Hospital Addition Reaching Upper Levels

Pontiac Press Photo

PLENTY TO DO INSIDE — Addition to Pontiac General Hospital shows steady progress, with the exterior walls nearing the top level. Next step is to complete the enclosing, then finish the inside work, including the maze of service facilities that go into a modern hospital. But before the addition can be put into service rooms must be furnished and equipment purchased. Next Monday's special election has been called to authorize funds for this phase of the project.

U.S. Jury Indicts Hoffa on Wire-Tap Charges

Association Favors Bonds for Hospital

The Oakland County Hospital Assn. has joined the growing list of organizations favoring passage May 20 of the proposed $1,850,000 city hospital bond issue.

Miss Emma Howard, president, called completion of the hospital addition now under construction "vital to the community."

The association, established in the first decade of the century, was in the forefront of the original movement for a city hospital.

It built and donated the original Pontiac General Hospital building to the city in 1915.

"The bond issue should be supported," said Miss Howard. "Nothing is more important to the public than having a place for the sick to be cared for."

The hospital issue is part of a six-proposition ballot.

There also is a $2,700,000 bond question aimed at enlarging, improving and extending Pontiac's sewage disposal system.

A volunteer Hospital Committee, working for completion of the job, has received similar endorsements from 11 other organizations.

New Hearing Denied for Convicted Killer

Michael J. Gisondi, 28-year-old convicted killer of a Hazel Park tavern owner and his son four years ago, yesterday lost his bid for a new hearing.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, who in 1953 sentenced Gisondi and his convicted partner to life imprisonment, ruled there were insufficient grounds for a new trial.

Gisondi, of Eagle, and Harold Hummell, 26, of Detroit were convicted of the Aug. 18 double shooting of Vidos Vinokurow, 60, and his son, Joseph, 31, in their Hazel Park tavern.

Gisondi claims he wasn't at the bar at the time of the killings. He and Hummell are inmates of Marquette State Prison.

2.9 Million Vehicles

DETROIT (INS) — The Automobile Manufacturers Association says 2,957,573 cars, trucks and motor coaches have been built in the U. S. so far this year. Vehicle production last week, according to the AMA, totaled 149,460 units.

Gas Rationing Ending

LONDON (AP) — Britain is ending gasoline rationing tomorrow. Power Minister Lord Mills announced this development, reflecting the easing of an oil shortage born of the Suez crisis.

Courthouse Suit Opening Today

Charge Illegal Surplus Raised by Supervisors for New Building

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors illegally accumulated and partially spent $3,056,840 for new buildings over the past 10 years, it was alleged in Circuit Court today.

The charge was made as the long-awaited trial of the suit blocking construction of a new courthouse began before visiting Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, of Harrisville.

Glenn C. Gillespie, attorney for the Oakland County Taxpayers' League, said most of the money was raised in excess of a constitutional limitation after voters refused an extra tax to build the proposed new building.

The Taxpayers' League, an independent group formed expressly to fight the board of supervisors' building plans, charges that budgets were padded and surpluses illegally transferred to building funds.

NO QUESTION

In his opening statement Gillespie said: "There is no question that a new courthouse is badly — yes, desperately — needed. The county has completely outgrown its present courthouse.

"However, in questions of such magnitude the board of supervisors should leave the decision to the voters."

Gillespie outlined two other main

Twisters Injure 23 in Arkansas

Students Huddle Under Desks as Storm Rakes Conway School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Twenty-three persons were injured yesterday when angry clouds over Arkansas spawned three tornadoes and numerous destructive thunderstorms.

Hardest hit was Conway. There 21 persons, including eight school children, were hurt.

Strong winds also were blamed for a boating mishap on the swollen Red River in southwest Arkansas. Two men were lost in the swift current.

A third man was rescued after he had been swept, clinging to the capsized boat, about a mile downstream.

Twisters dipped into Conway, Malvern and the Izard County community of Oxford. Property damage was wide-spread.

The Conway tornado ripped into a corner of the Ida Burns Elementary School, toppling a wall into a classroom. Only one of the eight pupils hurt was seriously injured—Gregg Canten, 12.

★ ★ ★

School Supt. Hayes Gibson credited the teacher of the 34-pupil room, Mrs. W. E. Bolding, with preventing further injury by ordering the children to get under their desks.

HOUSES SMASHED

In addition to the school, several houses were smashed, a service station unroofed and trees and power lines knocked down.

Aside from the Canten boy, the more seriously injured at Conway included Mrs. Elwin Lasley and her three children, aged 2 to 6. All were in the family home when it was picked up and blown 150 yards. The children were hurt but not seriously.

Conway, a town of 9,000, is 33 miles northwest of Little Rock.

At Malvern, about 50 miles southwest, the Acme Brick Co. bore the brunt of the storm. The tornado smashed brick sheds and kilns and leveled a 10,000-gallon water tank.

Foreman Fred Jackson said damage would run between $100,000 and $250,000. No workmen were injured.

The twister skipped over the Smith Elementary School where about 400 children were attending class.

You Like Tulips? Holland Festival Starts Tomorrow

HOLLAND (AP) — Tulips, you want?

With its famed annual tulip time festival set to start tomorrow, Holland's even got 'em hanging from business district lamp posts.

Park Superintendent Dick Smallenburg directed the operation which resulted in a total of 100 Holland lampposts decorated with pots of 24 tulips each.

Smallenburg, who has charge of 340,000 tulips planted along the curbs for eight miles of city streets, decided upon the pole decorations for the downtown area which has no soil for curbside plantings.

★ ★ ★

Smallenburg predicts the city blooms and the more than 1,500,000 others on area tulip bulb farms will be at their colorful best for the festival opening.

Gov. Williams has informed the Tulip Time Committee he will be in Holland for the opening ceremonies.

It will be the ninth year Williams has taken part. On each occasion he dons an Old World Dutch costume, complete with wooden shoes, for the traditional street-scrubbing ceremony which leads into the three-day festival.

The United States Chamber of Commerce last year ranked the festival third in the nation among non-profit community promotions.

Reports Russia Has Most Subs

But Soames of Britain Sees NATO Guarding Atlantic Sea Lanes

LONDON (AP)—The British government says Russia now has the world's biggest submarine fleet—500 underwater craft. Half of them reportedly are built for long-range operation.

★ ★ ★

But Christopher Soames, parliamentary secretary of the admiralty, said if war comes the NATO allies have "every intention of protecting the Atlantic sea lanes."

Soames told the House of Commons last night that NATO would be bolstered by "the main elements of the Royal Navy, which are committed to NATO in the event of global war."

Speaking during debate on the navy budget, Soames said the "new style navy will be a sharp and tempered weapon with fewer ships than the prewar fleet but with most formidable hitting power."

Weather Predictions Put Damper on Golf

It looks as though golf enthusiasts will have idle clubs a few more days. The weatherman foresees scattered showers tonight through Thursday.

After reaching a high near 70 today, the mercury is expected to dip to a low of 58 to 62 degrees tonight.

In spite of showers, tomorrow will be somewhat warmer with a high of 74 to 78 degrees. The evening low will be 56 to 60.

Little change in temperatures with scattered showers is Thursday's outlook.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 55. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 70.

Legislature OKs Fifth Judgeship After Flare-Up

Provision for Election of New County Justice Sparks Verbal Fight

Amidst a display of verbal fireworks in Lansing last night, the Senate completed approval of a fifth circuit judgeship for Oakland County.

The measure, also providing for a new circuit judge apiece in Bay and Saginaw Counties, was sent to the governor, after a flare-up over the Oakland County provision.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge of Drayton Plains in sponsoring the bill accused another senator of "calling me a liar and attacking my integrity."

In anger, Lodge demanded that Sen. Basil W. Brown of Detroit either "apologize or be censured."

The flare-up centered around a provision in the bill calling for initial selection of the new Oakland County jurist at the November 1958 election.

★ ★ ★

Brown, a Democrat, said if the need for a new Oakland judge was acute, the bill should provide for an immediate appointment by Gov. Williams. If not, he asserted, the proposal should be considered in the 1958 legislative session.

ANSWERS BACK

Lodge, a Republican, replied by asking Brown if he were "a self-appointed prophet for Oakland County."

The controversy reflected a behind-the-scenes partisan battle. Republicans feel that an elected judge would have GOP affiliation, while an appointment by Democratic Gov. Williams presumably would be Democratic.

Each party wants to capture the post initially, since circuit judges traditionally are re-elected when they run for another term.

PASSED, 25 TO 8

The final vote was 25 to 8, with one Republican senator and four Democrats switching sides at the last moment.

The measure as passed is supported by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the Oakland County Bar Association.

Both groups have said a new judge is needed, but should be delayed until additional courtroom space is available in a new courthouse.

★ ★ ★

Passage was considered a victory by Lodge and by Oakland County's four Republican representatives to the House. Amendments to make the new judge appointive were defeated in both chambers.

Tornado Bulletin

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Weather Bureau warned at noon today that severe thunderstorms and a few isolated tornadoes are expected this afternoon from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. in central and southern lower Michigan.

The Weather Bureau said the approximate threat is along and 60 miles either side of a line from 30 miles north of Muskegon to Mt. Clemens. It said this includes the greater Detroit area and southward to Monroe and northeastward to Carsonville in the Thumb area about 50 miles north of Port Huron.

Oxford Pilot One of Three to Make Record AF Jet Hop

An Oxford jet pilot was one of three who had breakfast in England and an afternoon drink in balmy Los Angeles, yesterday.

In between was an historic 14-hour, 5-minute non-stop flight of 6,710 miles — longest ever made by single-engine jet planes. The hop was made at an average speed of more than 475 miles an hour.

After they brought their F100C Super Sabre jets down yesterday, the fliers described the trip as a routine long-range cruise control flight.

WORKMAN

But Air Force brass regarded it as something more dramatic than that.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, wired the pilots:

"Your flight emphasizes that TAC's atomic forces can reach any point when aggression occurs."

The three swept-wing Super Sabres were piloted by Capt. Jack Bryant, 28, Muskogee, Okla.; Capt. Alan Engle, 28, of Oden, and Lt. Theodore Workman, 25, of 28 Lincoln Ave., Oxford.

They were part of a flight of six planes sent over the Atlantic to Jamestown, Va., to help celebrate the 359th anniversary of the founding of that historic colony. The other three planes in the flight landed near Jamestown.

PLAYED ON OXFORD TEAM

Lt. Workman lives in Oxford with his mother, Mrs. Doris Workman. He was graduated from Oxford High in 1950, after starring on the varsity basketball team.

When he entered the University of Michigan, he planned on becoming a music teacher, and majored in that subject. However, after one year, he joined the Air Force.

He still planned on playing in the Air Force band as a career, but changed his mind to become an Air Force pilot. Workman now plans to make the Air Force his life work, according to his mother.

Ike to Defend Budget on TV

No Surprises Planned as President Delivers Talk at 8 P.M.

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower carries the battle of the budget to the American people tonight in a drama-charged test of his leadership over a Congress swept by economy fever.

He will defend his much-criticized budget and foreign aid program in a half-hour radio - television address at 8 p.m., (Pontiac time), the first of two major appeals he will make on the subject.

Eisenhower, according to aides, will soft-pedal any criticism of Congress in his prepared speech.

There are no surprises in his text. Rather, he plans to sound the same warnings he has voiced on repeated occasions recently.

He will warn that deep cuts in his budget at this time will imperil national security. He will assert, as he did at his news conference last week, that world tensions must be eased greatly before any substantial reductions can be made in defense spending, the heart of the 71.8 billion dollar budget.

Trio Accused of Intercepting Detroit Calls

Teamsters Discussing Temporary Ouster of President Beck

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

NEW YORK — A federal grand jury today indicted James R. Hoffa, vice president of Teamsters, and two others on charges of conspiring to tap the telephone in the Teamsters Union headquarters building in Detroit.

Named in the indictment with Hoffa were Bernard Spindel, a professional wire tapper, and Bernard Brennan, president of Local 337 of the Teamsters Union.

The six-count indictment charged Hoffa and Brennan with "inducing" Spindel to install telephonic interception devices to permit the two officials to intercept telephone communications.

Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union and often pictured as the No. 2 man in the union, already is under indictment in Washington, D.C., on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

In that case, Hoffa and Hyman L. Fishbach, Miami attorney, are accused of attempting to plant a spy within the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee to obtain its secrets.

LISTENED AND TALKED

Today's indictment charged that the alleged taps included, but were not limited to, conversations of officers, employes and agents of local unions affiliated with the Teamsters.

It also alleged that the defendant divulged and published the contents of the intercepted telephone calls to other persons without the authority of those who made the calls.

The government charged the alleged conspiracy began Jan. 1, 1953, and continued to date.

And in Washington, a special committee of two Teamsters officials reportedly debated today a recommendation by the union's public relations firm that Dave Beck step aside temporarily as president until the charges against him are settled.

The five-man committee, headed by Teamsters Vice President Einar Mohn, met to discuss charges by the AFL-CIO that Beck used his union position for "personal profit and advantage."

Contempt Trial Attorney Says Miller Joined Reds

WASHINGTON (INS) — The government charged at playwright Arthur Miller's contempt trial today that House investigators had "information" showing he was a Communist Party member for at least four years.

Prosecutor William Hitz disclosed the information from the files of the House Unamerican Activities Committee as Miller, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, went on trial in federal court.

Hitz, an assistant U.S. attorney, said the committee files show Miller signed Communist Party application number 23345 in Brooklyn, N.Y., in 1943, was "accepted" and remained a member "at least" until 1947.

The contempt of Congress charges against Miller stem from his refusal at a hearing last year to name persons he met at a Communist-sponsored writers' meeting in 1947.

During his appearance before the House committee, Miller said he had "no memory" of joining the Communist Party and added: "I would deny it."

The government attorney said Miller had received a passport in the past but had been turned down when he applied for a new passport to go abroad in May, 1956.

Contempt of Congress is a misdemeanor. Maximum penalty upon conviction is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Flash Flood From Broken Dam Hits Texas Town

AP Wirephoto

WRECKAGE — Houses were wrecked by a raging flash flood in Lampasas, Texas, after heavy rains drove creeks out of their banks, breaking retaining walls. In the background above is part of a house that was ripped apart by the flood.

Lampasas, Tex., Revives After 'Drowning'

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP)—For a town that died Sunday night under a 10-foot wall of water, Lampasas today was showing definite signs of resurrection.

Merchants and housewives were cleaning up, an employment office was set up and the town's population of nearly 5,000 was swelled by relief workers and engineers.

The relief workers were sorting out the problems and making plans to help people back on their feet. Engineers were helping straighten out the tangled town by doing such things as moving houses out of the streets.

There even was a glint of humor yesterday when the sun broke through clouds and melted them away.

"I'm going to have a special on mud packs," quipped Annette Spivey as she shoveled ooze out of her tiny beauty parlor.

Maj. Clyde Villemez, commander of the 46th Engineers Construction Battalion at nearby Ft. Hood, said, "With good weather, it still will be three weeks before we can clear the debris, open streets and put the city back into working shape."

The disaster struck about 8:45 p.m. Sunday. A levee on Sulphur Creek broke.

The wall of water swept through the town, virtually destroyed much of the business section of 86 establishments and damaged 310 homes, 38 of which were demolished. Some homes were floated blocks away.

It absolutely cleared some business houses—walls, ceilings and merchandise.

★ ★ ★

In others, the weight of water crumpled floors, dropped merchandise into water-filled basements and thereby created waterlogged junk.

Five persons drowned or were killed when the flood struck. The Red Cross listed 25 as missing at one time, but most turned up later.

★ ★ ★

Lampasas residents couldn't purchase flood insurance.

"We couldn't get it because of flood of 1936," said Romans O'Hair, cashier and vice president of the First National Bank.

★ ★ ★

Everyone who could push a broom or lift a shovel was removing the two to five inches of mud that covered everything and which only a short time ago was dust in this once-dry drought area.

Assisting Red Cross volunteers were several teen-age girls whose high school also was flooded.

Martha Medart, 16, without shoes, poured coffee for anyone wanting it. "I'm barefoot," she said, "because we can't find our shoes. The flood was in our house too."

Dallas reported the storm-battered state faced more flood threats today in the wake of a weekend of devastating floods and turbulent weather.

★ ★ ★

But skies were clearing over most of the area and the turbulance appeared over temporarily.

Boy, 14, Admits Slaying Girl, 2½

Chicagoan Tells About Strangling, Disrobing, Burying Tot

CHICAGO (INS) — A 2½-year-old blonde, blue-eyed girl was found strangled early today after a nine-hour search and Chicago Police said a 14-year-old boy confessed he killed her, took her clothes off and then finished his homework.

The admitted slayer, Lawrence Madsen, said he completed work on the preamble to the United States Constitution while 150 police spent hours scouring the neighborhood for his victim, Lise Jorgensen.

Deputy Chief Robert Ryan of the uniformed force said Madsen broke down and confessed minutes after he was shown the girl's body, found buried under a half foot of dirt under the front porch of the three-story frame building where both children lived.

Madsen was quoted by police as saying he invited the girl into his basement den to play records for her when he returned home from school yesterday afternoon. He continued:

★ ★ ★

"She started crying. Something uncontrollable came over me. I don't know why I did it but I took off my tie, tied it around her neck and strangled her."

★ ★ ★

Then, he continued, he disrobed but did not molest the girl and carried her body through a basement window into an inclosure under the front porch.

SHALLOW GRAVE

Madsen said he buried Lise in 6 inches of soft dirt and tossed a rug over her shallow grave.

In a frame attached to the wall above the window were the words "My Mother's Prayers Follow Me."

Still on the record player in his den, containing a grubby metal bed, was a disc titled "Sit Down and Tell Me Where I Stand With You."

Madsen lives in a neatly furnished first floor apartment with his 65-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Maren Madsen, who adopted him when he was a year old after his mother, Mrs. Patricia Kelly, died. The whereabouts of his father, Leo J. Kelly, is not known.

Lise lived in the third floor attic apartment with her father, Arnold, 33, an engineer, mother, Inger, 27, and brother, Lars, 6 months.

Police had learned that Madsen was the last person known to have seen Lise alive. He had told authorities that he saw her sitting on the back stairs when he came home from school.

The Day in Birmingham

Decision Finally Made for Barton-Cummiskey

BIRMINGHAM — A decision was handed down last night on one of the city's most controversial rezoning requests when city commissioners designated the Barton-Cummiskey property for multiple-family use.

Commissioners and planners have spent many hours studying the rezoning application and balancing their findings against the objections of home owners in the area.

The section bounded by Hunter boulevard, Oakland, Madison and Longdale avenues has been sought as a park area by residents as one means of keeping out objectionable development. Costs involved brought about the rejection of this plan.

From the residents there has been agreement to some types of rezoning and objections to anything but single-family use.

Attorney George Cram representing the petitioners still seeks a Business A classification and last night continued to hint at court action if this was not granted.

Birmingham police are continuing their investigation of malicious destruction of property at the school under construction at Midvale and Glenhurst.

Det. Robert Schaulo said that there have been many incidents of damage at the school but that Sundays was by far the worst.

He said that many sections of plate glass were broken and a quantity of copper tubing was ripped out of the water system. Damages are estimated at $500 but are expected to go higher as a more complete investigation is made.

Two boys, 13 and 14 years old, have admitted doing the damage.

★ ★ ★

Fire marshal George Scott, reported no damage at the flash fire which struck at the home of A. F. Callahan, 1802 Pembroke yesterday. Callahan said, "a liquid paint remover was being used on a wood faced wall in the home when static electricity caused it to ignite."

★ ★ ★

"It was one of those freak things," Scott said, "the workman had already taken precautions against fire by turning off the hot water heater. However, as they removed paint, near an electric switch, the spark was generated that fired the remover. The fire was out at the department's arrival with no damage incurred."

★ ★ ★

Two contracts were awarded by commissioners last night. The Walter Sand and Gravel Co. was successful bidder on the pea stone and gravel bid for the 1957 street program. Standard Oil Co. was the successful bidder on an 8,000 gallon gasoline contract.

Cobo Undecided on Fourth Term

Hasn't Made Up Mind About Running Again as Detroit Mayor

DETROIT (AP) — Albert E. Cobo said today he hasn't made up his mind yet whether to run for another term as Detroit mayor.

Cobo was the Republican nominee for governor last November. He was overwhelmingly defeated by Democratic Gov. Williams.

Back from an Arizona vacation, Cobo was questioned by newsmen about his political future. He said he was in no hurry to disclose his plans.

"Before I left for my Arizona vacation," Cobo said, "some groups asked me not to make a decision at that time on whether or not I would run for re-election but to wait until I returned and had a chance to talk with them.

Cobo has served three terms as mayor. This is his eighth year as mayor. His present term ends next Jan. 1.

In putting off a decision on whether to run again, the mayor said that "some issues are developing which will require some thought."

"The country is sick of high taxes," he said, "and I may be the first to develop a formula for lower taxes. I've got some ideas."

Morocco Sultan Accepts Bid to Visit Ike Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today announced that the Sultan of Morocco, Mohammed V, has accepted an invitation from President Eisenhower to visit this country.

The Sultan will be in Washington for a three-day state visit starting Nov. 25.

In a letter to the Sultan, Eisenhower noted he has previously sent word that this country "is prepared to participate in conversations on the subject of our military operations in Morocco."

★ ★ ★

"I am sure," Eisenhower said, "that we can look forward to continued collaboration in examining this and other questions of mutual interest to our two countries."

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower said Vice President Nixon, who visited Morocco on his African tour earlier this year, gave an "enthusiastic report" on his meeting with Moroccan officials "on matters affecting the common interests of our two countries and the great issues which dominate our times."

Gets 60-Day Sentence

Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green sentenced Milton C. Henry, 39, of 3801 Joslyn Rd., to serve 60 days in the Oakland County jail yesterday after Henry pleaded guilty to drunk driving and failed to pay a $100 fine.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does the weather have much effect on the way we feel? Should planning for business calls and conferences take weather into consideration?

★ ★ ★

There are scientific reasons why this might be desirable, especially for salesmen, even though often it is not practicable.

People tend to feel better when the barometer is high—when experiencing a high pressure system, that is. When the barometer falls, people often become more irritable. Catching a prospective customer under these conditions might not be as productive as catching him on a clear, high-barometer day.

The amount of moisture in the air also affects some people. High humidity is usually not agreeable to many of us. So, if the barometer is low and the humidity is high, the salesman might as well stay at home, or in the office, and do some paper work—or read the newspaper!

★ ★ ★

So the pressure of air definitely has its effect, as any pilot who ever went through the paces of the "pressure chamber" can testify.

Jury Indicts Hoffa in Wire-Tap Case

only recently to handle the union's public relations at $200,000 for one year, with a possible four-year extension of the contract.

KEEPING QUIET

Harry Guinivan, head of Charnay's Washington office, would neither confirm nor deny reports that the firm had recommended that Beck step down for the time being as a result of disclosures before the Senate Rackets Committee.

★ ★ ★

He said, however, the firm submits a report each 30 days to the union. The report, it is understood, went to Mohn who presumably took it up with the other Teamsters officials.

From other sources came the statement that Mohn and Charnay feel that Beck should remove himself from office.Q

These sources said, however, that other members of the committee do not agree with this view, and that no action to persuade Beck to step down will be taken at this time.

It was indicated that an attempt may be made to force the committee to approve a public statement supporting Beck.

REWARD FOR LOANS?

Senate rackets investigators hoped to learn today whether Beck rewarded two trucking tycoons, who loaned him $200,000, by easing strike pressure on them.

★ ★ ★

Alfons B. Landa, Washington attorney for Fruehauf Trailer Company President Roy Fruehauf, was called for questioning about mem called for questioning about memoranda linking Beck, his client and several others to behind-the-scenes settlement of labor difficulties in New York and elsewhere.

The Senate committee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), called Landa before today's afternoon session.

Beck is to be recalled for questioning tomorrow or Thursday, depending on how soon the Senate group completes taking testimony from Landa and two other witnesses.

Fruehauf and B. M. Seymour, president of the Associated Transport Co. of New York, told the committee yesterday they put up $200,000 for Beck, and then personally guaranteed his note in signing the loan over to a bank.

Seymour said he and Fruehauf also unwittingly "contributed" $18,000 to finance a "toy truck" company which netted Beck's son, nephew and two friends some $300,000 in profits.

Besides Fruehauf's attorney, another witness to be called is A. M. Burke, head of the Occidental Insurance Company's mortgage loan department—which has been linked to some of Beck's complicated business deals.

THIRD WITNESS

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy identified the third witness as George Newell, a Seattle broker. Kennedy said Newell would be quizzed about activities of Frank Brewster, Beck's right-hand man in the western conference of Teamsters.

Fruehauf revealed under questioning that he had done numerous personal favors for Beck. He agreed they were worth several thousand dollars.

He said these included getting Beck a 20 per cent discount on a boat and saving him $500 in shipping costs by having it delivered in one of his trailer trucks to Seattle.

USED CAR

He also said that at Beck's request the Teamsters boss had use of a Fruehauf company car and chauffeur in Paris several times, as did Beck's niece on a six-week tour of Europe with three friends. This cost the company between $1,600 and $1,900, Fruehauf added.

★ ★ ★

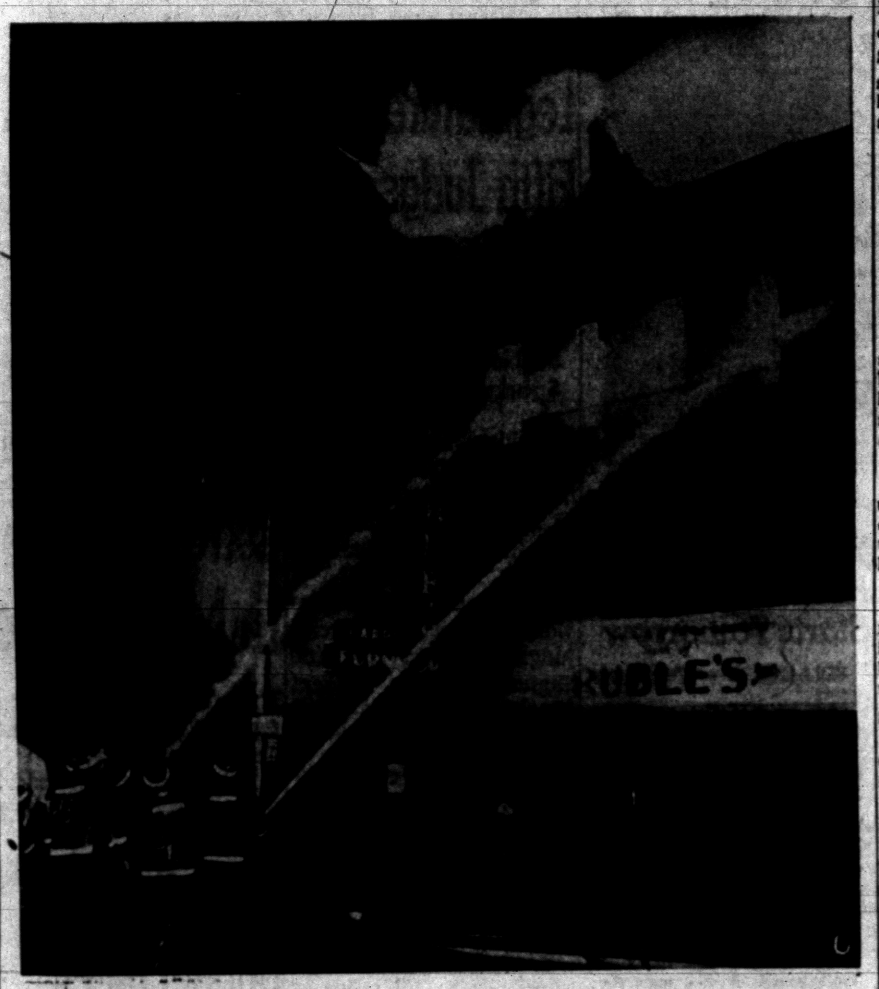

The Seattle Post Intelligencer reported today that Norman Gessert, long-sought relative (cousin of Beck's wife) and business associate of Dave Beck, was found in Ellensburg, Wash., Monday and served with a subpoena to testify before the U.S. Senate rackets committee.

★ ★ ★

He and two other Beck relatives, Dave Beck Jr. and Joseph McEvoy, sought by the committee investigating Beck's business activities in connection with the Teamsters union, were reportedly seen in Vancouver, B.C., last week.

None of the others was with Gessert in Ellensburg.

Also sought is Fred Verschuren Sr., Beck's auditor.

BATTLE CREEK FIRE — Flames burst from the roof of Ruble's furniture store in downtown Battle Creek last night. Damage is expected to exceed $200,000. Origin of the blaze, which threatened four other stores, has not been determined.

Senators Face 2nd Money Bill

May Continue to Uphold Drastic Cuts Made by Representatives

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate subcommittees have a chance today to continue the hold-the-line position on House cuts which marked Senate action on its first regular money bill this session.

★ ★ ★

The Senate late yesterday passed a $3,884,927,000 Treasury-Post Office Department bill, and agreed with its Appropriations Committee in refusing to vote a penny more than the House.

★ ★ ★

Today two Appropriations subcommittees meet to act on the 685-million-dollar State - Justice Department bill, cut 101 millions by the House, and the 871-million dollar Commerce Department bill slashed 217 millions below President Eisenhower's requests.

★ ★ ★

Both of these reductions were much bigger in percentage than the 80 millions which both House and Senate cut from the Treasury-Post Office measure.

★ ★ ★

Several senators cautioned in the floor debate yesterday that, in the end, Congress may have to vote even more money for the Post Office Department than was originally asked by Eisenhower.

ASKS FOR MORE

Postmaster General Summerfield not only asked that all of the 58 millions cut from his budget by the House be restored — something the Senate refused to do—but that he be given 70 to 90 millions above his original requests.

★ ★ ★

If he doesn't get the money in a supplemental money bill later, he said, cuts in postal service will take effect July 1, just a month and a half away. He said a sharp increase in mail volume has increased his department's operating costs.

Governor Asks Advance Notice From Women

Gov. Williams says he'd very much like to see those Oakland County women who came to see him last week about state taxes, but next time won't they please let him know they're coming.

Such was the essence of a letter the governor sent yesterday to Mrs. Peter Popek of Walled Lake.

Mrs. Popek acted as spokesman for the 60 or so women who converged on the governor's office unannounced to protest against proposed tax increases.

They were turned away by an aide to the governor, who told them Williams was busy and his schedule wouldn't permit a personal appearance.

★ ★ ★

The delegation then moved on to the Senate chamber where they got a sympathetic audience with several Republican legislators, who have been leading the fight to hold the line on increased state spending.

Said the governor, in part, to Mrs. Popek:

"In view of last week's misunderstanding, please accept my sincere invitation to return to Lansing and present your views to me. I would only ask that, in the interests of orderly procedure, that you let me know when your group is coming, so that room can be made on my schedule to meet with you."

Store Destroyed at Battle Creek

Estimated Loss Is Set at $200,000 Following All-Night Blaze

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A spectacular fire destroyed Ruble's Inc. furniture store in downtown Battle Creek last night.

Lawrence A. Ruble, owner of the 75-year-old, three-story building, estimated its value at $108,000. He said stock with a value of $75,000 was destroyed.

A paint store and a shoe store adjoining the furniture store were damaged by smoke and water, bringing the total fire damage to more than $200,000.

Firemen poured tons of water onto the blaze throughout the night before bringing it under control. Mattresses still smoldered today in the ruins of the furniture store and firemen stood by to prevent a fresh outbreak.

Fire Chief Charles Crosier said the fire started in the basement but the cause was not determined.

One fireman was injured, one was overcome by smoke and several others became ill from smoke inhalation.

★ ★ ★

Some 2,000 spectators jammed roped off areas on Michigan Ave. and State St. to watch the blaze. All available police officers, as well as firemen, were called out.

A redwood tree—which may be taller than the Statue of Liberty, weigh more than 2,000,000 pounds, and contain enough wood to build several houses—grows from a seed little bigger than the head of a pin.

Mr. Ozbun died Sunday in Pontiac General Hospital after an illness of three months.

3 Women Mourning

MANTUA, Italy (INS) —The widow and mother of the dashing Marquis Alfonso de Portago wept — separately — at his bier today in the little Italian northern hamlet of Cavriana. Another woman in black, actress Linda Christian, who had expected to become his wife, absented herself from the particular family scene. But she wept, too.

Ban on Red China to Stick, Says Dulles

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he will continue to bar American newsmen from going to Red China until the Peiping regime shows respect for the rights of U. S. citizens.

Dulles told his news conference that he is prepared to review his policy if the Chinese Reds release the eight Americans they still hold in prison and show that they will treat U. S. citizens differently in the future.

During a brisk question and answer exchange with newsmen, Dulles said he would welcome a court test of his right to bar journalists from traveling to Red China.

He declared that his policy regarding newsmen was designed to insure respect for American lives and American interests by Peiping.

South Lyon Man Fined

Donald R. Nettles, 17, of 464 S. Lafayette St., South Lyon, paid a fine of $45 plus $10 costs as he pleaded guilty yesterday before Walled Lake Justice Herman A. Roth to charges of leaving the scene of an accident.

Sentenced for Larceny

Ernest M. Holler, 24, of 743 Hollister St., pleaded guilty to simple larceny before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle yesterday. He paid $25 costs and was placed on six months' probation.

Driver Pleads Innocent

Frank V. Vickery, 28, of 1436 Sharpe St., Lake Orion, pleaded innocent to drunk driving yesterday before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy and was released on a $100 bond pending his appearance in court May. 17.

Supervisors Accused in Courthouse Suit

charges. They are that the board selected a new courthouse site without a public vote and that the site had not been annexed properly to the city of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Referring to an audit made of the county's finances over the past decade, Gillespie said:

"During this time under the .1 mill constitutional limitation the county legally was allowed $828,303. It accumulated, however, $3,585,143."

Gillespie said he would cite an early Michigan law, passed in 1851, to show that supervisors could not sell their present courthouse and downtown Pontiac site in favor of a proposed site in the county's service center.

★ ★ ★

He said he would call witnesses to testify to the auditing and also certain county employes who lived on their jobs in the service center at the time the area was annexed.

RIGHT TO VOTE

"These employes were legally entitled to vote on the annexation, but were not allowed to," said Gillespie.

Gillespie was expected to be followed by Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, speaking for the Board of Supervisors.

The South Oakland County Bar Association, in a surprise move, was allowed to intervene in the case. The association represents many lawyers who would like to see a new courthouse built in the southern part of the county.

★ ★ ★

The state of Michigan also has intervened on the question of transferring budgetary surpluses.

★ ★ ★

The trial formally began after confusion caused by the county's limited courtroom space. Judge Dehnke and the attorneys plus a large crowd moved from a temporary courtroom in the county office building to an empty court in the 1905 courthouse.

★ ★ ★

Space was available in the courthouse only because circuit judge George B. Hartrick is absent this week.

Air Baggage Allowance Means More to Women

JOHANNESBURG, S. Africa — In the 44 pounds of baggage allowed tourist class passengers on airlines a man can pack two changes of clothes, whereas a woman can pack 12 different outfits. This is revealed by a list of suggested items in the 1957 Air Travel Handbook for Southern Africa, issued in Johnnnesburg.

★ ★ ★

A woman can pack two costumes, three dinner gowns, two silk dresses, two afternoon frocks, two cardigans, six blouses and three shirts — besides hats, shoes and underwear.

Wife of Billy Graham Waits for Hand of God

NEW YORK (INS) — "We just have a feeling," said lovely Ruth Graham, who has lived with Faith since she was a child in China, "that God is going to do something here in New York."

The slender mother of four was referring to a six-week crusade being launched at Madison Square Garden tomorrow by her famous evangelist husband, Billy Graham.

At 8 o'clock tonight, Graham will dedicate the garden as a place of God in a private ceremony. "Prayer-a-thons" for success of his crusade will be held through the night in various city churches.

"I plan to go back home for a few days after opening night of the crusade," Mrs. Graham continued. "I want to be here as much as I can. But I do feel the children are my primary responsibility."

Back home is a "conglomeration of several old hewn log cabins" high on a hogback in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina.

There sun-tanned Mrs. Graham spends about 10 months each year. There her traveling husband is able to spend only an average of about three months each year.

CHILDREN COME FIRST

"I try to get to each campaign for a few days," she said. "But I do feel the children are my primary responsibility. I have always thought I would a lot rather raise my children as I was raised in China.

"We had a much happier and more normal life than is usual in the United States. There were not as many conflicting interests; home was an oasis."

"We have a real sense of the presence of God," she said in an interview as last-minute preparations for the crusade were being made. "Now, we'll just wait and see what happens."

Mrs. Graham does not fit many oldtime ideas of an evangelist's wife: She is 37, but looks 30, with soft auburn hair, a slim figure, neat features and a warm smile.

(Related story, Page 16)

It comes as something of a surprise to learn she had "hoped to return to China as a missionary."

DAUGHTER OF MISSIONARY

She spent the first 17 years of her life in North Kiangsu Province, 300 miles north of Shanghai, where her father was a medical missionary of the Presbyterian Church. He is one of the editors of the interdenominational magazine, "Christianity Today."

"My brother and two sisters and I," she said, "had a wonderfully happy home life. Reading aloud, playing together as a family. Each day after daddy made his rounds at the hospital, he would come home and we'd play together. It was wonderful."

She went to Wheaton College, west of Chicago, where she majored in Bible in preparation for returning to China and met a golden-haired, six-foot-two young man called "Billy," but named William Franklin Graham.

★ ★ ★

He was from North Carolina and he had been "preaching since he was 13."

★ ★ ★

"We were married," she said, "the summer we graduated. We have four children: Virginia, 11, Anne 9, Ruth 6, and Franklin, 4."

Her father returned from China in 1941 and has been living at Montreat, N.C., where the Presbyterian Church has its summer conference grounds. The Grahams also went there to live.

"A year ago," she said, "we moved into our house. We bought several old log cabins and worked them into the house. Some folks like it, some folks don't. It's the kind of place that if you see a cobweb, it kind of belongs.

"Mother and daddy are only one mile down the mountain. With daddy being a doctor it is an almost ideal setup."

★ ★ ★

She talked of the children:

"I would be thrilled if they decided to become missionaries, but I don't intend to push them or encourage them. I hope to prepare the soil and sow the seed and leave the rest to the Lord.

Just a Little Oversight

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service explained why it sent a bill for taxes due to a New Mexico taxpayer. It seems that in the rush to meet the April 15 filing deadline, the taxpayer had forgotten to list his wife and 12 children as dependents. Another tax return corrected the oversight.

Tourist Rush to Europe On; Ships, Planes Set Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The big rush to see Europe is on.

Shipping companies believe they will equal or exceed their 1956 record of transporting 1,004,000 transatlantic passengers.

The airlines expect to carry far more than the 785,000 they carried last year.

If you decide to go abroad by ship and haven't yet made reservations, your chances are slim if you want to travel tourist or cabin class. They're better if you are thinking of more expensive first class reservations.

Tourist and cabin berths were booked practically solid months in advance of the tourist season — April 1 to August 31.

The short supply of seasonal berths persists despite airline competition and the increasing total of passenger ship tonnage on the Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

Seventy-six liners, more passenger ships than at any time since 1933, will ply the sea lanes from United States and Canadian ports to Europe this summer.

You get a bird's eye view of what is happening by watching the crowded lines of applicants clamoring for passports almost every day of the week in the passport agency office in New York's Rockefeller Plaza.

Last year the State Department issued or renewed 550,006 passports, a 5.9 per cent increase over 1950. The department predicts that by 1960 they will be processing more than 800,000 applications.

Seventy-three per cent of the applications point to travel in western Europe, trade sources say.

COULD DOUBLE TRAFFIC

Joseph Mayper, chairman of the Transatlantic Passenger Conference, an association of transatlantic steamship lines, reports that only a scarcity of ship tonnage holds up phenomenal increases in seasonal passenger totals.

"Nearly every one of our 25 member lines reports that during the peak of the 'high' season they would be carrying at least two or three times as many passengers if they had the ships to accommodate them," Mayper said.

Four new ships are providing about 3,700 berths and a 5-1 emphasis on tourist space over first class this year. Six others will be transferred from other routes to transatlantic service.

Two of the new ships will be on the United States-Europe run. They are Holland America Line's Statendam, which arrived in New York on her maiden voyage in February, and the Swedish American Line's Gripsholm which is due here this month.

Two other newcomers will ply between Canada and Europe. They are the Canadian Pacific's Empress of England and Cunard's Sylvania.

The transatlantic conference estimates a net gain of 5,200 berths for Europe-bound travelers—2,800 to and from the United States and 2,400 to and from Canadian ports.

★ ★ ★

One important factor in the increasing overseas traffic is the mass movement of Canadians and Americans to conventions in Europe. These attract thousands from the Western Hemisphere.

These include such events as the annual Rotary International assembly in Lucerne, Switzerland; the American Bar Association convention in London; the International Boy Scout Jamboree in Sussex, England, and the American Legion's fourth pilgrimage to Europe. All are scheduled between May and October.

AEC Gives Schools Money for Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—Grants totaling $2,170,350 to 22 educational institutions have been made by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The money, the commission announced, is to equip laboratories for the training of nuclear scientists and engineers. This training is part of the AEC's program of assisting in the solution of the manpower shortage in the atomic energy field.

The agency announced it also has made 16 loans of nuclear materials, such as uranium metal and neutron sources, to universities and colleges.

The new awards include $107,450 to the University of Michigan.

WACs Celebrate 15th Birthday All Over World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Army Corps marks its 15th anniversary today with celebrations at posts at home and abroad.

Col. Mary L. Milligan of Edgewood, Pa., fifth director of the WAC, sent official greetings to the 8,500 members of the corps now on active duty:

★ ★ ★

"We feel a justifiable pride," she said, "in the realization that the history of our corps has proved that American womanhood can serve effectively in our nation's Army."

She added that in the years ahead "we must be determined to serve our country with devotion regardless of inconvenience or personal sacrifice."

★ ★ ★

Col. Milligan will review the WAC detachment in a parade at Ft. Myer, Va., and attend a reception there as part of the anniversary ceremonies.

It was on May 14, 1942, that Congress approved a bill creating the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

In July 1943, the organization was made part of the regular Army. At its peak strength in World War II, the WAC numbered 100,000.

Work on Tracking Post Starts for Earth Satellite

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Work has started on a tracking station near here for the earth satellite scheduled to be launched next summer as part of the 1958 - 59 research.

Tom McMillian of the Navy Electronics Laboratory, project director, said concrete has been poured for foundations of eight huge antennas.

They will pick up satellite signals from a distance of 300 miles in space along a track 600 miles wide.

Birds Get Apartment

TOKYO (AP) — An "apartment house" for birds has been built on the grounds of the Toshugu Palace of Crown Prince Akihito to house 30 doves and titmouses. It resembles a large harmonica on stilts. In the past the crown prince, like Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako, had single bird nests built in the trees of his garden.

Armed Forces to Put on Show

Area Residents to See Exhibition of Power in Annual Display

The Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard and Reserve Forces in the Pontiac area will throw open their doors to the public this Saturday, as once again the nation observes Armed Forces Day.

With the emphasis currently focused on preventing an enemy attack and preserving peace, "Power For Peace" will be the slogan of the day on which the public is invited to take a closer look at the national defense system.

According to reports, Pontiac and Oakland county citizens should have quite a show in store for them.

Armed Forces Day project officer P. A. Woessner, Lt. Commander, U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, has announced that the day will be highlighted by a "mock battle" to be staged near Auburn and Opdyke roads. The battle is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Also included in the day's events will be aircraft flyovers open houses at the various reserve centers, and a Nike guided missile display.

Sea Water Use 'Long Way Off'

House Group Charges Officials Raise False Hopes in Conversion

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House Interior Committee accused government officials today of "raising false hopes" over chances for early development of methods to convert sea water to fresh water.

The committee said in a report that "we still have a long way to go before general use of converted sea water becomes a reality."

Chairman Clair Engle (D-Calif) charged that a research program which he sponsored "has been permitted to drift along without proper emphasis."

At the same time, he declared, Interior Department officials "have made numerous optimistic statements indicating that large-scale use of converted saline or sea water is just around the corner."

Engle said: "While we believe that several processes being studied show promise of successful economical saline or salt water conversion eventually, such success is not just around the corner, and widespread use is still further in the future."

The committee took particular exception to a statement by Assistant Interior Secretary Fred G. Aandahl that in five or 10 years, or "something like that," conversion processes will be cheap enough to make such water "immediately in demand for industrial and municipal uses."

The committee also protested optimistic statements by Interior Secretary Fred Seaton. It suggested that "in these days, when water is becoming more and more critical in many parts of the nation, there is danger in raising false hopes that may contribute to a false sense of security and deemphasize the immediate need for conserving and making better use of the water we have."

However, the committee itself expressed hope that the use of converted sea water will come about at "an early date" in some critical areas.

The report said: "It is expected that, as our studies and research progress and our development and use of remote and isolated sources of fresh water become increasingly more expensive, processes for converting sea and saline water to fresh water will become competitive, economically, with development of natural water sources."

Parisian Diet Expert Promises Swift Slimming

Never Say 'Mais Oui' to Goose Fat

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Oo-la-lawsie, a Parisian named Albert Antoine has just produced a new book called "Slimming the French Way"—and, cherie, you wouldn't believe it!

★ ★ ★

He claims that ladies who reduce in the Francais manner have dropped up to 150 pounds in four months.

A number of people complain they've dropped a lot in Paris, doing things the French way, but this seems ridiculous.

Well, having canvassed books by everybody from Gaylord to Ida Jean, and listened to the advice of everybody from Mary Margaret to the Good Housekeeping girls, we decided to give the book a look. On pages 98 and 99 we found the key to the whole new French technique.

★ ★ ★

There are certain things you simply MUST NOT EAT if you want to fit into the frocks on the sales rack at Monsieur Dior's.

M. Albert Antoine, the author, lists them under these categories: "Very fattening foods," "extremely fattening foods," "dangerously fattening foods" and "foods to avoid at all costs." . . . which apparently means that even if they're the highest-priced item at Maxim's and you are showing off—don't.

ADVICE REPEATED

It was an enlightening experience, and we would like to pass on some of M. Antoine's advice on how to be haute couture in the hips and so on.

Among the very fattening foods (they have 350 calories to 100 grams, or 3½ ounces, if you follow) are: Fat mutton, semi-fat pork, smoked eel, dried cod, chestnut, goose and porridge.

Even more billowing upon the buxom are the "extremely fattening" goodies: Gervais cream cheese, pate de foie gras, goat's milk cheese, macaroons and marzipan.

Never mas mais oui to the "dangerously fattening" puff pastry, chocolate with nuts, peanuts, almonds, walnuts and hazelnuts. And, no matter how tempting "avoid-at-all-costs" olive oil, bone marrow, goose fat and beef dripping. They are devastating.

★ ★ ★

Antoine believes the potential reducer should put all his love and devotion into one food at a time. For a day, for example, he should stick to meat.

The next day comes a switch to eggs. (This is similar to the poetic pattern of French males, who devote all their concentrated energies on one female at a time.)

VEGETABLE DAY

Therefore, his basic diet for a week consists of a vegetable day, on which he saturates himself with artichokes, asparagus and cabbage; followed by a meat day, on which he consumes lean ham, chicken, veal, and winds up with a nightcap of beef tea.

★ ★ ★

Then, in order, the egg day, milk day, fish day and fruit day. On Sunday, the dieter "follows the 10 Commandments and rests."

In case the American victim of avoirdupois is not so plump as to want to drop upwards of 50 pounds in a hurry, the author has some little helpful watch-it-every-day tips to bestow. Such as "need I rub it in that just doing is a bad habit? Get to work."

And, "it would really be best, for all those who want to stay slim, to do away with this absurd habit of eating dessert, once and for all."

★ ★ ★

Frenchmen are renowned lovers of wine. Thus, it is with sad apologies that Antoine points out:

"In many cattle-breeding areas alcoholic spirits are added to the fodder, as it is considered an almost infallible method of fattening up the animals. I hope I shall be forgiven for writing this; I do not mean to be discourteous."

FORBIDDEN BREAD

In slimming the French way the most important thing to avoid—even over pate and goose grease—is bread. It is calorific itself, invites butter and jam, increases thirst for wine and is habit-forming.

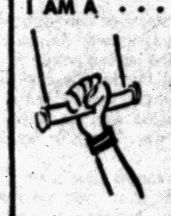

★ ★ ★

When another of the French said "let them eat cake," she was putting out a good recommendation. One piece of cake is enough for most people. Bread is habit-forming and too plentiful.

Beck's Case Hopeless and Unions Must Pay

As the Beck mess unfolds, the picture grows worse.

Even optimistic union men who hoped for some sort of softening or alleviating circumstances are surrendering.

Beck's case is hopeless.

He's sinking the third time.

★ ★ ★

One of the most illuminating sentences in all the testimony to date comes along with the revelations of his financial mentor. This individual advised the errant and arrogant Teamster boss to mend his ways, abandon his current practices, and then he washed his hands of Beck and all Beck stood for.

This would have impressed most men.

But Beck was superior to everything.

★ ★ ★

The sentence referred to above is one that Beck then mouthed in this connection. Said the self-appointed and self-anointed tin god:

"I'll let my conscience be my guide."

Ladies and gentlemen, the weakest guidance in the memory of man is now definitely pin pointed: the "conscience" of David Beck.

This is really scraping the bottom of the lowliest barrel and coming up with the dregs.

★ ★ ★

The degree of Beck's entanglement with the Union will probably never be known. There's no way to check back on all his activities. With the main guide that Beck acknowledges —his own "conscience"—there's no way of knowing about the countless shenanigans that Beck didn't even bother to list.

★ ★ ★

All unions are damaged by this testimony. The extreme depths to which some officials have fallen shocks everyone. The most loyal union members are hurt the most. They realize what tremendous damage a brazen bully like this can do.

The general public is aghast.

Common decency has been desecrated.

Unions must search out the Becks and throw them to the dogs and it must be done rapidly.

House cleaning is indicated.

Ex-Dictator Rojas en Route to Spain

Prior to the Bogota uprising in 1948, Colombia was known for its democratic tradition and when Gen. Rojas Pinilla replaced Laureano Gomez in 1953 as its strong man, there was rejoicing.

Gen. Rojas immediately was elected president for the four year term provided in the constitution. As the end of his tenure neared, he took dictatorship methods to stay in office and made a ruthless grab for power against the overwhelming opposition of the Colombian people.

★ ★ ★

Both of the country's traditional political parties, the Liberals and Conservatives, as well as the Catholic Church were united in opposition. Twenty members of his handpicked National Constituent Assembly walked out in protest against Gen. Rojas' brazen attempt to stay in power. Only the army supported him.

★ ★ ★

After mobs beat or burned to death scores of his supporters in the final hours of violence, Rojas now is en route to Spain unscathed with a reported four year accumulation of $11 million. A five man military junta has taken over with Maj. Gen. Gabriel Paris as president and leading civilian politicians have announced their support of him.

The people of Colombia, inflamed by the harshness of the Rojas rule and the increasing inroads of their civil liberties, have made a bold stand for freedom.

"I Don't Hear Any Objections From Him"

David Lawrence Says:

Foes of Integration May Rally, Too

WASHINGTON — Groups which were among the beneficiaries of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States of May 17, 1954, upholding "integration" — or "forced association" in the schools, as it sometimes is called—are planning to celebrate it on the third anniversary next Friday.

LAWRENCE

But the public demonstration, which is to be staged at the Lincoln Memorial here, may have effects opposite from those intended. It may start a series of annual demonstrations on the other side of the issue. For if approval of Supreme Court decisions is to be made the basis for emotional displays, then those who disapprove have an equal right to express their emotions.

What form might such disapproval take? It could result in annual meetings to pay tribute to the memory of those Supreme Court justices who for 58 years —from 1896 to 1954—upheld the long-established right of the states to conduct their educational processes under what was known from 1849 on as "sparate but equal" school facilities.

Many of the greatest of the justices of the past—including Holmes, Brandeis, Stone, Hughes—upheld the "separate but equal" concept, and they respected what had been decided many years before. Eulogies of these and other justices today would no doubt center on the homage these men paid to the famous principle of "stare decisis."

STAY DECIDED

This Latin phrase means, in effect, that what has been decided shall stay decided. There have occasionally been reversals by the Supreme Court of previous decisions but only when the fallacy or mistake in the original decision in a matter of law was plainly presented.

In the segregation case, however, the nine justices did not point to any fallacy or mistake in the legal reasoning of the justices who wrote the 1896 decision but merely said, in effect, that sociological considerations now justify a reversal. The controlling argument presented was that colored children feel psychologically inferior when separated from whites in the school years.

Unfortunately, this is not too firm ground even for the beneficiaries of the decision. They cannot be too sure that they have won something permanently.

For, some day in the future, another set of Supreme Court justices may be persuaded to believe that "forced association" or the mixture of the two races in the schools has an injurious effect psychologically on the children of both races, and hence it would be proper to revert to the "separate but equal" arrangement. This is one of the risks involved in decisions based solely on sociological grounds.

Why should there be, however, public demonstrations about Supreme Court decisions? Perhaps it is because of a widespread belief today that the courts are really influenced by public opinion more than by the letter of the law.

Ever since 1937, when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt publicly denounced the majority of the justices of the Supreme Court for their decisions and requested Congress to enact a law enlarging the court by five justices —whom he would have the power to appoint—there has been a controversy over public opinion's effect on the courts.

★ ★ ★

While public demonstrations in the hope of affecting Supreme Court decisions on national or international issues are lawful, it remains yet to be determined whether or not these are wise methods of attempting to exert pressure.

For the Supreme Court still has the whole question of "integration" under its jurisdiction and particularly many problems of local enforcement which have by no means been solved.

Incidentally, the so-called "American" branch of the Communist Party, through the "Daily Worker" in New York, has been issuing exhortations to its members and fellow travelers to join in next Friday's affair in Washington. This has been properly denounced by the leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which has been organizing the celebration.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Hospital Regulations Foil Natural Childbirth Plan

An actress interviewed on a TV program told how she and her husband, upon learning they were to have a baby, not only studied together books about childbirth but together did the daily exercises described and illustrated in Helen Heardman's handbook "A Way to Natural Childbirth," published by William Wilkins.

DR. BRADY

So far it sounded like an ideal preparation for the miracle.

But, darn it, an interruption occurred here, and next we heard the actress saying it was all a joyous experience except (1) that they strapped her on the delivery table and (2) right after the baby was born the doctor insisted on giving an anesthetic, for they had to put in some stitches.

The poor soul said, somewhat apologetically, that they have regulations in the hospital and you have to abide by them, but next time she'll have her baby at home.

Expectant parents may acquire some practical knowledge of prenatal care and maternity and childbirth by studying together the primer "Preparing for Maternity" for which send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BOOKS TO READ

An excellent little book "Childbirth" by Carl H. Davis, M. D., and Donita Ferguson, answers most of the questions expectant parents ask. It is published by Harper.

Prospective parents interested in natural childbirth should read together Dr. Grantly Dick Read's famous "Childbirth Without Fear," also published by Harper. I believe Dr. Read has written also an abbreviated description of natural childbirth but I have not seen a copy.

In natural childbirth an anesthetic is always ready and the patient may have it whenever she wishes. Usually she doesn't want it—but anyway there it is, in case she changes her mind at any stage of the game.

I attended several cases of natural childbirth long before Dr. Read introduced it in this country. At any rate my patients, one a primipara, bore their babies without pain, or so they assured me when I offered an anesthetic.

Let no smart Alice ask how many babies I have had. All I know about natural childbirth is what I read in books and current medical journals and what women who have borne children in the natural way tell me about it.

Association Head Wants Cigarette Tax Defeated

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

This state is now taxing cigarette users $27,000,000. With the Federal eight cents per package tax, the state tax of three cents costs Michigan consumers $96,000,000 annually. If the state tax is increased two cents, this combined Federal and State cigarette tax will inflict a burden of $18,000,000 more.

Michigan's present rate of three cents is in line with Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Wisconsin has a four cents tax which gives northern Michigan business an advantage over that state.

Such an impost on one particular class of taxpayers who do not possess the added buying power which the proposed tax increase will occasion in family budget outgo is tax exploitation for the sake of pure expediency. It can be nothing else.

For the reasons just stated, it must follow that the proposed cigarette tax increase is unjust, unwarranted, arbitrary and discriminatory. The proposal should be defeated.

Readers Discuss Discrimination

Why is there so much disagreement in the world over race, religion and color? The Southerners and Northerners, the whites, blacks and Mexicans continuously argue. It takes everyone to keep America "a leader among nations."

As for the people who are always referring to the "if our boys are good enough to fight in service, they are good enough to do etc., etc.," they should remember it is the American thing to do to fight for one's country. It is a duty.

We should be happy to live the lives of citizens in the United States of America.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Home Best Place to Judge Beau

Here is a follow-up of Sally's infatuation case. Parents and teachers can profitably scrapbook these columns to use when advising teenagers in similar crucial situations. For this problem arises a million times every year right here in America. So utilize the data below as ammunition.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-330: Sally N., aged 18, is the college girl who threatened to elope with a boy who lacked ambition and education.

CRANE

After I had urged her parents to use the "Yes-But" strategy on Sally, they agreed to quit showing hostility to the boy.

★ ★ ★

And I suggested that they also encourage Sally to bring her sweetheart home so she could view him against the backdrop of her own family surroundings.

A teenager may find that her sweetheart is very thrilling and romantic in his own rougher environment.

His slangy or vulgar speech may not grate on her finer cultural habits as much when he is with his own kind.

But when you take your romantic "fish" out of his familiar waters, he may not look as graceful and smooth.

★ ★ ★

Literally, he may flop around and create almost as much consternation as a bass that is loose in the bottom of a fisherman's boat.

So you parents should follow our psychological advice and employ this "fish-out-of-water" technique.

Be very liberal in having your children invite their sweethearts into your home. Encourage them to bring them to your church, too, and let them mingle with the usual social circles in which your children travel.

★ ★ ★

For nothing will "jar" on an infatuated young person out of this semi-hypnotic trance called "puppy love" like bringing the "fish" out of his own waters and dropping him into your own.

You parents will seldom need to argue thereafter against the newcomer, if the latter definitely doesn't fit into your pattern of living.

For he will show up his incompatibility. Your infatuated child will then vaguely sense these incongruities.

But if the newcomer is of similar background and ideals, he will harmonize in your family setting, so you should not blindly oppose such a sensible match.

If, however, he doesn't fit and you parents verbally point out his faults, your infatuated daughter will excuse or deny them and vigorously go to his defense.

The more she argues for him, the more she will believe her own sales talk. Your open opposition will just make her more fanatical in her choice.

★ ★ ★

So use that "Yes-But" technique outlined yesterday. "Yes" her along "But" casually suggest the boy develop a trade or get a Business College education or go on and prepare for some technical career.

Deftly remind her that she may have several children and then ask her if she doesn't want them to mingle with the children of Polly and Sandra and her other close girl friends.

"Do you want to live in Polly's neighborhood, or have your kiddies grow up in a shack down by the river's edge?" you can casually get down to specific comparisons.

And to encourage more objective rating of sweethearts, send for my 200-point "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

★ ★ ★

Many high schools and Youth Societies of the churches employ them for group discussion.

They contain the frank comments of engaged couples who confessed in private the things they liked and disliked about their future marital partners.

So they will often put eyes into blind Cupid and cause infatuated folks to consciously focus on flaws they have tried to push into the margin of their attention.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Radiation Used on Brain Tumor

Medics Hope Treatment Will Provide Cure for Diseased Tissue

BROOKHAVEN, N. Y. (AP)—Science is attacking brain tumors with a powerful new atomic weapon, a physiologist at Brookhaven National Laboratories said today.

In time, he added, researchers expect to find ways of using it on other types of diseased tissue.

★ ★ ★

The new technique plants a radioactive enemy inside the tumor. In effect, it creates a high-energy "isotope" in the very heart of malignant growth.

The isotope used is an atom that gives off radiation.

★ ★ ★

Too few patients have been treated, he said, to permit an evaluation of results.

Brookhaven, one of the United States' principal atomic research centers, was the scene today of a wide-ranging "atoms for peace" conference.

★ ★ ★

Scientists from 20 Latin-American nations are in session with over 100 atomic specialists of the United States. They are searching for ways to step up the development of nuclear energy in North and South America.

Cabbie Leaves Rainy-Day Fund to Kids, Charity

BOSTON (AP)—Ralph Levin, taxi driver and veteran of World War II, lived alone and saved his money for a rainy day — and for old age.

The rainy day came, and Ralph Levin, hospitalized, paid $1,600 for blood transfusions. But old age will never come — he is dead at 49.

★ ★ ★

Levin used to talk to two friends who run a garage for taxi drivers. They remembered today that he kept saying he'd like to do something for kids. He thought the Boston Red Sox baseball team and its slugger, Ted Williams, were doing something wonderful for the kids at Children's Hospital through the Jimmy Fund.

A lawyer estimated today that the sale of Levin's taxi and other assets, and the money he had saved, would add up to an estate of $30,000.

★ ★ ★

Levin left a will. It gives nearly $10,000 to the Jimmy Fund and the rest of his savings to two other charities, the Jewish Memorial Hospital and the Jewish Big Brother Assn.

The Jimmy Fund helps kids with cancer. The Memorial Hospital specializes in cancer. It was a form of cancer that ended Levin's life.

Unleashes Blast at Dogs

TOKYO (AP)— The big newspaper Mainichi is complaining about too much freedom in Japan - for dogs. The paper says: "The people of Europe love dogs even more than we Japanese and there are also more dogs there. But conversely there seems to be less fighting among dogs and less howling than in Japan." The paper in an editorial suggests stricter control of canines.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

CIRCUS TIME — 2. The Jumping Dog

There's an old saying that you can't teach an old dog new tricks. But not many dogs — old or new — can match Scott the Jumping Dog when it comes to doing tricks. Scoot and his trainer, Skitter the Clown, make their living that way. In their spare time between circus performances, they work on new tricks to keep their act fresh and enjoyable. The clown has trained Scoot to jump through a hoop at his command. The trick is a favorite with circus fans of all ages.

Performing animals have been a feature of circuses from earliest days. President George Washington, an excellent horseman, never tired of watching ponies go through their intricate tricks in John Bill Rickett's Equestian Pantheon, a big name for a small circus in those days.

Paste this picture down on cardboard and color it in bright circus shades of yellow, red and green. Cut out the parts carefully and put them together according to directions. When you have lengthened the lever strip, fasten it to the base from the front through the indicated holes. Then swing Scoot so his back legs go behind the clown at right. Bring him forward and outside the circle to make him jump through the hoop.

(If you have an idea for Junior Editors, send it to this newspaper. Mary Auchmuty, Duboistown, Pa., won $10 for her suggestion. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Rape Suspect Shot Fatally by Policeman

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 35-year-old man was shot to death yesterday while police were taking him to headquarters for questioning in the rape of a 15-year-old girl.

Police Inspector Joe Clark said the shotgun he was carrying accidentally discharged when the patrol car hit a "big bump." The blast struck the prisoner, L. C. Thompson, in the right side, killing him instantly.

★ ★ ★

The Police Department said it would hold a formal investigation.

Officers said Thomspon was placed in the back seat of the patrol car after his arrest, his hands handcuffed behind his back. Clark, a veteran of 18 years on the police force, was covering him with a gun.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Sheriff George Hilton said "Thompson's body was identified by the girl as that of the man who assaulted her and robbed the service station where she was visiting two teen-age attendants. The two youths suffered slight stab wounds in the robbery.

George Washington named his home Mt. Vernon for British Admiral Edward Vernon. The first president's brother, Lawrence Washington, had been an aide to Admiral Vernon in 1742.

Rules Carhops to Get 80-Cent Minimum Pay

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Carhops are entitled to slightly higher pay than regular waitresses because they are required to walk long distances with food over rough terrain and often must wear brief uniforms.

The N.J. State Supreme Court ruled so today in affirming a state order setting carhop minimums at 80 cents per hour and those of waitresses at 66 cents.

Break Ground Soon for New Dow Plant

MIDLAND (AP) — The Dow Chemical Co. states it will break ground in a few days for new petrolchemicals plant at Bay City.

The three-unit plant is scheduled to go into production next year. It will employ 75 persons and occupy about one million square feet of Dow property in Bangor Township, near Bay City.

Dow said it will use petroleum byproducts produced by the Bay Refining Corp., which Dow acquired last year, as raw materials for transformation at the new plant into petrolchemicals.

The chief product manufactured at the Bay City plant will be ethylene, a basic material used in plastic materials, Dow said.

17 Oil Firms Eye Proposal for Joint Mideast Pipeline

LONDON (AP) — Representatives of 17 major American and European oil companies met Monday to study the feasibility of building a 1,500-mile pipeline from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean via Iraq and Turkey.

Such a pipeline would reduce the Western world's dependence on the Suez Canal for the flow of Middle East oil.

★ ★ ★

The proposed line, which would cost 840 million dollars, would avoid the more volatile areas of the Middle East which have proved susceptible to pipeline stoppages. It would be able to handle 1,400,000 barrels of oil a day.

★ ★ ★

Spokesmen for the companies said the new line would result in a more flexible method of meeting increased demand by spreading the transmission load as widely as possible. They said it would supplement, rather than replace, existing facilities.

Behind the cautious language of companies, however, there was clear concern for the possibility of further unexpected cuts in the flow of oil.

The flow to the Mediterranean through the Iraq Petroleum Co. pipelines was halted last fall when pumping stations in Syria were blown up during the Egyptian crisis. The IPC pipeline is now operating at 40 per cent of capacity while the stations are under repair.

★ ★ ★

The movement for a new pipeline apparently is receiving full support from Western governments, notably Britain.

By reducing dependence on the Suez Canal, the proposed pipeline fits in with a broad British program which includes supertankers to bring oil from the Middle East by sailing around Africa.

An oil company representative cautioned, however, that the pipeline plan is far from ready.

The primary purpose of the London meeting, which is expected to last all week, is to study reports of committees set up six weeks ago to examine legal, technical and financial aspects.

★ ★ ★

The biggest problem apparently is to get agreements to insulate the new line from international politics.

Draft agreements are reported to have been drawn up for submission to—along with requests for advice from—Britain, France, the United States and the Netherlands.

★ ★ ★

The problem of construction was described as relatively simple. Preliminary accounts said about a million tons of steel would be needed. There would be 10 or 12 pumping stations, most of which would be in Iraq.

★ ★ ★

Companies taking part in the conference are Gulf Oil, Socony Mobiloil, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil of New Jersey, The Texas Co., Compagnie Francaise des Petroles, Royal Dutch Shell, British Petroleum, American Independent Oil Co., Atlantic Refining Co., Getty Oil, Hancock Oil, Richfield Oil, San Jacinto Petroleum, Signal Oil and Gas, Standard Oil of Ohio, and Tidewater Oil Co.

Storm Hits Memphis, Causes One Death

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A severe thunderstorm rolled across Memphis yesterday, killing a woman who had sought shelter from the rain under the canopy of a department store.

Three men were injured, none seriously.

★ ★ ★

Wind gusts reached 46 miles an hour—gale force—and a tornado funnel was sighted in the storm clouds. There was no extensive property damage, however.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gladys Marie Benson, 38, was killed when the wind ripped a 200-pound concrete coping from the department store and sent it crashing into the canopy.

Would Sell War Vessels for Use as Lake Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) has introduced a bill which would permit the maritime administration to sell 12 World War II C-4 cargo vessels to the highest bidder for use on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

★ ★ ★

Potter said the speedy C-4 vessels could be adapted to carry general cargo, such as agricultural machinery, autos and electrical appliances, when the St. Lawrence Seaway opens for shipping in 1958.

State Gets Hospital Unit

Crew on Russian Ship Mum on Fatal Wounds

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—The first mate of a Russian freighter died in a hospital yesterday of bullet wounds received after the vessel left Manzanilla, Cuba, for Leningrad.

★ ★ ★

The freighter Holhoznik put in Sunday to obtain medical aid for Valory Hedensky, 34. He was reported to have suffered several head wounds and to have been unconscious three days.

★ ★ ★

Capt. Aleksander Birjukor said the mate was wounded accidentally, but crew members would not divulge to newsmen how or when he was shot.

Reading Clinic Planned

PETOSKEY (AP) — Michigan State University has made arrangements for a reading clinic in the Petoskey and Harbor Springs schools. The university is working on the project with the Burns Foundation, a nonprofit group financed by the Burns Medical Clinic. The program over a period of two or three years, will seek answers which may be used over the state.

Satellite Observers Schedule Test Alert

CAMBRIDGE (INS) — The first nation-wide test alert for satellite observers will be held Friday.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, headquarters of Project Moonwatch, has announced about 1,600 observers in nearly 80 teams across the continent will take part in the test.

★ ★ ★

The exercise will evaluate observing and communication techniques to be used when the first man-made satellite is launched some time between July 1, 1957 and December 31, 1958.

The observers will be in action for 90 minutes, beginning a half hour after local sunset. They will report any moving objects that appear on the optical instruments used by the moonwatchers if the objects in any way resemble a satellite.

Says Georgia Woman

"Last year I ordered 12 of your Special Hybrid F2 climbing tomatoes and was literally swamped with tomatoes! One vine climbed 16 ft. on a trellis and had bushels of lovely tomatoes! If I'd had just that one vine alone, it would have furnished plenty of tomatoes for my family—And when frost came, it still was covered with ripe tomatoes, green ones and blossoms! I'm really sold on Hybrid F2 Climbers!"

Battle Half Won for 4 Most Heirs

Detroit Firm Loses Bid to Obtain Troy Estate; Second Suit Pending

The four heirs to the valuable Louise Most estate in Troy won one big legal battle yesterday.

An appeal made by a Detroit firm to title of the land was dismissed by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Now the mosts face a similar action by another Detroit building firm.

The 70 acres, sought for a proposed $5 million shopping center and residential subdivision, are at the corner of Livernois and 15 Mile roads.

One of the companies, Kaufman and Wolf Associates, claimed the land was sold to them April 2, 1956, for $318,500. This claim had been set aside by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore on the grounds that one of the heirs, John Most, had not understood the agreement when he signed it.

★ ★ ★

Probate Court approval had been necessary since the estate of Miss Most, who died in 1932, was still being settled.

Judge Doty upheld the lower court's ruling yesterday.

A hearing may begin today on the suit of the second firm, Tra Land Co., which claims to hold an option to the land taken in December, 1955, of $210,000.

Most, 80, is administrator of the estate. He lives in an old farmhouse on the property with his sister, Cora, and a brother, Nelson. The fourth heir is a niece, Irene Fisher of Royal Oak.

Public Invited to 1st Meeting at Area Church

Rev. Elmer B. Usher, Rector of Mariner's Episcopal church Detroit, and director of the Detroit Episcopal City Mission, will begin the first of the Church Information Institutes, at St. Andrew's Episcopal church in Drayton Plains, at 8 p.m. today.

This meeting is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary, the central coordinating agency of Women's organizations in the church, as an invitational evening for the entire family, adults, youth and the older children from nine years, according to Mrs. Gilbert Smith, program chairman.

★ ★ ★

Beginning with this meeting it is proposed from time to time to cover various phases of the church's work in such a way that the congregation may have a chance to see the entire field of specialized work in hospitals and public institutions.

The public has been invited to attend this meeting at the local church at 5301 Hatchery Rd., at Airport Rd., in Waterford Township.

Pre-trial Examination on Break-In Ordered

Harold P. Kester, 18, of 748 Young St., yesterday was ordered by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick to undergo pre-trial examination in Pintiac Municipal Court.

Kester, who had waived examination last week on charges of breaking into a home at 723 Portland St. last Aug. 6, was returned to Oakland County Jail under $500 bond. He is accused of taking $11.

City Man Pleads Guilty to Felonious Assault

Charged with shooting a Pontiac man in the right knee Jan. 5, Ezell Moore, 32, of 546 Bloomfield Ave., yesterday pleaded guilty to a lesser count.

Moore will be sentenced by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick May 27 on a charge of felonious assault. He had previously stood mute to a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Moore, free under $100 bond, admitted wounding Nathaniel Hall, of 141 W. South Blvd., while Hall was walking with two companions near midnight on Crystal Lake drive.

Truman Talks on Foreign Aid

Tells Crowd in Dallas Trade Will Take Place of Big Expenditure

DALLAS (UP)—Foreign aid by the billion in time will be made unnecessary by mushrooming foreign trade, former President Harry S. Truman predicted last night.

Truman chided oil and cotton interests which he cited as examples of those who he said demand high tariffs in order to hold their own with foreign competitors.

"The industries which clamor for protection of high tariff barriers are usually sick and stagnant industries to begin with—maybe like your down-trodden oil boys here in Texas," he said in a nonpolitical appearance sponsored by the Jon E. Owens Memorial Foundation. Truman delivered the Owens Memorial Lecture on the role presidents take in lowering tariffs.

★ ★ ★

The jaunty former president, 73 last week, managed to poke a little impish fun at Republicans.

He traced the Democratic party's historic stand for lower tariffs, and said it has been opposed "by an unnamed party organized out of Whigs and Know-Nothings—mostly Know-Nothings."

An audience nearly filling the 2,700-seat McFarlin Auditorium at Southern Methodist University chuckled at this and other sallies.

MANPOWER
FOR THE FUTURE
YOU CAN DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT NOW!

In every field of business, the demand for educated men and women grows bigger year by year. And the supply is already falling behind the demand.

As businesses grow more complex they need more intelligent employees at all levels—people who have learned to think—people with college degrees. The colleges are doing their best to turn out more educated men and women. But they are hampered by lack of funds.

They not only need added physical capacity for the mounting pressure of applications. They need stronger, better-paid faculties. Businessmen who look ahead know they must give their aid now if they expect their manpower needs to be met in the future.

Help the colleges or universities of your choice. The returns will be greater than you think.

* * *

If you want to know what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Published as a public service by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

Bob Considine Says:

Like a Ham, Costello Can't Get Off Hook

NEW YORK (INS) — Lots of people wonder why Frank Costello, 66 and possibly cancerous, chose to take a 30-day rap, after all the time he has spent in the can, rather than tell the police what they wanted to know about a slip of paper in his pocket. It had to do with a $600,000 casino play.

Apparently, the New York cops gave up on trying to find out from Costello who might have ordered him shot recently. There's every reason to believe him when he husked that "some punk" creased his skull with the single shot.

The bloke who shot Costello probably wasn't important enough ever to have met him socially. He was probably some poor miserable, godless skunk hired to do the job for maybe $500, with the understanding that if anything went wrong he'd be on his own. They wouldn't tell him the rest.

He missed from ten feet, with nobody pushing him. By now he probably is dead even as he would have been if he had scored a direct hit. Alive, the fumbler would represent a potential embarrassment to his employer. He might get drunk and spill the story to a girl or, worse, to a reporter.

If he had killed Costello, he most certainly would have been rubbed out, a simple track-covering detail, just as the bum who threw the acid into Victor Riesel's eyes and made the mistake of spilling a bit on himself was shot like a fish in a bowl by the people who hired him.

Costello probably has a clear idea of which new or conceivably old group or syndicate tried to cancel him. But this man was raised in a curious, unmoral world where there are certain rules and dogma — variously enforced — which sometimes take on the durability of the Constitution of the U.S. The cops will beat up a punk who tries to live up to the code. They wouldn't lay a hand on Costello. Indeed, there is a completely lawless and grudging respect within the law for a well-heeled scoff-law who won't tell.

Costello is probably a millionaire. He made an utter mint as a bootlegger: had one boat in his rum-running flotilla which, alone, could invade with 50,000 cases. He probably had a piece of Frank Erickson's colossal pre-Kefauver bookmaking business.

* * *

He got his slot machines into Louisiana through Huey Long, was a partner of Phil Kastel around New Orleans, the Lanskys in Dade County, Florida, and Benny Siegal in Las Vagas. He and a couple of associates bought control of one of the world's great distilleries of Scotch whisky, after importing shiploads of it during prohibition. He owns a hunk of Wall Street.

As a student of the phenomenon of Costello, it is not too difficult to comprehend why he'd still have the mysterious markings of a gambling tally in his pocket even though he must have known he was either watched by police or trailed in jungle fashion by those who want him done away with. Here may be a clue.

The top bookmaker of Washington, D.C., now dying in jail serving one of those endless tax raps, was out on parole a few years ago and returned to his old haunts on Ninth Street, or some other honky path of that nature. All Washington cops not assigned to chasing starlings or protecting drunk diplomats had him under surveillance.

Some poor government clerk spotted him and asked him to book a two-buck bet. The bookie, with more clear money than the U.S. government, took the soiled deuce and put it in his kick, to the horror of a mutual friend, who said, "for two bucks you'd risk going back to jail?"

"It ain't that," Sam said. "If a guy wants to play, I feel I gotta be around to accommodate him, if I ain't, somebody else will be."

The probable truth about Costello is that, like a ham, he can't or won't get off.

Costly Omission

WARWICK, Va. (AP) — The Rev. Lloyd A. Clarke, pastor of St. Stephen's mission here, inadvertantly omitted an important part of his Sunday service — the exercise in charity. He didn't recall he had neglected to take up the offering until he was walking out of the church.

Security for You

SS Office Catches Up With Cheaters

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Chances are you'll not get by very long if you're collecting Social Security payments which aren't due you.

The Social Security Administration has a number of ways to make sure that you don't. It must have to run the program efficiently.

And, it can penalize you for drawing payments which you're not entitled to.

For example: Suppose you collected Social Security checks for every month last year, but you shouldn't have because your earnings were over the allowable limits. And, suppose you don't tell the Social Security people how much you earned because you don't want to pay back the checks.

TAKES TIME

It may take a little time, but the Social Security people will find out what you've done.

Here's one way:

Probably the money you earn was covered by the Social Security System and you paid Social Security tax on it. If you worked for someone else, your boss has to report your earnings to the Internal Revenue Service and pay tax on it. The Internal Revenue, in turn, must report this earnings information to the Social Security headquarters.

Since the Social Security Administration automatically investigates the reported earnings of every one who's receiving payments, your earnings will be studied.

When this investigation is finished and it's discovered that you've collected payments which weren't due you, you'll be notified and asked for an explanation.

If you have no reasonable explanation, chances are the overpayments will be deducted from any future payments you may have coming. You'll probably also be "fined" the amount of one additional payment.

For example: Suppose you collected three payments which weren't due you last year. An amount equal to four checks will be deducted from any payments which you may have coming this year—or at any time in the future.

* * *

This is just one way that your earnings can be checked. The Social Security people also can get formation from your income tax report about your earnings. And, under some circumstances, it can get information from the Veterans Administration or other government agencies.

To make sure that the death of a person receiving payments is promptly reported, the Social Security offices have asked to be notified of deaths by funeral directors.

If a funeral director tells a Social Security office of a death which hasn't already been reported by a survivor, an investigation is held. Any overpayments will be deducted from the lump sum death payment or from any monthly payments which might be due the survivors.

Many Social Security offices also check the public notices of marriage. This is to make sure that a widow who's receiving payments doesn't continue to get them after she's remarried.

* * *

And, in many cases, the Social Security Administration gets tips about the wrongful payment of checks from other sources, such as neighbors or relatives.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Supermarts Throw Gals Into Trance

Author Says That They're Snared by Psychological Plot

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

When you go into the supermarket and start wandering up and down the aisles, did you know you're in a trancelike state?

★ ★ ★

When you emerge with twice as many items as you intended to buy, and wonder where the money went, did you know you are a victim of a deep-laid psychological plot known as motivational research?

Did you realize that you really don't know what you want, until the double-domes employed by modern advertising agencies figure it out for you, plant the subconscious desire and trigger the buying action by an irresistable package?

★ ★ ★

Well, it's all true, says Vance Packard, author of a new and highly controversial book, "The Hidden Persuaders."

In his chapter, "Babes in Consumerland," Packard traces the movements of women in a supermarket, as reported after exhaustive study, hidden cameras and other devices by various research groups.

★ ★ ★

"Interestingly, many of these women were in such a trance that they passed by neighbors and old friends without noticing or greeting them," he says. "Some had a sort of glassy stare. They were so entranced as they wandered about the store plucking things off shelves at random that they would bump into boxes without seeing them. . . ."

★ ★ ★

Women seldom go to market with a shopping list any more, Packard reports. Instead, they depend on impulse buying, as planned and plotted by the psychological research teams of manufacturers and agencies. Anything in a red package is likely to appeal to a woman, he says. Men, on the other hand, reach for blue.

★ ★ ★

The result of all this motivational study and delving into the consumer's psyche is that we all buy more than we used to, says Packard—but then we have more fun doing it.

Her Father Acts Overly Hospitable

Insists That Guests Taste This or That Despite Refusals

By EMILY POST

A young woman explains: "My father is a very hospitable person, although sometimes his well-intentioned kindness falls short of its mark, and becomes quite embarrassing. Whenever we have guests, he insists that they taste this, that or the other thing even after they say, 'No thank you.'

"I have tried to tell him as politely as I can that it is not proper, but he thinks he is not being hospitable if he doesn't do this because many people are shy and need urging. Maybe you can convince him that he is wrong. I give up!"

Answer: I can understand your father's point of view because I know a number of people of the type he has in mind. But on the other hand, I agree with you that 99 persons out of 100 mean it when they say "No!" and most of these find persistent urging embarrassing.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon and the reception is going to be held at an inn out in the country and I'm afraid many of the guests will have a hard time finding it. The owner of the inn has offered to give me as many of his advertising cards as I will need.

"These cards have a colored map on the reverse side giving directions as to how to get there. Will you please tell me if inserting one of these cards in each invitation would be proper?"

Answer: To those who have accepted you could send these cards giving directions with a note saying that you feel the enclosed card may help them in finding the inn. They should not be inclosed in the wedding invitation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When one receives a gift of money at a bridal shower, is it proper, when opening the gift and mentioning the giver's name, to also tell the amount?"

Answer: It is never proper to mention the amount. It is proper, of course, to thank the giver for her generous gift.

Two new members of Beta Chapter, Mrs. Farrell E. Roberts of LaFay drive and Mrs. Felix Ballard of Sylvan Shores drive (standing, left to right) admire the gown to be worn by Mrs. Norman L. Mack of Woodbine drive for the annual Beta Ball being held Friday evening. Mrs. Mack is a member of the house committee.

YWCA Schedules All-Day Forum May 22

Jobs for Older Women to Be Studied

An all-day forum on job opportunities for older women will be offered by the Pontiac YWCA May 22, as a community service.

★ ★ ★

The forum will be open to the public without charge. An effort will be made to canvass every aspect of the employment picture likely to affect the older worker, particularly women.

Benedict McGinn, director of the older worker program for the Michigan State Employment Service and a member of the governor's commission, will come from Detroit to open the meeting at 10 a.m.

The second speaker will be Doris Wertheimer from Midwest Employment Service, who will discuss the employment situation from the fee agency's point of view.

★ ★ ★

Question periods will follow both speakers presentations. Styles from Arthur's for the older businesswoman will conclude the morning's program.

BRING SANDWICHES

Those attending the all-day institute are requested to bring their own sandwiches. YWCA hostesses under the chairmanship of Mrs. Myron L. Buck and Mrs. Karl B. Kutz, first vice president and personnel chairman, will serve tea and coffee during the noon hour.

★ ★ ★

The afternoon session will open at 1 o'clock with Mary Parrish from the Pontiac High School faculty speaking on the importance of voice placement in successful job hunting.

William LaRock, manager of the local office of the Social Security Administration, will be the next speaker, discussing the requirements for eligibility under social security.

Following this will be a presentation, with models, of hair styles for older women, directed by Mrs. Harry Randall.

Booth Hammill, labor relations manager for Detroit Controls Corp., which employs several hundred women among its 1,000 workers, will speak at 3 p.m. on the older woman in industry. The YWCA hopes to have a speaker from the merchandising field, as well.

Betty Jo Young Becomes Bride in Ferndale Church

Arrangements of white flowers and candelabra decorated the altar of Ferndale First Methodist Church for the wedding of Betty Jo Young and Ronald E. Ide. The ceremony was read Wednesday evening in the presence of 125 guests.

Betty Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley R. Young of Auburn avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson H. Ide of LaFay drive are Ronald's parents.

For her wedding the bride wore a floor-length gown of embroidered tulle over taffeta, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves that ended in points at the wrists, and a bouffant skirt accented with pleated nylon tulle.

A tiny tulle headpiece secured her fingertip veil, and she carried an arrangement of stephanotis centered with pink roses.

★ ★ ★

Nancy Dusenbury served as maid of honor. Her ballerina-length gown of blue chiffon was accented by a floating back panel that extended from the neck to the hemline.

GOWNED IN PINK

Sally Ide, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid. Her gown was identical to that of the honor attendant's, in pink chiffon.

Performing the duties of best man was Bill Swartz. David Swartz seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Young chose a gown of dusty rose color with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Ide wore a powder blue nylon organza gown with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

★ ★ ★

Following a reception held in the church parlors, the newlyweds left for a trip to Niagara Falls. For traveling the new Mrs. Ide changed to a pink tweed suit with matching accessories. She wore the pink rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Hollywood's Greatest Moments

Gaudy Homes, Parties Highlighted Filmdom in 1920s

(There was never anything like it—the Hollywood of the 1920s! In this, the second of five articles, the "First Lady of Hollywood" tells how Tom Mix lived like "the king of the world" on a salary of nearly $1,000,000 per year . . . describes the Bebe Daniels parties everybody loved to attend . . . tells of the tragic results of Lilyan Tashman's effort to eat and stay slim.)

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

If it is true that Hollywood today seems to have lost much of the tinsel and glitter of its earlier, whackier days (perhaps it's just as well) it is because of enormous pressures from both within and without the industry.

★ ★ ★

Time has marched on from the giddy days of the mid '20s when I first came to movieville. The first solid blow against the good old carefree days came with talking pictures.

I believe the second major development to slow down my little friends of the movies was the increasingly large chunk Uncle Sam began to take out of their salaries in income taxes.

Then, far later, came the arch rival—television.

More recently, there has been the sobering effect of the closing down of such a large major company as RKO—plus other large studios cutting down their contract lists with a sweeping scythe.

It is the day of the star as an independent producer—and I shall have much more to say about this later in this series.

★ ★ ★

But in the days between 1925 and 1930 these harassing clouds were all in the distant future and that fabulous figure of Western films—Tom Mix—rode high as the highest salaried actor in the world (and practically no tax!).

KEPT MOST OF IT

Tom made $17,500 weekly from the old Fox company and kept almost every nickel of it! Can you imagine anyone today earning that amount and keeping it?

As king of the cowboys, Tom lived like king of the world!

His enormous hilltop mansion in the center of Beverly Hills was the last gasp—and I repeat, gasp. Only Tom could have thought of putting his initials "T.M." in huge electric lights above his residence.

Someone once said that the only thing that shone more brilliantly than Tom's blazing initials was his wife, Victoria, who had more diamonds, emeralds and rubies than a vendor has peanuts. A slim and attractive woman, Victoria was a woman of excellent taste, but at Tom's insistence she wore nearly all her "jools" on all occasions.

When Tom and Victoria couldn't get together on what type of living room the house should have, they compromised by having two huge ones; Victoria's very elaborate and French-y, and Tom's—which ran parallel to it—typically Western with buffalo heads on the walls and a trophy case holding his valuable guns, plus other Indian and cowboy paraphernalia prominently featured.

★ ★ ★

But the thing that attracted the startled attention of every guest who ever dined in the unbelievable house was the ornate fountain spraying different colored water from the center of the formal dining table!

HILARIOUS STORY

One of the most hilarious stories about that fountain was gleefully repeated over and over in Hollywood, particularly by the outsiders who did not rate an invitation to the Mix mansion.

★ ★ ★

The Mixes were entertaining formally with all stops out a very select group of Los Angeles biggies—mostly bankers, civic leaders and their fraus. Conspicuously present, in an all-white satin gown, was the quite fat wife of one of the leading Los Angeles bankers.

Her dress may have been white when she sat down to dinner—but the unfortunate grande dame did not leave the table that way. The fountain leaked all over the place and the lady was a rainbow symphony of green, red and blue water marks by dessert time!

Although the younger crowd kept such nightspots as the Cocoanut Grove and the Montmartre jumping, most of the best, warmest and gayest parties were held in private homes.

★ ★ ★

An invitation to Pickfair, the official White House of movietown, presided over by King and Queen Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, was a command performance. Mary and Doug entertained the "great" of all walks of life—all of them avid to pay homage to Hollywood's social leaders.

FAMOUS PARTIES

The gala costume parties that Marion Davies gave at her huge white Southern colonial beach house with the whole Pacific Ocean in her front yard were internationally famed.

★ ★ ★

But these hosts and hostesses have received so much publicity through my writings and others, there isn't much more to say. And besides, I think you'll be interested in hearing about some of the other social events of Hollywood of yesteryear.

One of the happiest homes to visit was Bebe Daniels' house at the beach. Bebe is one of my dearest and closest friends and in the days of her brightest stardom everyone loved to be invited to the parties given by this beautiful and generous girl.

Bebe loved to play bridge and one night (at my home) she, Chico Marx and Joseph Schenck played a hot bridge game with Ely Culbertson, the bridge authority. Bebe beat Culbertson and he told me she was one of the best bridge players he had ever competed against!

★ ★ ★

At Bebe's parties you were very apt to find Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champ, who had been very much in love with her at one time. Jack was usually in a corner talking sports with an admiring audience.

Also, the world famed Dr. Lee De Forest, brilliant scientist and a cousin of Bebe's mother Phyllis Daniels, met the girl he married—Marie Mosquini — at Bebe's wedding to Ben Lyon. Marie was a bridesmaid at that happy affair.

Another hostess whose parties handed her guests plenty to talk about was extravagantly gowned, slim-as-a-reed, blonde Lilyan Tashman who was married to matinee idol Edmund Lowe.

★ ★ ★

Every corner of their home in Beverly Hills reflected Lilyan's extraordinary and startling taste. No one else in the world could have tied a huge pink bow on a white piano as Lil did and achieved an honest to goodness effect of chic.

Lilyan's clothes - horse figure was her fortune. And, it was in her frantic efforts to maintain her streamlined silhouette and at the same time eat, eat, eat of her own fabulous buffets (Eddie was her first love, food her second) that she brought on her tragic death, I believe.

Food was an obsession with Lil and she served nothing but the richest and finest. She would overload her plate even to going back for "seconds"—and then become sick. Lilyan died of cancer within a few months of contracting the disease.

★ ★ ★

Another outstanding glamor belle of the time was thin and fascinating Constance Bennett, who made a huge salary and whose husbands numbered millionaire playboy Phil Plant and the Marquis de la Falaise (an ex of Gloria Swanson's) and Gilbert Roland.

FAMILY FEUD

Sad that Peter Plant, now married, and his mother do not speak. Connie went into court in an effort to prove that he was really millionaire Plant's son. She was able to collect a sizable amount for the boy, but to the last Phil's mother, Mazie Hayworth, insisted that the boy was adopted.

Two girls were born of Connie's marriage to Gilbert Roland, which also ended in divorce. She is now married to Col. John Coulter, and this seems the happiest of all her marriages.

(Tomorrow: The "it" girl, Clara Bow, was the top actress box office attraction — but her love life was a mess.)

No Genuine Homemaker Lets Tidiness Stifle Fun

She's Never More Concerned with Appearances Than Comfort

By RUTH MILLETT

No woman is a true homemaker who—

Is afraid to cover a chair or choose draperies for a room without consulting an "expert."

★ ★ ★

Won't let the children make a batch of cookies for fear of the mess they'll make in the kitchen.

Is never truly pleased to open her door to an unexpected guest.

In the name of tidiness throws out a child's treasures and in the name of good taste refuses to let him adorn his room with the things that appeal to him at the moment.

Won't let her children own a pet of any kind because pets are "too much trouble."

★ ★ ★

NOT UNDERFOOT

Doesn't care where her own children are as long as they aren't underfoot.

★ ★ ★

Hates housework and wants to be sure her husband and children know it.

Can't get along with her neighbors.

Has no ambition to be a good cook.

Doesn't make her children's friends feel welcome.

Doesn't have a smile ready when she sends her family off in the morning and when she greets them at the end of the school and business day.

Discourages hobbies because they "clutter up the house."

Thinks of her home as a showplace instead of a shelter.

★ ★ ★

Hates to see any member of the family ever being comfortably lazy and immediately thinks up a job for that person to do.

Glazed Pie Has Cream Topping

Mrs. Sayers Pours Cooked Mixture Over Fresh Berries

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Don't the strawberries in market look just delicious now? They seem to have a deeper red color than our Michigan berries (but they don't taste any better). You might use a quart of these berries to make Mrs. Garth Sayers' pie.

Mrs. Sayers belongs to a child study group and does some work in her church circle. She loves to play Bridge.

STRAWBERRY GLACE PIE
By Mrs. Garth Sayers

1 quart strawberries
¾ cup water
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 baked pie shell
1 cup whipped cream

Put one cup berries and the water into a saucepan and let simmer 3-4 minutes. Add cornstarch and sugar to the mixture. Cook until clear, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice.

Put rest of berries into pie shell. Pour cooked strawberry mixture over raw berries. Chill thoroughly. Spread with whipped cream to serve. Makes one 8-inch pie.

They Help Develop Good Coordination

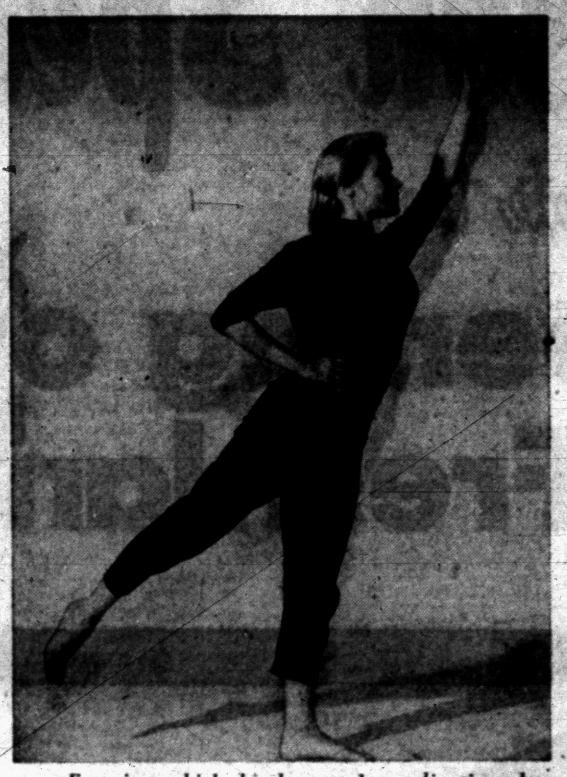

Exercises Will Keep You Graceful

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Grace is a great asset for any woman. The ease and smoothness with which she walks or dances, goes upstairs or comes down, sits or rises from a chair, can add much to the picture of charm and beauty she creates. Yet as women grow older they are very likely to forget what an important part this plays in the impression they make on others.

★ ★ ★

As muscles become less elastic and joints stiffen, some of you will unconsciously walk like an older person unless you watch it. Your walk will give you away as surely as lines on the face. Regular exercise is a grace builder because it improves the tone of the muscles and keeps the joints oiled up.

Exercises which develop good coordination also make one more graceful.

Exercises which develop good coordination also make one more graceful. Perhaps you would like to learn a few of these to practice daily.

1. Stand tall. Swing the right arm forward-upward as far as you can reach. At the same time swing the left leg backward as far as comfortable. As the arm swings down and back the leg swings forward and up. Continue swinging with a smooth rhythm. The arm moves in the opposite direction from the leg throughout.

★ ★ ★

After swinging the right arm and the left leg, do the same with the other arm and leg. You may have a little trouble keeping your balance when you first try this, but practice will improve your efforts.

ANOTHER METHOD

2. Stand tall, arms at side. Rise high on the toes. As you lower the heels to the floor raise the arms sideward-upward, one arm by each ear. As you raise the heels from the floor the arms return to side position. In other words, arms and heels move in opposite directions.

★ ★ ★

3. Walk about the room raising each leg high in front of you before placing the foot on the floor. The knees should be straight.

As you swing the right leg forward-upward, before placing the right foot on the floor, swing the left arm forward upward. Arm returns to side as foot is placed on floor.

Now we will see how good your balance is. Raise your heels from the floor and do not return them to the floor while walking about doing this exercise.

TUESDAY, MAY 14, 1957 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN FIFTEEN

Build New Shrine

LOURDES, France (NEA) — Ninety-nine years ago, according to Catholic belief, the Virgin Mary appeared to a 14-year-old peasant girl, Bernadette Soubirous. The apparition talked with her many days and revealed a mountain spring then hidden in a grotto where the sick should come to be cured. This was to become as great a focus for pilgrimages for the Western world as is Mecca for the Oriental world.

This year three million visitors are expected to travel between now and September to France's resort of miracles and money, of priests and pilgrims, and of tourists from all over the globe.

In 1958 eight million people are expected to attend the grand centenary celebrations of the 18 apparitions of the Virgin. These will be spread over several months and will mark France's Holy Year.

Little Bernadette, who became a nun and died of tuberculosis at the age of 35, could never have dreamed what her humble birthplace would be like today. Then it was one of the many impoverished market-towns in the Pyrenees, with a population of 8,000. It is double this figure today.

Her home, a one-roomed hovel, had once been a dungeon. It is now a miniature chapel. The world-famous grotto is alight with thousands of votive candles, burning day and night. Over the years, Lourdes has grown into a wealthy, traffic-jammed, hotel-decked pilgrim and tourist center.

A gigantic, underground basilica, 650 feet long and 200 feet wide with room for 20,000 people, is under construction. It will rank next in size to Saint Peter's of Rome, the largest church in the world.

Last year Cardinal Archbishop Gerlier of Lyons, riding in a jeep, solemnly blessed the site which covers 5,000 square feet. Construction workers, standing near their bulldozers and trucks, watched spellbound the long procession of prelates, priests, nuns and pilgrims advancing with flying banners and chanting litanies. Thus was the building of a cathedral started in the Middle Ages.

The basilica will have the oval shape of a fish of the primitive churches, which was also the emblem of the Christians of the Catacombs. Four gently sloping ramps will enable the sufferers on stretchers to gain access to the church. A simple altar will be placed in the center. There will be no seats.

CEREMONY OF HOPE — The Bishop of Lourdes blesses the sick as they lie on their litters in the square.

Cost of this incredible subterranean cathedral will be nearly three million dollars. The Pope has contributed $5,715. The faithful of the world will supply the rest. Donations range from thousands of dollars from congregations to the widow's mite.

Meantime preparations for the great celebrations are in full swing. A hostel-village to shelter 900 poor pilgrims is being erected just outside the town. A 300-bed hospital will be built on the right bank of the river Gave. A new and larger post office will deal with Lourdes' world-record postal card traffic.

★ ★ ★

Also mapped out are new roads, two supplementary bridges and numerous parking centers to cope with the traffic jams. Modern hotels are springing up. Up to now Lourdes has been able to take care of 100,000 visitors in rush periods.

The souvenir vendors — and they are legion — are also thinking up new ways of making money out of the grotto's "miraculous water." This is the least inspiring aspect of Lourdes today.

But this feature is soon forgotten when witnessing a mass pilgrimage. The sight of hundreds of sick and dying brought to the grotto on stretchers (many of whom will be immersed in the ice-cold waters of the mountain spring), the all-pervading atmosphere of faith and hope during the ceremonies, the thousands of voices reciting the litanies, constitute a moving sight.

DRAMATIC CURES

Whether one believes in miracles or not, dramatic and inexplicable cures do happen. The blind see, the paralyzed walk and men and women bedridden for years with incurable, terrible diseases rise from their stretchers crying "I am cured."

This is not an every day occurrence. The average has been worked out at one in every 10,000 who journey to the shrine to beg for a miracle.

People claiming cures obtained by Divine intervention have to submit full and detailed hospital records, X-ray tests and case histories. These are examined by a group of doctors and specialists of international reputation in all fields of medicine and of all creeds.

Only 53 people in the past 99 years have been publicly declared by the Catholic Church to be "Miraculous Cures."

There are, however, thousands of pilgrims who have gained great physical relief as well as spiritual comfort from a pilgrimage to the great shrine.

RITUAL AT LOURDES — The afternoon ceremony of the Blessed Sacrament in front of the Rosary Church in Lourdes is an impressive sight that lures tourists and faithful alike.

'We Normal Barrymores Don't Make the News'

NEW YORK (INS) — "Most of the Barrymores are normal," one of the normal ones sighed today, "but we're not the ones who make news."

★ ★ ★

Ethel Barrymore Colt, lyric soprano daughter of famed actress Ethel Barrymore, added:

"If you hear only about the Barrymores who make news, you'd get the impression the whole family is neurotic.

★ ★ ★

"I remember once when I went to London for some concerts, and got interviewed by all the papers. I'm happily married and have a son and this must have sounded too dull. The only Barrymore story in the papers next day was all about John Jr. slugging his wife in a hotel lobby."

Ethel's chic, blonde daughter is quite content to make the papers only when critics review her concerts.

In private life, she's Mrs. John Miglietta, wife of a mining executive, and mother of 10-year-old John Drew Miglietta.

MARRIED 12 YEARS

"After 12 years of happy marriage, I'm not going to ask my husband to beat me up just to make headlines," she laughed.

In her pleasant New York West Side apartment, where an open sewing machine jostles the piano and bookshelves are stuffed with family mementos, Miss Colt admitted that anybody born a Barrymore "is of course influenced by the family."

"I was the first of my generation to try the stage. I was 17 and I was terrible.

GOT COMMENTS

"I've still got some of the comments engraved on my heart—like the review that said that in me, the Barrymore family had come to a complete halt.

"It isn't easy to achieve my mother's standard—you know she was a famous beauty and a star at 19—and goodness knows I never have achieved that.

"But I'm working, I'm respected and I'm happy—that's plenty."

Miss Colt made it clear that misery is not a Barrymore inheritance, although some Barrymores have had bitter life stories.

About her cousin Diana, who recently wrote her autobiography, Miss Colt said seriously:

"I'm terribly sorry Diana made a mess of her life, but she didn't have to. We're like any family—we don't live in each other's laps, we grow up as individuals. My parents were divorced too and my mother's always been a very busy woman, but it didn't blight my two brothers or myself."

Miss Colt picked up a copy of her mother's "Memoirs," and added:

"It's ironic. Diana's book will probably outsell mother's dignified biography."

Hunt Argentine Plane Carrying 16 Persons

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A wide search was pushed through a rugged Andes Mountain area today for an Argentine airliner missing with 16 persons reportedly aboard.

Army cavalry and mounted frontier police led the hunt. The plane operated by the government-owned Lineas Aereas del Estado, disappeared yesterday in fog and heavy rain after leaving Buenos Aires for the Andean resort of San Carlos de Bariloche, 780 miles to the southwest.

U.S. Protests Soviet Police Restrict Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today protested to Russia that "road blocks and other forms of police action" are restricting the travel of Americans inside Russia.

A formal note of protest was handed the Soviet Foreign Ministry by the American Embassy in Moscow. It was made public in Washington.

★ ★ ★

The note complained that, in practice, the Soviet government restricts American travel beyond the rules Moscow has proclaimed publicly.

This contrasts, the note said with a situation in the United States where the American government "has never interposed obstacles to the free use of travel facilities by Soviet personnel in the United States."

The note inquired what steps th Russians would take to make practice conform with the rules laid down in June and November 1953.

★ ★ ★

When members of the U.S. Embassy have visited open Soviet cities in open areas, the note said, "they have frequently been prevented by road blocks and other forms of police action from moving freely about the city or to its environs when these environs are in open areas beyond the city limits."

British Vessels to Travel Suez

Prime Minister Tells Parliament Shipowners May Use Canal

LONDON (AP)—Britain has given her merchant ships permission today to use the Suez Canal again.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons that the government can no longer advise British shipowners to refrain from using the canal.

Payments will be made in sterling, he said.

★ ★ ★

Only two or three ships flying British colors have transited the 103-mile waterway since the British-French invasion last fall. They did so against the government's advice.

Fourteen of the 15 members of the Suez Canal User's Assn., agreed last week that a government ban on use of the canal would be virtually impossible to enforce. Only France held out.

★ ★ ★

Macmillan also announced some slight modifications in Britain's total freeze on sterling transactions with Egypt. He said new talks on financial arrangements, relating to transactions connected with the use of the Suez Canal, shortly will be held in some "neutral" country.

★ ★ ★

Britain blocked Egypt's big sterling balances held in London banks two days after the Cairo government nationalized the canal last July 26.

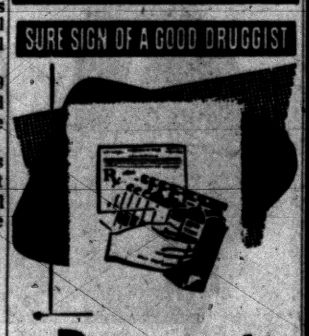

Seize Calcutta Beggar With Children's Skulls

CALCUTTA (AP) — A 40-year-old Hindu sadhu, or religious beggar —has been arrested on a murder charge after authorities found the skulls of six children in his possession.

The man reportedly said the skulls were given to him by his mentor for use in practicing magic.

A number of headless children's bodies have been found recently on the outskirts of Calcutta.

Directed County Roads 41 Years

By PETE LOCHBILER

There were more horses than automobiles on the roads back in the days Leon V. Belknap joined the Oakland County Road Commission.

In fact, when Belknap came on as manager in 1916, most of the commission's equipment was horse-drawn.

The only significant pavement in Oakland County was Woodward avenue, a crowded, single-lane highway from Detroit to Pontiac.

Belknap's term as manager spans the vast changes that have taken place since then. It would have been 41 years in July.

But Thursday, the county's oldest public administrator in terms of service will turn over the reigns to a new man.

The county won't lose the talents of its senior engineer, however. Belknap, 69, will stay on as a consultant.

The new manager will find Belknap knows a lot about Oakland roads — past, present and future.

Belknap enthusiastically tells the story. There were good years for roads, and bad ones.

★ ★ ★

Demands for concrete roads soared in the second decade of the century, Belknap recalled this week at his desk in the road commission's brand-new administration building.

"Automobiles were coming into their own and people wanted concrete to drive on. That was our big job, giving them concrete," he related.

Hundreds of miles of concrete pavement came into existence during his first years as manager, Belknap said. They mostly were in the booming south end of the county.

Eager residents chipped in on a special assessment basis, sharing the cost with the county and state. Lots of bonds were floated under the Covert Act, bonds that later were regretted during depression days.

WOODWARD WIDENING

In 1923, Belknap had a big hand in starting the most ambitious road project up to that time — the widening of Woodward into an eight-lane highway.

"It was planned as a kind of preview to the modern superhighway," he explained. "Previously, Woodward had been just a narrow 16-feet-wide road.

"You think traffic jams are bad now. You should have seen how jammed that narrow road got on summer weekends — cars backed up both ways for over a mile."

When the state took over control of trunklines in 1925, Belknap's office went back to concentration on Covert Act roads.

But he kept on pushing for completion of Woodward, which finally came in the late 30's, following the depression.

★ ★ ★

Another of Belknap's pet projects was hard hit by the depression. This was Northwestern Highway, originally planned as a Detroit-Flint artery.

The state started construction in Detroit in 1929. By the time the depression had wiped out funds, the road had been completed only to its present terminus at Orchard Lake road.

"For years, I've had this dotted line on my map, showing where the road would have continued except for depression," Belknap mused. "I've been after the highway department for years to get it completed."

Victory came last summer and a 35-mile, limited access expressway is expected to start growing this summer.

Belknap smiles as he thinks about it. "You might call it my swan-song," he chuckled.

★ ★ ★

Victories once were rare for Belknap. During the 30's and 40's the land was just plain "anti-highway," as he sees it.

Funds were all but cut off with the depression, the burden of township roads was added to the county's meager budgets, and — worst of all — there were the Covert Act bonds to be paid off.

★ ★ ★

Like most public activities, the road commission saw the sky brightening toward the end of the 30's. World War II, however, had still darker moments in store.

"I remember once a bridge was washed out during the way. A lot of people couldn't reach their homes by car.

"Nowadays, this would be an emergency and a new bridge would be up as soon as possible.

"In the war years it was different. I think that was about my hardest battle — getting authorization and materials for that new bridge."

The 1930-1950 generation of road neglect was on Belknap's mind when redistribution of gasoline and weight taxes brought a financial boon to the local road picture in 1951.

"We had to protect the roads already built but going to pieces because of improper maintenance. Some of the old roads needed widening too, but almost all of them needed repair."

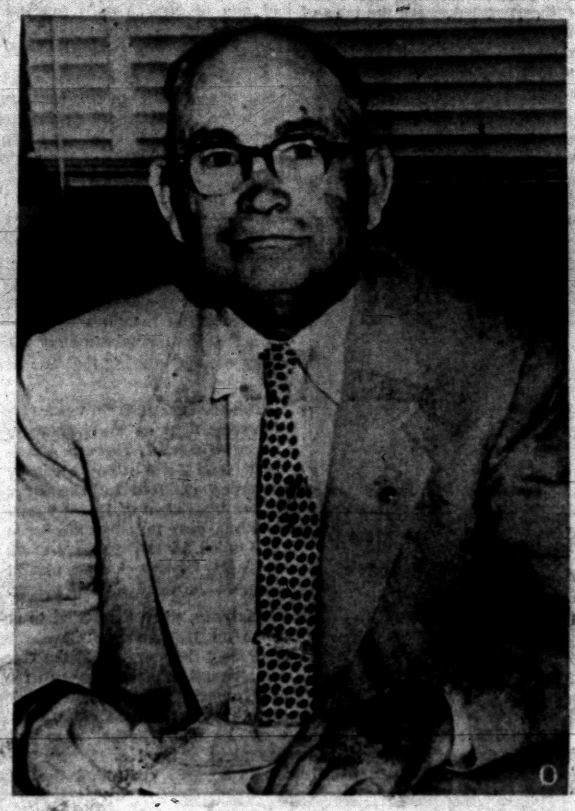

★ ★ ★

Belknap figures the black-topping program since 1951 has added at least 15 years to many of the county's primary roads.

As he retires, Belknap sees today's problem as much the same as 1916's.

"The increase in the number of cars and the needs for new roads are growing faster than we can build roads with the money available.

"But that," said Belknap with a relaxed wave of his hand, "that's the new man's problem."

Child Was Not 'Molested'

Connecticut Schoolgirl, 9, Found in Woods, Slain

BRISTOL, Conn. (AP) — A pretty, blonde 9-year-old girl was abducted on her way to school and slain yesterday.

The body of Brenda Jane Doucette, a third grader, was found in the woods just outside Bristol last night with a man's sleeveless sweater wrapped tightly around her neck.

An autopsy showed she had not been raped nor was there any evidence of an attempted sexual attack, said Deputy Coroner Frank Healey.

Brenda's body was found fully clothed at 7:50 p. m. in a clump of bushes nearly four hours after she had been reported missing by her father Baxter Doucette.

Dr. Irving S. Platt, medical examiner, said the child apparently was slain shortly after leaving for school.

The spot where her body was found is in the opposite direction from school and about 3½ miles from the home where she lived with her parents and 4-year-old brother David.

Dulles Expected to Reassure Bonn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is expected to renew at a news conference today assurances of U. S. opposition to a demilitarized zone across Germany.

★ ★ ★

The question has been a hot one in diplomatic circles since President Eisenhower told a news conference last week that any disarmament plan that seemed fair to both sides should be received sympathetically and studied earnestly. Eisenhower made no mention of German demilitarization, but he was replying to a question about a proposal which involved such a zone.

★ ★ ★

The comment stirred a transatlantic storm. And in its wake rumors and denials, with overtones of the coming German elections, whipped up for a week.

In the background also are the very serious arms control talks being conducted at London among the United States, Russia and other members of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

Studebaker Reports Lowered Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Studebaker-Packard has a first quarter loss of about $2,500,000 compared with a loss of $14,300,000 in the same period last year, Harold E. Churchill, president, reported Monday at the annual meeting.

★ ★ ★

First quarter sales were about 58 million dollars against 107 millions in the first three months of 1956, he said.

Churchill declared the company showed "a slight operating profit for March" and he fully expects it to be operating at a "profitable rate" by the end of 1957.

He reported that cost have been "significantly reduced."

"Probably no corporation has ever been more successful in reducing costs than our advisers, Curtiss-Wright."

Free congressional mail this year has dropped to the lowest level since 1948, according to U. S. postal authorities.

CIO Questions AEC on A-Plant Fund OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIO has challenged the government to explain what authority it used in approving financing of a private atomic plant going up near Monroe, Mich.

Opening the union's case designed to stop completion of the plant, CIO attorney Benjamin Sigal questioned Kenneth E. Fields, general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The questioning took place before AEC Examiner Jay A. Kyle at a hearing into the union's contention that the plant would be unsafe and would involve high government subsidies.

Repeatedly, Sigal asked Fields what regulations the AEC used in deciding on the various financial arrangements made with the builder of the plant, the Power Reactor Development Corp., Detroit.

To each question, Fields replied that all regulations are spelled out in the federal register.

PRDC, a group of private utilities, previously presented its case.

The plant, estimated to cost around 43 million dollars will make steam for electric generating plants and make nuclear material for the AEC.

Billy Graham's 'Army' Prepares for Crusade

NEW YORK (NEA)—When the Rev. Billy Graham formally opens his long-heralded New York crusade tonight, it will mark the culmination of two years of planning that rival an amphibious landing in complexity.

For two years, Graham's advance team—an office staff of 20—has been quietly assembling the vast amounts of volunteers, money and detail work the crusade entails.

In its Broadway office, Billy Graham New York Crusade, Inc. ("Incorporated under the laws of the State of New York") looks more like an industrial firm than a religious organization.

There is a reception room, private offices for the executives, secretaries, wall maps with vari-colored pins in them, a vast room full of volunteers stuffing many kinds of leaflets in envelopes, mimeograph machines humming, telephones ringing, an air of businesslike efficiency throughout.

CRUSADER—"I am praying to be God's messenger," says evangelist Billy Graham.

INCONGRUOUS NOTE

The only incongruous note is a small table in the shadow of a vast row of books crammed with clippings about Graham and previous crusades.

It is reserved for the press—reporters doing research on the famed evangelist—and on the table is an ashtray. It is the only ashtray visible throughout the entire office. And it is a souvenir of one of New York's fanciest restaurants.

★ ★ ★

In these offices, Graham's advance team has been spearheading the work for this most gigantic of revival meetings. Graham's crusade has reserved New York's Madison Square Garden for six weeks, from May 15 to July 1. And they have an option for another four and one-half months, should the crowds warrant.

★ ★ ★

With one exception, the Garden will see seven meetings a week—from 7:30 until approximately 9:15 every evening—during that one period.

The one exception throws an interesting light on the handsome young evangelist. There is a nonsectarian home for mentally retarded children in The Bronx called the Shield of David home. For the past 10 years the home has relied for the majority of its operating income on a big benefit show in the Garden each spring.

This year, when they tried to arrange an 11th annual "Cavalcade of Stars," they were told the Garden was unavailable. So they wrote to Graham. The minister said, since they were both doing God's work, he would be happy to yield one night if his New York office, which actually controlled the rental, would agree. They did and so, on June 17, there will be no meeting.

GRAHAM AND FAMILY—Here he's greeted by his wife and oldest daughter, Virginia. He spent the two-and-a-half months before his New York crusade at his home in Montreat, N. C.

DAILY MEETINGS

But, for the rest of the six-week period, and possibly up to the hockey season, there will be daily meetings. And they expect crowds of between 18,000 and 19,000 at each meeting. There are no tickets. Admission is free on a first come, first served basis.

Approximately one-third of the seats will be reserved, however, for groups coming from churches together. Most of these will be from the metropolitan New York area, but already there have been requests for group reservations from places like Louisville, Nashville, Detroit, Buffalo, Washington, Philadelphia, even as far away as Oklahoma City.

Graham's New York representatives think a trip to the New York Crusade is an ideal way of combining religious business with vacation pleasure.

To get ready for this influx is a monumental job. For months, the Graham team has been preparing. A choir of 4,000 has been recruited, trained, coached, to serve as two rotating choirs at each meeting. There'll be 600 ushers each night, so Graham's men have assembled and are rehearsing 2,000.

Then there are the counselors, who will sit down front, ready to greet "enquirers" who come forward at each meeting. There will be 4,000 counselors, all different ages, sexes, backgrounds, ready to join an enquirer of matching type. These are being trained in weekly classes.

There are prayer group leaders, set up on local, national and international levels, to head small prayer meetings. These are designed to carry out Graham's words: "New York City must become the most prayed-for spot on the face of the earth."

Each month, they've received a copy of The Billy Graham New York Crusade News, with a column headed "Prayer Requests," telling them what they should pray for that month. Some typical Prayer Requests:

"Pray for the decision concerning a local radio station to carry the Prayer Time Broadcasts."

"Pray for the Finance Committee which is faced with the responsibility of raising the urgently needed pre-Crusade funds."

"Pray for the ushers, choir members and other committee workers who will be standing shoulder-to-shoulder in the actual work of the Crusade."

LONG LIFE WITH Concrete

If paved with concrete, the roads of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways will last longer . . . at least 50 years, and provide the smoothest, safest, most comfortable highway ride ever.

The heavy traffic expected on these vital roads demands pavement of proven durability. That's long-lasting concrete.

Concrete highways have a gritty texture which helps prevent skids and gives tires a better grip for quick stops. Smooth-riding concrete is free of washboard bumps, rutting, or wavy surface. For driving that is easier and safer, concrete pavement is first choice.

Calls Special Meeting to Reshape Township's Disaster Plans

All the groundwork has been laid and there will be a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, for the reorganization of Civil Defense in Waterford Township, according to director Louis Dorman.

Several meetings have been held, officers appointed and a series of training classes held during the past months.

Waterford Township is one of the few areas in the state that is not wholly organized in case of disaster, and new plans were started by members of the Jayno Adams P.T.A. to renew interest in Civil Defense.

At the Wednesday night meeting at the Waterford Township high school, Mrs. Don Warren, coordinator for Southeastern Michigan will instruct residents on how to fill out volunteer cards, and will help organize the group.

★ ★ ★

Invitations have been sent to the 19 PTA groups in the school district, requesting five members to attend the meeting, representing their particular area, according to Mrs. John Mihalik, Jayno Adams school organizer.

Anyone interested in the Civil Defense program, has been urged to attend the meeting, Mrs. Mihalik said.

Legislators to Wind Up Backlog of 300 State Bills

LANSING (AP) — This week will tell the tale in the Legislature on most issues, notably excepting the overshadowing questions of school aid, highway finance, taxes and the budget.

By quitting time Friday, under the adjournment timetable adopted seven weeks ago, all except tax and appropriation bills that have passed either the House or Senate must clear the opposite chamber.

The catch is that the big appropriation bills and the really knotty problems seldom find both houses in complete agreement, even though they pass, and the differences often go to conference committees for adjustment.

That almost certainly is what will happen to the school aid bill, major money measures and the proposal on overhauling the formula for distribution of state road building revenues among the state, counties and cities.

The showdown in these areas probably will crowd up against the May 24 scheduled windup, and may even force its postponement until lawmakers come back for sine die adjournment June 28—or even beyond.

Some Republicans, for different reasons, want to put off final adjournment anyway, although to date not enough to force a change in the existing timetable.

All told, lawmakers have about 300 bills awaiting final disposition.

Except for the taxation and appropriation committees in both Senate and House, standing committees have pretty well wound up their work. Concentration in the days ahead will be on floor action.

The bison, or buffalo herd, had been killed off in Canada to about 300 in 1900. Strict patrols of game wardens to stop illegal hunters has brought the herd back to about 15,000.

Probers Take Look at Wisconsin Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee said today it has launched a preliminary investigation of the sometimes violent, never-settled strike against the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) and Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a member, said staff investigators have been assigned to the probe, which may lead to public hearings later.

The National Labor Relations Board has devoted practically a full year to hearings on complex issues in the strike. An NLRB examiner at one point dismissed the whole case. The board reinstated it.

The dispute has stirred clouds of charges and countercharges between the company and Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers, which have spent millions of dollars in the long fight. The Kohler Co. has continued producing plumbing equipment through the dispute.

Burns-Allen's Daughter Files for Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The 22-year-old daughter of George Burns and Gracie Allen wants a divorce, and $1,375 a month in alimony and child support.

Mrs. Sandra Jean Wilhoite said in a complaint filed yesterday that her husband Young Wilhoite III, 26, recently quit his job and said he planned to loaf a while.

She said his lack of a job should have no effect on her money demands, however, as he stands to inherit $700,000 from his mother's estate in Texas.

Engagements Already Sold Out

Musical Star Mary Martin Booked for California

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Along with sunshine and scenery, California can boast this year of a Mary Martin festival.

The Civic Light Opera of San Francisco and Los Angeles will get the musical star for 21 weeks, first in "South Pacific" and then in "Annie Get Your Gun." Needless to say, the cities are ready for her; the engagements are virtually sold out already. And she is more than ready for them.

★ ★ ★

"I never felt so eager to sing," she enthused between fittings for her "South Pacific" costumes.

The reason she is primed: she and husband Richard Halliday spent eight months at their ranch in the heart of Brazil.

"It was heavenly," she sighed. "For eight months we didn't hear a telephone, didn't read a newspaper. What did we do? The days were full. We were up at the crack of dawn to supervise work on the place. At night we'd collapse.

★ ★ ★

"For eight months I didn't sing. Now I'm full of energy and I can't wait to get started."

She's got plenty of work lined up for her. Besides fittings and rehearsals, she's recording an "Annie" album with co-star John Raitt. And as soon as she finishes the run here this fall, she'll do the show on a two-hour colorcast over NBC.

"That's how the whole thing came up," she explained. "Two years ago, we wanted to do the same thing with 'Annie' that we had done with 'Peter Pan': do it on the stage and then TV. But MGM still held the TV rights, so we had to wait."

★ ★ ★

When the studio's rights expired, the deal was reactivated. As with "Peter Pan," the show is being originated here in cooperation with Edwin Lester. Halliday is producing.

Once again she has bob, will shampoo in "South Pacific." Giorgio Tozzi, promising young singer of the Metropolitan Opera, will co-star in the role originated by the late Ezio Pinza.

SAULT STE. MARIE (UP)—That cat-like creature that has been mystifying Upper Peninsula residents has been spotted again—this time with a litter of young.

Frank Bawks of Pickford, about 20 miles south of the Soo, said he almost ran over the animal with his truck on M123 near the Chippewa-Mackinac County Line last Friday. As he drove around it, he said he spied "three or four young" in a roadside ditch.

Bawks likened the puzzling critter's head to a "10 quart pail." He said it was gray-brown in color, had a 2½-foot body and a long tail.

Mrs. Granlund alleged that the defendants were guilty of recklessness or negligence.

10,750,000 Trucks Use Highways of Nation

DETROIT (INS) — The Automobile Manufacturers Association disclosed today that more than 10,750,000 trucks are using the street and highways of the nation.

Their operation requires seven million persons, or about one of every 10 workers in the nation.

Trucks handled 240 billion ton miles between cities, alone, in 1956, it was stated.

Doe Has Fill of City, Causes $380 Damage

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Police and northeast Grand Rapids residents today hoped a young hoe has had her fill of life in the city.

The deer, which caused $230 damage at an auto agency showroom in a rampage last Friday, returned to the area yesterday for a $150 assault on a car owned by Alfred J. Aalerink.

It failed to clear the car in a leap and smashed a door glass and broke the left half of the windshield.

The animal, knocked unconscious, soon revived and was returned by Humane Society officer Donald H. Mitchell to a wooded area far removed from city hazards.

Honduras Charges Breech in Truce

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP)—Honduran troops shuttled back toward the Nicaraguan frontier last night after the government charged that Nicaragua broke the five-day-old truce.

★ ★ ★

The new crisis sent the foreign ministers of neighboring Costa Rica, Guatemala and El Salvador into emergency huddles.

★ ★ ★

Honduras' Foreign Ministry charged a Nicaraguan patrol had moved into Vijao village after Honduran troops pulled out. The government fired off a protest to the Organization of American States which arranged the agreement for a cease-fire and creation of a demilitarized zone along the disputed border.

Hungry Enough to Eat Ox, Better Reserve 42 Days

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (UP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That people who say they're hungry enough to eat an ox probably don't realize it's more than a weekend job. Johann Ketzler, a methodical German, decided in 1880 to see just how long it would take to eat a whole roast ox. It took him 42 days, from tip to tail.

Tigers in Boston to Start Road Trip

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers started their first long road trip of the 1957 season today, hoping to regain their 1956 "away from home" form.

Only a year ago the Tigers were the 2nd best road club in the American League. But in brief junkets to Kansas City (0-2), Chicago (0-1) and Cleveland (2-2) the 1957 edition has shown a definite preference for home cooking.

Boston was one of the only real bad spots on the Tigers' traveling record in 1956. They lost 7 of their 11 games in Beantown, a low matched only in the other "B" city — Baltimore. Overall, Detroit's road record was a good 45-32, just behind New York's 48-29 mark.

Three games here open the trip, followed by two in New York Friday night and Saturday (both televised in Michigan), two in Washington, two in Baltimore and three in Kansas City. The Tigers return home May 27 for a night game with Cleveland.

Manager Jack Tighe, bemoaning the lack of long ball hitting by his club, said he plans to juggle his batting order again. But the only solid change he mentioned was elevating young Reno Bertoia from eighth position.

Bertoia, 4th leading hitter in the league with his .372 average, probably will end up swinging after cleanup man Al Kaline.

Tighe also said he will bench Charlie Maxwell for all three games here. Maxwell, hitting only .257, was troubled by boils all spring and never has been up to par physically. Tighe said he needs a rest.

Jim Small, the bonus kid who has been in and out of Tighe's doghouse, will get a chance to split Maxwell's left field post with Karl Olson.

This could be Small's chance to save a major league job. His bonus time expires late next month and he could be farmed out.

Before leaving Detroit the Tigers trimmed their roster by asking waivers on veteran 1st baseman Eddie Robinson. Obtained as a pinch hitter in the big winter deal with Kansas CSity, Robinson had failed to hit in nine chances.

With Robinson gone, the Tigers have only infielder Jim Finigan to show for their deal which sent pitchers Virgil Trucks, Ned Garver and Gene Host plus infielder Wayne Belarid to Kansas City. Detroit got Robinson, Finigan and pitcher Jack Crimian.

Crimian was released last week. The A's disposed of Host and Belari but Trucks, working in relief, has gained a new lease on life and leads the league in won-lost percentages with a 5-0 mark. Garver is 2-1.

Duke Maas was due to pitch today for the Tigers against big Frank Sullivan. Detroit is 2-0 against the Red Sox so far this year.

DiBiase's Streak Halted by Archer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Archer, 22, fresh from the docks of New York's west side, is the big city's latest fistic idol.

★ ★ ★

The welterweight prospect ended Tony DiBiase's 20-months, 19-fight unbeaten streak by winning a bloody pier six battle at St. Nicholas Arena last night. That type of bang-bang fight is right up Archer's alley. He's a longshoreman and has fought plenty of them for nothing.

DiBiase is a college boy fighter but he's no sissy. His style is similar to Archer's and when they wound up their savage 10-rounder both were bleeding from multiple face cuts. Winner and loser both will have to lay off from six to eight weeks.

★ ★ ★

Archer, making his television debut and going 10 rounds for the first time, gained the split decision on the strength of a blazing final round.

Governor Given Game Code Bill

LANSING (AP) — With the senate accepting house changes, the legislature Monday cleared and sent to the governor a bill making numerous detailed revisions in the state game code.

★ ★ ★

One of the provisions agreed to by the senate would outlaw deer hunting with a .22 caliber rifle, and another would lengthen the time for training of dogs in advance of the racoon season.

A third would classify the slingshot as a hunting weapon.

Lake Orion's Athletes Honored by Lions Club

The members of Lake Orion High School's athletic teams and cheerleaders were honored last night at an all-sports banquet held at the Blanche Sims School. The event was sponsored by the Lions Club.

Continued Rains Will Hinder '500' Trials

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indianapolis Motor Speedway may not be in top condition for record breaking Saturday if more thunderstorms develop as are predicted this week.

★ ★ ★

Qualifications for the 500-mile race May 30 will start Saturday, with the pole position—the inside spot in the front row—going to the fastest car on opening day.

The brick-and-asphalt track is at its best when it has a thin coat of tire rubber baked into the groove. Rain and absence of sustained hot weather have prevented this buildup.

Fred Agabashian of Albany, Calif., who has started the last 10 races here, predicted qualifying records will be broken even though the engines are smaller this year.

★ ★ ★

Agabashian said a reduction in engine size required this year may have reduced straightaway speeds but new lighter cars are going through the turns faster.

Pat Flaherty of Chicago, who went on to win last year's race, set qualifying records at 146.056 miles an hour for one lap and 145.596 for the four-lap, 10-mile qualifying distance. An injury suffered later in a race at Springfield, Ill., will prevent him from defending the marks.

★ ★ ★

Agabashian predicted it will take 147 to win the pole position. Sam Hanks, who has started 11 races here, said he expects one or two cars to exceed 145 miles an hour.

Troy Ruttman, winner of the 500 in 1952, and Pat O'Connor, an early leader last year, have been over 144 in practice.

Just about a month ago, when the Tigers opened their home season, a lonely figure sat in the corner of the Briggs Stadium press box, watching the opening day ceremonies taking place on a wet, chilly day.

The familiar tan trench coat could be quickly associated with only one person seen around Briggs Stadium. It was Herold Dominic Ruel, better known to everyone as "Muddy."

If one wanted to talk to Muddy, he had to get alongside him. Ruel was never one for shouting. In fact when they talk about soft-spoken people, Muddy would probably take the first place in line.

For Muddy, that day might have been one for reminiseing. Just a few days earlier the announcement was made that Ruel was leaving the Tigers, and possibly leaving Major League baseball in a dual exit.

★ ★ ★

The reason given was that Muddy was taking his family on a long desired vacation to Europe. Of course, he still hoped to stick close to baseball by helping to promote the game in Italy.

His planned absence from the U. S. would keep him in Italy about a year or longer.

Most everyone suspected there was something more to his leaving than just a vacation. After the new owners took over the Tigers, he was given the job of "assistant to the president." What the job entailed, it was even doubtful that Muddy knew.

As general manager before Spike Briggs, Ruel was probably quite instrumental in bringing Bucky Harris to Detroit. He and Harris were teammates on the Washington World Series teams of 1924 and 1925.

Harris at the time was the 27-year-old player-manager of the team, and Muddy had his best years as catcher then.

Together he and Harris were blamed for some bad trades and poor seasons when they teamed again with the Tigers in 1955-56.

★ ★ ★

After Harris exited, Ruel was relieved of his general manager's duties. But the new owners knew enough to keep him in the organization. He was still a smart baseball man, and this was a baseball team they were running and not a radio station.

Just a few days ago, the big wheels of the Tigers honored him in a farewell dinner at the Stadium and in two weeks Muddy and his family will be on an Atlantic liner.

We hope Muddy can do as good in promoting the great American pastime in Europe as he has done in his own country.

You couldn't offer your best wishes to a nicer person.

Iron Liege Gaining Favor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Calumet Farms' Iron Liege, who had the last laugh after winning the Kentucky Derby, could allow himself another chuckle today as he shaped up as the favorite for Saturday's $100,000-added Preakness.

★ ★ ★

The smart stepping 3-year-old solidified his position as the horse to beat after these developments yesterday:

1. Gen. Duke, the Calumet big gun which trainer Jimmy Jones rated higher than Iron Liege even after the derby, returned lame after a mile workout at Pimlico and was declared out of the Preakness.

2. Iron Liege, rebuffed as Calumet's second stringer throughout his 3-year-old career, worked the same distance moments later in a sizzling one minute, :37 4-5—just one-fifth second off the track record.

3. Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler failed to impress jockey Eddie Arcaro in winning the Preakness Prep.

★ ★ ★

"He's going to have to do better than that Saturday," said Arcaro after piloting Bold Ruler to a length victory over Roslyn Farm's Inswept.

★ ★ ★

Wheatley foreman Bart Sweeney sounded more optimistic than Arcaro, however.

"He did it very nicely, I thought," said Sweeney. He added the opinion that blinkers, worn by Bold Ruler for the first time in 17 races, "helped him."

Trainer Jim Fitzsimmons had prescribed the blinkers as a possible cure for Bold Ruler's tendency to be "rank," as he was in finishing fourth as the 6-to-5 favorite at the Derby.

★ ★ ★

A third Preakness eligible, Mrs. Janon Fisher Jr.'s Convoy, was the only other contender in $6,000 mile and one-sixteenth prep, and his finish 12 lengths up the track knocked him out as a probable Preakness starter.

★ ★ ★

Gen. Duke's injury had Jones shaking his head. The Duke breezed the mile in 1:40 4-5, just about as the trainer had wanted, but he wound up bobbing his head in pain as he limped on the left forefoot. It was the same foot which was injured before the Derby causing his withdrawal from that race.

★ ★ ★

"Gen. Duke is definitely out of the Preakness," said Jones after taking one look at the colt.

McConner Hurls No-Hitter to Open Softball Campaign

The 1957 City League softball season started with a bang Monday night.

Perc McConner pitched a brilliant no-hitter at Beaudette Park as Shaw's Jewelers nudged Birmingham, 1-0, to headline last night's opening four-game card.

The veteran campaigner faced just 23 batters, an infield error in the 5th inning giving the losers their only base-runner. He struck out 12 and didn't walk a man.

Roger Reynolds, another seasoned moundsman, hurled a dazzling two-hitter for Birmingham, but a 1st-inning error proved his undoing. Jim Keebaugh tripled and scored the winning run for the defending City League champions when shortstop Bud Schneider bobbled Louie Seay's grounder.

Elks No. 810 made a three-run outburst in the 1st inning stand up for a 4-2 victory over Stadium Inn on the Beaudette diamond. Four hits, a walk and an error handed the Elks all the runs they needed.

In games at North Side Park, Wilbur Wright pitched six-hit ball as Eddie's Bar defeated Richard's Tavern, 4-2, and Oxbow Pavillion nosed out Drive-In Cleaners, 7-6, despite a 2nd-inning home run by the loser's Frank Robinson.

Pontiac Select-a-Drink meets UAW-CIO Local 653 at 7 o'clock and Louie's Tavern faces Oxbow at 8:30 in tonight's Beaudette attractions. Pontiac Police play State Hospital at 7 and Deni's Corner meets Dostal Foundry at 8:30 in North Side games.

Lakeland Wins League Opener

Outfielder Dick Cooper took a free trip around the bases in the 8th inning to give Lakeland Pharmacy a 6-5 victory over White Brothers last night in the opening game of the 1957 Waterford League softball season.

Cooper was hit by a pitched ball, went to 2nd on a wild pitch, moved to 3rd on a sacrifice and scored the winning run on a passed ball charged to catcher Larry Sowter.

Monty Tipton slammed a two-run homer for White's club in the 5th inning and teammate Grant St. Amour garnered three hits in four trips to the plate. Don Herr pitched the distance for Lakeland.

Cubs Buy Morgan for 3rd Base Spot

CHICAGO (INS) — The Chicago Cubs, badly in need of a third baseman, purchased Bobby Morgan from the Philadelphia Phillies Monday in a straight cash deal.

Morgan, 30, who has been in the National League for seven seasons, will report to Chicago today.

The veteran infielder can play either second, shortstop or third base and is considered a fine glove man.

Score Shows Improvement

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score's injured right eye continues to show improvement, but the eye specialist who has been treating him says it is too early to be "too enthusiastic."

★ ★ ★

Score, 23, Cleveland Indians' ace lefthanded pitcher, was hit by a line drive in a game with the New York Yankees last Tuesday night. He told the nurse who removed the dressing from his eye yesterday that "the vision seems to have improved a lot."

"We can't be too enthusiastic yet," said Dr. Charles I. Thomas, Cleveland eye specialist. "There can be a late detachment of the retina, and remember, we have yet to see the central portion of the retina."

The doctor has been waiting for the hemorrhage to recede so he can make a full examination of the retina—the thin membrane at the back of the eye that transmits light changes through the optic nerve to the brain.

Dr. Thomas said that at the rate the hemorrhage is clearing a full diagnosis might be made "within the next 36 hours."

He said that if the retina is not detached, the pitcher would be able to leave Lakeside Hospital in a week or 10 days.

Pistons Obtain Big Kalafat

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons have completed a player trade with the Minneapolis Lakers, sending Corky Devlin to the Lakers in exchange for former Minnesota center Ed Kalafat.

It was a straight player deal that will give the new Pistons more rebounding strength.

Kalafat, a 6-feet-6 inch, 245-pounder who plays a forward position, has been with the Lakers for three seasons and has averaged 8.2 points in 127 games in the past two campaigns. He is 24.

Devlin, former George Washington star, played two season with the Pistons, averaging 7.3 points a contest.

With Sweetwater Clifton (6-7), Harry Gallatin (6-6) and George Yardley (6-5), the Pistons should have one of the strongest rebounding teams in the National Basketball Assn.

Clifton will be in Detroit Wednesday to sign his 1957-58 contract in a session with general manager Fred Delano.

The Pistons are open to suggestions and invitations for pre-season games around the state, Delano said. The Pistons will play four pre-season games against the St. Louis Hawks, meeting the Hawks twice in the St. Louis area and twice in the Detroit area.

There is a possibility that one game will be held in Toledo and the other in Flint.

George Moore Jr., 25, of Detroit, said he robbed a grocery store of $900 last February to finance an eye operation he needed to continue his ring career.

He was sentenced to 5 to 15 years in prison.

SEEK STATE TITLE — Nothing less than a state prep Class C golf title will really satisfy St. Frederick's linksmen (above), recently named regional champs. Senators 'Stretch' Win Streak to 2

Ted Abernathy, Herb Plews Set Victory Pace

Four-Hit Mound Job, Timely Hitting Mark Only Monday Game

The Associated Press

Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, the major leagues' newest and least envied manager, was enjoying his biggest winning streak today — two in a row with the cellar-warming Washington Senators.

★ ★ ★

That's quite an achievement for a fellow who took over a team in the midst of a 10-game losing streak only last week.

★ ★ ★

The Senators won the rubber of their three-game series from the Red Sox 5-3 last night. It was the only game played in the majors.

Big Ted Abernathy and little Herbie Plews led the Senators to victory. The 215-pound, 6-4 pitcher permitted only four hits and struck out four in posting his first victory after three defeats this season. The 5-10, 160-pound Plews rapped a double and two singles and drove in two runs to lead the eight-hit attack against loser Willard Nixon and two relievers.

★ ★ ★

After yielding a home run to Billy Klaus, the second man he faced, Abernathy surrendered only one hit—Dick Gernert's infield single off his leg in the fourth—until Boston broke through for two hits and two runs.

The victory gave Lavagetto a record of 3-3 since he succeeded Chuck Dressen May 7. That's a spectacular pace compared with the team's 4-16 mark under Dressen.

★ ★ ★

In contrast to last night, a full schedule was in prospect today with six of the eight games to be played under the lights. Most of the attention will be focused on Cincinnati, where the Redlegs will try to extend their winning streak to 13 straight. Philadelphia and rookie Don Cardwell (2-0) offer the opposition.

★ ★ ★

Warren Hacker (3-1) has been named by Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

The Milwaukee Braves, tied for the National League lead with Cincinnati, will be host to Brooklyn tonight.

Pittsburgh plays at Chicago and New York at St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

First place also will be at stake in the American League. The Chicago White Sox, leading New York by half a game, go into Washington while the Yankees are hosts to Kansas City. Cleveland, a game and a half behind the pace, are guests of Baltimore while Detroit visits Boston.

Aging Demaret Going Great

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

NEW YORK (AP) — The Laughing Boy may have become Golf's Grim Grandpa, but there's no questioning the fact that Jimmy Demaret is striking a few blows for folks who live in the belief that there's life in the old boy yet.

★ ★ ★

According to some record books Demaret celebrated his 47th birthday last Friday by shooting a 66 at Hot Springs, Ark, en route to winning his third tournament on the 1957 tour. Jimmy says he's a bit younger and the most recent PGA player catalogue gives his birth date as May 24, 1912, instead of May 10, 1910. The weight of evidence seems to favor the earlier date.

★ ★ ★

Demaret has been a golf pro for 30 years and a top flight tournament contender for 20. He has two grandchildren and admits he played in his first Texas Open in 1925, when he still was a caddie.

No matter how old you think Jimmy is, he doesn't look it. And he still is capable of playing the kind of golf that earns him approximately $6 a shot. His record this year should make him the pride and joy of the game's senior citizens and a month from now he could become the oldest winner of the U.S. Open Championship.

Britain's Ted Ray now holds that distinction.

So far this season Jimmy has won the Palm Springs, Calif., Invitational tournament—with five consecutive rounds in the 60s — the Baton Rouge and Hot Springs Opens. He was third in the Masters, a tournament he has won three times since 1940, tied for second at Las Vegas and fourth in the Texas Open after leading at the three-quarter mark. He has averaged 70.19 strokes for 43 competitive rounds this year and has collected $18,117 in tournament winnings.

Certainly no grandfather ever played that kind of golf before.

In addition he finds time to look after the rather extensive real estate operations he and his buddy, Jackie Burke, have in Texas and Florida and the golf course they're building in Houston.

This could be Jimmy's year to win his first major title. If not, well in three years—or is it five?—he'll be eligible for the PGA Seniors Championship. And, brother, could he make a shambles of that!

Around the Prep Front

By CHUCK ABAIR

The winning of the South Central Conference track championship by Oxford in a close battle and baseball victories for St. Frederick, Waterford and power-packed Romeo featured Monday's schedule on the area Prep front.

Placing of two of the top five finishers in the broad jump, the final event of the meet, Oxford took the SCC crown by the margin of 2 1/5 points over Ortonville with a 56 2/5 total. Millington ranked 3rd with 44 2/5, Imlay City was 4th with 28 and North Branch had 8.

Harold Barnes of Oxford, who also won the 100, set a new meet record in the 220 in 24 seconds. Ortonville's Larry Burns established a new high jump mark at 5 feet, nine inches. Al Dickinson of Ortonville won both hurdle races.

★ ★ ★

The host Oxford team forged ahead late in the event by winning the 880 relay while Ortonville was failing to score.

St. Frederick won the hard way after going hitless for six innings beating St. Benedict, 3-2. St. Michael bowed to Hazel Park St. Rita, 7-1, and Royal Oak St. Mary won its 3rd straight in other Suburban Catholic loop tilts.

Pitcher Tim White won his own game for the Rams with a two-run single in the 7th following a double by Paul Sagby and Bob Crausdell's single. White survived a two-run 1st to hurl two-hit ball and fanned 10 for the 1st St. Fred victory. Smolinski hurled the six innings of no-hit ball.

★ ★ ★

Errors and walked marred the St. Michael defeat as Shamrock Joe Schultz and Tim O'Meria both flipped two-hitters and combined for 26 strikeouts. St. Rita wrapped up its 3rd straight with 5 runs in the final frames led by a triple by Chet Laabs, Jr. St. Michael is now 2-1.

St. Mary had a big day at the plate with a 14-hit attack in keeping pace with St. Rita with Terry Dunnigan and Jerry Grudzen garnering three safeties apiece.

Royal Oak whipped St. James, 12-4.

Sherman Weakley's clutch single in the 9th produced Waterford's 3-2 triumph over Farmington in an Inter-Lakes battle as Chuck Kirken bested Lou McClellan in a mound duel. Dick Vore batted in a run with a triple and scored on a balk for the other Skipper markers. It was the 2nd straight WTHS win after four setbacks.

The bats were booming again for Romeo as Bud Brotebeck's boys clouted nine hits, one Benny Meyer's 6th homer, to trip Almont, 8-3. Freshman Bob Galan won his 2nd and the 9th in a row for the Bulldogs, Meyer also had a triple and single.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston stayed in contention for the northern division title and Holly won on only one hit in the Wayne-Oakland League.

★ ★ ★

The Wolves got a sparkling 2-hit, 10 strikeout performance from Freshman Bob Poorit in slamming cellar-dwelling Bloomfield Hills, 12-0. Poorit, making his 1st mound start, teamed with another new boy, John Parks, to pace the hitting with two apiece.

Northville's Jeff Goodrich allowed only one hit but bowed to Holly and George McDaniel, 2-1. McDaniel scattered four. Two walks and two errors gave the Broncos the clincher in the 4th.

Tom Langley, North Carolina's No. 1 golfer, is a former Atlantic Coast Conference golf champion.

Italy May Place Ban on Open Road Racing

ROME (AP)—The probability that all open road automobile racing—including the Mille Miglia, "the race of blood and 7,000 curves"—would be prohibited in Italy loomed today in the face of a mounting wave of indignation sweeping the country.

★ ★ ★

Politicians, newspapers and the man in the street were still talking about the tragic accident in Sunday's Mille Miglie which took 13 lives and brought the toll of the race to 29 dead and 30 injured in two years.

While the Italian government annual Sardinian International Trophy race, scheduled for May 26, was called off.

In Sunday's race, Spanish sportsman Alphonso De Portago, who has spent his life flirting with death, was killed along with Edmund Nelson, his American co-pilot, when their red Ferrari blew a tire and smashed into a crowd injuring 10 persons fatally. They were in third place at the time.

Another driver was killed in a separate accident.

★ ★ ★

Newspapers throughout Europe appealed for an "end to this mass homicide," and a half-dozen Italian deputies and senators said they would propose parliamentary law prohibiting future races on open roads.

★ ★ ★

Armando Angelini, minister of Transport, announced he is preparing recommendations for strict new limits on all racing. But safety measures did not suffice for the Mille Miglia. After last year's death toll, entries were limited to 350 instead of 600 and thousands of police lined the course.

Meanwhile, preparations were made to take de Portago's body back to his native Spain.

OFF BEATEN TRACK — A year ago, Dave Sime was setting sprint records. Now the Fair Lawn, N. J., lad is batting .404 as a Duke outfielder. He has the best arm in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Surprising Turn of Events Places Dressen in Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talkative Charley Dressen would have voiced several versions of "crazy" to describe anyone who might have predicted eight days ago that he'd soon be off the diamond and in a front office baseball job.

But that's just where he is — as assistant to the president of the Washington Senators.

Dressen, 58, accepted the post yesterday under a contract extending through 1959 at an undisclosed salary.

Dressen's willingness to move upstairs surprised some who thought he'd rebel at the thought of shedding a uniform after 38-plus seasons as player, coach and manager. And Dressen wouldn't say he has stepped into the business side of the game permanently.

★ ★ ★

However, he appeared his usual cheerful self in telling reporters he believes he can do the last-place Senators "a lot of good" in the new capacity.

Club president Calvin Griffith, who fired Dressen as field manager one week ago today, said the chubby little veteran would spend his time "searching for players throughout the United States."

Suspend Trainer on Dope Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Reggie Cornell, one of the leading thoroughbred trainers in the West, is under suspension through July 24 in a horse doping case.

The California Horse Racing Board set him down through the balance of the Hollywood Park meeting, after a day-long hearing yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Cornell was charged with responsibility for the alleged stimulation of Drifting Abbey, 2-year-old winner of the first race at Bay Meadows April 23.

Suspended with Cornell through July 24 is Jerry Williams, Drifting Abbey's groom.

★ ★ ★

The Bay Meadows stewards suspended Cornell two days after Drifting Abbey, owned by Tom Ross and Phil Kilpstein and ridden by Willie Shoemaker, won the six-furlong race for a mutuel payoff of $11.10, $5.60 and $3.70. The racing board extended the suspension.

Cornell denied any knowledge of the doping.

Two Teachers Are Reinstated

Carver School Officials Worried Over Funds for Back Pay

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Assistant principal James Satterwhite and teacher Dorothy Posey have been reinstated to their jobs at the Groege Washington Carver school on recommendation of the state Tenure commission, with retroactive pay.

They were suspended by the school board in April 1956, on charges they were unfit to be on the faculty of the Carver School. They were reinstated May 6.

In the meantime, Ruth Green has been appointed as assistant principal.

School Supt. Oliver O. Johnson, said this morning he does not know where the money is coming from to pay Satterwhite $6,200 in back pay.

★ ★ ★

The amount due Miss Posey is not yet known because she has been working and her earnings will be deducted from the retroactive pay.

Johnson said he was unable to pay any salaries due last Friday to teachers and school personnel owing to lack of funds.

He expects to pay some within 10 days when he receives a state aid allotment, which will be several thousand dollars short because of the state's present lack of funds he said.

The reinstatement of Satterwhite and Miss Posey is another development in the stormy history of the school district which has seen fist fights at board meetings, disputed elections and picketing of the school.

Walled Lake Seeks Loan to Complete School Year

WALLED LAKE — The Board of Education for the Walled Lake Consolidated School District last night considered ways to "pull through" what may be a financial crisis.

The board met at a regular session in the Walled Lake Junior High School.

Faced with the prospect of an unexpected loss of $101,680 in state aid, the board approved a resolution to make application to the Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $200,000 in anticipation of the 1957 tax collection.

The application must be approved by the commission before school board authorities may borrow money from a banking institution.

Board members expressed a desire to file an application with the commission now in order to be in a position to borrow money, if necessary.

In explaining the current financial situation to the board, Clifford Smart, superintendent of Walled Lake district, pointed out that, as of this date, no provisions have been made by the state legislature to pay out this year's state aid appropriation in full. Funds available will provide a $170 per child payment instead of $190 per child.

Even though Walled Lake school authorities allowed for a loss of $7.50 per child in state aid for the school year, the current school budget will wind up about $125,000 in the red, Supt. Smart said.

He also brought attention to the fact that the money allocated for school operating expenses will be "gone" by May 31.

Unless the state legislature finds a way to pay out all or most of its appropriation, Walled Lake will face its biggest financial problem since the early 1930s.

Oakland County's Only Lady Barber

Petite Woman 'One' Among 400 Men

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Tiny Eunice Graham has the distinction of being the only woman barber in Oakland County, and she wields a straight-edged razor with finesse that is the envy of many male competitors.

Her deluxe shop on Highland road near Milford, is strictly for hair cutting—not a beauty shop. "I don't even know how to make a pin curl," she said.

Specializing in custom haircutting, 29-year old Eunice is a favorite with the "hep-cat" teenagers.

Besides the standard brush cuts, she knows how to make Angel Wings, DA's, Elvis Presley's, and the new Aircraft, (flat—flat top). Anything the kids dream up, Eunice can cut—and satisfaction guaranteed. Ninety-seven per cent of her cutting is with the male population.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Graham's youngest customer was only eight weeks old, "and his hair was hanging down over his ears," she recalls. Her oldest job was on a 105-year-old gentleman at Pontiac State Hospital.

Eunice started her career as a lady barber nine years ago when "somebody said it couldn't be done." She drove a taxi at night, and attended the Highland Park Barber College in the daytime, until she had her degree.

After working for various barbers in the Detroit area, she opened her shop on Highland road last November. People were skeptical at first, but soon began to come in, more for curiosity than anything else, she says.

Now she has a thriving business, just three minutes from her home on White Lake, where she swims and water skis with her eight-year old son, Cris.

The Graham shop is filled with stuffed animals for the kiddies that scream during their first hair cut. Eunice clips the fuzz from the heads of the animals to show the tiny boys that "it doesn't hurt," and says that it takes time, but it's worth it.

This five-foot, 110-pound lady lady barber has learned to discuss family problems, construction work, sports, religious subjects, and hot-rod terms with her customer-friends.

She attends all the county and state conventions and although she is the only woman among some 400 members of the Oakland County Barbers Assn., she is treated with the greatest respect.

Only once has Eunice run into difficulty, being a woman barber. When she first opened her office, groups of men would come in and, without thinking, sometimes use questionable language.

Eunice promptly brought her mother's big Bible down to the shop and laid it out in plain sight.

"It was like a silent guardian standing by," she said. "All of a sudden—the foul talk just wasn't there any more"—and that Bible is still in plain sight.

Heavy Trading Raises Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rose in heavy early trading today.

★ ★ ★

The high-speed ticker tape lagged behind for five minutes in reporting transactions.

Key stocks moved ahead fractions to around a point in the initial buying wave but turnover quieted and prices held their ground.

The fact that the market had penetrated previous resistance points in the closing averages yesterday provided buying incentive, Wall Street sources said.

★ ★ ★

While the background of economic news was mixed, one sign of easier credit was seen in the decline of the U.S. Treasury's short-term borrowing costs for the fourth straight week.

★ ★ ★

Boeing was in active demand as it advanced more than a point following reports that the Air Force will place limited production orders for its "Bomarc" antiaircraft guided missiles.

Tranquilizers for Deer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is experimenting with drugged darts to calm down skittish deer before transferring them from one location to another. The darts are shot from a specially designed air rifle. They are tipped with a sedative which makes the deer easy to handle while being moved to sparsely populated game regions for restocking purposes.

Future Steady in Crop Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — New crop wheat futures held about steady in early board of trade transactions today but the May delivery dropped again.

Reports of fairly substantial government wheat sales for export prompted selling in May wheat. New crop months are aided by continued rainfall in Kansas, where crop damage is feared because of the excessive moisture.

May oats fell around a cent at times, and corn was off fractionally. Soybeans dropped more than a cent in some cases on selling influenced largely by a sharp sell-off in soybean oil and meal futures at the start.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ¾ lower to ⅛ higher, May $2.16¼, new style wheat was unchanged to ⅛ higher, July $2.09⅛, corn was ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.30¼, oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 70½, rye was ¼ to ½ higher, May $1.17 soybeans were ¾ to 1 cent lower, May $2.40¼, and lard was unchanged to 17 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $12.60.

Foresees Ages Up to 150 Years for Future Man

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Edward L. Bortz, former president of the American Medical Assn., believes man in the future may attain a life span of 125 to 150 years.

Saying that many doctors "shun the aged," he called on medical science to "energetically promote the health potentials" of such persons.

★ ★ ★

Bortz, chief of the medical services of the Lankenau Hospital, Philadelphia, predicted a "fantastic future" in which medical science will discover the barriers to healthy aging and overcome many of the present problems of tissue death.

He spoke last night at a dinner given by the Devereau Foundation for invited guests of the American Psychiatric Assn.

Bortz said the life span of animals is roughly six times the length of time required for the completion of physical growth.

He said medical advances could give a similar life span to man, who reaches physical maturity at 25.

Bortz said there is a "desperate need for a complete and radical about-face in our national philosophy regarding our aging population."

Deprecating the old and forcing them to retire at a set age, he said, forces their withdrawal from society and leads to depression and decay.

Urge Exemption on Property Tax for Those Past 65

LANSING (AP) — A group of Republican senators called today for a $5,000 property tax exemption for homeowners over 65 years old.

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) said that a resolution proposing a vote on a constitutional amendment would be filed later in the day.

Nichols said the plight of many old folks, already in straitened financial circumstances and in some cases living off pensions or meager savings, promises to become more acute because of impending increases in state equalized property valuations.

"These people would have to sell their homes anyway; why not be human about it?" he said.

The State Tax Commission yesterday recommended a $2,500,000,000 increase in state equalized property assessments, subject to approval May 27 by the State Board of Equalization.

Will Dedicate Ford Test Area

Open Proving Grounds Northeast of Pontiac May 23 to 25

Ford Motor Co. will dedicate its newest and largest proving ground facility next week with a program that includes a stockholders meeting, inspection tours by automotive engineers, Ford employes and the public.

The new facility, located about 15 miles northeast of Pontiac is a 3,880-acre installation. It gives Ford some 8,080 acres of test space in Michigan, Arizona, Colorado and Pennsylvania.

The newest proving ground has track with five lanes; a 2½ mile straightaway adjacent to the ovaltrack and three durability roads proving various types of dips, curves and surfaces.

The dedication program will open with the annual stockholders meeting May 23. Shareholders are to elect 14 directors and transact other business in what is expected to be a 1½ hour session. They will be shown some of Ford's newest engineering developments, including fuel injection systems, gas turbine and free-piston engines and numerous stationary test operations.

A box lunch will be served following the meeting.

Automotive engineers will visit the proving grounds on May 24 and Ford workers and the public will see it on May 25.

New Car Sales Up Over 1956

Auto Retailers Report First Quarter Figures Pass Like Period

DETROIT (AP) — The automobile industry's new car retailers delivered more cars in this year's first quarter than they did in the like 1956 period — without pressure resulting from a high inventory.

Automotive News reported today registrations in this year's January-March period numbered 1,448,962 compared with 1,424,442 in the same quarter last year.

The tabulation of new car registrations showed General Motors declined to 45.95 per cent of the total from last year's 52.48 per cent; Ford moving up to 30.11 per cent from 26.23 and Chrysler up to 18.80 per cent from last year's 15.93 per cent.

Ford division continued to hold a substantial lead over Chevrolet in the new car registrations. Reported for Ford division were 358,196 registrations to Chevrolet's 333,940. At the end of February the count for two months was Ford division 219,126; Chevrolet 205,344.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the first quarter of 1956 Chevrolet led Ford division 362,103 to 297,983.

Automotive News reported new car stocks in dealers' hands currently stand at approximately 735,000 units. This is a drop of nearly 11,000 from the April 1 count and compares with a total of 902,585 on May 1, 1956.

Romeo Receives Deed to Civic Center Site

ROMEO — Local Philanthropist Walter F. Sheetz Saturday presented the deed to the Civic Center site to Romeo Community Authority chairman H. O. Evans Jr.

Unfavorable weather forestalled laying of footings last weekend but the site has been cleared and staked out and the footings are dug, Evans said.

A great deal of the material for the building is already in Romeo and the prefabricated portions are due for delivery around June 1.

Police Stressing Bicycle Safety

Bicycle owners who attend any of Pontiac's four junior high schools will be the target of Pontiac police this week when officers will attend these schools to instruct students on bicycle safety.

Last week officers visited 23 Pontiac elementary schools. A total of 2,345 bicycle licenses were issued to the young children.

★ ★ ★

The junior high school bike check was postponed until this week because many of the students were out of town for their yearly trip to Washington.

The yearly bicycle inspection program is sponsored by the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce with the cooperation of the Pontiac Police Department and school officials.

Chairman of the 1957 drive to promote bicycle safety and issue bicycle licenses is Harold E. Brady.

★ ★ ★

Check sheets will be distributed to students to take home and use with their parents in checking the parts of the bicycles.

SIGNED BY PARENTS

After a two-day period, the sheets are to be signed by the parents and returned to the school where officers will then issue a license.

A license costs 25 cents and is valid until Dec. 31.

Parts of the bike which must operate correctly before the license is issued are: Brakes, spokes, pedals, chains, handlebars and grips, seat, front and rear axle, bolts, lights and horn or bell and tires.

★ ★ ★

Those schools which will be checked this week include Eastern, Lincoln, Washington and Madison junior high schools.

Officers will be checking bikes throughout the year for defective equipment or the absence of a bicycle license.

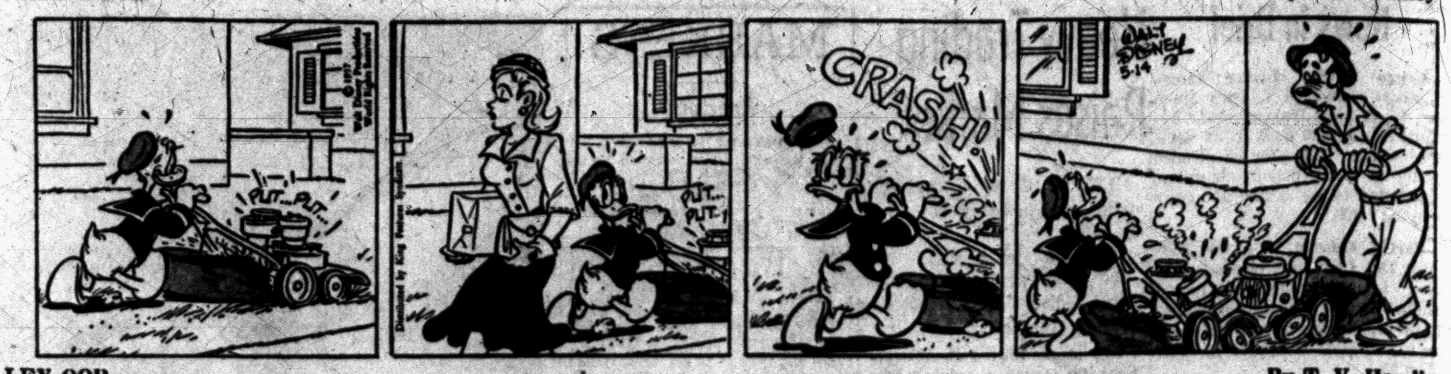

The bicycle could be impounded and the parents of the child owning the defective bike could be fined, according to Lt. Clayton Randolph, traffic and safety bureau of the Pontiac Police.

Licenses can be purchased at the traffic and violations bureau of the Pontiac police, 40 E. Pike St., if students do not buy them during the regular bicycle check program.

If the bicycle does not have a serial number, the child can bring the bike to the police station and receive a number, he said.

A license on a bicycle is helpful in identifying injured children or locating a stolen bicycle.

Water to Serve 4 Subdivisions

Waterford Board Votes to Build Supply Tank for New Developments

Members of the Waterford Township Board voted to construct and maintain a water supply tank for four adjoining subdivisions within five years after their completion, at last night's regular board meeting.

Involved in the water-supply hookups are the Lake Oakland Heights, Jayno Adams Heights (now in operation) the Lake Angelus Golf View and the new Indian Woods Manor subdivisions.

An extensive report from Johnson & Anderson, engineers, showed the possibility of connecting the water systems of the four subdivisions, with a privilege fee of $250 charged to each lot owner in the Indian Woods subdivision.

Property owners in the other subdivisions have been charged the hookup fee, which is a policy of the township. The township then assumes the responsibility of operation and maintainence after the system is firmly established.

★ ★ ★

Other business of the board included the approval of the financial report submitted by James Seeterlin, clerk.

The report showed $76,506.62 in the treasury at the beginning of April, and, after total receipts of $24,412.19 were in, $36,931.09 was paid out in disbursements, leaving a balance of $63,987.72 in the treasury at the present time.

Dutch Town Offers Windmills, Tulips

VOLENDAM, Holland — This town is a picture postcard town of windmills, wooden shoes and tulips. The women wear lace caps and billowing skirts, and it's baggy pantaloons for the men. Two miles across the old Zuider Zee is the Island of Marken, a jolly community where the people also wear gaudy costumes.

Houses along its medieval lanes are crammed with old porcelain, glass and clocks, and inside the local church a herring boat hangs from the ceiling. Marken, incidentally, will no longer be an island, but a part of the mainland in a few years when the Zee is drained.

Feel Like Street Cleaners on New Year's Eve

Rangers Fear Tourist Rush

WASHINGTON (NEA) — About this time of year a U. S. Forest Service ranger begins to get slightly shaky. You can't blame him.

He gets to thinking about the throng of trampling travelers and tourists who will be visiting him before long. And it makes him feel something like the street cleaner on New Year's eve.

"What we hate more than anything else is watermelon and corncob time," says a ranger here for a briefing before the spring and summer rush.

"There's no sloppier garbage in all the world. People leave rinds and cobs from one end of the camp grounds to the other. And we don't have the staff to keep the place cleaned up.

"It used to be worse before we learned to chain garbage cans to trees to keep them from being stolen."

★ ★ ★

Ranger Jack Heintzelman of the Olympic National Forest in Washington is haunted at night by thoughts of over-crowded camp grounds and no space for pleading tourists. What he's faced with is typical.

During the summer it's daily routine for tourists to pull up at his ranger station around six in the evening. Papa is blurry-eyed from driving, mama is harassed with a crying infant, and the back seat of the car is filled with hungry or sleeping kids squeezed among cameras and souvenirs.

"Where can we sleep for the night?" is the first question.

★ ★ ★

"Sorry, we're filled up and we have no more room," is the answer.

The best Jack can do is advise tourists to try another camp ground 18 miles up the road. But chances are it will be filled too.

It's situations like these that have inspired the Forest Service to launch Operation Outdoors.

★ ★ ★

This is a five-year recreation plan which will give the Forest Service funds to double camping and picnicking fecilities in national forests and improve wildlife habitats.

Congress is being asked to appropriate 11½ million dollars this year to get the project going. The entire program will cost 85 million dollars.

"The American people are seeking outdoor entertainment more than ever," says Richard E. McArdle, chief of the Forest Service. "The national forests are feeling this boom with tremendous increase in visits. Our existing facilities simply can't handle the load."

Flying a Plane Safer Than Car

License Easy to Obtain; Cost Varies, Includes Good Training

NEW YORK — You no longer have to be a cross between a millionaire and a genius to fly your own plane, reports an article in a national magazine.

Generally speaking, says the article, "Who, Me, Fly My Own ordination enough to drive a car Plane?" Anyone over 16 with coand healthy enough to pass a physical examination for life insurance can get a private license.

Age doesn't matter. Many private fliers did not start taking instruction until they were in their fifties or sixties. As for safety, flying is considered less dangerous than driving.

The cost of getting a private license varies, but around $400 is a good estimate, with flying lessons included.

Planes can be rented for as little as eight dollars an hour.

★ ★ ★

Relatively few craft are used exclusively for pleasure. The major advantage of the private plane is the manner in which it cuts unprofitable travel time besides saving wear and tear on the user.

The tendency on the part of the average citizen to feel that somehow he "just isn't the type to fly" is completely invalid.

No psychological or personality tests are given any more than are given to obtain a driver's license, but the manner of teaching and testing is entirely different — and better.

Patti Page's 'Big Record' May Replace Godfrey Show

Bob Q. Makes His Film Debut

Fred Astaire Rejects Dozen Offers to Star on Television

By ATRA BAER

NEW YORK (INS)—Patti Page has signed a contract with CBS to star on the "Big Record" which bows on the network in September—reportedly replacing Godfrey's hour time-slot.

Robert Q. Lewis, who has long hankered to be an actor, makes his movie debut in the forthcoming "Affair to Remember," starring Cary Grant. Robert Q. plays himself. Surprisingly, casting directors thought he was the right type.

Fred Astaire has nixed a dozen TV offers in the last few months, says he'll do only "occasional guest shots" and is simply "too busy."

Comedian Jan Murray—now emceeing ABC-TV's "Treasure Hunt"—has wangled a screen test as a "heavy." Jan is convinced he is the Jack Palance type.

Margaret O'Brien's deserting TV temporarily to play "Juliet" at California's Pasadena Playhouse.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Walter Slezak and his 8-year-old son Leo will appear together in a series next season; ditto Herbert Marshall and his daughter, Sarah.

Veteran Hollywood director Raoul Walsh ("All Quiet on the Western Front" and "What Price Glory") will tackle TV for the first time when a new series, "The Flying Tigers," goes before the cameras in July. Series will be semi-documentary based on the exploits of the famed airmen.

Joel McCrea's son Jody will bow out of the "Sgt. Preston" series to become an Army private.

John Payne, who'll debut this September in an ABC series "The Westerner," turning down all movie offers. He says TV pays better.

Jayne Meadows will do a comedy series for Desilu.

Eddie Bracken says: "I don't want to be pointed out as the fellow who made Arthur Godfrey give up his Wednesday night show, but our new "Masquerade Party" has come within one point of Arthur's ratings."

VEGAS TO VIDEO

There's talk of putting Milton Berle's Las Vegas show on TV as it is. It's the same act he used a dozen years ago in nightclubs, if that's progress.

Helen O'Connell is coaching her pal Joanne Dru for the latter's debut on records.

The top 10 is what interests advertisers, but 91 TV shows have audiences of 6,000,000 or more.

Jail 12 Hungarians for Parts in Uprising

BERLIN (AP) —The official East German news agency ADN said today a Budapest court has sentenced 12 more Hungarians to prison for their part in last fall's anti-Communist uprising.

The defendants were accused of having contacted "foreign organizations" — including Radio Free Europe — and of illegally possessing firearms.

ADN said the leader of the group, identified as Gyula Sinkovits, was sentenced to life imprisonment and the others were given terms of up to 15 years. It did not say when the sentences were passed.

Three Utica Youths Captured in Iowa

OTTUMWA, Iowa (AP) — Three Utica, Mich., boys awaited return to Michigan today following their capture after a high speed chase and manhunt.

Detectives Curtis Henderson said the three identified themselves as John Patrick Little Jr., 15; James Edward Lees, 16, and Dennis Schemansky, 15.

At one point during the chase Sunday, Henderson said, the boys drove 75 miles an hour on Main St. in Ottumwa, traveling against traffic on the one-way thoroughfare. They ran the car into a ditch southwest of Ottumwa, fled on foot and were caught several hours later.

Detective Henderson said John Little had signed a statement saying they took the car from a Utica street Saturday and started for California with $5 cash and some canned goods. They stole gasoline along the way, according to the statement.

He's Trying to Revive Cane-Carrying Rage

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I always hankered to wear a cane and may risk it now that Fernando Lamas is trying to bring canes back from wherever they've been.

Tottering creakily into Uncle Sam's Bumbershoot Shop, I wrung the secret of Lamas' new stick right out of Norman Simon. His grampaw was the original Uncle Sam.

"Lamas just got his stick Monday," confided Uncle Norm secretively.

"It's a dress cane—18-k. gold inlay on black ebony. He's going to wear it not only on the street but in his show."

★ ★ ★

Pink with jealousy, I heard how John Steinbeck likes canes of rhinoceros hide. Gen Walter Bedell Smith has some 25 canes, some given him by Presidents and Kings. (Like for example, Joe King, he runs a rathskeller.)

FERNANDO LAMAS

A nice little cane like Bedell Smith wears to dinner costs you only $100 to $200.

Personally, I wanted a flask cane—with a long skinny bottle inside. They're $18. You get thirsty strolling 5th Avenue so you raise your cane and take a snort. (This is where they originated the expression, "raising cane.")

"Hundreds of cane-lovers are afraid their neighbors'll snicker," Uncle Norman said. "One customer said when he carries his cane, the headwaiter's make such a fuss over him, he recommends it to all people."

★ ★ ★

They also have dandy horse-measuring canes. In case you meet a horse you want to measure, this can't be beat.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Mrs. Horace Dodge 2d (ex-showgal Gregg Sherwood) reneged on plane fares for Anita Ekberg, Tony Steel and Ann Miller to Palm Beach for that famous Heart Fund Ball—so now they're getting lawyer's letters from the travel agency demanding they pay to help sweet charity . . . Jimmy Dorsey's very, very sick. Jayne Mansfield's movie that she made just before she got famous, "The Burglar," will be released everywhere May 15. 'Twas made in Philly and Atlantic City in 1955 by Louis W. Kellem of Philly who hoarded its to cash in on her rep. In it she wears a slip that slips . . . Rex Harrison told me that his marriage to Kay Kendall will be in Long Island late July or August . . . Overheard in a Turkish bath, a famous man saying: "I thought Costello was smart. How could be have left that slip in his pocket?" Reply: "Maybe he was thinking about something else with his head practically shot off!" Margie Nelson is one of the beauties in Las Vegas.

MARGIE

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Many a man in love with a bust size makes the mistake of marrying the whole girl."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Everything went up this year except the critics' opinions of TV stars, the TV stars' opinions of critics, and the sponsors' opinions of both." That's earl, brother.

Retired Officer Kills Physician

Claims Medic Caused Wife to Shoot Self by Attacking Her

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A retired Navy officer told police yesterday he shot and killed a past president of the California Tuberculosis and Health Assn. because his wife committed suicide after the physician had raped her.

A cab driver trailed Saul Sidney Klass after the shooting, using radio to direct police, who quickly closed in and made the arrest.

Shot down and killed by six bullets was Dr. Harold G. Trimble, 61, an internationally known chest specialist.

An attorney for Dr. Trimble said the physician paid Klass $30,000 in 1955 after Klass had prepared a civil suit charging criminal assault. The suit never was filed and Atty. Herman Cook said the money was paid "against our advice." Cook said he felt the charge was "too rediculous to jeopardize" the "integrity" of the doctor.

Authorities said they had not prosecuted Klass' charge because of lack of evidence. A coroner's jury had ruled Mrs. Ella Klass, 45, had killed herself with a .22 rifle in 1954 because she was despondent over ill health. She had been Dr. Trimble's patient for eight years.

Dr. Trimble represented the United States in February at an international tuberculosis conference at New Delhi, India.

Klass, 53, became a jeweler after leaving the Navy.

Over 200 Girl Scouts Celebrate 6th Birthday

More than 200 Jayno Adams area Girl Scouts, their mothers, committee members and leaders celebrated their sixth annual birthday party at the C.A.I. building in Waterford Township last night.

Merit awards were given to 85 girls from the six Jayno Adams school district, with six adults and seven Girl Scouts receiving 5-year award pins.

The affair honored Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Girl Scouts, and Mrs. John Cudnohfsky was chairman of the party.

Pianist Says He'll Sue for $25 Million

Liberace, Maureen O'Hara to Appear in Probe of Confidential Magazine

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two show business personalities, pianist Liberace and actress Maureen O'Hara, reportedly will be the first witnesses today when the Los Angeles County grand jury begins a criminal libel investigation of Confidential Magazine.

Neither was on the subpoena list but newspaper stories said they would appear voluntarily.

Liberace was the subject of a lurid article featured in canary yellow pages in the July issue of Confidential circulated here. His attorney John R. Jacobs Jr. told a reporter that after the pianist's voluntary grand jury appearance he will file a 25-million-dollar damage suit against the magazine, asking 20 millions general and personal and five millions punitive damages.

Miss O'Hara was the subject of an article in the magazine some time ago.

Approximately 20 witnesses have been subpoenaed but prosecutors indicated none are Hollywood stars.

Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown disclosed that he had received — and turned down — a proposal under which Confidential would clean up its California edition on condition that the libel case be dropped.

Placed on Probation in Hit-Run Accident

Eugene C. Barker, 64, of 51 Cottage St., who pleaded guilty Tuesday when accused of striking down a 6-year-old girl with his auto and then driving off without stopping to help her, has been sentenced.

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum assessed Barker a $35 probation fee, placed him on six months probation and revoked his driving license indefinitely.

281 From Peron Era Still in Argentina Jails

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Pedro Aramburu's provisional government says 281 persons still are under arrest at the "disposition of the executive power" as an aftermath of the overthrow of Juan Peron.

The government last night announced the names of the prisoners and their prisons, fulfilling a pledge several weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

The announcement said 167 are under "judicial process," while the remaining 114 are not. It did not specify what judicial process was being pressed.

Peron now is living in exile in Caracas.

May 29 Hearing Set in Bogus Check Case

Willie Reed, 34, of 281 Rockwell St., is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court May 29 on a charge of passing a $106 bogus check in a local drug store.

Seek Cash for Statue

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — A nationwide committee hopes to collect 43 million hwan — $86,000 for the statue of Gen. MacArthur will be invited to attend the unveiling ceremony on that date — the seventh anniversary of his landing there at the head of U. N. forces.

Sees More Business as Result of Seaway

Southeastern Michigan will be the pivotal point of the St. Lawrence Seaway, said Scott E. Lamb, president of the Michigan Life Insurance Co., in a talk Monday night before the Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce at Drayton Plains.

★ ★ ★

"This means more business for the area because economic essentials such as bulk materials will be cheaply shipped in greater quantities," he predicted.

★ ★ ★

Lamb, who lives in Birmingham, expects the Seaway to raise standards of living here due to the creation of new jobs and new and expanding markets. He said that "ports along the waterway will benefit importantly by this expected commerce, the servicing of ships and stopovers by ships' crews. And, these effects will be widespread."

Seek Negro's Return to Role at Texas School

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Petitions protesting the removal of a Negro coed from the lead role in an undergraduate opera were being circulated today by students at the University of Texas.

★ ★ ★

Barbara Louise Smith, 19, Pittsburgh, Tex., had been awarded the lead role in the opera last fall. She was removed from the cast about two weeks before it was publicly disclosed that the university had taken the action.

★ ★ ★

Student leaders estimated that more than 1,000 of the approximately 17,000 students at the university had signed the petitions, which will be presented to University President Logan Wilson.

Urges Cancer 'Crash Program'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) has proposed that the federal government underwrite a half billion dollar "crash program" of medical research against cancer.

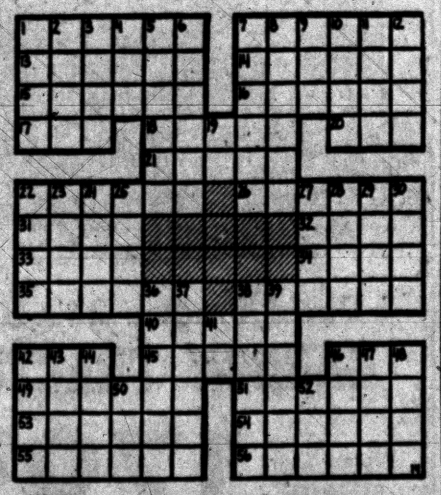

Neuberger said a specific sum must be earmarked for long-range cancer research to enable investigators to obtain the scientists needed for the task.

The senator made his appeal before a Senate appropriations subcommittee considering the health, education and labor appropriation bill.

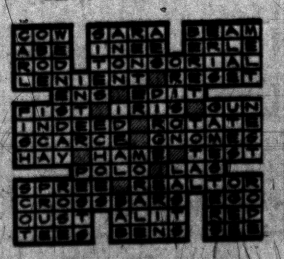

"Cancer threatens to strike two out of every three American families," he said. "Yet our entire research expenditure against cancer, including all federal, state and voluntary contributions, was only 45 million dollars last year — the approximate cost of one atomic submarine."

Climbers Find Parts of Plane in Which 62 Died Last Year in Canada

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Ground parties today will attempt to reach the area near the summit of 7,970-foot Mt. Slesse, 70 miles east of here where part of the wreckage of a Trans-Canada Air Line North Star was found yesterday.

The plane is the one which carried 62 persons to their deaths in a raging snow storm last Dec. 9. The disaster was the worst commercial air accident in Canadian history.

A portion of the wreckage of the big plane was found by two Vancouver mountain climbers who took a wrong turn in heavy clouds as they were scaling Mt. Slesse. Later yesterday air searchers sighted the wreckage.

Robby Wells, a veteran pilot of Cascade Aircraft Co., Chilliwack, B. C., reported flying within 50 feet of the wreck. He said the big North Star plane which carried its 59 passengers and 3 crew members to their deaths struck 50 feet from the summit of the mountain.

The North Star had taken off from Vancouver on its eastbound flight but the pilot radioed he was turning back 100 miles east of Vancouver because of engine trouble. Nothing was heard from the plane after that message.

Wells said the plane probably had been forced lower than the pilot realized by the storm.
