2 Warrants Issued in State Road Deals

Fraud Claimed in Purchasing Muskegon Land

Highway Probe Names Mrs. Lois Moon Ley and G. Palmer Seeley

MUSKEGON (AP)—Municipal Judge William T. Caughey today signed conspiracy warrants charging a Muskegon woman and a state highway department employe with fraudulently obtaining $90,000.

Muskegon County Prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh asked the warrants against Mrs. Lois T. Moon Ley, a Muskegon real estate broker, and G. Palmer Seeley, of Grand Rapids, ousted state highway right-of-way buyer.

The warrants charge Seeley and Mrs. Ley with conspiracy to fraudulently obtain $90,000 or more of state funds in deals in purchasing state land for the U.S. 31 Harvey street relocation in Muskegon, Cavanaugh said.

Cavanaugh said he decided to seek the warrants after a conference with Michigan Attorney General, in Muskegon late last night.

The charges against Seeley and Mrs. Ley, Cavanaugh said, stem from operations carried out by the two during the period May 11, 1949 to Jan. 4 of this year in which the purchase of 67 parcels of land were involved.

In Lansing yesterday, Seeley demanded an opportunity to defend himself "instead of being subjected to continuing smear from veiled insinuations."

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler accused Seeley of gross irregularities "in firing him last week. Another right-of-way buyer also has been ousted in a widening investigation of Western Michigan land deals.

The chief of the right-of-way division in Lansing headquarters of the department has been relieved of his duties, and Attorney General Frank G. Millard has demanded issuance of warrants in connection with the deals.

In demanding a chance to defend himself, Seeley said in a statement he resented what he termed "McCarthy-like methods" being employed by "certain state and county officials."

New Controls Threatened to Curb McCarthy Tactics

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy faced a threat of new controls on his Red-hunting activities today as an aftermath of his angry feud with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Although the Wisconsin Republican seemed ready for an armed truce with Stevens over treatment of Army witnesses, he announced his permanent investigating subcommittee would launch a new investigation of the Army Monday.

The Army appeared to be cooperating. It promised to produce two privates McCarthy wants to question about whether they signed loyalty oaths when they put on the uniform.

But even as McCarthy declared that his fight with Stevens was "over as far as I am concerned," threats to his powers of investigation came from:

1. The Senate Republican leadership, which ordered a survey of the procedures of investigating committees.

2. His Republican colleagues on the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee, who indicated they would cut down the number of one-man hearings like the one at which McCarthy allegedly "abused" a Brigadier General and stirred Stevens to protest.

3. Subcommittee Democrats, led by veteran Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas, who Friday forced McCarthy to give more notice of hearings.

4. The White House where President Eisenhower took a hand in Stevens' statement Thursday, implying criticism of McCarthy's treatment of Army witnesses.

There were signs that GOP Congressional leaders believe Mr. Eisenhower wants them to take steps to curtail McCarthy's authority.

Colder With Rain, Snow on Sunday

Cloudy and colder weather with rain changing to snow flurries Sunday is the forecast for the Pontiac area by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

A low tonight of from 26 to 32 is expected to precede a high on Sunday of from 35 to 39 degrees.

Friday the temperatures ranged from a low of 23 to a high of 38 degrees in the city.

At 8 a. m. today the mercury registered 32, but by 2 p. m. in downtown Pontiac the temperature reading was 37.

The men were in the store about an hour, police estimated, and during that time one unidentified employe kept hidden behind a pile of boxes. When the holdup men fled, police said he released those imprisoned in the refrigerator.

The 34 were in no danger of suffocating, police said, since the sides of the refrigerator were pierced by vents.

Taylor was released when police arrived at 10:45 p. m.

Four of the men were armed with pistols. The fifth carried a deer rifle.

Senate Defeats Bill to Restrict Treaty Powers

Last Minute Dem Vote Gives President Victory Over George Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower won a majority victory in the Senate's vote last night killing proposals to amend the Constitution to limit treaty powers.

The vote was 60-31, one fewer than the required two-thirds of those balloting. The proposal that lost was one by Sen. George (D-Ga) which had emerged as the final of several versions the Senate has been debating since Jan. 20.

The President has said he has no objection to an amendment that would declare no treaty or international agreement could override the Constitution, but he has opposed various specific proposals he said unduly restricted the executive's right to handle foreign affairs.

In the final vote, 31 senators balked at the will of 60, but a minority may do so on the ratification of treaties. Only five senators of the 60 were not recorded on the roll call.

The President objected that one part of the George proposal—requiring congressional approval before international agreements could become effective as domestic law—would have impinged upon his war powers, and his authority to deal with diplomats of other nations. These agreements are made by the President or his representatives without having to be ratified by the Senate, as treaties are.

The margin of one "no" vote, supplied dramatically at the last minute by Sen. Kilgore (D-WVa), apparently means there will be no amendment at all, although it is technically possible to reconsider the vote.

Associates said the outcome—no amendment—would be satisfactory to the President. If the Senate had passed the measure, they said, the administration would have redoubled efforts to kill or water it down in the House.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, went against the President on the final vote, after he previously had opposed substituting the George (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

5 Rob Store in Ann Arbor

Armed Men Lock Up 14 Employees Friday, Flee With $3,000

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U)—Five armed robbers invaded a Kroger's supermarket, herded 14 employees into a refrigerator, shot the lock off a safe and fled with an estimated $3,000 last night.

Ann Arbor Police said the men entered the store through a loading platform at the rear of the building shortly after closing time. They forced employees into a refrigerator and locked the door.

Police said that the men kept store manager Kenneth Taylor with them as they emptied cash registers.

Then the five tried to pry open a safe. When they failed to jimmy the lock, they shot it off. The door had a time lock on it.

The money was the day's receipts.

Police said that the men fled in Taylor's late model car after locking the manager in the rear of a truck backed up to the loading platform.

The men were in the store about an hour, police estimated, and during that time one unidentified employe kept hidden behind a pile of boxes. When the holdup men fled, police said he released those imprisoned in the refrigerator.

The 34 were in no danger of suffocating, police said, since the sides of the refrigerator were pierced by vents.

Taylor was released when police arrived at 10:45 p. m.

Four of the men were armed with pistols. The fifth carried a deer rifle.

Tear Gas Bomb Routs Thieves

Automatic Device Foils Safecrackers; Police Link 4 Local Breakins

Thieves, linked to three other breakins Friday, were scared off by an exploding tear gas bomb inside a four-foot wall safe at Riemenschneider Bros. auto dealers last night.

Detective William Hanger said the thieves apparently fled from the building when the gas started seeping through the safe.

The bomb's trigger was tripped when the thieves attempted to pound the drift pin back into the safe. The dial was found lying on the floor next to the safe.

Police said all four breakins were similar.

An undisclosed amount of money was taken from another safe at the Kaiser Coal and Supply Co., 702 S. Paddock St., where entry also was gained through a rear window.

Some $115 was stolen from a gas station at 392 W. Huron St. after the thieves succeeding in opening the four-foot safe, and ransacked the office.

Another filling station at 816 Woodward Ave., was looted of eight cartons of cigarettes and $30.

The thieves, police said, made breakin attempts at a tavern, 188 Clinton St., and at another filling station, 304 E. Saginaw St., but were unable to gain entry.

Sick Juror Delays Hearing of Land Suit

Pontiac's suit for condemnation of property at 11-49 Parke St. for an off-street parking lot was adjourned Friday until 9:30 a. m. Tuesday by Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick.

City Attorney William A. Ewart and defense counsel William J. Beer agreed to the move because of the illness of a juror.

She became ill while Beer was delivering his argument to the jury as the three-week case neared its climax.

Beer told the jury that the only question before them was whether or not to condemn the property. He claimed the condemnation should not be approved because the proposed site is too far from the downtown area to serve effectively as a parking lot.

Students in Pontiac Area Promise Better Driving

Over 5,000 Pontiac area students promised yesterday to become better drivers.

They took pledges at junior and high school assemblies in connection with the state-wide teenage safe driving pledge project sponsored by the State Safety Commission and the Michigan Youth Advisory Council.

The local schools administered the pledges to the students concurrent with the first teenage driver safety conference being held in Lansing Friday.

Each student, following the program signed an individual pledge. The signed pledges, said Clyde R. Haakill, chairman of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee, will be mailed to the youth council in Lansing.

The Safety Committee initiated the local program this week by arranging the assemblies through school authorities. Mayor Arthur J. Law and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley administered the pledges at Pontiac High and, gave brief talks after the ceremony.

Others participating in the program are Mrs. Lee Hill head of the sub-committee on driver education and representing the PTA Council, Mrs. Evelyn Mason, of the committee; Arthur Terrell, Pontiac High driver instructor; John Thors Jr., principal of Pontiac High, and Troop Leader Gerald Taffel of Pontiac State Police post.

Students at Eastern, Washington and Lincoln Junior High Schools also took the oath.

Rochester, Avondale and Waterford High Schools planned similar programs.

"If the court should hold this section to be unconstitutional," Merritt continues, "the remainder of the statute would still be constitutional and proof of vaccination would be necessary to obtain a license."

Defense attorney Ralph T. Keeling claims the law unconstitutional because it doesn't apply to all persons in the county.

He also points out that persons in Pontiac are not required to have their dogs vaccinated before obtaining a license.

"A dog on the east side of Telegraph road need not be vaccinated while a dog on the west side of the same road must be vaccinated," Keeling said.

He suggests the present law be held unconstitutional and a uniform dog law be adopted by the Michigan Legislature which would apply equally throughout the state.

Name Nominees for Commission and Two Judges

Polls to Open at 7 A.M. and Operate to 8 P.M.; Precincts Increased

Pontiac voters will go to the polls Monday in a city primary to nominate candidates for seven places on the city commission and for two municipal judgeships.

Polling places will open at 7 a. m. and close at 8 p. m.

Thirty-one candidates, the largest primary field in Pontiac's history, await decision of the voters.

Twenty-six candidates are in the commission race at the primary with 12 to be nominated to places on the April 5 general election ballot (two each from District 2 through 7).

One of the five men running for judgeships will be eliminated in the primary.

All of the city's 38,101 registered electors may vote for municipal judges.

For the city commission, electors vote only for candidates in their respective district. Each of seven districts has one member on the commission.

But no commission primary is necessary in District 1 where only two candidates are entered. They are the present commissioner Roy V. Cooley, a physician, and Reuben LaFatin of 336 Dick St., photographer.

They will be on the April ballot. Electors may vote for one commission candidate from their district and two men for judge.

Commissioners are elected for two years, judges for six.

The number of precincts has been increased from 25 to 44 since the last election, when some polling places were overloaded. The 7,804 voters affected by the change have been notified by card.

After the primary, from March 2 through March 8, unregistered citizens may register to qualify for the general election.

All Pontiac residents who voted here at least once in the past four years are registered.

All candidates run on a non-partisan basis. Two of the present (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

B36 Catches Fire, Burns on Runway

SPOKANE, Wash. (U)—A 3½ million dollar B36, the world's largest bomber, caught fire on the Fairchild Air Force base runway and was destroyed today but all 20 men aboard scrambled to safety unharmed.

The fire was detected in a piston engine by an alert crewman as the plane was warming up for a routine training mission.

The intercontinental bomber, which carries 12,116 gallons of fuel, burned fiercely and was a total loss. One gasoline tank exploded.

Press Search for Airliner Missing With 9 on Board

CASPER, WYO. (AP)—Combined air-ground rescue teams, aided by clearing skies, pressed the search today for a Los Angeles-to-Minneapolis airlines plane missing in Wyoming or South Dakota with nine persons aboard.

The Convair 240 airliner, with a crew of three and six passengers, was reported missing late yesterday at Wright Junction, about 80 miles north of Casper.

Military and Civil Air Patrol planes from Wyoming, Colorado and South Dakota went aloft at dawn to trace the airliner's route over mountainous terrain between Wright Junction and Rapid City.

S. D. Amphibious SA16 planes from the 44th Air Rescue Squadron at Lowry Air Force Base at Denver, Colo., kept up an all-night shuttle search along that 183-mile route.

Ground search parties also were sent out at scattered points in eastern Wyoming and in South Dakota.

The airliner, running behind schedule, was due to arrive at Rapid City at 10:34 a. m. (MST) Friday.

At Las Vegas, Nev., it was boarded by its three relief crew members. They were identified as Capt. M. Ray Cawley, 39, of Bountiful, Utah, pilot, married and the father of four children; 1st Officer Robert E. Crowther, 35, of Salt Lake City, co-pilot; and Stewardess Mary Creagan, 29, Salt Lake City.

Dulles Leaving for Venezuela

Big Issue at 21-Nation Meeting to Be Plans to Check Communism

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles leaves Sunday for the Inter-American Conference, determined to obtain a united front against Red expansion in the Western Hemisphere.

Dulles will board President Eisenhower's personal plane, the Colombine, at 9 a.m. EST for Caracas, Venezuela, where the foreign ministers of the 21 republics will hold their 10th annual meeting.

Many important economic and political issues will have to be resolved, but a stringent check on Communist inroads in North, Central and South America tops the U.S. agenda.

Informed sources in Washington said Dulles will seek adoption of a resolution that will be the counterpart of the Lima document which unified hemispheric policy against Nazi infiltration.

Moving slowly, the secretary intends to avoid irritating Latin American countries with demands for more vigorous action against communism than they are prepared to take.

A State Department official said the basic objective will be to awaken other American republics to the danger of Communist expansion and to reassure them of U.S. opposition to imperialist intervention.

Soviet Leaders in Agreement With Military

A parade of top Soviet general officers this week paid glowing tribute in the Moscow press to the leadership of the armed forces by the Communist party—and Stalin.

The tributes, coming on the Soviet army day last Tuesday, laid such heavy stress on party devotion that they suggest an internal necessity to impress the point upon armed forces, party and public.

The mentions of Stalin had just a hint of the unabashed extravagance which attended use of his name in the press during his lifetime, an indication that Stalinism still reigns in Moscow, although the leader's glory has been somewhat dimmed in death.

The stream of laudatory articles gives the impression that the party's present rulers have reached some sort of understanding with the armed forces. The articles read almost as if all had been dictated by the same source, as if in the discharging of an obligation.

If the party has the armed forces safely under control, the Kremlin power struggle likely is over, at least for the time being. The struggle reached a climax last July with the arrest of Lavrenty P. Beria. As head of the interior ministry, he headed a private army for which the regular army officers had no love.

Col. Gen. A. S. Zheleznikov, chief of the political administration of the armed forces, wrote the essay in Pravda.

The government paper, Ivestia, carried articles by Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the armed forces, and the top navy man, Adm. N. G. Kuznetsov. Kom-somolskaya Pravda, the Young Communist paper, had an article by Adm. S. Zakharov, and the trade union newspaper Trud had one by Lt. Gen. V. Vorobiev.

GOP FEP Bill Dies in House

State Affairs Committee
Agrees to Let Measure
Pass Filing Deadline

LANSING (M) — The Republican version of a fair employment practices bill was reported dead in committee today.

Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe), chairman of the House State Affairs committee said his group had informally agreed to let the bill die Wednesday when the deadline for reporting House bills passes.

The move was taken, he said, because Rep. Louis C. Cramton (R-Lapeer), sponsor of a traditional FEP bill, threatened to amend the Republican measure on the floor to turn it into his bill.

Cramton, despite solid support by Democrats, was unable to force the committee to report his bill.

The Republican measure, sponsored by Rep. Adrian De Boom (R-Owosso) would, like Cramton's forbid discrimination in employment be it for race, color, creed or national origin.

But De Boom's bill would add the important words "or membership in any lawful group."

This addition is opposed by unions. They contend it would end union shops where those hired must be members of a union.

In its Friday session, the House put on a burst of speed and advanced 54 bills for final votes Monday.

They included bills to:

Make it a felony to solicit information from grand jury witnesses sworn to secrecy.

Cover between 50,000 and 75,000 more workers with workmen's compensation by extending coverage of employers of two or more instead of four or more.

Name U.S. 25 from the Ohio border to Bay City the Clara Barton Memorial highway and U.S. 31 through Oceana, Mason and Manistee counties the Pere Marquette Memorial highway.

Scheduled House debate on a bill to require licenses for fishing in the Great Lakes was deferred until Thursday.

Passed in the Senate and sent to the House were bills to:

Increase the State Liquor Control Commission from three to five members, raise their salaries and abolish the two-man board of liquor hearing examiners.

Exempt from the state inheritance tax the real property held jointly by husband and wife.

Prevent the estates of foreign-born Michigan residents from going behind the Iron Curtain by allowing the state to hold such estates for rightful heirs unless it is proven that Russian satellite governments will not be the real gainers.

VOTE for—and RETAIN J. H. Patrick Glynn

for City Commissioner in District 6

Some pertinent facts you should know

The people of the 6th District have had without any question of doubt one of the best representations of any district in the City of Pontiac. The Recreation facilities in District 6 are about the best in the City. They include the Boys' Club, YMCA, City Recreation program at Eastern Jr. High, Central School playground, the New Oriole Field Playground with baseball and football fields, Skating Rink, Swings and Slides. This in THE ONE DISTRICT that has ALL RECREATIONAL FACILITIES and more will be added when the budget permits. Your children do not have to go elsewhere for Recreation. District 6 also has a Branch Library. The New City Hall is being built in Your District through the efforts of your PRESENT COMMISSIONER, J. H. Patrick Glynn and the other Members of the Commission with whom he has worked with for years.

Don't be fooled by the suggestion for an underpass on Auburn Avenue. School underpasses are obsolete and a menace to the lives of YOUR CHILDREN on the way to school and back home. It is a loitering place for sex deviates to attack and assault YOUR CHILDREN. POLICE RECORDS BEAR THIS OUT and Underpasses are frowned upon by Local Police, State Police and Michigan State Highway Department. Underpasses are being abandoned everywhere because they are catch-alls for FILTH, DIRT and WATER. Why waste the taxpayer's money? The School Board is going to place Auxiliary Police in this area and install signals.

You NOW have one of the finest representatives on the City Commission—One who has always done the best for the majority of the people in the City of Pontiac and his district.

"Pat" Glynn has demonstrated that he has no selfish interests in asking to be retained as your representative on the City Commission. "ASK YOUR CHILDREN WHO KNOW HIM."

The voters of District 6 are too intelligent to be misled by last minute letters and pamphlets filled with vague generalities and veiled insinuations. Actions and facts will speak for themselves.

Laborite Split Damages EDC

Disension May Quash
Rearmament Movement
for West Germany

LONDON (AP) — American and British policy has suffered a setback from the split within Britain's socialist Labor party over the rearment of West Germany.

Even if only temporary, the reverse raises the threat the West may dissipate a public opinion advantage gained at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin.

Generally, West European Socialists have opposed the idea of a West German military contingent in a European Army (EDC). Their opposition, particularly in France, has delayed the ratification of EDC. And EDC represents a cornerstone of United States and British policy for the defense of West Europe.

Britain's Labor party is regarded as a senior and honored body by Socialists on the continent. Had Laborites here wholeheartedly backed a West German military contribution to EDC, their example might have influenced their colleagues in France, Italy, the Low Countries, and in West Germany itself.

But British Laborites split almost exactly down the middle.

A Labor delegation favorable to EDC will discuss the question with continental Socialists at meetings in Brussels this weekend. But probably the influence of the British deputation has been frittered away.

Though the Laborites have been feuding three years, the emphasis heretofore has been on personalities, the party moderates, who still control the organization, follow the leadership of former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and Herbert Morrison, while the leftwing has clustered behind Aneurin Bevan.

But the German rearment fight was one of principle. At a caucus last Tuesday night of Labor members of Parliament the Bevanites gained 104 votes against German rearment—only nine short of the total polled by the moderates. Up to now Bevan's strength has been reckoned between 40 and 60.

Bevan kept quiet during the caucus. Harold Wilson, his chief lieutenant, made the fight for the leftwingers in the smoke-laden room.

Mitchell Refuses to Dine
With McCarthy in Chicago

WASHINGTON (INS) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell refused today to attend a St. Patrick's Day banquet in Chicago where Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will be one of the speakers.

Mitchell declared in a message to Chicago's Irish Fellowship Club, of which he is a member, that he "will not break bread with a man who has borne false witness against over 30 million Americans."

McCarthy commented: "It won't hurt my dinner at all not to have him there."

Mexico Outlaws Opposing Party

Henriquistas Charged on Grounds of Constant Subversive Agitation

MEXICO CITY (U)—Mexico last night outlawed the Federated People's party, chief opposition to President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines' dominant Revolutionary Institutional party, on the ground it engaged in "constant subversive agitation."

The Interior Ministry announced the order barring the three-year-old political organization of Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman, a retired army officer who ran a distant second to Ruiz Cortines in the 1952 presidential race.

There was no immediate comment from Henriquez, but political sources said today strong protests are inevitable and the party, which polled 17 per cent of the vote in 1952, will not be inactive.

The general's followers, called Henriquistas, are the first officially ordered out of the Mexican political picture as a party since the rightist Sinarquist Union was outlawed during the regime of President Manuel Avila Camacho in World War II.

The Communist party remains legal. It is small.

The Interior Ministry, in accusing the Henriquistas of fomenting disturbances, said many requests had been received from labor farm and political groups to suppress the party.

Ruiz Cortines, 62, was elected president in 1952 by the usual heavy vote given an administration party nominee.

Following the election there were scattered disturbances over the country. Only this month, a Henriquista rally in mid-town Mexico City developed into a shooting riot that led to the arrest of about 98 persons.

There were charges—denied by the Henriquistas—that some of those involved in the rally were Communists.

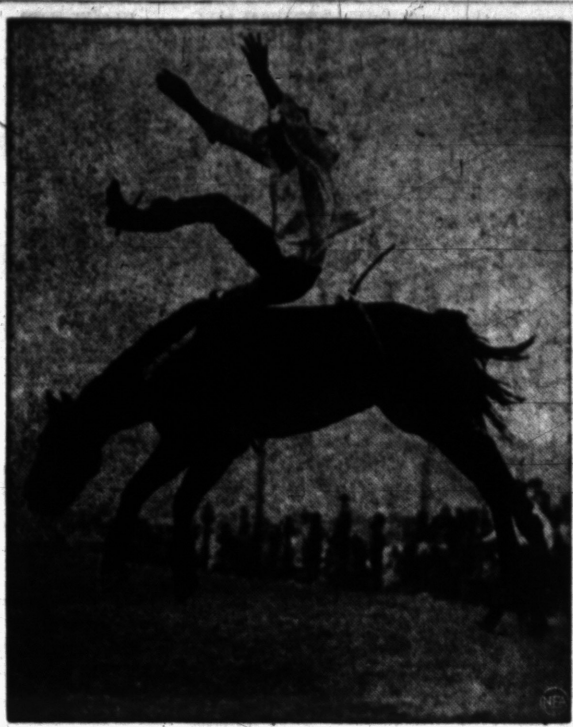

Earlier post-election events included the arrest of Col. Vicente Estrada Cajal, an opposition leader, on charges of "subversive activities." There was a riot in Mexico City.

New teletype receiving and sending machines are now functioning at Pontiac General and St. Joseph Mercy Hospitals to speed confirmation of Blue Cross insurance claims.

Pontiac General Hospital Director Lauretta Paul said written confirmations previously took from two to four days to come through from Blue Cross headquarters in Detroit.

The two hospitals are cooperating in use of one circuit, according to Sister Mary William, St. Joseph superintendent.

Southwick's wife, Donna, 20, and Bird, were injured critically in the accident on U.S. 16 near Fruitport.

Potter Backs Bill for Dairy Supports

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Charles E. Potter was among 23 members of the upper chamber named Friday by Sen. Edward J. Thye as co-sponsors of a bill to keep dairy support prices high.

Thye, a Minnesota Republican, read the names of 22 and Sen. William Langer (R-N. D.) asked that his name also be included on the list. The sponsors include 14 Democrats, 9 Republicans and Independent Sen. Wayne Morse.

Thye's bill would prevent Agricultural Secretary Benson from dropping butter and other dairy price supports more than five per cent a year. Benson has announced the supports — now at 90 per cent of parity — will be lowered the full legal limit, to 75 per cent, for the year starting April 1.

Justice Douglas Shoots Two Lions in Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (U)—U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas returned yesterday from his sixth—and most successful—lion hunting trip.

The score: One 7½ foot male lion roped in a tree and then shot. One 7-foot female lion shot with a .22 caliber pistol from 35 feet. Each cat weighed almost 100 pounds.

Douglas killed the lions in the rough Chiricahua Mountain country of southeastern Arizona.

Artesian Well Blows Its Top

Gushes Around Clock 130 Barrels Per Hour of Water, Sand

ROSE CITY (U)—A rampaging artesian well began to slow down last night after gushing huge quantities of water and sand for 24 hours. Since Thursday afternoon, the well had been gushing at a rate of 130 barrels an hour, pouring its water into the main street and dampening basements of several homes in this small Ogemaw County community.

But this town of 400 still has a problem. The sand tossed up by the gusher is spread over the lawn of the community hall.

State Conservation Officer Robert Van Camp estimated there was five or six truckloads of fine sand dumped on the lawn.

Van Camp said that well diggers were drilling down a 4-inch casing of an artesian well supplying the hall with water. The old well had been losing its pressure. The diggers ran into a rock at the bottom of the pipe and managed to drill through it Thursday.

That released a terrific amount of pressure, shooting water and sand up the pipe so fast that drillers were unable to cap the flow.

A crew of 25 men and two bulldozers battled the gusher around the clock until the flow began to slow down last night.

Van Camp said the well now could be capped. However, he said, the well digging crew will let it flow until the sand has settled.

The city gets most of its water from similar wells and Van Camp said the community might be in for more trouble since the release of the pent up pressure might tend to lower pressure in other wells.

Straits Bridge Builders Plan $100,000 Dock

MACKINAW CITY (U)—Merritt, Chapman and Scott Corp., which will build the substructure for the giant bridge to span the Straits of Mackinac, has leased land along the waterfront for construction of a dock.

The dock will be used to haul in equipment and material. The dock will cost an estimated $100,000 and will be turned over to the city on completion of the bridge.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1954

Be Sure to Vote Monday

As a registered voter of Pontiac you have an important duty Monday—help nominate candidates who will vie for seven City Commission seats in the April election.

In a very important respect this is an unusual primary. The 29 men seeking the 14 nominations make up the largest field of primary candidates in the city's history.

This indicates an extremely healthy interest in municipal affairs. It also means that the voters in six of the seven districts will have a wide choice of candidates.

In District One there are only two candidates for the two nominations and these, Dr. Roy V. COOLEY and REUBEN LOPATIN, automatically qualify for places on the election ballots.

Finally, it is important that there be a heavy turnout of voters. Experience shows the larger the vote the wiser the decision.

Voting is the good citizen's duty.
 Don't neglect yours.

Dondero Bill

Recently, the House of Representatives passed the Dondero Bill to increase the fee for validating applications for passports from one dollar to three dollars.

Certainly the Press goes along with this type of thinking. Any one from this area or any place in the United States who is contemplating foreign travel can pay two dollars more to offset the cost of processing passport papers.

Currently the fee is one dollar for handling charges and a nine dollar fee for the passport which goes to the Federal Government. The purpose of the new bill would permit State officials and county clerks to be paid three dollars for execution of a passport application.

Congressman GEORGE A. DONDERO introduced this measure in the House after it had been brought to his attention by Oakland County Clerk, LYNN D. ALLEN. "The cost of processing these applications was costing the Oakland County taxpayers money," said ALLEN.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution supporting the Dondero Bill and urged passage of the measure.

Should the Senate pass the bill it would mean a savings not only to Oakland County but to all 3,071 counties in the United States.

EDC Gets New Boost

While the Berlin parley disappointed all those who had hoped for German and Austrian settlements, it has had one cheering after effect.

Britain's Labor Party now realizes that Molotov offered Europe nothing. In fact all the Continent could hope for was divorce from U. S. protection and subservience to Moscow.

The result is that a majority of the party now backs the stand of Anthony Eden and the Churchill government favoring inclusion of German troops in EDC.

The London Daily Mirror, previously opposed to German rearmament, now stoutly argues that German participation in EDC is the only sound course.

In Washington there is considerable opinion that the French Assembly will take a similar view after digesting Foreign Minister BIDAULT's report on the Berlin meeting.

Thus a conference that was so devoid of benefit for Europe that Western foreign ministers laughed at some of Molotov's proposals, may prove a boon to EDC. At least that appears to be the significance of the change in British Labor Party sentiment.

Polish Consulates Closed

Secretary of State DULLES will have the support of public opinion for his order closing Communist Poland's three consulates in the United States.

The note requesting this action went to Poland's ambassador, JOSEF WINIEWICZ in Washington. It pointed out that the consulates in New York, Chicago and Detroit served no useful purposes in U. S.-Polish relations. The note concluded with the request that consulate personnel be withdrawn within a reasonable period.

Actually the order was not surprising. For some time Michigan members of Congress have been complaining to the State Department that the Polish consulate in Detroit was a center of Communist propaganda activity.

Thus the effect of Secretary DULLES' orders is to close up three more suspected operating bases for Communist espionage agents.

The People's Business

What Ike Means

Advice on Jobless Benefits Interpreted 2 Ways Here

LANSING (AP)—What did President Eisenhower mean when he said unemployment compensation should be raised by the states so that the great majority of unemployed workers will get at least half of their regular earnings?

That statement has become one of the big political issues of the year—at least in Michigan. Labor says the President meant half the average wage. In Michigan, it says, the average is about $88 a week.

Management says the President meant half the take-home pay. That, it says, is about $70 a week.

Michigan law now provides benefits of $27 to $35 a week at the maximum, $27 for the single man earning more than $51 a week and $2 more for each dependent up to $35.

The Republican-sponsored Teahen bill in the Senate proposes to raise that amount $2 in each class to a maximum of $37, except that the single man or a man with working wife would not get the boost.

So: If the President meant average wages, the grants would be about $35, or about what the Teahen bill proposes.

Secretary of Labor MITCHELL sent the President's advice to the governors and said his chief meant 60 to 67 per cent of average pay.

Actually, the Michigan law now gives half the total pay in many classes. The trouble is that it stops with the $51 weekly wage level. So thousands of industrial workers who make more than $50 fall below the 50 per cent benefit. And, of course, many workers do not get the maximum.

Labor argues that unemployment compensation from the start, in 1936, was based on the premise that a worker idle through no fault of his own should have half his pay from a fund set up by employer contributions. In 1936, the average pay was $30 a week and the maximum benefit was $16, labor says.

Now, says labor, the average wage is $88 and $46 is needed to maintain a family of four in basic necessities. So it wants $44 unemployment compensation at the top.

Management says Michigan pays the second highest compensation in the nation now, that the benefits have been increased $7 a week in the past five years and that benefits now are 11 per cent higher than the comparable increase in the cost of living.

Management says the President was talking about southern states when he asked for increased benefits.

Management says that if the benefit gets too large there will be no incentive for an idle worker to find another job. It says it is willing to stave off hunger and want, but not to underwrite idleness.

The Teahen bill also would raise the maximum benefit period from 20 to 26 weeks. Both management and labor seem to agree on that—but that's all they agree on.

Gov. WILLIAMS vetoed a bill last year which would have provided the 26-week maximum. He argued it benefitted management greatly, but labor little.

The benefit to management contained in the 1953 bill was the merit rating system, a new method of computing employer contributions. Labor opposes that again this year, claiming it will depreciate the $400,000,000 compensation fund. But its objections seem aimed more at finding trading stock.

The merit system would reduce the minimum employer contribution from 1 per cent of his payroll to one-tenth of 1 per cent—if he has a good employment record. It would raise rates for employers with bad records.

Some manufacturers object to this, claiming it penalizes them for a high employment record during the war and necessary layoffs afterward. The big auto companies will benefit, labor says.

Management generally approves the plan because it can build up its fund reserves in good times, instead of being hit during depressions, as now.

What are some of the other issues in this brewing fight?

The Teahen bill would require an unemployed worker to apply for "available" work or be refused benefits. Present law requires him only to accept "suitable" employment.

Labor says this can be used to force a skilled tool maker to take a job as a soda jerk.

Management says this provision would encourage idle workers to seek other work actively instead of just waiting for a recall to their old jobs or a job referral from the State Employment Service.

The Teahen bill would deny benefits to a man who is drawing workmen's compensation for an industrial injury. Management says no worker should draw unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation at the same time.

These are the basic issues now being fought in the Legislature.

Mary L. Chapman Stresses Importance of Voting in Primary Election on Monday

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published unless the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I wish to urge the voters in the City of Pontiac to inform themselves regarding the candidates and to vote at the city primary election on Monday, March 1.

It is regrettable that so few people go to the primary elections when two candidates for the city commission will be chosen in each district and four candidates for municipal judge.

It is important that we choose the best possible candidates in the primary.

Directly after midnight in our suburban locale the canine chorus cleaves the quiet. The basso of the great Dane and the squeek of the Pekingese vie for supremacy in sound.

Name You Give to Last Day Before Long Fast of Lent Depends on Your Ancestry

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Take your choice of names for this big day in the Christian year—Pancake Tuesday, Carnival, Fat Tuesday, Mardi Gras, Fastnacht, Doughnut Tuesday, or Shrove Tuesday. What a person calls next Tuesday depends pretty much on his ancestry. But, to everyone, it is the last day before the long fast of Lent.

Shrove Tuesday, the best known name, comes from the custom in the old times of people making their confessions and being "shriven" just before Lent began.

The other names, with the exception of the German "Fastnacht" (eve of the Fast) and the Italian "Carnival" (farewell to meat), all have to do with the problem of using up forbidden foods before the Lenten prohibition took effect.

Meat, fat, eggs, and butter were put into rich concoctions by thrifty housewives, and the day became one of excessive eating and merry-making.

The same general tone prevailed on the preceding two days of the week, and Sunday and Monday were days of feasting, leading up to the big revel on Tuesday. Taken together, the three days were called Shrove-tide.

March 3 is known as Ash Wednesday. It is the first day of Lent and is a strict fast in the Roman Catholic and some other churches.

The name comes from the centuries-old custom of putting ashes on the foreheads of the people as the long penitential season begins. Before Mass Wednesday, morning in countless churches around the world, priests will dip their fingers in ashes made from the burning of palms that were blessed last Palm Sunday.

Then, touching the forehead of each person, the priest will say, in Latin, "Remember, O man, that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return."

When this custom started, the ashes were not given only to the public penitents; that is, the victed criminals, who were brought barefoot before the church door. As time went on, however, relatives and friends began to show their humility and their affection for the culprits by joining them and asking to be marked as sinners, too.

Finally the numbers of these extra, self-condemned penitents grew so large that the administration of ashes was extended to the whole congregation, and the ceremony developed into its present form.

On the first Friday in Lent each year millions of women in every part of the world join together in a World Day of Prayer. This year women of 114 nations, including those of 17,000 U. S. communities, will unite to form this annual "circle of prayer" around the globe.

The same service is used everywhere, translated, of course, into the local language, and the same general plan of operation is followed everywhere.

In each community one church is selected for the service, and throughout the day women of all denominations come and go.

In the U. S. the women are given an opportunity to make a money offering, which is expected this year to exceed $300,000.

After 30 years of sticking to the same make of auto, I was almost persuaded to switch to another car. But the salesman's opening sentence alienated me. If you are interested in sales psychology be sure to study this Case Record and send for the bulletin mentioned below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case K-336: Jerry J., aged 35, has just joined an automobile agency. His job is to sell used cars.

"Dr. Crane, since you've taught sales courses for many years, what advice would you give me?" he smilingly inquired when I was scheduled to address his Ohio convention at Toledo last fall.

"I want to make a success in this new field. I've had sales experience with insurance, but have never sold tangible goods like automobiles."

Don't alienate your prospects or affront them! That is a cardinal axiom of sales psychology which is frequently violated by auto salesmen.

For example, Mrs. Crane and the children have been working on me to change to a different brand of automobile.

I'm a conservative buyer and have purchased this same make of T-passenger car for 30 years. We have long required almost a bus to haul our big family.

Last fall I finally consented to let them ask a different dealer to demonstrate his car.

But Mrs. Crane knew I would be swayed considerably by the trade-in allowance of my present machine.

So the dealer sent over an appraiser to inspect my auto. He drove it around the block. Then he reported to the dealer.

The latter called back for Mrs.

Crane, but she was out, so he talked to me.

"That car of yours is in terrible shape," was his blunt opening remark.

Well, you readers probably know how I reacted, for I responded about as you would have done. A man looks on his car somewhat as he does his children, and few parents will accept blunt criticism of their youngsters.

"You're crazy as a loon," I exploded immediately, "and if that's the report your appraiser made of my car, he doesn't know his business."

"I just had new rings installed two months ago and the valves ground. There isn't a rust spot on the body and there are four new white wall tires with extra heavy inner tubes."

The car has gone only 50,000 miles and has never been in a wreck. The radio and heater work perfectly, so I'll just keep it another year or so," and I hung up.

This salesman was handling a rival T-passenger brand of car, but he violated the first law of salesmanship in his opening sentence.

For you should make it a rule to go with the customer as far as you can, even in your opening remark. For that promotes friendliness. And you can't hope to sell anything to an enemy.

So start your sale with a compliment. Tell the prospect that he has kept his car in very good shape. If that is the case, and never begin by depreciating his automobile.

"But then he'll want too much trade-in allowance," Jerry protested.

That is your cue, as the salesman, to smile graciously and say, "Yes, your car certainly is worth all you ask for it, but we must go by the book evaluation, which is so-and-so. We'd like to go higher, but we aren't permitted to do so."

Thus you retain his friendship by agreeing with him. This is also called the "arm-in-arm" technique, for you both are going in the same direction in your mutual agreement about his car.

Then deftly get the new car beside his old one so he can obviously see the comparison. But never belittle his old car.

Then let him and his family drive the new auto as soon as possible to get the possessive "feel" of it.

For further advice, send for my bulletin "The New Psychology of Advertising & Selling," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

 Malfiance Ex Libra and nepotism in Gloria have reared their ugly two heads on one body politic.

Falling Asleep Too Easily in Company May Show Need for Daily Iodin Ration

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MAIL BOX

Time to Bed

Disgusting to go to sleep when attending church, embarrassing to fall asleep in your chair when you have company (Mrs. W.)

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet The Iodin Ration. Do not use clipping.

Cramps in Legs

Cramps in legs, sometimes so bad I can't walk, sometimes they wake me at night (Mrs. C. M. L.)

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Adult Tetany.

Little Difference

Is there any great difference between emprin and aspirin . . . ? (W. H. E.)

Answer — Emprin is a mixture of aspirin and phenacetin with a little caffeine.

Hard Nails

Toenails ingrown and thick and tough as horse's hooves. Impossible to cut them unless I soak them for 20 minutes in hot water and ammonia. Can you suggest anything better to soften them? (Mrs. T.)

Answer — Apply daily to the nail only (not to surrounding skin), official solution of caustic potash (Liq. Potassae), by means of wisp of cotton on end of toothpick. Let it dry before putting on stockings. In a few days the nail will be soft enough to cut. A block of lavastone may be used to rasp or file tip of ingrowing nail till it is thin and flat. Do this carefully every two weeks and it will bring complete relief as the nail growth is redirected.

Potentiator

Happy to report how much benefit I have received from the tablets of B 12 with potentiator which you recommended instead of vitamin B 12 alone. Injections of B 12 gave only temporary effects. These simple tablets keep my blood strength up all the time—sleep better and have calm nerves (Mrs. W. O.)

Answer — Some good doctors still insist that "shots" of vitamin B 12 are more effective than B 12 taken in the ordinary way. I'm still unconvinced. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (no clipping, please) for pamphlet The Red Blood Vitamin.

It seems pretty well established now that the potentiator, folic acid, is desirable if not essential to assure the full effect of B 12.

Lesson No. 25

Ten years ago I sent for Little Lesson 25 on Constipation. It proved a blessing to me. I had depended on pills, cathartics, so much on first reading I just thought you were talking through your hat . . . but the third time I read it I commenced to see the light . . . presently found I was freed of the physic habit and have remained so . . . (O. R.)

Answer — It's like trying to tell a mollycoddle it is all right to go without an overcoat, hat or chest protector in any kind of weather. For the booklet The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Easy Way

Several attacks of piles the past two years. Is there any easier way to get rid of 'em than operations? My wife went through that and she suffered more from the after-effects of the spinal than she did from the whittling . . . (W. P. S.)

Answer — Yes, the ambulant (office) injection treatment is painless, does not detain the patient from regular work or play more than a few minutes each session, gives at least as satisfactory results as hospitalization and surgery. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (no clipping, please) for pamphlet on Piles.

Half a Century?

My sister consulted a doctor who said she has an allergy. He gave her a prescription, which cost $50 to fill. What medicine can be so expensive? (Mrs. C. E. A.)

Answer — Probably an extract of horse feathers. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (no clipping, please) for pamphlet Relief for Allergy.

Can Do No Harm

I don't know what we would do without your advice. Your home made cough medicine is magic, we find . . . (Mrs. J. P. L.)

Answer — Instructions for whipping up a batch of the fool proof cough medicine for child or adult in Little Lesson No. 5 Call It CRL, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sheath and Jacket Provide Answer to Smartness Around the Clock

Hates to Call Old Friend's Hubby 'Mr.'

Woman Asks How to Address Spouse of Childhood Pal

By EMILY POST

A reader asks: "Will you please tell me what to call the husband of a woman friend of mine whom I haven't seen for years, but who has recently moved back to this town."

"She and I were inseparable playmates when we were very young and it was quite natural for us to begin over again by immediately calling each other by our first names. It bothers me to call her Mary and then turn to him and say Mr. Smith, but I hesitate to call him John. What do you advise?"

Answer: Had you called her Mrs. Smith, then you would have called him Mister. If I were you, I would say to him, "Mary and I were playmates throughout our childhood. I really can't call her husband 'Mister'."

Dear Mrs. Post: To settle a question, will you please tell me if it is considered compatible with dignity and good taste for a woman who soon will have a baby to appear at social gatherings—particularly those at which many young people are present. I would very much appreciate your opinion.

Answer: In spite of the fact that it is definitely better for her to be completely unselfconscious and go to parties as usual, I do agree that she should not go to debutante dances.

Dear Mrs. Post: We have recently had a death in our family and are now busy writing thank-you notes to those who sent flowers and other messages of sympathy.

We would like to know if it is necessary to send thanks to those who called at the funeral home and signed the register. If so, would a printed card be proper? Answer: It is not necessary to write thank you to those who merely signed the register.

Spring Ensemble Blends Simplicity With Detailing

The sheath and its jacket continues to be a fashion winner. In fact, this kind of ensemble has greater importance than ever for it is the answer to smart dressing right around the clock, from 9 a.m. through dinner.

Vera Maxwell designed this costume and while it still embodies the great simplicity for which she is famous, it has some sparkling items of detail—the direct result of a recent stay in Bavaria.

Wax Applier Serves Many Other Purposes

Ingenious housewives have discovered many uses for the long-handled wax applier aside from the one for which it was intended.

With its plastic head and slender handle, the applier is extremely light and therefore ideal for raking webs from high corners, dusting walls and ceilings and washing the top of an automobile.

The applier originally was designed to take the bending and stooping out of floor waxing. But it wasn't long before someone discovered that after the floor had been waxed, those fresh tracks made by rampaging junior could be easily whisked away with the applier, its chenille pad moistened with water.

Others found that dark closet corners could easily be reached with the applier, and its low plastic head would not leave dust on long dresses hanging close to the floor, as a dust mop would.

Some use the applier for washing and painting screens; others for erasing floor defects with sandpaper or steel wool, each of which can be fastened in the head. Some use it for washing down the walls of showers.

Of course it also is handy for shoeing Rover out of the house, or dislodging the cat from under the stove.

Check Items You'll Need in the South

Vacationers Apt to Forget Some Sun Essentials

If you are leaving a cold community for a winter vacation in a sunny clime, better make a careful check of the things you will take.

When cold winds blow, it is easy to forget certain warm-weather essentials.

Naturally, you will spend some time in planning the type and number of dresses and sun clothes you will need.

But don't neglect any of these: beach robe, shoes and cap, suntan oil, summertime accessories first-aid kit, hair-setting lotion.

Although you may not need the latter item at home, you probably will find that life on — or by — the sea bedrags the hair.

Winter holidays, whether spent skiing or swimming, tend to work havoc on complexions that have been exposed to the drying effects of artificial heat and chapping winds.

So, to protect your face from the winds and sun you will encounter on a cruise, take along a soothing cream.

The makers of a well-known suntan lotion have introduced a cream made especially to combat the effects of both wind and sunburn.

The new product is especially recommended for use by skiers who are apt to suffer severe wind and sunburns if they leave exposed parts of their bodies unprotected.

The company also advises the use of this product by anyone whose skin is particularly sensitive.

The girl who is fresh from the steam-heated office is likely to be among that number when she has her first encounter with the sea and the sun.

No-Iron Tour Togs

Touring tip: On a long trip, dress the children in materials, like seersucker, that need no ironing. Then plan to stop now and then and take all the soiled "kids" to an automatic laundry for quick washing and drying.

Start the year out right. Take inventory of the creams and lotions you'll need during the dry-skin season. Well-known dry-skin products will help keep your skin fair and beautiful in all kinds of weather.

Get Off the Beaten Path to Find Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Recently, there have been some interesting additions to my collection of part-time jobs which women have worked out for themselves.

A reader in Virginia tells me of a woman doctor who married and had three children.

When these children entered school, she wanted very much to get back to work, partly because she loved medicine and partly to help the family budget, which her husband's salary didn't quite cover.

But medicine is in most cases a full-time job, and she didn't want to work during summers, Christmas, and all the times when her children were on vacation.

She got a job as a school physician, and her own vacations coincide exactly! Also, she has regular hours and is always home for dinner.

Another reader, in New Jersey, tells me of a wonderful part-time job which her 78-year-old aunt has uncovered.

She loves cats and makes her pin money boarding them in her home over weekends, when families in the neighborhood want to go away. "She's a new woman," my correspondent says, "and looks not a day over 50!"

And a girl in Indiana told me of a young mother with children in school, who specializes in decorating nurseries.

For a flat sum, she will fix up a nursery with all the furniture and equipment, even including bottle-warmers. For people who are not rich, she gets to work with paint and secondhand furniture.

Her designs and her special touches are so appealing that everybody loves her work, and even a lot of people who could do it themselves pay her because they get such an unusual and enchanting nursery.

Part-time work is hard to find, if you look only on the beaten path. But if you open your mind to all kinds of unusual ideas, and open your eyes to the needs of the people around you — and if you really like to work and need the money — you can uncover a part-time job that is perfect for you.

Try It Make Dragon From Sock

Here is one of the funniest puppets! He is not only fun to make, but fun to look at. This is a dragon puppet made from an old sock and some scraps, but working him is fun for his mouth seems to talk and grin at the same time.

He looks a lot like one of the relatives of "Ollie," the famous dragon puppet. Perhaps he is a long lost second or third cousin.

You will need one of a pair of worn-out socks. Place the sock up over your arm with your hand going through the foot and staying at the toe. Cut a mouth in the sock, dividing the toe part of the sock. Cut back about 4 inches.

Now, cut an oval piece of felt which will fit into the mouth of the puppet. Sew this in place, turning

Hollywood Sets Styles of Hairdos

Irene Castle Started Things in 1918 With The Bob

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Hollywood still is a pace-setter for hair-dos but never has there been such an uproar as that caused by a pretty dancer who appeared in a couple of movies back around 1918.

Her name was Irene Castle. In discussing hair styles recently, director Claude Binyon named Miss Castle "the greatest hair-do reformer in history."

"It's a funny thing," he said, "that in this day and age when Hollywood can barely remember her and in this generation which never heard of her, a passing wind on any other street corner can still unveil a monument to her memory!"

Binyon recalled that runner-up in the days of the Irene Castle bob was Anna Q. Nilsson who went Miss Castle one better and "darned near cut off ALL her hair."

He added: "The result was that the Poniola Bob, or boyish hair-do swept America. Literally millions of women marched into beauty parlor and barber shops and got manish haircuts."

In another era Clara Bow, the "It" girl, and her Betty Boopish spicurlis were being worn every way you turned, the director recalled.

"And of course," he said, "in the early days of the motion picture—even before Irene Castle—Mary Pickford inspired a curl style that had a whole generation of imitators."

More recently, Shirley Temple started another curl craze and the country was knee-deep in little girls with curls.

"The Shirley Temple era started back around 1935," Binyon laughed, "but you still see 'em around. I don't know whether it's the same little girls or not!"

Latest Hollywood hair styles to be copied by an eager public are Jeanne Crain's bob-cut bob; Ursula Theiss' Italian boy hair-cut, and Jan Sterling's chrysanthemum bob.

Women Over 35 Shunned by Offices

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK (UP) — In a classroom just off lower Fifth avenue 30 women sit down daily as students, brushing up on their shorthand and typing.

The youngest is 35, and all but a few are from 45 to 60 years old. With luck, they'll be working in offices in a few months.

They need the luck because jobs are hard to get when a woman passes 35, no matter how fresh her typing and shorthand skills. These women are part of a unique experiment to combat those job advertisements that read — "Typists and stenographers wanted — 15 to 25."

The School of Industry, a private endowed welfare agency here, gives classes for older women who had former training in typing and shorthand and want to get jobs now that their children are grown.

How old is too old for a secretary applying for a job? "A good executive secretary who can grind out the work can get a job in her 50's," said Jane Shipton of the Career Changing Clinic. "But it is likely to be the work-horse kind of job."

Pleasant secretarial jobs where a woman meets her company's clients or her boss's contacts are more likely to go to younger girls.

"At this point it is an individual thing with each company," continued Miss Shipton. "Many flashy offices in advertising agencies or fashion or cosmetic houses insist on young girls. If they keep a woman on past 35, they very nicely transfer her to a job behind scenes — what we call the working girl's Siberia."

Office workers have the most serious problem with age. For them, a giveaway age sign like a sagging chin line is far more dangerous than the boss's receding hairline.

This is the field that employs the most women — more than 5,000,000. Past the age of 44, however, the number of women working in offices drops sharply.

"Employers are afraid older women will be rusty if they haven't been working," said the personnel head of the large advertising agency. "We had that idea too for a while. Then we started giving older women jobs as receptionists."

"We found they were better at sizing up the people who came in. They were more likely, for instance, to recognize the shabby young man as the nephew of one of our biggest clients."

The result is that one company is that women in their 40s and 50s have been hired for other jobs.

"They have fewer love problems, they don't stay out as late at night — they're at their desks more often," added the personnel head.

Yet in a survey made by the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, each city studied had an age limit applied to women job seekers far more often than to men.

Presbyterian Looking Back Over 130 Years

One hundred thirty years were recalled Wednesday at First Presbyterian Church as 370 guests gathered for an anniversary dinner.

Some of the guests were seen in dresses, shawls and bonnets of another age. Boys and girls in costumes presented a play depicting the organization of the church in the farmhouse of Mr. and Mrs. John Vothels 130 years ago.

The play was written and directed by Mrs. Robert Bogg, Mrs. O. E. Stockton and Florence Schaefer. Dinner was served, and the group joined in congregational singing and a birthday cake was cut as part of the celebration.

Mrs. Lyndon Salathiel had charge of the dinner. She was assisted by Mrs. Roy Foshender, Mrs. B. B. Kimball, Mrs. Louis West, Mrs. Grace Schulz, Mrs. T. C. T. McFetridge, Mrs. W. G. Winn, Mrs. Arthur Warwick, Mrs. Donald Dickerson and Mrs. Elizabeth Winters.

Big Clothing Collection Distributed by Catholics

By Religious News Service
NEW YORK — Roman Catholic parishes throughout the country contributed more than 10,000,000 pounds of clothing in a Thanksgiving Week campaign to aid needy people and refugees in Europe, Asia and the Near East, it was announced here.

According to the headquarters of War Relief Services-National Catholic Welfare Conference, this was the largest amount ever collected in the annual drive.

Meanwhile, Frances Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, blessed the first shipment of contributions from the drive which were earmarked for Korea. The shipment comprised 23,687 bales, cases and sacks of clothing, shoes, bedding and medical supplies totaling 2,600,000 pounds valued at $4,500,000.

Special Rituals to Mark Start of Lent Wednesday

The solemn season of Lent will start Wednesday, March 3. This day, known to the Christian world as Ash Wednesday, is most generally observed by Roman Catholic, Anglican and Lutheran churches.

In the Catholic Church, palms blessed a year ago that were not given out on Palm Sunday are burned in a ritualistic service at the first Mass that day.

These ashes are used throughout the day by the officiating priest as he makes the sign of the cross on the forehead of the worshippers as a sign of penitence.

The season is also observed by most of the other Christian churches either by evangelistic effort or in other ways to place a special emphasis on the spiritual life.

Protestants Ask Boycott Against Sunday Selling

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — A boycott against stores which remain open on Sunday is being advocated by Protestant ministers here.

Members of the local Ministerial Alliance adopted a resolution urging their congregations not to patronize such stores.

The clergymen agreed to preach sermons on Feb. 28, attacking Sunday business practices.

Lutheran Seminary in Latin America OK'd

NEW YORK — Establishment by the Lutheran World Federation of an international Spanish language theological seminary in Argentina was approved in principle at a meeting here of the Federation's Committee on Latin America.

The committee requested its executive secretary, Dr. Stewart W. Herman, to consult with interested boards and churches to obtain more specific proposals.

In another action, the committee decided to place a pastor for permanent work among the Lutherans of Quito, Ecuador, as soon as it is possible to find a suitable candidate. It is expected that he will come from the Lutheran Church of Norway.

Hope was expressed that it will be possible to establish Scandinavian Lutheran pastors in Mexico to minister to Scandinavian residents in that country and "down through Central America."

A HAND WITHIN OUR OWN

No one gets very far without the help and support of others. There are moments when we pride ourselves on our independence, when we take pleasure in going it alone. But when the chips are down and the going is rough and our energy is exhausted, we need a helping hand.

No one knows this better than a young army officer who appeared on television the other day. During the Korean war this man—together with a group of other Americans—was captured by the Communists and taken on an eleven-day forced march to a prisoner of war camp.

For the first seven days the young officer held out; on the eighth day, sick and exhausted, he collapsed. His captors would have left him to die where he fell; but another American captive—who didn't even know his name—picked him up and carried him the last three days. Then the two men were separated and didn't see one another again until they were brought together on a TV program.

This is more than a moving war story; it is a parable of human existence. Looking back on our own lives, all of us can recall times when we never could have gone through a crisis unless someone had been there to carry us, to believe in us, to support us, to hold our hand within his own. The Bible puts it this way:

Two are better than one. Woe to him who is alone when he falls and has not another to pick him up!

Lansing Church Promotes Use of Golden Rule

LANSING—A minister who induced his flock to accept strict adherence to the Golden Rule for a 30-day trial period, assessed the results of the experiment here.

The Rev. William Hainsworth of Mayflower Congregational Church "sold" the idea to his congregation on New Years Day. When January ended, the red-brick edifice's 150-seat auditorium was jammed not only with church members but with neighbors and other townsfolk who had heard about the project, tried it and wanted to testify to its success.

Mormons to Get Colleges Again

Utah Legislature Gives Control of 3 Institutions Back to Church

By Religious News Service

SALT LAKE CITY — A bill to turn back to the Mormons three junior colleges now operated as public institutions was passed at a special session of the Utah Legislature here despite protests by civic groups in the affected communities.

The institutions — Dixie College at St. George, Snow College at Ephraim and Weber College at Ogden — were transferred to the state in the early 1930s by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints with the deeds in each case specifying the college would revert to the Mormons if it was not maintained by the state.

Gov. J. Bracken Lee proposed the re-transfer in a message to the Legislature saying it would relieve the state of the financial burden of operating the schools without discontinuing them.

"In view of the financial difficulties which the state will face in the future in the operation of its education program," he said, "I suppose that all the junior colleges originally obtained from the Church be returned to it."

"No one will question the high quality and character of church education. The educational opportunities offered to youth are just as great in this program as they are in the state's."

Assurance that the Church would resume title to the institutions and operate them as part of its educational system was given by J. Reuben Clark Jr., second counselor of the Church's First Presidency, shortly after the governor's message was sent to the Legislature.

Search Difficult Situation for Guide Light to Victory

By NORMAN VINCENT FEALE

I sat one day in the office of the owner of a great store. Filled with splendid merchandise this store justifies its fine reputation. And the history of the man who built it is the romantic old American story.

I asked him to tell me what he thought were the reasons for his accomplishments, starting with literally nothing and achieving such outstanding results.

He thought for only a moment. Then he said: "God, my wife Helen, America and hard work. That's it in a nutshell."

He went on to illustrate the points he had made by telling me that he had come to that city with "twenty-five cents in my pocket and my bride by my side." Both of them put in long hours of hard work.

In a few years, in partnership with another man, they were able to open a shop of their own. Unfortunately, the partnership didn't work out, circumstances made things even worse, and eventually they lost the store.

"I found myself on the streets of this city once more," he told me. "But this time I was a little ahead of the game."

"I had a thousand dollars left, the same wife, more experience, faith in God, myself, and in these

At a recent official board meeting at First Methodist Church, the board voted to present a ticket for an all-expense tour of the Holy Land, to the pastor, the Rev. Paul R. Havens. Mrs. Havens, who was born in England, will accompany him.

The tour will visit 14 countries and members of the party will be guests of the Christian Approach Mission in Bethlehem. With mission workers as guides, the group will see and study the Holy Land.

The mission is located on the main Bethlehem-Jerusalem road and from its hilltop location guests can view the Dead Sea, mountains of Moab and rooftops of Bethlehem.

The Havens will leave the party at London on the return trip to visit relatives in Plymouth, Bournemouth and Cornwall, returning by plane the first week in June.

6 Disney Films Up for Oscars in 1953 Contest

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — You think you've got problems? Walt Disney finds he is competing against himself in two academy divisions. The wizard of Burbank faces his biggest year in the Oscar derby. He is up for six different productions, an amazing number for an independent producer. But his joy is somewhat tempered by the fact that his films have to fight each other as well as the rest of the nominees.

Disney has two entries in the one-reel cartoon class — "Toot, Whistle, Plunk and Boom" and "The Rugged Bear." In two-reel shorts, his "Ben and Me" is up against "Bear Country." Woe is Walt.

The nominations show how Disney has branched out from his original business of grinding out Mickey Mouse shorts. "The Living Desert," up for the feature-length documentary award, is his first feature in the true-life adventure nominated for the best documentary short, is his first venture in a companion series called People and Places.

"Ben and Me" is Disney's first 20-minute short and "Toot, etc." is his first cartoon in cinemascope.

His major 1953 effort, "Peter Pan," isn't up for an Oscar since cartoon features have no niche in the voting setup. However, Walt isn't worrying. It has already won the movie goers' award of seven million dollars in domestic gross, according to Variety.

"The Robe" may rank as the top money-maker of all time when the returns are totaled up, but it has been something less than an artistic triumph. Witness the fact that it garnered only five Oscar nominations to "From Here to Eternity's" 13.

FUN RIOT—Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis and their inimitable antics are back in a new comedy riot, "Money From Home." The film, written by Hal Kanter from a story by Damon Runyon, was produced by Hal Wallis and directed by George Marshall. The brand new comedy, being shown on the Panoramic giant screen at the Oakland, is in Technicolor.

Planes Supplant Stages
BOSTON (UP)—In 1800 to fewer than 26 stagecoach lines operated out of Boston. Each week, 116 coaches arrived at or departed from Boston. The running time between Boston and New York was 40 hours. Today, airliners make the trip in 55 minutes.

MOUNT PLEASANT (UP)—The annual conference of the Michigan Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation will be held at Central Michigan college here March 25-27, it was announced today.

Bound Over on Charge
Garrett N. Waddy, 60, of 213 Rockwell Ave., was bound over for arraignment March 8 in Oakland county Circuit court when he waived examination yesterday on a concealed weapons charge. He was returned to Oakland County Jail when he failed to produce $200 bond set by West Bloomfield township Justice Elmer C. Dietrich.

Annetts Consider Comfort of Friends When Planning for Sylvan Lake Home

Friends as well as family were considered when Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Annett built their new home at 2799 Sylvan Shores Drive.

The Annetts believe people should plan their homes around their everyday lives. Although basically a house is designed for the family unit, part of the comfort and enjoyment of your home, they claim, comes from the circle of friends for whom you keep an open door.

Thus the spacious recreation room, barbecue room, first-floor shower and dressing room for bathers and the gracious living room.

Years of experience in inspecting and selling homes gave Annett an abundance of ideas that have proved valuable in their own home styling.

Overlooking Sylvan Lake, the beige Norman faced-brick home is contemporary in line.

Entering from the roadside, a central hallway leads to the living room, bedroom wing and has an open stairway featuring planters in place of the usual stair rail.

A study in greens, the L-shaped living room has one complete wall of ledgerrock and houses a fireplace with raised hearth.

The walls are covered with sea mist green and the sculptured carpeting is in the same hue. A padded cornice and draperies are a tone deeper. The formal sofa is upholstered in a pale beige tapestry with a pair of fireplace chairs in warm apricot.

Part of the living room is the dining area and furnishings for this are in provincial fruitwood. Covering the chair seats is a dull gold threaded tweed. One of the walls houses a built-in china cabinet with sliding glass doors.

Stratosphere blue provides the note for the master bedroom. Custom built-ins complement the color scheme with walnut finished birch.

Clipped cotton beige carpeting covers the floor and the draperies contain all the colors with touches of turquoise added for contrast notes.

The front bedroom with its triangular wood tiles is Bruce, Junior's room. Bay windows are hung with sea printed chintz cafe curtains. Chartruse colors the walls.

"This can be a study sometime in the future," pointed out the attractive Mrs. Annett, who besides selecting her own color scheme for the new home made many of her own curtains and draperies.

Two bedrooms with dormer walls are located on the third floor. Full-wall closets are features of all bedrooms in the Annett home with a cedar closet being adjacent to one room.

A three-zone baseboard heating system provides controlled warmth for the bedroom area, the living section and the recreation portion of the house.

The kitchen is an inviting room in both color and facilities. Soft jonquil yellow colors the wall section with patterned red formica covering counters and facing the wall behind the cupboard.

A built-in and hooded stainless steel stove has an extra warming oven in part of the work area.

Adjacent to the kitchen is the barbecue room where the Annetts spend most of their relaxation hours.

Walls are paneled in authentic surfwood which has had a white paint treatment to create an interesting effect.

An all-around room, it has a built-in barbecue facility in brick with the other wall of the room housing a bookcase section. Built-in facilities in this room include a swivel TV base with one cabinet for high fidelity.

The large picture windows of this room facing the lake are framed in Western printed draperies. Red leather chairs furnish the room.

Floors of the kitchen and barbecue room have been ceramic tiled in three shades of beige and brown.

The first floor, only visible from the lakeside, has a large California redwood paneled recreation room. A semi-circular bar faced in the same wood has a formica top and a complete unit containing a refrigerator, stove and sink. One full-wall facing the lake is of glass. A Roman brick fireplace is a recreation room facility with the floor in asphalt tile. All doors leading into this room are in a redwood shutter style.

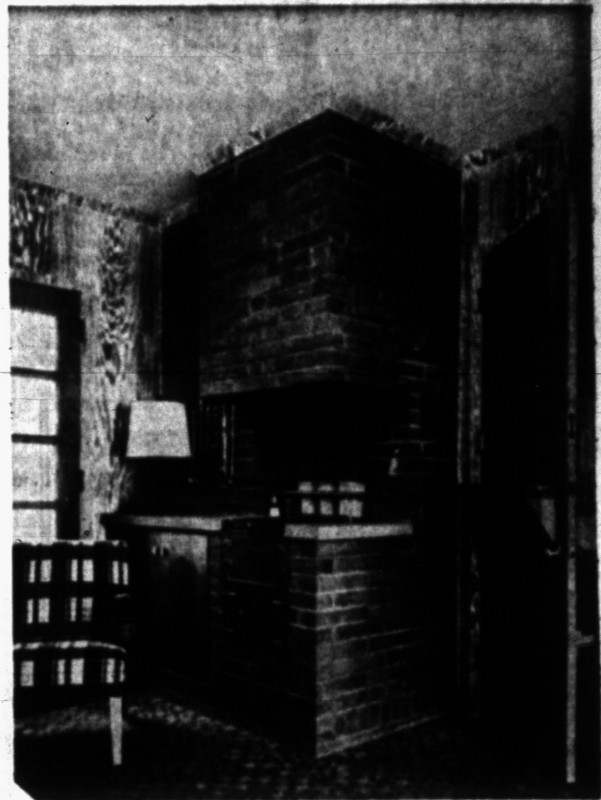

Other first floor rooms are a full-windowed laundry room, a fruit and storage room, a shower room and a powder room.

Mrs. Annett decided to rely upon accessories for color change in her bathrooms. Downstairs the combination dressing room and bath is done in sandstone tile. All the fixtures are in the same tone. She alternates towel and rug ensembles in pink, turquoise and sometimes yellow. Yellow and gray tile are used in the upstairs bathroom and the ground floor boasts a shower with a beige background.

The two-car garage located on the second floor and visible from the streetside has an identical space below for the family cruiser and lawn tools.

Designed by Leo Heenan, Pontiac architect, the construction superintendent was E. Derocher.

The landscaping features a series of tri-leveled terraces built of ledgerrock. Several full-grown oak, willow and walnut trees give shade and protection in both the front and backyards of the Annett home.

BARBECUE ROOM GRILL—Favorite room for the Annett family and their friends is this Western decorated barbecue room. Walls are paneled in authentic surfwood and in one corner section is the built-in grill. Storage cupboard facilities are part of this unit. Another wall in this room has built-in bookcases and the lower portion houses a swivel-based TV with a door concealing a high fidelity recorder. Draperies for the large window-wall overlooking the lake are in dude ranch print, one wall has a large wrought iron steer head outline centering an array of Western trivets.

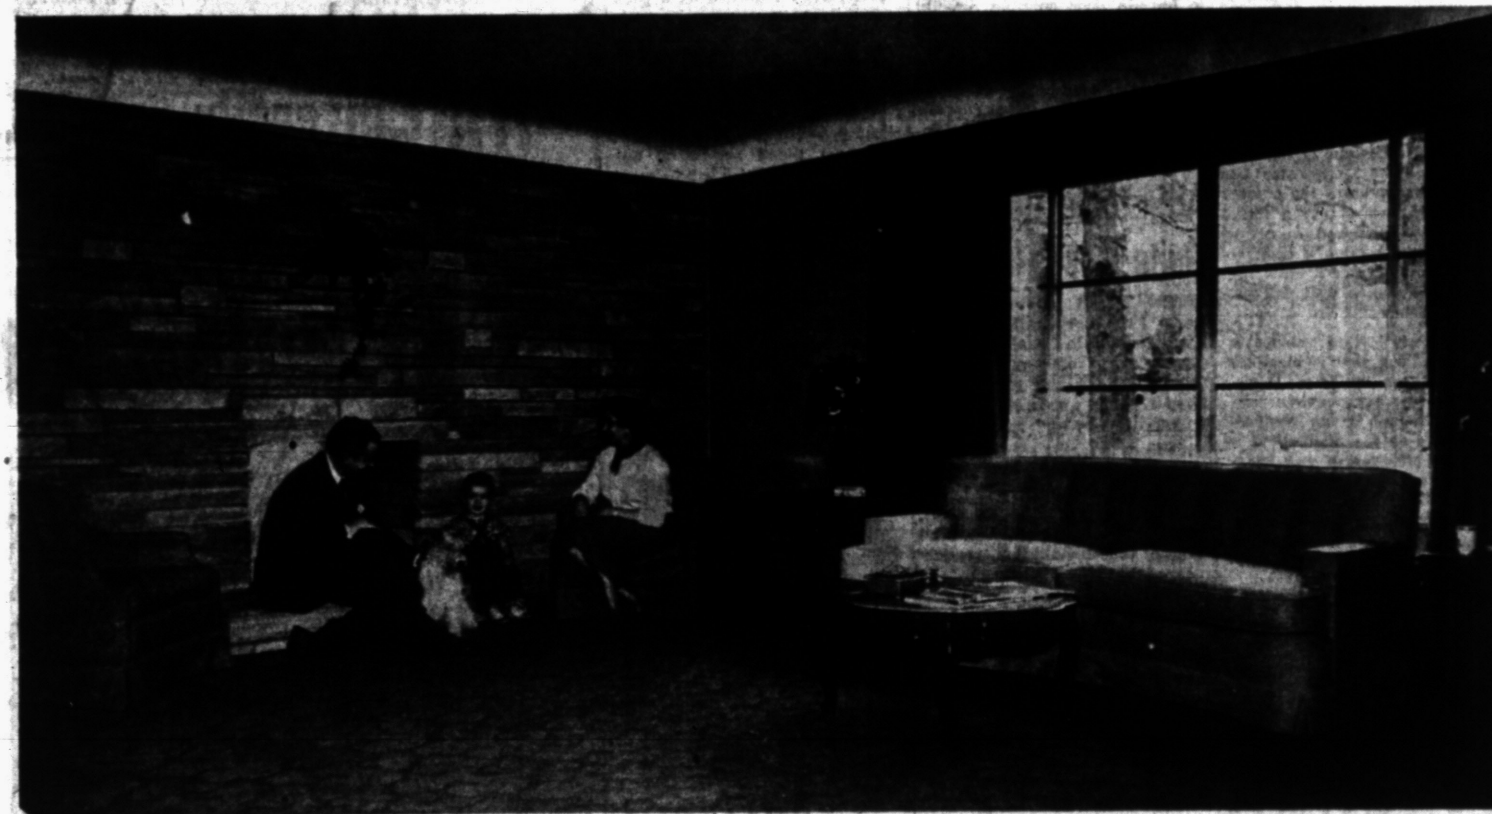

PLANTERS FORM STAIR SEPARATION—In place of the traditional stair rail, the Annetts selected a double planter arrangement to mark the stairway separation in their reception hallway. This central room is floored in ledgerrock. Accessible from here without going through the remainder of the house is the bedroom wing, the living room and the dining room as well as a stairway to the first-floor section of the house.

FRUITWOOD FURNISHES DINING ROOM—In Provincial styling, the fruitwood furniture selected by the Annetts has a dull gold threaded tweed for upholstery fabric. This room, too, has a full-window wall looking towards the lake. One wall contains a built-in china cabinet facility with sliding glass doors. Wall coloring matches that of the adjacent living room in sea mist green.

of the living room, as well as the cornice and draperies, are in sea mist green. Color accent notes for the large L-shaped room are in a pair of fireplace apricot chairs, a soft beige tapestry sofa and in the upholstery of the fruitwood Provincial chairs. All-marble window sills are features of the Annett home.

VIEW FROM LAKE REVEALS THREE FLOORS—Each of the three floors of the Annett home is a complete living unit of its own. First floor, only visible from the lakeside, has a large California redwood paneled recreation room, shower and powder room, laundry room, fruit and storage room and a garage space for the family cruiser. Second floor is the living room, dining area, bedroom wing, kitchen and barbecue room with the two-car garage on this level. There is a third floor with two bedrooms, and this house includes three bathrooms.

BRUCE ANNETT'S LAKESIDE HOME—A contemporary home design which from Sylvan Shores Drive appears to be a two-story plan is constructed of foot-length Norman brick. Surrounding landscaping features a series of terraces built of ledgerrock. Built on a site that fans out on the shores of Sylvan Lake, an extensive lawn reaches down to the lake in the back of the house.

Automatic Heat in 1 of 4 Homes

New Furnace Systems Removing the Drudgery From Tending Fires

Better than one of every four homes in the nation now has an automatically controlled heating system.

This reflects an increase of nine per cent during 1953 in the number of homes so equipped bringing the total to approximately 13,900,000. Surveys show that since 1943 there has been a 200 per cent increase in the number of homes with automatic heating.

Thermostats, stokers and automatic pilots have taken home heating plants out of the household burden class. Heating plants are getting smaller, too, many being no larger than a hot water tank or a refrigerator. This has encouraged more building of homes without basements.

Today's most popular heating systems include forced hot water in houses, either with or without basements; hot water gravity; nearly always in homes with basements; one-pipe steam, only in homes with basements; two-pipe steam, mainly in large homes with basements; forced warm air in houses with or without basements; warm air gravity, in compact houses with basements, and forced warm air "perimeter" in houses with basements.

In the field of controls the chief trend in 1953 was to the use of electronics to control home temperatures. It is expected that by the end of 1954 some 50,000 American homes will have both outdoor and indoor thermostats, which vary indoor temperatures according to outside weather conditions.

Older House Wiring Now Inadequate

Homes built 20 years ago were wired for lights chiefly, plus two or three small appliances.

Today the average home has at least 11 appliances and twice the number of lamps and fixtures. In most cases the wiring is too small to supply sufficient current for the expanded electrical loads.

Result: Sluggish, inefficient and costly operation of electrical equipment.

Lack of Insulation Causes Overheated Furnaces

A frequent reason for overheated furnaces is lack of weatherstripping and insulation. The air infiltration due to these inadequacies keeps the heating system running continuously.

Prospective Home Builder Should Consider Planning for Outdoor Living Room

If you expect to build a home this year, you can save money by doing your planning now.

It's a very good idea to sketch out your long-time dreams before you see your architect or builder. You'll be surprised at the fun and it can be profitable. For instance, thousands of planners have discovered how to get an extra-bonus living space.

You can have a lovely all-purpose outdoor living room for little or no extra cost. It will be roofed by the sky, and sheathed in natural wood walls to give privacy and to harmonize with the rest of the garden. You can spend more time outdoors and enjoy living in the modern mood.

Even our cavemen ancestors were smart enough to move outdoors when the cave became stuffy and overwarm. It is refreshing to discover that man hasn't lost these basic impulses.

The secret of getting this added living space, almost free, depends upon the imagination and ingenuity of the home builder.

Here's the way to do it:

1) The floor plan should be arranged so a sheltered area is formed, because the exterior walls of the home must double duty as the walls of the outdoor living room.

2) The walls should be built of wood for their texture and grain insures informality and beauty which blends into any outdoor setting.

There are several floor plans which develop sheltered areas for the roofless living space. The L-shaped house is one of the most popular and least expensive and provides two walls of the outdoor room. The third, or even fourth wall is simply achieved. An attractive fence-like screen, a hedge of suitable shrubbery or a brick fireplace serving as a wall will provide seclusion.

A slightly more elaborate U-shaped floor plan is ideal for enclosing an outdoor space. Complete privacy requires only the construction of an inexpensive fence or the planting of a hedge for the fourth wall. Savings can also be made with this plan as well as some of the others by backing up outdoor and indoor fireplaces, using the same stack and main brick structure.

Group to Protect Property Rights

Federation Established to Represent Country's Land Owners

Establishment of a national federation of property owners to represent the nation's 40 million property owners was announced today in Washington. To be known as the American Real Property Federation, the new organization will work to:

1. Protect property rights.
2. Expand and protect real estate ownership.
3. Eliminate city slums and blight.
4. Limit taxing, spending, and borrowing powers of government through constitutional action.

All types of property-owner groups, including thousands of local improvement and neighborhood associations, will be eligible for membership in the Federation, as will be trade associations in real estate and allied fields, corporations, and individuals.

Officers of the Federation named thus far are: Chairman of the board of directors, Charles B. Shattuck, Los Angeles, the immediate past president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards; vice-presidents, Screen Star Corinne Griffith, Los Angeles, and Chester Davis, Chicago; secretary, Herbert U. Nelson, Chicago.

"As long as property owners are not effectively organized," the Federation's announcement states, "they will be unfairly taxed, subjected to inequitable controls, socialized, and often abused."

"Effective work to protect the right of property ownership... will require the support of millions of property owners as well as trade and business groups whose primary interest is in real estate."

"Our country became great because it offered the individual opportunity to own real property and to become a shareholder in his community and country. This is the heritage that we must preserve."

Survey Shows Top Incomes Up Over 1929 Peak

Top-income family units in the $10,000-and-over annual income brackets have doubled since 1929—customarily regarded as a peak prosperity year—a recently made survey reveals.

An estimated 1,110,000 families in 1929 had incomes in this bracket, while in 1953 an estimated 2,300,000—4.5 per cent of the entire population—fell into this category.

Reserve liquid assets of this group—much of which will be spent for quality furniture, furs and cars—is expected to total almost $140 billion dollars in 1954, a figure three times the aggregate retail sales of everything in 1929.

Build Basement Facilities for TV-Barbecue Parties

Two favorite pastimes of the American family — TV and the barbecue party—can be combined indoors.

Until recently, TV occupied the living room and hamburger-roasting was restricted to balmy days in the yard or on the terrace.

Now designers have created some plans for "family living" areas that provide for all recreational needs. Usually this room is in the basement, well out of the way of the more sedate portions of the house.

You can plan your own TV-barbecue room. Here are some ideas.

1. Use heatproof, easily cleaned, building material for the barbecue.
2. Use wall space to the utmost. The TV set and radio can have their own niches in a wall-long series of built-in cabinets. Overflow storage from the closets upstairs may be kept in these cabinets.

As well as game materials and the dishes, utensils and cutlery used for informal meals.

3. You may have a center table if you like, but far preferable, from the space-saving point of view, is a snack bar surfaced built onto one wall. This keeps the middle of the room clear for activities.

4. By far the best lighting for a room of this type is fluorescent bulbs, but for cozy effects have the usual lamps here and there for reading and the times when games are not in progress.

5. By all means have an extra half-bath installed near the recreation center. It will serve the family all year 'round as, for example, in summer, when the youngsters can come in from play, full of dirt and sand, they can bathe and change here before supper.

Material Ideal for Glass Walls
in New Homes

Of especial interest to the occupant of the glass-walled house, is the announcement of a new silk-like gauze with special qualities to prevent sun-deterioration.

Called Fortisan Gauze, the fabric made in a variety of decorator colors, combines a cellulose fiber in the warp with solution-dyed yarns in the filling. The result is a fabric which, to a degree beyond that of any other fabric yet loomed, will not weaken when exposed to sunlight, will not shrink or stretch when washed, or dry cleaned, and is color-fast to washing, sun-light and atmospheric conditions.

Colors include caramel, gold, grey, turquoise, beige, camel's hair, pink ice, ivory, cream, lime, thistle, sand and willow green.

Brass Replacing Iron in Lamps

New Models to Feature Material in Various Forms, Finishes

NEW YORK (INS) — The brass age is replacing the iron age in lamp history.

Almost every new lamp in the stores this spring will be made of brass — polished, antiqued, buffed or satin finished.

Black wrought iron, after a two-year reign as the leading lamp material, is in the picture mostly as a dark background to the brass gleam.

The change-over from black iron to brass is the chief style news from the Chicago and New York lamp markets.

But there are other new ideas: More wood used, a definite trend toward white for color accent, many more "matched" floor and table lamps, and a surprising increase in mobile lamps — the kind that run up and down on pulleys, swing around on goosenecks and otherwise change position without a flicker.

In addition, the design of lamps has changed. Lamps are much simpler, more graceful and consequently more elegant. Instead of the twist of wrought iron, there are sleek brass bars, instead of ruffled shades, there are austere plastic drums and bubbles.

This doesn't mean row after row of pipe-like modern lamps. The new brass lamps are shaped like cages, cones, urns, vases, harps and bottles as well as poles. But they're all sleek and uncluttered.

Brass, an alloy which looks pretty elegant even undecorated, also comes in combination with wood, particularly walnut, china, glass, leather, pottery, silver and black metal. The use of more than one material makes it easier to place the new lamps into any decor.

For women who want color instead of shine, there will be all-white or white-and-gold lamps. White is especially important in lampshades, which are dominated by fiberglass or that soft, stretchable plastic with a cloth look.

In traditional lamps, Bristol glass seems the most important material. It is being used both in the satin and the glazed versions.

Whatever their material, 1954 lamps are a lot more agile than their predecessors.

The Lamp and Shade Institute of America held a special fashion display during the market to show off wall lamps that move up and down or swing in and out, and floor lamps that slither from shoulder height right to the floor.

Many multiple-arm lamps performed extra tricks with arms that turned up, down or sideways.

Windows Allow Drafts

Easier Mortgage Money to Boost Nation's Housing

Our next great advance in housing in the United States is coming through an improved flow of mortgage money, Ronald J. Chinnock, Chicago, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said Friday. He spoke to a conference of officers of real estate boards at Jackson, Miss.

"Maldistribution of available mortgage funds," Chinnock said, "has been a retarding influence during the past year in the nation's march to more home ownership and better housing standards. Fortunately, the situation has been improving in recent months, and is headed in a direction that will put millions of American families in a better position to become home owners."

"The basic goals of our industry are to build America better and sell America to more Americans. A wide extension of home and farm ownership to more of our citizens is our best program for true social security, economic stability, and the preservation of our tradition of self-reliance."

"Our industry has long recognized the fact that with our phenomenal growth in population and family formation, coupled with the traditional American thirst for home ownership, we have a constantly expanding demand for home buying credit that to some extent has outgrown our system for meeting this kind of demand. We have proposed an expansion of our system of mortgage finance through the creation of a secondary mortgage market — a place where mortgage lenders can sell mortgages they have made and get in position to do more original lending to home-buying families."

"Another important function of such a new mortgage marketing facility will be to sell debentures, secured by its mortgage holdings, to average investors and thereby bring a new source of funds into financing the healthy growth of home ownership in the United States."

"President Eisenhower has asked Congress to establish such a mortgage marketing facility within the Federal National Mortgage Association to purchase, initially at least, mortgages which have been insured by the FHA or guaranteed by the VA. We heartily support this proposal and believe that the new advance it calls for will bring a long-needed improvement in our system of home financing."

"Another needed development to improve the flow of mortgage money is a broadening of our system for insuring loans made by private lenders to home buyers. This is the function of the FHA which doesn't build houses or lend money but simply insures home-purchase loans made by private lenders to private borrowers. The borrowers pay an insurance premium which covers the entire cost of the operation."

"Now before Congress are important proposals of President Eisenhower to: '1. Make the sale of existing homes eligible for mortgage insurance on the same terms as are available for newly-constructed homes."

2. Rescale the maximum mortgage amounts that may be insured, down payments, and duration of the debt repayment period to today's economic conditions."

"3. Permit the President to make adjustments, within limits, of interest rates and terms of mortgage insurance so that changing economic conditions will not slow down the program."

"4. Put credit for improving or modernizing homes within reach of more families."

"Adoption of these measures by the Congress will provide direct stimulants not only to an advance in home ownership, but to widespread improvement of the condition of our existing housing supply through repair, rehabilitation, and modernization."

An automatic fire alarm for basement stairways — the first place heat collects from basement fires — has been designed for use without electric wiring. It works with a tank of freon — the safety gas used in modern refrigerators. As soon as a temperature of 140 degrees collects under its hood, the alarm releases a thermostatic valve allowing compressed gas to blow a 95-decibel siren. The alarm retails for less than $10.

Families Now Doing Most Home Painting in Country

In a recently conducted survey to discover just who is doing the house painting these days, it was learned that, in nearly 40 per cent of the cases, the husband or the son—or a father-and-son team—were doing the interior painting. Running them a close second were the wives or daughters—or mother-and-daughter teams—who were able to brag 36 per cent of the indoor paint jobs. The remaining 24 per cent was done by contractors or painters.

Rats Fed Plastic to Test Their Preferences

MINNEAPOLIS (INS) — Four rats have been hired by a Minneapolis manufacturer to find out if rodents will eat a new type of plastic.

It's long been known that animals sometimes like to gnaw on plastics, but manufacturers don't know which types are unusually appetizing to hungry rats.

Even a well-fed rat couldn't turn down the deal offered by this manufacturer: Two of the long-tail rodents enjoy one good rat feed a day, plus after-dinner plastic to gnaw on. The other two rats get short rations, but are served all the plastic they can eat. To top it off, one rat from each group gets food served right on his plastic!

So far, only one member of the genus rattus — the one on short rations who is served his plastic in a made — has proved that a rat will damage the new plastic.

Laboratory technicians are trying to see how far he will go. If he turns gourmand and shows he really likes their plastic, they'll mix a nasty repellent in it.

Zipper Shows Growth

NEW YORK (UP) Push-button control has come to the common zipper.

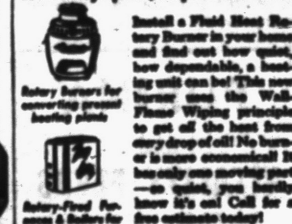

The new type of slide fastener is tailored to free itself from jamming by thread or fabric.

When the zipper jams, you simply flip up the slide tap and press it down on the tiny push button. This causes the slider to rock back on its chain and release the tangled material. But the slider remains on the chain during the unjamming process.

The zipper achieves a sort of streamlined look with rounded edges which also help to cut down on the snagging problem. The new unit retains the automatic lock feature.

Way to Predict Business Told

Shipping Centers Can Forecast Volume With New Method

How much business will a proposed shopping center do? How large should it be to capture all the potential business without over-shooting the mark?

Answers to these questions are of vital importance to developers of shopping centers, to investors who finance their efforts, and to merchants who will rent space.

As shopping centers multiply, they tend more and more to compete with each other, and the hazards of miscalculating the potentials of a proposed site are correspondingly increased.

In the November issue of Urban Land, monthly bulletin of the Urban Land Institute, Washington D. C., James W. Rouse, mortgage banker and President of the Rouse Co., Baltimore, Md., describes a new method worked out by his organization to forecast the business volume of any proposed regional shopping center. Mr. Rouse is a member of the Urban Land Institute's community builders' council.

In general terms, the Rouse method involves a formula for dividing the metropolitan area into a number of homogeneous districts and allotting to each of these its share of known total purchases of "shopping goods"—the type of goods carried by department stores—in proportion to the area's population and family income level.

The purchases of each district are then distributed among existing retail centers and districts in direct proportion to the area of floor space devoted to shopping goods display and in inverse proportion to automobile driving time.

The result is a market picture that shows where each residential district does its shopping, and where each shopping district gets its customers.

Once the shopping goods purchasing pattern is determined, it is possible to readjust it to determine that volume of business that can be expected to result from construction of a proposed new shopping center of an assumed size. This will indicate whether or not the project can be profitable.

Several such calculations, using different assumptions of floor space at the same location, will show the best size to serve the existing market. It is also possible to estimate the effect of the proposed center upon competing shopping facilities.

Since the method is based upon purchases of the type of goods sold by department stores, as contrasted with food, drugs, and sundries, it should be applied only to larger centers where this kind of business predominates, and not to smaller shopping centers of the neighborhood service type.

While Mr. Rouse makes no claim to scientific precision for his method, it does eliminate guesswork and provides a better way of applying known factors to the problem that has hitherto been available.

Tests in Baltimore and several other cities have demonstrated a very close relationship between predictions and actual results when the method was applied to a number of shopping centers of various sizes and locations.

There was a time when patterned glass was called "flowered glass" because there was only one pattern. Now there are more than 20.

Basement Window Hotbed Helps to Start Seedlings

Some flowers that bloom in the spring call for a winter workout on the part of the home handyman—such as building a hotbed for starting seedlings.

A basement window facing south provides a fine location for such a miniature conservatory. The hotbed is designed to fit right into the window and to be nailed to the window frame. The basement window is kept open to provide warmth for the seedlings, while a new window is placed outside of the area way at an angle to capture the sun's rays.

An inexpensive thermometer, fastened inside of this hotbed, will indicate any need of ventilation.

It's easy to frame this hotbed to the dimensions of your basement window by using 2 by 4s and 2 by 2s supporting a "skin" of tempered hardboard 5-10ths-inch thick.

New Plastic Sheeting Ready for Irrigation

NEW YORK (UP)—New flexible irrigation dams made of plastic sheeting are ready for farm use.

After the sheeting is placed in the ditch and flooded, the weight of water on the apron holds the dam in place.

The light-weight dams are easy to fold into compact size for carrying. They are colored to provide quick identification in the field. Available in depths of from four to seven feet, the plastic may be cut to any desired length. The dams are supplied with a welded loop through which a pole is inserted to hold up the end across the ditch.

Weatherstripping Stops Frost on Storm Windows

The most logical way to stop frost from forming on storm window glass is to install efficient weatherstripping around the window. This will keep warm moist air from getting through to the cold glass in storm windows.

Gary Cummings received the wolf badge at the meeting. Bear badges went to Roger Trugent, David Kelly and David Draper.

Valley Forms Disaster Plan

Saginaw Area Mutual Aid Scheme May Cover 17 Counties

LANSING — The Saginaw Valley, target of last spring's tornadoes, is forming a mutual aid plan to exchange police help in time of disaster or emergency.

The pact was suggested by police and sheriffs in 17 counties, some of them outside the valley. It was announced by the State Police which will act as the coordinating agency.

Comm. Joseph A. Childs said the mobilization plan would bring as many as 84 local officers and their equipment, plus State Police, to the aid of any community appealing for help.

In an emergency, a local police chief or sheriff would call the State Police headquarters in East Lansing, asking for the number of men he requires. The State Police would put into effect a pre-arranged mobilization schedule.

The plan would cover Genesee, Saginaw, Tuscola, Huron, Bay, Gladwin, Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw counties, with parts of Alcona, Oscoda, Rosecommon, Midland, Shiawassee, Oakland, Sanilac and Lapeer counties included. Also the pact includes Mt. Pleasant, Alma and Clare.

The plan now is being submitted to city councils and boards of supervisors in that area, Childs said, so that no time will be lost in obtaining authorizations later.

Oakland County officials said they have not yet received official notice of the plan.

Injury Prevents Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary Fete

ORTONVILLE — Because of a bad fall on icy steps, Sam Wolfe of 286 Church St. here must spend his 60th wedding anniversary in Goodrich General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe had previously planned to have an open house tomorrow to commemorate their wedding Feb. 27, 1894.

But because of his recent fall, Mr. Wolfe now has a crushed vertebra, doctors say. The open house is cancelled.

Before his mishap, Mr. Wolfe — 85 years old — was still working as a clerk at Brandon Lumber Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe were married in Orionville and have been residents of the community for their entire lives. Their family consists of two daughters and a son, Mrs. Earl McKenney of Flint, Mrs. Harry Featherston of Orionville and Glenn Wolfe of Center Line. They also have nine grandchildren and a total of seven great-grandchildren.

Community Council Ideas Studied by Romeo Citizens

ROMEO — With the Rev. C. Earl Page acting as temporary chairman, 20 persons met with representatives of the University of Michigan Extension Service Thursday night to discuss possible formation of a community council for Romeo.

Those attending the session included a representative from most of the organizations in the village as well as several unaffiliated citizens.

Stated purpose of the meeting was to devise means by which civic groups and individual citizens could present plans and secure cooperation for projects concerned with community betterment.

"Everyone is agreed that Romeo is a town composed of many groups with little or no communication between them," said Dr. Sherman Harding, who represented the Lions Club.

"We do not want to create just another organization in an already over-organized town, but rather a co-ordinating unit with a common aim," he added.

Mrs. Max Patrick and Mrs. Norman Smith of Marietta described how a civic organization had been created in that community. They also told some of the projects completed by the group.

Mrs. Arvid Anderson of the university reported what other towns had done to create community centers and summer recreation programs, which were two of the needs cited by the Romeo group.

After considerable discussion, those present approved the formation of a temporary Community Council, composed of three officers and a steering committee of seven members.

The purpose of the group would be to disseminate information about the proposed work of the permanent council and to conduct a survey to discover the primary needs of the community.

William Hanes was elected chairman of the temporary committee, with Dr. Florence Mary Browne, secretary and Mrs. John Dempsey, treasurer.

The steering committee is composed of Mrs. Frank Wilcox, Howard Campbell, James Winborn, Mrs. Stephen Brewer, Mrs. Bruce Brandenburg, Matthew Koth and Mrs. Stuart Card.

The temporary council will meet with representatives the fourth Thursday of each month at 8:30 p.m. to report its progress. The first meeting of the new steering committee and officers will be held Thursday.

GEE FORTIFIED HEATER OIL

FOR SPACE HEATERS — WATER HEATERS AND THOSE USING NUMBER ONE FUEL OIL

The results of experimentation with many new types of inhibitors, the new GEE FORTIFIED HEATER OIL uses a group of additives that improves combustion and reduces corrosion.

HERE IS WHAT THEY DO:

1. The fuel oil burns much cleaner, deposits far less soot and in many cases cleans up existing soot.
2. The consumer who inspects his fire will be impressed with the cleaner, bluer flame at all burner settings.
3. GEE Fortified Heater Oil protects tanks and fuel lines from rusting in the presence of water.
4. Smoke is practically eliminated and stack temperature is lowered so that more heat goes to the room with less waste to the outside. This means lower heating bills and greater economy for you.

All this means that you are getting a product that is far superior and despite the additional cost of the additives you do not pay one cent more for GEE FORTIFIED HEATER OIL.

U.S. Sends 400 Shiploads of Arms Aid to Indochina Urges Super-Stores Sell Cut Flowers

By JOHN RODERICK
SAIGON, Indochina (P)—"If it hadn't been for American aid, the Indochina war would have been lost three years ago."
This statement was made by a responsible American official here recently. He would have had little difficulty getting the French and the Indochinese to agree.
By last Jan. 31 400 American or French ships sailing from San Francisco had disgorged in Indochina's ports a veritable mountain of the weapons, explosives, guns, airplanes, ships and other material required for modern warfare.
The list:

Jones told the committee, made up of chairmen of 10 smaller committees, such as food clothing, and shelter, to get busy lining up volunteers in every corner of the county.

On the disaster committee with Pruden are Palmer Bundy and Jack H. Shuler, co-chairmen; J. C. O'Gorman, Leon J. Bingley, Dr. J. S. Lambie, Dayton Salter Jr., William Averill and Miss Ora Hinckley.

CAPETOWN (UP)—Diamonds to the value of 61,155,941 pounds were sold last year by the Central Selling Organization on behalf of South Africa and other producers, according to an announcement by the De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd. of South Africa.

Of this sum, 43,366,109 pounds represented gem diamonds and 17,819,832 pounds industrial diamonds.

Since the finding of the first diamond in South Africa, a total of 40 tons of diamonds have been mined, valued at 430,000,000 pounds. Of this amount the State has received 100,000,000 pounds in tax.

SAIGON, Indochina (P)—"If it hadn't been for American aid, the Indochina war would have been lost three years ago."
This statement was made by a responsible American official here recently. He would have had little difficulty getting the French and the Indochinese to agree.
By last Jan. 31 400 American or French ships sailing from San Francisco had disgorged in Indochina's ports a veritable mountain of the weapons, explosives, guns, airplanes, ships and other material required for modern warfare.
The list:

- 260 million rounds of small arms ammunition.
- 21,000 transport vehicles and trailers.
- 1,400 combat vehicles.
- 360 military aircraft.
- 390 naval vessels.
- 17,000 radio sets.
- 175,000 small arms and automatic weapons.
- Huge amounts of mines, rockets, mortar and artillery shells, hospital supplies, engineering and technical equipment.

In all, the American taxpayer will pay nearly a billion dollars this year to help fight a war some 10,000 miles from his own shores. He will foot three-fifths of the money cost of a fight whose causes and motives remain even more obscure to him than did the battle for Korea.

But the U.S. government feels it is getting its money's worth. It sees these alternatives: the loss of Southeast Asia to world communism, or personal involvement of more Americans in another Korean-type war.

While the United States is aiding the French and the established governments of Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos on the one hand, the Chinese Communists are doing the same for Communist Ho Chi Minh. Over about 18 highway routes the Reds from safe bases along the border are shuttling an average of some 3,000 tons of war material a month to the Vietnamese. Without this kind of propping up, they too would have collapsed long ago.

The American Military Advisory Assistance Group (MAAG) handles the huge supply job. It is housed in a former Japanese brothel of neo-classic design in the nearby Chinese city of Cholon. Its staff of some 100 officers and men is headed by Maj. Gen. John Trappnell, lean West Pointer who survived the Bataan death march, two sinkings of Japanese death ships and three years in a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp.

Trapnell is due to wind up a two-year tour here in a few months. Already there is much talk of replacing him with Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel.

Americans in the know here say that Trappell's departure would be little short of catastrophic. For one thing, he is tremendously popular with Gen. Henri Navarre, the French commander in chief. For another, he is getting a tough job done fast and efficiently.

Big, blunt "Iron Mike" O'Daniel would be likely to run into difficulties with the French chiefly because he has been touted as a man who could train Viet Nam troops. Gen. Navarre said the other day that for an American to train the Vietnamese was "unthinkable." That is a job Navarre has cut out for himself.

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—Grocery supermarkets and variety stores should go into the flower business, according to Cornell University agricultural economists.

Their study indicated sales of pre-packaged cut flowers apparently will help increase flower shop business by making the public more "flower-conscious."

Prof. Max E. Brunk found customers made casual "impulse purchases" of pre-packaged roses for which "they would likely not have made a separate trip to the florist." The Cornell specialists feel that these purchases enhanced the customers' appreciation for flowers and stimulated them to make a larger number of special purchases.

Store managers had a generally favorable reaction to the new merchandise, Brunk said.

He found customers preferred roses sold in packages of one dozen. They also favored roses in mixed colors, and tended to purchase bright-colored packages more often than conservative ones.

BOARDING HOUSE

Zeo-Ran Office Outgrows Place

Local Men Are State Distributors for Water Softener Product

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of business places in the Pontiac area.)

By ROBERT F. MAHER
A recent addition to Pontiac's business world is the exclusive state distributorship for Zeo-Ran Corp., headed by Ralph Dystant, president of Watersofteners Inc.

"We set up our office at 150 N. Telegraph Rd. last June and we've already outgrown our quarters because of the reception our product received in Oakland and surrounding counties," Dystant said.

Glen H. Brown, a master plumber in Pontiac for more than 30 years, is vice president of the organization.

A staff of 12 water analysts test the water of potential customers for hardness and iron content. The results are studied, according to Dystant, to see what size water softener will serve their needs best.

The monthly water consumption of each family and the use of appliances such as automatic washers and driers is taken into consideration before any particular unit is installed, Dystant said.

The softening unit of Zeo-Ran is a permanent ion exchanger, a mineral that was still good after an accelerated test pumped 5,000,000 gallons of water through it.

According to Dystant the ion exchanger proved under field tests that it would last the equivalent of 70 years of average family use.

The water softener can also be changed to three other levels of capacity to handle increased capacity needs, Dystant said.

Some of the values of a water softener pointed out by Dystant include savings on soap, fabrics, plumbing and heating and in the making of coffee and preparation of foods.

Dystant claims that foods cooked in hard water tend to become hard and rubbery and that 50 per cent less coffee is necessary for brewing the beverage with soft water.

THESE THINGS I BELIEVE

1—I BELIEVE all City capital improvements can be paid from present tax income of $4 million per year. NOW, it might be wise to go pay-as-you-go instead of voting a 13½ million dollar mortgage on our homes. Let's pay our special assessments first. The 2½ additional mill tax is unnecessary and possibly even dangerous.

2—I BELIEVE the Pontiac Hospital is adequate for Pontiac people. The Jacobs report says 51% of patients are from outside the city. If county folks are lacking in hospital accommodations then they should know this. Surely they do not expect us to provide hospital accommodations for them.

3—I BELIEVE hard liquor licenses should not be increased. If elected, I will vote my belief.

4—I BELIEVE I can serve the people of my district satisfactorily. I respectfully ask your vote that I may have a chance to prove this. I am a candidate for city commissioner from District No. 6; I thought you might like to know a few things I stand for before you vote in the primary next Monday, March 1st. I am glad to take my stand BEFORE election.

By all means VOTE and make your choice. If you can see fit to support me, your help will be sincerely appreciated.

Respectfully,
Theodore P. "Ted" Kentros

Syrian Factions Vie for Power

Aleppo Rebels Threaten Kuzbari Temporary Rule at Damascus

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rival factions vied in Syria today for the mantle of power wrested from the dictator-president, Gen. Adib Shishkly, by a military revolt.

The provisional regime established yesterday in Damascus, the capital and southern metropolis of Syria, was attacked by the radio at Aleppo, the commercial center of the north where the uprising against Shishkly was masterminded Thursday.

Telephoned advices from Damascus said communications between the northern and southern parts of the country had been cut.

A communique broadcast from Aleppo, whose 350,000 people make it Syria's largest city, declared the aim of the Aleppo rebels was not only the removal of Shishkly but the changing of the entire government and constitution. It declared they would continue the struggle until successful.

By proclamation of Parliament in Damascus, however, its speaker, Makhmoud El Kuzbari, is the temporary president. In making its choice, Parliament acted under a constitution Shishkly put through last June.

Kuzbari promised in a speech the election of a new president within two months and pledged to uphold that constitution.

The Beirut newspaper Aghayat reported a group of politicians meeting at Homs under the chairmanship of ex-President Hachem Attassi, who was deposed by Shishkly in 1951, declared Attassi should be the temporary president and demanded reinstatement of the old constitution.

The Shishkly charter, among other things, gave the women of this Moslem nation the right to vote. It guaranteed free elementary education and called for redistribution of state-owned lands.

The little general, now an exile, attempted to carry out many reforms. But political enemies objected to his one-man rule and his methods.

There had been 26 plots and assassination attempts against him in the four years prior to the successful uprising this week.

'No Carbon' Paper Makes 7 Copies

NEW YORK (UP)—Thanks to a new paper, you can turn out multiple copies of letters or business forms without using carbon paper inserts.

It eliminates the smudging of ordinary carbon paper and speeds up the handling of forms.

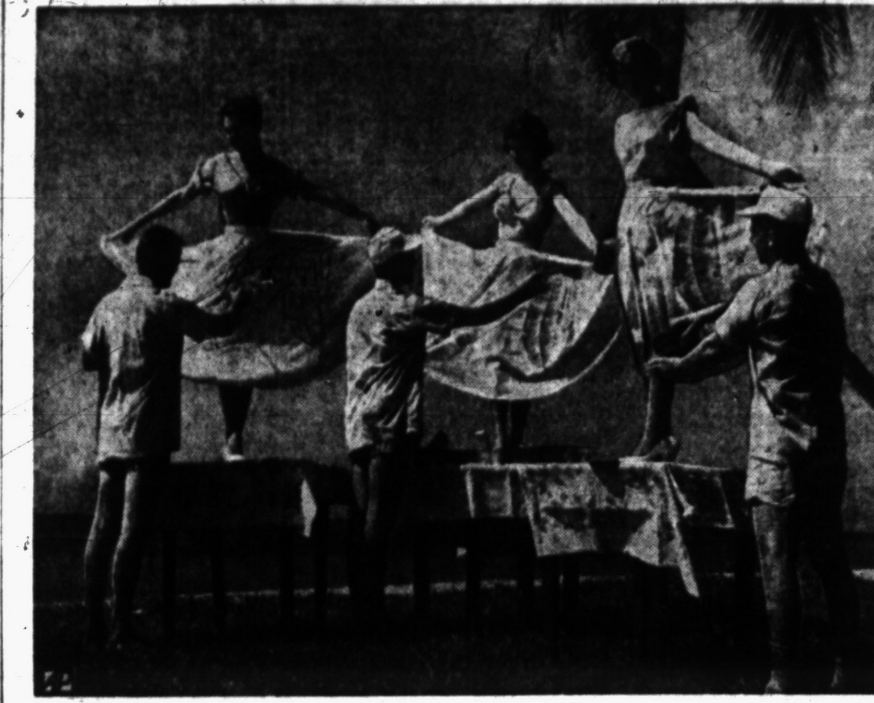

"NCR" (No Carbon Required) paper looks and feels like ordinary paper. The reproducing job is achieved by two chemical coatings. An invisible coating of printing fluid on the underside of one sheet and a clay-like surfacing on the top of the next sheet do the work of carbon paper.

The impact of a typewriter character or the pressure of a pencil on the first sheet causes a chemical reaction between the two coatings. This turns the clay-like material blue and leaves a clear, sharp impression on the second sheet.

As many as seven copies may be made on an electric typewriter, while up to four handwritten copies can be produced at one time.

Romulo Flies to U. S.

MANILA (AP)—Carlos P. Romulo left today by plane for San Francisco en route to Washington to assume his new post as President Ramon Magasaysay's special and personal representative to the United States.

New Non-Skid Soles Cling to Bad Surfaces

NEW YORK (UP)—Footwear with non-skid soles is available for sportsmen and home handymen. The soles are useful for the yachtsman fan as well as the man who has to repair his roof or prune a tree.

Made of neoprene synthetic rubber, the soles feature a tread consisting of a series of concentric circles. The multiple rings provide traction on slippery surfaces by a "brake-like" "squeeze" action.

The anti-slip tread originally was developed for plane handlers working on flight decks of U. S.

Archbishop Asks for TV Abstinence

PHILADELPHIA — The Roman Catholic archbishop of Philadelphia has suggested that eastern Pennsylvania Catholics turn off their radio and television sets during the Lenten season.

The Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, noting his suggestion was not mandatory, said "these inventions can be for the glory of God, but they may also be a means of destroying both our spiritual and intellectual life."

The Lenten season lasts 40 days, beginning with Ash Wednesday, next week, and ending Easter Sunday.

Two Main Chicago Jails Bulging at the Seams

CHICAGO — Chicago's two principal jails are bulging with inmates.

The prisoner population at the Cook County Jail reached a record high today of 2,004. Warden M. Philip Scanlon said. The jail, built in 1925, was intended to house 1,300 prisoners. Scanlon said prisoners are sleeping on tables, benches and even on floors.

The city's jail, the Bridgeway, also is overcrowded, said Capt. Frank G. Sain, with 2,276 prisoners. He said the city jail was built to house 1,300 prisoners.

Woman's Suit Made From Hair of White Dogs

ST. LOUIS — Ever hear of a suit made of dog's hair?

Mrs. Frieda Schmidt of Suburban Lemay has a three-piece ensemble made from the combings of her two samoyed dogs which she saved for two years.

The combings—four and one-half pounds in weight—were sent to a woman in Rhode Island who spun and wove the hair into cloth. Then the material was cleaned and shrunk.

Mrs. Schmidt sewed the three-piece suit herself. Total cost of the more than 6 yards of material 31 inches wide, was $33.50.

The dogs, known as Siberian sled dogs, have soft, pure white hair.

Dodge, Gregg Plan South America Trip

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Millionaire Horace Dodge III and his wife, former showgirl Gregg Sherwood, plan a trip to South America as soon as their baby is born.

"We are definitely in love," Dodge said yesterday in response to reports they had quarreled and she had fled to Good Samaritan Hospital to protect herself and her unborn child.

Columnist Earl Wilson had quoted Gregg as saying she quarreled with Dodge after a party celebrating their first wedding anniversary and went to the hospital "to get away from all this turmoil with Horace."

It was Dodge's fifth marriage and her second. They were married in Palm Beach last February.

Scelba Expected to Win Approval

Italian Senators Give Him Confidence Vote; House to Ballot Soon

ROME (INS) — Italy's anti-Communist Premier Mario Scelba, backed by yesterday's vote of confidence from the Senate, prepared today for a lengthy debate in the lower house which is expected to give similar approval.

The deputies will begin their debate Monday and may not end it until March 6 or 7. But Italian political observers believe Scelba's new government may receive a stronger endorsement from the lower chamber than it won from the Senate.

The new premier's big job, observers say, will be to hold together the center parties and independents who are granting his government "conditional approval."

To accomplish this, he must steer the coalition through the tricky channels of debate on the European Defense Community and similar controversial matters.

The phrase "conditional approval" was used yesterday by some of the senators who voted 123 to 100.

Reflections

VALUE OF FRIENDS

by J. Lee Voorhees

The value of friendship is a rare essence of love and kindness. Let me tell you about two families where friendship had more value than gold. Claude, an ex-beauty operator, and her husband struck evil days. Bills piled up and business fell away; they were in desperate financial circumstances.

J. L. VOORHEES

She called a few jobbers, found a location, opened a Beauty Shop and hoped. Friends used their influence to make that tiny shop the busiest one in town. The other family is old, have a beautiful home but they missed old friends; after a two year period they had acquired new friends. They were happier but worried; she doesn't have a car and they are two miles from the Post Office and Bank. How could she manage if illness struck? It did, suddenly.

Friends rallied around them, vied with one another as to which one could do the most. This little lady said, "We thought we were alone, we're not. The most loyal friends are all around us."

Potpourri Makes Column When Creativeness Fails

By SAUL PETT

(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Small canapes (or a columnist's diet when the pantry is full of appetizers but no main course):

A friend of mine swears he overheard this conversation between a man and his wife, who were having trouble with their rambunctious child.

Wife—"Our trouble is we don't use psychology on the boy."

Husband—"Aw, what-the heck does a 5-year-old kid know about psychology?"

Aaron Kaye, the picturesque Manhattan merchant who buys and sells used furs, has a new gimmick in his ads. He's now inviting people to trade their used cars for used furs.

Thus far, Kaye reports, he has swung one trade—a '53 Pontiac for a '53 mink coat. "I think I lost a couple of hundred on the deal," he says, "but the offer still goes."

Driving up through New England recently, I saw a big restaurant with a big sign advertising "Northern Fried Chicken."

Folk songs in the back country of the Philippines frequently have a practical point of view, I am told by Catalina Zanduea, pretty young Filipino singer who makes her Town Hall debut this month.

In the Visayan Island group, a boy sings to his girl: "I would like to take you out. But your father and mother and probably your aunt would have to come, too. So there is very little point in the whole thing."

At weddings among the Igorots, this one is sung for the bride (but, of course, everyone hopes the groom is listening): "You have found a strong and fearless husband who will work hard and not beat you."

The Igorot funeral lament frequently contains a scolding for the newly departed: "You were a bad man. If you were good, you would not have died. Only bad people die."

Most psychiatrists I've met don't deserve all the bad jokes told about psychiatrists. But recently I went uptown to interview an analyst we'll call Dr. Schmigelosa, who I had never seen before.

As I was entering his building, a man I didn't know entered with me. He heard me ask the doorman, "Which is Dr. Schmigelosa's apartment?" The doorman directed me to the elevator man.

The stranger entered the elevator with me and heard me ask the operator for Dr. Schmigelosa. The elevator man said I was looking for Apartment 5-D. At the fifth floor, I got out. So did the stranger. Again he heard me ask the elevator man, "Which way is 5-D?"

I went, as directed, to the left, and was just about to press the buzzer at 5-D when the stranger stepped up, saying in hushed tones, "Good afternoon, I'm Dr. Schmigelosa. May I help you?"

I guess he was casing me all the way through the lobby and up the elevator.

Estimated oil reserve in Canada total half a tank car full for every person in the country.

Twins Stick Together

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UP)—The Stanley twins, Charles and Russell, 24, were apart for only a few months during four years in the Navy, including overseas duty. They were discharged in 1951 and then worked together at the Portsmouth Navy Yard until recently they enlisted in the Air Force.

When the vagrant cow bird tries to take advantage of the little yellow warbler by laying an egg in its nest, the warbler generally refuses to co-operate. It simply roots over the whole nest, eggs and all, builds a second nest on top of the first one and starts all over again.

LAW GATES HALLENBECK

VOTERS of PONTIAC

Ask yourself, why are these known representatives of labor under attack? Why this movement to try to defeat your representatives. Is it moral, political, or what? What are the forces behind it?

THINK!

Is it because they have throughout the years given the working man honest and capable representation in City Government? Is it because they have fought for adequate and decent housing, both private and public, for our citizens? Is it because they have adopted the FEPC Ordinance, to prevent discrimination? Is it because they believe that hypocrisy has no place in government?

Here Is Their Record

They have cooperated with all law enforcement agencies on enforcement of law and solution of crime.

They have been fair to all groups, management, labor, business and others.

They have cooperated in improvement and growth of the school system.

They have fostered and insisted on programs that have freed our City of debt. (1942 $5,000,000 debt--end of 1954--$60,000.)

They have completed and paid for $8,000,000 worth of streets, sewers, storm drains, water and other public service projects.

By economy and good planning they are building a new City Hall at NO Additional Cost to the taxpayer.

They are insisting on action to protect our citizens at railroad crossings.

These men have experience, knowledge and courage so essential to good government. Good government does not just happen--it is a result of capable commissioners.

Let's Keep Them!
