Be Ready to Dodge Raindrops Thursday

Partly cloudy and warmer tonight with a low of 44-48 is the prediction for the Pontiac area by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Thursday will be cloudy with occasional rain and cool with a high of 60.

For the next five days temperatures will average near or slightly below the normal high of 60 degrees and the normal low of 50.

Precipitation will total around one-half to three-quarters of an inch with showers or thunderstorms Thursday and showers Sunday.

The lowest recording preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 40 degrees. The thermometer registered 60 at 2 p.m.

Seven to Study Patient Abuses in State Homes

Rep. Harry J. Phillips of Port Huron Likely to Head Inquiry

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Harry J. Phillips, was the informal choice today to head up an investigation of Michigan's mental hospital system.

Phillips, Port Huron Republican, topped a bi-partisan committee of seven named by House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) yesterday to conduct the probe between the 1958 and 1959 sessions of the legislature.

The investigation was touched off in the waning days of the Legislature by charges of patient abuses at Coldwater State Home and Training School and Caro State Hospital for Epileptics.

The investigating committee will name its own chairman, but Phillips, a 15-year legislative veteran with a wide background in mental health affairs in state government, was practically assured of the job.

Vice chairman likely will be Rep. Sterling Eaton (R-Plymouth), freshman lawmaker who heads the Mental Hospitals Committee in the House.

Others in the group are Reps. Lloyd Gibbs (R-Portland), Donald A. Brown (R-Royal Oak), T. John Lesinski (D-Detroit), Frank D. Williams (D-Detroit) and William R. Copeland (D-Wyandotte).

The House directed the committee to make a full-scale investigation of operational procedures and practices in Michigan's mental hospitals. The probe was authorized after the House Ways and Means Committee found "probable cause" for charges of patient mistreatment.

The Ways and Means Committee summoned Dr. E. J. Rennell, medical superintendent at Coldwater, to a hearing last week on the basis of complaints by Rep. Carroll C. Newton (R-Delton).

Before fellow lawmakers, Newton charged that his late brother-in-law, Ivan Tobias of near Hastings, had been severely beaten on several occasions during the four years he was a patient at the Coldwater hospital.

Other legislators reported complaints of mistreatment at the Caro hospital.

Gravel Truck, Car Collision Claims Life

RESULT OF FATAL ERROR — Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said that Barbara Fitzgerald, 26, of Farmington, made a fatal error when she failed to heed a stop sign on Perry St. at Opdyke Rd. yesterday. She died at Pontiac General Hospital two hours after this southbound truck and trailer carrying 20 tons of gravel plowed into the car she was driving. A companion, Betty Lelander was injured. The force of impact drove the convertible into the ground up to its fenders, on the center island of Opdyke Rd.

Prospects Bright for Railroad Aid

Broader Form of Ike's Program Expected to Pass Congress

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate's interstate commerce chairman said today a broadened form of President Eisenhower's railroad aid program will probably pass this Congress — with a "phase-out" cut in transportation taxes.

The administration yesterday afternoon sent to Congress proposals for federal guarantees of up to 700 million dollars in private loans and other measures to help the nation's railroads.

Recommendations to remedy "the deteriorating railroad situation" were submitted by Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks to the Senate transportation subcommittee, headed by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.).

President Eisenhower, in a letter to Weeks, said the proposals "to solve the railroad problem and strengthen the transportation industry are in my judgment sound."

He added: "All the recommendations should be enacted into law with dispatch. I hope that no effort will be spared to achieve this result."

Sunshine or Not, St. Clair River Still for Penguins

ALGONAC (AP) — The St. Clair River presented an Arctic scene today, although warm sunshine flooded the surrounding countryside.

The icebreaker Mackinaw led a convoy of eight ships down the ice - choked river today.

Capt. Evor Kerr of the Mackinaw said ice was 15 feet thick in some places and jammed bank - to - bank, but added "we managed to break up the big floes and relieve pressure points in the river."

Meanwhile 10 ships waited at anchor in Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River for upbound escort by the Mackinaw through what Kerr described as the St. Clair River's worst ice of the season.

Four lake freighters caught in the ice yesterday were freed last night by the Mackinaw and four other Coast Guard icebreakers operating in the river.

Kerr said it might be another five or six days before the St. Clair Channel is free of ice.

Interlake shipping was brought to a standstill yesterday when the Coast Guard ordered the river closed to traffic.

Truck-Car Collision Fatal for Farmington Mother

A truck-car collision at Perry St. and Opdyke Rd., in Pontiac Township, yesterday took the life of a Farmington Township mother and injured her companion.

Dead is Mrs. Barbara Fitzgerald, 26, of 26804 Grayling St. She died at Pontiac General Hospital about two hours after the smashup, without regaining consciousness.

Her companion, Betty Lelander, 30, of 21636 Weedington St., Farmington Township, is reported in satisfactory condition today with scalp lacerations and a fractured ankle.

Truck driver Thomas H. Thompkins, 31, of Detroit, an employe of the Farmington Transportation Co., was uninjured. He was released by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies after making a statement.

Oakland Highway Toll in '58 25

Deputies said witnesses told them that the woman failed to stop for a sign at the intersection while entering Opdyke Rd. from Perry St.

The dump truck, which was hauling a trailer and carrying 20 tons of gravel, swerved but struck her car in the left side. The two vehicles plowed into the center island of the double lane highway.

The injured woman was thrown from the car. Mrs. Fitzgerald was pinned behind the wheel, said deputies.

'Dividend Days' Offer Bargains in Pontiac

Bargains in spring and summer merchandise for the entire family and home are promised Pontiac area shoppers tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

The extra savings are part of a three - day "Dividend Days" offered by almost all downtown merchants through the Retail Division of the Downtown Pontiac Assn.

Sydney Barnett, division chairman, said today, "This is a tremendous opportunity for the housewife to get rock-bottom prices on seasonal merchandise that usually are offered only at the end of the summer."

Today's Pontiac Press carries a special section devoted to the values offered during the Dividend Days sale.

Pentagon Plan Critics Draw Sharp Retort

Sees 1-Man-Rule Fear 'as Sensible as Saying Congress Going Nuts'

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower angrily declared today that it might be just as sensible to say that Congress is suddenly going nuts as it is for lawmakers to charge that his defense plan would create one-man rule of the military.

The chief executive used the colloquialism in a stormy exchange with a reporter at Eisenhower's fifth consecutive weekly news conference.

There were other moments of anger in the question - and - answer session with 231 newsmen. The President snapped a flat "no" when asked to comment on a Democratic charge that the Korean truce was "tenuous."

Eisenhower also displayed some irritation when asked about Democratic charges that his unemployment relief program would discriminate against jobless workers who are not covered by state insurance plans.

After apologizing for arriving six minutes late at the news conference, a delay which an aide announced was due to his running behind with appointments, Eisenhower made these points:

—The Democratic - sponsored unemployment relief bill to cover uninsured as well as state-insured workers has grave defects which might tend to destroy the whole unemployment insurance system.

He said it would completely eliminate state influence from the program but he declined to say whether he would veto the bill in its present form.

RECESSION LEVELING OFF

—There has been evidence in the last few weeks that the rate of decline in the business recession has been flattening out and therefore there is much hope.

However, he said he is not trying to be a Pollyanna and say everything is lovely because there must still be a lot of agonizing reappraisal of the economic situation every day.

—He again warned against rushing into any tax cuts be-

Gigantic Atomic Reactor En Route to Site in State

CINCINNATI (AP) — A powerful 200-ton crane reached over yesterday, plucked a huge stainless steel container from an Ohio River barge, and shifted it to a specially built railroad car.

The steel device, weighing 91 tons, will become the heart of the Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant being built at Monroe, Mich.

This is the last lap of travel for the cumbersome container, but it also will be the trickiest.

Nobody is quite sure how long it will take to cover the remaining 670 miles, because the train will travel only in the daytime and never faster than 15 m.p.h.

But railroad engineers have studied the best route for the cumbersome cargo and are taking no chances. Where the big container has a tight fit, such as through a bridge, the locomotive will be unhooked and crews will use a winch to pull the car through, an inch at a time.

Clearance problems, in the rail segment of the trip are acute. Bridge, high trestle, and underpass clearances have been carefully checked all along the route.

Tree limbs, wires and telephone cables have been cleared. At Delaware, Indiana, a highway bridge over the Baltimore and Ohio tracks was raised and widened.

At many points, a series of moves will be made by the flat car to avoid other highway bridges. At Benton Harbor, where there are three river bridges, "shims" will be used on the rails to tilt the cargo clear of side structures.

The container, made of four sections welded together, was built at Chattanooga, Tenn., and moved 928 miles up the Tennessee and Ohio Rivers on a barge in a fairly uncomplicated trip.

The container will enclose a blanket of uranium around a core of nuclear fuel that will produce heat. The heat will be piped off to turn water into steam that will power conventional electric turbine generators.

The plant, being built by a syndicate of 43 power firms, is expected

GIANT ATOMIC REACTOR — This is the 91-ton steel container — heart of the breeder reactor atomic power plant — now on the final lap of a 1,598-mile journey by barge and rail from Chattanooga, Tenn., to its ultimate site of operation, the Enrico Fermi Power Plant, at Monroe, Mich. The cumbersome cargo has created acute transportation problems during the long journey. The Fermi power plant is a project of Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., and 41 other firms comprising Atomic Power Development Associates, Inc. ADPA is a non-profit organization responsible for research, development and design for the Fermi project.

Plan Groundbreaking for MSU-Oakland

Groundbreaking for the $2 million building, which will house Michigan State University Oakland at Walton Blvd. and Squirrel Rd., east of Pontiac, has been set for 2:30 p.m. Friday, May 2.

The first big unit of the university will be located in the northwest corner of the extensive site donated by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson. It will contain administration offices, auditorium, 39 classrooms and other facilities for a complete educational plant.

Construction contracts are to be awarded by the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of the university, May 1. Completion is anticipated by August of '59.

The groundbreaking ceremony will be relatively brief. President John A. Hannah will turn the first sod, and Harold A. Fitzgerald, Pontiac Press publisher and chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee for MSUO, will be master of ceremonies.

The Wilsons will be on the platform and Mrs. Wilson is expected to make brief remarks. There will be no formal addresses, however.

Guests of honor invited include Gov. Williams, members of the State Board, State Senators L. Harvey Lodge and George Steeh of Oakland and Macomb Counties, other university, county and township officials and members of the Citizens Advisory Committee.

A delegation of school children and citizens of Rochester are expected to attend. Invocation will be given by the Rev. William H. Marbach, of First Presbyterian Church, and benediction by the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly, of St. Michael's Catholic Church.

Amendments Threaten Bill

Indefinite Delay May Result From Additions to Labor Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — An outpouring of proposed amendments threatened to delay indefinitely any Senate action on labor legislation.

The amendments, most of them containing proposals bitterly opposed by organized labor, would be attached to a bill for federal regulation of employe pension and welfare funds. Labor leaders have endorsed the welfare fund proposal if it covers both union and management-operated funds.

Some senators said privately they were sure the pension-welfare fund proposal was the only labor bill that had a chance of getting through Congress this year. They expressed fear that even it would fail if it were opened to general amendments.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas put off consideration of the bill after Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the GOP leader, proposed amendments to broaden its scope. Other senators followed Knowland's lead with proposals of their own.

Johnson said he did not know when he would reschedule the bill for consideration.

His proposals would deal with such subjects as a secret ballot in union elections, the right of union members to recall union officers and to overturn their decisions including the calling of strikes, and limitations on the length of collective bargaining agreements.

Western States Hit With Snow, Rain and Winds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blustery weather, with snow, rain and strong winds hit Western sections of the country today.

It looked and felt like winter in parts of the Rockies, with snow and freezing temperatures. The storm, which developed over the Rockies, dumped 2½ feet of snow on Red Lodge, in southern Montana. Freezing weather, with rain and snow, was reported in wide parts of the state.

The storm belt extended over the Rockies and from Texas to the Canadian border.

Rain and thunderstorms developed in the central Plains and eastward into Missouri. Strong winds lashed much of the Plains and the southern Plateau and southern Rockies.

What is Aurora Australis?

Aurora Australis is the brother of Aurora Borealis. And if you are not familiar with Aurora Borealis, it is a solar overcharge, so to speak, from the sun.

The sun sends out millions of particles, electrically charged, and they stream into the earth's vicinity. They are deflected toward the poles and the light they create at the North Pole is known as Aurora Borealis and that seen at the South Pole is Aurora Australis.

As a weather omen the sight Aurora Borealis or Aurora Australis is a good sign. It often means, if it can be seen brightly, that several days of good weather are due. Sailors have long read this sign in the sky.

Editors Study Use of Names for Youthful Law Breakers

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS)—Whether the names of juvenile delinquents should be published was one of the questions up for consideration today at the 72d annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Juvenile delinquency is causing increasing concern not only to law enforcement agents but to the public, according to a report prepared by the ANPA's "newspaperboy committee" for submission to the convention.

"There has been much discussion as to whether or not the names of these youthful offenders should be made public as a possible deterrent," the report stated. "There are differences of opinion on the question of such publicity.

"However, some newspapers are beginning to believe that publication of names can be an effective means of fighting this increasing trend toward juvenile delinquency."

The report pointed out that FBI director J. Edgar Hoover recently wrote the editor of the Battle Creek (Mich.) Enquirer & News that:

"Overprotection of juvenile delinquents will not teach these young terrorists to abide by the law or respect the rights of others, and that juveniles who commit heinous offenses and those guilty of repeated crimes do not deserve to be called mere delinquents or to be shown the special privileges that they have come to expect."

The report added:

"He said the public is entitled to know their identities and expressed the belief that publicity might induce some of these criminals to adopt more acceptable codes of behavior."

Gigantic Atomic Reactor En Route

to be operating by 1960. It is slated to cost over 71 million dollars.

After several months of initial nuclear operation, steam produced will permit the design capacity generation of 100,000 kilowatts of electricity.

Later, the reactor's steam output is expected to be capable of operating at its full capacity of 180,000 kilowatts and to provide enough electric power to meet the needs of 200,000 people.

It is the production of plutonium which stamps the Enrica Fermi reactor as the breeder type.

The Fermi reactor will be the only privately-financed reactor in the world having the unique ability of making more fuel than it uses while, at the same time, producing heat-energy for steam-electric power generation.

Three separate organizations, along with the Atomic Energy Commission, are participants in the Enrico Fermi project. They are Atomic Power Development Associates, Inc. (APDA), the Power Reactor Development Company (PRDC), and The Detroit Edison Company.

Breakdown of the estimated cost of the $71,595,832 Fermi project is $37,020,000 for the reactor plant; $14,061,000 for the generating plant; and $20,514,832 for research and development.

Raps Williams on Money Woes

Roberts Says Governor Hiding Facts of Deficit From Solons, People

Rep. Farrell E. Roberts (R-West Bloomfield Township) today shifted the blame for the state's deficit finances right into the lap of Gov. Williams.

Yesterday the governor said the Republican-controlled Legislature was at fault for not bringing Michigan's revenues in line with expenditures.

"Why he didn't even bother to let us know until late last Friday that the state faced an $18,000,000 deficit by June 30," declared Roberts.

He accused the Democratic leader of "hiding these facts" from the Legislature and the people.

Even realizing the state was headed for a deficit, Gov. Williams still asked additional allocations in the 1959 budget for such items as mental health, state police and education, Roberts contended.

"He asked this even though he knew the money just wasn't there," he said.

Roberts urged that the state Auditor General be made responsible to the Legislature to serve as a watchdog over department spending.

Michigan is headed toward some "payless pay days" and a possible 60 million dollar deficit by the end of the 1958-59 fiscal year ending June 30, 1959 unless additional income is discovered, the Oakland County lawmaker pointed out.

He challenged Williams to tell legislators "now" how much the state might be in the red by next year. "Are we going to need a tax which is immediately collectable is what we want to know," remarked Roberts.

The Legislature returns to Lansing May 15 to resume work on the budget.

Commissioners Attend Their Last Meeting

Last night's Pontiac Commission meeting was the final one for Dr. Roy V. Cooley Jr., John E. Carry and Gilbert W. Long.

Dr. Cooley, dean of the 1956-1958 Commission, did not run for a fourth term as representative of District 1. The 38-year-old physician, of 441 Bartlett St., served six consecutive years in office.

He had words of appreciation for his fellow Commissioners and the city's administrative staff.

"We've had our trials and tribulations together," Dr. Cooley said. "But always we respected each other's judgment. I think Pontiac should feel proud to have had such a happy family at the helm these past two years."

Carry, 38, of 576 E. Pike St. and Long, 43, of 139 Prospect St. were defeated in Monday's election. Carry was seeking a third term, Long a second.

Upturns Are Noted in Today's Economy

CLEVELAND (AP) — A few sizable orders in special areas lifted net new orders in the machine tool industry during March, but the total was only about half that of March 1957, the National Machine Tool Builders Assn. reported today.

DETROIT (INS) — Not all sales are down because of the recession. Delmar Cote, state director for the Treasury Department's savings bond division, says Michigan residents bought five per cent more series "E" and "H" savings bonds in the first quarter of 1958 than in the comparable period last year.

NEW YORK (INS) — Foreign travel appears undisturbed by the current downturn in business. First quarter earnings reported today by the American Express Co. show an increase of more than 18 per cent over the same period of 1957. Foreign travel sales rose 39.6 per cent and was cited by President Ralph Reed as "an encouraging reflection on the basic health of the American economy."

Soviets Again Charge U.S. Seeking War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today extended its accusations of American preparations for nuclear war across the arctic from the U.S. Air Force to the U.S. Navy.

Quoting reports from the United States, the Soviet navy newspaper Soviet Fleet said America is building two special icebreakers, the Atlanta and the Chattanooga, to deliver supplies to U.S. military bases in polar areas. The paper also said the United States is building an aggressive fleet of atomic submarines armed with guided missiles.

The Day in Birmingham

Police Issue Warning of Short-Change Artist

BIRMINGHAM—Police today issued a warning to area merchants to be on the lookout for a short-change artist operating in the vicinity.

A clerk at the Glenn Music Store on E. Maple avenue reported the loss of $10 yesterday to a fast-talking man.

He was described as a Negro, heavy set, well dressed, about 6 foot 2 inches tall and wearing a small mustache.

The recent outbreak of automobile thefts brought a second warning from Birmingham Police to motorists. They have been asked to take the keys with them when they park their autos.

Police said cars are being taken from the downtown area and later found abandoned in residential sections of the city.

"So far, this is just joy-riding, but when inexperienced young drivers take a car, the accident potential goes way up," Detective Lt. Merlin Holmquist said.

"It is utter carelessness for owners to go away from a car and leave the keys in it. It's just asking for trouble," he said.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons will speak on the work of his office at the Friday meeting of the Birmingham Senior Men's Club at the Community House.

The subject for the club's discussion group will be "Criminals and What to Do About Them."

Mrs. L. C. Stinson, 212 West Lincoln, is asking members of the 1933 January and June graduating classes of Pontiac High School to contact her as plans are being made for the 25th anniversary reunion. Scheduled for June 7, the affair will be held at the high school.

A recent meeting at the Robert Boynton home here disclosed that several members are "missing." Mrs. Stinson, publicity chairman for the reunion, said every effort is being made to contact each member of the two classes.

Charles E. Fox

Service for Charles E. Fox, 80, of 1560 N. Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Central Christian Church. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery.

Mr. Fox died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital.

The body will be at Pursley Funeral Home until 11:30 a.m. Friday at which time it will be taken to the church.

Surviving are his wife, Ada Ann; six daughters, Mrs. Albert Lafountain, Mrs. Willis Simpson, Mrs. Eugene Bailey, Mrs. Bill Phelps, all of Pontiac, Mrs. Bidwell Reese and Mrs. Vesta Bennett of Washington, Pa., and a son, Hubert of Haddox, W. Va.

Two sisters, 26 grandchildren and 32 great grandchildren also survive.

Parents Ordered to 'Act Stupid' Once in a While

ANN ARBOR (INS) — An outspoken University of Michigan child psychologist and recognized authority in his field said today parents should "act stupid once in a while."

Dr. Byron O. Hughes, 51-year-old father of six children, said, "Parents today are overadvised through magazines and newspapers on how to bring up Junior . . . they are forgetting how to be normal." He added:

"It wouldn't hurt it we spend more time now and then just acting stupid. There's nothing out of the way in acting silly . . . It helps keep emotions in balance."

The Harvard-educated professor believes many parents wear themselves out trying to put on false intellectuality. He said too much advice from "experts" will "drive us and the kids nuts."

Asked about his own six children, the professor said, "I'm a father at home . . . not a specialist."

Boy, 12, Slightly Injured as Cars Hit at Intersection

Two cars collided at the intersection of Earlemoor and Nebraska streets yesterday afternoon and a 12-year-old boy was slightly injured.

The accident occured when Wilhelmina Clark, 32, of 391 Branch St., started a left turn and was hit by a car driven by Leroy J. Garner, 28, of 209 Cedardale St., police said.

Injured was Irvin Dabney, of 391 Branch, a passenger in Mrs. Clark's car. He was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for cuts.

Liquor Sales Decrease Continues in State

LANSING (AP) — The slump in liquor sales in Michigan, noticed since the first of the year, continued through March, the State Liquor Control Commission reported today.

March sales this year totaled $10,222,801 against $12,298,162 for the same month last year. Sales during the first three months of the year totaled $32,893,090, down from $37,949,583 during the same period a year ago.

Angry Ike Defends Pentagon Policy

cause defense expenses will confront the nation for the next 40 to 50 years and Americans must not forget the grave international emergency in their preoccupation with an immediate domestic one.

—Soviet maneuverings with respect to a summit conference or any other fruitful negotiations are really puzzling to him and he does not see how it is possible even to guess at present what the Reds are up to.

—There would be nothing to justify a private summit meeting between him and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, and any Russian efforts toward this end are only an attempt to divide and weaken the Western allies.

HITS ALCORN STATEMENT

—As for GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn's statement that it is not in the cards for Republicans to win back the Senate in November, the President said he himself has never yet admitted defeat in any fight and doesn't know why Alcorn should.

—He disputed Democratic charges that his administration had been lacking in courage and boldness in fighting the recession. He spoke glowingly of the "You Auto Buy" sales campaign started by car dealers in some cities.

The President's furious rejoinder on defense reorganization occurred when a reporter said that Rep. Paul Kilday (D-Tex) had "wrung an admission" from Defense Secretary Neil McElroy that the administration plan would result in personalized control of the military.

Eisenhower's face flushed and he asked the reporter, Mrs. Sarah McLendon of the San Antonio Light, whether she had head the law. She replied: "Yes, sir."

The President snapped back that she hadn't. He then insisted that the military services would not be weakened in any respect in their functions of recruiting, training and other non-operational matters.

Eisenhower declared that it might be just as sensible for someone to say that Congress might suddenly go nuts and completely abolish the department of defense as to say there would be personalized control over the department.

He said it is just not possible.

Rain Eases Fire Threat in Northern Michigan

ROSCOMMON (AP) — Rain has eased the threat of forest fires in the northern half of Lower Michigan which already has recorded at least 257 fires this year.

Ronald L. Bird, assistant State Conservation Department supervisor, said reports indicated showers fell yesterday over most forests in his 34-county area.

It was the first appreciable rain in the section this spring, Bird said. The 3,700 acres of forests destroyed in fires this year exceeds total acreage burned in the entire fire season of every year except two since 1950, he said. The forest fire season usually lasts until Nov. 1.

In House Hearings

Seeking Specific Facts of Ike's Military Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee sought written answers to specific questions about President Eisenhower's Pentagon reorganization plan today as prospects mounted for marathon hearings on the proposal.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee made it plain a long grind is ahead as Secretary of Defense McElroy opened the administration campaign to centralize authority in the sprawling defense establishment. McElroy returns today.

Vinson said each witness will be asked to stay on the stand until each of the committee's 37 members has "all of the information he desires." He also said the committee will hear from all top civilian officials in the Defense Department, as well as military leaders.

Vinson asked McElroy to submit written answers to a series of pointed questions. They added up to a demand that McElroy spell out in detail why he needs additional authority and how he would exercise the added powers.

Vinson is an emphatic foe of any proposal that would downgrade the authority of the three separate services.

In his questions, he specifically asked McElroy why Congress should give the secretary the power to consolidate, reassign, abolish or transfer military functions. This generally is referred to as the roles and missions of the services.

Vinson also asked whether Eisenhower's proposals would, in effect, create a single staff and single chief of staff.

McElroy, earlier in the hearing, sought to allay congressional criticism by expressing belief most of the concern over the plan will disappear after the legislation to back it up is studied thoroughly.

Eisenhower proposes to simplify the chain of command by having all orders to major commands come from the defense secretary; to downgrade the three service secretaries and their departments by subordinating them to the defense secretary; and to give the latter more flexibility over defense spending.

JOHN HENRY JOHNSON

Detroit Lion to Speak at School Banquet

Detroit Lions fullback John Henry Johnson will be the guest speaker at the third annual Bagley School Father and Son Banquet Monday.

The banquet, sponsored by the school and the Bagley Parent Teacher Association, will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria, 320 Bagley St.

The fathers of the boys attending Bagley School have been invited to the banquet. Tickets may be obtained at the school office.

Herbert Mullen is chairman of the event. The Rev. Steven Johnson is in charge of the program and Reedie Anthony is chairman of the tickets and finance.

Everett Spuriock, executive secretary of the Pontiac Urban League, will be the toastmaster for the evening.

Fashions and Finance Theater Tour Extras

will help you get acquainted with everyone. Wednesday night, a wonderful after-theater supper party is planned.

There'll be plenty of free time, too, to give you a chance for shopping along Fifth avenue or for taking in the wonderful sights of New York on your own.

And you can laugh at the weather if it turns hot. Because you'll have air-conditioned accommodations in one of New York's newest hotels, the Manhattan. Each room reserved for theater-trippers will be equipped with television and radio.

What could be easier than a worry-free vacation for which the Press has planned all the troublesome details in advance? There's a red carpet waiting for you from the moment the trip gets under way.

For only $187 you can enjoy this fabulous week in America's most exciting city.

Simply fill out the coupon on Page 2 of today's Press. Remember, though: Deadline for reservations is just 30 days away.

DAY BEGINS — Vice President Nixon starts his day by breakfasting with his family. Photos with daughters Julie (left) and Patricia are confined as much as possible to special holidays.

MORNING APPOINTMENTS — The Vice President begins his appointment schedule at 9 a. m. His appointments often include obliging youngsters like Larry McNally of Key Biscayne, Fla., who wanted to be photographed with Nixon.

A Typical Day in Life of the Vice President

Nixon Plays Busy Role in Eisenhower Administration

(Here's the first of two dispatches in which is detailed the growing part Vice President Nixon plays in the national government.)

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's current good will tour to South America for the President throws additional light on the busy role being played by the vice president in the second year of this administration's second term.

To the extent that Nixon can average out his varied programs, a typical day for him when he's in Washington — which is most of the time — would go something like this:

UP AT SEVEN

He gets up at seven and has breakfast with the family — his wife and two daughters, Patricia and Julie. He's in his office, Suite 362 of the Senate Office building, at 8:30 or 9.

He keeps the mornings for formal appointments, which begin at 9 and run until the Senate convenes, usually at noon.

He will average four to six appointments a morning. Some of them are just for hand-shakes or to oblige people who want to be photographed with the V.P.

DUCKS OUT

When the Senate is on routine business, Vice President Nixon ducks out. He has been criticized for his absences from the Senate presiding officer's rostrum, but all other "veeps" have dont it too.

Vice President Barkley used to write letters while presiding; Vice President Garner always had his nap after lunch.

The Vice President has two of fices. His formal office in the Senate wing of the Capitol, behind the rostrum, is for show.

WORK DONE

The work gets done in four crowded offices of the Vice President's suite in the Senate office building. The largest room is the V.P.'s private office. In the other three rooms are his four men assistants and 12 women secretaries. They're crowded in compartmentilized office space like shoe boxes on a shelf.

This is a larger staff than most vice presidents have had, although Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) has a staff of 20 and Sens. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Kefauver (D-Tenn.) have 17 each.

Nixon's principal assistants are his administrative aide, William G. Key; Marine Col. Robert E. Cushman Jr., assigned by the Pentagon to handle Nixon's liaison with the National Security Council; Charles J. McWhorter, legislative assistant; James D. Hughes, appointment secretary and speech scheduler; and the invaluable Rose Mary Woods, the vice preseident's executive and personal secretary.

"They work," says Key, simpley but elojuently. Te recently left a public relations job in private industry to find out what a tough grind it really is. There's usually someone around the office till midnight. And when the vice president gets on a major speech-writing job, he's there, too. He has his dinner sent in.

Mail averages 200 to 300 letters a day — from all over. Phone calls have never been logged, but the Vice President's extension is busy most of the time and it's hard to get in with a call.

Last year the Vice President received an estimated 16,000 requests for speeches.

After lunch — usually it's a conference with some administrative, Congressional or political leader — Nixon tries to keep his afternoon schedule free.

He is, of course, subject to call back to the Senate for a vote, to preside over important debate, or to make an important parliamentary ruling.

It is in the Senate-free afternoons that Nixon gets most of his work done. There will be many conferences in the afternoons, too, not listed on his formal, public appointment schedule.

When the Vice President gets on a major speech writing job, he likes to follow the lawyer's custom of writing first draft himself with pencil on big yellow tablet.

Nixon has used research assistants to dig up material for him. On political tours when speeches come a dozen a day he uses some ghost written material. But for his one major speech a month now, he likes to do it himself.

He seldom leaves his office before 6:30 or 7, unless it is to keep an appointment. He likes dinner with Pat and the girls. He doesn't like to take work home, likes to get to be before midnight.

He is at his office every Saturday, for at least part of the day. In winter it's usually for all day.

He has tried to lead a normal home life, but has found it difficult. His main concern is to let the girls grow up as normal children, and not as public figures. Family photographs and publicity are confined as much as possible to special holidays like Christmas and Easter.

Sunday is the vice president's day of rest. Though brought up in a Quaker family, the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon attend services at various churches in Washington, to avoid making their appearances a regular event. Religion, he says, is a personal thing.

Next: Every day is different.

2 Children Perish as Carport Burns

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—While adults fought to keep flames from spreading to the house, two young children perished in the carport storage room of their home.

After the fire was out officials found the bodies of Kathy Durbin, 5, and her brother, Jamie, 4. They were huddled together in a corner of the room.

Mr. and Mrs. James Durbin, thought their children were with neighbors. They were looking for them when the bodies were found.

Durbin is manager of the Pioneer Hotel here. He hurried home to help fight the fire after his wife telephoned him.

Tiny $10 Bill at Garage Mushrooms Into $288

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When Norris Freeman drove out of Jules Ray's garage last year he owed a $10 bill, Ray testified in Small Claims Court.

Ray jumped in his car and gave chase. The cars collided, and Freeman was billed for $90 damages to Ray's auto. Samll Claims Court upheld Ray's claim.

Freeman appealed. Superior Court upheld the lower court's ruling. Freeman was ordered to pay $100 to the garage, plus $160 jury fees and $28 court costs.

Freeman paid.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

United Nations Group Guards World Health

The tenth anniversary of the establishment of the World Health Organization (WHO) brings to public attention the importance of this United Nations Agency.

Today with 88 member nations its operations are global affecting the lives of nearly half the world's population. Working with governments, WHO is doing much to halt the spread of contagious and infectious diseases which cannot be localized with so many people constantly traveling about.

This work was first organized by the League of Nations. It established uniform quarantine regulations through the co-operation of many different peoples. WHO is an international pool of medical information and technics offering co-ordinated help to local and national groups. The agency has improved the health of the whole world.

For example, within the next ten years malaria, the greatest of all international afflictions, will have disappeared. Through improved sanitation and vaccines progress is being made against cholera, typhus and small pox. Trachoma and leprosy are being effectively controlled and nutrition improved. In our own country the recent Asian flu epidemic was minimized by WHO's discovery of an immunizing vaccine.

The U.N. budget provides $13.5 million for this work, of which the United States contributes $4.5 million. In these days of large expenditures this perhaps is a small amount considering the fact that the whole way of life of millions is changed for the better. But more than money is going into this work. It requires of its personnel great skill, imagination, enthusiasm, dedication and even hardship.

Red China's Price Too High for Japan

Japan has broken off trade negotiations with Communist China and for a very good reason.

Talks between private commerical concerns in Japan and Red China's Committee for the Promotion of International Trade were being used by the Chinese as a wedge for diplomatic recognition by Japan,

The trade pact, amounting to some $160 million annually in interchange of commodities, was submitted to the Japanese Diet for approval. One provision would have permitted Red China's trade mission to fly the flag of Communist China over its headquarters in Tokyo and to use secret codes.

Premier Kishi refused to approve the request on the ground that it would amount to diplomatic recognition of Peiping by Tokyo. The Japanese government made it plain that private trade agreements were in no sense recognition of Crou-En-Lai' government.

At the same time Gen. CHIANG KAI-SHEK's Nationalist government let it be known that a scheduled conference on its trade with Japan had been called off. Last year Formosa bought $93 million in Japanese goods and paid with rice, sugar and fruit. In the same period Communist China had bought less than $60 million from Japan. The proposed agreement would have raised this to more than $160 million.

Communist China had offered to exchange iron ore, coal and leather for machinery, chemicals and steel. Much as the Japanese need this trade, they found the price—diplomatic recognition—too high.

The Man About Town

What's in a Name?

A Little Survey Shows There Isn't Very Much

Wildflowers: Not as wild as the vandals who pick them.

Thanks from the bottom of my failing heart are extended to

William T. Hart

of 2866 Buick Ave., Pontiac, for his letter in which he wonders if I might be a relative of

William G. Haas,

for 28 years postmaster at Cheyenne, Wyo., who gave up that position ten years ago. Since then he has been the nation's biggest rodeo promoter. He says all he got out of that was a batch of stomach ulcers, but now when past 80, is as good as ever since his doctor put some blowout patches on his tummy. He is known as the Bernard Baruch of Wyoming. Sorry, but I can claim no relation to him.

Nor can I find anything of the kind in connection with for many years Judge of Probate of Michigan's Montmorency County. At least, she will not admit it—she's a keen politician.

A former Detroit banker had a similar name, but when approached on the subject he shook his head—as bankers have been doing at me all my life.

Not many years ago a fellow with the same name (even to the "Joe") got a national reputation in the sale of hog feed. But the law caught up with him.

The Pontiac city directory has a half dozen such names, but they're all noncommittal on the subject. They know me.

After reading in this column the story of the former Michigan Military Academy at Orchard Lake, then a Pontiac resident, writes me from his home in Detroit, that its annual military balls were the outstanding events of the Pontiac social season. To be the invited partner of one of its cadets was for many years the top ambition of our city's debutantes.

George Wilhite,

A well known Pontiac veterinarian tells me that the print of a dog's nose is as infallible for identification as a human fingerprint.

A long time history teacher in the Pontiac schools, after reading my story about the origin of the names of Oakland County rivers, writes me that the records show that is so called because it once ran red with blood. During the French and Indian wars a fierce battle was fought on its banks, and the dead and wounded were thrown into the stream.

There now are 205 cities in our nation where rental autos are at your disposal when you arrive by train, plane, bus or boat. They're using a total of 13,000 cars. Of this number, over one-third are based in one city. You may think this is New York, but it's Miami,

where you have your choice of several makes, including a great number that were made in Pontiac.

One of Flint's best residential streets is named and I wonder why we haven't reciprocated within our city limits.

Pontiac,

"If you don't think we're doing things in Oakland County," says

Daniel T. Murphy Jr.,

our Register of Deeds, "you ought to know about the property transfers being made."

Verbal Orchids to—

Can't See Him but You Sure Can Feel Him

David Lawrence Says:

Courage Needed on Tax Legislation

WASHINGTON — Everybody's talking about a tax cut, but nobody here is doing much about it. The main reason is that there is a tug of war going on between two blocs. It's a struggle between those who want to distribute more "purchasing power" irrespective of whether it removes the basic cause of the present recession and those who want to tackle forthrightly the reasons for the unemployment that has arisen in certain key industries.

LAWRENCE

One route could lead to more inflation and possibly a crash, followed by a deep depression a couple years hence.

ROAD TO PROSPERITY

The other route would lead to a sound prosperity with lower and lower taxes and more and more employment, especially in the so-called durable-goods industries.

The first route appeals to the demagogue. The second route calls for the kind of courage that Congress rarely exhibits. For it requires in the next five years a reduction in government spending and a stimulus to private spending.

The climax is coming soon. For on June 30 next the corporation tax automatically drops to 47 per cent from the present rate of 52 per cent. Naturally there are members of Congress who will say that, if the corporations are to get a reduction, the individual also should get his cut. This must inevitably lead to a negotiation.

STAND PAT

The champions of sound economics have the whip hand. All they need to do is stand pat and refuse to agree to any unsound measures. They have enough votes to block a demagogic type of tax-reduction bill. And the President has the veto power if indeed a majority does put such a measure through both Houses.

Only a compromise can solve the problem and get a new tax law enacted.

What kind of bill could get through Congress? Backed by an overwhelming public opinion, a law could be passed, which the President probably would sign, that would accomplish these objectives:

1. To ease the losses in receipts to the Treasury by reducing corporate tax rates gradually—two points a year—over a five-year period so that five years from now the rate would be 42 per cent.

2. To make a gradual reduction in individual income taxes over the same five-year period so that all classes of income taxpayers would be benefited.

3. To revise the present system whereby depreciation on plant and equipment extends over many years—sometimes 30 or 50 years—and let the deductions for depreciation be taken in whatever length of time the taxpayer selects. Once the period is selected, it would not be subject to change. The Treasury would gain revenue if the period were short, inasmuch as profits presumably would be bigger than normal after the depreciation period fixed by the taxpayer is over.

BENEFIT QUICKLY

Certainly the heavy-goods industries would benefit immediately because orders would be promptly given for new plant and equipment. It would be a chance for manufacturers generally to bring their machinery up to date and enable them to achieve a bigger output of goods at a lower expense.

Employment would increase substantially all along the line, and especially in the very categories where unemployment has been considerable. Just as soon as re-employment began in the durable-goods industries, automobile sales, for instance, would show a rise.

There is, however, one thing that could defeat even such a tax program—a failure of union leaders to postpone their demands for higher wages at least until recovery is substantial.

The Country Parson

"Some folks more willingly pledge future paychecks to one who lets them have a TV set than to the One who gave them eyes to see it."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Suffering From Allergies? Boost Calcium, Vitamin D

According to a piece in a national magazine the word allergy was coined in 1906, but the condition was considered just an "idiosyncrasy," that is, a "peculiarity of physical or mental constitution or temperament." In 1908 Dr. Robert A. Cooke, having been exposed to diphtheria, received an injection of antitoxin, in the form of blood serum from an immunized horse.

DR. BRADY

There was a slight mistake in the technique used for administering the antitoxin. The syringeful was injected quickly, without the precaution which most doctors now use as routine — that is, injecting just a drop of the antitoxin, vaccine, serum, hormone, ductless gland extract or whatever and waiting five minutes for any bad reaction that may occur, before injecting the remainder. In 1908, of course, doctors didn't know about this.

Immediately after the injection Dr. Cooke, who had been asthmatic as a child and very sensitive to horse dander in his early manhood, suffered anaphylactic shock, gasping for breath and in a bad way, but prompt injection of adrenalin saved him.

This experience understandably gave Dr. Cooke the incentive to devote himself to the study of allergy, so he is now recognized as the father of a new specialty, allergy. Doctors who devote their practice exclusively to this work are known as allergists. The magazine says there are now 1,500 such specialists in the United States.

In the pamphlet Relief for Allergy (available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope) I mention asthma, hay fever, rhinitis (excessive sneezing and watering at the nose), coryzas of abrupt onset and equally sudden cessation, hives, angioneurotic edema, pseudo sinusitis, recurring eczema, some cases of "nervous" headache. But, my goodness, this is a piker's list compared with the bewildering number of ailments the allergists ascribe to allergy.

If the allergy specialists have come up with any treatment or remedy of special merit, I have not learned about it.

The remedy I recommend in the pamphlet seems to give phenomenally quick relief in some cases, no apparent relief at all in other cases. You tell me.

Allergy, the allergic state, the sensitivity to cat hair, horse dander, parrot or canary feathers, primrose, orris root, ragweed pollen, goose feathers, strawberries, crab, quinine, aspirin, eggs, etc., etc. is still a mystery. Why do certain individuals have or develop such sensitivity, and others do not?

I have received a great many letters from people with one or another allergic ailment, telling me how much benefit they have derived from boosting their daily calcium and Vitamin D intake. This, and or a high calcium diet, not just for a week but for a year, is the only effective prophylactic I can recommend to one with allergic sensitivity.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Couple Tells of Gratitude for Added Postal Service

Speaking for residents at the end of Fiddle road, we wish to express gratitude for the new mail service granted us this past week. After 12 years of walking three blocks for our mail, and sending many petitions to the post office department, we're indeed grateful for the new close delivery. Housewife Tells Problem of Many

I'm not the only housewife with five children to get off to school and all my own work to do without automatic laundry and vacuum sweeper, but I haven't a spoonful of patience for the neighbor who sets her alarm ten times in the night so she can have her wash done at 5:30 and half her ironing and housecleaning at 8:00. Why can't these gals have mercy on us way-behind-time gals and stay away at least until afternoon? Parts of my house my kids haven't messed up, hers do a good job on and then I must work six times as hard to have it decent when my husband gets home. Lots of women have this same problem, so if the shoe fits wear it.

'Why Waste Space on That Column?'

I read your paper every day because I can't get a Detroit paper delivered to me. I'm wondering why you waste space for a column by Dick Saunders. I've studied music and graduated in same but really was floored when I read about a gasser. I thought I'd studied about everything but still have been unable to find the answer to that one. Wish one of your readers would tell me what kind of music that is, or better still, let someone who knows something about music write that column if it has to be.

Ben Doven

(Editor's Note: The term "gasser" or its shortened form, "gas" is a slang expression. It is an adjective, a descriptive term used by musicians (more frequently those connected with jazz or pop music) denoting excellence or superiority of performance. It in no way describes a "type" or "field" of music, but can be applied to an outstanding performance in any musical category.)

Supervisor Tells of Letter to CIO

The following is generally what I said in a letter to Mr. W. Lindsey of the CIO.

I agree with most of the solutions in your letter for reducing unemployment; however, you overlook one of the best opportunities to get hundreds of men from Oakland County to work immediately. That is Northwestern highway, as it's contracted for through Oakland County.

It is already engineered and considerable right of way has been secured, $35 million worth of bonds have been sold for construction and the money is lying in the bank, waiting to be used.

If the CIO would use its influence with the State Highway Commission to fulfill its part of the contract, which has been duly signed, many men could be put to work immediately. This would be a very good fill-in while we're waiting for other suggested roads to be engineered and prepared for contract, which will probably take a year or two. I'm interested in your reaction to this suggestion.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Gives Newlyweds Advice

Opal and Ed want the plain facts about how to stay happily married forever. Scrapbook this case or send it to any friend or relative who is planning on matrimony. Happy homes are built according to a precise prescription. So follow the formula and you can't help living happily ever afterwards.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE X-387: Opal and Ed are an engaged couple, soon to be married.

"Dr. Crane, we are eager to make our home a permanently happy affair," they both chimed in.

DR. CRANE

"So would you please give us some advice along that line.

"We know you are a psychologist and a physician and also active in the church, so you ought to know what we need."

ADVICE TO NEWLYWEDS

If a young couple hasn't yet entered marriage, it still isn't too late to make a analysis of their personalities.

Just because you get "butterflies" in your stomach when you kiss, is no sign you are suitable for a lifelong happy marriage.

Your ideals and interests and backgrounds and hobbies should be very much alike.

Beware of crossing entrenched religious and racial lines. For the novelty of young love soon wears off and then you must live at the level of your basic habits. "Butterflies" indicate stage - fright; not true love!

If you like spaghetti, and he comes from an "Irish stew" family, that food difference alone may cause a lot of future quarreling, especially if you are sexually maladjusted.

So rate yourselves thoroughly on my 200-point "Tests for Husbands & Wives," mentioned below.

And listen to the sobering advice of your friends and family, or ask for anonymous typewritten reports since many folks hesitate to give you their true opinions when they think you are already committed to marry.

When you finally marry, be sure the ceremony is performed by a clergyman, for religion is the great protector of happy homes.

You don't need an elaborate wedding. You can elope, if you wish, but in any event, see that a clergyman ties the knot.

MARRIAGE FACTS

Then attend church together the very first Sunday, even while on your honeymoon.

And remain active TOGETHER in the same church, for this will almost always prevent a divorce.

A church life widens your perspective and promotes unselfishness. Besides, church people are not likely to two-time you or make passes at your wife.

Adultery is more likely linked with Country Clubs and taverns where liquor is available, for liquor is the usual prelude to unfaithfulness everywhere!

The best way to keep a happy, faithful marriage is thus to stay away from the people and places that grow maudlin and stimulate illicit affairs.

You brides must also realize that men require far more calories at the dinner table than do women.

But this same difference exists regarding erotic hunger, so plan accordingly.

You smile delightedly when your husband wants a second helping of your cooking. Don't act sour or indifferent when he likewise wishes more erotic calories than you crave.

Smart women are actresses and feign erotic hunger and delight to help keep their husband's ego up to par. Otherwise, the man grows sarcastic, bitter and jealous.

Husband and wife were not created anatomically so they would satisfy each other in the erotic realm, so send for the appropriate booklets and learn how to supplement nature.

Finally, live on a rigid budget. But see that you have a minimum of one outside date together each week, for this helps revive your courtship emotions. Emotions, like muscles, will atrophy from disuse!

So send for my "Marriage Tests," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Take inventory thereby at least once per month.

Divorce, like obesity, can creep upon you slowly so you must keep alert.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

WASHINGTON — One of the many questions to which International Geophysical Year scientists seek an answer is: How soon, at the present rate of Arctic thawing, may ships on schedule traverse a Northwest Passage across the top of North America during summer months?

For their answer they can now draw on vital information supplied by five weather stations installed on Canadian Arctic islands 1947-1950. They can draw also on the experience of ships operating for the United States Military Sea Transport Service in supplying those stations and the 50 radar outposts of the DEW (Distant Early Warning) Line.

The DEW Line, stretching from Alaska's far-west Cape Lisburne to Baffin Island, went into full operation last August. Weather and radar outposts alike are manned almost exclusively by Canadian and United States civilians.

The very idea of scheduled travel on the Northwest Passage exemplifies 20th-century progress in the conquest of frigid waters. The search for the route to the "wealth of the Indies" has been renewed time and again since Columbus's voyages to the New World.

EXPLORED ST. LAWRENCE

The Cabots sought it in 1497-98 and 1508-09. Jacques Cartier, discovering a promising waterway in 1534-35, worked hopefully inland a thousand miles to find no Northwest Passage but a midwest passage to the interior of the continent — the St. Lawrence.

The search became an English obsession in the first Elizabeth's reign. Though the Queen never traveled even to Scotland or Wales, her enthusiasm inspired the "no land uninhabitable, no sea innavigable" outlook of Frobisher, Davis, Hudson, and Baffin. Captain John Smith twice scoured Chesapeake Bay shores in 1608, under orders from London to seek a river which "bendeth most toward the Northwest for that way you shall soonest find the other sea."

AMUNDSEN FIRST THROUGH

Not until four full centuries after Columbus's death was the trick at last turned. In 1906 Norway's Roald Amundsen (discoverer of the South Pole in 1911) skippered the 70-foot schooner Gjoa through from east to west. But it was 1954 before a large vessel — the 6,000-ton Canadian icebreaker Labrador — completed the difficult transit.

Again in mid-1957, the Labrador pioneered the passage, leading three United States Coast Guard cutters through from west to east. This time the route was mostly much farther south than in 1954, passing through narrow Bellot Strait bordering Boothia Peninsula, North America's northern-most mainland. Bellot's depth is sufficient even for large vessels at its mile-wide narrows. But midway shoals cause heavy ice jams, blocking passage.

San Antonio's Old Buckhorn Saloon Is Dead, but Its Memory Lingers On

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (INS) — San Antonio's celebrated old Buckhorn Saloon, which was the toast of the frontier when the West was young, is dead.

But the memory of the famous establishment, which in its glittering hey-dey feted such greats as Teddy Roosevelt, will live long in the annals of Western lore.

LOCKED DOORS

The Buckhorn faded into the ashes of history recently when its owner, Mrs. Henry G. Ward, locked the doors for the last time and announced she was going to retire.

Mrs. Ward, the former Norma Friedrich, is the daughter of the late Albert Friedrich, son of an immigrant, who founded the Buckhorn more than 70 years ago.

The saloon was famous for its great collection of animal horns. These included what were authoritatively termed the largest spread of Texas longhorn steer horns in the world, as well as a 78-point set of deer antlers which also were called a world record trophy.

In recent years the Buckhorn had been used as a curio shop and tourist attraction. It became known as the "world's oddest store."

The horns which the Buckhorn displayed, as well as other effects of the establishment, have been transferred to a brewery organization which will display them in its headquarters building in San Antonio.

Despite its somewhat wild and wooly name, the Buckhorn was operated with the utmost decorum under the iron-handed discipline of Albert Friedrich during an era of the smoking six gun and trail drives. In all of its history there is not one recorded incident of a brawl occurring within its walls.

Albert Friedrich was the son of Wentzel Friedrich, a skilled Austrian cabinet maker, who immigrated to San Antonio from Germany in the 1840's.

Young Albert did not follow the Old Western custom of taking up his father's trade. Instead he quit school when he was 14. He worked as a pin boy in a bowling alley, then drifted into bar tending at San Antonio's old Southern Hotel, an early-day gathering place for ranchers and whands.

It was during this period that young Friedrich started his collection of horns that was later to make him famous. By the time he started his saloon he had a goodly collection and kept adding to it as time passed until it included horns of various types of animals from every corner of the world.

FAME GROWS

As the collection expanded the fame of the saloon grew until it became a "must" of the things to see for most everyone visiting San Antonio.

Over the years many famous persons visited the Buckhorn. One best remembered was Teddy Roosevelt, who came to the San Antonio area to train his Rough Riders of Spanish-American War fame.

Teddy sat in one of the Buckhorn's chairs made of buffalo horns. Albert's wife had festooned the chair with Texas bluebonnets in honor of the man who was to become one of America's best-loved and most colorful presidents.

Power Production Adjusted to Needs

BRUSSELS—A new system that automatically regulates power-plant output in proportion to consumer needs has been delivered to Belgium by a French manufacturer.

The electronic adjusting system is designed to meet local fluctuating consumption demand without overcharging the international power lines which connect the Belgian network with the French, German, and Dutch systems.

The installation includes 30 regulating systems, distributed throughout the principal Belgian power plants, and furnishes about 600 megawatts to a master regulator in Brussels.

600 Lb. Beavers Gone

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Beavers were a lot bigger 8-12,000 years ago. An upper jawbone found at a construction site here indicates beavers of that era weighed perhaps 500-600 pounds and were roughly the size of a black bear.

Small Youngsters Fail to Grasp Fairy Tales

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Fairy tales are not for the very young, says Mrs. Marguerite Duvall, child development specialist at Pennsylvania State University.

Children under 7, she says, are incapable of appreciating imagination and find prosaic stories quite exciting.

An average farm in the United States has increased in size from about 155 acres in 1935 to an average of about 200 acres now, according to recent governmental studies.

Battered Body of Baby Found

Texas Mom Left Infant to Bring in Washing When Snatch Occurred

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An infant disappeared from her crib yesterday was found unconscious a few doors away, and died shortly after being rushed to a hospital.

She was Sandra Carrick, daughter of Personnelman 1.C. David Carrick of the Kingsville Auxiliary Naval Air Station and Mrs. Carrick. Peace Justice Tom Simons said the baby's head was badly beaten.

Police Chief B. D. Condon quoted the mother as saying she checked the infant, five weeks old, then went into the back yard to get the washing.

When she returned, she said, the baby was missing. She said she was gone about 15 minutes.

Mrs. Carrick called police, and the Naval Air Station housing development was searched.

Diana Smith, 9, found the baby lying in a clump of shrubbery at the corner of another apartment building, about 100 yards from the Ctrrick home.

The infant was naked, and her body bore scratches.

The Carricks have one other dahghter, Jane Marie, 3. Carrick formerly lived at Oshkmosh, Wis.

Officers said today a pathology report held the child was stomped about the head.

Among persons police were questioning were two small children.

Northwestern Group Renews X-way Push

The Northwestern Highway Assn. will hold a public meeting at 7:30 tomorrow evening at the Highland Township Hall in a renewed effort to convince the State Highway Department it should begin construction immediately on the Northwestern Expressway from Eight Mile road to U.S. 23 near Fenton.

The State now has $21,000,000 in federal funds available for highway construction, according to David Ward Young, president of the Association.

He said these funds have been allocated specifically to relieve unemployment and should be put to use now in Oakland County where the jobless situation is acute.

Tomorrow night's meeting is expected to stress that the Northwestern extension is more immediately available for unemployment relief than any other project now in sight, Young said.

He added that not only have $25,000,000 in bonds been sold to finance the proposed expressway, but right-of-way has been all staked and much of it now is being bought from private owners by State Highway Department field men.

Petitions with more than 3,000 names of residents along the proposed expressway have been turned in, Young said, and it is expected that petitions with several thousands of additional signers will be available by Thursday night.

These petitions will be sent to Governor Williams and State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie as soon as they are filed, Young continued.

Tomorrow night's meeting will be open to all interested residents of Oakland, Livingston, Genesee and Shiawassee counties.

Pontiac City Affairs

Improvements at Airport Ordered; Cost $149,000

Pontiac last night entered into $149,000 worth of contracts with the state and private contractors for 1958 improvements at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

To be installed are lighting systems on the east-west runway and two new taxiways, plus protective fencing.

The city's share, $47,500, already has been deposited at the airport as part of a total $60,750 which the city will pay this year to attract a total $150,000 in state and federal aid.

The contracts, drawn up by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, call for $44,920 to be spent on lighting, $74,927 on new taxiways and $29,049 on new fencing.

The construction is made possible by a $105,000 federal grant, which is being matched by another $105,000, split about half-and-half by city and state.

Six public hearings on street and sidewalk improvements were held last night, and assessment rolls for their financing were ordered prepared for next wek.

The biggest project is the proposed widening and repaving of Opdyke road from Square Lake road to Walton Boulevard. Costing a total $160,000, the assessments should amount to about $21,600, with the state paying the rest. Also approved:

Blacktopping on Taylor street, Oak Hill to Ellwood; and sidewalks on the west side of Seminole avenue, Menominee to Algonquin; on the east side of Blaine street, from High street about 500 feet south; each side of Joslyn avenue extension, Perry to Linda Vista; and in front of three lots on the east side of N. Jessie St.

Although last night's meeting was the final one for the 1956-1958 Commission, it must meet briefly once more Thursday night to canvass Monday's election and certify its results.

Running 'Yield' Sign Injures 3 in Pontiac

Failure to observe a yield right of way sign brought slight injury to a motorist and his two passengers yesterday, at 7:15 p.m.

Douglas Wilson, 32, of 3391 Seebaldt St., Drayton Plains, ran the sign on Second street at the Barkell intersection, and hit a car driven by James Henderson, 17, of 645 First St., police said.

Wilson and his passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Melton, of 96 Franklin St., were treated at Pontiac General Hospital for bruises.

At Interlochen Concert in Romeo

Six Win Music Scholarships

ROMEO — Six Romeo High School students, four boys and two girls, were named winners last night of two-week scholarships to the National Music Camp at Interlochen next summer.

They are band members Robert Ford, David Proper, Gloria Garrison, all seniors, and Raymond Ritter, a junior.

Others named were chorus members Judy Perkins and Burdette Davis, both seniors.

Named as alternates were Richard Stewart, Frank Coleman, a junior, and Judy Engel, a sophomore. All three play in the high school band.

Principal Harold F. Barr announced the judges' decision during the 13th annual Interlochen Concert held in the high school auditorium.

A representative committee of citizens selected the scholarship recipients according to adopted criteria Sunday afternoon.

The six scholarships were financed through gifts from the Romeo Rotary and Lions Club, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, the Romeo Savings Bank, Hamil Manufacturing Co., the Romeo Book Club, an anonymous donor, plus proceeds from the concert.

The Romeo Monday Club sponsors the annual event in cooperation with the Music Department of the high school.

Discuss School Border Changes

Board of Education to Take Up Revisions at Meeting Tonight

Changes in school boundaries for next fall will be the main item before the Pontiac Board of Education tonight.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Hawthorne School, 1400 N. Telegraph Rd., as guests of the school's PTA.

The boundary changes in elementary schools have been made necessary by the opening next fall of the Franklin road school and an addition to the Owen School.

Affected will be boundaries at Whittier, Wilson, Hawthorne, Owen, Wever and Alcott Schools.

The board will also discuss the placement of special education classes and the transfer of students from overcrowded schools on both the elementary and junior high levels.

Other items before the board will be wage schedules for maintenance employes and the assignment of teachers to Northern and Central High Schools.

18-Ring GOP Circus Slated in Waterford

An invitation to all has been extended by the Republican township committee to attend the "Waterford Township 18 Ring Republican Circus" to be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn. office, 761 W. Huron St.

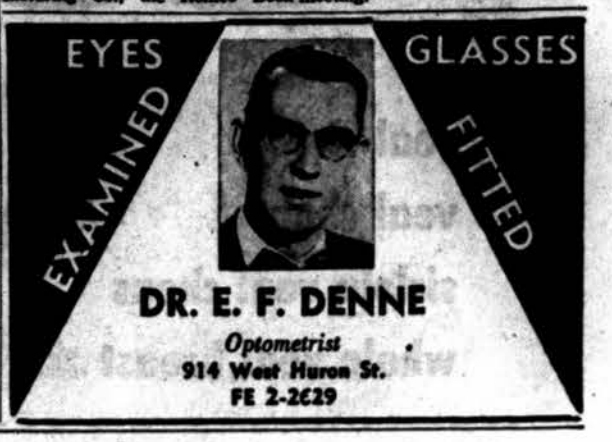
The breakdown of the township into 18 voting precincts will be explained at the meeting.

Attending will be Arthur G. Elliott Jr., Oakland County Republican Committee chairman. Fred Poole will be chairman for the meeting.



Sandra Post Weds R. Parker in Orion

MRS. RALPH B. PARKER

ORION TOWNSHIP — Ralph B. Parker claimed Sandra E. Post as his bride Saturday evening in a double-ring; candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. G. E. Benke in the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Oxford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Post Sr. of Beach drive, Lake Orion. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Parker of Shadbolt drive.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess styled gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace over taffeta. The lace bodice was traced with irridescent sequins and pearls, which accented the sabrina neckline. The gown featured tapered sleeves, and the waistline formed floating panels of organza with lace appliques.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion was secured by a crown of sequins, rhinestones and pearls. She carried an arrangement of stephanotis and a giant white orchid on a French illusion and satin fan.

Maid of honor was Darlene Velythuysen of Detroit, cousin of the bride. Mary Leach of Pontiac, Nancy Sisty of Farmington and Sharon Post, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Best man was Albert Post Jr., brother of the bride. Ushers were Richard Ballagh, James Daugherty and Richard Parker, brother of the bridegroom. All are from Orion.

Following the nuptials ceremony, a reception dinner and dance was held in the Veterans Hall in Oxford.

The newlyweds will reside at 625 Casmere Rd., Lake Orion.

Army Develops New Parachute

Would Be Thrust Both Upward and Outward by Explosives

CHICAGO (AP)—The Army is developing a parachute which is thrust both upward and outward by explosives, an Army officer disclosed today.

It will be for use by pilots of the Flying Platform, the recently developed individual lift device designed to give aerial mobility to the individual soldier, and to pilots of low-flying, hedge-hopping planes.

Maj. Gen. Charles G. Calloway, commanding general of the Army Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command, Natick, Mass., told about the new parachute today. He spoke at the annual meeting of the Research and Development Associates, a group of 250 firms in the food and contained industries and 200 scientists, organized to coordinate basic food information between industry and the armed forces.

The ordinary parachute takes five or six seconds to open. That's too long for the soldier on a flying platform, Calloway said, because in that time he could drop to the ground with considerable force.

The parachute under development is fully opened by explosives in eight tenths of a second, Calloway said. He didn't go into the mechanics of the operation or how the explosives used are prevented from tearing the parachute.

To test materials designed to protect soldiers against the heat blast of nuclear explosions, the Army is building a solar furnace at Natick, Calloway disclosed. It will collect the sun's rays, concentrate them into a small target area and reach temperatures comparable with those generated by an atomic explosion.

Quits Post in Zeeland

ZEELAND (AP) — Leon A. Sears, city superintendent since January 1954 when he came to Zeeland from Park Forest, Ill., has resigned effective July 1.

CHAMBER CRUISE — Here's a scene that will be repeated in June during the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce annual Cruise to Saulte Ste. Marie. The 250 area residents who turn sailor for the weekend will ride the S. S. South America up Lake Huron and the St. Mary's River to the famous locks, where the boat is pictured above. The cruise is June 5-8 and there is still time to make reservations, said John Hirlinger, chamber manager.

Principal to Retire

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Charles A. Semler, 65, ends 33 years as principal of Benton Harbor High School with his retirement June 1. He is past president of the National Assn. of High School Athletic Assns. and the Michigan High School Athletic Assn. Semler is current chairman of the North Central Assn. Committee on Contests.

Christmas Here Early

MUSKEGON (AP) — They celebrated Christmas at Hackley Hospital Tuesday for Mark John Christmas, born at 1 a.m. The 7-pound, 14-ounce boy is the first child for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christmas.

About 15 hours are required for a ship to clear the Suez canal.

2 Pilots Complain of Stunting Jets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two commercial pilots complain that stunting Air Force jets endangered their airliners over Nevada less than eight hours after Monday's aerial collision that killed 49 persons.

The report was made yesterday to the Civil Aeronautics Board by Capt. Al Shelly of Continental Airlines and Capt. Robert Chase of American Airlines.

Six F100 jet fighters began aerobatics near the airliners, which were carrying a total of 93 passengers, the pilots said.

"I reported the incident because the F100s were much too close for comfort," Chase told reporters. "These jets fly so fast that it is almost impossible to avoid them at close range."

The skies were clear Monday when the United Airlines DC7, carrying 47 persons, and the jet fighter with two aboard slammed together at about 20,000 feet.

Congressmen immediately urged investigations into rules governing the use of air space by military planes.

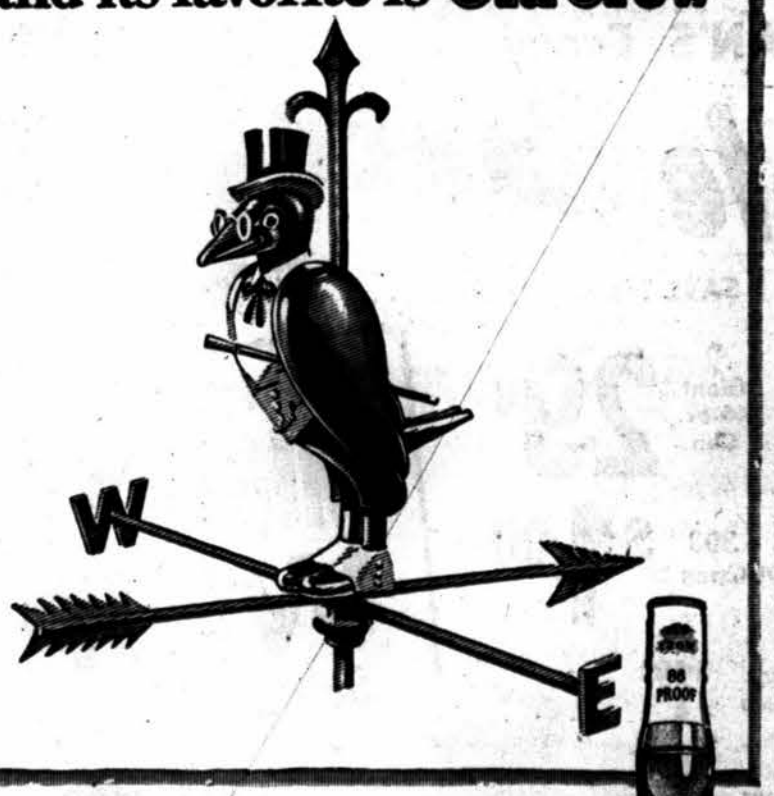
America knows its bourbon and its favorite is Old Crow



Light, mild 86 proof Old Crow by far outsells any bourbon in the land

Why does one bourbon outsell every other bourbon in the country? The answer is: Americans know their bourbon. They always have. A century ago, Daniel Webster flatly called Old Crow... "the finest in the world."

Webster, Henry Clay, Mark Twain—giants of history—all prized Old Crow. Today their number is multiplied by the millions. The lightness, mildness and incomparable flavor of 86 Proof Old Crow truly make it "the finest Kentucky whiskey ever put into glass!"

UAW, With Eye on Profits, Steps Up Big-3 Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today stepped up the pace of its negotiations on new contracts in the auto industry with an eye on a shrinking profits pie.

The union had bargaining talks scheduled at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

At the same time its 25-member Executive Board was meeting at UAW headquarters to hear on-the-scene reports from negotiations which have been under way for the past month under a news blackout.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who presided at the opening of the board's four-day meeting yesterday, has given no indication of any shift in emphasis in bargaining goals.

The union is believed to be still aiming at its main target — profit sharing — despite the possibility profits in the auto industry may be small this year.

FORD PROFITS DROP

Ford's profits for the first quarter of 1958 were less than one-fourth of the earnings for the same period a year ago. If Ford's earnings continue at the same rate for the rest of the year, the company's profit volume will not be enough to give workers a quarter slice under the union proposal.

Chrysler Corp. has reported its first quarter report will show a loss.

General Motors' first quarter report is expected to show a reduction in earnings, but not as much as Ford's.

Some auto executives have expressed belief the union is using the profit sharing demand as a lever to win a substantial wage increase and more fringe benefits. The union has put no estimate on its wage demands but has challenged one executive's statement that its demands, exclusive of profit sharing, would amount to an increase of about 40 cents an hour.

STUDIES PROBLEMS

The UAW Executive Board reportedly was studying problems arising from a reduction in union revenues. The union had 1,204,000 dues-paying members March 31 but there have been sizable layoffs in the auto industry this month.

The unions' operating fund had a deficit in the first two months this year, largely because of a $340,000 outlay to finance an addition to union headquarters.

The union's basic dues are $3 a month. The International Union gets half of this, with 25 cents earmarked for the strike fund. The fund contained $24,751,435 before collections started coming in last month from a special $5 a month levy to build up the strike fund.

3-Time Former Warden Dies

H. H. Jackson First Served as Prison Head in 1925

DETROIT (AP) — Harry H. Jackson, three-time former warden of Southern Michigan Prison and a former Detroit Police inspector, died last night at Deaconess Hospital where he had undergone surgery for stomach ulcers Friday. He was 77.

Jackson had been a salesman for U.S. Fastener Co. of Detroit since 1946.

Jackson was commissioner of the Michigan Department of Safety when he first was appointed warden at Southern Michigan Prison in 1925. He served until 1935.

He also was warden in 1935-36 and in 1939-45.

Jackson was ousted in 1945 as warden on accusations of Atty. Gen. John R. Dethmers, now chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, that the prison was dominated by a ring of inmates, lacked discipline and that favoritism was shown.

Jackson denied the accusations and fought unsuccessfully to regain his post and later a civil service pension.

Six other prison officials were ousted with Jackson by the State Corrections Commission.

Jackson claimed to have invented the first traffic lights, using red and green glass from Detroit Police Department lanterns. He failed in attempts to obtain a patent because he didn't jot down the date the lights first were used.

He joined the Detroit Police Department in 1907 and rose through the ranks to become an inspector in 1923. He was a native of Chicago and a Spanish-American war veteran.

School Bus, Car Collide in Pontiac; None Hurt

A loaded school bus and a car collided yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Nelson and Hammond streets, but no one was hurt.

Arthur E. Buck Jr., 30, of 451 S. Telegraph Rd., the bus driver, told police he was distracted by a boy on the bus and did not see the car driven by Walter M. Miller, 61, of 671 E. Tennyson St.

Police said Buck failed to observe a yield right of way sign at the intersection.

Jobless to Clean River

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County Board of Auditors said Tuesday 100 jobless men who are receiving welfare checks will be put to work cleaning out sections of the Rouge River.

Pontiac Man Injured Crossing S. Telegraph

A pedestrian was injured yesterday afternoon when he tried to cross S. Telegraph road and was hit by a car.

Ace Cole, 66, of 249 S. Telegraph walked in front of a car driven by Lowell E. Haggerty, 25, of 3462 Levee, Drayton Plains, police said.

Cole was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for a shoulder injury and released.

City OKs Rezoning for Doctor's Clinic

The City Commission last night rezoned property on which Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger plans to open a clinic.

It rezoned two lots on the north side of W. Huron street, between Thorpe street and Lincoln avenue, from residential to limited commercial.

Dr. Sullenberger, a chest surgeon who was ousted from the Pontiac General Hospital medical staff last winter, owns a small house on one of the lots, 494 W. Huron, which he plans to remodel. The other lot, to the west, is vacant.

The rezoning had been approved last fall, contingent on property owners deeding over right-of-way for an alley. Dr. Sullenberger complied with this last night.

He announced plans for a clinic after his suit for reinstatement on the hospital staff was tossed out of Circuit Court April 11.

Hamlin Chairman of Research Group

Delos Hamlin, Oakland County Board of Supervisors chairman, today was named vice chairman of the newly-organized Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corp.

The non-profit organization will make a study of social, economic and governmental growth in Oakland, Wayne, St. Clair, Macomb, Washtenaw and Monroe Counties.

William M. Day, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., was elected chairman of a 39-member board of directors, made up of civic, government and business leaders.

The directors voted to seek additional funds from the Ford Foundation to finance the study. The Foundation made an initial grant of $25,000 in February.

Two 17-Year-Olds Bound on Burglary Charge

Two 17-year-olds were bound to circuit court yesterday on burglary charges by Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum after they waived examinations.

Jerry L. Lemmert, of 2040 Richwood St., and Harold W. Anderson, of 53 W. Fairmont St., are accused of burglarizing Vick's Mobil Service, 392 W. Huron St., April 8.

Deported Man to Return Home

U. S. Officials Admit Acting Too Hastily in Accused Red's Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials cleared the way today for William Heikkila to return home.

They conceded they acted too hastily in deporting him to Finland but vowed they will continue their 11-year fight to deport him on charges he was once a member of the Communist party.

Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing authorized Heikkila's return at U.S. expense yesterday on grounds of a technical error.

Swing acted a few hours after Heikkila arrived by plane in Helsinki in the midst of a sleet storm. The 52-year-old draftsman contended he had been kidnaped by U.S. immigration agents.

Heikkila was grabbed by agents as he emerged from his San Francisco office Friday and whisked off to Finland by way of Vancouver, B.C., and the Netherlands.

Informed of Swing's decision, Heikkila said he would return home at once. "I have only one desire in my heart—to return to my home and wife."

Heikkila was born in Finland while his parents, naturalized Americans of Finnish birth, were visiting their homeland. He was brought to this country when he was 2½ months old but he never was naturalized himself.

"For many years I have applied for American citizenship but it has not been granted," he told newsmen in Helsinki. As for the Communist charge, he said:

"Sure, I was a Communist in 1929 to 1939 in Minnesota. But from the time I left there for San Francisco I have had nothing to do with politics. I have not had the time. I have just been working. I am a Democrat."

In authorizing Heikkila's return, Swing said after studying the case "I have come to the conclusion that an error in judgment was made in not returning Heikkila from Vancouver, B.C., last Sunday."

Gets Fulbright Grant

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan psychology professor Charles J. Smith will leave for Italy in September to study at the Institute of Physiology of the University of Pisa on a Fulbright grant. Smith will be gone a year.

First representative assembly in America met in Jamestown in 1619.

Human Body May Be Allergic to Itself

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — It may be possible for the human body to become allergic to itself, says a Pennsylvania pathologist.

Dr. Max H. Strumia, director of laboratory at the Bryn Mawr (Pa.) Hospital and professor of pathology at the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Medicine, said: "In some cases, part of the body acts as though other parts of the body were foreign."

He told physicians attending a graduate instruction course sponsored by the American College of Allergists that this theory could be important in supplying a possible breakthrough in the treatment of certain diseases, notably cancer.

About 20 per cent of American eight-year-olds and 95 per cent of the 70-year-olds have marked eye defects.

Recreation Budget in Township Revised

The proposed $34,167 Waterford Township Recreation budget is undergoing revision, Recreation Director Thomas Belton said today.

The Board of Education budget has allocated $12,720 as its half of the recreation budget. This is the same amount the schools contributed last year.

Township Clerk James Seeterlin said the township has earmarked funds to match the school payment.

Belton has sought an additional full time supervisor, and expansion of playground activities in two new elementary school areas.

Won't Seek Re-Election

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Washtenaw County Prosecutor Edmond F. Devine, who has been in office for six years, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election. He is a Republican.

Fast Bomber Has Own TV

Closed - Circuit Video Converts 'Hustler' for Reconnaissance

FORT WORTH, Tex. (INS) — Television is proving to be a real boon to the men who are flying America's first supersonic bombers.

But it is not for entertainment.

That's the word from Convair Aircraft Corp. of Fort Worth, developer and builder of the B58 Hustler, called the world's fastest bomber.

The newly-contrived television system, with which some of the sleek, delta-wing ships have been equipped, has converted the B58s into the country's first supersonic reconnaissance planes.

The video systems, which easily replace the Hustlers' detachable bomb pods, are for the benefit of the ships' photo-navigators, who otherwise can see little, if anything, outside of their cabins.

With the closed-circuit TV set-ups, however, they have a continuous view of areas in front of and below the bombers.

In operation, the TV cameras with which the planes are equipped grind continuously, photographing everything from horizon to horizon as the B58's zoom along on practice bombing-reconnaissance missions.

To Try Solar Power for Radios, Phones

PRETORIA, S. A. — A portable radio that works off the sun's rays and a rural telephone system that produces its own electricity are being tested in South Africa, Pretoria reports.

These tests followed arrival from America of Africa's first solar energy converters. The small, wafer-thin converters are extremely expensive and will be used only experimentally, according to the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, which is handling the tests. The converter consists of seven rows of silicon solar cells, with 10 in each row, it was explained.

They are tiny wafers of highly-purified silicon which capture the sun's rays and convert their energy into electricity.

No Fire Here, but There Stymies Smoke Eaters

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Milwaukee's firemen gathered for an awards program sponsored by the fire department for 275 civil officials and community leaders. But they immediately ran into these difficulties:

Twelve key fire officials were called away to a fire.

A movie projector which was to show a special film on the city's worst fires of the year wouldn't work.

Farms Family-Operated

About 96 per cent of the farms and ranches in the United States are family-operated.

Lake Michigan Has Most Fog, Horns Show

CHICAGO — Lake Michigan's fog signals are busier than those on any of the other Great Lakes, according to data compiled by the Ninth Coast Guard District covering the fiscal years 1955 through 1957.

Of 103 Great Lakes fog signals operated by the Coast Guard in the three years, 10 sent out their raucous bellow an average of more than 1,000 hours a year. Nine of these were on Lake Michigan, the other on Lake Superior. The busiest horn of all was at Kenosha (Wis.), Light on Lake Michigan, which operated an average of 1,702 hours a year.

Name of Venezuela Means Little Venice

CARACAS — Venezuela was given its name in 1499 by Alonso de Ojeda, who cruised along its coast.

Columbus had touched the mainland the year before on his third voyage to the New World, but had seen no more than the land opposite the island of Trinidad and a bit of the Caribbean coast.

Ojeda sailed into Lake Maracaibo and, seeing Indian dwellings raised above the water on poles, was reminded of the water city, Venice.

So he named this country Venezuela — Little Venice.

Playing Cards Used as Money by Canadians

OTTAWA — One of the strangest forms of currency ever issued anywhere was Canada's playing-card money.

In 1685, during an emergency created by a shortage of metal money, French colonial authorities in Canada issued playing cards with the seal of the treasurer and various officials' signatures on them and called them money.

Full-size cards were used and so were half cards, quarter cards, and even clipped portions.

They were readily accepted by the population and were used right up to the fall of Quebec in 1759.

The French Government finally repudiated all claims on it and speculators snapped it up for a song, and in the end a good deal of the card money was redeemed at 25 per cent of face value.

Superior Least Foggy

DULUTH, Minn — Lake Superior is the most fog - free of the Great Lakes, according to the Coast Guard. Of 15 of its stations on all the lakes whose fog signals were active an average of less than 300 hours a year in a recent checkup, six were on Lake Superior, three on Lake Erie, and two each on Lakes Michigan, Huron, and Ontario.

Amazing Plant Studied Closely

Scientists See Possible Use as Food for Space Travelers

WASHINGTON — Scientists are studying a microscopic green plant as a possible food for men journeying to the moon or Mars.

This one-cell plant, known as Chlorella, might be harvested from miniature "farms" inside rocket ships hurtling through space. The plant would absorb carbon dioxide exhaled by passengers, and give off oxygen. Thus it would purify the air as well as supply food.

Chlorella is a member of the algae plant group that forms green scum on ponds. Laboratories grow it in vessels of water containing nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, and other chemicals. Air charged with carbon dioxide is fed into the vessels, and the plants are kept well exposed to light. In several days, the Chlorella is ready to harvest.

The resulting food, a green paste, tastes something like raw spinach. It is one of the richest foods known to man.

Grown in the proper solution, a few ounces of Chlorella could supply almost all of a man's daily vitamin needs. Depending on the solution in which it grows, the Chlorella may be more than 50 per cent protein or more than 70 per cent fat.

Under laboratory conditions, Chlorella is remarkably efficient. A scientist has estimated that Chlorella growing on an area only twice the size of Rhode Island would meet the protein needs of the entire world.

Some scientists question Chlorella's potential as a food producer, pointing out that comparisons are made between Chlorella grown under the most pampered laboratory conditions and other plants grown with ordinary agricultural techniques.

But scientists are convinced that what they are now learning about Chlorella may go a long way toward meeting the food and fuel needs of the world's soaring population.

More Bananas in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRA — Brazilian growers produced 223,000,000 stems of bananas in 1956 compared with 204,000,000 the year before.

Department Stores Replace French Shops

PARIS — In France any store that sells goods in several general categories is called a department store. The National Federation of French Department Stores says, however, that France has about 100 big department stores, each with at least 100 employes and with the same general standards and range of merchandise as American department stores. Fifteen of these large stores are in Paris.

Today department stores account for 3 to 4 per cent of all the retail sales in France and in 1957 grossed the equivalent of about $500,000,000. This represents a notable gain in recent years and indicates a changing trend in distribution from the myriad tiny family-operated shops to larger and more efficient retail outlets.

TV Sets Are Target for Hotel Thieves

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Once upon a time, the only thing a hotel manager had to worry about his guest taking with them was a towel or two and a little silverware from the dining room. Nowadays, television sets are a prime target.

Officials of the Hotel Portage here told police 23 newly installed table model television sets are missing along with the coin boxes from 22 other sets.

Look Out, Forest Burns

MARQUETTE (AP) — Forest Burns has been hired as a forest fire lookout at a tower near here

Heart Diseases Traced by Using Radioisotopes

MINNEAPOLIS — Researchers at the University of Minnesota are investigating a method of using radioisotope tracers to diagnose congenital heart diseases in infants.

"Right-to-left shunts" — abnormal transfers of blood from the heart's right side to its left through defects in the heart or great vessels—have hitherto been difficult to detect without puncturing an artery, a hazardous procedure in infants.

It has been found that several radiation detectors, plus X-ray opaque fluid containing radio-active iodine injected through a vein, avoid artery puncture and can be made to yield a map of an infant's circulation, including the presence or absence of the hard-to-spot right-to-left shunts.

Food Cuts Cholesterol

CHICAGO — A Chicago meat and food-products company has developed a product derived from a vegetable which it claims can reduce the cholesterol level in the blood. It is said to taste like thick cream and can be used as a salad dressing or mixed with fruit juices or coffee. The product is made from safflower, a thistlelike plant.

Plenty in Reserve

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—If the 459th Troop Carrier Wing, an Air Force Reserve outfit here, ever needs money or leadership, it can look within its own ranks. One sergeant heads a million dollar corporation and another has a son who is a full colonel.

Honeyguide Bird Leads Humans to Bee Nests

CAPE TOWN — The African greater honeyguide, a bird distantly related to the North American woodpecker, is one of two known living creatures that can digest wax, which it obtains from bees' nests.

Since the bee nest must be broken open before the bird can feast on its principal food, it attracts the attention of a human, then "guides" him to the treasure, hence the bird's name.

The only other creature known to be able to digest wax is the "waxworm"—the larva of a moth. The wax is broken down to fatty acids by intestinal bacteria in the worm. It is not known yet how the honeyguide digests the wax.

FBI Reports Young Toughs Causing More Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp rise in lawbreaking among young toughs was reported by the FBI today with the release of figures showing youths accounted for 47.2 per cent of major crime arrests last year.

The report, bearing out fears voiced by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover against an upsurge in juvenile-committed crime, said the crime rate among persons under 18 has increased 55 per cent since 1952.

Hoover long has advocated a "get tough" policy toward youthful criminals, whom he distinguishes from simple juvenile delinquents.

The increase in youthful crime over 1956 was 9.8 per cent.

This corresponded closely with the over-all 9.1 per cent rise in major crime among all age groups. The FBI said its reports from the nation's local law enforcement agencies indicated a 1957 total of 2,796,400 major crimes. This represented a 23.9 per cent rise over the average for the past five years.

The report showed a major crime was committed in the United States once every 11.3 seconds in 1957. A murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill was committed every 3.9 minutes.

And, pointing up the growth of criminal activities, the FBI said there was one major crime for every 61 persons living in the United States last year.

A total of 12,660 persons died by violent means. There were 121,190 rapes and assaults; 61,140 robberies and 580,020 burglaries. Nearly half a billion dollars was lost in robberies.

The report's statistics-crammed 127 pages gave detailed evidence of juvenile crime, which the FBI said had increased during the past five years at a rate 2½ times greater than the population rise among persons under 18.

While youths represented only 10.3 per cent of arrests for murder, manslaughter, rape and assault, they figure in 53.1 per cent of arrests for robbery, burglary, breaking and entering, larceny and auto theft. Among those nabbed for auto stealing, youths represented 67.6 of the total arrested.

The report, contrary perhaps to popular belief, showed a greater rise in youthful crime in the small town than the big city. Teen-age arrests in cities and towns under 25,000 population rose 16 per cent, while the increase was 8.1 per cent in larger cities.

Over-all, rural crimes also outstripped city felonies last year, 11.1 to 8.9 per cent. Burglaries showed the biggest increase, 12.3 per cent. Murder and non-negligent manslaughter declined slightly, by seven tenths of 1 per cent.

Other categories showed these increases: auto thefts, 9.9 per cent; larcenies, 8.4; robbery, 8.2; rape and aggravated assault, 3.8; and negligent manslaughter, 1.6 per cent.

Of more than two million arrests for major and minor offenses, white persons accounted for 1,405,967 and Negroes 616,028. Of these, approximately one of every 10 was a woman.

Princess Meg Fearful of Trip Under Niagara

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—Princess Margaret was worried when told her Canadian tour this July will include a trip under Niagara Falls.

But then it was explained to her that going under the falls is quite safe, the princess told reporters yesterday. One of them recalled that her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, and her parents had made trips under the falls.

The 27-year-old princess wore a short blue and white afternoon dress in citrus paper taffeta at a meeting with some 200 reporters here for the inauguration of the new West Indies Federation Parliament. She formally opened the Parliament earlier yesterday.

Last night she attended a state dinner for representatives of the 10 Caribbean island colonies forming the new federation.

Ban on Recession News Scored

Benjamin M. McKelway Re-Elected AP President

NEW YORK (AP)—Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington Sunday Star was re-elected yesterday president of The Associated Press.

All other officers of the AP, worldwide news cooperative, also were re-elected. They are: Paul Miller of the Rochester, N. Y. Times Union, first vice president; Harry F. Byrd Jr., of the Winchester, Va. Evening Star, second vice president; Lloyd Stratton, secretary; and Robert Booth, treasurer.

Members of the executive committee were re-elected by the board of directors. They are: McKelway; John R. Reitemeyer, the Hartford, Con. Courant; Robert McLean, the Philadelphia Evening and Sunday Bulletin; Miller, Byrd, Robert B. Choate, the Boston Herald and Sunday Herald; and Mark Ethridge, the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The organization meeting of the board of directors today followed the annual membership meeting yesterday at which six directors were re-elected.

The men voted on were nominated by the AP's nominating committee last Jan. 21. The Board of Directors has 18 members. The members are chosen for three-year terms, with the terms of six expiring each year.

NEW YORK (AP)—The tide against the recession will be turned by a confident American people, fully informed of the facts, William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today.

Dwight, publisher of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, took sharp issue with anyone who would suppress recession news.

"A constructive and confident attack on the recession cannot be made by throwing sand in the public's eyes or by asking it to bury its head like an ostrich," Dwight told the association's annual convention in a prepared address.

"From all sides the people are being asked to show confidence, but who is showing confidence in the people? The newspapers are when they lay the facts before them."

"A confident American people will," he said.

Dwight said American newspaper publishers believe that the people must have the truth and that they can take it.

"Our national problems cannot be solved," he said, "by a citizenry that does not know what the score is.

"On the other hand our problems are greatly multiplied by those who through misguided paternalism or mean or short-sighted interests seek to keep the facts from the people."

Referring to the newspaper business, Dwight said management and labor working together can use technological improvements to open up a new life of leisure and culture for labor.

Reds Trying to Persuade Jews to Stay in Russia

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

A sporadic campaign in the Soviet press is aimed at convincing Soviet Jews they are better off in the Soviet Union than they would be in Israel.

The campaign shows the Soviet government is concerned about the Jews' loyalty to the Communist system and is trying to discourage any hope which Soviet Jews have that ultimately they may be permitted to go to Israel.

The Moscow newspaper Soviet Culture has carried a long article entitled "Hell in the Jewish Paradise." This included alleged quotations from letters of Soviet Jews who by one means or another had managed to emigrate to Israel.

The article noted that Israel is the only country where women must perform military service alongside men and said: "The charms of the Israeli heaven shine out in all their infernal glory."

The paper Komsomol Pravda printed two letters, one attributed to a former Soviet citizen now in Israel and the other to a technician who claimed to have escaped from Israel in order to return to the Soviet Union.

Said the first:

"I thought I knew what Israel is like. And I came here. I didn't know anything! There is nothing more idiotic than the idea of gathering all Jews into 'their own' state. We have been here already two months. Money, money, and money is the stimulus of life here. Everything is bought and sold, even blood. ere everyone is indoctrinatd in a spirit of chauvinism, in a spirit of hate for Arabs and in general for everything that is progressive."

Other articles have appeared in other papers, including Soviet provincial newspapers.

There are rougly three million Jews in the Soviet Union. Jews play a role in Soviet intellectual and cultural life out of all proportion to their population. For example, one out of every nine Soviet scientists is Jewish, though only about one out of every seventy Soviet citizens is Jewish.

There is evidence that many Soviet Jews would like to emigrate to Israel if they could, in part because of anti-semitism in the Soviet Union. By and large Jewish emigration from the U.S.S.R. is prohibited, though in the last several years a few have been allowed to leave.

School Borrowing Requests Approved

Five Oakland County school districts were among 42 in the state yesterday that had their requests for borrowing approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

Approved borrowings for operating expenses totaled $1,159,220 and included in the county: $49,500 for Holly area schools; $49,900 for the Lyon Township School district; $48,000 for the Huron Valley School district; and $50,000 for the Clarenceville School.

A $4,000,000 general obligation bond issue was also approved for new school construction in Hazel Park.

The commission said the number of applications, caused as the districts were being pinched for money due to the delay in state school aid, was a new high for a single week.

Eleven U.S. Navy vessels were donated to the Free China navy last Feb. 26. They included three rocket-launchers, five small-size landing craft and three infantry landing craft.

Urban Renewal Planning Starts

$90,112 Offer to Study Proposed Project OK'd by City Commission

Pontiac is officially in the urban renewal planning business.

City Commissioners last night formally accepted a Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency offer of $90,112 with which to finance a 14-month study of the proposed renewal project south of the central business district.

The money can be requisitioned as the city incurs obligations, assistant city manager Robert A. Stierer, said.

It is part of a total $1,705,000 that the federal agency has promised to spend on the Pontiac project, if plans for it are approved.

To be financed by the advance grant are two studies by the city's planning consultants, Geer Associates, of Birmingham. The first concerns eligibility of the project area and relocation of families displaced by clearance operations. Relatively few families will be relocated, planners have said.

The second would lead to a final report and a detailed application for the $1,705,000 loan and grant.

The first study should take about six months, the second about eight.

To Dedicate Flint Center

FLINT (AP) — The city's newly completed municipal center will be dedicated in ceremonies in June. The $6,250,000 center comprises a city hall, municipal courts building, police headquarters, public health building and auditorium. The city took possession Monday.

Blames Slump on Job Insecurity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan told Congress "The specter of the job insecurity" is a major cause for what he termed the continued downturn in the economy.

He proposed widespread programs of public works and an increase in the length and amount of unemployment compensation to eliminate the feeling of insecurity he attributed to the consuming public.

Williams, testifying yesterday before the House Banking Committee, also urged Congress to override President Eisenhower's vetoes of measures to freeze farm price supports at the 1957 levels and to authorize nationwide rivers and harbors projects.

The committee is gathering testimony on unemployment from governors of states hardest hit by the recession.

Williams, a five-term Democratic Governor who has been mentioned as a 1960 presidential possibility, outlined a detailed program of federal spending as the best way in his view to bring the nation out of the recession. He made no mention of a tax cut in his prepared statement.

"In my mind," Williams said, "We are going to get the economy moving back into high gear when we remove from the consumer-worker the specter of job insecurity."

He asserted this could be accomplished by (1) "Bold programs of public works" to supply jobs and (2) increasing the length and amounts of unemployment compensation through federal grants rather than loans as proposed by the president.

Williams contended existing unemployment insurance "doesn't provide either a decent standard of living until re-employment or peace of mind."

He endorsed the proposals sponsored by the House Democratic leadership for a 16-week extension of unemployment benefits on an emergency basis, but added that Congress should also enact a long range program for higher state standards of unemployment insurance.

2 Arrested in Holdup of Reducing Salon

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Two brothers charged with holding up a reducing salon and forcing some 18 women to strip at gunpoint are in custody here.

Billy Lambert, 27, and Clifton Lambert, 21, were picked up in a stolen auto. Sheriff's officers said they were being questioned about several other crimes.

The bandits got $143 in the holdup Monday night and one woman was struck across the face by a pistol. The clients and women employes at the salon were forced to strip, but no one else was harmed.

Butler Predicts Dem Victory

Sees Party Gaining 40 House Seats, 8 to 12 Senators in Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler predicted today. Democrats will gain at least 40 House seats and 8 to 12 senators in the November elections.

He commented in an interview on the unusual statement by Meade Alcorn, Republican national chairman, that "I just don't think it's in the cards," for the GOP to capture control of the Senate.

Alcorn contended, however, that the Republicans will take a bare majority control of the House, which like the Senate is now controlled by Democrats. He talked with newsmen after a White House conference with President Eisenhower.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland commented: "I think it's too early in the ball game to call the score yet," Knowland said. "I think the battle will be a close one, but its outcome will be determined by conditions later in the year."

But Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz), noting that "the arithmetic's against us," said that as a practical matter he has to agree with Alcorn.

Alcorn reported to Eisenhower on the party's prospects on the basis of a recent trip through Georgia, Alabama, New York, Massachusetts, Louisiana and Missouri. But he said he did not tell the President about his belief that the Republicans are not likely to win Senate control.

The Mayflower had 101 passengers and 48 crewmen when it left England in 1620.

Facing Slim Chances in France

Bidault Determined

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Fourteen years ago Georges Bidault was one of a group of French Resistance veterans who entered politics determined that French democratic government never again would sink to the impotency that marked the months before the fall of France.

Today, the 58-year-old Bidault is seeking to patch together the 25th government since the liberation. His chances of success are slim, and his chances of staying in office should he succeed are even slimmer.

Although Bidault has been premier twice since 1946, his greatest fame came during the years from 1944 to 1948, and from 1953 to 1954 when he was foreign minister and participant in many international conferences.

The slight, graying Frenchman was born in Moulins on Oct. 5, 1899, into a family of moderate means. He received his early education in a Jesuit school in Italy, and later was a brilliant student of history at the Sorbonne in Paris. During his student days, he first became active in Catholic Action, the forerunner of the popular Republican Party that he later was to lead.

Bidault was a professor of history in Paris between the wars, and as an editorial writer for the liberal Catholic paper L'Aube, vigorously opposed to the Munich Pact. He enlisted in the army, was captured and released by the Germans in 1940.

He immediately joined the Resistance and in 1943 was elected head of the National Council, which coordinated all the underground work against the Nazis.

As foreign minister after the war, he was one of the chief French supporters of European unification. In recent years, Bidault has become isolated within his own party by his strongly nationalistic views on French colonial problems.

Bidault was married in 1946 to Suzanne Borel, the first Frenchwoman to pass the examination for career diplomats. They had worked together during the Resistance.

FDR's First, Last Cook Dies in Warm Springs

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—The Negro woman who cooked President Franklin Roosevelt's first and last meals at the Little White House here is dead.

Daisy Bonner, who cooked for the famous man for 20 years whenever he was in Warm Springs, died just 13 years and 10 days after his death. She had been in ill health for several years.

Daisy once scribbled on the kitchen wall of the Little White House that she cooked "the first meal and the last" for the late President.

Guides still point out the inscription to visitors.

Say Moon Traveler to Be Bored Stiff

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The man who makes the first trip to the moon is going to be bored stiff.

That's the consensus of six Navy enlisted men who finished a simulated seven-day voyage to the moon yesterday at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

They worked, ate, slept and made feeble attempts to amuse themselves in a cramped, two-compartment space chamber.

They said they had little time for games because one man rested at any one time while the others worked.

The serious purpose of the test was to find out how men would stand a long flight in a cramped space craft.

Pays $25 Fine in Deaths of Three at Christmas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A $25 fine for reckless driving has been levied on Lester Frohock, 60, whose car ran out of control into a Christmas shopping crowd and killed three pedestrians.

A plea of guilty was entered for Frohock by his attorney. Frohock had given bond on a manslaughter charge but a justice of the peace ruled the evidence would not sustain such a charge.

Falling Tree Hits Train

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The west bound Union Pacific train City of Portland was struck by a falling tree yesterday and 38 windows were broken. The passenger train brushed the falling tree when it passed through the Blue Mountains of northeastern Oregon. No one was hurt.

Boy, 5, Is Crushed to Death in Twister

SUMMERTON, S. C. (AP) — A tornado slammed a concrete block into a house yesterday, crushing a 5-year-old boy to death.

The child's sister, sitting beside him, suffered only a scratch on the leg.

Mrs. Janey Carter sai dshe, Willie and Emily Ann, 6, were watching the storm through the window of their concrete block tenant house on a farm near here. The tornado smashed a hole right through the house.

Hop-scotching tornadoes, hail storms and rain squalls slashed across other parts of South Carolina, doing thousands of dollars of damage to the state's multi-million-dollar peach crop.

Guilty of Manslaughter in California Accident

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — Edward F. Hellner, 77, of Ann Arbor, Mich., will be sentenced May 5 for manslaughter in the traffic death of a Tulare, Calif., woman Feb. 18.

Witnesses told the superior court jury that convicted him Monday that Hellner went through a stop sign and struck a car carrying Mrs. Elizabeth S. Rogers who was injured fatally.

Garbage Jobs Hazard

CLEVELAND—According to the American Municipal Association, accident figures show that the most dangerous of Cleveland's City Government jobs is not police or fire duty or tax assessing, but garbage collection. The trash collectors average about 600 accidents a year, the association says. Two thirds of them cause sprained backs and ankles from lifting oversize cans, nearly one third result in cuts from loose broken glass, and a few in bites of rats taking refuge in the cans.

Willys Developing New Army Vehicle

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Willys Motors, Inc., today announced development of a second lightweight, platform-type military vehicle that can be converted quickly from a personnel carrier to a ¾-ton truck.

An outgrowth of the ¼-ton mechanical mule, a weapons carrier Willys has been producing for the Armed Forces, the new vehicle is powered by a die-castable, air-cooled aluminum engine. It has 4-wheel drive selective two or four-wheel steering and can make up to 60 miles per hour.

The vehicle has six seats and a load capacity equal to its weight of 1,500 pounds. Five of the seats can be folded flush into the platform bed to convert from a personnel carrier to a truck with nearly 50 square feet of cargo space.

With adaptations, the vehicle may be used as a weapons carrier, guided missile carrier, mount for a 106mm recoilless rifle or an ambulance.

Provision has been made for a propeller to be operated by rear power takeoff, thus enabling the vehicle to move across water obstacles.

Junior Editors Quiz on RECREATION

QUESTION: What games did Americans first play?

ANSWER: The first white men who settled here were exceedingly busy folks; even the children had to work and there was little play time for anybody. Idleness was regarded as a sin.

An exception seems to have been made in favor of dolls. Many of these are preserved, dating from our earliest history. Early dolls were made of rags (or sometimes of corn husks) and the features were drawn with charcoal, and colored with poke-berry juice.

The first games played by boys were rough and tumble sports like wrestling, jumping, running. In his boyhood George Washington excelled at all these; he also played mimic warfare with his friends—many of whom were no doubt dressed up as Indians.

As settlements grew and schools were established, group games such as snap-the-whip became popular. Football, an ancient pastime supposed to have been introduced into Europe by the Roman Legions, and described in 1531 as "nothyng but beastely fury and extreme violence," appeared early in our Colonial period. The favorite game of the village green, it was taken up by the first colleges. In old-style football one did not run with the ball, but "babied" it between the feet, sometimes hitting it forward with the fists.

Large Ship Under Way

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — The Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, builder of many naval vessels, is installing the biggest propeller in its history on a yet unnamed 60,000-ton tanker. It is 24 feet in diameter and weighs 73,000 pounds.

Diamond Sales Higher

KIMBERLEY, South Africa — Diamond sales on behalf of South Africa and other producers by the Central Selling Organization in Kimberley totaled about $165,400,000 in the first nine months of 1957 compared with about $153,400,000 for the like 1956 period.

Asks Officials to Resign

They're Still Her Friends, but Duty Comes First

BELTON, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Tillie Quick said today she hates to take issue with her friends but duty demands it.

Mrs. Quick, a 49-year-old housewife, is the first woman member of Belton's City Council. At her first Council meeting, she demanded that Mayor William V. Powell, Alderman Fred Folk, and J. Maurice Robie, superintendent of public works, resign.

She said the three officials had been doing business with the city (pop. 1,233). In Missouri, that's illegal.

"I don't have a thing against the mayor and the others," Mrs. Quick said today. "They've been my friends and I would like for them to remain my friends. I hope they will be—when this is all over.

"But I just had to set a few things straight. It seems to me that there's some skeletons which need to be dragged out of the Belton closet . . . and there's no better time than the present."

Mrs. Quick said she has written to Missouri Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton to find out how to get a state investigation of her three friends.

Mayor Powell, Alderman Polk and Robie said they have no intention of resigning. Powell admitted Mrs. Quick's charges, but said he acted in the city's interest.

Powell, a contractor, said he collected $1,889.81 for repairing City Hall but only after the city failed to get any bids on the work. Folk, an implement dealer, was accused of selling machinery parts to the city. He has remained silent. But Powell said the Council bought the parts from Folk because his prices were lower than those of other dealers.

Robie flatly denied Mrs. Quick's charge that he wrote a $70,000 insurance policy on City Hall and the city sewage disposal plant. In the first place, said Robie, the policy is for $144,000. In the second place his brother J. T. Robie wrote it.

Mrs. Quick, a native of Belton, won the Council seat in her first political race. She defeated Jack C. Dryden by 32 votes April 1.

What moved her to seek public office?

She said Police Chief John Blum gave her a ticket for illegal parking. Furthermore, he was discourteous, she said.

"I was peeved partly because I got that ticket (cost: $1.50) and partly because some friends of mine had got fined $1.50 for not getting their city stickers on their windshields right away," she explained.

"So I made up my mind I was going to run for alderman and if I got elected I was going to put a stop to this thing of having our good citizens pushed around."

Monitors Asked to Clean Local

Senate Rackets Group Sees Truckers' Rights Abused in Philadelphia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee today asked court-appointed monitors for the Teamsters International Union to clean up Local 107 in Philadelphia.

The request was made by Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) in a letter to Chief Judge Nathan Cayton of the District of Columbia Municipal Court, chairman of the three-member monitor board.

The monitors were named to check up on operations of the international union as the outgrowth of a court suit challenging the election of James R. Hoffa as president last year.

McClellan said hearings of his committee "in my estimation have shown a complete disregard of the rights of rank-and-file members of this union by Raymond Cohen, the secretary-treasurer, and his fellow officials."

"In addition," McClellan's letter continued, "a misuse of union funds amounting to tens of thousands of dollars has been clearly established; union records have been altered; checks forged."

Cohen took the Fifth Amendment when questioned before the committee about alleged misuse of union money.

McClellan expressed the opinion that sufficient evidence has been developed at the hearing to call for removal of Cohen and fellow officials under the AFL-CIO ethical practices code, and to remove Cohen as a trustee of the international union.

Boy, 14, Fourth to Die Following Gunfight

DANA POINT, Calif. (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Charles Allyn Seyfert died last night in a hospital, the fourth victim of a gunfight in which his father, younger brother and a deputy sheriff were killed.

Charles was wounded when he joined his brother Tommy, 10, and his father Charles Seyfert, 39, of Tucson, Ariz., in the battle with two sheriff's deputies Monday night.

Police said Charles fired the shots that killed Deputy Robert L. Schultz, 37. Deputy Edward Gene Johnson, also wounded, was reported improving today after surgery.

Charles was shot by Schultz as he fell wounded.

An autopsy disclosed that the father and Tommy died of .22-caliber bullet wounds. The deputies' guns were .38 caliber.

Sheriff's Lt. Clarence A. Double said: "It looks like Seyfert killed the boy, then turned the gun on himself."

The gunfire broke out when deputies stopped a ramshackle bus driven by Seyfert. A relative of Mrs. Seyfert had relayed to officers her warning that Seyfert was "all mixed up."

Urges Dedication to Spiritual Ideals

Dulles Hits Arms Races

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles says, "We must not accept an armaments race, as if to be the greatest military power were a worthy or even acceptable goal."

Dulles, addressing a dinner of the Military Chaplains' Assn. last night, said: "We must not seek that scientific education and scientific applications monopolize the minds of our youth, as though other values did not matter.

"We must not accept the quantity of consumers' goods — automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, radios and the like — to be the decisive measure of our society, as though its spiritual content were unimportant."

Dulles said Americans would have to embrace "the very thing we hate" if they sought to compete with the Soviet Union "under the rules the challenger lays down."

"Sometimes," he said, "it is indispensable for a nation, even as an individual, to say 'No.'"

He called on the nation to do so "emphatically and, indeed, proudly."

Dulles said the nation has a "positive challenge" to rededicate itself to the spiritual foundations and moral concepts that made America great.

Discussing Soviet aspirations to have the world's greatest military establishment, he said: "The Soviet government has not made one single serious proposal to limit modern armament. It has rejected or evaded many such proposals."

Dulles said the United States seeks only "a military posture that others respect."

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, off moments and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Canadian River Pilots Will Honor Strike

TORONTO (AP) — The president of the striking Great Lakes pilots says Canadian river pilots have agreed to honor the stoppage. The move threatened to bottle up more than 30 outbound foreign vessels in the Great Lakes.

The first test was expected when the Norwegian freighter Rutenfjell arrives in Kingston from Toronto for the trip through the narrow river channel.

The foreign ships have refused to take on pilots for the voyage through the lakes, contending assistance is necessary only in the narrower waters of the river between Kingston and Montreal.

The Shipping Federation of Canada protested yesterday against the strike, contending that the lake pilots' demand that they be used on all foreign cargo vessels "would be designed to force ocean shipping out of the lakes."

The pilots walked out Monday. The 30 foreign vessels ignored the threat of picket lines and proceeded through the lakes with their own masters directing them.

Women Sit on Jobs, Protest Layoffs

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sixty women sitdown strikers, in evident high spirits, carried their protest work stoppage into a third day at M. & F. Worsted Co. today.

Some said they would hold if it takes till Mother's Day.

The women, ranging in age from 28 to 68, were fortified by food and coffee that moved into the mill in a steady stream last night.

Efforts by Edward P. McEntee, business agent for the Textile Workers Union, to get them to end their unauthorized strike were fruitless.

Other departments of the mill continued to operate but the sitdowners said if their strike went on it would bring operations to a halt Friday. The firm employes 300. Their objection was to increased work loads and possible layoffs.

Building Permits Leap in Township

There were more building permits issued last week in Waterford Township, than there were for the entire month of April last year, according to reports in the building department.

Last week's rush for permits, totaled $1,073,460 as compared with last April's $1,012,754.

There were 84 house building permits, totaling $921,110 with the largest number issued to the Coleman - Friedman Co. for 64 homes to be built in the Cass Lake Rd. area.

A permit was issued to the Oakland County Board of Education for a $127,470 addition. Only twelve garage permits for $13,750 were issued last week.

Newly developed materials now make it possible to do sky writing in color.

New York Subways Not to Be Air-Cooled

NEW YORK (AP) — Subway sardines got bad news yesterday: the Transit Authority has dropped its plans for air-cooled cars.

The authority acknowledged that its three-year experiment had failed.

TA Chairman Charles L. Patterson said: "The benefits derived are not worth the cost of installation or operation."

Explorer Still Talking

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The low-power radio of the Explorer I satellite is still transmitting cosmic ray information back to earth says Dr. Norman Jacobson of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology.

In many of the states, the laws provide the will of an unmarried woman is regarded as being revoked in the event of her subsequent marriage.

Public Oratory a Frightening Prospect?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Almost everyone, at one horrendous time or another, is called upon to make a speech in public. Maybe one out of a hundred—politicians, usually, or garden club ladies who took elocution lessons and grew up to dote on delivering treasurer's reports—enjoys it.

To the rest of the world, the first 100 speeches are mental and emotional nightmares. A speech must be made with confidence and a flexible tongue, and one of life's greatest minor tragedies is that no Arctic climate can so cool down the ego, and freeze up the vocal apparatus, as the immediate prospect of sounding off before an audience.

Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, the recording secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has come up with a possible solution to the problem. Her solution: "Practice! Practice! Practice!"

Mrs. Arnold points out that Demosthenes, the world's greatest orator, used to rehearse his routines before roaring ocean breakers. Henry Clay, she said, addressed some corn shocks on his farm. When Henry Ward Beecher was due for an appearance at Rotary, he recited his speeches to the trees in back of his house.

So? "Why not do your practicing," she suggests to women, "while you master some routine household task? Pick out some familiar object—a robin, a broom, a newly baked pie—and as you wash your dishes, talk about this object for two minutes. On ironing day plan a two-minute talk on a more abstract subject, such as freedom or patriotism.

"As you iron and fold, remember your audience is all set to hear something new. Choose a subject you're enthusiastic about and remember that, as in friendships and books, the beginning of your talk is of prime importance. State your purpose."

The body of your address to the fresh, white doilies should contain complete and exact facts, Mrs. Arnold suggests. Don't gesture, as meaningless motions can attract more attention than a clever line (and also scorch the linens).

The conclusion of your speech should be short and should summarize. "A conclusion should be a precious memory for the listener."

Mrs. Arnold makes it all seem so simple, as she goes on to say that, after your dissertation at the ironing board, you "are almost ready to try your wings as a public speaker."

Then she complicates things again by recalling, rather unnecessarily, that you still may not feel altogether comfortable. Your mouth may get dry. Knees start to tremble. Hands refuse to be still. But then, assures Mrs. Arnold, "you laugh—for you remember this is the way nature stirs you up to do your best."

Mrs. Arnold concludes that just before your public appearance, you should "make certain your clothes are pressed, and RELAX."

Well, our clothes are pressed all right, obviously. But I'm still not sure we've ironed out that relaxation problem . . .

'Moonlighter' License Ordered for Williams

LANSING (AP) — "Moonlighter license number one" was ordered for Gov. Williams today with the compliments of Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater).

Smeekens, a frequent critic of the Governor, chided Williams for his speech-making trips to other states.

"No 16-hour-a-day moonlighter could keep up with Gerhard, the gone Governor, who is gone so much the empty chair in his office is his proper symbol in Lansing," Smeekens said.

"Moonlighter" is a term coined by unions to describe members who hold down two jobs, one by day and one by night.

The Governor has been in Lansing only one of the last four days, Smeekens said.

Williams returned yesterday from a two-day trip to the West Coast and took off this morning for Washington, D.C., where he will testify on unemployment before the House Banking and Commerce Committees and address the National Campaign Conference for Democratic Women.

"Gerhard is a moonlighter extraordinary, and should, as such, carry a license," Smeekens said. "At his request, I shall have one suitably prepared giving him special dispensation from the CIO ban."

Lakers Draft Baylor as First NBA Pick

DETROIT (INS)—Elgin Baylor, six-foot six-inch star of Seattle, the nations second leading scorer, was the first draft choice today of the Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball Association draft in Detroit.

Archie Dees, six-foot eight-inch Indiana star, was picked by the Cincinnati Royals.

The Detroit Pistons had no first round choice, having traded their number one pick for Dick McGuire of New York last year.

Detroit took Barney Cable of Bradley on the 2nd round.

Sales Festival Goes Over Big

Flint Counts 50,000 in Downtown Area for Gala 12-Hours

FLINT (AP) — Flint auto dealers and retail merchants describe the city's "Spring Sales Festival" a big success.

An estimated 50,000 persons crowded the downtown area Monday for the sales event put on as an antidote to the recession.

Saginaw street, heart of the business district, was converted into a seven - block marketplace. Traffic was detoured around the area.

At the close of the 12-hour sale, 126 new cars and 151 used cars had been sold out of th 450 cars parked up and down the street. Dealers figured that was more than triple an ordinary Monday business volume.

Retail merchants, who staged special sales, said their business in general increased at least 50 per cent over the same day a year ago.

Saginaw street was gaily decorated with pennants. At the end of the day, 400 square dancers took over the street with an orchestra and a caller.

During the day a high school band and a calliope played for the shoppers. A miniature cannon was fired every time a car was sold. It reared all day.

The festival was sponsored by the Flint Automobile Dealers Assn. and the retail merchant division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Confusion Compounded

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (AP)—The friendly folk here had to break themselves of using first names when they phoned the county attorney's office.

There was always a mixup, what with County Attorney Carroll Bowie, and Assistant Carroll Moody. Then they hired a new secretary, Carole Alexander.

Time Out for Spree

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Any man 64 years of age or more who has lived all his life in this city and has never been in jail is entitled to a "little spree," said Judge John Selon. He dismissed a charge of drunkeness against a defendant who met those qualifications.

Nuclear Ship to Be 'Floating Lab'

To Lay Keel of A-Vessel

CAMDEN, N. J. (INS)—The keel of the world's first commercial atomic vessel, the N. S. Savannah, will be laid at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. in Camden on Maritime Day, May 22.

Announcement of the date was made today by the Department of Commerce and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, who said Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the vice president, would take part in the ceremonies.

The A-ship is named in honor of the S.S. Savannah, first ship to cross the Atlantic Ocean using steam power.

The old Savannah began her Atlantic crossing on May 22, 1819, and had coal enough to use her steam engines for only 90 hours of the 29½ day voyage.

The nuclear Savannah, to be built as a "floating laboratory" at a cost of $31-million, will be able to carry 60 passengers and 9500 tons of cargo at speeds of 20¼ knots. It will be able to operate for more than three years on its initial fuel loading.

Afflicting Human Lungs

Possible New Disease Reported to Pathologist

CLEVELAND (AP)—An apparently new lung disease, first observed five years ago and studied in 27 patients, was reported today to the International Academy of Pathology and the American Assn. of Pathologists and Bacteriologists.

More than a thousand pathologists, in annual sessions here, got the report from Dr. Samuel H. Rosen of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D. C.

The new disease, he said, "may be a penalty for the convenience of modern living" and appears to be caused by some injurious inhalant—perhaps new chemicals in insecticides, detergents, plastics, therapeutic drugs, and other compounds.

The men studying the disease have tagged it pulmonary aveolar proteinosis. Air spaces or aveoli of the lung fill with a granular, proteinoceous — pus — material.

It was in July 1953, at Massachusetts General Hospital that the disease was first observed, Rosen said. Since then he and Drs. Benjamin Castleman of Harvard Medical School and Averill A. Liebow of Yale have observed the disease in 27 patients. It has been detected in all parts of the United States and in Canada, England, and Italy.

It seems unlikely that a virus, bacterium, or other parasite is responsible for the new disease, Rosen said.

Symptoms are shortness of breath, a cough, and sometimes fatigue and loss of weight. Fever was absent in most patients, Rosen said, and there is little or no inflammatory reaction observed in penumonia.

In eight of the 27 cases observed, there have been deaths—some from complicating fungus infections of the lung, Rosen reported. The first patient observed, though improved and able to work still has signs of the disease, which may run for years. Another patient recovered completely, and four others have shown definite improvement.

Says Nuclear Tests Must Go On Despite Risks

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Nuclear tests must continue regardless of the probability of radiation damage to a few individuals, says an official of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. C. W. Schilling, deputy director of the commission's Division of Biology and Medicine, said such testing represents a calculated risk.

He told a meeting of the Industrial Medical Assn.: "We must gamble with the probability of radiation damage to a few individuals in order to secure the survival of the total society."

Dr. Schilling said tests of atomic weapons must continue "not only to study their characteristics, but also, and perhaps more importantly, to study ways and means of protecting populations from their effects, should they ever be used in warfare."

Bishop to Outline Drive

GAYLORD (AP) — The 1958 Grand Rapids Catholic Diocesan Development drive to raise more than $450,000 for diocese projects will be outlined today by Bishop Allen J. Babcock at Gaylord. The bishop's Gaylord appearance is the first of a series of preliminary meetings with campaign workers for the drive May 18-25. A similar meeting is planned Thursday at Traverse City.

Uranium Output Rises

CAPE TOWN — Uranium production in South Africa reached the rate of 6,000 tons a year during 1957. Uranium exports totaled 3,400 tons in 1956.

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Founders Day Dinner

Pontiac Press Photos

Honorary members of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Myrtle Shore of Evart and Adah Shelly talk over the programs and favors with Mrs. William Cheal at last evening's Founders Day dinner of the sorority at Elks Temple. Decorations were carried out in the theme of the dinner, "Castles in Spain."

Mrs. Walter Hiller (right), retiring president of City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, holds her favor from the dinner as Mrs. Richard McVickar, incoming president, reads about the favor.

Myrtle Labbitt Addresses 123 at Sorority Banquet

Before 123 enthusiastic members and guests of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Mrs. Myrtle Labbitt spoke on "Castles in Spain." As main speaker for the group's Founders Day Dinner at Elks Temple Tuesday evening, Mrs. Labbitt told of a two-month tour through Spain.

Mrs. Labbitt, who is from a Detroit television station, told of the customs, food and dress of the Spanish people. She was particularly impressed with the little town in which St. Theresa was born.

Guests at the dinner included honorary members Myrtle Shore of Evart and Adah Shelly.

Mrs. Walter Hiller, retiring council president of Beta Sigma Phi, gave the welcome followed by group singing. Mrs. William Cheal directed and Mrs. Marcella Hester accompanied the sorority members.

Welcoming pledges of the group was Mrs. C. M. Shelton while Mrs. John Whitehead delivered a message from the group's national founder.

Alumnae Names Officers

Doris Haynes was elected president of the University of Michigan Alumnae of Pontiac at a meeting held Tuesday evening at McMath-Hulbert Observatory, Lake Angelus.

Other officers are Gertrude Overton, vice president; Mrs. Harold Northon, secretary; Dorothy Cummings, treasurer; Mrs. Donald S. Brownles, senior counselor, and Mrs. R. Grant Graham, junior counselor.

The group, guests of Dr. Helen Dodson Prince, professor of astronomy at the U. of M. and a staff member of the observatory, discussed the role the observatory is playing in the International Geophysical Year. Also taking part in the discussion was Dr. Prince's associate, Ruth Hedeman.

Following the meeting the group was taken on a tour of the observatory.

Hostesses Mrs. Ray Slaughter, Mrs. Robert Terry and Lillian Bullock (left to right) stopped for a moment to chat about the dinner and arrangements for guests at Elks Temple Tuesday evening.

Mrs. C. M. Shelton receives a corsage of shattered carnations from Mrs. John Whitehead (center) as Marilyn Carlson watches at Beta Sigma Phi's Founders Day dinner which was held at the Elks Temple.

Dear Abby ....

Play Smart Politics in Next Gift to Girl

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I sent my girl a very nice Easter lily plant on Easter Sunday. It set me back $8.00. She sent me a 29c ceramic donkey, with a card saying "Thinking of you." I don't know whether she thinks I am a Democrat or what, but I felt insulted. It was kind of a laughing donkey with its mouth open and all its teeth showing. The more I look at it the more I DON'T like it. Should I send it back or keep it?"

NO DEMOCRAT

ABBY

DEAR NO: Where's your sense of humor? For Christmas . . . send her a 29c ceramic elephant and tell her a Republican never forgets."

"DEAR ABBY: Please help us to save our 27-year-old boy from making the biggest mistake of his life. A woman who is 33 years old is after him and she is determined to get him.

"She has two illegitimate children which she claims she got without even kissing another man. Now I ask you, is she all there? Our son says he loves her and wants to marry her. How can we break this up?"

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: A 27-year-old "boy" is of legal age and can marry whomever he chooses without your consent. Whether this woman is "all there" is a matter for a psychiatrist to determine. The situation is out of your hands.

"DEAR ABBY: If a decent man is interested in meeting a refined and wholesome schoolteacher, it is very simple. He certainly must have a friend or relative who has children going to school. He could suggest they invite him and the lonely schoolteacher to the house for a meal. It needn't be fancy, either.

"I'd appreciate scrambled eggs and paper napkins in the company of an interesting man who is too fussy to look in bars for female companionship.

A SCHOOL TEACHER

"DEAR ABBY: This writer does not agree with your statement that most school teachers would make wonderful wives and mothers. Most school teachers tend to regulate the lives of everyone around them and are incurably domineering, self-righteous and unbending. The school teacher is cold, arrogant and has a superior attitude. I would much prefer a waitress, shop girl or even a reformed fallen dove."

CRUSTY OLD BACHELOR

DEAR CRUSTY (and you are "crusty"): Sweeping generalizations are dangerous. There are many school teachers who do not fit your description. I know several who could make your crust crumble.

Serious Goals Replace Frivolity

Princess Meg Has New Look

LONDON (NEA) — The outside world is getting its first glimpse of a new and changed Princess Margaret as her royal highness tours the Caribbean.

Gone is the highly strung, rather frivolous Princess Margaret beloved by gossip columnists the world over. In her place is a thoughtful, mature woman of 27, with a newly developed sensitivity to the problems and feelings of others.

Princess Margaret's main interests in life are no longer American jazz, canasta and the company of the half-baked aristocrats known here as "The Margaret Set."

THINKS OF OTHERS

She has replaced this synthetic personality with warmth, understanding, and an interest in the welfare of others.

Furthermore, she has begun to assert her independence, to put her foot down when assigned to the role of Queen Elizabeth's "kid sister."

How much her own disappointment in love has contributed to the transformation is anybody's guess, but the change dates from her rupture with Capt. Peter Townsend and the subsequent failure to find romance with any of the eligible young men of her circle.

Whatever its causes, the change is welcomed here by the British public, which was beginning to tire of the antics of Meg and her vacuous friends with too much money and too much idle time on their hands.

MAY VISIT U.S.

Americans, too, may have an opportunity to judge the new Princess Margaret, for she will be visiting Canada in July, and it is known that her keenest desire is to include the United States in her tour. If she does slip across the border, it will be the first time she has set foot on American soil.

It is not that Princess Margaret has become a sourpuss, or a do-gooder of the deadly variety. She can still be gay, sparkling, frivolous upon occasion. She still enjoys pink champagne and a night out on the town.

But a life dedicated to social rounds plus cornerstone laying has begun to pall on the princess, and she has let the royal family, her friends and palace courtiers know so in no uncertain terms.

The signals of revolt were flashed recently when Princess Margaret skipped a royal film performance and a royal variety show, failed to show up at the Queen's 10th wedding anniversary party until after midnight, having previously dined out with friends.

Although much was made in the press of the wedding anniversary incident as a possible rift between the Queen and her sister, no rift, in fact, exists. It was merely Princess Margaret's way of asserting her independence.

NO MARRIAGE PLANS

Those who look for profounder reasons for the change in Princess Margaret claim that her romance with Townsend having been broken up, she is now resigned to spinsterhood. "The old maid aunt of Prince Charles," is the way she mockingly describes herself to friends.

The fear of being a wallflower, of being passed up in the royal marriage mart, has now been conquered, according to some of Princess Margaret's intimates; and as a result, the princess is much more at ease with herself and with others.

Hand-in-hand with this new outlook on life is Princess Margaret's ripening friendship with the Rev. Simon Phipps, 35-year-old Anglican clergyman, who has known the princess since childhood, and to whom she turned during the Townsend crisis.

The tall, red-headed clergyman undoubtedly has been a decisive influence in Princess Margaret's life, for although she has always been a deeply religious person, it is Phipps who has opened up before her the possibilities of putting her religious beliefs into practice.

BRITAIN'S PRINCESS MARGARET

Governor to Visit Hospital

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will visit Pontiac State Hospital April 30 at 3:30 p.m. in connection with the hospital's annual open house.

Patients at the hospital are planning a reception in the governor's honor to which the hospital administration will be invited. The reception is being planned and prepared by patients enrolled in the Homemaking Class, a hospital activity developed to meet the needs of young married women.

A special showing of the patient-enacted play "Music on Parade" will be presented followed by a brief talk by Gov. Williams. The public is invited to hear the talk.

Open house will be held April 27 through 30 with special workshops being held April 28.

St. Michael Card Party Scheduled

Garchow; Mrs. John O'Neil, dining room chairman, assisted by Mrs. Bernard Amman, Mrs. Francis Bender, Mrs. John Halbert, Mrs. Floyd Schell and Mrs. Arthur Ebert.

Mrs. Coulson is heading the reception committee, assisted by Mrs. John Myers, Mrs. Herbert Watson, Mrs. Earl Adams, Mrs. Paul Singles and Mrs. Henry Simpson. Publicity is under the chairmanship of Mrs. John S. Keesling.

Mrs. Roy Long Named to Head Local Group

New officers have been elected by Alpha Omicron Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma honorary society. Mrs. Roy Long is president-elect and Alice Milbrand is second vice-president.

Returning to office are Esther Cole, first vice president; Mrs. John Clouse, recording secretary; Mrs. Marguerite Bean, corresponding secretary; Charlotte Richards, parliamentarian, and Joan Stoegerer, treasurer.

Plans are completed for a June meeting to be held at the Walnut Lake home of Charlotte Richards.

Extension Club Has Lesson on Evergreens

Mrs. H. Jim Stein presented a lesson on "Pruning and Care of Evergreens and Conifers" when members of Modern Homemakers Extension Club met Tuesday evening. Mrs. William Tippen opened her Monterey drive home for the meeting.

A community project was discussed as well as the hazards from improper use in home of cleaning fluids and fire extinguishers. Mrs. Lloyd Christian was received as a new member.

Bethany Unit Announces Officers

New officers of the Women's Society of Bethany Baptist Church are Mrs. George Shearer, president; Mrs. Frank Marsh, first vice president and Mrs. Earl Eddy, second vice president.

Other vice presidents include Mrs. Clarence Myers, Mrs. Jack Walser and Mrs. Joseph Chapman, Christian services; Mrs. I. M. Lewis, missions; Mrs. Turris McCully, Christian training, and Mrs. Harry Buehring, missionary and stewardship education.

Agnes Hilton is secretary and Mrs. Russell Kneale is treasurer.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Mildred Grover, fellowship guild; Mrs. Forrest Brown, literature and library; Mrs. Walter Willson, parliamentarian; Mrs. Clifton Dennis, auditor; Mrs. Myrtle McVean, historian and Mrs. Maynard Johnson, nominating.

Alumnae Plan May Card Party

Marygrove College Alumnae Association announces its annual scholarship card party to be held May 3 on the school campus.

Alumnae from this area working on arrangements are Mrs. John Noonan, Mrs. Glynn C. Payne, Mrs. Robert D. Phelan, Mrs. Ralph Poirier, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hans. Proceeds will be used to provide scholarship aid to young women.

Jobs Daughters Mark Anniversary

The 24th anniversary of the Order of Jobs Daughters, Bethel 5, was observed Monday evening with a Friendship Night program.

Guests were present from Pontiac, Detroit, Milford, Rochester, Clarkston, and Marine City. Seven members were received into the order. Refreshments were served from tables decorated in a birthday motif.

In the American-financed oil fields in Sumatra, workers have to use snow tires and chains to get their trucks over the muddy tropical roads.

Imitate Circus Artist

Play Clothes Taboo for Pudgies

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't be lulled by "the sack." It may not be with us for long and anyway many of you will want to wear two piece swim suits and play clothes very soon!

These garments are impossible looking when worn by a woman who is even 10 pounds overweight. This is especially true when she has a pad of fat over her diaphragm (the area just below the bust and above the waist.)

I mentioned recently that the diaphragm is a stubborn spot and without exercise may cling to its fatty deposits even when the pounds are dropping away.

This is good for the diaphragm. Bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders. Keep your hands in this position as you bend back toward the right. Hold, return, continue.

The two piece bathing suit is most becoming to many types of figure. Therefore I am concentrating on exercise which will slim this portion of the body. You have to lose those 10 pounds, too, though!

Circus time is again approaching. This makes me wonder if you ever have noticed how smoothly muscled and yet slim of figure the feminine artists of the high wire are? No fat on their diaphragms!

HOW TO CARRY SELF

Perhaps the nearest thing to a high wire in your life is the clothesline in the back yard, but you still can do stretching which will slim this measurement. Remember also to carry yourself so that the distance between your waist and your bust is the longest possible. This is one of the requisites of a lovely figure.

Exercise: Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders. Keep your hands in this position as you bend back toward the right. Hold a few moments. Return trunk to upright position. This time bend back to the left. Hold for a few moments. Return to starting position. Continue. Do this slowly, feeling the pull over your diaphragm.

Yesterday I printed the last of the menus for my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. If you missed out on it, you still can have the complete diet in a convenient little booklet. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the 9-Day Diet Booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Slumping in Chair Results in Fatigue

People who slump in chairs constantly shift and move around for a more comfortable position.

Slumping isn't relaxing. It actually is fatiguing. Sitting tall and erect in a chair allows a person to sit comfortably longer.

Waterford Concert Series Drive to Open Thursday

More than 100 music enthusiasts of Waterford Township Civic Music Association have made reservations for the kickoff dinner slated for 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Waterford Township High school.

The occasion will mark the beginning of the organization's fourth membership campaign. Vocal duets will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lindquist.

Opening Thursday, the campaign will continue through May 3. Cochairmen are Mrs. Edward Dalton and Mrs. Neil Stranahan.

District chairmen include Mrs. Neil Sullenberger, Margaret Ann Beattie, Mrs. William J. Dalton, Mrs. William J. David, and Mrs. Ralph Marble.

Civic Music's 1957-58 series brought such notables as Iva Kitchell, ballet artist; Stan Freeman, piano satirist; the Eger Players, an instrumental group which starred Joseph Eger, a French hornist; and James Pease, bass-baritone.

Look for Future of Cleanliness

There's cleanliness in our future, according to a major home appliance manufacturer.

This company's official forecast predicts that there will be more than 29 million automatic clothes washers in American homes by 1968 — and more than 8 million electric dishwashers.

Child Study Club Holds Discussion

Child Study Club Group III engaged in a discussion of "Cooperative Concepts" with regard to children in the home, church and community at a meeting held Tuesday in the Miami road home of Mrs. Jack Habel.

Mrs. E. W. McGovern led the discussion. Cohostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. J. T. Knight. Mrs. John Ritchie and Mrs. Robb Knight. Mrs. Rolph Humphries presided at the refreshment table.

To Attend Parley

Members of the Sunset Club will attend the statewide meeting of the Senior Citizens Clubs of Michigan May 6 at Lansing. The Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation has information concerning the day's program.

Here's How to Restore That Bouffant Petticoat

Chemises and sacks notwithstanding, don't throw away your bouffant petticoat. There are numerous styles that call for this flattering garment, among which is Dior's geometric trapeze number, which has more flounces than a ballerina's skirt.

Last year's bouffant petticoat, however, may not be as stiff and bouncy as you would like it to be. To stiffen it, wash the crinoline, then let it dry completely. Squeeze petticoat thoroughly in full strength synthetic starch. Lift out by waist band. Hold over pan a few seconds to catch excess, but do not squeeze or wring, and let dry.

Dampen lightly and iron. For steam iron, do not dampen at all. Following these instructions the bouffant petticoat will be as firm and fresh as though it were new.

If space is at a premium in the closet, or for traveling, roll up petticoat and pull over it an old nylon stocking, from which the foot has been cut off. This way it will take up less room.

Opti-Mrs. Club Fetes Husbands at Dinner

Opti-Mrs. Club entertained husbands at dinner Saturday at the Oakland County Boat Club. Mrs. H. A. Miller, president, introduced new members of Optimist Club and their wives.

Arranging the dinner was Mrs. Roy Lewis, chairman assisted by Mrs. David Ewalt, Mrs. Charles Manz, Mrs. Buell Burt and Mrs. Orrin Huntoon.

TO NAIL BITERS

Only through will power and real desire can you rid yourself of the nail biting habit. These hints may help: when sitting still, fold your hands in your lap or, if you must, twiddle your thumbs. At the movies or while riding wear gloves and leave them on!

A light tinted nail polish will remind you not to chew. This is an excellent time to learn to give yourself a manicure. Rough edges on nails or cuticle are great temptations, so remove them.

Above all . . . keep your hands away from your mouth.

Assumption Grotto Church was the setting for the Saturday morning wedding of Carol Ann Metaway and Frederick W. Sickenberger. She is the daughter of the Michael Metaways and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. E. H. Sickenberger. MR. and MRS. F. SICKENBERGER

Carol Ann Metaway Weds Frederick Sickenberger

White gladioli and carnations banked the altar of Assumption Grotto Church for the Saturday morning wedding of Carol Ann Metaway and Frederick William Sickenberger.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Metaway of Detroit and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. E. H. Sickenberger of Birmingham.

WORE TULLE GOWN

For her wedding the bride wore an embroidered nylon tulle gown featuring medallions which formed a boat neckline and ended in long sleeves. A tiny crown held the bride's fingertip veil and she carried an arrangement of orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Marijane Metaway, sister of the bride, as honor attendant, was gowned in a pink lace over pink satin gown with matching cummerbund and bustle bow of satin. Bridesmaids Joan Metaway, sister of the bride; Mrs. Harry Cunningham and Rose Cinci wore blue gowns like the maid of honor's.

As his brother's best man was Daniel H. Rhodes, while Ralph Watts Jr. of Royal Oak, Harry Cunningham of Detroit and Frank Randinitis of Dearborn seated the guests.

A breakfast for the wedding party, family and close friends was held at Perrini's in Detroit. An evening reception for 350 guests was held at a hall in Detroit.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Metaway chose a Dior blue lace over blue taffeta dress. She wore a corsage of rose cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a mauve chiffon over rose taffeta frock with a cymbidium orchid corsage.

To travel to Indian Rocks Beach, Fla., the new Mrs. Sickenberger wore a gray silk shantung bolero suit with white and gray accessories and an orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will live in Detroit.

The bridegroom attended Highland Park Junior College.

Shower Given for Bride-to-Be Virginia Flath

A bridal shower was given for Virginia Flath, bride-elect of Paul T. Odell, at the home of Mrs. Larry Cates on Barkman street.

Serving for the Sunday afternoon affair was Mrs. LaVern Newton, cohostess. Guests attending included Mrs. Paul R. Odell, Mrs. Curtis Flath, Mrs. Rose Wiser, Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. Stuart Wilson, Mrs. Roy Newton and Mrs. Edward McManus.

Also present were Mrs. Ronald Rogers, Mrs. William Buck, Mrs. Tom Blanzy, Mrs. Harold Lambert, Mrs. Homer Harrison and Mrs. Robert Stasiak. Mrs. Francine Gidcumb, Mary Kay Nelson, Delores Parker, Mary Lou Flath, Mary Kendall, Wilma Pfahlert, Pat Hayden, Glenda Piatt, Virginia Sherman, and Elizabeth Rockefeller.

Housewife Faces Spring With Plans

By RUTH MILLETT

In the spring a housewife's fancy dutifully turns to thoughts of—

Getting the windows washed and the heavy cleaning out of the way before the kids get out of school.

Going through her last year's spring and summer wardrobe to see what is left over that isn't too limp and bedraggled to serve another season.

Losing five or 10 pounds of winter surplus before she begins trying on bathing suits, always a depressing chore for any woman over 25.

Finding a flowered hat to lift her spirits and also to lift last year's spring suit.

Planning a party to follow spring housecleaning, in order to make all the drudgery seem worthwhile.

Rearranging closets, so that the necessities for spring and summer living are in front and winter things in back.

Painting the yard furniture and finding new slipcover material for the couch or chair that looks more faded in the bright sunshine of spring than in the softer light of winter.

Getting the yard in shape for spring planting because THIS year is always the year that the housewife intends to have the prettiest, bloomingest yard in the neighborhood.

Finishing up club work for the year, while vowing not to take on any jobs next fall. That's a vow she won't keep, but which she makes every spring anyhow, being fed up with club work after a long winter of committee meetings, reports, benefits and so on.

In the spring a housewife's fancy dutifully turns to thoughts of cleaning up, sprucing up and brightening up.

Jeannine LoRee, bride-elect of James Martin Rahl, was honored at at miscellaneous shower at the home of Carol Soules on Preston avenue.

The guest list included Mrs. Floyd LoRee, Mrs. William Rahl, Mrs. William Rahl Jr., Mrs. Gary Peters, Mrs. A. J. Lawrence, Mrs. L. S. Soules, Mrs. John Reagan, Mary Harden, Hope Veal, Pat Pardee, Gail Smith and Della Mazorowski.

Showers Are for Friends

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am uncertain as to how to meet this situation. A relative of my son's fiancee is giving a shower for her and has asked me for a list of names of my friends so that she can send them invitations to this shower.

"Most of my friends are only slightly acquainted with the bride - to - be and I coudln't dream of asking them to bring a gift to someone they hardly know. I think it would be a gross imposition. What can I say to her without causing ill feeling?"

Answer: I quite understand and agree with your point of view and I hope no ill feelings will result from your explaining that none of your friends, who are much older, know your daughter - in - law - to - be well enough to be invited to a shower for her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When is a friend introduced as John Jones and when as Mr. Jones? This often puzzles me and I would appreciate your setting me straight on this matter."

Answer: Whether or not he is an intimate friend of yours, a man in his thirties or over, is definitely introduced as Mr. Jones. But if he is an intimate friend and also being introduced to other intimate friends, all of whom you call by first name, it would be proper to call him John Jones. If you are all in your teens you would, of course, introduce everyone without titles.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a stork shower is held for an expectant mother, is it necessary to bring the baby a second gift after he is born? A girl friend of mine had a baby shower about two weeks before the birth of her child.

"I bought her an expensive gift, and I really don't see why I have to buy another when I visit her at her house. Yet, I really feel strange going empty - handed. What do you suggest?"

Answer: Having already given a gift for the baby there is no reason for you to bring a second one. If you wish, bring the mother a few flowers.

Stretch Hosiery Dollars

You're probably convinced you've learned to stretch a dollar farther than the poor thing ever expected to go! But there's even more mileage to be had out of your hosiery dollar—if you keep in mind a few wearing and washing tips practiced by budget-wise fashion models.

Models have to be sure that every single item, from hat to hosiery, is in perfect condition. These girls learn early in the game that the care you give your clothes can lengthen or shorten the life of any wardrobe.

Nylons can give wonderful service, in beauty and long wear. But after all, they're not cast iron. The slightest roughness can snag a brand new pair of nylons and ruin its appearance. Since all women want their nylons — at least a few pairs—as sheer as sheer can be, it's worthwhile to learn how to make them last.

Always wash new stockings before wearing; this removes the factory finish and adds to their elasticity.

Never wear nylons twice without washing them, because they just won't fit properly. Wash one pair at a time—in a glass jar half full of soap or detergent suds, or use a special nylon cleanser.

Another economy measure is to rub a well-lathered piece of pumice on rough heels or potential calluses; this guards against snags when you put on hose.

There's even an art to putting on nylons and taking them off that will "guarantee" more months of wear from every pair. Sit down and take your time. Roll each stocking down to the toe, then unroll it gently up the leg with your thumbs inside the stocking to guide it on straight. Later, reverse the same procedure — roll your nylons instead of yanking them off!

A final word of advice. Buy nylon hosiery in a size that's large enough. And be sure your garters have perfectly smooth metal fastenings and are comfortably adjusted.

Mary F. Pike and Harvey V. Render were married Saturday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pike, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Render. MR. and MRS. HARVEY V. RENDER

Mary F. Pike Becomes Bride of Harvey Render

Snapdragons, gladioli and carnations banked the altar of Church of Christ for the Saturday evening wedding of Mary Frances Pike and Harvey V. Render. The Rev. Milton E. Truex performed the ceremony in the presence of 300 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Pike of Gladstone place. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Render of Navajo drive.

A floor-length gown of white embroidered nylon featuring a tiered skirt and a boat neckline with short sleeves was chosen by the bride. Her finger-tip illusion veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a modified cascade arrangement of stephanotis centered with a white orchid on a prayer book.

Mrs. Frank J. Smith of Louisville, Ky., an aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing an orchid frock. Attendants Colleen Burtram, Mary Shaw, Patty Mann of Huntsville, Ala., and flower girl Janice Burtram wore gowns of mint-green, pink, yellow, and pale blue respectively, forming a rainbow assortment. The dresses were a style similar to that of the bride's.

Robert Render attended his brother as best man, while Timothy Everhard of Rochester and Max Pike seated the guests. Michael Smith of Louisville, Ky. was the ring bearer.

At a reception held in the church parlors Mrs. Pike wore a pink ensemble with navy accessories. Mrs. Render wore navy with white accessories.

Before leaving on a trip to northern Michigan the new Mrs. Render changed to a navy dress with white accessories.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. John Military Academy in Delafield, Wis. They will reside on Navajo drive.

Shower Honors Nila Tompkins

Nila Lea Tompkins, bride-elect of James F. Rupert, was honored at a kitchen shower held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Temple. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Gerald Albright and Mrs. Bruce Barner.

Guests attending the Saturday shower were Mrs. Ralph Stiles of Utica, Mrs. Thomas Turner, Mrs. Guy Coleman, Mrs. Clarence Stolpe, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Lester Stanley, Mrs. Horatio Richardson, Mrs. Gordon Henry, Mrs. Jack Stanley and Mrs. William Tompkins.

Marilyn Rowe Feted

Marilyn Rowe, bride-elect of Richard R. Rosner, was honored Sunday at a kitchen shower. Mrs. Elsei Piddington and Mrs. Arthur Frantsen hostessed the event for 25 guests in their Birmingham home. The color arrangement was pink and white.

Winners Named

Winners north and south in the Pontiac Bridge Club meeting Monday at Elks Temple were Mrs. Douglass Haddock and Mrs. Harry Wylbur. East and west winners were Ernest Guy and James White.

Exhibit Art Works

Dr. Murray Douglas and Dr. Earl A. Wiley, both of Birmingham, are exhibiting art works through April 31 at Detriot Women's City Club. College of Art Education, Wayne State University, faculty members are exhibiting at the show.

Mamie Sets Wise Lead for First Lady of Home

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The busy First Lady of our land realizes the importance of taking time out from her heavy schedule to review her beauty needs.

And you, as the First Lady of your home, owe it to yourself and your family to do the same.

Expensive professional beauty care is undoubtedly the easiest method of maintaining our good looks. But if it can't be managed, only a defeatist attitude can stop you from doing the job yourself at home.

TAKES EFFORT

When you see an attractive woman, nine times out of ten you can be sure her good looks are a result of diligent effort, not an accident of birth.

Any woman who uses lack of time and money as an excuse for looking dowdy is kidding herself.

To get your own beauty schedule in operation, sit down and analyze yourself objectively. Find out what you need to do to emerge looking your best.

Answer these questions honestly:

Is your complexion oily or dry?

Have you lost or gained weight recently?

Have you let yourself become sloppy about the way you look around the house?

Do you choose the proper clothes for you?

GET OUT OF RUT

Beauty is a habit. But habits can become ruts, and it's important to look at yourself with a "fresh eye" every so often. The one thing that never changes, however, is the base on which beauty is built.

Without scrupulous cleanliness of body and clothing, there is no beauty.

This series will help you give yourself a real once-over. You can work out a system so smooth, that within a week, you'll have your husband wondering why he'd forgotten how pretty you are. And you can do this without his knowing about it at all.

Join our tour of beauty. You'll be delighted with the dividends you'll collect in self-improvement.

Next: Map a campaign and stick to it.

Jessie L. Standridge and Myril E. Davis were united in marriage Saturday evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Standridge and the bridegroom is the son of the E. L. Davises.

MR. and MRS. MYRIL E. DAVIS

Jessie Standridge Wed

On a southern trip after their Saturday evening wedding in First Baptist Church are Jessie Louise Standridge and Myril Evan Davis. The Rev. Ralph Pardee of First Baptist Church and the Rev. James Draper of Grand Rapids officiated.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Standridge of Lowell street, and the bridegroom is the son of the E. L. Davises of Birmingham, Ala.

For her spring wedding the bride chose a gown of pure silk organza with net and taffeta featuring a Sabrina neckline hand-clipped with a medallion of re-embroidered Alencon lace and iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The fitted bodice was fashioned with clusters of the same embroidery and the skirt which ended in a chapel train, was appliqued with medallions.

A queen's crown held her veil and she carried a Bible covered with Amazon lilies and stephanotis.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mrs. Celia Standridge of Hudsonville was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen Yeager, Connie Groat and Marjorie Richards. They wore white nylon chiffor ballerina-length gowns.

Mrs. Standridge wore a yellow sash with matching hat and the bridesmaids wore blue, pink and lilac, respectively. Each carried an umbrella filled with spring flowers.

Flower maids were Jeanine Davis, sister of the bridegroom, and Cheryl Standridge, niece of the bride.

Brother of the bridegroom Harrell Davis was best man. Sam Wofford, Fred Standridge, brother of the bride and Dixon Huyser were ushers. Keith Bearden and Joe Seddon acted as ushers and candlelighters.

To receive 300 guests at a reception in the church parlors the bride's mother chose a nylon lace dress of light blue with an alstromeria corsage. Mrs. Davis wore a rose lace, over taffeta gown with a corsage of alstroemeria.

For traveling South, the new Mrs. Davis wore a white lace dress with light blue accessories and a corsage of Amazon lilies from her bridal bouquet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Davis attended Bob Jones University in Greenville, S. C.

White Syrup Mixes With Dark Sugar

Mrs. Campbell's Pecan Pie Recipe Fills Large Pan

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It would be interesting to count the number of ways various cooks make pecan pie. Kinds of corn syrup and sugar are the ingredients that change. We hope you'll want to try today's version, suggested by Mrs. Gordon Campbell of Drayton Woods.

Mrs. Campbell is active in the subdivision association and in PTA. Her chief hobby is craftwork. At present she is fascinated with a mosaic table project.

PECAN PIE
By Mrs. Gordon Campbell

1½ cups white corn syrup
1½ cups dark brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
¼ cup margarine
1 cup pecans

Mix all ingredients together in mixer bowl except nuts. Add them last, letting the beater break them up just a little. Pour mixture into unbaked 12-inch pastry shell. Bake 40-50 minutes in a 350-degree oven, or until filling passes the custard test with a knife.

An elaborate vertical line from neck to slight bustline does odds height and conceals a slippy tendency. It's the new Trapeze.

The silhouette which gradually widens from a narrow shoulder line to a gentle flare at the hemline, elongates the short figure and is much more flattering than the straight silhouette. A too-hippy figure needs hemline flare.

A major ice show needs a half-million dollars to get started. When producers Eddie and Roy Shipsted started their ice shows in 1936 they needed only $5,000 to open the first act.

Clubs Aid County Patients

Patients at the Oakland County Convalescent Hospital have received gifts of pajamas from Cora M. Eves Tent Hive 247 of Maccabees. Chairman for the project was Mrs. Earl Riley.

On Thursday, Christ Church Cranbrook will fete patients at a party. Roy Wragby of Birmingham will show slides of a trip abroad at a gathering April 29.

Members of the Women's Society of First Baptist Church of Ferndale sponsored a party last week, with Mrs. Thomas J. Leonard as chairman. Mrs. Howard R. Estes of Birmingham showed slides.

Orchard Lake Golf Group Elects Officers

Officers have been elected by members of the Orchard Lake Women's Golf Association.

Mrs. F. M. Adams is chairman of the group, assisted by Mrs. R. E. Leahy, vice chairman; Mrs. D. A. Holmes, secretary; Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald, treasurer; and Mrs. E. J. Keefe, social chairman.

Members will meet on May 2 for nine holes of golf in the morning, followed by a luncheon at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Secretaries Meet in Grand Rapids

Several Pontiac educational secretaries were present when the Michigan Association of Educational Secretaries held its 17th Annual Convention last weekend in Grand Rapids.

Attending the convention which featured the theme, "Keys to Success" were Mrs. Marjorie Wittkopf, Mrs. Donna Sanderson, Mrs. Charlotte Hill, and Anna Marie Predmore.

OES Members Hold Initiation, Obligation Night

Areme Chapter, No. 503, OES members met at Roosevelt Temple with 90 members and guests present to observe Initiation and Obligation Night. Worthy matron Mrs. William Pfahlert presided.

The obligation was under the direction of Worthy Patron, Norton Graham. Initiated into the order were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Elmer. Birmingham Bible degree team were guest officers and presented the Bible degree.

Guest, John Forester, past grand soloist of the grand chapter of Michigan OES, presented several solos accompanied by Mabel Marshall. Refreshments were served at the Monday meeting by William Pfahlert, Mrs. Royal Clark, and Mrs. Norton Graham.

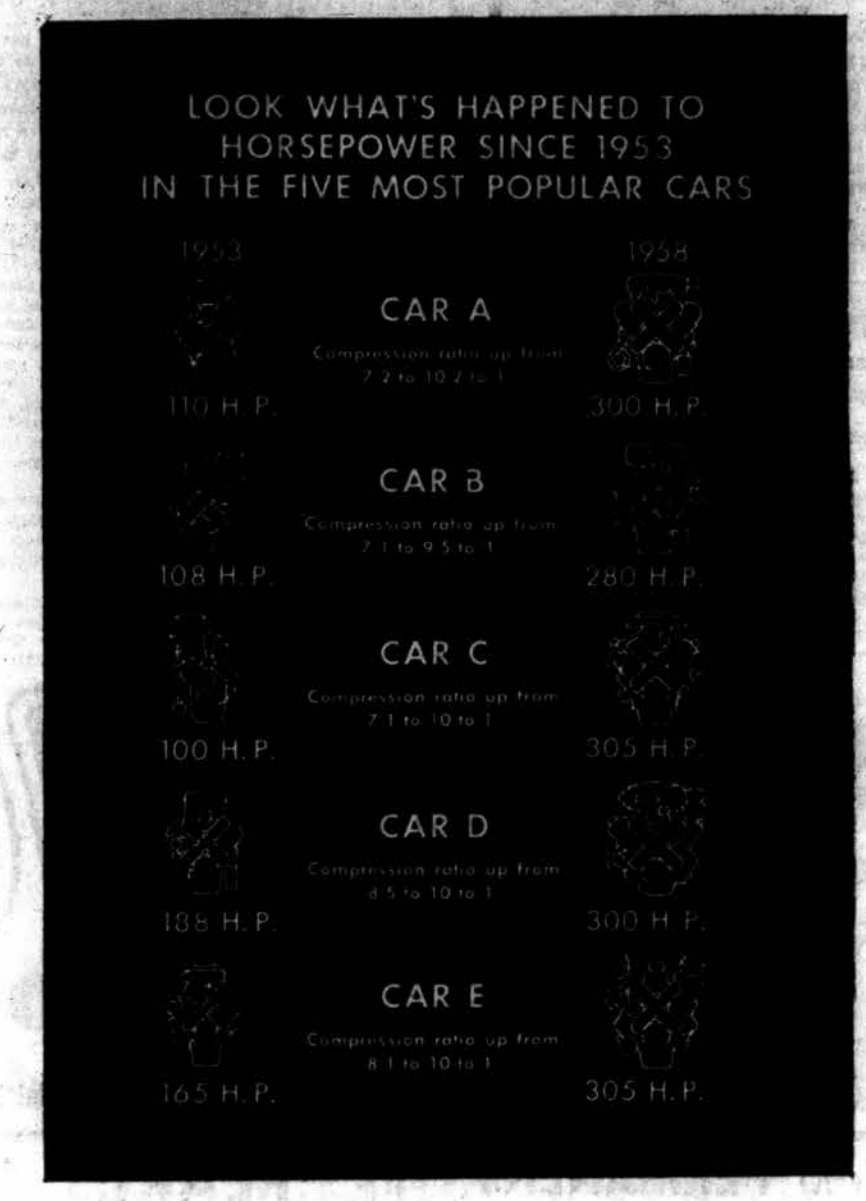
TODAY'S PROBLEM

5 year revolution in engine design calls for a new kind of Gasoline Performance



TODAY'S ANSWER

TCP adds Anti-Miss to anti-knock

Shell-developed TCP is the greatest gasoline advance since tetraethyl lead.

Today you're the master of a far more powerful, higher compression engine than you drove just a few years ago. Naturally, this engine demands a more powerful fuel—one with higher performance characteristics.

Super Shell with TCP* is the most powerful gasoline any car can use. It contains a "power-pack" of aviation fuel ingredients called aromatics. These provide extra energy which gives you more miles per gallon. They also give you more anti-knock power under every driving condition.

But for today's engines, anti-knock alone is not enough.

Another problem, spark plug "miss," has become a major cause of power loss threatening the efficiency of these high-power engines.

That's why TCP adds anti-miss to anti-knock.

Shell's exclusive TCP additive neutralizes harmful engine deposits. When these deposits go unchecked, they can short-circuit the spark plugs, causing them to misfire and costing you an important part of your car's power. TCP stops spark plug "miss." It can bring back up to 30 lost horsepower.

Give your engine, new or old, a chance to show what it can do. Drive up to your Shell Dealer's white pump for Super Shell with TCP.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research.

Super Shell with TCP

The most powerful gasoline any car can use—Plus TCP for Anti-Miss

GOP's Meade Alcorn Takes Cake for Frankness

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For frankness Meade Alcorn takes the cake, coffee, knives, forks, spoons, napkins and tablecloth.

As chairman of the Republican National Committee he's supposed to spark and pep-talk the Republicans to victory in next November's congressional elections.

Yesterday he admitted he does not think his party can win the Senate and predicted only a bare majority for it in the House.

Could anyone remember such forthrightness from the chairman of a national political committee — Republican or Democratic? This writer took a very small poll at once among newspapermen. None could remember.

But the 50-year-old Alcorn, a Hartford, Conn., lawyer, had rapidly been leading up to yesterday's predictions which, however true they may be, can hardly make him popular with all Republicans.

Twice before this month he expressed doubts his party could take the Senate and said he thought it might win the House if the recession didn't get worse.

Alcorn was President Eisenhower's choice for party chairman and the national committee duly elected him. That was Jan. 22, 1957.

Immediately, there was a mixed reaction within the party on the wisdom of picking Alcorn, considered a liberal.

Highly conservative Rep. Hoffman, Michigan Republican, reacted at once this way: "The conservative wing of the Republican party has been liquidated and is about to be buried."

Alcorn's job pays him no salary. Since January 1957, he has traveled many thousands of miles around the United States, making speeches, trying to stimulate Republicans' confidence in themselves and public support for them.

As time went on the baggage he had to carry got heavier by the month. He had to spend a lot of his time defending the Eisenhower administration from attacks on its fiscal and foreign policies, its missile program, and its handling of the recession.

Like all other Reublican party chairmen before him, he did the usual with gusto: slam-banging the Democrats. As time went on — judging from the increasing gloom of his April statements — he became less hopeful of victory.

This was his stated reason for his gloom about the Senate: "Because so many Senate seats exposed this fall are in traditional Democratic territory."

Next November all 435 House seats and 34 of the 96 Senate seats are up for grabs. The Democrats won control of both houses in the 1956 elections while Eisenhower was winning the presidency.

In the House now — with five vacancies — Democrats out number Republicans 232 to 198.

Of the 34 Senate seats involved in the November elections, 21 now are held by Republicans. Of the 13 Democratic seats, six are in the Democratic South.

So Republicans will be running far the greater risk. An insurmountable risk, Alcorn seems to feel.

Bound to Circuit Court in Canteen Burglary

Jacinto J. Cantu, 17, of 270 Franklin Rd., was bound to circuit court for arraignment on a charge of burglary.

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum bound him over when he waived examination yesterday. Cantu is accused to entering the West Side Canteen, 12 N. Johnson St., March 29.

Cantu is also awaiting trial in circuit court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Finds Life With Hudson Rocky—Sues for Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — What's it like being married to Rock Hudson? Nothing but anguish, suffering and grievous mental distress, says his wife.

Mrs. Phyllis Fitzgerald — Hudson's real name is Roy Fitzgerald—has sued for divorce and alimony. She also sued for possession of their home and a fair share of community property.

They were married in 1955 after an actor-meets-secretary romance and separated last year. They have no children.

Conscience Forces Him to Confess $7,000 Theft

CINCINNATI (AP) — Benjamin Franklin Jones, who said he couldn't live with his conscience, walked into a police station last night and admitted a $7,000 robbery in Detroit.

Officers sought to check his story that he and three companions broke into a house on Gallagher St. in Detroit, tied up a youth and took money from a safe last Feb. 28.

Jones, 31, said he had been living with his father here since the robbery.

Livestock Feed Potatoes Used to Get Into Chips?

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Was a 75-ton pile of potatoes used to get into the chips?

That's what federal and state officials would like to know.

They've confiscated 3,000 bags of cull potatoes on grounds they were bought in Maine at 60 cents a bag for livestock feed but were sold illegally through commercial firms here.

No formal charges have been placed against anybody yet.

The Great Smoky mountains national park lands were given by Tennessee and North Carolina to the U. S., their gifts matched by John D. Rockefeller as a memorial to his mother.

Of the world's total supply of sugar, about two thirds comes from sugar cane. The other third is derived from sugar beets which can be grown successfully in cooler climates.

Science Develops New Tablet:

Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For 3 out of 4 Women Tested! Gives Greater Relief Than Aspirin!

Boston, Mass.—New promise of relief for women who suffer tortures of monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in an amazing new tablet...developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers greater relief than aspirin during that distressing period each month!

For 3 out of 4 women tested by doctors, pain and cramps were stopped or strikingly relieved. Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no backaches or other functional distress...were also less jittery the trying week before their period!

The new tablet contains a unique combination of medicines. That's why it offers more relief than plain aspirin! Unlike such "general-purpose" remedies, it acts on the cause of distress. Has amazing power to calm uterine contractions, also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system.

Called "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets," the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take new Pinkham's Tablets are now available at all drug stores without a prescription.

So don't suffer needlessly. Take Pinkham's Tablets yourself. See if you don't feel worlds better, this very month. See if you don't escape much irritability and discomfort—before and during those "difficult days."

IF YOU PREFER A LIQUID all druggists, today, also have the famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bob Considine Reports:

Breendonk Stands as Grim Reminder

ANTWERP (INS) — The postwar generation of Belgians who make the strange pilgrimage to Breendonk, the nearby former Nazi torture camp which has been preserved as a horror chamber, is reminded that this is a place for meditation even though there is a tavern and a series of potato chip stands just outside the barbed wire where brave men once stood and dreamed of libration.

It is a place of strange anachronisms. The young Belgian visiting here as part of his education may find older people picnicking on the green below the watch towers which once held the hated enemy.

But the postwar youth soon realizes this is not an old atrocity movie but chilling realism. What took place caused horrible sufferings and death among thousands of his forebears.

If he wonders why bygones should not be bygones he is reminded by pamphlet and voice, that Breendonk has been preserved to "take all necessary steps to keep alive the memory of events which took place here, to encourage civic spirit, and promote the education of young people in love with their country."

The reminder reads, "Men have fought at Breendonk. For other men it meant downfall and disgrace. They lost all dignity, and were finally vanquished, for having believed that force could win and democratic Belgium could be crushed."

"The Nazi regime found its own end through its contempt for humanity. Those who refused to despair secured victory for the democratic powers. All suffered, many died. That is why today Breendonk is a place for meditation."

The first room that the young person sees as he enters the grim place is the garish courtroom where doom sounded for many of the more than 1,100 Belgians who were put to death here between Sept. 20, 1940, and August, 1944, when the Canadians rolled in. They had not been given benefit of counsel, of course, and had no opportunity to testify in their own behalf. Under the Swastika behind the judges' table are words in German for "My honor. It is true." There were no appeals.

The torture camp was commanded through much of its life by Sturnbannfuhrer (major) Schmidt, a decadent-looking mockery of a man who affected long sideburns and used a whistle instead of his voice when issuing orders.

It took a lot of good detective work on the Belgian War Crimes Commission to find him after V-E Day but find him they did, and he was given the kind of trial he had denied so many defenseless victims of his diseased mind, and properly hanged.

When the Canadians burst in and freed the human scarecrows and threw open the iron doors of the death cells there were scenes Belgium prefers not to permit its young to forget through succeeding generations. This was the payoff, this was the settling up, this was a come-uppance of historic proportions.

Effigies of what once had been men plunged into the free air outside Breendonk into the arms of waiting relatives. Five men who survived starvation and terrors that no pen could have described staggered to a nearby bistro and ate and drank themselves to death. These too are honored among the alumni.

The young Belgian leaves Breendonk in a more reflective mood than he entered. He is told as he leaves, "The message of Breendonk is not one of hatred but of mutual understanding and humanity. The lesson we learn from Breendonk is that brutality will not prevail against the resolute spirit of brotherly unity."

But other things are learned here too. Last year, on the tenth anniversary of the dedication of the camp as a museum, a group of German sailors visited it as part of their indoctrination into the evils of the ideology that once ruled their country. The bodies of several of the sailors were later found in the moat which surrounds this grisly open cancer Belgium feels it best not to heal.

Murder Count Dropped

DETROIT (AP) — A warrant charging Mrs. Beatrice Mandersheid with the murder of her husband, Leo, 37, in 1954, was canceled in Recorder's Court. She was returned to face trial after her release from Ionia State Hospital. A psychiatrist testified she was not responsible for her actions at the time of the slaying.

Wood Falls 12 Floors, 2 Pedestrians Hurt

DETROIT (AP) — Three 15-pound pieces of plywood toppled from a building high above Detroit's financial district, injuring two pedestrians last night.

Hurt in the freak accident were Rose Marie Bojack, 28, who suffered a head gash requiring 20 stitches to close, and John L. Cotter, 61, who was treated for leg injuries.

The accident occurred below the Ford Building where workmen were repairing the facing on the 12th floor. A workman said the plywood sheets served as shields to keep debris from falling.

Cotter told police he was coming out of the building when he saw something move past his face. He said Miss Bojack was struck by the first piece. Police said the second bounced off a wall and hit Cotter, a financial consultant.

Intends to Charge Girl With Stepdad's Murder

MONROE (AP) — Prosecutor Charles J. Golden said he would seek a murder warrant today against 18-year-old JoAnn M. Heaton in the shotgun slaying of her stepfather.

Golden said the girl admitted in a statement yesterday she shot Kenneth O. T. Lewis, 50, last Sunday to protect her 16-year-old sister, Mary. Both girls told police Lewis was beating Mary when the shooting took place at their home in nearby Lambertville.

Forests are found 100 miles north of the Arctic circle.

Those Pesky Athletics Next for Tigers

Fourth Victory Over White Sox Pleases Tighe

Billy Hoeft Eases Pain by Going the Route in 8-2 Decision

DETROIT (AP) — Thoroughly unimpressed with what they've seen at the Chicago White Sox, the Detroit Tigers headed West today seeking revenge.

Bill Hoeft eased the pain of one Tiger pitching headache yesterday, going the route in an 8-2 triumph over the White Sox. That makes it four victories in five starts over the Sox, who have yet to get a complete game from the pitching staff regarded as the Major Leagues' finest.

Tonight in Kansas City the Tigers meet the Athletics, who embarrassed them with 14 victories in 22 engagements last season. It's a two-game stand in Kansas City, then the Tigers head back to the east for 14 other games before returning to Briggs Stadium.

Manager Jack Tighe was elated over Hoeft's rout-going performance in which the tall lefty allowed nine hits and three bases on balls.

"I've seen Billy a lot sharper," said the manager, "but there's no tonic like winning. He was tough in the rough spots and worked himself out of the jams nicely. I think the win might be just what he needed."

Last season Hoeft didn't get his initial triumph until May 17, and wound up with a poor 9-11 mark.

Shaky as he was at times, Hoeft still might have had a shutout had it not been for a "gopher ball" serving to Jim Landis in the seventh inning and a poor fielding play by center fielder Harvey Kuenn in the third.

Kuenn played Luis Aparicio's single into a three-base hit and Nelson Fox promptly singled his teammate across.

Coach Tommy Henrich said the players were pepping it up prior to the contest, saying "Let's get out in front early for a change."

That the Tigers did, pounding Early Wynn for five runs in the first two innings. Charlie Maxwell blasted a three-run homer in the first inning after the Tigers recorded one run on Billy Martin's double and singles by Kuenn and Al Kaline.

Hoeft pitched despite a blister on his pitching hand and reported later "I'm not going to worry about a little blister after winning the game."

Paul Foytack was scheduled to work for the Tigers tonight against ex-teammate Duke Maas.

Slams Two Homers as A's Dump Tribe, 9-6

Cerv Headed for Best Year

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Bob Cerv, Kansas City's mighty muscled outfielder, is one of those players who matured late in his career.

The 215-pound six-footer originally was the property of the New York Yankees. The club waited patiently for the promising right-handed slugger to come into his own, but Cerv never was able to win a regular job with the Bronx Bombers although he had his first chance in 1951.

Finally, the Yanks gave up on Cerv and sold him to Kansas City on Oct. 16, 1956. The rugged boy from Weston, Neb., was no ball of fire for the A's last year, hitting .273 with 11 homers and 44 runs batted in.

However, Cerv—who will be 32 next month—apparently has found himself and seems headed for a year which will easily surpass his batting figures of 1957.

As of today, he has 11 hits in 27 at-bats for a .407 batting average. The 11 safeties include four homers and three doubles and he has batted in 14 runs.

Two of the homers produced four of the RBI's yesterday as Cerv led Kansas City to a 9-to-6 triumph over Cleveland.

Cerv not only has power, he also has speed which he displayed in making one of his homers an inside-the-park job.

The Yankees continued on their merry way, beating Boston 12 to 7 for their sixth straight win. Baltimore and Jack Harshman topped Washington 4 to 2.

The Yanks broke a tie with Dave Sisler, the only pitcher to beat them in 1958, when they scored seven times in the fourth on Gil McDougald's two-run homer and three triples.

Norm Siebern also homered for the Yanks and Sammy White connected for the Red Sox. Tom Sturdivant was the winning pitcher.

The Orioles took advantage of rookie Ralph Lumenti's wildness to score two runs forced in by walks. Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles, one of his three hits.

SCORES FROM FIRST — Frank Bolling, Tiger second baseman, scores from first base after shortstop Billy Martin hit a double to left field in the 7th inning against the White Sox yesterday. Sherm Lollar takes the throw but too late. The Tigers won, 8-3.

NO, NOT A FIGHT — Third baseman Eddie Matthews (41) and shortstop Johnny Logan (23) of the Milwaukee Braves appear to be scuffling, but they were only trying to grab a foul ball in the game against Pittsburgh. Dick Littlefield (25) of the Braves watches the play. Milwaukee won the game, 5-2.

Iowa Basketball Coach Bucky O'Connor Killed

COACH KILLED — Bucky O'Connor, 44, Iowa basketball coach died yesterday in an auto-truck crash near Waterloo, Iowa. He guided Iowa to two straight Big Ten titles in 1955-56.

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, 44 - year - old Iowa basketball coach died Tuesday in an automobile-truck crash.

The happy young man, who guided Iowa to Big Ten titles two years in a row, was killed when his State University of Iowa car was crushed under an avalanche of concrete tiles from aboard the truck.

The accident occurred on U.S. 218 just south of Waterloo where O'Connor was driving to address the "Sports of Sorts Club" on the first leg of a speech - making trip.

Highway patrolmen said O'Connor's car apparently skidded into the path of the truck which carried a 32,000 - pound load. The car was virtually flattened. The truck driver escaped with minor injuries.

O'Connor's golf clubs and cart, broken and smashed, were found in the car trunk. He was a fine golfer and was at one time also coach at Iowa. He liked gimmicks in golf and even developed a special putter.

But it was in basketball where his light shone brightest. In seven seasons at Iowa his Hawkeyes won the conference championship in 1955 and again in 1956 and placed second in 1952 and 1954. The 1955 team was fourth in the National Collegiate Tournament and in 1956 Iowa lost to San Francisco in the NCAA finals.

O'Connor's trademark was his warm friendliness. To sportswriters his word was his bond. Incurably optimistic, O'Connor was asked how many games he would win in his first full season as coach (1951-52).

"We'll win 'em all," he laughed. He almost did —with a 19-3 record for an .863 percentaage, best in Iowa history.

Friends and associates were stunned by his passing. "His example will live long with the young man whom he has coached and counseled far beyond the bounds of the game," said Iowa President Virgil Hancher.

O'Connor is survived by his wife, Jane, daughter, Kathy, and two brothers, Martin of Grinnell and Bert of Champaign, Ill.

Iowa Athletic Director Paul Brechler echoed the thoughts of many: "Bucky O'Connor is irreplaceable."

Cardinals Defeat San Francisco, 7-5

Podres Is Still 'Cub-Tamer'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Podres, the Los Angeles Dodgers' stubby, southpaw pitching ace, hasn't lost his touch against the Chicago Cubs, but he can't seem to shake an injury jinx.

The stocky kid whose curve and change-up carried the Dodgers to their lone world championship in the 1955 World Series with the New York Yankees, hasn't had an uninterrupted year in the majors yet. Now a recurrence of last season's elbow trouble has him sidelined again.

It may not be serious, but it cost him a shutout, perhaps even a no-hitter, as he gained his second victory last night with a 4-2 decision over the Cubs — a club that hasn't beaten the little lefty in five decisions since he came up in 1953.

Podres didn't allow a hit for 5 2-3 innings. Then Tony Taylor beat out an infield hit in the sixth and Ernie Banks measured the nearby left field seats at the Coliseum for his third home run. In the seventh, Podres called it quits because of the elbow.

The Chicago defeat, coupled with Milwaukee's 5 - 2 afternoon victory at Pittsburgh, hoisted the world champion Braves into a share of first place (with the Cubs) for the first time this season. The St. Louis Cardinals defeated San Francisco 7-5 in the only other game scheduled.

Podres, 25, had 7-2, 7-2, 7-3 and 6-3 records when interrupted by one thing or the other in his first four years in the majors. It was back trouble in 1953, an appendectomy in '54, a stiff shoulder in '55 and, after his back trouble sprung him from the Navy in '56, the elbow business last season.

He gave only three hits and struck out three in his 6 1-3 innings last night, but he walked four and had a 3-1 count on John Goryl when he pulled out. Clem Labine came on in relief, fanned Goryl and gave up only one hit —Banks' single off the screen in left in the ninth.

The Dodgers also had only four hits, but scored on Gino Cimoli's two-run homer in the first off loser Glenn Hobbie and again in the second on a hit batsman, sacrifice and error. Dolan Nichols, Fernando Rodriguez and Turk Lown permitted only one hit in the last 6 1-3, giving up a run on a hit batter, walk and Podres' single off Rodriguez in the sixth.

Del Ennis homered for two in the first against loser Johnny Antonelli for the Cardinals, and drove in Stan Musial, who was 3-for-5 including an RBI double, with the clincher in a three-run seventh at San Francisco. Lindy McDaniel won his first, but needed relief from Larry Jackson and Billy Muffett. Willie Kirkland homered for the Giants, who outhit the Cards 14-12.

Hank Aaron walloped a three-run homer off Ron Kline in the fourth and that was that for the Braves as Bob Buhl won his second with his first complete game, a 10-hitter. Red Schoendienst had a two-run single for the Braves, while Bill Virdon had three of the Buc hits, one a triple.

6 Michigan Schools in Open Track Meet

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Runners from six Michigan schools and the Detroit Track Club are entered in Saturday's first Michigan open meet here.

Host Michigan, Michigan State, Eastern Michigan, Western Michigan, University of Detroit and Wayne State will participate in the meet designed for those not going to the larger Penn or Drake Relays.

Freshmen will be allowed to compete against varsity members.

Even 62-Year-Old Hornsby Able to Blast LA Fence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The old slugger, Rogers Hornsby, gave the Coliseum's short left field fence a personal test before last night's Dodgers-Cubs game.

He hit the 42-foot high screen, 250 feet from the plate, with three balls but didn't get any over it.

Hornsby, who will be 62 Thursday, is a Cubs batting instructor.

Mackay Helped by Pros

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Australian professional Lew Hoad is helping to make an Aussie killer out of promising American Davis Cupper Barry Mackay.

Mackay has rejoined the touring professionals to resume his schooling with some of the world's great professional tennis players.

"It doesn't worry me," said Hoad when reminded he was working against the interests of his native land, holder of the Davis Cup. "I'm just helping a good tennis player become a better one."

He and Mackay, 22, 6-3 Dayton, Ohio, amateur, volleyed the ball in an hour drill in the Arena yesterday afternoon. Then Hoad returned to the court at night and defeated world champion Richard "Pancho" Gonzales 6-3, 12-10 in a regularly scheduled pro tour match. Hoad trails Gonzales 34-29 in their 100 match cross-country series.

Mackay, who blossomed as an international star in a losing cause in the Davis Cup finals in Australia last December, was assigned to work out with the pros by Perry Jones, new Davis Cup captain. His training is part of a program to regain the Davis Cup from the Australian amateurs.

"I'm out to improve my game as much as I can and this is a wonderful way to do it—against the world's greatest players," said Mackay today before he left with the troupe for its next appearance tonight in New Haven, Conn.

Las Vegas Has Select 22 Pros

Ken Venturi Favored as Tourney of Champs Readies to Start

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A select list of 22 professional golfers went through final practice rounds today on the eve of the $40,000 Tournament of Champions, with Ken Venturi the favorite.

Las Vegas, where gambling is not only legal but encouraged, has made the aggressive young San Francisco star the 5 - 1 betting choice.

Venturi won his way into the local extravaganza, with its $10,000 top target, by first winning the St. Paul Open last August. He went on to win three more tourneys.

Three players, Gene Littler, Doug Ford and the recent Masters winner, Arnold Palmer, were quoted at 7-1.

In the case of Littler, the odds were hazardous. He has won the last three Las Vegas tournaments, and the odds for a fourth straight victory could be wider.

TUESDAY'S STARS

HITTING — Bob Cerv, Athletics hit two home runs, one an inside-the-park blow and the other a clinching three-run shot in the seventh, in 9-6 victory over Indians.

PITCHING—Johnny Podres and Clem Labine, Dodgers combined for four-hit, 4-2 victory over Cubs with Labine allowing only a single in 2 2-3 relief innings after Podres had to quit because of arm trouble in seventh.

Gibson Says IBC Is TV Business

Syndicate's New Prexy Won't Discard Program Started by Norris

NEW YORK (AP) — "We are basically in the television business," said Truman K. Gibson Jr., new president of the International Boxing Club.

"This was the idea when Jim Norris formed the IBC nine years ago. He envisioned the day millions would sit in their parlors or in theaters to watch big-time fights.

I hope we never come to studio fights. Live audiences are important—just as they are important to comedians. But our main emphasis has been—and is—to beam the fights on as broad a television scale as possible."

Gibson told a New York press conference yesterday that the IBC was studying all phases of closed circuit and pay television.

This is one of the reasons the IBC may never make peace with Cus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. D'Amato insists he never will let his champion fight for the IBC until the latter drops one of its national TV fight shows (Wednesday, ABC, and Friday, NBC).

Track Popularity Grows Among Preps

LANSING (AP) — Track is showing a solid and steady growth in popularity as a high school sport in Michigan.

This year, for the first time, the Lower Peninsula high school track finals will be split among three centers.

Class A schools will compete at Ann Arbor, class B at East Lansing and Classes C and D at Central Michigan college, Mt. Pleasant, all on May 24.

The Upper Peninsula finals for classes B, C, D and E will be run off the same date at Northern Michigan College, Marquette.

As recently as 1950, all Lower Peninsula schools gathered for the finals at East Lansing. Since 1951, the Lower Peninsula finals have been divided into two class each at MSU and U of M.

"It was decided to split it among three centers this year because of the increasing number of schools competing," said Charles E. Forsythe, state high school Athletic Director.

"Also, a lot of the class C school are located in the northern Central Michigan area."

Forsythe said the class A and B finals would continue to be rotate dbetween Ann Arbor and East Lansing. It's possible the C-D meet may go to Western Michigan University at Kalamazo in some future years, he said.

Forsythe said the division into three sites also should give the competing athletes a fairer chance and make for smoother running of the meets.

"The class A and B schols always have long lists of entries qualifying," he said. "Class C schools also bring in long lists of qualifiers but they were paired with the D schools, which have smaller lists and more individual entries.

Forsythe estimated around 510 or 515 of the schools sponsoring track will have entries going into the qualifying rounds — about 50 in the Upper Peninsula and the remainder in the Lower Peninsula.

This is around 40 or 50 more schools than in previous years, he said.

Both lower and Upper Peninsula regionals will be run off May 17.

Carter-Hennessey Take All

MOUNTAINSIDE, N. J. (AP)—The St. Louis combination of Don Carter and Tom Hennessey has captured the National Doubles bowling championship and top prize money of $2,000.

The Carter-Hennessey team defeated second place Ed Lubanski and Lee Jouglard of Detroit in the final two matches last night, winning by a convincing 8½ point margin.

Jouglard was troubled with an absessed tooth on the final day.

It was the first doubles title for Carter, winner of the National Individual championship four times and a member of the National Team champions twice.

Glen Allison rolled the best individual game of the finals with a 279. He and teammate Joe Kristoff finished in last place, however.

Doctoring Your Golf

Patient's Complaint: "Sand Has Me Trapped!"

Diagnosis: Uncertain Technique.

Treatment: The simplest and safest shot for getting out of sand traps is the explosion shot.

Take your sand wedge (for best results it should have a rounded flange on the bottom). Use a slightly open stance (right foot withdrawn two or three inches from the line), with the feet about as far apart as the width of the shoulders. Dig in solidly with your feet; this gives you a solid stance and serves as a guide to the depth and texture of the sand.

Swing with about three - quarter power. Contact the sand with the leading edge of the club about two inches behind the ball and hit on through.

But let me point out that the clubhead doesn't contact the ball. You take a divot of sand about the size of your hand, and the ball rides out of the trap on top of this divot.

Pick the club up rather abruptly on the backswing since the proper swing for explosion shots is U-shaped.

Southeastern Conference Will Hear Report

Auburn Wants to Prove Innocence

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—The Southeastern Conference Executive Committee will hear a report which Auburn officials say proves that Auburn is innocent of illegal football recruiting.

The school which last year won the No. 1 Associated Press football rank was penalized just 11 days before an earlier suspension was to be lifted.

The NCAA council announced the verdict at New Orleans Monday. Auburn officials deny there was any wrong-doing, but did not indicate whether they intend to appeal to the next NCAA convention.

It took Athletic Director Jeff Beard and Dr. Ralph B. Draughon, Auburn president, more than two hours yesterday to present their side of the story to newsmen.

The Birmingham News quoted NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers in a telephone call from Kansas City as saying that Auburn gave newsmen "just one side of the evidence."

Gen. Troy Middleton, president of the Southeastern Conference, said at Baton Rouge, La., that the SEC Executive Committee would grant Draughon a hearing.

Auburn was barred from participating on both post-season bowl games and NCAA title competition until September, 1961.

Beard said the new probation grew out of charges that freshman quarterback Don Fuell was offered a motorboat, an air-conditioned apartment and an automobile or $2,000 in cash to play football at Auburn.

Beard said these charges had no basis in fact.

The NCAA said only that its action was based on complaints that illicit financial aid had been offered Fuell for both himself and his family.

The Birmingham News quoted Byers:

"After the Auburn hearing of April 1, when Athletic Director Beard and head Coach Jordan appeared before the NCAA committee on infractions, the committee concluded that Auburn was in violation of NCAA requirements. The case was then submitted to the NCAA council for another hearing.

"It is significant that the 17 members of the council, representing all sections of the nation, heard the case in New Orleans April 19-21, and reached the same conclusion. They found Auburn in violation.

"The fact that Auburn failed to establish its innocence in two formal hearings when all the evidence was available, instead of just one side of the evidence, is more eloquent testimony to Auburn's guilt, it seems to me, than any comment I could make at this time."

Beard told newsmen yesterday that the investigation was based on a complaint from another college, but he did not identify the school. He said, however, that at least two former University of Alabama coaches were mentioned in testimony at the two NCAA hearings.

SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said the conference has not concluded its findings or action in the Fuell case.

Keg Series Low for Old Timers

Team With Hall of Fame Bowlers Makes Tepid Showing at ABC

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The White Tower restaurants team, featuring four members of bowling's Hall of Fame, mustered a 2,524 series in the American Bowling Congress tournament last night.

The Stamford, Conn., sponsored unit, whose average age is 67, was not despondent over its tepid showing. Most of the lineup has been bowling in the ABC for nearly a half century, and each has earned more than his share of spoils in the big event over the years.

Gilmore's heating of Binghamton, N.Y., posted a 1,004-1,011-987—3,002 set, the highest tally in the Open division last night. The St. Louis Falstaffs continue their domination of the tourney with the 3,210 they clouted April 10.

The Traveler's Inn of Syracuse managed the only top-ten standings change in any division of the tournament yesterday when they felled 2,703 pins to earn ninth place in the Booster team department.

Irish Square Matters With Michigan Nine

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame defeated Michigan 18-11 in a free hitting nonconference baseball game yesterday.

The victory gave Notre Dame a split in a two-game series with the Wolverines. Michigan won 13-7 at Ann Arbor Monday.

Harold Trapp and Jim Morris each collected three safeties in Notre Dame's 13-hit attack. Bob Sealby smashed a two-run homer for the Wolverines who collected 12 hits.

Mansfield Letdown!

PCH Shaky, but Win Dual

Plagued by a letdown, after the shining championship effort in the nationally-rated Mansfield, Ohio Relays, Pontiac High's thinclads were pressed to defeat Grosse Pte. yesterday afternoon, in a dual meet at the Pointe. Chiefs accumulated 63 points to 46 for their hosts, experienced several unexpected setbacks.

"I suppose we had to expect something like this," said coach Dean Wilson, today. "Performances were not as good as we expected, but I guess we were looking ahead to the visit of Flint Northern here on Friday." Vikings are the Chiefs' most bitter rivals on the cinder-path.

Pontiac took seven firsts, tied for two others. They swept the 880, with Rog Coats winning in 2:06, Pete Cox and John Jefferson in 2-3 spots. Pointe swept the shotput.

Bob Manning, Mansfield sprint champ, set a field record in the 220 at 21.7, also won the 100 at 10.2 with Joe Hill close behind. Bill Radcliff, a PCH soph and new man on the squad, was 2nd to Manning in the furlong.

Danny Sowell and Jim Hawkins renewed their rivalry in the hurdles running 1-2 in both. Sowell hit 15.5 in the highs, 20.9 in the lows. The pair ran almost a dead heat in the high sticks.

One upset was Larry Beamer's defeat in the mile by Rem Purdy of GP in 4:36. Larry had 4:37.2. Fred Brooks, and Cornwell (GP) tied in the high jump at 5-10, Charley Barge was 3rd.

Chiefs won the 880-relay (Sowell, Keller, Turner, Manning) at 1:35.2, while the Pointe took the medley at 2:39.4. Sowell and Keller were 1-2 in the broad jump (19-11½) and Columbus White tied for 2nd in the vault won by GP at 10 feet. Pointe also won the 440 at 54.5, with Bill Pritchett 3rd.

Maples Victors in First Dual

Beat E. Detroit, 73-36 in EML Test; Clarkston Wins Quadrangular

Birmingham high defeated East Detroit 72 and 5-6 to 36 and 1-6 in yesterday's Eastern Michigan League opener at East Detroit. Win was also Maples' first dual meet of the season.

Clarkston was a surprise (to Clarkston coaches) winner of its own quadrangular with three other Wayne . Oakland schools. Host team had 54, West Bloomfield 37½, Holly 29 and Brighton 18½.

In another area meet, Walled Lake was victor over Berkley, 76-32, taking nine firsts, paced by Frank Fink's vault and 100-yard wins, a sweep of the hurdles, century, 220 and vault, plus the 880 relay, high jump (Burris, also shot) and Young's 4:56 mile.

Kermit Ambrose's club was paced by Mark Hall with wins in the broad jump, 100 (10.2), the 220 and anchor leg of the 880-relay. Chuck Gibson won the shot, Bob Stephens on the high jump and 440, Dick Boyd (2:02.9) in the 880, Bill Alcorn in the vault (11 feet), were Maple winners. Gary Ballman of Detroit took the hurdles and Ponteiri the mile.

Alexander Jensen, Chuck Syler, Parks, Brady, were Clarkston winners. Keego's firsts were taken by Nugent (100, 220), Rogers, 880-relay. Holly had Moss and Zasel as winners and Brighton failed to get a winner.

Oxford Nine Seeks 4th Straight Win

Oxford goes after its 2nd straight South Central triumph and 4th for the season meeting Ortonville at home tomorrow.

The Wildcats won their 3rd Monday beating North Branch 4-1. Fred Leistman has won the trio.

Ellis Goes Roughriding

REGINA, Can. (AP) — Jim Ellis, former Michigan State halfback, will play with the Saskatchewan Rough Riders of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union next season.

Ellis, who signed with the Canadian team yesterday, was released by the Cleveland Browns last year after joining them early in the season.

Golfers Seek Quarter-Final Spots in North-South Test

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Today was wicked Wednesday in the North and South Amateur golf tournament — the day 32 survivors of opening rounds faced two more rounds to pare the field to eight for quarter-finals tomorrow morning.

Eighteen hole matches leave little margin for error and playing two in a day is hazardous for even the most accomplished.

The initial skirmishing was devoid of major surprises, leaving the medalist, the defending champion and three other members of last year's Walker Cup team heading the pack.

Wayne Jackson, the Army Private First Class from Hampton, Va., who won the medal, swept the last four holes with pars against Vill Williamson of Charlotte to win, 4 and 3.

That qualified him for a second round meeting this morning with Walter Sezna, a four handicapper from Greenville, Del.

The winner faced an afternoon match with the survivor of a morning duel between Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., and Herb Durham of Dallas, Tex. Campbell, winner last year, is after his fourth North and South crown.

Dale Morey of Indianapolis, 1955 Walker Cupper, went against Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga., member of the '57 team.

Also in the upper half of the draw, bouncy Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., was pitted against a dangerous foe — Howard Everitt of Northfield, N.J., whom he defeated in a 1-up thriller several years ago.

Heading the lower half of the draw was the match between Dick Chapman of Pinehurst and Richard Whiting of Lathrup Village, Mich.

Whiting is Michigan's lone survivor as five other state players fell by the wayside in yesterday's match play.

Whiting eliminated Frank Souchak of Pittsburgh, 3 and 1. Chapman, his opponent today, knocked out Ben Smith of Birmingham, 2 and 1, after being three down at one time.

Other Michigan golfers eliminated yesterday were Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ille, Dick Strickland and Tom Draper of Birmingham and George Linklater of Berkley.

TUESDAY'S FIGHTS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Bobby Rogers, 134, Chicago, outpointed Ernie "Sunny Boy" Williams, 136½, Washington, D.C., 10.

RICHMOND, Calif.—Ramon Valatayud, 112, Caracas, and Jimmy Abeyta, 112, Oakland, Calif., drew, 12.

CHARLOTTE, N.C.—Art Swiden, 195, Pittsburgh, outpointed Oscar Pharo, 203, Birmingham, Ala., 10.

TORONTO—George Chuvalo, 208½, Toronto, knocked out Howie King, 180, Reno, Nevada, 2.

Bid for Triandos and Mossi

Bosox Want to Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, seeking right-handed hitting and left-handed pitching strength, have made strong bids to Baltimore for slugger Gus Triandos and to Cleveland for southpaw Don Mossi, the Associated Press learned today.

According to the informant, general manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox has offered Jimmy Piersall, center field star, to the Orioles in an even swap for Triandos, who can catch or play first base. The proposed trade with Cleveland for Mossi involves five other players identified only by positions.

If the Cleveland deal goes through, the Red Sox will give up a second basemen, a catcher and two pitchers. The Indians will throw in a young catcher in addition to the veteran lefthanded relief star.

Triandos, 27, slammed 52 home runs during the past three seasons, playing in the spacious Baltimore stadium. He batted only .254 last year but walloped 19 home runs and drove in 72 runs. In 1956 he had 21 home runs and 88 runs batted in.

Piersall, a year older than Triandos, had his poorest year for average in 1957 but he reached a high of 19 home runs and drove in 69 runs, hitting sixth in the batting order. He is regarded as perhaps the finest defensive outfielder in the American League.

The center field specialist got off to a wretched start this season and was benched for the first time since 1955 after hitting safely only twice in 21 times at bat. Rookie Marty Keough has been playing in his place.

The Red Sox, who got only two winning games from their left handers last year, have three southpaws on their roster, Frank Baumann, Bob Smith and Leo Kiely. Not one has started a game this season although all have appeared in relief.

Top NBA Choice for Lakers Is Elgin Baylor

Seattle Star, However, Wants College Degree Before Turning Pro

DETROIT (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Assn. want Seattle University's Elgin Baylor but the tall All-America says he isn't interested—not this year at least.

Minneapolis was the first team to receive a balk following yesterday's draft here of the country's top court talent by the eight NBA teams.

"I don't care who drafted me," said Baylor in Seattle after being told the Lakers had chosen him in the first round. The 6-foot-6 junior from Washington, D. C., said he wanted to get his college degree before thinking about professional ball.

Minneapolis officials were not available for comment.

Philadelphia started off yesterday's NBA draft session grabbing off All-America Guy Rodgers of Temple in exercising its territorial rights to any college player within a 50-mile radius of Philadelphia.

The Knickerbockers got Detroit's first round slot in a trade with the Pistons last year for Dick McGuire. The Pistons saw 10 of the nation's top players go by before they picked Barney Cable, six foot seven, of Bradley.

Indiana's Archie Dees went to Cincinnati, Peter Brennan of North Carolina and San Francisco's Mike Farmer were claimed by New York, Connie Dierking of Cincinnati went to Syracuse, Dave Gambee of Oregon State was grabbed by St. Louis and 6-foot-9 Ben Swain of Texas South got the nod from Boston.

SECOND ROUND

Minneapolis, Steve Hamilton, Morehead; Cincinnati, Vern Hatton, Kentucky; Detroit, Barney Cable, Bradley; New York, Joe Quigg, North Carolina; Philadelphia, Lloyd Sharrar, West Virginia; Syracuse, Hal Greer, Marshall; St. Louis, Hub Reed, Oklahoma City; Boston, Jim Smith, Steubenville, Ohio.

THIRD ROUND

Minneapolis, Alex Ellis, Niagara. Cincinnati, Arlen Bockhorn, Dayton; Detroit, Ray DeWitz, Kansas State; New York, Johnnie Lee, Yale; Philadelphia, Frank Howard, Ohio State; Syracuse, John Nocinelli, Maryland; St. Louis, Wayne Embry, Miami, Ohio; Boston, Jim Cunningham, Fordham.

FOURTH ROUND

Minneapolis, George Kline, Minnesota; Cincinnati, Phil Murrell, Drake; Detroit, Ralph Crosswaite, Western Kentucky; New York, John Cox, Kentucky; Philadelphia, Temple Tucker, Rice; Syracuse, Tom Kearns, North Carolina; St. Louis, Julius Pequese, Pitt; Boston, Don Fiora, Washington and Lee.

FIFTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Quitman Sullins, Murray State; Cincinnati, Jim Fulmer, Alabama; Detroit, Hank Morane, St. Peters; New York, Don Lane, Dayton; Philadelphia, Don Ohl, Illinois; Syracuse, Fred Grim, Arkansas; St. Louis, Rick Herrober, Southern Methodist; Boston, Gene Brown, San Francisco.

SIXTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Al Bunlas, St. Francis, N.Y.; Cincinnati, Jim McClellan, St. Franes, Pa.; Detroit, Sheille McMillon, Bradley; New York, Joe King, Oklahoma; Philadelphia, Bucky Allen, Duke; Syracuse, Jack Minnitz, St. Louis; St. Louis, John Crawford, Iowa State; Boston, Dave Keleher, Morehead State.

SEVENTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Jim Bond, Pasadena; Cincinnati, Wayne Stevens, Cincinnati; Detroit, Ed Blair, Western Michigan; New York, Owen Lawson, Western Kentucky; Philadelphia, Jay Norman, Temple; Syracuse, Pete Tillotson, Michigan; St. Louis, Ken Sidle, Ohio State; Boston, passed.

EIGHTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Ed Brinkley, Clemson; Cincinnati, Bob Manz, Lafayette; Detroit, Jack Quiggle, Michigan State; New York, Milt Kelly, Utah; Philadelphia, Jim Brennan, Villanova; Syracuse, Ruel Tucker, Rockhurst; St. Louis, Bruno Boin, Univ. of Washington; Boston, passed.

NINTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Joe Hobbs, Florida; Cincinnati, Larry Staverman, Villa Madonna; Detroit, Harry Marsha, Northern State, S.D.; New York, Jack McCarthy, Notre Dame; Philadelphia, Nick Davis, Maryland; Syracuse, passed; St. Louis, Tuck Van Patton, Temple; Boston, passed.

TENTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Shorty Patterson, Gustavis Adolphus; Cincinnati, Jack Parr, Kansas State; Detroit, Pete Gandin, Loyola of South; New York, passed; Philadelphia, Larry Hedden, Michigan State; Syracuse, passed; St. Louis, James Purcell, Coe; Boston, passed.

ELEVENTH ROUND

Minneapolis, Hal Duffy, Oregon; Cincinnati, Frank Tartaron of Xavier, Ohio; Detroit, Herb Merritt, Tennessee Tech; St. Louis, Don Klein, Rockhurst; others passed.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Caddie masters and electric carts were the main objects of study in Monday's spring meeting of the Michigan PGA at Lansing's Walnut Hills Country Club. Both came out on the long end of the discussion.

The state PGA passed a resolution which permits a caddie master to compete in pro-pro events upon invitation from the head pro at the club where he is employed. This is a privilege rarely enjoyed by caddie masters in past years.

Of even greater significance, perhaps, is the state chapter's decision on electric carts. For the first time in Michigan's history, members of the PGA have voted to allow the use of carts by golfers in their pro-amateur tournaments.

Only senior players — those who are 60 years old and above — have been granted the use of carts in the past.

"Discretion and club rules at the tournament site will govern all use of carts," said Warren Orlick of Tam O'Shanter, state PGA president. Electric carts are available at Tam, which is host to the first pro-am event of the season on May 5.

Two other actions taken by the PGA Monday were on the negative side.

Members decreed that any PGA member inactive in professional golf or otherwise not affiliated with the game for at least two years should be dropped from membership at the end of 1958.

"Each individual case will be judged on its own merit," Orlick said. Loss of state membership means automatic removal from the National PGA, he pointed out.

By a 2-to-1 vote, the state PGA turned down a request from its Western Michigan Chapter which, if approved, would have given tournament privileges to non-PGA members and Class H pros.

The Michigan section is hoping to have Ben Hogan at its fall meeting in Detroit. Orlick is still waiting for the final word.

SHORT PUTTS

Jack Fleck, head pro at Rochester Golf and Country Club, leaves by plane Saturday for Fort Worth, Texas, where he will play in the Colonial Invitational tourney.

Seven-year-old Craig Fleck parred his first hole recently. If you haven't already guessed, Craig is Jack's son.

There's a new club manager at Pontiac Country Club. His name is Bud Monement and he joins Frank Syron's staff after employment at the Vets Memorial in Detroit.

Mrs. Keith LeClair of Barton Hills and Mrs. Harold Marquardt of Gowanie have been rated at scratch for 1958 by the WDGA.

Sharman and Cousy Pace East 5's Win

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics led the National Basketball Assn.'s Eastern All-Stars over the Western All-Stars 149-136 Tuesday night before a crowd of 3,000.

The triumph gave the East All-Stars a 5-4 lead in their cross-country tour.

City Golf Clinic Starts April 30

Times, dates and locations of the city golf instruction clinic have been announced by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department and registrations are now being accepted, the recreation department reports.

Classes will be held in the Pontiac Central High School boys' gymnasium from 7 to 9 o'clock on four successive Wednesday evenings, beginning April 30. Remaining nights are May 7, May 14 and May 21.

Practice golf balls, either cotton or soft rubber, should be brought to class, along with a No. 2 wood, 5-iron and putter. There will be some practice balls available for purchase from the instructor.

A fee of $1 will be charged for Pontiac residents while a $2 fee will be collected from persons living outside the city.

MSU to Play Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Michigan State and Stanford will play a home-and-home football series in 1961 and 1962. The teams will meet at East Lansing, Oct. 7, 1961, and at Stanford Sept. 29, 1962. Michigan State won both of the schools' previous meetings — 38-14 in 1955 and 21-7 in 1956.

Trouters Poised for Action

250,000 Wait Season Start

By H. GUY MOATS

Michigan's 1958 trout fishing season gets under way Saturday. That's the date an estimated 250,000 impatient army of trout fishermen, including thousands from Oakland county and metropolitan area hie themselves to myriad trout-bearing waters to try their luck with the wily rainbow, brookie and brown trout, with which hundreds of fine state waters abound.

Trout season opening also means the beginning of general fishing, except black bass and a few other species. Bass season, outside a few "open" waters, does not open until June 21.

Most of the trouting army will head for the popular upstate streams such as the main stream of the Ausable and its many tributaries, including the North and South branches, on parts of which there are "flies only" regulations. Fishermen should post themselves regarding special regulations, by checking with conservation officers.

Other popular streams, all of which have been reported clear, normal and cold, include the Sturgeon, Manistee, Boardman, Betsy, Maple.

However, with heavy plantings already completed on scores of area waters and in trout ponds at Bald Mountain, Lapeer and Fenton, trouters with only weekend time available, will find plenty of sport close to home. And, it's a sure thing these waters will get a stiff going-over during the weekend.

Last night's rain may be a tipoff on what to expect concerning the outlook. More warm rain will bring more action from the trout, and induce insect hatches which have been almost non-existent up to now because of the cold weather. Rains would also color the streams, giving the bait fisherman an edge.

Present conditions indicate the opening will be highly successful.

Resident trout anglers must have a special ($2) trout stamp in addition to the regular ($2) fishing license. Size and creel limits are mostly unchanged, with some exceptions (on flies only streams), minimum size is 7 inches, daily creel five from lakes and 10 from streams, with the limit 10 pounds and one fish.

RECORD TROUT? — What may be one of the largest brown trout caught in this country is the 26-pound, 2-ounce fish, shown above by George Langstrom of Celina, Tenn. It was taken in Dale Hollow, and measured 34 inches in length and 23½ inches around, nearly as big as Langstrom's son, Sidney who stands beside his father.

Little Stories About Outdoors

More than 17 million visitors were recorded at Michigan's parks last year, and within a comparatively short time the 1958 invasion will be under way.

Work in preparation of the many state parks in Oakland county for the summer has been going on for some time. Painting, repairs, cleaning up jobs are under way; tables, stoves and other facilities are being readied. All of which suggests that the many thousands of visitors expected could perform a great service in keeping these fine recreation areas clean and attractive, thus reducing maintenance. Without such cooperation parks workers are unable to care for these jobs.

Litterbugs and vandals create an extra work load and mar the beauty and function of the parks for considerate visitors.

Students at Central Michigan College are fishing for grades this spring, and there's nothing wrong about it. A pilot course on leisure time activities has as part of its work, a section on fishing. It's popular, too.

On the schedule of registered shoots for Michigan Skeet Assn. during May are: May 4—100-bird all-gauge open at Maple Grove club, Mt. Clemens; May 11—all-gauge open, Saginaw Gun club; May 18—all-gauge open at Jackson Skeet and Trap club.

Arvin Summers, 9455 Buckingham, took his biggest fish too soon to qualify for the 1958 Press fishing derby. He landed a 20-inch bass on "open" Pontiac Lake Monday, using a nightcrawler harness. He fished from his own backyard!

A seed-corn farmer living near Columbia City, Ind., may have a world fishing record for his 104-pound amberjack, taken in the Metropolitan Miami fishing tourney on 50-pound line. Earl Pettigrew's catch is expected to be cleared with the International Game Fishing Assn.

Tip to anglers — Fish have a keen sense of smell, says Indiana Univ. zoologist Shelby Gerking, and an angler who washes his hands in lake or stream may scare away the fish. Hence, a dirty fisherman has best chance of success than the sanitary one!

Atomic Energy for Fish Boats

Nuclear Revolution to Change Techniques in Piscatorial Business

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — A top United Nations naval designer predicted today atomic energy will power fishing boats within the next few years.

The official, Jan-Olaf Traung, chief naval architect of the food and agriculture organization (FOA), said the nuclear revolution will enable big factory ships to be sent to sea with skeleton crews, with the main working force joining them by supersonic aircraft when needed.

Traung based his predictions on scientific papers being sent to him by many nations in his capacity as secretary of the second World Fishing Boat Congress, scheduled to be held in Rome in April, 1959. Participants will include naval architects, boatbuilders and designers, marine engineers, boat owners, skippers and fishermen, as well as government representatives from all the leading fishing countries.

Three Pontiac Dogs Place in Field Test

Three Pontiac area dogs won placements in the recent field trial held at Highland Recreation area by the Irish Setter Club of Michigan.

They included "Ike Kendrick," first in the open all-age stakes, with "Miss Bobbitt" third. Both setters are owned and handled by Tom Moffat, Watkins Lake. Tom is a former Pontiac Central High sports star.

Paul McNamara handled his "Englewood's Golden Boy" to a second place in the novice class.

Field included 76 dogs, coming here from Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Edgar W. McIvor of Dearborn was chairman for this annual spring trial. Secretary for the club is Larry Freeman of Grosse Pointe.

400 in Fishing Carnival

Birmingham youngsters held high jinks, in a piscatorial way, recently on the banks of Quarton lake, where some 400 jostled each other while yanking scores of carp from the chilly waters. Many prizes were given the most successful, by the Birmingham Recreation department. More than 200 parents joined the spectators' ranks.

Little kids of two, up to husky youngsters of 14 participated in the 2nd annual event.

Here are the winners:

Longest fish—(boys 12-under)— Dave Gustner, 24-inch 7½ pounds; (girls 12-under)—Janet Falke, 7, 22½-inch, 5½ pounds (also most fish); Bill Allen, 13 (13-14 years) 18-inch, 4½ pounds (also most fish, 3); boys 12-under—most fish, Doug Windler, 11, five gills 1 carp; youngest girls—Susan Gipson, 2; youngest boy George Francis, 2.

Most unusual equipment, Kathy Coolidge; branch for pole, twig for bobber, bent pin hook. Kirk Richards, gaff on end of shovel.

Errant Chinchilla Found in City Park

"Say, I've just found a queer-looking animal," Joe Hampton, a visitor from Kentucky, informed this department, yesterday. "Head like a rabbit, tail like a squirrel."

When Hampton, of London, Ky. who is visiting relatives at 359 Seward street, brought his find to The Press it was immediately identified as a South American Chinchilla, a valuable fur animal and fine pet. Hampton found it "beside a tree in Murphy Park." It probably was an escaped pet, and was apparently in fine condition, unafraid of being handled.

Audubons Plan Sunday Session, Feeding Survey

Members of the Pontiac chapter of the Audubon Society will participate in a meeting Sunday, at Bald Mt. Recreation Area. Plans call for assembly at the ranger headquarters at 3 p.m.

The chapter also is making a bird feeding survey and would appreciate any information from Pontiac persons who have fed, or are feeding wild birds. A postcard bearing information about kind of food used and the species of birds fed, should be addressed to Don Nagel, care Pontiac Parks & Recreation department. Also affix name and address of sender.

'Watch the Weather Man'

By JACK PATTERSON

With the trout season opening only three days away the guy to watch is the weatherman. If he continues to cooperate with prospective fishermen, the first weekend of the 1958 season should be the finest opening weekend in years.

PATTERSON

As of now most lower peninsula trout streams are near normal summer levels. Upper Peninsula streams average higher because of later thaws. Clear water is the case, in any event, and perhaps most important of all, water temperatures, in Lower Peninsula streams anyway, are bound to be somewhat higher than normal for this date. Rising water temperatures, as all trout fishermen know, mean increasing activity on the part of the fish.

Now three things can happen, between now and midnight Friday, and the opening trout fisherman should be prepared for all of them.

First, the weather may stay warm and generally clear. If it does, mid-May conditions will greet the stream fisherman. The fly fisherman, particularly, will benefit from this situation.

Second, the weather may stay warm but not so clear and the trout country may be subjected to warmish rains. If not too heavy and protracted, these rains will improve conditions, particularly for the bait fisherman.

Third, it might cool off sharply. We could get a three-day downpour or a few inches of snow (it has happened), and in this case we'd have a "normal" or card-playing opening.

"Fly-fishing only" waters in the North, and South branches and main stream of the Au Sable system should be excellent for the nymph, streamer and dry fly fisherman. Small feeder streams (brook trout water) should average warmer than on most recent openings, and offer much better fishing.

The nicest thing about the warmer than average weather is that special opening day fish-finding techniques shouldn't be necessary.

Lake fishing for trout is a sorry business to predict, but we imagine that present weather conditions will at least make it more comfortable on the fisherman planning to haul out recent planters.

Archery Champ Says Hard Work Brought Title

19-Year-Old Jay Peake, U. S. Best, Is Modest Youth

ALL OUTDOORS, U.S.A. (INS)— National Field Archery Association champion is Jay Peake, a 19-year-old Charleroi, Pa., youth who says "concentration, determination and practice" make archery champs.

In an article by Jay in the Eastern Bowhunter, he tells how backyard practice and almost daily shooting led him to the top national honor of all bowmen.

"Archery is physical as well as mental," Jay wrote, "and you must shoot constantly, or at least I must, to keep those muscles just right.

"Don't make the mistake of too much practice, though. You can grow stale, just like you can in any other sport. When I feel I'm getting stale, I lay off for four or five days; it always helps me."

Take it from an archer who knows. Jay won the 1957 NFAA national at Watkins Glen, N.Y. He stressed the proper mental attitude when shooting in competition.

9-Event Card Closes Racing at Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gulfstream Park closes its 43-day meeting today with a nine-race program featuring the $10,000 Hallandale at six furlongs.

The Rockmoore Farm entry of Leather Button and Rockmore is expected to be favorite in the race with C. S. Handelman's Bonnie A. packing only 109 pounds.

Other entrants are Pineapple, Anointeth, Fir Fair, Tara Tella, Mr. J. T., Remus, Sun King and General Rocket.

The Detroit Tigers will have 10 farm clubs in 1958, the largest total in its history. The teams are at Charleston, W. Va.; Birmingham, Ala.; Augusta, Ga.; Lancaster, Pa.; Durham, N.C.; Idaho Falls, Idaho; Erie, Pa.; Decatur, Ill.; Montgomery, Ala.; and Valdosta, Ga.

GOOD FISHING — Tom (left) and Paul Baytarian, Pontiac anglers, had a good round of fishing the other afternoon, at Pontiac Lake, as the picture proves. Catch included three nice pike (24 inches, two 22 inches long), a foot-long "Calico" and a 13½ inch long yellow perch. The brothers hooked four other pike "even bigger, that got away". Ernest Barry was with them, landed several bluegills.

Season Under Way

Canada Offers Spring Black Bear Hunting

ALL OUTDOORS, USA. (INS) — Springtime in the U.S. may be a time for fishing, but in Ontario it is one of the best times for bear hunting.

The spring season for non-residents opened April 1 and continues until June 15. License fee for non-residents is $5.25 and the hunter is not permitted to use a shotgun, or .22 caliber rifle of the rim fire variety. Here is an exciting budget hunt, if ever one was offered.

Ontario department of lands and forests field workers say the black bear population is distributed throughout the province but hunters would be well advised to plan their bear hunts south of the French River. In fact, they say, do not plan hunts south of a line drawn from Pembroke, on the Ottawa river, to Parry Sound on Georgian Bay.

Guides for these hunts are always available. They cost from $9 to $14 per day. Free maps may be obtained by writing to the Division of Surveys, Dept. of Lands and Forests, Parliament Bldg. Toronto, Ont.

Residents are paid a bounty for black bears and there is no closed season. However, state officials are always interested in attracting the non-resident sportsmen for obvious financial reasons.

Ontario black bears will reach more than 500 pounds and be around five feet in length from nose to tail.

Noted Michiran big game hunter Dale Williams of Davison recommends "early spring hunts because skins are in their best condition." "The summer coat," he points out, "doesn't start to appear until late in May or early June."

Another advantage to an early hunt is that bears coming out of hibernation are very hungry and will move around more offering the hunter greater selection of trophy.

St. Fred, Bloomfield Golfers Post Wins

St. Fred of Pontiac won its second match in three starts by downing the Rochester golf team, 177-193 yesterday with Joe Keller firing a 41 for medalist honors.

Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills shot a 36 to lead the Barons to a close 179-180 win over Milford.

ST. FRED SCORES: Keller 41, Secory 45, Landry 45, Palopoli 46.
ROCHESTER SCORES: Beaupre 43, Leach 47, Mason 49, Perkins 54.
BLOOMFIELD SCORES: Badger 36, Thompson 42, West 55, Armitage 46.
MILFORD SCORES: Coxen 44, Pritchard 42, Reed 46, Tokorsky 48.

Detroit Tigers Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn are among the nine active American League players with .300 lifetime batting averages. Kaline is tied for fourth place with a .307 average, and Kuenn is tied for sixth place with a .306 mark.

PCH, Bloomfield Netters Win as Cranbrook Loses

Pontiac and Bloomfield Hills posted tennis victories yesterday while Cranbrook was losing to Hamtramck.

The Chiefs scored a 4-3 victory over Flint Northern with Harry Van Matre, Gideon Robarge, Alan Higgens and George Palian taking their matches. This gives PCH a 2-1 mark for the season.

The Barons blanked Clarenceville in a Wayne-Oakland match 5-0 while the Cranes were losing to the Cosmos, 5-2.

Cranbrook got its points in two doubles matches.

Jimmy Moore of Cleveland is a member of the 200 club in the American Hockey League. He scored his 200th point in league play against Springfield.

Feature Outboard Races

Racing exhibitions by the Belle Isle Outboard Racing Club, a colorful parade preceding polo games, and dog exhibits have been included in plans for the Oakland County All-Sports Show, set for the May 1-4 weedend at Ivory Polo Club, on Cooley Lake Road.

The all-free show will feature a wide variety of sporting attractions for the people of Southeastern Michigan.

Area dealers of sporting goods, boats, automobiles, trailers, archery equipment, motorcycles, marine engines, and building materials are in the show and more are signing up to display their products.

The show, which will run from 1 p.m. until 11 p.m. all four days, will feature horseback riding and jumping, as well as other events.

There will be tours of the 140-acre estate and other highlights are polo games, free pony rides for children, boating and racing craft displays, and demonstrations of fly casting, archery, and pistol shooting.

Not All Caused by Man

Mystery in Forest Fires

More than 95 per cent of Michigan's forest fires are caused by man and usually can be traced to human carelessness, but some fires have mysterious origin, says the Conservation Department.

Conservation Department lookout Edward Narva, of Reeder Hill tower near Lake City, recently spotted a small fire near the base of his tower and extinguished the blaze.

Narva said no sign of fire was evident when he climbed the tower to go on duty an hour earlier. The lookout does not smoke, nor was he carrying matches, and no one else was near the tower.

Although the cause has not been definitely determined, it is assumed the fire may have been started by the sun shining through a small piece of glass.

Fire control specialists said the incident illustrates the critical fire conditions throughout much of the state. Lack of rainfall, particularly in the northern lower peninsula, has increased fire hazards in recent weeks.

Black Duck Smart Bird

Conservation game workers at the Pointe Mouillee area on Lake Erie have found living proof of the belief that black ducks are pretty smart in avoiding hunters' guns. They recently trapped a duck, originally banded in 1949, which has been retrapped 18 times. In the years of 1950, 1952 and 1957, this smart drake evaded capture. It was trapped, rebanded and released on Jan. 31.

Kirk Douglas Will Star in 'Two for the Seesaw'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I took Kirk Douglas' breath away when I casually mentioned that I was told that he and his Bryna Productions figured in the Ray Stark deal to buy "Two for the Seesaw" for motion pictures.

"How did you know?" said Kirk. "But it's true and I'll play the Henry Fonda role, but of course not until 1960. Bryna Productions and Seven Arts, the Stark-Hyman company, bought the Broadway play together."

Kirk told me that he is planning a trip to Russia before he decides whether or not to film the famous story, "Michael Strogoff." "I wouldn't make it," he said, "without the complete cooperation of the United States government."

The question raised in the American press as to whether the Augustinian hospice with its world famous St. Bernard rescue dogs in the Swiss Alps is still functioning has been answered by writer-producer Walter Reisch.

Walter has just returned after living with the heroic monks for four weeks and he has brought back the exclusive rights to make a picture which he will call "The Great St. Bernard."

Situated on the border between Switzerland and France, this monastery is inaccessible to the outside world for 11 months of the year. There are 19 men and 25 St. Bernard dogs and the history of the rescue of travelers dates back to 980 B.C.

I was interested to hear that "Not the Glory," the Playhouse 90 show James Mason will make with Ann Todd, was written by the controversial Pierre Boule.

Boule, you will remember, is the author of "Bridge on the River Kwai," but there was considerable talk as to whether he did or didn't write the screen adaptation. It was decided he did.

The telecast is set for "Not the Glory" in early May and Ann is flying from London to do this show. She was Jimmy Mason's leading lady in "The Seventh Veil," the movie that brought him fame.

My young friend Tommy Sands telephoned to check in. He's back from Virginia, complete with new haircut and bad cold.

"It rained all the time we were in Virginia," said Tommy, "and I caught a cold I haven't been able to shake off. I want to come and see you and have you look at my new haircut — I think I look like a monkey."

I told him I had seen pictures of him with his new cut and thought it very becoming. Tommy finishes "Mardi Gras" with Pat Boone and Gary Crosby, "and then I have something else coming up," he said, "but I can't tell you now." At any rate he will be busy over the summer with "Mardi Gras" because Pat Boone won't be out of school until June.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Sea Lampreys Battled

HOLLAND (UP) — Sea lampreys are nothing new for the Holland area, says Conservation Officer Harold Bowditch, but efforts to control them are concentrated in the Lake Superior area at present in attempts to save the remaining stock of lake trout. He commented after reports that lampreys had invaded a tributary of the nearby Black River.

Governor Signs 12 More Bills

War Vets Must Prove Disability in Seeking Tax Exemption

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams has put his signature on a dozen more bills, one requiring disabled war veterans to show proof of disability when applying for veterans homestead tax exemptions.

Exemptions are limited to veterans who resided in Michigan six months prior to entering service or to those who have lived in the state for five years before applying for the exemption.

Williams also signed a bill creating a third circuit judgeship for Saginaw County. The law authorizes the governor to appoint a judge to serve until the general election this fall.

Other bills:

Reduce the appropriation for the "little legislature," made up of the appropriating committees of the legislature and state administrative board, from $500,000 to $100,000.

Authorize divers using a diving suit or other mechanical device to place a buoy and flag at the point of submergence.

Remove the population limitation from the law authorizing political sub-divisions to pledge general fund moneys to make up deficiences in airport revenue payments.

Increase the annual license fee for druggists from $10 to $15.

Empower the governor, on request, to authorize members of the judges retirement system to vote on whether to come under the Federal Social Security system.

Director Daniel Catton Rich said yesterday that the institute has rejected an exhibit of 35 of the former British prime minister's oil paintings.

"We have certain professional standards," Rich explained. "We do not show the work of amateurs unless they have been passed by professional juries. We do not feel that Mr. Churchill's work rates as professional."

Rich said the exhibit is sponsored by a giftcard company which has reprinted some of Churchill's oils on cards. He said the National Gallery of Art in Washington will not show the exhibit.

However, the paintings will be shown in Washington by the Smithsonian Institution at the Natural History Building from April 26 through May 18. They already have been seen in Kansas City, Detroit, New York and Toronto.

Rich said a secondary reason for the institute in not showing the paintings is the fact that "our schedule is just so full."

Pablo Casals Plays Concert in Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UP) — Puerto Rico's second annual Pablo Casals Music Festival opened last night with the famed cellist's first concert appearance since his heart attack a year ago.

The 81-year-old master and American pianist Mieczyslaw Horszowski joined to perform Bethoven's F Major Sonata for Cello and Piano.

The capacity crowd of 2,200 greeted Casals with a standing ovation and called him back for three curtain calls. Local critics agreed that his illness had affected neither his tone nor his technique.

High Schools to Get Geiger Counters

LANSING (AP) — Geiger counters and radiological survey meters will be distributed soon to 239 Michigan high schools at a cost of $35,600, the office of the superintendent of public instruction states.

The radiological instruments are included in survival kits distributed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration to determine presence of radiation. Each is worth $400 and contains 12 pieces of equipment.

Lyle M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, has the job of determining which of the state's 700 high schools will get them.

Schools selected must offer a complete science program and have teachers qualified to make use of the equipment, he said. Distribution on a loan basis will be made by the start of school next fall, he said.

Price Index Climb Shown in Statistics

DETROIT (UP) — With cost of food, apparel and medical care advancing, Detroit's consumer price index rose .4 per cent from February to March, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

Detroit's March index was 124.2 or 2.6 per cent above the level of a year ago.

The index is based on 100 for the 1947-48 period. In other words, what could have been bought then for $1 now costs $1.24.2.

The bureau reported Detroit prices of food rose 1.7 per cent from February to March, with apparel up .3 per cent and doctor bills, transportation and personal care items up .1 per cent.

These, the bureau said, were offset to some extent by a .3 per cent decrease in housing costs. It said reading and recreation items were unchanged.

Compared with a year ago, Detroit's food index is up 6.4 per cent 2.7; other goods and services 6.4. Over all for the year a decrease of 1.3 was registered by apparel and 0.1 by transportation.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Oakland, at their offices, 2438 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac, Michigan, until 9:30 o'clock, a.m. Eastern Standard Time, May 8, 1958, and said proposals will be publicly opened and read at 10:00 o'clock, a.m. Eastern Standard Time of the same day for the following:

Ford Hardtop Convertible Outsells Early Estimates

DETROIT (UP) — Ford Motor Co. reported today its retailers have sold nearly 27,000 Ford retractable hardtops since the model was introduced, a year ago.

At that time Ford said it expected to produce about 20,000 of the models in the first year.

The car is called the Skyliner. Its all-steel top folds completely into the trunk automatically.

Earnings Drop 55 Cents

LANSING (UP) — Motor Wheel Corp. reports net earnings of $68,405, or 8 cents a share, for the quarter ended March 31. This compared with earnings of $530,376, or 63 cents a share for the like period a year ago. Sales in 1958's first quarter totaled $14,140,158 compared with $19,443,186 in 1957's like period.

State Department Briefs Gov. Williams for Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Williams has been briefed by the State Department in advance of his scheduled trip to Liberia as guest of President Tubman.

Williams is scheduled to fly to Monrovia July 26 for the 111th anniversary of Liberia's independence.

Department officials said Williams will take his family and three or four Michigan officials with him.

The Liberian government invites a prominent American each year to attend its independence ceremonies. Gov. McKelden of Maryland was the guest last July.

Business Called Good

NEW YORK (AP) — General Mills, Inc., expects a considerable gain in earnings in the fiscal year ended May 31, according to Charles Bell, president. He says, "Our business has been good since November and it's good today. Unit volume in March was one of the best in our history."

Hot Times Tops

BOSTON (AP)—More than 400 big fires, each causing a loss of at least a quarter million dollars in the United States last year, produced a record-shattering 1957 total destruction of almost 350 million dollars.

Losses Taken by Rails, Steels

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails and steels took losses as the Stock Market continued to decline in moderate early trading today.

Leading issues lost fractions to around a point. A number of issues were unchanged and a few stocks were actively higher.

Rails, strong recently in anticipation of the administration's proposals to aid the industry, resumed their sell-off of yesterday in disappointment over actual provisions of the program.

Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio dropped about a point each. Fractional losses were taken by other leading carriers including Santa Fe, New York Central and Pennsylvania.

Republic Steel was down a major fraction after reporting that first quarter earnings fell short of matching the dividend on common. Youngstown Sheet dropped a point but clipped its loss.

American Motors stood out in a backward motors group, rising a fraction in strong activity in continued response to favorable news about increased demand for the Rambler.

Losses were taken by American Telephone, Texas Co., Westinghouse Electric, International Harvester, Alcoa, Zenith, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Goodyear and Ford.

Suit Filed in Slaying

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A $750,000 damage suit has been filed against Lana Turner, her daughter and her former husband over the slaying of a boy friend Johnny Stompanato.

Burglars Pick On Prison

LIVERPOOL, England (UP)—Burglars broke into Walton Prison, cracked a safe in the warden's office and broke out again with 3 shillings 4 pence 47 cents in loot.

State Troopers Chase 2 Youths in Stolen Auto

Two State Troopers from the Pontiac Post chased a stolen car with two youths in it for over three miles last night before it struck two trees on Eight Mile Rd., in Southfield Township.

Troopers Roger Shaw and Maurice Larsen noticed the car racing away from a stop light several miles northwest of Eight Mile Rd. on Northwestern Highway.

They gave chase, and the driver ran a red light, continued on at speeds nearing 100 miles an hour, sideswiped a car and crashed.

The occupants had escaped from the wrecked car when the troopers pulled up, but the driver, Robert Johnston, 17, of 16246 Sorrento St., Detroit, was found in the neighborhood after a brief search.

He was turned over to Detroit Police. The car had been stolen from a Detroit firm earlier, said police. His companion has not been located as yet.

Ford Motor Reveals Executives' Earnings

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co.'s two top officials—President Henry Ford II and Ernest R. Breech, board chairman — each earned $89,365 in 1957 after income taxes.

A company proxy statement yesterday said each received $185,000 in salary and a like amount in supplemental compensation.

Ford was listed as holding 909,470 class B and 72,250 common stock shares. Breech holds 61,000 shares of common stock, the statement said.

Earnings by other officers of the company ranged from $150,000 in salary and $165,000 in supplemental compensation to Del S. Harder, executive vice president in charge of basic manufacturing divisions, to $65,625 in salary and $70,000 in compensation to vice president William C. Ford.

Directors and officers as a group received $2,853,610 in salaries and fees and $2,676,000 in supplemental compensation.

Fisher Body Shifts 3 Top Executives

Three top Fisher Body top executives have been transferred, including one from Pontiac, E. J. Hanson, division general manufacturing manager, disclosed today.

C. B. Gough has been transferred from the Janesville, Wis., plant where he was plant superintendent to Pontiac as production manager.

He will be replaced at Janesville by W. C. Davey, plant superintendent at Baltimore, Md.

Replacing Davey will be E. I. Danaher who held similar responsibilities in Pontiac since 1956.

Youth in Poor Condition but Not From Accident

A Walled Lake youth, whose car smashed into a Commerce Township swamp area last night, is reported in poor condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital—although he suffered no injuries in the accident.

Carl Hess, 17, of 960 Adelaide St., was suffering from possible barbiturate poisoning, said a hospital spokesman. Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said the youth had taken five phenobarbital pills, which apparently caused him to black out at the wheel.

He had just turned right off South Commerce road when his car went out of control.

New Used Car Business Will Open in Pontiac

A new used car business, Hardenburg Motor Sales, 57 W. Pike St., will open in Pontiac Friday. Owner of the business is Clarence "Hardy" Hardenburg, 2060 Pontiac Dr., Sylvan Lake, a former sales manager of a local auto dealer.

His associate, Mike Wendle, 434 Fourth Ave., is also a former auto salesman of a Pontiac dealer.

The lot will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. through 5 p.m. Saturdays.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GRACE Orbun who passed away April 23, 1950.
Dear Mother, you are not forgotten
Though on earth you are no more;
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MR. Cornelius Jewell who passed away 10 years ago, April 23rd, 1948.
The family of Cornelius Jewell.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF WILliam H. Clement, who passed away, April 23rd, 1957.
I have lot my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss him more,
As I walk through life alone.
Sadly missed by his wife Mary.

Steel Down 84 Per Cent

DETROIT (AP) — Iron Age says steel production in the Detroit area will reach 13 per cent of capacity during the week of April 20-26. The publication said output was 97 per cent of capacity in last year's like period.

Pleven Is Next in Cabinet Try

Summoned by Coty After Bidault Fails to Win Any Support

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty moved back to the political center today in his search for a new French premier. He summoned Rene Pleven after Georges Bidault—advocate of a tougher North African policy—couldn't get even his own party to back his attempt to form a government.

Coty sent a special plane to the north of France for Pleven, the President's second nominee for the task of trying to solve the crisis which began eight days ago with the resignation of Premier Felix Gaillard.

Pleven tried unsuccessfully last October to form a government before Gaillard succeeded. Whether he would accept Coty's request to try again was uncertain.

Political observers believed Pleven had a fair chance of mustering enough National Assembly votes to undertake forming a cabinet. However, that would not guarantee Assembly approval of his government.

The 6-foot-tall doctor of law heads the Democratic and Socialist Resistance Union, a middle-of-the-road group with 21 members in the 595-man Assembly. He was premier twice between mid-1950 and early 1952 for a total of 12 months and was defense minister when France suffered its crushing Indochinese defeat at Dien Bien Phu.

Bidault, a former premier and foreign minister, threw in the towel after his own Catholic Popular Republican party refused to back his plans for an unyielding policy in North Africa.

Little Widow Rates as Expert at 'Kitty Sitting'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. F.X. Ritchie, a white-haired little widow, is a kitty sitter.

"Yes sir, I've raised and loved cats ever since I was a little girl, and that's been a long time ago," she said. "And cats love me. When I was a youngster, we lived in St. Louis and we had 17 cats at one time, most of them strays.

"Now I didn't ever plan to become a kitty sitter. One day I met my friend, Mrs. Jane Connard, on the street. She's a buyer for a department store and goes East to market four times a year.

"The day I met her she was all upset over having to leave her two black cats when she went to New York again.

"It always frightened the cats to be carried out of the house to a pet boarding house.

"Jane said, 'Now, why couldn't you come and stay with Cookie and Pidgie in my apartment?' That started my kitty sitting career."

A mother of seven sons and a daughter, who are well scattered in New York, Atlanta, Mobile and St. Louis, Mrs. Ritchie had plenty of time to take on other cat-caring jobs as her friends spread the word.

How does one go about getting kitty-sitting jobs?

"Just the same way you would ask for any other job," she explained. "I go to the homes and get inspected by the cats. If they like me, I get the job."

Road Department Quick to Seek Funds

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department says its acts as quickly as any in the nation when it comes to applying for federal help on highway projects.

Commissioner John C. Mackie said the department was the first to ask for funds made available under the new federal highway bill signed by President Eisenhower last Wednesday.

Engineering specifications were sent out by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads Monday and department applications for help on four million dollars in urban and primary road projects were made up yesterday, he said.

The new bill makes an additional $13,800,000 million in primary, urban and secondary road funds available to Michigan in 1958 on a two-thirds federal and one-third state basis. Another $7,200,000 was allocated for interstate highway construction under a 90-10 formula.

Maine Lobsters Scarce

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Lobsters are getting scarce off Maine's rocky coast with a consequent rise in prices. Dealers blame a rough winter, complicated by spring storms and

NOT SO SPEEDY — Television's Western heroes don't impress columnist Erskine Johnson, who has discovered that their fastest draw takes three-tenths of a second. According to Johnson, TV's commercial girls can move almost as swiftly. The crack-shot video Westerners above are (left to right) Will Hutchins of "Sugarfoot," James Garner of "Maverick," Wayde Preston of "Colt .45" and Clint Walker of "Cheyenne," all ABC programs.

'The Schnozz' May Be This Year's New Face

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jimmy Durante who's 65, has such a smart, fresh night club act that he'll probably be brought back on TV as this year's new face.

WILSON

Jimmy, owner of the one nose that has defied time and Gary Cooper and never been fixed or lifted, used handsome singer Sonny King as his junior partner—besides Eddie Jackson, Jack Roth and Jules Buffano — then brought out the very fat Borden Twins. When you got used to those two bouncing beauts, out came Sally Davis, weight 364.

The Schnozz kissed one beautiful showgirl for five minutes. I asked him her name later. "I dunno, Oil," Jimmy said.

Turned out she's Jan Lowe, from Boomer, W. Va. "I'm gonna open a charge account for you at Klein's, honey," Jimmy told her.

Bronx gal singer, Cathy Carr, the Ivory Tower girl, made her debut. She can be the new Dinah Shore. Even the women like her.

Cornel Wilde, Jean Wallace, Jane Frohman, Sophie Tucker, Charles Coburn, Carmine De Sapio and Conn McCreary were in the crowd that howled when Jimmy told Sonny King, "When you talk to me, look me in the eye, not in the nose!"

CATHY

Eddie Hodges, 10-year-old sensation in "The Music Man," wanted money to buy a yo-yo string, but Mom said no. He pointed out he'd won $38,000 on $64,000 Challenge and was entitled at least to a yo-yo. "You'll have to wait till Saturday," Mom said, "when you get your $1 allowance."

The great Eugene Field's youngest and only living child—Ruth G. Field Foster of Tomahawk, Wis., now 64—has written me a thanks letter for mentioning Field's tender poem, "Little Boy Blue."

O. O. McIntyre said that Field "was the originator of the column of today." Although he was a famous humorist, Field's poem about the little boy whose toys still stood through the long years waiting for him to return, touches me more today—now that I'm a father—than it did when I first read it in school back in Rockford, O., 40 years ago.

Get out your dusty dog-eared old poetry book, read it again, and see if I'm right.

Writer Scores Eight-Way Tie

Clocks Swiftest Draw on Video Westerns at 3/10th of Second

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — So it's a dirty trick and I'm a heel and a lot of small boys will be mad at me.

But the facts right off my stop watch are that there is no holder of the title, "Television's Fastest Gun."

I've been clocking the boys all week (what I go through for you readers) and it's an eight-way tie among: Hugh O'Brian as Wyatt Earp; John Payne in "Restless Gun"; "Wells Fargo" star Dale Robertson; Bob Horton in "Wagon Train"; Richard Boone of "Have Gun, Will Travel"; James Garner, the Sunday night "Maverick"; Jim Arness in "Gunsmoke" and Clint "Cheyenne" Walker.

Three-tenths of a second is the best any of the lads could do, leading me to suspect, perhaps wrongly, that the film cutters union has a secret Society for the Prevention of Dethroning TV Western Idols.

But it's nice to know that no one could kill anyone else without getting knocked off himself.

STARTLING FINDINGS

While sitting in front of my TV set with a stop watch, however, I made some startling discoveries that may leave the fast gun set blushing. There's some mighty fast drawing and reaching in TV commercials, too.

Betty Furness, for instance, can open a refrigerator door in 4-10 of a second and on Climax Mary Costa shuts a car door in 5-10 of a second.

Some other TV "fast" record holders:

Girl drawing a cigarette out of a pack, 6-10 of a second; boy drawing a cigarette out of a pack, 5-10 of a second; Julia Meade clicking a camera, 2-10 of a second; used car dealer flipping a price sign, 3-10 of a second; man opening beer can, 4-10 of a second; girl opening beer can, 6-10 of a second.

Better I should have timed the cliches in drama, lazy dialogue writing and commercials that seem to be getting longer and longer. Next time, maybe.

Turkish Head in Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — President Celar Bayar of Turkey arrived today aboard a Turkish warship for a six-date state visit to Libya. He was welcomed by King Idris.

Pierre Legros Writes for Hal Boyle:

Folies Bergere Is Back Nuder Than Ever

PARIS (AP)—The Folies Bergere is back and nuder than ever, right from the opening curtain.

French law requires at least a G-string, and the famed show complies. But the G-strings are so small the girls can take them home in a compact.

The Folies Bergere closed its doors some four months ago when 67 stagehands demanded more money. Manager Paul Derval, who spends half a million dollars on each show, said he had no more money for the stagehands. He let the impression spread that the theater might not reopen.

It was enough for the stagehands. They quickly compromised to the relief of thousands of people around the world whose memory of "Gay Paree" most likely includes visions of leggy nudes from the lavish show.

This year's is about the most risque show ever produced at the Folies. It gets started with a nude girl dancing by a river bank. Along comes a young boy similarly clothed for a dimly lit dance.

Suddenly the lights come up, the nudes are gone and the stage is popdlated with richly costumed girls. This is the formula the Folies has followed since its initial success.

There are splendid costumes, dazzling illuminations, intricate and beautiful settings, beautiful girls, poor music, and worse dancing.

Derval is well aware of these shortcomings. He has no intention of changing the show. He says Folies customers want a visual thrill and he may be right, judging from the crowds.

Derval invented this type show right after World War I and it made the Folies famous the world over.

"What they want," he once said, "are two or three striking effects, feathers, rhinestones and girls, sumptuously costumed or gloriously undressed."

Despite all the girls and their costumes or lack of same, there is not much in the show to shock your maiden aunt, unless she is just opposed to nudity on principle.

Each tableaux is a deluge of color, ostrich feathers, and brocade. More than 1,000 pounds of feathers were used in this year's costumes and several hundred miles of material are draped over the 100 girls who troop about the stage.

The striking effects are the job of experienced stagehands and electricians who probably know more about lighting and female body than did Renoir.

2 Youths Too Realistic

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two youths who tried to create a suspicious appearing scene succeeded all too well. While John McIntyre, 18, drove an automobile, William Whitten, 19, rode in the trunk with his catsup-smeared right leg sticking out. They were arrested and fined $10 each under Toledo's suspicious person charge.

For every ton of steel made in electric furnaces, about 12 pounds of graphite electrodes are used.

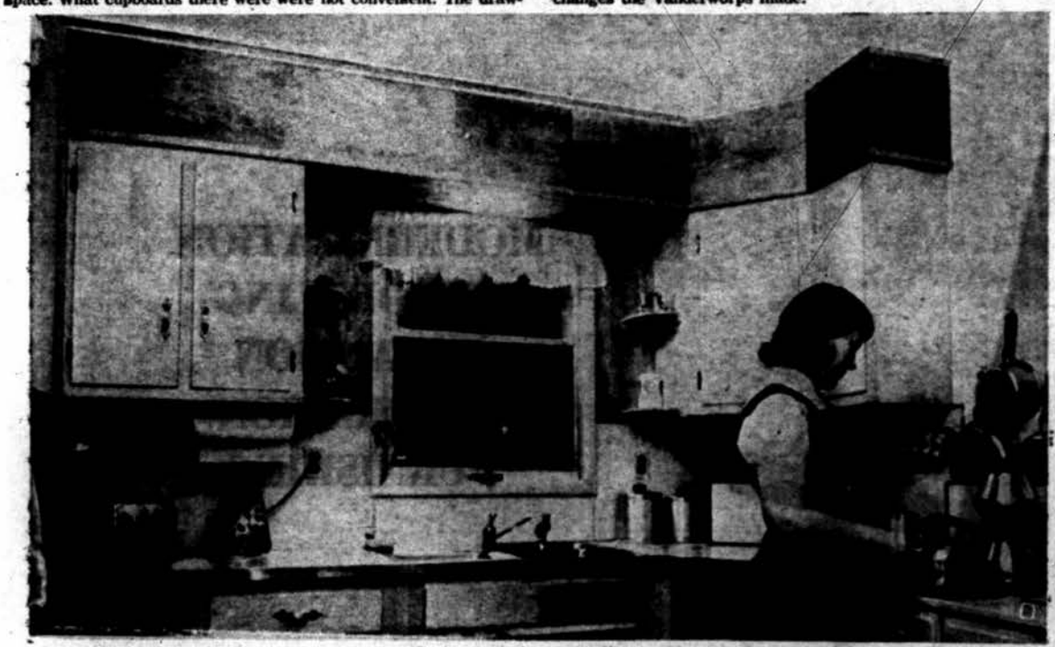
AN ORDINARY KITCHEN — The Edward Vanderworps of 100 West Strathmore were quick to note that their kitchen was nothing out of the ordinary when it came to work and storage space. What cupboards there were were not convenient. The drawers at the right couldn't open all the way because of the stove that had to be in that particular spot. The only light in the room came from a ceiling fixture. See the picture "Now It's Better" for changes the Vanderworps made.



NOW IT'S BETTER — Mrs. Vanderworp now has a continuous Formica counter top adjoining the stove. Birch cupboards with copper hardware were planned for specific storage. In the lower corner cupboard there is a lazy susan. Sliding door cupboards in the soffit take care of items used infrequently. Above the new double stainless steel sink is a new window that cranks open. To complete the remodeling, extra wall plugs were installed

Ceramic Tiles Modernize Top of Old Table

Don't throw away that old coffee table or end table just because the top is scratched—or just because you don't like the way it looks.

Ceramic tile will make it look like new, and without much effort will give it an expensive, custom finish.

If you don't have a table to refinish, you still can make a tile table by using a piece of ¾-inch plywood as a base. Legs can be the inexpensive wrought iron variety, or you can make wooden legs to fit any period furniture.

The first big step is to decide just what color and kind of tile you want. Any tile supply house has displays of ceramic tile in many patterns and shapes. The smaller sizes are probably best for coffee tables and give an expensive appearance.

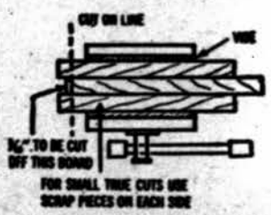
Here's a hint on saving money on buying tile: although the material is comparatively inexpensive, ask for closeouts or leftovers. The small amount needed for a table should make it easy to pick up leftovers.

Give Television Set a New Covering

Use one of the new decorative coverings now available to sharpen the appearance of that battered second television set you have in the children's or recreation room.

There are several new patterns in adhesive veneer that are particularly suited for this purpose. You can do the job in a matter of minutes, for this plastic covered material has an adhesive backing.

All that's necessary is to strip off the protective paper and press the covering into place.



This sketch shows how a wood "sandwich" can be set up for thin cuts of wood. If a vise is not available, substitute "C" clamps.

Wedge-Shaped Cabin Cheap

A San Francisco architect has come up with an amazingly simple design for a summer cabin. Almost anyone can build it who is the least bit handy with hammer, saw and square.

The cabin looks like a huge pie wedge pointed upward. It can be built in any size, but one with a floor 30 by 18 feet can be built for not much over $1,000.

The frame is made of a series of triangular trusses of 2x6 Douglas fir which form an 18-foot triangle and eliminate the problem of studs and cross bracing. These triangular trusses can be precut and bolted together at the top in holes previously drilled. They should be spaced four feet apart so you can make your summer cabin as deep as you care to in four-foot sections.

Windows can be fitted into the four-foot spacing between the framing members and on the same slope. Shiplap can be applied snugly to the frame and then shingles or shakes laid over them to make a warm wall-roof.

The floor should be 2x6 fir porch flooring laid over solid fir frames of 2x10 or 2x12 size. The floor can be extended out from the front of the cabin to make a patio deck. The back of the home can be sided in conventional fir, hemlock or cedar siding and the front facing the patio deck can be all glass, if desired. Heating is a simple problem.

Isn't this a simple design? Such a cabin can be built at the seashore, in the mountains, on a small acreage, or even in the city. The design is striking in appearance and the cabin can be built in three or four days. Wiring and plumbing should be installed by experts.

Sealed Floors Are Tough

When you have your fine new oak floors finished with the modern type of finish known as floor seal, chances are they'll not require refinishing for years. Floor seal, also called penetrating seal, is exceptionally tough and long wearing. In addition it's extremely resistant to scratching, chipping and spotting. Though not as glossy as varnish, it can be waxed and polished to a pleasing luster.

Hang Up Clean Screens

Screens should be washed thoroughly before spring mounting. Fill a pail with a solution of washing soda and water. Use a scrub brush soaked in the solution to loosen dirt, and then hose off the screen and let it stand outside to dry.

WELL-BUILT WALL — A well-built wall holds the key to home comfort and economy. What's underneath the exterior is more important than the looks of the outside.

What's Between Walls Really Counts Most

A well-constructed exterior wall does more than hold up the roof of a house and provide a place to hang pictures.

Besides keeping out rain, snow, dirt, and unwanted visitors, it is a "hiding place" for electric wires and insulation.

Families who are planning to buy or build a home should know that a properly-built wall is as important to their future comfort and security as any component of the house.

What makes one wall better than another? The photograph shows a well-constructed wall with a section cut away to show what's inside. The 2x4 studs (1) are of well-seasoned lumber. If they were green, they might warp, throwing the wall out of line.

The studs are sturdily braced, horizontally (2) and diagonally (3), and get even more strength from the thick (at least ¾ of an inch) sheathing (4).

Vital to health, comfort, and heating economy is the thick mineral wool insulation (5) installed snugly between the studs. The mineral wool blocks the passage of heat to the outside in winter, and from the outside in summer. With at least four inches of ceiling insulation in addition to wall insulation, fuel bills can be reduced by as much as 40 per cent.

Exterior wall coverings, such as the brick (6) protect the wall from the weather and its appearance from the outside. Interior materials, such as gypsum board, function primarily for appearance.

Only Special Paint Can Cover Masonry Well

There are special paints for brick, concrete block and other masonry used for best results. The undercoat is important.

It must remain unaffected by lime — which is present in concrete, stucco and mortar — and it must have covering power. Use either a cement-water paint or oil paint for the undercoat.

Average Basement Cuts Radiation

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — The average American home with a basement can be made into an effective shelter against radiation from an atomic bomb.

Leo A. Hoegh, Federal Civil Defense Administrator, says a pamphlet detailing this and other civil defense precautions will be distributed to the American public soon.

Hoegh told newsmen in the event of a nuclear attack the average home in an area of heavy radioactive fallout would afford protection against half of the radiation hazard existing out of doors.

A normal basement would cut the danger to one-tenth of the outside radiation, he said. A basement which was protected by sand bags or other shielding over it ceiling and at its windows and doors, would further reduce the radiation to one-hundredth of the outside contamination.

Shingles should be re-stained before there is any chance of their starting to deteriorate. New shingles should be dipped in stain before placement.

Electric Gadget Drives Nails at High Speed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's Midwest Research Institute has developed an electric hammer gadget which can drive three nails a second.

B&H Homes Inc., which sponsored the project, estimates one of the devices will pay for itself in six eight-hour days because it can drive nails about five times faster than a carpenter.

The men who developed the gadget, Carl C. Perkins Jr. and Walter D. Hodge, of the research institute, first did basic research. What works best, for instance, heavy blows or fast, lighter taps?

Having obtained such information, Perkins and Hodge came up with a machine looking something like air hammers workmen use to tear up a street.

It weighs 37 pounds and operates on ordinary house current. Nails from a magazine on the side are pulled by gravity into position for nailing.

The automatic nailer is not designed for the do-it-yourself crowd, but for commercial building projects, particularly floors and roofs.

Golden Rules for Neighbors

1. Do you cut your grass regularly, dispose of leaves, weeds, and cuttings neatly, prune trees and get rid of dead branches? Is your alley-side as attractive as your front yard thanks to cleanliness and the camouflage of flowers.

2. Are your porches and steps sturdy and recently painted, your concrete walks even and free from cracks, your railings firm?

3. Is your garage cleared of greasy rags, flammable materials, piles of paper and junk? Is the garage a storage spot for the car plus neatly placed tools rather than an enclosed junk heap? Is your garage door sturdy? Have the windows been washed recently? Have you oiled the door?

4. Do you have separate containers for garbage and trash complete with lids? Are the cans placed out of sight or attractively enclosed?

5. Have your gutters and downspouts been cleaned out? Is your drainage planned to taper off gently rather than flowing swiftly over other's property?

6. Is the outside of your house gleaming with paint? Though individual, does your color scheme fit with adjoining houses? Has your porch and garden furniture been paint-freshened this year?

7. Do you sweep the alley back of your house periodically to eliminate broken glass and spilling trash?

A "yes" answer to every question means you are a person everyone would like to live next to. Even one "no" indicates your disregard for those living closest to you. During Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix-Up time, repair, remodel, paint and plant. From now on, be a good neighbor!

Piggyback Dryer Fits Into Space

Q.—We would like to buy a dryer to match our automatic washer but we have no storage place for the dryer. Can it be mounted in any way over the washer?

WALL INSTALLATION

A—The dryer could be installed "piggy back," as shown in the sketch, by building a platform for it above the washer. Legs of one-inch pipe and a piece of ¾-inch plywood should be strong enough—but be certain the cleats supporting the side or sides against the wall are securely fastened to the wall studs.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK PLAN — A year ago the Press published the plans for a four-bedroom ranch home, HW-50. Gordon Ladd, a local real estate man, liked this plan and has put up a model home from it. Located on Havilla drive (that's east of Lapeer road, north of Silverbell), the house has a brick and siding exterior. The carport at the right is screened from the street by a partial brick wall.

Build or Buy? Check Self

Should you build your own new house instead of buying a ready-made one?

Here are four factors by which to grade yourself as a prospect for a specially designed home:

1. Build, if you own or can acquire a plot of ground in a neighborhood you like.

2. Build, if you've toured the housing developments and inspected individual new homes for sale without finding anything that satisfies you.

3. Build, if your desires are highly individual and you have the plan you want, or if you know an architect who can design these desires into a house.

4. Build, if your budget is flexible enough to meet the cost. Usually it costs more to build a house than it does to buy a ready-built one.

ANY STYLE CAN BE YOURS

What are the principal advantages of building new as opposed to buying new?

Location—You can put the house where you want it.

Style—Any style can be yours if you're willing and able to pay.

Space—If you've owned or rented a house previously, you have a good idea of your minimum space requirements and can provide for them.

Traffic pattern—You know the habits of your family best and can work out the house's traffic pattern accordingly with the architect.

Building materials — You can make your own selection of materials which will give the best service and will look best.

CAREFUL PLANNING A MUST

Other advantages of custom construction include rooms in sizes you like, work and play areas where you want them, and less waste space generally. Careful planning is the most important factor in getting started.

Do keep your financial status in mind so that you will not go overboard in size and style of the house and its equipment.

Do investigate both the architect and-or the builder before you commit yourself.

Do follow the advice of the architect after you have selected him.

Don't change design and equipment after construction actually has started. It will cost you money.

Don't make a nuisance of yourself at the building site. You will slow things down.

Flush Doors Handy for Home Projects

Many home craftsmen have discovered that one of the most economical and convenient ways to obtain a large rectangle of choice hardwood is to buy a flush door made of hardwood plywood. The door size is useful in many projects such as making cocktail tables, vanities, hinged tables and desks.

Flush doors are available at lumber yards and millwork centers fiber yards and millwork centers faced in the most popular hardwood plywood species — birch, gum, maple, mahogany, oak and walnut. Purchased without final finish and before holes are drilled for door fittings, the flush doors are surprisingly low in cost.

Hardwoods generally come from trees with broad leaves. Most softwoods come from evergreens.

Gyp Operators Bloom in Spring

Flowers bloom in the spring and so do the fix-up building gyps.

Many a home owner has invested heavily in what he thought was a needed improvement only to find he had been gypped by a fast-talking operator.

Best defense against the fast-talk artist, is to deal only with architects and reliable contractors and building supply dealers. These are established businessmen in each community whose reputations are their most valuable assets.

Reliable dealers handle only quality materials, such as domestic ceramic tile, well-cured lumber and bricks, and well established heating and plumbing equipment.

Home owners who are planning extensive renovations, especially where structural changes are involved, are advised to engage the services of an architect to draw the plans and supervise the project.

An indication of the potential remodeling market ahead is the latest reported 25 per cent increase in remodeling loans guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration. These loans, called "Title I" by the building trade, totaled $988,000,000 in 1957, and at the end of January were 25 per cent over the corresponding month of 1957.

"This is only a part of the market and generally represents large-scale improvements. Millions of dollars spent on smaller improvements, such as a new ceramic tile kitchen counter or a new coat of paint for the porch, are not reflected in these government figures," says Lamar Brown, architectural director of the Tile Council. "In any case, it is important for home owners to consult reputable contractors and dealers in their communities before undertaking improvements — large or small."

Play Safe With Paint

Don't grope in the dark, taking the risk of dangerous falls! For added home safety and convenience, you can spray such important fixtures as light switch plates, fuse boxes or basement stair treads with aerosol fluorescent paint which glows in the dark. The non-toxic phosphorescent ingredient is completely safe, and sprayed areas will not be visible under natural or incandescent light.

PANTRY INTO NURSERY — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, of Atlanta, Ga., had a walk-in pantry off the kitchen in their home before the baby came. Now they have a walk-in nursery for Christina Louise, their young daughter, shown above with the mother. The baby's bed is built-in, atop convenient wood storage cabinets and high enough so there is no bending over to lift the child. A folding wood gate slides from wall to wall to make the bed a crib after the baby is tucked in.

Acoustical Surfaces Need Careful Painting

Acoustical materials, because of their porous composition, absorb sound in much the same way as a sponge soaks up water. The sound waves enter the absorbent material through the surface perforations and literally wear themselves out by friction in the fibrous maze of the porous interior. The materials most commonly used will absorb an average of about 70 per cent of the sound that reaches them, and some will absorb up to 99 per cent at certain levels.

When you wish to repaint an acoustical surface, make sure first that it is clean. When choosing the paint, select either a water or an oil base type of coating. The important thing is to avoid clogging the holes or fissures with paint. If done with care, acoustical surfaces can be painted any number of times.

Four Hours for 3 Rooms

How long does it take a mover to load and unload the furnishings of a 4-room apartment? Approximately three hours, estimate moving experts, providing there are no extraordinary circumstances. It will require more time if there is a particularly long "carry" from house to van.

Some progressive lumber companies are now using helicopters to seed cutover lands and help guarantee America a perpetual supply of timber. Forest tree plantings on private land were up 30 per cent last year, compared with 1956.

Plastic Blocks New for Walls

An old friend of the homemaker and handy man is wearing a relatively new costume these days. It's plastic - finished hardboard, which now comes in block-and-plank form.

"Blocks" are really small panels, each 16 inches square. Planks are each 16 inches wide and eight feet long. Both are 3-16-inch thick.

While the material is suitable for installation in any room of the house, because of its relative ease of application it seems to me to be a "natural" for use in finishing a basement area.

The baked-on plastic finish takes punishment well and should stand up against the exuberant shenanigans of the youngsters.

The material is available in either solid color or wood-patterned form.

Solid colors range through ten hues, from polar white through a dark aqua. Wood grain effects are authentically reproduced in six lustrous wood tones.

Surfaces wipe clean and are resistant to most substances you're likely to encounter in a home.

Tongue-and-groove construction and special metal clips used in connection with an adhesive for installation leave a finished surface unmarred by nails.

The material can be applied directly to wall surfaces in some instances, or to furring strips placed over the area.

Bathrooms Eliminated by 'Privazoning'

Bathrooms, as we now know them, soon may be obsolete. Modern homes can do without them. Plans for a new house with such revolutionary changes have been developed by the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

The new PFMA design isn't copied from preplumbing days. Instead it introduces a concept which eliminates the bathroom by radically changing the entire bathing-dressing-sleeping area.

The concept is called "Privazoning." Scores of builders and architects already have hailed it as "the most exciting new home change in years."

"Privazoning" guarantees complete personal privacy and comfort for every member of the family. All of the facilities for washing, dressing and clothes storage are grouped together for greater convenience. And what formerly was the bedroom takes on new and greater use as a place for seclusion and relaxation.

A separate dressing room is located adjacent to every bedroom. Individually decorated to reflect the personality of the person using it, each dressing room contains a vanity lavatory, partitioned toilet, clothes closet and dresser. A bathing area, with combination bathtub and shower, also opens into the dressing room.

For 18 months the PFMA made an intensive study of family needs and wants. The "Privazone" home is the result of that study, bringing luxury living to moderate priced homes. It will increase only slightly, monthly mortgage payments.

Many builders have predicted "Privazoning" will set the trend for 1958 and years to come. It's the biggest news in 40 years, some say—one that can eliminate many frustrations from daily lives.

The new "Privazone" design will be constructed in model homes shortly, the association announced.

In papering over flat paint surfaces, be sure all grease and other foreign material have been washed off before starting the job.

Prepare Now for Next Winter

Now that the snow shovel has been stowed away for this winter, (you hope) householders might well make their plans for permanent emancipation from manual snow removal.

Builders of new houses are advised to include a snow removal system in their plans. If the system is installed while the house is under construction, it is a relatively simple project.

The Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau explains that a snow removal system consists of the installation of pipe or tube under the driveway and under the walk as well as any areaway where snow is objectionable. Usually the pipe or tube is laid parallel about 12 inches apart. The top of the pipe is about two inches below the surface of the concrete.

Such a snow melting system can be installed in connection with any hot water heating system, the Bureau points out. The piping in the walk and driveway is connected with the house heating boiler through a heat exchanger.

The water in the boiler is not directly circulated through the coils. This would not be desirable because the water in the pipe must be protected against freezing by an anti-freeze solution.

In papering over glossy and enamel paints, brush on a glue size to prevent any loosening after the paper is hung.

Asphalt Can Go on Low Roofs

If you own a modern house with a nearly flat roof you have an opportunity when it comes time to reroof.

A recently developed roofing application method now permits the use of colorful shingles on low-slope roof decks. It is suitable for new construction as well as for new roofs on old houses.

The method makes possible the use of three-tab, square-butt asphalt strip shingles on roofs with slopes as low as two inches per foot. Previously, a four - inch-per - foot pitch was the lowest for which asphalt shingles were recommended.

Unlike the materials that had to be used for low-slope roofing before, asphalt shingles offer a wide selection of solid and blended colors, ranging from subtle pastels through deeper shades of green, blue, and red to blue - black and black.

The light colors are often chosen for one - story houses because a light roof tends to make a low house look larger. Asphalt shingles usually can be applied directly over old roofing, saving the expense of removing the old material.

Low - slope application calls for two layers of asphalt - saturated felt to be laid on the roof deck before the shingles are applied. These two layers are cemented together along the eaves, in areas where the temperature averages below 25 degrees in January. As a final step, each shingle tab is cemented to the one beneath it.

To Keep Tools Rust Free

Expensive tools are likely to rust in the ever-present dampness of your basement workshop. To keep them rust-free, buy a dispenser bottle made to hold window-cleaning fluid and filling it with four parts of lubricating oil to one part of wood alcohol. With this equipment, you can spray a thin coat of oil on your tools. Warning: Wait until the spray has settled out of the air before light-

Fire Officials Deplore Use of Wood Shingles

BOSTON (INS) — The National Fire Protection Association today expressed concern over the reappearance of wood shingles in Southern California and sections of Texas.

"It hardly seems necessary to observe that in Southern California and Texas prolonged dry spells and high winds are possible and that in these areas conflagration hazards are being created," Percy Bugbee, General Manager of the NFPA, said in a statement.

This type of roofing was responsible, Bugbee said, for fires which in many cities wiped out hundreds of homes in a single sweep a few decades ago.

The official of the non-profit association devoted to fire prevention are now campaigning to eliminate insurance barriers to wood shingle roofs.

"Wood shingles will ignite from a small shower of sparks," Bugbee said, "and when burning give off dangerous flying brands."

Best House Paint Should Clean Self

Planning house painting this season? If so, be sure you pick the type of paint that suits your house.

There are three distinct kinds of white house paints—the self-cleaning white designed for dwellings that are painted all white; a white, non-chalking paint — that also may be tinted—for structures with wood siding above masonry; and high-hiding "one-coat" house paint for refinishing white surfaces in good condition.

Also, there are both "self-cleaning" and chalk-resistant types of white cement and stucco paints for masonry and asbestos shingles and siding.

It is advisable to use self-cleaning exterior white paint where suitable because it stays brighter and whiter and presents a superior surface when repainting is necessary.

To prevent candles from sputtering, dip them in fresh white shellac which has been thinned. This will also keep the candles from bending while stored.

Convert Door Into Closet

Have you ever wished for a closet in the bathroom where you could stash away bed clothes and shoes, or soiled garden clothes?

If you have a panel or solid slab door, you can have one in a short time that will keep the bathroom free of clothes litter. Or if you need an extra storage space in another room, a closet on a door will handle a lot of things.

Sizes will vary depending on the door, but you should use one-inch finished lumber. The depth of your closet will depend on the width of your board.

From 4¼ to 5 inches is about as wide as you'll want without making the closet too big to detract from your bathroom: Splitting a 1x10 should give you the right width.

Toe-nail your boards to the door to form a rectangular box. Be sure that you drive into the solid part of the door or it won't hold. Give yourself enough clearance so that you can get your fingers around the knob.

Also, make sure that you don't have a wall right next to the hinged side of the door so that the closet will prevent you from opening the door all the way.

After you have nailed the board around the door, you can close in your closet by nailing the same size boards on the sides and top. To fill in the bottom, give yourself a depth of one foot so that you can store shoes, toilet tissue and other items.

Regular cabinet door hinges, catches at the top and bottom, and a handle, finish out this closet. You can put hooks inside to hang your clothes on, or you can make some shelves.

Householders with hollow core doors will find that it would be difficult to nail such a closet on and make it hold. However, it could be built to size and then affixed to the door by using angle-braces and bolting to the solid top and bottom parts of the door.

Maybe Winter Hurt Roof

Just to make sure ice and snow have caused no damage, the roof should be a starting point for an annual house checkup. A good time to check is after a heavy rain when wet spots are likely to show. Pay special attention to areas around the chimney.

LINCOLN CREST SUBDIVISION — Brick and horizontal paneling are used on the exterior of this 74-foot long ranch home in Lincoln Crest subdivision on Pontiac Trail between Decker and Welch roads. Features of the homes in this area are Philippine mahogany paneling in the kitchen, two car plastered garages and a recessed utility area between the kitchen and garage. Other features include three bedrooms and two baths, a separate dining room and twin vanities. Lots are all 100 feet or more. Storm sewers, blacktop roads, curbing and community water are paid for by the builder. Paul LeVost is the builder, Robert Serota the designer and MultiLakes Realty the sales firm. The homes sell for $19,950 and up.

Divide Children's Room With Storage Units

How do you split an ordinary sized bedroom between two growing youngsters so each has his own private domain?

For young, growing families which have all sorts of growing pains, solutions to problems like this are doubly important.

Some architects have solved the problem of making a double-header bedroom by the simple expedient of designing a low, movable divider unit not much over five feet tall which effectively separates the bedroom into two zones.

The divider unit can be built of any softwood such a.; Douglas fir or west coast hemlock. These woods are tough and will withstand hardest possible usage.

The divider should contain bookshelves for each child, a place for his game, toy and hobby gadget storage, and possibly room for a kneehole desk. Some of these more elaborate divider units even have space for clothes storage and bulletin boards.

Keep them low, architects advise so you don't turn the bedroom into two cubicles. You can panel the walls in the same wood to give the room even more interest.

The wood divider can be stained, or you can finish it in clear lacquer to show off the grain and texture of the wood. Either way, the unit can be made to look like a separate piece of furniture. It need not be nailed to the floor.

The tendency of "C" clamps to slip on sharp bends and rounded edges can be avoided by filing grooves on jaws coming in contact with work.

ONE MAN'S ACHIEVEMENT — This cedar shake house with white trim and ledge rock front entrance is the handiwork of Blair Dodd of Bender road. Do-It-Yourself Becomes Accepted American Way

The do-it-yourself movement has grown out of the craze category and become an accepted aspect of American life.

And that all-American, the handyman, spent an estimated 8 billion dollars last year on do-it-yourself projects. This figure includes paint, lumber, other materials and tools.

Making it even more impressive, the Do-It-Yourself Information Bureau of New York City, an organization of the trade, estimates that 14 million homes have power work shops, and that 75 per cent of all American homeowners do work themselves.

Do-it-yourself is of course just one part of the home improvement picture.

America built about a million homes last year despite recession and gloomy forebodings. The cost of non-farm residential construction was estimated at 17 billion dollars. The median cost for a single family house was over $13,000.

At the same time, the Home Improvement Council figured that the nation's remodeling bill ran to 15 billion dollars.

The council is sure that there will be still more remodeling this year. For that matter, there have been optimistic estimates on 1958 home construction. And the died in the wool do-it-yourself fan always is optimistic, with or without expert help. His chief danger, in fact, is tackling jobs too big for him and not calling on professional help when it's needed.

More than 10 billion dollars in home loans were made in 1957 by some 6,000 savings and loan associations in the United States.

Easy to Fasten Plywood Paneling With Adhesive

The handy nail is still the most-used means of applying hardwood plywood wall panels but another method is catching on fast with do-it-yourself enthusiasts.

Adhesives are used for a secure bond between the attractive wood panels and the old wall. Behind the swing has been the development of adhesives especially designed for fastening hardwood plywood paneling.

The adhesives are of two types —mastic and contact cement. The major difference between the two is that the contact cement is quick-setting while the mastic takes some hours to set.

When using mastic, the wall is "buttered" with heavy spot applications and the panel is placed against the wall in the correct position. The panel then needs to be shored up for as long as eight hours while the mastic sets.

An easier method is to tack the panel to the wall with nails at the top and bottom where the molding and baseboard will eventually cover the nailheads.

Contact cements are generally fluid and require coating on the wall and the back of the panel. The cement is allowed to dry until tacky, and then the panel is applied to the wall in the proper position. Because the bond is almost instantaneous, it is essential to make sure that the panel is in correct alignment on the first try.

One practical suggestion to allow room for error is to use a long piece of wrapping paper between the panel and the wall, leaving uncovered an area not more than two inches wide along the edge where initial contact is to be made.

If the panel is not perfectly aligned at first it may be adjusted before the wrapping paper is gradually slipped out and the two cemented surfaces brought into full contact. The paper acts as a buffer between the two cemented surfaces — neither will adhere to the paper.

Whenever using adhesives to fasten hardwood plywood paneling, it is important to plumb the wall areas and fill any low spots. It is always advisable to follow the adhesive manufacturer's instructions carefully.

Calcium Chloride Needs Careful Storing, Handling

Calcium chloride often is used to absorb moisture from the air, such as eliminating dampness in closets. It must be stored and handled with care. Keep bags on wood supports away from floor dampness, but not in an attic, where accidental breakage may cause seepage into wood floors and plastered ceilings.

When this chemical is liquefied by exposure to air, dispose of it where it cannot damage concrete or vegetation. It corrodes iron, so flush it well if you empty it down a drain.

Notch Weatherstripping

It's wise never to run radio or television antenna lead-ins over window weatherstripping. Notch the weatherstrip if you must bring wires in through a window. A tight window fit is the purpose of weatherstripping.

Not Just to Hold the Car!

Automobiles have changed the life of most Americans, and now they are changing the very planning of this nation's homes.

There was a time when the carport was an afterthought, a sort of lean-to added onto a home, and most of them looked just like that. Or, if there was room on the lot for a full garage, that building seldom matched the house.

Now, the garage is part of the home, and what a magnificent job the architects have done to create a thing of beauty and convenience. Most carports today are extensions of the home, add length and sweep to the roof line, and give extra size to even the smallest cottage.

But, the architect has made of the carport something more than a shelter for the family rolling stock. It has become a covered entryway to either front or back door. It has likewise become an amazing and intriguing storage area.

Some of the most attractive carports are the most useful. The carport without trimmings is just a roof. But, add a storage wall along one side and it begins to take shape. Generally this storage wall is an integral part of the home, the siding matching the siding and finish of the home.

Some architects have shown imagination by adding distinctively decorative touches to this area of the home. Exposed beam and ceiling decks are popular for carports, with Douglas fir posts and beams used where structural qualities are needed. The ceilings can be either fir or western red cedar. In most cases, these woods are the same as those used on the exterior of the home.

While most carports enter into the kitchen area, a goodly number have been designed to provide a most attractive and inviting covered walk for the main entryway. An interesting use of divider storage walls to separate the garage portion of the carport from the entry walkway has been developed in many homes.

Because a carport must be open at least on the driveway side, it often has a leggy and wide open look. To tone down this architectural problem, fences are being used as screens. If the home is sided in fir or cedar, the fence may be built of the same wood and in the same pattern, whether boards and battens, drop siding or lap siding.

Some of these screening fences show real ingenuity. Some are curved to follow the driveway and succeed in screening the entire carport from the street. Others are hip-high affairs, which add charm and distinction to the home. Some of these lower fences open up entirely new gardening possibilities.

Still another possibility for a divider between entry walk and carport proper is a planter. These can be built of cedar to match the siding, and they can be almost any size and shape. If you have a four-foot walkway along one side of the carport, you will find the planter will get ample sunlight, especially if it is on a southern or western exposure.

Carport storage has been a life-saver for those people unfortunate enough not to have a basement. Carport storage is especially popular with the housewife whose husband has outdoor hobbies like fishing, hunting and camping. Nothing smells up a home more than the clothing and equipment for these hobbies. Now hubby can shed himself of his odors outside the home. He'll appreciate always knowing where his gear is, and with ample carport storage, he'll be able to keep his stuff in good shape, as well as together.

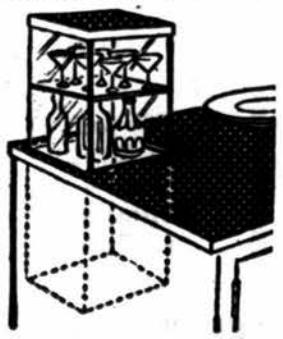
The automobile has brought problems to most American families, but it has also brought many advantages, as witness the triple threat carport.

Waste Space Useful With Elevator Shelf

Q—The space in the rear of our kitchen base cabinets is awkward to reach and most of the time is wasted. Is there any way to put this space to use?

A—One method is shown by the sketch. A carpenter made a "pull-up" shelf unit which sits flush with the cabinet top when not in use. Such units can be made in any size. They can be lifted easily.



Indoor brick walls may be protected against stains by a thinned coat of shellac.

Nail Shoe Moulding to Subfloor at Angle

Shoe moulding is quarter-round moulding—a strip of wood with 2 flat sides at right angles to each other, so that one side fits against the baseboard, the other against the floor. This type of moulding is sometimes nailed to the floor and sometimes to the baseboard.

But it now is generally believed that the right way to nail it is at an angle, so that the nail goes right between the floor and the baseboard. In that way, the nail penetrates the subfloor and holds the moulding tightly in place. This prevents any cracks if either the baseboard or the upper floor shrinks.

You've probably often seen a small space between the floor and the shoe moulding. That takes place when the moulding has been nailed to the baseboard. If the space is between the moulding and the baseboard, the moulding was nailed to the floor.

Textured Paint Good on Wall, Furniture

Textured paint which can be varied in density and color combinations is now available to home decorators. The product consists of colored particles being suspended in a paint medium. Best results are achieved by spraying it on as either a wall or furniture finish.

Different textures are achieved by changing the color proportions or the size of the color particles. Each paint particle is enclosed in its own individual transparent capsule.

ENLARGED KITCHEN — When the Richard Irwins bought an older home on East Iroquois road, they were dismayed by the dark kitchen. Tearing out the wall between the kitchen and the back porch gave them a family sized kitchen about 10x14 feet. Frames around the windows were full of termites, had to be replaced. Pine wainscoting was installed on the walls. After covering the ceiling with acoustical tile, they painted it. Matchstick bamboo draperies soften the light. Mrs. Irwin made the hutch cabinet from a chest that once belonged to her grandmother. She removed the two lower drawers, fastened them to the top of the chest, then painted it all apple green and stenciled a Pennsylvania Dutch design on it.

Outdoor Furniture Takes Touchup

Now is the time to refurbish lawn furniture for soon you'll be head over heels in more pressing outdoor activities.

Wooden furniture usually needs only a quick sanding to scuff off gloss so that the top-coat will hold tightly followed by a coat of fast-drying enamel. Special attention should be paid to areas that come in contact with the ground. Paint them carefully to ward off rot.

Metal furniture that has developed rust spots also needs special treatment. First, sand off all rust, getting down to bare metal. Then "spot"-prime with a metal primer. Use same enamel as for wood.

Here's a good tip if you desire a smooth, tile-like finish. Just before painting, dampen the cellar or garage concrete floor — where you'll doubtless prefer to work — so as to lay dust particles.

Screen Vent Crawl Space for Pest Barrier

If you are one of many who plan to enclose the crawl space under the house, an aluminum vent will solve two basic problems by providing free access for fresh air, along with lasting protection against unwelcome visitors.

Unscreened foundation openings are impractical, since they serve as entry points for insects and small animals attracted by the dark, damp space between flooring and ground. Strong and sturdy, aluminum grille openings will give years of service. Covered with aluminum screening, they'll provide a lifetime, maintenance-free barrier to pests.

Unfinished Wood Takes to Stain and Bleaching

Unfinished furniture comes in pine, fir, poplar, cypress, redwood, maple, birch, beech and gum. According to dealers, gum and pine are most widely sold.

Gum may be stained to imitate walnut or mahogany, or it may be bleached. You can stain pine to a rather good imitation of maple, but an enamel finish is usually preferred.

If you've admired the smart blonde furniture which is so popular, you can get the same effect with an unfinished piece, provided the wood is even in color.

Use rubber gloves while applying the bleach with a rubber sponge. Wet the surface evenly. Bleaches with a hydrogen peroxide base leave nothing in the wood to harm the finishing coats.

When the wood is dry, sand it and finish with white shellac — then wax if desired.

Radiator Can Disappear

Cast iron radiators are much less conspicuous when painted the same color as the wall behind them. Regular wall paint also transmits more heat than gilt or aluminum paints. To figure the amount of surface to be painted, measure the front area and multiply by 7.

Shelves Built in Extra Door

If you're remodeling, or planning to remodel, you may wind up with one doorway too many. But don't wall it up without asking yourself, first, if it would be a good place for built-in bookshelves. If the answer is yes, the problem of what to do with the doorway can be solved with a minimum of effort and expense.

First the door trim is pried off, intact, and set aside. Then the frame is pried out. A new frame, made of white pine, 1 by 12 inches, is set in its place so that the "inside" edges are flush with the wall.

FALSE WALL CONCEALS

This will leave the new frame protruding beyond the wall on the other side, but the projection is concealed by a false wall of half-inch plywood. The false wall also will provide a back for the bookshelves.

Such false walls rob adjoining rooms of only a small amount of space—usually not enough to matter. With the new framing and the backing in place, and the trim restored, all that remains is to build the shelves.

The shelves also are made of white pine, 1 by 12 inches. The shelf supports are made of wood trim, known to builder as "parting stop."

A few tips:

Before you put the shelves in place, measure the books you're going to put on them to make sure the tallest will fit. Then figure out how many shelves you can get into the opening. Don't forget to take into account the thickness of the wood.

If you have any space left over—and you probably will—use it on the bottom or the next-to-the-bottom shelf. This shelf can be reserved for extra-tall books.

Wood Cabinets Sturdy as Well as Friendly

If you want to sell your home or rent your apartment in a hurry, install natural wood cabinets in the kitchen, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association advises. Home builders and apartment developers in all sections of the country give natural wood kitchen cabinets a major share of credit for the quick sale and rental of their properties, according to NLMA.

In a number of apartment projects, wood cabinets originally were chosen for their ability to withstand the abuse of successive tenants. As things turned out, the fashion appeal and warm friendliness of the cabinets proved to be an equally important factor.

DOUBLES SIZE — Businesses like families have growing pains and need more room. For nearly 25 years the Roth Lumber Company has done business in a small building. They recently added 2,500 square feet more and have modernized their showroom. The exterior of the building is aluminum siding.

Bracket Bookshelves Make Custom Built-ins

Bracket bookshelves, America's most popular built-ins, are the easiest decorator way to achieve custom effects in displaying books and objet d'art in any room of the house.

These easy-to-build and versatile favorites can be made to cover an entire wall from ceiling to floor or to fit a special space above a chest or desk. They will accommodate an entire library and the movable shelves provide special places for bric-a-brac accents.

In the livingroom they serve as a decorative core, in a child's room as a place to store toys and valuable souvenirs. They have found their way into the nursery, the kitchen, even as decorative and useful bathroom accents.

The materials needed are:

Peforated metal strips (also called channel irons or standards; available in colors, gold and silver finish, as well as copper and brass).

Brackets (which are inserted in the metal strips and actually hold the shelves). These can be obtained in sizes to hold 9", 10", 11" or 12" shelves 5" to 15' wide.

Woden boards about ¾' thick. They can be painted to match or contrast with the walls; stained; varnished; shellaced; or simply waxed.

Toggle bolts.

The tools required to do the job are a ¼-inch electric drill; the screw driver attachment (used in the ¼" drill to power drive screws in a jiffy); and — if you wish to cut the lumber yourself — a power saw or a saw attachment for your drill.

If you plan to use shelves less than 5 feet long, you'll need two perforated metal strips. Each should be placed 6" in from the ends of the boards. For shelves to 8 feet long, use three strips. If 8 to 14 feet long, use four strips. This is to assure adequate support for the boards.

1. Locate the stud in the wall if possible, for this is the point of greatest strength. Then mark carefully desired holes for attaching the metal strips to the wall, making sure that the top holes are parallel to the ceiling line. (Many homes and apartments do not have straight floors and ceilings, so it is important that the holes be aligned, to make allowance for this).

2. Drill holes in wall and bolt down metal strips.

3. Screw the brackets into the strips at desired shelf levels.

4. Sand and finish to decorator taste.

5. Place the boards on the brackets, sanded and finished to taste.

Vinyl Covering Spruces Up Wall

So you're tired of looking at that gloomy wall — and you're looking for a simple way to redecorate it? Vinyl wall covering may be what you're looking for. A damp cloth will clean it and, because the color is in the plastic itself, it's permanent and can't fade or rub off.

Manufacturers now are making special patterns and colors specifically designed for wall applications. The material weighs less, too, and it comes in a light-weight fabric backing, almost like cheesecloth, which is easier to hang.

Also on the market are a special sealer and adhesive, designed just for vinyl - coated fabrics. It is brushed on—but never rolled on—to keep paint colors and varnish from bleeding through the vinyl, and it can save hours of paint scraping and varnish removing in renovating or redecorating jobs.

Vinyl wall covering is applied in much the same manner as wallpaper but it has the advantage of resisting the tearing and bubbling that frustrate many a do-it-yourself home owner. Vinyl can be applied to virtually any surface as long as the surface is clean, dry, smooth and structurally sound.

Vinyl fabric, incidentally, comes in the 54-inch fabric width instead of the conventional wallpaper width and can be bought by the running yard. Each yard will cover about 13½ square feet of wall.

Dangerous, Unnecessary to Neglect Repairs

If you are neglecting repairs that should be made to keep your home safe from hazards, you are really living dangerously. Lack of paint coating causes wood to rot. Lack of caulking allows your windows to loosen, letting in destructive moisture and wet.

When your credit is good there is no excuse for neglecting the new paint and other jobs which will insure proper upkeep of your house. FHA property improvement loans are readily available. Ask your banker for the details.

Careful Use, Storage Lengthen Brush Life

Treat your paint brushes with care.

Never force a brush into corners or narrow spaces (fig. 1), never use a brush edgewise (2) and never dip the entire bristle length into paint (3). The wrong way to paint a length of pipe or similar round surface is shown (fig. 4) and the correct way is shown (fig. 5).

FIG. 1 FIG. 2 FIG. 3 FIG. 4 FIG. 5 FIG. 6

The correct way to suspend brushes in cleaner is shown (fig. 6). A removable rod, which holds brushes, keeps the bristles off the bottom of the container.

Two Simple Tools Determine Roof Pitch

To determine the pitch of a roof, use a level and square. Place the square's short leg on the roof, as shown in the sketch, with one end of the level set at the 12-inch mark of the square. Raise the other end of the level along the long blade of the square until the bubble is centered. Now read the inches at the juncture of the underside of the level and the square. This gives the pitch — the number of inches of rise in each horizontal foot of the roof.

Slipping bookends can easily be made to remain stationary by cementing a ⅛-inch pad of sponge rubber to bottoms with rubber cement.

Jalousies Trace History Far Back

The jalousie window did not make its bow in the United States until 1935, but its basic idea is so old that it is lost in antiquity.

Spanish countries have used wooden louvers for centuries, calling them "Persianos." The Italians call them "Romanillos." Marco Polo brought gold-plated louvers from China to the Queen of Venice. And the French have used them, especially in North Africa, for many hundreds of years.

When jalousies were first introduced into this country in Florida, they were made of wooden slats set in brass clips. Improvements were rapid, with the biggest development coming in 1945, when glass jalousies won immediate acceptance because they gave added visibility as well as extra ventilation.

Jalousies are still made with wooden or aluminum louvers, but the most popular is the glass-louvered jalousie with aluminum frames and screens.

Keep Windows Locked

Weatherstripping around windows are firmly locked. The Weatherstrip Research Institute says therstrip Research Institute says locked windows not only deter prowlers, but also keep dust, dirt and street noises out.

Two Plywood Cores

Hardwood plywood is available in two kinds of cores. Lumber core is generally used in projects involving work on the plywood edges —dowels, mortising, edge hinges. Veneer core is used where edges are not a factor, as in the case of wall paneling.

Beware-of Unknown Building Contractors!

In the last few weeks, Pontiac area house owners have been flooded with offers of re-siding and modernization jobs "at cost or below."

This is the old "model home" racket in which the prospect is apparently offered a substantial discount if he will only let the salesman use his home as a model.

In a particular instance, the home owner was promised a "$1,600 job for only $1,030." A local contractor's bid on the same job was $850. Other known examples follow the same pattern.

Before you sign a contract, remember these things—

1. If you have signed with a contractor who does not have a state license, your contract is void.
2. If you permit work to be done on your house without a city or township permit, you may be in trouble.
3. Always get at least two bids.
4. For your own safety, deal only with local, reputable contractors.

BI-LEVEL ADDITION — A sloping lot enabled the Leo Sheltons of Crocus street in Lakewood Farms to add a garage, three rooms and a bath to their house. The 24x22 foot addition was the work of Mr. Shelton. As shown in the above photograph, it almost doubles the size of the original house. The main floor addition has a new family room, a den and another bedroom in addition to the bath.

One-Armed Man Does Carpentry

Convinced you're not handy with tools? Then just try to imagine doing carpentry with one hand.

Earl Helder of New Orleans works that way, as a professional. He's had to get along with a left arm only since the age of four when an accidental shotgun discharge blew his right arm off at the shoulder.

About four years ago he began woodworking with the help of his father, a retired dredgeboat operator. But when he started to seek carpentry jobs, it was tough.

"Do you think you can do it?" people would ask.

Helder talked a good job—and then went ahead and did it. He thinks his handicap really is an advertisement.

On the job, he uses his feet as well as his hand and head. To drive a nail, he holds it with his one hand against the hammer shank to get it started, while holding the wood in place with his right foot.

Besides carpentry, he solders tin, paints signs, does concrete work, drafting and furniture repairing. Liking to hunt and fish, he has built 40 pirogues for his own use, only to sell them on request as fast as he finished them.

Partitions Fold in Many Ways

There are more than 25 varieties of folding partitions on the market and they can be divided into three basic types.

A popular type and perhaps heading the list is the accordion partition. It is constructed of light steel frames, which are in the shape of an "X," fastened together and performing in scissors - like fashion. The frame is covered with a vinyl fabric which comes in an extensive range of colors and textures.

Another type is made up of wood slats, about six inches wide, which fold together so that only the ends of the slats are showing when the partition is completely open.

When this partition is closed, it looks like a flush wall of wood with vertical joints and closely resembles wood siding. Nearly any kind of wood could be specified for this type of folding partition in order to fit an interior decor.

Recently introduced is a fairly new type of folding partition, made of composition board or plywood in sections from 12 inches to 16 inches wide. These panels may be painted, covered with a fabric or left in their natural color.

An unusual effect can be obtained by painting the vertical panels in different colors or in different shades of a single color. This type of folding partition is particularly well adapted to large closet fronts. In this case, the panels extend from floor to ceiling and, when closed, appear to be a paneled wall.

Many Ups and Downs

When an elevator is installed in its shaft, the expectation is that it will stay there practically forever. That's why the baked enamel that goes on elevator wall panels, ceilings and doors must keep its attractive appearance despite the constant wear and tear it must endure through many years of uninterrupted service.

Moisture Barrier Explained in Book

A speedier, more economical method for protecting floors against moisture infiltration from concrete slab foundations has been announced by the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association.

Tested thoroughly by the association, the new procedure is recommended to insure a trouble-free flooring installation in any area of the country.

The method saves time, labor and material. It calls for installation of a one-course moisture barrier on top the slab. Formerly the approved system specified a two-course membrane either on top the slab or beneath it before the concrete was poured, or in both locations. Placement of the barrier on top the concrete was mandatory when construction details of the slab were unknown.

The new method is described in a recently revised illustrated folder, "How to Install Hardwood Strip Floors Over Concrete." Builders and lumber dealers can obtain free copies by writing the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association, 814 Sterick Building, Memphis 3, Tenn.

It takes from 3,500 to 5,000 bees to weigh one pound.

THE WORLD'S MOST MANAGEABLE PAINTS

We want you to get acquainted with the sensational new paints that save you up to 50% in decorating time. Here's how: buy one gallon of Jelled Rev Satin or Jelled Magic flat finish, at regular, low price . . . it's enough to paint a large room. Then we'll hand you free a quart can of Jelled Magic semi-gloss, sufficient for all trim and woodwork. (If you prefer, we'll give you a free quart of Liquid Granite, world's clearest, most durable varnish.)

Jelled Rev and Jelled Magic, the new miracle paints, won't drip, spatter or run. Use them jelled or, if you prefer, a quick stir turns them to liquid for delicate brush work or "cutting in." You'll never go back to old fashioned slow-motion painting!

No stir! Stirring once took 10 to 20 minutes. Jelled paints are homogenized, ready to use instantly.

No drip! Even when you work on ceilings, Jelled Rev and Jelled Magic cling to brush or roller—won't drip.

Less dip! Because these paints are "jelled," you can load more on brush or roller—paint longer without dipping.

Curved Table Eases Ironing

Easing the homemaker's work load in one of her most tedious chores, ironing, has been accomplished by making the first change in nearly a century in the shape of the ironing table.

Arc-shaped so the homemaker can use a natural swinging motion of her arm, the new Arvin ironing table not only makes ironing easier but it also reduces ironing time by as much as one-third.

Basic reason the homemaker finds ironing so tiring is that she usually holds her arm in an awkward position up and over the iron to guide it in a straight line.

The working side of the new table is straight from end to end. The opposite side curves gently out from the tip and then swings sharply back at the other end. The curve eliminates the necessity of moving the iron in a straight line and enables the homemaker to guide it in an arc. Guiding it this way also reduces her tendency to push down on the iron, another tiring habit.

Extra width at the center of the board is the greatest factor in reducing ironing time. Because of this width the homemaker can iron larger areas at a time. Articles she's ironing don't have to be moved so often. This is especially noticeable when she is ironing large articles such as sheets, shirts, skirts, tablecloths and other linens.

Another work-saving feature of the new ironing table is the presence of wheels on the rear foot. They eliminate the necessity of ever having to lift or carry the board. One set of wheels operates when the table is set up and the other when it is folded and on end. Together they eliminate about two tons of lifting a year.

Dry Damp Basement With Masonry Paint

Basements that ordinarily are damp all year round and often unusable during the rainy months can be converted into dry, comfortable workshops by using a cement base masonry paint that the average homeowner can apply easily.

Available in a variety of attractive pastel colors, the paint known as Rox is recommended by local dealers who have had experience with masonry paints. They recommend that as a first step in preparing basement walls for painting the homeowner give the walls a brisk "going over" with a wire brush and then wash them down with water.

Any "efflorescence," salts in the masonry, can be removed with etching acid and then neutralized with rinse water. If there's whitewash or calcimine on the walls, this must be removed, owners are cautioned. A good scrubbing with hot water will do the job.

Water soluble, resin-based paints can be removed by a 20 per cent solution of muriatic acid and rinse water. Rubber gloves are suggested as protection for the hands against the strong solutions in the removal of oilbased paints.

It is pointed out that a better bond between paint and the masonry is obtained if all previous paint is first removed. Walls must be allowed to dry thoroughly before application of the masonry paint.

The next step is to lightly dampen the walls (after they have dried out from the cleaning) before application of paint. The masonry must not be soaked, merely wetted down.

The masonry paint may be applied with a scrubbing brush. All depressions and small cracks should be filled with the paint. The paint should be scrubbed into the corner formed by the wall and the floor, coating at least an inch of the floor along the wall.

A second coat, applied after the first one has dried, completely seals the basement from water leakage.

Use a galvanized steel pail rather than the original can when mixing paint. The pail will easily hold a gallon of paint and still have room for mixing space.

Sun Sealed Shingles Cut Wind Damage

There are so many things up in the air these days it's reassuring to know your roof shingles don't have to be among them.

Any home owner whose shingle tabs have been lifted up or ripped off during a storm now can overcome most of his trouble, thanks to a new kind of shingle now available at local roofers or building material dealers.

These shingles, called "Storm King," contain factory-installed bands of an asphalt adhesive that automatically seals each shingle to the tabs of the one above soon after the roof is exposed to the sun. Once applied, these special shingles look exactly like standard square-butt shingles.

The home owner who prefers the traditional square-butt design can now obtain wind protection comparable to that offered by jig-saw-shaped lock type shingles, according to shingle specialists. Before the introduction of the factory installed adhesive to square-butt shingles, such a home owner had to have each of the shingle tabs on his roof cemented by hand in order to make sure they stayed down in high winds.

File Notch on Hammer to Convert to Claw Type

The claw of your hammer is an effective tool for pulling large nails, but you've probably found that it won't pull tacks or brads so easily. The claw fingers are too far apart, and their edges aren't thin enough to grab securely under a small nail head.

To make your hammer a brad-puller, a science magazine suggests you file a small, deep V-notch into the end of one claw finger. This will givethe hammer a second, miniature claw whose thin edges will easily get under small nail heads.

If you aren't sure whether the original finish was shellac, wipe a small hidden area of it with denatured alcohol — which will soften shellac but have no effect on other finishes.

Air-Cooled House Saves Tempers, Time and Money

An experiment by the National Association of Home Builders on 22 houses in Austin, Tex., showed that year-round heating and cooling operational costs averaged $115.65 a year.

Utilities were electricity, gas and water, and the cost would vary in other places with different rates and weather.

While the initial cost would increase monthly payments on a 20-year mortgage by $6, there was an average savings by the families of $5.80 a week on away-from-home summertime eating and entertainment "just to be comfortable."

The research also showed that all members of the family sleep longer and better in an air conditioned home in the summer, and family life was said to be "more harmonious" as a result.

Actual clocking proved that the the housewife's chores — from laundry to general cleaning — took less time, and the conclusion was drawn that she was "more inclined to fix more substantial meals and desserts than those in non-air conditioned homes."

Light Colors Counteract Lack of Windows

Nowadays many apartments have a window only in one end. Even though it may be a large picture window, the opposite end of the room is sure to be shadowy. One of the best corrections for that is to paint the walls and ceiling a light color and upholster or slip-cover the furniture in light gay pale gray, with sofa and chairs colors.

An attractive decor seen recently, showed walls and ceiling of pale gray, with sofa and chairs slip-covered in bright yellow rough textured material.

Don't apply paneling over masonry walls without first waterproofing them and providing vertical furring strips with a 2 inch space beyond the end of each for air circulation.

New Paint Breathes, Lets Moisture Out

Guaranteed five years against peeling, a new house paint called Pentasil, is making its appearance on the home upkeep scene. It is effective on wood, stucco, cement, brick and asbestos shingles.

Application by a trained expert insures that this new coating is put on properly and that it will allow inner moisture to escape freely. Containing Silicone water repellents, Pentasil has been tested for 12 years.

Interested home owners can see this new house coating at the Home Improvement Show to be held April 24-27 at Miracle Mile.

Use Broadside Only

A wide paint brush should never be used edgewise. Such abuse will cause "fingering," or clumping of the bristles. If you need the edge of a brush in a corner, remove the fingering quickly by giving the brush several strokes broadside.

Questions and Answers

Q—Our basement floor has a constant coat of gray dust no matter how much we sweep. What can we do about it?

A—The dusting can be stopped with a mixture of three pounds of zinc sulphate and one gallon of water. Mop the solution on the floor and let it dry for a few days.

Q—What's the correct height from the floor for a wall socket?

A—From 12 to 18 inches in most rooms. A 48-inch height is recommended in kitchen, laundries and workshops.

Q—How can oil stains be removed from a concrete driveway?

A — Scrape off any oil crust which has accumulated. Then scrub the spot with gasoline and again later with warm, soapy water. Finally, rinse the driveway with clear water. If the stain has soaked into the concrete, wash with a 10 per cent muriatic acid solution, or with a strong solution of washing soda.

Check Boundary Lines Before Building House

More than once a house has been built on the wrong lot. Houses often are built closer to land boundaries than the law allows. Trouble results.

An Atlanta, Ga., lawyer tells of a man who bought a lot on a curving street where lots were 70 feet wide and 350 feet deep. After his house was finished, he found he had used the front corners of his own lot but the rear corners of the next door lot. He was forced to buy the adjoining land.

LOWER AND WIDER — This is the Willie Collins home today. Gone is the peaked look over the door. A porch of knotty pine with an aluminum roof broadens and shortens the house. Other awnings on the side windows dispel the vertical look. To complete the job the Collins added new cement steps and a fence around the front yard.

Line Up Workmen Now for Summer Building

One of these week-ends soon you'll be going out to your summer place — be it great or small — to get things ready for the summer. Are you contemplating any remodeling before the family moves in? If so, don't wait any longer.

Builders and contractors get mighty busy around this time, so get in touch with them before it's too late. And make sure they're reliable contractors. Best way to judge that is to check on the materials they use. Do they specify ceramic tile, copper piping, quality glass, well-known brand paints? A shoddy contractor uses shoddy materials.

Ocean waves attain a height of 70 feet or more.

Preparation Needed for Effective Painting

When decorating fever hits you during Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up time, wait a while before picking up your paint applicator. First of all, a few simple instructions should be followed to insure satisfactory results.

One of the first steps is an inspection of the surfaces to be coated. Cracks, large and small, should be taken care of immediately. Small hairline cracks can be filled with spackling material. Since it sets very rapidly, you will be wise to smooth the surface before the filling material is quite dry. This will reduce the amount of sanding necessary later.

In applying the filler, you can use a putty knife, an old kitchen knift, or even your finger and thumb. Larger cracks will probably need to be filled with patching plaster.

To prevent the plaster from falling out, it's a good idea to cut out a triangular channel in the plaster along the line of the crack — this channel should be narrow at the surface and wider inside. Then the plaster is fed into the narrow opening. Once the plaster is thoroughly dry, sandpaper the patches until they're even with the surface.

Dust all your walls with a dry mop. Where grease is present, it will be necessary to wash down the walls. All waxy or glossy surfaces should be toned down with sandpaper.

Remove all "hardware" before you begin to paint. This includes light switch panels, light fixtures, door handles and panels on electric outlets.

Be certain to cover all furniture and your head before you start painting. It's a good idea to rub a protective cream onto your hands and arms—then you'll easily remove any paint splatters.

After you have read the manufacturer's instructions on the label and followed all of his suggested preparations, you'll be ready to begin painting.

These simple rules will make your painting easier and faster, and before you know it, you'll have a whole new room or house, just as spring-like as the budding outdoors.

Removing Plaster Is Better Than Patching

It's not practical to attempt to fill the cracks in a plaster ceiling because the new plaster will need more support. As shown in the sketch, remove the plaster on each side of the crack to a distance of about 6 inches. Then place a strip of metal lath in the clearing, nail it to the old lath, and fill the opening with new plaster. Do this in thin layers, permitting each layer to dry slightly before adding the next one.

Invisible Armor Applied

United States Plywood Corp. announces an "invisible armor" to protect the grain of fine wood doors, called Evergrain. It is a hard clear resin overlay which is formed to the wood surface under factory-controlled conditions. The firm says that super resistance to wear, damage and exposure takes the product completely out of the class of conventional wood finishes.

Unusual Use of Studs

When you mention 2 by 4's most folks think of the 2 by 4 wood studs used to frame the walls of houses. That's one of their most popular uses. A more unusual use for 2 by 4's, reports the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, is to skim slag from molten iron. A metal skimmer would melt, the lumbermen point out.

VERTICAL LINES — This picture taken of the Willie Collins home at 473 Alton avenue shows how the narrow windows and peaked door canopy make the house look too boxy. That is just what the family called it, "a matchbox." After studying the problem they came up with an attractive solution (see picture titled "Lower and Wider").

For Safety's Sake Check Your Wiring

An important checkpoint during Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up time is your wiring system. This advice is especially applicable if your home is ten years old or more. Estimates are that eight out of ten houses in that age bracket can stand rewiring.

The rapid advances in electrical equipment have often strained the systems installed before the new appliances became so widespread in homes throughout the country. The most obvious symptoms of over-loading trouble are: Fuses blowing, flickering picture on TV, fading lights, slowness of operation of appliances.

electrician check to see if you have adequate electrical support. It takes adequate electrical support. It tak but a little while for a check and it can mean safety and comfort for your family. Check Up at Clean Up time!

Wax Mellows Floors

If you want your wood floors to develop a mellow patina similar to that which characterizes a valuable antique maintain them with a polishing wax. To get the wax well into the wood of a new or newly sanded floor buff the wax into the "raw" wood to which no sealer has been applied. Use an electric polisher for the buffing and give the floor another coat of wax whenever needed.

New Tile Cement Better

A new type cement can cut the labor, time and cost of installing ceramic tile. At the same time, the new material has about double the bonding strength of conventional mortar, according to the Tile Council of America, whose research department developed it. A one-sixteenth-inch layer of the new material has twice the bonding strength of a one-inch bed of regular tile-setting mortar, and eliminates the necessity for soaking tiles before setting.

Sliding Shelves Do Away With Clutter

It's possible to almost double the usable space in a linen closet with a minimum of effort and cost and the simplest tools.

What this does to relieve the clutter of towels, wash cloths, sheets and similar items is amzing.

The average linen closet has three or four shelves. They may be about 36 inches long and 18 inches deep . . . or perhaps 18 inches long and 36 inches deep . . . with about 24 inches between each shelf.

There are several ways to go about adding to the shelf space:

You can place an "extra" shelf between each of the present ones. Or, you can turn much of the present stationary shelves into sliding ones so that nearly every bit of them can be used easily. A combination of these probably is best.

Also, consult the lady of the house. Nine chances out of 10 — whether you're a beginning do-it-yourselfer or an "old pro"—it will come as a surprise to find that she's been reconciled for years to having a jumbled mass of linen in the linen closet.

THE STACKING PROBLEM

The reason is simple. Towels and wash cloths are changed frequently in the bathroom, so they're stacked to the front. But there are two types of towels and wash cloths—"family" and "company"—and the company kind, because they're not used as much, go to the back of the shelf. Sheets, tablecloths and other linens aren't changed as often as towels, further complicating the stacking problem.

So, when the wife wants, say, a "company tablecloth," it's usually at the back of the shelf under a pile of towels. She will have some very definite ideas on how she'd like to stack linens for the most convenience.

The easiest job is to install a shelf between each of the present ones. First, lift out one of the present shelves. It will be suspended from two strips of wood nailed (or perhaps screwed) into the side of the closet. You will need two similar strips for each additional shelf (1-by-2-inch furring strips are excellent) nailed through the closet wall into the studding the same as the originals.

Lumber yards carry one-inch shelving in a variety of sizes. That six inches or 12 inches wide is the most common.

MEASURE OLD SHELF

So, if your closet is 18 inches deep, get one board six inches wide and another 12 inches. As for length, measure an old shelf. The lumber yard probably will cut it to the correct length with little or no charge.

Slip the shelving on top of the furring strips, and, presto, you have the shelf. (These widths, incidentally, are what's called nominal. A six-inch board will measure a little less. It won't be very noticeable—assuming you don't have power tools to cut them to correct size—if the shelf sits in a little from the front.)

Wood Puts Life Into Stairwells

Stairwells don't have to be just a bunch of stairs slapped into a hole. They can be attractive without costing a fortune.

Many homes are reached from garages below by way of stairwells which open into the living level, and in this case especially, the stairwell should be an integral part of the home.

Recent experiments made by inquiring designers have developed some utterly charming stairwells which readily become an outstanding feature of the particular home or apartment.

One favorite device to glamorize the stairwell is to use wood in contrasting forms. Western red cedar is especially popular because the wood has a soft warmth about it, so your battle is half won.

There are several patterns for cedar paneling and siding which can be used to dress up the stairwell. There is the conventional cottage siding with a wide tongue and groove; there is an inverted batten type, one with a simple V-pattern and one of a board-and-batten style.

Stairwells can be built with a different style or pattern on each wall and this is particularly effective when cedar or its companion woods, Douglas fir or west coast hemlock, is used. All three of these woods come in a variety of different patterns.

If the stairs are located in a dark area without outside light, you will want to use the lightest possible wood, such as cheerful, blond west coast hemlock. Douglas fir can also be finished in a light, bright color by the application of clear lacquer or varnish finish.

Care Needed to Cut With Hacksaw

If you do much metal-cutting, it's a good idea to have several kinds of hacksaw blades on hand. The general principle is that fine-toothed blade should be used for cutting tubing and thin stock, a coarse-toothed blade for cutting thick stock.

Hacksaw blades have so many teeth per inch. Therefore, for cutting sheet metal and tubing, you would use a blade with 32 teeth per inch. For thick stock, it would be a blade with 14 teeth per inch. And there are other teeth sizes in between.

To insure good results, use light pressure when sawing with a fine-toothed blade, heavy pressure with a coarse-toothed blade. And always remember that a hacksaw blade cuts only on the forward stroke, which means that the blade should be lifted the tiniest bit from the work on the return stroke.

Try Cooperative Loan

It's the same in housing projects as in anything else. Cooperation enables you to undertake a housing project which would be out of the question on your own. Many cooperative group members have acquired better dwellings by sharing in the benefits of an FHA loan.

Drips Can Spoil Good Basement

A cool, dry basement can be a comfortable summer living area, and moisture-proofing is a good springtime chore.

To prevent a basement from becoming a dank hole, first plug up all the obvious sources of moisture. Here, according to the Tile Council, are some points to check:

1. Backfill against the foundation may have settled, permitting surface water to drain towards the foundation. A few loads of dirt can remedy this.

2. Be sure water from downspouts also drains away from the house; an extension on the spout or a drain slab will often do the trick. Be sure gutter drains are clear—overflow can cause moisture in upstairs walls, too.

3. Basement floors of colorful and durable ceramic or quarry tile in the laundry and recreation rooms will help guard against moisture. The ceramic tile itself is waterproof.

4. Check the inside of the foundation for cracks that may be admitting moisture from the soil.

5. Wrap exposed water pipes with insulating material — there are several types on the market — to prevent condensation and dripping.

6. Be sure laundry facilities drain properly, and it's a good idea to vent basement dryers to the outside.

7. Chinks between the floor plate and foundation should be caulked. Warm, moist air filters through the cracks and condenses on contact with the cooler basement air. Caulking the chinks will also prevent drafts from cold winter winds.

Booklet Shows Way to Own New Home

How can we own a home of our own? This is a question asked by many a family today who sees a big slice of its monthly income going down the drain for rent.

Operating on the theory that a new home is a family's best possible investment, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association has just issued a small, free booklet entitled "How You Can Own a New Home."

It will be sent without cost to anyone writing the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, Room PR-24, 1410 S. W. Morrison St., Portland 5, Oregon.

There are many valuable tips to prospective homeowners in this fact-filled booklet. It shows how to go about setting up a down payment fund and how much you can expect to pay monthly for homes in different cost ranges.

It is easy to see, says the booklet, that a new home is the most important and valuable investment you can make.

"Shall I call Frank Lloyd Wright for a consultation?"

Hidden Furnace Needs Air

GIVE IT AIR — You may want to hide your furnace from sight if it is in a room you use often. Louvered doors will do the job, yet provide plenty of ventilation which is essential.

Aluminum in Demand Throughout Bathroom

For the bathroom in need of remodeling, aluminum shower and tub enclosures are an ever-popular favorite. Aluminum tile, with anodic and enamel finishes, is ideal for renovating bathroom walls.

Easy to install, the product offers excellent resistance against cracking, spawling or fading. It is available in a myriad of colors to blend with every decorating scheme.

Can't Paint Over Wax

Wax always must be removed from any surface to be painted. Otherwise the paint will not adhere. For removing wax, use turpentine or a special wax remover.

Celebrate 46th Clean Up–Paint Up–Fix Up Week

Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up—very familiar words to readers of The Pontiac Press. However, did you know that this program of civic betterment and beautification is now 46 years old?

To all who are participating in the Pontiac area's efforts, the story of the birth of the Clean Up program should be not only interesting but inspirational.

The founder of National Clean-Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Bureau was the late Allen W. Clark of St. Louis.

Few men have taken keener pride in the achievement and progress of their home communities than Mr. Clark.

Successively a school teacher, newspaper editor, merchant and publisher, he was ever eager to give freely of his time and effort to further any worthy public cause for community benefit and he was obsessed with the idea of being a good citizen and a good neighbor. His intense interest in community welfare plus a story about Venus de Milo are credited with inspiring Mr. Clark to establish the Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up movement in 1912.

★ ★ ★ ★

The inspirational story goes something like this:

In a tenement district lived a family surrounded by filth and dirt. The whole atmosphere of the little room which they called home was one of hopeless depression and squalor. To prove the power of suggestion, a good woman placed on the table a miniature statue of the Venus de Milo.

Against this grimy background of dirt and wretchedness, the Venus shone out in all her whiteness and purity, elevating and brightening her strange surroundings. The good woman called a week later and found that the place had been straightened up, the dirt had been washed away, and a pathetic but sincere attempt at decoration had been made—the subtle influence was effective.

From this story Mr. Clark reasoned that the reconditioning and beautification of a single property in a dingy environment would stand out in such sharp contrast with its neighbors that others would soon reflect the same good example.

Mr. Clark's first intention was to call the movement just the "Clean Up Campaign." The "Paint Up" was added at the suggestion of Harold S. Buttenheim, Editor of the American City Magazine in New York, on the ground that merely cleaning up would in many cases achieve only shabby respectability, and that property should not only be clean, but beautiful enough to inspire respect and subsequent preservation in good condition.

"Fix Up" became part of the official title of the National Bureau in 1947. Local communities have also, at will, attached "plant up," "light up," "dress up," "modernize," "Beautify," etc. to the campaign name.

From these beginnings of long ago, the program has grown today to some 6,000 annual campaigns, not only throughout the United States but to many foreign countries.

But the basic idea remains the same: If the homes in a neighborhood become weatherbeaten and shabby, values in a neighborhood deteriorate. On the other hand, if one house owner cleans up, repairs, fixes up, paints and beautifies his home, it radiates its attractiveness in every direction. Others follow the good example and soon the whole neighborhood is bright and attractive.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — This is the way the Ralph W. Brown house at 7488 Sweetbriar, Westacres, looked just after it was built 20 years ago. The front part with the little high window was the garage. The cement block was unpainted.

TWO YEARS AGO — Taken just before the Browns started an addition to their house, this picture shows how landscaping and a little white paint improved the looks of it. The rooms inside remained unchanged.

TODAY — This is the Brown home as it looks today. The remodeling is complete. The old garage with its window enlarged, is now a bedroom-den. Between the original house and the new two-car garage is a new living room. The old living room becomes a dining room. Paneling is used on the exterior walls of the living room.

Do's and Don'ts Are Listed for Lumber Buyer

Select lumber has a minimum of defects and usually is used for quality work, while common lumber, although it does have defects, is suitable for general all-around purposes. Also, there are different grades within each of those categories.

Keep in mind that the size of lumber is set at the mill before it is surfaced and therefore comes to you with slightly smaller dimensions; a 2 by 4 is closer to 1⅝ by 3⅝ inches than it is to 2 inches by 4 inches.

Remember that the hardwoods (birch, maple, oak, walnut, hickory, elm, etc.) come from trees with broad leaves which are shed seasonally, while the softwoods (pine, fir, spruce, redwood, etc.) come from the evergreen type of trees with needles.

Don't forget that you can sometimes save considerable time and money by slight changes in the dimensions in your project to fit standard sizes of lumber, thus eliminating much cutting and keeping waste to a minimum.

Don't store lumber haphazardly; lay it flat with small blocks of wood between boards to allow sufficient air circulation.

Regular Care Pays Off

Check roof gutters and downspouts regularly to avoid moisture penetration problems. Either wood or metal eavestroughs should be kept clean and well painted.

Kids Safer in Play Area

The Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up period is also safety time, and it's a wise parent who takes this opportunity to check on where the children are playing. Even the most careful motorist can't always swerve to miss darting childish figures. The safest place for children is in their backyard or neighborhood play areas.

Almost any yard provides enough space for horseshoes or croquet. And for your make-believers, an old blanket, sheet or spread discovered in your attic clean-up will become a "gang" tent, providing much adventure and amusement.

Some of the dilapidated wooden furniture discarded from basement or garage can be given a coat of paint and then it will provide the furnishings for a wonderful outdoor play house. A bushel basket mounted on the garage still provides wonderful basketball practice, with your special team member out of the street.

If your neighborhood is clearing a vacant lot, a rough baseball diamond or a football field is a possibility. Family garden plots, with a friendly rivalry among neighbors for the fastest growing or biggest flowers and vegetables, will stimulate some youthful farming.

Remember, one of the purposes of Clean Up Week is promotion of safety. A bit of thinking and a few "props" can transform your yard or neighborhood lot into your children's favorite playground—and the dangerous street will be deserted as a play haunt.

To test the safety of a ladder, place it flat on the ground and walk on the rungs. This precaution may avoid a nasty fall.

Stove Drops Into Cabinet

A new drop-in top for a built in gas range is available that requires no cutting out of the kitchen cabinet. Controls are on the top surface, eliminating the need to cut out the front of the cabinet. The new top is only three inches deep and will fit above the drawer space in most kitchen cabinets.

Louvered Windows Convert Porch to Room

Jalousie windows have won popularity in all parts of the country for their many unique, convenient features, not the least of them being that handy home owners can install the units themselves.

They are ideally suited for converting breezeways, roofed terraces and screened porches into rooms, but their applications extend to any room of the house.

Here are a few of their features:

Inside and outside glass surfaces can be cleaned from indoors simply by rotating the louvers; broken panes can be replaced just by slipping them into place, no putty needed; glass of any color can be inserted as louvers, or steel, wood, plastic or composition materials can be used in place of glass; units can be made to fit almost any size of opening.

Louvers are opened and closed by turning a crank, or by moving a lever up and down, and can be locked in any partially opened position. They are so easily installed that in many cases they cost less than ordinary windows.

This is how one popular make is installed:

First measure to the nearest ⅛ inch the inside height of the opening the sash is to fit into and select stock-height louvered-window fittings to match. If there is no stock fitting equal to the opening in height, two smaller fittings may be mounted one on top of the other or one set of fittings cut down to size.

Width of the opening is important only in that it should not exceed 40 inches. If it exceeds 40 inches the opening should be divided into two or more sections by mounting window fittings back-to-back and bolting them together or by installing wooden mullions (vertical uprights) to section off the opening.

Fittings mounted back-to-back (without wooden mullions) need to be held rigid where they meet top and bottom of the framed opening. Small boxlike metal spacers are first screwed to the frame at those two points then the fittings are slipped over them and fastened together. Spacers are ordered from your window dealer.

Fittings need to be installed square with the opening and plumb. To fasten them to wooden mullions use 1-inch or longer wood screws or rust-proofed nails.

For a seal at top and sill of the opening install ⅜-inch horizontal stops. Top and bottom louvers of the sash close against them. The window sill may serve as bottom stop. Stops should fit lightly against glass in closed position of sash.

When installing the sash fittings, check on which side of the opening the manufacturer advises placing the operating handle.

Order glass of proper length to extend between fittings. Long edges of glass should be roughed with a soft stone held at 45-degree angle to remove sharpness, then install. Difficult operation of window may be caused by glass being too long or uprights not vertical and parallel. Relieve this by shortening the glass, screwing fitting tighter into the uprights or by repositioning it carefully.

Scrub Rust Off Tools

Tools and other unpainted steel objects that have become dark, or started rusting, can be brightened in seconds with a typewriter eraser. The mild abrasive in the rubber scours metal clean without scratching it. Occasionally, an eraser used for this purpose should be scrubbed clean itself with sandpaper.

New Flat Lamp Light of Future

Electroluminescence—a new kind of light—may foreshadow a brilliant future for walls, ceilings, even wallpapers which will glow when current is applied.

Basis for this possible revolution is the electroluminescent lamp. Flat and unobtrusive, the lamp is made from two sheets of electrically conductive material. One sheet is a metal backing, the other is of transparent enamel to let light out.

Sandwiched between the two is a plastic or ceramic sheet impregnated primarily with zinc sulphide powder. When wires carrying alternating current are attached to these flat conductors, the lamp lights.

The sheets can be made in any size or shape giving them adaptability for use on any type of surface, flat or curved. They can also be made to glow with any color. Possibilities for use are infinitely tempting.

Flexible nylon panels have even been developed which could be made into draperies. Experimental rolls and sheets of electroluminescent wallpaper have been produced. Easily cut with scissors, the paper is about as thick as the cardboard backing of scratch pad.

Present widespread use is hampered by several barriers. Besides the cost barrier, voltages higher than presently found in the ordinary household circuit would be needed to insure enough light.

Finland's pavilion for the Brussels World's Fair of 1958 will be constructed entirely of wood to resemble a woodpile.

The number of feet of hardwood flooring needed for any room is figured by adding certain percentages to the floor area. For the standard 2¼-inch face width, add 33⅓ per cent; for 1½-inch, add 50 per cent; for 2-inch, add 37½ per cent. Then in all cases add 3 to 5 per cent for waste in cutting and fitting.

Clean Up Time Pays Family Dividends

You may have thought of the cost of fixing up and decorating your home during the coming Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up program. But do you realize that a small outlay of time and money is going to actually pay you large dividends.

A house and yard that have been thoroughly cleaned, repaired and planted will give you added realty value should you wish to sell. Clean premises will considerably reduce the chance that you will ever stand over a rubble of what was once your home and your cherished possessions, gutted by fire.

Your family will enjoy better health as mosquitoes, flies and rats lose their favorite homes of filth. There will be fewer chances of accidents to toddlers and elderly persons since you will have followed Clean Up safety suggestions.

Your children will learn the thrill of working together for a common goal in contrast to challenging society as juvenile delinquents. And you will have increased enjoyment from living in clean, attractive surroundings.

NARROW KITCHEN — In the Tom Reynolds house on Pinegrove the kitchen is long and narrow like one in a train. Mrs. Reynolds is well pleased with all the work and storage space she has. Cupboards are natural finish birch. The folding partition at the end of the room, hiding the utilities, is Philippine mahogany. Architect and builder was Mr. Reynolds.

IT'S DONE NOW — For three years Tom Reynolds of South Pinegrove street, Elizabeth Lake, worked on this five-room house. With the exception of the plastering and some of the plumbing and wiring, he did the complete job himself. There's a large living room with dining ell, a kitchen and three bedrooms. The exterior is brick and siding. The Reynolds moved in before any of the decorating was done.

Group of Small Mirrors Cheaper Than Large One

A good solution for a dead wall in your house is a full size mirror, but when you learn the price, you may decide to leave it blank. However, you can get the same effect as a full mirror by using inexpensive small mirrors and putting them together behind a moulding.

Actually, the effect can be even more dramatic sometimes by painting the moulding to match or contrast with something in the room. If you want to use imagination and vary the sizes of the small mirrors, you can attain another striking effect.

First, decide what area you want mirrored, and the size of the mirrors. Next, cut strips of wood three-eighths of an inch wide and an eighth of an inch thick. Nail these to the wall with small brads so you can slip the mirrors into them in the pattern you want.

It is safe to nail these light strips into a plaster wall but they will not hold on sheet rock. To overcome this, you can start by nailing a piece of quarter-inch plywood to the studs behind the wall, then brad the strips on this.

Because the double strength mirrors are so light, the strips don't have to carry much weight. Now you'll have to have strips three-quarters of an inch wide and an eighth of an inch thick. One surface of this should be smooth because it will be the outside facing.

Now, with your strips up, place each piece of mirror into its hole and center the moulding over the strips to hold it in place. Use a small level to make sure everything is plumb. Also, it's easier to run long strips of molding either horizontal or vertical; then after you have all the mirrors up, finish by placing the rest of the moulding between the long sections.

Stucco Must Be Firm

Before painting stucco, examine it carefully for any loose particles which should be removed to insure a firm paint base. The stucco should be bonded tightly to its base. Pry into any break with a putty knife to see if patching is needed. A good, long wearing house paint is suitable for older stucco houses, but the newer rubber base masonry paint is formulated to give longer lasting results.

Readybuilt Home Has Practical Advantages

Most families, faced with the decision to buy a new house or build one, find the solution in their own pocketbooks.

Here are some major advantages that may sometimes be found in buying a new, ready - built home, as compared with building a specially - designed home.

1. Overall financial savings. Development builders and small contractors buy materials in large quantities at lower costs. They buy land in large chunks. Their labor costs often are lower.

2. Less cash outlay and lower interest rates. Development buyers and some small contractors have financing setups which can result in lower down payments.

3. Land development and utilities. New homes built for sale almost invariably are on developed land — with paved streets, sidewalks, sewers, water lines and utilities.

4. Landscaping. Most large builders and some small ones include grading, landscaping and driveways in the house price.

5. Quality materials. Reputable builders choose good materials which are installed with less trouble.

6. "Luxury bonuses." Builders often add sales features such as expensive wall paneling, basement game rooms and even small swimming pools.

Most building authorities agree, however, that one of the biggest mistakes home buyers can make is to spend their housing dollars for luxuries and fail to get good basic design and construction.

How can you avoid this trap? Here are some questions to ask yourself — and the builder, if necessary — as you go through model houses:

How many are in my family, how much room do we need?

Will the house be comfortable in hot and cold weather?

Are electrical outlets where you need them? Is there enough current in the house?

Finally, do you know and approve of the builder's reputation?

Wood Shades Vary According to Kind

If you want to know what kind of wood to use for certain interior decorating effects, here's how the National Lumber Manufacturers' Assn. classifies natural color tones.

Light to medium colors include ponderosa pine, southern pine, Douglas fir, Idaho pine, sugar pine, Englemann spruce, west coast hemlock, Sitka spruce, white ash, birch, black gum, hackberry, hickory, pecan, magnolia, soft maple, hard maple, red oak, white oak and yellow poplar.

For woods running medium to dark in color, use western red cedar, southern cypress, California redwood, larch, brown ash, butternut, cherry, chestnut, red gum, American walnut and mahogany.

Floors Go Down Last

The last step in construction should be the laying and finishing of hardwood floors. Never lay hardwood flooring until plastering and cement work are thoroughly dry and woodwork and trim are installed. This is a tip from the experts.

ONCE A FARMHOUSE — It still looks like the farmhouse it originally was; but now this home at 2515 S. Lapeer road has three apartments in it. The ten-room house contains a three, a four and a five-room apartment. The old woodshed is a living room; an enclosed rear porch a bedroom. Two kitchens were made from the farm size kitchen — 15x18 feet. The real estate firm of H. P. Holmes, Inc., owns the building and handled the remodeling.

Room Divider Has Double Job

How does one go about separating a dining area from a living room in a small home without erecting a solid barrier between the two.

One of the most successful solutions to the problem is a screen divider supported by floor-to-ceiling posts which simulates a solid wall. These dividers, in marking off the two areas, give added individuality to each room without estranging them.

With an eye towards the room's dimensions and form, the divider can either be nearly ceiling high, or merely a token wall of 4 or 5 feet in height. Usually, it's best to leave at least two feet of open space between the top of the divider and the ceiling, for even though you can't see over such a divider, the openness at the top visually enlarges both rooms and seems to establish an unbroken flow through the area.

Dividers are apt to look like temporary partitions unless they're given a distinctive personality of their own, and architects accomplish this by using distinctive materials which make the divider stand out as an individual element of the room. One of the favorites is, of course, wood, both by virtue of its natural beauty and its flexible versatility. A rich wood like western red cedar is sure to mark the divider as an original piece, yet blend with and compliment existing room decor.

Space seems always to be at a premium, even in larger homes, so architects take advantage of the divider's presence by assigning it duties such as the housing of hi fi equipment, china and silver, or miscellaneous bric - a - brac, but since nearly everyone has a collection of books they want to keep close at hand, the living room-dining room divider most often takes over the function of a bookcase.

To obtain a silvered or weather effect finish on close-grained wood use a coat of gray stain. When it is dry, rub the surface with a soft rag and small amount of white paint.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE SHOWROOM

BIG PLAY ROOM — The Jack Barrons of North Cass Lake road built themselves a 35x17 foot recreation room in their basement. Side walls were paneled in Masonite, then varnished. End walls and the piano are painted pale blue. The floor is brown-toned asbestos tile. Cushions on the long bench are alternately red and gold. There is storage under this bench accessible from the other side of the wall. The Barrons have made full use of their basement and have several other rooms in it, as well as work and storage space.

Warm Walls Necessary to Comfort in Room

Ever have the puzzling experience of feeling chilly in a room you knew was warm? You weren't imagining things.

Heating experts say cold walls are one of the biggest barriers to winter comfort, even when the room temperature is up around 80.

The walls cause the body to lose heat so quickly that a person begins to shiver.

Insulation is a remedy. A wall adequately insulated will be up to 10 degrees warmer than without insulation.

There are two main ways insulation keeps walls from robbing the body of its heat. The first is the prevention of drafts. When a wall is cold, it refrigerates the air near it.

Cold air is heavier than warm air and so it sinks, sending drafts of chilly air along the floor. The cold walls keep sending new supplies of cold air, which keep the drafts going.

With insulated walls, no discernable amount of cold air comes off the walls and objectionable drafts disappear.

Warm walls also reduce body heat loss through radiation. Did you ever sit before a roaring fire and feel warm even though the air in the room was cold? What happened was that the warmth of the fire was radiated to your body in the form of heat waves. You were warmed even though the air around you was not.

When the walls are cold, the warmth of your body escapes to the walls by the same heat waves. The colder the walls, the faster the heat loss. When the walls are warm, the radiation, for all practical purposes, is stopped.

Calcium Chloride Does Double Duty

The addition of calcium chloride to water in fire buckets can prevent freezing at 50 degrees below zero. Such a solution resists evaporation and prevents stagnation with its attendant breeding of mosquitoes.

One pound of calcium chloride to one gallon of water lowers the freezing point from 32 to 24 degrees. Three pounds brings it down to 2 below zero. Five pounds per gallon defies freezing at 52 blow zero.

Always add the flakes to the water — never pour the water on the flakes. Mixing causes heat, so prepare solutions in separate tanks to cool before filling galvanized containers.

Metal Lath Forms Cone to Act as Lamp Reflector

Want to make an inexpensive, indestructible lamp reflector with simple form and beauty? The only materials needed are the rigid or metal lath used by plasterers — and aluminum foil.

For an average size torcher lamp with a diameter of 24 inches, start by cutting a circle out of the lath with wirecutters. Sheets of this lath in 4 by 8 feet sizes, as well as smaller sizes, can be bought at lumber yards.

After getting the desired size circle, cut straight to the center, then make several small cuts inside the center. These latter cuts will make the hole for the socket and the lamp.

The circle now should be shaped into a cone and the depth of the cone will depend on how high you want the reflector to stand. A good formula for the height is to make it just high enough to hide the bulb when the top of the lamp is at eye level.

From the cone, snip off the triangle of excess metal lath left where you join it together at the cut. Use the wire from the lath on the cut seam to hold the cone together by hooking it into the lathe holes and bending it securely.

You now have a cone of metal lath with a hole in the middle. You couldn't make it perfectly round but this can be overcome by making a scallop effect. Shape the cone with your hands by pushing it in slightly at the top, permitting the crease to diminish as it gets to the base.

If you push it at, say, four points of the compass, there will be eight indentations in between. Snip off any wire points that stick out on the outer edge. Metal lath comes in black but if you want it another color, you can spray it with lacquer.

The final step is to line the reflector with heavy aluminum foil. Use two pieces, one for each side. Press it into the bottom, allowing it to form against the scallops. Now crinkle the ends of the foil that lap over the outer edge and roll it around the unfinished wire.

in Place With Grips

It's easy to make an extension ladder stay in place at the bottom.

Fashion a pair of grips from heavy strap steel and attach them to the lower outside faces of the ladder legs with heavy bolts and wing nuts, as shown in the sketch. At times when the grips are not needed, loosen the top nuts and remove the lower nuts and bolts. The grips then are turned up on the ladder legs and bolted out of the way.

Buy House During Thirties

The average age of home buyers, says the Federal Housing Administration, is between 34 and 36. Typical of the new home buyer is the man 34½ years old. The typical buyer of the older house is slightly more than 36 years old.

Special Type Nails New for Paneling

When installing hardwood plywood wall paneling over basement walls of concrete block or other masonry, a new twist can save you lots of work.

Furring strips can be applied to the new mastic-anchored nails rahter than using a star drill to drill out holes in the concrete for wood plugs. Small flat metal plates with projecting nails are applied to the concrete with mastic.

Tiny holes in the plates allow the mastic to ooze through for a secure bond. Place the plates wherever you intend locating furring strips.

Then, instead of driving any nails, the furring strips are impaled on the nails. The nail tips are hammered over, and the plywood panels are fastened to the furring strips.

Civil Defense officials suggest that seeking shelter on the first floor of a frame house would cut exposure to atomic radiation by 50 per cent.

MORE CONVENIENT — The Clark Jeffers who live on Cooley Lake road had a big kitchen with an outside entrance. There wasn't enough cupboard space and the working area was inconvenient. Mr. Jeffers changed all this within the past year. What was once a tiny bedroom next to the kitchen and part of a too big bathroom became a utility room with the new outside entrance. A divider wall in the kitchen marks off the new eating area which has pickled pine wainscoting. Pink tile is used on the kitchen walls, along with pink paint. New linoleum and new cupboards completed the job. Three-year-old Vanessa and her six-year-old sister, Jenny, have an afternoon snack in the breakfast room.

Check Suspected Area for Termite Damage

Checking for termite damage is not difficult. The only tools you need are hammer and ice pick.

Tap beams with the hammer to detect hollow spots. Wherever a hollow sound results probe with the pick to check extent of damage. Check especially the sill and the stud ends resting on the sill. Where damage is extensive, repair, or even replacement, is called for.

With your ice pick, probe areas in which wood rests on the ground or close to it. Wooden steps, door sills, the base of doors, old tree stumps, siding that is close to the ground—all are spots to check.

Cracks in the foundation should be sealed with cement. A metal cap along the top of the foundation, if a house is just being constructed, is a prudent installation to consider.

Openings in this area in an older home can be filled with cement.

Where cracks and openings are numerous, construction of a cement barrier may be in order. Dig a trench about 18 inches deep around the foundation.

Make it just wide enough to provide working space. With plywood sheeting, make a form so that your cement barrier will be about four inches thick.

Fill the area between plywood and wall with a mixture of one part cement and three parts sand. Allow to dry for a few days. Remove form and paint the barrier with creosote. Fill the trench with dirt, but don't fill it above the barrier.

Once you have placed a barrier between soil and wood, the termites in the wood will die and termites in the soil will have to seek food elsewhere.

Baseboard Heat Better With Age

Ever since it was introduced about 12 years ago, baseboard heating has been improved in appearance, in performance, and in ease of installation.

Baseboard for heating is now made in standardized lengths for convenience in storing and faster installation. Time is saved in cutting and fitting the baseboard on the job.

Accessories such as access doors, covers, and front corners are made to snap on quickly on the job.

Improvements in construction have increased the heating capacity of baseboard. The high capacity developed makes it possible to heat most rooms adequately with baseboard installed only against outside walls.

Baseboard for heating is available in varying heights. It can be otained in sizes that will permit installation under low picture windows.

Another comparatively recent development is the use of the baseboard itself as a main, carrying hot water from room to room with the minimum amount of piping.

Baseboard can be used in modernization as well as in new construction. In modernizing the heat transfer units in older houses it is necessary only to replace the conventional wooden baseboard with the heating baseboard.

In 1950 the average new home buyer settled for 894 square feet. By 1956 he wasn't satisfied with less than 1,104 and the upward trend is continuing.

Heat Treatment Helps Brushes Straighten

To straighten striping pencils, lettering brushes and touch-up brushes that have been standing in paint cans for some time, dip them in machine oil. Then heat a piece of metal such as the top of a tin can over a small flame.

Place the brush flat on the heated metal. When the brush begins to sizzle from the heat, shape it with a piece of wood or cardboard until the brush regains its original shape.

FASHIONABLE FENCE — A woven fence that continues the pattern of the woven carport wall can add greatly to the attractiveness of your home. Such a fence, made of Masonite, has a graceful appearance whether it merely screens a certain section or completely encloses the yard.

Weave Fence With Hardboard Strips

Woven fencing which blends with a similar carport screen can add a strikingly pleasing touch to your yard while at the same time providing privacy and shade.

Easy to erect, the woven fence offers several advantages over wire fencing, especially if it is constructed of hardboard panels cut into strips. In addition to the privacy feature, such a fence offers great variety. You can have any color desired, several types of hardboard can be used, the fence won't sag with age, it's easy to maintain, and it gives a yard a neat appearance.

Opportunities to express individuality are almost unlimited.

It is easy to attain either complementary or contrasting effects with woven fencing. For instance, both a carport screen and fence could be constructed with horizontal strips of Masonite Tempered Presdwood to form a flowing continuity in design. Or, the Presdwood strips could be applied vertically on the carport screen and horizontally on the fence.

A desirable effect can be created by interspersing strips of "Peg-Board" in the fence and carport screen. This provides variety within a pattern and also serves a utilitarian purpose. Such strips are ideal for hanging potted plants, garden equipment, tools, and many other items used in the yard.

Four-inch square posts should be used as the framework for a woven fence and carport screen. They can be spaced either four or eight feet apart. If these main posts are eight feet apart, 2" posts should be placed midway between each post and the hardboard strips woven about them. Hardboard panels ¼" thick should be used for the fencing.

The strips should be fastened to the posts and spacers with 5d galvanized siding or box nails spaced not more than 4" apart. There should be half-inch spaces between the strips.

Tempered Presdwood and "Peg-Board" panels 4' wide and 8' long. These can be cut into strips by the craftsman or the lumber dealer will be glad to do it. Strips shouldn't be more than 12" or less than 6" wide.

After being erected, the hardboard strips should be painted on both sides. Here again is an opportunity for individuality. Although only one basic color should be used, alternating strips may be painted different shades for contrast.

Fence posts should be painted before the hardboard strops are nailed in place. A piece of hardboard 4" square should be nailed on top of each post as a "cap" to prevent moisture from soaking into the post

Plans for woven fences and carport screens can be obtained free by writing to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting plan No. AE-296.

Let Moisture Out of House

Nothing ages a home or vexes a homemaker more than peeling paint and wallpaper or cracked ceilings, especially if she has redecorated recently.

One of the chief causes of such aging is water vapor from cooking, washing or clothes drying which passes into the walls and ceilings. The more labor saving appliances your home has, the greater the danger from moisture damage.

Home improvement specialists have compiled some simple rules that will enable housewives to prevent such moisture damage to ceilings and walls. The rules are:

1. If you dry clothes indoors, either on lines or in an automatic dryer, keep the drying room well ventilated and close it off from the rest of the house. Drying clothes indoors is a leading cause of moisture.

2. Put on the kitchen exhaust fan or keep a kitchen window open while washing dishes or cooking. Room ventilation is also a must while your washing machine is running.

3. Open the bathroom window after taking a bath or shower to let moisture escape outside but keep the bathrom door closed to prevent moisture from reaching the rest of the rooms.

4. Air your entire house regularly, especially in winter. This lets moisture out as well as letting fresh air in.

Many Ways to Finance Improvement Projects

Thinking of modernizing your home? Possibly bringing an old bathroom up-to-date? Improving a heating system? Adding a powder room? Remodeling a kitchen?

All of these and many other home improvement projects can be financed in various ways. There is a financing plan to suit the individual needs of every homeowner. Plan your financing carefully and you will be able to enjoy your improved house to the fullest.

1. See your plumbing-heating-cooling contractor. Usually the simplest way to finance improvements in your plumbing-heating-cooling equipment is to let the contractor who does the installation arrange for the financing. When your contractor makes an estimate on the cost of the job, he will be glad to break it down into monthly payments for you.

2. Banks and building and loan associations. Most lending institutions are actively seeking to make home improvement loans. With the necessary security in property, insurance, or stocks and bonds, you can usually arrange a low interest loan at a bank.

3. Open-end mortgage. An open-end mortgage simply means that a homeowner can reborrow some of the money he has already paid on his present mortgage. Payments on the new loan can be made by raising the present monthly mortgage rates, or by keeping the extending the mortgage contract for several additional years. In either case, the interest rate of the additional loan remains the same as the original mortgage.

Second mortgage. Many banking agencies holding a mortgage will grant a home improvement loan if the borrower has good credit. This type of a loan generally carries a lower interest rate than non-mortgage plans.

Title I home improvement loan. The Federal Housing Administration insures low-interest home improvement loans by qualified lending agencies. Under this plan, the homeowner can obtain a loan of up to $3,500 and he must repay in five years.

VA loans. Veterans may set aside part of their $10,000 "GI" mortgage for home improvements. This loan is insured by the VA and obtained through private banking institutions.

Personal loans. Such loans usually have short repayment periods and high interest rates. However, they may be obtained easily for amounts between $300 and up to $2,500.

The important considerations in a home improvement loan are these: How much cash can you get; how much do you have to repay (the difference is the cost of your loan); and how your repayments will be scheduled, monthly payments the same and ANYONE HOME? '— Something's wrong with the doorbell on this home. A little checking would have corrected the trouble. How's YOUR doorbell working these days?

Doorbell Can Go Dead Half a Dozen Ways

Grumble as we so often do about having to answer the doorbell, it's even more bothersome when this gadget ceases to work properly.

The first you will know of the bell's indisposition is when someone pounds at your door. Previous to this, someone may have told you that they called but you weren't home. But, in all probability, it won't be until after the door-pounding episode that you'll check the bell.

To locate the trouble, first check the push button. Remove the screws that hold it to the door frame. There are two wires connected to the back of button. If they've worked loose you've found the trouble.

Loosen the two screws which hold the wires and scrape wires lightly with knife blade to remove any possible corrosion. Replace. If you still get no action when you push the button, "short" across the two screws with screw driver blade or a piece of wire. If bell rings when shorted, the trouble is within the button itself.

In some push buttons, the front is removable. If you can reach the contact points, clean them with fine sandpaper or emery cloth. If this is impossible, install a new button.

Another possible source of trouble is the bell itself. Look for the same conditions you looked for when you checked the button — loose wires, dirty contacts. Or the bell clapper may be bent or broken.

If both button and bell check out all right, look for trouble at the power source.

If yours is an old house, the bell may be powered by dry cells. In newer homes, a transformer is used to step down the voltage of the house current so that there is just enough to operate the bell.

Dry cells over a year old are likely to have lost their power. To test them, connect a short piece of copper wire to one of the terminals of one cell. Then touch the free end to the second terminal. A live cell will spark—no spark and you know you have a dud.

The transformer is generally located near the fuse box. It might be fastened to the wall or ceiling of your basement, or could even be mounted on the fuse box itself. There are two sets of terminals on every bell transformer—primary and secondary.

To the primary terminals are connected two wires from a power line or the fuse box. These carry the house current. To the secondary terminals are connected the bell wires.

Determine which are the secondary terminals and then work with the secondary terminals ONLY. If you stay on the bell side of the transformer, there is little danger of shock.

Check connections and see that they are tight. The easy and sure way to check the transformer is to connect a bell in good working order to the secondary terminals and see if it rings. Lacking a spare bell, check the transformer by placing the blade of your screw driver across the SECONDARY terminals. If you get tiny sparks, there's nothing wring with the transformer.

There's always a slight possibility that the wires from the fuse box are not tightly connected to the transformer.

Before you do anything at all to the primary connections you should turn off the power at the master switch. If you are not sure that the power is off, remove the fuse that serves the transformer circuit.

If your tests indicate that the main wires were loose, tighten and check the secondary terminals a second time.

Should the transformer need replacing, connect the new one in exactly the same manner as the old one was connected. Again turn the power off.

To repeat: As long as power is on, confine your transformer testing to the secondary terminals — the terminals on the bell side of the transformer.

Another — and infrequent — source of trouble is the bell wiring itself. Make a visual check of the wires for possible breaks. These can be repaired by splicing the ends of the break and covering the splice with friction tape.

"The way I see it, Ted, the handiest household labor-saving device women have is us!"

Truss Roof Saves Money

home may find they can get more house for the money by asking their architect or builder for a "truss roof" instead of conventional roof construction.

A truss roof is erected on a bridge-building principal in which angled supports put the entire weight of the roof on exterior walls. No load bearing partitions are needed.

Truss roof construction saves money in two important ways:

1. They usually are framed with 2x4's instead of more costly 2x6 and 2x8 rafters.

2. With trusses, partition walls don't have to be put in until much of the interior work is completed. An overall floor, for example, can be laid without tedious cutting and fitting around partitions.

Wallboard or other drywall finish can be installed all around the labor costs. Wiring and plumbing interior perimeter at a savings in also go faster.

A further advantage is that a truss roof always is a pitched roof. This means an attic space which can be ventilated for more summer comfort, plus an area usable for light storage.

Asphalt shingles also can be applied on a pitched roof, giving the home-owner the advantage of a roof in his choice of colors, or in heat-reflecting white.

Although truss roofs are most commonly used on one-story houses whose attics are not designed for living space, there is a special type of truss roof construction which allows for an expansion attic.

Screwdriver Care Recommended

Don't try to drive a screw until you have first made a starting hole with a brad awl, plus a pilot hole with a drill if the material is hardwood or if you're using a large screw.

Don't use a screwdriver for prying, chiseling and other purposes for which it is not intended.

Don't follow the generally-recommended practice of rubbing soap on the threads of a wood screw, since it encourages rusting; use paraffin or a regular screw lubricant.

Don't forget that, while it is possible to reshape a screwdriver blade tip on an emery wheel, holding it against the wheel too long will draw the temper and make it soft and useless.

Architect Likes All Wood House for Naturalness

In an age of plastics, miracle fibers, and other synthetics, wood still is man's most "home-like" house building material, in the opinion of New York Architect Norman Cherner.

"Wood is warm, alive, exciting," Cherner says. "Nothing made by man can ever replace it."

Cherner, who designed the International Trade Fair House which attracted thousands of visitors in Vienna, Belgrade and other European cities, adds:

"I prefer an element of naturalness in my homes. I agree with Frank Lloyd Wright in that respect, at least. I like things organic natural. That's why, I stress wood siding and millwork in almost all my houses."

The architect also stresses wood windows and wood siding materials because "wood goes with wood. In fact, I like to go all out and use French doors in rows and big banks of windows, with plenty of wood parts for their special eye appeal."
