Goldberg Asks Emergency Jobless Measures

Abraham Lincoln Goes to Washington

Just 100 years ago on February 11, 1861, Abraham Lincoln left his home town, Springfield, Ill., to travel to Washington as president-elect. A cold rain was falling early that morning when he went to the Great Western Railroad Station. He mounted the platform at the rear of the train and said to the crowd that had come to bid him farewell: "My friends, no one not in my situation can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting. To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century and have passed from a young to an old man. Here my children have been born, and one is buried. I now leave, not knowing when or whether ever I may return. . . . Trusting in Him who can go with me, and remain with you, and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well. To His care commending you, as I hope in your prayers you will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

The train then pulled out of the station. Lincoln was never to see Springfield again.

By DICK SAUNDERS

At a special meeting late Friday, the Pontiac Board of Education appointed James R. Jenkins of 62 Wenonah Drive to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Louis H. Schimmel.

Board members also elected Monroe M. Osmun president and William H. Anderson vice president. Schimmel, board president, resigned at Thursday night's regular meeting after 24 years on the board because of outside business pressures.

Tells Detroiters Depression Is Other Choice

Calls for Permanent Compensation Hike to Top President's Plan

DETROIT (UPI)—Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg moved into recession-battered Detroit today with a warning that the nation must take emergency measures to slash unemployment or drift into a depression.

Goldberg, acting as President Kennedy's ambassador to the jobless, began the second day of his five-state tour of depressed areas by conferring on Michigan's jobless problems with Gov. John B. Swainson.

The auto capital of the world presented a bleak picture to Kennedy's chief labor adviser. More than 1 million cars are on dealers' lots — a new record — and layoffs in auto plants have put 1 out of every 10 workers out of a job.

DETROIT (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg can earn himself $50 if he can find a job for Thomas Whitehurst, 41. Whitehurst, who has had only 12 months' steady employment in the past three years, has posted signs on utility poles near his home in the Mount Clemens area. They make the offer.

Goldberg this morning advocated a permanent increase in unemployment compensation benefits in addition to the $1.2-billion emergency idle aid plan already advanced by Kennedy.

"We don't have a labor surplus in Michigan. We have a great reservoir of talent," Goldberg said. "We in the administration are determined, as you in Michigan are," he told Swainson, "to utilize this great reservoir to create an economy of abundance for ourselves and the free world."

Goldberg promised Adrian of

Won't Interfere in Auto Confabs

Goldberg Cites JFK Regime's Confidence in Industry Negotiators

DETROIT (UPI)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said today the Kennedy administration "will not interfere" in the 1961 auto industry contract negotiations.

Goldberg made this comment at a meeting with labor and industry officials in which he discussed the 21-member advisory committee on labor-management policy which President Kennedy has said he will establish.

Looking around the room at the conferees, who included United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther and several vice presidents of the auto companies, Goldberg noted they "have considerable experience in collective bargaining."

The labor secretary, a former top negotiator for the United Steel Workers Union, said he was certain the auto contracts can achieve "a settlement of problems which will be fair to industry, fair to labor and fair to the public."

Explore Possibility of Meeting Nikita

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy met today with his advisers on Russian relations in a conference which may lead to a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev within the next few months.

The White House session, which got under way at 10:17 a.m. (Pontiac time) was called by the President to chart what he hopes will be a more dynamic American approach to the critical cold war issues between the United States and the Soviet.

Summoned to the strategy meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and four Soviet affairs experts who have served as ambassadors to Moscow during four presidential administrations — Llewellyn E. Thompson, the present envoy; Charles E. Bohlen, special advier to Rusk on Russia; Roving Ambassador Averell Harriman; and George F. Kennan, ambassador designate to Yugoslavia.

Joining in the meeting in the Cabinet room was Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy and the officials discussed the situation while sitting around a long table.

Kennedy went to the conference after witnessing the swearing-in of Robert C. Weaver as federal housing administrator.

Asians Sure Rusk Will Go to Confab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Asian diplomats here were convinced today that Secretary of State Dean Rusk would visit the Far East next month on his first foreign tour.

Rusk is under pressure to attend the annual meeting of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) council in Bangkok March 27-30.

SEATO's Asian members have complained that they are treated as "second-class" allies. They want to talk to President Kennedy's foreign policy chief about Laos, U.S. support of Asian neutralism and other issues.

If Rusk goes to Bangkok he probably will be asked to visit other Asian capitals along the way.

★ ★ ★

The decision, which Rusk has been postponing, is the first test of his announced determination to stick close to his desk and shun the roving life of the late John Foster Dulles, who traveled 559,988 miles during his six years as secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration.

★ ★ ★

Asian diplomats here felt sure Rusk would go to the SEATO meeting, despite his no-travel resolution and the fact that the trip would take him away from Washington during preparations for British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan's April meeting with Kennedy.

Detroit Man Killed in Royal Oak Twp. by Shotgun Blast

Royal Oak Township Police are holding two suspects today in the slaying of a Detroit man in the apartment of his estranged wife early this morning.

Shot in the back with a 12-gauge shotgun was Henry Warren, 29, of 13217 Main St.

Being held for questioning are Fred Lindsey, 20, and George Ross, 19, both of 21667 Wyoming Ave.

Lindsey was living with Warren's estranged wife, Lassie, 21, and Ross, her brother, occupied another apartment in the building, according to Sgt. James Gatewood.

The shooting occurred at about 6 a.m. Warren was also stabbed in the face, Gatewood said.

★ ★ ★

Warren had gone to his wife's apartment with a Mildred Brown, 27, of 20751 Mitcheldale St., Royal Oak Township, to see his children. Mrs. Warren and their four children are living on welfare, police said.

An argument led to a fight between Warren, Lindsey and Ross.

Gatewood quoted Miss Brown as saying she picked up the shotgun which was standing in a corner

Katanga Chiefs Insist Lumumba Fled Jail

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Katanga Province officials today flatly denied rumors they concocted a story that ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba escaped from jail so they could cover his death at the hands of his political foes. The denial came in a communique announcing that searchers for the missing Lumumba had found a car he and two political associates used to escape from a farmhouse prison at Mutshatsa, west of Elisabethville, late Thursday night.

Some Western observers in the Congo said they suspect Lumumba is dead or that his escape was engineered so he could be shot while trying to escape.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union tried and failed to get a sudden secret meeting of the U.N. Security Council today to discuss the fate of Patrice Lumumba, deposed Congo premier.

The Katanga government, taking note of these rumors, said in a communique: "The Katanga government denies it organized the escape. It appears his (Lumumba's) escape was made possible by some fault or intervention by his guards, and this will be subject to inquiry."

The communique said the car, a black Ford sedan found about 20 miles north of Kasaji where Lumumba was imprisoned, was identified as the automobile he

Huddle on Unemployment

"LET'S USE THIS TALENT" — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther and Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson discuss unemployment problems with Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg. The touring Goldberg told an assembly of government, labor and business persons in Detroit today that Michigan has a large pool of talented workers on jobless rolls. He urged emergency measures to aid the unemployed and hasty action to get them back to work.

Westinghouse Executives Swap Suits for Stripes

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two Westinghouse Electric Corp. executives exchanged business suits today for prisoners' blue denim as they began the second day of a 30-day sentence for violating antitrust laws in the giant electrical power conspiracy.

John H. Chiles Jr., 57, Sharon, Pa., and Charles I. Mauntel, 60, Drexel Hill, Pa., chose unexpectedly to begin their jail terms Friday.

The two men, accompanied by their lawyers, surrendered to the U.S. marshal in Philadelphia. They were silent and unsmiling.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Ganey, who had sentenced the two with five other high-salaried executives Monday for illegally fixing prices and rigging bids to stifle competition, granted the request for the early jail start. He had given the seven men a week to arrange their personal affairs.

They earn up to $125,000 a year.

Chiles is vice president of Westinghouse's transformer division and regarded as a leading figure in Sharon, a community of 25,000 in the heart of Pennsylvania's steel and soft coal region. He helped organize the United Fund, and was once president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Holly Streak Ends, but PNH Rolls On

Oakland County's last unbeaten team, Holly, rated the No. 1 class B team in Michigan by the AP last week, was upset last night by Milford, 68-61, in the key game of the prep schedule.

Pontiac Central rolled over Bay City, 81-66, and Pontiac Northern stayed unbeaten in the Inter-Lakes League by whipping Southfield, 77-53.

Avondale's hope for the Oakland B title toppled in a 71-69 setback at Oak Park. Details of the prep games are on the sports pages, 16-17.

France Fears Fuss Over Plane Buzzing

PARIS (UPI)—French diplomats expressed fears today that Russia would exploit the recent plane-buzzing incident off North Africa despite the government's formal apology.

* * *

The diplomats based their fears on reports of a nationwide anti-French campaign in the Soviet Union following the buzzing by three French jet fighters of an airliner carrying Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev to Morocco Thursday.

* * *

Brezhnev left today for Guinea for a state visit, leaving behind 14 Russian MIGS for the Moroccan air force.

The French government hoped to play down the incident by expressing "sincere regrets."

APOLOGY NOTE PRESENTED

A note of apology was presented in Moscow Friday night in reply to a Soviet note denouncing the incident and demanding punishment for the "culprits."

The French charge d'affaires in Moscow, Jean de la Grandyille, called on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko again today.

Details of their meeting were not disclosed, but it was understood the Frenchman again assured Gromyko France is looking into the incident.

* * *

France said its reply was only a preliminary one pending completion of an investigation.

* * *

French officials said Friday that Brezhnev's Ilyushin-18 airliner was in a "danger zone" off Algeria, en route to Rabat, when the jets challenged it and fired across its path.

and his companions seized after overpowering their guards.

THREAT EITHER WAY

Western observers fear that, dead or alive, Lumumba presents the Congo with its greatest threat of all-out civil war. His supporters control about one-third of the Congo, and in the past his fiery oratory has been capable of whipping them to a frenzy.

If Lumumba is dead, observers said, his supporters in Oriental and Kivu provinces almost certainly would embark—on a path of vengeance, possibly against the white population.

The Katanga government communique said the escape car which searchers found "was started by unscrewing the ignition lock and joining the ignition wires together."

He was the first to establish the importance of the feature-length picture and developed the closeup, the flashback and fadeout in screen photography.

Wind-Powered Rains Batter Pacific Northwest

By United Press International

A steady rain driven by strong and gusty south winds beat down on the storm-lashed Pacific Northwest through the night and into today.

Police to Get New Tower

Pontiac Post Among 3 in State Scheduled for Radio Changes

The Pontiac state police post is one of three in Southern Michigan scheduled to get new radio towers, according to the State Building Division at Lansing.

* * *

The new tower is expected to be built adjacent to the Pontiac post at 1295 Telegraph Road by April.

It will replace the present state police radio tower located on county property, behind the Crippled Children's Home at Telegraph Road.

The shift was required by the county to make room for a 200,000-gallon-capacity water tower tank to be constructed on the radio tower's present site by April.

125 FEET HIGH

The new radio tower will be 125 feet high, of self-supporting structure. The present tower is supported by guide wires.

It won't be used instead of a new tower adjacent to the state police post because the guide wires would extend off state property, and might require replacing the tower later.

The other two state police radio towers are to be constructed at posts in Detroit and Ypsilanti.

* * *

A low bid of $20,750 for building all three towers and removing the old ones has been submitted to the state by Motorola Communications and Electronics Co. of Chicago.

The county's new water tower will serve the courthouse presently under construction in the County Service Center along Telegraph Road.

A $42,200 contract to build the 150-foot high water tower has been let to the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. in Chicago.

* * *

Construction is scheduled for completion in April, according to Robert Moore, chairman of the county board of auditors. He said work is to begin within the next couple weeks.

Arthur Scott Jr., 34, 5 Lee St., pleaded guilty to loitering in an illegal liquor place and was fined $15 or two days in the Oakland County Jail if the fine is not paid.

Swainson Cites Need for Revision

Blames Tax Setup for Problems

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State government has struggled from crisis to crisis during the past decade, Gov. Swainson said today because "Its tax structure does not respond adequately to the growth in the economy."

In background material prepared for a day-long governor's conference on Michigan's fiscal policy, Swainson said the need for fundamental revision of the state and local tax structures long has been recognized.

The governor said several study groups had reviewed the Michigan situation and all came to the conclusion that the state's tax structure is inequitable because of the heavy emphasis on consumer and property taxes.

Swainson pointed out that in seven of the past 12 fiscal years the state has spent more than it has taken in. For the entire period, he said, expenditures exceeded revenues and the general fund by $134 million.

* * *

The governor contended that the deficit would have totaled close to $250 million if it had not been for the utilization of several one-shot or nonrecurring revenue sources and the enactment of eight major new taxes.

During the 12-year period, Swainson said, general fund revenues increased by some $253 million, but he said less than $25 million was the result of increased revenues from the tax structure as it existed in 1950.

Critchfield stated that Ted Slosson, executive secretary of the YMCA, had reported increasing difficulty in scheduling boys and girls activities with the limited facilities at the present building, 131 Mt. Clemens St.

Postpone Firing Juno Satellite

Second Launching in 2 Days Is Canceled by Technical Difficulties

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it postponed early today the scheduled launching of a four-stage Juno II satellite because of technical difficulties.

* * *

Yesterday the scheduled launching of Discoverer XX satellite from Vandenberg AFB, Calif., also was canceled for technical reasons, the Air Force reported.

An announcement said the Juno experiment was intended to put a 74-pound satellite in orbit to study the structure of the ionosphere.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) did not immediately set a new date for the launching attempt.

* * *

The little satellite was equipped with a transmitter operating on six radio frequencies to give scientists more information about the ionosphere, a sort of "electric ceiling" ranging from 50 to about 1,000 miles above earth. This ceiling controls the distance and direction that radio signals travel.

* * *

The payload was intended to provide a space radio station to beam signals through the ionosphere.

Common Market Nations Put Off Political Talks

PARIS (AP)—Western Europe's six Common Market nations today put off until another "little summit" meeting in May any concrete proposals for giving their economic alliance a political framework.

Discussion which lasted until Friday night failed to produce accord on the major issue — President Charles de Gaulle's plan for a European political confederation.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left the current meeting unexpectedly. His departure caught French officials by surprise. But Adenauer was in good humor on his return to Bonn and told reporters "I am very happy over what has been achieved in Paris."

Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano accompanied him.

AGREE TO COMMISSION

In a communique that bore signs of delicate diplomatic surgery, the government chiefs agreed to set up a commission in Paris to prepare proposals for a May 19 session in Bonn.

The communique opened the door to other powers—particularly Britain — in any future Common Market developments, reportedly at the insistence of Dutch Premier Jan de Quay.

Goldberg told the group: "we've got a plant here that can provide employment opportunities. We've got to save the plant for the community."

Goldberg was scheduled to discuss Ohio's mounting unemployment with Gov. Mike DiSalle this afternoon before heading for Pittsburgh, last stop on his mission.

The Cabinet officer offered hope of jobs to idle workers Friday in fast-paced visits to Chicago, Gary and South Bond, Ind., all centers of rising factory unemployment.

He called for united support of Kennedy's antirecession program and pleaded for a no-politics approach to domestic economic problems during his 15-hour Midwestern expedition.

Firebugs Roam RO Twp.

Fear Grips Community

By DICK BUCK

Fear has taken up residence in Royal Oak Township.

It announced itself without reluctance last night as flames from the township's eighth firebug-set blaze since Monday brought unwelcome warmth to the snowy chill.

As a vacant multiple dwelling unit on Darlow Street burned to the ground, those who lived nearby talked freely of this week's outbreak of arson.

All had one thing in common. None would give his name.

A township police officer, on duty with a partner at the fire scene, put it this way:

"I want to be able to leave home at night without worrying about someone setting fire to my place. The township isn't big. Everyone knows me. I don't want to put my family on the spot."

And you couldn't blame him.

NOT ASHAMED OF FEAR

One of three women who watched the fire aloofly from a block away was unashamed of her fear.

"Oh, Lord, you don't know how scared the people who live around here are about this," she said. "We just don't know where it might happen next."

The woman noted that she hadn't been getting much sleep the last few nights. She told of hearing some noise, real or imagined and getting up and walking aimlessly about the house in the middle of the night.

The thing that bothered the three women was "Why — why was this happening?" That — with the uncertainty of where the fire bug (or bugs) might strike next was the moving van for fear.

There was also the frightening thought that fire, fanned by a strong wind, might some night run wild through the World War II Oakdale Gardens housing project which is still about half occupied despite condemnation last year.

"The police just have to get whoever is doing this," one of the women declared. Her companions quickly chimed in their agreement.

ARREST YOUTH FOR ARSON

And the police themselves feel the same way. An officer told of arresting a youth Tuesday night on suspicion of arson. The policeman said he confessed.

"But he sure didn't set this fire," the officer said. "He's in the Oakland County Jail tonight. We'll have to start searching again."

A man who stood near the flames to take advantage of their glow told of the extra fear this week's blazes had brought him.

He recalled when he was younger, how he had fled the second floor of a home as fire destroyed it.

He survived the incident with a broken leg. Some members of his family escaped unharmed. But others didn't get out. That nightmare has been reborn in this week of flames.

The man cringed at the possibility of once again being directly involved in a fire.

PATTERN THE SAME

The pattern in each of the eight blazes has been virtually the same. Only those buildings which are empty have been set ablaze.

* * *

At 8:50 p.m. Friday, approximately an hour before the newest blaze, a family living in a building beside the one which burned complained to police that "a tall man dressed in dark clothes" had left a blazing box beside their dwelling.

The fire was put out before it spread to the building. This same family has filed several similar complaints during the week, an officer noted.

Seven of the eight fires have been in the Darlow Street area. And in seven of the eight cases, the buildings have burned to the ground.

Royal Oak Township may not be large. Yet it's just big enough to harbor at least two highly undesirable residents — fear and one or more psychopaths who like to watch things burn.

Could Use New Ruble in Monopoly

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia's new "hard ruble" currency reminded Americans here today of the toy money used to play the simulated-capitalist game of "monopoly."

Delicately colored and bearing drawings of the Kremlin, the bills were smaller than any ever issued in the Soviet Union, and the resemblence to "monopoly" scrip was marked. Some bills, including the one-ruble note, were smaller than a dollar. The new one-ruble coin is slightly smaller than an American silver dollar.

This was in contrast to the old ruble notes, which were more than three times as large as a dollar bill and had to be folded to fit in an American wallet.

Soviet citizens were happy to discover the ease with which they could change their money. It indicated that hoarders and others — some with black market connections — who feared exposure would have little to worry about.

The new bills will be exchanged at a rate of one for 10 old rubles over the next three months.

There was one obvious way Soviet citizens could make a small profit on the currency exchange, but most found out too late to do anything about it.

After midnight Sunday, the government announced that no new one, two or three kopek pieces would be minted, thus multiplying the value of the old ones by 10. Since the exchange points opened at 10 a.m. Monday, there was little chance for anyone to make much profit out of it.

There seemed to be no big rush at the exchange points, which were marked by big red signs on their doors. Most Russians took the exchange as a normal occurrence, and half those in line were children exchanging old five ruble notes for new 50 kopen pieces so they could tell their friends they had the new money.

The new money, besides being easier to handle, was expected to simplify bookkeeping in world trade centers and bring the ruble's value and Soviet prices more into line with the rest of the world.

Right Address Fails, Wrong One Works

LEVITTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A letter had the right address but was delivered to the wrong place. So they put the wrong address on it and the letter was delivered to the right place.

It all started when a New York auto insurance company wrote to "Riverside Trust Co., Route 130, Levittown, N.J." It ended up in Levittown, N.Y.

That post office crossed out "N.J." and replaced it with "Pa." But the letter was correctly delivered here.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Abraham Lincoln was strengthened by his faith. He believed: "The will of God prevails. Without Him all human reliance is vain. Without the assistance of that Divine Being I can not succeed. With that assistance I can not fail . . . Being a humble instrument in the hands of our Heavenly Father, I desire that all my works and acts may be according to His will; and that it may be so, I give thanks to the Almighty, and seek His aid . . . I have a solemn oath registered in Heaven to finish the work I am in, in full view of my responsibility to my God, with malice toward none; with charity toward all; with firmness in the right as God gives me to see the right."

Commends Science Fair at Area Junior High

At the annual Science Fair at Crary Junior High School, I was amazed at the quality of work these young people had accomplished. After viewing volcanoes, insect collections, mice and other ingenious displays, I stopped to realize the importance of these ideas and that some day the simple diagram or projects that are constructed by these young students will be responsible for a complex theory that would make our world a better place in which to live.

I urge every adult or parent to support these school functions not only to be informed, but to show them that you care.

Beard Growing— a Favorite Topic

Beard growing sounded like good clean fun and an appropriate gesture on such an occasion. I started mine in hopes of being in good shape for the festivities by the proper time. Now I see that students, policemen, and firemen are in the "forbidden" class. Perhaps I'm unduly sensitive but there seems to be an underlying, unspoken inference that such activity would detract from their present good standing in the community. Our bearded forefathers were not beatniks, delinquents, nor members of a lower social order. However, in some eyes, bearded antecedents seem to be something less than desirable.

★ ★ ★

If this beard growing is for second class citizens only, it should be so stated and we can all catalog ourselves accordingly. However, if we are attempting to regain the atmosphere and spirit of 1861, let's get some leading citizens on the bandwagon.

★ ★ ★

I wonder if your editor would care to commit himself — along with some of the judges, bank presidents and factory heads — not on what should be done but on which group they are joining. I've shaved mine till I see who's on what team.

Bald Chin

I cannot understand city officials not letting policemen and firemen grow bears. They needn't be huge growths to catch on fire. Our police and firefighters are looked up to by citizens who will probably wonder why they are not allowed to join in the fun. This is the greatest celebration of our lifetime. As for safety, I have heard that no one on the fire department has ever burned their face. We citizens know it's our centennial year and we wouldn't be too amazed at being ticketed by a bearded policeman or having a fireman with a goatee or handlebar mustache come to put out a fire. It would let us realize we are happy citizens celebrating something we are proud of — our city.

'Why Hire Employed for Part Time Jobs?'

When businessmen need part time workers, why do they hire men who have other good jobs and a wife working? My son has four children and was laid off at a service station. He worked a lot of hours, but didn't mind. He would have worked part time, as a half of loaf of bread is better than none. Now a part time worker is in his place who has a good job. There would be more jobs if an employer would think of this.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Feb. 11, the 42nd day of the year with 323 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Mercury.

On this day in history:

In 1847, Thomas Edison was born at Milan, Ohio.

In 1943, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was made a full general in the United States Army.

In 1945, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Marshall Stalin signed the Yalta agreements after their week-long conference in the Crimea.

In 1952, for the third time in two months, a major air disaster took place in Elizabeth, N.J., resulting in 33 deaths.

Thought for today: English poet Lord Byron said: "Man's love is of man's life a thing apart; 'Tis woman's whole existence."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

For I do not know how to flatter, else would my Maker soon put an end to me.—Job. 32:22.

★ ★ ★

It is better to fall among crows than flatterers for those devour the dead only, these the living.—Antisthenes.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Tourist Trade Is Michigan's Second Biggest Industry

Michigan is one of the most attractive states in the Union.

It all came about through the will of the gods and the unpredictable antics of an ancient glacier.

But the result's here now.

It's simply magnificent.

★ ★ ★

In 1960, there was $40 billion spent "on fun" and Michigan latched onto a modest $650 million. The Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Association figures we could expand this to a cool and consequential billion (yes, $1,000,000,000) within the next five years with a vigorous and assertive publicity campaign that carried our wonderful message to the boys and girls who are going to do the traveling.

★ ★ ★

If we sit back idly, we will merely watch our neighbors gobble these increasing increments in lucrative trade.

Michigan is a natural.

"We have four Great Lakes, 11,000 inland lakes, 19 million acres of forest land, 61 state parks, more ski slides than any state in the Union, the world's longest suspension bridge, some of the finest hunting and fishing in the Nation, historic sights and magnificent scenery."

This incredible but very factual statement is from the S.M.T. and P.A., but I'll buy the whole package—and so will you.

We're that good.

And there could be another paragraph, running much longer, listing additional virtues and attractions that the Wolverine State possesses.

We must advise the wide world and help form these long lines on the right and left as visitors wend their happy ways to our winter, spring, summer and autumn activities. And Oakland County has a far greater stake in this picture than the average area. We have several hundred beautiful lakes of our own to lure and captivate the visitors. Nature has been generous to us "beyond her call of duty."

And don't forget — these tourists don't come here merely to stand around in open mouth wonderment at our trees, our sunsets and our watering spots. They're ready to spend. Here is a very lucrative trade that the State has promoted modestly but which should be pushed with the accelerator right down on the floor boards. If we don't tease the people here, there are 49 other states that want them.

The S.M.T. and P.A. estimates we had 10 million visitors scattered through Michigan last year. We can accommodate ten times that. And many will return automatically in ensuing years. Wolverine sages have said for two decades that "our tourist trade is Michigan's second biggest industry." Automobiles come first.

★ ★ ★

No Dice, Khrushchev . . . .

The wide world is watching President JOHN F. KENNEDY and KHRUSHCHEV intently. Obviously, the Russian snake-in-the-grass is making a play for our Chief Executive's favor.

But he's doomed to fail.

★ ★ ★

All the Head Red's preliminary blandishments and soft soap treatments are dropping on barren soil. K desperately wants "an invitation" from Kennedy to visit the White House.

He won't get it.

Nothing can prevent him from representing his own nation at the U.N., and Kennedy will probably meet him there — but it will be on Kennedy's terms — and not the slimy Soviet's.

★ ★ ★

A hundred nations watch the sparring.

If the Commie wants his bloody pal, KADAR, and the demented CASTRO along at the meeting, I'm sure KENNEDY will duck the whole show. He's handling himself skillfully.

Slow Me Down . . . .

Maybe I need this more than most of you, but it will find many receptive spots:

★ ★ ★

"Amidst the confusion of my day, give me the calmness of the everlasting hills. Teach me the art of taking minute vacations . . . of slowing down to look at a flower, to chat with a friend, to pat a dog, to read from a good book. Remind me to look upward at the towering oak, and know that it grew tall and strong because it grew slowly and well. Slow me down, Lord."

It came from Guideposts.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

I was snowbound in New York last weekend when 2,600 airplane flights were canceled leaving 183,000 stranded. Drifts reached 15 to 18 feet and 400 cars were abandoned on one highway alone with their 1,200 occupants rescued by buses . . . . . Washington correspondents privately agree that ROBERT MCNAMARA is rapidly becoming the Number One Boy in the KENNEDY cabinet . . . . . Commenting on the Queen's recent hunt, The London Daily Mirror says: "The British people do not regard this as sporting or manly. They look on it with disgust." . . . . . Current crack: "The shortest route to the White House—'Go to Harvard and turn left.'"

David Sarnoff says colored TV is a $100 million business a year right now and within three years everyone will have colored receivers . . . . . Pontiac Presbyterians advise me that with Marbach departing they're lucky to have a fine man like Galen E. Hershey . . . . . Someone asserts they're prepping Ham for the Ed Sullivan Show and that they're now calling it: "Ape Canaveral" . . . . . Fisherman — enough olive oil or glycerin to cover a hole in the ice will prevent freezing for days . . . . . Insiders insist Tokyo will have a baseball team in the big leagues by 1970. They average 30,000 a game in attendance right now and it's the biggest city in the world . . . . . Here's Lumumba's latest order to his troops: "If you can't beat 'em, eat 'em."

Teachers in an Illinois high school won't sponsor the senior prom this year because of the cocktail parties certain parents plan in advance. Three cheers for those teachers! . . . . . Trusted scouts tell me ELLEN BISCHER deserves mention as one of the area's most attractive young ladies. Ellen, you're hereby mentioned . . . . . JACQUELINE KENNEDY is featured on and in a dozen current magazines. The gal's getting a terrific ride and she always appears well . . . . . The Bureau of Labor Statistics says a "modest but adequate budget" for retired couples in large cities runs from $2,700 a year in Houston to $3,400 in Chicago. Detroit lands in the middle with $3,100 . . . . . I'm puzzled. The Pontiac C. of C. sends me a bulletin about "the coming annual meeting" a week after it was held.

Days of All Faiths:

Jollity Precedes Ash Wednesday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

If one just looks at the known facts about St. Valentine, it is difficult to understand how he and his day ever got mixed up with all this elaborate business of lacy cards and saccharine poems.

Valentine was a Roman priest who did what most Christians did in times of persecution. He risked his own life by taking in and concealing other Christians who were fugitives from the authorities. Guests and hosts were all discovered and, of course, Valentine was guilty of two crimes, being a Christian and obstructing the law.

He was put in jail, where, while awaiting death, he miraculously healed the blindness of his jailer's daughter. But this miracle did not help poor Valentine. He was clubbed to death and then beheaded. This happened on February 14, 269.

The simple story, which must have happened hundreds of times in those days, is complicated, overshadowed, and thrown out of all perspective by the fact that it occurred right at the time of that most popular of all Roman pagan festivals, the Lupercalia.

★ ★ ★

The Lupercalia had originated to commemorate the beginning of Rome, honoring its traditional founders, the twins Romulus and Remus. But over the years the emphasis completely changed. Romulus and Remus were forgotten and the Lupercalia became a love festival, on the flimsy basis that this was the time of year when the birds began to mate.

PAGAN VS. CHRISTIAN

St. Valentine's date was February 14; the Lupercalia was February 15. With the two dates so close and two cultures, Christian and pagan, living together in one community, it was a natural for some of their elements to combine. This is partly what must have happened.

It is also true that the early Church was always trying to "Christianize" the pagan festivals, leaving the pagans to celebrate at the accustomed time but they would replace the old content with some new material related to the Christian faith. Thus it is more than likely that the Christians tried to unite these two occasions.

The Church had some successes along this line, but when she came up against a love festival she found the going very rough indeed. For example, in the Lupercalia young people drew names in a lottery and were paired off to "go steady" for the ensuing year. Imagine trying to replace that custom by persuading a youngster to draw a saint's name instead of a girl's; he'd then have to spend the year in special devotions to the saint, ignoring girls. The Clergymen who thought that one up must have been very old. Their idea never had a chance.

In the Middle Ages, boys and girls gave presents to each other on St. Valentine's Day. Later on, as postal service developed, the presents became stylized into the now familiar fancy cards.

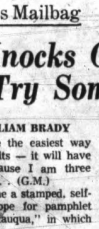
Doc Knocks Old Crocks Who Try Somersaulting

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Please tell me the easiest way to roll somersaults — it will have to be easy because I am three score and ten . . . (G.M.)

Ans. — Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet "The Somersaultauqua," in which I describe the easiest way to roll 'em. But I do not advise old crocks to try it. Any one who rolls his own does so at his own peril. Incidentally, I believe a great many persons are old crocks at 50, 60, or 70 because they are victims of malnutrition, particularly calcium deficiency.



DR. BRADY

A reader sends me a card that accompanies flowers to the hospital — the card says it is not necessary to change the water, cut the stems or remove the flowers from the patient's room at night. What do I think of that?

Ans. — I think it is good sense. Flowers in the sickroom are good for the patient 24 hours a day. The business of taking them out at night and toting them back in the morning is old wives' business.

I would like some information of eczema . . . (M.B.).

Ans.—Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my free pamphlet on Eczema.

★ ★ ★

Asked if children ever pass worms that look like earthworms. I don't know the answer, and would appreciate . . . (—K.W., R.N.)

Ans. — Send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 13, "Unbidden Guests." Yes, children commonly harbor round worms.

★ ★ ★

Formerly fighter pilot, told by Army and civilian doctors his pains are rheumatic arthritis and all he can do is to take aspirin all day long . . . (L.T.W.)

Ans. — Rheumatic arthritis is a novel type — up to the moment there were only forty types of arthritis to keep the poor geeks coming to the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers. Send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet No. 12, "Chronic Joint Disability."

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tells Value of Saying 'Thank You'

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE H-406: Dean Maynard K. Hine is head of the Indiana University Dental College, and a superb example of a tactful human relations expert.

"Dad, I want you to look at this letter," my son Daniel commented as I dropped in at the I. U. Medical Center for dinner. As I glanced at the letter I noticed that it was from Dean Hine, and expressed his great pleasure in the fact the Dental School's basketball team won the tournament on the professional campus.

DR. CRANE

Since Daniel played on the team he had thus received this personal note from the Dean.

"All the players got similar letters," Dan remarked. "We didn't expect a personal comment, either, for we know the Dean is swamped with other duties."

PSYCHOLOGY USERS

A lot of people are what we might call "psychology knowers." These even include some of our professors of the subject on many campuses.

But a "psychology knower" may fail to be a good "psychology user."

The topnotch men in dentistry and medicine, law, journalism and business, as well as all other fields, may not have studied a single course in college psychology, but they are superb "psychology users."

And that goes for foremost pulpit men, too, such as Bishop Clifford Northcott, of Wisconsin.

At the last annual Methodist Conference in Wisconsin Rapids, the Bishop and some of his District Superintendents were dining at the Sugar Bowl, operated by Tom Poulos, a successful Americanized Greek immigrant.

When it came time to pay for their meal, Tom refused to accept the Bishop's money. The Bishop thanked him kindly.

But the following week Tom received a personal "Thank you" letter from Bishop Northcott.

"Why, I never expected anything like that," Tom protested.

But such attention to simple courtesies is a criterion of top-notchers. Young people, note well!

SIGNS OF SECOND-RATERS

Mrs. Morris Wolcott was one of the generous ladies who helped billet the various visiting clergymen at that same Methodist Conference in Wisconsin.

They were housed in private homes by generous townspeople in Wisconsin Rapids. Often they were also given their breakfasts by their hosts and hostesses.

"But many of them," said Mrs. Wolcott, apparently forgot to send even a little note to thank their host and hostess.

"The latter didn't offer their homes just because they expected a written 'Thank you' letter.

"But these men were not seminary students but older, experienced clergymen and wives, so their failure to write their gratitude was rather surprising to our folks who had opened their homes to the delegates."

Not all of the ministers by any means were so thoughtless. Some even left boxes of candy for their hostesses as an evidence of their thanks.

But many people nowadays are watching the clergy very closely and growing irked at the latter's apparent taking favors for granted, so I want to jog you clerics and wives on this crucial point.

Jack Dempsey, too, is one of the most tactful people in America for he not only writes "Thank you" letters, for any favors, but does so in long hand. I got one such letter recently.

"But Jack always writes a personal note," said Al Warden, Sports Editor of the Ogden Standard Examiner, when I was commenting about Jack's letter.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Lake Orion Police Hunt Loose Wolf

Sheriff's deputies and Lake Orion village police were keeping a wary eye out today for a wolf on the prowl.

* * *

The owner of the Villa Inn just south of the village limits, Nello Sorbelli, reported the wolf missing from his pen behind the inn.

* * *

Sorbelli said the 7-month-old animal, weighing about 30 pounds, was not dangerous.

"A beautiful animal, Midgie (it's a she-wolf) loved to play with stray dogs in the area and didn't mind being petted by the kids around here," said Sorbelli.

Midgie, who was raised as a pet from cubhood, was weaned on a bottle, he explained.

* * *

"The wolf could be dangerous," according to Undersheriff Donald Francis. "It isn't likely to attack people but probably will go after livestock if it is loose and hungry," he added.

* * *

Sorbelli said he thinks Midgie was toten from her pen. He said it looked like someone slipped the chain from the wolf's collar and removed it from the pen.

Driver Doesn't Know What Happened Either

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Joseph Hetler hurried to the scene after a car ran through a front yard, hit a car parked in the driveway and smashed into the corner of a brick house.

The driver was still seated in the car.

"What happened?," the deputy asked.

Hetler said the motorist — who later admitted he had been drinking—replied:

"I don't know. I just got here myself."

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Meller, D.V.M.

Q. I purchased a Yellow Wing Conure dwarf parrot. It was guaranteed to talk in six months, but so far all he does is squawk. Do these birds ever talk? R. H. Cooper, N. P. C.

A. Dwarf parrots, as a group, are not known for their talking ability. As a matter of fact, it is quite rare to find a good talker among them.

People usually keep them for their dexterity at learning tricks, such as rolling over on their backs or climbing ladders. You could ask the pet store owner to make good his guaranty.

I hope that you have the guaranty in writing and that the bird was marked with the store's identification, so they can't deny that it is the same bird sold you. Or you could keep and enjoy this lovely pet for what it is, even though it doesn't talk.

Guilty in Burglary of Hardware Store

A jury found 26-year-old George Theobald guilty yesterday in Circuit Court of burglarizing a Pontiac Township hardware store over the Christmas weekend.

Theobald, of 9585 Eaton Road, Independence Township, was arrested Dec. 26 by sheriff's deputies.

He broke into Walters Hardware store at 3898 Joslyn Road and stole several power tools.

Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland deferred sentencing until Feb. 27, and remanded Thobald to the county jail.

Creative People Hurt Themselves, Says Ad Man

DENVER—Creative people frequently bar their own way to position in top management, Charles F. Adams, executive vice president of Mac Manus, John & Adams, Inc., Bloomfield Hills, told members of the Rocky Mountain Council of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

Adams cited these self-imposed limitations:

1. Lack of belief in advertising as a career worthy of the creative person's entire time and effort.

2. They isolate themselves behind drawing board and typewriter, making little or no effort to participate in the processing and sale of their work.

3. Show no interest in anything beyond the immediate creative assignment.

4. Often change jobs for the sake of change or for a few extra dollars.

Radiation Is Blamed for 'Wet Dog Taste'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reports on the preservation of food by irradiation bring different opinions from opposite sides of the Atlantic, the American Chemical Society reports.

* * *

American researchers report that while radiation does indeed produce detectable changes in the flavor of meat, the public may still become accustomed to it. But British scientists report that radiation imparts to meat a "wet dog taste."

Defendant Taxes Judge's Patience

BOSTON (UPI) — Judges should write brief opinions in deciding cases, according to Chief Justice J. Edgar Murdock of the Tax Court of the United States.

* * *

To illustrate his point, he told the Massachusetts Bar Association of a tax court case in which a taxpayer came into court and testified, "As God is my judge, I do not owe this tax."

This, said Murdock, was the judge's written decision:

"He's not. I am. You do."

Accidents Injure Two Motorists on County Roads

Two persons were injured in separate traffic accidents in Oakland County yesterday, Pontiac Police reported today.

Both Richard J. Lalonde, 35, of 28261 Schroeder Road, Farmington, and Lauri A. Laurila, 50, of Detroit, were reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Lalonde sustained possible head and chest injuries when his car collided with another vehicle on Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township last night.

Laurila received possible chest injuries and a lacerated nose when his car crashed into a stop sign on Saginaw Trail at Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

REACTS IN SURPRISE

He told state police he was stopped for the sign when something smashed his windshield. In his surprise, Laurila said, he accelerated his car into the sign.

Lalonde said his car was rammed by a car driven by George A. Jaffray, 49, of 9440 Boncrest St., Union Lake, attempting to make a left turn from the opposite direction, at Northwestern Highway.

State police are investigating both accidents.

Fire Routs 12 People in Ann Arbor Hotel

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Twelve persons were routed from their rooms early today when a raging fire poured dense black smoke through the three stories of the Embassy Hotel in downtown Ann Arbor.

Two residents of the hotel and a fireman were hospitalized for smoke inhalation, but all were reported in good condition.

The fire was spotted at 4:32 a.m. by a passing police patrol car.

The policemen saw black smoke pouring from a basement grating and by the time firemen arrived the smoke was so thick they were unable to locate the source of the blaze.

The flames were brought under control about 1½ hours later. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

* * *

As the most alarming aspect of America's crime problem, J. Edgar Hoover cited the sharp increase in the number of juvenile offenders. Juvenile arrests have reached an all-time high in this country. Arrests of young persons under 18 have doubled since the post-World War II low in 1948.

Explains Why People Were Turned Away

Raymond E. Chouteri, general manager of the Glen Oaks Country Club where Oakland County Republicans held their annual Lincoln Day banquet Thursday night, has issued the following statement.

* * *

"The unfortunate situation in which some persons were turned away from the banquet was in no way due to our establishment, which has been commended by Republican leaders who planned the affair.

"A last-minute overflow, unanticipated by them, was the sole reason for the problem which arose."

* * *

On an over-all basis, juveniles represent 12 per cent of all arrests.

Reflections

ABE LINCOLN and ALASKA

J. L. VOORHEES

Lincoln was a kind man, with a streak of iron; that iron was exemplified in his love of his United States. He knew England wanted Alaska and France was itching to regain her lost possessions. Catherine, of Russia, was friendly to our cause; she did not want Alaska — "It was a worthless piece of ice-covered rock, not worth defending."

Lincoln offered her a ridiculously small sum of money for it. The civil war was reaching a climax. Russia sent war ships to San Francisco and to New York as a friendly gesture, effectively stopping interference.

M. E. SIPLE

Catherine accepted his offer of $7,200,000 for what she had called, "Ice covered rocks." One shipload of gold paid for it.

This transaction was called, "Seward's folly." It added to the ridicule of this wonderful man. He ignored it, brought the conflict to a close. His perception and iron will gave us fifty indivisible states. National pride that reaches a zenith, and wealth that is envied by every Nation on earth.

Lincoln, as a man, as a leader, as a patriot in an ideal of all free men. February 12th is his birthday. Observe it reverently.

Beware of Coupon Book Promotions

Outside promoters sell merchants on the idea of offering free services or merchandise, to the public to attract business.

The free offers are made through coupons, which the promoters sell in book form to the public.

Michigan Dems, GOP Plot Courses Leading to April 3 Election

LANSING (AP) — Republicans and Democrats are tooling up fast for the April 3 election campaign.

★ ★ ★

The 11 GOP candidates for statewide office will assemble here Monday to plan campaign strategy with George M. Van Peursem, the party's new state chairman.

Van Peursem, Zeeland attorney elected at the GOP state convention last week, promised "the most intensive spring campaign in Michigan history."

"Candidates will hit the trail at once," he said.

Democratic candidates held their first strategy session last Sunday, the day after the party convention named Joe Collins, Jackson insurance man, to replace Neil Staebler as state chairman.

A party spokesman said the Democratic candidate team probably will meet again in Detroit next week to discuss campaign issues.

Bloodletting Kills Mount Pleasant Man

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The ancient remedy of bloodletting killed a 79-year-old rural Mount Pleasant man this morning, the county coroner said.

Thomas Kozlowski was found dead in his home, 10 miles northeast of here, by his wife Sophie.

There was a cut across the inside of his left elbow joint. Mrs. Kozlowski said he had often let his own blood to treat illness. He hadn't been feeling well, she said.

Isabella County Coroner Dr. Frank Johnson said the knife had severed a major blood vessel, and the elderly man died from a loss of blood.

Johnson termed the death an accident.

U. S. to Remove Secrecy Cloud on Sputnik VII

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration will lift a veil of secrecy shortly and disclose what it knows about Russia's Friendship Sputnik VII, House Government Information investigators said today.

There has been speculation that the week-old satellite carried a man.

Supports Action to Lure Tourists

JFK Tells Senator Proposed Travel Office Needs Top Personnel

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has thrown his full support behind legislation to create an office of international travel to lure foreign tourists to the United States.

★ ★ ★

His views were expressed Friday in a letter to Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee, who has introduced a bill to set up such an office.

Kennedy wrote that the proposed travel office "should be allowed to attract personnel of superior caliber."

"For this reason," he said, "it is my thought that the director's salary and status might well be elevated from the relatively low level now indicated in the bill to the rank of assistant secretary of commerce."

The President praised the legislation as being in line with objectives outlined in his State of the Union message.

He said it would "open up a long-neglected channel of improving international understanding of the United States," and would help offset the drain on U.S. gold reserves and dollars.

Real Space Chimp Is Just a Chump

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The chimpanzee Ham didn't make the recent flight into space and back. It was the Chimpanzee Chang.

The Kalamazoo Gazette got the tip on this Thursday and checked it out. And sure enough, Chang made the flight, not Ham.

★ ★ ★

Five-year-old Ham got too big to fit the space rocket's capsule, so 4-year-old Chang was substituted. Ham is now at the Yerkus Laboratory of Comparative Psychology.

Capt. Lester M. Zinser, flight training chief at Western Michigan University, and Col. Charles Harris, public information officer at Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico, confirmed Chang made the space flight.

Zinser spent a month at Holloman last year helping train Ham, Chang and about a dozen other chimps to be space pilots.

★ ★ ★

Zinser assumed Chang was called Ham for the flight because of his acting ability. But he doesn't like Chang's being made a chump when he's really a chimp champ and Ham just a psychology student.

Cites Circulation Gain of Daily Newspapers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association Friday told delegates to the Ohio Newspaper Association convention that daily newspaper circulation has increased 52 per cent in the last 25 years.

★ ★ ★

Stanford Smith said that critics and skeptics say that newspapering is a shrinking industry, but, he pointed out, the decline in the number of dailies has been only 10 per cent in the last 25 years.

He Should Introduce His Bride

By The Emily Post Institute

Question: A friend of ours recently married a young woman from another city who is a stranger to us all. They will live here when they return from their honeymoon. We received an announcement from the bride's parents. Should we, his friends, go and call on the bride upon their return, or should he take her around to meet his friends?

Answer: He should either take her to meet his friends, or give a cocktail or other party in her honor at which these friends could meet her.

★ ★ ★

Question: We are having a dinner at one of the big hotels on our 25th wedding anniversary. The invitations were sent out with RVSP on them but to date several of the guests have not replied and it is necessary that I let the hotel know for just how many to provide. Would it be proper to telephone those who have not replied to ask for a definite answer, or should it be taken for granted that they are not coming?

Answer: It is not only proper, but necessary that you telephone those who have not replied and say, "Not having heard from you, I wondered whether you received our invitation?"

Question: My son is going to be married soon. The wedding is to take place in the forenoon. I am going to wear a lace dress and had planned on wearing a rhinestone necklace and earrings with it. My sister claims that rhinestones are not properly worn in the daytime. Is she right about this?

Answer: Ordinarily, it is true, rhinestones are not worn in the morning. For that matter neither is a lace dress. But a wedding is an exception and a small amount of rhinestone jewelry, if becoming to your dress, would be quite all right.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail.

Club Will Dance

The Allemanders Square Dance Club will meet this evening at the John Pierce Junior High School.

Sam Joan will conduct a workshop beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The group will welcome guests for the evening.

Don't Finish Work...Do It!

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — We have a delightful young woman who comes to clean up our apartment twice a week. This is quite wonderful, and I don't know what we'd do without her, but it entails a good deal of work.

Naturally, we don't want her to see the place in a mess; she might think us slovenly. So on Tuesdays and Fridays, we rise early and frenziedly set things to rights—tossing out old papers and magazines, fluffing up cushions, emptying ashtrays.

So that Helen won't suspect our machinations, we leave the breakfast dishes for her—after rinsing them to an exquisite sparkle. We also, with calculated carelessness, leave an occasional bedroom slipper in the hall or allow a washcloth to slide casually into the tub, so that she won't think we're trying to impress her.

"This is ridiculous," said my husband, of Tuesday a.m. when he found me removing a spot from the living room carpet. So saying, he absentmindedly picked up a sofa cushion and turned it to its cleaner side, adding, "and it is illogical."

Whatever it is, I used to suspect that we were lone idiots in our guilty prec1eaning habits, but it is not true. Not only do most of our friends join with us in the last-minute hectic attempt to achieve respectability in the eyes of those whom they employ — most of the housewives in America do.

They tend to feel guilty, when the house is not shipshape, regardless of who drops in: plumber, mailman, neighbor or brush salesman. Makes no difference who the caller is, and whether he was expected or came as a shock, the American missus almost invariably finds herself apologizing.

"I'm sorry everything's such a mess," is one of the most common cliches ever used in this country. It is such an automatic statement to make when company comes that many a woman finds the phrase slipping out, from habit, even when her house is freshly decorated, spotless, with clean guest towels dangling from new gold-plated bathroom fixtures.

Miss Elizabeth Wiegand, a professor at the New York State College of Home Economics, Cornell University, recently interviewed 98 "typical" homemakers. She discovered the majority of them were "very tired." And what made the very tired women disturbed as well as fatigued was their inability to complete all the work they had scheduled for themselves.

"Don't feel guilty about work that's incomplete," Miss Wiegand warns. "If your home were a business, you'd want work to be going on—not done. Business people worry when there's nothing to do."

So look at your home like a business.

"Alter your standards of work. Don't be a perfectionist.

"And be pleased by what you accomplish, rather than disturbed by what remains to be done. Husbands, sons and daughters prefer happy homemakers to spotless homes."

With this advice in mind, I decided to stop being such a perfectionist. I slept, restlessly, late. When Helen arrived there were stubs in the ashtrays, papers on the floor, egg in the egg cups, the old plaguing guilt in my innards. "I'm sorry," I said, of course. "Everything's such a mess."

"Oh, that's okay," she said, smiling and looking unusually pleased. "I feel guilty taking your money when there's not enough to do . . ."

'Obey' Usually Left Out

Yes, Both Take SAME Vow

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This is probably the silliest letter you've ever received, but I don't know where else to get the answer.

My husband says that in a marriage ceremony, the wife promises to love, honor and OBEY her husband, but the husband doesn't promise to love, honor and OBEY his wife. I say that the husband and wife take the same vows. Who is right?

ABBY

BIG ARGUMENT

DEAR BIG: In recent years, the word "obey" has been dropped from most marriage ceremonies. But according to Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen (and judges, who perform civil ceremonies) the husband and wife take the SAME vows.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law is killing my son. All she knows about is the can opener. He hasn't had a square meal since he married her, except at my house. She doesn't have a schedule for anything. She washes when she feels like it, never mends anything.

If things get torn or ripped, she throws them away and buys new. When she's home, she's talking on the telephone. When she's not home, she's gossiping with the neighbors.

I offered to teach her to cook, sew and keep house, but she tells me she's not the type. Is there any way I can help her? Or should I just leave her alone? My son can't find any fault with her.

SOMEBODY'S MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR-MOTHER-IN-LAW: If your son is satisfied, then he deserves what he's getting. Don't waste your sympathy on a contented ostrich, and don't try to educate someone who is blissfully ignorant.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Some women lose their husbands because they nag too much. I lost mine because I didn't nag enough.

When Bill drank a little too much, and came home hours after every respectable place in town was locked up, I held my tongue because I detest scenes. I thought the most important thing in the world was keeping "peace."

I was wrong. Please tell other young wives that when their husbands start to get out of line to raise Holy Ned. A man will get away with as much as he can. I kept the peace for 14 years, but I lost my husband.

HINDSIGHT

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BUD": A very wise man once said, "Remember — on the day of your death, everything you possess in the world will belong to somebody else. But what you are will be yours forever."

What's Your Best Trait?

How about you? Do you have the qualities others like? One reader wrote, "I like the person with a sense of humor. These people give you a lift and take the heck out of the hecticness of daily life."

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I know you are interested in what my readers write to me. Today I am going to quote from a few of these letters.

★ ★ ★

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I read your article recently about personality. You asked that we tell you what we like most in others.

"I am not an authority on personality but I like the person who is relaxed and jovial — or a man who is liked by BOTH men and women — or a woman who can be poised and charming but who can 'let her hair down' and be a good sport on occasions."

★ ★ ★

Another reader said, "Some lucky people have the quality of making others feel at ease. I think this is the most charming and fascinating characteristic of all. Even when you first meet these people you feel that they are truly friendly and warm and are not putting on an act."

Another — "I like the person with a sense of humor. These people give you a lift and take the heck out of the hecticness of daily life. They are wonderful companions, fun to be with and to live with."

One reader wrote to me "It seems such a shame that so few mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law have a really happy relationship.

"I think it is more usually the mother-in-law's fault, although of course, there are some absolutely impossible daughters-in-law.

★ ★ ★

"My daughter-in-law is darling to me and we are congenial and fond of one another but, just the same, I am very careful not to do or say anything she could possibly construe as interfering with the life of her and my son."

★ ★ ★

"You said in your column that housewives nowadays have more to do than women of the past. (I was thinking of all of the school and civic and social activities).

"Women before the days of the vacuum cleaner and the washing machine had to work harder. Rugs were swept with brooms; clothes and even blankets, were washed on washboards. Cookies were baked at home and there were no frozen foods. Much hand work and mending was done.

"It seems to me that too many wives envy the career girl, yet they are glad to be married. Having children and making a home are wonderful careers and require ability and brain."

★ ★ ★

Hire a 'Silent Butler'

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones have found a new butler who has promised not to say — or write — a word about life in the royal household.

Frederick Collier, a quiet bachelor in his late fifties, signed a pledge of silence before assuming his duties at Kensington Palace.

He replaces Thomas Cronin, who quit Princess Margaret's service after difficulties with her commoner husband and then wrote a series of articles for a Sunday newspaper telling all about it.

Cronin, who now buttles for a Miami, Fla., sports club, complained particularly that Armstrong-Jones used to snap his fingers to summon him.

Kensington Palace tried to keep the new appointment quiet but when the news leaked out a spokesman confirmed Collier had been hired.

★ ★ ★

Collier has a long string of references. He was butler to Earl Mountbatten, Princess Margaret's cousin, until the death last year of Lady Mountbatten.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gertrude Anderson of the Missionaides was guest speaker at the Feburary meeting of the Rosary Altar Society and the general guilds of Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

Mrs. Anderson Guest Speaker

White material is made into bandages and hospital gowns at the Missionaide headquarters on Myrtle Street. Bibles, reading material, cancelled stamps, usable clothing and furnishings are needed.

The Rev. Francis X. Hoffer, OFM, will be morning speaker at an all-day Institute of the North Oakland Deanery, National Council of Catholic Women, Feb. 21 at St. Benedict Church. A free luncheon will be served at noon.

Mary Martha Guild will be acting chairman for the April 3 Easter luncheon-card party in the school gymnasium and Rosary Guild is sponsoring a similar party May 18 in the parish hall. The Wrigley luncheon-card party date has been changed to June 13.

★ ★ ★

An all-parish post-Lenten dance is being planned by the Dad's Club, the date to be announced later.

Talks About Civil Defense

David Teel spoke concerning the civil defense program at the weekly meeting of the Fashionette Club in Adah Shelly Library.

Mrs. Albert Lovse won the trophy for the greatest weight loss for the previous week. Mrs. Edward Cook was last week's winner.

A Valentine party will follow next week's meeting.

All area women with a weight problem are invited to Tuesday evening meetings from 7 to 9 p.m. in Adah Shelly Library. There are no membership dues as the group is sponsored by the Pontiac Park and Recreation Department.

Stuffed Flank Steak Is Economical and Tasty

By JANET ODELL

If you have never used flank steak, here's a recipe to get you acquainted with it. It's a good oven dish, or it can be simmered on top of the stove as directed in the recipe.

Interesting Facts About NATURAL GAS

1858 FIRST NATURAL GAS CORPORATION

In 1858, the first Natural Gas Corporation was formed near Fredonia, New York. Not until 53 years after its discovery was Natural Gas used industrially—another 50 years before many people began to benefit from this wonderful fuel. Today, a century later, millions of Americans enjoy this "stored sunshine"!

1958 NATURAL GAS 28% OF UNITED STATES ENERGY

In 1900, Gas supplied only about 3% of the total energy needs of the nation! After 1920, its growth was greatly expanded by the development of transmission pipe (to carry the Gas to market) and the demand for a superior, low-cost fuel. This obliging Giant now supplies more than ¼ of the wealth-producing energy of the nation!

1960 CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY'S GAS EXPANSION PROGRAM EXCEEDED $35,000,000.

Consumers Power Company maintains a continuous expansion program of its Gas facilities to meet the ever-increasing demands of homes, factories and commercial establishments that are finding this clean, low-cost fuel so adaptable to today's better way of life.

CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

Today 8 out of 10 new homes are heated by Gas—

Only about 1.5 per cent of Rhode Island's labor force is engaged in farming.

Says to Relearn the Art of Aging

Woman Tells Church Units They Should Aid in Vocational Training

The lost art of growing old gracefully should be learned again, a prominent churchwoman told the recent White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D.C. Urging that church groups help prepare people for their older years, Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel recommended training in new vocations and developing new interests. A former vice president of the National Council of Churches and national leader of United Church Women, Mrs. Wedel is chairman of the NCC Broadcasting and Film Commission.

* * *

"To me, one of the saddest results of the American accent on youth is the way it has led so many people to fear growing old," she told the conference.

She pointed out that many people in their productive years are "too busy" to watch their health or plan for their financial security. After going around in a narrow circle of interests, friends and business relationships, they suddenly find themselves retired and alone.

Psychological tests show that older people are just as adept at learning as younger people, she continued, and need only to be guided into new interests and friendships.

In this area, the responsibility for successfully meeting this problem of American society lies on the churches' doorstep. "When people get information through a familiar channel, such as their church," Mrs. Wedel declared, "they believe what they hear, and follow the advice given them."

* * *

The Rev. Dr. William J. Villaume, executive director of the National Council's Department of Social Welfare, represented the Protestant churches on the conference section on religion. Eleven other council executives attending represented its Division of Christian Life and Work, Christian education and United Church Women.

Pick Pat Boone to Head Week

Singer Will Chairman 17th Annual Sunday School Observance

Pat Boone will serve as national chairman for the 17th annual observance of National Sunday School Week, April 10-16.

The announcement was made by Charles R. Sligh Jr., president of the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., the interfaith organization which sponsors the week. The theme for the observance is: "Sunday School—Guide to Faith."

On accepting the chairmanship of the week, Boone said, "In the Communist world, everyone serves the state. In our world, we serve God and each other.

"A hundred years ago, when Abraham Lincoln was sworn in as president, he said, 'Intelligence, patriotism . . . and a firm reliance on Him who has never yet forsaken this favored land, are still competent to adjust in the best way all our present difficulty.'

★ ★ ★

"Those words still hold, like an imbedded anchor. Therefore, I am happy to serve as national chairman for this year's observance of National Sunday School Week.

"Sunday Schools are needed more than ever as a 'Guide to Faith' for our nation's young people, who will be the citizens and leaders of tomorrow.

"Still better, I suggest that Sunday School be a weekly ritual for the whole family."

J. Edgar Hoover Says:

Expose Child to Sunday School

The following paragraphs are from a letter written by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to his friend Cyril W. McClean, an Oakland attorney, in reply to the question, "Shall I force my child to go to Sunday School?" This article was first published in The Tribune in 1955 and its reprinting has been requested by numecrus churches.

By J. EDGAR HOOVER

Let me tell you of the experience of one juvenile court judge who, over a period of eight years, had some 8,000 boys and girls under 17 years of age brought before him for violating the law.

Of those 8,000 delinquent children only 42 regularly attended Sunday School.

Perhaps even more striking is his finding that none of these children had a mother or a father who attended Sunday School or church regularly.

Should those 42 delinquents have been sought out and rejected because some motive other than religious conviction brought them into the Sunday School fold? Certainly not.

It is the whole objective of Sunday School training to turn such young people toward God — to make them truly religious adherents.

★ ★ ★

When this is accomplished they will attend services simply as an essential part of their scheme of living. But this is not an overnight objective.

★ ★ ★

The individual must be subjected to the Sunday School influence over a period of time to bring it about. Thus every motive that will bring new members to the Sunday School, no matter what their degree of conviction at the time, should be exploited to the utmost.

How else shall the uninstructed child be exposed to the influence of Christian principles? How shall he have opportunity to know the rewards of a Christian way of life?

It is particularly essential that early childhood be afforded the influence of the Sunday School, for these influences brought to bear in the formative years will determine much of the whole course of future behavior.

The youth who has experienced old-fashioned Christian training and discipline in the home, and has received sound, efficient Bible teaching in the Sunday School has been given a sword and buckler against temptation.

MUST BE INSPIRED

No matter how brilliant a student he may be of ethics or philosophy in the secular sense, he must receive the inspiration of sincere religious conviction if he is to be protected from the rampant ideology of materialism which leads to lack of moral responsibility and lawlessness.

The Sunday School teachers of the nation are doing a truly magnificent job. They are insuring that the child who is so fortunate as to come into the Sunday School fold receives instruction in the Word of God, the unequaled guide to righteous living and faith in the future.

They are laying "upon a rock" the foundations of Christian character in their disciples, the Sunday School scholars. Our hopes for the future are in their hands.

Surely no parent can be blind to the creeping paralysis of secularism and materialism which continues to infect the moral fiber of the world.

★ ★ ★

Surely every parent worthy of the name will recognize the essential part Sunday School training must play in developing Christian ideals and staunch moral stability in the children whose moral character and philosophy of life are their parents' most pressing responsibility.

★ ★ ★

Let us place their trust in the Sunday school and their Sunday School teacher. Not only will their children become better men and women for the Sunday School's training, but the nation will become a better nation, and the world a better place.

The banners of Christ can lead the way to the moral and spiritual rebirth of our great nation. In the forefront of His banner-bearers are the Sunday Schools.

Profs to Study Religion

CAMBRIDGE, Mass (AP)—Professors from across the country will do the homework here at the sixth Faculty Summer School in Theology and Religion.

It will be held at the Episcopal Theological School July 26 to Aug. 30 to relate scholarly research to the Christian faith.

It is thy duty oftentimes to do what thou wouldst not; thy duty, too, to leave undone what thou wouldst do. — Thomas a Kempis.

School Heads Favor Bible in Classroom

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly three out of four public school superintendents polled by an educational magazine say they favor Bible readings in the classroom.

★ ★ ★

The Nation's Schools, a professional journal, asked the superintendents: "Do you believe that reading from the Bible (any Christian version)—without interpretation or comment — should be permitted in the public school classrooms?

Favorable replies totaled 72 per cent. Opposed: 28 per cent.

May Canonize Negro

ROME (AP)—Steps now underway at the Vatican indicate that canonization may be near for Martin de Porres, the Negro lay brother of Peru who rose from illegitimate birth to become a leader in efforts for interracial justice and one of the most influential men of his country.

"Searching the Scriptures"
Roosevelt Wells, Evangelist
"SOURCE OF AUTHORITY IN RELIGION"
God's Word Only, or God's Word Plus?

What is our source of authority in religion? Is it the word of God, or is it the pronouncement of some man or church? Until religious people can determine this principle, many will continue in hopeless confusion.

After Christ had taught the apostles intensively, He commissioned them to carry on His word. He did not trust their fallible human memories, but for complete accuracy of teaching He promised "the Holy Spirit shall teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I said unto you" (John 14:26). Since they were inspired by the Holy Spirit, their teaching was identical with that of Christ, whether their teaching was oral or written. They were soon inspired to commit their oral teaching to writing, for Paul said, "when ye read, ye can perceive my understanding in the mystery of Christ" (Eph. 3:4). Furthermore, he warned them "not to go beyond the things which are written" (I Cor. 4:6).

How perfect and complete was this word? Peter said, "His divine power hath granted unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness" (2 Peter 1:3). Jesus wrote of the message as the "the perfect law" (James 1:25). Paul said, "I shrank not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God" (Acts 20,27), and "every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction which is in righteousness; that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work" (2 Tim. 3:16,17). God's word is perfect and complete.

BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

Sunday School Set for Community Hall

Beginning tomorrow Sunday School for the Lutheran Church of the Incarnate Word will meet at 9:30 a.m. in Community Hall, 220 S. Squirrel Road instead of the Elementary School in Auburn Heights.

Mrs. James Wood and Mrs. Erben Hupp will be in charge of the altar for the next four weeks. The Senior Choir will rehearse at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday at Community Hall.

Junior Choir and Confirmation Classes will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday at the parsonage, 2364 Mulberry Road.

Methodists Gain Pupils

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Enrollment in the 136 colleges, universities, seminaries and other schools related to the Methodist church is rising slowly — 2.7 per cent last year — but is not keeping up with the over-all national growth in student bodies — up 4.4 per cent last year, the church's board of education reports.

The denomination's Sunday school enrollment declined a half of one per cent last year.

Floyd Miles Will Speak

The Gideons will have charge of the morning worship at 10:30 Sunday at the First Church of God, 25 S. East Blvd. with Floyd Miles of Christian Literature Sales, the speaker. Pastor E. D. Johnson will be the speaker at the Detroit Area Ministers' meeting at Northwestern Church of God at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Negro Week to Be Observed

New Bethel Baptist Church will observe National Negro Week with the pastor, the Rev. Amos G. Johnson, bringing a message from the "The Three Blocks of Life" at the morning worship hour.

At 3:30 p. m. the Rev. Ebenezer Abboa-Offed of a Presbyterian Church in Ghana will be guest speaker.

James Stephens will introduce Mrs. M. G. Baker when she speaks on "Heritage" at 7 p. m.

Her subject will be an historical monologue expounding the struggle of the American Negro to escape the depths of slavery, and rise to the heights of freedom spiritually, economically and socially.

Mrs. Booker T. Yancey will present the "Contemporary," showing the rapid rise of the American Negro in all professions, careers and occupations; and the intellectual maturity of the Negro in the American social order.

Mrs. Arthur Jackson will present Dr. Henry L. Jenkins in the third address of the evening.

With the subject, "Challenge" Dr. Jenkins will speak of the charge to reassess moral values, realign direction; and to place responsibility for the inspiration that must be given to youth so they might know their spiritual and intellectual obligations to themselves.

This would continue the progressive evolution of the American Negro into the religious, economic and social order of the United States of America, the pastor said.

TRINITY BAPTIST

Pastor Joseph W. Moore will preach on "A Christian Business Woman" at the 3:30 afternoon service Sunday when the congregation of Trinity Baptist Church worships with the Newman AME Church. Music will be furnished by the combined choirs of Trinity.

★ ★ ★

"The City Had 12 Gates" will be Pastor Moore's sermon topic at 11 a. m.

At 7 p. m. Trinity members will observe Negro History Week at a union service at New Bethel Baptist Church. Pastor Moore will give a report on integration in the Southern States. The Senior Choir will sing.

Mrs. Doloris Graves who has served as church secretary at Trinity for the past three years was given a certificate of appreciation at the annual meeting of Trinity Baptist.

An active member of the Carolyn Donaldson Missionary Society, she also assists the pastor in community and denominational activities. She has three children, Valerie, Spurgeon Jr. and Gary.

Evangelist O. L. Smith to Speak on 'Prophecy'

Evangelist O. L. Smith will speak on "Prophecy" on Sunday evenings for the next few weeks at the Church of Christ, 87 Lafayette St. The time is 7 p.m.

Formerly of Joplin, Mo., Evangelist Smith will make his home in Michigan. He will consider the following subjects in his sermons, "The Women and the Dragon," "The Two Beasts," "Image of the Beast," "Babylon the Great," and "The Binding of Satan."

Capt., Mrs. Parson Coming to Pike St.

Capt. and Mrs. Howard Parson of Selfridge Field will speak at both services of the Pike Street Church of God Sunday.

Capt. Parson has just returned from East Kirkby, England where he was stationed at the Royal Air Force Station in Chilveston for three years.

While there he did base Sunday School work along with serving as pastor of two churches. He also visited churches in Germany.

Bloomfield Hills Baptists Observe Gideon Day

Gideon Day will be observed tomorrow by the Bloomfield Hills Baptist Church with a group of Bible-distributing Gideons in charge of the service at 6 p.m.

Joseph Spires will speak of their work. Jack Maher will be evening soloist.

"The Temple Cleansed" is the title of the sermon the Rev. Wallace A. Alcorn will preach at the morning service. The pastor's sermon for children will be "The Man From Outer Space."

Gideons began in 1898 when a group of traveling salesman met in a small hotel in Boscobel, Wis. and agreed that every hotel room should have a Bible.

In addition to providing Bibles for hotels, the group is now distributing New Testament portions to hospitals, schools and the Armed Forces.

Protestants Teaching Puerto Ricans English

"We don't speak the same language," the old barrier to communication between neighbors in many American cities, has aroused the concern of church women in the Greater Springfield (Mass.) Council of Churches.

The Council already conducts the North End Area Ministry (N E A M), in a predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican community, under the Rev. Hugh Wire. Citing the success of the English-teaching project of United Church Women in Hartford, Conn., his wife, Mrs. Anne Wire, now is organizing a similar program for NEAM.

In announcing a meeting, Mrs. Wire describes the case of a Puerto Rican woman whose husband had a phone put in so she could call him at his job when her baby was due.

However, as she didn't know how to ask for him, she had to wait until he came home—at the last minute.

Watching television in the home of another housewife was frustrating, said Mrs. Wire, as the woman could not follow what was going on from the pictures alone nor discuss the program later.

★ ★ ★

She explained that Puerto Rican children learn English in no time at school and the men learn on their jobs. "But housewives are frustrated personally by having no part, not even a listening part, in English-speaking America."

★ ★ ★

All teachers would be required to attend 10 sessions of courses under an instructor trained in the Laubach method of teaching a second language, said the announcement. Assignments would be made after separate consultations with pupil and teacher before the two met. In follow-up meetings of teachers, plans would also be made for community activities, parties and trips.

★ ★ ★

"In establishing some degree of rapport in a person-to-person way," said Mrs. Wire, "we can also demonstrate the Chirstian concern of the Protestant community for all our citizens."

College Mergers Are Advocated

Church Schools Lack Facilities and Money, Educator Declares

Too few students, too little working capital, inadequate physical plants and shamefully underpaid staffs plague so many denominational colleges that mergers among them would be "a major step forward," a large group of college presidents were told this month.

In his address to the third annual meeting of the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities, Dr. Earl McGrath declared: "The current trend in merging Protestant church bodies seems to me inevitable and desirable, and their educatinnal institutions might well be the vanguard of this movement."

Executive officer of the Institute of Higher Education at Teachers College of Columbia University, New York, Dr. McGrath is a former U.S. Commissioner of Education.

While doctrinal differences may exist in some denominations which support educational institutions, he continued, mergers among them should be possible without violating the fundamental religious convictions of their students.

The church-related colleges, which once provided virtually all higher education for American youth, have been steadily losing their once preeminent position, Dr. McGrath warned. This he laid to life, the demoralizing effect of the depression years on tuition-charging institutions, the demands of industry for technical rather than general education and the steady expansion of state-supported schools.

"The Christian college has a unique opportunity to show how order can be restored in the present chaos in higher education by building its program on an explicit philosophy," he declared, callsing for a renewed emphasis on church - relationship and a rededication to the true purpose of liveral education.

The Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities, formed in 1959, is related to the Commission on Higher Education of the National Council of Churches.

At its meeting in Denver, Colo., Dr. Clemens Granskou, president of St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn., was elected its new president.

Providence Has Guests

Group 1 of the St. James Missionary Baptist Church is sponsoring a breakfast at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Jesse L. Jonts, 250 Harrison St. from 8 to noon Sunday.

Your Neighbor's House

Provincial Furniture a Feature of C. M. Bouck Home

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Mrs. Clifford Bouck had spent 2 hours shoveling out her side driveway so that we could park easily — and we came in the front drive! You know what they say about some days . . .

★ ★ ★

Built on an irregular corner lot at the intersection of West Walton and Silverhill, the Bouck home nestles into the hillside. Across the road, beyond houses on the shore, there is a good view of Silver Lake.

★ ★ ★

The Boucks did not build their house, but bought it from a couple who had lived in it only 6 months after building it. The Boucks have one married son and two grandchildren living in this area.

This is a serene house. Mrs. Bouck has added many individual touches with unusual flower and plant arrangements. She is the sort of woman who waits for a room accessory until she gets exactly the right thing.

One of these special accessories is in the living room. It's a pole lamp behind the gold Provincial sofa. The bulbs on the brass rod are tube shaped with teardrops of amber spraying up around each one.

★ ★ ★

The coffee table in front of the fruitwood sofa has a gray and brown marble top. A brass ash tray and candy dish are exactly right for decoration on the top. One end table has a leather top. On the sofa there is a collection of little cushions in shades of purple, coral and beige.

The living room has beige textured carpeting. Walls are pale cream. The drop cove ceiling is white. Gold floor length draperies cover the large picture window in the living room and the smaller picture window is the dining area.

Slate, framed in stone, makes the raised hearth for the fireplace. The stone of the chimney is beige fieldstone. In front of the hearth is a hooked rug.

★ ★ ★

Three emerald green arm chairs and an armless beige, brown and gold chair provide plenty of seating space for this room.

Fruitwood furniture in a Provincial design is used in the dining area also. The chairs are covered with tapestry in a small flower design. Over the table is a hanging brass fixture.

On the long wall there is an antiqued white mirror with matching sconces flanking it. The big philodendron plant near the window Mrs. Bouck raised from a "pup." She has a green thumb.

YELLOW KITCHEN

Tile on the kitchen floor is gray with big yellow diamond inserts. The walls, counter tops and splash backs are yellow. Cupboards are birch. Curtains are beige with a turquoise and coral design.

There's a small breakfast table for 2 near the back door. Above it is a black iron swing-out holder with glass containers of philodendron. Chairs are maple.

The bathroom is blue. A long mirror is mounted over the vanity which has a speckled blue top. The unglazed chintz curtains are beige, blue and gold in a flowered design.

In the master bedroom there is gold carpeting. Walls are white. Curtains and bed ruffles are made of matching material which combines beige, green and muted red. The curtains are hung on brass rods.

★ ★ ★

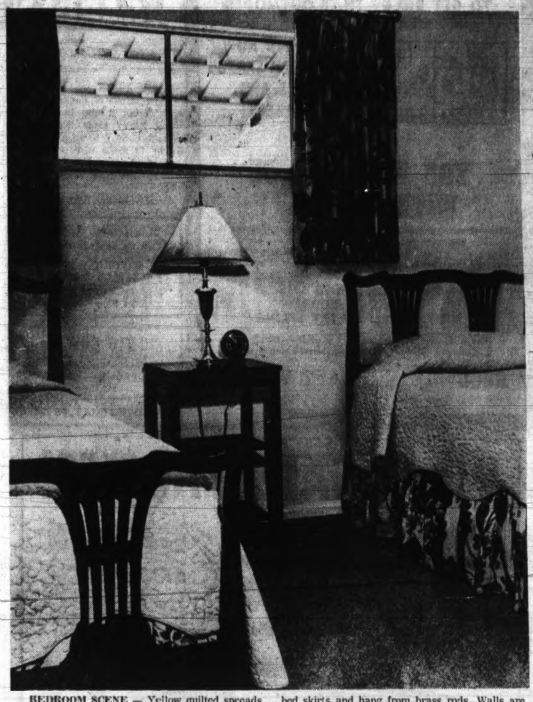
Traditional mahogany furniture is used. Opposite the beds is an easy chair set next to a small dropleaf table.

The guest room at the front of the house has pink walls. In here the floor is polished oak. Mrs. Bouck uses white scatter rugs. There's a brown upholstered chair near the window.

From the pink flowered curtains she cut some of the larger designs to decorate the vanity and as a protection under lamps and the crystal bedside clock. The wee artificial flower arrangement on the vanity carries out the color scheme of the curtains.

★ ★ ★

The exterior of the Bouck house is brick. Metal awnings are used on south and west windows, as well as over the front entrance.



BEDROOM SCENE — Yellow quilted spreads with scalloped edges are used over beige, green and muted red ruffled skirts. Curtains match the bed skirts and hang from brass rods. Walls are white, carpeting is gold and the furniture mahogany.

Biggest Flower Show to Open in Cobo Hall

A massive array of colorful blossoms. Sedate formal gardens. Unique exhibits. Exciting new competitions.

★ ★ ★

All this awaits visitors to the Cobo Hall Builders Home and Flower Show slated for February 25-March 5. It is presented as a public service feature by the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit.

Hundreds of leading nursery and landscaping artists and florists, as well as more than 500 members of 11 garden organizations are combining efforts with the Department of Parks and Recreation, Michigan Horticultural Society and Builders Association to present the "Garden Path" section of the show.

★ ★ ★

Participating in making arrangements for the expansive garden and flower displays that will add a touch of charm and beauty to the show are the Michigan Botanical Club, Michigan Area African Violet Society, Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, Detroit Audubon Society, Detroit Cactus Society, Detroit Garden Center, Detroit Rose Society, Grosse Pointe Garden Center, Michigan Nut Growers Association and Cranbrook Institute of Science.

An elevated formal English garden, planted entirely with miniature roses, will be presented by the Detroit Rose Society under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Katulski and James W. May.

★ ★ ★

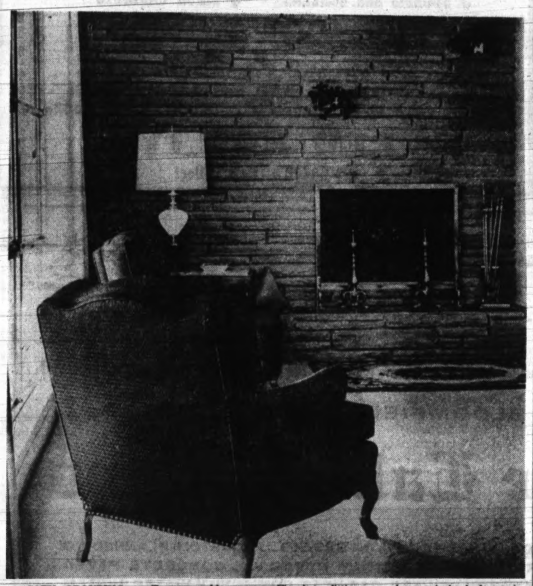
Fabulous pieces of sculpture by prominent local artists will spark the Allied Florists Association's display of individual floral arrangements by more than 100 local florists. Also featured will be the always-popular cut rose display using in excess of 5,000 blossoms. Popular and new varieties will be shown in exciting new arrangements.

★ ★ ★

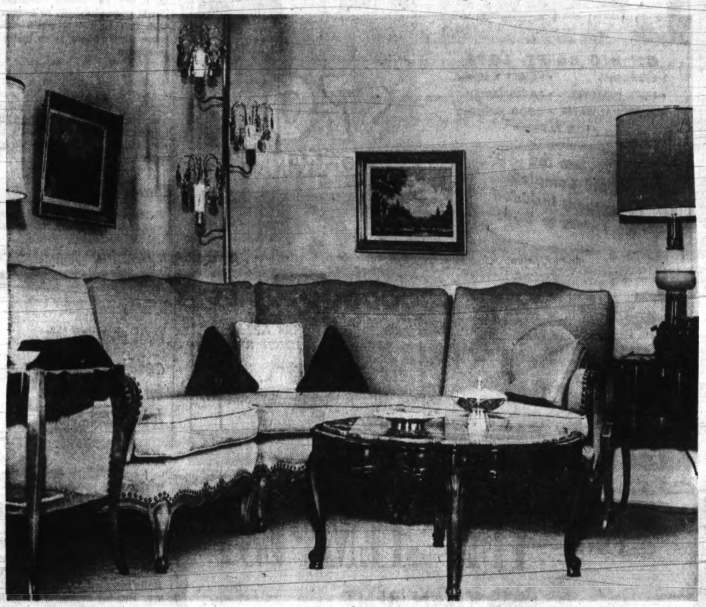
One of the biggest and most exciting features of the "Garden Path" will be the flower arrangement section, colorfully tagged "Accent on Outdoor Living." It is sponsored by the Michigan Horticultural Society under the chairmanship of Mrs. William J. Boustead.

★ ★ ★

The schedule of classes, open to amateur arrangers, includes hanging baskets, redwood planters, table settings, spice cabinets, hanging wall decorations, pedestals, mail-in designs for a dinner plate and a special invitational class.



COZY GROUPING — Two emerald green armchairs are pulled up to face the fireplace. Beige fieldstone is used for the chimney. Slate is recessed into the top of the raised hearth. Fireplace fittings are brass. A hooked rug is placed in front of the fireplace over the beige textured carpeting.



UNUSUAL LAMP—This unusual pole lamp has tubular shaped bulbs mounted on the brass pole. A spray of amber pendants surrounds each light. The curved sectional sofa is fruitwood with gold upholstery. The table at the left has a leather top. Those two shining brass pieces on the marble coffee table repeat the brass of all the lamps.

PROVINCIAL — All the Bouck furniture in the living room and dining room is Provincial. Upholstery on the chairs is a small patterned tapestry. The antiqued white wall mirror and sconces and the lavebo at the right make interesting decorations.

ON SILVERHILL ROAD — The Clifford Bouck home is built on an irregularly shaped lot at the corner of West Walton Boulevard and Silverhill Road. This is the side nearest Silverhill. The builder took advantage of the natural slope of the land to put the garage in the lower level. While metal awnings trim the red brick house. The snow had melted by the time this was taken.

Winter GARDEN NOTES

Snowfall can be a boon or a bane on the landscape, depending upon you!

Snow is one of the best ground covers, but it also is a menace when heavy loads bow favorite plantings. So it is up to the home owner to make sure prized trees and shrubs get as much protection against disfigurement as possible.

F. E. Farrar, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., says snow acts as an insulator, regulating soil temperatures. It also is one of the best means of supplying steady moisture deep down to all plants.

But wet, clinging snow may tax pet boxwood, arborvitae or taxus to the breaking point. Too often branches may be forced to spread. Unhappily, maimed plantings seldom spring back to their original shapes come the Spring. To avoid such home grounds injury, the gardener is urged to tie branches together with a soft rope or to man his broom after the snow storm. By gently brushing off the snow from a burdened plant, top to bottom, much of the threat is dissipated.

There's one stage where the home owner is well advised to gamble on natural plant recovery. That's when snow has frozen to the branches. Inept rescue work is likely to cause more damage than letting nature take its course.

★ ★ ★

Among the best things in life that are free is snow on the home grounds. It's a wonderful supplement to the Fall mulching program. And its blessings outweigh the disadvantages.

★ ★ ★

Anyone can grow a bit of English ivy with the minimum of care. It can be trained to grow up a pole or it may trail from a hanging basket. In the milder climates it will grow outdoors and should be set out in the warm summer rain to revive it periodically.

When grown indoors it does well in diffused light but will grow more slowly on an inside wall. It should be planted in a good planter mix and watered periodically. Never allow the planter mix to get sodden, but let it dry out before watering. It will respond quickly to feeding with fish tablets which will cause flush of new green leaves to appear.

★ ★ ★

Cuttings root easily in a glass of water so you can provide your friends with plants when yours grow too rank. It does best in the bright light near a south or west window, out of the direct sunlight.

Convenience Food

Refrigerated biscuits are wonderful to have on hand for dishes such as this: Heat 1 can (10½ ounces) chicken a la king. Add one-third cup diced cooked ham and 2 tablespoons water; stir now and then. Pour over hot biscuits and serve to 2 or 3 hungry people.

Home Well Needs Purity Safeguard

If, when and how a well that's known to be safe may become contaminated is difficult to predict. The best protection, however, is to have equipment always on guard that will keep the water free of contaminents.

★ ★ ★

One type of purification equipment chlorinates and then dechlorinates the water from the well, effectively killing possible harmful bacteria yet removing objectionable taste and odor before the water reaches the faucet. The operation of this equipment is very simple.

★ ★ ★

An additional safeguard is a "watch dog" mechanism that sounds a buzzer when the purification equipment needs attention. It also shuts off the water supply until additional chlorine is added to the system to assure safe water again.

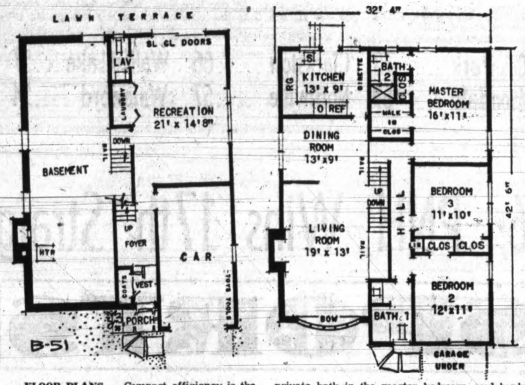
PRETTY AND PRACTICAL — A priority was given size in this split level design, narrow enough to fit almost any lot. But despite its 32'4" width, the home has seven comfortable rooms with 2½ baths.



FLOOR PLANS — Compact efficiency is the theme of B-51. Note the large walk-in closet and private bath in the master bedroom and handy lavatory in the recreation room.

Inexpensive Split Level Goes on Narrow Lot

By DAVID L. BOWEN

For those who have discovered most dream houses suffer sudden deflation when the dreamer tries to buy a lot wide enough for the dream, here's a design guaranteed to survive the test of size.

Even though it's a split level with seven rooms and 2½ baths, the width is only 32' 4". That's narrow enough to fit on a 50-foot lot anywhere, on a 45' under many building codes and perhaps even on a 40-foot plot in some localities.

"We have had more inquiries," says Architect Lester Cohen in explaining the background of House of the Week B-51, "for a narrow lot split with the traditional room arrangement than for any other house plan in our office."

Cohen achieved the remarkable narrow width in this split by stretching the levels deeper than usual, keeping the rooms in line and devising an unusual and attractive stairway system among the four levels.

B-51 avoids one of the common disadvantages of narrow lot homes: it's entrance is centered right in the middle of the front, not set back along the side of the house. And by emphasizing the horizontal lines of the design, the architect has minimized the appearance of narrowness.

There are three bedrooms in the design, with the master bedroom equipped with both a large walk-in closet and a private bath. Living room has fireplace and the front entrance has both a vestibule and a foyer.

Living area of the bedroom and living levels is 1,290 sq. ft. Another sq. ft. of bargain space is added on the grade level.

The living room is 19x13, with the open rail overlooking the entry foyer making the room appear wider. The big bow window at the front adds additional footage as well as a decorative highlight.

Dining room is large enough for company and pleasantly bright with two windows on the side. It also gains space because of the open railing balcony of the bedroom section above.

The kitchen is at the back on the living level and has an efficient U-shaped work counter and a dinette area.

Access to the bedrooms, a half level above the living areas, is through a continuation of the steps up from the foyer. Note that it is not necessary to go into the living room itself to reach the bedrooms: youngsters can clomp in the front door, climb up to the living room landing, and then proceed directly up to the bedrooms without disturbing the living room.

REC ROOM

The big recreation room on the lower level is another of the extra features of B-51. It can be reached either from the front foyer or from the rear yard through sliding glass doors. A tiny but step-saving lavatory is tucked in at one side, along with a laundry alcove.

Five large closets and the walk-in master closet give this home a lot of put-away space. A corner in the handy garage is available for storage of frequently used toys and tools and there is a full basement with plenty of area for additional storage.

Clarkston Rallies for Victory; Barons, Lakers Bow

Milford Hands Top-Ranked Holly First Defeat, 58-51

By CHUCK ABAIR

The Milford basketball team is the talk of the area today after dumping Holly from the unbeaten ranks and probably out of its No. 1 state rating.

Redskin coach Denny Boyle had predicted a big upset at an afternoon pep rally and his fired-up charges proved him an excellent prophet with a convincing 58-51 triumph before a jampacked home crowd.

The setback prevented Holly from clinching a share of the Wayne - Oakland championship and enabled Milford and Clarkston, now deadlocked for 2nd, to retain slim title hopes.

Clarkston came up with a big last quarter rally to whip Northville 66-57, Clarenceville handed slumping Bloomfield Hills a 57-47 beating and Brighton dropped West Bloomfield into the cellar alone with a 63-57 triumph. Bloomfield Hills and Northville had been part of a four-way deadlock for the No. 2 position.

Milford, a 13-point loser at Holly and unimpressive in recent games dropping three of four, was in command right from the opening whistle refusing to fold even when the Broncos battled back for a 36-36 tie midway in the 3rd period. The visitors failed to take the lead then or any other time during the night.

It was a combination of Milford doing everything well and Holly doing very little right. The only trouble the 'Skins had was on the foul line. They might have made it a rout but for 16 misses in 28 attempts including several on 1-and-1 situations. The Broncos couldn't hit shots of any kind.

A big start seemed to give the underdogs the confidence they needed to go with their high pregame spirit. They got off to a 20-11 1st period lead canning 9 of 21 shots from all over the court while Holly was 3-for-18.

The losers had their only good shooting success starting midway in the next quarter cutting the difference to just one at 31-30 at halftime paced by Bob Ennis. It appeared Holly would be ready to take over after the intermission but Ernie Miller and his MHS mates were determined to hold on.

After Holly evened the count, Miller and Ernie Priestly hit successive jump shots and the Redskins maintained the lead 44-40 at the end of the 3rd quarter. Don McKenzie of the Broncos hit the 1st basket of the last session but Milford stayed in command despite missing nine free throws.

Miller, better known for pitching baseballs, had good control of the bigger ball scoring 22 points with a variety of lefthanded flips. Jim Gibson added 12 missing only two of eight floor shots and Tim Kurnick got 11. Bob Oaks had eight and some key rebounds. Priestly excelled on defense pressing Holly star Ron Morlan all the way forcing him to hurry his favorite jump shot. Entering with a 21 average, Morlan totaled only 12 converting only 4-for-20 field goal tries.

★ ★ ★

Boyle called the showing his team's "best all year." He was pleased with his defense which had four men in a zone and Priestly as a chaser. Two others would help crowd Morlan when he got the ball. Milford had the edge on hustle and rebounds getting extra shots over and over and grabbing every loose ball.

Disappointed little Holly skipper Bob Pence had no alibis. "We were outplayed all the way," he commented. He called Laziness on defense one of the big causes for the loss. McKenzie was his top scorer with 18.

Holly had not been pushed hard since an early December game at Bloomfield Hills but never did get much of an offense going. The Broncos made numerous floor violations and bad passes and were constantly losing the ball after taking a rebound or having it stolen.

★ ★ ★

Milford finished with a 31.5 shooting percentage while the Pencemen were just under 26 going 4-for-30 early.

Bill Powell scored 10 of his 22 points as Clarkston posted a 23-11 last period difference. The Wolves, who trailed by three starting the last eight minutes, went ahead to stay with three minutes to play.

Ron Lundy swished 20 and Mike Applegate 12 for CHS. Dan Brown tallied 14, Don Long 13 and Steve Juday 12 in defeat.

Clarenceville raced to a 35-23 halftime advantage and then held off a Bloomfield comeback bid. The winners made a sparkling 46 per cent of their shots while the Barons were under 30.

Tony Giacobazzi led the victors with 15 points and controlled the backboards. Bill Wheeler and Ron Blovet canned 13 apiece, the latter's all in the 1st half. Bruce Billings was high for Bloomfield with 13. Roger Stewart of the losers missed his only two foul tosses after entering the game with a record of 20 straight conversions.

Brighton was in front all the way in a game marred by 53 personal fouls. It was 36-28 at halftime and never closer than five points from then on. Randy Marx garnered 22 and Fred Dymond 11 for Brighton. Dymond fouled out in the 2nd period. Bob Sias rung up 16 and Chuck Christenson 13 for the Lakers.

Wolves instead of lambs were led to the slaughter Friday night at Pontiac Central—Bay City Central's Wolves, that is.

With all 10 varsity players seeing action, everybody scoring except one and five hitting double figures, the Chiefs methodically chopped up the meek Wolfpack, 81-46, in a Saginaw Valley Conference contest at the PCH gymnasium.

Not a single Bay City scalp was left untouched by the time the Chiefs completed the massacre as they raced to their 9th win of the season against four losses and 5th Saginaw Valley victory in eight games.

Despite the lopsided triumph, the defending SVC champions were forced to relinquish their title honors following a two-year reign.

Unbeaten Saginaw High, Michigan's top-ranked Class A prep basketball power, defeated Arthur Hill last night, 59-50, to clinch the Valley crown and break the PCH monopoly. Brian Best tallied 20 points to pace the Trojans to SVC win No. 8 and No. 12 altogether.

The Chiefs became part of a three-way tie for 2nd place with the rout of Bay City and their 2nd triumph over the Wolves was every bit as easy as the 1st meeting when they won by a 70-36 count.

Just like Tuesday's 76-64 decision over Pontiac Northern, the same five boys who broke into double figures against the Huskies did it again yesterday. The totals were arranged differently, however.

Bradell Pritchett scored 17 points, including 9 of 11 at the foul line, to show the way. Dennis Diehm came next with 15, lanky Otto Kennedy collected 14, nimble George Fed added 11 and Clarence Douglas hit for 10.

The Chiefs had 50 team rebounds with Fed setting the pace on 18 grabs as he raised his total to 224 for 11 games, an average of 20.3 recoveries per contest. Pritchett and Kennedy each had 10.

Bay City made things fairly interesting for the first four minutes and tallied the first four points of the contest on field goals by Ladd Irvine and Stan Doane. But the Chiefs quickly caught up and then rapidly pulled away.

The Chiefs enjoyed quarterly leads of 16-9, 38-19 and 61-38.

Irvine was the whole show for the Wolves as he fired 23 points, exactly half of his team's total, to take individual scoring honors.

Six PCH seniors played their final home game of the season. Making their farewells for the Chiefs were Fed, Pritchett, Diehm, Bob Trotter, Dick McCauley and Bob Smith.

SAD BRONCO—The Holly Bronco was mighty sad along with many fans who had a long ride home after seeing their previously unbeaten team upset at Milford Friday night. The Bronco had done a lot of prancing around anticipating a clinching of certain title tie in the Wayne-Oakland but hung its head when it was all over and Milford had won, 58-51.

HAPPY REDSKINS — The expressions of these two attractive Milford cheerleaders were symbolic of how Redskin fans reacted to their team's big upset of unbeaten Holly last night. The 'Skin players were treated like champions after the impressive triumph after becoming the first to beat the Broncos. Th loss may dump Holly out of its No. 1 stat Class B ranking.

Ex-PNH Cager Beats Skippers

By HERB PETERS

Substitute Norm Mosely, a junior transfer student from Pontiac Northern, got into the game just long enough last night at Waterford to give Walled Lake the winning points in a stirring 57-54 victory.

Mosely received his chance to play late in the fourth period when Viking guard John Maragos fouled out and the score was deadlocked at 50-50.

Only one minute and 19 seconds remained to play in the Inter-Lakes League thriller when Mosely broke the tie with a driving layup. He was fouled in the process but missed the added free throw.

Walled Lake's Bill Carter grabbed the rebound and put it in the hoop for a four-point lead. Ten seconds later Waterford's Bob Readler sank a pair of free throws to give the home Skippers renewed hope.

But Mosely went to the line at 1:01 to mesh a free throw and the final margin was established. Dave Goff cut it back to one for Waterford with a field goal when only 34 seconds remained, but Carter scored again for the Vikings just 12 seconds later.

And that's the way it went in a hectic, fast-paced battle before a full house that saw Walled Lake made its record 5-2 in the league and 6-4 overall. The loss dropped Waterford to 3-4 in the loop and 4-7 for the season.

Farmington kept third place in the Inter-Lakes by edging Berkley 59-57 as Walt Grimala scored two free throws with 14 seconds to play. Norm Seder added 14 and Don Matson 12.

The Skippers, led by little Ed Stigers who scored 17 points, looked on several occasions like they might avenge an earlier loss at Walled Lake. They stormed into an 8-2 lead and six minutes passed before Mike Hinckley made the Vikings' first field goal.

Walled Lake then began to click and two quick goals by Maragos in the final 30 seconds gave the Vikings a 13-11 first period lead. Waterford surged back into a 27-21 lead late in the second quarter as six-foot-six Mike Gormley hit for four straight points.

But once again Walled Lake was up to the task. Carter and Bill Eskelinen tallied field goals and Hinckley tied the score with 50 seconds left in the half on two free throws. Carter then made it 29-27 at the half for the visitors.

The teams were never more than four points apart in the third period until Walled Lake finished the session with its two-point lead intact, 43-41. Stigers kept the Skippers close with eight points in the quarter.

It was nip-and-tuck all through the final period until Readler tied the score at 50-50 with only 1:55 left to go. But the Skippers lost starters Bob Newman and Dick Shipman on fouls before Maragos made his exit, bringing in Mosely for his game-winning heroics.

Each team had three scorers in double figures. Carter swished in 16 points for Walled Lake, followed by Bill Keenan and Maragos with 12 each. After Stigers at 17 came Gormley and Readler with 11 apiece for Waterford.

Huskies Score 77-53 Victory at Southfield

Everett Leads Attack With 24 as Northern Posts No. 7 in I-L

There's prosperity in the Inter-Lakes Conference for Pontiac Northern's basketball team and the Huskies are taking full advantage of it.

The 77-53 victory over Southfield last night was the 17th straight Inter-Lakes triumph without a setback.

It was the smallest player on the team, Marty Everett, a 5-6 guard who enjoyed the best night of his high school career in pacing the PNH attack.

Everett was red hot from the floor. He hit on 11 field goals out of 13 attempts and finished with a total of 24 points. He also took 15 rebounds.

★ ★ ★

Last year Everett never hit double figures. This year he scored 10 and 11 as his best outputs.

Mike Fedynik, who regained the form this season that he had as a sophomore, helped with 21 rebounds and 13 points while Bruce Norton added 15 points and Steve Thompson 11.

The 21 rebounds for Fedynik is a PNH record.

Northern led by seven points most of the first half and through much of the third period, pulling away 56-42 after three periods and never being threatened.

Les Wilkinson had 20 points for Southfield which has now lost all 12 games it has played this season. John Van Brunt chipped in with 15 points.

The Huskies head the I-L with a 7-0 mark while Walled Lake is in second place at 5-2. Northern needs only one more victory to cinch a share of the title and must play Berkley and then Walled Lake on successive Fridays.

Romeo, Lapeer Cellar Bound

L'Anse Dumps Bulldogs, as Roseville Forges Toward Title

Romeo and Lapeer are running neck and neck, but not for the Tri-County League title. They are keeping pace with each other for the league cellar position.

Romeo took a 50-40 loss by L'Anse Creuse and league leader Roseville defeated Lapeer, 64-55.

Romeo matched L'Anse from the floor with 14 field goals but the difference was at the foul line. The score was 23-21 at the half and L'Anse never gave up the lead afterward.

Cliff Palmer's 10 points was tops for Romeo while Earl Peeples had 19 and Chuck Corbitt 12 for L'Anse.

Lapeer gave Roseville a tough scrap before bowing. After a 32-23 deficit at halftime, Lapeer closed to four after three periods but faded in the final stanza.

Roseville again got good balanced scoring with Duane Soine getting 19, Tom May 14, Duane Sudol 13 and Ron McCleese 10.

Lapeer's Dick Schwerin took scoring honors however with 21 points.

Warren Scores With Balance to Beat Utica

Good scoring balance by individuals and by quarters gave Warren a 78-59 Bi-County victory over Utica last night.

★ ★ ★

With Larry Banish getting 26, Jim Bossburg 17, Bozin 12, Simmons 11, Warren led 36-28 at halftime and never was seriously threatened.

★ ★ ★

Tony Palazolla, Dave Kraft and Jim Moshenko collected 17, 16 and 10 respectively for Utica. It was the Chieftain's 7th loss in 11 games, and made them 3-6 in the league.

Second in Petersen

CHICAGO (AP) — Fred Mroczka of Jackson, Mich., climbed into second place last night in the $327,808 Petersen Bowling Classic.

Mroczka' eight game total came to 1,633 or 24 pins less than Frank Sospirato's 1,657.

Capac, New Haven Stay Tied in Southern Thumb

Title Hopes Fade for Ortonville

Hopes for the basketball title before leaving the South Central Conference have just about faded for Ortonville. The Black Hawks took a 68-53 setback at Imlay City last night while Millington won its 10th straight in whipping North Branch, 72-53.

Last week Ortonville lost to Millington and now only remaining hope is for Imlay to beat Millington next week to force the league into a tie.

To win it, Ortonville would have to depend on Oxford defeating Millington in two weeks and this seems unlikely since Oxford has yet to win a game this year.

The Southern Thumb Conference stayed in a two-way deadlock as Capac and New Haven each won. Capac rolled over Almont, 81-55, and New Haven trounced Memphis, 52-25.

In other Thumb games, Dryden won over Anchor Bay, 44-33 and Brown City edged Armada, 71-66.

Ned Lockwood with 18, Mike Zink 15 and Jerry Simmons 13 led the Millington victory while Lynn DeGrow got 21, Les Frampton 13 for North Branch.

Doug Perkins and Roger Lomerson had 20 and 15 points to pace Imlay. Ortonville got 14 points from Bob Hickey and Jerry Brosseau and 13 from Lee Hotchkiss. Jim Hutchings who was ill, got only nine points, in one of his low outputs of the season.

Tom Lobstein with 15, Paul Grondin 11 and Lou Kitchenmaster with 12 led Dryden's victory after a 32-23 halftime advantage. Ralph Hollenbuck and Arnold Heller each got 12 for Anchor Bay.

Despite four players in double figures, Julius Traub with 18, Jim Porte with 15 and Marv Thompson and Bill Luoma with 12 each, Armada still lost. The score was tied 66-66 with 45 seconds to play, and Armada had the ball.

★ ★ ★

A 3-second violation was called and Gary Gorslin quickly scored for Brown City with 20 seconds to make it 68-66. An Armada shot failed and with 3 seconds to play Gorslin hit a three pointer to clinch it. Gorslin had 17, Jim Miller 14, Jim Gould 14, Les Houck 13 and Stan Lints 11 as all five starters hit double figures for the winners.

★ ★ ★

Maples Hit By 55-38 Trouncing

Ferndale sat idly by and watched another challenger to its Eastern Michigan League title bid fall by the wayside to the same team that holds the only win over the Dales, East Detroit.

The Shamrocks won their 5th straight after a bad start by defeating second place Mt. Clemens, 74-62.

This pushed the Bathers into a tie for second since Port Huron rolled over Birmingham 55-38. In the other league game, Royal Oak Kimball whipped Hazel Park 58-27.

For East Detroit which led, 39-24 at halftime, Bill Troesken hit 28 points while George Tellery hit for 29 for Mt. Clemens.

Birmingham had one of its poorest nights of the season, getting only 14 field goals and failing to get a player in double figures.

Three Port Huron cagers hit double figures, Eric Price with 18, Ingram with 16 and Fred Laughlin with 12.

Craig Kirby had 18 to pace the Kimball attack after holding a 28-14 halftime margin. Hazel Park's best was Dave Simeck with six points, and the Parkers failed to hit double figures in any single quarter.

COME TO ME — Everyone had the same thought as a shot bounced off the rim in last night's Milford upset of Holly. The Redskins got this rebound just as they took several others that Bronco players appeared ready to snag in an all-out victory effort. Don McKenzie (21) and Ron Morlan (23) of Holly are the boys with the hands highest in the air. Bob Oaks (44) of Milford as a teammate tries to outreach his taller foes. Final score was 58-51.

Oak Park Takes Oakland-B Lead

Avondale Is Jolted, 73-69

By DICK BUCK

Oak Park snatched at least a share of the Oakland B title for itself last night with a bitter, 73-69 home-court win over Avondale.

In other loop action, Troy kept alive a slim hope for a title share by dropping Fitzgerald 50-44 while Madison was gaining its first league win at Clawson, 51-45. Lake Orion walloped Oxford in a non-loop outing, 62-36.

The word bitter, as applied to the Oak Park-Avondale game, is no exaggeration. Indeed, it may take the United Nations or some similar group to heal the rift between the two schools which developed last night.

Yellow Jacket coach Dick Bye was jeered by the host fans, handed a technical foul by the officials for disputing their judgment, and, to top off the evening, ejected in less-than-diplomatic fashion from the Red Skins' athletic office after entering after the game and offering the referees more comments.

Oak Park Athletic Director John Kentner ordered Bye from the room with the declaration, "I'm not going to stand for this sort of thing."

Oak Park began participating in the Oakland B during the current cage season.

★ ★ ★

Simple statistics hint at the reason for Bye's wrath. At the end of the first period, with the score tied 12-12, the Red Skins had been charged with seven fouls, Avondale only three.

But through the remaining three quarters, Jim Manilla and George Mason caught Avondale players committing 21 fouls, while the Oak Parkers suddenly reformed and only drew 10 whistles.

The officials explained that the visitors, because they were playing a tight press, couldn't help fouling more frequently than their foes.

Winning coach Paul Boyd also felt the press hurt Avondale in other ways. He had several fast-break baskets by his own charges to offer as solid evidence.

★ ★ ★

Bye conceded that Avondale probably could have won with better playing. The Yellow Jackets didn't shoot particularly well from the floor or the foul line.

And their defense sagged at key moments.

Avondale, after trailing by six points early in the game, roared back to a 23-14 lead early in the second quarter. Then the Red Skins poured in 20 points to the visitors' five for a 34-28 halftime lead.

The Yellow Jackets never again caught up, though they trailed by only two points, 66-64, with 1:15 left in the game.

Avondale's Jim Burt took game scoring honors with 25 points. Oak Park's Dave Pink led the winning effort on 18 counters.

Oak Park can claim the title all by itself next Friday when it meets Fitzgerald.

Troy was down 27-16 at halftime but roared back to cut the difference to four at the third quarter and poured in 19 points in the final period to win. Pete Davidson swished 16 and Hank Akin 12 for the victors. Duane Pisarek had 26 for Fitzgerald.

Bob Woods scored 14-10 on fouls — and John Chiarotti 12 to pace Madison. Madison led by two at halftime and one at the third period before clinching the issue. Ken Burton's 12 was high for CHS.

Lake Orion, trying for a strong finish after some long evenings, had no trouble winning its third in a row. The Dragons breezed to a 31-16 halftime lead. Tom Reed totaled 18, Roger Williams and Dale Perry 10 each to outscore Oxford together. Top Wildcat was Dan Tibbits with 10. Oxford has lost all 11 games.

MAY RETURN — Jim Schachern, a starter until he was benched by a home injury, may be ready for limited duty when St. Fred opens play in the Catholic Tournament tomorrow night against Roseville Sacred Heart at the U. of Detroit Memorial Building.

Rams Battle Roseville Five in 8:15 Contest

Winner of Qualifying Round Tilt at U-D to Face Detroit CC

By CHUCK ABAIR

The chips go on the line for St. Frederick tomorrow night at 8:15 at the University of Detroit Memorial Building climaxing the qualifying round of the annual Catholic League prep basketball tournament.

★ ★ ★

Roseville Sacred Heart, with an identical 10-1 record, will oppose the Rams in the final of four opening day games.

The winner will advance to the 1st round Feb. 19 against high-riding Detroit Catholic Central.

It is the 3rd venture into the tourney in the last four years for the Macomb League champs. St. Fred won its initial Suburban crown in 19 years.

★ ★ ★

The game is rated a tossup as comparisons show the teams to be just about even all the way around. The Rams will have an experience edge with Mike Reed, Ted Dobski and Jim Kennedy starters back from a year ago while 5-9 Jerry Diebold is the lone Roseville vet.

Little Reed has been the top point-getter on either quintet with a 17.3 average. Russ Messina heads Sacred Heart with a 12 average with two mates close behind. Pete Vasquez follows Reed at 11.8 and Dobski is 10.2.

Although the team scoring marks are similar, Roseville has had the much bigger outputs of 96 and 83. The high night for St. Fred was 76 Tuesday at St. James.

★ ★ ★

Coach Bob Botka of Sacred Heart says he expects "all we can handle from the Pontiac team." He has used nine different starting lineups in 11 games due to early season injuries which benched three boys who were then regulars. Ram boss Gene Wright also has had a variety of units due to trying to find the right combination and Jim Schachern's wrist injury suffered late last month.

★ ★ ★

Wright expects to open the Sunday duel with Reed, Dobski, Vasquez, Dave Lufkin and Charley Dean. He has good bench strength led by Jim Kennedy, Craig Thomson, Rudy Yapo and Schachern, who may be ready for some action.

Botka plans to go with his latest five of Diebold, Messina, Pat Murray, Bill Francis and Larry Perkins.

Upsets Mark Net Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — Marine Corp. John Cranston of San Moreno, Calif., treated the National Indoor Tennis Championships to their second major upset Friday night when he ousted second-seeded Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn 6-3, 6-4

Holmberg, ranked seventh nationally, joined top-seeded foreigner Orlando Sirola of Italy on the sidelines. Sirola lost Thursday night to Crawford Henry of Atlanta.

Billy Knight of England, the No. 2 foreign seed, and Pierre Darmon of France, No. 4, also advanced to the quarter-finals at the Seventh Regiment Armory, along with Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif.

The left-handed Knight eliminated Francois Godbout of Canada 6-1, 6-3. Darmon defeated Paul Cranis of New York 6-4, 6-2. Crawford, a member of the U.S. Davis Cup squad in 1958, downed Dr. Richard Raskind of Forest Hills, 6-1, 6-2.

Lions' Boss Issues New Win Claim

DETROIT (AP) — Management forces in the bitter war for control of the Detroit Lions have issued another advance proclamation of victory.

"The latest review of proxies received by the management committee of the Lions leads us to believe that we shall re-elect an overwhelming majority of the directors on our slate," said William Clay Ford, Detroit Football Co. president, in a statement yesterday.

Ford's statement followed a special meeting of the management committee.

Management, headed by Ford and general manager Edwin J. Anderson, is in a proxy battle for control of the 15-member board of directors. The dissident faction is headed by D. Lyle Fife, former club president.

The war will come to a head Feb. 23 at the club's annual stockholders meeting when the proxies are totaled up and a new board is determined.

No Pennant Talk Heard in Tiger Training Camp

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers, their first day of early training camp cut short by wintry weather, turned out today for their second day of workouts.

At least 36 of them did. Sixty players had been invited.

The Tigers' new manager, Bob Scheffing, set a new record for brevity with a three-minute pep talk to his players yesterday. Not once did he mention the word "pennant" to his charges, who finished sixth in the American League race last season.

The Tigers worked out in 49-degree weather during the morning, but were driven inside into an airplane hangar when the weather became too chilly in the afternoon.

Michigan Swimmers Sink MSU, 59-46

EAST LANSING (AP) — Strengthened by the return of three Olympic swimmers, Michigan swept to its third straight Big Ten dual victory last night by defeating Michigan State 59-46.

★ ★ ★

The Wolverines and Spartans, besides competing for a spot in the victory column, battled for a place on the record board by smashing 27 swim marks.

Bill Darnton, one of Michigan's Olympians, bettered a six year old Big Ten record in the 440-yard freestyle with a 4:28.2 clocking. The old mark was 4:28.4 set by Ford Konno of Ohio State in 1955.

Michigan State's two relay teams bettered Big Ten, and NCAA American records.

The Spartan 400-yard medley relay team of Jeff Mattson, Dennis Ruppart, Carl Shaar, and Mike Wood started the record breaking session in the meet's first event with a 3:40.3 time. The quartet bettered the American and NCAA and Big Ten marks set by Indiana in 1960.

Miss Suggs Holds Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) Louise Suggs, winner of the first two tournaments on the womens' pro golf tour, seemed well on the way to her third victory as she took over the lead in Friday's round of the $7,500 St. Petersburg Open.

★ ★ ★

The Atlanta golfer fired a 1-under par 37-33—70 to match Thursday's round of 70 over the chilly, windswept Sunset Golf and Country Club course.

Win Hockey Crown

Randy Styles scores both goals, the 2nd in overtime, to spark the R.L.T.L.F.J. All Stars to a 2-1 win over the Dunlip Stars in the Pontiac Boys Club Indoor Hockey Tournament finals Friday. Pat Cameron tallied for the losers. Art Arellano and John Farnsworth excelled in the nets.

Michigan Sextet Wins

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan displayed clearcut mastery over Colorado College last night in cruising to a 5-1 Western Collegiate Hockey Association victory.

Bradley Still Leading

NEW YORK (AP)—John Bradley of Lawrence Tech held onto the NCAA small college basketball individual scoring lead for the third straight week.

HAYES STILL UNBEATEN—Pontiac's Hayes Jones ran in his 4th indoor meet of the season last night and stayed unbeaten as he won the 50 high hurdles in six seconds flat in the Philadelphia Inquirer games in Convention Hall. Jones edged Elias Gilbert of Winston Salem at the far right. Third was Russ Rogers, second from left, with Bill Johnson 4th. Today, Jones is on the West Coast for a meet which may pit him against Farmington's Rex Cawley and Michigan's Bennie McRae in the hurdles.

Jones Wins 50-Yard Highs in :06

Hayes Remains Unbeaten

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hayes Jones, now a Detroit school teacher, won the 50-yard high hurdles in 6 seconds flat Friday night in the Philadelphia Inquirer track meet before a capacity crowd of 10,650 at Convention hall.

Jones, undefeated in four races this winter, barely edged Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem (N.C.) Teachers. Russ Rodgers of Maryland was third. His clocking equalled the meet record.

★ ★ ★

Don Bragg of Hollywood, Calif., who holds all the pole vault records in the books, won the event with a 15-5 effort, beating young Henry Wadsworth of the University of Florida.

Bragg, the Olympic champion, made three tries at the magic 16-foot mark. He didn't even get close the first two times, but on his third try, he hurled his body over, but hit the cross bar with his legs on the way down.

★ ★ ★

It probably was the closest anyone has come to going over 16 feet, and Bragg threw his arms in the air in dispair on the way down. He thought he had it.

Wadsworth, who beat Bragg last week with a 15-4 vault, in New York, was second with 15 feet even.

"I didn't expect to beat him again anyhow," said Wadsworth.

Frank Budd of Villanova, who also has been making a sweep of the winter circuit, whipped to a 5.3 victory in the 50-yard dash. This was his fourth in a row.

★ ★ ★

Paul Winder of Morgan State was second, a foot behind, and Jonas Spiegel of Maryland finished third.

Joe Mullins, the Big Eight half-mile champion from Nebraska, pushed across the tape inches ahead of Cary Weisiger of the Quantico Marines and won the 1,000-yard run in 2:13.1. Weisiger had taken the lead from Lee Martin of Morgan State halfway through the race and led right up until the end.

★ ★ ★

Mullins, a member of Canada's Olympic team, jumped Weisiger on the last turn. Weisiger fought him off, but couldn't hold him in the final strides. Martin was third.

Jack Yerman of California made his debut on boards by winning the 600 in 1:11.9. Yerman, a member of the U.S. Olympic champion 1,600-meter relay team, started out far back, then pushed up little by little until he took the lead with about a lap to go.

The clocking equalled the meet record. Jim Wedderburn of New York University was second and Frank Bowens of Winston-Salem Teachers third.

Bay City won both team relay events.

Another meet nearby, Warren won over Ecorse 65-40, as Darryle Kifer, who holds five Macomb County records, won the 50 and 100 freestyle events in times of :23.8 and :53.2, the latter a school and Macomb record.

A Rarity, Pistons Beat Boston Celtics, 137-134

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Pistons, struggling to maintain their grip on second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, today held a two-game lead over the Los Angeles Lakers in their season-long battle for runner-up honors.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons opened the gap Friday night by beating Boston's battered Celtics 137-134 for only their second triumph over the NBA champions at home in a 15-game span stretching over four years.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics played the game without two of their key stars—Bob Cousy and Bill Russell—and also lost Gene Conley and Tom Heinsohn on fouls in the final quarter when they were closing the gap.

The loss, coupled with Philadelphia' 133-131 win over New York in the only other action Friday night, cut Boston's first-place edge in the Eastern Division to six games over the runner-up Warriors.

The Pistons raced to a 79-63 halftime lead, but Boston trimmed it to two points in the third period when Bill Sharman, Frank Ramsey and Heinsohn set a torrid pace. Detroit maintained its edge throughout the final period but needed a pair of free throws by Don Ohl to wrap it up.

Gene Shue paced the Detroit offensive with 35 points while Sam Jones hit 29 for Boston and Sharman contributed 27.

Wilt Chamberlain was the story for the Warriors, scoring 48 points, grabbing 36 rebounds and blocking a final shot by New York's Richie Guerin that might have sent the contest into overtime. Dick Garmaker was the Knicks' top scorer with 25 points.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day is studying the possibility of resuming twice-a-day mail delivery.

But he told a news conference that resumption of two daily mail deliveries, cut by the Eisenhower administration, would cost $150 million a year.

"We haven't had much expression of interest from the public," he said.

Actors Studio Requires Passing Tough Audition

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Susan Strasberg came back from a year in Italy and announced that she's "working up courage" to try to get into Actors Studio—which her parents, Lee and Paula Strasberg, help run.

WILSON

"You can only become a member, you know, by taking that audition," Susan said, with a nervous shudder.

"Is the audition that tough?" I asked the vibrantly attractive young lady.

"Well," she said, "about 2,000 people audition every year—and they only have room for four or five . . . or maybe 10."

Susan, who got suddenly famous as a teen-ager for "A Diary of Anne Frank," has just proved that she can do things on her own. She had gone to Rome to do this movie . . .

"When I went," she said, "I thought, 'I'll do this movie and nobody'll ever see it. If it's a mistake, it'll be my mistake.'"

And the picture, "Kapo," got her an award as Best Actress at the Argentine Film Festival—and is to be Italy's entry this year for Oscar competition.

SUSAN

"My parents," she said, "felt, and I felt that my decisions should be my own.

Susan feels maybe she's growing up from that little girl in "Anne Frank."

Sitting in the Hotel Dorchester in London recently, talking to the great hair stylist, Sydney Guilarof, who has styled the tresses of Grace Kelly and Marilyn Monroe, she said she couldn't and wouldn't cut her long hair.

He had just said she should.

"All right, cut my hair," she told him—and, she related, "Out of his pocket came scissors and comb . . ."

"To me, it's like naked," she commented. "It's just long enough now to run your hands through."

She's finally 21. "You can ask me my age two years more and after that you're being fresh," she warned.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

"DON'T PRINT THAT!": David Nelson turned down a request to sing in "The Big Show," saying, "My brother Ricky handles the singing in our family" . . . Should N.Y. get into the big-time beauty contest competition? Alfred Patricelli of Bridgeport, Conn., director of the U.S. division of the Miss World Pageant, thinks so, and wants to hold the American finals at Carnegie Hall next August, with Bob Russell as m.c.

Mayor Wagner was boasting in a speech about the new baseball stadium N.Y.'ll have, plus, elegant, expensive. Comic Phil Foster interrupted: "In the meantime, how about fixing the street in front of this hotel?"

EARL'S PEARLS: A miser isn't much fun to live with, but he makes a wonderful ancestor.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jean Carroll says her teen-age daughter is very independent. "She lives alone — in our apartment." . . . That's earl, brother.

Kennedy Takes First Breather

To Leave White House for Weekend in Virginia With Jackie, Caroline

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy leaves Washington this afternoon to spend the weekend in a large French-style estate in the snow-covered Virginia countryside.

This weekend of relaxation at Glen Ora, the new presidential retreat, will be the first away from the White House for Kennedy since taking office Jan. 20.

★ ★ ★

At the estate, situated on an unpaved rural lane in Loudoun County's hunt country, Kennedy will join his wife and Caroline, their 3-year-old daughter, who flew to Glen Ora from Washington Friday in a Marine Corps helicopter.

WILL USE HELICOPTER

Kennedy also will use a helicopter to reach Glen Ora, which is 45 miles west of Washington. The Kennedys' son, 11-week-old John Jr., is remaining at the White House.

★ ★ ★

Residents of Middleburg will be anxious to see what changes in their quiet lives will be brought by the Kennedys' taking up residence among them. Gettysburg, Pa., the main weekend retreat of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, already had been a tourist attraction because of its Civil War battlefield. But Middleburg has had a history of seclusion until now.

Which Bother Him the Most — Feet or Ego?

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Mack Cherry would like to find his shoes which were stolen late Thursday night — right off his feet.

Cherry said he was walking down a street when two teen-aged boys ran up behind him, knocked him down, jerked his shoes from his feet and fled.

★ ★ ★

Cherry says he would like to get his hands on the thieves — and his feet back in his shoes.

LANSING (UPI)—A third public hearing on a rate increase request from Blue Cross-Blue Shield will be held here Feb. 16, State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said Friday.

A similar hearing was held in Detroit this week and the second is scheduled in Grand Rapids Feb. 15.

JFK Sets 3rd TV News Confab

Limited Press Session to Be Carried Live by All Major Networks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's next news conference will be held at 7 p.m. EST Wednesday and will be carried on live television by all three major networks, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the arrangements will be exactly the same as for Kennedy's first news conference, except that it will be limited to a half hour in length.

All future news conferences will be limited to a 30-minute maximum, Salinger said, not because of any request of the networks for easier programming but because the President feels that half an hour is a "proper length."

The President felt that the press conference seemed to lose its effectiveness after half an hour, Salinger explained.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's news conferences were limited to half on hour at his request but Kennedy's announced policy was to let the question-and-answer sessions run until the "Thank you, Mr. President" of the senior wire service correspondent, Marvin L. Arrowsmith of the Associated Press. Each has run a few minutes beyond the half-hour.

Salinger said the news conference would be available for live radio broadcast also but he did not know whether the radio networks would carry it live.

Salinger disclosed that the White House is considering discontinuing the practice begun at last week's new conference of making a video tape for subsequent broadcast, for it was possible to start running the tape while the news conference was still in progress. Last week's conference was not televised live.

One of the problems which has prompted a study of this technique, Salinger said, is that it provides an "opportunity for some unscrupulous persons to use the information given by the President for their own advantage"—as for instance, in stock speculation.

NEW QUARTERS — Plans for an open house tomorrow at the new Wixom City Hall are discussed by City Clerk Lillian Byrd, right, and Mrs. Darcy Young, deputy clerk, in the lobby of the modern municipal offices. Abolishes 2 Committees

JFK Names Four Advisers on Government Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has selected four advisers on reorganization of the machinery of government. He also has abolished two committees set up for somewhat similar purposes.

The four appointees, who will work as individual specialists rather than as a committee, are:

Robert A. Lovett, New York investment banker and a former secretary of defense and undersecretary of state;

Richard E. Neustadt, professor of government at Columbia University, who has been Kennedy's special consultant on organization problems;

* * *

Don K. Price, dean of the graduate School of Public Administration at Harvard University, who was an organization adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower;

Sydney Stein Jr. of Chicago, investment counselor, who formerly was an official of the Budget Bureau dealing with management and organization matters.

Neustadt also is adviser to the

ALSO SENATE AIDE

Senate subcommittee on national policy machinery, which has been exploring methods of improving the government's machinery for making national security policy decisions.

The two committees abolished by Kennedy were the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization, set up by Eisenhower in 1953, and the Advisory Committee on Management Improvement, set up by former President Harry S. Truman in 1949.

* * *

The four advisers will receive no salary but will be paid consultant's fees when serving.

In other appointments Friday, Kennedy named Brooks Hays, former congressman from Arkansas, as assistant secretary of state for congressional relations. Hays, 62, will receive $20,000 a year. He is a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Hays, a Democrat, will succeed William B. Macomber Jr., a Republican, who is reported likely to receive a nomination for ambassador, possibly to Jordan.

Norman M. Clapp, Wisconsin newspaper publisher, will be administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration.

CONSULTANT ON IRAN

Howard Bretsch, of Corvallis, Ore., who has been with the Ford Foundation as consultant to the government of Iran, will be administrator of the Farmers Home Administration.

* * *

John C. Bagwell of Arlington, Va., now general counsel of the Farm Credit Administration, will be general counsel of the Agriculture Department.

* * *

Harris L. Wofford Jr., who took leave as an associate professor at Notre Dame Law School to participate in Kennedy's 1960 presidential campaign, was named a special assistant to the President.

Named to County Post

LANSING (AP)— Alexander Perlos of Jackson has been appointed public administrator for Jackson County, the Attorney General's Office announced. Charles Baker is the other county administrator.

Mrs. Lynn M. Liverance, 25, was shot in the bedroom of her home. Police said the pistol of her husband Harold, 27, discharged as he was preparing to put it in a dresser drawer. Liverance thought the gun was unloaded, police said.

British Scientists Say Explosion Created Universe

LONDON (UPI)—British scientists today touched off a possible international religious and scientific controversy with a claim that the universe began 10 billion years ago with a terrific explosion.

* * *

This conclusion came from a team of Cambridge University astronomists who probed the heavens with a giant radio telescope for eight years. Their findings were reported Friday.

Prof. Martin Ryle, the team's chief, said that by listening for radio signals, the scientists located more than 1,000 distant stars.

He said this supported a changing theory of the universe.

* * *

Observers felt the Cambridge cosmological theory may be disputed by religious leaders who will point to the Book of Genesis in the Bible which states:

"In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."

Postpones Attempt to Orbit Radio Brain

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The National Aeronautics and Space Agency early today postponed an attempt to orbit a "radio brain" satellite because of technical difficulties.

There was no immediate indication when another attempt would be made to fire the Juno II launch vehicle. NASA finally called off the shot at 4 a.m. EST.

The civilian space agency said the 75-pound satellite, with a record six radio broadcasting frequencies, was designed to study the structure of the ionosphere.

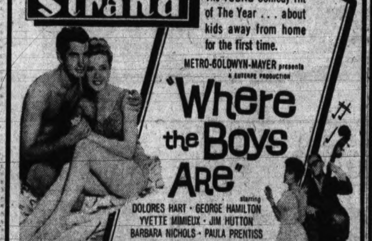
Rocket Thrust Mark for Engine Chamber

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Space scientists here say a rocket engine chamber, tested briefly Friday produced 1.55 million pounds of thrust—a record for American rocketry.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the measurement was made during a few seconds' test of the F1 thrust chamber, a prototype of one designed for the giant Nova deep space rocket of the future. The liquid-propellant F1 is slated for a flight rating test in 1962 and 1963.

The greatest thrust previously achieved was 1.3 million pounds by an eight-engine cluster booster designed for the Saturn rocket vehicle. Both are built by Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation.



Cadillac, Imperial, Lincoln

Expensive Cars Push Right Ahead

By BEN PHLEGAR
(AP) Automotive Writer

DETROIT—Amidst heavy layoffs and the deep gloom of recession talk at least three of the most expensive lines of American cars are pushing steadily ahead.

Pacing the plush pack as usual is Cadillac, one of the only makes which had a good year in recession 1958. Last year brought all-time record sales of more than 150,000 to the pride of the General Motors horsepower stable and sales continue to hold steady in the early weeks of 1961.

Lincoln, most changed of the luxury cars, is "proceeding essentially as we had planned," reports Ben Mills, general manager of Lincoln-Mercury.

But the rising star continues to be Thunderbird. Cadillac refuses to regard T-Bird as a competitor. Two years ago James Roche, then general manager of Cadillac, said, "A Cadillac owner might have a Thunderbird as a second car."

Nevertheless, this Ford product which is priced just under the luxury ($5,000 and up) field, obviously is pulling some business from the top lines.

The 1961 price structure shapes up this way, including federal taxes and dealer handling charges:

★ ★ ★

Cadillac, from $4,892 for a two-door Series 62 hardtop to $6,477 for an Eldorado Biarritz convertible.

Lincoln Continental, $6,067 for a sedan and $6,713 for a four-door convertible.

Imperial, from $4,922.50 to $6,426 for a LeBaron hardtop.

Thunderbird, $4,170 for a two-door hardtop and $4,637 for the convertible.

These prices include such things as power steering, power brakes and automatic transmission. A radio and heater also are included in the Lincoln figures.

The new Thunderbird created considerable controversy with its rounded styling instead of the traditional straight trim shape of the past three years.

But so far sales continue to climb. Ford reported a backlog of more than two months' orders when the car was introduced in November and was still building on overtime schedules as late as last month.

80,000 SALES EXPECTED

December sales of 9,500 T-Birds were an alltime high. The old mark of 8,200 was set the preceding month. More than 90,000 sales are expected this year.

Lincoln changed its styling and marketing philosophy even more drastically than Thunderbird. It abandoned its old line of 13 big cars and settled for two which are more than a foot shorter and a little narrower. One of these is the industry's only four-door convertible.

Mills says he is sure he can sell as many of these as he did with 12 different models "and I still think we can do better."

Lincoln is trying to limit its dealer inventory sharply, building its cars to special order. Mills says ideally a dealer will have not more than one car for display and one for a demonstrator.

Mills and Clare Briggs, general manager of the Chrysler-Imperial division of Chrysler Corp., say their biggest handicap in fighting Cadillac is habit.

"People who own a Cadillac seem to buy their next car without looking around," Mills once observed.

Imperial recently began a series of advertisements suggesting that a buyer should not let habit interfere when buying a luxury car.

Cadillac and Thunderbird have in common extremely good resale value. In some cases annual depreciation is less in actual dollars on them than on cars priced considerably cheaper.

Ford claims that for recent years the T-Bird has kept a higher percentage of its value than has Cadillac or any other car.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler and most recently Oldsmobile have entries in the so-called personal car field which Thunderbird has monopolized. Chrysler has the limited production 300G, which run $1,200 to $1,500 more expensive, and Oldsmobile has just put its Starfire convertible on the market at $10 over the Thunderbird convertible.

★ ★ ★

The Starfire has bucket seats and the popular center console running through the middle of the car. The automatic transmission lever is mounted on this console.

★ ★ ★

Bucket seats have proved a hot item even in the lower priced field. Studebaker's Hawk added them for 1961 and the Corvair Monza, most popular model in Chevrolet's compact car, has them as standard equipment on its coupe and as options on the new four-door sedan.

Says Retreads in Foreign Posts

GOP Article Claims JFK Filling Positions With Old Acheson Men

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Republican party publication said Friday the Kennedy administration has restored "a batch of Dean Acheson retreads" to power in foreign policy posts.

★ ★ ★

Continuing a running attack on the new administration, the Republican National Committee said in the publication "Battle Line":

"President Kennedy campaigned on promises of new frontiers manned by new officials with a new spirit that would 'get America moving again.'

"In staffing the State Department and foreign policy posts in other agencies, however, the President has re-established in power nothing more nor less than a batch of Dean Acheson retreads who produced a disastrous series of major blowouts the last time they served as a team.

★ ★ ★

"To date, the top echelon of policy positions in the realm of foreign policy is held by a dozen men who held similiar positions of power during the debacles of the Acheson years. More may be on the way."

Acheson was secretary of state in the Truman administration.

Would Tolerate Force to Defeat Castro Regime

DETROIT (UPI)—William R. Burke, national commander of the American Legion, said Friday his organization urges elimination of the Castro regime in Cuba "by force, if necessary."

In a speech to the Adcraft Club here, Burke said the Legion favors sanctions and embargo as a prelude to actual force.

"We have a moral responsibility to Cuba," he declared. "Cuba was freed by the United States at a considerable loss of American blood."

"We cannot resolutely defend the Western Hemisphere," he said. "We let it be picked off piecemeal, if we tolerate a bastion of Soviet power within 90 miles of the coast of the United States."

King's Canyon and Sequoia national parks in California which adjoin have more mule deer than any of the other national park regions.

Ford? . . . Gives Prize-Winning Idea to Buick

FLINT (UPI)—Henry Ford has won $42.36 from the Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corp. for a brake drum welding suggestion.

This Henry Ford has been an employe at Buick's foundry since 1943.

Since Buick started its bonus plan for suggestions after World War II, winners have included a Chrysler, a Dodge, a Nash and an Olds.

Fast OK Is Denied on Airline Service

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has denied an application of Tag Airlines, an air taxi service, for immediate authority to operate a scheduled airline service—using light aircraft—between Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

The CAB said it found no reason to hear Tag's application ahead of many other pending proposals.

Tag had asked the CAB to permit the light-plane operation as an experiment in providing service at small airports close to large communities.

North Central Adds 2nd Detroit-Saginaw Flight

DETROIT (UPI) — North Central Airlines said Friday it has added a second daily round trip flight from Detroit to Saginaw, with a stop in between at Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

The Airlines said the new flight will leave Detroit Willow Run Airport at 6:30 a.m. each day, stop at Port Huron, and arrive in Saginaw at 7:45 a.m.

The return flight will leave Saginaw at 8:10 a.m., stop at Port Huron, and arrive in Detroit at 9:26 a.m.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dear husband and father, Ben Moshier who passed away February 11, 1960.
The flowers we place upon this grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for him who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
Lovingly remembered by his wife, Vera, daughter, Sharon and grandson, Michael.

IN MEMORY OF CLIFFORD Fredrickson, who passed away 4 years ago.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad and weary the way,
Life has not been the same,
Since you were called away.
Your wife, Myrtle, and daughters, Emma and Agnes.

21 Newsmen, 20 Beds
Test Housing Promise

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (UPI) — The Kennedy administration's promise of adequate housing for all Americans got its first tough test today.

★ ★ ★

The White House tried to figure out how to put 21 reporters and photographers in 20 available beds in this little town near President Kennedy's weekend retreat. One of the 21 is a woman.

The beds are in two inns and two boarding houses in the "hunt country" town.

At first, 24 reporters and photographers said they planned to come to Middleburg. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger conducted a sort of lottery to distribute the beds.

★ ★ ★

He assigned each applicant a number and then asked a newswoman, who was not planning to cover the Kennedys' weekend, to reel off 20 numbers between one and 24.

★ ★ ★

But by the time the drawing was over, three reporters had changed their minds and decided not to spend the weekend here. So, that left the press party only one bed short.

Salinger promised an all-out effort to find another bed.

Thugs Kick, Beat Man to Death in Detroit Alley

DETROIT (UPI) — A Detroit restaurant owner was kicked and beaten to death last night by two men who attacked and robbed him.

★ ★ ★

Michael Yanoulis, 70, died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital about an hour after the attack.

Before he died, he told police two men jumped him near his home as he returned after closing his restaurant.

He said the men dragged him into an alley and kicked and beat him.

★ ★ ★

Yanoulis said he grabbed a straight-edge razor in his pocket and may have wounded one of his attackers.

★ ★ ★

The killers rifled Yanoulis' pockets and took $175.

Will Talk to Groups of Drivers on Points

LANSING (AP) — A new system of multiple driver improvement interviews instead of individual interviews for Michigan mortorsts with more than 12 traffic conviction points was announced by Secretary of State James M. Hare.

★ ★ ★

The pilot multiple-interview operation will start next month in the Detroit area, Hare said. Later, the plan will be extended to other heavily-populated areas.

Sterling Hayden's Wife Gives Birth to Son

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sterling Hayden, the seagoing actor and his socialite wife Catherine became the parents of an 8 pound 6 ounce son Friday.

★ ★ ★

The infant has been named Andrew and he and his mother were reported doing fine. It was the first child for the couple, who were married March 9 in nearby Belvedere.

Ask Waterford Groups to Unite

Seek to Form Council Boosting Physical and Cultural Advancements

A project is under way in Waterford Township to form a council of organizations designed to unite service clubs, neighborhood groups, Parent-Teacher Associations and churches, in the promotion of physical and cultural advancements.

Sponsored by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club, an organizational meeting has been set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Pierce Junior High School on Hatchery near Crescent Lake roads.

Letters have been sent to various groups explaining the purpose of a unified organization to promote a youth center, hospital, library, safety council and the planning commission proposal scheduled to appear on the April ballot.

According to club president, Mrs. Edmund Windeler, East Lansing has a similar council, and its constitution and bylaws would be used as a guide in forming the township organization.

There will be no dues connected with the organization.

Waterford Township residents interested in the project are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Walter Forbes is assisting Mrs. Windeler with initial arrangements.

Working on Con-Con . . . If It Is Needed

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan legislators are ready to tackle a job many of them hope will be wasted effort.

★ ★ ★

A bill to set up election procedures for constitutional convention delegates is up for action. Under it, the election would be held Sept. 12 and a partisan primary to nominate candidates for delegate would be held July 25.

★ ★ ★

But if voters should refuse to call a con-con at the April 3 biennial spring election, the July and September elections would be unnecessary.

Fear Air Cargo Rate Cut

PARIS (UPI) — The collapse of the transatlantic air cargo rate conference raised fears in European airline circles today of a rate-slash war that might spill over into passenger traffic. But U.S. airlines said their plans for cuts would double or quadruple transatlantic air freight.

'Detective' Gets Ward Bond Role on 'Wagon Train'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Montana cattle rancher-turned actor John McIntire has been signed to replace the late Ward Bond as the wagon master of television's "Wagon Train."

If the name McIntire doesn't ring a bell, television viewers probably will best remember the tall, lean actor with the wrinkled face for his detective roe in the "Naked City" series.

McIntire, 53, also is a veteran of scores of motion pictures and TV shows in which he has played everything from heavies to drunken bums and even a few multi-millionaires.

Bars Separate Gunman, Wife

State Fugitives Face 3 Capital Punishment Charges in Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Gunman Thomas W. Sargent and his loving, pistol-packing wife were separated by iron bars today and the future looked bleak.

★ ★ ★

The 29-year-old Michigan fugitive and 20-year-old Brenda were charged with murder in the perpetration of a robbery, kidnaping, armed robbery, assault to murder, carrying pistols.

Three of them are punishable by death.

At a preliminary hearing Friday, the judge's explanation that possible penalties include the electric chair jolted Sargent. "I don't think this is right," he said.

WIFE COVERS FACE

Brenda, standing beside him, membled, "Oh, God, no," and covered her scratched face with her hands.

★ ★ ★

The murder charge resulted from the death of Mrs. James Crossgrove, 34, of Memphis.

She was one of four persons in a car that Sargent commandeered at pistol point after a running gunfight with police at a motel.

Killed in 2-Car Crash

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Robert C. Smith, 21, of Mount Clemens, was injured fatally today in a two-car collision on M97 west of here.

Asks 9 Envoys to Stay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has asked nine more ambassadors to remain in their posts, bringing to 28 the number of career envoys he has retained.

Declines Bid to Sponsor JFK's Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways & Means Committee, has declined an administration request to sponsor President Kennedy's controversial plan to provide health care for the aged through the Social Security system.

★ ★ ★

Failing to enlist Mills, the administration turned to Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., second-ranking Democrat on the committee, who will introduce the bill next week.

★ ★ ★

Mills' refusal Friday to put his name on the legislation pointed up the stiff battle facing the proposal.

★ ★ ★

Some key Democrats believe the best Kennedy can expect is a sharply-restricted version of his original request.

To Eye Waterford Fireman Candidates

A review of all applications for an additional Waterford Township fireman will be made at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday by the newly organized Township Civil Service Commission.

★ ★ ★

So far the commission has received 15 applications. No more will be accepted after noon Tuesday, according to Chairman Charles Zameck.

★ ★ ★

An applicant must be under 31 years of age, live in Waterford Township and have graduated from high school.

Goldberg Asks Emergency Jobless Measures

Abraham Lincoln Goes to Washington

Just 100 years ago on February 11, 1861, Abraham Lincoln left his home town, Springfield, Ill., to travel to Washington as president-elect. A cold rain was falling early that morning when he went to the Great Western Railroad Station. He mounted the platform at the rear of the train and said to the crowd that had come to bid him farewell: "My friends, no one not in my situation can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting. To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century and have passed from a young to an old man. Here my children have been born, and one is buried. I now leave, not knowing when or whether ever I may return. . . . Trusting in Him who can go with me, and remain with you, and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well. To His care commending you, as I hope in your prayers you will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

The train then pulled out of the station. Lincoln was never to see Springfield again.

School Board Fills Vacancy

By DICK SAUNDERS

At a special meeting late Friday, the Pontiac Board of Education appointed James R. Jenkins of 62 Wenonah Drive to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Louis H. Schimmel.

Board members also elected Monroe H. Osmun president and William H. Anderson vice president. Schimmel, board president, resigned at Thursday night's regular meeting after 24 years on the board because of outside business pressures.

Jenkins, 42, whose term will expire this summer, has been a Pontiac resident since 1951. He is a certified public accountant with offices in the Pontiac State Bank Building.

He is a native of Lakeview, was raised in Detroit and was graduated from the University of Detroit school of commerce.

Jenkins has been active in civic affairs and various school activities in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

He has been a member of the Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis Club about five years and was club president in 1960.

Married and the father of four sons and a daughter, Jenkins has been particularly interested in children's groups.

He has served on the Pontiac YMCA Board of Directors and the YMCA Camp Makiah-Go-Tah-See Board of Directors.

He has also been active in boy scout work locally. During World War II Jenkins was an Air Force pilot five years and flew B29 bombers over Japan.

Osmun, 58, of 100 Ogemaw Road, has been vice president of the board for the past two years.

He had previously served as board president for two years.

A downtown merchant, Osmun first was elected to the board in 1946. He resigned for one year in 1954 and was reelected in 1955.

Osmun is a life-long Pontiac resident and was one of the drafters of the pay-as-you-go financing plan for Pontiac schools.

Anderson, 44, of 451 Lynch St. was elected to the school board in 1957.

Tells Detroiters Depression Is Other Choice

Calls for Permanent Compensation Hike to Top President's Plan

DETROIT (UPI)—Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg moved into recession-battered Detroit today with a warning that the nation must take emergency measures to slash unemployment or drift into a depression.

Goldberg, acting as President Kennedy's ambassador to the jobless, began the second day of his five-state tour of depressed areas by conferring on Michigan's jobless problems with Gov. John B. Swainson.

The auto capital of the world presented a bleak picture to Kennedy's chief labor adviser. More than 1 million cars are on dealers' lots — a new record — and layoffs in auto plants have put 1 out of every 10 workers out of a job.

DETROIT (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg can earn himself $50 if he can find a job for Thomas Whitehurst, 41. Whitehurst, who has had only 13 months' steady employment in the past three years, has posted signs on utility poles near his home in the Mount Clemens area. They make the offer.

Goldberg this morning advocated a permanent increase in unemployment compensation benefits in addition to the $1.2-billion emergency idle aid plan already advanced by Kennedy.

"We don't have a labor surplus in Michigan. We have a great reservoir of talent," Goldberg said. "We in the administration are determined, as you in Michigan are," he told Swainson, "to utilize this great reservoir to create an economy of abundance for ourselves and the free world."

Goldberg promised Adrian of-

Won't Interfere in Auto Confabs

Goldberg Cites JFK Regime's Confidence in Industry Negotiators

DETROIT (UPI)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said today the Kennedy administration "will not interfere" in the 1961 auto industry contract negotiations.

Goldberg made this comment at a meeting with labor and industry officials in which he discussed the 21-member advisory committee on labor-management policy which President Kennedy has said he will establish.

Looking around the room at the conferees, who included United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther and several vice presidents of the auto companies, Goldberg noted they "have considerable experience in collective bargaining."

The labor secretary, a former top negotiator for the United Steel Workers Union, said he was certain the auto contracts can achieve "a settlement of problems which will be fair to industry, fair to labor and fair to the public."

Explore Possibility of Meeting Nikita

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy met today with his advisers on Russian relations in a conference which may lead to a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev within the next few months.

The White House session, which got under way at 10:17 a.m. (Pontiac time) was called by the President to chart what he hopes will be a more dynamic American approach to the critical cold war issues between the United States and the Soviet.

Summoned to the strategy meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and four Soviet affairs experts who have served as ambassadors to Moscow during four presidential administrations — Llewellyn E. Thompson, the present envoy; Charles E. Bohlen, special advier to Rusk on Russia; Roving Ambassador Averell Harriman; and George F. Kennan, ambassador designate to Yugoslavia.

Joining in the meeting in the Cabinet room was Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy and the officials discussed the situation while sitting around a long table.

Kennedy went to the conference after witnessing the swearing-in of Robert C. Weaver as federal housing administrator.

Asians Sure Rusk Will Go to Confab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Asian diplomats here were convinced today that Secretary of State Dean Rusk would visit the Far East next month on his first foreign tour.

★ ★ ★

Rusk is under pressure to attend the annual meeting of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) council in Bangkok March 27-30.

SEATO's Asian members have complained that they are treated as "second-class" allies. They want to talk to President Kennedy's foreign policy chief about Laos, U.S. support of Asian neutralism and other issues.

If Rusk goes to Bangkok he probably will be asked to visit other Asian capitals along the way.

★ ★ ★

The decision, which Rusk has been postponing, is the first test of his announced determination to stick close to his desk and shun the roving life of the late John Foster Dulles, who traveled 559,988 miles during his six years as secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration.

★ ★ ★

Asian diplomats here felt sure Rusk would go to the SEATO meeting, despite his no-travel resolution and the fact that the trip would take him away from Washington during preparations for British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan's April meeting with Kennedy.

Detroit Man Killed in Royal Oak Twp. by Shotgun Blast

Royal Oak Township Police are holding two suspects today in the slaying of a Detroit man in the apartment of his estranged wife early this morning.

Shot in the back with a 12-gauge shotgun was Henry Warren, 29, of 13217 Main St.

Being held for questioning are Fred Lindsey, 20, and George Ross, 19, both of 21667 Wyoming Ave.

Lindsey was living with Warren's estranged wife, Lassie, 21, and Ross, her brother, occupied another apartment in the building, according to Sgt. James Gatewood.

The shooting occurred at about 6 a.m. Waren was also stabbed in the face, Gatewood said.

★ ★ ★

Warren had gone to his wife's apartment with a Mildred Brown, 27, of 20751 Mitcheldale St., Royal Oak Township, to see his children.

Mrs. Warren and their four children are living on welfare, police said.

An argument led to a fight between Warren, Lindsey and Ross.

Gatewood quoted Miss Brown as saying she picked up the shotgun which was standing in a corner

Katanga Chiefs Insist Lumumba Fled Jail

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Katanga Province officials today flatly denied rumors they concocted a story that ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba escaped from jail so they could cover his death at the hands of his political foes. The denial came in a communique announcing that searchers for the missing Lumumba had found a car he and two political associates used to escape from a farmhouse prison at Mutshatsa, west of Elisabethville, late Thursday night.

Some Western observers in the Congo said they suspect Lumumba is dead or that his escape was engineered so he could be shot while trying to escape.

The Katanga government, taking note of these rumors, said in a communique: "The Katanga government denies it organized the escape. It appears his (Lumumba's) escape was made possible by some fault or intervention by his guards, and this will be subject to inquiry."

The communique said the car, a black Ford sedan found about 20 miles north of Kasaji where Lumumba was imprisoned, was identified as the automobile he and his companions seized after overpowering their guards.

THREAT EITHER WAY

Western observers fear that, dead or alive, Lumumba presents the Congo with its greatest threat of all-out civil war. His supporters control about one-third of the Congo, and in the past his fiery ora-

Westinghouse Executives Swap Suits for Stripes

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two Westinghouse Electric Corp. executives exchanged business suits today for prisoners' blue denim as they began the second day of a 30-day sentence for violating antitrust laws in the giant electrical power conspiracy.

John H. Chiles Jr., 57, Sharon, Pa., and Charles I. Mauntel, 60, Drexel Hill, Pa., chose unexpectedly to begin their jail terms Friday.

The two men, accompanied by their lawyers, surrendered to the U.S. marshal in Philadelphia. They were silent and unsmiling.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Ganey, who had sentenced the two with five other high-salaried executives Monday for illegally fixing prices and rigging bids to stifle competition, granted the request for the early jail start. He had given the seven men a week to arrange their personal affairs.

They earn up to $125,000 a year.

Chiles is vice president of Westinghouse's transformer division and regarded as a leading figure in Sharon, a community of 25,000 in the heart of Pennsylvania's steel and soft coal region. He helped organize the United Fund, and was once president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Gets Facts From Swainson

AP Photofax

"HERE'S THE INSIDE STORY" — Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson (right) puts emphasis into his conversation with Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg Friday night on a plane taking them to Detroit from Lansing. Goldberg is on a tour of Midwestern cities suffering unemployment problems. He's holding a series of meetings with Detroit area business and labor leaders today.

Holly Streak Ends, but PNH Rolls On

Oakland County's last unbeaten team, Holly, rated the No. 1 class B team in Michigan by the AP last week, was upset last night by Milford, 68-61, in the key game of the prep schedule.

Pontiac Central rolled over Bay City, 81-56, and Pontiac Northern stayed unbeaten in the Inter-Lakes League by whipping Southfield, 77-53.

Avondale's hope for the Oakland B title toppled in a 73-69 setback at Oak Park. Details of the prep games are on the sports pages, 16-17.

France Fears Fuss Over Plane Buzzing

PARIS (UPI)—French diplomats expressed fears today that Russia would exploit the recent plane-buzzing incident off North Africa despite the government's formal apology.

★ ★ ★

The diplomats based their fears on reports of a nationwide anti-French campaign in the Soviet Union following the buzzing by three French jet fighters of an airliner carrying Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev to Morocco Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Brezhnev left today for Guinea for a state visit, leaving behind 14 Russian MIGS for the Moroccan air force.

The French government hoped to play down the incident by expressing "sincere regrets."

APOLOGY NOTE PRESENTED

A note of apology was presented in Moscow Friday night in reply to a Soviet note denouncing the incident and demanding punishment for the "culprits."

The French charge d'affaires in Moscow, Jean de la Grandville, called on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko again today.

Details of their meeting were not disclosed, but it was understood the Frenchman again assured Gromyko France is looking into the incident.

★ ★ ★

France said its reply was only a preliminary one pending completion of an investigation.

★ ★ ★

French officials said Friday that Brezhnev's Ilyushin-18 airliner was in a "danger zone" off Algeria, en route to Rabat, when the jets challenged it and fired across its path.

Engines Feast on Apricot Pits

Jet Planes Fed Diet of Roughage to Boost Their Performance

LONDON (UPI)—Apricots — or apricot pits — have invaded the Jet Age.

★ ★ ★

They have moved into the workshops of the U.S. Air Force.

And it's all because of the voracious appetites of hungry engines.

They gulp greasy jet fuel by the hundreds of gallons and, when parked, have been known to whisk the skirt off a passing lady into their jaws, or, on occasion, try to gulp down a mechanic.

But like all good trenchermen, the jets sometimes get queasy.

★ ★ ★

They gulp down more jet fuel, which gets expensive in hundred gallon lots, but put out less work.

So technicians at Bentwaters Air Base feed these queasy jets roughage.

★ ★ ★

They feed 'em apricot pits.

The apricot pits, ground up, are fed into the roaring engines as they run in a test cell, and it perks them up.

The ground-up apricot pits, called carbo-blast, are just abrasive enough to clean out the engine without harming its efficiency, M. Sgt. Ricardo Huerta, test cell NCO-in-charge, said.

blast treatment and their efficiency was increased some 40 per cent," Huerta's assistant, S. Sgt. Charles Otis, said.

★ ★ ★

The carbo-blast unit feeds the ground pits into J57 jet engine, used in F101 Voodoos, through a funnel, carefully metering the intake so that 200 pounds go through the shrieking engine in 30 minutes.

The carbo-blast grains clean out accumulated dirt and foreign particles — like leaves, and paper and ladies skirts — and enable the engines to produce more thrust per pound of fuel.

Otis helped put the first carbo-blast unit in at Bentwaters. It was built on the base using local sheet metal and welding shops.

★ ★ ★

And now when a jet engine demands too much JP4 for the thrust it puts out, when its revolutions-per-minute climb too high, it is put on a diet of roughage — apricot pits.

Wind-Powered Rains Batter Pacific Northwest

By United Press International

A steady rain driven by strong and gusty south winds beat down on the storm-lashed Pacific Northwest through the night and into today.

★ ★ ★

Gale winds pounded coastal areas with sheets of rain Friday, unleashing rock slides and floods.

Tons of mud and rock broke loose near Portland, Ore., and thundered down on a Union Pacific passenger train carrying more than 100 youths to a church meeting.

Two locomotive units were pushed into a trackside lake near the Columbia River and two baggage cars were derailed, but no one was killed.

★ ★ ★

The East Coast, which had been getting a major storm once a week, had the coldest weather during the night, but it wasn't very cold.

★ ★ ★

Weathermen said New England and New York State had nighttime readings in the 20s after Friday's thaw.

Dig Out Last of 10 Avalanche Victims

LENZERHEIDE, Switzerland (AP)—Swiss Alpinists dug from the snow today the body of a blonde girl, the last of nine Swiss school children who died with their teacher in an avalanche on Scalottas Mountain Friday.

★ ★ ★

Her name was Dorete Fino, 14. She and the other youngsters climbed up a steep and dangerous slope and met with disaster. The slide killed six girls, three boys and a young male teacher. One boy and a girl were seriously injured. Six uninjured survivors remained in deep shock today.

Police to Get New Tower

Pontiac Post Among 3 in State Scheduled for Radio Changes

The Pontiac state police post is one of three in Southern Michigan scheduled to get new radio towers, according to the State Building Division at Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The new tower is expected to be built adjacent to the Pontiac post at 1295 Telegraph Road by April.

It will replace the present state police radio tower located on county property, behind the Crippled Children's Home at Telegraph Road.

The shift was required by the county to make room for a 200,000-gallon-capacity water tower tank to be constructed on the radio tower's present site by April.

125 FEET HIGH

The new radio tower will be 125 feet high, of self-supporting structure. The present tower is supported by guide wires.

It won't be used instead of a new tower adjacent to the state police post because the guide wires would extend off state property, and might require replacing the tower later.

The other two state police radio towers are to be constructed at posts in Detroit and Ypsilanti.

★ ★ ★

A low bid of $20,750 for building all three towers and removing the old ones has been submitted to the state by Motorola Communications and Electronics Co. of Chicago.

The county's new water tower will serve the courthouse presently under construction in the County Service Center along Telegraph Road.

A $42,200 contract to build the 150-foot high water tower has been let to the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Construction is scheduled for completion in April, according to Robert Moore, chairman of the county board of auditors. He said work is to begin within the next couple weeks.

Swainson Cites Need for Revision

Blames Tax Setup for Problems

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State government has struggled from crisis to crisis during the past decade, Gov. Swainson said today because "Its tax structure does not respond adequately to the growth in the economy."

In background material prepared for a day-long governor's conference on Michigan's fiscal policy, Swainson said the need for fundamental revision of the state and local tax structures long has been recognized.

The governor said several study groups had reviewed the Michigan situation and all came to the conclusion that the state's tax structure is inequitable because of the heavy emphasis on consumer and property taxes.

Swainson pointed out that in seven of the past 12 fiscal years the state has spent more than it has taken in. For the entire period, he said, expenditures exceeded revenues and the general fund by $134 million.

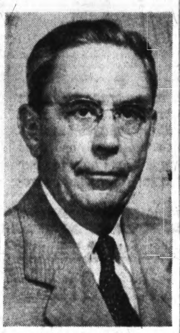
The governor contended that the deficit would have totaled close to $250 million if it had not been for the utilization of several one-shot or nonrecurring revenue sources and the enactment of eight major new taxes.

During the 12-year period, Swainson said, general fund revenues increased by some $253 million, but he said less than $25 million was the result of increased revenues from the tax structure as it existed in 1950.



CLARENCE K. PATTERSON

Part of the Professional Division for Promotion of Expansion Program

Clarence K. Patterson, 4560 Dow Ridge Rd., West Bloomfield Township, will head the lawyers group of the professional division in the Pontiac YMCA's expansion program.

★ ★ ★

Announcement of Patterson's acceptance of the group's leadership was made today by Robert M. Critchfield, general chairman of the program.

Critchfield stated that Ted Slosson, executive secretary of the YMCA, had reported increasing difficulty in scheduling boys and girls activities with the limited facilities at the present building, 131 Mt. Clemens St.

★ ★ ★

Plans for the building addition will eliminate such problems and provide for the growing membership which the school population indicates, Critchfield said.

Postpone Firing Juno Satellite

Second Launching in 2 Days Is Canceled by Technical Difficulties

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it postponed early today the scheduled launching of a four-stage Juno II satellite because of technical difficulties.

★ ★ ★

The schedule also was canceled for technical launching of Discoverer XX satellite from Vandenberg AFB, Calif., also was reason, the Air Force reported.

An announcement said the Juno experiment was intended to put a 74-pound satellite in orbit to study the structure of the ionosphere.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) did not immediately set a new date for the launching attempt.

★ ★ ★

The little satellite was equipped with a transmitter operating on six radio frequencies to give scientists more information about the ionosphere, a sort of "electric ceiling" ranging from 50 to about 1,000 miles above earth. This ceiling controls the distance and direction that radio signals travel.

★ ★ ★

The payload was intended to provide a space radio station to beam signals through the ionosphere.

The raid was planned and carried out under the direction of Capt. William Ware, acting chief of the township police force.

All of the places raided were private homes.

In one of the homes, owned by Isaac Smith, 49, and his wife Mattie, 43, at 21312 Grenlodge St., police arrested 18 persons.

Common Market Nations Put Off Political Talks

PARIS (AP)—Western Europe's six Common Market nations today put off until another "little summit" meeting in May any concrete proposals for giving their economic alliance a political framework.

Discussion which lasted until Friday night failed to produce accord on the major issue — President Charles de Gaulle's plan for a European political confederation.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left the current meeting unexpectedly. His departure caught French officials by surprise. But Adenauer was in good humor on his return to Bonn and told reporters "I am very happy over what has been achieved in Paris."

Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano accompanied him.

AGREE TO COMMISSION

In a communique that bore signs of delicate diplomatic surgery, the government chiefs agreed to set up a commission in Paris to prepare proposals for a May 19 session in Bonn.

The communique opened the door to other powers—particularly Britain — in any future Common Market developments, reportedly at the insistence of Dutch Premier Jan de Quay.

Firebugs Roam RO Twp.

Fear Grips Community

By DICK BUCK

Fear has taken up residence in Royal Oak Township.

It announced itself without reluctance last night as flames from the township's eighth firebug-set blaze since Monday brought unwelcome warmth to the snowy chill.

As a vacant multiple dwelling unit on Darlow Street burned to the ground, those who lived nearby talked freely of this week's outbreak of arson.

All had one thing in common. None would give his name.

A township police officer, on duty with a partner at the fire scene, put it this way:

"I want to be able to leave home at night without worrying about someone setting fire to my place. The township isn't big. Everyone knows me. I don't want to put my family on the spot."

And you couldn't blame him.

NOT ASHAMED OF FEAR

One of three women who watched the fire aloofly from a block away was unashamed of her fear.

"Oh, Lord, you don't know how scared the people who live around here are about this," she said. "We just don't know where it might happen next."

The woman noted that she hadn't been getting much sleep the last few nights. She told of hearing some noise, real or imagined and getting up and walking aimlessly about the house in the middle of the night.

The thing that bothered the three women was "Why — why was this happening?" That — with the uncertainty of where the fire bug (or bugs) might strike next was the moving van for fear.

There was also the frightening thought that fire, fanned by a strong wind, might some night run wild through the World War II Oakdale Gardens housing project which is still about half occupied despite condemnation last year.

"The police just have to get whoever is doing this," one of the women declared. Her companions quickly chimed in their agreement.

ARREST YOUTH FOR ARSON

And the police themselves feel the same way. An officer told of arresting a youth Tuesday night on suspicion of arson. The policeman said he confessed.

"But he sure didn't set this fire," the officer said. "He's in the Oakland County Jail tonight. We'll have to start searching again."

A man who stood near the flames to take advantage of their glow told of the extra fear this week's blazes had brought him.

He recalled when he was younger, how he had fled the second floor of a home as fire destroyed it.

He survived the incident with a broken leg. Some members of his family escaped unharmed. But others didn't get out. That nightmare has been reborn in this week of flames.

The man cringed at the possibility of once again being directly involved in a fire.

PATTERN THE SAME

The pattern in each of the eight blazes has been virtually the same. Only those buildings which are empty have been set ablaze.

★ ★ ★

At 8:50 p.m. Friday, approximately an hour before the newest blaze, a family living in a building beside the one which burned complained to police that "a tall man dressed in dark clothes" had left a blazing box beside their dwelling.

The fire was put out before it spread to the building. This same family has filed several similar complaints during the week, an officer noted.

Seven of the eight fires have been in the Darlow Street area. And in seven of the eight cases, the buildings have burned to the ground.

Royal Oak Township may not be large. Yet it's just big enough to harbor at least two highly undesirable residents — fear and one or more psychopaths who like to watch things burn.

ficials he will "do everything I can" to insure that an abandoned Air Force plant in the community is put back in operation.

He met with a delegation of Adrian officials following a news conference.

Goldberg was scheduled to discuss Ohio's mounting unemployment with Gov. Mike DiSalle this afternoon before heading for Pittsburgh, last stop on his mission.

The Cabinet officer offered hope of jobs to idle workers Friday in fast-paced visits to Chicago, Gary and South Bend, Ind., all centers of rising factory unemployment.

He called for united support of Kennedy's antirecession program and pleaded for a no-politics approach to domestic economic problems during his 15-hour Midwestern expedition.

Offers His Home for Foreigners

Mansion Awaits OK as National Guest House for Visiting Envoys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A millionaire's mansion here is awaiting government acceptance as a national guest house for visiting foreign delegations.

The 25-room house, Tregaron, has been offered to the State Department as a "home away from home" for groups visiting this country under government sponsorship.

★ ★ ★

Today, unless an official is his country's chief executive, the United States has no place for him to hang his diplomatic derby. Famed Blair House is reserved for heads of state or government. Thus members of touring delegations, such as exchange groups, usually seek shelter in hotels or their embassies while in Washington.

Tregaron, once the scene of glittering social galas, is the hilltop home of the late Joseph E. Davies, attorney and one-time ambassador to Russia and Belgium. The Georgian mansion, with its white columned portico, overlooks rolling hills and elaborate gardens in the Northwest section of the city. Its wooded seclusion contrasts with Blair House which fronts bustling Pennsylvania Ave.

Davies' will dedicated the 20-acre estate to use in improving international relations. One building houses the School for Advanced Study of International Communications and Understanding. This latest proposal would open the main house for guests of from 10 to 20 and would include a staff to run it, said Richard H. Stephens, member of the Tregaron Center Executive Committee.

★ ★ ★

The offer is under consideration by the State Department and other government agencies concerned. The State Department would pay visitors' expenses while at Tregaron. If approved, the house would tentatively open in 1961.

NEW QUARTERS — Plans for an open house tomorrow at the new Wixom City Hall are discussed by City Clerk Lillian Byrd, right, and Mrs. Darcy Young, deputy clerk, in the lobby of the modern municipal offices. The two women, along with other city officials, will greet visitors to the building from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The building, which is the first unit of a proposed civic center, opened Jan. 30. It is located on Pontiac Trail just east of Wixom Road.

Abolishes 2 Committees

JFK Names Four Advisers on Government Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has selected four advisers on reorganization of the machinery of government. He also has abolished two committees set up for somewhat similar purposes.

The four appointees, who will work as individual specialists rather than as a committee, are:

Robert A. Lovett, New York investment banker and a former secretary of defense and undersecretary of state;

Richard E. Neustadt, professor of government at Columbia University, who has been Kennedy's special consultant on organization problems;

★ ★ ★

Don K. Price, dean of the graduate School of Public Administration at Harvard University, who was an organization adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower;

Sydney Stein Jr. of Chicago, investment counselor, who formerly was an official of the Budget Bureau dealing with management and organization matters.

Neustadt also is adviser to the

ALSO SENATE AIDE

Senate subcommittee on national policy machinery, which has been exploring methods of improving the government's machinery for making national security policy decisions.

The two committees abolished by Kennedy were the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization, set up by Eisenhower in 1953, and the Advisory Committee on Management Improvement, set up by former President Harry S. Truman in 1949.

★ ★ ★

The four advisers will receive no salary but will be paid consultant's fees when serving.

In other appointments Friday, Kennedy named Brooks Hays, former congressman from Arkansas, as assistant secretary of state for congressional relations. Hays, 62, will receive $20,000 a year. He is a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Hays, a Democrat, will succeed William B. Macomber Jr., a Republican, who is reported likely to receive a nomination for ambassador, possibly to Jordan.

Norman M. Clapp, Wisconsin newspaper publisher, will be administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration.

CONSULTANT ON IRAN

Howard Bretsch, of Corvallis, Ore., who has been with the Ford Foundation as consultant to the government of Iran, will be administrator of the Farmers Home Administration.

★ ★ ★

John C. Bagwell of Arlington, Va., now general counsel of the Farm Credit Administration, will be general counsel of the Agriculture Department.

★ ★ ★

Harris L. Wofford Jr., who took leave as an associate professor at Notre Dame Law School to participate in Kennedy's 1960 presidential campaign, was named a special assistant to the President.

Woman Accidentally Killed by Husband

DETROIT (AP)—A young Redford Township mother was accidentally shot to death today by her husband with the gun he used to protect himself as a filling station attendant.

Mrs. Lynn M. Liverance, 25, was shot in the bedroom of her home. Police said the pistol of her husband Harold, 27, discharged as he was preparing to put it in a dresser drawer. Liverance thought the gun was unloaded, police said.

Mrs. Liverance, mother of a 2-year-old girl, died about two hours later in Wayne County General Hospital. She had been shot in the abdomen.

Productions Hold Own on Broadway

Costly Musicals Rate High With Public

NEW YORK (UPI) — The extent to which musicals appeal to Broadway playgoers in these times is best illustrated by the fact that there are 12 such attractions current as against 17 nonmusicals. That's a very high ratio.

This in spite of the fact that, except in rare cases, at least $250,000 has to be raised to finance such a production. And more likely the figure will run upwards of $300,000.

Producers seem to have the idea — and nothing has happened to disprove it—that the customers by and large want to get all the entertainment they can for the steep box office prices prevailing.

Most theatergoers, let's face it, are not too interested in the cultural aspects of the theater, and they feel that a musical, with its varied elements, offers the best chance of entertaining them.

While the price of mounting a musical does seem forbidding on the face of it, there are certain reasons why it actually isn't.

NONMUSICALS A GAMBLE

One of these is that the cost of putting on a simple one-set comedy or drama these days is apt to be near the $100,000 mark, and more complicated affairs can get close to $200,000.

Considering the mortality rate of nonmusicals, and rigor mortis often sets in the week of the opening, this is a tremendous gamble.

Also, in this era of the big advance sale economy in the theater, the musical is much more apt to attract the attention of organizations buying out performances long before premieres.

Such backlogs, which only a few plays attract, can let a musical that gets only so-so reviews hang on for weeks or months.

This may result in it "finding a public" despite the critics and turning a profit.

★ ★ ★

Even if it eventually winds up without paying off, actors, technicians and others—yes, even producers — will have been gainfully employed for a spell.

Another thing the musicals have going for them is the fact they are preferred in great degree by the "visiting firemen" and the expense account set.

Granted the usual exceptions that must be made in any generality about the theater, the musical is much more easily exploitable than a play. Its very size, color and flamboyance make this inevitable.

★ ★ ★

And it is purely a personal guess that the emphasis on original cast recordings of musicals, which has developed so in the past 15 years that almost every arrival is assured of such treatment, has been important in impressing the musical theater upon the public.

Rocket Thrust Mark for Engine Chamber

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Space scientists here say a rocket engine chamber, tested briefly Friday produced 1.55 million pounds of thrust—a record for American rocketry.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the measurement was made during a few seconds' test of the F1 thrust chamber, a prototype of one designed for the giant Nova deep space rocket of the future. The liquid-propellant F1 is slated for a flight rating test in 1962 and 1963.

The greatest thrust previously achieved was 1.3 million pounds by an eight-engine cluster booster designed for the Saturn rocket vehicle. Both are built by Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation.

British Scientists Say Explosion Created Universe

LONDON (UPI)—British scientists today touched off a possible international religious and scientific controversy with a claim that the universe began 10 billion years ago with a terrific explosion.

★ ★ ★

This conclusion came from a team of Cambridge University astronomists who probed the heavens with a giant radio telescope for eight years. Their findings were reported Friday.

Prof. Martin Ryle, the team's chief, said that by listening for radio signals, the scientists located more than 1,000 distant stars.

He said this supported a changing theory of the universe.

★ ★ ★

Observers felt the Cambridge cosmological theory may be disputed by religious leaders who will point to the Book of Genesis in the Bible which states:

"In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."

NYC Drivers Snarl Snow-Clearing Efforts

NEW YORK (AP)—It was legal for private car owners to drive in Manhattan Friday, but it was hectic.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner lifted the ban on nonessential driving but asked motorists to stay off the streets.

They poured in anyway, snarling the snow clean-up effort, especially on side streets.

Car owners, whose vehicles had been marooned in the snow, were startled to find $15 parking tickets on them.

Highway economists estimate that inadequate roads in the U.S. are costing motorists $5 billion a year in delays and car repairs.

Postpones Attempt to Orbit Radio Brain

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Agency early today postponed an attempt to orbit a "radio brain" satellite because of technical difficulties.

There was no immediate indication when another attempt would be made to fire the Juno II launch vehicle. NASA finally called off the shot at 4 a.m. EST.

The civilian space agency said the 75-pound satellite, with a record six radio broadcasting frequencies, was designed to study the structure of the ionosphere.
