Hospital attendants said Jerry Poynter, 13, of 3032 Churchill Rd., who suffered severe head injuries, is in poor condition. Gerald Mather, 18, of 2196 Glendale, suffered a skull fracture, and a broken leg and ankle. He is reported in critical condition.

They started driving north on S. Squirrel road after leaving a birthday party in honor of Phyllis at the Upchurch home.

Virginia told deputies she didn't know what happened when the locomotive, on which W. R. Bradley, 59, of 67 Elwood St., was en-

Ask Kyes' Ideas About Academy

House Armed Services Group Eyes Initial Plan for Air Force School

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roger M. Kyes, deputy secretary of defense, was called today to give administration views on a separate Air Force academy to the House Armed Services Committee.

The committee is considering a bill to authorize the academy and permit initial planning, with funds to be appropriated later. The cost is estimated at 100 million dollars.

A civilian committee would investigate prospective sites, with the final selection to be made by the secretary of the Air Force.

Chairman Short (R-Mo) said the committee would hear no testimony on a site for the school and wanted no part in determining it. Short predicted the bill will be approved by the committee.

6 Killed as Jet Rams 2 Homes in Long Beach

Four Others Are Injured When Plane Pulls Out of Dense Clouds

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Shrouded in rain clouds, an Air Force jet fighter plane rocketed into a Signal Hill residential district late yesterday, demolished two homes and exploded, set fire to a third home and damaged a fourth.

Six persons died and four were injured, two so seriously they may not recover.

In addition, an elderly man, horrified at what he saw, suffered a heart attack and died.

The hurtling plane ripped out telephone lines and broke gas mains that erupted into geysers of flame. Blazing jet fuel cascaded over what an instant before had been a quiet neighborhood in the oil producing area, which is completely surrounded by the city of Long Beach.

The pilot, Maj. Robert A. Blair of Omaha, Neb., was among the dead. A boy perished in the street where he was playing.

"There were flames everywhere, in the houses, spread across the street and shooting from gas mains," said Mrs. Dorothy McCormick, who said she was almost knocked off a chair in her home by the blast.

The F86 Sabre jet was one of two returning to the Long Beach Municipal Airport from Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., when they were enveloped in dense clouds. Both jets raced out to sea, then swept in under the clouds. One made it to the airport, but Maj. Blair's craft sheared off the top of a fir tree in front of a home for convalescents. This house was not

Defendant Kills Jurist on Bench

Judge Allison D. Wade Shot to Death in Court at Warren, Pa.

WARREN, Pa., (AP) — President Judge Allison D. Wade of Warren County was shot to death while presiding in his courtroom today by a man cited for non-support payments to his wife.

The man, identified as Norman Moon of Connellsville, Pa., later shot himself six miles west of Warren after a bullet from a state policeman's gun halted his car. He is reported in critical condition at Warren Hospital.

Dist. Atty. Myer Kornreich said the shooting occurred just as Judge Wade called Moon to the bench to explain why Moon was in arrears of his support payments.

Kornreich gave this description:

"I saw Moon open his coat and caught a glimpse of a holster. I knew right then what was coming.

"I started to run out of the court room to call the police and Moon fired at me. I kept going. As I was going down the steps to the first floor, I heard four or five more shots.

Getting to my office I telephoned the state police and borough police. When I got back upstairs I knew the judge had been hit. He was either dead or dying."

Judge Wade, 51, was elected president judge in 1941 and re-elected in 1951.

Judge Wade was graduated from Pennsylvania State College. He also attended the University of Southern California, the University of Buffalo and the University of Virginia.

Before being named judge, he was county solicitor for two terms. He was former Young Republican chairman of Warren County and Young Republican national committeeman.

Ike Would Let Congress Decide Strike Ballot Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is leaving up to Congress whether a workers' strike vote should be taken before or after a walkout.

The President declined at his news conference to say whether he regards his proposal for a strike vote as "must" legislation.

Such a vote was among the recommendations he sent to Congress Monday in outlining a 14-point program for revising the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

In his special message, the President phrased his strike-poll idea in general terms. He said that since going on strike and thus losing pay is so important to the individual worker, he should have a chance to "express his choice by secret ballot held under government auspices."

This left it unclear whether the President had in mind a poll taken before a walkout or after the workers were on strike.

Reporters were primed with questions on this uncertainty when Eisenhower met with them.

First off, the President was asked to clarify whether the strike ballot system he proposed was intended to apply before a strike could begin.

Eisenhower declined to give a direct answer.

He said in making the recommendation he was trying to establish a principle—that he carefully avoided spelling out exact details because that is the province of Congress.

The President added he would accept anything along this line that looked to be the most practical and feasible under the circumstances.

Eisenhower declined, also to say whether he regards any of his Taft-Hartley proposals as "must" legislation.

He declared he is going to fight for his entire legislative program but he said he is not going to decide at this time which parts of it are the most and the least important.

U. S. Considers Sale to Soviets

Export Firm Asks OK to Sell Cotton Seed Oil and Butter

WASHINGTON (INS) — High Agriculture Department officials confirmed today that the U.S. government is considering the application of an export firm to sell about 20 million pounds of butter and seven million pounds of cotton seed oil to Soviet Russia.

Commodity Credit Corporation President Howard H. Gordon said the final decision will be based on administration policy.

He explained that the proposal now is before the advisory committee on export policy, which includes representatives of the Agriculture, State, Defense, Commerce and Interior Departments, the Foreign Operations Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission.

A Commerce Department spokesman said two applications have been made by the Honey Mead Product Company of Mankato, Minn., on behalf of European firms.

President Eisenhower told his news conference that he had checked with the Agriculture Department today and was told that no such proposal is under study.

The President said, however, that the whole question of surplus disposal is under continuing study.

The Commerce official said also that the application calls for outright sale of the commodities to Russia and that a rumored barter deal under which America would receive Russian gold and minerals has been ruled out.

Gordon said he believes the export firm sees its bid as a possible opening wedge in trade with Russia. He explained that if the administration decides to carry out the plan, other applications will be made immediately to sell government-owned commodities behind the Iron Curtain.

The U.S. now sells various nonstrategic commodities to Russia, but is prohibited from sending any strategic commodities there.

The March quota is the same as that previously announced for February, when the selective service call was reduced from the 23,000 level maintained since last July.

Including the March quota, 1,643,000 men have been drafted or earmarked for involuntary service since the resumption of selective service in September, 1950.

Dulles Will Oppose Split of World Power With Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will meet the Russians in Berlin soon, firmly pledged against any deal to divide the world between the rule of Moscow and that of the Western Powers.

There is no plan for a "partnership division of world power with those who suppress freedom," the secretary said last night in an address to the Council of Foreign Relations here.

Dulles made these basic points:

Future diplomacy—The United States, Britain and France will negotiate at Berlin for the unification of Germany and the liberation of Austria. The aim is to "advance the cause of human welfare."

The way to a cold war victory—If the free nations devote themselves to promoting freedom, they will effectively demonstrate its advantages to people behind the Iron Curtain, thus offering "our greatest hope" for solution of the Soviet problem. Dulles said there is now, even within Russia, a test of strength between the people and "the powerful rulers."

For related material see David Lawrence column, page 6.

Free world security—The Eisenhower administration has made a "basic decision" to build its security upon "massive retaliatory power" so that Russia may be deterred from attack.

Allied strength—Until the six-nation European Defense Community is set up, the North Atlantic Alliance "and indeed future peace, are in jeopardy." Dulles, who calls EDC the only hope for easing French-German tensions, said Communist agents regard those tensions as a fuse for setting off "international arson."

Bipartisanship in foreign policy—Dulles made a bid for Democratic support by saying that many policies of the Truman administration "were good." He mentioned Greek-Turkish aid, European economic aid, the breaking of the Russian blockade of Berlin, the fight against communism in Korea and the military buildup in Europe.

'54 Legislature Faces 100 Bills

Gov. Williams Requests $28.8 Million Building Fund at New Session

LANSING (UP)—Approximately 100 bills were poured into legislative hoppers today as lawmakers convened to start their annual 1954 session.

Both House and Senate formally met at 12 o'clock noon with Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid, Detroit, presiding in the upper chamber while Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg, Kalamazoo, rapped the lower chamber to order.

One of the first items of business in the senate was the swearing in of newly-elected Senator John Minnema, Traverse City Republican, who was chosen in a special election to fill the vacancy caused by death last Oct. 20 of Sen. Felix H. H. Flynn, of Cadillac.

The Senate had only two absentees while in the House 94 of the 99 members answered roll call. The House had one vacancy in the Oakland third district resulting from resignation Dec. 15 of ex-Rep. Howard Estes, Birmingham.

As lawmakers convened Gov. G. Mennen Williams submitted requests for a $28,800,000 state construction program.

Legislators also found on their desks the governor's recommended budget, calling for expenditure of $365,000,000 in general funds for state operations in the fiscal year commencing July 1.

Backs Bid for Time to Vacate Projects

Pontiac City Commission last night approved a resolution asking the federal government to extend by six months the time limit for families to vacate Parkview and Crystal Beach wartime housing developments.

The resolution was submitted by Oakland County Industrial Union Council, CIO. It said unless time was extended many families would be left homeless in July.

Last June the government said it would abandon the projects and asked residents to move by June 31, 1954.

About 40 families have been moved from the two projects and their dwellings boarded up. Parkview, at South and East boulevards, consists of 100 family units. Crystal Beach, at south end of Lake street, has 80 units.

Helicopters Sent to Alps' Victims

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—The U. S. Air Force sent helicopters into Austria from Germany today to help in rescue operations in the avalanche belt where giant snow slides have claimed 200 victims.

The helicopters were ordered to join ground parties seeking to get help to injured and homeless Alpine villagers in the Blons-Fontanella-Boden area of the Vorarlberg Province. Two entire villages were reported buried Monday.

U. S. Army officials said three big cargo-type helicopters were being loaded at Fuerstenfeldbruck Air Base near Munich. They were due in the disaster area later in the day with clothing, medicine, blankets and doctors.

Switzerland also was reported to have placed a helicopter at the disposal of rescue workers.

Emergency crews trampled out a crude landing strip atop avalanche snow near Blons, were two slides Monday smashed a score of houses and thrust a snow dam across the Lutz River. An icy artificial sea built up behind the dam, threatening the entire Grosses Walser Valley, but the danger dissipated during the night.

As the helicopters were pressed into the operation, a ski-borne ground rescue party of 300 men struggled toward Fontanella and Boden, both of which were engulfed in avalanches and have not been heard from since Monday.

Predict Some Snow Here for Thursday

Thursday should bring Pontiac an inch or two of snow and slightly warmer temperatures, the U. S. Weather Bureau said today.

A weak warm front will probably take tomorrow's temperatures up to 22 to 26 degrees after a low of 12 to 16 tonight. But another cold front is right behind the warm front, the weather bureau said.

Downtown temperatures ranged between 10 and 17 degrees Tuesday. The mercury stood at 8 degrees at 6 a.m. today, but climbed to 17 by 2 p. m.

A layer of clouds last night kept this area's temperatures above the predicted low of two to five degrees.

Frigid weather still gripped the nation's Northeast today, with freezing temperatures reported as far south as southern Alabama.

Main Witness in Reuther Case Back in Custody

Detroit Police Bringing Informer From Ontario Where He Gave Up

DETROIT (INS) — Donald Ritchie, missing key witness in the 1948 mystery shooting of CIO President Walter Reuther, surrendered to a reporter in a Preston, Ont., restaurant early today.

He agreed to waive extradition from Canada and was started back to Detroit in custody of Detroit Police.

He wore shackles as an international fugitive and co-conspirator in the 1948 attempt on Reuther's life, in sharp contrast to his earlier role as a favored and protected witness.

Formalities of the extradition will be determined when Ritchie and his guards reach the international border at Windsor, Ont.

The reporter, Dennis Harvey of the Hamilton, Ont., Spectator, called Preston Police who arrested Ritchie in the same restaurant where his common-law-wife, Betty White, 30 was seized five hours earlier.

Harvey had been in the restaurant to check details on the arrest of Miss White. She fled into Canada with Ritchie last Friday after he escaped from protective custody in a downtown Detroit hotel.

Ritchie had been joking with truck drivers and kept telling them:

"I'm the guy they're looking for."

One of the truck drivers in Mary's barbecue on Preston's main street said, "If you're the guy, why don't you surrender to that reporter over there."

Ritchie walked over to Harvey and identified himself. The reporter called police who arrested Ritchie in the restaurant.

He was held on an open charge without bail pending the arrival of Detroit Police. The Motor City is 200 miles from Preston.

Miss White was held on a technical charge of using a fictitious name to obtain lodgings.

Both will be questioned later.

Preston Police Sgt. Tom Conaway said Ritchie had been drinking.

Authorities said Ritchie exclaimed:

"Who ever thought I'd surrender in a hick town like this!"

Conaway said that Ritchie was penniless when brought to the station.

Miss White told police that most of the $5,000 she had re-

Knowland Predicts Senate May Approve Seaway Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland predicted cautiously today the Senate will pass the controversial St. Lawrence Seaway Bill.

The California Republican made the statement as the issue came up for debate in the Senate.

"I would think it will have the votes to pass," Knowland said. He estimated debate will take "five days to a week," but added his estimate was more a guess than anything else.

Knowland said, however, that opponents of the measure did not debate the motion to take up the bill. That is the usual prelude on a bill which is headed for long debate.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) differed with Knowland on prospects for passage. Ellender, an opponent, said he thinks the Senate will reject the plan.

"We beat it before. I think we can probably do it again," he said.

The Senate last considered the seaway in the summer of 1952 when it sent the plan back to its Foreign Relations Committee after about a week of debate.

Although the seaway once was a dual-purpose plan including power features, the current bill involves only waterway development which is designed to permit ocean going vessels to reach Great Lakes ports. Cost, including interest, is estimated at $105,000,000 by the plan's supporters.

Supporters contend that the seaway would permit the use of low cost Labrador iron ores to build U. S. defenses.

They urge passage of the bill to allow joint development of the plan by the United States and Canada and point out that Canada already has taken steps to build the seaway alone if necessary.

This included representatives of all major Oklahoma farm organizations.

Waiver Hearing Set on Juvenile

Teenager Implicated in Stabbing of Local Man Sunday

A hearing in Oakland County Probate Court is scheduled next week for a waiver of jurisdiction of a juvenile in connection with the fatal stabbing of Raul Velez, 19, of 294 W. Wilson Ave., according to Assistant Prosecutor Homer Gerue.

Meanwhile, two others held since the knifing Sunday morning, George Theobald, 19, of 562 Arthur St., and Roberto Ortega, 21, of 270 Franklin Rd., are scheduled to take lie-detector tests tomorrow at the Redford State Police Post.

Gerue said that a warrant would not be issued in the stabbing until further information is obtained from the tests and the waiver of the 16-year-old boy.

Velez was stabbed in the back and in the left arm following a wedding celebration. He later died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital of a severed artery, according to an autopsy.

Detective Ray Meggitt, who said a dagger-like knife was found in a vacant lot near Nevada Ave. and Franklin Rd. where the stabbing reportedly occurred, said police have been unable to determine which of the trio actually did the stabbing.

Begin Distribution of Primary Ballots

Distribution of ballots for the primary election in Oakland County's district three Jan. 21 will begin today and should be finished by late Friday, says Oakland County Clerk Lynn D. Alleh.

Ballots will be distributed to city and township clerks in Birmingham and other nearby areas today, Allen said, with outlying areas receiving their quotas later.

The primary will be held to choose one Democrat and one Republican from among seven candidates for the vacancy caused by the resignation of State Rep. Howard R. Estes (R-Birmingham) last November.

Atomic Talks With Russia Hopeful, Ike Tells Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today this country's preliminary atomic talks with Russia are encouraging, but it is too soon to tell whether the Soviets are acting in good faith.

His reference to the atomic talks, which were an outgrowth of his proposal for an international atomic energy pool for peaceful purposes, came at a news conference in which the President also discussed important domestic issues.

The President also:

1. Said Secretary of State Dulles was only stating a fundamental truth when he declared in a speech last night that the United States has made a basic decision to meet any future Communist aggression by relying primarily on instant massive retaliation.

2. Laughed off an effort to find out whether he intends to seek a second term. His political friends, Eisenhower added, have advised him never to deal with that subject.

3. Expressed confidence that the United States is achieving better balance in its defense forces every day.

4. Said regarding the controversial Bricker amendment on treaty making powers, that he never would subscribe to any treaty or agreement which in any way contravened the Constitution. He indicated, however, that he and Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), chief sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment, have not been able to agree on a compromise.

5. Reported he had been advised by the Agriculture Department that it knows of no plan under consideration to sell butter and cottonseed oil to Russia. The whole matter of foreign trade is under study, the President said, and he will announce his recommendations later.

6. Declined again to give a breakdown on the 2,200 government workers he said previously had been separated from federal jobs for security reasons. He said he believes a great number of the 2,200 probably resigned even before they knew there was any derogatory information on their record.

7. Said he advocated stripping convicted Communist conspirators of U.S. citizenship because he believes a conspirator is just as guilty as anyone who actually attempts to overthrow the government by force.

8. Told the newsmen no significance should be read into the fact that he did not renew his call this year, in the state of the union message, for revision of the McCarran-Walter immigration law. Eisenhower noted that he said in the message he would deal with some other matters in subsequent documents.

9. Said there has been a lot of apprehension about the administration program to channel defense contracts into unemployment areas. Eisenhower said there particularly has been exaggeration along the line that entire contracts would go to such areas, rather than only 20 to 30 per cent of the total of individual contracts.

10. Smilingly confided that he believes women have the brains and the ability to occupy the presidency, but said he doubts whether they would like the job. That was a comment on former President Truman's remark that a woman might be President some day.

11. Repeated that he believes Alaska is not ready for statehood.

Funds Would Speed Licenses

MCSC Head Requests Grant for Help to Issue Contractors' Permits

James C. Allen, head of the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission, seeks a $6,300 state grant to hire five temporary clerks to help issue licenses to contractors.

The Birmingham man said the issuing of licenses is now so slow that some contractors may receive their home building or modernization permits just in time for them to expire.

Allen said he would ask the Legislature or the State Administrative Board for the money to speed up the licensing.

With the help of five temporary clerks, the licensing might be cleared up by next summer, instead of by 1956 with the present staff shortage. License renewals start in 1957.

A new Michigan law allowing counties to require the state to license contractors went into effect last Oct. 3. Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties—with about 8,000 contractors, voted for such licensing.

Allen said only 958 licenses have been issued so far, and that it will take about two years to issue all of them at the present rate.

Admiral Blandy Dies in Hospital

Served as Commander of Atlantic Fleet, Bikini Atomic Test Forces

NEW YORK (AP)—Adm. William H. P. Blandy, 63, a veteran of two world wars, died late yesterday at the St. Albans Naval Hospital here. Blandy suffered a stroke Sunday at his Manhattan home.

He retired in 1950 after three years as commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet. Blandy commanded the first joint Army-Navy atomic test force at Bikini in 1946.

Pontiac Motor Division was turning out Oerlikon guns and aerial torpedoes for the Navy and Adm. Blandy came here to consult with GM officials on progress of the war contract production.

damaged, but next door the home of Mrs. Shirley Roberts was demolished and she and her infant son Douglas were killed.

The plane exploded with this impact and disintegrated into a 200-foot roaring path of flame as it lashed crazily into two other homes. The jet's blazing fuel dropped onto a fourth residence and burned part of it.

The other dead were Mrs. Shirley Ledbetter, 25; Stephen Louis Shoup, 11; Mrs. Grace Miller, 63, and Ernest G. Bailey, 72, who suffered the heart attack.

The injured are Edward Ledbetter, 24, and his son, Edward Lynn, 4 months, both critically burned and not expected to survive; Mrs. Nancy King, 18, who occupied the other half of a duplex with the Ledbetters, and her daughter, Sherry Lynn King, 2½ months.

Frost Nips Residents as House Burns Here

Fire in a rooming house at 426 S. Saginaw St. shortly after 7 o'clock this morning forced eight occupants outdoors in their night clothes in near zero weather while firemen put out the blaze.

Pontiac Fire Department said the fire, which may have been caused by a careless smoker, resulted in $750 damage to the building and $50 to contents.

DONALD RITCHIE

Shown as he leaves the Preston police station in Galt, Ont., this morning, is Donald Richie, key witness in the 1948 attempted murder of Walter Reuther. Ritchie fled a Detroit hotel last Friday and surrendered to Canadian police early today.

Ritchie Surrenders to Ontario Reporter

ceived in reward money last Friday in Ritchie's behalf for his "solution" to the mysterious shooting was spent during a five-day spree. During that time, he said, the couple purchased an automobile and drove to the Canadian side of Niagara Falls.

The car had been purchased at Chatham, Ont., for $1,400 after the couple fled Detroit and were driven to Chatham in a taxicab.

Some doubt arose yesterday about Ritchie's "solution" to the April 20, 1948, shooting of Reuther in which the CIO president was maimed for life.

The first break in the mysterious shooting of Reuther came last week when Ritchie told Detroit Police the attempted murder was engineered by mobsters seeking to take over gambling in auto plants. He implicated himself and four others.

Sgt. Conaway said Ritchie was brought before Miss White after being booked and that "she yelled at him." He added:

"She asked Ritchie what he was doing in jail and he replied, 'I'd heard on the radio that you had been arrested and I just wanted to be with you.'"

Ritchie had been the object of a search by Canadian and United States police since his escape from protective custody Friday.

He had told authorities that a Detroit racketeer, Sam Perrone, who still is being sought by police, masterminded the Reuther shooting.

Named by Ritchie as taking part in the April 20, 1948, shooting were Perrone; Perrone's son-in-law, Carl Renda; Ritchie's uncle, Clarence Jacobs of Tecumseh, Ont., Peter Lombardo of Detroit, now in federal prison, and Ritchie himself.

Jacobs, named by Ritchie as the man who actually shot the CIO president, is fighting extradition in Windsor, Ont.

Miss White told police that Ritchie joined her in Windsor a few hours after his escape Friday and that they traveled in a taxicab to Chatham, Ont., where they paid $1,400 for a 1952 red sedan.

She said they took the money from $5,000 received earlier the same day by Miss White as a reward to Ritchie from the CIO for his aid in "solving" the Reuther case.

The money had been placed in escrow with Donald Morand, Ritchie's attorney of Windsor. Morand had turned it over to Miss White on Ritchie's behalf.

Miss White said she and Ritchie drove from Chatham to London, Ont., where they spent Friday night. The next day they drove to Welland, Ont., and spent Saturday night there, arriving Sunday at Niagara Falls.

She said she chose to return to Windsor rather than "risk her life" and parted with Ritchie on the Canadian side of the famed honeymoon site.

Miss White took the car and drove along a strange highway after becoming lost in Hamilton, Ont. She said she reached Preston and tried to buy a sandwich and get directions at a barbecue stand where she was taken into custody.

Police described her as "attractive in a plumpy sort of a way" and said she had been employed in Windsor as a waitress.

The role of Ritchie as an informer was doubted yesterday when Windsor Police belittled his importance in the Reuther case.

They described Ritchie as a "professional phony" and said he had reported to them at least half a dozen crimes, mostly holdups, in which he asserted he was involved.

Windsor authorities said they were never able to get proof that the reported incidents took place.

Detroiter Waits Sentence

Earl F. DeLong, 20161 Votrobeck, Detroit, pleaded guilty yesterday to a reduced charge of disorderly conduct and was released on $1,000 bond until sentencing Jan. 25 by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland. He originally was charged with indecent exposure.

Prisoner Sees Sentence Illegal

Cammarata Appealing to State Supreme Court on Technicality

Cammarata was whisked back to Michigan July 15 from Cleveland, Ohio, as a parole violator after a strenuous legal fight by Michigan authorities to regain possession of him.

Sentenced in Detroit in 1931 to a 15-30 year sentence for robbery armed, Cammarata received a commutation of sentence from the late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald in 1936 and was paroled then to be deported to Italy. Michigan officials contended he returned to the United States illegally and settled in Warren, Ohio.

This held that Michigan cannot return a parole violator to prison if it has previously refused an opportunity to regain custody of him.

Cammarata's attorneys argued that the state refused an offer from the U. S. Immigration Service in 1946 to regain possession of Cammarata and cannot now hold him in prison.

John Kort, 42-year-old window washer, said the frame snapped its hinges as he opened it.

Locate Lost Relative in Time for Funeral

Yesterday relatives found him less than 150 miles from Ashland—but only in time to attend his funeral.

A story on his death in the Hutchinson News-Herald Sunday was noted by Mrs. Charles Wilson of Ashland. She consulted the family Bible and concluded he was her long-lost uncle. She and other relatives drove to Hutchinson yesterday, identified the body and attended the funeral.

Cook, 84, had been in a Hutchinson nursing home the last four years. Previously he had been working for several years as a ranch hand at Meade, within 40 miles of Ashland.

Man in Icebox Cuts Off Beer to Attract Help

ST. LOUIS (INS) — A quick-thinking refrigerator repairman saved himself from freezing to death because he knew how to attract the attention of a bartender and his customers.

Robert Moore, the repairman, inadvertently locked himself in the large walk-in type refrigerator in the basement of a St. Louis tavern. The shirt-sleeved Moore, after shouting and beating on the door to no avail for 30 minutes, got an inspiration.

Moore shut off the pipes carrying beer to the taps upstairs in the bar. In a few minutes the bartender and his customers came down, opened the refrigerator to investigate and rescued the chilled repairman.

Records Opposition to Bricker Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed constitutional amendment of Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) on treaty-making powers was described today by John W. Davis, 1924 Democratic presidential nominee, as "an impediment to our obtaining and maintaining peace."

Davis, now a New York City lawyer, set forth his opposition in a telegram to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn). Kefauver put it in the Congressional Record.

The proposed amendment would prevent treaties from becoming effective as domestic law in the absence of implementing legislation by Congress. It also would prevent treaties from being used to enlarge the legislative authority of Congress, requiring action by the individual states in some cases.

Dem Disputes Ike Economics

Stephen Mitchell Says Eisenhower Distorted Several Big Issues

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, charges President Eisenhower distorted several big economic issues in his State of the Nation message.

Speaking at a Democratic dinner in this western Pennsylvania community last night, Mitchell disputed statements by the President on accomplishments of his Republican administration in the areas of taxes, inflation and farm prices.

* * *

Mitchell said government statistics belie Eisenhower's claims that inflation has been halted, that skidding farm prices have been stopped and that substantial reductions in expenditures have made tax cuts financially feasible.

"Except for November, the cost of living went up in every single month since President Eisenhower took office," Mitchell declared. "The cost of living set new all-time records in June, July, August, September and October."

Mitchell said figures show farm prices dropped in every month but three since advent of the Republican administration, adding:

* * *

A U. S. Treasury statement for Dec. 31, 1953, showed the government's budget deficit for the last six months amounted to slightly more than nine billion dollars, Mitchell stated. He added:

"For the same period a year ago, the budget deficit was also somewhat over nine billion dollars. Just about the same. Yet, last year Mr. Eisenhower said the deficit was leading this country to bankruptcy and ruin.

"This year with a deficit of the same size, he says tax reductions are financially feasible. He can't have it both ways."

Psychiatric Test Given TV Scientist

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The U. S. attorney for the eastern Pennsylvania district says he expects to have a report ready in about a week on a psychiatric examination for Dr. Roy K. Marshall, nationally known scientist and radio and television commentator, under indictment here for allegedly sending obscene letters through the mails.

The indictment, handed down last Nov. 18, was disclosed here yesterday in U. S. District Court by Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey. He said Marshall was indicted for sending the letters to five teenage girls who wrote him seeking scientific advice. The judge said the indictment was impounded at the request of U. S. Atty. W. Wilson White.

White said he ordered the impoundment because he "had a suspicion he (Marshall) might be a sick man." He said he ordered a psychiatric examination.

Details of the charges and names of the girls involved were not disclosed.

Child Dies in Fire as Six Are Rescued

DETROIT (UP)— Vera Henderson, 3, suffocated Tuesday when fire swept through the second floor of a Romulus Township house where she lives with her father, Alex Henderson.

Mrs. Alex Clabon, who also lives at the house with her husband, led six other children to safety. Two of them were Vera's brothers.

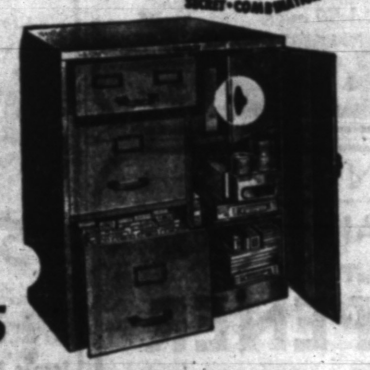

Police said Henderson and his wife were separated. They said the blaze apparently was caused by defective wiring.

Pet Parrot Clamors for Morning Coffee

JACKSON, Tenn. (UP)—Chuck may be just a parrot but he's like many a human—he can't wait for that morning cup of coffee.

The Nathan Rowells own Chuck, a "double yellow-head" parrot. Every morning Chuck wings into the room of Mrs. Rowell's mother, Mrs. Will Long, walks the floor and fusses until she gets up. Then he goes to the back of a breakfast chair to wait for that coffee. He likes it with cream and lots of sugar.

Chuck will sleep only in the room of the Rowells' 15-year-od son, Bill, but Mrs. Long is the only person who can touch him without getting nipped.

Among Chuck's food favorites are bread, nuts, soft drinks, sunflower seeds and leops from a shag rug.

Treatment of Eczema at Home Is Dangerous

CHICAGO (UP) — Eczema has a thousand causes and home treatment may make it worse, according to an article in Today's Health magazine.

The tricky skin disease can be caused by anything from varnish to worry according to the authors, Dr. Robert P. Little, of Middlebury, Vt., and S. G. Mullins.

They warned that a druggist or a well-meaning friend may diagnose the type of eczema incorrectlyand advise the wrong treatment.

"Put yourself in the hands of a qualified dermatologist," they advised.

Group to Restore Fort of Revolutionary War

FORT-ANN, N. Y. (UP) — Restoration of the last several colonial and Revolutionary War forts which gave this community its name is being planned by a newly organized historial asocisation.

The group, to be called Fort Ann Restoration, Inc., has taken a 99-year lease on the original site. Work of remodeling the building into a museum will be completed by May.

Authorities are seeking Revolutionary relics or Indian artifacts for the museum. They are also hunting old letters, books or documents dating back to Revolutionary times.

Snuff Is Big Business, and in Swanky Dallas

DALLAS (UP)—R. H. Stanley of Dallas is a fellow who keeps his business right up to snuff. That's what it is—snuff. It's big business in Texas. Texans buy "a little better than three million pounds a year," and not all of the buyers are country folks.

"A good bit is sold right here in Dallas," Stanley said, "mostly to working people, but not all of it."

For example his company—he's district sales manager—ran an essay contest on "Why I Like Snuff," and got three entries from Dallas' swankiest neighborhood. Stanley checked them personally.

Adoptions Break Record

SANTA FE, N. M. (UP) — New Mexico Welfare Director Alva Simpson reports his department handled 700 petitions for adoption last year to send the number of adoptions in the state to a record high. He said the adoption rate in New Mexico has increased twice as fast as in the nation as a whole.

State Budget in Balance

Thanks to Republican enacted tax laws, something has been added in the Williams Administration — a balanced State operating budget.

Contrary to former practice, the Governor released details of his $365,541,568 budget two days before the start of the 1954 Legislative session. He failed, however, to give credit where credit is due for the prospect that the State can finish the current fiscal year with a million dollar operating surplus.

But he did point out that "the operation of the general fund for the current fiscal year is in the black." Governor Williams added that "the continued favorable balance between revenues and expenditures is rapidly reducing the accumulated deficit."

Credit for this belongs to the business receipts tax and other tax measures inspired by Sen. George N. Higgins, Republican tax expert, and passed by Republican legislators.

In one respect the budget follows the pattern that has become the rule in the Williams Administration. It is eight per cent higher than the current year's appropriation and $26,947,968 more than his 1953 budget.

However, it must be pointed out in fairness to the Governor that $10,526,396 of this increase was caused by the automatic increase in State school aid under sales tax diversion.

Important among the recommendations is a $17,700,000 increase, to $180,200,000 for education. Of this he proposes $8,200,000 for new buildings at State colleges.

State operations were estimated at $183,600,000, an increase of $10,700,000 over this year. That includes a total of $14,500,000 for proposed capital improvements, or $5,300,000 more than the amount allowed for 1953.

Details of Gov. Williams' program are to be disclosed in his Thursday message. But the big pre-session news is that at long last the State is operating in the black and that for the first time the Governor agrees with Republicans that no new taxes are needed.

100 Per Cent Air Safety

It is good to read in these days of so many commercial and military plane disasters that in 1953 one branch of our armed forces established a perfect air safety record.

That organization is the Military Air Transport Service, familiarly known as MATS. In the last year this group of fliers and their planes transported more than 500,000 military personnel and patients in all parts of the world with a single fatality.

★ ★ ★

The Military Air Transport Service is wholly Government operated under the direction of an Air Force general. At the same time it is one of the world's largest air transport systems. It carries none but military passengers and cargoes but bills each service using it just as a commercial line would do.

★ ★ ★

Its fatality free record for the last 12 months is eloquent evidence of the efficiency of pilots and maintenance crews as well as of administrative personnel.

Dominion's Future Bright

Of all the countries in the free world none has greater reason to look ahead with confidence than our northern neighbor, Canada.

For our friends across the border as well as the United States, 1953 was a record year.

The speed with which Canada is making the transition from a predominantly agricultural to a largely industrial economy is breath-taking.

Because our two countries are so interdependent, it is stimulating to watch a country devoted as Canada is to democracy and free enterprise, make such rapid progress.

While the country's industrial development has been remarkable, its exports still are largely raw materials and the United States now takes a larger percentage of them than Great Britain. The Dominion is a valuable customer and buys about 25 per cent of our cash exports.

Another significant fact is that American investments in Canada have reached $8 billion and are increasing at the rate of $500,000,000 a year.

A Nation of 15,000,000, Canada's wealth is increasing and its standard of living rising at a rate that has attracted world wide attention. Far more than neighborly goodwill is involved in our interest in the Dominion. Our own national security and economic prosperity are closely bound up with hers.

Reader Wonders Why City Has Delayed in Paying Reward for O'Brian's Capture

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

"The evil men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones." Almost everyone who reads this fine newspaper will remember this quotation from Mark Anthony's famous address. It should bring to mind the evil situation we had in Pontiac a few months ago when our rape slayer was terrorizing the countryside.

O'Brian has long since been taken care of. The good, it would appear, has been forgotten. Why has the reward not been given to the men who were responsible for his capture?

We were quick to spend thousands of dollars to cut weeds, patrol streets and chase down tips to apprehend this man. When it comes to rewarding the brave people who rendered us one of the greatest services possible, it seems the processes of justice are pitifully slow.

Can we afford to invite others to believe that we do not keep our word? Pontiac has grown successful and respectable because its people have kept their word. I believe the majority of us want it that way, even in our city government.

Let's not "Inter the good with the bones," at least until we have settled this thing up honorably.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, told the Council on Foreign Relations in New York, and simultaneously the nation by radio and television network, is more revealing as a statement of American foreign policy than anything said since the Eisenhower administration began.

For it tells why the military budget is being cut and how the United States is embarking on a long-range program in the world that is not geared merely to emergencies but to a definite plan of defense for all purposes.

Many people must have wondered how troops could be withdrawn from Korea now, why plans were being made for less American manpower in Europe and for substantial cuts in conventional military services.

The answer is given by Dulles, and it is to be found in this paragraph of his address:

"Before military planning could be changed, the President and his advisers, as represented by the National Security Council, had to make some basic policy decisions. This has been done.

"The basic decision was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our choosing.

"Now the Department of Defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff can shape our military establishment to fit what is our policy, instead of having to try to be ready to meet the enemy's many choices.

"That permits of a selection of military means instead of a multiplication of means. As a result, it is now possible to get, and share, more basic security at less cost."

The secretary of state isn't to be expected to disclose military measures, but the plain meaning of his remarks is that the United States is relying on the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb and every atomic weapon in its arsenal to repel any military aggression that might come from the Communists in the future.

It must necessarily mean that all plans to outlaw atomic weapons such as Soviet Russia has been proposing have been abandoned and such a ban will never be accepted unless there are such foolproof safeguards as to insure no possibility of an aggression anyhow.

This means a system of inspection and an assured method of preventing aggression—which, of course, the present rulers in Moscow are not likely to approve.

So, for all practical purposes, the United States has decided on a retaliatory defense—a defense that doesn't require massive land armies to win an objective but enough striking power from the overseas bases by our Air Force as well as from aircraft carriers of the Navy to make sure that the enemy will not launch an attack in the first place.

Dulles points out that the policies adopted by the Truman-Acheson administration in Turkey and Greece and through the European recovery plan were good but that America was obliged to fight an "emergency action," when it is of the utmost importance to develop a program for the long range.

He declares that the "long-time" factor is of critical importance and he hints that a strategy must be adopted by America which can be judged adequate not merely because it wards off "immediate danger" but because of what it accomplishes over what the Soviets call "an entire historical era."

The secretary says it wasn't "sound military strategy to commit our army to fight land battles in Asia," and that this was our decision prior to 1950.

Incidentally, Gen. Eisenhower participated in that decision when he was chief of staff of the Army. Dulles says "it was Soviet-inspired action that pulled us back" into Korea.

* * *

Dulles might have added that, while the decision to intervene and to repel aggression in Korea was correct, the failure of the previous administration to provide in advance the military sinews for such a campaign in Korea and later its refusal to use maximum power—which apparently now is being sanctioned — was responsible for the lack of military victory and for what is known as "the Korean mess."

* * *

Reliance is placed by Dulles on the "strategic reserve" idea, which means a mobile force. He says it was never "sound military strategy permanently to commit U.S. land forces to Asia to a degree that leaves us no strategic reserves."

He says, too, it was "not sound economics, or good foreign policy, to support permanently other countries; for in the long run, that creates as much ill will as good will."

Statements such as these could not possibly be made today by a spokesman for the United States government if it were not for a basic decision to use maximum military power—including all atomic weapons—if Soviet Russia starts aggression. That is a fateful warning and one needed to be given.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Crane Says Dope Habit Is All in Victim's Mind

Notice the deception worked on Larry today. Habits generate "hungers" that are stronger than the desire for drugs. If you try to break the cigaret habit, use the former muscle pattern in a new and better habit. Carry candy coated gum or mints, and reach for them.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-393: Larry O., aged 63, was a famous banker in Chicago.

"Dr. Crane, my husband has become addicted to the dope habit," his devoted wife informed me, tearfully.

"They used so much morphine on him during his many operations in the hospitals, that now he simply must have it every few hours.

"He grows irritable and jittery until the nurse comes with the hypodermic and gives him a shot. Then he calms down immediately.

"But I have often wondered how much of the addiction to dope is really a state of mind, and how much is a chemical hunger?"

When we become a victim of any habit, the habit itself creates a "hunger" which may be far greater than the drug or chemical being consumed.

That is one reason why it is well, whenever possible, to utilize as much of the muscular pattern of the old habit, in some new but more constructive habit.

For example, during World War II, a group of men were used as human guinea pigs to test their cigaret addiction.

They didn't know it, but practically all the nicotine was taken out of the tobacco. Then their cigarets were re-rolled, packaged and given to them, as if nothing were wrong.

And for several weeks they were watched very closely by their associates and family, who were all "in" on the experiment.

Only two of the men ever mentioned anything wrong with their cigarets and that may have been simply a general indictment during the war of substitute (ersatz) products.

The great bulk of the smokers seemed as contented as before. And those two also smoked with apparent relish, so the absence of the nicotine had no significant effect on their tobacco habit.

In Larry's case, similar deception was applied. Normal salt tablets were later used instead of morphine.

I've sat beside his bed while he fidgeted irritably and kept yelling "Nurse, Nurse! I must have my hypo!"

She would then come and inject this salt water into his arm. Then he'd calm down and sigh happily. His apparent pain and jittery stage would disappear.

Yet he had received no morphine at all! So his dope habit, likewise must have been chiefly above his eyes.

Such addicts learn to lean upon something as an emotional crutch. Your local physicians could tell you dozens of cases where drugs can be substituted and patients don't know the difference, as long as think they are getting the same stuff as before.

One of our famous Chicago psychiatrists, who was my professor in medical school, told us young medics that the dope habit is all in the victim's mind.

He said that this idea of a chemical hunger was largely bunk and tommyrot. We thought he was exaggerating. But experienced physicians now know that he wasn't overdoing it as much as we had imagined.

Some baseball players are similarly addicted to carrying their baby's shoes just because they did so the first day they broke into the major leagues and got a base hit or a homerun on that initial time at bat.

Later, if somebody hides those baby shoes, they are as jittery as a supposed dope addict who misses his drug. But it is chiefly mental.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
International News Service

Who remembers the piping times of prohibition? When they piped it right from the stills to the night clubs?

It was just around that time we heard filtered gossip that an obscure scientist had cracked something he called an atom. We dismissed the subject with a twirl of our mustache.

Instead of keying their epaulets to concert pitch the big brass also ignored the possibilities of the ferocious dot.

But after Hiroshima we realized we had a tiger by its last stripe.

The espionageers and the fellow travelers tried to take some of the responsibility off our glove racks. They micro-grammed the family formulas to Moscow using bird nests and pumpkins for post-offices.

Which traitorous caper fermented intense disgust in Washington and outlying voting precincts. We clapped some miscreants into clink, streeted others and wired several for celestial sound.

Now we learn we are giving even busier bomb signals to the rest of the world. If a taxpayer is entitled to a voice I would like to sing bass in the complaint department.

We're against that until the sands of the desert have been used up by soft shoe dancers imitating Primrose and Dockstader. We're against it until the leaves of the Judgement Book come up blank.

Writer Believes, as Dr. Brady Does, Graduated Exercise OK in Heart Case

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

For a while, writes an Iowa reader, we were sorry for you and thought you had really lost your marbles, but we're glad you have regained your mental balance—

(Aw, come on, now, call me nutty, if you like).

—I still can't for the life of me see any difference between cri and cold. From your own teachings they mean the same—

(Not so. Call it Cri and you convey the idea of infection, which puts everybody on guard against catching it. Call it "cold" and you convey the idea that it is a trivial annoyance due to wet feet of a vagrant draft and you can peddle it indiscriminately among the poor geeks who take that notion seriously.)

About four years ago I had coronary thrombosis. I had to go on a diet and lose about 65 pounds weight over a period of 1½ years, which I did thanks to the kindness and co-operation of my doctor throughout that period. But I was so tired all the time. I didn't seem to care whether I lived or . . .

The doctor then gave me a regular schedule of gradually increasing daily exercise, mainly walking which I followed faithfully whether I felt like taking more or less exercise . . .

Just want you to know that I now feel better than I have for many years. I am 64. I can assure you that my doctor and I believe a heart patient needs exercise. We hope you will keep on teaching. (Signed.) .....

It was lucky for this patient that he happened to have a twentieth century doctor.

Had his doctor believed as so many old timers do, that patients with coronary or any other heart trouble require complete rest from now on, he would have taken to a say half-life, just waiting, waiting, waiting . . . possibly moving carefully about as though walking on eggs . . .

In the CVD book (about heart and artery troubles) I explain why graduated exercise, helps those subject to heart trouble. For a copy of the booklet send 25 cents and a stamped self addressed envelope.

Thirty years ago it was standard practice to confine to bed for at least eight or ten weeks patients who had coronary thrombosis or occlusion.

In the past ten years we have learned that these patients generally do better if they are allowed or ordered to sit up in arm chair for a half hour twice a day and the sitting up time gradually lengthened until the patient is out of bed most of the time, and walking about the room, then up and down hallway or corridor, and after six weeks, more or less, up and down the sidewalk and finally around the block.

Graduated exercise, this is called. But remember, the patient's own physician and nobody else, can prescribe precisely how much and what form of exercise the patient shall take.

The old timers, many of whom are still in practice, had and have little comprehension of the therapeutic value of exercise for heart trouble.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Navy Cautioned on Data Safety

AEC Wants Atom Test Leaks in Letters From Personnel Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has passed word to the Navy to do something to stop those chatty and descriptive letters sent home by military personnel who see the big and supposedly secret atomic tests in the Pacific.

Recalling a number of letters from task force personnel who witnessed the test of a hydrogen explosive device at Eniwetok in the fall of 1952, a reporter asked the AEC what would be done to prevent similar disclosures in the forthcoming series of tests at which an H-weapon is expected to be used.

An AEC spokesman replied:

"The task force is expected to have adequate measures in force to safeguard security restricted data."

* * *

At the Pentagon, it was explained that the commander of every ship and of installations ashore will be ordered to see to it that each individual in his command receives specific instructions against writing any personal letters to anyone describing or otherwise hinting at what he may see in a test. In the 1952 test, some crew members were said not to have been cautioned against letter

Doubt was expressed today that a mail censorship, which involves inspection of each outgoing personal letter, could be invoked except in a war or state of emergency. Even during the Korean War, no mail censorship was in force.

Ranch Wives Going Modern, Shun Calico

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The gals from the range are not what they used to be. They are as sleek and modern as the purebred beef cattle their husbands and fathers raise on the Western ranges.

Three hundred of these ranch women, who have their own organization, the CowBelles, are meeting here while their menfolk wrestle with the problems which beset the livestock producing business these days.

* * *

The men, members of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., can be spotted easily by their high-heel boots, big hats and typical Western garb, but not the women.

As they opened their convention with a luncheon in the luxurious Broadmoor Hotel, there wasn't a calico dress in sight—nor a sun bonnet, and the high heels were strictly French, not cowboy.

From all appearances it might have been a meeting of a group of city women.

* * *

"We live just like the people in the city do — and have more room," commented Mrs. Wayne Rowe of near Lawton, Okla., as she let a fur cape slide off her shoulders.

But some remember when it was different, as did Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Lucius Long, another Oklahoman, from Meers.

* * *

"I remember when we used to gather up chips for a fire and the water froze in the buckets in the house," said Mrs. Long, who was born on a Texas ranch and has lived on a ranch all of her life.

"But it's different now," she observed. "We have pushbutton stoves, electric dishwashers, television and all those things."

* * *

The ranchwomen, traditionally helpers of their husbands, haven't lost that touch as life has become easier.

The CowBelles' No. 1 project for this year is to help promote the sale of beef.

He Returns Rescue Act in Icy River Drenching

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Last month, with the mercury near zero night watchman Sam Clyburn slipped from a river barge and fell into the icy Ohio River. A fellow watchman, John Forgey, fished him out.

PTA Chairman Gets Double Safety Lesson

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Police Sgt. Bernard P. De Member was invited this week to address a Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting on traffic safety. Yesterday he arrested George P. Clapp on a charge of speeding through a school zone.

Clapp, program chairman of the PTA group, was the one who had invited De Member to speak.

The horse-breeding industry in the United States is valued at $200,000,000.

Ames and Tuttle Prove Versatile

Leon Plays Father Day, Lurene Is the Mother in TV's Popular Series

NEW YORK—Leon Ames, veteran actor of stage, screen and radio-television, feels perfectly at ease sitting in his favorite chair and reading the morning paper as Father Day on television's "Life With Father."

Ames was born in Portland, Ind., the son of a furniture manufacturer, and was graduated from the Delphi High School in Delphi, Ind., where he took part in basketball and track athletics.

He says he cannot remember a time in his boyhood when his heart was not set on becoming an actor.

His acting urge led to a job with the Charles K. Champlin Players at Lansford, Pa. as "general business man," which in the language of the theater meant that he was to play small roles.

Thereafter, playing one-night stands gave Ames his first experience as an actor. He appeared in road companies of "The Cat and the Canary," "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," "Broadway" and "Tomorrow and Tomorrow."

He was picked from the cast of "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" to play the detective in the film, "The Murders in the Rue Morgue." He remained in Hollywood for four years working at various studios.

Ames is 5 feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes. His home is in the San Fernando Valley, and recently he added a recreation room where he likes to play pocket billiards with his son.

For the spirited role of Mother Day in television's "Life With Father," producer Fletcher Markle cast one of the best known actresses in Hollywood—titian-haired Lurene Tuttle, a radio veteran who is now making her mark in both motion pictures and television.

Lurene Tuttle is so versatile and so in demand in Hollywood sound studios that she has been on top of producers' casting lists for many years.

For all of her success, Lurene Tuttle is, however, no Cinderella. On the boards since she was 17, she was first with the Horace Murphy comedians who, played in a garage in Burbank, Calif., in 1925.

After that there was a succession of engagements with companies in Portland, Ore., Salt Lake City, San Antonio and Los Angeles.

She hails from Pleasant Lake, Ind. Her father O. V. Tuttle, was a minstrel man; her grandfather Frank Tuttle, taught dramatics in college and one time managed the opera house in Angola, Ind.

One of Miss Tuttle's chief private interests is daughter Barbara, now not only a movie starlet but a recording artist of no mean stature, selling disks by the thousands.

Lurene is married to Fred Cole, and her daughter is Barbara Ruick, They live in a modernistic house in North Hollywood.

MEET THE DAYS—A novel, a movie, a play and now a TV success, that's the story of "Life With Father," the American classic concerning the Day family, and life at the turn of the century. Recreating Clarence Day Sr. on video is versatile Leon Ames. His wife Vinnie, witty and understanding, is ably portrayed by Lurene Tuttle. A supporting cast of carrot-topped actors enact the roles of the riotous and heart-warming Day children.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Althea L. Schulte of Kent County has filed a $25,000 damage suit in circuit court against Joseph Pickham of Muskegon County for alleged injuries resulting from an auto accident June 22, 1952, on M37 two miles south of Grant.

Vote Arthritis Topic of Greatest Interest

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Arthritis tops heart disease and cancer in public interest here, a survey revealed today.

More people suggested arthritis as a topic for discussion than any other common ailment, the Kent County Medical Society disclosed.

The voting was to select five subjects to be discussed by doctors at public forums sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and a newspaper. Members of the medical society will form the panel for each of the five sessions.

Heart disease finished second in the voting, with cancer third. The other two topics chosen were allergies, forth in popularity, and wonder drugs, which finished fifth.

The first forum is scheduled for Jan. 27.

Proposed Law Would Outlaw Slow Drivers

LANSING (UP)—A bill outlawing slow drivers on Michigan highways was introduced in the state senate today.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Carlton H. Morris, would set a minimum speed limit of 50 miles an hour during the day and 40 miles an hour at night on all undivided state highways.

The Kalamazoo Republican said he believed such a law would reduce accidents greatly, especially head-on collisions caused when one car tries to pass a slow-moving vehicle.

Ancient chairs almost invariably had arms and it was not until toward the close of the 16th century that smaller types became common.

Information Meeting for Vets Is Saturday

Ray C. Jewell, publicity chairman, said information will be supplied on subjects including new legislation, rehabilitation, widows' and children's pensions, federal loans and hospitalization.

Hal Boyle Says:

Only 10 Tenors in World to Sing Top Opera Roles

NEW YORK (AP)—Tenors are getting almost as scarce as larks at the north pole.

Not bathroom tenors. Too many of them. But real tenors, opera tenors, are in short supply. It's got some of them worried.

"In the entire world today there are only 10 tenors who can sing major dramatic roles with authority," said Ramon Vinay, a former baritone who became a tenor by accident rather than intent.

"As a result we have to travel like mad, and we are getting tired. And some of us are showing voice strain."

* * *

This may not appear much of a tragedy to the average man, who ordinarily doesn't list tenors as among the earth's major blessings, but when a few top tenors go hoarse it is a real blow to the world of serious music. Some fellow has to hit all those high notes and kiss the dying soprano, or how can the opera go on?

* * *

"Before a new production we rehearse for about three weeks," said Vinay, who keeps in shape by weight lifting. "And believe me, five hours on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera is like 12 hours on the docks. It's like pushing a street car 20 blocks. You come home and drop dead."

All tenors are unusual but even among his fellow tenors Vinay is a standout. He is a big bear-like man who looks like Luis Firpo, the former South American heavyweight boxer.

Vinay was born in Chile, raised in France, and started his career pushing a broom in a Mexico City department store. He also worked as a traveling salesman and a medicine box manufacturer before he settled down as a baritone in a small Mexican touring opera company. One night the regular tenor refused to go on. Vinay cleared his throat, sang the role—and learned he was a natural tenor.

"I like it better," he said, smiling. "The baritone is always the villain and never gets to kiss the soprano. The tenor does. He is the hero—and the sopranos are getting pleasanter to kiss every year.

"But the audiences require more now than in the old days. They not only expect you to be able to sing. You must also act and look the part."

* * *

Vinay, who starred in the Wagnerian festival at Bayreith, Germany, now travels up to 50,000 miles a year in America and Europe. He keeps apartments here and in Milan, but lives most of the year in hotel rooms.

"Many people don't know how to feel at home in a hotel room," he said. "But home is a state of mind. You just have to know how to make yourself comfortable.

Vinay makes himself comfortable by toting along a medicine ball which he blithely bounces against the wall when he needs exercise. He sometimes also packs a five-foot telescope—astronomy is one of his hobbies—and if he becomes bored he sets it up by the hotel window and scans the stars.

* * *

"It is very easy in this world to lose your sense of proportion," he said. "But when you look at the heavens through a telescope it reduces your personal problems of success or failure. It will give anyone a better perspective on his own importance—yes, even a tenor."

Al successful people have private fears, but Vinay grinned when I asked him what he was most afraid of.

"A cold," he said.

Tenors are not to be sneezed at—particularly when they are six feet tall and weigh 220 pounds.

WHY THEY SAY:

"We'd Never Be Without Father John's Medicine"

In many homes Father John's Medicine is always on hand—because its use has become a habit from one generation to another. Today mothers are giving it to their children because their mothers gave it to them when they were young.

This unusual family confidence is the result of proven merit. Try it for yourself. It has been used by millions for over 95 years.

McCarthy Asks 100 Pct. Parity

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republicans with an eye on the November elections talked fondly today of Sen. McCarthy's proposal to set a 100 per cent parity price goal for their new farm program.

The Wisconsin Republican, stepping momentarily out of his role as the Senate's most vocal Communist hunter, appeared as a champion of the farmer with a plan to hike the 75 to 90 per cent flexible price supports suggested by President Eisenhower.

* * *

The senator said in an interview he had touched off a heated discussion of the subject at a conference of all Republican senators yesterday because he thinks government supports should not go as low as 75 per cent. They "ought to go higher than 90 per cent, perhaps even above 100 per cent of parity," McCarthy said, adding:

"I have no fight with President Eisenhower."

During the 1952 campaign, Eisenhower said the farmer is entitled to full parity—that is, 100 per cent—"but we're not going to write anything into a fixed law that can't be changed." The Republican platform came out for "a farm program aimed at full parity prices for all farm products in the market place." I did not pledge government supports at that level.

* * *

Parity is a price, calculated by formula, said by law to give farmers a fair return on their products in relation to prices of things they buy. The government, through loans and other devices, now supports prices of basic crops at 90 per cent of parity.

GM Unveils Experimental Gas-Turbine Driven Car

Firebird Built to Study Power

It Is First of Kind Ever Tested; to Be Shown at New York Display

The first gas turbine automobile ever to be built and tested in the United States was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors.

The car is purely an experimental vehicle, not intended for highway use. It has been test run at the GM proving grounds.

The XP-21 Firebird, a sleek, white single seater with aerodynamic styling—will make its first public appearance at the GM Motorama of 1954 in New York, Jan. 21-26.

Constructed as an experiment to study future possibilities of the gas turbine for commercial use, the XP-21 has undergone preliminary tests since last October at the General Motors Proving Ground at Milford, and the GM Desert Proving Ground near Phoenix, Ariz.

(Charles L. McCuen, GM research chief, suffered extensive injuries when an experimental car he was driving overturned at the proving ground. No official announcement was made about the car but industry rumor at the time said it was a gas-turbine job).

"The XP-21 is not the car of tomorrow," Curtice explained. "Actually, it is a laboratory on wheels built only for the proving ground and test track, not for public highways.

"We built the Firebird to help us explore commercial possibilities of the gas turbine and add to our knowledge of thermodynamics," he said.

The idea of the Firebird originated with Harley J. Earl, GM vice president in charge of styling staff, who also designed its fibre glass reinforced plastic body.

The car's Whirlfire Turbo-Power engine and the chassis were developed under direction of GM Vice President Charles L. McCuen, general manager of GM Research Laboratories Division.

An aircraft motif is evident in the car's "needle" nose, delta wings swept back along the rear half of the body, a vertical tail fin and a plastic bubble over the driver's cockpit.

Earl said that on a vehicle of this type, completely streamlined, a tail fin or some flat vertical surface behind the car's center of gravity is necessary to give the body directional stability or hold it on course when it is in motion.

* * *

Behind the driver is an integrated power "package" with an engine consisting of two mechanically independent parts.

The two parts of the engine are called the gasifier section and power section. The gasifier section provides a source of compressed hot gas, and energy from this gas is delivered by the power section to the car's rear wheels.

Thus, the gasifier section replaces the engine and torque converter pump in a conventional automobile, while the power section replaces the torque converter turbine, transmission and rear axle gears.

The Whirlfire gasifier section closely resembles a complete small jet engine. The exhaust gas, instead of firing through a tailcone to propel the car, is funneled through a power turbine that is directly connected with the car's rear wheels through a transmission.

Backbone of the gasifier section is a so-called compressor rotor and a gasifier turbine wheel, both attached to the same shaft. Air enters the compressor where its pressure is raised to more than 3½ times atmospheric pressure, before it enters the engine's two combustion chambers.

* * *

Kerosene is burned in these chambers, raising the gas temperature to approximately 1500 degrees Fahrenheit.

The hot gas goes through the gasifier turbine which drives the compressor. The blast of hot gas from the gasifier turbine is funneled toward the second turbine, the power section turbine, which is connected with the car's rear wheels via a two-speed transmission.

The Firebird's power comes from the power turbine, rather than the thrust of exhaust gas through a tailcone, such as the high velocity thrust that propels a turbo-jet aircraft.

This is the major difference between an automobile and an aircraft turbine.

The Whirlfire engine develops 370 horsepower when the gasifier turbine is spinning at 26,000 r.p.m., and the power turbine is revolving at 13,000 r.p.m.

Total weight of the engine unit, including gasifier and power sections, is only 775 pounds. Overall weight of the entire car is 2500 pounds.

This gives the Whirlfire power plant and drive a weight-to-power ratio of approximately two pounds per horsehower. This ratio is about one-third of a conventional piston engine and drive.

The entire engine fits into a space 63 inches long, 26 inches deep and 32 inches wide.

The Firebird's overall length is 222.7 inches, as compared with the Cadillac's 220 11/16, and its width is 80 inches at its widest point, the tips of its swept-back delta wings. It is only 41 inches high at the top of the plastic bubble over the driver's cockpit and 55 inches high at the top of the rear vertical fin.

The wings have a functional purpose with their brake flaps on the trailing edges. They are electrically controlled from the steering wheel with aircraft type actuators.

The Firebird's main braking system differs from conventional design with brake drums outside rather than inside the wheels, for rapid cooling.

Earl suggested the overall Firebird project while he and McCuen were discussing the turbine's possibilities in a motorcar.

Because the styling involved aerodynamics the wind tunnel project on a model of the contemplated car, using varying nose and tail fin configurations, was undertaken with California Institute of Technology.

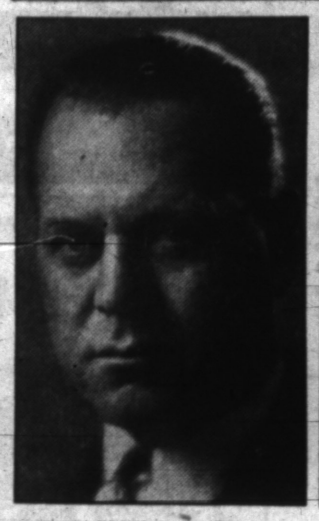

In October and November the Firebird was tested at the GM Proving Grounds, near Milford, and in early December it was moved to the Desert Proving Ground near Phoenix, Ariz., for additional trial runs.

At the wheel was Mauri Rose, an engineer for Chevrolet Motor Division and former three-time Indianapolis Speedway champion.

Two-way radio shortwave communication between engineers and the driver was set up to check every phase of the Firebird's performance. To record the performance were 16 dials, meters and other indicators on the car's instrument panel.

JET MOTIF—This is General Motors' XP-21 Firebird, first gas turbine automobile built and tested in the United States. An experimental vehicle for proving ground and test track driving only, the Firebird has an aircraft motif in its unique styling. It is a single seater with a plastic bubble over the driver's cockpit. Beside the car is test driver Maurie Rose, former Indianapolis Speedway champion, who put the Firebird through its break-in paces at GM proving grounds near Milford and at Phoenix, Ariz.

HARLEY J. EARL

CHARLES L. McCUEN

These two GM vice presidents originated the idea and developed the experimental Firebird, first gas-turbine driven passenger car ever to be built and tested in the United States.

Measles Cases Soar in Oakland

243 Infected in County; Mumps, Scarlet Fever, Chicken Pox Also Rise

Oakland County's measles rate soared to a new high for the season last week as 243 county people, outside Pontiac, came down with the disease.

Last week's measles cases snowballed from 88 new cases the week before.

Mumps struck 53 people last week, the department said, compared with two the week before. New scarlet fever cases totaled 16, against five the previous week; and chicken pox cases totaled 45, well over the 28 cases listed the week before.

When It's 40 Below

Luxury Licks Icy Morale Problem at Arctic Outpost

(This is the last of three dispatches by Douglas Larsen on the United States' new Air Force base at Thule, Greenland.)

* * *

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

THULE AIR FORCE BASE, Greenland (NEA)—The morale problem of America's newest and most strategically important air base, halfway between the North Pole and the Arctic Circle, worried the experts when the super-secret planning for Thule began.

The major fear was whether American GIs would be able to take total darkness of long arctic winters, temperatures between 20 to 40 degrees below zero, and no families or females, without cracking.

It's becoming apparent in this acid test of the first winter's full operation that fears on this score were groundless, for several reasons.

Black, icy, arctic winters aren't so tough when you've got the finest clothing and gear for the purpose ever developed. It includes comfortable, long-handled, light, cold-resistant outer garments, down to snug, felt "bunny boots" which keep feet warm no matter what the degree of cold.

Nearly every man has a private, cozy room in a large, well-heated, nicely-furnished barracks and the food is about the finest to be found at any military base in the world.

The Air Force also has gone all-out for recreation. Thule AFB boasts an athletic plant comparable to that of any college in the U.S., with a giant gym, handball courts, bowling alleys, rooms for indoor golf, fencing, boxing, ping pong and almost any indoor sport you can name. The men enjoy these things to the maximum, too.

It's difficult to be in a shouting crowd at a hot basketball game, with the rumble of ten-pins in the background, and realize you're next door to the North Pole.

There's nothing of an "outpost" look or atmosphere about the place. Officers and men must be shaved, have neat haircuts and no long sideburns. Class "A" uniforms of tie, shirt and blouse must be worn the same as at Stateside bases.

* * *

The only time you get the "outpost" feeling is during the periodic windstorms when everyone must stay in the building he happens to be in when the wind starts. Winds last from a few hours to a day or two. Each building has a self-contained heating and water system and a supply of C-rations for this emergency. It's the only time the arctic weather really gets dangerous.

There are fine libraries, post exchanges, churches, clubs, theaters and hobby shops. Under the agreement with the Danes, which permits the base to be on their Greenland, there is no hunting, but a little fishing in summer.

So, far, doctors report, mental troubles are only slightly above Stateside averages. The climate isn't as germ-free as rumor has it, but there's less disease than at U. S. bases. This winter there only have been four minor cases of frostbite.

Doctors and officers are constantly on the alert for men sleeping too much or day-dreaming for hours — sure signs of arctic mental fatigue.

* * *

The Air Force has ceased worrying about the impact of Communist radio propaganda beamed at the base. "Moscow Molly" harangues on the evils of capitalism, monopolists and how U.S. businessmen have their hands in the U.S. till. She plays records while catching her breath.

Some men listen for laughs, but most ignore this stuff completely. "Why pay any attention to that junk with a different movie every night to see or our own station KOLD to listen to?" says one GI, expressing a typical view.

A favorite subject is when and if families will be allowed here. Base Commander, Col. Richard T. Hernlund, says it's still undecided. But the cost would be astronomical, for transportation and arctic homes.

The three most celebrated personages here are the nurses who arrived recently. It may be accidental but they have an unlisted phone and the door to their quarters happens to be of heavy metal with a giant lock.

* * *

"We've decided that the best thing to do is be nice to everyone but never really have dates with individuals. We'll go to the club and movies but we'll go on our own each time and become friendly with everyone."

Santa Gets Present... and From an Ex-Wife

By BILLY ROSE

Actors' Equity has announced that more of its members had been employed as Santa Clauses during the holiday season than had worked in the legitimate theater during the entire year of 1953.

Last week I heard an odd tale which seems to point up the sobering truth of the Equity statistic...

BILLY ROSE

Back in the 20s when I first set up shop on Broadway, there was a matinee idol I'm going to call Meredith Scott who affected the ladies the way capnip affects a pussycat.

Good-looking and suave in a Noel Cowardish way, his name on a marquee, even in a bad show, guaranteed it a substantial run.

During the dozen years of his stardom, Meredith's name adorned almost as many wives as it did marquees. There were five of them — in marriage, as in the theater, an actor needs a new vehicle every couple of years if he's not to go stale.

Flies time, as the saying goes, and by the mid-30s the Meredith chest had slipped down to his abdomen, and the Barrymorish profile had sprouted an unwanted chin. And, his pulling powers dwindled.

Throughout 1953, he hadn't been offered so much as a walk-on, and so, when an old friend at the Lamb's Club told him how much the department stores were paying their Santa Clauses, he applied for one of the jobs and got it.

Meredith Scott, as might be expected, was no ordinary Santa. For one thing, instead of wearing the store's stock Santa outfit, he went over to the Brooks Costume Company where Jimmy Stroock, for oldtime's sake, fixed him up with the most splendiferous Santa outfit on his racks.

For another, before starting work, the thespian spent almost two hours at a dressing table making up.

So, when he made his grand entrance on the floor of the toy department, he was Santa down to the last bristle of his magnificent whiskers.

On the third day of his "run," a four-year-old boy, accompanied by his mother, joined the line of kids waiting to whisper their Christmas requests.

When Meredith saw the lad's mother, he got a bad case of stage fright. It was his third wife, Estelle — who, after their divorce, had married a well-to-do, if unglamorous, railroad executive.

Meredith doubted she would recognize him beneath his heavy make-up, but he watched her closely nonetheless. Would she—? Good! She didn't. Well, then, by Kris Kringle himself, he'd give her a show!

Unfortunately, however, his performance got off on the wrong foot. For, as his ex-wife's son sidled up to him, the lad's opening line was, "You ain't Santa. You're a big fake."

This was a bit to much for the old performer. Nobody had ever questioned his Cyrano, Hamlet or Marchbanks. How dare a small boy question his Santa?

For the next five minutes, while impatient youngsters waited to be heard, the ex-star turned on every bit of charm and talent he had left.

Quietly, confidentially, sincerely, he explained to the lad how he had helpers — fakers, to be sure — who played Santa in less important stores; how other helpers — real ones — were at that very moment busy loading toys into bags at the North Pole, and how, on Christmas Eve, he, the only genuine Santa, would come down the chimney with everything the lad's heart desired.

The old magic was still there.

"Gee," said the boy, "I take it back, Mr. Santa. Could I have a space suit, a rocket ship and a catcher's glove?"

Meredith looked over at his former wife. She nodded okay.

"They'll be under the Christmas tree when you wake up," he said.

"How'll you know where I live?" asked the boy.

"I'll write out your address and give it to Santa," said his mother.

She went to a nearby desk, made out a card, put it in an envelope and handed it to Meredith.

As boy and mother disappeared into the crowd, the old actor grinned a whiskery grin of relief.

He opened the envelope.

On the card was written, "A Merry Christmas to the finest actor I ever knew."

Pinned to it was a check for $500.

Denies Purple Gang Killer Getting 'Preferred' Care

DETROIT (UP) — State Corrections Director Gus Harrison said today he could find no evidence of preferred treatment for a former Purple Gang killer at the Detroit House of Corrections.

Harrison spent yesterday investigating the transfer of Phillip Keywell, 44, serving life for the 1930 slaying of a 16-year-old boy, from Jackson Prison to Detroit House of Correction.

Afterward, he said he would ask the State Corrections Commission to consider "greater screening" of state prison transfers to the Detroit institution.

Harrison was here to investigate reports Keywell had received preferred treatment since his transfer in November, 1951. Authorities at the House of Correction denied it, and Harrison agreed after his investigation.

Keywell has been assigned to the city-owned farm at Maybury Sanitorium in Northville. Harrison said he found "Keywell has been treated no different than other state prisoners since his transfer."

One Killed, One Injured in Car-Truck Collision

DETROIT (UP) — Robert Draft, 21, Taylor Township, was killed Tuesday night when a car in which he was riding with six other youths collided with a truck.

They Got Out and Got Under

First Ann Arbor Car Dealers Ran Afoul of Steep Hills, Public Scorn

By GEMMA R. STRIFFLER

"Go get a horse!"

This was the epithet which was hurled at young Edward Staebler, junior partner of Staebler and Son of Ann Arbor, in the year 1900.

His new Trimoto horseless carriage could not negotiate the hill on West Liberty street between Ashley and First, the short distance from the store to his residence.

Staebler and Son were the first automobile dealers in Ann Arbor. Their troubles with motor cars of 50 years ago will recall to the older generation its own experiences with horseless carriages.

In 1885, Edward's father, Michael Staebler, moved to Ann Arbor from his farm in Lodi Township, where he had a cider press, a sawmill, and operated a threshing machine.

In Ann Arbor, he built the Germania building, now the Earl Hotel, on the southeast corner of Ashley and Washington streets. He sold coal, farm machinery and bicycles; and was the first bicycle dealer in Ann Arbor.

Later on, Edward's brothers, Herman and Walter, were made partners and the firm's name was changed to Staebler and Sons.

And it is from their business records, generously given to Michigan Historical Collections in 1953, that we report the dramatic and interesting history of the trials and tribulations of an early automobile dealer.

After much persuasion, this enterprising young man, Edward, convinced his father that they should be the first ones to sell cars in their town. . . and a dealer, of course, would have to own a carriage in order to demonstrate to prospective customers, which was just what Ed wanted.

From the American Bicycle Co., which also sold automobiles, they secured the agency for Trimoto at a list price of $425. It was a light, three-wheeled car weighing about 500 pounds.

* * *

Early in October, Ann Arbor's Daily Argus reported: "E. W. Staebler has received a Trimoto from the Western Wheel Works in Chicago and will be able to take a spin in a few days. It will carry two people and may run at the rate of 12 miles an hour. Mr. Staebler will handle anything in the automobile line as soon as arrangements can be made."

* * *

Edward used the machine for one month in the fall of 1900 with dubious success and then his real troubles began.

pushed up the hills . . . waiting ting out and getting under, being pushing up the hills . . . waiting for new parts . . . Edward was so discouraged he inquired if the firm would exchange the Trimoto for bicycles or for a more powerful car that could negotiate hills and bad roads.

In reply, the company offered to make the car over into a 1901 model free of charge. So Ed shipped the car to Chicago and wrote the company urging them to improve the brakes by using an iron shoe instead of the leather over wood, as gravel became imbedded in the leather causing it to wear on tires like so much sandpaper.

The renovated Trimoto was returned to Ann Arbor in April 1901, four months later, with many instructions, such as:

"To start, turn on gasoline at cock under tank and throw electric switch under right side of seat so that the lever covers the small button. Then turn on gasoline at needle valve on the nickel-plated mixer valve in front of engine, and start with crank."

The performance of the engine was still unsatisfactory, so much correspondence ensued. In one letter Ed remarked:

"We cannot climb our hills even here in the city. I cannot go from the store to my residence without pushing the car up the hill. It has managed to climb the hill but twice. . . we do not care to try any more because of the jeers of the onlookers. We certainly never will be able to sell any of them."

And in July of 1901, Ed traded the Trimoto back to the company for a Toledo Steam Carriage. This, too, gave him considerable trouble.

On Aug. 27, he shipped it via the Ann Arbor Railroad to Toledo, asking the company to do a quick repair job so that he could drive it in the Labor Day parade. The Toledo Carriage was not ready, but a nameless steam car was in line.

The "chauffeur" was Howard E. Coffin, an engineering student, who spent his spare time in Staebler's garage, building the car from parts purchased from B. J. Carter of Jackson, plus parts taken from old bicycles. This steam carriage is now in the Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn, Michigan.

Edward drove his Carriage home from Toledo, taking six and three-quarters hours to travel 58 miles. Over some roads, he drove at the rate of five miles per hour. The car consumed 11 gallons of gasoline and a quart each of lubricating and cylinder oils.

At the end of 1901, Staebler and Son still was the only automobile dealership in Ann Arbor, and the Toledo Steam Carriage was the only car the partners had to show.

In spite of advertising, and demonstrations, the Staeblers sold no cars. Breakdowns continued to occur and the boiler or the engine, or both, from time to time were shipped to Toledo for repairs.

Although Staebler and Son retained the Toledo Carriage agency during the next 50 years, the firm eventually acted as dealers for the Winton, Reo, Dort, Franklin, Oakland, and the Pontiac.

In 1906, they advertised the original Toledo Carriage for sale. A man in Ithaca offered to swap a span of horses and $100 to boot for it. When Ed learned the horses were too light to draw coal wagons, the deal was off.

Later he sold the Carriage to Edward J. Kuhn of Ann Arbor. The sale marked the close of Staebler and Sons' early career as an automobile dealer. But Edward and his father and brothers did have faith enough in the future of the automobile business to stay with it, and to grow up with it.

During the long succeeding years, their success was in happy contrast to the almost barren results of those years between 1900 and 1906.

General Motors, with a 1952 income of over $7½ billion, matched the total income of 42 states combined, excluding New York, California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, and Illinois, Cars Magazine reported.

Due to the huge response on this special we are repeating it for everyone's benefit

Salt to Taste Rule Pretty Rough for Novice Cook

CHICAGO (INS)—"Salt to taste" is pretty obscure advice to the novide cook.

It's the best yardstick to follow, but there are some general rules to use until cook finds out just how much salt she and the rest of the family likes.

For meat that has little bone, allot one teaspoon of salt for every pound. Reduce this portion if there is a large amount of bone.

Use one teaspoon of salt for a two and one-half to three pound chicken you are frying. For a stewing hen, cover it with water spiked with one an a half teaspoons of salt.

Anything that is supposed to be "cooked in boiling, salted water" —macaroni, spaghetti or noodles for instance—takes one teaspoon of salt per quart of water.

A salad of lettuce and other vegetables for four should have a minimum of one-half teaspoon of salt sprinkled on it.

To cook vegetables, use one-half teaspoon of salt for every two cups of green beans, broccoli, etc.

Smoked fish, salt cod and shell fish are naturally salty and should be left alone. Oysters, lobster and lobster tail also can be left alone since the salt can be added as desired by the person eating them. For any other fish, the measure is usually one-half teaspoon per pound.

Keynote Breakfasts With Quick Cereals

If homemakers would only put as much thought into planning the first meal of the day as they do on dessert for dinner, there'd be less of breakfast skipping and of grumpiness in those who do reluctantly pull up to the table.

Goodness knows why it should be such a chore if one uses an easy-to-prepare basic cereal breakfast pattern which can be tailored to fit the family needs — simple as fruit, cereal and milk, bread and no cookbooks necessary!

The next time you say "What shall I have for breakfast?" try a cereal you've never had. You can always plan a tempting, hearty, quick-as-wink breakfast around any cereal. But why not have a change —the fun of something new? Check your grocer's cereal shelves, refurbish your ask.

Collect ideas for serving cereals — topping of fruit, sugar and spice, syrup, honey. Serve cereal in a different bowl, or a choice of cereals and fruit on your lazy Susan; try cereals as ingredients in other dishes. There's enough adventure on your cereal shelf that you'll find breakfast planning can be fun!

Man Is Asked to Leave Pine Needles to Walk On

Original Parties Dead Long Ago, Lawsuit Lives

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Although all the original parties are long since dead, the lawsuit in which they became embroiled 46 years ago is still alive.

J. M. Lewis and wife filed the suit in 1907 against S. W. Harris and wife. The Lewises claimed the Harrisses had entered their property and removed timber valued at $300. The defendants denied the charge saying they owned part of the property.

The case dragged on until 1917, but there was no action from 1917 until 1953 when M. M. Banks acquired the Lewis property and revived the case. He asked that descendants of the Harrisses be made defendants, and for a court order forbiding them to enter the property.

Another judge decided it was time to end the case and he dismissed it. However, the State Supreme Court recently gave it new life by ruling that the judge exceeded his authority.

One-Way Street Change Even Confuses Mayor

GALLUP, N. M. (AP) — At the suggestion of the mayor, enforcement of Gallup's new one-way street regulations were delayed a few days until everyone could get used to them.

"I got confused myself," said his honor, D. F. Mollica. "Found myself going the wrong way the first day and had to back up."

Amishmen's Way of Life Same as 200 Years Ago

WASHINGTON—In mid-20th century America there still exists a group of plain, prosperous, and non-conforming people whose way of life, based solidly upon their religious beliefs, remains much as it was 200 years ago.

They are the Amish. They wear sober garb of ancient cut topped by wide-brimmed black hats and bonnets, speak their own language, drive square-topped buggies along country roads, and rank among North America's finest farmers, the National Geographic Society says.

As happens nearly every year in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, a number of Amishmen recently spent three days in jail for keeping their children over 14 home from school.

To the Amish, learning to farm is the best education for sons who under their faith will inevitably be farmers.

Their impasse with Pennsylvania's school laws is one of the few situations in which Amish become involved with courts for any reason, or with an outside world that they would rather accept peaceably.

The Amish, followers of the teachings of Jacob Amman, are an offshoot of the much larger Mennonite faith. Their heritage traces back to the 16th century Reformation when their forefathers were persecuted for their religious convictions.

Together with the Mennonites, Amish began migrating to America from the Palatinate, Alsace-Lorraine, and the Low Countries in the years after 1730. Today there are between 30,000 and 40,000 Amish in the United States and Canada.

The largest settlements are in Ohio, Indiana, and Pennsylvania, in that order, but there are other groups as far west as Oregon and in Ontario. There are no more in Europe.

Over the last century splits have developed in Amish communities as various groups accepted more modern farming methods, costume, and household conveniences. But even today the Old Order or Conservative Amish do not have electricity or telephones in their homes.

They use horses for both plowing and transportation, and retain the same hook-and-eye clothing their ancestors wore.

They live by Biblical tenents. Their sole aim is to be decent, upright people and first-rate farmers, and they are both.

At marriage the men grow beards and change from open buggies to those with tops. They receive farms by family purchase or division of land, with the result that farmland in Amish communities soon becomes extremely valuable.

Contrary to popular notions, the Amish are neither misers nor extremely rich. They borrow money and keep bank accounts, although they like to buy by cash. They pay taxes willingly.

Their needs are simple, and they have a matchless "social security" assured by family unity and commonever been an Amishman in the poorhouse.

German City Recovers After Bombing Raid

PFORZHEIM, Germany (AP) — Pforzheim, after nearly nine years, is again the jewelry manufacturing center of this country. Yet much of the ruins still remain from the devastating raid of Feb. 23, 1945 by British bombers. Of Pforzheim's 79,000 citizens, 17,600 were killed in 20 minutes. One large cross near the center of the city stands as a memorial to all.

Despite whole blocks still leveled, new factories, homes and stores are being erected everywhre.

Soldiers Will Stage Own USO Shows

PARIS (INS)—The U. S. soldiers in France will pick up where the USO stopped in providing Armed Forces entertainment.

Lack of funds has forced cancellation of USO traveling camp shows for troops in France, North Africa and certain installations operated by the Air Force.

But special Service officers at Orelans COM Z underlined in their announcement that entertainment will not be lacking.

Celebrity shows with professional casts volunteering their efforts on an expense-paid basis, will continue to make a hit with the soldiers.

Troop units will be screened more closely for musical and entertainment talent, and the development of theater and choral groups will be encouraged.

Field entertainment directors have also been appointed for the COM Z Advance Section and Orleans Area Command.

Proposal Slated for Board Action

Members Also to Pass on Disorderly Conduct Ordinance Saturday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A resolution asking for special legislation prohibiting hunting in Waterford Township will be proposed at a Township Board meeting Saturday, according to Supervisor Lloyd Anderson.

Passage by the board will bring the resolution up for action by the Michigan Legislature. If the bill gets through the state body, township voters will probably be asked to pass on it in the fall primary election, Anderson said.

Also up for board approval Saturday will be a township disorderly conduct ordinance, recently drawn up by attorney John Bell.

Anderson also revealed that the board will meet with Milton Adams of the Michigan Water Resources Commission either the first or second week in February to discuss the proposed sewer system for the township.

Earlier he revealed that the township plans to introduce a bill in the Michigan Legislature which would "strengthen salability of revenue bonds" for the proposed system.

According to the supervisor, the bill would cut the interest rate on the bonds, making them more attractive to both purchasers and taxpayers.

He explained that the legislation would give the planned bond issue additional backing, thus making the bonds sounder investments, which in turn would reduce the interest rate.

Jet Crash Kills Milford Airman

Lt. Kenneth Aspinall Dies as Fighter Spins Near Pensacola

MILFORD — Lt. (jc) Kenneth C. Aspinwal, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Aspinall of 2910 Giddings Blvd., Milford, was killed yesterday when his F9F5 Navy jet fighter plane crashed in a wooded area near Pensacola Naval Air Station, Florida.

Air station officials said the plane coming from Dallas, Texas, would have landed in about two minutes.

A trailer sales operator, who saw the accident, said one of the plane's wings seemed to fold up while the plane was in formation with another. The plane rolled over and went into a spin, exploding when it hit the ground, he said.

Lt. Aspinall, who entered service in Feb. 1944, and served during World War II, was a veteran of 58 missions as a fighter pilot in the Korean War. He flew with the 884th Fighter Squadron after his recall to service in Nov. 1951.

After discharge in August 1949, he attended Michigan State College, starting in 1951. He was recalled to service in Nov. 1951.

He had been based in San Diego, Calif. where he was taking jet training. According to his parents, he was on his way to a jet base in Florida at the time of his death.

Born July 20, 1926 in Detroit, he was a graduate of Milford High School.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Dianne of San Diego; a sister, Margaret; and a brother E. Robert of Detroit.

Speaker Cites Need for Educating Handicapped Children

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

"All children who deserve an education and who are educable are not getting that education."

This was an opinion expressed by Dr. Vivian I. Harway, co-director of Rackham Institute at Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti. She spoke this week before the Pontiac area chapter of the International Council for Exceptional Children.

Persons who work in this field from Berkley, Pontiac, Waterford, Rochester and West Bloomfield public schools heard Dr. Harway state that the law of supply and demand is not working in educating handicapped children.

Children who need academic and special training, but because of their physical and mental limitations are unable to attend regular public schools, are being turned away from special educational opportunities due to lack of trained personnel, facilities and finances, she said.

According to the speaker, children who are suffering most because of these lacks are handicapped adolescents, the pre-school exceptional child, multiple handicapped and brain injured youngsters.

On the credit side, Dr. Harway said, definite progress in a special education program is being made in the United States.

"More communities are becoming aware of the extent of the problem within their areas. When they are educated to the need, they will so something about it.

"Closer integration of community services now available, and full utilization of all existing facilities will give these children even more chance than they are now receiving," she stated.

Closer working relationships between parents, visiting teachers, psychologists and other personnel in the field were urged by the speaker.

Of primary importance, she told the group, was to scale handicapped childrens' environment down to a level with their capability and then begin a slow increase so that an accomplishment on the part of the child is felt.

"They become discouraged when they cannot produce, and we in this field must learn better ways of assessing their capabilities.

Teacher training institutions, she pointed out, share the blame for not preparing their graduates in handling children of this type.

She told the group that she is promoting interest in a special education course to be required of every teacher in order to give them the know-how in dealing with handicapped children.

Dr. Harway was introduced by Allen Copley, chairman of the group from the Pontiac Schools. Program chairman for the meeting was Mrs. Randy Sax, speech correctionist with Waterford Township Schools.

Solons Tackle Tax Rewrite Job

Ways and Means Group Has Mammoth Task Revising Levy Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee buckled down today to the mammoth task of rewriting most of the nation's tax laws amid growing talk of new income tax relief for everybody.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) called the committee into closed session.

Rep. Boggs (D-La) predicted that some Democrats would press for a $100 boost in personal income tax exemptions. The present law allows each taxpayer a $600 exemption for himself and each of his dependents before his remaining income is taxed.

If enacted, the liberalized exemption would save taxpayers about 2½ billion dollars annually. Low-income groups and large families would profit most from it and several million low-bracket taxpayers wouldn't have to pay any income tax.

Republicans also were talking—more vaguely—of a possible new income tax cut in addition to the 10 per cent average reduction which took effect Jan. 1.

The Eisenhower administration, struggling to balance the budget, would probably frown on such revenue losses for now, though holding out hope for such action in the future.

Recommendations prepared by Treasury and congressional staff experts do not deal with major tax rates, but would yield about $1,300,000,000 annually in tax reductions through many lesser changes.

These would involve new or bigger deductions for medical expenses, dependents making more than $600 annually, child-care costs of working widows and widowers, depreciation, dividend income and so forth.

School Singers Changing Policy

State Directors to Use Mass Chorus Plan in Large Festivals

Michigan has abandoned its state "solo and ensemble festival" for high school singers in favor of a massed chorus program similar to the one conducted annually at Pontiac High School by Don Craig.

Michigan School Vocal Assn., a group of the state's high school vocal music teachers, made the change at a recent meeting.

George H. Putnam, Pontiac High's vocal music director, said the annual state-wide festivals in which individual singers and small groups competed for ratings by judges, were largely the same as the smaller district festivals.

"The students came, sang the same numbers they'd sung at district festivals and often had to leave before they could hear the the others sing at all," he said. "They weren't getting any new experience out of it."

Size was another factor, Putnam said. Last year's festival planners had 3,000 singers to schedule for solo and small group numbers.

Now, Putnam explained, the singers and small groups will still take part in smaller district festivals.

Once a year, however, they'll have the thrill of singing in a large, massed chorus . . . a new experience for youngsters in many smaller high schools.

"We're staging three separate statewide festivals or schools of various sizes, so that the choruses won't get too large," Putnam said.

Class "A" schools, such as Pontiac High, will meet at University of Michigan May 8. Singers from class "B" schools will meet at Western Michigan College of Education in Kalamazoo this year, with Class "C" and "D" schools at Central Michigan College of Education in Mt. Pleasant.

Ike Defends Farm Policy, Calls It Big Improvement

And he left it to Congress to decide whether government - conducted secret strike votes should be held before or during a strike.

Eisenhower devoted much of a news conference to a discussion of his 1954 legislative program.

Generally speaking, he said, his messages to Congress tried to set forth principles rather than to diagram the exact manner in which Congress should go about achieving these goals.

Reporters told him that some members of his own party in Congress said his new farm program —calling for flexible price supports—was not "politically feasible in this election year." The Chief Executive said he still believed his plan is right.

He said he does not think that he is too smart politically himself, but he does not believe anyone who has studied the farm problem as long and as closely as his administration could arrive at any conclusion that the current system is workable or would help the farmers.

He said that in his presentation to Congress, he attempted to show the way to a stable, prosperous agriculture.

He said if his plan is not politically feasible, he would surely find out, but that in the meantime he believes firmly that it is right.

Reporters sought to clear up confusion about his labor message.

They wanted to know whether he preferred government-conducted secret ballots to be held among workers prior to a strike, or after a strike started, as provided in his message Monday; the administration bill to change the Taft-Hartley law as introduced by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

Eisenhower explained that he had carefully avoided spelling out the exact details; that determination of the details is the province of Congress and its committees.

His function, he said, was to lay down principles and in this light, he would accept anything that seemed to be the most practicable, the most workable.

Hazel Park Ballot Gets School Levy

HAZEL PARK—On March 2 voters again will be given the opportunity to boost the school tax by $5 per $1,000 equalized valuation.

The school board decided to put the issue on the ballot Monday night after receiving petitions from school district residents requesting the board to hold another referendum.

A previous referendum failed by 94 votes.

At best, the increase would be only temporary. In 1955, another extra $4 levy expires, which would leave a net increase of only $1 over the 1953 tax rate.

Accidents in about the home killed about 27,000 Americans in 1953.

U. S. Will Prod Italy on Reds

Won't Place Contracts With Communist Run Italian Factories

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today the U. S. government is planning a tougher policy "to prod Italy toward sterner measures against the growing power of her Communist party."

A Washington dispatch to the Times by James Reston added:

"It is understood that Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce has been authorized to advise the new Italian government, when it is formed, that the United States does not intend to continue placing military contracts in Communist-dominated Italian factories. Rome will be urged to change what Washington regards as a 'lax' policy toward the Communists."

The story noted that in the past fiscal year contracts totaling more than 400 million dollars were placed by the United States in Italy, and a comparable program was planned for Italy in the coming fiscal year.

The contracts were for aircraft, minesweepers, ammunition, radar and other military supplies. They were part of the U. S. procurement plan to help increase military production, lower military costs and improve the economic life of the Allied countries.

Both Hubbard, State Can Use Jury Data

DETROIT (AP) — Both sides have been granted permission to use "excerpts" from previous grand jury testimony in the current ouster proceedings against Dearborn's colorful and controversial Mayor Orville Hubbard.

Probate Judge Wallace Waalkes Jr. of Grand Rapids, assigned to hear testimony in the removal proceedings by Gov. Williams, granted permission for the use of "excerpts" from testimony given earlier before Circuit Judge Miles N. Culehan's one-man grand jury. He also stipulated that both sides should have the material available to them.

Judge Waalkes further limited use of the excerpts to the confirmation of testimony given at the present hearing or to point out differences in current testimony.

The removal proceedings against Hubbard resulted from Judge Culehan's investigation into the political affairs of the Detroit suburb.

Electrical Workers Get Birthdays Off With Pay

CHICAGO (AP)—Birthdays will be extra special in the future for 4,000 Chicago electrical workers.

They will get the day off from work with full pay.

Michael F. Darling, president of Local 1031, AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said four Chicago area plants with which his union has contracts have agreed to that special benefit.

"A birthday is a big event in everyone's life. If should be a holiday—with pay," Darling said.

Soviet Frowns at Security Talk

Sees West's Guarantee as Attempt to Confuse European Thinking

MOSCOW (AP)—A writer in Pravda today denounced Western offers of a guarantee of the Soviet Union's security as an attempt "to confuse the public in Western Europe."

The writer, E. Alexandrov, declared in an article in the Communist party newspaper that the security guarantee offer was raised only in the hope of hastening the ratification of the European Defense Community.

The Russian commentator described EDC itself as "an instrument of aggression against the U. S. S. R." and asserted:

"Projects for a so-called 'new system of security' which are now being offered, completely ignore the lessons learned at the price of two world wars.

"They not only fail to provide measures aimed at the formation of a single democratic, peace-loving and independent Germany but, on the contrary, stem from the principle of dividing Germany and drawing off its Western provinces into the so-called EDC.

"One only has to permit the restoration of the vengeful Wehrmacht (German army) and war will again be at Europe's door."

* * *

The Pravda writer was evidently referring to statements made by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in a British Broadcasting Corp. talk Sunday. Eden said the West would not jettison its EDC and NATO security arrangements but will consider giving new guarantees of security to the Soviet Union.

* * *

Previously Washington dispatches said the United States is prepared to join Britain and France in offering security guarantees to Russia—provided these are part of a package solution of the problems of German unification and a German peace treaty.

Search Ends in Crash but Finds Lost Spouse

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)— Worried when her husband failed to arrive home on time, Mrs. Louise E. Wilson, 31, set out to search for him yesterday in one of the family's two cars.

Her search ended with a bang. Her car became involved in a traffic accident with an automobile driven by Terance A. Wilson—her husband.

Speech Clinic Slated Monday

To Be Held at Whittier; Is 1st of Series to Help Troubled Youngsters

Speech difficulties of local youngsters with cerebral palsy will be examined free of charge at a clinic at Whittier School Monday from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

The clinic is the first of a series to be sponsored in Michigan cities by the University of Michigan Speech Clinic and United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Michigan.

Pontiac Public Schools will join in sponsoring Monday's clinic, to be conducted by Dr. D. E. Morley, assistant director of the University speech clinic.

Dr. Morley will go over the children's speech troubles and tell parents what they can do to help the children. At least one of each child's parents is asked to attend.

Helping Dr. Morley Monday will be Miss Beverly Eaton, speech therapist; Miss Eleanor Traut, physical therapist, and Mrs. Honora Kinsella, special education teacher. All are members of Whittier's staff.

Monday's clinic is the first of 20 such projects planned for Michigan over the next few months. The United Cerebral Palsy Assn. is paying the cost.

Other cities slated for speech clinics are Detroit, Dearborn, Battle Creek, Flint, Lansing, Bay City Muskegon, Fremont, Kalamazoo, Alepena, Cheboygan, Traverse City, Petoskey, Benton Harbor, Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie, Jackson, Adrian, Grand Rapids and Niles.

Missouri Pair to Win Fame With Cinerama

S. H. Fabian, Stanley Warner Cinerama Corporation president, this week gave a Kansas City, Mo., young married couple, John and Betty Marsh, the "thrill of their lives."

The pair, picked as a typical young American couple who has never before acted professionally or traveled outside of the United States, was signed to be featured in the European sequences of "The Thrill of Your Life," second Cinerama process production being produced by Louis de Rochemont.

James Petrie, talent scout canvassing the Middle West for prospects, found Mrs. Marsh in a Kansas City University night school drama class. The Marshes will fly from Kansas City Sunday for New York, then to Zurich and Paris.

Three Youths, 16, Admit 8 Cheboygan Robberies

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — A series of robberies here in recent months has been solved by the arrest of a trio of 16-year-olds. Police said they confessed stealing 200 at eight stores and trying to break into eight other places.

Authorities said the youths will be sent to the Boys Vocational School at Lansing.

NEWEST NEW OLDSMOBILE IN FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS!

NOW . . . the "88" of tomorrow . . . the car that Oldsmobile has been "building up to" for many years . . . will be displayed on Wednesday, January 20th!

JUST WAIT! For the most significant, the most exciting new car announcement in Oldsmobile's 57-year history. Yes, even more startling than 1940, when Hydra-Matic Drive was introduced by Oldsmobile. Even more spectacular than 1948 and the debut of Futuramic styling. Even more thrilling—believe it or not—than 1949, when Oldsmobile's first "Rocket" was launched and started a whole new era of high-compression power.

JUST WAIT! It's going to be not just a new car, but an ultra-new kind of car. A "dream car" that actually had its beginnings years and years ago. A "show car" that draws inspiration from the many experimental models of recent years. A "car of tomorrow", so basically new in styling and engineering, with so many new convenience and comfort features, that it's bound to set new trends in automotive design!

JUST WAIT! It's going to be THE "88." Remember when Oldsmobile startled the automotive world with its first "88" model? It represented a new idea in fine cars—a new balance of power and pace, style and grace—and soon became the "hottest number on the highway". Even today, if you'll check trade-in values and used-car prices, you'll find that those "88" numerals still possess their own special kind of magic. And this new Oldsmobile for 1954 represents the peak, the climax, the fulfillment of the "88" idea!

JUST WAIT! You're going to see a startling new kind of styling that—we warn you!—will make you dissatisfied until you actually own this car. A definite low slung "sports car" look, but American through and through. With a "new slant" on windshield design. (This will start a new trend, just watch!) A new silhouette that's longer, lower, lovelier. New fender treatment, new door design, new interiors—well, frankly, everything everywhere you look is new!

JUST WAIT! Your biggest thrill will come when you drive this car. For remember, it's a "Rocket"—and you know what a wonderful performer the "Rocket" Engine is right now. Yet for 1954, the "Rocket" will be bigger, more powerful and—here's real news—more economical than ever. Already, it's a World's-Record-breaker! In a gruelling test run at Monarch Pass, Colorado, this new 1954 Oldsmobile engine outstripped the famous 1953 "Rocket" in every phase of performance, hit the "top of the world" at the Continental Divide with far greater ease than any car had ever approached. Similarly, at the Indianapolis Speedway, in a 10,000-mile, nonstop economy run, this astonishing new "Rocket" used 10% less gasoline than a 1953 Oldsmobile.

JUST WAIT! And you won't have to wait long! This "dream car", this "car of tomorrow", this newest new Oldsmobile in fifty-seven years, is being displayed on Wednesday, January 20. So make a date with this new "88" at your Oldsmobile dealer's. JUST WAIT TILL YOU SEE IT!

Newlywed Rubirosas to Fly to Palm Beach

NEW YORK (AP) — Newlyweds Porfirio Rubirosa and Barbara Hutton are scheduled to fly to Palm Beach today in the privacy of a chartered 88-passenger Constellation.

An Eastern Airlines spokesman said yesterday that the former Dominican diplomat and his heiress wife hired the plane at a cost of $4,500. The spokesman said the party will include Rubirosa's secretary and a domestic.

The plane will carry a regular crew of six—pilot, co-pilot, flight engineer, a steward and two stewardesses.

Ship Cheboygan Rhubarb

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Robert Oswald, who estimates he will harve a 25-ton hothouse rhubarb crop this winter, has shipped 500 pounds of his crop by plane to New York. It was the first rhubarb to be sent to the New York market this year from anywhere in the U.S.

Stay in Golden Jail Delays Trip on Arabian Blue

DENVER (AP) — A stay in the nearby Golden, Colo., jail has caused Ralph E. Hume to postpone a trip by horseback from Denver to St. Louis.

The 38-year-old steelworker had planned to leave here yesterday astride his Arabian mare Blue. But Monday he was given a 90-day jail sentence in the theft of an electric saw last Aug. 6.

Mrs. Hume and their son Robert, 12, left in December to stay temporarily with relatives in Chesterfield, Mo., just outside St. Louis.

Hume planned to join them there with the help of Blue. He figured the cost of shipping her back by truck would be too expensive.

Hume said he plans to proceed with the trip "the day they let me out."

Owosso to Vote April 5 on Charter Revision

OWOSSO (AP) — Owosso voters will decide whether they want to revise the present city charter at the April election. At the same time nine commissioners will be elected to revise the charter.

However, if the vote goes against a revision, the charter commission will also be out. The city's present charter was adopted in 1914.

Lakeside Tots to Get Checkups

Health Conferences to Be Held Twice Monthly for Little Children

Pre-school youngsters in Lakeside Homes Housing Development will be offered free health checkups twice a month starting Thursday morning.

Pontiac's Southwest Civic Assn., City Health Department and Visiting Nurse Assn. are sponsoring the "child health conferences" from 9 a.m. until noon the second and fourth Thursday each month.

Parents must make appointments at the City Health Department — FEderal 3-7131 — before taking children in for examination. Only youngsters from birth to 5 years old are eligible.

City health officials said the conference will emphasize proper food, care and protection against diseases. Sick youngsters will be referred to family physicians or hospitals for treatment.

Dr. Etta Link of Berkley will examine children. She will be assisted by a nurse from the City Health Department and another from the Visiting Nurses Assn.

The Southwest Civic Assn., whose requests spurred plans for the "clinic," is supplying a committee of eight volunteers to help staff the conferences in Lakeside's administration building.

Mr. Leroy Myers is chairman and Mrs. Arthur Wells, vice chairman. Committeewomen include Mrs. Major Watkins Jr., Mrs. T. Walter Harris, Mrs. William Hayden, Mrs. Alfred Walker, Mrs. Henry Slater and Mrs. Herbert Taylor.

Helping provide materials for the sessions are Pontiac Camp Fire Girls, Boys' Club, Business and Professional Women and other organizations.

The City Health Department emphasized the Lakeside health conferences are open to children from other areas whose parents can't afford routine health checkups.

Indiana Gets Cash to Build Toll Road

NEW YORK (AP) — The Indiana Toll Road Commission has received the money for 280 million dollars' worth of bonds issued to build an expressway across northern Indiana.

Representatives of 479-member syndicate which contracted for the issue last month received the bonds and handed the money to Bruce Short of Indianapolis, commission secretary, and Harry T. Rice, Indianapolis attorney. The money was deposited in the Hanover Bank of New York.

We Knew You'd Be Excited When You Saw the New 1954 Ford!

Frankly, we must admit that while we expected a good response to the new and beautiful Fords, such overwhelming acceptance by the nearly 7,000 local people who packed our show rooms last week almost floored old Cactus Pete. Ford scored another smash hit with Pontiac residents who want luxury without waste.

If you missed out on seeing the new '54 Ford last week, why not stop in today and have one of our salesmen show you why the turn is to Ford this year. And when you sit down to do business, you'll discover just exactly why Ford—the Worth More Car—declares a dividend this year.

Sondheim Replaces Two-Piece Suit With Coat-Dress, Bolero Costumes

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK—The new mixed fabrics, the delight of all designers and fashion experts, were eye catchers at the Tuesday spring fashion showings held at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Vincent Monte-Sano of Monte-Sano and Pruzan is not only enthusiastic over the results of the blending of the new fabrics, but also over the willingness of the manufacturers to work these fabrics together.

Mrs. Clemence

These fabrics used in dresses, suits and coats are mixtures of wool and cotton, silk and wool, blends of cashmere, mohair and angora, linen and wool, and fleece and cashmere combinations.

Designer Monte - Sano says there's something about such fabrics that's like walking on cat's feet.

The slim look was emphasized in all of the designers' clothes shown Tuesday, but Herbert Sondheim and Ben Zuckerman drew applause from the audience when they announced that full skirts are very much in fashion.

In Mr. Sondheim's collection, full skirts are the rule, but they are handled with such skill and grace as to look definitely slim except in motion.

Entirely missing from the Sondheim collection is the two-piece suit. Replacing it are the coat-dress costume and the bolero costume. The jacket of the costume is often cropped to bosom length, while the dress is sleeveless.

Introduced in the Zuckerman collection is one of the most significant new coat shapes. The coat, very flared and distinctly shorter than the dress, ranges from three-quarter length to only a few inches above the dress hemline.

One of the most talked about coats of the collection is called "Zuckerman's Folly" (some are betting that it will make a fortune.)

It is slender but not narrow, with an in-curve above the hips both back and front to give a very high-bosomed line. The arc is emphasized by high placed belt tabs at the sides, back or front just below the bosom.

With skirt lengths fixed generally at 14½ inches from the floor, Mr. Zuckerman sets the jacket length at the most becoming spot—just at the hip socket. Most jackets fit like the paper on the wall and button close to the torso. Box and barrel jackets also fasten close at the hipline.

Chalk white braid, which has become so fashionable for spring of 1954, completely outlines many of the trim suit jackets, short costume coats, necklines and sleeves of the Zuckerman collection.

The Originala collection for spring is cued to versatility. As an example of the flexibility of its new coats, Originala has chosen one which can be adapted with equal ease to sport, casual semi-dress or formal occasions.

The silhouette has a moderate flare and the natural shoulder line is accentuated by the deep-cut sleeves that are pushed jauntily to the elbows.

Other factors in this new Original collection are color and trim. The most exciting color is brilliant azalea, with Bermuda blue the most becoming. Other colors definitely new are lido blue, which is a pale turquoise, canary and emerald green.

Resorters and summer vacationers will be delighted with the collection of Carolyn Schnurer. Pink is pointed up as the strong color with the highlight of the collection a "pink skirt" bathing costume. This is actually a backless halter shirt plus a one-piece bathing suit, but attached low in the back.

Weary editors paused between shows to watch an original skit presented by Ship'n'Shore blouses with Peter Lawford in a special role. In the skit was a fashion forecast of blouses which we'll tell you about after the New York Dress Institute shows are over.

Community Service Discussed

Junior Club Hears Panel

"Friends in Our Community" was the topic of a six-man panel discussion Monday at YWCA.

Participating were Mrs. Rosamond Hill, Oakland County agent of Family Service; Frances Priest, supervisor of South Oakland Office of Family Service; William Moulton, superintendent of Oakland County Children's Home and Mrs. Everett Spurlock, home service representative of American Red Cross.

Mrs. Claire J. Hinckley assisted by the social committee planned the program.

On the committee were Mrs. Albert Games, Mrs. Frank Moreau, Mrs. Robert Meikle, Mrs. Ronald Mountain, Mrs. Ross Porritt, Mrs. Harvey Sandbert, Mrs. Frank Hildebrand and Mrs. Carroll Porritt.

Officers to Visit Other Chapters

Officers invited for Friendship Night from Pontiac Chapter 228, OES, were announced when the group met Monday evening at Roosevelt Temple.

Otto Schott will go to South Lyon, Wallace Morgan to Clarkston and Southfield, Mrs. Sylvan Clark to Clarkston and Mrs. Barker Augustine and Mrs. Lester McClellen to Commerce.

Mrs. Agnes Hicks was a visitor at the meeting, and the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Robert Brooks.

Baby Blankets Safer

Baby blankets are now available with plastic rings or elastic bands that attach firmly to the sides of the crib, thus eliminating the age-old worry of baby getting tangled in the blankets and suffocating.

You Can Sew, Doodle at the Same Time

If you have ever kept idle hands busy with doodling and if you operate a sewing machine, you will be interested to know that the two have gotten together.

You can now sew and doodle at the same time.

Latest of the attachments offered for sewing machines is one for making decorative stitches. And easiest stitch to make, and possibly the most fun, is the doodle.

Though appropriate to so many things, we think it would be perfect on a hostess apron. In organdy with contrasting ribbon strings, it would be a delightful gift for the holiday hostess.

And since it is so easy to do, you might make yourself a few in different materials.

To make the apron in organdy, work with two thicknesses of material, right sides out. Allow for the desired apron length plus a three-inch hem.

By stitching along the selvedge edges, you add a decorative border in addition to fastening the two pieces together.

Smooth Leather and Suede Have the Same Origin

"Yes, madam, we have it both in leather and suede."

You've probably heard that remark dozens of times when you have been shopping for shoes. And it's repeated hundreds of times daily in the nation's shoe stores.

What most of us don't know including too many shoe salesmen, is that smooth leather and suede are two different sides of the same skin.

Suede is leather — but it is leather which has been finished on the flesh side of the hide, rather than the grain side as is smooth leather.

Since you'll be seeing a lot of shoes and garments made of suede leather in the stores this spring, Leather Industries of America thinks it would be good for you to know a little about it.

What makes this information more important now than ever before is that in 1954 suede really emerges as a glamor girl in the leather family. Where once the black suede pump reigned supreme with maybe a brown or navy for variety, today you can get suede shoes in no less than 30 different colors.

Shows Value of Training

Musicale Hears Program by Junior Club Students

The value of organized study applied to a talent was shown when music students between the ages of 7 and 16 years of age played before Tuesday Musicale Club members at their meeting in Grace Lutheran Fellowship Hall Tuesday afternoon.

Eleven young people, members of three junior clubs, with Mrs. John Nicolls Jr., general chairman, and Mrs. C. W. Buck and Mrs. T. E. Nelson assisting, performed with poise, good position and facile technique that proved the advantage of guided public appearance in early years.

Each one actively studies with some teacher and all were pianists with two exceptions, a tuba solo, with deep sonorous tones, played by Brian Woolcock, and a soprano solo sung by Sue Braid.

The sincere interest of older friends of music in the progress of these young people gives them courage and a stimulus to continue and develop each ability. The growth of membership in junior clubs, where a level of accomplishment is upheld, is most gratifying to sponsors.

Mrs. H. T Rombough and Mrs. W. J. Coleman presided at the tea tables. Mrs. C. N. Church and Mrs. R. B. Tarr greeted members at the door before the program.

Gem Sizes Reflect High Living Costs

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Thirty-five per cent of women married in the United States in 1953 were given engagement rings of platinum, palladium or gold set with diamonds that were one-quarter of a carat or smaller, the nation's jewelers report.

Only 6.2 per cent of betrothal rings sold contained diamonds weighing one carat or over, and 11.9 per cent of the stones were one-half of a carat.

The figures are in line with a post-World War II trend by the public toward the purchase of smaller diamonds. It is attributed to soaring living costs.

Reflecting the smaller size of the average diamond ring is the fact that brides-to-be prefer illusion-type mountings to any other style, the study notes. This type of mounting is so designed as to permit more light to shine on the gem, thus making it appear larger than it actually is.

Palladium, newest of the precious jewelry metals, is highly popular for this purpose because it takes and retains a high luster and, in addition, is noted for holding stones more securely.

Gives Receiver to Children in County TB Sanatorium

Fourteen members of Past Chapeaux Club of Oakland County 8 and 40 presented the children of Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium with a television set during the holidays.

The gift was in conjunction with a six-point program of the club to aid in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis in children. The program was an assignment from the National American Legion, setting up a year's project.

The six points covered include general health education, institutional care, nursing, clinical facilities, case findings and post-sanatorium care and rehabilitation.

Funds were raised with dinners, selling all-occasion cards and other means, and the money was collected in a year.

Other duties performed by the club, said Mrs. Carl Shindorf, president, a member of Cook-Nelson Post 20 Auxiliary, included bringing children to clinics for X-rays and donating preventive medicine, such as cod liver oil, to needy families.

New Cosmetics to Pamper Skin

One of the most disturbing of beauty problems is skin that is allergic to cosmetics. While not having an allergy, some women have unusually sensitive skin.

They, too, have a cosmetic problem.

Florence Voydanoff Becomes Bride in Rite Solemnized Before 250 Guests

Florence Voydanoff became the bride of Dimitri LaZaroff Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Milton Bank in Central Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl S. Voydanoff of West Huron street, and Dimitri is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus LaZaroff of Chippewa road.

For the ceremony, performed before 250 guests, Florence chose a gown of off-white satin. Seed pearls trimmed the round neckline, and the long sleeves ended in points over her wrists. The full skirt fell into a long train.

Beige taffeta trimmed with fur was worn by the maid of honor, Viola Bittou of Detroit, who carried a muff of yellow roses.

Similar gowns of aqua with matching muffs were worn by the other attendants. They were Sophie Georgeff of Toronto, Lillian LaZaroff, the bridegroom's sister; Lillian Paycheff of Detroit and Mary Georgeff.

Perry Thomas was best man, and seating the guests were Dick Anderson, John Novatis, the bride's cousin from Detroit; Bob Ryeson and Sammy Voydanoff, the bride's brother.

For the wedding trip to California, the new Mrs. LaZaroff changed to a black velvet suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Shaker Washings Urged for Nylons

A lot of women put their precious nylons into a mason jar half full of soapsuds, cap the jar, and shake it until the suds have thoroughly cleansed the stockings.

Then using the same method for rinsing, there's no chance of having a fingernail snag the threads.

It's Untrue to Believe That Teaching and Menial Work Are the Only Outlets

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My daughter is a senior in high school," a mother wrote me recently, "and she wants to go to college and major in home economics.

"It worries me, because if she doesn't teach—which she thinks she doesn't want to do—won't she have to take some kind of menial job? I mean, what can a home ec major do, except teach or work in some messy institutional kitchen?"

This is one of the larger misconceptions, vocationally speaking, and it's mostly entertained by women of the older generation who aren't aware that the tremendous growth of industry has created so many fascinating industrial jobs for the home ec major.

Here, for example, are a few of the myriad interesting jobs open to this woman's daughter, if she goes ahead and gets her degree in home economics:

Public relations for companies which make fabrics, home appliances, home furnishings, clothes, food products, utilities, soaps or cosmetics.

Some girls prepare the booklets telling how to use the product. Some lecture about the product, some prepare the advertisements, some do the television or radio commercials, and others are in sales training, teaching other girls how to demonstrate or sell the company's product.

Interior decorators — including the department store's decorating consultant. Some girls design fabrics, some move into window display, or design wallpapers.

Research workers in home economics; social welfare work helping homemakers with problems involving food, nutrition, family finance and management; and, with additional training, many interesting jobs in housing, kitchen planning, industrial design or journalism.

Not every girl, of course, is fitted for, or interested in, the field of home ec. But if your daughter is, more power to her—and don't let your old-fashioned thinking about the field stand in her way. Nowadays, the ceiling is practically unlimited.

Perhaps you'd be interested in reading a little booklet, which costs just 25 cents, and which is called "For You . . . A Career in Home Economics."

Budget-Wise Casserole Is Good Eating

Mrs. Hunt Has New Formula for Making Baked Macaroni

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

One of the best cooks we know and a fellow collector of cookbooks is Mrs. Gerald Hunt.

Among her specialties are a number of excellent casseroles that do double duty as budget savers and "covered dishes" for a potluck or church supper. Super Supper Casserole is one of them.

Gifted with a fine voice, Mrs. Hunt sings in her church choir and the chorus of Tuesday Musicale.

Two very active grade-school sons keep her busy at home and in the Webster PTA. Membership in the Colonial Group of her church rounds out her activities.

SUPER SUPPER CASSEROLE

By Mrs. Gerald Hunt

¾ cup diced bacon
1-3 cup chopped onion
2-3 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups canned tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon MSG
¼ cup wheat germ
3 cups cooked macaroni
1½ cups grated cheese

Stir in cooked macaroni. Turn into 1½ quart casserole. Bake at 325 for 30 to 40 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Make Sure Living Room Doesn't Look Too Fancy

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

The real trouble with a living room may be that it's too fancy, even though it doesn't put on airs.

Make sure that this isn't the trouble before buying anything new or the room may keep its same old flustered look instead of achieving a serene, smooth, well-organized look that's very much more in style.

Newness alone won't do everything. New curtains, as complicated as the old ones, look too much like them, while beautifully tailored plain draperies have a new and soothing effect on the room.

A few plainer tables make a big difference when they're traded for too many fussy ones, and so do big handsome lamps when they chase out dinky elaborate ones.

Decorating is so often helped by subtraction. There may be too many things in a room, a number of which go there one at a time so gradually they weren't noticed.

Try stripping down the room to the fundamentals and see if it wouldn't look better if many items were left out, and use a definite, inspired color scheme to decorate rather than a clutter of accessories and frills.

Bride Wants Gifts Sent to His Home

But She Can't Give General Notice to This Effect

By EMILY POST

A bride-to-be writes: "After my marriage I plan to go to my fiance's hometown, which is several hundred miles from here, to live. We are having a rather large wedding and I am sure I will receive many wedding presents.

"I would like these presents sent to my fiaince's house rather than here as they will only have to be packed and shipped there later. Is there any way I can let this fact be known?"

Answer: You can explain the situation to your most intimate friends and relatives and ask them please to send any wedding presents to Dick's house, and they in turn might tell others. But to send a general notice to this effect to all the wedding guests would be impossible.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was married two months ago and I bought a rather expensive dress for the occasion. I have not worn that dress since. My son is going to be married in three weeks and I would like to know if I could properly wear the same dress to his wedding.

My daughter and son both think I should get a new dress as many of the same guests will be present and will recognize the dress. I would like to have your opinion on this:

Answer: If I were you, I would wear the dress without the slightest hesitation. To get another for a single occasion would be wanton extravagance. Perhaps you can change the appearance of the dress, somewhat, by adding new accessories.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just moved to a strange city. Several women have called on me. Some of them came while I was away from home and they left their cards. Just what is the proper way for me to acknowledge their visits?

Answer: You go to see them as soon as you can, and if they are not home, you leave your card.

Manners
MAKE FRIENDS

When introducing a stranger to a group of persons you don't have to repeat the stranger's name each time. Give his name and then go right on naming the persons around the room.

The less stilted an introduction sounds — the better.

Leather Chases Wardrobe Blues

This is the time of the year when you get that real low-down "I've-got-nothing-to-wear" feeling. Christmas shopping has put a real crimp in your budget and you're saving clothes money toward your new Easter outfit.

The answer to this problem is to pep up your winter wardrobe with leather. Leather shoes, bags, gloves and belts, and what you buy now to brighten up your dark winter clothes will serve equally as well to augment your early spring costumes.

IF romantic spirit—

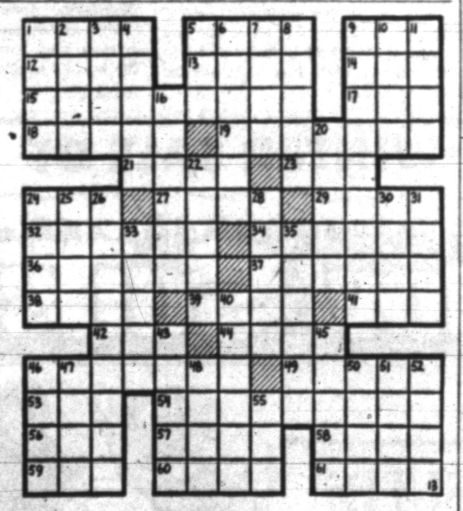

You can be tailored for work, but for festive occasions dramatize your temperament in swinging lines, striking prints and jewels.

Miss R. S. — The trend is to revive light flowery fragrances that were favorites at the turn of the century — romantic as compared to the heavy, sexy perfumes of the last decades. This same trend leads to flowery prints in dress.

IMPROVE YOUR FACIAL CONTOUR WHILE REDUCING

Massaging the face and neck is the most controversial subject in beauty work. We will pound and beat, pinch and rub every other part of our body.. but the face . . . NO.

The face is different. Hot baths, cold showers and plenty of exercise are fine as long as we don't let them happen above the neck. Dire results are prophesied if we do.

We seem to be under the impression that the neck and face are separate from the remainder of the body. If exercise and massage are helpful in improving the muscle tone of other parts of the body, why not the neck and face?

I will tell you more about this next week. If you are interested in a self improvement program, I recommend the Fashion and Figure Club sponsored by the City of Pontiac Parks and Recreation.

It's Unwise to Carry Out Rash Threat

There's No Honor Involved in Keeping Ill-Advised Word

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Bill, 10, is several months younger than his cousin Art.

During the holidays his family dined at Art's house. Among the guests was a pretty young woman neighbor whom Bill secretly admires. Just before dinner, Art threatened to tell her that Bill wanted to sit beside her.

Violent scuffling resulted. It attracted the annoyed attention of Bill's father who was conducting a political argument with his brother-in-law.

To the noise in the dining room, he called out, "Cut out that racket Bill. If I hear another sound out of you, there'll be no turkey for you today."

There were other sounds from his embattled offspring. And as Bill's father prides himself on being a "man of his word," his child's dinner consisted of vegetables and pie.

His firmness cast a pall over everyone. Later, to his wife's protest, Bill's father said, "How could I go back on my word to the boy? Don't you want him to know he has a father who means what he says?"

His notion that his dignity was involved in executing a thoughtless threat of punishment is not uncommon. I think it a foolish notion.

To me, it seems that loyalty to a word given in haste and thoughtlessness is loyalty to these undisciplined qualities in us. And that to insist on meaning what we've said when what we've said has been ill-advised is to insist on our own lack of wisdom.

As to firmness, its virtue depends on what we are firm about. So that I can see nothing particularly heroic in standing firm on a mistaken or unjust position.

It is true for most of us, I think, that we really don't like executing such threats after we've calmed down.

But we feel compelled to make good on our ill-advised word for two reasons. First, we think that making it good involves the child's respect for our authority; and second, we don't want to admit the undiciplined qualities that produce the silly promise.

Well, it's a poor kind of honor that requires us to honor our own mistakes. And it's only by rejecting the false position we've taken that we can prove we wish to reject the bad judgment responsible for it.

How we can hope to learn to make good judgments if we don't reverse the bad ones, beats me.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Don't Like Ghost Stories? You Better Not Read This

There is no moral to this tale. And if you don't like ghost stories, stop reading now. Even if you go on, don't blame me. Blame Henry Sell, debonair editor, food manufacturer and man-about-town, for spinning a yarn which has haunted me every since I heard it.

It was back in 1927 that Henry Sell was dining at the late Elizabeth Marbury's famous home in Sutton Place, New York City. On his right was Elinor Glyn, writer, and the literary rage of the moment.

MISS McBRIDE

"She paid absolutely no attention to me throughout dinner," said Henry. Then suddenly at dessert time she turned her head and announced without preamble, 'You were a marquis in the court of Louis XIV. You were murdered in Venice. Your body was thrown into the Grand Canal.'

"She was watching me closely as if to gauge the effect of her strange remark, and looked really startled herself when I reached into my pocket and pulled out an old French coin, a golden louis. I dropped it onto her plate saying, 'For you,' and after a moment she put it into her evening bag."

That was all for more than 20 years. And then Henry went to Venice. At dinner with several Italians on the roof of the Royal Danieli Hotel where he was staying, he was asked if he'd been in Venice before. "Not in this life," he replied and related the story of the gold louis and Elinor Glyn, now dead.

Followed a silence and then the Italian host cleared his throat and said a little nervously, "As a matter of fact, a marquis of Louis' court was murdered on this very spot in 1691 by the Doge's enemies, and his body was thrown into the canal."

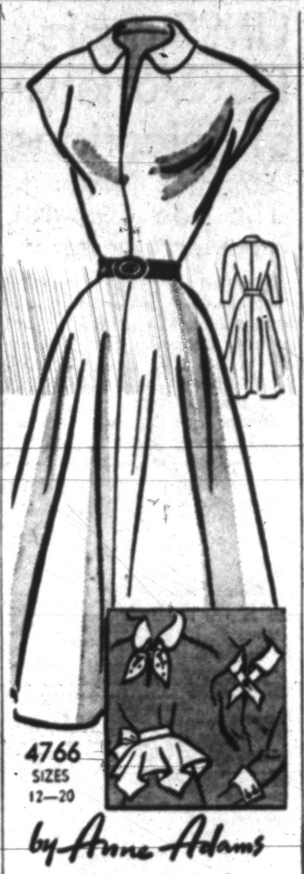

Before Henry could recover from that, another man chimed in with, "You're probably occupying the room of that marquis, too, for yours was the guest of honor's suite when the hotel was the private home of the Doge."

That ought to be enough, but there is more. Henry Sell got to thinking he would like to have his gold louis pocketpiece back again and somehow he got a hunch that he might find it in Venice. He knew he would recognize it because of a special mark on it, but he searched Venetian pawn and coin shops without result. Then he took a train for Paris.

At the Paris railway station he suddenly decided to give his bags to a taximan and start out on foot to find his coin. As he tells it, he walked straight to the neighborhood of the Bourse, entered an old coin shop and said to the cashier, "You have a Louis XIV coin of mine here, dated 1691."

The cashier reached behind him for a tray and there, in the center of many coins, was Henry's louis, odd marking and all.

I've seen the coin myself, now stitched firmly into Henry's wallet, so the story must be true. Besides, Henry is a truthful man.

. . . THE BUILT-IN WATER SOFTENER!

You need it . . . You'll love it . . . here's WHY!

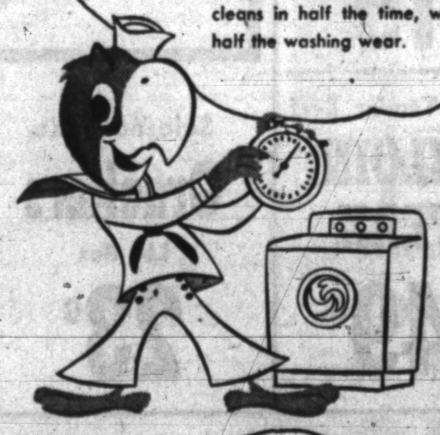

Most of the water in this area is hard water, containing minerals such as calcium and magnesium. When ordinary washday soaps are used in it they combine with the hard water minerals to form a "soap scum." This scum gets trapped in the fibers of your clothes and makes them look dull and gray.

New Armour Suds with Tri-Polly leaves your water soft as mineral-free rain-water, because it neutralizes the minerals, locks them up so they can't form clothes-graying soap scum. This, plus Armour Suds' brightening agent, is the reason your clothes wash brighter than new, and in half the usual time.

Cuts Your Washing Time in Two!

Set your washing machine at 8 minutes instead of 15. Armour Suds with Tri-Polly cleans in half the time, with half the washing wear.

Faster Dishwashing For You!

Armour Suds' high wetting power penetrates and floats the food away without scrubbing. Dishes drain sparkling dry. And soft water is so kind to hands!

Gets Clothes Brighter than New!

Armour Suds with Tri-Polly removes soil completely . . . then its brightening agent gives a brighter than new sparkle to clothes.

ARMOUR'S PLEDGE TO YOU!

Historian's Job Outlined at Meeting

City PTA Council Gathers Tuesday at Baldwin

"Highlights for Historians" was the topic chosen for discussion by the Pontiac Council of PTA when it met at Baldwin School Tuesday afternoon.

"The historian's book is a record of accomplishment, not of intentions," said Mrs. Donald North, council president. "It should contain the highlights of your programs through the years. A copy of the bylaws and any changes made in them, as well as a list of officers and committee chairmen, is essential to a complete record of your local group.

"Dates of important functions or events, the enrollment of your school, and the teachers included on your faculty is information that should be included in the historian's book."

Three groups were formed with Mrs. North leading the discussion with a group of presidents and vice presidents, Mrs. Paul Gorman with historians of the school locals, and Mrs. William Wright with the remainder of the assembly.

The Pontiac Council at its last meeting voted to sponsor a scholarship fund to encourage would-be teachers. Lester Stanley, principal of Hawthorne School, was named as chairman of the finance committee of this scholarship fund.

One representative from each PTA local will meet with him Feb. 11 at Hawthorne School to discuss the structure of this fund.

A policy-making committee will be composed of the officers of the Pontiac PTA Council with John Thors Jr., principal of Pontiac High School, as committee consultant. The first meeting of this policy-making committee will be held Feb. 9 at LeBaron School.

Mrs. Wright, program chairman, announced that Mrs. Esther Medlein has written a pageant to be presented at the Founders' Day dinner to be held Feb. 2 at 6:30 p. m. in Wever Junior High school.

Reservations for this event should be made by Jan. 22 with Mrs. William Mihalek for all schools in alphabetical order through LeBaron School. Reservations for the remaining schools may be made with Mrs. Francis Oak.

Other committee chairmen named were Mrs. William Wright, program; Mrs. William Anderson and Mrs. Lester Christensen, decorations; Mrs. Eugene Hoisington, coffee; Mrs. Paul Gorman, hospitality; and Mrs. John Neaves and Mrs. Wayne Weaver, guest table and menu.

The nominating committee chairmen of all local PTA groups will meet with Mrs. North on Jan. 26 at 2 o'clock in Baldwin School.

Refreshments for the Tuesday meeting were served by the Baldwin PTA with Mrs. Irene Albright and Mrs. Agnes Cox presiding at the lace-covered tea table. Others assisting were Mrs. Forrest Glennie, Mrs. Paul Arndt, Mrs. Cyril Davis and Mrs. Sidney Ruff.

Mrs. Charles Sibra Entertains Group

Mrs. Charles Sibra of South Marshall street was hostess Tuesday evening when members of the Huron Gardens Extension Club met in her home.

Experience Is Behind Safe Design

CHICAGO (INS) — There are more benefits than bandages involved when an industrial designer gets burned or cut giving his wife an assist in the kitchen.

James Hvale, designer for one of the world's largest housewares manufacturers, has turned his own kitchen accidents with hot pans and sharp knives into safety features to reduce the housewife's accidents in the kitchen.

"Twice I offered to take pans off the stove. I slid my hand down the handle against the hot side of the pan the first time and grabbed onto a piece of metal on the handle the second time," says Hvale.

"After that, the handles I designed had an offset curve next to the pan to prevent the hand sliding directly onto the pan — metal screws and studs were concealed within the heat-resistant plastic handle."

Hvale's major contribution to kitchen safety, the wooden well holdster to store knives, was the direct result of an unintentional slice of a Hvale finger when he reached for a knife lying in a drawer.

Built-in safety is a must for kitchen housewares, according to this designer.

"The quickie meal via the can-opener can result in bad cuts if the opener doesn't fold the edge of the can flat against the inside," says Hvale.

"Vegetable peelers can do a fast job, but they should be designed to ride with the contour of the potato, for instance, and have blade edges that will peel efficiently but not cut the hand."

Hvale says that practically every kitchen tool or pan has hidden safety measures, ranging from waffle-shaped under-surfaces of pan handles to minimize heated surface coming in contact with the hand, to the firm grip of teeth on the kitchen tongs so foods cannot slip.

"Cooking and eating are such commonplace actions that housewives seldom realize the potential dangers," Hvale points out.

"We've given spoons and forks extra-fine finishes so edges and tines can't cut the lips. We've designed strainers of stainless steel so no rust can be mashed into food, and a french fry cutter with removable blades so you don't have to poke at them to wash them.

Style Accents Need Not Cost Large Amounts

To spark her basic-built wardrobe, the smart girl includes one or two high fashion notes. To extend it, she accessorizes carefully.

Many girls do not care to invest heavily in accessories to vary their costumes. Their reason is that one might just as well buy other dresses with the money.

But the girl on a budget does not have to buy expensive accessories to be chic. If she is willing to give a little time to hunting, she can find numerous bits with which to enhance her dresses.

For example: Leopard belts are costly but leopard buttons are not. Besides, a few of these buttons arranged on a plain belt or at the neckline will have a very individual look.

One may use a handsome collection of scarves to set off her costumes. In fact, she might use them excusively so that they seem almost a trademark.

Should this be your wont, while buying the different designs and shapes that appeal to you, quickly increase your collection by making some from remnants.

New Ruling Hits Civil Employes

Tightens Loyalty Gauge on Procedure to Sift Reds in U. S. Jobs

WASHINGTON (INS) — An Army spokesman disclosed today that Secretary Robert T. Stevens has issued a new regulation tightening up security and loyalty procedure on civilian employees.

The spokesman said the new regulations implement the loyalty directive issued by President Eisenhower last April and the subsequent order by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

He denied that the investigation by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), of the Fort Monmouth signal corps laboratories played any part in shaping the new regulations.

The new order was issued Dec. 18 but was never made public. It tightens the earlier list by:

1. Tightening standards and putting new emphasis on personal associations with individuals. The earlier regulation had emphasized associations with subversive organizations.

Listed are 19 items which would "raise security implications." Included is the refusal of an employee to testify before a Capitol Hill committee on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

2. Creating, by agreement with the attorney general and other services, unified hearing boards composed of Army, Navy and Air Force representatives. They will not be allowed to take part in a hearing involving employees of their own services.

3. Establishing a single security review board in the office of the Army secretary. The review board will hear no accused employees, but will make their report to the secretary from a study of documents and records.

4. Only permitting hearings on dismissals and charges for permanent jobholders or indefinite-term appointees. Non-citizens, mostly employed overseas, also are excluded from the hearing right, and can be dismissed without hearings.

Ike Presents Medal to Michigan Soldier

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower expressed "an old soldier's admiration" in presenting the nation's highest award to three heroes of the Korean War.

The President hung the gold Medal of Honor around the necks of Navy Hospital Corpsman 3C William R. Charette of Ludington, Mich.; Army First Lieut. Edward R. Schowalter Jr. of Metairie, La.; and Pfc. Ernest E. West of Russell, Ky.

Charette saved a wounded comrade's life by shielding him against a grenade explosion with his own body, while Schowalter led his platoon up embattled "Jane Russell Hill" last October despite three wounds.

West rescued his wounded patrol leader, killing three enemy soldiers, but losing an eye in the effort. The President told the stiffly-erect private: "Along with that medal, West, which is the highest we have, goes an old soldier's admiration."

Son Dies of Heart Attack Bringing Aid to Mother

METHUEN, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Nellie O'Brien, 78, complained of a leg ailment and her son hastily shoveled out the driveway yesterday so an ambulance could take her to Bon Secours Hospital.

Later John E. O'Brien, 50, remembered some medicine his mother was accustomed to take. He walked a mile and a half through heavy snow to deliver it to her.

Woman's 'Sit-in' Fails to Reinstate Expelled Son

HALF DAY, Ill. (AP)—A mother who protested her son's demotion and expulsion from school by conducting a "sit-in" was ordered from the school yesterday and arrested.

Mrs. Marie Dawson, 39, who was charged with disorderly conduct and contributing to the dependency of a minor, had been sitting on a folding chair in a seventh-grade classroom since last Wednesday. She had said she intended to do so until her son Frank 13, was reinstated.

W. C. Petty, Lake County superintendent of schools, said the youth was first demoted from the eighth grade to the seventh and later expelled because of a truancy record dating back to September 1952.

Mrs. Dawson was released on her recognizance after a hearing was set for Jan. 28.

Open Phone Circuit Calls Fire Fighters

HOUGHTON (UP) — A mother's failure to hang up a telephone receiver was credited today with keeping a house fire from spreading to adjoining bulidings.

Mrs. Dorothy Fizette of nearby Atlantic mine was awakened by flames early Tuesday and began rounding up her seven sleeping children.

She tried to telephone a neighbor and left the receiver dangling when she failed to complete the call. An operator heard the shout of "fire" and called the Houghton Fire Department.

Houghton firemen aided Atlantic firemen in confining the blaze to Mrs. Fizette's home, which was destroyed. Mrs. Fizette and her children, ranging in age from 1 to 16, all escaped the flames.

THESE ARE THE TRUE FACTS ABOUT MY ARTHRITIS

Mrs. Naola Frizzell, 702 Burr, Jackson, Mich.

"I had to quit my job because of rheumatoid arthritis. My trouble started about three years ago in my little finger and it spread all over my body. It was much worse in my hands, knees, back of my neck and spine. My knee was so swollen and stiff that I had to hold it out straight, and I couldn't bend it to go up or down stairs or get out of a chair without being pulled up. My shoulders hurt so bad that raising my arm to comb my hair was impossible, and at times I was in such pain that dressing myself was so difficult that I would just sit and cry. Many nights the pains would shoot through me so that I couldn't sleep and I had to get up and walk the floor. I tried about everything going, including X-rays and different tests, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, shots seemed to make me worse. I must have spent over $1,000 altogether without any help, before discovering O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I read about the wonderful work of O-JIB-WA BITTERS in our paper many times, and although I had practically given up all hope of relief, I decided to try it. I started taking it last May and in a month, O-JIB-WA BITTERS began to show me results, and little by little since, I have improved, until now I am all better. I am entirely free of arthritis and really feel grand. I can work hard all day now without the slightest pain. It is the only thing that ever helped me, and I'll never be without O-JIB-WA BITTERS again. I told my mother about it and she is now taking it with good results, so I highly recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS to all, because of the marvelous results it has brought me."

Grace Kelly Climbs Fast in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

1. She is blonde and beautiful.
2. She can act.

This unusual combination has brought her a series of choice roles, generally as a wife. She was Gary Cooper's spouse in "High Noon," Ray Milland's in "Dial M for Murder" and will shortly be William Holden's in "The Bridges at Toko-ri." She was also the wavering wife in "Mogambo."

* * *

"I hope I don't get typed," says Grace, who is unmarried. She has been a pretty cool character in her film roles so far. But things are warming up for her in "Rear Window." She has some smooching scenes with Stewart which Alfred Hitchcock says are the hottest he has directed since the famous love match of Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant in "Notorious."

"They certainly ought to be the closest love scenes of all time," observed Grace. "The camera has been inches away from our faces. The other day I asked if my hair needed fixing. Hitch told me my hair wasn't in the picture; just my face. Can you imagine how it will look on the wide screen? Immense!"

Grace seems to talk in the tones of an English lady, but she actually is a Philadelphian. She was born there 25 years ago, her father being John Kelly, a well-known building contractor. Show business was in the family, however. Her uncles were playwright George Kelly and Walter C. Kelly, "The Virginia Judge" of vaudeville.

An independent gal, Grace made her way up on her own. She studied two years at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, then won a role in a New York show, "The Father," with Raymond Massey. Twentieth Century-Fox picked her for a role in "14 Hours."

"Yes, I played a wife in that one too," she recalled. "I was supposed to be getting a divorce, but my husband was caught in the traffic jam of people watching the man who was going to jump off a building. The experience got us back together. The critics couldn't see how this had anything to do with the main plot. The picture lost a million dollars.

* * *

"Twentieth offered me a contract, but I didn't think I was ready for it. I thought I needed more training in the theater."

* * *

So she turned her back on the Hollywood gold and returned to New York. After some stage and TV work, she did "High Noon." That brought forth the offer for "Mogambo," which was accompanied with a term contract. Did she think she was ready for it then?

"No," she admitted. "But the part was good, and I was eager to see Africa. So I signed." Since then all her pictures have been loan-outs, and MGM has announced no plans for her.

Judge Refuses to Grant Annulment; Couple Off on 2nd Honeymoon

Mrs. Ella Dixon McKinney and James David McKinney left a State Supreme Court room together yesterday after Justice Thomas A. Aurelio dismissed her suit for an annulment.

"I still love her."

She smiled back at him.

* * *

The case had been brought to court by Mrs. McKinney, who said her husband had failed to consummate the marriage.

* * *

She said she first met him when he came to live at her West 56th street boarding house, at a time when he was working at a skating rink. They were married in August 1952.

Mrs. McKinney, who said she once was in show business, asserted she gave her husband $2,000 on one occasion and more money at other times.

Her husband testified the marriage was consummated. He said he did not marry her for her money.

* * *

Justice Aurelio directed the jury to dismiss the case on grounds of lack of corroboration.

* * *

The dismissal seemed to stun Mrs. McKinney for a moment, then she hobbled away on her cane. McKinney stepped to her side, took her hand and asked:

"Am I coming home with you?"

She smiled and replied:

"Yes, but you'll have to make all the beds in the boarding house."

As they climbed into a taxicab together, McKinney remarked:

"I guess we will go to California for a second honeymoon."

One Killed, 6 Hurt in Car, Truck Crash

DETROIT (INS)— One man was killed and six other persons were injured last night when their car slammed into the rear of a truck on Allen Rd. in suburban Ecorse Township.

Sheriff's officers said the crash victim was Robert Draft, 21, of Taylor Township. Two brothers, Marvin, 18, and Richard Draft, 14, were among the injured.

David Southerly, 23, the driver of the car, and truck driver William D. Villaire, 30, were to be questioned further today.

Big Lion Lives in Family Home

Pet Gets Bath Every Morning and Watches TV All Day

HERSCHER, Ill. (AP) — A mae lion, 4 years old and weighing 325 pounds, lives in the home of a family here.

The lion, called Tex, was raised from a cub fresh from the African junge by Bobbyetta Porter, 28. Her brother Bill, 31, shares her affection for the lion and helps care for him, as does their mother, Mrs. Pearl Porter.

Bobbyetta bought Tex when he was 3 months old from a wild animal dealer in Texas. Tex has been raised in a cage but Bobbyetta said it's only because she she feels that any animal that has to be caged should be kept there constantly.

* * *

He has his own room, a knotty pine 10 by 12-foot den, facing on but separated from the living room by bars. The Porters live on a farm and recently built a ranch house with a living room especially designed for the lion's comfort.

* * *

Bobbyetta and Bill spend hours inside Tex's cage. They play and wrestle with him and instruct him. He is housebroken and obeys commands.

Every morning Bobbyetta gives Tex a sponge bath and combs his mane. She also brushes his teeth.

"He's a wild animal," she said, "but acts more like a puppy."

She said a gun is kept outside the cage in case it ever should be needed, but she never has taken a rod, whip or gun into the cage

Vienna Conference Finds Homework Is Too Heavy

By ERIC WAHA

VIENNA (INS)—Junior gets too much homework to begin with, according to the unanimous findings of psychologists, parents and education experts recently assembled in Vienna.

Prof. Hans Asperger, a leading authority on child's psychology in Vienna, stressed the old saying "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is the complete truth.

"If children don't get more time to play, our civilization will slowly but surely decay," he said. "It is a fact that culture isn't established by the 'thinking,' but by the 'playing' individual."

He said this means that great achievements of mankind are not reached during man's office hours but in his leisure time.

Professor Asperger gave his views in a public discussion on "are our kids getting too much homework," arranged for by the League for Public Health in Vienna.

The large audience loudly applauded his speech as well as that of another expert, Dr. Hanns Paul, who charged that some teachers are "in love" with the subjects they are teaching, forgetting that theirs is not the only subject being taught at school.

Dr. Paul suggested that teachers should consult each other as to homework they intend to ask from their students, before actually telling the students about it.

This would insure, Dr. Paul said, that kids are not burdened down with homework on one day, while they have relatively little to do on another.

The psychologists also sharply attacked the practice of having kids stay at school after class for punishment.

A school principal, Herr Viktor Ebenfuehrer suggested that the actual school time should be extended to give students more time to grasp the subjects with less effort.

"Modern science has raised the average lifetime of man substantially. Why not use that for spending more time at school?" he asked.

Other speakers in the debate lashed out on the way some teachers grade classwork. One speaker, an official of the Vienna Board of Education, said he had sent a paper of a student to 14 different teachers for grading.

"I got back 14 different marks, ranging from 'very good' to 'very bad'," he told the Vienna meeting.

Judge Admires Wife With Money to Spare

WEST LOS ANGELES (AP) — A traffic offender, fined $5, asked Judge Leo Freund if he might have a stay of execution long enough to go home and get the money from his wife.

"You have a wife that has $5 to spare?" asked the judge.

The defendant said he had.

Judge Freund told him he could have three hours to go home and get the money from this paragon of a wife.

Committee Plans Boy Scout Week Activities Here

Final preparations for local observance of National Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, will be made Wednesday night by the Pontiac District Scout Committee.

Ovis Gidcumb, district chairman, said the meeting would begin at 7:30 p.m. in Grace Lutheran Church.

William J. DeGrace, district chairman for camping and activities, will announce details of the local mock political conventions to be held January 20 and the "take over the city" project to be held February 8.

Arthur Tyrell will explain rules and prizes scheduled for an inter-unit contest for Scout Week window displays.

Veteran Telegrapher Says Getting Job Was Difficult

MILLINGTON (UP)—Telegrapher Frank Foster, who retired after 50 years of service with the New York Central lines, said today getting started was much harder than the half-century of work that followed.

In 1902 Foster decided to give up teaching in a one-room rural school to become a railroad telegrapher.

The first hurdle was to find a tutor. He appealed to the operator in the Millington Depot but was turned down. He asked the Otisville operator. He wanted $40. That was more than Foster could afford.

Foster set out to be his own teacher. He bought a set of instruments for $1 and built a line across the road to a neighbor's house.

After painstaking practice on the rudiments of sending and receiving messages, he persuaded the night operator at Otter Lake to train him. The conditions were: Foster be janitor and semaphore light guardian.

Foster remembers how he walked 3½ miles each night to Otter Lake and three miles more putting up lights. He climbed five poles every night to clean and fill the lights. Next he swept the large office and waiting room in the old Pere Marquette Depot. Then he had to clean and fill the five kerosene lamps and four lanterns that burned lard oil. In the short time left, he was given instruction. The longest 3½ mile walk was back home.

Foster kept up this routine seven days a week through the winter of 1902. On April 9, 1903 he passed the examination and became a qualified operator.

His first job was at Denmark. Next he worked at Otter Lake, then New Mexico and Arizona. Since 1910 he has been employed by Michigan Central.

When he retired Foster was given a certificate and pin by the railroad company, as well as a five-piece luggage set and purse of money from his associates.

Looking back, Foster sighed: "Now they pay telegraphers to learn."

Clawson Man Pleads Guilty to Larceny Count

He was released on $2,500 bond and sentence was set for Jan. 25. Harris pleaded guilty to selling a deep freeze unit while working for a Birmingham food plan store last April and converting the $769 sale price to his own use.

Le Troquer Now Rules Assembly in France

PARIS (INS) — Andre Le Troquer formally took over today as president of the French National Assembly, an office to which he was elected yesterday with the aid of Communist votes.

His predecessor, aged, honored and ailing Edouard Herriot, said: "For me, there is nothing above love for France. I have spent my whole life in contemplating her countenance and meditating upon her sorrows."

Herriot, 81 years old and a former premier, had held the post since 1947.

A standard bushel in the U. S. contains 2,150.42 cubic inches. An imperial bushel used in England and some other countries contains 2,218.192 cubic inches.

In the quiet of our chapel there is an atmosphere of reverence and refinement you will appreciate.

MESC Allots $1,130,308 in '53

Local Office Authorizes 43,805 Payments; Only 41,932 Picked Up

Unemployment compensation payments totaling $1,130,308 were paid through the Pontiac office of Michigan Employment Security Commission in 1953, according to Luther C. Olson, manager of the local branch.

Some 43,805 weekly payments were authorized, said Olson, with 41,932 checks picked up by unemployed persons.

First payments during the year numbered 7,295, Olson stated, while 789 persons received the last of the 52 checks alloted them after their claims were established.

Visits to the office totaled 94,403, with 9,558 applications for new work taken and 16,701 persons interviewed, Olson explained.

Firemen Go Formal as Fire Interrupts Ball

TARIFFVILLE, Conn. (AP)—For one night this Connecticut village had the nation's most formal fire fighters. They were in evening dress for their annual ball when an alarm sounded for a minor chimney fire.

Chief Vincent Plona was a little late getting to the scene, but he arrived dressed as firemen should be. He was in the bathtub when the alarm sounded.

Quentin Reynolds Book Is Listed as Fiction Here

Now it's official.

Quentin Reynolds last year wrote what he believed to be a serious non-fiction account of George DuPre's "adventures" in World War II in the French underground. After the book was printed, DuPre admitted his tale was a hoax.

The book, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," appeared on Pontiac City Library's list of newly received books today — in the "Adult Fiction" category.

Actress to Resume Career Minus Leg

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Dark-eyed actress Suzan Ball made plans to resume her film career today after a cancerous growth forced doctors to amputate her right leg above the knee.

The operation yesterday at Temple Hospital came after a year-long battle to save the limb. An injury, which was believed caused on a movie set, had developed into a malignancy and Dr. Francis L. Engleman told her that unless the leg was removed she would not live.

Suzan had just started a promising movie career at Universal-International when the cancerous growth set in. The studio, which is still paying her salary, told her that it has a picture waiting for her as soon as she is able to leave the hospital.

Chiefs Face High-Scoring Trojans Friday

Free Throws Nip Skippers' 5

By JACK SAYLOR

Waterford High School still has not won a basketball game after seven attempts this year, but the Skippers will never come closer than they did Tuesday night without winning.

Avondale nipped Waterford, 45-44, on Toby Aldrich's free throw in the closing seconds of the game.

Waterford trailed 17-6 at the 1st quarter, but caught up to lead briefly in the 3rd period. Yellow Jackets again took over, but Bob Jacober's basket tied the score at 44-44 with one minute to go.

Aldrich's free throw apparently ended the game, but the players were called back from their dressing rooms to complete approximately one second of the game. A desperate court-long pass by Waterford failed to produce either a basket or a foul.

Skippers out - scored Avondale from the floor, 18-15, with Jacober's 17 points taking scoring honors. Avon hit 15 of 27 free throws as its record was leveled at 2-2. Waterford made only eight of 16.

Elsewhere, Troy's high scoring Colts routed Lake Orion, 61-28, with Mike DeKane potting 18 points. Rex Moore, Jim Murdock and Bill Haney turned in fine games for Troy.

OL St. Mary and Ferndale stayed undefeated with the Eaglets trimming St. Freds, 65-47, and the Railsplitters downing East Detroit, 62-49.

Keego slipped in the 3rd quarter and fell to Madison, 54-52. Clawson upset Berkley, 59-58, on Jim Davis' free throw and a drive-in shot by Ron Trexler in the last 15 seconds. Davis had 21 points.

Tuesday was rough for Inter-Lakes Conference quintets. In addition to Waterford, Southfield and Farmington also lost. Four late free throws gave Plymouth a 50-47 edge over Southfield, and Farmington bowed to Lowrey, 44-40.

Fenton cuffed Holly 72-43, as Joe Cmejrek had 30 points and Jim Martin 25 for the Fenton club. Ortonville got a great effort from Bob Mills and broke its five-game losing streak, Blackhawks downed Goodrich, 63-59, with Mills getting 29 points.

Mills hit a pair of field goals and three of four foul shots in the last four minutes to break the game wide open. Chuck Palshan added 20 for Ortonville.

Saginaw High's "race horses" have galloped over five straight opponents at a 69.2-point per game clip. Trojans' top scoring spree of the season was an 80-70 decision over Bay City Central last month.

Every man on Saginaw's starting five is averaging 10 points or better a game. Six-foot 4-inch center Tom Hall is the leading point-maker, with a 16.4 average.

Following Hall are guard Sam Davis (13.8), forwards J. T. Landrum (11.8) and Bob Maturen (10.8) and guard Andy Johnson (10).

Trojans currently are tied with Flint Northern for 1st place in Saginaw Valley League standings with a 2-0 loop mark.

Pontiac Coach Art Van Ryzin will start John James and Dave Ballard at forwards, Leroy Moore at center and Dick Ayling and Walt Poe at guards. Moore and Ayling, along with reserve guard Bill Rose, have only three more games to play before graduating at midyear.

Chiefs have been drilling this week against the wide-open, fast-breaking tactics utilized by Saginaw.

Friday's varsity game will be preceded by a jayvee tilt at 6:30 p.m.

Four Spartan Teams in Action

Cagers at UM, Tankers Home to Badgers, Other Units on Road

EAST LANSING (UP)—Michigan State's unpredictable basketball team, back in the thick of the Big Ten race after a 60-59 upset victory over Illinois last week, travels to Ann Arbor Saturday for a conference clash with Michigan.

Spartans, sparked by high-scoring forwards Al Ferrari and Julius McCoy, need a win over the Wolverines to go over the .500 mark after dropping their conference opener to Iowa.

MSC's swimming team playing host to Wisconsin Saturday, is only Spartan squad to see home action this week end.

Michigan State wrestlers will tangle with the University of Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh, Pa., and Spartan fencers duel with Detroit and Wayne at Detroit in other Saturday competition.

Cage 'World Series'

NEW YORK (INS) — Harlem Globetrotters and a select squad of 1954 college All-Americas will open the 5th annual "world series" of basketball in New York on March 28.

The "world series" tour will extend through 20 cities across the nation before winding up April 17 in the Milwaukee arena.

'Best Mound Prospect'

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Whenever baseball folks discuss the Baltimore Orioles' pitching staff they usually begin with Don Larsen and end with Bob Turley. In between there is a long pause.

Unless Bill DeWitt, holdover vice-president from the Browns is all wet, the Orioles will have a kid pitcher in spring training camp as good as either Larsen or Turley. Rookie's name is Rinold (Riney) Duren, who toiled in the Texas League last year with San Antonio.

"Duren is probably our best pitching prospect in the minors," DeWitt said last June. "He's a strong armed righthander who is averaging a strikeout an inning. He should be ready for the big leagues next year."

Duren finished the season as the Texas League strikeout king with 212. He won 12 and lost 12 but hurled a no-hitter and two one-hitters. In a 1-0 triumph over Beaumont he fanned 11 and was deprived of a 2nd no-hitter by a broken-bat bloop single in the 2nd inning.

Another San Antonio graduate worth watching is Bobby Balceno, the little Filipino outfielder who packs a tremendous amount of power. He batted only .270 but walloped 20 homers in the Texas League.

Third baseman Bob Caffrey comes up from San Antonio rated a fair chance to stick despite a .267 batting mark. First baseman Ed Mickelson comes up from San Antonio with a .294 batting mark.

Prize of the entire lot, however, may be a little Mexican 2nd baseman named Vinicio Garcia.

Only 23, Garcia already had put in four years with Shreveport in the Texas League when the Orioles drafted him last December. A flashy fielder and a .305 hitter, Garcia was rated the best 2nd baseman in the minor leagues by many well qualified baseball observers.

Army Seeking to Develop Top Teams for Olympics

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Army today touched off the armed services effort to help build strong teams for the 1956 Olympics by distributing an order among commanding officers calling their attention to the need of developing athletes.

A spokesman said that both the Olympic Games in Australia in late November, 1956 and the Pan-American Games in Mexico City in (March) 1955, fall during the school year and it may be necessary to rely heavily on athletes from the armed forces rather than on those from colleges.

The order issued by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, army chief of staff, pointed out that particularly in baseball "the armed forces may be called upon to furnish their champion amateur team or at least provide outstanding players" because of "conflict with the academic schedule."

Ridgway also voiced hope that American weight-lifters can recover the title which Russia won at Helsinki in the 1952 games. He said that three of the nation's best weightlifters are reported to be in the Army.

Order did not direct commanding officers to screen their commands for outstanding athletes and give them time to train, but an informed source said that "I think they'll get the idea."

Move appeared to be in line with the appeal made to military men at a meeting of the United States Olympic Association in November—a meeting at which defense secretary Charles E. Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, were present.

Worsham's Rich Eagle Shot Top 'Thrill of Year'

Writers Pick Hogan's British Open Victory as No. 2 Feat

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Professional golfer Lew Worsham isn't about to forget one of the most spectacular golf shots in the history of the game.

"Sure, I get a kick out of it—every time I cash a check," says Worsham.

The shot, as all fans know, was the one Worsham let fly with a sand wedge toward the 18th green on the 72nd hole of the "world championship" tournament at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter course last summer.

The ball plopped into the hole for the richest eagle-two in the records. It won $25,000 as the 1st prize for Worsham.

This all-but-a-miracle feat was voted the top "thrill of the year" for 1953 in the 23rd annual poll of the nation's sports writers by the Associated Press.

Experts picked Ben Hogan's victory in the British Open as the No. 2 thrill. Rated behind were Notre Dame-Iowa 14-14 tie; New York Yankee Billy Martin's hitting in the World Series; Ted Williams' pinchhit homer for the Red Sox soon after returning from Marine duty in Korea; Carl Furillo's two-run homerun for Brooklyn in the Series; pitcher Carl Erskine's strikeout record of 14 for the Dodgers; Dark Star's upset victory over Native Dancer in the Kentucky Derby, and Rocky Marciano's one round knockout over Jersey Joe Walcott.

Molinas Home to Face Quiz

Expelled Cage Pro Is Said to Have Admitted Wagering on Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Molinas was expected to come back to his home town today where a Bronx grand jury is investigating bets he made on basketball games.

* * *

Molinas is under indefinite suspension from the Fort Wayne Pistons of the National Basketball Assn. for gambling on his team's games. The former Columbia University captain admitted in a signed statement that he placed bets by phone to a friend.

* * *

Bronx Dist. Atty. George de Luca said he planned to question Molinas today or tomorrow on all phases of his basketball career — high school, college and professional.

Under Indiana law an athlete is not specifically barred from betting on his own team. He is barred by law in New York state. The NBA standard contract stipulates that a player will be expelled for gambling on games.

* * *

In his statement in Fort Wayne Molinas said he cleared $400 on his bets. In his first year as a pro, he has denied betting on any games during his college career.

Leading Hurlers Refuse to Sign '54 Contracts

By ED SYREN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three major league hurlers who viewed the prowess of opposing hitters with a certain amount of contempt last year are eyeing 1954 contracts in the same fashion.

* * *

The Philadelphia Phillies had double-barreled contract problems today with both 23-game winner Robin Roberts and outfielder Richie Ashburn picking up where they left off as defensive standouts last season.

* * *

Both fielded their 1954 contracts on one hop yesterday and whipped them back into the Phillies' front office before owner Bob Carpenter could say "Sign on the dotted line."

"I have no intention of signing that contract," said Roberts.

"I'm asking quite a bit, more," said Ashburn.

Carpenter said: "I don't anticipate trouble in adjusting the difference."

* * *

The St. Louis Cardinals, on the other hand, wouldn't say whether they expected trouble from their 20 game winning lefthander Harvey Haddix, who likewise returned his unsigned contract.

* * *

"They offered me a small raise but not enough," said the 28-year-old hurler at his winter home in South Vienna, Ohio.

And Whitey Ford, who contributed 18 victories to the New York Yankees' pennant drive last year, rejected what he too called a small increase in pay, becoming the first Bronx holdout of 1954.

"I was offered a real small raise," said Ford, "and I'm absolutely giving it back to them" Ford had contract trouble last year too, and was a tardy arrival at the Yanks' training camp March 2.

* * *

"I am thoroughly disappointed and disgusted," he said. "I'm not going to take a cut in salary even if it's a nickel."

Old Yankee Player Pilots Oriole Farm

BALTIMORE (AP)—Don Heffner, former New York Yankee infielder and the last manager of the old Baltimore Orioles in the International League, is managing at San Antonio again.

Heffner was named yesterday pilot the Texas League farm team pilot the Texas Leaguefarm team of the new American League Orioles.

The 42-year-old manager retired from baseball after steering San Antonio to the league pennant in 1950, then returned to the game in 1952 with the old Orioles.

Lattner Lauds Team, Gets Maxwell Award

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Johnny Lattner, Notre Dame all America halfback, last night was presented with the Robert W. Maxwell Memorial award for the 2nd straight year.

Lattner is the only athlete to receive the award as the nation's outstanding college football player twice. He told the more than 500 guests at the award dinner he was accepting the selection as tribute to his team more than an individual honor.

Olson Sold on Bout in Chicago

Gavilan Convinces Bobo Lots of Cash Awaiting April 2 Battle

CHICAGO (AP)—Kid Gavilan, convinced Chicago is hot for him, has won his first skirmish with Bobo Olson, the man he'll meet for the middleweight championship of the world April 2.

* * *

The Cuban Kid, current welterweight champ, persuaded Olson that the good old Yankee dollar can be had for the asking in Chicago Stadium where, it was announced yesterday, the match will be held.

* * *

Olson, middleweight titleholder by virtue of his recent victory over England's Randy Turpin, had been holding out for San Francisco, his adopted home town. He also had cast a speculative eye at New York's Madison Square Garden.

But Gavilan has enjoyed immense financial success in Chicago and International Boxing Culb sources say he and his manager, Angel Lopez, convinced the Olson camp that holding this "natural" any place else would be sheer waste.

Terms call for Olson to receive 35 per cent of the gate, the Kid 25.

Spartan Athletes Are Told to Start 'Hitting Books'

EAST LANSING (UP)— Michigan State athletes were warned today to exercise minds as well as bodies after three major Spartan squads had players sidelined by scholastic shortcomings.

Track coach Karl A. Schlademan announced that four MSC thinclads, including Big Ten indoor high jump champion Jim Vrooman, have been ruled ineligible for the 1954 track season. Also out are distance ace Ron Barr and sprinters Bill Brendel and Ron Suess.

Earlier, two basketball standouts and a pair of hockey stars were announced ineligible for the current winter term by classroom professors.

Aussies' Net Ace, Hoad, Now in Army

SYDNEY (AP) — Lewis Hoad, Australian Davis Cup star, today became Pvt. Lewis Hoad of the 13th National Service Training Battalion as he traded his racquet for a rifle.

Hoad, who defeated both Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas in the recent Davis Cup Challenge Round, said he was looking forward to army training as a welcome break from tennis.

He'll do 98 days of basic infantry training, then two years of part-time service. There was no indication of how much the army service would affect his tennis playing.

Sid Gordon Signs His Contract With Pirates

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Veteran infielder - outfielder Sid Gordokn, acquired by the Pittsburgh Pirates in a recent trade with the Milwaukee Braves, today signed a one-year contract with the Pirates.

Gordon's salary for 1954 was not disclosed but it was reported that the pact called for a five-figure sum. Sam Jethroe, another former Brave, settled with general manager Branch Rickey last week.

Detroiter to File Libel Suit Against Inglis

DETROIT (INS) — Anthony Zerilli of Detroit yesterday launched "discovery" proceedings against state racing commissioner James H. Inglis preparatory to filing a libel and slander suit.

Zerilli was among those named by Inglis as "undesirable stockholders" in the Hazel Park Racing association.

The plaintiff testified he borrowed $50,000 from his father, Joseph Zerilli, to purchase shares in the race group and that $15,000 of the money has been repaid.

"The plaintiff, although admittedly without known criminal record, was potentially susceptible to undue influence and control by persons of criminal record in the expression and exercise of his holdings in the track."

It's Time Out!

Bill Terry's Election to Baseball's Hall of Fame Appears Certain in '54

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — The society for the prevention of voting Bill Terry into baseball's Hall of Fame most likely will disband forever after the latest batch of ballots is counted next week. For many it will be a sad occasion.

* * *

The several hundred members of the Baseball Writers Assn. who participate in the balloting have not all belonged to the society. Its membership has, in fact, been limited to those who had the opportunity of knowing the New York Giants first baseman and manager personally up to the time of his retirement a dozen years ago.

* * *

Up to now this number has been sufficiently large to prevent Terry's getting the requisite number of votes to have his bust poured at Cooperstown. Finally, though, a point has been reached where the solid vote of the society promises to prove only a final fighting gesture, and the odds are about 3-1 that Terry will crash through this time.

Stated succinctly, the reason is that there suddenly is a shortage of real, authentic baseball greats to vote for—that is, besides Terry. To be strictly honest about it, there never has been any real doubt that Bill's batting and fielding and managing records entitled him to shelf space. Only the personality of Terry, the pilot, was ever at issue.

Now, as the boys wet their pencils and look over the list of candidates, they discover that the only ones in position to challenge Terry — based on the strength they showed a year ago — are the two ex-Yankees, catcher Bill Dickey and outfielder Joe DiMaggio.

* * *

While many experts consider Dickey to have been the greatest catcher ever, and no few are ready to rank DiMaggio right up with Tris Speaker in center field, it is extremely doubtful that the bulk of the voters will pour their names in in sufficient volume to put both of them in the hall ahead of Terry this time.

Georgia Tech went through the entire 1952 football season without yielding a touchdown by a forward pass.

Letter From Old Teammate Praises Late Walter Koppisch as One of Football's All-Time Greats

By GRANTLAND RICE

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—When such brilliant stars as Walter Koppisch and Gus Dorais pass on to other fields they leave memories that fade out too quickly.

* * *

Dear Mr. Rice:

As William Wordsworth carried forever his picture of daffodils, it occurs to me that many people attracted by sports also have certain scenes, photographed by their subconscious, and vivid enough to present at least the illusion of total recall.

The passing of Walter Koppisch a few weeks ago reminded me of a visit you paid to the Columbia Manor House in 1924, when Percy Haughton was "bringing back" football to Morningside. It was a beautiful October day.

* * *

You, Mr. Haughton, Dr. Paul Withington, and Capt Walter Koppisch were talking out by the tackling dummies, very gaily. I, a jayvee, was dressing, and as you walked over to the locker house, you said to Mr. Haughton, "With luck, you may have a national championship team."

Luck, however, wasn't with that team; it was plagued by injuries; but the ebullience of that training camp was one of my most enjoyable experiences.

Walter Koppisch might have been Apollo, he was that well formed. He held the world record for the 440, but his great speed and strength were as nothing compared to his great heart.

* * *

In the Dartmouth game the year before, he had broken his elbow. He never mentioned it until the final whistle blew. In the years which followed it was my painful duty, on occasion, to tackle Bronco Nagurski, Ernie Never, and Red Grange.

* * *

Koppisch, in addition to being a great line plunger, was one of the greatest defensive backs in the history of the game. Snowed under by Gil Dobie's Big Red team of 1923, the Cornell stands gave the greatest ovation of the game to Koppisch when he trotted off after 58 minutes of majestic effort.

Sincerely yours,
Ernest Cuneo.

NCAA Weighs Platoon Issue

By BEN FUNK

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — A verdict will be handed down today on college football's 1-platoon system.

Best guess seems to be that the NCAA football rules committee, which has been working over the limited substitution rules since Monday, will approve no major changes.

This is one jury, however, that defies prediction. Last winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., the committee shocked everybody—especially the coaches — by suddenly outlawing 2-platoon football.

That action flew into the teeth of the coaches, who had expressed an overwhelming desire to keep the free substitution rule and to make it even more liberal.

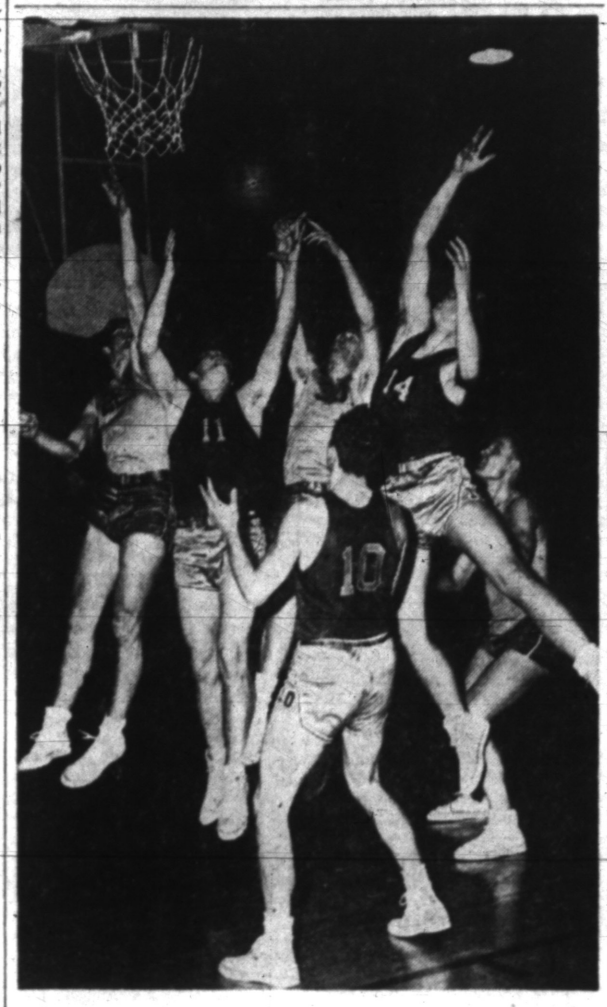

Reaction from the coaching ranks was bitter. Some said the new rule would return college football to "the horse and buggy days." But during the 1953 season, the old-style "iron man" football excited the public's fancy. Fans loved it because they were spared the confusion of watching fresh players stream on and off the field. First-string players liked it because they saw more action. College administrators favored it because it cut down transportation expenses of the massive squads of the 2-platoon era.

Even the coaches came around to it. In their meeting last week in Cincinnati, they voted 3-1 to keep the 1-platoon plan. They asked only that it be liberalized so that a player could be taken out and sent back one each quarter.

After three days of mulling over the rules, the committee will announce its final decision today.

Besides reviewing the substitution rule, the committee heard extensive debate on such problems as the sucker shift, the faked injury and interference from the bench. There were indications that action would be taken on all these matters.

Problem of sideline interference bounced into the headlines. New Year's Day when Tommy Lewis, Alabama fullback, rushed off the bench to tackle Dick Moegle of Rice in the Cotton Bowl game. Current rule awards a touchdown in such cases when the runner appears to be in the clear.

Charles Solid Favorite Over Bob Satterfield

Experts See Ezzard Stopping Chicagoan in Six Rounds

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Ezzard Charles fights Bob Satterfield in Chicago Stadium tonight as a 3-1 favorite, and the whole thing is summed up bluntly by Jake Mintz.

* * *

Charles' enthusiastic little comanager said today: "The last time I seen Satterfield, Rex Layne was standing over his prone body. Don't tell me that bum got off the floor again . . . All we want to know is what's par on Satterfield's chin?"

Satterfield isn't that bad. He's probably one of the hardest punchers in the business today. Like Rocky Marciano, he can knock out a guy with one shot.

* * *

However, in return, the Chicago Negro has been an inconsistent winner at best. He has 42 victories, 25 by kayoes, but he has been chilled 9 times himself in

The experts don't look for to night's scheduled 10 rounder to go beyond six rounds. There is little betting despite the odds. Satterfield, at 182 pounds—about eight lighter than Charles—is expected to start flailing away at the opening bell and continue the pace with the hope of a connection.

Only twice in his pro career, dating from 1940, has the 32-year-old former heavyweight champion been knocked out. The first kayo was by Lloyd Marshall in 1943, when he was fresh out of the Army and the other in July 1951 when he lost the heavyweight crown to Jersey Joe Walcott.

The fight will be televised nationally starting at 10 p.m. EST. EST.

Hintz Tallies 29 Points as Clarkston Five Wins

Gus Birtsas and Don Mauti added 16 and 15 points, respectively, Bill Henson and John Bridgewater scored 14 each for Pontiac. Clarkston will play Shaw's Jewelers at Clarkston, Jan. 30.

The highest league series in American Bowling Congress competiton for a lefthander was 798 by Jerry Pisanelli of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Feb. 14, 1950.

Reserve Guard Comes Through in Crucial Spot

Polish Eaglets Blast Rams for 6th Defeat, in Pontiac Tilt

Two free throws by reserve guard Duane Priebe in the final minute of play brought St. Michael its 3rd straight victory, 33-32, over St. Mary at Royal Oak Tuesday night.

Priebe, a sophomore, sank the two charity tosses to break a 31-point deadlock. St. Mary twice missed chances to win during the next 60 seconds. Al Polanski was awarded two foul shots, but made only one, and Joe Hearn missed two more free throws with 10 seconds left.

Russ Shindorf, who led Mikes' scoring with 10 points, had tied the count 31-31 with two gift throws. Joe Hearn paced St. Mary with 11 points.

St. Frederick absorbed its 6th consecutive setback, 65-46, in a home game at the hands of Orchard Lake St. Mary despite Roger Nosek's 19-point performance. Al Prychka led the Eaglets with 16.

St. Mary, still tied with St. Benedict for the Suburban Catholic League lead, played without the services of top scorer Eugene Stasialowicz, who has been bedridden with influenza since Saturday.

St. Benedict won its 7th straight victory of the season, 52-30, over winless St. Rita.

CASE — The Point Of Turn

Opposite Right Leg — Exactly at what point in the swing to apply lift and spin is known by the experts, but it is the principal source of their trouble just the same. The action, when things go smoothly, occurs opposite the right leg, as

Ray (Shrimp) Schanen, a Milwaukee top-flighter, has just pulled out of a brief slump caused by hurried footwork. His stride was rushed so that, at the foul line, he was too erect. Worse, his swing was late. He instinctively forced the ball, killing follow-through.

With a finishing jerk, he overturned the ball, sending it high on the head pin. A slower first step put him back into stride so he applied lift at the right place. If you are rushing the release of the ball, slow down. Take off easy. Concentrate on swinging the ball.

Nebraska Student Paper Asks Glassford to Resign

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Widely quoted rumors that he has been asked to quit as head football coach at the University of Nebraska set the stage for a promised statement from Bill Glassford today.

Meanwhile, the university student daily, "The Nebraskan," in its lead editorial today declared: "Glassford must be released."

Both coach and university officials refused comment on whether Glassford, whose contract has two years to run, has been asked to quit. But Glassford said he would have something to say today.

Editor Ken Rystrom of "The Nebraskan" said the paper had no quarrel with Glassford's ability as a coach, "but if his relations with players have prompted them to demand his unqualified resignation, there appears no alternative . . ."

Nebraska, a Big Seven conference athletic kingpin before World War II, has failed to get back on top since and criticism from fans and alumni hit a high point after the 1953 football season when the Cornhuskers won only three games and tied one.

Athletic director George (Potsy) Clark quit Dec. 16. Board of regents stepped in at that point and since ways of undertaking an athletic revival at Nebraska have been under official study.

Glassford is a university of Pittsburgh 1937 graduate and a star under the late Jock Sutherland. He came to Nebraska as head football coach in 1949 when Clark moved up from coach to athletic director.

Literary Work Ends for 'Boom Boom' Geoffrion

Montreal Player Tells Fans He's Concluding His Column

MONTREAL (AP) —This may be an indication of things to come in the National Hockey League.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, a sports columnist like Maurice (Rocket) Richard, winds up his stint in the current issue of the French-language weekly Parlons Sports with these words:

"I think, dear sport fans, that this column is the last one for me for some time. But I think I'll be back with you."

The Rocket and Boom Boom are both high-scoring rightwingers with the Montreal Canadiens. It was the Rocket's column, in the opposition Samedi-Dimanche, which set off a furore.

Richard blasted NHL president Clarence Campbell. Among other things, he criticized the president for being "unfair" in punishment given Boom Boom, participant with Ron Murphy of New York Rangers in a stick-swinging brawl.

Boom Boom writes he is happy that the Rocket thought it proper to defend him and that Richard "has always been on my side when I was right."

Snowy Owls Will Invade Michigan Again

This, apparently, is going to be another of those years when the spectacular snowy owls invade Michigan. Invasion comes every four years, and coincides with cyclicscarcities of lemmings, the mouse-like mainstay of the owls' Arctic fare.

Last invasion was in 1949-50.

One of the showy, white birds was recently bagged by Tommy Adent, 13, of St. Joseph, Mich., the Benton Harbor News-Palladium reports. The denizen of the Arctic wastes made the mistake of perching on the television antenna on Tommy's house. He shot it with a .22.

The birds are not protected by Michigan law, so they are fair game for anybody. During the invasion years, taxidermists do a rushing business in mounting the big birds.

Fox Control Doesn't Help Bird Hunting

New evidence that foxes have little if any influence on the abundance of pheasants comes from New York state. Conservation department took two large adjoining areas and trapped off 75 to 80 per cent of the foxes for two years. The other area was left alone.

Hunters were required to report their pheasant kills at checking stations on both areas.

Detroit Fireman Takes Skate Jumping Crown

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (UP)—A Detroit fireman who cleared 14 barrels in a 25-foot, 11-inch jump was still world's champion jumping ice skater today despite falling almost three feet short of his own record.

Terry Browne cleared the 14 barrels here Saturday but was hampered by snow which fell during the 4th annual championships.

Browne set a world's record of 28-feet, three-inches in 1952 when he cleared 15 barrels to gain the title.

New 'Kingdom' for Fishermen Off Nova Scotia

Outer Baldania Claims World's Top 'Hole' for Tuna Angling

Just 14 miles off the coast of Nova Scotia lies the newly created principality of Outer Baldonia, a "kingdom" that contains the world's most productive tuna "hole" according to an article in the February issue of Pageant magazine.

Purchased from a Canadian owner for a paltry $750.00, Outer Baldonia now belongs to international sportsman and Washington businessman "Prince" Russell Arundel, who has published a constitution and a declaration of Independence for his kingdom.

1. To lie about fish and be believed.
2. To praise one's self.
3. To swear, drink and gamble.
4. To be expansive and hilarious.
5. To sleep all day and stay up all night.

The constitution declares that citizenship would be granted by the "grace of the prince," but that almost anyone was eligible, except for three classes of people:

1. Those with inhibitions.
2. Those without a sense of humor.
3. Women.

Baldonia's diplomatic relations have thus far been conducted in a most correct fashion, says Pageant, and foreign relations had always been friendly until recently when the tiny "kingdom" came to the attention of the Soviet Union —which unleashed upon it a stream of abuse and invective, accusing Arundel of attempting to turn "peaceful fishermen into cannibals."

Harness Horse Champ Proved Real Bargain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — Hi Lo's Forbes, named the top harness horse of 1953 by the turf writers, proved a real bargain. The black stallion cost owners Mr. and Mrs. Wagner $300 at auction.

At Roosevelt Raceway on June 6, Hi Lo's Forbes ran the fastest mile ever registered by a harness horse over a half mile oval. His time was 1:58 3-5.

He topped 11 of his 17 starts and earned $52,625.

Ice Fisherman Has Chance for Good Underwater Shots

By JACK PATTERSON

Americans, with the possible exception of pre-war Japanese tourists, have long been the world's most dedicated amateur photographers. With American outdoorsmen it's the same only more so. Many a hunter or fisherman would as soon go afield without gun or rod as he would without his camera.

PATTERSON

There is sound reasoning behind this addiction. In the first place it is almost as much fun to hunt or fish with a camera as it is with more lethal gear. In addition, a good picture makes a permanent record which gets a much more sympathetic reception around the house than, say, a mounted elk head or seven foot sailfish.

Although ice fishermen take as many pictures as anyone else they usually content themselves with bleak portraits of half-frozen fishermen against a background as cheery as February in Vladivostok. They generall ignore the possibilities for interesting underwater shots of the quarry in action.

* * *

The shanty fisherman, in particular, is in a position to record indelibly that suspenseful moment when a big pike eases up to give the decoy a lingering once-over.

To arrange a set-up for such a picture is very simple. It involves cutting two small holes in the ice on opposite sides of the shanty, maybe a foot or so from the shanty walls. Hang a flash bulb without reflector through each hole a few inches below the ice.

A little experimentation with the decoy as a subject will show what lens aperature and shutter speed will be required for a good shot. A lot of time can be saved if one has a Polaroid camera (or can borrow one) for this initial experimenting. Once he has worked out a satisfactory set-up the angler can use it again any time prospects for a good picture seem likely.

* * *

If the only thing lacking is an ice shanty, there is a good one available locally. A portable canvas affair, it can be readily moved from lake to lake and doesn't have to be left on the ice between trips. It is priced just under $60 and would appear worth it to the serious ice fisherman.

We are in receipt of a pearl wobbler from Seattle reader Jim Hodges. Used by the Puget Sound Indians during the salmon runs, it is worn by them in off seasons, "at which time it is extremely productive of fantastic lies involving fish and fishermen."

Jim adds: "I send it to you that it may add stature and breadth to your word when speaking of fish and men." Well, we don't know about the stature, but we've got all the breadth we can comfortably use now, thank you.

* * *

Note to deer hunters who complain about lack of deer around their cabins: Get one of the local farmers to put in a rye strip on your property next spring. And don't forget hay through the winter. If there is feed the deer will come. They'll stay too, so long as there's a prospect of free chow. Deer are just like people in some other respects, too.

Trapping, Fishing Rules Up for Study by Group

LANSING (UP) — Regulations governing beaver and otter trapping and the transfer of walleyes over the Newaygo dam will be among the subjects up for conservation commission consideration at its Jan. 14 and 15 meeting here.

Conservation department game division has recommended slightly less liberal regulations on the spring trapping season following a heavy take last spring.

Fish division has proposed that present regulations be continued at Newaygo dam with slight changes. Dip-netters will try to lift 10,000 walleyes over the dam for 15 days during the spring spawning run so that upstream waters will get the benefit of part of the spawning run.

Last spring, the dippers fell short of their goal, netting only 7,600 fish during the period.

Commission will be asked to make a decision on continuing its experimental policy of providing lists of game and fish law violators to newspapers.

Fishing sites on Chandler Lake, Grand Traverse County, Swan Lake, Iron County, and Cowden Lake, Montcalm County, are listed for purchase along with other lands to add to state game areas.

Albion Signs Fraser as Football Mentor

ALBION (UP) — Morley Fraser was signed this week as head football coach at Albion College and will take over the post next September.

Fraser, native of Wauwautosa, Wis., graduated from Washburn University. He was head coach at Lansing Eastern High in 1952 and turned out the school's first winning football team since 1948 last season. A successor at Lansing Eastern has not been named.

The Tigers' last place finish in the American league in the 1952 season was its first in a period of 52 years.

Michigan Outdoors

State's Winter Sports Fans Flock to Resorts

By MORT NEFF

Thousands of Michigan residents are opening their eyes these days to the possibility of outdoor fun throughout the cold, snowy months, and they are joining the crowds of "snowbirds" flocking to some 38 winter resort areas thruout the state. Dozens of communities in both our upper and lower peninsulas are planning a full schedule of winter sports. To those who might like to arrange their week ends accordingly, here are a few details on where and when to go:

NEFF

Ski enthusiasts are finding bigger and better equipment in operation this year. The eastern half of the state has terrain and tows suitable for the sport all the way from Pontiac in the south to Cheboygan in the north.

Here are a few specific events, with dates now on the agenda for February: Alpena's annual winter sports carnival is set for first week end in February. On the same dates Grayling will compete for attention with a big downhill run for toboggans and skis.

On Feb. 7 the Southern Michigan Ski Jumping Championships will draw the crowds at Mesick.

Problems Face State Group

Conservation Board Has Full Agenda for Monthly Meeting

LANSING — A full agenda faces the conservation commission when it meets here for its monthly meeting Thursday and Friday.

Several annual problems will again—as usual—face the seven-member commission during the January meeting, including state park concessions, beaver and otter trapping regulations and the transfer of pike over Newaygo Dam.

Concessionaires in eight state parks have asked renewal of their contracts for the coming seasons, and parks officials have recommended that the commission grant all of them.

Beaver-otter season is slated in March and April: regulations for this season are included in the January commission agenda.

The fish division recommends that regulations in force at the Newaygo Dam during the spring pike spawning run be continued in force this year with a few slight changes. That means dip-netters will try to lift 10,000 walleyed pike over the dam before the 15-day limit runs out in order that upstream waters have the benefit of at least part of the spawning run of the fish.

Mt. Clemens Man Says He Won't Lose This Collapsible Job

MT. CLEMENS (UP) — Ed Miller of Mt. Clemens is one ice fisherman who lost his fish shanty and was determined not to lose another.

So he designed and built a collapsible canvas shanty that is portable.

"Designed it after finding my shanty floating in Lake St. Clair after an unexpected thaw," said Miller. "You don't need a trailer to take it to your favorite site," he added, "and you can go where the fish are biting."

Miller's shanty is four by five feet at its plywood base. It stands six feet, six inches.

Miller claims the shanty will withstand winds between 15 and 20 miles an hour. He says it weighs 45 pounds and takes less than a minute to put up.

Miller intends to make the shanties commercially. They'll retail for about $50, he says.

No Drills for Goldham

DETROIT (UP) — Bob Goldham, veteran defenseman for the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League, seldom practices. Since he plays between 28 and 34 minutes of every 60-minute contest, the Red Wing management believes it best for him to conserve his energy. The 31-year old Goldham has played 13 years in the league.

Cowboys Bid for Spot Among Top College Fives

B BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The Oklahoma A&M Cowboys today put in a strong bid to split the trio of teams which have dominated the top spots in the Associated Press weekly basketball polls.

* * *

Hank Iba's terrors of the prairies have been running a weak fourth behind Kentucky, Duquesne and Indiana. But in their support now they can offer a season's record of 14 victories in 15 games with the one loss coming by a single point against Minnesota.

* * *

The Cowboys lassoed the 11th-ranking Jayhawks, last year's NCAA Western titlists, last night 54-50 for their 11th straight triumph and their 27th in a row on their home court.

After a poor start Kansas had won six straight, including the Big Seven's preseason tournament at Kansas City. The Jayhawks stayed even through the first 20 minutes but A&M spurted into a 41-32 lead in the third period and stayed well in front.

Bob Mattick, the Oklahomans' 6-11 center, held B. H. Born, the Kansas big boy, to six points and scored 14 himself. Frank Bigham led the third-period surge and ended high man with 15.

* * *

Ninth-ranking Duke was upset by Wake Forest 96-89 but two other top 10 members won easily. Holy Cross, No. 6, outscored Boston College 33-12 in the final quarter in winning 83-57, George Washington, No. 7, overpowered Virginia Military 66-50. The Crusaders and Colonials each have won 11 without a defeat.

* * *

Dickie Hemric, playing his first full game since injuring his ankle Jan. 2, scored 34 points for Wake Forest as the Deacons handed Duke its first loss in Atlantic Conference play.

Niagara, No. 13, coasted over the University of Mexico 77-41, and Rice, No. 15, whipped Texas Christian 69-52 in the Southwest Conference.

Texas remained unbeaten in Southwest Conference play by edging Texas A&M 49-46. The Longhorns have won three.

Frank Selvy, the nation's highest scorer, hit for 40 points, well under his season's best, as his Furman team beat Clemson 87-69.

* * *

* * *

Madison Square Garden, where college basketball first went big time, drew its smallest regular season night double-header crowd in 20 years. Only 4,296 cash customers showed up to see LaSalle defeat Manhattan 69-61 and Georgetown win from New York University 75-67.

Arizona won its first Border Conference game in two starts, edging New Mexico A&M 67-65.

Cage Game May Be on Way Out at NY's Garden

"The local colleges, not I, must decide," Irish explained. "But I do feel it is obvious that top teams from all over the country will not be satisfied to come here to play inferior competition before small crowds. It doesn't pay them reputation-wise or financially."

Sparrow Hits 31 Points

Blue Devils Win 11th Straight Game, Broncs Break Record, Wayne Tops UD

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blue Devils of Lawrence Tech, Michigan's only unbeaten college basketball team, won their 11th straight game last night while a red-hot Western Michigan quintet hit for 103 points and a school scoring record in thumping Valparaiso of Indiana.

Tech defeated the Presidents of Washington and Jefferson 53-44 in Detroit. Tech won despite the poorest showing in the collegiate basketball career of 6-foot-8 center Werner Killen. Killen was limited to a slim 12 points. He'd been averaging 21 points a game this year.

Score was held down by the Presidents' slow style of possession basketball. They tried to lay back and capitalize on mistakes made by fast-breaking Tech. It didn't work.

Western's 6-foot-6 forward Ron Jackson took scoring honors with 33 points. Jackson also tied a school record. The score at halftime was 56-36 in Western's favor.

Tartars held a 40-32 edge at the half after jumping into the lead in the 2nd quarter when they scored 26 points.

Calvin gained its 6th victory against one loss in the last 40 seconds of the thriller when Jim Kok scored on a layup.

Hope had tied the score twice in the 2nd half and had gone into the lead twice. But with Tony Diekema showing the way with 18 points, Calvin pulled the game out of the fire.

Hope's Bob Hendrikson was high man with 19 points. His team now has a 5-1 record in conference standings.

Bowling Figures Appear at Captain-Sponsor Affair

Fourth annual Captain - Sponsor bowling tournament and banquet this week end points up the first half of a vary busy kegling season in Pontiac area.

Actual pin-smashing began last Sunday when many captains and sponsors, unable to bowl at this Saturday's big event, compiled their totals to go into the tourney "jackpot." Biggest share of the action, however, has been set for this week, with squads opening firing at 9 a.m. Saturday at West Huron Recreation drives.

Shooting continues through 6 p.m. at which time the last squad must get under way.

Some 200 or more teams of captains and sponsors (2-man) will participate in the tourney.

Entries close today at West Huron Recreation, 1124 W. Huron street, Pontiac. The tourney is open only to sponsored teams bowling in Oakland County. It is arranged by the Pontiac Bowling Proprietors' Association of greater Pontiac.

Plans for the event, including the banquet following the tourney's conclusion, were completed today with announcement of the list of prominent guests. Price Boasts Potential Star in Final Year

California Coach Hopes to Guide Bob Matheny to All-America Honors

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Clarence Merle (Nibs) Price, the little giant of Pacific Coast basketball, rings down the curtain at the end of this season on a 30-year career as head coach at the University of California.

* * *

The automatic retirement age of 65 will have caught up with His Nibs. One of Price's fondest hopes is that he will produce another player of All America stature to close out his university tenure.

* * *

His big gun is Bob Matheny, an agile guard who has the qualifications to become a professional star. Matheny stands 5 feet 11 and can do about everything with the ball except swallow it whole. He's an artist with either hook or outside shots both left and right-handed. He sets up plays and is tremendous defensively.

Because of his sensational performances in the double upset wins over UCLA last weekend, Matheny was named Player of the Week by the Northern California Basketball Saturday night he scored 18 points, passed to another 20, stole the ball twice and put on a defensive show.

* * *

Price has been coaching at California in some capacity since 1919. He is the last man who has been head coach in football and basketball at the same time. He was the top kick in football from 1926 through 1930.

The only triple play in the National League during 1953 was executed by the Cincinnati Redlegs. It was made on Aug. 30 at the expense of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Priest in Custody While Inside U. S.

OSHAWA, Ont. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest who was expelled from Red China after 28 years' mission work said yesterday it is easier traveling through Communist countries than through the United States.

The Rev. Joseph Venini of Oshawa said in an interview he had more trouble crossing the United States on his way to Canada than he had crossing China.

The missionary said he was refused a U. S. visa because he came from a Communist country. He arrived here last Friday. He said that after being held up in Portugal and Cuba for three months he was granted passage-in-custody by the United States.

"That means you came through as a criminal," he said. He added that he was escorted by guards while traveling by plane from Havana to Detroit.

He said he was "practically a prisoner."

Big Four Berlin Meeting Carries Heavy Undertones

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Even should the minutes of the forthcoming Big Four Berlin conference never be written and the conference itself never held, it can, nevertheless, determine Europ's course for years to come.

The extreme gravity with which the conference is being viewed, and some insight into the stakes involved, already are apparent in the statements of both diplomats and soldiers — even though its scheduled Jan. 25 date still is two weeks away and a precise meeting place in Berlin has not yet been selected.

It led Western Europe's Supreme Commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther to issue the sober warning: "There is no prize for second place in this game."

The stake involved is the whole of Germany and eventually the whole of Europe.

The European Army, whether to be or not to be, is the primary target, and first France and then Britain, whether eventually they are to look to the East or the West, the secondary target.

The above two targets are first or second only in the sense of time. For Russia, if she is to win the second, must abolish the danger of the first.

Russia already is indicating the price she is willing to pay and the point beyond which she will not go.

Red mouthpiece Otto Nuschke, deputy premier of Soviet-controlled East Germany, made clear Russian views about a unified Germany this week.

He quoted Russian Defense Minister Marshal Nikolai Bulganin as saying that if the East German June 17 uprising had succeeded: "It would have resulted in World War III."

Presumably Bulganin's statement was based on the logical Germans succeeded in throwing off the Red yoke, they immediately would have joined the West.

On the surface, the Berlin conference is to ponder the fate of Germany and occupied Austria. But beneath the surface the maneuverings are world wide.

Thus, Britain this week declared itself "unalterably" aligned with the United States on the release of Korean war prisoners Jan. 23.

And so more than usual consternation was caused by an Indochina broadcast this week in which the Vietnamese seemed to be appealing to Russia to settle the Indochina War.

It was, as a matter of fact, the Indochina situation to which Bidault referred when he spoke of lunching "with the devil."

There is a suspicion that Indochina is the Russians' whole card—that they will offer peace in Indochina in exchange for French refusal to join the European Army, thereby scuttling United States foreign policy for Europe.

Heavy Selling Affects Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Fairly heavy selling slipped into grains on the Board of Trade today and the market retreated for losses which generally didn't go above a cent.

The selling appeared to be quite well absorbed and after the first few minutes of active dealings the decline was halted. Brokers thought much of the selling came from holders of grains who had grown discouraged at the market's inability to forge ahead.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ⅛ cent lower, March $2.08¾, corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, March $1.52⅜, oats ¼ to ⅜ lower, March 78½, rye unchanged to ½ higher, March $1.19½, soybeans ¾ lower to 1 cent higher, January $3.03¼, and lard unchanged to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $16.60.

Cadillac Ups Prices on Most '54 Models

DETROIT (AP) — Cadillac Motor announced today its 1954 El Dorado model will have a price tag $2,012 lower than the comparable 1953 model.

An increase of $142.27 is announced in the price of the Series 60 Special sedan; other models are advanced from $30.27 to $36.27.

The 1954 prices range from $3,837.77 for the Series 62 coupe, to $6,090.17 for the Series 75 eight passenger Fleetwood Imperial. The El Dorado, a super deluxe low production model, priced last year at $7,750, has been reduced to $5,738.

In announcing the new prices, J. M. Roche, general sales manager, said they include as standard equipment many items previously handled as optional, such as power steering, chrome wheel discs, windshield washer, oil filter, vanity mirror and outside rear view mirror.

Roche said the increase on most models "reflects primarily the increased cost of dealer delivery and handling charges, which have not been changed since 1941."

Double Deadline Coming Friday for Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you have to file estimated income tax reports, you have a double deadline coming up at midnight Friday (Jan. 15.)

By then you must:

1. Make a correction if your previous estimates have been off by 20 per cent or more.

2. Pay the final installment on your estimated tax for 1953.

You do not need to file an amended estimate if previous estimates came within 20 per cent of actual income or if you file your regular 1953 income tax return by Jan. 15 and pay the tax due.

1. Persons with wages or salary not subject to withholding.

2. Persons with more than $100 in other kinds of income from which federal income tax was not withheld.

This would include income from rent, untaxed side earnings apart from your regular work and profits on sale of property. Only half the profit on property sale, including securities, is taxable if the property is held more than six months before being sold.

3. Persons whose wages or salary subject to withholding were more than $4,500 after deduction of $600 for each exemption. That would mean a total income of $6,900 for a family of man, wife and two children and no other exemptions.

You file your estimated tax return on a special form—1040 ES. You can get it from your district director of internal revenue or from your local post office or bank.

Rails Head List as Stocks Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Railroads headed a rally in the stock market today that sent prices higher for the second straight session.

Favorites following the railroads were the oils, steels, and chemicals. Also higher were the motors, aircrafts, radio-televisions, coppers, air lines, movies, building materials, and utilities.

Missouri Pacific preferred, up 4 points yesterday, gained better than a point today, all a result of a move to speed up reorganization proceedings.

Higher stocks included Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway, Sinclair Oil, Pan American World Airways, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, U. S. Steel, General Motors, and United Aircraft.

Pontiac City Affairs

Revised Formula Adopted for Assessments on Lots

A revised formula for assessing the lot owner's share of cost of sewer, sidewalk, street, water and drainage improvements was adopted last night by Pontiac City Commission.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said under the new system the city will assume cost of lateral storm sewer installation formerly assessed to property owners.

The move is designed to avoid misunderstandings such as have come up over amounts assessed for such construction, Willman explained.

Related work, such as sidewalk raising and tree removal has been cost hiked from $1.50 to $2 per front foot.

An assessment of $1.20 per front included in the curb and gutter assessment, Willman stated, and the foot for necessary grading and graveling has been added, the city manager said.

The city has reserved the right to determine type of improvement constructed, and to set aside the uniform rates and assess the full cost when deemed necessary.

Other charges remaining the same include, sanitary sewers, $2.50 per front foot; storm sewers, 3 cents per square foot; combined sewer, 5 cents per square foot; five foot sidewalk, $2 per front foot; two-inch blacktop paving, $2.30 per front foot; and concrete paving, $5.50 per front foot or $7 with curb and gutter.

Others include boulevard light, $1.70 per front foot; two-inch bituminous recap over old pavement, 1.50 per front foot; water mains and appurtenances, $1.75 per front foot; and dust-laying treatment, 50 cents per front foot.

In other action commissioners said they would concur with an agreement worked out by Willman with the Tel-Huron Shopping Center as to rezoning of residential areas to commercial.

Commissioners approved a request from Frank P. Benning for transfer of location of a 1953 Class C liquor-by-the-glass license from 522 S. Saginaw to 137 Oakland Ave. and to add Settimio Sesti as partner on the license.

Public hearings were conducted and special assessment rolls ordered for Jan. 19 on proposed two-inch blacktop construction on:

Bellevue from Paddock to Jessie.
Bliss from Hill to Parkhurst.
Chandler from Mariva to East boulevard.

Jury Proclaims Weber 'Guilty'

Convicted of Assault With Intent to Murder in Stepson Shooting

A Pleasant Ridge man accused of shooting his stepson in the head with a .22 caliber rifle last Sept. 18 was found guilty of assault with intent to murder by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury this morning.

The six-man, six-woman jury, which failed to reach a verdict yesterday, reconvened this morning and deliberated 33 minutes before convicting Anthony Weber, 36, of 310 E. Ten Mile Rd.

Police said Weber shot his stepson, Frank Gabriel, 22, while he lay sleeping in their home. They quoted Weber as saying Gabriel was "stealing my wife's affections."

Gabriel said he disarmed Weber, slugged him with the rifle and held him until police arrived. The bullet wound was not critical.

Expectant Mother, 3 Others Arrested

An expectant mother, her husband and two other persons were arrested yesterday afternoon for investigation of larceny from a store after a quantity of stolen baby clothing and women's wear was found in her home by Pontiac Police.

They are Mrs. Betty Marie Shubert, 21, of 75 Thorpe St., William Shubert, 20, of 145 W. Wilson Ave., Doyle Ray Goff, 19, of 29 Hillisdale Dr. and Richard L. D. Inglsbee, 22, of 806 Orlando Ave.

Baby clothing and accessories were found in the Shubert home, and six wristwatches allegedly stolen from a downtown store were discovered in the possession of all four, said police.

2 Plead Guilty to Charge of Concealed Weapons

Two Royal Oak Township men pleaded guilty before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland today on a charge of carrying concealed weapons in a motor vehicle and sentence was set for Feb. 1.

William Harris and Luther Barnett, both of 21737 Creston Lane, were released on $500 bond each. They were arrested in Oak Park last Aug. 22 and a .38 caliber revolver was found in the glove compartment of their auto.

Bank to Build Drayton Branch

Pontiac State to Have New, Larger Quarters on Dixie Highway

Pontiac State Bank has taken bids for a new building to house its branch at Drayton Plains.

The new building, of brick construction, will be located about 100 feet south of the present location on the Dixie. It will be 40 by 77 feet, more than doubling floor space offered in the present branch.

Features of the new quarters will be drive-in deposit facilities, additional tellers' windows on the inside, and more vault space.

The Drayton Plains branch of the bank will have operated six years next month, according to Milo J. Cross, president.

He said the bank hopes construction may start very soon and that completion of the new building is scheduled for about four months after the start. The branch has enjoyed a steady increase in patronage since its establishment, he said.

Meeting to Plan Korean Parley

U. S. and Red Officers Confer Tomorrow on Date to Resume Talks

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U.S. envoy Kenneth Young said today Allied and Red liaison officers will meet tomorrow in the first step toward resuming talks to set up a Korean peace conference—apparently on Red terms.

The Communists asked Monday for the low-level meeting—but only to discuss a date for reopening preliminary talks broken off Dec. 12 by the United States.

The Allies replied Tuesday with a note asking that the staff officers discuss both date and conditions for resuming the conference. The Reds answered with a new note Wednesday.

When he first announced that the officers would meet Young said they would discuss the conditions.

He didn't release the text of the Red note, but paraphrased it this way: "(The Reds) agree to a meeting . . . to agree on the date for political discussions regarding a political (peace) conference."

When asked later about the absence of the word "conditions" in the paraphrase, Young said the latest Red note did not mention "conditions," but only the time of the meeting.

Meanwhile, the Korean repatriation commission prepared to meet tomorrow on a secret Indian proposal reportedly designed to solve the touchy issue of releasing war prisoners by turning them back to the commands that formerly held them.

The Allies demand that all prisoners be released after midnight Jan. 22 under the armistice terms. The Reds insist they be held until a peace conference can discuss their fate.

Strike in Detroit Laid to Publicity on Dance Lessons

DETROIT (UP)—A strike at Winter Brothers Stamping Co. in Detroit was traced to publicity over $37,000 the firm's president, John D. Winter Jr., paid for dancing lessons.

Winter told UAW International Representative James Porter he could not grant the raise because the company had lost $25,000 in the past three months.

When newspapers reported Winter paid $37,000 for dancing lessons, the workers rebelled and demanded a strike vote. A picket line was formed Tuesday afternoon.

Residents Paid $41,060 for All Types Issued by Clerk's Office

In 1952 approximately 6,200 licenses were sold for $40,317.22, according to City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

Licenses issued were divided into 34 categories. Dog tags were most numerous in 1953, with 3,185 sold for $2 and 564 for $3, said Mrs. Evans.

Some 167 licensed barber chairs operated last year, while 388 gasoline pumps had permits, said Mrs. Evans. Retail and wholesale food selling licenses totaled 648, she added.

Mechanical amusement machine permits were 304. Taxicabs numbered 75, with 472 taxicab drivers licensed. Beer, wine and liquor selling license transfers were 37. Some 49 fuel oil trucks operated.

Other figures listed by Mrs. Evans included, auctioneer licenses and permits, 12, dry cleaning agencies, 60, dry cleaning plants, 29, dance hall licenses and permits, 7, jitneys, 4, and junk dealers, 5.

Six milk plants operated with 73 delivery vehicles and 15 licensed drivers. Pool and billiard table licenses totaled 65 and bowling alleys, 72. Tobacco retailing licenses were 373.

Twenty-eight sewer and 40 sidewalk permits were issued, while 1,462 signs were okayed.

The island-wide campaign to plant 1,000,000 trees in Jamaica, in honor of the visit of Queen Elizabeth in November, was so successful that the target was raised to 2,000,000.

Police Are Cautioned of Future Vice Raids

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit police cleanup squads today were told to check with superiors before raiding dwellings suspected as vice dens.

The order was handed down by police commissioner Donald S. Leonard, who said he acted at the suggestion of the Detroit Common Council. Councilmen expressed concern over two New Year's Day raids by Bethune station cleanup officers which allegedly resulted in illegal destruction of private property.

Human Ladder Rescues Boy From Icy Sewer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Four city firemen formed a human ladder yesterday to rescue a young boy who was being swept along an underground sewer drain.

Eight - year - old Albert Salvia fell 20 feet down a manhole into the icy water, which was about three feet deep. The firemen, one on top of the other and lashed together by ropes, retrieved the struggling youngster and raised him to safety as hundreds of cheering spectators gathered around the scene.
