New Threats by Reds Put West Into Huddle

GENEVA (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter today scheduled talks with other Western leaders, apparently as a result of new Communist threats to the foreign ministers' conference.

At the same time, the West German delegation announced that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will visit West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano at the latter's villa here this afternoon.

Michigander, Michiganite? Both Wrong!

LANSING—The dictionary defines a resident of Michigan as a "Michigander."

The U. S. Government Printing Office style manual lists "Michiganite" as the proper term.

Neither one is right, according to Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council.

"Michiganian" is the proper term.

"Residents of Michigan properly are referred to as Michiganians, a word derived from Michigania, one of the 10 states originally designated to the Northwest Territory by the Jefferson Plan of 1794," Furlong said.

"My own preference, however, is based on less contentious reasons. I think the word simply sounds better. It has a role and savor to it, while 'Michigander' sounds harsh and ugly."

"And 'Michiganite' sounds like something you dig from the ground," he added.

The sixth annual Michigan Week comes to a successful close today—for just about everybody but Miss Michigan.

The Michigan beauty, Patience Pierce of Detroit, will be in New York tomorrow to wring the last bit of publicity and good will out of Michigan Week.

The closing day of the annual Michigan Week celebration will be observed today as Next Frontiers Day.

U. S. Spacemen See AF Thor Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (P)—The Air Force shot its 44th Thor intermediate range ballistic missile over the Atlantic Friday night.

The launching was the first ever seen by six of the nations seven space flyers, one of whom will be the first American to be sent into space two years from now.

The 65-foot Thor "roared off to a fine start of a 1,500 mile reliability test."

The astronauts are here for a three-day familiarization visit as part of their rigorous training program.

It was the second Thor launching in two days at the missile center. On Thursday, a nose cone was recovered after a 6,000-mile flight.

A Discoverer satellite vehicle, using a Thor first stage, is expected to be fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., within the next few days. Three mice will be aboard.

13 Are Seized for Smuggling to Aid Batista

U. S. Agents Stop Plane at Miami Loaded With Arms for Castro Foes

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—A pretty woman flier and 11 men were accused by the government today of plotting to export war materials illegally after agents pounced on an arms-laden plane.

The four-engine C74 was reported bound for the Dominican Republic to arm foes of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Fulgencio Batista, ousted by Castro last New Year's eve, is in exile at the Dominican capital, Ciudad Trujillo.

Thirteen persons in all, including the Dominican Republic's consul at Miami, were arrested Friday and placed in bond.

Charged also with conspiring to bribe a federal officer were Consul Augusta Ferrando, Joseph Liqueri, 29-year-old Miami policeman, and Leonard Trenton, 35, a building materials dealer from Newark, N. J.

The plane, 200,000 cartridges, and a quantity of rifles and automatic weapons were seized by customs officers as the plane was warming up at Miami International Airport.

The officers arrested Virginia L. Bland, 36, and Samuel F. Poole, Jr., 34, the pilots, and 10 others at the scene. Ferrando was persuaded six hours later by telephone to quit his refuge in the consulate and surrender.

Jose Paulino, assistant consul, was hailed as a material witness. Red-haired Miss Bland, wearing torn pants, and Poole told newsmen they had been hired by Dominic Bartene, plane owner, to fly to Puerto Rico.

"If I had known there were arms and ammunition on the plane I never would have agreed to fly it," Poole said.

Trenton told newsmen with a grin that the guns and ammunition were going to Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist China chieftain.

John Embury of Tampa said he had no idea what the plane's cargo was when he was hired as flight engineer. William Brookley, 30, a University of Miami engineering student, said he was an innocent bystander. "I should have stayed at school today," he said.

Paulino said: "I know nothing about this case. It came as a big surprise."

James L. Guilmarin, U. S. District Attorney, said Ferrando gave $1,400 to customs officers William B. Lankford and Wallace D. Shanley not to molest the shipment. They turned the cash over to their superiors.

Later, the U. S. delegation announced that Herter will confer tomorrow with Couve de Murville, who has the reputation of being the West's toughest bargainer at the talks.

Despite the Red propaganda threats, American officials said Herter still believes Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will be ready to begin down-to-earth secret negotiations about the middle of next week.

It was believed, however, that the secret talks might be undertaken under the guise of "informal social contacts" to avoid open conflict with what appears to be the Kremlin line.

American sources pointed to Khrushchev's known anxiety for a summit conference as an indication that Gromyko eventually will abandon the unrelenting stand which has deadlocked the conference.

U. S. leaders have made it clear that they will agree to a summit conference only if the foreign ministers meeting produces some results.

Mighty Cool 46 to Settle Over Pontiac Tonight

Partly cloudy and continued cool with a low of 46 is forecast for the Pontiac area tonight.

Sunday will be partly cloudy and a little warmer, the high near 64, the weatherman said. Today's winds easterly at 5-10 miles an hour will become northerly tonight.

Cloudy and warmer with temperatures in the high 50s is the outlook for Sunday in upper Lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

The thermometer stayed at a steady 50 degrees from 11 p.m. yesterday through 10 this morning in downtown Pontiac. At 1 p.m. the reading was 53.

Wheat Bill Fate in House Unsure

Senate OKs Measure With Surprise $35,000 Price Support Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate wheat bill, capped by a surprise $35,000 ceiling on government price supports to any one farm or farmer, goes to the House Monday. Its fate there is uncertain.

The stopgap legislation dealing with the nation's big wheat surplus was hammered out Friday in more than eight hours of Senate floor debate and voting.

Unless the Senate and House agree on a bill and President Eisenhower signs it before June 1, the present law probably must continue. The House has been working on its own wheat bill.

Even before the Senate approved its wheat program for the next two years, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson formally announced he "recommends against enactment."

Benson contended that it would not reduce production and probably would add to the costs of a program that has taken several billion dollars in recent years.

Most senators agreed that something must be done about billions of bushels of surplus wheat piled up largely in government hands. But agreeing on a solution was a different matter.

The first Senate decision was approval of the $35,000 ceiling on crop supports for any farmer.

It was a big victory for Sen. John J. Williams (R-Ind.) who has been protesting for years that crop loans up to more than a million dollars have gone to large "corporate farm interests."

Under the farm support loans, the producer turns the crop over to the government unless he can make a profit by paying back the loans and selling on the market.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) was snarled under a move to wipe out all farm supports and controls after this year.

He wanted to freeze the 9 or 10 billion dollars worth of surpluses now in government hands and let the President get rid of them by gifts, overseas sales or other outlets that would not upset future market prices.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) unable to find anyone else willing to offer the administration's wheat proposals, did so himself and was beaten by standing vote.

Will Build New Lighter Model This Fall

GM Enters Corvair in Small Car Race

WILMINGTON, Del. (P)—General Motors Corp. has joined the other two members of the auto industry's big three in an invasion of the growing small car market.

GM announced yesterday it plans to build a new, lighter Chevrolet this fall. Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler announced plans Thursday for smaller cars.

Disclosure of plans for the compact GM auto, to be called the Corvair, was made at the 51st annual stockholders' meeting yesterday by Frederic G. Donner, board chairman of the world's biggest private manufacturing firm. A similar car will be made by GM's Canadian affiliate.

Corvair details were kept secret—a competitive advantage all auto companies seek to retain—but Donner hinted the new car would have "certain features which are new to the American automotive industry."

Rumors, which officials here refused to confirm, say the Corvair will have a rear air-cooled aluminum engine.

Pricewise, it will be the cheapest Chevrolet on the road—but how much cheaper was not disclosed. A GM spokesman said none of the 1960 models have been priced for the coming year.

The GM announcement about the Corvair only made official what had been reported reliably in the industry for many months. Even the name came as no surprise.

Both Ford and Chrysler announced plans Thursday for smaller cars. Ford said it would bring out a Falcon having "changes in the market or other circumstances."

Chrysler said it will call its new model the Valiant.

Undergoes Two Trials

LED FROM COURTROOM — Convicted yesterday of manslaughter in the slaying of a Southfield nursery caretaker last August, Raymond L. Alyea of Detroit is shown here being taken from Oakland County Circuit Court to the county jail to await sentencing. Charged with first degree murder, Alyea's first trial resulted in a hung jury.

Alyea Escapes Life Term, Guilty of Manslaughter

Ex-convict Raymond L. Alyea escaped a life sentence yesterday when a Circuit Court jury found him guilty of manslaughter.

Charged with first-degree murder during the two trials to determine his fate.

Alyea now faces only a possible 1 to 15 year term on the lesser charge.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer will sentence the bushy-haired Marine Corps veteran June 8.

Alyea, 36, of 12044 Lansdowne St., Detroit, had been accused of stabbing his friend, Anthony J. Jaskinski, to death with a pair of scissors and robbing him of about $100.

Jaskinski, a 51-year-old night watchman at the Southfield nursery where Alyea was a part time gardener, was slain at the nursery Aug. 1.

Tried once before, the case came to no conclusion because the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The four-man, eight-woman jury that sat through the second trial could have acquitted Alyea, or convicted him of first or second-degree murder. Instead, the jury chose to convict Alyea of the least serious charge—manslaughter.

Hearing the verdict, Alyea grimaced in disappointment, rapping his knuckles sharply on the prisoner's table.

Maintaining his innocence, the World War II combat veteran had told Judge Beer during the course of trial:

"I want the jury to decide whether I'm guilty of first-degree murder or not guilty at all. I don't want any half-way decisions."

WASHINGTON (P)—The Army said yesterday a Michigan firm would be one of many affected by a proposed cutback in its Nike-Hercules antiaircraft missile program.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has proposed a slash of about three quarters in the planned number of launching sites for the nuclear-tipped Hercules.

The Army said the Ingersoll Kalamazoo Division of Borg-Warner Corp. at Kalamazoo is one of the firms which holds Nike-Hercules contracts and which would be affected by curtailment of the program. (See Story on Page 2.)

The Chevrolet and Fisher Body divisions will employ approximately 3,500 at Willow Run and hire an additional 1,000 at Kansas City. The Willow Run plant, formerly a truck center, has been closed almost a year. It will get into two-shift production after June 15.

The Corvair was the big news at the largest gathering of stockholders in GM's history. More than 2,700 jammed the meeting room in

Shuns Past, Emphasizes Russian, Other Cultures

By MAX E. SIMON

Academic history was made at Michigan State University Oakland yesterday as the new institution of higher learning discarded tradition and adopted a curriculum geared to the needs of students who will live in the Space Age.

Durward B. Varner, chancellor of the new university, told the MSU Board of Trustees—governing body of MSU and MSUO:

"We have no traditions and no alumni. We have the freedom for a fresh start. We are recruiting a young and creative faculty and will give them a great deal of freedom."

"Our long range destiny ties in closely with what happens in the Far East," Varner said.

In another radical departure from ivory-tower traditions of established universities, MSUO will sweep away the divisions of the engineering school, such as mechanical, engineering and civil.

Only one degree will be offered to engineering students—a bachelor of science in engineering. There will be three years of general study in engineering with heaviest emphasis on mathematics and physics.

One year of specialization in only two broad fields will be permitted. One field will deal with electronics, circuits, electromagnetics and system studies, the other to include work in properties of materials, heat transfer and mechanics.

Further specialization in engineering branches will be held to post-graduate work, laboratories or corporations where the students embark on careers after leaving college.

Varner said physical education courses will not be required or offered, although students will be encouraged to participate in intramural athletics and informal physical education programs.

TO EMPHASIZE INTELLECT
"Our responsibility is to develop the intellect, not the body," Varner said.

The university will not offer ROTC. "If students want ROTC, there are many other universities which offer it," Varner commented.

In business administration, the major departure was elimination of specialized fields, such as accounting and sales management, replacing it with training (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Foundation Gets Progress Report

Building Progress at MSUO Revealed at 2nd Annual Meeting

Glowing reports on the progress of Michigan State University Oakland highlighted the annual meeting of the MSUO Foundation yesterday at Meadow Brook Hall on the campus of the new university.

The Foundation is made up of 50 community leaders from Oakland and Macomb counties. It will serve in a permanent advisory and supporting role to the university.

Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press and head of the Foundation, suggested naming the first academic structure Foundation Building.

He also suggested naming future buildings after Oakland and Macomb counties.

George Karras, director of physical plant at MSUO, told Foundation members the first academic building will be completed July 13 and that a student center will be ready by Sept. 15. Building schedules are being met, he said.

Alfred C. Girard, president of the Community National Bank and a member of the Foundation, said $31,785 has been pledged for MSUO scholarships, of which $10,000 will be available for the first year. He said Foundation members soon will increase their fields of solicitation.

A report on the community relations program was submitted to the Foundation by Paul Cousins, head of the Foundation's committee in that field.

University officials spoke briefly. Following the meeting, Foundation members were taken on guided tours of the first academic building.

Plastic Bags Could Kill 100 Children

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Harmless-looking transparent plastic bags have become death traps for a host of young children. The National Safety Council fears the death toll may rise to 100 before the year is out.

The bags are the type used largely by dry cleaning establishments for returning cleaned apparel. The material also is used for covering pillows and crib mattresses.

Legislation has been pressed to have the bags perforated or clearly marked "dangerous."

The Kordite Corp. of Macedon, N.Y., claiming to be the nation's leading manufacturer of plastic garment bags, announced Friday it is supplying labels to cleaning establishments to be slipped over the hangers of clothes being returned in the bags. The labels read:

"Caution. For safety reasons keep plastic bags away from children as you would matches or medicine."

But some officials hold that responsibility rests with the parents—to keep the bags out of children's reach. A number of the victims have been infants less than a year old.

Area Red Cross to Meet in City

Expect 100 to Attend Annual Conclave Here Wednesday

More than 100 members are expected to attend the 42nd annual meeting of the Oakland County Chapter American Red Cross scheduled for 6:45 p.m. Wednesday at the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

Adolph F. Klein, chapter chairman, will preside over the meeting.

Dinner will be followed by a report from the constitution and by-laws revision committee, headed by Circuit Judge Elbert Stanton Dondora, and then a report from the nominating committee by Richard C. Poole, chairman.

Elections for officers and seats to the board of directors will be held immediately following the reports.

Mrs. Mildred Bennett, executive director of the organization, announced there will be no principal speaker for the evening. There will be, instead, a session for each person to recite his contribution to the chapter during the past year.

Entertainment will be provided by the chorus of the Junior League of Birmingham, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Killen.

Rain Dominates Again Weather Sign Wears Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Weather Man hung out this familiar spring-worn sign today: more rain.

Widespread rain, sandwiched between warm and cold air masses, splashed vast areas.

The midcontinent caught the brunt of shower activity during the early hours with rain extending along the southern tier of states.

And, the U.S. Weather Bureau in Chicago forecast spreading rain and thundershowers for the humid Atlantic Coast during the day. More widely scattered showers are the light plastic into the mouth or nostrils causing suffocation. Such accidents already claimed over two dozen tots this year. The National Safety Council fears the toll may rise to 100 before 1959 ends.

Tried to Push 'M' at East Lansing

MSU Dope Pushers Held in Cooler

EAST LANSING (AP)—Two cool cats from Chicago were chilling off in the cooler today after trying to push the M at Michigan State. That's police jargon. It means that MSU students William V. Reich, 25, of Chicago and John H. Harper, 20, of McHenry, Ill., were cut off their kick.

The pair apparently was trying to work their way through college by selling marijuana in this campus town. A dozen officers from Lansing, East Lansing and State Police raided their pad (room) and picked up 10 pounds of rough marijuana with an estimated value of $30,000.

Ingham County Prosecutor Jack Warren issued warrants charging both with possession of narcotics.

Rally Nets $400,000 for North Central

AVON TOWNSHIP—Friends of North Central Christian College, located at 820 West Avon Rd., south of Rochester, have guaranteed the college will open Sept. 15 by contributing close to $400,000 in cash and pledges at last night's rally held at the State Fair Coliseum in Detroit.

College President Otis Gatewood said a crowd of 7,000 attended the rally which marked the wind-up of the college fund campaign.

The majority of the money was needed, he said, to cover completion costs of the new eight-building building on the school campus. The rest will be used to assure the opening in September.

Gatewood said that people who contributed to the support of the college live within a 200-mile radius of Detroit.

Guest artist at the rally was popular singing star Pat Boone. He appealed to teenagers to attend Christian colleges to develop the spiritual and moral side of their lives as well as the intellectual. Boone added that he owed

Alaya Found Guilty of Manslaughter

Alaya made that statement and at the end of the trial Wednesday, jurors were given the usual latitude in deciding the case.

The hung jury had been told at the conclusion of the first trial—27 days long—that if Alaya was not acquitted, he would have to be convicted of first-degree murder, but not of any lesser charge.

This was because the prosecution had allowed no exception to its claim that the killing took place during the course of a robbery, Judge Beer said.

Since the prosecution did not insist so strongly during the second trial that Alaya had robbed Janski, jurors were given a wider range of possible verdicts, the judge explained.

Judge Beer took under advisement a motion by William R. Beasley, Alaya's attorney, to set aside the manslaughter verdict for lack of evidence.

Testifying in his own behalf, Alaya claimed police were making him a scapegoat in the case since he was an ex-convict, having served time in Joliet State Prison in Illinois for armed robbery.

He admitted to discovering the body inadvertently at the Ilgenitz Nurseries Inc., 2291 Northwestern Hwy., the night of the killing. But he said that he fled the place without calling police, fearing he would be suspected because of his prison record.

Spanish-English Dictionary Has Printing Terms

Over five years dedication by William M. Pepper Jr. has resulted in a Spanish-English, English-Spanish dictionary of newspaper and printing terms more comprehensive than anything published to date.

"Dictionary of Newspaper and Printing Terms" is a single-handed effort. A third generation newspaperman and co-publisher and editor of the Gainesville (Fla.) Daily Sun, Pepper speaks three languages fluently and has for some time been aware of the need for this type of dictionary.

Its most outstanding quality is that it not only gives a Spanish-speaking newspaperman specific meanings of English terms and vice versa, but also offers explicit clarification of variations from dialect to dialect.

After exhaustive research in technical literature and all reference material available at that time, Pepper traveled throughout Latin America for on-the-job contacts. Additional conferences with colleagues at Inter American Press Association meetings helped to verify the accuracy of his findings.

Kalamazoo to Close Mall Area in Test

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—Automobile traffic was barred from a two-block area in the central business district today as a test of a proposed revolutionary shopping mall project. The closed area displayed 100 late model American and foreign cars. For today's experiment, only pedestrians were allowed in the two-block area, which later this year will be opened as a park-like shopping mall.

$6 Million Hike for Consumers

Electric Rate Increase Granted by State Will Affect 828,000

LANSING (AP)—A rate increase totaling $6,788,485 was granted to Consumers Power Co. yesterday. It will affect about 828,000 electric customers.

Consumers serves electric customers in 61 counties outside Detroit, none of them in the upper peninsula.

Among the larger communities in its area are Bay City, Mt. Pleasant, Flint, Grand Rapids, Cheboygan, Cadillac, Mackinaw City, Manistee and Saginaw.

Public service commission chairman Otis Smith said it was impossible to define exactly what effect the increase would have on the average monthly bill of a residential subscriber with the usual appliances.

The incidence of the order on residential, commercial and industrial customers will be refined when actual tariffs are drawn up next week.

In gross, the boost figures at between 4 and 5 per cent of the utility's present income from electric service.

SEE NO REASON

Commissioner James H. Lee took the position that no increase at all was warranted. So did the Michigan Utilities Ratepayers Assn. of Kalamazoo, an intervenor in the case.

The Commission staff had recommended an increase of four million dollars a year.

Company President Dan K. Karn said, "We are very much disappointed at the amount of the increase."

Karn added, "This is the first electric rate increase we have been allowed in more than nine years and only the second general increase in electric rates in 37 years."

"Wages, taxes and the cost of everything we buy has gone up and up. The rate increase authorized by the Commission falls far short of meeting these increased costs."

Romeo Mom Denies Embezzling in Court

ROMEO—Mrs. Edward D. Harms, 47, of 226 Crosswell St. pleaded innocent yesterday in U.S. District Court at Detroit to charges of embezzling $2,300 from Romeo Savings Bank.

The mother of two was placed on $1,000 bond.

The FBI said Mrs. Harms, employed as a bookkeeper, took the money in safety deposit receipts over a three-year period. Authorities say she has made complete restitution to the bank.

Lansing Police Detective Earl Eddie said the pair admitted they made trips between Lansing and Chicago to pick up their supply.

"But they won't give us a list of customers or a supplier," Eddie said.

Eddie quoted Reich as saying he would sell marijuana to anyone who would buy it. Eddie added that he was convinced there were no big sales among college students.

The federal agent said the pair reported they would meet their supplier at various Chicago street corners, always at a different time.

"Those big men operate smart," he said. "I don't think these kids can finger them for us."

The arrest and seizure came as a result of long and patient cooperation between state, East Lansing and Lansing police.

Arthur F. (Frank) Brandstatter, head of the MSU police, said he was convinced there was little of the marijuana circulating among MSU students.

"We would have got the rumble," he said. "I'm sure they weren't pushing the stuff here on the campus."

The Day in Birmingham

Baldwin Library Display to Stress Memorial Gifts

BIRMINGHAM—A special display of used books will open at Baldwin Library Monday stressing the growing trend of memorial books donated by persons and organizations.

Jeanne Lloyd, librarian, said the John W. Watling and Charles J. Shain rooms and the $1,000 gift honoring the late Mrs. Hugh Wellman are among the outstanding contributions.

Books, mostly notification, cover religions, sports, career selection and several scientific subjects.

Contributions have been made by 33 area organizations, mostly women's clubs.

Others have come from the Elks, Ferndale Rotary Club, Boy Scouts, school children and several departments within the library itself.

The Eldridge M. Kruger home at 976 Bird St. will be the scene of an open house tomorrow when Mrs. Kruger and her sister, Mrs. Foster Toothacher, honor their mother on her 87th birthday.

Mrs. Kate Bates, 87, today lives at the Kruger home. A year ago, just after becoming an American citizen, she returned to her home in Kent, England, to help a sister celebrate her 60th wedding anniversary.

"Bishop's Day" for women of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan will be observed Monday at Christ Church Cranbrook beginning at 10 a.m. The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich will be guest speaker.

Following the noon luncheon, a woman's auxiliary of Christ Church will conduct a tour and explain the special points of interest.

MRS. ROY WHITE

Service for Mrs. Roy White, 41, of 2419 Hawkins St., Royal Oak will be held 11 a.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church. Burial will be in Acadia Park cemetery, Southfield Township.

Mrs. Hawkins died Friday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a brief illness.

Her body is at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. She was a graduate of Birmingham High School, a member of the First Methodist Church and Birmingham Chapter 220, OES.

She is survived by her husband; Ray, a daughter, Cora Lynn of Royal Oak; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Maxwell of Sanilac County, and two brothers, Earl A. Maxwell and Thomas A. Maxwell, Jr., of Birmingham.

MRS. MADORA BAAD

Service will be held for Mrs.

Madora Baad, 76, of 2804 W. 13-Mile Rd., Royal Oak, at 1 p.m. Monday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

A former Birmingham resident, Mrs. Baad died yesterday after a long illness.

A member of the First Church of Christ Scientist, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charles H. McIntyre of Lake Angelus and two grandchildren.

MSUO Courses Set for Space Age

In fiscal administration, product and materials logistics, and international business.

Varnar pointed out that the new courses were designed to prepare the students for something "beyond his first job."

EXPECTS CRITICISM

Expecting criticism of the business administration program, Varnar said:

"Opposition will develop from students. But our obligation at the university is to train business leaders. Our students will be prepared for such roles. We must develop their ability to think, to cope with ideas."

Talks with industrial executives showed, Varnar said, that they are seeking broadly trained business administration students.

"We have checked carefully to make sure that they are not just doing lip service to an ideal," Varnar said. "We have been told why such students have not been hired before—they simply weren't available."

The growing dominance of the corporation in the American economy will be paid special attention in the business courses.

"Like autos and the Russians, corporations are here to stay," Varnar said.

MSUO's teacher education courses will concentrate more on subject matter and less on pedagogy or how to teach.

A heavy dose of "internship" or on-the-job training will be substituted for the latter, with students receiving practical teacher training at schools in the university area.

On-the-job training will begin as early as the sophomore year, the chancellor said, so that students will have a deeper appreciation for the realism of the classroom situation.

The MSUO curriculum will require all students in their senior year to take a course called "Great Issues" dealing with such far-reaching and persistent ideas as religion and man, peace and war, and liberty and freedom.

Assisting in the formulation of the curriculum were some of the nation's outstanding educators who met with the program development committee of the MSUO Foundation in a series of seminars at Meadow Brook Hall.

Also consulted for ideas and guidance were MSU faculty members and MSU honor students.

James C. Zeder, Chrysler Corp. vice president for engineering, served as chairman of the Foundation committee.

Zeder said the new program offered by the university is not an experiment but represents the best thinking of prominent educators and laymen.

"What is happening here," he said, "is being watched not only in the United States but in other places."

The curriculum makers agreed that modern university courses are entirely too complex and too specialized.

The number of courses at MSO will be limited with stress on depth and quality.

A vigorous program in adult education will be offered at MSUO. Courses will be on the university level.

Graduate courses will be offered at MSUO by the MSU faculty for credit on the East Lansing campus.

"The university will strive to develop the concept of the 'alumni university,'" said Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of continuing education at MSUO.

The primary objectives of this idea, he said, are to make clear to undergraduates that today's complex world demands a continuing of learning after graduation, and to provide a systematic program of post-graduate learning for persons after graduation.

The curriculum was presented to the MSU Board of Trustees in a morning session at Meadowbrook Hall on the MSUO campus, and to the MSUO Foundation later in the day.

The castle-like home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, who gave their 1,400-acre estate to MSU for the new university will eventually become a fine arts center on the campus.

The Wilsons also gave the university $2,000,000 to construct the first academic building for the university.

The Statue of Liberty is made of bronze and weighs 225 tons.

But They Will Lead, Is Claim

U.S. Can Overtake Reds

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller, who helped develop the hydrogen bomb, says the Soviet Union will surpass this country in science by 1970. But he adds there is still a chance we can overtake them later.

In a statement through his office here to clarify remarks made at Marquette University Wednesday night, Teller said Friday:

"What I said at Marquette University was essentially what I have been saying and have been quoted accurately as saying for many years.

"In essence, my view is that we are not doing enough in science education and that as a result of the present situation the Russians will surpass us in science by 1970.

"If we begin now to work very hard in science education, we can regain the lead later on.

"If we do not begin now—and in a big way—the Russian Communists will shape the world of the year 2000.

"I have the full confidence that once the American people fully realize the dangers of the situation they will make the sacrifices necessary to correct it, and I do have confidence that in the end democratic ideals will win out but it is later than most people think and there is no time to waste."

Senate Would Chop Three-Quarters of Funds

Army Blasts Nike Hercules Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has spoken up sharply and publicly against a Senate committee's recommendation to chop off three quarters of the money to expand its Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile system.

In addition, the Army is stepping up its intramural war with the Air Force—and specifically its Bomarc missile.

While the Army went to bat for its anti-aircraft system, the Air Force reportedly made a formal proposal to the Joint Chiefs of staff that an all-service strategic command be established to control all nuclear retaliatory weapons. This would include the Navy's future missile-firing submarines.

Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, was reported to have told associates, however, that the Air Force has no designs on taking over direct command of the Polaris missile submarines as part of a strategic retaliatory force.

Last week the Senate Armed Services Committee recommended that $22,400,000 for more Hercules bases in continental United States and Hawaii be trimmed to about five million. The Nike Hercules weapon, said the committee, is "virtually obsolete."

ARMY SMARTS

For days the Army smarted in silence over the fund cut and the "obsolete" description. The Army-Navy-Air Force Joint reported surprise and consternation in Army circles over Army Secretary Wilbert M. Brucker's apparent failure to defend the Army's case.

Then on Friday an official Army spokesman came up with answers to questions by newsmen.

If Congress goes ahead with the Senate committee's proposed amendment to a House-approved bill, said the spokesman, "serious gaps" in the nation's aircraft defenses would occur. The spokesman added:

At stake are 50 Nike Hercules battery sites for protection of 25 Strategic Air Command bases in the United States and at eight locations in Hawaii.

HERCULES RANGE

The Army's Nike Hercules can carry an atomic warhead 80 to 100 miles.

The Air Force's rival Bomarc will have an eventual range of 400 miles and also will mount a nuclear warhead.

Reflections

"I REMEMBER HIM"

The vital factor in our memory of someone is WHAT we remember about him: We were to have had breakfast with friends at a Lakeside. We left home at midnight, traveling through a small town we saw a sign "Speed Limit 10 Miles an Hour." We crawled past the business section, not a human being was in sight as I picked up speed; past the last house I was stopped by an Officer for speeding 25 miles an hour. He roared, cursed—I remember him with a vision. I was twelve. It was baseball season. I was first baseman. My school work suffered, until my sixth grade teacher said, "School is a game, too; win there or you'll never win." I remember her with love and affection.

Business succeeds when the man responsible for it creates an aura of confidence, in himself and the products he sells; a newspaper's influence is in direct ratio to its acceptance by its readers, a delightful example of happy memories is a man and woman who celebrates their golden wedding anniversary.

Build pleasant memories every day of your life.

Law to Hit Castro, Too

City Naval Reserve Unit Wins Recruiting Honors

Pontiac's Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-104, stationed at the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center, 469 S. East Blvd., has earned the title of "dark horse" by taking top honors in the first phase of the Ninth Naval District recruiting campaign.

The campaign, which began Feb. 1, is run on a quarterly basis. Pontiac's unit waged an all-out war in the past month, amassing 65 points in a come-from-behind battle with Surface Division 9-235, of Denver, Colo.

The local unit edged its opponent, 110 to 108 points at the close of the first quarter in the "large division" classification.

For its recruiting success, the center will receive the Navy "E" flag for large surface divisions.

The Ninth Naval District covers midwestern states, with Colorado being the western limit and Michigan the eastern boundary. Four points are awarded for each returning veteran and one point for new reservists.

Largely responsible for the local unit's feat was Yeoman 1C James Scott, a full-time station keeper and one of the 10-man staff that runs the center. Scott, who lives at 82 Edison St., is coordinator of the center's recruiting program.

Take Care of Pretzels but Overlook Price Tab

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A bill giving liquor package stores the right to sell potato chips, popcorn and similar items was passed Friday by the Rhode Island House.

In the process the representatives eliminated a $500 liquor license fee.

After red-faced legislators discovered they had inadvertently dropped the fee, they said they would fix the error next week in the Senate.

It Seems to Me . . .

Insufficient College Pay Means Loss of Valuable Men in State

Oakland County has a big stake in Michigan Legislative activities.

There are two distinct issues. First, there's the immediate question of agreement on a tax program to provide the revenue.

Secondly, there's the greater question of adequate pay at State universities to keep our best men here.

Stories from East Lansing and Ann Arbor indicate that both institutions are losing valuable professors to other colleges and universities. Industry is also claiming some of the faculty members who have had highly specialized training in certain fields.

Chancellor D. B. Varner declared from the outset that he was determined to staff MSU with the finest men obtainable and his early choices bear this out. Our educational program is aimed at developing real students. We propose to have high grade men teach high grade students. But the money must be appropriated to face the situation squarely.

Furthermore, don't be under any misapprehensions over our current financial predicament.

Michigan isn't "bankrupt." Perish the thought.

We're simply "out of cash" at the moment, just as an individual might be who reached into his pocket and discovered a flapping wallet or no wallet at all. His resources could be tremendous — just as Michigan's are.

The Legislature in Lansing simply can't agree upon a method of raising the money. Our celebrated "payless paydays" have probably unconsciously or consciously had some bearing on the decision of especially talented teachers to leave Michigan, even though they knew that the State was completely solvent. Whatever influence this did have was always against us.

It isn't a pleasant contemplation.

We face a double barreled proposition, in a way. First, our financial woes have contributed to the uneasiness of everyone on State payrolls. These circumstances weigh against us with men who have outside offers.

This is inevitable.

Even though they grant to themselves that Michigan isn't bankrupt — or remotely approaching any such unhappy condition — it's human nature to lean toward institutions that have never faced Michigan's current dilemma.

Also, it becomes more difficult to get the most capable faculty members to leave other places and come here. Chancellor VARNER's work in this connection is now considerably harder.

When the Legislature finally reaches agreement and the current "crisis" is solved, the State of Michigan must face the hard fact that other educational institutions are paying more money. We must step up to that.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

FAITH THAT AMERICANS LIVE BY

The J. L. Ragsdales were non-denominational missionaries teaching the Bible in Kentucky when the realization came to them that neglected children have a tremendous need for love, security and a Christian home life.

Thereupon, with a grown daughter and a friend, they founded the Open Door Children's Home at Hazard, 12 years ago.

To get beds and clothing, they sold their car. The home soon burned, but the children they had taken in stayed on for four years in two remaining rooms while the Ragsdales saved to buy some land. This property the youngsters promptly dubbed Sunshine Mountain.

The older boys in the "family" cut timber, dug a well, helped build a road. When the foundation for the new home was laid, there was only $100 in the bank. But a friend bought cement, workmen contributed skills, businessmen gave discounts on goods or charged nothing, checks arrived by mail. Doctors offered their services, and coal for heating dropped up on the mountainside. The Home became a reality and now houses 47 young people aged three months to 22 years, including three who attend college. Another 20 have left to marry, take jobs or enter the armed services.

"From the beginning," say the Ragsdales, "it has been a work of faith."

Roll Back Government Secrecy

"The daily job of reporting what goes on in the world finds American newsmen engaged in a campaign against secrecy. The fight is right within American borders, not in some far-off place. Called the 'right to know' campaign, it basically concerns maintaining a free and effective press."

By EDWARD NICKERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer
Packaged in lump sum figures, New York's legislative payrolls accounted for outgoing cash in such vague terms as secretarial expenses and custodial services.

Lawmakers' salaries were known — but the payroll records were secret. Then, last year, statehouse reporters got busy. Albany's Knickerbocker News paged the way and the Syracuse Post-Standard and the New York World Telegram joined in.

They found a senator who kept his personal barber on his payroll, a lobbyist for a retail merchants' group who conveniently had a job with a joint legislative committee, and a number of other peculiarities.

The kind of secrecy rolled back at Albany is the target of a "right to know" campaign by U.S. newspapers and other news media.

Seasoned newsmen consider the tendency to withhold public records and to conduct public business behind closed doors as a threat to a free press. And they argue that such practices also reduce its effectiveness; had New York's legislative payroll figures been public, for example, the freeloaders never could have lasted 20 years.

In 1956 Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalism fraternity, launched a campaign for greater freedom of information, and made state legislatures its target. The fraternity formulated model open records and open meetings laws to guide interested legislators.

Substantial progress has been made since that day, but many of the laws introduced into the state assemblies met defeat. Significantly, they usually died in legislative committees — which often meet behind closed doors.

Under the model laws, officials found guilty of violations would be liable to removal from office and small fines and imprisonment. Experiences have varied where such laws are in force. One big question is whether officials could use stalling tactics to evade the law while not violating it.

W. Emerson Wilson, city editor of the Wilmington (Del.) Morning News, referring to the open meetings law passed two years ago by the Delaware Legislature, reports:

"We carry copies of the statute with us and whenever an effort is made to deny the press access to a meeting, the mere suggestion that the agency could be reported to the State Attorney General's office has opened all doors."

The Delaware law, like those of many other states, permits certain bodies to hold executive sessions in secret, but says the press and public must have access to any session at which a vote or other final action is taken.

A recent test case of a Louisiana freedom of information law, however, shows a situation just the opposite of the one in Delaware.

Home Remedies Available to Relieve Ivy Poisoning

"For ivy poisoning, apply to the affected skin, as hot as can be borne, sweet fern tea—the water in which sweet fern has been steeped. Crumble the leaves and small twigs, cover with water, let steep for a while, strain and apply hot. Frequent fresh applications give remarkable relief in 24 hours."

(A.J.B.)

Answer—Thank you. There are other good home remedies to prevent and relieve the skin inflammation of poison ivy. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Ivy Poisoning.

"This time of year my hands are red, rough, irritated."

(Mrs. C.J.)

Answer—Apply a few drops of the following home made skin lotion two or three times a day, after washing and before the skin is quite dry:

Put three rounded teaspoonfuls borie acid, a heaping teaspoonful glycerin in a pint of water and boil, stirring constantly, until you get a thin clear jelly. Label it Skin Lotion.

"I have been taking two calcium wafers daily for the past six months for a calcium deficiency acquired by following a starvation diet. My family doctor advised me to do so. But this science writer says too much calcium can cause hardening of the arteries"

Answer—Two calcium wafers a day give you as much calcium as every one should get in a pint of milk. The "science writer" does not indicate how much calcium is "too much"—he or she simply copies what some other bright "science writer" has told the child-minded public. You may learn something to your advantage by studying "The Calcium Shortage," for which send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Women Work to Keep Jobs'

I'm a working woman and have no intention of giving up my job to a man. Lots of men are out of work, but sometimes it's their own fault. I know men with families that miss from one to three days a week and still expect companies to hold their jobs for them. Those men are probably the ones that are out of work and have wives griping about women working.

About 99 women out of every 100 that work stay on the job every day. They must or they wouldn't have a job. I get sick of people writing about women working. I think the ones who gripe and are out of work are the ones who are too lazy to get up every morning and go to work or else they're too lazy to get out and look for work. They want some woman to hand her job over to them. We women are still working because we stay on the job and take care of it.

In answer to F. M. E. about bombs, rockets and guided missiles, what caused the cold winter 50 years ago? There were no modern tests being conducted then. Case Records of a Psychologist:

Funeral Flowers Aren't a Waste

The very clergymen who being wasteful elements of society, are never loathe to receive their $10 or $25 for a funeral sermon or a cash hand-out for their church. Christ approved of honoring the dead with perfume, either in bottles or in living flowers, so don't get so all-fired economical that you strip idealism from our graduation at death!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-442, Mike S., aged 37, is a fine mortician.

"Dr. Crane," he began, as I addressed his State Funeral Directors' Convention at the University of Mississippi recently, "I wish you would give us some advice."

"For example, we occasionally encounter clergy men who criticize the use of flowers at a funeral service and even want to abolish the funeral entirely in favor of a little memorial service later in their church."

"They'd have us morticians dispose of the body, either by burial or cremation, just as cheaply as possible so they could divert the people into their church for a memorial service . . . at a fee, of course."

"They seem to feel morticians are making millions of dollars. 'How can we correct their erroneous thinking?'

FACTS FOR CLERGYMEN

It might help to remind all you readers that the average funeral service nets the mortician only $92 BEFORE taxes.

And if you are a private businessman you know what a terrific slice Uncle Sam gets nowadays from all private business firms.

For that $92, the mortician offers the bereaved a costly chapel on a valuable real estate site often in the very midst of the city.

The body lies in state for two or three days and nights. Even a private hotel room runs about $10 per night nowadays for one person, so the rental of that funeral chapel room is worth $100; at the least.

Moreover, the surgical act of embalming takes just as much time as the removal of an inflamed appendix, and each body must be embalmed by a college trained expert.

Moreover, the funeral director furnishes an ambulance to pick up the deceased and transport it to the mortuary, as well as back to the church and cemetery later on.

Many other arrangements are made by the funeral director, including the selection of pallbearers, so don't think a mortician charges you an exorbitant sum just for a colorful casket.

That casket charge actually covers embalming, ambulance and cars, plus three days rent of the funeral chapel, etc.

BRAIN TRUSTERS

Clergymen have usually never operated a private business of their own; so they are very prone to attack management or "big business" and almost always side with the simple wage earner.

Actually, after you have tried to operate any private business in these days of confiscatory taxes and excessive red tape forms, you will realize that management deserves its reward.

Most people, however, are simply salaried workers, either in banks or advertising agencies, or on newspapers or in factories and shops.

They get a pay check each week and take the full check home to use as they wish.

So they tend to think that a grocer or mortician or doctor also empties his till at night and takes the entire proceeds home to spend just as he likes.

They have no conception of "net profit," for they have never had to buy merchandise and see its products; then collect and compute "net profit."

No American youths get any such training except newspaper carriers and there are only 500,000 of them among about 40,000,000 school kids.

Dentists and lawyers and physicians and other private practitioners, as well as farmers, grocers, morticians, etc., run businesses which require the "net profit" computation.

So if you are a brain-truster, you will kindly quit picking on management until you get wise to the small net it now obtained by those leaders who furnish employment to all the rest of you wage earners?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long or short, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Alpha Delta Kappa in Meet Here

Mrs. Wiley, State Leader, of Pontiac Greets Members

"May you cherish the friendships you make here tonight. May we ever press forward to new horizons and keep in sight the high ideals of our proud profession as teachers." That was the greeting of Pontiac's Mrs. E. Mrs. Ross Tenny opened the program with grace. Mrs. Edward H. Leland gave a welcoming address, using two poems "Friendship" and "A Friendly Handclasp" from the book "Looking Back" by Mrs. Nora Pencer Walls. (Mrs. Walls is a teacher in Pontiac and a member of Rho Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa.)

State officers of the sorority conducted an initiation of officers. Besides Mrs. Wiley, those elected to office include Catherine Detting of Lansing, first vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Patterson of Dearborn, second vice president; Mrs. N. G. Polk, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Walter Maas of Rochester, recording secretary; Vera Hutchinson of Lansing, treasurer and Mrs. Chester Dasher of Wayne, historian.

Campbell, Mrs. Lewis Corneil, Mrs. Clinton George, Mrs. Charles Hampshire, Mrs. John Landon, Mrs. Gordon Rice, Mrs. Norman Underwood and Mrs. Genevieve Van't Roor. Also attending were Mrs. Effie Mitchell, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Lola Sandage, chapter president.

Mrs. Polk was dinner chairman, assisted by Mrs. Leland. Their committee members included Mrs. Eugene Carey, Mrs. Alton Madden, Faye Donaldson, Mrs. Sandage, Mrs. Rufus Campbell, Mrs. Gordon Rice, Wilma Webb, Mrs. Morrell Jones and Mrs. Theodore Fauble, all from Pontiac chapters, Epsilon, Zeta, and Rho.

PTA's Officers Installed in Alcott Season Closer

MRS. HOWARD LICHTERMAN

Bride May Wear White Second Time

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a very lovely bone china tea set which was given to me many years ago, but as I entertain very seldom I do not have occasion to use it very often. The daughter of a friend of mine is going to be married soon and, as she has always admired this tea set, I was wondering if it would be proper to give her this as a wedding present, or might she be insulted at receiving a second-hand present?"

Answer: Under the conditions you describe, I am sure the bride will be delighted to receive your lovely tea set and will not think of it as being "second-hand."

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has a habit of holding his fork in the left hand and pushing food onto it with his knife. He does this constantly throughout the meal. In my opinion, is very bad manners. He says that it is just as correct to use the knife as a pusher as it is to use a piece of bread. I would like to hear from you on this matter."

Answer: There is no better pusher than a piece of dry crust. Lacking this, the knife is also correct — if properly used. Held in the left hand in the same position as it is when held in the right hand, with the tip of the blade helping to guide and hold each mouthful for the fork to lift, it is a natural motion and in no way incorrect.

Remove Eye-Lash Make-Up Carefully

Be gentle when removing eyelash make-up so you will not damage the lashes. Apply a damp washcloth to the eyes. Then gently dab at the lashes with cleansing tissue. Follow this by dabbing cold cream on the lashes. Remove final traces of make-up with a washcloth.

Cork Marks Hem

For a home-made hem marker, force a knitting needle through a cork. The cork will slide easily for different hem widths.

The opening luncheon of the Women Sailors of Orchard Lake Country Club was held Friday at the club. Mrs. Basil E. Brown, left, was chairman for the annual event. Also pictured are Mrs. Walter A. Kleinert, center, cochairman who presented the sailing schedule for the season, and Mrs. George H. Crane.

Homeward bound from Hawaii are, left to right, Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper of Bloomfield Hills, T. Mel Rinehart of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rinehart of Birmingham. They all sailed for the Islands the end of April for a vacation.

The Brace-Smith Funeral Home Offers the Insured Funeral Arrangement Plan for Taking Care of Funeral Expenses

Earl J. Smith

This plan, says Mr. Earl J. Smith, utilizes the single premium insurance policy with the one difference that it can be paid for either with cash or in small monthly payments over as long as 36 months.

Many people throughout the entire country have been taking advantage of the privilege of arranging for a funeral much as you arrange for a possible sickness or hospitalization; the only difference, of course, is the fact that death is an inevitable thing.

Mr. Earl J. Smith points out that in most cases the living have no guide to go by in making the many difficult decisions when death occurs. With the Insured Funeral Arrangement Plan, all details, as well as the financial liability have been taken care of, easily and thoroughly.

There have been many such plans, says Mr. Earl J. Smith. But his investigation proves that the Insured Funeral Arrangement Plan offers more for each dollar spent than with any other plan in use today.

Another distinct advantage, not available with other methods of pre-arranging or pre-financing a funeral, says Mr. Earl J. Smith, is the fact that any person in normal health up to 70 can apply. NON-MEDICALLY, for this Insured Funeral Arrangement Plan.

PLEASE CALL FE 5-0738 or write us for further details at no obligation.

Smile and Say 'No' — Abby

Refuse to Answer Prying Friend

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who visits me constantly and calls me on the phone every day. The only thing I have against her is the questions she asks about our finances. She asks the price of everything I have in my house. When I wear something new she asks how much I paid for it. She asked me what my husband's salary was, how much taxes we paid. Yes, Abby, she has even inquired about how much my telephone bills and grocery bills are every month. I am fed up to the teeth with these questions. How can I put a stop to this without hurting her feelings?

FED-UP
DEAR FED: What feelings? The next financial question she tosses should not be answered. Give her a great big beautiful smile (and show all those teeth you are fed up to) and tell her sweetly, "It's none of your business, Dearie!"

DEAR ABBY: I have a great problem on my hands. I am a boy of 17 and I smoke. However, my parents do not know it. My dad smokes, and when I hint I would like to smoke he says it is bad for me and he'd never allow it. I have tried to quit, but I can't. To be honest, I enjoy smoking. I would like for some smoking man to give me some good reasons why I should quit.

YOUNG SMOKER
DEAR YOUNG: I am no smoking man (am not even a smoking woman) but I can tell you that it is expensive, and it can't do your health any good. Can a "smoking man" give this boy any better reasons?

DEAR ABBY: I am going with two fellows and I am having a hard time making up my mind which one I want. "A" is six feet two and very nice, but he is very conceited and acts like he is doing me a favor when he takes me out. But he does make a wonder appearance and all the girls even me when I'm with him. "B" is the exact opposite. He treats me like a queen and is interested in my wants and

Keep Looking

Find Your Best Cosmetics

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is such great variety in cosmetics that we often are tempted to select quickly anything which seems at all right for us. As a matter of fact, that is what most of us do. It is a rare woman who continues looking for the lipstick or rouge which is the very best for her. This is because of time and expense and also because of procrastination. We just do not get around to it.

Yet the color of a lipstick or the shade of a foundation can make such a tremendous difference. These can add or detract years from a woman's appearance and literally can bring out her eyes or dull them. It makes a truly important difference in her looks. It would be well worth while to give more time to the selection of cosmetics.

The manufacturers discourage us somewhat, also because they are always discontinuing some item or changing it. After much experimentation I found a lipstick of a

WHY DO DENOMINATIONS EXIST?

In an article last week we presented arguments which proved conclusively that this modern idea of denominationalism is not taught in the Bible. It is a man-made system of man-made divisions. It is a man-made system of man-made divisions. It is a man-made system of man-made divisions.

THE BIBLE AS THE NORTH POLE FROM THE SOUTH POLE. How intelligent, honest, sincere, conscientious minded Bible reading individuals can associate and affiliate with such a system of man-made divisions, which is a system of man-made divisions, which is a system of man-made divisions.

'Joker' Clause Muddles Bowl Situation

Waiver on Ban of Post-Season Play Produced

Big Ten Proponents of Trip to Pasadena May Compete Individually

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Big Ten today was in a quandary over a waiver it has created in a weird two-headed Rose Bowl football move.

From two 55-standoff votes yesterday, the policy-making faculty representatives refused to renew the Rose Bowl contract which expires with the 1960 game after a 14-year span.

Then, proponents of the bowl dug out a joker from near the bottom of the conference legal deck and opened the way for free-for-all participation in the Rose Bowl by member schools on an individual basis.

The joker was a clause inserted in the conference handbook in 1946 which waived the league's ban on all athletic post-season competition for participation in the Rose Bowl.

The anti-bowl group of Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Minnesota succeeded in killing the proposal to renew the bowl contract because a 55-standoff spikes any new legislation.

But, in rebuttal, the pro-Rose Bowl group of Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Purdue and Michigan State voted against eliminating the Rose Bowl proviso from the rule book.

The way things stand now, after the 1960 Rose Bowl game the newly organized Big Four west coast group of California, Washington, Southern California and UCLA can invite any Big Ten school to the Pasadena classic. However, if a team like Ohio State or Illinois won the conference championship and was the logical team to be invited such a school would be put in an embarrassing position because of its expressed stand against the Rose Bowl.

Of course, the west coast group, which is an offshoot of the Pacific Coast Conference destined to perish July 1, also could invite any other eastern rival outside the Big Ten.

As a matter of fact, Greg Englehart, California athletic director, said "this may be a healthy thing. It doesn't close the door for Big Ten schools, and it opens the door to other schools that have outstanding teams."

The invited Big Ten school would need only approval of its own administration and could take all of the visiting team's bowl share, some $350,000 including TV money. This contrasts with the approximate $60,000 that a Rose Bowl contender now brings back after splitting with Big Ten members.

Furthermore, the same school could appear indefinitely, as opposed to the present restriction of one appearance every two years.

Big Ten athletic directors and football coaches, almost to a man, favor Rose Bowl play. The 55-standoff on the bowl issue developed at the faculty level as each school's academic council voted individually on the subject in recent months.

Said one unidentified athletic director: "Let's see how the egg-heads handle this."

'M' Golfers Lead Meet

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Host Michigan and Iowa led the way into second day play today in the 40th annual Big Ten golf tournament over the U. of M.'s farm-dampened course.

Soggy Weather Changes Outlook for State Meet

Pontiac Central's defending state track and field champions have faced rain, wind and cold weather for the last two big meets in which they have participated. Today, at East Lansing they defend their crown for the 5th straight time.

It's another wet and soggy day! And the Chiefs can't be written off, despite the rating accorded Flint Central, Flint Northern, Ann Arbor or Kalamazoo Central. Under the conditions PCH should be on equal terms with the previously rated favorites.

Many local observers are inclined to see a good omen in the bad weather conditions. Coach Dawn Wilson's Chiefs have won their last two outings in this kind of weather. During the University of Detroit relay and last Saturday, when the Thurston Regional by a convincing total.

'M' and Illini May Go to Wire for Big Ten Title

Two-Way Track Battle Seen

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Defending champion Illinois and indoor triathlete Michigan may battle right down to the closing mile relay event for the team crown in the 59th Big Ten outdoor track meet today.

Ohio State captured the scoring lead momentarily with 9 1/2 points after yesterday's two finals held in the discus and the broad jump.

However, host Michigan, which picked up 9 points, and Illinois, next with 8, were expected to steam ahead with a private scrap for team honors in this afternoon's 12 finals.

The forecast was for cloudy, 60-degree weather after morning rains.

In yesterday's rain-sprinkled trials in six events, Michigan qualified 10 men compared with 8 for Illinois. Wisconsin, Indiana and Minnesota were next with 5 qualifiers each, followed by Iowa with 4, Purdue with 3, and Michigan State, Northwestern and Ohio State with 2 each.

Well-balanced Illini moved no fewer than four runners into the eight-man finals of the 220 dash and had both heat winners in the 880, long-striding George Kerr and Ted Beasly.

Besides, the Illini were expected to score heavily in the high jump, led by defending champion Ernie Haisley and Ron Mitchell, and in the shot put with a couple of 54-foot tossers, Larry Stewart and Bill Brown.

Illinois' mile relay team also posted the spring's best clocking, 3:14.4, and this event produces eight points for the winner compared to five in each individual event.

Dodgers Gain Second Beating Giants in 13

By The Associated Press

It's been a long time coming, but Don Drysdale finally has nailed his fourth victory and the Los Angeles Dodgers at last are getting even with the San Francisco Giants.

The Dodgers grabbed second place in the National League from San Francisco as Drysdale, winless for almost a month, defeated the Giants 2-1 in 13 innings last night. It was the sixth victory over the Giants this season for the Dodgers—matching the total they managed in last year's 22-game series.

It also was Drysdale's fifth in a row over the Giants since last Aug. 8, but it looked like another fruitless night for the lean right-hander until G. H. Hughes' 2-out single put it away. Drysdale 4-4 hadn't been a winner since April 27, but in that span he had gone 11 innings for no decision against Milwaukee and nine innings to no decision against San Francisco.

The runner-up switch upped Milwaukee's first-place edge to four games after the Braves, with Hank the 100 and 220 dashes including Bahamas-bred Tom Robinson; two in the 880 run and 220 low hurdles; and one each in the 40-yard dash and 120 high hurdles.

The Wolverines also should score well in the pole vault, led by Neil Landstrom from Finland.

However, Michigan's bid for hurdling points may be repulsed by Willie May, Indiana's defending

The two new champions crowned yesterday were discus thrower Larry Schmalenberger of Ohio State and Michigan broad jumper Lou Williams.

Schmalenberger whirled the platter 154 1/2, while Buckeye teammate George Mirka was second with 153-2. Williams also bested a Wolverine teammate, favored Les Bird, by one-half an inch—24-6 1/2.

Colliers Raise Roof of Log House at Lake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Out on the north shore of Cooley Lake there are a number of log houses. Most of these were originally summer cottages that have been remodeled into year-round homes. One of them belongs to the David Colliers.

When the Colliers bought their house, it had three rooms, a bath and a porch. From the outside it looked like thousands of other cottages. Now, five years later, all that is changed.

First of all, the Colliers added more floor space by building an addition at the back and a second floor over the entire house. Mrs. Collier told Mr. Collier what she wanted and he did it in his spare time. At the beginning, he knew nothing whatever about home building.

The log structure is painted red. The upper story is white with blue and white shutters.

Outside the front door the Colliers have added a flagstone patio.

Seven feet was added to the living room to make it 17 by 21 feet. The old fieldstone fireplace was replaced by one of red brick. Even the hearth is brick.

Jalousie windows were installed between this room and the porch. These can be completely covered by deep coral draperies under bamboo cornices. The walls and carpeting are green.

All the furniture is light. Much of it is bamboo but some custom-made pieces are birch. A divider wall is used between the living room and dining room and on the stair wall. In to the front of a closet door.

under the stairs the Colliers built a bookcase.

On the porch the walls are deep sandalwood. Carpeting is brown and beige. Furniture has wrought iron frames. The sofa is avocado and the chairs cushioned in gold.

CORAL AND GREEN

In the dining room the walls are coral while the living room rug is extended into this area. Under the divider shelves there is a planter. Beige, black and coral draperies frame a jalousie window. All the furniture is painted deep green. Cushions on the chairs are avocado.

The kitchen is a dream room that any homemaker would love. At the back there are three good-sized windows. Only a sheer yellow ruffle ornaments them. There are almost three walls of counter space as well as a peninsula breakfast bar which can also be utilized for work space.

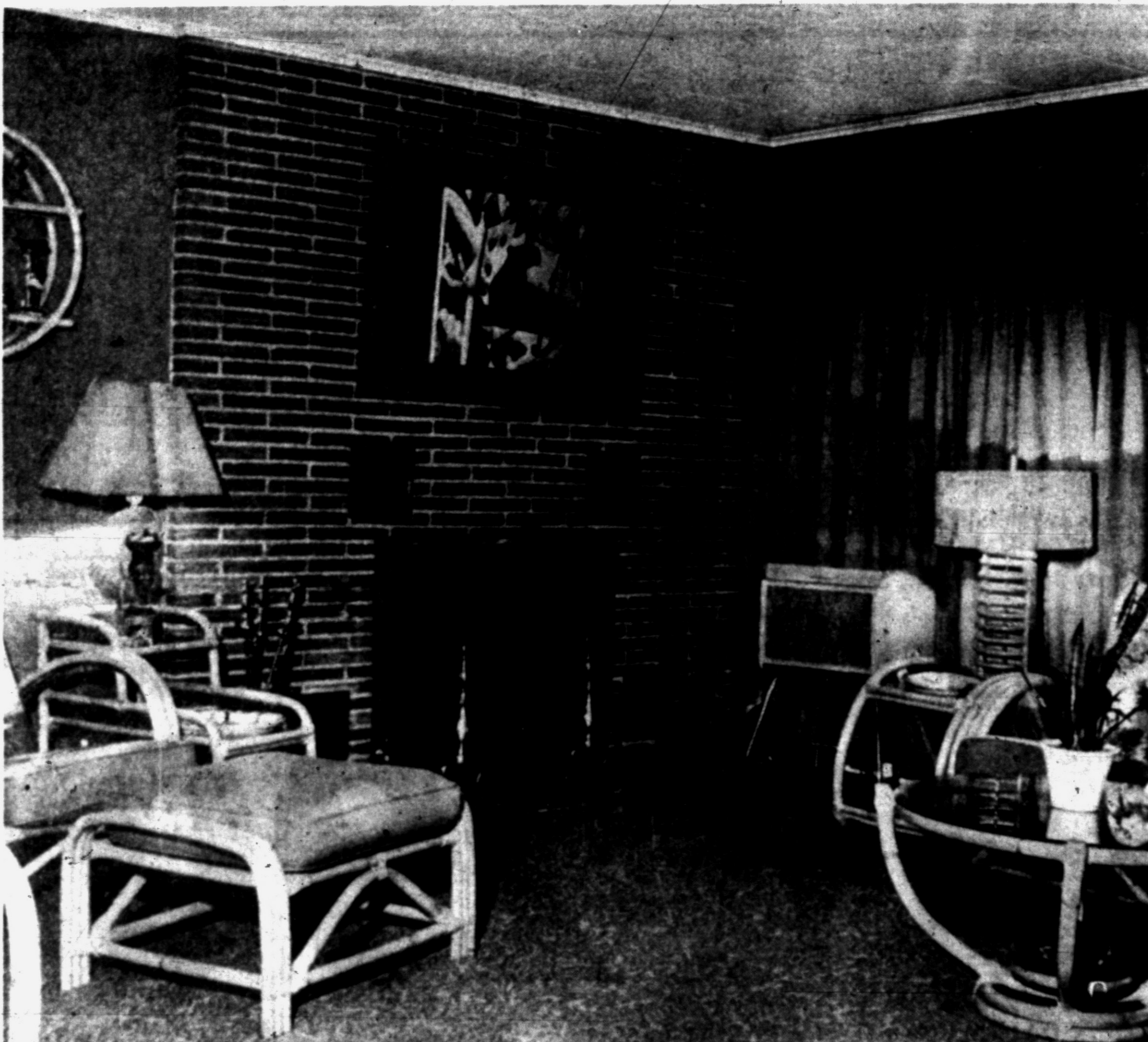

Cabinets are white with metal trim. All counter tops are yellow. Accent color is red. This appears

DIVIDER WALL — To let more light into the small dining room the Colliers opened the upper portion of the wall and made interesting shelves out of it. A planter box adds color. There is a jalousie window at the left. Walls are coral. Furniture is painted dark green with avocado cushions on the chairs.

BIGGER LIVING ROOM — The width of this room was almost doubled in size after the Colliers got through remodeling. What is now a red brick fireplace was once one of fieldstone. Behind the draperies at the right are jalousie windows between the living room and porch. Walls and carpeting in this room are green. Most of the furniture is bamboo. Coral is the accent color.

all the white on the wall, make this a kitchen that sparkles. There is a sheer yellow ruffle above the windows on the inside. Outside is a wooden awning. This room was added on to the original house.

LOG EXTERIOR — The original lines of the David Collier home on the north shore of Cooley Lake can be seen in this picture. The Colliers added the second story and a wing on the back. Like most of the lots in this neighborhood, theirs is long and narrow.

The house has a gay look with the logs painted red and the clapboard a sparkling white. In the rear there are blue and white shutters. It took Mr. Collier five years to complete his work on this house. Mrs. Collier says she was the adviser.

Aluminum Nails Will Never Stain

The builders' maxim that no home is better than its nails explains the phenomenal growth in the use of aluminum nails in less than a decade.

Nichols strong aluminum alloy nails, as used by many leading builders can never cause rust stain damage or be weakened by rust caused by rain, snow or moisture condensation, yet are clean, easy to apply and inexpensive. Aluminum alloy nails end the need for costly repainting jobs caused by nail rust stains.

A special etching process increases the holding power of aluminum alloy nails and makes them sterile clean. Since they cannot rust, the FHA approves them for use without counter-sinking or puttying. They hold paint better than the building materials which they fasten.

Where aluminum, redwood or red cedar are to be applied, aluminum alloy nails are a must. Ordinary nails are attacked by these materials or do damage to the materials, themselves. Both the Red Cedar Shingle Bureau and the California Redwood Association recommend the use of aluminum nails with their products.

The most impressive recent success of aluminum nails is their adoption by almost all of the principal manufacturers of asbestos siding, who now supply aluminum nails with their products, instead of the traditional steel or copper-alloy nails. Exhaustive testing by the asbestos manufacturers proved that aluminum alloy nails possessed excellent driving qualities, great holding power and matched the long life of far more expensive fasteners.

In roofing, siding, fences, dry-wall construction, lawn furniture, in fact wherever nails may be exposed to moisture, aluminum nails are now the accepted standard. They are widely available at lumber yards and hardware stores.

Use Sponge on Stick

Narrow spaces behind stoves or between cabinets can be reached with a little ingenuity. Use a thin, long strip of wood, perhaps a discarded yardstick, to reach into awkward areas. Glue sponges on the stick and use a brush for tight spots.

Lumber Forever

Some progressive lumber companies are now using helicopters to seed cutover lands and help guarantee America a perpetual supply of timber. Forest tree plantings on private land were up 30 per cent last year, compared with 1956.

New home construction for 1959, previously estimated at 1.3 million units, may exceed 1.5 million units if the current rate is maintained. New home construction for the first quarter of 1959 topped the same period in 1958 by over 30 per cent.

Central Air Conditioning Goes Into Old Houses

While the trend in new home construction is definitely toward heating and cooling on a year-round basis, many old-type homes are installing these central units according to the American Gas Association. Homeowners find that the cost more than pays for itself in added comfort and the increased value of their property.

In homes where forced warm air heating systems already exist, air conditioning can be added at a relatively low cost, since the same furnace, blowers, ductwork and registers are used for both heating and cooling.

FHA APPROVES

In December 1957, the FHA sent the following directive to all of its regional offices:

"No otherwise acceptable credit application for a house costing over $15,000 should be turned down just because of the anticipated cost of air conditioning. The best opinion of the industry is that the savings on heat, on cleaning, laundry, and medical expense, resulting from air conditioning, more than offset the added cost of operating the unit during the cooling season."

"Within a few years any house that is not air conditioned will probably be obsolescent so FHA should start encouraging the inclusion of air conditioning."

These are just a few of the numerous advantages offered by central air conditioning. Experts have estimated that within the next few years, year-round climate control will be just as important to homes as automatic transmission is to automobiles.

When all considerations are taken into account, there's a better chance in 1959 than ever before that most families can afford the luxury of whole-house, year-round air conditioning.
