking him to deliver it personally to the addressee, Lyle Barton.

Loesch advised Barton the package was found wedged between some boards in a mail dock which had been torn up in Denver.

Barton found the package contained nuts and bolts he had ordered — Sept. 18, 1953.

It's easy to remove excess fat from a cooked stew if you refrigerate the dish; the fat will rise to the top and form a solid layer after chilling.

PAT FIGHTS BACK HER TEARS — Pat Nixon fights back tears which flowed briefly as she stands at the side of Vice President Richard Nixon while he comments on the election returns at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles early this morning. At one point when she showed emotion, Dick paused and tenderly placed his arm around her. He stated, "If this trend continues, Sen. Kennedy will be your next president." Pat said, "I guess I'll have to get a job teaching again."

U.S. Will Quit Bases in Indies

Tells Britain We Hope to Keep Some; Plans Aid for Islands

LONDON (AP) — The United States agreed unconditionally Tuesday to quit the major part of its five base areas in the British West Indies, but said it hopes to stay on in some considered essential to Western defense.

At the same time American delegates to a three-sided conference joined Britain in promising economic aid to the West Indies after that emerging commonwealth state becomes independent.

A communique issued after a five-day conference said all parties accepted the "basic principle that the West Indies, when independent, would have the right to form its own alliances and to conclude such agreements as it thought fit regarding military bases on its soil."

The announcement thus spelled a drastic revision of the historic 1941 agreement between Sir Winston Churchill and the late President Roosevelt.

Under this, Britain gave the Americans base rights in the West Indies until the year 2049 in return for 50 used destroyers and other military equipment at a crucial time in the war against the Nazis.

The five bases are one each in Antigua, Jamaica and Santa Lucia and two in Trinidad.

Staebley Discloses Vote FOR Con-Con

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Democratic state Chairman Neil Staebley disclosed Tuesday he voted for proposal No. 3 on the Michigan ballot.

The proposal would change representation in any constitutional convention that Michigan voters might call in the future.

The present Constitution provides for three delegates from each state Senate district. Proposal 3 would give each Senate and each House district one delegate.

Staebley had declined to disclose his stand on the constitutional convention question during the election campaign.

HAWAIIANS VOTE FIRST TIME — Wearing the traditional Hawaiian flower lei, Hawaii's lone U.S. representative, Democrat Daniel K. Inouye and his wife Margaret hand their ballots to museum-clerk Mrs. George St. Sure.

Inouye, an American of Japanese ancestry, casts his first vote in the presidential election. Inouye defeated his Republican challenger, Frederick J. Titcomb.

New Process Lightens Braille Literature Weight

LONDON (AP) — A new process, bulk lies largely in the paper and the method of making the dots.

Until now the Braille alphabet has been embossed on special manila paper by distorting the fibers of the material to form raised, hollow dots. The new way is to bake solid dots of plastic ink on this, strong paper.

The patterns of dots for letters which the blind read by touch remain those invented in 1828 by Louis Braille. The secret of reducing size, weight and general costs was solved after several years work. The breakthrough came when laboratory experts produced a paste-like plastic ink that could be impressed at tremendous heat and a paper that would not catch fire.

Men Hold Slight Edge in Detroit Vote Turnout

DETROIT (AP) — City Elections Director Louis A. Urban reported Tuesday that the city's total vote Tuesday was cast by men, but noted that "the women are steadily improving their average."

Detroit's total vote was 71.3 per cent of the total registrations.

Striking Teachers Return to Class

NEW YORK (UPI) — Striking New York schoolteachers went back to classes today, ending their one-day walkout after the board of education promised it would not press any charges against them.

The delegate assembly of the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) voted Tuesday to accept proposals from organized labor leaders that they return and submit the strike issues to the board.

Three top labor leaders were ready to help mediate, according to Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

None of the city's more than 800 schools were closed in the walkout Monday, but 273 were picketed and the school board said nearly 6,000 teachers were absent, about 4,000 of them apparently because of the strike.

The board had threatened to take action against them under a by-law prohibiting action unless coming a teacher, but withdrew this threat Tuesday.

The first automobile regularly made for sale was manufactured by the Duryea Motor Wagon Co., organized in 1895.

Free Yourself, Cuban Station Tells Americans

HAVANA (UPI) — The government station Radio Miami today offered its "sincere condolences" to the U. S. electorate which, it said, "is obliged to elect (a president) between two bandits."

The station, in a broadcast editorial, urged Americans to revolt against Castro-style for their "definitive liberation."

The editorial, directed to Americans, said, in part: "Free yourselves of the yoke . . . break the chains . . . destroy the Elscars, hawks, Nixon and Kennedys."

Kennedy Joins Slim State Win

FROM OUR NEWS WIRE

DETROIT — Sen. John F. Kennedy and the entire Democratic state ticket rode to a slim victory in a record Michigan vote today, with Kennedy giving the party its first presidential triumph in Michigan since 1944.

Kennedy pushed along by a 350,000-vote bulge in populous Wayne County, carried Michigan's 20 electoral votes into the Democratic camp by an estimated 80,000 votes.

Victory for the Massachusetts senator marked only the second time in the past 24 years that Michigan has approved a Democratic presidential candidate.

Kennedy jumped off to an early lead on the basis of Wayne County returns and never was headed as the night wore on, although Nixon closed his lead in the early morning hours as out-state returns poured in.

SEE 3.5 MILLION VOTE

With 4,977 of Michigan's 5,074 precincts counted, Kennedy led Nixon 1,662,540 to 1,361,761.

Returns Quickly to Hospital as Autos Collide

A Walled Lake Fire delivered flowers to a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Tuesday and moments later became a patient himself.

Donald B. Watkins, 50, of 6540 Lake Shore Drive, delivered the flowers and was pulling out of the hospital driveway onto Woodward Avenue when his car collided with another.

Watkins suffered a broken shoulder and cuts and bruises. He is in satisfactory condition today.

The other driver, Leonard S. Webb, 61, of 71 Orton St., was treated and released. He told Pontiac police he was headed south on Woodward when Watkins drove across his path.

Watkins said he couldn't see Webb's car coming because of a bus stopped to his left.

Sewage Bond Rejected

LAKE CITY — A vote of 231 to 101 Tuesday defeated a proposal for Lake City to bond $100,000 to finance part of the cost of a sewage disposal system.

A VICTORY KISS — A happy and victorious William S. Broomfield plants a kiss on his wife's cheek last night as other members of the congressman's family gather around him. Word has just come in that he had been returned to Congress for a third year term. Celebrating the victory are Broomfield's father, Dr. S. C. Broomfield (left), a daughter, Susan, and Robert Broomfield, the congressman's brother.

County OKs All 3 Proposals

GOES ALONG WITH STATE ON SCHOOL BOND, SALES TAX, CON-CON

Oakland County voters went along with the three of Michigan in approving all three state proposals on yesterday's ballot by substantial margins.

Here is how the county voted:

Proposal No. 1 — school bonds: 13,639 to 7,346.

Proposal 2 — sales tax: 134,779 to 56,182.

Proposal 3 — constitutional convention: 102,812 to 97,028.

Approval of Proposal No. 1 authorizes amendment of the constitution to enable the state to furnish broader assistance for local school construction.

It permits the state to borrow such amounts as are required on its faith and credit for the purpose of making loans to school districts to pay bonds issued before July 1, 1972.

Also, it enables the legislature, subject to limitations, to prescribe the conditions of such loans, and authorize the levy of taxes by school districts without limitation as to rate or amount for payment of school bonds and state loans.

Passage of Proposal 2 allows the state to increase the limitation on the maximum sales tax from 3 to 4 percent.

This means taxpayers will pay an additional penny to the state with each dollar's worth of purchase.

Approval of Proposal 3 authorizes a vote in the 1961 spring election on calling a constitutional convention for the following October. It also changes the ground rules for calling a convention and the system of selecting delegates.

Souris Gives Dems Supreme Court Win

From Our News Wire

LANSING — Democrats won another victory when Theodore Souris was returned to the State Supreme Court, to which he was appointed when jurist-author John D. Voelker stepped down last year.

Though the high court post is carried on the non-partisan ballot, contenders are nominated by party convention. Souris defeated Washtenaw Circuit Judge James R. Breakey as Democrats held their control of the State Supreme Court, 5-3. Souris had been appointed to the high court by Williams.

With 4,738 precincts out of 5,074 reporting, Souris had 3,023,000 to 2,063,613 for Breakey.

Souris, turned 53 in August, was the youngest justice in the 123-year history of the Michigan Supreme Court when he took his seat last January.

The young attorney, just 10 years out of the University of Michigan law school, replaced one of the most colorful justices of modern times—best-selling author Voelker.

His appointment came as a surprise. Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, who Voelker an Upper Peninsula man, was thought by many to have had the inside track.

Souris, a slightly built, studious-looking man, was the only Democrat in a Detroit Republican law firm before entering upon his judicial career.

He took the high court position following a 10-month stint as Wayne County Circuit judge — another appointment by Gov. William E. G. Milliken.

He filed out the term of the late Judge Joseph H. McLaughlin.

Extends Mayor's Term

CHARLOTTE — A vote of 1,410 to 1,138 Tuesday approved a proposal to extend the terms of Charlotte mayor and supervisors from one year to two.

Democratic Gov. Gaylor A. Nelson of Wisconsin, reported during the campaign to be waging an uphill fight for re-election, finally defeated Republican Phillip G. Kuehn after a see-saw battle.

Democratic W. W. Barron defeated Republican Harold E. Neely in West Virginia to succeed Republican Gov. Cecil Underwood who ran for the Senate.

In Delaware, Democrat Elbert N. Carvel beat John W. Rollins, where GOP J. Caleb Boggs also decided to seek a Senate seat. In Rhode Island, GOP Gov. Christopher de Soto was ousted by John A. Notte Jr.

In normally Republican North Dakota, Democrat William L. Guy took over a GOP state house by defeating C. P. Dahl, Democrat Matthew E. Welsh defeated Republican Crawford F. Parker in Indiana.

Dems Take 14 Governors Ships

Wrap Up Michigan and Illinois, Grab Off 7 in GOP States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats wrapped up 14 gubernatorial races today—including the big Michigan and Illinois state house prizes—and led in one other race.

Seven of the Democratic victories came in states controlled by Republicans.

GOP candidates won in nine states — overturning Democratic rule in three of them—and led in three others.

It all the 27 contests ended as now indicated, the Democrats would win 15 state houses for a net gain of one and the Republicans would take 12. That would give a new national gubernatorial lineup of 34 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

Democrat Otto Kerner, popular Chicago judge, jumped into the national political spotlight by swamping Illinois' Republican Gov. William G. Straton, Kerner, 52, is married to the daughter of a late Chicago Mayor, Anton Cermak, killed by a Miami assassin's bullet aimed at Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

Democrats captured GOP governorships in West Virginia, Delaware, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Illinois, Indiana and Nebraska. Democrats maintained their rule in Florida, Missouri, North Carolina, Texas, Arkansas, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Republicans knocked Democrats out of power in Iowa, Kansas and Massachusetts. The GOP retained control in Vermont, Arizona, New Hampshire, Utah, Maine and Montana.

Republicans led in New Mexico, Minnesota and South Dakota, where Democrats now run the state houses.

In Nebraska, Democrat Frank B. Morrison defeated Republican John R. Cooper. The Democrats regained the state house they won in 1958 but lost two months ago when Gov. Ralph G. Brooks died and was succeeded by GOP Lt. Gov. Dwight W. Burney.

NELSON FINALLY WINS

Democrat Gov. Gaylor A. Nelson of Wisconsin, reported during the campaign to be waging an uphill fight for re-election, finally defeated Republican Phillip G. Kuehn after a see-saw battle.

Democratic W. W. Barron defeated Republican Harold E. Neely in West Virginia to succeed Republican Gov. Cecil Underwood who ran for the Senate.

In Delaware, Democrat Elbert N. Carvel beat John W. Rollins, where GOP J. Caleb Boggs also decided to seek a Senate seat. In Rhode Island, GOP Gov. Christopher de Soto was ousted by John A. Notte Jr.

Waterford Returns to GOP

Waterford Township went back into the Republican column by a decisive margin yesterday as Oakland County maintained its GOP leaning, giving Vice President Richard M. Nixon a 54 per cent plurality in the presidential race.

County voters, 25,000 strong, gave the unsuccessful GOP candidate for governor, Paul D. Bagwell, a 33,000 margin over John B. Swainson, the victorious Democrat.

The county preferred Alvin M. Bentley, Republican nominee for U.S. Senator, by a 21,000 majority over incumbent Democrat Patrick V. McNamara, the winner.

Nixon's margin over Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, was 24,000 votes.

Waterford gave Nixon an even stronger majority, but Pontiac went Democratic right down the line.

The township preferred Nixon by a 57 per cent plurality, according to unofficial final returns, a record 19,000 voters favored Nixon by 2,900 votes, Bagwell by 3,112 and Bentley by 2,861.

Swainson and Bentley outdrew Kennedy in Pontiac, where only 30,344 went to the polls, according to unofficial returns.

HARE LEADS ALL

Pontiac voters preferred Kennedy to Nixon by 3,320 votes, but gave Swainson a bigger margin of 4,280 votes and McNamara the biggest, 4,474 votes.

Secretary of State James M. Hare was the incumbent Democrat on county administrative boards who came the nearest to winning in Oakland County and in Waterford. Hare led all other Democratic candidates in Pontiac.

Hare captured 12,325 votes in the county, compared to 147,963 for his rival William E. Greger, the Republican nominee.

The Waterford vote was 3,515 for Hare, 9,973 for Kreger. In Pontiac it was 18,077 for Hare, 12,278 for Kreger.

Four years ago, Waterford voters cast the majority of their ballots for Gov. Williams and his Lansing team.

The new Republican victory comes as a challenge to the incumbent team of Democratic township officers, whose posts were not involved yesterday.

The township had favored President Eisenhower four years ago. So did Pontiac, but by less than 100 votes. Pontiac voted Democratic in the other 1956 contests.

Oakland County hasn't voted Democratic in a presidential election since 1936, when Roosevelt topped Landon.

Waterford saw 82 per cent of its eligible voters go to the polls yesterday, a slightly higher turnout than in any county as a whole and considerably higher than the 74 per cent. The Pontiac turnout was 74 per cent, compared with 72 per cent four years ago.

A Day School Party Line —Strictly a Card for Kids

Everybody will benefit when friends of Bloomfield Country Day School stage a Telephone Card Party Nov. 16—students at the school with added facilities, members of the Mothers Club who get better acquainted through the effort, and local card players who can settle down to an afternoon of fun knowing they are helping a worthwhile cause.

Chairman Mrs. William Ploch is working with vice chairman Mrs. Paul M. McKenney and a committee of three, Mrs. A. James Stirling, Mrs. J. P. Judd and Mrs. Robert C. VanderKloot. Together they will mesh myriad details of the school's first money-raising activity of the year.

Bridge, pinocle and gin rummy tables will be at play with prizes in bridge going to the three highest scorers whose hostesses report first by phone to Chairman Mrs. Ploch. Two prizes for each pinocle and gin rummy game will be awarded under normal playing and scoring rules.

Response from Metamora, Rochester, Oxford, Detroit, Dearborn and Royal Oak as well as Pontiac, Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills indicates the party will be one of the big events of the week, according to Mrs. Ploch.

Among those who have already arranged to host luncheon and cards are Mrs. M. M. Burgess, Mrs. J. Brandt Jr., Mrs. Ralph L. Polk, Mrs. Edward H. Steber, Mrs. Drew C. Haneline, Mrs. J. D. Richardson Jr., Mrs. John Q. Nagel and Mrs. John B. Poole.

Chairman Mrs. William Ploch of Broadway Boulevard, Bloomfield Village uses a woman's natural tool—the telephone—to line up support for the Bloomfield Country Day School's Nov. 16 Telephone Card Party.

Give Him a Chance First, Says Abby

By AGIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After dating Matt three times I was delighted because he was the first fellow I didn't have to wrestle with. I mean he never even tried to kiss me goodnight.

Now I am beginning to wonder if there isn't some thing wrong with him. We've been together 19 times, and he still hasn't made any effort to kiss me and I am getting pretty tired of it.

How does a girl get a fellow to make a little progress? I am not the pushy type but if this guy is looking for a sister, he has the wrong girl. WANTS ROMANCE

DEAR WANTS: Don't rush him. Let him proceed at his natural rate of speed for another month. If he still hasn't warmed up — he's a cold fish. Throw him back.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is getting married. It will be a church wedding, but we are keeping the number of guests down because of the cost.

My problem is my husband's maiden sister. She is a trouble-maker, a bad mouth, an authority on everything and a merciless critic. I know if she is at the wedding it will spoil it for me. My husband is the easy-going type who had "yesed" her all his life to avoid an argument. I would like to leave her out. Should I?

BRIDE'S MOM DEAR MOM: This is a family wedding — not a bridge luncheon. Don't exclude your husband's sister.

DEAR ABBY: I have made quite a few mistakes in the past but am leading a respectable life now. A fellow with whom I was at one time involved threatens to reveal my past if I do not resume our old relationship. I cannot go to the authorities because of the bad publicity, and if my past is disclosed I would not be able to remain where I am now. I am at my wits' end. What should I do?

TRAPPED DEAR TRAPPED: Tell the blackmailer to go ahead and reveal your past if he so chooses. He probably won't — but if he does, you will have to seek a new life elsewhere. Living under threat of exposure is no life at all.

CONFIDENTIAL "Bitterly Disappointed" (in the office romance): After investing nine years in this man, I diagnose the case as "hopeless." The Cure: Major surgery. Cut him out of your life. You are only 28 and will live.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed letter.

Do You Want Pretty Legs?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When a woman is losing weight, exercise not only helps bring her measurements into lovely proportion but firms and also burns up calories. You should include exercise in your slimming routine.

Of course, you should first ask your doctor to check your blood pressure and your heart if you have not been taking exercises.

I already have given you some of my favorite exercises this week — for the waist, abdomen, hips and thighs. Today we will consider the legs.

Actually, the kind of figure you have does not depend entirely on your weight. Your bony structure and your muscles also play a part.

We cannot do anything about the bones but we can do something about the muscles and weight.

Here are two exercises for developing the calves of the legs.

1. Stand tall, toes pointing forward. Rise high on the toes, as high as you can. Hold while you count to five slowly. Lower heels to the floor. Continue.

2. This is a good one for calf development. Sit on the edge of a chair. Raise the right leg up, about eight inches from the floor, knee straight. Point your right toe toward the floor. HARD. Hold while you count to five. Relax. Point again. Continue relaxing and pointing. Do the same thing with your left leg and toe.

3. Calf slimming is more difficult to achieve. This is the best one I know. Lie on the floor on your back, arms resting on the floor at your sides. Raise your left leg up with a stiff knee. Point your left toe back toward your head. Lower leg. Do the same thing with the right leg and toe and continue, alternating. Do this slowly. Feel your way along with this exercise. If you pull your toe back too suddenly or vigorously, it will hurt.

PERFUME

Everyone wears perfume at some time . . . why not all the time? It is so often saved for special occasions and between periods of use it undergoes a chemical change. If your precious bottle of perfume lasts a year . . . it is much too long. It is rich, strong and strange smelling. Perfume is as beautiful as a lovely smile and not the same on two different skins. Keep your bottle away from heat and light, wipe the neck of the bottle after use . . . and DO USE IT!

Cologne is especially nice at work but don't expect it to last longer than 3 hours. Re-apply it at the pulse spots.

Life Is a Grind to Those Who Can't Take It

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Usually it's Tuesday that brings the Wyatts a letter from their college freshman daughter. Sometimes it's delayed. Then Mrs. Wyatt begins to suffer.

If she doesn't hear from Midge by Wednesday, she starts to envision car accidents, virus infections, emergency appendectomies as causes of the ominous silence.

By Thursday she can't stand the suspense. Putting in a long distance call to Midge, Mrs. Wyatt asks anxiously:

"Are you sure you're all right, dear? Are the girls being nice to you? Do you need more vitamins? What did your French teacher say about ..."

Listening, Mr. Wyatt throws down his paper and roars:

"Why the Sam Hill can't you leave that kid alone!"

Hanging up, his wife doesn't answer. In cold reproach she thinks:

"It's all right for you to bellow. You're not Midge's mother. You don't love her as much as I do."

For like other overprotective parents, Mrs. Wyatt always grieves her suffering over Midge by calling it "love" for her child. Actually her overprotectiveness has nothing to do with Midge and it has little to do with love.

What it has to do with is an old problem of Mrs. Wyatt's—her secret insistence on immunity from trouble. The unpredictable and uncontrollable forces of life that affect the rest of us must never touch Mrs. Wyatt.

She wants Spontaneous Treatment from life—and her compulsion to make constant check on Midge's well-being in her unconscious demand for nothing but well-being.

There is nothing new in this demand. Mrs. Wyatt has always become depressed when life presumed to trouble her in any way. She gets sticker with flu than other people because flu germs should leave her alone. She has suffered terribly over a friend's betrayal because no friend of hers must ever sever in loyalty.

Other women's husbands may be unsympathetic but Mr. Wyatt must always be the utmost in comfort and support. Other people's parents can grow old and die but hers must never worry her with age or illness.

Her overprotectiveness of Midge is merely an extension of the old claim to immunity from trouble.

It is this secret conflict with realities of human existence that makes Mrs. Wyatt's life a burden of perpetual apprehension.

Hostess Squarely on the Spot

Good Taste Today

Question: A friend invited my husband and me to a party at her house. At the last minute my brother and sister-in-law arrived from out of town. I telephoned this friend who was giving the party and explained the situation and asked if we might bring them along.

She hesitated a moment and then said, "all right" but I could tell from the tone of her voice that it was not "all right" and that she merely said it to be polite. Will you please tell me if I was wrong to call and ask if we might bring them along.

Answer: What you should have done was to call the hostess and say, "My brother and sister-in-law have just arrived from out of town and as we cannot leave them alone we will not be able to come to your party."

Then if she had room for them she could invite them to come. But to call and ask point blank if you may bring extra guests to her party does put the hostess on the spot.

Question: My sister and I are giving a bon voyage party together for a girl friend of ours who is leaving soon for an extended trip abroad. I would like to invite several of my own personal friends to this party but my sister tells me that I cannot do this and that only the friends of the guest of honor should be invited.

Answer: It will be better to follow your sister's advice and invite only friends of the guest of honor. To invite people she does not know to come to say "goodby" to her does not make much sense.

Question: Will you please tell me if it is wrong to ask a bride-to-be where she and the bridegroom are going on their honeymoon? I have been told that it is.

Answer: Where a bride and groom are going on their honeymoon is their own secret, and it would be tactless to ask to share it.

Says Men Adore Hats on Women

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
If you want to put your best face forward, girls, wear a hat. That's the advice from charming Hildegarde, supper club chanteuse who has appeared in sophisticated spots all over the world.

"Wear a hat to please men, if for no other reason," Hildegarde advises. "Men adore hats, and a woman who doesn't wear one is missing a glamor bit."

Hildegarde says she means "hat" however, not head covering.

"I don't believe in just a covering for a head," she explains. "Wear a hat that has body, frame and character. Don't wear a little thing on the back of your head. It will look dowdy."

"A good substantial hat makes you feel important. Little hats look chic on some people, but they don't do anything for me. I believe in a large hat. The more important the hat, the more 'important you feel,' she says.

You must know your face to choose the right hat, she points out.

"Little girls should wear tall hats. If your face is wide, you can use height. A round face needs height to elongate it. An oval face can wear any style hat, of course," she says.

Girls miss their biggest charm point by not wearing hats in the summer, she thinks, because there is such a wonderful opportunity to wear gay, charming, floral hats.

"I adore flower bedecked hats. I love a yellow flowered hat with a gray flannel suit and I accent it with gloves of yellow. I like white flowered hats, and these I accent with white gloves. I wear tailored hats when I travel. But I avoid orange, mustard, olive green. They're colors that do nothing for me," she says.

Hildegarde thinks older women would do well to observe colors and styles in hats.

"An older, gray-haired woman can look adorable in a hat of gray or blue, if she has gray hair. But bright red or gay bright-colored flowered hats are too much of a contrast."

She particularly dislikes the contrast of red with gray hair. She adores veils, and thinks they flatter any woman.

"I don't like a veil worn in place of a hat, though. It gives a characterless effect."

It's too bad more young children do not wear hats, she says, "but since it is the best time to train strangely enough people do not a girl in the art of selecting and wearing a hat.

"I always wore a hat to school and to church when I was a girl in Wisconsin. One reason teenagers do not wear hats today is because they never got in the hat wearing habit in childhood," she points out.

Hildegarde wears hats even in the tropics, and is taking eight hats with her on a forthcoming trip to the West Indies, even though it will be hotter than blazes, she says.

"A hat can keep you cool in a hot climate," she says, "but place the shade effect of a hat should be appreciated."

Kennedy Snarles His Victory in FDR's Break-Away Style

By LYLE G. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democrats have come up with another break-away runner in the image of their all-time All-American, FDR:

Sen. John F. Kennedy ran for president in the Roosevelt tradition. Not only did he take the big cities in the big states with their great clusters of electoral votes.

Kennedy also blasted smaller communities off their Republican foundations. Batavia and Rome, N.Y., for example, small cities with Republican traditions like that of an old-time Union League club.

An aging staff officer of the original New Deal forces summed it up a fortnight before polling day after Kennedy's imperial progress through the City of New York.

"CAN'T BE BEAT"
"That fella," said the old New Dealer, "can't be beat. We've got another Roosevelt. He smiles out of the back of his head. We're back in the White House for sure."

Republicans will blame their candidate for a massive party defeat.

Some GOP strategists were complaining in September and early October that Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign was too soft.

Some of them continued to complain of too little and too late after Nixon went all out in the stretch drive.

From the campaign sidelines it appeared to this observer that Nixon lost this presidential election in deference to the solid sports maxim that the best defense is not enough to win the ball game. The offensive team gets the scores.

Circumstances and fancy Democratic strategy put Nixon on the defensive in this campaign. There were other factors.

In the tidal wave of election news there were bits and pieces suggesting that there was in fact a massive Roman Catholic support of candidate Kennedy in the North and East.

Precise analysis of returns from many areas shortly will answer the question which plagued the campaign: Which candidate did the religious issue help or hurt and where?

DEBATES HURT NIXON

The TV confrontations—debates, so-called—must be put down now by Nixon and his friends as a ghastly mistake.

No. 1 apparently disposed of a big Republican issue: That Kennedy was a boy sent by the Democrats to do a man's job.

Nixon was acclaimed by his supporters as a skilled debater, a master of the hard-biting campaign. Nixon's enemies called it differently. They said Nixon had an instinct for the vulgar.

However that may be, the defensive fighter must back away so long as he is on the defensive. And Nixon backed. Kennedy chose to attack the Eisenhower administration. Nixon chose to defend.

The blockbuster issue which proved to be indefensible was the issue of prestige.

Nixon must have been aware of that when he insisted and sought to prove that United States prestige was never higher in the world. The vice president was the first and for some time the only member of the Eisenhower administration to warn the nation of the international impact of the first Communist Sputnik.

The counter-issue Nixon might have developed, but did not, was that if United States prestige had slipped, the slippage was not wholly his, perhaps, even half the responsibility of the Eisenhower administration.

There were many facets to the question of prestige.

A slippage in U.S. prestige, however, seemed to fit the pattern of world events.

LEAKED REPORTS

And while the vice president and Henry Cabot Lodge were making their all-out defense, Eisenhower administration underlings leaked to Kennedy headquarters reports of government polls which certified that U.S. prestige had, indeed, slipped.

These polls and the evidence of the day by day news seemed to support wholly Kennedy's charges and to impeach Nixon's defense.

Nixon might have met and mastered the prestige issue from a different tack.

On most other fronts Kennedy outmaneuvered his Republican opposition with promises to outperform the Eisenhower administration over the whole range of government.

Nixon stoutly challenged that President Eisenhower had done well and that Kennedy could do no better but would do worse.

Nixon did not, however, pin the Democrats on the fact that Kennedy was vague, minus detail, on how he would accomplish his wonders.

Nixon and Ike together couldn't make Kennedy answer: HOW!

'61 Auto Production Stays Ahead of '60

DETROIT (UPI)—The Automobile Manufacturers Association reported today that U.S. car production last week totaled 145,397, plus 18,173 trucks and buses, for a total output of 163,570 vehicles. This compared with 150,096 cars and 18,055 trucks and buses in the previous week.

Total U.S. motor vehicle production through Nov. 5 was reported as 6,728,324 units, compared with 5,923,784 last year at the same point.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and grip the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONADO gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONADO moistens dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONADO's unequalled rubbing action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONADO acts gently, on the nerves, reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONADO relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONADO won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONADO today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Capsule Attempt Proves a Flop

Pilot "Escape" System Fails to Leave Rocket;
Both Fall Into Ocean

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The man-in-space program suffered a setback in a test shot of a Mercury capsule Tuesday when its pilot escape system failed to separate from a booster rocket.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said the unmanned capsule failed to break from its Little Joe booster rocket and both plunged into the Atlantic Ocean about 15 miles from the test station at Wallops Island, Va.

A spokesman said the capsule fell 70 feet of water. Navy divers planned a recovery attempt.

U.S. rocketmen, meanwhile, were shut out in a second failure in a shot at Cape Canaveral, Fla. An attempt to launch a payload 24,500 miles into space aboard a four-stage scout rocket flopped when it malfunctioned, dumping the 29.4 pound payload into the ocean minutes after blastoff.

The shot was to test high-altitude radiation leading to a system for detecting atmospheric nuclear explosions.

Predicts Slow Steel Future

Iron Age Says Bigger Stocking of Inventories May Come in Spring

NEW YORK (U) — The steel market is marking time now and may continue to do so for the next four months, Iron Age said today.

Factors now influencing the market are of a short-term nature, the national metalworking weekly said, and added:

"Although the bottom has been reached, it may be next March before any real change affects the market."

Some of the short-term factors listed by the magazine included:

1. Steel mills have been building up their own inventories of finished and semifinished steel, and most mills are stocking more inventory than they had ever believed possible. (With mill inventory building at an end, it noted, the steel operating rate could drop off a few points).

2. Outbacks in automotive steel for November and December have hit recovery hopes hard.

3. New orders from a wide range of general users have picked up, partially offsetting the decline in automotive orders.

As for prices, Iron Age says these have held up fairly well.

"There is some playing with specialty prices, and some cutting in the grading of sheets and strip," the magazine said,

"but few concessions are being made on most standard products." It added that producers are absorbing more freight to get orders and some price shading is noted in fabricated products.

North Carolina Brain Useful, but Expensive

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (U) — The Univac 1105 computing machine at the University of North Carolina is quick to think but expensive to use.

Problems presented to the machine take from five minutes to 10 hours to answer. Rates for Univac's service vary from $50 to $400 an hour. But considering the man hours saved it's an economy.

U.N. Congo Troops Killed or Captured

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Eleven Irish soldiers of the U.N. Congo force were killed or captured in an ambush Tuesday in northern Katanga province.

U.N. headquarters in Elisabethville reported today that only four bodies have been recovered. The other seven men and the patrol's two vehicles are missing.

They apparently were victims of rebel Baluba tribesmen. A U.N. spokesman said the patrol was ambushed south of Niemb, which is about 60 miles from Albertville on Lake Tanganyika.

Ashes of Chessman Will Rest in Secret

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — Rosalie Asher, attorney for Cary Chessman during his lengthy but unsuccessful attempt to avoid the gas chamber, said Tuesday Chessman's ashes would be put to rest in an unidentified California cemetery.

Miss Asher refused to divulge any information other than to say the cemetery would be quiet and out of the way.

She said her silence was to keep Chessman's grave from becoming an attraction for tourists and the curious.

The convict-author was executed in the San Quentin gas chamber last May 2, after a 12-year battle to remain alive. He had been sentenced to death as a result of his conviction in Los Angeles of kidnapping charges.

After his execution, Forest Lawn Cemetery in Los Angeles refused to allow his ashes to be buried there.

The ashes have been in a receiving vault at Tamaulpais Cemetery here.

Seven Dems Retain Offices in Wayne

DETROIT (U) — Prosecutor Samuel H. Otis and 81-year-old Sheriff Andrew C. Baird, were among seven Democrats who retained offices in Wayne County by stable margins.

Others were Bernard J. Youngblood, register of deeds; Henry V. Herrick, drain commissioner; County Clerk Edgar M. Branigan; Treasurer Harold E. Stoll, and Arthur A. Sumaracki, who kept a seat on the three-member board of auditors.

Service for Former Hospital Director Today

ANN ARBOR (U) — Private service was to be held here today for Dr. Christopher G. Farnall, a director of the old University Hospital in Ann Arbor from 1918 to 1924.

Farnall, who was widely known as a planner for hospitals, died Sunday in the University of Michigan Hospital, which he helped design.

He also helped plan the University of Iowa medical school, the Indianapolis City Hospital and the Houston (Tex.) city and county hospitals.

Ecuadorian Airline Halted After Crash
QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador's government has prohibited further flights by the Aerovias Ecuatorianas Airline pending an investigation of the crash of one of its planes that killed all 37 aboard.

The bodies of the 34 passengers and three crewmen were found Tuesday scattered over the side of a mountain the Twin-turboprop Fairchild hit while coming in for a landing. The crash Monday was the worst in the history of Ecuador.

The ministry said it would negotiate with Pan American-Grace Airways (Panagra) for resumption of Ecuadorian domestic flights; Panagra cancelled when its contract expired six months ago.

Tennessee Goes Republican for 3rd Straight Time

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee gave its 11 electoral votes to Republican Richard M. Nixon Tuesday, the third straight time this normally Democratic Southern state has swung into the GOP column in a presidential election.

In a campaign strongly influenced by the religious issue, Protestant Tennessee refused for the second time in 32 years to give their support to a Catholic presidential candidate. Al Smith lost it in 1928 to Republican Herbert Hoover.

Democrat Sen. Estes Kefauver easily won re-election to a third term and Republican Rep. B. Carroll Reece was returned to Congress against token opposition.

The state's other seven Democrat and one Republican congressmen were re-elected.

Local Issues Encounter Mixed Voter Reactions

OK'd by Utica and Troy, Out in Milford, White Lake

Local issues in four area communities yesterday met with varied reaction from voters.

A proposal in Milford asking approval of a $142,000 bond issue for major improvements was defeated while White Lake Township voters turned down a request for funds for the operation of the police and fire department.

Utica voters approved salary increase for city officials and a change in the fiscal year. In Troy a charter amendment was approved overwhelmingly.

MILFORD

More than 200 votes defeated a proposed major improvement program for Milford.

The single local issue seeking approval of a bond issue to pay a portion of a capital improvement project planned by village officials was rejected by a vote of 104 to 64.

Village Clerk Beatrice Holberg said that 1,674 property owners cast ballots in the special election that was held separately from the general election.

Paper ballots were used in the election that proposed selling bonds not to exceed $142,000. Officials had noted that the bond issue would not increase village taxes.

However, if approved, special assessment districts would have had to be created in areas benefiting from the improvements to cover remaining cost of the total $770,000.

Some $225,000 already budgeted for the improvement project would also have been needed if the proposition had been received favorably.

Under the program, officials said, 4 1/2 miles of streets would have been paved, curbs and gutters constructed, and three storm sewers installed.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP

A request for additional operating funds for the White Lake Township police and fire departments was turned down as voters split their ballot on two local propositions.

Approval of both propositions was needed if the two departments were to benefit.

The first proposition giving the township authority to exceed the 15-month county limitation was defeated 1,186 to 864.

The second proposition sought a one-half cent tax increase for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. It was approved 1,365 to 889.

On hearing the outcome of the local issue, Supervisor Edward Chezy said:

"It's a real shame that the proposition was turned down. There are some residents who just don't realize the importance of operating an efficient police and fire department. And when they do it's too late."

Approximately $14,000 a year in new revenue would have been raised if both proposals had been approved, according to the supervisor.

UTICA

Almost every elected Utica city official received a pay boost from voters yesterday except the ones who originally proposed the higher salaries — city councilmen.

Increased salaries for four city officials along with a revised fiscal year were the five local propositions facing Utica voters.

All the proposals were approved with the exception of the salary increase for the city clerk. It was defeated by a 307 to 281 vote.

Councilmen had sought to increase their $10-a-meeting salary to $20 a meeting.

Voters gave approval to double the mayor's salary from $500 to $1,000 by a 308 to 282 vote.

Salary increases for the treasurer and assessor were approved 353 to 229 and 352 to 229, respectively.

Presently, the treasurer receives 1 1/2 per cent of collected taxes and the assessor is given an annual $500 salary.

A change in the city's fiscal year was approved 620 to 174. The new year will begin July 1, and end June 30. At present, the city follows the calendar year.

Ballots were cast by 666 of the city's 850 registered voters.

6 Communities Decide Issues

Vote on Sewer Bonds, Civil Service, City Hall, Also Liquor

In Southern Oakland County voters turned out in record numbers to decide local issues in addition to casting their ballots for county, state and national offices.

The following is a rundown of results in six of these communities.

HAZEL PARK

A proposed $3.1 million bond issue to finance the construction of storm sewers was defeated by a wide margin by Hazel Park voters yesterday.

The proposal was rejected by a vote of 63 to 46.

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP

Civil service for the Royal Oak Township police and fire departments was abolished yesterday by only a seven-vote margin.

Voters approved canceling the protection for the two departments with a vote of 63 to 46.

MADISON HEIGHTS

Only one of four local issues appearing before Madison Heights voters yesterday was approved.

This was for the construction of a new fire station. The proposal carried 4,867 to 3,540.

The other proposals called for a charter amendment to extend the limitation deadline on the sale of authorized bonds, construction of a new city hall and a plan for a major park site.

The charter amendment was turned down 4,198 to 3,382; the new city hall proposal rejected 5,109 to 3,656; and the park site defeated 4,718 to 3,499.

BERKLEY

Voters in Berkley yesterday approved a charter amendment that will eliminate the automatic appointment of the city assessor to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The exact margin of victory was not known since a recount on the proposal was to be made today.

CLAWSON

Sale of liquor by the glass was approved by a 56-vote margin in the only local issue on the ballot in Clawson yesterday.

The proposal received 2,774 "yes" votes as against 2,678 "no."

ROYAL OAK

Royal Oak voters yesterday turned down a proposal to sell liquor by the glass. It was the fourth time in 22 years that the issue had been defeated at the polls.

The proposition was rejected 18,092 to 15,292.

City tavern owners had pushed for approval of the proposal, but church groups strongly urged that the issue be voted down.

Milk Producers Re-Elect North Branch Resident

Glenn Lake of North Branch was unanimously re-elected to his sixth straight one-year term as president of the Michigan-Milk Producers Association.

Start This Spring in Rochester

ROCHESTER — A $238,000 construction and remodeling project, which will more than double the size of the post office here, will be started this spring.

The new 64 by 62-foot structure will be attached to the present office building at Fourth and Walnut streets.

The addition will be built of the same type of brick construction as the existing 64 by 46-foot Royal Oak.

Cost of the project was estimated by Frank R. Chapman Jr. of Avon Township, who is handling the architectural work jointly with Clair Ditch Associates of Royal Oak.

Modern features of the new building also will be included in the project for the construction and remodeling work, approximately $35,000 already has been spent to acquire land on which the addition will be built, according to August A. Brandel, chief of the U.S. General Services Administration office in Detroit.

Located on the property which adjoins the present post office is a two-story, concrete block structure which houses a dental office and three apartments.

Rochester Postmaster Cole Neumann said yesterday he is seeking permission to use the building at 408 Walnut St. as a temporary center for parcel post services.

The old building will be torn down to make way for the addition, Neumann said.

Chapman reported that actual work on the project probably won't be started until the spring.

The architect also said the parking lot will be enlarged to accommodate more cars, and an office for the assistant postmaster will be included in the new building.

Flower girl was Kimberly Blanchard, niece of the bridegroom. Rose Gramstad, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

After a honeymoon trip to Northern Michigan, the newlyweds will reside in Charlevoix.

For her wedding the bride chose an embroidered nylon over tulle gown with a bouffant skirt accented with hand-stitched flowers encircled with sequins and pearls.

Her veil of bridal illusion was fastened to a sequin and pearl crown, and her flowers were white roses encircled with white carnations.

Her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were Sharon Noble of Pontiac and Linda Clark of Detroit.

Assisting his brother as best man was Robert Mathews with Jack Augustine of Wall Lake and Rex Blanchard of Charlevoix acting as groomsmen.

MRS. VERNON L. MATHEWS JR.

Seek Funds for Retarded

A drive to aid mentally retarded children in South Oakland County will be started Monday by the Fort Custer Parents' Association of Rochester.

The drive will be held in conjunction with National Retarded Children's Week, according to Mrs. James Cleland of 2800 Alida Road, Avon Township, publicity chairman for the parents' association.

The association will enlist the community's support to provide an adequate program of services for mentally retarded children and adults in institutions, Mrs. Cleland said.

She reported that canisters will be placed in the Bazley Cash Market at 78 N. Saginaw St. in Pontiac.

East Orion Farm Bureau Sets Monthly Meeting

The East Orion Farm Bureau will hold its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Oakland Township Hall, 4388 Collins Road.

A highlight of the meeting will be the showing of a movie entitled "The Pageant of American Farms."

Farmers Are Told Not to Buy Controls

Walter W. Wightman, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, today charged that agriculture is "not getting its money's worth" out of projects financed by the federal government.

Speaking in East Lansing at the opening of the farm bureau's 11th annual convention, Wightman said farmers cannot expect the government to take care of them "from the cradle to the grave."

"There are many things we can do better for ourselves," Wightman said. "It is much too expensive for our economy to send all our money down to Washington and have half of it lost on the round trip before it gets back to us."

"This is what happens when we ask for federal aid to education, federal health plans and even federal highway construction."

"This is even more true with federal aid to agriculture," he said. "With all these federal aid programs, we ought to look into some of the proposed programs before we buy them."

Wightman said legislation is needed to keep these programs in check.

He added that legislation also was needed to keep the secretary of labor from making interpretations in regard to farm labor that are favorable to labor unions and detrimental to agriculture.

The farm bureau president urged that the various agricultural organizations cooperate to defend the farmer against control by labor unions.

Greater cooperation also is necessary, he stated, to combat the threat to American agriculture of foreign competition.

Organizations which could serve to protect the farmer by banding together, Wightman said, include such groups as the Michigan Milk Producers Association, Michigan Elevator and Livestock exchanges, Michigan State Grange and Great Lakes Cherry Bargaining Cooperative.

Some 1,500 delegates, representing nearly 2,000 farm families, are attending the Michigan Farm Bureau convocation which continues through Friday at Michigan State University.

Named to three-year terms on the board were Mrs. Robert Gaines of Romeo, Mrs. Anthony Burian of Allenton, Jean McKay and Mrs. James Wade, both of Almont.

Elected to two-year terms were Mrs. Robert Patton of Almont, Mrs. Albert Wood of Romeo, Mrs. Wilmer Molander and Mrs. Charles Ferguson, both of Almont.

Mrs. James Smith of Almont, Mrs. Edmund Anderson of Romeo, Mrs. Franklin O'Connor of Armada and Mrs. Walter Parsons of Lakeville will serve one-year terms.

The auxiliary also has adopted a new constitution and by-laws in order to be eligible for membership in national and state auxiliaries.

The auxiliary contributed $1,153 to Community hospital in the past year.

Air Force to Survey Martin Management

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Air Force Sec. Dudley C. Sharp announced today that a survey of management practices will be conducted among major contractors starting with the Martin company's Titan missile program.

He said the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile program was selected for the first examination "because of its tremendous importance to national defense and because its complex nature generates problems common to most advanced weapons systems."

Purpose of the survey is to "determine whether present management methods will continue to keep pace with the rapidly advancing technology of modern weaponry," Sharp said.

The announcement said the Martin Co. "is in complete agreement with the purposes of the survey and will give full cooperation."

She has spoken extensively in this country and has been a counselor at the Junior Red Cross camp near Grand Rapids. She also is associated with the Protestant Foundation for Interdenominational Students at the University.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting is open to the public.

Orion Dinner Tomorrow

LAKE ORION — The women's department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will sponsor a halo-halo dinner tomorrow at the church, 531 E. Flint St. Family style serving will be from 5 to 7 p.m.

Postpone Board Meeting

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The monthly meeting of the Pontiac Township Board has been changed from next Monday night to Nov. 21, township officials announced today.

Unionville Bank Can Thank Wife

Loot (and 6 Oranges) Returned

UNIONVILLE, N.H. — For the $17,000 cash there was apparent explanation. But the six oranges were a mystery.

The cash and the oranges, each in a separate sack, were contained in the cardboard package from Detroit that arrived by mail at Mrs. Nelda Phillips' home in rural Unionville Tuesday.

In remorse and prompted by his wife, the robber who stole $20,751 from Mrs. Phillips, 42, at her bank Oct. 28 sent back the money — or most of it.

Why he also sent the six oranges, however, is not known.

That's the way the FBI and Tuxedo County Sheriff William Tomlinson sized things up, pending complete investigation.

In the box about 18 inches long, was an unsigned note saying: "My wife won't let me touch it."

Presumably, the reference was to $17,000, an FBI estimate after a preliminary count.

Some of the money, all in bills, still was packaged.

Before handling the money, investigators for the state police and Sheriff Tomlinson put on rubber

Gets Hearing Next Tuesday
Man Who Was Picked Up in Farmington Faces Three Counts

A 30-year-old Rochester, N.Y., man, arrested last week by Farmington Police for passing a bad check and then found to be driving a stolen car from Ohio, has been bound over in U.S. District Court in Detroit for a hearing next Tuesday.

Appearing before Federal Judge John Feikens was Thomas B. O'Neill, who had been sought by the FBI for several months on two other counts.

Farmington police turned O'Neill over to the FBI after discovering the car he was driving was stolen in Cleveland. Local police found a uniform of an army officer in the car.

The FBI in Detroit said today that O'Neill had been sought by Federal authorities in Charlotte, N.C., for impersonating an officer. They said another warrant from Salt Lake City was issued for O'Neill for illegal interstate transportation of a vehicle.

The suspect pleaded not guilty to the charges of stealing the car and was placed on $1,000 bond for each count.

He stood mute to the charge of impersonating an officer and was placed on $2,500 bond. O'Neill failed to furnish the bonds.

See Jessup Joining International Court

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Philip C. Jessup, 63, a pioneer U.S. representative to the United Nations and an expert on international law, is expected to become the new U.S. member of the International Court of Justice at The Hague.

Jessup was a member of the U.S. delegation to the 1945 San Francisco conference that founded the United Nations and from 1948 to 1953 served as a member of the permanent U.S. delegation.

For the past seven years he has been a professor of international law at Columbia University. Informed sources said the choice of Jessup became assured when the incumbent on the court, Judge Green H. Hackworth, asked that his name be withdrawn.

Fix a Brunch With Convenience Foods

Whether it's a brunch for guests or an everyday breakfast for the family, convenience foods are great timesavers. Served with imagination, they are a tremendous help in making the first meal of the day a pleasant occasion.

For example, the aroma of a hot bread in the oven is a sure way to bring diners to the table in a happy-to-be-up mood. The hot bread is possible with practically no trouble, if packaged refrigerator biscuits are used. But, before baking them, make them especially appropriate for the morning meal with a slightly sweet topping as suggested in the recipe for Pecan Wheat Puffs.

It calls for shaping each biscuit into a ball, and dipping it first into melted butter, then into a mixture of wheat germ, chopped pecans, brown sugar and cinnamon. In addition to its toasted, nut-like flavor, the wheat germ supplies an extra nutritional bonus.

The recipe is based on one can or about nine biscuits which is appropriate for a small family. Just double or triple the ingredients for a larger group.

Pecan Wheat Puffs

1 can refrigerated biscuits
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 cup wheat germ
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine pecans, wheat germ, brown sugar and cinnamon; spread out on waxed paper. Hold each biscuit in fingers and turn edges under to form a smooth, round ball. Dip each ball first into melted butter, then into the wheat germ mixture. Place coated biscuits on a baking sheet about an inch apart.

In a small saucepan, blend together honey, sugar and butter. Bring to boil, then drizzle over biscuits. Bake in a preheated oven (475 degrees F.) eight to ten minutes.

A brunch or breakfast menu featuring Pecan Wheat Puffs might begin with another convenience food — canned tomato juice. Chill it overnight with a little snipped or bruised fresh basil or dill leaves, then serve it in the morning in small glasses garnished with sprigs of the fresh herbs and lemon slices. Or, if the herbs are not available, add a dash of Worcestershire and Tabasco to the juice and substitute watercress or parsley for garnish.

The main course might be creamed chipped beef served on toast triangles or corned beef hash in a skillet and topped with poached eggs. Or, if preferred, the eggs can be baked right in the hash in a casserole.

Just spread the hash evenly in a baking dish, make a slight indentation with the back of a spoon for each egg, drop in the eggs and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes, or until the eggs have reached the desired doneness.

Lots of hot coffee is a requisite for breakfast or brunch and it, also, can be made the timesaving way with one of the many instant products. For better coffee, remember to brew it under cover in a coffee pot rather than in an open cup.

Bake Rice Dressing Outside Turkey

Of course, you can serve turkey in many tempting ways, but a Butter-Basted Roast Turkey, especially when served with Rice Mushroom Dressing, is one way to really delight the family.

To prepare the dressing, saute uncooked rice, diced onions, chopped celery, and sliced mushrooms in butter or margarine until the rice is lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Then gently season with minced garlic salt, pepper and rosemary. Add turkey broth, the amount of which will be governed by the type of rice you use.

Cover and simmer slowly about 20 minutes, or until the rice is tender, fluffy and dry. Remove from heat, add crushed crackers or bread crumbs, beaten eggs, melted butter or margarine, and desired amount of turkey broth. Place in uncovered baking pan and heat about 30 minutes in moderate oven. Serve generously with sliced turkey and giblet gravy.

Sundae Supreme

A delightful sauce to serve over ice cream or wedges of angel food cake goes together like this: Combine 1/2 cup dark or golden seedless raisins with 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 3 tablespoons butter. Heat until sugar dissolves. Slowly add 1/2 cup light cream and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Heat 1 minute longer. Serve warm or cold.

Special Marinade Enhances Olives

A delicacy from the Turkish cuisine.

Drain olives and pack into a jar just big enough to hold them. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over the marinade; it should just about cover olives. Cover tightly and refrigerate overnight or longer. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Do not use pitted olives in this recipe.

Buttery Crescents Made from Biscuit Mix

For a Frenchman, the day begins officially when he has his first cup of steaming cafe' au lait and a flaky, buttered croissant. For the past two centuries, these have been the mainstays of the Continental breakfast — indeed, the best reason for getting up!

For a change of pace at the mid-morning coffee, it would be fun to serve authentic cafe' au lait along with a perfectly delicious version of the French croissant. The coffee is easily made by combining equal parts of strong, hot coffee and hot, rich milk. It tastes best — and certainly looks impressive — if you use two pots, pouring the coffee and milk simultaneously into each cup. Just be sure you have plenty of each, so that cups will come back again and again.

This recipe for Collette's Crescents is an American translation of the traditional croissant, and a mighty good one, too. They're simply marvelous with steaming cafe' au lait, especially when they're warmed in the oven and served with French butter curls. Once you've served this Continental breakfast, you'll agree with the French — c'est magnifique!

Collette's Crescents warm, not hot, water (145-155°)
1/2 cup milk, scalded
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 cup biscuit mix
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Dissolve yeast in warm water.

Cool milk to lukewarm and add to yeast. Mix thoroughly to a stiff dough. Turn dough out on board, well dusted with biscuit mix. Knead until smooth.

Roll into square 1/4-inch thick. Dot with one-third cup butter, leaving 1/2-inch margin. Fold in half and seal edges. Dot with remaining one-third cup butter, leaving 1/2-inch margin. Fold in half and seal edges. Roll into square one-third inch thick. Fold in half, then in half again. Roll out. Fold and roll 3 times more.

Place in greased bowl. Cover and let stand 20 minutes. Roll into 18-inch circle and cut into 16 wedges. Roll up each wedge, starting at wide end, stretching a little as you roll. Turn ends in to form crescents. Bake each crescent twice with a blend of egg yolk and water.

Cover and let rise until doubled. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in hot oven, 400 degrees, 12 to 15 minutes. If butter comes to surface, dust with a little biscuit mix so dough will not stick to rolling pin.

Pineapple Cream Puffs

Pineapple cream puffs are ideal for the tea table. Fill tiny or regular size cream puff shells with whipped cream into which well-drained crushed pineapple has been folded.

Whole Wheat Is Rich in Flavor

Breads made of whole wheat flour have an especially rich flavor that contributes much to meals featuring mild-flavored foods. Here are whole wheat rolls that are perfect to make as well as to serve, because the recipe requires no kneading and only one rising.

Easy Whole Wheat Rolls

1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup honey or molasses
1/2 cup warm water
2 packages of cake yeast, active dry or compressed

1/2 cup whole wheat flour
Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt, shortening and honey; cool to lukewarm. Measure water into bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, then the flour; stir until well blended, about 1/2 minute.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Stir batter down. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 x 1 1/4 inches about 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes, or until done. Makes 12.

Want to give pale white sauce enticing egg-yolk color without using the yolk? Add a bit of turneric.

Layer Berries With Pancakes for Dessert

Why not pancakes for dessert? Strawberry Pancake Dessert is ready in minutes and can be prepared for assembly before dinner.

Be sure to allow time for the frozen strawberries (1 pint) to defrost. Then sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon baking soda and 2 tablespoons sugar. Beat 2 eggs well and add 1 cup dairy sour cream and 2 tablespoons melted shortening, mixing well. Add to dry ingredients and stir lightly.

Four about 1/2 cup batter at a time onto hot, lightly greased grid-dis and bake over low heat until top surface is bubbly. Turn and brown other side. Keep warm in slow oven until ready to serve.

To assemble dessert, spread this layer of strawberries over one pancake and then continue stacking pancakes and spreading strawberries between each layer. Cut in pie-shaped pieces and serve with whipped cream, confectioners' sugar or dairy sour cream.

Substituting 1 cup crushed pineapple for 1 cup strawberries is a delicious variation. Makes about 4 servings.

"Chum" salmon is a good variety to use for a fish loaf or croquettes because it is less expensive than other varieties of salmon.

Goody! Goody! Cranberries Are OK Again

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor
No cranberry scare this year. The berries are government inspected and stamped. You can use them with confidence.

We've become so accustomed to the crimson berries at holiday time that their absence last year was really felt. Let's make up for it this year with more usage.

You know that you can freeze cranberries for year-round use. One of the principal cranberry growers gives these suggestions: To quick-freeze whole fresh cranberries, pick over cranberries, removing any bruised fruit and stems. DO NOT WASH BERRIES.

Set up freezer boxes or bags as directed. Four cranberries, filling container to top; do not crowd. Seal according to directions on package and place directly in freezing unit. When ready to cook, cranberries may be used either frozen or defrosted.

Try an interesting recipe for a cranberry dessert cake. This one is made with prepared corn meal. Orange juice and rind, a natural mate of cranberries, add flavor to both filling and topping.

Cranberry Corny Cake
2 cups fresh cranberries (1/2 pound)
1 cup and 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup orange juice
2 cups 1/2-cup-sized toasted corn cereal

Crushed to 1/2 cup
1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten

Preheat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Cover and heat cranberries. 1 cup sugar and orange juice together until berries pop. Pour into a 1 1/2-quart shallow baking dish.

Mix crumbs, 1/2 cup sugar, flour, baking powder, salt and orange peel together. Cut in margarine to form a crumbly mixture. Add egg, mix thoroughly. Spread mixture over cranberries. Be careful to spread batter close to edge.

springs back when pressed lightly. Serve with plain or whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Of course you have made molded cranberry salad. But have you ever used cabbage in it? This recipe tells you how.

Cranberry Cabbage Salad
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 (1-1/2 lb.) can sliced cranberry sauce
1 cup fresh cranberry sauce
1 cup finely shredded cabbage
1/2 cup dried celery
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Place gelatin in custard cup. Add cold water to soften. Place cup in pan of boiling water and heat until gelatin dissolves. Crush cranberry sauce with fork. Add to

Beer Mixture Used to Glaze Ham Steak

When mixture begins to thicken, pour into individual molds. Chill until firm. Turned out on lettuce. Serve with sandwiches. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

It isn't too early to think about your Thanksgiving turkey and the stuffing you'll put in it. Wouldn't you like to try a cranberry stuffing this year?

Cranberry Stuffing
1 cup chopped cranberries
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup margarine

New zest can be added to an old favorite in this quick and easy main dish for family or guests. That venerable companion to a good meal—beer—can also be used to give new body and flavor to meats. Ham steak basted with beer acquires a particularly appetizing flavor. In this easy-to-prepare dish, beer is mixed with ground cloves and brown sugar to provide a tangy glaze. The distinctive flavor of the beer ideally complements the taste of the ham and other ingredients.

pound per person. Score the ham fat with a sharp knife, cutting deeply into diamond shaped cuts. Place it in a shallow baking dish. Mix 1/2 cup of dark brown sugar, 1/8 teaspoon of ground cloves and 1/4 cup of beer. Pour over the ham. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) about 20 to 30 minutes per pound, basting frequently with the liquid in the pan until the ham is tender and browned.

Storing Apples
If you buy apples in small quantities, it is best to keep them in a covered container in the refrigerator. This keeps them crisp and juicy longer. If you buy large quantities of apples, store them in a cool, well ventilated cellar or basement. Be sure the temperature does not fall below freezing.

Beer Mixture Used to Glaze Ham Steak

It pays to sort apples before storing large quantities.

Indonesia Contributes New Kind of Ambrosia

Now on view at the Tea Center in New York is a fascinating group of international displays to take you tea drinking around the world. For instance, stop off in Indonesia, where a lot of our own tea comes from. Here tea plays an important role in everyday life and a fine tea service is a family treasure.

The principal meal of the country is the rijstafel, or rice table, and consists of many different meats, fish and vegetable dishes—all highly seasoned—and all served on a bed of rice. It is the custom to eat each dish separately with some of the rice, and a sip of tea between each dish refreshes the taste buds and lets the flavor of the next dish come through.

Since the rice table meal is so heavy, dessert is almost always fruit. Here's the Indonesian version of Ambrosia, to bring a touch of the East to your own table. You'll notice that cucumbers are used as a fruit—unusual to American tastes, but delicious. You might even want to put a bit of the honey topping in your cup of tea and that's delicious, too.

Rich Chocolate Dessert Is Perfect Party Fare

It's party time from here on—club meetings, neighborhood socials, luncheons and the like. Start off the busy fall social season by serving Normandy Chocolate Mousse, a dessert that is truly delectable and certain to please.

Ideally suited to entertaining, it can be prepared hours or even the day ahead. It can be chilled in a mold, serving without unmolding, or it can be turned into a Charlotte or brought to a rolling boil; (3) use one teaspoon of tea or one teaspoon of coffee for each cup; (4) brew three-to-five minutes by the clock.

Normandy Chocolate Mousse
4 cup margarine
4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon rum extract
1/2 pound dark sweet chocolate, melted
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1/2 teaspoon hot sauce
Cream margarine; gradually add sugar. Add unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time, and beat until smooth. Mix in extracts. Add melted dark sweet chocolate. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites; add chopped pecans.

Four mousse mixture into a 1 1/2 quart souffle dish or Charlotte mold that has been spread lightly with margarine and lined with split ladyfingers. Chill mold in freezer if made 1 to 2 hours before serving, or in refrigerator if allowed to stand overnight.

Serve in the souffle dish, plain or topped with rosettes of whipped cream. Or, if chilled in a Charlotte mold, unmold on a serving dish and top with a crown of whipped cream made by forcing whipped cream through a pastry bag fitted with a large rosette tube. Makes one 1 1/2 quart mold or six servings.

Small Bit of Lamb Makes Lunch Curry

Just right for four:
Curried Lamb Fractions
4 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion
2 cups curry powder
2 cups chicken or veal stock
1/4 cup salted cooked lamb
1/4 cup coarsely chopped raisins (soaked as directed in package directions)
1/4 cup chopped coconut
Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan over low heat; stir in flour, then curry powder. Add stock and bouillon cubes; cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add lamb; heat.
Arrange hot rice in deep 8-inch plate; turn curried lamb over it; sprinkle with coconut. Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven until coconut is toasted—about 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings. Serve with mango chutney.

Citrus Juice and Honey Make Fine Dressing
Keep a jar of tangy lemon-lime dressing to use on canned fruits in salads during fall and winter months. Spoon it over canned fruit cocktail in avocado half shells for a special treat.

Prepare dressing by combining 1/4 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons lime juice, 2/3 cup salad oil, a tablespoon of honey and teaspoon paprika. Cover and chill. Shake well before pouring over fruit cocktail-avocado salad. Good too, as a dressing on cottage cheese and canned fruit cocktail salads.

There's Lots of Variety

College Football Better in 1960-Schwartzwalder

BY BEN SCHWARTZWALDER
Syracuse Football Coach

written for The Associated Press College football is better than ever in 1960 for a number of reasons and the major reason is every-bit as obvious as the fact that 150-pounders just don't make first class linemen.

The college game has the one thing every fan wants more than anything else — variety.

On an given Saturday afternoon the colleges offer a menu that includes just about everything... the straight T, the split T, the wing T, the slot T, single and double wing.
Offensively, there is a sound blend of passing and running.

What's more, you won't find the colleges sticking to one defense.
We'll all be jumping around from five to six to seven-man lines, and you'll see dimond and box defenses. There are plenty more, too.

Another thing that seems to give the college fan a thrill is the quick kick. It was a real weapon for us in 1958. Last fall, Kansas' John

Had kept the fans on edge and Syracuse in the hole for three quarters with some brilliant quick kicking.

We had 19 first downs to Kansas' one in the middle of the third quarter and still trailed 15-12. It was the Kansas kicking that kept us starting drives in the shadow of our own goal posts.

Offensively, college coaches are always willing to try something different.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson is always searching for something new, and he finds it. When we were preparing to play the Sooners in the 1959 Orange Bowl we had to get ready to defend a couple of down different types of sets. Some of the formations had men spread all over the field.

And how about Earl Red Blak at Army. Considered a conservative by many, the colonel added some real spice to the 1958 campaign by introducing a widely split or lonely end system. The Cadets went on to an unbeaten season and won the eastern title that fall.

What's new this fall? Well, for one thing, the "wild card" substitution rule allows coaches to get specialists into the game quickly. The fans should profit by the new rule and, personally,
I like it myself.

You also see a number of clubs toying with the three-way option outside ride series that we popularized at Syracuse last fall.
Most coaches used to say that a three-way option series was too complex, that it wouldn't work.

We said it would, and the boys now agree with us.

As many folks probably know, our ride series allows the quarterback to make a decision on when to hand off to the diving fullback, pitch to a flaring halfback, or run the ball himself. The decision is made while the play is

Tigers Confer With Stengel Again

Casey Requests
Facts, Figures About BengalsFerrell, Campbell Go to California Home for TalksDETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers planned to make another pitch today to hire Casey Stengel as manager.

A two-man delegation is flying to the defunct New York Yankee manager's Glendale, Calif., home, armed with facts and figures about the Tigers.

Rick Ferrell, aide to Tiger President John Fetzer, and Jimmy Campbell, a club vice president, were making the trip to California at Stengel's request.

He has asked for a briefing on current Tiger material and on the prospects who'll be brought to spring training.

This will be the third huddle between the Tigers, left without a manager when Joe Gordon suddenly quit Oct. 3, and Stengel was let loose shortly after the World Series. The Yankees said he is too old, at 70, to manage a club.

Ferrell stated negotiations four days after the Yankees announced plans not to retain Stengel.

If Stengel turns down the Tigers' offer—reportedly a long-term pact—the job is expected to go to Bill Rigney. Rigney was fired last summer as manager of the San Francisco Giants.

FUTURE CHAMPIONS — The National Horse Show featured leading international riders and horses. One of the three youngsters shown above might someday make the national. They are (left to right) Beth Pierce, 10; her sister, Cindy,
7; and Chris Ray, 9. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pierce of Dryden Township and Chris' parents are the C. N. Rays of Oxford Township. The youngsters have riding lessons at the Metamora Club twice a week.

Bill Queen is the instructor.

U.S. Booters 'Booted'

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) —
Czechoslovakia, defending champion in the men's division of the World Volleyball Tournament, defeated the United States 3-0 Monday night and maintained its unbeaten status. The scores were 15-0, 15-0, 15-0.

The Czechs must play Russia in a crucial game Friday. The Soviet team and Rumania also are unbeaten.

It was the third defeat for the winless U.S. team.

Pistons, Hawks
Clash Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Termination of a three-game losing streak is the immediate concern of the Detroit Pistons as they face the high-powered St. Louis Hawks here tonight.

It will be no easy task for coach
Dick McGuire, whose club is having its defensive troubles, to stop the potent offensive strength of the Hawks. They beat Detroit, 132-117, in an earlier meeting.

The Pistons' revitalized lineup offers scoring punch of its own—averaging over 120 points per game. But in three of their six games to date, the Pistons have allowed over 130 points.

Tonight's game is the nightcap of a twin bill. The Philadelphia Warriors tangle with the Los Angeles Lakers in the opener.

Confers With Seaton
LANSING — Arthur C. Seaton in Washington, D.C., to discuss the increasing outdoor recreation facilities and services.

Hope to Develop Durable Turf for Golf Courses

How to develop a new turf for Michigan golf courses that will be a plush, green carpet in the summer time and yet survive the winter snows without damage is the main project of the Detroit District Golf Association.

Developing a turf for the state's changeable climate that would resist fungus diseases has long been a problem, not only in Michigan but throughout the nation.

Members of the Michigan Turfgrass Foundation, Inc., whose sole object is research in turf, think such a turf can be developed.

The foundation received a financial and moral boost from the DPGA this week when that organization donated $1,000 to the turf research project.

Birmingham's Bob Howell, DPGA treasurer, presented the check to Clarence Wolfson of Maple Lane Golf Club, president of the foundation.

Already some 30 golf clubs as well as numerous individuals, nurserymen and others interested in turf have joined the foundation. Dues for clubs are $50 for a 18-hole course and $25 for 9 holes.

Anyone interested in joining the foundation or getting further information on it should contact Ward Cornwall, at Detroit Golf Club, 17911 Hamilton Road, Detroit 3, Mich.

On May 1, 1959, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Braves played 26 innings for the longest major league game on record. The game was called because of darkness with the score tied 1-1.

Wilson Needs More Than Players' Confidence

'M' Running Out of Backs

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan was concerned over a shortage of half-back strength today as it geared up for Saturday's 27th meeting with Indiana.

Coach Bump Elliott said Dave Rainey, 19-year-old sophomore speedster from Dayton, O., may not play because of a leg injury suffered in an 8-7 win over Illinois.

In addition, sophomore Ed Hood, a pint-sized Detroit speedster, is out of action for sure with an ankle injury. Hood had seen only limited action since recovering from a broken jaw in pre-season practice.

Ben McRae, Michigan authorities said, probably will be able to play despite a bruise. The Wolverines last week lost sophomore Jim Ward, a second stringer, with a knee injury.

"We're probably in the poorest condition of the season for this game," said Elliott. "We've been pretty lucky on injuries until now."

Indiana trails Michigan in the series, 19 to 7, but will be shooting for its third straight victory over the Wolverines.

The Hoosiers, won, 8-6, in 1958 and 26-7 last year.

Saturday's game will mean nothing in the Big Ten race because of Indiana's probationary status, but a victory would assure Michigan of finishing above .500 for the season, with at least five triumphs in nine games.

Michigan closes out the season against once-beaten Ohio State Nov. 19.

NEW KICK FOR ELLIOTT — Herb Elliott of Aurora, world record holder in the mile run, kicks the ball at the Cambridge-Oxford Australian football game in England. Elliott is studying at Cambridge.

Lists Six Big Reasons Why He Needs Help

Lions Play Los Angeles at Home This Sunday; No Leaders

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions' coach George Wilson knows there are six big reasons why he needs more than a players' vote of confidence to assure him of a new contract in 1961.

Those six reasons are the Lions' remaining games in the 1960 National Football League season. Sunday's stout 24-0 triumph over the San Francisco 49ers prompted Lions players to issue testimonials in support of Wilson — "a great coach in whom we have faith and confidence."

Wilson, a veteran of 24 years in professional football says he isn't letting this vote of confidence blur his football judgment. He knows what really counts are the numbers up on the scoreboard when the game has ended.

"It's nice to hear those things," said Wilson. "I've always tried to be fair with the players. They know and I know that we aren't that bad (2-4 won-loss record). Now we have to go out and prove it."

Of six remaining games, four will be played on home grounds. The Lions have played twice at Briggs Stadium this year — losing once to San Francisco. They face Los Angeles this Sunday.

The Lions still don't have a leader in the NFL statistical department.

Errandless Milt Plum of the Cleveland Browns (throw his 90th pass of the season without an interception last Sunday and held his place as No. 1 passer. But teammate Jim M. Brown bounced back off the New York Giants defensive platoon too often and dropped from first to third in rushing.)

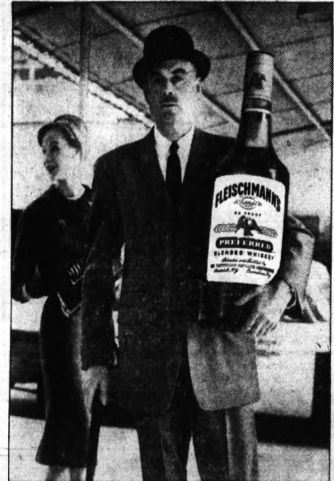

Plum, who came into his own as a quarterback this season, held the top spot for the third straight week in the NFL's 40-point system of rating passers although Baltimore's Johnny Unitas has outshone him in some departments.

When Cleveland was limited to yards net on the ground by the Giants, Brown was passed by Jim Taylor of Green Bay and John Crow of St. Louis. Taylor has gained 540 yards on 128 attempts, Crow 524 yards and Brown 521. Brown has the best average of the three, 5.5 yards a carry.

Plum, who is Ray Berry's favorite target of Unitas, caught 25 passes in his last three games and now leads Unitas of St. Louis by 14 receptions. Berry has caught 46 passes for 862 yards and nine touchdowns. Randall has gained 452 yards on 32 catches.

Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers has 53 punts for six yards to top the league's scorers although six of the clubs have played one more game than the Packers.

Other individual leaders in the offense: Statistics released today: Punting — Van Brocklin, Philadelphia, 43.7-yard average; punt returns — Bill Butler, Dallas, 14-yard average; kickoff returns — John Sample, Baltimore, 33.3-yard average; interceptions — Jerry Norton, St. Louis; Andy Nelson and Don Shinnick, Baltimore, five each.

New Mexico State Still Leader; Detroit Moves Up in Passing

With the 1960 major college football season head into the home stretch, only two teams are even close to the total offense figure that has been standard for champions for nearly 20 years.

Latest figures from the NCA Service Bureau show that for seven games New Mexico State has averaged 384.5 yards by running and passing. Memphis State is 384.5 for eight games.

Sword Dancer Forced Out of Big Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Sword Dancer, 1959 U.S. Horse of the Year, was forced out of the International Washington, D.C. International Tuesday by a minor ankle injury. An immediate effort was made to replace him with Kelso.

Nine other horses from five nations are in Friday's $100,000, mile and one-half race.

Illinois Solving Spartan Problem

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State will be sitting on the Big Ten sidelines after Saturday's game with Northwestern.

Eight other conference teams close out the football season against each other the following Saturday and still will be in the honors battle.

State will be playing Detroit, Iowa will go against Notre Dame because Iowa likes it that way — good money in a game with the Irish, even in a losing season.

Michigan State long has sought a season-end with another Big Ten team. The connection was finally made the last scheduling session — Illinois will be the final opponent the next four seasons.

Being out of conference play can lead to a letdown when the rest of the league schools are still in the battle royal, as was proven last season.

Michigan State had nothing to win — one of the reasons for the 18-13 loss to Miami the last game of last year.

Detroit, on its record and for the same reason, could be dangerous this season.

Northwestern is the only Big Ten campus Michigan State has not yet visited and the meeting at Evanston Saturday will round out the circuit for the Spartans.

Scheduling difficulties prevented the Spartans, who started conference football play in 1953, from

Schedule Against Newton

By CHUCK ABRAHAM

Jack Newton of West Bloomfield has played his last game and is still ahead in the Oakland County single game showings besides the victim of a scheduling difference.

The speedy senior garnered his 92 points in eight games whereas several others among the top 21 will be playing nine times.

In the best position to catch Newton's star now are Jim McDonald of Avondale, Steve Jacobson of Birmingham, Sebold and Pontiac Central are Dick McCauley.

McDonald, who rung up 21 points last Friday, can beat out Newton with one TD against Rochester this week. He now has 88. Jacobson can surpass Newton with two touchdowns and can match him with seven points since he has 85.

McCauley has two games left to play trailing by 32 points with a 50 total. Bill Waters of Royal Oak, Dondora has 66 with a single point remaining.

Dion Caza of Troy is 2nd with 91 but he also has closed the season as John Seymour of Shafter at 87 and Bill Jones of Bloomfield Hills at 61.

Pontiac Northern halfback Dave Moczarski has made the list with 42 digits and one tilt to go. Dropped this week are Norm Smith of Walpole Lake, Vin Mullin of St. James and Crumbrack's Dave Schultz. The latter has seen little action due to an injury after a big start. Tom Demmet of Big Cranes has 46 but has a single point remaining.

Roger Lomerson of Imlay City took over area scoring lead with a 23-point game for a 92 total. He seems sure to win out since Pat

The first entry in the Pontiac Press Dress Deer Contest is expected early next Tuesday, opening day of the regular deer season.

The contest is open to all full-time Oakland County residents. A $150 United States Savings Bond will be awarded to the hunter entering the heaviest buck.

Deer may be taken anywhere in Michigan during the regular season, Nov. 15-30. Only bucks are eligible. Only the "dressed weight" of the deer will be considered. The deadline for accepting entries is 11 a.m. on Dec. 2.

Entries must be accompanied by a weight slip signed (with date and address) by the person weighing the deer, a disinterested witness and the hunter. The scales used must be state inspected and approved. Foot lockers, markets, fuel companies and conservation department check points are some of the places with scales.

The vanguard of Michigan's estimated 465,000 deer hunters is expected to begin moving north Friday night and early Saturday. Traffic will become heavier as the weekend progresses.

Most of the foliage is gone from the trees and bushes in Northern Michigan. Last weekend the ground had a thin frozen crust. Some snow has been falling in the northern part of the state. There is one to four inches of snow covering parts of the Upper Peninsula.

The buck kill is expected to reach 65,000, the same as last year. The "any deer" take is expected to drop because of the cut in special permits. Conservation officials are predicting a take of 44,000 under the permits.

There will be about 92,700 hunters carrying the "any deer" permits in the 35 food-shortage or crop-damage areas.

Officials using permit holders to remember several things: (1) He must write in his name, address and license number on the new tag portion of his permit before taking to the woods. (2) The tag must remain attached to the permit until an antlerless deer is shot or it will not be considered valid. (3) Hunters are required to punch out the date of kill and fasten this green tag to the jaw or hook along with the regular metal tag. (4) The tags are to remain in place until the deer is processed to the hunter's home or processing plant.

Some hunters will travel north for their deer. They will hunt in Northern Michigan which has a herd of about 50,000 deer.

Oakland, Lapeer, Livingston and Tuscola counties are good "close to home" places to hunt. The first entry in the Press Contest is usually downed in the Pontiac area.

Twice as many law enforcement officers will be in Northern Michigan. The conservation department is sending 100 extra patrol units to the northern Lower Peninsula.

Department game men will be making traffic counts to measure the kill and studying deer at roadside checking stations, along the plant and camp. The checking stations will be located at Standish, Sanford, Mt. Pleasant, Morley, White Cloud, the Straits of Mackinac and on Drummond, Bois Blanc and Beaver Islands.

Improvement Is Seen in Modern Fisherman

The modern fisherman is gaining good marks as a sportsman, says Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the Department of Fisheries at The University of Michigan.

"More and more the angler belongs to a conservation club and becomes interested in conservation affairs," Lagler notes.

"Less and less is he like the famous fish hogs we have known. Less and less, I like to believe, is he a hatchery truck chaser, less and less one of the limit or bust boys, or an underized fish boat stoker, or a meat-hunting freezer fillet."

NEW LEADERS IN DERBY — Oakland County pheasant hunters have only today and Thursday to better the leading entries in The Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby. Paul Pace (left), 3713 E. South Blvd., Pontiac, is holding the 41½-inch ringneck he bagged last week near Rose City. It is the longest bird entered.

PHASEANT PHASEANT — Joseph Scarlotti, 1375 Scott Lake Road, Waterford, needed two shots from his 16-gauge shotgun to drop the 5-pound, 6-ounce bird while hunting Sunday near Mary Sue Street in Independence Township. This is a pound heavier than any ringneck ever entered in the contest.

New Mark Set With Ringneck Over 5 Pounds

Length Leader Changes as 41½-Inch Pheasant Is Entered

A huge ringneck has shattered all weight records in The Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby and might be a high for Michigan.

Joseph Scarlotti of 1375 Scott Lake Road, Waterford, needed two shots from his 16-gauge shotgun to drop the 5-pound, 6-ounce bird while hunting Sunday near Mary Sue Street in Independence Township. This is a pound heavier than any ringneck ever entered in the contest.

Scarlotti's entry overshadows the 41½-inch ringneck which is leading the length division for Paul Pace, 3713 E. South Blvd., Pontiac.

The pheasant season closes at 7 p.m. tomorrow. All entries must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing and measuring by 11:30 a.m. Saturday. A retired public official who moved to Waterford from Iron County in the Upper Peninsula, Scarlotti has bagged four this season. He replaced 17-year-old Carl Werts of Clarkston who had held the lead with a 4-pound, 5-ounce ringneck.

Two changes in the length division were recorded during the last week. Sam Palermo of Rochester entered a 35½-inch bird, edging by a quarter of an inch the ringneck shot Oct. 22 by Don Nielsen of Wilmot.

Palermo's bill was the most beautifully colored and best shaped bird entered this season. He shot it near Rochester.

Pace's pheasant made the mistake of being seen from the highway. Paul and his wife were driving along M-33 near Rose City in Ogemaw County when they saw the rooster standing in a cut-over corn field.

Pace stopped the car, got out his shotgun and entered the field. The ringneck hustled to a fence near but was finally flushed.

Squirrels join pheasants on the protected list after tomorrow. Grouse close tomorrow in the Northern Lower Peninsula and Nov. 19 in Southern Michigan. Woodcock, if there are any still around, are safe after today.

The pressure will now swing to rabbit hunting which is open through February. The duck season closes next Tuesday, the day regular deer season starts. Game remain legal targets until Dec. 15.

Then there are those sportsmen who are preparing their winter fishing equipment, impatiently waiting for the first sale ice to cover the lakes.

Gun Hunters Arrive

CHEBOYGAN — The first trickle of gun hunters is replacing the bow-and-arrow hunters who killed 41 deer on Bois Blanc Island during the Oct. 1-30 Nov. 5 season. Edward Rothe, island conservation officer, said a record 275 archers visited the island this year, 100 more than in 1959.

That Big Buck Might Be Looking

If You Sit, Remain Quiet

United Press International The regular deer season starts Tuesday in Michigan and with it the old controversy of better to track or sit.

This is something everyone has to settle for himself but for those who elect to sit here are some tips. The first, and undoubtedly most important, thing is to adjust your deer hunting attitude. You must have confidence that if you keep the seat of your pants firmly applied to one crossing or stand, the deer will show.

If you don't have this confidence, before long you will begin thinking that maybe you picked the wrong spot. Console yourself with the thought that half a mile down the trail some other fellow is thinking he should be where you are.

The next thing is to get comfortable. Nothing can be more frustrating than to discover about 15 minutes after you sit that (1) no branches block off your vision or you but is not in position for shot; and (2) a stone, with nothing but sharp edges, is firmly lodged beneath you in the most uncomfortable spot possible.

Find a tree to lean against if you can. This serves the double purpose of making you more comfortable and allowing you to blend into the landscape better.

Make sure before you park that the ground parallel with your legs. Take a look around until you are sure you know all the features of the landscape. This prevents puzzling later over whether that dark spot off to the right is a deer, another hunter or just a trick of foliage.

When you sit down lay your rifle across your lap. A right-handed person should place the weapon with the muzzle to the left so that it can be brought into firing position with a minimum of movement.

Don't place the rifle on the ground parallel with your legs. It will be too difficult to get it in position to fire. Leave the safety on, it only takes a slight movement to release it when it is time to fire.

During this period it does no harm to smoke. Tobacco odor won't carry in the open air any more than your body odor will.

For that matter it does no harm to smoke or stand if you can do it without moving about, and if you figure out how to do this let us know.

Speaking of odor, for obvious reasons all your shots are likely to be upwind and for this reason sit facing the breeze and make sure when you sit that your best line of fire is in the proper direction.

If it is cold make sure you have sufficient protection to keep you warm, a ground cloth or several pine cuttings to put under your legs and over them will help.

A handwarmer is also a good idea.

Now you are set . . . sit.

One final note: Don't spook deer or fawns just because you can't shoot them. Remember that most bucks send any does they are traveling with on ahead. Remember also that where there are does there are also bucks.

"The viscera are cleaned out anyway and these worms will cause no trouble at all. The same is true of badly larvae in the skin. Though really ugly to look at, they do not interfere with the eating value of the rabbit and come away when it is skinned."

Many hunters refuse to shoot rabbits early in the season because they have been told the disease is more active in warmer weather. Others will not touch a freshly shot rabbit if they see sores on the skin.

Most experts say rabbits should be drawn right after shooting. This eliminates any possible worms or flies that might taint the meat and also makes for lighter carrying.

Expert Speaks On Tularemia

Don't Worry About "Rabbit Fever"

Rabbit hunters should not worry about contracting tularemia from hunted animals, a University of Michigan wildlife management specialist declares.

Assistant Prof. A. B. Cowan, a characterized in man by a recurring fever. It can be transmitted from an infected animal to man.

If the hunter does bag a rare infected rabbit, it may be possible for him to identify the case, Cowan says.

"One should look for tiny gray spots on the liver and spleen. If these are present, they may indicate infection. The wildlife specialist adds that in an early case of tularemia, the spots might not have developed.

If the animal is sick, or if the organic spots are identified, the rabbit should be burned to dispose of it quickly, Cowan recommends. The disease can be confirmed if the hunter is near a laboratory such as those operated at the U.M.

The finding of worms — coccidia and mononucleosis are commonly infected by tapeworms in the body cavity and organs — is nothing for the hunter or to be concerned about, Cowan adds.

Arkansas vs. Louisiana in Big Quackoff Contest

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' duck calling fraternity Tuesday named four of the five team members who will represent the state in a grudge quackoff with Louisiana callers at Louisiana's Lake Miron Nov. 15-17.

The Arkansasans said they are so confident of the outcome they will stake $100, to go Ducks Unlimited, an international duck hunting and preservation association.

The Louisiana hunters, led by Raleigh Newman of Lake Charles, a former international duck calling champion, issued the challenge to Arkansas two weeks ago.

Newman claims Arkansas callers "call for judges, not ducks." Stuttgart is the scene of the annual World Duck Calling Championships.

"We think we can call ducks anywhere in the United States," said Leavelle Smith, Jr., chairman of the contest and one of Arkansas' team members. "They can call in a couple of minutes."

With Smith on the Arkansas team will be Lloyd McCollum, mayor of Stuttgart, and two former world champions, Kenneth McCollum and Louis Wilhelm, both of Stuttgart. One more quacker will be named later.

"You'll have to put earplugs on the ducks to keep them away from these quackers," declared Stuttgart's daily newspaper, the Daily Leader.

The acknowledged world champion, James Fernandez of Fort Arthur, Tex., the victor in last November's Stuttgart contest, won't be eligible to compete.

Smith challenged Newman to reveal the names of his team members and put up a similar $100 for Ducks Unlimited "just to prove he means business."

"And we'll need some road maps," Smith said. "We don't know where Lake Miron is."

Connects On Moose Hunt After Seven-Year Break

Bagging a moose is not a new experience for Fire Chief James R. White of Pontiac. But having to wait six years between hunts can be difficult.

White appeared at city hall Monday afternoon with a big moose tied on a trailer. He had just returned from his lodge on the Batchawana River in Northern Ontario.

"I have shot quite a few moose," said the chief, "but this is the first one in a long time."

The last time White connected was in 1953. He did not hunt the king of the north woods again until last year. He wounded one in 1959 but failed to locate it for the finishing shot.

This year he was hunting with Earl Digby, a guide. They saw two bulls at once and White picked out the largest. It took five shots from his 270 Winchester to stop the big animal.

Its wide rack contains 17 points. White estimated the moose to weigh between 1,200-1,300 pounds.

"This is a big bull," he said. "I have shot larger moose, but "We plan to stay about the same size," said Larry Williams of Birmingham. "That way we can get to know each other better and get better results on our projects."

The club is planning several gun safety programs. The projects are aimed at teaching younger shooters how to use firearms in a safe manner.

The last day of shooting on the trap range was Sunday. Trap and sheet shooting will be offered to the public beginning next spring.

Jack's Sister Termed 'Very Ill' in London

LONDON (UPI)—A London newspaper reported today that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's sister is "very ill" here and not able to follow the election returns at her brother-in-law Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The Daily Herald said Princess Lee Radziwili "was almost too ill to care whether the night would make her the sister of America's first lady or not."

It said the illness was caused by the premature birth of a baby.

The princess' husband, Polish Prince Radziwili, returned here recently from the United States, where he had helped in the Kennedy campaign.

Doesn't Regret 'Loss' of Childhood

Jane Withers Remains Buoyant

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jane Withers believes the popular notion that child film stars grow up to be neurotic, bitter and broke.

She is none of those. Easing gently into character roles at 34, actually she has been playing characters all her life, she retains the same buoyant attitude she had as a youngster.

"A lot of people say to me, 'Isn't it a shame you never had a normal childhood?'" Jane remarks. "No sense! I had the most wonderful childhood any girl could imagine. I was 10 years at Fox from 8 to 18, and I remember those as great years, full of fine memories."

She is now enjoying a sentimental journey back to the home grounds of her childhood. She is playing a wisecracking photographer in "The Right Approach." What makes the return all the more exciting for her is that she is being directed by David Butler.

ON RADIO SINCE AGE 2

"Mr. Butler gave me my first job in pictures," she recalled. "That was when my mother and I sneaked onto Fox lot. Back home in Atlanta, Ga., I had been on radio since I was 2, had my own program at 3, billed as 'Dixie's Dainty Dimples.' If you can imagine, my mother brought me out to Hollywood, convinced that I would set the town on fire.

"After we sneaked on the lot, we found out about an audition for kids to play in 'Handle With Care.' All of us were lined up and Mr. Butler went down the line and picked out the one."

She was 6 at the time, and the movies weren't ready for her. But a couple of years later Butler again picked Jane to play the mean little kid with Shirley Temple in "Bright Eyes." The film made her a star.

After a decade at Fox, she did a few grown-up roles and then retired to marry Texan Bill Mose and have three children. The marriage broke up, and Jane returned to acting as the plump, noisy old queen in "Giant." That was five years ago, and her present part is her first since then.

"I don't know why, exactly," she said.

No Federal Election Complaints for State

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. Attorney George Wood said his office received no complaints involving federal election law violations, but referred several complaints to city officials for investigation by Detroit police.

Most of the complaints came from Lawrence B. Linder, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. They included electioneering too close to the polls and more than one person in a voting booth at one time.

She said, "Nobody ever asked me. For one thing, I guess people thought I was still fat; I had to gain 25 pounds to play 'Giant.' But now I'm down to 133 and still taking off the pougeage."

Jane's eagerness to work is not out of need for ready cash. "I'm one of the few child actors who came out of the business with something," she said.

Only two of the state's top Democrats—incumbent Reps. Neal Smith and Merwin C. O'—survived the Republican sweep.

The Republicans boosted their majority in Iowa's congressional delegation from 5-3 to an edge of 6-2 when Cedar Rapids Attorney James Brownell, making his first try for major public office, defeated incumbent Rep. Leonard Wolf, D-Iowa, in the 2nd District.

State Sen. Jack Miller, a Sioux City attorney who had been running for the U.S. Senate for two years, scored the most surprising win in defeating Loveless, who twice had successfully overthrown the traditional Republicanism of this state to win election as governor.

Win in Governorship, Senate Races; Regain Congressional Seat

DES MOINES (UPI)—The Republicans punctured the "high hopes" of Iowa Democrats in Tuesday's election by sweeping to victory in the races for U.S. senator and governor and regaining one congressional seat.

The Republicans rolled to victory behind an easy win by Vice President Richard Nixon for the state's 10 electoral votes and—in the process—sent down to defeat the Democrats' top vote-getter, Gov. Harold Loveless, who was hiding to move up to the U.S. Senate.

Only two of the state's top Democrats—incumbent Reps. Neal Smith and Merwin C. O'—survived the Republican sweep.

The Republicans boosted their majority in Iowa's congressional delegation from 5-3 to an edge of 6-2 when Cedar Rapids Attorney James Brownell, making his first try for major public office, defeated incumbent Rep. Leonard Wolf, D-Iowa, in the 2nd District.

State Sen. Jack Miller, a Sioux City attorney who had been running for the U.S. Senate for two years, scored the most surprising win in defeating Loveless, who twice had successfully overthrown the traditional Republicanism of this state to win election as governor.

This Pair Has Voted Every Time

DETROIT (AP)—In 65 years of marriage, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Coffron never have argued about politics, that is. Both are staunch Republicans.

The Coffrons went to the polls together Tuesday—a thing they have done every year for 60 years. And they both voted straight Republican—not out of habit, but because "We like the platform," Mrs. Coffron said.

The Coffrons, residents of Livonia, never have missed an election. They've seen the introduction of the voting, "a great invention," and television broadcasts of the election returns.

The two met one day when Coffron was working with a thrashing crew in Lapeer County where both lived on neighborhood farms. "Anne and some other girls brought us our food," Coffron said.

"He ate half a pumpkin pie I baked," Mrs. Coffron recalled. "I think that's why he married me. He liked my cooking."

Jail Detroit in Slaying of Elderly Bachelor, 68

DETROIT (AP)—Louis A. Gardner Jr., 23, of Detroit, was jailed for investigation of murder Tuesday in the Sept. 10 fatal shooting of an elderly bachelor.

Joseph A. Kos, 68, was sitting on a Detroit street corner when a witness told police, a "tall, young man" approached Kos, asked for a cigarette and then shot him.

No Republican Stunt—Just a Circus Moving
 WATERLOO, Iowa (UPI)—Black Hawk County Democratic Chairman George Linderman blinked his eyes a couple of times Tuesday as he drove downtown to party headquarters.

He thought he was seeing a "high-powered Republican publicity stunt."

Then he realized the 12 elephants he saw coming down the street were part of a circus moving into Waterloo.

Alabama Goes for Democrats

Party May Win Only 6 of 11 Electoral Votes; Sparkman Re-Elected

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Democrats won control of Alabama's 11 electoral votes in Tuesday's presidential election, but only 5 of them are assured for Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Returns from 1,725 boxes out of 3,293 gave the top Democratic candidate 113,000 votes and the front-running Republican 117,733.

The tabulation included virtually complete votes from Montgomery, which went Republican and Mobile, where the Democrats were leading.

GOP candidates also held the lead on partial returns from Jefferson county.

All three of the state's largest counties voted Republican in 1956.

Alabama voters also re-elected Democrat John Sparkman to the U.S. Senate over Republican Julian Egin.

In the election race, the best showing by a Republican candidate was far below the smallest vote cast for a Democrat.

Bakery Trickery? Dem Complaint Takes the Cake

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A woman Republican decided to put the icing on the cake at the 4th ward, 4th precinct polling place here Tuesday.

The polling place was at the Dickens School, and the women of the district, like women at many polling places, were holding a bake sale a few feet from the voting machines. The eager Republican woman put a beautifully iced cake at the end of the bake sale table nearest the voting booths. The icing said: "Vote for Nixon."

Calls of Democratic complaint went quickly to the school superintendent's office, charging electioneering at the polls.

Overdose of Barbiturates Killed Harry Ferguson

CHELSEHAM England, (AP)—Coroner K. O. Brooks told an inquest Tuesday that tractor magnate Harry Ferguson died from a massive overdose of barbiturate tablets while suffering from depression.

Brooks said, however, that there was no evidence to show whether the tablets were taken give condition which had become accidentally or suicidally. The more severe lately.

jurors returned an open verdict. Ferguson, 53, was found dead in his bath two weeks ago. His doctor, Michael King, said the industrialist had suffered in the past few years from a manic depression which had become more severe lately.

Swainson Leads Dems to Sweep of State Hare Tops Ticket, Other Races Are Fairly Close Kennedy Apparent Winner

DETROIT (AP)—Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson climaxed a meteoric political career today by winning Michigan's office of governor just six years after first being elected to the State Legislature.

Swainson's victory over Republican Paul D. Bagwell, a former Michigan State University speech professor, also came only a little over 15 years after he was carried from a battlefield in France with both legs shattered by a land mine.

With qualifications, Bagwell conceded defeat at 6:42 a.m. at his Lansing headquarters after clinging all night to the hope that late returns might reverse the early tide running in favor of his opponent. With fewer than 150 of the state's 5,074 precincts uncoun- ted, Swainson topped Bagwell by about 53,000 votes.

JOHN B. SWAINSON

Democratic candidates—from president through top state offices—carried Michigan in an unprecedented outpouring of votes. With 4,977 of 5,074 precincts reporting, Kennedy had 1,622,598 to Nixon's 1,581,761.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, who couldn't get the Democratic party's nomination for governor, proved for the second time that he was the party's best vote-getter.

Hare's margin of victory over his Republican opponent, William Kreyer, was greater than that of any other candidate for state office in Michigan.

Although there were more precincts reporting in the governor's race, Swainson polled fewer votes than Hare.

GOP Holds 6 County Posts

Six county incumbents were swept back into office for another two years yesterday on a traditional Republican tidal wave. A record 295,000 turnout—representing 81 per cent of the county's estimated 350,000 registered voters—helped protect the Republican monopoly on the county positions.

In the 1956 presidential year, 252,893 voters went to the polls.

Returned to offices by comfortable margins of nearly 25,000 votes over their Democratic challengers were Prosecutor George F. Taylor, in his first election bid, Sheriff Frank W. Irons, who continues as leader of the county ticket, Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr., veteran Treasurer Charles A. Sparks, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry and Surveyor Ralph 252,893 voters went to the polls.

One has to go all the way back to the 1930s to find a year when Democrats put one of their candidates in the courthouse.

Appointed to the post of prosecutor only 11 months ago, Taylor, 46, of Bloomfield Township, situated a concerted effort by Birmingham attorney George J. Fulkerson, and kept the job. Fulkerson led his Democratic accretic county candidates with 123,679 votes, but this wasn't enough to match Taylor's 152,182.

Democratic County Chairman James M. Ginn expressed dissatisfaction that the candidates weren't able to capture any of the six local positions. With Republican majorities narrowing in past elections, Democrats had looked to this year.

In his bid for a fourth term, Irons, sheriff since 1955 and former Sheriff police chief, swelled his lead to a total of 165,641 over former Hight, Oxford auto dealer and a former plant protection officer. Hight, 53, received 125,321 votes.

Murphy, 37, of Pontiac, will begin his third term as overseer of the county's court records Jan. 1 by virtue of his 152,543 to 128,815 vote over former union official David S. Leas of Troy.

Sparks, the 61-year-old dean of elected county officials, improved his winning spread considerably over his close 1955 margin as he easily handled Hight, 53, received 125,321 votes.

Some of Ginn's forces had pinned high hopes on electing on Sparks' career, which began in 1932 and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Broomfield and Roberts Win

U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, yesterday turned away his second national and state Democratic attack and won his third term in Washington.

Oakland County voters have pro-moted Farrell E. Roberts of West Bloomfield Township to Oakland County's 12th District seat in the State Senate.

Holds Electoral Lead; Popular Returns Close

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy inched close to the presidency today with only a tantalizing handful of electoral votes lacking for victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In a neck-and-neck popular vote race with his Republican opponent the 43-year-old Massachusetts senator rolled up 261 definite electoral votes as of 10:30 a.m.—only eight short of the needed 269—in his bid to become the youngest man and the only Roman Catholic ever elected to the nation's highest office. Nixon's count was 168.

Nearly 70 million Americans took part in the decision. Kennedy amassed his impressive total by taking the electoral vote of 19 states and winning the support of five of Alabama's 11 electors. The state's other six were uncommitted.

But the Democratic candidate was finding Nixon a difficult man to down finally, despite the fact that the vice president all but conceded defeat in an early morning television appearance from Los Angeles.

Nixon in fact was cutting steadily into Kennedy's lead in Illinois, throwing that state's 27 electoral votes into doubt.

At that point the Democratic nominees still could win with either Minnesota's 11 or California's 32. But Nixon, who was polling about 49.5 per cent of the national popular vote, was pushing Kennedy in those states, too. President Eisenhower's first official call today reported the President looked fine, "but he's not happy about the results of the election."

C. Burke Ehrlich, U.S. ambassador to Portugal, called at the White House before departing directly with the apparent victory.

Nixon had all but conceded defeat, but had not communicated directly with the apparent victory.

WATTS FOR NIXON
Kennedy's press secretary Pierre Salinger said the senator was aware he had won, but it was indicated Kennedy would withhold any formal statement until he had heard from Nixon.

Salinger's report claim was based on a report to Kennedy headquarters that he had definitely won California.

Kennedy carried Alabama, but was assured of only five of that state's 11 electoral votes.

But Nixon, who all but conceded defeat in an early morning television appearance from Los Angeles, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

1 Cent Tax Hike, Con-Con, School Aid—A Pass

From Our News Wires
DETROIT—Michigan citizens face a four-cent sales tax and will get a chance to vote on whether to hold a constitutional convention. Permission for the state to continue guaranteeing loans made to school districts also was given.
The proposal to raise Michigan's sales tax ceiling from three to four cents won approval of Michigan voters and with results from only 130 of 5,074 precincts still uncounted, the proposed constitutional amendment amassed 1,305,553 votes. That was nearly 72,000 more than the total opposing it.

Adams Edges Sen. Lodge in Probate Judge Race

In the closest election race in Oakland County, unofficial returns showed Donald E. Adams edging out State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge for the newly created probate judgeship, 18,187 to 17,700.
Unopposed for re-election as probate judge for a four-year term, Judge Arthur E. Moore garnered 315,344 votes in the nonpartisan election.
Undefeated since he first succured the post in 1939, Judge Moore has been handling an ever-increasing load in probate court. The new $2,000, two-year post was intended to ease this load.

Both 58-year-old Lodge and Adams, 47, are veteran attorneys. Although the election was nonpartisan, both Adams' Democratic and Lodge's Republican backgrounds inevitably contributed toward a close race.
At 1:30 a.m. Lodge had headed off an early lead established by his opponent at 2:45 a.m. the vote was about tied with Adams again slightly ahead. As returns continued to pour in, the count showed Adams forging ahead, though he never achieved a wide margin throughout the race.
Unofficial figures showed Adams topping the senator 8,400 to 6,185 in Waterford Township, where they both live.
Adams has been justice of the peace in Waterford Township since 1937. He received his bachelor's degree and law degree from the University of Michigan.

In four elections, from 1946 to 1952, Adams was a Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives. He was defeated each time.
Adams launched his legal career immediately following his graduation from law school in 1936.

Berkley Air Force officer James G. Keller.
Entered into the race just 15 days before the August primary, Kellis was greeted handsomely by many Berkley residents who would finally snap the Republicans hold on the county's 18th congressional seat.
Kellis felt Sen. John F. Kennedy had to be elected president and John B. Swanson governor in order for him to win. This didn't do the trick, however.
Republicans again kept Oakland County firmly in their corner in yesterday's balloting. This spelled Kellis' defeat by 22,937 votes.

FARES POORLY
Kellis, 41, a former officer with the Central Intelligence Agency, didn't fare as well as expected in the usually strong Democratic camps in South Oakland County, he said. He couldn't even carry his own city of Berkley or his own precinct.
The unofficial returns show Kellis took Bloomfield only in the cities of Ferndale, Hazel Park, Keego Harbor, Madison Heights, and Oak Park, plus carrying Royal Oak Township. Bloomfield didn't carry these communities four years ago either.

Former state representative and senator, Bloomfield, 38, slipped only slightly from the 32,449 victory margin he posted when he defeated in 1956 to succeed veteran congressman George A. Dondero. Bloomfield escaped a nationwide liberal Democratic sweep toward Washington two years later to win his second term.
Although concerned that Democrats might have captured the White House and had won the right to the state capitol, Bloomfield climbed out of bed only long enough to applaud his third successful congressional election—and probably his toughest. "This is a vote of confidence in the manner I have led and represented all the people," the resident of Royal Oak said.
Kellis could only say there were "many factors" that led to his defeat. He said he could not elaborate before the returns were given more thorough analysis.
"I'm still happy we won on the national and state sides," Kellis said.

Kellis, who took leave of absence from his teaching job at the University of Detroit to campaign, said he planned to go to Washington next week "to analyze how the campaign went." He said he wasn't going there for a job, however.
He said he isn't interested in replacing Allen Dulles, director of the CIA, whom he has criticized as being inept in the handling of the nation's security matters.
Will he be a candidate next two years hence? Kellis said he didn't know.
"This wasn't a personal defeat," he said. "This was a defeat for the whole ticket. The whole county went strongly Republican and that did it."

who was appointed to the high court by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, defeated Washington County Circuit Judge James B. Bresnahan Jr., to continue the Democratic's edge on the high court bench.

In conceding, Bagwell said: "If the situation is truly as it now appears to be, I wish to congratulate Mr. Swanson, and I express the hope that Michigan will do well under the stewardship of the administration to meet the many problems faced by our people."
One of the state's youngest governors, the 35-year-old Swanson.

Can state treasurer Sanford Brown, who received strong support from traditionally Republican backers in Michigan, was unable to match Swanson's success at the polls. Brown defeated David R. Calhoun, Huntington Woods mayor.

Otis M. Smith, the first Negro to serve on the State Administration Board, also became the first Negro to be elected to the board. Smith, who was originally appointed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams to fill a vacancy as auditor general, was re-elected to the post by defeating James V. Clements, a small businessman from Farmington in the Upper Peninsula.

Paul I. Adams, a self-spoken University of Michigan graduate from the Upper Peninsula, completed the Democratic sweep of administrative board posts by defeating Wendell A. Allen, a fast-moving little man with dark blue eyes whose appearance belies the fact that he is a tough and respected U.S. district attorney from western Michigan.
The Democrats also held their control of the State Supreme Court. Justice Theodore Sours, in outstate areas, where the proposal was leading by about 64,000 votes. Wayne County voters rejected it.

House speaker Don R. Pearcy, R., Buchanan, said he would call on Gov. Williams to summon the legislature into special session next month to add a penny to the three-cent state sales tax. If the governor does not take the initiative himself.

Pearcy said he also would ask the Democratic governor to include repeal of a $55 million "nuisance tax" package enacted last year in the special session call.

The ceiling legally can be raised 30 days after approval of the amendment.

VICTORY FOR CON-CON
Michigan voters also approved a proposal to prepare the way for rewriting the state's 52-year-old Constitution.

Returns from 4,746 out of 5,074 precincts showed 1,322,111 voters endorsing the proposal with $74,491 against it.

Sponsors of the proposal claimed victory after the voting trend indicated substantial approval.

In a statement, George Romney, chairman of Citizens for Michigan, one of the nonpartisan groups supporting the proposal, said that those who worked for constitutional revision "naturally are delighted at the support of Michigan's informed citizens."

Romney, who is president of American Motor Corp., said, "The big favorable vote clearly indicates their desire for an improved Constitution through a constitutional convention."

"It also serves notice to the entire country that the citizens of Michigan are determined to organize and eliminate the conditions that have plagued our state and damaged its reputation."

The voters approved a plan for a vote in the 1962 spring election on calling a constitutional convention for the following October.

At the same time, they changed the ground rules for calling a convention and the system of electing delegates.

By an overwhelming margin, voters agreed to modify and extend a constitutional plan for local school construction.

It puts the credit of the state behind the borrowing power of school districts which undertake construction projects. Thus helping them to obtain lower interest rates.

The 1,358 backers of the proposal outdistanced opponents by nearly 60,000.

Republican legislators carried the ball for the sales tax increase. They promised it as the best solution to the state's financial troubles, which would leave the general fund treasury $30 million in deficit by June 30 without additional income.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When Mrs. Ruth Alexander, 27, went to Doctors Hospital, she and her husband, Nathanial, had decided that if the baby was a girl she would be named Karen and if a boy Douglas.

Triplets were born — two girls and a boy — and said Mrs. Alexander, "we didn't even expect twins." She and her husband had to think about a name for the second girl.

McNamara Back in U.S. Senate

he said. "We haven't looked beyond the election at all."

The 67-year-old McNamara, a former president of a Detroit plastics local, was chairman of a Senate subcommittee on problems of the aged and aging. He held hearings around the country last year and was a strong backer of increased aid to old folk and for a liberal medical insurance program for the aged, financed through the Social Security program.

McNamara criticized the Eisenhower administration on what he called lack of prestige and on national defense, saying "I'm afraid we've allowed our conventional defense to deteriorate to a point that is dangerous."

He warned that a recession might be looming and blamed it on the state's financial troubles, which would leave the general fund treasury $30 million in deficit by June 30 without additional income.

He charged the administration had not used its full powers in civil rights questions and urged federal aid to schools and increases in the minimum wage.

Bentley described himself as a "middle-of-the-roader" and said he was a "liberal when it comes to human rights and a conservative when it comes to the taxpayer's money."

He attacked McNamara, calling him a captive candidate for labor.

McNamara's aides, celebrating in a smoky downtown hotel suite, said he returned showed a mounting lead for the senator, gave credit to his program for helping the aged as the main factor in McNamara's victory.

Kennedy Apparent Victor; Popular Returns Are Close vision appearance from Los Angeles, continued to battle it out down to the wire in three large, splintered states.

Kennedy led in all three—California, with 22 electoral votes; Illinois with 27, and Minnesota with 13. Nixon was cutting into his Illinois lead and was staying with in striking distance of his rival in California and Minnesota.

Kennedy went to bed in the early morning hours without claiming the victory many of his followers thought he had won.

Nixon definitely had carried 22 states with 171 electoral votes. He would need 28 additional electoral votes to obtain what would amount to an upset victory.

The Republican candidate, who denounced Kennedy's charges that the United States had lost prestige abroad and has stood still at home under the Eisenhower administration, ran a close race with his rival in the record-breaking popular vote.

Kennedy's lead, at one point about 1.4 million, dropped today to a margin of only about 700,000 votes out of more than 70 million counted with ballots from 2,000 polling places yet to be counted.

The vice president did not finally concede defeat in his post-midnight television appearance from Los Angeles. He said that if the trend of the vote count continued without significant change "Sen. Kennedy will be the next president of the United States."

FAT TEARFUL
Mrs. Nixon, fighting to hold back the tears, stood at his side as the Republican candidate smilingly thanked those who had worked for him in the feverish day-and-night campaigning that ended for both candidates with Tuesday's record balloting.

Nixon said he wanted Kennedy to know that if he does become president "he will have my wholehearted support."

At Hyannis Port, Mass., Kennedy avoided making any statement on the returns. They showed him with a narrow popular vote lead over Nixon. But there was a possibility he would wind up with substantially more than the 289 electoral votes needed to make him the fourth Democratic president of the 20th century.

Mississippi gave its eight votes to unpledged electors.

Kennedy, who campaigned on the theme that the country had lost prestige abroad and had stood still at home under the Eisenhower administration, carried out his apparent victory in the larger electoral states.

ONLY OHIO BALKS
Of the biggest seven, he won only in New York, California, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas. Only Ohio out of this group favored Nixon.

Catholic and Non-Catholic States Voted for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (U-P)—States where Catholics abound and states where Catholics are a rarity gave their electoral votes to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy was the first Roman Catholic to seek the White House since Alfred E. Smith made his bid for the presidency in 1928 against Herbert Hoover.

Smith went down to a crashing defeat. He carried only eight states, to Hoover's 40. He got only 77 electoral votes to Hoover's 444. And he received only 15 million popular votes to 21 million for Hoover.

Outside the South—and until then, the South had been solid for Democrats since reconstruction days—the popular New York governor won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island, both states with heavy Catholic populations.

His last such Southern states are Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

No one ever knows for sure what causes a voter to make up his mind. Smith had a lot of things going against him—his accent grated on the ears of many and his stand against prohibition alienated others.

But since Smith's defeat 32 years ago, this conviction grew among many politicians:

A Catholic could not make a strong bid for the presidency. Both in 1928 and 1960, the religious issue stirred deep feelings in the United States, which now has a percentage of 21.6 per cent baptized Catholics.

Twenty-eight years ago, as now, there were high-principled, asuredly nonbigoted men, who opposed Vatican policy and wondered aloud what effect it would have on a Catholic president.

Then, as now, there were tactics of a different sort. In 1928, for ex-

A SMILING LOSER — Democratic candidate for Oakland County's 18th congressional seat James G. Dem Tide Sweeps Through New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (U-P)—Democrat John F. Kennedy swept to an election day victory in New York State by 400,000 votes and the tide ousted Republicans from control of the state's congressional delegation.

On the state legislative front the GOP lost some ground in both houses but retained control despite Kennedy's strong showing in traditionally Republican upstate areas.

With returns practically complete today, Kennedy had 3,800,000 votes to 3,608,383 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP candidate.

Republicans, who gave President Eisenhower a 1.5-million-vote margin in the counties outside of New York City in 1956, could produce a Nixon-edge of only 390,000 in the same territory Tuesday.

Kennedy piled up a plurality of nearly 800,000 votes in New York City, a Democratic stronghold, for the over-all victory that gave him the state's prized 45 electoral votes.

Kennedy thus became the first Democratic presidential candidate since Franklin D. Roosevelt, a native New Yorker, to carry the Empire State.

The Kennedy victory spelled failure for an intensive campaign by Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to deliver the state to Nixon.

Democrats took control of the congressional delegation 22-21. The Republicans have had a 24-19 edge. The changes were in the New York City-Long Island districts.

In the presidential voting, Kennedy drew heavy support from upstate cities with large Roman Catholic populations.

The Democratic nominee also ran well in areas with economic problems.

Kennedy took Erie County (Buffalo) by 276,688 to 211,201, Niagara County (Niagara Falls) 51,005 to 49,317, Oneida County (Utica) 61,271 to 58,139, and Clinton (Plattsburgh) 10,613 to 8,781.

He captured such cities as Batavia, which had never supported a Democratic presidential candidate; Rochester, Auburn and Elmira, all of which supported Eisenhower in 1956 and 1960.

The Democratic nominee won Brooklyn by 646,173 votes to 327,014 and Bronx, Manhattan and Queens by large margins. He lost only one of the five New York City counties, Staten Island.

The religious issue worked in Kennedy's favor and Jewish and Negro voters rallied behind Kennedy. State party fights, if not forgotten, were submerged.

U.S. Will Quit Bases in Indies

Tells Britain We Hope to Keep Some; Plans Aid for Islands

LONDON (AP) — The United States agreed unconditionally Tuesday to quit the major part of its five base areas in the British West Indies, but said it hopes to stay on in some considered essential to Western defense.

At the same time American delegates to a three-sided conference joined Britain in promising economic aid to the West Indies after that emerging commonwealth state becomes independent.

A communique issued after a five-day conference said all parties accepted the "basic principle that the West Indies, when independent, would have the right to form its own alliances and to conclude such agreements as it thought fit regarding military bases on its soil."

The announcement thus spelled a drastic revision of the historic 1911 agreement between Sir Winston Churchill and the late President Roosevelt.

Under this, Britain gave the Americans base rights in the West Indies until the year 2000 in return for 50 used destroyers and other military equipment at a crucial time in the war against the Nazis.

FROM OUR NEWS WIRE

DETROIT — Sen. John F. Kennedy and the entire Democratic state ticket rode to a slim victory in a record Michigan vote today, when Kennedy gave the party its first presidential triumph in Michigan since 1944.

Kennedy pushed along by a 350,000 vote bulge in populous Wayne County, carried Michigan's 20 electoral votes into the Democratic camp by an estimated 80,000 votes.

Victory for the Massachusetts senator marked only the second time in the past 34 years that Michigan has approved a Democratic presidential candidate.

Kennedy jumped off to an early lead on the basis of Wayne County returns and never was a loser as the night wore on, although Nixon closed steadily in the early morning hours as out-state returns poured in.

SEE 3.5 MILLION VOTE

With 4,977 of Michigan's 5,074 precincts counted, Kennedy led Nixon 1,662,546 to 1,361,761.

Returns Quickly to Hospital as Autos Collide

A Walled Lake florist delivered flowers to a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Tuesday and moments later became a patient himself.

Donald B. Watkins, 50, of 650 Lake Shore Drive, delivered the flowers and was pulled out of the hospital driveway onto Woodward Avenue when his car collided with another.

Watkins suffered a broken shoulder and cuts and bruises. He is in satisfactory condition today.

The other driver, Leonard S. Webb, 61, of 71 Orton St., was treated and released. He told Pontiac police he was headed south on Woodward when Watkins drove across his path.

Watkins said he couldn't see Webb's car coming because of a bus stopped to his left.

Sewage Bond Rejected

LAKE CITY — A vote of 231 to 191 Tuesday defeated a proposal for Lake City to bond itself for $120,000 to finance part of the cost of a sewage disposal system.

Election officials said a projection of the expected final vote total indicated the final count might come up to pre-election predictions of 3.5 million.

In any event, the record Michigan turnout topped the all-time mark of 3,680,460 set in the presidential election year of 1956.

In that year, Dwight D. Eisenhower carried the state more than 553,000 votes. In 1952, his plurality was 321,000.

Michigan, regarded as a politically doubtful "swing state" this year, saw both presidential candidates waging heavy campaigns.

Kennedy made his first formal speech on Labor Day in Detroit; Nixon closed his major campaign effort with a speech and a four-hour national television telethon in the Motor City.

OLD-FASHIONED TOURS

In between, both nominees crisscrossed the state by plane and auto with old-fashioned "whistle-stop" train tours.

Based on past performance and present observation, Michigan was regarded a tossup in this year's election.

A VICTORY KISS — A happy and victorious William S. Broomfield plants a kiss on his wife's cheek last night as other members of the congressman's family gather around him. Word has just come in that he had been returned to Congress for a third term.

County OKs All 3 Proposals

Goes Along With State on School Bond, Sales Tax, Con-Con

Oakland County voters went along with the rest of Michigan in approving all three state proposals on yesterday's ballot by substantial margins.

Here is how the county voted:

Proposal No. 1 — school bonds: 130,689 to 75,486.

Proposal 2 — sales tax: 154,729 to 95,182.

Proposal 3 — constitutional convention: 18,612 to 57,606.

Approval of Proposal No. 3 authorizes amendment of the constitution to enable the state to furnish broader assistance for local school construction.

It permits the state to borrow such amounts as are required on its faith and credit for the purpose of making loans to school districts to pay bonds issued before July 1, 1972.

Also, it enables the legislature, subject to limitations, to prescribe the conditions of such loans, and authorize the levy of taxes by school districts without limitation as to rate or amount for payment of school bonds and state loans.

Passage of Proposal 2 allows the state to increase the limitation on the maximum sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent.

This means taxpayers will pay an additional penny to the state with each dollar's worth of purchase.

Approval of Proposal 3 authorizes a vote in the 1961 spring election on calling a constitutional convention for the following October. It also changes the ground rules for calling a convention and the system of selecting delegates.

No longer will a majority of those voting in an election be required to endorse a convention before it can be convened. Only a simple majority of those voting on

Souris Gives Dems Supreme Court Win

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Democrats won another victory when Theodore Souris was returned to the State Supreme Court, to which he was appointed when jurist-author John D. Voelker stepped down last year.

Though the high court post is carried on the non-partisan ballot, contenders are nominated by party convention. Souris defeated Washtenaw Circuit Judge James R. Breakey as Democrats held their control of the State Supreme Court.

5-3. Souris had been appointed to the high court by Williams.

With 2,788 precincts out of 5,074 reporting, Souris had 1,023,692 to Breakey's 806,013.

Souris, turned 35 in August, was the youngest justice in the 132-year history of the Michigan Supreme Court when he took his seat last January.

The young attorney, just 10 years out of the University of Michigan law school, replaced one of the most colorful justices of modern times—best-selling author Voelker.

His appointment came as a surprise. Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, like Voelker an Upper Peninsula man, was thought by many to have had the inside track.

Souris, a slightly built, studious-looking man, was the only Democrat in a Detroit Republican household before entering upon his judicial career.

He took the high court position following a 19-month stint as Wayne County Circuit Judge—and another appointment by Gov. Williams. He filled out the term of the late Judge Joseph H. Moynihan.

"We have doubled our production per man on American farms in the past 10 years," Wrightman told the farm representatives at Michigan State University.

"Russia probably has 10 times as many people working in agriculture as we do and produces half as much."

Extends Mayor's Term

CHARLOTTE — A vote of 1,410 to 1,118 Tuesday approved a proposal to extend the term of Charlotte mayor and supervisors from one year to two.

In Nebraska, Democrat Frank B. Morrison defeated Republican John R. Cooper. The Democrats thus regained the state house they won in 1958 but lost two months ago when Gov. Ralph G. Brooks died and was succeeded by GOP Lt. Gov. Dwight W. Burney.

NELSON FINALLY WINS

Democratic Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson of Wisconsin, reported during the campaign to be waging an uphill fight for re-election, finally defeated Republican Philip G. Keefe after a see-saw battle.

Democrat W. W. Barron defeated Republican Harold E. Neely in West Virginia to succeed Republican Gov. Cecil Underwood who ran for the Senate.

In normally Republican North Dakota, Democrat William L. Guy took over a GOP state house by defeating C. P. Dahl. Democrat Matthew E. Welsh defeated Republican Crawford F. Parker in Indiana.

Dems Take 14 Governorships

Wrap Up Michigan and Illinois, Grab Off 7 in GOP States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats wrapped up 14 governorships today—including the big Michigan and Illinois state house prizes—and led in one other race.

Seven of the Democratic victories came in states controlled by Republicans.

GOP candidates won in nine states—overturning Democratic rule in three of them—and led in three others.

If all the 7 contests ended as now indicated, the Democrats would win 15 state houses for a net gain of one and the Republicans would take 12. That would give a new national gubernatorial sweep of 34 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

Democrat Otto Kerner, popular Chicago judge, jumped into the national political spotlight by sweeping Illinois' Republican Gov. William G. Stratton. Kerner, 52, is married to the daughter of a late Chicago Mayor, Anton Cermak, killed by a Miami assassin's bullet related on Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

Democrats captured GOP governorships in West Virginia, Delaware, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Illinois, Indiana and Nebraska. Democrats maintained their rule in Florida, Missouri, North Carolina, Texas, Arkansas, Wisconsin and Michigan.

In Washington Democratic candidates led.

Republicans looked Democrats out of power in Iowa, Kansas and Massachusetts. The GOP retained control in Vermont, Arizona, New Hampshire, Utah, Maine and Montana.

The farm belt voting gave some support to claims of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that farmers were not unhappy and that they prefer the Eisenhower program aimed at getting government out of agriculture to Kennedy's proposal for enlarging government's role.

The farm belt voting indicated farmers may have been influenced by issues other than farm problems, notably Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

The farm belt voting gave some support to claims of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that farmers were not unhappy and that they prefer the Eisenhower program aimed at getting government out of agriculture to Kennedy's proposal for enlarging government's role.

But there was little evidence of such a revolt despite pledges of Kennedy to push a new farm program designed to boost agricultural prices and incomes.

MAY MODIFY

The farm belt rejection of Kennedy raised early speculation that Democrats might modify their program in the polls Tuesday by the present administration.

The Midwest voting indicated farmers may have been influenced by issues other than farm problems, notably Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

Softened Loss of Offices — Regains House Lead

DETROIT (AP) — Republicans surged back into control of both houses of the Michigan Legislature today.

By the narrowest margin possible, they regained House majority, 56-54, after battling Democrats for two years in an unprecedented 55-55 standoff.

They added a seat to their top-heavy 22-12 majority in the Senate.

The GOP resurgence in the house helped offset another Democratic sweep of statewide offices that put Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson in the governor's chair and his five running mates into the state's other top administrative posts.

However, the results may very well have set the stage for more of the bitter inter-party wrangling that has wracked state government for years.

Republicans grabbed Democratic House seats in Oakland and Muskegon counties while Democrats picked up one held by Rep. Robert S. Gilbert, R-Saginaw, who is retiring.

"This is certainly good news," said House Speaker Don R. Pearis, Buchanan Republican, who presided for two years over frequently stalemate sessions that produced legislation only with bipartisan support.

Pearis was elected to his job only because a Democratic law maker was missing when the House organized at the opening session in January 1959.

RACE REVERSED

The Democratic victim in the Senate was William E. Miron, freshman lawmaker from Escanaba, who lost out to Kent T. Lundgren of Menominee, the man he beat in 1958.

The outcome restored to the GOP Senate bloc the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto by the governor. House Republicans, however, would need help from 18 Democrats to do the same thing.

Raymond L. Baker, druggist and former Berkeley councilman, nosed out Rep. S. James Clarkson, Southfield attorney, and gave Oakland County's 4th District back to the Republicans after a two-year lapse.

Democrats also were stunned in Muskegon County's 2nd District, where Oscar E. Bouwman of Muskegon upset Rep. Charles Haug, who was hiding for his fourth term.

WINS IN SAGINAW COUNTY

Democrat William A. Boos Jr., former assistant Saginaw attorney, beat Arthur C. Hauffe, a former House member for Saginaw County's 1st District seat.

One of the closest races gave Bay County's seat to Republican Lester O. Bekick, a nursery operator in Bay City. Unofficial.

The township preferred Nixon by a 57 per cent plurality. According to unofficial final returns, a record 19,600 voters favored Nixon by 5,300 votes, Bagwell by 3,113 and Bagwell by 2,661.

Swainson and Bentley outdrew Kennedy in Pontiac, where only 30,834 went to the polls, according to unofficial returns.

HARE LEADS ALL

Swainson and Bentley preferred Kennedy in Pontiac by 3,530 votes, but gave Nixon a bigger margin of 4,280 votes and McNamara the biggest, 4,474 votes.

Secretary of State James M. Hare was the incumbent Democrat on the state administrative board who came the nearest to winning in Oakland County and in Waterford. Hare led all other Democratic candidates in Pontiac.

Hare captured 142,325 votes in the county, compared to 147,965 for his rival William E. Greger, the Republican nominee.

The Waterford vote was 9,215 for Hare, 9,973 for Greger. In Pontiac it was 18,077 for Hare, 12,278 for Greger.

Four years ago, Waterford voters cast the majority of their ballots for Gov. Williams and his Lansing team.

The new Republican victory comes as a challenge to the incumbent team of Democratic township officers, whose posts were not involved yesterday.

The township had favored President Eisenhower four years ago. So did Pontiac, but by less than 100 votes. Pontiac voted Democratic in the other 1956 contests.

Oakland County hasn't voted Democratic in a presidential election since 1936

Give Him a Chance First, Says Abby

By AGIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After dating Matt three times I was delighted because he was the first fellow I didn't have to wrestle with. I mean he never even tried to kiss me goodnight.

Now I am beginning to wonder if there isn't something wrong with him. We've been together 19 times, and he still hasn't made any effort to kiss me and I am getting pretty tired of it.

How does a girl get a fellow to make a little progress? I am not the pushy type but if this guy is looking for a sister he has the wrong girl.

WANTS ROMANCE

DEAR WANTS: Don't rush him. Let him proceed at his natural rate of speed for another month. If he still hasn't warmed up — he's a cold fish. Throw him back.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is getting married. It will be a church wedding, but we are keeping the number of guests down because of the cost.

My problem is my husband's maiden sister. She is a troublemaker, a big mouth, an authority on everything and a merciless critic. I know if she is at the wedding it will spoil it for me. My husband is the easy-going type who had "passed" her all his life to avoid an argument. I would like to leave her out. Should I?

BRIDE'S MOM

DEAR MOM: This is a fairly wedding — not a bridge luncheon. Don't exclude your husband's sister.

DEAR ABBY: I have made quite a few mistakes in the past but am leading a respectable life now. A fellow with whom I was at one time involved threatens to reveal my past if I do not resume our old relationship. I cannot go to the authorities because of the bad publicity, and if my past is disclosed I would not be able to remain where I am now. I am at my wit's end. What should I do?

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: Tell the blackmailer to go ahead and reveal your past if he so chooses. He probably won't — but if he does, you will have to seek a new life elsewhere. Living under threat of exposure is no life at all.

CONFIDENTIAL: To "Blindly" (in the office romance): After investing nine years in this man, I diagnose the case as "hopeless." The Cure: Make sure you cut him out of your life. You are only 28 and will live.

Says Men Adore Hats on Women

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you want to put your best face forward, girls, wear a hat. That's the advice from charming Hildegard, super club chanteuse who has appeared in sophisticated spots all over the world.

"Wear a hat to please men, if for no other reason," Hildegard advises. "Men adore hats, and a woman who doesn't wear one is missing a glamor bet."

Hildegard says she means "hat" however, not head covering.

"I don't believe in just a covering for a head," she explains. "Wear a hat that has body, frame and character. Don't wear a little thing on the back of your head. It will look dowdy."

"A good substantial hat makes you feel important. Little hats look chic on some people, but they don't do anything for me. I believe in a large hat. The more important the hat, the more important you feel," she says.

You must know your face to choose the right hat, she points out.

"Little girls should wear tall hats. If your face is wide, you can use height. A round face needs height to elongate it. An oval face can wear any style hat, of course," she says.

Girls miss their biggest charm point by not wearing hats in the summer, she thinks, because there is such a wonderful opportunity to wear gay, charming, floral hats.

"I adore flower bedecked hats. I love a yellow flowered hat with a gray flannel suit and I accent it with gloves of yellow. I like white flowered hats, and these I accent with white gloves. I wear tailored hats when I travel. But I avoid orange, mustard, olive green. They're colors that do nothing for me," she says.

Hildegard thinks older women would do well to observe colors and styles in hats.

She particularly dislikes the contrast of red with gray hair. She adores veils, and thinks they flatter any woman.

"I don't like a veil worn in place of a hat, though. It gives a characterless effect."

"A hat can keep you cool in a dreary do not wear hats, she says, but since it is the best time to train

a girl in the art of selecting and wearing a hat.

"I always wore a hat to school and to church when I was a girl in Wisconsin. One reason teenagers do not wear hats today is because they never got in the hat wearing habit in childhood," she points out.

Hildegard wears hats even in the tropics, and is taking eight hats with her on a forthcoming trip to the West Indies, even though it will be hotter than blazes, she says.

"A hat can keep you cool in a dreary do not wear hats, she says, but since it is the best time to train strangely enough people do not wear hats in hot climate, the one place the shade effect of a hat should be appreciated."

At Waterford Schools

Three PTAs to Assemble

A variety of programs has been scheduled tomorrow night at three Waterford Township Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

* * *

"The Unchained Goddess" is the title of a film to be presented at the 8 p.m. Pontiac Lake School PTA by Charles Dronillet of Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

* * *

The school's second graders will have a bake sale, proceeds of which will be used for field trips during the school year.

* * *

There will also be a Christmas booth full of candy and colorful Christmas decorations where parents may place orders for future delivery.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., there will be a concert at the Waterford Center School PTA meeting, with Donald Perrin conducting the Waterford Township High School Band.

WILL GIVE PLANS

Guest speaker William Clark, Oakland County executive director of Big Brothers, will talk about his organization's plans.

Dr. Chauds Reid, assistant superintendent of schools, will present a talk, "Reading in Waterford Township Elementary Schools," at the 8 p.m. meeting at the Laura Haviland School.

The Boy Scouts of Haviland School will also sponsor a bake sale in the lobby before and after the meeting, and refreshments will be served.

Waterford Sets Class on Archery Fundamentals

A new class session in the fundamentals of archery will begin tomorrow at the Waterford Township Community Center, according to Recreation Director Tom Belton.

* * *

Running from 7:30 to 9, the course will last six weeks, with practice shots featured Thursday night.

Those interested have been asked to bring their own equipment, however, there is a limited amount available.

* * *

League action for novice and advanced archers will begin Jan. 1, Belton said. Interested persons have been asked to call the recreation department for further information.

Allen Park 2nd to OK Seaway Freeway Link

ALLEN PARK (AP)—Allen Park has joined Melvindale in approving the right-of-way set by the state for their share of the Seaway Freeway.

The freeway, linking up with the Detroit-Toledo Expressway in Brownstown Township, will run to the Rouge River in Detroit. Southgate and Lincoln Park still must approve their sections.

The government, in support of its claims of success, displayed captured prisoners and arms, at the new conference held in army headquarters.

Thuan said fighting is continuing in the region which includes a section of South Viet Nam along both sides of the 15th parallel from the border of Laos to the South China Sea.
