Stevenson Raps Republicans' Labor Record

No. 1 Democrat Praises Unions in Pontiac Talk

Reuther, Williams and Other Notables Join in Holiday Program

By JOE HAAS

As the highlight on a Labor Day celebration under the auspices of the local CIO at Murphy Park Monday, Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai E. Stevenson was greeted by a crowd variously estimated at between 5,000 and 10,000.

His party came here from an address in Detroit and returned to that city after his talk here, then going to Muskegon for an evening program.

His appearance here was preceded by a program of sports and other contests in the park, and by selections by the Pontiac High School Band.

Introductions of Democratic nominees and local labor leaders took place at the speaker's platform, and members of the Pontiac City Commission also were presented.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the International UAW, gave a talk preceding Stevenson that rang with his accustomed fiery oratory, and pointed out why his organization had backed the Democrat ticket, mostly because of its constructive program and what he termed failure of the Republican administration to make good on its promises.

Remarks also were made by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, U. S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, President of the Michigan CIO Council August Scholle, Regional Director of the UAW William McAulay, and congressional candidate Paul Sutton Robert R. Boyer was master of ceremonies.

RAPT ATTENTION

Although the day's program was a long one, most of the crowd waited for Stevenson's address. He was alert to the occasion and lost no time in getting down to a presentation of his case, in which he enjoyed rapt attention.

* * *

He told the audience that he liked picnics, like this one in Pontiac on Labor Day, and that Labor Day was a good occasion to remind them of what the Republican Party had not done for labor.

He hoped that the people of Michigan would continue their good habit of electing Gov. Williams and called his administration young, vigorous, forward

200,000 Welcome Adlai to State's Holiday Rallies

DETROIT (AP) — For Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson, Labor Day in Michigan was "a wonderful day" full of crowds, cars, quips, cheering and bright sunny politicking weather.

Stevenson, accompanied by Gov. Williams, Mrs. Williams, United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther and a host of state Democratic candidates and party officials, roared through southern Michigan via motorcade and air.

The former Illinois governor spoke to an estimated 200,000 persons in appearances at Labor Day rallies in Detroit, Pontiac and Muskegon. He also appeared at a jam-packed Michigan State Fair.

Tanned and relaxed, after his post-convention vacation, Stevenson started his 1956 campaign with a major speech to a Detroit Labor Day rally crowd estimated at 50,000.

EAST SIDE CHEERS

His speech drew heavy applause at the start and conclusion. But it wasn't until the Stevenson motorcade—at times stretching to 50 cars—began its tour of Detroit's industrial East Side, that the cheers started to come.

Stevenson made stops at the 15th District headquarters of Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr.; a banquet appearance at a Polish veterans convention; attended a Rumanian nationality meeting; made a visit to the 1st District of Rep. Thaddeus Machrowicz in Hamtramck; a speech to a picnic at Pontiac's Murphy Park, and a speech at the State Fair Grounds.

In all his speeches, Stevenson plugged for the state Democratic ticket headed by Williams.

He praised the speaking ability of Reuther.

The motorcade left for Muskegon at 6:58 p.m. with newsmen, aides and politicians.

As Stevenson set down at Muskegon County Airport at 8:17 p.m. he wondered at the crowd. Only 81 minutes before he had left eastern Michigan where similar crowds had screamed their greetings from Pontiac to downtown Detroit.

Some 1,500 persons began gathering at the Muskegon airport two hours before Stevenson was to arrive.

Thousands more lined his two-mile route to Mona Lake Park where the combined Muskegon County AFL-CIO was on hand to greet him. It was the first time the joint union body had met together en masse since 1936.

When his 23-minute speech was interrupted periodically by applause, Stevenson turned to Michigan Sen. Patrick V. McNamara and said:

"This is the best trained audience I've had the pleasure of meeting—you must have trained them, Pat."

California Girl Plunges to Death From Airplane

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—A pretty, June college graduate plunged 1,000 feet from a rented plane yesterday, leaving a fragment of her sweater grasped in the pilot's hand.

Marin County deputy sheriffs said they would resume a search for the body of Flora Lizabeth Anderson, 22, as soon as the fog lifts sufficiently.

It is presumed the University of California graduate fell to death near Stinson Beach.

The pilot, Stanley Gordon, 28, of nearby Belvedere, an insurance underwriter, was questioned extensively and released. Acting Dist. Atty. Roger Garety said "it would definitely appear to be a suicide."

Gordon and Miss Anderson, daughter of Joseph A. Anderson, a San Francisco building contractor, were having only their second date.

They had appeared hand in hand, gay and smiling at San Francisco Bay Airport here yesterday and rented a small yellow aircraft from A. W. Lyman.

* * *

An hour later Gordon flew in alone, obviously distraught and trembling. He still clutched a fragment of cashmere sweater.

"It's a terrible day, a terrible day," he cried. "Call the police."

Then he told this story—a story he was to tell over and over to officers:

At Miss Anderson's request he

Nixon's Father Now in Coma; Death Near

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)— Frank Nixon, father of the vice president, lapsed into a coma today and his physician said: "A coma usually precedes death."

Nixon, 77, is in "very critical condition—death is just a matter of time," said Dr. I. N. Kraushaar.

Vice President Nixon roused several times during the night to look in on his father. Each time he found his mother, Hannah, 71, sitting beside her husband's bed holding his hand.

The elder Nixon rallied for a time last night, cheered by word of the arrival of his brother, Ernest, a retired professor of the University of Pennsylvania. Shortly thereafter he lapsed into the coma, about 2:30 a.m.

The elder Nixon was stricken Aug. 22 with a ruptured abdominal artery. He also suffered stomach hemorrhages.

Showers Tonight; Cooler Tomorrow

The Weather Bureau says there will be increasing cloudiness tonight with scattered showers and thunderstorms. The low will be around 52 to 56 degrees.

Partly cloudy and cool is the forecast for the Pontiac area tomorrow with a high of 70 to 74 degrees.

The low for last night in downtown Pontiac was 63 degrees. At 2 p.m. today the thermometer reached 88.

Future Bright for Labor, Meany Tells Legionnaires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President George Meany of the AFL-CIO told the American Legion today the United States is "at the threshold of a second industrial revolution."

"Automation, coupled with atomic power, will change the lives of all of us," the leader of the merged labor organizations said in an address prepared for delivery at the opening session of the American Legion's 38th convention.

"Labor sees no reason to fear the time when factories will run virtually on an automatic basis with machines operating machines.

"There will still be plenty of work to be done by people. There are new schools and better homes and improved roads to be built. There are great waterpower and flood-control projects that haven't as yet left the drawing boards.

"And if it becomes possible to put into effect a shorter work week to maintain full employment, let us promptly accept this opportunity to lighten the burdens of the American people and enrich their lives."

Meany said what Russia seeks "is not relaxation of international tension but a relaxation by the democracies of their efforts to build a collective security system with the determination and capacity to deter and defeat Soviet aggression and Communist enslavement.

Marilyn's Stomach Upset; Film Delayed

LONDON (INS) — Marilyn Monroe today was reported ill with gastritis and confined to bed.

The London Daily Mirror said doctors first ordered the bosomy blonde actress to bed three days ago and she has remained there since.

Producers of "The Sleeping Prince," the film she is making with Laurence Olivier, have changed their schedules to make outdoor locations shots during Marilyn's absence.

A company spokesman said he hoped Miss Monroe would return to work in a couple of days.

He described her condition as "not serious, just a tummy upset, nothing to worry about."

419,308 Attend Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Attendance at the Michigan State Fair shot to 419,308 for the first four days yesterday when a bustling Labor Day crowd of 136,743 invaded the fairgrounds. Today is Children's Day and youngsters under 14 will be admitted free. Fair officials said a program of races and games has been set up for the youngsters.

To Break Ground for Shop Center

11 A. M. Wednesday Symbolic Beginning of Construction

An 11 a.m. formal ground breaking is scheduled for tomorrow, to symbolically launch the construction of the 35 million dollar Michigan Miracle Mile Shopping Center at Telegraph and Square Lake Roads, Bloomfield Township.

Ground leveling and construction of the numerous shops are already under way.

Business and civic leaders are expected to participate in the rites at the center, which will include some 100 stores and parking for 5,000 cars, according to plans.

Developers are Don M. Casto and Don M. Casto Jr., with their associate W. B. Gibson. Headquarters of the firm is Columbus, Ohio.

An early 1957 completion date has been set for the center, which will occupy 50 acres of a 150-acre site.

Among the larger stores that will lease buildings at the center are the S. S. Kresge Co., the W. T. Grant Co., Kroger's, Food Fair, Richman Bros. and the J. C. Penney Co.

County Mishaps Kill 3 As 582 Perish in U.S.

Highway Toll Short of 480 Seen Earlier

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents killed at least 424 persons during the three-day Labor Day holiday weekend but there seemed little likelihood the final toll would reach an advance estimate of 480.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 480 would die in traffic mishaps during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

An Associated Press tabulation today showed also 88 persons drowned and 71 others perished in a variety of miscellaneous accidents for an over-all violent death toll of 582.

Late reports trickled in, but the declining rate of traffic fatalities encouraged Ned H. Dearborn, Safety Council president. He said:

"At the present rate, the final toll should be far short of our prediction of 480 deaths. We stand a good chance of finishing below the record of 461 deaths in 1951 and a fair chance of going under last year's figures of 438."

Deaths for the Labor Day holiday—the last of the summer for pleasure-seeking motorists — normally exceed those of regular weekends. An Associated Press survey from 6 p.m. Aug. 17 to midnight Monday Aug. 20, taken for a comparative basis, showed 366 traffic deaths, 77 drownings and 69 miscellaneous deaths for a total of 512.

The record traffic toll for any holiday period was 609 in the three-day Christmas holiday of 1955.

3 in Oakland Die in Water, Fire, Collision

Oakland County went through the final danger hours of the Labor Day weekend with no accidental deaths as the county finished the 78-hour holiday period with three fatalities.

A total of 35 died in Michigan and 581 in the United States at last count. Twenty-two state deaths and 424 in the nation were from traffic accidents.

The local dead were the result of a traffic accident, a fire and a drowning. One other person remains critical in a local hospital because of an auto crash.

* * *

Killed locally were: Weldon C. Wolf, 20, a soldier stationed in Ferndale; James C. Gilreath Jr., 3, of Detroit, and Milo J. Heintz, 72, of Bloomfield Township.

Wolf died Sunday from severe injuries suffered when his car struck a tree at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course Saturday.

The Gilreath boy drowned Sunday night at Pleasant Lake in West Bloomfield Township when a boat driven by his father overturned 200 yards offshore.

KILLED BY FIRE

Heintz was killed when his four-room house was destroyed by fire late Sunday morning.

Still critical at Pontiac General Hospital is Lester P. Dagleish, 39, of Oxford. He was struck by a car and thrown against an oncoming vehicle in Orion Township Saturday.

Michigan ranked fifth in the nation in traffic deaths from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. Texas topped the list with 36. Canada had 54 deaths, 41 on the highway.

The state death toll was 10 above last year's but officials blamed it on heavier traffic. An estimated three million vehicles clogged state roads during the weekend.

Nine Michigan deaths were by drowning, three died in fires and another was struck by a train.

The dead:

Norval Swenson, 20, of Omena, died Monday of injuries suffered when his car left a rural road near Traverse City. Police said he lay unconscious and bleeding for six hours before a farmer discovered him.

Baby Kidnaping Suspect Freed

Hamden Police, FBI Quiz Woman; Ruotolos Radio Pleas for Child

HAMDEN, Conn. (INS)—A woman first thought to fit the description of the possible kidnaper of Cynthia Ruotolo was picked up early today but released after questioning by the FBI and police.

Hamden Deputy Police Chief Frank E. Cattaneo said the unnamed woman had no connection with the case.

He explained that four women came to police headquarters to report a fifth "whom they suspected from the description to be the kidnaper."

"Following questioning by the FBI and local police," Cattaneo said, "this woman was discovered to have no connection with the case."

The officer said the woman, a former mental patent, had been spotted making her way through underbrush to her home in Middletown when she was reported.

Announcement of the woman's being taken into custody came after the FBI and local authorities had called off a renewed search of outlying Hamden areas for the kidnaper or the six-weeks-old Cynthia.

The child was snatched from her carriage in the vestibule of a Sears, Roebuck and Co. store in Hamden on Saturday. She was believed to have been abducted by a stocky, dark-complexioned brunette about 35 years old.

Racial Issue Sizzles in South as Schools Reopen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine of 12 Negroes enrolled in Clinton High School reported for classes today and many of the 796 white pupils stayed away as Tennessee militiamen, busy during the night quelling a mob at nearby Oliver Springs, patrolled this center of anti-integration tension.

* * *

While some of the white students lined the entrance jeering, six Negro youths went into the school's front entrance just before the 8:50 a.m. opening bell. Three Negro girls arrived by private car and entered a side door.

"What are they going to do in school today by themselves," one of the white students, yelled, indicating a boycott on the part of some of the whites. Many white school buses, usually filled with students standing, carried only a few today.

The comparatively quiet resumption of classes at the school, which integrated a week ago, was in sharp contrast to a tumultuous night in which a National Guard force raced to Oliver Springs to put down a gun-shooting mob.

Guardsmen in jeeps circled the block around the school here as the students started straggling up.

One bus which usually hauls 62 students had only nine this morning. An attractive red-haired girl stayed in her seat, crying bitterly.

Meanwhile, in Mansfield, Tex., Texas Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder today announced any Negroes who try to register at the all-white high school here will be transferred immediately to another school district.

He made the announcement after conferring with R. L. Huffman, superintendent of schools. Crowder said such action would follow a suggestion made Friday by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Crowder said Negroes would be transferred "for safety reasons."

Six Texas Rangers, including Crowder, arrived about 7:15 a.m. as did a crowd of men and youths which quickly swelled to about 100 persons.

The school was the scene of mob violence Thursday and Friday, when demonstrators manhandled an assistant state district attorney and photographers, and vowed to use guns, if necessary, to prevent Negroes from registering.

It was one of three racial disturbances in this immediate area.

At Alvarado, 12 miles almost directly south of here, in adjoining Johnson County, expected trouble failed to develop today. White youths said Negro students had said they would try to register at the white school, and the white youths said they would throw up a picket line to prevent this. However, no Negroes appeared to register.

In Fort Worth, 20 miles northwest, officers guarded the new house of a Negro who had moved into a formerly all-white neighborhood, scene of mob violence Sunday.

City Drainage Up for Action

Expect Commission OK Tonight on Proposals to Prevent Flooding

Steps toward improvement of the city's storm drainage system will be taken tonight by the City Commission when they meet to tackle a brief 14-point agenda.

A resolution is expected to be passed authorizing the realignment of Pontiac Creek, a step in the improvement project.

City Manager W. K. Willman is expected to be granted the authority to enter into an agreement with the city's engineering consultant firm for the improvement of the Clinton River, the major outlet for the proposed new drainage system.

More action is expected on an ordinance to amend the city's parking meter ordinance which will move the metered time on all on-street downtown meters up to 9 p.m.

Stevenson Attacks GOP Labor Record

looking and humanitarian. He said, "That's the kind of government we need in Washington."

The speaker lamented that he had only a few minutes in which to point out the failures of the Eisenhower administration, but crowded everything possible in that respect into the few minutes that he did talk. He intimated that he may return to further remind our people that the Democrat Party is not the party of complacency and resignation.

* * *

Stevenson said, "I want to pay tribute to the magnificent role that American labor, under the leadership of the AFL-CIO, has played in this worldwide struggle with communism.

ANTI-RED FRONT

"By its leadership in the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, American labor has welded the free trade unions of every nation into a solid front against communism.

* * *

"No group of individuals is more hated or feared by the Communists than are the leaders of the free trade union. Free labor is their natural enemy, for more than anything else, they fear it will feed the flames of hope and freedom in the hearts of workers behind the Iron Curtain."

He cited this movement as doing more than the "blustering and brinkmanship of John Foster Dulles."

The speaker claimed that the Republican administration has failed to make good on most of its promises to labor before it came into office in 1952, "most of which promises they now are renewing."

* * *

Several times during his talk, Stevenson was interrupted by applause, and was given a real ovation on his arrival at the speaker's stand and when he finished speaking.

'Is Stevenson Kidding?' on Jobless, Hall Asks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said Monday he is "astonished" Adlai E. Stevenson would hit at joblessness under the Eisenhower administration at the very time the government says a record number of people are working.

"Who does Adlai think he is kidding?" Hall asked in a statement issued through the national committee.

Wounded Bear Escapes Trap and Mauls Man

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A Colorado sheep herder was attacked yesterday by a wounded 1,000-pound black bear and lived.

* * *

The maddened animal was killed by an unidentified companion of Leo Roybol, 48, of Denver, who was flattened by the bear's charge and suffered severe fang and claw gashes on the head, arms, hands and hips.

Roybol was brought here to Routt County Memorial Hospital. His condition was reported good.

* * *

The two men had set a trap for the bear on their range 20 miles north of here after it reportedly killed several sheep in their flock.

Armed with rifles, they rode horseback to the trap yesterday morning and saw the bear trapped by one paw.

* * *

The men dismounted, and Roybol fired one shot. The bullet struck the bear in the head, emerging at the back of the neck. Maddened, the animal ripped loose from the steel trap and charged before either could fire a second shot.

Roybol was flattened by the bear's bloody charge. His companion, waiting for a clear shot, finally killed the beast.

* * *

Doctors said Roybol's hands were badly mauled, but he would retain use of both.

Murder Count Faces Royal Oak Chemist

BAY CITY (INS) — Murder charges today face a Royal Oak chemist in the fatal shooting of an Oil City grocer.

The only motive Edward Graham, 30, could give for the shooting of Eugene Duncan, 44, during a wild crime spree which included kidnaping Duncan's wife, was that he had quarreled with his girlfriend and "wanted revenge."

Graham has a history of mental illness.

Duncan, owner of a grocery and gas station on M20, a half mile east of Oil City, was shot Sunday morning and died early yesterday.

His wife, Emma, 42, was forced to accompany Graham on a wild ride. He returned with her to the store, shot Duncan and then left with Mrs. Duncan again. He was stopped 10 minutes later by a police road block.

2 Injured in Pontiac Two-Car Collision

Two auto passengers suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident at M58 and Pontiac Lake Road yesterday afternoon.

Sharon L. Davis, 18, of Holly, and Russell P. Weeks, 6, of 410 Bridson, Fenton, were treated and released for cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital following the crash.

The youngsters were riding in a car driven by Robert L. Davis, 22, of 219 Elm, Holly, according to Pontiac police. The other vehicle was operated by James R. Clifton Jr., 30, of 2704 Corey St.

Investigators reported the Clifton car was struck from behind by Davis who told police he came over a hill and could not stop in time to avoid the halted vehicle.

Pontiac Motor Assisting Driver Education Classes

Pontiac Motor Division, generally credited with pioneering driver training along with the American Automobile Association in 1936, figured prominently in General Motors' contribution of more than $460,000 in support of driver education in the nation's schools for the 1955-56 school year, it was announced today by GM President Harlow H. Curtice.

Pontiac dealers loaned 400 special-equipped vehicles to secondary schools throughout the nation in the past school year.

Under its driver training assistance plan, the corporation awards auto dealers $125 for each new automobile loaned to schools for driver training. This allowance helps dealers offset vehicle maintenance and reconditioning costs.

"The automobile is very much a part of American youth. In a society that depends most extensively on motor vehicles, it is important that today's youth begin early to learn the fundamentals of driving safely and efficiently," Curtice said.

"Driver education now is an essential segment of the secondary school curriculum and fulfills an important and growing need. In addition to the immediate benefits gained by teaching students safe driving techniques and instilling driver responsibility in classrooms, we find that driver education has continuing and far-reaching effect," he said.

Surveys illustrate that boys and girls with authorized driver education in high schools possess substantially better safety records than those who do not receive instruction.

"According to AAA figures published by the National Commission on Safety Education, in Cleveland, trained high school boys have half as many accidents as untrained youths. And an AAA three-year study conducted by the Pennsylvania State Police showed that accidents involving youth were cut in half and arrests decreased to a third as a result of driver education," Curtice said.

The driver education program also has had a "bonus" effect on adults according to the reports of high school instructors. They point out that poor driving habits of many parents are criticized by their children who are quick to show dad and mom what they have been taught at school.

Four GM divisions — Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick — are participating in the driver education program.

Police Sergeant Hurt as 20 Teenagers Fight

A city policeman required hospital treatment following a fight of some 20 teenagers at the Labor Day celebration at Murphy Park yesterday. Four juveniles and three youths were arrested.

The incident reportedly began with a hair-pulling match between two girls. Arrested were Clarence Morgan, 18, of 2655 Helen Dr.; his brother, Otto W., 21, and Frederick Drake, 17, of 689 N. Perry St.

Suddenly, the girl thrust against the door saying:

"Gee, we're awfully high." She looked out.

"Don't do that," Gordon ordered.

The next time he looked, her feet were hanging out of the door and she was starting to slip out.

Gordon said he took both hands from the wheel, twisted and grabbed for her. She fought back, attempting to force herself out. The uncontrolled plane went into a 1,000-foot dive and Miss Anderson's sweater tore in Gordon's hands and she dropped into the fog.

James Dougan, a Bolinas garage owner on a volunteer fire patrol, said he saw the plane dive and something drop from it.

"I thought it was a jacket or a small package; it looked too small for a body," he reported.

The girl's parents said she was in "good spirits" yesterday. They reported she had been visiting a San Francisco physician because she was "mentally and physically exhausted" from her studies at California, where she was on the staff of the humor magazine "The Pelican."

Gordon said he met Miss Anderson a month ago at a church picnic. Saturday they had their first date. When she learned he had a private pilot's license she expressed a desire to go flying.

12-Town Drain Cost Split OKed

Southfield, Royal Oak Areas Benefit by New Plan; Legal Fight Looms

The Twelve-Town Drain Board this morning prepared to plunge into a sea of litigation over apportionments among 14 South Oakland County municipalities for the $38,581,000 relief drain project.

Taking its first official step on cost allocations, the board today tentatively approved a new version of the allocation list which has been circulating in varying forms for two months.

The latest version, altered by the discovery since the last board meeting of two mistakes and one omission in figures, heavily benefits Southfield and Royal Oak townships.

Both townships have said their previous allocations were too high for township budgets.

TROY WANTS OUT

The city of Troy, which has said privately it wants out of the project no matter what its allocation may be, also was slightly benefited by the change.

A meeting has been called for Sept. 11 at Northwood Inn in Berkley to acquaint officials with the implications of the board's tentative approval today.

According to Anton J. Berst, coordinator, the approval means no more changes will be made in tentative allocations. A formal hearing on the present list will be held Oct. 12 in Royal Oak, after which the present list is slated for formal approval.

* * *

If Troy or any other municipality insists on withdrawing from the project, Berst said, litigation involving all the communities will be started.

The drain has been planned for two years to relieve existing drains and help the thickly settled communities solve their perennial flooding problems.

Cobo Booed at Detroit Labor Day Gathering

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Albert E. Cobo, Republican candidate for governor, was booed loudly yesterday when he was introduced at the Labor Day speechmaking at the old Detroit city hall.

Andy McFarland, president of the Wayne County Federation of Labor, had introduced Cobo to the gathering. When the booing continued, McFarland went back to the microphone at the speakers stand and appealed to the gathering to "please be ladies and gentlemen."

Cobo in his brief speech did not mention politics.

Reigns as Bean Queen

FAIRGROVE (AP) — Connie Holl, an 18-year-old blonde from Sandusky, reigns today as the Michigan State Bean Queen. Now she can aim for higher honors this coming week — as a qualified competitor for queen of the Michigan State Fair. Shirley Richmond, 18, of Caseville was runnerup in the six-girl contest.

Despite Labor Day Tradition

Resort Season Runs On

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Labor Day no longer means the end of Michigan's vacation season, according to Albert Wrisley of Northport, president of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn.

He estimated yesterday more than 75 per cent of the resorts and virtually all the West Michigan motels and tourist courts will be open through September.

More than half the area's accommodations operate on a year-around schedule, he said.

"We have learned that September is equally as good a month for virtually all recreational activities as July and August," Wrisley declared.

"But, more important, the vacationers also have made the same determination," he added.

An association study learned resorts in the region do a profitable September business with hay fever sufferers who vacation in the pollen-free late season.

It also showed tourists take advantage of the late months for scenic views. Hunters, fishermen and winter sports enthusiasts provide patronage to keep many resorts busy until spring, Wrisley said.

DEMOCRATIC HUDDLE — Presidential aspirant Adlai Stevenson goes over his notes and carries on a conference with Gov. G. Mennen Williams as the pair prepared to deliver Labor Day addresses to a large crowd gathered at Murphy Park yesterday. An afternoon of contests and festivities was held at the park, sponsored by the CIO Council.

The Day in Birmingham

See Progress for Staff, Parking Plan, Land Sale

BIRMINGHAM — First step in construction of Parking Lots 3-A and HH, altering of the city's representation on authority boards, and possibly appointment of the city's new assistant manager are expected at the city commission meeting tonight.

An appraisal, being brought before the commission to back up the pricing of the city-owned three acres in the Peabody farm, might indicate that Bloomfield Township property is increasing in value at about a four per cent rate each year.

The land, bought at $5,775 in March, 1947, should be sold at $8,384, presuming that the money would have earned the difference at four per cent interest compounded annually, officials contend.

The appraisal of the Peabody Farm's 100 acres for $250,000 would indicate the city's land would be $8,375, James Juhl advises the commission.

D. C. Egbert is tendering his resignation from the North Evergreen Sewage Disposal Authority, so that his successor, City Manager Harold Schone, can represent the city. He offers his continuing aid, however.

A dinner meeting is slated for the Twelve Town Relief Drains on next Tuesday night, the commissioners are advised, with all governing bodies and officers invited.

The 7 p.m. dinner will be at Northwood Inn.

An addition of 20,000 square feet is being contemplated as addition to the Birmingham Plastics Co., according to R. E. Dailey & Co., and Mr. Dailey is asking that the city decide what restrictions will be placed on industry there. A similar request for decision comes from E. H. Cunningham, of Steel Door Corp. who wishes to buy parcel 5 to put with adjoining land purchases.

Both firms indicate a wish to cooperate with city ordinances but hope that difficulties such as recent complaints of noise at Berry Door can be minimized.

Low bid for sewer construction work for the parking lots was that of the Moote Company of Grosse Pointe, says G. R. Serenbetz, who says the firm had done satisfactory work in Pontiac, and sub-contracted for some in Birmingham.

A crossing guard for Hunter and Oakland will be paid $800 for the school year if an appropriation is approved tonight. With hiring approved recently, Chief of Police Ralph W. Moxley advises the board a man for the job is now available.

* * *

State Police have been granted use of the police pistol range for Sept. 6, 7 and 11. The Birmingham range, used formerly by the city alone, now allows troopers to practice here rather than go all the way to their range at River Rouge.

Also, Clawson police occasionally use the range, having none of their own.

Hearing on Rezoning for Park-Library

Highlighting a City Plan Commission agenda for Wednesday night will be a continued public hearing on the proposed zoning of 21 lots in the planned city park-library site across from Pontiac High School.

Henry Smith, secretary of the commission and city planner, said he sent out 200 notices of the hearing to property owners within 500 feet of the lots.

The rezoning was tabled at last month's City Plan Commission meeting to obtain a clear definition of a proposal by O. L. Beaudette. He has offered to deed his home and surrounding property in the West Huron block provided the entire 15-acre parcel eventually is converted to a city park.

Tomorrow night's meeting will be held at 8 in the City Commission chambers on the second floor of the City Hall.

Urge Churches Back Integration

Support U. S. Ruling, Evangelical, Reformed Meeting Is Asked

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A committee recommended today that the Evangelical and Reformed Church officially "deplore attempts to evade" the school segregation decision of the U. S. Supreme Court.

A report of the Commission on Christian Social Action presented to the 10th triennial meeting of the church urged the church "support the principle of integration and urge full support of the decision" by asking pastors and church members to "lend their moral support."

* * *

In the report, Chairman Elmer J. F. Arndt, Webster Groves, Mo., stated "there are situations in which wisdom and discretion are needed as well as situations in which the complacent need to be stirred to effective and constructive action. It would be unwise to apply the same timetable rigidly to all communities in the nation," the commission declared.

"Nor is it right that any community plead its circumstances as warrant for unmodified continuance of patterns of human relations which deny to some the rights and dignity which belong to a human being."

* * *

The commission told some 400 ministerial and lay delegates that there can be no discrimination or segregation in the church on the ground of color, nationality, or any other human division.

Meanwhile, Dr. James E. Wagner, church president, of Philadelphia, estimated it will take three years before a constitution is completed for the new United Church of Christ.

Yesterday the Evangelical and Reformed Church unanimously approved proposals setting up a June 25-27, 1957 meeting with the Congregational Christian Church to lay the foundation for the proposed new two million member denomination.

Boy, 3, Smiles Through Ordeal of Freeing Arm

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three-year-old Sherman Wayne Dotson learned yesterday to keep away from fire plugs—but he gave admiring adults a lesson in courage at the same time.

For an hour, the curly-haired, blond youngster bit back the tears as firemen tried to free his arm from an outmoded, abandoned fire plug.

Sherman's arm was caught as the lad reached into the plug to retrieve some rocks and bottle caps he had been throwing into a small, 4-inch opening.

* * *

As the firemen labored, Sherman proudly displayed a faint, forced smile. Only when the arm was finally freed did his smile disappear—he heard someone say he was to be taken to a hospital.

* * *

But the smile returned when he made the trip in a police patrol car, as everyone in the block waved at him and told him what a brave boy he was.

The hospital examination showed only bruises and scratches. And when Sherman returned home, a quart of strawberry ice cream was waiting on the kitchen table for him.

Sherman polished off the dessert and went to bed—he was tired.

A group of Australian aviation specialists hope to start a utility freight-passenger business between all the main South Pacific island groups, using flying boats, Sydney learns.

America Enters East Zone Fair

Lone Entry Showing Battered Citrus Fruit, Canned Goods

LEIPZIG, Germany (AP)—Communist East Germany is boosting what it advertises as an American businessman's exhibit at the autumn Leipzig Fair.

* * *

The United States has no diplomatic relations with East Germany and U. S. businessmen in the past have steered clear of becoming official exhibitors at this most widely known fair behind the Iron Curtain. The 1956 fair opened yesterday.

It took detective work to track down the tiny stall of this exhibit among those of about 7,000 companies from 33 countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain which are putting on a rich display of their consumer goods.

Watched over by an East German who describes himself as a private businessman, the exhibit features several small piles of somewhat battered oranges, lemons and grapefruit advertised as California fruit. Stacked around the fruit are several dozen cans of vegetables, juices and preserved fruit.

* * *

This exhibit shares one of the smallest cubicles in the 19 fair buildings with a firm displaying Jamaican bananas and rum. Over the entrance hang American and Jamaican flags.

As the sole entry under the heading U. S. A., the Leipzig fair catalogue lists the sponsor of the American exhibit as the Ejuliu Co., 69-39 Yellowstone Park Blvd., Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y.

The German in charge said he was prepared to take orders on behalf of the company, but that so far he had received none.

New Bird for State

EAST LANSING (AP) — A new bird may be moving into the Great Lakes region, according to a Michigan State University fisheries and wildlife professor. Dr. Miles D. Pirnie recently saw the bird, the cattle egret or buff-backed heron, a native of Spain, near the southeast corner of Lake St. Clair, Ontario.

LITERARY MASTERPIECE ON SCREEN — Herman Melville's mighty adventure classic of whaling ships and the men who sailed them comes to the Blue Sky Drive-In today. First run in the area for "Moby Dick," Gregory Peck stars and John Huston directs.

Truman Hits Ike on Labor Issues

Says Dem Congress, Not President, Pushed $1 Minimum Wage

MILWAUKEE (INS) — Former President Harry S. Truman has branded President Eisenhower an enemy of labor.

Truman, in a Labor Day speech at the Milwaukee Arena last night, also accused the Eisenhower administration of trying to make anti-labor laws—but being foiled by a Democratic Congress.

Earlier, he charged during a news conference that Republican leaders were "legal racketeers," adding:

"They have thrown away the assets of the United States government. They are working on a tax program that helps the big man and disregards the little fellow."

CITES WAGE ISSUE

In his address, the ex-President charged that Eisenhower fought to keep the new minimum wage level at 90 cents.

* * *

But he said the Democratic Congress "wasn't impressed by his penny-pinching attitude, and put the one-dollar raise in effect in spite of him." Truman asked:

"Does this sound to you like a great humanitarian leader—a man who would try to beat the the poorest workers in the country out of 10 cents an hour?"

Answering his own question, he said:

"Of course it doesn't—it just sounds like a Republican politician."

Truman charged that President Eisenhower, shortly after taking office, turned down a set of amendments drawn up his labor secretary which would have removed the "union-busting provisions" of the Taft-Hartley law.

He said that in their place Eisenhower urged passage of amendments which would have made the law "even more anti-labor than it is," adding:

"Those amendments might have become law, if it had not been for the Democratic opposition in the Senate which killed them. You have the Democratic party to thank for frustrating the anti-labor plot of the Eisenhower administration. . . ."

Do You Lead a Dog's Life? Perhaps You Wish You Did

CHICAGO (INS) — You should lead a dog's life as it's lived in Chicago.

It means being taken to Europe, or Mexico on vacations; being invited to cocktail parties and even having doggy-scopes (the canine version of horiscopes) read.

Take Jet, a big black poodle owned by Mrs. Simon Morand. The pet sleeps on a form rubber mattress with a down pillow under his head. When $15 rainboots, it rains, Jet is outfitted with bought especially for him in Paris by his owner.

When the poodle's birthday rolls around, Mrs. Morand throws a party and invites other poodles as guests. At his latest birthday party, Jet and guests chomped individual meat loaf "cakes" decorated with liver paste greetings and frankfurters for "candles."

Jet goes to cocktail parties with Mrs. Morand, who dresses him up for the occasion with rhinestone-studded leather or velvet collars.

Jet isn't the only poodle that leads a deluxe life in Chicago.

Mei Yun, a silver toy poodle owned by Rosalind Ching, steps out for an evening wearing a brocade coat matching Miss Ching's brocade dress. Mei Yun even has jewelry—gold metallic dangle earrings and a matching choker necklace.

Linda, a toy French poodle owned by Mrs. Whitt N. Schultz, strolls down the avenue wearing a yellow, posy-trimmed straw hat, a duplicate in miniature of her owner's.

Grey or white poodles get tinted rinses after shampoos—in such colors as bright pink or turquoise.

Other dog fanciers also are putting on the dog with their dogs judging from what Chicago department stores are offering in canine gear.

Dog collars come in pastel or brilliant-hued leathers, velvets and felt and are decorated with fake jewels or multi-colored sequins.

Pets are being decked out with reversible mackintoshes for rainy weather; sailor pom-pom hats with coordinated cloth sailor collars and hand-knit sweaters trimmed with angora.

Some Chicago dogs are eating off hand-painted dishes and are being wiped dry after a bath with especially-decorated terry cloth towels.

They're sleeping in cotton knit pajamas on imported English beds.

OLD WHALING DAYS — 3
The Harpooner

The harpooner was a most important man on a whaling expedition. On his skill in throwing the sharp weapon depended the killing of the whale.

When a whale was sighted a 27-foot boat put out from the ship with five or six men aboard. Each harpoon was fastened to a line that was paid out as the whale dashed about trying to free itself. If the whale went faster than the men could pay out line there was a disaster. A whale can stay under water for twenty minutes or more and can smash a boat with the huge flukes of its tail or crush it in its jaws.

A harpooner chose his weapon with care, and often watched it forged. Here is an old time sailor looking over a newly forged harpoon, hefting its weight and balance and studying it carefully.

Color the picture with your crayons and paste it on cardboard. Cut out on the heavy outline and fold the anvil panel forward on the dotted line, so it will stand.

Tomorrow: A Trick at the Wheel

Ike Puts Finishing Touch on Strategy for Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower has just about completed plans for a streamlined re-election campaign slated to start in about 10 days and take him into politically strategic areas.

* * *

The President worked on the blueprints with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and other key aides yesterday after the aides had spent the morning and early afternoon drafting recommendations at the White House.

Some of the plans Eisenhower approved are scheduled to be announced before the week's end. The drafters said the discussions dealt with all phases of the campaign—itinerary, dates and the theme of major addresses.

Hall said several weeks ago the President would make five or six nation-wide television and radio talks, some outside Washington.

Eisenhower, at a news conference last Friday, again ruled out any barnstorming or "whistle stop" speeches. But he said he was not foreclosing the possibility of traveling into key areas—apart from the national television-radio series—for campaign addresses.

In advance of the strategy sessions, Eisenhower made public a Labor Day report which had political significance even though it made no mention of the campaign. It said the level of the nation's economy "has never been higher in peace or war."

Eisenhower said the report, submitted to him by Secretary of Labor Mitchell, was "personally gratifying to me as it will be to all our citizens."

* * *

Both the timing and the content of the report indicated it was an early White House bid for rank and file support by labor union members, despite their leaders' endorsement of Democratic candidates.

After speaking of a national economy at a record high level, the Mitchell report to the President said:

"There are over 5½ million more people employed today than there were when you took office. The average American factory worker today makes almost $13 a week more than he did four years ago; and his takehome pay, after adjustments have been made for taxes and cost of living, has increased by more than $8.50 a week in the past four years.

"Above all, these achievements are especially remarkable because they were accomplished with our country at peace."

* * *

The report was made public a few hours before Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson, speaking in industrial Detroit, talked of "ugly patches of poverty" in America and accused the Republicans of "blindness" toward factory unemployment and toward a cost of living "rising to an all time record high point."

Hassle Over Sports Events Commonplace

One of the biggest international rhubarbs in some time over nothing at all is concluding—or is it—in the British Empire.

★ ★ ★

The British scheduled a two-nation track meet with the Russians. Perhaps a lot of British noggins should have been examined right there. Anyway, a quaint Russian female named NINA something made off with a parcel of hats and was promptly charged with shoplifting—as she should have been.

But the Commies thought otherwise and they raised a great to-do and protested against this inhospitable treatment of an international guest. After all, why shouldn't a star discus thrower in the dream land of the Soviets be permitted to walk away with less than half a dozen British hats?

The British State Department would have hush-hushed the incident up and down three of London's longest boulevards; but unhappily — or happily — this was purely a matter for the law enforcing agencies and they weren't concerned with the international significance which cloaks a gifted feminine discus thrower of Communist persuasion.

No, indeedy.

They were tough.

They issued a warrant for shoplifting and started a hunt for the hapless gal.

Therefore, she's in hiding.

They suspect the Russian embassy.

But anyhow, the Russians canceled the track meet in a burst of temper and said they'd jolly well take their talented runners and jumpers back to the homeland where they aren't pestered by trivialities. (Their own naive answer at home would probably be liquidation). Thus the British refunded money to some 40,000 ticket buyers and were left with red faces, empty hands and a temperamental fugitive from hard handed British justice. One ticket was purchased for her return home, but the airport was dotted with bobbies bent on arrest and LENA didn't show.

However, we can't look down our noses at our British cousins. We get into a three star hassle without leaving home. The Gold Cup races in Detroit have resulted in charges, countercharges and counter countercharges. Everyone's mad and Detroit's name for fair play and hospitality has been smeared and blackened.

And all this happened with just the home boys concerned.

Ho-hum.

We think the best crack out of the incident came from a British writer who said:

"It looks as though Russia were sure of Olympic first places in the weight lifting and shop lifting."

A Feast or a Famine

It will be hard to convince Oakland County residents, but the year 1956 is going down in Texas agricultural history as a year of terrible drought. And recent unofficial forecasts see no real relief for at least two more years.

★ ★ ★

Texas' experience merely emphasizes a problem which faces the whole Nation. Our underlying water table is going down lower and lower.

The causes are complex. Increasing population is an important factor. Another is greater run-off of water, due to the loss of trees, grass and other vegetation which formerly conserved the moisture in the ground.

A growing factor is the increasing use of water by everyone. Industry uses vast quantities. Individuals use more each year. Increasing use of air conditioning is but one example of the way modern life is taxing the available supply of water.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County residents, like everyone else, face this problem. They have had to curtail sprinkling their yards at frequent intervals in the past. Their elected officials are studying ways to bring water from the Great Lakes to supplement the declining supplies of water from wells.

The present summer has brought an abundance of rain in this area, yet because of the constantly increasing use of water, this lessens the seriousness of the situation only momentarily.

In Dallas, Tex., the city water supply grew salty as a result of the continued drought. Clear, fresh water was eagerly bought in stores for ten cents a quart. Well drillers brought up salt water in some sections, so much of it in fact that crops were killed.

★ ★ ★

Extending far beyond Texas' borders, the drought has been felt in Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Montana and the Dakotas. Irrigation basins are drying up. Covering crops have withered away, causing more erosion and faster run-off of surface water.

The drought is forcing many farmers off the land. Some four thousand seven hundred farmers have given up in Oklahoma alone during the past year.

Increasing population is perhaps the biggest single factor in the situation in Southeastern Michigan. But the experience of other areas should spur action by Oakland County communities to find new sources before the shortage reaches critical proportions.

★ ★ ★

We are fortunate to be so near the Great Lakes. There lies a huge, and almost inexhaustible, supply.

The Republican nominees have a small lead on both president and governor in the first figures released in the Man About Town poll. The answers were gleaned in a far flung survey, mostly in counties in the north part of the Southern Peninsula; also at a Detroit Tiger game, Detroit hotel and restaurant, taxi drivers, gas stations, railway employes, farmers, merchants, clerks, road workers and housewives, but none in Oakland County. The following figures will be supplemented by others next Tuesday:

David Lawrence Says:

Neither Party 'Really' Democratic

WASHINGTON — Apropos of the decision of Republicans to refer to "the Democrat party"—instead of "Democratic"—this colloquy is being quoted:

* * *

Question: "When does a Democrat tick?"

Answer: "When he is an old-fashioned Republican."

Maybe the time has come to question whether either of the parties is sticking to history.

Whether the Democrats have a right to call their party "Democratic" and the Republicans may properly call theirs "Republican" depends in one sense on whether both groups are willing to champion the doctrine of "states' rights" espoused by Thomas Jefferson, father of "the Democratic-Republican party." It was thus known from 1793 to 1828 when the word "Republican" was dropped.

Chester Bowles in a recent book, "American Politics in a Revolutionary World," speaks of this early use of the name "Republican" by Jefferson. Bowles writes:

"The majority consensus, which developed out of these pressures and conflicts, supported the development of a federal government adequate to its growing responsibilities, but insisted that it be firmly rooted in Democratic principles. Its political instrument was the Republican party, later to change its name to Democratic. In 1800, it was swept into power with Jefferson by a smashing popular majority.

"Despite the bitter opposition he had faced from the conservative-minded Federalists, Jefferson sensed the wide scope of the underlying agreement that brought about his victory. 'We are all Republicans, we are all Federalists' he said in his inaugural."

Neither of the two authors quoted above emphasizes, however, the sacrifice of constitutional principle by both parties for the sake of expediency. For there has been a battle going on within each party on ideological grounds from the very beginning of the republic.

* * *

The struggle to keep the government from taking over the economic life of the individual and creating a master state has been continuous for decades. The widespread impression that one group or faction or party has wanted progress and the other has preferred stagnation is an oversimplification.

The fight always has been against encroachment upon individual freedom through reckless experimentation. It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who in his "Essay on Politics" more than 100 years ago wrote in effect: "What a pity that one party today has all the ideas and the other party is the only one that knows how to make them work."

This may explain the improvements claimed by the Republican party of today in making practical some of the New Deal reforms.

Today neither party can convincingly call itself the party of Jefferson, and neither party can accurately be called "democratic" with a small "D," for each has abandoned the basic principles of Thomas Jefferson.

* * *

Both party leaderships nowadays believe in a centralized government with federal control of education, though they often deny such a purpose. Both believe in superseding state laws whenever political expediency or the rewards from a pressure group dicate such a course. Both believe in federal control of business and of employer-employe relations.

Within each party, of course, there is dissent against such federalization, and a cry to uphold the thesis of Jefferson that the best government is the one that interferes the least with the rights of the citizen. But the dissenters are a small minority.

As the mistakes of a centralized government mutiply, a new "consensus" or a majority of a coalition may someday recover the ground lost in the past four decades through abrogation of constitutional rights and disregard of the principles of Thomas Jefferson.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Cataract Is Not Membrane, but a Clouding or Opacity

Cataract is not a skin or membrane which covers the eyeball, as many imagine. It is a clouding or opacity of the crystalline lens. In the early stage the clouding or opacity of the lens is not evident to the casual observer. It is only in the advanced stage of cataract that the opacity gives a grayish appearance instead of the blackness and brilliance of the pupil, the central dark dot.

No particular remedy or treatment, other than survery, will cure, remove, dissolve, or prevent development of cataract.

A good many men and women past forty-five have cataracts and don't know it. In many such cases their oculists know it but wisely refrain from telling them first what the slight trouble with their eyesight is. In some cases the opacity remains more or less stationary for many years and the haze is limited to the periphery of the lens, leaving the central part clear enough for satisfactory vision with properly fitted glasses.

A good many poor souls who know they have cataract are putting up with great limitation of useful vision not because they have cataracts but just because they are ignorant of what oculist can do for them, or they are too obstinate to undergo proper treatment, that is to say, removal of the old clouded or opaque lens or lenses from their eye or eyes.

An accountant, age 60, who recently had cataracts removed from both eyes describes his experience.

5-4-56. Left hospital room at 9:30 a.m. for operating room. Cataract removed from left eye, which had been sightless for five years, and was returned to room at 9:14 a.m.—45 minutes, which included time to prepare for surgery. Actual operation took about 20 minutes. I was permitted to sit up in bed the same afternoon. Right eye not covered by bandage.

5-11-56, one week later, cataract removed from right eye, which required about same time. Thereafter, both eyes covered with bandage for 2½ days. Then left-eye bandage removed and temporary cataract eyeglass enabled me to get about the hospital.

Bandage removed from right eye 6 days after opearation. Left hospital 15 days after first operation (on left eye), at which time both eyes were free from bandages. No pain whatever at any time during operations or afterward. Conversed with surgeon during both operations and knew what was taking place. Stitches removed in doctor's office three weeks after each operation. This was perfectly painless too.

6-11-56, just a month after last operation (right eye), I was given temporary cataract glasses. With my final glasses, I now (7-29-56) have 20-17 vision in left eye, 20-20 in right eye. I read fine print as readily as I could before I developed cataracts.

Two months after leaving hospital the doctor gave me permission to drive car. Colors of grass, flowers seem more vivid and beautiful than ever.

Now according to some readers I, Brady, am not qualified to give advice about childbirth because I have never experienced the pangs, throes, or whatever. By similar logic, I am not qualified to give advice about cataracts. Neither is the surgeon who removed the accountant's cataracts, nor any of the thousands of ophthalmic surgeons who successfully restore useful vision to the blind or nearly blind from day to day.

Asks Employers to Use State Employment Office

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

This is a letter to all you employers that seek your employes through employment agencies.

We have an employment bureau right here, operated by the state, and before they send any girl out on a job, they give her tests, such as typing, spelling, etc. And the best part of all, it's free.

I don't know why it is, but all the good jobs are tied up by privately operated agencies. Do you get a percentage of our pay, too? They get half of the first month's wages and half of that down as soon as you are placed. To get any kind of a job at all, one needs at least $40 to put down.

So come on, you personnel managers, give us girls a break and use the want ads or the state for means of hiring.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Why Not Join Golden Pen League?

Teenagers, if you want an ideal project for your clubs and church societies, then try Dr. Waugh's unique suggestion. And you members of men's service clubs and women's bridge clubs can likewise join. Most of us are guilty of Benjamin Franklin's indictment about "Idle silences." Let's learn to cheer up people with spoken praise.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Many years ago he was teaching at Beloit College in Wisconsin. And to give his psychology students a practical project, he launched what he termed the League of Golden Pen.

"I want you to write one letter per week to somebody not normally on your mailing list," Dr. Waugh explained.

"And in this letter, extend condolence or a compliment or a cheery bit of praise to encourage the morale of the recipient of your letter.

"You can address your missive to a stranger who has been mentioned in the newspaper as having done something good or who has suffered some loss, as of a loved one.

"But when you write such a letter of cheer, you will thus be putting the Golden Rule into effective daily action.

"As a result, the words that flow from your pen will be golden in their social significance, so we shall call this new club the League of the Golden Pen."

YOUTH PROJECTS

Many of you teenagers can profitably adopt Dr. Waugh's idea and make it a part of your regular club projects.

* * *

Thus, Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs, Scout Troops and Camp Fire Girl Organizations, can very effectively Start Leagues of the Golden Pen.

* * *

But so can Sunday school classes of adults, plus the young people's societies of all churches.

Even you Bridge and Canasta clubbers might profitably make it a rule that nobody could sit down to an afternoon of cards until she had first penned a brief note of praise or sympathy and encouragement to somebody in the town.

You ladies will then find that your consciences will be far clearer so you can enjoy your card game much more when you see a stack of such letters ready to be dropped in the corner mail box.

Abraham Lincoln said he hoped that his biographers could state of him that he planted roses where thistles grew before.

* * *

That is a wonderful aim for everybody. And the average person really aspires to do so.

But we procrastinate. We delay. We fail to verbalize our praise until our loved ones and neighbors may suddenly be stricken down by illness or an auto wreck.

* * *

Then we shed tears of anguish and wish we had told them how much we appreciated their good deeds and friendship.

* * *

It's too late, though we send an extra large floral piece to the funeral.

So let's give our friends and even the deserving stranger their verbal bouquets via a letter of praise or an orally phrased compliment.

FRANKLIN'S WARNING

"As we must account for every idle word," said wise old Benjamin Franklin, "so we must for every idle silence."

Well, most of us are guilty of idle silences. We don't congratulate the soloist at church. And few people ever commend the ushers.

The faithful church treasurer freely donates long hours every week keeping the church books and making out deposit slips for the weekly collections, yet how many people ever thank him for his vital service?

We good people often let our neighbors down by our idle silences! It isn't angry words and nasty gossip that condemn most of us, but just our idle silences!

So join Dr. Waugh's wonderful League of the Golden Pen. Write such a letter at least once per week.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Steam Road Locomotive Founded Automobile Age

WASHINGTON — Chugging, smoke-erupting machines of strange invention, ancestors of both the automobile and the locomotive, founded the "horseless-carriage" age more than a century and a half ago.

Long before that, men had dreamed of some form of land conveyance not pulled by animals. Sails were tried, and even a windmill-powered wagon in 1478; Leonardo da Vinci proposed a spring-wind carriage, and Isaac Newton designed one pushed by a steam jet.

But it was a French military engineer named Nicholas Cugnot who built a wagon that ran, the National Geographic Society says. In 1770, he produced a steam-powered artillery carrier — the first successful mechanically propelled vehicle in history.

NOT ENOUGH STEAM

Cugnot's cart, with three wooden wheels and a huge copper boiler suspended out in front, whizzed along at a theoretical 2¼ miles an hour. After 15 minutes, however, it would run out of steam. One day it upset in a Paris street and caused a panic. Never used to carry guns, it still exists in a Paris Museum.

In 1803, a steam carriage ran in the streets of London. With wheels more than 10 feet high, it was patented by Richard Trevithick and Andrew Vivian. An earlier model, the partners noted for history, "sank into the road." Another burned up.

Two years later, in Philadelphia, the inventor Oliver Evans put a steam-powered dredge on wheels to take it to the Schuylkill River for launching. He named his weird contraption in Greek, Orukter Amphibolos, the "Amphibious Digger." To get enough money to pay off his workmen, he exhibited it "moving around Centre Square" for several days while he collected 25-cent contributions from spectators.

Evans, pioneer in the use of high-pressure steam, thus became the first American to build a self-powered vehicle that moved on a road. He was far from the last. For a century, the steam car led the field.

RED FLAG LAW

England had steam passenger coaches running on regular schedules until outrageous tolls — and a law that required a man on horseback to ride ahead waving a red flag — forced them out of business.

* * *

In New York, Richard Dudgeon built a ten-passenger road locomotive in 1868. Ten years later steam carriages set out from Green Bay toward Madison, Wisconsin, in the first automobile race. The winner took a week to cover the 210-mile course; it averaged six m.p.h.

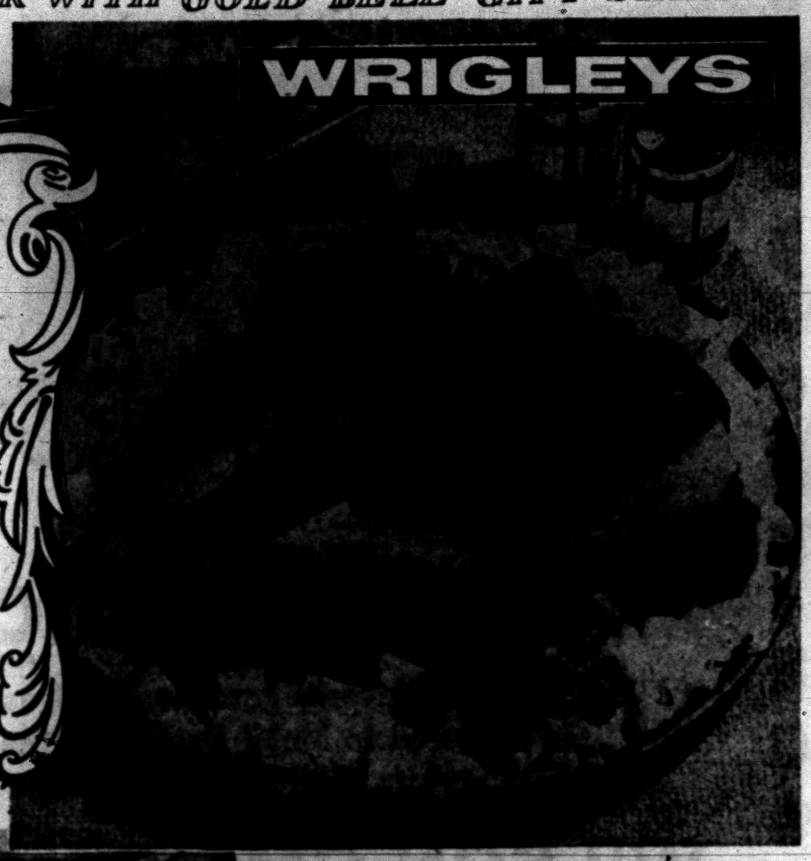

In 1886, Ransom E. Olds produced a coal-fired steam tricycle in Lansing, Michigan (and went on to build his "Merry Oldsmobiles"). Even in 1902 more than half the motor vehicles registered in New York State were steam driven, and it was a Stanley Steamer that held the world's land-speed record from 1906 to 1921 — 121.57 m.p.h. at Daytona Beach.

By the zenith of the steam car, the gasoline buggy had long since been born. Etienne Lenoir successfully ran a gas wagon in France in 1863, when Abraham Lincoln was in the White House.

Watered Gas Catches Teenage Robbers

WENONA, Ill., (AP)—Watered gasoline enabled Sheriff James Evans to capture two youths who had been feeding their old model car on a farmer's gasoline supply for several months.

Cyril Senninger reported the thefts, and Deputy Kenneth Kenyon suggested Senninger add five gallons of water to three gallons of gasoline in the tank used to supply fuel for farm machinery.

The youths made their usual appearance, helped themselves but got only a mile away from the farm on the mixture.

Have a Nice Day

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Things looked pretty dark to the night shift at police headquarters. Chief Ray Castle found this memo on his deck in the morning: "Ray, the radio in the police car won't work. The lights in the men's restroom are out. Sewer on 34th Street stopped up. The town clock is seven minutes slow, and payday is past due 10 days."

Elvis Isn't Concerned With Draft Possibility

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD—"If Elvis Presley gets drafted," a gent was saying here in Pilltown-by-the-Sea, "they could used him as a one-man recruiting station for the WACS."

Elvis the Pelvis' number hasn't been called—but his cousin, Gene Smith, 22, the major domo in Elvis' setup here at the Beverly Wilshire, has just received his preliminary papers from the Memphis draft board where Elvis is also registered.

"Cunnel" Tom Parker, the colorful one-time carnival guy who's Elvis' manager, has talked it over with his 21-year-old client who's now starring at 20th Century-Fox in a picture called "The Reno Brothers," and they've reached a rather momentous decision.

"If Elvis was drafted, why naturally, he would go," asserted the good Cunnel Parker catergorically.

★ ★ ★

"Elvis says to me, 'If they want me, bring on that khaki'."

In other words, if you gotta go, you gotta go. And there'll be no uprising by Elvis' fans to overthrow the Pentagon. A rumor's been spreading like a . . . well, like an Elvis Presley song hit . . . that he's been drafted already and the phonecalls have been apouring in. But Gene also has sideburns. Maybe it was a case of mistaken haircuts.

ELVIS PRESLEY

"It won't hurt his career," declared the cunnel — he's a Louisiana Cunnel, suh, and he's also got a cunnelcy from Gov. Clement of Tennessee.

"No, suh," he added, "Look at Eddie Fisher. The army hepped HIM." He pronounced it "hepped" like good Southerners do. "And any way that Elvis can hep the army, he's very willin' to be of hep."

And with that the cunnel locked up his "office"— it was one of those tan attache cases and he'd brought it with him into the Beverly Hills Polo Lounge—and added:

★ ★ ★

"However, whey should they expedite his bein' drafted just because he's an artist?"

So far as is known they haven't. I don't know how you stand on Elvis, but at the studio they like every inch of his sideburns and say he hasn't been a bit troublesome.

"He just sets there on his chair," the cunnel said, "and he stares and he says, 'Wouldn't it be funny if I had a little snake I could put under everybody's chair and scare 'em?' He can't hep being comical like that."

I mentioned to the cunnel that I'd seen a beautiful little blond chorus gal at Ciro's whom Elvis has been dating.

"Do you think Elvis ever would go so far as to kiss one of these admirers?" I inquired of the cunnel.

★ ★ ★

"Well, suh," exclaimed the cunnel, candidly, "I'd say he'd be stupid if he didn't. And I don't think Elvis is stupid."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Garry Moore's comedy writers say that "Garry's due back soon, so we're busy preparing his funny ad libs" . . . When Katy Jurado arrived for her B'way show, "Best House in Naples," her old beau was waiting—David Schine . . . Julius LaRosa, who subbed for Sinatra at the Paramount, got an expensive gold watch from The Thin One . . . Christine Norden, the blond British beaut, is a hit in "Plain and Fancy" at the Westbury Theater.

CHRISTINE NORDEN

Rocky Graziano jokingly told a waiter: "Serve me somethin' with blue gravy — I gotta wear this shirt on TV" . . . Al Bernie introduced goateed musician Mitch Miller as "the man from Schweppes — with music" . . . Eddie Fisher's fan clubs gave him a gold rattle for the baby.

Joan Blondell's daughter, 17, entered the Professional Children's School . . . Samuel Goldwyn, vacationing on the Riviera, saw a girl he thought would be a great new face in films—and found out it was Simone Simon.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

Many of the new cars come in a wide combination of colors. However, black and blue is reserved for pedestrians.—Gene Lother, Emporia Gazette.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Paul Hartman wishes that his wife would wear her skirts a little longer—about a year longer.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Glasses have a great effect on the vision—especially when they've been refilled too often."—Stan Berg.

New Ways for Navajos at Indian School

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A shy, 14-year-old Navajo Indian girl today steps through the doorway of a classroom for the first time—and entered a strange new life.

The first day of school brought confusing new sights and sounds to Bab Natahane, who has spent most of her life tending sheep on the Navajo Indian reservation, 300 miles from Phoenix.

When she left the family's hogan her mother told her:

"Work hard, study hard. Learn the white man's way."

* * *

Bab had never talked on a telephone, never seen a streetcar, never read a book.

Yet in five years the white teachers of the government's Phoenix Indian School will try to introduce Bab to a world which is as alien to the windblown Navajo rangelands as her gutteral language is to the ears of telephone operators, motormen and storekeepers.

* * *

The trip began last week at Shiprock, N.M., where Bab was put on a bus for the longest journey of her life. In the space of a few days she ate her first meal in a cafeteria, got her first nightgown and learned how to make her bed.

She lives in a big—but crowded—dormitory with 75 other Indian girls, and if they want to know about the white man's way of living, they can ask their supervisor, Miss May Manygoats, a Navajo Indian who began school a few years ago just like Bab.

Even with Miss Manygoats Bab is shy, lowering her eyes when she talks, and answering by nodding her head.

* * *

But as Bab and her schoolmates grow up into the new society, they will adopt its ways.

Bab's long bralds will be cut off and replaced by a stylish bob. Her long velveteen skirt will be exchanged for a bright print. And she'll begin wearing lipstick.

Meanwhile, the girls who now can bake bread will learn to use a glass coffeemaker. The boys who can drive a mule will learn to repair an engine.

* * *

But progress sometimes moves in fits and starts.

Agnes Goodluck, a beautiful 16-year-old Navajo who learned how to read while recovering from tuberculosis, borrowed the English classic novel "Ivanhoe" from the library last week.

At the same time she was looking up the identity of a man named "Shepilov." When she found he was the Russian foreign minister, she had to ask the librarian to explain just what a foreign minister does.

The Indian Service finds many of its graduates successful as nurses, ranchers, clerks, laborers, printers, mechanics and college students.

* * *

One girl works in a Reno, Nev., gambling house as a shill—someone who gambles with the boss' money to make the place look busy—and she is described as a "good employe."

But the United States Indian Service doesn't comment on the progress of another graduate, who is reported to be plying his trade as a "cattle rustler on reservation."

Labor in West Germany is demanding a cut in working hours to 40 a week.

West Faced With Finding Out What Nasser Wants

(This week a five-man committee representing the world's great powers went to call on a man the world had not even heard of until three years ago—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt. The committee prepared a plan for international control of the Suez Canal drawn up in London. This is a high point in the short public life of Nasser, who defiantly seized, or "nationalized," the canal July 26. What will Nasser do next? What does he want? This article is the first of three giving all the known answers, many of them in Nasser's own words.)

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

LONDON (INS) — Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies has two tasks in his Suez negotiations with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

* * *

The immediate one is to persuade Nasser to accept international operation of the Suez Canal.

The second, and perhaps even more significant, is the task of trying to "smoke out" the real ambitions and objectives of Nasser on a far broader scale.

Who is Nasser? What are his ambitions?

* * *

At 38, Nasser is a lifelong revolutionary, a man who dreamed of and still seeks an all-powerful Arabia free of what he calls Western "exploitation" and with an Egypt-for-the-Egyptians as the core.

On the Suez Canal he stated his ambition and his goal plainly in his order of nationalization July 26: Egyptian labor built and died for the canal; it is Egyptian and Egyptian-owned, and "the Suez Canal Co., sitting in Paris, is an usurping company."

To many in the West, Nasser is a swashbuckling villain who had better be slapped down early than late. French Premier Guy Mollet called him an "apprentice dictator." British Prime Minister Anthony Eden warned he has seized the means of power to impoverish every Englishman.

FIRST HERO IN 1,200 YEARS

To many in the Middle East this man who led the revolt which ousted King Farouk in 1952 is the first true Arab hero in more than 12 centuries, ever since Charles Martel, The Hammer, of France, beat back the Moors less than 200 miles from Paris in 732.

To many "East of Suez" he appears as the logical and legitimate product of the great postwar crusade to rid Asia and Africa of the last remnants of 19th-century colonialism. This view seems to be that of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India.

Nasser himself appears to share the Nehru viewpoint. In his book, "The Philosophy of the Revolution," the Egyptian president explains carefully he considers himself the instrument of aroused Arab and Egyptian nationalism.

* * *

This book was written after Nasser had risen to power. It is quite calm in tone, but its ideas are explosive.

In his book Nasser sets forth his ambitions for the Arab world. He rants at Egypt's "enemies." He boasts of Arab strength, existing and potential. And he tells of the "tearing grief" he feels even today when he re-reads the history of Egyptian suffering under foreign rule centuries ago.

Nasser wrote he believes he and many other Egyptians were born revolutionaries, that the seeds of revolt "were implanted in us when we were born, and that they were a hope concealed in our subconsciousness, put there by the generation before us."

SHOUTING IN SCHOOLDAYS

"In those earlier days," he wrote, "I led demonstrations in the Nahda Secondary School, and I shouted from my heart for completed independence, and many others behind me shouted, too."

"Our life during that period," said Nasser, "was like a thrilling detective story. We had dark secrets and passwords. We lurked in the shadows; we had caches of pistols and hand-grenades, and firing bullets was our cherished hope."

Then came a climactic night of terror and gunplay.

"We had planned a course of action and decided that a certain man should cease to exist," wrote Nasser. "We studied his movements and habits before carrying out our plan, which was perfected in all respects. The plan was to shoot him by night on his way home. An execution squad was appointed to do the shooting . . . "

Nasser was in the squad. The man was shot down.

"I started the motor of my car and drove away from the scene of our carefully planned 'positive action,'" Nasser continued. "But suddenly there rang in my ears the sounds of screaming and wailing. I heard a woman crying, a child terrified, and a continuous frightened call for help."

* * *

All night Nasser lay awake, hearing the cries and the calls. All night he worried about what he had done. By morning he had decided assassination was not the way to take "positive action."

The lesson of that night apparently was learned well.

The revolt by which Nasser and his followers seized power in Egypt July 23, 1952, was remarkably bloodless.

Navy's Radio Telescopes 'Tune In on Mars' Signals

WASHINGTON (INS)—Navy scientists last night turned in a giant radio "ear" on Mars as the red planet swung near its closest point to earth in 32 years.

* * *

They hoped to pick up some weak radio signals from the planet during nighttime monitorings using astronomy's newest tool—radio telescopes.

On the basis of these radio signals—if detected—Physicists J. Edwin Sees and Russell M. Sloanaker indicated they may be able to determine Martian temperature and the planet's possible surface composition.

This in turn could help clear up questions that have tantalized astronomers, such as: Do conditions exist for Martian life? What about the "red and green" seasons? And the alleged polar caps and canals?

CLOSEST THURSDAY

At midnight Thursday, Mars will be some 35,120,000 miles from earth—closest since 1924.

Since that last approach, scientists have learned it is possible to record radio radiation from celestial bodies in outer space, using giant dish-shaped antenna, sensitive electronic recording apparatus and precise radio receivers.

These instruments are radio telescopes. They let scientists probe outer reaches of the universe previously hidden by dust clouds from the most powerful optical telescopes.

* * *

Sloanaker, using the giant 50-foot radio telescope at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, detected radio waves from the planet Venus early in June.

These weak signals from the earth's sister planet were picked up when Venus came within 27 million miles of earth.

Based on radio radiation data, Sloanaker and his associates, Cornell H. Mayer and Timothy P. McCullough, were able to estimate Venus' temperature at roughly 400 degrees Fahrenheit.

WEAKER SIGNALS

About Mars, Sloanaker said: "Based on Mars' size and distance from us in comparison to Venus, we would expect its signals to be one-sixth that of Venus. Whether we will be able to pick this up is another question."

To increase detection chances to the maxium, Navy scientists are manning the radio telescope from dusk until dawn this week. If nothing is detected, they will switch wave lengths in hopes of picking up radio signals as Mars begins its swing away from earth.

Amateur viewers can spot the reddish planet low in the southern sky after 9 or 10 p.m. this week.

Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. Adrian C. Ish (left) of Dover road and Mrs. Emerson Gordon of Milford have their suitcases lined up waiting to be packed. They are two who have carefully checked costumes and accessories in preparation for the trip with The Pontiac Press Theater Special. The group leaves Monday morning for a week of excitement in New York.

All Aboard The Press Theater Special!

Pack Up for Manhattan

So, you're one of those lucky members of The Pontiac Press Theater Special? You're all set for that fascinating week beginning Monday.

* * *

Maybe you've packed and unpacked either in eager anticipation of the journey, or because you just weren't sure of what to take.

We thought we might be able to give a few suggestions if you're one who is in a quandary.

You are going to be doing a lot of walking, so don't go easy on these comfortable shoes.

* * *

Your basic suit which can be "dressed up or down" is also most important. During the day casual accessories can be worn with the suit to take you anywhere you want to go.

THEATER ATTIRE

You'll be doing the theaters, so you'll want a change from the suit. Any after-five dress or a dressy suit will do.

Those of you who have theater coats or stoles will find ample use for them at dinner and the theater. This doesn't mean you're expected to wear one — your fall coat will do, too.

* * *

L. James Binder, assistant city editor of The Pontiac Press, will be accompanying you, as will John Riley, promotion manager.

They tell us that they are taking plenty of casual clothes along, such as slacks and sport jackets, and two business suits. They'll leave their formal attire at home.

But gals, if you bought any of those wonderful party dresses (cocktail length) this fall, you're going to feel elegant when you go out along Broadway in the evening.

HATS SUGGESTED

Hats are important for the completed costume look but you'll find many places in New York where they're not essential. However, it's always best to be on the safe side, and your suitcases or hat boxes will accommodate two of the smaller hats.

Whatever you do, don't forget your gloves. Short ones are best for daytime.

But don't overload those suitcases. Plan carefully just what changes you will need. You certainly won't enjoy packing and unpacking clothing you never wear.

Our best to you. Have a wonderful time. Take in all the sights and then come back and tell us all about it.

Those transition cottons will be good for hot fall days. Mary Ellen Wait of Ogemaw road and Brenda Wells of Washington street got together to decide what they should take on the trip to New York.

What hats to take posed no problem for Mrs. Zell Miller of North Johnson avenue. She packed gloves in her suitcase, too. Short gloves are best for day, but in the evening you'll feel glamorous in the long, elbow-length type.

Hawaiian Seeking Re-election

GOP Sole Delegate to Congress Trying for Second Terms

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Betty Farrington, a Republican running for re-election as Hawaii's sole delegate to Congress, will take to the air in campaigning her area—a vast stretch of eight main islands with a population of 500,000.

A candidate for the only representative of the people in Hawaii to Congress faces a most strenuous campaign, but politicking in the islands is different from anywhere else.

"During the campaigns the people have kind of a good time, a happy time," says Margaret Turner, secretary to Mrs. Farrington and to her husband, Joseph Rider Farrington, delegate from 1943 until his death in June 1954.

Mrs. Farrington was chosen at a special election in July 1954 to complete her husband's unexpired term and was re-elected in the November 1954 general elections.

HARD WORKER

No one, says Miss Turner, works harder than handsome Betty Farrington. "She really runs two jobs," the secretary said.

"When she was the wife, she did all of her husband's entertaining. Now she's a delegate to Congress and has all her complicated legislative work to do, as well as the entertaining."

Mrs. Farrington's main hostessing job is centered in Honolulu, where her home, magnificently situated atop a hill, is always open to a great many visitors of note, including members of Congress. In Washington, where the delegate also maintains a beautiful home, she has had little time for entertaining on such a scale.

* * *

For six years Mrs. Farrington served as president of the National Federation of Republican Women and spent much time touring about the country. Later she was editor of the federations Washington News Letter, a monthly publication.

Group Headed by Mrs. Clifton

Mrs. Thomas Clifton was elected president of the Fashion Your Figure Club when the group met Thursday evening in Adah Shelly Library. Mrs. Gordon Flattley presided during the meeting.

* * *

Others elected to serve are Mrs. William Tippen, vice president; Mrs. Frank Novotney, treasurer; Mrs. George Stafford, treasurer; Mrs. Lawrence Nichols, weight recorder; Mrs. Carl Rehm, scales manager, and Mrs. Howard Hicks, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Novotney won both the weekly trophy and the monthly prize for losing the most weight.

* * *

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Edward Davis, Mrs. Ronald Capadagli, Mrs. Donald Kennedy and Mrs. Robert Hopkins.

This is how they will be dressed when they leave Monday for New York City on The Pontiac Press Theater Special. Mrs. Earl Long (left) chose a suit for the ride, while Mrs. Maude Foss of West Huron street will board train wearing a tunic-type dress.

Sun-Dried Skin Needs Lubricating

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What shall we do about your skin? It no doubt has been dried out by the hot rays of the summer sun and will gladly soak up a little extra lubrication.

* * *

Try one of the fine oils or a hormone cream or oil and find time to let it soak in longer than usual each day. This will be a great help in bringing your epidermis back to normal.

The pores may have become enlarged a bit during the hot season. You might like to use one of the facial packs on the market, or you may want to make one yourself.

If you wish to make a clay pack, which is said to refine the skin, mix equal parts of peroxide and witch hazel and add to this one-fourth pound of Fuller's Earth. Add enough liquid to make the mixture smooth and easy to apply to the face.

* * *

Let it dry on the face and remove later with water. Ice cubes wrapped in a soft cloth and then patted over the face is also a picker-upper routine for the complexion.

HARD ON SKIN

Lots of bright sunlight may have been good for your soul and your health but it was probably hard on your skin.

* * *

It is too bad we cannot shed our skin like a snake each year. In that way we could have our chic suntan in the summer and quickly return to the lighter coloring which goes best with winter clothing.

The dark brown skin which was so attractive with whites and pastels will not look so well against the darker shades of greens and reds or with black. Suntan seems to belong with summer duds rather than with the elegance of winter wear.

There are bleaching creams on the market, but I do not think they speed the process of fading very much. It usually just takes time. However you might try one.

* * *

You might also use diluted lemon juice which is a mild bleach. This is irritating, however, to sensitive skins and is somewhat drying too.

TO LOSE WEIGHT

Perhaps as part of your reconditioning for fall clothes you would like to lose from 5 to 10 pounds quickly. If so, my 9-Day Reducing Diet gives you a loss of that sort in nine days time. If you would like to have that booklet send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Marjie Courtney Wears Blue Sheath for Wedding

First Methodist Church in Royal Oak was the setting for the Saturday evening ceremony uniting in marriage Marjie Courtney and Richard R. McVicker.

The Rev. Horace Thurston read the service before the altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and candelabra.

Marjie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Ray Courtney of Harper street. Richard's parents are the John R. McVickers of Royal Oak.

The bride chose a street-length sheath dress of pale blue brocade with a matching nylon overskirt and matching accessories for her wedding. She carried a colonial bouquet of white asters and blue daisies centered with white gardenias.

A lavender silk sheath dress with matching nylon overskirt and shell pink accessories was worn by Mrs. Jack C. Hays for her duties as matron of honor. Her bouquet was composed of lavender asters and pink daisies.

ASSISTS BROTHER

Paul McVicker served his brother as best man.

Mrs. Courtney wore a gray voile dress over pink taffeta with matching pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink orchids.

black accessories was the choice of Mrs. McVicker. Completing her costume was a corsage of green orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Eastman of Royal Oak, uncle and aunt of the bride, entertained in their home at a family dinner immediately following the wedding ceremony.

Assisting were Mrs. R. W. Courtney of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Donald C. Cabbach of Highland Park and Mrs. Harold Trufont of Oak Park.

The new orlon satin belies its luxury appearance because it can be laundered by hand in warm soapy or detergent suds and rinses. It's best washed and ironed on the wrong side.

For school, saucy and pert, this simple hairdo is easy to comb into place in a jiffy.

Opera pumps are back stronger than ever this fall. The smarter ones, like spectators, are specialized for the costume and the occasion. Some rely simply on a newness of silhouette and careful shaping for their distinction.

Now the Kids Go to School in Taxicabs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Remember when school children were lucky if they only had to walk five miles to school?

Today's modern youngsters, at least in the Louisville area, will be riding cabs to their classes this year.

* * *

The school-taxi system will work like this: A number of local cab companies will start operating what they call "cab pools" to schools. The firms say the system will allow as many as five children to ride for the fare of one.

* * *

Under the system, one mother assumes the responsibility of organizing the cab pool for her and her neighbor's children. She contracts for the cab and arranges for it to call for the children daily at the home and the school.

Cost to pool members depends upon the distance to be driven.

Husbands Shower Columnist With Complaints

Women's Faults Are Legion -- Say the Men

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Not long ago, on a day of unusual kindliness and goodwill in this corner, we stated that there were only three kinds of women to avoid: Those who brag, those who nag and those who leave uncapped their toothpaste tubes.

* * *

The men of America have been mailing in new and nastier ideas ever since.

"What do you mean, women who brag are no good?" writes one of the disgruntled in Pittsburgh. "I'd give my right hand to have a wife who brags. It's those humble girls you got to look out for. I was married to one for two years, and I know what I'm beefing about.

"You should get up in the morning and look at a pair of big, sad eyes reproaching you—not for any special reason, but just because you're a man and she's a wife. It gets you in the end.

* * *

"When you're courting you feel like a big guy, looking at those eyes, but when you're married, you feel like a heel.

PRIDE PREFERRED

"I'd rather have a girl who knows she's good and says so. That's the kind you can respect and have fun with. I'm now married to one, and I should know. It's wonderful!"

From Los Angeles came a protest that "bragging and nagging and toothpaste have nothing to do with the worth of womanhood." It's the "basic lack of affection" that makes the wives of today "no d . . . good."

This cynic reports that in his opinion "we are living in a generation of frigid females who care more about stray dogs than about their husbands."

* * *

"I think it must have been the war," he writes, "that made woman suddenly batten down the hatches on her emotions and live for herself. Sympathy and money are what she wants from a man." And "she never gives any of it back."

* * *

Around the Detroit area, the men don't seem to mind so much if a wife doesn't put the cap back on her toothpaste; but there are other pre-bedtime rituals which hurt the males. Sometimes literally.

PIERCING CURLERS

"All I can say is they ought to bring back the old stocking cap," writes Disillusioned and Distressed. "When my wife puts her hair up in those clips every night I can hardly bear to look at her, much less sleep next to her. One false move in your sleep or hers, and you get your eye pierced with metal.

"It's medieval torture."

* * *

There are all manner of men who object likewise to the creams and lotions a woman puts on her face at night. One male sums it up:

"What's the matter with leaving the cap off the toothpaste? That's merely forgetful. But leaving the grease on the face, ma'am? That's an insult to a husband.

"Ever since my wife passed 30, she's been oiling up her face every night so she can keep her so-called schoolgirl complexion.

* * *

"I haven't noticed a bit of change in her face, but you should see what it's doing to the pillow covers and my love and devotion. They're both falling apart!"

Other complaints against women, which men insist should be taken into consideration before the nag and brag and toothpaste topping, include "loss of interest in the home," "fickleness," "refusal to face reality" and "inability to keep their stocking seams straight."

But the most pathetic letter of all—which indicates why women go gray—comes from a man in New York.

"The greatest thing that could happen to my wife would be just once leaving the cap off the toothpaste," he writes. "But no—not her. She never does anything wrong.

"She is so perfect, life is miserable."

4 Other Records Smashed

Navy Jet Hits 1,015 M. P. H. in Thompson Trophy Race

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Five new records set at the National Aircraft Show here pointed dramatically to the advances in the aviation industry and the new jet-strength of the armed forces.

* * *

The show was climaxed yesterday with the announcement that a Navy supersonic fighter plane — the Chance Vought FU Crusader — has set a National speed record of 1,015.428 m.p.h. in winning the Thompson Trophy Event.

The jet plane and the pilot who flew it to a record, Cmdr. Robert W. "Duke" Windsor, drew plaudits from the 41,070 air show spectators with a streaking demonstration of the plane's speed and maneuverability.

Windsor set the record Aug. 21 in a timed flight over China Lake, Calif., pushing the Crusader to 1½ times the speed of sound. He broke the former American record of 822.135 posted Aug. 20, 1955, by Air Force Col. Horace A. Hanes, flying an F100 Super Sabre.

* * *

However, Windsor's mark still is short of the official world's record of 1,132 m.p.h. of a British Fairey Delta, and is far below the unofficial speeds of other U.S. planes.

The new Air Force plane, F104 Starfighter which also made its public debut at the air show, reportedly has flown at 1,400 m.p.h. and American research planes have been timed up to 1,900 m.p.h.

There were many firsts in the show, where 27 new airplanes and missiles were shown to the public for the first time.

* * *

Probably the major addition was three new trophy events, the North American, McDonnell and Douglas, all staged by Navy pilots racing at near supersonic speeds from the carrier Shangri-La off the West Coast.

Fire Destroys Hotel at Lake Michigan Resort

UNION PIER (INS)—Fire of undetermined cause destroyed the Biltmore Hotel in Union Pier yesterday, causing damage estimated at $25,000.

The resort hotel was booked solid but few guests were inside at the time and no one was injured.

Says Michigan Parks Deficient

AAA Club Report Raps State for Not Expanding Facilities Fast Enough

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's parks are "falling apart" because the state is not spending enough money on them, the general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan said yesterday.

* * *

E. S. Matheson said his observation comes from a survey of the Auto Club's 350,000 Michigan members.

Michigan, Matheson said, is not acquiring land for state parks fast enough and is not spending enough on its 59 parks.

"Unless something is done Michigan's 600-million-dollar-a-year tourist industry will be affected," he said.

"MANY INADEQUATE"

"Parking and picnic areas, electrical facilities, camp sites and beach development are inadequate in many parks," said Matheson.

He said in contrast, California spends 74.3 cents per park visitor on capital outlay, operation and maintenance of state parks while Michigan spends 13.3 cents. New York spends 44 cents and Florida 42, he said.

"The need is acute for acquiring land for the future," said Matheson. "Desirable recreation sites on the Great Lakes, streams and inland lakes are being swallowed up by development which prevents public use," he said.

In recent demonstrations across Denmark against the Parliament's decision to end strikes and lockouts affecting 120,000 workers, several were killed or wounded, Copenhagen reports.

Detroiter Dies in Fall Off Canada Mountain

VANCOUVER, B. C. (INS) — A 23-year-old Detroiter plunged 100 feet to his death Sunday while mountain climbing in Canada near Rainbow Falls, B. C.

He was James Dubpernell, who recently went to Seattle to teach school and study at the University of Washington.

Jim Martini, who was with Dubpernell, said Dubpernell tried to jump to a ledge. He missed and dropped 100 feet to rocks below.

Los Angeles Marking 175th Birthday Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Today is the 175th anniversary of the founding of the City of Los Angeles.

A Mexican-type fiesta will be held tonight at the old plaza, the birthplace of the city. At the nearby Union Station, an old fashioned train carrying costumed passengers will arrive in a re-enactment of the first train arrival in Los Angeles, Sept. 6, 1876.

Honeymoon in North After Sept. 1 Rite

WALLED LAKE — The Rev. O. A. Gerken performed the ceremony which united Sharon Huebler and Gerald Tillman in marriage Saturday night. Over 300 guests witnessed the double ring ceremony in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church.

The bridal gown was white nylon net over satin. The deep sweetheart neckline and abbreviated sleeves were of val lace and the lace was also repeated on the skirt which had a pleated floor-length flounce.

Her fingertip net veil was attached to a pearl and sequin trimmed crown. She wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls and carried a cascade arrangement of roses, mums, and stephanotis.

Preceding Sharon to the altar were Mrs. George Townsend, her sister, as matron of honor and two other sisters, Sheila and Sue Huebler, and Mrs. Kenneth Pardon as bridesmaids. Their bouffant dresses were of frosted white nylon over pink, orchid, blue and yellow satin. Carnations matching the satin of their gowns were attached to white eyelet clutch bags and they wore pearls which were the gift of the bride. White picture hats completed their costumes.

Sally Rodgers, as flower girl wore a gown of white nylon and a wreath of pink roses which matched those in her basket. Donald Tillman, the bridegroom's nephew, was ringbearer.

MRS. GERALD TILLMAN

George Townsend was the best man, and ushers were Howard Cox, Donald Tillman and Kenneth Pardon, all of Walled Lake.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Huebler of 7171 First St., Union Lake and the Edwin Tillmans of 2722 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake.

* * *

Mrs. Huebler chose a powder blue lace gown with white accessories and white roses to greet her guests at the reception which was held at the Dublin Community center. With her deeper blue lace gown Mrs. Tillman wore pink accessories and pink roses. Bridesmaids' bouquets surrounded the four tiered wedding cake on the buffet table and guests were seated at smaller tables arranged cabaret style.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Walled Lake High School and Gerald also attended Highland Park Junior College.

Sharon donned a beige cashmere suit with brown accessories for the honeymoon trip to northern Michigan after which the couple will be at home on Eddie street in Walled Lake.

Out of town guests were from Toronto, Chicago, St. Joseph, Alpena, Rogers City, Grand Rapids and Flint.

Apple Growers May 'Cash In'

State Men Advised to Extend Market Through U.S. This Year

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Michigan apple growers have been told to extend their market throughout the country this year to cash in on light crops predicted for east and west coast producers.

Holland Patterson, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Apple Commission recently told a state group of growers and market officials: " . . . There's no excuse for good apples to be sold as distress sales."

He called the situation "A challenge, but a golden opportunity."

Patterson addressed the group at St. Joseph, opening the Michigan "Happy Apple" fall promotion project.

Fred Burrows, executive vice president of the International Apple Assn., explained that the freeze which hit the northeast and northwest areas of the nation this spring will cut the apple crop to 96,000,000 bushels.

The shortage, a drop of 15,000,000 bushels, will be felt mostly in the west, he said.

"That's where you can really go to town if you're willing to work," Burrows declared.

"The biggest shortage will be felt in McIntosh and Delicious," he added.

District Marketing Agent Jack Bittner predicted Michigan will have its "best apple crop ever" this year.

50,000 View Peach Parade as Float Satirizes Festival

ROMEO — Bright sunshine and clear skies offered one of the summer's most perfect days for an estimated crowd of 50,000 to watch the giant floral parade of the Romeo Peach Festival on Romeo's Main street yesterday afternoon.

More than 30 floats competed for the three cash prizes. In addition, ten bands, a number of saddle clubs, veterans marching units, baton twirlers from Pontiac, and antique and sports cars. There were nearly 90 entries.

Top honors went to three local floats, two of which were winners in the morning children's parade, viewed by about 5,000.

An entry satirizing Romeo as "the heart of the fruit country" by depicting fruit trees lying dead and leafless on the ground with a woodsmen using his power saw and "the first peach queen" watching the devastation was the judges' first choice.

It was registered in the name of the Romeo Chowder and Marching Society.

Second place went to the First Congregational Church's float, that showed the birth of Congregationalism among the Pilgrims. Third place was won by the Appel, Ladtke and Ladd entry, showing how the "Peach Festival Spans Four Administrations" with children personifying past presidents Herbert Hoover, FDR, Truman and present Chief Executive Eisenhower.

Judges included John Merrifield of WWJ-TV, Robert W. Gaines, manager of Ford's Michigan proving ground, and Howard Carroll, candidate for Macomb County circuit judge.

Labor Day festival program opened at 10 a.m. with the children's parade featuring entries in four categories.

First place in the large float division was the Four Administration float.

Top in the small floats, "Hansel and Gretel" by the local Fineline Furniture store, and "St. George and the Dragon," with a knight in shining armor on horseback charging the dragon, 20-feet long and carried by 18 children of the community, was the "walking group" first place winner.

Tiny Penny Hanson used her own name for inspiration as a single entry, taking first prize for her "Henny Penny" characterization.

Children's parade judges were Richard Patterson of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. George Seiser of Hazel Park.

Activities closed the festival with a belated bang after an hour's wait by spectators at the Lion's community field for a spectacular fireworks display. It this year replaced the traditional "Mummers Parade." Wiring in the dark caused the delay.

Giovanelli Winner, Poirier Disgusted

NEW YORK (AP)—A little over a year ago, Gene Poirier was one of the brightest prospects in the welterweight division. Today the 24-year-old scrapper from Niagara Falls, N.Y., was thinking of quitting the ring.

"I may hang them up," said Poirier disgustedly last night after he lost his second straight bout wth Brooklyn's Danny Giovanelli. "The heat bothers me. I don't have any snap. I have to go easy at the beginning if I want to have anything left at the end."

The Korean Army veteran barely finished the telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night. He was staggered three times in the eighth round and was dropped just before the bell sounded in the tenth to end the fight.

Improve Diction With Recorder

Your youngester can actually raise his marks by taping his language studies on the family tape recorder.

If you've ever listened to the average person speak high school French you know how it differs from the pronounciation taught by the teacher.

But if you encourage a teenage student to tape his homework in any foreign language, the playback will point out mistakes in pronounciation dramatically.

It will enable the youngster to correct himself immediately instead of permitting the error to become habitual through repetition.

Since a good tape as well as a good tape recorder is needed to detect and correct speech deficiencies, it is advisable to buy only the best quality tape especially since the same tape can be used again and again for homework.

Another suggestion, from the makers of tape will help a student correct his grammar and diction in English.

Tape a child's telephone conversation with a contemporary if you notice him speaking in a slovenly manner.

A playback of his conversation sometimes brings a howl of momentary anguish, but it often results in permanent improvement.

Will 1956 Be the Year That Changes the World?

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astounding 64 page booklet analyzing famous world prophecies covering these times. It shows that four of the greatest prophecies could not come true until the present time. But now they can, and the years that change the world are at hand. Great dangers but still greater opportunities, confront forward looking people in 1956.

"The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

These strange methods were found in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

The 64 page booklet he is now offering free to the public gives guidance for those who wish to prepare themselves for the momentous days ahead. It gives details of what to expect, and when. Its title is "Beware of These Days!"

The book formerly sold for a dollar, but as long as the present supply lasts, it is offered free to readers of this notice. This liberal offer is made because he expects that many readers will later become interested in the entire system of mind power he learned in the Far East and which is now ready to be disclosed to the Western world.

For your free copy of the astonishing prophecies covering these momentous times, as revealed in this 64-page book, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. A-498 Los Angeles, 4, Calif. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard or in an envelope will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

A-Plant Safety Data Incomplete

State Study Group Says Criticism 'Premature' on Monroe Reactor

DETROIT (AP) — Criticism of the proposed Monroe atomic power plant has been termed "premature" by a Michigan study group, ordered to investigate the pilot electrical plant.

Charges that the plant would be "unsafe" stemmed from incomplete information and lack of understanding, the Michigan Atomic Energy Study Committee said Monday.

Reporting to Gov. Williams, the committee pointed out that the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) had only issued a construction permit, and had not yet given the go-ahead for operation of the plant.

All of the design data is not available immediately "in any new project of this magnitude and type" the committee said.

MUST PROVE SAFETY

"Prior to the issuance of an operating license," the committee said, "the Power Reactor Development Co. must satisfy and demonstrate to the AEC, related committees and state authorities that the operation of the reactors will not jeopardize the health and safety of the people of the state."

When the AEC's Safeguard Committee had stated that it was not satisfied with safety precautions on the 50 million dollar plant, various congressmen urged construction be halted.

The Power Reactor Development Co. said at that time that all details had not been presented to the AEC.

• • •

The committee said its investigation "has revealed nothing which would label the project as unsafe inasmuch as the Safeguard Committee only said in effect that there was insufficient information and data available to them at this time in order to pass on the adequacy of the safeguards."

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's population has increased 38 per cent since 1940, says the Detroit Board of Commerce. That's the biggest gain by any industrial state in the nation. Michigan now has an estimated 7,266,500 residents.

Many men claimed to be close to Babe Ruth. That was one of the engaging facets of the Big Bam's character. He made even casual acquaintances feel at home.

But among Babe's real buddies was Charley Schwefel, a big genial hotelman who passed away last week. Charley managed the German hotel in Scranton when Babe Ruth came roaring through on an exhibition tour.

Tigers Split With White Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Tigers teetered on the brink of the .500 mark momentarily yesterday.

Then they were rudely shoved back to the lower regions of the American League standings.

For the first time since June 16, Detroit had an equal won-loss record when they polished off the Chicago White Sox 11-8 in the opener of a double header.

But the White Sox ended it all by pushing Detroit back to a .496 average with 65 victories against 66 losses as they took the nightcap, 5-3.

The Tigers eliminated five Chicago pitchers with 15 hits in the first game, including home runs by Red Wilson, Ray Boone and Harvey Kuenn.

* * *

But the Labor Day crowd saw the White Sox rain down five homers—four in the second game by Larry Doby, Minnie Minoso, Fred Hatfield and Jim Riviera.

Kuenn got a grand total of six hits in 10 trips while Jim Small and Boone had five hits each. Boone drove in five runs while Small swatted in four.

Detroit leaped ahead in the second inning of the first game and scored in six various innings, the White Sox knocked Jim Bunning from the mound in the 5th. Virgil Trucks replaced him, was taken out in the sixth and Al Aber finished it. Jim Wilson took the loss for Chicago, his third in a row at the hands of Detroit.

* * *

Detroit was humbled in the second game by Bob Keegan, but he needed the relief help of southpaw Billy Pierce from the 7th on to do it.

Aging Steve Gromek was the loser. He was eliminated at the end of the first inning for his 6th loss against eight victories.

Detroit meets Chicago in a single night game tonight with Paul Foytack (11-11) meeting White Sox hurler Dick Donovan (9-7).

Kalamazoo College Junior Gives Hoad Tough Battle

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (INS)—Australia's burly Lew Hoad and America's winsome Shirley Fry led 15 seeded players today into the third round of the National Tennis Championships — a round which may produce the first upsets.

Hoad, who had to battle back from a first-set defeat yesterday to eliminate Leslie Dodson, unranked 19-year-old son of a Detroit policeman, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1, won the right to meet dangerous Ed Moylan in today's round at Forest Hills' ancient West Side Tennis club.

His teammate, Ken Rosewall, was to face America's third-ranking player, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif. Third-seeded Ham Richardson of Westfield, N. J., wound up with Bill Quillian of Seattle, conqueror of Davis Cupper Barry Mackay, as his fourth-day opponent and Philadelphia's Vic Seixas (4) faced Chile's No. 1 player, Luis Ayala.

Third-seeded Louis Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., drew probably the toughest assignment in the women's ranks, opposite Mexican star Rosa Maria Reyes.

* * *

Fifth-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia was to complete his second-round match with Johann Kupferburger of South Africa. Darkness halted play yesterday with Frazer leading, 6-3, 7-5, 6-8.

A holiday crow of 12,000 watched top-seeded Hoad, who needs this one for the first Australian-French-Wimbledon-U. S. grand slam since Don Budge's 1938 sweep, lost the deciding game of the first set on three straight service aces and a volley by Dodson.

Visibly angry with himself and determined not to give Dodson another game, the 21-year-old Davis Cup veteran then knuckled down to win 11 straight games and demoralize the Kalamazoo College Junior.

Duffield and Zannoth Three-Time Winners

Watkins Lake Yachting association enjoyed some good sailing over the Labor Day weekend. Two skippers turned in triple wins and another sailed a double.

Don Zannoth swept the Thistle class event, with three 1st places. Guy Duffield took all three races in the small boat class and Dave Green was a two-time winner in the Lightning class.

Karl Krietz had two seconds, Jim Parshall two thirds and a second with Lee Hunt getting a third on Labor Day in the Thistle races. Bob Newman finished second and Chuck Morris and Frank Fleck third in each small boat event. John Noble was first and second, Fred Brede had two seconds and a third, and Glenn Fries Jr., two thirds in the Lightning events.

Shanty Owner Speaks Up

Gold Cup Criticized

DETROIT (AP) — Seattle oilman W. T. Waggoner, owner of Shanty I, said yesterday he was through racing powerboats in Detroit if races are handled like the Gold Cup, last Saturday.

"The race was fouled up every way possible," said Waggoner.

"If I though the 1957 Gold Cup or any other Detroit race would be conducted like this one was, then they couldn't hire me to come back and race my boats," he said.

Waggoner, whose boat won the International Harmsworth race a week ago but placed in the top three in the Gold Cup, put the blame on the Detroit Yacht Club, which sponsored the Gold Cup.

* * *

"The Yacht Club as the sponsor is responsible for the conduct of the race and this one certainly was fouled up every way possible," he said. "I feel the American Power Boat Assn. should investigate the manner in which the Gold Cup was staged and see that immediate corrective steps are taken."

Waggoner said, "From start to finish the Gold Cup was very loosely conducted. Nobody seamed to know what they were doing. As an owner I repeatedly asked for information pertinent to the race and I could never get answers to my questions. There was lack of organization all around."

No winner yet has been declared for the Gold Cup. Miss Thriftway, a Seattle boat which was at first named winner, was said by the judges to have hit a buoy, destroying it. This disqualified Thriftway from the final heat, leaving Miss Pepsi of Detroit the winner.

But a protest by Thriftway's owner has sent the matter to the U. S. Inboard Racing Commission.

Sailboat Racer Sweeps Honors

George Smith Captures Dancer Trophy and Title Race at Lake Orion

George Smith made a sweep of boat racing honors at Lake Orion over the weekend by capturing the Dancer Trophy in Sunday and then winning the "Championship of Orion" race yesterday.

Smith, at the helm of "Jet 14" won two previous heats for the Dancer Trophy on preceding weeks. He won the third heat Sunday to clinch the trophy.

Woody Emling took second place in the race.

In the Labor Day championship for sailboats, Smith again took honors and again it was Woody Emling in a runnerup spot.

Two boats capsized during the races. John Taylor's boat went all the way over on Sunday and yesterday it was Elmer Hartwig's boat which capsized.

Bill Nettle, Mrs. Mehas Win Pine Lake Titles

Both men and women's club championships were settled yesterday at Pine Lake Country Club. Bill Nettle, veteran district linksman, won his 4th title and Mrs. C. P. Mehas captured the women's honors.

Nettle defeated Wally Wheeler 10-9 and was two-over-par for 27 holes of the scheduled 36-hole match.

Mrs. Mehas defeated Mrs. John Brandt 2 and 1.

Club junior title was also settled with Jim Hogan defeating Dick Taylor 2 and 1.

Johnson Wins Title

Current and three-time state amateur titlist Glenn Johnson has been one of the busiest of metropolitan area golfers. Last week he played in the National Amateur sectional qualifying test at Knollwood and Tam O'Shanter, then moved into the Motor City Open. Yesterday he won his home club's championship at Grosse Ile with a 4-3 win over Dr. Harvey Orth.

Yankees Claim Rizzuto Forewarned of Release

NEW YORK (AP)—The unconditional release which came "as a surprise" to Phil Rizzuto 10 days ago had been "explained" to the veteran shortstop ahead of time, the New York Yankees said today.

The release of the favored little guy, after nearly 16 seasons with the Yankees, brought the American League club criticism from some baseball writers and broadcasters.

In a 600-word press release, the ball club said "when it became evident moves might have to be made to maintain the club's position (in the pennant race), Rizzuto was consulted about published statements that he was considering leaving baseball for an announcer's position. He admitted such consideration and it was explained to him at that time that the club might need his place on the active list and if he was not to be available in the future it might become desirable to replace him on the active list.

"He stated he understood the situation and would accept any move necessary to help the club win."

Rizzuto since has turned down a job with the St. Louis Cardinals, who had claimed his contract, and now is a free agent. The Yankees said "this could terminate his salary," but that he will be paid through the end of the season. Any World Series share, assuming the Yankees win the pennant, is up to player vote.

Rizzuto was released Aug. 25, "Oldtimers Day" at Yankee Stadium, and the timing also has been criticized. The Yankees said it was necessary because a waiver on Enos Slaughter, the Kansas City outfielder the Yanks put on their active list in Rizzuto's place, "expired Saturday a.m., August 25th."

Modern Version of Rockne's System

Irish Plan 'Shock Troops'

Jerry Liska, Associated Press Midwest Sports Editor, is making an airplane tour of the Big Ten and Notre Dame's football camps. Following is his series previewing 1956 prospects.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's sophomore-studded football forces this season will present a modern-day version of Knute Rockne's "shock troop" system.

Coach Terry Brennan, starting his third Irish season, disclosed today he will tackle a rugged 10-game schedule with a two-platoon scheme in which he will alternate teams as a unit. "We'll try to get the 11 best players on the first team and the next 11 best on the second team and they will divide time as evenly as possible," said Brennan.

Brennan admitted the plan stems from the fact only three regulars return from the 1955 Irish and that his batch of good sophomores affords a chance to experiment on a wide scale.

"We may have as many as five or six sophomores on each one of the units," Brennan explained. "The first team may play 35 or so minutes of a game and the second team 25 or so.

* * *

"In this way, the new boys will learn together and get confidence together."

With the season three games old, the Irish collide successively with Michigan State and Oklahoma, who may battle it out for mythical national honors this fall. "Those will be two rough weekends, but for defensive preparations the order they come is okay," Brennan said.

* * *

Notre Dame makes its earliest start in history, Saturday night, Sept. 22, at Southern Methodist. Two weeks later, the Irish meet Indiana. Then follow Purdue, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Navy, Pittsburgh, North Carolina, Iowa and Southern California.

Brennan declined to evaluate his top candidates besides such certain starters as Hornung, Prendergast and Morse.

The 28-year-old Brennan did admit, however, that such sophs as Bob Wetoska, 215, from Minneapolis; Bronko Nagurski Jr., 212, International Falls, Minn.; Angelo Mosca, 230, Waltham, Mass.; Tom O'Brien, 217, Danielson, Conn.; and Al Ecuyer 195, New Orleans, are counted upon heavily in the depleted guard and tackle ranks.

O'Brien Shatters Own World Shot Put Mark

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Parry O'Brien, Herculean shot-putter, who completely shattered his own world record by more than a foot yesterday, is priming his arm for an assault on the distant 63-foot mark.

* * *

The former Southern California star, now in the Air Force, bettered the previous mark in three successive throws in a warmup meet for Olympic team members before 12,000 fans, culminating in a throw of 62 feet, 6⅝ inches.

His previous best was 61-4½.

"I hope to break this record some time this fall, and to be up to 63 feet by the time of the Games," O'Brien said after his record-shattering afternoon.

* * *

The Olympic record is 57 feet, 1½ inches, set by O'Brien at Helsinki in 1952.

In the 400-meter run, Jim Lea, of the Air Force, No. 2 man for the U.S. in that event, won in the time of 49.3 seconds, six-tenths of a second under the Olympic mark.

Al Oerter of Kansas threw the discus 181-11½ bettering the Olympic mark of 180-6½. At that, he barely nosed out O'Brien, who got off 181-7¾ throw.

Fortune Gordien, world record holder at 194-6, hurt his left knee on a warmup toss and did not compete for fear of complicating the injury.

* * *

Phil Conley, the No. 2 U.S. javelin thrower, got off a toss of 251-1, which exceeds the Olympic mark of 242-⅝. But Conley placed second to Franklin (Bud) Held, the world record holder who did not qualify for this year's team. Held threw the spear 254-1.

Birmingham Country Club decided this year to allow the club's junior champion and runnerup to compete in the men's title tourney. As a result the men had to take a back seat to the boys, as Dick Weyand won the title in a playoff 75 to 76 against Ray Lovell. Both are 17.

A pitching collapse and spotty fielding, not lack of hitting, caused Pontiac GMC's elimination from the state amateur baseball tournament over the Labor Day weekend at Battle Creek.

The Coachers outhit Jackson, 13 to 7, but suffered an 11-10 setback for their 1st loss in the tourney. Wayne ousted the city champions with a 13-10 victory, despite the fact that GMC amassed 17 hits to the opposition's 13.

Five pitchers failed to stem the tide in each game, with Steve Kebler and Dick Goldsworthy absorbing the defeats. GMC committed nine errors during the two games.

Homers Help Drugs Win State Title

In an eight-inning, extra frame battle at Coldwater, Sunday night, Drayton Drug nine from the Waterford Recreation softball circuit, turned back Albion to win the state MSA Class C title.

Drug had to come from behind twice to first knot the count and finally win, 5-3.

It was Wimpy Johnson's homer and another tally that followed the 247 foot out-of-the-park blow that tied the count at 2-2 in the 5th inning. Albion had scored two in the opening frame. There were two down when Wimpy hit his homer in the 5th and he followed with another that left the park, in the 7th, to again knot the count, at 3-3. Albion had added single run in the 6th to move ahead for the 2nd time.

In the top of the eighth inning Jerry Hesse and Marshall Rose banged back to back triples, Hesse scoring. Paul Atkins came up with a hot single and Rose scampered home with the final run.

Previous to the title game Drug had defeated Ludington 4-0 on a 4-hit shutout by Bill Goulet. Bill pitched to only 22 batsmen in this contest. Albion had also bowed to Drug 3-2 in another game in the series, a double elimination tourney.

Kelly Wins Feature Race in Holiday Hardtop Show

Rusty Kelly continues to enjoy phenomenal success at the Pontiac Speedway. The Pontiac driver is $210 richer today after piloting his modified hardtop to victory last night on the M59 track in the 100-lap feature of the Labor Day championship races.

Joy Fair of Pontiac pursued Kelly across the finish line and Joe Doyle took 3rd. Kelly got off to a winning start by turning in the fastest time in the preliminary trials.

Chuck Partello won the dash while heat races went to Earl Swiney, Dick Cummings, Dave Coppersmith and Fair. Mickey Katlin, who suffered a fractured nose and a black eye before the evening was over, won the Australian pursuit. Katlin was injured when the accelerator stuck, causing his car to crash into the wall.

A three-car crash occurred in the pursuit when Bob Ballentine's vehicle was struck by Kelly and Doyle. Cluster Davis rammed through the retaining wall. Other minor fracases took place.

Modified hardtops will run again Sunday at the Pontiac oval on an open competition basis. Time trials begin at 1:30 p.m. with the 1st race at 3 o'clock. The afternoon schedule will apply for the balance of the season.

Mantle Blanked: Reds, Braves Split

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Redlegs are getting downright uncooperative in that National League pennant chase. They just won't die.

* * *

Remember when they lost three straight in Brooklyn? And when they dropped three of four at Milwaukee? Or when they won only three of seven from the Bravs and Dodgers in Cincinnati? It looked like it was time to buy beer for the wake.

* * *

Trouble is, the beer, not the Redlegs, wound up on ice.

They had a dandy chance to get measured again in the Labor Day doubleheader at Milwaukee. They blew a 2-0 lead and lost the first game 3-2. Then they blew a 2-0 lead in the nightcap, but bounced back to pack it away on Ted Kluszewski's 34th home run and a long-haul relief job by Brooks Lawrence that beat the Braves 7-5.

The split kept the Redlegs within 3½ games of first-place Milwaukee and in a second-place tie with Brooklyn, which split a pair with Pittsburgh. The Dodgers rallied to take the opener 4-3, but then got beat at their own game as the Pirates pulled a squeeze bunt to win the nightcap 3-2.

The other NL twinbills also were split. St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 4-2, then lost 8-0. And Philadelphia smacked the New York Giants 5-1 before losing 2-1.

* * *

In the American, Baltimore's Orioles kept Mickey Mantle homerless—putting him even with Babe Ruth's record 60-homer pace in 1937—with 47 in 133 games—but lost a doubleheader to the New York Yankees 6-1 and 5-0. Second-place Cleveland slipped 8½ games behind, losing 5-2 in a morning game at Kansas City, then winning the afternoon contest 2-1.

* * *

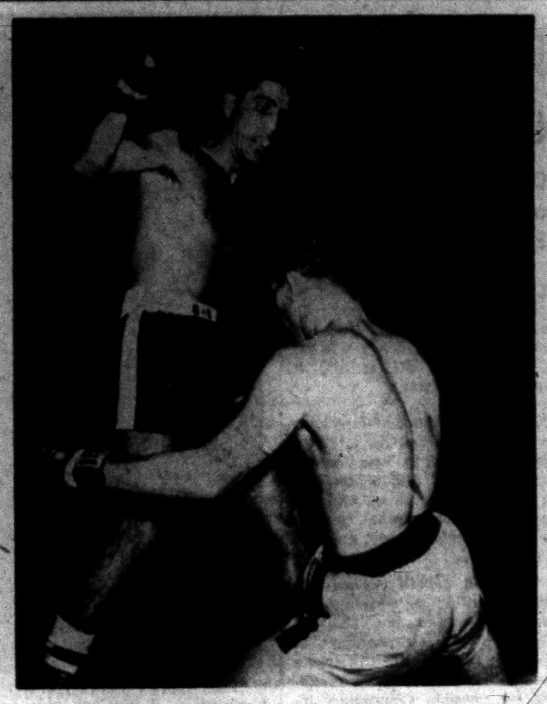

Chicago's White Sox split with Detroit, losing 11-8 and winning 5-3. Boston walloped Washington twice, 7-5 and 16-0.

* * *

Frank Robinson hit his 36th home run, two shy of the rookie record, for the Redlegs in the opener, but Hank Aaron busted his 22nd and 23rd for a 2-all tie. Joe Adcock then broke it up in the ninth with a single after Aaron's double and Lew Burdette had his 18th victory. Johnny Klippstein was the loser, getting banged on the leg by Adcock's winning blow.

* * *

Cincinnati rocked 16-game-winner Bob Buhl early in the nightcap and Klu then packed it away with a two-run sock in the fifth. Lawrence came on in the third to win his 18th. Bobby Thomson hit his 19th home run and Aaron hit his third of the day in the Braves' comeback bid.

Majors' Crowds on Labor Day Top '55 Total

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major league baseball attendance yesterday increased by more than 6,000 over Labor Day of 1955 chiefly because the pennant-minded Milwaukee Braves pulled a record-breaking crowd of 47,604 into Milwaukee's County Stadium for their doubleheader with the threatening Cincinnati Redlegs.

* * *

The total attendance yesterday for seven doubleheaders and morning-afternoon games at Kansas City was 203,400. A year ago the majors played to 197,174—117,817 in the American and 79,357 in the National.

* * *

Yesterday, however, the National League outdrew the American 110,567 to 92,833. Tops in the American was the 35,557 turnout at Yankee Stadium for the Baltimore-New York twinbill. The Athletics and Indians played to 13,459 in the morning and 11,837 in the afternoon for a total of 25,296.

Kazoo, Wyandotte 9s in State Title Test

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Michigan's Amateur Baseball Assn. championship will be decided tonight when undefeated Kalamazoo and once-beaten Wyandotte square off for the finals.

Both teams survived semi-final eliminations yesterday in a three-game playoff in which Jackson took Lansing, 13-3, Kalamazoo beat Battle Creek, 8-4, and Wyandotte eliminated Jackson, 4-2 in a later playoff.

The Wyandotte-Jackson game went scoreless for eight innings before Wyandotte got two runs in the ninth. Jackson promptly tied it up in the bottom of the ninth, but Wyandotte came up with the two winning runs in the 10th.

Should Wyandotte win today, the championship will be played Wednesday night as the tournament is a double elimination event.

London Riders Claim Challenge Trophy

For the first time since the International Challenge Trophy was instituted among the United States, Canada and Mexico, an equestrian team from north of the border has claimed the coveted award.

Introduced three years ago by J. P. (Pat) Malley of Northville as incentive towards promoting future Olympic riders, the trophy has made the journey to Canada in the capable hands of the London, Ontario Poney Club.

Comprised of Elaine Swanson, Janet Spensley and Ron Darou, the London Club laid claim to the trophy until next year by defeating the Bloomfield Irishmen and the Royal Scotsmen in the final 1956 Junior Equestrian team competition over the Labor Day weekend at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

The London team compiled only 12 faults after two rounds of jumping over the same course. The Scotsmen, Class B division champion, finished a surprising 2nd, but they were still far in arrears with 52 faults. The Irishmen, Class A division winners who were defending the cup, scored 59 faults.

Teams from the Michigan Junior Equestrian League will start challenging the London riders again next spring in an effort to return the perpetual trophy to this country.

In the Junior Equestrian competition which preceded the international event, the Irishmen and Scotsmen successfully defended their titles.

The Irishmen, composed of Zander Duffield, Paul Garlick, Howard Miller and Rick Otto, won their 3rd straight 'A' crown by scoring 38 points. The birmingham Outlanders took 2nd with 30.

Dan Hasley, Rick Hermann, Lora Henstock and Jerry Campbell make up the Scotsmen, who walked away with the 'B' title. The Scotsmen totaled 36 points while their nearest rival, the Bloomfield Thunderbirds, had 30.

Longden Registers New Mark in Race Victories

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—On a day way back in 1927 a willing but completely anonymous young jockey rode a horse with the incredible name of Hugo K. Asher for a win at the Fair Grounds in Salt Lake City.

The exact date is obscure, the event most inauspicious, but the rider, a man named John Eric Longden, has come a long way since that afternoon.

* * *

For today Johnny Longden, almost 30 years later and some 25,143 trips aboard a horse around a race track, has won more races than any man in the history of the thoroughbred sport.

The galloping grandpa, 46-year-old Johnny, moved into the all-time winner's circle in dramatic manner here yesterday when he tied and then surpassed the international record held by England's Sir Gordon Richares.

* * *

The mark was 4,870. It had held firm since Sir Gordon, now an old friend of Longden's, retired in 1954.

Yesterday America's Sir John hung up a riding triple, climaxed with win No. 4,871 registered in sensational fashion in the feature race of the holiday weekend, the $33,350 Del Mar Handicap.

* * *

Longden scored on Mr. and Mrs. Dick Griegorian's Arrogate for the second straight year in the Del Mar feature, and just for good measure, piloted the chestnut 5-year-old, an ex-Calumet farm horse, around the strip in new track recird time of 1.47 for the mile and one-eighth.

State Cyclist Killed in Race

LANGHORNE, Pa. (INS)—Howard Waldecker, 23, of Dearborn, Mich., suffered fatal injuries yesterday in a three-cycle crash during the 25-mile race at Langhorne speedway.

It was the second death in three days at the one-mile oval where Everett Brashear, of Beaumont, Tex., won the 100-mile national motorcycle championship in 1:09:92.3 for a speed of 86.330 miles per hour.

On Saturday, Milt Hall, 30, of Savannah, Ga., was killed during a trial run. Hall was thrown from his cycle after he hit the outside rail on the stretch.

Royal Oak Man Bags Bear in Brimley Hunt

BRIMLEY (AP) — An 11-year-old Battle Creek boy and a Royal Oak man became the first successful bear hunters of the year in a special three-day hunt which concluded yesterday.

Top nimrods among 300 hunters who took part in the Upper Peninsula chase which started Saturday were Allen Mast of Battle Creek, hunting with his father, and Barney Barbur of Royal Oak.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Across the ball

DIAGNOSIS: Fast on the turn

TREATMENT: Here you see good position at the top of the swing. The body has turned well—a fine pivot. The weight is solidly on the right leg; hands are high.

But this is where things too frequently go haywire, principally because from this position the player, too anxious to whack the ball, turns into the ball with the shoulders alone. Result: It's a right-handed hit from the top. The right side freezes, the left hip twists far around—it is called a left side collapse—and the clubhead comes into the ball from the outside, right to left. And there goes that exasperating slice.

It is at the point illustrated here that the left arm pulls down—straight down — exactly in the groove of the backswing. With the pull-down, the head remaining stationary, the weight shifts over automatically to the left leg and the unwinding of the body gets into motion smoothly, not with a sudden twist.

Only with the pull-down, and the continued pulling action of the left arm to and through the ball, will the clubhead be square at impact, exactly as it was in the address. One thing is certain: No slice. I'll explain the pull-down further in the next article.

76 Small Boats Lost in Typhoon's Wake

LONDON (AP)—The Peiping radio said typhoon Dinah was blowing itself out over the Chinese mainland today, but reported 76 fishing boats with 220 persons aboard missing in the storm's wake off the Fukien coast.

A dispatch from Taipei said the typhoon left six known dead and about 10,000 homeless on Formosa.

The Weather Bureau in Manila said a new typhoon named Emma was developing in the Pacific near Guam.

Last month, typhoon Wanda was reported to have killed about 2,100 and injured about the same number on the Chinese mainland.

Vitus Bering, Russian admiral, discovered the Alaskan mainland and the Aleutian islands in 1741, but did not survive to carry the report home.

Legion Fun Fest Turns Serious

Delegates Start Talks on Whether Congress Should Probe NAACP

LOS ANGELES (INS) — The American Legion sweeps away the confetti today and settles down to serious dynamite-laden resolutions on international affairs and its own internal affairs.

* * *

National Commander J. Addington Wagner will call the 3,137 delegates to order in Los Angeles' barn-like Shrine Auditorium, ending a week of pre-convention horseplay and launching what could be one of the Legion's most explosive sessions.

They will debate red-hot resolutions calling for congressional investigations of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the American Civil Liberties Union and UNESCO for possible Communist influence.

Some legionnaires also are aiming their heavy guns at the 40 and 8, an honor affiliate which charges the Legion is controlled by "selfish kingmakers."

OTHER CONFLICTS

The Legion also has clashed with the 40 and 8 over a restrictive membership clause in the by-laws of the junior organization.

One of the strongest resolutions to be presented calls for U. S. withdrawal from the United Nations if Red China is admitted.

Some 150 resolutions deal with benefits for disabled veterans, and several call for rejection of the Bradley Report, which seeks to economize on veterans' pensions.

Big Jig Used for Planes

LOS ANGELES—A jig used in building a giant new four-piston-engine airliner is so big that production line employes using it have to communicate by telephone. It is used to build complete one-piece aircraft wings. It cost $100,000 and 13 other precision tools needed to make it a complete unit cost $750,000.

THE LATIN INFLUENCE — Cary Grant and Italian actress Sophia Loren "take off" while doing Cha-Cha routine between takes of film they're making near Madrid, Spain.

Jury to Hear Details of Brink's Holdup

BOSTON (INS)—An eyewitness account of the dramatic scene when bandits walked into the Brink's counting room in Boston and fled with $1,219,000 will be given publicly today for the first time.

The description will be given by Thomas B. Lloyd, Brink's cashier at the time of the robbery which netted the largest cash haul in the nation's history.

Lloyd's testimony will highlight the start of the fifth week of the trial of eight men charged with the Jan. 17, 1950 holdup.

'Barn Red' Popular

Red paint is always in the best seller class, especially for ranch houses. On many new homes—and older ones, too—a deep red tone is very pleasing because it contrasts so agreeably with the green of the trees and shrubs in the surrounding area. Before you decide on red, however, be sure it harmonizes with neighboring houses and that it suits the architectural style of your own. The "barn" reds, by the way, are considered among the most durable of all house paints.

Oldest House in Ohio in State Only Two Years

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The oldest house in Ohio, which sits in a wooded section of nearby Indian Hill, has been in this state only two years. Built in 1782, according to the deed, it stood on Main Street in Watertown, Conn., until Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Barrett of Cincinnati bought it in 1953.

After every brick, board and beam was marked on a master plan, the Dutch colonial house was dismantled and brought here for reassembly.

The oldest existing home built in Ohio was constructed in 1788 at Marietta, about 170 miles up the Ohio River from here.

Africa's Ports Busy

CAPE TOWN—South Africa's five major ports handled a record traffic total of 15,615,000 tons in 1955, Cape Town, Durban, Walvis Bay, East London, and Port Elizabeth all handled record amounts of goods. The average increase over the previous year was 15.3 per cent. In the past 10 years the ports' total traffic has increased by 54 per cent.

City Owns Parking Lot

CHICAGO—Some 60 per cent of 1,137 cities in the nation having more than 10,000 population owned and operated off-street parking lots at the start of 1956, an increase of 4 per cent over the year before. There were 675 cities operating 2,397 lots, an average of 3½ apiece.

Elvis Indignantly Denies He Does Bumps, Grinds

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why, I never did a bump or grind in my life."

* * *

This was the testimony of teenage idol Elvis Presley. You know Elvis Presley. Sure, you do. He's either a real cool dreamboat or a menace to morals, according to which generation you view him from.

When I saw him, he seemed unconcerned by the storm that has raged around his happy hips. He as calmly sitting on a bench and sipping a soft drink between scenes of "Love Me Tender," his first movie. He commented on his critics:

"They say I do bumps and grinds. Why, I never did a bump or grind in my life. What I do is, I wiggle my shoulders and I shake my legs and I walk up and down the stage and I hop around on one foot.

* * *

"But I never bump or grind. Why, that's vulgah. I'd never do something that was vulgah before a young audience. My mother would never allow it."

Unlike his advance billing, Presley proved to be a restrained and polite fellow, only belching once during our conversation. He said that he was intrigued by the movie business but still a little scared of it. Despite his modesty, fellow player Richard Egan had words of praise for the lad's ability as an actor. "He's great in the rushes," said Egan.

* * *

Presley plays Egan's younger brother in the post-Civil War film and the husband of Debra Paget. He'll have some songs to sing in the movie, but not the rock 'n' roll kind he's famous for.

"I don't think 'Blue Suede Shoes' would fit into this period," he said.

* * *

Presley commented that the rumors of his being drafted were all a mistake. It turns out it was his cousin who got tapped by Uncle Sam. Presley's status?

"I'm 1A," he explained. "but the draft board in Memphis told me it will be some time before I'm called.

"There are a lot of people writing my draft board asking it to draft me. The board just tells 'em I'll be taken in my turn."

Shoes for Freedom

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — An alert salesman shuffled silently out of Police Justice Savory E. Amato's court to freedom on shoeless feet. Three dollars short on a $5 fine for public drunkenness and sent back to his cell the man promptly made up the shortage by selling his shoes to another prisoner.

Reports 3rd Bomb Exploded by Russia

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission has reported that Russia exploded a third nuclear device in its current series of atom tests.

In a terse statement, the AEC said the explosion was "in the same region and the same range of size as the two previous bursts."

This would place the blast in the Soviet proving grounds in Southwest Siberia. The size would be less than one megaton, compared with about 17 megatons of the largest U. S. H-bombs.

Train Wreck Kills Rider

KOBE, Japan (AP) — One person was killed and 42 were hurt in an electric train collision here today. Railroad officials said an express train ran through a warning signal and struck a disabled local train. Four of those injured were reported in serious condition.

Union Tells Dulles How to Clean Up Suez Difficulties

WASHINGTON (INS)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council has sent Secretary of State John Foster Dulles a plan it claims would end the Suez dispute and hamstring Russian propaganda efforts in the Middle East.

* * *

The plan, announced by Union President George Meany calls for:

1. Creating an Egyptian Suez authority to operate the canal in line with treaty obligations.

2. Setting up an international authority representing the principal users of the canal to work with the Egyptians to insure efficient flow of traffic through the waterway.

3. Provide that Egypt and the international authority agree to submit all disputes to the International Court of Justice, whose decisions would be binding.

* * *

This, said Meany, would undercut Soviet charges of "imperialism" aimed at the Western powers.

Chance for Seagoing Band Music Teacher

VINALHAVEN, Maine (AP)—This island community on Penobscot Bay hopes to protect a $2,800 investment by finding a music teacher who "has boat, will travel."

* * *

The money was spent on uniforms and equipment for 60 aspiring musicians in the junior and senior high school bands.

Now they need someone to teach them.

* * *

The school committee says the major stumbling block is transportation to and from the island. There are no bridges or roads connecting with the mainland.

Salary was not mentioned.

Active Dealings in Wheat Noted

CHICAGO (AP) — Dealings were active in wheat on the Board of Trade today as export business returned to the private trade. Despite the activity, wheat was not able to make forward progress.

* * *

Prices held firm at the opening with buying credited to commission houses and commercial interests. It was also felt that some export houses were on the buying side. However, heavy offerings came from large professional traders. Wheat fell back from opening levels.

In other grains an easier trend appeared right from the start in corn and soybeans. The outlook for both crops was considered promising. Cash corn receipts totaled 262 cars. Oats and rye were erratic.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, Sept. $2.20⅝; corn ¼ to 1 cent lower, Sept. $1.46⅜; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, Sept. 72½; rye ⅜ to 1 cent lower, Sept. $1.45¼; soybeans 1¾ to 2½ lower, Sept. $2.34; lard 7 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, Sept. $10.67.

Starting today, export houses will have to buy a substantial amount of their wheat in the free market. Heretofore, they have been obtaining practically all their grain from government stocks. Many grain analysts did not expect immediate large-scale buying by exporters.

Police Still Studying Pontiac Bar Holdup

Police went into their fourth day investigating the $2,749 robbery early Saturday of a Pontiac tavern with still very little to work on.

"There is nothing new on it. We just have a meager description of the two men," Det. John DePauw told The Pontiac Press today.

The robbers brandishing a revolver and a blackjack, took the money from the J. & K. Tavern at 369 E. Pike St. just before closing Saturday after tying up two bartenders and a customer.

The youthful holdup men are believed to be the same two who held up a Mt. Clemens bar and made off with $1,000 Aug. 15. "Their method of operation in both cases was the same," DePauw said.

Market Prices Become Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — An early stock market advance lost its steam as prices turned mixed in the afternoon today.

* * *

Aircrafts remained about the strongest division as steels backed away from their preliminary strength.

Leading stocks displayed a pattern of gains and losses ranging to about a point.

The friendly atmosphere at the Cairo talks bolstered confidence in early trading, giving international oils some fair gains and bringing activity to the steels and aircrafts.

But steels turned mixed within an hour. Well before noon the market looked irregular.

The aircraft stocks retained early gains as Boeing, Douglas, North American Aviation, Curtiss-Wright and Glenn L. Martin all advanced around a point or so.

U.S. Steel, however, lost its small early gain and declined a fraction. Youngstown Sheet & Tube dipped more than a point. Bethlehem and Republic steel were up fractions.

* * *

Apparently still encouraged by the Suez cordiality, Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch held gains of more than a point each. Texas Co., however, eased slightly after a small early gain.

The leading rails, ragged from the start, edged back slightly in a spiritless performance. Union Pacific lost a major fraction.

Motors lost some of their early firmness but showed little chance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at $183.30 with the industrials up 10 cents, the rails off 10 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Woman Who Conquered Alcoholism Helps Others

BOSTON (INS) — A brief television appearance of a Boston woman who told of her own victory over alcohol 12 years ago and her battle in behalf of other alcoholics has touched off a flood of letters from all parts of the United States.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Whitney, executive director of the Boston Committee on Alcoholism, in a 10-minute appearance on a network show, told the nation how she won her fight and launched a campaign to save others—with only $200 in the till.

Mrs. Whitney, a noted artist and wife of a research engineer, reported that in addition to helping 7,000 men and women problem drinkers in the Boston area since 1945, she has guided and helped their non - alcoholic wives, husbands, employers and friends.

The letters came in from mothers, wives, husbands and sweethearts of alcoholics and many problem drinkers themselves, who poured out their hearts to Mrs. Whitney.

She said her own victory came when doctors who had treated her were on the verge of declaring her a "hopeless incurable." Mrs. Whitney said:

"My recovery and the reclaiming of such a vast number of others like myself at the offices of the Boston Committee and other committees and through the Alcoholics Anonymous program proves that there need be no such thing as the 'hopeless alcoholic.'"

* * *

"I have come to believe that the phrase 'hopeless alcoholic' is being given wide circulation by those problem drinkers themselves who are refusing to make the effort to recover—and by the discouraged and dismayed relatives of these same problem drinkers."

A Californian wrote: "Can you please help me because I am, as you once were, a sick alcoholic . . . I have lost my job, my home, my money, and my dog . . . P.S. Please help me find myself."

LETTERS ASK HELP

The wife of an A.A. Member wrote from Nebraska pleading: "Please tell me how we can form a committee out here like the Boston Committee on Alcoholism because we badly need something like your group out here so that we can interest doctors and hospitals in treating alcoholism."

A letter from Mississippi asked: 'Can you send me some advice on how I can talk to my three sons who are drinking heavily and who refuse to look for help? One of my sons, who has three lovely children, was hospitalized but refused to stay in the hospital long enough . . . I wish I was near you . . . I need to be near someone like you to give me courage. Will you write to me or to my sons?"

A Maryland widow wrote: "I have been working on the same job 28 years. My boss has now discovered I am an alcoholic. Somebody squealed on me. Please write and tell me how I can stop. I am 58 and may lose my job and most of my retirement pay. I am at the end of my string, trying to fight my way back."

In 1954, while undergoing an operation for the removal of an abscess at the top of the spinal column, with her head under the ether dome, Mrs. Whitney interrupted the surgeon during his remarks to students to say:

* * *

"I want to thank the doctors for saving my life so I might contribute something to the lives of others and to the future."

Church Leaders to Tour Flattop

Navy to Show Clerics How Religious Program Works on Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty church leaders will be given a chance this week to find out what Navy life is like aboard the aircraft carrier Saipan.

The Navy announced today the churchmen, representing 19 denominations, will be guests on a 24-hour cruise off Pensacola, Fla. They will be flown from Washington tomorrow to Pensacola Naval Air Station to begin their cruise Thursday.

The Naval air training program will be explained to them, and they will witness a Navy character education group in session. As part of the latter, the Navy's chief of chaplains, Rear Adm. Edward B. Harp Jr., will discuss the Navy's program of religious and character guidance.

In addition to witnessing flight operations and other activities aboard the carrier, the churchmen will have a chance to talk with naval personnel both aboard ship and at the air station.

Supermarket Owner Robbed of $6,900

Oak Park detectives today are investigating the theft of $6,900 in cash from the house Sunday night.

David Levitsky, owner of four Dixfield Markets in the Detroit area, told investigators he and his wife went out for dinner Sunday and returned to find the house broken into and the money missing. They live at 13201 Northfield St.

The cash was in a green leather stationery box, police said. They said the box was kept in a locked closet. Entry was made by breaking a screen in a window at the rear of the house.

Rate Personality Traits Individually and Slowly

EAST LANSING (AP) — Personality traits should be rated one at a time, and over a period of time, not all at once.

A Michigan State University psychologist, Dr. Donald M. Johnson, says a person may appear to be a mental genius, and you, impressed by this trait, may overlook how he measures up to such things as kindliness, courage, usefulness and personal appearance.

Dr. Johnson calls this partial impression the "halo effect" and says it can be reduced by rating traits one at a time and over a period of time.

No Home Runs for Mantle

NEW YORK (AP)—Babe Ruth's September spring has caught up with Mickey Mantle.

The young New York Yankee slugger failed to hit a home run in yesterday's 6-1 and 5-0 sweep over Baltimore, giving the Mick a 47 total for 132 games. Ruth, who swatted 17 in September to gain his record 60 in 1927, also had 47 after 132 games.

Ruth, however, was in the process of smacking five in three games, adding his 48th and 49th in the 134th game. His 50th came in game No. 138.

Mantle, with 22 games remaining now, also was even with Ruth's pace in mid-July, and was two games behind the schedule at the 33 mark. He twice has been as much as 14 games ahead of Ruth's pace.

Suez Canal Talk Enters 2nd Day

Atmosphere Is Cordial, but Tension Builds Up Outside Meeting

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Talks between Egypt's President Nasser and the five-nation Suez Canal committee moved into the hard discussion stage today after formal presentation of the 18-nation plan for international control of the waterway.

The conference atmosphere was described as cordial but outside developments continued to cast menacing shadows.

Egyptian secret police arrested more persons, including another British subject, on charges of spying. The British-French military buildup continued, and Egypt said its army was "strategically deployed to meet any situation."

Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, chairman of the five-nation delegation, outlined the proposal for international operation of the canal to Nasser yesterday at the opening of the talks.

Today's meeting was expected to dig deeper into the details of the plan put forward by Secretary of State Dulles at the recent London Suez conference.

Oakland County deputies today are investigating a report of malicious destruction discovered yesterday morning in Highland Township. An advertising sign was reportedly pulled out of the ground and a street light smashed at Central Blvd. and Honeywell Street.

A handbag containing $70 in cash was taken from the kitchen table of a home at 329 W. Wilson Ave., early Sunday morning, Pontiac police said today. Officers report the thief had evidently cut a hole in the screen of a window and reached in for the handbag.

Cadet Problem at Quarterback

Coach Red Blaik Has Inexperienced Signal Callers Back

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — The year of the great experiment in Army football is over, but quarterbacking remains the big problem for coach Earl (Red) Blaik.

If Dave Bourland, a senior who called only three offensive plays last season, comes through under fire, Army should have a first-rate team this fall. If he doesn't there's no one behind him but a pair of left-handed sophomores.

Army's succession of fine quarterbacks — running from Dick Walterhouse and Arnold Tucker through to Pete Vann—ran out last year. Blaik had to convert a potential All-America end, Don Holleder, into a quarterback. That experiment produced a victory over Navy, but there's no one even to convert this year.

"The success of our season depends on how well we overcome our difficulty at quarterback," Blaik said today. "Bourland improved considerably during spring practice. He learned to relax a lot but he is not nearly as fast as Holleder."

In spite of his inexperience, Bourland clearly beat out the "D boys"—sophs Pete Dawkins and Chuck Darby—for the signal-calling job. Then he reported for practice last week with a stiff shoulder resulting from a summer injury.

Sound Basic Clothes Needed

School Activities Play Large Part in Choice of Wardrobe

One of the wonderful things about going back to school is assembling a wardrobe: making lists, checking off the dresses and suits, one by one.

* * *

Foundation garments belong at the beginning, because they are the beginning of both fashion and good grooming, whether the figure needs only smoothing—or slimming as well.

The activities of the school you attend help to determine your under-fashion needs as much as they set your limits on outer apparel.

Lots of sports? Then you ought to plan on several pantie girdles and four or five strap brassiers with good support.

Many dances and other evening social events? Then you ought to have a strapless brassiere or two, a couple of girdles glamorous in color and fabric, and a bra-lette that will curve you from bust to hipline.

SPORTS, CLASSES

Whatever your school, you do need a wardrobe of foundations for classes, for sports, for dress. Consider their styling, their color, their fabric, thus their different purposes.

And consider the laundry question. That alone makes alternates of your everyday girdles and brassieres essential.

* * *

How much should you expect to spend for these figure-fashioning garments? Well, brassieres start at a dollar, two-way stretch girdles and pantie girdles at about four, and bra-lettes are generally priced from five to $15. Buy according to your budget and your figure.

Natuurally, it takes a more controlling and intricately designed garment to mold full curves than merely to smooth a slight figure.

But whatever your needs, be sure the fit is accuarte. Since youthful figures develop rapidly, it's better to purchase a few at a time than to burden your wardrobe with girdles or brassieres of a single style and size that you'll outgrow before they're outworn.

Buy enough foundations now to last you through a semester. Between terms, be fitted again.

* * *

If you're assembling a high school wardrobe, the some-now, and some-later idea is just as wise.

Children Enjoy Hush Puppies

For a dish that will meet with mother's approval for easy preparation, while offering tasty, nutritious eating for the youngster after a long day of school work and play, team up raw frozen fish sticks with "Hush Puppiees," crisp little corn meal balls that can be cooked in the same hot fat after the fish sticks. Here's the recipe by the people who make SeaPak:

Hush Puppies

Two cups corn meal, preferably white; ½ teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon baking powder; 1½ teaspoon salt; 2 teaspoons sugar (optional); ¼ cup minced onion (optional); 1 egg, beaten; 1 cup (about) buttermilk.

1. Pan or deep fry a 10-ounce package of row frozen gish sticks according to package directions. Remove to paper toweling to drain. Insert wooden skewers for finger eating, if desired.

2. Sift corn meal with other dry ingredient into bowl. Add remaining ingredients, stirring in enough buttermilk to make a stiff but sticky mixture.

3. Drop by teaspoons into deep hot fat (365 degrees F.). Balls float to surface and turn golden when done. Or after pan frying fish sticks, flatten teaspoons of mixtuure to slide into hot fat at least ¼-inch deep in skillet. Cook until golden, turning once. Drain on paper toweling. Makes up to 4 dozen, 1-inch, bite-size balls.

Games Relieve Study Drudgery of Youngsters

The modern educational trend that involves regular homework for the school-going members of the family has had profound impact on the world of games.

Shopping and finance games are enjoying a current boom that should pay off in easier homework sessions for families whose scholars are struggling with basic arithmetic.

The "Campbell Kid Shopping Game" by Parker for example reproduces a supermarket and a typical parking lot. "Pop Up Store" and "Park and Shop" by Milton Bradley base competition on a family struggle to park the car legally and to fit the shopping list within the budget.

Games of speculation are in high favor. "Easy Money", for example involves hectic speculation that's fun for all ages and drills arithmetic basics at the same time.

Traffic gets special attention in the back-to-school game sector with "Drive-Ur-Self" by Northwestern Products.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CLISTA Campbell, who passed away Sept. 1, 1949.
She who suffered is at rest,
Gone to heaven with the Blessed.
Sadly missed by her Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear mother, Nettie May Wever, who passed away Sept. 1st, 1954.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear.
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sadly missed by Daughter and Son.

IN MEMORY OF MY DEAR Mama, Betty Lou Wilson, who was called to heaven 2 years ago today.
Dear Jesus: They tell me You can do everything.
So please do this for me.
Take a message to someone: I will so thankful be.
There's someone in your great big house,
That means so much to me.
Please tell her that I love her, 'cause she's my Mama, see?
Dear Jesus if You will tell her, I will so happy be.
And place a kiss upon her lips To Mama dear, from me.
Her little boy, Raymond.

Famous Name Has Drawbacks

But Robert's Daughter Proves Her Ability as an Actress

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Elizabeth Montgomery has pretty well proven that she's a good actress on her own. So maybe now's as good a time as any to consider the problems of an aspiring actress with a famous theatrical parent.

* * *

Liz' father, Robert Montgomery, tried to discourage her from wresting a livelihood from the stage.

ELIZABETH

"He would say how dismal a life it was," she says. "Of course, knowing me, he'd always start his speech by saying, 'Now I know you're not going to take my advice, but —' And I never did. Maybe I should have."

She has found it dismal in some ways — primarily in the amount of hard work the acting trade takes. But she still loves it.

When she finally decided that she was going to take the leap, she figured she'd use a different name. That way, she'd never be accused of cashing in on Daddy's reputation.

When she told her father, the following brief exchange took place:

"Daddy, I'm going to take another name."

"Oh. Are you ashamed of your real name?"

"No."

ROBERT

And that began the career of Elizabeth Montgomery. She says being a Montgomery helped her, in the beginning. It opened doors.

"But it's like the old saying goes — it's easy for a girl to get a husband, but it's hard to keep him. It was easy for me to get in to see people, but after that I had to make it on my own."

A drawback of having a famous acting father is that, at the start, she had chances to take certain parts which she knew she wasn't yet ready for. There was an offer to do a musical five years ago, for example.

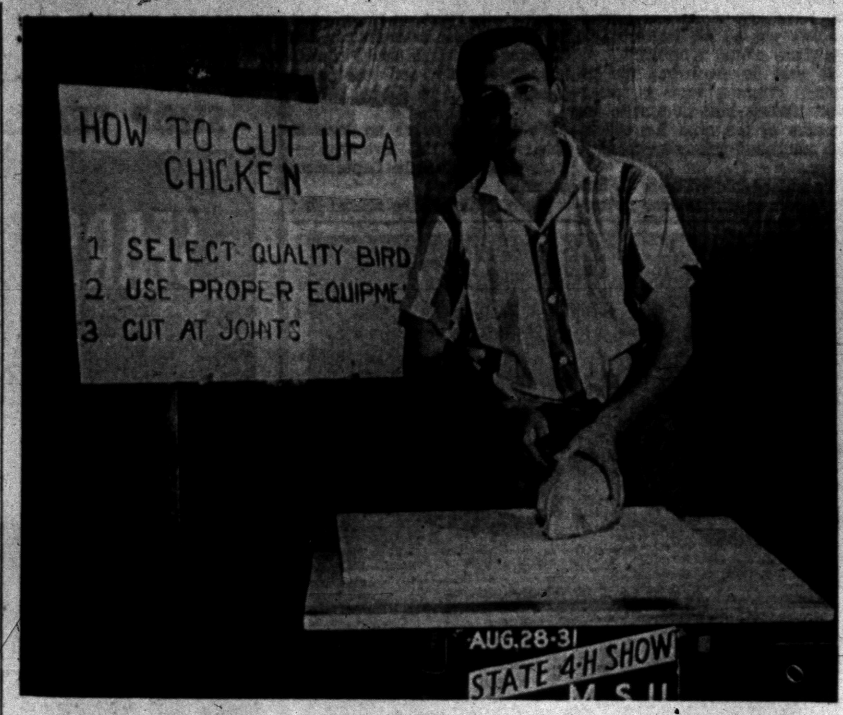

"I wanted to do it, but I knew I couldn't do a good job. And I had to say no — I couldn't risk disgracing my name.

"If I'd been anybody else, I would have done it anyhow. It would have been fun."

She's come along fast. She's only 24, already a fixture in the company of the Robert Montgomery summer series on NBC-TV.

She's twice been cast on Studio One, opposite her dad's program. And she's done a movie in Hollywood. And a Broadway play. She'd still like to do a musical.

The only problem still left with being Elizabeth Montgomery — it's awfully long for a marquee.

OAKLAND COUNTY WINNER — Gaining top honors in the poultry demonstration contest during the recent State 4-H Club Show was Bill Middleton, 16, Lake Orion. Bill was one of the 51 boys and girls representing Oakland County during the Aug. 28 to 31 show — on the campus of Michigan State University. For his efforts, Bill received an educational trip to Washington, D. C.

Doctor Says Americans Hold Up Well Against Communist Brainwash Attempt

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP) —Communist "brainwashing" is rough stuff, but many Americans are incorrectly attributing it to some kind of mysterious scientific "demonology," a Massachusetts psychologist said today.

And this reaction, declared Dr. Raymond A. Bauer of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "is in some ways as disturbing as the events to which this term (brainwashing) has been applied."

It might well be, he said, that "a lack of security" in their own ideological beliefs is behind the "eagerness" of such Americans to say that only a technique of "demonic machinations" could convert an American to communism.

Asserting that the Communists—despite a lot of effort—achieved only "limited success" in converting a few American prisoners of war through brainwashing, Dr. Bauer told the annual convention of the American Psychological Assn.:

"Yes, a sizable proportion of the American public and the American press has taken the position that it is unthinkable for even a single American to fall for Communist propaganda or to collaborate with the enemy unless he has been subject to unnatural influences."

* * *

The tendency in these quarters has been, he said, to look upon "brainwashing" as a demoniac application to humans of the "conditioned reflex" principles first worked out in the latter part of the 19th century by the Russian scientist Dr. I. P. Pavlov in his famed experiments with dogs.

The belief appears to be, he indicated, that some secret corps of psychiatrists and psychologists has been at work in some corner of the Kremlin, working out devastating new psychiatric principles. There's always the possibility that such a corps exists, he said, but he declared, "I have found no single piece of direct positive evidence, since the early '30s, that would link Soviet psychologists and-or psychiatrists with work on political indoctrination or the eliciting of confessions."

* * *

In his view, he said, "brainwashing" is psychology——but the kind of psychology that employs shrewd though cruel common sense, with little or no mystery to it, involving methods of persuasion developable by laymen.

And a key factor in the Communist technique, he said, is "that the 'persuaders' have such complete control over the individual's environment."

In view of all the trouble the Communists went to, he said, "there is more to remark in their lack of success in persuading ter influence of brainwashing."

"The immediate threat to losing one's life or at least one's liberty, or of jeopardizing other persons," he said, "heightens the desire to conform if one can do so with a modicum of decency.

* * *

"To this must be added the effect of excessive fatigue, the confusion engendered by having been examined and cross-examined in a detailed fashion on the same topics many times, and the ability of the interrogators to feed in false and confusing information."

Italy has 10,500 motion picture theaters, up 33 per cent since 1950, Rome learns.

Because there are so few of them, workers in the Sellafield, England, atomic plant are asking for a new kind of pay raise—"lonely money."

Doctors Wash Out Stomach

New Cure for Pill Victims

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A new, safe, simple method of treating sleeping pill cases never before tried on a human being yesterday saved the life of a 30-year-old television cameraman who tried suicide.

* * *

He is Alan Adair, who took 29 sleeping pills—twice the lethal dose—Thursday night because he was despondent over marital difficulties.

He was found unconscious Friday morning and rushed to Santa Monica Receiving Hospital, where doctors despaired of saving his life.

Adair was transferred to the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center, where a Veterans Administration doctor had devised the new treatment.

STAYS IN SHADOWS

The specialist, who prefers to remain anonymous, had been working on methods of washing out the stomach. He had tried his technique on animals, but never on a human.

He decided to try it on Adair, because without some drastic treatment, the cameraman almost certainly would have died.

A small incision was made in Adair's abdomen and into his colon. Into this aperture, two liters (2.10 quarts) of a special saline solution were injected.

* * *

The fluid followed through the colon and nearby tissues, cleansing the body of barbituarate poisons from the sleeping pills. The solution was removed and replaced every two hours.

In all, more than 62 quarts were injected into Adair in this manner. At last, most of the poisons were removed.

Today, Adair's chances for recovery were described as "excellent." And his wife came to his bedside to discuss reconciliation.

A Real Nice Lady

TUSCON, Ariz. (AP) — When the City of Tuson annexed a suburban area one morning, a resident of the new territory made her first call to the police department that night. She reported a prowler. Policemen arrived shortly after and she said: "Well, there was a prowler, but I just wanted to see how fast you could get here."

Late Look Edition

VALENTINE, Neb. (INS)—The Cherry County News recently promised a "great, late look" in its next edition. On the front page of the weekly newspaper, it was explained that "we don't aim to specifically run a historical publication but our pictures still haven't arrived from the engravers."

Man Stabbed to Death as Police Intervene

SAGINAW (AP) — A 32-year-old foundry worker was stabbed to death last night while two police officers tried to halt a fight between him and his common-law wife.

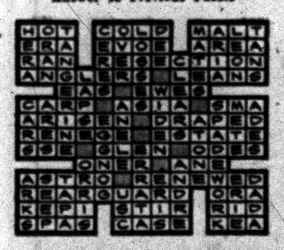

Detective Calvin Nicholson said that as he pulled the pair apart, the man, Hillerd Applin, a Chevrolet employe, slumped to the ground. Nicholson said Applin's wife, Georgia, 31, was holding a knife.

Nicholson and patrolman Arthur Hoffman hurried to break up the fight in front of a Saginaw restaurant when they heard the commotion.

The woman, Nicholson said, refused to give her last name and also refused to say what the argument was about.

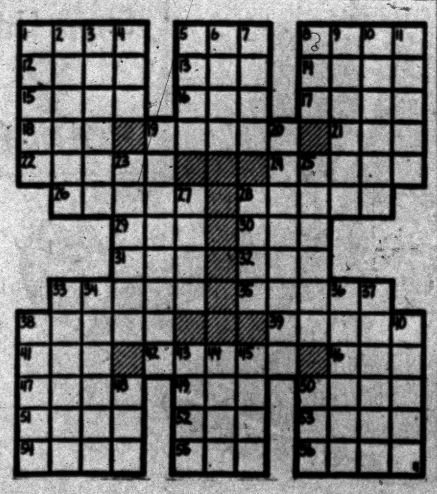

Miss Chariklia Samiotu, 32, bit off the ear of a 10-year-old shepherd, P. Petres, near Athens, Greece, because he would not respond to her advances.

Says Forrestal Aide Blocked Efforts to Hold China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retired Ambassador Angus Ward says that because of a State Department superior's "directive," he withheld from Secretary of Defepse James V. Forrestal in 1948 his ideas on how to combat communism's spread in China.

* * *

Ward said he felt at the time that "I had prostituted myself" by obeying the instructions from an official he did not name for the public record.

He added that he later learned Forrestal did want the information he held back and was "disappointed" in their talk, attended also by President Eisenhower as Army chief of staff.

The former diplomat did not say how he thought the Red Chinese could have been stopped.

* * *

Ward said in testimony for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that at that time "there seemed to be a reluctance on the part of those (State Department) officials with whom I spoke, under the level of undersecretary of state, to have affairs on China discussed frankly."

Ward's unsworn testimony was taken by Subcommittee Counsel Robert Morris in New York last Wednesday, shortly before Ward left by ship for a European tour. It was officially made part of the subcommittee's record today.

At the time of the 1948 incident, Ward was U.S. consul general in Mukden, Manchuria, but was in Washington for consultation with his superiors. After he returned to Mukden, the Chinese Communists overran that city, and Ward and members of his staff were held under house arrest for a year and then jailed for two months on a bread and water diet before being expelled from the country in December 1949.

* * *

Ward said Forrestal sought the conference in January 1948 after he had met Forrestal at a luncheon.

A couple of hours before he was to see Forrestal, Ward related, he was summoned to the unnamed superior's office. "I was informed that what Mr. Forrestal was interested in learning was the extent of the demoralization among the Chinese Nationalists, the extent of the corruption and matters of that kind," he said.

* * *

"I had had several talks with this official previously, and while we had mentioned these matters, my principal remarks to him were the exposition of my thoughts on the ways in which we could help the Nationalist government of China to better its chances in the war against the Communists and thereby better its chances of survival.

* * *

"Naturally I was completely perplexed when I was informed that Secretary of Defense Forrestal was not at all interested in this phase of my remarks."

He said he considered the superior's remarks were a "directive" binding him to confine his remarks to the area the official had mentioned unless he chose to resign.

He said he told William C. Bullitt, a former ambassador to Russia, about it and Bullett later talked with Forrestal. Ward said he was told that the secretary had expected that Ward would express his views freely, and was disappointed because he did not do so.

* * *

Ward told also of an incident about January 1945 involving another unnamed State Department official.

He said he told the official that Russian plans were "expansionist" and that the Soviets "would not be content with anything short of a line approximately running from the Baltic to the Adriatic."

* * *

He said the official expressed amazement, and "said he was astounded that I could so speak of one of our allies and that in so speaking I was a disloyal American."

Wyoming Forest Fire Blackens 1,200-Acre Swath

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—Wyoming's most destructive fire of the year snapped in Medicine Bow National Forest was said by officials to be "temporarily under control."

The blaze has blackened 1,200 acres since it started Sunday. It was centered about 28 miles south of this southeast Wyoming city.

* * *

U. S. Forester Ed Holler said the nearly 400 fire-fighters apparently had checked the blaze near the tiny community of Esterbrook. Flames had crept within three-quarters of a mile of the village, whose 96 residents refused to leave.

* * *

The cause of the big blaze still was undetermined, but Holler said: "We definitely suspect arson."

There have been no serious injuries reported he said, but many wild animals perished.

Servicemen's Curfew Set at Tachikawa

TACHIKAWA, Japan (AP)—U. S. servicemen have been ordered to stay off the streets of Tachikawa between 11 p.m. and 5 a.m.

Col. Burton K. Sams, commander of Tachikawa Air Base—one of the United States' largest in Japan—also directed "very stringent disciplinary measures" against personnel found guilty of off-base offenses.

A spokesman said the order was part of a crackdown against incidents involving Japanese citizens. He added that no protests have been received from any Japanese, however, and the action was taken on the volition of U. S. officials.

Hitchhiker Teacher

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A hitchhiker robbed motorist Earl McElrath at gunpoint of $7 and his gloves. As he stepped from the car, the gunman lectured McElrath: "I hope you have learned your lesson. Don't ever pick up a hit chhiker again."

Bonn to Try Again for Unified Germany

BERLIN (AP) — A West Berlin newspaper said today the government will agree to establishment of a demilitarized zone on the Polish-German border, provided the Russians agree to unify Germany.

The independent Der Abend said this would be made known in a West German note being readied for delivery to the four occupation powers—France, Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union.

The demilitarized zone—to be located on the German side of the border—would help dispel Russian fears of a German invasion, Der Abend said.

His Car Is Hot

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—John Tripp stopped outside his car because he heard what sounded like a thunderclap. It was a good thing, too. A 12,000-volt wire had fallen on the auto and was resting there. Firemen said Tripp would have been electrocuted if he had touched the door handle. The wire melted a three-inch slit in the car's hood.
