Scientists Move Toward Power From H-Atom

Controlled Reaction in Lab Heralds Use of Sea
Water for Electricity

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A scientific group in this country's hydrogen bomb laboratory today reported what appears to be a real—though short-lived—controlled thermonuclear reaction.

The achievement was officially described as "an encouraging advance" in the quest for a means of producing useful power from hydrogen atoms. A successful thermonuclear reactor could produce power from the boundless supply of hydrogen in ocean water.

Announcement of the feat was made by the University of California's Livermore Laboratory. At the same time Dr. Frederic H. Coe, research team leader, reported it to a meeting of the American Physical Society in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

600 MILLION DEGREES

With a system of powerful magnets, Dr. Coe and associates squeezed a cubic inch of hydrogen until it reached a temperature of 53 million degrees centigrade—60 million degrees Fahrenheit.

In that state some of the hydrogen atoms presumably fused together in pairs and formed a light variety of helium, with the production of a cloud of neutrons and a release of more than three million volts of electrical energy per atom as byproducts.

The reaction lasted one-tenth of a second, Dr. Coe said. This represented the longest time that power was produced. Although far too short to be practical, the production interval was much longer than anything of the kind heretofore reported.

Pupils Favor GOP in Vote at Waterford

The Republicans came out on top in a mock election at Waterford Township High School yesterday.

In two days of balloting at voting machines in the high school, some 1,245 out of 1,700 eligible students cast their votes.

They gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon a 200-vote lead, but the margin was slim in the vote for national race—2 votes.

The Nixon-Lodge ticket got 777 votes to 588, for that of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Beggs won over his Democratic opponent John M. Swanson by only two votes.

The final tally showed Beggs on top 671 to 669.

The only Democratic candidate for office to win was Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Students gave their largest vote to Proposal No. 1, the school bond amendment, passing at $28 to 193.

Proposal No. 2, the state sales tax, was passed 510 to 310, and Proposal No. 3, the canteen proposal, was passed 761 to 241.

Other results were as follows: Lt. Gov.: Reid, 733; Lesinski, 550. Sec. of State: Hare, 683; Kreger, 624.

Atty. Gen.: Miles, 771; Adams, 643.

Congress: Broomfield, 837; Kollis, 498.

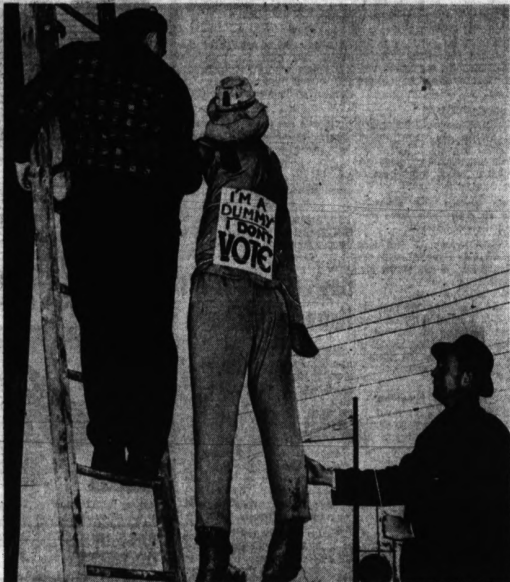

Health Gen.: Clements, 713; Smith, 571.

State Sen.: Roberts, 716; Brown, 588.

Kennedy Hopping Eastward

Pushing for 'Peace Corps'

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy reiterated Wednesday night his criticism of the way the United States selects its representatives for foreign service and amplified on his proposed "peace corps" of smart young men encouraged to join the diplomatic service.

Kennedy said the young men qualified for such service would "serve the country in this fashion for three years as an alternative to peacetime selective service."

He emphasized that word "qualified." The "peace corps" would not be an easy alternative to military service, he stressed.

The Democratic presidential candidate also declared it would be a volunteer corps.

Speaking at San Francisco's huge Cow Palace to a spill-over crowd of 30,000 which screamed its approval in political convention style, Kennedy said that too often American ambassadors are "ill-chosen, ill-equipped and ill-briefed."

Kennedy told a morning street rally in Phoenix that Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater had wired Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York that Arizona was "in the bag" for the Republicans.

"Judging from the people who turned out here," said Kennedy, "it's a mighty thin bag."

A principal originator of the "peace corps" idea was Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, former chief of the Army's Research and Development Command, who retired several years ago and wrote a book bashing administration defense policies.

Arizona's largest political turnout of the year greeted Kennedy. There were an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 at the airport, 2,000 at a breakfast and 5,000 at an outdoor speech.

Officials reported the payload's transmitter was working fine.

Could Bring Communication Improvement

90-Pound Whirler Has Job of Easing Mystery
Over Radar Reflections

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A 90-pound "spinning top" satellite whirled into orbit today to begin the most extensive study ever attempted of the earth's ionosphere.

The satellite, officially designated Explorer VIII, is designed to give scientists a better understanding of the mysterious electrically-charged ionospheric layers which reflect radio signals back to earth.

The experiment could lead to improved communications between continents, ships and planes. It also could open the way for more effective contact with communications satellites like the recently launched Echo and Courier and with future manned spacecraft.

With today's successful launching, the United States has now 14 satellites in orbit around the earth to one for the Soviet Union.

An official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the successful orbiting of Explorer VIII gives the United States a commanding edge over the Soviet Union in exploration of the ionosphere.

Robert Bourdeau, head of the ionosphere branch of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, said published reports indicate the Soviet Union has been probing the ionosphere with rockets and until today was considered even with this country in data gathered from this sea of electrical particles which extends from 50 miles to about 1,000 miles above the earth's surface.

A powerful 76-foot Juno II rocket blasted off from this missile test center at 12:13 a.m. today. Its four stages fired with clocklike precision and boosted the payload to necessary orbital speed of more than 18,000 miles an hour.

Two hours after launch, NASA announced the "spinning top" was in orbit. It is so nicknamed because it is shaped like a child's toy top and spins during flight for stabilization. It is 30 inches in height and diameter.

The changeover has been speeded by the city, which is nominal owner of the bus company under a lease arrangement designed to save in state taxes.

Ike's Help Heralds GOP Victory: Nixon

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon traveled into the South today, jubilantly asserting that President Eisenhower's New York area campaigning in his behalf heralds a Republican victory in next Tuesday's election.

The vice president, bidding for Dixie votes, accused Sen. John F. Kennedy of espousing a foreign policy which could bungle the nation into war. Nixon declared:

"I have seen in the enthusiasm of hundreds of thousands of people that the people of the South will put principle before label, conviction before party."

In remarks prepared for a rally at the state house after being introduced by former Gov. James F. Byrnes, a Democrat for South Carolina, the vice president said:

"The South will refuse to gamble on untried, unproven leadership in foreign affairs."

"The South will resolutely reject a candidate who keeps insisting that America is second rate."

OUTREACHES JACK . . . Thirty minutes before Nixon began to speak, police estimated a crowd of 20,000 thronged the state house grounds and was growing.

Kennedy, who spoke from the same place earlier in the campaign, drew an estimated 12,500.

Nixon linked Kennedy with a school of thought in the Democratic party which he said stands for "vandalizing federalism in housing, education, urban affairs, natural resources, labor affairs and agriculture."

The vice president added: "They stand for wild spending, higher prices, higher taxes, and they stand for political chaos in our currency. They stand for seizure of industry, for raiding the treasury. They stand against state's rights."

"The South can never accept such men or such a platform. The South will not swallow their convictions, forgive the insults, accept fiscal irresponsibility, and take untried leadership."

Climate of day of vigorous plugging for the Nixon-Lodge ticket, Eisenhower Wednesday night touched off tumultuous acclaim in championing the GOP candidates and in hitting at Sen. John F. Kennedy at a party rally in Manhattan's Coliseum.

So tremendous was the acclaim, so many times was Eisenhower interrupted by the wildly cheering crowd that Nixon got to speak only a couple of minutes before the rally proceedings—carried nationwide on television—went off the air.

Thirty-nine was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 44 at 2 p.m.

State Candidates Busy Shaking Hands

GOP's Bagwell Warns It's His Last Effort for Michigan Office

By The Associated Press

The Republican party is one whose performance, said a Michigan spokesman, "is a real match for its promises," says Lt. Gov. John B. Swanson, the Democratic nominee for governor.

His GOP opponent, Paul D. Bagwell, says Swanson's failure to vote a stand on particular issues among the recommendations of a tax study committee he named "is typical."

Both candidates made the statements Wednesday as they campaigned about the state.

Swanson visited Adrian, Detroit and a number of Detroit area suburbs to give speeches and shake hands with factory workers and educators.

Bagwell also put in much of his time shaking hands at plant gates while visiting Grand Rapids, Plainfield, Kalamazoo, Ann Arbor, Jackson and Detroit.

Swanson told a political forum at Wayne State University that "the American public is tired of slogans which mask indecision. We are wearying of blandness instead of candor. And our pleasure is worn thin by the stark reality that Republican performance seldom matches its promises."

He said the Nov. 8 election would resolve the "elemental conflict between the Democratic and Republican viewpoints."

The choice will be between continuation of the tried, steady, unimaginative type of national policy which has let this country drift uncertainly for eight years... and between Democratic restoration of national purposes, carried out with courage and resolution, with humanitarian concern for all individuals, and with vision and leadership," Swanson said.

ON TAX ISSUE

Bagwell continued to hit at Swanson on the tax issue.

He said "this (Swanson's) reaction to the report presented him by a committee of economists is typical. He won't say he agrees with the recommendation for an income tax, and he won't say he disagrees."

Bagwell referred to a report drawn up by a committee named by Swanson which recommended a flat rate income tax and a reduction of business taxes among other things in a survey of Michigan's financial structure.

The report was revealed Tuesday, Swanson said at that time he would "reserve a decision" on income or other taxes until he has made "a thorough and exhaustive study of total tax revision."

In a speech at Ann Arbor, Bagwell said that if he did not win election as governor he would not be a candidate again.

"If I don't win this time I'll come back as a friend and not a candidate," he said. "I've been a candidate three times and I've had all the experience I need as a candidate. If I want to spend my time writing a book before my time wastes many experiences from my mind."

Bagwell was defeated for auditor general in 1956 and governor in 1958.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, a Negro minister and congressman from New York for 12 years, appeared in Detroit Wednesday to campaign for the Democrats.

Powell told a press conference that Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee for president, "will win by a landslide."

He said that "Lyndon B. Johnson (Democratic vice presidential nominee) will be a great man of the South; end-of-the-nation, if we Northerners can set him free."

Supervisors Vote Against Change

Road Commission Functions Same

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted 6 to 3 not to stop the policy and administrative functions of Road Commissioners Robert O. Felt, Sol D. Lomerson and Hiland M. Thatcher.

Fred L. Yockey, Huntington Woods supervisor and city manager, had said to do both is "incompatible."

He moved that, starting with a new six-year term ending next year, Felt be re-elected to H. L. commissioners should be strictly policy makers on a dollar-a-year or per diem basis.

Supervisors later killed Felt's salary from $5,000 annually to $10,000 beginning with his new term Jan. 1.

Upon recommendation of the salaries committee, the chairman of the road commission — appointed each year by the commissioners themselves — will receive $2,500 extra as chairman instead of the usual $1,500, providing his salary and extra pay don't exceed $10,000.

Commissioners are paid from county road funds. These consist of gas and weight tax receipts paid by motorists.

It is unlikely, because of the extra pay clause, that Felt will be named chairman again in 1961, as he will have already reached the $10,000 ceiling.

The post probably will go to either Thatcher or Lomerson, who now draw $7,500 annually.

With his previous $1,500 as chairman Felt, former West Bloomfield Township supervisor, made $7,500, making the pay of all three commissioners equal.

Yesterday's 7 to 3 vote boosting Felt's salary to $10,000 led Arthur G. Elliott Jr., Pleasant Ridge supervisor, to oppose what he called "inequities" in the pay scales.

This complaint was referred to the board's salaries committee.

It is expected that when Thatcher and Lomerson come up for reappointment, attempts will be made to bring their salaries in line with Felt's.

Thatcher's term is up in two years and Lomerson's in four.

Felt, of Sylvan Lake, was reappointed yesterday for reappointment to the commission for his third six-year term.

He received some 63 votes. Birmingham Supervisor David Levinson nominated Felt.

Yockey's proposed changes in the road commission followed a recommendation by two committees that no change be made in the organization "at the present time."

Yockey had urged the change nearly a year ago.

The roads and bridges and special county government study committees were assigned the task of studying the organization of policy and administrative functions.

Their report was made yesterday.

After studying how other road commissions operate and consulting with an engineer experienced with the work, the committee reported that it was decided the Oakland County Road Commission "is operating in an efficient manner."

Yockey, who believes the commissioners should limit themselves to setting policy, with an engineer manager in the office, accused the committee of not revealing all their findings to the supervisors.

"What they didn't tell you was that other counties follow the system I suggest," he said.

"NEAR TOP EFFICIENCY"

John L. Carey, chairman of the special county government study committee, countered by saying that his committee was told that the Oakland commissioners "are operating at near top efficiency."

He said organizational changes were impossible at this time without changes in the state law governing road commissions.

The Springfield Township supervisor said he didn't think the commission should be made a part of the department of public works as it is in Wayne County.

Don R. MacDonald, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, recommended that the "master" of making the Board of County Road Commissioners strictly a policy-making body be reconsidered periodically.

Road commissioners are corporate bodies under state law and operate independently.

"I'm sure this board of supervisors is not interested in dismantling a growing concern in Oakland County," said MacDonald.

Yockey stressed in his motion that he was in no way saying any of the commissioners were inefficient in their work.

"But it is incompatible to have a man vested with policy-making powers on one hand and turning around and having to administer them with the other," Yockey said.

Science Museum Set Up for Adams School Pupils

BIRMINGHAM — A science museum to provide observation and research for children in the elementary grades has been created at the Adams School.

School Principal Fritz Pils said it is very possible that this is the first such room for elementary school study.

The idea came about during a conversation between Pils and Charles Walsh, a sixth grade teacher at the school.

Walsh explained the idea to his students and they immediately began gathering and organizing materials that would make up the museum.

Such items as rocks, shells, bird nests, aviation equipment, Indian relics, ice age maps and illustrations and miniature dinosaurs, along with many other collections, decorate the room.

Both teachers and students from all grades now have donated items of interest.

A model airplane, 7 feet long with workable controls made by a sixth grader, is one of the features.

According to Pils, the museum serves as a stimulus for children to develop an interest in an area, and it also provides a place for youngsters to display their projects and hobbies.

Baptist Leader Wants Harry Out of Church

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Dr. Ramsey Gilford, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, proposed that former President Truman be kicked out of the church for using profane language.

Truman indicated he wasn't a bit worried about any such action.

Pollard, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis, Tenn., was one of the main speakers during Wednesday's session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Besides soundly criticizing Truman, he accused the Roman Catholic Church hierarchy of being the "greatest blight in the world" and he would not vote for John F. Kennedy for president even if he was a Baptist rather than Catholic because "he is rash, immature and has socialist leanings."

Roy Hamey Named to Yankee GM Post

NEW YORK (U.P.) — H. Roy Hamey was named general manager of the New York Yankees today by Tom Topping, co-owner of the club.

In making the announcement, Topping said that Hamey would assume all duties of a general manager.

There had been reports that Jack White, now general manager of the Yankee farm club in Richmond, would be brought here to handle the financial details.

Voice of the People

of the Democrats is obvious. There is absolutely no reason for the working man to support the Republicans when they constantly refuse to recognize his needs.

Take the proposed strengthening of the Department of Labor in Lansing. Republicans spoke emphatically for management when they refused to pass a single bill designed to add to the powers of the department.

In the area of safety, which is most important to labor, the Republicans twice killed a motion designed to establish a safety code for the construction industry. The Republicans also refused to modernize old laws pertaining to children's and women's labor statutes.

The Democrats don't always agree with labor, but they are ready to do what they can to help the working man.

Kenneth W. Karas

For the last few years the Waterford area of Oakland County has had poor representation in the State House of Representatives.

One way in which the voters would have a chance of expressing their dissatisfaction would be to stand behind an independent and capable citizen from our community as a protest against the insincere politicians offered to us. We have such a man in Waterford. He is William Aebersold, educator, administrator and a good citizen. Since World War II and the Korean War where he received medals for distinguished valor in combat, Mr. Aebersold has been a dynamic force in education. He has been a teacher, elementary school principal and is currently a junior high assistant principal, and has experience in working with our legislators in Lansing. He has worked untiringly in the cause of better education and a more realistic tax structure for the benefit of the average income citizen.

We urge all voters who are concerned about the present state of Michigan politics to decide for William Aebersold next Tuesday. Stickers will be available or you may write his name on the ballot.

Comments Unjust Made by Professor

I am not a learned man as compared to the MSUO professor, but am I wrong when I feel we have been unjustly panned as to the nature of our government and press? We know that wages in South America and Cuba aren't commensurate with those in the states. Any reputable reference book will tell you that from 2 to 6 per cent of the people own 60 per cent of all available land and they don't farm it. They are "upper crust." Food shortages occur, housing is inadequate and the people ripe for anyone who might point out whom to blame. After the treatment Nixon got on his good will tour I can well see why he would want to avoid those corners. I mean the corners where the communies and their dupes hang out.

We were told the truth about Ike's curtailed visit to Japan. If Castro's press tells the truth about Cuba it certainly doesn't about us. Note the invasion scare in Cuba. We didn't expect Gusananno from Cuba, we acquired it by treaty of 1902.

We did extort Cuba from Spain previously but I thought we had given her independence immediately afterwards in about 1902.

With all our faults I still believe we have the best set-up. We can at least oppose malpractice in our government without being faced with prison or the firing squad. And we have a press where a Walter Winchell or Drew Pearson can air their sometimes disconcerting views without being exiled or jailed.

National Cat Week Being Observed

At the request of cat lovers, humane societies have designated the week of Nov. 1 as National Cat Week.

"Wind the clock and put out the cat" is an old familiar phrase and still acted upon by many cat owners. The cat that is put out at night is subject to food poisoning, to harm by speeding cars and freezing weather. Bird lovers rightfully complain of the wanton destruction of our beautiful song birds and blame the cat. Why not put the blame where it rightfully belongs?

Pet owners must accept the responsibility of these living things. Neglected pets create nuisances for which blame is put on innocent creatures. It takes no more effort or time to control cats than it does to feed them.

To "put the cat out" at night has made enemies of the cat and for some cat owners, too.

Lifts Partial Ban on Moonlighting

NYC Fire Head Relents Conditionally but Police Still Enforce Ruling

NEW YORK (AP)—Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. has lifted the partial ban on "moonlighting" by his men. He says any fireman whose pay is less than $8,000 a year can hold an outside job if it doesn't conflict with his departmental functions.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, who is sticking to his prohibition of "moonlighting" by policemen, said "if the fire department allows outside employment, there should be a differential in pay for policemen."

Kennedy and a large segment of the rank-and-file of the 24,000-member police force have been feuding for months over his ban on outside work. Spoken for the men contend many need supplemental income to support their families.

Joe Louis Throws His Support to GOP

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis has thrown his support to Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Louis said at a news conference: "My feelings are that Nixon and (Henry Cabot Lodge) will win the election because they are better trained for the job, like two prize fighters."

Louis was critical of Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy in connection with a tour for a record company with recent incident in the South. It which he is associated.

was reported that Kennedy contacted the family of the Rev. Martin Luther King when the Negro leader was jailed for a traffic violation.

"I think he (Kennedy) was wrong in doing this," Louis said, "because he was merely using him as a campaign stand."

"There have been many Negroes in trouble of this kind before and jailed, but he has never done anything about that. But I feel that the Negroes will see through this as a campaign stunt and will not vote for him on Tuesday."

Louis, who has supported Republican in past elections, is on a tour for a record company with recent incident in the South. It which he is associated.

Cautions Dems on Letdown

McNamara Cites Too Much Evidence of a Party Victory

By The Associated Press
Democrats were cautioned against over confidence by Sen. Patrick V. McNamara Wednesday. The senator told the House Democratic Club that "there is all too much evidence presented today about a Democratic victory next Tuesday. I hope that it does not cause the slightest decrease in Democratic activity."

McNamara's Republican rival Rep. Alvin M. Bentley told a meeting of the Downtown Optimists Club at Detroit that "There are things which should be done by the United States in Cuba but not talked about."

He said the U.S. would be "ill advised and foolish to indicate we're actually going down there (Cuba) to intervene."

He said the Republican administration's actions toward Cuba were "properly restrained even though some people may ask why we don't do something about that dirty little tin horn dictator Castro."

In other action Wednesday, Bentley asked Macomb County and federal officials to investigate alleged voting registration irregularities in the Warrens. Bentley said "1,600 worthless voter registrations have been turned in to the Warren city clerk's office by handpicked workers who were paid 40 cents a piece for them by a union organization."

He said "the workers were recruited and paid by the UAW-CIO's committee on political education."

Bentley asked Macomb County Prosecutor Cecil Byers and U.S. Attorney George F. Woods at Detroit to make the investigation.

Woods said he would look into the matter but added that "on the face of it, I don't think there is anything wrong."

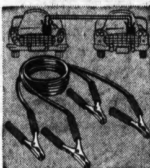

Byers' office said the complaint was referred to State Election Director Robert Montgomery for investigation. Bentley said the majority of the "void registrations were tossed out by the Warren city clerk because they were duplications of names of Warren residents who were already registered and eligible to vote."

9 Better U.S. in Baby Deaths

United Nations Study Shows Infant Fatalities Rising in America

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Children's Bureau said today that nine foreign countries had better records than the United States in infant death rates in 1958. It added that only five of these countries had better rates in 1959.

The bureau pointed this out as it made public an analysis of data on infant mortality contained in a recently published United Nations study.

This study showed that on the basis of provisional figures for 1959 the infant mortality rate in the United States was reduced 1.2 per cent between 1958 and 1959.

Based on the final official figure for 1958, which became available after the yearbook went to print, the reduction was 7.2 per cent, the bureau said.

It was pointed out that after declining for two decades, the U.S. infant mortality rate went up from a record low of 28.0 deaths under one year of age for each 1,000 live births in 1956 to 26.3 in 1957 and 27.1 in 1958.

The provisional rates for the two most recent years are 26.4 for 1959 and 26.9 for the first half of 1960.

However, Mrs. Katherine B. Ottenger, bureau chief, said "These improved rates are still above levels which could have been expected if the general downward trend between 1950 and 1957 had continued."

The bureau analysis said that among countries with stable populations and relatively complete reporting in line with international definitions, the nine that had better rates than the U.S. in 1958 were:

Sweden 15.1; Netherlands 17.1; Australia 20.4; Norway 20.5; Switzerland 22.1; United Kingdom 23.1; Denmark 23.4; New Zealand 23.4; and Finland 24.5. It said the U.S. study used the 1957 rates for both Norway and Denmark as being the latest available when the report was prepared.

"On the same basis of analysis five countries had better records than the U.S. in 1959," the bureau said. "They were: Sweden 21; Australia 24.5; Netherlands 23.2; New Zealand 27.6; and Norway 28.2."

Russia was listed with a rate of 81 deaths under one year for each 1,000 live births in 1956 and 40.6 in 1957, latest year for which data was reported.

Look Who's Colonial— It's the Communists

NEW YORK (UPI) — The western powers damned by the Soviet Union as "colonial" have granted independence to 78 million people of 38 nations in the last 20 years, according to a study by the Assembly of Captive European Nations.

Russia with some recent help from Communist China, has, on the other hand, "colonized" 840 millions of 17 entire nations and eight parts of nations into its Communist empire, the report said.

Dog Gets Life Sentence for Vicious Behavior

BRIGHTON, N.Y. (UPI) — A dog which incurred the wrath of society was sentenced to "life" imprisonment.

Peace Justice Thomas F. Hanna imposed the sentence under provisions of the town's dog ordinance after neighbors complained about the dog lunging at people and behaving in a vicious manner.

Rap Kitty Card Grammar

NEW-YORK (AP)—For the cat "Tweets," which appears on pedestrian safety posters, it's a matter of safety first and grammar second, city officials say.

Last June, "Tweets" upset language purists by warning, via poster, "I've got nine lives. Do you?"

In a new poster, "Tweets" says: "That light's gonna change." A spokesman for the mayor conceded that "Tweets" is not a "strict conformist" grammatical latest poster appeared soon after speaking.

Supervisors Given 50-Star U.S. Flag

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday received a 50-star American flag from the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 2706 in Keego Harbor.

Making the presentation of the flag to Supervisor Dan R. Mac-

Donald, chairman of the board's veterans committee, was Melvin L. Newton of 238 Gateway Drive, Waterford Township, and commander of the post.

Assisting Newton in the presentation were Avery Parker, past commander of the post, and Robert Taylor, adjutant.

Campaign Capers 'Ad' Up to 3-1 for Republicans

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Campaign ads of four brothers who don't agree on a candidate for Washington governor are giving voters a chuckle.

The first ad, in Sunday's Tacoma News Tribune, carried the picture of Fred T. Haley, candy manufacturer, and the caption: "I'm supporting Gov. Rosellini." (Democrat Albert Rosellini is running for re-election, opposed by Republican Lloyd Andrews.)

Wednesday another ad had the picture of Fred Haley's brother and business partner, R. G. Haley, and the caption, "I'm not."

STEP-FATHER'S NOVEL OK'D — Mrs. Barbara Barr, step-daughter of the late D. H. Lawrence, author of "Lady Chatterley's Lover," holds a cup of tea as she chats with newsmen at her London home Wednesday. A jury of nine men and three women returned a verdict that the unseasoned version of the book is not obscene, thus giving the green light to its publication in Britain.

Dag Is Expected to Rap Belgium

Refusal of Ex-Congo
Masters to Leave

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, in a long-awaited report on the Congo, is expected to score Belgium today for refusing to pull all Belgians out of the strife-torn new nation.

Diplomats predicted the Belgians would fire off a quick counterblast if Hammarskjöld bore down too hard on the continued presence in the former colony of Belgian technicians, businessmen and military personnel bolstering opponents of Soviet-backed ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Hammarskjöld's report comes in the wake of mounting Soviet demands that he say what the United Nations is doing to suppress what the Soviets call "the agents" in the Congo. The Indian head of the U.N. mission in the Congo, Rajeshwar Dayal, headed here from Leopoldville to report on the mounting obstacles in the path of the United Nations Congo operation. Mission OFFERED Dayal is expected to tell Hammarskjöld that Congo President Joseph Kasavubu and the Congolese army chief, Col. Joseph Mobutu oppose the plan of Hammarskjöld's advisory committee to send an Asian-African conciliation mission to the Congo to try to bring together the warring political factions.

Kasavubu and Mobutu reportedly have made plain they would regard such a mission as meddling in Congo affairs. The advisory committee will meet Saturday to work out instructions to the conciliation mission which will consist of the 15 Asian and African nations on the 18-member committee.

DANGEROUS CURVE—One of the most important stories of our time is the rapid growth of the world's population. Chart above, based on United Nations projections, shows that the number of people (presently around three billion) will more than double by the end of the century. Asia and Oceania (islands of the Pacific) contain the most people and are growing the fastest, but all areas of the world are accelerating. Scientists warn that attempts to raise the living standards of the world's peoples may be defeated by the "population explosion."

Gets Time of Day From Communist 'Gift Horse'

WEST HOMESTEAD, Pa. (UPI)—"Hey Nooky, what's the time?" That question often is asked, in jest, of Kenneth Jackey, a store-room clerk at the Mesta Machine Co. plant here. Jackey obligingly glances down at Nikita Khrushchev's watch and calls out the hours.

Jackey, 45, is the man who offered the Soviet premier a cigar when he toured the United States visit last September.

Khrushchev accepted the eight-cent cigar and impulsively handed Jackey his watch.

Jackey thinks he got a good exchange.

"I wiped it once a day, and hasn't lost a minute," he said.

"The guys at the plant razz me about it. 'Hey, Nooky, what's the time?' they say."

Jackey also received two bottles of vodka and two cans of caviar as a result of his chance meeting with Khrushchev. The Communist leader sent them as gifts last New Year's.

"That vodka is pretty good stuff," Jackey said.

Little Debra Learns to Surfboard Early

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI)—Debra Kay Barnard couldn't stand to see her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James L. Barnard, and her six brother and sisters frolicking on surfboards and water skis if she couldn't join the fun.

So the 15-month-old Debra learned to surfboard. Wrapped in a life jacket, the toddler perches happily near the end of a surfboard towed by the family speed boat across the waters of Corpus Christi Bay.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q: We have access to clean water, and to water from a dehumidifier, and we have a water softener. Which is best to use in a fish bowl? Ralph J. Schmidt of St. John, Ind.

A: The suitability of water for fish tanks is determined by several things. The hardness and temperature of the water, and chlorine and other mineral contents should be determined.

When the fish fancier thinks he has a water problem, it is worthwhile to purchase a water testing kit from a pet store.

These dealers also have tablets or powder that make faucet water safe for all types of fish. Requirements vary with the type fish you intend to keep; for example, the goldfish is less selective about water than many of the tropical breeds.

Goldfish can live in water temperatures as low as 50 degrees to as high as 80 degrees, while tropical fish thrive best in a temperature between 72 and 80.

American Pair Does the Ganges

Buys Amphibious Jeep From War Surplus and Adventures in India

WASHINGTON—Riding an amphibious jeep up and down India's sacred Ganges River, a young American couple has had an unusual and highly informative adventure.

Helen and Frank Schreider, who gave up industrial careers four years ago to travel and write, tell their story in a copy of the National Geographic Magazine.

Their craft was the Tortuga II, similar to the pioneering Tortuga I which they wrote out making an earlier 20,000-mile trip from Alaska to Tierra del Fuego.

OUTFITTED AS HOME

For the Indian journey, the Schreiders bought Tortuga II in a World War II surplus depot, and outfit it with beds, a sink, alcohol stove—and a seat for their German shepherd, "Dinah." They made the jeep river-going by installing a rear propeller with a drive shaft running through a rubber-sealed hole in the steel hull. A rudder was connected to the steering wheel.

Thus equipped, the Schreiders arrived in Calcutta and obtained the government's permission to travel the vast sweep of land and river that is the heart of India's life, history, and religion.

In five months on wheels and afloat, they scaled mountains, swam rivers, and fought mud. In landing, the jeep once sank to the hull in black, jellylike mud. An English-speaking school teacher from a nearby town rallied a rescue squad to pry it loose.

The Schreiders visited historic cities, hard-working villages, and maharajah's palaces. They studied Chandigarh, the "cubist" made-to-order Punjab capital. They camped out under starry Indian skies, and rode the Ganges brown waters between banks of swarming life.

Along their way, they saw a paradoxical land where beauty springs unexpectedly from poverty, and where earnest leaders are creating a modern industrial economy among people clinging to ancient ways and beliefs. They saw dams, power plants, and steel mills rising in places where sacred cows amble at will along streets and roads.

That's a Heck of a Way to Run a Newspaper.

By DOC QUIGO
NEW YORK (UPI)—"Words on Paper," by Roy H. Copperud, has just been published by Hawthorne Books. It is a manual of prose style for writers, reporters, authors, editors, publishers and teachers. It is a good book.

It tells about grammar and clear expression and stuff like that there, and about how to get out a newspaper people can read.

One of the things it talks about is by-lines and how it warns reporters' hearts to get by-lines and how editors often spell insensitive and encourage long-windedness by reserving by-lines for long-winded yarns, and it comments:

"If a by-line is hanging in the balance, enough wordage will turn the trick. It does not seem to matter whether the story is paralyzingly dull, or composed largely of verbatim extracts from a report or of lists of names."

Ever seen a by-line on a one-two or three-paragraph story, no matter how bright or witty? Neither have I.

Don't Be Perturbed if You See a Turban

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If there should be a man wearing a turban at the polls when you go to vote Tuesday, he may be the personal guest of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herter has invited all foreign ambassadors and legation heads in Washington to observe the U.S. election process Tuesday in local areas around the country.

Some foreign ambassadors have sent officials to study local election operations in past years. But Herter said in a letter to all embassies yesterday he thought the custom might be expanded.

He said he was sure all local officials would cooperate.

Book Tells How to Win More Votes

Five dots and don't for business men and others interested in influencing political events are outlined by Donald E. Stokes, (Ph.D.) of The University of Michigan in a new publication of the Foundation for Research in Human Behavior.

The foundation, an independent agency, recently conducted a seminar in Ann Arbor for businessmen interested in what voting research offered as guidelines to their participation in political activities.

Titled "Voting Research and the Businessman in Politics," the booklet makes these points for potential political persuaders:

1. Don't count on persuading many Democrats to become Republicans, or vice versa. Three out of four Americans freely classify themselves as Republicans or Democrats. Commitment to a party is generally deeply rooted and long sustained.

2. Don't expect appeals based on issues to be very effective in moving partisans from one party to another. Personalities or dramatic circumstances, such as war or depression, may change party loyalty; policy positions of the parties rarely do.

3. Work on the "Independents," but make sure that they actually get to the polling booth. "Independents" are less well informed, less concerned about political issues, and less likely to vote than partisans are.

4. Get a desirable candidate or policy identified with the majority party if possible, at least in areas where parties are unequal in strength. Voters often support candidates and policies because these are identified as Republican or Democratic, rather than voting for candidates because they support certain policies.

5. Get a desirable candidate or policy identified with an important existing group, and preferably publicly endorsed by such a group. Ad hoc groups formed for campaign purposes are rarely effective. As a corollary, don't expect a candidate or policy to win if strongly identified with a group to which important voting groups are opposed.

Voters often support candidates and policies because these are identified with groups to which voters belong, such as nationality groups, religious groups, occupational groups. The stronger the identification, the greater the vote for the candidate or policy officially endorsed.

Stokes is a study director at the U. of M. Survey Research Center, an assistant professor of political science, and co-author of a major book on "The American Voter," summarizing more than a decade of political research by the Center.

Bad Moments Fill Campaigns

Crowd Was Not Meant to Hear Candidate's Whistle-Stop Query

By FRANCIS STILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Take it from an old pro of politics, James A. Farley, there can be some pretty funny moments in a presidential campaign.

But Farley, who headed Franklin D. Roosevelt's vote drives in 1932 and 1936, admits some humorous incidents don't seem so funny at the time.

Such as the candidate inadvertently naming the wrong place when greeting "My good friends of —."

Reminiscing today, Farley recalled an incident of that type which filled him with glee because it happened to a candidate of the other party.

BOO-HOO, BOO-HOO

An aide of the candidate, not realizing the loudspeakers were on, made an inquiry of an associate just before the candidate appeared. The question went booming out to the crowd from the rear of a train:

"Where in the hell are we? What town is this?"

Farley acknowledges he had plenty of bad times of his own, however.

"Once during the first Roosevelt campaign," he said, "I had a lot of work to do in my office. I told a volunteer worker not to let anybody in until I could catch up."

In a few minutes, a distinguished looking gent came in and asked to see me. My doorman didn't know him and refused. The visitor insisted, saying he had a very important matter to take up. Still the guard refused.

"The caller went away and telephoned me," Jim, he pleaded. "How can I get in to you to make a campaign contribution? I told him: 'You hustle right back up here, I'll see that you get in, all right!'"

ME TOO, MOMMY — When it comes to the Kennedy clan everybody wants to get into the act and 14-month-old Timothy Shriver is no exception. Here the nephew of Sen. John F. Windsor Will Ballot on Sunday Movies

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—Windsor moviegoers will have a chance to vote Dec. 5 on repeal of a blue law which prevents them from attending Sunday movies in town.

In a 5-3 vote Tuesday, the City Council approved a plebiscite proposed by Windsor theater managers and labor groups, pending man-approval by the Ontario government.

The plebiscite was opposed by a spokesman for the Windsor Council of Churches.

Theater owners in Windsor complain that the present law forces them to lose considerable revenue to Detroit theaters each Sunday.

Detroit Students Favor Kennedy by 2.5 to 1

DETROIT (AP)—Students of Detroit's public high schools gave Democrat John F. Kennedy a 2½ margin over Republican Richard M. Nixon in a mock presidential election Tuesday.

The vote at 10 of the city's 22 senior high schools was 25,517 for Kennedy and 9,802 for Nixon. Returns from the other three schools were yet to be tabulated.

The student vote gave a similar margin to Democrat John F. Kennedy over Republican Paul D. Bagwell in the governorship race. Bagwell got 25,212 votes, Bagwell 9,617.

Detroit voters traditionally favor Democrats.

Contrary to the Manhattan tendency to build on every available inch of land, more than 75 per cent of the 18-acre enclave of U.N. Headquarters in New York is devoted to lawns, landscaping and gardens.

U.S. Civil Rights Group Slates Detroit Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Commission on Civil Rights announced it will hold a hearing in Detroit Dec. 14 and 15.

Staff Director Gordon M. Tiffany said "The commission is not going to Detroit because the city presents many great problems in civil rights."

Tiffany said the hearing would cover government-related employment, housing, the administration of justice and public education.

Japanese Royal Couple Planning Another Tour

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko, back just a month from a goodwill tour of the United States, will start a similar tour of Iran, Ethiopia, India and Nepal Nov. 12.

The Imperial Palace, in announcing the plans, said the 28-day journey will serve as return visits for trips made to Japan by the rulers and chiefs of state of those countries.

Pontiac Chapter's Name Recalls Leukemia Victim

The memory of Carolyn Carr, the "Christmas card" leukemia victim, lives on in the name of an organization formed in Pontiac to help fight the fatal childhood disease that claimed her young life.

The Carolyn Carr Chapter of the Oakland County Children's Leukemia Foundation has held its first meeting and the victim's mother, Mrs. Earl B. Carr, 56 N. Jessie St., was one of the most interested of the organizers.

Mrs. Carr took on the job of treasurer.

Mrs. J. C. Pickering, 600 Adams Road, Pontiac Township, was elected president; Jewel W. Bolton, vice president; and Alice Jackson, secretary.

Carolyn was the 11-year-old girl whose dying plea for Christmas cards brought over 4,000 replies from sympathizers in the Pontiac area between Dec. 31 of last year and Dec. 28, the day of her death in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The chapter felt that her name, well known to Pontiac, dramatized the plight of young victims of the fatal blood disease.

At its organizational meeting, the chapter heard Harry Brown, Detroit businessman, chairman of the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan, discuss a two-pronged program: Research into the causes of and a possible cure to leukemia and programs to help provide medical care for victims of the costly disease.

The group is considering a fund-raising drive to provide a blood bank for Oakland County leukemia victims.

Gale Winds Whip Yawl for Three Days

Five Survive Ordeal on Lake

BENTON HARBOR (U. P.) — The cold, swirling waters of Lake Michigan have claimed many men in the past, but the lake failed in its latest attempt to add five more lives to the death toll.

William E. Matthias of South Bend, Ind., and his wife, and three friends, Judy Poston and Betty Norton, both of Union Mills, Ind., and Fred Strookland of Mishawaka, Ind., spent three days drifting on the gale-whipped lake in a crippled yawl and lived to tell about it.

Matthias, owner of the 40-foot yawl, even described the ordeal as "a wonderful experience."

Matthias and his passengers heached the battered yawl safely Wednesday about a mile and a half north of here. Then, exhausted from lack of food, sleep and a constant beating by wind and water, they stumbled to the nearby ferry. Rather than being given food and hot drinks it was the first food they had tasted since Sunday.

"They pounded and yelled and screamed and were almost hysterical," Mrs. Norton said. "They were the coldest people I've ever seen."

Matthias said he and his companions left South Haven, Ind., late Saturday in the just-purchased 40-foot yawl.

He said they intended to sail it to Michigan City, Ind., but that the auxiliary engine broke down and the yawl began drifting out of control when they were about 10 minutes from their destination.

"There was a very strong north-northwest wind blowing. It was a regular hurricane. Talk about ocean waves, these were running 50 to 60 feet high. I've never seen anything like it on the Great Lakes," Matthias said.

Sails were hoisted several times and ripped apart by the wind. Then the mainmast snapped and smashed the cabin roof.

The yawl was helpless and it drifted across the lake to within sight of Chicago, then north to within sight of Milwaukee, then back across the lake toward Benton Harbor.

When the pump failed the five bailed by hand. They tried to signal other vessels with the yawl's spotlight until the light failed. They had just about given up hope when Matthias managed to maneuver the stricken craft onto a beach near Benton Harbor.

"In a way it was a wonderful experience," Matthias said. "I really believe that this close association with the lakes can cause one to become a better person."

Matthias suffered a broken thumb and a broken nose. The others suffered minor injuries.

Bank Opens New Building

It's the First Multistory Office Structure in City's Modern History

Community National Bank today opened the doors of the first multistory office building in downtown Pontiac in modern history.

Doors of the bank's four-story annex on East Lawrence Street swung open at 9 a.m.

The aluminum-brick-glass fronted structure is connected with the bank's Saginaw Street headquarters by means of an overpass bridging the alley that separates the two buildings.

The bank's loan operations are centered in the new annex. Loan offices on the first floor will be open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

A special feature are teller offices in the basement, a few steps down from the front door.

The building will be open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The upper floors will be devoted to accounting and business machine operations.

Bank officials said the longer hours and new offices would contribute to the convenience of customers.

The annex offices will be able to operate when other offices in the main building are closed, they explained.

Opening of the new building was hailed by leaders of the movement for redevelopment of downtown. Of special interest was the annex's contribution to the appearance of East Lawrence Street where there have been a number of efforts "to spruce up downtown" in recent months.

Suicide is four times as common among American men as among women, but more women than men attempt suicide.

Foreign Affairs Arouse Concern

By JOHN KRAFT

The fourth debate between the presidential candidates was focused entirely on foreign affairs. As far as voters are concerned, the emphasis was properly placed. For what the United States does about getting along with the rest of the world is the most important problem, according to a recent Kraft survey—conducted before the fourth debate.

Here's a list of the most frequently mentioned problems:

Major Problems Facing Nation Today

Foreign affairs 49%
Civil rights 20%
Solving Education needs 11% Problems of aged;

medical care 9%
Fears about unemployment 11%

(Note: These are the five most frequently mentioned; many others were talked about.)
But when asked what is the most important problem facing the nation, voters just don't use words like "foreign affairs," for the most part.

A mining engineer in Montana said:

"The most important problem is not money—it's where it goes. I like to give food and things to people who really need it, but half those countries we're helping just stuff the money in their pockets and then turn around and give it to Khrushchev.

"Before we send one more cent overseas we ought to make damn sure it's going just to countries who will line up on our side — when it comes to that."

From the proprietor of a small beauty shop in Texas came this comment:

"Our biggest problem is how to make the country stronger and at the same time find a way to keep the peace."

"I've got two boys of draft age and I'd sure rather like to see them in the army over here than in a war over there."

A TV announcer in New York City approached it this way:

"Our biggest problem is education. I mean on an adult level. John Q. Public has got to learn more about the world he lives in."

"In order to have peaceful co-existence we've got to get rid of some of our prejudices and learn to give a little — work towards disarmament through the U.N."

Here is the other side of the coin from the editor of a trade magazine in Washington state:

"I fought in Germany, and I fought in Japan. On the boat coming home I kept saying why don't we turn around and lick the Russians now. That was fifteen years ago and now we're fifteen years behind."

"First of all we need some real men in there who'll let Khrushchev know we mean business, and second we've got to arm to the teeth — and fast — they will never understand anything but force."

All across the country Kraft interviews heard people speaking very much like this retired dress manufacturer who lives almost in the shadow of Cape Canaveral.

"Cuba is only 90 miles away — that's the biggest problem facing our country right now."

Voter Definitions of Foreign Affairs

Just find a way to avoid war 14%
Get "tough" with Russia, Communists 12%
Need better leaders, diplomats 6%
Must stop progress of Communists 6%
Improve National Defense, more missiles 6%
Curb Castro stop him 5%
Try to get along, coexist 5%
Fight for disarmament 3%
Attention to South America 1%
(Note: These are the five most frequently mentioned, many others were talked about.)

Some people talk in terms of greater emphasis on strength, on being tough. Others want to walk softly, to try to coexist. But however people express it, to almost half of the electorate the whole issue of foreign affairs ranks "No. 1."

All important to these voters is the answer to the question: "Which presidential candidate is best equipped to handle the issue?" Right after the second debate it appeared that Nixon was well in the lead on this issue.

The vice president had "lost" the first debate by a margin of 39 to 32. But in the second debate he had managed a "draw" and perhaps even edged out the Massachusetts senator by a margin of 41-40.

And his improvement was largely attributable to the whole issue of foreign affairs.

The third debate was "won" by Richard Nixon by a margin of 39 to 34, but not, that time, on the basis of foreign affairs. Here's how Nixon and Kennedy "routinely" compare on what they feel were the most important issues discussed during the debates.

	Nixon Kennedy Total	Barry Goldwater
Foreign policy	52% 56% 54%
Domestic policy	19% 13% 20%
Both foreign and domestic	11% 13% 6%
No feeling	18% 18% 20%
Don't know	18% 18% 20%

There is virtually no difference between the reactions of the "rooters" for the two candidates — or the uncertainties either. A majority of all the debate watchers and listeners were most impressed with the points scored on the No. 1 issue—foreign policy.

College Is Being Built in Grand Rapids Suburb

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Construction work was under way today on a $400,000 college in suburban Wyoming which will train missionaries. The school is being built by the Milwaukee Bible College and is scheduled to be operational for 100 students by next fall.

DEAD AT 72 — John Hanes Allen, the highest American-born Salvation Army officer in the history of the organization, died in Clearwater, Fla., Tuesday. He held the rank of commissioner in the Salvation Army and colonel in the U. S. Army.

U. of M. 5th in Research With Health Funds

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan stands fifth on a dollar value list of universities receiving research grants from the National Institute of Health, a new government report shows.

of $4,144,910 in fiscal 1959 to support 192 research programs. Ahead of U. of M. on the list are California, Harvard, New York University and Johns Hopkins. Three other Western Conference (Big Ten) schools — Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois — were among the top 12, the report said.

The recent North American bird is the ivory billed woodpecker. The U. of M. received a total pecker.

Sewage System Bond Retirement Date Extended

The board of supervisors yesterday extended to 20 years the time the Department of Public Works has to retire the revenue bonds for the $700,000 sewage disposal system serving Michigan State University Oakland and the surrounding communities.

Insurance on the original $300,000 in bonds had been for a five-year period at 4 1/2 per cent, explained R. J. Alexander, director of the DPW.

He said development in the area being served by the system has not been "as great as originally expected," and that funds from connection charges and treatment rates were not sufficient to retire the bonds over five years.

"What we're doing," Alexander said, "is selling a new set of bonds to replace the old ones."

He said the first bond issue was "overly optimistic."

The board of supervisors unanimously approved the change.

County Grows Anxious To Push Lake Level Bill

Oakland County will try again today to push a bill through the 1961 legislative session to modernize procedures for the establishment of lake levels.

With its 428 lakes, stymied House Bill 73, which passed the House last year but bogged down in the Senate, would greatly help in consolidating and clarifying existing antiquated laws on establishment of levels, officials say.

The board of supervisors yesterday heard the wisdom of the county's 1961 suggested legislative program. The lake level bill appears to have been given top priority by the county.

Supervisors approved the seven law changes of the program. Berkeley Supervisor John G. Semann, of the board's legislative committee, said there probably would be more measures added to the program before the legislative convenes next year.

One of the seven proposals—one that would limit the number of columns on tax bills to three—was tabled upon the suggestion of Mrs. Beulah Schenck, supervisor of Troy. She said she wanted to see what effect the change would have on city bookkeeping procedures.

Other proposals include:

1. Authorization to townships to contract with villages which do not maintain a fire department to furnish protection to such villages.
2. Permission for boards of supervisors to fill vacancies on the board of auditors. Vacancies are now filled by the probate judge, prosecutor and treasurer.
3. Provision for separate votes when a territory proposed to be incorporated is comprised of a village and additional township property.
4. Authorizing reapportionment of the original per cent of apportionment of drain at large charges whenever a village or a city is incorporated out of the territory of a township or when annexations are made to a city or village from a township.

5. Authorization for the county to make collections from persons who are legally liable for the support of those who receive care in mental institutions.

One of the first suspension bridges in the world was built in 1838 over the Menai Strait near Caernarvon in North Wales. It is still in use.

Finch-Tregoff Jury Poll Expected Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A poll of the jury hearing the second Finch-Tregoff murder trial appeared a certainty today if no verdict is reached by midafternoon.

Superior Judge Leroy Dawson told the 11 women and 1 man on the panel Wednesday he regarded the case as one "in which I think you should be able to reach a verdict."

The panel at day's end had weighed the fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and Carole Tregoff, 23, for 31 hours and 50 minutes with no sign of an outcome in the 18-week-old trial.

The illicit lovers are accused of murdering Finch's wife Barbara, 33, on July 18, 1959.

Ceremony Will Open Library Tomorrow

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies at the $500,000 Pontiac Public Library building have been rescheduled for 4 p.m. tomorrow. The public is invited to watch Mayor Philip E. Rowland wield the scissors, signaling the opening of the newest member of the Civic Center family. Doors will be opened to the public after the ceremony.

Sunrise Time Becomes Important to Defendant
ADRIA (UPI) — The time of the sunrise on Dec. 1, 1958, may make all the difference between night and day to Joseph Muffar, 31, Detroit.
Muffar pleaded guilty to break Judge Rex Martin refused to accept his plea.
The judge pointed out that Muffar was arrested at 4:30 a.m. and that the Detroit man testified the dawn was beginning to break as he broke into the gasoline station.
The judge pointed out that Muffar may be guilty of breaking and entering during the daytime, the lesser crime in Michigan.

W. Reich Speeds Mail With Radiant Stamps

DARMSTADT, Germany (AP)—West German postal authorities are trying fluorescent stamps to speed up automation in the mails.
The radiating matter in the stamps' paper is virtually invisible to the eye. But when it passes under an ultraviolet lamp, a yellowish white results and starts a complicated electronic sorting and canceling device.

Watchdog Bites Man but the Wrong Person

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Prince, the Bexar County jail watchdog, nipped at the heels of an escaping life-termer during a jailbreak, but trotted away when the man kicked at him.
When San Antonio photographer Bill Goodspeed went to jail later to photograph the ineffective watchdog, Prince tried to bite him.

Asks County to Join Home Industry Issue

A committee of the Board of Supervisors will meet next Wednesday on a request from Detroit Ford Local 699 that Oakland County join with other counties in opposing any company plans to expand abroad.

Supervisors listened to a long communication from the Union yesterday in which it said such a move would "lead to the serious deterioration of America's economic strength."

The letter urged that any such expansion be made in this country.

The letter asking support in this direction was referred to the miscellaneous committee.

Barry Unveils Sewage Plan

Would Make Oakland Independent of Detroit, Cost $15,350,000

A sewage treatment system plan, which might eventually mean that Oakland County would no longer have to use Detroit as an outlet, was unveiled at a special meeting called yesterday by Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

Barry said his proposed $15,350,000 system, designed principally for Southern Oakland County communities, would get the area "out from under the thumb of Detroit."

He severely criticized what he called "high-handed tactics" of Detroit in raising sewage treatment rates "arbitrarily and without justification."

Some 14 communities, which make up the South Oakland County Sewage Disposal System, presently dump their sewage into Detroit. Representatives of the 14 communities heard Barry disclose his new plan at a meeting in Royal Oak.

Barry said the officials believed the suggestion "very acceptable." He said they would take the information back to their respective city councils or commissions for their reaction.

Another meeting will then be held next month, the commissioner said.

He said the proposed system — for which no definite financial plan has been settled on — would include:

1. A sewage treatment plant to initially handle 35,000,000 gallons a day with 55,000,000 gallons a day to be treated in the year 2000.

2. Trunk lines to serve Berkley, Birmingham, Clawson, Ferndale, Huntington Woods, Jazelle Park, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Royal Oak, Southfield, Troy, Beverly Hills and Royal Oak Township.

Three separate studies have already been completed, Barry said, as to the possible scope of the system. He said they show the system could just take in the SOCSDA area, or the SOCSDA plus those communities now served by the Farmington and Evergreen systems, or, thirdly, all of the three systems plus the Novi Township area.

"Final decision on the extent to which the service area might be expanded will depend upon the desires of affected communities," Barry said.

Broken Tube Caused Boy to Run Away

DETROIT (AP) — Joseph Zaleski, 10, decided it was better to face up to a broken television tube than try to live on his own.

So he returned home Wednesday after being missing for four days. Joseph broke the television tube while taking it back to a drug store for a $4.50 refund because it wasn't the right one.

So he ran away from home.

"I just walked around," he said, "I slept in fields all except Tuesday night. Then I slept in the doorway of a doctor's clinic."

"I walked holes in both my socks."

He said he went to church twice to get out of the cold. He baked a ham for a lady Sunday and earned a dime, which he spent on pop and a candy bar.

Monday night he begged Halloween candy from door to door. He still had some when he came home.

The little-grinder said his parents were "very glad to see me."

"I'm ashamed," he said, "and I'll never do it again. I was kind of scared at night."

An average of 287 forest fires broke out every day during 1959 for a total of 7,281 more than in 1958.

Ewart Recommended Pontiac Pay Death Claim

City Attorney William A. Ewart said today that it was his recommendation, not that of referee George Hubert of the state's workmen's compensation department in Detroit, that the city pay a $15,000 compensation claim stemming from the death of a part-time city employee.

Ewart said he inadvertently mispoke when he said at Tuesday night's City Commission meeting that it was the referee's recommendation. Ewart said it was not the job of referees to make recommendations, but rather to conduct impartial pretrial hearings.

October Prices Better for Farmers by 2 Pct.

LANSING (AP) — The index of prices received by Michigan farmers stood at 225 in mid-October, more than two per cent above the previous month.

This also was more than five per cent above October of a year ago.

Better prices for milk, eggs and hogs primarily accounted for the increase. These more than offset declines for fall vegetables, potatoes, dry beans and some grain crops.

HUMANS AID WHALE — Whale experts James Wright (left) and Jerry McLaughlin come to the aid of a 9-foot pigmy sperm whale who became confused and repeatedly tried to batter through the breakwater rocks (below) and into the harbor at San Pedro, Calif., Wednesday. After being steered to the open sea several times, the determined — or lost — whale was taken to a nearby oceanarium. Experts said it may have been seeking food in the shallow water of the harbor. The whale weighs about 650 pounds.

Asks Federal Curbs of Drug Industry

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Government control of the drug industry was urged Wednesday by James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union.

He told the American Public Health Association in a prepared speech that putting the drug business under a public commission would be a means of holding profits to "a fair and reasonable level."

"Through licensing and patenting," Patton added, the drug industry has "what amounts to monopoly control of drugs manufactured under these patents and licenses. I believe, therefore, that we should control the industry as we do public utilities, in which we condone monopoly but regulate it in the public interest."

Petroleum now represents 36.7 per cent of the total value of all U.S. mineral production.

Contents She Posed as a Man for 20 Years

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) —

Police Wednesday were holding for grand jury action a woman who contends she posed as a man for 20 years.

The woman, described by police as a mute, was held for jury action on charges of possession of burglary tools and with intent to commit burglary.

Police identified the woman as Winnie Vander-Lel, 47, Grand Rapids, Mich., who sported a long-type crewcut when arrested.

She was seized Sunday at a drive-in theater here, where a break-in had been attempted, police said. The woman was carrying a .38-caliber revolver when apprehended.

Alabama Won't Let Dr. King Cast Ballot

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the State of Alabama disagreed Wednesday over the integration leader's plans to vote by absentee ballot in Alabama Tuesday.

King said Tuesday he planned to apply for an absentee ballot to vote in Montgomery. The Negro Baptist minister moved to Atlanta Feb. 1.

The probate judge's office here said, however, that King was not eligible to vote in Alabama because he had failed to pay his poll tax since 1958.

Says Air Raid Report Is Kept From Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman John E. Mose of the House government information subcommittee charged Wednesday that a report critical of the nation's air raid warning system is being kept from the public.

The California Democrat said in a statement issued by the subcommittee that John Hopkins University scientists proposed an alternative early warning system "keyed to the missile era."

But the report and recommendations are being withheld from the public, Mose said. He urged the White House to order immediate release of "the facts."

Close to Attain Four-Year Status by 1964

Third-Year Courses in '63, Senior Classes to Follow

AVON TOWNSHIP — North Central Christian College will complete the transition from junior college to four-year college status by 1964, school officials said today.

The college will offer third-year courses in 1963 and will add senior courses the following year.

Professor Maurice Hall reported that the college, founded in September, 1959, has just been accepted as a member of the American Association of Junior Colleges.

It was the aim of NCCOC officials when the school opened this fall to become a member of the Michigan Association of Junior Colleges by spring.

Membership in this association is expected to be completed soon now that NCCOC has been accepted with the national junior college group, Hall said.

Announcement also was made by President Otis Gatewood of a five-year building expansion program which should boost enrollment to the 1,000 mark by 1970.

Plans call for completion by next September of a new section of the boys' dormitory, a two-room addition to the science building and an addition which will double the size of the present cafeteria.

The dormitory work, which will make rooms available for 34 more students, is expected to cost $35,000. Construction of the science classrooms will cost $10,000 and the cafeteria $25,000.

Approximately 150 students should be enrolled next fall as the figure is expected to grow to 220 students by September, 1962, officials say.

A library and student union will be built in 1962 and a girls' dormitory accommodating 120 coeds also will be built if government aid is available for this project.

Officials hope to have another government-financed dormitory for boys available in 1963 when enrollment is predicted to reach 315 students with the addition of the 1961-62 year college curriculum.

No new building is planned for 1964 when NCCOC is scheduled to become a four-year college.

However, the following year plans call for construction of a $300,000 gymnasium and a $300,000 administration building.

Officials say that about 100 new students are expected to enroll each year after that so the total of 1,000 students should be reached by 1970.

The liberal arts junior college, although founded by laymen and Church of Christ ministers, is a non-denominational school operated by an independent board of directors with no church control.

The board made the decision on the building and curriculum expansion at the school, located on a 37-acre site at 800 W. Avon Road.

Recognition Day Planned by 4-H

Club Leaders Will Be Honored Friday Night at Pontiac Northern

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service will hold its annual 4-H Leaders Recognition Program tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Pontiac Northern High School, Jack Worthington, county 4-H agent, announced today.

On this occasion, sponsoring groups and 4-H officials honor the leaders whose clubs have made outstanding contributions to the county 4-H program during the past year.

This approach to award presentations is about three years old, Worthington said. Previously 4-H club members were singled out individually for special mention at an awards banquet, but as the membership grew, this method became unwieldy.

Now the leaders are honored and they in turn pass on the awards to their own groups at special ceremonies they plan themselves.

Master of ceremonies at tomorrow night's program will be Ralph A. Hoxie Jr., 18, of West Bloomfield Township.

Ralph is president of the Oakland County 4-H Service Club and county 4-H king this year.

Some 100 leaders and service club members are expected to attend the meeting.

As Worthington explains it, this program provides the only public recognition 4-H leaders get for their voluntary service to county club work during the year.

Get More From Less

CHICAGO (UPI) — There were fewer cows but more milk per cow in the U.S. last year, notes the National Dairy Council. The U.S. cow population hit an all-time low of 18.2 million, but milk production reached 124.4 billion pounds.

Associates Plan to Build On Room, Buy Equipment

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Associates of North Central Christian College, in keeping with their policy of providing needed equipment and furnishings for the college, have launched five new projects.

The two major ones are the purchase of furniture for the five new offices in the new administration building and the financing of construction of an additional room on the science building.

The furniture will cost $2,155 and the new room, $3,542 with donated labor.

The organization has voted to buy metal enclosures for showers in the girls' dormitory, to cost $300; ventilation equipment for the kitchen, $300; and red velvet curtains for the NCCOC Vol. Ensemble, choir and pianist.

The vocal group will present concerts on a tour of the East starting the end of this month.

Defends Group at Walled Lake

Mayor Says Officials Are Innocent of Having 'Low Assessments'

WALLED LAKE — Mayor Waldo Proctor today came to the defense of several city officials cited as having "low assessments" by a property owner who had his assessment lowered by the Michigan State Tax Commission.

"I'm positive that none of the city officials named were ever aware that their assessments were low, if for that matter they are low, it will be up to the assessor to decide," Proctor explained.

He said that the claim was "only the opinion" of the complainant, Clyde A. Motter of 1722 Bolton St.

Motter had cited Proctor, Councilman Robert M. Tibbels and Robert L. Witte and city board of review member Ernest Blenden as having "low assessments" when he asked for assessment relief from the tax commission.

City Manager George Shaw said it was impossible to compare the assessments on the cited properties with Motter's since many factors have to be taken into consideration on individual properties.

Motter and Richard J. Watkins of 1641 Ashton St. both received reduced assessments from the tax commission after getting no relief in appealing to the city board of review.

Sell Bonds for School Building

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Board of Education has sold $1.6 million in building and site bonds at unexpectedly low interest rates, according to School Supt. Donald C. Baldwin.

Sale of the bonds was to the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago at a rate of 3.7 per cent interest, which is substantially lower than interest on bonds sold three years ago.

In a 1957 sale, bonds were awarded for rate of 4.3 per cent, Baldwin reported.

Board President Henry L. Purdy said the lower rate this year was due mostly to the fact that school district bonds recently received an A rating from Moody's Investor Service of New York City.

This is an improvement over the Baa rating in the 1957 issue.

The rating also was improved, the school board said, because of the development of Michigan State University Oakland in the community and because of the high level housing now being developed in the western section of the school district.

"The improved rating saves the district considerable thousands of dollars," Baldwin concluded.

Included in one ton of paper here are 1,296 pounds of waste paper, corrugated board and cardboard.

To Plat 65 Land Parcels

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has authorized the engineering firm of Howard Kieft to plat 65 parcels of land on M-15 and Dixie Highway into a supervisor's plat for faster identification.

Cost of the project is not to exceed $3,000.

Township officials now are forced to wade through reams of lengthy descriptions of land to make identification of any one parcel.

With the recent demand for new business locations on the intersecting highways, board members decided to make the change.

Seven members of the recreation committee, headed by Leo Armstrong, proposed a program for indoor and outdoor winter activities.

There are some teams in league-play basketball at the present time. However, the committee said there was a definite demand for bowling, skating, skiing, badminton and teenage dances.

After considerable discussion, the Township Board told the recreation committee it would go along with the program if the Clarkson School Board also would contribute.

The matter was tabled for further study.

Zoning board member Harry D. Waggoner presented his resignation to the Township Board. He is moving from Clarkson to Florida.

CD First Aid Course Offered in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — A Civil Defense first aid course now in progress at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays at the Clarkston Elementary school is open to area residents.

More than 75 people have enrolled, and as the 15-week course reaches the half-way mark there is still time for interested people to learn the fundamental principles of the course, according to director Mrs. Robert Phillips. Mrs. Nona Brabbs is codirector.

Next Wednesday's meeting will feature a movie on intravenous techniques and the duties of a medical aide in case of disaster. There also will be a discussion of the use of medication under disaster conditions, with an Oakland County registered nurse leading the discussion.

Church's Yule Bazaar to Explore Gay Nineties

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The Gay Nineties will be the theme of a Christmas bazaar tomorrow and Saturday at St. Alfred Episcopal Church, South Lapeer and Indian Lake Roads.

Baked goods, white elephants and handmade articles will be on sale at the bazaar from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days.

A ham dinner and fish fry is scheduled from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Friday.

Saturday, a luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Just How Cruel Can Vandals Get?

By DON FERMOYLE

ORION TOWNSHIP — For 18 of the 19 years she has lived in the tiny house at 3972 Mill Lake Road, Mrs. Leslie Raymond gave candy to the children who visited there every Halloween.

This year Mrs. Raymond, whose husband is seriously ill in a Detroit hospital, didn't treat the little ghosts and goblins in the neighborhood.

She just couldn't afford it.

Vandals crept into her yard late Halloween night and cut gas lines which feed a space heater in the Raymond home.

Doctors who had been treating her husband for two years had advised Mrs. Raymond to have this type of heat in the home.

The heater was installed only five days before it was broken.

But worst of all, these same vandals threw sugar and candy in the gas tank of the Raymonds' 7-year-old automobile.

Mrs. Raymond loaned the car to a neighbor later without realizing this vicious prank had taken place.

After the car was driven a few miles, the sugar worked its way into the engine and ruined it.

The car was the only means by which Mrs. Raymond could travel to Detroit to see her husband in the hospital.

A 34-year-old former factory employee, he had collapsed the previous week and was taken to St. Joseph Hospital on the Far East Side.

Ted LaRue, 41, the same neighbor who borrowed the car, managed to fix the furnace lines.

But LaRue said yesterday that the car engine was beyond repair.

After her latest misfortune, Mrs. Raymond, 45, who has a heart condition herself, was dejected and worried about her husband.

"I just can't tell him about the car," she said, "but he'll know something is wrong when I don't go to see him at the hospital."

"We took the long run and were paid when my husband had to quit work and bought the car with it."

"He has diabetes and was getting so weak that he could hardly walk from one end of the room to the other. He'll never work again."

The Raymonds can't afford another car. They have been living on $114-a-month Social Security payments.

Mrs. Raymond couldn't understand how anyone could play this trick on her, even if it was occasioned by some grudge she knew nothing about.

"We raised six children of our own and taught them to respect older people," she said.

"I just can't understand why other parents don't teach their children the same thing."

Proceeds will go toward the church's school building fund.

Meat Prices Stabilized, Some Produce Higher

The 25 cents of each food dollar spent for meat will furnish plenty of variety for November meals, states the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lavyer.

There are large supplies of heavy turkeys in storage which means there will be plenty of the large-size turkey for holiday eating. Supplies of small-size turkeys are smaller than last November.

There are plenty of broiling-size chickens at prices only a few cents per pound more than they were in the summer.

November is the time when pork supplies are at their seasonal high and pork prices at their seasonal low. Shoppers wishing to freeze pork might take advantage of this supply-price relationship when the family larder is emphasized during November.

Beef supplies are somewhat larger than last November. Finished cattle prices are expected to hold steady and choice steers in Chicago are expected to be about the same to $1 higher than in October.

PRICES STEADY

The larger beef supplies and pressures of pork and poultry prices combine to hold beef prices steady. Lamb supplies are larger than last November, and prices are slightly lower also.

November is another month for good supplies of the cabbage family—cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprouts. We move deeper into the season of the old-fashioned "standby for good eating" vegetables—all kinds of squash, rutabagas, turnips and parsnips.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that 25 to 35 per cent of the grapefruit crop in Florida was lost to Donna. Since Florida ships 90 per cent of the grapefruit in November, shoppers can expect to see the supply situation reflected in retail prices.

Michigan's 11-million-bushel apple crop is composed of a record 2.8 million bushels of McIntosh, but only 2.2 million bushels of Jonathans compared with 3.4 million bushels in 1959. The Delicious crop is 1.6 million bushels. There are 1.2 million bushels of Northern Spy apples (down from 1.7 million bushels in 1959).

Since the national apple crop is down 10 per cent and the Michigan crop down one-seventh, shoppers can expect to pay a little more for apples this season.

The late potato crop is 4 per cent larger than in 1959 and 10 per cent above average. Average U.S. prices have been above those of last year to this date. Potato processing (chips, dehydrated, frozen, etc.) has increased from 8 per cent of the crop 10 years ago to 22 per cent of the crop last year. This increase in processing may be affecting the fact that a large crop

USDA Advises on Storage

If you want your cabbage, celery or lettuce to hold their quality as long as possible under refrigeration, store them in perforated or unsealed polyethylene bags at temperatures between 32 and 35 degrees Fahrenheit, preferably at 32 degrees.

That's what the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggested to the Navy after making tests to discover the best ways of handling certain fresh vegetables for use on ship or overseas. And the USDA researchers stored these vegetables, packed in various ways, at various temperatures before coming up with this suggestion.

While the USDA folks found that cabbage kept about equally well at 32 or 35 degree temperatures for period up to six weeks, it stayed slightly better at 32 degrees for longer periods. The celery and lettuce kept considerably longer at this temperature, and there was no wilting of the celery.

The Department of Agriculture also had some words of advice to the Navy on how to store tomatoes, suggestions that you may find helpful. If the tomatoes are ripe, store them at 32 to 35 degrees. Ripe tomatoes will keep at those cool temperatures for as long as three weeks.

But if you have some tomatoes that are green, ripen them first, at about 65 degrees. After they've turned red, that's the time to put them in the refrigerator at 35 degrees or cooler.

Food Editor Says 'Thanks'

From what we saw on Halloween night, you readers heeded our plea to wrap the goodies you gave the goblins. Our own goblin brought home only a few small pieces of candy that weren't wrapped and no squawky cookies! If that is indicative of all the treats, we say thank you for your cooperation.

Cranberry Sauce Has Many Uses

Here are some new and different uses for canned cranberry sauce with beverages and desserts, designed to add zest, color and interest. Cranberries are an important source of vitamins and minerals, especially Vitamin C. Still, canned "jellied" cranberry sauce into ginger ale or soda for a tangy beverage treat. Combine canned "jellied" cranberry sauce with chopped nuts and honey for a luscious ice cream topping the whole family will love. Add a can or two of "jellied" cranberry sauce to your favorite punch and stir in well to give it new eye appeal and tantalizing flavor.

When Oven's Too Small Divide Bread Dough

If you are making a large number of loaves of bread at one time, you use the method practiced by some of the Finnish homemakers in their northern Minnesota farm homes. Shape half the loaves in flat rounds, about 1-inch thick. Slash several times across the top before they go in the oven on baking sheets.

These loaves will rise and bake more quickly than the regulation loaves... in about 20 to 30 minutes baking time, compared to 35 to 40 minutes. By the time the last 4 shaped loaves are ready to bake, the flat loaves will be out of the oven. The children called these round loaves "mopline bread" and loved the warm wedges fresh from the oven.

Asparagus Is Special in Sandwiches

For tiffin or tea, there's nothing so dainty nor so satisfying as petite sandwiches. For a filling that deserves top billing, try these new asparagus suggestions:

Tangy Spread
1 cup asparagus, cut and ties
1 can deviled ham (chickens)
1 cup pickle relish
1 cup mayonnaise
Chop drained asparagus, add remaining ingredients and beat with electric mixer or blender until smooth. Approximately 35 spreads for crackers or canapés.

Sharp Cheese Spread
1 cup asparagus, cut and ties
1 cup grated sharp cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup shredded cheddar
1 cup cream
1 cup sour cream
Grate cheese, chop drained asparagus and mix with remaining ingredients (except sour cream). Beat with electric mixer or blender. Fold in sour cream. Will spread approximately 85 crackers.

Watch Election Returns and Eat

OPEN BURGERS — Let your Election Night guests make their own open-face burgers and cook them on an electric grill. Set out seasoned chopped beef, onion rings, tuna, cheese and other toppings along with crisp rye wafers for the base. Have plenty of strong hot coffee and some freshly made doughnuts. Win or lose, you'll be the voters' choice with such a spread.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Next Tuesday evening there are going to be a lot of tense people in front of television sets. We know many of our readers are planning Election Night parties and those tense individuals who are their guests will want food to nibble on. Perhaps we can come up with some appealing suggestions.
Bring your electric grill into the living room or recreation room—wherever the party is—and let your guests make their own snacks. They're sure to like open-faced sandwiches on "crisp" rye wafers. We'll start you out with two ideas, knowing you can invent some of your own.
Onion King Burgers
1/2 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons onion sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon onion powder
1 teaspoon oil
Combine chopped meat, chili sauce and salt. Spread on top of the rye wafers. Top with onion rings. Brush the onion lightly with oil. Broil 6-8 inches from the heat for 5-6 minutes. Yield: 6-8 Onion King Burgers.
Horse-Radish Pears Accompany Ham
With your party-baked ham, or if you broil or fry it, serve "hot and cool" horseradish pears. Certainly that's a new taste idea.
It comes from the Pacific coast, source of many of our fine canned Bartlett pears. They are delicious, as you know, in desserts, salads and with meats, or chilled and served direct from the can.
Horseradish Pears
1 No. 27 can Bartlett pear halves
Juice from pears
1 tablespoon horseradish
Drain pear halves. Combine pear juice, vinegar and horseradish and pour over pears in deep bowl or quart jar so as to completely cover pears. Let stand overnight in refrigerator. Drain and serve as accompaniment to ham. Reserve remaining sauce for gelatin salad.
Hollandaise Sauce Flavors Cold Eggs
Ever have Hollandaise Sauce leftover? Refrigerate it in a covered jar and use it this way.
Eggs Hollandaise Salad
4 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons leftover cold Hollandaise Sauce
Salt
White pepper
Lemon juice
Dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon minced chives or scallions
1/2 teaspoon minced green pepper
Lemon juice
Peel and slice eggs in half lengthwise. Mash yolks fine with Hollandaise Sauce, mix in salt and pepper and lemon juice to taste and a pinch of dry mustard. Add chives and green pepper. Pile into egg white cavities; ruffle with a fork; dust with paprika. Makes 4 servings, 1/2 eggs for each portion.

Start Herbs Now to Use All Winter
Are you trying to avoid salt in your food? Use herbs for seasoning and season your garden with herbs. Herbs also may be grown in a window box. Thyme, mint, rosemary, sage, sweet marjoram, winter savory and parsley should be well.
Start new plants in the fall in flower pots or in window boxes. Give them lots of sunlight. Garden herbs may be dried and stored for winter use. When drying herbs, select clean, fresh, tender young leaves. Wash them and lay them out in single layers. Cover them with a single layer of cheesecloth and set them in a shady, dry place until the leaves are dry enough to crumble.
Pack the dried herbs in clean, dry jars with airtight lids. When you are ready to use them, crumble and rub the dried leaves

Married Couples Fail to Match U.S. Population Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of married couples in the United States has increased by 11.5 per cent in the last 10 years while the total population has risen by 19 per cent.

The Census Bureau noted that the increase in number of married couples failed to match population growth because the population increase was greatest among children and the elderly. There was little change in the number of young adults.

In March 1950, the agency estimated, there were about 49 million married couples compared with 36 million in 1940.

The report also showed that the average age at which Americans first marry increased slightly in 1959.

For men, it was age 22.8 years in March—up from 22.5 years in 1959. For women, it was 20.7 years, up from 20.2 years.

Invites Envoys to View Election like Issues a Formal Letter to 90 Foreign Diplomats in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, Wednesday, invited foreign diplomats—including those from Iron Curtain countries—to observe American balloting on Election Day anywhere in the United States.

He offered to waive travel restrictions on Communist diplomats for such on-the-spot observation.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter relayed the President's invitation in a formal letter to all ambassadors and chiefs of diplomatic missions here. There are about 90.

Eisenhower expressed confidence that local authorities will be glad to cooperate and help foreign diplomats observe Election Day activities.

Herter said in his letter that some foreign embassies in the past had sent observers on an informal basis to watch the American election process in action.

In inviting all embassies to do the same, Herter suggested that perhaps the reports they filed on their observations could be compiled and made public.

Each ambassador and minister was asked to advise Herter whether he would accept the President's suggestion.

Fast Mail Worries Western Union Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—A telegraphers' union president today called the post office's speed mail experiment a "socialistic scheme" and asked for a congressional investigation.

E. L. Hageman, president of the Western Union Division, Commercial Telegraphers' Union, said his organization is greatly concerned about what he called plans of the Post Office Department to offer telegraph service in competition with private industry.

The speed mail, so far experimental but intended for ultimate use throughout the country, is a system for transmitting letter facsimiles almost instantaneously.

Hageman said "facsimile telegraph service is offered to the public by Western Union and has been in use for years."

U.A.R., Poland Sign Trade Increase Pact

CAIRO (AP)—The United Arab Republic and Communist Poland have proposed to increase their mutual trade by about 30 per cent. The two nations signed a three-year trade and payment agreement.

Trade exchange volume under an expired one-year agreement was nine million Egyptian pounds (about $26 million). The new agreement stipulates payment in dollars instead of in pounds.

Local Talent Shines; One Performance Left at Pontiac Northern

'Hi-Fever' Opening a Gay, Hand-Clapping Success

Cast, Crew Lauded by Full House

By MARJORIE ECHER
A host of hands applauded the gay and gallant efforts of a polished cast and stage crew at Wednesday evening's opening performance of "Hi Fever Follies of Sixty." Marking the 25th year since its inception, the benefit revue played to a capacity crowd at Pontiac Northern High School.

Taking as its theme "Hands of a Great City" the 30 swiftly paced scenes were skillfully woven into a pleasurable evening by director William Cain.

The smoothness of the performance, its excellent timing and colorful costumes and scenery were topped only by the brightness of the local talent which ranged from the lyrically sublime vocal offerings of Phyllis Smith to the charmingly ridiculous antics of Mrs. John Nicolls as a cynical-minded "Elle May" determined to "Come Round the Mountain."

Tap dancer Penny Money, looking like a white bird in her spangles and feathers helped a bright chorus of "Guys and Dolls" launch the evening.

Moving swiftly from a hilarious routine in which forgotten husbands of follies committee members lamented their sad state to a trio of unlikely triplets, the revue contained belly laughs and bemusement for an appreciative audience.

Responsive to the singing, the crowd applauded blue-gowned soloist Margaret Harth, warm-voiced Gumby Ryden and the "Harmony Grits," a barbershop quartet with members Charles Sherwood, Mike Frye, Jack Cawley and Richard Blanchard.

For several seasons the follies has been fortunate to have the vocal solo efforts of several fine male voices. Fred Fuller, Ralph Merkovitz, Lynn Walker, Jerry Namowitz and Wally Schloerke filled many spots, both solo and ensemble with song.

Outstanding, too, have been the contributions of the teenage set. A chorus line of Rockettes with near professional precision brought a storm of applause from the audience. This age group contributed throughout the show in the skits, with special mention due singer and pantomimist Debbie Burns and drummer John Major.

An elegant fashion show titled "Scrubwoman's Soiree" featured men's wear as well as feminine finery. Fashions from Alvin's included a full-length mink coat and a bevy of short evening gowns on well-known localities who portrayed window mannequins-come-alive. Charming comedy was injected by Mrs. Normand Durocher as the scrubwoman who emerges from her work clothes concoct into butterfly-like finery.

An amusing gay nineties number, a return to the thirties with Ralph Merkovitz and Shirley Temple and a perisian Extending hospitality in the lobby to a capacity crowd were reception committee members Mr. and Mrs. Harold Euler and Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Ekelund, all of Ottawa Drive. Proceeds of the two performances will equip two high-humidity rooms in the pediatric department and help in the purchase of an electroencephalograph.

Abby Solves the Problem

Lose Him, Gal, He's Poison

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This is a lulu. I am married to a man who is insanely jealous. One of his best friends just told me that he is in love with me and has been from the moment he saw me.

I have never given him any encouragement. This friend is around all the time and I am nervous and uncomfortable in his company. I can't tell him to stay away or my husband will wonder why. Don't tell me to talk to my husband or he would beat this man to a pulp. Please tell me what to do.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am just plain stupid, but you said in your column that people shouldn't shake a dust mop out the window. I would like you to tell me how else you can get a dust mop clean?

DEAR STUPID: Place the mop upside down on a newspaper and vacuum the dust out with an electric vacuum. If you have no vacuum cleaner, use a whisk broom.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter, 13, who is boy-crazy. I also have a 17-year-old son who isn't interested in anything but schoolwork. I wish she had some of his habits and he had some of hers.

I am more worried about the boy because he is at the age where he should be doing something besides studying.

My daughter and son hardly see each other because she is out chasing the boys and he is home studying. Can you give me a solution to my problem?

My husband is away a lot.

DEAR TRYING: You can't cure both ills with the same medicine. Each child has a slightly lopsided personality. Pull the reins a little tighter on your daughter. Make her budget her time until she develops better study habits.

Encourage your son to take part in school activities, but don't push him too hard. Serious-minded boys are usually late starters socially—but they catch up.

potpourri in which Apache dancers Mary Lou Jennings and Manuel Rodriguez excelled were highpoints of the evening.

A zany number called Madame Balzac's Ball in which the total effect depended on timing was well executed.

On the serious side, representative staff members of the hospital paraded to Fred Fuller's rendition of "You'll Never Walk Alone." Soloist I. J. Davis sang an original song, "Hands" by William R. McClure with musical arrangement by Robert M. Peterson.

A backdrop of hand tracings was presented to Pontiac's Centennial Committee by Karen Brunoe.

The benefit will have its last performance this evening at 8:30 at Pontiac Northern High School Auditorium. Proceeds from the gigantic effort will provide high humidity rooms for the pediatric department at the hospital and will aid in the purchase of an electroencephalograph.

It'll Give You a Yardstick

Measure Before Reducing

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you are starting in on a reducing routine, first take stock of yourself. You probably know how tall you are. If not, ask to be measured for height and weight at your doctor's office.

You can get your height at home if you will stand with your back toward the wall and your heels, hips, shoulders and head touching the wall.

Place a book on top of your head. Be sure that it is level. Then mark on the wall at the bottom edge of the book. It is important that you weigh on the same scales "before" and "after."

MEASURE LARGEST PART

Measure around your bust, at the largest part. If you wear a brassiere (and I think it is easier to measure with a bra), wear the same one every time you measure. Measure around your body where your abdomen is largest.

Measure around the largest part of your hips.

Measure at mid-thigh.

Measure at the latest part of the upper arms.

It is most important that the tape measure passes straight around each measurement. If it dips here or lifts there, it can make a difference of inches.

Also try to pull the tape to the same point of tension each time—not too loose or not too tight—just firmly.

Weigh at the end of each week and measure every two weeks. Any sooner is discouraging.

When measuring try to assume your normal posture. Don't slump as though you are about to fall apart, but don't pull your abdomen in and straighten your spine as you never do naturally.

If you will stand in front of a mirror when you measure and first take your measurements when you stand naturally and then again when you hold yourself more correctly, you will be amazed at the difference in your figure. Carrying yourself properly is a splendid exercise in itself.

The first step to take in a reducing routine is to take stock of yourself. You must know your measurements. If you are in doubt about your height and weight, ask to be weighed and measured at your doctor's office.

For Doctor, Lawyer, Indian Chief

Teeners Differ on Type of ABCs Needed

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co.

Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief, doctor, lawyer, Indian Chief... What are YOU going to be, when YOU grow up? How many times have you thought about your future, in the term of a career? Perhaps you would be interested in knowing what other teeners in our country are planning.

The Space Age, apparently, has not as yet greatly influenced the plans of today's teen-agers, since the largest number, 17 per cent, of the 993 questioned, are planning to be teachers.

This goes for a fifth of the girls and a tenth of the boys.

Anita Lacer, 18, of Glen Oaks, N.Y., speaks for the would-be educators in saying, "I would like to be instrumental in the molding of lives."

The young people feel it is more important to be well rounded in their school experiences than to be at the very top scholastically.

"Straight A's won't help if you're a creep," says Judy Trainer, 16, of Medina, Ohio.

GIRLS WANT CAREERS

We also found the teen-agers feel extracurricular activities in college are important. And a majority of young people are willing to combine work with their classroom study.

Boys and girls split on whether girls should have a career before marriage, with 76 per cent of the girls saying yes compared with 52 per cent of the boys.

Seventy-four per cent agree that a woman with a career can assist her husband after marriage.

In career choices, we found that nursing was in second place for girls. Margaret Perreault, 17, of Danvers, Conn., explains, "It is widely needed and I can always fall back on it."

Second choice for the boys and third for the girls is a business career.

Science, medicine, engineering and accounting were all tied for the boys as third.

Forty-three per cent said that other members of their family were already in the careers they had chosen.

IN DAD'S FOOTSTEPS

A fourth of the boys intend to follow in their dad's footsteps, and 14 per cent of the girls in their mothers'.

Many admitted that working for their relatives had given them much of the background and confidence necessary to pursue their desired careers.

Seventy-six per cent of tomorrow's breadwinners plan to get a college education, 12 per cent hope to go on to graduate school, 9 per cent expect to get their training by working, and 10 per cent plan to go to a trade school.

Two-thirds think that to be successful in a career, a person needs a good liberal arts background.

"You should strive for the highest education possible," says Marcia Wayman, 16, of Hingham, Mass. "Without that you are merely a vegetable and just existing."

Only 18 per cent believe that a person should concentrate on his one particular subject to be successful.

Richard Hopp-Wahuzh, 17, of Woodmere, L. I. asks "Why should a person study music, if he wants to be an engineer?"

When it comes to extracurricular activities in college, 35 per cent of the teen-agers consider them important and 24 per cent feel they are very important. Only four per cent feel they are not important.

"You need to study, but you need to grow in understanding of others, leadership and other things, too," says Pam Smedcor, 17, of San Gabriel, Calif.

Several colleges in this country alternate classroom learning with actual on-the-job experience in the desired field of study.

We found 82 per cent of the teeners feel that such a college offers more advantages over the normal four-year college curriculum. Ten per cent, however, disagree and 5 per cent feel it depends upon the career.

Sixty-nine per cent would like to attend such a college, but 24 per cent would not.

Judi Frappier, 15, of Waterbury, Conn., feels, "You will be more sure of yourself, when you do get out of college, and actually start working."

In discussing careers for married women, extra money appears to be the biggest asset involved.

But Mary B. Banick, 16, of Chicago, suggests, "She may have some ideas to help him. If not, she will understand what he is talking about, anyway."

Ellen Keegan, 16, of Andover, Mass., says, "She can offer cultural and intelligent conversations at home."

Check Material

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The threads in a fabric can be pulled off-line by certain types of material finishes, Michigan State University home economists say. They advised homemakers to make sure the fabric was not pulled off-line to avoid problems in sewing and in fit. Some finishes also have an unpleasant odor which may not disappear with wear, the experts said.

OK to Invite Widower to Dinner

By EMILY POST Good Taste Today

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband died two years ago. About three months ago a widower near my own age was introduced to me. He is a very nice person and has asked me out to dinner and the theater several times.

I would like to reciprocate by asking him to my apartment some evening for dinner but hesitate to do anything that might cause gossip.

I have lived in this same apartment house for many years and know most of the people who live here, and I must say that my behavior has always been above reproach. Will you please tell me if this could possibly cause gossip?

Answer: If he does not stay too late, and as you have the respect of your neighbors, I am sure no one will criticize you for having him for dinner in your apartment.

Dear Mrs. Post: When receiving at a formal ball, is it correct for the men in the receiving line to remove the right hand glove when shaking hands with the guests? I say "no."

but a friend disagrees with me and says that a gentleman never shakes hands with his gloves on.

BRENDA KAY SUMNER

Get Away From Kids, British Experts Says

by RUTH MILLETT

When I wrote some time ago that every mother of small children ought to be able to count on some free time each week, my mail was full of cheers from mothers and boos from fathers.

Now it seems I have a leading British child expert backing me up. So listen, men.

Says R. S. Ellingworth, professor of child health at Sheffield University:

"Mothers need a break from their potsy, dirty, wailing, unyielding kids. Too much attention is paid these days to preventing psychological problems in children—and too little in preventing psychological problems in mothers."

The professor even endorsed occasional weekend separations of parents and children, stating flatly that such short separations help a child to begin to learn independence.

So if your wife complains of having cabin fever after being shut up with the children after weeks of bad weather or a round of measles or chicken pox, don't try to make her feel guilty by telling her how easy she has it. Instead, encourage her to get a sitter and take a day off.

And if she wants to make some kind of arrangement to get a day or a half day off each week, don't give her that line about what a privilege it is for a woman to be able to stay home and look after the children. Tell her you think it is a good idea.

You might also arrange for that weekend away together once in a while. It is sure to give your wife a new lease on life—and the professor says it will do your children a lot of good, too.

Though he didn't make the point, it is good for any marriage for a husband and wife to get off by themselves once in a while.

And anything that is good for a marriage is bound to be good for the young 'uns, who can only have a happy home if they have happy parents.

Do as Romans Did

NEW YORK (UPI) — In ancient Rome, a girl who married in any color but white was believed to have doomed the marriage to misery and unhappiness. During this time, purity also was associated with white.

Gives Him 'a Boot'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Old shoes get in on the wedding scene for traditional reasons. The tradition holds that by casting a shoe, the bride's father indicated he is passing on his authority to the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Sumner of Whitmore Street announce the engagement of their daughter Brenda Kay to Fred Hastings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hastings of Willard Street. November vows are planned.

Wise Hostess Makes Guests Feel Welcome

Company coming for the holidays?

It's a wise hostess who plans ahead for guests so that the visit will be enjoyable for all. Your thoughtfulness can be reflected in the arrangements you make for the guest room.

Here are a few "things to do" that will make your company feel welcome.

Give the room a thorough cleaning, of course, and if the curtains need freshening, now's the time to do it. Make the bed with your prettiest linens and bedspread.

Clear drawer and closet space well in advance of your guests' arrival. This will enable them to get unpacked without hesitation about where to put things.

Supply your guest room with copies of current magazines and a book or two for night-time reading. And, be sure the reading lamp is in good working order.

If you have a bedside dispenser, it should be well supplied with tissues for your guests' convenience. If not, place a full package on the night stand.

Stationery, a pen or two and a supply of stamps will make it easy for your guests to write to friends at home.

Even the most thorough packers occasionally miss an essential or two, so have new toothbrushes, razor blades, a clothes brush and a small workbox with needles, thread, scissors and thimbles on hand.

A night light is helpful, and an extra blanket will be appreciated.

Then, for the final "welcome" touches, put fresh flowers or an attractive plant; a bowl of fruit; and a small dish of assorted candies in the room.

Then relax . . . your guests are well cared for.

Seek Positions for Candidates' Supporters

By WILLIAM J. EATON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House staff is already busy digging up the answer to the question the next president is almost certain to ask right off the bat. The question is bluntly, how many federal jobs are there available to spread around among leading supporters of the incoming chief executive?

It makes no difference whether Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP candidate, or Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic contender, moves into the White House so far as the job question is concerned.

Old hands recall that President

Harry S. Truman swept out all but one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's top White House aides a short time after FDR's death in the spring of 1945, even though both Truman and Roosevelt were Democrats.

That's why wholesale changes are anticipated early next year even if the Republicans maintain the presidency. The Eisenhower crowd is sure to give way to Nixon's adherents. Of course, if Kennedy plants the Democratic banner at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., a more thorough shakeup is likely.

The answer to the job question is not ready yet. But it is estimated by experts that there are about 1,200 or 1,300 government jobs filled by the president. This total does not include ambassadors or members of White House committees.

CAN'T CHANGE EVERYBODY
No president could come into office on Jan. 20 and reshuffle 1,300 on the following day. For one thing, many of the members of regulatory commissions have definite terms and cannot be removed at the whim of the White House.

Another consideration is that many regulatory agencies must be bipartisan by law. The statutes usually provide that, for example, no more than three members of a five-man commission can belong to the same political party. This, in effect, makes it necessary to throw some jobs to the loyal opposition.

Recent presidents—starting with Roosevelt—have found a way to minimize this type of congressional interference with their desires.

The trick is to appoint a member of the opposite party—who shares the administration's broad political philosophy—like Eisenhower president's cabinet.

Those named to the 1,300-odd top jobs can select several thousand other aides without going through the usual civil service procedures. These lesser jobs are traditional rewards for service in the political wars.

Campaign generals, of course, will be hoping to be chosen for the highest posts of all—in the presidential cabinet.

U.S. on Alert for Poll Injustice

Justice Dept. Orders Offices to Stay Open All Election Day

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department today alerted its field forces to be on the lookout for possible violations of voting rights because of race or color.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said he had instructed all U.S. attorneys to keep their offices open Nov. 8 until all polls in their jurisdictions are closed.

He said the department's civil rights division will also be fully alerted and its department will staff that day.

He is particularly alert to such violations as intimidation or coercion of voters, buying votes and conspiracy to falsify votes because of a person's race, color or for any other reason.

Such violations are likely to be accompanied, Rogers said, by forged ballots, impersonation of voters, rigged voting machines, stuffed ballot boxes, fraudulent absentee ballots and false returns.

Although the federal government has no authority to supervise balloting, Rogers said "where violations of federal statutes occur the department of justice will take immediate action. The violation will be followed by vigorous prosecution wherever the complaints are established."

Bagwell's Son Hoping to Return Home to Victory

EAST LANSING (UPI)—A paratrooper who left for an overseas tour two years ago following defeat hoped to return to a victory this year.

The returning serviceman, 21-year-old Paul T. Bagwell, is the son of Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell.

The younger Bagwell, called Tim by his family, enlisted in the paratroopers three years ago. He left for an overseas tour in 1958 just after his father lost a bid for governor to Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

"He was to leave New York City Tuesday or Wednesday morning," said Mrs. Edith Bagwell, his mother. "He was driving so we expect him home any time this week."

Tim had one year completed at Michigan State University when he enlisted. "I don't know whether he plans to return to school," Mrs. Bagwell said, "because I haven't talked to him for two years."

Mrs. Bagwell said she hoped to be home when he arrived although it was doubtful the GOP candidate would be here.

Big Ten Goes for Mr. Nixon

Seven Schools Vote Strongly in His Favor at Mock Elections

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Students at seven Big Ten schools voted overwhelmingly in favor of the Republican ticket at mock elections held Tuesday.

The GOP ticket of Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge led in every campus, receiving 31,631 votes to 15,653 for the Democratic slate of Sen. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

The mock election had been scheduled for eight campuses, but was called off at Michigan State University.

No election was held at Minnesota and Purdue.

The vote by schools:

Bentley Has Spent $82,000 of His Own

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reports filed with the secretary of the Senate show that Rep. Alvin M. Bentley has spent $82,468 of his own money in an effort to unseat Sen. Patrick V. McNamara.

The report of the Oregon Republican listed only $130 in campaign contributions other than his own. The figures show that Bentley has spent $82,468, including $8,725 for outdoor advertising.

McNamara, the Democratic incumbent, said he received $780 in contributions and had spent $610. The biggest contributor was David W. Murray who gave $500.

The reports, filed Tuesday, are required by law both before and after election. They must include all political contributions and expenses of each candidate.

School Piles Up 2,500 Books of Stamps for Bus

ERLANGER, Ky. (AP)—It took a year of saving and a campaign from New York to Texas for three million trading stamps but the Mary Queen of Heaven School now has its new bus.

The Rev. Paul Cangelotti, parish priest, arranged more than a year ago with a Dayton, Ohio, stamp firm to get the bus for 2,500 books of stamps, representing more than $250,000 in purchased goods. The school sent 3,000 letters asking for filled stamp books. The drive left about 500 books so off-

Telegraph Road Section Will Get More Lanes

LANSING (UPI)—Reconstruction of a section of Telegraph Road in Wayne County has been added to the present five-year highway improvement program. Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said Wednesday.

The project calls for construction of the existing highway to carry southbound traffic near Haskell Road. The existing roadway will carry northbound traffic when the project is completed, Mackie said. Bid opening for the project was tentatively set for next February.

Nixon Win Seen by News Execs

Editors and Publishers Predict 'Near Landslide' in Trade Survey

CHICAGO (AP)—A presidential poll of the nation's newspaper editors and publishers, with about 40 per cent voting, indicate they think Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be the winner in next Tuesday's election.

Publishers' Auxiliary, a weekly trade newspaper which conducted the three-week poll, announced today final results from nearly 4,000 of the 10,700 ballots sent to the newspaper executives.

It announced that weekly newspaper editors and publishers believe Nixon the winner in what it said "could be called a near landslide." He was favored over his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, in 38 states with a total of 416 electoral votes while Kennedy was the choice in 12 states carrying 115 electoral votes. A candidate needs 269 electoral votes to win. The returns were from 3,881 weekly newspapers.

In the poll among executives of daily newspapers, the trade newspaper said, Nixon also was regarded as the winner, but with a smaller majority. It said the 632 dailies returning ballots gave Nixon 32 states with 350 electoral votes and Kennedy 15 states with 147 votes. Three states, Arizona, California and Idaho, were tied.

The daily newspaper returns show 69.5 per cent believe Nixon will win, 33.3 per cent think their communities will support Kennedy and 6.1 per cent was undecided.

In the weekly field, the returns disclose 62.3 per cent think Nixon will have support of their communities; 32.3 per cent selected Kennedy and 5.2 per cent was undecided.

In two previous presidential polls, Publishers' Auxiliary returns in 1952 and 1956, showed President Eisenhower the winner by approximately 2 to 1.

CAROL RELAXES — Carol Heiss, the 1960 Olympic skating champion, rests while she studies her script as she prepares to make her first movie, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Stage 15 at Twentieth Century-Fox Studio, where Sonya Henie skated through a series of money-making films 20 years ago, is being used up once more for Carol's use.

New Skating Champ Learning From Sonya

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Folks are feeling nostalgic around Fox Studio these days. Stage 15 is getting used up again.

Stage 15 is where Sonya Henie swirled and skinned her way through a series of money-making movies. The rink has been boarded over since the petite Norwegian left the lot in 1943. Now it is being refurbished for a new star who wasn't born when Sonya was in her heyday.

She is Carol Heiss, the pretty New Yorker who won the figure skating championship at last winter's Olympic Games. She has been signed to a movie contract by 20th Century-Fox. Her first assignment: "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," a $2.5-million version of the familiar fairy tale.

How is she preparing for it? "I skate in the morning and see Sonya Henie movies in the afternoon," said Carol. "I was only 14 when she made her last movie, so my sole acquaintance with her pictures was on the late, late show on TV. Now I'm seeing them all to pick up pointers on what I should and should not do in the movie."

Her reaction to the films is that her predecessor was clever and talented, but skating has come a long way since.

"She was a sensation in her time; she really made figure skating into a big sport, but the

Merritt D. Hill Charges Industrial Statement Is Out of Context

Merritt D. Hill, chairman of the executive committee of the Michigan Industrial Ambassadors, today charged L. Gov. John B. Swainson, Democratic candidate for governor, with quoting his statement out of context to leave the impression that Hill is satisfied with present industrial expansion in Michigan.

"I am not satisfied," said Hill. "Either with the present degree of industrial expansion in Michigan or with the present efforts to attract new industry and new jobs to the state."

"I have repeatedly said in my remarks as chairman of the industrial ambassadors that these businessmen who genuinely want to be helpful in attracting new jobs to Michigan are handicapped in their efforts to bring plants to Michigan in competition with other Midwest industrial states because of factors in the political and economic climate of our state which must be overcome if we are to succeed in our efforts," said the resident of Bloomfield Township.

"The great natural advantages of Michigan for industry, such as unexcelled water resources, are understood by businessmen in other states who make the decisions on locating branch plants."

"But these known advantages are not enough to outweigh the problems of Michigan's economic climate image."

After she won the big prize, the source offer was repeated and this time she accepted.

"It's nice to be able to tell my father that I can help out in putting my brother and sister through college," she said. "It's nice that I can give my coach a check in return for the many free lessons he gave me."

To Learn by Teaching Wrigglers

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (UPI)—An assistant psychology professor at the University of North Dakota is going to spend the next two years of his life teaching worms.

Planaria worms, to be exact. Dr. Edward S. Hulse has been granted $18,388 to do research on the fish bait, but he hastens to add that Planaria worms are not just any old kind, even if they look like it.

They live in water and they're about as long as your finger nail, just a speck wide and about as thick as a piece of paper.

The difference is that Planaria worms are believed to be the most primitive living beings on earth that have true nervous systems and the ability to learn.

The Institute of Mental Health, a branch of the U.S. Public Health Service, thinks the difference is worth the amount of the grant.

Hulse is going to use lights and electric shocks in efforts to teach the worms to respond to signals. The worms, one by one, will be placed in the center of a narrow trough.

When a worm swims in one direction, a light will go on at the end of the trough. If the worm doesn't reverse its direction, it will be given a series of mild shocks until it does.

In this way, the worms should become conditioned to swim away from the light.

Hulse says the ultimate purpose of his research is to try to isolate some of the laws and principles of the learning process as they apply to human beings.

Accra, the capital of Ghana, lacks an adequate natural harbor. Sailing vessels anchor offshore and deliver freight in two-ton lots to boatmen, who paddle a mile to shore in heavy swells. In 1961, a deep harbor 16 miles, 16 miles to the east, will replace Accra's open roadstead.

Intravenous Feeding Pioneer Dr. Falk Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Ralph Falk, 76, co-creator and board chairman of Baxter Laboratories, Inc., died Wednesday after a brief illness. Dr. Falk, a surgeon and a pioneer in the development of intravenous feeding techniques, organized the firm in 1931 and developed it into a major manufacturer of pharmaceuticals and medical equipment. He was born in Boise, Idaho.

Winner to Get Full Pay, No Seat

Campaign for Congress but It's a Gyp

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (UPI)—A former WAC sergeant and a former college professor are waging the most unusual congressional campaign in the country — the winner will never serve in Congress.

The contest between Gladys E. Davis, a Democrat, and Ward Miller, a Republican, is to fill the remaining 55 days of the term of the late Rep. James K. Polk.

The winner will receive full pay of about $3,750. But the only chance he or she will have to sit in the House of Representatives will be if an emergency develops which required the President to call a special session before the regular Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Both of the candidates said they were running to help their party in its campaign in this 6th Ohio Congressional District and to handle errands for their constituents in Washington.

Miss Davis, a self-educated attorney long active in politics, said she is in the race "to keep the district in the Democratic fold."

Her opponent, making his first bid for office in a partisan election, said that campaigning gave him the opportunity to speak for the entire GOP ticket in the nine-county district.

Both candidates pledged that if elected they will go to Washington to handle the requests of the homefolks. They said they feel the district should have somebody in Washington to represent it in all sorts of matters ranging from pensions to seed catalogs.

But the trip to Washington will be at his or her expense. The law allows members of Congress payment of one round trip from home to Washington when Congress is in session.

The winner of the contest will receive the pay and allowances of the office, plus the honor and prestige that goes with being a U.S. Representative or former representative.

The pay will be one-sixth of that allowed a representative for one year. This figures out to $3,780 in salary, $200 for stationery, $200 for renting an office here if no space is available in a local federal building, $92 for stamps, and $5,666 to hire an office staff in Washington. Presumably the winner will continue the services of Polk's staff which continued in his office after his death.

The vacancy came in August 1959 when Polk died. It was up to Gov. Michael V. Dineen to call a special election to fill the office. Dineen decided a special election would be too expensive, decided that the special election would be held at the same time a regular election was held.

Both parties have a candidate for the full two-year term. They are Republican William H. Harsha Jr. and Democrat Franklin E. Smith, both of Portsmouth.

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Ever wonder how the blimp got its name?

During World War I, the British used a small, nonrigid airship which they called the "limp" to distinguish it from rigid zeppelins. The word "limp" came into the language from a "Type B" limp airship which was widely used as a submarine spotter.

New York City spent $30 mil. of U.N. headquarters, which was before the world organization. The circular fountain in front of school children of the U.N. headquarters is a $50,000 United States and its territories.

PCH in Valley Game Tonight at Bay City

Top-Ranked Wolves Are Favored to Protect 7-0 Mark Against Chiefs

By BILL CORNWELL

BAY CITY — Pontiac Central's chances of winning the 1960 Saginaw Valley Conference football championship are slim indeed.

But the Chiefs can play the role of spoiler to the hill here tonight by upsetting unbeaten Pontiac Bay City Central in an all-important Valley encounter at Bay City Stadium.

It was just a year ago at Pontiac's Warner Stadium that the Chiefs knocked the props from under another perfect-record Bay City team for one of the biggest high school upsets at the season in Michigan.

The Chiefs pulled a 12-7 surprise on the Wolves, ruined their 7-0 mark and paved the way for Bay City's loss to Flint Northern the following week in a league title showdown.

The Wolves and their head coach, Elmer Engel, will no doubt have long memories concerning that game when they square off against PCH this evening at 8 o'clock.

Once more the Wolves are projecting a perfect 7-0 record, and just like last year, appear headed for the Valley throne room. Also like 1959, they again are rated the state's No. 1 Class A team.

PCH and Bay City have met 20 times on the gridiron in rivalry that began in 1918.

The Chiefs have won 13 of these get-togethers while losing 15. The lone tie in the series was a 6-6 draw in 1942. Their stunning victory last year was their first over the Wolves since 1950 when they romped to a 46-6 win.

The Chiefs stand 1-1 in the Valley and 3-1 overall. Bay City currently leads the Valley with a 3-0 mark, followed by Flint Northern at 2-0.

Tonight's game matches two of the state's finest prep players. Bay City quarterback Bob Crampton and PCH halfback Dick McCauley. Crampton is a constant running and passing threat, while McCauley has racked off 700 yards in 11 carries for a 7.1 average.

Vern Law Wins Cy Young Award

BOSTON (AP)—Vern Law, the tall, calm Deacon of the Pittsburgh Pirates, today won the Cy Young Memorial award as the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues in 1960.

Law, 30, won 24 of the 34 ballots cast by the selection committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Milwaukee's great left-hander, Warren Spahn, the 1957 winner, got four votes and Ernie Broglio and Lindy McDaniel, both of the St. Louis Cardinals, one each. It was the first time in the five-year history of the award that an American League pitcher failed to gain a vote.

The selection committee is composed of eight writers from each major league. Roy Huxford, secretary of the writers group, who announced the result of the poll, said one writer from each league abstained from voting.

Law, an Elder in the Mormon Church and nicknamed "The Deacon" by his teammates, had a 20-9 record with a 3.08 earned run average for the season. He worked 18 complete games in 35 appearances in leading the Pirates to the National League pennant and contributed two more in their World Series triumph over the New York Yankees. The balking is based only on regular season performance.

The cool-eyed, 6-foot-3 right-hander was noted for his clutch pitching and was often at his best in crucial situations. He struck out 120, walked 40 in 271 2/3 innings and pitched three shutouts.

The award is presented by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in memory of baseball's all-time top pitcher, who died in 1918. It was published sentiment in favor of splitting the award, and making a presentation to a pitcher in each league.

Frick opposed the move and applauded the 1960 selection. "It is obvious that considerable thought went into the voting," he said, "and that the result is a fair one."

Brian Colten, Camille Henry, Dean Prentice and Bill Gadsby scored for the Rangers. Gadsby's goal, in the first minute of the final period, put them in front 4-2. Balfour scored the tying goal at 17:30 following McDonald's marker in the 12th minute.

Hornath took a pass from Vic Stashek just outside the goal crease and slammed the puck past Toronto goalie Johnny Bowser for Boston's tying goal at 5:19 of the third session.

The Bruins' star center got his first goal in the initial period, Ron Stewart and Tim Horton registered for the third-place Leafs, who moved to within one point of Montreal and two of Chicago.

Chicago, 4-3-13, led the NHL standings. Pittsburgh, 3-4-13, was second. Toronto, 2-4-13, was third. Boston, 2-4-13, was fourth. New York, 2-4-13, was fifth.

But the Pistons, playing their poorest game of the young season, were soundly trounced by the Hawks, 125-117, and dropped to a 2-2 record with two wins in five games.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for St. Louis and cemented the Hawks' grip on the western division lead.

Detroit's only moments of hope came right after the opening whistle. The Pistons opened with a fast-breaking surge, scoring the first four points and building up to a 10-2 lead.

But then Cliff Hagan and Clyde Lovellette, two of St. Louis' big guns, went to work and connected for baskets from all angles and in no time at all the Hawks had erased the deficit and by the end of the quarter they were in front, 25-20.

St. Louis, with Bob Pettit now leading the attack, began pulling away in the second quarter and widened its margin to 68-52 at the half and from that point on, the outcome was seldom in doubt.

The Pistons closed to within 10 points in the third period but the comeback soon vanished as the Hawks started pouring it on again.

Pettit led the St. Louis scoring parade with 22 points while Hagan chipped in with 20. Gene Shue was high man for Detroit with 18.

While in the opener of the double-header at Detroit, the Los Angeles Lakers downed the New York Knicks 106-88.

Riggin Baylor pulled the victory out for Los Angeles with a 30-point effort. Teammate Hal Red Hunsley had 20 points while Willie Naulls led the Knicks with 19.

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons flubbed their big chance last night.

Coach Dick McGuire's cagers were in a position to make their fastest start in six years and take over undisputed leadership in the western division of the National Basketball Association. All they had to do was defeat the St. Louis Hawks.

Detroit's only moments of hope came right after the opening whistle. The Pistons opened with a fast-breaking surge, scoring the first four points and building up to a 10-2 lead.

But then Cliff Hagan and Clyde Lovellette, two of St. Louis' big guns, went to work and connected for baskets from all angles and in no time at all the Hawks had erased the deficit and by the end of the quarter they were in front, 25-20.

St. Louis, with Bob Pettit now leading the attack, began pulling away in the second quarter and widened its margin to 68-52 at the half and from that point on, the outcome was seldom in doubt.

The Pistons closed to within 10 points in the third period but the comeback soon vanished as the Hawks started pouring it on again.

Pettit led the St. Louis scoring parade with 22 points while Hagan chipped in with 20. Gene Shue was high man for Detroit with 18.

While in the opener of the double-header at Detroit, the Los Angeles Lakers downed the New York Knicks 106-88.

Riggin Baylor pulled the victory out for Los Angeles with a 30-point effort. Teammate Hal Red Hunsley had 20 points while Willie Naulls led the Knicks with 19.

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons flubbed their big chance last night.

Coach Dick McGuire's cagers were in a position to make their fastest start in six years and take over undisputed leadership in the western division of the National Basketball Association. All they had to do was defeat the St. Louis Hawks.

But the Pistons, playing their poorest game of the young season, were soundly trounced by the Hawks, 125-117, and dropped to a 2-2 record with two wins in five games.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for St. Louis and cemented the Hawks' grip on the western division lead.

Oakland-Filled U. of D. Is Class of Michigan Quints

State College Cage Teams Warm Up

Oh, when November comes can basketball be far behind? Not as far as the colleges are concerned, because in three more weeks much of the gridiron activity will come to an end.

A red-hot battle for national honors is expected this year with 34 of the top 50 pointmakers returning to lead their respective teams.

There are 175 teams listed in the "major" college class, four of which are in Michigan — U. of M., Michigan State, U. of D., and Western Michigan.

At Michigan things can't get any worse for new head coach Dave Strack; at MSU, experience is gone; at U. of D., things are the brightest in history and at Western there's good experience for a great season.

Strack returns to his Alma Mater where he served as assistant before going to Idaho. When Bill Perigo left the job last summer, Strack was named to take over after the Wolverines posted their poorest season since 1918.

The Maize and Blue won only four of 24 games, and finished last in the Big Ten with a 1-13 record. The Iowa win oddly came against rival Michigan State. Strack will build his hopes around senior John Tidwell whose 23.6 average bettered the school mark set by McBurnett. Center Bob Brown, forward Rich Donley and guards Jon Hall and Steve Schoenert are the top returnees.

The Wolverines start the campaign on the road, December 2nd at Vanderbilt and the next day at Tennessee. Pitt provides the home opener, Dec. 6th.

Coch Coach Anderson at East Lansing will find it hard to replace the frontline of Horace Walker, Lance Olson and Dave Scott, but things are in good hands in the backcourt where Dave Fabs and Art Schwarm, the two regulars return. There's good height among the newcomers with five going better than 6-5.

Best of the Yearlings is center Ted Williams of Stroudsburg, Pa., and forward Ron Sabo of Youngstown, Ohio, both of whom stand 6-7.

The Spartans hail from all parts of the country. MacGregor Hay, a 6-6 forward comes from Petaluma, Calif.; Gene Jewett, 6-7 center is from Washington, D.C.; John Schwab, 6-5, hails from Aurora, Ill.; Bob Spavero, 6-5, is from Pittsburgh; Jack Lamers, 6-3, is from Kimberly, Wis.; Duane Killbridge, 6-3, is from Kankakee, Ill.; Dave Cox, 6-3, from Wilmersburg, Nev.; Bill Cuthbertson, 6-2, from Carlisle, Pa., and Dick Hall, 6-4, from Manitowoc, Wis.

Despite the "greenness" Anderson feels the Spartans may become tough "sooner than most people think." This will have to be great improvement if MSU is to do better than 8th place in the Big Ten, where the Spartans finished last year with a 1-9 mark. Overall the 18-11 record was one of Anderson's poorest in coaching.

The best college team in Michigan and one of the top teams in the country should be at the University of Detroit where the Titans have what could be the best 1-2 punch in court play with All-American Dave DeBusschere and Charley North, both juniors.

This year the Titans could produce their version of the "Triple Terror" with the addition of sophomore Tom Morgan, who was North's junior college successor. Morgan, 6-6, will start at forward with DeBusschere, who was the only player to finish in the top 10 in both scoring and rebounding.

Oakland County will have a big representation on the U. of D. team, including three former Press All-County players: Larry Hughes, senior from Walled Lake, will captain the Titans while former Pontiac Central star Harrison Munson is expected to be the key in the Detroit despite advantage.

After a service term, former Bentley all-county player Bruce Gentile is making a strong bid for regular duties along with former all-state Tom Veilleumure from the Upper Peninsula.

Teaming with Hughes at the other guard spot will be Chuck Chichowski, a husky but tricky ball handler from Detroit.

A loser in the NIT last year, the Titans play an ambitious schedule of top Midwest cage powers including Ohio State, the NCAA champion, Indiana, Purdue, Notre Dame, Toledo, Marquette, Xavier and Dayton. After opening with South Dakota State, Dec. 3rd, the Titans follow with home games against Rocky Mountain power Utah State, Dec. 8th and Indiana, Dec. 10th.

The big battle with the Hoosiers already looms toward the sellout stage. Last year nearly 100,000 watched the classy Titans in action at home.

Western Michigan is looking for a fine season with nine lettermen headed by all-county ace from Ferndale, Earl McNeal; Ron Emmerick, 6-6, from East Detroit; Ron Robinson, 6-5, from Muskegon; Ernie Scott, 6-0, from Kalamazoo along with 6-8 newcomer from Northville, Jeff Goodrich.

The Broncos will be tough in the Mid-America conference this year and they face a rugged schedule starting on the road against Northwestern and Cincinnati, DePaul, Detroit, Toledo, and Bowling Green will provide tough competition for the Broncos.

Northern and Waterford Underdogs Friday

Pontiac Northern and Waterford will be underdogs when they return to football action tomorrow. Rochester is a very slight choice over the Huskies at Winter Stadium Friday night. The Skippers will be afternoon guests of highly-rated Dearborn Fordson.

While PNH and Waterford will still have another game remaining after tomorrow's action, Walled Lake will be playing its final contest of 1960 against treacherous opponents Friday night. The Eastern Michigan and Oakland B have more important league action. Oxford meets Orionville in a South Central battle and the Southern Thumb rings down the curtain with a full schedule.

tractions as Royal Oak Dondor help make the Huskies bounce at Birmingham Seaholm, Livonia Bentley at Southfield, Lapeer at Lake Orion and Troy vs Romeo are on tap.

Quarterback Bruce Norton suffered a pulled muscle at Southfield and may not be available for full service for Northern. Rick Fisher will be ready to spell him if needed.

Rochester, which will have a big weight advantage led by 235-pound Bill Meisner, has posted the better record but has not played good ball consistently.

The return of head coach Ed Holldiken to the sidelines may be a

Waterford ball flat at Berkey last week following two straight triumphs. Fordson won the Border Cities championship and went into the title subgame.

Walled Lake, 6-1, has gone downhill since whipping Waterford and will have to be in good form to avoid another loss to Plymouth. The Rocks are 5-2 including a victory over Northville.

Co-EML leaders Ferndale and Hazel Park may run into considerable trouble in road games. The Dales are at Royal Oak Kimball as the Parkers go to Park Harmon. Victories for both favorites would set up a title showdown next Nov. 11. East Detroit and Mt. Clemens meet in the other contest.

Avondale could virtually hand Lake Orion the Oakland B crown by upsetting visiting Pingree. It will be the last league start for the Spartans while the Dragons finish with Oak Park next week. Madison plays Oak Park this coming.

Orionville won an earlier season game over Oxford 21-12 and is a dim pick to repeat despite two successive setbacks.

Imlay City vs. Deckerville, Langhorne is at Gross Pointe University School, Utica host Warren and South Lyon goes to Wyandotte Schaefer in some of the other games.

Emmanuel Christian, Cranbrook, Country Day and L'Anse Creuse all have Saturday home games.

Dupas Wins but U.S. Delivers Final Blow

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Department of Internal Revenue slapped a tax lien against Ralph Dupas' purse Wednesday night after his 7th round technical knockout of Gale Kervin.

The 11 men was for $1,327. The government claims Dupas owes the money on his 1959 income taxes.

HUNG IN EFFigy — Two members of the Union Lake Civic Club hang a "uninterested citizen" in effigy in promoting their campaign to get out the vote. Hoisting the dummy into position are George Williams (right), club president, and Wally Sneddon, chairman of the "Let's Vote" committee. The "not-too-smart citizen" is hung from a light pole at Cooley Lake and Union Lake Roads.

Kennedy Talks to 30,000

Pushing for 'Peace Corps'

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY — Sen. John F. Kennedy reiterated Wednesday night his criticism of the way the United States selects its representatives for foreign service and amplified on his proposed "peace corps" of smart young men encouraged to join the diplomatic service.

Kennedy said the young men qualified for such service would "serve the country in this fashion for three years as an alternative to peacetime selective service."

He emphasized that word

"qualified." The "peace corps" would not be an easy alternative to military service, he stressed. The Democratic presidential candidate also declared it would be a volunteer corps.

Speaking at San Francisco's huge Cow Palace to a spill-over crowd of 30,000 which screamed approval in political convention style, Kennedy said that too often American ambassadors are "ill-chosen, ill-equipped and ill-trained."

"Men who do not even know how to pronounce the name of the chief of state to whom they are accredited—as we have seen two years ago in the case of the ambassador to Ceylon—must match wits with Communist emissaries long trained in the ways of dialects of that nation," Kennedy said.

"They can only be countered by Americans equally skilled and equally dedicated—and if I am elected, I ask you to help me find those Americans."

A principal originator of the "peace corps" idea was Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, former chief of the Army's Research and Development Command, who retired several years ago and wrote a book blasting administration defense policies.

Kennedy said "the key arm of our foreign policy is our ambassadorial and foreign service." He has made foreign policy a salient feature of his campaign.

Kennedy hopes eastward today in a final burst of frenetic campaigning, starting at Phoenix, Ariz., where he flew late Wednesday night from San Francisco. He'll stop at Albuquerque, N.M., Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Tex., and Oklahoma City, before flying to Washington.

'That's-Righters' Love Nixon

Squealers Go For Jack

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's tour of Democratic New York City and Republican suburbs indicated today that he and Sen. John F. Kennedy are running neck and neck.

Not necessarily in terms of votes for president. There are conflicting reports on that. But in terms of the eight principal species of people who make up the crowds turning out for Kennedy and Nixon, the two candidates appear to be about even.

Pupils Favor GOP in Vote at Watford

The Republicans came out on top in a mock election at Watford Township High School yesterday. They gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon a 209 vote edge, but the margin was slim in the gubernatorial race — 2 votes.

The Nixon-Lodge ticket got 777 votes to 268, for that of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell won over his Democratic opponent John M. Swanson by only two votes. The final tally showed Bagwell on top 671 to 669.

Students gave their largest vote to Proposal No. 1, the school bond amendment, passing at $28 to 193. Proposal No. 2, the state sales tax, was passed 513 to 316 and Proposal No. 3, the con-con proposal, was passed 761 to 241.

Other results were as follows: Lt. Gov.: Reid, 733; Lesinski, 550. Sec. of State: Hale, 662; Kreger, 631. Atty. Gen.: Miles, 777; Adams, 642. State Treasurer: Calhoun, 716; Brown, 588. Senator: Bentley, 733; McNamara, 589. Congress: Brownfield, 837; Kells, 486.

Moore Returned Auditors Head by Supervisors

Croteau Appointed to Social Welfare Board; Mrs. Garrett Replaced

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors for 24 years, received an overwhelming vote of confidence from the board of supervisors yesterday when he was named chairman for another year.

Supervisors earlier had voted the 75-year-old veteran county official another three-year term on the board of auditors. He was unopposed.

But when the time came for naming a chairman, Moore was opposed by Robert E. Lilly, his 43-year-old secretary on the board of auditors.

Supervisors favored Moore 53 to 16 in a secret paper ballot vote. Several changes were made by the supervisors as they filled 17 county board or commission positions.

With Thomas J. Leonard not seeking reappointment to the social welfare board, former Pontiac Supervisor Maurice J. Croteau, 32, of 114 Marquette Ave., was appointed without opposition to the three-year, $200-a-year policy-making position.

Leonard, on the board since January 1953, will devote full time as director of the county's medical care facility, formerly called the infirmary.

The switch was made as part of the supervisors' plan to make the three welfare commissioners strictly policy-making members, and not working members also.

In another change, Mrs. Sarah F. Garrett, 76, of Commerce Township, was replaced on the three-member canvassing board by Mrs. Paul Gorman, 144 N. Genesee Ave. Mrs. Garrett had been on the board, which canvasses, since 1953.

President Tours 'Motorama'

LIKE WITH 'GM EXEC'S' — President Eisenhower chats with General Motors officials during a tour today of GM's 'Motorama' at New York Waldorf-Astoria Hotel after his speech at a gigantic GM rally Wednesday night. Ike's Help Heralds GOP Victory: Nixon

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon travels into the South today, jubilantly asserting that President Eisenhower's New York area campaigning in his behalf heralds a Republican victory in next Tuesday's election.

Climaxing a day of vigorous plugging for the Nixon-Lodge ticket, Eisenhower Wednesday night touched off tumultuous acclaim in championing the GOP candidates and in hitting at Sen. John F. Kennedy at a party rally in Manhattan's Coliseum.

So tremendous was the acclaim, so many times was Eisenhower interrupted by the wildly cheering crowd that Nixon got to speak only a couple of minutes before the rally proceedings—carried nationwide on television—went off the air.

But the vice president smilingly told his coast-to-coast audience "I can only say that I am always glad to give up my time for the president of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Nixon called his day in New York the brightest of the Republican campaign. "It has started us to a great victory in New York and victory in the nation. Now let's go," he said.

Nixon thus underscored the importance he attaches to Eisenhower's help in the home stretch.

President Disappoints Nixon Supporters With 'Mild' Blast of Jack

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's Tandem campaign with Vice President Richard M. Nixon appeared today to have fallen short of delivering a knock-out punch in the battle for New York's 45 electoral votes.

Eisenhower gave lavish praise to Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, in a series of city and suburban appearances climaxed in a whistling, howling, stamping rally that overflowed New York's 6,000-seat Coliseum Wednesday night.

But the high expectations of Nixon's supporters that the President would direct withering political fire at Sen. John F. Kennedy were only partly realized.

Without naming him, Eisenhower did criticize Kennedy as one who is "bewailing America's strength" in the military and economic field. Also without naming him, the President fired some shafts at a Kennedy supporter, former President Harry S. Truman.

Eisenhower said that when he came into office in 1953 the United States was at war in Korea. He left out of his nationally televised speech the adjective "unneeded," which he had used to describe that conflict in remarks he had prepared in advance.

In an indirect answer to Kennedy's contention that the United States has been losing prestige in the world, Eisenhower told the almost constantly applauding crowd that the number of those who defect annually from Communist-controlled countries is measured in the hundreds of thousands.

But there was obvious disappointment in the Republican camp that the President had not seen fit to tear into Kennedy with some of the rest he displayed for this role in a nationally televised speech last week.

Satellite Could Ease Mystery of Charged Area

Hope 90-Pound Whirler Can Lead to Improved Communications

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A 90-pound "spinning top" satellite whirled into orbit today to begin the most extensive study ever attempted of the earth's ionosphere.

The satellite, officially designated Explorer VIII, is designed to give scientists a better understanding of the mysterious electrically-charged ionospheric layers which reflect radio signals back to earth.

The experiment could lead to improved communications between coast-to-coast ships and planes. It also could open the way for more effective contact with communications satellites like the recently launched Echo and Courier and with future manned space craft.

With today's successful launching, the United States has now 14 satellites in orbit around the earth to one for the Soviet Union.

An official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the successful orbiting of Explorer VIII gives the United States a commanding edge over the Soviet Union in exploration of the ionosphere.

Robert Bourdeau, head of the ionosphere branch of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, said published reports indicate the Soviet Union has been probing the ionosphere with rockets and until today was considered even with this country in data gathered from this sea of electrical particles which extends from 50 miles to about 1,000 miles above the earth's surface.

A powerful 76-foot Juno II rocket blasted off from this missile center at 12:23 a.m. today. Its four stages fired with clocklike precision and boosted the payload to necessary orbital speed of more than 18,000 miles an hour.

Two hours after launch, NASA announced the "spinning top" was in orbit. It is so nicknamed because it is shaped like a child's top.

Buy New Buses for City Riders

Transit Company Plans to Start 12 Coaches Monday, Nov. 14

Pontiac Transit Corp. will put a new fleet of 12 1960 GMC Truck Coach Division buses on the streets this month.

Monday, Nov. 14, has been set as the target date for their appearance, said Neil B. Pilsen, general manager of the fledgling company.

The $150,000 purchase represents the company's optimism about the future of bus transportation in Pontiac, said Pilsen.

The bus company has also purchased three earlier-model used GMC buses as spares, thus completely replacing the 15 old buses taken over from Pontiac City Lines, Inc., when the new bus company started June 9.

SMALLER, BETTER — The new buses are the smaller, 31-passenger models, better suited than the bigger models to Pontiac's public transportation needs, said Pilsen.

The changeover has been approved by the city, which is nominal owner of the bus company under a lease arrangement designed to save in state taxes.

Conversion follows a pledge made by American Transit Corp., parent of Pontiac Transit Corp., when it was formed for the Pontiac franchise.

Wraps Off—Tempest Makes Bow

WRAPS AT COURTHOUSE — Two passersby eagerly inspect Pontiac Motor Division's brand new car, the 1960 Tempest, making its first appearance in Pontiac yesterday at the corner of Huron and Saginaw Streets. The auto went on display nationally today in dealer showrooms.

The Downtown Merchants Assn. began a four-day welcome for the Tempest today, highlighted by a contest that will see one of the new cars plus $4,000 in merchandise given away as prizes.

of the Democrats is obvious. There is absolutely no reason for the working man to support the Republicans when they constantly refuse to recognize his needs.

Take the proposed strengthening of the Department of Labor in Lansing. Republicans spoke emphatically for management when they refused to pass a single bill designed to add to the powers of the department.

In the area of safety, which is most important to labor, the Republicans twice killed a motion designed to establish a safety code for the construction industry. The Republicans also refused to moderate old laws pertaining to children's and women's labor statutes.

The Democrats don't always agree with labor, but they are ready to do what they can to help the working man.

For the last few years the Waterford area of Oakland County has had poor representation in the State House of Representatives.

One way in which the voters would have a chance of expressing their dissatisfaction would be to stand behind an independent and capable citizen from our community as a protest against the mediocre politicians offered to us. We have such a man in Waterford. He is William Aebersold, educator, administrator and a good citizen. Since World War II and the Korean War where he received medals for distinguished valor in combat, Mr. Aebersold has been a dynamic force in education. He has been a teacher, elementary school principal and is currently a junior high assistant principal, and has experience in working with our legislators in Lansing. He has worked untiringly in the cause of better education and a more realistic tax structure for the benefit of the average income citizen.

We urge all voters who are concerned about the present state of Michigan politics to decide for William Aebersold next Tuesday. Stickers will be available or you may write his name on the ballot.

'Comments Unjust Made by Professor'

I am not a learned man as compared to the MSUO professor, but am I wrong when I feel we have been unjustly panned as to the nature of our government and press? We know that wages in South America and Cuba aren't commensurate with those in the states. Any reputable reference book will tell you that from 2 to 6 per cent of the people own 60 per cent of all available land and don't farm it. They are "upper crust." Food shortages occur, housing is inadequate and the people ripe for anyone who might point out whom to blame.

After the treatment Nixon got on his good will tour I can well see why Ike would want to avoid those corners, I mean the corners where the commies and their dupes hang out.

We were told the truth about Ike's curtailed visit to Japan. If Castro's press tells the truth about Cuba it certainly doesn't about us. Note the invasion scare in Cuba. We didn't expect Guantánamo from Cuba, we acquired it by treaty of 1903.

We did extort Cuba from Spain previously but I thought we had given her independence immediately afterwards in about 1902.

With all our faults I still believe we have the best set-up. We can at least oppose malpractice in our government without being faced with prison or the firing squad. And we have a press where a Walter Winchell or Drew Pearson can air their sometimes disconcerting views without being exiled or jailed.

National Cat Week Being Observed

At the request of cat lovers, humane societies have designated the week of Nov. 1 as National Cat Week.

"Wind the clock and put out the cat" is an old familiar phrase and still adored upon by many cat owners. The cat that is put out at night is subject to food poisoning, to harm by speeding cars and freezing weather.

beautiful song birds and blame the cat. Why not put the blame where it rightfully belongs?

Pet owners must accept the responsibility of these living things. Neglected pets create nuisances for which blame is put on innocent creatures. It takes no more effort or time to control cats than it does to feed them.

To "put the cat out" at night has made enemies of the cat and for some cat owners, too.

Lifts Partial Ban on Moonlighting

NYC Fire Head Relents Conditionally but Police Still Enforce Ruling

NEW YORK (AP)—Fire Commissioner Edward P. Cavanaugh Jr. has lifted the partial ban on "moonlighting" by his men.

He says any fireman whose pay is less than $8,000 a year can hold an outside job if it doesn't conflict with his departmental functions.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, who is sticking to his prohibition of "moonlighting" by policemen, said "if the fire department allows outside employment, there should be a differential in pay for policemen."

Kennedy and a large segment of the rank-and-file of the 34,000-member police force have been feuding for months over his ban on outside work. Spoilerism for the men contend many need supplemental income to support their families.

Book Tells How to Win More Votes

Five do's and don'ts for business men and others interested in influencing political events are outlined by Donald B. Stokes, 1953-54 of The University of Michigan in a new publication of the Foundation for Research in Human Behavior.

The foundation, an independent agency, recently conducted a seminar in Ann Arbor for business men interested in what voting research offered as guidelines to their participation in political activities.

Titled "Voting Research and the Businessman in Politics," the booklet makes these points for potential political persuaders:

1. Don't count on persuading many Democrats to become Republicans, or vice versa. Three out of four Americans freely classify themselves as Republicans or Democrats. Commitment to a party is generally deeply rooted and long sustained.
2. Don't expect appeals based on issues to be very effective in moving partisans from one party to another. Personalities or dramatic circumstances, such as war or depression, may change party loyalty; policy positions of the parties rarely do.

3. Work on the "independents," but make sure that they actually get to the polling booth. "Independents" are less well informed, less concerned about political issues, and less likely to vote than partisans are.

Get a desirable candidate or policy identified with the majority party if possible, at least in areas where parties are unequal in strength. Voters often support candidates and policies because these are identified as Republican or Democratic, rather than voting for candidates because they support certain policies.

5. Get a desirable candidate or policy identified with an important existing group, and preferably publicly endorsed by such a group. Ad hoc groups formed for campaign purposes are rarely effective. As a corollary, don't expect a candidate or policy to win if strong identified with a group to which important voting groups are opposed.

Voters often support candidates and policies because these are identified with groups to which voters belong, such as nationality groups, religious groups, occupational groups. The stronger the identification, the greater the vote for the candidate or policy officially endorsed.

Stokes is a study director at the U. of M. Survey Research Center, an assistant professor of political science, and co-author of a major book on "The American Voter," summarizing more than a decade of political research by the Center.

Bad Moments Fill Campaigns

Crowd Was Not Meant to Hear Candidate's Whistle-Stop Query

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Take it from an old pro of politics, James A. Farley, there can be some pretty funny moments in a presidential campaign.

But Farley, who headed Franklin D. Roosevelt's vice-presidential drive in 1932 and 1936, admits some humorous incidents don't seem so funny at the time.

Such as the candidate inadvertently naming the wrong place when greeting "My good friends of —."

BOO-HOO, BOO-HOO
An aide of the candidate, not realizing the loudspeakers were on, made an inquiry of an associate just before the candidate appeared. The question went booming out to the crowd from the rear of a train:

"Where in the hell are we? What town is this?"

Farley acknowledged he had plenty of bad times of his own, however.

"Once during the first Roosevelt campaign," he said, "I had a lot of work to do in my office. I told a volunteer worker not to let anybody in until I could catch up."

"In a few minutes, a distinguished looking gent came in and asked to see me. My door-man didn't know him and refused. The visitor insisted, saying he had a very important matter to take up. Still the guard refused."

"The caller went away and telephoned me," Jim, he pleaded, "How can I get in to you to make a campaign contribution?" I told him, "You hustle right back up here. I'll see that you get in, all right!"

British Book Says Everyone Is

You're a Snob... PLEASE Don't Deny It

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK—If you want to "live it up to the Joneses," you are a snob.

If you look down on the Joneses, even a half-inch, you are a snob. If you see that the Joneses are better off than you, and you say to yourself what the heck, I like myself the way I am — you are the worst kind of snob... an idealistic one.

If you are now thinking, "What nonsense this column is," you are a most ordinary kind of snob. An antisnob or thinking-snob's snob.

There is scarcely any way, in fact, (according to a British treatise called "The New Book of Snobs") that a man or woman with a brain in his head and a tongue that crumples can avoid being so labeled by someone or other.

If he can distinguish a one-dollar bill from a five, an auto from a bicycle, white rice from wild rice, ego from inferiority—he is bound either to look up to, or down upon, something. And yearning, however subconsciously, upwards is quite as snobbish as peering, however unconsciously, down one's nose.

The British consider themselves the top snobocracy in the world, but they feel decidedly humbled lately because recent peace and prosperity has caused their advertising agencies to copy America's Madison Avenue techniques.

"Not so long ago we used to feel comfortably at the American success symbols, the philosophies of the status seekers, the petty editors of materialism," goes an editorial in the London Times.

"But today the laugh has faded. 'You're really someone,' say the English advertisements, too, when you drive a you-know-what." This is what comes of prosperity. You stop being snobbish about your children and your crumpets, and begin the more sophisticated practice of leaving the sitting-room curtains open so the neighbors can see the silver.

MORE SNOBBISHNESS

The Times also laments that, with the coming of relative prosperity, there is more higher education—and half the population of England is constantly engaged in trying to talk more grandly than its parents did. It is painful to experience. It is like forcing a left-handed child to use his right."

As in America, snobbery calls upon parents of England to give their children a better education at enormous expense. Better clothes (and woven into the silks many threads of sacrifice, anxiety and shame).

The British working man, member of the one relatively snobless class who before the last decade could laugh at social pressibly hold yourself aloof of the stigma of snobbery? If you can envy no man anything, patronize no man in the world? Nonsense, says the Times snobbishly...

However, toneless your accent and anonymous your clothes, blamless your religion and indefinable your opinions—your school forgotten, the make of your car a happy medium, the paper you read a compromise, the cut of your suit a self-effacement — however warily, modestly, gently you tread some snob or other will find a category for you and drop you into your class like a wayward pea returned to the pod. So there's little to do but settle back and enjoy it. Worrying will only make you a nonconformist... the insidious kind, Mrs. Jones thinks.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says total assets of the nation's farmers increased last year to a new record high of $305.6 billion.

The Fireman's Lot Is Not a Happy One

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — If the postman always knocks twice, maybe firemen should too. Fire Chief M. L. Rogers has decided.

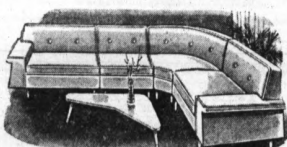

After the first year of the department's home inspection program, firemen discovered 26,361 fire hazards in 19,924 homes, but were refused admittance to 2,000 homes at which they knocked for inspection purposes.

Senate Seats Vacant
If Democrats Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Democrats win next Tuesday, it will mean an appointment from Massachusetts and apparently a special election in Texas to fill two Senate seats.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the presidential nominee, has four years to go to fill out his six-year Senate term. However, his appointed successor could serve only the two years until the 1962 election.

The present Senate term of Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas will expire when a new Congress comes in next Jan. 3. Johnson is running for the vice presidency and also for re-election to the Senate in a state where the state Democratic nomination has meant election. If he wins both offices, a special election would be required to name his successor in the Senate, but a temporary senator could be appointed.

Under Massachusetts law, a Senate vacancy is filled by an appointment by the governor for an interim term until the next election.

WOULDN'T NAME SELF

Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts, a Democrat, ran unsuccessfully in the primary for the seat now held by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, a Republican. His term as governor expires next January.

Furcolo, predicting a Kennedy-Johnson victory, said he didn't expect to name himself to succeed Kennedy in the Senate.

"I think almost certainly not—after all, I ran for that office and was rejected by the voters for it," Furcolo said. "Much as I want to go to the Senate—and God knows I do—I don't think I'd appoint myself to a position I'd been rejected for."

The Texas law provides that when a vacancy occurs in the Senate, the governor, within 10 days, shall call a special election to be held not less than 60 days nor more than 90 days after the vacancy occurs.

If the Senate is in session or convenes before the special election is held, the Texas governor can make a temporary appointment until the outcome of the election is known.

Asked last July when he would resign as senator if he is elected vice president, Johnson said, "I think Texas would want its senator to serve until just before the inauguration."

The Republicans are running John Tower of Wichita Falls against Johnson in the Senate race.

Ford Raises Price of '61 Thunderbird

DEARBORN (UPI)—Suggested list prices of $3,812 and $4,246 for the 1961 Thunderbird hardtop and convertible models were announced Wednesday by the Ford Division of Ford Motor Co.

The new Thunderbird will go on sale in Ford dealerships Nov. 10.

The 1961 Thunderbird prices represent an increase of $21 over last year. A division spokesman said the increase reflects a new and larger engine and other design improvements that increased the value of the car. Dual-range automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering and back up lights have been added as standard equipment at no extra cost on the new models. The new movable steering column carries a $20 price tag. Suggested factory list prices do not include transportation charges or federal, state or local taxes.

Occupational Hazard!

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Banking can be heavy—and dangerous—work, a new employee of the Huntington National Bank has learned. Authorities said William Higgins, 15, employed in the coin room, overturned a cart containing a dozen sacks of nickels. It landed on his foot and he had to be treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital for bruises.

Garden City Mayor
Awarded $150,000

DETROIT (UPI)—Garden City Mayor James Tierney has been awarded $150,000 damages against a contractor who shot him three years ago.

Circuit Judge Wade H. McCree awarded the damages against Lester Ellerhorst, who shot the mayor five times during a planning commission session.

Ellerhorst was subsequently found insane and committed to Northville State Hospital. He did not appear at Tuesday's hearing. Tierney, 55, was laid up two years after the incident. He originally filed suit for $300,000 and settled out of court for $40,000, but Ellerhorst's wife failed to sell the property necessary to satisfy the judgment.

The consent decree was then set aside and the case went to court.

A tiny island off the west coast of Florida is named Captiva, supposedly because the buccaner Gasparilla confined female prisoners there.

Soviet Union Eyes Ties
With Pro-West Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The Soviet Union has proposed to establish commercial, technical, scientific and cultural relations with pro-Western Thailand.

The immediate Thai reaction was generally favorable but cautious.

A spokesman for Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat told newsmen today the proposal was made by the new Soviet Ambassador, Anatoly Nikolayev, in his first formal call on Sarit Monday.

The spokesman said Sarit approved the idea in principle, but cautioned against any Soviet ideological activities here.

Spending Less for Food and Living Better

Are you confusing the "high cost of living" with the "cost of high living"? This question was recently asked by Arthur Mauch, Extension Specialist in Agricultural Economics, Michigan State University. When you read headlines that say, "Food Prices Push Cost of Living to New High," do you believe that the cost of food is high?

Let's look at facts, based on records kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Sawyer.

We spend less for food now than in all our history and less than any other country in the world in relation to our income.

The "consumers' price index," commonly known as the "cost of living index," is now over 124 (as of mid-1960). This means that things consumers buy cost on the average of 24 per cent more than they did in 1947-1949, the years used as a base. The index of food prices, however, is still under 120. Compare the food index with medical care 195, transportation — 144, personal care — 123, housing — 121.

In 1947, our $46 billion food bill took 27 per cent of our income. The nearby $70 billion we spent in 1959 tapped only about 21 per cent of our income. After meeting basic food needs, we are likely to spend increases in income on other goods and services such as better quality products and more marketing services.

SPENDS LESS

The average American factory worker now spends only 23 per cent of his earnings for food. Only 10 years ago he was spending 25 per cent; 20 years ago, 41 per cent; and 30 years ago, he spent 48 per cent, or nearly half his earnings for food. If he bought the same diet he did in 1929 he would need to spend only about 16 per cent of his current earnings instead of 23 per cent.

If you wish further information on food and the cost of living, write Mrs. Sawyer, 1260 W. Blvd., Pontiac for a free copy of Extension Folder 26. This was written by Mr. Mauch and recently printed by Michigan State University.

The United States will have 25 million people 65 years and older by 1980.

Australian aborigines trim a boomerang again and again until it has the correct curve. They are equally skilful in spear-making. Small portions are shaved from the shaft until it bears the correct ratio to the length of the spear thrower's arm.

Take Advantage of Good Lamb Now Available

Supplies of lamb are now plentiful and prices are reasonable. The average American eats about 4½ pounds of lamb a year, with people in the Northeast leading. Legs of lamb, and loin and rib chops, are always popular. But more and more homemakers are learning that the more economical cuts make delicious family dishes, rich in protein and iron. These include inexpensive neck slices, shoulder chops, rolled and cushioned shoulder roasts, shanks, ground lamb riblets, whole breast and spareribs.

Leg of Lamb With Curry Glaze
4 cups stock or bouillon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon curry powder
4 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1½ to 2 pound leg of lamb orange slices, halved lemon slices

Combine stock or bouillon, lemon juice, curry powder, parsley and lemon rind; mix well. Place lamb on rack in roasting pan. Brush with small amount of stock mixture. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 2½ hours.

Arrange orange and lemon slices on top of lamb. Bake 30 minutes to 1 hour, or until meat thermometer registers 175 to 180 degrees (depending upon desired degree of doneness). Brush lamb with stock mixture frequently during cooking period. Makes 8 servings.

Savory Irish Stew
salt
pepper
flour water
2 tablespoons fat or oil
2 potatoes, diced
4 small carrots, sliced
1 turnip, sliced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Sprinkle the meat with salt, pepper and flour; brown it with the onion in the fat. Add water to cover. Cover pan and cook slowly until meat is almost done—about 1½ hours. Add potatoes, carrots and turnip and cook until tender—20 to 30 minutes. Add parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Try Light Dessert After Big Meal

This is a new combination of fruit flavors, with whipped cream, an Apple Strawberry Parfait. And so easily made. Just use 2 cups canned applesauce—that's the secret of the unusual fresh flavor.

Apple Strawberry Parfait
2 cups canned applesauce
2 cups sliced sweetened strawberries or frozen sliced strawberries, defrosted
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Chill applesauce and strawberries; arrange in alternate layers with whipped cream in parfait glasses. Top with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

Fried Scallops Need Their Saucy Partner

Fried scallops benefit from being served with tartar sauce. The sauce does something for the seafood, when it is crisp-coated, that no other partner duplicates. But judging from inquiries, tartar sauce—although it's simple to prepare—puzzles some cooks. Maybe because scallops and tartar sauce are a favorite restaurant combination, and each chef seems to have his own version of the sauce.

Mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type dressing is always used as the base, and minced pickle (the dill or sweet variety) is invariably added. In addition capers, parsley, green olives and green onion (scallion) may go in. Some chefs add just enough of these finely chopped pungent additions to give pronounced flavor. Others add so much that you can hardly see the mayonnaise for the green stuff. Start with a cup of mayonnaise and add a couple of tablespoons of the additions you like, then up amounts to suit your taste.

Brown 'n' Serve Rolls Grow Horns

For that "pause in the day's occupation," the neighborhood coffee hour, plan a special treat—Bismarck Horns. These good-eating "horns of plenty" feature Brown 'n' Serve buttermilk rolls, deep fried 'til they're bronzed and crisp, to be jelly filled and sugar topped.

Bismarck Horns
4 brown 'n' serve buttermilk rolls
1/2 cup jam
Confectioners' sugar
Heat fat (about 1½ inches deep) to 350 degrees F. Place rolls in hot fat, turn and fry until golden brown, or for about one minute. Remove rolls from fat and drain them on absorbent paper towels.

Cut a slit in side of each roll and fill with favorite jelly or jam. Close roll tightly. Sprinkle filled rolls with confectioners' sugar. Serve while hot. Yield: 6 Bismarck Horns.

Thaw bay or sea scallops if frozen. Rinse in cold water; pat dry. Roll in flour seasoned with salt and pepper; dip in egg, beaten enough to blend yolk and white; roll in finely crushed dry bread or crackers.

In small batches so as not to lower temperature or crowd, deep-fry coated scallops in hot (375 degrees) corn oil until golden brown—2 or 3 minutes; drain on absorbent paper.

For a regular 3-quart kettle, use 1 quart corn oil. Frying basket may be used; if holes are too large for bay scallops, remove with slotted spoon. Serve scallops as soon as fried with Tartar Sauce or Cole Slaw made with Tartar Sauce. Don't overcook scallops or they will toughen.

Wawa, Ont., was named—indirectly, to be sure—by the Canadian goose. It was the cry of the goose that caused the Indians to name the area "Wa-Wa," and pioneer settlers took the name for their town.

For Doctor, Lawyer, Indian Chief

Teeners Differ on Type of ABCs Needed

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief, doctor, lawyer, Indian Chief... What are YOU going to be, when YOU grow up? How many times have you thought about your future, in the terms of a career? Perhaps you would be interested in knowing what other teeners in our country are planning.

The Space Age, apparently, has not yet greatly influenced the plans of today's teen-agers, since the largest number, 17 per cent, of the 993 questioned, are planning to be teachers.

This goes for a fifth of the girls and a tenth of the boys. Anita Lauer, 18, of Glen Oaks, N.Y., speaks for the would-be educators in saying, "I would like to be instrumental in the molding of lives."

The young people feel it is more important to be well rounded in their school experiences than to be at the very top scholastically. "Straight As won't help if you're a creep," says Judy Trainer, 16, of Medina, Ohio.

GIRLS WANT CAREERS

We also found the teen-agers feel extracurricular activities in college are important. And a majority of young people are willing to combine work with their classroom study.

Boys and girls split on whether girls should have a career before marriage, with 76 per cent of the girls saying yes compared with 52 per cent of the boys.

Seventy-four per cent agree that a woman with a career can assist her husband after marriage.

In career choices, we found that nursing was in second place for girls. Margaret Perreault, 17, of Danielson, Conn., explains, "It is widely needed and I can always fall back on it."

Second choice for the boys and third for the girls is a business career.

Science, medicine, engineering and accounting were all tied for the boys as third.

Forty-three per cent said that other members of their family were already in the careers they had chosen.

IN DAD'S FOOTSTEPS

A fourth of the boys intend to follow in their dad's footsteps, and 14 per cent of the girls in their mothers'.

Aunts and uncles are the next most common influences in shaping the career of the teener.

Many admitted that working for their relatives had given them much of the background and confidence necessary to pursue their desired careers.

Seventy-six per cent of tomorrow's breadwinners plan to get a college education, 13 per cent hope to go on to graduate school, 8 per cent expect to get their training by working, and 10 per cent plan to go to a trade school.

Two-thirds think that to be successful in a career, a person needs a good liberal arts background.

"You should strive for the highest education possible," says Marcia Wayman, 18, of Hugham, Mass. "Without that you are merely a vegetable and just existing."

Only 18 per cent believe that a person should concentrate on his one particular subject to be successful.

Richard Hopp-Washuz, 17, of Woodmere, L. I., asks "Why should a person study music, if he wants to be an engineer?"

When it comes to extracurricular activities in college, 53 per cent of the teen-agers consider them important and 24 per cent feel they are very important. Only four per cent feel they are not important.

"You need to study, but you need to grow in understanding of others, leadership and other things, too," says Pam Snodgrass, 17, of San Gabriel, Calif.

Several colleges in this country alternate classroom learning with actual on-the-job experience in the desired field of study.

We found 82 per cent of the teeners feel that such a college offers more advantages over the normal four year college curriculum. Ten per cent, however, disagree and 5 per cent feel it depends upon the career.

Sixty-nine per cent would like to attend such a college, but 24 per cent would not.

Judi Frangipier, 15, of Waterbury, Conn., feels, "You will be more sure of yourself, when you do get out of college, and actually start working."

In discussing careers for married women, extra money appears to be the biggest asset involved.

But Mary E. Baustick, 16, of Chicago, suggests, "She may have some ideas to help him. If not, she will understand what he is talking about, anyway."

Eileen Keegan, 16, of Andover, Mass., says, "She can offer cultural and intelligent conversations at home."

First Philathea Class of First Baptist Church met Tuesday to hear Mrs. James Savage talk about the role of mothers in South America.

Special music was a trombone solo by the Rev. Mr. Savage, accompanied by his wife at the piano. Refreshments were served by Banquet Committee Chairman Mrs. George Cook and her assistants.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The threads in a fabric can be pulled off-line by certain types of material finishes, Michigan State University home economists say. They advised homemakers to make sure the fabric was not pulled off-grain to avoid problems in sewing and in fit. Some finishes also have an unpleasant odor which may not disappear with wear, the experts said.

OK to Invite Widower to Dinner

By EMILY POST

Good Taste Today

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband died two years ago. About three months ago a widower near my own age was introduced to me. He is a very nice person and has asked me out to dinner and the theater several times.

I would like to reciprocate by asking him to my apartment some evening for dinner but hesitate to do anything that might cause gossip.

I have lived in this same apartment house for many years and know most of the people who live here, and I must say that my behavior has always been above reproach. Will you please tell me if this could possibly cause gossip?

Answer: If he does not stay too late, and as you have the respect of your neighbors, I am sure no one will criticize you for having him for dinner in your apartment.

Dear Mrs. Post: When receiving at a formal ball, is it correct for the men in the receiving line to remove the right hand glove when shaking hands with the guests? I say "no."

but a friend disagrees with me and says that a gentleman never shakes hands with his gloves on.

Cranberry Orange Cake Keeps Well for Weeks

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cranberries are in ample supply and new recipes for them are always welcome. Mrs. John C. Edwards is an enthusiastic about a cranberry cake she makes that she shares her recipe with us today.

Originally a city gal, Mrs. Edwards is now a farm owner and loves it. Beef and shetland ponies are both raised on the Edwards' acreage. In addition to a full time job, Mrs. Edwards goes hunting with her husband, gardens and just loves to cook.

CRANBERRY ORANGE CAKE

By Mrs. John C. Edwards
1 cup dried cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon oil
1 cup chopped nuts

1 cup dried cranberries, ground
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon oil
1 cup chopped nuts

Sift dry ingredients. Stir in fruit, nuts and grated rind. Mix eggs, milk and salad oil. Add to flour mixture, blending well. Bake in greased 10-inch tube pan 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Remove from pan and cool to lukewarm on a cake rack. Place rack over a wide dish or a pan. Mix orange juice and the second cup of sugar and pour over cake. Spoon up what drips into the pan and keep pouring over cake until all liquid is absorbed.

Wrap in foil and refrigerate 24 hours. Serve with whipped cream. This will keep in the refrigerator at least 2 weeks or in the freezer indefinitely.

The paintings, shown for the first time in the Pontiac area, will be sold, with 25 per cent of the proceeds given to the local club. One of the featured paintings will be "The Old Covered Bridge" of Gettysburg.

Celebrity gifts will be included in the auction opened by Mayor Philip E. Rowston at 8:30.

Views Child Books

By MADELEINE DOREN

Mary Hill Arbuthnot, coauthor of "The New Basic Reading Program," used in the Pontiac elementary schools, spoke at Pontiac Central High School Auditorium concerning "Significant Values in Children's Books."

A reception followed the Wednesday evening lecture sponsored by Zeta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority.

Elizabeth Halsey presented the speaker who is widely known in the field of children's literature. She is also professor emerita at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, where her husband was dean of economics for over 40 years.

Listed in "Leaders of American Education" and "Who's Who in American Education," Mrs. Arbuthnot holds a PhD degree from University of Chicago and an M. A. degree from Columbia University.

In evaluating some 1,400 juvenile books published annually by Scott, Foresman and Company of Chicago, Mrs. Arbuthnot considers four symbols: character, sound theme, lively plot and good prose style.

"Books orient children into larger worlds outside the home," she said. "First seeking reassurance, the child soon asks for real flesh-and-blood characters which he remembers long after the action is forgotten."

"While children should be wary, which many of us have survived, they should know of its physical devastation. Books are vital in the child's struggle for acceptance on a more mature basis."

"Psychology states saying," continued Mrs. Arbuthnot, "Do not stifle the grim ending. Let the home on Steinboach Court."

wolf fall into the soup, because of the moral impact on the child's mind."

Folk tales, the cement of civilization, preserve in grave danger of being dropped from the curriculum, should be in every child's library, she feels. Over-sentimental animal stories and extreme sensationalism are to be avoided.

Second-rate literature which displaces time and spoils the child's taste, like the escape reading of "trash," has little if any, lasting effect if books of permanent value are provided.

"A book with an absorbing challenge," Mrs. Arbuthnot said in conclusion, "put into the right hand at the right time can serve as a window to the mind."

Tucked into her tight lecture coat to coast — this personable little woman of 76, finds time to revise her "Children and Books" with new bibliography every two years and a complete revision

Eames Group Gathers, Sets Fete

The Leal Eames Group of the First Presbyterian Church met Wednesday evening at the home of Anna Marie Predmore on Walnut Road, Barbara Hall was cohostess.

Lorraine Coon was a guest.

HE HAS A LAUGH — President Eisenhower and Mrs. Pat Nixon laugh as Vice President Richard Nixon gives at his opponent Sen. John Kennedy, Wednesday night at a Republican rally.

Secret Service Starts After Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some agents throughout the country this week Tuesday night or Wednesday morning a special detail of Secret Service agents will begin the round-the-clock job of protecting the next President of the United States.

When the polls close Tuesday, two 15-man details of agents will be ready to guard the President-elect. One detail will be at Hyannis Port, Mass., where Sen. John F. Kennedy plans to spend election night.

The other squad will be close by Vice President Richard Nixon. On present plans call for Nixon to spend election night in a Washington hotel where the Republicans have set up headquarters.

When the outcome of the election is clear, agents will take up security posts around the winner. Their signal probably will be a statement by the losing candidate acknowledging his defeat.

A few details on how the Secret Service will operate were made known today in a "fact sheet." It pointed out that the Service, although founded in 1892, did not protect presidents until after William McKinley was assassinated in 1901.

In 1913 Congress authorized the Service to protect the president. In 1957 protection was extended to the president's immediate family.

For example, an agent now is assigned to look after the Eisenhower grandchildren on their way back and forth from school in Gettysburg, Pa.

The temporary detail will be drawn from the Secret Service's 300

in New York Coliseum. Nixon said he preferred Eisenhower's support to that of former President Harry S. Truman, who is backing Kennedy.

Waiting to Guard Next President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some agents throughout the country this week Tuesday night or Wednesday morning a special detail of Secret Service agents will begin the round-the-clock job of protecting the next President of the United States.

When the polls close Tuesday, two 15-man details of agents will be ready to guard the President-elect. One detail will be at Hyannis Port, Mass., where Sen. John F. Kennedy plans to spend election night.

The other squad will be close by Vice President Richard Nixon. On present plans call for Nixon to spend election night in a Washington hotel where the Republicans have set up headquarters.

When the outcome of the election is clear, agents will take up security posts around the winner. Their signal probably will be a statement by the losing candidate acknowledging his defeat.

A few details on how the Secret Service will operate were made known today in a "fact sheet." It pointed out that the Service, although founded in 1892, did not protect presidents until after William McKinley was assassinated in 1901.

In 1913 Congress authorized the Service to protect the president. In 1957 protection was extended to the president's immediate family.

For example, an agent now is assigned to look after the Eisenhower grandchildren on their way back and forth from school in Gettysburg, Pa.

The temporary detail will be drawn from the Secret Service's 300
