'Quality of Waterford Schools Rests on Millage OK'

If the millage increase is approved in Waterford Township tomorrow, it will enable the school district to maintain a high quality of education, according to Dr. Don O. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Schools.

Millage may well be the only way.

Tatroe described the two-year 9-mill proposal as the means of continuing the district's present standard of education, not simply in terms of dollars spent, but in terms of the quality that money can provide.

"We've never been a spendthrift district, but we have a modest — in cost — high-quality district. Passage of the millage would keep things that way, but a 'no' vote tomorrow would minimize the quality," Tatroe said.

"Without the additional funds we could lose some of our best teachers and would find it hard to hire those we would most want to hire," he added.

About 25,000 registered voters in the school district are eligible to vote in tomorrow's 9-mill proposal.

★ ★ ★

For a vast majority of the taxpayers in the school district, the passage of the millage would cost them less than $1 a week, Tatroe said.

★ ★ ★

This amount is based on a formula of the average state equalized valuation for 9 mills. Also, the district plans to levy only about two-thirds of the 9 mills in the first year, Tatroe said.

★ ★ ★

Willing to Talk With NLF — Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today his government is prepared to hold private meetings with the National Liberation Front.

The South Vietnamese president imposed no conditions on such meetings and added that he felt the front, the political arm of the Vietcong, would agree to such talks.

★ ★ ★

He told a news conference such talks could be part of private discussions in Paris among the delegations to the peace talks there from South Vietnam, North Vietnam, the NLF and the United States.

Thieu told questioners:

He remains hopeful of success at the Paris talks.

This is not the time to talk of withdrawing any of the 540,500 American troops in South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

His government does not believe a resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam at this time would be proper response to the current Vietcong offensive.

Thieu expressed satisfaction with the lines of communication established with the new administration of President Nixon. He emphasized that the government-to-government relations during President Johnson's tenure had been equally satisfactory, but he added that relations were better in Paris with Henry Cabot Lodge than with W. Averell Harriman, the former chief U.S. representative at the peace talks.

★ ★ ★

The president revealed his willingness to talk with the Vietcong directly when he was asked about reports that private talks had already taken place in Paris.

"I can't say they have started," Thieu said, "but we are working on it and we are hopeful."

★ ★ ★

Would these talks involve the Front, he was asked.

COULD BE FRANK

"We are ready to have private talks with the National Liberation Front if they like," he replied. "There are many things we cannot decide at the conference table which we can discuss quite frankly in private."

In private talks anybody could raise any question, Thieu said.

He said his government's offer had been conveyed to the NLF delegation in Paris.

★ ★ ★

He said there has not yet been any response but expressed confidence a favorable reply would be received.

COULD HOLD TALKS

Thieu said Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, his old political rival who is head of Saigon's peace delegation in Paris, could conduct the secret talks.

FATAL BLAZE — A fire yesterday at this home at 2487 Pontiac, Sylvan Lake, claimed the life of owner Edwin Barkey, 47. His wife, Shirley, was pulled to safety by a neighbor, who then attempted unsuccessfully to reenter the house for Barkey. Tri-City firemen arrived at the blaze about 5:30 p.m. and battled the fire for about six hours. (Story, page A-4.)

Figures in 2 Gaming Cases Move Close to Prison Terms

By JIM LONG

Key figures in two major gambling cases in Oakland County appear on their way toward serving long-delayed prison sentences.

The prospect of spending time behind bars came closer for the 21 defendants in the two cases when Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem canceled their appeal bonds yesterday. The order becomes effective in 20 days.

Ziem revoked the bonds of 20 men convicted of gambling offenses at the Steren Assembly Club in Madison Heights, as well as the bond of Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi, who was involved in a Pontiac gambling operation.

The Steren group, which includes two alleged Detroit-area Mafia leaders, Eddie Guarella and Joseph Brooklier, has been free on bond since being convicted in August 1965.

They were found guilty of violating and conspiring to violate state gambling laws following a lengthy jury trial in Manistee.

The trial was moved out of Oakland County on the grounds that the defendants wouldn't receive a fair trial because of the news coverage surrounding the case.

★ ★ ★

Charges were leveled against the score of defendants after State Police raided the plush Madison Heights Club in October 1963.

Birmingham: No to School Issues; Holly Says Yes

Voters in the Birmingham school district rejected millage and bonding proposals yesterday for the first time since 1961. Holly voters, however, reacted more favorably to a millage request there, passing it by a 2-to-1 margin.

★ ★ ★

The Birmingham millage request for 11 mills — including an increase of 3.5 mills and a renewal of 7.5 mills — was defeated by a 3-to-1 margin, 8,232 to 2,758.

The vote on the $4.5-million bond issue program was 4,774 for and 5,976 against.

WILL COME BACK TO VOTERS

Supt. of Schools Dr. John Blackhall Smith said the school board will definitely have to come back to the voters for the renewal of 7.5 mills by June.

Dr. Smith said he was shocked at the unusually strong negative reaction to the money proposals. "The school election is still one of the very few situations whereby the people have an opportunity to say no to a tax increase. They certainly exercised that right," Dr. Smith said.

★ ★ ★

The superintendent said rising federal taxes and the 13 per cent increase in Birmingham property valuation this year were apparently the contributing factors to the decisive loss.

Dr. Smith said voters were in essence rebelling against teacher salaries since 70 per cent of the new money allocated in the millage increase request was to be used for salary increases.

TO NECESSITATE CUTBACKS

The superintendent said the voters' decision will force the administration to make considerable cutbacks in the school district's operation.

Meanwhile, the Holly vote for the renewal of three mills for three years was 716 for and 361 against.

★ ★

Supt. of Schools Russel Haddon said he was surprised by both the size of the margin and the voter turnout.

Nixon to Ask Surtax Extension

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will ask Congress tomorrow to retain the full 10 per cent tax surcharge through mid-1970, Republican congressional leaders reported today.

The chief executive will send a message to the House and Senate expressing his concern over continued inflationary trends in the national economy, the leaders said after a White House meeting with Nixon.

The White House said Nixon had decided to meet the situation "head-on."

Nixon's message intentions — which have long been expected — were announced by the Senate and House Republican leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

They spoke with reporters after a two-hour session involving the President, his chief fiscal advisers and other GOP leaders from Capitol Hill.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen told reporters that by cutting spending and maintaining present taxes, the administration hoped to achieve a slightly larger surplus in fiscal 1969, next June 30, than had been anticipated in the January budget message by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson estimated a $1.2-billion surplus for fiscal 1969 and $3.4-billion surplus for fiscal 1970.

Dirksen and Ford expressed belief there would be some additional Federal savings in this fiscal year, but a larger, more significant savings figure for fiscal 1970.

Ford told the newsmen that many within the administration believe "we have reached the high water mark of inflation" and that the annual increase in living costs will taper off from a 1968 level approaching 5 per cent to perhaps 3 per cent or less this year.

Martial Law Is Declared in Strife-Wracked Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan declared martial law in Pakistan today and handed over the administration of the strife-torn country to the army chief of staff, Gen. Yahya Khan, Radio Pakistan said.

Ayub made the announcement in what he called his last address to the nation and appealed to the people to help the armed forces in the maintenance of law and order, the broadcast said.

He said he had conceded to the opposition demand to introduce a federal parliamentary system of government in the country but he could not be a party to anything which made the center weak.

Eleven years ago Ayub took over as martial law administrator in circumstances of similar political chaos.

The radio said Ayub is going on three months' leave but did not indicate initially whether the 61-year-old leader would remain in the country.

Snow May Be on Tap Tonight

There's a chance today's gentle rain will turn to snow flurries tonight.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures are expected to fall into the high 20s tonight, then rise to the low 40s tomorrow. Partly cloudy and continued cool is tomorrow's forecast.

Partly cloudy and warmer is the outlook for Thursday.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are 80 today, 50 tonight and 20 tomorrow.

A rainy 35 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury stood near 35 at 2 p.m.

Condition of Ike Called 'Guarded'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today the condition of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, struggling to overcome the latest of recurrent heart troubles, remains "guarded."

"His physicians consider that the general's condition has not worsened since yesterday but that the eventual outlook remains guarded," said a morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The term, "guarded," means in medical terminology the outlook as to whether a patient will survive or recover is uncertain.

Doctors used the same terminolgy at the time of Eisenhower's most recent coronary heart attack last August.

City Worker Is Held in Woman's Death

A Pontiac city employe was arraigned this morning on a charge of murder in the death of a Lake Orion woman. Rochester District Court Judge Robert Shipper ordered him held without bond.

Officers from the Oakland County sheriff's department and Pontiac and Lake Orion police departments arrested Nolan Ray George, 25, of 26 Stout at the Department of Public Works and Services garage, 55 Wessen, yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Police officers from Pontiac and Troy said they may question George in connection with two recent similar killings in their cities.

★ ★ ★

A murder warrant for George was issued this morning, according to Sheriff's Detective Fred Pender. Judge Shipper set preliminary examination for Monday.

George, described as an all-around laborer who did such jobs as trim trees, patch street holes and work on garbage trucks, was arrested at the garage by Pender and his partner Harry Jones, Pontiac Detective Orville Johnston and Lake Orion Sgt. Leslie Perkins.

★ ★ ★

Police didn't disclose how George was implicated in the case.

The Lake Orion woman, Mrs. Frances Ann Brown, 22 was raped and strangled March 16 in circumstances similar to murders in Pontiac and Troy, police said.

Mrs. Brown was found, strangled with an undergarment and almost completely nude, in a car parked near a Lake Orion bar.

State, National News in Brief

LANSING (UPI)— Gov. William G. Milliken is confronted with the necessity of compromising the demands of the politician with those of a budget-writer in framing his education message to the legislature.

The message, expected to spell out Milliken's position on tax aid to parochial schools, is scheduled for delivery to the lawmakers this week.

A Milliken aide said yesterday it could come tomorrow, Thursday or Friday.

The restraints imposed upon the governor by a dwindling treasury surplus, fixed revenue sources and the threat of greater inflation may temper his instinct to support costly new programs like parochiaid.

ABM Legislation Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee called in two top Army officials today as it began hammering out the actual legislation to provide President Nixon with his proposed missile defense system.

Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of staff, were lead-off witness on a procurement authorization bill that includes $900 million for construction of two sites and procurement of 10 more for the Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM)-system.

Drug Agent Tactics Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the government's war on narcotics trafficing said in an interview today federal agents have spent too much time in the past "chasing addict-pushers down the streets" and not enough pursuing the major distributors of illicit drugs.

The "stated approach" was to cut off drugs at their source, said John E. Ingersoll, head of the Justice Department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. But, he added, "I don't think it was implemented."

"The agents were chasing addict-pushers down the streets at the same time they were trying to reach the higher echelons of traffic. There were too many low-level arrests being made," he complained.

BELGIAN TRAIN CRASH SCENE — This was the scene near La Louviere, Belgium, this morning after two commuter trains loaded with about 1,500 workers collided in a cold mist, killing 20 persons and injuring 70. A spokesman for the railway administration said one train apparently did not stop for a red warning light near the station. The two engines and four cars jumped the tracks. Surgeons had to amputate both legs of one trapped woman.

Figures in 2 Gaming Cases Move Close to Prison Terms

The key witness in the prosecution's case was a legislative stenographer, Margaret (Peggy) Allen, who while working as an undercover agent for the State Police, gained entrance to the club.

IDENTIFIES 20 DEFENDANTS

During the trial, she identified all 20 defendants as men she had seen in the club.

Lombardi, who, like Guarella and Brooklier, has been linked with the Mafia in testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee, was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in June 1966 of bribing and conspiring to bribe a Pontiac police officer. The officer was working undercover to break up a gambling operation at the Seaway Civic and Social Club in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Sentenced to two to five years for conspiracy and two to four for the bribery, Lombardi has been free on $1,000 bond since his conviction.

In 1967, Lombardi pleaded guilty to maintaining and operating the gambling operation at Seaway and was fined $500.

SENTENCES

In the Steren case, 16 of the defendants received from one to five years, while the others were placed on probation, with the first 90 days to be spent in the county jail.

Carlton Roeser, a Pontiac attorney, represents both the Steren defendants and Lombardi.

Ziem gave Roeser 20 days to appeal the cancellation of the bonds to a higher court.

The revocation was requested by Assistant Prosecutor Dennis Donohue, and stems from an announcement last week that the Michigan Court of Appeals would not hold a rehearing on its earlier decision that upheld the conviction of the Steren defendants.

Lombardi's conviction was affirmed by the Appelate Court last October.

Roeser has filed application with the Michigan Supreme Court to appeal Lombardi's case. The high court has not announced if it will accept the case, however.

Roeser is in the process of preparing an application for appeal to the Supreme Court in the Steren case.

Tatroe Urges Millage Okay

for the district's elementary pupils, Tatroe said.

Many volunteers in the district, mostly mothers and students, have sponsored luncheons and coffee hours in support of the passage of the millage.

Tatroe pointed out that sufficient funds for maintaining the district's standards simply are not available from other sources, such as state aid.

Next year's state aid formula will result in a reduction of $3 in state aid for every $4 received by the district due to an anticipated 24 per cent tax hike in the township, Tatroe said.

Tatroe emphasized that this is not a vote on individual tax burdens, however. "It is most of all a vote on the importance of education."

Eight precinct polling places, all elementary schools, were announced for the election. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Precinct 1 — David E. Grayson School, 3800 W. Walton.

Precinct 2 — Donelson School, 1200 W. Huron.

Precinct 3 — Beaumont School, 6532 Elizabeth Lake.

Precinct 4 — Schoolcraft School, 6400 Maceday.

Precinct 6 — Monteith School, 2303 Crescent Lake.

Cost of Living Makes a Large February Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs jumped four-tenths of 1 per cent in February, largest increase in four months, because of sharp increases for housing, transportation and clothing, the Labor Department said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also reported that despite record high earnings of $111 per week for some 45 million rank-and-file workers, purchasing power dropped because of the continued steady climb in prices.

★ ★ ★

The average weekly paycheck of $111 was 37 cents more in January. After taxes, it was 28 cents higher. But after allowance for price hikes, it was worth 9 cents less.

In terms of 1957-59 dollars, the purchasing power after taxes of the average paycheck was $78.05, dropping below the level of a year earlier for the first time since January 1968.

GROCERY PRICES DIP

Grocery prices dropped two-tenths of 1 per cent last month but every other major category of typical family costs went up. Housing rose five-tenths of 1 per cent, clothing four-tenths, medical care seven-tenths and transportation climbed 1.1 per cent.

Ray to Change Plea, 'Will Have New Trial'

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — James Earl Ray definitely will change his plea to innocent in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and will have a new trial, the head of the National States Rights party announced today.

Edward R. Fields, NSRP chairman, said he made the announcement on behalf of J. B. Stoner, NSRP vice chairman. He said Stoner would represent Ray in the case.

Osmun Resigns as President of School Board

Monroe M. Osmun, a 23-year veteran of the Pontiac Board of Education, today announced his resignation as president of that board, for "personal reasons," effective immediately.

OSMUN

Osmun, 67, who has served as board president five times over the years, said he will continue to serve as a board member.

He had announced last week his intention not to seek re-election when his present term expires in 1971, on doctor's orders to slow down. "This is a job for a younger man," Osmun said at that time.

He has recently been faced with handling noisy, disruptive meetings of the board of education, precipitated by a contoversy over the location of a proposed new $19-million high school.

CERTIFIED LETTERS

Osmun tendered his resignation as board president in certified letters yesterday to the rest of the board members and Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

"This action (resignation) on my part has been made necessary by urgent personal reasons. It is my present intention to serve as a board member for as long as possible," Osmun's letter said.

★ ★ ★

A well-known Pontiac area clothier, Osmun has been active in community and business organizations, including the Downtown Pontiac Business Association, where he was president. He has also served as a member of the Oakland Schools Board of Education.

Osmun said he would ask board Vice President Dr. Robert Turpin to hold a special meeting Thursday evening for the purpose of electing a new board president to serve the remainder of the term until June.

Transit Setup Stalled

BOSTON (AP) — The city's massive rapid transit system was brought to a standstill today by an explosion in the power plant that provides the system's electricty.

There were reports of some trains stalled in tunnels, but they could not be confirmed immediately.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority said the explosion knocked out the MBTA's power station in South Boston.

School Band Concert Near

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The East Hills Junior High School will hold a spring band concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the school auditroium.

The cadet band, concert band and symphonic wind ensemble will perform under the direction of Thomas McGlone.

★ ★ ★

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The Oakland County chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its monthly meeting at the Devon Gables restaurant Thursday at 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Arthur J. Zelton, 589 Kingsley Trail, general auditor for Chrysler Corp., will discuss "Operational Auditing."

Six Birmingham-Bloomfield residents are members of the 1969 Family Affairs Month Advisory Committee.

Family Affairs Month is a public service observance sponsored by the fields of law, banking, insurance and certified public accounting.

★ ★ ★

The organization attempts to encourage family heads to establish a plan for retirement and for his family's financial security. The program is traditionally held each year in April.

★ ★ ★

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members: Donald E. Schmaltz, 3253 E. Bradford, Bloomfield Township, vice chairman of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants public service committee; Stanford C. Stoddard, 2520 Endsleigh, Bloomfield Township, president, Michigan Bank National Association; and B. James Theodoroff, 240 Warrington, Bloomfield Hills, senior vice president, Detroit Bank an. Trust Compsny.

★ ★ ★

During Family Affairs Month, heads of households are urged to execute a will if they do not have one, update insurance policies and make sure the family has sufficient savings in the event of an emergency.

★ ★ ★

Family heads are also encouraged to make sure of the family balance sheet, available at most banks during April, which allows an individual to determine his family's net wort by subtracting what it owes from what it owns.

Cavanagh Issues Warning —Fiscal Disaster Looming

LANSING (AP)—Warning that if Detroit dies, "everything dies," Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh pleaded Monday for increased taxing powers to help his city survive.

"A kind of 'we-they' attitude is suicidal," Cavanagh told the House Urban Affairs Committee. "It no more serves the welfare of surburbia than it does the welfare of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

"In short," he said, "Detroit is not an appendage which can be amputated without harming the rest of the body."

Grand Rapids Mayor Chris Sonneveldt also asked for increased taxing powers for his city, including a boost in the local income tax. "If this could be done it would be possible for a city government to raise the income tax and lower the property tax the same amount," Sonneveldt suggested.

FISCAL CRISIS

Cavanagh said Detroit faces "financial disaster" this year—with a projected deficit of some $30 million, $17 million in "mandatory increase in the budget," and some $13 million in "employe demands."

"Total disaster can be averted," he said. "If the Legislature chooses to help now, or more accurately if you will allow Detroit the means to help itself."

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh seeks legislation allowing the city to boost both resident and nonresident income tax by one half of 1 per cent, with funds earmarked for public safety — some 1,700 more police officers.

"Unless we can check the rising rate of crime and, as important, the tidal wave of fear that follows it, little else that we can do in Detroit will be of any consequence," he said.

SHORT SHIFT

"Fear of crime has outstripped the rate of crime," he added. Cavanagh gave short shrift to any thought of boosting only the city income tax.

"A part of the burden must and should be born by the commuter — who extracts his livelihood from the city . . who bewails the crime problem even more passionately than the 24-hour resident of Detroit, . . ." he said.

★ ★ ★

"To grant anything less than this is not to help the city but to accelerate the flight of those who live and work in Detroit."

Cavanagh said "if an increase is made, it should be across the board."

LAYOFFS FORSEEN

Those who oppose increased taxes, he said, seem to feel the city "will somehow muddle through." But, he added, there would be no funds for more police, some parks would close, a different method of garbage and rubbish collection would have to be found and some employes would have to be laid off.

Asked about police-community relations, Cavanagh said that area "needs vast improvement.

★ ★ ★

"There are men (on the police force) that should not be in that work," he said, "men that are biased and prejudiced." But, he added, the "vast percentage of our men are good and decent men."

A recent attempt at recruiting Negro policemen showed a "dramatic increase — 30 per cent of those who went into the department last year were Negro," Cavanagh said. Now, some 8.5 per cent of the 4,800-man force is Negro, he said.

40 PCT. BLACK

Detroit's population of some two million is about 40 per cent Negro.

Cavanagh was asked why he felt some business and industry were moving from Detroit to the suburbs. "The greatest reason is availability of land," he said. "It's just not available in the central city."

★ ★ ★

He suggested that some businesses moving from the city will "regret that choice." The trend appears to be reversing in other areas of the country, he said, with some businesses moving into the cities.

Another problem Detroit faces is that "everything's sort of grown old at one time," Cavanagh said. Some fire stations, he explained, were built in 1883 and another 40 per cent of Detroit's fire houses went up in 1900.

'HISTORICAL MOMUMENTS'

"We're not preserving them as historical monuments," Cavanagh said. "That's all we have."

Sonneveldt told the committee he, like other mayors testifying earlier in the year, opposed compulsory arbitration for public employes.

★ ★ ★

"It might be necessary for a committee to accept either employer or employe (proposals) with no deviation," he suggested. "That might make both sides careful about what they present.

"That idea may not be perfect," he added, 'But it's something to look at."

'NOT THE ANSWER'

The current methods for settling disputes, Sonneveldt said, don't seem to be solving the problem." He cited a current teacher dispute in Grand Rapids as a prime example.

Sonneveldt added that, in matters of public employe bargaining, he did not feel "employers should carry the burden of low taxes. I don't think a fair salary should be determined on the basis of whether the city has the money," he said.

Sonneveldt called for allocation of the $100-million recreation bond issue on the basis of "where the needs are.

"And the needs are always in the core city," he said. "The people you and I are thinking about don't have the opportunity," to use outside recreation facilities, he said.

"The programs have got to be brought to the people."

The city, Sonneveldt added, is having trouble recruiting Negro police officers. He suggested that blacks may feel joining the police force would indicate they had "moved over to the white segment."

The House committee, chaired by Rep. Edward Suski, D-Flint, plans to study testimony of Cavanagh, Sonneveldt and other mayors and use that as a basis for recommending legislation during the current session.

Detroit Deficit Burgeoning, Says Official

DETROIT (AP)—Even if Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh gets Lansing's permission to raise the city income tax, Michigan's largest city has a deficit that is threatening to top the $30-million mark by 1970.

The deficit by this June 30, the end of the current fiscal year, is expected to reach $15 million, which, city officials point out, will have to be paid off sometime.

★ ★ ★

City Controller Bernard Klein says it will take another $17 million next fiscal year just to meet mandatory increases in social security and workmen's compensation for city employes.

In addition, he says, city workers from police to secretaries are asking for pay raises totaling $73 million during the coming year.

A request by Mayor Cavanagh to up the city income taxes for residents and nonresidents would be used to hire an additional 1,700 policemen at a cost of $25 million.

Summing it all up, Klein calls the situation "desperate."

The controller adds:

"I kept waiting for George Romney, when he was governor, to walk across the river and hand me a suitcase full of money. I'm putting my faith and hopes now in Gov. Milliken."

Man Is Killed in Home Blaze

SYLVAN LAKE — Edwin M. Barkey, 47, was killed yesterday evening in a six-hour fire which gutted his home at 2487 Pontiac.

His wife, Shirley, 53, is in satisfactory condition with first- and second-degree burns on her face, hands, and chest at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. She was pulled out of the burning home by a neighbor, John Jakust, 20, of 2483 Pontiac.

* * *

After saving Mrs. Barkey, Jakust attempted unsuccessfully to reenter the burning home to save Barkey, who was found later in the kitchen.

The fire was reported at 5:30 p.m. according to a spokesman for the new Tri-City Fire Department. Two trucks and 18 men fought the blaze.

NEW TRUCK USED

The new yellow pumper truck, which arrived last week, was used for the first time, he added.

The spokesman said the blaze had been burning for about 30 minutes before firemen were called. The fire, which started from faulty wiring in the garage, was already through the roof when they arrived.

He estimated damage at around $18,000.

School Districts Set Head Start Summer Plans

Eleven Oakland County school districts will be conducting Head Start programs for preschoolers this summer, the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) has announced.

Some 330 children are expected to be involved in the various programs supported by federal and local funds. Each school district administrates its own program. The districts are accepting registrations and recruiting teachers and teacher aides.

* * *

Children to be eligible must be from families which meet poverty-level income requirements. Preference is given to family members of enrolled children in employing teacher aides who do not need professional traning.

Pontiac School District and several others in the county will not be offering a summer program. Most of the districts do have similar regular school-year programs for preschoolers, however.

DISTRICTS LISTED

Following is a list of districts with summer programs and the number of children funded for.

Avondale, 15; Berkley, 15; Clarenceville, 15; Farmington, 30; Madison Heights, 75; Holly, 15; Huron Valley, 30; Lake Orion, 15; Oxford, 15; Rochester, 15; South Lyon, 15; and Walled Lake, 75.

* * *

Four school districts are expected to offer additional programs with Title I funds, according to the OCCEO. The districts are Farmington, Madison Heights, Huron Valley and Walled Lake.

Parents and others interested in obtaining information on the programs should contact their local school district office, the OCCEO said.

Study Outlines Farmington Twp. Growth Patterns

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of three articles.)

By TOM GRAY

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — This area, like many in western and northeastern Oakland County, is just heading into its period of greatest population growth.

And, like some other area townships, its present rate of population increase is far outstripping that of the U.S. as a whole, and even that of Oakland County.

* * *

Growth is perhaps the most significant of the many community characteristics considered in a Michigan State University survey on governmental organization in the Farmington area.

* * *

The survey, prepared by the university's Institute for Community Development and Services, begins by detailing those features of the area which will play a large part in determining its future governmental development.

3 OTHER UNITS

At present, the township contains three governmental units: the City of Farmington and Quakertown and Woodcreek Farms villages.

All three and the township are growing at a faster rate than the county, which increased by 25 per cent between 1960 and July 1967.

Only Woodcreek Farms, in fact, increased less than 45 per cent — nearly double — in the 7½-year period.

* * *

The survey predicts a slight decrease in the growth rate in the future. But the actual population of the four units is expected to continue increasing by roughly 25,000 per decade until the year 2000, when the total is projected at 138,250, compared to the present 50,000.

The Farmington area also differs from the average in its distribution of age groups, which is heavily weighted toward the young.

In the 5-14 age group are 24.8 per cent of Farmington residents, compared to 19.9 per cent nationwide.

Since children aged 5-14 should be in school, the study notes, "the burden of schooling . . . would be one-fourth larger in the Farmington area than in the U.S. as a whole . . It should also be pointed out that in many respects the same burden or need would hold true for other accommodations for children."

The next characteristic which the study singles out is the area's affluence. Farmington Township families have a median income of $10,400 in 1965, compared to $7,700 for the metropolitan area.

DISPARITY EXISTS

While the township average is high, the study adds, some disparity exists within it. East of Farmington City and south of 10 Mile, the median is $6,437.

"Amidst the affluent Farmington area this is an enclave of moderate incomes which most likely has or seeks a voice in government . . ." the authors theorize.

* * *

The third major indentifying mark of the area is its mushrooming property values, which have more than doubled in the last eight years, increasing twice as fast as those in Oakland County as a whole.

The study concludes, "The whole area is essentially young, affluent and residential in character. Growth in this area is likely to be two or three times greater in the next 30 years than it has been in the last 70 years.

* * *

"This growth has significant implications for the changing nature of the communities and the local agencies which will govern them."

FIRST SPAN — Giving somewhat the same impression of space as an airplane hanger or a large auditorium is the first steel-girdered span of the new Rochester Adams High School. Now under construction at Tienken and Adams in Avon Township, the school is scheduled to open to 1,000 students during the 1969-70 school year.

Troy Hits Spread of Apartments at Intersection

TROY — The City Commission last night approved its own rezoning proposal, designed to help prevent the spread of apartments around the intersection of Big Beaver and Coolidge.

Commissioner Peter A. Taucher, who initiated the proposal, said he felt it would help to "preserve the character" of the corner, which is fast developing into a large commercial center.

The proposed rezoning passed last night changed 13.1 acres in the northeast quarter of Section 30 (southwest of Big Beaver and Coolidge) from RM-1 multiple to R-1C single-family residential.

Taucher said the rezoning reflects his opinion that the "buffer" concept of zoning, with multiples surrounding office, commercial or industrial properties, is not suitable at the particular corner involved.

Biltmore Development Co., developer of property on the intersection's other three corners, had earlier proposed an expansion of its giant Somerset apartment complex on northwest of the intersection, but the proposal, at first approved, was later overturned after three new commissioners were elected.

Taucher explained, "If we allow multiples on this corner, it would be difficult to argue that they should be allowed on others at the same intersection too."

The commsision had considered the change a month ago, but tabled it when an attorney representing the owners objected, ostensibly to allow them time to present a plan for development.

The same attorney, John Shantz of Dell, Shantz and Hooker of Royal Oak, speaking on behalf of Troy Towns Inc., the owner, reiterated his objections last night to rezoning of the L-shaped parcel fronting on Big Beaver and Coolidge and surrounding a commercial parcel on the southwest corner of the intersection.

* * *

Shantz had earlier pointed to the anticipated development at the intersection, which includes the present Somerset Mall shopping center on the southeast corner, a proposed "regional shopping center" on the northeast corner, and an office complex inlcuding the new headquarters of S. S. Kresge Co. on the northwest corner.

"Because of these developments," the attorney commented, "I would suggest that reintroduction of R-1C zoning on this parcel is incompatible with the facts of what is going to happen in the area."

Shantz had also objected to the rezoning because of the parcel's size, saying that its 290-foot frontage on Big Beaver would only force creation of "inadequate, uneconomical lots."

Supervisor Asks New Approach to Road Funding

There's a need for a new approach to funding county road construction, according to Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, a member of the county supervisors' finance committee.

"County roads are the worst in the state," said O'Brien. He addressed the Oakland County Road Commission which appeared before the finance committee yesterday to ask for $1.3 million to aid in road construction projects in 1970.

* * *

No decision as to whether the county will appropriate the money was made, but O'Brien added, "The road commissions of the state had better go to the Legislature to get some unified method of financing."

"Some practical new approach is needed," he added. "Cars are multiplying at the same rate as the population."

A CENTURY BEHIND

"We'd better get into the 20th century before the 21st century arrives."

The commission also asked the county for a revolving fund which would allow a speedup of paving jobs on old gravel subdivision streets in the county. Unappropriated funds out of the current county budget were requested, but no decision made.

* * *

The problem of M59 improvement was discussed by the committee again. The road commission said improvement of a stretch from Airport Road to Williams Lake Road should be undertaken by next spring at the latest, but there is an attempt to get the State Highway Department to start work this fall.

Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer with the commission, noted that even with improvement the highway would still bottleneck at Williams Lake Road.

* * *

He said some attempt is being made to get the state to consider improvement west to where projected I-275 would intersect.

White Lake OKs 3 Rezonings

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has approved several rezoning applications.

* * *

One, from James DeFauw of 4864 Highland, Waterford Township, will permit light industrial use of property on the northwest corner of M59 and Teggerdine.

* * *

The property, formerly zoned in the township's C-2 general business classification, will be used for machine work and small parts manufacture by Highland Machine Products, which produces air valves for jet engines, according to DeFauw.

The property was previously owned by the Authier Patio Stone Co., DeFauw said.

RESIDENTIAL TO BUSINESS

Also approved was a request from Willard Finley, 30894 Hickory Lane, Franklin Village, for rezoning of a 7.6-acre parcel on Union Lake Road near Elizabeth Lake Road from R-1 single-family residential to C-1 local business and C-2 general business.

* * *

According to Township Clerk Ferdinand C. Vetter, a shopping center, possibly mall-type, is planned on the property, which is currently undeveloped.

* * *

The board also approved a request from Arthur, Lesley and Wilma McCafferty, 6741 Highland, Waterford Township, for rezoning of 10 acres on Cuthbert near Pontiac Lake Road from AG agricultural to SF suburban farms.

The suburban farms classification, Vetter explained, will allow additional residences to be constructed on the property. The agricultural category permits only one residence on a parcel smaller than 40 acres, he said.

REQUEST DENIED

A fourth rezoning request, from Wilbur McAlpine, 2501 Bogie Lake, to change five acres on Bogie Lake Road from R-1 single-family residential to AG agricultural was denied by the board.

* * *

Vetter said the application was rejected because the township zoning ordinance requires a minimum area of 10 acres for any parcel zoned agricultural.

* * *

In other recent business, the board held a public hearing on street lighting in Cedar Shores subdivision (located south of Elizabeth Lake Road and east of Oxbow Lake Road) and disapproved a proposed special assessment district to finance the lighting.

* * *

The board decided not to carry the project through, Vetter said, because public opinion in the subdivision appeared about equally divided on its value.

Holly Meeting Slated by Independent Party

The 19th Congressional District Committee of the American Independent party will hold a public meeting in Holly Saturday.

A representative of the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the guest speaker at the 8 p.m. meeting. It will be held in the community room behind the Citizens Bank in the Holly Plaza Shopping Center.

District Chairman Huston Moody said district officers will be introduced at the meeting.

Detroit Stadium Site Supported

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh isn't the only one plugging for support to build a new sports stadium in downtown Detroit.

The Detroit Convention Bureau, in a recently adopted resolution, says such a stadium would have "substantial effect on the development of additional convention facilities in downtown Detroit."

The bureau's executive committee says it "is and must be intensely interested in all development that makes Detroit a more attractive convention city."

Finally, the committee resolved that, "a sports stadium (must) be developed as promptly as possible on a site that is centrally located to convention visitors and facilities..."

Cavanagh has criticized proposed plans to build a stadium in Detroit suburbs, including Southfield, Pontiac, Taylor and Walled Lake. He says it should be built on the Detroit River front next to Cobo Hall.

Rochester Council Reelects Mayor to His Second Term

ROCHESTER — Mayor Roy Rewold was reelected by his council colleagues last night to a second one-year term as mayor of this city.

Rewold, who has more than a decade of council service, was elected unanimously and without opposition.

* * *

Elected mayor pro tem was Councilmen Samuel Howlett. He succeeds Councilman James Hill. Howlett was unopposed and elected unanimously.

In related organizational matters, Councilman Thomas Case was named as the council representative on the city planning commission, while City Manager William Sinclair was reappointed to the commission by the mayor.

OAKLAND TWP. LETTER

A letter was received from the Oakland Township Board in which the township informed that it would be unable to contribute to the Avon Township Public Library budget.

The Oakland board said its share of state penal fines would go to the library, but no other funds were available. The library serves Rochester and the two neighboring townships.

* * *

A public hearing was ordered for April 14 on special assessments on the South Street paving project. Total cost of the project is $141,228.

Assessments will be on a 50 per cent per front foot and 50 per cent per square foot basis. The cost per front foot is $10.06, while the per square foot levy will be .0278 cents.

The council also received a report on a study by Jones & Henry Engineers of Toledo, Ohio, of the city's sewage treatment plant.

Referred to closed-door session for discussion, the study recommends improvements in the plant to upgrade the city's sewage treatment. The study was ordered a year ago.

Legal Steps Eyed to Stop W. Bloomfield Sewer Plan

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Several Knollwood subdivision members are seeking legal action against a sewer assessment district in one portion of the subdivision.

Their intentions were announced during last night's public hearing on the newly created district. After the hearing, the Township Board voted to prepare the roll for the district.

* * *

A section of Knollwood East and Knollwod West encompassing 45 lots forms the new district. The main pipes will go along Knollwood Circle east, Knollwood Circle West, Hillock Lane and Greenswarb Court.

Petitions to form the new district were signed last month by persons owning 51½ per cent of the land area involved, according to the township. Estimated cost will be $172,137 for the project. This is about $3,380 per home for the basic sewer line in the street plus connecting costs.

2-YEAR CONTROVERSY

The latest petitions were circuated shortly after the board killed a proposed sewer district for the entire subdivision. That decision, made Jan. 27, ended temporarily two years of bitter controversy among residents and attempted legal action against the board.

Last night, Arthur Templeton, head of the Committee for the Preservation of Knollwood, announced that legal action would again be started in an attempt to stop proceedings of the new sewer district. The committee has until April 24 to file action in the courts.

* * *

Several citizens at last night's meeting expressed confusion at how they could have won the recent battle against a sewer district for the subdivision and now again are being told that they must install a sewer.

Township Supervisor John Doherty pointed out that the recently killed sewer district and the newly formed one are completely separate. The earlier one was killed when it was proved that only 44 per cent of the subdivision wanted sewers.

ONLY A PORTION

In the new sewer district 51½ per cent of those involved in that portion of the subdivision do want the sewers, according to the petitions. The rest of the subdivision will not be involved at this time.

Sewers are created when the majority of people indicate they are wanted, Doherty added.

School Millage, Bonds at Issue Tomorrow in Huron Valley Election

Huron Valley School District voters go to the polls tomorrow to vote on a three-part millage and bond issue package, estimated to cost the owner of a $20,000 house about $275 per year.

The increased taxes account for $125 of the estimated annual cost, divded up (based on the $20,000 house) at $60 in added operating millage, $20 for expanded operations and $45 for the bond issue.

* * *

The propositions are: 21 mills for operation, including 15 renewal and a six-mill increase; two mills for expanded operations; and a $10.5-million bond issue for a new elementary school, a junior-senior high school complex and renovations to older buildings. Cost of the bond issue is estimated at $4.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Meet Your Neighbors

University Hills Is Visited

By BARBARA GRIBBON

University Hills, near Crooks and Avon roads, is one of Avon Township's fastest-growing areas. Comfortable colonial-style homes predominate here, offering plenty of living space for the many large families who have decided this is the place to bring up their children.

★ ★ ★

Of special interest to mothers are the large, well-equipped U-shaped kitchens with eating area beyond. From there it's just a step to the pretty family room with its fireplace and ample space for family activities.

★ ★ ★

We visited families on two streets in University Hills — Spartan Drive and Croydon Drive — where most of the folks are newcomers.

THE MICHAEL POLSELLIS

Our first stop on Spartan Drive was at the two-story home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Polselli who came here a year ago from Redford with their children, Diane, 13, Joanne, 11, Debbie, 10, Michelle 5 Linda, 3, and Gilda, 7 months. With so many youngsters, family games and do-it-together projects occupy much of the Polselli's time.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Polselli said they all like to take family vacations when they visit places of interest to everyone. Activities at the Rochester YMCA and St. Irenaeus Church keep this family busy.

THE MIKE MORRISONS

The Mike Morrison family, originally from Wisconsin, moved here from Madison Heights. They have five children, twins Mitch and Amy, 11, Laura, 9, Todd, 5, and Ward, 1.

Swimming and horseback riding are the older children's interests.

Morrison is with GM photographic in Detroit. Flying is his major hobby and he's an active member of a flying club at Detroit City Airport.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Morrison is currently attending Oakland University where she is working on a teaching degree. It's taking a long time, she said, but it is worth the effort. Sewing for her family and playing tennis are other major interests with this busy mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Perry are originally from Mount Clemens but lived in Illinois and New Jersey before moving to University Hills. They have four children, Kathie, 16, Lorelei, 14, Stanley Jr., 8, and Michael, 2. Kathie is very interested in art and both she and her sister play the guitar and are enthusiastic about swimming, horseback riding and ice skating.

Perry is district sales manager for General Foods. At home he's an active do-it-yourselfer who is currently working on a playroom in the basement. He's done all of the landscaping around his home including building walls and gardening. Swimming, boating and hunting also fill his time.

Mrs. Perry told us that working with ceramics has been an interest with her along with the children. The family attends St. Ireneaus Church.

THE DOUGLAS BOYNTONS

The Douglas Boyntons came here a year and a half ago. Boynton is with the general contracting firm of Englehardt, Buettner & Holt. Mrs. Boynton, a former kindergarten teacher, is now busy decorating her new home. She said she does a great deal of antiquing and refinishing furniture and likes to collect Wedgewood.

Both Boyntons enjoy skiing, bicycling and golf.

THE DAVID BRATTONS

Our next visit was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bratton on Croydon Drive. They moved here nine months ago from Detroit with their two children, Karen, 4, and Pam, 6.

Bratton is an attorney whose office is in Birmingham. He is active in the Elks Club and enjoys golf. Both he and his wife play bridge and bowl.

Antiquing furniture is a new interest with Mrs. Bratton who is a former kindergarten teacher. She showed us a set of old Hitchcock chairs which she antiqued for her kitchen. She later did a table and bench to match. She is a member of the Oakland County lawyers' wives club. The Brattons belong to St. Phillip's Episcopal Church in Rochester.

THE CHARLES HATTERS

When we walked into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatter, we knew we'd found a good cook because of the delicious aromas coming from the kitchen. Mrs. Hatter admitted that cooking is probably her favorite hobby and treated us to some excellent sour-cream cookies and coffee.

★ ★ ★

The Hatter family came to University Hills from Bloomfield Orchards with their children, Kathy, 9, and twins Lori and Lynn, 8.

★ ★ ★

Hatter is with the Hutenlocker Insurance Agency in Pontiac. He is active in the Elks Club and is a past president of the Pontiac Jaycees. At home Dad is a do-it-yourselfer and also enjoys golf, tennis and swimming along with his wife.

Mrs. Hatter makes most of her daughters' clothes along with her own, but cooking is her real love. She and the girls make chocolate eclairs, coffee cakes and Mom even bakes her own bread. One of the family's favorites is lemon squares which Mrs. Hatter says are both quick and easy. For those interesed, here's how they're made. First mix 2 C flour, 1 C butter, ½ C powdered sugar and cream and press into a 9-by-13-inch pan. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Beat 4 eggs then add 2 C sugar, 5 tbs. lemon juice and rind, dash salt, and add 4 scant tbs. flour and 1 tsp. baking powder. Mix well. Pour over baked crust and bake 25 minutes. Cool before cutting and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

The Hatter girls testified that Mom's lemon squares are just great.

Since University Hills, like many other subdivisions, is so large, we'll be back in the future to meet more of the many newscomers in the area. Next week: Pine Lake Estates.

Voters Eye School Tax

Tomorrow the voters of the Waterford Township School District will decide the status of education in their area.

They will approve or disapprove the Board of Education's request for a two-year nine-mill increase in school taxes to meet the soaring costs of educating their children.

★ ★ ★

The issue seems clear-cut, and the citizenry has been well informed by news media regarding the fiscal problems with which the Waterford school system is struggling.

★ ★ ★

As a result of voter rejection in November of 1967 and again last December school board requests for an increase in school millage, the district's schools are presently operating on a curtailed basis with half-day sessions foreseen in the event the request is again defeated.

★ ★ ★

It is our opinion that Waterford Township's school system has an excellent physical plant with high academic standards, and an efficient administration deeply concerned with economic operation.

★ ★ ★

The choice that confronts voters is that of supplying sufficient funds to operate their schools on a top educational level or to reconcile themselves to scholastic cutbacks that would translate into substandard education.

If this statement referred to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments it was fallacious in its entirety.

WILLIAM L. MAINLAND
CHAIRMAN SOUTHEAST
MICHIGAN COUNCIL OF GOVERNMENTS

Reports Position as Conscientious Objector

I have applied for deferment from military service as a conscientious objector. The primary basis for my plea is my opposition to the war in Vietnam. I maintain that such wars can only be avoided if this nation is culturally and economically reorganized in fairly radical ways. My parents support my decision.

States Opinion on Work of Clergymen

To the clergy who believe in burning draft records, involving themselves in politics, economics, social and industrial problems, and believe they do this in the name of Jesus Christ, Jesus cautioned His apostles to be discreet in their remarks concerning the strained relations that existed between the government and the people of that day. Jesus was concerned with man's inner and spiritual life but He was not a political reformer. Those clergy who cannot do the work as set forth by Jesus should drop the pretense and be revolutionaries or dissenters, which they are. They do not show the qualities of men of God by breaking laws, preaching violence and leading people away from God.

'Sixth Grade Class Enjoys News Filmstrips'

I am a sixth grade student of Woodward School in Rochester. My class receives the news filmstrips from Visual Education Consultants that The Pontiac Press makes available to us. I have learned quite a lot about politics and the world. The part of it I like is the "Who Am I?" in the first part of the filmstrip. We appreciate your sending us the filmstrip.

Comments on Recent Action of Fire Fighters

Relative to the difficulty experienced recently in which our noble fire fighters were refrained from blocking our public buildings, I observed their unlawful tactics of picketing, in which they marched so close together as to physically prevent a person from entering this public building. Policemen deserve more money than firemen. They put their lives on the line far more than firemen. I do not believe that firemen are worth $3,000 more per year than the average well-paid worker.

Teen-Agers Rescue Tot

Luckily for youngsters who tempt fate by venturing onto thin ice and break through, rescuers seem to be on hand to save the victims from a chilling experience if not death.

PATRICIA

CHERI

In recent weeks, there have been an unusually large number of such incidents, none of which fortunately ended fatally.

★ ★ ★

The latest rescue was performed by two 14-year-old Waterford Township misses, CHERI MORRIS and PATRICIA WEBER, who joined hands in saving the former's brother, four-year-old CHARLES, from a tragic drowning when he was betrayed by ice.

★ ★ ★

We warmly salute the young heroines on their quick-witted resourcefulness, and at the same time again warn parents against the ever-present dangers of deep water and thin ice where children are concerned.

We Salute Camp Fire Girls

Now in progress is the 59th anniversary week of National Camp Fire Girls.

This splendid organization was founded in 1910 for the guidance of America's maturing womanhood in the 7-17 age range.

Within its four-division framework, Camp Fire Girls with a national membership of 550,000 has as its theme objective "Learning by Doing," embracing the areas of homemaking, sports, citizenship, creative arts, nature study, and business and science.

The Pontiac Council, established in 1914, includes the local area and those of Lake Orion, Oxford and Clarkston, and Waterford and Avon Townships. Total enrollment numbers 1,000, instructed and led by 300 adult volunteers.

★ ★ ★

As a prelude to the birthday observance, a calendar of varied events was held last week, beginning with participation in church recognition of the occasion. Other functions were "Date With Dad" and Mother and Daughter banquets, and a variety of family programs.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS warmly salutes Camp Fire Girls on its noteworthy milestone and on the contribution it has made to the social consciousness of the Nation's girlhood.

David Lawrence Says:

Disorders on Campuses Baffling

WASHINGTON — Disorders on the campus which have often led to violence or unlawful seizures of college property are not readily explained.

LAWRENCE

University presidents are reluctant to depend merely on harsh measures because the truth is many of the supervising authorities have a sense of frustration — they don't really know the cause of the unrest.

Two underlying factors may be responsible for some of the outbursts as well as the mob instinct that in the excitement of the moment prompts students to do things which they probably never deliberately contemplated.

★ ★ ★

One is the uncertainty over the occupation or profession into which they may be trying to fit themselves, and the other is the worry over what lies ahead because of the possibility they will be drafted into the military service before starting their civilian careers.

Many experts who analyze aptitudes say that college students are not being given the kind of tests that ought to be required before they select their courses of study.

BECOME BORED

Some young persons are sure just what type of job they wish to get after graduation, but a large number are not.

The regular lectures and classroom study to which they are assigned become a bore.

★ ★ ★

Sooner or later dissatisfaction with the whole process crops out in the behavior of students.

Many boys in the colleges today say they don't want to go into business. Often they are not familiar with the opportunities they would have in different categories of business activity.

FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS?

Sometimes they do not want to follow in their father's footsteps in the medical or legal professions or in the field of engineering or scientific research.

But those who are sure of what they would like to do are happier, and the particular studies which they have selected are most interesting to them.

★ ★ ★

The fundamental question is whether college students today are satisfied with the routine to which they are bound.

Educational institutions in some instances have varied their methods of teaching as compared with those of yesteryears, but frequently the curriculum, while presenting choices, still means a monotonous period for many students with alert minds and restless dispositions.

HANGS OVER HEADS

As for the draft, it will continue to hang over the heads of the youth of the nation.

Many in college choose to volunteer as soon as they graduate, so they can pick the kind of service they prefer and plan for graduate studies to be undertaken after they have finished in the military field.

★ ★ ★

There have also been innumerable instances which have shown that an individual did better academic work after a tour in the armed services than before.

This was proved after World War II and the Korean War, when the GI Bill of Rights provided educational opportunities for the veterans.

KEY FACTOR

Maturity was recognized as a factor which contributed to the higher marks they obtained.

Many young men, on the other hand, are uncertain and concerned over what it may mean for them to be prevented by the draft from continuing their education or getting positions immediately in industry or the professions.

★ ★ ★

There is little doubt today that the vast majority of the college students are orderly and do not approve of the practices of the troublemaking dissidents.

But the real task for the educators is to study more carefully the reasons for the insecurity and unrest of the members of the unhappy minority.

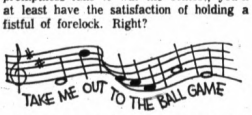
Contest Early Bird Not After Worm

Now we can announce the winner of The Press Annual Baseball Contest's 'Early Bird' title. The entry of J. P. Johnston of 1018 Boston soloed in to become the first of the predictions that will assume avalanche proportions before the contest ends April 19, with the winner becoming the proud recipient of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

Johnston's Do-It-Now submission of his entry is an example for all would-be contestants. Although there is still ample time to beat the Monday noon, April 7, deadline, Time waits for no man or contest, and we urge you to take it by the forelock. If your promptness fails to win the contest, you'll at least have the satisfaction of holding a fistful of forelock. Right?



Speaking of winning, wouldn't it be just peachy to win that bond? (Memo to composing room: Not "blonde.") Is there a man, woman or child impervious to the allure of the 500 smackers that represent the winner's award, to say nothing of the distinction of being Champ Clairvoyant for 1969?

★ ★ ★

To be sure, maybe the likes of Howard Hughes, the proprietor of Lost Vegas, and Aristotle Onassis, lucky with jack and Jackie, both of whom need money like Mamie VanDoren needs falsies, might be indifferent to the Contest's pot of gold. Still, you never know. Howard and Aristotle might just decide that they could use a cash windfall and jet in their entries.

★ ★ ★

Before you send yours, take a good gander at the contest rules which follow and do a little homework with The Press sports sections to see which players have early found their batting eyes and are bagging the most hits; or are just batting their eyes. (Editor's note: Tch-tch-tch.)

As rule No. 1 states, every member of a family can become a contestant, and we can't think of a better promoter of togetherness than a whole family working together on the entries of its several members. What stronger bond could there be than such a collective pursuit of a bond?

CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone, and all members of families (except Press employes and close relatives), are eligible to enter contest. Entrants are limited, however, to one entry each.

2. To enter, submit name and batting average of the AMERICAN League player (and the club with which identified at time of entry) who you think will lead the league as shown by the Associated Press tabulation of batting averages appearing in sports section of the Saturday, April 19, edition of The Press—the closing date of the contest.

3. Entries should be written on postal cards or substitutes and addressed to The Pontiac Press Baseball Contest, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan 48056. They may be mailed or deposited in The Press Huron Street drop box.

4. The entrant who correctly picks the leading batter (or comes closest) will receive the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. The deadline for entries is Monday noon, April 7, and they must be received by The Press by that time. Entries received later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. Decisions by Pontiac Press judges will be final on all questions related to the contest.

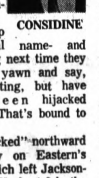
Bob Considine Says:

Jet Setters, Take Note —I Was Hijacked North

NEW YORK — I can now hold up my head in the company of fellow members of the airlines' jet set.



CONSIDINE

They've been pretty insufferable lately with their endless stories of what it was really like when their plane was hijacked to Havana.

Well, I'll stop their infernal name- and place-dropping next time they open up. I'll yawn and say, "How interesting, but have you ever been hijacked northward?" That's bound to silence them!

I was "hijacked" northward last Thursday on Eastern's Flight 102, which left Jacksonville for New York at 6 in the morning. There was one stop scheduled at Atlanta for refueling and picking up additional passengers.

We stopped and we picked up passengers. What we were not able to pick up at one of the world's busiest airports was the bug juice that makes the engines work. This was the result of a wildcat strike.

'MUST TAKE OFF'

Capt. Bost, our pilot, came on the pipe and said, "I feel I must now take off from here and put down at Greenville, S.C. I can't refuel here, and in my judgment I don't have enough fuel to safely try to take you to New York nonstop.

"The girls will pass among you and do what they can to straighten things out. Oh, and one more thing. Eastern wants you all to have a free drink, once we get to Greenville."

The landing at Greenville was without incident, like the unscheduled landings at Havana. We were not herded into a bus for the 80-mile ride to Varadaro. Instead Capt. Bost came on again and boomed, "The free bar's open, folks."

That bum, Castro, never said anything like that. Right?

TOOK LEAVE

At last, we took leave of Greenville, happy land of the lotus eaters, and chugged for Fun City.

Everybody, warmed by the free drink, forgave Captain Bost, a chunky veteran 37 years on the beat.

★ ★ ★

Besides, he bought us a drink and enables us to outgamesmanship those poor braggarts who have only been hijacked southward.

Question and Answer

Many parents have bought mini-bikes for their children. Could The Press run the rules governing use of them? I'm sure most parents would like some rules to back them up.

MRS. MORSE
AVON TOWNSHIP

REPLY

We've published them before, but for the benefit of those who missed them: both bike and operator must be licensed to operate on public street or highway; safety equipment (lights, brakes, etc.) must be altered or added to pass State Police inspection before licensing; a 15-year-old who has had driver education can get special restricted license allowing him to operate a cycle of 5 H.P. or less. Licensing laws don't apply on private property.

Question and Answer

Because the last millage issue didn't pass, the school board, as an economy measure, cut Kettering's classes one hour. Teachers must stay in the building until 3 p.m. as they are paid for this. Students are released at 1:30. Why can't each teacher teach the regular six hours? Where is the economy here?

TAXPAYER

REPLY

The economy was in the 54 teaching positions which were eliminated. With fewer teachers, fewer classes can be taught. Mr. Alexander of Waterford Board of Education explains accreditation standards require that each teacher be allowed one hour of preparation and conference time for each working day, accounting for the extra time at school.

N.C. Man 'Leans on Jesus,' Survives Rock Burial

By JOHN LIPSCOMB
Well Digger, Fuguay-Varina, N.C.

It was a Tuesday morning six days before Christmas when Wade McNeil and I went to Ed Scott's place to clean out his well.

We backed up the truck and took the rocks and boards off the top so we could pump out the water. It didn't take long.

★ ★ ★

When the water was out, Wade said he'd go down to catch the frogs. I never have liked frogs jumping around me in close places like that, and sometimes I let Wade go down to catch them.

But I couldn't let him do it that day. I had the strangest feeling that if I let him go down, he wouldn't come up alive.

DO IT MYSELF

So I told Wade I'd catch the frongs myself. He could stay on top and operate the crane that lowers and raises the bucket. I put on my boots, raincoat and my hard hat. I took along my shovel to dig up the trash.

I stepped on the rim of the well, just inside the curbing, and did what I usually do before going down into a well. I prayed, "Lord, take care of me."

★ ★ ★

Then I stepped into the steel bucket hooked onto the end of the cable Wade was controlling and told him to let me down.

The well is about 40 feet deep and probably five feet across, the walls shored up with big rocks. I caught the frogs, shoveled some dirt and trash and let Wade hoist the bucket to empty it.

TOO LATE

Then I leaned over to pry up what looked like a piece of junk sticking out near the bottom of the well. The piece of junk turned out to be the corner of a really big rock. As soon as I realized that, I stopped tugging — but it was too late.

The noise was like a bad wreck — like cars smashing together. In a split second I looked up above me and saw the sides of the well breaking loose. Instantly I pulled my hard hat down over my face.

★ ★ ★

The rocks and dirt rumbled and thundered all about me. The stuff poured down, filling up the well as high as my head and then higher.

When the rocks finally stopped falling, everything became still. I couldn't move — I was pinned against the wall. I couldn't see — it was dark as night. I was buried alive. And I was praying.

BREATHING POCKET

There wasn't much air in the little breathing pocket my hat made around my face. And what air there was seemed almost too dusty to breathe.

What was going on above? Wade would have to run clear down the hill, through the cornfield and across the highway to Forney's store to find any men to help him. How long would it take?

Then panic started to come. I was choking, gasping for breath. "Lord, help me!" I cried.

Suddenly I remembered some familiar words: lean on Jesus. Were they words for a hymn? No matter. I had been pressing myself against the side of the well. Now I put pressure of my body against Him.

SLOW AND EASY

And He was with me now. The words I seemed to hear were, "Don't panic, just breathe slow and easy."

Time passed. How long? Maybe 10 . . . 20 . . . 30 minutes. Then far off I heard voices. ". . . bound to be dead by now . . . the well's half filled."

★ ★ ★

I shouted loud as I could "Alive . . . alive." But my voice was muffled. Could they hear?

Then I felt rocks being moved above me. How long would it take? I was beginning to choke and gasp from the lack of air. "Breathe slowly and don't panic. Breathe slowly . . . ."

FRESH AIR

Then suddenly there was fresh air! I gulped it in, gratefully. A rescue truck had arrived and oxygen was being pumped to me by a hose through the rocks and dirt.

Hours later my rescuers got down close to my head. Since there was room for but one man to work, it was Merlin Prince who removed a 50-pound rock above my head and worked his torn and bleeding hands down to get the smaller rocks away from my face.

★ ★ ★

Finally my head was free! I could look up and see out. The day was cloudy, but I'd never seen a brighter sky!

A little after 4 o'clock, I was pulled up to the top. I had been buried alive for nearly six hours by 15 feet of fallen rock, nine of it over my head.

NOTHING WRONG

The doctors examined me at the hospital but they couldn't find a thing wrong so they let me go home. Lots of reporters and folks have been coming to see my wife and me since the well caved in. When we show them pictures of the tremendous pile of rocks that covered me, they shake their heads and ask how I stood the weight.

There is, of course, only one answer: I didn't. I leaned on the Lord Jesus.

Dutch 'Student Ships' Berthed, Victims of Air Travel

LEYDEN, The Netherlands (AP)—Dutch "student ships" that provided cheap transatlantic passage for American and Canadian students for 23 years will sail no more.

The Italian liner Aurelia will make one or more Atlantic crossings this summer with students traveling from New York to Le Havre, but the traditional Dutch vessels have fallen victim to air travel.

* * *

Floris Croon, 24, commercial manager of the Netherlands Office for Foreign Student Relations (NBBS), said the two famous old student ships Groote Beer and Waterman were sold to Greece. He added that the Holland-Amerika liner Rijadan, which was chartered for students last year, will not be available this summer.

"It is very sad," Crook said. "The cheap journeys aboard Dutch ships made the NBBS enormously popular in the United States. Tens of thousands of Americans have unforgettable memories of the New York-Rotterdam voyages between 1946 and 1968.

EXPERTS LECTURED

"There were panels, concerts, theater and movies, parties and balls aboard. Experts from numerous countries used to lecture. Even now we have 500 offers from professors who want to take care of the cultural part of the journeys. Daily we are sending letters saying 'we are sorry' to students inquiring about cheap passage."

* * *

Croon said it has become impossible to charter suitable passenger ships and "group passage by plane has nearly ousted Atlantic crossings by ships."

* * *

Based on data collected jointly by European student organizations, a record number of more than 280,000 U.S. students will visit Europe this summer. Most of them will fly to the main gateways—London, Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam.

Many U.S. universities charter their own planes. Croon said Yale University has chartered 20 airliners this summer for student trips to Europe.

IRON CURTAIN TRIPS

He noted increased U.S. interest in trips behind the Iron Curtain, with emphasis on Moscow and Prague. As a nonpolitical, nonprofit travel agency, NBBS arranges many of these East European bookings. Croon said the red tape causes "many headaches."

* * *

NBBS also arranges trips to the United States for European students. It will fly 2,000 Dutch students to the United States this summer, 25 per cent more than last year.

86-Year-Old Leader Pushing Demands

E. Pakistani Peasants Press for Reforms

KARACHI (AP) — The future of a united Pakistan might well rest on the narrow shoulders of a small 86-year-old Bengali, Maulana Abdul Hamid Khan Bhashani.

He is a leader of the National Awami party and is adored by the teeming peasant millions of East Pakistan.

* * *

Not satisfied with the reforms promised by President Mohammed Ayub Khan, Bhashani says he will only settle for reforms that would double workers, wages, giving them a livable minimum of 150 rupees—$33—a month.

He also wants peasants' land cooperatives similar to those he saw during a visit to Red China as a guest of Mao Tse-tung in 1963.

The government and most other opposition leaders have been hoping concessions already granted and the appointment of Bengali economist Syed Huda as governor of East Pakistan would cool down the political ferment and mob violence sweeping East Pakistan.

But Bhashani seems to be the only man the peasants will listen to, and he is unlikely to ease the pressure.

* * *

"We have had promises for the last 20 years, but the fact is that the peasants are now worse off than when the British ruled here," Bhashani said.

East and West Pakistan are divided by Indian territory. Opposition leaders in both regions have demanded an end to Ayub's regime, and the president has acceded. Ayub has said he will not seek reelection next year.

FREE ELECTIONS

To further appease the dissidents, Ayub's government has promised to present a bill to the National Assembly next month changing the constitution to provide free adult franchise elections and a parliamentary form of government.

The government also said East and West Pakistan will be completely autonomous, with the central government only handling defense, foreign affairs and taxation.

* * *

But the 70 million easterners make up the majority of Pakistan's 120 million population, and they are pressing for proportional representation in the central government. This would give them the biggest say in the nation's affairs for the first time in its 21-year history.

The unrest has diminished, but complete peace is unlikely to return until Bhashani's demands are met.

* * *

"Our demands are modest," he said. "We are only asking for a livable wage. We have waited long enough."

Phone Poll Says 63 Pct. Favor ABMs

NEW YORK (UPI) — A poll of 1,498 adult Americans indicated nearly two out of three agree with President Nixon that the United States should deploy an antiballistic missile (ABM) system to protect against Chinese attack.

Sindlinger & Company, Inc. announced results of the nation-wide telephone poll last week. The question read: "At his press conference, President Nixon announced his decision to go ahead and build an antiballistic missile defense system to protect against any Chinese attack on the United States. Do you agree or disagree?"

* * *

According to Sindlinger, 63.7 per cent said they agreed with the President, 15 per cent disagreed and 21.3 per cent had no opinion. Many of those who disagreed called the system "dangerous" or "inadequate."

In answer to a second question, 60.3 per cent said they thought Nixon was wise to go ahead with the ABM rather than postpone his decision for a year or more.

* * *

Sindlinger & Co., a market analysis firm, conducted the poll using telephone numbers selected by computer.

Cambodian Prince Turns Against Reds

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — For years Prince Norodom Sihanouk heaped praise on the North Vietnamese and the Vietcong, lauding their "rightful struggle" in Vietnam. Lately he has turned against them, apparently because he feels they will gobble up Cambodia.

An increasingly ominous intrustion of the VC-Hanoi forces into Cambodia is one factor which seems to be making the 46-year-old ruler more friendly toward Washington. A cordial exchange of letters between Sihanoik and President Nixon and the quick release of four American prisoners have set the tone.

★ ★ ★

At a news conference this month, Sihanouk dramatically announced that the Vietcong and North Vietnamese are encamped on vast stretches of eastern Cambodia.

More surprisingly he openly expressed wonderment as to why the Americans didn't bomb them.

IMMEDIATE DANGER

Sihanouk said the infiltrators "represent an immediate and long-term danger" for Cambodia. Once and for all, the prince cleared away any lingering doubt about repeated U.S. assertions that Communist-led forces operate in considerable numbers from his soil.

It was the first time he had been so specific and labeled their presence a real threat.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate reaction from the North Vietnamese, who have an embassy here, and from the Vietcong's National Liberation Front, which has one of its major diplomatic establishments here. But day-to-day relations between Cambodians and the Vietnamese have chilled markedly in recent months.

Long-time observers here say Sihanouk has brought into the open a struggle for his independence once the shooting war stops in Vietnam. Fears are expressed that the Hanoi-led Vietnamese are so well-entrenched that they will never leave on their own.

COMPLETE TAKEOVER

Sihanouk himself said Communists and others among his neighbors want to reduce Cambodia "to nothing." The Mekong River running through Cambodia would simply become the border between Thailand to the west and Vietnam to the east, he said.

Sihanouk has had continuing trouble with the Thais, but his main concern now is with the Vietcong, the North Vietnamese and even the Pathet Lao who operate in Laos.

★ ★ ★

Pointing to a map at his news conference, Sihanouk sketched in areas in northeastern Cambodia, where he said the Pathet Lao have come in from Laos, and in the east and southeast where Vietnamese have crossed over.

He pointed out frontier areas of four provinces — Kompong Cham, Kratie, Mondulkiri and Ratanakiri — covering a stretch of about 150 miles where he said there was Communist implantation. American intelligence also locates forces under Communist direction in frontier areas of the other five Cambodian provinces bordering South Vietnam's delta. This no longer is seriously disputed here.

FULLY AWARE

Government sources said they are fully aware of the military units, their exact locations and their numbers, but these details are considered military secrets.

The regions pointed out by Sihanouk are very sparsely populated, mainly by mountain tribesmen who differ ethnically from the Cambodians.

Sihanouk complained that the Americans do not bomb these regions, where there are no Cambodians, but do bomb the "duck's bill" where the Khmer population is very dense."

This was a reference to Svay Rieng Province, also called the "parrot's beak," which protrudes into South Vietnam in the direction of Saigon. American B52 bombers often fly raids in this region of South Vietnam because of military actions which create a threat to Saigon. There have been numerous border incidents and Cambodians have been killed.

OPEN INVITATION?

By wondering out loud why the Americans don't bomb forces farther to the north in Cambodia, Sihanouk, some observers here feel, has approached an open invitation to the Americans to come in with planes or raiding parties.

"The prince could never openly encourage the Americans to invade his own country," one diplomat said, "and he probably would make a pro forma protest if they did, but in the end he would be pleased."

★ ★ ★

Who doesn't the prince drive out his unwelcome visitors himself? His army of some 30,000-35,000 just isn't big enough, although some American intelligence sources say there is evidence that Cambodian soldiers have recently taken on some Vietcong units.

Sihanouk's problem with Vietcong and North Vietnamese forces is only part of his concern about the Vietnamese now and for the future. Government sources say about a half million Vietnamese live among Cambodia's seven million people. They are scattered over much of the country, but mainly around the lake area in west central Cambodia.

WON'T INTEGRATE

They refuse to integrate with the Cambodians and lend themselves to recruitment and other pressures by Communist agents, the sources say.

★ ★ ★

Shoudd the Vietcong and North Vietnamese make an overt effort to overrun Cambodia, they would have built-in fifth-column support, these sources add.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If making tracks across a clean carpet to get to a telephone leaves your wife a little less than happy, then perhaps there's nothing so funny about an extension telephone in the garage or workshop.

Extension telephones make sense. They save time by letting you use a telephone wherever you are.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can put an extension in any funny old place you'd like.

N. Farmington to Offer 'Tom Jones'

By KATHI CAMPBELL

North Farmington Players will present "Tom Jones" Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 in the gymnasium.

Tickets, which are $1.25 for students and $1.50 for adults, may be purchased at the door.

"Tom Jones" will be performed under the direction of speech teacher, June Sulewisk and English instructor Michael Rasmussen.

Staged in an arena style, this production will be set in eighteenth century England.

BASED ON NOVEL

"Tom Jones" is a farce based on an English novel written by Henry Fielding in 1749 and adapted for stage by David Rodgers. It is the story of an amiable rogue with a good disposition and no overwhelming sense of morality.

Tom Jones, played by senior Tim Harrower, has two purposes — to find out his true heritage and to marry Sophia Western, portrayed by junior Jill Daumlee. If you're curious about the outcome of Tom's adventures, attend a performance.

★ ★ ★

Authentic costumes will be provided by Van Beau Costumes of Royal Oak. English teacher Adele Howden and senior Nancy Kadushin, student director for costuming, are also furnishing costumes for this event.

Publicity is being handled by Sue Fuller and Debbie Newton.

SCENE DESIGNER

Scene designer is Charles Hiner, student teacher; Marlene Duliat, student teacher, house manager; Ray Voss, history teacher, is the ticket chairman; and Richard Shilling, art instructor, designed the posters.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Others are Christine Perkins, Deborah; Linda Pulgini, Mrs. Waters; Carl Segall, Squire Allworthy; Carolyn Sevin, Mrs. Whitefield; Dave Shapiro, Western; Steve Silverman, Justice Dowling; Jim Spittle, Highwayman; and Joe Teeples, Constable.

Master of ceremonies for the recent NF Talent Show was Sam Haapala, junior.

FINALISTS

Finalists were Terry Davis, singing "He Had A Long Chain" (Old Folk Song); Sue Roberts, dancing a jazz routine to "Charley My Boy"; juniors Marcia Albrecht and Marg Timma, doing a comedy routine, accompanied by Becky Kinsey, "Mombo Mama and Felix"; Jackie Paladian singing "If You Walk Into My Life"; Linda Combs, piano; and junior Jerry Brown, singing "Where Is She," his own composition.

The second act consisted of the following performers: sophomores Georgia Ellsworth and Jerra Gorrell, performing a piano duet, "Bubble Boogy," which they arranged themselves; Tomorrow Dawn, including guitarists singers Allison Ash, Carolyn Collingham, Jamie Heston, Dean Smith, Earl Berris and Cathy Ash, doing "Far Into the Night," written by Allison Ash; Linda Oldershaw, singing "Who Can I Turn To"; a guitar duo, Bill Page and Drew Fezzy, singing "She's Not There," their own arrangement; Sue Roberts, tap dancing to "If My Friends Could See Me Now"; and Apollo Green Sky, a group comprised of Tom Wagner, Larry Isenberg, Tom Fezzy, Mark Derusy and David Schmidt, performing three numbers, "And the Address," "I Put a Spell on You", and "Communication Break."

Nine students and one teacher are planning a trip to Europe as a part of their summer vacation.

★ ★ ★

Juniors Sue Beightol, Kathy Beno, Sarah Gahagan, Charlotte Knight, Barbara Najjar and Sandra Thielemann and senior Claudia Loe are among those going.

The American Institute of Foreign Study is sponsoring their program.

CHAPERONE OF TOUR

Mrs. H. Morse is chaperone of the European tour.

The tour will start July 24 when the girls leave from Kennedy Airport. It will end "41 days" later when they arrive back in the states. The tour will visit England, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and France.

★ ★ ★

The girls will be accompanied by Mrs. Morse's son, a student at the University of Michigan, and three other high school students from Wisconsin.

PROPOSAL—North Farmington senior Tim Harrower practices his proposal to Jill Daumler for the play "Tom Jones," slated for Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the NFH gym. Tickets are being sold at the door. Student admission is $1.25, adults $1.50.

PCH Electronic Teams Score

By PURVIS HUNT JR.

Two electronic teams selected from Pontiac Central's Vocational Department participated in a statewide contest March 15 sponsored by the Michigan Industrial Education Society.

Central competed against seven other high schools in the compeititon held at Eastern Michigan University.

★ ★ ★

Placing second for PCH in scholastic competition, which consisted of competitive exams and experimental circuitry, were Nick Vitinaros and Paul Kurth.

In radio servicing, (contestants had to repair AM-FM radios that had five built-in faults), Rodney Knudsen and Dan Martyn, won a third-place prize for PCH.

In an auto body drafting contest, out of 11 awards presented to Pontiac area students, 10 winners were from Pontiac Central.

★ ★ ★

This contest was sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers. From 219 schools which entered the contest, 1,068 drawings were turned in and judged.

★ ★ ★

Six members of PCH's Biology Club recently went to Michigan State University, under the supervision of Robert Robb and his student teacher A. A. Kochenderfar, a senior from MSU.

WORKING ON EXPERIMENTS

During the day, the group visited the embryology laboratory, where they saw students and professors working on experiments with embryos regarding the production of antibodies.

They also viewed a demonstration on preparing mounts for observation, and the working of a microscope.

★ ★ ★

Throughout this school week and the first week of April, Pontiac Central's a'cappella choir and various ensembles will present musical programs at Baldwin, Crofoot, Frost, Whitfield, Bethune and Webster Elementary schools.

In late April, the vocal music department will begin its annual tour of junior high schools.

COLLEGE NIGHT TOMORROW

A College Night, sponsored by Pontiac Central, and the Central PTA, will be held tomorrow night, at 7:30 in the PCH auditorium. Students from Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Catholic are also invited to participate.

The night's activities (over 35 colleges will be represented) will be split into three 40-minute sessions. Participants will be given an opportunity to visit with three different college representatives.

★ ★ ★

Letters of invitation have been sent to all parents of 11th-graders. All students are also welcome to attend.

Parking for college representatives will be available in the parking circle of the high school, and guests may park in the Crofoot Elementary School lot.

★ ★ ★

Students of the National Honor Society and the Charm Club of PCH will act as guides during the evening.

Three bands will play at the dance. John Paul Jones, disc jockey for Flint's WTRX, will be the master of ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

The boy and girl who sell the most tickets will be crowned king and queen and will be awarded a $25 savings bond each. There will also be other prizes.

The dance is open to the public.

THESPIAN SOCIETY

Lapeer High School is organizing a chapter of the National Thespian Society, a dramatics society honoring high school students who have done outstanding work in dramatics.

Joan Belant, English teacher and dramatics coach, determined those qualified for membership.

Nineteen charter members will be initiated tomorrow by the Carmen High School Chapter.

Selected were Don Shoultz, Tony Abruzzo, Phil Daunt, Brad Gerlach, Pat Borusch, Linda Lutz, Ginger Keena, Bruce Steffes, Martin Hoffmann, Steve Frost and Alice Stem, seniors.

Others tapped were Greg Fischer and Marilyn Sak, juniors; and Roger Gerlach, Nancy Ruhman and Mary Wagner, freshmen.

BAND COMPETITION

Saturday, the Lapeer High School Band will attend the state solo and ensemble competition at Ferndale.

All the groups who receive first divisions in district competition will perform. Those who achieve first or second divisions at the competition will become eligible to receive medals.

Our Lady Hosts 'U.N.' Caucus

By MARY ANNE MADDEN

Our Lady of Mercy's Model United Nations Club (MUN) hosted a caucus Thursday.

Delegates (180) from 20 schools attended the meeting.

Schools in attendance included University of Detroit, Rochester, Berkley and Rosary high school.

★ ★ ★

Caucus chairmen were seniors Sue Casby, Virginia Locker, Pat Benninghouse, junior Pat Derry and sophomore Karen LaFerriere.

El Circulo Espanol, Mercy's Spanish Club, recently experienced Spanish culture firsthand when they dined at a Spanish restaurant.

TACOS FEATURED

The outing featured tacos and other Mexican-Spanish delicacies.

Mary Ann Polakowski is Spanish Club moderator.

★ ★ ★

Officers are Pam Howe, Cindy Dowd, Mary Anne Madden and Sue Miller.

Third-Quarter Exams Halt Activities at Brother Rice

By MICHAEL R. McGILL

With the Brother Rice third-quarter exams taking place Wednesday through Friday most activities have come to a grinding halt.

Tom Bowen, dance committee chairman, says that he has been contacted by Sharon Yezbick, Dominican Academy Student Council president, concerning a dance.

★ ★ ★

The two schools hope to hold a joint dance at Brother Rice sometime in early April with a name band.

Jim Stoepler, Student Council president, has announced an exchange day with Detroit Northern. Twenty-five Rice students, picked at random, will go to Northern next Monday. Northern students will be at Rice on April 2.

DISADVANTAGES

Jim, in comparing this exchange with the Dec. 4 area exchange, says, "The value of this exchange is of a wider scope since it involves two different areas rather than an exchange within the area. In other words, hopefully, this exchange will help at least the 25 students involved to overcome the disadvantages of being in a white, upper-class, suburban 'ghetto' such as Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Five lucky boys will miss a couple of the exam days by leaving school Thursday.

Mike Jackson, Steve Palmis, Jeff Browning, Russ Monaghan and Rich Morrison will go to Washington to attend the National Invitational Model United Nations.

MODERATOR

Jerry Moynahan, a history teacher, will attend also as moderator.

The school pays the entry fee for the Model U.N. and for the moderator's travel. The boys must pay for their own travel expenses.

All will stay at the Shoreham Hotel where the Model U.N. sessions are held.

Before the sessions are held, it has been prearranged for the delegates to discuss the problems with embassy representatives from the countries they represent.

The problems for discussion this year are: Korea, the Middle East crisis and Southwest Africa.

CHIEF FOR A DAY — Rochester High junior Mike Hall accepts the badge of Police Chief Robert C. Werth, in the annual Government Day switch. The exchange gives students a peek at the duties and responsibilities of city officials and school administrators.

By MOLLY PETERSON

Government Day at Rochester Senior High School is scheduled for Friday.

On that day students who have been elected to such positions as police chief, city councilmen and building inspector exchange places for the day with the officials of Rochester.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the program is to give students a better perspective of the duties of city officeholders, and public servants by actually being responsible for these duties for 24 hours.

★ ★ ★

The following were elected: Miles Bridgford, Cherie Hames, Jack Hughson, Tom Malkasian, Ted Malkasian, Deb Mayer and Marty McKay councilmen; Dana Braden and Calvin McDaniel, assistant principals; James Sharp, principal; Roger Baran, city attorney; Chuck Houghten, dept. parks and recreation; Mike Hall, police chief; Steve Hawley, fire chief; Wayne McKenney, city manager; Deb Burns, superintendent of public works; Chris Lawson, building inspector; Debi Durkee, treasurer; Bill Holland, clerk; Bill Rupe, sewage treatment; and Dave Ludwick, assessor.

FOLK-ROCK FESTIVAL

This year, the junior class has a new twist on money-making projects.

Instead of sponsoring the annual Junior Prom, the class of 1970 is staging a folk-rock festival as its big project of the year. Money from the festival, to be held Friday night, will help the class with graduating expenses.

★ ★ ★

Performing in the high school auditorium will be the Tea, the Cambridge, and the Rowina. The Tea consists of recent graduates of Rochester Senior High. They are Larry McLean, Student Council president of 1967-68, Bob Bonin, Tom Ward and Henry Kern.

★ ★ ★

Tickets for the 8 to 10 p.m. festival are $1 or $1.25 for reserved seats.

FACULTY FOLLIES

Many members of the faculty are busy preparing for the Faculty Follies, which will be held Monday and Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Max Mallon, teacher of biology and enthusiastic conservationist, organized the faculty troupe with hopes of raising at least $500 or $600 to make landscaping improvements at the school.

Pops Concert Near at Milford

By ROSE MAKI

Celebrating the arrival of spring, Milford High School Band students will present their annual pops concert tomorrow and Thursday.

The performance is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. in the high school's Little Theater. The admission charge is $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

* * *

Two special rock groups will also entertain. The Founding Freaks of Immorality include Dave Donalsdon on drums, Joe Hauser and Tom Dwyer on lead bass and rhythm guitars and Buck Buchanan on bass guitar.

The Rhythm Division features Walt Mick on organ, Mike Lawson on drums, Doug Otlewski on saxophone and Margaret Holden, vocalist.

Scott Ludwig is the director of Milford Bands.

WEIGHT LIFTERS

The Weight Lifters Activity Night will be held tonight from 7-9:30 in the school cafeteria. Admission fee for the dance is 25 cents. Refreshments will be sold.

The Weight Lifters Club, organized by Chuck Bilow, Tom Hamill and Art Hill, Student Council president, is sponsoring the Activity Night to raise money for new equipment including 200 pounds of weight and leg standards, said Jack Armstrong, sponsor.

* * *

Adelphian

By PAT EDWARDS

The Andrews University Academy choir from Berrien Springs visited Adelphian Academy recently.

In addition to providing a musical special during the morning church service, they gave a sacred concert in the afternoon.

* * *

The main social event at Adelphian — Junior-Senior Banquet — was held March 16.

The event began at the "airport," conveniently located in the administration building. There students picked up their tickets and flight instructions.

The airport was appropriately decorated with posters, travel folders and colorful displays.

Students boarded the "jets" from Gate 5. Two of the planes (school busses) were "piloted" by Carl Ashlock, dean of men and director of the choir, and Peter Easton, librarian and instructor in general business and bookkeeping.

In addition, two "jets" were charted from Greyhound, who provided their own "pilots."

There was one "private plane" (the driver training car) "piloted" by Wayne Johnson, who teaches organ and piano.

After a swift trip, they "laid over" in "Philadelphia" (a supper club in Flint). Chip Chaffin, junior class president, was the master of ceremonies for the dinner program, which featured the Senior Girls' Trio.

After dinner, the group resumed its flight to "New York" (in front of the Administration Building), where they changed planes, everyone boarding Flight "70" at Gate "69" (the chapel), bound for "Washington, D.C." During this flight, the students viewed the movie "Good Morning, Miss Dove," starring Jennifer Jones.

They arrived in "Washington" just as the film and the evening ended.

Seaholm

By MIKE FOX

Seaholm High School juniors are involved in an experimental English program. Deviating from the traditional English class, 130 students are separated into groups, each concerned with only a portion of the over-all English course matter.

* * *

Granted a six-week trial period, the program is now in its third week. Sections meet two days a week with Wednesday as a common's day where all students gather together to hear a speaker.

Some sections meet Mondays and Thursdays, others on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Groups include: black literature, composition improvement, history of drama, turn-of-the-century poetry, history of art and modern poetry.

Students teach the last two groups, while regular teachers conduct all other sessions.

* * *

Students may elect to take two courses or only one course and a study hall. And some students are taking independent study, where they choose a subject to pursue. They must produce something at the end of six weeks to show their progress.

SHORT STORY

Here topics range from a study of Marshall McLuhan to the writing of a short story.

Modeled much like a flexible scheduling program, the experiment is under the direction of English department head Mary Campbell.

Clarkston

By TRUDY BEALL

Clarkston High School recently held its local forensic contest and of the 24 students participating, 10 emerged victorious in their respective fields.

Winners in humorous interpretive readings were Debbie Hoopengarner with her selection from "Cheaper By the Dozen" and Bonnie Millen reading from "Alice in Wonderland."

* * *

Others competing in this field were Diane Hoff, reading "How We Kept Mother's Day"; Kathy Hoff, "Winnie the Pooh"; and Neal Mansfield, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn."

* * *

Winners in serious interpretive were Polly Hanson with a selection from "The Diary of Anne Frank," and Mary Taylor reading "Congo." Also vying for the award were Laury Donhoe, Debby Fritch and Jill Sansom.

EXTEMPORE AWARDS

Extemporaneous speaking was won by Brianne Jenks and Kurt Lussie.

Winning in the declamation category were Carolyn Jorgensen reading "But I Am One" and Debby Thatcher reading "Forever a Stranger."

Other competitors were Carolyn Eaton, Diana Foote and Gail Pawley.

* * *

The radio news contest was dominated by Steve Ashley and Mike Mason, with Harold Ballough, Dan Hallman, Jane Helveston, Craig Kottke and Pat Norris also competing.

Lahser

By GRETCHEN HAAS

Robert C. J. Traub memorial scholarships were awarded to two senior students at Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School last week for outstanding ability in art and music.

Recipients are Sue Tarapata, music, and Cindy Gregerson, art.

* * *

Two scholarships were also awarded to students at Bloomfield Hills Andover High School.

FUND ESTABLISHED

The scholarship fund was established by Elizabeth Taylor Traub in 1956 in memory of her husband who "was deeply interested in art and in music, and who sought in many ways to encourage the cultivation and expression of artistic and musical talents."

* * *

The purpose of the scholarships is to provide an opportunity for talented students of art and music in the Bloomfield Hills high schools "to enjoy a summer of travel in Europe after graduation from high school and before entrance into college or university."

* * *

"It is particularly desired by the donor to contribute to the general cultural enrichment of the recipients, and not primarily to advancement of their technical education in art or music."

Applicants must submit information on past art or music experience and a 500-word theme on their reasons for entering the competition.

* * *

Judging is based on "character, personality, citizenship responsibility, social adjustment" and other aspects of the individuals as well as their abilities in art or music.

Your water can cost you up to $170 a year.

At that rate a Water King water conditioner can pay for itself in less than two years.

Hard water means money down the drain.

To combat the minerals in your hard water, you use detergents, softeners, lotions, beauty creams, bath oils. You use more shampoo, soap, bleach. Your clothes wear faster. Your plumbing bills are higher.

A Water King water conditioner can pay for itself with the money and time you'll save with soft, conditioned water. And when the payments end, your savings continue.

Our water specialists will show you a complete line of Water King conditioners and softeners — from the fully automatic models to the economical manual models. They'll give you a lifetime of dependable service. Water King guarantees it.

Candy Striper, Lynette Leighton of Keego Harbor, takes a new patient, Mrs. Delpha DuVall of Ledgestone Street, to the admitting office at Pontiac General Hospital.

Candy Stripers Given Special Recognition

Three teenage girls who have contributed nearly 2100 hours of service as Candy Stripers at Pontiac General Hospital received special awards Monday evening.

At the twelfth annual capping and awards ceremony in the Elks Temple, Aleck Capsalis, chairman of the Board of Trustees, presented the awards to Deborah A. Jones, Celeste Thomson and Lynette Leighton.

* * *

Deborah, who will graduate from Waterford Township High School in June, has been a Candy Striper for a year and nine months. She has accumulated 855½ hours. She intends to be a physical therapist and has been accepted at Central Michigan University. After two years there, she will transfer to the University of Michigan for her degree.

* * *

Celeste Thomson, a junior at Pontiac Central High School, wants to enter the nursing profession. During her 21 months at PGH, she has given 640 hours of service.

* * *

Lynette Leighton has been accepted into the Oakland Community College two-year Registered Nurse program. Since her graduation in 1968 from West Bloomfield High School, she has continued as a Candy Striper, accumulating 532¾ hours in the past year.

* * *

RECEIVED CAPS

Seventy-nine girls received their caps; 23 got certificates for 100 hours; 13 were given pins for 150 hours; eight got the 200-hour stripe; and three a 300-hour cross. One girl received her second gold cross, signifying 400 hours of service.

According to Dorothy Wood, director of volunteer services, Pontiac General Hospital is recognized as having one of the largest youth volunteer programs in Michigan.

Its purpose is to interest youth in careers in the health field. The program began in 1961 with 12 girls. Since then, 1700 girls have been trained; about a third of them have gone on to work in health field jobs.

Dr. Robert L. Tupper, director of medical education at the hospital, was principal speaker Monday evening.

Wife of U.N. Chief Yost Plunges Back Into Diplomatic Whirl

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — "It was a very pleasant surprise. And it's delightful to be back after a vacation of 2½ years."

In a slight Polish accent, Irene Oldakowska Yost told how it felt to plunge anew and with scant advance notice into the diplomatic whirl as wife of the new chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

Her husband, Charles, served as deputy under Ambassadors Adlai E. Stevenson and Arthur J. Goldberg from February, 1961, to June, 1966, before Yost retired from 33 eventful years in the U.S. diplomatic corps.

* * *

He was called back as President Nixon's choice for the No. 1 post at the United Nations, and he took over his new duties officially last Jan. 21.

Since then Mrs. Yost has been busy much of the time putting her personal touch on the elegant suite at the Waldorf Towers which the United States provides as the official residence of its top ambassador to the United Nations.

BEAUTY

She has sparkling blue eyes, natural gray hair worn in a soft pompadour and bobbed behind the ears, and a classic beauty that captured the heart of Yost as a handsome fledgling diplomat in Warsaw 35 years ago.

The task of fitting the Yost family needs into the new apartment is something of a challenge.

She is arranging new shelving to accommodate her husband's large library collection. A mirror on the wall of a reception room will be replaced by bookshelves.

Pictures will be loaned by the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Modern Art for the apartment.

The Yosts have two sons and a daughter, and she believes the parents' varied experience in different countries was an advantage to them.

"It's amazing how well they turned out," she said. "They developed more poise and savoir faire as a result of their meeting with children of other nationalities."

The many transfers from one post to another posed some educational problems — in one year the two youngest were in four different countries on four continents.

* * *

Nicholas, 30, the oldest, is a deputy attorney general for the state of California. Kazmir, 23, is studying in Beirut and preparing for a career in the U.S. foreign service. Felicity, 18, is a student at Pine Manor Junior College in Massachusetts and a budding artist.

All three children were born in Washington, D.C.

SUITE

The big suite at the Waldorf Towers includes two reception rooms, a dining room, three bedrooms and a study for the ambassador.

The dining room can accommodate as many as 40 guests at one time.

"But it's a close squeeze," Mrs. Yost said. "I prefer 20 guests — there's much more opportunity for conversation among them all."

There is a large guest bedroom, and Felicity will have her own smaller bedroom when she comes home for weekends or vacation from college.

His and Her Wedding Present Not 'Suitable' to Bridegroom

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My aunt offered to make my fiance and me a matching set of his and her pajamas for our wedding present if I supply the pattern and pick out the material.

When I asked David about this he said he prefers to wear the same pajamas he has worn for the last 10 years. Upon further questioning, I discovered that the "pajamas" he had in mind were nothing more than his bare hide, and he had no intentions of wearing as much as a thread to bed.

Abby, I was shocked, though I tried not to let on.

David is a nice looking fellow, and there is nothing repulsive about him, but the thought of his sleeping that way strikes me as being somewhat shameful. What shall I tell Auntie?

OUT WEST

DEAR OUT: Tell Auntie, thanks a lot, but David has all the pajamas he's going to need. (He has.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have an 18-year-old son, and I'd like to know what the parents of teen-age girls are thinking of. When Rick first started to date he'd say: "The girl has no curfew, and I have to be in before she does. It's embarrassing."

We're not unreasonable, Abby. We ask Rick to leave the girl's house at 9 p.m. on school nights, and he has until midnight on week-ends. And if he's going to be held up for any reason, all we ask is a phone call.

* * *

This girl he has been seeing a lot of lately has just turned 16. She has no restrictions on dating, and even when nothing special is planned she asks Rick to come over and just "sit around." Needless to say, we are in a constant state of worry.

Our son has had good upbringing, but even "nice" kids fall in love and get carried away. I'm afraid they're playing with fire. If Rick came to us and said he had to get married, at age 19 or even 20, I don't know where we'd ever get the money.

Abby, please, please tell parents of girls to help us help them. Curb those dates and long hours. We love our children, and their well-being is the responsibility of both sets of parents. I know this is too long to print, but with your talent maybe you can shorten it and say it better.

"WORRIED" IN OAKLAND, ME.

DEAR WORRIED: I couldn't have said it any better, and I'm printing every word.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: It's me again, Paul H. Adams of Babbitt, Nev. Someone wrote in asking if you had ever heard of a lady pallbearer, and you said you hadn't. Then I wrote in and said my mother was one — for nine months.

Well, you printed my letter, and a number of interesting things have happened to me as a result of that. Practically everone in town has stopped me to remark on it. You wouldn't believe how many people read your column. Over half of them said, "So Abby does use letters from real people! I always thought she made them up herself."

I received a letter from a man I hadn't heard from in 30 years. But the payoff was some guy in Maine. He wrote to tell me that it was scientifically impossible for my mother to tell during the gestation period whether she was a PAULBEARER or a PAULABEARER.

YOURS TRULY, PAUL

DEAR PAUL: You're getting to be a habit in Babbit. Keep writing.

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dinner Party Closes Season for Tennis Gals

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Mrs. John Adamson and Mrs. Charles V. Booth Jr., who have been meeting at the Bloomfield Tennis House with a group of Birmingham - Bloomfield women for weekly tennis the last three winters, hung up their rackets Saturday evening and had a dinner party at the Adamson house.

All the gals brought their husbands for the group's first-ever social get-together.

There, besides the Adamsons and the Booths, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dusseau, the David Hausers, the Charles Duryeas, Mr. and Mrs. William Schoen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Smith and the Robert H. Walkers.

* * *

Mrs. Adamson has a very full year ahead. Two of her daughters will be married before the year is out. One of them, Kathy, 21, is currently vacationing with her University of Colorado sorority sisters in Mazatlan, Mexico. She is planning a December wedding.

Other daughter, Sandy, will be married June 21 to Denis Clanahan of Denver.

THIRD GIRL

Eighteen-year-old Stephanie (Stevie) is just enjoying life on a trip to Veral Beach with good friend Prudie Vogt.

Bonwit-Teller of Troy's Somerset Mall is sponsoring its first fashion show May 1 at Oakland Hills Country Club.

It's a big summer show, featuring commentator Ole Borden who will present the Rembrandt collection. Mrs. James Tomlinson and Mrs. Paul Trimmer are cochairmen.

Mrs. John Denman is doing publicity. Some of the lieutenants are Mrs. John DeVault, Mrs. Frederick Osann and Mrs. Thomas Clemmons.

Modeling talent will be home grown, featuring such locals as Mesdames: Henry Schlachter, John McNamara, Hunter McDonald, Charles Garretson and Robert E. LaJoie.

White House Request Is Really Demand

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been advised that an invitation from royalty is a command and requires no answer. Is the same also true in the case of an invitation from the White House? E. L. Harper

* * *

Dear Mr. Harper: An invitation to the White House certainly DOES require an answer—immediately! It is a command—only the most valid excuses, such as illness, a close relative's funeral, or unavoidable absence are acceptable. Previous engagements must be cancelled in order to attend.

Replies must be written by hand, and when the invitation is regretted, the reason must be stated.

"THANK-YOU"

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is president, this year, of a club of business associates. Every year there is a ladies' night at which time a toast is proposed to the ladies and is usually replied to by the president's wife. My problem is, what is the right reply? Please tell me exactly what I should say.—Mrs. W. C.

* * *

Dear Mrs. C.: All that is necessary is to stand and thank the man who proposed the toast on behalf of all the ladies present and yourself. You might say something along this line: "Mr. Smith, I know that all of the ladies present join me in thanking you for those flattering (or kind) remarks. This is a wonderful evening (or dinner) and we are delighted to be here."

Married in Rochester

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reed Witzman (nee Susan Elizabeth Caswell) travelled to the Pocono Mountains, following their marriage Saturday in St. Luke's Methodist Church, Rochester.

MRS. G. R. WITZMAN

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Robert M. Jackson of Highfield Street, Dale E. Caswell of Hillcliff Street, and Mrs. Charles Cramer of Annapolis Street, Commerce Township, and the late Mr. Cramer.

Mrs. Edward C. Papke of El Paso, Texas, was matron of honor for her sister who chose a gown of silk organza with Empire waistline and short lace sleeves for the candlelight ceremony. Her veil was a chapel mantilla edged with lace and she carried an all-white bouquet of carnations and roses.

Gerald Popovich was best man. Sharon Donaldson, Michael Popovich and Mark Caswell, the bride's brother, completed the wedding party.

A reception in the church parlors honored the newlyweds.

Inflation Go-Around Twirls in '69

By BETTY CANARY

And the word was, after realizing their New Year's resolutions didn't have a prayer, the people did tremble slightly and shake off some of their lesser turmoils.

Just in case you've forgotten what some of these small worries were (and because I am cleaning all these now useless clippings off my desk, I thought perhaps I'd remind you of the top two in tiny troubles.

● Remember the warning that music played with amps turned to high may destroy your hearing. This may prove useful if you have teen-agers and they have amplifiers.

● Remember the warning that some color television sets could be leaking dangerous radiation. This may come in handy if you have children you'd like to send to bed so you can choose YOUR programs.

★ ★ ★

With that out of the way we can get right down to the important stuff such as inflation. Worrying constructively about inflation is rather difficult for some of us. However, I had coffee with my friends Marie and Ervin and I certainly learned a lot.

"I'm really worried about inflation," Marie said.

★ ★ ★

"All systems are go," Ervin answered. (Ervin watched ALL the broadcasts from Apollo 8.)

"The forecasts are rosy for 1969. A-O.K.!"

"Roundstead was $1.35 at the market today," Marie said.

"Unemployment has dropped and industrial output has climbed," Ervin answered.

"That bread you like is now 47 cents a loaf," Marie said.

"Economists are expecting curtailed war expenditures," Ervin went on thoughtfully, "and curtailed demands on the domestic economy."

"And apples were six for 79 cents," Marie told us, as she poured more coffee.

★ ★ ★

"Actually," Ervin even looked at us over his newspaper at this point, "I see a constructive transition from the hyperstimulation of inflation to a slower but more sustainable rate of growth."

"Imagine what I said when I saw the price on the half-and-half!"

"Pass the cream," Ervin said.

"I said, we'll just use milk," Marie answered.

"Oh. Well, of course, government spending is out of control," Ervin conceded, then added in a stern voice, "the concept of endless inflation seems to have permeated the economy!"

"The thing is," Marie said, "that I am worried about trying to buy the same amount of groceries on the amount of money we put in our food budget envelope."

★ ★ ★

"The thing to worry about," Ervin patiently explained, "is the trend from fixed-income loans that occur during the inflationary period and please pass the butter."

★ ★ ★

"It's margarine. Butter is up to 90 cents and about that fixed income," Marie said with a sweet smile.

"Perhaps I could give you a loan," he sighed.

Pants Suitability Is Restricted by Circumstances

Even the most fashion-conscious girl can be confused about pants etiquette these days. The whole matter boils down to a subtle distinction between just slacks or shorts worn with any kind of tops or footwear and the carefully assembled pants costumes designed to be worn in town with exactly the right accessories.

★ ★ ★

The former does not belong on city streets in any circumstance. The latter is now appropriate for strolling in some cities, but still may not be right for matinees, museums and art galleries, and most restaurants.

Area Women 'First Cooks'

Six Pontiac area housewives took part in a different kind of graduation exercise Monday at Oakland University.

The "academic robe" was white and the "processional" led into the kitchen.

★ ★ ★

The graduates received diplomas for completing the University's first Cooks and Bakers School, a pilot program that hopefully will be expanded into a continuous training program for all levels of personnel in the housing and food service areas.

FROM AREA

William P. Paleen, coordinator of food service at OU, presented diplomas during brief and informal ceremonies in Vandenberg Hall's cafeteria to the following graduates all of whom live in the Pontiac area:

Mrs. Johnella Andrews, Mrs. Dorothy Crawford, Mrs. Orval Humphreys, Mrs. Birtie Owens, Mrs. Ted Ramsey and Mrs. Frank Polasek.

Paleen said that the six, all of whom were qualified cooks and bakers before enrolling in the classes, received additional training in food technology, sanitation, and the role of supervisors in such areas as human relations and labor relations.

The series of 10 weekly sessions concluded with a field trip to the East Lansing campus of Michigan State University, where they toured MSU's massive food stores building and two of the largest dining installations, those of Holden Hall and Brody Complex.

★ ★ ★

The Cooks and Bakers School was conceived and coordinated by members of OU's food service staff, Mrs. Barbara Willson, Dave Stafford, Al Linsenman and Paleen.

Government Bonds Easing Tax Strain

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

If there's an elderly individual in the family circle who's worrying over how big a piece of his estate the government may get in taxes some day, you might pass this along:

Investment counselors have been recommending the purchase of government bonds to ease the tax strain. There are 22 issues of these bonds that are selling below par, but can be redeemed at par in paying off federal estate taxes.

★ ★ ★

Some of these bonds have been priced at less than 73c on the dollar — very attractive to buyers who anticipate sizable estate tax payments. Your broker no doubt has a listing, identifying these particular issues.

A bank trust officer points out the advantage of the purchase of bonds from assets in an estate at this time. The question of liquidating investments could be avoided at the time of settlement, if it happened to be an inopportune time to sell. A $250,000 estate, for example, even with marital deductions and half trusteed, would still be required to pay over $10,000 in federal estate tax. Obviously, the bite is less deep when the actual cost is only $7,300 via bonds bought below par but accepted at par value.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

If a husband, during a calendar year, makes a cash gift to his wife of $20,000, how much of that amount is exempt from gift tax and how much must be reported as a gift tax to the government? This is assuming the husband has not previously used any of his lifetime $30,000 exemption.

H.C.H., Fort Madison, Iowa

Dear H.C.H.:

Because of the marital deduction, half of the gift, or $10,000 in this case, is exempt from tax. Since you can deduct the $3,000 allowed the individual in any one year as a tax-free gift, you need report only $7,000, which is applied to the $30,000 lifetime exclusive, leaving $23,000 for future use.

TAXES ARE HIGH!

In my opinion many government agencies are spending much more than necessary or needed to provide essential governmental services. Some certainly could be reduced and others could or should be abolished. Unfortunately, we cannot vote against many of the taxes we pay but we can vote against or for the taxes that support our schools. My wife and I are going to vote YES on the Waterford School millage increase on Mar. 26 because—

1. We have two boys who need now, more than ever before, an adequate and complete public school education.
2. We have made a thorough study of the operation of the Waterford School system and are convinced that the additional money is needed. We believe that the members of the Waterford Board of Education are dedicated people and feel that they should be supported. We also feel that the administration and the staff are qualified and performing efficiently.
3. We know that all property values suffer in a community which does not offer a good K-12 educational program. We realize that taxes are a burden for everyone but without a good school system, property will not be as salable and therefore will depreciate in market value.
4. Unfortunately, due to the present state aid formula, the schools will not benefit enough from the increase in equalized value, to restore or operate in accordance with recognized standards.
5. The proposed millage increase, if passed, is for only two years (1969, 1970) and during that time the Board of Education has pledged to levy only the millage needed. If other means are found to properly operate our system, the millage will not be levied.
6. We are of the opinion that many government functions can be "cut back" or eliminated to provide money for essential governmental services. We know that true "tax reform" is badly needed and hope that it can soon be accomplished. Any future tax reform measures cannot help the Waterford Schools now, when they must make plans and hire personnel for next year's program.

Yes, taxes are high but let's work together in attempting to reduce them by eliminating unnecessary services which will allow more financialsupport for the essential K-12 education of our children and other required governmental functions.

VOTE YES ON MARCH 26 AND PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT, NOT ONLY IN YOUR PROPERTY BUT IN THE CHILDREN OF THE WATERFORD SCHOOL DISTRICT!

In the last dozen years standard American bidders have strengthened the two-over-one response in a lower-valued suit to where it guarantees nine or 10 high card points and shows 11 unless the hand is very unbalanced.

Some players guarantee to make a follow-up bid irrespective of what opener does at his second turn.

We don't go this far. If opener rebids two of his suit we reserve the right to pass. If he bids anything else, except game, we promise to bid once more.

This makes it possible for opener to rebid in a new suit and be sure of response. It also makes it possible for opener to jump in a new suit with a fragment bid that agrees on partner's suit for the final trump.

North's jump to four clubs is a fragment bid. It says, "Partner, hearts is our suit. I have a singleton club and want to play this hand in a heart game or slam."

South had only 11 high-card points for his two-heart call but the fragment bid told him that all his high cards would be working. He went right into Blackwood and settled for six when he found a missing ace.

★ ★ ★

West opened the king of clubs and shifted to a diamond. South studied the hand for some time. Almost any line of play will succeed but South wasn't looking at the East and West cards. The line he adopted looks mighty good to us.

He won the diamond in his hand and ruffed a club small. Then he led dummy's ace of hearts. Both opponents followed, so he led a low trump to his hand, ruffed another club with the jack of hearts, entered his hand with the queen of spades, drew trumps and claimed his contract since he could discard his last club on a high spade.

♠♥♦♣CARD Sense♠♥♦♣

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♣		Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠32 ♥AKQJ1054 ♦A2 ♣75

What do you do now?

A—Bid two hearts. Seven solid hearts and a side ace are enough to suggest slam possibilities.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to three clubs over your two heart bid. What do you do now?

Mrs. Piper died yesterday. She was a charter member of Peace Angelical Lutheran Church, Detroit, and a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Rochester.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ross Harris of Detroit and Mrs. Fred Fischer of Rochester, and four grandchildren.

Richard W. Witmaac

TROY — Service for Richard W. Witmaac, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Witmaac of 367 W. Wattles, will be 1 p.m. Thursday at Price Funeral Home, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

The youth died Sunday as a result of an auto accident on March 19. He was an employe of the City of Troy Department of Public Works and a 1968 graduate of Troy High School.

Surviving are his parents and a sister, Mrs. Leonard Prusinowski of Troy.

Meeting Near for the OCCEO

Head Start, transportation and new officers will be subjects for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) at its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at 1 Lafayette.

Progress reports will update activities of Head Start (programs in 11 county school districts) and a transportation study committee.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will be asked to approve contacting federal authorities on the area's severe problem of transportation as it relates to the poor.

Some 23 of the 51 commissioners will be seated either as reelected or newly elected members.

★ ★ ★

OCCEO Director Edward P. Revis, will report on this year's funding. The Washington OEO office announced recently that some $1.2 million had been approved for OCCEO activities, a funding level similar to the last two years.

Safety-Belt Drive Gets JC Backing

Oakland County's 25 Jaycee chapters are cooperating with the public education campaign of the Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County to increase the countywide use of safety belts.

April 12 has been designated as "Jaycee Lock-It-To-Me Day," said Gary A. Miller, Jaycee regional chairman for the cooperative program.

★ ★ ★

Jaycees will be stationed at gasoline service stations, car washes and other key locations on that date to distribute "Lock-It-To-Me" bumper stickers and brochures, Miller said.

Exam Is Slated in Traffic Death

A preliminary court examination for a Pontiac man charged with involuntary manslaughter in a traffic death is scheduled for April 1 before Waterford Township District Judge Kenneth H. Hempstead.

Gordon E. Browne, 24, of 131 Waterly stood mute to the charge when he was arraigned yesterday before Judge Hempstead.

Browne has been identified by Oakland County Jail after failing to meet a bond of $5,000.

Brown has been identified by police as the driver of the car that struck and killed Joel E. Smith, 24, of 59 Lincoln Saturday.

Smith was crossing the Dixie Highway near Silver Circle, Waterford Township, when the accident occured at 1:25 a.m.

Bandit Sought in 2 Holdups

Supermarkets Robbed in Waterford Twp.

Waterford Township police are searching today for a lone bandit who may have held up two local supermarkets yesterday.

Police said they think the same man may have been involved in armed robberies of Nestor's Market, 5446 Cooley Lake, at 2:17 p.m. and a Kroger Food Store, 4370 Dixie, at 8:53 p.m.

★ ★ ★

In both instances, there were similarities in descriptions of the robber, the weapon used — an automatic pistol — and details of the robbery.

Police said the bandit who escaped from Nestor's with about $120 was described as a white male, 21 years of age and 5-feet-5 with dark brown hair, wearing a short brown jacket, dirty brown pants and sunglasses.

PULLED HIS GUN

The robber walked into the market, police said, asked a checkout girl for change, and then pulled his gun and told the girl to empty the contents of her register into a paper bag.

In the Kroger holdup, a robber described as a white male, 20-to-25 years of age, 5-feet-8 and weighing about 170 and wearing a brown three-quarter-length jacket, dark trousers and a hood, escaped with $110-to-$130, police said.

The robber entered through the store's front door, picked up a grocery bag, pulled his gun and told a checkout girl to empty the register's contents into the bag, according to police.

After complying, the girl rang for the store manager, and the bandit fled, police said.

GM Chief Hails Strides

'No New Engine Yet'

By JIM LONG

Despite reports of radical new engines, motorists apparently will have to be content — at least for a while — with their old four, six and eight cylinders.

ROCHE

James M. Roche, chairman of the board of General Motors Corp., said today in Birmingham that engineers "have found nothing that will supplant the internal combustion engine in the near future."

★ ★ ★

Roche was the featured speaker at a Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce executive breakfast at the Birmingham Community House.

Before the internal combustion engine is replaced there would have to be a major breakthrough in the development of a new type of power — and so far this hasn't happened, according to Roche.

ANTISMOG DEVICES

Great strides have been made, however, in the control of exhaust emissions through the development of antismog devices, he said.

★ ★ ★

"Progress has been good in this area," said Roche, "because only seven or eight years ago we didn't even know how to measure emissions." Engineers at the GM Tech Center in Warren solved the problem by developing a measuring device, he said.

Speaking on a wide range of topics affecting the auto industry and the consumer, Roche, head of GM since 1967, said he saw no end to inflationary pressures in the foreseeable future.

★ ★ ★

When questioned by newsmen about possible price increases in the 1970 models Roche said it was too early to comment, but indicated that it was unavoidable in view of the continuing inflationary trend.

'A FINE JOB'

He said that he believed, however, that the auto industry has done a "fine job" of containing the forces of inflation and, based on the cost index, cars cost no more than they did 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

The recall of several million GM cars and trucks, announced recently by the corporation, will probably not have any effect on sales, Roche said.

★ ★ ★

"Recalls are not new," said Roche. "The first was in 1916 involving Buicks, and they have been going on ever since. The thing that is new is the publicity that is given them."

★ ★ ★

The future of the auto industry, Roche said, is one of growth. He noted that 9.6 million cars were sold in 1968. "And we think this will continue."

CONCERNED WITH SAFETY

The auto industry, said Roche, was concerned with safety long before federal legislation was passed in 1966.

The safety factory, however, doesn't always lie with the auto, Roche noted.

★ ★ ★

"More enforcement of laws and legislation and better-designed highways are also needed," he said.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Div. 'X-4' Is Not Ready--Roche

James M. Roche, chairman of the board of General Motors Corp., today discounted reports that the Pontiac Motor Division is ready to produce its "X-4" three-passenger car.

"It is a purely experimental model and that is all," explained Roche.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press said yesterday that a story in the April issue of Popular Science Monthly magazine reported that authorization for production of car could be granted "at any time." The car reportedly has a four-cylinder engine arranged in a radial layout.

"We have up to 20 experimental models being developed," said Roche, "and this is just one of them."

★ ★ ★

Roche commented on the report following a Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce breakfast. He was the guest speaker.

Farmer Is Killed

EAST JORDAN (AP) — Versil R. Crawford, 48, was killed on his farm in East Jordan Monday when he became entangled in tractor machinery and fell into the manure spreader, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department reported.

Biafra War Wreaks Upsetting Mental Problems

NSU, Biafra (AP) — A madwoman dances in an open field, turning, turning in the dust, in one hand a stick, in the other a blue plastic cup. She is nude to the waist. A green cloth that serves as a skirt catches the dust as she turns.

* * *

She is too intent, almost too graceful to be sane. The Red Cross doctor, who watches her with a visitor, says the Nigerian civil war has made her mad.

* * *

Dr. Godwin Izeora, the Biafran psychiatrist at the military hospital in this town, believes that few of the population — put at 7 to 12 million — have developed serious mental problems because of the war. His estimate is about 3 per cent.

But the exceptions, if the doctor's figures are accurate, are upsetting. A shell - shocked boy, barely 17, squeaks like a mouse when he tries to sell bananas in front of a Red Cross building. He is wearing camouflage battle dress.

RUNS AWAY

A small child, now saved from starvation, runs away when someone approaches him at a feeding center. He runs from everyone, taking food only when it is left aside for him.

At his hospital Dr. Izeora, who trained in London and is one of Biafra's three psychiatrists, deals mainly with war cases.

* * *

The men who sit outside his office still wear their green uniforms. Most stare. Those who talk squawk or stutter. Many hold sticks because in their minds they are still at the front and need the reassurance of their rifles, the doctor says.

The patients complain of "heat in the head" or a sensation that they liken to a "circus," all confused, all unclear. Their sight is often impaired and their hearing poor or temporarily gone.

ACTS OUT WAR

"A man was in this office a while ago and completely acted out his own war for me," Dr. Izeora said. "No water, where's ammo? Where's Albert? Where's the commander?"

Other patients are haunted because they have killed and must "expiate themselves by constantly asking to wash or to be bathed," the psychiatrist said.

* * *

To bring them back to normal, Dr. Izeora relies on sedative drugs, which he has in limited supply, plus visits by the patients' families if possible, music and consultation.

About 80 per cent of the shell-shock patients effect a complete recovery, Dr. Izeora said, and return to their unit. About 15 per cent are returned to supply and rear guard duties. The remainder are too severely affected to be reincorporated in service.

DON'T RETURN

"We treat those we suspect are stragglers as psychopaths," he said. "The fakers rebel against it and don't return."

Of concern to all physicians in Biafra is the mental effect that malnutrition might have on Biafra's children.

Some researchers have shown that malnutrition has an effect on mental development, the doctors say, although the results are not conclusive. Doctors and relief workers here say that children who return to Biafra after treatment abroad seem alert and reasonably well-balanced.

* * *

Facilities for handling severely disturbed adults are inadequate, but family ties among Ibo tribesmen are strong, and the family, where it is still intact, tends to protect its own.

Many civilians, although not psychopathic, are extremely anxious.

NERVOUS LOOKS

There are nervous looks when doors slam and a car's backfire makes people jump. Two weeks ago, a Biafran who plunged from a moving car when he thought he heard a bomb blast was killed instantly. The blast he heard was a blowout on his own car.

The tension of war and bombing kills people who are advanced cardiac cases or severely anemic, said Dr. A. I. Nwabueze, a former student at St. George's Hospital in London.

"We need a great supply of sedative and psychiatric drugs," he said. "It is something not normally included in the medical supplies were are receiving."

Current Books

PORTNOY'S COMPLAINT By Philip Roth (Random House, $6.95): In his fourth and finest novel, Roth has achieved a comic tour de force.

Future books about Jewish mamas and their suffering sons will have to bear the burden of being compared with this one.

* * *

Roth has taken his very special subject and graced it with a depth of understanding which gives it universal appeal.

Portnoy's Complaint, is not only a great book. It is a funny one — gloriously and humanly funny.

RICHER THAN ALL HIS TRIBE by Nicholas Monsarrat (Morrow $6.95): You don't have to agree with the novelist's implicit critism of emergent African nations to enjoy his book.

It's obvious that the author sides with those who feel many of the new nations won independence before they were ready to cope with the complex governmental problems independence brings.

* * *

Monsarrat is a gifted storyteller whose complex plot only adds to the interest of the book. Nor is he one-sided in implied criticism of the characters of his novel.

Among them are expatriate white men whose condescending attitude toward nationals in African countries has become stereotyped in novels of colonialism and its aftermath.

THE STRANGLERS by George Bruce ($5.95, Harcourt, Brace & World): A history of the murderous Thug society of India, and the English officer who stamped it out.

Members of the society were called "thags" in Hindustani. The word meant deceiver. A new word was coined when the British began to pronounce it "thug."

* * *

Devoted to the worship of the Hindu goddess Kali, the Thugs killed thousands of persons a year. In 1812, some 40,000 persons died mysteriously while traveling in India.

These deaths, though recorded by police, were ignored by the government because the powerful East India Co. was more interested in trade and money. But a British army officer, William Sleeman, was finally assigned to the job of stamping out the society. It took him 12 years.

FASCINATING BOOK

From Sleeman's reports to Governor General Bentinck and from the confessions of Thugs themselves, Bruce has written a fascinating book on the cult of Thugee and its overthrow.

THALBERG: LIFE AND LEGEND. By Bob Thomas. (Doubleday. $7.95.)

This is a fine biography of one of the truly influential and creative pioneers of the motion picture industry, the man who put the original roar into the MGM lion. Irving Thalberg, the Brooklyn-born "boy wonder," carried Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer on his slender shoulders to a professional — and profitable — prominence probably unmatched in the history of Hollywood.

* * *

The account by Bob Thomas, AP Hollywood columnist who previously recorded the life of Harry Cohn of Columbia Pictures, in "King Cohn," takes Thalberg from his early, sickly school days in Brooklyn to his chance meeting with Carl Laemmle, head of Universal Pictures — and subsequent entry into the movie world he was to astound with his genius for developing stars and remaking movies to vast audience satisfaction.

It is perhaps not as bright a biography as "King Cohn" or some other Hollywood tycoon tales, but it is a fine, straightforward reportorial job filled with anecdotes about the man by his colleagues: a man who was neither flamboyant nor "scandalous," just brilliantly successful.

* * *

It all ended pitifully early; at age 37, in 1936.

Judge Rules Letter in Debris Is Last Will

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A letter written by a Fort Worth mother aboard a doomed plane minutes before it crashed was accepted by a judge Monday as her last will.

* * *

Probate Judge William T. McGee directed that the letter, which was found in the plane's wreckage, serve as a guide in disposing of the personal property of Mrs. Kathryn Brown.

* * *

Mrs. Brown died March 7 with her husband and 19-year old daughter, Kathy, when the small plane in which they were riding crashed during a storm on a small island in Lake Travis near Austin.

A Distinction for Spiro's Son

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew began his political career as president of his PTA.

His son, Randy, may someday say he began his by being elected the ugliest man at the University of Maryland.

* * *

Randy Agnew, 22, is one of 36 men entered in the annual ugly man on campus contest, operated as a charity fund raiser by the Maryland Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity.

Haircut Is Ordered in 'Pot' Conviction

OWOSSO (AP) — A 17-year-old rock 'n' roll bandsman was ordered to get his shoulder-length hair cut Monday as part of a two-year probation stemming from a marijuana conviction.

Kearney Fitzpatrick appeared upset by the condition, but thanked Circuit Judge Michael Carland for placing him on probation and said he would make plans to buy a wig for use during band appearances.

In addition to the probation, the youngster was ordered to pay $100 court costs.

Trade Moderately Active

Mart's Mixed Trend Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its mixed trend early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.00 at 918.08. The Dow had been off fractionally near the start.

★ ★ ★

Declines continued to outnumber advances but by a much narrower margin. Gains had held a slim lead early.

Brokers said investors, confronted by a variety of news reports, apparently had taken to the sidelines to wait for a trend to develop.

DAMPENED BY NEWS

They said a statement by the South Vietnam president that his government was prepared to hold private meetings with the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Vietcong, apparently was dampened by domestic economic news. This included reports that President Nixon would ask for a one-year extension of the income surtax as well as an increase in living costs in February. Also cited was a statement by a leading bank economist that the prime lending rate, now at a record of 7½ per cent, might not be high enough if inflation was to be brought under control.

Eleven of the 20 most-active stocks on the American Stock Exchange were higher, 7 were lower, and 2 were unchanged.

Associated Oil & Gas, most-active on 87,800 shares, was up ⅝ at 10. Second most-active Alloys Unlimited was off ⅞ at 40⅛.

Ling-Temco-Vought warrants were down 2⅛. Prairie Oil was up 3⅝.

Nixon Asks Curbs on 1-Bank Holding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has called on Congress for laws regulating one-bank holding companies in order to curb "the formation of a relatively small number of power centers dominating the American economy."

In urging passage of a bill introduced Monday to place the one-bank holding companies under federal control, Nixon said:

"Legislation in this area is important because there has been a disturbing trend in the past year toward erosion of the traditional separation of powers between the suppliers of money—the banks—and the users of money—commerce and industry."

★ ★ ★

"This must not be permitted to happen," he said, "it would be bad for banking, bad for business and bad for borrowers and consumers."

The bill introduced on behalf of the administration is designed to curtail expansion of operations by large banks into unrelated fields as well as to end the invasion of the banking industry by giant corporations.

'CRIPPLING DEFECTS'

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, author of a rival bill he says is tougher than the administration's, said hearings on the measures will begin next Tuesday.

Patman said the administration bill has "crippling defects," but added:

"The important thing is that we get a good solid bill that will fully regulate these holding companies on an equitable basis."

Under existing law two or more banks forming a company must register with the government and are barred from branching into other fields. But single banks, through a loophole, can branch out into other areas by setting up a holding company usually with the same persons as executives so long as the company includes only one bank.

Principal provisions of the administration's bill:

- One-bank holding companies would be brought under federal regulation by amending the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956.
- The Federal Reserve Board, Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, would make joint rulings on which types of businesses one-bank holding companies should be allowed to acquire. Closeness in function to traditional banking activities would be the basic test.
- After this three-agency group draws up an initial list of acceptable activities, one-bank holding companies will have to get rid of interests that are excluded.

However, no action will be taken against subsidiaries acquired before the June 30, 1968 cutoff date.

The rules will also apply to conglomerates that have acquired control of banks. Divestiture will be required in the case of all their nonbanking subsidiaries acquired since mid-1968.

'Sirhan Killed Like Computer'

A Robot in Trance, Psychiatrist Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "He was gradually programming himself exactly like a computer is programmed by its magnetic tape, programming himself for the coming assassination. . .

"He was confused, bewildered and partially intoxicated. The mirrors in the hotel lobby, the flashing lights, the general confusion—this was like pressing the button which starts the computer."

★ ★ ★

In this setting, a psychiatrist says, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy came under the gun of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan—a robot killer in a self-induced trance; an unknowing instrument of assassination.

"It is my opinion that through chance, circumstances, and a succession of unrelated events, Sirhan found himself in the physical situation in which the assassination occurred," Dr. Bernard L. Diamond said Monday at Sirhan's murder trial. The shooting was in a pantry of the Ambassador Hotel.

FRENETIC REENACTMENT

The portrayal of a computerized killer was a stunning summary of Diamond's eight examinations of Sirhan in his jail cell — including a frenetic reenactment by a hypnotized Sirhan of the moment he shot the senator from New York.

Diamond, 65, a professor of psychiatry, law and criminology at the University of California at Berkeley, was to return to the stand today.

"I agree that this is an absurd and preposterous story, unlikely and incredible," Diamond said, his face turned to the jury. "The crime itself was a tragically absurd and preposterous event, unlikely and incredible."

The tragedy was ordained, Diamond said, with Sirhan's exposure to violence and death in Jerusalem in 1948 when his family—Arabs—became refugees in the partition of Palestine and establishment of Israel as a Jewish homeland.

Manager at Pontiac Div. Is Retiring Next Month

G. R. (Bob) Scharf, who in his 43 years at Pontiac Motor Division advanced from unloading box cars to manager of manufacturing plants, is retiring April 1 under provisions of the General Motors retirement program.

★ ★ ★

As manger of manufacturing plants, a position he has had for the past four years, Scharf is responsible for final car assembly, the plating plant and two pressed metal plants.

★ ★ ★

Scharf joined Pontiac In March 1926 and was assigned to the material department as a car unloader. Ten years later he became a foreman in the sheet metal plant.

In 1942, after the outbreak of World War II, Scharf was named general foreman in Pontiac's Bofors gun plant. Later that year he transferred to the pressed metal plant as general foreman.

AT SHELL PLANT

He was named assistant superintendent of the shell plant in 1944 and the next year he was promoted to superintendent of that project. With the war's end, he became a superintendent in the pressed metal plant.

★ ★ ★

In 1951 Scharf was named plant superintendent of the Army rocket project and in 1953 he moved to the Bofors gun plant as superintendent.

★ ★ ★

He was prmmoted to assistant superintendent of the engine plant in 1954 and in 1955 he was named superintendent. His latest appointment became effective May 1, 1965.

★ ★ ★

Scharf and his wife reside at 6471 Wellesley Terrace, Independence Townwship. They have twin children, a daughter Maryln, and a son, Bob Jr., who is a general foreman in the car assembly plant.

★ ★ ★

The Scharfs, who also have six grandchildren, plan an extensive European trip following retirement.

Possibility of Life Exists

'Water in Mars Atmosphere'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists studying light reflected from Mars report "definite and conclusive" evidence of water in the red planet's atmosphere, indicating the possibility of life.

Mars is so dry, however, that only the driest deserts of earth or peaks like Mt. Everest compare.

Dr. Ronald Schorn of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said he is convinced after five years' observation there is enough water in Mars' atmosphere to fill a lake a mile wide, a mile deep and a mile long.

"If you took all the water we found, and laid it out on the planet, it would be only one-1,000th of an inch thick," he said Monday night. "It still may not be a great place to live, but there's a chance of life there."

TAKES PICTURES

Schorn and Steven Little of the University of Texas made their observations through the 86-inch telescope at McDonald Observatory at Fort Davis, Tex.

Schorn said the scientists photographed the spectrum of Mars' atmosphere with infrared film. The spectrograph photo showed the presence of water in the planet's cloud cover, he said.

★ ★ ★

"There's hardly a place on earth with that low a humidity reading," he said. "The only place I could think of is the top of Mt. Everest. There's more water on earth's deserts than on Mars."

So far, there is no way to measure whether some portions of Mars have more water than others, he said. But with a new 107-inch telescope now in use, the scientists expect to look at smaller regions of the planet.

PHOTOS TO HELP

"We'll be able to see if this is localized—whether some areas of Mars are more capable of sustaining life than others," the astronomer predicted.

★ ★ ★

Since 1948 scientists have had evidence that the planet's white polar caps, which change size with the seasons, consist of ice an inch or two thick. Atmospheric water vapor has been thought possible but never before detected spectroscopically.

Astronomers have speculated that most of the atmosphere is inert nitrogen.

Scientists hold Mars as the likeliest place in our solar system apart from earth to sustain life. The other planets present too hostile an environment.

Soo Mill Expansion to Create 71 Jobs

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Seventy-one new jobs will be created at Soo Hardwoods Inc. by loans which will be used to enlarge a wood veneer mill.

A local bank is putting up $395,000, while the Chippewa County Industrial Development Corp. is lending $155,000 to the company.

Eighty-eight per cent of the $395,000 loan will be guaranteed by the Small Business Administration.

Must Proceed on ABM--Rusk

'Delay Final Decisions Pending Soviet Talks'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the United States should proceed with research and development of an antiballistic missile but delay final deployment decisions pending talks with the Russians.

He said the United States should "find out from the Russians what is possible in terms of an agreement, before we make any large and far-reaching and long-term and absolute commitments about the future."

★ ★ ★

Rusk, speaking in a taped interview for NBC's "Today" show, said there were two real questions about an ABM system:

- Do we have "first-class, workable ABMs" and, if not, can we develop them?
- "Secondly, do we take decisions now which we would want to review if we got some agreement with the Russians?"

PREFERABLE COURSE

"We ought not to make decisions now that could not be subject to review depending on what happens in the talks we have with the Russians, so that we don't prejudge or predispose those conversations," he said.

"If we have some way to say, 'Now, look, let's be in touch with the Russians and find out what is possible here, before we make final decisions on how much deployment we'll undertake,' that would be, in seems to me, a preferable course of action."

★ ★ ★

Rusk emphatically disagreed with the argument that to proceed with ABM development now would interfere with talks with the Russians.

"Now, we're prepared to talk with the Russians while they are deploying ABMs," Rusk said. 'I have no doubt the Russians will talk to us even though we are taking some additional steps in the ABM field. So this argument I think is just silly, just plain nonsense."

Pair Lost in N.M. Canyon

Mother Tells of Baby's Death

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Police have disclosed how a young mother became lost with her infant son in rugged, snow-covered country and stayed with him for days, living on melted snow, until he died of exposure and hunger.

Mrs. Marie Jo Hendrickson Elam, 24, told her story to police while recovering in a hospital.

★ ★ ★

The wife of an Air Force sergeant stationed in Italy, she was found by a rescue party while walking out of a dead-end canyon on improvised crutches last Friday.

Police Lt. Silvester K. Nemec said last night that Mrs. Elam gave this account:

On March 16, lightly clad and wearing house slippers, she put the 7-month-old baby in her car and went into Guajo Canyon looking for cactus to decorate her apartment.

STUCK IN MUD

Her car stuck in the mud about three miles from the city and with the baby in her arms she decided to walk back to Los Alamos. But she took a wrong fork and went seven miles up a branch which came to a dead end.

Too exhausted to retrace her path, she melted snow for her and the baby to drink. They had no food. She wrapped her son in articles of her clothing, but on the fourth day—last Wednesday — he died. She stayed with the body two days.

★ ★ ★

"She then got herself a couple of sticks to use as crutches and managed to get back down the road," Nemec said.

She had almost made her way back to her car when the search party found her. She told them where the baby's body was and the party found it still securely wrapped in its own clothing and some of its mother's.

★ ★ ★

An autopsy showed the child died of exposure and dehydration.

DISCUSS LUMBER ISSUE — George Romney (left), secretary of housing and urban development, and Rep. Romney testified on the relation of housing production to lumber production and suggested a statute to keep more timber from being exported.

Officials Hope Nixon Talks Fruitful

Trudeau Pacified on ABM?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials hoped today that talks with President Nixon have resolved any doubts held by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau about the necessity of a U.S. missile defense system.

Trudeau arrived Monday to discuss the Nixon-proposed antiballistic missle — (ABM) — program reportedly undecided about whether to back the system. He leaves for Ottawa tonight after more discussions with American leaders.

★ ★ ★

No matter what Trudeau decides, he is certain to face intensive questioning on the matter by his parliamentary opposition.

Last week critics expressed fear that U.S. defensive missile installations near the border would cause radioactive fallout over Canadian territory if they ever had to be used.

REJECTS PROPOSALS

Trudeau rejected proposals that he seek to have projected missile sites in North Dakota and Montana moved further south. He said he was interested in finding out Nixon's rationale for deciding to install the system and in determining whether it would be provocative or would contribute to world peace.

Aides disclosed that the ABM issue was among topics covered when Nixon and Trudeau met privately Monday for 90 minutes and later joined in a 45-minute session with other officials in the White House Cabinet Room.

The issue also figured in a follow-up meeting Trudeau held with Secretary of State William P. Rogers at the State Department.

Not all of the prime minister's visit was taken up with the somber business of diplomacy. At a black tie dinner Monday night, Nixon entertained his first official foreign guest with talk about skin diving, one of Trudeau's favorite recreations.

INVITATION TO NIXON

In a toast, Trudeau invited the President to visit Canada and Nixon indicated he would like to take up the invitation.

Informants said that in their official talks the two leaders also went over such issues as continental defense, nuclear disarmament, East-West relations in general, Vietnam and trade matters.

Trudeau is believed to have sought Nixon's cooperation in trying to put a firmer floor under world wheat prices and thus improve Canada's prospects for selling more grain in international markets. He is also believed to have told the President of his known interest in selling more Canadian oil in the United States.

From the Press Box

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

In the already-crowded trophy case of her home in Fort Wayne, Ind., Sharon Wichman's most prized possession is the gold medal which hangs in the center of the collection of gold and silver awards.

At the age of 16, Sharon has had the taste of international athletic fame.

She had the greatest thrill of her young life in Mexico City, site of the 1968 World Olympics, when she made the final turn of the 200 yard breaststroke event and in the last half of the final lap she passed Yugoslavian Djurdjica Bjedov to win it for the U. S.

"I was breathless. I had as many butterflies after the event as before I started," she said.

In the 100 yard breaststroke, Sharon took the bronze medal behind the Yugoslavian and Russian swimmers.

"I always had the stamina for the longer distances and before the event my coach told me to stay close. Then he said 'on the final two laps is where your stamina will show. And you've got to have a heart, this——big.' "

Sharon showed her heart, stamina and her poise as an Olympic champion during the AAU regionals the past weekend at Oakland University pool.

She won four events which were all in record times for the Region VI Championships of the AAU. And she added another pile of awards to her showcase.

It was what she did in the 200 individual medley event that had the officials applauding the poise of this 16-year-old competitor.

ASKS DISQUALIFICATION

When she finished the 200 I.M. in a record time of 2:15.8, three seconds lower than the record she set in the meet in 1968, Sharon went to the judge and asked that she be disqualified.

"I didn't think I made a proper turn," said Sharon, "but the judge didn't see it. It was the judge's decision and he said it was final."

★ ★ ★

The officials huddled shortly to discuss Sharon's request for disqualification, but ruled in favor of the judge.

"It's not often you have a competitor like Sharon," said one of the officials, "the way athletes, especially so young, want to win at all costs. There are very few who would be willing to give up a victory by their own request."

Sharon, who was born in Royal Oak, lived in Toledo until she was 12 and then became interested in swimming in Fort Wayne, took part in her first National AAU championship at the age of 13 when she finished 31st and 33rd in the 100 and 200 breaststroke events.

At the age of 14 she moved up to 5th and 7th respectively and last year in the 1968 Nationals she won the 200 and finished second in the 100.

In the Olympic trials she was second in the 200-meter with a time of 2:44.0 and third in the 100.

"I was so excited at the thought of going to the Olympics, I just wanted to qualify," she said.

Her winning time in the 200 meter breaststroke in the high-altitude Olympics was 2:44.4, with runnerup Yugoslavian Miss Bjedov at 2:46.4.

"I didn't realize I was so far behind at the halfway point of the race," she said.

Noting that she was far behind at the halfway mark, that she never caught up until final last half lap and noting the times separating her and Miss Bjedov, it is obvious to see how fantastic her finish was.

Now that she has attained the biggest goal of her athletic life, the Olympic gold medal, she was asked if she has cut down on her practice schedule.

"I guess so," she said, "I swim an hour in the morning before school, and an hour after school."

"Every day?"

"Yes," she replied, "I'll probably pick it up a little more to get ready for the nationals."

Hear this, you kids who have Olympic ambitions!

MATHIS DOWN — Referee Johnny Colan backs Jerry Quarry (right) of Bellflower, Calif., away after the coast boxer dropped Buster Mathis of Grand Rapids to the canvas in the second round of their 12-round bout last night in New York. Mathis was up at the count of two but took the mandatory eight-count. Quarry posted a unanimous decision.

Quarry Batters Buster in 'Shillelagh' Style

NEW YORK (AP) — His trunks were shocking pink, not Kelly green, but Jerry Quarry's face is a map of Ireland and he fought big Buster Mathis as if he were using a shillelagh and not a pair of boxing gloves.

There also was a definite shamrock twinge to the crowd emotion as the throng of 15,076 roared approval at Quarry's slam-bang, almost defiant style and derided Mathis' inept performance in the 12-round heavyweight fight Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

The 23-year-old Bellflower, Calif., bomber, a 12-5 underdog who was spotting the 6-foot-3, 234½ pound Mathis two inches in height and 38½ pounds, dominated the fight from the opening bell.

Quarry battered the head and body of the Grand Rapids, Mich., giant with heavy rights, dropping Mathis to his right knee with a long right in the second round. Mathis got up at two and took the mandatory eight count.

Quarry showed complete disdain for Mathis' punching and even taunted him in the 11th round by dropping his hands to his sides and sticking out his jut jaw.

Judges Tony Castelano and Jack Gordon each awarded Mathis only the sixth round and called the seventh even. Referee Johnny Colan gave Mathis the fourth and sixth and called the fifth even. The Associated Press gave every round to Quarry.

★ ★ ★

The lopsided triumph probably earned Quarry a shot at Joe Frazier, the five-state heavyweight champion.

Asked about when he would like to meet Frazier, Quarry said, "I haven't seen my wife and kids in six weeks. Give me a break first."

READY FOR ELLIS

Then someone at a post-fight news conference asked him if would fight Jimmy Ellis if the World Boxing Association champion offered him a match tomorrow.

"Yes," said Quarry who lost to Ellis in the final of the WBA elimination tournament to find a successor for the deposed Cassius Clay.

★ ★ ★

Harry Markson, the boss of Garden boxing, said, "We hope to make it (a Frazier-Quarry fight) in early summer. "It is the best possible fight in many years and it has the best money potential in many years.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday night's crowd, many of them New York Irish, which braved a heavy rain paid a gross of $167,293. Each fighter was guaranteed $50,000 against 25 per cent of the net receipts and television money.

PRIOR ENGAGEMENT

Frazier, who was at the postfight news conference, also was queried about meeting Quarry. The Philadelphian said, "I have a fight in Houston and I like to get rid of that first."

Frazier is scheduled to meet Dave Zyglewicz of Houston April 22.

Quarry now has won 32 and lost six, with four draws. Mathis, who was stopped by Frazier in 11 rounds, is 29-2.

NBA Playoffs Start Celt's 'New Season'

By the Associated Press

Just because Sam Jones is retiring from professional basketball, that doesn't mean he can't play another season. Another season?

"I'm looking forward to the National Basketball Association playoffs as a new season," the Boston star said Monday night after the Celtics defeated San Diego 111-107.

★ ★ ★

The game was the opener of a doubleheader at the Spectrum in Philadelphia.

Cincinnati defeated the 76ers 125-119 in the nightcap to put the lid on the NBA's regular schedule and set the stage for the divisional playoffs, which open Wednesday.

In the lone ABA game, Houston defeated Denver 124-115.

Jones, commenting on Boston's fourth-place finish, said:

"We had what I call a dismal season and I would like to finish on top."

Jones, retiring after 12 years to take a college coaching job, never finished lower than second until this year.

But he added he felt confident Boston would come back strong in the opening playoff game against Philadelphia here on Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Jack Ramsay, the 76ers' coach, said Philadelphia would be high for the Eastern Division opener.

"This is not the way we wanted to finish, losing to Cincinnati, Ramsay said. "We'll have to be ready for the Celtics, and we will be ready for the Celtics . . . you can be sure of that."

Ramsay said he felt the 76ers "always came up with the big game when they had to."

"I'm confident we can do it again, but we'll have to be at our best for Boston," he added.

While second-place Philadelphia opens against the Celtics Wednesday, Eastern Division winner Baltimore plays third place New York Thursday.

WEST PLAYOFF

In the West, division champion Los Angeles opens against third-place San Francisco Wednesday and San Diego, which finished fourth, plays second-place Atlanta Thursday.

Don Nelson put in the clutch points as the Celtics won the opener of Monday night's twin bill.

Nelson made a three-point play with 1:03 remaining to start a six-point Boston burst that wiped out San Diego's 103-102 lead. John Havlicek scored 31 points to lead the winners.

John Block was high for the Rockets with 19.

★ ★ ★

In the second game, Connie Dierking scored 21 points and Oscar Robertson and Tom Van Arsdale tossed in 20 apiece to lead the Royals' victory.

Chet Walker led the 76ers with 28. 103-102 lead. John Havlicek scored 31

Rookie Unseld Garners Award

BALTIMORE (AP) — Those who have followed the Baltimore Bullets throughout their championship season just ended have come to regard Westley Unseld as a gentleman, and a very self-effacting one at that.

Thus, when Unseld was named Monday the National Basketball Association's Most Valuable Player for 1968-69, it was not surprising that Unseld would say that someone else should have received the award.

"It's very nice," Unseld said, "but I don't know whether I deserve it or not, and I really mean that.

"I think Earl Monroe should have won it. I can see the turnaround the Bullets made wasn't all me. It started last season when Earl was a rookie."

BIG TURN-ABOUT

With Unseld, Baltimore won the NBA's Eastern Division crown with a 57-25 record. Last year, the team finished last with a mark of 36-46, although it played well the last half.

★ ★ ★

Monroe scored 1,991 points and was named the NBA's Rookie of the Year.

Unseld is the first member of the Bullets ever chosen for the MVP. He is also the first rookie to take the award since Wilt Chamberlain won it in 1960.

Unseld was the clear choice. His fellow NBA players gave him 310 points against 137 for runner-up Willis Reed of the New York Knicks.

The 6-foot-7 Unseld is generally credited with having triggered Baltimore's fast break through a remarkably quick release of the ball after rebounds.

The 245-pound Unseld averaged 14 points scored and 18 rebounds per game this season. He was Baltimore's No. 1 draft choice from Louisville, where he was twice an All-American, scoring 500 points in each of three varsity seasons.

MEASURES UP — Baltimore Bullets' rookie sensation Westley Unseld is variously listed as 6-7, 6-7½ and 6-8, but he measures up in the eyes of other National Basketball Association players who voted him the league's Most Valuable player yesterday. When Bullets' coach Gene Shue read the masuring device, he pronounced Unseld to be 6-7½.

Tigers' Freehan OK for Opener

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Catcher Bill Freehan took off the protective mask from his broken nose Monday and said he'd be able to play the opening game for the Detroit Tigers in two weeks.

"The doctors said I could start light workouts immediately and probably get into a game next week," he said.

★ ★ ★

"If I'm able to play the last two exhibition games I think I'll have no trouble making the opener."

Freehan shattered the nose last Wednesday when he was hit by a pitch from Jim Northrup in a batting practice accident. Freehan was looking the other way when he was smashed.

★ ★ ★

He said he experienced no trouble breathing and that the doctors only had cautioned him to avoid jarring the nose when taking his catchers mask off and on.

The Tigers' game with the White Sox was called off in the first inning when a rainstorm made the infield unplayable.

Fame Game Sold Out

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — Doubleday Field, the site of the Hall of Fame game to be played this year by the Minnesota Twins and Houston Astros, has been sold out. The 9,791 seats have already been reserved and no more ticket orders will be accepted.

Ali Making Sounds Like Cassius Clay

DENTON, Tex. — Former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali sounded like Cassius Clay Friday night, knocking out Joe Frazier in poem.

Ali, formerly Clay, might get a chance to enact the poem if his conviction for refusal to be drafted is reversed.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court ruled Monday that Ali's case should go back to a lower federal court to check for possible illegal eavesdropping.

Ali was quick to grasp the implications.

"I'll meet with my lawyer in Chicago in about three days to plan our move," he said Monday night.

★ ★ ★

He spoke at a Black Arts Festival at North Texas State University.

"If the conviction is overturned and Frazier offers, I'll fight," Ali said. "I'm about 230 pounds now — 20 pounds over my fighting weight. But I'd be ready by September."

Cage Tourney Set

Auburn Heights Boys Club will host a seven-team sectional basketball tournament that kicks off the action to determine the Boys Clubs of America champion.

Teams from Pontiac, Bay City, Highland Park, Detroit, Royal Oak, Lansing and Ypsilanti will participate in the tourney which opens Friday.

Takes Gridiron Post

EMORY, Va. (AP) — William B. Mayo Jr., football line coach and head track coach at Southwestern of Memphis, Monday was named head football coach at Emory and Henry College. He succeeds Casto Ramsey, who resigned earlier this year.

Ramsey will become backfield coach at Virginia Tech.

Esposito Tightens Scoring Grip

Hull's 5-Year Point Reign Nears End

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Phil Esposito and St. Louis' Jacques Plante-Glenn Hall tandem have locks on the National Hockey League scoring and goaltending titles, but second place in each race is up for grabs going into the last week of the regular season.

With a record 123 points, 22 more than runner-up Bobby Hull of Chicago, Esposito appears certain to become the first Bruins scoring champ since Herbie Cain 25 years ago.

The Boston center stands to pocket a total of $1,750 in league bonuses for ending the five-year scoring reign of Hull and his Black Hawks teammate, Stan Mikita.

St. Louis has allowed 32 fewer goals than New York, its closest challenger, all but assuring veterans Plante and Hall the Vezina Trophy and $2,000 in accompanying bonuses.

PRESSURE FROM HOWE

But Hull, whose 55 goals have eclipsed his own previous record, has only a three-point edge over Detroit wonder Gordie Howe, third in the scoring parade, in the battle for the $500 runner-up prize. Hull already has won $500 for leading the pack at mid-season.

The scoring leaders:

Chargers May Lose 2 Stars

Quarterback Hadl Without Contract

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Lance Alworth, the favorite target of John Hadl's passes the past seven years, may cut his pro football career short if Hadl leaves the San Diego Chargers next week.

* * *

"I think John's leaving definitely would have some effect on my decision," Alworth said Monday. "I'm definitely going to play this year, but after that it depends on what happens."

* * *

"I feel like maybe I have four good years left. I want to play as long as I can. But I want to make my last years good ones, and the quarterback is going to have a bearing on whether I play or not."

* * *

Despite statements made by Gene Klein, president of the team, the Chargers have to hope Hadl will again be the quarterback this season.

OPTION RUNS OUT

But a week from today, Hadl becomes a free agent. He played out his option with the AFL team last season and on April 1 becomes eligible to make a deal for himself. Of course, he still can sign with the Chargers, but Alworth doesn't think he will.

* * *

The quarterback and the president reached an impasse over Hadl's desire for a $250,000 loan to go with a three-year contract worth about $60,000 a year.

* * *

Now, Hadl is just waiting for next Tuesday.

Stubborn Pin Not Impressed by George Argyros' Threat

GM Worker Rolls 299

Perfect Game Eludes Kegler

Some people are born to be bowlers; others have to work at it; and there are also the George Argyroses of the sport.

George, a General Motors Truck and Coach worker, in his own words has been bowling "about 40 years." He also admits to using a ball that is at least 25 years old.

In a recent Eagles Lodge No. 1230 League outing at Montcalm Centre, George for the first time in his life threw strikes with his first 11 deliveries.

* * *

The automatic pinsetter then got into the act. In placing the pins for the 12th ball, it failed to leave the head-pin.

The machine was triggered again, adding the head-pin but jumbling the others. This malfunctioning went on for nearly five minutes.

"They told me to sit down but I was afraid if I sat too long I'd lose my rhythm," the 176-average Sports Center Trophies team member disclosed. "So I walked around a little bit.

* * *

"I made up my mind on the 12th ball I was going to hit the head-pin someplace."

Finally, the pins were back in order and Argyros had his too-long-awaited opportunity.

'ACCIDENT'

"Actually, I was more relaxed on the last ball than on the 10th and 11th; and I accidentally threw it in the pocket!"

* * *

The left-hander kegler was victimized by a stubborn seven-pin. Vengefully, he marched down the lane, crawled under the pinsetter, and grabbed the balky pin.

* * *

Alcindor Is Expected to Compete in AAU

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Officials say Lew Alcindor, the giant who led UCLA to its unprecedented third straight NCAA championship last Saturday, most likely will participate in the AAU Basketball Tournament which begins today at the Macon Coliseum.

"Lew has an airplane ticket to Atlanta in his pocket right now," said Dave Pane, sponsor of the Kitchen Fresh Clippers of Los Angeles, the team Alcindor is scheduled to play with.

"We have people ready to pick him up there," Pane continued, "and to take him on down to Macon for the tournament."

"If he (Alcindor) comes," said Dr. Andrew Lawrence, the tournament director, "I feel like the coliseum will be filled up. Lew's a great box office attraction, as everybody knows."

FORMER MATES

Alcindor would join former UCLA teammates Lucius Allen and Mike Warren, current Clipper flashes. With the 7-foot-1½ three-time All-American, the Clippers would most likely be the tournament favorites.

Presently, the favorite is the Armed Forces All-Stars, the defending AAC champions.

The All-Stars, one of four seeded teams in the 16-team tournament, meet the Clippers in one of two games scheduled tonight.

The opener pits the Samoa Headhunters of Cocoa Beach, Fla., against Carder Buick of Searcy, Ark.

Michigan Boxer Posts Two Wins

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lorenzo Trujillo, the only defending champion returning, scored two victories as the 42nd National Golden Gloves tournament opened Monday night.

Trujillo, 20-year-old battler from Edinburg, Tex., now fighting for Grand Rapids, Mich., scored a quick knockout over Harry Montgomery of Indianapolis in the first round, then took a unanimous decision over tougher Joe Bennett of Springfield, Ill., in the second round.

However, Trujillo's points didn't help Grand Rapids get off to any startling beginning in the national meet. In fact, his points were the only two the Michigan team scored.

Elizabeth, N.J., grabbed the early team lead with seven points as the five lower weights fought through two rounds Monday night..

Why not add a little topping to the annual high school tournament roundup?

In some corners, it seems competition in the various sports—notably swimming, basketball and wrestling—ends a week early.

State champions are determined in each class—schools are classified according to enrollment—and there it ends. Why not extend the competition another week to permit winners in the various classes to clash among themselves to determine one champ.

Toss the championship basketball teams of Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, River Rouge, Saginaw St. Stephen and Marquette Bishop Barraga into a tourney . . . it'd be interesting.

PAIR MATMEN

Or take the 12 wrestling champions in each class — A, B and C-D — and match them. That would satisfy the competitive instincts of the wrestlers and at the same time provide a treat for mat fans.

★ ★ ★

And while there is more than just passing interest in such scheduling, there has been no effort on the part of any group to effect such a change says Vern L. Norris, associate director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

"To our knowledge everyone seems satisfied," says Norris of the present system.

SELECTION COMMITTEE

Wrestling coach Bill Willson of Pontiac Northern is a member of a five-man AAU committee that will select the U.S. coaches for the junior world wrestling team championships set for this summer in Colorado. They'll select two — one for Greco-Roman and the other for freestyle.

★ ★ ★

Willson will be leaving for Jamaica April 5 to visit his brother, Jim, who is a missionary there teaching in the Baptist Mid-Mission. Jim spent 24 years in Brazil.

Another note on wrestling. Detroit Catholic Central, Lansing Sexton and Walled Lake finished 1-2-3 in the recent Class A state tournament and coaches of the teams had one thing in common. Mike Rodriguez of Catholic Central, Frank Deitrick of Sexton and Rick Schneider of Walled Lake all wrestled for Cliff Keen at University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Senior Dick Wood of Bloomfield Hills is one of three Northern Michigan University skiers who'll enter the NCAA Four-Event Ski championships in Steamboat Springs, Colo., which start Thursday.

WOOD

Joining Wood are freshmen Paul Lundy of Irion Mountain and Bob Simpson of Boyne City. The trio qualified for NCAA post-season competition in the Central Intercollegiate Ski Association championships at Mont Ripley in mid-February.

Lundy and Wood placed 1-2 in combined in the CISA meet and qualified for both the slalom and downhill.

THIRD IN SCORING

Glen Lenhoff of Auburn Hills wound up third in the 1968-69 Michigan Community Junior College Athletic Conference basketball scoring race.

★ ★ ★

Lenhoff managed a 29.3 mark in 22 games, but it was well off the mark of 36.4 compiled by Flint's Lee Palmer, former star at Ferndale. Freshman Frank Russell of Highland Lakes was tied for 10th with a 22.3 mark. Second in the race was St. Clair's James Harris (30.9).

LETTER WINNERS

Three area matmen were among letter winners at Wayne State University this season. They are junior Ron Smith of Waterford, Joel Martin of Royal Oak Kimball and Paul Garber of Southfield.

Among those receiving honors at Michigan State this season were Robert Johnson of North Farmington (wrestling) and Charles Geggie of Birmingham Seaholm (swimming).

Gaining MSU freshman numerals were Herbert Price of Farmington and James Rossio of Royal Oak Kimball (hockey); along with swimmers Jeffrey Friedle of Kimball and John Mason of Pontiac Central.

George Perry, football coach at Waterford Mott, was a member of the junior varsity basketball team back in 1940 when Traverse City won the state Class B championship. A member of the varsity that season was Governor William Milliken.

Dolphins Gain Vet Linebacker

Patriots' Buoniconti Key in Gridiron Deal

BOSTON (AP) — Nick Buoniconti says it's "pretty tough" severing his seven-year ties with the Boston Patriots via the trade route but "I know I can help Miami, and I'm looking forward to playing for the Dolphins."

The five-time All-American Football League middle linebacker was the big name involved Monday as the Patriots swung a pair of multiple-player deals.

★ ★ ★

Buoniconti went to Miami in exchange for quarterback Kim Hammond, linebacker John Bramlett and an undisclosed draft choice.

★ ★ ★

In the other trade, the Pats sent cornerback Leroy Mitchell and an undisclosed draft pick to the Houston Oilers for flanker Charley Frazier, running back Sid Blanks, linebacker Ron Caveness and cornerback Larry Carwell.

★ ★ ★

Buoniconti, 28, joined the Patriots in 1962 after a spectacular career at Notre Dame. He was named All-AFL from 1963-67, but suffered a knee injury which required surgery midway in the 1968 season.

★ ★ ★

"As far as I can tell, the knee is 100 per cent okay now," the 5-foot-11, 220-pounder told The Associated Press Monday night.

Senators' Star Shines

By the Associated Press

Joe Coleman might have forgotten Ted Williams' theories on the whys and wherefores of a curve ball, but he's doing a bang-up job demonstrating its effects.

Coleman, brightest young star of Williams' Washington pitching staff, allowed two hits in six innings Monday as the Senators breezed to a 5-1 exhibition victory over the Atlanta Braves.

★ ★ ★

The 22-year-old right-hander spent his early days at the Senators' Pompano Beach, Fla., training base trying to avoid the skipper.

★ ★ ★

As a teen-ager, Coleman attended Williams' baseball camp for boys in Massachusetts. Williams taught the youngster how to throw the curve ball, and why it curved.

AVOIDED MANAGER

Coleman remembered the how, but not the why, and when Williams arrived in Pompano and greeted each Senator with a barrage of questions, his former protege carefuly skirted a confrontation.

★ ★ ★

But he challenged the Braves Monday, and blanked them except for a fourth inning homer by Hank Aaron before giving way to Dick Bosman, who completed a four-hitter. Mike Epstein and Tim Cullen led the Washington attack with two RBI apiece.

★ ★ ★

Rico Petrocelli hit a grand slam homer and delivered another run with a sacrifice fly, leading the Boston Red Sox past Pittsburgh 10-4. Ken Harrelson and George Scott also homered for Boston; Al Oliver and Willie Stargell for the Pirates.

★ ★ ★

Nate Oliver drove in three runs with two doubles and a single and Bobby Murcer cracked four singles, sending the New York Yankees to a 7-3 victory over the New York Mets in a night game. Fritz Peterson pitched five perfect innings for the Yanks before yielding one run and three hits in the sixth.

★ ★ ★

The Yankees' B team bowed to the Montreal Expos 6-1.

BIG INNING

Two walks, third baseman Mike Ferraro's error and Tony Horton's two-run single helped Cleveland rally for five seventh inning runs and a 5-3 victory over Seattle.

★ ★ ★

San Francisco cuffed San Diego for three first-inning runs and coasted to a 5-3 victory over the Padres, with rookie Rich Robertson pitching six strong innings. Chicago's Ferguson Jenkins also worked six innings as the Cubs whipped Oakland 5-2 on homers by Ernie Banks and Ron Santo.

★ ★ ★

Houston and Philadelphia played to a 2-2 deadlock washed out by rain after nine innings. Doug Rader's fourth-inning homer tied it for the Astros.

'M' Drops Pair to Arizona Nine

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State University scored a double baseball win over Michigan Monday, swamping the Wolverines 19-3 in the first game then squeezing by 5-3 in the nightcap.

★ ★ ★

Bill Massarend's bases-loaded triple in the sixth inning broke a one-one tie in the second game and put the Devils on the road to victory.

★ ★ ★

Bill Massarend led the Sun Devil assault in the first game going 2-3 and picking up six RBI's. Massarend also had the game's only home run in the sixth.

First Game

Michigan	101	000	010	3	4	1
Ariz. State	305	345	31x	19	11	1

Fife, Ritter (5) and Tilone, Lunsted (8), Hansen, Haynes (8) and Welton, WP —Hansen (3-1), LP—Fife (0-1), HR—Massarend (6).

Second Game

Michigan	010	000	002	3	5	0
Ariz. State	001	004	00x	5	7	1

Christman and Lundstedt, Gura and Powell. WP—Gura (6-0). LP—Christman (0-1).

BOWLING

There's no letup in the fine scoring pace established by the local bowlers during this second half of the season, although the emphasis does shift from house to house and league to league sometimes.

The most noteworthy of the recent series reported was young Donald Likens' sizzling performance at West Side Lanes last week when he spilled the pins at a 251 clip for three games, posting a 278 high and a 235 low while setting a new West Side 6:30 p.m. classic record of 754.

It also ranks among the top half dozen actuals rolled in league play in the North Oakland County area this season. He had 13 straight strikes in one stretch. Likens carries a 184 average.

MASTERS MEN

That same night in the Wonderland Lanes Masters Ron Cotner and Meryl Taulbee both had big nights. Cotner set the overall pace with 269-218-237—724 while Taulbee's bright moment came when he finished off a 275 game.

★ ★ ★

Perry Allagreen Jr., posted a 706 series, and Frank Hochstein Jr., registered 258—699 totals.

Collier Lanes' house men that same Monday were led by Gail Bracken who hit 257-247—693 for Indianwood Automotive. Morris Young had a 246-203—638, while 235's were posted by Lee Brown and Alfred Phillips. Gary Meyers added a 233.

One of the real veterans of Pontiac bowling and American Bowling Congress Tournament action, Mitch Calbi, let the younger fellows in the Huron Bowl Classic see there is still some punch left in his southpaw delivery recently by rolling a 230 game.

★ ★ ★

Art Pearson's 225-231—680 led the pinspilling that night, although Joe Myers and Nick Coates were strong with 212-257—671 and 258-234—659, respectively. Bill Sweeney recorded a 245 game.

A 220-244—673 by Fat Keith, a 652 by Don Clark, and 648's by Bill Landry and Wally Szeremet featured last Tuesday's Airway Lanes Classic.

The 300 Bowl Classic recently listed Joe Foster high with his 222-242—642. Taking the high game honors that same night was "Mo" Moore with a 247. Close behind were Bill Willson's 245 (631) and Ron Smith's 244.

Among the distaffers, Barbara Baldwin sparkled at Sylvan Lanes with a 245 game.

Returning to 300 Bowl, it was the scene of a rousing duel among the Friday night Ladies' All Stars when the Orchard Lanes team met Herk's Auto Supply. Though Orchard scored with a solid 974 game, it only managed a split with Herk's who had 907—2652 highs. Orchard finished with 2644.

★ ★ ★

Top Mentors at Grid Clinic

Allen, Rodgers Slated for Redford Sessions

Some of the nation's top football coaching talent will be on hand when the Motor City Football Clinic opens at Redford St. Mary High School Friday.

Headlining the event is George Allen, head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, who is slated to address the coaches gathering at 8:30 Friday evening.

Others on the two-day program are Glenn 'Bo' Schembechler, new head coach at University of Michigan; Pepper Rodgers of University of Kansas; Chuck Fairbanks of University of Oklahoma; Roy Kramer of Central Michigan; grid assistant George Perles of Michigan State University; and Al Baumgart coach at Center Line St. Clement.

The Detroit Catholic Coaches Association is sponsoring the event along with the Greater Detroit Ford Dealers.

The program opens at 6:15 Friday with Perles discussing secondary defense. Fairbanks and Allen follow Perles.

Baumgart, Rodgers, Schembechler and Kramer will address the group Saturday morning.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Tillie Colomb who passed away March 25, 1965.
Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by Mel, Dot and boys.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Mrs. Evelyn Elmy who passed away March 25, 1968.
You left this World of sorrow
And are free from pain and harm,
And now we pass in grief and comfort
In the Blessed Savior's arms.
Sadly missed by daughter and family.

Comic Carter, Singer Martin Mix Fun and Feeling at Plaza

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Tony Martin's so elegant" — Comedian Jack Carter exclaimed at the Plaza Persian Room introducing the new boy singer there — "he's the only man I know who wears a cummerbund in the shower . . .

"And when you see Tony and his wife Cyd Charisse on the stage together . . . what a thrill . . . what a voluptuous figure . . . what curves . . . what pantyhose . . . how sexy . . . and Cyd's legs aren't bad, either."

WILSON

Tony, wearing a very long eight-button Edwardian formal jacket with 5-inch lapels, did one of the best shows of his life in the new atmosphere. Kidding himself, he said that the first song is always ruined by the buzz-buzz around the room.

"He's fatter . . . no, he's thinner . . . no, he's got lifts . . . He's Jewish . . . no, he's Chinese . . . It's his hair . . . Who's hair? . . . I thought you said his real name was Al Morris . . ."

And there's always the little old lady who says "Now don't forget, Mr. Bennet to sing 'I left My Heart in San Francisco.'"

But the ending was a delightful tribute to . . . as he said . . . "The one who suffers with you . . . the one who reads the bad reviews with you . . . this is a great dame . . . this is a wonderful lady . . . Cyd Charisse!"

Sentiment still lives in the Persian Room and everybody loved it including this yokel columnist who just about had tears in his eyes.

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Tony award nominee Jerry Ohrbach ("Promises, Promises") told photographer Irv Steinberg he didn't want the award: "I already have my Tony"—and pointed to his young son Tony . . . Andy Warhol's film star Ultra Violet jokingly autographed her ultra intimate photos in an underground paper for ultra intimate friends. (Another Warhol actress, Viva, married French film maker Michele Audero.)

Florence Henderson's co-star in the "Song of Norway" film will be Norwegian singing star Thorlauf Maustad . . . Bob Dylan's first TV appearance in four years'll be on the Johnny Cash show in June . . . The newlywed Paul McCartneys went shopping along Lexington Av.; they may visit the bride's Easthampton home.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: You can find almost anything in a department store nowadays, except your kids when you're ready to leave.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A woman sighed, "If I could tell the difference between good advice and bad advice—I wouldn't need advice."

EARL'S PEARLS: Sam Levenson figured out how to solve the student protest problem: Make it a required course.

Rodney Dangerfield says that on the very day he got married he suspected he was in trouble—his in-laws sent him a thank-you note. . . . That's earl, brother.

Foxes Foretell Future in Mali

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — Foxes predict the future in Mali's Dogon country.

The Dogon, who comprise some 250,000 of Mali's 4.7 million people, live along a 90-mile stretch of escarpment called the Cliffs of Bandiagara in the sunbaked heart of the African republic.

* * *

Tribal soothsayers fathom the future by studying the tracks left by foxes aimlessly wandering across sand drawings. The predictions sometimes are strangely accurate, reports Pamela Johnson Meyer in the March National Geographic.

When Mrs. Meyer first visited the Dogons, an old fortune-teller studied the ground intently and told the writer-photographer that she would return to the remote village before the year was out — a highly unlikely prospect.

HEADING BACK

"But the fox was right," says Mrs. Meyer. "Less than two months later, I was heading back to Dogon country on a National Geographic assignment."

Dogon villages seem to defy gravity. Mud houses and strawroofed granaries cling to cave-pocked sandstone cliffs that tower 600 feet.

* * *

Buildings near the summit nestle in wind-eroded caverns; below, crooked lanes and curving walls conform to a haphazard terrain of fallen boulders.

Driven to the inhospitable but defensible heights centuries ago by fierce warrior tribes, Dogons have nurtured a complex social order based on elaborate religious precepts and beliefs.

Maine Family Has Right to Feel Rejected

PITTSFIELD, Maine (AP) — The six-member Pease family right now is living in what might be called "Nowheresville."

Their home is on a 16-acre tract which was once part of the town of Hartland, but was transferred to Pittsfield by legislative decision 116 years ago.

* * *

Pittsfield's town meeting this month voted to return the tract to Hartland.

Hartland doesn't want it back.

* * *

The town of Pittsfield became disenchanted with the annex when the Pease family moved in and the town had to send a school bus eight miles out to pick up the one school-age Pease child. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pease have three other children nearing school age.

NEW YORK — "Then Came Bronson," NBC's two-hour "World Premiere" broadcast Monday night, presents one of this season's great mysteries.

* * *

Not the program, which seemed pretty formless and defied categorization. But the network's decision to turn it into a weekly series for next season. The program, shot as a pilot, suffered acutely from the problem found in so many of the "World Premiere" shows—too little plot and too much time to fill.

The idea for the series is that Bronson is a young San Francisco newspaper reporter who, shaken by the suicide of a friend, quits his job to roam the country and "find himself."

* * *

With the motorcycle inherited from his dead buddy he starts out. That's the beginning of the pilot and the future format—a different place and a new adventure every week. After all, that worked for "Route 66" for several seasons.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL

First thing Bronson encountered was a beautiful girl in a bridal costume on the Pacific shores tossing gown, veil, corsage into the waves.

* * *

Well, of course the two distressed people joined forces—on a motorcycle built for one. After that the most exciting element in the rambling, leisurely sequences that followed was the scenery. The show was filmed on location in some stunning country.

* * *

Oh, the boy and girl quarreled a bit. He won a motorcycle hill-climbing contest. Somebody stole that machine and rode it into a river. He skidded on an oil slick and landed in a hospital. There were no heavies, no fights, but by the end of two hours the girl somehow found herself and went home—presumably to the bridegroom she had left waiting at the altar. And our hero rode grimly off to next season's adventures.

* * *

Michael Parks in the title role is an attractive young actor but was called upon to do little more than look thoughtful, speak—often inaudibly—and start the motorcycle.

INDICATIVE OF PACE

The pace of the pilot is indicated by the fact that the runaway bride was encountered within the first five minutes of the show and neither the hero nor the audience knew even her name until almost two hours later.

The dialogue was as predictable as it was laconic.

* * *

The girl gazed soulfully at the boy and suddenly murmured "Thank you."

"What for?" Bronson asked.

"Just for being you," she said.

At another sparkling moment she asked, "What about us?"

* * *

"There is no us," he replied. "There is you and there is me."

Well, maybe by next September they will have found something lively for Parks to do.

Foot Race Fan Wins Election Draw After All

COLBERT, Okla. (AP) — Ollie Weger didn't get his foot race, but he turned out to be a winner after all.

* * *

Last week the 67-year-old Weger tied with incumbent W. W. Brockett, 68, in the election for a seat on the Colbert City Council. Each received 118 votes.

Weger proposed a foot race to decide the winner, but the Bryan County Election Board pointed out that the law says such situations must be settled with a lottery.

* * *

The election board met Monday, and pulled Ollie Weger's name out of a hat.

Rescue System for Pilots Eyed

ARDEN, N.C. (AP) — Stencel Aero Corp. announced Monday development of a rescue system it says could carry a pilot in Vietnam to safety after his plane had been shot down.

* * *

Robert J. Manzuk, Stencel project engineer, said it's an ejection seat, equipped with jet engines, that can carry a pilot up to 50 miles at speeds of 85 miles per hour.

When the pilot bails out, engines in the ejection seat ignite and a parawing pops out of the back seat. The device can fly up to an altitude of 10,000 feet, Manzuk said. When the pilot reaches a safe area, he can jettison the seat and parachute down.

* * *

"Stencel has demonstrated the feasibility," Mazuk said, "and is now bidding to test it under field conditions."

The paper used for printing U. S. currency is a special stock that is 50 per cent linen and 50 per cent cotton.

Vandal Paint a Reminder

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The white paint on the walls and the swastika on the front door will stay, says the 78-year-old president of a South Philadelphia synagogue harassed recently by teen-age vandals.

William Hamot said the paint sloshed on Saturday was just the latest in a series of acts of vandalism that has included broken windows and the stuffing of burning paper in the building's mail chute.

"We are not going to remove it," he said referring to the paint. "We are going to let it stay. I'm not ashamed of it. Let the parents see it and maybe they'll do something."

Daily Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, March 25, the 84th day of 1969 with 281 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Mars.

The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

* * *

On this day in history:

In 1776 the Continental Congress conferred the first medal awarded by the colonies to Gen. George Washington for his role in evacuating Boston of British forces.

In 1900 the Socialist Party of the United States was formed in Indianapolis.

* * *

In 1911 a total of 140 persons died when trapped in a fire that swept the Triangle Shirtwaist Co. in New York City.

In 1965 civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit, was fatally shot while taking part in a Selma, Alabama freedom march.

The Fat's in the Fire for 5 Georgia Boys

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Policemen caught the burglars red handed. Or was it greasy fingered?

* * *

Authorities said five boys were discovered in an elementary school cafeteria Sunday. They had the stoves going and had cooked wieners. Chicken was being fried.

They even had bread in the oven.

Buddhists to Meet in Malaysia in April

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Buddhists from 22 nations will meet next month in a Moslem nation to discuss the formation of a world headquarters.

The meeting of the general conference of the World Fellowship of Buddhists will be in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

* * *

This typifies an ecumenical spirit that has taken root in the Buddhist faith in recent years, similar to that in the Christian churches.

"We don't want to convert anyone," says the fellowship's president, Princess Poon Pismai Diskul. "All we want is more understanding between religions and between people, and that is why we have chosen Kuala Lumpur for our conference."

GRANDDAUGHTER

The diminutive, graying princess is a granddaughter of King Mongkvt, who was portrayed in the book "Anna and the King of Siam."

Three countries have been suggested as likely places for the Buddhist headquarters, Burma, Ceylon and Thailand.

Thailand, which has 20,000 temples, 250,000 monks and a population of 32 million — of which 99 per cent are Buddhists, is the most likely choice.

* * *

President Princess Poon, as she is known in the Buddhist fraternity, said the Buddhist headquarters would need a considerably larger staff than the present 10 at the World Fellowship of Buddhists.

NEWS BULLETIN

"We would publish a news bulletin for Buddhists, hold seminars, do research, start a library and propagate Buddhism," she said.

To function, the headquarters would need financial support from Buddhists all over the world. The fellowship at present has operating expenses of less than $20,000 a year. Most of this is met by the Thai government.

* * *

The lack of money can be embarrassing, as in the case of 20 acres of Canadian land 14 miles from Niagara Falls which was given to the fellowship in 1966 by a Chinese Canadian, Chan Le Wu.

The land was to become an international Buddhist center, but so far no funds have been available to develop it.

MORE ACTIVE?

At a time when clerics and laymen of many churches are becoming more active in politics, Princess Poon is one who believes that politics and religion should not mix.

"It is not right," she observes. "We are above it."

* * *

Appeals to politicians by such religious heads as the Pope have been futile, she says, because they have been unheeded.

As for monks who become political activists in South Vietnam, Princess Poon insists: "They are not Buddhists."

TIME IS COMING

However, some members of the fellowship feel the time is coming when Buddhist organizations will have to become directly involved.

Dr. G.P. Malalsekera, former president of the fellowship, told delegates at the last conference that in Asia "where Buddhists live in very large numbers, there is a general upsurge of renascent nationalities, seeking self-expression.

* * *

"I have a strong feeling, therefore, that before long we shall be compelled to adopt definite attitudes, whether we like it or not, in regard to political events of deep and wide human concern," he added.

The Buddhist religion is 2,562 years old. The fellowship was established in 1950.

Its limited nonpolitical aims are to promote the strict obedience and practice of Buddha's teachings, and to unify the various sects, particularly the biggest division between the Mahayan and Hinayan sects, to organize social, cultural and educational activities and to work for world peace.

Part of the latter objective includes meeting with leaders and people of other faiths, to work out common ground.

Florida Species of Deer Gaining

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — Florida's little Key deer have managed to survive hurricanes, hunting and even modern traffic.

Down to an estimated 40 or less in 1947, the diminutive animals long have been perilously close to extinction. The current population — estimated to be over 500 — encourages conservationists.

* * *

Key deer, however, still are classified as an endangered species. Zoologists seek not only to protect them, but to learn precisely how they have withstood such a variety of hazards.

The National Geographic Society, through its Committee for Research and Exploration, is supporting a study of the population ecology of Key deer by Dr. Willard D. Klimstra, professor of zoology at Southern Illinois University and director of the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory.

TINY TRANSMITTERS

Dr. Klimstra, who has been observing the deer for the past year with support from the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, will continue to follow their movements by attaching miniature radio transmitters to the animals.

Knowledge of the Key deer's social behavior may give important clues on how they have existed on such a limited range.

For Retarded Children

Day Care Center Support Needed

The Oakland County Association for Retarded Children has charged that, in many respects, the needs and rights of the retarded are not being met in Oakland County.

Brent C. Glazier, executive director of the association, calls the provision of day care centers for retarded a public responsibility. He noted that parents are providing two of the four centers in operation.

* * *

"There are at least 100 children in our county who are known to be in need of day care services," Glazier said.

The ceiling imposed by the state on special education funds and use of the word "emergency" as it applies to waiting lists for residential care were also cited as injustices to the retarded in the county and state.

* * *

Glazier said that emergency cases as they apply to a child's admittance to Lapeer State Home and Training School mean a wait of anywhere from six months to two years.

The association is conducting its annual membership drive. Further information is available from the association.

Coffee Sales Net $800 Donation for Retarded Young

More than $800 will be turned over to the Oakland County Association for Retarded Children as a result of recent coffee sales in area restaurants, association officials reported.

Participating in the program were: Van's Diner and Nick's Broadway Restaurant, Milford; Maple House Restaurant, Birmingham; Ted's Restaurant, Bloomfield Hills and Pontiac Mall; Marty's Delicatessen & Restaurant, Oak Park; Golden Griddle Pancake House, Royal Oak; Cracker Barrel, Woody's Cafe, Rays Restaurant, and Elias Brothers Big Boy, all of Walled Lake; Tally-Ho Restaurant, Clarkston; Louis Coney Island and A and S Restaurant, both of Waterford Township; and Ted Mickelson's Elias Brothers Big Boy, Pontiac.

Additional contributions were made, in conjunction with the "Coffee Days," by:

Dubb's Country Kitchen, Oak Park; Kelter's, Inc., Southfield; United Insurance of America Co., Detroit; the Egg & I, Inc., Royal Oak; and private citizens.

Commission to Get Fire Station Plans

Final plans for a new $200,000 fire station at West Boulevard and Motor, to serve the south part of the city, will be considered by the City Commission at its regular meeting at 8 tonight at City Hall, East Wide Track and East Pike.

The commission is expected to call for bids on the project after final review.

* * *

Among other agenda items are several projects concerning streets, water and paving.

NATIONAL ACCIDENT DIVISION OF ACADEMY LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY—COMBINED WITH ITS AFFILIATED COMPANY OVER ONE BILLION, FOUR HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS INSURANCE IN FORCE

TWO COLORS Advertising Supplement to THE PONTIAC PRESS Mar. 25, 1969

NOW, from our Accident Division you get tax free:

each and every month . . . . EVEN FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE.

This is not a misprint. If you qualify, you get protection which pays you at the rate of $1,000.00 CASH a month beginning the first day and for your full stay in a hospital (other than a sanitarium, rest home or government hospital) due to any accident. Even if you're confined only for one day, you still get $33.33.

It covers all kinds of accidents. When you slip, stumble, fall, get burned, hit by anything, run into anything--any unintentional act or event. Yes, you are covered at home, at work, at play--24 hours a day.

And what's more--

This policy is both GUARANTEED RENEWABLE and NON-CANCELLABLE for Life.

1. Use your policy as often as you need to--you own it, it can never be taken away as long as you pay your premium on time. Your premium can never be raised; your benefits can never be reduced.
2. YOU GET CASH . . use it for any purpose; pay bills, buy groceries, pay rent, etc. When you are hospitalized your everyday living expenses still go on. Help meet them with the TAX FREE cash this policy provides. You are paid the full amount even though you collect other insurance, compensation or benefits from any source--including MEDICARE.
3. YOU GET CASH WHILE YOU ARE HOSPITALIZED FOR ANY ACCIDENT, ANYTIME, ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD. You DON'T have to be hurt in any particular kind of accident such as: Auto, Pedestrian, Bus, Traffic, Train, etc. All Accidents are covered, At Home, at Work, at PLAY--TWENTY FOUR HOURS A DAY.

You get a full month's coverage for 25c. Send no money. When you receive your policy, read it carefully. Only after you agree it does everything we claim, send in your quarter. Remember for each day you are in the hospital, you get $33.33. Yes, for one day or a Lifetime.

No agent or salesman will call or bother you. You are buying directly from the Company through the mail and the savings are passed on to you. That's how this policy can be offered at such a low cost!

Compare this with others. We welcome comparison because this policy pays from the first day, we can't pay any sooner. It pays for a lifetime, we can't pay any longer. Remember, the benefits are $1,000.00 a month for Life and the cost is only $5.00 a month, or if paid in advance, $55.00 for a whole year.

You are under no obligation. Fill out the application and mail it today. Don't wait until it's too late. Policy issued age 1 through 80 if you qualify. This offer must be limited to only one policy for each person.

Sincerely yours,

William L. Charles

'Quality of Waterford Schools Rests on Millage'

If the millage increase is approved in Waterford Township tomorrow, it will enable the school district to maintain a high quality of education, according to Dr. Don O. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Schools.

Millage may well be the only way.

Tatroe described the two-year 9-mill proposal as the means of continuing the district's present standard of education, not simply in terms of dollars spent, but in terms of the quality that money can provide.

"We've never been a spendthrift district, but we have a modest — in cost — high-quality district. Passage of the millage would keep things that way, but a 'no' vote tomorrow would minimize the quality," Tatroe said.

"Without the additional funds we could lose some of our best teachers and would find it hard to hire those we would most want to hire," he added.

About 25,000 registered voters in the school district are eligible to vote in tomorrow's 9-mill proposal.

★ ★ ★

For a vast majority of the taxpayers in the school district, the passage of the millage would cost them less than $1 a week, Tatroe said.

★ ★ ★

This amount is based on a formula of the average state equalized valuation for 9 mills. Also, the district plans to levy only about two-thirds of the 9 mills in the first year, Tatroe said.

★ ★ ★

A favorable vote for the millage could return secondary school students to full-day sessions, and continue full sessions

Birmingham: No to School Issues; Holly Says Yes

Voters in the Birmingham school district rejected millage and bonding proposals yesterday for the first time since 1961. Holly voters, however, reacted more favorably to a millage request there, passing it by a 2-to-1 margin.

★ ★ ★

The Birmingham millage request for 11 mills — including an increase of 3.5 mills and a renewal of 7.5 mills — was defeated by a 3-to-1 margin, 8,232 to 2,758.

The vote on the $4.5-million bond issue program was 4,774 for and 5,976 against.

WILL COME BACK TO VOTERS

Supt. of Schools Dr. John Blackhall Smith said the school board will definitely have to come back to the voters for the renewal of 7.5 mills by June.

Dr. Smith said he was shocked at the unusually strong negative reaction to the money proposals. "The school election is still one of the very few situations whereby the people have an opportunity to say no to a tax increase. They certainly exercised that right," Dr. Smith said.

★ ★ ★

The superintendent said rising federal taxes and the 13 per cent increase in Birmingham property valuation this year were apparently the contributing factors to the decisive loss.

Dr. Smith said voters were in essence rebelling against teacher salaries since 70 per cent of the new money allocated in the millage increase request was to be used for salary increases.

TO NECESSITATE CUTBACKS

The superintendent said the voters' decision will force the administration to make considerable cutbacks in the school district's operation.

Meanwhile, the Holly vote for the renewal of three mills for three years was 716 for and 361 against.

★ ★ ★

Supt. of Schools Russel Haddon said he was surprised by both the size of the margin and the voter turnout.

Willing to Talk With NLF — Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today his government is prepared to hold private meetings with the National Liberation Front.

The South Vietnamese president imposed no conditions on such meetings and added that he felt the front, the political arm of the Vietcong, would agree to such talks.

★ ★ ★

He told a news conference such talks could be part of private discussions in Paris among the delegations to the peace talks there from South Vietnam, North Vietnam, the NLF and the United States.

Thieu told questioners:

He remains hopeful of success at the Paris talks.

This is not the time to talk of withdrawing any of the 540,500 American troops in South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

His government does not believe a resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam at this time would be proper response to the current Vietcong offensive.

Thieu expressed satisfaction with the lines of communication established with the new administration of President Nixon. He emphasized that the government-to-government relations during President Johnson's tenure had been equally satisfactory, but he added that relations were better in Paris with Henry Cabot Lodge than with W. Averell Harriman, the former chief U.S. representative at the peace talks.

★ ★ ★

The president revealed his willingness to talk with the Vietcong directly when he was asked about reports that private talks had already taken place in Paris.

"I can't say they have started," Thieu said, "but we are working on it and we are hopeful."

★ ★ ★

Would these talks involve the Front, he was asked.

COULD BE FRANK

"We are ready to have private talks with the National Liberation Front if they like," he replied. "There are many things we cannot decide at the conference table which we can discuss quite frankly in private."

In private talks anybody could raise any question," Thieu said.

He said his government's offer had been conveyed to the NLF delegation in Paris.

★ ★ ★

He said there has not yet been any response but expressed confidence a favorable reply would be received.

COULD HOLD TALKS

Thieu said Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, his old political rival who is head of Saigon's peace delegation in Paris, could conduct the secret talks.

FATAL BLAZE — A fire yesterday at this home at 2487 Pontiac, Sylvan Lake, claimed the life of owner Edwin Barkey, 47. His wife, Shirley, was pulled to safety by a neighbor, who then attempted unsuccessfully to reenter the house for Barkey. Tri-City firemen arrived at the blaze about 5:30 p.m. and battled the fire for about six hours. (Story, page A-4.)

Figures in 2 Gaming Cases Move Close to Prison Terms

By JIM LONG

Key figures in two major gambling cases in Oakland County appear on their way toward serving long-delayed prison sentences.

The prospect of spending time behind bars came closer for the 21 defendants in the two cases when Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem canceled their appeal bonds yesterday. The order becomes effective in 20 days.

Ziem revoked the bonds of 20 men convicted of gambling offenses at the Steren Assembly Club in Madison Heights, as well as the bond of Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi, who was involved in a Pontiac gambling operation.

The Steren group, which includes two alleged Detroit-area Mafia leaders, Eddie Guarella and Joseph Brooklier, has been free on bond since being convicted in August 1965.

They were found guilty of violating and conspiring to violate state gambling laws following a lengthy jury trial in Manistee.

The trial was moved out of Oakland County on the grounds that the defendants wouldn't receive a fair trial because of the news coverage surrounding the case.

★ ★ ★

Charges were leveled against the score of defendants after State Police raided the plush Madison Heights Club in October 1963.

Big 4 'Still Apart' on Mideast

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The State Department says preliminary negotiations have failed so far to produce the necessary groundwork for a Big Four meeting on the explosive Middle East situation.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said yesterday "insufficient consensus" among the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France is preventing a four-way meeting.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, however, some officials see progress in the bilateral talks American diplomats have been holding with their Soviet, French and British counterparts in an effort to find a way to end the near-war between Israel and the Arab countries.

They say the Soviets and French now agree that Israel's withdrawal from the territory it captured in the six-day war in 1967 need not mean complete evacuation and that there can be some border adjustments where earlier boundaries did not make sense.

SECRET TALKS?

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, reports circulated that two top Israeli officials have met Arab King Hussein of Jordan in secret Middle East crisis talks.

★ ★ ★

Reliable sources said Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Deputy Premier Yigal Allon each held separate sessions with the Jordanian monarch in recent months.

★ ★ ★

The disclosure coincides with Hussein's selection of Abdel Moneim Rifai as his new premier, a man reportedly in favor of a negotiated settlement of the Middle East crisis.

Both the Israeli Foreign Office and the state-operated Jerusalem radio denied reports of the secret meetings.

TROOP MOVES

In a related development, official Israeli military sources said today that Iraq is sending more troops into Syria and Jordan to strengthen the Arab eastern front against Israel.

The move could greatly increase tension along the frontier, the sources explained, because Iraqi troops "have provided constant aid" to Arab guerrilla forces operating in the area.

★ ★ ★

Officials in Jerusalem said Iraq recently shifted 6,000 soldiers from Jordan to Syria. They said others have been moved from Iraq to Jordan to replace them.

Israeli military officials believe the stepped up Iraqi aid to Syria was set up by Syrian strongman Gen. Hafez Al Assad to preserve his position of power.

In another development, Cairo newspapers, including the semiofficial Al Ahram, accused Israel of starting yesterday's six-hour artillery battle across the Suez Canal in retaliation for guerrilla raids into Israel.

Communist Cuba's chief of staff was reported wounded in one such raid.

Condtiion of Ike Called 'Guarded'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today the condition of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, struggling to overcome the latest of recurrent heart troubles, remains "guarded."

"His physicians consider that the general's condition has not worsened since yesterday but that the eventual outlook remains guarded," said a morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The term, "guarded," means in medical terminology the outlook as to whether a patient will survive or recover is uncertain.

Doctors used the same terminolgy at the time of Eisenhower's most recent coronary heart attack last August.

City Worker Is Held in Woman's Death

A Pontiac city employe was arraigned this morning on a charge of murder in the death of a Lake Orion woman. Rochester District Court Judge Robert Shipper ordered him held without bond.

Officers from the Oakland County sheriff's department and Pontiac and Lake Orion police departments arrested Nolan Ray George, 25, of 26 Stout at the Department of Public Works and Services garage, 55 Wessen, yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Police officers from Pontiac and Troy said they may question George in connection with two recent similar killings in their cities.

A murder warrant for George was issued this morning, according to Sheriff's Detective Fred Pender. Judge Shipper postponed preliminary examination until George could obtain an attorney.

George, described as an all-around laborer who did such jobs as trim trees, patch street holes and work on garbage trucks, was arrested at the garage by Pender and his partner Harry Jones, Pontiac Detective Orville Johnston and Lake Orion Sgt. Leslie Perkins.

Police didn't disclose how George was implicated in the case.

★ ★ ★

The Lake Orion woman, Mrs. Frances Ann Brown, 22 was raped and strangled March 16 in circumstances similar to murders in Pontiac and Troy, police said.

Mrs. Brown was found, strangled with an undergarment and almost completely nude, in a car parked near a Lake Orion bar.

Snow May Be on Tap Tonight

There's a chance today's gentle rain will turn to snow flurries tonight.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures are expected to fall into the high 20s tonight, then rise to the low 40s tomorrow. Partly cloudy and continued cool is tomorrow's forecast.

Partly cloudy and warmer is the outlook for Thursday.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are 30 today, 50 tonight and 20 tomorrow.

A rainy 35 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury stood near 40 at 12:20 p.m.

GUESSING GAME — Everybody's guessing what day the plump magnolia blossoms in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's garden will open. The garden is one of nine on view at the Lawn, Garden and Flower Show sponsored by The Pontiac Press at the Pontiac Mall.

'Men's Night' at Flower Show

Spring's here! The weatherman may not believe it with his predictions of snow flurries and lower temperatures, but at the Pontiac Mall spring has arrived.

Gardens of breathtaking beauty await your inspection from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Tonight is Men's Night," and a program geared for the male gardener will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in The Pontiac Press miniauditorium in the south mall.

Sharing the lecture podium will be Ray Boardman of the Men's Garden Club of Detroit and Marsh Engle of Greenfield Village Greenhouses.

'FRIENDS WITH HERBS'

Tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. David Bates of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Birmingham branch, will speak on "Making Friends with Herbs."

State, National News in Brief

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. William G. Milliken is confronted with the necessity of compromising the demands of the politician with those of a budget-writer in framing his education message to the legislature.

The message, expected to spell out Milliken's position on tax aid to parochial schools, is scheduled for delivery to the lawmakers this week.

A Milliken aide said yesterday it could come tomorrow, Thursday or Friday.

The restraints imposed upon the governor by a dwindling treasury surplus, fixed revenue sources and the threat of greater inflation may temper his instinct to support costly new programs like parochiaid.

ABM Legislation Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee called in two top Army officials today as it began hammering out the actual legislation to provide President Nixon with his proposed missile defense system.

Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of staff, were lead-off witness on a procurement authorization bill that includes $900 million for construction of two sites and procurement of 10 more for the Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM)-system.

Drug Agent Tactics Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the government's war on narcotics trafficing says in an interview today federal agents have spent too much time in the past "chasing addict-pushers down the streets" and not enough pursuing the major distributors of illicit drugs.

The "stated approach" was to cut off drugs at their source, said John E. Ingersoll, head of the Justice Department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. But, he added, "I don't think it was implemented."

"The agents were chasing addict-pushers down the streets at the same time they were trying to reach the higher echelons of traffic. There were too many low-level arrests being made," he complained.

BELGIAN TRAIN CRASH SCENE — This was the scene near La Louviere, Belgium, this morning after two commuter trains loaded with about 1,500 workers collided in a cold mist, killing 20 persons and injuring 70. A spokesman for the railway administration said one train apparently did not stop for a red warning light near the station. The two engines and four cars jumped the tracks. Surgeons had to amputate both legs of one trapped woman.

Figures in 2 Gaming Cases Move Close to Prison Terms

The key witness in the prosecution's case was a legislative stenographer, Margaret (Peggy) Allen, who while working as an undercover agent for the State Police, gained entrance to the club.

IDENTIFIES 20 DEFENDANTS

During the trial, she identified all 20 defendants as men she had seen in the club.

Lombardi, who, like Guarella and Brooklier, has been linked with the Mafia in testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee, was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in June 1966 of bribing and conspiring to bribe a Pontiac police officer. The officer was working undercover to break up a gambling operation at the Seaway Civic and Social Club in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Sentenced to two to five years for conspiracy and two to four for the bribery, Lombardi has been free on $1,000 bond since his conviction.

In 1967, Lombardi pleaded guilty to maintaining and operating the gambling operation at Seaway and was fined $500.

SENTENCES

In the Steren case, 16 of the defendants received from one to five years, while the others were placed on probation, with the first 90 days to be spent in the county jail.

Carlton Roeser, a Pontiac attorney, represents both the Steren defendants and Lombardi.

Ziem gave Roeser 20 days to appeal the cancellation of the bonds to a higher court.

The revocation was requested by Assistant Prosecutor Dennis Donohue, and stems from an announcement last week that the Michigan Court of Appeals would not hold a rehearing on its earlier decision that upheld the conviction of the Steren defendants.

Lombardi's conviction was affirmed by the Appelate Court last October.

Roeser has filed application with the Michigan Supreme Court to appeal Lombardi's case. The high court has not announced if it will accept the case, however.

Roeser is in the process of preparing an application for appeal to the Supreme Court in the Steren case.

for the district's elementary pupils, Tatroe said.

Many volunteers in the district, mostly mothers and students, have sponsored luncheons and coffee hours in support of the passage of the millage.

Tatroe pointed out that sufficient funds for maintaining the district's standards simply are not available from other sources, such as state aid.

Next year's state aid formula will result in a reduction of $3 in state aid for every $4 received by the district due to an anticipated 24 per cent tax hike in the township, Tatroe said.

Tatroe emphasized that this is not a vote on individual tax burdens, however. "It is most of all a vote on the importance of education."

Eight precinct polling places, all elementary schools, were announced for the election. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Precinct 1 — David E. Grayson School, 3800 W. Walton.

Precinct 2 — Donelson School, 1200 W. Huron.

Precinct 3 — Beaumont School, 6532 Elizabeth Lake.

Precinct 4 — Schooleraft School, 6400 Maceday.

NATIONAL WEATHER — It will rain tonight in the New England states and in New York, and there will be showers in a belt extending from the Great Lakes southeast to Washington, D.C. It will be cooler from the upper Great Lakes to the Gulf and warmer in the far West.

Osmun Resigns as President of School Board

Monroe M. Osmun, a 23-year veteran of the Pontiac Board of Education, today announced his resignation as president of that board, for "personal reasons," effective immediately.

OSMUN

Osmun, 67, who has served as board president five times over the years, said he will continue to serve as a board member.

He had announced last week his intention not to seek re-election when his present term expires in 1971, on doctor's orders to slow down. "This is a job for a younger man," Osmun said at that time.

He has recently been faced with handling noisy, disruptive meetings of the board of education, precipitated by a contoversy over the location of a proposed new $19-million high school.

CERTIFIED LETTERS

Osmun tendered his resignation as board president in certified letters yesterday to the rest of the board members and Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

"This action (resignation) on my part has been made necessary by urgent personal reasons. It is my present intention to serve as a board member for as long as possible," Osmun's letter said.

★ ★ ★

A well-known Pontiac area clothier, Osmun has been active in community and business organizations, including the Downtown Pontiac Business Association, where he was president. He has also served as a member of the Oakland Schools Board of Education.

Osmun said he would ask board Vice President Dr. Robert Turpin to hold a special meeting Thursday evening for the purpose of electing a new board president to serve the remainder of the term until June.

Transit Setup Stalled

BOSTON (AP) — The city's massive rapid transit system was brought to a standstill today by an explosion in the power plant that provides the system's electricty.

There were reports of some trains stalled in tunnels, but they could not be confirmed immediately.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority said the explosion knocked out the MBTA's power station in South Boston.

Lawyer Named as Fact-Finder in City Dispute

A man with long experience in labor negotiations has been named as fact-finder in the city of Pontiac's dispute with three of its unions.

The fact-finder is Harry N. Casselman of 3279 Hartslock Woods, West Bloomfield Township.

He will be asked to conduct hearings and issue a report on negotiations between the city and the Pontiac Fire Fighters Association as well as unions representing clerical and manual workers, the Pontiac Municipal Employes Association and Local 100 of the Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Announcing the appointment by the State Labor Mediation Board was Edwin Manley, president of the fire fighters, who said he had received the announcement today.

Manley repeated an offer made to the City Commission at last Tuesday's meeting when he said that the three unions involved would accept whatever decision the fact-finder reached. Normal procedure is for the report not to be binding on either party.

The labor dispute broke out Feb. 7 with a walkout by the three unions. Municipal workers struck for more than two weeks and the firemen held periodic walkouts. All now are working under a circuit court order.

Before negotiations broke down, near-agreement had been announced. Firemen had been asking parity with a proposed offer to police, $10,300 yearly as of July 1, and other workers' demands centered around a 35-cent-per-hour increase.

Fact-finding was agreed to late last week after bargaining feached an apparent stalemate.

Fact-finder Casselman is a lawyer with a University of Michigan degree. He served a long stint with the National Labor Relations Board up until 1951. For several years he served as a bargainer for the Hi-Grade Packing Co., representing the firm in dealing with over 100 unions nationwide.

School Band Concert Near

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The East Hills Junior High School will hold a spring band concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the school auditroium.

The cadet band, concert band and symphonic wind ensemble will perform under the direction of Thomas McGlone.

★ ★ ★

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The Oakland County chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its monthly meeting at the Devon Gables restaurant Thursday at 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Arthur J. Zelton, 589 Kingsley Trail, general auditor for Chrysler Corp., will discuss "Operational Auditing."

Six Birmingham-Bloomfield residents are members of the 1969 Family Affairs Month Advisory Committee.

Family Affairs Month is a public service observance sponsored by the fields of law, banking, insurance and certified public accounting.

★ ★ ★

The organization attempts to encourage family heads to establish a plan for retirement and for his family's financial security. The program is traditionally held each year in April.

★ ★ ★

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members: Donald E. Schmaltz, 3253 E. Bradford, Bloomfield Township, vice chairman of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants public service committee; Stanford C. Stoddard, 2520 Endsleigh, Bloomfield Township, president, Michigan Bank National Association; and B. James Theodoroff, 240 Warrington, Bloomfield Hills, senior vice president, Detroit Bank and Trust Compsny.

★ ★ ★

During Family Affairs Month, heads of households are urged to execute a will if they do not have one, update insurance policies and make sure the family has sufficient savings in the event of an emergency.

★ ★ ★

Family heads are also encouraged to make sure of the family balance sheet, available at most banks during April, which allows an individual to determine his family's net wort by subtracting what it owes from what it owns.

Man Is Killed in Home Blaze

SYLVAN LAKE — Edwin M. Barkey, 47, was killed yesterday evening in a six-hour fire which gutted his home at 2487 Pontiac.

His wife, Shirley, 53, is in satisfactory condition with first- and second-degree burns on her face, hands, and chest at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. She was pulled out of the burning home by a neighbor, John Jakust, 20, of 2483 Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

After saving Mrs. Barkey, Jakust attempted unsuccessfully to reenter the burning home to save Barkey, who was found later in the kitchen.

The fire was reported at 5:30 p.m. according to a spokesman for the new Tri-City Fire Department. Two trucks and 18 men fought the blaze.

NEW TRUCK USED

The new yellow pumper truck, which arrived last week, was used for the first time, he added.

The spokesman said the blaze had been burning for about 30 minutes before firemen were called. The fire, which started from faulty wiring in the garage, was already through the roof when they arrived.

He estimated damage at around $18,000.

Study Outlines Farmington Twp. Growth Patterns

(EDITOR'S NOTE— This is the first of three articles.)

By TOM GRAY

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — This area, like many in western and northeastern Oakland County, is just heading into its period of greatest population growth.

And, like some other area townships, its present rate of population increase is far outstripping that of the U.S. as a whole, and even that of Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Growth is perhaps the most significant of the many community characteristics considered in a Michigan State University survey on governmental organization in the Farmington area.

★ ★ ★

The survey, prepared by the university's Institute for Community Development and Services, begins by detailing those features of the area which will play a large part in determining its future governmental development.

3 OTHER UNITS

At present, the township contains three governmental units: the City of Farmington and Quakertown and Woodcreek Farms villages.

All three and the township are growing at a faster rate than the county, which increased by 25 per cent between 1960 and July 1967.

Only Woodcreek Farms, in fact, increased less than 45 per cent — nearly double — in the 7½-year period.

★ ★ ★

The survey predicts a slight decrease in the growth rate in the future. But the actual population of the four units is expected to continue increasing by roughly 25,000 per decade until the year 2000, when the total is projected at 138,250, compared to the present 50,000.

The Farmington area also differs from the average in its distribution of age groups, which is heavily weighted toward the young.

In the 5-14 age group are 24.8 per cent of Farmington residents, compared to 19.9 per cent nationwide.

Since children aged 5-14 should be in school, the study notes, "the burden of schooling . . . would be one-fourth larger in the Farmington area than in the U.S. as a whole . . It should also be pointed out that in many respects the same burden or need would hold true for other accommodations for children."

The next characteristic which the study singles out is the area's affluence. Farmington Township families have a median income of $10,400 in 1965, compared to $7,700 for the metropolitan area.

DISPARITY EXISTS

Dhile the township average is high, the study adds, some disparity exists within it. East of Farmington City and south of 10 Mile, the median is $6,437.

"Amidst the affluent Farmington area this is an enclave of moderate incomes which most likely has or seeks a voice in government . . ." the authors theorize.

★ ★ ★

The third major indentifying mark of the area is its mushrooming property values, which have more than doubled in the last eight years, increasing twice as fast as those in Oakland County as a whole.

The study concludes, "The whole area is essentially young, affluent and residential in character. Growth in this area is likely to be two or three times greater in the next 30 years than it has been in the last 70 years.

★ ★ ★

"This growth has significant implications for the changing nature of the communities and the local agencies which will govern them."

FIRST SPAN — Giving somewhat the same impression of space as an airplane hanger or a large auditorium is the first steel-girdered span of the new Rochester Adams High School. Now under construction at Tienken and Adams in Avon Township, the school is scheduled to open to 1,000 students during the 1969-70 school year.

Troy Hits Spread of Apartments at Intersection

TROY — The City Commission last night approved its own rezoning proposal, designed to help prevent the spread of apartments around the intersection of Big Beaver and Coolidge.

Commissioner Peter A. Taucher, who initiated the proposal, said he felt it would help to "preserve the character" of the corner, which is fast developing into a large commercial center.

The proposed rezoning passed last night changed 13.1 acres in the northeast quarter of Section 30 (southwest of Big Beaver and Coolidge) from RM-1 multiple to R-1C single-family residential.

Taucher said the rezoning reflects his opinion that the "buffer" concept of zoning, with multiples surrounding office, commercial or industrial properties, is not suitable at the particular corner involved.

Biltmore Development Co., developer of property on the intersection's other three corners, had earlier proposed an expansion of its giant Somerset apartment complex on northwest of the intersection, but the proposal, at first approved, was later overturned after three new commissioners were elected.

Taucher explained, "If we allow multiples on this corner, it would be difficult to argue that they should be allowed on others at the same intersection too."

The commsision had considered the change a month ago, but tabled it when an attorney representing the owners objected, ostensibly to allow them time to present a plan for development.

The same attorney, John Shantz of Dell, Shantz and Hooker of Royal Oak, speaking on behalf of Troy Towns Inc., the owner, reiterated his objections last night to rezoning of the L-shaped parcel fronting on Big Beaver and Coolidge and surrounding a commercial parcel on the southwest corner of the intersection.

★ ★ ★

Shantz had earlier pointed to the anticipated development at the intersection, which includes the present Somerset Mall shopping center on the southeast corner, a proposed "regional shopping center" on the northeast corner, and an office complex including the new headquarters of S. S. Kresge Co. on the northwest corner.

"Because of these developments," the attorney commented, "I would suggest that reintroduction of R-1C zoning on this parcel is incompatible with the facts of what is going to happen in the area."

Shantz had also objected to the rezoning because of the parcel's size, saying that its 290-foot frontage on Big Beaver would only force creation of "inadequate, uneconomical lots."

Supervisor Asks New Approach to Road Funding

There's a need for a new approach to funding county road construction, according to Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, a member of the county supervisors' finance committee.

"County roads are the worst in the state," said O'Brien. He addressed the Oakland County Road Commission which appeared before the finance committee yesterday to ask for $1.3 million to aid in road construction projects in 1970.

★ ★ ★

No decision as to whether the county will appropriate the money was made, but O'Brien added, "The road commissions of the state had better go to the Legislature to get some unified method of financing."

"Some practical new approach is needed," he added. "Cars are multiplying at the same rate as the population."

A CENTURY BEHIND

"We'd better get into the 20th century before the 21st century arrives."

The commission also asked the county for a revolving fund which would allow a speedup of paving jobs on old gravel subdivision streets in the county. Unappropriated funds out of the current county budget were requested, but no decision made.

★ ★ ★

The problem of M59 improvement was discussed by the committee again. The road commission said improvement of a stretch from Airport Road to Williams Lake Road should be undertaken by next spring at the latest, but there is an attempt to get the State Highway Department to start work this fall.

Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer with the commission, noted that even with improvement the highway would still bottleneck at Williams Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

He said some attempt is being made to get the state to consider improvement west to where projected I-275 would intersect.

School Districts Set Head Start Summer Plans

Eleven Oakland County school districts will be conducting Head Start programs for preschoolers this summer, the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) has announced.

Some 330 children are expected to be involved in the various programs supported by federal and local funds. Each school district administrates its own program. The districts are accepting registrations and recruiting teachers and teacher aides.

★ ★ ★

Children to be eligible must be from families which meet poverty-level income requirements. Preference is given to family members of enrolled children in employing teacher aides who do not need professional traning.

Pontiac School District and several others in the county will not be offering a summer program. Most of the districts do have similar regular school-year programs for preschoolers, however.

DISTRICTS LISTED

Following is a list of districts with summer programs and the number of children funded for.

Avondale, 15; Berkley, 15; Clarenceville, 15; Farmington, 30; Madison Heights, 75; Holly, 15; Huron Valley, 30; Lake Orion, 15; Oxford, 15; Rochester, 15; South Lyon, 15; and Walled Lake, 75.

★ ★ ★

Four school districts are expected to offer additional programs with Title I funds, according to the OCCEO. The districts are Farmington, Madison Heights, Huron Valley and Walled Lake.

Parents and others interested in obtaining information on the programs should contact their local school district office, the OCCEO said.

White Lake OKs 3 Rezonings

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has approved several rezoning applications.

★ ★ ★

One, from James DeFauw of 4864 Highland, Waterford Township, will permit light industrial use of property on the northwest corner of M59 and Teggerdine.

★ ★ ★

The property, formerly zoned in the township's C-2 general business classification, will be used for machine work and small parts manufacture by Highland Machine Products, which produces air valves for jet engines, according to DeFauw.

The property was previously owned by the Authier Patio Stone Co., DeFauw said.

RESIDENTIAL TO BUSINESS

Also approved was a request from Willard Finley, 30894 Hickory Lane, Franklin Village, for rezoning of a 7.6-acre parcel on Union Lake Road near Elizabeth Lake Road from R-1 single-family residential to C-1 local business and C-2 general business.

★ ★ ★

According to Township Clerk Ferdinand C. Vetter, a shopping center, possibly mall-type, is planned on the property, which is currently undeveloped.

★ ★ ★

The board also approved a request from Arthur, Lesley and Wilma McCafferty, 6741 Highland, Waterford Township, for rezoning of 10 acres on Cuthbert near Pontiac Lake Road from AG agricultural to SF suburban farms.

The suburban farms classification, Vetter explained, will allow additional residences to be constructed on the property. The agricultural category permits only one residence on a parcel smaller than 40 acres, he said.

REQUEST DENIED

A fourth rezoning request, from Wilbur McAlpine, 2501 Bogie Lake, to change five acres on Bogie Lake Road from R-1 single-family residential to AG agricultural was denied by the board.

★ ★ ★

Vetter said the application was rejected because the township zoning ordinance requires a minimum area of 10 acres for any parcel zoned agricultural.

★ ★ ★

In other recent business, the board held a public hearing on street lighting in Cedar Shores subdivision (located south of Elizabeth Lake Road and east of Oxbow Lake Road) and disapproved a proposed special assessment district to finance the lighting.

★ ★ ★

The board decided not to carry the project through, Vetter said, because public opinion in the subdivision appeared about equally divided on its value.

Detroit Stadium Site Supported

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh isn't the only one plugging for support to build a new sports stadium in downtown Detroit.

The Detroit Convention Bureau, in a recently adopted resolution, says such a stadium would have "substantial effect...on the development of additional convention facilities in downtown Detroit."

The bureau's executive committee says it "is and must be intensely interested in all development that makes Detroit a more attractive convention city."

Finally, the committee resolved that, "a sports stadium (must) be developed as promptly as possible on a site that is centrally located to convention visitors and facilities..."

Cavanagh has criticized proposed plans to build a stadium in Detroit suburbs, including Southfield, Pontiac, Taylor and Walled Lake. He says it should be built on the Detroit River front next to Cobo Hall.

Rochester Council Reelects Mayor to His Second Term

ROCHESTER — Mayor Roy Rewold was reelected by his council colleagues last night to a second one-year term as mayor of this city.

Rewold, who has more than a decade of council service, was elected unanimously and without opposition.

★ ★ ★

Elected mayor pro tem was Councilmen Samuel Howlett. He succeeds Councilman James Hill. Howlett was unopposed and elected unanimously.

In related organizational matters, Councilman Thomas Case was named as the council representative on the city planning commission, while City Manager William Sinclair was reappointed to the commission by the mayor.

OAKLAND TWP. LETTER

A letter was received from the Oakland Township Board in which the township informed that it would be unable to contribute to the Avon Township Public Library budget.

The Oakland board said its share of state penal fines would go to the library, but no other funds were available. The library serves Rochester and the two neighboring townships.

★ ★ ★

A public hearing was ordered for April 14 on special assessments on the South Street paving project. Total cost of the project is $141,228.

Assessments will be on a 50 per cent per front foot and 50 per cent per square foot basis. The cost per front foot is $10.06, while the per square foot levy will be .0278 cents.

The council also received a report on a study by Jones & Henry Engineers of Toledo, Ohio, of the city's sewage treatment plant.

Referred to closed-door session for discussion, the study recommends improvements in the plant to upgrade the city's sewage treatment. The study was ordered a year ago.

Holly Meeting Slated by Independent Party

The 19th Congressional District Committee of the American Independent party will hold a public meeting in Holly Saturday.

A representative of the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the guest speaker at the 8 p.m. meeting. It will be held in the community room behind the Citizens Bank in the Holly Plaza Shopping Center.

District Chairman Huston Moody said district officers will be introduced at the meeting.

Legal Steps Taken to Stop W. Bloomfield Sewer Plan

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Several Knollwood subdivision members are seeking legal action against a sewer assessment district in one portion of the subdivision.

Their intentions were announced during last night's public hearing on the newly created district. After the hearing, the Township Board voted to prepare the roll for the district.

★ ★ ★

A section of Knollwood East and Knollwod West encompassing 45 lots forms the new district. The main pipes will go along Knollwood Circle east, Knollwood Circle West, Hillock Lane and Greenswarb Court.

Petitions to form the new district were signed last month by persons owning 51¼ per cent of the land area involved, according to the township. Estimated cost will be $172,137 for the project. This is about $3,380 per home for the basic sewer line in the street plus connecting costs.

2-YEAR CONTROVERSY

The latest petitions were circuated shortly after the board killed a proposed sewer district for the entire subdivision. That decision, made Jan. 27, ended temporarily two years of bitter controversy among residents and attempted legal action against the board.

Last night, Arthur Templeton, head of the Committee for the Preservation of Knollwood, announced that legal action would again be started in an attempt to stop proceedings of the new sewer district. The committee has until April 24 to file action in the courts.

★ ★ ★

Several citizens at last night's meeting expressed confusion at how they could have won the recent battle against a sewer district for the subdivision and now again are being told that they must install a sewer.

Township Supervisor John Doherty pointed out that the recently killed sewer district and the newly formed one are completely separate. The earlier one was killed when it was proved that only 44 per cent of the subdivision wanted sewers.

ONLY A PORTION

In the new sewer district 51½ per cent of those involved in that portion of the subdivision do want the sewers, according to the petitions. The rest of the subdivision will not be involved at this time.

Sewers are created when the majority of people indicate they are wanted, Doherty added.

School Millage, Bonds at Issue Tomorrow in Huron Valley Election

Huron Valley School District voters go to the polls tomorrow to vote on a three-part millage and bond issue package, estimated to cost the owner of a $20,000 house about $275 per year.

The increased taxes account for $125 of the estimated annual cost, divded up (based on the $20,000 house) at $60 in added operating millage, $20 for expanded operations and $45 for the bond issue.

★ ★ ★

The propositions are: 21 mills for operation, including 15 renewal and a six-mill increase; two mills for expanded operations; and a $10.5-million bond issue for a new elementary school, a junior-senior high school complex and renovations to older buildings. Cost of the bond issue is estimated at $4.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Dutch 'Student Ships' Berthed, Victims of Air Travel

LEYDEN, The Netherlands (AP)—Dutch "student ships" that provided cheap transatlantic passage for American and Canadian students for 23 years will sail no more.

The Italian liner Aurelia will make one or more Atlantic crossings this summer with students traveling from New York to Le Havre, but the traditional Dutch vessels have fallen victim to air travel.

★ ★ ★

Floris Croon, 24, commercial manager of the Netherlands Office for Foreign Student Relations (NBBS), said the two famous old student ships Groote Beer and Waterman were sold to Greece. He added that the Holland-Amerika liner Rijadan, which was chartered for students last year, will not be available this summer.

"It is very sad," Crook said. "The cheap journeys aboard Dutch ships made the NBBS enormously popular in the United States. Tens of thousands of Americans have unforgettable memories of the New York-Rotterdam voyages between 1946 and 1968.

EXPERTS LECTURED

"There were panels, concerts, theater and movies, parties and balls aboard. Experts from numerous countries used to lecture. Even now we have 500 offers from professors who want to take care of the cultural part of the journeys. Daily we are sending letters saying 'we are sorry' to students inquiring about cheap passage."

★ ★ ★

Croon said it has become impossible to charter suitable passenger ships and "group passage by plane has nearly ousted Atlantic crossings by ships."

★ ★ ★

Based on data collected jointly by European student organizations, a record number of more than 200,000 U.S. students will visit Europe this summer. Most of them will fly to the main gateways—London, Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam.

Many U.S. universities charter their own planes. Croon said Yale University has chartered 20 airliners this summer for student trips to Europe.

IRON CURTAIN TRIPS

He noted increased U.S. interest in trips behind the Iron Curtain, with emphasis on Moscow and Prague. As a nonpolitical, nonprofit travel agency, NBBS arranges many of these East European bookings. Croon said the red tape causes "many headaches."

★ ★ ★

NBBS also arranges trips to the United States for European students. It will fly 2,000 Dutch students to the United States this summer, 25 per cent more than last year.

86-Year-Old Leader Pushing Demands

E. Pakistani Peasants Press for Reforms

KARACHI (AP) — The future of a united Pakistan might well rest on the narrow shoulders of a small 86-year-old Bengali, Maulana Abdul Hamid Khan Bhashani.

He is a leader of the National Awami party and is adored by the teeming peasant millions of East Pakistan.

★ ★ ★

Not satisfied with the reforms promised by President Mohammed Ayub Khan, Bhashani says he will only settle for reforms that would double workers, wages, giving them a livable minimum of 150 rupees—$33—a month.

He also wants peasants' land cooperatives similar to those he saw during a visit to Red China as a guest of Mao Tse-tung in 1963.

The government and most other opposition leaders have been hoping concessions already granted and the appointment of Bengali economist Syed Huda as governor of East Pakistan would cool down the political ferment and mob violence sweeping East Pakistan.

But Bhashani seems to be the only man the peasants will listen to, and he is unlikely to ease the pressure.

★ ★ ★

"We have had promises for the last 20 years, but the fact is that the peasants are now worse off than when the British ruled here," Bhashani said.

East and West Pakistan are divided by Indian territory. Opposition leaders in both regions have demanded an end to Ayub's regime, and the president has acceded. Ayub has said he will not seek reelection next year.

FREE ELECTIONS

To further appease the dissidents, Ayub's government has promised to present a bill to the National Assembly next month changing the constitution to provide free adult franchise elections and a parliamentary form of government.

The government also said East and West Pakistan will be completely autonomous, with the central government only handling defense, foreign affairs and taxation.

★ ★ ★

But the 70 million easterners make up the majority of Pakistan's 120 million population, and they are pressing for proportional representation in the central government. This would give them the biggest say in the nation's affairs for the first time in its 21-year history.

The unrest has diminished, but complete peace is unlikely to return until Bhashani's demands are met.

★ ★ ★

"Our demands are modest," he said. "We are only asking for a livable wage. We have waited long enough."

Phone Poll Says 63 Pct. Reject ABMs

NEW YORK (UPI) — A poll of 1,498 adult Americans indicated nearly two out of three agree with President Nixon that the United States should deploy an antiballistic missile (ABM) system to protect against Chinese attack.

Sindlinger & Company, Inc. announced results of the nation-wide telephone poll last week. The question read: "At his press conference, President Nixon announced his decision to go ahead and build an antiballistic missile defense system to protect against any Chinese attack on the United States. Do you agree or disagree?"

★ ★ ★

According to Sindlinger, 63.7 per cent said they agreed with the President, 15 per cent disagreed and 21.3 per cent had no opinion. Many of those who disagreed called the system "dangerous" or "inadequate."

In answer to a second question, 60.3 per cent said they thought Nixon was wise to go ahead with the ABM rather than postpone his decision for a year or more.

★ ★ ★

Sindlinger & Co., a market analysis firm, conducted the poll using telephone numbers selected by computer.

When your area receives a tornado warning, one has been seen. Your life may be at stake.
Take cover below ground level or in a strong building. Open a few windows, but stay away from glass. Curl up. Shield your head. If you are caught outdoors, lie flat in the nearest depression.
And move quickly. Seconds save lives.
Yours, perhaps.

Candy Striper, Lynette Leighton of Keego Harbor, takes a new patient, Mrs. Delpha DuVall of Ledgestone Street, to the admitting office at Pontiac General Hospital.

Candy Stripers Given Special Recognition

Three teenage girls who have contributed nearly 2100 hours of service as Candy Stripers at Pontiac General Hospital received special awards Monday evening.

At the twelfth annual capping and awards ceremony in the Elks Temple, Aleck Capsalis, chairman of the Board of Trustees, presented the awards to Deborah A. Jones, Celeste Thomson and Lynette Leighton.

★ ★ ★

Deborah, who will graduate from Waterford Township High School in June, has been a Candy Striper for a year and nine months. She has accumulated 855½ hours. She intends to be a physical therapist and has been accepted at Central Michigan University. After two years there, she will transfer to the University of Michigan for her degree.

★ ★ ★

Celeste Thomson, a junior at Pontiac Central High School, wants to enter the nursing profession. During her 21 months at PGH, she has given 640 hours of service.

★ ★ ★

Lynette Leighton has been accepted into the Oakland Community College two-year Registered Nurse program. Since her graduation in 1968 from West Bloomfield High School, she has continued as a Candy Striper, accumulating 532¾ hours in the past year.

★ ★ ★

Deborah and Celeste were each given a sterling silver bracelet with a charm engraved with her name and the hours served. Lynette received the 500-hour stripe for her cap.

RECEIVED CAPS

Seventy-nine girls received their caps; 23 got certificates for 100 hours; 13 were given pins for 150 hours; eight got the 200-hour stripe; and three a 300-hour cross. One girl received her second gold cross, signifying 400 hours of service.

According to Dorothy Wood, director of volunteer services, Pontiac General Hospital is recognized as having one of the largest youth volunteer programs in Michigan.

Its purpose is to interest youth in careers in the health field. The program began in 1961 with 12 girls. Since then, 1700 girls have been trained; about a third of them have gone on to work in health field jobs.

Dr. Robert L. Tupper, director of medical education at the hospital, was principal speaker Monday evening.

Wife of U.N. Chief Yost Plunges Back Into Diplomatic Whirl

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — "It was a very pleasant surprise. And it's delightful to be back after a vacation of 2½ years."

In a slight Polish accent, Irene Oldakowska Yost told how it felt to plunge anew and with scant advance notice into the diplomatic whirl as wife of the new chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

Her husband, Charles, served as deputy under Ambassadors Adlai E. Stevenson and Arthur J. Goldberg from February, 1961, to June, 1966, before Yost retired from 33 eventful years in the U.S. diplomatic corps.

★ ★ ★

He was called back as President Nixon's choice for the No. 1 post at the United Nations, and he took over his new duties officially last Jan. 21.

Since then Mrs. Yost has been busy much of the time putting her personal touch on the elegant suite at the Waldorf Towers which the United States provides as the official residence of its top ambassador to the United Nations.

BEAUTY

She has sparkling blue eyes, natural gray hair worn in a soft pompadour and bobbed behind the ears, and a classic beauty that captured the heart of Yost as a handsome fledgling diplomat in Warsaw 35 years ago.

The task of fitting the Yost family needs into the new apartment is something of a challenge.

She is arranging new shelving to accommodate her husband's large library collection. A mirror on the wall of a reception room will be replaced by bookshelves.

Pictures will be loaned by the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Modern Art for the apartment.

The Yosts have two sons and a daughter, and she believes the parents' varied experience in different countries was an advantage to them.

"It's amazing how well they turned out," she said. "They developed more poise and savoir faire as a result of their meeting with children of other nationalities."

The many transfers from one post to another posed some educational problems — in one year the two youngest were in four different countries on four continents.

★ ★ ★

Nicholas, 30, the oldest, is a deputy attorney general for the state of California. Kazmir, 23, is studying in Beirut and preparing for a career in the U.S. foreign service. Felicity, 18, is a student at Pine Manor Junior College in Massachusetts and a budding artist.

All three children were born in Washington, D.C.

SUITE

The big suite at the Waldorf Towers includes two reception rooms, a dining room, three bedrooms and a study for the ambassador.

The dining room can accommodate as many as 40 guests at one time.

"But it's a close squeeze," Mrs. Yost said. "I prefer 20 guests — there's much more opportunity for conversation among them all."

There is a large guest bedroom, and Felicity will have her own smaller bedroom when she comes home for weekends or vacation from college.

His and Her Wedding Present Not 'Suitable' to Bridegroom

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My aunt offered to make my fiance and me a matching set of his and her pajamas for our wedding present if I supply the pattern and pick out the material.

When I asked David about this he said he prefers to wear the same pajamas he has worn for the last 10 years. Upon further questioning, I discovered that the "pajamas" he had in mind were nothing more than his bare hide, and he had no intentions of wearing as much as a thread to bed.

Abby, I was shocked, though I tried not to let on.

David is a nice looking fellow, and there is nothing repulsive about him, but the thought of his sleeping that way strikes me as being somewhat shameful. What shall I tell Auntie?

OUT WEST

DEAR OUT: Tell Auntie, thanks a lot, but David has all the pajamas he's going to need. (He has.)

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We have an 18-year-old son, and I'd like to know what the parents of teen-age girls are thinking of. When Rick first started to date he'd say: "The girl has no curfew, and I have to be in before she does. It's embarrassing."

We're not unreasonable, Abby. We ask Rick to leave the girl's house at 9 p.m. on school nights, and he has until midnight on week-ends. And if he's going to be held up for any reason, all we ask is a phone call.

★ ★ ★

This girl he has been seeing a lot of lately has just turned 16. She has no restrictions on dating, and even when nothing special is planned she asks Rick to come over and just "sit around." Needless to say, we are in a constant state of worry.

Our son has had good upbringing, but even "nice" kids fall in love and get carried away. I'm afraid they're playing with fire. If Rick came to us and said he had to get married, at age 19 or even 20, I don't know where we'd ever get the money.

Abby, please, please tell parents of girls to help us help them. Curb those dates and long hours. We love our children, and their well-being is the responsibility of both sets of parents. I know this is too long to print, but with your talent maybe you can shorten it and say it better.

"WORRIED" IN OAKLAND, ME.

DEAR WORRIED: I couldn't have said it any better, and I'm printing every word.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: It's me again, Paul H. Adams of Babbitt, Nev. Someone wrote in asking if you had ever heard of a lady pallbearer, and you said you hadn't. Then I wrote in and said my mother was one — for nine months.

Well, you printed my letter, and a number of interesting things have happened to me as a result of that. Practically everone in town has stopped me to remark on it. You wouldn't believe how many people read your column. Over half of them said, "So Abby does use letters from real people! I always thought she made them up herself."

I received a letter from a man I hadn't heard from in 30 years. But the payoff was some guy in Maine. He wrote to tell me that it was scientifically impossible for my mother to tell during the gestation period whether she was a PAULBEARER or a PAULABEARER.

YOURS TRULY, PAUL

DEAR PAUL: You're getting to be a habit in Babbit. Keep writing.

Last Open Rehearsal Scheduled Wednesday

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra's last open rehearsal of the current season will be held in Ford Auditorium on Wednesday, at 2 p.m.

Maureen Forrester, contralto, will appear with the orchestra under the direction of Sixten Ehrling.

★ ★ ★

The rehearsal agenda includes works by Handel, Mozart, Debussy, and others, which will be performed by the Symphony and Miss Forrester on Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Admission to the rehearsal is $1.50. All proceeds go to the orchestra musicians' supplemental pension plan. Tickets are available only at Ford Auditorium Box Office.

Except for the presence of an audience and a microphone placed near the conductor, open rehearsals are conducted in the same manner as all Symphony rehearsals. A typical working session lasts two and a half hours, usually with a 15-minute break after the first hour.

Dinner Party Closes Season for Tennis Gals

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Mrs. John Adamson and Mrs. Charles V. Booth Jr., who have been meeting at the Bloomfield Tennis House with a group of Birmingham - Bloomfield women for weekly tennis the last three winters, hung up their rackets Saturday evening and had a dinner party at the Adamson house.

All the gals brought their husbands for the group's first-ever social get-together.

There, besides the Adamsons and the Booths, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dusseau, the David Hausers, the Charles Duryeas, Mr. and Mrs. William Schoen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Smith and the Robert H. Walkers.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Adamson has a very full year ahead. Two of her daughters will be married before the year is out. One of them, Kathy, 21, is currently vacationing with her University of Colorado sorority sisters in Mazatlan, Mexico. She is planning a December wedding.

Other daughter, Sandy, will be married June 21 to Denis Clanahan of Denver.

THIRD GIRL

Eighteen-year-old Stephanie (Stevie) is just enjoying life on a trip to Veral Beach with good friend Prudie Vogt.

Bonwit-Teller of Troy's Somerset Mall is sponsoring its first fashion show May 1 at Oakland Hills Country Club.

It's a big summer show, featuring commentator Ole Borden who will present the Rembrandt collection. Mrs. James Tomlinson and Mrs. Paul Trimmer are cochairmen.

Mrs. John Denman is doing publicity. Some of the lieutenants are Mrs. John DeVault, Mrs. Frederick Osann and Mrs. Thomas Clemmons.

Modeling talent will be home grown, featuring such locals as Mesdames: Henry Schlachter, John McNamara, Hunter McDonald, Charles Garretson and Robert E. LaJoie.

White House Request Is Really Demand

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been advised that an invitation from royalty is a command and requires no answer. Is the same also true in the case of an invitation from the White House? E. L. Harper

★ ★ ★

Dear Mr. Harper: An invitation to the White House certainly DOES require an answer—immediately! It is a command—only the most valid excuses, such as illness, a close relative's funeral, or unavoidable absence are acceptable. Previous engagements must be cancelled in order to attend.

Replies must be written by hand, and when the invitation is regretted, the reason must be stated.

"THANK-YOU"

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is president, this year, of a club of business associates. Every year there is a ladies' night at which time a toast is proposed to the ladies and is usually replied to by the president's wife. My problem is, what is the right reply? Please tell me exactly what I should say.—Mrs. W. C.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. C.: All that is necessary is to stand and thank the man who proposed the toast on behalf of all the ladies present and yourself. You might say something along this line: "Mr. Smith, I know that all of the ladies present join me in thanking you for those flattering (or kind) remarks. This is a wonderful evening (or dinner) and we are delighted to be here."

Meeting Near for the OCCEO

Head Start, transportation and new officers will be subjects for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) at its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at 1 Lafayette.

Progress reports will update activities of Head Start (programs in 11 county school districts) and a transportation study committee.

* * *

Commissioners will be asked to approve contacting federal authorities on the area's severe problem of transportation as it relates to the poor.

Some 23 of the 51 commissioners will be seated either as reelected or newly elected members.

* * *

OCCEO Director Edward P. Revis, will report on this year's funding. The Washington OEO office announced recently that some $1.2 million had been approved for OCCEO activities, a funding level similar to the last two years.

Safety-Belt Drive Gets JC Backing

Oakland County's 25 Jaycee chapters are cooperating with the public education campaign of the Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County to increase the countywide use of safety belts.

April 12 has been designated as "Jaycee Lock-It-To-Me Day," said Gary A. Miller, Jaycee regional chairman for the cooperative program.

* * *

Jaycees will be stationed at gasoline service stations, car washes and other key locations on that date to distribute "Lock-It-To-Me" bumper stickers and brochures, Miller said.

Exam Is Slated in Traffic Death

A preliminary court examination for a Pontiac man charged with involuntary manslaughter in a traffic death is scheduled for April 1 before Waterford Township District Judge Kenneth H. Hempstead.

Gordon E. Browne, 24, of 131 Waterly stood mute to the charge when he was arraigned yesterday before Judge Hempstead.

Browne has been identified by Oakland County Jail after failing to meet a bond of $5,000.

Brown has been identified by police as the driver of the car that struck and killed Joel E. Smith, 24, of 59 Lincoln Saturday.

Smith was crossing the Dixie Highway near Silver Circle, Waterford Township, when the accident occured at 1:25 a.m.

Bandit Sought in 2 Holdups

Supermarkets Robbed in Waterford Twp.

Waterford Township police are searching today for a lone bandit who may have held up two local supermarkets yesterday.

Police said they think the same man may have been involved in armed robberies of Nestor's Market, 5446 Cooley Lake, at 2:17 p.m. and a Kroger Food Store, 4370 Dixie, at 8:58 p.m.

* * *

In both instances, there were similarities in descriptions of the robber, the weapon used — an automatic pistol — and details of the robbery.

Police said the bandit who escaped from Nestor's with about $120 was described as a white male, 21 years of age and 5-feet-5 with dark brown hair, wearing a short brown jacket, dirty brown pants and sunglasses.

PULLED HIS GUN

The robber walked into the market, police said, asked a checkout girl for change, and then pulled his gun and told the girl to empty the contents of her register into a paper bag.

In the Kroger holdup, a robber described as a white male, 20-to-25 years of age, 5-feet-8 and weighing about 170 and wearing a brown three-quarter-length jacket, dark trousers and a hood, escaped with $110-to-$130, police said.

The robber entered through the store's front door, picked up a grocery bag, pulled his gun and told a checkout girl to empty the register's contents into the bag, according to police.

After complying, the girl rang for the store manager, and the bandit fled, police said.

GM Chief Hails Strides 'No New Engine Yet'

By JIM LONG

Despite reports of radical new engines, motorists apparently will have to be content — at least for a while — with their old four, six and eight cylinders.

ROCHE

James M. Roche, chairman of the board of General Motors Corp., today discounted reports that the Pontiac Motor Division is ready to produce its "X-4" three-passenger car.

"It is a purely experimental model and that is all," explained Roche.

* * *

The Associated Press said yesterday that a story in the April issue of Popular Science Monthly magazine reported that authorization for production of car could be granted "at any time." The car reportedly has a four-cylinder engine arranged in a radial layout.

"We have up to 20 experimental models being developed," said Roche, "and this is just one of them."

* * *

Roche commented on the report following a Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce breakfast. He was the guest speaker.

Speaking on a wide range of topics affecting the auto industry and the consumer, Roche, head of GM since 1967, said he saw no end to inflationary pressures in the foreseeable future.

* * *

When questioned by newsmen about possible price increases in the 1970 models Roche said it was too early to comment, but indicated that it was unavoidable in view of the continuing inflationary trend.

Pontiac Div. 'X-4' Is Not Ready--Roche

'A FINE JOB'

He said that he believed, however, that the auto industry has done a "fine job" of containing the forces of inflation and, based on the cost index, cars cost no more than they did 10 years ago.

* * *

The recall of several million GM cars and trucks, announced recently by the corporation, will probably not have any effect on sales, Roche said.

* * *

"Recalls are not new," said Roche. "The first was in 1916 involving Buicks, and they have been going on ever since. The thing that is new is the publicity that is given them."

* * *

The future of the auto industry, Roche said, is one of growth. He noted that 9.6 million cars were sold in 1968. "And we think this will continue."

CONCERNED WITH SAFETY

The auto industry, said Roche, was concerned with safety long before federal legislation was passed in 1966.

"The safey factory, however, doesn't always lie with the auto, Roche noted."

* * *

"More enforcement of laws and legislation and better-designed highways are also needed," he said.

* * *

'M' Drops Pair to Arizona Nine

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State University scored a double baseball win over Michigan Monday, swamping the Wolverines 19-3 in the first game then squeezing by 5-3 in the nightcap.

★ ★ ★

Bill Massarend's bases-loaded triple in the sixth inning broke a one-one tie in the second game and put the Devils on the road to victory.

★ ★ ★

Bill Massarend led the Sun Devil assault in the first game going 2-3 and picking up six RBI's. Massarend also had the game's only home run in the sixth.

First Game

Michigan	101	000	010	—	3	6	1
Ariz. State	305	245	21x	—	19	11	1

File, Ritter (5) and Tilone, Lunstedt (8). Hansen, Haynes (8) and Welton, WP—Hansen (3-1). LP—File (0-1). HR—Massarend (6).

Second Game

Michigan	010	000	002	—	3	5	0
Ariz. State	001	004	00x	—	5	8	1

Christman and Lundstedt, Gura and Powell. WP—Gura (6-0). LP—Christman (0-1).

BOWLING

There's no letup in the fine scoring pace established by the local bowlers during this second half of the season, although the emphasis does shift from house to house and league to league sometimes.

The most noteworthy of the recent series reported was young Donald Likens' sizzling performance at West Side Lanes last week when he spilled the pins at a 251 clip for three games, posting a 278 high and a 235 low while setting a new West Side 6:30 p.m. classic record of 754.

It also ranks among the top half dozen actuals rolled in league play in the North Oakland County area this season. He had 13 straight strikes in one stretch. Likens carries a 184 average.

MASTERS MEN

That same night in the Wonderland Lanes Masters Ron Cotner and Meryl Taulbee both had big nights. Cotner set the overall pace with 269-218-237—724 while Taulbee's bright moment came when he finished off a 275 game.

★ ★ ★

Perry Allagreen Jr., posted a 706 series, and Frank Hochstein Jr., registered 258—699 totals.

Collier Lanes' house men that same Monday were led by Gail Bracken who hit 257-247—693 for Indianwood Automotive. Morris Young had a 246-203—638, while 235's were posted by Lee Brown and Alfred Phillips. Gary Meyers added a 233.

One of the real veterans of Pontiac bowling and American Bowling Congress Tournament action, Mitch Calbi, let the younger fellows in the Huron Bowl Classic see there is still some punch left in his southpaw delivery recently by rolling a 230 game.

★ ★ ★

Art Pearson's 225-231—680 led the pinspilling that night, although Joe Myers and Nick Coates were strong with 212-257—671 and 258-234—659, respectively. Bill Sweeney recorded a 245 game.

A 220-244—673 by Fat Keith, a 652 by Don Clark, and 648's by Bill Landry and Wally Szeremet featured last Tuesday's Airway Lanes Classic.

The 300 Bowl Classic recently listed Joe Foster high with his 222-242—642. Taking the high game honors that same night was "Mo" Moore with a 247. Close behind were Bill Willson's 245 (631) and Ron Smith's 244.

★ ★ ★

Among the distaffers, Barbara Baldwin sparkled at Sylvan Lanes with a 245 game.

Returning to 300 Bowl, it was the scene of a rousing duel among the Friday night Ladies' All Stars when the Orchard Lanes team met Herk's Auto Supply. Though Orchard scored with a solid 974 game, it only managed a split with Herk's who had 907—2652 highs. Orchard finished with 2644.

★ ★ ★

Top Mentors at Grid Clinic

Allen, Rodgers Slated for Redford Sessions

Some of the nation's top football coaching talent will be on hand when the Motor City Football Clinic opens at Redford St. Mary High School Friday.

Headlining the event is George Allen, head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, who is slated to address the coaches gathering at 8:30 Friday evening.

Others on the two-day program are Glenn 'Bo' Schembechler, new head coach at University of Michigan; Pepper Rodgers of University of Kansas; Chuck Fairbanks of University of Oklahoma; Roy Kramer of Central Michigan; grid assistant George Perles of Michigan State University; and Al Baumgart coach at Center Line St. Clement.

The Detroit Catholic Coaches Association is sponsoring the event along with the Greater Detroit Ford Dealers.

The program opens at 6:15 Friday with Perles discussing secondary defense. Fairbanks and Allen follow Perles.

Baumgart, Rodgers, Schembechler and Kramer will address the group Saturday morning.

Buddhists to Meet in Malaysia in April

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Buddhists from 22 nations will meet next month in a Moslem nation to discuss the formation of a world headquarters.

The meeting of the general conference of the World Fellowship of Buddhists will be in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

★ ★ ★

This typifies an ecumenical spirit that has taken root in the Buddhist faith in recent years, similar to that in the Christian churches.

"We don't want to convert anyone," says the fellowship's president, Princess Poon Pismai Diskul. "All we want is more understanding between religions and between people, and that is why we have chosen Kuala Lumpur for our conference."

GRANDDAUGHTER

The diminutive, graying princess is a granddaughter of King Mongkvt, who was portrayed in the book "Anna and the King of Siam."

Three countries have been suggested as likely places for the Buddhist headquarters, Burma, Ceylon and Thailand.

Thailand, which has 20,000 temples, 250,000 monks and a population of 32 million — of which 99 per cent are Buddhists, is the most likely choice.

★ ★ ★

President Princess Poon, as she is known in the Buddhist fraternity, said the Buddhist headquarters would need a considerably larger staff than the present 10 at the World Fellowship of Buddhists.

NEWS BULLETIN

"We would publish a news bulletin for Buddhists, hold seminars, do research, start a library and propagate Buddhism," she said.

To function, the headquarters would need financial support from Buddhists all over the world. The fellowship at present has operating expenses of less than $20,000 a year. Most of this is met by the Thai government.

★ ★ ★

The lack of money can be embarrassing, as in the case of 20 acres of Canadian land 14 miles from Niagara Falls which was given to the fellowship in 1966 by a Chinese Canadian, Chan Le Wu.

The land was to become an international Buddhist center, but so far no funds have been available to develop it.

MORE ACTIVE?

At a time when clerics and laymen of many churches are becoming more active in politics, Princess Poon is one who believes that politics and religion should not mix.

"It is not right," she observes. "We are above it."

★ ★ ★

Appeals to politicians by such religious heads as the Pope have been futile, she says, because they have been unheeded.

As for monks who become political activists in South Vietnam, Princess Poon insists: "They are not Buddhists."

TIME IS COMING

However, some members of the fellowship feel the time is coming when Buddhist organizations will have to become directly involved.

Dr. G.P. Malalsekera, former president of the fellowship, told delegates at the last conference that in Asia "where Buddhists live in very large numbers, there is a general upsurge of renascent nationalities, seeking self-expression.

★ ★ ★

"I have a strong feeling, therefore, that before long we shall be compelled to adopt definite attitudes, whether we like it or not, in regard to political events of deep and wide human concern," he added.

The Buddhist religion is 2,562 years old. The fellowship was established in 1950.

Its limited nonpolitical aims are to promote the strict obedience and practice of Buddha's teachings, and to unify the various sects, particularly the biggest division between the Mahayan and Hinayan sects, to organize social, cultural and educational activities and to work for world peace.

Part of the latter objective includes meeting with leaders and people of other faiths, to work out common ground.

Florida Species of Deer Gaining

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — Florida's little Key deer have managed to survive hurricanes, hunting and even modern traffic.

Down to an estimated 40 or less in 1947, the diminutive animals long have been perilously close to extinction. The current population — estimated to be over 500 — encourages conservationists.

★ ★ ★

Key deer, however, still are classified as an endangered species. Zoologists seek not only to protect them, but to learn precisely how they have withstood such a variety of hazards.

The National Geographic Society, through its Committee for Research and Exploration, is supporting a study of the population ecology of Key deer by Dr. Willard D. Klimstra, professor of zoology at Southern Illinois University and director of the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory.

TINY TRANSMITTERS

Dr. Klimstra, who has been observing the deer for the past year with support from the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, will continue to follow their movements by attaching miniature radio transmitters to the animals.

Knowledge of the Key deer's social behavior may give important clues on how they have existed on such a limited range.

RECOGNIZE THESE MEN? WE JUST RECOGNIZED BOTH OF THEM.

The business leaders you see here are among 673 representatives throughout the country who qualified for Mass. Mutual's 1969 President's Club. Perhaps you saw their pictures in the March 7 issue of LIFE.

Each of these top life insurance professionals performed outstanding service for his clients and his community last year. Each created one million dollars or more of individual life insurance and annuity protection for his clients to achieve this honor.

If you recognize either of them, chances are you'll know from experience why we're proud to recognize both of them.

For Retarded Children

Day Care Center Support Needed

The Oakland County Association for Retarded Children has charged that, in many respects, the needs and rights of the retarded are not being met in Oakland County.

Brent C. Glazier, executive director of the association, calls the provision of day care centers for retarded a public responsibility. He noted that parents are providing two of the four centers in operation.

"There are at least 100 children in our county who are known to be in need of day care services," Glazier said.

The ceiling imposed by the state on special education funds and use of the word "emergency" as it applies to waiting lists for residential care were also cited as injustices to the retarded in the county and state.

★ ★ ★

Glazier said that emergency cases as they apply to a child's admittance to Lapeer State Home and Training School mean a wait of anywhere from six months to two years.

The association is conducting its annual membership drive. Further information is available from the association.

Want Ads Deliver

The first person who labeled a baby "small but mighty" knew whereof he spoke! A tiny newborn can bring more changes in a household for its size than anything in the world. This happy young mother has already learned when baby has a new need, a Want Ad will deliver the solution. In her case the time has come to move out of the bassinet and into a baby bed. Responding to a Want Ad, she has her bed. Behind that Want Ad, another mother, relying on Want Ads, sold the no longer needed baby bed for cash.
