U.S. Readies Blow at Organized Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's "law and order" team says it is near a breakthrough in its campaign against organized racketeers.

Its first major dent into the syndicates is expected next week in a round of indictments by federal grand juries in four northeastern cities.

Justice Department officials describe the effort against organized crime as the most successful of several programs put forward by President Nixon, who pledged last fall to restore law and order to the nation's cities.

And Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, chief of the department's criminal division, said, in an interview, the most "definite results in the form of indictments" are still to come — probably next spring.

The progress of this year's antiracketeering campaign cannot be measured in terms of arrest and indictment statistics, he insisted, since many of those result from investigations begun under former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

Nixon's other crime - fighting plans aren't showing the same promise. His proposal to deal with crime in Washington, D.C., is bogged down in Congress, and supporters say there's no chance of passage until the new session next year.

No appropriations for anticrime programs have obtained final congressional action, leaving the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the agency established to administer the 1968 Safe Streets Act, uncertain about how much money it will be able to channel to the states next year.

Taking note of the pending organized crime cases, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said yesterday indictments expected in one city within 10 days will "break up the largest gambling syndicate in history."

NEW JERSEY

He did not specify the place, but he said federal investigators have found "a large group" of Internal Revenue Service employes in one state "to be controlled by the Mafia." Other officials said he referred to New Jersey.

The organized crime program and more vigorous antinarcotics drive are main reasons cited by government prosecutors for budding optimism about law enforcement prospects in the 1970s.

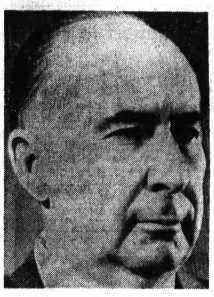

★ ★ ★

Even FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, normally a prophet of rising crime rates, is now saying the problem may be contained within the next few years.

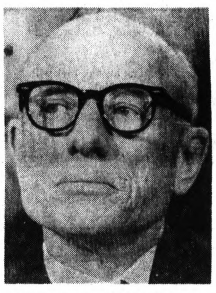

Mitchell said "the cutoff of the narcotics supply into the United States" is one of the major steps needed to restore safety to streets of the nation's large cities.

★ ★ ★

Wilson noted some estimates show crime syndicates obtain much of their income from narcotics trafficking. Over-all, he said, organized crime syphons an estimated $60 billion annually from the nation's wealth.

Mayor in N.J. Urged to Answer Questions

NEWARK N. J. (AP) — With U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell predicting "massive indictments of public officials" in a federal crime probe, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio was under court pressure today to answer a federal prosecutor's questions before a grand jury.

The Newark grand jury investigation, which began as an Essex County operation, was taken over by federal authorities yesterday.

★ ★ ★

On Tuesday, Addonizio had pleaded the protection of the Fifth Amendment, a guarantee against self-incrimination, in refusing to answer 24 questions.

★ ★ ★

Appearing yesterday before Judge Robert Shaw of U.S. District Court for a ruling on whether he had a constitutional right to refuse answers, Addonizio said he knew Anthony "Tony Boy" Boiardo, a reputed Cosa Nostra figure.

PREVIOUSLY DECLINED

A question about his acquaintanceship with Boiardo was one of those the mayor had declined to answer previously.

Judge Shaw reserved decision on whether the mayor could still refuse to answer the other questions, but said: "I'm inclined, particularly where a major public official is involved, to order disclosure of affairs involving public office." The mayor's lawyer said Addonizio would answer if necessary to avoid contempt of court proceedings.

★ ★ ★

The Essex County grand jury had questioned 288 witnesses over a period of 19 months. Its investigation began after a commission which looked into causes of racial rioting in 1967 reported "a pervasive feeling of corruption" in Newark.

★ ★ ★

The county panel's only indictment was against Police Director Dominick Spina, on a charge of failure to enforce gambling laws. He was acquitted in a subsequent trial.

IRS AGENTS INDICTED

Federal indictments were returned recently against two New Jersey Internal Revenue agents on bribery charges.

The Evening News of Newark reported that three informers, one "with vast inside information about Newark government" provided the material which led to the federal takeover of the investigation.

In Trenton, the state capital, New Jersey Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Sills said he was exploring the possibility of invoking a state law which provides for removal from office of public officials who balk at testifying on matters related to their office. But Sills said no action could be taken against Addonizio until Judge Shaw made his ruling.

Mixed Rain, Snow Possible in Area

Skies will be mostly overcast through tomorrow and there's a chance of snow flurries mixed with a little rain, the weatherman reports.

Saturday's forecast is partly cloudy.

Temperatures will climb into the 30s again tomorrow and drop into the 20s tonight.

North to northwesterly winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour will diminish slowly tonight.

PRECIPITATION PROBABILITIES

Probabilities of precipitation are 80 per cent today, 40 per cent tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow.

Snow mixed with some rain fell last night and measured about one inch.

Thirty-two was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 2 p.m. the mercury had moved to 39.

Man Awarded Custody of 1st Wife's Son

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Court of Appeals has awarded a white Port Huron man permanent custody of a dark-skinned, 3-year-old boy. The ruling in the case of little Scott Damaschke overturned a Circuit Court decision and permits the boy to remain with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Damaschke.

Circuit Judge Halford Streeter had ruled Frank Damaschke was not the physical father and could not claim the child as his own. The child, born to Damaschke's former wife, has been living in the Damaschke home since he was an infant.

"The best interest of the child is our main concern," the Appeals Court said. "We find that the trial judge clearly erred in denying permanent custody" to Damaschke.

The child was born to Damaschke's former wife while she was a patient at Pontiac State Hospital. The couple had been divorced five months at the time of birth, but Damaschke claimed he was the legal father because the birth came within nine months of the divorce. Damaschke had remarried.

Damaschke was given temporary custody of the child, but the prosecuting attorney said it would be in the child's best interest to be turned over to probate court.

Judge Streeter ruled in favor of the prosecutor.

Damaschke appealed and a new hearing was held. The court again refused, so Damaschke went to the Court of Appeals.

Cult Link to 12 Deaths Probed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Authorities reportedly are investigating whether 12 persons may have been killed by one or more members of a hippie - style nomadic cult.

Members of the clan already are charged in eight of the murders, including that of actress Sharon Tate.

★ ★ ★

The grim prospect of additional clan victims came to light just before today's arraignment of the Tate case's central figure, Charles M. Manson, 35, the wild - bearded clan leader.

Sheriff's deputies searched a movie ranch near suburban Chatsworth yesterday, looking for signs of Donald O'Shea, 40, a stunt man and beer - hall bouncer missing after a reported quarrel with Manson.

The Los Angeles Times today reported police are investigating possible links between the Tate slayings and the deaths of a dope peddler, a motorcyclist in Bishop, Calif., and a member of the Manson clan in suburban Venice. No details were reported.

With a court ban on comment imposed on officials, police kept mum on developments and deputies scouring the movie ranch were tightlipped.

★ ★ ★

But the ranch's owner, George C. Spahn, 80, said Manson and O'Shea had argued before O'Shea disappeared. The cult had lived on his ranch for a time, Spahn said, against his will.

Prosecutors announced yesterday they will seek a single trial for Manson and the five accused members of his desert tribe.

MUSICIAN'S MURDER

One of the defendants, Susan Atkins, also is charged in the murder of musician Gary Hinman in Malibu, Calif.

The prosecutors say they expect the defendants will seek separate trials and will try to sever the case of the August slayings of the honey - blonde actress and four others at her estate from that of wealthy market owner Leno LaBianca and his wife, killed the next day.

★ ★ ★

Three young women defendants waived arraignment yesterday on the charges.

Susan Atkins, 21, Linda Kasabian, 20, and Leslie Louise Van Houten, 19, were impassive during the court proceedings. Dec. 16 was set for a plea of guilty or innocent for Miss Atkins and Dec. 22 for Miss Van Houten and Mrs. Kasabian. Miss Van Houten gave the alias Leslie Sankston when arrested and was indicted under that name.

Others charged are Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, held in Mobile, Ala., and Charles Watson, 24, held in McKinney, Tex.

12,500 City Auto Workers Affected by GM Shutdowns

Thousands of U.S. auto workers — including 12,500 in Pontiac — are getting unexpected extra Christmas holidays as some manufacturers cut back production to help reduce high inventories.

General Motors Corp. announced yesterday that 60,000 workers will be affected by plant shutdowns during the already shortened Christmas and New Year's holiday work weeks.

The move is designed to reduce the national inventory of unsold new cars, reportedly the highest in the history of the industry.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, schedule adjustments will affect some 12,500 of GM's 36,000 employes here. While GMC Truck and Coach Division will operate on normal schedules, Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body will curtail assembly and some manufacturing operations.

CLOSING DATES

A GM spokesman said 11 GM assembly plants including Pontiac will close Dec. 22-26 and 13 plants including Pontiac will be closed Dec. 29-Jan. 2.

All plants had previously been scheduled to close Dec. 24-26 for Christmas and Dec. 31-Jan. 2 for New Year's Day under the firms' contract with the United Auto Workers Union.

By closing plants for the four days between the contractual holidays approximately two weeks of production could be eliminated, according to industry sources.

Employes will receive three paid holidays during each of the two weeks and will receive supplemental unemployment benefits for the other days when the plants are closed, a GM spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

All GM assembly operations will resume normal working hours Jan. 5.

Chrysler Corp., the nation's No. 3 auto maker, reported earlier this week that it will lay off 28,500 production workers during the holidays to help reduce inventories.

2 Black Firemen Win Reinstatement

For a second time, Pontiac's two black firemen — Frederick Milton and Daniel Sowell — have been ordered reinstated with full back pay by the Fire Civil Service Commission.

★ ★ ★

The commission last night found the 30-day suspensions issued in July against the men by Fire Chief Charles Marion — for having mustaches that extended below their upper lips — "completely without justification," reported Commissioner Charles Spann.

★ ★ ★

Milton will receive $780 and Sowell $585 in back pay.

The second hearing had been ordered by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer after Marion filed a show-cause suit following the first commission decision in favor of Milton and Sowell.

4 on Commission Hit Change

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a two-part story on Pontiac's special election on a proposal to change the method of electing city commissioners.)

By ED BLUNDEN

A majority of the Pontiac City Commission is opposed to the Dec. 18 referendum election on changing the procedure for electing city commissioners.

Four of the commissioners are opposed to the change, two favor it and Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. declines to take sides.

★ ★ ★

The charter change, if approved, would mean each of the city's seven commissioners would be nominated and elected by his own district.

Presently each district has a primary and then the two top vote-getters compete in a citywide election The present system is a modified at-large form adopted in 1964 after a charter change election.

SIMPLY REVERT

If the Dec. 18 proposition wins, the city would simply revert to the former method.

Approval of the charter amendment would lead to the redistricting of the city so that each district would have approximately the same number of voters.

Should the amendment be rejected and commissioners continue to be elected on a citywide basis, redistricting as outlined by state law would not be required.

It is unclear, however, if the nominating primary in each district is part of the general election, thus making the entire process subject to redistricting.

Tied in with the proposition is a change in age and residency requirement for commissioners. This would lower the age requirment to 25 and residency to one year (now 30 and five respectively).

Most of the commissioners, even those opposed to the change, agree the city needs a new charter. The present one, adopted by voters in 1920, has become extremely patched up by such elections as the one forthcoming.

City commissioners have tentatively agreed to begin procedures to get a new charter. This involves calling an election of charter commissioners and then an election on the proposed charter.

COMMENTS LISTED

Following are the commisioners' comments on the Dec. 18 election issue:

DISTRICT 1: T. Warren Fowler Sr. is opposed to the change. "The present system is more equitable. A commissioner has to serve the entire city and, at the same time, each district is guaranteed a representative on the commission.

★ ★ ★

"Also, I am not in favor of lowering the age or residency requirements. A

School-Aid Bill With Parochiaid Gains in House

LANSING (UPI) — Parochiaid supporters won another victory yesterday with the House Education Committee's advancement of the 1970-71 $1-billion school aid bill, including a $25-million allotment to nonpublic schools, to the appropriations committee.

In addition to the referral, made on an 8-3 vote, the committee voted to strike out a Senate provision which would have prohibited nonpublic schools from practicing religious discrimination.

House Speaker William A. Ryan urged the committee to strike out the prohibition because it was "a practical impossibility" for parochial schools to abide by it.

Opponents argued, however, that public schools are required to abide by the constitutional provision against religious discrimination and nonpublic schools should also do so.

'DOUBLE STANDARD'

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, said the removal of the clause would create "a double standard school system."

"You're saying a little bit of discimination is good as long as you are the beneficiary," he told supporters.

Other critics said removal of the provision would allow non-religious private schools to turn down students on the basis of religion.

The vote was 7-5 on striking the clause, with all five non votes coming from Republicans.

The committee added approximately $52 million to the bill as passed by the Senate last month, bringing the total amount to $1,053,176,000.

However, Capitol sources expected much of the increase to be knocked out of the bill during its study by the Appropriations Committee.

Of the increases, about $30 million would go for additional student allotments and $20 million for capital outlay projects.

House Democratic leaders have been pushing a series of tax measures to pay for the increase which includes bills to raise the state income tax, close tax loopholes and hike the cigarette tax by three cents.

Ryan, who is a prime mover in the House of the tax package, has estimated the income tax hike of .4 per cent would bring in $131 million, the loophole closings $48 million and the cigarette tax $38 million.

Ryan said the House Taxation Committee would probably report out the cigarette tax hike bill during a short meeting today.

The other two tax proposals have been reported out of the committee and have found spots on the legislative calendar for debate.

Nixon's Rights Bill 'a Sham,' Says Dem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is facing its first congressional test on civil rights over a voting rights bill branded "a sham and a subterfuge" by a leading Democratic opponent.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who helped write the law the President wants replaced by his bill, told the House yesterday the administration proposal is designed to appease Nixon southern supporters.

★ ★ ★

Celler is supporting a bill that would continue for five more years the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which gives the federal government authority over election procedures in Southern states. The act expires next August.

Nixon has asked Congress instead for a law affecting all 50 states. The government's power to deal with discriminatory state voting laws, however, would be reduced under the administration bill.

GOP DIVIDED

A deep division in Republican ranks caused by Nixon's proposal was brought into sharp focus in yesterday's debate.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, chief House GOP spokesman on civil rights said the progress made by Negro voters could be wiped out if the law lapsed.

★ ★ ★

"The South has not suffered a change of heart," he said. "Progress has been made only by the impact of federal law."

Celler said when Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell presented the administration bill to the Judiciary Committee, he was asked what states outside the south discriminated against Negro voters.

★ ★ ★

"He could not tell us of a single complaint he had received," said Celler. "What the administration is proposing now is to build a dam in Idaho to control a flood in Mississippi."

Kopechne-Case Inquest Slated

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Judge James A. Boyle announced today that the long-delayed inquest into the death of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne will begin Jan. 5.

Boyle's announcement followed by only 24 hours a judge's refusal in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to permit an autopsy on Miss Kopechne's body.

★ ★ ★

Miss Kopechne was the 28-year-old Washington, D.C., secretary who died when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island last summer.

Earlier Story, Page C-4

Boyle, who will preside at the inquest, made no other comment. This was taken to mean that he still intends to hold the proceeding here on Martha's Vineyard.

The inquest will be closed to newsmen, in line with a ruling from the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

Sources close to Boyle said the judge expected the inquest to last for four or five days.

U. of M. Senior Arraigned in His Wife's Murder

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A 21-year-old University of Michigan senior scheduled to be graduated Saturday was arraigned on a murder charge today in the fatal stabbing of his wife of less than two months.

James P. Murphy demanded examination, which was set for Dec. 22 by District Judge S. J. Elden. Murphy requested a court-appointed attorney to defend him and the judge said he would forward the request to Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

Murphy was jailed without bond.

Earlier today, Police Chief Walter Krasny told a news conference the slaying apparently climaxed a family argument over financial problems.

MARRIED OCT. 17

Murphy and his 19-year-old wife, sweethearts since they were students in Dearborn's Sacred Heart High School, were married Oct. 17.

Police said Murphy, a speech student, was arrested after being questioned at length with his father present at police headquarters.

★ ★ ★

Murphy had earlier told police he found the body of his wife, Gloria, in the blood-spattered bedroom of their apartment near the campus Tuesday. Their two-week-old baby was found unharmed in a basinet near the body, police said.

An autopsy showed Mrs. Murphy died of multiple stab wounds in the back.

★ ★ ★

Murphy was taken under police guard to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor yesterday, apparently suffering severe emotional strain. He was returned to jail about three hours later.

'70 State Plates Too Pale for '71

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's policemen apparently have won their argument that the gold and white 1970 vehicle license plates should not be renewed in 1971.

"We decided that certainly this year's colors will not be used for another year under any conditions," Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Zollar, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, met with state corrections and police officials and aides to Secretary of State James M. Hare yesterday to thrash out the problem of the controversial plates.

Several police agencies have criticized the plates, saying policemen found the license numbers difficult to read.

★ ★ ★

In 1971, it was tentatively decided, the plates will revert to the maroon and white colors of the 1969 plates.

Vote Report in Error

The Pontiac Press incorrectly indicated yesterday that the commissioner in District 7, James Marshall, had won his seat after receiving fewer votes than the other nominee in primaries in 1966 and 1968.

In both primaries, Marshall, in fact, polled more votes than his nearest opponent, 332 to 301 in 1966 and 316 to 267 in 1968, before going on to win in the general election.

Smetana was answering an accident call at 2:30 a.m. when his car apparently hit ice and skidded into the bridge abutment, according to Capt. Robert Mortenson.

Smetana was taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he died at 8:30 a.m.

Smetana was a Marine for eight years, a Detroit patrolman for three years and had served on the Troy force since 1966.

He is survived by his wife and two children. Funeral arrangements are pending at Price Funeral Home, Troy.

Two U.S. Fliers Freed by Cong

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Army fliers captured by the Vietcong after they were shot down last month have been freed, the U.S. Command announced today.

The two men, WO Michael T. Peterson, 21, of Redmond, Wash., and Sgt. Vernon C. Shepard, 21, of Akron, Ohio, are in good condition, the command said.

★ ★ ★

They walked into a South Vietnamese outpost just after noon yesterday near the Duc Lap Special Forces camp, on the Cambodian border 135 miles northeast of Saigon.

Peterson and Shepard were shot down Nov. 2 during heavy fighting in the border region around Duc Lap and the Bu Prang Special Forces camp 25 miles south of it.

★ ★ ★

Peterson was the pilot of a light observation helicopter and Shepard was an observer.

Mrs. Neal Fletcher And Son, Robert

Mother's Fears Near End for Sons at War

By TIM McNULTY

ROCHESTER — Fear and dread filled the heart of a local mother with two sons at war. Now one son is safe and the other is expected back before Christmas.

For more than a year Mrs. Neal R. Fletcher of 471 Miller, wondered if her sons, Neal, 22, and Robert, 21, would return from southeast Asia.

★ ★ ★

Robert returned for a 30-day leave last Friday. He is a sergeant in the Army. He was brought back to the states after being wounded in Vietnam, where he served for almost a year.

Neal is still stationed in Thailand. He is an Air Force gunnery sergeant, flying night missions over North Vietnamese positions. Mrs. Fletcher hopes he'll be back by Christmas.

FATHER 'VERY PROUD'

"Wondering about them I got so nervous and jittery, I decided I better go back to work," said Mrs. Fletcher. She now works as a saleswoman at Alvin's ladies apparel store in Rochester.

Mrs. Fletcher said her husband and 10 - year - old son are "very proud" of the boys. Neal's very quiet about it," she said, "but we all know he's proud." Mr. Fletcher served in the Navy in World War II and his father was an Army man in World War I.

Mrs. Fletcher's fears were not ungrounded when she heard about some of the narrow escapes her sons have had.

Robert was stationed some 35 miles north of Saigon. Most of the time he was in Vietnam was spent in the field.

MEDALS RECEIVED

He's received two bronze stars — one for meritorious service and the other for valor — the air medal for numerous helicopter flights, and the purple heart.

Away from the fighting, he told his mother of the two days he was without food or water pinned down by Vietcong guns, and when he almost drowned crossing a canal with his waterlogged gear.

★ ★ ★

Over and over, he said, "You really have to be over there to realize what the war is." He said Vietnam is a "different world."

"In Saigon there are swimming pools, streets, shops and everything," he said, "but 10 minutes out of Saigon by helicopter, there's nothing but jungle, swamps and open fields."

SHE HAS FAITH

Mrs. Fletcher said, "It was bad but I have faith. I gave Robert a small Bible when he first went to Vietnam. He told me he carried it with him all the time except for that one day in April, when he was shot in the arm."

Robert spoke, as many men before him, of what it means to shoot and to be shot at: "You never get hardened to killing, but it's part of your job; and, if you don't do it, you or one of your friends will get it. No one will really know what it's like unless you've been there."

★ ★ ★

Pinned down by gunfire, he said, "you only think of what's coming next. You wonder if you'll get out and if your buddies will."

Neal called his parents from Japan recently and said he was shot down once, though he said he couldn't tell her exactly where he was or what he was doing. The last time they saw him, Christmas 1968, his weight had gone from 210 pounds to 160.

★ ★ ★

Now Mrs. Fletcher just waits for his call from some airport, saying he's arrived back in the states. Then both her boys will be back and they'll have Christmas as a family again — thousands of miles from where her sons became men.

Rep. Riegle Still Ailing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., yesterday continued treatment at Bethesda Naval Hospital for a virus infection.

Riegle's office said the congressman would be hospitalized probably about a week for a series of tests.

Schools Air Role on Environment

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Utica Community Schools District explored the possibilities yesterday of establishing an educational program that can help ease man's effects on nature.

SGT. ROBERT G. CURL

Approximately 170 persons — representing the board of education, the administrative and teaching staff and student groups in the school district plus local elective and appointive officials — received a daylong indoctrination at Davis Junior High School on the needs of establishing environmental education concepts in the local school cirriculum.

The program, designed as an environmental education workshop, was geared toward providing guidelines and recommendations that will be used in developing a relevant environmental education program for Utica.

A school district spokesman said the workshop will hopefully lead to the development of a program that can educate youngsters toward developing more awareness of their environment and establish concern toward curbing air and water pollution, urban blight and transportation congestion.

RELATIVELY NEW

The official added that the concept of environmental education at the secondary school level is still relatively new. "It is imperative now that all educational training levels begin to intensify attention toward the concept," he added.

The keynote speaker, Dr. William B. Stapp, explained that environmental education is aimed at producing a citizenry that is knowledgeable about the biophysical environment and its associated problems, aware of how to help solve these problems, and motivated to work toward their solution.

Dr. Stapp is an associate professor in the Department of Resource Planning at the University of Michigan.

He noted that the major objectives of environmental education are to help individuals acquire a clear understanding that man is an inseparable part of a system, consisting of man, culture and the biophysical environment.

Walled Lake GI's Funeral Saturday

WALLED LAKE — Service for Army Sgt. Robert Graham Curl, 24, of 235 Angola will be 11 a.m. Saturday at Richardson-Bird Funeral Home with burial in Walled Lake Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Curl was killed in action in Vietnam Dec. 2. He had received the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service in Vietnam from 1968-69.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Curl was graduated from Walled Lake High School in 1964.

Surviving are his mother, Florence Schultz of Walled Lake; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Burke of Walled Lake; and two brothers, James and Russell Curl of Walled Lake.

NOON BLAZE—Five township volunteer fire departments were called to a farmhouse fire at 2150 Lake George yesterday. The fire was reported by a passing motorist. Fire Chief Ralph Bundy of Addison Township said the house was a total loss. He said three or four college students were renting the house. No one was home when the fire started.

Brandon Okays School Issue by 2-to-1 Margin

ORTONVILLE — Voters in Brandon School District approved a $3.7 million bond issue by a two to one margin yesterday.

The vote was 574 for to 286 against.

The proposal, which clears the way for a new high school building for the district, was defeated in June on a 410-410 tie vote.

Yesterday's success follows on the heels of an approval in July of a 14.8-mill package that included a 6.8-mill increases.

Schools Supt. Clyde Fischer noted "that the citizens have shown that they want and support our school program. We are very pleased with the results."

David Blomquist, assistant superintendent for financial affairs, said construction of the high school may depend on whether the current six-per cent limit on bond interest is lifted by the state.

He noted that school districts throughout the state are having considerable difficulty in selling bonds because of the six-per cent limitation.

Earliest groundbreaking date would probably be next fall, Blomquist added.

NO NEW TAXES

School officials said before the election that the bond issue would not necessitate any increase in taxes. Fischer said the 8.27 mills currently allocated for debt reduction would furnish the revenue necessary to finance the bond issue.

Blomquist explained that recent legislation authorizing school districts to borrow more from the state's building and loan fund plus the 6.8 mill increase made possible financing of the bond issue proposal at no extra cost to the taxpayer.

He said the no-extra-cost situation will depend on the continuation of existing operating levies for three years and no changes in state laws.

Approximately $2.7 million of the package will be used for the high school. The remainder will be used for classroom additions and renovation at the Bell Ann Elementary School, renovation at the H. T. Bert School, equipment for the high school and Bell Ann school, a storage building, land acquisition and attorney, financial consultant and architect fees.

ALLOWED TO VOTE

Blomquist noted that nonproperty owners were permitted in a local school election for the first time yesterday. Their vote was 44 "yes" and 12 against.

Supervisor Focal Point of Groveland Generation Gap

By NED ADAMSON

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — A generation gap has struck home in this sparsely settled rural township in northern Oakland County.

The age-old conflict of the older generation's experience, toughness and practicality has come to grips with the responsiveness and activism of "youth."

★ ★ ★

Earl Rhinevault, the township's supervisor, is the focal point of the township's experience with the generation gap.

Rhinevault's popularity among certain segments of the citizenry, primarily middle-aged property owners who have come to the country for space and a slower-paced life, has waned appreciably during the past year.

'YOUNG RADICALS'

The supervisor blames the popularity decline on what he terms "a group of young radicals," who he says are bent on harassing him and the Township Board.

The "young radicals" are a group of local residents who have organized under the banner of The Groveland Property Owners Association, headed by Mrs. James Phillips.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Phillips is a middle-aged housewife who likes to stand up and be heard at Township Board meetings.

She and some of her colleagues have assumed the responsibility of being the "watchdogs" of the processes and activities of the local government structure.

START OF DIFFICULTY

Rhinevault's difficulty started about a year ago when one of the biggest contributors to the township's weak tax base, the J. P. Burroughs Co., a Saginaw-based gravel processor, decided to seek a rezoning petition and acquire more property and expand its sprawling quarrying operations in the southeastern part of the township.

Residents living in the area objected because they felt that expansion of the gravel pits would lower water tables in the area, hurt property values, create traffic hazards for children and generally create a menace.

★ ★ ★

The residents' objections prompted the establishment of the property owners association which created the necessary influence needed to defeat the zoning petition against the wishes of Rhinevault and some members of the Township Board who felt the township needed the additional tax base.

The rezoning petition defeat has since been appealed by Burroughs and is awaiting court action.

STORMY SESSION

Citizen involvement, however, didn't stop at the first success and since then the Township Board meetings, which formerly attracted a handful of residents at best, now are the scene of often stormy sessions, complete with a smoke-filled room and demands from the citizenry for a say in the matters at hand.

Earl Rhinevault—Wants Out

Rhinevault, who is 65 and has served as supervisor for the past 25 years, has had it with the "harrassment."

★ ★ ★

His pay is $4,000 annually for what he describes as a full-time job.

He wants out. But the main item keeping him from leaving, according to sources is retirement pay. He has to fill out his present term which expires in December 1970 in order to collect the full benefits.

CAPABLE SUCESSOR

Rhinevault also wants to be sure there is a capable successor to take his place before he departs.

The Township Board has reportedly considered the possibility of placing the supervisor on sick leave at full salary for the remainder of his term so that the township can find a new man immediately and assure Rhinevault of receiving his full retirement benefits.

★ ★ ★

Edwin Sosnick, the township's new attorney, confirmed that the board is considering having him approach Rhinevault about the possibility of taking sick leave.

Sosnick said there has been considerable criticism and dissatisfatcion expresed about Rhinevault's performance. "The people currently aren't happy with the way assessments are being handled, and they seem to be confused regarding his method of valuation," Sosnick cited.

'FOLLOWING REGULATIONS'

Rhinevault contends the residents are unhappy about the tax situation because some of their tax bills were increased.

"I am following the tax assessing regulations and methods prescribed by the state and I am not doing anything different than any other official would. The problem is that simply not everyone is satisfied with their tax bill.

★ ★ ★

"They (the Property Owners Association) simply want to uproot. There is no law and order in the meetings out here anymore. They believe in harrassment and things like that.

"I know I am too old for the job. One man cannot do this job properly. I realize it will take a younger man to handle the job. But the way things are going whoever takes over is going to have trouble with these people."

'STARVATION WAGE'

"The salary alone will not permit anyone to hold the job," Rhinevault said in a telephone conversation.

Rhinevault charged that the township does not appropriate enough money for the job. "It's a starvation wage," he said. He also contends that he should have had help a long time ago.

"We have some educated people in the township who could do the job. But not one of these radicals who belong to the township property owners' association would do it," Rhinevault said.

Mrs. Phillips contends that Rhinevault is defensive when asked questions. This view was concurred in by Township Clerk Donald Titsworth who said the supervisor gets excited and won't answer questions during meetings. "He won't answer questions and you cannot reason with him," Titsworth noted.

BOLTS FROM MEETING

Rhinevault's latest outburst came when he bolted from a meeting after being asked a question from the floor concerning the mailing of tax bills.

"Mr. Rhinevault is simply an old man who can no longer handle the job," says Mrs. Phillips. "The Township Board cannot dismiss him and he probably won't resign for fear of losing his retirement income.

"He knows the job is too much for him and the retirement situation is the thing that obviously keeps him from quitting," Mrs. Phillips remarked.

Another target of citizen unrest has been the township's 82-year-old building inspector, Elbert Smith. Smith, say Titsworth and some residents, is too old to handle the job properly.

★ ★ ★

It is Smith's job, Titsworth said, to detect building and property use ordinance violations and see to it that they are corrected.

Titsworth has noted that most of these ordinance violations concern trash and junk littering and placement of house trailers on property that is zoned for residential dwellings.

'MORE EFFECTIVE GOVERNMENT'

Despite the raised tempers and disagreement created betwen local government officials, the increased citizen involvement and grass roots political interaction has undoubtedly led to creating more effective government in the township, according to local sources.

Citizen pressure has resulted in the retaining of a planning consultant for the township who will be charged with drawing up a master plan for the township.

Another citizens group, concerned in obtaining the township's own fire protection service, has also been organized and is now working with the Township Board in attempting to establish a fire department and procure surplus equipment from the federal government.

Second Airport Needed

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors acted wisely when it approved a $250,000 appropriation for preliminary and contingent costs of developing the Oakland-Orion Airport.

BENSON

Plans for the proposed expansion were presented to the board by MAHLON BENSON, R-Waterford Township, a member of both the county aviation committee and the three-member airport board.

One of the guiding spirits of the project and a licensed pilot, BENSON pointed out:

• That the development would fit into the area's airport master plan, and that it had been given tacit approval by the Federal Aviation Administration.

• That with such approval, 80 per cent of the development costs would be returnable to the County from State and Federal sources.

• That adequate airport facilities are an inducement to industrial and commercial growth and that, because of accessibility to freeways, the Oakland-Orion is ideally situated to contribute to it.

★ ★ ★

Although expansion and improvements are proceeding at the Oakland-Pontiac Airport, there can be no doubt that this fast-growing area will in the near future need a second airport to accommodate the increase in county-based private and commercial aircraft.

Senate Stalwart Bows Out

The U.S. Senate loses one of its outstanding members when JOHN J. WILLIAMS retires at the expiration of his fourth term, Jan. 1.

WILLIAMS

The Delaware Republican who vaulted to the upper house at 42 without benefit of prior political experience earned the unique title of "The conscience of the Senate." Few would doubt that he was about the best friend the taxpayers ever had.

★ ★ ★

His nonpartisan exposures of governmental extravagance and waste, and unethical practices in both executive and legislative branches of government and various Federal agencies, stamped him as a statesman of unimpeachable character.

Though he lacked customary senatorial qualifications—a college education and an impressive speaking style—his manifest acumen and industry soon established him among the Senate pros after his election in 1946.

★ ★ ★

A strong advocate of a Congressional code of ethics, Williams has pushed for establishment of procedures for evaluating tax returns of Capitol Hill lawmakers in confrast to frequent proposals requiring public disclosure of their financial holdings. "It's not what you own, it's how you got it," the Senator maintains. "The tax return is the key."

JOHN WILLIAMS has served his Country well.

Nuclear Realism Nixon's Goal at Talks

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is a strong bond between President Nixon's July 25 call at Guam for a lowered U.S. profile around the world, and the things our "arms limitation" team at Helsinki seems ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on nuclear weapons.

BIOSSAT

At Guam the President ventured one kind of new realism, rooted in awareness we are overrepresented in many parts of the earth, underscored by widening popular distaste for distant military involvements like Vietnam — which a majority once could believe were linked to our and the free world's survival.

★ ★ ★

At Helsinki Nixon is moving toward another sort of realism. The overriding, operative fact — though heretofore no leader in either the United States or Russia has dared to stress it — is that we two great nuclear powers are in a condition of practical parity.

We may in truth still have, as some of our experts believe, a nuclear edge over Moscow. But it matters no more than if the Soviets had a modest margin over us.

DECISIVE POINT

The decisive point is that each nation has sufficient nuclear strength to crush the other even if it is hit by a surprise first strike.

Not just Nixon but many U.S. leaders have known this elemental fact for a long time, yet most have felt compelled to talk of maintaining or restoring "superiority" in nuclear arms as if by that means some special safety could be attained.

As one high U.S. official puts it:

"At Helsinki we are going to be the very heart of, the image on which free world security has been built . . . Whatever is done there (assuming an agreement) is going to shake that image."

In the American political realm, the turn toward nuclear realism began earlier this year when the President, who has campaigned in 1968 on a promise of nuclear superiority, substituted the word "sufficiency" — meaning enough nuclear might to deter the Soviet Union from striking.

KEY SIGNAL

That was a significant signal. Conveyed down through the military bureaucracy, it led to a very searching examination by key planners as to how this country might limit or trim some of its nuclear arms development without losing that "sufficiency."

When top officials assert that they, better than their counterparts in prior administrations, have labored uniquely to offer flexible alternatives at Helsinki, one may suspect self-serving utterance.

But this reporter's checks within the military establishment indicate that the Nixon administration's quest for a flexible posture for the Helsinki talks is indeed without precedent.

The President's advisers began with the intent not to set out a rigid formula to be tested first against our own military disputants and then against a probably similar rigidity from Moscow.

There is even tougher matter at stake. Though we and the Russians enjoy practical nuclear parity, our highly sophisticated nuclear weapons systems are distinctively individual.

When the hard process of mutual limitation is undertaken, how do you equate nuclear systems that are not really alike in important particulars and do not, in fact, do the same jobs?

Nixon Poverty Role Ironic

WASHINGTON — Of all the burdens thrust upon Richard Nixon, none is more ironic than his present obligation to defend the poverty program's function of bankrolling the poor to work out their own deliverance.

BARTLETT

This is not intrinsically a Nixon kind of project. Only 22 Republican congressmen, almost all from the East, voted for its enactment in 1964. The strains which it subsequently generated between the establishment and the poor caused it to be privately denounced by President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Urban experts like White House counsellor Daniel P. Moynihan have flatly predicted that community action will ultimately be devoured by its antagonisms. This could be about to happen in the House where a handful of disenchanted liberals have joined the Republicans and southern Democrats in proposing that control of community action be handed over to the state governments.

This would mark the end of community action, as it has been practiced to date, in all but a few progressive states. Not many governors would be licensed by their legislatures to carry on the controversial experiments that are being tolerated in the cause of stimulating the self-help spirit of the poor.

BEST HOPE

Recognizing this, the mayors, once strident critics of community action, are now its best hope of survival. Time has mellowed their fears that these community initiatives would undercut their leadership. They now feel gratitude for the help they get in holding the lid on the ghetto unrest.

The mayors are one reason why it is probably unfair to suspect that President Nixon kept the poverty program alive only so that Congress could kill it. This obviously was a tempting strategy. The blood would be on the hands of the legislators and the administration would be free of an embarrassing inheritance.

But the importance which the mayors ascribe to community action made it awkward for the President to play such a cynical game. His own income maintenance program, which should eventually supplant the OEO as the spearhead of the attack on poverty, is not likely to be passed and activated before 1971 and the inner cities require meanwhile some tender of the administration's concern with their problems.

This was why the President persuaded Donald Rumsfeld, an aggressive and moderately conservative young congressman, to give up his seat and tackle the thankless job of putting a Republican stamp on an agency which was radical by the Democratic yardstick. Nixon needed a director whose forceful leadership would refute suspicious that he was plotting the OEO's demise.

INFLUENTIAL PACE

Sargent Shriver kept the OEO alive, despite its paucity of funds and support from the Johnson White House, by forcing it to spin at a pace which gave it influence with Congress. He preferred large programs to small pilot tests because he knew big ones would create a more impressive constituency. His best backing came from the heads of private companies operating Job Corps camps and other OEO projects under contract.

Rumsfeld's style augurs that if the OEO survives, it will make fewer mistakes and they will be smaller ones. But his cautious approach has made survival uncertain because it has left the political initiative to the opposition.

Mockery of Viet Truce Has Parallels in History

NEW YORK — Operating on the proposition that it isn't really nice to kill anybody on Christmas or New Year's, the antagonists in Vietnam have agreed to let peace break out on those holy days. We're going to stop shooting from 6 p.m. Christmas Eve until 6 p.m. Christmas Day.

CONSIDINE

Unless fired upon, of course.

★ ★ ★

The other side says it won't shoot for three days including and flanking those dear days. It can't guarantee, of course, that all the trip wires connected with the land mines and booby traps will be nonfunctional during the period.

It's a mockery that goes back a long way in history. Truces of this nature may have begun in the seventh century before Christ when Greece proposed that there be an intermission in one of its perennial wars — a moratorium designed to allow both sides to hone their blades and assemble some fresh catapult rocks.

CHANCE TO REST UP

Something like this will happen in Vietnam around Christmas and New Year's. Vietcong will pass safely through Allied - held territory to spend a few hours or days with their families.

They'll have a chance to de - louse themselves, bathe, and eat a hot meal . . . maybe even have a "33" — a native beer and a very good one, by the way.

★ ★ ★

Then they'll go back to the routine of killing their fellow South Vietnamese, Americans, South Koreans, Australians, New Zealanders, Thais and Filipinos.

It's a daft war.

VC KEEP PUSHING

We've exhorted the Soviet Union, the United Nations, the International Red Cross, the Swiss, the Pope and Lord knows what other establishments to stop this madness — but the Vietcong and the troops of the Hanoi government stay in there, punching.

Then a holy day comes along and — presto! — the war stops. It turns off like a spigot. Nobody, well, almost nobody, gets hurt. Everybody agrees that it is a dinger of an idea, not to get hurt or die.

★ ★ ★

The spigot is so easy to turn off.

Why must it be turned back on?

Voice of the People:

Recommends 'No' Vote on Election Amendments

Vote "no" on the City election amendments. On lowering age requirements for City Commissioners from 30 to 25, this is no young, inexperienced person's job. Reducing residency qualifications would let any group bring in people with ulterior motives to run our City.

★ ★ ★

When we voted a few years ago for the election of Commissioners by the City at large, instead of each district, we felt this was more fair and conducive to the best interests of the whole City, because these Commissioners vote on all matters for the whole city, not just their own districts. Election at large makes for less dissent among districts and better cooperation.

Believes U.N. Is Communist Controlled

How many Americans realize that the U.N. is Communist-controlled; that it now is an organization through which the Communists can channel our tax money to support themselves. How many well-known and trusted names represent us in the U.N.? Did you know many of these representatives are dedicated to seeing that the U.N. treaty will override our U.S. Constitution? They are dedicated to world government, not the U.S.A.

Teen-Ager Comments on Recent 'Mistakes'

When incidents like the one at My Lai allegedly occur, I believe it is time to get out of Vietnam, no matter what the cost. "Mistakes" like this one will surely lose America more honor than a pull-out.

I had some hope for our country, but now I just don't know. It's too bad I'm only 16 years old and must feel this way about the "land of the free and home of the brave." But are we free and brave? Let's pray for peace.

Waterford Resident Tells of Tax Increases

Recently we received our 25 per cent increases in taxes in Waterford Township. I understand that our duly elected representative, the Waterford Township Supervisor, has not received a tax property reassessment in 35 years. In my 14 years of living in the Township, I have received 14 tax increases and four tax evaluations.

Questions and Answers

(Q) At some cemeteries the rail around the grave is covered with a green material that hangs down to meet the artificial grass, which surrounds the burial place so you can't see into the open grave. Other cemeteries do not have it. What or who determines whether or not the hole is obscured?

WONDERING

(A) It is up to the sexton of the cemetery, depending on the type of equipment he has.

(Q) Over a year ago I paid $250 to Orkin Exterminators to get rid of termites. They said it wouldn't damage the house, but after a month or so, the floor started to warp and the tile cracked and chipped. I've called time after time, but still can't get in touch with them.

MRS. HOWARD HARDMAN
UNION LAKE

(A) We talked with Mr. McCandless, the new manager in Detroit, who had heard nothing of your complaint. He was not here when your job was done, but assured us Orkin will stand behind their contracts. He will call you to make an appointment so he can look into the situation personally. His number is 869-6800, in case you need to reach him.

(Q) My big mouth and short memory have gotten me in trouble. I got sick of golf talk not long ago, and said there are blind golfers who shoot as well as most of the golfers I know. So now I have to come up with the name of one, or my name is sand trap. I know I've read about blind golfers, but I can't for the life of me remember their names or their scores. Help!

FOOT N. MOUTH

(A) Try Charley Boswell of Birmingham, Ala. Blind from a World War II injury, he has won more than 20 blind golf championships. His best game was going into the 18th hole with a 70, but a bad bounce gave him an 81. He's written a book called "Now I See," if you want to know more about him.

4 Commissioners Anti Charter Changes

person only 25 years old is not mature enough, and someone with only one year in the city does not know enough about the city's problems or how to solve them," Fowler said.

★ ★ ★

DISTRICT 2: Robert C. Irwin is opposed to the proposal, particularly as it applies to residency and age requirements. "Lowering the residency and age requirements means the office is open to persons who have not had the time and experience to learn the problems. This could also lead to abuses and partisan domination of the City Commission," he said.

★ ★ ★

Irwin favors writing a new charter.

DISTRICT 3: Mayor William Taylor Jr. said: "I have no comment on the charter revision. If the people want it, they want it. However, I'm very much in favor of writing an entirely new charter. The one we have is so out-of-date it's pitiful."

DISTRICT 4: F. Jack Douglas is entirely in favor of the proposed change, "It's about time the people in each district elected their own representative. He should better reflect the people in his district. I was opposed to the change (in 1963) in the first place."

★ ★ ★

DISTRICT 5: Robert F. Jackson is in favor of the revision and a longtime exponent of district-only representation.

★ ★ ★

"Each district is the best judge of its own candidate. The district system provides the classic checks and balances in our democratic society. I have faith that the voters in each district will choose the man best suitable for the entire city," he said.

Jackson also points out that under the present system each candidate faces the expense of a citywide campaign.

★ ★ ★

DISTRICT 6: Wesley Wood remains in favor of the current system enacted in 1963. "This was a step forward in getting qualified people elected to office. I believe the citizens should have a right to vote for all seven commissioners because they serve the whole city and not just the district in which they reside.

★ ★ ★

"I hope the city will reject the proposed amendment, which includes lowering the age and residency requirements. I feel a candidate 25 years old with just one year in the city would not be sufficently mature in regards to problems in the city."

Wood said he would favor a charter commission and revision, however.

★ ★ ★

DISTRICT 7: James H. Marshall is opposed to the change and centers his ideas on the budget. "Each year the commission must decide on spending of millions of dollars. If elected by district-only, a commissioner would be out only for spending in his district only and not for the good of the city as a whole. There would not be the concentrated effort we have now," he said.

Ex-Supervisors Chairman

Hamlin Gets Counties Unit Post

By JEAN SAILE

LANSING — Former Oakland County Board of Supervisors Chairman Delos Hamlin was elected yesterday to the three-year directorship of the reorganized Michigan Association of Counties, meeting here this week.

Hamlin was part of a slate advanced by the association's nominating committee which cut from 17 to 10 the number of directors to be elected. Only two directors were held over from the previous year.

Losing out in the streamlined election, designed to give more equal representation to all parts of the state, were candidates from Lapeer and Macomb counties. A preelection caucus in Region 4, of which Oakland County is a member, revealed adverse reaction by those counties eliminated from the nominating slate.

Yesterday's association meeting was a day of panel discussions, highlighted for the Oakland County delegation by a breakfast meeting with 12 of the county's 14 state legislators.

CHANGE SOUGHT

The breakfast subject was roads and the road funding formula as it applies to the county, and help was promised by the legislators. The county seeks a change in the state gas and weight tax disbursement formula which would reportedly give Oakland County roads a more equitable share of the funding package.

Improvements have also been asked on M59, M150, and Telegraph Road and an accelerated construction schedule on M275 which would run north from Eight Mile Road to join I-75 north of Clarkston.

Legislators asked that project priorities be determined locally. Charles B. Edwards Jr., board chairman, said that determination will be made next Thursday when the board approves a finalized legislative program for 1970.

The problem of communication between state legislators and county officials was explored by Rep. Loren Anderson and Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, both Waterford Township Republicans.

Anderson asked that "communication between the legislators and the board of supervisors be stepped up" and Lodge asked for "direct and continuous communication as well as help from local officials" on issues under consideration in Lansing.

OU Students Told: Pick Sides at Protest of Panther Deaths

About 200 Oakland University students attending a protest yesterday against the alleged "genocide of Black Panthers" by police were told to choose sides and be ready to fight if necessary. The speaker was a Detroit Panther trainee.

The audience, the majority of which was made up of whites, gathered at the university's Oakland Center for the afternoon rally.

★ ★ ★

The protest, which was sponsored by the Association of Black Students (ABS), was organized because of recent police raids on Black Panther headquarters in Chicago and Los Angeles.

In light of what he considered "planned murders by the pigs," Detroit member Philip Garner told the student audience that the Panthers will continue to shed blood for their rights if necessary.

DEFENDS APPROACH

"We want to institute people power and if we have to go down dying — then that's the way to go," he said.

Gorner defended his war-like approach in obtaining people power by arguing that all other peaceful methods have failed.

★ ★ ★

"We want to build something to deal with (against the establishment) and it always gets down to war regardless of what you're after," he contended.

"First you talk, and then you cuss and you end up popping somebody in the mouth" he said.

ACTION URGED

Speaking seemingly to those sympathetic to the Black Panther cause, Garner told them that unless they take action to stop the establishment's "continued murder of Black Panther party members, "the blood of the Black Panther party members will be on your hands."

"The pig government is moving against us, that's obvious. Therefore you're either my friend or my enemy's friend, and if you're the latter, you're my enemy," he said.

In defining the enemy, Garner said the Panthers were not choosing sides on color but were fighting a class struggle.

Antidote for 'Substance Abuse'

FARMINGTON — Proposed guidelines for education of elementary school students in "substance awareness" — recognition of the substances such as cigarettes or drugs that can be harmful to the body—have been presented to the public by a special school district subcommittee.

A sparse group of some 30 residents heard the Rev. Carl Kaltreider, chairman of the Substance Abuse Task Force of the school district's Family Life Education committee, describe the proposed kindergarten-through-sixth-grade program at a public hearing this week.

★ ★ ★

The guidelines offered to the school board at its regular meeting earlier this week, call for a two-part program.

In grades kindergarten through third the emphasis would be on substance awareness. Teachers would be prepared to answer general questions.

HEALTH CLASSES

The Rev. Mr. Kaltreider, a Lutheran minister, said that health classes already bring out substance awareness through warnings as "Never Play With Medicines."

Also needed, he said, are approaches to answering questions such as, "My daddy quit smoking but mommy didn't, why not?"

★ ★ ★

Individual classes on substance awareness and substance abuse would be set up for grades 4-6, he said.

Proposals for junior and senior high programs won't be ready until early next year, officials said.

CAPABLE OF INCORPORATION

The classes would not necessarily require a separate administration, according to the Rev. Mr. Kaltreider. Implementation could be worked out within existing classes with current personnel, he said.

★ ★ ★

Bruce Duke, a layman member of the 13-man committee, registered the only vote against the resolution claiming, "The school board asked for guidelines. We have not done that, these resolutions are a carte blanche for the school board."

★ ★ ★

He urged the committee not to glamorize drugs stating that he was against any special k-12 program.

He urged expansion of the topics in the already existing framework, such as health classes.

In response to questions from listeners, the Rev. Mr. Kaltreider explained that this framework allowed for parent-teacher meetings to open all doors of communication.

Farmington city police chief Robert Deadman said that more ways than law enforcement were needed to control the drug problem. He urged increased education.

Lt. Kelly of the Farmington Township police noted said that his department received several requests a week from classes and clubs for information on the drug problem.

"If they don't find it out from us or informed people, they'll find it out at the drugstore or at parties."

Battlefield Casualties for Week Show Increase on All Sides

SAIGON (AP) — Battlefield casualties increased considerably on all sides in South Vietnam last week, the allied commands reported today, but the toll of 100 Americans killed in action was well below the weekly average of 187 for the year.

The total of U.S. combat dead last week was 43 per cent above the total for the week before, but the total of 592 Americans wounded was the lowest in that category in seven weeks.

The Saigon government reported 411 of its troops killed last week and 1,005 wounded, compared with 373 killed and 953 wounded the week before. The allied commands claimed a total of 2,469 Vietcong and North Vietnamese killed, 205 more than a revised toll of 2,264 in the previous week.

INCREASED ACTIVITY

South Vietnamese headquarters attributed the rise in casualties to increased enemy activity.

The weekly reports raised to 39,742 the number of U.S. troops officially reported killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961. Another 260,420 have been reported wounded. The allies claim 580,001 North Vietnamese and Vietcong killed in that period.

* * *

Also in the war:

The Da Nang Air Base came under enemy rocket attack early today for the first time in three months, but the shelling missed visiting U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater by about a mile. A spokesman said he did not know whether Goldwater, who was staying at the base's VIP quarters, heard the five 140mm rockets that crashed in shortly after midnight or the return fire from American artillery.

* * *

The counterfire set off five secondary explosions, the U.S. Command said, indicating direct hits on the enemy rocket launchers or their ammunition. The enemy rockets caused no casualties and only minor damage, the spokesman said.

Goldwater, the Arizona Republican who lost the 1964 presidential race to Lyndon B. Johnson, left Da Nang later in the day for Bangkok. The senator had been in Vietnam for six days.

The shelling at Da Nang was one of 28 Vietcong and North Vietnamese rocket and mortar attacks during the night. The U.S. Command said about a third of the attacks caused casualties or damage.

Elsewhere, enemy troops ambushed two American patrols screening the Cambodian border and battled South Vietnamese militiamen in the northern Mekong Delta.

Eighteen men of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were wounded in one ambush 28 miles northwest of Saigon Navy river boats were hit by rocket grenades as they patrolled 60 miles west of Saigon, and two Americans were killed and two wounded. In both actions enemy losses were not known, a U.S. spokesman said.

Thirty-two Vietcong were reported killed by South Vietnamese militiamen and U.S. helicopter gunships and artillery in two fights in the northern delta 17 to 59 miles southwest of Saigon. South Vietnamese headquarters said its only casualty was one man wounded.

The last paratroopers of the 3rd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne Division left Vietnam for Fort Bragg, N.C., completing redeployment of the brigade. The redeployment was part of President Nixon's second-phase cutback of 35,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam announced Sept. 16.

A spokesman said another U.S. Army unit, the 45th Public Information Detachment north of Saigon, will be inactivated Friday.

Bid to Preserve U.P. Tract Fails

MARQUETTE (UPI) — A conservation group headed by a Green Bay, Wis., dentist has lost its battle to keep the 18,000-acre Sylvania Tract in Michigan's Upper Peninsula a virgin forest.

Dr. Jerome O. Gandt, Green Bay, and 21 other plaintiffs had filed a suit challenging the U.S. Forest Service's method of administrating Sylvania, which had been donated to the government.

* * *

However, Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent dismissed the suit here yesterday, ruling that the group had waited too long to file its suit.

The suit charges that the Forest Service plan to develop Sylvania would destroy the untouched character of the tract near Watersmeet, north of the Wisconsin border.

Their argument said the wilderness would be ruined by the building of roads, campsites and boat landings.

Kent ruled that Gandt and the others were aware of the plans since last January and were guilty of unjustified delay in not asking for the injunction against the Forest Service until Nov. 9.

GI-Club Probe Eyes Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scandal of alleged financial hanky-panky involving operation of Army service clubs has spilled over to the Air Force—accompanied with a "no cover-up" pledge from the Pentagon.

The Pentagon disclosed Wednesday the Air Force has unearthed alleged irregularities, including kickbacks, in the operation of some officer and noncommissioned officer clubs.

Clubs in Thailand were singled out, but with no specifics.

Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr. said the alleged irregularities were uncovered in an investigation that is 18 months old.

'NO COVER-UP'

"You may be certain that there will be no 'cover-up' of any irregularities which are uncovered as a result of the Air Force investigation," Seamans said in a letter to Secretary of Defense Melvin A. Laird.

Seamans promised to pursue the matter vigorously. "Although the investigation has not yet been completed, it is quite apparent to me that we have a problem," he said.

* * *

The Air Force chief said he had advised appropriate congressional committees of the status of the case, actions the service has taken, and other pertinent information.

A Senate subcommittee probe of Army noncommissioned officer clubs in Vietnam and Europe turned up sensational testimony about graft in the military.

HUGE PROFITS

Witnesses told of practices of skimming of slot machine proceeds, under-the-table payoffs by club entertainers to the clubs' military managers, and NCOs pulling in huge profits from a firm they formed to sell concessions to the clubs.

The Army said later it had not developed enough evidence to prosecute anyone.

* * *

Several key witnesses took the Fifth Amendment during the hearings, conducted before a subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

The Army is holding up a retirement application of Sgt. Maj. William O. Woolbridge, a high-ranking NCO who appeared before the subcommittee, pending the investigation.

THAILAND FOCUS

Seamans said as a result of unannounced surveys and spot checks on various clubs by the Office of Special Investigations, enough information was developed by early last month to start a more detailed probe, focusing on clubs in Thailand.

"If warranted, appropriate disciplinary action will be taken against the individuals involved," Seamans said.

Gore Flings 'Gauntlet' at Spiro Agnew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, stung by Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of his tax proposals, has sent a tongue-in-cheek challenge to the vice president for a debate—preferably on tax collection day.

Agnew has said Gore lived up to his name by proposing to increase the personal tax exemption to $800 from the present $600. Agnew said the amendment—written by the Senate into the tax reform bill—is fiscally irresponsible and would pump $2 billion into an already favered economy.

* * *

The Tennessee Democrat countered that the administration backs tax relief only for the rich and added:

"The distinguished vice president, heaping favor upon honor, has made me political target No. 1 for next year and promised to come to Tennessee to campaign against me. I am grateful for this promised service.

RIGHT NEIGHBORLY

"There is nothing the voters of Tennessee appreciate more than having distinguished outsiders come in and instruct them how to vote," Gore said in a statement Wednesday.

Gore told a reporter he tried to reach Agnew all day to deliver the challenge personally:

* * *

"I knocked on his door several times and I looked for him all over the Senate floor and I even looked up in the chair of the President of the Senate but I couldn't find him anywhere.

"So I finally stuck a copy of my statement under his door."

Israelis Down Three Syrian MIGs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes raided Syria in force today and shot down three Syrian MIGs in a dogfight southeast of Damascus, the Israeli military command announced.

A Syrian communique reported large formations of Israeli Phantoms, Mirages and Skyhawks attacked Syrian airports and military targets. It said the Syrian air force intercepted the raiders, and Syrian antiaircraft guns went into action, but there was no immediate report of casualties or damage from Damascus.

An Israeli spokesman said all the attacking planes returned safely.

He said one of the Syrian pilots whose plane was hit was seen to bail out, a second plane exploded as it hit the ground, and the third exploded in the air.

Israel now has claimed a total of 14 Syrian planes shot down since the 1967 war.

The raid apparently was in retaliation for a three-hour artillery duel in which Israeli and Syrian forces engaged Wednesday in the occupied Golan Heights. It was the biggest Syrian-Israeli ground clash since the 1967 war, and the Syrians claimed to have killed 26 Israelis. An Israeli spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties.

★ ★ ★

Two of the planes shot down today with MIG17s and the third was a MIG21, the Israeli spokesman said.

Residents of Damascus crowded rooftops to watch the dogfights shortly before noon.

It was the first time Israel's new American Phantoms were reported over Syria.

ROGERS RAPPED

On the diplomatic front, the Israeli Cabinet told Secretary of State William P. Rogers to practice what he preaches and quit prescribing peace terms for Israel and her Arab foes.

The cabinet held a two-hour meeting to discuss Rogers' speech before Foreign Minister Abba Eban left Tel Aviv for Washington for talks Friday with Rogers.

After the meeting, the ministers issued a statement rejecting efforts by the big powers to find a solution and taking issue with the U.S. peace proposals that Rogers outlined in a speech Tuesday. They were presented to the Soviet Union on Oct. 28 and already have been rejected by Egyptian spokesmen.

In his speech, Rogers said states outside the Middle East "cannot determine peace conditions, as only those countries of the region themselves are authorized to establish peace through agreement between them."

Alan L. Bean (Left), Richard F. Gordon Jr. And Charles (Pete) Conrad End Quarantine

Apollo Crew Leaves Isolation

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 astronauts—out of quarantine and walking free for the first time in almost a month—today select the film they will show at a press conference planned Friday.

Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean left quarantine Wednesday and spent the first night at home since well before their moon mission.

★ ★ ★

This afternoon the trio planned to pick out the slides and movie film from the hundreds of pictures taken on the moon. The material will be shown at their 10 a.m. EST press conference Friday.

The astronauts and 25 other men were released from the Lunar Receiving Laboratory when tests showed no signs that anyone was infected by moon germs, if any exist.

'SUN FEELS GOOD'

Conrad, Bean and Gordon had last walked free Nov. 14, the day they were launched toward the moon from Cape Kennedy.

"You don't know how good that sun feels," Conrad, squinting in the light, told about 300 persons who welcomed them out of quarantine.

★ ★ ★

"The best thing is getting out here and breathing some of this unman-made air," said Gordon. Air in the quarantine is filtered.

Bean was greeted by his wife as he stepped through a gray door.

"Hello, sweetie," he said, and they embraced and kissed briefly.

Conrad and Gordon rode home alone in government cars.

Gordon was greeted by his wife, but Conrad's house was empty. He explained that his wife was working on a charity project and his children were in school.

★ ★ ★

The astronauts' quarantine started Nov. 20 when Conrad and Bean completed their second and the third exploded in the air.

Ocean of Storms. It was to have lasted 21 days, but officials allowed it to end a few hours early so the spacemen could go home at a reasonable hour.

Officials said a quarantine may not be required on Apollo 13, the next moon landing mission, scheduled for March. A decision will be announced sometime later, officials said.

Swartz Creek Says No to School Issue

SWARTZ CREEK (UPI) — Residents of Swartz Creek have turned down a proposal to authorize spending $2.5 million for additions to three schools, renovation of another and school site acquisitions.

The vote tuesday was 1,139 to 758 against the proposal.

Assistant superintendent Robert Brown said if the measure had been approved it would have meant no increase in taxes for property owners. Approval, he said, would have meant only that the school district could have used funds from the current levy.

Rx for Ailing FDA: Ouster, Overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary Robert H. Finch of the Department of Health, education and Welfare has prescribed a treatment of ouster, upgrading and overhaul for his ailing food and drug administration.

For openers, the agency beset from all sides from critics will have a new chief: Dr. Charles C. Edwards, a one-time Iowa surgeon turned American Medical Association official and management expert.

* * *

Dr. Herbert Ley Jr., the present FDA commissioner, and two of his top associates, Winston B. Rankin and J. Kenneth Kirk, got the gate Wednesday.

Finch also restored the FDA's former autonomy within HEW, freeing it from subordination to the umbrella Consumer Protection and Environmental Health Service.

FEWER BUREAUS

Furthermore, the 4,200-man food and drug agency will be streamlined along what is described as "product" lines. The present six bureaus will be reduced to three: one for foods, pesticides and product safety; a second for drugs; and a third for veterinary medicine.

Structural changes aside, Edwards undoubtedly holds the key to the FDA's future success.

* * *

While declining to talk specifically about cures for the agency's ills, the 46-year-old, dapper, grey-haired Nebraska native offered this general statement of policy in an interview:

"Success of the FDA will mean a hard-nosed manager bringing in other hard-nosed managers as well as the best possible scientific talent.

'PLAY ROUGH'

"The game has to be played rough. I firmly believe in making a decision, sticking with it and not wishy-washying around.

"And I don't intend to be a patsy for the pharmecutical industry. Voluntary compliance is fine up to a point, but I intend to carry the big club at all times," he said.

* * *

Edwards took pains to erase the impression left at a news conference that he would be soft on the pharmaceutical industry. He said then: "I feel we have to move more in the direction of working with industry."

His emphasis on "hard-nosed" management fits with a common complaint of HEW top-siders that Ley was indecisive on such sensitive issues as the safety of the artificial sweetener cyclamates.

BIGGEST JOB

Edward's biggest task will be to reconcile the conflicting demands of industry for relaxed regulation and quicker product approval and of consumer advocates for toughened safety enforcement on such things as food additives and ineffective drugs.

Edwards, a life-long Republican, former Des Moines, Iowa, surgeon and avid squash player, spent five years in positions with the American Medical Association and, in 1967, joined the industrial management firm of Boose, Allen and Hamilton of Chicago.

* * *

In 1961 he came to Washington as a consultant to the U.S. surgeon general for a year. At the American Medical Association he was assistant director of medical education and a director of socio-economic activities.

* * *

Ley, meantime, has been offered another job as an aide to Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs, but associates said he has not decided whether to take it.

2 Dubious Stocks Returned to Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to buy stock in a will-o'-the-wisp company?

A couple of issues that fit that description—Commercial Finance Corp. of New Jersey and Pacific Fidelity Corp. of Nevada—are back on the over-the-counter market this week.

★ ★ ★

The Securities and Exchange Commission suspended trading in Commercial Finance stock last March 12 after it was used in a series of deals that contributed to the collapse of several insurance companies. A Mafia loan shark was among those involved in the deals.

The SEC permitted trading to resume Monday, but cautioned brokers and potential buyers that Commercial Finance has "no known assets, operations or income, no officers, directors or offices."

SUSPENDED AUG. 18

Trading in Pacific Fidelity was suspended Aug. 18 because, the SEC said, "information currently being circulated about the company's assets and operations appears to be inaccurate and incomplete."

Not much has changed. In allowing trading to resume, the SEC said it has been "unable to locate any current business offices of Pacific. The present whereabouts of officers or directors of the company and the existence of corporate books and records (including transfer records) are unknown."

★ ★ ★

There are other, similar issues on the market.

Last June, for example, the SEC permitted trading to resume in the stock of Federal Oil Co. of Salt Lake City but warned that it "is nothing more than a corporate shell, having no assets other than $11.42 in cash and a deficit in earned surplus of $405,000."

WHY SEC OKAY?

Why does the SEC permit trading to resume in stocks with such a shady past and a dubious future?

A commission spokesman said the only alternative would be to go into court and seek an injunction permanently barring trading. Court action is time-consuming. There are filings and arguments and motions that can take days or weeks while manipulators continue spinning deals.

★ ★ ★

So, the spokesman said, 10-day suspensions are used to bring an immediate halt to stock sales and distribution. These extensions often are renewed every 10 days for a year or more.

Then, when trading is allowed to resume, brokers and dealers are notified that the stock is not what its promoters claim. A broker who fails to pass this information along to potential customers can, if caught, end up with a suspension himself.

CURRENT TREND

The current trend on the commission, said the spokesman, is toward shorter rather than longer trading suspensions.

A leading advocate of shorter suspensions is SEC Chairman Hamer H. Budge. "It's a known fact that whenever there's a suspension he wants the staff working to lift it as soon as possible," the spokesman said.

One reason is that some SEC attorneys believe that the series of 10-day suspensions used to keep a stock off the market sometimes for a year or more may violate the spirit of the law.

Another reason, often expressed by Budge, is that all holders of a suspended stock, whether confidence men or saints, are stuck—unable to sell what they hold in hopes of regaining even a small part of their investment—while the suspension is in force.

HARD TO FIND

Saints are hard to find in the case of Commercial Finance Corp.

Details of how this stock's value was inflated and how it then was used in a series of deals with insurance companies were first made public at a hearing last spring before the Oklahoma insurance commissioner.

★ ★ ★

Stuart C. Goldberg, an SEC enforcement attorney who had unearthed much of the twisted history of Commercial Finance Corp., told how the late Frank G. Buffam—a veteran confidence man who specialized in trading in worthless securities—had succeeded in boosting the price of the stock from one penny a share to more than $3.

Goldberg said Buffam bought up all the outstanding shares in Commercial Finance, then called a broker and said he wanted to buy Commercial Finance stock for $3 a share.

The broker looked for the price in the pink sheets, the standard reference for price quotations of over-the-counter stocks—those not sold on any of the major exchanges—and found it wasn't listed. At Buffam's request, Goldberg said, the broker listed the $3 bid in the pink sheets for the following day.

Additional details of the dealings in this stock are disclosed in a study by Goldberg of the procedures followed by the Committee on Valuation of Securities of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC). The highly critical report never was made public, but was circulated among all state insurance commissioners.

In the report, Goldberg said the broker who placed the $3 bid for Commercial Finance in the pink sheets "admitted knowing nothing about the company for which he was bidding. It was further discovered that there were only five trades during the entire year of 1968, and that all these trades involved purchases by officers of the corporation for the sole purpose of keeping a quote in the pink sheets."

"The quotes that appear in the pink sheets mean absolutely nothing," Goldberg told the Oklahoma hearing. "Anybody can call up a broker and tell him 'Buy me a share of Commercial Finance at $1,000.' And the broker would then put in a bid at $1,000 into the pink sheets."

'ONLY BASIS'

According to Goldberg, the pink sheets quotations were the only basis for the subsequent listing of Commercial Finance Corp. stock at $3.50 a share in the NAIC publication used by "insurance companies and state insurance commissions (to) value the investment portfolios held by insurance companies."

Officials of Community National Life Insurance Co. of Tulsa, Okla., for example, placed a $1,052,000 value on 302,000 shares of Commercial Finance stock it received as payment to single-premium, paid-up life insurance policies.

★ ★ ★

The insurance policies then were used as collateral for bank loans. Community National since has been declared insolvent.

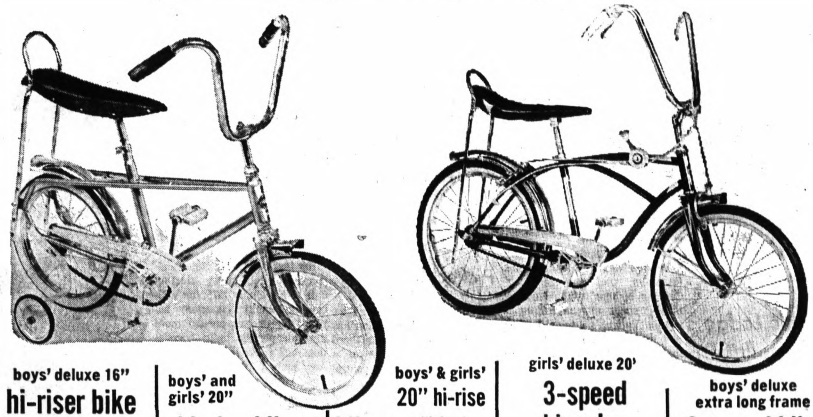

Commercial Finance stock also was used to purchase a controlling interest in the now-defunct State Fire and Casualty Co. of Miami by a New York holding company controlled by Emil (Tommy the Twitch) Tucker, an ex-convict.

Tucker told the New York State Investigation Commission he acted as a middleman in deals under which State Fire issued performance bonds used as collateral for loans. Most of the money from the loans allegedly went to John Masiello, identified as a Mafia loan shark.

'New Mass' Texts Readied

NEW YORK (AP) — Publishers of Roman Catholic altar missals have swung into full production of the simplified "new Mass" texts which become the Sunday worship norm next spring for the nation's 48 million Catholics.

When the U.S. bishops recently approved the English-language translation of the revised Mass decreed by Pope Paul VI, it meant a green light for publishing houses to go to press and get enough of the 1,200-page books printed during the next four months for all 18,000 parishes in the country.

* * *

March 22, Palm Sunday, is the day the new formula worship starts. It has been stripped of many gestures and stock repetitive prayers, with the variable prayers that change from Sunday to Sunday now being repeated only once in three years instead of in one year.

Major liturgical publishers like Benziger Brothers here already have many pages galley-proofed and sent—for a look at accuracy and quality—to the bishops' experts who prepared the English version.

WORSHIP SHIFT

The experts under the Revs. Frederick McManus and Joseph Champlin, who run the U.S. Catholic bishops' worship committee, spent months translating the Vatican's original Latin and working a smooth flow of modern expression into old Scripture.

The new Mass is still another step in a shifting worship direction that Catholicism began six years ago—away from silent attendance by individual spectators and toward active, vocal participation by people praying and aware of themselves as a body or congregation.

* * *

Flexibility is the key from start to finish, with prayer forms depending on the religious season of the church year, the kind of congregation, and the needs of the moment for thanksgiving, rejoicing or sorrow.

It will be up to the individual celebrant of the Mass, for instance, whether to close with any one of three forms—"The Mass is ended, go in peace" (as at present), "Go in the peace of Christ" or "Go in peace to love and serve the Lord."

CREED CHANGE

Part of the stronger new communal approach will be to have the people recite the Creed, a summary of Catholic belief, by saying "we believe" instead of the old "I believe."

Many of the new prayers have a similar plural phrasing. In addition, the revised Mass incorporates prayer phrases familiar to Protestants and an offertory prayer paralleling a common Jewish blessing of food.

The times that the priest must genuflect or kiss the altar cloth will be sharply reduced. People from the congregation will henceforth carry the Communion bread and wine to the priest, instead of the priest bringing them out on the altar himself.

A third element is being added to the instructional part of the Mass just before the sermon —a reading from Old Testament Scripture as found in the pre-Christian Bible—in addition to the usual New Testament readings of an Epistle and Gospel passage.

START POSTPONED

Pope Paul authorized the new order of the Mass last April, issuing the full formulation in a lengthy Latin document. The bishops of each country were to have it translated into their people's tongue. The earliest starting date for the new Mass was set at Nov. 30, 1969.

But last Oct. 30 the Pope postponed the obligatory starting date to November 1971, the Vatican explaining that many national hierarchies needed more time to perfect their translations and get their people ready. Any country ready before 1971 could go ahead, however.

* * *

The U.S. Catholic bishops, at their regular semiannual meeting in Washington in mid-November, accepted the textual translations of their literary and worship experts in a series of eight ballotings. Some of the voting approved new prayers for administering the sacraments of marriage and baptism, but most deal with the revised Mass.

FREDERICK CLELAND

Masonic Lodge Sets Installation

A Clawson resident, Frederick Cleland, will be installed as worshipful master of Pontiac Lodge 21, F & AM, at ceremonies at 8 p.m. Friday at 18½ Lawrence.

Other officers to be installed are Robert Petersen, senior warden; William Ten Eyck, junior warden; Richard Crawley, treasurer; Wayne Scott, secretary; Jerry Jenkins, senior deacon; and Albert Robertson, junior deacon.

Pollution Target Picked by UAW

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union has picked the heavily industrialized downriver Detroit area for a pilot project in efforts to control air and water pollution.

Olga M. Madar, director of the UAW's department of conservation, said yesterday, "We call on students and retired persons, as well as those in the work force, for their ideas on how best to work with church, civic, service, conservation, sportsmen and other groups to achieve a strong and united front to which government and industry will be forced to respond."

Ohio-West Virginia Bridge Tragedy Recalled

KANAUGA, Ohio (AP) Just before Christmas two years ago, the Silver Bridge collapsed and sent 46 persons to their deaths in the icy depths of the Ohio River.

The cause? No certain cause has yet been advanced.

Eyewitnesses said after the collapse that the bridge was overloaded with bumper - to - bumper cars carrying holiday shoppers and homeward - bound workers and could not stand the strain.

A report from the National Transportation Safety Board, however, said the 40 - year - old bridge linking Point Pleasant, W. Va., and Kanauga, Ohio, was not overloaded.

Whatever the cause, it is among the worst road bridge disasters in American history.

Of the 46 who died, two have never been found. Nine others were injured.

A new bridge has been built in the place of the old, but the event has not been forgotten.

An estimated 25,000 persons are expected Dec. 15 at ceremonies opening the $12-million replacement span to be called the Silver Memorial Bridge. West Virginia officials have announced that there still is minor work to be done on the new bridge and that it won't be open to traffic until after the ceremonies.

* * *

It was 10 days before Christmas, just before 5 p.m. when it began to happen.

Girders in the steel superstructure on the two - lane river crossing twisted in convulsive circles. Steel in the 2,250-foot suspension bridge clattered onto cars and trucks inching across the wildly rippling bridge floor.

When the U.S. 35 highway linkup fell it appeared to start on the Ohio side and then leaned up on the West Virginia bank.

37 VEHICLES

Most of the vehicles — exactly 37 cars and trucks an investigation disclosed later — remained on the concrete roadway as they dropped 100 feet to the water.

In less than 90 seconds the bridge disappeared into the brown Ohio River. Only the two concrete piers remained visible.

* * *

Trucks, cars and humans were entwined in what one rescue worker described as a "giant, grotesque bird cage of steel" 40 feet below the surface.

"Everything started to shake," survivor Frank Wamsley, a truck driver, told reporters later, "and I saw the bridge snapping and snake toward me."

Wamsley, a Point Pleasant sand and gravel company employe, said: "We bounced inside the truck like rubber balls. I don't remember hitting the water, but we stopped and I guess we were at the bottom.

"Somehow, I got out of the door and the next thing I knew I was on top of the water. I grabbed hold of a barrel I saw floating nearby — there was another man holding on, too."

* * *

The grim business of finding the bodies trapped under water was hazardous and difficult.

Thirteen divers braved the swift, murky waters for days cutting the metal apart with underwater blow torches. Cranes lifted the pieces onto barges.

Pieces of the bridge were taken to a field near Henderson, W. Va., and the bridge was reconstructed to seek clues to what had happened.

DAMAGE SUITS

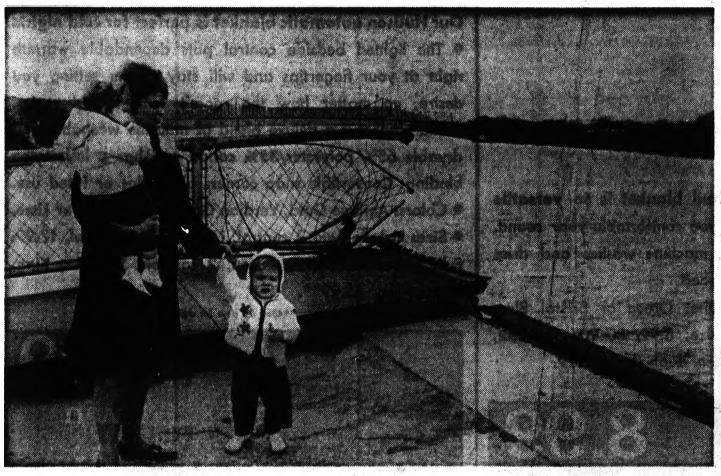

At least $8 million in damage suits have been filed as a result of the collapse. None has yet been resolved.

What caused the accident remains a mystery.

An interim report last year by the National Transportation Safety Board said the total weight of 37 vehicles should not have been sufficient to overload the bridge.

* * *

The board ruled out the possibility of aerodynamic instability, sabotage, or displacement of bridge anchorages, piers or tower seats by barge collisions.

BRIDGE TO NOWHERE — Mrs. Carlos Wood of Gallipolis, Ohio, stands with her twins, 19-month-old Tammy and Craig, on what remains of the West Virginia side of the Silver Bridge and remembers the night two years ago when she narrowly escaped death as the span crashed into the icy Ohio River. Mrs. Wood, who was pregnant at the time, was driving home from work and threw her car in reverse when she saw the bridge crumbling. The replacement span (background) will be dedicated Friday..

Horseman vs. Bull Safer, Needs Skill

MADRID (UPI)—For foreign tourists who go to a bullfight in Spain, the most popular part of the program is often not the golden-suited matador but a man on a beautifully trained horse — the "rejoneador."

His name comes from the "rejon," or lance, that he places in the bull's neck as he guides his mount within inches of the horns.

And there are not the battered nags of the picadors, but splendid thoroughbred English and Arabian stallions that have been trained for thousands of hours in school figures and facing a wild bull.

★ ★ ★

Though "rejoneo" may not provide the thrill of traditional fighting on foot, it is often exciting and the tourist finds it considerably easier to follow.

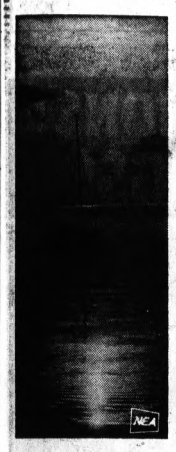

NOT TOO CLOSE

It shares many things with traidtional bullfighting. Instead of a cape, the skilled rider uses his horse to temper and draw out the bull's charge. Since every bull behaves differently in the ring, the rider must know the best ground to palce the rejones and "banderillas" (short barbed sticks). He should get his horse close to the bull, but not so close that it will be caught.

As with traditional bullfighting, rejoneo has its tricks. Perhaps the basic one is that the horns of the bull nowadays are clipped and blunted — "shaved" — so that if they catch the horse they will do little damage. The purists say this robs the performance of real emotion and makes it just a circus number — like a high wire act with a net.

And in their manner of placing the banderillas and rejones, the horsemen often cheat. Instead of taking the bull headon, making the horse go to the bull's own dangerous territory — the center of the ring — they ride their horse between the bull and the shelter of the fence.

This may look risky, but the experts say, since the bull has a tendency to swerve away from the fence, it is really not. And instead of coming together with the bull and planting the lance early, the "play safe" rejoneadores wait until the bull is past and then slip it in.

ALL IS CALM — The sun rises over a solitary sailboat anchored in the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Junior Yacht Basin.

U. S. Capitol Is Embattled

The Big Question: Extend or Restore

By Science Service

Not since the British burned Washington during the War of 1812 has the U.S. Capitol building been in such danger. The threat this time is not to its existence but rather to its beauty and historical integrity — at least that's the way many legislators, architects and private individuals see it.

Their concern is over an attempt to extend the west front of the 176-year-old edifice, covering the crumbling, original sandstone with glistening marble. The addition, covering 4.5 acres, would house mainly committee rooms, offices, dining facilities for the lawmakers and the public and restrooms.

★ ★ ★

Such an extension, claim the critics would mar the architectural splendor of the building, kill the magnificent terracing on the west side, destroy the only remnant of the original Capitol and cost at least $45 million — $10 million an acre.

J. George Stewart, the Capitol architect, justifies this expenditure on the basis of the rickety condition of the west front, a condition so perilous that he has kept low-flying helicopters away from the building.

CRACKING, CRUMBLING

The problem is a result of sideways movement of the west front caused by expansion in summer and contraction in winter. Since the front is rigidly joined to the rest of the building: cracking and crumbling result.

To counter this, Stewart's office advocates construction of a marble extension to buttress the west front and prevent its movement. Lateral movement in the new wing would be overcome by expansion joints and flat brass plates placed in its walls and ceilings to provide free play and eliminate strain.

★ ★ ★

Extension versus restoration is what the furor is all about. "Restoration would accomplish only a temporary, cosmetic effect," says Philip Roof, Stewart's executive assistant.

Standing in opposition to extension is the American Institute of Architects, which agrees that the west front is in danger and that something must be done fairly soon. But that something, it says, is the less costly restoration.

CHEAPER WAY

Francis D. Lethbridge, vice president of the AIA, contends that "extension is not needed to correct lateral thrust." Free play can be accomplished more cheaply by a construction joint that allows two sections independent movement.

Campus Theater Group Picks Two Top Execs

ANN ARBOR — The executive board of the recently formed University Resident Theatre Association (URTA) has announced the election of Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president emeritus of the University of Michigan, as chairman and Robert C. Schnitzer, executive director of the U-M Professional Theatre Program, as executive director.

★ ★ ★

The new organization has been created to promote closer liaison among university-sponsored professional theaters in the United States.

URTA was established in May at a conference sponsored by the Johnson Wax Foundation at Racine, Wis. The meeting was organized by Dr. Keith Engar, executive director of the theater department of the University of Utah.

It brought together 40 leaders of university professional drama programs to form a special division within the American Educational Theatre Association.

★ ★ ★

The new association will serve the need for exchange of information on program selection, personnel, administration, production, and funding among the nation's nearly 100 university professional theaters.

Dr. Hatcher, who headed the University of Michigan from 1951 to 1967, is the author of numerous volumes on history and literature, and editor of two collections of contemporary theater works, "Modern Dramas" and "Modern Continental British and American Dramas," which are standard texts in college courses.

Her Forget-Me-Not Plan Pays Off

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A once-forgotten 61-year-old invalid, Ora (Billie) Anderson, has invested $2.75 so she won't be forgotten this Christmas.

★ ★ ★

Last year at Christmas she was bedridden and forgotten, she says, but this year she already has received 30 cards, some from as far away as Lincoln, Neb., and phone calls from Nashville, Tenn.

★ ★ ★

Her $2.75 investment was in the form of quarters sent to postmasters around the country. She sent each a coin with a request that they use it to buy her a holiday card.

"Well, I love 'em — everybody," she said. "Tell them I thank them a whole bushel — I love every one of them."

★ ★ ★

Last year, just before Christmas, Miss Anderson fell and broke her hip. She's been in and out of the hospital ever since. The West Virginia native, who lives alone, says she manages quite well on her $105 per month disability pay.

★ ★ ★

She has no complaints this Christmas. "Getting those cards is better than getting dinner . . . I cried and everything. I'll tell you, they do a lot of good."

'Christmas Shopping'--Any Number (Darn It) Can Play

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Since Christmas shoppers buy a lot of adult parlor games as gifts, I thought it might be fun to invent an adult parlor game called "Christmas Shopping."

WEST

The rules are pretty complicated, so pay close attention:

Before the game begins, each player draws a card upon which is written his "gift list." He then receives $100,000 from the "bank." The object of the game is to try to acquire all of the items on the "gift list" without having to get more money from the "bank."

The game is played on a board shaped like a suburban shopping center. Spaced around the board are a number of "obstacles," which are called "parking lot," "Santa Claus," "department store clerk," "Escalator," "elevator," "bargain basement," "gift wrap," "Aunt Maude," "credit card" and "sold out."

★ ★ ★

To begin play, each player places a colored market on the space marked "go." Progress around the board is determined by rolling dice. Every time a player lands on a space marked "store," he may purchase one item on his "gift list." The price is determined by drawing a "price" card.

'PENALTY' CARD

But if a player lands on one of the "obstacle" spaces, he must draw a "penalty" card. Here are the "penalty" cards:

- "Parking lot full. Circle board 10 times."
- "Your kid sees Santa Claus and asks for 10 things not included on your 'gift list.' Go back 10 spaces."
- "When you finally find a clerk, she turns out to be a temporary employe who was hired for the holidays and has only been on the job one day. Go back 12 spaces."
- "You try to reach third floor via the escalator. Go back three spaces."
- "You try to reach fourth floor via the elevator. Go back four spaces."
- "One of the items on your 'gift list' is on sale in the bargain basement. Go back 20 spaces."
- "You decide to have your packages gift-wrapped by the store. Remain in place."
- "You notice you don't have anything on your 'gift list' for Aunt Maude. Return to go."
- "The store will accept 12 different credit cards. You have 12 different cards with you. None of them matches. Lose next turn."
- "You stand in line 20 minutes to buy a certain item. The last one was sold 15 minutes ago. Go back 20 spaces."

At the end of the game, the player with the fewest gifts that need exchanging becomes the "winner."

They Eat Fill, Set Own Bill

NAALDWIJK, The Netherlands (AP) — Restaurant owner Philip Droog loves serving customers but hates to present a bill.

So he has taken prices off his menus and asks guests to pay what they think the meal is worth. "I am not losing any money," Droog reports.

New Year to Ring Out Democratic Government in Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The bells which ring in the new year will ring out the last remaining vestiges of democratic, elected government in Peru.

Peru's mayors and city or town councils will complete their three-year terms in office and will join President Fernando Belaunde in enforced retirement.

The revolutionary military government headed by Gen. Juan Velasco did not permit municipal elections this fall and has made it clear the elected city officials will leave their posts when their terms expire Dec. 31.

★ ★ ★

One mayor and city council did not make it through their terms, in fact. Trujillo's Mayor Jorge Torres and his council were dismissed Oct. 14 for refusing to fly the Peruvian flag during a visit by President Velasco.

PLANS NOT CLEAR

Velasco has not made clear his plans for the municipalities, but it is expected that high-ranking military officers will be appointed to head the larger cities, especially Lima.

For the some 1,500 smaller communities, civilians who have allied themselves to the military government may be appointed to handle local governmental affairs.

★ ★ ★

Interior Minister Gen. Armando Artola, the nation's police boss and an avowed foe of Lima Mayor Luis Bedoya, gave the first clue to the government's intentions last month.

He said all the "shameless" municipal authorities would be replaced. He mentioned designation of boards of notables to succeed them.

UNDER FIRE

Artola immediately came under fire from a number of sectors which had tacitly accepted an authoritarian national regime but which apparently had hoped to maintain home rule.

Expreso said in an editorial that Artola had wronged nearly every mayor and council in the country with his blanket denunciation of "shameless" ones.

★ ★ ★

Richard Monteagudon, secretary general of Belaunde's Popular Action party, said Artola showed "lack of respect for human dignity."

The magazine Caretas, whose publisher, Enrique Zileri, was exiled temporarily in May for an attack on Artola, said this month that the interior minister had been designated a "lightning rod destined to attract the bolts of criticism."

DECAPITATE, DESTROY

"And," said Caretas wryly, "he is carrying out his duty with zeal and dedication." It added that the military government appeared "disposed to discredit all the politicians, and to decapitate and destroy the political parties."

By removing Mayor Bedoya from office, the military rulers obviously will be crimping the political ambitions of a man once regarded as a likely leading contender for president.

★ ★ ★

Bedoya entered Peru's political scene in the Christian Democratic party, but then formed his own Popular Christian party.

He sharply criticized the military for ousting the Trujillo municipal officers, and drew Artola's wrath when he cabled Chilean President Eduardo Frei congratulations in October for putting down a military rebellion.

Big Telescope Eyed in Space, on Moon

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The list of potential jobs for astronauts on the moon is a lengthy one but astronomers are hoping they'll soon be given another — setting up a large telescope.

Establishments of such an instrument on the moon—or on its own man-made satellite 8 would break through the major barrier to the further expansion of man's knowledge of the universe. This is why:

The larger a telescope, the more light it collects and the fainter are the objects it can see. The larger a telescope is, the greater is its potential resolving power, its ability to distinguish small objects.

★ ★ ★

The earth's atmosphere sets limits on the improvements that are possible by increasing the size of telescopes. Light rays passing through layers of air at different temperatures are bent and distorted so that focusing a sharp image is no longer possible. The phenomenon, called twinkling, is visible even to the naked eye.

The largest earth-based telescopes, such as the 200-inch Hale telescope on Mt. Palomar, also approach a limit of faint seeing. the atoms of the air give off a faint light, the so-called air-glow, which is invisible to the eye, but which provides a background glow strong enough to wash out stars fainter than 23rd magnitude. That's trillions of times as faint as stars visible to the naked eye (sixth magnitude), but is far from the limit of what's possible.

CONSTRUCTION URGED

Astronomers are therefore eager to have a large telescope in space beyond the atmospheric blanket, and construction of such an instrument has been recommended in recent weeks by two of the government's scientific advisory groups, one a committee of the space Sciences Board of the National Academy of Sciences, and the other the Astronomy Missions board of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The telescopes would be at least 120 inches in diameter and would be located either in orbit around the earth or on the surface of the moon. Space is a darker environment than the atmosphere, and objects as faint as 29th magnitude would be visible to the telescope. Since each magnitude represents a factor of 10 in increasing faintness, 29th magnitude is a million times as faint as the 23rd magnitude now barely visible to the Hale ttele-Sciences Board Committee lays

★ ★ ★

A large space telescope would be a help in almost all the outstanding problems of astronomy, but the Space Sciences Board Committee lays special emphasis on the nearest and farthest problems, the solar system and the shape and origins of the universe.

★ ★ ★

Most astronomers agree that the universe is expanding, but they have never been able to get an accurate measure of the rate of that expansion. Studies of galaxies farther away than the present outer limit of about six billion light years (a light year is the distance light travels in a year, and is the interstellar yardstick) could increase the accuracy immeasurably and would determine the shape of the universe.

AFFECTS IMAGES

Closer to home, atmospheric twinkle also affects the images of the planets, making surface details shimmer, jump, and appear and disappear in front of the observer's eyes. It has

Airlines Provide Well for Animals' Transportation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Customs regulations may prevent the American traveled from bringing back an untanned lion skin as a souvenir. But it is okay to come home with one if the lion is still inside.

In fact, with the proper authenticated documents, Americans may bring in virtually any living creature which slithers, crawls, slinks, walks, swims or flies.

* * *

Not many average travelers do return with such souvenirs, of course, but there are some who enjoy having a monkey, ocelot, lion or other exotic pet around the house.

At any rate, Noah woud feel at home in the Animalport at the John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York.

The $300,000 facility, operated by the American Society for the Prevention of Curelty to animals (ASPCA), has played host to more than 140 species of animals—wild and domesticated — since it opened about 12 years ago.

750,000 'GUESTS'

The more than 750,000 "guests" at the modern two-story building have included everything from aardvarks to zebras and from mice to elephants. Most were destined for zoos, circuses, animal farms and dealers but some were owned by individual Americans.

Daily rates, including accommodations and meals, range from $1 per bag or box of non-poisonous snakes ($2 for the poisonous kinds); to $10 per horse or mature bull (plus an additional $10 for cleaning and disinfecting stalls for from one to three of the animals).

* * *

The rate sheet does not include the charge for elephants but a whole box of white mice will be housed, watered, fed, etc. for just $3 per day.

It is $6 daily for each lion, tiger or other large wild feline. The charge for gorillas is also $6 per day but monkeys and other small primates are only $2 to $3 per crate (or barrel).

SKUNK RATE $3

For bears, kangaroos and pandas the fee is $3 each, or $1 less than for a pig or wolf. A whole box — presumably odorproof — of skunks costs $3.

Most of the Animalport's "trade," however, are pet dogs and cats being shipped by air here and abroad. the daily charge for domesticated cats is $2 while it ranges from $2 to $3.50 for dogs, depending on size.

* * *

The airlines carry thousands of family pets annually. However, whether they are accompanying passengers or being shipped, they must be carried only in approved containers. The carriers, which must have draft-free ventilation, an escape-proof feeding hatch and water-proof bottom, may be purchased at local pet and department stores, or from the airlines.

EXCEPTIONS TO RULE

Generally, pets are shipped in heated, pressurized cargo compartments. A few airlines will permit a small pet to be carried aboard if its container fits under the passenger's seat.

* * *

Seeing-eye dogs travel uncrated with their masters in the passenger cabin. The blind traveler has only to inform the airline he will be taking his dog when making reservations and the necessary arrangements will be made. There is no charge for such dogs.

Otherwise, air freight rates apply for pets flying alone, based on the total weight or volume of the pet plus its container. Pets accompanying their masters fly at excess baggage rates.

For overseas flights, various documents are necessary — including a U.S. Customs shipper's export declaration, a veterinary health certificate, a rabies vaccination certificate and passibly others. Requirements vary from country to country.

For instance, France generally requires a dog or cat be vaccinated against rabies more than one month and less than six months before entry.

On the other hand, a pet must spend six months quarantined in approved British kennels to get into Britain. Accommodations must be secured in advance and an authorized agent engaged to meet the pet on arrival, clear it through customs and deliver it to the quarantine kennels.

* * *

The Soviet Union and some of the West Indies islands do not admit dogs or cats from the United States.

Most international airlines will provide the documents needed for shipping pets as well as information on regulations in the countries they service.

* * *

Similar information, as well as regulations in the United States itself, are contained in a booklet published as a service for travelers by ASPCA.

* * *

Titled "Traveling with Your Pet," the booklet also includes information on the services available at the Animalport and tips for taking along or shipping pets by air and land.

* * *

The booklet and other information can be obtained by writing to ASPCA, 441 East 92nd St., N.Y., N.Y. 10028.

Heart Recipient Dies

'Transplants to Go On'

PHILIP T. BARNUM

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The death of Philip T. Barnum will not change the University of Michigan Hospital's attempts to perform heart transplant operations when possible.

Barnum, the 50-year-old Kalamazoo accountant who became Michigan's first heart transplant patient and the world's 51st, died at the hospital yesterday almost 15 months after receiving the heart of an inmate at Southern Michigan prison.

Dr. William N. Hubbard Jr., director of the hospital, said Barnum died because his body rejected the foreign heart, and the rejection was complicated by infection.

But Barnum had been told before the operation Sept. 19, 1968 that his body would reject the heart, Hubbard said. "It came as no surprise to him that rejection was progressing.

"We are pleased the heart transplant was able to give Mr. Barnum 14 months of life that he probably would not otherwise have had," said a spokesman for the hospital.

"We at the center profited from the operation and the things we continue to learn from such undertakings we hope will some day make organ transplants a frequent and useful means of prolonging and improving human life."

Hubbard said, "If everyone understands our limitation (the body's rejection mechanism) it is morally defensible to proceed" with similar operations.

"Over time," Hubbard said, "rejection was inevitable. Our effort is to make that time as long as we can."

GRADUATION, MARRIAGE

During the extra 14 months the heart allowed him to live, Barnum saw his youngest daughter graduate from high school and his son get married.

He is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Hubbard said the two other men who received new hearts at the hospital — Donald Kaminski of Alpena and Gerald Rector of Livonia — are doing fine.

Kaminski received his new heart on Dec. 22, 1968, and Rector on March 17 of this year.

To his knowledge, Hubbard said neither Rector nor Kaminski show any signs of infection.

The surgical team has not performed a heart transplant operation since Rector's. Hospital officials said this was due to the difficulty of finding recipients and donors and matching the heart to the body tissue of the recipient.

'Draft Setup Unbalanced'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Twice as many men with birthdays in December will be drafted as those born in January under the new draft lottery system, a University of Michigan scientist contends.

Dr. Fred T. Haddock, director of the university's radio astronomy observatory, said an analysis of the lottery results shows the chance of being drafted increases systematically as birthdates fall later in the year.

"It is as if the capsules containing the birthdates were placed in the glass bowl in monthly order with January on the bottom and December on the top and then mixed or stirred too little for a random mix to be obtained," he suggested.

* * *

The professor said odds against such a trend occurring through random selection are "over 100,000 to one."

Yule Cards to Red Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., and the U.S. Jaycees have asked Americans to barrage Xuan Thuy, chief North Vietnamese negotiator at the Paris talks, with Christmas cards urging release of U.S. prisoners of war.

Griffin, assistant Senate Republican leader, and Wendell Smith, national chairman of the Jaycees, announced the undertaking at a news conference yesterday.

* * *

They said they had State Department clearance for the project.

"The men who run North Vietnam have demonstrated that they can be heartless," Griffin said. "But they are not fools. As we have seen they are not oblivious to American opinion."

Smith said the Christmas card campaign, which originated with the Jaycees' chapter in Virginia Beach, Va., "isn't a hawk or a dove program" but simply an effort on behalf of families and friends of captured U.S. servicemen.

* * *

Griffin said he had not yet worked out a system for delivering the letters to Xuan Thuy.

He said the cards should be addressed to "Project Xuan Thuy, Box 2600, Washington, D.C. 20013."

* * *

The cards, he said, should include a message calling upon North Vietnam to release the names of all prisoners, treat them humanely and free them soon.

U.S. to Commit Troops to Viet Training Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. leaders are reported tentatively planning to keep 20,000 to 40,000 military men in South Vietnam to train and advise Vietnamese forces after all other American troops have pulled out.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird assured the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in secret testimony published early this week, U.S. troops kept in Vietnam as trainers would total "substantially below" 50,000.

Pentagon sources indicated the number might be in the 20,000-40,000 range, but Laird did not get more specific as to numbers. He did stress the Americans would serve a much different function than the 55,000 U.S. troops which help man South oKrea's defenses and some 320,000 posted in Europe.

The defense secretary left unsaid how long the United States would keep a training force in South Vietnam.

DEPENDS ON NORTH

Officials said the planning assumes North Vietnam will continue to shun any agreement on mutual troop withdrawal. But if Hanoi should come around to such an agreement, officials implied a total withdrawal, including the trainers and advisers, could be negotiated.

Nixon administration officials hope it will be possible to complete withdrawal of all U.S. combat troops by the end of 1970. Counting the nearly 70,000 already removed since summer, this would amount to 300,000 men.

Remaining behind, possibly into 1972, would be about 200,000 Americans to furnish air support, artillery, supply and other back-up for the South Vietnamese combat troops.

Laird told the Foreign Relations Committee the "transitional force" providing support for the South Vietnamese would include some troops to protect the American support forces.

"They will not have combat responsibility within the country but they will have the capability of defending the security of American forces," Laird said.

Included in the support services, apart from air power and artillery, Laird listed communications, logistics, construction, and engineers. The U.S. Navy will be almost entirely finished in Vietnam next June.

The idea of a training force staying in Vietnam did not appear to disturb members of the committee, made up largely of opponents of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Nixon's Voice Sought in Bias

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., urged President Nixon yesterday to "speak out" against refusal of a Birmingham, Ala., cemetery to bury Pfc. Bill Terry, a Birmingham soldier killed in combat in Vietnam last July.

The reason given for the refusal was that Terry was black, Conyers said.

Soft Casbah Seller Drives Hard Bargain

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

TANGIER, Morocco — In this age of supermarkets, credit cards and hard and soft television pitches, the Arab merchant still is the supreme technocrat of salesmanship. Madison Avenue couldn't touch him with a 10,000-volt computer.

Come wiz me to ze Casbah and see for yourself.

★ ★ ★

"Welcome my shop," a friendly voice calls out from the beguiling confusion of a stall in the crowded bazaar. "Have a look around. Buy noz-zing. No obligations. Ali ben Nadim bids you a thousand welcomes and the blessings of Allah."

You can't place the name, but the fez is familiar. Smiling, trusting, Avuncular, sitting there amid a sultan's ransom of rich rugs and copper urns, he is hospitality itself.

'YOU WELCOME HERE'

"Please, sit down. Have a coffee. Have tea. Have a Coke. Buy noz-zing. Get out of the sun. My shop is my home. You welcome here."

The master of the soft sell has you gently, firmly by the arm. Before you can blurt: "I left my wallet in my other suit," you find yourself enthroned on a genuine, hand-tooled, gold threaded cameiskin pouf, fingering a jewel studded, platinum handled, genuine Damascus steel dagger that, from testimonials sworn on a stack of Korans, severed the jugulars of many a Rif ruffian.

★ ★ ★

"My grandfather's kris," the proprietor informs you in reverential tones. Only the price breaks the unbearable poignancy of the moment. "Genuine antique: 100 dirhams ($20). But for you, my friend, a special price: 80 dirhams."

A small boy, known in the trade as an urchin-merchant, has appeared with a tray of weak tea in authentically dirty glasses.

HE SIPS, PRICE SLIPS

Between the first two sips, the price already has dropped to 75 dirhams.

"You my first customer today: extra special price." The smile is shy and tentative, that of the philanthropist who won't let his left hand know what his right hand is up to.

★ ★ ★

There is assurance, too, in the mother-of-pearl wall placard spelling out the ethics of the establishment: "Fixed Price ... No Haggling ... Will Not Be Undersold."

You have yet to make an offer, but the monologue already has turned to how you would like it shipped or wrapped or taken to your car.

INNOCENT AMERICAN

"Now just a dang-busted, gash-darn minute," you say in your best early James Stewart innocent-Americanese and try handing the knife back, but no one is available to accept it. The small boy is busy fanning away the noonday heat; the proprietor is digging deep into his treasures.

"Here, genuine rhinestone hilt: 50 dirhams."

★ ★ ★

You manage to get across that you don't want a dagger but you might be interested in a pouf, one of those puffed up harem pillows that Yvonne De Carlo or Vera Ralston used to sprawl on waiting for the caliphs to come home. One in the stall next door caught your fancy.

"Next door!" Ali ben Nadim is appalled. "Never buy next door. Very unreliable. Only my shop is reliable. Ask any taxi driver. Ask any hotel doorman." That is a bit like putting down Willie Sutton as a bank reference.

THOUSANDS OF POUFS

"Poufs, I have thousands of poufs," the proprietor assures you, plopping them down everywhere. "Camel hide, goatskin, genuine gazelle. Green. Red. Gold. White ..."

Well, a brown one was what really attracted you. The small boy disappears, reappears, out of breath, with a brown pouf. He couldn't have gone farther than next door.

★ ★ ★

It's brown, all right, but it looks a trifle soiled around the edges.

"That means it is genuine gazelle. Have you never seen a gazelle out on the great Sahara? Very dirty place, gazelle gets much soiled. Not so bad."

EXIT HAGGLING

Bargaining begins at 80 dirhams—$16. You have more like $5 in mind. At 60 dirhams you are his very special, best-friend-price customer. At 40 you walk out and he follows you up the narrow, winding streets. At 25 dirhams, exactly five bucks, you relent and follow him back to the shop.

"All right," he smiles, rubbing his hands. "How many you want? Five? Six?"

When you tell him only one, the price is suddenly back to 60 dirhams. "I thought you were buying many poufs. Can't give special price for just one."

The Arthur Heaton family of Forest Street has long been associated with the Oakland County Citizens Committee at Pontiac State Hospital. Arthur Heaton (rear) was president for many years; his son, William, (right) now holds that office. At the group's annual Christmas party for patients Wednesday evening, three stereo record players were presented to the hospital. Accepting them is Mrs. Robert Bradshaw, recreational therapist at the hospital.

'Older' Woman Wins Heart of Middle-Aged Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: It's easy to understand why a married man of 42 would leave his wife for a younger woman, but how about a man that age who would leave a beautiful 36 - year - old wife for an old, wrinkled grandmother of 50?

That is exactly what my brother Gordy did. He must be out of his mind. Don't tell me he is looking for "mother love." Our mother is still living and if ever a man got his share of mother love, Brother Gordy did. He was the "baby" of the family, and the only boy — after five girls.

* * *

So please tell me what an intelligent, good - looking, professional man can see in a divorced 50 - year - old retread? It's not money. She doesn't have any, and he has plenty. Thank you.

DISGUSTED SISTER

* * *

DEAR DISGUSTED: There is something obviously more powerful in Brother Gordy's book than youth and beauty. One of the biggest mysteries in the world is what two people see in one another, but I suspect your brother's reasons are younger than springtime and older than the hills.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this on behalf of my fellow workers. There is an older woman in our office who has the habit of humming one low - pitched, monotonous note constantly from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

We who work with her have approached her kindly, asking her to please stop. All she says is, "I can't promise anything."

I have a sign on my desk reading, "Marion, will you PLEASE stop humming" — just in case she glances over.

Several of us have imitated her to remind her that she is humming, but that hasn't helped. We have spoken to her supervisor, but to no avail.

For seven months I've endured this constant maddening distraction, and now I even hear it when it's not there. Please, PLEASE, help us.

GOING CRAZY IN HARTFORD

DEAR GOING: Poor Marion has probably developed the humming habit over the years and now she hums unconsciously. But habits are "learned" and can be "unlearned." So UNITE! Tell her gently but emphatically that her humming is driving you bananas. And tell the boss that he'd better install background music to drown out the humming bird, or you'll all go south.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have been pounding it into the heads of my two sons, ages four and six, that they are NEVER to accept any kind of gift from a stranger.

My problem is that many times when we are on a bus, or shopping in some public place, some well - meaning person will admire my children and offer them candy, gum, and even money.

I just hate to hurt their feelings, but Abby, it makes it so hard for mothers to train children NOT to accept anything from strangers when strangers keep offering them goodies and money.

Can you please say something to help our cause?

ONLY ONE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'll try: Perhaps it hasn't occurred to all you generous, well - meaning people who "love children" and can't resist offering them goodies or money, that this is the technique used by child molesters who hope to gain a child's confidence in order to get him to "go for a ride," or "not to tell" after improper advances have been made.

Parents should continue to train their children to refuse ALL gifts from strangers, and should a well - intended stranger attempt to countermand the parents' order, he should be set straight in no uncertain terms.

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Special Step Is Discussed by Organist

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

The following letter states very well the arguments for the other side on the "hesitation step" question. I enjoy receiving and printing letters challenging my viewpoint or a reader's. In this case, Mrs. L's arguments are valid, but are outweighed by the fact that the "hesitation step" is difficult to master gracefully.

The slowness, and necessity of keeping time and step, make attendants who are already nervous and "shaky," even more unsteady, and awkward. I believe in a slow walk, but one at a more natural, smoother pace.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: I completely disagree with a previous letter written by Mr. Caldicott. I also am a church organist and have been one for more than twenty years. I very definitely recommend the "hesitation step" as he calls it. When a bride spends so much money on her gown, for one of the greatest days of her life, she should show herself and walk as beautifully as she can. The "hesitation step" does not have to be done so slowly.

* * *

It definitely adds to the beauty and dignity of the ceremony. I don't think five minutes is too much to give to a girl to march down the aisle. The entire ceremony can be finished in fifteen minutes, if it is not a Catholic Nuptial Mass. — Mrs. L.

WEDDING BANDS?

Dear Mrs. Post: My brothers and I would like to give my mother and father a matching wedding band set for Christmas. Mother's band is badly worn and she has hinted several times that she would like a new one, and my father lost his many years ago. Is it proper for us to get bands for them, or is it my father's duty to replace them? — Cathy

Dear Cathy: Although the idea is a nice one, it is not correct for anyone but a husband to give his wife a wedding ring, or vice versa. Give your mother a lovely guard, or a ring if you wish to give her jewelry, but suggest strongly to your father that HE produce a new set of wedding bands for Christmas.

SERVING CHAMPAGNE AT WEDDING BUFFET

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a wedding party in a small apartment. It will be a dinner buffet. The guests will be served at card tables. Should the champagne be served before, after, or with the meal? — Mrs. G.

Dear Mrs. G.: Serve the champagne with the meal. Wine or another beverage may be served from the beginning to the end of the meal. If you do not wish to do that, however, it may be served with the dessert and after the meal.

Flowers Make Party Setting at Barnett Home in Scottsdale

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Mr. and Mrs. William R. (Betty Lou) Shaw of Bloomfield Hills were recent honor guests at a cocktail party given by Marianne and Maurice Barnett. The Barnetts, of course, are newly-transplanted from this area to Scottsdale, Ariz.

* * *

The decorations were rather exotic — gardenias, honeysuckle, hibiscus, bird of paradise and "of course, oranges, WOW," writes Marianne. All in the Barnetts' garden — the perfect background for a party.

The Shaws weren't the only ones there from here. Also on the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. James Corwin, Si Janes and Jean Loyd, all of Bloomfield Hills, plus James Nederlander of Scottsdale and Birmingham and Pete Lucia of Phoenix and Birmingham.

Flowers in December are nice, mind you, but Marianne and Maurice are coming north for the holidays, among other things, to renew their acquaintance with snow.

* * *

More exotica — The local chapter of Ikebana is having a holiday tea on Dec. 17. Guest speaker is Dr. William P. Malm, University of Michigan music professor.

* * *

Dr. Malm, reputed to be the kind of spellbinder that has the audience in the palm of his hand after the first five minutes, will make lively what could be a forbidding topic in the wrong hands, "The Music of Japan."

Hostess is Mrs. H. E. Bumgardner of Bloomfield Hills. In charge of things generally are Mrs. Robert C. Perkins of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. David E. Bates of Timber Ridge Drive in Birmingham.

* * *

Cynthia Diehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Diehl of Suffield Drive in Birmingham, is flying in this weekend to spend the last two weeks, including Christmas, of an extended vacation with the folks.

Cynthia has been touring Europe for a couple of months. Right after the holidays, it's back to her political staff job in Washington, D.C.

Harlech's Unconventional Kids Steal Spotlight at His Wedding

LONDON (AP) — Lord Harlech's long-haired, frilly-shirted sons and maxi-skirted, bead-festooned daughters virtually stole the show today at their father's wedding to American fashion editor Pamela Collin.

Ranging in age from 27 to 14, Francis, Alice, Victoria, Jane, and Julian Orsmby-Gore stood out amid the conventionally clad guests from the worlds of politics, diplomacy, society and show business. Princess Margaret, her husband, Lord Snowdon, and former Prime Minister Harold McMillan headed the guest list.

The 33-year-old bride was among the conventionally dressed, wearing an ankle-length white gown in Grecian style. Her father, New York lawyer Ralph D. Collin, gave her away.

It was the second marriage for Harlech, 51. His first wife died in an automobile accident in 1967. As David Orsmby-Gore, he was ambassador to the United States during the Kennedy administration and after his wife's death frequently escorted the president's widow before she married Aristotle Onassis.

He now heads a commercial television network.

CEREMONY

The ceremony in Grosvenor Chapel was an Anglican service conducted jointly by the parish priest, the Rev. John Gaskell, and the Rev. Andrew Elphinston, a friend of the bridegroom. The chapel, built in 1730, was used by U.S. forces during World War II and the Stars and Stripes still stands in one corner.

Newlyweds Go to Ohio

The Dennis Dunmires (Karen Ann Patnode) are residing in Cleveland, Ohio following their recent marriage.

St. Rita's Catholic Church was the setting for the candlelight ceremony. A reception at Pine Knob, Clarkston, followed the rites.

★ ★ ★

Susan Patnode was maid of honor for her sister. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. James J. Patnode of Munger Road, Rose Township.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunmire of Kittaning, Pa., was assisted by Robert E. Green.

Party Honors New Citizens

A party was held recently in Pontiac Central High School for graduates of Janice Antona's citizenship class. Naturalized guests of honor were Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Jack Higson, Mrs. Orville Schaefer, Mrs. Leo Petrusha and Joseph Arno.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lee Hill of the American Legion Auxiliary, Chief Pontiac Post, and Mrs. Robert Meikle of the General Richardson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, addressed the gathering.

Use Unscented Beauty Products

Regular users of perfumes and colognes often find that perfumed beauty products completely overwhelm the subtler fragrances.

To avoid this, use unscented products to allow the expensive fragrances of perfumes to come through clearly and cleanly.

Royce Butler, administrative librarian at Oakland University's Kresge Library, watches as Anita Leslie autographs a book written by her father Sir Shane Leslie. The first edition, "Poems and Ballads," just acquired by Butler, was dedicated to Miss Leslie when she was 12 years old. Miss Leslie spoke at OU yesterday on her recent book, "Churchill's Mother: The Story of Jennie Jerome" which will be published by Charles Scribner and Sons in March.

Terms Biographies a Puzzle

By JODY HEADLEE

"Writing a biography is like working a jigsaw puzzle," said Anita Leslie, her casually styled gray hair held in place with a black band. "And if you don't strive to be accurate and truthful, it's like trying to force bits of the puzzle into spots where they don't belong."

Mrs. Headlee

Miss Leslie spoke at Oakland University yesterday on her recent book, "Churchill's Mother: The Life of Jennie Jerome," which will be published in March.

★ ★ ★

A great - niece of Jennie Jerome, Miss Leslie spent five years researching and writing the biography of the French - educated, American beauty who took Europe by storm in the late 1800s.

ADORED BY CHILDREN

"A woman," she said in her soft, accent - tinged voice, "attracts men like she attracts children. The same qualities appeal to both. And Jennie was adored by children.

"Jennie lived in Paris in her early teens until the War of 1870 drove the Jeromes to England. They left hurriedly taking with them just the few things they could carry. Their maid, who was to follow with the hat boxes, never got through, having to remain in Paris during the seige."

★ ★ ★

Leonard Jerome, Jennie's father, saw to it that his family was settled in England but the English social life did not appeal to the gregarious Jerome daughters as did that of the French.

FATEFUL DANCE

Now old enough to accompany her older sister Clara to parties, Jennie, 19, attended a dance where she met the dashing young naval officer, Lord Randolph Churchill who was 23.

It was love at first sight. "I'm going to marry him," Jenny confided to her sister after the ball was over.

★ ★ ★

"Two nights later Lord Churchill proposed," said Miss Leslie. "The parents of both families had hysterics. And all tried to stop the marriage.

"Both knew they couldn't marry unless they were given good allowances for about all the young Lord had was debts.

"His father, the old duke, promised to give Randolph a sufficient allowance to marry Jennie if he would stand for Parliament. Randolph agreed and carried out his campaign. He won his seat and telegraphed Jenny everything was ready."

★ ★ ★

When everything was settled, the couple set the date for April and Randolph paid a visit to France to visit Jennie.

PREMATURE

"Winston arrived seven and one - half months after the marriage giving rise to much gossip," said Miss Leslie. "But I'm certain Randolph did not seduce Jennie on his trip to Paris.

"My grandmother (Jennie's younger sister Leonie) told me that the Jerome girls were perpetually chaperoned — that they were never allowed to speak to a young man alone.

★ ★ ★

"And when Winston was born, records state that he was an ordinary premature baby. And it was silly to surmise anything else.

"The fact that Jennie's second baby John was also a seventh-month child was never discussed. There was no scandal involved.

'ABSOLUTE BOSH!'

"And the rumor that the Prince of Wales had an affair with Jennie was absolute bosh!"

Accompanied by her 18-year-old daughter Leonie, Miss Leslie has been touring the United States since mid-October.

Speaking of her great - aunt's attitude on today's world had she lived, Miss Leslie said with a twinkle in her soft blue eyes, "Jennie wouldn't have liked the miniskirts but mentally Jennie would have been with it."

Thermal Knits Cozy for Infants

Thermal fabric, long a favorite in the ski lodge, is also popular in the nursery. The waffle construction traps warm air so the fabric can be both lightweight and warm, and it responds beautifully to machine washing and drying.

For infants' wear, it is used in pretty pastel shades for bunting, blankets, creepers, and saques — all sturdy enough to last through several babies and hundreds of launderings.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. B. W. sent a Pointer about stuffing a pine cone with peanut butter to make a bird feeder. Please tell her and your other readers that pine cones do make excellent feeders, but no not fill them with peanut butter without mixing it with birdseed. Plain peanut butter will cause the bird's bill to be plugged up and can cause its death by suffocation.

If you eat much peanut butter, you are aware that your mouth gets stuffed - up. Thanks for an interesting column. — ART

Lots of Gifts to Buy Man Who Has 'Everything'

You may be mistaken about that "man who has Men's Fashion Association, the feeling of desperation that takes the fun out of your Christmas shopping is probably needless. This year there are so many sparkling new fashion ideas that nobody — but nobody — has everything.

For example, does your hard-to-please man have one of those popular 6-feet scarves? If he does — you can top it with the newest 12-foot length!

Sure, he has a drawer full of handkerchiefs—but does he have them monogrammed in assorted letter styles — or does he have some with his first name or nick-name spelled out?

★ ★ ★

How about silk pocket squares? Those colorful bits of silk go a long way toward "making" a business or sports outfit and a man never has too many. Silk squares also come in sets with ties to match.

Some match exactly, others have the ties in the same design but in reduced size and others have completely different designs with the relationship left to the color scheme.

Obviously, the man who has everything has plenty of underwear but, does he have shorts or briefs tailored of luxurious nylon jersey? They wash like a handkerchif and are great for travel.

How bright and bold can undershorts be without causing a ruckus in the locker room? Well, in these days of the male fashion explosion, they can be as loud and as masculine as authentic Scottish tartans; they can be in the vibrant "designer" colors that mark men's shirts or they can be in bright blazer stripes.

★ ★ ★

If your man is a skier or winter sports enthusiast, he will appreciate warm "long johns" in cotton, cotton blended with wool, or all-wool. Most spectacular and appropriate of the long johns are the bright reds.

Did you ever feel like giving him a boot? The fashionable look in men's footwear features boots of all types and all heights. They range from ankle-high chukka boots — some secured by straps, others that lace — to other models that are calf-high and are fastened with concealed zippers.

★ ★ ★

Warmly lined stadium boots and apre-ski boots are other possibilities. If in doubt as to size, boot him with a gift certificate.

Slippers are a traditional Christmas gift. Depending on his needs and tastes, there are cozy fleece-lined styles, dressy opera models and easy-going backless mules for wear during his leisure hours.

The man-who-has-everything may have several robes ranging from practical terry cloths to luxurious silks. Chances are, however, he doesn't have one of the new popular kimonos.

WIDE CHOICE

These come in a wide range of patterns and solid colors and they include striped twills, washable knitted velours, paisleys and some that reverse from solid color wool to striped acetate twills. One of the advantages of giving him a kimono is that one size fits all.

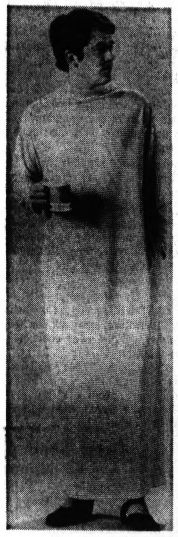

Now that French cuffs are back he will need some extra cuff links. Select from small, neat classic links, larger baroque designs and initial-types. Most will have tie tacs or tie bars to match. And, with wider ties back, he may want some longer tie clasps.

★ ★ ★

If his jewelry is scattered helter-skelter on his dresser top or in his bureau drawers, he really needs one of those handsome and practical jewel boxes. You have a choice of fine leathers, grained woods and combinations of both in a wide selection of shapes and sizes.

★ ★ ★

No man ever had too many belts. Choose his gift belt from colorful webbings combined with leather (there are wallets, key cases and accessories to match) sleek leathers and sporty styles in waxy finishes. Or, go all out with a sophisticated "designer" belt in patent leather fastened by a novel buckle.

What has blue and white stripes and is warm on cold winter nights? A full length nightshirt answers the Men's Fashion Association. If you want to give him nightwear this Christmas, here's an unusual model that's handsome and comfortable.

Right at home in the world of sable and Rolls-Royces is this handsome new pile coat by 'Botany' 500. Of deep rich acrylic pile dubbed the "great Alaskan steal," it simulates seal in its richness and warmth without weight. tailored in an elegant double-breasted town coat, it can go anywhere with aplomb. It also comes with a genuine mink collar. Line available locally.

Hats shape up this season, according to Sears The-Men's-Store, in both casual and dress models. Wider, curled brims and a lower crown enhance a casual model (left) of lambskin suede while the Cossack influence is captured in a fur-like dress hat (right) of Orlon acrylic pile.

The way you set your dining table may be an expression of your individuality, but nevertheless, there are certain requisites for gracious living that never change, regardless of current vogues. Take this quick and easy test and see where you score in tabletop know-how! Sterling by International.

Tabletop Rules Don't Change

The way you set your dining table is an expression of your individuality. Your choice of flatware, glassware and china is a reflection of your personality.

But when it comes to arranging these pieces at individual place settings, fancy is not permissible. Though entertaining today has become far less formal . . . more casual and flexible . . . there are certain requirements for gracious living that never change, regardless of current vogues.

Where do you stand in the measuremnt of tabletop know-how? Take this little quiz and see.

QUESTIONS

1) All forks are placed at the left side of the plate in the order of use. True—— False——

2) Glasses are placed above the dinner knife, with the water glass at the tip and the wine glass on the right. True——False——

3) The individual butter spreader is laid across the top edge of the bread and butter plate, which is placed to the left of the forks. True——False——

4) Bread and butter plates belong in a formal place setting, but are seldom used otherwise. True——False——

5) Except in the case of continental dining, in a formal setting, only the silver to be used is placed on the table. Dessert flatware and the coffee spoon are brought in later. True——False——

6) When candles are used, they should be at such a height that the flame is above eye level of those sitting at the table. True——False——

7) Sterling silver should be saved for best and stored in a dark place to prevent tarnishing. True——False——

8) A napkin is usually placed to the left of the dinnerplate, although it may also be placed on the plate itself. True——False——

9) Always be sure that you face the knife blade cutting edge towards the plate and allow about 24 inches for each place setting. True—— False——

10) A lemon fork may also be or butter patse. True—— False——

ANSWERS

1) False. There is one exception. The cocktail fork is placed at the extreme right of the spoon.

2) True. And if you should happen to have two wine glasses, the three are arranged in a triangle.

3) False. Although the butter spreader is laid across the top edge of the bread and butter plate, the plate is placed just above the tip of the forks.

4) False. The butter spreader and plate are omitted in formal settings.

5) True. However, some hostesses follow the continental way of placing the dessert silver on the table before the guests sit down. In this case, the dessert fork and spoon are placed horizontally just above the dinner plate, with the spoon handle to the right and the fork handle to the left.

6) True. If the flame is at eye level, the candle becomes a distraction, rather than a source of complimentary beauty.

7) False. Daily use not only enriches silverware with a lustrous patina (a delightful mellow finish that only time can create) but it also prevents tarnish.

8) True. And the formal settings the napkin should be placed on the plate.

9) True. A knife blade should never face outwards, and for comfortable dining, without elbow-bumping, plan on at least a two feet span for each setting.

10) True. While varied in shape and purpose, serving pieces are functionally designed for a multiplicity of use and correct service with many dishes.

Now rate yourself as a knowledgeable hostess.

Four or more wrong? For you, International Silver has prepared a special booklet on tabletop tips, designed to fill you in on all sorts of place setting rules and creative ideas for gracious dining.

And for those of you who scored seven or more right, you're ready to move on to the special section on decorating tips, such as using an ice bucket for a floral arrangement or silver candlesticks for trailing ivy.

In either case, simply write to International Ideas, International Silver Company, Meriden, Conn. 06450, and ask for your guide to gracious dining, free of charge.

Egg Market Survey

Prices Up; Supply Down

By WILLIAM MATHEWSON
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — A survey of the egg market Wednesday showed: prices up, production and consumption down.

And while egg prices vary according to region, there is one common demoninator: Stores report they are all up considerably over the same time last year, and even last month.

Some examples:

Richmond, Va., consumers are now paying about 81 cents for a dozen jumbo eggs. They were paying about 69 cents last year, according to one supermarket's officials. The large size was priced about 57 cents last year, he said, and is now about 77 cents.

★ ★ ★

In a Minneapolis outlet, eggs now ranging from 59 to 78 cents a dozen were priced last year from 49 to 63 cents.

In Metropolitan New York, extra-large eggs cost 89 to 95 cents a dozen and medium-sized cost 75 to 83 cents. Costs have averaged 33 per cent higher than in September.

Figures from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics tell a different story but there is an explanation for the disparity. The bureau says that the national average price for a dozen grade A large eggs was 63.4 cents in October, a slight decrease over the 64.3 cent average price in October 1968.

SAMPLE AREAS

A spokesman for the bureau, however, pointed out that these figues are derived from a sample of 56 locales throughout the nation — including a number of smaller cities and towns, suchas Orem, Utah, and Niles, Mich.

"Some of these places are near egg supplies and naturally pay less," he said.

He expected the bureau's figures to rise when November prices are recorded.

Per capita egg consumption, meantime, is down this year from 1968, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. The department estimates that this year's consumption will amount to 313 eggs per person, compared with 321 in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Egg production is also down. The department reports that 57.3 billion eggs were produced this year from January through October, compared with 58.1 billion in the same period last year.

A variety of reasons was given for the fall-off in production.

According to a Department of Agriculture spokesman, there has recently been "a higher than average mortality of young laying hens."

In New Jersey, state officials say that many poultry farmers have been going out of business. Furthermore, New Jersey officials say that a money shortage in 1967 hampered replacement of pullets.

PRICE BACKLASH

A University of Georgia agricultural experts says today's high egg prices are a backlash from the low egg prices of 1967.

"We had an oversupply that year and eggs dropped to a really low price," he said. As a result, he said, many small poultry operators were forced out of business and the number of laying hens declined.

★ ★ ★

"The egg business runs on a boom or bust sort of cycle," and Atlanta poultry dealer noted.

To bolster the domestic supply, some egg dealers are now buying eggs from sources in Denmark, England and Spain.

Home Chemicals Can Be Hazard

The greatest number of accidents happen right in the home. Run a safety check of your surroundings. The kitchen is a prime booby area. It's stocked with powerful chemicals to keep things clean and sanitary.

But the same labor-saving chemicals that are helpful can be dangerous and even fatal — if they are mishandled. Use them according to directions and keep them away from youngsters.

Crepy Fashions Back

Watch for black crepe dresses with bathing suit tops. They're coming back this spring — in long and short versions.

Clarkston United Methodist Church was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Jolene Kay Schultz to Verlin Keith Boggs. Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Anita J. Schultz of Clarkston, Joseph H. Schultz of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township and Mr. and Mrs. Verlin D. Boggs of Arthurdale, W. Va.

Shopper's Feet

After a shopping session, soothe tired, aching feet with a witch hazel masage and bath. Pour the liquid ful strength into a basin and work it into the toes and arches with the fingers. Let the feet soak for a few minutes; remove them from the basin and let them dry without toweling.

New Rubella Vaccine Now on Market

DETROIT (UPI) — Parke, Davis and Co. is marketing a new vaccine designed to prevent German measles, (rubella).

Joseph D. Williams, the firm's director of U.S. marketing, said Wednesday the vaccine is recommended for all children between the ages of 1 year and up to adolescence, especially those in kindergarten and early elementary grades — major source for the spread of the virus.

Routine immunization of adolescent and adult females is not recommended, he said.

Williams said an initial shipment of 280,000 doses of the vaccine Rebulegen was made this week to the company's 23 branch offices and distribution centers.

Additional supplies will be distributed as soon as available, he said.

The firm conducted massive clinical trials of the vaccine to get data needed for government approval under an accelerated program, Williams said.

I. W. McLean, MD, and Dr. Robert G. Brackett, both of Parke-Davis, served as medical and scientific monitors for the studies, largest ever conducted by the firm.

More than 20,500 children were given the vaccine, including about 12,000 in Michigan's Wayne, Oakland and Branch counties.

Dental Health

Football Injuries Often Damage Teeth

By DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER

Playing football without a proper mouth guard can be very dangerous to dental health.

In the past, numerous football players in all age groups have had teeth chipped, broken off, and even completely kicked out. Cheeks and lips have been gashed by being accidentally driven with force against the sides of the teeth.

In fact, studies have shown that at least 50 percent of all football injuries occurred in and around the mouth.

This figure was often even higher with less experienced players. In other words, high school players seemed to suffer more dental damage than college or professional players.

★ ★ ★

Still more fractured teeth and cut lips were found among youngsters scrimmaging in a neighborhood lot or playground.

These dangers should be a thing of the past. In areas where wearing a suitable mouth guard is mandatory, dental injuries have been virtually eliminated.

The reason I say suitable is because some players used to wear the old-fashioned type of mouthpiece that boxers wore in the ring. They were better than nothing, but did not offer enough protection and were clumsy. When a quarterback would try to call signals, it would usually fall out of his mouth.

Also, face guards attached to the football helmets do not provide suitable protection against oral injuries.

There are three basic types of mouth guards: custom-made, constructed by your dentist; mouthformed, which can be purchased from an athletic goods dealer; and stock or ready-made which can still be found in stores.

★ ★ ★

A mouth guard should aim to protect the front teeth from a direct frontal blow, fillings and cusps of back teeth from side or under-the-jaw blows; and the soft tissues of the mouth and lips from being forcefully crushed against the tooth surfaces.

It should aim to protect against damage to the jaw joint. And most serious of all, it should aim to protect against a brain concussion from a direct blow to the chin jamming the head of the jaw joint against the skull.

★ ★ ★

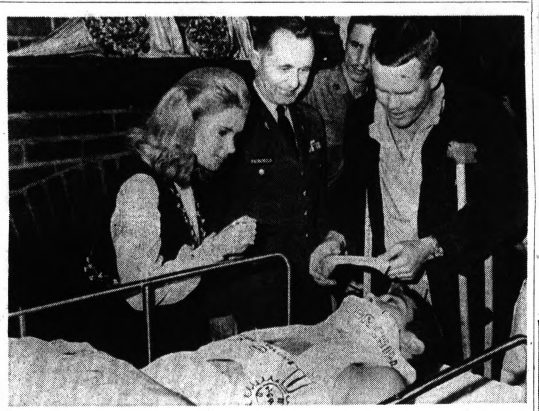

Children love comic books. A full-color, educational comic book about home care of the teeth and visiting the dentist can be yours free of charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Howard E. Kessler, THE PONTIAC PRESS, P. O. Box 9, Dept. E-600, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Hors D'Oeuvres May Be Served With Hot Towels

Serving gooey hors d'oeuvres at a holiday party? Then adopt an ancient oriental custom and turn paper towels into little "hot" towels for your guests. Fold a border-printed towel in thirds to form a long rectangle.

Then dip it lightly into warm water scented with cologne or lemon juice. Fold the long rectangle in half. The fold each border-printed edge back over to make an accordion pleated rectangle with the borders showing on each side.

Press the rest of the water out of the towel so that it is merely slightly damp. Make several of the warm little towels and put them conveniently near the appetizers.

A family party celebrated the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Rosebush of Lake Orion, Sunday. The couple married Dec. 8, 1909 at Caro and have lived in the Oxford-Lake Orion area for the past 43 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosebush have five sons and four daughters, 44 grandchildren (including the Rosebush Quads of Oakwood) and 34 great-grandchildren.

Their sons are Francis of Livonia; Kenneth of Oakwood; Herbert of Rochester; Harold of West Branch and Charles of Dryden. Three daughters live in Oxford: Mrs. Charles Panduren, Mrs. Ray Kimmel and Mrs. J. A. Salswedel. Isabelle lives in Caro.

Ease Eye Strain

Winter sports can produce unnecessary eye strain when you squint. Although skiing, skating, ice fishing, tobogganing and ice boating require visual concentration, you can ease eye strain by trying to look at things naturally, and resting the eyes by shifting the focus of your gaze to distant objects for a few seconds.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. Is it fattening to eat crackers between meals? Which of the two sports, swimming or tennis, will help you reduce better?

A. Depending on size, from four to six average plain crackers give you 100 calories. These must be counted in on your daily food intake. If you are reducing, I suggest raw carrots, or an apple or orange instead for their mineral and vitamin content.

Either exercise is good. Tennis will reduce you faster unless you swim quite vigorously.

★ ★ ★

Q. If cosmetic wax is used to remove hair from the upper lip, will it leave a shadow or stubble and will it harm the texture of the skin in any way?

A. No, it will not leave stubble nor will it harm the skin. If you have a sensitive skin use it gently and carefully.

Q. Approximately how long will it take to lose 15 pounds on a 1,200 calorie diet? Are exercises necessary for reducing so far as losing weight is concerned?

A. Individuals differ according to their metabolism and physical activity but I imagine you would lose between two and four pounds a week. Exercise is most beneficial because it burns up calories and distributes your weight properly. You will have a much prettier figure if you exercise along with your diet.

Q. I am 15 and would appreciate it if you would tell me how to reduce the leg.

A. Lie on your back and lift first the left and then the right leg up as far as you can. As you lift each leg pull the toes back toward your head. You will feel the pull in the back leg muscle.

Molasses Cookie Recipes Vary Slightly in Method

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Some time ago, a reader asked for a molasses cookie recipe. We hope the one just sent in by Lottie Petty of Pontiac is the one wanted.

Mrs. Petty says she makes the cookies large and puts jelly in the center. Storing them in a covered container keeps them soft.

MOLASSES SUGAR COOKIES
By Lottie Petty

¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
¼ cup molasses
1 egg
2 teaspoons soda
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon each cloves, ginger and salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Melt shortening in saucepan over low heat. Remove from heat and cool. Add sugar, molasses and egg; beat well. Sift together dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Mix well. Chill.

Form into 1½-inch balls. Roll in granulated sugar and place on greased cookie sheet two inches apart. Flatten cookies, make an indentation in center and fill with jelly. Bake at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes.

Here is a slightly different version of soft molasses cookies for our readers.

SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES

1 cup margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup molasses
¾ cup sour milk or buttermilk
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon each soda and salt
½ teaspoon each ginger and cinnamon

Cream together margarine and sugar. Add egg and molasses and blend well. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Drop by tablespoonfuls on greased cookie sheet two inches apart. Bake 10-12 minutes at 375 degrees. Makes 2-3 dozen.

Painter Plans Appearance

An exhibition of the paintings of renowned American artist, Maulsby Kimball, will be highlighted by a personal appearance of the Artist Sunday in The Wildwood Studio in Keatington Antique Village, from 3 to 7 p.m.

Kimball is an art educator, writer and chairman of the Rudolf Steiner Exhibitions. His paintings will remain on view through Jan. 7, 1970.

Battered Woman Blames Her Cat

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Police suspected foul play when they found a 36-year-old nurse lying naked and unconscious in her blood-spattered apartment. But the culprit was a cat.

The nurse said one of her five cats tried to get out of the door, she made a grab for it, tripped and fell, hitting her head against the kitchen stove.

Kitchen Cutlery Can Look Sharp in Wall Holder

Kitchen cutlery should be sharp. But it can also look sharp in the new Americana and Mediterranean holdsters now available with Ekco Housewares. Both holdsters, crafted of woodgrain vinyl laminate, protect blade edges and are easy to clean.

* * *

But beauty is a bonus! Americana features simple traditional lines in rich cherry-wood tones accented by a bronzed eagle. The Mediterranean case captures the graceful arches of Spanish and Italian design in a glowing walnut hue.

* * *

Either holdster will add a designer touch to your kitchen or dining room decor. Both styles are available nationally with cutlery sets of 5 or 6 pieces and steak knife sets of 6 to 8 pieces.

Johnson Visits Nixon on Rare Trip East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson's visit to the White House today marks his first time in the executive mansion since he gave up possession to Richard M. Nixon nearly a year ago.

President Nixon invited Johnson to breakfast when he learned the former chief executive and his wife Lady Bird would be in Washington for a pre-wedding party for a former LBJ secretary, Marie Fehmer.

The meeting is also the first time the two men have seen each other since the Johnsons visited the Nixons' summer White House at San Clemente, Calif., last August.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's only other trip to Washington since leaving office was for the funeral of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Another purpose of the Johnsons' trip east from their Texas ranch was a conference in New York later today with the firm publishing the former president's memoirs.

At the Wednesday night party honoring Miss Fehmer, who will marry Georgetown University Prof. Andrew J. Chiarodo Saturday, Johnson posed for pictures but declined to talk about current political matters. Instead, he discussed his book and the Lyndon B. Johnson Library at the University of Texas.

The party, given by Lynda Robb, the former president's daughter, featured the largest gathering of Johnson administration personalities since they left office.

GUESTS

Among the 50 guests were former Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson, former U.S. Information Agency Director Leonard Marks and Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. Johnson's former press secretary.

Miss Fehmer, a University of Texas graduate from Dallas, began working as a secretary for Johnson while he was vice president and accompanied him to the White House in 1963.

★ ★ ★

Her duties have included taking over the phone from Washington the oath of office that was read to Johnson aboard Air Force One Nov. 22, 1963, and typing the final paragraph of Johnson's March 31, 1968, speech in which he took himself out of consideration for a second full term.

The Johnsons intend to return to Washington for the wedding.

August wedding vows are being planned by Susan Solecki and David R. Weitz. Parents of the engaged couple are the Edward J. Soleckis of Sashabaw Road and the Robert Weitzs of Island Park Drive.

Varners Hosting Party

Preceding Meadow Brook Theatre's opening night performance of "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw, Chancellor D. B. Varner and Mrs. Varner are entertaining some 50 guests for dinner at Sunset Terrace. The John Fernalds and Ellen Pollock director of the play, will be special guests.

Others from the Pontiac-Bloomfield Hills area include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, the Marvin Katkes, Mrs. Virgil Boyd, the Walter Reuthers and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Weston.

★ ★ ★

Others are Rep. Donald Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, Sen. Sander Levin and Mrs. Levin, the Theodore Yntemas, Mr. and Mrs. John Bugas and the William H. Baldwins. The Troy Crowders, the Donald O'Dowds and the John DiCarlos are also on the list.

Sporting Goods Winter Sales Up

Ice and snow may slow other activities, but winter sports thrive on it! According to the National Sporting Goods Association's annual analysis and forecast of the sporting goods market, sales of hockey equipment will rise an estimated 30 per cent and winter sporting goods, including skis and ice skates, an estimated 21.2 per cent this year.

This tops all other categories of sporting goods in anticipated percentage of increase over 1968.

Dorm Ban Lifted

The couple has attended Oakland Community College. Her fiance is presently stationed at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

Really Kooky

Setting Up Village Scene Is Fun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One of show businesses most talented stage designers, George Jenkins, was given the task of interpreting a real Greenwich Village pad for a recent movie.

It was more fun than he'd had in many a stage assignment, he says.

The well-known theater consultant, motion picture and television art director, who is an architect, had begun research on the younger generation's living habits some years before when he did a set for the Henry Fonda play, "Generation."

But the Greenwich Village assignment for the movie, "Me, Natalie," gave him broader scope. It took him to many homes in both the East and West side of the famous area.

★ ★ ★

Jenkins had lived the teen-age bit first-hand a few years ago, when daughters, Jane and Sandy were growing up. But he says the first-hand knowledge didn't help him that much in his design project.

"It is really amazing that a few years can make such a difference in a teen era. My daughters were four years apart, and completely different in their attitudes, and the way they decorated their rooms."

'FANTASY'

For the movie, about a young Brooklyn girl who leaves home and tries living on her own, Jenkins injected a bit of fantasy into the apartment design.

He fashioned a chaise lounge out of an old bathtub on legs, decorating it with flowers which were also used on the refrigerator and some other appliances in the kitchen where a dumb-waiter was used as an elevator.

He fastened a denuded tree limb to a railing where it served as a clothes tree for kooky hats and helmets, and he suspended a pair of enormous eyeglasses from the ceiling.

★ ★ ★

The hanging light fixture was a real brainstorm. He liked it so well that he eventually put it in his own home in a fashionable area of New York. He fastened double electric light sockets, one to the other, into which he put 7½ watt bulbs. The fixture assumed the shape of a large atomic molecule when it was assembled.

★ ★ ★

"It was the bathtub that really became a thing. It cost $5, but the bill for carving it with a torch was more than $50." After the front of the tub was carved out, the inner area was cushioned.

He saved some money on the old eyeglasses by finding someone who was reproducing them. New ones sell at astronomical sums because they are widely collected by young people.

STAR HELPED

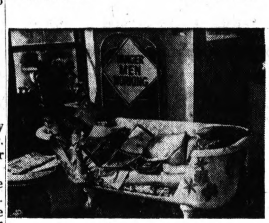

Patty Duke, the movie's star, found a moose head for the bedroom in which they also were Japanese paper flowers, a paper lamp set on a suitcase that became a table, a dart board poster man with a heart that was a target. A rock collection and an old-fashioned shaving mirror threaded their way through the picture.

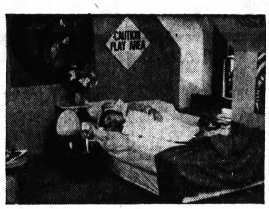

Jenkins chose a West Village apartment for the East Village drama produced by Cinema Center Films because "you'd never find dormer windows in the East Village," he explained. He'll see some great federal-style housess with marble fireplaces that were inhabited "by some very nice parents with hippy children."

Artists usually dwell in the East Village's loft-like structures, he explains. Their walls are completely bare. It is the nonartistic types in the Village who load their walls so that the plaster cannot be seen.

★ ★ ★

Jenkins' set design versatility includes 26 Broadway shows. He did "Hell, Book and Candle" and television sets for the Mary Martin series, the movie "Up the Down Staircase," the Mike Todd pageants, and opera sets for "a Boheme."

Bank Deposit for Teen-Ager

For the teen-ager who needs help saving, you might include among other gifts a bank certificate of deposit. These earn higher interest rates than regular savings accounts because the money must be left on deposit for a specified period of time.

For others on your gift-giving list, a bank gift certificate will go perfectly with clothing, crystal or silver, books and records, or something for the house.

★ ★ ★

And a final gift selection at the bank might be some attractive holiday money envelopes, so nice for those little gifts to the hairdresser, the milkman and cleaning woman. To fill the envelopes with crisp new dollars, just trade in some of your old ones at the bank.

Massage Eases Aching Muscles

Did you know that more than 1,000,000 hand-held body massagers were sold in this country last year, according to Merchandising Week, a leading trade magazine?

If holiday shopping has left you with uptight, aching muscles, the soothing action of a massager will set you free to enjoy this season and the days following.

Moisten Hands

If you do hand sewing at home, moisten your hands slightly with a small sponge kept in water nearby. Its much easier to do such work if hands are moist.

Red-Inspired Guerrilla Unit Is Thai-Malaysia Problem

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — In the jungle and forest country on both sides of the Thai-Malaysian border 10,000 troops and police are looking for a legend named Chin Peng.

Although neither Thai nor Malaysian authorities are sure Chin Peng is alive, they believe the wily communist guerrilla leader is the man behind the growing terrorism, ambushes and unrest that have swept southern Thailand and parts of neighboring Malaysia in recent months.

★ ★ ★

The Thai government ordered martial law enforced in nine provinces bordering Malaysia and sent reinforcements to the scene. The Thais, using techniques learned from two years' fighting in Vietnam, sweep the jungles in search of the guerrilla force. Malaysian air force jets and artillery are blasting suspected hideouts along the border.

The situation has awakened memories of a 12-year guerrilla war fought in malaya by Chin Peng. The war, known euphemistically as the Malayan emergency, was put down finally in 1960 with the large-scale aid of British and Australian forces. It cost 11,000 lives.

Since then, Chin Peng and the remnants of his guerrillas are believed to have holed up in Thailand, drawing support from the large Chinese community and biding their time.

Reports from the joint Thai-Malaysian hedquarters in Songkhla indicate the guerrillas now number about 1,000 men, compared with 500 two years ago. Thai army officers say the guerrillas have started a recruiting campaign through a Chinese youth organization.

★ ★ ★

The terrorist force seems well-equipped with weapons and has shown expertise in staging ambushes and mining roads. Thai forces have uncovered jungle camps capable of accommodating up to 200 men. Some had kitchens, dispensaries, parade grounds and even basketball courts.

Chin Peng was born 47 years ago in Malaya, the second son of a bicycle dealer who had emigrated from Fukien province in China. He studied at a Methodist missionary school but left school at 15 and almost immediately joined the Malayan Communist party.

TOOK TO JUNGLE

With the Japanese invasion of Malaya, Chin Peng took to the jungle as leader of the Malayan People's Anti-Japanese Army, mostly men of Chinese extraction.

Chin Peng's force was so highly regarded by the British that he was awarded the Order of the British Empire. But all the while he had his sights set on the political transformation that would follow World War II, including the end of British rule.

★ ★ ★

His force stockpiled weapons in the jungle for the rebellion he launched in 1948.

The rebellion was finally defeated by a combination of overwhelming British firepower and the British-inspired tactic of rounding up and resettling the Chinese population. This move cut off Chin Peng's forces from their sources of supply and recruitment.

WORRISOME PROSPECT

The prospect of another emergency worries the Malaysian government, already troubled by the bitterness engendered by racial riots in May in which hundreds of Chinese were slain.

The Thai government for years ignored the predominantly Moslem population of the south and concentrated on the northeast, where another guerrilla force has been causing serious trouble.

★ ★ ★

A year ago guerrillas launched a campaign of terror and ambushes in northern Thailand which has tied down probably 5,000 troops, including the army's best helicopter assault groups.

Officials have argued that the southern insurgents were not really a problem for Thailand.

★ ★ ★

But a pattern appears to be emerging. As the Vietnam war is scaled down, guerrilla activities in Laos, Thailand and the Malaysian border region seem to be heating up.

Black Studies Prove Popular at Colleges

NEW YORK (UPI) — The emerging black studies programs at colleges are surprising administrators by drawing more than the expected number of students, many of them white.

The high white enrollment in black studies courses is partially explained by the higher number of whites in college, but not in all cases.

★ ★ ★

"A lot of this is a search by whites for more information and more accurate information about black culture," said Dr. George Henderson, a professor at the University of Oaklahoma. "In their early years students didn't get an accurate protrayal of black people. Now they want to do something about it."

A survey of more than 300 colleges, taken almost a year after colleges begun jumping on the bandwagon rolling backward through history for a look at black culture, showed the new courses are almost all filled to capacity.

81 STUDENTS SIGNED

"Considering that our department is a new one, we have more students who have signed up than some departments that have been around a lot longer than we have," said Ronald Walters, chairman of Brandies University's Afro-American Department. The small liberal arts school in Massachusetts usually has a ratio of seven students per faculty member but 81 students signed up for the 10 black studies courses.

"We are satisfied that the number of enrollees is more than any other new departments have," Dr. Ewart Guinier, director of Harvard University's program, said. No attendance is taken at Harvard, but up to 150 attend seminars.

★ ★ ★

Black studies courses also are proving popular at predominantly black schools.

Allegheny Community College in Pittsburgh, which has a predominantly Negro enrollment, offers only two courses and they are crowded.

MINIMUM OF TROUBLE

While objections to white teachers are voiced at some schools and controversy throttles implementation of some programs, most schools have managed to establish black courses or full-fledged departments with a minimum of trouble.

Students and faculty members looking for a panacea for social ills in black studies programs may be disappointed, but students treating black studies as they would any academic discipline seem to be pleased with the accomplishments of the universities so far.

COURSE NAMES

Most black students programs are named Afro-Americans, African-American or, in one case, "Africana Studies and Research Center."

Whatever they are called, their popularity has been established.

Lengthy Matman Gets a Mattress

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — When a 7-foot-tall Bulgarian wrestler Andre Roussimoff visited South Africa, the Grand Hotel found it had no beds large enough for him.

So hotel owner Peter Morris called another hotel and borrowed a special bed that was built for ex-President C. R. Swart, who is 6-foot-7.

This Column Rated X --Don't Read It, Kids!

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Another journalistic first: the X-rated movie column. Children under 16 are not allowed to read this.

Well, adult leaders, it's time we came to grips with "Myra Breckenridge."

You know, Gore Vidal's pornography which you bought in a paperback and hid behind the bookcase so the kiddies wouldn't find it.

THOMAS

They're shooting it out at 20th Century - Fox, the studio that gave you "Forever Amber" and "Valley of the Dolls."

Or they may be shooting each other, if you believe the gossip columns. It seems that Raquel Welch, who is playing Myra, is feuding with Mae West, who demanded and got top billing. And Rex Reed, who is playing Myron (before the sex change), is feuding with director-writer Michael Sanre.

I went to the studio to see what all the fuss was about. Erected on Stage 6 was a huge balloon-like a silver-lined circus tent kept inflated by forced air. This was the operating room where Myron was to be turned into Myra.

A group of Hollywood-type extras sat in directors' chairs, awaiting the operation. Reflected on the side of the balloon was a menacing beauty who flicked a large bullwhip. Symbolism? John Carradine, looking as genially cadaverous as ever, entered to the applause of the extras and advanced toward the operating table, scalpel in hand.

"Cut!" director Sarne stopped the scene while he planned another camera angle, shooting from the floor of the stage. I asked him for a program report on young Reed, heretofore known as a voyeuristic interviewer of celebrities.

"He's doing all right," said Sarne with surprising mildness. "I didn't expect him to be a polished actor, and I haven't required him to do anything very difficult."

Reed retired to his dressing room between shots, and we chatted. I found him to be pleasant and agreeable—not at all the ogre that Candice Bergen had painted him in a recent article.

"The picture has been tough," he said as he inserted his contact lens. "I've already gone over the contract period, and I'll still be here another six weeks. Yes, I'll be on overtime, and the money is fantastic. But what a way to make a living! I would never want to be an actor, no matter what it takes.

ACTING IDEAS

"Oh, when I was going to college (Louisiana State University), I had ideas about being an actor. I made it in journalism figuring I'd have something to fall back on if I didn't make it."

He didn't make it, and he started submitting star interviews to the New York Times and New York magazine. His pinpointing (and sometimes pinsticking) of celebrities made him one. After "Myra" he's going back to his trade.

"I'm working while I'm out here, going to pictures every night for my reviews in Holiday magazine," he said. "I did a couple of interviews with Lana Turner, but I don't think I'll do the story now that she has been dropped from that series ('The Survivors'). I want to do a piece on Lon Chaney."

Reed was called back to his position on the operating table.

Carradine again entered and said:

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The remainder of this dispatch has been deleted. X-rating or no X-ratings, there are limits.)

Judge Adjourns PNH Student Case

An Oakland County Circuit Court hearing concerning readmittance of a suspended Northern High School student was adjourned yesterday to an undetermined date.

The 15-year-old, Robert McCathern, 420 Kuhn, has been out of school since Oct. 14 as a result of an alleged fight with a The date is the start of the second semester.

Judge Farrell E. Roberts said yesterday that even if he rules in favor of the youth, it would not be until Jan. 21 that his order would become effective. The date is the start oft he second semester.

McCathern's father, John, has charged the school district with not following its policy regarding suspension hearings.

Ford Predicts Hike in '71-Model Car Tab

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II says there is "no question" that automobile prices will go up again next fall, "because the cost of everything keeps going up."

He declined to speculate on how much the boost might be.

★ ★ ★

The Ford Motor Co. chairman also said price increases made on his company's 1970 models "come nowhere close to covering our cost increases."

He added, however, he sees "no reason" to make a mid-year change in the prices of the 1970 models, which were raised an average 3.6 per cent over 1969s when the new cars went on sale in mid-October.

INFORMAL SHAT

Ford's price increase comment came as he chatted with some reporters informally following his 10th annual year-end news conference Wednesday.

He said Ford's return on investment and its profit margin on sales have been shrinking, although "we are pulling in our horns (on expenses) wherever we can."

The 1971 model increase would be the sixth in a row at the start of a model year. Ford boosted prices 1.6 per cent on 1969 models and 3.9 per cent on 1968s.

General Motors Corp. raised prices on 1970 models by an average 3.7 per cent, compared with Ford's 3.6. Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. increases were smaller.

CLEANER EPHAUSTS

Ford told his news conference 11,000 workers and $31 million have been assigned by his company to the problem of combating exhaust air pollution next year.

"I'm publicly committing Ford Motor Co. to an intensified effort to minimize pollution from its products in the shortest time possible," he asserted.

Road Mishap Injures Man

A motorist who swerved off Oakland near East Walton into a ditch to avoid an oncoming car traveling in the wrong lane early today was hospitalized with head injuries.

Michael R. Collins, 19, of 1401 Collier was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

He told police that he swerved to avoid hitting a car traveling toward him in his lane and landed in a ditch. The driver of the other car did not stop.

Vandals Hit School in Avon Township

The custodian at Meadowbrook Elementary School, 2350 Munster, Avon Township, said he arrived at work yesterday morning to the smell of smoke.

The first thing he discovered was a smouldering wastepaper basket in his supply room. Oakland County Sheriff's deputies found that someone had entered the school through a broken window on the first floor.

★ ★ ★

Deputies and the janitor discovered an inside window smashed by a glass jar, broken fluorescent lights, other minor vandalism and $10 missing from one room.

Deputies do not yet have a total damage estimate.

'White Christmas' Relatively New Seasonal Song

Song and music have always played an important role in the Christmas celebration. Among the many well-known and loved carols and Christmas songs, a relative new-comer, "White Christmas" is a traditional favorite. In 1940, the American composer, Irving Berlin, wrote the score for a Hollywood movie called "Holiday Inn."

Each of the songs in the film centered around an important holiday and "White Christmas," sung by Bing Crosby, became the best known. For thousands of young servicemen away from home at that time, it nostalgically recalled Christmases past and comforted them with the dream of Christmases to come.

Wallet Needs Heat Shield From Toy Ads

By ALLEN NACHEMAN

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Are you one of those cynics who sit in front of the television set with a pencil and paper during the moon shots and figure what it's costing you in taxes?

The Apollo program is running around $25 billion, and the population is about 200 million so each of us is kicking in an average of $125, right?

* * *

And you'd like yours back in cash.

I used to feel that way, but the coming of Christmas has brought me to my senses. It hasn't made me more patriotic, just more mercenary. I see now that it would cost me less in the long run to get the government to run the space program than to conduct it in my living room, which is the alternative.

* * *

This is the season when strange people come into your home through the television set and explain to your children how they can spend twice your salary. And my 3-year-old is beginning to understand what they're talking about.

WIDE-EYED LOOK

He sits in front of the set and watches Major Matt Mason driving his space buggy around Venus and he looks at me wide-eyed and asks, "Hat dat?"

But then the network news cuts in with pictures of the real astronauts walking on the moon and I can say to the kid, "We can't buy Major Matt. See? He's working for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration."

* * *

This is easier for him to understand than if I tell him, "Listen, kid. Your old man isn't making enough to support four people, a dog and a space program."

Has all this been getting by you? Have you been raiding the refrigerator during every commercial?

JARGON ON A STRING

Major Matt, a 6-inch plastic doll, sells for $2.99 and his buddy, astronaut Jeff, is $2.44. Their talking space station, which furnishes authentic astronaut jargon at the pull of a string, goes for $7.99.

* * *

A powerful lunar tractor and protectively tinted space bubble to carry Matt and Jeff around your living room cost $8.99 and a mobile satellite launcher with its own 40x24-inch moonscape is $11.99. Are you taking this down?

* * *

Billy Blastoff, America's first boy in space, outfitted with space car, sled, tractor and crawler, is $5.99.

The deluxe Billy Blastoff set, including Robbie the Robot, radarscope, walkie - talkie and "radio active material," $10.99.

WHIRLING BLADES

A moon copter with whirling blades, and an eight-wheel space mobile are $4.99 apiece.

* * *

Callisto, the astronaut from Jupiter, with transparent skull and esoteric extras, goes for $2.44.

Lost in space robot: $6.88. Blastoff-to-the-moon kit: $7.99.

Zintar the silver explorer, Zerak the Blue Destroyer and Zabor the Bronze Transporter: $4.99 each.

Mighty Zogg costs $13.99.

Batteries are extra.

* * *

And do you think it will end there? How long do you think your kids are going to be happy with astronauts who aren't even as well-dressed as the Barbie Doll crowd?

Cutback Alters Service Picture

By JERRY T. BAULCH
AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON — At one time the Army was begging Reserve and National Guard officers in the lower grades to volunteer for active duty, but with the big cutback in Vietnam, things are reversed.

If you're a lieutenant, captain or major seeking active duty you won't even be considered unless you have exceptional qualifications. The higher ranks were never in the volunteer program to any great extent.

BAULCH

* * *

And unless you're interested in joining the Army as a nurse or the Women's Army Corps it'll be pretty tough now to come from civilian life and get a direct commission based on your skill or education.

But the Army still is in need of officer aviators. It is offering commissions to qualified aviators and will accept applications for active duty from reservists and National Guardsmen. The cutback does not affect the involuntary active duty of two to four years required of ROTC graduates.

WON'T AFFECT PROGRAM

And change won't affect the program under which commanders in Vietnam issue battlefield commissions to enlisted soldiers who perform outstandingly.

Another effect of the cutback will be to force into retirement by June 1970 most reserve officers who have the 20 years necessary to qualify for retired pay. This returns to a policy in effect before the Vietnam buildup of releasing from active duty reservists after they get in their 20 years. Regulars can stay in up to 30 years.

* * *

The main exceptions will be those who are on recommended promotion lists. They will be allowed to serve until promoted, plus the usual two-year "lock-in" period. And those now serving promotion "lock-in" will be permitted to complete them.

At the same time, more reserves and National Guardsmen on active duty have been applying for regular Army commissions. In September the total was double the 217 submitted in the same month a year ago. One reason is a simplified application process.

Brighter Side for Reservists

There's a brighter side in the cutback for the reserves:

In connection with the study for an all-volunteer force, the Defense Department is considering higher reserve pay, government insurance, GI Bill education benefits, reenlistment bonuses, better commissary and post exchange privileges, dependents' medical care, travel allowances and retirement pay at age 50 rather than at the present age 60.

* * *

The idea is to have a bigger Reserve force and reduce the need for a more expensive active duty force. But th problem is that the draft is responsible for about 75 per cent of those men joining the Reserves and without that threat the bigger Reserve may not be possible.

Christmas Leave Policy

The military forces will have their usual early-out program for those due to be released from active duty around Christmas time.

These eligible mainly are those due out between Dec. 20 and Jan. 4. For Air Force the starting date is Dec. 14. For the Navy the ending date is Jan. 5. They'll get out one to two weeks early, in time to be home for Christmas.

* * *

Also there will be the usual leave policy to assure that most everybody, except those serving in Southeast Asia, will get leave either for Christmas or New Year's Day. Commanders have been told to arrange the holiday leave so their servicemen and women can travel at nonpeak traffic days so they can more easily arrange transportation.

What's Buck Private Worth?

You oldsters remember those corny jokes about the 40 bucks a month paid buck privates in World War II? Now they're talking about paying his modern-day equivalent, the recruit, $100 a week — which is three times what he's paid now. That's one of the things the Army is suggesting as they figure how to come up with an all-volunteer military force.

The Air Force is talking about a more realistic $203 a month over the present $115.20.

* * *

But both the Navy Times and Army Times see little chance for that any time soon, although a raise is in the works for the months ahead.

The Army, according to the Army Times, is also talking about such lures as these: give enlisted men the same freedom of movement off-duty as officers; establish a normal 40-hour workweek except for emergencies; reduce the number of station changes; cut down the number of unaccompanied tours for married soldiers; give more time to take advantage of educational opportunities; guarantee first-time enlistees a geographic area choice of assignment for his entire three-year enlistment.

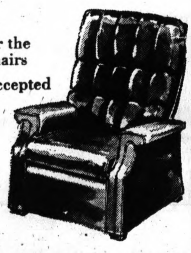

No Extra Stars for Reserve, Guard Chiefs

One thing knocked out of the military procurement bill in Congress was a third star for the chiefs of the National Guard Bureau and the Army Reserves. So they'll remain major generals.

Trade Moderately Active

Market Holds Modest Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market held a modest gain in moderately active trading around noon today.

Analysts said both glamor and blue-chip stocks were participating in an extension of the late Wednesday rally that saved the market from a more than 5-point loss on the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials.

At noon today the Dow was up 1.32 at 785.31.

Stocks rising in price numAmong glamor stocks, Control Data was off ½ at 117, Xerox up ⅛ a t107¼, and Polaroid off 2¼ at 125½.

Polaroid and Eastman Kodak —up ¼ to 75¾ — reached an agreement ensuring Polaroid of color negatives for five or more years and granting Kodak a royalty-bearing license to make and sell color pack films and Polaroid cameras starting in 1976.

Inflation Curbs Split the 'Fed'

2 Members Dissent, Call for Easing Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the rising clamor over government measures designed to bank the fires of inflation gradually, add a split within the Federal Reserve Board.

Among the White House economic corps, however, the facade is as uniform as ever despite some pungent criticism from outsiders and ex-advisers.

★ ★ ★

Inside the independent "Fed," which is accustomed to presenting a unanimous face to the public when it talks of keeping or easing its restrictions on money and credit, board members Sherman J. Maisel and George W. Mitchell have publicly dissented from their colleagues' statis-quo position.

Ease up now, they argue, or credit will get so tight and money so short a financial crisis could result—and then, it may be too late to correct the course.

★ ★ ★

But Maisel and Mitchell, outvoted at the Fed, also face stiff opposition elsewhere in the federal bureaucracy. One opponent of their ideas, Budget Director Robert P. Mayo, outlined his reasoning today in a speech written for delivery at the University of Washington in Seattle.

"It seems to me that the economy is in a state of delicate balance at the moment," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Inappropriate actions at this time could tip the balance against us in our battle to curb inflation and could undo the impetus toward stability that is now beginning to appear."

Although he didn't spell it out, his argument followed the reasoning of a good many other economists in basic agreement that "inflationary psychology" is at the root of the problem.

Wall St. Struggling With Gordian Knot

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK—The customers and employes are unhappy and are complaining by the thousands. The employers are unhappy too because many of them are losing money.

CUNNIFF

Employes or professionals are stealing millions of dollars in goods, and others are counterfeiting and passing the ersatz product.

★ ★ ★

The bookkeeping is snarled and orders cannot be matched with customers. Some of the older firms are having financing problems and some of the industry's insurers are threatening to pull out.

In order to escape chaos the industry must redesign its operational technology. While doing this; industry officials must contend with the Justice Department, which is disturbed about the ways the services are priced.

BEING TACKLED

Yes, problems abound in the securities industry and perhaps the most hopeful thing that can be said of them is that, finally, they are all being tackled, with results ranging from one end to the other of whatever scale is used to measure them.

It took years for the securities industry to become ensnarled in the tangle of barbed wire that seems to snag and frustrate every move. It won't take as long to be cut free, but it will still take years.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most shocking problem is that of theft. It was almost totally unexpected by an industry that not so long ago would casually send defenseless messengers through the streets with bundles of negotiable stocks.

It is also the problem about which the securities men concede to know the least. The total of thefts and losses this year in New York's Wall Street area is estimated at $45 million, but it could be much higher.

BEING FINGERPRINTED

Employes of securities firms now are being fingerprinted, which should help to eliminate a type of dishonest employe who, it is suspected, wandered from one job to another in the industry looking for something to lift.

Most of the other problems should have been foreseen with more clarity.

★ ★ ★

One of the most pressing needs is for capital. Only through an infusion of funds can the securities industry buy the machinery and systems to extricate itself from bookeeping and other paperwork problems.

By the end of October, member firms of the New York Stock Exchange had failed to deliver $1.8 billion of securities, down from $4.5 billion earlier this year but, ominously, higher by $400 million than one month earlier.

AUTOMATION NEEDED

To properly match certificates with their buyers and sellers requires plenty of help and considerable automation. So does the handling of the multi-million-dollar orders of the big institutions such as mutual and pension funds.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, this means larger investments. The old method of raising capital was to invite a partner and his personal bank account into the firm. But, when the partner left so did the cash.

Brokerage houses now find the partnership method unsuited to modern conditions. The New York Stock Exchange favors permitting brokers to sell shares to the public now in order to tap the sources of funds that are needed.

★ ★ ★

The pricing issue is being studied thoroughly by the Big Board and the Securites and Exchange Commission. Brokers have been avoiding the small investor, claiming they lose money handling his transactions. Sometime next year the commissions for handling small orders probably will be raised.

INSURERS UNHAPPY

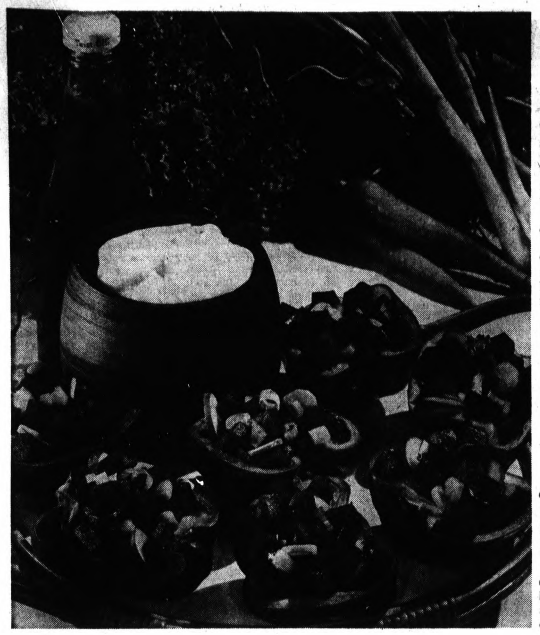

When all these problems are straightened out, and it will take years to do so, the insurers might begin to feel a little more confident in issuing security bonds. Right now they are very unhappy.

Holiday Salads Will Grace Your Table

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

All the food planned for the holiday season isn't sweet. We go right on serving regular meals. And even when we decide the menu for company meals, we need main dishes, vegetables and salads.

Salads are our concern today.

Perfectly in accord with the Christmas scene is an aspic salad served in green pepper halves. It's simplicity itself to make.

ASPIC STUFFED PEPPERS

2 packages unflavored gelatine
1 cup water
1 14-ounce bottle ketchup
¾ cup water
4 green peppers
½ cup each finely chopped cucumber, finely sliced radishes, finely sliced green onions, finely sliced carrots and finely sliced celery

Soften gelatine in 1 cup water. Combine ketchup and ¾ cup water and heat to boiling. Add gelatine and stir until dissolved. Pour into an 8x8-inch pan. Chill till firm

Cut criss cross into small cubes. But green peppers in half lengthwise. Remove seeds and membrane. Spoon the cubes of aspic into the green pepper halves and top with the sliced and chopped vegetables.

Serve with mayonnaise. Makes 8 servings.

* * *

If there is a bufet supper in your holiday plans, have a molded salad for the center of your meat platter. You can buy inexpensive foil pans in the shape of Christmas trees this year; use one to mold the salad.

MERI-MOLDED SALAD

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ cups mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 cup chili sauce
½ cup ketchup
1½ teaspoons cider vinegar
1 cup chopped celery
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over hot water. Meanwhile, combine mayonnaise and remaining ingredients; stir in gelatin mixing thoroughly. Pour into 1-quart mold or 8 to 10 individual molds; chill until firm.

Serve on a bed of greens. Makes 8-10 servings.

Fresh winter pears and cranberry relish combine to make an attractive fruit salad plate. The dressing is a tangy grapefruit one.

PEAR-CRANBERRY SALAD PLATTER

4 fresh Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears
½ cup fresh cranberries
½ medium grapefruit
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped walnuts
Watercress or salad greens

Core and quarter 1 pear. Wash and sort cranberries. Peel grapefruit. Put fruit through medium blade of food chopper. Stir in sugar and walnuts. Refrigerate 1 hour.

To serve, halve and core remaining 3 pears. Dip in salted water or lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Arrange pear halves on platter. Fill centers with cranberry relish.

Garnish with watercress or sprigs of salad greens. Serve with Grapefruit French Dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Grapefruit French Dressing

½ cup salad oil
½ cup grapefruit juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 small clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
¼ teaspoon celery salt

Combine above ingredients and beat with a rotary beater. Makes 1¼ cups.

Sometimes all you need for the salad course is a good relish. This one is a dressed-up version of the familiar cranberry-orange relish.

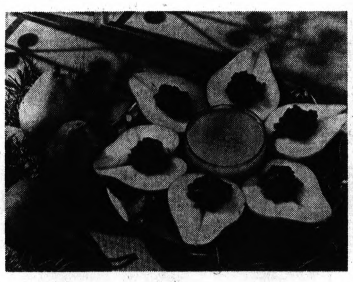

SOMETHING SPECIAL HOLIDAY RELISH

2 medium Calaifornia oranges
2 cups fresh cranberries (1 pound)
1 cup diced dates
1½ to 1¾ cups sugar
¾ cup slivered blanched almonds
2 tablespoons Triple sec, Cointreau or Kirsch

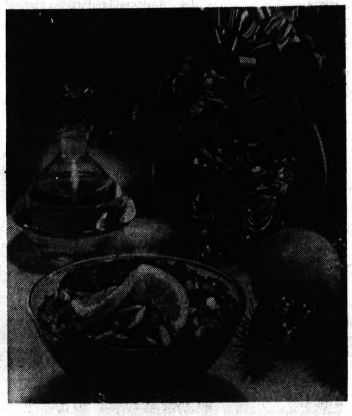

To prepare oranges for blender: Trim a thin slice from both ends of unpeeled fruit; cut in half lengthwise. With a shallow V-shaped cut, remove white center core. Cut into chunks so they will blend easily.

Wash and pick over cranberries. Put small amounts of oranges and cranberries into blender, cover and whirl just until chopped. Do not allow to get mushy. Empty blender container after each amount is chopped.

Combine orange-cranberry mixture with dates, sugar, almonds and Triple Sec. Cover and chill until ready to serve. Makes 5½ cups.

PEAR-CRANBERRY SALAD — A natural for holiday buffets and easily served, this Pear-Cranberry Salad Platter adapts to large or small parties. It's good all through the season of fresh Western pears and cranberries, and color-perfect for the holidays.

SOMETHING SPECIAL RELISH — Besides the ruby red cranberries, the relish features fresh navel oranges, dates, almonds and Triple Sec, and, believe it or not, your blender does all the work. This gift would even please old Uncle Scrooge himself!

ASPIC CUBES — Ketchup combines with water and unflavored gelatine to make this tasty tomato aspic as easy as one, two, three. Here, it's cubed and mixed with crispy fresh vegetables. Try it with tuna, shrimp, or egg salid, too.

Coffee Jelly Plus Excellent Dessert

Adding a liqueur to coffee jelly produces a sophisticated dessert.

COFFEE JELLY PLUS

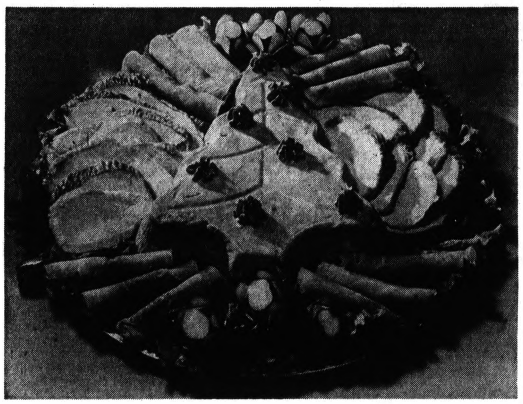

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons sugar
4 teaspoons instant coffee
1½ cups boiling water
¼ cup domestic white creme de cacao

In a 1-quart bowl spinkle gelatin over cold water and allow to soften for about 5 minutes. Add sugar, coffee and boiling water; stir to dissolve. Stir in creme de cacao.

Turn into four or five ½ cup molds. Chill until set. Unmold. Serve with vanilla-flavor custard sauce or whipped cream. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Put Olives in Oil

To keep ripe or green olives fresh and glossy for hours at room temperature, drain and dry them on paper towels, then roll the olives one at a time, in a small dish containing a few drops of salad oil.

MERRI-MOLDED SALAD — Just in time to brighten your holiday buffet . . . Merri-Molded Salad. Made with sweet and mild Heinz Chili Sauce, it's the perfect accompaniment for turkey or ham.

Beef Liver Can Have Unique Flavoring

Every cost conscious homemaker — and who isn't these days — is probably aware that beef liver ranks high on the list of best meat buys. Add to this the fact that it's a rich source of iron and other necessary nutrients and there's reason enough to be serving it often.

* * *

So these two new liver recipes are especially welcome. In addition to being economical, both are wonderfully easy to prepare and each has a unique and exciting flavor.

The Liver and Bacon Kabobs are basted with a zesty mixture made with an envelope of seasoning mix for Sloppy Joes. Serve with the remaining sauce on a bed of rice and accompany with a green salad for a savory, satisfying meal.

The secret of the Spicy Liver is in the marinade — a zingy mixture of Worcestershire sauce, oil and garlic salt. Together with mashed potatoes, sliced tomatoes and a green vegetable, the meal is colorful, nutritious and delicious.

And here's a tip when cooking liver — overcooking makes it tough and leathery. Slices should be broiled just two minutes on each side; the kabobs are ready in eight minutes.

LIVER & BACON KABOBS

1 envelope (1½ oz.) seasoning mix for Sloppy Joes
1 cup water
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
¼ cup salad oil
1 pound sliced beef liver, cut into 1-inch squares
4 slices bacon
Cooked rice

* * *

Combine seasoning mix right from the envelope, water, tomato paste and oil in saucepan, bring to a boil. Thread squares of liver and bacon strips on 4 skewers. Brush with sauce.

* * *

Broil 3 inches from heat four minutes. Turn, brush with sauce and broil four minutes longer or until done. Serve on rice with sauce. 4 servings.

SPICY LIVER

¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
2 Tablespoons salad oil
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 pound sliced beef liver

Combine Worcestershire sauce, oil and garlic salt; pour over sliced liver and let stand 15 minutes. Broil, 3 inches from heat, just 2 minutes on each side, or until done. 4 servings.

WESTERN WAY BARBECUE SAUCE — Combine ½ teaspoon freshly grated lemon peel, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 teaspoon instant minced onion; let stand 5 minutes. Combine with ½ cup water; ½ cup catsup; 2 tablespoons brown sugar; 1 tablespoon salad oil; 2 teaspoons soy sauce and ¼ teaspoon smoke salt. Bring to boil and simmer about 10 minutes or until mixture is reduced to ¾ cup. Brush on steaks, hamburgers or hot dogs 1 to 2 minutes before meat is done. Also good on chicken; baste several times during last 20-30 minutes of cooking.

Path of Steer When on Way to the Market

A new color slide-lecture program which traces the path a steer must travel to become the ready-to-cook cuts the consumer buys in the supermarket has been prepared by the consumer marketing office, Michigan State University.

* * *

Entitled "What Makes Beef Prices?" the program utilizes 64 35mm color slides to show how feed, labor, transportation, slaughter, fabricating, and packaging costs incurred by the cattle raiser, meat packer and retailer become a part of the consumer's meat bill.

* * *

It also points out that steak is only part of a steer, and that consumers can save on their meat costs by buying specials and purchasing variety meats like liver, heart and kidneys, which have a higher nutritional value than muscle cuts.

* * *

Finally, the program takes a look at inspection and grading and the use of private brands.

* * *

In addition to the 64 color slides, the kit contains a teaching guide, 10 copies of a four-page leaflet entitled "From Farm to Platter . . . The Story of Beef Prices," and two copies each of reference leaflets, "Come to a Beef Roundup" and "Stretching Your Meat Dollar."

* * *

Cost of the program is $12.50. An optional synchromatic sound tape may be obtained for $3.75. Additional copies of all the leaflets are available at a nominal charge.

* * *

The program, which runs from 30 minutes to an hour depending on the amount of supplemental material used, may be obtained by writing to the office of Marketing Information for Consumers, Chittenden Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Tug Is on Last Pull

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The last paddle-wheel steam tug afloat in the world is making a lonely voyage across the South Atlantic—and it's one to compare with that endured by explorers in the 16th century.

The tug is the 100-foot Eppleton Hall, a sidewheeler built in 1914 and retrieved late last year from the scrap heap. Her rescuer was Scott Newhall, a San Francisco newspaper executive and a founding trustee of that city's Maritime Museum.

* * *

Newhall is the captain of a 12-member crew, several of them teen-agers, sailing the Eppleton Hall on a 10,400-mile voyage from Newcastle, England, to San Francisco. On her arrival, the vessel will join the others on display in the Maritime Museum fleet.

The Eppleton Hall has two enormous steam engines driving the two side wheels, which are encased in decorative housings. A crew member says she looks "like a hot dog in a hamburger bun."

BID ADIEU

The Eppleton Hall left Newcastle Sept. 19. Thousands of persons gathered to cheer her departure. The lord mayor made a speech, and champagne flowed.

It was an overcast day, and as soon at the tug reached the North Sea, a storm arose. For a while, the crew found themselves traveling backwards instead of achieving their hoped-for forward speed of six knots.

* * *

But the sturdy tug finally made it safely to Dover, 300 miles away. She put in below the famous white cliffs for minor repairs to her generator.

On the next leg of the voyage, to Lisbon, the Eppleton Hall encountered her greatest difficulties. Crossing the Bay of Biscay which lies off France and Spain, the vessel was buffeted by a tremendous storm.

OUT OF FUEL

At length, the Eppleton Hall reached calm seas off northern Spain—and then found herself out of fuel. The crew hoisted sail and sent out radio messages asking for help. The first ship to come by had the wrong kind of diesel fuel. But then a British freighter came alongside and agreed to help.

"All they had to transfer the fuel with was a thing the size of a garden hose," says Newhall. "It took about eight hours."

* * *

Using power and her sail, the Eppleton Hall reached Lisbon, where she stayed for a week.

Then the Eppleton Hall sailed for the Cape Verde Islands off the coast of Africa. On Nov. 22, she left St. Vincent Island for Georgetown, British Guiana, a voyage that should take about 18 days.

Her 4-Letter Word in 'Coco' Expected to Jolt Audiences

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Have some of our Fearless Forecasts.

Katharine Hepburn will make the audience sit up, gasp and laugh, on opening night of "Coco" Dec. 18, when she snaps out a certain 4-letter word, an Anglo-Saxon expletive which is gaining popularity with entertainers lately. Her script had it in French but she translated it to English which wasn't hard. Katie will be at the peak of her physical prowess opening night. "Fragile she is not!" declared a close friend.

WILSON

The gag line, "Agnew is so big he's dropping Nixon," will be heard over and over . . . Plus the serious suggestion: Agnew is Man of the Year . . . You'll hear more and more that Secretary of State Rogers eventually heads for the Supreme Court and that Nelson Rockefeller steps in there leaving the Guvship open to John Lindsay.

* * *

When Liz Taylor and Richard Burton arrive here in a week en route to Beverly Hills, Honolulu and Puerto Vallarta, Liz will show off her new Cartier diamond in public frequently. Without advertisement or desire for publicity. "She doesn't need an occasion. She wears it wherever she goes," says one of her close friends. She has not commented on the story that she has a fake diamond that resembles the Cartier jewel so closely that people will never know which is the genuine.

The Burtons while loafing in Mexico for weeks will continue turning down movie offers: "They are eager to hew to their one-year sabbatical."

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The Billy Rose Theater, a jinx house for several years, will be saved from demolition by the success of Tammy Grimes in "Private Lives" . . . Jerry Herman and Mike Stewart started writing a musical based on "Some Like It Hot" . . . Shirley Booth's coming in to discuss starring in "Lilies of the Field," now titled "Some Kind of Man," opposite Al Freeman Jr.

The Motion Picture Industry's going to admit it's under pressure to "revise" its movie rating system — and take other steps to find the cause of the hell of a mess it's in.

* * *

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A Broadwayite says his wife always wanted to live in a more expensive apartment: "And now she's getting her wish — the landlord raised the rent."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The chief problem when you retire is how to spend a lot of time without spending a lot of money."

EARL'S PEARLS: Taffy Tuttle suspects that her uncle, who recently retired, won't be missed much: "His boss gave him a testimonial party during a coffee break."

Robert Mitchum, just back from filming "Ryan's Daughter" in Ireland, was asked how long he'd spent on the picture. He said, "I can tell you exactly — 25 cases." . . . That's earl, brother.

Holland Is Mulling Mall for Downtown

HOLLAND (UPI) — A downtown shopping mall with tree-lined walks instead of a busy street may be ready for Christmas shoppers in this West Michigan city by this time next year.

* * *

Plans for the $500,000 project will be presented to a city council meeting next Wednesday night along with petitions urging a public hearing on the mall.

If approved, construction of "Welkom Plaats" will begin next spring and be completed by late fall of 1970. The mall would eliminate auto traffic on a portion of Eighth Street and also necessitate the rerouting of the annual tulip Festival parade.

The annual number of passengers on buses, subways and elevated local trains has declined from 23 billion in 1945 to 8 billion at present.

Grand-Jury Probe 'Exceeded Scope'

LANSING (UPI) — The state Court of Appeals has ruled that a Wayne County grand jury went beyond its jurisdiction in returning an indictment against a Detroit man charged with violating state election laws.

Angelo J. Diponio was indicted in 1967 on charges of violation of state election laws on six counts. They included conspiracy to make a corporate contribution to the Cavanagh for Senator Committee and crediting personal contributions to someone else.

* * *

In overturning the Detroit Recorder's Court opinion, the Court of Appeals held yesterday that the grand jury investigation in such cases is limited to investigating candidates or treasurers of political committees.

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Today's West's two-diamond overcall was one of those weak jump overcalls. His hand certainly was weak enough for the bid.

North's double was for business but South took it out to two hearts, whereupon North headed for the stratosphere. He settled for seven hearts after South showed no kings by his six-club bid.

West opened the nine of trumps. Without that trump lead, South could have cashed out his side aces and kings and then made all his eight tricks separately by means of a crossruff. But West did lead the nine of trumps and that line would only come to 12 tricks.

★ ★ ★

See if you can find the way to still make seven. South did! He won the first trick in dummy, ruffled a low diamond, led a club to the king, ruffed another low diamond, led a club to the king, ruffed another low diamond with his last trump and led a spade to the king.

At this point, you will have completed a dummy reversal. Now you can run off dummy's last three trumps. You will discard two clubs and a spade and everyone will be down to three cards. Dummy's will be the ace-queen of diamonds and deuce of spades.

East's will be the jack-eight of spades and queen of clubs, West's the king-10 of diamonds and queen of spades, and yours the ace-seven of spades and jack of clubs.

★ ★ ★

Somewhere along the way, West will have been squeezed out of his spade protection in order to guard the king of diamonds.

Now you cash dummy's ace of diamonds and squeeze East out of his spade protection also. You chuck your jack of clubs and both your spades are now good.

Pass	Pass	1♠	1 N.T.

You, South, hold: ♠A864 ♥2 ♦KJ93 ♣Q1075

What do you do now?

A—Pass. You have shown at least four cards in each minor suit by your unusual no-trump bid. Don't get carried away and rebid those same cards.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do pass. West passes. Your partner bids four clubs. East bids four spades. What do you do now?

Junior Editors Quiz on SUEZ CANAL

QUESTION: Why was the Suez canal built?

ANSWER: One of the things influencing the course of the development of our Western civilization has been our need to trade with the nations of the East. Indeed, America was discovered during Europe's efforts to find better trade routes.

Ships had an enormous way to go to get from Europe to the East in the old days. As our map shows, they had to sail all the way down the African coast before they could round the Cape of Good Hope and square away for the East.

But suppose ships coming from the Mediterranean Sea could get to the narrow Red Sea — they could then sail out through the Gulf of Aden right into the Indian Ocean!

It was to take advantage of this short way of reaching the East that the Suez Canal was built. Because of it, the route between England and India was shortened by 6,000 miles. It was the French engineer Ferdinand de Lesseps who got the canal project going. It began operation on April 25, 1859.

But because of the tensions between the Arab states and Israel, the canal's recent history has been stormy. This canal is a vital link in world trade. Let's hope it will bring nations together in peace.

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Friday

CONVIVIALITY is the key to dining, living, relating to others. Break through tradition. CREATE YOUR OWN TRADITIONS. It is that kind of day.

★ ★ ★

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent on friends, hopes, desires. Key is to communicate. Let loose. Don't attempt to suppress emotions. You need to let others know that you do have definite points of view.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Some obstacles are obvious. You can prepare to overcome them. Specifically, one in authority seems to be testing you. Maintain balance. You will win kindness.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You have feeling that you want to get going. Wherever you are, the desire to move is present. You perceive what could be. You are not satisfied to stand still.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Concern with the occult, the hidden comes to fore. Also, you become aware of necessity to protect assets. Good financial adviser is invaluable to your welfare today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Stress on partnership, marriage, how you relate to those who are important in your scheme of events. Some confide intimate problems. Offer love and sympathy. But don't become foolishly involved.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your health, ability to keep up with loved one are emphasized. You cannot burn candle at both ends. Know this — and respond in adult manner. Be mature, not foolish.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Hunch pays off. What you feel today is apt to be valid. Trying to be ultraobjective would defeat your purpose. Accent is on speculation, love and adventure.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Concentrate on the practical. Leave dreaming for another time. A LIBRA associate has knack of finding right place at right time. Your task is to make most of specific opportunity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Obtain hint from SCORPIO message. You get chance to see people who previously shut doors. Now, the doors open. Have ideas on paper, outlined and in format. Be ready.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Money comes your way if ideas are expressed with air of confidence. Let others know that you are aware. Exchange suggestions. Be co-operative, but adhere to principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle high; take initiative. Start a project. Be independent in thought, action. Know that there is something vital about you. Opposite sex is attracted. Your ego soars.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Especially good for filming commercial or artistic presentation. In personal life, be discreet. Some may be trying to pump you for confidential information.

Researchers on 'Mind Trip' to Earth Core

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists of the University of Chicago are making a mind's-eye voyage to the center of the earth.

Their is no Jules Verne fantasy. It is a real-life effort to deduce what lies far beneath our feet and then, if possible, to duplicate in surface laboratories some of the mineral wonders which must exist in Earth's inaccessible depths.

* * *

The planet Mars swings in space between 35 million and 150 million miles of earth. But, says a University of Chicago report, man "is far more likely" to visit Mars than he is to make even a 50-mile journey into his home planet's interior.

Before man could go a small way toward the earth's center he would encounter pressures capable of crushing steel and heat capable of melting the most refractory rock.

'PHASE CHANGES'

Scientists have know for years that great pressure and great heat cause familiar minerals to undergo "phase changes" into something altogether different, as when graphite, a soft and slick kind of carbon, is transformed into diamond.

Such changes must have occurred continously in the 4.7-billion-year history of the earth at various layers below the surface. But so far scientists have been able only to conjecture what these deep transformations may have produced.

* * *

In Chicago's Department of Geophysical Sciences, researchers using explosive techniques are now creating pressures up to 75 million pounds per square inch, approximating those at the planet's center.

Such techniques didn't exist as recently as 20 years ago. Now Paul G. Moore, associate professor of mineralogy and crystallography, has set out to determine the atomic structure of more than 5,000 known minerals.

MANY COMBINATIONS

"There are," he said, "a great many possible combinations of elements which we have not seen and which we cannot duplicate or synthesize in the laboratory.

"If we can demonstrate mathematically, and by tests, that such minerals are possible, we then can take the first step toward synthesizing them."

* * *

"It is possible," Moore said, "that this research might suddenly yield a 'supermineral', a mineral that will have great application in industry and research."

White Teaches Black History

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI) — Thomas E. Terrill is an assistant professor at the University of South Carolina who teaches a course called "The Negro in American History."

Terrill is white. So are most of his students.

* * *

Terrill said some black students resent studying under a white teacher, but not as many as might be expected.

"I bring up the subject of my race in class," Terrell said. "This is an issue and I might as well deal with it openly instead of approaching the issue by avoiding it."

LACKS DIMENSION

Terrill, in his fourth year at USC, concedes there are some things a white man cannot teach about black history.

"I think a black person could add a dimension to the course a white person can't," he said. "For instance I have no way of knowing how it feels to be black, to be persecuted; a black person would bring a life experience to the course."

* *

The course begins with a study of West Africa "to see what people came in the slave trade" and then follows black history to modern civil rights and black militant movements.

"Without such a study, the picture of American history is woefully inadequate," Terrill said. "After all, this is the largest nonintegrated ethnic group in America."

Louisiana's Lake Ponchartrain, covering 630 square miles, is the largest lake wholly within the United States.

British Feminist Blasts the Pill

LONDON (AP) — "Damn the Pill," said Baroness Summerskill, and a dozen aristocratic eyebrows shot up in a tea room at the House of Lords.

Britain's best-known feminist, who happens also to be a physician, was expounding on one of her pet hates.

★ ★ ★

"The Pill seems to control the future of so many people today because for some reason young girls feel that you have to be 'with it,'" she said.

"Being 'with it' means that you have to have premarital sexual intercourse.

"It seems that to be a virgin today is somehow to have missed the boat. Yet the male is as old-fashioned as ever. A recent survey in Britain showed the vast majority still want the girl they marry to be a virgin."

MEDICALLY AGAINST

It may seem strange that one of the architects of Britain's national health scheme takes a stand against the oral contraceptive, but she says:

"I've been against the Pill right from the beginning, on medical grounds."

She argues that not enough is known about the drug's effects, on a woman's health, and points to recent deaths of young women attributed to it.

★ ★ ★

"Every husband, if he loves his wife, would stop her from taking the Pill until is is proved 100 per cent safe," she declared in an interview. The baroness poured tea in the oak-lined room as lords of the realm passed in and out from the Lords chamber. She was made a life peeress by Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government in 1961 and finds nothing strange about a Socialist being in the Lords.

"I'm government spokesman on health matters here. It's an important job," she said.

CHILDBIRTH CAMPAIGN

Edith Summerskill, now 68, entered politics in 1938 as Labor parliamentarian for London's West Fulham area and became minister of national insurance in the 1950 government.

She pioneered a campaign to make painless childbirth available to all mothers.

★ ★ ★

She supported the idea of a national health service offering free services and was largely responsible for founding the Socialist Medical Association which pressed through the creation of such a service.

She has championed the right of married women to follow a career, challenged changes in Britain's new divorce laws which she called "a Casanova's charter," and stepped up her long-standing battle against professional boxing.

BOXING REPORT

Commenting on the recent report by the Royal College of Surgeons showing that one in five professional boxers suffers some brain damage, she said:

"I have waited 25 years for this. The inquiry was only started seven years ago after I had introduced a bill in the House of Lords to ban boxing." This has never come into force.

★ ★ ★

Lady Summerskill confessed herself firmly in favor of the miniskirt, observing that the straight legs of the "magnificent creatures" striding about London are a fine advertisement for the health service. Her husband is also a physician, Dr. Edward Jeffrey Samuel.

"My advice to women who want to marry and carry on their career," the baroness says, "is to marry an intelligent man who can cook at least one meal."

Apollo 13 to Test Theory

Moon 'Rubble' Eyed

CAP EKENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 13's big third-stage rocket will crash into the moon in March to tell scientists more about the depth of what they think might be a great mass of rock rubble making up much of the moon.

The shock waves from the impact will be felt and recorded by the moonquake detector left on the Ocean of Storms by Apollo 12's astronauts.

★ ★ ★

Geophysicists got their first good clue to the moon's makeup when Apollo 12's lunar module spacecraft smashed into the Ocean of Storms after it was abandoned by its pilots in lunar orbit Nov. 20.

★ ★ ★

The impact set off an hour-long series of reverberations that were likened to a bell ringing in a belfry. Scientists familiar with seismometers on earth had never seen such a strange reaction to an impact.

OTHER RUMBLINGS

Similar rumbling vibrations of less intensity were recorded at the Sea of Tranquillity by the seismometer left there by Apollo 11's astronauts, and geophysicists then attributed them to slides of rock down crater walls.

★ ★ ★

"But now we see that these are the characteristics observed for impacts on the lunar surface," said Dr. Gary Latham of the Lamont Geological Observatory. He is one of the principal investigators working with Apollo 12's seismometer.

★ ★ ★

Latham said "the long echotype signals might be caused by their movement through a shattered rock structure, a rubble made up of large blocks of volcanic rock. Shock waves through such a rubble on earth show similar, but not identical seismic readings."

The collision of the lunar module enabled scientists to identify clearly the source of these rumbling vibrations to an impact of known intensity and location. The spacecraft weighed about 5,700 pounds and hit the moon at 3,740 miles per hour.

31,000 POUNDS

The spent third stage of Apollo's rocket—called the S4B—will weigh about 31,000 pounds and is expected to hit the moon at 5,700 mph, impacting within 220 miles of Apollo 12's lunar surface observatory.

Latham said "the crash should generate 10 times the energy produced by the lunar module's impact. He estimated the shock waves from the lunar module crash may have penetrated the moon to a depth of about six miles."

★ ★ ★

The Saturn rocket collision, he said, "will then allow us to say whether or not this hypothetical, large rubbly structure may exist for a large fraction of the lunar radius.

"We may be dealing with a rubble clear to the center of the moon, for all I know at this point," he said in a preliminary report last week of the findings of the Apollo 12 seismometer.

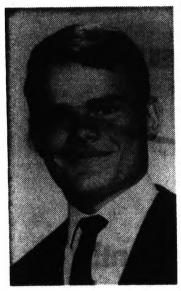

MORE RANGE NEEDED

"But we're not able to say until we get impact sources at a much greater range."

Seismometers also are scheduled to be left on the moon by Apollo 13's astronauts and by the next two moon landing crews. Like Apollo 12's instrument, all will be powered by nuclear generators and should operate for a year or two.

★ ★ ★

If all operate as planned, scientists will have a network of at least three and possibly four operating lunar seismometers. This would tell a great deal more about the nature of man-made and natural vibrations in the moon and, in turn, more about the moon's structure.

Foreign Press Eyes U.S. Biological Arm Ban, Massacre, Cities

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese newspapers say they welcome President Nixon's announcement that the U.S. is unilaterally banning offensive biological weapons and some chemical weapons.

But Japan's biggest paper feels the ban does not go far enough.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot but feel dissatisfied with the latest statement," said Asahi. It said the announcement "recognizes research on defensive measures," and "this is liable to leave the ban half done, because research on defensive means will naturally be accompanied by research on offensive means."

Asahi speculated that the announcement may have been prompted by disclosure of the alleged massacre of South Vietnamese civilians by American soldiers at My Lai.

DOUBTS APPEAR

"The statement was announced," Asahi said, "just when the incident of the massacre...was called to account. Partly for this reason, even some doubts have appeared to the effect that the statement may only be aimed at political effects."

The newspapers Sankei and Tokyo Shimbun welcomed the announcement without reservation. Sankei said it was "a courageous decision," and Tokyo Shimbun said it represents "great courage on the part of the United States" because it was done unilaterally.

★ ★ ★

Several European newspapers commented on My Lai.

The London Evening Standard's Washington correspondent, Jeremy Campbell, wrote that it "made plain the central paradox of this appalling struggle, that a war for the finest of political ends has been waged with the crudest of military means, and has finally brutalized all who took part in it."

'CALLS FOR SYMPATHY'

"Accusers quickly step forward, especially those who haven't been asked," sal Frankfurt's Frankfurter Allgemeine. "American war crimes trials are known to be severe. The deep moral crisis of the American people calls for respect and sympathy."

Saigon's English-language Vietnam Guardian said in a front-page editorial that the incident "somehow seems to deserve second place" to the Vietcong slaughter of some 3,000 civilians at Hue during the 1968 Tet offensive because it was "a hot-blooded spur-of-the-moment reaction to a nasty situation."

Life in America's cities received attention in some newspapers.

★ ★ ★

'ALREADY DYING'

"It could have been the model of perfection, efficiency and comfort," Rome's Giornale D'Italia said, "but the American metropolis, although still young, is already dying."

★ ★ ★

City dwellers in America, the Italian paper said, "live in growing noise. The rhythm of their work, which should have been reduced by machines, has been carried to extreme limits by the very same machines."

Patrick Campbell, columnist for the London Sunday Times wrote: "The New Yorkers hurry past, stony faced and indifferent, apparently only concerned, with unemployment rising swiftly, to hold onto their jobs. Until, that is, they have time to sit down and have a drink, when they turn into the kindest and funniest people in the world."

But Father Cancels His Career

Japan Boy, 6, Has Hit Record

TOKYO (AP) — A 6-year-old Japanese boy who is not quite sure what "tango" means has made a smash hit with the song "Black Cat Tango" on his first try as a pop singer.

★ ★ ★

Osamu Minagawa's father says the next step in the boy's singing career is retirement—at least until he finishes school.

Osamu's first record, sung in a high-pitched voice, came out Oct. 5. More than 1.3 million copies have been sold.

Does he like cats? "Not so much." As for tango, a Latin American dance, Osamu asked: "That's the name of a cat, isn't it?"

HE WON'T HELP

In the song, the singer laments to his nice, red-ribboned cat that "a bad cat came to call you," and he vows he won't help the cat out of any resulting difficulties.

It has been called a "nursery song for adults."

The boy's musical career began less than a year ago when he joined a primary school chorus called the Larks. The chorus was managed and conducted by his aunt.

A recording company asked her to pick a boy to sing "Black Cat Tango."

SHORT PRACTICE

Osamu practiced three days.

Despite Osamu's financial success, his father, an advertising man for a food processing company, decided enough was enough.

★ ★ ★

He told the recording company that pop-singing fame was interferring with Osamu's schooling because he was spending about twice as much time in radio and television studios as in school.

The record company still has hopes, however. Officials said the company has no immediate plans for Osamu, but "There still is the possibility of his recording another smash hit."

U.S. Auto Litterers Active

By The Associated Press

Each month American motorists drop an average of 1,304 pieces of litter for every mile of the nation's vast network of interstate and primary highways — nearly 16,000 pieces per mile per year. Thus found the first national survey of roadside litter, sponsored by Keep America Beautiful Inc.

The survey was conducted by the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences in cooperation with the highway departments of 29 participating states.

U. S. Is Dealt Rebuff in U. N.

Defoliants, Tear Gas Use Is Opposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The small nations in the U.N. General Assembly gave the United States a rebuff Wednesday for the second time in two days. This time the Russians did not share in the American defeat.

Brushing aside U.S. objections, the General Assembly's main political committee held that the use of tear gas and defoliants in war is against the principles of the Geneva Convention of 1925. Voting 58 to 3 with 35 abstentions, the committee approved a resolution declaring that "the use in international armed conflicts of any chemical agents of warfare" is "contrary to the generally recognized rules of international law as embodied in the Geneva protocol."

★ ★ ★

Although less than half of the 126 U.N. members voted for the resolution, the vote in the assembly was expected to follow the pattern in the committee, with abstentions putting the resolution across.

Before the vote, U.S. delegate James Leonard urged the delegates not to try "to resolve by majority voting a matter of deep dispute and differing interpretation." He said the question of what the convention covered should be referred to the U.N. disarmament committee in Geneva.

EXEMPTED BY NIXON

President Nixon on Nov. 25 announced that U.S. forces would no longer use incapacitating chemicals in war unless they are used against them, extending a previous ban on first use of lethal chemicals. But he exempted tear gas, herbicides and riot control agents from the ban.

On Tuesday the political committee overrode objections by the United States and the Soviet Union to an appeal that the two superpowers declare a moratorium on testing and deployment of new strategic nuclear weapons. The Americans and the Russians contended that this might hamper their talks in Helsinki to arrange negotiations to reduce their nuclear arsenals.

★ ★ ★

Among the sponsors of both the moratorium and tear gas resolutions were the 12 nonaligned members of the 25-nation Geneva disarmament committee.

These 12 and several others have grown increasingly resentful over the tendency of the big powers to decide key disarmament questions unilaterally or in talks between themselves.

No Date Set for an Inquest on Mary Jo

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP)— District Court Clerk Thomas A. Teller says the date for an inquest into Mary Jo Kopechne's death will "depend on the availability of witnesses at this time of year."

District Court Judge James A. Boyle said Wednesday he had no immediate plans to set a date for the inquest. He had withheld a date pending the outcome of a petition by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis to exhume Miss Kopechne's body for autopsy.

★ ★ ★

She died when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy went off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and into a tidal pond July 18. An assistant medical examiner ruled she drowned. No autopsy was performed.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court in Wilkes Barre, Pa., ruled Wednesday against Dinis' exhumation request.

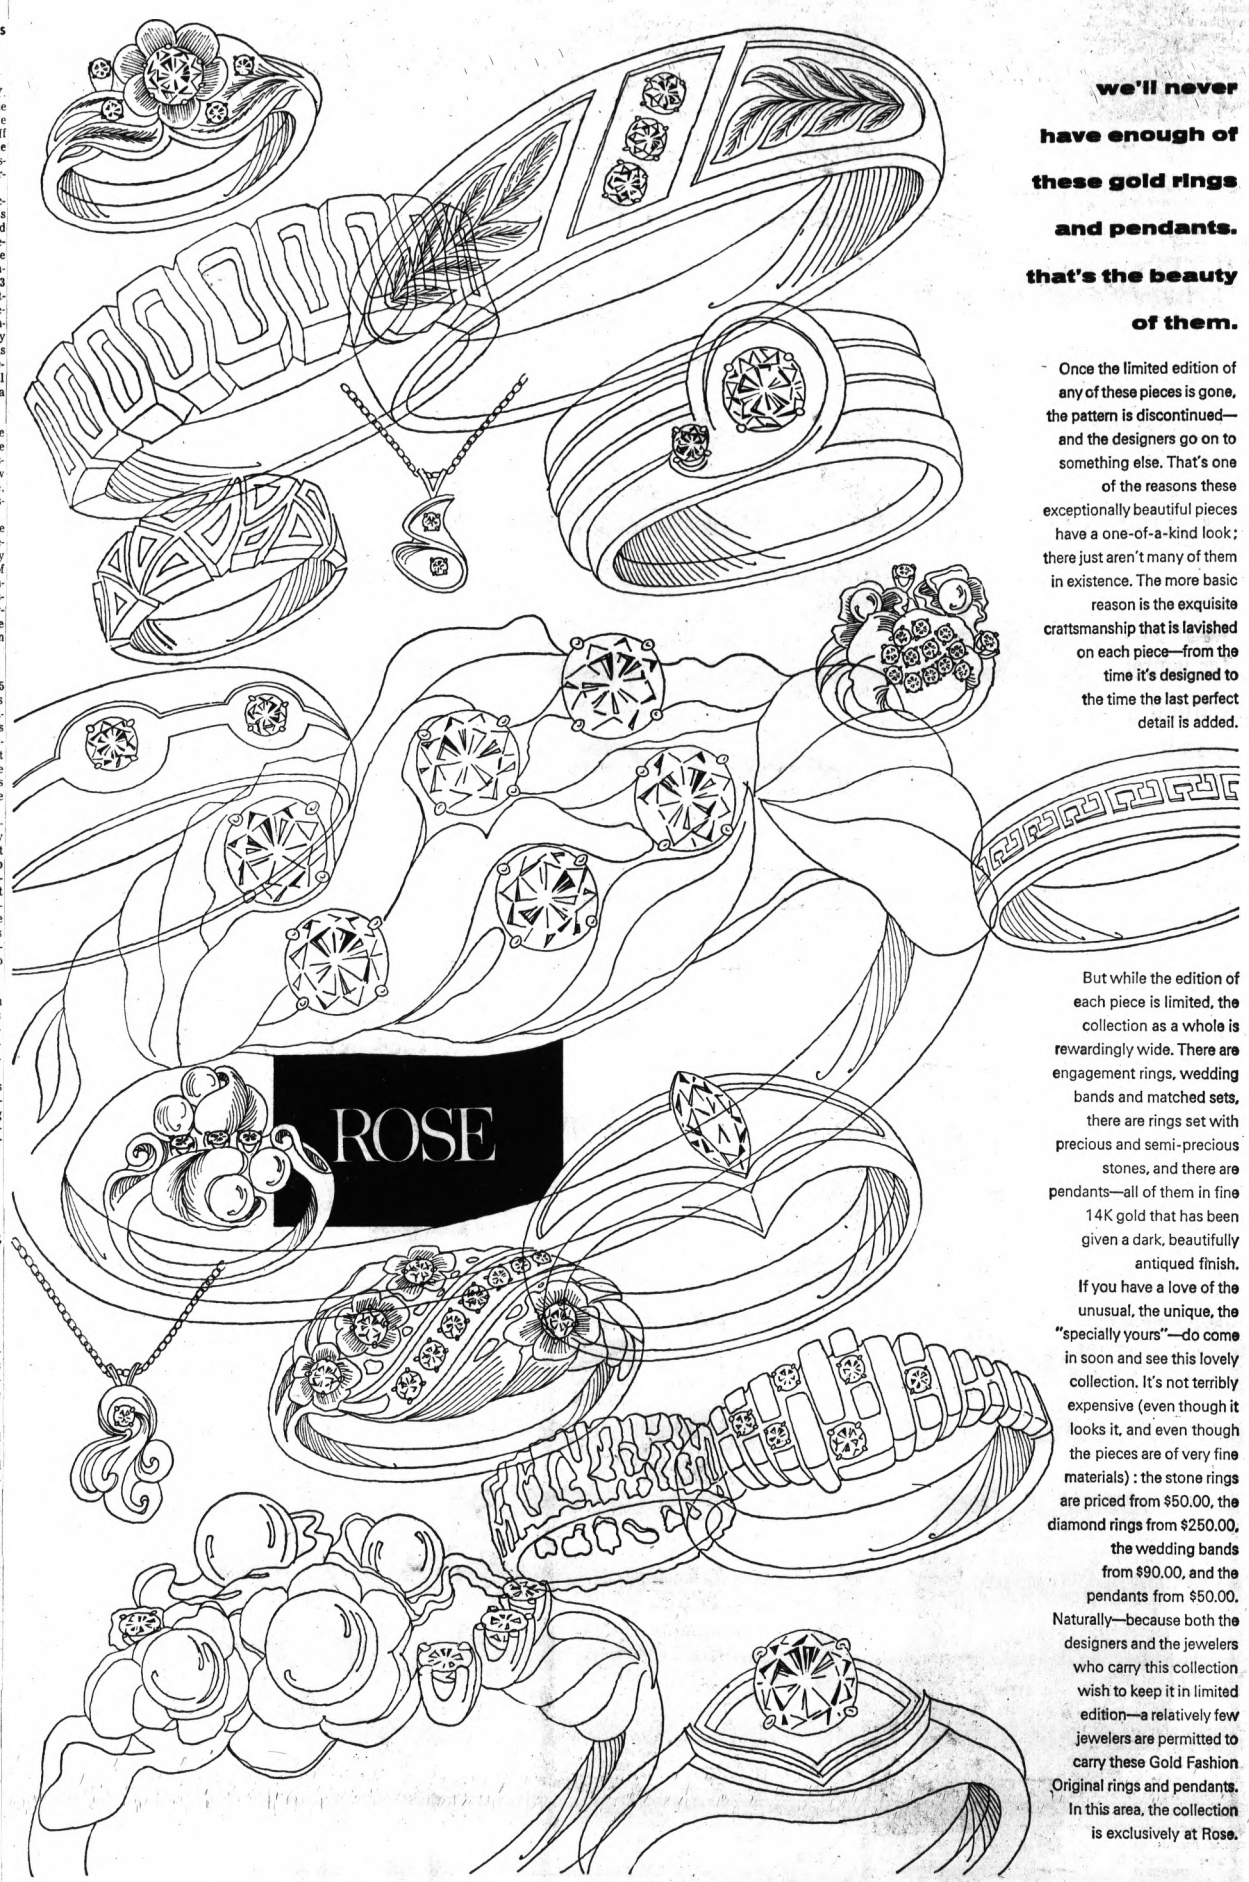

NO APPEAL PLANNED

Dinis would not comment on the judge's decision but an aide said Dinis "has no intention of appealing at this time."

Sources close to Judge Boyle indicated that Dinis will have to declare formally that he has no plans to appeal the Pennsylvania decision before an inquest date is set.

Judge Brominski ruled there was "insufficient evidence to challenge the original finding of death by drowning."

The inquest had been scheduled for Sept. 3, but was postponed when Kennedy appealed Judge Boyle's ruling on courtroom procedures.

we'll never have enough of these gold rings and pendants. that's the beauty of them.

Once the limited edition of any of these pieces is gone, the pattern is discontinued—and the designers go on to something else. That's one of the reasons these exceptionally beautiful pieces have a one-of-a-kind look; there just aren't many of them in existence. The more basic reason is the exquisite craftsmanship that is lavished on each piece—from the time it's designed to the time the last perfect detail is added.

But while the edition of each piece is limited, the collection as a whole is rewardingly wide. There are engagement rings, wedding bands and matched sets, there are rings set with precious and semi-precious stones, and there are pendants—all of them in fine 14K gold that has been given a dark, beautifully antiqued finish.

If you have a love of the unusual, the unique, the "specially yours"—do come in soon and see this lovely collection. It's not terribly expensive (even though it looks it, and even though the pieces are of very fine materials): the stone rings are priced from $50.00, the diamond rings from $250.00, the wedding bands from $90.00, and the pendants from $50.00. Naturally—because both the designers and the jewelers who carry this collection wish to keep it in limited edition—a relatively few jewelers are permitted to carry these Gold Fashion Original rings and pendants. In this area, the collection is exclusively at Rose.

Discotheques, Once a-Go-Go, Now Sick and Gone or Going

(EDITOR'S NOTE — They started out as small, dark go-go dance clubs and added a new French-derived word to the language: discotheque. The "in" places thrived for several years, but the fickle night crowd now seems to be writing R.I.P. on the discotheque scene.)

By JULIE KENNEDY

NEW YORK (AP) — Psychedelic discotheques, noted for blaring acid rock music, blinding strobe lights, and frantically gyrating bodies, are sick, sick, sick.

The closing of legendary Arthur in June here first kindled reports of imminent disaster to the disco-type clubs.

* * *

"The trouble with being listed as 'in' is that if you're 'in', sooner or later you must be 'out'," Sybil Burton Christopher, operator of the club, once said of discotheques.

Where Arthur opened here in 1965, it was so stuffed with celebrities, gorgeous secretaries and dashing junior executives that fables were told about stage and screen stars turned away at its purple door.

3 STILL OPEN

Six other Arthur clubs opened around the country, but those in Dallas, Los Angeles, Detroit and Washington also have closed. Only those in New Haven and San Francisco remain.

An Associated Press survey of discotheques in major American cities revealed that most discotheque operators agree that the public's insatiable appetite for change and novelty is the biggest reason the discotheque scene is short-lived.

"You know how fickle the public is," said John Beug, manager of Chicago's Flower Pot. "It always likes to see something new."

Beug's club alternates a three-man black band in business clothes with subdued taped music.

ONE PLACE TO ANOTHER

"Some people are never satisfied with themselves, so they go from one place to another looking for satisfaction," complained Jack Hanson, owner of The Daisy, a private discotheque in Los Angeles. The Daisy was "the" place there two years ago, but faces stiff competition from other clubs now.

Olivier Coquelin, builder of nightclubs and resorts and part owner of New York's Cheetah (which, he admitted, has seen its day) puts the blame for the demise on discotheque owners and managers.

There are very few professionals in this business in New York or in the world, for that matter," he said. "There's no savoir faire. The managers and owners have no idea about how to receive people."

Manhattan still boasts some 50 discotheques. In Dallas, there are some 80 nightclubs but none calls itself a discotheque. Only a handful of discotheques thrive in San Francisco, and most of them have canned music. The topless nightclub fad absorbed others and the rest have either folded or are fizzling out.

PRIVATE CLUBS IN LA

Most "with-it" discotheques in Los Angeles are private clubs, with memberships costing from $250 to $1,000 a year and hand picked members aged 25 to 40. With a few exceptions, public discotheques are neighborhood hangouts frequented mostly by teen-agers.

Of the dozen swinging discotheques that blazed in Chicago at the height of the craze four years ago, only three or four remain.

* * *

Terminology is loose, however, and many places that are called discotheques are simply nightclubs.

Most older discotheques are either foundering or face-lifting. But operators and patrons have no way of gauging the future popularity of clubs that change decor or music in an effort to stay in pace with the times.

KEEPING FRESH

"We have to keep it fresh in order to keep our customers," said the manager of New York's Nepentha, a year-old club with Moorish decor. But he added quickly: "Our business has not lessened one bit over the entire year. I would venture to say that we have at least a year or two to go."

Former Los Angeles lawyer Ronnie Buck, operator of the Factory there, said: "It seems that in order to exist today, you can't just cater to one type of interest or case. You have to run the gamut.

* * *

The popularity of any single club or discotheque is strictly dependent on the fact that it's an innovation. After a while the interest wears off."

Al Stillman and Ben Begson, proprietors of a diversified group of New York clubs called Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, said they cater to "average middle-class young people like secretaries, stewardesses, and junior executives" who don't always want to indulge in the same type of entertainment.

DUPLICATES FAIL

Stillman explained: "There's no reasoning in opening up duplicate places in the same city. We're in a fun business. We like to be creative. And customers won't go to duplicate places."

Kurt Meyer, operator of New York's The Sanctuary, a new discotheque built in a former German Lutheran church, salvaged the original pews for seats and repaired the stained glass windows.

* * *

"This particular operation will be hopefully much more than a discotheque. I'd like to combine a discotheque with theater and other entertainment occasionally," he explained. "You have to offer customers some variety. People should become curious about what's going to happen there tonight," he said.

DECLINING INTEREST

But customer Fred Day, a New York clothing importer patronizing Salvation in Greenwich Village, observed: "There is a declining interest in people to go to the same place for more than one year. Clubs with too many different kinds of activities become like hotels. And who wants to go to a hotel?"

Another customer, a model from London living in New York, noted: "It's time for something new now. Discotheques have been "in" for about five years now. You know, you do anything for five years and its gets to be a bore."

* * *

Scratching at the multicolored sequins pasted on her cheek, she said: "I dig discotheques. I think they're really nice. But they just don't seem to have the right sort of people anymore."

'IN' CROWD'S SANCTUARY—The Sanctuary, a New York City discotheque built in a former German Lutheran church, hopes to be much more than a discotheque in order to survive. The novelty which made discotheques "in" seems to be turning them "out."

Stations to Monitor Puget Sound Area Quakes

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A network of seismic stations that will monitor the slightest ripple in the bedrock structure of the Puget Sound area is being established by the University of Washington.

Dr. Robert Crosson, assistant professor in geological sciences, is setting up seismographs in the basin between the Cascade and Olympic mountains to record and more accurately locate small earthquakes which occur almost daily in this region.

★ ★ ★

The school now operates seismic stations in Tumwater near the state capital, in Seattle and at Longmire, which is headquarters for Mt. Rainier National Park.

But Crosson says more are needed to monitor the smaller, more frequent movements.

SYSTEM NECESSARY

The monitoring system is necessary, he explains, to fulfill requirements of a project being financed through two National Science Foundation grants for geophysical investigation. Among other things, the seismologists are attempting to find a way to accurately predict earthquakes.

The first remote station will be se up near Granite Falls in the Cascade foothills north of Seattle. Four other sites under consideration are near Port Angeles, on the north side of the Olympic Mountains; Enumclaw, in the Cascade foothills southeast of Seattle; ellingham, on the northern shore of Puget Sound; Rochester, south of Olympia; and a spot on Hood Canal west of Bremerton.

★ ★ ★

Crosson said he hopes to establish other stations around Mt. Rainier and one near Yakima, east of the Cascades.

The bedrock structure of the Puget Sound basin is covered by glacial till deposited during the most recent glacial period, and Crosson says it is impossible to see what is going on beneath this crust.

SERIES OF STATIONS

The monitoring network will consist of a series of permanent but compact and flexible seismic stations which could be moved if research objectives change or locations prove to be unsatisfactory.

★ ★ ★

These stations will record earthquakes and send the information back to the laboratory at the university's Atmospheric Sciences-Geophysics Building. Transmission will be made through telephone lines or radio transmitters.

★ ★ ★

The seismograph instrument that will detect the quivers is about a big as a medium-sized can of pork and beans you find on the grocery shelf. It will be buried in the ground and covered by a large drum for protection. An amplifier couples the seismograph to the transmission lines.

Official to Retire

LANSING (AP) — John Q. Adamson, comptroller of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission since 1954, plans to retire from State Commerce Department work at the end of the year. NIXON'S CHOICE — Douglas Toms, director of Washington State's Department of Motor Vehicles, accepted the nomination as director of the nation's auto safety program last week after recommendations he made for reorganizing it were accepted. He wanted the program independent of the Highway Administration.

Troubles Persist at Strife-Torn Kansas Prison

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — Nearly six months ago a call went out from the Kansas State Penitentiary:

"Send state troopers and gas masks."

* * *

A large-scale riot was in progress at the century-old prison.

Guards, supplemented by highway patrolmen, put it down.

Prison officials say things are under control but almost daily reports of bloodletting by prisoners come out of the penitentiary.

SELF-MUTILATION

Robert N. Woodson, director of Kansas penal institutions, said there have been 332 cases of self-mutilation—instances of inmates cutting themselves—since July 1.

He said the cases involve only 95 of the prison's 1,300 inmates. Of the 95, he said, 35 have cut themselves once while 60 have wounded themselves more than once, one up to 18 times.

Many of the cuts are superficial, Woodson said. Some of the men have slashed their arms or cut tendons in their ankles.

Woodson, who was named by Gov. Robert Docking to replace Charles D. McAtee as penal director after the June 18 riot, claimed the prison has a small number of hard-core inmates who are determined to run the institution. The number was estimated at 35 to 40.

WHY THE RIOT?

What caused the riot? Why the self-mutilations?

Authorities say the riot resulted from the manner in which a massive shakedown was conducted in the cellblocks. There had been reports that firearms had somehow been secreted in the prison. The mid-June search yielded a large amount of "hard contraband"—drugs, knives and money. Officials carted away three truckloads of unauthorized cell furniture and other items.

Whatever the spark for the riot, the prisoners smashed windows, ripped railings from walkways of their cellblocks and set numerous small fires. Cellblock locking systems were damaged.

No hostages were taken, and only one inmate was wounded.

'SEEKING ATTENTION'

Prison officials say the self-mutiliations are the work of inmates seeking to draw attention to themselves or to force their transfer from the maximum security —solitary— building to the prison hospital. Woodson also feels they are trying to bring pressure to have him replaced.

The Leavenworth County sheriff's office said it investigated 16 killings of prisoners by prisoners from Jan. 1, 1967, to the end of 1968.

* * *

About a month after the disturbance, officials conducted another shakedown of one cellblock. They found more knives, hypodermic syringes and a tunnel network. They also discovered a loaded six-shot revolver.

Maj. Jim Banker, Prison information officer, said there have been seven fires since June and guards have discovered numerous fire attempts or fire bombings. He speculated inmates are reacting to administration efforts to improve security and procedural reform.

REPORT SLATED

Woodson said the mutilations started in November last year. There were 39 cases in the first six months of 1969, he said.

The director said he did not want to go much into the "why" of the self-mutilations or to suggest what should be done, in advance of a report by George Thompson, superintendent of the State Diagnostic and Treatment Center. The report will be based on studies made at the penitentiary during the last three weeks by teams that included a psychiatrist, a psychologist and a social worker.

Woodson has maintained, however, that the self-mutilations were originally caused by members of what he called a "little Mafia." Woodson described this as a power clique practicing extortion and terrorism.

* * *

"These people have done damn well what they wanted for many years, and they're so accustomed to threatening and making deals with the administration they feel you can't run an institution without them. Certainly they can make things uncomfortable and difficult for us."

Woodson said his plea to state budget officials this year was for money to raise pay for personnel and provide better training.

"Ninety per cent of our staff at Lansing is sincere, honest and hard-working," he said, "but we can't afford even 1 per cent who aren't. It doesn't matter what kind of buildings you have; you can't operate a successful program if you don't have the proper personnel, properly trained."

Auto Safety Nominee Claims First Victory

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — President Nixon's nominee for director of the National Highway Safety Bureau already has one victory under his belt and plans to fight for more if he is confirmed by the Senate.

Douglas Toms, 39, said he would accept the nomination only if he was allowed to report directly to Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, instead of being under control of the Federal Highway Administration as the bureau director is now.

* * *

The Nixon administration agreed to that requirement, Rep. Tom Pelly, R-Wash., said last week in announcing Toms' acceptance of the nomination.

Toms says he may propose changes in antitrust laws to permit car makers to band together in working for air pollution control devices and such safety factors as improved cars.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

He also sees the possibility of using federal money and staff assistance as positive incentives to persuade states to meet federal safety standards in highway construction. He opposes the present penalty system.

* * *

Besides safer highways and safer cars, Toms also wants better driving. Current driver improvement programs "are not producing results," he says.

A former college teacher, Toms wants authority to hire college professors for short terms because, he says, the government runs into conflicts of interest if it tries to hire auto industry personnel.

* * *

One possible goal for the safety bureau, Toms says, is reducing the national traffic death toll one-third by the 1980s. To do so, he, says, "We have to find out how much the public will go for and maybe force it to happen."

MORAL QUESTIONS

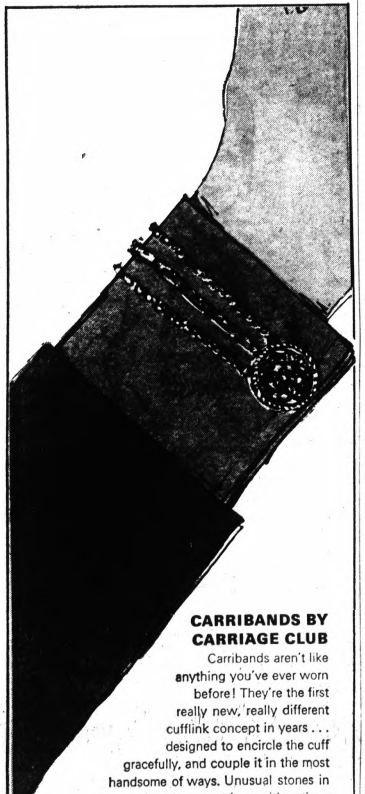

He also says the agency will face "moral questions such as how much big-brotherism do we want when it comes to getting defective drivers off the road."

State Joins Ag Sales Unit

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Department of Agriculture said yesterday Michigan has joined with 11 other midwestern states in forming a group to promote the sale of agricultural commodities abroad.

Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball said the group was formed at the Midwest Association of State Departments of Agriculture meeting in Phoenix this week.

The group will operate out of an office of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, he said.

Europeans Seeking Relief in Flu Wave

LONDON (UPI) — Europeans turned to everything from medical clinics to liquor cabinets today in quest of relief from a wave of influenza sweeping along an erratic path across the continent.

* * *

Medical experts classified it as a comparatively mild form of the disease known variously as Asian flu, Mao flu and Hong Kong grippe. Scientists in Britain said it was spreading an average of 20 miles per hour.

* * *

In its wake, millions of Europeans were miserable with coughs, fever and chills—one-fourth of the populations of France and Italy, one-third in Spain, fewer in Portugal, West Germany and Britain.

In Rome, where 800,000 of the city's 2.5 million inhabitants were ill, Italians were trying a variety of cures, including one newspaper's recommendation that two aspirin in hot water would do the trick.

* * *

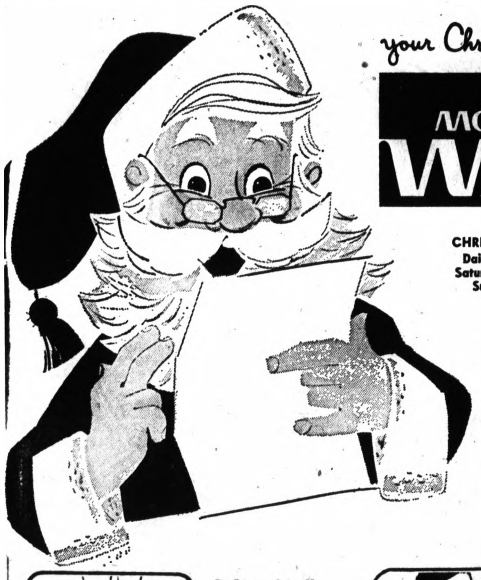

A favorite medicine in Portugal was brandy. In England, the common cold unit at Salisbury came up with a vaccine it said would offer better protection against the current variety but that it likely would be impossible to produce enough of it in time.

The outbreak skipped some countries. "There is no flu wave in Switzerland at all," said a medical spokesman at Zurich University. Scandinavian countries were spared. Moscow was well to the east of the spread.

Thai Chutists Jump for Fun-d

SAMUT SONGKRAM, Thailand (AP) — The man with the graying handlebar mustache hit the dusty paddy field with a thump that made the 20,000 Thai spectators gasp with fright.

Seconds later Col. Lewis L. Millett, a 48-year-old World War II veteran and Korean war hero, was on his feet, grasping at the cords of his parachute which continued to blow in the strong crosswind

The crowd relaxed monentarily, until four more white puffs dotted the morning sky. Trailing smoke from cannisters strapped to their ankles, the four plummeted down the 7,500 feet from the Thai Air Force plane.

Three chutes opened. The fourth did not.

CROWD TENSE

"Pop that chute! Pop that chute," Millett yelled as the crowd grew tense.

"Boy that was close," Millett said, as the chute opened at about 900 feet. "He had about five seconds leeway."

The crowd loved it.

It's the same scene every weekend in different towns and cities across Thailand—the Army colonel from Poland, Maine, leading an exuberant group of American and Thai cililian and military parachutists in what many Thais consider the best aid program in Asia.

Call "mitrapab," Thai for friendship, the program doesn't cost the U.S. taxpayer a cent although the parachutists pay with twisted ankles, bruised backs and two with their lives.

Mitrapab began in 1961 when U.S. Army Capt. Richard (Kit) Carson and Thai Lt. Col. Pratib Chaipani were caught in a tropical downpour in the remote village of Ban Yang.

Noticing that the village school's palm leaf roof let in more water than it kept out, the two officers decided to raise funds for a new school.

They organized a series of parachute and sky diving exhibitions, charged spectators about 15 cents, and in six months had enough money for the school.

★ ★ ★

In its eight years, nearly two million Thais have watched "mitrapab" and have contributed $300,000. The money has financed the construction of four-room schools in 50 of Thailand's 71 provinces, and 22 more are being built.

Car Horn Essential to Brazilian Drivers

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — A car horn is as essential to a Brazilian motorist as the gas pedal—and it's used about as often.

Asking a motorist to stop honking is like asking a rooster to stop crowing at dawn or a waterfall to stop roaring.

★ ★ ★

As soon as a traffic light turns red, motorists start honking their horns, as if the noise will force the signal to change back to green. Normal conversation is impossible between 5 and 7 p.m. in apartments and residences at busy intersections.

Many motorists are not content with the power and volume of the factory horns in their cars. They install more powerful ones.

THRIVING BUSINESS

Automotive shops do a thriving business in musical horns which blare out bars of rock music. The more inventive motorists convert cooking gas cylinders into air tanks and use them to operate truck horns in their cars.

Nowhere is the situation worse than in Sao Paulo, the automotive center of Latin America and, with a population of 6.3 million, the most populous city in the western hemisphere after New York.

★ ★ ★

Inching along narrow, cobblestone streets built for the horse and buggy exasperates the most patient of motorists, let alone someone with a penchant for honking.

It's not as if there were no laws governing the use of the horn. Articles 92 through 98 of the National Traffic Code place limitations on honking, but they are seldom, if ever, enforced.

BAN SUGGESTED

Celso Franco, the traffic director in Rio de Janeiro, recently suggested an outright ban on honking in his city.

His idea was immediately termed "absurd" by Rubens Martins, president of the State Traffic Council in Sao Paulo, which rarely accepts any suggestions from its arch rival, Rio.

★ ★ ★

"The horn is an indispensible accessory," Martins said. "Its prohibition will only work in a city where the traffic laws are traditionally observed—and that's not the case in Rio de Janeiro."

UNUSUAL LAMP — This lamp is valued at $100. It is made from an Italian 19th-Century drapery tassel and was displayed at the National Arts and Antiques Festival in New York City.

2 Factors Help Sire Atrocities

By Science Service

On the morning of March 16, 1968, a company of American troops entered the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai 4, known to the GI's as Pinkville. An official army communique described the ensuing events as "a bloody day long battle" resulting in the death of "128 Communists" and the capture of three weapons.

Now, more than a year later, some of the soldiers present describe the action as a massacre involving the deliberate slaughter of as many as 500 unarmed Vietnamese civilians, mostly women and children. The Army has csharged one soldier, 1st Lt. Wiliam Calley Jr., with the "premeditated murder of 109 Oriental human beings," and is investigating at least 25 other soldiers for possible incrimination.

★ ★ ★

The details of what happened at My Lai, and the legal guilt or innocence of the American soldiers involved, will not be decided for some time.

Dr. John Spiegel, a social psychiatrist at Brandeis University, says a mentally average soldier is capable of committing atrocities under the pressure of two factors which occasionally come together in battlefield conditions:

● The "impersonality of the military bureaucracy." Under the military system a soldier is under great pressure to carry out orders mechanically, and the enemy is regarded as an object rather than a person.

★ ★ ★

● A desire for revenge.

When the two are present in sufficient strength, the conditions are set for the perpetration of an atrocity.

LA Smog Imperils Ponderosa Forests

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Twenty years ago, needles on forest giants in mountains east of Los Angeles began turning yellow. Many trees have since died, and hundreds of thousands are dying.

★ ★ ★

The trees, soaring more than 100 feet tall, some more than 700 years old, were Ponderosa pines, among the largest in the woods.

★ ★ ★

Seeds from their six-inch cones feed squirrels, chipmunks, grouse and quail. The lumber builds houses.

★ ★ ★

Ponderosa needles, 5 to 10 inches long and lasting up to seven years on a healthy tree, began mottling at the tip. Then the entire needle turned yellow-brown and fell off after one season. Roots deteriorated as resin flow through the trunk diminished. The trees fell easy prey to bark beetles and other pests.

Foresters at first were baffled. They called the problem X disease and blamed it on some insect. Eventually, however, they tabbed the villain: smog.

The agent that withers the needles is a smog ingredient called ozone.

★ ★ ★

It is created chemically in the atmosphere due to the action of sunlight on auto exhaust, the last uncontrolled major source of smog in Los Angeles. Among ozone's other characteristics is the ability to crack rubber used in tires and windshield wipers.

For the Ponderosa, ozone is a near - death sentence. Unlike most other pines, they have small resistance to it.

NO CONTROL

"We are helpless," says Hatch Graham, resources officer for the U.S. Forest Service. "We have no control over the cause. The only cure is correction of the smog problem."

Prevailing winds carry smog from Los Angeles, 60 miles west, into the 60,000 acres of Ponderosa in the San Bernardino and San Jacinto Mountains, whose peaks jut nearly two miles high.

★ ★ ★

Today, experts estimate that 75 per cent, about 1.7 million trees, are dying.

The Bahama Islands are made up of 3,000 islands, cays and rocks.

Swedish Envoy Busy

Arms Curbs Her Forte

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Mention the name "Myrdal" to any Swede and he'll ask: "Which one, Gunnar or Alva?"

Alva, wife of sociologist Gunnar, is one of the most knowledgeable experts and negotiators on disarmament.

★ ★ ★

At 67 and after several ambassadorial posts, she is Sweden's minister for disarmament.

She talks about "radioactive leakage" or "lachrymatory gases"—that's tear gas—just as some mothers do about the weekly family shopping.

ENGULFED IN JOB

Colleagues say she is so engulfed in all facets of disarmament that she devises new arms control formulas even when busily preparing one of her gourmet dishes or taking a leisurely stroll.

At the United Nations or in Geneva, she smiles best when talks on disarmament take a turn for the better.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Myrdal has been buoyant the last few weeks during the United States-Soviet Union talks in Helsinki on limiting strategic arms.

These talks, she said, hold the future of the entire disarmament movement — disarmament is so intricate and interlocking that only agreement between the two superpowers can provide the impetus for other aspects of disarmament.

'WE'LL CARRY ON'

"If they don't succeed at Helsinki," she said, "nothing else can. If they do, then we will carry on from there."

By success at Helsinki, she means "at least a freeze" to the development of more sophisticated strategic "overkill" weapons.

★ ★ ★

"This," she said of the current talks, "is by far the most important move on which the future of mankind may well hinge."

If signs are hopeful from the secret talks at Helsinki, then Mrs. Myrdal will again plunge to the forefront of weekslong debate in Geneva, where 25 states including Sweden form the disarmament committee.

A BUSY DECADE

Mrs. Myrdal expects the next decade—which U.N. Secretary General U Thant wants designated as "the Disarmament Decade"—to be a busy one.

She proposes an "A-B-C" approach in doing away with weapons.

★ ★ ★

"First," she said, "we can do away with A — the atomic weapons, then the B—biological and bacteriological ones and finally the C — the chemical ones."

In the absence of an upheaval on an international scale or an unexpected coolness in U.S.-Soviet relations she thinks "A" and "B" might be accomplished by the end of the 1970s— "and, perhaps, also the most powerful of the chemical weapons."

HERBICIDES, TOO

She holds that any ban on chemical weapons should include tear gas and herbicides.

As for the growing nuclear potential of Communist China, Mrs. Myrdal—once ambassador to India, Nepal and Ceylon—says Peking can be influenced if the other nations make significant headway on disarmament.

★ ★ ★

"If we stop the arms race," she said, "Peking will be more comfortable and reassured and may curb its present tendencies."

Clubs Make Fun Trips Easy on Wallet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Travel is big business today. And what with Americans enjoying higher incomes and more leisure time, it is growing bigger each year.

Financing a vacation these days should prove no problem. For those short of money, there are go-now, pay-later plans and bank loans. And for those who don't want to borrow or otherwise go into debt, there are special savings accounts and pay-now go-later travel clubs.

The "Christmas Club" plan approach to travel was originated in the United States in 1963 by Philip R. Connor Jr. who founded Club Internationale in Washington, D.C., and discovered a huge untapped market of Americans who wanted to travel without going into hock.

The idea of enforced savings, plus elimination of worries over planning and related problems and other advantages, caught on quickly.

OTHERS SET UP

The market proved so vast that scores of other travel clubs were organized, including Club Continental, the Voyagers and, most recently, the Passport Club.

In addition to the other benefits, travel clubs can offer members substantial dollar savings on transportation, hotels and other expenses by their mass purchasing powers.

Most also offer regular social and educational activities sponsored by local club chapters, including outings, dances, language lessons and parties where members can meet one another.

Generally, these clubs differ in the way they are organized. Some are "savings plan" clubs, others own or have cooperative arrangements with facilities at various destinations, and still others act solely as mass-purchasing agents offering members discounts on package tours.

ANNUAL DUES

Members of the Passport Club, which has its headquarters in New York City, pay annual dues of $30 per person or $45 for a family, including children under 16.

Members have a choice of three different travel plans at $25, $37.50 or $55 per month paid over a three-year period, with a vacation trip at the end of each year.

★ ★ ★

The $25 plan buys eight days in Mexico or the Caribbean or a cruise the first two years, and 15 days in Europe at the end of the third year. The $55 plan pays for two eight-to-ten day vacations, including one in Europe, and 20 days in the Far East or South America.

According to the club, tour packages re all-inclusive and membership also includes free monthly parties, discounts at restaurants, theaters and local retail ahops.

ANOTHER PLAN

Club Internationale members pay annual dues of $30 with a savings plan arrangement of $35 per month for three years. This entitles members to as many as 45 days of vacation, including round-trip transportation, hotel accommodations, most meals, sightseeing, trip escort, welcome parties and other extras.

There is no annual membership fee for the Club Continental, also headquartered in New York. Monthly payments amount to $40 per person, which pays for two 15-day trips to Europe and one eight-day vacation in the Caribbean or Mexico or a cruise during a three-year membership. One year plans also are available at $44 a month for a 15-day European trip.

The Voyagers, founded on Long Island in New Yrok in 1965, requires a one-time registration fee of $45 and members pay $895 a year over three years. This purchases two 10-day trips and one of 14 days, selected from itineraries in Europe, South America, Mexico and the Caribbean.

Particularly popular with younger travelers is the Club Mediterranee, predominantly French in scope but open to Americans and others. Annual membership dues are $10 per family or $6 a person, plus an initial $4 membership fee.

★ ★ ★

It offers package trips to club-operated facilities in Europe, Israel, Africa, Caribbean, South Pacific and elsewhere. Its U.S. headquarters are in New York City.

Scrubbers Lift Veil of Grime From Famous Paris Facades

PARIS (UPI) — If you are planning some sightseeing in Paris be sure to pack some easy walking shoes and a light pair of binoculars.

Some of the best sights of the City of Lights nowadays are way overhead and spread out around town.

★ ★ ★

Art lovers are finding that since culture minister Andre Malraux had the Louvre and Notre Dame Cathedral scrubbed clean of centuries of grime, they are as interesting outside as in.

The facade of Notre Dame is breathtaking. Patient months of work by a small, skilled team armed with soft brushes and cold water have revealed serried ranks of sculptures and traceries of stone which formerly were barely visible under the dirt.

Every foot scanned — reveals a new tribute to the genius of the 12th century builders.

INTRICATE CARVINGS

The story is the same at the Louvre, where literally miles of stone on the walls of the former palace have been cleaned to a glowing pinkish yellow color and the intricate carving of armies of stonemasons has been brought to life.

The Arc de Triomphe at the top of the Champs Elysees is another monument worthy of long and close study for its superb sculptures. Down on the Seine the Alexandre III Bridge has myriad details in its art nouveau ironwork.

There is one whole district of the city which can only be seen effectively on foot — the Marais section which after decades of slump into slums has recently become fashionable.

★ ★ ★

Its elegant town houses are being cleaned and restored to their 18th century beauty. Again much of their charm lies in the details of masonry high on their facades.

The Opera, the Madelaine Church, the Bagatelle in the Bois de Boulogne — the list of musts in Paris is almost endless.

College-Look Penitentiaries Catching On

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Arthur Quetin Davis and his associates first suggested that prisons could be made to look outwardly like college campuses, they ran into official skepticism.

"Rehabilitation is a hard thing to sell to political leaders," said the famous architect. "Prisoners have no vote. They don't go to the country club."

★ ★ ★

But eventually they found an enlightened penal body and their Louisiana State Penitentiary in Angola is a radical departure from the prevailing theory that prisons should be intimidating fortresses whose purpose was in no doubt.

The idea was copied years later but Davis, design coordinator of Curtis and Davis, said the original concept has now been refined for 11 new correctional institutions on which they are working at the moment, in addition to hospitals, schools, libraries, churches, stadiums and hotels in five countries.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

The new prisons with their college-type althletic facilities will owe even less to the gloomy workhouses with which earlier prison architects defaced the landscape and depressed their inmates.

"What you have is the philosophy of incarceration pitted against the idea of rehabilitation," Davis said. "We try to avoid the obvious, such as double rows of bars. The idea is to keep the prisoners in but if it can be done with a decorative screen instead, why not?

★ ★ ★

"All these institutions will be maximum security. We have not lost sight of their purpose for a moment — it is simply that we believe there are better, more modern and progressive ways of achieving this psychologically, as well as architecturally, than using bars."

Davis said there has rarely been a time in history when architects have been able to think more creatively.

In Lake Charles, La., he is building a Catholic church will which have all the communication media avilable for the clergy — visual slides and motion pictures from concealed projectors, audio aides and so on.

INSIDE OUT

In San Francisco and Charleston, S.C. his firm is constructing two hotels from the inside out — to preserve the present historic facades.

The New Orleans Domed Stadium, now in the design stage, will outstrip the Houston Astrodome in size.

He said that, despite the controversy it excited, the award-winning Intermediate School 201 in New York City's Harlem was "architecturally successful."

This school has no windows, a detail intended to concentrate the attention of pupils on their studies and away from the slum streets outside by giving them an "air-conditioned, tranquil and pleasant interior."

★ ★ ★

Like other noted American architects, Davis is carrying the banner of American design overseas with a number of important projects.

These include the recently completed $35-million Berlin Medical Center, one of the most highly automated institutions in the world, and hotels in Beirut, Lisbon, Munich, Hamburg and London.

Auto Victim Dies

LANSING (UPI) — Tammy Lee Bofysil, 11, died at Ingham Medical Hospital here yesterday as a result of injuries she suffered when she was struck by a hit-and-run driver as she crossed a street near her home last Saturday

GIs Complain That Medals Going to Nonearners in Vietnam

By TOM TIEDE

IRON TRIANGLE, South Vietnam (NEA) They gave Shorty Baxter a medal here the other day. But he wasn't overjoyed.

Why?

"Awwww," he says, "all I did was kill a gook."

No special heroics. No awesome feats. Shorty, a 5-feet-4 20 - year - old from Flint, Mich., just increased the number of enemy dead in the war (a reported 565,000 have been killed since 1960) by one.

The soldier was helping search a small village at the time it happened. He was walking along a trail when he saw his victim crouching in a thatch of bamboo. "Shorty" stared with disbelief for a few moments ("It was the first gook I ever saw"). Then fired. Five times.

EARNED AWARD

Says he now:

"It wasn't anything at all. What else could I have done anyway? But everybody made a big thing of it. Our company hadn't had a confirmed kill since May. And, I don't know, maybe that's the real reason they gave me the medal."

* * *

Actually, that wasn't the reason. In his case, Shorty Baxter earned his award (an Army commendation) — not for the kill, but for removing an immediate threat to his unit.

Yet Shorty's wonderment, and his general apathy towards his citation, are rooted in more than just his own case. He feels, as do others here, that so many medals have been given in Vietnam (more than two million) combat awards are losing their meaning.

'LIKE PILLS'

The common talk is this:

"They give them out like pills almost. Thousands every day. Some units are worse than others. All the guys in some units have to do is fire their weapons a lot, jump up and down in the brush, and tear their fatigues before some damn lieutenant will put them in for the Bronze Star."

The GIs aren't complaining, they say, about legitimate awards — of which there has always been a profusion in this grimly fought conflict. Rather, their gripe is that awards are allegedly going to nonearners for an assortment of reasons.

"Take our brigade commander," explains one soldier. "He recently flew over a small battle in a helicopter. The copter took some ground fire hits. He was slightly wounded. And for that, just for that, he was given the Silver Star."

Some soldiers think officers buddy - up, recommending (and often getting) decorations for each other. Some think that unit commanders, trying to further their careers, overstock their men with awards to gloss their leadership image.

Some men even suggest the entire military is using handout citations in an effort to reinflate sagging troop war interest.

* * *

But whatever their reasoning or its validity, GIs are resentful.

One sergeant grumps, "Political awards take the value away from the real ones. And nobody ever really knows any more if a guy deserves his medal or not."

The Military Assistance Command in Vietnam says all of this criticism is groundless. Officers report 319,978 medals were given during the first six months of 1969 — "and our feeling is all of them were deserved."

Such high - level assurance, though, still fails to wipe away GI doubts. The credibility of many citations remains challenged.

As Shorty Baxter puts it:

"Maybe I earned my medal. I don't know. But if I'm really a hero, why don't they just ship me home to show me off?"

BATTLE-HARDENED — This 14-year-old boy recently served as a sniper for the Vietcong. Now he fights for South Vietnam. He was one of a VC company to defect to government forces.

7 Yanks Killed in Viet War

Court Splits Trees, Land

LANING (UPI) A piece of property and the Christmas trees grown on it may legally be sold to two separate buyers, the state court of Appeals ruled Wednesday.

The case arose in Ottawa County where a growing crop of Christmas trees was sold to one buyer in 1965 and the land itself sold to another buyer a year later.

My Lai Investigator Profiled

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON — The three-star general scrutinizing the original Army investigation of the reported American troop massacre of civilians of My Lai, Vietnam, is a cigar chomping, boxer-nosed officer known among his colleagues as a "hard charger."

Lt. Gen. William R. Peers didn't particularly relish getting the sensitive task of orchestrating what amounts to an Army soul-searching.

★ ★ ★

"But his aplomb was not shattered noticeably," said one officer who was around when the 55-year-old general received word he had volunteered for the job. "He growled just a little bit."

★ ★ ★

From all accounts, the graying general sees the investigation, one of the most touchy he has ever handled, as a major career.

Peers has been charged in Pentagon language to evaluate the "nature and scope" of the initial, low-echelon investigation conducted in March 1968 just after the hamlet was raided.

That on-the-spot investigation from all indications consisted primarily of questioning soldiers assigned to Capt. Ernest Medina's company, the unit involved in the alleged massacre.

The My Lai report, forwarded by the 11th Infantry Brigade to the Americal Division, concluded that no massacre had occurred and no soldier needed disciplining.

Whether the report was thorough enough and why it was not forwarded beyond the Americal Division are key questions confronting Peers.

SYSTEM WORKS

Pentagon sources say that after a week of hearing testimony from various witnesses, Peers has decided the Army system for reporting atrocities works—when it is used.

"I believe he thinks one or possibly two guys blew it," one officer said, meaning they failed to submit the My Lai report to higher channels.

Officers and enlisted men alike are enjoined by the military command in Saigon's directive to report any atrocity or incident thought to be a war crime to their superiors.

A varied military career with considerable experiences in intelligence and espionage work may help the general in his role as a fact-finder.

BORN IN IOWA

He was born in Stuart, Iowa, June 14, 1914, but grew up in Southern California, attending UCLA.

Four years after receiving his Army commission, Peers in May 1942 became responsible for planning and coordinating guerrilla operations, espionage, sabotage and other clandestine operations in northern Burma.

★ ★ ★

With the end of World War II, Peers organized and sent U.S. teams to several Japanese prisoner of war camps in China and Korea and subsequently led a Chinese commando unit in the occupation of Manking.

Returning to the States, Peers held intelligence assignments, winding up in 1949 in charge of all training in the Central Intelligence Agency.

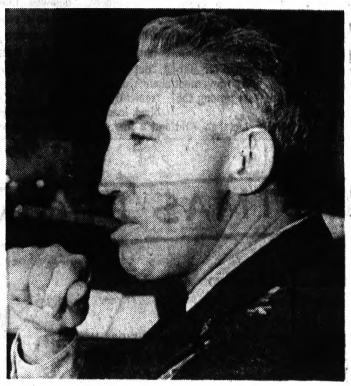

STINT IN VIET

In 1964, after several years in France and Germany, Peers became special assistant to the chief of staff for special warfare activities.

Three years later he went to Vietnam as commanding general of the 4th Infantry Division, later to become commanding general of Field Force I.

★ ★ ★

Peers ended a 27-month stint in Vietnam when he was named chief of the Army's Office of Reserve Components in the Pentagon last March, a post he still holds.

Phone Service to Thumb Slowed

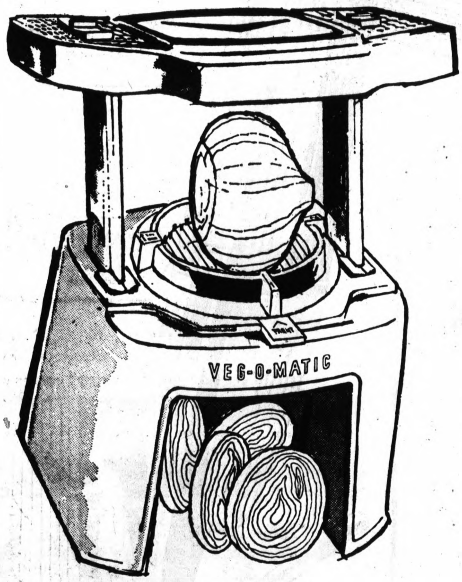

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — Telephone service to some 70,000 customers in the Port Huron-Mount Clemens area was hampered yesterday when a construction crew accidentally sliced through a cable in Roseville, Michigan Bell said.

★ ★ ★

The company said calls to those areas from Detroit were delayed because they had to be rerouted through other cables, thus greatly increasing the flow of calls on those cables.

Challenge to Established Governments Growing in Caribbean

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — A challenge to established governments is building up in the Caribbean. It is aimed at righting what it considers an economic imbalance under which some have prospered but many have not.

Although it is popularly labeled a Black Power movement, even by some who belong to it, it seems more correct to interpret it as a new turn in the decades-old nationalist movements which led to independence for most of the former British colonies less than 10 years ago.

* * *

The visitor to the Caribbean becomes aware of the movement in many ways. In St. Vincent, its members march as a group in an independence day parade. In Jamaica, a young man in with an Afro-hair style hisses "uncle" at a Negro in a bausiness suit walking with white acquaintance. And the Jamaica government bans two Guyanese university professors who are active in the movement.

It is in different stages of organization. The Afro-Caribbean movement in Antigua considers its role as chiefly one of education to make islanders aware of their Caribbean and African heritage. In Trinidad, the movement is expected to organize an opposition political party. The movement has decided in most places it cannot accomplish its aims through existing political parties.

DRAWS INTELLECTUALS

It is apparent the movement commands the loyalties mostly of intellectual and student elements from college campuses, or young members of the intellectual elite who were educated aabroad, in Canada, the United States or England.

The movement is virtually unanimous in opposing the high degree of foreign control over economies in the different countries, a situation which has also caused such established leaders as Prime Minister Eric Williams of Trinidad to speak out.

Its leaders are unhappy over the growing tourist industry in the Caribbean. Many recognize tourists importance to the local economies. But they feel this puts the black man, as a waiter, clerk or maid, in a position of waiting on the white man, the tourist. It reminds them too much of colonialism.

In separate interviews, a white banker in Trinidad and a balck faculty member at the University of the West Indies in Jamaica came to approximately the same conclusions about the role of foreign industry in local economies.

INDUSTRY RULES

The banker, who chose to speak anonymously, remarked that for all the effort of Prime Minister Williams to gain greater control over Trinidad's petroleum-based economy, "a decision by the board of directors of Texaco has far more importance for Trinidad than anything the government can decide."

Trevor Munroe, Oxford-educated lecturer in government at the university, remarked that "Hugh Shearer, Forbes Burnham and Eric Williams together don't have the power of an Alcan or Alcoa," a reference to the bauxite and aluminum industry in Jamaica.

* * *

Shearer is prime minister of Jamaica, and Burnham is prime minister of Guyana.

Munroe, who sympathizes with the movement, said it objects to foreigners exploiting and depleting natural resources such as oil or bauxite, and taking the wealth out of the country, while unemployment and poverty continue as major problems.

UNEMPLOYMENT HIGH

Unemployment in Trinidad is at about 14 per cent. It is estimated at 15 to 20 per cent in Jamaica where the government does not have an official figure.

In a recent report for the Jamaican Chamber of Commerce, George Doxey of York University of Toronto, said Jamaica's manpower problems "appear to be growing more serious, and pose a threat to the economic and social stability of the country."

A serious crime wave in Jamaica is blamed on unemployment. Jamaica and Antigua have experienced rioting at least partly blamed on unemployment social unrest.

* * *

Reducing unemployment has been made a major goal of the Williams government in Trinidad and the Shearer government in Jamaica.

Munroe notes, however, that most new industries require heavy dollar investment operations but provide comparatively few jobs.

Munroe said the movement is becoming organized within individual islands, with little organization linking the islands. However, a Black Power conference was held this year in Bermuda, and another 15 planned for Barbados, where the movement seems to be weakest among the major islands.

The university lecturer said the movement "believes that after four centuries black people should control their society, because they made it; they built it, but never have had the chance of controlling it."

Ironically, most of today's black leaders in the Caribbean and a few of yesterday's came to power on much the same philosophy- that the black man, descendant of the slave, should be master of his own destiny.

Munroe said the movement does not subscribe to any particular political philosophy, nor does it take Fidel Castro's Cuba as a model, although Munroe said it "appreciates there is no unemployment in Cuba today."

* * *

There are no easy solutions in these basically poor islands. It remains to be determined whether existing governments the movement from becoming a threat to them.

Loser and Wife Thank the Voters

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — There was a division of opinion in the Walt Christensen family following the recent city council election here.

An advertisement in the local paper read: "Walt Christensen thanks each of the voters who cast a ballot for him. His wife thanks each of you who didn't."

Christensen lost in the election.

Tiny Mexican Town Now Booming, Thanks to Liz and Dick

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (UPI) — Six years ago Puerto Vallarta was just a small, virtually unknown Mexican fishing village drowsing in the sun as waves rolled in from the Pacific. It was on no tourist routes.

Today all that's changed, thanks to Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton.

★ ★ ★

When Burton came to the village to work on the movie, "The Night of the Iguana," Miss Taylor followed him here from Rome to continue the celebrated romance they had begun while making "Cleopatra" — and while the actress still was legally Mrs. Eddie Fisher.

With the lovers came battalions of reporters and photographers, and Puerto Vallarta never has been the same since.

HONORED CITIZENS

When Mr. and Mrs. Burton, now long wed, returned this spring to their $60,000, three-story villa, "Kimberly" overlooking the Pacific, they were met at the airport by a representative of the state governor.

He solemnly presented them with a scroll making them distinguished citizens of Puerto Vallarta and favorite sons of the state of Jalisco, for "the benefits your presence here has brought the town."

★ ★ ★

Six airlines now run some 60 flights loaded with tourists into Puerto Vallarta every month. Another 600 private planes land here every month. The tourist spending hits $40,000 a day during the peak of the season.

With only air traffic to haul the load, tourist income has been rising by 15 per cent per year, but the state expects to finish a paved highway to Puerto Vallarta soon, and the present tourist flow of 150,000 per year is expected to double then.

HOTEL BOOM

Hotel construction has added 700 rooms to the town's supply since the Burtons arrived, to reach 1,100, but that's only the start. There's $17 million in hotel construction either under way or on the drawing boards, expected to add another 1,000 rooms by next year.

Altogether, the state government and private investors, including the Hilton and Western Hotel chains from the United States, are investing $64 million in Puerto Vallarta, according to Gov. Francisco Medina.

★ ★ ★

Town officials credit the Burtons with the windfall. "The vaudeville they starred in made people sit up and take notice of us" according to Ruben Miller, vice chairman of the festival committee set up to celebrate Puerto Vallarta's new status as a city.

As for the Burtons, they like the quiet life they find here. Except for a few American tourists taking snapshots, they can wander the streets, or drop in for a drink at the Oceano Bar, without causing much fuss.

Reporters and photographers are scarce. They have no telephone at "Kimberly."

Their house is located in an area favored by wealthy Americans, dubbed "Gringo Gulch" by the natives. Its most outstanding feature is an Italian-style bridge that spans a city street to connect the main house with a guest house. The residents call it "The Bridge of Sighs," for the local boys who gather beneath it to patiently await the sight of Elizabeth crossing to the guest house in tight white slacks.

The only noise these days is the occasional braying of the Burtons' pet burro, Tommy and the splashing in the swimming pool. Neighbors say Burton is a heavy reader. They can see him seated by a light in the living room with a book long after midnight most nights.

USS Missouri Is N-Shelter

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The battleship Missouri, on which the Japanese surrender documents were signed, has been designated a public nuclear blast fallout shelter.

The Missouri, which can accommodate 2,200 persons, has been stocked with medical and sanitary supplies, food, water and radiological monitoring instruments. The Navy cooperated with state Civil Defense officials in the project.

★ ★ ★

When the Missouri was mothballed here, former President Harry Truman complained about locating her "in a closet." Contacted about her latest duty, he wrote expressing "hope that the USS Missouri may never be called upon to be so used."

U-M Prof Sees Healthy Economy

DETROIT (UPI) — Economic growth in the 1970s is likely to equal that of the current decade, a University of Michigan economist says.

Prof. J. Philip Wernette, editor of the Michigan Business Review and faculty member at the UM, predicted at the 27th Electric Furnace Conference last night that, "We are definitely headed for a trillion-dollar economy — and soon," he said.

By Political, Economic Crises

Ghana Democracy Periled

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Ghana's venture into democracy shows promise, but looming political and financial crises threaten to divert its path.

Riding on Ghana's experience are the hopes of a handful of West African nations, including Nigeria, where soldiers in power have promised what only those in Ghana have done: restore civilian rule after fair elections.

★ ★ ★

A Supreme Court ruling has unseated Komla A. Gbedemah, leader of the opposition National Alliance of Liberals which took a thumping in the Aug. 29 elections.

The decision, piled onto earlier moves against the alliance, leaves the opposition virtually powerless, with only the free-swinging party paper Evening Standard to make swipes from the wings.

GENERAL'S POWER

Brig. A.A. Afrifa, the 33-year-old general who presided over the civilians' return, is still around but in the background. There seems little doubt his power exceeds his largely figurehead post of chairman of the Presidential Commission. His secondary role to Prime Minister Kofi A. Busia depends, most agree, on him.

★ ★ ★

Whoever commands, the government is toe to toe with what is described as the world's biggest per capita debt. The nation of eight million owes roughly $1 billion in debts left by Kwame Nkrumah, deposed in 1966.

★ ★ ★

Nkrumah's legacy fills pages, from a towering—and empty—$22.4-million conference center to dozens of nonpaying state corporations.

In the port of Tema, 11 Soviet fishing trawlers float fully equipped and abandoned. The engines have frozen and rust has won out — a 12th has already sunk, showing its hull.

CREDITORS MEETING

It's a small part of the debt, but a visible one. Like the debts, the boats are just there, and no one knows what to do about them.

Britain and the other major creditors have agreed to meet to decide on new debt arrangements. Ghana wants a rescheduling. The alternative is partial or total repudiation, dangerous to the credit rating.

★ ★ ★

Ghana's new government is having difficulties because, as one diplomat observed, "They have yet to grasp the problems at the highest level." Cabinet ministers are largely inexperienced in their posts.

There has already been one embarrassing misunderstanding. The prime minister told a news conference on a Friday he wanted to open up a bit with South Africa. The next working day, Foreign Minister Victor Owusu called in reporters to clarify the stand. He blasted South Africa.

MARKED CHANGE

In general, Accra and the hinterlands have loosened up. Visitors note a marked change from Nkrumah's tight hold and the security - conscious National Liberation Council that replaced him.

Politically, things depend on whether the opposition can strengthen in time. Gbedemah's lost seat came as Busia's Progress party held a 105-29 edge over the alliance in Parliament. Gbedemah, once Nkrumah's finance minister, was disqualified because his assets were put in question by a commission of inquiry and the new constitution forbids such defendants from holding office for five years.

★ ★ ★

The army, mainly Afrifa, must continue to keep inside the lines they drew themselves.

ITA Reading Plan Spelled Out as Only a Medium for Learning

By FREDERICK H. TREESH
United Press International

About 10 per cent of America's school systems are teaching children to read by using a 44-character alphabet.

Many adults who have heard of this or whose children being taught by the Initial Teaching Alphabet (ITA) become hostile and defensive of the traditional 26-letter approach that they learned by.

★ ★ ★

Their principal hang-up is that they believe 6-year-olds will be hopelessly confused when they learn a 44-character alphabet and then, in a year or less, have to unlearn it, reverting back to conventional English spelling.

"This is absolute nonsense," says Sir James Pitman, the Briton who devised ITA. "What people don't realize," he said, "is that, without ITA, schools are teaching three alphabets at once (printed capital letters, lower case printed letters and script)."

SOUNDING AT OUT

Further, he points out, children learning to read the conventional way must learn that individual letters may represent several different sounds. Examples: A as in as, A as in cake, A as in awful and A as in about—four sounds for the same letter. That, he believes, really confuses children.

The principal of ITA is that it has separate characters for 44 different basic sounds of English. Twenty-four are borrowed directly from English (there is no Q or X), 14 resemble combinations of familiar letters, and six are peculiar to ITA. Children learn to write and spell in this strange alphabet at first.

"What we do is to supply a child with something visual to represent his sounds," Pitman said.

The result is that youngsters learn to read faster in the new alphabet and then apparently have little difficulty making the conversion to the traditional alphabet.

ANCESTOR STARTED IT

"More than half make the transition by the end of the first grade," said Pitman, whose grandfather, the inventor of the Pitman shorthand method, first tinkered with a new teaching alphabet in 1843.

"Some make the conversion by midyear — January or February. The speed of conversion relates to a child's eventual "linguistic adequacy"—his ability to express himself — not his innate intelligence, the British scholar said.

★ ★ ★

Pitman said he is "very sincere" when he says he intends ITA only as a medium for learning to read—not something to eventually replace conventional English.

Letter Sent to Actor Is Royal Fake

LONDON (UPI) — American actor Anthony Roberts felt rather honored when, on opening night, he received a best wishes letter written on Buckingham Palace stationery and signed "Princess Margaret."

Buckingham Palace was less than pleased, and that's what put John Paul, 29-year-old owner of a chain of London shops, out of the "palace letterhead" stationery business.

★ ★ ★

It started when Paul conceived the idea as a tourist gimmick. He had never seen any Buckingham Palace stationery, so he invented his own design and sold it at 78 cents for five sheets and five envelopes.

"What happened was that I got carried away when I was designing it, and decided it had to look the real thing," said Paul. "It was on luxury paper and was crested and embossed."

WEST-END PRODUCTION

Enter Anthony Roberts, 30-year-old actor, on opening night of the west-end production "Promises, Promises"—and the letter which read:

"Welcome to England. Good luck on your opening night and I hope I shall have a chance to see the show myself. Until then, warmest regards."

It was signed "H.R.H. Princess Margaret."

Roberts said he was "quite honored" until a pal told him the princess never signed her name that way.

PRINCESS SEES LETTER

Another friend saw the letter on his dressing room wall, said Roberts, and took it to Princess Margaret.

"I understand she was quite upset about it, and shocked," said the actor.

Buckingham Palace got into the act. A palace spokesman said, "One or two examples of this paper had come to our notice and the police pointed out to the management of the shop that the paper could be misused."

Roberts said he later had dinner with Princess Margaret and that she treated the matter "laughingly."

Paul never met the princess, but he took the police hint—no more "Buckingham Palace" letterheads.

Instead, he is putting out stationery bearing the letterhead "Dartmoor Prison."

"So far, no one there has complained," he said.

Each Dropout From College Has a Separate, Personal Reason

By MARY ELLEN RIDDLE

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For each thousand students who leave college before graduation, there are a thousand reasons why they did.

"I can't pinpoint any specific reasons," said G.M. Koehl, assistant dean of the Columbian College of George Washington University, who is also a student counselor.

* * *

Dean Koehl said the reasons do fall into categories — financial problems, marriage, illness, academic failure—but he added:

"The reasons are personal. Everyone has his own."

Less than half of the undergraduates who enroll in a college or university will graduate from the institution, according to Frederick Houser, of the registrar's office at GWU.

FEW GRADUATE

But Houser quickly explains that most of those who leave the school where they began their studies do not really drop out.

* * *

"They leave to earn enough money to return for another semester," he said. "Or they transfer to another university. Others take jobs and stay in school as part-time students."

Houser estimates only about 50 per cent of the students who enter school graduate in the allotted four years — or even in four years and one summer.

EVEN 10 YEARS

"These students probably left school for a time," he said, "but they did not drop out. A lot of them will finish in five, eight or even 10 years."

A few students leave school because they have not fulfilled the requirements for staying there. They flunk out.

* * *

Some students accuse the colleges of planning to fail a certain percentage of the freshman class. They say this happens especially at large state institutions where state law requires the college to accept applicants who would probably have been rejected by other schools.

Such plotting is usually denied by university officials, but students say they have seen grade records which show that between one-third and one-half of the students enrolled in required freshman courses such as English composition or humanities and science surveys receive unsatisfactory grades.

LOW GRADES

Sometimes students who do not fail because of what they call the "flunk-out classes" are discouraged because of low grades in these courses.

"I felt I couldn't make it through school if I couldn't make above a D-plus average during my freshman years," one student said after leaving the university at the end of his first year. "I found out later that it was more difficult to get a decent grade in those classes than in most upperclassman level courses."

* * *

Women students often leave college to get married. Although they may intend to return to school after they've gotten used to being married, the pressure of having a family to care for or working to allow the husband to finish school can frustrate those intentions.

With one year left before graduation, one girl married and went with her new husband to another college where he had taken a teaching assignment. She enrolled in several classes, intending to finish the course work for her bachelor's degree.

NEVER STUDIED

"She flunked the brilliant way," her husband said, a little proudly. "She never went to class, never studied. I would have been disappointed if she had tried and failed."

She says she probably won't ever receive her degree now because she is expecting her first baby in six months.

"The reasons for dropping out of school haven't changed much in the 30 years I have been counseling students," Koehl said.

The only difference is one Koehl doesn't think is an important one.

"Of those who leave because of illness, some get sick because of the abuse of drugs. That didn't happen 30 years ago. But it doesn't happen that often now."

Current Books

JERRY KRAMER'S FAREWELL TO FOOTBALL. Edited by Dick Schaap. World. $5.95.

"Instant Replay," Kramer's account of the Green Bay Packers' championship season in 1967, was one of the most popular sports books in recent years, and deservedly so.

It was in the form of a diary recorded as the season progressed.

* * *

The present book is not a diary. It is keyed to a full-length discussion of how Kramer came to retire after 11 years in pro football.

It includes material on his boyhood and his college days, and his years with the Packers. One chapter is about the disastrous 1968 season.

* * *

The author is quite frank in evaluating his own career, self-confident rather than boastful, and gives some explicit details about his off-the-field commercial interests.

This is behind the scenes, gusty fare for football buffs.

Miles A. Smith (AP)

SEX, MAN & SOCIETY, By Ashley Montague. (Putnam, $6.95)

Through history, man as a sexual animal has reproduced himself successfully, sometimes without understanding the process.

In this book the author, a distinguished anthropologist, details the gradual enlightenment of man on the place of sex in society.

* * *

Historically, he points out, society, by repressing sex, has stimulated interest in it out of proportion to its biological or psychological importance.

Montague ranks the Pill as a major innovation in man's history. We now can "begin the rehumanization of man at the very foundations," he believes.

* * *

Parents must be educated to the job of teaching their children, including sex education. Too many people, he contends, are "victims of an insane conspiracy of silence and confusion (about sex) which serves to rob them of equilibrium and happiness."

ORIENT EXPRESS, by Garry Hogg (Walker, $4.50)

The Orient Express was the most famous passenger train in history. For 79 years the crack Paris-to-Constantinople service somehow conquered a nightmare of natural disasters and shifting national borders.

It became the setting for tales of international intrigue and the antics of the emperors, millionaires, adventuresses and playboys — the pre-Jet Set — who rode it.

* * *

Garry Hogg's short history offers an excellent view of what it took to operate a 2,000-mile rail link, keep it on schedule and maintain impeccable and imperturbable service.

Despite general belief, the inaugural trip in 1833 didn't run all the way to Turkey, but stopped in the middle of nowhere, Romania.

* * *

The uninformed and illustrious freeloaders had to complete the run by rowboat, rickety railroad and steamer.

The Orient Express died in 1963, but not from lack of quality. It took the Cold War and the airliner to kill it.

Oakland Quarterback Named AFL's Most Valuable Player

OAKLAND (AP) — On the morning of the day that Daryle Lamonica led the Oakland Raiders to victory over the Cincinnati Bengals, a nurse came into his hospital room and said, "You may not even get out of here today."

Lamonica grinned through the pain and said, "My first touchdown pass will be for you."

★ ★ ★

The Raider quarterback threw enough touchdown passes for three nurses last Sunday in a performance typical of the one that has led him to the threshhold of pro football's touchdown pass record and to his selection as the American Football League's Player of the Year.

Typical, too, were the injuries that hindered him that day — Muscle spasms in his back and some vertebrae that had been knocked out of whack the previous week against the New York Jets.

HOSPITALIZED

Only once this year, in that game against New York when he threw for three touchdowns and 333 yards, has Lamonica been completely healthy going into a game. Twice, he has spent the night before a game in a hospital.

"It's been one of those years for me," Lamonica said today when he was told of the award. "Just fighting injuries, I didn't think I had a shot at it. It's kind of a total shock. It's one of the highest honors you can get, a tremendous honor."

The 28-year-old former Notre Dame star also won the award in 1967 when he led the Raiders to the Super Bow, a game Oakland hopes to be in once more this season.

★ ★ ★

The injuries began just before the first exhibition game when Lamonica jammed his wrist and thumb.

"They thought I had a hairline fracture," Lamonica said. "Luckily, it was just some ligaments."

PULLED MUSCLE

Then came a pulled hamstring in another exhibition game. No sooner had Lamonica gotten over that than he stretched some ligaments in his knee in the regular season opener against Houston.

They taped it up and sent him in against Miami in the Raiders' second game. So he tore a little muscle in his left shoulder, which made throwing painful.

★ ★ ★

Then there were some bruised ribs and, the night before a game at San Diego, Lamonica came down with a beautiful case of the flu. Off to the hospital he went for the night. Then climbed out of bed long enough to pass the Chargers into submission.

"The New York game was the only one where I felt like a football player," said Lamonica.

"You've got to play when you're hurt, but it just seemed like this year was a year I could never get healthy."

THREE MORE

Lamonica has thrown 33 touchdown passes this season. He needs just three more to tie the pro record of 36 held jointly by George Blanda, now his teammate, and Y.A. Tittle.

He has one regular-season game in which to gun for the record, an encounter with the Kansas City Chiefs here Saturday that will decide the AFL's Western Division championship.

★ ★ ★

Part of Lamonica's success, he said, must be attributed to two of the finest wide receivers in the league: Warren Wells and Fred Biletnikoff. Wells has snared 14 scoring passes and Biletnikoff has caught 12.

"They really open the passing game up," Lamonica said. "The other teams can't double up on both of them."

Duke Pulls Away in Second Half for 73-68 Win

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan has lost three of its first five games but hustle and teamwork have turned the Wolverines into a much tougher team than most experts had predicted.

The Wolverines, who upset previously eighth-ranked Marquette Monday 86-78, found Duke's zone defense tough to penetrate and fell 73-68 to the Blue Devils Wednesday night.

But Michigan put up a good battle, leading by 11 points early in the second half before 6-foot-10 junior Randy Denton took charge. He put Duke ahead 58-57 with 6:17 left with his oft-used hook shot and the Blue Devils stayed on top the rest of the way.

Denton was high scorer for both teams, pumping in 27 points. U-M ace Rudy Tomjanovich, who had a 28-point average at gametime, and Richard "Bird" Carter both had 20 for the Wolverines.

"Everybody thought they (most opponents) would romp over us this year," said U-M coach Johnny Orr. "Nobody's done that."

Michigan beat the University of Detroit 85-75 in the season opener, then fell by one point to Notre Dame 87-86, and by six to Davidson 91-85. Notre Dame is rated 10th and Davidson fourth by the Associated Press.

One of the reasons the Wolves have done so well under the circumstances is their superb physical condition.

Monday Marquette coach Al McGuire said, "Michigan is in great condition."

Wednesday Duke coach Bucky Waters added to that praise.

"Michigan shouldn't get time outs, they should get pit stops," he quipped. "We were getting cold on the bench from the breeze with the way they (U-M players) were running back and forth."

"They've played real well and I'm proud of them," Orr said.

"I'm looking forward to Jan. 3. That's when our Big Ten season opens (at Northwestern)," he said.

NARROWED GAP

Duke led virtually the entire first half, but U-M slowly narrowed what had been a sevenpoint deficit to go to the locker room tied 32-32 at halftime.

The Wolverines surged back at the start of the second half, flying to an 11-point lead in the first six minutes primarily on the fine outside shooting of substitute guard Rick Bloodworth.

But Michigan hit a cold spell, getting just five points in the next five minutes. Duke playmaker Dick DeVenzio, a 5-foot-10 junir guard, set up several plays with his fine ballhandling and let Denton keep hooking in baskets.

DeVenzio, who finished with 15 points, got six of the last eight Duke points as the Blue Devils held out to win. Teammate Rick Katherman tallied 16 points while for Michigan, Bloodworth popped in 12 and Rodney Ford added 11.

Tomjanovich's first basket of the night gave the 6-foot-7 senior 1,200 career points, putting him in an elite group with four others who have scored as much.

Paul Brown Top Mentor

NEW YORK (AP) — Venerable Paul Brown, whose precocious Cincinnati Bengals became giant killers while still in the cradle, has been named the American Football League's Coach of the Year.

The 61-year-old sultan of the old Cleveland Browns dynasty, who came out of retirement last year to father Cincinnati's AFL expansion club, beat out Oakland's John Madden, Kansas City's Hank Stram and Boston's Clive Rush in the annual Coach of the Year poll conducted by The Associated Press.

★ ★ ★

Brown, marking his 35th year as a coach with stunning victories over Oakland and Kansas City, the league's juggernauts, received 12 votes, to nine for runnerup Madden, first-year pilot of the powerful Raiders.

Stram, who won the award last season, drew six votes and Rush, another freshman head coach, got the remaining three in the balloting of a committee of sports writers and sportscasters—three from each AFL city.

Brown's 1968 Bengals, a collection of expansion draft castaways and untried rookies, won three games—matching the best previous first-year finish for an expansion team.

BORDERLINERS GONE

This year, with only seven of the 40 borderline players from the expansion draft still on their roster, the Bengals equalled last season's victory total in their first three starts, knocking off Miami, San Diego and Kansas City behind the hot passing hand of rookie Greg Cook.

An arm injury shelved Cook the following week, however, and Cincinnati lost four straight before the 6-foot-4 signal-caller returned to engineer a 31-17 coup against the Raiders. Although the Bengals have not won since then, their early maturity in the tough Western Division has been testimony to Brown's coaching skills.

★ ★ ★

"We went primarily with young players last year and we'll continue to do the same this season," he had promised at the outset. "We're building, and we won't mortgage our future in any way."

The Bengals' inexperience—particularly on the offensive and defensive lines—has hurt them. But the youth movement has also helped speed the development of several sure stars of the future—including Cook, rookie linebacker Bill Bergey, defensive tackle Bill Staley, tight end Bob Trumpy and running backs Jess Phillips and Paul Robinson.

Bruins Downed, 5-2

Ranger Fans Chant: 'We're No. 1'

NEW YORK (AP) — The chant started moments after Jean Ratelle's second goal of the game had wrapped up the New York Rangers' 5-2 National Hockey League victory over the Boston Bruins Wednesday night.

"We're number one!" the crowd of 17,250 screamed, "we're number one!"

★ ★ ★

Ratelle and the rest of the Rangers, who are indeed number one in the NHL's East Division, heard the chant and it was music to their ears.

"When they're yelling like that," said Ratelle, "I feel the same way inside. We're number one. We can beat anybody in this league."

UNBEATEN STREAK

The Rangers have proven that with a 14-game unbeaten streak that has vaulted them four points in front of Montreal and six points up on the Bruins in the East race.

The Canadiens kept pace Wednesday, rallying for four third period goals to beat Toronto 6-3. Minnesota outscored Chicago 8-5, Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 2-0 and St. Louis tied Oakland 3-3 in other games.

★ ★ ★

During the streak, the Rangers have picked up an increasing amount of momentum. Things continually go their way.

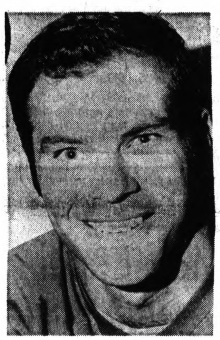

"We've got the confidence," explained Ratelle. "We feel we can win every game."

It looked, for a while at least, that they might not be able to keep it up against the boisterous Bruins. Boston scored first on a power play goal by John Bucyk. That one was balanced by Walt Tkavzuk's 12th of the year and then Ratelle scored a disputed goal midway through the second period with the Bruins claiming he had kicked the puck into the net.

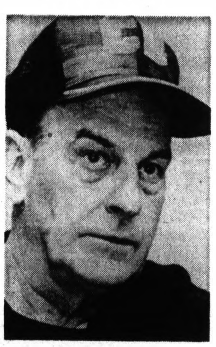

BIG PLAY

Bobby Orr tied it again with a spectacular individual effort, stealing the puck, passing it to Phil Esposito and then taking the return pass for his eighth goal of the year. It came with the Rangers enjoying a manpower edge and could have sunk New York except for what happened next.

Wolverines Go Back to Work

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's football team has had three weeks to bask in the glory of its 24-12 upset of Ohio State, but now it has some catching up to do if it expects to bask in some more glory with a Rose Bowl victory.

The Wolverines opened a fourday, full-equipment practice schedule Wednesday at Michigan Stadium.

★ ★ ★

"We're just trying to get back what we lost during that layoff," said coach Bo Schembechler.

"I really don't know how much we've lost," he added. "This is the first bowl game I've ever been in. But I know this: Every player gained about five pounds during the past couple weeks and we're going to have to work that off."

★ ★ ★

Michigan faces Southern California in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1. The Wolverines leave for Pasadena Dec. 18 and will finish their workouts there. They only have four practice days at Ann Arbor due to a rule limiting full dress workouts to 16 before the bowl.

FINAL EXAMS

Final exams begin Monday so no practices can be held from then until after U-M arrives in California.

Wednesday the team worked considerably on its passing game, something that Schembechler relied on only sporadically during the season. Basically, he's a "three yards and a cloud of dust" type coach who utilizes a strong running game.

★ ★ ★

Saturday's final practice is expected to be the toughest of the four and it's possible there will be a scrimmage.

Ammunition for Brundage

U.S. Ski Team in TV Squabble

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — The troubled sport of Alpine skiing ran into more stormy weather this week as a row between the United States teams and one of the nation's major television networks over payments erupted into the open.

★ ★ ★

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, is leading a movement to ban Alpine skiing from the Olympic Games on the grounds that it is too commercialized. The U.S. cash dispute looks like it may give him some useful ammunition.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Ski Association has reportedly demanded $65,000 from ABC Television for the rights to film the American squads in this season's European races. Otherwise, it will consider withdrawing the teams from the European circuit.

ABC has offered $15,000, which it claims is a voluntary donation because it has already paid substantial sums to the European race sponsors and need not pay double rights to the U.S. association.

Donald Henderson, head men's coach of the American teams, said television fees totaled $135,000 last season and are the mainstay of the nation's Alpine ski program.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Bob Beattie, former U.S. coach and now an ABC consultant, said this figure resulted in special programs made in conjuncture with major American industrial corporations and cannot be compared with this season's project.

A ruling of the International Ski Federation says a TV network must consult the national ski association involved if it wants to shoot a particular team during races.

★ ★ ★

Beattie said he was given a ruling by Marc Hodler, Swiss head of the international body, that the network did not have to make an extra payment to the U.S. association.

Sweetan to Start for LA Rams

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Karl Sweetan will start his first game of the National Football League season for the Los Angeles Rams against the Detroit Lions at Detroit Sunday, coach George Allen has disclosed.

"We'll start Karl and play it by ear from there," Allen said Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Sweetan, an ex-Lion, has been used sparingly in his first season with the Rams. In fact, he has thrown only five passes, completing two of them for 73 yards and one touchdown.

Los Angeles obtained him as a backup quarterback for Roman Gabriel from New Orleans in an offseason trade for two draft choices.

Allen is resting Gabriel and giving Sweetan some game experience since the Rams' chance for an unbeaten season ended Sunday with a 20-13 loss to the Minnesota Vikings. The Rams already have won the coastal division title.

Judge Dismisses Suit Filed by Ex-Umpires

NEW YORK (AP)—Judge Thomas F. Croake of Manhattan Federal Court dismissed Wednesday the damage suit against professional baseball brought by Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, two former American League umpires.

Judge Croake found that his court lacked jurisdiction in the case, citing a series of U.S. Supreme Court decisions beginning in 1922 when professional baseball was exempted from anti - trust laws.

Salerno and Valentine, both dismissed late in the 1968 season, had filed suit on Sept. 23 claiming "unlawful dismissal and boycott" as part of a "conspiracy."

Western Michigan Runs Into Ambush Against Titan Five

Detroit (AP) — The University of Detroit overcame a seven-point deficit to win its first basketball victory of the season Wednesday night in ousting Western Michigan, 82-71.

Detroit trailed by seven points with 3:23 left, but trailed at intermission by only one, 40-39.

The Titans forged into the lead for the first time with 8:35 left on a jumper by senior forward Larry Moore.

Detroit took a 66-60 lead with 7:10 left but Western Michigan came back to tie it at 68-68 with 2:42 remaining. Detroit sophomore Mike Funnell hit a layup at 2:28 to give the Titans the edge for good.

TOP SCORERS

Earl Jenkins led Western Michigan with 18. Moore had 25 points for Detroit.

Both teams now boast 1-2 season's records.

Local Cage Teams Continue Charge Toward Showdown

SMU Wrecks Georgia Tech

By the Associated Press

The Rambling Wrecks from Georgia Tech got wrecked deep in the heart of Texas.

Which means the Yellow Jackets from Atlanta got whipped by Southern Methodist 77-66 at Dallas in a major upset in college basketball Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

It was Georgia Tech's first defeat after three straight victories over Virginia, Georgia and Oklahoma City. Conversely it was SMU's first victory after three straight defeats.

The unranked Yellow Jackets, coached by John Hyder, have high hopes for a successful season after a 12-13 record a year ago. And at the start it seemed that they had their fourth straight in the bag.

FAST START

Led by Rich Yunkus, who finished with 29 points, Tech hit on its first nine shots from the field and took a 14-point lead at 20-6. The Mustangs rallied in the second half behind Woody Taliaferro and Gene Phillips, who combined for 38 points with 19 each. A jumper by Phillips put SMU ahead to stay at 58-57.

Unbeaten Notre Dame and Villanova, ranked No. 10 and 12 in the Associated Press poll, extended their winning streaks.

★ ★ ★

Austin Carr's 42 points led the Irish to an 111-92 victory over Northern Illinois for their fourth in a row. Villanova made its record 3-0 by routing North Dakota 107-57 behind Howard Porter's 28 points and 27 rebounds.

South Carolina, No. 8, and Colorado, No. 17, the only teams in the AP Top Twenty to see action, also won. The Gamecocks whipped East Carolina 68-49 and Colorado downed Evansville 97-86.

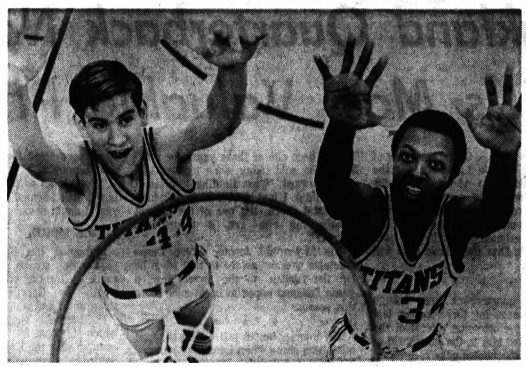

LaSalle shaded Eastern Kentucky 84-82 and Princeton downed Maryland 75-67.

LIBERTY BOWL

Tulsa beat Arkansas 74-66 and Memphis State defeated Mississippi State 83-74 in the first round of the Liberty Bowl Classic.

Syracuse went overtime to overcome Cornell 89-80, Boston College humbled Canisius 70-56, Yale beat Brown 75-65, Fordham topped Seton Hall 74-67 and Fairleigh Dickinson nipped Navy 59-58.

In other games, Calvin Murphy tallied 33 points to lead Niagara over Buffalo State 83-80, Oregon beat Portland 93-78, Wake Forest took Appalchian 71-49, Bradley squeaked by Indiana State 74-73 and Connecticut whacked New Hampshire 81-61.

REAL TITANS—Steve Hoffman (left) and Sam Brady have been "towers" of strength under the backboard for Pontiac Catholic. Hoffman is 6-5, one inch taller than Brady. The unbeaten Titans seek their fifth win Friday against Bishop Borgess. It will be a home encounter for PCHS.

Huskies, PCH, Catholic Still Are Unbeaten

Full Schedule Set in Inter-Lakes Loop; Chiefs Travel Friday

One thing is for certain.

Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Catholic, all unbeaten on the basketball court thus far, know that at least two of them will suffer losses before they go into the New Year.

Pontiac Central's high powered cage machine, with all-state candidate Campy Russell, travels to Flint Central Friday night in search of its third straight victory.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Northern has a league encounter at Lathrup tomorrow and the Huskies are fresh from a big victory Monday night at Highland Park to boost their record to 2-0.

Northern and Central could be unbeaten when they go into their crosstown clash, Wednesday Dec. 23, at Pontiac Central.

Pontiac Catholic, with a 4-0 mark, is host to Bishop Borgess Friday night in a league encounter and the Titans could very well be 7-0 when they battle Pontiac Northern in a holiday clash, Dec. 27, at PNH.

DATE CHANGE

The game is listed for Dec. 30 on the schedule but has been changed to the Dec. 27 date.

The Huskies have the toughest part of the schedule in their next three encounters after the Lathrup game. They must meet Inter-Lakes co-favorite Livonia Stevenson Friday, before their games with Central and Catholic.

★ ★ ★

Stevenson's experienced quintet visits Waterford tomorrow night, while Farmington travels to Walled Lake Central in the other Inter-Lakes contests.

Waterford has a 1-0 mark after edging Milford in its opener 10 days ago, while Farmington nipped Bentley, 83-82 and Walled Lake edged Plymouth, 63-61 in its opener.

SHOULD END

This means all Inter-Lakes teams except Lathrup are enjoying the thrill of being unbeaten, but it should all end tomorrow.

Farmington has Paul White as the key to its attack. White hit for 37 in the win over Bentley and Dan Steinke chipped in with 20.

Walled Lake Central had some balance in scoring with Bob Seirra and Mike Ridley hitting the high points against Plymouth.

Ex-All-Oakland Cager Big Scorer at Ohio U.

ATHENS, O. — A chat with John Canine, Ohio University's outstanding senior guard invariably turns to a discussion of religion.

Not that Canine is a goody - goody, far from it.

But because of the faith he has, it permeates his body, mind and spirit.

Although basketball has given the high school standout, honorable mention All - American "some of my biggest thrills, it thrills me most when I see someone accept Christ in their life."

Religion runs deeply throughout the Canine family. John's father is a Baptist Minister in hometown Hazel Park.

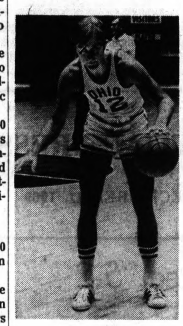

His brother Sam has the same position in Lima, O., and a brother - in - law, Warren Allen, ditto in Arcanum, O.

At Ohio, John is known to most people for his basketball ability.

Canine's what coaches term "a pure shooter."

HAS GUIDANCE

"That's what I do best — shoot," John agrees, but he takes no personal credit for it. "For without God guiding that basketball from my hand, I wouldn't score a point."

JOHN CANINE

Canine, former All-Oakland County star, set a new school scoring record with 25.8 per game as a freshman.

But his introduction to Mid - American basketball was typically tough his sophomore year when he managed 11.6, coming on strong late in the year. Last year he upped it to 16.4 and in the first game this winter at Northwestern, he scored 28 points.

★ ★ ★

"He's a tremendous shooter," says Ohio coach Jim Snyder, "one of the pure shooters we've had. He's matured greatly and learned much about the other phases of basketball, defense and team play. He knows what to look for without harming his shooting ability. And of course, he's a great young man."

John practices what he preaches. He was instrumental in forming a Fellowship of Christian Athletes Group on campus, and has spoken to many Church and Youth groups in and around Athens, and home.

Religion also played a part in John going to Ohio University. "At the time Coach Snyder spoke to me, he was also talking with Greg McDivitt from Windham, O., and a member of the same faith. One night Coach Snyder called me from Greg's home and Greg and I talked for awhile and it helped me decide upon Ohio University."

Canine was born and raised in Blanchester, O., and was thinking then of attending college in the Buckeye state.

Canine is undecided about his future. "I'd like to have a chance at pro basketball," he says, but I'm also considering graduate school, possibly the seminary, or teaching."

British Prove Best Team on Roller Skates

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina (AP) — A victory by John Foley in the 10,000 meter race gave great Britain the team title Wednesday as the world roller skating speed championships ended here.

★ ★ ★

Britain gathered 389 points to top defending champion Italy's 363. Argentina was third with 286 and Spain fourth with 279.

★ ★ ★

Foley won the 10,000 meters in the final 30 seconds, passing Dean Hayes and Gerard Glover of New Zealand, who finished second and third respectively.

The American-style Challenger Lord 10,000 meter race, which did not count toward the team title, was by Argentina's Scarati and Rafaldi.

First Balloting Proves Rerun

By the Associated Press

The new season looks like it might be rerun of the 1968-69 year with Kentucky Wesleyan ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press' opening small college basketball poll.

The Panthers, 2-1 so far this season, drew 291 points and five firsts in the national balloting by sportswriters and sportscasters Wednesday while Southwest Missouri State received 186 votes and two firsts for second place.

Kentucky Wesleyan whipped the Bears 75-71 for the NCAA college division championship last year while the Nos. 3 and 4 teams this week, Ashland, Ohio, and American International made it to the semifinals in the small college tourney last March. American International then nipped Ashland, 53-51 for third place in the national tourney.

The top Twenty teams, with first place votes and total points (points determined on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1):

Mott Game Switched

Waterford Mott must wait before playing a home basketball game.

The Corsairs were scheduled to play Livonia Churchill at Mott Friday, but the "home" opener has been moved to the Kettering gym. Mott's new gym is suffering from construction delays.

★ ★ ★

Kettering was supposed to visit Mott next Tuesday. However, that contest now has become a home game for the Captains. Kettering's home wrestling meet with Adams next Tuesday has been switched to the Mott auditorium.

FLOOR LEADER—Lonnie Moncrief is fast becoming the floor leader for Pontiac Northern. He made his first start at guard in the victory over Highland Park Monday and will be in the lineup Friday when the Huskies open Inter-Lakes play at Southfield Lathrup.

Raiders vs. Chiefs

Grudge Match Looms

KANSAS CITY (AP) — There's more than a Western Division showdown for the American Football League playoffs riding on Saturday's game at Oakland between the Raiders and the Kansas City Chiefs.

It's more like a grudge match for the Chiefs, who have been beaten by the Raiders five games in the last six over the past three seasons.

★ ★ ★

The latest humiliation, 27-24, took place in Kansas City Nov. 23, and there's a feeling among some fainthearted Chiefs supporters that the Raiders have got a hex on them.

"I know there's a lot of talk about us and the Raiders," says Kansas City middle linebacker Willie Lanier. "But that doesn't bother me. I don't think there is such a thing as a mental barrier that keeps us from beating the Raiders."

SORE KNEE

Chiefs quarterback Len Dawson, expected to start after nursing a sore knee for two weeks, admits there is a psychological aspect to the game.

"You can expound all you want on psychology," he said, "but you still have to go out and win the game on the field.

★ ★ ★

"Certain games are more significant than others, naturally, and I think there will be a lot of mental preparation for this game, yes. Friday will be murder, with everyone anticipating the game. You've got to believe you're capable of winning. You've got to believe you're going to win it."

The Chiefs say they do, and so does their coach, Hank Stram.

"We had a long stage with San Diego," he said, "when we just couldn't beat the Chargers, but we finally got through the jungle and now we are able to beat them. It was the same way with Buffalo, and the same with the (Los Angeles) Rams.

"It has been the same with the Raiders. We've won—what, one of the last five in the regular season? That isn't very good, but I don't know why we haven't done better. If you're psyched, how do you explain it? It happens, and it's more attitude than anything else.

★ ★ ★

"These things, though, always turn. They always go the other way. We think there was a turning when Oakland beat us. Whether there was or not we'll find out Saturday."

ECAC May Expel Yale Over Eligibility

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale University faced the possibility today of possible expulsion from the Eastern College Athletic Conference and disciplinary action by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for continuing to use an ineligible basketball player.

★ ★ ★

Knowing it might eventually have to forfeit the game, Yale used the player in question, 6-foot-8 Jack Langer, for 12 minutes in Wednesday night's 75-65 Ivy League victory over Brown at Providence, R.I. He scored six points.

★ ★ ★

Earlier in the day, Yale had been censured by the ECAC for using Langer in its first two games, both defeats, against Fordham and Connecticut. The Elis next play Saturday at Holy Cross.

There apparently will be no further action against Yale until the NCAA Council, including the committee on infractions, begins a week-long meeting in Washington, D.C., Jan. 9. The 190 members who make the ECAC the nation's largest conference will meet in conjunction with the NCAA Convention.

Langer was ruled ineligible by the ECAC last September for playing with the U.S. team in the Maccabiah Games in Israel in August. Seven other collegians withdrew from the U.S. team after the NCAA, in another battle with the Amateur Athletic Union, refused sanctions for collegians.

APPROVED BY SCHOOL

Langer's participation in the Maccabiah Games was approved by the Yale governing board and Kingman Brewster Jr., president of the university.

"We are not looking for a fight with the ECAC and we are not backing away," said DeLaney Kiphuth, Yale's athletic director. "Langer is free to play with our backing. It is up to Coach Joe Vancisin how much he will play in each game."

★ ★ ★

"I had no hesitation in playing him." Vancisin said after Wednesday night's game. "If we weren't using a press he would have played a lot more.

"The situation is not up to us, it's up to the ECAC. What are they going to do? All I do is coach. It seems that everybody has been hounding Langer—magazines, newspaper, etc.—and naturally it's hard for him to keep his mind on basketball."

Tarkenton Is Back of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Fran Tarkenton has been criticized for not following the game plan. Grandstand experts moan because he doesn't stay in the pocket. The Yankee Stadium boo birds have serenaded him.

But that was all before last Sunday. Tarkenton brought them all to their feet, cheering the end of a seven-game losing streak and dreaming of a rosy future, when he led the New York Giants to a 49-6 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

For his four touchdown passes and brilliant play-calling, the Associated Press has named Tarkenton the offensive player of the week in the National Football League.

"Game plans are flexible," said Tarkenton after the game.

Clay Getting Set to Fight Frazier in Miami Feb. 16

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Cassius Clay has gone into training in Chicago even before attorneys work out final details of a dream bout in Tampa Feb. 16 with heavyweight Joe Frazier.

Attorney Bob Arum said Clay "became very emotional about the chance to fight, even if it's for nothing. When I told him what was in the works, he said 'Praise be to God.' He went into training Wednesday."

Arum met Wednesday with promoters Ron Gorton and Mike Malitz to work out details of the bout. Arum said the final contract should be signed by the end of this week.

Santa Anita Closed

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Santa Anita race track probably won't open its winter meeting as scheduled Dec. 26 because of a contract dispute with parimutuel employes, a negotiator for the track said Wednesday.

Hardwick Top Money Winner

Enters Last Tourney Ahead by $18,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Professional bowler Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky. is approaching the end of the 1969 Professional Bowling Association tour as the leading money winner with $63,260.

Hardwick's total is over $18,000 greater than second place money winner Jim Goodman of Elkhart, Ind.

★ ★ ★

Hardwick will enter the last tournament of the year, the Hawaiian Invitational, on Dec. 20 where first place prize is $20,000.

The top ten money winners and their earnings are:

Hardwick, $63,260; Goodman, $44,848; Dick Weber of St. Louis, Mo., $42,135; Dick Ritger of Hartford, Wis., $38,343; Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill., $37,183; Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., $35,420; Johnny Guenther of Seattle, Wash., $34,498; Don Johnson of Kokomo, Ind., $33,303; Don Glover of Bakersfield, Calif., $30,685; and Mike McGrath of El Cerrito, Calif., $28,650.

Dayton Outskates Generals to Gain Five-Point Lead

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Dayton Gems of the International Hockey League edged past the Flint Generals here Wednesday night, 4-3.

Don Westbrooke scored a pair of goals for the Gems to hike his league scoring lead to 39 points. The Gems are now five points up on Toledo in the Southern Division. Duncan Rousseau scored the winning goal and Walley Kozak scored a goal and two assists to lead the Generals.

The Gems put their 14-11-1 record against Toledo here Sunday night.

New York Six Keeps Unbeaten Mark Going

Ron Stewart, out killing a New York penalty, recovered a loose puck and blistered it past Gerry Cheevers for a 3-2 edge. Then Ratelle and Rod Gilbert wrapped it up with third period goals.

★ ★ ★

Montreal was stymied for two periods by 45-year-old Johnny Bower, who was making his first start of the season in goal for Toronto. But then the Canadiens erupted for four goals in the final 20 minutes to beat the Maple Leafs.

Defenseman Serge Savard scored two of the Montreal goals. Claude Provost got the final Canadiens' goal into an empty net. It was the 250th of his career.

Bill Goldsworthy tapped in two rebound goals 11 seconds apart to lead Minnesota past Chicago in a wild game.

SECOND GOAL

Claude Larose followed Goldsworthy's pair with his second goal of the night as the North Stars scored three times in 1 minute, 17 seconds. The victory stretched Minnesota's unbeaten streak to five games and ran the club's record against the East Division to 5-3-3 this season—best of any West team. Minnesota won only four games from the East last year.

The North Stars' outburst came against rookie Tony Esposito who took an NHL-leading 1.92 goals against average into the game. Esposito faced 43 shots.

★ ★ ★

Goldsworthy described his first goal as "a Harmon Killebrew swat" after Esposito had bobbled Danny Grant's shot. Wren Blair, coach of the North Stars, called the 13-goals scored in the game, "great for the crowd but not much for the players or coaches or the players."

Jean Pronovost scored both of Pittsburgh's goals in the final period and goalie Les Binkley turned in his second shutout of the season, stopping 20 shots by Los Angeles.

Red Berenson tallied twice in the third period at Oakland. The Seals had gone in front 3-2 on a goal by Carol Vadnais before Berenson salvaged the tie with his second goal with less than three minutes to play.

FRANK HOWARD

Clemson Gridiron Mentor Frank Howard Quits Post

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP)—Frank Howard — the bald, slow-talking extrovert of the Dixie gridiron — is retiring as head football coach at Clemson University after 30 years at the post.

With typical candor he told a news conference Wednesday that the decision "was not what I wanted personally but what I think is best for Clemson."

The 60-year-old Howard said he will stay on as athletic director and a successor as coach will be named by the first of the year.

In the last three decades, Howard has won more games than any current coach at a single major college. His record is 165 victories, 118 losses and 12 ties. His Tigers of the Atlantic Coast Conference had a 4-6 record this season.

He told newsmen that he made the decision last April or May to resign as head coach, and had informed several persons at Clemson.

"I had to do it sooner or later," he declared, "and the reports get out every year and it ruins my recruiting. The only way we're ever going to build up is to get a coach in here who isn't retiring every year."

He stressed that his health "is as good as it ever was" and that it was not a factor in his decision.

Howard acknowledged that Florida State Coach Bill Peterson had been offered the job as his successor, but "that arrangement did not work out."

Retirement rumors reached their zenith after Clemson wound up this season with a 27-13 loss to arch rival South Carolina.

"I'll retire when I get good and ready and not before," Howard said at that time with some gruffness.

"No," he added quickly, "I didn't say I would be coach next year. I just said I'll retire when I get good and ready."

In his 30-year stint as coach and athletic director, Howard cemented Clemson's place in big time college football. The Tigers had been to only one post-season bowl before his takeover. They went to six bowls under Howard, winning four.

Suns Shine Brightly

Bradley Saves Knicks

By the Associated Press

A furious last-minute finish by Bill Bradley kept the unbeaten streak of the New York Knicks alive against Milwaukee. Baltimore, however, was less fortunate.

While the Knicks were squeaking past the Bucks 97-96 Wednesday in National Basketball Association action, Baltimore was getting bombed by the Phoenix Suns 137-107. It was New York's 10th consecutive triumph over Milwaukee since the expanion team entered the NBA last year. Baltimore was 9-0 over the second-year Suns until Wednesday's bombshell.

In other games, San Diego, with new coach Alex Hannan making his debut, blasted Atlanta, 126-107, Boston whipped Los Angeles 111-99 and Cincinnati

The Knicks, 27-3, and unbeaten now in 13 road games, got three key baskets from Bradley in the last two minutes, including the game-winner—a 15-foot corner jumper with 11 seconds left. Flynn Robinson, who topped the Bucks with 30 points, missed on a last-second shot that would have won it for Milwaukee.

Dick Barnett led the Knicks scoring with 24 points while Lew Alcindor had 25 for the Bucks.

SPRINTED AWAY

Jim Fox of the Suns fired in 16 of his game-high 24 points in a third period barrage as Phoenix sprinted from a 56-54 halftime margin to a 98-81 spread after three quarters.

In all eight Suns scored in double figures, including Gail Goodrich and Paul Silas with 18. Wes Unseld had 20 points for the Bullets who lost high-scoring forward Gus Johnson in the opening minutes of the game with a bruised chest. He is expected back this weekend.

The Rockets rolled to a 37-23 first quarter lead and were never headed in giving Hannan an explosive welcome. Elvin Hayes of the Rockets led all scorers with 35 points while Lou Hudson had 23 for the Hawks.

Johnny Green's steal and ensuing basket with 37 seconds left gave the Royals their triumph.

Pioneers Tip Henry Ford; Top Records

Oakland University opened its dual-meet swimming schedule Wednesday with a 55-40 win over Henry Ford Community College at Edsel Ford High School's pool.

The Pioneers grabbed first places in the 400-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relays to pace the victory.

* * *

Steve Yedlin, former Pontiac Northern star, nabbed a first in the 100-yard freestyle with a clocking of 53 seconds. He also swam on the freestyle relay unit.

Two Leagues in Shakedown

The basketball shakedown continues Friday in the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland A prep races.

The outlook in both loops should begin to clear after the results are tabulated.

★ ★ ★

In the W-O, preseason, favorite Bloomfield Hills Andover tries for a second straight league triumph on the road against Clarkston. The Barons could experience some difficulty from the tall Clarkston quintet which has lost to Pontiac Northern and West Bloomfield.

★ ★ ★

Northville, the No. 2 rated team, is expected to post win No. 2 at home against Milford. Waterford Kettering is an underdog at West Bloomfield and Clarenceville could find itself in trouble at Brighton.

QUESTION MARK

The Oakland A race is still a question mark although Romeo appears to have an early edge. The Bulldogs will be favored to remain unbeaten when they visit Rochester.

An interesting contest should be Avondale at Oxford. The visiting Yellow Jackets will be favored, but will have to respect Oxford after the Wildcats' upset at Lamphere last week. Lamphere goes to Madison, Troy is at Lahser and Adams at Lake Orion in other league tilts.

SEMA OPENS

The Southeastern Michigan Association also opens league play Friday with Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball figured to start off on the right foot before home fans.

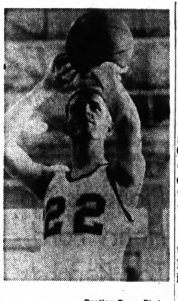

Ferndale is hosting Berkley and Hazel Park travels to Kimball.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Seaholm, a possible sleeper in the race, faces a strong test at Southfield which also has designs on becoming a contender. Birmingham Groves has a Northwest Suburban date at Detroit Thurston.

WESTERN, MOTT HOME

Walled Lake Western starts finding out just how good its basketball team is Friday when the Warriors are home for the game against Lincoln Park which will be much tougher than Warren Woods or Cranbrook. Western downed both.

Pontiac Press Photo

AVON STARTER — Randy Polasek will be in the starting lineup for Avondale Friday when the Yellow Jackets invade Oxford for an Oakland A League basketball game.

Warwick NFL Defense Pick

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — For Lonnie Warwick, it's a long way from a railroad section gang in Arizona to the National Football League.

Warwick passed up his senior year at Tennessee Tech to work for the Southern Pacific in Arizona when the Minnesota Vikings offered him a free agent contract.

★ ★ ★

Warwick accepted, joined the Vikings in 1964 and has blossomed into a star linebacker.

The 6-foot-3, 232-pound Warwick was named The Associated Press defensive player of the week in the National Football League Wednesday for his play in Minnesota's 20-13 victory over the previously unbeaten Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

The Vikings now have won 11 straight after a season opening loss, and many feel the linebacking of Warwick, Wally Hilgenberg and Roy Winston is one of the reasons.

Tab Rookie Contenders

HOUSTON (UPI) — Flanker Jerry Levias of the Houston Oilers and running back Carl Garrett of the Boston Patriots were tabbed Tuesday by Houston Coach Wally Lemm as the top contenders for rookie of the year in the American Football League.

Johnny Tobin Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Johnny Tobin, 76, an outfielder for the old St. Louis Browns, died of pneumonia at St. John's Mercy Hospital Wednesday.

Open League Play

Holly, Brandon Face Tough Opponents

Opening league basketball games for unbeaten Holly and Ortonville Brandon Friday night could go a long way toward determining how these teams will fare over the remainder of the season.

★ ★ ★

Both are at home, with Holly taking on Lapeer in a Metro League tilt and Brandon tangling with Suburban C favorite Lake Fenton.

★ ★ ★

Holly has taken the measure of Avondale and Flint Kearsley in nonleague games to establish itself as a potential championship threat. Defending champion Lapeer, although hard hit by graduation, still has good scoring and is 1-1.

★ ★ ★

The Bronchos can ill-afford to lose this home tilt. Looming a week later is a visit to arch-rival Fenton, another title contender. Fenton has a Friday date at Swartz Creek.

TOP RATED

Lake Fenton, Hartland and Ortonville are rated in that order as top teams in the Suburban loop. The Black Hawks have the early edge because they play the top favorites at home first.

Lake Fenton opened league play last week with an easy victory while the Hawks were upping their record to 2-0 at the expense of Roeper. However, late rallies were needed to bail Ortonville out of both games.

The Black Hawks will have to start much faster against favored Lake Fenton if their is to be an upset.

Late Goal Ties Cranes

A goal with four seconds left, by Captain Chris Binkley, gave Andover a 4-4 tie with Cranbrook in a prep hockey game Tuesday. Mike Stefanian gave Binkley an assist on the tying goal.

DON CARTER'S BOWLING TIPS

SLOW LANE? — If you encounter a lane that causes your ball to hook much more than you are accustomed to—a "slow" lane — the best means of adjusting to it is by moving your starting position to the left. Make the moves gradually, but if you've moved perhaps 10 boards to the left and the ball still hooks past the pocket, you may have to increase your speed somewhat.

Finally, if the ball still can't be controlled, start lofting the ball farther past the foul line. The important thing is not to panic or become disgusted. Instead, adjust.

Upper Peninsula Best Ski Location

By United Press International

The best skiing conditions in Michigan will be in the Upper Peninsula this weekend, the Michigan Tourist Association said today.

★ ★ ★

While many slopes in the Lower Peninsula said they were making snow and reported limited skiing, the Upper Peninsula slopes that are open generally said their skiing conditions would be good to excellent.

Here is the weekend skiing report:

WEST MICHIGAN

Boyne Mt., Boyne Falls: open daily on four slopes; 6-inch base, making snow.

Boyne Highland Harbor Springs: may open Saturday.

Caberfae, Cadillac: open daily, 12-18 inch base, 2 inches new snow.

★ ★ ★

Cannonsburg, Grand Rapids: open daily, 8-20 inches base, 2 inches new snow.

Crystal Mt., Thompsonville: open daily starting Dec. 19; making snow.

Lost Pines Lodge, Harrietta: open daily, 3-12 inch base, 2 inches new powder.

★ ★ ★

Nub's Nob, Harbor Springs: open Saturday and Sunday.

Schuss Mt., Mencelona: open Saturday and Sunday with limited skiing; making snow.

Sugar Loaf Village, Cedar: open daily after Saturday, 4 inch base.

EAST MICHIGAN

Bear Mt., Grayling: 6-16 inch base, 3 inches new snow; skiing fair, open Saturday and Sunday.

Blintz Apple Mt., Freeland: 10-12 inch base; two hills operating, skiing good.

★ ★ ★

Otsego Ski Club, Gaylord private 4-6 inch base, making snow; skiing fair to good.

Skyline Ski Club, Grayling: 4-6 inch packed base, 1 inch fresh powder; open weekends only until Christmas, skiing good.

UPPER PENINSULA

Big Powderhorn Mt., Bessemer: 6 inch base, 2-3 inches new, fair to good.

★ ★ ★

Brule Mt., Iron River: 6-8 inch base, 6 inches new, good.

Lahser Swims Past Utica

Three Utica pool and two Lahser varsity marks fell Wednesday night as Lahser notched a 59-46 victory to open its Oakland Aswimming season.

Rick Amman, Tom Benson and Kevin Trimmer, all of Lahser, set the records.

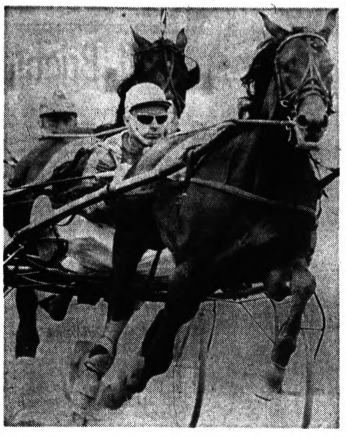

Amman's clocking of 24.1 seconds was a pool and varsity mark in the 50-yard freestyle while Benson won the diving with a pool and varsity record 201 points.

Trimmer's pool-record time of 4:27.1 in the 400-yard freestyle gave him the top spot in that event.

Girl Places 13th

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sue Crissman, a 17-year-old 4-H club member from Caledonia, placed 13th among all judging contestants during a national contest held at the International Livestock Exposition recently in Chicago. Michigan's livestock-judging team, including Miss Crissman, placed 23rd. Also on the team are Dwight Baur, 15, Charlotte; Doyle Dingman, 17, Bellevue; Wendell Wheaton, 15, Vermontville; and Cathy Jackson, 17, Charlotte. Mrs. Dorothy Mulholland of Charlotte was team coach.

Still Improving in Blind League

Lil Fenlon continues to improve her average in the Pontiac Blind Bowling League at Firebird.

Partially blind and an 86 average bowler, she rolled 92-127-96 this week to raise her mark for the second straight time. Dale Venois, a partial with a 112 average, rolled games of 128-125-125, and Rinehart Reicher, also partial with an 88 average hit 97-91-88.

Owens Tops Three Marks

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Owens, the Heisman Trophy winner from Oklahoma, wound up his college career as the rushing and scoring champion in major college football and proved the hardest working, most productive and most consistent ground gainer in history.

National Collegiate Sports Services statistics released Wednesday show Owens winning the rushing title with 1,523 yards to 1,409 for Ed Marinaro of Cornell and taking the scoring title with 138 points to 126 for Mach Herron of Kansas State.

But, besides annexing the two crowns, Owens set several standards.

He worked harder than any other running back in history by carrying the ball 905 times, 232 more than the previous record-holder, Alan Ameche of Wisconsin.

He gained more yardage rushing in his three-year career by gaining 3,867 yards, 479 more than the previous record holder, Mercury Morris of West Texas State.

Mt. Brighton Adds Racing Program

The 1969-1970 ski season at Mt. Brighton promises to be the area's greatest season.

In addition to a big building program, a unique Ski Racing Program is being introduced.

The purpose of this program is to train and develop racers of National and International caliber following the training methods of the U.S. National Ski Team.

Heading the coaching staff will be Geoff Smith, the former Bloomfield Hills High School racer.

Geoff was a two-time member of the USSA-CD Junior National team, a former All-Stater, and a starting member of the University of Colorado "A" Ski team. At 22, he is the youngest fully certified coach in the country, and the only one in the Central division.

Assisting Geoff will be Jerry Stanek, a four-time member of the USSA-CD Junior National Team, a three-time All-Stater, and a member of the Fort Lewis (Colorado) ski team.

* * *

This training program will take place on the two new trails that Mt. Brighton has built specifically for racing. These runs are equal in steepness to the slalom training runs used by the U.S. Olympic team.

The program includes 20 1½ hour sessions to be run every Monday and Wednesday evening or afternoon from December 8 to March 1. These sessions include running full length courses under simulated racing conditions, training for specific problems, and running actual races.

Mt. Brighton has purchased a complete set of Heuer electric timing devices to assure racers of getting as many runs as possible.

The $105.00 fee covers all lift tickets and 20 racing lessons with the finest racing instruction available in the state.

Enrollment will be limited to racers between the ages of 9 and 18. Applications are available in ski shops, schools and at Mt. Brighton Ski School.

SNOW SAFARI by Ed Russell

To get extra use out of your snowmobile you'll want to trailer that snow scooter to where the action (and snow) is. You may want one of several pull-behind vehicles to add passenger space or towing thrills. In addition, there are many accessories that will improve the comfort, safety and performance of your snowmobile.

TRAILERS — There are many trailers on the market that can handle one to four snowmobiles with ease and safety. Features to consider are: how suitable the deck is for traction, safety hitch, tail lights, tie-down points and swing-tilting so that the snowmobile can be driven off the front if it has no reverse gear. One manufacturer even makes a bumper-mounted carry-all which can carry a snowmobile in the 300 lb. range.

TOW VEHICLES — There is a wide variety of snowmobile trailering vehicles, from rugged dog-sleds to streamlined, vacuum-molded sleighs. They range in weight from 20 lbs. on up and can hold several passengers or extra supplies. Clevis or ball-type hitches are available and many come equipped with padded seats, windshield, spring suspension and back riding step. For you handymen, November, 1968 Popular-mechanics has plans for a do-it-yourself sleigh with a 5-man saddle seat.

For extra comfort and overnight trips, snow-camping trailers are also available, complete with built-in bunks, table and plastic cover. Several even have a floor-plug that can be removed for ice fishing. These portable shelters can also be put on snowmobile trailers or truck campers. Wheels can be attached for warm weather use. Ski-joring, an ancient Scandinavian sport, has been given a new wrinkle a la the snowmobile and tow sled equipped with 2 tracking skis and a steering ski controlled by handlebars.

MISCELLANEOUS ACCESSORIES. — Take your pick from a group of instruments like tachometers, speedometers, temperature gauges, and compasses that keep you on top of what's happening. Rear view mirrors are a little extra recommended highly for added safety.

How's Skiing? Phone Hookup Has Answer

"How's the skiing today?" That's the question on the lips of thousands of metropolitan area skiers.

The Southeast Michigan Tourist Association has an answer, on a daily basis, five days a week, thanks to a telephone tape report that the Association will prepare.

Thus, by a simple phone call to (AC 313) 962-9010, ski buffs can get information about ski, weather and road conditions, as well as special events, for the six ski resorts of Southeast Michigan — Alpine Valley, Mt. Brighton, Mt. Grampian, Mt. Holly, Pine Knob and Irish Hills Sports Park.

Lights Added to Nob Skiing

Nub's Nob, one of the veteran ski areas of the Harbor Springs, Petoskey area, will have night skiing for the first time in its history!

Slopes are open four nights of the week, 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. The beginners area and three of the major slopes will be lighted.

All facilities, including the dining room, cocktail lounge and swimming pool are in operation during the evening hours.

Nub's Nob has added a new intermediate run known as "Ames Lane." Another new at the Nob is a pomalift on the beginners area.

Calvin Nips Hope in Overtime, 91-89

HOLLAND (AP) — Defending Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball champ Calvin College had to hustle to win its first conference game against Hope 91-89 in overtime Wednesday.

The teams were tied 80-all at the end of regulation play, but Calvin center Ed Wiers scored eight points in the five-minute added session, to close the night with 31 points.

CMU Coasts Past Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Central Michigan jumped to an early lead and stayed in control all the way to crush the University of Windsor 96-49 in a basketball game Wednesday night.

Terry Walker was high scorer for Central with 16 points while Paul Botts added 14. For Windsor Ed Lanktree and Chris Wydrzynksi were high with eight points each.

Floyd Files Suit for Oiler Salary

HOUSTON (AP) — Don Floyd, a former defensive end for the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, sued the Oilers Wednesday for $14,240 which he claims is back pay the team owes him.

* * *

Floyd, a former Texas Christian University star, said in the suit that he injured his right ankle Aug. 23, 1968, while playing for the Oilers against the Buffalo Bills in Tulsa, Okla.

New Black Television Image Alters Public's Viewing Habits

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

Who is the black man on television? Schoolteacher. Nurse. District attorney. Militant. Housewife. Private eye. Garbage collector. Engineer.

Television's onetime invisible man is becoming very visible indeed on the tube. Black entertainers are showing up in increasing numbers in series, in commercials and on variety shows.

* * *

The black man has become sufficiently established in the medium that producers are now casting blacks as villains and harking back to "Beulah" of television's earliest days — once more as servants.

Significantly, the image of the Negro is undergoing a radical change. The public, whose only sight of a black on television often was as a civil rights demonstrator or a rioter or as a singer or dancer, is being exposed to a new dimension. The black is being seen as a flesh and blood human being. For the first time he can display emotions long kept bottled up.

DEVOTED MONTHS

So important has the image become that the Children's Television Workshop devoted months to selection of a black male to costar in "Sesame Street." This is a program shown daily on public television stations to impressionable preschool children.

Not everyone is satisfied, either with the progress in employment or with the image projected by the blacks.

* * *

"I don't want people to get smug and feel the millenium has arrived," said Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League. "There is still much progress to be made in front of the camera and behind it in the crafts unions."

Militants castigate television for putting blacks into what they see as essentially white roles with white attitudes.

"Black folks want to see themselves, and not just as projections of whites," said Victor Soleman, associate director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

SET OFF ERA

It was considered daring five years ago when Bill Cosby was cast as a globe-trotting spy masquerading as a tennis trainer in "I Spy."

* * *

That show set off the era of the black second banana, with number of Negro actors and actresses playing the second or third lead to a white star. Last year Diahann Carroll broke the mold and became the star of her own show, "Julia."

This season Bill Cosby is back with his own show. Lloyd Haynes heads the cast in "Room 222," and Hari Rhodes is the costar of one segment of "The Bold Ones."

* * *

Leslie Uggams headed her own variety show on CBS, but it makes its final appearance Sunday, succumbing to poor ratings.

TOP-RATED SHOW

Cosby's show, incidentally, is the highest rated new show of the season. "Room 222" is earning respectable ratings, and last year "Julia" was the only new hit of the season.

Much of the criticism that television conveyed little realism of what it is to be balck in America was directed at NBC's "Julia."

* * *

In that show, as the black equivalent of TV's ubiquitous widow, Miss Carroll lives in an apartment house with whites, works with whites, wears expensive clothes and is only seen in the vicinity of a ghetto when she helps out at a clinic.

* * *

Of the criticism, Dr. John A. Morsell, assistant executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said: "That's poppycock. There are lots of Negro women for whom "Julia" is as realistic a portrayal as any soap opera can be."

'AN AFFECTION'

Said Young: "I don't buy this. The Negro is basically American. Our relationship to Africa is more emotional than real. This other thing is more of an affection."

* * *

Dr. Morsell said he felt television could deal more realistically with Negro life, "but it must be well-done and laced with humor and not be unrelieved misery. Negroes wouldn't look at it either. They need that escapism, too."

* * *

One program which has attempted to deal realistically with black life is the "On Being Black" series on National Educational Television. The series was written, performed and produced by blacks.

* * *

"Amos and Andy" was in its own way a pioneer. It reached the home screen in 1951 with an all-black cast in the roles created for radio by two white men. This show probably reflected to a large degree the way white Americans saw the Negro: Happy, carefree and perhaps a little irresponsible. Pressure from Negro groups removed it from all showing in 1964.

The U. S. Post Office had 90 major facilities under development last year, with a construction cost estimated at $773 million.

Land Sale to Muslims Brings Woe to White

PELL CITY, Ala. (UPI) — Ray Wyatt used to be one of the most popular men in St. Clair County. He spent four years in the Alabama Senate. He prospered as Pell City's Ford dealer.

Now his wife gets phone calls saying that the next time she sees him "He'll be in a box." A dozen of his cows have been shot. A dozen of his cars have been splashed with acid. Five of his employes quit.

★ ★ ★

Ray Wyatt's problems started after he made a business transaction last summer with a Chicago-based firm which calls itself the Progressive Land Developers Inc. Word soon got around that Progressive Land Developers actually is owned by Elijah Muhammad's Nation of Islam, the Black Muslims.

The Muslims purchased 376 acres of farmland from Wyatt and another 500 acres from him and Dr. Robert McClung, a Pell City dentist, as the site of a $2.5-million food-processing complex. The profit-minded Muslims have several such food factories across the nation, supplying their ghetto stores and restaurants.

MIGHT JOIN IN

Wyatt not only sold the land to the Muslims but also indicated he might become the operation's personnel manager. He said St. Clair County has a severe economic problem, and the agricultural project could help solve it.

"All they have in mind is farming and employing local people to do the work at a reasonable rate," he said. "They're planning a processing plant that will employ between 125 and 150 people and a cannery that would employ 200."

★ ★ ★

Fellow whites take a different view. Wallace Wyatt, Ray's brother, and two preachers formed an organization called RID—"Restore Integrity to Development"—to keep the Muslim project out.

"We're going to fight them with every legal means we can muster," the Rev. J. H. Bishop told a recent gathering of 2,000 concerned whites. "I for one am willing to lay down my life for the cause if need be."

4 SUITS FILED

A district attorney joined the campaign by filing four suits charging Progressive Land Developers is a foreign corporation not authorized to do business in Alabama—litigation that could block the project for months.

Robert Shelton, the Ku Klux Klan Imperial Wizard, left a federal prison last month just in time to get into the fray.

★ ★ ★

"This deal is a threat to Christianity and is un-American," Shelton said. "It's part of a concentrated effort to take over the eight states of the Bible Belt."

A sheriff's deputy expressed the fear the Muslims would "set up a guerrilla training school out there and seal it off and we couldn't do anything about it."

THEY DON'T UNDERSTAND

Ray Wyatt, who terms himself "a strict segregationist," is convinced his townspeople simply don't understand the Muslims, who also are strict segregationists.

"The more I learn about the Muslims, the more I admire them," he said. "I admire their morals—no drinking, no smoking, no adultery. I'd be a better Baptist if I didn't smoke."

★ ★ ★

Walter Lee Turner, the Muslims' public relations director and the agent who bought the property, invited local whites to visit the Muslims' other southern farm, in Georgia.

That operation, established nearly three years ago, includes a cattle ranch, a dairy, a vegetable farm and a canning plant. There has been little opposition to it.

★ ★ ★

Although opposition swelled in recent weeks, Wyatt expressed confidence the project will get public support and be completed. How long will it take?

"I'm planning to run for probate judge," he responded. "The primary's in May."

3 Reappointed

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has made three reappointments to the State Board of Examiners for Sanitarians. Reappointed for terms ending Dec. 31, 1971, were Bruce Reynolds of McBain, Samuel Stephenson of Lansing and George Rouman of Battle Creek. Senate confirmation is required.

Five Cases Handled of Drug Overdoses

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies answered five drug overdose cases yesterday and last night.

"We had six in one day just a week or so ago," commented Undersheriff Leo Hzaen.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's cases occurred in Rochester, Pontiac Township, White Lake Township, Ortonville and Avon Township.

In the first case, a 17-year-old Rochester boy "high" on amphetamine pills was taken to Crittenton Hospital in Avon Township where he became so unruly that doctors and deputies had to restrain him, they reported.

JAILED FOR NIGHT

The boy's parents said they didn't want him to return home. He was locked up in Oakland County Jail for the night. He was to be released today.

In the second case, a 44-year-old Pontiac Township woman said she had "family trouble." She took a variety of medicine cabinet pills.

★ ★ ★

A 22-year-old White Lake Township man was despondent following the previous evening's telephone call from his fiancee, breaking their engagement. He swallowed two bottles of sleeping pills.

A 2-year-old Ortonville tot got into the medicine cabinet at his home, consuming 12 to 20 pills of various kinds. He was treated and released from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

In the last case, a 33-year-old woman took an overdose of her prescribed nerve pills because she had "in-law trouble," according to deputies. She is under treatment at Crittenton Hospital.

Man Found Dead After Wife's Murder

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — David Walma, 29, was found asphyxiated in his car in a dump just east of Middleville yesterday — a day after his estranged 26-year-old wife was found shot to death outside her trailer home near Cutlerville.

Police Sgt. David Price said Walma had committed suicide by releasing a valve on a tank of acetylene gas, used for welding, in his car.

★ ★ ★

Police said a neighbor heard a commotion in Mrs. Walma's trailer in the Kentwood Trailer Park about 11 p.m. Tuesday, went to investigate and was threatened by a man with a pistol. The neighbor returned to his trailer to call police when he heard two shots.

This Legislature Goes Informal

ST. LUCIA, B.W.I. (AP) — Members of the island legislature have decided to wear shirt jackets during sessions rather than the conventional jacket and tie.

A spokesman said the garment for ordinary sittings will have three pockets and inverted pleats. Ceremonial occasions rate four pockets and pin pleats.

Big Stores Hiring More Women to Catch Shoplifters

NEW YORK (AP) — More and more women detectives are being employed in the city's large department stores. They're especially needed during the Christmas and Easter holiday seasons when shoplifting takes a sharp rise.

The No. 1 rule for a woman detective is: Look like the customer.

★ ★ ★

"We dress like customers, act like customers — and even walk like customers," said Joyce F., a 23-year-old detective at Alexander's, who works mostly in departments catering to teenagers, because she can pass for one herself.

And how does a customer walk? Joyce smiled.

"Slowly," she said. "Very slowly."

In most large stores here, women make up a sizable portion of the security staff because a large percentage of shoplifters (about 85 per cent, most stores say) are women.

3 Universities in State High in Enrollment

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan's three major universities rank among the top 25 in the nation in enrollment figures, according to a report relayed to Michigan State University.

MSU leads the state's institutions as 11th in the nation both in full-time students and total enrollment.

★ ★ ★

The University of Michigan is 16th in full-time students and 17th in total enrollment. Wayne State University is 23rd in both categories.

The 50th annual survey of college enrollments was prepared by Dr. Garland Parker, vice provost for admissions and records at the University of Cincinnati. It was based on returns from 1,145 accredited colleges and universities.

1ST IN NATION

The State University of New York, with its many campuses, ranked first in total enrollment with 286,707 and in full-time students with 179,107.

★ ★ ★

In total enrollment, according to the report, MSU has 50,085 students compared with 49,515 a year ago. The University of Michigan has 38,328 and had 38,021 a year ago. Wayne State's total enrollment is listed as 34,924, up from 33,177 last year.

★ ★ ★

In terms of full-time students, Michigan State is listed as having 39,244, up from 37,858 a year ago. Michigan has 30,255, compared with 29,780 in 1968, and Wayne State has 21,475 full-time students, an increase over the 20,176 last year.

State to Maintain All Freeway Lights

LANSING (UPI) — The state Highway Department will assume the responsibility Jan. 1 for maintaining of all freeway lighting in Michigan's cities and villages.

★ ★ ★

The department said yesterday the move was mandated by the 1967 "good roads" bill which raised state revenues for highways substantially.

★ ★ ★

Maintenance engineer Paul J. Marke estimated a total of 14,000 light poles are located on the freeways throughout the state, and said the shift will add some $2 million a year to

Health Plan Costs Are Hit

LANSING (AP) — A legislative expert on insurance and health care says costs and premiums of the various programs are "just about out of hand" and should be reexamined for possible cuts.

Rep. Albert A. Kramer, D-Oak Park, said Wednesday proposed increases in Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield rates would be especially hard on the elderly "who exist on limited incomes and are buffeted by constantly increasing inflationary costs."

★ ★ ★

Kramer, chairman of the House Insurance Committee, said he's not convinced the State Insurance Commission has made proper use of a $100,000 legislative allocation to study medical and hospitalization programs.

"It is my understanding this money is not being used yet," Kramer said, for a planned study "to determine whether it is possible to effectuate reductions in the rising cost of medical care."

INCREASES ASKED

The two major medical and hospital care funds asked rate increases for a period beginning next July 1.

★ ★ ★

Blue Cross asked for an average increase of 2.4 per cent in regular subscription rates, 10 per cent for elderly contracts.

Blue Shield seeks an average increase of 5.9 per cent in its base rates as well as a 10 per cent average increase for the elderly.

The two programs recently were granted rate increases averaging some 12 per cent for their variable-fee plans offered to business and industry.

Girl Scouts Set for Mall Carols

Girl Scouts from the Waterford School District will present a Christmas Carol program Saturday at 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. at the Pontiac Mall, Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads.

Approximately 100 girls aged 7 to 13 will sing at each performance.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS
the ideal floor lamp for any home

. . . IT'S A Rembrandt
This lamp expresses perfectly the fine art of hand craftsmanship in lamp making. Comes in Flemish bronze with 19" diameter tray in a blend of shaded fruitwood. Tray is 21" from base. The shade is bisque shantung over vinyl. Height of lamp, 60½".
We're delighted to feature this lamp as well as many other outstanding styles, all of them Rembrandts. Come in and see them—they're attractively priced.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Vivian May Harbenger who passed away Dec. 11, 1967.
For those who still have your dear mothers
Give her extra love
It's a mighty lost feeling
When you want to and she's no longer there.
Husband, Fred and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Vivian May Harbenger, who passed away Dec. 11, 1967.
You left this world of sorrow,
And are free from pain and harm,
And now rest in peace and comfort,
In the Blessed Saviour's arms.
Sadly missed by husband and children.

IT'S TIME TO CALL IT A DAY—The "party" is apparently over for Mr. and Mrs. Dean Martin, shown here at a 1964 party. The former cover girl announced yesterday that Dean had told her he had met and fallen in love with another woman and that she would grant him a divorce. The other woman was not named.

Another 'Somebody' Enters Dean's Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dean Martin's theme song is "Everybody Loves Somebody"—and for him, his wife says, it's somebody new.

"It is painfully difficult for me to announce the apparent end of our marriage," the former cover girl Jeanne Riegger, 47, announced Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

"My husband informed me several weeks ago that he had met and fallen in love with someone, and he asked me for a divorce. I have assured him I will comply with his wishes. Proceedings will begin immediately." She gave no name.

MARRIED 20 YEARS

Martin, 52, a $5-million-a-year television and movie entertainer, could not be reached for comment. A spokesman denied knowledge of the identity of the "someone." Even the gossip columnists gave no hint of her identity.

★ ★ ★

The Martins, married 20 years, with three children—Dean has four more by a previous marriage—separated in 1955. But reconciled.

★ ★ ★

In a statement issued by a law firm, the attractive, blonde Mrs. Martin said:

"My deepest concern at the present is for our children. It is my hope that all concerned will make every effort to see that their lives are kept within as normal a pattern as the situation will permit.

★ ★ ★

"The children have always felt great love and respect for their father, and I fully intend that it remain so."

The couple's children are Dino, 18; Ricci, 16, and Gina, 13. Martin's children by the previous marriage are Craig, 27; Claudia, 26; Gail, 24, and Deana, 21.

IN SHOW BUSINESS

Gail, married in 1968, is a singer, and Deana, married last June, is an actress. Dino performs with the musical group "Dino, Desi and Billy." Craig is on the production staff of his father's television show. Claudia has done some acting.

★ ★ ★

Columnists have said differences between the Martins include the fact that, contrary to his image as a hard-drinking partygoer, he is an early-to-bed type while Jeanne likes to go to an occasional party.

★ ★ ★

She was once hospitalized for several weeks, but Dean never visited her. This shocked their friends but not his wife. "Dean has a thing about hospitals," she said philosophically.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Musician Graham Jackson, a favorite accordion player of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been sworn in as the first Negro member of the Georgia Board of Corrections.

After the ceremony yesterday in Atlanta, Ga., Jackson, 67, asked Gov. Lester Maddox if he could have the pen used, but the governor refused.

"No, I'll give you one you can have. These cost too much," the governor said.

Maddox had cheaper pens brought in and gave Jackson two.

Rock Singer Acquitted of Dope Charges

Jimi Hendrix, the American rock singer, has been acquitted of charges of possessing heroin and hashish.

The charges against the singer, 27, were brought when he went through customs May 3 at Toronto International Airport.

"It is the best Christmas present Canada has ever given me," Hendrix declared after the jury brought in its verdict of innocent yesterday in Toronto.

Swiss President Elected by Parliament

The Swiss Parliament has elected Hans Peter Tschudi, minister of the interior, as president of Switzerland for 1970.

The presidency is rotated annually among the seven members of the national cabinet.

A Look at TV

Cash Preview Unwitting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — NBC, probably quite unwittingly, provided air time Wednesday night for a preview of "The Johnny Cash Show" which next month will have its mid-season premiere in the same time spot on rival ABC.

MISS LOWRY

The popular country and western singer was the star of a "Music Hall" show and a tuneful hour it was, with songs ranging from the 1870 "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" to the 1969 "Is That All There Is?" It was a forceful demonstration of how far country and western has traveled in the past three years: Cash worked with guest star Peggy Lee, about as city and eastern-style singer as there is around, and it came off as smooth as silk.

The theme of the hour did not fit the stars and their style as comfortably as the music. Most on the songs were introduced by Cash reading exerpts from Carl Sandburg, and it was all just a little too majestic and high flown. Cash seemed more at ease when, guitar over shoulder, he was singing his own songs.

"Music Hall" has been quietly around for several seasons, steadily picking up larger audiences. Now it has moved into the top third of the Nielsen list, an ascent that seems tied up with a format of making each weekly show a sort of special for comics like Alan King and singers like Cash and Eddie Arnold.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

The series that follows, "Then Came Bronson," has to be one of NBC's major disappointments of the season. The series, shot entirely on location, is off-beat and distinctive. But somehow it just doesn't seem to be cutting it in the ratings and its future after this season is uncertain.

Wednesday night's episode had the peripathetic hero, Bronson, finding another solitary motorcyclist stranded with engine trouble outside Phoenix. In spite of rebuffs from the cyclist, a young and very hostile Negro, he helped get the machine to a garage and helped pay the excessive charge for repairs.

★ ★ ★

The rest of the story centered on the other man's problems—finding money to repay Bronson and making his peace with his alienated family in Phoenix.

Michael Parks as Bronson has an interesting reserve and laconic manner. Robert Hooks acquitted himself well as the angry young Negro—a character which threatens to become a television stereotype.

Diana Ross and the Supremes will make their farewell TV appearance as a team on Ed Sullivan's Dec. 21 show. The trio's breakup, with Diana Ross becoming a single act, has been in the works for a long time and, in retrospect, they seem to have been making as many farewell appearances as the late Sarah Bernhardt. This time it will be for keeps because the two remaining Supremes will be joined by Jean Terrell as the new lead singer.

C5A 'Informer' Eyed for Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cost analysis expert who lost his Pentagon job after telling Congress of cost overruns in the C5A supertransport program may wind up with another government post.

White House sources said Wednesday A. Ernest Fitzgerald is being considered for another government post, possibly outside the Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force abolished Fitzgerald's $28,900-a-year post as deputy for management systems in the office of the asistant secretary for financial management.

Fitzgerald, who told Congress the C5A program would cost $2 billion more than the original $3.1 billion estimate, said his job was abolished because of the disclosure. The Air Force said it was part of an economy move.

Worm Sale Eyed

GABARONE, Botswana (AP) — This impoverished African republic is studying the feasibility of marketing mopane worms. The juicy caterpillars, found on mopane trees, are a popular native food raw, fried or dried.

Sort Into Baskets

When gathering clothes from the line, use two baskets, putting the starched articles in one and the unstarched ones in another. This saves sorting the clothes after you get them inside.

Realism Melts Yule Snow Job

By LISA CRONIN

NEW YORK (AP) — You were 6 or 7 years old when word first reached you that there was no Santa Claus.

You were disappointed.

But at 7 you were a realist. The presents really were what mattered and all things considered Mom and Dad were just as good as Santa Claus.

★ ★ ★

Others recall they felt differently when told Santa wasn't real.

● "It was a particularly memorable day because it coincided with my 35th birthday," recalls comedienne Phyllis Diller. "I was shook, I was counting on him."

'DON'T TELL 'EM'

Miss Diller, whose new book "The Complete Mother" gives advice on child rearing from "the glint in the eye to the teenager," advises parents never to tell their children about Santa Claus.

"That way you won't have to send them to a psychiatrist," she explained. "You wind up saving money."

★ ★ ★

● Television comedian Rodney Dangerfield said he learned the truth while growing up in a tough neighborhood.

"I found out one Christmas when the cops picked up Santa Claus," he said. "He was going into an apartment house and his bag was empty. When he came out his bag was full."

● "I wasn't distressed because my parents told me by my sister who was 4," said John MacDonald, author of more than 60 mystery novels. "The sense of responsibility was far greater than the sense of loss. I never could identify with the old fellow anyway. I liked Peter Rabbit much better."

● "You mean there isn't a Santa Claus?" asked television comedian Dick Cavett.

★ ★ ★

● "You don't really need Santa Claus when you have the Great Pumpkin," said Charles Schulz, creater of the Peanuts cartoon strip. According the Schulz' cartoon character Linus, the Great Pumpkin arises each Thanksgiving out of the world's most sincere pumpkin patch to bring gifts to boys and girls.

"The trouble is that I've never found a really sincere pumpkin patch," Schulz added.

● Paul Krassner, editor of the Realist and a founder of the Yippie movement, said he learned that Santa Claus didn't exist in June when Pope Paul VI took St. Nicholas off the calender of Saints.

"Eventually, of course, the Santa Claus myth will be coopted into government and we'll have the guaranteed annual wage," he said.

Real estate tax delinquencies in New York City totaled $81 million at the close of fiscal 1968.

U.S. Readies Blow at Organized Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's "law and order" team says it is near a breakthrough in its campaign against organized racketeers.

Its first major dent into the syndicates is expected next week in a round of indictments by federal grand juries in four northeastern cities.

★ ★ ★

Justice Department officials describe the effort against organized crime as the most successful of several programs put forward by President Nixon, who pledged last fall to restore law and order to the nation's cities.

And Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, chief of the department's criminal division, said, in an interview, the most "definite results in the form of indictments" are still to come — probably next spring.

The progress of this year's antiracketeering campaign cannot be measured in terms of arrest and indictment statistics, he insisted, since many of those result from investigations begun under former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

Nixon's other crime - fighting plans aren't showing the same promise. His proposal to deal with crime in Washington, D.C., is bogged down in Congress, and supporters say there's no chance of passage until the new session next year.

★ ★ ★

No appropriations for anti-crime programs have obtained final congressional action, leaving the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the agency established to administer the 1968 Safe Streets Act, uncertain about how much money it will be able to channel to the states next year.

Taking note of the pending organized crime cases, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said yesterday indictments expected in one city within 10 days will "break up the largest gambling syndicate in history."

NEW JERSEY

He did not specify the place, but he said federal investigators have found "a large group" of Internal Revenue Service employes in one state "to be controlled by the Mafia." Other officials said he referred to New Jersey.

The organized crime program and more vigorous antinarcotics drive are main reasons cited by government prosecutors for budding optimism about law enforcement prospects in the 1970s.

★ ★ ★

Even FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, normally a prophet of rising crime rates, is now saying the problem may be contained within the next few years.

Mitchell said "the cutoff of the narcotics supply into the United States" is one of the major steps needed to restore safety to streets of the nation's large cities.

★ ★ ★

Wilson noted some estimates show crime syndicates obtain much of their income from narcotics trafficking. Over-all, he said, organized crime syphons an estimated $60 billion annually from the nation's wealth.

Cult Link to 12 Deaths Probed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Authorities reportedly are investigating whether 12 persons may have been killed by one or more members of a hippie - style nomadic cult.

Members of the clan already are charged in eight of the murders, including that of actress Sharon Tate.

★ ★ ★

The grim prospect of additional clan victims came to light just before today's arraignment of the Tate case's central figure, Charles M. Manson, 35, the wild - bearded clan leader.

Sheriff's deputies searched a movie ranch near suburban Chatsworth yesterday, looking for signs of Donald O'Shea, 40, a stunt man and beer - hall bouncer missing after a reported quarrel with Manson.

The Los Angeles Times today reported police are investigating possible links between the Tate slayings and the deaths of a dope peddler, a motorcyclist in Bishop, Calif., and a member of the Manson clan in suburban Venice. No details were reported.

With a court ban on comment imposed on officials, police kept mum on developments and deputies scouring the movie ranch were tightlipped.

★ ★ ★

But the ranch's owner, George C. Spahn, 80, said Manson and O'Shea had argued before O'Shea disappeared. The cult had lived on his ranch for a time, Spahn said, against his will.

Prosecutors announced yesterday they will seek a single trial for Manson and the five accused members of his desert tribe.

MUSICIAN'S MURDER

One of the defendants, Susan Atkins, also is charged in the murder of musician Gary Hinman in Malibu, Calif.

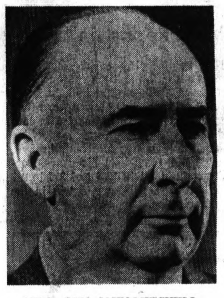

The prosecutors say they expect the defendants will seek separate trials and will try to sever the case of the August slayings of the honey - blonde actress and four others at her estate from that of wealthy market owner Leno LaBianca and his wife, killed the next day.

★ ★ ★

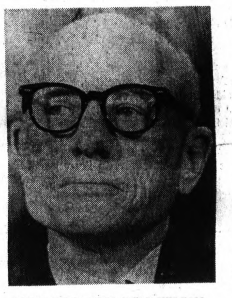

Three young women defendants waived arraignment yesterday on the charges.

Susan Atkins, 21, Linda Kasabian, 20, and Leslie Louise Van Houten, 19, were impassive during the court proceedings. Dec. 16 was set for a plea of guilty or innocent for Miss Atkins and Dec. 22 for Miss Van Houten and Mrs. Kasabian. Miss Van Houten gave the alias Leslie Sankston when arrested and was indicted under that name.

Others charged are Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, held in Mobile, Ala., and Charles Watson, 24, held in McKinney, Tex.

Tax-Reform Bill Is Set for Final Vote in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nearly two weeks of heated debate, the Senate reached the final voting stage today on a far - reaching tax reform bill laden with new Social Security benefits and income tax slashes unacceptable to President Nixon.

Nixon summoned the Democratic and Republican floor managers of the bill, Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and John J. Williams, R-Del., to the White House this morning for a last - minute conference to spell out his objections to the bill.

★ ★ ★

The Senate last night cleared the way for the expected final passage, disposing of the last of scores of amendments and barring further floor additions.

Passage sends the measure to conference with the House almost immediately.

BY END OF NEXT WEEK

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, who will be chairman of the conference committee, predicted a compromise bill will be worked out by the end of next week.

The Senate bill would provide $11 billion in tax relief, while adding $6 billion in new revenue.

★ ★ ★

Nixon said he would veto the measure if it contained the increase in the income tax exemption from $600 to $800 and the 15 per cent across - the - board boost in Social Security benefits.

Democratic leaders privately discounted the veto threat. They said the key Senate amendments will be changed in conference.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, the Senate, by a 56-28 vote, turned down an amendment to delay the major tax cuts until the budget is balanced.

Mayor in N.J. Urged to Answer Questions

NEWARK N. J. (AP) — With U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell predicting "massive indictments of public officials" in a federal crime probe, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio was under court pressure today to answer a federal prosecutor's questions before a grand jury.

The Newark grand jury investigation, which began as an Essex County operation, was taken over by federal authorities yesterady.

★ ★ ★

On Tuesday, Addonizio had pleaded the protection of the Fifth Amendment, a guarantee against self-incrimination, in refusing to answer 24 questions.

★ ★ ★

Appearing yesterday before Judge Robert Shaw of U.S. District Court for a ruling on whether he had a constitutional right to refuse answers, Addonizio said he knew Anthony "Tony Boy" Boiardo, a reputed Cosa Nostra figure.

PREVIOUSLY DECLINED

A question about his acquaintanceship with Boiardo was one of those the mayor had declined to answer previously.

Judge Shaw reserved decision on whether the mayor could still refuse to answer the other questions, but said: "I'm inclined, particularly where a major public official is involved, to order disclosure of affairs involving public office." The mayor's lawyer said Addonizio would answer if necessary to avoid contempt of court proceedings.

★ ★ ★

The Essex County grand jury had questioned 288 witnesses over a period of 19 months. Its investigation began after a commission which looked into causes of racial rioting in 1967 reported "a pervasive feeling of corruption" in Newark.

★ ★ ★

The county panel's only indictment was against Police Director Dominick Spina, on a charge of failure to enforce gambling laws. He was acquitted in a subsequent trial.

IRS AGENTS INDICTED

Federal indictments were returned recently against two New Jersey Internal Revenue agents on bribery charges.

★ ★ ★

The Evening News of Newark reported that "an informer with vast inside information about Newark government" provided the material which led to the federal takeover of the investigation.

★ ★ ★

In Trenton, the state capital, New Jersey Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Sills said he was exploring the possibility of invoking a state law which provides for removal from office of public officials who balk at testifying on matters related to their office. But Sills said no action could be taken against Addonizio until Judge Shaw made his ruling.

12,500 City Auto Workers Affected by GM Shutdowns

Thousands of U.S. auto workers — including 12,500 in Pontiac — are getting unexpected extra Christmas holidays as some manufacturers cut back production to help reduce high inventories.

General Motors Corp. announced yesterday that 60,000 workers will be affected by plant shutdowns during the already shortened Christmas and New Year's holiday work weeks.

The move is designed to reduce the national inventory of unsold new cars, reportedly the highest in the history of the industry.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, schedule adjustments will affect some 12,500 of GM's 36,000 employes here. While GMC Truck and Coach Division will operate on normal schedules, Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body will curtail assembly and some manufacturing operations.

CLOSING DATES

A GM spokesman said 11 GM assembly plants, including Pontiac will close Dec. 22-26 and 13 plants, including Pontiac will be closed Dec. 29-Jan. 2.

All plants had previously been scheduled to close Dec. 24-26 for Christmas and Dec. 31-Jan. 2 for New Year's Day under the firms' contract with the United Auto Workers Union.

By closing plants for the four days between the contractual holidays approximately two weeks of production could be eliminated, according to industry sources.

Employes will receive three paid holidays during each of the two weeks and will receive supplemental unemployment benefits for the other days when the plants are closed, a GM spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

All GM assembly operations will resume normal working hours Jan. 5.

Chrysler Corp., the nation's No. 3 auto maker, reported earlier this week that it will lay off 28,500 production workers during the holidays to help reduce inventories.

Smashup Is Fatal to Troy Patrolman

Smetana was answering an accident call at 2:30 a.m. when his car apparently hit ice and skidded into the bridge abutment, according to Capt. Robert Mortenson.

Smetana was taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he died at 8:30 a.m.

Smetana was a Marine for eight years, a Detroit patrolman for three years and had served on the Troy force since 1966.

He is survived by his wife and two children. Funeral arrangements are pending at Price Funeral Home, Troy.

Mixed Rain, Snow Possible in Area

Skies will be mostly overcast through tomorrow and there's a chance of snow flurries mixed with a little rain, the weatherman reports.

Saturday's forecast is partly cloudy.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures will climb into the 30s again tomorrow and drop into the 20s tonight.

North to northwesterly winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour will diminish slowly tonight.

PRECIPITATION PROBABILITIES

Probabilities of precipitation are 80 per cent today, 40 per cent tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow.

Snow mixed with some rain fell last night and measured about one inch.

Thirty-two was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had moved to 37.

4 on Commission Hit Change

... (EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a two-part story on Pontiac's special election on a proposal to change the method of electing city commissioners.)

By ED BLUNDEN

A majority of the Pontiac City Commission is opposed to the Dec. 18 referendum election on changing the procedure for electing city commissioners.

Four of the commissioners are opposed to the change, two favor it and Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. declines to take sides.

★ ★ ★

The charter change, if approved, would mean each of the city's seven commissioners would be nominated and elected by his own district.

Presently each district has a primary and then the two top vote-getters compete in a citywide election The present system is a modified at-large form adopted in 1964 after a charter change election.

SIMPLY REVERT

If the Dec. 18 proposition wins, the city would simply revert to the former method.

Approval of the charter amendment would lead to the redistricting of the city so that each district would have approximately the same number of voters.

Should the amendment be rejected and commissioners continue to be elected on a citywide basis, redistricting as outlined by state law would not be required.

It is unclear, however, if the nominating primary in each district is part of the general election, thus making the entire process subject to redistricting.

Tied in with the proposition is a change in age and residency requirement for commissioners. This would lower the age requirment to 25 and residency to one year (now 30 and five respectively.)

Most of the commissioners, even those opposed to the change, agree the city needs a new charter. The present one, adopted by voters in 1920, has become extremely patched up by such elections as the one forthcoming.

City commissioners have tentatively agreed to begin procedures to get a new charter. This involves calling an election of charter commissioners and then an election on the proposed charter.

COMMENTS LISTED

Following are the commisioners' comments on the Dec. 18 election issue:

DISTRICT 1: T. Warren Fowler Sr. is opposed to the change. "The present system is more equitable. A commissioner has to serve the entire city and, at the same time, each district is guaranteed a representative on the commission.

★ ★ ★

"Also, I am not in favor of lowering the age or residency requirements. A

School-Aid Bill With Parochiaid Gains in House

LANSING (UPI) — Parochiaid supporters won another victory yesterday with the House Education Committee's advancement of the 1970-71 $1-billion school aid bill, including a $25-million allotment to nonpublic schools, to the appropriations committee.

In addition to the referral, made on an 8-3 vote, the committee voted to strike out a Senate provision which would have prohibited nonpublic schools from practicing religious discrimination.

House Speaker William A. Ryan urged the committee to strike out the prohibition because it was "a practical impossibility" for parochial schools to abide by it.

Opponents argued, however, that public schools are required to abide by the constitutional provision against religious discrimination and nonpublic schools should also do so.

'DOUBLE STANDARD'

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, said the removal of the clause would create "a double standard school system."

"You're saying a little bit of discimination is good as long as you are the beneficiary," he told supporters.

Other critics said removal of the provision would allow non-religious private schools to turn down students on the basis of religion.

The vote was 7-5 on striking the clause, with all five non votes coming from Republicans.

The committee added approximately $52 million to the bill as passed by the Senate last month, bringing the total amount to $1,053,176,000.

However, Capitol sources expected much of the increase to be knocked out of the bill during its study by the Appropriations Committee.

Of the increases, about $30 million would go for additional student allotments and $20 million for capital outlay projects.

House Democratic leaders have been pushing a series of tax measures to pay for the increase which includes bills to raise the state income tax, close tax loopholes and hike the cigarette tax by three cents.

Ryan, who is a prime mover in the House of the tax package, has estimated the income tax hike of .4 per cent would bring in $131 million, the loophole closings $48 million and the cigarette tax $38 million.

Ryan said the House Taxation Committee would probably report out the cigarette tax hike bill during a short meeting today.

The other two tax proposals have been reported out of the committee and have found spots on the legislative calendar for debate.

Nixon's Rights Bill 'a Sham' Says Dem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is facing its first congressional test on civil rights over a voting rights bill branded "a sham and a subterfuge" by a leading Democratic opponent.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who helped write the law the President wants replaced by his bill, told the House yesterday the administration proposal is designed to appease Nixon southern supporters.

★ ★ ★

Celler is supporting a bill that would continue for five more years the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which gives the federal government authority over election procedures in Southern states. The act expires next August.

Nixon has asked Congress instead for a law affecting all 50 states. The government's power to deal with discriminatory state voting laws, however, would be reduced under the administration bill.

GOP DIVIDED

A deep division in Republican ranks caused by Nixon's proposal was brought into sharp focus in yesterday's debate.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, chief House GOP spokesman on civil rights said the progress made by Negro voters could be wiped out if the law lapsed.

★ ★ ★

"The South has not suffered a change of heart," he said. "Progress has been made only by the impact of federal law."

Celler said when Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell presented the administration bill to the Judiciary Committee, he was asked what states outside the south discriminated against Negro voters.

★ ★ ★

"He could not tell us of a single complaint he had received," said Celler. "What the administration is proposing now is to build a dam in Idaho to control a flood in Mississippi."

Glenn Enters Race in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. formally announced today his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Glenn, 48, said he took the step because he "cared very deeply for our country and our state" and was "genuinely concerned about where we are going and how we will approach our many problems."

★ ★ ★

Glenn, who said he spent a year considering the candidacy, called the Vietnam war the most important problem facing Americans.

"That is where Americans are dying and where dreams and ambitions are so violently shattered," Glenn said.

The slightly balding Glenn, first American to orbit the earth in space, will seek the seat being given up by retiring Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young.

★ ★ ★

He is expected to have primary opposition from Howard Metzenbaum, a Cleveland millionaire attorney who managed two successful campaigns for Young.

U. of M. Senior Arrested in His Wife's Murder

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny said a 21-year-old University of Michigan senior has been arrested in connection with the stabbing death of his 19-year-old wife of less than two months.

Krasny said a formal warrant would be requested today to hold James P. Murphy of Dearborn, Mich., who was held on an informal police charge last night.

★ ★ ★

Police said Murphy, a speech student, was arrested after being questioned at length with his father present at police headquarters.

Murphy had earlier told police he found the body of his wife, Gloria, in the blood-spattered bedroom of their apartment near the campus Tuesday. Their two-week-old baby was found unharmed in a basinet near the body, police said.

DEATHS NOT LINKED

Krasny said Mrs. Murphy was clad only in underclothing but had not been sexually abused. He said he saw no connection between her death and the brutal slaying of eight other young women in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area during the past 2½ years.

★ ★ ★

Two men have been charged separately in two of the deaths.

An autopsy showed Mrs. Murphy died of multiple stab wounds in the back.

★ ★ ★

Murphy was taken under police guard to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor yesterday, apparently suffering severe emotional strain. He was returned to jail about three hours later.

'70 State Plates Too Pale for '71

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's policemen apparently have won their argument that the gold and white 1970 vehicle license plates should not be renewed in 1971.

"We decided that certainly this year's colors will not be used for another year under any conditions," Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Zollar, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, met with state corrections and police officials and aides to Secretary of State James M. Hare yesterday to thrash out the problem of the controversial plates.

Several police agencies have criticized the plates, saying policemen found the license numbers difficult to read.

★ ★ ★

In 1971, it was tentatively decided, the plates will revert to the maroon and white colors of the 1969 plates.

Vote Report in Error

The Pontiac Press incorrectly indicated yesterday that the commissioner in District 7, James Marshall, had won his seat after receiving fewer votes than the other nominee in primaries in 1966 and 1968.

In both primaries, Marshall, in fact, polled more votes than his nearest opponent, 332 to 301 in 1966 and 316 to 267 in 1968, before going on to win in the general election.

Black Firemen Win 2nd Time

For a second time, Pontiac's two black firemen — Frederick Milton and Daniel Sowell — were ordered reinstated with full back pay by the Fire Civil Service Commission.

Milton will receive $70 and Sowell $585 in back pay.

The second hearing had been ordered by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer after Marion filed a show-cause suit following the first commission decision in favor of Milton and Sowell.

'Older' Woman Wins Heart of Middle-Aged Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: It's easy to understand why a married man of 42 would leave his wife for a younger woman, but how about a man that age who would leave a beautiful 36 - year - old wife for an old, wrinkled grandmother of 50?

That is exactly what my brother Gordy did. He must be out of his mind. Don't tell me he is looking for "mother love." Our mother is still living and if ever a man got his share of mother love, Brother Gordy did. He was the "baby" of the family, and the only boy — after five girls.

★ ★ ★

So please tell me what an intelligent, good - looking, professional man can see in a divorced 50 - year - old retread? It's not money. She doesn't have any, and he has plenty. Thank you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR DISGUSTED: There is something obviously more powerful in Brother Gordy's book than youth and beauty. One of the biggest mysteries in the world is what two people see in one another, but I suspect your brother's reasons are younger than springtime and older than the hills.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this on behalf of my fellow workers. There is an older woman in our office who has the habit of humming one low - pitched, monotonous note constantly from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

We who work with her have approached her kindly, asking her to please stop. All she says is, "I can't promise anything."

I have a sign on my desk reading, "Marion, will you PLEASE stop humming" — just in case she glances over.

Several of us have imitated her to remind her that she is humming, but that hasn't helped. We have spoken to her supervisor, but to no avail.

For seven months I've endured this constant maddening distraction, and now I even hear it when it's not there. Please, PLEASE, help us.

GOING CRAZY IN HARTFORD

DEAR GOING: Poor Marion has probably developed the humming habit over the years and now she hums unconsciously. But habits are "learned" and can be "unlearned." So UNITE! Tell her gently but emphatically that her humming is driving you bananas. And tell the boss that he'd better install background music to drown out the humming bird, or you'll all go south.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been pounding it into the heads of my two sons, ages four and six, that they are NEVER to accept any kind of gift from a stranger.

My problem is that many times when we are on a bus, or shopping in some public place, some well - meaning person will admire my children and offer them candy, gum, and even money.

I just hate to hurt their feelings, but Abby, it makes it so hard for mothers to train children NOT to accept anything from strangers when strangers keep offering them goodies and money.

Can you please say something to help our cause?

ONLY ONE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'll try: Perhaps it hasn't occurred to all you generous, well - meaning people who "love children" and can't resist offering them goodies or money, that this is the technique used by child molesters who hope to gain a child's confidence in order to get him to "go for a ride," or "not to tell" after improper advances have been made.

Parents should continue to train their children to refuse ALL gifts from strangers, and should a well - intended stranger attempt to countermand the parents' order, he should be set straight in no uncertain terms.

Special Step Is Discussed by Organist

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

The following letter states very well the arguments for the other side on the "hesitation step" question. I enjoy receiving and printing letters challenging my viewpoint or a reader's. In this case, Mrs. L's arguments are valid, but are outweighed by the fact that the "hestitation step" is difficult to master gracefully.

The slowness, and necesity of keeping time and step, make attendants who are already nervous and "shaky," even more unsteady, and awkward. I believe in a slow walk, but one at a more natural, smoother pace.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: I completely disagree with a previous letter written by Mr. Caldicott. I also am a church organist and have been one for more than twenty years. I very definitely recommend the "hestiation step" as he calls it. When a bride spends so much money on her gown, for one of the greatest days of her life, she should show herself and walk as beautifully as she can. The "hestitation step" does not have to be done so slowly.

★ ★ ★

It definitely adds to the beauty and dignity of the ceremony. I don't think five minutes is too much to give to a girl to march down the aisle. The entire ceremony can be finished in fifteen minutes, if it is not a Catholic Nuptial Mass. — Mrs. L.

WEDDING BANDS?

Dear Mrs. Post: My brothers and I would like to give my mother and father a matching wedding band set for Christmas. Mother's band is badly worn and she has hinted several times that she would like a new one, and my father lost his many years ago. Is it proper for us to get bands for them, or is it my father's duty to replace them? — Cathy

Dear Cathy: Although the idea is a nice one, it is not correct for anyone but a husband to give his wife a wedding ring, or vice versa. Give your mother a lovely guard, or a ring if you wish to give her jewelry, but suggest strongly to your father that HE produce a new set of wedding bands for Christmas.

SERVING CHAMPAGNE AT WEDDING BUFFET

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a wedding party in a small apartment. It will be a dinner buffet. The guests will be served at card tables. Should the champgne be served before, after, or with the meal? — Mrs. G.

Dear Mrs. G.: Serve the champagne with the meal. Wine or another beverage may be served from the beginning to the end of the meal. If you do not wish to do that, however, it may be served with the dessert and after the meal.

Flowers Make Party Setting at Barnetts Home in Scottsdale

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Mr. and Mrs. William R. (Betty Lou) Shaw of Bloomfield Hills were recent honor guests at a cocktail party given by Marianne and Maurice Barnett. The Barnetts, of course, are newly-transplanted from this area to Scottsdale, Ariz.

★ ★ ★

The decorations were rather exotic — gardenias, honeysuckle, hibuscus, bird of paradise and "of course, oranges, WOW," writes Marianne. All in the Barnetts garden — the perfect background for a party.

The Shaws weren't the only ones there from here. Also on the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. James Corwin, Si Janes and Jean Loyd, all of Bloomfield Hills, plus James Nederlander of Scottsdale and Birmingham and Pete Lucia, of Phoenix and Birmingham.

Flowers in December are nice, mind you, but Marianne and Maurice are coming north for the holidays, among other things, to renew their acquaintance with snow.

★ ★ ★

More exotica — The local chapter of Ikebana is having a holiday tea on Dec. 17. Guest speaker is Dr. William P. Malm, University of Michigan music professor.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Malm, reputed to be the kind of spellbinder that has the audience in the palm of his hand after the first five minutes, will make lively what could be a forbidding topic in the wrong hands, "The Music of Japan."

Hostess is Mrs. H. E. Bumgardner of Bloomfield Hills. In charge of things generally are Mrs. Robert C. Perkins of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. David E. Bates of Timber Ridge Drive in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Cynthia Diehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Diehl of Suffield Drive in Birmingham, is flying in this weekend to spend the last two weeks, including Christmas, of an extended vacation with the folks.

Cynthia has been touring Europe for a couple of months. Right after the holidays, it's back to her political staff job in Washington, D.C.

Harlech's Unconventional Kids Steal Spotlight at His Wedding

LONDON (AP) — Lord Harlech's long-haired, frilly-shirted sons and maxi-skirted, bead-festooned daughters virtually stole the show today at their father's wedding to American fashion editor Pamela Colin.

Ranging in age from 27 to 14, Francis, Alice, Victoria, Jane, and Julian Orsmby-Gore stood out amid the conventionally clad guests from the worlds of politics, diplomacy, society and show business. Princess Margaret, her husband, Lord Snowdown, and former Prime Minister Harold McMillan headed the guest list.

The 33-year-old bride was among the conventionally dressed, wearing an ankle-length white gown in Grecian style. Her father, New York lawyer Ralph D. Collin, gave her away.

It was the second marriage for Harlech, 51. His first wife died in an automobile accident in 1967. As David Orsmby-Gore, he was ambassador to the United States during the Kennedy administration and after his wife's death frequently escorted the president's widow before she married Aristotle Onassis.

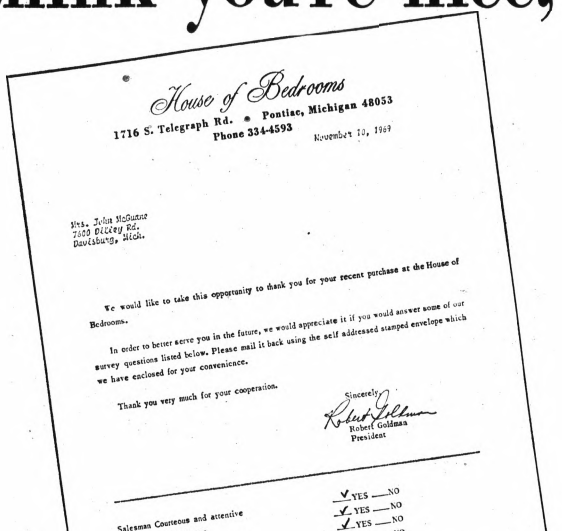

He now heads a commercial television network.

CEREMONY

jointly by the parish priest, the Rev. John Gaskell, and the Rev. Andrew Elphinston, a friend of the bridegroom. The chapel, built in 1730, was used by U.S. forces during World War II and the Stars and Stripes still stands in one corner.

The ceremony in Grosvenor Chapel was an Anglican service conducted ner.

The way you set your dining table may be an expression of your individuality, but nevertheless, there are certain requisites for gracious living that never change, regardless of current vogues. Take this quick and easy test and see where you score in tabletop know-how! Sterling by International.

Tabletop Rules Don't Change

The way you set your dining table is an expression of your individuality. Your choice of flatware, glassware and china is a reflection of your personality.

But when it comes to arranging these pieces at individual place settings, fancy is not permissible. Though entertaining today has become far less formal . . . more casual and flexible . . . there are certain requirements for gracious living that never change, regardless of current vogues.

Where do you stand in the measuremnt of tabletop know-how? Take this little quiz and see.

QUESTIONS

1) All forks are placed at the left side of the plate in the order of use. True——False——

2) Glasses are placed above the dinner knife, with the water glass at the tip and the wine glass on the right. True——False——

3) The individual butter spreader is laid across the top edge of the bread and butter plate, which is placed to the left of the forks. True——False——

4) Bread and butter plates belong in a formal place setting, but are seldom used otherwise. True——False——

5) Except in the case of continental dining, in a formal setting, only the silver to be used is placed on the table. Dessert flatware and the coffee spoon are brought in later. True——False——

6) When candles are used, they should be at such a height that the flame is above eye level of those sitting at the table. True——False——

7) Sterling silver should be saved for best and stored in a dark place to prevent tarnishing. True——False——

8) A napkin is usually placed to the left of the dinnerplate, although it may also be placed on the plate itself. True——False——

9) Always be sure that you face the knife blade cutting edge towards the plate and allow about 24 inches for each place setting. True——False——

10) A lemon fork may also be or butter patse. True——False——

ANSWERS

1) False. There is one exception. The cocktail fork is placed at the extreme right of the spoon.

2) True. And if you should happen to have two wine glasses, the three are arranged in a triangle.

3) False. Although the butter spreader is laid across the top edge of the bread and butter plate, the plate is placed just above the tip of the forks.

4) False. The butter spreader and plate are omitted in formal settings.

5) True. However, some hostesses follow the continental way of placing the dessert silver on the table before the guests sit down. In this case, the dessert fork and spoon are placed horizontally just above the dinner plate, with the spoon handle to the right and the fork handle to the left.

6) True. If the flame is at eye level, the candle becomes a distraction, rather than a source of complimentary beauty.

7) False. Daily use not only enriches silverware with a lustrous patina (a delightful mellow finish that only time can create) but it also prevents tarnish.

8) True. And the formal settings the napkin should be placed on the plate.

9) True. A knife blade should never face outwards, and for comfortable dining, without elbow-bumping, plan on at least a two feet span for each setting.

10) True. While varied in shape and purpose, serving pieces are functionally designed for a multiplicity of use and correct service with many dishes.

Now rate yourself as a knowledgeable hostess.

Four or more wrong? For you, International Silver has prepared a special booklet on tabletop tips, designed to fill you in on all sorts of place setting rules and creative ideas for gracious dining.

And for those of you who scored seven or more right, you're ready to move on to the special section on decorating tips, such as using an ice bucket for a floral arrangement or silver candlesticks for trailing ivy.

In either case, simply write to International Ideas, International Silver Company, Meriden, Conn. 06450, and ask for your guide to gracious dining, free of charge.

Egg Market Survey

Prices Up; Supply Down

By WILLIAM MATHEWSON
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — A survey of the egg market Wednesday showed: prices up, production and consumption down.

And while egg prices vary according to region, there is one common demoninator: Stores report they are all up considerably over the same time last year, and even last month.

Some examples:

Richmond, Va., consumers are now paying about 81 cents for a dozen jumbo eggs. They were paying about 69 cents last year, according to one supermarket's officials. The large size was priced about 57 cents last year, he said, and is now about 77 cents.

★ ★ ★

In a Minneapolis outlet, eggs now ranging from 59 to 78 cents a dozen were priced last year from 49 to 63 cents.

In Metropolitan New York, extra-large eggs cost 89 to 95 cents a dozen and medium-sized cost 75 to 83 cents. Costs have averaged 33 per cent higher than in September.

Figures from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics tell a different story but there is an explanation for the disparity. The bureau says that the national average price for a dozen grade A large eggs was 63.4 cents in October, a slight decrease over the 64.3 cent average price in October 1968.

SAMPLE AREAS

A spokesman for the bureau, however, pointed out that these figues are derived from a sample of 56 locales throughout the nation — including a number of smaller cities and towns, suchas Orem, Utah, and Niles, Mich.

"Some of these places are near egg supplies and naturally pay less," he said.

He expected the bureau's figures to rise when November prices are recorded.

Per capita egg consumption, meantime, is down this year from 1968, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. The department estimates that this year's consumption will amount to 313 eggs per person, compared with 321 in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Egg production is also down. The department reports that 57.3 billion eggs were produced this year from January through October, compared with 58.1 billion in the same period last year.

A variety of reasons was given for the fall-off in production.

According to a Department of Agriculture spokesman, there has recently been "a higher than average mortality of young laying hens."

In New Jersey, state officials say that many poultry farmers have been going out of business. Furthermore, New Jersey officials say that a money shortage in 1967 hampered replacement of pullets.

PRICE BACKLASH

A University of Georgia agricultural experts says today's high egg prices are a backlash from the low egg prices of 1967.

"We had an oversupply that year and eggs dropped to a really low price," he said. As a result, he said, many small poultry operators were forced out of business and the number of laying hens declined.

★ ★ ★

"The egg business runs on a boom or bust sort of cycle," and Atlanta poultry dealer noted.

To bolster the domestic supply, some egg dealers are now buying eggs from sources in Denmark, England and Spain.

Home Chemicals Can Be Hazard

The greatest number of accidents happen right in the home. Run a safety check of your surroundings. The kitchen is a prime booby area. It's stocked with powerful chemicals to keep things clean and sanitary.

But the same labor-saving chemicals that are helpful can be dangerous and even fatal — if they are mishandled. Use them according to directions and keep them away from youngsters.

Crepy Fashions Back

Watch for black crepe dresses with bathing suit tops. They're coming back this spring — in long and short versions.

New Rubella Vaccine Now on Market

DETROIT (UPI) — Parke, Davis and Co. is marketing a new vaccine designed to prevent German measles, (rubella).

Joseph D. Williams, the firm's director of U.S. marketing, said Wednesday the vaccine is recommended for all children between the ages of 1 year and up to adolescence, especially those in kindergarten and early elementary grades — major source for the spread of the virus.

Routine immunization of adolescent and adult females is not recommended, he said.

Williams said an initial shipment of 280,000 doses of the vaccine Rebulegen was made this week to the company's 23 branch offices and distribution centers.

Additional supplies will be distributed as soon as available, he said.

The firm conducted massive clinical trials of the vaccine to get data needed for government approval under an accelerated program, Williams said.

I. W. McLean, MD, and Dr. Robert G. Brackett, both of Parke-Davis, served as medical and scientific monitors for the studies, largest ever conducted by the firm.

More than 20,500 children were given the vaccine, including about 12,000 in Michigan's Wayne, Oakland and Branch counties.

Dental Health

Football Injuries Often Damage Teeth

By DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER

Playing football without a proper mouth guard can be very dangerous to dental health.

In the past, numerous football players in all age groups have had teeth chipped, broken off, and even completely kicked out. Cheeks and lips have been gashed by being accidentally driven with force against the sides of the teeth.

In fact, studies have shown that at least 50 percent of all football injuries occurred in and around the mouth.

This figure was often even higher with less experienced players. In other words, high school players seemed to suffer more dental damage than college or professional players.

★ ★ ★

Still more fractured teeth and cut lips were found among youngsters scrimmaging in a neighborhood lot or playground.

These dangers should be a thing of the past. In areas where wearing a suitable mouth guard is mandatory, dental injuries have been virtually eliminated.

The reason I say suitable is because some players used to wear the old-fashioned type of mouthpiece that boxers wore in the ring. They were better than nothing, but did not offer enough protection and were clumsy. When a quarterback would try to call signals, it would usually fall out of his mouth.

Also, face guards attached to the football helmets do not provide suitable protection against oral injuries.

There are three basic types of mouth guards: custom-made, constructed by your dentist; mouthformed, which can be purchased from an athletic goods dealer; and stock or ready-made which can still be found in stores.

★ ★ ★

A mouth guard should aim to protect the front teeth from a direct frontal blow, fillings and cusps of back teeth from side or under-the-jaw blows; and the soft tissues of the mouth and lips from being forcefully crushed against the tooth surfaces.

It should aim to protect against damage to the jaw joint. And most serious of all, it should aim to protect against a brain concussion from a direct blow to the chin jamming the head of the jaw joint against the skull.

★ ★ ★

Children love comic books. A full-color, educational comic book about home care of the teeth and visiting the dentist can be yours free of charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Howard E. Kessler, THE PONTIAC PRESS, P. O. Box 9, Dept. E-600, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Hors D'Oeuvres May Be Served With Hot Towels

Serving gooey hors d'oeuvres at a holiday party? Then adopt an ancient oriental custom and turn paper towels into little "hot" towels for your guests. Fold a border-printed towel in thirds to form a long rectangle.

Then dip it lightly into warm water scented with cologne or lemon juice. Fold the long rectangle in half. The fold each border-printed edge back over to make an accordion pleated rectangle with the borders showing on each side.

Press the rest of the water out of the towel so that it is merely slightly damp. Make several of the warm little towels and put them conveniently near the appetizers.

Family Party Fetes Couple Wed 60 Years

A family party celebrated the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Rosebush of Lake Orion, Sunday. The couple married Dec. 8, 1909 at Caro and have lived in the Oxford-Lake Orion area for the past 43 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosebush have five sons and four daughters, 44 grandchildren (including the Rosebush Quads of Oakwood) and 34 great-grandchildren.

Their sons are Francis of Livonia; Kenneth of Oakwood; Herbert of Rochester; Harold of West Branch and Charles of Dryden. Three daughters live in Oxford: Mrs. Charles Panduren, Mrs. Ray Kimmel and Mrs. J. A. Salswedel. Isabelle lives in Caro.

Ease Eye Strain

Winter sports can produce unnecessary eye strain when you squint. Although skiing, skating, ice fishing, tobogganing and ice boating require visual concentration, you can ease eye strain by trying to look at things naturally, and resting the eyes by shifting the focus of your gaze to distant objects for a few seconds.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. Is it fattening to eat crackers between meals? Which of the two sports, swimming or tennis, will help you reduce better?

A. Depending on size, from four to six average plain crackers give you 100 calories. These must be counted in on your daily food intake. If you are reducing, I suggest raw carrots, or an apple or orange instead for their mineral and vitamin content.

Either exercise is good. Tennis will reduce you faster unless you swim quite vigorously.

★ ★ ★

Q. If cosmetic wax is used to remove hair from the upper lip, will it leave a shadow or stubble and will it harm the texture of the skin in any way?

A. No, it will not leave stubble nor will it harm the skin. If you have a sensitive skin use it gently and carefully.

★ ★ ★

Q. Approximately how long will it take to lose 15 pounds on a 1,200 calorie diet? Are exercises necessary for reducing so far as losing weight is concerned?

A. Individuals differ according to their metabolism and physical activity but I imagine you would lose between two and four pounds a week. Exercise is most beneficial because it burns up calories and distributes your weight properly. You will have a much prettier figure if you exercise along with your diet.

★ ★

Q. I am 15 and would appreciate it if you would tell me how to reduce the leg.

A. Lie on your back and lift first the left and then the right leg up as far as you can. As you lift each leg pull the toes back toward your head. You will feel the pull in the back leg muscle.

Local Cage Teams Continue Charge Toward Showdown

SMU Wrecks Georgia Tech

By the Associated Press

The Rambling Wrecks from Georgia Tech got wrecked deep in the heart of Texas.

Which means the Yellow Jackets from Atlanta got whipped by Southern Methodist 72-66 at Dallas in a major upset in college basketball Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

It was Georgia Tech's first defeat after three straight victories over Virginia, Georgia and Oklahoma City. Conversely it was SMU's first victory after three straight defeats.

The unranked Yellow Jackets, coached by John Hyder, have high hopes for a successful season after a 12-13 record a year ago. And at the start it seemed that they had their fourth straight in the bag.

FAST START

Led by Rich Yunkus, who finished with 29 points, Tech hit on its first nine shots from the field and took a 14-point lead at 20-6. The Mustangs rallied in the second half behind Woody Taliaferro and Gene Phillips, who combined for 38 points with 19 each. A jumper by Phillips put SMU ahead to stay at 58-57.

In other games, Calvin Murphy tallied 33 points to lead Niagara over Buffalo State 83-80, Oregon beat Portland 93-78, Wake Forest took Appalchian 71-49, Bradley squeaked by Indiana State 74-73 and Connecticut whacked New Hampshire 81-61.

Unbeaten Notre Dame and Villanova, ranked No. 10 and 12 in the Associated Press poll, extended their winning streaks.

★ ★ ★

Austin Carr's 42 points led the Irish to an 111-92 victory over Northern Illinois for their fourth in a row. Villanova made its record 3-0 by routing North Dakota 107-57 behind Howard Porter's 28 points and 27 rebounds.

South Carolina, No. 8, and Colorado, No. 17, the only teams in the AP Top Twenty to see action, also won. The Gamecocks whipped East Carolina 68-49 and Colorado downed Evansville 97-66.

LaSalle shaded Eastern Kentucky 84-82 and Princeton downed Maryland 75-67.

LIBERTY BOWL

Tulsa beat Arkansas 74-66 and Memphis State defeated Mississippi State 83-74 in the first round of the Liberty Bowl Classic.

Syracuse went overtime to overcome Cornell 89-80, Boston College humbled Canisius 70-56, Yale beat Brown 75-65, Fordham topped Seton Hall 74-67 and Fairleigh Dickinson nipped Navy 59-58.

REAL TITANS—Steve Hoffman (left) and Sam Brady have been "towers" of strength under the backboard for Pontiac Catholic. Hoffman is 6-5, one inch taller than Brady. The unbeaten Titans seek their fifth win Friday against Bishop Borgess. It will be a home encounter for PCHS.

Huskies, PCH, Catholic Still Are Unbeaten

Full Schedule Set in Inter-Lakes Loop; Chiefs Travel Friday

One thing is for certain.

Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Catholic, all unbeaten on the basketball court thus far, know that at least two of them will suffer losses before they go into the New Year.

Pontiac Central's high powered cage machine, with all-state candidate Campy Russell, travels to Flint Central Friday night in search of its third straight victory.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Northern has a league encounter at Lathrup tomorrow and the Huskies are fresh from a big victory Monday night at Highland Park to boost their record to 2-0.

Northern and Central could be unbeaten when they go into their crosstown clash, Wednesday Dec. 23, at Pontiac Central.

Pontiac Catholic, with a 4-0 mark, is host to Bishop Borgess Friday night in a league encounter and the Titans could very well be 7-0 when they battle Pontiac Northern in a holiday clash, Dec. 27, at PNH.

DATE CHANGE

The game is listed for Dec. 30 on the schedule but has been changed to the Dec. 27 date.

The Huskies have the toughest part of the schedule in their next three encounters after the Lathrup game. They must meet Inter-Lakes co-favorite Livonia Stevenson Friday, before their games with Central and Catholic.

★ ★ ★

Stevenson's experienced quintet visits Waterford tomorrow night, while Farmington travels to Walled Lake Central in the other Inter-Lakes contests.

Waterford has a 1-0 mark after edging Milford in its opener 10 days ago, while Farmington nipped Bentley, 83-82 and Walled Lake edged Plymouth, 63-61 in its opener.

SHOULD END

This means all Inter-Lakes teams except Lathrup are enjoying the thrill of being unbeaten, but it should all end tomorrow.

Farmington has Paul White as the key to its attack. White hit for 37 in the win over Bentley and Dan Steinke chipped in with 20.

Walled Lake Central had some balance in scoring with Bob Seirra and Mike Ridley hitting the high points against Plymouth.

Ex-All-Oakland Cager Big Scorer at Ohio U.

ATHENS, O. — A chat with John Canine, Ohio University's outstanding senior guard invariably turns to a discussion of religion.

Not that Canine is a goody - goody, far from it.

But because of the faith he has, it permeates his body, mind and spirit.

Although basketball has given the high school standout, honorable mention All - American "some of my biggest thrills, it thrills me most when I see someone accept Christ in their life."

Religion runs deeply throughout the Canine family. John's father is a Baptist Minister in hometown Hazel Park.

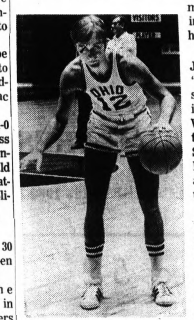

His brother Sam has the same position in Lima, O., and a brother - in - law, Warren Allen, ditto in Arcanum, O.

At Ohio, John is known to most people for his basketball ability.

Canine's what coaches term "a pure shooter."

HAS GUIDANCE

"That's what I do best — shoot," John agrees, but he takes no personal credit for it. "For without God guiding that basketball from my hand, I wouldn't score a point."

JOHN CANINE

Canine, former All-Oakland County star, set a new school scoring record with 25.8 per game as a freshman.

But his introduction to Mid - American basketball was typically tough his sophomore year when he managed 11.9, coming on strong late in the year. Last year he upped it to 16.4 and in the first game this winter at Northwestern, he scored 28 points.

★ ★ ★

"He's a tremendous shooter," says Ohio coach Jim Snyder, "one of the pure shooters we've had. He's matured greatly and learned much about the other phases of basketball, defense and team play. He knows what to look for without harming his shooting ability. And of course, he's a great young man."

John practices what he preaches. He was instrumental in forming a Fellowship of Christian Athletes Group on campus, and has spoken to many Church and Youth groups in and around Athens, and home.

Religion also played a part in John going to Ohio University. "At the time Coach Snyder spoke to me, he was also talking with Greg McDivitt from Windham, O., and a member of the same faith. One night Coach Snyder called me from Greg's home and Greg and I talked for awhile and it helped me decide upon Ohio University."

Canine was born and raised in Blanchester, O., and was thinking then of attending college in the Buckeye state.

Canine is undecided about his future. "I'd like to have a chance at pro basketball," he says, but I'm also considering graduate school, possibly the seminary, or teaching."

Raiders vs. Chiefs

Grudge Match Looms

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — There's more than a Western Division showdown for the American Football League playoffs riding on Saturday's game at Oakland between the Raiders and the Kansas City Chiefs.

It's more like a grudge match for the Chiefs, who have been beaten by the Raiders five games in the last six over the past three seasons.

★ ★ ★

The latest humiliation, 27-24, took place in Kansas City Nov. 23, and there's a feeling among some fainthearted Chiefs supporters that the Raiders have got a hex on them.

"I know there's a lot of talk about us and the Raiders," says Kansas City middle linebacker Willie Lanier. "But that doesn't bother me. I don't think there is such a thing as a mental barrier that keeps us from beating the Raiders."

SORE KNEE

Chiefs quarterback Len Dawson, expected to start after nursing a sore knee for two weeks, admits there is a psychological aspect to the game.

"You can expound all you want on psychology," he said, "but you still have to go out and win the game on the field.

★ ★ ★

"Certain games are more significant than others, naturally, and I think there will be a lot of mental preparation for this game, yes. Friday will be murder, with everyone anticipating the game. You've got to believe you're capable of winning. You've got to believe you're going to win it."

The Chiefs say they do, and so does their coach, Hank Stram.

"We had a long stage with San Diego," he said, "when we just couldn't beat the Chargers, but we finally got through the jungle and now we are able to beat them. It was the same way with Buffalo, and the same with the (Los Angeles) Rams.

"It has been the same with the Raiders. We've won—what, one of the last five in the regular season? That isn't very good, but I don't know why we haven't done better. If you're psyched, how do you explain it? It happens, and it's more attitude than anything else.

★ ★ ★

"These things, though, always turn. They always go the other way. We think there was a turning when Oakland beat us. Whether there was or not we'll find out Saturday."

British Prove Best Team on Roller Skates

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina (AP) — A victory by John Foley in the 10,000 meter race gave great Britain the team title Wednesday as the world roller skating speed championships ended here.

★ ★ ★

Britain gathered 389 points to top defending champion Italy's 383. Argentina was third with 286 and Spain fourth with 279.

★ ★ ★

Foley won the 10,000 meters in the final 30 seconds, passing Dean Hayes and Gerard Glover of New Zealand, who finished second and third respectively.

The American-style Challenger Lord 10,000 meter race, which did not count toward the team title, was by Argentina's Scarati and Rafaldi.

First Balloting Proves Rerun

By the Associated Press

The new season looks like it might be rerun of the 1968-69 year with Kentucky Wesleyan ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press' opening small college basketball poll.

The Panthers, 2-1 so far this season, drew 291 points and five firsts in the national balloting by sportswriters and sportscasters Wednesday while Southwest Missouri State received 186 votes and two firsts for second place.

Kentucky Wesleyan whipped the Bears 75-71 for the NCAA college division championship last year while the Nos. 3 and 4 teams this week, Ashland, Ohio, and American International made it to the semifinals in the small college tourney last March. American International then nipped Ashland, 53-51 for third place in the national tourney.

Mott Game Switched

Waterford Mott must wait before playing a home basketball game.

The Corsairs were scheduled to play Livonia Churchill at Mott Friday, but the "home" opener has been moved to the Kettering gym. Mott's new gym is suffering from construction delays.

★ ★ ★

Kettering was supposed to visit Mott next Tuesday. However, that contest now has become a home game for the Captains. Kettering's home wrestling meet with Adams next Tuesday has been switched to the Mott auditorium.

ECAC May Expel Yale Over Eligibility

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale University faced the possibility today of possible expulsion from the Eastern College Athletic Conference and disciplinary action by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for continuing to use an ineligible basketball player.

★ ★ ★

Knowing it might eventually have to forfeit the game, Yale used the player in question, 6-foot-8 Jack Langer, for 12 minutes in Wednesday night's 75-65 Ivy League victory over Brown at Providence, R.I. He scored six points.

★ ★ ★

Earlier in the day, Yale had been censured by the ECAC for using Langer in its first two games, both defeats, against Fordham and Connecticut. The Elis next play Saturday at Holy Cross.

There apparently will be no further action against Yale until the NCAA Council, including the committee on infractions, begins a week-long meeting in Washington, D. C., Jan. 9. The 190 members who make the ECAC the nation's largest conference will meet in conjunction with the NCAA Convention.

Langer was ruled ineligible by the ECAC last September for playing with the U.S. team in the Maccabiah Games in Israel in August. Seven other collegians withdrew from the U.S. team after the NCAA, in another battle with the Amateur Athletic Union, refused sanctions for collegians.

APPROVED BY SCHOOL

Langer's participation in the Maccabiah Games was approved by the Yale governing board and Kingman Brewster Jr., president of the university.

"We are not looking for a fight with the ECAC and we are not backing away," said DeLaney Kiphuth, Yale's athletic director. "Langer is free to play with our backing. It is up to Coach Joe Vancisin how much he will play in each game."

★ ★ ★

"I had no hesitation in playing him," Vancisin said after Wednesday night's game. "If we weren't using a press he would have played a lot more.

"The situation is not up to us, it's up to the ECAC. What are they going to do? All I do is coach. It seems that everybody has been hounding Langer—magazines, newspaper, etc.—and naturally it's hard for him to keep his mind on basketball."

Tarkenton Is Back of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Fran Tarkenton has been criticized for not following the game plan. Grandstand experts moan because he doesn't stay in the pocket. The Yankee Stadium boo birds have serenaded him.

But that was all before last Sunday. Tarkenton brought them all to their feet, cheering the end of a seven-game losing streak and dreaming of a rosy future, when he led the New York Giants to a 49-6 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

For his four touchdown passes and brilliant play-calling, the Associated Press has named Tarkenton the offensive player of the week in the National Football League.

"Game plans are flexible," said Tarkenton after the game.

Clay Getting Set to Fight Frazier in Miami Feb. 16

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Cassius Clay has gone into training in Chicago even before attorneys work out final details of a dream bout in Tampa Feb. 16 with heavyweight Joe Frazier.

Attorney Bob Arum said Clay "became very emotional about the chance to fight, even if it's for nothing. When I told him what was in the works, he said 'Praise be to God.' He went into training Wednesday."

Arum met Wednesday with promoters Ron Gorton and Mike Malitz to work out details of the bout. Arum said the final contract should be signed by the end of this week.

Santa Anita Closed

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Santa Anita race track probably won't open its winter meeting as scheduled Dec. 26 because of a contract dispute with parimutuel employes, a negotiator for the track said Wednesday.

Hardwick Top Money Winner

Enters Last Tourney Ahead by $18,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Professional bowler Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky. is approaching the end of the 1969 Professional Bowling Association tour as the leading money winner with $63,260.

Hardwick's total is over $18,000 greater than second place money winner Jim Goodman of Elkhart, Ind.

★ ★ ★

Hardwick will enter the last tournament of the year, the Hawaiian Invitational, on Dec. 20 where first place prize is $20,000.

The top ten money winners and their earnings are:

Hardwick, $63,260; Goodman, $44,848; Dick Weber of St. Louis, Mo., $42,135; Dick Ritger of Hartford, Wis., $38,343; Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill., $37,183; Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., $35,420; Johnny Guenther of Seattle, Wash., $34,498; Don Johnson of Kokomo, Ind., $33,303; Don Glover of Bakersfield, Calif., $30,685; and Mike McGrath of El Cerrito, Calif., $28,650.

New York Rangers Keep Undefeared Mark Going

Ron Stewart, out killing a New York penalty, recovered a loose puck and blistered it past Gerry Cheevers for a 3-2 edge. Then Ratelle and Rod Gilbert wrapped it up with third period goals.

★ ★ ★

Montreal was stymied for two periods by 45-year-old Johnny Bower, who was making his first start of the season in goal for Toronto. But then the Canadiens erupted for four goals in the final 20 minutes to beat the Maple Leafs.

Defenseman Serge Savard scored two of the Montreal goals. Claude Provost got the final Canadiens' goal into an empty net. It was the 250th of his career.

Bill Goldsworthy tapped in two rebound goals 11 seconds apart to lead Minnesota past Chicago in a wild game.

SECOND GOAL

Claude Larose followed Goldsworthy's pair with his second goal of the night as the North Stars scored three times in 1 minute, 17 seconds. The victory stretched Minnesota's unbeaten streak to five games and ran the club's record against the East Division to 5-3 this season—best of any West team. Minnesota won only four games from the East last year.

The North Stars' outburst came against rookie Tony Esposito who took an NHL-leading 1.92 goals against average into the game. Esposito faced 43 shots.

★ ★ ★

Goldsworthy described his first goal as "a Harmon Killebrew swat" after Esposito had bobbled Danny Grant's shot. Wren Blair, coach of the North Stars, called the 13-goals scored in the game, "great for the crowd but not much for the players or coaches or the players."

Jean Pronovost scored both of Pittsburgh's goals in the final period and goalie Les Binkley turned in his second shutout of the season, stopping 20 shots by Los Angeles.

Red Berenson tallied twice in the third period at Oakland. The Seals had gone in front 3-2 on a goal by Carol Vadnais before Berenson salvaged the tie with his second goal with less than three minutes to play.

Dayton Outskates Generals to Gain Five-Point Lead

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Dayton Gems of the International Hockey League edged past the Flint Generals here Wednesday night, 4-3.

Don Westbrooke scored a pair of goals for the Gems to hike his league scoring lead to 39 points. The Gems are now five points up on Toledo in the Southern Division. Duncan Rousseau scored the winning goal and Walley Kozak scored a goal and two assists to lead the Generals.

The Gems put their 14-11-1 record against Toledo here Sunday night.

People in the News

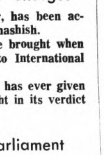

By The Associated Press

Musician Graham Jackson, a favorite accordion player of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been sworn in as the first Negro member of the Georgia Board of Corrections.

After the ceremony yesterday in Atlanta, Ga., Jackson, 67, asked Gov. Lester Maddox if he could have the pen used, but the governor refused.

"No, I'll give you one you can have. These cost too much," the governor said.

Maddox had cheaper pens brought in and gave Jackson two.

Rock Singer Acquitted of Dope Charges

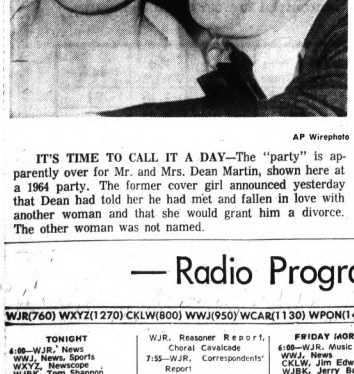

Jimi Hendrix, the American rock singer, has been acquitted of charges of possessing heroin and hashish.

The charges against the singer, 27, were brought when he went through customs May 3 at Toronto International Airport.

"It is the best Christmas present Canada has ever given me," Hendrix declared after the jury brought in its verdict of innocent yesterday in Toronto.

Swiss President Elected by Parliament

The Swiss Parliament has elected Hans Peter Tschudi, minister of the interior, as president of Switzerland for 1970. The presidency is rotated annually among the seven members of the national cabinet.

IT'S TIME TO CALL IT A DAY—The "party" is apparently over for Mr. and Mrs. Dean Martin, shown here at a 1964 party. The former cover girl announced yesterday that Dean had told her he had met and fallen in love with another woman and that she would grant him a divorce. The other woman was not named.

Another 'Somebody' Enters Dean's Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dean Martin's theme song is "Everybody Loves Somebody"—and for him, his wife says, it's somebody new.

"It is painfully difficult for me to announce the apparent end of our marriage," the former cover girl Jeanne Riegger, 47, announced Wednesday.

* * *

"My husband informed me several weeks ago that he had met and fallen in love with someone, and he asked me for a divorce. I have assured him I will comply with his wishes. Proceedings will begin immediately." She gave no name.

MARRIED 20 YEARS

Martin, 52, a $5-million-a-year television and movie entertainer, could not be reached for comment. A spokesman denied knowledge of the identity of the "someone." Even the gossip columnists gave no hint of her identity.

The Martins, married 20 years, with three children—Dean has four more by a previous marriage—separated in 1955. But reconciled.

* * *

In a statement issued by a law firm, the attractive, blonde Mrs. Martin said:

"My deepest concern at the present is for our children. It is my hope that all concerned will make every effort to see that their lives are kept within as normal a pattern as the situation will permit.

* * *

"The children have always felt great love and respect for their father, and I fully intend that it remain so."

The couple's children are Dino, 18; Ricci, 16, and Gina, 13. Martin's children by the previous marriage are Craig, 27; Claudia, 26; Gail, 24, and Deana, 21.

IN SHOW BUSINESS

Gail, married in 1968, is a singer, and Deana, married last June, is an actress. Dino performs with the musical group "Dino, Desi and Billy." Craig is on the production staff of his father's television show. Claudia has done some acting.

Columnists have said differences between the Martins include the fact that, contrary to his image as a hard-drinking partygoer, he is an early-to-bed type while Jeanne likes to go to an occasional party.

* * *

She was once hospitalized for several weeks, but Dean never visited her. This shocked their friends but not his wife. "Dean has a thing about hospitals," she said philosophically.

A Look at TV

Cash Preview Unwitting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — NBC, probably quite unwittingly, provided air time Wednesday night for a preview of "The Johnny Cash Show" which next month will have its mid-season premiere in the same time spot on rival ABC.

MISS LOWRY

The popular country and western singer was the star of a "Music Hall" show and a tuneful hour it was, with songs ranging from the 1870 "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" to the 1969 "Is That All There Is?" It was a forceful demonstration of how far country and western has traveled in the past three years: Cash worked with guest star Peggy Lee, about as city and eastern-style singer as there is around, and it came off as smooth as silk.

The theme of the hour did not fit the stars and their style as comfortably as the music. Most on the songs were introduced by Cash reading exerpts from Carl Sandburg, and it was all just a little too majestic and high flown. Cash seemed more at ease when, guitar over shoulder, he was singing his own songs.

"Music Hall" has been quietly around for several seasons, steadily picking up larger audiences. Now it has moved into the top third of the Nielsen list, an ascent that seems tied up with a format of making each weekly show a sort of special for comics like Alan King and singers like Cash and Eddie Arnold.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

The series that follows, "Then Came Bronson,' 'has to be one of NBC's major disappointments of the season. The series, shot entirely on location, is offbeat and distinctive. But somehow it just doesn't seem to be cutting it in the ratings and its future after this season is uncertain.

Wednesday night's episode had the peripathetic hero, Bronson, finding another solitary motorcyclist stranded with engine trouble outside Phoenix. In spite of rebuffs from the cyclist, a young and very hostile Negro, he helped get the machine to a garage and helped pay the excessive charge for repairs.

* * *

The rest of the story centered on the other man's problems—finding money to repay Bronson and making his peace with his alienated family in Phoenix.

Michael Parks as Bronson has an interesting reserve and laconic manner. Robert Hooks acquitted himself well as the angry young Negro—a character which threatens to become a television stereotype.

* * *

Diana Ross and the Supremes will make their farewell TV appearance as a team on Ed Sullivan's Dec. 21 show. The trio's breakup, with Diana Ross becoming a single act, has been in the works for a long time and, in retrospect, they seem to have been making as many farewell appearances as the late Sarah Bernhardt. This time it will be for keeps because the two remaining Supremes will be joined by Jean Terrell as the new lead singer.

C5A 'Informer' Eyed for Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cost analysis expert who lost his Pentagon job after telling Congress of cost overruns in the C5A supertransport program may wind up with another government post.

White House sources said Wednesday A. Ernest Fitzgerald is being considered for another government post, possibly outside the Defense Department.

* * *

The Air Force abolished Fitzgerald's $28,900-a-year post as deputy for management systems in the office of the asistant secretary for financial management.

Fitzgerald, who told Congress the C5A program would cost $2 billion more than the original $3.1 billion estimate, said his job was abolished because of the disclosure. The Air Force said it was part of an economy move.

Worm Sale Eyed

GABARONE, Botswana (AP) — This impoverished African republic is studying the feasibility of marketing mopane worms. The juicy caterpillars, found on mopane trees, are a popular native food raw, fried or dried.
