Final Explosion Causes Furor Over Fallout

U. S., Britain, Russia Negotiate on World Ban in Geneva

And in its wake: renewed furor over the dangers of radioactive fallout.

Talks between the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union will determine whether it lasts longer.

The Soviet government rejected a U.S.-British proposal that all three of the world's nuclear powers agree on a one-year suspension beginning today.

However, today in Geneva Russia handed the West an East-West draft treaty proposing immediate cessation of nuclear tests for all time and a control system to police it.

By doing so, the Soviets seized the initiative in the first working session of the nuclear conference. It got under way this afternoon at the Palace of Nations with representatives of the world's three atomic powers—Russia, the United States and Britain—in attendance.

There were strong signs that the parley would head swiftly into an East-West clash on the Soviet proposal.

The Soviets contended they have the right to go on testing until they have matched bomb for bomb the number of explosions fired by the United States and Britain during the summer and fall.

The United States replied that, in spite of the Soviet rejection, this government is going ahead with its suspension because the decisive element in calling it off is not what Moscow says but what Moscow does.

The last U.S. atomic shot went off in a mountainside tunnel with an earth-jolting shock. It was as big as the atomic bombs which destroyed Japanese cities in World War II. It lofted a 500-foot-wide column of rock and dirt 1,000 feet above the mountain top. Huge boulders crashed down the slopes.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists kept trying to set off another weapon right up until the midnight deadline. A blast was to have gone off under a balloon at

In Governor's, Senate Races

Candidates Push for Goal

By The Associated Press

Gov. Williams was up with the milkmen. . .

Paul Bagwell criticized segregation. . .

Sen. Potter took a fast ride with a police escort. . .

Lt. Gov. Philip Hart said his opponent is running against Walter Reuther.

These were some of the things that happened yesterday in Michigan's political ring, as candidates prepared for their last weekend of campaigning before next Tuesday's election.

Williams started a busy day of speeches and hand-shaking tours in Detroit by getting up before dawn to greet milk truck drivers before they started on their morning rounds.

In a television speech later, the governor departed from his prepared text to lash out against what he termed "phony last-minute political threats by certain industries to move out of Michigan."

Bagwell, his Republican opponent, has been pounding at the theme that Williams' administration policies are forcing business — and consequently jobs — to leave the state for a better tax climate.

Yesterday, Bagwell took a breather and limited his campaigning to a brief guest spot on a Detroit television show and a conference on civil rights at his campaign headquarters.

MIXUP FOR POTTER

In the Senate campaigning, Potter found that a mixup in a television relay at the Berrien County Youth Fair grounds would mean his scheduled speech couldn't be carried on a statewide hookup from there.

So the Republican senator took off at top speed for South Bend, Ind., 25 miles away, with a sheriff's car and an Indiana State Police car leading the way. He arrived seven minutes after the program was scheduled to go on, and had to cut his speech to fit the time as he read it.

After the program, Potter headed back to speak to his live audience of some 1,500 who had waited patiently at the fair grounds.

While Potter was traveling between two states, his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Hart, accused the senator of running against United Auto Workers President Reuther "when he should be talking about the real issues."

HART CITES ISSUES

In a Detroit TV speech, Hart said the "real issues" Potter should be discussing were unemployment, the national economy, failure of national leadership, social security, education and the cost of living.

He said Potter had shown a lack of leadership in the Senate.

He also hit at a Potter charge that the lieutenant governor's campaign was financed by his wife's money, willed to her by her father, Detroit industrialist Walter O. Briggs. Potter had branded the Briggs fortune "money raised under the worst sweatshop conditions in this nation."

Hart said he tried to confine the campaign to debate over

Repairman Admits Slaying 3 Models

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—"I would make them kneel down. With the gun on them, I would tie this five-foot piece of rope around their ankles. Then I would loop it around their neck. Then I would stand there and keep pulling until they quit struggling."

Calmly, almost boastfully, a mild-mannered, big-eared television repairman thus confessed strangling three models and leaving their bodies in lonely Southern California desert areas.

All of the victims were first raped, sheriff's officers said as they jailed Harvey M. Glatman, 30, Los Angeles, on suspicion of murder Thursday.

He said he used the same piece of sash cord and the same pistol in all assaults. The weapons were in his car when highway patrolmen found a fourth intended victim holding the gun on him after a desperate struggle in a car Monday night.

The slender, sandy-haired ex-convict, who served prison terms in New York and Colorado for kidnaping and rape, confessed after two days' questioning and a lie-detector test, said chief investigator Joel Hays of the Orange County district attorney's office.

The victims died 15, 8 and 3 months ago in this order, as Hays quoted Glatman's confession:

Mrs. Judy Ann Dull, 19, West Hollywood, was assaulted in his apartment after a date to shoot pin-up pictures of her Aug. 1, 1957. He strangled her on the desert near Indio, about 95 miles east of here, and buried her in a shallow, sandy grave.

Posing as "George Williams," a Pasadena plumber, Glatman dated Mrs. Shirley Ann Loy Bridgeford, 24, a divorcee, of suburban Sun Valley, through a Los Angeles lonely hearts club last March 8.

With the rope he ended her life south of Escondido after forcing

See Clear Weather Here for Weekend

Partly cloudy with a low of 40 degrees is the weatherman's forecast for tonight. This morning's 15-25 mile an hour winds will diminish to 10-15 miles tonight.

For the next five days temperatures will average three degrees above the normal high of 54 and normal low of 37. Tomorrow will be a little cooler, the high about 58, with Sunday through Wednesday somewhat warmer. Little or no precipitation is predicted.

Forty-two was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 65 at 2 p.m.

6-7 P.M. 'Meet and Treat' Set for Area Spooks, Goblins

Goblins will get Pontiac school youngsters who tonight betray the annual "meet and treat" hour from 6 to 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Besides, those devilish youngsters who let temptation get the best of them will find themselves out of the running for a truck load of prizes being awarded to kids who will be home at prescribed times.

The Pontiac Parks & Recreation Dept. tonight is staging its annual Halloween mystery treat contest which will follow the hour of begging and a round of costume dances at Pontiac area schools.

The two departments urge parents to turn on porch lights between 6-7 p.m. to safely receive the hundreds of kids who will be roaming from door to door in search of goodies.

Department heads ask that this be the only time that parents allow their children to beg.

Cloudy and chilly weather will be in store for the costumed kids as they make their happy rounds tonight.

In order to be eligible for many prizes to be given away to registered children by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, grade school children must be home by 9 p.m., junior high by 10:30, and senior high by 11 p.m.

A spokesman for the Pontiac Department said some 22,000 have signed cards qualifying them for one of the prizes — if they are at home when the Jaycees call them. He said it is not necessary for the family to have a phone to receive a prize. The Jaycees will send a representative to the home instead, he said.

In between the "meet and treat" hour and awarding of prizes, parties will be held for elementary school kids at Herrington, Wever, Jefferson, Emerson, Wilson and Hawthorne schools. Junior high parties will be held at Jefferson and Washington Junior Highs for students of the two schools.

Sewage Rates Won't Rise If Bond Issue Approved

By PETE LOCHBILER

There will be no increase in sewage rates if the $3,300,000 treatment plant bond issue is approved at the polls Nov. 4.

Bonds will be paid off through property taxation, and this gives the average home owner a break, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Industry pays the lion's share of Pontiac property taxes, he pointed out, while home owners pay most of the sewage bills.

City Hall officials figure business and industry together will pay for 78 per cent of the cost of the new plant, if it is approved. Home owners — which is to say, the vast majority of Pontiac citizens — will pay only 22 per cent.

Willman has figured out that the average homeowner would pay less than one cent a day to finance the new plant, assuming that general obligation bonds can be sold with a maximum interest rate of four per cent.

The whole bill could be financed at a cost of about 70 cents a year for every $1,000 in property value. For the average home, one that is assessed around $4,000, this figures out to about $2.80 a year.

If 60 per cent of voting property owners (only property owners will be allowed to vote on the bond issue) fail to approve the plan next Tuesday, the financial picture might be reversed.

Final Pitch for GOP Campaign

Ike to Broadcast Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower makes his final campaign pitch for the Republicans tonight.

The President will travel by train to Baltimore for the speech, in which he is expected to call for a big vote next Tuesday in the interest of good government.

Tonight's speech, to be delivered in Baltimore's 5th Regimental Armory, will be carried from 9 to 9:30 p.m., EST, on the ABC radio and television networks.

Eisenhower plans to return to Washington immediately after the address. He canceled earlier plans to spend the pre-election weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, but will go there to vote Tuesday.

Won't Ask Full Federal Assist

City Itself to Finance Portions of S. Saginaw Urban Renewal Area

Federal financial assistance will not be sought for portions of the South Saginaw street area included with the city's urban renewal plans, Assist. City Manager Robert A. Stierer said today.

Instead, the area is tentatively slated for renewal financed by the city itself under an enabling state act, Stierer said.

In his latest report on progress of the project planning, Stierer indicated that the total size of the project area has been increased slightly.

Several sections in the project area bounded by Parke street on the east, Pike street on the north and the Grand Trunk Railroad on the west have been reassigned for local development under the state act, Stierer said.

"In effect, we have split the project area into sections of local assistance and federal assistance. But the original boundaries have not been altered, except to take in a little more property on the north and east sides," the assistant city manager said.

Federal officials have advised that commercial properties in the downtown area west of Parke would not be eligible for inclusion in the project, Stierer said. Federal urban renewal funds are alloted almost solely for residential redevelopment.

However, the city is still planning on keeping many South Saginaw properties within the fed-

Eighth Student to Be Arraigned

Charged With Selling Football Betting Cards at Eastern Michigan

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The eighth student allegedly involved in a campus football gambling racket will be arraigned today before Municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien.

Latest to be charged with engaging in an illegal occupation in the selling of football point-spread gambling cards was David Martin, 19, an Eastern Michigan College sophomore from Detroit. He was held in Washtenaw County Jail over night.

Police declined to say if there was a tie-in between gambling activities at Eastern Michigan in Ypsilanti, and at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, about six miles away.

Seven Michigan students, including two varsity athletes, were ordered held for trial next month by Justice O'Brien when they stood mute at their arraignment Wednesday. If convicted, they could be sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $100.

The arrest was the first official indication the gambling ring, revealed by police in a crackdown on seven University of Michigan students, had been operating on more than one campus.

Meanwhile, the University of Michigan said no punitive measures would be taken toward the seven U. of M. students charged with participating in the ring until their trials were concluded.

Only Slim Hope Any More Alive

Press Search for 49 Miners

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP)—Mine search crews, heartened by the recovery of a dozen entombed survivors, toiled ahead today in a search for 49 men still missing in the Cumberland No. 2 colliery disaster.

Assistant rescue director Frank Doxey said he held only slim hope that any more of the missing men would be found alive.

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, planned to break his trip back to London to visit this grief-stricken town of 7,000 tonight. He has been attending a conference of the English-Speaking Union in Ottawa.

Philip will see the colliery pithead, the bleak nerve center of the search, and talk with the 12 men hauled to safety Thursday after 6½ days of hunger, thirst and despair in a debris-sealed pocket.

RELAX AT HOSPITAL

The rescued men relaxed at the 50-bed, asbestos-shingled All Saints Hospital, a mile from the mine. Doctors said all are in good shape and can return home after a short rest except for Joseph McDonald, 38, who has a broken leg.

Of the 174 miners caught by the gigantic upheaval that wrecked the mine Oct. 23, the record today

The 32nd body was brought up early today.

With several hundred feet of rock and debris still to be pierced at the 13,000 and 13,400-foot levels, it may be a week or more before the job is accomplished.

In Halifax, the Nova Scotia provincial government proclaimed next Sunday a day of public mourning for those who died.

NAMES STUDY GROUP

The Provincial Cabinet named a committee to study the situation of Springhill and recommend what could be done to save its economy, largely dependent on the mine, which employed 900. It is not likely to reopen.

The adjacent Cumberland No. 4 shaft was closed in 1956 after an explosion in which 39 miners died.

Inviting Dems Here to Attend GOP Rally

A "Democrats Cordially Invited" sign would be an unusual one to hang at a Republican rally, but if Jack Gibbs, executive secretary of the Oakland County Republican Committee had his way, that's what he would put up at West Bloomfield High School Saturday.

★ ★ ★

"We would just as soon have more Democrats there than Republicans," explained Gibbs.

His county committee has secured Paul D. Bagwell, GOP candidate for governor, to lead a climatic pre-election Oakland County rally at the school Saturday night.

"Our committee urges all voters especially Democrats, to stop listening to political hearsay and instead hear Bagwell with the facts," Gibbs said.

Bagwell will cap off several campaign tours through the county along with other members of the GOP ticket at the rally beginning at 8 p.m. With Bagwell will be Jason L. Honigman, candidate for attorney general, William S. Broomfield, county congressman seeking re-election, and Donald A. Brown, Bagwell's running mate for lieutenant governor.

★ ★ ★

Gibbs said county and legislative candidates will also attend. The school is located at the intersection of Commerce and Orchard Lake roads.

Sewage Bond OK Won't Hike Rates

If pollution increases, the Commission will order a new plant built, whether voters approve or not. And the State Supreme Court will back the Commission.

Faced with such an order, the city would have to expand its facilities anyway, but probably through revenue bonds, not general obligation bonds.

Revenue bonds would cost more in interest. They also would be paid back through an increase in sewage rates.

Thus homeowners would have to pay the lion's share of the bill. Not only that, but the bill would be bigger.

Bigger because of higher interest rates, bigger because every day Pontiac puts off construction of a new plant, construction costs go up.

City officials are not using this as an argument to get a favorable vote Tuesday.

They aren't talking about the fact that the state last tested the Clinton in August, and the results of that test might force construction of a new plant.

The actual results won't be known until after Tuesday, and officials are happy that this is so.

Mad Midnight Sale Draws Peak Crowd

Last night's "Mad Midnight Sale" at the Tel-Huron Shopping Center was successful "beyond our expectations", Fred J. Niedelson, chairman of the Tel-Huron Merchants Assn., reports.

More than 900 autos filled the center's parking lot and many patrons had to park two or three blocks away, he said. This was believed to be the largest crowd at the center in its history including holiday seasons.

All 14 stores were open until 8:30 p.m. and then reopened at 9 until midnight for the three-hour pre-Halloween special event.

Free coffee for customers was provided.

225,000 Pay Last Respects

Cardinal Mooney Buried

DETROIT (UP)—The archdiocese of Detroit bade farewell to Edward Cardinal Mooney today at solemn funeral services attended by personal representatives of Pope John XXIII and President Eisenhower.

The 76-year-old Mooney, spiritual leader of more than 1,200,000 Roman Catholics in the archdiocese, died Saturday at Rome an hour before he was to take part in the conclave of Cardinals which elected the new Pope.

More than 225,000 persons—including 160,000 school children—stood in line for hours yesterday waiting for a chance to walk past the bier where the cardinal's body lay in state in Blessed Sacrament Cathedral.

The crush of mourners was so great that church officials had to keep the cathedral open all night and right up to within an hour of the funeral mass today so the people could pay final respects.

More than 65 bishops took part in the solemn ceremonies with the Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States as celebrant of the solemn pontifical mass.

Ordinarily, all American cardinals would have attended the mass, but both Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and James Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles are required by church law to remain in Rome until after the coronation of Pope John XXIII on Tuesday.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield headed the long list of public officials as representative of President Eisenhower. Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani attended as did representatives of the U.S. armed forces and foreign consulates in Detroit.

The cathedral has a capacity of only 1,500. It was jammed with more than 500 priests, several hundred nuns, civic leaders and invited guests and a few of the rank and file from the cardinal's flock. Some of the latter stood in line all night waiting for the chance to be among the few to get a seat.

Traffic was rerouted around the cathedral area and more than 250 policemen were assigned to keep watch on the thousands who jammed about the church and along the funeral route for a farewell to their spiritual leader.

The funeral procession of more than 400 cars was to proceed to St. John's Seminary in suburban Plymouth. The seminary, where young priests of the archdiocese undergo final training before being ordained was founded by Cardinal Mooney in 1951 and was his favorite project.

City Won't Ask Full Federal Finance Aid

These are properties occupied by homes, hotels, rooming houses or commercial buildings that have upper floor apartments.

In general the areas dropped from federal financing lie in three locations: (1) The area fronting on the east side of Saginaw between Cottage and Judson; (2) the western portions of the area between Saginaw, Pike and the railroad; and (3) a roughly triangular area marked by Pike, from Saginaw to Parke, on the north, and by Saginaw, Pike to Patterson, on the west.

However, the west Saginaw frontage between Pike and Patterson as well as that between Dawson and Wessen is still included within the federal aid area, Stierer emphasized.

To protect the urban renewal area on the north and east, Stierer said, several boundary changes have been made on the advice of local and federal planners.

The eastern boundaries have been pushed to the rear of the eastern property lines along South Paddock, Perkins and Parkhurst streets (with the exception of McConnell School at S. Paddock and Willard.)

To the north, the project boundary has crossed Pike street between Union and Douglas streets and includes frontage along the north side of Pike.

In this area lies the site for the new central fire station, and Stierer advised that federal assistance may be available for its construction since it would, in part, serve the renewal area.

The city's planning consultants, Geer Associates, suggested turning to the state act for the western portion of the development area, Stierer said.

"The major financing difference would be that the city would not have federal funds available to cover any losses incurred in the purchase and resale of land," Stierer continued.

FINANCING NOT SETTLED

"However, Geer Associates feel that there will be high resale of land along Saginaw street for commercial use and associated off-street parking," he said.

How the city would raise financing funds has not yet been ironed out, Stierer stated. However, he expected some state funds would be available through the downtown perimeter road plan which is in that area.

Stierer's report indicated that the first stage in planning should be completed next month. At that time, he said, the city will submit a project eligibility and relocation report to the federal government for study.

He expected that after a couple months' study, the federal government would give the go-ahead signal for final planning here, which may take from eight to 10 months.

Then the city will submit its final report and its application for federal assistance, Stierer said. The planning is being financed by an advanced federal grant, and the city has been told that federal funds for assistance are being tentatively set aside.

her to disrobe and submit to him in his automobile. He didn't bury her because he walked her "almost a mile into the desert and I didn't think anyone would find her there."

Last July 23 he called on Miss Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, through a modeling advertisement. He spent the night in the apartment, assaulting her repeatedly at gunpoint, then forced her to walk to his car.

★ ★ ★

"I didn't want to kill her," Glatman told officers. "She was the one I really liked. So I told her we were going out to a deserted spot where we wouldn't be bothered while I took more pictures. We drove out to the Escondido district. I tried and tried to figure out how to keep from killing her. But I couldn't come up with any answer, so I got out the rope and did it the same way I did the others. I piled some brush and debris on her body and left her there."

★ ★ ★

Officers said his fourth intended victim was Miss Lorraine Vigil, 28, Los Angeles, whom he dated Monday night, ostensibly for picture-taking in, he told her, his "studio." Instead, he sped about 35 miles south on the Santa Ana Freeway and parked. He produced a pistol, tied her hands and tried to assault her. They struggled. The pistol went off and the bullet grazed the inside of Miss Vigil's right leg. But she grabbed the weapon and was holding Glatman at bay when patrolmen happened by.

★ ★ ★

"I did not become alarmed until we entered the Santa Ana Freeway and he began driving at a tremendous speed. He wouldn't answer my questions or even look at me.

"We eventually reached a lonely section and he turned off into a little tiny side road.

"Suddenly he pulled out a gun and pointed it at me. Instinctively I grabbed it on the muzzle.

"Then, although I still held the gun, and was screaming, he picked up a piece of rope from the seat and tried to force my other hand in back of me. 'Just do as I tell you and you won't get hurt,' he said.

"I knew, however, that he would kill me and I wouldn't let go of the gun. Somehow, with the hand that was in back of me, I opened the door on my side and we both fell out onto the street.

"We rolled over and over on the shoulder of the road. Cars, million of cars, passed, but none would stop.

"I bit his wrist and he cried out, then suddenly I found I had the gun in my hand. I turned it around and pointed it at him.

"If I had known how to fire it, I believe I could have killed him. But he just stood there and watched me and after a while the police came."

A body answering Miss Dull's description was unearthed five months after she disappeared in a shallow grave a quarter mile west of Indio.

Mrs. Noel Buckner, Pontiac co-chairman, and her four area chairmen report their 42 districts have collected $10,062.34 or 82.5 per cent of their $12,196 quota.

Mrs. Roderick Taylor, area I chairman, has recorded 108.3 per cent of her quota to become the first of the eight Pontiac and Waterford area chairmen to surpass her goal.

Mrs. Robert Giroux, Waterford co-chairman, announced her four area and 53 district chairmen have reached 61.1 per cent of Waterford's quota. In dollars and cents this comes to $4,128.42 towards a $6,744 quota.

The volunteer workers in Lake Angelus under Mrs. J. S. Tuttle have already surpased their quota by $5 with $1,855 turned in. Moreover, they still have more calls to make.

such issues as education, social security and foreign policy, but Potter discouraged it. "Instead," he said, "he dropped to the level of attacking my wife."

Williams and Hart crossed trails repeatedly as they hit factories, shopping centers, union gatherings and Democratic parleys in their 16-hour day.

Williams called a square dance at the Livonia Democratic Club barn dance, then turned the microphone over to Hart, who said:

"I can't dance 'em and I can't call 'em. I certainly hope that's not a requisite for the United States Senate."

A report representing Michigan as low in the favor of corporation executives as a site for new plants drew stinging criticism from Williams and other Democrats.

Calling it a Republican "smear Michigan" campaign piece, Williams said:

"I think the agents of other states trying to take business away from Michigan will be glad to pay the $50 a copy price which Mr. Love has put on his political report."

The Day in Birmingham

College Reps to Interview 2,000 High School Pupils

BIRMINGHAM — Representatives from 75 colleges will interview about 2,000 students at Birmingham High School Thursday evening as Birmingham for the first time plays host to the College Advisory Night. Students from 17 other Oakland County high schools will be present.

Mrs. Carol Darling, girls counselor at the high school and general chairman, said questions concerning colleges, their admittance requirements and advantages will be answered to help the student decide his college future.

Institutions offering scholarships will provide special information on how they may be obtained, she said.

Miss Alice Price, English teacher, will have members of her Cicerone Club available as guides.

The entire high school will be used, with several groups from smaller colleges assigned to the gymnasium

Mrs. C. W. Smith, American Assn. of University Women registration chairman, and Mrs. F. Morse Cooke, advisory night chairman, will be in charge of the social hour for the guest speakers.

With untold pounds of candy, bubble gum and other treats in their sacks, several thousand Birmingham youngsters covered the city last night with but one mishap.

One tearful little goblin returned to her home, telling her parents that someone had stolen her candy.

The Rev. Robert Gibson, president of the Birmingham Council of Churches, said the 500 young people soliciting for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, collected $2,358.87.

Eleven churches took part in the drive, held for the second year in Birmingham, he said.

The Oakland County Family Service Board has until April 15 to find a replacement for Miss Estella Martin, its executive director.

Miss Martin, who announced her resignation last week, has asked that a replacement be obtained prior to that date in order that she may return to her home in the East.

A member of the agency since its foundation in 1946, Miss Martin has seen it grow from one office to where it now has three offices, one each in Birmingham, Pontiac and Royal Oak, with 15 professional and six clerical workers.

Since 1948, the Birmingham branch has been a member of the National Family Service Assn. of America.

PEO Co-operative of Oakland County will meet at 10 a.m. Monday in the Birmingham Community House for a business session and brunch. Reservations may be made with Mrs. P. C. Satterthwaite, 1347 Yorkshire Dr., Birmingham. Chapter AW of Pontiac will be in charge.

1,500 feet of altitude. But high winds balked the effort.

Alarmed by a spurt in radioactivity over Los Angeles, Mayor Norris Poulson tried to get the AEC to call off the shot that never materialized.

He phoned the AEC in Washington and complained to Commissioner W. F. Libby that wind was blowing fallout from Nevada tests over his city.

Libby said the amount of radioactivity over Los Angeles was not hazardous.

Measurements by the Los Angeles City Health Department showed that the amount of radioactivity in the air was 20 per cent above the level considered safe for human consumption over a period of months.

Mayor Poulson said "there will be repercussions" if the AEC fired another shot.

An AEC spokesman at the Nevada testing site said radioactivity in the Los Angeles air will dissipate quickly. He said the amount was equal only to the exposure a person would experience under normal circumstances over two months.

Los Angeles' city health officer, Dr. George M. Uhl, said: "There is no cause for public alarm at this time."

As the tests ended, the AEC said this fall's series of 19 shots "advanced the development of small, low-yield nuclear weapons for the defense of the free world."

Testing began on the southern Nevada desert in 1951. In all, 88 atomic shots have been fired.

Car Wash Must Alter Equipment for Pontiac

DETROIT (UPI) — The Automatic Car Wash Association reported today car wash plants across the country will spend between $1 and $1,500,000 revamping equipment due to the new, wide tread of the 1959 Pontiac.

ACWA President Jack Milen, Detroit, said car wash equipment has not been geared to fit the wide tread and he hoped that in the future the auto manufacturers would notify the association in advance of any major changes which may affect the car washing industry.

Since 1900 the nation's paint industry has supplied more than a billion gallons of paint for the finish of automobiles.

4 State Hunters Die of Wounds So Far in Season

By The Associated Press

Four hunters have died of gunshot wounds thus far in the Michigan small game hunting season.

The latest reported fatalities were Fred S. Carter, 33, of Willow Run Village, and Howard Griffith, 14, of Jackson.

State Police said Carter was shot fatally Thursday when he apparently tried to club a squirrel with the butt of his shotgun. The weapon discharged, hitting Carter in the stomach.

Griffith was shot accidentally Thursday when a bullet apparently fired through the breech of a .22 caliber automatic rifle.

The boy's father, Howard Griffith Sr., said his son had fired at a squirrel. The bullet jammed and fired unexpectedly as the boy attempted to eject it.

Father Takes Stand in 2nd Murder Trial

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Grieving relatives yesterday told for the second time in five months how Robert Jensen and Carol King left home for a short ride last Jan. 27 and drove into the grasp of their murderer.

Robert Jensen, whose 17-year-old son was shot and killed by Charles Starkweather, 19, last January, was the leadoff witness in the first-degree murder trial of Caril Ann Fugate, 15.

The state has charged that Caril willingly helped the stocky garbage-collector murder Bob and Carol, 16, and then aided in trying to conceal the crime. At no time during the blood-stained week of terror, in which Starkweather killed 10 persons, did Caril behave other than as an accomplice, according to County Attorney Elmer Scheele.

Lady Minds Manners but Not Directions

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP) — Patrolman Cyrus England was standing in his information booth when Esther Van Moppes drove up.

Which way is it to the Garden State Parkway? asked Miss Van Moppes.

England told her, she thanked him, then drove smack into his information booth.

During the last seven years the number of motor vehicles on the road in Great Britain, France, West Germany, Italy and Spain increased by 107 per cent compared with a 37 per cent gain in the United States.

Shall We Rewrite Our Constitution?

Big Hurdles Face Convention Call

(Last of 10 articles on constitutional conventions)

By ARTHUR W. BROMAGE

Professor of Political Science, University of Michigan

If Michigan needs a new constitution, the intended way is by holding a constitutional convention. There are other ways to make minor changes.

In the 50 years since the present document was drafted, proposed amendments have averaged more than two a year. Over half of them—63 amendments—have been adopted.

What are the hurdles in summoning a constitutional convention? First, unless a majority of all who vote in the November election say "yes" on calling it, the required total will be lacking.

In other words, failure to vote on the call will count as "no."

Second, bipartisan support does not exist. The Democratic party has decided against it because the use of senatorial districts for the election of the convention delegates would give Republicans a controlling voice.

Third, influential statewide organizations are also divided. It would actually be easier to pass revisions themselves than to summon the convention to propose the revisions.

All that is necessary at the popular referendum on changes is a majority of those voting on that particular question.

More agreements exist on the need for bringing Michigan's constitution up to date than on the way the convention to do it is made up. But the greatest single obstacle will be inertia—failure of people to check the question of the call on their ballots.

If a constitutional convention is called, the delegates will carry out their duties with deliberation in accordance with a fixed time-table.

In 1960 their proposed revisions will come before the people. If then adopted at the polls, the new constitution will go into effect January 1, 1961.

Michigan's first constitution, that of 1835, was short, simple, flexible. The state has moved a long way from a constitution confined to the fundamentals. It is up to the voters to say on Nov. 4 whether or not a convention shall be called.

Boy Accidentally Shoots, Kills Own Brother, 8

MARQUETTE (AP) — Michael Clark, 8, was accidentally shot and killed by his nine-year-old brother, Jack, Thursday as the older boy played with his father's .22 cal. rifle in the family home near here.

The boys' mother, Helen Clark, said Jack was standing in the doorway playing with the rifle when it accidentally discharged. The slug struck Michael, who was playing in the yard about 40 feet away.

The first man-made snow storm in the United States was made by air-dropping dry ice on clouds over Mount Greylock, Mass., in 1946.

UAW Dispute Keeps Ex-Cello Plants Shut

DETROIT (AP)—Five plants of the Ex-Cello Corp., makers of wire and paper products, remained closed today in a dispute with the United Auto Workers.

A company spokesman said the UAW is insisting on a master contract to cover all five plants, while the management wants to negotiate for each plant individually. Sixteen other Ex-Cello plants are not affected.

The spokesman said the company's other plants represented by the UAW have local-level pacts.

The five plants which have been closed since Oct. 20 are in Fostoria, Lima and Bluffton, Ohio, and Detroit and Traverse City, Mich. Expiration date of the old pact, which covered the five plants, was Aug. 31.

Builders' Wages Climb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Average wages of union building trades workers rose one and one-half cents to $3.35 an hour in the third quarter of the year, the labor department has said. Most Juveniles to Get Clean Slate at Age 21

EAST LANSING (AP)—State Police are adopting a plan whereby most juvenile arrest records will be destroyed when the juvenile reaches 21 years of age. Thus, young people will move into their early adulthood with a clean slate.

Only records of youths involved in serious crimes and those of repeated offenders and incorrigibles will be kept for reference.

3 Teenagers Jailed

CADILLAC (AP) — Three teenage youths have been jailed on charges of breaking and entering in connection with burglaries and car thefts in the Cadillac area. They are Rolland Peterson, 18; Wayne Wetherall, 18, and Albert Lehr, 17. Peterson and Wetherall, held in Wexford County Jail, waived examination Thursday and were bound over to circuit court. Lehr was held at Osceola County Jail.

Train Hits Deaf Mute

ESCANABA (AP) — James Rex Thurber, 16, a deaf-mute, was struck by a railway box car at a crossing near his home. One leg was mangled when he fell beneath the car and it was amputated Thursday. Officials at St. Francis Hospital described his condition as "good."

Rural school teachers are paid about one-third less than teachers of city children, reports the Twentieth Century Fund.

Gasoline Prices Cut

DETROIT (AP)—Gasoline service stations handling major brands in the Detroit area have cut their prices. Standard, Shell, Socony, Sunoco, Pure and Speedway 79 stations have reduced their prices by two cents a gallon, while prices at Sinclair and Texaco stations were cut 1.7 cents. The prevailing scale is 27.9 cents a gallon for regular and 31.9 cents for premium gas.

Press Favors 'Yes' Vote on Sewage Ordinance

An up to date sewage treatment plant is a prerequisite for any modern city. Pontiac is no exception. Our present sewage plant is inadequate.

★ ★ ★

The proposed new addition to the plant on Opdyke and Auburn is definitely necessary. The Michigan State Water Resources Commission insists that Pontiac improve its treatment facilities to meet the State's standards.

Pontiac's potential growth area is in the northeast section and in order to provide the necessary sanitary and combined sewers, this expanded facility is a prime exigency.

Another point not to be overlooked is service from Pontiac for such significant additions to our community as Michigan State University Oakland.

The scholastic value alone that Pontiac will gain from this great University will far exceed the infinitesimal daily cost to the taxpayers of this added facility.

The current sanitation problem, plus increased capacity for industrial and residential growth far outweigh the cost of this project.

The expanded facilities can be financed by a $3,300,000 general obligation bond issue. This can be financed to the taxpayer at a cost of about 70 cents per year per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

On a house assessed at $4,000, it would be equal to $2.80 a year, or less than one cent a day. This is a cheap price to pay for a City service as important as sanitation.

If Pontiac is to expand, certainly modern sewage treatment should be No. 1 on our list of City services. For a clean and healthy City, this new plant should be built in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Vote 'Yes' Tuesday on Constitution

Citizens who go to the polls Tuesday will vote on a proposal to call a state convention to consider revising or rewriting the Michigan constitution. The ballot calls for a 'Yes' or 'No' vote, and a majority of all ballots cast in the election (not merely of those cast on the proposition) is needed for approval.

★ ★ ★

Most people familiar with Michigan's state government agree that some part of the constitution might be improved by revision, even though they disagree however, over what parts and over what changes are desirable.

There are three ways to change our constitution.

1. Amendments submitted by the Legislature and ratified by the voters;
2. Amendments initiated by the people and ratified at the polls.
3. Proposals prepared by a constitutional convention. These may be an entirely new document, or further amendments.

★ ★ ★

The first two methods have been generously employed. The present constitution has been amended 63 times; so often that our top legal document has been labeled the "patch-work constitution."

All three methods listed above have one important thing in common:

Any change in the constitution MUST BE RATIFIED by voters at the polls.

The entire state tax system;

The courts; should judges be elected or appointed?

Home rule; if it's good for cities and villages, why not for counties?

Representation in the State Legislature (reapportionment).

These are but a few of the vital state governmental functions which are deserving of periodic study to keep them in tune with changing times.

There is another important consideration on the convention proposal:

If the proposition is approved, the convention need not necessarily rewrite the entire constitution; it need not even recommend ANY changes. Its function and duty will be to study the constitution.

Any changes it decides should be made will be RECOMMENDATIONS ONLY to the voters.

★ ★ ★

With this safeguard around a study that is sorely needed, The PRESS recommends a "Yes" vote on the proposal.

Reports from the Drahner Woods wild life sanctuary in northeast Oakland County, sent me by

Mutual Hobby Sparks Marriage

Leota had the blues! She felt that her marriage was heading for disaster. Then she injected a psychological tonic that has transformed her life and produced a fascinating mutual hobby for herself and her husband. It can do the same thing for all of you, so give it a try. And the booklet below will offer dandy ideas for your school kids, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I was very moody and discouraged a year ago," she told me "until I happened to start reading your column.

★ ★ ★

"Soon thereafter I sent for some of your booklets, including the one on 'How to Write Salable Copy.'

"Well, I didn't have aspirations to be an authoress, but I thought I'd just see what you had to say.

"And I haven't yet tried to produce any short stories or books. But I did get interested in your section on prize contesting.

"Since my husband and I were getting stodgy and somewhat disinterested in each other, I hoped against hope that if I entered some contests it might stimulate his interest, too.

PROOF OF PUDDING

"So I got some contest blanks at the supermarket and began working on the last line for a limerick.

"Soon he walked over and picked up one of my entry blanks. He then told me I was wasting my time for contests are crooked.

"But I informed him that you said most of them are honest and are judged with great care.

"He likes your column, perhaps because you often pick on us wives, so he gave a 'Humph' and sat down at the dining room table beside me.

"Then he began criticizing some of my rimes, so I gave him a sheet of paper and told him to see what he could do.

"Well, before we got up from the table, we had composed dozens of last lines, so I asked him to pick out the three best ones from my list, while I did likewise for his.

"Then we sent in six separate entries, each one accompanied by a box cap.

"Since the winners were not to be announced for 90 days, we decided to try some other contests. In fact, we had about 75 entries mailed into a dozen or more contests before that first limerick contest finally awarded its prizes.

"Well, Dr. Crane, my husband got $10 on one of his entries, but I didn't rate anything.

CONTEST BUGS

"Since then we have become actual contest fanatices. I guess the 'bug' gets you after you win a prize.

"Now we still have almost 100 entries outstanding, but we have won an electric refrigerator, plus several cases of canned goods and some cash prizes that ranged from $2 up to $100.

"Better than the prizes, however, has been the fact my husband and I now work together almost every night in this zestful hobby.

"We have started reading encyclopedias and reference books on all sorts of subjects. So we have whetted our wits and added a lot to our knowledge.

"But my moodiness is gone and I can't thank you enough for bringing my husband and me back together in this fascinating hobby of prize contesting."

You readers don't know what you are missing if you haven't tried prize contesting as a very stimulating and often lucrative hobby.

So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It contains a section on Prize Contesting.

I used to employ current prize contests in my course on "Psychology of Advertising" at Northwestern University for they teach you concise writing.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Osler Defined Rheumatism —Arthritis Is for Snobs

In the sixth edition of the "Practice of Medicine," the late, great Doctor Osler gives a better definition of chronic joint disability than any latter day authority gives, under the heading Morbid Anatomy.

But, alas, poor Osler was no merchant of medicine. He called chronic joint disability "chronic rheumatism" and made it extremely distasteful to the $300 snobs by saying "It is most common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day laborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp."

DR. BRADY

By a stroke of his pen Osler unwittingly made a million customers for the "arthritis" era. The snobs were happy to be freed from the stigma of "rheumatism."

In the third edition of "Diseases of the Nose and Throat, D. Braden Kyle, M.D., said, under the heading, Treatment of Enlarged (hypertrophied) Tonsils:

"If the surface of the organ be regular, the removal of a small portion (tonsillotomy) by means of the tonsillotome, will, by reason of contraction of the scar tissue which necessarily follows, materily reduce its size, the object of this procedure being merely to relieve the symptoms without the removal of the entire tonsil, as its presence is physiological."

Dr. Kyle did mention tonsillectomy "by means of the tonsillotome," as the method of choice "if the tonsil is enormously enlarged, boggy, and with large crypts in which there is a tendency to accumulation, associated with the condition known as caseous tonsillitis."

The difference between tonsillotomy (removal of a small portion of the tonsil) and tonsillectomy (removal of the tonsil) was evidently the size of the bite made by the tonsillotome. Kyle did not suggest blind dissection of the throat, which is a fair description on the atrocity which too many operators have perpetrated on children in the name of surgery.

When I say blind dissection, I mean what I say. Competent pathologists, microscopically examining tissue removed by tonsillectomy, find in too many instances that the "surgeon" has hacked out portions of throat muscle along with bits of tonsil tissue.

Try to find three recognized medical authorities who agree about the indications for removal of the tonsils — or one recognized medical authority who defines "chronic arthritis" in terms an uneducated person can understand. I've been searching the literature for years and all I have found to date is masterful equivocation.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Smiles

★ ★ ★

A wife likely means well even if she doesn't live within her husband's means.

★ ★ ★

Money best spent for happiness is that which pays a doctor for a new baby.

More Writers Tell Ideas on Political Controversies

Of the five million people out of work and the Republicans boasting we never had it so good as the last six years, it takes an awful lot of guts to try and cram that down my throat.

★ ★ ★

Then Republicans running for office say the Democrats are running industry out of Michigan. We know industry is leaving but the state is still run mostly by Republicans. They made the laws, taxes and all. How can Democrats then be blamed?

★ ★ ★

You might say it's the union. Then tell me how one company makes one billion dollars profit in a year? I'd say the union didn't hurt it much. Industry was going along pretty smoothly until people started asking for a change. They got it and in more ways than one. What does your common sense tell you this time?

Nov. 4

Do you wish to pay bigger taxes? Certain groups plan to abolish the law stating we are not to pay more than $15 per $1,000 our property is assessed. Do you wish to lose your local government? Several groups are determined to abolish townships as a unit of government, leaving only counties and towns. In big-city counties, voters living in the suburbs and small villages are too few to properly protect their local interests.

★ ★ ★

Do you wish all state monies to be put in one huge jackpot? Every two years from such a common fund, with no sums earmarked, as at present for schools, roads, etc., you must fight for your share. Would your needs receive sympathetic consideration from big city voters?

★ ★ ★

County Taxpayer

When Mrs. Roosevelt "Met the Press" the other night I was astonished. I never cared for the Roosevelt dynasty, but I did credit her with intelligence, which proves how wrong I often am.

In one sentence she fights for every man's freedom and in the next she doesn't believe in giving people of Ohio the right to choose if they'll have a right-to-work law or not. She stupidly says, "No man is forced to work under the union if it's against his ideals and principles. Let him quit and go somewhere else to work."

A man who has worked faithfully for 15 or 20 years, given a fair day's work and drawn fair pay, satisfied with his employment, is forced to join a union, even though he is always, for some obscure reason, ineligible to vote on union policies, even though he sees his dues spent to elect candidates he disapproves, to buy Cadillacs to drive union officials around, to pay officials' salaries while they're in jail for breaking laws, to buy palatial homes for the chosen few as well as yachts and a few of the nicer things in life, to retire ex-gangsters on huge pensions, and so on.

Yet to keep the job he has worked at for years, he must contribute to these abuses or, as Mrs. R. says, "Let him quit and find work elsewhere." If the union is so good, it should have no fear of a right-to-work law.

Bill of Rights

A few months ago a bill was passed providing $25,000 a year pension to ex-presidents, $10,000 a year to widows of ex-presidents, in addition to office space, furniture and equipment, administrative assistants, secretaries, clerical help, whatever is desired. Are we just a money tree? This makes the man the important level, the constitutional office second.

A president is elected for a specific term, not for the taxpayers to become financially responsible for him the balance of his life. To many this bill is a great betrayal, not by either party, but by every man voting for it. Does a one of the deserve to be elected or re-elected? Think it over.

Interested Observer

I cannot believe any thinking property owner would consider voting for a $3,300,000 for a sewage plant or anything else at this time. We voted $3,000,000 for a hospital addition, and now four years later and $4.5 million spent, we still have just a bigger mess than ever.

★ ★ ★

We have a million dollar public safety building and can't even use the jail, a police force City Hall can't control or manage. We have doctors suing the hospital and policemen suing the City. In spite of this they have nerve to ask us to mortgage our property for $3.3 million. I say no.

★ ★ ★

Let's get on a pay-as-we-go basis, let City Hall use some of the $4 million surplus and some of the million dollar a year we're already paying for capital improvements, but no more bonds and higher taxes. City Hall already has too much money.

George L. Scales
100 Henry Clay Ave.

How many union-won raises and other benefits, such as SUB payments, has Forced Member objected to? Increases in wages, won for him by the union, pay his dues many times over, but he wants a free ride.

★ ★ ★

His kind is usually quickest to call a committeeman when he thinks the company is pushing him around. If he read David Lawrence's column beside his own letter, he should be glowing with self-righteousness.

Paying union dues is little different from paying taxes. You're paying for services, past and future.

E. M. Renslear
739 Bigham

About this so-called smear, who is smearing who? At least only one man is smearing while the champion of smearers is smearing the whole U.S.A. We've had six years of the best times in history.

★ ★ ★

Don't they remember the unemployment in 1949 and we went to Korea to take up the slack. Mass murder is what I call it. Don't they remember in 1939 the Democrats had been in office six years and there were still 11 million men out of work and Hitler took over and started us back to prosperity. But it didn't last long when the war ended. They don't like Ike's foreign policy because it hasn't got us in a war. They had a foreign entanglement instead of a foreign policy. They yell Ike doesn't let American people know what's going on. Did anyone ever know the truth about Pearl Harbor? You never will.

I just wanted to let the people know what some of the rank and file members think.

Long-Time Union Member

Many people ask why George Higgins failed to be elected in 1956. Any party wants a man to represent them whom they can trust and have confidence in, not one who turns his back on the party when he doesn't get his own way. Twice now Mr. Higgins has done this. He has become a man without a party like a man without a country.

Can the Democratic party trust such a man. He should take inventory of his back record. He was well liked and a respected citizen until he became confused at the real meaning of a good citizen and a trusted politician.

One Who Cares

The Pontiac Press has done a fine job on this election. You have printed the statements of all important candidates and given them equal space. Also you've covered the other issues.

★ ★ ★

My family and I have banked on The Press for information and help ever since we moved here 21 years ago. When I go to other cities I quickly appreciate our own newspaper more, for the other dailies are not as good.

★ ★ ★

Also our home paper is about the best printed. The color work in The Press is twice as good as it is in a nearby city.

Satisfied

To the unfortunate union members who never drew any strike fund, the UAW must have the funds to support their firebug criminals and other "You join or else" programs.

It's been told and retold that the union was to protect us from the company and foremen, but it's beginning to look like we must have a union to protect us from the union.

One of the Unfortunate Ones

One Democratic candidate made a remark that Nixon's remarks would sound tinny to those missing pay checks.

It seems strange, in view of the fact the missing pay checks were taken away by a very strong Democratic union. Surely the few dollars a week these workers gain under the new contract cannot compensate for all the back regular wages missed. Some men have worked only 12 full weeks this year. Many have lost homes, cars, furniture and all hopes of being solvent for years. Their lost wages also hurt home-owned businesses, those so gloriously championed by the Democrats.

★ ★ ★

When you have no money you don't buy clothing or new appliances. If there is any question about the unions foisting Democratic candidates on their members, just listen to a broadcast of their Shift Break program on the radio. Let them admit Michigan's recession is on their own backs.

Bob Considine Says:

Venice Bursting With Pride Over Pope

VENICE — If any of you good folks run into Bob Benchley, give him a message. Tell him the streets here are full of water and please advise.

The only really dry place in town is the martini jug at Harry's Bar. But Venetians have something more to talk about than the prospect of a long and touristless winter. This incredible city has sent its second patriarch to the throne of Peter. The first was Giuseppe Cardinal Sarto, who became Pope Pius X in 1903 and since has been made a saint.

Now lightning has struck again. Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli has been named Pope and taken a name that has gathered dust through six centuries of the papacy — John.

We are in Venice dredging information for a series about the new Pope, which begins Sunday. It is fascinating to walk in the footsteps of those who knew him but will never know him again.

Everybody has a story about the new Pope. Everybody professes or really did have some personal experience with him. They ran into him as he informally strolled the streets. They were at St. Mark's the Sunday he suggested that ladies visiting Venice wear clothes in public. They remember that he was the first cardinal they had seen who could laugh out loud.

The half forgotten phrase, the dimmed recollection, have come back to vibrant life in the mind of the public and the machines of the Venetian press. Dr. Renato Tombolani of the "Gazzettion," thumbing through the old files, found pertinent precedent in a story about the departure on Sunday, July 23, 1903, of Cardinal Sarto.

"Your eminence, be certain to come back," a man shouted as the Cardinal who was to become not only Pope but a saint stepped aboard the train at Venice's Santa Lucia station.

"Dead or alive, I will return," Sarto called back. As it turned out, he couldn't keep his word.

Shortly before Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli departed for Rome from the same station Sunday, Oct. 12, he wrote his friend, the Bishop of Bergamo: "One word on my entry into the conclave . . . it is of little importance whether the new Pope be of Bergamo or not. The prayers of all ought to be that he be a man who will govern with wisdom and temperance, that he be a saint and one who sanctifies."

Like the people who emerged from hiding when Harry Truman beat Tom Dewey and exclaimed, "I had him all the way," the Venetian in the street — if there were any streets — will tell you now that their patriarch was a cinch to be elected Pope.

Did not the great Saint Malachy predict in the 13th century that the Pope of this day would be a "pastor and sailor?"

Surely (the Venetian argues) everyone must agree that Roncalli was the pastor extraordinary of Venice, ruling as he did from the great Byzantine Basilica of St. Mark's, and no man can contest the fact one must be a sailor to live in Venice.

There was singing and dancing and music in the tourist free piazzas on the night Cardinal Roncalli became supreme pontiff of his church, but a little sadness too and here again we have the resurrected recollection. Someone recalled that as he left the railroad station for the conclave in Rome he said, "It is a more beautiful thought to me that I can return here in 15 days than if is to be going to the conclave."

Big 'Football' for Politicians

Both Parties Claiming Credit for Recovery They Didn't Achieve

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic candidates undoubtedly gained many potential votes from the business recession. Now the Republicans are making campaign ammunition out of the recovery.

This is right and normal, politically speaking. If people blame the "ins" when things go wrong, the "ins" are entitled to claim credit when affairs right themselves.

The fact is however that politicians, policies and panaceas seem to have had little to do with either causing or curing the business slump. As the economic data accumulate, the 1957-58 recession looks more and more like a very ordinary swing and backswing of the economic pendulum.

Far from being an unprecedented or rushing rebound, as some have described it, the recovery is a little behind schedule by comparison with the upturns from the earlier postwar slumps.

It has left a troublesome residue of unemployed, 4,100,000 of them, about 1½ million more than a year ago. Unemployment never improves as rapidly as sales, output and total incomes.

But there is grist for the GOP speechmakers even here. It appears that this month will see industry absorb another 500,000 or so of the idle, roughly matching last month's good gain.

The official job report won't be ready before next Thursday or Friday, but there's every reason to expect that the administration will find a way to break the glad news somehow before election day — probably in somebody's campaign speech this weekend.

A new Federation of Malaya is an Eastern monarchy ruled by a king. But the king is not born to the throne. He is elected to it for five years.

Gila Monster Awkward

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Gila monsters grow to a length of 2 feet, have a flat, blunt head and a heavy-set, cylindrical body, an oversize pointed tail, and powerful, stubby legs. They are usually awkward and slow-moving, but can flash into action and run for short distances or, when aroused, twist and throw themselves about with ability and quickness. Gila monsters can store fat in their tails and save their lives by living on this for several months.

Ask States to Back Water Safety Laws

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In the interests of water safety, governors of all states will be asked to support legislation requiring registration of all motorboats, regardless of their power.

The board of directors of the National Water Safety Congress have decided to seek the governors' support for the legislation. A resolution directed its secretary, Claude Fox of Knoxville, to write to each chief executive about the matter.

The safety group wants to see various state legislatures pass laws implementing the 1948 Federal Boating Act and tightening it with somewhat stricter requirements.

Outdoor City Employes Will Get Cold Shoulder

Leader Observes Birthday

Chinese Salute Chiang With Fireworks, Music

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist Chinese marked the birthday of President Chiang Kai-shek today with noisy fireworks and music on Formosa.

On Quemoy occasional Communist shells fell and there was one brisk artillery exchange.

Newspapers ran special birthday editions and radio stations blared "Happy Birthday" songs all day. There were parades, speeches and bands. Crowds visited government buildings to sign congratulatory scrolls.

Chiang, who still hopes to sweep the graves of his ancestors at Chikow, in Chekiang province, spent the day in seclusion with friends.

By the Chinese system of reckoning, which considers a child two years old at the first anniversary of his birth, this was his 72nd birthday. It was his ninth on Formosa, since he lost the mainland.

The generalissimo, or "Gimo" as he is called, sent a message to his 100,000 soldiers on the offshore islands thanking them for their steadfastness against Communist fire and urging them to double their efforts toward eventual victory.

Chiang has renounced force as the chief instrument of his return to the mainland. But he still believes a Hungarian-type revolt fused with support from Formosa someday will topple the Red regime.

For the Communists this was the third odd-numbered day of unrestricted shooting in their partial cease-fire proclaimed last weekend. The Reds say that on even-numbered days they will exempt the harbor and airstrip from their artillery fire to permit landing of supplies.

There had been speculation that Chiang's birthday would bring a stepup in the Red attack. But except for the brisk exchange in midmorning, the Reds lobbed only occasional shells onto the island.

The Defense Ministry marked the day by giving this score in the duel with the Communists since mainland batteries started massive bombardment of the Quemoys on Aug. 23:

Destroyed by Nationalist artillery, 154 Communist guns, 23 ammunition depots, 4 barracks, 13 vessels; 19 Communist torpedo boats and 4 gunboats sunk, and 3 other Red vessels captured by the Nationalist navy; 32 Communist MIG17s destroyed by the Nationalist air force.

The summary gave no figures on Nationalist losses, but mentioned one Sabre Jet lost in collision with a MIG.

U. of M. Weather Balloon Drops in Iowa Back Yard

CALMAR, Iowa (AP)—Representatives of the University of Michigan were awaited here today to pick up a large weather balloon that landed yesterday in the back yard of the Kermit Halverson home.

University and Navy researchers said it was the first time in 4,000 flights that one of their balloons landed in a populated area. Police took charge of the bag and its valuable instruments.

When the automotive factories are down, we all suffer.

Ex-Democrat

I want to call voters' attention to a few facts they may have forgotten. FDR still had over 9.5 million unemployed six years after his inauguration when the second World War broke out. Then after the war things were going down hill fast with little Harry Truman at the wheel. Millions were unemployed again and Harry policed up Korea and that brought back our same old prosperity, which we still had when President Eisenhower took over.

★ ★ ★

The maiming and killing of our boys ended soon after Eisenhower took office and there have been no casualties since. If our President had wanted to put us back into the shooting, murdering prosperity, he had many good chances.

★ ★ ★

Now we have peace and a good prospect for prosperity and that's something we haven't had for almost 30 years. It's logical that a Republican Congress would have been more considerate of legislation backed by our President. So fathers, mothers, wives, etc., don't forget our war prosperity. And to the peace-loving, freedom-loving union member, think seriously before castjng your vote. You can even lose the privilege of voting.

Two Give Ideas on Halloween

I agree with Grumpy Gram. I am an east side resident and taxpayer. Last year they came by droves on our porch. We ran out of treats long before the hour. They were mostly from other parts of the city and shouldn't have been there. Some came a second time.

One for All a Good Time

On Halloween I wonder why we can't have city drives for UNICEF. I'm not advocating the little ghosts and hob goblins do without their yearly treats, but we could give less expensive treats and give half the amount to the United Children's fund. A handful of pennies from each household would add up to a lot of happiness for so many underprivileged children. Our own children have so much they could stand a few more lessons in giving. Only a handful of pennies, but it will go so far.

Big Navy Missile Fired Successfully

It was the third announced firing of the missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, from the main pad at the Naval Air Missile Test Center here.

After a short flight to sea, the radio-controlled weapon turned inland and was successfully recovered at Antelope Dry Lake.

Set Christmas Seal Start

DETROIT (AP)—The 52nd annual fund drive gainst tuberculosis will open Nov. 14 with the mailing of more than 530,000 Christmas seal letters to Detroit area homes. The seals raise money for free chest X-rays, TV camps, tuberulin tests and other tuberculosis control programs of the Tuberculosis and Health Society and the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanitorium.

Chief GM Medic Retires

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Max R. Burnell, medical director of General Motors since 1949, is retiring effective today but will remain as consultant until Jan. 1. Dr. Burnell is medical adviser to the National Assn. of Manufacturers and former chief of staff at Flint's McLarin Hospital.

Heart Disease Milder on Farms

Severe Cases, Death Twice as High Among Other Occupations

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Farmers appear to have much less risk of developing severer forms of coronary heart disease than nonfarmers as a group, a government report says.

A team of U.S. Public Health Service researchers said this was one of the preliminary findings of a survey on this disease conducted in six counties of northeastern North Dakota.

The team, headed by Dr. William Zukel of the National Heart Institute, told the 86th annual meeting of the American Public Health Assn. this story:

Among 20,000 males 35 and over in the area's population, including about 10,520 farmers and 9,310 men in other occupations, there were 228 reported cases of coronary heart disease during the year of the study.

Of the 228 cases, 101 occurred among farmers and 127 in males of other occupations.

The reported incidence of milder manifestations of the disease—such as angina pectoris—was not much different for farmers when compared with nonfarmers.

However, the occurrence of the more severe manifestations — such as myocardial infarction ("heart attack") and death—was twice as high among the other occupational groups than it was among the farmers.

The reason?

The doctors offered no views. They merely said, "The reason for this difference deserves more intensive study."

Among other preliminary findings:

The reported incidence of coronary disease was over twice as high among cigarette smokers as among persons who had never smoked.

"No appreciable difference in incidence . . . was present among farmers who smoked and farmers who did not smoke," the report said.

The doctors added: "If cigarette smoking is a factor in coronary heart disease, possibly the lack of association among farmers was due to the fact that the farmers who smoked cigarettes smoked less than other occupational groups."

Taste Out of Season

MUNISING (AP)—A taste for venison out of season has cost Jack Atkinson and Walter Bower of nearby Van Meer their hunting licenses for the next three years. The pair also was fined $100 each for illegal possession of a deer; $9.90 court costs and sentenced to 10 days in the Alger County jail.

French Budget Puts Envoys in Subway Class

PARIS (AP)—American diplomats in Paris have been told to take the subway to call on their striped pants counterparts.

The development came to light when the embassy distributed staff instructions on where to pick up subway tickets, plus maps of the Paris underground system.

It was brought about by a quarter-million-dollar budget cut which all but eliminated the embassy motor pool.

Prudently, however, the embassy maintained enough cars to pick up visiting congressmen at the airport. Assistant secretaries of state and above are also still entitled to this treatment.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton, who is independently healthy and digging deep in his own pocket to finance embassy social functions, won't be affected.

Phone calls to Washington were severely restricted.

★ ★ ★

Anyone burning the midnight oil — and many do — will no longer get any overtime pay. It was eliminated completely.

Too Long, Too Wide, Too Garish for Him

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Mayor Terry Schrunk told a City Council meeting Thursday U.S. cars are too long, too wide and have too much chrome on them.

"If we don't get an American manufacturer to produce a good sound car free of frills and luxury, we're going to continue to face a mounting traffic problem," Schrunk said.

★ ★ ★

"Furthermore, we're going to have to relocate our parking meters, because cars are getting too big for the spaces."

UF-Sponsored YMCA Does the Trick

Boy Gets in Swim---Loses Terror of Water

Karl, a college senior, earns his tuition by working each summer as a lifeguard and swimming instructor at a Pontiac area swimming beach.

He was a member of his high school swimming team, and is presently a three-letter man with his college swimming team.

There was a time, however, when Karl had no desire to swim at all. In fact, he was terrified at the thought of going near water.

He might have gone through life never knowing how to swim if it hadn't been for the United Fund supported Pontiac YMCA and for his father, who realized how important a skill swimming was to any man or boy living in lake-studded Oakland County.

NEARLY DROWNED

At an early age, some buddies of Karl's playfully gave him the old "heave ho" into a pool. Not knowing how to swim, and being thrown into deep water, Karl nearly drowned before an older boy pulled him to safety.

★ ★ ★

Karl decided never to go near water again. His dad wisely talked him into joining the "Y". Karl stuck with handicraft, woodwork, basketball, and sports other than swimming until an instructor finally convinced him that it might be OK at least to give the pool a "try."

★ ★ ★

Karl found there were others like him who were afraid of water and thought they'd never be swimmers when he started out as a "Minnow."

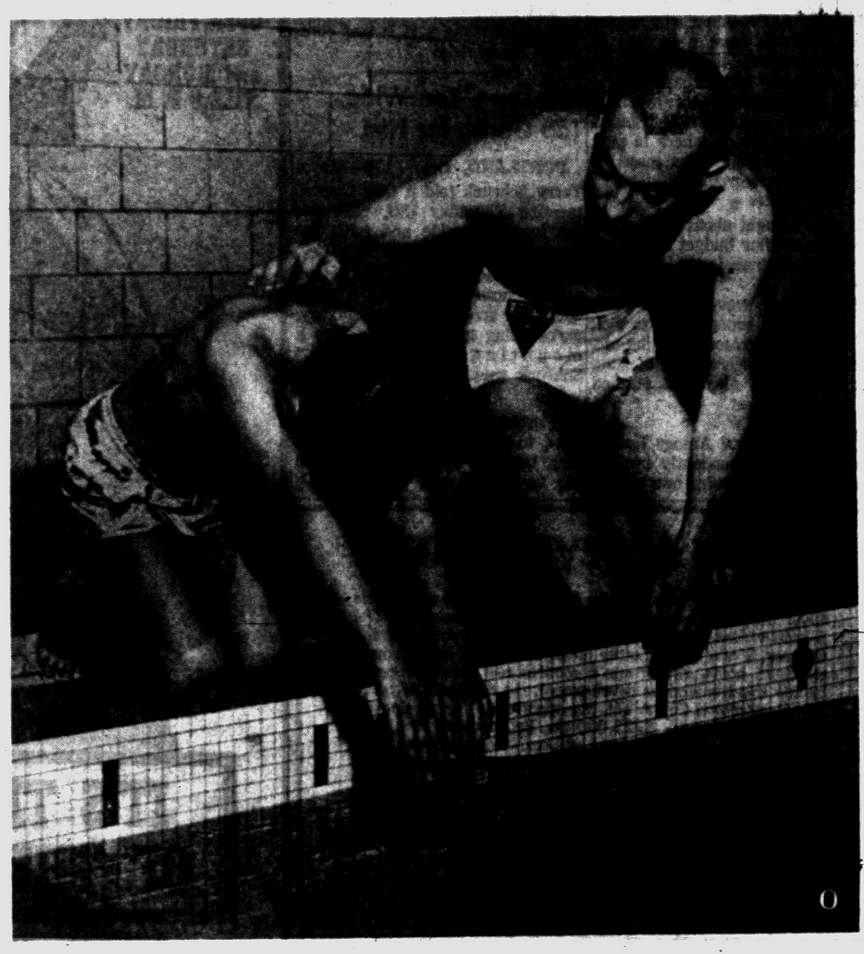

After constant encouragement and guidance from a trained instructor, Karl graduated to the "Fish" class and then to the "Flying Fish" and "Shark" classes. That first length of the pool was the hardest, but after he'd done it, Karl really began to enjoy swimming.

★ ★ ★

As a YMCA member over a span of several years, Karl took and passed his junior and senior lifesaving tests. Before he was out of high school he was a leader examiner, qualified to teach and graduate both children and adults in the various swimming classes.

★ ★ ★

This is but one facet of the vast program offered both boys and adults at the YMCA, through the support of United Fund contributions. In 1957 alone, this United Fund agency graduated 68 as qualified lifeguards and gave swimming instruction to 1,200 area residents.

Pontiac Press Photo

NOTHING TO IT — For some boys swimming comes hard, for others it's easy, but instructors at the Pontiac YMCA work hard at teaching boys the basic fundamentals. After these are learned, there's really nothing to it, as a member of the local Y, Steve Schultz, 8, of Troy, is finding out. With him, working on those fundamentals, is swimming instructor John Moreau (right). With a capable staff of instructors like Moreau, the Pontiac YMCA, a United Fund agency, turned out 68 qualified lifeguards last year and gave instruction to 1,200 residents of Oakland County, where swimming is such an important skill.

Army Judicial Board Expected to Consider Ft. Jackson Charges

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP) — A general court-martial board was expected to retire today to consider charges of mistreating recruits brought against 1st Lt. Gerald M. Wheatley, 23, of Bridgeton, N.J.

★ ★ ★

Wheatley faced a maximum sentence of 3½ years in prison and dismissal from the service if convicted on the three charges of assault and battery, two of conduct unbecoming an officer and one charge of maltreating recruits.

★ ★ ★

Wheatley's court-martial was the last of the three "grease trap trials" at this Army recruit training center.

The lieutenant was the commanding officer of Company B, 4th Battalion of the 1st Training Regiment.

Court-martialed and convicted earlier were M. Sgt. George Sovie, 30, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Sgt. 1.C. Charles Moman, 28, of Empire, Ala. Sovie was reduced one rank and fined $450; Moman also lost a stripe and was fined $300.

★ ★ ★

Throughout Wheatley's two-day trial, the government argued that he was responsible for degrading acts and various indignities the recruits were ordered by the sergeants to perform.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution took the position that Wheatley had knowledge of what was going on in his company and became himself a principal in the commission of the offenses when he failed to halt stern disciplinary measures.

★ ★ ★

The defense succeeded in showing that Wheatley was not present when recruits underwent such ordeals as being dipped into a mess hall grease trap.

The recruits, under vigorous defense cross examination, did not show that Lt. Wheatley himself had given any order for degrading punishments.

Restaurant Owner Guilty in Morals Charge Trial

A 35-year-old Birmingham restaurant owner was convicted Thursday by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury of the statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl.

Judge Clark J. Adams set sentencing for Nov. 24 for Peter Nick, of 1564 Penistone St.

Nick's attorney failed in a motion for a mistrial on the grounds he claimed there was an "improper" swearing in and handling of the jury during the four days of trial.

New State Police Guns Tougher Against Autos

EAST LANSING (AP)—State Police announced they will equip their officers with .30 caliber carbines to cope more effectively with criminals fleeing in autos.

★ ★ ★

The new weapons are being adopted because of a gunfight last year in which a Michigan and an Indiana trooper were shot to death.

Police revolver bullets were ineffective in piercing the car used by two gunmen in a chase from Clinton into Indiana.

Police say the main advantage of the five pound, 600-yard maximum range carbine is its maneuverability. It is the first automatic weapon the department ever has used.

David Lawrence Says:

Churchmen Back 'Right to Work'

WASHINGTON — If you are a member of any organization and don't like the way it is being run, you can resign. That's a form of protest widely understood in America.

Unfortunately, however, in many states if you are a member of a labor union, you can't resign without losing your job — the boss has agreed by contract with the union to fire you.

LAWRENCE

This is the essence of the "right to work" controversy. Congress passed a law saying that the states can deal with the problem in their own way.

★ ★ ★

Eighteen states have passed laws forbidding compulsory union membership. The people of six states will vote next Tuesday on whether to enact "right to work" laws.

Considerable misrepresentation of the real issue has been broadcast. It has been contended, for instance, by some churchmen that opposition to compulsory membership in unions is unmoral.

But the evidence shows that many prominent churchmen do not feel that way. Likewise, labor-union leaders argue that a worker must not be a "free rider" — that is, he must not be willing to receive the benefits of what the union does without paying for the upkeep of the union.

But that isn't the real issue at all. Here is what the Rev. Edward A. Keller of Notre Dame University, in his book "The Case for Right to Work Laws," says:

"It should be pointed out that the non-union workers in an open shop today are not 'free riders', but forced riders since under the Taft-Hartley Act they lose their right to bargain individually with their employers and are forced to bargain through the union."

The truth is a non-union member or a union member who has the right at any time to resign in protest can exert a powerful influence in bringing about unions that are democratic and free from corruption and which it would be desirable for the worker to join if he conscientiously believes in unions.

★ ★ ★

This is the point stressed by the Rev. Edward W. Greenfield, who studied the "right to work" situation at first hand in Indiana when he was pastor of a Presbyterian church there. As editor of "Faith & Freedom," a religious monthly published in California, he wrote recently:

★ ★ ★

"It is no longer the employer who decides whether a man may remain in his employment; it is the union, though the employer must do the firing. This remains true whether the union leadership be Communist, corrupt, politically partisan or otherwise indifferent to the rights and interests of union members.

★ ★ ★

"The workman has lost his freedom of choice in regard to joining or not joining a union. He has been deprived of his most effective weapon of protest, namely withdrawal of support when he does not approve of union policies and leadership.

★ ★ ★

He has been denied the right to hold his job unless he pays money into the union treasury."

Judge Carter of the Nebraska Supreme Court, in upholding the "right to work" laws of that state, wrote:

"We have prided ourselves in this country in the rights of free speech and free thought, rights which have been guaranteed to us by constitutional provision.

"Compulsory unionism infringes upon these rights and often encroaches upon the right of an individual to be free from coercion by others.

"To compel him to contribute to the support of economic or political programs adopted by a union, which may be adhorrent to him, is as constitutionally wrong as if similar programs were compelled by the employer.

"The fifth amendment protects against the forced appropriation of one's property for the support of ideals which he may desire to oppose."

The six states where the issue is being voted on next week are California, Ohio, Colorado, Idaho, Washington and Kansas.

Plans for Atomic Electricity by 1965

GE to Build Series of A-Reactors

NEW YORK (UPI) — The General Electric Company last night announced a plan to construct a series of small atomic power plants as the forerunner of a system that by 1965 would supply atomic electricity to private consumers without any increase in utility bills.

The proposed system would, in effect, be an extension of a system pioneered last year at Shippingport, Pa. There, the world's first full-scale commercial electric generator powered by atomic energy has been in operation for nearly a year, providing atomic electricity to private consumers in the Pittsburgh area. The reactor was built by Westinghouse Electric Corp. under a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

GE wants to start by selling utilities small, four-million-dollar package plants so they can learn the problems of producing nuclear power and consumers can get used to the idea of having nuclear reactors perking away in their midst.

The giant electrical company's program was outlined at a news conference last night by Francis K. McCune of Schenectady, N.Y., GE vice president and general manager of its Atomic Products Division.

McCune made it clear that as far as GE is concerned, atomic power could be surging through electrical circuits to percolators, TV sets and washing machines late next year. But costs must be brought down, he said, and fears and prejudices must be overcome before nuclear energy can become a household term.

SMALL START

As outlined by McCune, GE would start out with an "Operation Knowhow." This would involve the construction of small "package" atomic power plants, each producing around 5,000 kilowatts of electric power.

These would give utilities operational experience, and the construction of the plants in or near cities would give consumers a chance to have a close look at the source of nuclear power.

Then would come the major program, "Operation Sunrise," which would provide:

—Operation by 1962 of a handful of "developmental" nuclear power plants. Each would be constructed on a different principle, to test various phases of atomic power production. With the ironing out of the "bugs," all five principles could be incorporated later in one gigantic power plant.

—Operation by 1965 of three "evolutionary" plants that would be economically competitive with conventionally fueled power plants in "higher cost" areas around the country. They would compete with plants now producing power for a little over eight-tenths of a cent per kilowatt hour.

—Operation by 1970 of "target" plants producing power for a little over six-tenths of a cent per kilowatt hour. These would be competitive with 25 per cent of the "fossil fuel" (coal, gas and oil) power plants being constructed at that time in the United States.

Guards Strike Plant Connected With AEC

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A strike of 63 members of Local 99, International Guards Union of America, has idled 1,400 workers at ACF Industries plant here.

The guards went on strike Thursday in a wage dispute. They ask 20 cents an hour wage increase and the company has offered 6 cents.

About 1,400 members of the International Assn. of Machinists have refused to cross the guards' picket line.

The plant mnager, W. J. Jackel, said the company has not yet been able "to determine what effect the stoppage will have on the plant's work program."

Social Security Payments

Top Benefits Long Way Off

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The recent Social Security changes provide for monthly retirement payments up to $127. But, few people now working will ever collect that much—unless the program is changed again by Congress.

It will be possible to get as much as $124 a month if you retire at 65 in 1966 or later. But it'll be late in 1997 before anyone will be entitled to $127.

Here's why:

Your payments, if you're now working, will be based on your earnings covered by Social Security between Jan. 1, 1951, and the time you reach 65 (men) or 62 (women).

To be entitled to monthly payments of $127 a month, your earnings covered by Social Security for this period will have to average $400 a month. For most people now working, average monthly earning of $400 under Social Security will be impossible.

For the years 1951 through 1954 the maximum earnings you could have covered by Social Security was $3,600 ($300 a month average). For the years 1955 through 1958, the maximum earnings covered could only have been $4,200 ($350 a month). After Jan. 1, 1959, Social Security will cover $4,800 of your yearly earnings or $400 a month average.

The Social Security Administration will disregard five years in which you had the lowest earnings in determining your monthly earnings covered by Social Security.

For example: Suppose you had the maximum earnings for Social Security purposes between Jan. 1, 1951, and Jan. 1, 1959. Your earnings record would look like this:

1951—$3,600; 1952—3,600; 1953—$3,600; 1954—$3,600; 1955—$4,200; 1956—$4,200; 1957—$4,200; 1958—$4,200.

Even by ignoring the years 1951 through 1955 in figuring your average earnings, you'll still wind up with three years 1956, 1957, 1958—in which you had Social Security earnings of only $4,200 (an average of $350 a month).

So, no matter when you retire, your payments will always be based — in part—on average monthly earnings of $350.

This automatically makes it impossible for you to receive the $127 a month maximum payments, since the $127 payments are based on average monthly earnings of $400.

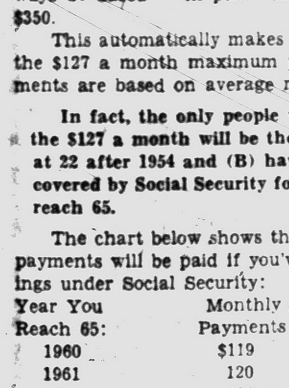

In fact, the only people who'll ever be able to collect the $127 a month will be those who (A) started working at 22 after 1954 and (B) have at least $4,800 in earnings covered by Social Security for all but five years until they reach 65.

The chart below shows the year in which the maximum payments will be paid if you've always had maximum earnings under Social Security:

Year You Reach 65:	Monthly Payments	Year You Reach 65:	Monthly Payments
1960	$119	1966	124
1961	120	1971	125
1962	121	1976	125
1953	122	1981	126
1964	123	1997	127
1965	123

Restaurant Posts Sign to Warn Safe-Crackers

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — The 5,000-pound safe in a restaurant here was cracked recently to the tune of $6,000.

So now there's a sign over the safe announcing that it contains only $35.60, enough for the restaurant to open for business the next day, and that it would take four men working 17 hours with diamond-cutting tools to get this "small change."

Adlai Insists GOP Gives False Picture

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, on the campaign trail in behalf of his fellow Democrats, has reiterated his charges that the Eisenhower administration has not painted a true picture of American affairs at home and abroad.

Stevenson told a Democratic rally Thursday the United States has faced mounting crises here and overseas during the last six years.

★ ★ ★

During that time, he said, "the White House has been reassuring America that all was well at home and abroad. And the Republicans in Congress have done nothing but concur."

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential nominee repeated his theme that "a void left by the failure of White House leadership is being filled by Congress."

"Crises have a way of coming to the flash point, the point when something must be done, he continued. "And what will be done will depend to a great extent upon Congress.

"Indeed, whom we send to the House and Senate this year will have unusually heavy influence on the course of American policy during the next two critical years."

Stevenson will wind up his off-year campaign appearances Saturday in Minneapolis.

PONTIAC NEEDS a New Sewage Disposal Plant

Vote 'Yes'

Tuesday on the Proposal

There is such a real need for this new sewage treatment plant! Present facilities just CANNOT take care of the needs of our city . . . we must provide more facilities for more people! Your vote Tuesday will give the City the "GO AHEAD" now at a time when construction can be started at once, when building can be done at a minimum cost, when financing is most advantageous, now BEFORE serious difficulties may arise.

PUT YOUR "OK" on THIS SORELY NEEDED HEALTH and SANITARY FACILITY

Here are questions you may ask and the answers, if you have others please call FE 3-7131 the City Manager's Office.

Q. Why do we need a new sewage treatment plant? What is the matter with our present plant?

A. Present plant capacity is not adequate. Pontiac constructed its first sewage treatment plant in 1919. The original plant has been expanded and revised many times—in 1926, 1927, 1935, 1939 and 1952. Some units are receiving twice the flow for which they were designed. The present plant will only treat up to 15 million gallons per day. During storms the flow increases to as much as 60 million gallons per day—4 times capacity! The sludge disposal facilities are completely inadequate. They serve only ⅛ of the present load. The treated sewage, called effluent, is discharged into the Clinton River. The State Water Resources Commission insists that Pontiac improve its treatment facilities to reduce stream pollution and meet the State's standards.

Utica obtains its water supply from the Clinton River. In only twelve hours pollution travels downstream from Pontiac to the Utica water intake.

Q. Where will the new plant be? What will it provide?

A. The proposed new plant will be at Opdyke and Auburn, on 47 acres of land now owned by the city. It will include a new treatment plant with a capacity of 5 million gallons per day, pipelines to connect the new plant with the present plant, and a sludge disposal system for both plants, using modern incinerator facilities. It will be a modern plant in every respect.

Q. How will the bond issue be financed?

A. The $3,300,000 bond issue will be general obligation bonds. Assuming a maximum interest cost of 4%, it can be financed at a cost of about 70c per year per $1,000 of assessed value. This is equal to $2.80 per year on a house assessed at $4,000, or less than 1c per day.

Business and industry will pay 78% of the cost of the new plant. Home owners will pay 22%.

VOTE FOR A BETTER CITY
VOTE YES NOVEMBER 4th

What Will the New Plant Provide?

- It will expand total treatment capacity by 5 million gallons per day and will provide sludge disposal for both the old plant and new plant.
- All sludge will be incinerated and a sterile ash will be the end product.
- It will remove all odors in the vicinity of the plant.
- It will make it possible to install sanitary and combined sewers in the eastern and northern sections of the city — including the area east of East Blvd.
- With the new plant the city will be in a position to provide capacity for industrial and residential growth in Pontiac and to serve such significant additions to our community as Michigan State University-Oakland.

Says Federal Courts Keep Schools Closed

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. says the federal courts are to blame for his failure to reopen any of the nine integration-closed white schools in three Virginia localities.

He had hoped to use state laws enacted along with the school-closing measure to reopen the schools—at least partially—on a segregated basis, the governor told the Virginia Education Assn. Thursday night.

But, he added, "the federal judiciary, leaping ahead to foreclose by prejudgment the exercise of any means left to the states to operate their affairs as they might deem best, has succeeded in keeping the schools closed.

★ ★ ★

Some 1,100 voting delegates, representing 25,000 teachers and administrators of the state's white schools, earlier had voted overwhelmingly to call on the governor for a reassessment of the state's massive resistance program and for assurance of the continued operation of state-supported schools.

Maureen O'Sullivan Flies to Son's Funeral

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Maureen O'Sullivan and her husband John Farrow flew into Los Angeles today from London to arrange for the funeral of their eldest son Michael D. V. Farrow, 19.

The youth was one of three persons killed Wednesday in the collision of two private planes near here. His father said in London he was unaware the boy was taking flying lessons.

Nixon Pushing for GOP Spurt

Sees Dems Staggering, Stumbling as Runners Near Finish Line

He told about 10,000 persons at Wichita University's field house that Democrats are beginning to hedge their predictions of a landslide victory in Tuesday's general election.

"They are haunted by the fear that the same thing is happening to them which happened to the Republicans in 1948 when a hard-fighting underdog clobbered an overconfident favorite," he said in reference to ex-President Harry Truman's victory over Republican Thomas Dewey.

Nixon moved on today to Billings, Mont., and Everett, Wash., in his cross-country campaign to help Republican candidates for congressional seats and state offices.

The vice president said the Wichita crowd was the largest he has addressed during the campaign.

Sharing the platform with Nixon were other GOP candidates, including gubernatorial nominee Clyde Reed Jr., and Clifford Hope Jr., a candidate for the House.

Although Kansas almost always is safe for Republicans, Reed and Hope have trailed their Democratic opponents in most polls. Reed faces George Docking, Kansas' first Democratic governor in 20 years. Docking is trying to become the first Democrat ever to win re-election as governor. Hope is running against Rep. Floyd Breeding in the 5th Dist. Breeding was elected two years ago, succeeding Hope's father, who retired.

Nixon said the Democratic campaign has run out of gas, leaving the Democrats with "nothing but hot air on phony issues."

He said that usually very few votes are changed this late in the campaign, "but from my observation, the public interest on a general scale first began to develop between the 10th and 15th of October.

"Since then we have been picking up momentum daily and their campaign has ground to a halt."

Shortly before Nixon arrived, police got an anonymous tip that three bombs had been planted in the hotel where he stayed. A thorough search uncovered no trace of a bomb.

Witches, Spooks Plan Dark and Evil Tricks

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Pontiac area residents, beware — tonight the witches, ghosts and goblins will be at play. Spooks and evil spirits—with wicked black cats — will roam through your homey haunts — and pranksters may whisk any unattached items off to some far-off shadowy land.

Tonight is Halloween — the time to ward off evil spirits and the like — and although trick or treaters are supposed to be small children—in costumes and masks—you never can tell. Exotic goodies, they say, will usually keep them harmless and happy?

DATES TO DRUIDS

The history of Halloween dates back to the Druids, a Celtic religious order in France, England and Ireland. (Their traditional colors were gold and black.)

★ ★ ★

Oct. 31 marked the year's and summer's end for the Druids so they gathered and with great bonfires, mourned the passing of the Sun God and tried to appease his dark conqueror, Saman, Lord of Death.

★ ★ ★

On Halloween night Saman took the souls of the dead who had been residing in animal bodies to atone for their sins, and sent them on to their final resting place.

HELD HUMAN SOULS

Black cats were human beings who had been changed to animals because of their misdeeds. And black cats were of course the standard companions of evildoers and those engaged in witchcraft.

★ ★ ★

Nowadays, the night before Halloween is beggar's night—cabbage stump night in New England — the time for trick and treaters to ring doorbells and gather goodies or perform evil tricks on those who have not treated them well. So beware!

Prowling Upsets Guests

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have attended confirmations and weddings through the years and at these receptions where a sit-down dinner is served, I have noticed the parents between courses going around to the different tables asking the guests if there is anything they want or if they are having a good time, etc.

"Is this practice proper? I will be having a reception for my son in the not too distant future and I would like to know if my husband and I are expected to do this? Is it in good taste?"

Answer: The well-meant practice you describe is not to be encouraged. It is certainly not improper, but instead of helping the guests to enjoy themselves it actually does the opposite by disturbing those at the small tables visited and interrupting their conversations.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I received an invitation to the wedding and reception of a cousin of a man I have been dating for th past several months. I intend to accept the invitation but not knowing either the prospective bride, or groom, or for that matter any of their families, I am in a quandary as to the correct procedure relative to a wedding present. Should I, or should I not, send a gift on my own?"

Answer: No, you need send no present and I certainly do not think that one will be expected from you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine makes really beautiful artificial flowers — in fact you can hardly tell them from the real. What would you think of using these perfect imitation flowers for the bridesmaids' bouquets?"

Answer: I am sorry, but living flowers are really essential for the bouquets of the bridal attendants. Artificial flowers, no matter how perfect, would not be suitable.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Can a hostess ever ask a guest to leave her house? I mean in a situation where the guest drinks too much and becomes noisy and insulting?"

Answer: Yes, the comfort of her other guests excuses, and in fact almost demands, this rudeness to the one who has become obnoxious.

MARY GULLY

Mr. and Mrs. Claude S. Gully of Royal Oak announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to John E. Hildenbrandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hildenbrandt of Bloomfield Hills. The couple plans a Jan. 17 marriage at St. Vincent de Paul Church. Mr. Hildenbrandt attended Eastern Michigan College.

Luncheon, Parties, Art Featured at Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt entertained at dinner Wednesday in her Greenwood avenue home for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt who was in Royal Oak to open the Royal Oak Woman's Club lecture series.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Elliott of Pleasant avenue was her aunt's overnight hostess, and was present at dinner.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams attended as did his mother, Mrs. Henry P. Williams of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. Philip A. Hart.

Mrs. Warren Pease will be hostess at luncheon Saturday in honor of Mrs. M. G. Huntington of Akron, Ohio, who formerly lived in Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Huntington are spending this weekend at Oakland Hills Country Club.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Erb will be hosts Nov. 8 to a group of friends for another of their football parties.

They have chartered a bus to go to Ann Arbor (the game is Michigan-Illinois) and return to Orchard Lake Country Club for dinner and dancing.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Reid Jr. have returned home after a visit in the East with their two sons and daughters-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. William Reid of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the E. S. Reids III near Philadelphia, Pa.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Colombo will entertain at supper Sunday evening. Theirs will also be a football party—the Lions-Forty-Niner game, on television.

★ ★ ★

Bloomfield Art Association is attracting many visitors each weekend at its members show which opened Oct. 19. The galleries are open each Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m., through Nov. 9.

Among the members' paintings, sculpture and crafts, the beautiful hand woven pieces by Liliam Holm are attracting much attention.

Club Plans Luncheon and Bridge

"Horn of Plenty" is the theme of the bridge and luncheon party to be held by the women of Forest Lake Country Club Nov. 12. Included in the afternoon entertainment will be new fall fashions modeled by professionals and club members, and there will be three strolling music makers.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wilmer Cowgill is chairman, with Mrs. Paul Clayton as cochairmen. Also on committees are Mrs. Bernard Girard, Mrs. John Holmes and Mrs. Victor Cramer.

Keep Pre-Schooler Busy

Have a playtime surprise ready to cheer up the little preschooler when older brothers and sisters march off leaving him behind. It's quite a letdown to be stuck with only Mom as the prime source of entertainment.

★ ★ ★

Surprises that will convince him life isn't so dull after all should give him something definite to do.

Taking only a few minutes, you can introduce a three-year-old to the fun of a tent made by draping a sheet or blanket over a table. Some little ones like just three sides draped with the fourth left open. Furnish the tent with an old cushion, a favorite doll or gun and a pan of "food".

Pictures of City Featured

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Refreshment chairman was Mrs. Marcus Scott, assisted by Ora Hallenbeck, Agnes Hilton, Mrs. Myron Buck, Mrs. Ida Reeves, Mrs. Ralph Rhodes and Mrs. Helen Teitgen. Mrs. Fanny Spees is transportation chairman.

MARK BIRTHDAYS

Birthdays celebrated included those of Mrs. Adele Allen, Mrs. Mary Foster, Mrs. Selma Jacob, Mrs. Josephine Jenks, Mrs. Lenna McCully, Mrs. Calvin Pace, Mrs. Maude Scott, Mrs. Winford Sherston, and Mrs. George Tabor.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Tabor and Mrs. Pace received corsages for being the oldest in their respective groups.

★ ★ ★

Anyone interested in joining the group, open to all women 65 years or over, or those people interested in giving service, may contact the YWCA.

PHS '52 Class Plans Reunion

The June and Summer Pontiac High School graduating class of 1952 is planning a reunion to be held Feb. 14. The time and place will be announced later.

Bloomfield Hills Garden Club to Meet Monday

Bloomfield Hills Branch of Women's National Farm and Garden Association will meet at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Frederick W. Sanders.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. J. Bruce Renaud will give the program, "All Around Michigan," with colored slides. A tea will follow.

★ ★ ★

Pouring will be Mrs. W. S. Gilbreath Jr., Mrs. Charles H. Welch Jr., Mrs. Frederick Weed and Mrs. Howard Steggall.

Don't Launder 'Load of Mud' in Tot's Wash

A load of mud doesn't do your washer any good, so take time to prepare the children's playclothes before putting them into the suds.

★ ★ ★

Let muddy slacks, jackets, and sweaters dry thoroughly. Then shake each garment briskly and brush off the excess mud. Turn pockets and cuffs to be sure that no dirt is caked inside.

★ ★ ★

Then rub on soap or detergent suds where the most damage was done, and the garments will be ready for the washing machine. The clothes will come out cleaner, the washer will stay cleaner — and everything lasts longer!

Treat Family to Loaf of Fresh Raisin Bread

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Baking at home pays off in several ways. You not only get a delicious product, but in the case of something like raisin bread or sweet rolls, you actually save money. Mrs. Jackie Cooper shares her favorite Raisin Bread recipe with us.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Cooper does a great deal of baking for her family. She is as active as time permits her to be in PTA work. Sewing and leather work are her hobbies.

RAISIN BREAD
By Mrs. Jackie Cooper

2 packages yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs
¼ cup shortening
5 cups sifted flour
2 cups raisins

Soften yeast in lukewarm water until dissolved. Scald milk, add sugar and salt and cool to lukewarm. Add one cup flour to milk and beat with rotary beater or on low mixer speed.

Beat in eggs, yeast and one more cup of flour. Add raisins. Add shortening and enough flour for easy handling. Let rest, covered with a damp cloth for 5 minutes. Knead until smooth.

Put in greased bowl, cover with damp cloth and let rise until double in bulk (a hole poked with your finger remains a hole). Punch down and form loaves. Place in greased pans and let rise again until double.

Bake at 375 degrees for 40 minutes. After removing from oven turn out on rack and butter the top of loaf or frost with confectioners sugar frosting.

★ ★ ★

Raisins may be omitted to make a sweet bread or buns. Makes 2 loaves.

Tricky, Tasty Foods Treat Dieters

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I am using my Friday Question Box space today to tell you about my new Trick and Treat Diet. Though it's a trick to lose pounds you can do it and have treats, too, on this diet. If you wish to lose five pounds in one week's time, and do it painlessly, these menus are for you.

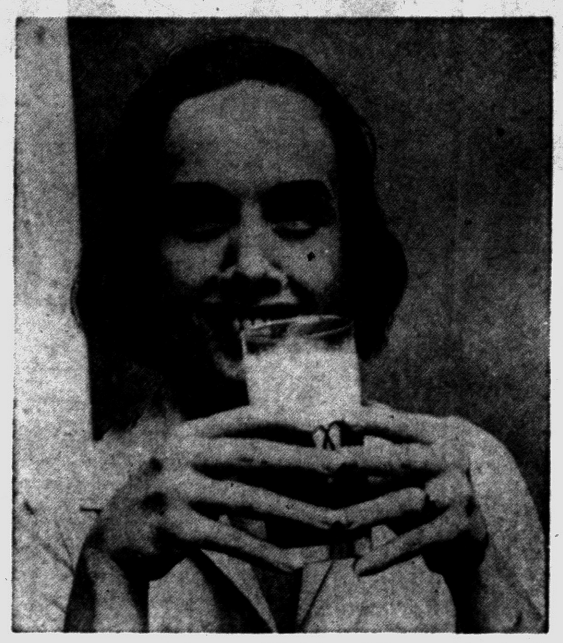

When losing weight it is not necessary to eat unattractive, flavorless food or to plan meals which are dull because of their similarity. It is true that you must cut down on fats and carbohydrates, but you need not leave them out entirely.

You should use skim milk or powdered fat free milk instead of whole milk and the small amount of whipped cream used should be made from powdered fat free milk. Whipped butter is indicated when butter is used.

You must forget fried foods and gravies and the usual salad dressings and mayonnaise. However, you can make dressings for your salads which are extremely low in calorie count.

Herbs are a great aid in seasoning and you can use them freely in order to add zest to your meals. It is well worth the effort to make your reducing as pleasant as possible.

You can use these menus for the rest of your family. Just give them larger amounts and add more butter and sugar and whole milk to their portions.

Here's a tip for you "Trick and Treaters"—drink skim milk. If you would like to have the Trick and Treat Diet in a convenient booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

MENUS FOR SATURDAY

Breakfast

Six ounces tomato juice
One poached egg on toast, with a little butter
Coffee with one teaspoon sugar

Luncheon

One medium hamburger (lean meat)
One-half hamburger bun

Three moderate slices of Canadian bacon
Three-fourths cup cauliflower, seasoned with dry mustard or marjoram
Shredded lettuce with sprinkling of crumpled roquefort cheese and two or three tablespoons tomato reducing dressing.
One-half cup jello with tablespoon whipped cream (cream should be made from non-fat, dry milk crystals)

If you would like to have the whole Trick and Treat diet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Traveling by Plane? Here's Tip

Before taking a trip by plane, dress and make-up so that you will look refreshed and well-groomed upon arrival, says a famous beauty expert.

As the altitude will dry your skin, apply hand lotion before your make-up, use eyeshadow to cream your lids, and protect your lips with a moist-rich lipstick of high-fidelity color.

For touch-ups take with you an easily applied compact make-up — face powder and creamy foundation all-in-one. Use hair spray to keep your curls in place when you rest your head in the seat. The minute you sit in the plane change to flat, comfortable shoes.

Wear a wide skirt that will not wrinkle as a tight one would after you have been sitting for many hours.

Working Wives Get Tips on Behavior

By RUTH MILLETT

Working wives often complain that full-time housewives seem to resent them and make no effort to try to understand the working wife's special problems.

Well, here's a letter from a stay-at-home wife filled with suggestions for the working wife who wants the approval and friendship of wives who don't work outside the home.

Her suggestions are: "When a stay-at-home wife is showing off a dress she made, or a room she painted, or her flower garden, a working wife should refrain from saying, 'Of course, YOU have time for that. I don't.'

"When a wife goes to work so that she and her family can have more of the material things, she may not have time to be active in all the clubs she belongs to. But if she isn't going to be a working member she ought to resign. Why should she expect to have all the benefits of social clubs and yet never be willing to do any of the work, pleading that she just hasn't the time?

"If a working wife accepts invitations for herself and her husband, she ought to repay such obligations in some way. If she can't find time to cook a company dinner, then, at least, she ought to invite other couples out for dinner in a restaurant.

"The working wife who depends on nonworking wives to be Brownie and Cub Scout leaders for her children, teach them in Sunday school, chauffeur them along with their own children, etc., should do something — if only write a note — to show her appreciation.

And she certainly should refrain from telling these women she envies them for having time for such work. Chances are they put in as many hours of work a day as she does — for everybody calls on the stay-at-home wife to do community jobs.

"When a full-time housewife mentions some book or article she has read, the working wife should bite her tongue before saying, 'I wish I had time to read.' If she really wished she had time to read she would find it. So why try to make the stay-at-home wife feel like a kept woman?"

There it is, working wives — some not too gentle hints on how to treat your nonworking friends.

Animal Kingdom Joins TV in Color Specials

All our furry friends of the forest will never recognize each other this season, as foxes turn bright green and beavers flaunt a scarlet dye job.

The new colored furs are sensations of the winter coat and suit lineup, being used principally as trimmings, dyed to match the fabric.

Some of the most luxurious of the new rainbow furs are used in a group of winter coats, suits and costumes in such brilliant colors as scarlet, green, royal blue and gold.

There is, for instance, a new wraparound velours coat in forest green with a great, fluffy shawl collar and cuffs of dyed-to-match fox.

Another coat in gold looped mohair has wide collar and deep patch pockets of dyed-to-match beaver.

There's also a bright red walking suit with three-quarter coat, skirt and matching beaver collar, guaranteed to stop traffic in any city.

The trend toward colored furs has been developing for some time, with one fur designer showing such furs as mole, sheared fox and American broadtail in high colors that have no connection with the natural colors of the animal kingdom.

Tell Him Even God Forgives—Abby

Husband Has 'Stamina' —for Holding a Grudge

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I lived with my parents for a month when we were first married. My husband had a fight with my folks over money and he hasn't spoken a word to them since. That was five and a half years ago. I think he should forgive and forget. My mother says she still loves him like a son. We have three children. The oldest one is three years old and she'll soon be asking why Daddy doesn't talk to them. How can I explain it to her?

ABBY

"I'd like to invite my parents over, but they won't come because they know they are not welcome by my husband. Please tell me, Abby, how can I get him to forgive my folks? Print your answer, please, because he reads every word of this paper. Thank you." WISHING

DEAR WISHING: God forgives. Who does your husband think he is?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I have a small business in my home so naturally I'm home all day. The lady across the street must be running a flophouse. From my window I see all sorts of strange characters coming in and going out. She herself rarely goes anywhere and I never see anyone bringing groceries to her place. None of the neighbors know her or anything about her, but she is about 45 and uses the name 'Mrs. So and So.' I think she should be told this is a respectable neighborhood. Should I report her?" RESPECTABLE NEIGHBOR

DEAR RESPECTABLE: Report to whom? And for what? You've got a business. Mind it!

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who has a bad case of acne and blackheads. My mother took me to a skin doctor and he said all adolescents are troubled with this because their glands don't regulate the oils right and there is nothing you can do about it but keep keep your face clean and put on a special ointment. He also said not to squeeze blackheads.

"Well, every time my mother looks at me she says, 'Come here,' and she squeezes another blackhead. When I remind her what the doctor said she says, 'Oh, be quiet, I have to look at you all day.' Abby, what should I do?" BEING SQUEEZED

DEAR BEING: Keep reminding your mother that there is no sense in paying a good doctor good money for good advice and then doing as you please.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married three years and I think it's time we started a family, but I get nothing but arguments from her. She has three sisters and they are all married and have families, but you should see them! No two of them could get through the door together.

"She says it was having babies that ruined their shapes and she doesn't want that to happen to her. She says it runs in her family to get fat after having a baby. Please tell her she is wrong. She won't listen to me." TALKED OUT

DEAR TALKED: She certainly must know better, and is using this lame excuse because she has other fears. All around us are women who have had children (4 and 5) whose figures are as trim as teenagers. Let her doctor reassure her.

Pontiac Northern Seniors Sell Apples for Statue

By BARBARA SHAVER

Although Pontiac Northern High School seniors have only been attending their proposed alma mater seven weeks, they have really become attached to the beautiful new glass building. Therefore, they have decided to raise funds to buy a statue of a Husky dog, the school's nickname, and present it to the school.

Working under a Ways and Means committee of 12 seniors, the class began their first fund raising campaign this week. They are selling apples at five cents each before classes begin, during lunch periods and after school.

Other projects in the planning stages to enable the class to raise approximately $150 to buy the Husky statue are a hayride, playing records in the cafeteria during lunch and charging five cents for each request and a dance to be called Harver's Moon.

ORDER RINGS

Yesterday and today a representative of the Terryberry Co. of Detroit, came to school to take orders for senior class rings. The ring, especially designed for Northern, will have a torch with a star on top of it which is supposed to represent the school's newspaper, the Polaris.

Monday through Wednesday will again be a busy day for the seniors as they will have their pictures taken for the school's new yearbook, the Avalanche.

ADOPT CONSTITUTION

The student council adopted a constitution recently which was another first or history-making event at Northern.

The constitution, which was ratified October 23, was drawn up by a committee of the whole and then presented to homeroom representatives to request suggestions.

JOIN NATIONAL CLUB

After 30 years with one Hi-Y organization at PCH, there are now two. Alpha Cribros Hi-Y, located at the YMCA, was formerly the Phalanx Club which worked for the community within the YMCA. This year the members decided to become affiliated with the national Hi-Y movement that has over 9,000 clubs similar to Alpha Cribros in membership.

★ ★ ★

The club assists the community by building a float for the Christmas parade, giving a Halloween party for small children at the YMCA and donating money to the World Service Charity organization. The annual St. Valentine's Day dance is also sponsored by the club.

Wednesday the club held its first formal induction ceremony and nine new members were installed. They were John Roust, Bruce Bergstrom, Ken Shaw, Ben Donaldson, Harley Hopp, Pat Keary, Dave Blank, Bruce Norvell and Bud Osler.

String Up 'Tom Dooley' at Waterford Assembly

By JEAN REXFORD

"Tom Dooley" as a symbol of Walled Lake High School, was hung this afternoon at the pep assembly held at Waterford Township High School and sponsored by the seniors.

The assembly was held to boost the spirit for tonight's game with Walled Lake. Terry Ball was master of ceremonies while Roger Ward portrayed Gordon Hathaway of the Steve Allen show.

Ron Newman was Matt Dillon with Ron Fry as Chester and Gyla Glasspoole as Kitty. Fran Spencer played Tom Dooley; Marcia Adair was Dave Freeman, the coach at Waterford and Rick Erickson was Judge Holiday.

★ ★ ★

Copies of the "Waterlog," Waterford's yearbook were ordered in homerooms this week by students and faculty. Five student names were drawn during the course of the week from entries in "The Give-Away," a contest sponsored by the Waterlog Staff. Prizes in the contest were copies of the 1959 Waterlog.

HOLD POPS NIGHT

"Pops Night," an annual Girls Athletic Assn. event, was attended by over 100 Wednesday. Glenda Roberts was general chairman. Others working on the event were Sue Fawcett, Karen Anderson, Sherry Bertrum and Karen Madill.

★ ★ ★

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

A bomb was dropped on the music world this week in the form of an announcement made over Moscow radio.

The announcement informed the world that the Russians have invented a machine to tell if a singer is any good without the trouble of listening.

Imagine what such a contraption would do to present day rock 'n' roll warblers, or worse yet, to music critics the world over. Pass the aspirin.

THE JAZZ NEST: Two grade-A eggs for the nest were issued by the World Pacific people during October. Only because I am not as "far out" as some jazz critics, I'll have to pick "Havin' A Ball" (PJM-410) as my favorite.

With such dignitaries as Cy Touff, Harry Edison, Richie Kamuca, and Leroy Vinnegar, this LP is a bundle of excitement. It swings all the way with great arrangements that should knock the jazz fan off his pins.

"Kismet" (WP-1243) by The Mastersounds, is an LP packed full of intricate, beautiful new ideas. The Mastersounds may just be the best new small jazz outfit of the year. Although I do not venture very often past cloud nine, I'll recommend this to modernists as an LP that's surely one of the "coolest" of the cool school.

FIVE ACES: The No. 1 sad-eyed boy off all time, "Tom Dooley" as portrayed by The Kingston Trio, is tops on the best seller lists around Pontiac this week.

Just a mere length of the rope behind is "Topsy" by Cozy Cole in second place. Third spot is a dead heat between "Lonesome Town" by Ricky Nelson, and "It's Only Make Believe" by Conway Twitty (and how did he ever get into this business with a name like that)!

Fourth place goes to "Poor Boy" by The Royaltones (showing a sudden resurgence in sales), and "Chantilly Lace" by Big Bopper has bopped itself up to fifth slot.

Arson, Robbery, Shooting Laid to Boy of 10

DENVER (AP) — He has a soft mass of sandy hair. There are freckles on his nose. His eyes flash with interest and imagination and there is a warm readiness to his grin.

Kerry Corky Casey, 10, outwardly is the epitome of a wholesome youngster a parent would be proud to call son.

His speech is precise, intelligent, confident. He calls his dad father, says he'd like to be a scientist, and relates with pride his accomplishments in school. There are gold stars on the classroom board for his spelling and arithmetic, he says.

But Corky Casey, in his few years of life, has commtted arson and burglary. Tuesday night he shot a woman in the back.

Now he's in Denver's Juvenile Hall, and a psychiatrist will be coming soon to talk with him.

★ ★ ★

Corky was wakened by sheriff's officers at his home early Wednesday, a few hours after Mrs. Shirley Orlofsky, 32, an Englewood housewife, was shot in the back and seriously wounded by a youngster she said "couldn't have been more than six or eight years old."

★ ★ ★

An anonymous telephone caller led officers to the home where Corky lives with his father, Charles, his grand father and an aunt.

★ ★ ★

"I walked up to her and said: Drop your purse. She just laughed. I was just kidding. I was just trying to act like they do on television."

What are Corky's biggest concerns? "I'd like to see my mother. I don't think I remember her." The youngster's parents were divorced when he was 2.

Why has he set fires and broken into homes and garages? "I don't know. Just the temptation, I guess."

★ ★ ★

And Denver Juvenile Court Judge Philip Gilliam said, "The child is starved for love. He was extremely happy when he was here before in connection with the first he set. We used to hold hands when I would walk through Juvenile Hall. He was just like a little puppy."

Senator Johnson Says Ike's Good Policies Due to Congress

By The Associated Press

President Eisenhower makes a final bid tonight for a Republican Congress. The opposition says he owes thanks to the Democratic-controlled Congress for any administration accomplishments.

Eisenhower, who has campaigned with new vigor in this year's battle for Congress, chose Baltimore for his windup vote-Republican appeal to the nation via radio and television.

The President has struck some heavy blows at the Democrats in speeches all the way to the West Coast. But he was expected to lay emphasis tonight on what he contends are his administration's achievements in the foreign and domestic fields.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas said Eisenhower has received more cooperation from Democrats in Congress than from Republicans in the House and Senate.

Speaking to a party rally in Indianapolis, Johnson said the President ought to remember "that the accomplishments he now holds forth as his own are the works of a Democratic Congress."

In this connection, Johnson mentioned antirecession measures and steps to counter Soviet scientific advances. The Texan said Democratic votes saved Eisenhower's foreign policy programs in Congress.

The Senate Democratic leader also dismissed as scare words the charges by Republican campaigners, including Eisenhower, that the Democrats harbor political radicalism.

In the same vein, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler accused Eisenhower of using radicalism and socialism as scarewords against the Democrats.

Noting that Eisenhower's Baltimore speech tonight falls on Halloween, Butler said in a statement that Eisenhower should "throw away the hobgoblin speech your ghosts have written" and discuss the issues.

Press Joins Co-operative Effort to Provide Fast Election Returns

(Editor's Note: Ever since 1916, the United States and the rest of the world have depended on The Associated Press for fast accurate results of all elections. The Pontiac Press, as a member of The Associated Press, has an important part in gathering these returns. This is the story of how The AP, with its unmatched resources, does the job.)

By The Associated Press

Several weeks from now, someone in the state capitol will stamp "Official" on the Nov. 4 election returns.

But you usually know who won on election night, or at the latest, next morning. Why is it you don't have to wait weeks?

Because a special army of 65,000 men and women gather results in every county in the country and feed them to the nearest office of The Associated Press.

This great election force includes employes of newspapers and broadcasting stations who are members of The AP, a corps of special election workers retained each election year by The AP, and the experienced staff of The AP itself.

Let's take your vote and see what happens to it and the millions that are cast on election day. You cast your ballot, go home or back to the office, and in the early evening the polls close. The election precinct officials begin to count the votes, including yours.

As soon as the precinct has a total, the figures are relayed to a local collecting center. (In this area, The Pontiac Press.) The figures then are relayed promptly to the main AP office in the state.

At this point, your vote may be among the early returns. It is added to the votes streaming in from other precincts. With the latest electronic equipment, The AP can get a statewide vote total in 30 seconds any time during the night. As more and more precincts report, totals are steadily compiled until the state returns are complete.

Just as quickly as the votes are tabulated, they are transmitted over AP's vast system of 400,000 miles of leased wires to newspaper offices and broadcasting stations. A highly trained staff in the AP office at Washington, D.C., simultaneously receives vote totals from The AP wires. They analyze the returns and note their political significance.

The Associated Press adds about 50 special wires to its nationwide system, just for election night, to serve the 1,750 newspapers and 2,000 radio and television stations that are AP members.

Things were quite different until The AP began its election service on a nationwide scale in 1916. It could take days, sometimes weeks, to learn who won an election.

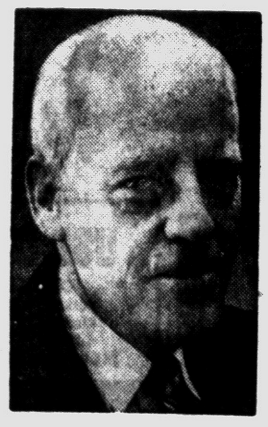

Some wire services and many newspapers rather quickly proclaimed Charles Evans Hughes elected over President Woodrow Wilson in 1916. But, The AP refused to go along. Returns were incomplete in several states, particularly California.

Some newspapers demanded that The AP announce Hughes as the winner. But, the AP staff went on counting.

On the third night after the election, the California returns were complete and in favor of Wilson. In New York, an AP writer called the hotel where Hughes was staying.

"The President-elect has retired for the night and cannot be disturbed," said an aide.

"Well," said the AP writer, "when the President-elect wakes up in the morning, tell him he isn't President-elect any more."

Official Chides Michigan Daily

Press Rebuked for Not Consulting Authorities About Grid Pool

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The University of Michigan vice president in charge of student affairs, expressed disappointment today that the student newspaper did not consult U. of M. authorities before aiding police in the football betting rackets.

"In the past, they (Michigan Daily staffers) have consulted with the administration" when covering stories which might have "influences which will be harmful to the university," James A. Lewis said.

Lewis said the two Daily reporters — Philip Munck, 20, Saginaw, and Barton Huthwaite, 20, Detroit — who joined the gambling ring to get information for Ann Arbor police "did not consult with the administration until after they were involved with the police.

"We naturally would have preferred the students coming to us in the beginning so we could help on it," he said.

He said after Munck and Huthwaite started aiding the police probe "the administration was then forced to take the position that any move we might make might be construed as an obstruction to the police from breaking the group feeding the students on campus."

Lewis said the administration had not interfered with the Daily's investigations. "The Michigan Daily has always been free to run itself as a student newspaper," he said.

"They must live up to their own code and are responsible to the board in control of student publications. The university administration will seldom interfere with the administration of the Daily as long as they live up to these requirements," Lewis said.

Doesn't Know Why

Boy, 15, Admits Shooting Flint Woman in Kitchen

FLINT (UPI) — William John Miller, 15, son of a prominent Flint dentist, was held on four charges today after admitting he shot a 30-year-old woman but didn't know why.

Mrs. Irene Leiter was in serious condition at McLaren General Hospital with a possible severed spinal cord.

Miller admitted the shooting a few minutes after he pulled the trigger of his ancient .22 caliber Winchester rifle.

Mrs. Leiter, whose husband Dale, 38, is president of the Flint area Utley School Board and was sleeping in the house when the Miller boy entered, said the lad first asked her if he could hunt behind their home.

She told him the property was owned by the school and hunting was not permitted there.

ASKS FOR WATER

Mrs. Leiter told officers she was surprised to see Miller return a few moments later and ask for a drink of water. She said he shot her as she turned to get a glass from a cupboard.

Police said Miller drove off in a car he had stolen earlier, stopped about three miles from the victim's home and telephoned Genesee County sheriff's officers to report the shooting.

Miller, who walked away from Starr Commonwealth home for Boys, Albion, three days ago, was charged with assault with intent to kill.

The son of Dr. H. I. Miller, whose family lives in Fenton, he apparently stole the gun from the stolen car. The weapon was partially held together with adhesive tape.

He also was charged with burglary at night. Police reported the boy admitted breaking into an Oakland County flower shop at Holly Wednesday.

Baby, It's Cold Inside

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thieves who stole $15,000 worth of mink furs from a store got away just in time. Window mannequins that had been stripped of the furs still were shaking when police arrived.

Johnny on the Spot

ATLANTA (UPI) — Richard Wheeler didn't have to look for a policeman when his car hit another and knocked it into a third. The drivers of the other autos both were policemen. They charged Wheeler with reckless driving.

PLUMMER WHIPPLE

Rochester Man Assists Rector

Ex-Advertising, News Man at St. Philips; Plans to Become Priest

ROCHESTER—The appointment of former newspaper and advertising man, Plummer Whipple, as assistant minister at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, Rochester, was announced today by the Rev. Edgar A. Lucas, rector.

Mr. Whipple, a Rochester resident, will serve on a part-time basis while awaiting his ordination to the deaconate. Later, he will serve full-time.

Active in layman's work and in the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, Mr. Whipple presently is employed in the publications section of the personnel staff at General Motors Central Office in Detroit.

He spent 10 years in the journalistic field, including eight years on the editorial staff of the Toledo (Ohio) Blade. He later worked for several of the nation's top advertising agencies in Detroit, Philadelphia and New York.

Mr. Whipple came to Rochester in June 1944, and in February 1949 joined the advertising department of Pontiac Motor Division.

In 1955, he entered the Diocese School of Theology in Detroit, operated by the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan. He originally intended to become a perpetual deacon, Mr. Whipple said, but realized after a year of study it was his conviction to become a full-time priest of the church.

He became a postulant in January 1956, and a candidate for the Holy Orders last April.

Trapped Miners Curious About Thoughts Above

(Editor's Note: Levi Milley, 47, was one of 12 survivors of the Springhill mine disaster who spent six days trapped 13,000 feet underground. This is his story as told to The Canadian Press.)

By LEVI MILLEY

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — You know, it's kinda funny. Down below we were all wondering what you people up above were thinking. We talked about it quite often. And here you were doing the same thing about us.

See this little aspirin bottle? That little bottle, did an awful lot to save our lives. You wouldn't think it to look at it, but it did.

You see, two or three days after the bump the 12 of us were down to about two cups of water, and it had to be rationed. So we found this little bottle in the lunch kit of one of our dead mates, and we decided that this bottle, filled about three-quartrs full, would be the ration for all of us every six hours.

We measured it out very carefully and then we passed it around, taking one small sip apiece. That was our ration every six hours. And no man took more than his share.

We figured all the time that search parties knew we were here. We were surprised that they were surprised to find us.

We prayed all right. One man said the words and the rest of us just bowed our heads. But most of us usually joined in the singing.

Abe Weatherwise Predicts:

Consult New Almanac Before Pulling Teeth

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — Old Abe Weatherwise climbed out on his 167th limb today.

The 112-page almanac, printed in the same format as the first one ever turned out, contains information gleaned from 400,000 separate calculations. There are the best moon dates for fishing and planting and the most favorable signs of the zodiac for getting permanent waves.

"For tooth extraction, G'm (Gemini), Vir (Virgo), Sgr (Sagittarius), Cap, (Capricorn), and Psc (Pisces) seem best," the almanac said.

It recommended the signs of Taurus, Leo or Aquarius for permanents.

But to get back to Abe Weatherwise. In general, he was cheery in his forecasts. He said it's going to be a milder winter than usual.

That is a forecast Abe seldom makes, but he seems to have reason to figure there will be much less snowfall than usual this winter.

For next month, Abe foresees a temperature of 35-40 degrees — 1 to 5 over normal — 2 inches of snow and 6 to 8 inches of rain.

But, he warned, that forecast holds true only for Boston. Anyone who wants to know how the weather will be anywhere else will have to figure it out for himself.

"It will work for other places by subtracting one day for each time zone west, by reading 5 degrees lower temperature for every 100 miles north of 42 latitude or 5 degrees higher for every 100 miles south of 42 latitude north and by considering every 1,000 feet of altitude is five degrees cooler," the almanac instructed.

Got it?

Well, December is going to be about 10 degrees colder than November — in Boston and points west — and a thaw will set in late in January, according to Mr. Weatherwise.

From then on, it will be uphill favorable for barley planting in the Boston and Philadelphia areas around March 15 and between Feb. 15 and March 7 down Georgia way, the almanac instructed.

Endive — early endive, that is — can be planted the last week of February down south. That will be about two weeks after the swiss chard crop is put in.

The almanac, as usual is chock full of handy information for farmers, and for city dwellers, too. A new feature, in color, is a section devoted to menus for any kind of diet a dieter may happen to be on.

There are diets for infants, old folks (banana meat loaf), weight losers, and weight gainers. There is a low-fat diet, a low-cholesterol diet, a low-sodium diet, a bland diet, a convalescent diet, a liquid diet, a growing-up diet and a diet for folks with no troubles at all.

To top them all there is a recipe for a "Haymakers Switchel." Here goes: 2 quarts water, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup molasses, ½ cup vinegar, ½ teaspoon ginger.

"Stir ingredients together and then let cool," the almanac instructs.

Gloria Swanson Assails American Living

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Gloria Swanson—the one who put the curl in daddy's toes, and still is capable of making him took twice—said she could bawl.

"I could just sit down and cry," she cried. "I don't think anyone could be contented today. I should think everyone would weep . . ."

It was raining outside her elegant Fifth Avenue apartment, but that wasn't it. Nor was she thinking of her 59 years, or her five ex-husbands, or the fact that her hair is half-n-half because she's letting it grow in a natural white.

It's American she mourns for.

"We have a way of life that is completely false. Our gods are money gods. We have 'things,' but we don't own them. The American man is worried sick, if you ask me. This is riches? The government is taking it away from him, the loan company is taking it away from him, his wife is taking it. There are no values anymore.

"If you gave me 20 million dollars, I wouldn't be 20 years old again.

"Not here. Not now."

Miss Swanson had other ideas to worry about this day. Take national etiquette. "Our manners have gone to hell. No, not gone to hell. They don't exist. It's this stupid, informal attitude we're supposed to have—children don't stand up when old people come into a room. Pregnant women stand up in the bus because the boy who's sitting down paid for his fare too. Everybody's equal, eh, Cecil—ha!

"It isn't the boys' fault. It's the fault of the American adult, to whom growing older is a disease. He is so coy. He won't tell his age, because in this country there is a ridiculous accent on youth which says that anyone over 25 should go away and die.

"So nobody admits he's old. And nobody respects him for it."

And don't call me "Mother," dearie. The name is Thelma.

The firm - and - open - minded movie queen of the era before motivational research was not, on this occasion, in a particularly cynical mood. She has always been this way, she said—curious about everything, and disillusioned after investigating.

"I scream and yell. I fought communism back in 1937 and they thought I was a fanatic. I wish sometimes I could shut my mouth and forget things, but I cannot stand injustice.

"Unfortunately, you cannot print a lot of the things I'm mad about. Like the fact that Americans are literally killing themselves with the food they eat. The soil is sick from being covered with sprays and synthetics, and the cattle are sick from the crops they eat, and the people are sick from eating this dead or dying food.

"But this is 'progress,' my dear. For the almighty dollar, man will always think he can do better than nature."

Miss Swanson (who eats only products of 'organic' — or natural foods — farms) has just returned from Hollywood where she filmed a guest spot for the upcoming Nov. 21st "Bob Hope Show."

Although she still looks more like her birthday was 1920 rather than 1899, she observed that it's the young chicks who are starring with the older male stars. She didn't approve.

"Why is it that if a woman goes out with a boy," she mused, "it's disgusting? But if a 60-year-old man goes out with a baby faced blonde, it's all right. Well, it's because women don't run the movie studios, and all the producers are married to girls half their ages.

"I love this wonderful country, but it's so miserable. In Europe, people like you for what you think about and what you are.

Sharp Attendance Drop for American Leaguers

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees' runaway race in the American league was reflected today by a sharp drop in official attendance figures for the 1958 season which attracted slightly more than seven million fans.

The total was the second lowest in 13 years. In 1953, attendance was 6,964,076 and in the war year of 1945 it was 5,580,420.

American League headquarters reported a 1958 total attendance of 7,296,034. That was 900,184, or 11 per cent lower than the 8,196,218 attendance in 1957.

As early as May, the Yankees were 10 games in front of the AL pack.

Six of the eight clubs reported a decrease from 1957. Minor gains were shown by the other two clubs.

The 1958 attendance compares with the all-time league record of 11,150,099 set in 1948.

Three clubs — New York, Detroit and Boston — each drew more than one million fans at home, but each also reported a drop compared with attendance last year.

The Chicago White Sox, pursuing but never close to the pennant-winning Yankees all season, showed the biggest single loss among the clubs — 338,217. The Sox, who finished in second place, drew a total of 795,451 at 77 games in Comiskey Park.

Baltimore's drop in attendance from 1957 was nearly 200,000. The 829,991 fans at 78 games in 1958 compared with 1,029,518 last year, a decrease of 199,590.

Detroit was one of the three clubs to play before more than million home fans. But the 1,098,924 who went to 77 games in Briggs Stadium compared with 1,272,346 last year, a drop of 173,422.

Cleveland, which 10 years ago set a league attendance record of 2,620,627, had one of its most dismal years at the gate which stirred up talk of moving the club to another city. In 76 games, the Indians drew 663,805 fans to Municipal Stadium, a decrease of 58,451 from the 1957 turnout.

Even the mighty Yankees, who had the league's biggest season attendance mark with 1,428,438, showed a loss in patronage at the stadium. The turnout for 78 games compared with 1,497,134 in 1957, a drop of 68,696. The Yanks set their club season attendance record of 2,373,901 in 1948, when they also finished in first place.

Boston was the only other club to attract more than a million fans. But the 1,077,047 faithful who went to 77 games in Fenway Park were 104,040 fewer than the 1,181,087 last year.

The small gains were made in Kansas City and Washington.

The Athletics drew 925,090 in 78 games, a gain of 24,023 over 1957.

The Senators, with the lowest total in the league, had a gain of 18,209 over 1957 with 475,288 fans in 78 games in Griffith Stadium. The 1957 total was 457,079.

Scoring Famine Ends for Howe on Olympia Ice

Gordie Clicks in 3rd Period as Detroiters Conquer Rangers

By BILL CORNWELL

After a six-game drought, the sweet-skating right winger found the range again and everybody in the Detroit family is delighted — coach Sid Abel, the rest of the Red Wings and Howe himself.

Howe's 3rd goal of the season arrived early in the 3rd period and put the finishing touch on last night's 4-1 Detroit victory over the lifeless New York Rangers before 9,086 fans at Olympia Stadium.

The Redshirts scored in every period as they skated to their 5th victory of the season in nine games. Their 10-point total gives them sole possession of 3rd place in the National Hockey League.

John Wilson's 3rd goal of the year early in the 1st period handed Detroit a 1-0 lead. New York's Lou Fontinato was off for tripping at the time.

New York evened the count in the 6th minute of the 2nd period when Andy Bathgate connected, but the Wings came storming back on goals by Norm Ullman and Marcel Pronovost in the same stanza and Howe climaxed the evening.

The smooth long-striding Howe, a fabulous hockey player by any standard, had been frustrated time after time by New York goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley, but "Gump" lost his rabbit's foot in the 3rd session.

Howe had tallied twice against the Rangers in Detroit's home opener nearly three weeks ago. Until yesterday, he had been unable to click for another.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk enjoyed a relatively quiet evening in the Detroit cage, although he did make several brilliant saves in the game's late stages. He was credited with 19 stops while Worsley turned aside 27 shots.

Only four penalties were called in the free-wheeling game, none in the 3rd period, and all were against the badly out-played Rangers.

Wilson's goal followed a great individual effort by Nick Mickoski, who swept around the back of the net and fired at Worsley from a right angle. Gump blocked Mickoski's shot, but was helpless to halt Wilson's rebound.

Following Bathgate's hard 15-footer which sailed over Sawchuk's shoulder, Ullman tallied for the 3rd time this season, also on a rebound. Worsley fell flat on the ice barring a shot by rookie Charlie Holmes and Ullman flipped the puck over the prone goalie.

Worsley never saw Pronovost's shot. The big Wing defenseman rescued a loose puck along the boards and laced a sizzling 45-footer past the startled New York netminder for his 2nd goal of the year.

Howe took a cross-rink pass from rookie Tom McCarthy and beat Worsley with a tap from the goalmouth after drawing him helplessly out of position with a classy fake. Worsley was fooled completely.

Avondale, Oxford, Birmingham Have Showdowns

Make or Break for Prep 11's

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

1. Avondale has managed on occasions to come close to the Oakland-B title.

2. Oxford has seen many fruitless season and now has a golden opportunity for the South Central crown.

3. Birmingham has been the bridesmaid in the Eastern Michigan League many times and may again find itself in that role tonight.

Last year Avondale finished in the cellar of the league, but two years ago the Jackets were flying high until their showdown with Clawson. They were clobbered by Clawson, had to settle for second place in the league.

Tonight, Clawson again will make or break Avondale's hopes. The Jackets are the only unbeaten team in the Oakland-B with a 3-0 mark and a win could put a tighter grip on the title.

Clawson is dangerous and could throw the race into a three-way showdown with Troy by defeating coach Frank Crowell and his Jackets.

Imlay City, a perennial power in its circuit is getting its closest run from Oxford, a team which has been down for several seasons.

The game at Oxford is definitely the clincher as the other three teams in the South Central League are just about out of the race.

Port Huron will match Birmingham with speed and the Maples who have won the EML title only once face the familiar position of finishing as runnerup.

The Hurons and Maples have identical season records standing at 4-2, but last week's last second loss to East Detroit shoved Birmingham a half game behind Port Huron in the EML.

★ ★ ★

Titles can be clinched in the Inter-Lakes with a Farmington victory over Van Dyke, and in the Southern Thumb where front runner Almont has only to meet Capac and Dryden on successive Fridays.

The Wayne-Oakland League is still mathematically unsettled with Northville just about assured the title although West Bloomfield still has clinging hopes.

It will be up to Clarkston tonight or up to Clarenceville in two weeks to help the Lakers, although Northville will be heavily favored in each instance.

★ ★ ★

Cranbrook is heading for one of its most disastrous seasons and one of its poorest showing in the Inter-State Conference.

An interesting game between rivals Romeo and Rochester takes place at Rochester although there will be no bearing as far as the Tri-County league goes except that it may decide second place behind Lapeer.

★ ★ ★

Romeo has won four of six for the season while the Falcons have fallen to 1-4, facing a losing season for the first time in many years.

Waterford ends its Inter-Lakes campaign at Walled Lake before meeting Dearborn Fordson and Wayne in its two remaining games.

They had their brightest moments for one half against Pontiac and Farmington, holding both teams to scoreless ties at intermission before crumbling in the second half each time.

Flint Central Is Rated Top Threat; 358 Take Part in Ypsi Tests

YPSILANTI (AP) — The state cross country finals for Michigan high school teams will be held at Ypsilanti this weekend for the 37th consecutive year.

All four classes — A, B, C and D — will compete at the Washtenaw Country Club with George Marshall, track and cross country coach at Eastern Michigan College, acting as meet manager.

Fifteen schools are entered in Class A, nine in Class B. The C and D classes will be run together as a unit, and 19 schools will take part.

Maples, Chiefs in Contention

Archery Course Begins Nov. 6 at Waterford

A six-week course in archery instruction for all members of the family will begin Nov. 6 at the Community Activities Center on Williams Lake road under the auspices of the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

Instruction will be given from 7:30 to 8:30 each Thursday evening. The fundamentals of shooting plus care and selection of equipment will be stressed. A limited supply of equipment will be provided and registration can be made at the door.

The annual winter indoor archery league starts Jan. 8. Competition will be held on Thursday nights from 7:30 to 10 o'clock at the Community Center. Openings are now available for 10 five-man teams. Handicaps will permit the beginner to compete with the advanced archer on an equal basis.

For additional information, call the Waterford Township Recreation Department at OR 3-9152.

Pontiac Central will occupy the favorite's role for the last time in the 1958 football season when the Chiefs clash with Melvindale here tonight at Wisner Stadium.

Coach Jesse MacLeay's gridders are gunning for their 5th victory of the season against two defeats. Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Melvindale and PCH will be meeting on the gridiron for the 1st time. The suburban Detroit Cardinals, coached by Dale Sawicki, have won three and lost three so far this year.

Sawicki, now serving his 2nd season as head mentor after six years as an assistant, boasts a talented T-formation quarterback named Ray Danyo and Dan Losacco, a hard-running fullback, plus a line averaging 189 pounds from tackle to tackle.

Although unable to cross the goal consistently, the Cardinals have rolled up yardage steadily, mostly on the ground, and their defense has been strong. They have scored a total of 59 points while yielding the same number.

Melvindale entered the Class A ranks this year and dropped its membership in the Class B Twin-Valley League. The Cards now belong to the Huron-Rouge loop, an all-A circuit.

Victory tonight in this non-league game is vitally important for the Chiefs if they want to finish their schedule on the winning side of the ledger.

Saginaw Valley Conference games with the Bay City and Flint Central powerhouses lie ahead and the Chiefs will be big underdogs on each occasion. Assuming a win this evening and losses to the two Valley foes, the Chiefs would end their slate with a 5-4 record.

MacLeay plans to rotate his quarterbacks against Melvindale with Harrison Munson the probable starter, backed up by Bill Davis and Fred Staley, who saw action a week ago for the 1st time this fall. Quarterback Allen Howze, a defensive stalwart, will be missing with an injury.

Halfback Ken Dextrom and fullback Joe McCauley may be pressed into service at defensive end positions while Dick McCauley and Isaac Jones are expected to see heavy offensive duty at halfback and fullback, respectively, as the Chiefs try to rebound from last week's 33-6 Valley defeat by Flint Northern.

49ers Shake Up Lineup for Lions

John Gonzaga, a three-year man, starts at tackle in place of rookie John Thomas, and rookie Dennit Morris gets Marv Matuszak's linebacking post. Rookie offensive guard John Wittenborn, a starter much of the season won't be on the starting array.

Line Coach Bill Johnson said Matuszak, a standout last season, has been bothered by injuries and hasn't been up to peak efficiency.

Another rookie, Bill Atkins, plays in the defensive secondary in place of the injured Dicky Moegle. Abe Woodson, also a first year man, will switch off with Atkins as he did last Sunday when the 49ers lost to the Chicago Bears 27-14.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said a decision on the starting quarterback—Y. A. Tittle or John Brodie — won't be made until later. Tittle was sidelined for two weeks with a groin injury, but is fully recovered.

The Lions broke into the victory column last Sunday by whipping the Rams 41-24 and are expected to be in good physical condition for this game.

It was Detroit's defensive secondary, including the pass snatching of linebacker Joe Schmidt, which provided the opportunities for victories, and for the first time this year, the Lions capitalized on the breaks.

The fans in San Francisco have little love for the Detroiters who ousted their favorite 49ers out of the championship in a playoff game on the coast, 31-27.

In other NFL games, the high-scoring Cleveland Browns, who have averaged 35 points in winning their first five games, face the Eastern division's toughest defensive unit when they meet the New York Giants in Cleveland.

Defensively, the Giants have limited their opponents to 2.8 yards per rush and 15.4 points per game, but they now face the task of trying to stop Jimmy Brown the Cleveland ace who had 815 yards in 118 carries for 6.9 average and has 14 touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

Other games will pit the Chicago Bears, holding eight straight wins over the Rams, in Los Angeles; Pittsburgh and Washington meeting for the 39th time at Pitt Stadium; Baltimore and Green Bay on the Colts' home grounds and the Chicago Cards and Eagles in Chicago.

Yank-Nat Trade Rumored

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane said today he hopes the New York Yankees and Washington Senators complete a trade rumored last night.

According to a story in the New York Daily News, the world champions of baseball have offered pitchers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant plus infielder Bobby Richardson for Washington pitcher Pedro Ramos, a right-hander who won 14 and lost 18 for the last place Senators in 1958.

The Tribe general manager believes he would have a better chance of obtaining Richardson from the Senators than the Yanks. Cleveland is in need of a second baseman and sought Richardson last winter.

Lane admitted he had been interested in Ramos, also. He said he talked about the pitcher when the Indians traded catcher J. W. Porter for infielder Ossie Alvarez earlier this week.

"He was interested in Don Mossi, Ray Narleski and Woody Held. When he started talking Rocky Colavito, I lost interest," Lane explained.

Hawks Ready to Break Michigan Football Hex

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Iowa is all set to put an end to 34 years of football misery tomorrow by finally beating Michigan.

The high-flying Hawkeyes are ranked second in the nation, lead the Big Ten, and are favored by 8 points. Michigan is in the middle of a sluggish season and is hurting at fullback.

The game will attract about 67,000 spectators.

Form seldom runs true when Iowa plays Michigan. The Hawkeyes have failed to win over the Wolverines in 14 games since their 1924 victory. Only twice were they able to accomplish a tie.

Most of the frustration has been crammed into the last five games since Forest Evashevski became coach.

The ex-Wolverine quarterback has failed in every attempt to defeat his alma mater, although Iowa led in each game. His best result was last year when the two teams battled to a controversial 21-21 tie.

His current Hawkeyes are considered his finest, better than the 1956 conference and Rose Bowl champions. That was a team that lost only to Michigan, a defeat inflicted with 66 seconds left.

Tthe Hawkeye winged-T attack is focused around quarterback Randy Duncan, the total offense king of the Big Ten. A superb passer, Duncan guides a backfield that could leave Michigan's runners far behind in a footrace.

Halfbacks Ray Jauch and Kevin Furlong and fullback Don Horn have made Iowa the offense leaders of the conference.

A slower Michigan Wolverine backfield again has been reshuffled this week. Bob Ptacek still leads the way at quarterback and is Duncan's equal on a good day. Darrell Harper and Fred Julian remain at the halfback slots.

Iowa is unbeaten in five games with only a tie with the Air Force blemishing its record. The Hawkeyes have lost only twice since 1955.

Hunter's Hound Bags Pheasant

Haslip was hunting pheasants with his dog, Penny, a "half and half" beagle-bassett, in the Ortonville State Park area. He had not downed a bird, but brought one home anyway—thanks to Penny. The hound scouted around, Haslip says, found an injured rooster that tried to escape by flying over a small nearby lake. The ringneck fell into the water. Penny swam out and retrieved it.

Titans Follow Spotty Pattern

Rival Marquette Holds Victory Over Highly Rated COP

DETROIT (AP)—The thrice-beaten University of Detroit Titans, needing victories the rest of the way to match last season's 6-3 record, go against the Marquette Warriors here tomorrow.

If the pattern of past weeks holds true, the Titans are due to come away with a decisive victory. So far they've won every other game—and last week they took a 27-6 beating from Arizona State.

Winless last season, Marquette has a 2-3 record this year that is somewhat misleading.

Suburban Loop Sets 1958 Cage Schedule

With all coaches of the circuit in attendance, but one, members of the Suburban Catholic League met this week at Ferndale St. James to fix the 1958 basketball schedule and discuss the annual SCL all-league grid teams.

Draw of the schedule pits the two Pontiac schools, St. Michael and St. Frederick in their openers Dec. 5. The contest is set for PCH gymnasium as a Ram home tilt. Rest of the schedule will be announced shortly.

Decision as to the all-star selections will not be made until after the final grid games, Nov. 9.

PROOF OF TITLE — Here's a new champion. And he has all the proof to show for it. The "hardware" and rosettes, displayed on the bench, over which Tux (CH. Tux of Forjan) presides, with the help of veteran handler F. A. Porter of Pontiac, mark the path to Tux's AKC championship. Tux went best of show in the recent Houston, Tex. German shepherd specialty show to finish his championship. Porter has handled him all the way for owners Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Buchmann, 1921 Delrose Rd. Tux is a 2½-year-old German shepherd.

Wisconsin Gets Favorite's Role Over Spartans

Homecoming Might Give Boost to State Gridders Saturday

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Underdog for the first time in three years, Michigan State will need all the new plays it has been working on this week to pull out a homecoming upset of Wisconsin tomorrow.

The Spartans find themselves in the nearly-forgotten role of having lost two straight games and being expected to drop the third one.

The Badgers, rated ninth in the nation, need to go all out the rest of the season to gain at least a share of the Western Conference title. They will be expected to try to pour it on the Spartans.

But performing before millions of television fans and a largely partisan homecoming crowd of about 68,000 the Spartans aren't expected to lie down and play dead for the visitors.

Coach Duffy Daugherty drilled the Spartans hard this week on stopping the Badger passing offense led by quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Sid Williams and he installed a set of new plays for MSU.

Daugherty kept the Spartans on the practice field 90 minutes yesterday, much longer than is the ordinary practice for Thursday, drilling on the new plays and on defense.

If anything can give the MSU squad a morale boost, the homecoming crowd and the fact that the game will be televised across the nation might have some effect on the mental attitude.

Also on the record end, the Spartans boast a homecoming won-loss mark which is in their favor. In the last three homecoming tilts, they have beaten Illinois twice (19-14 and 21-7) and Indiana (53-6).

The last homecoming loss was to Purdue in 1954 and since 1936, homecoming has meant victory for Spartan teams 17 times with only two losses and two ties.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—West Virginia faces Oklahoma State and University of Kentucky clashes with Ohio State in the sixth annual UK Invitational Basketbal Tournament Dec. 19-20, the school announced today.

The tourney, billed as the nation's most lucrative, last year earned nearly $12,000 for each of the four participating teams — Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina and Minnesota.

Rams, Shamrock Title Hopes at Stake

By H. GUY MOATS

This weekend's football contests in the Suburban Catholic League will, in all probability settle the title question, and it could be a triple-team-championship.

St. Frederick is in the driver's seat with a 5-0 record, but runs squarely into a fired-up St. Benedict club on the latter's home lot. Other coaches around the circuit express the opinion this tilt "will be a sizzler. You can bet Art Massucci will have something up his sleeve. But don't figure on any letdown by the Rams."

St. Michael's club will hold the local interest, with an important home game at Wisner Stadium, against a hard-working St. Clement crew. Shamrocks are favored in this one, to retain a chance for a share of the title. St. Rita plays at Orchard Lake against the Eaglets and RO St. Mary is at Ferndale St. James in a neighborhood battle.

The Shamrock-Clement set-to is scheduled for 3 o'clock, Rams-Benedict tussle at 2:30 (at Ives Field).

Several lineup changes were announced this morning by Shamrock mentor Jim Niebauer. Sophomore Carl Ganje, who has been doing a fine job, may get the call at fullback, while Bill Flanigan is nursing a dislocated thumb. Tom Dabbs and Mike Flynn will alternate at quarter, with Flynn the probable starter, Niebauer said. Other probable starters include Ron Call and Paul Pruente at ends; Fred Lauringer and Joe Gallardo, tackles; Gary Sonnenberg and Mike Keasley at guards; George Drake, center; Flynn, Chuck Steinhelper, Ganje and Pat Campbell, backfield.

Hit by injuries, with the loss of halfback Fred Forbush the biggest blow, Clements weren't hopeful of any upset here, says athletic director Rev. Carl Gentner. Forbush has a broken leg, suffered in scrimmage. Frank Driemeister, guard, is in a hospital recovering from a knee operation, and half-back Larry Chmielowski is out with a dislocated knee.

U.S. Champion Leads Hayward Snipe Test

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—U.S. champion Terry Whittemore held a slim lead today in the Hayward Trophy Western Hemisphere Snipe Championships with only two days of competition remaining.

Mixed-Up Quail Lands With Pins in Bowling Alley

Douglas Stockly sent his bowling ball spinning down the alley last night and knocked down eight pins, leaving two pins and a quail still standing.

Two other bowlers ran down the alley and captured the slightly rumpled, but otherwise unhurt bird. They will give it to a nearby quail ranch.

By BILL CORNWELL

Jack Hayes, Farmington High School's young football coach, must be sleeping soundly these nights. And, it could be added, he deserves every restful hour.

A year ago at this time, Hayes was not sleeping so well. His Falcons were preparing for an Inter-Lakes Conference title showdown with Southfield and Jack's sleeping was confined to a restless 40 winks.

The result of that showdown battle at Southfield is now well-recorded history. After pushing the Bluejays up and down the gridiron for nearly three quarters, Farmington wilted to superior manpower and lost the game and the title, 27-0.

Hayes was a disappointed man at the end of those 48 hectic minutes. But he knew there was always next year and his unhappines faded a little with the realization that a large portion of his squad was returning in 1958.

So Jack set his sights on winning the Inter-Lakes grid crown this season. Apparently his youthful charges had the same idea because they are now on the very doorstep of the coveted championship.

All the Falcons require to put the I-L cup in their trophy case is a victory over cellar-dwelling Van Dyke this evening at Van Dyke. It will take some kind of a modern miracle for the Abes to stop them.

Farmington has fought its way to the door of the I-L throne room the hard way. The Falcons had to meet their two top contenders, defending champion Southfield and Walled Lake, on successive weeks. They hurdled both obstacles, beating Southfield, 20-14, and toppling Walled Lake, 14-7.

The Falcons are currently the only undefeated-untied team in Oakland County with a perfect 6-0 record and they were ranked Michigan's 8th best Class A outfit in this week's state poll.

They will be top-heavy favorites to defeat Van Dyke tonight and win the I-L crown and they should have little trouble finishing a flawless season next Friday in non-league action at Clarenceville.

Folks around Farmington think this year's football team is the finest in the school's history. Once that Inter-Lakes trophy resides in the Falcon showroom ,Hayes will no doubt agree.

ODDS AND ENDS

Lyn Salathiel, former Waterford High grid star and All-County halfback in 1956, is the leading punter in the MIAA this year. Salathiel has a 39-yard average for Alma College on 22 kicks totaling 858 yards.

Bob Dickson, ex-Walled Lake guard, is a member of the freshman football squad at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo . . . West Bloomfield's annual fall athletic banquet honoring football and cross country letter winners will be held at the high school cafeteria on Dec. 3.

Triumvirate May Continue Racing

LONDON (AP)—British officials said today the United States, Italy and Great Britain probably will form a splinter group to continue big car auto racing despite changes in grand prix cars ordered by the International Racing Federation.

"There is a great love here, in the States and Italy for high speeds and spectacular auto shows," said Graham MacBeth of the British Automobile Racing Club.

"To meet this situation I believe racing group in the three to see to it that racing continues between their cars which have such as 2½ litre engines."

Medel Stops Padilla

'Playboy' to Be Mailed Temporarily, at Least

The Post Office Department announced Wednesday it had halted mailing privileges for the magazine pending a legal check of its contents.

But the magazine's publishers obtained a temporary injunction against the postal ban, effective for five days. The U.S. Court of Appeals refused to set aside the District Court order.

The publishers said the magazine has not changed since the Post Office Department granted it a permanent second-class mailing permit last June, after examining its contents.

Flint Girl's Ingenuity Lands Broadway Part

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Nancy Kovack, the former "Miss TV Sweetheart of Michigan" has licked the casting problem, with the result that she landed a part in her first Broadway play, Budd Schulberg's "The Disenchanted."

WILSON

"I used to get rejections all the time," the beautiful 22-year-old brunette, who doesn't look like anybody would reject her, told me.

"If my hair was long, they'd say, 'We're looking for somebody with short hair.' If I cut it off, they'd say, 'Too bad. We need somebody with long hair.'

"SO!" Nancy took a deep breath. "Now I go in like this." She pointed at her short, Italian-cut hair style. "And when they give me that bit about needing long hair, I say casually, 'Will this do?' "

As she got to this point, she lifted her whole head of hair casually—or so it seemed to my startled eyes—and out from under the "short curls' tumbled what turned out to be her own long brunette tresses.

★ ★ ★

"This wig," Nancy finished triumphantly, "ended that kind of brush-off. Now they'll have to think of a new one."

Nancy has another "major problem," which she hasn't been able to lick—yet.

NANCY I

NANCY II

A graduate of the University of Michigan in 1955 at the age of 19, she is more interested in weighty things, she says, than parties or glamour or "silly things."

When she came to New York t[illegible] years ago, she said she got swept up in a social whirl, which is when I met her. She was the gal who astounded everybody by turning down a date with Elvis Presley. She had told him, "You are very nice. But I can't go out with you because I haven't known you before."

She has since dated him because "the next time he asked me I had known him before, you see."

"It was always the nightclub bit," she scoffed. "I'd beg my dates to take me to a nice quiet place where we could talk over a cup of tea. (She doesn't smoke or drink.) But we'd always end up at a nightclub, and you just can't discuss metaphysicas at El Morocco.

"I finally put a stop to dating altogether. One day I looked at all the showy people, and I realized they were crazy. There was nothing in their lives. And I said to myself, 'You are crazy, too, for going along with the routine.' "

★ ★ ★

Israel Denies Buildup of Troops on Border

JERUSALEM (AP) — Cairo newspaper stories that Israel is mobilizing troops at the Jordan border are "lies, plain and simple," the Israeli Foreign Ministry says.

★ ★ ★

The Cairo press was filled with reports Thursday that Israel, encouraged by Britain, was carrying out large-scale troop concentrations so as to intervene in case of an attempt to overthrow King Hussein of Jordan. Moscow radio repeated the reports.

The reports from Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic said Israel would attempt to put Jordanian territory on the west bank of the Jordan River under United Nations control.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said there was "not the slightest foundation to the rumors put out from Cairo and elsewhere about mobilization or other warlike preparations in Israel."

West Germany's oil reserves are estimated at 69,000,000 tons. Production in 1957 amounted to 3,960,000 tons, a gain of 454,000 tons over 1956 output and sufficient to meet 32.7 per cent of the country's oil consumption.

Injured Squirrel Allowed to Join Master in Jail

When jobless Charlie Spurlock, 28, went behind bars Wednesday on a bad check charge, officers carried off his pet squirrel, Perri, to the dog pound. Charlie wept at the separation. The squirrel has an injured hind leg.

"She goes everywhere with me," he said. "She hangs onto my jacket and sleeps in the pocket."

Charlie was so upset the cellblock attendants got permission to return the squirrel to him. Spurlock joyfully popped Perri into his prison shirt pocket and fed her peanuts.

WASHINGTON—Government officials predict that American farmers' net earnings during 1958 will total 5 to 10 per cent more than their 11½-billion-dollar income of 1957.

Hollywood Headlines

Liz to Star in New Play by Tennessee Williams

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — That Elizabeth Taylor has agreed to star in Tennessee Williams' new play "Suddenly Last Summer" comes as no surprise to me. After Liz's hit in Williams' "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" she is a natural for Sam Spiegel's screen version of the author's newest hit.

When I asked about her deal to make "Two For The Seesaw" for which she's to get $500,000 plus 15 per cent, I was told that filming on this will be held up until after the Broadway run. As it is going great guns, this may be some time.

You can rest assured that Sam Spiegel will give "Suddenly Last Summer" a whopping production. He's won a couple of Academy Awards for "On The Water Front" and "Bridge On The River Kwai."

Michael Rennie, just back from Switzerland where he made "Third Man On A Mountain" (and slipped off it twice), has another daring and strenuous assignment in Europe the first of the year. Mike has signed to play Yul Brynner's cohort in "The Gladiators," a role previously rumored for Tony Quinn.

★ ★ ★

Who else but Bob Mitchum would start a cablegram with "Hi Baby?" I received a long message from him from Durango, Mexico, in which he tells me that Jack Oakie's wife, Vickie (Horn), has joined the cast of "Wonderful Country."

★ ★ ★

The love and esteem in which our industry holds director Henry King was evidenced in the large attendance at the celebration of his 40th year in the motion picture business. The get-together was held on the big stage of "This Earth Is Mine" at Universal-International, where Henry and his cast of Rock Hudson, Jean Simmons, Dorothy McGuire, Claude Rains and Kent Smith are working.

All you old-timers who remember the antics of Wheeler and Woolsey will be interested to hear that a fast-rising new comedy team from Canada, Wayne and Schuster, will do a series of remakes on the old Wheeler and Woolsey films.

Betsy Drake will be the palace guest of Princess Grace and Prince Rainier during the holidays. Grace wrote and invited Betsy and she accepted.

Sue Ladd's birthday was today, but Alan is surprising her with a different gift every day of the week. Great idea if you can afford it.

★ ★ ★

Pat O'Brien is bedded with flu.

Sunday Danny Thomas will be in Memphis, Tenn., for groundbreaking ceremonies on Danny's favorite charity project, St. Jude's Hospital. The hospital will be a two million dollar project and most of this money has been made personally by Danny's charity appearances.

TWA to Close Shop if Workers Strike

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The men who maintain and service Trans World Airlines lanes prepared to strike tonight and TWA says it will suspend operations if they do.

The airline, one of the nation's Big Four, said it would furlough its 19,000 employes if the 6,700 members of the International Assn. of Machinists strike.

TWA and District 142 of the IAM have been negotiating since their contract expired Oct. 1, 1957. Their dispute has been heard by federal mediators and a presidential emergency board. The union rejected recommendations by both.

★ ★ ★

The principal controversy concerns the union's insistence that all TWA workers covered by the contract remain under its provisions for the duration of the agreement.

Car Owner 'Caught' Removing Accessories

"But it's my car," he explained, "and I'm polishing the accessories."

Two boys, exploring a cave near Ontario, Canada, found several hundred hibernating bats, hanging from the walls in clusters. Some of the bats had been banded, indicating they had stopped over somewhere else while en route to their Ontario hideout.

Screams Delay Lynn Bari's Fight for Son

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The anguished screams of actress Lynn Bari caused postponement of a hearing on her petition for custody of her 10-year-old son.

"This is the greatest outrage I have ever heard of in my life," Miss Bari cried when attorneys outlined a proposal whereby her son by actor's agent Sid Luft would remain tentatively in Luft's home.

"My God! This is my life. I want my child. I want him in my home," the actress shouted.

Luft was awarded custody of the boy, John, last September, but Miss Bari opened a court fight for him, charging Luft and his wife Judy Garland do not have a proper environment for him.

Lawyers for both sides had just emerged from the judge's chambers with their custody proposal when Miss Bari made her outburst. After her protest the case was put over until next Thursday.

Doctor Pictures Alcoholics as Grownup Spoiled Brats

CHICAGO (UPI) — A doctor who hypnotizes alcoholics said today people who get obnoxious when drunk really would like to behave that way all the time and just use the liquor for an excuse.

He said the only real cure for alcoholism was to teach children responsibility.

"Alcoholics are simply grown-up spoiled brats," Dr. Bernard Gindes said. "We have more alcoholics lately because we're breeding a generation of spoiled brats."

He said it's all the fault of modern parents.

"The children are given everything their own way. But when they become adults they find the world isn't that generous," Gindes said. "It's quite a blow."

Gindes, of Beverly Hills, Calif., discussed the "hypnotherapeutic approach to alcoholism" before the Society for Clinical and Experimental Hypnosis' 10th annual meeting.

"Alcohol solves a problem which according to an alcoholic's own 'private sense' cannot be solved in any other way," he told the group, an affiliation of the American Medical Association.

"Alcohol leads the alcoholic away from frustrating experiences in much the same way as a mother would gently lead her happy child. It allows the alcoholic temporarily to withdraw from razor-edged experiences which carve away at his self esteem. It keeps him from looking at a poor photograph of himself."

Gindes said the alcoholic soon finds the bottle gives him even more than an escape. It gives him the ability to manipulate his environment. Gindes said this works in three key ways.

". . . The alcoholic's 'benders' may be intended as punishment against those persons who do not accede to his every demand.

". . . He arouses the sympathy of those about him, and in this way disclaims all responsibility for his lack of successful endeavor. In a sense, his 'uncontrolled' binges are excuses in advance for his failures.

"How often we have heard: 'If John didn't drink so much what a successful guy he'd be.' One might surmise that if John were thoroughly convinced that the success he was seeking would follow once he made the effort, a threat of physical violence couldn't persuade him to drink.

". . . Alcoholism may be an excuse in advance of the act. Many alcoholics after a few drinks become offensive and belligerent. It may be concluded by some that hostile feelings rise to the surface as alcohol 'relaxes the mechanism of repression.' But after much close observation of alcoholics, I personally should be inclined to assume rather that he drinks so that he may display his hostility, at the same time disowning responsibility for the consequences of his deed."

To treat alcoholics, Gindes first puts them into a "medium hypnotic sleep," then offers them a shot of their favorite drink. He has them swish it around their mouths for a while.

"Now what you just drank is an obnoxious, vile and repelling thing," he tells them.

They usually throw it up, and later give it up.

'Planned to Kill Me' —Chaplin Jr.'s Wife

★ ★ ★

Susan Magness Chaplin, 22, alleges in the complaint that Chaplin seized her last Aug. 12 and told her he intended to kill her. She said that a month later he ordered her out of their car, and when she refused to obey, he told her he would drive her into the hills, kill her and throw her body on the road.

★ ★ ★

She asked the court for reasonable support pending the contested divorce. She said she expects a child next June.

★ ★ ★

Newest Cocktail Real Knockout, Doctors Report

The concoction—popular along skid rows—is started by dumping yeast, cracked corn or corn meal and sugar into a large metal drum. Rubbing alcohol and moth balls are added. A dash of the cleaning agent Clorox speeds up fermentation.

The drink produces bizarre and serious mental effects. Few patients could drink more than half a pint in six to eight hours and remain conscious. More than half the patients studied suffered from tremors and hallucinations identical to delirium tremens. The symptoms disappeared when drinking was halted.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Assn., a team of South Carolina scientists said the drink has a metallic iron taste probably caused by strong concentration of alcohols and traces of metal from the mixing container.

The report on 50 patients suffering from drinking the concoction was made by Dr. Richard H. Gadsden, Ph.D., and Doctors R. Ramsey Mellette and William C. Miller Jr., of Charleston, S.C.

They said the drink can cause severe mental and physical symptoms much more quickly than excessive drinking of ordinary alcohol.

Grains Lower, Uncertain Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market was mostly lower today in slow dealings on the Board of Trade.

Selling was not particularly aggressive but there were no inducements to encourage the buying side either. Wheat traders were somewhat disappointed that most of the overnight purchases by India were mainly of Pacific Coast white wheat. The sales totaled 1,400,000 bushels.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ cent a bushel lower, December $1.93⅛; corn ⅛ to ⅞ lower, December old type contract $1.10⅛; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 64½; rye ¼ to ½ lower, December $1.03¾; soybeans ¾ lower to ¼ higher, November $2.10⅜.

★ ★ ★

The market is described by some grain traders as being just now at its most uncertain period of the year. The doubt hinges primarily on how much of the yield will be available for commercial trade. At present, Chicago elevators are almost full and supplies of all grains except wheat still are building up.

★ ★ ★

But some dealers point out that this circumstance may not continue very long after the first outpouring of the record or near record harvests.

★ ★ ★

Bell is a native of Thessalon, Ontario, Canada and is married to the former Winifred Beacom of Marlette. They have three sons and reside at 2150 Parkinson St.

Stocks Churn in Mixed Action

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market churned in a mixed pattern early today. Trading was active.

The market was generally lower at the opening. The ticker tape was late briefly in the initial wave of dealings. As trading moderated, some losses were converted to gains.

Aircrafts, oils and rubbers were generally higher. Coppers, airlines and drugs were mostly lower. Steels, motors, rails and chemicals were mixed.

The failure of yesterday's early drive to penetrate record highs and the subsequent reaction was one factor in the hesitation, brokers said. Another, they added, was uncertainty over the approaching election.

American Motors again was heavily traded, dropping more than a point on a string of blocks including transactions of 6,000 and 10,000 shares.

Study Injunction on Du Pont, GM

CHICAGO (AP)—A government motion for a temporary injunction against Du Pont and General Motors has been taken under advisement.

The injunction, sought by the antitrust division of the Justice Department, seeks to bar stockholders of Du Pont and GM from becoming officers in each other's corporate setup.

The government also seeks an injunction against Du Pont and two of its holding companies from acquiring any new shares of GM stock.

Judge Walter J. Labuy of U. S. District Court, who took the motion under advisement yesterday, will hold hearing on the motion later. A pretrial conference is scheduled for Nov. 17.

The government sued in 1949 charging that Du Pont and its holding companies — the Christiana Securities Co. and the Delaware Investment Co.—enjoyed a virtual monopoly with its ownership of 23 per cent of General Motors stock.

Judge Labuy ruled in 1956 there was no evidence of monopoly, but the U. S. Supreme Court reversed the ruling and ordered the case reopened.

★ ★ ★

In another phase of the antitrust suit, the U. S. District Court has received several proposals on how Du Pont can dispose of its share of General Motors stock.

To Head Planning at Pontiac Motor

Appointment of W. Harold Knisley as superintendent of planning and standards for Pontiac Motor Division has been announced by B. E. Starr, general manufacturing manager.

He succeeds J. F. Kennedy who retires tomorrow after 23 years with the division.

KNISLEY

Various assignments of responsibility in the time study, plant layout, engineering, and process sections of planning and standards preceded his appointment as work standards supervisor in 1952. He was named assistant superintendent for planning and standards in 1955, the position he held prior to his new appointment.

★ ★ ★

A native of Pontiac, Knisley is married to the former Sue Hooper. They have three children and reside at 155 Marylestone.

Kennedy affiliated with the division in 1935 and had been superintendent of planning and standards since 1953. He is a resident of Royal Oak.

Tells Pranksters to 'Take It Easy' After Explosion

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons warned Halloween pranksters today to "take it easy, have a good time but use common sense," in the wake of a firecracker incident reported to deputies last night.

According to sheriff's reports, Ronald Bowman, 12, of 1932 Ferry Ct., Avon Township, heard his dog barking at the rear of his home at about 8:45 p.m.

He opened the back door to see what was disturbing the dog and suddenly something was thrown at him out of the darkness. The object missed Ronald but hit a deep freeze behind him, exploding and inflicting minor cuts and burns to the back of one of his legs.

Although the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bowman, reported the incident as a "firecracker" complaint, deputies said there was considerable question as to the size of the "firecracker."

Irons asserted that "this could have been much more serious had the exploding object hit the boy. We expect pranksters to be on the loose tonight, but also expect them t orefrain from malicious destruction of property and injury to local residents."

Beaten Farmer Accuses Youths

Four Will Stand Trial; Two Others Jailed for Assault on Highway

Accused of beating a farmer during a roadside beer party near Big Rapids, one Birmingham youth today is serving a three-day jail term and another was scheduled to appear in Justice Court.

Michael Powers, 18, of 1235 E. Maple Rd., pleaded guilty along with a fellow Ferris Institute student from Grosse Ile to assault and battery against Raymond Swanger, 24, of rural Morley.

David R. Kukar, 18, 1101 S. Eton Rd., was among four others scheduled for arraignment today on the same charge.

Mecosta County Prosecutor William Harper said the six youths and five others who were in another car bought three cases of beer at a Morley Tavern Wednesday night.

Harper said Wanger saw a car parked in the middle of the road when he arrived home late Wednesday night. As he began to pass the car on the right, it pulled in front of him and he hit it in the door, Harper said.

Swanger started to back up when the six youths climbed out of the car and began to follow him. Harper said Swanger went into a ditch and the youths pulled him from the car, beat him and fled, leaving a number of beer bottles at the scene.

Swanger got their license number and called the Sheriff's office and they were arrested as they drove into Big Rapids a little while later.

Harper said the driver of the other car probably will be charged with drinking beer on a public highway and the bartender who sold the beer to the youths and the owner of the tavern will be charged with selling beer to minors.

Pontiac Child, 4, Runs Into Car, Is Injured

The child, Thomas Overbaugh, 116 W. Fairmont Ave., was treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Charles Lee Shanahan, 17, of 216 W. Fairmont, told police he saw the youth, but was unable to stop in time.

Train Plows Into Car, Driver Escapes Unhurt

Checks Radioactivity

Jet Tests Atom Cloud

By STEVE LOWELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Bill, who is 27 and from George, Iowa, is a member of the 4950th Test Group from Kirkland Field, Albuquerque. His job is flying observers to check radioactivity and pick up samples of particles in the usually awesome clouds.

Bill's plane is a twin engined B57 jet bomber. On the tips of the wings are containers which look like wing tanks. They hold filter paper screens through which the air flows and which catch particles as the craft flies through atomic clouds.

In the back cockpit are dials to register the peak radioactivity encountered in a cloud, the average radioactivity of each pass, and the total radioactivity piled up through one whole flight.

Bill took me along Thursday as the observer so I could see how his unit has been sampling nuclear clouds in atomic tests for six years.

We went out to take a look at a pint-sized cloud. It was about 1,000 feet through and came from the explosion of what is called a safety experiment. That is a proposed nuclear bomb design set up for testing to see what strains it can stand in case it is in an accident like a fire, crash, or fall. Conventional explosives are used to try to set off the miniature nuclear charges.

We wore lead vests and flew on 100 per cent oxygen throughout the half-hour mission. We flew over to Yucca Flat where the explosion took place and let down to about 2,000 feet.

We had to look hard for the little puff. Finally we spotted the gray haze against the sandy background.

The amount of radioactivity we recorded was minute.

When we reached ground again that radioactivity showed on a counter passed over us from head to foot, but there was not enough contamination to make it necessary to take a shower.

The samples we took were sent as routine to the Livermore Radiation Laboratory in California for analysis to help learn a little more about atomic power.

Fall From Moving Car Injures City Woman

A Pontiac woman was reported in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after falling out of a moving car last night on N. Perry street near Clarence street.

Elizabeth Rier, 52, of 365 N. Perry, was admitted to the hospital with multiple lacerations and abrasions to the head, and a possible skull fracture.

The car driven by Donald J. Riker, 51, same address, was moving south on N. Perry when she fell out.

Sees Car Production Rising 30 Thousand

DETROIT (AP) — Passenger car output this week will total 101,252 units, best level since mid-February, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

The total compares with last week's 70,973 cars and reflects an upsurge in production by General Motors, strikebound for more than two weeks early in October, and increased output by other makers. In the comparable week last year the industry built 126,139 cars.

This week's truck output is placed at 20,389 units against 16,255 the preceding week. In the comparable 1957 week 21,226 trucks were built.

Ward's estimated October output in the United States at 259,000 units. It said Ford accounted for 113,000 cars, equaling the combined total of General Motors and Chrysler.

Truck Robbed of $20 at Troy Junior High

Thomas Cassidy of Pontiac, driver of the truck, told Troy Police he could identify the boys. He said he saw them open the door of the truck cab.

Ford on Overtime

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has announced that its 13 assembly plants will work overtime Saturday to meet the demand for 1959 models. General Manager J. O. Wright announced that daily production has reached 5,400 units and is rising.

2nd Oldest Cat, Judy, 24, Goes to Her Reward

"That was the second oldest cat in the United States," said Society President Robert Lothar Kendall.

Judy's owner Mrs. Newton B. Srope said the black, white and orange puss still succeeded in catching mice as late as last month. It was quite a feat because Judy had only one tooth left.

★ ★ ★

Judy regularly lived on boneless salmon and chopped pig liver. She walked with a limp, result of a broken leg suffered in a traffic mishap while crossing a road several years ago.

★ ★ ★

Kendall said a cat's normal life span is 6 to 10 years, Judy was awarded a citation for longevity two years ago. Kendall said the society had a cat on file named Suzie from Hazzleton, Pa., whose owner claimed she was 37.

HOLLYWOOD — The western hero is still the boss of the TV range but if some of you dial twisters are bored with all that jazz in Dodge and points west there is hope today.

If the badmen and opposition shows can't kill off the heroic cowpokes, maybe they will get to fighting among themselves and gradually thin out their own ranks. They're already trying to talk each other to death.

There have been beefs about who makes the most money, who has the fastest draw and who is the fastest rider. A special race at Santa Anita this winter, with TV western stars as jockeys, has been suggested to clear up this point as well as raise a lot of money for charity.

Latest flare-up in the TV corral started a lot of word-slinging between Tris Coffin, who plays the captain of the Arizona Rangers in the western adventure series, "26 Men," and Robert Sisk, who produces the "Wyatt Earp" shows.

"Like Wyatt Earp, for instance," Tris told Daily Variety's Dave Kaufman. "Actually he was a gunman who wore a badge only one year and ran the houses of ill repute in Parker, Ariz., with the help of Parker's mayor."

Well, now, those were fighting words to Producer Sisk and also to Hugh O'Brian, who plays Earp. Sisk immediately started shooting.

"Coffin," he said, "doesn't know his elbow from third base.

"We've heard those charges Coffin made again and again and checked Earp's life carefully right up to the time he died in Los Angeles. But they never document those charges. Coffin should prove it or shut up."

★ ★ ★

There was a nice cue for Sisk to pun the word "coffin" but he didn't take it. He reloaded, however, and riddled the character Tris plays in "26 Men."

"The captain of the Arizona Rangers—this fellow Tris plays —lost his job as head of the Rangers after four years for playing politics. He was fired."

I can't tell you who's right and who's wrong but this word-slinging sure is a lot of fun and I'm going to keep leaning' on the corral fence to see what else may happen.

Maybe Jim (Gunsmoke) Arness will take on those Maverick Brothers — James Garner and Jack Kelly. Personally, I'd rather see Bret and Bart tangle with Ward Bond and Bob Horton on the "Wagon Train" trail. Perhaps Dennis Weaver, who plays Chester on CBS' "Gunsmoke," knows something about the Wells Fargo agent Dale Robertson plays on NBC. And if John (Restless Gun) Payne can find time to relax for a minute of two, maybe he can come up with something about somebody.

The fellow who can come up with something about EVERYBODY, of course, wins an Emmy.

So speak up, men.

Large, Not Fat Men Wanted by the Law

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The overweight officer is on his way out but big men still are more impressive, especially as patrolmen, the International Assn. of Police Chiefs was told today.

Rex R. Andrews, police chief of Burbank, Calif., said police departments must give considerable thought to the physical qualities of applicants.

Many departments have gone even further with their physical examinations and now include mental health, personality evaluations, nervous conditions, glandular fucfioning, temperment, social intellect, personal habits and ideals, he said.

"We need and welcome the assistance of the psychiatrist, neurologist, endocrinologist and physychologist, as well as the experienced internist in our physical examination procedures," Andrews told the 65th annual convention.

He said new techniques and procedures have developed in the field of police atiministration and recruiting of personnel is a "difficult job."

"The applicant must have intelligence and aptitude if he is going to be able to absorb and apply information he receives in recruit and subsequent training programs," Andrews said.

Accused of Murder

DETROIT (AP)—Lloyd Hurst, 20, a dock worker, has been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a friend he had warned to stop dating his wife. He is accused of shooting Sammy Kay Hobbs, 19, last week because the victim was dating Hurst's wife, Mona, 17.

The Rev. Leonard Simcoe, minister of the Apostolic Church of Pentecost in Manitoba, Canada, is the grandson of an Ojibway Indian chief.

Q. I was told that I am farsighted, yet I see clearly at far and near. I don't wear my glasses because they don't improve my sight. Do you think I was misled about my condition? B. J. M.

A. If the farsighted condition isn't too extreme and you are under 40 years of age, then your vision could very well be 20 20. With this condition, however, you are using up excess energy to see at distant points and even more energy when looking up close. If you have headaches, eye-strain or feel tired quite a bit of the time, then you should be wearing your correction.

Q. I've wanted to get contact lenses but have noticed that my friend who wears them, has bulging eyes when they are on. Is that because she has a very high correction. J. E. M.

A. It is probably because your friend is wearing the old fashion contact lens that cover the entire eye. The latest style contact lens are so small (regardless of the correction) that they are practically invisible in the eye. They can usually be worn all day long whereas the old style could only be worn about four hours.

Q. I am planning on getting a driver's license but my vision isn't too good. What vision does the State of Michigan require in order to get a license? J.E.S.

A. The State of Michigan requires that you have 20 40 or better, with or without glasses. If you are in doubt about your vision it is best to have it corrected before you apply for your license.

Paris Is Unique, Heady, an Alluring Queen

PARIS (AP)—This late in the age of flight, it is tres gauche to admit you've never been to Paris before. But let's be gauche. I haven't been here before, and you probably haven't either.

All the cliches are true. Paris is unique. Paris is heady, confusing, thieving, utterly charming. Paris is a queen constantly on the make.

London and Londoners seem to invite the visitor's respect for their tradition, their history, their gallantry under fire. Paris and Parisians don't seem to give a damn about winning your respect. Save that for the museums, they seem to say; jump in, Jacques, the wine's fine. Live a little and let others worry about history and dignity.

★ ★ ★

So much to see, so much to hear.

The sweeping boulevards, the narrow streets, the grilled balconies, the old window shutters, the book stalls along the Seine, the nuns visiting Notre Dame, the jumbled rock garden of rooftops, the splash of color and fresh design on the billboards and street posters.

The haughty sex of the beautiful, chic women, the red-cheeked men in tight pants, short broad-shouldered jackets, the incongruous solemnity of a young priest in a beret and long black cassock riding a bicycle, the housewives bustling across the street with long, unwrapped loaves of bread, the men arguing over their wine in a sidewalk cafe, the street walkers with eyes that miss nothing.

★ ★ ★

The girl tenderly stroking her lover's cheek while waiting for a bus, the bus drivers in their long white butcher coats, the pitchman in a sidewalk stall selling a gadget for cutting onions as if it were a women's most personal and most mischievous undergarment, the buyer and seller in the Central Market haggling over prices at 5 a.m., screaming on the verge of homicide and then suddenly coming to terms over a cognac before breakfast.

★ ★ ★

Ah, the driving. Parisians do not drive to get some place. They drive to win an argument. Traffic sweeps around the Place de la Concorde in a mad dash to see how many cars can squeeze through the narrow exits. Plunging fullbacks on wheels do not wait for their interference. Paris is the only city I've seen where a man on a bicycle will try to elbow a bus onto the sidewalk.

For the American tourist worried about money in Paris, it is most important to relax. It is inevitable he will be taken completely, and he might as well smile. About the only one in Paris who doesn't have a hand out is Venus de Milo.

But you no longer have to guess about the cab fare. The little cabs in Paris now have meters on the outside. This is the greatest concession to international peace that has been wrung out of the French since Napoleon was racked up at Waterloo.

Never worry about how much to tip in Paris. If you don't tip enough, you will soon hear about it from the cabdriver, waiter, or bellhop. The rule is simple. Start with 50 francs and keep adding to it until the driver, waiter or bellhop no longer seems to be in excruciating pain. This is most important. Look only for the absence of pain and stop tipping immediately. If he smiles, you know you've overtipped. If he thanks you, count your jewelry.

New York Race Costs Hopefuls $95,000 So Far

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Harriman and Rockefeller families, have contributed more than $95,000 to the election battle in New York State between two of their most famous members.

By mid-October Republicans had spent over $840,000 on behalf of their state ticket, and Democrats had spent at least $745,000.

Full accountings of campaign contributions and expenditures will be made after the election Tuesday. The reports are required by law.

Bribe Case Witness Refuses to Testify

A material witness in the case of a Pontiac police officer accused of bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice was arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday after he refused to testify at the officer's examination.

The witness, Lealon S. Karnes, 822½ Baldwin Ave., was named a co-defendant in the case. He demanded examination, and is free on $500 bond set by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

The officer, Jess W. Quick, 43, of 502 Beverly St., and Charley B. Johnson, 57, of 26 W. Kennett Rd., were arrested Oct. 25 and accused of trying to bribe a member of the Pontiac police vice squad to permit a card game to operate.

Examination of the trio will continue Nov. 6.

New Zealand Plans to Shift Trade Marts

SEATTLE (AP) — New Zealand is planning to shift more of its trade from the British Commonwealth to the United States, Japan and possibly Communist China, it was reported today at the Colombo Plan economic conference.

This is being done, he said, as a government measure to help recover from a sharp fall in New Zealand's sterling reserves. The reserves plummeted from more than 100 million pounds sterling (280 million dollars) to 43 million pounds.

He said the fall is attributed mainly to a drop in world prices for leading New Zealand exports, coupled with an oversupply of imports.

Schools in Ypsilanti, Mich., conducted a campaign to get pupils to eat celery, carrots or apples to build good teeth.
