Two Pontiac men are in Oakland County Jail today after a $21,259 robbery yesterday of the Pontiac State Bank branch at West Long Lake near Telegraph in Bloomfield Township.

Facing Federal District Court arraignment Monday are Rentz Nicholson Jr., 31, of 175 Victory and Darnell L. Colbert, 28, of 460 Nevada.

Nicholson was arrested by Bloomfield Hills patrolman Leroy Imus and Bloomfield Township patrolman Gilbert Fowler just four minutes after the bank was robbed by a single, hooded gunman.

The two patrolmen stopped Nicholson's car at Long Lake and Woodward, less than two miles from the scene of the robbery.

In the car, police found the stolen money contained in two zippered pillow cases and an automatic pistol shoved in Nicholson's pocket.

Pushed back on his head was a knitted skiing hood.

Nicholson surrendered without a fight.

HOUR LATER

Colbert was apprehended at a service station at 480 Orchard Lake by Pontiac patrolmen Gerald L. Kolb and Fred A. Stormer about an hour after the holdup.

Kolb said he and Stormer spotted the car allegedly seen near the holdup at the side of the service station.

Colbert was arrested when he returned to the station apparently to get something from the car.

A search of the vehicle turned up only a man's hat.

OTHER CHARGE

In addition to bank robbery, Colbert also was charged with aiding and abetting and conspiracy.

Details of Colbert's alleged part in the robbery were not immediately known, since the bank was robbed by a single gunman.

The speedy capture of Nicholson was credited to the calmness of three women tellers at the bank.

Seconds after the bandit fled the colonial styled building near Telegraph, the women were on the telephone giving police the description and license number of the getaway car.

Today's wind to southwesterly winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will diminish tonight.

Frosty 28 was the low recording in down town Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury registered 28 at 2 p.m.

N. Viet Terms Peace Feeler Report False

U.S. Had Asked for Hanoi Clarification of Reported Proposal

TOKYO (P) — The North Vietnamese Information Ministry issued a statement today terming Washington reports of a peace feeler "pure fabrications, without any basis."

WASHINGTON (P) — The United States has asked Communist North Viet Nam to clarify conditions in a peace feeler by President Ho Chi Minh for negotiations to end the Vietnamese war.

"I am prepared to go anywhere; to meet anyone," Ho was quoted as saying.

Both the White House and Secretary of State Dean Rusk made clear, however, that U.S. leaders are deeply skeptical of the Hanoi offer.

At the same time, officials stressed they would make every effort to reach an acceptable arrangement for negotiations if one is possible.

"We await Hanoi's reply," the State Department said last night.

ONCE MORE
"We declare once more our desire to discuss an honorable peace in Viet Nam," said President Johnson as he lit the national Christmas tree. "We know that nothing is to be gained by further delay in talking."

The peace bid was made Nov. 11 in a meeting between Ho and two Italians and passed on to the State Department by Italy's Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, this year's president of the U.N. General Assembly.

The State Department made public the details yesterday after published stories indicated

Second Day of Debriefing on Gemini 6

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Astronauts Wally Schirra and Thomas Stafford relived their pursuit and rendezvous with the Gemini 7 space capsule for scientists today in a debriefing session.

Schirra and Stanford began the sessions yesterday after they were accorded an enthusiastic welcome by the team which launched them on their historic Christmas Wednesday.

The initial debriefing was concerned with the countdown, launch and medical aspects of the Gemini 6 flight.

"After more debriefings tomorrow, Schirra and Stanford fly home to Houston Monday."

The astronauts were shown photographs they took of the rendezvous with Frank Borman and James Lovell 185 miles above earth, and they were pleased with the quality of the shots.

Mrs. Lovell Tells Feelings

'Last 30 Minutes Were Longest of All'

SEABROOK, Tex. (UPI) — Christmas tree. Her mother had to call her back.

"I thought two weeks was an eternity, but the last 30 minutes seemed even longer."

Her three children standing beside her, that was the way Mrs. James Lovell today summed up the way she felt about the safe splash-down and recovery of her husband and Frank Borman in Gemini 7.

"He looks marvelous," Mrs. Borman said. "I think the flight was wonderful and great."

But she said the tensest part of the flight for her was the rendezvous. The "best part" was successful conclusion of the flight plan.

"They were able to do it," she exulted. "This means so much to so many hundreds of people. It is just wonderful."

DECORATING TREE

As soon as the Lovells' young-est child, Susan, 7, saw her father safely down, she ran down the street to the Walter Schirra home to help decorate the Christmas tree. Her mother had to call her back.

Mrs. Lovell is expecting a fourth child any day.

"It was the most perfect mission I could have hoped my husband could possibly be connected with," she said. "He could come home, be heard and all and I would welcome him with open arms."

"The mission got quite long, starting about the third or fourth day. I am looking forward to Apollo (moon shot) now."

But Mrs. Lovell said she imagined her husband would be looking for a shower bath ahead of a shave.

Mrs. Borman's sons, Frederick, 14, and Edwin, 12, stood on either side of her as she talked to reporters.

Fredrick said he thought the flight was "wonderful and great." But all the same, he did not really want to be an astronaut. He wanted to go to West Point.

the space program then," she replied. "But his mother used to beg me to try to keep him from taking explosives into the house."

Mrs. Lovell confessed that she does not even fly; she does not like to.

At her home for the splash-down were Rev. Donald R. Raish, an Episcopal rector from LaPorte, Tex.; Mrs. Ed White, wife of the astronaut; astronaut Peter Conrad and his wife, and Mrs. Joseph Shea, wife of the chief of the Apollo program.

COPTER PICKUP

The exhausted spacemen asked for a helicopter pickup, electing not to wait for the arrival of the Wasp.

They climbed through the hatches into life rafts and gave the pilots of the rescue planes overhead thumbs-up signals telling them everything was okay.

A horse-collar was lowered from a helicopter and each astronaut was hauled up and flown to the Wasp, where excited sailors lined the rails waiting for a glimpse of them.

Weary and Bearded Astronauts Getting
Checkup; Appear OK

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (P) — Blackened by the fire of reentry, the Gemini 7 spaceship rode a parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, bringing astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. home safely from man's greatest adventure in space.

Weary and heavily bearded after 14 long days of the weightless ordeal, they guided their tiny craft to a splash-down at 9:05 a.m. EST, 11 to 17 miles from the prime recovery vessel, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The meteoric dive back to earth ended the most exciting and the most significant space voyage ever flown by man.

Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell had traveled far longer than any other spacemen—350 hours, 35 minutes—flew the most miles—5,129,400—and had given the United States a long lead over Russia in many other phases of the race between the nations to be first on the moon.

And, with a skillful assist from the Gemini 6 pilots, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Thomas Stafford, they achieved the first true rendezvous of orbiting spaceships—an historic feat recorded graphically on color film.

City Bus Operator Cited as Safe Driver of Week

A Pontiac bus driver has been cited as this week's safe driver.

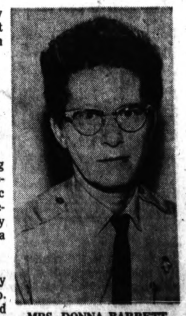

Mrs. Donna Barrett, 138 S. Merrimac, will receive a $25 U.S. Savings bond as her prize in the safe-driving awards program.

Mrs. Barrett was credited by police for averting an accident at West Wilson and Franklin Road.

Driving a Pontiac Transit Corp. bus, she signaled and held back approaching traffic when another car without brakes was forced to run through the intersection.

Safe-driving awards are being made to drivers in a safety program sponsored by the Pontiac Exchange Club, the police department and the traffic safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The bond is being furnished by the Pontiac Exchange Club. Four bonds are to be awarded in December.

Cong Toss Grenade Near Yank Quarters, Injuring 5 S. Viets

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong terrorists hurled a grenade at one American officers' billet tonight, injuring five Vietnamese.

A second billet housing high ranking U.S. officers was evacuated when police received a tip the Viet Cong would bomb it.

The outbreaks of terrorism in the heart of Saigon marked the fifth consecutive day of Viet Cong activities in observation of the fifth anniversary Monday of the founding of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

Clarify Offer, Hanoi Is Asked

The Hanoi offer had already been rejected.

Diplomats here and at the United Nations expressed concern that disclosure might torpedo the peace efforts and bring strong Communist Chinese pressure on Hanoi.

CEASE-FIRE

Before entering talks, Hanoi said, there should be a cease-fire throughout Viet Nam and agreement that negotiations be based on the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam as defined by the four-point program laid down last March by the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

"The government in Hanoi is prepared to initiate negotiations without first requiring actual withdrawal of the American troops," Fanfani reported.

The North Vietnamese have consistently called for U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam, but the four points are vague on when this should occur.

Replying to Fanfani's letter, which was dated Nov. 20, Rusk said in a Dec. 4 letter that the United States is "far from persuaded" that statements by Hanoi and Premier Pham Van Dong "indicate a real willingness for unconditional negotiations."

The White House said last night that it has had no indication that North Viet Nam "is ready to conduct unconditional discussions."

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said that the United States remains ready for negotiations without conditions with North Viet Nam and is awaiting a reply from Hanoi "to determine whether it wants to move this great question from the battlefield to the conference table."

NOTHING TO IT — Two young area policemen relate how they captured a bank robbery suspect just four minutes after a hold-up yesterday afternoon. Responsible for the apprehending were Leroy Imus (left), 26, who has been a Bloomfield Hills patrolman for six months, and Gilbert Fowler, 24, a Bloomfield Township patrolman for two and a half years.

swift action. Mrs. Wayne Hesselgrave, 43, of Waterford Township; Mrs. Lee Griffith, 38, of Bloomfield Township; and Mrs. Robert Lunney, 53, of Pontiac Township.

The praise came from Bloomfield Township Police Chief Norman Denhke and Mrs. Virginia Stark, the manager of the branch, who had left the office shortly before the robbery occurred at 12:40.

Denhke singled out Mrs. Hesselgrave for her alertness in racing to the window and getting the license number of the car as it raced out of the bank parking lot.

"They should all receive credit for the way they handled themselves in a terrible situation," said Mrs. Stark.

ALONE IN BANK — The three women were in the bank alone when the bandit entered Mrs. Lunney and Mrs. Griffith were behind the counter and Mrs. Hesselgrave in another room having lunch.

The first to notice the man was Mrs. Lunney. "I saw him looking in the vault and started toward him thinking it was a customer wanting help," she said. "Then

I saw the gun and these two pillow cases in his hands. He kept saying, 'this is a stickup,' said Mrs. Griffith. "He ordered us to fill the bags and then told me to lie down on the floor."

TOLD TO HURRY — "He told us to hurry up or he would shoot us," she said. "It was at this point Mrs. Hesselgrave heard the loud voice and walked in on the scene."

"I really thought it was someone playing a joke," she said. "I should have known better, after three years with the bank, that no one kids about this."

"When he waved the gun at me and told me to get moving or he'd shoot, I was convinced he wasn't fooling."

PUT IN VAULT — After the cash drawers were emptied into the bags by the women, he ordered them into the vault while he escaped through a side entrance.

None of the three was injured during the holdup. "It was quite a little experience," added Mrs. Lunney. "And to think I was just filling in for the day for another who is on vacation."

President's French Chef Spills Beans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has spilled the beans. Rene Verdon, who is packing his French recipes and carving knives to leave the White House Jan. 1, took advantage of an opportunity to air some White House kitchen secrets which cut to the quick of his Gallic sensitivity.

Verdon's complaints didn't exactly involve beans. More precisely, it was frozen boiled potatoes and whipped cream in the turtle soup with sherry.

The French chef was brought to the White House in 1964 by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

When Lyndon Johnson of Texas moved into the White House, he brought his own family cook along, but Verdon stayed on to officiate at state dinners and other social functions.

"VERY LOUSY" — In an interview with UPI, Verdon said that it has become a customary at the White House to boil potatoes ahead of time and store them in the freezer until they were needed.

The 39 sit-downers, who included six girls and two boys too young for Selective Service registration, were part of a group of more than 200 demonstrators who marched in the test outside the office building where the Ann Arbor draft board is located.

JFK Relection Was Doubtful, Says Cardinal

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing says he doesn't think John F. Kennedy could have been re-elected to a second term as president for "other reasons."

"The Democratic party in the North was in a mess," the prelate contended, "the South was still against him, Cuba was still against him, the Achilles heel of his administration and lot of people who worked for him before, hoping for patronage, were disappointed."

was enveloped by an electrical curtain and entered a four-story black-out period.

When they came through it, Borman reported he was flying a true course toward the recovery task force of five ships and 21 aircraft waiting to pluck them from the Atlantic Ocean 566 miles southwest of Bermuda.

A Navy plane sighted the spacecraft bobbing under its giant parachute, tracked it down to the water and got first word from the astronauts that they were all right.

It was not determined immediately whether Borman and Lovell, who had made a bet with Schirra and Stafford that their landing would be closer to the mark, won the bet. The Gemini 6 pilots missed by 13.4 miles.

The wager was made in space, as the two ships hovered close to each other, in the rendezvous, but the stakes were not disclosed.

Court May Get Draft Dispute

Would Decide Right of Reclassification

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The right of Selective Service to reclassify for immediate induction students whose anti-Viet Nam demonstrations actually interfere with draft board operations appears headed for a court challenge.

At least 10 University of Michigan students who took part in an Oct. 15 sit-in at the Ann Arbor Selective Service office have been reclassified to 1-A from 2-S status.

A 2-S classification is for students deferred from the draft to complete their education.

At least three of the reclassified students reached for comment said they still held to their anti-Viet Nam war feelings.

STUDENT VIEWS — "I would do the same thing again," said Eric Chester, 20, Douglas Truax, 21, called his position "still very much the same." I still hold basically the same views," said Ronald Miller, 19.

Among those protesting the reclassification are a U.S. senator, the university president, a veterans organization and several law professors.

Lt. Gen. Lewis Hershey, Selective Service director, says it has always been his view that a young man who violates the Selective Service law "should be given an opportunity to enter the armed forces rather than be prosecuted for his violation of the law."

Prosecution should come, he contends, only if the youth refuses to be inducted.

Draft officials point out that Section 12A of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended in 1952, provides that anyone who "knowingly hinders or interferes or attempts to do so in any way by force or violence," with the selective service could be fined $10,000 and sent to prison for five years if convicted.

So far, no federal charges have been filed against the sit-in demonstrators, but 39 have been found guilty of violating the city ordinance for trespassing. All have appealed their municipal court fines and 10 say jail sentences to circuit court.

The 39 sit-downers, who included six girls and two boys too young for Selective Service registration, were part of a group of more than 200 demonstrators who marched in the test outside the office building where the Ann Arbor draft board is located.

What did he think of this? "Very lousy."

"But what can you expect?" he added.

"I think it is better to do something nice, than to have boiled potatoes in the White House," Verdon said.

"LOSE FLAVOR" — He said it would be better for agricultural production to serve fresh foods. Besides, potatoes tend to lose their flavor when boiled and stored in a freezer for a long time.

Verdon went on to mention that there were two dishes with whipped cream on yesterday's White House menu — turtle soup with sherry and whipped cream and a peppermint mold with whipped cream.

Birmingham Area News

Board of Realtors Given Open Occupancy Plan

A three-part open occupancy proposal has been presented to leaders of the Birmingham Board of Realtors as the first step in a campaign by a new civil rights organization.

Representatives of the real estate group have agreed to submit to their board of directors the proposal of the newly formed Birmingham - Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy.

The salesmen and firms are being urged to:

- Take action to bring at least five Negro families into the area by Sept. 1, 1966.
- Cooperate with out-of-town brokers who have Negro clients seeking homes in the area.
- Adopt a policy as a group favoring open occupancy and condemning racial bias in residential sales.

Philip A. Hall, past president of the realtor group which represents some 50 area brokers and more than 200 individual salesmen, said the proposal would be presented to the nine-member board of directors "in the near future."

LED DELEGATION — John C. Palms, chairman of the open occupancy committee, said the four-member delegation which met with three of the brokers.

The appeal to real estate firms is one of two tactics established by the committee which was organized last month.

The other aim of the group is to enlist persons who will "appeal to the conscience" of their neighbors.

Palms said his committee would await word from the brokers.

"UP TO THEM" — "Now, in a sense, the next move is up to them," he said. "In the meantime, we'll have another general meeting the first part of January."

The committee's organizational meeting Nov. 14 was attended by some 250 persons.

On the agenda for the next public program will be a progress report on the conference with leaders of the real estate board.

"We'll also set up committees to approach other groups."

Veterans Groups to Install Officers

Barracks 49 of the Veterans of World War I and the Women's Auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers tomorrow afternoon at the American Legion Hall, 206 Auburn.

Guy Poppy of 1321 Vinewood, commander of the veterans group, and Mrs. Saul Korvanen of 8723 Cooley Lake, White Lake Township, president of the auxiliary, are among officers who will be installed.

A Christmas dinner and gift exchange will precede installation ceremonies. All World War I veterans are invited to attend.

A question which Wilson discussed at his news conference with utmost caution was the problem of nuclear sharing in the Atlantic alliance.

This will be the central issue next week, when Ludwig Erhard, the German chancellor, calls on Johnson. Erhard is expected to seek authority over some nuclear weapons.

Wilson said he was confident the embargo would restore what he called constitutional rule in Rhodesia, and added, "The earlier it happens the less bitterness there will be and less danger of setting Africa in flames."

Rhodesia's white government has declared unilateral independence from Britain. The country has about 225,000 whites and 4 million Negroes.

CHIEF REASON — Wilson said one of the chief reasons for his visit with Johnson was to explain the decision Britain faces in cutting its defense obligations east of Suez. Now that his government has "identified all options and choices" it must face, it was appropriate to discuss the problem with Johnson because of vital American interests in keeping the peace in the area, Wilson said.

HUGE GRINS — A bit wobbly, but sporting huge grins, Borman and Lovell walked to the strains of "Anchors Aweigh" and, to the wild cheers of the Wamp's men, to sick bay for their first checkup.

"Wait until we sleep," Borman said as he was led to sick bay. But the plea fell on deaf ears of the doctor waiting to check on the effects of their long stay in the environment of space.

Their second choice was for hot showers.

"We're awful dirty," Borman said, "but it's good, honest dirt."

EXCELLENT SHAPE — Ben James, NASA public affairs officer, said the doctors felt the astronauts had come through mentally alert and in excellent physical shape.

French Political Ball May Take Bad Bounce

Politics takes queer turns — no more so than in France.

With the presidential runoff scheduled for tomorrow, President DE GAULLE at 75 appears to be a shoo-in for another seven-year term as the country's leader. Indeed, his opponent, FRANCOIS MITTERRAND, has virtually conceded defeat, expecting to poll no more than 40 per cent of the popular vote.

But MITTERRAND is peering beyond the presidential election to the 1967 elections for the National Assembly. And if what he sees in his crystal ball comes to pass the picture of France's political outlook is a gloomy one.

The ambitious politician hopes by then to have a broadly-based party called the "Federation of the Democrat and Socialist Left," with the support of Communists, Socialists and splinter groups. The latter may even include elements of the right; for the candidate of the extreme right, Jean Louis Tixier-Vignancour, who ran in the first election, Dec. 5, has endorsed Mitterrand in the runoff.

It would be ironic if one result of the DE GAULLE strongman era in French politics should be the formation in the 1960s of a version of the Popular Front that in the 1930s doomed the Fourth French Republic.

Worldwide War Waged on Man's Common Foe

Cancer and space shots are frequently linked in popular conversation, usually to the effect that it is foolish to pour an estimated $20 billion into a program to land two men on the moon when thousands are dying every year for want of a cure to the dread disease.

Just how is the war on cancer going?

According to some reports, the solution to this great medical mystery of all time is being hampered not by too little research but by too little co-ordination of the immense amount of isolated research that is being carried on.

In nearly every country in the world are searching for a cause and cure—or causes and cures—for cancer in its various forms, says the publication Health Bulletin. The effort dwarfs almost any other medical research project.

The World Health Organization (WHO) now supports 15 cancer research centers throughout the world. France, England, Germany, Italy, Russia and the United States recently formed an international agency on cancer. There are at least two other international groups of cancer experts.

In the search for anticancer drugs, says the bulletin, more than 50,000 compounds a year are being tested on hundreds of thousands of experimental animals. In the past 10 years, more than 221,000 drugs have been screened and about 285 compounds are currently being used in clinical trials with volunteer patients.

A stage now seems to have been reached where more and more effort will be directed toward establishing some sort of co-ordinating unit and central clearing house for this mushrooming activity.

No one suggests that a breakthrough in cancer research is just over the horizon. It could be decades away—or it could be closer than we realize, even closer than the moon.

'65 Silent Year for Republicans

By JAMES MARLOWE

WASHINGTON (AP)—For Republicans, this has been the year of the big silence. Their 1964 election disaster not only shattered them, it left them practically speechless.

In 1965 occasional Republicans have made occasional statements but their performance as a party for the year can be described as enormously silent.

Their criticism of the Democrats has been feeble and their own proposals have been just about nonexistent, except for the war in Viet Nam. There they went President Johnson to be tougher.

True, they were hugely outnumbered by the Democrats in Congress but that didn't mean they had to stay tongue-tied. They did, though. As they tried to pick themselves up off the political floor, they had two hopes:

To try to glue the splintered remnants of the party back together again and to find some issues they might be able to use against the Democrats in the 1966 congressional election year.

If they've found any big ones, they haven't unveiled them.

RECONCILE VARIOUS GROUPS
GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss, with the sturdy task of trying to reconcile the various groups who parade under the Republican banner, or would like to, invited the various splinters to come into and under the Republican tent.

But when he ran into those Republicans who don't want any part of the John Birch Society or any part of it near the GOP tent, much less under it.

Some GOP governors want the party to denounce the Birch Society by name. But the party needs all the support it can get, including contributions, and so this happened this week:

Republican congressional leaders and some governors met to draw up their declaration on extremism. They simply criticized "radical or extremist" groups that try to infiltrate the GOP for their own ends. No mention of Birchites.

BIRCHITES MIGHTY PLEASED

And the Birchites, through their public relations director, John Rousselet, said they were mighty pleased the GOP had taken this stand.

Whereupon, the Republican House leader, the non-particularly fiery Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said that if Rousselet endorsed the antiextremist statement, "I have grave doubts he understood its meaning."

There couldn't have been any misunderstanding if the Republican leaders had just ventured to be specific.

This is only the latest example of how the party has pussy-footed all year.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE HOLY FAMILY

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." St. Luke 2:14.

Since that holy night, artists great and small, known and unknown, have been presenting this simple scene of great majesty to all humanity, in hopes that through the visual power of their faith, one day we will have peace on earth and good will among men.

Learn True Christmas Meaning

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

A little Buddhist lady tip-toed up the walk and peeped into the open door of the tiny church. Her eyes widened with astonishment.

Quickly, she ran to the door of her Christian neighbor on a busy Tokyo street, exclaiming, "So you keep Christmas, too?"

DR. LOEW

She had seen a Christmas tree in her country, the symbol was everywhere and the meaning was seldom anywhere.

This is life's constant irony. Great fact becomes great faith and then the faith may become an empty shell.

Ceremonies can lose significance. Observances can be degraded into empty gestures. When this happens, life becomes a cradle for cynics, instead of the birthplace of the hopeful.

In Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," the stage manager comments, "I'm awfully interested in how big things begin. You know how it is; you're young and you make decisions; then, wish! you're 70; you've been a lawyer for 50 years and that white-haired lady at your side has had 50,000 meals with you. How do things begin?"

Read the Christmas story and you discover the epic of a beginning which has permitted it to be of meaning. This is how this thing began.

Beginnings require continuing.

To have known of the beginning of the Christian story is intriguing. To understand the significance of this beginning is astonishing.

To recognize it in history is exciting.

To confront this fact for our own lives is revolutionary.

Let's listen to the carols and accept the invitation:

"And ye beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the climbing way
With painful steps and slow:
Look now, for glad and golden hours
Come swiftly on the wing;
O rest beside the weary road,
And hear the angels sing."

Voice of the People:

Press Reader Discusses Administration's Policy

In a statement by Democratic Congressman Bill S. Farnum last week, he said we could not win the war in Viet Nam under present administration policies but he thought we would win eventually. This must be great consolation to the mothers, wives and children of the servicemen who will never return, to know their men were sent to war by an administration that didn't intend to win. To say that a first rate power like the United States can't contain or stop a 30th rate power like Communist North Viet Nam is ridiculous. The answer can lie only with the intentions of the administration.

The entire world is looking and wondering at an exhibition of weakness by a major nation. Wars are started when an aggressor thinks he can beat the victim. Hitler thought he could run over Europe. Japan thought it would conquer the Far East. Communist North Korea thought they could overrun all of Korea. There are those in our government that think if we make ourselves weak enough militarily we will be immune to attack. History shows the reverse to be true. Peace lies in strength, not weakness.

Any time American men must lay their lives on the line for their country, they have the right to expect their country to put its full strength and integrity behind them.

NEW YORK—Julie Christie, the new British glamour symbol, wore cream-colored stockings and a dress that hung 5 inches above her knees.

WILSON

"I was going to say this dress is just a long shirt"—she looked down at the expanse above the knees—"but, come to think of it, it's a short shirt."

But when she sat down, the 24-year-old doll of "Darling" and "Dr. Zhivago"—tomorrow's great star, the experts all say—squirreled till her dress was 8 inches above the knee. Biting and digging at her nails, twisting her long hair, squishing out half-smoked cigarettes, she was a Jumpy Julie.

"Why are you nervous?" I asked. "I've been talking about myself all day," she smiled weakly. "It was the first day of her Great American Buildup as the All-Time Greatest all for 'Dr. Zhivago.' The New York premiere is December 22, the Hollywood premiere December 23.

"And how does it feel to hear you're the greatest?" "But they say that about all sorts of people, don't they?" Her thin frame—she weighs around 110—seemed to tremble.

Pacing the suite at the Algonquin which she insisted upon though Sophia Loren, Omar Sharif and Geraldine Chaplin will be in the opulence of the Waldorf Towers, Jumpy Julie admitted that she's just plain independent.

"Yes, if you don't get independent in this lock we're in, you'll be giving everything to everybody!" Julie flung this out militantly like the rebel of the new age she's supposed to represent.

"Somebody been taking advantage?" "No-o-o," she admitted. "You expect everybody to be nasty and they're the nicest people, so you're captive again!"

EARL'S PEARLS: "Winter is the season when children leave the doors open that they slammed all summer." ("Kathryn Murray.")

George Segal plays a biology professor in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" He says, "My role was filmed in cinemascopes and microscope." . . . That's earl, brother.

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford was delighted to receive the Christmas card.

The photograph was pretty and in the background was an outline of the White House.

But it was unsigned. A telephone call of apology soon ended the sender's anonymity. It had come from President and Mrs. Johnson.

The White House said Ford was one of several hundred recipients of unsigned cards. New cards are being mailed.

Junior Editors Quiz on PLASTICS

QUESTION: How are plastics made?

ANSWER: Plastic means able to be moulded. Since the first plastics were shaped by pressure, this name was adopted by the inventors. Articles made from plastic are different from other manmade objects.

Take a wooden log and you can make paper from it. But the paper is still wood pulp—wood in another form.

But in making plastics, the basic raw materials are changed into something new and different.

Many plastics start with simple raw materials such as water, air, coal, limestone and salt.

These are treated in different ways—by squeezing, heating, distilling and so on (suggested in pictures to right) producing other materials such as ethylene, ammonia, formaldehyde, etc.

In the process, the tiny invisible building blocks of matter, the molecules, are rearranged in new ways.

This process, called polymerization, produces new products, the synthetic resins, such as those of the important urea, vinyl, phenolic and polystyrene groups.

Taking these, the plastics manufacturer, by various processes of heating, casting, squeezing and so on, makes the amazing variety of light, waterproof, tough objects we use in our everyday lives.

FOR YOU TO DO: Write down a list of qualities you think plastics have. You will write "hard" and "tough"; but then think of the plastic cheeks of Liza's doll which she is pinching to make the doll purse her lips, and you will also have to write "flexible."

Pact Ends Labor War at Kohler

KOHLER, Wis. (AP) — Labor peace, sealed by a handshake, has returned to this tiny Wisconsin town, wracked for 11½ years by a bitter struggle between the Kohler Co. and the United Auto Workers.

A final agreement was reached Friday as the plumbingware firm agreed to pay $4.5 million in back pay and pensions. The pact was sealed with a handshake by two adversaries, Emil Mazey, U.A.W. secretary-treasurer, and Lyman C. Conger, Kohler vice president and general counsel.

"I'm sure glad it's settled in the peaceful manner it was," said Arthur E. Bauer, 67, who was vice president of Local 833 when the strike began — April 5, 1954. "Everybody concerned can begin doing a little good for the community instead of fighting."

The strike was marked by six years of violence, then by five years of legal battles after the walkout ended in 1960. The dispute reached the U.S. Supreme Court several times.

Union officials had mixed reactions to the cost of the dispute.

"No matter what the amount of back pay is," Bauer said, "unless it would be $25,000, you couldn't make it up in wages lost during the strike."

But Allan Graskamp, president of the local when the strike started, said, "The long, hard struggle was very much worthwhile."

The agreement, announced jointly by the company and the union, will provide $3 million in back pay to approximately 1,400 former strikers. The National Labor Relations Board will decide who gets what, with individual amounts expected to range up to $10,000. Restoration of pension rights will account for at least another $1.5 million.

When it began, the strike involved 2,778 of Kohler's 3,300 workers, according to union leaders. Local 833 accused the family-owned Kohler firm of union-busting tactics. Although arbitration machinery, seniority rights and wages were involved, union security was the main strike issue.

Kohler also is complying with NLRB orders to reinstate 57 workers it dismissed during the strike on misconduct charges. E. H. Kohlhaas, recording secretary of the local throughout the long dispute and one of the 57, voiced pleasure with the settlement.

"I don't want to gloat about this, though," Kohlhaas said. "We have pretty good relations with Kohler at present and hope to improve it even further. The past is water over the dam."

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Despite a personal whirlwind agenda, Mrs. Donald Bos of W. Iroquois maintains an attractive home which reflects an aura of complete comfort and calm.

Pale-green walls, blending antique-satin draperies and ivory carpeting establish a simple background for the family heirlooms displayed in the living room.

Shades of blue and green throw pillows on the ivory brocade sofa emphasize the room's color accents.

Sharing the top of the fruitwood sofa table are a Venetian lamp and a silver and crystal pickle dish.

"I owe the pickle dish to my sister," said Mrs. Bos. "When we were closing grandmother's house after her death, it was my sister who kept hunting until she found all the pieces."

"Grandmother had used the pressed glass portion of the dish as a mint holder so that was easy to find. But the rest of the parts she had scattered all over the house."

"The top of the jar was finally found in her button box."

"When all the pieces were corralled and put together, my sister gave it to me."

Decorating the cherry coffee table are a floral arrangement in a "signed" Aurene vase of electric-blue and a crystal and silver brandy set.

The conversation grouping is completed by two Victorian chairs upholstered in a muted-coral antique velvet.

A hallway leads to the spacious family room added to the back of the house. Paneled in Peruvian mahogany, the room is carpeted in a gray-green.

Black and gold beeswax candles are used in the massive cast-iron scones mounted above the fireplace. A random overlay of gold brightens the fixture.

Informal Activities Stressed in Ranch

A three-bedroom house often is limited in size because it is intended for a family of four. But if two of the four are active, growing children, they will demand as much space for play and informal activities as a larger home would offer.

At the same time, most parents want as much good living area as the larger home has.

Based on many requests for this kind of "big" thinking for a smaller family, architect Lester Cohen has designed this attractive, good-looking house with enough space for junior and senior members of the household.

By constructive use of the space, he has handled it in a moderately-budgeted home.

The square foot area is 1,400, excluding the mudroom, lavatory and laundry section behind the garage.

HIGH SPOT

A high spot in the area planning is the kitchen-family room, stretching over 30' at the back of the house.

For the kitchen proper, there is a broken L of counters and appliances, including a barbecue unit for indoor cookout use at the point where the kitchen and family room merge.

The sunny dinette looks over the outdoor patio, and from the family room, a wall of sliding glass doors opens out to the screened porch.

This latter area is an excellent place for kids to play, supervised from the kitchen when they are very young.

As the youngsters get older, the porch becomes an outdoor informal room. The patio will be welcome for all for outdoor sunning, eating and informal partying in pleasant weather.

In addition to the family room and its outdoor adjuncts, there is a basement layout that offers a game room, with a dance area, snack bar and convenient lavatory plus a big storage closet.

The architect has called it a teen-age room, since it is likely that it will be used more often than by those of school age, but it probably will get more than a little attention from the older.

CHILDREN'S RETREAT

In any case, when the children are using it for anything from scout meetings to fraternity or sorority sessions, the parents will appreciate that they can do their own formal entertaining upstairs in the big living-dining room combination.

By having the living and dining rooms set together, with no appreciable divider, there is a sweep of 28'.

There is a fireplace in the living room section, as well as a TV-HI-FI built-in.

The fireplace is duplicated in the family room, and the TV-HI-FI built-in is duplicated in the basement room.

At the right side of the house, across the center hall, is the bedroom wing. The master bedroom has its own dressing room and lavatory.

Note the unusual amount of wall space in this room. To the rear are two other bedrooms, each with plenty of closet space.

G-14 STATISTICS

Design G-14 has a combined living-room, kitchen, family room, laundry-mud room, patio, screen porch, three bedrooms, two baths and a central hall. There are 1440 square feet of living area, excluding the patio, porch, the two-car garage and the section behind it. There is a teenage or game room in the dimensions are 73' 2" by 31' 2". Over-all dimensions are 73' 2" by 31' 2".

Hydronics Offer Extras for Comfort

Automatic transmissions, power steering and power windows are adding to our driving comfort and soon after their introduction on luxury cars, these extras became the accepted standard.

Likewise, many of the "luxuries" of today's modern home are rapidly becoming necessities for true home comfort.

Many extras offered with hydronic (forced circulation hot water) heating are examples of luxuries which are becoming standard equipment in many new homes today.

These extras include air conditioning, snow melting systems which clear ice and snow from driveways and sidewalks, heated swimming pool, heated garage, and zoned heating which allows for different temperatures in different parts of the house.

With the exception of air conditioning, all of these "extras" can be powered by the same small boiler that heats the house if provision for their inclusion is made when the heating system is installed. Air conditioning is most efficient when it is installed independent of the heating system.

Have several flashlights located around the house.

If they have not been used for any length of time, check them to see that the batteries are not worn out.

Take Time Now to Be Prepared

Power Failures Apt to Occur in Winter

Power failures can occur any time but are likeliest during the winter when storms and the extra weight of ice and snow can knock out electric lines.

Whatever the cause of the failure, every home should be equipped to face the loss of power and every homeowner should know what to do while the power is out and when it comes back on.

A private power plant is too costly for the average person, so when the power fails it is a matter of knowing how best to do without it.

The first problem is to provide light for safety as well as convenience.

It is a simple matter to provide a supply of candles and several flashlights ahead of time.

KEEP HANDY

Store these where you can get to them easily.

Have several flashlights located around the house.

If they have not been used for any length of time, check them to see that the batteries are not worn out.

Have several extra batteries on hand.

Kerosene lanterns are in Use them when the power is out.

Disconnect all major appliances immediately after the power is out.

Connect them and turn them on individually when the power is restored.

If the wiring in your home is just barely adequate this will prevent a dangerous overload.

Even with adequate wiring, it is best to have appliances turned off since this will protect them from damage.

Sometimes when the electricity goes back on, it is restored at only half-voltage.

FULL VOLTAGE

An appliance is built to be operated at full-voltage.

Without enough power the motor works harder to make up the difference and might burn out.

You can tell from the weak glow of a lamp that full-power has not been restored.

Full freezers and refrigerators are always a cause for worry.

You can prevent spoilage by opening them as little as possible.

Keep the freezer closed and food will keep for 36 hours or more.

Food items in frequent use can be kept cool on the back doorstep or a porch.

Quality Seal Announced by Council

A new quality testing and certification program for ceramic tile, designed to give better service to architects, builders and consumers, has just been launched by the Tile Council of America, Inc., trade association of the domestic ceramic tile manufacturers.

The Tile Council said that effective April 1 it is certifying that tile bearing its triangular certification mark equals or exceeds the highest quality standards of the United States government.

Quality characteristics involved include color harmony or uniformity, physical appearance, capacity to bond to backing material, thickness and other factors. The Council is conducting an extensive and continuing national testing program to maintain the high quality.

The council said the new program would make it possible for a person seeking high quality in ceramic tile to "be sure" simply by insisting on tile bearing its quality certification mark.

The quality certification is effective for one year from the date of original shipment by the manufacturer, or up to the time of installation, whichever period is shorter. Should tile bearing the certification mark fail to meet the quality standards it will be replaced.

On March 31, 1880, Wabash, Ind., became the first electrically illuminated city in the world.

Selected as teen of the week is Kimberly Callahan, a ninth grade student at Kennedy Junior High School.

In addition to her administrative duties, she is a member of the cheer-leading squad, Ski Club, Booster Club, Kennedy's choir, the Youth for Christ group, and serves on the school newspaper.

Following high school graduation, Kimberly hopes to attend college and prepare for a career as a legal secretary.

U-M Board: No Conflict by Regent

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan Board of Regents Friday cleared fellow Regent Eugene B. Power of any indication of conflict of interest charges resulting from his firm's business relations with the school.

The regents based their action on an opinion from the Detroit law firm of Butzel, Eamman, Long, Gust and Kennedy. The opinion read: "It cannot fairly and within reason be said that Regent Power at the present time has, or during the period of his holding the office since Jan. 1, 1956, had a 'conflict of interest' either substantial or within the provisions of Act 107 of 1875, if that act applies to a regent of the university."

The legislative auditor general, Albert Lee, raised the issue last week, saying Power's firm, University Microfilms Inc., had concluded two microfilming contracts, involving a total reimbursement to the university of $9,36.

Lee's report said the firm paid the university no rental for the room in the undergraduate library in which it keeps two cameras.

The report said there was a barter arrangement under which the firm copied doctoral dissertations, allowing the university to collect the $25 fee from students and allowing the firm to retain copies of the dissertations without paying any royalty.

University President Harlan Hatcher said the legal opinion would be sent to the state attorney general's office. The attorney general currently is preparing an opinion on Power's business relationships with the university at the request of Rep. Jack Paxson, D-Detroit.

In other action, the regents accepted $463,195 in gifts, appointed Professor Warren Wagner Jr. director of the botanical gardens, and approved the joint establishment of an Institute of Gerontology with Wayne State University.

GOP Apportioners Aim at 'Practicality' in Population Equality of Districts

LANSING (AP) — Republican members of the Apportionment of final agreement on new House Commission changed direction and Senate districts.

Friday and reversed a trend toward mathematical equality in legislative districts.

They proposed a legislative districting plan that "provides for districts of as nearly equal population as practicable."

They said the pursuit of absolute equality in House and Senate districts was "unreasonable."

The plan was presented near the end of a two-day session.

variance of 5,000, as compared with the present 3,000 between the largest and smallest.

Some of the plans presented so far by both Republicans and Democrats have come within 1,000 between largest and smallest districts.

Each district in the latest plan comes within 5 per cent of the average district population, they said, while earlier plans varied as much as 25 per cent.

The Michigan Supreme Court of shape of the districts. "We Republican members Supreme Court (after the U.S.

have strived for population per- fect simply because it ap- peared to be the only way to reach agreement with the demo- cratic members," the statement said.

Democrats said they did not have enough time Friday to assess the latest Republican proposal. But Democratic Commis- sioner A. Robert Kleiner said Grand Rapids said he was struck "by the similarities of the Austin plan to the original Austin- Kleiner plan that was declared unconstitutional by the State agreement.

Supreme Court handed down good—from what I've seen and heard in the past few days," Kleiner said. He added later he felt the similarities of the new plans coming from both sides of the table were "striking" although the differences were still substantial in many areas.

New Director for Rights Unit

Confident, Says Kin
of NAACP Executive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roger W. Wilkins, the new director of the Community Relations Service, doesn't feel that he lacks experience even though he has been in the civil rights field "as a professional" only 14 months.

"After living in this country as a Negro for 33 years and working for this agency for 14 months, I feel like I know what it's all about," he said. The service has no enforcement authority but can step into civil rights disputes anytime it chooses.

Wilkins, a 33-year-old lawyer, is a nephew of Roy C. Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Before joining the Community Relations Service, he said, his only previous professional civil rights work consisted of a summer spent in legal research for Thurgood Marshall, pioneering civil rights lawyer who is now solicitor general.

VACANT POST

President Johnson appointed Wilkins to the $27,000-a-year director's job Friday. The post had been vacant since LeRoy Collins became undersecretary of commerce last summer. Calvin Kytle, who had been acting director, resigned earlier this week.

Johnson also announced that Brooks Hays, former Arkansas congressman and presidential assistant, would take over the No. 2 post in the service with the title of associate director.

Wilkins does not think of the service as a passive umpire in civil rights disputes.

"Our job is to achieve compliance with the Civil Rights Act," he said, "and that's what we will try to do."

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

Wilkins formerly was assistant director for community action.

He was "a general troubleshooter" for the Agency for International Development for two years. Before entering government work he was associated with a New York law firm.

A native of Kansas City, Wilkins received his bachelor of arts and law degrees from the University of Michigan. He is married and has two children, Amy, 6, and David, 18 months.

Wilkins said there would be no "insurmountable problems" involved in the proposed transfer of the Community Relations Service from the Commerce Department to the Justice Department.

Kytle reportedly opposed the move. When he resigned, Kytle gave no reason.

Transfer of the agency would have to be approved by Congress.

Wilkins said, "I believe this staff will work well regardless of what department they're working under."

Reds Open Wall Today to W. Berliners

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists opened the Berlin wall today for two weeks of holiday season visiting, west to east only.

Perhaps in the spirit of the season, East German border guards began passing traffic through the wall 10 minutes ahead of schedule.

It was the sixth time since the wall was erected in August 1961, that the Communists have permitted West Berliners to visit their relatives in the Soviet zone for a day.

Passes expire daily at midnight. As always, the Communists did not permit residents in the east to enter West Berlin for fear they would not return.

An estimated 500,000 West Berliners have applied for passes through the wall, which will be shut again Jan. 3.

Officials said 30,000 West Berliners, most of them carrying dolls, shoes, coffee, soap and other items as presents, poured through the wall in the first hour today.

Rocky, Bobby in N.Y. Spat Over Mentally Retarded

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller accused U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today of attempting to act as a "political broker" in federal-New York State approaches to the problems of the mentally retarded.

The Republican governor made the remark in replying to a Kennedy telegram in which the Democratic senator said that New York was failing to take full advantage of federal money and know-how in the mental-retardation field.

The exchange between two of the state's top political figures occurred in telegrams sent Friday. Rockefeller's office made the correspondence public today.

"I trust," Rockefeller said, "that the continuing relations of state officials with their federal counterparts and the obtaining of assistance for the mentally retarded will not depend on your acting as the political broker."

Rockefeller replied that Kennedy was trying to make political capital out of grief.

The Democratic senator in his telegram Friday reminded Rockefeller that he had offered the latest round in a controversy that erupted last September when Kennedy denounced conditions at two state institutions for the mentally retarded.

Kennedy charged then that patients were "worse off than animals in a zoo."

Rockefeller replied that Kennedy was trying to make political capital out of grief.

The Democratic senator in his telegram Friday reminded Rockefeller that he had offered bring federal and state mental health officials together.

OUTLINES GOAL

The goal of such meetings, Kennedy said, would be to familiarize federal officials with New York's problems and acquaint the state agencies with new federal programs.

Kennedy then listed eight federal programs, which he said could provide New York State more than $10 million a year in aid for the mentally retarded.

The governor repeated in his reply that New York State is well aware of the available federal programs.

He chided Kennedy for what the governor apparently viewed as a suggestion that his Republican regime was not cooperating with President Johnson's Democratic administration on the subject.

Rockefeller said federal and New York officials had enjoyed a close relationship over the years "regardless of the political party in power at either level of government."

The lowest temperature ever recorded on earth outside of a laboratory was 127 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, at Vostok, Antarctica about 800 miles from the South Pole in 1960.

Students Back at Cass Tech

DETROIT (AP) — Four Cass Technical High School students, suspended for wearing black armbands in sympathy to the dead on both sides in the Viet Nam war, were reinstated Friday.

Principal Orville F. Helt, who said he suspended the students when they refused to take off the armbands, issued a statement to all students.

The statement said the use of "badges, armbands and symbols to publicize a belief or an opinion is a freedom which Cass does not wish to deny to any of its students."

"However, any behavior which is disruptive to the regular educational program of the school, which may interfere with the students' opportunity to pursue their study, is an abridgement of individual freedom which the school cannot tolerate."

"This includes any demonstrations, wearing of any placards of insignia, proved to be disruptive of the orderly program of instruction or detrimental to the instruction of those not interested."

At the time of the suspensions, Helt said he asked the students to remove the armbands until he found out what the issue was all about.

Reinstated were Tessa Davidson, 17 of suburban Huntington Woods, and Barry Biesanz, 17, Anne Krandsdorf, 16, and Loretta Rosenfeld, 16, all of Detroit. One was suspended Wednesday and the others Thursday.

France Faces Election Choice Tomorrow

PARIS (AP) — France elects a president Sunday, choosing between what incumbent Gaullist Charles de Gaulle calls the "stability" of his regime and opposition Francois Mitterrand's promise of a "return to democratic government."

Many observers believe the election will be close. But it is not certain to what extent Mitterrand, a lawyer with Socialist and Communist support, has been able to capitalize on discontent with the Gaullist regime.

However, the mere fact that the election is a runoff demonstrates that disaffection exists in a significant quantity.

In the first round of voting Dec. 5, when six candidates were on the ballot, de Gaulle got 45 per cent of the vote. He needed a simple majority to win.

Most opposition votes were divided among Mitterrand, who received 32 per cent, right-winger Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, 5 per cent, and centrist Jean Lecanuet, 15 per cent.

Mitterrand likely will benefit from the right wing's image of de Gaulle as the symbol of the French empire's dismemberment. Tixier-Vignancour has asked his supporters to vote for Mitterrand.

Lecanuet, whose principal campaign plank was a united Europe, has asked his 3.7 million supporters not to vote for de Gaulle. But he did not openly endorse Mitterrand either.

A poll taken three days ago showed 22 per cent of the voters undecided. De Gaulle had 54 per cent of those decided and Mitterrand 46 per cent.

Mitterrand has campaigned hard for the Lecanuet vote, promising the heal the rupture in the Common Market caused by de Gaulle's withdrawal of French ministers last June.

De Gaulle has permitted himself to hint at rapprochement with the Common Market and at a European "federation" that could include Britain. De Gaulle vetoed British Common Market membership in 1963.

On domestic issues, Mitterrand has emphasized what he says are French inadequacies in housing, schools and roads. He blames them, in part, on the de Gaulle regime's expenditures for nuclear arms. Mitterrand has promised to convert the French atomic establishment to peaceful uses.

Another theme of the 49-year-old opposition candidate's campaign has been the "regime of in office as responsible for "stability, peace, progress and independence."

For his part, the 75-year-old de Gaulle has defended his time regime of parties" of the Fourth Republic. He has tried to identify Mitterrand, several times a Fourth Republic minister, with the governmental instability of the previous regime.

In campaigning for a second seven-year-term, de Gaulle has said these conditions were not possible during the "chaotic regime of parties" of the Fourth Republic. He has tried to identify Mitterrand, several times a Fourth Republic minister, with the governmental instability of the previous regime.

The turnout Sunday should be large, perhaps as great as that of Dec. 5 when 24.4 million voted. There are 28.8 million registered voters.

The seven Christmas gift suggestions on this page are not battery operated. And no assembling is required.

The only thing needed to keep them running (and running and running) is plenty of affection.

A lighthearted warning, however, is given by officials of the Oakland County Animal Shelter and the Michigan Animal Rescue League (Humane Society).

Expensive mechanical toys and complicated games under the tree may momentarily be shoved aside while a friendship is cemented.

ASSORTED SIZES

Like most gifts, dogs come in assorted sizes and colors.

The variety is endless, and the Animal Shelter in the County Center and Humane Society, 790 Featherstone, have scores from which to choose.

They also come in all price ranges.

At the Animal Shelter, puppies start at $3.

A LITTLE MORE

Dogs over 4 months old cost a little more since it's necessary to get a license — $1 for males and $2 for females — and have them inoculated against rabies.

The shelter is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

A puppy can be purchased at the Humane society (Michigan Animal Rescue League) for $8 for females and $10 for males, while grown dogs cost up to $25. Some 50 dogs are currently available at the Animal Shelter.

Pakistan Hurricane Toll at Over 10,000

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI)—Authorities today attempted to restore communication with sections of East Pakistan where a hurricane killed more than 10,000 persons Tuesday.

Rescuers distributed food and medical aid to survivors of the storm which uprooted trees, smashed village huts and sent thousands fleeing for their lives.

along the 50-mile coastline south from Cox's Bazar to Teknaf.

The hurricane hit East Pakistan about 200 miles east of the mouth of the River Ganges.

Officials said most casualties occurred in the offshore islands which caught the full force of the storm's 140-mile-an-hour winds and were in the path of an accompanying tidal wave.

The storm was compared to the one last May which took more than 17,000 lives in the Barisal region of East Pakistan.

ESTIMATED TOLL

One provincial official estimated that more than 10,000 lives were lost on Maheshkhali, the largest of the offshore islands. Another report said there were an estimated 2,000 dead or missing on the island of Kutubdia, 20 miles off the coast.

About 1,000 fishermen living on the coast were feared to have been swept away.

Former Provincial Minister Syed Azizul Huq, who was in Cox's Bazar during the three-hour storm, said the loss of life and the devastation were "Colossal."

He said public drum-beaters and loudspeakers spent all day Tuesday alerting area residents to the coming storm.

"When danger signal No. 10 sounded, my family and I packed up and went to the court building," he said. "I persuaded many other tourists to come along with us."

"There was heavy rain and a strong wind. The sky glared red and by 11:15 p. the wind gained velocity and the city was plunged into darkness. About 500 persons rushed to the court building."

"We could hear the cries from the huts below. The court building quaked, and we thought we were going to perish any minute, but the infinite mercy of Allah saved us."

At least 100 survivors were pulled out of the sea by a patrol boat cruising offshore.

UP IN ARMS — President Johnson had an extra passenger in his limousine after last night's Christmas tree lighting ceremony in Washington. On the President's lap is 2-year-old Courtenay Valenti, daughter of presidential aide Jack Valenti. In ceremonies behind the White House, Johnson said Christmas was a reminder that "our first and most compelling task is peace." British Prime Minister Harold Wilson also attended the lighting of the 90-foot spruce.

Staples Buys Stradivarius For Recitals

DETROIT, Mich. — Gordon Staples, assistant concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, has purchased the famed "Halir" Stradivarius violin dated 1694.

It is valued at $25,000 and was owned previously by a private collector in Genesee County. Staples plans to use the instrument regularly with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

FIRST SOLO USE

Staples' first solo use of the instrument in Detroit was at a piano-violin recital with Sixten Ehrling at the Sts. Constantine and Helen Community Center Friday evening.

Later this season, on January 27, Staples will be soloist and Ehrling will conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in the Detroit premiere of Alban Berg's violin concerto.

The "Halir" Stradivarius acquired its name through once belonging to the Bohemian violinist Carl Halir (1859-1909), who was a protégé of the celebrated Joachim. Among subsequent owners of the instrument was the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, where it was used by Jascha Brodsky as first violinist of the Curtis String Quartet.

Patients' Gifts Are Presented By Garden Club

Gifts for Pontiac State Hospital patients were brought when Sylvan Lake Garden Club members met at the Oakland County Boat Club.

The meeting also featured a "cookie exchange" for the members.

The West Bloomfield High School Chorus, directed by Merlin Asplin, sang carols.

Refreshment committee chairman was Mrs. Ida Reeves, assisted by Mrs. Robert Felt, Mrs. Willis Brewer and Mrs. Stanley Fikins. Mrs. Proctor Coats and Mrs. Edith Thomas presided at the tea table.

Exchange Vows Today

MRS. N. J. RAUPP JR.

MRS. J. E. OMILIAN JR.

Carolyn Marie Johnston and Pfc. Norman Joseph Raupp Jr. exchanged vows today in Our Lady of Refuge Catholic Church.

After an evening reception in the Middle Straits Community Center, they will leave for a southern motor tour.

Their parents are the Howard H. Johnstons of Hickock Street and the senior Raupps of West Long Lake Road, also of West Bloomfield Township.

Alencon lace touched with pearls and crystals accented the bride's gown of white satin, with chapel train. A petal tiara cradled her bubble veil of silk illusion.

Yellow-throated white orchids and white Fuji chrysanthemums were arranged in a cascade bouquet.

Barbara Donohue was honor attendant at the ceremony performed by the Rt. Rev. Magr. Thomas Jobs. Mrs. Charles English was bridesmaid.

Terry Finan performed the duties of best man and Leonard Raupp ushered at his brother's wedding.

RETURNS TO GERMANY

The bridegroom will return to Mannheim, Germany, where he is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Club Plans Tea

The Pontiac Woman's Club will have a silver tea Monday at 1 p.m. in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building. Mrs. Henry Berg will be in charge of arrangements.

Put Your Money in Kettle for the Salvation Army

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last year a rather humorous letter appeared in your column from a little boy who was "confused" about Santa Claus.

He said he saw a short, fat Santa in one of the stores, and a few minutes later he saw a tall, thin Santa standing on the street corner beside a large kettle, ringing a bell for the Salvation Army. The boy was indeed confused. But no more so than some adults.

For 72 years the "kettle" has been the symbol of the Salvation Army's Christmas appeal. OUR kettle is always manned by a man or woman wearing the uniform of the Salvation Army. NEVER a Santa outfit!

A small matter, perhaps, but we want all those who wish to help the needy at Christmas-time through the Salvation Army to know WHICH fund-raiser represent us. Sincerely,

ANDREW S. MILLER

MAJOR: SALVATION ARMY

DEAR MAJOR MILLER: I appreciate your letter. And perhaps my readers would like to know the interesting story of how the "kettle" became the symbol of your sidewalk Christmas appeal.

On Christmas eve, 1894, survivors of a shipwreck off the rocky coast of San Francisco were brought to the Salvation Army for shelter. California, along with the rest of the nation, was gripped by a depression.

The Salvation Army was already caring for thousands of impoverished seamen and longshoremen. When the food ran out, an ingenious lassie picked up a soup kettle and stepped out into the bitter cold. At a busy street corner she set up a sign, "KEEP THE POT BOILING."

Through the generosity of passersby, that night there was soup for all. Word of the unique appeal spread to other Salvation Army posts, and it soon was adopted by them all—and it has ever been thus.

DEAR ABBY: Why is there so much sickness today? Everywhere you go, someone has a virus, back trouble, or an allergy or something. Back in the olden days, like say in Biblical times, they never heard of ulcers, diabetes or high blood pressure. And no one ever dropped dead of a heart attack. Why?

DEAR CURIOUS: In Biblical times, most men, women and children didn't survive long enough to contract ulcers, diabetes or high blood pressure.

And considering that our bodies were not designed to withstand fallout, sonic booms, carbon monoxide, executive board meetings and countless other by-products of civilization, I think modern man is doing splendidly.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ELIAS BROS. NEEDS A WAITRESS

She has to be big, strong and healthy. Carrying trays loaded with Big Boy's super-sized portions is no job for a willing magnolia. She has to be fast. Folks who come to Big Boys like their food in a hurry, then take their time enjoying it. Not the other way around.

She has to like kids. We get lots because we're a family restaurant. (Four healthy appetites can eat regularly at Big Boys for less than $5). And she has to have will power. It's pretty tough to resist snatching a crispy french fry or golden-brown fried shrimp occasionally but we'd rather she didn't sizzle in front of our guests.

What can we offer?

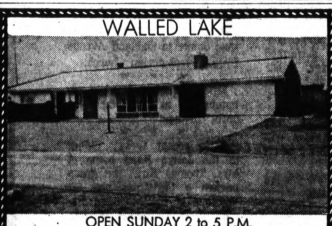

A permanent job, hourly wages plus tips, paid vacation and hospitalization in clean wholesome surroundings, nice uniforms and a lot of wonderful people to work with. You see, girls like the one's we're looking for right now are the only kind we hire.

Athletic Field's Future Viewed

Citizens Group Heard by Waterford Board

Determined to upgrade the athletic field at Waterford Kettering High School, a group of citizens approached the Board of Education Thursday night.

The field presently is not equipped with lights.

Consequently, the football team played two of its home games on the field at Waterford Township High School this year.

According to school officials, Waterford Township Field belongs to both high schools.

Nonetheless, officials have been weighing development of one big stadium or making improvements at each facility.

The matter was referred to the citizens' advisory subcommittee on high school planning for further study.

County Must Guard Beauty---Developer

Oakland County is the beauty-unity on one acre of land in a spot of the metropolitan area two-story building and equally but lack of proper planning can critical of politicians who allow it, a real estate developer such development in the communities.

Speaking to some 16 planners from Oakland County municipalities, Craig A. Smith, president of the Sullivan-Smith Realty Co., of Dearborn sounded the warning.

Smith said the time has come when planners must become bold and begin to control the aesthetics of development.

He lamented that planners seemed to be at the mercy of politicians and political pressures in development of their communities and suggested that they have greater power to control planning.

Smith said that as Oakland County becomes more urbanized, many of the planning compared to Paris and London.

He was particularly critical of one of the most highly infested "quick profit" builders who toss of the communicable disease 25 and more apartment cases.

Driver Robbed by Hitchhiker

An ungrateful hitchhiker threatened a Pontiac man with a knife and robbed him in a parking lot at 2675 Dixie at about 1 a.m., when a man asked him for a ride.

When they stopped at 3115 Dixie, the hitchhiker said he would slash Weiler if he did not turn over his valuables.

The man fled on foot with $170 and Weiler's watch.

Area Woman, 59, Hospitalized by 2-Car Collision

A 59-year-old Rochester woman is reported in fair condition at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital after a two-car collision in Avon Township last night.

Mrs. Vergie Nolan, 59, of 801 Wilcox suffered head injuries when the car in which she was riding collided head-on with a car driven by Richard Smith, 26, of 966 Kenilworth.

2 Pontiac Men Held in Holdup of Branch Bank

Two Pontiac men are in Oakland County Jail today after a $21,259 robbery yesterday of the Pontiac State Bank branch at West Long Lake near Telegraph in Bloomfield Township.

Facing Federal District Court arraignment Monday are Rentz Nicholson Jr., 31, of 175 Victory and Narnell L. Colbert, 28, of 460 Nevada.

Nicholson was arrested by Bloomfield Hills patrolman Leroy Imus and Bloomfield Township patrolman Gilbert Fowler just four minutes after the bank was robbed by a single, hooded gunman.

The two patrolmen stopped Nicholson's car at Long Lake and Woodward, less than two miles from the scene of the robbery.

In the car, police found the stolen money contained in two zippered pillow cases and an automatic pistol shoved in Nicholson's pocket.

Pushed back on his head was a knitted skiing hood.

Nicholson surrendered without a fight.

HOURLY LATER
Colbert was apprehended at a service station at 490 Orchard Park by Pontiac patrolmen Gerald L. Kolb and Fred A. Stormer about an hour after the holdup.

Kolb said he and Stormer spotted the car allegedly seen near the holdup at the side of the service station.

Colbert was arrested when he returned to the station apparently to get something from the car.

A search of the vehicle turned up only a man's hat.

OTHER CHARGE

In addition to bank robbery, Colbert also was charged with aiding and abetting and conspiracy.

Details of Colbert's alleged part in the robbery were not immediately known, since the bank was robbed by a single gunman.

The speedy capture of Nicholson was credited to the calmness of three women tellers at the bank.

Seconds after the bandit fled the colonial styled building near Telegraph, the women were on the telephone giving police the description and license number of the getaway car.

Receiving praise for this (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Workman Dies in Landslide

Clay Covers Victim Repairing City Main

A White Lake Township man was killed yesterday afternoon when he was buried by a landslide of clay while replacing parts of a Pontiac water main on North East Boulevard near Perry.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital was Norvin B. Rasel, 43, of 9073 Hutchins.

An employee of the city water department since 1961, Rasel was working in a 7½-foot ditch when the cave-in occurred just before 1:30.

Rasel was buried for approximately 45 minutes after a solid clay bank flopped over on him, according to Gordon Matthews, assistant superintendent of the water department.

A large crowd had to be restrained by Pontiac police so rescue squad workers could administer aid after the victim's head was uncovered.

RESCUE EFFORTS
While workers were digging, ambulance and fire Dept. rescue squad men were working on efforts to restore Rasel's breathing.

However, Rasel apparently never resumed breathing, although oxygen was applied with a resuscitator.

Rasel is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter.

N. Viet Terms Peace Feeler Report False

U.S. Had Asked for Hanoi Clarification of Reported Proposal

TOKYO (AP)—The North Vietnamese Information Ministry issued a statement today terming Washington reports of a peace feeler "pure fabrications, without any basis."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has asked Communist North Viet Nam to clarify conditions in a peace feeler by President Ho Chi Minh for negotiations to end the Vietnamese war.

"I am prepared to go anywhere; to meet anyone," Ho was quoted as saying.

Both the White House and Secretary of State Dean Rusk made clear, however, that U.S. leaders are deeply skeptical of the Hanoi offer.

At the same time, officials stressed they would make every effort to reach an acceptable arrangement for negotiations if one is possible.

"We await Hanoi's reply," the State Department said last night.

ONCE MORE
"We declare once more our desire to discuss an honorable peace in Viet Nam," said President Johnson as he lit the national Christmas tree. "We know that nothing is to be gained by further delay in talking."

The peace bid was made Nov. 11 in a meeting between Ho and two Italians and passed on to the State Department by Italy's Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, this year's president of the U.N. General Assembly.

The State Department made public the details yesterday after published stories indicated (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

ABOARD CARRIER—Astronauts James Lovell (left) and Frank Borman, both sporting two-week-old beards, are shown aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp in the Atlantic today. They were brought aboard the carrier by helicopter after splashing down in their Gemini 7, following a 14-day flight in space.

Second Day of Debriefing on Gemini 6

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Astronauts Wally Schirra and Thomas Stafford relived their pursuit and rendezvous with the Gemini 7 space capsule for scientists today in a debriefing session.

Schirra and Stafford began the sessions yesterday after they were accorded an enthusiastic welcome by the team which launched them on their historic chase Wednesday.

The initial debriefing was concerned with the countdown, launch and medical aspects of the Gemini 6 flight.

After more debriefings tomorrow, Schirra and Stafford fly home to Houston today.

The astronauts were shown photographs they took of the rendezvous with Frank Borman and James Lovell 185 miles above earth, and they were pleased with the quality of the shots.

Mrs. Lovell Tells Feelings

'Last 30 Minutes Were Longest of All'

SEABROOK, Tex. (UPI)—"I thought two weeks was an eternity, but the last 30 minutes seemed even longer."

Her three children standing beside her, that was the way Mrs. James Lovell today summed up the way she felt about the safe splash-down and recovery of her husband and Frank Borman in Gemini 7.

"He looks marvelous," Mrs. Borman said. "I think the flight was wonderful and great."

But she said the tensest part of the flight for her was the rendezvous. The "best part" was successful conclusion of the flight plan.

"They were able to do it," she exulted. "This means so much to so many hundreds of people. It is just wonderful."

DECORATING TREE

As soon as the Lovells' young child, Susan, 7, saw her father safely down, she ran down the street to the Walter Schirra home to help decorate the Christmas tree. Her mother had to call her back.

Mrs. Lovell is expecting a fourth child any day.

"It was the most perfect mission I could have hoped my husband could possibly be connected with," she said. "He could come home, heard and all and I would welcome him with open arms."

"The mission got quite long, starting about the third or fourth day. I am looking forward to Apollo (moon shot) now."

But Mrs. Lovell said she imagined her husband would be looking for a shower bath ahead of a shave.

Mrs. Borman's sons, Frederick, 14, and Edwin, 12, stood on either side of her as she talked to reporters.

Frederick said he thought the flight was "wonderful and great." But all the same, he did not really want to be an astronaut. He wanted to go to West Point.

"I couldn't have gone through it all for two weeks without my friends," Mrs. Borman said. "We are going to have the house decorated for Christmas and ready for him."

WAS 'THRILLED'

James A. (Jay) Lovell III, the Lovells' only son, said he was "thrilled."

"It was great," Barbara Lovell, 12, said.

The Lovells were childhood sweethearts in Milwaukee and when he was 16 he almost blew himself up with a homemade rocket.

Mrs. Lovell was asked whether she imagined at the time that her husband would one day be in space two weeks.

Spacemen End Record-Setting 14-Day Voyage

Weary and Bearded Astronauts Getting Checkup; Appear OK

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Blackened by the fire of reentry, the Gemini 7 spaceship rode a parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, bringing astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. home safely from man's greatest adventure in space.

Weary and heavily bearded after 14 long days of the weightless ordeal, they guided their tiny craft to a splash-down at 9:05 a.m. EST, 11 to 17 miles from the prime recovery vessel, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The meteoric dive back to earth ended the most exciting and the most significant space voyage ever flown by man.

Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell had traveled far longer than any other spacemen—330 hours, 35 minutes—down the most miles—5,129,400—and had given the United States a long lead over Russia in many other phases of the race between the nations to be first on the moon.

And, with a skillful assist from the Gemini 4 pilots, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Thomas Stafford, they achieved the first true rendezvous of orbiting spacecrafts—an historic feat recorded graphically on color film.

COPTER PICKUP

The exhausted spacemen asked for a helicopter pickup, electing not to wait for the arrival of the Wasp.

They climbed through the hatches into life rafts and gave the pilots of the rescue planes overhead thumbs-up signals telling them everything was okay.

A horse-collar was lowered from a helicopter and each astronaut was hauled up and flown to the Wasp, where excited sailors lined the rails waiting for a glimpse of them.

They were deposited on the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

City Bus Operator Cited as Safe Driver of Week

A Pontiac bus driver has been cited as this week's safe driver.

Mrs. Donna Barrett, 138 S. Merrimac, will receive a $25 U.S. Savings bond as her prize in the safe-driving awards program.

Mrs. Barrett was credited by police for averting an accident at West Wilson and Franklin Road.

Driving a Pontiac Transit Corp. bus, she signaled and held back approaching traffic when another car without brakes was forced to run through the intersection.

Safe-driving awards are being made to drivers in a safety program sponsored by the Pontiac Exchange Club, the police department and the traffic safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The bond is being furnished by the Pontiac Exchange Club. Four bonds are to be awarded in December.

Cong Toss Grenade Near Yank Quarters, Injuring 5 S. Viets

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong terrorists hurled a grenade from a passing car into the street in front of an American officers' billet tonight in the fifth consecutive day of terrorism in the heart of Saigon. A Vietnamese policeman and four civilians were wounded.

No Americans were hurt. The grenade exploded in front of a passing taxi, injuring the driver. A bicyclist and a pedestrian also were hurt. Two American military policemen guarding the billet were not hurt and chased the terrorist car. It got away.

The Viet Cong have sworn to take as many American lives as possible in observance of the fifth anniversary Monday of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong. Tonight's explosion occurred despite massive security precautions.

The U.S. military had decreed a nightly curfew — from dusk to dawn — in expectation of such attacks.

ALMOST DAILY

The Viet Cong have thrown bombs or hurled hand grenades almost every day this week and although there were few injuries the military was taking no chances.

The Viet Nam crisis was complicated today by the revolt of rebel tribesmen in four highland provinces. The Viet Cong forces killed at least one Vietnamese district chief, seized control of two towns and three U.S. Special Forces camps and for a time held a provincial capital. Some Americans were held as hostages.

The war itself took a new turn when it was disclosed U.S. B52 bombers from Guam were bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail in neutral Laos, the corridor through the jungles and mountains by which Communist North Viet Nam funnels men and supplies into South Viet Nam.

Authorities lost contact for several hours today with the Special Forces camp at Plei Dierong and Plei Mrong where Americans were believed being held hostage. Normally, the Americans make hourly radio reports but there were none today. The Americans were not believed in danger.

OUT OF TOUCH

Communications with Plei Dierong, 25 miles northwest of Pleiku and 233 miles northeast of Saigon were restored around midday but U.S. authorities were still out of touch with Plei Mrong, 11 miles northwest of Pleiku.

The U.S. Special Forces camp at Lac Thien in Darlac Province fell into rebel hands as did the adjoining district capital of the same name, the military reports said.

"Considerable bloodshed" was reported in the district town of Phu Thien, 230 miles north of Saigon, where rebel assassins of the district chief. There was no estimate on total casualties.

The rebellion began last night when tribesmen seized control of Gia Nghia, the capital of Quang Duc Province, 110 miles northeast of Saigon.

Clarify Offer, Hanoi Is Asked

The Hanoi offer had already been rejected.

Diplomats here and at the United Nations expressed concern that disclosure might torpedo the peace efforts and bring strong Communist Chinese pressure on Hanoi.

CEASE-FIRE

Before entering talks, Hanoi said, there should be a cease-fire throughout Viet Nam and agreement that negotiations be based on the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam as defined by the four-point program laid down last March by the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

"The government in Hanoi is prepared to initiate negotiations without first requiring actual withdrawal of the American troops," Fanfani reported.

The North Vietnamese have consistently called for U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam, but the four points are vague on when this should occur.

Replying to Fanfani's letter, which was dated Nov. 20, Rusk said in Dec. 4 letter that the United States is "far from persuaded" that statements by Ho and Premier Pham Van Dong "indicate a real willingness for unconditional negotiations."

The White House said last night that it has had no indication that North Viet Nam "is ready to conduct unconditional discussions."

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said that the United States remains ready for negotiations under conditions with North Viet Nam and is awaiting a reply from Hanoi "to determine whether it wants to move this great question from the battlefield to the conference table."

NOTHING TO IT — Two young area policemen relate how they captured a bank robbery suspect just four minutes after a hold-up yesterday afternoon. Responsible for the apprehending were Leroy Imus (left), 26, who has been a Bloomfield Hills patrolman for six months, and Gilbert Fowler, 24, a Bloomfield Township patrolman for two and a half years.

Two Held in Bank Holdup swift action were Mrs. Wayne Hesselgrave, 43, of Waterford Township; Mrs. Lee Griffith, 38, of Bloomfield Township; and Mrs. Robert Lunney, 53, of Pontiac Township.

The praise came from Bloomfield Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke and Mrs. Virginia Stark, the manager of the branch, who had left the office shortly before the robbery occurred at 12:40.

Dehnke singled out Mrs. Hesselgrave for her alertness in racing to the window and getting the license number of the car as it raced out of the bank parking lot.

"They should all receive credit for the way they handled themselves in a terrible situation," said Mrs. Stark.

ALONE IN BANK

The three women were in the bank alone when the bandit entered Mrs. Lunney and Mrs. Griffith were behind the counter and Mrs. Hesselgrave in another room having lunch.

The first to notice the man was Mrs. Lunney.

"I saw him looking in the vault and started toward him thinking it was a customer wanting help," she said. "Then

I saw the gun and these two pillow cases in his hands. He kept saying, 'this is a stickup,'" said Mrs. Griffith. "He ordered us to fill the bags and then told me to lie down on the floor."

TOLD TO HURRY

"He told us to hurry up or he would shoot us," she said.

It was at this point Mrs. Hesselgrave heard the loud voice and walked in on the scene.

"I really thought it was someone playing a joke," she said. "I should have known better, after three years with the bank, that no one kids about this."

"When he waved the gun at me and told me to get moving or he'd shoot, I was convinced he wasn't fooling."

PUT IN VAULT

After the cash drawers were emptied into the bags by the women, he ordered them into the vault while he escaped through a side entrance.

None of the three was injured during the holdup.

"It was quite a little experience," added Mrs. Lunney.

"And to think I was just filling in for the day for another who is on vacation."

President's French Chef Spills Beans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House chef has spilled the beans. Rene Verdon, who is packing his French recipes and carving knives to leave the White House Jan. 1, took advantage of an opportunity to air some White House kitchen secrets which cut to the quick of his Gallic sensitivity.

Verdon's complaints didn't exactly involve beans. More precisely, it was frozen boiled potatoes and whipped cream in the turtle soup with sherry.

The French chef was brought to the White House in 1964 by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

When Lyndon Johnson of Texas moved into the White House, he brought his own family cook along, but Verdon stayed on to officiate at state dinners and other social functions.

Verdon said that it has become customary at the White House to boil potatoes ahead of time and store them in the freezer until they were needed.

He said it would be better for agricultural production to serve fresh foods. Besides, potatoes tend to lose their flavor when boiled and stored in a freezer for a long time.

Verdon went on to mention that there were two dishes with whipped cream on yesterday's White House menu — turtle soup with sherry and whipped cream and a pepperoni mold with whipped cream.

"Very lousy," "But what can you expect?" he added.

"I think it is better to do something nice, than to have boiled potatoes in the White House," Verdon said.

JFK Relection Was Doubtful, Says Cardinal

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing says he doesn't think John F. Kennedy could have been re-elected to a second term as president for "four good reasons."

"The Democratic party in the North was in a mess," the prelate contended, "the South was still against him, Cuba was still against him, the Achilles heel of his administration and lot of people who worked for him before, hoping for patronage, were disappointed."

It was not determined immediately whether Borman and Lovell, who had made a bet with Schirra and Stafford that their landing would be closer to the mark, won the bet. The Gemini 6 pilots missed by 13.4 miles.

The wager was made in space, as the two ships hovered close to each other in the rendezvous, but the stakes were not disclosed.

HUGE GRINS

A bit bubbly, but sporting huge grins, Borman and Lovell walked to the strains of "Anchors Aweigh" and, to the wild cheers of the Wasps' men, to sick bay for their first checkup.

"Wait until we sleep," Borman said as he was led to sick bay. But the plea fell on deaf ears of the doctor waiting to check on the effects of their long stay in the environment of space.

Their second checkup was for hot showers.

"We're awful dirty," Borman said, "but it's good, honest dirt."

Court May Get Draft Dispute

Would Decide Right of Reclassification

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The right of Selective Service to reclassify for immediate induction students whose anti-Viet Nam demonstrations actually interfere with draft board operations appears headed for a court challenge.

At least 10 University of Michigan students who took part in an Oct. 15 sit-in at the Ann Arbor Selective Service office have been reclassified to 1-A from 2-S status.

A 2-S classification is for students deferred from the draft to complete their education.

At least three of the reclassified students reached for comment said they still hold to their anti-Viet Nam war feelings.

STUDENT VIEWS

"I would do the same thing again," said Eric Chester, 20, Douglas Truax, 21, called his position "still very much the same." I still hold basically the same views," said Ronald Miller, 19.

Among those protesting the reclassification are a U.S. senator, the university president, a veterans organization and several law professors.

Lt. Gen. Lewis Hershey, Selective Service director, says it has always been his view that a young man who violates the Selective Service Law "should be given an opportunity to enter the armed forces rather than be prosecuted for his violation of the law."

Prosecution should come, he contends, only if the youth refuses to be inducted.

Draft officials point out that Section 12A of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended in 1952, provides that anyone who "knowingly hinders or interferes or attempts to do so in any way by force or violence," with the selective service could be fined $10,000 and sent to prison for five years if convicted.

So far, no federal charges have been filed against the 39 in demonstrators, but 39 have been found guilty of violating the city ordinance for trespassing. All have appealed their municipal court fines and 10 day jail sentences to circuit court.

The 39 sit-downers, who included six girls and two boys too young for Selective Service registration, were part of a group of more than 200 demonstrators who marched in protest outside the office building where the Ann Arbor draft board is located.

Birmingham Area News

Board of Realtors Given Open Occupancy Plan

A three-part open occupancy proposal has been presented to leaders of the Birmingham Board of Realtors as a first step in a campaign by a new civil rights organization.

Representatives of the real estate group have agreed to submit to their board of directors the proposal of the newly formed Birmingham - Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy.

The salesmen and firms are being urged to:

- Take action to bring at least five Negro families into the area by Sept. 1, 1966.
- Cooperate with out-of-town brokers who have Negro clients seeking homes in the area.
- Adopt a policy as a group favoring open occupancy and condemning racial bias in residential sales.

Philip A. Hall, past president of the realtor group which represents some 50 area brokers and more than 200 individual salesmen, said the proposal would be presented to the nine-member board of directors "in the near future."

LEO DELEGATION

John C. Palms, chairman of the open occupancy committee, led the four-member delegation which met with three of the brokers.

The appeal to real estate firms is one of two tactics established by the committee which was organized last month.

The other aim of the group is to enlist persons who will "appeal to the conscience" of their neighbors.

Palms said his committee would await word from the brokers.

"UP TO THEM"

"Now, in a sense, the next move is up to them," he said. "In the meantime, we'll have another general meeting the first part of January."

The committee's organizational meeting Nov. 14 was attended by some 250 persons.

On the agenda for the next public program will be a press report on the conference with leaders of the real estate board.

"We'll also set up committees to approach other groups."

CHIEF REASON

Wilson said one of the chief reasons for his visit with Johnson was to explain the decision Britain faces in cutting its defense obligations east of Suez.

Now that his government has "identified all options and choices" it must face, it was appropriate to discuss the problem with Johnson because of vital American interests in keeping the peace in the area, Wilson said.

A question which Wilson discussed at his news conference with utmost caution was the problem of nuclear sharing in the Atlantic alliance.

This will be the central issue next week, when Ludwig Erhard, the German chancellor, calls on Johnson. Erhard is expected to seek authority over some nuclear weapons.

Wilson Ends Visit to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson leaves Washington today after winning U.S. support for an oil embargo against Rhodesia.

On Viet Nam, the other main topic of his two days of talks with President Johnson, Wilson told news conference Friday night that his country has received no "positive response" in efforts to bring peace, but that Britain will "vigorously pursue every possibility leading to the conference table."

He spoke just a few hours after U.S. disclosure of peace feelers from President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam on a day that also saw Hanoi reject the latest British proposal for a Viet Nam peace conference.

The British ban against shipment of oil into Rhodesia can't be matched by the United States, but a State Department spokesman said:

"We fully recognize the authority of Her Majesty's government in this matter and therefore are advising all U.S. citizens and enterprises to comply."

Work on Communications, Rescue

Pakistan Hurricane Toll at Over 10,000

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — Authorities today attempted to restore communication with sections of East Pakistan where a hurricane killed more than 10,000 persons Tuesday.

Rescuers distributed food and medical aid to survivors of the storm which uprooted trees, smashed village huts and sent thousands fleeing for their lives along the 50-mile coastline south from Cox's Bazar to Teknaf.

The hurricane hit East Pakistan about 300 miles east of the mouth of the River Ganges.

Officials said most casualties occurred in the offshore islands which caught the full force of the storm's 140-mile-an-hour winds and were in the path of an accompanying tidal wave.

The storm was compared to the one last May which took more than 17,000 lives in the Barisal region of East Pakistan. ESTIMATED TOLL

One provincial official estimated that more than 10,000 lives were lost on Maheshkhali, the largest of the offshore islands. Another report said there were an estimated 2,900 dead or missing on the island of Kutubdia, 20 miles off the coast.

About 1,000 fishermen living on the coast were feared to have been swept away.

Former Provincial Minister Syed Azizul Haq, who was in Cox's Bazar during the three-hour storm, said the loss of life and the devastation were "Colossal."

He said public drum-beaters and loudspeakers spent all day Tuesday alerting area residents to the coming storm.

"When danger signal No. 10 sounded, my family and I packed up and went to the court building," he said. "I persuaded many other tourists to come along with us."

"There was heavy rain and a strong wind. The sky glared red and by 11:15 p. the wind gained velocity and the city was plunged into darkness. About 500 persons rushed to the court building."

"We could hear the cries from the huts below. The court building quaked, and we thought we were going to perish any minute, but the infinite mercy of Allah saved us."

At least 100 survivors were pulled out of the sea by a patrol boat cruising offshore.

On the President's lap is 2-year-old Courtenay Valenti, daughter of presidential aide Jack Valenti. In ceremonies behind the White House, Johnson said Christmas was a reminder that "our first and most compelling task is peace." British Prime Minister Harold Wilson also attended the lighting of the 80-foot spruce.

Cuba Songs Real Pushy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Christmas songs on Havana radio exhort listeners to work harder while they enjoy the holidays.

Complete with a Latin beat and the tinkle of bells, the lyrics to one go: "Greetings to the cane-cutter with our best wishes for a record sugar harvest."

Another says: "Greetings in the New Year which will be happier and more prosperous because of your work."

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

After leaving Farmer Gottlieb, Peter ran to the Pharmacist's shop and bought the medicine his mother needed.

He had enough left from the gold coin to buy her a bright warm scarf.

Mother was very happy and she put on the scarf while she took the medicine.

"I have some wonderful news," said Mother. "Your father will be home for Christmas."

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The travelers get to Zabbazara. The Princess tells them she cannot help them because the Voodoo man has a magic greater than her own.

Chapter Twelve

The beautiful Princess of Zabbazara had tears in her eyes as she explained to Santa Claus that she did not have the power to break the spell the Voodoo man had cast over Santa Land.

"Oh, my," moaned Mr. D.

"To think there'll never be Christmas again. How can he do such a thing?"

"He has a secret power," said the Princess. "He is using it to get rid of all happy spirits and all good fairies."

He wants to be king of all Fairyland and not even Zabbazara will escape."

The little lost boy couldn't stand to see the Princess cry. "Don't worry," he blurted out. "We will protect you. Won't we, Santa? Won't we, Mr. D?"

Santa shook his head helplessly but Mr. D. said, "Of course!" He flapped his ears with excitement. "I'm not afraid of that old Voodoo man!"

"You are right not to be afraid of him," said the Princess. "He has no power over real live people."

But you can't stop him from casting his spells over fairyland creatures."

"We could find out his secret!" exclaimed the boy.

"Sure," said Mr. D. "I've heard a lot of secrets in my time. Folks like to tell bus drivers their secrets."

All this time Santa had been standing there not saying anything but just thinking and worrying about the awful power of the Voodoo man.

Now he said, "We've got to find out what his secret is. Maybe they can do it."

The Princess took the little boy's hands in hers. "Oh, could you?" she cried.

The little boy felt 10 feet tall. "We've GOT to do it!" he said. And Mr. D. said, "Come on, boy, let's get back to the bus and find the Voodoo man!"

'He Has A Secret Power!'

But, alas! the Voodoo man had already found them! Nevertheless they did as they were told.

CREATURE

A crowd of children burst into the palace crying, "Someone's coming! A black-cloaked creature is on his way!"

"I've peeked out of the palace and down to the edge of the sea."

Far away they saw the Voodoo man holding a black balloon. He was just taking off from the distant shore.

"Get back!" cried the Princess to the waiting children. "Go quickly and hide!"

AFRAID

The children looked at her in astonishment. They could not understand why she was so afraid.

"But you don't have whisks!" protested Santa. "And you're thin. I'm fat!"

"And how can I be a girl?" scoffed the boy. "I don't look anything like a girl!"

But the Princess said, "I still have some power. I can provide wigs and whisks and such. We must try it. It's our only chance!"

Cold Snap Aids Skiing

All it took was a little cold weather to give Pontiac area skiers a bright outlook for the weekend.

Mt. Holly, Dryden and Mt. Christie ski areas opened last night and were joined by Pine Knob and Brighton this morning. Alpine is scheduled to open Sunday — if the weather remains cold enough to make artificial snow.

Following is the report by areas:

MT. HOLLY — Beginners and half of intermediate slope open with 15-inch base.

DRYDEN — Intermediate slope open with one inch of natural snow over 44 inches of base. The beginners slope was expected to be ready today.

MT. CHRISTIE — Beginners and intermediate slopes open. Advance slope may be ready by Sunday.

ALPINE — Plans to open Sunday if cold weather prevails.

PINE KNOB — Beginners and intermediate slopes opened today.

BRIGHTON — Beginners opened today; hope to have big hill open Sunday.

Capac Hurdles Raiders; Dryden Close Winner

Capac was too strong for Almont Friday night and the Chiefs took a 78-59 win to stay unbeaten and stop the Southern Thunder cage race, though tied with Anchor Bay — an 85-67 winner over Hew Haven.

Dryden, meanwhile, tied Almont for third place with a light 67-63 decision over Armada. Jumpkins trimmed Brown City, 62-49, to join the Cardinals and Raiders at 2-1.

Al Kobayashi's 30 points paced Capac's fourth win in a row. Ken Kitchenmaster tallied 25 and Dennis Hilliker 19 to lead Dryden. The Cardinals outscored Armada, 19-11, from the free throw line.

Bob Schluentski hit 26 for Armada. Memphis had four players in double figures, and held Brown City to one field goal in the third quarter.

Lions Close Season Against Philadelphia

The Detroit Lions, hampered by a multitude of problems compounded by a losing record, close National Football League play tomorrow against the Philadelphia Eagles in Philadelphia.

Injuries have cropped the roster to 38, two players below the limit.

Milt Plum probably will get the starting call at quarterback, but coach Harry Gilmer is expected to call on George Izo or Tommy Myers in a hurry if the offense continues to display its past problems.

The Lions will carry a 5-7-1 record into the contest.

Defensive halfback Bruce Mahler was named the Lions' most valuable player yesterday. A six-year NFL veteran from the University of Detroit, Mahler will receive the President's Trophy.

A major question is posed by other NFL games: Will the National Football League's Western Conference game be settled in 24 hours — or 192?

That's the intriguing situation that exists as the NFL begins its final weekend of regular season action today with Green Bay, Baltimore and Chicago separated by only one game in the battle for a Jan. 2 championship berth against Cleveland.

By nightfall Sunday one of the three will be crowned the Western kings, or they will have to decide the issue in a playoff the following Sunday.

The showdown struggle begins at 4 p.m., EST, today, when the defending champion Colts meet the resurgent Rams at Los Angeles in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS. Green Bay is at San Francisco Sunday while the Bears are at home in Minnesota.

In other games Sunday, Dallas is at New York, Cleveland at St. Louis and Pittsburgh at Washington.

Loss String Ends for Dondero, 74-61

Royal Oak Dondero shot well and received a fine supporting performance from its bench Friday night to thump Wyandotte, 74-61, snapping a three-game losing streak.

The Oaks hit a 50 per cent clip from the field in the first half for a 38-29 intermission edge. Bob DeJulius hit 10 of his 14 game points in the half.

Mickey Westmoreland led the winners with 16 and Wes Young, boom came off the bench to tally 10. The three combined to make 18 of 33 attempts from the floor.

Dondero opened the season by beating Birmingham Seaholm before hitting the skids. The victory last night squared the Oaks' record at 1-1.

Pistons Edged by Boston '5'

DETROIT (AP) — John Havlicek's short jump with 19 seconds remaining enabled the Boston Celtics to nip the Detroit Pistons 114-112 in a National Basketball Association game Friday night.

The victory was Boston's 19th against only eight losses this season and enabled the defending NBA champions to increase their Western Division lead over Cleveland by 1½ games.

The Pistons, who have won only nine of their 28 games, rallied from a three-point deficit in the final three minutes to go ahead 111-110 on baskets by Ray Scott and Joe Strawder. Then after a basket by Sam Jones put Boston in front, Scott tied the game with a free throw to set the stage for Havlicek's winning basket.

Injured Wings Bring Up Help

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings called up Jimmy Peters Jr. from their minor league club Friday to play in the weekend series against the Chicago Black Hawks.

Peters, 21, is the son of former Red Wings star Jimmy Peters. He played one game with Detroit last year on an amateur tryout and netted one assist. Peters was the second leading scorer in the Central Professional Hockey League with 10 goals and 14 assists.

Peters was called up because of injuries to Floyd Smith, Bill Gadsby and Ron Murphy.

Wings Manager Coach Sid Abel said Bob Wall, a defenseman recalled from Pittsburgh for Thursday's game with Boston, would remain with Detroit for the weekend series which opened Friday night in Detroit.

Pontiac Central Swimmers Score Major Upset

Chiefs Down Arthur Hill

Hillites Had Won 50 Straight Meets

Pontiac Central's swimming team scored the biggest win in the school's aquatic competition history Friday night by nipping Saginaw Arthur Hill, 53-52, in the PCH pool.

The victory snapped a 50-meet winning streak for the perennial Saginaw Valley Conference champion Lumberjacks. Saginaw A.H. has won 21 of the last 22 league swim titles.

Bill Kimmins' seven-tenths of a second win over Arthur Hill's Chuck Khuen in the 100-yard breaststroke was cited by coach Jerry Becker as the meet's turning point.

The Chiefs won both relay events, opening the evening with a one-tenth of a second triumph in the 200-yard medley relay relay event anchored by Tom Pepper.

They closed by easily taking the 400-yard freestyle relay to clinch the upset victory officially. Jim Gulacsh completed the relay win as anchorman.

PCH DOUBLE

Sophomore John Mason was the only double winner for PCH easily taking the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly events. Ken Frank's first place in diving was the only other win by Central.

Mike Steves and Eric Hansen won two events each for the Lumberjacks who were 2-0 this season entering the meet. PCH now is 2-2.

A Southeastern Michigan Association meet found Royal Oak Kimball outplugging Hazel Park, 61-44, with the Knights setting three pool records and Hazel Park two school marks.

Spring Arbor '5' Wins

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (AP) — Spring Arbor defeated Bethel 110-101 in college basketball Friday night. Spring Arbor led 54-53 at halftime. High scorers were Ellis Bates of Spring Arbor and Ron Holmes of Bethel with 27 points each.

Michigan is idle until the Duke encounter.

GOPHERS UNBEATEN

Minnesota, one of the two unbeaten Big 10 teams faces Creighton, a perennial independent cage power, tonight and the Gophers hope to visit U. of D. Monday with a 4-0 mark.

The Titans, with recent impressive victories over Indiana and Xavier, are favored to defeat Baldwin-Wallace tonight and go against the Gophers with a 5-1 record.

Minnesota has 6-5 Lou Hudson, a 23.3 points per game scorer, as its big threat, helped by Ecorse High alumnus Archie Clark and Paul Prestibus at 17 ppg average. U. of D. has three veterans and a pair of soph carrying double figure averages, including former All-Oakland County star Bruce Rodwan who led Ferrisale to the state championship two years ago.

Dorie Murray, a 6-4 center, Lou Hyatt, 6-2 guard, Larry Salsi, 6-1 soph guard from Centerline, and Rodwan are all hitting between 16 and 18 points per game.

BEAT UCLA

Duke, which whipped UCLA twice to knock the NCAA champions from the No. 1 spot last week, faces Virginia tonight with a 6-1 record.

Michigan (4-1) defeated Duke in regular season 98-83 last year.

Cazzie Russell, who hit 45 points recently in Chicago Stadium where the Wolverines whipped San Francisco, 96-78, will carry a 27.8 average into the Duke game backed by John Clawson's 19.4.

Nonetheless, officials have been weighing development of one big stadium or making improvements at each facility.

The matter was referred to the citizens' advisory subcommittee on high school planning for further study.
