

Settle TWA-Union Dispute Over Jet Crews

Hoping to Push Agriculture Bill Through Today

Dem Chiefs Face Tight Vote on Controversial Measure in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders hope to push through the administration's controversial farm bill late today by the margin of a few votes.

Two days of acrimonious debate ended Wednesday and the long process of amendment began, with 15 votes on before the House quit for the day.

Sometime today a test vote is likely to come on a key Republican amendment to substitute for the entire bill a more extensive of the present voluntary wheat and feed grain program.

Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma said Wednesday night he believed he had enough votes to win.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman stationed himself across the hall in Speaker John W. McCormack's office Wednesday, to help persuade wavering Democrats.

There appeared to be no hope of persuading any Republicans to vote for it, although Freeman tried by sending a letter to about 30 GOP members.

OFFER LIST
Democratic members of the agriculture committee Wednesday started offering a long list of "amendments" designed to make the bill conform to the already passed Senate version, which is not quite as harsh.

It is on these amendments that Albert based his hope of attracting enough support to get it through.

But none of these amendments strips out the basic fundamentals of the bill, which are mandatory acreage reductions for wheat and feed grains, with strict penalties for overplanting.

Democrats said the bill would begin to cut down the gigantic grain surplus, which cost $1 billion a year just to store. Republicans rejected the compulsory provisions, and said the bill would make Freeman a czar over American agriculture.

Democrats solidly turned back a Republican attempt to tack on a civil rights rider, which they contended was simply an effort to scuttle the bill. It would have required that there be no segregation in recreational facilities built with federal help under a land use section of the bill.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (U.P.) — Acting U.N. Secretary General U. Thant has prodded Indonesian President Sukarno again to negotiate with the Netherlands soon on the future of West New Guinea.

Sukarno yesterday questioned Dutch acceptance "in principle" of U.S. diplomat Ellsworth Bunker's plan to settle the dispute.

Look Beyond Red Barrier

Reds' Build-Up Pontiac Might Get Fluoride After All

U.S. Watching Boost in Troops by Chinese Opposite Quemoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House acknowledged concern today over a build-up of Chinese Communist forces on the mainland opposite the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said that "the administration has been watching with concern the build-up of (Red) Chinese air and ground troops."

Other officials had said earlier that intelligence reports suggested the massing of troops is on the largest scale since the war in Korea.

Government sources described forces in the area as greater than the build-up at the time of the 1958 crisis when Communist artillery bombarded Quemoy and Matsu day after day.

While it is possible that the Chinese Reds are reassembling forces for defensive purposes, these sources said, the size and character of the movement also indicates they could be used for offensive purposes.

PRESIDENT MUM
President Kennedy, it was learned, has not expressed personal opinion on the question of defense of the offshore islands — a subject of debate between him and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 campaign.

There was no immediate indication as to whether the United States was considering any moves as a result of the build-up.

At present there are 32 communities drawing Detroit water. In Oakland County, the service already goes to communities south of Birmingham.

Call Off Strike Facing Airline Following Pact

Agree Upon Reducing the Number of Men in Cockpit

(From Our News Wire)
WASHINGTON — The flight engineers union today settled its jet crew dispute with Trans World Air Lines and called off a threatened strike while the agreement is submitted for union ratification.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg announced the settlement of the 20-month-old dispute following an all-night negotiating session in his office.

The settlement, a victory for President Kennedy who had termed the threatened shutdown a menace to the national economy, provides for orderly reduction of jet plane crews from four men to three.

That had been the crux of the dispute, with the engineers insisting on terms which would maintain their cockpit job rights.

The TWA agreement is expected to lift the threat of grounding the planes of two other major airlines, Pan American World Airways and Eastern Airlines, which face the same problem of reducing crew numbers.

Goldberg told reporters the pact protects the jobs of the 600 TWA members of the flight engineers' international association and assures continued identity of their union.

Signs that an agreement was near had appeared early in the day.

The agreement was initiated at 9:30 a.m. Positive time, by weary bargainers who have been in almost continuous session since Monday.

Union spokesmen said they were pleased with the agreement and would recommend its adoption by the 615 TWA flight engineers.

CONFIDENT OF APPROVAL
Goldberg said he was confident the pact would be approved and thus cancel the strike. He said it assured an orderly reduction of jet crews from four to three men on TWA.

"In the opinion of the administration," he said, "this settlement is clearly in the national interest and avoids the disruption that would have taken place if a strike occurred."

The settlement assures the engineers, who must now qualify as pilots, that they will have top priority for assignment as the third man in the cockpit with two pilots.

It also provides assurance, Goldberg said, that the 3,000-man engineers' union will not be swallowed in the 11,000-man pilots' union as bargaining representative for its members.

The spokesman for the engineers, attorney Arthur Schwartz, said the pact assures his organization "greater assurance in their jobs as flight engineers than they have ever had" under any contract.

KENNEDY PLEASED

State Students at White House

MEET KENNEDY — President Kennedy greets a group of big-hearted Glen Lake, Mich. high school seniors at the White House grounds. The students, who gave up their class trip fund to help pay medical bills of cancer-stricken classmate Duane Richardson, received a surprise invitation to visit the capital from the President. Washington residents footed the bill.

Class Visits President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy greeted graduates of Michigan's Glen Lake High School at the White House today and told them "no group of high school students has ever been more welcome in Washington or at this house."

The 33 students received special acclaim because they decided to give up their long-planned class trip to Washington and use their savings to help pay the medical bills of an ailing classmate.

An outpouring of gifts from other sources enabled them to make the trip anyway.

Kennedy referring to their action said: "All the lessons that a trip to this capital and this house might have taught you, you learned in your own hometown."

Speaking to the group in the rose garden of the White House, Kennedy welcomed the students as "honored guests," and told them "this house belongs to you. Many of the people you've read about in your history books lived here."

Kennedy called to his side Duane Richardson, 17, the class member whose cancer triggered the generosity of his classmates.

He shook hands also with other class members and promised to sign diplomas and other items "if you'll leave them at the White House, and I'll send them to your hotel."

Coming to Darlene King, Kennedy was heard to say: "You're getting married? We won't see you, then for awhile."

Approaching Sandra Lefley, he said: "How about you? You're not getting married are you?"

"Yes, she is," giggled another girl. "My—you have a very active class," quipped the President.

Until yesterday, when the Glen Lake students arrived in Washington in a steady rain, the White House visit took place on a sunny, cool morning.

The visit with Kennedy climaxed an hour-long guided tour of the White House, to which students had looked forward eagerly.

Summer Arrives Today but It'll Still Be Cool

The good old summertime arrives today — officially at 4:24 p.m.

The weatherman said tonight will be fair and cool, the low about 58.

Scattered showers are forecast for Friday afternoon or evening with the temperature aiming for a high of 74. Widely scattered showers may be expected Saturday.

Fifty-five was the low reading prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The thermometer recorded 76 at 2 p.m.

To Make Bid for Survey of County Health Facilities

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors will be asked Monday to authorize a close scrutiny of county health and medical care facilities in relation to needs.

Both the board's health committee and Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore are asking for surveys to determine where the health services might be inadequate.

The committee is recommending that the United Community Service of Metropolitan Detroit be retained for $15,000 to conduct the survey.

In a letter to Board Chairman Deke Hamlin, Judge Moore recommends a survey proposed by George Williams, business manager of Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

WILLIAMS' PLAN
Williams' plan would place a county caseworker in each major hospital in the county to determine:

1—How many persons do not receive necessary care under the present Kerr-Mills plan under which Michigan operates.

2—How many persons would not receive necessary care under the proposed King-Anderson plan.

3—How many "unknown" persons need mental hospitalization on an out-patient basis.

4—How many emotionally disturbed, insane or handicapped children need care and for whom no application has been made.

5—How many adults or children have other unmet medical needs.

Health Committee Chairman Cyril Miller, while he hadn't read Judge Moore's letter, said he expected these same factors would be derived into as a part of the proposed Detroit Community Services Survey.

The UCS group already has completed a preliminary study requested by the board's ways and means committee April 27.

The preliminary study describes:

Pontiac City Airport Should Be Expanded

Apparently, the proposed airport north of Pontiac is doomed. Without the blessing of Federal agencies, the project comes to an abrupt halt and that's where the matter stands.

Thus, the area may lose hundreds of jobs in new employment and the investment of many millions from the Federal and State treasuries. Every dollar that we advanced would have been matched by an equal amount from the State—and doubled by Washington.

Residents of the area were vehement in their protests and their position has been substantiated by the Federal ruling. Now it would seem that a real development program should be instituted at the Pontiac Airport. Imperial surveys of Southeastern Michigan show that this whole area with Oakland County's huge population will be woefully short of air accommodations.

The Press has contended for some time that the Pontiac Airport has long since graduated from the status of a purely City project. It belongs to the County and City together as it serves an entire area. The actual usage by people within the corporate limits of Pontiac is only a fraction of the whole.

It has been suggested that an Authority might be established with the County and City having representation, plus a citizen or two at-large. If each political entity had two members with two at-large, it would be a representative board and still "workable." As groups increase in size, they tend to become unwieldy and no single member accepts his individual responsibility as directly. Perhaps the County should have greater representation.

In any event, the plans that had been projected for the airport north of the City could well be shifted to the City Airport as far as possible. This is far, far inadequate for aviation of the future. The current runway should be extended to a minimum of 10,000 feet with a north-south strip added.

At the moment, traffic from the City of Pontiac to the airport makes the narrow, two-lane pavement wholly insufficient. Traffic limps, creeps and wheezes most of the way. Michigan Highway Commissioner JOHN MACKIE and H. MORRIS THATCHER should study this together in the light of the possibility that Pontiac City Airport may be greatly expanded. Could work on this highway be moved ahead?

When the most logical thing fails, recourse must be taken in the next best. The finger rests on the City Airport.

Fathers Can Tell You—Weddings Big Business

Fathers of 200,000 June brides will bear useful witness to the fact that marriage has become big business. Just ask one!

The usual wedding costs $1,500. With an average of 1.5 million marriages annually over the past decade, Business Week notes that it is costing $2.2 billion a year just to get the bride and groom out of the church.

Start adding on the costs of setting up housekeeping—furniture, apartments, new homes—and one can understand why financial writer J. A. Livingston says, "Bear markets can't compete with dotting fathers of the bride." His conclusion is bolstered by government estimates that 1.62 million couples will go to the altar in 1962 and possibly as many as 1.9 million only four years later.

A profile of this season's newly married would differ but little from that shown by statistics for 1960. Then, the median age for bridegrooms was 22.3 years, for brides 20.3 years. More men were being married at 21 than at any other age, and more women at 18.

The continuing trend toward early marriage has provoked much social commentary, most of it critical not only of high separation and divorce rates associated with precocious unions, but also of their "stunting effect" on the young people involved.

The month of June, the traditional marrying month which gets its name from the Roman goddess Juno, is fast losing out as the big month for marriages locally. August is now a close second and may pass June this year.

David Lawrence Says: Any Price 'Understanding' Illegal

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has always maintained that he acted in the "public interest" in the steel-price controversy.

His brother, the attorney general, has just given some interesting background on what happened. He says that the administration based its action on an "assumption" or "understanding."

That the steel industry would absorb the added wage cost of $100 million without increasing prices.

Did the steel companies, however, have any such "understanding" with the government when prices were advanced or even when they were held down?

Was there concerted action between the White House and any steel company to fix the price of steel at present levels? Did the administration encourage any illegal act?

In an antitrust case in 1948, oil companies, which had been indicted for fixing the price of gasoline, argued that a governmental agency had encouraged, cooperated and acquiesced in their program. But the Supreme Court of the United States ruled:

ILLEGAL PER SE
"Under the Sherman Act a combination formed for the purpose and with the effect of raising, depressing, fixing, pegging, or stabilizing the price of a commodity is illegal per se."
"Though employees of the government may have known of those programs and winked at them or tacitly approved them, no immunity would have thereby been obtained."

ISSUES AND ANSWERS

The attorney general last Sunday spoke on the American Broadcasting Company's program called "Issues and Answers" and indicated that he would have welcomed a concerted action to hold prices and that he believes there was, by implication, some kind of an "assumption" or "understanding" between steel companies and the President.

Kennedy was interrogated by William H. Lawrence of ABC.
"The President and the administration were committed to attempting to stop the inflation in the United States and in that effort of course steel plays a major role. With the concurrence of steel executives, management, the President and Mr. Goldberg, secretary of labor, had many meetings with representatives in the steel union to attempt to prevail upon them to not make their demands excessive."

Blough of U.S. Steel that steel prices would not be raised?"

"A. No."

"Q. I thought you did say that just a minute ago."

"A. The effort that was made with the union—the steel union—was made with the complete understanding of the steel executives that the government was bringing this pressure to keep the steel union and Mr. David MacDonald from raising their demands to too high a level. During that whole period it was the effort was being made so that the steel companies in turn would not have to raise their prices."

"Q. Well, if there was not an understanding, Mr. Kennedy, there was at least an assumption on the part of the administration that there would be no steel price rise after this noninflationary wage agreement was signed?"

"A. That is correct."

"Q. And it was on this feeling of an assumption rather than an understanding that the President felt in effect that he had been double-crossed, right?"

"A. That is correct. The steel company executives, however, never said, never indicated or stated that they would not raise their prices, but it was an understanding as you described."

Yet, if the shoe were on the other foot and any "assumption" or "understanding" was reached among management executives in any industry whereby prices would be raised or maintained at a given level, the Department of Justice, on the basis of past performance, would be the first to assert that concerted action with or without government encouragement or consent is a violation of the antitrust laws. For that's what the Supreme Court has ruled is the "law of the land" today.

There is one thing that is sure to make you economical—running out of money.

Heard on all television stations: "We will return to the program right after this identification. And three or four commercials."

Every girl is sweet enough to eat if her boy friend takes her to a good restaurant.

There's often a lot of racket in old cars and, when filled with kids, even more in new ones.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Avoid Altitude Sickness on Summer Vacation

This summer, many thousands of us will take thousands of auto trips that will take us over mountain passes rising to 10,000 feet.

In some instances, the ascent will be made in the matter of a few hours.

In preparation for these ascents, the monthly bulletin of the American Heart Association has issued these words of information and caution:

You need not fear the manifestations of altitude sickness while going over these passes if you are in good physical condition and if you can plan your trip so that you do not have to speed from about sea level to the height of the pass.

However, if you have any trouble with your lungs or your heart, you would be wise to check with your doctor before you map your trip.

PREPARE FOR ASCENT

Whether well or slightly incapacitated, prepare for the ascent by getting a good night's sleep, and by avoiding alcoholic beverages, and smoking for at least 24 to 48 hours.

About an hour before beginning the ascent, take a good breakfast. But do not eat again during the remainder of the trip.

When you arrive at the high altitude area, indulge in a minimum of physical activity for at least 24 hours.

Prolong this period of rest as long as may be necessary if you register any of the symptoms of altitude sickness.

These consist of drowsiness, headache, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, dizziness and irritability or blueness of lips, ears, nose or mouth.

BEST QUICKLY

In the presence of any manifestation of altitude sickness, rest quietly and take only light nourishment.

If the symptoms are more than mild or are persistent, local authorities such as rangers in National Parks will be able to direct you to facilities where oxygen can be administered.

"Government should not com-

Are You an Extremist? Read This Paragraph

Every American should read this paragraph from "Life Lines." "I have made a new discovery. I am an extremist. I believe in God extremely. I believe in the United States of America and its Constitution extremely, and I get extremely irritated by people who scamper about condemning as radical or fanatical all those who have the gumption to stand up for what they believe."

'All Women Can't Play Same Role'

Women are very varied.

Perhaps their chief problem is that though they differ as individuals they are all expected to play the same role of adaptation to men; yet as they differ in themselves they must differ in their capacity to adapt to others.

They are usually expected to make a home, which requires practical ability and a discerning heart. Many are bad at it and are condemned accordingly. "But if every man had to build his own home, and continue to build it day after day, we would sometimes hear a cry of, 'But I'm not a natural builder.' Why can't women cry, 'But I'm not a natural homemaker or mother'?"

'Congress Is Losing Authority, Power'

The architects of the Constitution knew dictatorships were easy to establish and difficult to displace. Out of their bitter experience they went to great pains to spell out a system of checks and balances. They sought protection against undue concentration of power in any one branch.

In our early history the initiative was in Congress. The responsibility of the Chief Executive was to carry out those laws. Unfortunately, the trend has been toward relegating the Legislative Branch to a position of a junior partner. Executive encroachment has been noted in more and more. "Presidential government" rather than "Congressional government."

The diminishing exercise of responsibility by the Congress and its serious implications is not widely recognized. There is reason for concern. Authority and decision over the affairs of our country touch on the freedom of every citizen. Congress must not become a rubber stamp.

Congressman Thomas M. Pelly (Rep., Seattle, Wash.)

Portraits

By JOHN C. METCALFE

Oh, I wish that you would speak, dear. Of your love for me again. In those empty little moments and then... You could fill those little moments... With a joy inside of me... Which I think would beg description... Like the newborns on the sea... There is nothing quite so tender... As impromptu words of love... Nor a thing that is so certain... To bring stars to skies above... Any empty little moments... Filled with love in day or night... Can change heaviest of burdens... Into bundles small and light... So I hope you will remember... When those moments do appear... They'll be yours... From your silent heart to hear.

Today is Thursday, June 21, the 172nd day of the year with 193 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1788, the U.S. Constitution became effective as the ninth state ratified it.

In 1945, Japan surrendered to the United States in the battle for Iwo Jima Island in the Pacific.

In 1948, a communications worker demonstrated his "long-playing" record that revolutionized the entire recording industry.

"Republicans reject attempts to run a legislative bulldozer through the structure of voluntary health insurance and private medicine." (Washington Post)

"Every American youth should have the opportunity to receive an education... Selective federal assistance is needed." (Administration supports bill giving aid to all public schools for all school purposes.)

"The national government should be ready to co-operate with states and localities, not smother them with direction and control." (Administration plans for school aid, urban areas and medical care violate this principle.)

"We reject the administration's proposal which gives the farmer less than his fair share of the nation's income."

This was one charge the registration did not amonate, but it is obvious the reference is to the Kennedy-Freeman plan program now before Congress.

It's Trading Stamp Madness

By PHYLIS RATTELLE
NEW YORK — Now I think they've gone too far. When a funeral home offers trading stamps—really!

The idea of a kindly family friend earning a rosette for making the "arrangements" is just a bit Charles Addamsish for my taste. But then, my taste has always been questionable on these matters. I don't like the flavor of stamps and until recently have refused, narrow-mindedly, to lick them.

My theory has been that trading stamps clutter up the house, take space, consume too much time. As of a wage earner to whom time is both money and luxury, it seemed foolish to collect for months in order to receive an item which I could have had last January if I'd kept my nose to the grindstone rather than my tongue to the gum.

However, under the pressure of public opinion, (and my husband who kept bringing them in dribbling units of five), I began collecting stamps last month. Now I have a new theory:

A greed for trading stamps can lead to a glut of euphoric, refrigerator and stomachs.

Never before have our kitchen shelves teetered under the weight of so much canned goods; the freezer bulges like an igloo; the desk drawers are jammed with linguished stamps, but it's nothing like the jam-up in the refrigerator. And if we don't stop trying to put away all the food we've collected in order to get rich quick the sticky way, someone's going to win that rosette for sure.

By joining the ranks of the 40,000,000 American families who collect stamps, we have gone completely berserk in the supermarket. We need to buy a phone, from a small neighborhood grocer who charged an arm and a leg but only sent what you wanted.

Now that we've joined the collecting cult, we pay an arm and a leg for things we don't need or want. And to make the idiosyncrasy complete, we're just a bit disappointed, when we reach the check-out counter, to find that our total unneeded and unwanted goodies add up to only $22... Gee, we kind of thought they'd be enough to finish a book!

To make the lunacy supreme, I have before me the "Gift Book" which offers "your wonderful world of precious gifts" which will open up to our family when our collection is complete.

There are only two items in the book I really feel we will need and want more than the unneeded and wanted groceries now messing up our kitchen.

One of them, a bicycle for our son, takes "only" 16 books. But by the time he puts away enough food to make that feasible, he'll be too fat to be bicycle-portable.

ONLY 56 BOOKS

The other is a slim-line portable TV set. Only 56 books. In order to get that set before it goes out of production, we will have to buy an old-fashioned townhouse (nearby a supermarket dealing in our type stamps, of course) with a kitchen huge enough to hold plenty of products.

We are looking into it. We've found the ideal place but it costs $90,000, plus about $50,000 in renovations—and that seems high for a bonus TV. Even slim-line.

I guess maybe this game is too slow for me. I have been over spending on groceries for more than a month now, and I'm still 62 stamps short of filling my first book. I think I'll go to the store this afternoon, buy 62 stamps worth, turn in my book on a "Bless This Home" and "Child's Prayer" plaques of lightweight brass.

Of course, if I happen to go over the 62 stamps, then I'll be on another book so I might as well finish it and pick up a brass-plated bird cage, plastic base, complete with sliding door, removable seed guards, feed and water cups.

That way, I'd have an excuse to buy a bird and thus have one more mouth to feed, and then I could pick up more stamps for seed, cleaning equipment, etc. Maybe the store would even be kind enough to sell me some water for the bird—wouldn't bring in many stamps, but every little bit counts. I guess I'm hooked.

Gen. John C. Fremont, soldier-explorer, named San Francisco's Golden Gate. In a letter to the U.S. Congress he explained "I gave the name of 'Chrysopylae' or Golden Gate for the same reason that the harbor of Byzantium was called 'Chrysoceras' or Golden Horn."

Cubans Battle Over Dictator

Factions in New York Gather and, in Melee, Burn Castro Dummy

NEW YORK (AP)—Several hundred Cubans, for and against Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, battled sporadically for three hours outside a meeting hall on Wednesday night. Two Molotov cocktails were tossed but did no damage.

During the melee, a dummy likeness of Castro was trampled and burned.

Six men were arrested on charges of unlawful assembly, malicious mischief and violation of the Sullivan (anti-weapons) law. One man was stabbed but he fled the scene in a taxi. Several men were taken to hospitals with head, leg and arm bruises.

The disturbance began after the "Cuban American Civil Rights Committee" met at Palm Gardens on West 52nd street "to protest the persecution of Cuban Americans who favor the Castro government."

Anti-Castro Cubans gathered outside. The riot started when several men left the hall to rebuke the crowd for shouting "Down with Castro!"

School Unable to Open Because of Slight Error

NEW YORK (UPI)—It may not be commonly known but sewers, it seems, play a significant role in the elaborate workings of modern education.

Take for example the dilemma facing a new $3.5-million junior high school in the Queens area of New York City.

It has been under construction for the past 17 months and now it is almost finished. Original plans called for a September opening.

But classrooms will be empty in the new school next fall and the reason, says the board of education, is because the city failed to build sewers in adjacent streets to serve the building.

Specifically, the school board said the city neglected to appropriate $14,000 for the necessary sewer line.

If and when the city does get around to the project, the board said it would take at least six months to install the system.

City officials yesterday offered a number of explanations, but in general each insisted it was someone else's fault.

The board converted itself of all blame in the matter.

Alaska has more than seven million acres of national parks including Mt. McKinley, highest on the continent.

Sparingly populated New Zealand has only 2.5-million inhabitants. Its two islands are about the size of Colorado.

Give brown-and-serve rolls enough time to thaw, when you take them from the freezer, before baking.

The first white visitors to what is now Colorado was Coronado's expedition which reached here in 1540.

WHAT'S COOKING? — Kevin Miller admires the "cooking" results of his grandmother, Mrs. Oliver Parks of Decatur, Ill. The recipe: A dozen duck eggs cooked several weeks in a skillet over a pilot light. The result: Five wild ducklings, so far.

His Line of Duty Stretches a Bit With the Rain

ROCKVILLE, Md. (U-P) — Postman William Bucklin braved the rains Wednesday in completing his appointed rounds—but not until he finally resorted to swim trunks.

Bucklin, 20, started his day in full uniform. He got soaked in a matter of minutes, went home and donned his only spare uniform.

The rains continued. He again went home and this time chose the trunks. The latter, he said, matched his postal hat pretty close.

Customer reaction to his third ensemble, he said, was mixed. Some liked it, some didn't and some called his boss to report that Bucklin was not only out of uniform but in hardly any clothes.

PCH Heating System Will Be Revamped

The heating system at Pontiac Central High School will be revamped to use gas-burning furnaces as part of the school's boiler rehabilitation program.

The Pontiac Board of Education made this decision Tuesday night in a special session in which members heard reports on the advantages of gas versus coal from representatives of both industries.

The contract for gas furnaces and general heating system rehabilitation went to the Steve Krucko Plumbing and Heating Co. of Drayton Plains at the low bid of $70,975. Installation is to be completed for the fall-heating season.

Some insects live uncashed on insect-eating plants. Certain small moths, for example, lay their eggs only on pitcher plants and the larvae feed on the plant tissues.

Army Lifts Restriction On Servicemen in Seoul

SEOUL (U-P) — The U.S. Army today lifted a two-week-old order restricting U.S. servicemen in Seoul to their compounds.

The restriction had been in effect since June 8 following Korean student demonstrations over an incident in which two U.S. Army officers beat a Korean civilian.

The city of Baltimore in 1821 was the first in America to use gas for street lighting.

yesterday that its concept of Christian unity is not the same as that advocated by non-Catholics.

The Protestant idea of ecumenicalism—universal unity—is something very different from the true unity desired and recommended by Christ, a Vatican statement said.

ISSUED BY UNIT

The statement was issued as the central preparatory commission concluded its work of preparing documents and subjects to be discussed at the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council opening here Oct. 11.

In effect, the communique stated once again—as Pope John XXIII and other Catholic prelates have said—that the Roman Catholic Church considers ecumenicalism possible only by the return of the separated brothers, as Catholics refer to Protestants, to the Roman Church.

Fraction Uses Seat Belts

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 2 million automobiles in the United States are equipped with seat belts, Dodge safety engineers estimate. The number of belt-equipped cars is only about 13 percent of all the automobiles on American highways. About one-third of the motorists whose cars are equipped with belts use them regularly, the safety men said.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Charles Marvin Bennett, a Tampa salesman, offered an unusual gift when he was arrested on a charge of driving 50 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone.

"My motor was overheated and I didn't want to burn it up," said Bennett.

"That's a new one to me," said Hendry. "That'll be $20 or 10 days."

'U. N. Must Act' in Urundi Threat

Williams Says Violence May Erupt as 2 Lands Gain Independence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams warned yesterday that the United Nations must act soon if it is to avoid violence in the African territories of Ruanda and Urundi.

The assistant secretary for African affairs said "rapid action is necessary to break the log jam" in the United Nations over how best to avoid disorder when the two Belgian territories become independent nations in less than two weeks.

He said "time is running out." In a policy address at Georgetown University, Williams told of conflict between the Watutsi and Bahutu peoples in Ruanda. He said "it is feared that both await independence to settle the score once and for all."

His remarks were viewed as endorsement of Belgium's plan to delay withdrawal of its troops until after independence.

"To deal with likely unrest," Williams said, "probably neither Ruanda and Ruanda (as they will be called after independence) has as yet sufficiently trained indigenous troops to do unaided the job being done by the Belgian troops."

Premature departure of the Belgian troops could create a "critical" situation, he said.

Says Business Inconsistent in Criticism of JFK

George J. Fulkerson, one of two Democrats campaigning for the party's nomination as U.S. congressman from Oakland County, has charged that big business is inconsistent in its criticism of President Kennedy.

"In 1960, businessmen condemned Kennedy's policies as inflationary," Fulkerson said. "Now they are complaining because of his strong drive to end inflation."

Fulkerson, a Birmingham attorney, favors giving Kennedy greater standby powers to reduce taxes and initiate public works programs when the need arises.

Fulkerson is opposed for the Democratic congressional nomination by George Lennox of Royal Oak. The winner of the primary election will face Republican incumbent U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield in the November general election.

Supervisors Undecided on Buying Vote Equipment

The question of whether to bid on automatic voting equipment used at the constitutional convention faced indecision this week at a joint meeting of the ways and means and building and grounds committees of the Oakland County board of supervisors.

Now it goes to the special building committee.

CUTS CONSIDERED

Budget cuts—and even deficit financing—have been considered by the board of supervisors since the county allocation board gave the county $3.5 million for operations next year, less than the county asked to meet budget needs.

Opposed to purchasing the voting machinery, Supervisor R. Clay Cummings of Pontiac, expressed a fear the county would be criticized for "spending money for something we don't need."

"We'll be criticized either way," replied Lefley Davis, Pontiac Township supervisor said. Cummings is a member of the ways and means committee, Davis, of the building and grounds committee.

A voice vote to forget about the voting equipment barely lost to another voice vote on transferring the question to the special building committee.

Scientist Says Russia May Plan 1-Way Ride for Lunar Landing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A scientist says the Soviet Union could be planning to land a cosmonaut on the moon in a one-way suicide mission.

If the United States should plan such a mission, it would put the nation ahead 1½ to two years scientifically, John M. Cord, a Bell Aerospace Co. engineer, said Tuesday.

He presented a paper at the Institute of the Aerospace Sciences. "The One-Way Manned Space Mission," it analyzed the feasibility of what could turn into a suicide mission.

He emphasized that such a space feat, without the facilities to bring the man back, would be "extremely hazardous."

NO WAY BACK

"One or more men—or women—could live for months, even years, on the moon," Cord said. "But at present they would not be able to get back until the Apollo project provides the return vehicles."

Another paper, presented by H. H. Koelle and H. O. Ruge of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said that manned earth orbital flights cost $10 million. They said NASA hopes to reduce the cost to $30,000 by 1975.

Delegate to Talk on Proposed State Constitution

ANN ARBOR (AP)—James K. Pollock, Republican delegate to the constitutional convention, will deliver a series of lectures here on the proposed new Michigan constitution, the University of Michigan has announced.

The talks, part of the university lecture series, start next Tuesday and run through July.

Pollock, chairman of the convention's committee on the Declaration of Rights, suffrage and elections, is former chairman of the U of M department of political science.

Sol Dann Starting Self-Imposed Exile

DETROIT (UPI)—Attorney Sol A. Dann, long a thorn in the side of Chrysler Corp., leaves today for Israel and self-imposed exile to protest the Middle East policies of the Kennedy administration.

The length of Dann's exile is indefinite. He may be back next month.

"I am leaving in protest against the policy of this administration which is discriminating against American citizens of the Jewish faith who are being treated as third class citizens," Dann said.

"They contribute to the American treasury with taxes that go to support Arab countries that maintain boycotts, restrictions and blockades against American citizens of the Jewish faith, he added.

Dann, who called a halt three months ago to his campaign against Chrysler management, plans to take his wife and three daughters with him.

TO KEEP RIGHTS

"While I am now officially an exile from America, I am not surrendering any of my rights as an American citizen," he said. Dann plans to keep his home here and let his partners run his law practice. He indicated he probably would make frequent trips to Detroit.

"I will fly back anytime that's necessary," he said. "There are many number of situations that may require my personal attention."

Hearings are coming up on law suits involving Dann and Chrysler and Studebaker-Packard.

Dann filed a suit against Studebaker because of that firm's financial arrangements with Chrysler.

His fight with Chrysler lasted three years and involved charges of mismanagement. It resulted in the firm filing a $30 million libel suit against Dann.

78 Pct. Happy in County

Survey Small Business

BY DICK HANSON

A sample survey of 150 small businesses in Oakland County shows 78 per cent find being located here "well suited" to their needs, according to the Oakland County Planning Department.

Another 15 per cent of those included in the planning department's survey termed problems and assets about equal here. Seven per cent said they were "agitated" by strong problems.

Ten of the 150 small businesses interviewed throughout the county said they were planning to relocate elsewhere.

They mostly blamed high labor costs and excessive government policies and taxes as having forced this decision.

According to Donald Heiden, assistant director of the county planning department, the disgruntled businessmen didn't single out local taxes as excessive, but treated state, local and federal taxes as one lump sum.

Local assets listed most frequently by the sample businesses were proximity to markets, rapport with customer offices and personal preference, Heiden noted.

The described personal preference as a feeling that Oakland County is a good place to live.

Other subjects were treated in the survey. A slight shifting of markets and increasing diversification of products were indicated.

NEED NEW MARKETS

A total 24 per cent of the sample businesses stated their future plans include finding new industrial markets. Fifteen per cent said they would be seeking new geographical markets as a means of expansion.

Also 29 per cent of these businesses said they are considering introducing new products in their lines.

The survey showed, according to Heiden, that from 1950 through 1960, 18 per cent of the sample businesses brought out new products, 21 per cent found new industrial markets and 41 per cent new geographical markets.

During the same period 12 per cent of the goods manufactured here were marketed within the county, 28 per cent in the rest of the Detroit area, 20 per cent throughout the midwest, 15 per cent in the East, 4 per cent in the South and 5 per cent in the West, Heiden reported.

The market for Oakland County products other than automotive has dropped only in Michigan and, especially in Detroit, according to Heiden. The market for other-than-automotive products from here is generally up throughout rest of the country, he said.

DIVERSIFYING

Also, Heiden noted a slight shifting of manufacturing emphasis here away from the automotive supply line into other fields. Without considering those employed by the automobile manufacturers, he said, 39 per cent of the rest of the labor force is employed in supplying parts and services to the automotive industries.

Increasing in emphasis, according to Heiden, are aircraft-missile industries with 18 per cent of the labor force outside of the automotive plants; construction with 9 per cent; appliances, 5 per cent and miscellaneous 19 per cent.

County Planning Director George Scrubb said the survey provided a better understanding of the sources of Oakland County's manufacturing economy, particularly useful in making employment growth estimates for future development of the county. He said it also provided an understanding of the potential diversification of existing manufacturing economy "which represents our strongest potential employment growth resource."

Use Jet Airport Land for College, Says Group

Homeowners Suggest Plan for Partial Acreage

Build a college on the property the county bought for a jet airport, the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association proposed last night. Some 75 members of the group, which was formed to oppose the county's plan for a jet airport on 3,000 acres in Orion and Pontiac townships, voted to recommend to the Board of Supervisors that the land be used instead for the proposed county community college.

The recommendation was adopted at a meeting at Pontiac North High School following addresses by Pontiac City Commissioner Loy L. Ledford on airport plans and association member Marley Smith on taxation.

A report of the Oakland County community college preestablishment survey last month recommended three sites for the college — one in Troy, the second north or northwest of Pontiac, the third in the Farmington-Nowi area.

A plan for a jet airport was passed earlier this year when U.S. Rep. William S. Brownfield (R-Oakland County) announced the Federal Aviation Agency had rejected the proposal for lack of air space.

An FAA official told Brownfield it would conflict with flight patterns of other airports in Flint, Mount Clemens and Detroit.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors and a major proponent of jet airport plans, said, however, that the county should still expand the Allen Airport on the property for use as a general public airport.

The county had approved spending $367,710 to acquire 45 acres including the Allen Airport as a nucleus for further airport development. The county has already spent $147,654.

The association joined the City of Pontiac in opposing any expansion of the Allen Airport.

Gordon Ladd, chairman of the association, said 120 acres of the property should be used for the community college site recommended for north or northwest of Pontiac. The county's jet airport plan, the group would continue an active interest in the county's use of the property.

The association asked the county to use its efforts to promote efficient use of tax money by the county and disseminate information on tax rates and policies. Ladd said.

Sunday School Children to Hear Radio Staff

ORTONVILLE — The Sunday School Hour at the Ortonville Baptist Church will be conducted Sunday by staff members of the Grand Rapids radio program, "Children's Bible Hour."

The program, now in its 20th year, includes music, songs and religious verses by youngsters of all ages. Many of them will accompany the program's director, "Ann Berley," to the Sunday School Hour, which will begin at 10 a.m.

Will Live in Holly

ROSE CENTER — Sandra Kay MacKenzie became the bride of George Allen McDaniel in a noon ceremony Saturday performed by Rev. Cyril Rancourt in St. Rita's Catholic Church, Holly.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. MacKenzie of 919 Clinton Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harry R. McDaniel of 301 Maple St.

The bride and groom were married in a ceremony at St. Rita's Catholic Church, Holly.

Mrs. George A. McDaniel.

"THIS WON'T HURT!" — That's what this 15-year-old Oxford high school sophomore tells his chief experimental rat. Although Robert Zarski performs delicate operations on various animals that he raises, they are always "put to sleep" before any type of project gets under way.

All of his work is under the complete supervision of Lakeville veterinarian Dr. Richard A. McNeil with osteopath Dr. Joseph Maxwell helping as consultant.

Youth Is No Barrier for Area Scientist, 15

LAKEVILLE — Why would a rat's body become smaller if its whole system were speeded up by thyroid injections? Why would it become lazy rather than peppy?

These and countless other experimental questions are being answered by 15-year-old Robert Zarski of 945 Lakeville Road, whose ambition is to become a doctor.

Bob's intense curiosity about "what makes us tick" has carried him far ahead of mere classroom education. The young Oxford High School student, who breeds and raises his own animals for experimental purposes, has just started his "rat project" for next year's school fair.

"We only know what happens after a thyroid injection," the youth explained. "The whole rate of body metabolism is raised and when everything speeds up, the energy intake is faster than the body can keep up with." The question now is "Why?"

A unique homemade operating table dominates the center of Bob's "hospital room" in the basement.

A lever on an old stand he got from his grandmother makes the sterile board-operating table adjustable. A discarded IV.

After much consultation with his veterinarian friend and adviser Dr. Richard A. McNeil of Lake Orion, Bob tried the experiment on a rat. This proved so successful, that the cat became the next project.

The animal was "put to sleep" and shaved. Then a two-inch square section was removed. Carefully Bob sewed the plastic window into the opening, and when the cat awoke there was absolutely no physical harm done to the animal. He was the hit of the fair.

One day last fall, a neighbor's pet rabbit lost an eye in a vicious fight with another rabbit. It was rushed to Bob's operating room where the youth administered anesthetic and sutured the torn eye.

Will Interview the Candidates

Citizens League Sets First Screening Next Tuesday in Pontiac

The Oakland County Citizens League will screen candidates for the Aug. 7 primary election in a series of meetings beginning next week.

Basil E. Brown, chairman of the League's Candidates Committee, said the first meeting will be in Pontiac Tuesday at First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland.

Other sessions will be held Thursday at the Birmingham Community House and July 5 at the Huntington Woods Library.

All meetings begin at 7 p.m. and are open to the public.

Each candidate will be interviewed by committee members at one of the three meetings. Candidates unopposed in the primary, however, will not be interviewed.

According to Brown, judging will be impartial and nonpartisan, based solely on candidates' qualifications for office they seek.

Before the primary election, the League will issue a "Bulletin" containing the committee's evaluation and brief biographical sketches of each candidate.

Heads Medical Society

Delay Action on Zoning Plan

Shelby Twp. Proposal Would Halt Expansion of Mushroom Industry

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Township Board here has postponed a decision on a rezoning proposal that would prevent expansion of the local mushroom industry until a new master zoning plan including suggested changes is ready for adoption.

Trustees tabled an ordinance to rezone four sections from residential farming to residential. Most of the township's mushroom farms are located in one of the four, the section bounded by Decouder, Auburn, Ryan and W. Ulster roads.

A new master plan of land usage that would realize zoning throughout the township is currently under study by the Macomb County Coordinating Zoning Committee, whose recommendation is expected in about a month.

The county group had approved the proposed rezoning of the four sections.

The new zoning would make mushroom farms nonconforming uses, which cannot expand.

The rezoning plan was substituted for a proposed ordinance controlling the mushroom industry.

The subject came up when residents objected to expansion of the mushroom farms because of the odor created and the flies attracted by the compost used in the cultivation of mushrooms.

Dies in 75-Foot Fall

To Richard Matsel Miss Kent Married

MRS. RICHARD J. MATSEL

COMMERCIAL TOWNSHIP — St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Pontiac, was the setting Sunday evening for the wedding of Dorothy Kent, daughter of Richard John Matsel. They exchanged their vows before Rev. C. J. Mittermaier.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James D. Kent of Monroeville, Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Thekla D. Matsel of 116 N. Shirley St., and William J. Matsel of 900 Marilyn Terrace, Union Lake.

A floor-length gown of lace and silk organza was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alençon lace featured a scalloped neckline and short cap sleeves. The skirt was of silk organza in a bouffant style.

Her elbow-length veil of imported silk illusion fell from a lace pillow accented with Aurora Borealis, four drop and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of yellow streamers.

Mrs. Jack Holgate of Bethesda, Md., attended her sister as matron of honor. Her brother Jack was acolyte for the service.

Serving as best man was James Kent of San Diego, Calif., brother of the bride. William J. Matsel was an usher for his son.

Killed in Auto Mishap

BRIGHTON — Dale M. Shoner, 7, of Brighton, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a car on U.S. 18 between Brighton and Lake Chemung. State police said the boy tried to run across the four-lane highway in a section where resurfacing work had closed two lanes.

'Jam' Session Gets Reprimand

Soviet Students Put on Carpet for Setting
'Blow Out' in School

LENNINGRAD, Soviet Union (AP) — School authorities have reprimanded a group of Leningrad University students who set up a jam session in a lecture hall with musicians from Benny Goodman's band, informed sources reported today.

The sources said the students, members of the university's jazz club, were called to the rector's office Wednesday to explain their unauthorized use of university premises for the private get-together.

'JAMMED' AT SCHOOL

Terrence Catherman of Dearborn, Mich., a U.S. Embassy official accompanying the band on its tour of the Soviet Union, said local authorities had politely advised him to tell them in advance of informal contacts the band planned with Soviet citizens.

Five members of the Goodman band accepted an invitation Tuesday night to "jam" with six Soviet musicians.

About fifty of the Soviet students slipped into the deserted classroom to hear the session, which lasted from about 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. Soviet fans taped the entire performance.

PLEADED FOR LIGHTS

At one point the students had to plead with an impatient charwoman who wanted to turn out the lights when she finished cleaning around midnight.

At 2 a.m. the American musicians rushed out, but only because they wanted to get back to their hotel before the drawbridges across the River Neva were raised. All of the bridges go up at 2:15 a.m. for about two hours to let ship traffic pass through the heart of this city.

Student sources said the reprimand over the jam session appeared to be the result of pressure from local Communist officials.

Owner of Paper Dies

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Mario Crespi, co-owner of Corriere Della Sera, widely regarded as Italy's most influential newspaper, died Wednesday after a long illness.

THREATENS TO QUIT — Walter Winchell (left) tells radio disc jockey Bob Cowen Tuesday night in Hollywood that he wants to quit as a columnist for the Hearst organization because, he says, some of his criticisms of communism and the Kennedy administration have been deleted by syndicate editors.

Payless Pay Day Threat May Halt Senate-House Feud

By WILLIAM F. ARBOOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The spectre of payless pay days for members of Congress and their employees may bring an early end to a Senate-House deadlock holding up appropriation bills.

In the backlog of bills jammed up by what has been called a "childish" and "foolish" technical controversy is one carrying money to operate Congress for the government year starting July 1.

Of lesser immediate importance on Capitol Hill are other bills financing the Treasury, Interior, Postoffice, Defense, Labor and Welfare departments and the President's own office for the same period.

Unless a face-saving compromise is worked out soon between the Senate and House Appropriations committees, just about every employee of the government and Congress technically will face payless pay days starting July 1.

PROCEDURE AT ISSUE
And just about every major operation of the government would be without full financing.

At issue is procedure to be followed by the two money-doling committees headed by Senator Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., and Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., each heavily backed by his own group.

Traditionally, senators have presided at joint meetings to compromise money bills on which the two branches differed. Traditionally, all appropriations bills have originated in the House.

The House group wants to change the rules and rotate the chairmanship at joint sessions. The Senate group said this would be okay if the House agreed to let the Senate initiate every other appropriation bill.

Citing all sorts of precedents and constitutional convention debates, House members said they would be violating the Constitution to allow the Senate to start money bills. The Constitution gives the House original jurisdiction over "revenue" bills. This House experts claim, means bills providing for spending as well as raising revenues.

NETHER WILLING
Neither side appears willing to give in, although earlier a compromise was reached on meeting places for the joint committees, with the site being moved a little closer to the House wing of the Capitol, but still on the Senate side.

At the prodding of congressional leaders, who in turn reportedly were urged by President Kennedy, the two groups named

Kashmir Issue in U.N. Today
U. S. Backs Arbitration Resolution That Could Embarrass India

UNITED NATIONS, N. R. (UPI) — The United States gave its support today to a draft resolution on Kashmir that could cause embarrassment to India.

Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation, was listed to speak this afternoon in the Security Council, which is winding up a long debate on the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan.

Diplomats expected the United States and Pakistan to sponsor a resolution urging India and Pakistan to comply with a U.N. Charter provision which calls for solution of disputes by negotiation, mediation, arbitration, judicial settlement or other similar means.

India claims Kashmir and has said repeatedly it will accept no U.N. recommendation which would equate Pakistan with it on the issue.

Council approval of the resolution, diplomats pointed out, would force India either to backtrack on its position or reject the U.N. findings.

It was possible that India might not be faced with that choice. Russia has backed the Indians on the Kashmir issue and presumably stood ready to use its 100th veto to block passage of the measure.

seven-member subcommittee to seek a compromise. They met last Monday but broke up in a huff and have not set another meeting.

Senators claimed the House members broke up the session. House members denied that. "It is utterly childish for the senators to say we broke it up," said Rep. John Taber, R-N.Y., one of the House conferees. "It was the senators who got up and left."

"I wouldn't like to say that great and august members of the Senate are childish," commented Cannon, "but to many other people it seems that way."

CALLS FOOLISH
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., called the hassle "foolish" and predicted it would end soon.

Meanwhile, Secret Service employees are off the payroll and are working on the theory that they eventually will get paid. Their pay funds expired recently, as did those of some other agencies.

An emergency bill to take care of the immediate needs of the Secret Service and others in the same boat passed the House unanimously last week but the Senate Appropriations Committee refused to consider it without a joint hurdle with House members, with a senator presiding.

The House emphatically replied, "No." "The next move is up to the Senate," Cannon said. "We have voted to furnish the payroll funds

All other major joint committees rotate their chairmanships every two years between the Senate and House.

Continue Probe Into Estes Case

Judge Denies Texan's Try to Get Grand Jury to Halt Proceedings

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—A grand jury continued its investigation of El Paso today despite an attempt by the agriculture king to get a federal district judge to stop proceedings.

Estes showed up uninvited yesterday to head off further investigation by the same federal grand jury which already has indicted him on 37 counts of fraud. U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson denied motions by Estes' lawyers to dismiss the panel.

John Coker of Austin, Tex., one of Estes' lawyers, said that President Kennedy and Attorney General Robert Kennedy have pronounced Estes guilty before he is tried. He also charged that newspapers, magazines, radio and television have made it impossible for the grand jury to be unbiased.

"This case has never been equalled in all the history of jurisprudence," Coker said. "Here is a man who has been subjected to a trial and persecution by the press and the newspapers."

Soviet Will Beat U. S. Industry

Nikita Tells Romanians Reds to Pass America Within 10 Years

HUNEDOARA, Romania (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev told thousands of Romanian workers today that within 10 years the Soviet Union will surpass the United States in total industrial production.

But he said the Soviets must work hard to do it.

Khrushchev said in the next 20 years the Soviet Union will produce 500 million tons of steel and thereby overtake the United States in steel production.

The Soviet premier arrived earlier today on his whistle-stop trip through Romania. He came from Onesti in the Moldavia region. Hunedoara has the biggest steel plant in Romania.

The Soviet leader said there still are "naive people" who believe that in the Soviet Union difficulties arise only in the beginning of constructing socialism.

"We still have difficulties before us. The realization of big plans require hard work," he said.

Khrushchev described the situation in the Soviet Union as very good. The Soviet people are working to complete the tasks set by the 22nd party congress, he said.

The premier reported that Russia's Communist regime, which he said is intent only on "the happiness of the people," has provided new apartments for a quarter of the country's population in the past five years.

Report Hungarian Reds Restricting Churchmen

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Hungarian Communist government has taken new measures of persecution against leading Hungarian Catholic church officials, the Vienna Catholic news agency Kathpress reported Wednesday.

The agency said Communist authorities barred the apostolic administrator of the archdiocese of Kalocsa, Dr. Johannes Bard, from carrying out his duties and are holding him under guard in a Hungarian village.

FAITH PAID OFF — John Mason, 8, of St. Joseph, clutches his 2-year-old dog Heidi close to him and grins his happiness after finding the dog tramped in a deep hole. Heidi was missing for five days but John could not believe that his pet wasn't alive. He talked his father into digging into a hole in the field where Heidi was last seen. It paid off.

Italian Businessmen Fight Nationalization

ROME (UPI)—Italian businessmen today were lining up support against the government's plans to nationalize the electrical industry.

The businessmen joined the right-wing opposition parties and some members of the ruling Christian Democratic party in branding the nationalization plan as a threat to Italy's democratic life.

The Italian Industrialists Confederation issued a statement which questioned the constitutional legality of the proposed bill.

This seemed to strengthen predictions that electricity companies involved might appeal to the constitutional court if parliament passes the bill.

The plan, agreed upon by Premier Amintore Fanfani's coalition cabinet earlier this week, calls for industry over 10 years. Expropriation companies would be compensated in cash.

Teens Find Out Target of Egg Can Retaliate

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Conn. (AP) — It was the last day of school Wednesday and the three teenagers were feeling unusually frisky.

As they rode home along Main street in the Stafford High School bus, one of the boys tossed an egg at a pedestrian. It was a bull's eye.

A few minutes later the bus was stopped by a State Police cruiser. State Trooper Leonard Wielock, dressed in civilian clothes, had been the target.

The boys have an appointment with police today.

Sheree North, Mate File for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress-dancer Sheree North and her husband, Dr. Gerhart R. Sommer, have filed divorce suits against each other.

Court records show Miss North, 29, sued Dr. Sommer, 34, last January 28 asking temporary alimony, child support and counsel fees.

Dr. Sommer filed a cross complaint asking custody of their daughter, Erica Eve, 3.

They were married Dec. 17, 1958, in Los Angeles. It was the third marriage for each.

Schools Aid Children With Ear, Eye Tests

Several hundred children were saved from falling behind their classmates this last school year through eye and ear tests provided by the Pontiac School District's health services.

The vision and hearing testing is only part of the health services' program, notes coordinator Josephine Seeley in her annual report.

"As in the past, the efforts of the school staff were devoted to maintaining health service, health education and healthful school living for favorable learning experience of the students," she said.

Good health—especially in the vision and hearing field where defects sometimes go unnoticed—is important for good learning achievement, she added.

According to the report, hearing losses ranging from mild to severe were found in 5 per cent of the 8,966 students tested. Approximately 90 per cent of these cases required proper hearing after medical treatment from family doctors or otologists.

Vision tests were given 12,488 students of the school system. Of the 13 per cent who showed evidence of vision defects, 91 per cent of those examined by doctors, received glasses or treatment.

Fluoride treatments were given eligible children for the eleventh straight year on the school program. The treatment, requiring parental request, was given to 1,151 children in 30 schools, reported Miss Seeley.

REPORTS RISE

An increased number of reports from family dentists indicated that parental efforts are being continued to bring kindergarten children into school in good dental condition. However, the report showed that the number of reports from family dentists remained approximately the same as last year.

Immunization records on the kindergarten children showed that 73 per cent were immunized against whooping cough and polio, 74 per cent received diphtheria and tetanus protection, and 78 per cent were vaccinated for smallpox.

The report credited the Lions Club with providing eligible children with eye examinations and glasses, the Teachers' Exchange Club with providing financial assistance for dental care, and the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association with providing visual aids and monthly health education materials.

Doctor With Record Awaits Court Date

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Fred W. Thomas, 64, who was convicted as a Nazi spy during World War II, was bound over yesterday for trial on a charge of conspiring to procure and commit illegal abortions.

Bonds of $5,000 were continued for Dr. Thomas and three other men bound over with him in connection with what police say was a $5,000-a-week abortion ring.

Police said Dr. Thomas was arrested after a policeman was assigned to pose as a patient.

Dr. Thomas was sentenced to a 15-year prison term on charges he had given information to the Nazis about troop movements and war plans. He served 18 months before the indictment against him was dismissed in 1949.

Appoint Pair at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — The new department chairman was named yesterday in Michigan State University's college of communication arts. Prof. John W. Crawford, the present chairman of the department, was given the additional post of chairman of the division of mass communications, and Associate Prof. Frank B. Senge was appointed chairman of the school of journalism.

One-half the meat produced in the world is beef and veal.

Named Director at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's board of trustees yesterday named Dr. Eldon R. Nonnemaker the new director of the men's division of student affairs at MSU. Dr. Nonnemaker joined the university staff as a graduate assistant in administrative and educational services in September 1956, and received his Ph. D. from MSU in 1959.

dacron and wool
2-pant summer suit

If you're a knowing buyer, you're well aware that there's a great deal more to a suit than its initial appearance. The choice of fabrics—how well it's cut and draped, how well it wears, how well it retains its appearance. The tailoring craftsmanship—the stitching, hand-detailing and shaping. This Van Carr summer suit meets these exacting requirements in the highest order—for it's beautifully tailored of choice 55% wool and 45% Dacron; a fabric excellent for its shape-retaining, wrinkle-resisting qualities. It's cool and lightweight, and you'll find it in a 3-button model with two pair of pleated trousers . . . in light and dark tones, solids and neat patterns. And in a size range from 36 to 50, including regulars, shorts, longs, extra-longs, portlies, and portly-shorts.

Seek Reversal of Pay Ruling

State High Court Pair Appealing Denial of Immediate Raise

LANSING (AP) — Two State Supreme Court justices say they will ask the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse a decision denying them an immediate $7,000-a-year pay raise.

Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh and Eugene F. Black said yesterday they would appeal a U.S. District Court ruling Monday turning down their suit to force the state to pay all eight justices the same salary.

The legislature in 1960 increased the salaries of supreme court members from $18,000 to $25,000. However, the state constitution prohibits an elected state official from getting a pay raise during his term of office.

Kavanagh and Black, whose terms have the longest time to run, contended the provision violated the federal constitution's guarantee of equal protection under the law.

The district court in Detroit issued a temporary order last March ordering top pay for the two plaintiffs, plus Chief Justice Leland W. Carr, pending its decision. The three justices agreed verbally to return any pay increase if the courts ruled against them.

So far they have collected approximately $1,500 more than they would have under the old salary level.

Channel 24 Given to East Lansing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan State University gained a second television outlet yesterday when the Communications Commission assigned Channel 24 to East Lansing, Mich., for educational use.

The channel assignment was requested by the Michigan superintendent of public instruction. Channel 24 had been assigned to Coldwater, Mich., as a commercial channel but had not been used and therefore is being deleted as a Coldwater channel.

Michigan State now operates station WMSB, Onondaga, Channel 10, on a share-time basis with station WILX-TV. By broadcasting over Channel 24 in East Lansing, the university will be able to supplement its WMSB programs and adapt its operations to fit in with Michigan's plan for a statewide educational TV system.

CLOSE CALL — This oil tank truck, turning sharply in an attempt to avoid a collision, rolled over on top of this car in Bay City yesterday. The car's driver, escaped unhurt and the truck driver suffered only minor injuries. State police said the car, driven by Mrs. Ola

B. Jones, 72, of Lakeland, Fla., went through a red light and the truck driver, Richard Duke, 44, of Akron, attempted to avoid a broadside collision.

Though Scientists Try to Mask Feelings

U.S. Blushing Over Big N-Bomb Goof

HONOLULU (AP)—U.S. scientists at Johnston Island were pictured officially as taking in stride the second failure in two tries to explode a nuclear device at high altitude.

Privately, however, sources said the science and military men responsible for America's Pacific nuclear test series was embarrassed by flopping twice while the world looked on. The Soviet Union jumped at the opportunity.

The second test late Tuesday night involved the biggest shot this spring — officially classified as more than one million tons of TNT but probably 10 times that size. The Thor missile carrying the warhead to a firing altitude of 300 miles went away and the missile and nuclear device had to be destroyed.

There was no nuclear detonation. Some of the debris fell on Johnston and a nearby "island"

ONLY ANNOUNCED TESTS
The two Johnston attempts have been the only preannounced public tests of the series to date. Firing times have been issued and countdowns have been carried on open radio frequencies. Delays and postponements, as happened both times, have been relayed fairly promptly.

Had the shots been successful, the flashes and, in the case of the second one, the fireball would have been visible 750 miles away in Hawaii.

Joint Task Force 9 said the failures would not change plans to announce future Johnston tests in advance.

Twenty-one successful lower level detonations have been announced at Christmas Island, far to the southeast of Johnston. Most of these tests involved devices dropped from airplanes.

The blame for the Johnston Island failures was placed solidly on the Thor missiles. The tracking system malfunctioned on the first try, June 4. The trouble Tuesday night wasn't disclosed, but officials said it was in the missile.

Officials indicated it might take 10 days to two weeks to prepare the single Thor launching pad at Johnston Island for another shot. A spokesman said there would be four days' public warning before the next firing.

There were hints from the Johnston test site that scientists will check the entire Thor missile system before going ahead with test preparations.

Radio Moscow was quick to comment on the second blowup at Johnston. The Soviet broadcast spoke of imperfections in U.S. rockets and suggested a runaway missile could endanger mankind by carrying a nuclear device over inhabited territory.

St. Luke Day Camp Proves It

Religion and Fun Can Mix

By MARY ANGLEMIER
The rolling hills, groves of trees and adjacent tract of timber, camp site of Bald Mountain Recreation Area, are alive this week with local boys and girls who are attending Junior Day Camp sponsored by St. Luke Methodist Church.

Days crammed with nature study, hiking, cooking over an open fire, Bible stories and prayer make pleasant lifelong memories for the children. The youngsters are up at dawn, so anxious are they to be ready when their church leader arrives about 8 a.m. for the drive to camp.

Morning begins with a flag-raising ceremony followed by prayer with Rev. Wayne Brooks, pastor and camp director leading.

The children then break up into small groups. Some are off hiking up and down woodland trails while others take to the meadows to find and study wild flowers and plants.

LEARN TO WHITTLE

Guided by counselors Mrs. William T. Davis, Mrs. Dennis Burtch, Mrs. Glenn Weller and Mrs. Burt Bartholomew, the campers learn to whittle, build open fires and identify birds and their songs.

Girl Scout leader Mrs. James Curmiste of Rochester assists the counselors in campcraft. Everyone pitches in to prepare and cook lunch over the coals covered by a grate and surrounded by large fieldstones. Sometimes food falls into the fire, biscuits are scorched and meat does not crisp, but who cares — it's fun!

Singing around the campfire is next on the agenda, followed by dish washing by the girls and boys.

After a rest period, youngsters engage in woodcraft and exploration trips into the woods where they learn to determine some 68 different species of trees and shrubs, 22 species of animals and 76 native birds.

The closing session, conducted by the children, consists of reading from the Bible, telling a story, singing hymns and prayer. All material for the period is chosen by the campers.

HEAD FOR HOME

Then it is 4 o'clock and all too quickly comes the call for loading the equipment for the trek homeward.

"Goodbye, see you tomorrow!" shout the campers as they scramble into cars to sing once again songs learned during the day.

"Permitting children to use their own initiative in planning worship or fun is an important part of our program," said the pastor.

One emphasis of this camp is place on day camping is becoming aware of God in His world. Another is becoming aware of the relationship between God's people.

"The purpose of this camp is not merely to become acquainted with nature, but to practice Christian living in a group with other children," he added.

Youngsters participating in the Junior Day Camp are those in grades four through six during the school year.

DONE MANY YEARS

The camp program of Christian education in the outdoors has been a feature of the summer schedule at St. Luke Methodist for many years.

Transportation to and from the camp area is provided by parents and church members for all children of the community who wish to participate.

Toasting marshmallows and biscuits over a slow fire are boys and girls attending Junior Day Camp at Bald Mountain Recreation Area this week. Lois Bertram of Genes Street (right) carries her drinking cup made from a lemonade can tied to a belt around her waist. The camp, sponsored by St. Luke Methodist Church, is directed by Rev. Wayne Brooks, pastor.

Bethrothals, Showers

From the 'Hills'

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Bride-elect Ginny Penrose was honor guest at a tea and shower Wednesday at the Birmingham Country Club. Her hostess was Mrs. O. T. Thompson of Chesterfield Road.

Although Ginny and Thomas Wright of Fountibell, Pa., won't be married until mid-July, the wedding is taking place on Nantuxet Island where the family will soon assemble in the weathered shingle cottage where they have spent many seasons.

Mrs. Burt R. Shurly Jr., and her sister, Mrs. Charles K. Latham Jr., have planned a luncheon and linen shower for Saturday in the Latham home. On the following Friday Mrs.

Franklin Butler will give a luncheon.

Mr. Wright will spend that weekend at the Penrose home and Ginny's uncle and aunt, the Allison Monroes of Grosse Pointe, will give a family dinner June 30 in their home in Moross Road.

Mrs. Dwight W. Jacobus visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Wright, several days this week at their Wing Lake home.

Tableskirts?

Now comes the tablecloth-checked skirt but this time, it's trimmed in gold! It's to be worn either as jacket or shirt.

The way of a bee on a white field daisy fascinates Garry Burtch of Walnut Road as he finds specimens of flowers and plants for nature study at Junior Day Camp.

In Double Ceremony

Tear Sisters Wed

Rev. Cecil Keller officiated at the marriage of Lorna Gail Tear to Pfc. Jimmy A. Lane, and her sister Velda Lee Tear to Jerry L. Payne, Saturday afternoon in Mount Olive General Baptist Church.

Daughters of the Lawrence G. Tears of Grinnell Street, Waterford Township, Lorna was given in marriage by her father and Donald Hampton escorted his niece Velda to the altar.

Lorna wore floor-length Chantilly lace over taffeta styled with Mandarin collar, and a bubble veil of silk illusion. Linda Pyle, wearing pink chiffon with lace bodice, was maid of honor. Iva Tear, her sister's bridesmaid, appeared in aquamarine chiffon.

ATTENDED GROOM

Ons Book of Sylvia Lake attended the bridegroom, son of the John L. Lanes of West Strathmore Street, as best man. Dan Elliott ushered.

The couple will live in Washington, D. C., where the bridegroom is stationed at Walter Reed Hospital.

For her wedding, Velda Tear chose white Chantilly lace over taffeta and wore silk illusion veiling held by a pearl and crystal tiara. Both brides and their attendants carried pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Jack Lane, as honor matron, and Carolyn Tucker, bridesmaid, were dressed like the other attendants.

Gene Payne stood as best man for his brother. They are sons of the Francis Paynes of West Russell Street. Their cousin, Vernon Payne, ushered.

After a northern Michigan honeymoon the Paynes will reside on Howard Street. For the wedding and church reception, Mrs. Tear wore butterscotch lace over taffeta to which she clipped pink carnations. Mrs. Lane chose a Wedgewood blue cotton jacket dress and Mrs. Payne appeared in pink polished cotton.

Dem Women Set Meeting

The regular meeting of The Waterford Township Democratic Women's Club will be held 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Community Activities Building. All candidates for the August primary are welcome.

Each member is asked to bring a white elephant item. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. James Seelertin, Mrs. Luther Olson, and Mrs. Albert Dryden.

Women's Section

"Ugh, burned biscuits" says Sally Garvey of Lochleven Drive, Waterford Township, as Toby Davidge of Tienken Road, Rochester, offers her a sample of his cooking. The two are among more than 100 boys and girls enrolled at St. Luke Methodist day camp this week.

Only His Shows

We All Have Some Handicap

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I visited some friends out of town. They were invited to a friend's home for dinner and I went along.

The "friend" turned out to be a very handsome young man who had been in a wheelchair most of his life. He lives in a five-room home, built especially for him. It was nicely furnished and spotless.

The meal (which he prepared himself) was out of this world. He keeps house, does his own laundry and drives a car with hand controls. I liked him immediately, I saw him many times and it developed into love. He's asked me to marry him and I want to. As you can guess, I have parent trouble. They say it is not "love" but "pity" I feel for this handicapped man, and if I marry him I'll be sorry later.

DEAR IN: After a two-year courtship, a 29-year-old man and a 27-year-old woman should know what they want. We are all "handicapped" in some way — only his shows. If you love him, marry him.

DEAR ABBY: When my hair was long I had to have it cut at least twice a week. I work in an office and must look well-groomed all the time. One day I had it cut short and I never had so many compliments in my life.

My husband loves long hair so he had a fit. He told me to let it grow long and not to cut it again. Short hair is so much easier to care for and every one else likes it. Should I let it grow to please my husband?

TO CUT OR NOT
DEAR TO: It's more important to please your husband than everyone else combined. If you're wise, you'll let it grow.

DEAR ABBY: Lately I have noticed that my husband has started to smile sweetly and make eyes at waitresses, salesladies and even strange women he passes on the boulevards.

They don't even have to be good-looking — just so they're women. My sister says he should have his head examined. He is 28 and I am 67. Should I ignore it or what?

DEAR "67": If your 74-year-old husband's "flirting" is not conspicuous to others, ignore it. This may be his third childhood and is quite harmless.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

2 Groups to Be Feted at Picnic

The Pontiac Young Women's Christian Association's two Golden Age groups will be entertained at a picnic buffet luncheon Wednesday at the home of the YWCA President, Mrs. Fred Stimpert, of Finley, Watkins Lake, to mark the close of activities until September.

Invitations instructed the Golden Agers to come prepared "to sing, a song, recite a poem, or dance a jig."

Mrs. Arthur Sweet has on her committee, Mrs. Everett Russell, Mrs. A. L. MacAdams, Mrs. Marcus Scott, Mrs. Frank Kirby, Agnes Hilton, Mrs. Ida Reeves, and a number of volunteer drivers to help transport the Golden Agers.

TO ENTERTAIN

The YWCA Board of Directors will entertain members of the Y's Pontiac State Hospital coed group June 28 at the annual buffet supper marking the close of both groups' activities until September.

The group, composed of convalescent patients in the young adult age range, meets weekly at the YWCA for a recreational evening 10 months of the year.

Mrs. John Streit will lead the group games. Mrs. Robert Anglenier is group chairman, with Mrs. Allan H. Monroe as cochairman.

Each patient may bring a guest of his own choosing to the supper party such as foster care doctor, nurse, or therapist, or a fellow patient.

MRS. JAY A. KEYSTONE

On Lake Tahoe Trip

Elaine Susan Surowitz exchanged vows with Dr. Jay A. Keystone before Rabbi Morris Adler Tuesday evening in the Knollwood Country Club, Birmingham.

After a reception and dinner-dance at the club, the bridal couple left on a motor trip to Lake Tahoe, Calif. Dr. Keystone will intern at San Francisco General Hospital.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Surowitz of Birmingham and the John Keystones, Oak Park.

Spanish lace fashioned the illusion Sabrina neckline and detachable circular train of the bride's gown of white peau de soie. She wore a bouffant veil of imported illusion held by a floral headpiece and carried her consecration Bible with two white roses as a lookmark.

Serving as matron of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Harvey E. Schatz, Oak Park. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Richard Schram, Oak Park, and Barbara Matlar, Karen Bleier, Janice Coleman, Marilyn Groceman and Judy Castlemann, all of Detroit.

Harvey E. Schatz stood as best man. Seating guests were Jack Keystone, Alan Bressack, New York City; Dr. Jordan Burke, Sandy Shapiro and Sheldon Glass, all of Detroit, and the bride's brother Michael of Birmingham.

Dr. Keystone is a graduate of

Muriel White Weds Ronald Jones

White delphinium, combined with roses and carnations graced the chancel in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church for the vows of Muriel Elaine White to Ronald D. Jones, Rev. Theodore R. Albrecht performed the candlelight ceremony Saturday evening.

Receiving guests with the newlyweds in the CIO Union Hall on Kennett Road were their parents, the Howard L. Whites of Airport Road, Waterford Township and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones of Pingree Avenue.

French net and Alencon lace over white satin for the bride was styled with molded bodice touched with pearls. A lace panel extended into a chapel train. A pearl tiara held her veil of silk illusion and lilacs of the valley and roses surrounded the white orchid in her bouquet.

ATTENDED BRIDE

Matron of honor, Mrs. Larry Conger and bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Stevens and Mrs. Avis Boyle, Auburn Heights, wore pink nylon. They carried pink rose and lilacs of the valley.

On the esquire side were James Henesley, best man, and Robert Stevens and Howard White, Drayton Plains, brother of the bride, who ushered. Gary White carried the rings. Returning from a northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will live on East Madison Avenue.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. White chose white lace over ice-blue silk and the mother of the bridegroom appeared in green tulle with white lace stole. Both wore orchids.

MRS. RONALD D. JONES

Muriel Elaine White, daughter of the Howard L. Whites, Airport Road, Waterford Township and Ronald D. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard D. Jones of Pingree Avenue spoke vows Saturday in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Somers-Watts Vows Are Recited

Five hundred guests attended the marriage of Ardith Sharon Watts to Philip W. Somers Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. Philip W. Somers of West Colgate Avenue, Saturday evening in Marimont Baptist Church. Rev. Somers officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Watts, Bloomfield Hills, the bride appeared in white silk organza over tulle with re-embroidered Alencon lace applique on bodice and skirt panels. A veil of French illusion and bouquet of white roses completed her ensemble.

Pink roses and carnations complemented ice-blue silk organza for Mrs. Thomas Gossett, Birmingham, her sister's matron of honor.

Alan Somers was his brother's best man. Ushers were Thomas Gossett, Dean Beal, Ferndale, Richard Womack, David Curd, Madison Heights, David Drummond, and the bride's brother Robert Watts, Hazel Park.

Have You Tried This?

Crushed Pineapple Keep Oatmeal Cookies Moist

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Home Editor

With the children out of school, you can expect raids on the cookie jar any time of the day. You'll just have to bake more often. If you have a young daughter who wants to learn to cook, let her start this summer.

Mrs. Charles L. Branson shares her pet cookie recipe with us. It can be made with rolled oats or rolled wheat. The latter cereal is being distributed with other surplus foods.

Although Mrs. Branson has 4 daughters, she manages to fill a full time position outside her home. She loves cooking and is a frustrated seamstress, she says. Reading is another hobby.

PINEAPPLE OATMEAL COOKIES

By Mrs. Charles L. Branson

4 cup soft shortening
1½ cups brown sugar
1 egg
¾ cup pineapple juice
½ cup well drained crushed pineapple
1 teaspoon vanilla, maple or black walnut flavoring
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
3 cups uncooked oatmeal or rolled wheat cereal

Mix in order of ingredients given. Drop on greased cookie sheets. Bake 12-15 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

Chopped nuts, raisins or chocolate or butter-soft bits may be added at the last.

Reception at Home Follows Rites

Wed Saturday in Holy Name Church, Birmingham, were Mary Kay LaBranch, daughter of the George H. LaBranches of Walnut Lake Road, to Dale R. Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moss of Boyd Street.

MRS. DALE R. MOSS

The Walnut Lake Road home of the George H. LaBranches was the setting for a reception following the nuptials of their daughter Mary Kay to Dale R. Moss Saturday in Holy Name Church, Birmingham. Vows were spoken before Rev. Stephen Malari.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moss of Boyd Street.

A shoulder veil of silk illusion caught by a pearl and crystal t-ara, complemented the bride's sheath gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle, styled with over-skirt and cummerbund. She carried a white orchid combined with stephanotis.

ATTENDES SISTER

Kathy Trabalka of Dearborn was honor maid and Jane K. LaBranch attended her sister as bridesmaid. They wore embroidered linen sheath dresses of Bernadette blue and held colonial bouquets of blue and pink carnations.

Andrew Donnell performed the duties of best man. George Lafranch and Charles Moss, brothers of the bride couple, ushered.

After a honeymoon at Mayville, Mo., the couple will reside in Pontiac.

Pink cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. LaBranch's dress of pink embroidered linen with chiffon trim. The mother of the bridegroom wore champagne silk with lavender and white accessories and beige cymbidium orchids.

De-salt Tackle

Since salt water residue quickly pits and corrodes the metal surfaces of fishing rods and reels, save your tackle — and your pocketbook — by cleaning your equipment often. Wash the rod with soap or detergent suds, using an old toothbrush to clean guides and tip-top. Then polish with a soft cloth.

The reel should be disassembled and suds-scrubbed, too. After you have washed old lubricant from the gears, replace any worn parts, repack the gears with fresh reel lube, and lightly oil other moving parts.

Timely Advice

Clear plastic folding rain hats — some in their own containers — make tuck-in-purse items to keep on hand in home or office for that rainy day.

Starnes-Grantham Rites

Wed in Waterford

Kaye Ann Grantham and Jimmy F. Starnes, who were wed Saturday evening in the Lakeland Presbyterian Church, Waterford, are spending their honeymoon at Gal-linburg, Tenn. They will return to the bridegroom's home on Placere Avenue.

The Eugene W. Granthams of Milford were hosts at their daughter's church reception, following vows spoken before Rev. Roy F. Lambert.

Swedish lace accented the bride's dress of white silk organza styled with semibell bustle skirt and chapel train. A headpiece of pearl and crystal veils held her bouffant veil of French illusion. A white cattleya orchid centered her cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Mary Ann Williams was maid of honor and Mrs. Lonnie Grantham, Highland, attended her sister-in-law as bridesmaid. They wore pale lilac silk organza and headpieces of lilac leaves and pearls and carried deep pink chrysanthemums.

Robert P. Starnes, Louisville, Ky., stood as best man for his brother. They are sons of Mrs. Paul I. Rumley of Northville and the late William F. Starnes. Brothers of the bride couple, Lonnie Grantham of Highland and Keith Grantham, Milford, David Starnes and Thomas Pruett, both of Northville, ushered. Mrs. Grantham appeared in a soft blue cotton eyelet sheath dress and matching organza hat. Her corsage was yellow cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Rumley chose champagne silk shantung and matching hat of organza roses. Her orchids were pink.

Switch Rinses

Sudsing and rinsing in cold water helps to prevent setting wrinkles in synthetic fibers and thus to reduce the need for ironing.

This method may not remove all soil. That's why home laundry experts at Ohio State University recommend that an occasional warm or hot water wash is necessary for "clean-up" purposes.

MRS. DANIEL J. TRIERWEILER

Julia S. Lucia Weds
Daniel J. Trierweiler

The Daniel J. Trierweilers who spoke vows to Rev. Richard Thomas at noon Saturday in St. Benedict Church will visit Seattle en route to their new home in San Francisco.

Re-embroidered white silk organza over tulle for the former Julia Sandra Lucia, featured a basque waistline and French pouf skirt ending in a chapel sweep. She wore silk illusion veiling held by a hand-ruled rose headpiece and carried white stephanotis and carnations.

Judith Kent, maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister Bonnie Trierweiler of Portland, who served as bridesmaid, wore champagne tulle with avocado green accessories and carried tangerine carnations. The bridegroom's cousin Julia Dase of Lansing was flower girl.

Best man was William Bengel, East Lansing. Seating guests were Robert Morgridge, and William Shies, both of Portland and Donald Sorenson, Greenville. Dennis Sorenson carried the rings.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Trierweiler of Portland, the bride's parents, the Victor C. Lucia of Bilbo Street, Waterford Township, at the evening reception in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

The couple attended Western Michigan University and the bridegroom holds a degree in personnel administration from Michigan State University.

White carnations accented an avocado organza sheath dress with matching duster for Mrs. Lucia and lavender lace over tulle for the mother of the bridegroom.

The Mort Jorgensons of North Hollywood, Calif., were guests at the wedding.

Bride-Elect Honored

Mrs. Lewis C. Hopkin of Farmington honored Marianne Kay Crutier at a luncheon and linen shower in Rotunda Inn.

Yellow parasols marked places for the bride-elect's mother Mrs. Harold B. Crutier of South Tilden Avenue and Mrs. E. Shields Dierkes, Orchard Lake, mother of the future bridegroom, Norman S. Dierke.

Other guests were Connie Crozier, Mrs. Dean McConkey, of Flint, Mrs. Steven Padar, Dearborn, Mrs. Jon Deen-berg of Royal Oak, and Francis Karris of Detroit.

Composing Work for Symposium

A noted American composer has been commissioned to write a musical composition for the first annual MSUO Symposium on the Arts next fall.

Dr. George Matthews, chairman of the Symposium Planning Committee, announced that Henry Cowell, one of the nation's most prolific composers, is presently preparing the work for performance here Oct. 24.

Scored for harp, flute and violin, the composition will be featured during a concert devoted to Cowell's work.

PROLIFIC COMPOSER

Cowell, 65, has produced more than 1,000 works, including 13 symphonies, 40 other orchestral compositions, 20 chamber compositions, 10 quartets and nine stage works. A native of California, Cowell is credited with influencing many young West Coast composers. He has been a teacher at Stanford, the University of California, The New York School for Social Research and Columbia University.

In his youth, Cowell developed a technique of "tone clusters," which are produced by striking piano keys with forearm, elbow or fist.

Cowell's commissioning is the first by the Symposium Planning Committee. Plans call for additional commissioned works by a painter and a sculptor.

MSUO's Symposium, with the tentative theme of "Public and Private Support of the Arts," is scheduled for Oct. 24 through 26.

Roll It Up Dry

Tips on Home Hair Set

While having my hair fixed in New York the other day, I asked my favorite hairdresser, Mr. Philip, a few questions. I thought the answers to these would be helpful to both you and me.

For instance, I felt that there must be tricks in the use of rollers. Of course, we cannot expect or hope to set our hair with the skill of an expert, but there are times when we have to cancel an appointment at the hairdressers.

Then, there are times when we are traveling with only short stopovers and prefer to preserve the arrangement we have rather than go to a different operator.

And, of course, when our hair falls in hot and humid weather we often have to do "homework." In other words, there are times when we wish to "pick up" our hair at home, or on a trip.

ORIGINAL LINES
Here is what Philip told me. In the first place, follow the lines of the original good setting you got at the beauty salon. Also, be sure that the hair is evenly distributed straight across the rollers. He warned against wetting the hair. Roll it up dry for the pick-up.

Then I asked if "teasing" (troughing up the hair) breaks it off. I said, "You are certainly in a position to know the answer to this one because if teasing breaks the hair off, you will notice it when your customers come back next time."

Philip answered, "They wouldn't come back." He feels that light teasing will not injure any hair, but that heavy teasing will cause breakage unless you have such strong coarse hair that nothing can damage it.

I questioned him next about why we sometimes have trouble keeping our hair from parting in the middle. The answer to this is that either the hair is too long or you need a new permanent.

DONALD J. BARNETT

Donald J. Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Barnett of Cherokee Road, has received his bachelor of arts degree in economics from the University of Michigan. He will continue his studies in the fall in the graduate school of business administration at the university.

A few more hints: If your hair is fine or thin, do not use a cream shampoo. It will make the hair even limpier. The average woman needs at least three light permanents a year, just enough to hold the setting.

Mr. Philip ended by saying, "With the right hair styling and permanent, we can make the woman with fine or thin hair look quite well."

About this time that famous creator of hair fashions, Michelle Kazon, walked by and I turned upline Lowman in care of The off the dryer long enough to get

Caesar Salad Can Be Main Course

Caesar salad is truly regal and versatile. You can serve it at any time of the year. It makes a wonderful accompaniment to almost any meal or stars as a main feature for a light lunch or supper. This hearty salad is easy to prepare. Chances are the man of the house will want to take over the job of mixing and tossing it. Try this recipe. You will put it at the top of your list of favorite salads.

Caesar Salad
2 quarts crisp mixed salad greens
2 slices day-old bread, trimmed and cubed

2 garlic cloves
1 small can anchovy fillets
1 egg
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup vinegar
6 tablespoons salad oil
Salt and pepper

Cut slashes in garlic cloves and put in salad oil; let stand several hours or overnight. Remove garlic. Put two tablespoons of this salad oil in a 8-inch skillet and add bread cubes. Cook, stirring with a fork until croutons are crisp and brown on all sides.

Put greens in a large salad bowl. Break egg over greens. Add remaining salad oil, vinegar, anchovies, Parmesan cheese, and croutons. Sprinkle with salt and freshly ground black pepper. Toss salad until all traces of egg disappear. Yield: 8 servings.

Quick Cool Dessert Combines Fruits

That old favorite among desserts, ambrosia, comes up now in a new disguise, and how delicious it is. The idea for busy cooks is to have supplies of canned apple sauce on hand, and the other good ingredients listed here.

Applesauce Ambrosia
1 can (1 lb.) applesauce
2 bananas, sliced
1 jar (10 oz.) mandarin oranges
1/2 cup canned toasted slivered almonds
1/2 cup flaked coconut
Whipped cream

Combine all ingredients except cream; chill. Serve in dessert glasses topped with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

Chicken for Picnics or Parties

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Now is the hour — not when we must say good bye — but when we should put chicken on the menu often. The USDA lets broiler-fryers as plentiful food this month.

If you have a freezer, perhaps you should put some birds in for later on. If you can't do that, serve this economical food to your family often.

Even when Herbert Hoover envisioned a chicken in every pot, he probably had no idea that poultry producers would be processing a million chickens a month in some plants.

What could be more luxurious for a picnic than cold chicken? You do all the work at home so that you can enjoy the session at the park or take along with the rest of the family.

Just be sure to chill the cooked chicken thoroughly before you take it on your outing. Keep it chilled until serving time. Then don't let leftover pieces sit out on the picnic table; put them back in the picnic cooler. You can't be too careful about food in summer.

Instead of cooking chicken with a barbecue sauce, you add tangy seasoning and tomato juice to your brooding mixture. This chicken is then baked to a toasty brown.

Barbecue Spiced Chicken
3/4 cup butter or margarine
Two 2 1/2 lb. frying chickens, cut up
2 cups enriched corn meal
1 tablespoon salt
4 teaspoons barbecue seasoning
1 egg, slightly beaten
3/4 cup tomato juice

Heat oven to hot (400 degrees). Melt butter in shallow baking pan in hot oven. Shake chicken pieces, one at a time, in paper bag containing corn meal, salt and barbecue seasoning. Dip pieces in egg and tomato juice mixture and then in corn meal mixture again. (If desired, chill breaded chicken thoroughly before baking to help hold breading on pieces.)

Place chicken pieces skin side down in single layer in pan of melted butter. Bake in preheated oven (400 degrees) 20 minutes. Turn and bake an additional 30 minutes or until tender and golden brown. Serve immediately or refrigerate until picnic time. Makes 6 servings.

Chicken is one of the best foods to put on a diet's menu. If properly cooked, it is low in calories. The following recipe suggests an orange sauce for brushing the chicken as it cooks on an outside grill. This is sweet enough to satisfy the appetite, yet without too many calories.

Barbecued Chicken With Orange Sauce
3 broiler-fryer chickens, halved or quartered
3 teaspoons Monosodium glutamate
Salt and pepper

Sprinkle each chicken with monosodium glutamate, salt and pepper. Barbecue according to directions. Serve with Orange Sauce.

Outdoor grill method: Place chicken, skin side up, on grate set 6 to 12 inches from heat. Brush with orange sauce. Cook slowly until tender, turning and basting occasionally. Allow 1 to 1 1/2 hours total cooking time. To test for doneness, leg should twist easily out of thigh joint and pieces should be fork tender.

Orange Dipping Sauce
1 cup orange marmalade
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon curry powder

Spanish Treatment of Green Beans

Interesting combination from a foreign cuisine.

Andalusian Green Beans
1 1/2 pounds snap beans
1 cup boiling water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon olive oil
6 servings hot seasoned mashed potatoes
Pimiento strips

Cut ends from beans; scrub in cold water; rinse and drain. Cook rapidly, covered, in the boiling water and salt just until tender; lift cover a few times to help keep beans green. Drain beans; mix with lemon juice and olive oil; reheat and arrange in serving dish. Top with mashed potatoes; garnish with pimiento. Makes 6 servings.

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cayenne

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Place over medium heat; bring to boil. Simmer two minutes, stirring constantly, until marmalade is melted and all ingredients are blended. Yield: 2 cups.

You have one or two couples coming for dinner and want to have special food that doesn't take too much work. Chicken Corned is the answer.

Canned cheddar cheese soup becomes a smooth sauce in which browned chicken breasts simmer. Add frozen artichoke hearts and the dish becomes something super. With this you'll want a tossed green salad, of course.

Three cheers for inexpensive, but delicious chicken.

Chicken Corned
2 packages (1 pound each) frozen chicken breasts, thawed
1/2 cup shortening
1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
3/4 cup light cream
2 tablespoons sauteur
1 package (10 ounces) frozen artichoke hearts

2 tablespoons pimiento strips
1 skillet, brown chicken in shortening. Pour off excess drippings. Blend in soup, cream, and sauteur. Cover, cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Stir now and then. Add frozen artichokes and pimiento; cook covered an addi-

(total 30 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.)

Butterscotch Flavored Bits Give Things Welcome Taste

One of the best-liked and long-favored flavor combinations is butterscotch. Butterscotch makes for tempting confections, cookies, pies and other desserts to please warm weather appetites.

Rich in butter and brown sugar, Butterscotch Crisps are appealing on a summer day. Serve the drop cookies, made with whole bran cereal, nuts and coconut, with an iced fruit drink or tea. Or, pass a plate of the cookies to accompany ice cream.

A new form of butterscotch, prepared with butterscotch pieces, provides an easy way to give desserts this flavor. Combined with peanut butter and oven-toasted rice cereal, butterscotch pieces form Butterscotch Crisps.

This confection may be shaped into drops or squares. Such additions as coconut or peanuts afford variety. Or, use the mixture for the shell of an ice cream pie.

Butterscotch Crisps

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1/2 cup whole bran cereal
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 cup shredded coconut

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Blend butter and sugar; add egg and vanilla. Beat until light and fluffy. Stir in sifted dry ingredients together with whole bran cereal. Fold in nuts and coconut. Drop by teaspoonsful onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 12 minutes. Yield: about 3 dozen cookies, 2 inches in diameter.

Scotch Treats

1 cup (6 oz.) butterscotch pieces
1/2 cup peanut butter
3 cups oven-toasted rice cereal

Melt butterscotch pieces and peanut butter over hot but not boiling water; stir until well-blended. Remove from heat. Add oven-toasted rice cereal and stir until well-coated. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper or buttered baking sheets, or press into buttered 8x8-inch pan. Let stand in cool place to harden.

Yield: about 6 dozen confections, 1 inch in diameter, or 36 1 1/2-inch squares.

Variations

1. Coconut: Add 1 cup flaked coconut with oven-toasted rice cereal.

2. Peanut: Add 1 cup salted Spanish peanuts with oven-toasted rice cereal.

3. Scotch Treats Ice Cream Pie: Press warm mixture around sides and bottom of buttered 9-inch pie pan. Cool. Fill with slightly softened vanilla ice cream. Freeze until firm. Garnish with chopped peanuts or toasted coconut, if desired. Cut into wedges to serve. Yield: 1 1/2-inch pie.

Bran Flakes Blondies

2 cups bran flakes
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed

1 cup (6 oz.) butterscotch pieces
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring

Crush bran flakes slightly. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Melt butter in medium-sized saucepan. Remove from heat; stir in sugar and butterscotch pieces. Add eggs, vanilla and bran flakes, beat well. Add dry ingredients, beating until well-blended.

Spread in greased 9x9-inch baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Blondies are done when still slightly soft in the center but beginning to pull away from sides of pan.

Yield: 24 bars, 2 1/2 inches. Variation: Sprinkle shredded or flaked coconut, or chopped nuts, over batter before baking, if desired.

Nutty Filling for Celery

Peanut stuffed celery is an easy-to-make snack. Combine 1 (3 ounce) package of cream cheese with 2 teaspoons of finely chopped onion, 1/4 teaspoon of curry powder, 1 1/2 tablespoons of heavy cream and 1/3 cup of chopped peanuts. Use as filling for 9 ribs of celery cut into 4-inch lengths. Sprinkle each with more chopped peanuts.

Crunchy Roll Topping Starts With Canned Milk

Nothing raises the status of a meal more than piping hot rolls. And with modern convenience foods, you don't have to be a culinary expert to serve them. Delicious rolls and breads are available in all states, from a box mix to frozen. Today's imaginative

When Is Special a Real Bargain?

You can save $200 or more on food bills for the year if you know when a special is a bargain. Advises the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawry, who evaluates special, shoppers need to know the usual price, product quality, brand names and their meaning; and they must interpret all of these in terms of use.

Prices for a given food may vary from time to time. Unless shoppers know the usual price they may be fooled into buying what looks like a special because of advertising, when actually the price is no different from the regular price.

Product quality is of particular importance in judging a special. For example, poor quality apples on special sale at 10 cents a pound result in a cost of 20 cents a pound if half the apples are discarded as waste.

Special prices on high quality brands may be higher than regular prices on brands of lower quality. Inferior brands should sell at prices below those of higher quality.

To determine whether a special is a bargain, consider how you will use the product. If canned pineapple slices are offered on special below their usual price, but higher than chunks, no savings will result from the special if the slices will be cut up into chunks for use in salad.

Little Fat Is Used in Chicken Dish

Chicken Chow Mein

4 tablespoons peanut oil
2 cups thin strips onion
2 1/2 cups celery, coarsely cut
1 1/2 cups fat-free chicken stock
1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 can (1 pound) bean sprouts (well-drained)
1 can (5 1/2 ounces) diced ham-boon shoots (drained)
3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 or 2 cans (3 ounces each) chow mein noodles

Toss onion and celery in hot oil in 12-inch skillet. Add 1 1/2 cups of the stock; cover and cook gently about 10 minutes. Add chicken, bean sprouts and ham-boon shoots. Add cornstarch and soy sauce mixed with remaining 1/4 cup chicken stock until smooth; stir constantly until thickened. (If thicker than you like add 2 to 3 tablespoons bean sprout liquid.) Top with noodles. Makes 4 servings.

One Cup's Enough

When you are using a whipped cream topping for a fruit-flavored chiffon pie, you'll need to whip a cup of heavy cream and add 1/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar and 2 teaspoons vanilla.

Don't Scratch It!

Scratching spreads infection, causing MEASLES. Instead, scratch gently down with your fingernails. For extra protection, use a clean, dry cloth to wipe the area. If the place is not dry, use a dry cloth. Scrubbing with a dry cloth.

HE STRUTS LIKE A SHOWDOG WHEN I CARRY SILVERCUP!

Discover the old-time goodness in Silvercup

In the old days, Silvercup bread was known for natural goodness, flavor and aroma. It still is.

The bakers of Silvercup use more pure whole milk than all other bread bakers in your area combined. Silvercup is made with the finest natural ingredients... kneaded like old-time homemade bread... and baked slowly and carefully. What's more, it contains no chemical preservatives.

Many breads look alike, but there is a difference. In Silvercup the difference is old-time goodness. Yet Silvercup costs no more than ordinary bread.

Try Silvercup. You'll like the appetizing, golden-brown crust that only slow, careful baking can produce. That's just one of the reasons why particular people serve Silvercup.

Gentle Cooking Best for Fish

Basic campfire (or kitchen) fish cookery couldn't be simpler. Most important thing to remember in cooking fish is not to overcook it. All types are suitable for frying. Fresh-caught fish can be skinned or not, cut into chunks or stripped off the rib bones to make fillets, depending upon size and type of fish. Unless you have never in the world eaten fish, good judgment is your guide. Remember, scales are most easily removed from a wet fish. If you don't have a scaler, use a vegetable peeler.

Best way to skin a fish is to run a knife over the rib bones from head to tail and lift off the side of the fish. Then turn the piece, skin side down and, holding the tail firmly with your fingers, run a sharp knife flat, just above the skin, from tail end toward head.

Easiest way to prepare fish for frying now is to wet it with cool water. Have ready in a shallow pan either fully-seasoned, breaded or fish fry meal. Coat the fish thoroughly with either one. Let fish stand (to "set" coating) while you heat shortening or oil to heat.

Fish fillets should be shallow-fat fried over moderate heat only about 10 minutes, depending on thickness. Deep-fried fish takes only 3 to 5 minutes at 350 to 375 degrees.

Potato Soup and Spinach Blend Into Appetizer

You'll rate high as a hostess with this gourmet appetizer. Place an unopened can of frozen condensed cream of potato soup in a pan of hot water for 30 minutes. Then combine the soup with a soup can cold milk, 1/2 cup sour cream, and 1/2 package of frozen chopped spinach in an electric blender; blend until smooth.

Serve immediately in chilled bowls, or place in refrigerator until ready to serve. Makes 3 delicious servings.

CAMPFIRE FISH FRY — Fishie, fishie is no longer in the brook. Papa caught him with a hook and mama is frying him in the pan. But first she coated the fish with seasoned breading or fish fry meal. She'll watch the fish carefully so as not to overcook it.

Cook Red Beans With Hambone to Go With Rice

Red Beans and Rice

- 1 pound dried red beans
- 1 hambone (with some meat on it)
- 5 cups water
- 3 bay leaf
- 3 medium onions
- 1 green pepper
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup (undiluted)
- Garlic salt
- Chili powder

Soak the beans overnight well covered with water; drain. Bring beans with hambone, 4 cups water, bay leaf and 1 onion to a boil; simmer until beans are tender—about 2 1/2 hours. Remove hambone and bay leaf; dice ham on bone and reserve.

Chili beans and remove layer of fat from top. Chop remaining 2 onions and green pepper; cook until lightly browned in a skillet with the fat; add to beans (and their liquid) with diced ham, tomato soup, garlic salt, chili powder and salt (if needed to taste).

Reheat slowly over hot water. Serve with hot rice using wide shallow soup plates if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Native Blue Cheese Keeps a Long Time.

Tangy American blue cheese, which is a welcome ingredient in many salad dressings during the summer, can be kept in the refrigerator for several months without spoilage if it is properly wrapped.

The delicately marbled cheese, which is made from pure cow's milk in the heart of America's dairyland, should be wrapped in saran, foil or another air-tight material.

American blue cheese keeps best at between 40 and 45 degrees—the average refrigerator temperature.

Cut the cheese with a wire or sharp knife. Always serve American blue cheese at room temperature.

Used to Be Served at Party Luncheons

Han A La King

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 cups diced cooked ham
- 1/4 cup diced green pepper
- 1 pimiento (diced)

1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms (drained)

Salt and pepper to taste

6 patty shells (baked)

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk; Add the ham, green pepper, pimiento, mushrooms and salt and pepper; reheat. Serve in and around patty shells. Makes 6 servings. (Make sure the mushrooms are well drained by pressing them down in a strainer with a wooden spoon.)

The common dandelion is known colloquially by 58 different names.

Orange Coffee Cake Is Best if Served Warm

Tempt the breakfast laggards in your family with homemade coffee cake. Make your favorite quick coffee cake batter, spread it into a cake pan and sprinkle with Tangey Orange Topping.

Combine 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind and 1/4 cup chopped nuts. Then bake as usual.

Seems to Have Reached It

Ruark's Goal Was Not to Be Poor

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"My big ambition as a child was not to be poor," said Robert Ruark, who likes to be known as the world's fastest two-finger typist.

"Money doesn't by itself mean happiness, but it's a hell of a necessity. A guy who can buy a bottle of whiskey is better off than a guy who can't buy a bottle."

There's nothing you can do poor that you can't do better rich — except beg."

At 46, Ruark, columnist turned novelist, is in no imminent danger of having to hold out a tin cup to passersby.

In 16 years, this inter-day Richard Harding Davis estimates he has turned out more than 1,000 magazine articles and 10 books. His latest, a novel of African independence, is a Book-of-the-Month selection.

SHOULD DO WELL

If it does as well as an earlier African novel, which sold to the movies for $300,000, Ruark should reap a harvest of $750,000 or more for it.

Not bad for a country boy whose only desire was to get out of town and see the world.

Bob left Southport, N.C., at the age of 15—he was still in knickerbockers—enter the University of North Carolina. He was graduated at 19. Soon after he was working for a federal agency as an accountant.

BECAME SEAMAN

It took them three months to find out I'd never even had a course in bookkeeping," he recalled. Fired from that job, Ruark became an ordinary seaman, then worked as a newspaperman until World War II, during which he commanded a Navy gun crew on a freighter.

Bob returned to his newspaper typewriter then, and in six months worked up from $125 a week to $300,000 a year as a columnist.

ABOUT TO QUIT

He works hard, plays hard and spends freely. Not long ago he picked up a $2,500 tab for a party he threw merely to let some old friends know he was passing through town.

"But I think it's about time I quit that sort of thing," he remarked.

Couple on Probation for Liquor Charges

A Pontiac man and his wife each were placed on two years probation Tuesday after pleading guilty to illegal liquor charges in Municipal Court.

Will Robertson, 40, and his wife Mary, 39, also were ordered to pay fines and court costs totaling $30 apiece. They were arrested following a June 9 raid by police on their home at 539 S. Sanford St.

Mrs. Robertson was charged with operating and maintaining an illegal liquor establishment. Her husband was arrested for aiding and abetting the illegal operation.

He smokes 80 cigarettes a day — "but only about an inch of each" — and still restlessly travels from 100,000 to 150,000 miles a year.

But the boy is growing older and feels now he'd like to settle down for a while.

"I once turned out a 700-word piece in 14 minutes," he said. "But the older you get the slower you write."

'A HAM ACTOR'

"A writer needs an infinite capacity for being an exhibitionist. He's a ham actor with the skill to put it down on paper. But I'd like to advance on the language a little more carefully, and write what I've seen and learned."

Ruark owns a Rolls-Royce, homes in London and Spain, and keeps busy a staff of 15 servants, secretaries and agents.

"I'm proud that I've been on my own since I was 15, and never whined about my troubles," he said.

'NO MAN'S COLLAR'

"But I have only one real symbol of success. That is this: I wear no man's collar in any field. I've got enough dough, which I earned with my own two fingers, to keep me in what I regard as luxury—which is to go where I please, write what I please, or do nothing at all."

Drug Control Bill Very Near Death

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An administration-backed plan to fix tough new government controls over the production of drugs and cosmetics seemed to be heading today toward a quiet death.

Though the House Commerce Committee is presently holding hearings on the proposal — already recommended by President Kennedy in his consumer protection message last January — a poll of key members indicated that final action probably would not be taken this year.

The two major provisions in the plan would establish government control over the manufacturing standards of drug makers and make them prove their products were effective as well as safe.

Consumption of water in the U.S. averages about 100 gallons per day for every man, woman and child.

Finds Purpose in Life, Has 19th Baby at Age 45

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—"They say everyone has a purpose in life," said Mrs. George W. McBride as she held her month-old son in her arms. "I guess God picked me out to have babies."

The infant was the 45-year-old Mrs. McBride's 19th child. Only eight of the 19 children are living.

The youngest, Milton, was the eight to be born to Mrs. McBride and her 73-year-old husband, One died.

She had 11 children by a previous marriage. Only a son, 26, survived.

Fined for Failure to Pay Overtime

DETROIT (AP)—William Noland, Inc., of Monroe, and its president, Frank William Noland, were fined a total of $3,000 in U.S. District Court yesterday for failing to pay overtime due 98 employees and for falsifying records.

Noland had pleaded no contest. A guilty plea was entered for the construction company on two counts, the second of which Judge

Fred W. Kees said he would suspend provided restitution was made to the employees.

Assistant U.S. Atty. Paul J. Komives said the overtime payments would not exceed $20,000. The charges involved a period from July 1959 to July 1961.

JFK Tells Aussie Common Market Won't Hurt Ties

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies has wound up a three-day visit here by receiving assurances from President Kennedy that the United States would not ignore his country's interests in U.S. dealings with the European Common Market.

Menzies expressed satisfaction yesterday over his talks with the President on trade problems.

At a news conference later, Menzies condemned Indonesia for going back on what he said were solemn pledges not to resort to "armed hostilities" while efforts are being made to compromise its dispute with the Netherlands over claims to Dutch New Guinea.

Kennedy's Sugar Bill Backed by Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's chances of getting a sugar bill to his liking out of the Senate Finance Committee brightened considerably today.

Several committee members voiced support for the administration in its sharp attack on the foreign sugar sections of the House-passed measure.

However, even if the committee and the full Senate go along with the President's version, a tough bargaining session with the House still would be in prospect. There, Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee presumably would make a hard fight for his bill.

The Finance Committee, which heard the administration's case yesterday, turns today to domestic industry witnesses. Tomorrow representatives of foreign countries will appear.

'M'-Japanese Series Faces 'Bomb Threat'

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The United States is sending 18 ambassadors in gray flannel suits on a good will mission in which their objective will be to beat their counterparts from Japan.

The rivalry will be friendly, however, and the gray flannel will be tailored into baseball uniforms for the collegiate champions of the two countries who will meet in a best-of-three series June 22-24 at Honolulu.

Michigan was the United States' representative in the 1961 series, losing to Japan in five games.

There is a chance, however, that the special international series — a long-time dream of many American college coaches — could be "bombed" out.

NUCLEAR TESTS

The U.S. is conducting high altitude nuclear tests at Johnston Island not far from Hawaii and a radio communications blackout could possibly be under way about the time the Japanese and American teams would be flying to the 50th state.

A radio blackout would mean communications used to guide aircraft would be temporarily interrupted. The Japanese team is to fly by Pan American Airlines. The Military Air Transport Service will transport the Wolverines to Hawaii.

Even if the radio blackout is lifted in time, there will be backlogs of traffic and the ballplayers may have to wait for transportation.

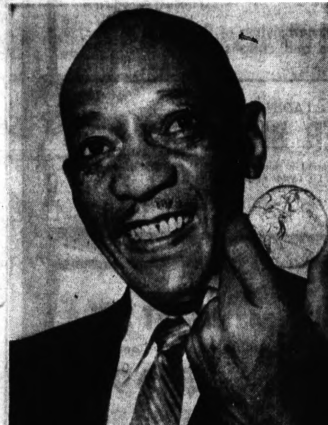

But the plans for the big series are going on as scheduled.

The chief negotiator for the series is Rod DeLoxue, baseball coach of Southern California. He arranged for the Hawaiian inter-collegiate baseball league and the Hawaiian baseball league serve as sponsors.

No one is predicting an easy time of it for the American champs.

Baseball is a major sport in Japan. Last year, the Japanese collegiate tournament drew an average of 6,500 fans per game. That compares with the average of between 5,000 and 6,000 attendance at the NCAA tournament which has been held in Omaha the past 13 seasons.

After the series with the Japanese team, the Wolverines will play a string of exhibition games with service squads on the islands.

Both Have Hit Writer Temple Tops Pinson in Punch Department

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cincinnati Reds pitcher Earl Lawson says Johnny Temple throws a harder punch than Yoda Pinson. He should know.

Pinson, angered by a Lawson story criticizing his fielding, landed a right to Lawson's chin in the Cincinnati dressing room Wednesday night prior to the Pittsburgh game won by the Pirates 5-4. Temple punched Lawson five years ago in a dispute.

"I criticized Pinson's fielding which hasn't been good this year," Lawson said.

THEY ARGUE

"Riding on the bus from the hotel to the field he made a few remarks and we argued," Lawson recounted. "This continued into the clubhouse when Pinson asked: 'Were you serious about that article?'"

"Sure, I'm serious," and that's when he hit me. I tried to hit back but everybody seemed to step in and separate us. It was

Huron-Airway Wins, 9-2

Huron-Airway strengthened its hold on 2nd place in Class A baseball with a 9-2 conquest of R. T. Clippers heading the city baseball softball action yesterday.

CIO, Pontiac State Hospital, G. M. Construction and Motorola Transport topped softball triumphs. The other baseball play was more practice competition for junior nines.

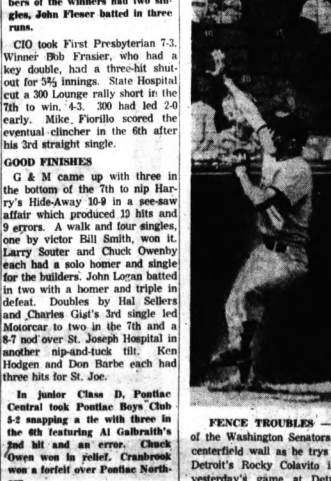

Huron-Airway broke a scoreless dead four with the 4th and coasted to its 5th triumph. Don Sauter had a one-hit shutout until he weakened and allowed three safeties and the runs in the 7th. Four different members of the winners had three singles. John Plesner batted in three runs.

CIO took First Presbyterian 7-3. Winner Bob Frasier, who had a key double, had a three-hit shutout for 7 1/2 innings. Stan Hospiou had a 300 Lounge rally shot in the 7th to win 4-3. 300 led 2-0 early. Mike Fiorillo scored the eventual clincher in the 6th after his 3rd straight single.

GOOD FINISHES

G & M came up with three in the bottom of the 7th to nip Harry's Hide-Away 10-9 in a see-saw affair which produced 12 hits and 9 errors. A walk and four singles, one by victor Bill Smith, won it. Larry Souter and Chuck Owenby each had a solo homer and single for the builders. John Logan batted in two with a homer and triple in defeat. Doubles by Hal Sellers and Charles Gist's 3rd single led Motorola to a 2-0 win in the 7th and a 6-7 nod over St. Joseph Hospital in another nip-and-tuck tilt. Ken Hodgen and Don Barbe each had three hits for St. Joe.

In junior Class D, Pontiac Central took Pontiac Boys Club 5-2 snapping a tie with three in the 6th featuring Al Gallahue's 2nd hit and an error. Chuck Owen won in relief. Cranbrook won a forfeit over Pontiac North.

Beanballs Feature AL Night Games

By The Associated Press

Beanball, anyone?

Either American League pitchers are suffering a collective streak of poor marksmanship or they're feeling uncommonly vindictive toward their natural enemies—the hitters. At any rate the high quota of hit batsmen continues, along with the resulting flare-ups.

Wednesday night for example, Boston's Mike Fornieles matched a modern major league single game record by plunking four-count 'em four—Cleveland batters in the course of the Indians' doubleheader sweep over the Red Sox. And at Kansas City, Jerry Wagner of the Athletics nicked Leon Wagner of Los Angeles. Wagner threw his bat at Walker, Walker threw the ball at Wagner again, and both were ejected after a medium-sized free-for-all.

SEVEN STRAIGHT WINS

By beating Boston twice, 6-3 and 3-0, the Indians boosted their winning string to seven and their league lead to two full games over the Sox.

Chisox Farm Team Gets DeBusschere

CHICAGO (AP) — Bonus pitcher Dave DeBusschere, a former University of Detroit basketball star, was sent by the Chicago White Sox to Chisox Farm, Ga., in the Sally League yesterday.

A White Sox spokesman said the club wants DeBusschere to pitch every fourth day under manager Les Most.

"When he gets experience," the spokesman said, "we will bring him back." He will be available for recall on 24 hours notice.

DeBusschere, who recently signed to play professional basketball, too, with the Detroit Pistons, joined the Sox on weekends until the academic year ended this month.

Burnside Stops Tigers in Relief; Cash Slays 18th, Gandy Slays Hot

DETROIT (AP) — The little gnomes of playing against Jimmy Piersall often are more dimming to the Tigers than his bat. Piersall had two harmless singles yesterday. Then the third time he reached base on a fielder's choice he distracted them so much it was possibly enough to cause defeat.

Bob Johnson and Chuck Hinton delivered the crushing blows in the Washington Senators' 5-4 victory. But it was Piersall's psychological warfare that tightened up the Tigers.

The score was tied 2-2 in the seventh when Piersall went into his act. He reached first base on the hit. Hinton then scored on a sacrifice bunt. Piersall then struck out on a bunt. Piersall, getting a tremendous jump, stole second.

Milwaukee Wins Pair Led by Slugging Aaron

By The Associated Press

There's nothing about the physical appearance of Hank Aaron to suggest that he's a slugger—nothing that's, until he whips the bat around and exerts power from two of the strongest wrists in baseball.

The Milwaukee Braves outfielder, who gives away 40 pounds to a slugger like Jim Gentile of the Baltimore Orioles and 30 to Mickey Mantle and teammate Eddie Mathews, has a waist that is the envy of dieting women.

But he has feasted on National League pitchers to the point where he has more hits and runs batted in during the past five years than any player in the league.

The New York Mets are the latest to feel the sting of Aaron's sharp bat. He clobbered New York pitchers for nine hits in 16 at-bats, including a double and three home runs, and drove in 11 runs in the four-game series that concluded Wednesday.

HITS MARK TO 335

This spurge raised his season's batting mark to .335, tying him with the Cubs' Bill Williams and Stan Musial of the Cardinals. It also helped Milwaukee raise its sagging fortunes by taking three of the four games, culminated by a 9-4, 3-2 doubleheader sweep Wednesday.

Otherwise the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers lost a 5-4, 11th inning affair to the Cardinals, but retained their 2 1/2 game lead when Houston clipped second-place San Francisco 9-5. Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 5-4 and Chicago and Philadelphia were rained out.

Aaron had five hits in the doubleheader against the Mets, including two home runs, and drove in six runs.

Former Detroit Tiger and Michigan baseball star Dick Wackerfield yesterday filed as a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate. He is seeking the 33rd District Senate seat now held by Sen. Stanley G. Taylor, R-An Arbor.

THE UNITED STATES Wednesday named four amateur golfers to complete its team for the annual International pro-am matches against Canada July 2. Included among the quartet was Chuck Koelsch of Royal Oak. The others were Ed Meister, Wiloughby, Ohio, New York's Bob Gardner and Dick Chapman of Oyster Bay, N.Y. Four pros were named earlier.

MARK BELANGER, 18, Pittsfield, Mass., High School shortstop, signed a bonus contract yesterday with Baltimore for an estimated $35,000. He will report next week to the Orioles Class D farm team at Bluefield, W.Va.

PLAYING RIGHT FIELD

Mantle to Face Tigers

BALTIMORE, (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees ailing super-star, will return to the lineup Friday night against the Detroit Tigers.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said he will try Mantle in right field, instead of his usual center field spot, "because in Detroit, it's the smallest area an outfielder has to cover."

STILL TROUBLED

Mantle has been out of action since May 15 when he tore a muscle in his right thigh and landed heavily on his left knee while running out a ground ball. The thigh muscles have healed, but im-

Burleson Surprise AAU Entry

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Oregon's ungrudging distance runner star, Dyrrol Burleson, kicked up quite a controversy today with the announcement that he will compete after all in the National AAU Track and Field Championships here this weekend.

The 23-year-old senior changed lanes and said he will run here after announcing that he was through racing for the year.

But he will run only in the 3-mile event instead of what would have been a widely heralded and long anticipated clash with little Jim Beatty of Los Angeles in the mile.

USING A "CLUB"

Burleson's coach, Bill Bowerman, accused the National AAU of using a "club" to make Dyrrol compete in the Nationals.

AAU officials vehemently denied the charge.

Burleson's 3-mile effort will be against the best, however, not against the world record, and Canada's 18-year-old Bruce Kidd, who whipped Halberg in the recent Compton Invitational meet.

At best, Burleson's switch was greeted with mixed emotions here. The meet starts Friday at Mt. San Antonio College.

Golf 'World Series' Set

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A new exclusive golf tournament matching the winners of the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA Championships for a $50,000 first prize will be played for the first time here Sept. 8-9.

Announcement of the new tournament, to be played at the First Stone Country Club course, was made Wednesday. Only the four major tournament champions, with alternates named by the PGA in case one man wins more than one of the tournaments, will be eligible for the 36-hole medal play competition. One round will be played on Saturday, the other on Sunday with the winner receiving $50,000, the runner-up $15,000 and the third and fourth place $10,000 and $10,000 through the 18th.

Winners at least $5,000 each. Third place money may be boosted to $10,000.

ALREADY QUALIFIED

Arnold Palmer, the Masters champ, and Jack Nicklaus, who beat Palmer last Sunday in the U.S. Open playoff, already have qualified for the tournament.

The British Open will be played July 9-13 at Troon, Scotland, and the PGA tournament July 13-22 at Aronimink Country Club in Newtown Square, Pa., near Philadelphia. Palmer and Nicklaus will play in both.

The competition will be televised (NBC) both days from the 10th and the third and fourth place 12th hole through the 18th.

Burleson's sudden change of plans matched his maneuver last May. After withdrawing from the Coliseum Relays weeks before, he abruptly decided about two days before the meet that he would run against Peter Snell of New Zealand, the world's best.

Snell demolished him and Burleson's American record of 3:37.8 with a blistering 3:56.1.

AVID AAU CRITIC

Bowerman, an avid critic of the AAU and a leader in the new United States Track Federation, charged that pressure was applied by the AAU to force Burleson to run here.

J. B. (Cap) Haralson of Bakersfield, Calif., chairman of the AAU National Track Committee, denied the accusation. He said Burleson was welcome but not indispensable because "we have a lot of good boys already here."

Bowerman said an AAU official in New York, Steve Archer, telephoned him at Eugene, Ore., Tuesday night and told him Dyrrol would not be considered for any foreign trips this year if he did not compete in the Nationals.

NO PRESSURE

Col. Don Hull, secretary of the AAU, said there was no attempt to apply any pressure on Burleson.

"On the contrary, Steve Archer called Coach Bowerman to tell him that Burleson had been asked for by a foreign country. We considered it an opportunity for the boy and wanted him to know about it."

World Mat Event Opens

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — More than 200 amateur wrestlers from 27 nations weigh in today and draw for positions in the 14th world championship tournament.

Freestyle wrestling less than 114.5 pounds will see the first scheduled action this afternoon following opening ceremonies led by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio.

The battle for the freestyle team championship looms as a three-cornered scrap between Iran, Turkey and Russia with the United States, Japan and Bulgaria ranked right behind them.

Iran returns all five gold medal winners who led its freestyle team tournament last year in Japan. Since then the Iranians have scored team victories over Russia, Turkey, Bulgaria and Japan in dual meetings.

Boxer Unconscious Since June 3 Bout

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Professional boxer Rudy Coronado was reported improving in a hospital Wednesday but still unconscious after suffering a technical knockout in a fight June 3.

Coronado, 28, of Guadalajara, lost consciousness two hours after being stopped in the seventh round of a bout in Acapulco with Juan Ibarra. He was brought here for treatment.

Ohioan Named Mentor at Albion College

ALBION (AP) — Dean Dooley, a product of Ohio's high school coaching ranks, has been named basketball and track coach at Albion College.

Dooley, appointed yesterday, will join the Albion staff Sept. 1, with the title of assistant professor of physical education.

He coached the two sports at Wilbur Wright High School in Dayton since 1947.

Walled Lake Legion Wins Behind Tuck

Walled Lake's Junior Legion team earned its district record at 22 last night by beating Troy 6-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Tuck. He fanned 12, walked none and allowed no runners past 1st.

The victors clinched the issue with two in the 1st on RBI singles by Ralph Campion and Rick Foster. Campion batted in two more in the 4th. Jerry Walker and Jerry Sutton each had hits for ribs in the 5th.

Walled Lake visits Southfield Friday night and hosts Milford Sunday afternoon.

Faces Jail or Fine for Throwing Cup at Piersall

DETROIT (AP)—George Hicks, 35, of Detroit was given the choice Wednesday of paying a $100 fine or going to jail for 90 days after he was charged with throwing a beer cup at Washington center fielder Jimmy Piersall in Tuesday night's game here between the Detroit Tigers and the Senators.

Police caught Hicks during the ninth inning of the game and he was prosecuted under a city ordinance prohibiting the throwing of objects onto the field during an athletic contest.

Twice before this season, visiting players, Roger Maris of New York and Lee Thomas of Los Angeles, were the objects of various debris. Maris was struck on the arm with an empty bottle.

Busy Weekend on Golf Front

City Best Ball, State Publix and Red Run on the Agenda

It will be a busy weekend on the amateur golf front, both outside and in the Oakland County area. The Michigan Publix Golf Association's annual state match play championship got under way today at Lincoln Country Club near Grand Rapids with 18-hole qualifying rounds for flights.

Pontiac's annual City Best Ball tournament is scheduled Saturday at Municipal course and today at 6 p.m. is the deadline for entries wishing to have pairings and starting times posted. Post entries will be accepted, however.

The Red Run Invitational Best Ball event also began its four-day stand today with 18-hole qualifying rounds for flights. Match play starts Friday.

Match play in all flights also commences tomorrow in the State Publix tournament over Lincoln's 5,900-yard, par 36-36-72 course. Doug Wilson of Ypsilanti is gunning for his 3rd consecutive crown, a feat previously accomplished by Mike Andonian of Pontiac (1956-1958).

Andonian, Roy Iceberg and Charlie Barker of Pontiac, are among the nearly 200 players shooting qualifying rounds today. Barker rifled a five-under-par 67 yesterday to post the best practice score.

The low 63 shooters will join Wilson for match play in the championship flight. All other flights will have 32 golfers each.

Eastern Open Starts Minus Top Winners

BALTIMORE (AP)—While the fat cats loaf, the hungry breed of golfers will be licking their chops over $35,000 at stake in the 13th Eastern Open, which starts today.

A first prize of $5,300 awaits the winner Sunday at the end of 72 scheduled holes with such money winners as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Gene Littler shunning the dough in favor of rest.

The program was cancelled Wednesday because of a steady rain, so play advances to the first round today, with the field of 115 led by Phil Rodgers and Bob Nichols.

Three More at Area Links

Another Hole-in-1 Binge

Three more holes-in-one have been posted at Oakland County golf courses. The golfers with the perfect shots were 17-year-old Steve Tineff, Clair Newkirk of Pontiac and C. M. Greenstreet of Ypsilanti.

Tineff, former Bloomfield Hills High School player, aced Forest Lake Country Club's 140-yard 10th hole with a 4-iron. The ball wedged into the cup on the fly.

It was Tineff's first ace and the 3rd at Forest Lake this season. His playing partners were Ed Wask and Bob Walton, ex-Pontiac Northern golfers.

With Bill Whitlow and Bill Overly as witnesses, Newkirk aced the 135-yard 8th hole at Pontiac Country Club. Newkirk used a 6-iron to collect his first ace and PCC's 4th of the year.

Greenstreet's first ace and the 3rd at Twin Beach during the monthly meeting of the Michigan Golf Superintendents' Association. Greenstreet's 3-iron shot went into the cup on the 155-yard 8th hole as Leo Johnson and Ward Swanson watched. It was No. 1 at Twin Beach.

Seeks New Mark in Road Races

Ken Neilson of Birmingham will be trying to break his own record Saturday and Sunday in the June Trophy sports car races at Waterford Hills.

Cars from Michigan, Ohio and Canada have been entered.

Neilson turned the mile and a half course on the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club grounds in 1:23.3 in a Lotus 20.

Former record holder Francis Bradley of Canada, 1:24.7 in a Lola, is expected to compete. So is Tom Payne, Ypsilanti politician and car dealer, who collected in 1:23.4 last year at the OCSG Road Racing Club course.

Neilson's chief competitor is expected to be Canadian Al Peace in a Lotus 20.

The OCSG grounds are located on Waterford Road, a quarter mile east of Dixie Highway (US 10).

Service Academies Hope Conflict Over

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—The nation's three service academies have moved to avoid conflict with other colleges in recruiting athletes but it may not head off a threatened Congressional inquiry.

Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn (D-S.C.) has joined Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) in urging an investigation of recruiting practices by the military academies in the wake of the appointment to West Point of two football players who had signed letters of intent to enroll in two South Carolina colleges.

"Citizens through the country are anxious to know the truth and are entitled to the facts with reference to reported high pressure tactics through which high school and prep school athletes are induced to break contracts already entered into with certain universities and colleges," Dorn said in a letter to Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

MAKE JOINT PLEDGE

His plea came while the superintendents of Army, Navy and Air Force released a joint statement which said, in effect, that the academies pledged not to contact any student-athlete who had signed a grant-in-aid or letter of intent with another college.

The statement said any athlete applying for admission would be required to sign the following statement:

"I have not signed a letter of intent or grant-in-aid with any institution. In the event I do, I will notify the authorities of the institution concerned that my commitment with them is contingent upon my acceptance or rejection of my appointment as a cadet or midshipman."

A spokesman at West Point said the statement was aimed at clearing the air as a result of the acceptance by West Point of backs Wayne Page and Curtiss Lindler. They were accepted by Army after previously signing letters of intent to enroll at colleges in South Carolina—Page at Clemson and Lindler at the University South Carolina.

DIETZEL CRITICIZED

Although both have said the Military Academy was their first choice all along, football coaches Marvin Bass of South Carolina and Frank Howard of Clemson have criticized Army Coach Paul Dietzel for recruiting the pair. Howard called it "a downright outrage."

Long, along with Senators Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., questioned recruiting tactics last week and called for an inquiry.

Indiana Doctor's 72 Tops West Seniors

PORT HURON, Mich. — Dr. Robert Rogers of New Castle, Ind., held the lead with a 72 today as the final 18 holes of the Western Senior Golf Association tournament got under way.

Dr. Rogers' one-over-par 34-38 on the Black River Country Club course yesterday also gave him the lead in the not score classification. He went into the tourney with an eight handicap.

Former champion Egon F. Quitner of Jenkintown, Pa., fired a 73 yesterday and defending champion George Dawson of Glen Ellyn, Ill., having trouble with his second shots, had a 74.

Bunched at 75 were Col. William K. Lammann of Glenview, Ill., George Haggarty of Detroit, George Groote of Chicago and Oliver Sandquist of Skokie, Ill.

Michigan College Golfer Loses

Favored Women Victors

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The defending champion hardly warmed up but the medalist had to go 19 holes to get into today's second round of the 18th Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament.

July Holmer, a slim University of Washington student, rolled in an easy 7 and 6 victory over Western Michigan's Sharon Miller. It was Miss Holmer's first competition this week she passed up Tuesday's qualifying round.

A spokesman at West Point said the statement was aimed at clearing the air as a result of the acceptance by West Point of backs Wayne Page and Curtiss Lindler. They were accepted by Army after previously signing letters of intent to enroll at colleges in South Carolina—Page at Clemson and Lindler at the University South Carolina.

SCRAMBLES AGAIN

Another scrambling round was turned in by New Mexico's Mary Jo Campbell, who was down 4 after nine holes against Jean Schiller of Maryland. Miss Campbell scratched away and finally caught up with a birdie 3 on the 18th. She also won her match on the 19th.

Elon Sandy Palmer, a per North Texas State senior who won the West Texas Women's Open last Saturday, upset No. 2 qualifier Sue Meerdink of Arizona State University, 1 up. Miss Palmer sank three hole-winning putts of less than six feet in the last five holes.

Purdue's Julie Hall of Anderson, Ind., who finished second in the 1960 tourney, went 19 holes before defeating tall Barbara Fay White of Texas Christian, 1 up.

Today's matches pair Miss Holmer and Sharon Fladous of Iowa, Miss Palmer against Helen Marie Welland of Rosemont, Minn., Robinson and Miss Hull, and Tucker intercollegiate champ Carol Sorenson of Arizona State University against Miss Campbell.

3 Southern Cal Netters Advance; M' Stars Bow

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Three University of Southern California netters survived the fourth round of play in the NCAA Tennis Championships Wednesday.

Leading the Trojan trio into the round of eight was first-seeded Rafael Osuna, who downed George Stoesser of Arizona, 6-2, 6-3. Bill Bond ousted Ray Senkowski of Michigan, 8-6, 6-4, and Ramsey Earnhart disposed of Drayton Nabers of Princeton, 6-2, 6-2. Bond is seeded third and Earnhart fifth.

Only seeded player who failed to advance was fourth-ranked Bill Hoogs of California, upset by UCLA's Paul Palmer, 6-4, 6-3.

Other fourth round singles results:

Larry Nagler, UCLA, defeated Yoshi Minegishi, Stanford, 6-3, 6-4.

Marty Riessen, Northwestern, defeated Jerry Dubie, Michigan, 6-3, 6-1.

Bill Lemoir, Arizona, defeated John Karabasz, Miami, 6-0, 6-2.

Rod Mandelstam, Miami, defeated Fritz Schunk, Rice, 6-2, 1-6, 6-6.

AP Critic Raves Over Stratford's Shakespeare Festival Performance

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
STRATFORD, Ont. — Loud, loud cheers for "The Tempest."

Saving the best for last, Canada's Shakespeare Festival Company Wednesday night completed its 10th season panoply with a production of the bard's farewell play which glimmers with theatrical enchantment.

In every detail it provokes applause and must be regarded as one of this Canadian troupe's finest accomplishments.

Director George McCowan has woven an entertainment of delicate, complicated nuances. There is thoughtful depth, pantomime comedy, touching romance, gothic fantasy—and each bit seems exactly right and integrated to the rest.

The performers meet the artistic challenge with flashing sincerity: William Hutt as Prospero; Martha Henry, his daughter; Peter Drost, the young prince; and Bruno Gerusai and John Colucci, as those rival spirits of good and evil—Ariel and Caliban—give familiar lines a fresh glow. Boisterous slapstick is the contribution of Normal Welsh and Hugh Webster.

Designer Desmond Heeley sets the great arena stage with combinations of rich colors and climates of towering candelabra and figures for a pre-nuptial masque filled with flowing movement and sound. The musical touches are the composition of John Cook.

"The Tempest" is a production for Shakespeare fans to savor and all theatergoers to enjoy. Magical stuff.

It's Hollywood Brass Now

Pvt. Hargrove's Still Fighting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Twenty years later, Private Hargrove is still fighting the brass.

The difference is that his adversaries are not the top kicke and shavetails from whom he extracted his wartime best seller.

"See Here, Private Hargrove."

Now he is contending with the production minds of the Hollywood studios. I might add that as one of the town's most in-demand comedy writers, his pay is somewhat different this time.

Hargrove appears to have prospered in spite of his refusal to knuckle under the Hollywood system. But he admitted in a Universal office that it sometimes pays to be cautious.

"Most of the time I am writing satire," he explained, "but the trick is never to tell the producer that it is satire. That would scare them."

Hargrove came here in 1955 to research and write a comedy about the postwar army. "The Girl He Left Behind," for Warner Brothers. He persuaded the studio to let him write the yarn as a book while a script writer followed a few pages behind, turning it into a scenario. Hargrove's hilarious passages came out serious in the script; Hollywood was on a dramatic kick.

MUST BE CAUTIOUS

Under the American aid program to South Viet Nam, the United States provides dollars to the Vietnamese government which sells them for local currency to private importers. The importers then use the dollars to buy abroad. They complained that American prices were too high for their customers.

One American official estimated that 90-95 per cent of the Vietnamese government's revenue comes from customs duties and levies. To increase its revenues, he said, the government had to get importers back in business of importing and to this it had to skin U.S. permission for them to spend American aid dollars on the world market.

TURNED OUT SATIRE

While waiting for the studios to come over to comedy, Hargrove turned out a pack of television Westerns — "the way Westerns should be written," that is, funny. His "Mavericks" were pure satire but no one admitted it out loud. His "Mavericks" were pure satire but no one admitted it out loud. Hollywood finally found out that comedies sell, and he was in demand for features. He converted "Music Man" to films and had his sport with bossman J. L. Warner doing so.

HAD TO APOLOGIZE

Hargrove did an adaptation for the Kim Novak comedy, "Boy's Night Out," but battled with the director. "I had to apologize for calling him a frustrated writer," Hargrove recalled. "I told him it was his writer who was the frustrated writer."

He next tried producing and writing the television series "Follow the Sun" for 20th Century-Fox. "I'm not really cowardly," he said, "but I admit I was one of the first rate to leave that sinking ship."

STUDDIED WITH ASIDES

The writer went as far west as Universal, where he wrote "Go Poodle of Trouble" — "about normal, healthy people who naturally hate each other." He is now working on another comedy, "One Arabian Night." Like all his scripts, it is studded with hilarious asides and descriptions.

Lets Viet Nam Spend U.S. Dollars Abroad

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States has waived Bay American restriction to permit the South Viet Nam government to spend $22 million in American aid funds outside the United States, an informed U.S. source said yesterday.

Under the American aid program to South Viet Nam, the United States provides dollars to the Vietnamese government which sells them for local currency to private importers. The importers then use the dollars to buy abroad. They complained that American prices were too high for their customers.

One American official estimated that 90-95 per cent of the Vietnamese government's revenue comes from customs duties and levies. To increase its revenues, he said, the government had to get importers back in business of importing and to this it had to skin U.S. permission for them to spend American aid dollars on the world market.

U.S. Changing Approach to French N-Weapons Plans

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are beginning to face up to the hard reality that France is determined to build its own nuclear weapons force whether they like it or not.

They are, therefore, becoming increasingly concerned with the possibility of eventually diverting the French effort into a new NATO nuclear weapons partnership for which the United States itself would have to make some concessions.

The problem of breaking the nuclear weapons deadlock within the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance has dominated the consultations held by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with President Charles de Gaulle and other French leaders in Paris. If De Gaulle and President Kennedy meet later this year, as Paris reports suggest, it is by name, this led in Europe to possible, it will undoubtedly be to try to find a solution to this problem.

INDICATES NEW STAND

Indications of the new U.S. approach were disclosed in a speech on nuclear weapons strategy that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made last Saturday at the University of Michigan. McNamara declared it is an urgent need, possibly involving the suspension of NATO nuclear cooperation, that NATO countries agree on the coordination of targeting plans—the selection of targets against which a nuclear attack would be directed in event of all-out war—and the circumstances under which nuclear weapons would be employed.

SPENCER CRYSTAL, McNamara's speech was sharp. He said the French plan to create a national nuclear force, though he did not mention France, is by name, this led in Europe to considerable counter criticism to the effect that the United States is trying to dictate to its Allies.

McNamara argued that development of a national nuclear force would encourage the spread of nuclear weapons among nations, would not serve as a deterrent against Soviet force and would create the danger of one of the Allies acting on its own to start a nuclear war.

Cheboygan Protests Transfer of Cutter Base

grams totaling 19 feet in length, signed by 67 persons, were sent to Washington yesterday to protest a proposal to move the base of the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinac from here to Port Huron. The telegrams went to Coast Guard Commandant Adm. Edwin J. Roland and to Michigan Senators Patrick McNamara and Philip Hart. Signers contributed from 25 cents to $10 each to pay the costs.

One well-informed official, privately discussing the U.S. policy implications in the McNamara speech, said today "we are not giving up on our opposition to a French national force but we are now trying to think beyond that." Other officials said that if the European allies in consultation with the United States through the NATO council at Paris produce a workable formula for a NATO partnership they will find the Kennedy administration completely cooperative. One possibility reported to be under consideration is the creation of some kind of NATO command for strategic nuclear weapons. The initial effort of such an organization probably would be to integrate nuclear weapons strategies of the various allied governments including the United States.

Bobby to Visit Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will spend next Monday in Detroit in a two-day conference with the district U.S. attorney and his staff. Monday will be the first day of Kennedy's week-long cross-country

One point McNamara emphasized was that weapons would not necessarily be used against enemy cities but if circumstances permitted would be used instead against enemy military targets, notably rocket installations and nuclear arsenals from which attacks on the West could be made.

At present the NATO military command has some control over the possible use of U.S. nuclear weapons stationed in Europe although they are primarily controlled by agreements between Washington and the countries on whose territory they are. The U.S. strategic force, including American-based missiles and the State-Department Air Command, are controlled in Washington although there is some coordination with NATO.

One of the great fears in Washington is that if the French refuse the pooling of their forces under NATO the West German government will come under very heavy pressure to develop a nuclear weapons, is urgently interested in the development of a NATO nuclear force.

'Explains' Metal Stockpiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate documents showed today that Eisenhower administration officials purchased a $200-million lead-zinc stockpile from big producers on the heels of their 1959 production.

The government evidently did not call for competitive bids for the lead and zinc ores.

Instead it paid the going market price, according to documents supplied by Sen. Stuart Symington's armed services investigating subcommittee.

Symington's investigators may explore the profits made by lead-zinc suppliers at hearings today. The subcommittee has been trying to find out who was responsible for loading the critical materials stockpile with unneeded metals and minerals.

William N. Lawrence, a deputy director in the Office of Emergency Planning (OEP), testified yesterday that defense mobilizer American Smelting and Refining Co. of Butte, Idaho, was the largest supplier of lead and zinc from 1954 to 1959.

According to Lawrence, Fleming liked stockpile objectives merely to justify additional government purchases. The aim, he said, was to aid the lead-zinc mining industry by keeping prices up.

Lawrence said Flemming told him that "someone" in the administration gave instructions to buy as much lead and zinc as possible. But Lawrence did not know who gave the orders.

In a previous appearance before the subcommittee Flemming said the government never should meddle in the commodities market. Flemming is now president of the University of Oregon.

Data supplied by the subcommittee showed that stockpile purchases beginning in June 1954, pushed the average price of zinc from 11 cents a pound to 13.5 cents in April 1957.

In roughly the same period, lead prices moved from 14 to 38 cents. Prices fell sharply when stockpile purchasing ceased.

Four major lead producers accounted for nearly all the $36.8 million worth bought for the stockpile in the four-year period, the subcommittee's figures showed.

The four firms, and the sales of each, were:

St. Joseph Lead Company, $37.1 million; American Smelting & Refining Co., $37.5 million; U.S. Smelting, Refining & Mining Co., $32.4 million; Anaconda Sales Co., $18.7 million.

Four companies also accounted for the bulk of zinc purchases totaling $112.3 million. The big four suppliers were:

American Zinc Sales Co., $20.5 million; Anaconda Sales Company, $20.4 million; American Smelting & Refining Co., $21.4 million; U.S. Lead Co., $18.7 million.

It also announced the harvest would officially end Friday evening with a rally to which Prime Minister Fidel Castro has been invited.

The figure is approximately two million tons less than what the government announced had been produced last year and 600,000 tons below the intended 1962 goal.

The 1962 harvest was one of the lowest ever recorded. It was plagued by a lack of experienced cutters, drought, then heavy rains and sabotage by fire in many areas. Statistics show it is the poorest since 1956.

The head of the consolidated sugar enterprise, Alfredo Mendez, told a workers' assembly yesterday only 3 per cent of the cane remained standing.

He also announced the harvest would officially end Friday evening with a rally to which Prime Minister Fidel Castro has been invited.

The 1962 harvest was one of the lowest ever recorded. It was plagued by a lack of experienced cutters, drought, then heavy rains and sabotage by fire in many areas. Statistics show it is the poorest since 1956.

The head of the consolidated sugar enterprise, Alfredo Mendez, told a workers' assembly yesterday only 3 per cent of the cane remained standing.

He also announced the harvest would officially end Friday evening with a rally to which Prime Minister Fidel Castro has been invited.

Cuban Sugar Output Poorest in 6 Years

HAVANA (AP) — The last of Cuba's 1962 sugar mills will grind to a halt this week, bringing to an end a disappointing 1962 harvest that has yielded 4.8 million tons of raw sugar.

The figure is approximately two million tons less than what the government announced had been produced last year and 600,000 tons below the intended 1962 goal.

The rest of this week's series will deal with slams which should have been easy to bid, but weren't so simple when actually played.

Playing at three no-trump South gathered in the ace of spades, six diamonds, and three hearts, but North pointed out to him that six diamonds after West passed your two spade bid. What do you do now?

North felt that the trouble was with South's first rebid. He suggested that if South had jumped to three diamonds then he, North, could have asked for aces with a four no-trump bid and settled for the diamond slam when South showed only two of them.

North was right about what would have happened if South had tried a three diamond bid, but I feel that there can be no valid criticism of his two diamond call. The trouble came at his next turn to bid. After North went to three clubs, South had an excellent bid at his disposal. He should have bid three spades. This bid could not get him into any trouble. North could not have a spade suit otherwise he would have shown it earlier.

With many holdings North would simply go to three no-trump over the three spade bid and South would pass. With his actual holding North might well jump all the way to six diamonds, but at least he would jump to five and South could certainly go on to six after that bid.

General of the Century'

Old Friend Says MacArthur Family Greatest Ever

By BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — "Gen. MacArthur was the greatest general of the century," thundered my old friend Tom Rogers in his balding suit, ignoring his nearly 80 years as he swung a cigar in one hand and gestured a glass of beer with the other.
"Yes," yes, the British generals in their memoirs agree that I say, "I said to the founder-publisher of the 56-year-old Philippine Free Press. He ignored the interruption.
"And Mrs. MacArthur... the greatest woman I ever met, and I've met plenty," he added with a loud rattle in the eyes of his white-headed head. "Found the wounded while the general fought on the battlefield. Comforted the sick... always kind, attractive... sympathetic."
"Yes, General," a wonderful woman.
"Then came young Ramon, as I called him, grew up West Point, and the straight-backed second son you ever saw."
"Ramon?"
The old gentleman looked at me. "Ramon is Doug," he said, and patient with his stupid interviewer. "I've been talking, of course, about Gen. Arthur MacArthur and Ramon's mother-in-law, the greatest people I ever met. I'm seeing the boy Thursday for lunch. I'll tell him a thing or two about his people."

"I signed up with his father in the Philippines when I was 15, and clean from Boston. Because his side and confidence, secretary. Mrs. MacArthur took a liking to me. God bless her. I was her boy. Noble wife to her husband, noble mother to Ramon. She once moved back to West Point from the Philippines to watch over him as a cadet. Never a woman like her."
"I'll give credit to the boy, he loved his mother."
"It should make an interesting reunion."
The board hopes to see President Kennedy in the state, he has met and interviewed every president since Theodore Roosevelt, his ideal chief executive.

A couple of years ago at his club he was seen at some length to me about how fellow club members had disliked "Bill." He was "Bill" this and "Bill" that for hours. He was a 19-year-old member, enough to ask who Bill was.
"Bill Taft," said William Howard, who did not think I was talking about it. That demanded.
"I'll get to see the President I'm

COLOMA — Two teen-age girls drowned in Bay, Paw Paw Lake in Berrien County today after one panicked when he found himself in water over his head. Berrien County sheriff's deputies said Duane Wright, who was about 15 years old, panicked and began thrashing in the lake after a boat he and two other boys were in started to fill with water.

Named to Head GOP Campaign

Huntington Woods Man Will Lead Drive to Register More Voters

A Huntington Woods man today was appointed chairman of the Republican party's 1962 voter identification drive in Michigan.

Alvin R. Balden, of 1732 Elgin St., was named to the post by John A. (Jack) Gibbs, GOP state campaign coordinator and former county executive of the Oakland County Republican Committee.

Balden, a member of Republican State Central Committee, was praised by Gibbs as "an unpretentious capable" and a "volunteer who will get his job done in superb fashion."

Gibbs said Balden's main job is to get unregistered Republicans on voter rolls for the November election.

SEES BIG TURNOUT
The GOP's voter identification program (VIP) uncovered several thousand Republicans in Oakland County, Republican-leaning independents not properly registered, Gibbs explained.

"With their addition," he predicted, "we'll turn out a record Republican vote on election day."

Balden has been active in Oakland County GOP work since the 1950s, serving as a past club captain and later in committee posts.

In announcing Balden's appointment, Gibbs criticized Democrats for using Secretary of State James E. Van Vleet in a comparable position.

Gibbs contends that political elites dictate that Hare, as the state's chief election officer, should champion voter election drives. Democrats "brazenly intend to use the secretary's vast patronage machine to register Democrats."

He said Republicans will carefully watch to see if government-paid employees are put to work by Democrats in the election campaign.

"Print that story and it will sweep the land."
"Number Two: Wherever I've gone on this present trip, from San Francisco clear across the country on the train, I've told them to lift up their eyes and their plumes (as a school teacher he taught many of the island's) pre-begging beggars and get the hell to town in the history of the world, a real leader, and as a prisoner of work."

We asked Theo, who is one of those "I thought up that one," he exploded, springing to his feet like an ant, he gazed tiger. "I say to them, 'Stop begging beggars and get the hell to town in the history of the world, a real leader, and as a prisoner of work.'"

Two escapes from Camp Pontiac apparently were picked up by a car at Highland and Pontiac Lakes early today after fled from the honor farm in White Lake Township.

Pontiac police said the two men, both serving terms for breaking and entering, were tracked to the intersection by a police dog following their escape about 3:30 p.m. today.

The escapes were identified as Edwin Burke, 23, of Niles, and Harry Dabnick, 19, of Carney. Burke was sentenced in Berrien County and Dabnick in Menominee County, police said.

3 Named to Fund Boy for Swainson Campaign

Three Oakland County men have been appointed to the fund-raising executive board of the Swainson for Governor Committee, finance committee chairman Max Omos announced today.

The men are Pat VanWagoner, 3880 Oakland Drive, Birmingham; Stuart Hartberg, 1010 Hartberg St., Hartberg; and Mike Zetter, 2381 Rensselaer Ave., Oak Park.

The 1960 census showed more women than men for the first time.

American Pianist Describes Warm Welcome

His Russian Audiences Saw No 'Curtain'

Editor's Note—American pianist Byron Janis earlier this week completed a month-long tour of the Soviet Union with a Moscow recital that brought 40 minutes of applause. In the following dispatch, Janis describes his reception in the Soviet Union.

By BYRON JANIS
MOSCOW (UPI)—Five weeks of concerting in the Soviet Union reveal many striking characteristics of Russian music lovers. They are among the most responsive audiences in the world: When they hear lyrical passages in a Rachmaninov concerto they weep unabashedly. They are also the first to laugh when the music takes a humorous turn. When they are pleased with your playing they roar, cheer and stamp their feet to say nothing of the thunderous clapping in unison.

They also shout "spasibo"—the Russian for "thank you."
These people have many ways of expressing themselves with delight and surprise of foreign artists. For example, flowers are not reserved for women performers. At each of my concerts and recitals, I received dozens of bouquets of flowers.

Sometimes they simply toss a whole bunch at you and you have to dodge them to avoid getting them full in the face.

But it is a custom which could certainly be followed in other countries. The people also toss small gifts on the stage after a performance. I have picked up wooden Ukrainian dolls, pens, and lots of chocolates. You get many notes also thanking you for your playing.

In Yerevan, the capital of Armenia, the audience was particularly colorful. Following my recital there the men in the audience rushed down the aisle and kissed my hand. At one point, I had to hold on to the piano or I would have been dragged off the stage.

In the halls where I performed the entire audience remained seated during what became a marathon of encores ending only when I begged my interpreter to announce that I was exhausted.

NOT ENOUGH TICKETS

There were not enough tickets to my recital in Tiflis, which was held in a lattice-wooden pavilion in a park. We noticed halfway through the recital that some listeners had climbed up trees outside the hall and were watching through large openings near the roof.

My wife tried to collect the dozens and dozens of beautiful roses which were thrown onto the stage but after a while had to give up because there were too many.

Although there was little time between engagements, I made a special effort to go to Echmiadzin in Armenia just outside Yerevan. There I had the great privilege of an audience with the catholics, the pope of the Armenian Church. He is a magnificent looking man with magnetic eyes and a great air of serenity.

He loves Mozart as well as the great Russian composers and attends concerts by foreign artists whenever he can.

His church is one of the most beautiful in the Soviet Union. It contains the structure of one of the oldest known Christian churches (second only to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem), and under its altar is believed to be the shirt taken from Christ by the soldiers and sold to the highest bidder. We were given roses from the beautiful Persian-like garden which the catholics tend themselves.

In Baku I played in a concert hall which must have been close to 100 degrees. The audience sat in shirt sleeves and stayed for all the encores despite the intense heat.

It was also in Baku in a restaurant high above the Caspian with the city lights twinkling below like Naples where we heard the best jazz in the Soviet Union. A lively sextet gave out with "The Mood" and "Little Brown Jug."

and we couldn't resist the impulse to listening. A few moments later we were joining in the graceful, rhythmic Azerbaijani dances with the same jazz ensemble playing oriental-like melodies. The contrast was amazing.

I heard many kind comments during my weeks of traveling in the Soviet Union among which I strongly remember two.

As Americans who happened on my recital in Leningrad came backstage and said, "It was worth the trip to Russia to hear you." When I left Tiflis, that warm-hearted Georgian city, someone pressed close to my car as we were leaving the hotel and said very simply: "You make us love America."

Algiers Returns to Normal

Moslems Back at Their Jobs

Most Feel City's Truce Will Stick Despite OAS Die-Hards in Oran

ALGIER (AP)—Moslems returned to work in Algiers today, feeling the city's truce will stick despite continued snarled traffic by the Secret Army Organization in eastern and western Algeria.

Authorities reported a virtually 100 per cent return to work in all vital services of the city. For the first time in months, the city's streets were cleaned of piles of garbage.

A number of Moslems also returned to work in private companies. Several restaurants reopened and movie theaters advertised new films.

Texas Rangers Still Seeking Clues in Death

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples disclosed today that if agriculture officer Henry Marshall shot himself five times with a bolt-action 22-caliber rifle he would have had to have done it in either a standing or sitting position.

"We were unable to find any of the clues," Peoples said. "We sifted sand over a 600-foot square area and were unable to find any spent bullets or any more clues. We even used a metal detector over a 50 to 75 yard area."

Peoples and two other Texas Rangers spent all day yesterday at the scene of Marshall's death. Marshall was supposed to have been the first agriculture officer to investigate Bill Estes' cotton allotments.

Climbers Lost on Nepal Peak

Prof. Woodrow Sayre, Grandson of Wilson, is Member of Party

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Monsoon snows today hid the fate of three members of an American mountaineering team, including the grandson of late President Woodrow Wilson, who vanished while trying to scale Gyalchun Kang, a 25,910-foot peak in Nepal.

There were reports a fourth man might be with them.

Query Nations on New Canal

Panama, Colombia Are Sounded Out by U.S. on 2-Ocean Link

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has sounded out Panama and Colombia about a study of sites in those two countries for a possible new Atlantic-Pacific ship canal, it was learned today.

Experts say the Panama Canal, built in 1910, will become obsolete as so jammed with traffic by 1980 that a new canal will be needed.

Augusto Guillermo Arango, ambassador of Panama, and Carlos Sanz de Santamaría, ambassador of Colombia, were called to the State Department this week to be told that the Kennedy administration plans to ask Congress for authority to make the canal studies.

Government to Arbitrate

Ford Takes On Mediator

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Federal Workers Union accepted an offer of the services of the government agency in an effort to settle the dispute over production standards at the big stamping plant in suburban Walton Hills.

"M. M. (Mike) Cummins, head of the Ford negotiating team, said an offer of mediation had been accepted and that talks would resume at 1 p.m."

Federal mediator James MacPherson said the United Auto

"It is of great significance that this question was resolved without a strike. It is thus a good example of what can be accomplished in like situations."

"We didn't accomplish anything tonight," said Ken Bannan, director of the UAW's Ford department and head of the union's negotiating team.

Model A' Troop Crossing Nation

Caravan of Old Fords Makes 350 Miles in First Day's Travel

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—A spread-out caravan of 25 "Model A" Ford drivers trickled into this western Pennsylvania community last night and early today for their first stop on a westward trip across the country.

Some drivers already had car trouble since leaving New York yesterday. Somerset is 350 miles west of New York.

"Some of them were pretty well gassed up when they got here," said a motel manager. "You could tell they did some work on their cars on the road."

DEBATING TRUCE

Some French reports said the Secret Army's West Algerian command was debating whether to accept the Algiers truce worked out last weekend by a Secret Army leader in the capital and a member of the Moslem National Liberation Front.

EXODUS CONTINUES

The European exodus from Algiers continued unchecked. With the curfew lifted in Algiers, several hundred Europeans set up camp beds and garden chairs to keep an all-night vigil outside an airline office. For them the halt in terrorism in Algiers was too fragile to build any plans on.

Someone in the line said, "The Arabs will never keep their promise" of reprisals against the Europeans.

Siegfried Line Expensive Mess

BONN (UPI)—Adolf Hitler's vaunted Siegfried Line now is nothing but a troublesome mess of derelict ruins mostly overgrown with grass and trees.

The 500-mile long line of reinforced concrete bunkers and man-high tank traps cost millions to build and today is costing millions to demolish.

MSUO Tuition To Go Up; Figure Not Yet Decided

The amount of a tuition increase at Michigan State University and MSUO again will be considered by the MSU Board of Trustees at its July 19 meeting.

MSU Chancellor D. B. Varner today said the board made no decision at its meeting yesterday. MSU President John A. Hannah said a tuition hike will be made.

PONTIAC, MICHIGAN,

Use Jet Airport Land for College, Says Group

Homeowners Suggest Plan for Partial Acreage

Build a college on the property the county bought for a jet airport, the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association proposed last night. Some 75 members of the group, which was formed to oppose the county's plan for a jet airport on 3,000 acres in Orion and Pontiac townships, voted to recommend to the Board of Supervisors that the land be used instead for the proposed county community college.

The recommendation was adopted at a meeting at Pontiac Northern High School following address by Pontiac City Commissioner Lay L. Ledford on airport plans and association member Marley Smith on taxation.

A report of the Oakland County community college preestablishment survey last month recommended three sites for the college — one in Troy, the second north or northwest of Pontiac, the third in the Farmington-Novi area.

Plans for a jet airport were squashed earlier this week when U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) announced the Federal Aviation Agency had rejected the plan for lack of air space.

An FAA official told Broomfield it would conflict with flight patterns of other airports in Flint, Mount Clemens and Detroit.

Delos Hamilton, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors and a major proponent of jet airport plans, said, however, that the county should still expand the Allen Airport on the property for use as a general public airport.

The county had approved spending $207,710 to acquire 450 acres including the Allen Airport as nucleus for further airport development. The county has already spent $147,654.

The association joined the City of Pontiac in opposing any expansion of the Allen Airport.

Gordon Ladd, chairman of the association, said 150 acres of the property should be used for the community college site recommended last month by the Board of Supervisors. The community college report gave 150 acres as the size of each site needed.

Ladd pointed out that, although Broomfield's announcement indicated the association has been successful in its efforts to block jet airport plans, the group would continue an active interest in the use of the property.

The association also will continue its efforts to promote efficient use of tax money by the county and dissuade the county from tax rates and policies, Ladd said.

Sunday School Children to Hear Radio Staff

ORTONVILLE — The Sunday School Hour at the Ortonville Baptist Church will be conducted Sunday by staff members of the "Children's Bible Hour."

The program, now in its 20th year, includes music, songs and religious verses by youngsters of all ages. Many of them will accompany the program's director, "Aunt Bertha," to the Sunday School Hour, which will begin at 10 a. m.

Will Live in Holly

ROSE CENTER — Sandra Kay MacKenzie became the bride of George Allen McDaniel in a noon ceremony Saturday performed by Rev. Cyril Rancourt in St. Rita's Catholic Church, Holly.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. MacKenzie of 510 Clinton Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harry K. McDaniel of 404 Maple St.

For her wedding the bride chose an Alfred Angelo gown of imported, hand clipped lace. It featured a fitted bodice, scalloped V-neckline, accented with iridescent sequins and tiny seed pearls, and long tapered sleeves. The overskirt of pure silk organza designed in a redingote effect was applied in a rose lace motif and swept into a tiered lace cathedral train.

The rose motif also was carried out in the crown which held her shoulder-length veil of French illusion, and she carried a prayer book topped with a trailing arrangement of stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Leonard Bentley of Holly. The bride's sister, Mrs. Gordon Schultz, Mrs. Martin E. Hoy and Sharon Lynck of Holly were bridesmaids.

Gerald McDaniel assisted his brother as best man. The 200 guests were hosted by Russell Schoepher, Donald Regan and Thomas Vallemme.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. After a honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, the newlyweds will live in Holly.

MRS. GEORGE A. MCDANIEL

"THIS WON'T HURT!" — That's what this 15-year-old Oxford high school sophomore tells his chief experimental rat. Although Robert Zarski performs delicate operations on various animals that he raises, they are always "put to sleep" before any type of project gets under way. All of his work is under the complete supervision of Lakeville veterinarian Dr. Richard A. McNeil with osteopath Dr. Joseph Maxwell helping as consultant.

Youth Is No Barrier for Area Scientist, 15

LAKEVILLE — Why would a rat's body become smaller if its whole system were speeded up by thyroid injections? Why would it become lazier rather than peppier?

These and countless other experimental questions are being answered by 15-year-old Robert Zarski of 945 Lakeville Road, whose ambition is to become a doctor.

Bob's intense curiosity about "what makes us tick" has carried him far ahead of mere classroom education. The young Oxford High School student, who breeds and raises his own animals for experimental purposes, has just started his "rat project" for next year's school fair.

"We only know what happens after a thyroid injection," the youth explained. "The whole rate of body metabolism is raised and when everything speeds up, the energy intake is faster than the body can keep up with." The question now is "Why?"

A lever on an old stand he got from his grandmother makes the sterile, board-operated table adjustable. A discarded tin can is used as a base.

The animal was "put to sleep" and shaved. Then a two-inch square section was removed. Carefully Bob sewed the plastic window into the opening, and when the cat awoke there was absolutely no physical harm done to the animal. He was the bit of the fair.

One day last fall, a neighbor's pet rabbit lost an eye in a vicious fight with another rabbit. It was rushed to Bob's operating room where the youth administered an anesthetic and sutured the torn eye.

Delay Action on Zoning Plan

Shelby Twp. Proposal Would Halt Expansion of Mushroom Industry

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Township Board here has postponed a decision on a rezoning proposal that would prevent expansion of the local mushroom industry until a new master zoning plan including suggested changes is ready for adoption.

Trustees tabled an ordinance to resume four sections from residential farming to residential. Most of the township's mushroom farms are located in one of the four, the section bounded by Dequindre, Auburn, Ryan and W. Union roads.

A new master plan of land usage that would realign zoning throughout the township is currently under study by the Macomb County Coordinating Zoning Committee, whose recommendation is expected in about a month.

The county group had approved the proposed rezoning of the four sections.

The new zoning would make mushroom farms nonconforming uses, which could expand.

The rezoning plan was substituted for a proposed ordinance controlling the mushroom industry.

The subject came up when residents objected to expansion of the mushroom farms because of the odor created and the flies attracted by the compost used in the cultivation of mushrooms.

Both the master plan zoning ordinance and the tabled rezoning proposal were developed by the township's planning committee.

Dies in 75-Foot Fall

To Richard Matsel

Miss Kent Married

MRS. RICHARD J. MATSEL

COMMERCETOWN — St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Pontiac, was the setting Sunday evening for the wedding of Dorothy Dorene Kent and Richard John Matsel. They exchanged their vows before Rev. C. J. Mitternager.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James D. Kent of Monroeville, Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Theolina D. Matsel of 116 N. Shirley St., and William J. Matsel of 2600 Marilyn Terrace, Union Lake.

A floor-length gown of lace and silk organza was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace featured a scalloped neckline and short cap sleeves. The skirt was of silk organza in a bouffant style.

Her elbow-length veil of imported silk illusion fell from a lace pillow accented with Aurora Borealis, tear drop and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of yellow streamers.

Mrs. Jack Hogue of Bethesda, Md., attended her sister as matron of honor. Their brother Jack was acolyte for the service.

Serving as best man was James Kent of San Diego, Calif., brother of the bride. William J. Matsel was an usher for his son.

Killed in Auto Mishap

BRIGHTON — Dale M. Snyder, 7, of Brighton, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a car on U.S. 16 between Brighton and Lake Chemung. State police said the boy tried to run across the four-lane highway in a section where resurfacing work had closed two lanes.

Will Interview the Candidates

Citizens League Sets First Screening Next Tuesday in Pontiac

The Oakland County Citizens League will screen candidates for the Aug. 7 primary election in a series of meetings beginning next week.

Basil E. Brown, chairman of the League's Candidates Committee, said the first meeting will be in Pontiac Tuesday at First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland.

Other sessions will be held Thursday at the Birmingham Community House and July 5 at the Huntington Woods Library.

All meetings begin at 7 p. m. and are open to the public.

Each candidate will be interviewed by committee members at one of the three meetings. Candidates unopposed in the primary, however, will not be interviewed.

According to Brown, judging will be impartial and nonpartisan, based solely on candidates' qualifications for offices they seek.

Before the primary election, the League will issue a "Bulletin" containing the committee's evaluations and brief biographical sketches of each candidate.

Heads Medical Society

Storytellers to Attend Convention

The Pontiac and Walled Lake Story Leagues will be two of seven Michigan groups that will host a national convention of the storytelling organization in Detroit June 27-30.

Highlights of the four-day program include a reception honoring all national and district officers, an address by Dr. Eugene Hale of Wayne State University, and a banquet where four past presidents will present a program of stories.

At the closing session of the convention, the two local units will be in charge of a brunch. Mrs. Carl Grapentine of Walled Lake will be the vocal soloist.

Members of the recently organized Multi-Lakes Junior Story League also will be among those attending the convention, according to Mrs. Walter Heimke, president of the Walled Lake group and chairman of the local planning committee.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. J. R. Shaffer, Mrs. W. M. Twichel and Julia Daltzer of the Pontiac Story League, and Laura Cobb, Mrs. Paul McKibben and Mrs. Alfred Childs of Walled Lake.

Couple Repeats Vows in Birmingham

Wed Saturday
in Holy Name Church, Birmingham, were Mary Kay LaBranch, daughter of the George H.
LaBranches of Walnut Lake Road, to Dale R. Moss, son of Mr.
and Mrs.
Homer Moss
of Boyd Street.

MRS. DALE R. MOSS

The Walnut Lake Road home of the George H. LaBranches was the setting for a reception following the nuptials of their daughter Mary Kay to Dale R. Moss Saturday in Holy Name Church, Birmingham.
Vows were spoken before Rev.
Stephen Malaric.

Parents of the bridegroom are
Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moss of Boyd Street.

A shoulder veil of silk illusion caught by a pearl and crystal tiara, complemented the bride's sheath gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with overskirt and cummerbund. She carried a white orchid combined with stephanotis.

ATTENDS SISTER

Kathy Trabalka of Dearborn was honorary maid and Jane K. LaBranch attended her sister as bridesmaid.
They wore embroidered linen sheath dresses of Bermuda blue and held colonial bouquets of blue and pink carnations.

Andrew Donnell performed the duties of best man. George LaBranch and Charles Moss, brothers of the bridal couple, ushered.

After a honeymoon at Mayville, Mo., the couple will reside in Pontiac.

Pink cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. LaBranch's dress of pink embroidered linen with chiffon trim. The mother of the bridegroom wore champagne silk with lavender and white accessories and beige cymbidium orchids.

De-salt Tackle

quickly pits and corrodes the metal surfaces of fishing rods and reels, save your tackle — and your pocketbook — by cleaning your equipment often.

Wash the rod with soap or detergent suds, using an old toothbrush to clean guides and tip-top. Then polish with a soft cloth.

The reel should be disassembled and suds-scrubbed, too.
After you have washed old lubricant from the gears, replace any worn parts, repack the gears with fresh reel lube, and lightly oil other moving parts.

Starnes-Grantham Rites

Kaye Ann Grantham and Jimmy F. Starnes, who were wed Saturday evening in the Lakeland Presbyterian Church, Waterford, are spending their honeymoon at Gatlinburg, Tenn. They will return to the bridegroom's home on Pingree Avenue.

The Eugene W. Granthams of Milford were hosts at their daughter's church reception, following vows spoken before
Rev. Roy F. Lambert.

Swedish lace accented the bride's dress of white silk organza styled with semibell bustle skirt and chapel train.
A headpiece of pearl and crystal roses held her bouffant veil of French illusion. A white cattleya orchid centered her cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Mary Ann Williams was maid of honor and Mrs. Lonnie Grantham, Highland, attended her sister-in-law as bridesmaid. They wore pale lilac leaves and pearls and carried deep pink chrysanthemums.

Robert P. Starnes, Louisville, Ky., stood as best man for his brother. They are sons of Mrs. Paul I. Rumley of Northville and the late William F. Starnes. Brothers of the bridal couple, Lonnie Grantham of Highland and Keith Grantham, Milford, David Starnes and Thomas Pruett, both of Northville, ushered.

Mrs. Grantham appeared in a soft blue cotton eyelet sheath dress and matching organza hat. Her corsage was yellow cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Rumley chose champagne silk shantung and matching hat of organza roses. Her orchids were pink.

Switch Rinses

Sudsing and rinsing in cold water helps to prevent setting wrinkles in synthetic fibers, and thus to reduce the need for ironing.

This method may not remove all soil. That's why home laundry experts at Ohio State University recommend that an occasional warm or hot water wash is necessary for "cleanup" purposes.

MRS. DANIEL J. TRIERWEILER

Julia S. Lucia Weds Daniel J. Trierweiler

The Daniel J. Trierweilers who spoke vows to Rev. Richard Thomas at noon Saturday in St. Benedict Church will visit Seattle en route to their new home in San Francisco.

Re-embroidered white silk organza over taffeta for the former Julia Sandra Lucia, featured a haughty waistline and French pouf skirt ending in a chapel sweep. She wore silk illusion veiling held by a hand-rolled rose headpiece and carried white stephanotis and carnations.

Judith Keni, maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister Bonnie Trierweiler of Portland, who served as bridesmaid, wore champagne taffeta with avocado green accessories and carried tangerine carnations. The bridegroom's cousin Julia Dase of Lansing was flower girl.

Best man was William Bengel, East Lansing. Seating guests were Robert Morgridge, and William Sines, both of Portland and Dennis Sorenson, Greenville. Dennis Sorenson carried the rings.

The bridegroom's parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Trierweiler of Portland joined the bride's parents, the Victor C.
Lucias of Bilbo Street, Waterford Township, at the evening reception in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

The couple attended Western Michigan University and the bridegroom holds a degree in personnel administration from Michigan State University.

White carnations accented an avocado organza sheath dress with matching duster for Mrs. Lucia and lavender lace over taffeta for the mother of the bridegroom.

The Mott Jorgensons of North Hollywood, Calif., were guests at the wedding.

Service Academies Hope Conflict Over

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—The nation's three service academies have moved to avoid conflict with other colleges in recruiting athletes but it may not head off a threatened Congressional inquiry.

Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn (D-S.C.) has urged Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) in urging an investigation of recruiting practices by the military academies in the wake of the appointment to West Point of two football players who had signed letters of intent to enroll in two South Carolina colleges.

"Citizens through the country are anxious to know the truth and are entitled to the facts with reference to reported high pressure tactics through which high school and prep school athletes are induced to break contracts already entered into with certain universities and colleges," Dorn said in a letter to Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

MAKE JOINT PLEDGE

His plea came while the superintendents of Army, Navy and Air Force released a joint statement which said, in effect, that the academies pledged not to contact any student-athlete who had signed a grant-in-aid or letter of intent with another college.

The statement said any athlete applying for admission would be required to sign the following statement:

"I have not signed a letter of intent or grant-in-aid with any institution. In the event I do, I will notify the authorities of the institution concerned that my commitment with them is contingent upon my acceptance or rejection of my appointment as a cadet or midshipman."

A spokesman at West Point said the statement was aimed at clearing the air as a result of the acceptance by West Point of backs Wayne Page and Curtis Lindler. They were accepted by Army after previously signing letters of intent to enroll at colleges in South Carolina—Page at Clemson and Lindler at the University of South Carolina.

DITZEL CRITICIZED

Although both have said the Military Academy was their first choice all along, football coaches Marvin Basse of South Carolina and Frank Howard of Clemson have criticized Army Coach Paul Dietzel for recruiting the pair. Howard called it "a downright outrage."

Long, along with Senators Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., questioned recruiting tactics last week and called for an inquiry.

Tough NCAA Play Set Back by Rain

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—For years, some college coaches and amateur golf enthusiasts have maintained that the National Collegiate (NCAA) men's tournament is one of the most rugged tests in golf.

The 65th edition of the championship, now in its second round at Duke University, underscores this opinion.

Rain cut play short with five of the 16 second-round matches in progress on the par 71 course, measuring 6,828 yards. Play will be resumed at the point of suspension.

Spencer Near Top After 4-1 Victory

Spencer Floor Covering moved within one game of league-leading Stroh's last night by downing Sarko Investment, 4-1, in a Class B Wadsworth League softball game at Drayton Plains.

Sarko committed eight errors, seven in the 3rd and 4th innings when Spencer scored all of its runs, every one of them unearned. Jack Nelson was the winning pitcher on a five-hitter while Bill Pittman spun a four-hitter in defeat. Pittman made two singles.

In Class C action, A&W Root Beer shut out Haupt Pontiac, 4-0, behind the two-hit hurling of Gene Conn. John Stephens accounted for both of the loser's hits.

Indiana Doctor's 72 Tops West Seniors

PORT HURON (AP)—Dr. Robert D. Rogers of New Castle, Ind., held the lead with a 72 today as the final 18 holes of the Western Senior Golf Association tournament got under way.

Dr. Rogers' one-over-par 34-38 on the Black River Country Club course yesterday also gave him the lead in the net score classification. He went into the tourney with an eight handicap.

Former champion Egon F. Quittner of Jenkintown, Pa., fired a 73 yesterday and defending champion George Dawson of Glen Ellyn, Ill., having trouble with his second shots, had a 74.

Bunched at 75 were Col. William K. Lannan of Glenview, Ill., George Haggerty of Detroit, George Grothe of Chicago and Oliver Sandquist of Skokie, Ill.

Indiana Doctor's 72 Tops West Seniors

PORT HURON (AP)—Dr. Robert D. Rogers of New Castle, Ind., held the lead with a 72 today as the final 18 holes of the Western Senior Golf Association tournament got under way.

Michigan College Golfer Loses Favored Women Victors

Associated Press Sports Writer ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The defending champion hardly warmed up but the medalist had to go 19 holes to get into today's second round of the 18th Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament.

Judy Hartner, a 41m University of Washington student, rolled to an easy 7 and 6 victory over Western Michigan's Sharon Miller. It was Miss Hoetner's first competition this week as she passed up Tuesday's qualifying round.

Medalist June Robinson, from Oregon State, was down 3, with five holes to go against Sue Maxwell of Oklahoma City University. Miss Robinson scrambled back by winning three holes in a row and taking the victory on the 19th hole.

SCRAMBLES AGAIN

Another scrambling round was turned in by New Mexico's Mary Jo Campbell, who was down 4 after nine holes against Joan Schiller of Maryland. Miss Campbell scratched away and finally caught up with a birdie 3 on the 18th. She also won her match on the 19th.

Blonde Sandy Palmer, a pen North Texas State senior who won the West Texas Women's Open last Saturday, upset No. 2 qualifier Sue Meerdink of Arizona State University, 1 up. Miss Palmer sank three hole-winning putts of less than six feet in the last five holes.

Purdue's Julie Hall of Anderson, Ind., who finished second in the 1959 tourney, went 19 holes before defeating tall Barbara Fay White of Texas Christian, 1 up. Today's matches pair Miss 1-6, 6-0.

Bill Lenoir, Arizona, defeated John Karabasz, Miami, 6-0, 6-2. Rod Mandiestan, Miami, defeated Fritz Schunck, Rice, 6-2.

Old Friend Says MacArthur Family Greatest Ever

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — "Gen. MacArthur was the greatest general of the century," thundered my old friend, Theodor Roosevelt, as he sat in his study, his white hair gleaming, his eyes still as steel.

"Yes, yes, the British generals in their memoirs agree with you," I said to the founder-publisher of the 36-year-old Philadelphia Free Press. He ignored the interruption.

"And Mrs. MacArthur... the greatest woman I ever met, and I've met plenty," he added with a loud thump in the eyes of his white-headed head. "I could see the general fought on the battlefield, comforted the sick... always kind... attractive... sympathetic."

"Yes, Jean's a wonderful woman."

"Then came young Ramon, as I called him, fresh out of West Point, and the straightest-headed second son you ever saw."

"Ramon?"

"The old gentleman looked at me, 'Ramon' is Doug," he said, and pointed with his stout index finger.

"I've been talking of course about Gen. Arthur MacArthur and Ramon's mother, the great general I ever met. I'm meeting the boy Thursday for lunch. I'll tell him a thing or two about his people."

"I signed up with his father in the Philippines when I was 15, and clean from Boston. Became his aide and confidential secretary."

Waterford Twp. Pension Board Now Organized

Officers were elected and a payroll deduction scheme was established at the organization meeting of the Waterford Township pension and firemen's pension board last night.

William Morrissey was named chairman and Donald Somerville will serve as secretary of the five-member board. Other members are township treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson, William Stokes and David Herlihy.

The board passed a resolution to begin payroll deductions July 1, 1962 to July 1, 1963 will be 75 per cent. The regular five per cent rate will become effective then.

The board was established to administer the pension fund approved at the polls last year. Somerville and Stokes are representatives of the fire and police departments respectively while, as township treasurer, Mrs. Olson is automatically a board member. Herlihy and Morrissey are citizen representatives appointed by the township board.

"I'll give credit to the boy, he loved his mother," he said, and pointed with his stout index finger.

Named to Head Two Men, Girl Admit Part in County Holdup

Glenn Jean Yager pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of simple larceny. Her two companions, Clifford Johnson, 28, and Ronald D. Wilson, 20, pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rob while being armed.

All three had been scheduled to face trial for armed robbery at the Red Fox Court, 6094 Elm Highway.

Another Flint youth charged with taking part in the holdup, Ronald Schuman, 18, pleaded guilty last month to armed robbery, with intent to rob while being armed.

Baldwin, a member of Republican State Central Committee, was named by Gibbs as "an extremely capable and a valuable man who will get his job done in superb fashion."

Gibbs said Baldwin's main job is to get unregistered Republicans on voter rolls for the November election.

THE GOP'S voter identification program (VIP) uncovered several thousand Republicans and Republican-leaning independents not properly registered, Gibbs explained.

"With their addition," he predicted, "we'll turn out a record Republican vote on election day."

Baldwin has been active in Oakland County GOP since the early 1950s, serving as a precinct captain and later in committee posts.

In announcing Baldwin's appointment, Gibbs criticized Democrats for using Secretary of State James F. Blaine as a comparable position.

Gibbs contends that political office that has, as the state's chief election officer, should run partisan voter election drives.

Democrats "bravely intend to use the secretary's vast patronage machine to register Democrats and the expense of other parties," Gibbs charged.

Charges Opponent With 'Name' Tactics

Roy J. Russell has charged his opponent in the Democratic primary election for drain commissioner with trying to confuse Oakland County voters.

Russell said his foe, Daniel T. Berry, of Davisburg, is trying to capitalize on the similarity of names with incumbent drain commissioner Daniel W. Barry, a Republican.

Russell, however, claims he is not worried about the similarity.

"The voters of Oakland County are an informed electorate," he said, "and this device method of confusing voters will not succeed."

If anything, Russell added, the name may hurt his opponent because the incumbent Barry has been criticized for "shake-ups and playing politics in the drain office."

The voters are "aroused," Russell said, "and the name Daniel W. Barry is losing popularity among informed voters."

2 Young Prisoners Escape Honor Farm

Two escapes from Camp Pontiac apparently were picked up by a car at Highland and Pontiac Lake roads early today after they fled from the honor farm in White Lake Township.

Pontiac state police said the two men, both serving terms for breaking and entering, were tracked to the intersection by a police dog following their escape about 3:30 a.m. today.

The escapes were identified as Edwin Burke, 23, of Niles, and Harry Dahnik, 19, of Carney, Burke was sentenced in Berrien County and Dahnik in Menominee County, police said.

Three Oakland County men have been appointed to the hand-running committee of the Swainson for Governor Committee, finance committee chairman Max Omos announced today.

The men are Pat VanVoght, 3800 Oakland Drive, Birmingham; Stuart Herbert, 10100 Burton St., Oak Park; and Mike Zeltzer, 2381 Rensselaer Ave., Oak Park.

The 1960 census showed more women than men for the first time.
