Crazed Man Kidnaps Mother, 3 Children

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (P) — A 29-year-old mother and her three children were captives today of a crazed, former convict who said he was only interested in "vengeance."

The gunman threatened to torture and kill the four unless authorities released a convict from prison so he could slay the man.

"Only you have the power to save them from certain death, by granting my demands," read the note left behind by a man identified as Richard I. Payne, 23.

"I don't want money. I want vengeance," it continued.

State police described Payne as an especially dangerous mental patient.

He left a note behind in his victim's home, addressed to West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood. In the rambling, five-page tirade, he named another convict, Burton Junior Post, better known as Junior Starcher.

The note said:

"My purpose is to kill and to take the head of my worst enemy, who is now out of reach. He is in the W. Va. Penitentiary at Moundsville."

Payne proposed to use his captives as a wedge to force Starcher's release.

"To save the children," the note read, "I demand only the FBI work on this case."

Payne entered the home of John H. Baldwin, 31, early Wednesday night on the pretense of wanting to use the telephone.

Then he whipped out a pistol and threatened to kill the whole family, Baldwin told police.

The crazed ex-convict bound Baldwin, his wife Elma, 29, and their children, Susan, 5, Danny, 7, and Kenneth, 10. Methodically he gagged each one.

He ignored Mrs. Baldwin's mumbled pleas to release the gag, and composed his wild note addressed to Underwood.

Then he herded the mother and her three frightened children into Baldwin's 1955 model car. Baldwin was left tied up in the family's five-room house. He broke free and notified authorities.

"He said he would kill my wife and torture the children if I called police," Baldwin told authorities. State police Capt. W. R. Callag. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Ah—Who Said Spring Would Never Come?

After a long, hard winter, weather in the Pontiac area began warming up for the official arrival of spring with the mercury soaring to a season's high of 58 at 1 p.m. today.

Spring will check in at 3:55 a.m. Saturday — nearly six hours later than last year.

The Weather Bureau predicted tonight will be mostly cloudy with a low of 40 degrees. Today's south-west winds at 20-40 miles an hour will diminish tonight.

Friday's high is expected to reach near 48. Thirty-two was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m.

Beaten Woman Dies of Injuries

Widow, 85, Succumbs in St. Joseph Hospital; Murder Weapon Found

Mrs. Mary Douglas, 85, found beaten in a downtown Mount Clemens apartment Tuesday night, died at 5:30 a.m. today in Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Police termed her death murder. They said a carpenter's heavy tape measure holder, found near the woman's body, apparently was the death weapon in the mysterious assault.

They theorized that the elderly widow may have been the victim of a burglar who fled after beating her.

Mrs. Douglas was found unconscious on the floor of the apartment of John DuBois, for whom she was a housekeeper. She lived in another apartment in the same building.

Nine years ago I learned what is meant by having to lose your life, almost, to gain it.

At the time I had a small band at the Golden Hotel in Reno, Nev.

One day I was stricken with a heart ailment that apparently stemmed from an old rheumatic fever attack.

When you lie on your back for weeks, facing the possibility of death, you can come to know God very well.

Finally, I was allowed to go home—skin and bones perhaps—but a man to whom something beyond healing had happened. Somewhere in the process I learned what to do with my life. It was about time, too, because up to then I had spent a lot of time and energy getting nowhere. "You are a song writer, band leader, singer, dancer, guitar player and actor," an agent once told me. "But what do you want to be known as? I can't sell a grab bag."

I didn't know how to answer him. For years, I took whatever job came along, always looking for the "big break."

With my professional life at a low point, personal disaster also came; Ruth, the wonderful girl from home, who had married me in 1940, developed an inoperable cancer and began undergoing radium treatments. And then I was stricken with my illness. Financially we were wiped out.

Why had it happened? Ruth and I believed in a loving God and the abundant life, as promised by the Lord Christ. Since nothing could take away His power and presence, and since the fault could not lie with God nor with Ruth, I concluded that there had to be something the matter with me: my praying . . . my living. What was it?

The first step was facing the fact that I had been trying to run my life by myself and hadn't done very well. I had been saying, "Thy will be done" by rote, without (Continued on Page 16, Col. 1)

Macmillan Flies to Washington for Ike Confab

Believe British Leader Will Ask More Flexible Western Policies

OTTAWA (P) — Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain left here today by Comet IV jetliner for talks with President Eisenhower. His plane departed at 10:12 a.m. (EST) and was due in Washington about 11:20 a.m.

Macmillan is expected to urge Eisenhower to join him in working out more flexible Western policies for forthcoming negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The two will go into their week-end of conferences in Washington firmly agreed on the need to resist Soviet threats and pressures aimed at forcing the Western powers out of Berlin.

But they are clearly divided on a number of issues involved in preparing for negotiations with the Soviets.

Before heading to Washington from Ottawa, Macmillan expressed confidence his visits to the two capitals "will serve to consolidate and confirm the united will of the Western world."

Eisenhower called Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter and other diplomatic advisers to the

Macmillan Facts Page 10

White House for discussion of the Berlin situation in preparation for Macmillan's arrival.

Actual talks between the two men will get under way Friday at Camp David, Md., a secluded mountain retreat about 45 miles from Washington.

Although a joint statement early next week may report generally on their talks, detailed practical results of their work may not be disclosed officially until the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union meet this spring. Such a meeting is now being worked out.

One of the differences the two men face is in their attitude toward a summit conference. Macmillan is represented as feeling one is necessary, regardless of any results of the foreign ministers meeting, on the theory that only Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev can speak for his country.

Study Plans for MSUO Development

Public Program on MSUO Set

'On-to-College Night' Meeting Monday Will Explain Curriculum

The first in a series of special programs presenting a progress report on educational development at Michigan State University Oakland will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the auditorium of Pontiac Central High School.

Called an "On-to-College Night," the program has been prepared by the MSUO Foundation Community Relations Committee.

Among the subjects which will be discussed is specific information on the curriculum of the university. Questions of parents, students, teachers, counselors and school administrators will be answered.

Dr. Roy Alexander, director of MSUO student services, said questions of a general nature about college attendance also will be answered.

FIRST OF KIND

Anyone interested in the university is welcome to attend, he said, pointing out that the meeting will mark the first public discussion of MSUO's unique curriculum.

Chairman of the Community Relations Committee of the MSUO Foundation is Dr. Paul Cousino, superintendent of schools in Warren.

Similar "On-to-College Night" programs will be held at 8 p.m. March 31 at the Ferndale Community Center, 400 E. 9-Mile Rd., and at 8 p.m. April 9 at the Birmingham Community House, Willets and Bates streets.

Chairman of the "On-to-College Night" programs is Richard Ernst, president of the Perryberry Co.

Answering questions at all sessions will be MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner, assisted by Community Relations Committee members and MSUO administrative officials.

Straley Said Hamstrung by Police Association

By MAX E. SIMON

Suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley heard himself compared to a "thoroughbred race horse carrying a 300-pound jockey" last night.

The "jockey" giving the chief trouble was the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. (PPOA) which had openly declared war on Straley, Patrolman John A. Felts said last night.

Felts told the Civil Service Commission he was a member of the PPOA from 1953 to early 1957 when he quit the group because of its tactics and its opposition to Straley.

The Commission is taking testimony on ouster charges against the chief. Straley was suspended

Feb. 9 by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

"Whenever the chief issued an order, the PPOA would oppose it," Felts declared.

"While I was in the organization I became aware of a combined effort against Straley. One of the ways I arrived at this conclusion was by the number of petitions circulated opposing the chief."

The patrolman said that when Straley issued an order the PPOA officers did all they could to "kill it instead of carrying it out."

He said he often heard PPOA members make derogatory statements about Straley.

Meetings of the PPOA were poorly attended, Felts charged, and said that often the officers were unable to start on time for lack of a quorum.

"It took only between 9 and 12 men to start a meeting and sometime they waited an hour or more for that many to show up," Felts said.

He said a small band of officers appeared at all meetings and charted the path the organization would take.

"Wild conversations" were common at meetings, Felts said, with PPOA members drinking alcoholic beverages before and during meetings.

"When a small pressure group made up its mind on what it wanted, the debate was over," Felts said. "No one else could get the floor."

The patrolman denied that he had been shown favoritism by Straley. He said that "not many officers have been dressed down more than I was by the chief."

Felts, introduced by Straley's attorney Clarence L. Smith as an 11-year Navy veteran of World War II and the Korean War, told commissioners he disapproved of commanding officers fraternizing with their men.

"When an officer becomes buddy-buddy with those under him, he loses control of his subordinates," Felts said.

He said he had never been punished unjustly or reprimanded in public by the chief.

Felts, a former member of the department's now-defunct Traffic Bureau, said the chief wasn't getting much cooperation from Municipal Court judges in bringing in new methods to prosecute drunk drivers.

Felts told of only two specific policies which the PPOA resisted, one an order which would have rotated days off among the department's members.

Cross-examined by City Attorney William A. Ewart, Felts admitted he also opposed Straley's policy. "It wasn't a question of right or wrong," Felts explained. "I had Sundays off and wanted to keep them."

He said that the PPOA aided an officer against whom Straley brought charges before the Civil Service Commission. "I found it distasteful," Felts said.

A former PPOA officer, Sgt. Walter A. Baerwolf, also criticized PPOA actions.

Hearing Should End in 12 Days

Straley's Attorney Says He Won't Delay, Cites Possible 'Mock Trial'

The Herbert W. Straley hearing should be over within 12 days, in time for the Civil Service Commission to render a decision before the April 6 election, Atty. Clarence L. Smith said today.

But if the decision upholds Straley's Feb. 9 suspension as Pontiac police chief, it "undoubtedly" will be appealed to Circuit Court, Smith added.

Smith, who is Straley's counsel, gave assurances there was no attempt on his part to prolong the hearing past April 6, when voters will pass on repealing civil service for police.

"If civil service were repealed before the hearing was over, the Commission's authority would be terminated and the hearing would have been, legally, a mock trial. We don't want that."

One reason the hearing has taken as long as it has, Smith said, is that testimony is being taken before the Civil Service Commission that could be used later in Circuit Court, in case of an appeal.

Stuart A. Austin, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, urged an early end to the hearing. "I've informed all the attorneys we want this hearing cleared up before the election. Delay past that date could mean that all the time and expense to the taxpayers would be wasted."

Asks Meeting of All Nations in German War

Similar Proposal Urging 28-Government Parley Rejected in January

MOSCOW (P) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev called one of his rare press conferences for Western newsmen today.

Khrushchev urged a broad-based conference of all nations which took part in the war against Hitlerism, with the aim of concluding a peace treaty with Germany.

He called attention to President Eisenhower's proposal Monday night that a summit conference might be held this summer if a foreign ministers meeting could start negotiations on the Berlin crisis.

"We appeal to the governments of all nations which took part in the war against Hitlerite Germany to sit down at the negotiating table and settle pressing problems, to conclude a peace treaty with Germany," Khrushchev told the special news conference in the Kremlin.

Khrushchev's tone seemed mild. Khrushchev made a similar proposal last January in a note to 27 other countries which fought Nazi Germany.

The West rejected this, and in turn asked the Soviet Union to take part in a foreign ministers conference in Geneva or Vienna with both East and West Germans in attendance, to prevent the German issues from touching off a new war.

Khrushchev this time seemed to have seized upon President Eisenhower's Monday remark as a starting point for a new attempt to make a summit conference a reality.

"We would like the Western governments, having cast aside the mad threats of their generals and admirals against our country, to sit down at the conference table with us," Khrushchev said.

"If they have sensible proposals to make, we are ready to examine (Continued on Page 16, Col. 1)

N-Bombs Fired at High Altitude

U.S. Reveals Testing Three Devices to Form Protective Sheet

WASHINGTON (P) — Three nuclear bombs exploded by the United States beyond the earth's atmosphere formed an electronic sheet that circled most of the world.

A defense official outside the Defense Department said the tests at tremendous altitude were an effort to spread a shield through which missiles could not fly.

Defense Department officials confirmed Wednesday night that the tests had been set off secretly last September, for both military and scientific test purposes. But they declined to discuss the military angles.

TO OFFSET MISSILES?

Other sources reported, however that the tests explored the possibility of generating at an altitude of about 300 miles a diffusion of neutrons which would offset the nuclear reaction in missile warheads.

Just how the electronic shield could halt a missile or keep it from exploding was not explained.

The shots were fired from naval craft in the South Atlantic late in September—more than a month before the United States started a one-year suspension of nuclear tests pending negotiations with the Soviet Union on halting all such testing.

LOW IN RADIATION

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and Dr. Herbert York, director of Pentagon research, gave some details of the test shots after newsmen learned of them from other sources.

They said the explosions were of very low yield in radiation and would not disclose the altitude at which the tests were made.

Mid-Continent Finds Spring Coming at Last

By The Associated Press
Spring-like weather finally came to most of the mid-continent today and warmer air headed into the cool sections in the eastern part of the country.

It was cold in the Northeast this morning with temperatures between zero and 10 above in parts of New England. They were in the teens southward into northern Virginia; dropped to the 30s in northern Georgia; were near 50 in northern Florida and in the 60s in southern parts of Florida.

But warm air, fanned by southerly winds, spread across areas from the central plains and Mississippi Valley into the upper Great Lakes region during the night. Gusts reached 30 to 40 m.p.h. in sections from Kansas across Iowa into the Great Lakes. Winds were clocked at 55 m.p.h. at Salina, Kan.

It was more than 50 degrees warmer in Grand Marais, Mich., where it was a cold 22 below zero Wednesday. Readings were in the 50s as far north as Eastern Nebraska and southern Iowa. Temperatures were in the low 40s at Lone Rock, in southwestern Wisconsin, compared to below zero marks Wednesday.

Dry weather was the rule in most sections. Light rains persisted in southern Florida, which has been hit by wet weather for the past several days. Two rivers, the Suwannee, in the northern part of the state, and the Alafia, 170 miles southward, overflowed their banks Wednesday, flooding lowlands and forcing several families to leave their homes.

The Day in Birmingham

Tax Collections Coming In Faster Than a Year Ago

BIRMINGHAM—Tax collections in Birmingham are ahead of last year's pace, according to City Treasurer Russell Berger who said this morning it will be another month before delinquent lists are completed.

On the city levy of slightly over $1,200,000, more than 98 per cent has been collected, Berger said. School and county taxes with a levy of over $2,500,000 have exceeded 95 per cent collection, he noted.

The 1959 tax roll, according to City Assessor Clark Hagstrom, has increased $1,500,000 through construction of new buildings.

The total current roll is $55,285,480, said Hagstrom. In addition to a number of new homes, five apartment buildings and three industrial buildings have been constructed.

The city's first motel is nearing completion at the corner of E. Maple avenue and Hunter boulevard.

Both Hagstrom and Berger pointed out that Birmingham has but a few vacant parcels of land within the city limits.

The biggest share of the tax burden is carried by home owners because of the relatively small number of business and industrial buildings in the city, they agreed.

Present and past members of the Baldwin Library Board are paying tribute to Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, superintendent of schools.

Dr. Ireland who came to Birmingham 17 years ago was appointed to the Library Board almost immediately and has served continuously since that time.

He was cited for his work in helping with financial and building plans as well as with other aspects of library administration.

Dr. Ireland has announced that because of other commitments he will not seek re-election next month.

The First Presbyterian Church school staff is sending out an appeal for voluntary workers for vacation church school, junior day camp and summer sessions of the church school.

Vote-Getting Ring in State Crisis Talk

LANSING (U)—Words were flowing in the Capitol again today about doing something with the Veterans Trust Fund but they had the ring of pre-election talk.

What they amounted to was Democratic-Republican trading of invitations to come up with a specific proposal.

The 50-million-dollar fund, leaders of both parties have agreed, is the last hope of averting General Fund insolvency in about six weeks.

The latest flurry began yesterday with a bipartisan discussion initiated by Gov. Williams but attuned to a Republican assurance last week that the GOP stands ready to do what it can to avert payless paydays.

The Democratic governor called in Senate and House leaders to urge prompt action.

Ah, Spring! Ah, Men! Thought Here Already

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Spring—just three calendar days off—apparently turns the fancy of young women too.

The West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn. at Grand Rapids today received a letter from three young women who live in Windsor, Ont., asking about vacation accommodations for the last two weeks of August.

The letter concluded: "We would prefer a resort where young people (men) are!!!"

Bloomfield Man Named Library Week Chairman

A Bloomfield Hills man, William T. Gossett, has been named state chairman for National Library Week April 12-18.

Gossett, vice president and general counsel of Ford Motor Co., lives at 420 Goodhue Rd.

"I am convinced Americans everywhere must heighten their interest in reading," he said, "A better read, better informed America is imperative in these times."

"National Library Week affords us all an excellent opportunity to unite in a campaign to encourage reading and the development of libraries—in homes, in schools and for public use."

State headquarters at the Michigan State Library in Lansing is organizing local committees to promote reading and library use.

Planning for the new main Pontiac library will be emphasized during local observance of library week, said Phyllis Pope, Pontiac Librarian.

Police Chief Hampered by Group of Officers

in the department, said he served as PPOA vice president in 1952, but quit in 1956.

"By then, only 10 to 17 officers were attending meetings and they were disgruntled over such matters as the chief's installation of new records," he charged.

"They grumbled and called it useless paperwork."

Baerwolf said five or six men have been running the PPOA for a period of years and "they're the ones stirring up the trouble now."

He said he had heard officers speak of Straley in vulgar and profane terms. "It didn't make any difference who was around," he said.

In the basement of the old police headquarters on Perry street, he said, he heard officers vow to "get even" and "get rid of" Straley.

He refused to name the officers. Under cross-examination, Baerwolf admitted that he had once been demoted for having an interest in an outside business when such a practice was against department rules.

He complained that Public Safety Director George D. Eastman refused to approve funds for him to attend a weights and measures convention in Flint, and that scales needed for his work had not been approved by Willman, although Straley had asked for their purchase.

Baerwolf is in charge of enforcing weights and measures ordinances in the city.

An earlier statement by Eastman that improper statistics were responsible for the city winning National Safety Council awards in 1957 was challenged by the chairman of the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce for 1956-57.

"If anything, I sold the city short," Clyde R. Haskill told the Commission.

Figures submitted to the Safety Council on local newspaper traffic safety publicity claimed 5,000 column inches for 1957.

The Safety Council calls 1,800 column inches yearly a recommended figure.

Eastman had called the figure of 5,000 inches false.

He also disputed Eastman's charge that only 35 to 40 traffic safety meetings were held in Pontiac during 1957, instead of the 409 claimed.

"I've checked and found 400 meetings I overlooked earlier," Haskill said.

On the stand when the hearing adjourned was Mrs. Eloise Young, the department's chief civilian records clerk.

She said the records system under Straley was the same as that used by the FBI.

"Some improvements on the FBI system were made by the chief," she said.

Mrs. Young will resume her testimony at the next Commission session set for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Cherry Blossom Festival Date Puzzles Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This is the time of year when officials of the Washington Board of Trade begin to cast nervous glances at the calendar, the thermometer, and the still-bare cherry trees around the Tidal Basin.

Will the cherry blossoms be late, like last year? Or early, like the year before? Or will they, miracle of miracles, be right on time?

On time, so far as the Board of Trade is concerned, would be April 7-12. That is when about 500,000 visitors are coming to Washington, at the cordial invitation of the Board of Trade, to attend the annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

This Festival, which began modestly in 1934, has burgeoned in recent years into one of America's top tourist magnets, rivaling New Orleans' Mardi Gras and Pasadena's Tournament of Roses.

On tap this year is a six-day program of revelry, including a four-hour night parade with more than 200 floats, a two-day free pageant, national competition for high school bands and drill teams, and a grand ball at which one of the 52 princesses, representing each state and territory, will be chosen by the spin of a giant wheel to reign as Cherry Blossom Queen.

It takes months of preparations to line up such a colossal spectacle, so the dates of the Festival have to be fixed far in advance. That means somebody has to guess when the cherry trees are likely to bloom, and a more perilous job of forecasting would be hard to imagine.

The National Capital Park Service has kept meticulous records for the past 20 years of the precise dates on which the famous pink and white blossoms have burst forth. The earliest date of peak bloom was March 26. The latest was April 18.

In the past, sponsors of the Festival consulted long range weather forecasts (and, according to local legend, almanacs and astrologers) in an effort to outfigure the trees.

If the outlook was for a severe winter and a late spring, they planned the festival late in April. If a mild winter and early spring were forecast, they pitched the show for late March or early April.

These abstruse calculations frequently proved to be an exercise in futility. Last year, for example, the Festival was held March 24-30. The cherry trees bloomed in mid-April.

This year, the sponsors took a simpler approach. They looked at the Park Service records and noted that, over the years, the blossoms have been out on April 7 more often than on any other date. So they decided to play the law of averages and bet on April 7-12.

"So far, it looks like a pretty good guess," said Cornelius Heine, a National Capital Park official who helped to pick the date. "We have had an average winter, early to mid-April looks now like a reasonable time to expect the blossoms."

Antarctic Ship Used for Study of Colds

ABOARD THE U.S.S. STATEN ISLAND IN McMurdo Sound, Antarctica (UPI)—The frozen Antarctic has become the latest battleground in the fight against the common cold.

Doctors aboard this Navy icebreaker are working on a research project to increase knowledge of what causes colds and how to prevent them.

The program is aimed at identifying and, if possible, isolating viruses which cause colds and other upper respiratory infections.

The project, known as "Operation Sniffles," is being conducted by two British doctors.

They are studying closely some 50 crew members who volunteered to act as guinea pigs. In addition, any of the 250 persons aboard this rugged icebreaker who catch cold report to the doctors to supply them with additional information.

Moves Into Glass House

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Rep. Evelyn S. Fisher had good reason to be mortified for being one of eight absentees on the opening day of the 278-member state House of Representatives.

Mrs. Fisher, who was sick, said woefully, "and I campaigned on my opponent's poor attendance record."

Plain Road English Urged

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—State Rep. John Shostak wants to establish a commission to make sure highway signs are written in plain English. He thinks such signs as "crossing medium divider prohibited" should be changed to "don't cross center strip."

Dodd Understood: 'Let Go and Let God'

really understanding what it meant.

Over and over as I lay in my hospital bed came a phrase I had heard Dr. Wilson repeat in Christ Church Unity: "Let go and let God!" After many long, silent talks with God, finally I was able to do this with my physical body—to let God take it—or leave it with me to use for His purpose.

When I came out of the hospital I told Ruth about this experience. "I think it's time now for me to do that in every department," I told her. "To turn my life completely over to Him. This means in terms of my career, too."

We knelt down together, then, and prayed aloud, a thing we had never done before. We put into specific words our intention and asked that He help us. Where before I had prayed for success, dictating how and where I thought it should come, I now turned it all over to God.

One morning I read in Billboard magazine that there was to be a contest to select an official song for Washington, D. C. I prayed that if this was a door for me to open, that I be enabled to do it.

My song won.

Shortly after that another song was "given" to me in the same way. It was called "He Was There," and 11 different people recorded it. I hadn't knocked on a single door. Every morning before attempting any work, I simply turned the day over to God, offered Him the vehicle of my life, gave thanks that I knew He was there.

Ruth's cancer was arrested—that was eight years ago. My health improved until one could call me robust! And a friend brought that "big break" to our door.

Bill Justice had graduated from an animator to a director at Walt Disney Studios, and he called one day to say that Mr. Disney was looking for a certain type of song. "Take a crack at it," he advised.

Once again I asked, that if this be my door, I be given a song, and the song came. I had a momentary relapse of "own will" when Bill advised that I send him a demonstration record instead of coming over to sing it myself. "I think I can sell it better," I said.

"Maybe you can sell you better, but you are trying to sell the song," Bill advised. "Get out of your own way."

And I was able, with my new approach to life, to take his advice. The song was accepted, and I was offered a month's trial at the studio as a song writer. From that came the chance to be the adult guardian of the Mickey Mouse Club and the Mouseketeers on a national television show.

Here was an opportunity beyond my personal imaginings. I could use the whole grab bag—singing, dance, write songs. So Ruth and I wound up with a large and loving family quite beyond any limited expectations we might have had.

Best of all I could pass on to the children, at the close of each afternoon, something I had always believed but only recently proven. I could state with complete confidence that, if we let God's will for us—His goodness, kindness, love, wisdom—function in our lives, then truly our cup runneth over.

Khrushchev Urges Talks on Germany

them, together with our own proposals.

He then added that if the West was "seriously ready" for talks, the Soviet Union would not hold up matters.

"We have put forward our proposals for a peace treaty with Germany and for normalizing the situation in Berlin," Khrushchev said.

"It is now up to the Western powers. If they are prepared to start talks in real earnest, we would not be found wanting. We shall do everything within our power to make the talks a success."

The Soviet Union's only purpose, he asserted, is "to see to it that the dark clouds of a new war should forever disappear from the international horizon."

Khrushchev promised that if the West was "seriously ready for talks," the Soviet Union would "not hold up matters."

"We shall do everything dependent on us to make the talks a success."

Soviet proposals for a peace treaty with Germany and on Berlin have been made without attempting to take advantage of any country or to harm anyone's interests, Khrushchev said.

"Nobody will lose from the fact that the Germans will obtain a peace treaty and Western Berlin will be rid of the occupiers who have stayed there too long," he continued. "All peoples will be pleased that, with the signing of the peace treaty with the two German states, the remnants of the second World War will be eliminated."

Is Off-the-Cuff Remark Key in Kierdorf Death?

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

FLINT — "Maybe we should touch a match to it."

Could this alleged off-the-cuff remark be the spark behind the Aug. 3 burning of the Latrelle Dry Cleaners pickup station, which police say cost Flint Teamsters business agent Frank H. Kierdorf his life?

The owner of the building in which the small station was located, L. Keith Ketzler, changed his testimony yesterday when questioned about whether he recalled hearing the remark made by an official of a Flint dairy company Ketzler had leased the property to.

Ketzler, a salesman, was the leadoff witness in the second day of the Jack D. Thompson arson trial before Genesee County Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth and a jury of 12 women and three men.

At first Ketzler said he would neither "deny nor affirm" that Harry Hartman, treasurer for the Leasing McDonald Co., had made the remark while talking over the repair of a septic tank in the unoccupied building located at Davison and Center roads, four miles east of downtown Flint in Burton Township.

Later, however, under further cross-examination by Thompson's attorney, James E. Haggerty Sr. of Detroit, Ketzler was confronted with a copy of a sworn statement he gave investigators Aug. 3, in which he mentioned that Hartman had said, "Maybe we should touch a match to it," apparently meaning the building.

Ketzler's memory was clearer earlier when he testified he did recall an old friend of his, Herbert L. Harrison, owner of a larger dry cleaners across from Latrelle's, asking him whether he couldn't close down Latrelle. Ketzler said he showed Harrison a lease which would have prevented this.

Harrison, Ketzler testified, was continually "needling" him about allowing a competitor to open up across from him.

Under cross examination by Haggerty, Ketzler testified he owed $44,000 on the property and building.

He said he had $6,500 in fire insurance on the building itself, and has received $5,700 from the insurance company for the building since the fire.

Thompson, a 42-year-old business agent with Flint Teamsters Local 332, is accused of aiding Kierdorf in burning down Latrelle's branch station.

Kierdorf, 56, died from head-to-toe burns Aug. 7 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

OVERLOOKED SOMEBODY

Thompson appeared to be pointing the finger at Ketzler when he told a reporter at the noon recess, "I think they've (prosecution) overlooked somebody."

When questioned by the reporter which of the three morning witnesses he was referring to, Thompson said, "no comment."

Besides Ketzler, Kierdorf's son, Frank Jr., and George W. Latrelle, operator of the cleaners, testified. Latrelle sub-leased the building from the dairy company.

Ketzler, in leaving the courtroom, disclosed to the same reporter that, "I guess I shouldn't have told about the remark in the first place."

Further, he said he felt at the time like criticizing firemen for attempting to save the cleaners.

Harrison is expected to tell his story either today or tomorrow, according to Jerome F. O'Rourke, Genesee County prosecutor.

At the pretrial examination of Thompson in December, it was brought out in testimony that Harrison and his wife visited Thompson at his Grayling cottage the day before the fire.

This conflicted with what Thompson had said in a statement he gave Aug. 7, in which he didn't include Harrison as one of his visitors.

Asked later why he hadn't mentioned Harrison, Thompson said he "didn't think it was important to drag him into the case."

At the close of testimony yesterday O'Rourke had called 13 of a possible 92 witnesses. Included in the long list are the dead Kierdorf's uncle, Herman of Madison Heights, and Leann Harrison, president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614.

TREATED FRANK KIERDORF

Also testifying yesterday afternoon were Mrs. Anna Mae Mullins of Port Huron, who, as a nurse at the Pontiac hospital, was one of the first to treat Frank Kierdorf.

Another witness was a next door neighbor of Kierdorf, Charles M. Babieracki, who said he saw Kierdorf leave his Stewart street home with another man in a black Cadillac an hour before the fire. Thompson owns a black Cadillac.

Haggerty attempted to show another possible motive for arson while cross-examining Mrs. Maxine Saunier, who he claimed was on unfriendly terms with her former landlord.

Mrs. Saunier denied that George Patterson, the landlord, had said he would "get even" with her a month before the fire for having police evict him from her apartment. Mrs. Saunier operated the restaurant adjoining Latrelle's station.

Battle Clouds Form Over Airport-Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats and Republicans squared off today for another budget battle likely to have repercussions in next year's election campaigns.

It's over a Democratic-backed airport-aid bill which calls for spending 97 million dollars more than President Eisenhower has recommended.

Republicans are backing a bill following the President's recommendations and providing for a four-year outlay of 200 millions for airport development.

They already have served notice that they will demand a separate roll-call on their measure to determine, in the words of GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "who the spenders are."

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts told the House there will be a roll-call vote on the Democrats' bill "and it will be interesting to see how Republicans vote."

But Secret Was Theirs Two Played 'Singing Sam'

All the time there were two voices and even their looks were much alike.

The death of old-time radio entertainer H. Dean Yocum, 64, of 370 Townsend St., Birmingham, has brought the duplication to light.

Yocum, in recent years instructor at the Birmingham Conservatory of Music, died Tuesday night in Veterans Hospital at Dearborn.

He was a "Singing Sam" of Mid-west radio fame 30 and more years ago. That is, he was one of two of them.

His widow, Hester, explained that the original "Singing Sam," the Barbasol Man, was the late Harry Frankel. Frankel died several years ago.

Mrs. Yocum's husband from time to time went on the air in place of Frankel, she said.

2 Gasoline Suppliers Hike Prices 1.8 Cents

Two major area gasoline suppliers today raised wholesale prices to stations by 1.8 cents a gallon.

The increase, announced by Socony Mobil Oil Co. and Pure Oil Products Co., followed a similar price increase yesterday by Standard Oil Co.

Other major distributors were expected to follow with similar price hikes.

Gasoline prices in the Pontiac area went up 1.1 cents a gallon a few weeks ago. The new increase will raise the average price of regular to 31.9 cents a gallon and 35.9 for premium.

There are about 218,800 miles of railway line in continental United States on a point to point basis. This figure does not include parallel tracks, nor yard tracks and sidings.

SNOW FORMS AWNING — In winter's last (we hope) desperate effort to hang on, an accumulation of snow formed this unique pattern at the end of the Lake Orion Community High School Building. Instead of sliding off the edge of the roof, the whole sheet of snow yesterday hung tenaciously to the brink providing an awning over the expansive windows.

SCHOOL GETS ENGINE — Ford Motor Co. has given a 1959 Ford 292-cubic inch V8 engine to Romeo Community High School for use in shop classes. The gift was procured through the efforts of the Community Relations Committee of Ford's Michigan Proving Grounds located near Romeo. Receiving the engine, complete with accessories and automotive transmission all mounted on a service stand, is T. C. Filippula, Romeo schools' superintendent, left. Pictured with him is Ray Dembrowski, local Ford dealer, and Robert W. Gaines, Proving Grounds manager and head of the Community Relations Committee.

School Board Studies Costs

Prepares for Meeting Monday to Discuss Teachers' Salaries

CLARKSTON — The Board of Education is presently studying a detailed report on the financial status of the Clarkston School System prior to discussing salaries with teachers here.

A meeting of the school board and faculty members has been scheduled for Monday at the teachers' request, at which time the latter have said they will present their proposals.

The financial report was prepared by Dr. Leslie F. Greene, school superintendent, and presented to the board at Monday's meeting.

Clarkston has a new $2,500,000 high school under construction at this time. It is scheduled for completion by June 16, 1960.

So far, the weather has slowed work on the new school, but the footings are in and the builders expect to meet the target date if there are no further delays on that score.

Commenting on the $1,450,000 school budget for '58-'59, Dr. Greene reported that at present the school system is "holding its own" in spite of the hazardous state aid program.

Ike to Dedicate Center for Arts in New York

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower will speak in New York City May 14.

The White House said the President will attend ground-breaking ceremonies for the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts that afternoon and speak at a science symposium at the Waldorf Astoria that night.

Borrower Delinquent

RANDOLPH, Vt. (UPI)—Village foreman Dick Hedding issued a public plea for the man who borrowed the village's water pressure pump two years ago to return the machinery so area water pipes could be cleaned out.

Utica Teachers Seeking Support for Tenure Act

UTICA — Teachers in the Utica Community School District are seeking public support for adoption of the Michigan Tenure Act here.

The Tenure Committee of the Utica Teachers Club last night presented the first in a series of speeches explaining the tenure law.

Initial speaker for the committee was Richard S. Hyman, high school science teacher. He addressed the PTA meeting at H. H. Wiley Elementary School here.

Rather than discussing the relative merits of the act, Hyman devoted his remarks to the philosophical need for the tenure law in modern society.

The teachers made their initial bid for Tenure Act adoption at the March 9 meeting of the Utica Board of Education. School officials took no official action on the proposal at that time.

Plastic Laundry Bag Kills Southfield Baby

SOUTHFIELD — A plastic laundry bag caused the death of a four-month-old boy in his crib here last night.

Jeffrey Allen Belsky, one of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Belsky, of 2845 Sutherland Rd., was found smothered in the air-tight bag which became wrapped over his head.

The mother discovered what had happened when she went in to check the infant at 7:20 p.m. She had the tot rushed to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The parents did not know how the bag got into the crib.

Flannery Case in Summation

Final Arguments Begin in Berkley Boy's Trial for Murder

HILLSDALE (UPI)—Final arguments began this morning in the murder trial of Patrick Flannery, a Hillsdale College freshman charged with the fatal beating of his roommate.

Prosecutor Robert McIntyre called Dr. Charles M. Shrier, medical superintendent of Kalamazoo State Hospital, as his last rebuttal witness yesterday and defense attorney Joseph W. Louisell finished cross-examination of Shrier early in the afternoon.

Circuit Judge Charles O. Arch told both the defense and prosecution they must advise him before final arguments start of any points they desire him to make in his charge to the jury.

Flannery, an 18-year-old former honor student at Royal Oak Shrine High School, is charged with murder in the Nov. 26 slaying of Thomas Neitling, 21, of Tecumseh. The two roomed together at the college.

Neitling was beaten to death with a shotgun as he slept.

Louisell is attempting to show that Flannery was insane at the time of the slaying. He called a Detroit psychiatrist to the stand last week and the psychiatrist, Dr. John Tracy, testified Flannery was not sane at the time Neitling was slain and his condition is even worse now.

Shrier challenged defense claims that Flannery was insane when he killed his roommate.

He said, "All of us have certain traits of schizophrenia. There are very few grounds for schizophrenia that have been outlined in this case."

PIONEERS' PROGRESS — This is the route of the 59ers, a group of 37 persons from Michigan who are heading for homesteads on Alaska's Kenai Peninsula. It is a 4,500-mile journey which they have more than two-thirds completed. Moving van troubles have stalled them.

Royal Oak Man Orders New Van

Agrees to Pick Up Tab for National Company to Carry Load

A Royal Oak man is rushing aid to the bogged-down Michigan 59ers en route to Alaska.

The caravan's 1934 moving van fell apart yesterday in Fort Nelson, a British Columbia town of 200 persons.

Overloaded from the start of the homesteaders' journey from Detroit, the van has been a big source of trouble for the group. "It seems to have coughed its last," trekkers agreed today.

Curtis Potter of 2638 Bembridge St., Royal Oak, had given the van to the pioneers. Now he has agreed to pay the tab for a national moving company to pick up the van's load. The new truck is expected to catch the group by Friday.

"I started something and I guess I have to see it through," said Potter.

The 59ers have been faced with other troubles, including illness, bitter cold, other vehicles falling apart, leadership disputes and heavy snow.

Recalling they could use money, Marry Tacina of Detroit, who plans to make the journey to Alaska in June, has sent them $300.

"I'm sending the money because we know they can use it," he said.

The group had hoped to reach their new homesteads by the end of this week, but they are several days behind schedule.

One of the pioneers, Leroy MacDonald, traveled ahead of the caravan to take his two sons to a hospital in Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

The children, with frostbitten feet, were described by hospital attendants as in good condition.

REJOINS CARAVAN — After leaving the children, MacDonald headed back to rejoin the caravan. Temperatures in the Whitehorse area were around 40 degrees below zero.

MARQUETTE — Two laid-off Upper Peninsula miners are going to make the overland trek to Alaska for a future as homesteaders and businessmen.

Bernard Vellea, 32, father of two children, and Edward Juchench, 40, father of seven, will set off March 25 in a car-truck caravan on a 4,300-mile journey to Palmer, Alaska.

They said they expect to have at least two companions and that later six others may follow.

Besides homesteading, the group plans to set up a general repair shop and possibly also a sawmill.

RECEIVE APPROVAL — Vellea and Juchench, residents of the rugged Upper Peninsula most of their lives, said they have received approval from the Palmer Chamber of Commerce for their plans. Palmer, 60 miles north of Anchorage, has a population of 6,000.

Their preparations, carried on over a period of 3½ months, are elaborate.

Their caravan of two trucks, a car and house trailer will carry provisions for a 16-day trip. It also will carry spare parts as well as outdoor equipment.

KAY ROBINSON — Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Robinson of 40 Robertson Ct., Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Kay, to Thomas E. Butt, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Butt of Pocomtous, Va.

Milford Group in Action Tomorrow and Saturday

Raises Student Exchange Funds

MILFORD — For the last six years the community of Milford has had a student from a foreign country in its school, sponsored by the American Field Service and aided by contributions of individuals and organizations.

Tomorrow and Saturday, the local committee of the American Field Service will sponsor a fund-raising drive to send local students abroad and receive a foreign student here again next year.

Proceeds from the annual basketball game to be played between the high school seniors and the faculty at 7:30 tonight and from the dance to follow, will go to the AFS to help sponsor the local program.

Nine American Field Service students from the surrounding area will be special guests and participate in half-time activities.

From 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, there will be a canister drive on Main street to raise money for the AFS, and ten foreign exchange students as well as American returnees and candidates will participate.

Students taking part will include Yoshiko Matsubara of Japan, who is attending Grosse Ile High School; Cristiane Zinnert of Germany, attending Holly High School; and Renato Meyer, Argentina, attending West Bloomfield High.

Also included will be Jacques Baron from France, who is attending Pontiac Central High School; Hugh Spencer of New Zealand attending Royal Oak Dondro High.

and Diadado Beltran, Philippines, attending Redford Union High. Others are Pia Hansen of Denmark and Alberto Abelli of Italy.

Romeo High Contest Monday

Band Searches for Talent

RÓMEO — The Romeo Community High School Band is looking for anyone with talent to compete in its seventh annual "Pop" Concert and Talent Show Monday in the high school gymnasium.

Contestants, both individual and group acts, will be divided into two divisions — junior for those under 13 years of age and senior for those 14 and older.

The program will open at 7:30 with the concert, arranged by the band council, which will feature marches, a novelty number and music in the modern idiom.

Senior band members will have charge of the talent show to follow. They will take turns announcing the numbers and will reveal the winners of cash awards in each division at the end of the program.

Tickets may be purchased from any band member or at the door tomorrow night.

Methodist Building Rising Fast

Work on Church Spurs

ROCHESTER — The hint of spring in the air has brought a renewed spurt of activity in construction of the new St. Paul Methodist Church on Romeo road at the east end of town.

The new $340,000 church building is the first unit of a projected two-unit facility to be constructed on the eight-acre site.

Contained in the first unit will be a chapel, parlor, offices, choir room, 11 religious education rooms plus a children's chapel and nursery facilities.

The parlor is so designed that a folding door between it and the chapel may be opened to handle a larger crowd on special occasions. The two-level structure built into the slope of a hill was designed by Harold H. Fisher and Associates, Detroit architectural firm.

Architects have included the second unit, to be completed in four years, in plans for the finished church.

The future unit will contain a sanctuary and a social hall. Money for the present building was raised by subscriptions in campaigns conducted during the past six years, the Rev. J. Douglas Parker, minister, explained. Building committee chairman is Henry Purdy and contractor is the Rochester firm of Frank Rewold and Son.

Construction of the new building began last October, and, despite inclement winter weather, the steel framework has been erected to date.

Now workmen have begun installing the cement-block walls. The church will be finished in a warm shade of gray brick, Rev. Parker said. He stated that the new parsonage was the first building to be erected on the new church site.

Target completion date for the unit now under construction is Aug. 1.

Choirs Win Highest Ratings

PNH and Waterford Tops

More than 700 pupils from high schools throughout Oakland County competed in a choral contest at Pontiac Northern High School yesterday and First Division results were announced today by contest director Richard Meier of Waterford Township.

Sponsored by the Michigan Vocal Assn., first ratings were awarded to the Pontiac Northern High School Choir and the Waterford Township A Capella Choir.

Also included were Birmingham High A Capella Choir, Bloomfield Hills High Mixed Choir, Waterford Township Girls Glee Club, Milford

High Mixed Choir, Waterford Township Boys Glee Club and Oxford High School Mixed Choir.

The group represented the north section of District Four and other division ratings will be announced later, Meier said.

What's in a Name?

RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI)—Harry H. Zingg, 23, zinged down the road at 65 miles an hour. State trooper Richard V. Rosen zinged after him and Zingg paid a $20 fine for speeding.

JACQUELINE WATSON

The betrothal of their daughter, Jacqueline, to Harold Young is announced by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Watson of 944 E. M87, Holly. The fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young of 2319 S. Fenton Rd., Holly. No wedding date has been set.

New Toys 'Way Out'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The toy industry is placing emphasis this year on atomic energy and outer space. You can buy junior everything from the scale-model of an atomic generating plant to a jet pilot's crash helmet.

2 Stricken Families Get Neighbors' Aid

Good neighbors of two Oakland County area families stricken by disaster are rallying to their financial aid at this time.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arvo Jarvi, of 4126 S. Mill St., Dryden, who lost their three sons in a fire Tuesday, have started a drive for funds for the impoverished family.

They are asking donors to send any monetary contributions to the Dryden branch of the First National Bank located on Main street here.

The money will be used to pay expenses of the funeral and burial of the youngsters, a spokesman for the group said.

The Jarvi boys—Gerald, 5; Robert, 4; and Thomas, 2—suffocated to death as they huddled in a corner of an upstairs room to escape the fire they set with their mother's cigarette lighter.

The Walled Lake Variety Club is sponsoring a fund to aid the Lloyd Hattis family whose basement home at 1193 Maple Rd., Walled Lake, collapsed due to floods on March 6.

Their furniture and nearly all of their personal belongings were lost by the Hattis' as the result. Although they had some insurance, they found it didn't cover floods.

Temporarily, the family is living in the home of Mrs. Hattis' parents in their absence, but will have to leave by May 1 as there won't be enough room then.

The club is hoping that through the fund they will be able to assist in obtaining a new home and furnishings for the Hattis'.

Donations to the Hattis Fund are being accepted by Mrs. Edwin L. Welch of 274 W. Walled Lake Dr. and by Mrs. Leslie Reimer of 1191 Wanda St.

Keego Club to Hold Rummage-Bake Sale

KEEGO HARBOR — The Business and Professional Women's Club here will sponsor a rummage and bake sale tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

The event will be staged at 3075 Orchard Lake Rd., next door to the Clayton's store. Mrs. Frank Bellows is serving as chairman.

Most of the world's coffee is grown in the equatorial belt, north and south of the equator, at elevations ranging from 1,000 to 5,000 feet. Coffee grown at the higher altitudes is generally considered the best.

Builder Faces Losing License

Oak Park Man Waits for Decision in Lansing on His Case

The case of an Oak Park builder facing the loss of his license will be put before the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commissioner Lawrence Gubow in Lansing for a decision.

The action follows the recommended revocation by Deputy Commissioner Harold G. Groehn of the license belonging to Joseph A. Milgrom, 52, of 2420 Moritz St., Oak Park.

Groehn said the commission had found Milgrom guilty of violating the Residential Builders' License Law.

A hearing was held last December on complaint of a Grosse Pointe Park landowner who charged Milgrom fraudulently obtained deed to acreage in St. Clair Shores and still owed him $24,000 for the property.

Persons who bought 13 homes worth $15,000 on the property also complained because they have been unable to move in because of the ownership hassle.

This week another hearing was held. Milgrom now is charged with submitting false waivers of lien to three mortgage companies. Milgrom was not present at the hearing. His attorney said he was home under a doctor's care.

Congregational Women Hold Book Review

ROCHESTER — Members of the Women's Fellowship of First Congregational Church will hear a book review at their general meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Church Hall here.

The book entitled "You Were There" describes the last hours of Christ on earth. It will be reviewed by Mrs. Robert Shields, national education chairman of the Detroit Assn. of Congregational churches.

Presiding at the meeting will be Mrs. Lloyd Lake, Fellowship group chairman.

Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Religious Education Committee, has charge of the program.

Find Hicks Innocent of Liquor Charge

George D. Hicks, 52, of 16 N. Johnson Ave., was found innocent of the illegal sale of liquor in a jury trial yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Hicks was arrested March 5 by vice squad officers. He was accused of selling beer Feb. 13 to a 17-year-old youth without asking his age at the West Side Canteen, 12 N. Johnson Ave.

Hicks works at the store. A Pontiac policeman for 22 years, Hicks has run unsuccessfully four times for Oakland County sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

Woman's Clothing Taken From Waterford Home

Pontiac State Police today are investigating a break-in of a Waterford Township home in which more than $300 worth of women's clothing — mostly lingerie — was taken.

The home of Mrs. Roy Wilson of 2377 Silver Lake Rd. was entered sometime between Saturday and Tuesday while the Wilsons were away, police said. Entrance was gained by breaking a one-foot-square glass in the front door and then reaching through and unlocking the door.

The theft was discovered yesterday.

Dean of Rubber Industry Dies

P. W. Litchfield Was Honorary Chairman of Goodyear

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Weeks Litchfield, dean of the American rubber industry and honorary chairman of the board of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., died in a Phoenix hospital Wednesday night.

The 83-year-old industrialist had undergone surgery at the hospital a week ago.

After a career spanning 61 years in the industry, Litchfield retired last October as board chairman and chief executive officer of Goodyear.

He had joined the firm in its infancy in Akron, Ohio, at a salary of $2,500 and played a leading role in its growth to one of the largest in the world with plants throughout the United States, at Sydney, Australia; New Toronto, Canada and Wolverhampton, England.

During World War II, he played a major part in the American program of synthetic rubber production.

Litchfield was born in Boston July 26, 1875. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1896. His first job was as a $9-a-week engineer in a tire factory at Reading, Mass.

Two years later he became involved in experimental work with rubber tires and in 1900 joined the infant Goodyear concern in Akron.

Do Fats Cause Heart Disease?

Physicians Disagree on Too Much Cholesterol Being the Bad Boy

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Whether you should pass up that serving of thick sausage gravy in order to stay alive is one of the questions that medical scientists hope to answer as they try to find the exact cause of heart disease.

During recent years, fats have been strongly suspected as the cause of atherosclerosis, the most common form of hardening of the arteries.

Atherosclerosis is a disease that causes fatty deposits to form inside the arteries. When these substances start to harden, they narrow an artery so that its ability to handle the flow of blood is destroyed or severely hampered. This condition often leads to the formation of a blood clot which can prove fatal if it takes place in vessels that nourish the heart or brain.

The fatty material which often shows up in the largest amounts is a vital chemical called cholesterol which the body uses to make sex hormones. It's this evidence that's responsible for the indictment of some of your favorite foods and one of the biggest controversies in medical history.

Many doctors believe that drastic changes should be made in the average American's diet. They base their beliefs on studies that show that fats increase the amount of cholesterol in the blood.

To further support their arguments, they point to statistics that show a direct relationship between the consumption of fats and a country's heart attack rate.

For instance, medical studies show that the average American gets about 45 per cent of his calories from fats while a Japanese gets only 10 per cent. This dietary difference could be responsible for Japan's heart attack rate being only one-fourth that of the U.S., these doctors say.

Laboratory experiments have revealed that only certain types of fats raise the cholesterol level of the blood. These are saturated fats which are derived from animals and appear in bacon grease, butter and milk.

Other tests have shown that unsaturated vegetable fats, like corn oil, actually reduce the amount of blood cholesterol. That's why some specialists believe that people should substitute these products for animal fats whenever possible.

They explain, however, that the vegetable products often lose their cholesterol lowering powers when put through a special chemical process called hydrogenation which hardens them.

Many heart specialists, however, believe that it's still too early to recommend that healthy individuals shun animal fats to avoid heart disease. They explain that there are too many unexplained factors involved in coronary attacks to place all the blame on fats.

For instance, they report that the people of Denmark, West Germany, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden eat about the same amount of fats as U.S. citizens. But the heart attack fatality rate of those countries is only half that of the U.S.

These doctors also explain that cholesterol has never been proved to be the chemical ringleader in causing atherosclerosis and that other blood substances may do as much or even more damage.

100-Candle Cake Brings Smiles to Centenarian

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP)—"I've smiled 100 years," said Mrs. Alice Wilcox, who claims to be the oldest living native Kansan, when she saw her huge birthday cake Wednesday.

The huge cake, sparkling with 100 candles, was presented by her

Sunday School class at a party. In poor health but alert, Mrs. Wilcox lives with a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Olsen, Near Garden City.

Mrs. Wilcox was born in Linn County in 1859, two years before Kansas became a State. She has lived in Finney County since 1905.

Nine of her 13 children are living. She also has 29 grandchildren, 53 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren.

STON GUANO BRAND Fruit Dishes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Aren't you glad you live in an age when you can buy fresh fruit the year round? It would be difficult to plan interesting menus if we had to rely solely on canned fruit most of the time.

Think of the monotonous meals the 59ers have in store for them up in Alaska. They won't be able to take their pick of apples, oranges, grapefruit, pineapples, grapes, avocados, bananas, strawberries, and winter pears. That is the assortment we saw on our shopping trip last week.

Sensory overlap one another in these days of refrigeration, rapid transportation and forced production. There are only a few fruits that are available for just a short time.

Bananas have been accused of having more calories than they do. Dieters who dislike giving up one of their favorite fruits should be happy to know that a medium banana has only 88 calories. We never forget it as we have some banana earrings that dangle from a gold figure 68.

How about baking a banana for a gourmet-type dessert? Fixed this way, the dish has 109 calories.

Baked Banana Caramel

1 medium banana
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon brown sugar
Place peeled banana in baking dish. Brush with lemon juice. Sprinkle top with brown sugar. Bake 10-12 minutes in 450 degree oven. Serve hot. Makes one serving.

Use some of the oranges you bought when you last shopped to make Orange Bread. This is good sliced thin and spread with butter or made into cream cheese sandwiches for the lunch box. It freezes well, we know.

Florida Orange Bread

1/2 cup orange rind

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup well beaten
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

NOTE: Use the rind of eating oranges not juice oranges. Although the law has just been passed about only safe edible dyes being used to color juice oranges, it is wise not to take chances. The eating oranges have not been colored. Save the peel from your breakfast fruit.

Cut orange rind into very thin slivers with scissors. Combine sugar and water, add the rind. Stir constantly over heat until sugar is melted. Cook slowly about 5 minutes. It will burn easily so watch it! Peel and syrup should then measure 2 1/2 cups.

Add butter; stir until melted; add orange juice and beaten egg. Sift together into mixing bowl, flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add orange mixture and mix just enough to moisten ingredients. Batter should be lumpy.

Bake in greased loaf pan, 9 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 3 inches, in 325-degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until done. Turn out on rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

USE CANNED FRUIT TOO

Just to show you that we aren't AGAINST canned fruit—Heaven forbid!—here's a recipe for a tangy Pineapple Frappe.

A frappe may be a drink or a dessert; it's a French word meaning chilled or iced. This frappe would be excellent as the light dessert to climax a heavy meal.

Pineapple Frappe
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shredded coconut
1 7-ounce bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
2 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt

Drain crushed pineapple and reserve pineapple; heat drained juice to boiling. Combine gelatin and sugar in a large bowl. Stir in boiling juice and continue stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Mix in reserved pineapple and coconut; quickly stir in lemon-lime carbonated beverage.

Pour into a large freezer tray or loaf pan and freeze mixture until mushy. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Stir partially frozen mixture with a fork and gently fold in egg whites. Freeze until firm. Makes 6 servings.

WHAT A LUNCH — The man who carries this lunch box looks forward to fast days! The hearty South African rock lobster sandwich is an inspiration.

Fast Days Mean Treat of Lobster for Lunch

A carried meal should be worth carrying. It should, if anything, be given more thought than any other, since it's apt to be consumed in somewhat unappetizing surroundings.

On fast days, particularly, the breadwinner is entitled to have some loving thought packed into that lunch box.

The only problem facing the man who carries this South African rock lobster sandwich in his lunch box is the envy of his colleagues. He not only has a loving wife, but a smart one!

This lunch-box treat has more to offer than the obvious advantages of taste and variety and appetite appeal. It's inexpensive. One South African rock lobster tail makes a hearty meal for a man. It's quick and easy. A batch of frozen rock lobster tails can be boiled up and re-frozen, ready for sandwich-making at any time.

For the children, the homemaker who cares makes a sandwich spread of those same South African rock lobster tails from this same recipe. Just omit (perhaps!) the hint of onion and shred the rock lobster meat into the delicious, non-soggy cottage cheese base.

South African Rock Lobster Sandwich

1 (3-5 oz.) South African rock lobster tail
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1 small carrot, grated
1 slice green pepper, grated
1 teaspoon onion juice
Dash aromatic bitters
Butter or mayonnaise for spread

Drop frozen South African rock lobster tails into boiling, salted water. When water reboils, cook tails 3 minutes. Drain immediately, drench with cold water. Remove meat from shells in one piece. Chill rock lobster tails and re-freeze extra cooked tails for future use.

To cottage cheese, add carrot

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Standing Rump Pot-Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the rump section of the carcass. The meat cut is triangular in shape; consists of several layers of meat interspersed with fat and the outer surface has a thin fat covering.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By either roasting (high quality) or braising. In roasting, the meat is cooked to the desired degree of doneness in a 300 degree F. oven. In braising the meat is first browned, a small amount of liquid is added, the meat is covered tightly and cooked slowly until done allowing 3 to 4 hours for cooking.

Meat Prices Unchanged; Bargains in Produce

When you read that all red meats are about the same to slightly higher priced on the wholesale market this week, what does this mean to you? It means that in most cases you will find retail prices of red meats about the same as the week before. Of course you can expect stores to feature some cuts, and you might expect a slight price increase on some cuts by the end of this week or during the next week. A close study of the market information and a look at food adds before making the shopping list will help you decide the foods you wish to check in the food market.

Meats need not be drab. There is meat variety at costs to fit every family. Starting with beef, you will probably buy some ground beef at 14 to 18 cents per serving. Liver may range from 11 to 20 cents to serve each family member. Pot roast or Swiss steak will add up to 30 or 40 cents a serving.

Large seasonal pork supplies bring liver at 10 to 20 cents per serving; Boston butt at 13 to 18 cents; rib-end roast for 16 to 18 cents; loin-end roast for 20 to 22 cents and ham at about 24 to 28 cents per serving.

You can find a leg of veal at 24 to 32 cents per serving. The boneless frozen veal roasts may be a chance for roast at 15 to 23 cents per person.

Want a lamb roast? Leg will cost 23 to 26 cents per serving; shoulder 20 to 24. Barbecued ribs from the breast will be 13 to 20 cents per person. If the family wants poultry meat, turkeys are about 23 to 25 cents per serving. The small turkeys vary from 29 to 45 cents per serving this week. Fryers are 25 to 33 cents, stewers are 20 to 23 and roasters 23 to 30 cents per serving.

You may find special prices on turkeys in March, for the supply in cold storage is 20 per cent larger than average for this month. New crop turkeys will be coming in large numbers and more breeder hens are expected to be marketed than a year ago.

There is a wide price range in fish depending upon the variety you choose. Most will fit the 12 to 26 cent per serving bracket. Figure that a 10-ounce package of frozen fillets will serve three people. Catches of fresh lake perch are increasing.

Plenty of pork means plenty of bacon and sausage. A hearty breakfast of meat and eggs can be yours for less than 20 cents a serving. Large Grade A eggs continue to be a good protein buy at 45 to 51 cents a dozen.

What's the prospect of fruits and vegetables in this week's menus? It's bright.

More bananas are being imported; supplies are heavy. Avoca-does are in heavy supply and price is low.

Some Michigan apples are now coming from controlled atmosphere storage. Because of additional storage costs for this special care, you may find prices slightly higher than for apples held in ordinary storage. Apples stored in controlled atmosphere will be as fresh and flavorful as when they were harvested last fall.

Heavy lettuce supplies and improved quality is good news for most families buy lettuce every week. Cabbage, carrots, and new crop Texas beets are colorful vegetables worth checking.

Pineapple is arriving in good supply and sizes are slightly larger.

Fresh mushrooms from Michigan and out-of-state are being sold at the lowest prices you've found at this time in several years. For a free folder giving instructions on how to care for and use mushrooms, contact Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, 1200 West Boulevard, Pontiac.

California asparagus is increasing in supply and quality is generally good. Spears that are bright green or purplish green and tightly closed is one sign of freshness. Look to see how much of the stalk is white and woody. This tough part is waste when asparagus is snapped and cleaned. If you pay 39 cents for a pound bunch, how much are you really paying per pound? This depends upon the amount you must discard.

Disease and acreage loss of dry onions due to rains in the valley of Texas is related to shorter supplies and higher prices.

Many Ways to Vary Common Cabbage

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make a sauce for cooked cabbage by heating sour cream and seasoning it with salt, ground black pepper and whole caraway seed. Spoon over hot cooked wedges.

Or shred cabbage and saute in hot bacon fat for two or three minutes. Add a few tablespoons chicken stock or bouillon. Cook until cabbage is tender crisp. Drain. Season with salt and ground black pepper to taste. Crumble crisp bacon over top. Serve at once.

A third variation: Chop raw cabbage very fine and combine with grated carrots, chopped radishes, chopped onion and chopped green pepper. Combine equal parts mayonnaise and sour cream with salt, ground black pepper and crumbled tarragon leaves to taste. Blend with vegetables. Serve chilled with hot or cold meats.

Colorful Sauces Flavor Broiled Fish Steaks

Broiled fish steaks make a well-known alternate to meat. They are firm, delicious and easy to prepare. When dressed with lemon juice or a special sauce, they make fine eating—a menu favorite for meatless days in Lent.

Broiled Halibut Steaks With Pimento Sauce

For 4 servings, plan on 4 small halibut steaks or 2 large ones. Place halibut on greased preheated broiler pan about 2 inches from heat. Brush with melted butter.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil 5 to 8 minutes. Turn carefully and repeat seasonings. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Pour hot pimento sauce over fish.

Pimento Sauce

Saute 1 chopped pimento (about 2 tablespoons) in 1-3 cup of butter. Add a tablespoon of lemon juice. Halibut Steaks With Herb Butter—4 large halibut steaks, or 4 small ones. 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine. 1/2 cup minced parsley. 1 teaspoon grated onion. 1/2 teaspoon thyme.

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
Few drops Tabasco
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
If steaks are large, cut in two. Arrange in greased baking pan which can be used for serving. Combine butter with remaining ingredients. Spread on halibut steaks. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately.

Lenten Sandwiches

Cut the tops from frankfurter rolls; hollow out the crumbs. Fill with salmon salad and garnish with mayonnaise and sweet pickle slices. Delicious for lunch!

Tomato Juice Seasons Flank

The Bolivians have a way with the less expensive flank steak. A scored steak is sprinkled with salt, pepper, parsley, garlic and grated cheese, then baked in a sauce of tomato and oregano. The tomato tenderizes the flank and seasons it through and through.

Latin Flank Steak
1 1/2 to 2 pounds flank steak, scored
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons minced parsley

1 small clove garlic, minced
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 can (8-10 ounces) concentrated tomato juice
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves
Sprinkle one side of flank steak with salt and next 4 ingredients. Roll steak tightly, jelly-roll fashion; secure with string. In a skillet or Dutch oven, brown in oil on all sides.

Combine concentrated tomato juice, water and oregano leaves; pour over steak. Simmer, covered, about 2 hours or until tender. Add additional water if sauce becomes too thick. Slice meat; serve sauce separately. Makes 5-6 servings.

Float a bit of grated orange or lemon rind on top of soups.

Mix Dessert, Chill 12 Hours, Cut to Serve

Here's a thought for a dessert that would be just as sure to please the grown-ups at dinner as the children at a party. It's easy to make, too, and requires no cooking.

It's a roll made of dates and marshmallows and sweetened condensed milk, chilled as long as overnight. So it is one of those convenient desserts that can be made ahead of time—it needs at least twelve hours' chilling. One roll makes ten servings.

After thorough chilling, the roll is cut in slices. Garnish with whipped cream.

Marshmallow Roll

32 marshmallows (4 1/2 pound)
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup chopped nut meats
1/2 cup finely chopped dates
2 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs (30)
Cut marshmallows in quarters and put in mixing bowl. Add water. Add sweetened condensed milk, nut meats and dates. Blend well. Add cracker crumbs and blend well. Form into roll about 6 inches long and 3 inches in diameter. Cover with waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator 12 hours or longer. Cut in slices. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Serves 10.

Teenage Guests Enjoy Preparing Refreshments

When your teenagers' friends come calling let them make their own sandwiches from a tray of sliced bread, soft butter, sliced ham and corned beef, mustard and relishes.

Have bowls of carrot sticks and potato chips on hand for munching, soft drinks for a beverage and frosted cupcakes or cookies for dessert.

You can make cheese straws by adding grated cheddar cheese to packaged pastry mix; serve with tomato juice or some other before-dinner beverage.

WISDOM DOES NOT COME WITH AGE
 By simply growing older...
 As we might lean our head upon...
 Another person's shoulder...
 Wisdom is the product of...
 Experience in life...
 Through victory or through defeat...
 In struggle and in strife...
 Age is no criterion...
 Of wise philosophy...
 And neither is the prominence...
 Of some celebrity...
 Wisdom is acquired by...
 The hardships we endure...
 And our appreciation of...
 The wealthy and the poor...
 Our knowledge of all problems and...
 The ones who have to face them...
 And most of all our tolerance...
 In trying to erase them.

Spring Jewelry Outlook
 White makes a big splash in the spring scene, both as a dress and suit color and in jewelry.
 The "frosted" look of white mixed with color is a fresh and beautiful thing in every type of jewelry. There is little "one color" look to jewelry—rather it is a diffused, completely new color effect, much like stained glass.
 Pink gets a high color rating in many different shadings ranging from a "hot" geranium shade to clear, soft rose. Turquoise, that flattering touch to all skin tones, is a big jewelry color used by itself, or as an accent to other colors. Green—ranging from a lovely, soft, tender, milky shade through jade and emerald—is emerging as a big accessory color and is at its loveliest in jewelry.
 Yellow, as clear and bright as sunshine, lends a beautiful accent to all spring colors. No color at all is a big jewelry note—for clear crystals, cut in lovely, sparkling, new shapes and often treated with an aurora borealis finish, gives a glittering, cool look to the new clothes.
 A surprise color note is the appearance of autumn colors the tobacco browns, yellows and deep oranges. Black and white—combining jet with pearls, crystals or beads—is a high-fashion color note and startlingly beautiful when paired with the new white clothes.
Suds, Toothbrush, Flannel Do the Job
 By their very nature, most copper coins turn green from oxidation. This "rust" can be removed with acid, but that also pits the surface.
 There's a safer and easier method—which also leaves a nicer finish. Scrub the coins with soap or detergent suds and a stiff toothbrush. Dry immediately and rub to a soft, warm patina with flannel. Incidentally, this is the way all antique brass and copper should be polished.

Unconventional Courtship
Future Empress Hard to Win
 (This is the second of three dispatches about the next Empress of Japan, Michiko Shoda.)
 By RONALD F. KRISS.
 TOKYO (UPI)—Behind the gay, outgoing personality of the next Empress of Japan is a girl completely serious about the position which soon will be hers.
 Michiko Shoda, 24-year-old daughter of a wealthy Tokyo family, will marry Crown Prince Akihito April 10, to become the first commoner on the Japanese throne in its 2,618 year history.
 "I don't believe commoners should be united with the Imperial family," Michiko wrote her mother during the days of Akihito's courtship. "I doubt if such a move would bring good results. The history of royalty in Europe proves this."
 But once her decision was made, she told her parents and friends, "Every marriage, after all, is the same in essence."
 Miss Shoda, a trim brunette, was an honors scholar at the Catholic Sacred Heart schools she attended in Tokyo; and began her interest in tennis, through which she met her future husband, because her doctors recommended exercise to cure a childhood illness.
 Her friends and teachers remember her as a sensitive and reflective girl—an avid reader of historical novels, and just as enthusiastic a reader of A. A. Milne's "Winnie the Pooh" books. Also interested in the paintings of Van Gogh and Cezanne, she tried her hand at art but "somehow I never worked on one (painting) to the finish."
 Once in an essay competition, she looked back on the tumultuous world in which she had grown up and described it as a "worm-eaten apple." But she shrugged off pessimism and her wish on reaching 20 was for "a bright future."
 "I would like to live each day filled with a lively expectation," she wrote, "... imbued with the spirit that I would constantly strive to create a new self and a new future through my efforts."
 Michiko met Akihito on the tennis courts of Karuzawa—matter of fact, she and a partner once trounced him and his partner in a mixed doubles match.
 By the summer of 1958, Akihito was seeing her regularly, and the knowledge that he wanted to marry her disturbed the young Michiko. She hastily left her native land without even seeing him—ostensibly to attend an international convention of Sacred Heart graduates in Belgium. But actually, her friends say, she wanted time to think things over.
 Shortly after she left on an eight-week trip to Europe and the United States, an emissary from the Imperial household board—whose job was the painstaking search for a future Empress—asked the Shodas unofficially for their opinion. Urgent phone calls and letters passed between Michiko and her parents. The decision—"No"—was relayed to the board.
PERSISTENCE WINS OUT
 But the Crown Prince was not so easily put off. When she returned to Tokyo in October, Akihito was on the telephone daily—an unheard of procedure in Japanese courtship.
 His persistence finally overcame her doubts about commoner marrying royalty; in November, she said "Yes."
 Today, Michiko is caught up in a dizzy whirl of preparations for her wedding and a life of pomp and ceremony.
 Tutors are giving her lessons in court ritual and etiquette, preparing her for the different future. Those who know Michiko say she will make the transition smoothly.
 Mother Miyoshi, Michiko's history teacher and guidance counselor at Sacred Heart, summed up her feelings: "As a person, Michiko is perfect for the role if you don't think in terms of commoner or nobility."

Checked Dress Is Neat When Dressed Down
 NEW YORK (NEA) — The neat and disciplined check, done in fine worsteds or silk-and-wool mixtures, could very well be your first spring dress this year.
 In black-and-white or navy-and-white, the check lends itself to slender, simple lines and therefore is ideal for many versions of the Empire. In brown-and-white or beige-and-white, checks start small and wind up giant size in fashions for daytime, evening and sportswear.
 The checked dress looks best with neat, uncluttered accessories: the simple calf pump and handbag, a piece or two of gold jewelry, a coat in a harmonizing solid color.

Governments, Business Fear Him

Italian Oil Empire Built by Self-Made 'Santa Claus'

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Editor

ROME—An international mystery man is the spark behind one of Italy's most dramatic post-war economic developments.

He is Enrico Mattei, 52-year-old head of the Italian oil monopoly. And he is a mystery man only in the sense that he is regarded with a certain disquiet both by governments, including the Italian government, and international business.

The U. S. government keeps an eye on his activities out of a fear that his steadily pyramiding activities might prove to be a two billion dollar bubble which could blow Italian prosperity to smithereens.

International industry watches him because he has not hesitated to under-cut world markets in order to force his own entry. In any event, he is one of the most powerful men in Italy.

Mattei is a forceful, self-made man who has acquired the art of wearing his clothes well and being at ease in any company.

At 14, he went to work as a partner in a bed factory in his native northern Italy. At 19, he was a director of the company.

Later Mattei fought as a Christian partisan against the Germans, commanding 8,000 men. Those forces added their strength to post-war governing Christian Democratic Party.

With this political and economic background, Mattei was called upon to eliminate the oil monopoly set up under Mussolini.

It was then a collection of buildings with no oil and physical assets worth about a million dollars. It was Mattei's job to liquidate those holdings.

But he reversed his field and began intensive explorations. He found deposits of methane natural gas and began building an empire. Holdings have been expanded to an estimated two billion dollars.

But what ever disquietude Mattei causes, as one critic said: "You can't quarrel with Santa Claus."

Chiefs Beat Fordson, 57-48; Broncos Edge Romeo, 54-53 in Quarterfinals

East Lansing Next Cage Stop for PCH, Holly

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

As far as Art Van Ryzin, Pontiac Central basketball coach is concerned, there's nothing to the "13" jinx which brings fear to the BOOSC (Benevolent Order of Superstitious Coaches).

"This is my 13th season and it has been a good one for me," said Van Ryzin. "Even if we had been beaten by Fordson, I would have to say these kids have worked hard all season and this is the best unit I have coached," he added.

For the second time in the school's history and the first occasion for Van Ryzin, the Chiefs move into the state tournament semi-finals — and what a "dream" game it should be.

All season long Pontiac Central and Hamtramck have shuffled between first and second positions of the wire service polls.

PCH finally took the mythical title, but now must prove its worth of the position tomorrow night against its closest competitor.

Even the finals on Saturday could not carry the glamor of Friday night's encounter, and all Pontiac says, "Good luck Chiefs."

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

If you've noticed the city of Detroit "has five teams" in the state tournament semi-finals. Of course this includes Pontiac, River Rouge, Hamtramck, Holly and Grosse Pointe St. Paul.

Yesterday Romeo was included among the "Detroit schools." Such is the price of fame. Aren't the folks ever Holly has suddenly become one of "our Detroit schools." Such is the price of fame. Aren't you folks in Holly just "thrilled"?

POSTSCRIPTS: "What's the magic number now?" Van Ryzin asked his squad at the post-game snack. "Two," was the reply in unison. "I can't believe this is all happening," said Leroy Decker, Holly coach, who stood dripping wet after his victorious team gave him a dunking last night. And in conclusion—an observation—the Pontiac Central student body was the quietest of the four sections at the U. of D. fieldhouse last night.

What's the matter kids? They're still the same Pontiac Chiefs who have won 18 of 19 thus far.

Laker Rush Sinks Pistons 129-102 in Detroit Finale

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons folded up their tent for the season last night before an overpowering Minneapolis Laker fourth period rush that gave the Lakers a 129-102 victory and eliminated Detroit from the playoffs. The Lakers, paced by Elgin Baylor, swept clean the boards and potted 46 per cent of their shots. Minneapolis held a 71-47 rebounding edge over the Detroiters.

Semi Tickets Unreserved, Not Available in City

As a warning to all Pontiac basketball fans planning to attend Friday night's Class A semifinal game between Pontiac and Hamtramck, no tickets to semifinal games will be sold in Pontiac or any place other than MSU's Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing, site of the class A and B semis.

There are no reserved seats for any semifinal game. Du-

The victory sends the Lakers against the St. Louis Hawks in a four out of seven playoff for the right to meet the Eastern Division playoff winner.

Detroit held its own in the second half and trailed only 56-54 at the half. But the Lakers opened up an 89-80 lead going into the final 12 minutes and then bombed the Pistons with 40 points.

Gene Shue's 31 points topped the Pistons scoring.

Minneapolis won the first game of the three game set 92-89 and then the Pistons rebounded to win the second 117-103.

Meanwhile, the Boston Celtics started their campaign towards another showdown with the Hawks by swamping Syracuse 131-109 in the opener of the East finals.

The playmaking of Bob Cousy and rebounding of Bill Russell offset 30 and 25-point efforts by George Yardley and Dolph Schayes.

Tom Heinsohn, back in action after an injury, paced Boston with 28. Frank Ramsey added 23, Cousy 22 and Russell 19—plus 32 rebounds.

Bulldogs See 11-Point Lead Whittled Away

County 'B' Power Plays Strong Sault Ste. Marie in Friday Semifinal

By CHUCK ABRA

The Holly Broncos proved last night they have the stuff that good tournament teams are made of by bouncing back in an apparent hopeless situation to nip Romeo 54-53 in a Class B quarter-final fight to the finish before 3,000 fans at Birmingham.

Making their 1st bid for state honors in 36 years, the Oakland County team was up against the combination of an 11-point deficit and the fact that steady scoring star George McDaniel was not up to his usual standards. But the charges of new coach Leroy Decker overcame both obstacles in impressive fashion.

Their next stop will be the Michigan State court where they take on strong Sault Ste. Marie tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. The Soo five walloped Ludington 51-33 at Grayling Wednesday. River Rouge and Plainwell meet for the other "B" berth.

No more complete team effort was ever responsible for a victory than that posted by Holly over Romeo. Sophomore Ron Morlan, the only non-senior in the lineup, and Darrell Kinney tallied 13 apiece, McDaniel and Glenn Grommet added 11 apiece.

Each boy seemed to take his turn in leading the way. It was all Kinney in the opening half when he got 12 of his total hitting his 1st four shots. His early shooting paced the victors to a 12-7 quarter lead as Romeo started missing early from outside.

Morlan was just the opposite swishing 12 in the last half—8 in the final eight minutes. McDaniel had taken only four shots before tallying nine in the last two quarters.

Grommet, who can fire long set shots with the best of them, helped sink the Bulldogs with some high-arching goals from far out canning eight of his total in the last half. George Coggins got the other six including a big layup with three minutes left.

Romeo put all its play into one period piling up a 22-8 edge in the second stanza with all five starters having a hand in the assault. Even the strongest Holly supporter was fearing the worst when Bud Brotebeck's boys returned from the halftime break with a 29-20 lead and immediately scored to start the 3rd period. It looked like all the wind had gone out of the Broncos' sails following a string of 17 straight triumphs.

Holly began whittling away at the lead aided considerably by the rebounding of the 6-6 McDaniel.

There was still a difference of eight at 44-36 going into the final when Decker called for an all-court press. Good defensive play helped change the issue.

Morlan hit successive jump shots. He and McDaniel each converted two free throws and Grommet clicked on a long one while the losers were making one basket to deadlock the count at 46-46 after only two minutes.

Romeo regained the edge on a foul but a McDaniel hook and another long heave by Grommet put HHS in front to stay although they almost gave it away by twice taking shots while in a semi-stall and losing ball both times.

A layup by Ritter after the 2nd occasion made it 54-53 with 50 seconds remaining. Romeo got the ball again with 37 to go but missed two chances to pull it out. First sharpshooter Reid Olzak missed a jump shot. With the ball bouncing towards the sidelines, he made a miraculous save batting it in to Fowler but the 6-2 forward missed right in close.

Good foul shooting paid off for Holly as Romeo made three more field goals.

TWO FOR CHIEFS — Bill Hayward (41), a tower of strength for Pontiac Central in last night's state quarter-final basketball game at U. of D. Memorial Building, taps in one of his four rebound buckets against Dearborn Fordson. Hayward's tip-ins came in the 1st half and were instrumental in leading the Chiefs to a 57-48 victory over Fordson and a berth in Friday's semifinals at East Lansing against Hamtramck.

SIGHTING THE TARGET — Dave Scott (left), Dearborn Fordson's 6-foot-6 center who gave Pontiac Central lots of trouble on the backboards last night at U-D Memorial Fieldhouse, eyes the basket for a shot as George Eed of the Chiefs plans on doing something to stop the big Tractor from getting it away. The Chiefs scored a 57-48 triumph over Fordson to enter Friday's state semifinals at East Lansing against Hamtramck.

Moore Captures Featherweight Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Triumphant Davey Moore, the world's featherweight crown perched on his head, today received the plaudits of the fight world for his 13th round knockout victory over Hogap Kid Bassey of Nigeria last night in a bruising title bout.

In one round, the sixth, the former National Amateur Bantamweight champion turned the tide of battle as he sent the champion reeling into the ropes with a wild flurry of blows that left Bassey dazed and an easy target.

The Springfield, Ohio, challenger followed up his advantage in the next round to cut up the champion even more. He then piled up a big margin of points through the 13th round when Bassey's manager, George Biddies, stopped the fight because the champion could not see from the blood flowing into his eyes.

SURROUNDED — Dave Scott (center), Dearborn Fordson's beefy 6-foot-6 center, is hemmed in by a couple of Pontiac Central defenders as he tries to move with the ball in last night's quarter-final action at U. of D. Memorial gym. Bill Hayward of the Chiefs moves up from the left while Harrison Munson offers additional Pontiac opposition from the right side. The Chiefs reached Friday's semifinals with a 57-48 conquest of Fordson and they will meet Hamtramck at 8 o'clock in MSU's Jenison Fieldhouse.

Moore weighed 125½ and Bassey 125 for the bout.

The crowd of 10,000 which paid $65,602.98 to see the title bout in Olympic Auditorium gave both fighters a tremendous ovation when they left the ring after their nationally-televvised bout.

"I knew at the end of the sixth round that I was going to win the title," Moore said happily as he received congratulations in his dressing room.

"I was tense in the early rounds and Bassey's left hooks were stinging although I was never in real trouble or hurt."

The fight agreement called for a return match within 90 days — if the champion lost.

For the first few rounds last night, Bassey had command as Moore took the majority of the champion's best punches and once in the second round was staggered by a left to the head that bobbed him on his heels. But Moore, who has never been knocked out and only once downed in his pro career, recovered quickly.

But it was not until the sixth round that Moore unleashed his barrage of lefts and rights to the head and body that so dazed Bassey he couldn't find his corner for a moment. And the follow-up in the seventh clinched it for Moore, barring a reversal of the trend of battle that never materialized.

The Chiefs jumped off to a 9-0 lead, then wasted it and led by only two at the end of the 1st quarter, 15-13. The score was tied six times in the 2nd period before the Chiefs moved into their five-point edge at intermission.

Pontiac increased its margin to 41-33 during a slow 3rd quarter and let Fordson rally within three midway through the 4th stanza, 46-43, before pulling away to a 10-point cushion in the final minute.

Big Don Petroff was a one-man show for East Detroit, but the Shamrocks couldn't match Hamtramck's scoring balance and team speed. Petroff fired 34 points in defeat while Art Reid hit 20 for the Cosmos, who faced a 26-22

Pontiac Central to Face Cosmos in State Semis

Hamtramck Wins 67-57 Over East Detroit Five; Hayward Stars for PCH

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT—Pontiac Central is on its way to the semifinals of the annual Michigan high school basketball tournament for the first time since 1941 and the Chiefs owe it all to a defense made of granite.

Pontiac's fortress-like defensive wall plus some well-balanced scoring carried the Chiefs to a 57-48 victory over Dearborn Fordson here last night in the state Class A quarter-final round at U. of D. Memorial Building.

Hamtramck, which pressed PCH for Michigan's top rating during the season in the news wire polls, will be Pontiac's sturdy foe in the state semis Friday evening at East Lansing.

The Cosmos came from behind to conquer surprisingly strong East Detroit 67-57 in the opening game of last night's all-Class A doubleheader at the U-D fieldhouse before 6,800 spectators.

Central and Hamtramck clash head-on Friday at 8 p.m. in Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse. Grand Rapids Central and Lansing Sexton collide in the other semifinal at 9:30 with the two winners squaring off Saturday evening at 9 o'clock for the state Class A championship.

Pontiac's shooting was spotty yesterday, but it was always timely and a superb defense, particularly in the 2nd half, kept the Tractors moving around the outside in efforts to work the ball inside for a "sure" shot.

Bill Hayward, who has stayed in the shadow of his more illustrious teammates from an offensive standpoint, was Pontiac's most brilliant all-around performer.

Hayward was the ringleader of the defense, a dynamo on the backboards and the team's stabilizing force on the floor at all times. His four tip-in baskets in the 1st half were key factors in Pontiac's 33-28 halftime lead.

The Chiefs were never behind in this contest, but the stubborn Tractors made them work hard for their victory.

Dave Scott, Fordson's beefy 6-foot-6 center, gave the Chiefs plenty of trouble under the boards and he took individual-game scoring honors with 17 points, most of them finding the target from close range.

Joe Hamood tallied 13 points and Roger Oberg added a dozen to the Fordson cause, but a better balanced attack paid off for the Chiefs. John Bandy, held to four point in the 1st half, finished as high man with 14, followed by Harrison Munson with 13 and Phil Rabaja with 12.

The Chiefs jumped off to a 9-0 lead, then wasted it and led by only two at the end of the 1st quarter, 15-13. The score was tied six times in the 2nd period before the Chiefs moved into their five-point edge at intermission.

Pontiac increased its margin to 41-33 during a slow 3rd quarter and let Fordson rally within three midway through the 4th stanza, 46-43, before pulling away to a 10-point cushion in the final minute.

Disaster PlanDraft System Set Up in Event of Travel
Accident

DETROIT (AP)—National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell Wednesday disclosed a disaster plan which would keep the league going if a travel accident wiped out one of the six teams.

"Our plans call for an immediate draft of players from the five other clubs," Campbell said. "The draft price is $50,000 a player and the money would come from a one million dollar insurance policy."

Campbell said the plan was worked out and immediately made effective a few days ago. He said it was necessary because five teams use at least some air travel to fulfill schedule commitments. Montreal is the only club that does not fly. Several of the Canadiens have clauses in their contracts making it mandatory for the club to keep them on the ground.

Ignore Coloration

Color characteristics of trout are so variable that modern fish experts usually disregard them in identifying the various trout species. Coloration is often affected by the type of water in which the fish live.

'Home' Pros Battle for Gulfport Cash

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—The $5,000 Gulf Coast Invitational golf tournament opened today with some of the nation's top home professionals promising an all-out effort against par.

Mason Rudolph of Clarksdale, Tenn., a former Walker Cup team member is the fellow who's really tearing up the 6,016-yard par 71 course that overlooks the Gulf of Mexico.

Dick Metz of Fort Worth, Tex., runnerup in the 1938 National Open, and Johnny Revolta of Edgewater Park, Miss., winner of the coveted PGA title in 1953, put in their licks at trimming a few strokes off par in practice rounds. Metz won the Gulf Coast title two years ago and set a Great Southern record with a nine under par 62 in the process.

Governor Given Gift-Free Rides
on Bucking Horse

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The Rodeo Cowboys' Assn. decided to give Gov. Steve McNichols of Colorado something different this year. In past years, the group has given him a cowboy hat, a pair of boots, and a belt buckle. The gift this year was a lifetime pass—for a free ride on Warpaint, the bucking horse of the year.

Gifts of wearing apparel went to each of the governor's five children.

Trees From Game Areas

More than 7,000 Christmas trees were sold during the 1958 season from nine state game areas in Michigan's southern Lower Peninsula.
