

Downtown Redevelopment Hopes Get a Giant Boost

Plans to provide the "mag-nificent solution" for redevelopment of downtown Pontiac urban renewal land moved a vital step forward last night.

After a 20-minute closed door meeting, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. announced receipt of a written offer from A. Alfred Taubman, including a $250,000 "good faith" deposit, for the proposed redevelopment.

The deposit would be tendered upon the city's approval of the preliminary Taubman proposal.

Much of the details of the redevelopment plan remain to be worked out.

Taylor said the city intended to proceed carefully.

Taubman proposes a land lease agreement with the city for certain downtown renewal land, the confines of which are still to be determined.

The land lease would run for 50 years and incorporate five 10-year options to renew. A flat annual rental would be paid to the city.

Taubman plans to erect an "enclosed mall regional shopping center." He intends to lease only the land on which the buildings would stand.

Maintenance and repair of the buildings would be done by the tenant. The tenant would pay real estate taxes based upon the building improvements only.

Taubman's proposal provides that the city surface and light an area for parking. Also the city would be obligated to maintain and repair the parking area.

The offer last night by the Taubman Co. of Detroit is one of the first concrete steps toward redevelopment of vacant downtown urban renewal property since negotiations commenced last summer.

Taylor said a traffic study ordered by the city has been stepped up and a report was expected within five weeks.

The mayor said the next step would be for Taubman to furnish a detailed plot plan.

This plan would designate the area to be devoted to parking.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said that the total cost of the land, including the buildings and parking, is estimated in the neighborhood of $8 million.

Warren indicated the city's cost would be covered by a long-term loan on the private money (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Blast Puts Chinese Nearer to Breaking Point With Russia

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China threw a book of bitter charges against the Soviet leadership today. It accused Moscow of dirty business, of trying to encircle China in cooperation with the United States, and of trying to sell out Viet Nam.

The Chinese Communist party rejected an invitation to attend next week's meeting of the Soviet Communist party.

The effect was to bring the two countries nearer the breaking point.

"You are pursuing U.S.-Soviet collaboration for the domination of the world," the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party told the Soviet Central Committee.

"In mouthing a few words against U.S. imperialism and in making a show of supporting anti-imperialist struggles, you are conducting only minor attacks on U.S. imperialism while rendering it major help. You very well know what you are up to, and so does U.S. imperialism.

TRAP FOR PEOPLE

"You clamor for 'united action,' especially on the Viet Nam question. It's nothing but a trap for the purpose of deceiving the Soviet people and the revolutionary people of the world."

"You have all along been acting in coordination with the United States in its plot for peace talks, vainly attempting to sell out the struggle of the Vietnamese people against U.S. aggression and for national salvation and to drag the Viet Nam question into the orbit of Soviet-U.S. collaboration."

"You have worked hand in glove with the United States in a whole series of dirty deals inside and outside the United Nations."

And now, said Peking, the Soviet Union is cooperating with the United States in an effort to encircle mainland China. It declared:

"You have even aligned yourselves with U.S. imperialism and

MSU Prof Quits GOP Senate Race

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State Prof. Leroy Augenstein pulled out of the Republican U.S. Senate primary today with a parting blast at closed primaries but a pledge of support for the GOP.

He listed insufficient funds, the emergence of a Democratic Senate contest and opposition of party leaders as his reasons for withdrawing from the fight he entered last September.

Designation last month of Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., as the organization's preferred candidate derailed Augenstein's campaign.

Indict Wayne County Sheriff, Aide

Two Charged on 7 Counts of Duty Neglect

Grand Juror Piggins Petitions Governor in Bid to Oust Pair

DETROIT (AP) — A one-man grand jury today indicted Wayne County Sheriff Peter Buback and Undersheriff James Bommarito on seven counts of willful neglect of duty in public office.

The juror, Edward Piggins, told a news conference he has petitioned Gov. George Romney, asking that both men be removed from office.

He convicted on each of the seven counts, the sheriff and undersheriff could be sentenced to seven years in prison and $3,500 fines each.

The specific counts involved alleged wholesale traffic ticket fixing; misconduct among honorary deputies; ticket lotteries; disappearance of confiscated weapons, including a submachine gun; confiscated property disappearing from the sheriff's department; confiscated liquor sold to deputies; and employees soliciting campaign funds for the sheriff, a violation of civil service regulations.

Arraignment of Buback and Bommarito has been scheduled for today, Piggins said.

NO COMMENT

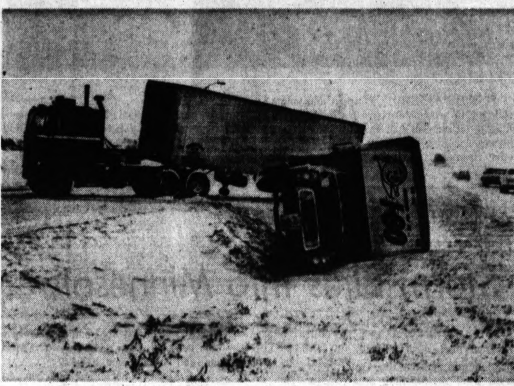

Neither of the men was immediately available for comment on the indictments.

Piggins was appointed under Michigan's one-man grand jury law to investigate reports of wholesale fixing of traffic tickets by Buback's department.

On Aug. 31, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley sought the probe following charges by five Wayne County deputies that Road Patrol Sgt. Paul Paciorek had fixed thousands of traffic tickets.

At the time of the charges, Buback and Bommarito said they had no knowledge of the charged irregularities, which

LBJ Says French Actions May Imperil Western World

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson warned the Atlantic allies today that French President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to reform their alliance could imperil the security of France and endanger the safety of the Western world.

While he expressed confidence that the United States and 13 allies will stick together to preserve the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, without France if necessary, Johnson said:

"If our collective effort should falter — and our common determination be eroded — the foundations of the Atlantic's present stability would be shaken."

"The mightiest arsenal in the world will deter no aggressor who knows his victims are too divided to decide and too unready to respond. That was the lesson of two world wars."

"Yet a nation — not by the action of her friends, but by her own decision to prepare and plan alone — could still imperil her own security by creating a situation in which response would be too late and too diluted."

"Every advance in the technology of war makes more unacceptable old and narrow concepts of sovereignty."

In an address prepared for delivery to the Foreign Service Institute, Johnson made his most extensive reply yet to the independent course de Gaulle wants French military units out of NATO and NATO out of France.

Johnson did not mention de Gaulle by name at any point but it was evident his references were meant to apply to the French leader.

John said at the outset that "we do not believe there is any righteousness in standing pat" on NATO.

YIELD TO CHANGE

"If any organization is alive and vital — if it is to have meaning for all time as well as for any particular time — it must grow and respond and yield to change," he said.

Then, in what amounted to a rather mildly phrased lecture to de Gaulle, Johnson asserted:

"Of course NATO should adapt to the changing needs of the times. But we believe just as firmly that such change must be wrought by the member nations working with one another within the alliance. Consultation, not isolation, is the route to reform."

7 UFO Reports Made in County

Seven reports of UFO sightings have been received by local authorities throughout Oakland County since the spectacular sightings by some 50 persons Sunday in Washtenaw County.

Holly Village police reported that a man entered their office this morning and reported sighting a weird object on Dixie Highway near old M87.

The unidentified man said the object hovered above the hood of his car emitting a peculiar odor and casting a strange glow from flashing green lights.

Officials reported that the man was very excited and apparently frightened.

His first words on entering the station were, "You're going to think I'm crazy, but I just saw a flying saucer."

Holly police dispatched a car to the scene but no trace of the object was found.

An unidentified man reported to Birmingham police officials that he had spotted a flying object in the vicinity of 14 Mile Road and Greenfield about 12:30 this morning.

HEAVY FOG

Police said the man stated that heavy fog prevented him from giving a positive description.

In Pontiac, a woman reported seeing a UFO at the rear of Robert Frost Elementary School, located at the end of Cottage Street on the southeast side of the city.

Directly behind the school is a swamp. The Grand Trunk Western Railroad has tracks about a half-mile away.

Pontiac police investigated the 8:40 p.m. sighting but found nothing.

WIXOM REPORT

Wixom police also reported having received a report of a sighting Monday night by a man and his wife on Pontiac Trail near Old Plank.

AF Talks to Persons Reporting Objects

HILLSDALE (UPI) — An Air Force investigating team today trudged through soggy farm fields and interviewed persons who reported sighting a glowing "ghost ship" in an attempt to identify the mysterious object.

Scores of persons, ranging from farmers to policemen to college coeds and a dean, said they saw the hovering object during the past few days.

Dr. H. Allen Hynek, the top Air Force Scientific adviser on unidentified flying objects (UFOs), yesterday quizzed a farm family near Ann Arbor.

Frank Manner, the farmer, had reported that a pulsating object landed in a swamp on his land Sunday and was observed by his family and by sheriff's deputies.

Fifty persons in the Ann Arbor area reported similar sightings Monday and their descriptions were similar to those of coeds at Hillsdale College who said they saw an object touch down in marshland near their dormitory Monday night.

Hynek's investigation was conducted in secrecy and a spokesman at Selfridge Air Force Base would only say that the Northwestern University astrophysicist planned to continue his search of the southern Michigan area through today.

Pontiac Sets Sales Record

Record sales for the first 29 days of March were announced today by Pontiac Motor Division.

General Sales Manager E. R. Pettengill said dealers sold 54,142 Pontiacs and Tempests in March 1-30 period breaking the previous record of 52,271 set a year ago.

On a daily sales basis, mid-March sales were up ten percent—3,448 units compared to 3,089 daily sales last year.

New car sales of 27,582 were reported by Pontiac dealers March 11 through March 20.

In addition to the coeds in a women's dormitory, the object was sighted by Mrs. Kelly Hearn, an assistant dean of women who was a newspaper reporter in Taos, N.M., for seven years before joining the college staff.

Rain to Turn to Flurries

Early spring's buds and shoots will tuck in their dainty heads at tonight's area weather forecast.

Occasional rain and scattered thunderstorms will change to snow flurries late this evening. Very windy with lows in the 20s to 30 degree range is the prediction.

Thursday will be cloudy, windy and coldy with snow flurries and a 30 to 35 degree high.

Southerly winds at 15 to 20 miles will increase to 15 to 35 miles tonight, shifting to west to northwest through Thursday.

Friday's outlook is fair and cold.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 40. The mercury showed 56 at 2 p.m.

U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur J. Goldberg will speak at Oakland University May 3, it was announced today.

Goldberg will address the annual convention of the Michigan U.N. Association, according to Dr. Claude A. Eggertsen, association president.

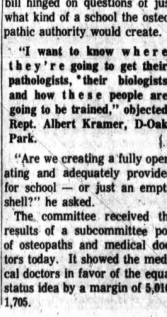

Goldberg will speak during the afternoon portion of the conference, which will have as its theme, "The United Nations and Survival."

"We are extremely pleased that Ambassador Goldberg has agreed to address our meeting, and are confident that his appearance will make this year's conference an outstanding success," Eggertsen said.

Registration materials will soon be available through the 14 U.N. chapters in Michigan, he said.

Birmingham and Rochester chapters are hosts for the event.

Dem Raps School Tour 'Politicking'

LANSING (AP)—School children touring the state capital were caught in political cross-fire Tuesday.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, charged that the kids were being made victims of "the foulest type of campaigning" by the Republican State Central Committee—and possibly the governor's office.

"For the first time in the 18 years I've been here, capitol tours for children have become a partisan activity," he said. The charges immediately were denied.

TOUR QUERIES

Kowalski said queries on tours of the capitol by school groups—a daily occurrence—were "being routed through the office of the Republican state chairman."

"An employee of the Republican party working here in the capitol then arranges the tour, including directions to the capitol guides on which Republican officials should speak to the children," he added.

"The practice came to light, Kowalski said, when Rep. Harry Thorne, D-Deerfield Heights, discovered a group of children from Oxford Elementary School in West Dearborn, part of his district, touring the capitol without his knowledge.

Romney's office denied any political activity in the traditionally nonpartisan tours.

GOP POLICY

George Trumbull, Romney's office manager, said policy for the past three years has been to refer all tour requests received in the executive office automatically to John Gafner, state property manager, who makes all the arrangements.

"We don't even want anything to do with setting these things up—since a tour of the capitol involves much more than just this one office," Trumbull said.

Romney aides acknowledged that an employee of the Republican State Central Committee occupies space in the capitol. Mrs. Nan Smith runs two automatic letter-writing machines—one belonging to the Republicans and one to the executive office.

Press aide John Byington said she runs the state machine when not engaged in Republican work. She also arranges tours—"but only in answer to requests that go directly to the Republican State Central Committee—not on request that come to this office," he said.

"And when state central arranges such a tour it informs every legislator involved, regardless of party," Byington added.

Pakistan Units Red-Supplied

Chinese Tanks, Jets Displayed at Parade

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan, technically a military ally of the United States, disclosed today that it is getting tanks and jet planes from Communist China.

The Pakistani army included five Chinese-made T59 medium tanks in the military hardware it rolled out for a parade in Rawalpindi, the nation's capital 1,000 miles north of Karachi.

A flyover of modern jet planes included four Chinese-made MIG19 fighters, one of them piloted by the Pakistani air force commander.

It was the first time Pakistan had exhibited any Communist weapons. The bulk of its forces in the past have been equipped with American weapons received under aid agreements stemming from Pakistan's membership in the U.S.-backed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and Central Treaty Organization.

A Pakistani military spokesman said the Chinese T59 is classed as a fast medium tank. It carries a 100mm gun, he said. The MIG19, originally Russian designed, has been surpassed by the MIG21 but still is rated as an effective air-to-air and air-to-ground fighter.

It was reported about 150 Pakistani pilots have received flight training in MIG19s in China and have returned to active duty at home. Other Pakistanis are reported under training in China now.

American-made tanks and jet fighters were displayed along with the Chinese hardware.

CLOSER TO REDS

Pakistan has moved steadily closer to Communist China, claiming it is threatened by India and must fashion good relations with its other neighbors, including the Soviet Union.

Speaking at the review, President Ayub Khan warned that the arms race between India and Pakistan will continue unless peace is established between them, on "just and honorable terms."

He called on India to come to terms on the Kashmir dispute, which he said has been hanging for 18 years despite efforts by Pakistan to improve relations.

Under the present circumstances, he continued, Pakistan has to continue to build up its defenses, and a "shortage of resources" will not impede this.

Storm Bites Into Minnesota

By The Associated Press

A violent blizzard struck southern Minnesota and the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area with a paralyzing combination of up to 10 inches of snow and winds as strong as 60 miles an hour today.

The spring storm forced the closing of hundreds of schools, including the University of Minnesota. Mounting snowdrifts blocked streets and highways, stalling hundreds of cars and forcing cancellation of bus runs.

Blinding, wind-whipped snow halted highway snowplows—the crew could not see.

Two storm-connected deaths in Minnesota increased the blizzard's toll to at least eight since it charged out of the southwest across sections of Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa and the Dakotas. Three were in Nebraska, two in Wyoming and one in South Dakota.

Although its leading edge was racing toward the head of the Great Lakes, the storm still had plenty of force back in Nebraska and Iowa. Omaha got four more inches of snow and Norfolk two this morning, and many eastern Nebraska areas had as much as 10 inches altogether.

FIGHT DRIFTS

Northwestern Iowa fought drifts as deep as 10 feet. Spencer, a town of 9,000 population, had been without power since 10 p.m. Tuesday. Travel was limited to emergency vehicles. Hundreds of schools were closed.

Mothers and babies from Spencer's unheated homes were bundled into a downtown YMCA building that had heat.

In Omaha, more than 500 persons attending a high school play had to stay the night in the building because of wind and snow. A school bus carrying 29 children, their teacher and driver was stalled overnight in a snowbank between Loup City and Ord, Neb. Several teachers and 10 pupils were marooned overnight in an unheated schoolhouse near Eddyville, Neb.

also included alleged vice gambling and illegal drinking.

2 SUSPENDED

Busback later suspended both Packer, 44, and his superior, Road Patrol Inspector Dan Martin, 57.

Today's indictments, Piggins said, do not conclude his probe.

During the course of his investigation, Piggins seized the files of the Detroit Police Department's Criminal Investigation Bureau, whose duties include keeping tabs on activities of the Detroit area Mafia, a criminal syndicate.

Piggins said his probe disclosed some of the honorary deputies had previous criminal records, including sex charges and drunk charges.

The indictment also alleged some of the confiscated property that disappeared from the sheriff's department later showed up in the private dwellings of the department's employees.

It added that money from the sale of confiscated liquor showed up in the private account of Inspector Martin.

$13-Billion Bill Is Sent to LBJ

Senate Amendment Passed on Voice Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House sent to President Johnson today an emergency bill appropriating $13.1 billion to help pay the rising cost of the war in Vietnam.

By voice vote, it accepted a technical Senate amendment to a bill passed last week by the House.

The bill's money figure—the exact amount asked by the President—was not in dispute. The amendment would limit Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's authority to transfer funds in support of South Vietnamese and other allied troops.

The money, to be used during the remaining three months of fiscal 1966, will purchase military hardware, support military operations and pay military personnel in Vietnam.

ECONOMIC AID

Included is a $415-million emergency appropriation for economic assistance to South and East Asia and the Dominican Republic. About $275 million of that money is earmarked for South Vietnam.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, a leading critic of the administration's Southeast Asia policies who voted Tuesday for the multibillion war money bill, offered a new resolution for peace in a speech Tuesday night at the University of Connecticut.

The Arkansas Democrat said peace in Southeast Asia depends far more on a settlement between the United States and China than on who is to participate in a South Vietnamese government and how it is to be formed.

market or a loan from the federal government.

The loan would be repaid through revenue from the lease arrangements.

Since last summer, city officials have leaned toward one piece of redevelopment of downtown urban renewal land, meaning a single organization would carry out a comprehensive plan.

Taylor said last night the city would proceed cautiously. City officials indicate that the actual lease and the city's role in cost and responsibilities remain to be worked out.

UF Director Appointed for Oakland County Unit

BIRMINGHAM—Mrs. Joseph C. (Eileen) Dodge, 843 Suffield, has been promoted to staff director of the Oakland County unit of the United Foundation replacing Donald Langley who was promoted to director of UF schools and government unit.

Mrs. Dodge, who served as director of the UF Eastern Wayne unit for two years, will be responsible for coordinating the work of the residential and business campaigns for the United Foundation.

She will also direct recruiting, training and educational programs throughout the year.

A graduate of Western Kentucky Teachers College, she was active in the UF as a volunteer for many years before joining the staff, serving as residential chairman in 1958.

Mrs. Dodge was also on the Michigan United Fund budget and admission panels for several years as well as a vice president of the United Foundation. In 1960 she was president of the United Foundation Women's Organization now known as Women for the United Foundation.

ACTIVE CHURCHWOMAN

Besides her work for the UF, Mrs. Dodge has been active as a member of the First Presbyterian Church as building drive fund leader and organizer, and is presently on the board of directors of the Founding Friends of the Kresge Library at Oakland University.

She is also a former board member of the Metropolitan

It charged the Soviets slandered the Chinese by sending a letter to other Communist parties "instigating them to join you in opposing China."

Shortly after Radio Peking made the announcement, the Albanian radio said Albania would boycott the congress, and accused Soviet leaders of "insolence, big power chauvinism and anti-Semitism." Little Albania is Red China's sole ally in Europe.

Whether Red China would attend the Moscow congress opening next Tuesday had been a question.

The terms of the rejection, dated yesterday, seemed to say the anti-Chinese letter the Soviet Union sent to Communist parties throughout the world was the main factor in the decision.

The Soviet congress is expected to widen the split between the Soviet Union and Red China, although it is possible nothing will leak out until later.

Pontiac Twp. Woman Tells of Visit by 'Object' Last July

Flying saucer "sightings" yesterday and Monday in southern Michigan are nearly identical to an incident which a 42-year-old Pontiac Township woman claims she witnessed last July.

Mrs. John J. Brown of 2672 James said an object "came down between two houses and then legs just like a big spider came out."

Mrs. Brown, whose husband is employed at GMC Truck & Coach Division, recalled the eerie story today, after keeping quiet for over eight months because "everybody would have thought I was nuts."

ship, were returning from work in two separate cars around 8:45 p.m. when they both spotted a slow-moving object in the sky.

"They said the object did not appear to be large and that it had two steady lights on each side—red and white—and a flashing blue light on the bottom."

Police Officer Lawrence Beamish took the report and said the couple were sure they had definitely seen the object.

He said Mrs. Sexton reported sighting the object first and that her husband, following at some distance behind her car, then became aware of it.

Milford police reported that they had received reports from separate sightings near Wixom Monday and New Hudson last night, but that no further evidence could be found.

"I wrote everything down at the time," she said.

"First I noticed a big white light, too bright for a star and moving now and then from side to side."

MORE LIGHTS

"Then gradually I saw two more lights on either side of the big one, which slowly faded back."

"The small ones went from left to right—then red and green lights flashed up and exploded and then the white one came back."

Mrs. Brown said she then watched "on a 'hot, quiet night'" as the object touched down to earth between her house and the one next door.

"The dog started barking and then a big dust storm like, a kind of cloud or vapor blew up and the thing came down."

"The big body part, painted in green and black stripes, looked just like a spider."

"I started toward the door, then another big cloud. It went sideways straight up between the houses and disappeared."

"It was 11:20 p.m. when it took off."

Mrs. Brown said she went outside the next day and on the front lawn found "the ground stirred up, a lot of dust and stuff blown over the grass."

"It couldn't have been the wind," she said, "it was quiet and hot all night."

She said she reported the incident at the time both to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Oakland County Civil Defense Department.

SAW MOVEMENT

The legs came out, she said, and she noticed "a little bit of movement in a little gun turret-like on top of the thing."

SAW MOVEMENT

The legs came out, she said, and she noticed "a little bit of movement in a little gun turret-like on top of the thing."

"The big body part, painted in green and black stripes, looked just like a spider."

"I started toward the door, then another big cloud. It went sideways straight up between the houses and disappeared."

"It was 11:20 p.m. when it took off."

Mrs. Brown said she went outside the next day and on the front lawn found "the ground stirred up, a lot of dust and stuff blown over the grass."

"It couldn't have been the wind," she said, "it was quiet and hot all night."

She said she reported the incident at the time both to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Oakland County Civil Defense Department.

Alpinists Push Up Icy Mt. Eiger After Climber Plunges to Death

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (AP) — Undaunted by the death of their leader, a team of American and British Alpinists attacked the icy north wall of Mt. Eiger again today.

As the sun came out from behind the snowy ranges, Layton Cor of Boulder, Colo., and Chris Bonington of England began moving up the Eiger wall to reach the advance bivouac in the ice field known as "the Spider."

MOUNTAIN CLAIMS LIFE — John Harlin, 30-year-old mountain climber from Los Altos, Calif., died yesterday when he plunged 3,000 feet while trying to scale this icy north wall of Mt. Eiger near Kleine Scheidegg, Switzerland, with 12 other Alpinists.

3,000 feet to his death on the mountain Tuesday.

Kor and Bonington decided at dawn to go on, saying, "John would have wanted it that way."

Two other members of the team, Douglas Haston and Don Whyllans of Britain, were still in the valley below the mountain. They were expected to join Kor and Bonington later.

The British-American and German teams began climbing the Eiger north wall on March 2 in a race to make the first direct vertical ascent in history. Sunday they decided to join forces after storms and snow had held them back. The summit is 14,046 feet and Harlin was at a height of about 11,500 feet when he appeared to lose his foothold.

Harlin, a native of Kansas City and a graduate of Stanford University, was the first American to conquer the Eiger's north the British-American team, fell wall

Pope Meets Archbishop, Asks 'Unity'

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Pope of the Roman Catholic Church and an archbishop of Canterbury met officially today for the first time in more than five centuries, voiced hopes for Christian unity and world peace, and embraced.

"You rebuild a bridge which for centuries has lain fallen between the Church of Rome and the Church of Canterbury," Pope Paul VI told Dr. Michael Ramsey, primate of the world's 45 million Anglicans.

The Pope called the meeting in the Vatican's Sixtine Chapel "a great day" in history and said it had meaning "for peace among the nations of the world and for promotion of Christian brotherhood among men."

Expenditures of state and local governments have increased an average of 10 per cent annually the last ten years.

In Walled Lake Vote

Chamber Backs Rezoning

WALLED LAKE—The chamber of commerce has joined the controversy over the April 4 referendum election, coming out in favor of rezoning for an apartment development in the northern part of the city.

The question on the ballot concerns four acres of property on the south side of Decker at the South Commerce intersection.

Roy V. Mercer of West Bloomfield Township had requested that the zoning for the parcel be changed from single family residential and office classifications to multiple residential so that he could build seven apartment buildings there.

The complex would contain 56 units.

A former Walled Lake resident who has done considerable building in the area, Mercer is the son of City Councilman E. V. Mercer.

News of the Area

Residents of Decker Heights No. 2 subdivision, adjacent to the proposed apartment site, have been opposed to the development.

TRAFFIC WORRY

They say the rezoning would create unsafe traffic conditions, impose two-story buildings in a neighborhood of one-story homes, rob them of privacy and have a negative effect on property values.

City planning consultants at Villan-Leman and Associates of Southfield recommended that Mercer's request be granted, but the recommendation was reversed by the planning commission after a public hearing in November.

The City Council approved the rezoning by a six-to-one vote, with Marshall E. Taylor casting the single dissenting vote.

Decker Heights No. 2 residents then circulated and filed referendum petitions calling for the matter to be placed on a citywide ballot.

ENDORSE PLAN

Chamber of commerce president Ronald Facer announced that the organization's board of directors had voted to endorse Mercer's plans.

"The Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce looks upon the new Roy Mercer apartment development as a welcome and valuable addition to the city of Walled Lake," Facer said in a prepared statement.

"Projects of this nature help insure the continued growth of Walled Lake with no increase in taxes to area residents," he said. "In fact, they more than pay their way."

According to Facer, apartment residents demand "very little" in the way of services from municipal governments. The increased tax base from the complex would more than compensate the city, he said.

PROJECT DESIGN

"Our group feels that the project design and the plans for landscaping the development will be an asset to the entire community," he said.

"The residents will be younger people in higher income brackets who spend a considerable amount of their income in local retail establishments."

Decker PTA Program Will Honor Principal

WALLED LAKE — The Decker PTA will sponsor a cooperative dinner and social evening in honor of principal Cecil Scott, Monday at 7 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school, 1665 Decker.

The program will feature a barbershop quartet from Milford and a playlet called, "If Men Played Cards," presented by the men of the school.

Traffic Problem No Closer to Solution

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP

Efforts to solve the perplexing traffic problem at the intersection of Orchard Lake and Pontiac Trail were discussed at a recent Township Board meeting, but action on the matter is at a standstill.

A letter from the Oakland County Road Commission relating to its activities at the intersection was read to the board indicating the necessity for a traffic control device.

The traffic problem at the intersection has plagued local residents for many years, but efforts to solve the problem have been thwarted so far, according to Township Supervisor John C. Reharrd.

The road commission's latest proposal is a project to widen the intersection along the western side of Pontiac Trail and the northern side of Orchard Lake.

A controlled traffic light has also been suggested for use during the morning and evening rush hours. The light would be of the flasher variety controlled by local authorities.

MAJOR PROBLEM

The problem at the intersection is essentially one of too many vehicles and too little control, according to Reharrd.

Cars traveling east on Pontiac Trail and attempting to turn south onto Orchard Lake must wait for a break in traffic before completing the turn.

The same situation exists for cars attempting to turn west onto Pontiac Trail. A bottleneck is created by the waiting cars.

The commission proposes to add extra lanes at the intersection, affording easy access for turning vehicles.

The commission has not yet obtained consent to proceed with condemnation for right-of-way within the city limits of Orchard Lake, Reharrd said.

Officials from both the township and the city will confer in the near future in an effort to reach a solution to the problem. No date has been set for the conference.

Baby Drowns as Mother Lies Asleep

ALMONT TOWNSHIP — A 9-month-old child drowned in a pail of water yesterday while his mother was sleeping.

The mother, Mrs. Robert Schriber of Emmett, was reportedly baby-sitting at the home of Mrs. Virginia Sylvestrak, 8346 Hollow Corners, with her son, Robert E. Lee, and the two Sylvestrak children.

Romeo State Police said Mrs. Schriber apparently fell asleep and the child drowned while playing in the pail of water.

They said the accident was discovered by the mother's sister who had stopped by to visit.

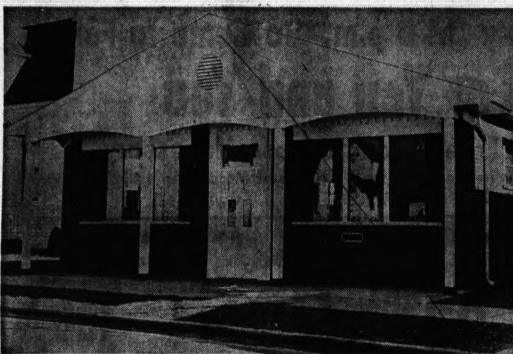

The two other children were asleep at the time, according to police.

Brandon Township Library Is Going 'Colonial'

New Page in the History of Brandon Public Library

By JANICE KLOUSER

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The public library is putting on a new look for spring. Instead of the old white frame attire which it has been sharing, it will soon sport a brand new colonial "outfit" all its own.

In a short time, the library will move from its present location in the township hall to a new building next door.

"Everything is ready to go," said Mrs. Richard Wilcox of the library board. "There are just a few paperwork details to clear up."

For 38 years the library was housed in a small building on the site of the new one. Two years ago it moved into the township hall where it shares quarters with the township offices and justice court.

PEOPLE HELPED

The new building, which was started in November, is truly a contribution of the people.

A year ago last fall they responded wholeheartedly to a plea for money. They were asked to pledge $1 a year for three years and within the first week $4,500 had been pledged.

To date, the pledge stands at $15,000 with $8,287 actually collected.

The remaining cost of the library was made up with a $7,200 federal grant and $4,600 from a library fund built up through the years.

GOOD RESPONSE

"We're extremely pleased with the response we got," said Mrs. Wilcox. "Even residents of Groveland Township helped tremendously."

The township is now standing behind the $25,000 total cost of the structure so that the library board doesn't have to take out a loan.

The building was designed by architect Michael Shanayda of Dearborn and built by Schurrer Construction Co. of Pontiac.

It consists of one large room plus a work area.

There are now about 4,000 books in the library collection. Books are also obtained on a revolving basis from the North Oakland Library Contract System.

40 Plans Okayed in School District Reorganization

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has reached the two-thirds mark in approval of school district reorganization plans, says the State Education Department.

The plans are being submitted under a state law aimed at eliminating all local districts with fewer than 12 grades.

The State Committee on School District Organization said it approved three additional reorganization plans last week, bringing the total to 40 of the state's 60 intermediate districts.

These included the Eaton, Mason and Mecosta-Osceola intermediate school districts.

The committee rejected a plan submitted by the Wayne Intermediate District.

It also rejected an amendment to an original plan submitted by the Marquette-Alger Intermediate District.

After the committee approves reorganization plans, they must be approved by voters in the school districts affected.

Abraham J. Nathan, a former Israeli fighter pilot, is in the United States to promote peace between Israel and the Arab states.

He arrived in New York last night from Paris to begin his 10-day crusade. "I just took my suitcase and came here on my own money and my own time," he said.

Nathan, 38, gained attention last month when he flew a rickety, 40-year-old plane into Egypt. He said he felt the flight "made a crack in the wall separating Israel from the Arab countries."

He said while in this country he hopes to see President Johnson, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations, and Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Actor's Wife Decides House Not a Home

A remodeled house is not a home, the wife of actor Rick Jason has testified in obtaining a divorce in Los Angeles.

Shirley Jason said her husband has been remodeling their house since shortly after their Las Vegas marriage two years ago.

"I asked him if the house is more important to him than our marriage and he replied 'Yes,'" she testified. She also said the actor, who stars in the "combat" television series, was "very moody and sullen."

Attorneys said she will get alimony.

Sees Catholic Deaconesses

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A world-renowned Roman Catholic theologian today foresaw the ordination of women in the Church.

The Rev. Bernard Haring of Germany said he believed it feasible "to ordain women as deaconesses."

After that, the question could be raised whether they "can be called to the priesthood," he said. "I would not say yes, but I would not close the door to it."

The deaconate is a level of holy orders prior to the full priesthood that involves ordination.

Senate Amendment Bids for Votes

The Country has become pretty well inoculated against the idiosyncrasy and demagoguery that emanates from Capitol Hill, but the proposal put forth by Vermont's Republican senator, WINSTON L. PROUTY, should have really shaken the constituency out of its apathy.

PROUTY, a member of the party that is preaching Federal fiscal responsibility and pointing an accusing finger at the Administration's jaunty disregard of economic reality, introduced an amendment to the Social Security Act to pay benefits to ALL persons over 70. That they had never been eligible for the program nor paid taxes supporting it barred them not from becoming recipients of its benefits.

This Cloud Nine welfare windfall would cost taxpayers a mere $800 million the first year and $3.4 billion over five years, regardless of the fact that of the 1.8 million Americans affected, 700,000 are already pensioners of some kind and 1.1 million others are beneficiaries of Old Age Assistance.

If you are surprised that 45 other senators joined the Vermont visionary in passing the amendment, you needn't be.

The Senate passed it knowing full well that it would be given realistic treatment in the House—and, oh yes, this is an election year, isn't it?

Faster Airlifts Give Military More Muscle

This country may not be able to act as the world's policeman, but it's definitely improving its ability to get the cops on the beat when they're most needed.

According to the Military Air Transport Service, we are approaching the day when an entire Army division (21,000 troops with 35,000 tons of equipment) can be airlifted to any place in the world in one week.

At present, a full month is required to do the job. New Starliner jet squadrons planned to be operational in 1969 will reduce that to 24 days.

When the huge Lockheed C-5A transport begins arriving in 1971, the airlift time will be cut to 15 days. And when the Air Force has a full six squadrons of these planes, plus the Starliners, it will be halved to seven days.

This is as far into the future as the Service prognosticates. Progress is not going to stand still after 1971, however. It is conceivable that by the end of the century there will be great troop-carrying ballistic missiles capable of cutting the transport time to a matter of hours, with most of it spent just getting on and off the things.

Hopefully, maybe by that time it won't be necessary.

Mrs. Addison K. Oakley

The many friends and artistic intimates of Mrs. ADDISON K. OAKLEY were stunned by her recent death.

Death under any circumstances is fraught with sorrow and bereavement. Particularly is this so when the one stricken is a relatively young and talented member of the community.

Mrs. Oakley was a graduate of Ward Belmont School and the University of Michigan School of Music. She was an accomplished concert pianist, had taught piano in the local school district and was active in the musical affairs of Oakland University and Meadow Brook. She was also a past president of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale.

Mrs. OAKLEY made a substantial contribution to the cultural climate of the area. Her warm and cooperative personality will long be remembered.

Who'll Bag Contest Bond?—You?

This is traditionally the time of year when young men's fancies lightly turn to thoughts of love. And, if we're any judge, fancies of young women turn no less lightly to thoughts of stimulating male minds in that direction.

But for many springs now, both sexes have taken time out from romance to think about the Annual Press Baseball Contest, announced Monday, that set followers to scratching heads.

It wouldn't surprise us if this year a record number of contestants take pen in hand and go to bat for the $500 U.S. Savings Bond award that will reward the man, woman or child who crystal-balls the American League batter who leads the league when the contest bonus is lowered after the games of Sunday, May 15.

What with inflation, tax boosts imposed and more imminent and more and more goodies daily appearing in the marketplace, that winner's windfall would come in mighty handy in making both ends meet. By the way, we've always wondered what ends talk about when they meet.

But before trying your luck on the line, read over the ground rules to make sure you've touched all the bases. This done, get your entry off posthaste to The Press. As the fella said, you can't hardly be any faster than that. In case you came in late, the deadline for entries is Monday noon, April 11.

Good luck.

CONTEST RULES

1. Everyone is eligible to enter contest except Press employees and members of immediate families (newspaperboys are not excluded).
2. All members of families may submit entries, but are restricted to one each.

David Lawrence Says:

Election Fund Fraud Is Ignored

WASHINGTON — The biggest scandal in the country — the improper use of money in federal, state and local election campaigns — goes unexposed and unpunished.

Congress hesitates to investigate itself. Yet it is well known that various organizations with a direct interest in the passage or repeal of legislation take a hand in congressional campaigns and furnish funds to elect a bloc in favor of the legislation demanded by the groups that provide the money.

Under federal law, both corporations and labor unions are prohibited from contributing money or "anything of value" to candidates in federal elections. But the Supreme Court has upheld the idea that a separate organization, set up for the purpose of raising funds for a political campaign, may solicit money from individuals in corporations or labor unions.

Also, it so happens that corporations or labor unions can legally help to finance the campaigns of state and local candidates who run at the same time as the nominees for federal office. But a contribution used to help persuade voters to support a candidate for a state office usually results in increasing the straight-ticket vote for the party's nominees.

Congress hasn't, however, done anything about this, though last year it didn't hesitate to pass a law authorizing federal officials to go into voting districts and see that citizens are registered and are permitted to vote in state as well as federal elections.

But today a strange silence prevails. There is an indifference to the way elections are won by groups with a particular interest to serve.

Any individual, whether he is a union official or member of a corporation executive, can contribute to a campaign if he wishes, but the real question is whether there is any understanding reached with a candidate on his forthcoming vote in Congress. It is a violation of law to do so.

Maybe some day a congressional committee will get up enough courage to insist on a disclosure of all the contributions made by organizations interested in legislation, whether on the federal, state or local level.

Then money spent in any general election by organized groups could be revealed to the American people and a decision made as to whether a majority in Congress will or will not be controlled by the contribution of campaign funds in so-called "free elections."

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The Declaration of Independence asserts that all men are created equal, but it says nothing about the duty of a government to maintain citizens at an equal level thereafter.

In time of war, governments are patently unable to spread the rigors of battle equally among all citizens.

By what logic, then, does the government at the same time provide subsidized housing, free food, snap jobs for school dropouts, and free college educations for mediocre high school students, so long as the family income does not exceed $3,100 a year?

This nation was founded by sturdy people who knew that they had to work, or starve. As the westward push began, the government gave free land only to homesteaders who would live on it, and work to develop it.

By contrast, the government nowadays gives lump sum payments of tens of thousands of dollars to absentee landowners who take their acreage out of production.

'Oldsters Need Break on New Insurance Laws'

Could representatives in Lansing submit a bill that would alleviate the expenses of driving for oldsters with limited incomes? Billions of tax dollars are given to foreign countries to make life more pleasant for them, so why not help our people?

Michigan can afford to pay for the insurance or waive same and give oldsters a break on the new law covering driving of motor vehicles. There should be an examination to determine their ability as safe drivers and a check of their driving performance.

Comments on City Commission Election

The people of District 7 are largely colored and feel they should have colored representation. There is a far more important issue. The liquor interests of Pontiac are continually trying to get more liberty and less laws. When Mr. Landry was commissioner he represented those interests when possible.

The present Commission has tried hard to represent Pontiac. Changes would endanger the cooperation of the Commission. Liquor contributes too much to moral failures and traffic deaths. The present Commission works for honest government that is good for all people.

Readers Discuss Waterford Bond Proposal

There are many necessities in the Waterford Township School Board's $13 million bond proposal. However, the board of education has yielded to citizen pressure and included a few "goodies" such as a $500,000 swimming pool. Taxes are about as high as people can afford. If we have a $500,000 pool today we will do without a $500,000 elementary school tomorrow.

Let's defeat the proposal and ask the board of education to put first things first, as they have in the past, and provide adequate classroom space and adequate teachers' salaries before swimming pools are proposed.

J. P. WILSON
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

Rudy B. Mansfield, Waterford Township Trustee, forgot to mention cost in his criticism of a former township supervisor, and to mention what is being done with the surplus of State-collected sales tax monies.

Why phase out Lambert School and build a new one? Why spend $200,000 to convert Waterford Center School into a board of education building when the present building was enlarged recently? It's time cost is taken into consideration.

CARL R. CHRISMAN
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

Considering Waterford Township's projected population growth and the extensive studies which have gone into the school district's needs, the steering committee of the Greater Waterford Community Council voted to endorse the proposed bond issue and recommend a "yes" vote on both questions on the March 28 ballot.

'True Americans Must Protect Americanism'

The Great Society appears to be one in which one-half works for the government or receives a major portion of its income from it, one-quarter are deadbeats supported by the society, and the last one-quarter are honest, hard working people supporting the others.

Intelligent, honest Americans believe in free enterprise and independence from government, with each supporting himself. This mad race toward socialism and moral decay, together with needless wars, will lead to the eventual destruction of the democratic way of life. True Americans must replace those in office or Americanism dies.

Crime Buildup

The Bay City Times

You could build a pretty good argument on the premise that the law often creates more crime than it prevents, especially when it seeks to forbid or restrict or too vigorously milk the "congenial vices" that spring from human nature itself.

Prohibition is the classic example, and the United States is still suffering from the depredations of the hoodlum empires which came into being because of the refusal of millions to abide by this law, no matter how nobly conceived it may have been.

A year ago New York City doubled its cigarette tax. The total is the state tax, the added is 14 cents, the highest in the country, and the price of cigarettes (40 to 45 cents a pack) is so far above that of other states that ordinary citizens as well as the fast-buck boys are finding it worth their while to fill up their car trunks across the state line.

Legitimate vendors are said to be losing business to the tune of $11.5 million a month. That, of course, translates into smaller income tax receipts for the city and state.

The outlandish tax is not only failing of its purpose, it has not only opened up another field for organized crime, but it has encouraged a popular disrespect for the law which could work mischievous effects on the whole fabric of society.

Whoever said, "Where there's smoke there's fire," certainly must never have owned a fireplace.

Hot Lunch Issues
The Saginaw News

Tenuous international developments get presidential priority these days, but not so much that there isn't a little time available to play practical politics in an election year, even if it invades the sticky area of a bowl of chili or a helping of tuna casserole and a bottle of milk. Hence, the word to parents and school children is fear not for the hot lunch program which is made possible largely through federal subsidy.

When the President made the suggestion that Congress water down the federal appropriation on the hot lunch program and divert the money thus saved to new poverty programs, he baited the hook and the trout snapped.

Howls of protest were immediate and predictable and they haven't subsided yet. The President was dropping a bomb, but it was a dud and he knew it. No congressman in his right mind, particularly in an election year, will touch the President's plan with a 16-foot pole.

But in a more subtle way, the President has forced Congress from which springs much criticism of his budgeting, to admit that here is one well-entrenched federal subsidy on which no hand shall be laid.

Veep Resigns at AMC

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. has lost Edward L. Cushman, its jack-of-all-trades, who resigned in a surprise move.

The 51-year-old Cushman gave up his post Tuesday as AMC vice president and re-joined the faculty of Wayne State University in Detroit. He was named vice president of the school.

Cushman's departure was the first major move within the company since Detroit industrialist-sportsman Robert Evans became the firm's largest stockholder last January.

Evans said repeatedly that he had full confidence in AMC's current leadership, but rumors were current that some executive heads were due to fall.

LABOR NEGOTIATIONS

Cushman had long been regarded as the right-hand man of AMC president Roy Abernethy. A pioneer in labor negotiations, Cushman had been given more and more duties in recent years.

Abernethy and Board Chairman Richard E. Cross said Cushman's resignation had been accepted with regret but that he would continue as a member of AMC's board of directors.

Cushman pointed out in a statement announcing his resignation that AMC sales "have taken a turn for the better as shown by our February results as against a year ago" and that AMC's stock is faring better in Wall Street trading.

Cushman served at Wayne as director of its Institute of Industrial Relations from its founding in September 1946 until 1955 when he went to the young American Motors Corp. as vice president-industrial relations.

STRONG MAN

He became a corporate vice president in 1959 and a director in 1962. He was generally regarded throughout the industry as one of the strong men in AMC's setup.

$20,000 for Lincoln Letter

NEW YORK (AP) — A famous letter from Abraham Lincoln to a young lady who thought he could enhance his chances for the presidency by growing whiskers, has been sold at auction for $20,000.

Television producer David Wolper bought the carefully penned reply which went to 11-year-old Grace Bedell in Westfield, N.Y., after she had professed her advice on the making of a president in 1860.

He apparently had second thoughts on the matter however, for soon afterward he began to sprout a beard and was subsequently victorious in his campaign.

"If you will let your whiskers grow," she wrote, "you would look a great deal better for your face is so thin. All the ladies like whiskers and they would tease their husbands to vote for you and then you would be president."

In his reply, dated Oct. 19, it's worth $20,000 to me."

The letter was sold by three of Grace's grandsons who said they lacked the proper equipment for keeping it preserved. Wolper said he bought the letter because "I happen to be a Lincoln fan. As a collector and from an emotional point of view it's worth $20,000 to me."

KISSES FOR THE PRESIDENT — President Johnson gets a thank-you kiss from 2-year-old Courtenay Valenti, daughter of presidential assistant Jack Valenti and his wife, in Washington yesterday. The President gave Courtenay a souvenir album of photos of the two of them together. Looking on is Robert W. Komer, newly appointed assistant for peaceful reconstruction in Viet Nam.

Hit by Stench Bomb

British Chief's Eye Injured

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today shrugged off a painful eye injury incurred when a 14-year-old boy struck him with a stench bomb during a campaign speech. Wilson told police not to prosecute and officers gave the youth a dressing down.

Dr. Arthur Smith, who examined the Labor party leader after the incident last night at Slough, 20 miles west of London, said: "Fortunately there is no serious damage to the eye. I gave Mr. Wilson some drops for the eye and he should be all right in 48 hours."

Wilson and Joan Lester, a Laborite candidate for Parliament, were injured when the bomb burst in their faces, scattering splinters and spewing a foul-smelling yellow liquid into their eyes. Miss Lester's injuries were slight.

Wilson, holding his hand over his right eye, managed to quip despite the most sensational outburst of rowdiness yet in the March 31 general election campaign:

"With an aim like that he ought to be on the English (cricket) eleven."

The prime minister was given an ovation by the crowd.

County Unit Against 2 Bills

Defeat of Legislation
Asked by Supervisors

The equalization committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday registered opposition to two pending legislative measures.

Committee members called for defeat of a Senate bill that would give county boards of supervisors power to establish county assessing departments.

They also voted opposition to a House bill which sets determination of certain personal property on installed acquisition cost.

In opposing Senate Bill 285, the committee said it violates the home rule power of cities by giving boards of supervisors authority to take away from local governmental units the right to determine whether they have their own assessing departments.

Another objection to the Senate bill was that it provides for a single county board of review.

TO CITE STAND
Equalization committee chairman Vance C. Fouts said that Carl F. Ingraham, chairman of the supervisors' legislative committee, would advise Oakland County legislators today of the opposition to the Senate bill.

The objection to House bill 327 will be forwarded to the legislative committee for consideration at its next meeting.

Basis for the objection was the installed acquisition provision. Committee members feel that replacement cost should be the criterion.

Support of this bill had been recommended by the legislative committee to the full board of supervisors last week but the board ordered it referred to the equalization committee.

Federal Aid of $40,000 for Library

Oakland Schools has received a $40,000 federal grant to establish a professional circulating library for the in-service education of teachers and school administrators.

The announcement was made today by Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of Oakland Schools.

The fund was granted under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. It was one of 10 similar grants authorized to local and intermediate districts in Michigan.

The funds will be used solely for purchase of books, films and tapes. Oakland Schools will provide housing and a working staff for the library.

According to present plans, the facility will be in operation by next September.

The decision to apply for money to use for teacher training materials was made on request of curriculum directors, administrators and librarians of Oakland County schools.

U.S. Plans to Dissect Lost H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The months — and some parts for missing American hydrogen bomb will be dissected like a fish if the United States ever reels it up from the bottom of the sea off Spain.

Officials said today that once the bomb is recovered it will be dismantled and subjected to U.S. B52 jet and its refueling tanker collided six miles above the coast of Spain Jan. 17. It drifted by parachute into the sea.

TINY SUBMARINES

Miniature submarines have been trying to maneuver the bomb into a favorable position for recovery the past several days. Officials say it might be days or weeks before the bomb is surfaced.

Once in hand, the gray, tubular device will be taken to an unspecified base of the Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA), officials said. DASA builds the nation's nuclear hardware.

"You can rest assured it will get a thorough going-over," one spokesman said. "We bring nuclear bombs back to the shop if they're so much as scratched."

Densons of experts will be called in for various examinations of the bomb's components. They have probed the intricacies of a few other nuclear weapons which were damaged in plane crashes or merely dented in transporting.

HIGH-FLYING PLANE CRASHES — A Chinese Nationalist pilot parachuted to safety yesterday when his weather reconnaissance WU2 crashed into the foothills of the Santa Rita Mountains 16 miles south of Tucson, Ariz. Capt. Hung-Ti-fan, 29, apparently was unharmed. He was on a routine training mission.

Tag WSU Negro Official for Detroit Police Post

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne State University official, standing in the highest post ever held by a Negro in to be worked out," Girardin the Detroit Police Department, said. "It's not a certainty yet. an aide to Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said Tuesday.

The Rev. Hubert G. Locke, a The WSU Board of Governors counselor in the university's Office of Religious Affairs, is to become administrative assistant to Locke, but would like him to re- to Police Commissioner Rayman at Wayne State until June Girardin.

In his new job, the Rev. Mr. Locke would be directly responsible to Girardin, working on assignment in the area of community and racial affairs.

NOT COMPLICATED

Getting into the bomb isn't a particularly complicated or ticklish matter. Its insides are bared by removal of bolted-on plates.

The scientists and technicians will be interested primarily in the things about the bomb: its safety features and structure.

Probably none of the weapon's parts will be used in another H-bomb.

Officials say that after all the poking and probing is through, the components probably will become little more than conversation pieces in scattered research labs.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

Your First Step to Beauty

CHAPTER 1

What is physical fitness? It's being in tip-top shape — having a lithe, supple body free of excess fat; it means shining hair, a glowing complexion, sparkling eyes, perfect posture.

It's magnetic, too. When you're physically fit, you exude radiant health, and a happy, positive feeling that makes you fun to be with. You're more alert, and able to live a more active, well-rounded life.

Think of the most popular girl you know. Is she a classic beauty? Or is it her style, verve, bounce and enthusiasm that make boys and girls alike flock around her? Most outgoing, popular girls are fairly bursting with vitality. Whether they're conscious of it or not, they're following the basic rules of good health.

Now is the time to develop the good health habits that will keep you young, attractive and physically fit throughout your life.

Outer beauty is a combination of many things: subtle makeup, flattering clothes, the right hair style, posture, the way you speak.

Inwardly, beauty is reflected by the alert, calm way you face problems, your responsiveness to the needs and feelings of others, and the generally well-balanced, positive attitude you have toward life.

ENOUGH SLEEP

Getting more sleep can become a useful habit. Try going to bed fifteen minutes earlier than usual the first night, twenty minutes the next; keep it up until you're sleeping at least eight hours.

Suppose you have trouble sleeping, no matter how tired you are? If that's the case, organize your day so that your last hour or so before retiring is spent in a quiet, relaxing way. If you're tense from studying, watching a "kill 'em dead!" Western or reading a murder mystery, of course you'll find it difficult to sleep.

Instead, listen to soft music, read a nonviolent book, take a luxurious tepid bubble bath, sip a soothing cup of warm milk with honey, and you should travel off to slumberland as soon as you snuggle under the covers.

If you have your own bedroom, don't decorate it in wild reds and garish purples. Instead choose soft blues, pale greens and pinks or off-white to set the scene for sleep. Flowered or pastel sheets and a soft, pretty blanket make bedtime a tempting time.

If you read yourself to sleep, be sure your night table has a good reading lamp.

NO PILLOW

If you possibly can, learn to sleep without a pillow; you'll sleep better and your posture will improve. Be sure your room has proper ventilation. An airless, stuffy bedroom will stifle slumber.

If you eat the right food, exercise, and get enough sleep, you'll probably have a much happier mental outlook. And yet, if you're a real worrywart, all the physical fitness in the world won't make you feel much better. So, warriors of the world, this section is especially for you!

Don't waste your energy worrying. Worry is useless — it doesn't help solve your problems. Instead, it saps your vitality and clouds your thinking.

Everyone has problems, from your baby brother right on up to the President. It builds your character when you face problems intelligently, in a clear-headed, positive way. Did you

Voters League Has Pair of Meetings Set

Lillian Davidson is chairman of the annual League of Women Voters' meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. in Devon Gables.

Members of the League will discuss pending legislation with senators and representatives when they go to Lansing for the League Capitol Day on Thursday. The need for county home rule heads the list of topics of interest to members.

Those going from Pontiac include Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. Cameron Clark, Laura Belz, Mrs. Joseph Jenkins and Mrs. Earl Oltesvig.

Mrs. Robert Foersch of Dearborn, president of the League for Michigan, has said, "It is high time that the legislature pass county home rule. It is ridiculous to deny counties the right to design a form of government to meet today's needs."

"Some Michigan counties are having great problems because they are using a pattern of government set up over a century ago. County home rule would let these counties solve their problems."

Other topics of interest to league members are improvements in welfare laws and children's services including kindergarten and day care.

ever notice that most people who have lived through wars, personal crises and the like are deeper, more interesting, more understanding?

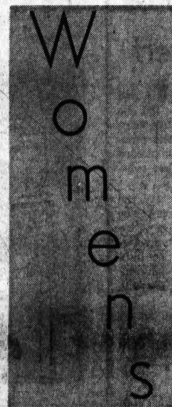

Worry didn't solve their problems, but knowing how to change the things they could change, and live with the things they couldn't, made them better human beings.

USE PENCIL

To clarify your problems, it's often helpful to write them down. If you write down exactly what's worrying you, why, and what you can do about it, vague little questions won't be running through your mind.

Act happy. (Even if you aren't.) Walk around with a pleasant expression on your face, be enthusiastic, take an interest in other people, and some of the "pretend" happiness will work its way down to the "real you" and actually make you feel happier. (If you don't believe this is possible, try it for just one day.)

TOMORROW: A further word on physical fitness.

Artist Is in the Limelight With Exhibit and a Party

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Robert Thom, well known local artist, will be honored at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newberg in their home on April 1.

Beginning Sunday Thom's paintings will be on exhibit at the Bloomfield Art Association galleries on South Cranbrook Road. They will remain there through April 3.

Perhaps Thom is best known for his paintings of events in the Michigan history which commission he received from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. On April 1 he will give a talk and show pictures of his paintings at the gallery to members of BAA.

On April 16 at the BAA fashion show when the "Jewels will Sparkle." Mesdames: Robert B. Thom, William H. Thom; Ernest Jones; Hugh Acton; Robert Bender and Henry C. Johnson will be among the models wearing the famous jewels.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Wellock are expected home early in May. Many friends from this area have visited with them in their Hawaiian home. A couple weeks ago the Wellocks entertained five couples from Michigan and thought it was great fun to catch up on all the news.

CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Warner returned last week after a cruise on the Europa to the Caribbean Islands which took them to Trinidad and six other ports. Mrs. Warner says, "Perfect weather, marvelous food, a good rest and fun."

Svea Kline returned to her art classes at BAA and the Flint Institute of Art after spending last week in New York with Mrs. R. S. Bishop of Flint, visiting different museums and hearing art lectures.

The occasion called for furs and hats. Mrs. R. W. McClure of Illinois Avenue (in a lavender froth of flowers) chats with Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde of Chippewa Road, stunning in a sophisticated hair-do, before curtain time at the benefit fashion show given by a combination of sororities Tuesday evening. Alvin's of Pontiac supplied the models and clothes.

Judge and Mrs. Arthur E. Moore look pleased with the turnout of the gala which will benefit Children's Village. Funds from the combined sorority fashion show are slated for a permanent play area on the grounds.

Can't Live Her Own Life

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow contemplating marriage to a widower. He is affectionate, trustworthy, and thoughtful. He loves my children and they love him. He is a wonderful father to his own children. He cooks, cleans, washes, irons, and never complains.

ABBY

Ily has to this man. They don't like him because our backgrounds are so different.

My parents are culture-conscious and somewhat snobbish. My friend is one of 15 children of a struggling Canadian farm family. His English is not very good, and he has not had the educational advantages I have had.

If left alone, I'm sure we could overcome these differences, but I am very close to my family and they could make life unbearable for me if I were to marry this man.

I've told him yes, but wonder if perhaps I should reverse my decision. Do you consider my parents' objections too great a stumbling block? UNDECIDED. DEAR UNDECIDED: Yes. Because apparently you do. When you are able to say, "I intend to live my own life with a man of my choice and . . . if my parents don't like it, they can jump it," I'll reverse my answer.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very important questions to ask you. Does epilepsy cause mental retardation or insanity? And is it safe for an epileptic to work, marry, drive a car, have children, and do things other people can do? TROUBLED. DEAR TROUBLED: Epilepsy is merely a symptom. It cannot "cause" anything. Most people with epilepsy are of normal intelligence. In most cases, epilepsy patients have far fewer seizures if they lead active, normal lives.

Most of them can work, participate in sports, drive a car (if they have complete seizure control), marry, and have children. In some states epileptics are not permitted to marry, but this attitude is slowly changing. For more detailed information write to the Epilepsy Foundation, 1419 H St., N.W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BOB AT CAL.: Start burning the midnight oil and stop burning the midnight gasoline and you might make it.

Problems? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Symphony and Chorus Give Splendid Concert

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Felix Resnick, gave its fourth regular concert of the season last evening at Pontiac Northern High School Auditorium.

Featured on the program was the Oakland University Chorus, George Cripps, director, with soloists Marjorie Gordon, soprano, Robert Angus, tenor, and Russell Smith, baritone. Carl Orff's monumental choral work, "Carmina Burana," occupied the major portion of the evening.

The unusual, shocking quality of Orff's massive cantata is unique and startling to the ear. It has a hypnotic appeal which draws the listener and makes him part of its intensity and never-ending beat. In spite of the obvious difficulties of the score for both chorus and orchestra, the fragmentary melodies, the independent orchestral line, and the off-beat rhythms, the one hundred and twenty-five voice chorus and the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra maintained an admirable unity and cohesion.

Resnick who conducted the performance and Cripps who trained the chorus achieved a subtlety of shading and a variety of choral colorings, not hitherto experienced in other renditions of this music.

The Pontiac area is fortunate in having both an orchestra and chorus capable of performing this difficult work so beautifully.

FINE SOLOISTS

Baritone soloist, Russell Smith, who sang the most important solos, gave a rich, earthy quality to his interpretation, and exploited to the fullest extent, the sensuous intent of the thirteenth century poetry.

The tenor solo, originally scored for castrato, or unchanged adult male voice, was sung by Robert Angus in an even and beautifully controlled falsetto, a difficult feat well done.

Marjorie Gordon sang the soprano solo, which reaches extreme ranges, with her usual vocal mastery and artistry.

Behind the scenes at this performance, but always present at the many rehearsals was the remarkably fine support of Arlene Cripps, piano accompanist for the chorus, who filled in as one-woman orchestra on the gigantic musical score.

IN CONTRAST

The first part of the program consisted of two contrasting works, Beethoven's overture to Prometheus and Britten's Simple Symphony for Strings.

The overture showed the tremendous progress that has been made by the orchestra under Mr. Resnick's direction, with a fine balance of tone and a moving interpretation of Beethoven's dramatic work.

The youthful Britten "symphony" was performed with gentleness and humor and provided a naive and exuberant contrast to the larger works which surrounded it.

Uncertainty Is Natural for Adolescent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
The summer that I was 18 I looked for my first job in a great city within commuting distance from my small-town home. On the third day of my search I stood on a street corner crushed by the towering buildings around me; and feeling what I now know was adolescent despair, thought:
"Oh, which of these million blind windows will ever see me? Which of these millions of doors will ever open to me? Maybe there isn't any room for me in this dreadful oblivious grown-up world.
"Maybe there never will be."
I did not confide this despair to my parents. Had I done so, I knew that they would say: "If you don't succeed at first, try, try again." And as I was already trying as hard as I could, I needed no exhortations to more trying. What I needed was some grownup to say:

"You're in trouble because you think you have to be your parents. Because they seem to have found their place in the world, you think you should have found yours. You think they knew exactly how to go about finding their place in the world. Well, they didn't."
"They had to grope for it just as you are doing. We all have to constantly grope for a new place in the world, no matter what age we are. So comfort yourself, child. None of us know all the answers."
If your adolescent child isn't talking to you these days, it may be because you've convinced him that you have all the answers. It may be because you're so proud of your success in marriage or work that you've scared him to death with the possibility that he won't be able to duplicate your successes.
It may also be because you've yakked so much about your sufferings in marriage or work that you've scared him to death with the possibility that he's doomed to duplicate your failures.
Yes, if your adolescent child isn't talking to you these days, it is because you have conveyed to him the impression that he has to be you. And must forever live by your certain answers.
Do you remember anything at all about how it was to be young, to feel time relentlessly moving you nearer and nearer to the million-windowed, million-doored world of the grown-ups, possessing no safe road in it except the one your parents told you was safe? Do you remember wondering if you wanted to follow the road that they had followed?
If you do remember yourself as the young, groping, uncertain creature you were as you neared the grown-up world, your adolescent child will talk to you again. All you have to say to him is:
"I am not sure. I have just seemed to be sure. Are you uncertain, too? If you are, that makes two of us, darling, and we can now begin to talk together."

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Here is my "Tailor Trix" that helped me and they help some of your readers. My husband's all-weather coat was perfect except that the sleeves were frayed at the cuff. It seemed a shame not to get another year's wear out of it.

I turned the edge of the sleeves in like an inverted pleat, just about 1/4 inch. Then, I top-stitched the edge and again about 1/4 inch from the edge. The coat is just slightly shorter in the sleeves, which doesn't show. The new top-stitching looks very professional and, in the end, we may get several more years wear out of the coat.

Thank you for being a "good neighbor" to all of us homemakers!

Mrs. W. C. Eldridge

For this suggestion Mrs. Eldridge who lives at Covington, Va., wins this week's Tailor Trix pressing board award.

Dear Eunice:

I have learned to underline my garments just as you have suggested, and I can't tell you how happy I am with my new results. I dreaded the extra work at first, but now can't imagine making anything good without underlining.

You have been a little vague about the information on underlining sleeves. I am uncertain how to proceed. Please help us by going into more detail.

"The Circle Sewing Gals"

Dear Gals:

I imagine from your letter that there are a group of you who sew together. This is a wonderful idea because you can help each other with fitting and creative ideas. The competitive spirit is a challenge, too.

Ordinarily I don't recommend underlining the sleeves, especially if they are "set-in" sleeves. For a narrow sleeve, if you underline with anything too stiff or heavy, it will look like you have a cardboard in your sleeve, besides being very uncomfortable. If you must underline because of the color or open weave of your fabric, choose the softest, lightest weight fabric possible for this.

If you are making a coat with raglan sleeves, the fabric of the garment would determine how you would treat the sleeves. Often you can underline the sleeves if they are raglan because they are naturally cut larger and require more "shape." Whenever you are underlining any part of your garment, always consider the weight and type of fabric plus the pattern shaping.

Sleeves seem to be the most difficult of all sewing techniques for the amateur to master. Take the guesswork out of sleeves by sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press and request your copy of my complete leaflet, "All About Sleeves."

Why do we take the plumpest cuts of white Albacore and call it skinny tuna?
Because of the way we pack it.
Most tuna comes packed in oil. Fatty oil. You can pour off the oil. But not the calories.

The tuna is soaked in it. We pack Empress the natural way. In water. Non-fattening, no-calorie water. That gives Empress less than half the calories of oil-packed tuna. There's no oil to disguise the taste of Empress. So it has a fresher, more natural flavor. And it's easier to digest. Empress, the water-packed tuna. Half the calories of the oil-packed kind. Ounce for ounce less goes to waist. Empress. The skinny tuna.

They can hardly wait until expectant fathers try on this apron filled with five-pound bags of sand to approximate the weight their wives gain in pregnancy. Mrs. P. Stuart Meyer, Lynndale Court, Avon Township, made the apron for the expectant parents' classes soon to start in Rochester. Helping fill the sand bag is Mrs. George L. Fetherolf, Reddingwood Drive, Oakland Township, who is to be one of the volunteer instructors. Classes start April 19.

Rochester to Have Parent Classes

Rochester Junior Woman's Club is adding a new project to its list of community services. Classes for expectant parents will be offered, starting April 19.

Two groups will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays in Central Junior High School. Each course lasts eight weeks. There will be no classes during the summer, but new groups will form in the fall.

Designed to develop group participation, the classes will be supervised by registered nurses who have taken special instruction from Mrs. Thomas Phelan, assistant director of nursing, Oakland County Health Department.

The volunteer instructors include RNs Mrs. Edward Drogowski, Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, Mrs. Peter Kuopas, Mrs. Robert Page and Mrs. George Fetherolf.

The Health Department is making available, films and tapes for the classes and the club has purchased items such as charts, layettes and two life-size rubber dolls for bath demonstrations. These dolls are unique because they have rubber ears protruding from the head.

Mrs. P. Stuart Meyer has stitched up an unusual apron to be worn by the expectant fathers. Designed by Mrs. Patricia Okon of the Oakland County Health department, the apron has three front pockets.

Five-pound bags of sand can be slipped into each pocket to simulate the weight gain of the mother at different stages of her pregnancy.

Class participants are expected to gain understanding of the physical aspects of pregnancy and will be prepared for labor, delivery and care of the newborn. There is no charge for the classes.

Biologist-Priest Finds No Science-Religion Conflict

By SJOERD L. BONTING
Scientist-Priest

Shortly after my ordination as an Episcopal priest, two years ago, a fellow scientist at whose side I work in a biology laboratory, asked me bluntly:

"Can you in-conscience preach miracles and science at the same time?"

I answered, "Yes."

As a scientist-priest who follows both vocations with equal fervor, I have had these seeming paradoxes thrust at me many times. And all I can reply is that for me there is no Rev. Bonting paradox.

The very first thing a scientist learns is that different aspects of reality must be approached with different disciplines.

UNSCIENTIFIC

The laws of electromagnetism are not the laws of solid state physics. No one would try to achieve nuclear fission by applying to atoms the rules of cell biology. How unscientific to impose the laws of one of these fields on the spiritual world!

"How about the Resurrection?" is a favorite question. "How can a biologist accept that?"

"Our biology," I answer, "is a science of this world, this final world, where mortality is normal and immortality is impossible. But the Incarnation, the Transfiguration, the Resurrection, these are the data of a very different order of existence."

I didn't always realize that it was an order where I had anything at stake.

SCIENCE MY LIFE

As a child and youth growing up in Amsterdam, Holland, science was my life. Neither my parents nor their friends were churchgoers; biochemistry and physiology particularly seemed to me to hold the secrets to all that was important.

And then the Nazis invaded Holland.

I was 15 years old. Suddenly my life was encumbered with a whole new set of facts — facts which had never appeared on a microscope slide: brutality, suffering, the death of the innocent, right and wrong.

Growing up in those bitter years, I never lost my admiration for science. But I was beginning to realize that biochemistry would never provide answers to the questions which haunted me.

CAN'T ANSWER 'WHYS'

We could unravel the cell down to its ultimate secret, analyze the final ingredient in the final dab of protoplasm, and we would be no nearer than when we started to answering the "whys" of life.

What discipline, then, did address itself to these problems? Religion, I knew, at least made the attempt. With my fiancée, Suzanne, I started attending church.

After receiving my doctorate I came with my bride to America on a National Institutes of Health fellowship, working in biochemical research at the University of Iowa. It was there that Suzanne and I joined the Episcopal Church and worked with many student groups in ecumenical activities.

I began to yearn to make my Christian witness a more active part of my life than I could as a lay volunteer. But I longed to continue in my scientific vocation. For months I lived in a turmoil of self-examination and uncertainty.

TALKED WITH BISHOP

At last I discussed the problem with Bishop Stephen F. Bayne, a churchman of great understanding.

"Your answer seems quite clear," he told me. "God is calling you for two roles: You have two vocations and can reject neither. You must answer both. You must become a scientist-priest."

In the fast-moving scientific world of today, a biochemist cannot abandon the laboratory for three years to attend seminary. The only solution was to accomplish my theological studies while continuing my research.

Church authorities provided special tutors to aid me. During the day I worked with test tubes and late into the night I pored over volumes of church history and Biblical exegesis.

CELL BIOLOGY SECTION

In 1960 the National Institutes of Health invited me to Bethesda, Md., where I set up the cell biology section and began my investigations at the ophthalmology branch. My theological books came with me.

In 1964, with the full knowledge of my superiors in both fields that I would be holding down two jobs, I became a priest.

The routine of our lives became hectic, demanding, exciting. A typical day begins by going to St. Luke's Church where I have started special communion services aimed at business and professional people.

From the church I drive to the ophthalmology laboratory for a conference with associates on our latest experiment.

After lunch, I go back to the laboratory and spend the afternoon doing research that I hope will give me information about infection in the human eye.

In the evening after dinner, I make a pastoral call on an elderly woman too ill to come to church.

From there, to a meeting at church to discuss our Sunday school program; later at home I work for a while on next Sunday's sermon.

People have said that I'm living in two worlds, but I don't feel that way.

There are not two worlds, but only one. God's world is so vast, so varied, that it's true we little humans must look at it from many directions to glimpse the whole. But the directions do not lead apart; they all bear toward the center and each insight helps the others.

Next — Bill Bradley, All-American basketball player, tells how faith and the help of other Christian athletes have motivated him.

Despite Good Pay

Road to Trucking Job Not Crowded

By PHIL BROWN

Associated Press Writer
LANSING — Since its graduates are pounced on immediately for jobs that might pay $15,000 a year within several years, you wouldn't think the four-week school would have trouble finding students.

But it does.

The jobs: driving the big tractor-trailer trucks that weigh 10 tons and represent an investment of about $20,000.

While industry is expanding and shipping more, older drivers are retiring faster than they can be replaced.

LOOKING FOR DRIVERS

"Just about every common carrier is looking for drivers," said Jack McNamara, managing director of the Michigan Trucking Association.

"Only three or four schools in the United States are doing the job (training) in accordance with the needs and standards of the industry," he added.

The school: that of Lansing Community College, one of the schools that McNamara would rate acceptable.

Not everyone can enter the program.

GOOD RECORD

Applicants must be between 18 and 45 years of age, able to pass the Interstate Commerce Commission physical examination, and have a good driving record.

The trucking industry is very much concerned about maintaining the good reputation its drivers now have, McNamara said.

Lansing Community College has graduated 170 men since last April, but enrollments have declined in recent months.

Harry Blanchard, college program coordinator, feels part of the reason may be that the program is new and not widely known.

TUITION FEES

Tuition fees are a barrier to some. Trainees from outside the community college district pay $250 and residents pay $200 for the four-week course, which includes about 200 hours of instruction in the class, on the practice range and on the road.

"There is hardly a day," Blanchard added, "without a call from someone who would like to take the course, but can't quit his job, pay $250 and be six weeks without a pay check."

The six weeks, he explained, includes probably two weeks on the new truck-driving job before the first pay check arrives.

"We'll keep going as long as we get the enrollment," Blanchard said.

INSTRUCTORS

The program has three full-time instructors and is equipped to teach 24 men at a time.

"We'd like to have better facilities," Blanchard added, noting that the practice range is a truckers' parking lot which may not always be available.

The classroom space is in a hangar at Capital City Airport, more than five miles from the driving range.

The trucks and trailers are on loan from various truckers and truck manufacturers.

GUEST INSTRUCTORS

Industry also sends guest instructors to help students master many of trucking's complicated regulations.

Highway truck drivers earn from $12,000 to $15,000 a year, McNamara said.

"Not all trainees are going to jump right into those high paying jobs," Blanchard added.

But one terminal manager told Blanchard his lowest paid pickup and delivery driver earned $9,000 last year.

PRETTY HAPPY

"One man recently came in and thanked me for the course," Blanchard said. "His pay increased from $5,000 to $8,000 and that made his family pretty happy."

Some trucking firms train their own drivers, McNamara said, "but they find it's better if training is done by an agency whose full-time job it is to train drivers."

The training involves a large amount of classroom work on regulations, reports, paperwork, freight storage and handling and other necessary skills, he said.

Chrysler Corp., in cooperation with the federal government, has a training program going in Detroit, with the government paying the tuition, McNamara said.

"It's not the permanent type of thing we are hoping for at Lansing," he said. "It's based on a federal program to fill a short-term need."

So far, McNamara said, the truck driver shortage hasn't been hurt by freight shippers, but all carriers — trucks and railroads — "have got more to move than they have men and equipment to move it."

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Eat Chicken Liver to Build Up the Blood

Q—My doctor advised me to eat liver for anemia. Would chicken liver be as effective as calves' liver? I like chicken liver better. Are liver extract and vitamin B-12 the same?

A—For persons with some forms of anemia, liver is recommended because it is a BRANDSTADT a rich source of both iron and vitamin B-12. The iron is in an organic combination that is more readily utilized by the body than inorganic iron salts.

Beef liver is a better source of iron and vitamins than calves' liver, but chicken liver is better than either. Liver extract contains concentrated vitamin B-12 but no iron.

Q—If a person has hemolytic anemia, a complicating liver disease and a bad spleen would this be fatal? Would Medrol and large doses of cortisone be helpful?

A—Hemolytic anemia is a disease in which destruction of red blood cells occurs as distinguished from anemias in which there is a failure of the blood-forming organs.

Hemolytic anemia may be associated with Rh incompatibility in the newborn, allergy to cold, leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, ovarian tumors, many infectious diseases, many drugs and chemical poisons, severe burns and some poisonous snake bites.

A-Beacons May Aid in Sea Conquest

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U)—A nuclear scientist says expanded undersea exploration may be facilitated in the next 10 years by atomic beacons marking the oceans of the world.

Dr. B. I. Spindard of the Argonne National Laboratory told a meeting of the American Nuclear Society Tuesday night that nuclear-powered submarine freighters may ply undersea lanes marked with sonar beacons.

Spindard said the beacons, using atomic energy, would identify submarine travel lanes.

He said increased attention also is being given to space uses for nuclear power systems which "look extremely fruitful because of their reliability." Nuclear powered rockets may be used to propel space stations and provide power for permanent space probes, he said.

The outlook would depend on the cause and the severity. Drugs of the cortisone group are often helpful. Methylprednisone (Medrol) belongs in this category.

Q—I have been taking Aventyl for depression for eight months. It did not bother me at first but now I get weak and dizzy. Could this be from the drug?

A—Nortriptyline (Aventyl) is a tranquilizer that should not be taken by anyone who has glaucoma or a kidney disease.

Among its side effects are dizziness, restlessness, insomnia, blurred vision, drenching sweats, nausea and headache.

Neighborhood Improvement Fund Dwindling

By L. GARY THORNE
City funds for so-called neighborhood improvements—street and sidewalk construction—are dwindling. At least, this is the forecast of some City Hall observers.
While the actual dollars may be increasing, taxpayers are getting less and less for their money. The dollars aren't stretching as far as they used to.
How and where monies are acquired and expended for local capital improvements is a complicated bookkeeping exercise. Often the obvious is not true.

For example, the annual report of the engineering department shows a total of $554,178 spent in 1965 for a variety of street, sidewalk and sewer construction.
This represents less than half of the amount spent in 1963 and only a small part of the funds spent in 1964.
FIGURES MISLEADING
The figures, however, are misleading.
Many projects are com-

ceived in one year, but not totaled until the following year when completed.
Nevertheless, the trend for capital improvement expenditures has been downhill over a nearly five-year span.
Extracted from the complex bookkeeping process, the following figures reflect the downward trend:
DOWNWARD TREND
• In 1961, the city spent $129,000 for blacktopping local streets and in 1965 spent only $33,700 for the same improvement.

• During the same five-year period, funds for curb and gutter work fell from $358,400 to $94,800.
• Street recapping funds were reported at $98,000 in 1962.
City Affairs

There were no expenditures last year for recapping.
• In 1961, the city expended $28,500 for sidewalk construction and last year spent only $14,000.
One other category—combined sewer construction—also shows a decline ($107,000 to $). This results from a decision to not construct combined storm and sanitary sewers because of pollution problems.
Two types of improvements that the city has stepped up construction on are the separated sanitary and storm sewers.

In 1961, there was $40,500 spent for sanitary sewers, while last year $160,300 was spent.
STORM SEWER
Local storm sewer construction meantime has climbed from $65,200 in 1961 to $81,900 last year.
Why the decline?
City Hall sources offer a variety of reasons, but they add up, from one aspect or the other, to a giant dollar sign.
First of all, the city's schedule of special assessments for local improvements are judged inadequate.
Other reasons are: Material and labor costs have increased, maintenance costs have gone up, surplus funds from the late 1950s are long gone, and monies from the state have had to go for major trunk line improvements.

What is the solution?
The single answer is more money. Eventually, the taxpayer will have to pay the tab.
The city's dilemma is the various factors that have hiked the municipality's share of local improvements. The money squeeze has been on the city in providing funds to match special assessments for particular improvements.
One solution would be revision of the city's outdated schedule for assessments.
What does the city now collect.
SANITARY SEWERS
On sanitary sewers the assessment is $3 per front foot; on curb and gutter, grade and gravel and two-inch blacktopping it totals $7.30 per front foot (paid by both sides of the street); and $3 per front foot on sidewalks.
City officials claim the sidewalk assessment is the only one holding its own, and this is only when no special construction problems are encountered.
Hampering the financing of local improvements has been the large commitments since 1962 on major street projects, such as Wide Track Drive.

Such projects have soaked up the city's rebate from the state of gas and weight tax funds.
MAINTENANCE COST
The high cost of maintenance has also contributed to the problems surrounding the trend toward less neighborhood improvements.
One City Hall source indicated that $154,000 was received for maintenance of local streets. This compares to the actual cost, which is nearly double.
The city's lack of funds, despite the green in the municipal cash register, leaves a rocky road for the property owner to follow in petitioning for a new street or sidewalk.

$500,000 Went Into '65 Projects

Despite the downhill trend of local capital improvements, last year did see a half-million dollars worth of improvements go in.
The largest category of improvements was in construction of sanitary sewers, according to the annual report of the city engineer.

More than 2.5 miles of sanitary sewers were installed in 1965 at $165,010, compared to 2.3 miles in 1964. The 1964 outlook included 2.5 miles at $446,500 on the Murphy Park relief sewer.

No concrete pavement was constructed last year, according to the report. This compared to 2.2 miles constructed in 1964, most of which was Wide Track Drive.

Sidewalk construction last year totaled over 1.9 miles, compared to 4.8 miles the year before.

ASSESSMENTS
Funds for local capital improvements come from the city and state, special assessments paid by property owners, private developers and private citizens.

No construction was reported for last year on combined sanitary and storm sewers. This results from a decision by the city not to install any more combined sewers.

There were 1.1 miles of storm sewers constructed last year, compared to 1.8 miles in 1964.

Curb and gutter work last year totaled 1.7 miles, while it was 6.4 miles in 1964.

RECAPING
Recapping and blacktopping of streets totaled 2.4 miles in 1965, compared to 1.2 in the previous year.

Defer Action on 'Labor Voice'

Action was deferred last night by the City Commission on two items expected to be approved.
First, the seven-member commission deferred indefinitely action to appoint Kenneth Morris, regional United Automobile Workers director, to the city's important liaison committee.
Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. was expected to offer the Morris appointment.

The move was designed to give labor a voice on the committee, which is working with developers for downtown urban renewal land.

Yesterday the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council announced its endorsements for the April 18 City Commission election. Only one incumbent—Wesley J. Wood, District 6—received the council's endorsement.

TABLE BID ACTION
Secondly, the commission last night tabled action to approve a bid for a proposed pedestrian bridge across East Wide Track at Whittemore.

Two bids—a low bid of $12,800 and a high bid of $28,800—had previously been referred for further study after several bids were received.
Essentially, the low bid calls for a primarily concrete structure, while the high bid is for an aluminum bridge.

Last week the commission heard a presentation by a representative of Reynolds Metals Co. in behalf of the aluminum bridge.

NEGOTIATE BID CUT
It was reported last night that negotiations by a two-man committee, City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling and Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, had resulted in $3,065 being cut from the high bid.

A representative of the American Prestressed Concrete Co. last night cited some of the advantages of a third concrete-type bridge. The bid for this bridge was in between the other two bids.

The matter was then tabled for discussion at the next informal meeting of the commission.

In other business last night, the commission received a letter from Irving Steinman, chairman of the Human Relations Committee, that asked that his resignation letter not be accepted.

Steinman asked that his request to resign be rescinded until the committee could be reorganized.

The commission complied with his request.
Consideration is now being given to establishing a human relations commission with its duties and powers defined by city ordinance.

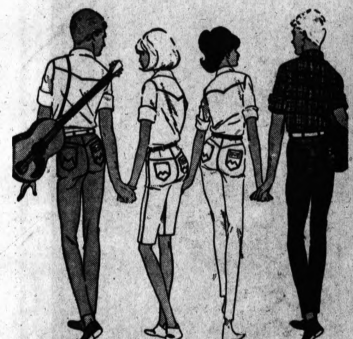

A public hearing was held on the intention to construct a water main on Joslyn from Brooks to Collier.

URGE REPEAL OF LAW
In other business, a letter and resolution was read from the Pontiac Democratic Club urging repeal of the city's ordinance banning most forms of public housing in Pontiac.
Final action was taken last night to amend the city's zoning ordinance. As a result of planning studies done under terms of a federal grant, the "definitions" and "residential" sections were updated.

The definitions section was expanded to provide more terms and specific words used in the ordinance.

Residential zoning classifications were modified to add a new one—residential-4 for high rise apartments, and expand requirements for trailer parks.

Use Ripe Olives in Many Ways

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Ripe olives are not a food you can be neutral about; you like them or you don't.

you'll want to keep them on hand all the time. They mean instant hospitality. Serve them as snack food any time of the day and use them in interesting recipes like the ones given here.

Beef and Ripe Olive Pie

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| 2 pounds beef round, cut ¼-inch thick | 2 tablespoons cooking oil |
| ¼ cup flour | 1 chopped large onion |
| ½ teaspoon salt | 1 (10½-ounce) can beef bouillon |
| ½ teaspoon seasoned salt | ½ cup water |
| ½ teaspoon garlic salt | 1½ cups canned California pitted ripe olives |
| ¼ teaspoon pepper | Pastry |

Cut beef in small cubes, removing all fat. Dredge in flour mixed with salt, seasoned salt, garlic salt and pepper. Brown well in heated oil.

Add onion; cook until transparent but not browned. Add bouillon and water. Cover and simmer 1 to 1½ hours, until meat is tender. Stir in drained ripe olives.

Roll pastry ¼-inch thick. Fit into 5-cup shallow baking dish making a fluted rim. Reroll pastry scraps and cut into stars. Turn beef into pastry lined dish and top with stars.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 30 minutes, until pastry is nicely browned. Makes 6 servings.

PASTRY: Resift 1½ cups sifted flour with ¼ teaspoon salt. Cut in ¼ cup shortening. Add about 3 tablespoons cold water to make a stiff dough.

Chicken Regency Salad

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| 1 envelope Italian salad dressing mix, vinegar, water, and oil | ¼ cup olivered ripe olives |
| 1 package (9-oz.) frozen artichoke hearts | 1 tablespoon capers, chopped |
| 3 cups (1½-lbs.) cubed, cooked chicken | 2 teaspoons butter |
| ½ cup thinly sliced water chestnuts | ¼ cup pecan halves |
| | Salt |
| | ¼ cup diced celery |
| | 1 large head Boston lettuce |
| | 2 small oranges, peeled and sectioned |
| | Watercress |

Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and oil as directed on envelope.

Cook artichoke hearts as directed on package. Drain. Then combine artichokes, chicken, chestnuts, olives, and capers in a large bowl. Add salad dressing to cover. Chill. Marinate about 3 hours, mixing occasionally.

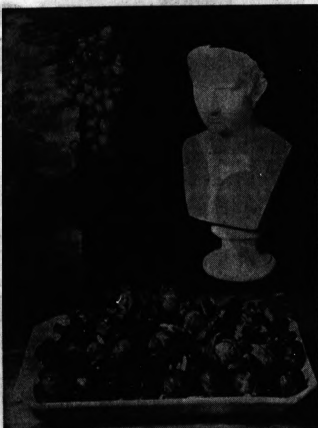

Meanwhile, melt butter in small skillet. Add nuts. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until nuts begin to brown. Drain. Sprinkle with salt. Cool.

Add celery to chicken mixture. Then drain excess dressing from mixture and reserve. Arrange lettuce leaves on individual luncheon plates. Place chicken mixture in center. Top with orange sections and nuts. Garnish with watercress. Serve with reserved dressing, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Roman Brussels Sprouts

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| 3 onion bouillon cubes | 4 packages (10 ounces each) frozen Brussels sprouts |
| 2½ cups boiling water | ½ cup sliced ripe olives |
| 1½ tablespoons olive or salad oil | 2 tablespoons pine nuts or pecans |
| 1 tablespoon anchovy paste | 3 tablespoons dry white wine |

Combine bouillon cubes, water, oil and anchovy paste in saucepan; boil, stirring, until bouillon cubes dissolve. Add Brussels sprouts; cover and cook 5 minutes, until almost tender. Mix in olives, nuts and wine. Continue cooking over low heat until Brussels sprouts are just tender.

ROMAN BRUSSELS SPROUTS—Here is a vegetable dish of classic simplicity. Fresh or frozen Brussels sprouts are chilled with nuts and ripe olives in a dressing of olive oil, anchovy and white wine.

Ripe Olives Star in Colorful Sandwiches

The Oliver

Split 1 large round loaf French bread; hollow out excess bread from both halves and spread with soft butter. Cover bottom half with 12 thin slices of cheese (Monterey Jack, domestic Muenster or other light cheese), 16 slices Italian dry salami and a large green pepper, cut into rings.

Top with 2 cups well-drained California ripe olives. Cover with top of loaf.

Wrap in waxed paper and have a good-sized teen-ager (not over 140 pounds please) sit on it to crush the olives and meld the flavors. Cut into 6 or 8 wedges.

The Shrimp

|--|
| ½ pound cooked, peeled and deveined shrimp |
| Dry sherry |
| 3 tablespoons lemon juice |
| 4 slices light rye bread |
| 3 tablespoons soft butter |
| ½ (8-ounce) package cream cheese |
| 12 canned pitted ripe olives |
| 2 tablespoons chopped parsley |
| Black pepper |

Toss shrimp in 3 tablespoons sherry and lemon juice; let stand 30 minutes. Spread bread with butter. Mix softened cream cheese with 2 tablespoons sherry; spread on buttered bread.

Arrange drained shrimp, halved olives and parsley over top. Sprinkle shrimp with pepper. Makes 4 open sandwiches.

The Cucumber

|------------------------------|
| 2 cucumbers |
| 1½ teaspoons salt |
| 6 slices whole wheat bread |
| 6 tablespoons soft butter |
| 3 hard cooked eggs |
| 12 canned pitted ripe olives |
| Sour Cream Whip |
| Sliced green onions |

Peel cucumbers, slice very thinly and sprinkle with salt. Chill 30 minutes or more; squeeze out excess moisture. Spread bread with butter.

Arrange cucumbers, sliced eggs and halved olives on bread. Top with Sour Cream Whip. Sprinkle with green onion.

Eat with knife and fork, spreading whip over top. Makes 6 open sandwiches. Sour Cream Whip: Mix ¼ cup dairy sour cream with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon thinly sliced green onion and ¼ teaspoon salt.

The Avocado

|---|
| ¼ cup soft butter |
| 1 tablespoon crumbled basil |
| 6 slices cornbread (homemade or commercial) |
| 6 crisply cooked bacon slices |
| 1 ripe avocado |
| 12 cherry tomatoes |
| 12 canned pitted ripe olives |
| Salt |
| Pepper |
| 1 lime |

Mix butter and basil; spread over cornbread. Arrange halved bacon strips, sliced avocado, halved tomatoes and olives on buttered cornbread. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Cut lime into sixths and garnish each sandwich with wedge. (Eaters squeeze lime juice over all sandwich ingredients.) Serve with knife and fork. Makes 6 open sandwiches.

The Orange Leek

|-----------------------------------|
| 6 tablespoons soft butter |
| 2½ teaspoons ground coriander |
| 3 slices dark unseeded rye bread |
| 1 (7-ounce) can tuna |
| 9 canned pitted ripe olives |
| 1 peeled and thinly sliced orange |

|-----------------------------------|
| 3 tablespoons thinly sliced leeks |
|-----------------------------------|

Mix butter and coriander; spread over bread. Arrange flaked tuna, quartered olives, sliced orange and leeks on bread. Makes 3 open sandwiches.

RIPE OLIVES—No longer relegated to a mere relish tray, canned California ripe olives are now considered real, honest to goodness food. They can be found in all sorts of main dishes, in foreign foods and—as seen here—in sandwich sensations. Towering over the scene is an Oliver, made with a big round loaf of French bread and filled with the sort of spicy foods that appeal to teen-agers. Other sandwich specialties (from the left) the Cucumber on whole wheat bread with Sour Cream Whip; the Orange Leek which is tuna with trimmings; the Avocado on corn; and the Shrimp which gets a tossing of sherry. In all, the ripe olive is king.

SIX POSSIBLE SITES — The site for a new $375-million atom smasher has been narrowed to six locations by the National Academy of Sciences. The six are at Ann Arbor; Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island; Madison, Wis.; Sierra foothills near Sacramento, Calif.; South Barrington or Weston, Ill.; and Denver.

1 of 6 Finalists

Ann Arbor Hails A-Smasher Possibility

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The world's largest atom smasher for Ann Arbor?

The city's business and industry hailed the possibility today as a boon to the economy.

On other scores, too, Ann Arbor's chance of getting the $375-million proton accelerator received acclaim, though it also was pointed out there would be problems.

Ann Arbor — specifically, Northfield Township, a wooded area a few miles north—was chosen Tuesday as one of six finalists from more than 200 original applicants across the nation.

SIX LOCATIONS

The National Academy of Sciences named Ann Arbor and five other sites in a list recommended to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The AEC has not indicated when it will make a decision. The academy's six recommendations are not binding on the AEC.

President Harlan Hatcher of the University of Michigan and Gov. George Romney expressed pleasure at the selection of Ann Arbor.

The university's presence, said, but he was quick also to add that it enjoys "broad, general support."

HONOR FOR STATE

Romney, in Boston at the time of the announcement, called it an honor for Michigan.

He said it reaffirmed Michigan's position "high on the list of top technical and research areas in the country."

Hatcher said the accelerator would be significant to education, science and research in Michigan.

"The accelerator," he said, "would serve as a tool to add greatly to man's knowledge of the physical sciences. We would be happy to be part of the achievement."

FIVE RIVALS

Michigan's five rivals for the site are Madison, Wis.; the Brookhaven National Laboratory area near Upton, N. Y.; Sacramento, Calif.; Denver, Colo., and the Chicago area.

Mayor Wendell Hulcher said if Ann Arbor finally is chosen it would "mean a lot to the city in terms of economic return."

"Some of our folks are not particularly anxious for it," he said, but he was quick also to add that it enjoys "broad, general support."

Hulcher said the project would "certainly fit the talent and capacities of our community." He said he referred to the scientific and research facilities not only of the university but area industries.

POPULATION

Ann Arbor's population is about 85,000.

Michigan's next step in its effort to get the giant accelerator remains to be determined.

Stuart Abbey, assistant director of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, said: "We expect to have another government team in to look at the site. At that time we'll provide material and information we feel would be helpful."

Talks to Eye Math for Job-Bound Youth

A different kind of mathematics program may be developed for Oakland County high school students who don't plan to attend college.

David Wells, director of mathematics for Oakland Schools, has announced a series of seven seminars for Oakland County educators to explore the kind of mathematics training that would be of greatest use to employment-bound youth.

Seminar speakers will be Dr. Milton Beckmann of the University of Nebraska, Dr. Joseph Payne and Albert Shulte of the University of Michigan and Dr. Eugene Smith of Wayne State University.

Also speaking will be Kenneth Kidd of the University of Florida, Mrs. Anita Hardeman of the Warren Consolidated Schools and Dr. Emil Berger of St. Paul, Minn., Public Schools.

The first seminar will be held April 12 at the offices of Oakland Schools.

WEIGH DESIRABILITY

Each of the speakers, Dr. Wells, said, has been asked if a special noncollege mathematics program is desirable and if it would be consistent with research on the needs of job-oriented young people.

The speakers will be expected to give Oakland County educators some direction on:

- Content and organization of a redesigned series of mathematics courses.
- Recommendations for teaching materials.
- Ideas on selection of teachers and students for the classes.
- "Something different than the college preparatory track is needed in mathematics," Dr. Wells said.

NO OPPORTUNITY

"Young people who are not enrolled in the college preparatory classes usually do not have the opportunity to take any mathematics course beyond the ninth grade.

"They are frequently unable to qualify for jobs because of poor knowledge of mathematics; these who are working have difficulty with some aspects of their jobs because they have forgotten the math they once learned."

The seminar is a first step toward developing a four-year course sequence in high schools for the 40 to 60 per cent of Oakland County youth who do not attend college.

Application for federal funds for a planning grant under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act will be the probable second step, according to Dr. Wells.

Suggestions from labor, business, industry and military services will be sought in creating the new curriculum.

Cong Patients Are Hate Object In U.S. Hospital

GI Patients Scorn 3 Wounded Cong

By TOM TIEDE

LONG BIEN, Viet Nam — (NEA) — At the end of the hospital corridor, three peculiar patients lie half-dead with a profusion of wounds.

The first has holes in his back, the second has holes in his front, and the third has holes almost everywhere.

They are wrapped in fresh but bloodied bandages. And each twitches in pain and discomfort.

At times, someone walks past, stops, stares, sneers and continues on.

Nurses administer efficiently, but with detachment.

Soldiers in other beds study the three with frozen expressions that fail to mask disgust.

This tortured trio has no friends here.

For they are the enemy ... the Viet Cong.

"Gad," says a GI, "they're ugly looking ain't they?"

"It's their smell I hate," another adds.

"What are they doing in our hospital anyway?"

"Who knows?"

"Be nice, fellas."

"Why?"

"The one don't look so good."

"Yeah, he's croaking."

NO LOSS

"Well, ain't that a shame!"

The patients are wounded prisoners of war.

They are among the hundreds, possibly thousands, of VC guerrillas who are scraped from the sand, evacuated from the front and then nursed back to life with American skill and, though sorely tested, American compassion.

The brass demands it, the doctors tolerate it, the nurses accept it, but the GI patients, understandably, detest it.

WHY NOT?

Explains Sgt. Dale Matters of Baltimore: "Why shouldn't I hate the little rats? Last week they were out in the field trying to kill me and they damn near succeeded!"

Indeed so. Matters' stomach was blown wide open by an enemy explosion.

He'll carry an eight-inch scar there for life.

"And you know the funny part?" he asks.

"What?"

DEMOLITIONS EXPERT

"The rat on the end there is a demolitions expert."

"Oh?"

"Yeah, he may have rigged up the one that got me."

Even more aggravating to Matters, and the other soldiers of this ward, is that the man on the other end is what they call a "two-time loser"—that is, twice captured.

The prisoner had been taken by American forces once before.

INDOCTRINATION

At that time he was handed over to South Vietnamese authorities, indoctrinated, schooled, given money, sworn to an oath of allegiance and then turned back into the countryside.

Once loose he kept the money but nothing else. In a matter of weeks he was a guerrilla again and the confused cycle began anew.

"It don't make no sense," a soldier says.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

"Yeah, he should've been killed the first time."

"Not necessarily," a Pfc. differs.

"Oh? Why?"

"He may be valuable property."

"How?"

"As an informant. Anyway we can't just let a guy die."

"He's right."

ONE QUESTION

"Maybe ... but I got just one question."

"What's that?"

"Would their side do the same for us?"

The men gab on. It helps a little.

Hating the three VC takes their mind off the hand that was amputated, or the stitches on the face that keep breaking open, or the buddy they left lying face down in a rice paddy.

NOT LIKELY

"Well?" somebody prods the Pfc. "what about it?"

Do you think their side would do the same for us?"

"No," the soldier answers.

"I don't guess their side would."

Students Must Develop Competence in Learning

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Everything changes, including concepts of education.

Seventy years ago, educators argued over how many years of Latin should be required in high school. Today's discussions revolve around the development of the student.

The time has passed when education can be a mere matter of imparting and absorbing.

To be educationally successful in the world of tomorrow, students must learn to develop competence in learning.

This will require new conceptions of children's learning and development, according to Ira J. Gordon, author of a chapter in the book, "Learning and Mental Health in the School," a new publication by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, National Education Association.

Education is not something done to an individual student but is something that takes place within the student.

LITTLE EFFECT

Consequently, a drill produces little beneficial effect unless the student's goal is to gain improvement through the drill. He must feel that the goal is worthwhile and attainable.

For example, writing a sentence 100 times may result in a loss of handwriting skill rather than an improvement.

Not until a student realizes that facility in handwriting is an asset to him will he wholeheartedly strive for improvement during the exercise.

Homework assignments, whether they be mathematics or history, should be accompanied by some discussion of what a student should be striving for during their preparation.

How a student learns to handle his mind is now being recognized as the most important element in learning. Intelligence is envisioned as the result of development not as a static, inflexible characteristic.

The ultimate goal of the new education is to make the student "self-actualizing." Although a younger child needs the discipline and support of parents and teachers who insist that he do his schoolwork in a satisfactory manner, he eventually should strive for his own improvement on his own power.

As Ira Gordon says: "A program for self-actualization must foster motivation to think creatively and critically about self and the world; ... Especially at the secondary level, a balanced, effective and intellectual growth will be encouraged so that personality development can parallel cognitive development."

It is interesting that the authors of this book hope for all-around development of the individual rather than placing their emphasis on the attainment of grades in subject matter alone.

FEWER CALORIES — Low-calorie peanuts are now being introduced in nation's stores. Process developed by U.S. Agriculture Department researchers removes much of calorie content by squeezing most of natural oil out of shelled peanuts. Process compresses Southeastern-grown Spanish peanuts (center), then restores them to normal size and shape (lower right).

Layer Beans and Spareribs

"Sparerib Sandwich" may be a far cry from what the Earl of Sandwich carried to the gaming tables, but it beats many a conventional sandwich in flavor and hunger-satisfaction.

To make this novel "sandwich," use two small racks of ribs weighing about 1½ pounds each or buy a large three-pound rack and cut it in half.

After the ribs are roasted almost done, layer them with canned pork and beans and a wonderful spicy sauce with hickory flavor catsup — an important ingredient.

No danger here that you wind up with a tasteless, dry "sandwich." Generous portions of the hickory catsup sauce prevent this.

Sparerib Sandwich
3 lbs. spareribs (2 sections, 1½ lbs. each)
1 cup hickory flavor catsup

1 cup water
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash Tabasco (optional)
1 (15-oz.) can pork and beans, drained

Bake ribs on rack in shallow baking pan at 350 degrees until ribs are almost done, about 1½ to 2 hours. While ribs are baking, combine catsup, water, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce, salt and Tabasco; stir until well blended.

Remove ribs from oven; pour off fat. Place one section of ribs back into pan and brush with sauce. Spoon on pork and beans and top with more sauce.

Arrange last section of ribs on top of beans; pour remaining sauce over. Bake at 325 degrees for ½ hour.

Press Reduces Oil Content of Peanuts

"Have you seen the new peanut products?" asks Michigan State University Consumer Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. "Have you seen low-calorie peanuts, peanut butter with crunchy bits that taste and look like crisp bacon, and peanut butter in unbreakable soft plastic jars?"

These new products are just a few of the many made from the 2.5 billion pounds of peanuts produced in 1965. The greatest single use for peanuts is peanut butter which Americans consume at the rate of half-a-billion pounds annually.

Weight watchers now can nibble on peanuts from which more than half the calories have been removed. The process was perfected at the USDA's Southern Utilization Research Laboratory in New Orleans.

The peanut calorie content is reduced by placing shelled peanuts in a hydraulic press and squeezing out most of the peanut's natural oil, which contains most of the calories. The peanuts retain their original flavor and high-protein content.

The first low-calorie peanuts on the market are Spanish peanuts, lighter in color than conventional peanuts, are slightly less salty and have a distinct crunchy texture.

Two new developments in peanut butter include the introduction of crunchy bits and a plastic container.

Smoky crisps are crunchy bits that taste very much like and look like crisp bacon. Actually they are a vegetable product made from soybeans. Since peanut butter and bacon flavors are a popular combination, smoky crisps in peanut

Cottage Cheese High in Proteins, Minerals

Once for once, cottage cheese offers almost the same food value as meat, making it a good substitute in meatless meals.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, cottage cheese is high in protein, and a good source of the vitamins and minerals found in meat and milk.

butter afford a convenient way to prepare sandwiches, spreads, etc.

When small children want to help themselves to peanut butter, mothers can now provide it in an unbreakable jar made of soft plastic. If the jar is dropped, it bounces instead of breaking. The new type of packaging is lighter to handle and requires less space on kitchen shelves.

According to nutritionists, peanut butter is one of the most nutritionally valuable foods available today. The USDA, in its analysis of commonly consumed foods, ranks peanut butter near the very top in at least six categories: protein, food energy, fats necessary to maintain body balance, phosphorus, thiamine and niacin.

The protein content is more than 26 per cent, which is higher than many cuts of meat and fish.

As new research and marketing techniques develop Americans will continue to enjoy peanuts in new forms and packages.

Butterscotch-Peanut Parfait
1 4-oz. pkg. butterscotch pudding and pie mix (not instant)
1½ cups (1 lb. can) evaporated milk
¾ cup water
¾ cup chunk style peanut butter
1 cup chopped salted peanuts

Combine pudding mix, evaporated milk and water in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter. Cover pan and chill thoroughly.

When ready to serve, alternate layers of pudding and chopped peanuts in parfait glasses. Or spoon pudding in serving dishes and generously cover with peanuts. Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Peantuty Dressing for Fruit Salad
2 tablespoons orange juice
¼ cup peanut butter
¼ cup prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ teaspoon grated orange peel

Gradually work orange juice into peanut butter. Add mustard, salt, sour cream and orange peel. Keep refrigerated until ready to serve over fruit salads.

Pot Roast Is Easy to Vary

Savory beef pot roast is a satisfying dinner dish to serve, and it's easy on the budget, too.

For variety, use liquids other than water in cooking the roast — tomato juice, for instance. After the meat has been browned in a little hot fat, add a small amount of tomato juice or tomato sauce diluted with water.

For extra flavor zip, add soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce or chopped onions to the liquid, the American Meat Institute suggests. Cover the pan tightly and simmer gently. Long, slow cooking will produce a pot roast that's sure to be a treat.

For Crisper Patties

When serving sausage patties for dinner, give them a crispy coating by dipping the patties in slightly beaten egg, then in crushed corn flakes.

What Lurks in Himalayas?

LONDON (UPI) — Eric Shipton, a shrewd and seasoned observer, was leading the end of the climbing probes that preceded the conquest of Mt. Everest, when he came across a clear trail of enormous, human-looking feet in the snow.

He and his fellow mountaineers followed the trail for a mile and then lost it on the ice.

That experience on Nov. 5, 1951, converted Shipton, one of the most experienced of Himalayan climbers, to a belief in the existence of whatever beast it is that has come down to us in modern mythology as "The abominable snowman."

Shipton's photographs of huge footprints the size of mountaineer's boots seemed hard to explain away, although many famous zoologists and scientists firmly suggested they were made by bears or a type of mountain monkey.

A number of scientists, however, considered Shipton's testimony in the light of other sightings of creatures and footprints near the roof of the world.

YET UNKNOWN? They added them all up to at least a possibility that an animal of an as yet unknown species makes its home high in some of the most inhospitable and inaccessible country on this planet.

Now the British Broadcasting Corp. is quietly asking scientists whether they would take part in a sort of track-in on the "Metho Kangri" — abominable (or filthy) snowman.

The idea is that the program, if it comes off, may produce some clue worth following up in the Himalayas.

A well-known authority on anthropology and apes told UPI he was among those approached. He said he was a believer in the abominable snowman and that a French scientist, also a believer, had also been asked to take part.

NOT CONCLUSIVE This scientist said the fact Texas oilman Tom Slick's expedition failed to find the beast in 1957 is not conclusive.

The giant panda, for example, is known to live in the Chinese forests but there are so few of them, it may take months to run one down.

"Therefore," he said, "consider how much harder it would be in the Himalayas especially if it should turn out to be a night creature."

During the successful Everest climb of 1953, Sir John Hunt was told by one of the senior abbots of Thyangboche monastery, 15 miles from the world's highest mountain, at 14,000 feet, that they occasionally saw snowmen on the heights above them.

CAME CLOSE He said one came within 300 yards once before it was frightened away by clashing cymbals and blowing trumpets.

He described it as over five feet with reddish-grey hair. It walked mainly upright but dropped to all fours when hurrying.

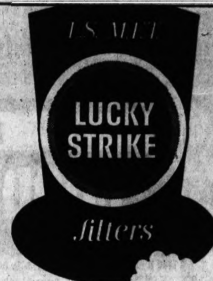

The kingdom of Nepal takes the reports seriously. In 1958, it forbade the killing of an abominable snowman except in self-defense.

And the Russians have mounted at least two expeditions to the Pamirs range to try to find Galub-Yavanna, as they call him.

PREACHING POLICEMAN — Edward V. Walter, 55, (right), is congratulated by Capt. Michael Gillespie upon his retirement from the Baltimore Police Department yesterday. Walter, the only ordained minister on the force before he retired last week, recalls spreading the gospel on street corners when he didn't know "whether to pull my gun or preach."

I said, "Show me a filter cigarette that really delivers taste and I'll eat my hat!"

a few instances when you should play low. One of the most frequent occurs when you know that your partner has opened the top of nothing and you can hang onto your high card with full knowledge that it will do absolutely no good to play it.

Oswald: "Today's hand is a good illustration of this type of play. South is in a four spade contract because he made it if he trumps break, respectively of the location of the king of diamonds."

Jim: "West has no satisfactory lead anywhere. In such circumstances a doubler lead is not apt to do any harm and may do some good. Anyway, he does open the eight of diamonds. Declarer will surely cover with one of dummy's higher cards, probably with the queen. He wants to do his best to get East to play the king if he holds it."

Oswald: "It should be just easy for East to play low in this spot as if he were looking at all the cards. The eight could not be second best and no one leads away from an ace-jack combination against a suit contract."

Jim: "If East plays low South goes down one. He is unlucky

Backing Withheld by Dems' State Unit

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic State Central Committee has taken an official hands-off position on the party's U.S. Senate primary contest.

In a statement Tuesday, officers said they would meet with representatives of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh to work out ground rules covering such items as access to the party newspaper.

State Central said county and district organizations are free to endorse if they choose but said party meetings should be open to all primary candidates whether endorsed or not.

A charter application was filed with the state banking department.

Oswald points out to Jim that deliberate failure by third hand to play a high card, not necessarily the high card, but some high card, is known as finesse against your partner and is one of the more expensive bad habits a player can acquire.

Senate Unit Told Michigan Should Boost Tourism

LANSING (AP) — Tourist industry spokesmen told a Senate subcommittee Tuesday that the state should do more to boost Michigan tourism.

Their presentation to the Senate Appropriations Committee's tourism subcommittee was in support of a proposed $100,000 appropriation to Michigan State University's department of hotel, restaurants and institutional management for expanded tourist services.

John Bolhuis, executive vice president of the Michigan Restaurant Association, told Sen. Joseph Mack's subcommittee that in 1965 tourists contributed more than $65 million in taxes but that less than $1 million was spent by government to attract tourists or render service to small tourist businessmen.

Man Gets Prison Term in $55,415 Robbery

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Robert A. Windom, 42, was sentenced Tuesday to 7 1/2 years in prison following his conviction on armed robbery charges in the $55,415 holdup of a Grand Rapids supermarket last September. Judge John H. Vandavel of Kent County Circuit Court imposed the sentence. Windom was convicted Feb. 2.

'Food for Freedom' Law Called Necessary

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The "food for freedom" law must be passed by Congress if the world is to win the war with hunger, says U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Freeman told a farm group the law would increase capital and technical assistance as well as expand food shipments to foreign countries.

READY FOR ROLE — A London makeup artist makes adjustments on the face of American actor Tony Bill before he played in the title role of "Lee Oswald — Assassin." The play, televised in England recently by the BBC, drew generally unfavorable reviews, but Bill's performance was praised.

Image Is No Worry to Oswald Portrayer

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "A lot of my friends and advisers told me the role would be bad for my image," said young Tony Bill. "But since I didn't know what my image was, I couldn't have cared less."

The San Diego-born, Notre Dame-educated actor has just returned from England, where he played the title role in a BBC drama, "Lee Oswald — Assassin."

The play drew generally unfavorable reviews from the London critics. A few found some excitement in the re-creation of the events of that 1963 November. But the general consensus declared the show unsatisfying and muddled.

"I must say this is one occasion when I never agreed with the critics more," said Bill. "We rehearsed the show in a drill hall, the BBC having neglected to provide rehearsal stages in their new headquarters."

PLAY PROCEDURE
"Then we went into the studio and taped the whole show as if it were a stage play, from beginning to end without a break. It's difficult to achieve much quality that way."

Yet Tony Bill came off well in the reviews: "Lent the character a considerable depth" (Times); "An icy triumph" (Express); "Excellent cast" (Manchester Guardian); "Powerful performance" (Mirror); "Something to remember" (Evening News).

Such plaudits made the job worth it, said the actor. "Whenever an actor does a good job, it is bound to help his career."

Even when he is portraying an arch-villain of the century?

MUCH SORROW
"Of any century," Bill corrected. "I don't believe any one man in history caused so much immediate and personal sorrow to as many people throughout the world as did Lee Harvey Oswald."

"Perhaps playing him wasn't good for my image, whatever that may be. But I think a lot of actors spend too much time worrying about their image and too little time trying to get roles."

The Oswald role resulted from the alertness of Bill's London agent, who heard about the play and submitted a television show as an example of the actor's work. Bill was hired and did so well that he was held over for another BBC play by Gore Vidal.

"I also went out to see the film that Charlie Chaplin was directing," Bill reported. "He wanted to put me in the picture, but I couldn't get a work permit."

SERIOUS CHAP
A slim, serious chap with a mop of brown hair, Tony hit it big in his first film as Frank Sinatra's younger brother in "Come Blow Your Horn."

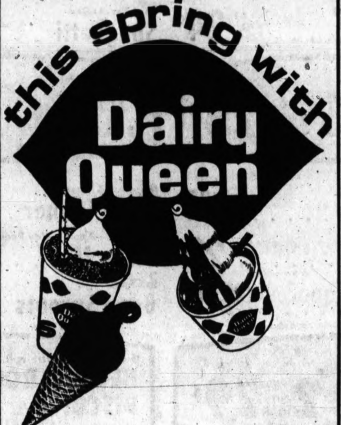

Asylum Sought by Castro (Wrong One)

TOKYO (AP) — Raul Castro wants political asylum in the United States, the Tokyo Metropolitan Police said today, but it's not the Raul Castro the U.S. government would be happiest to have as a defector.

The police said this one is the 39-year-old chief engineer of the Cuban freighter Sierra Maestra, not Cuba's armed forces minister who is also Prime Minister Fidel Castro's younger brother.

The police said the merchant marine officer left his ship Monday in Muroan, went to the U. S. consulate in Sapporo and asked for political asylum.

He said Valachi would be treated "just like the other inmates except for the special precautions we have had to take for him. He will eat in his cell and not with the others. We had to prepare a special unit for him, but it could have been for any other prisoner who needed this kind of protection. At the time we prepared it, we did not know Valachi was coming."

Named to AP's Class C Quintet

Conrad Kroglecki, a 5-11, 170-pound guard capped an outstanding basketball career at Orchard Lake St. Mary today with his selection to the Associated Press' Class C All-State team.

The quick, diminutive jump-shot artist is the smallest player named to the 10-man team and is the first basketball all-star at the Polish-speaking priests' prep school.

Kroglecki is joined on the select team by three unanimous choices, including one who made of unanimous selections by a single vote.

Others named to the third annual dream team were Dick Horgan of Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart, Bob Plesko of Frankemuth, Steve Butler of Onsted, and George Hankowitz of Scottville.

Kroglecki was a three-year regular at guard for Ol. St. Mary and helped the Eagles to a 48-14 over-all record, two Northwest Catholic League titles, a runner-up finish in the second division playoffs of the Detroit Catholic League, and the finals of a state regional tournament this month.

His three year scoring average went from 11.5 in 1963-64 to 13.0 in 1964-65, to 21.3 in 1965-66. This was crowned with a 28-point performance and a 25.5 average in this month's state tournament.

Kroglecki also was chosen the most valuable player in the second division playoffs last month, and captained the Eagles with John Stiepen, who received honorable mention in the all-state balloting.

White averaged more than 20 points a game and picked off almost 30 rebounds to spark Middletown to an unbeaten regular season.

Smith is the second best scorer in Flint history, averaging 27.9 points a game. He scored 49 points against Willow Run, a Class B team, and averaged 21.5 rebounds a game.

Gerrard ranked sixth among all scorers in the Upper Peninsula, notching 393 through the regular season for a 24.6 average.

Dillard averaged 23.6 points and was the team leader for a Visitation team whose only loss prior to the state tournament was to Class A Austin.

Horgan, another repeater from last year's team, connected on 50 per cent of his shots from the floor and was the team leader in assists.

Plesko, playing for the top-ranked Frankemuth team, scored 445 points in 19 games and averaged an average of 18 rebounds.

Butler averaged 17 points and 14 rebounds a game and was such a good defensive player that he usually played against the opposing team's top scorer.

Hankowitz collected more than 25 points and 14 points a game for Scottville which quickly caught on as the Cinderella team of the high school tournament.

McLain, Horton Spark Tigers

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Denny McLain wasn't as strong as he thought he was and Willie Horton not as weak as he said he was.

But despite their "faults," the Detroit Tigers defeated the New York Yankees 7-4 for their sixth straight Grapefruit League victory Tuesday.

Dave Wickenscham came on and forced in two more runs via walks before getting Roger Maris on a game-ending fly to center.

FIRST TIME

"That's the first time I ever walked anyone to force in a run," McLain said. "And I'm counting everything, high school little league and the minors."

"I was bused when I went out there for the ninth inning. That no good Mickey Lolich probably will go all the way tomorrow (against Atlanta) just to show me up," he added with a laugh.

Horton highlighted a five-run Detroit first inning with a grand slam home run that cleared everything in sight as it rocketed over the left-center-field fence at the 332-foot mark.

"I just feel weak, that's all," Horton said. "I don't care how far it carried. I just don't feel right yet."

Horton's homer, and one immediately after by Don Demeter, came off Yankee starter Jim Bouton.

Al Kaline led off the Detroit third inning with a solo homer. The Tigers added another at Bouton's expense in the same inning when Horton walked, went to third on Don Wert's single and scored on Orlando McFarlane's sacrifice fly.

Rockie left-hander Fritz Peterson, who went five innings, and Steve Hamilton, another left, limited the Tigers to a double by Demeter and a single by Kaline after that.

Roy White hit a lead-off homer and Bobby Murcer singled in the first inning off McLain.

After that, the 22-year-old right-hander set the Yankees down without a hit until Ray

Barker singled with two out in the seventh.

Chuvalo's 12 defeats, however, wouldn't count against him if he scores the upset.

The WBA recognizes Ernie Terrell as its world champion and the Ontario Boxing Commission is a member of the WBA.

That's why Merv McKenzie, head of the commission and a former president of the WBA, won't permit title billing to the fight in the Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

It hasn't deterred the promoters. They are calling it The Fight of the Century or The Fight of Champions.

Whitney secured his Ontario license and passed his physical examination yesterday. He signed the contract for the fight after a closed-door session with McKenzie.

NO RETURN

McKenzie said that Ontario officials — a referee and two judges — will be employed for the 15-round. He said further there is no provision in the contract for a return bout. It was Clay's signing for a return contract with Liston that led to his detention by the WBA.

With the fight only six days away, Chuvalo scaled 212 pounds, only three over what he plans to weigh for the fight, according to trainer Ted McInerney.

Clay, who hit McInerney's beam at 225 when he arrived here last Friday, reportedly is getting close to the 215 he wants to carry for the fight.

SINGLES TIE

Gene Rutkowski of Buffalo, N.Y., had games of 236-190-225 and a total of 641 in regular singles for a 100-place tie with Birmingham's Charles Beaver.

The Lewisburg, Pa., tandem of Robert Herbst and Donald Miller took 10th in regular doubles with an 1185 score.

Lowest shot 613 and Miller 572.

Herb Kunker and Levi Crawford, deaf-mute friends since early childhood, made a fast start in the doubles when they bagged a 477 in the first game, but the Aurora, Ill., pair fell off in their last two lines for 1129.

Bill Dudley Is Selected

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) —

George McAfee, who starred in Chicago's historic 7-0-0 pasting of Washington in the 1940 National Football League championship game, will be inducted this summer along with seven other greats into the National Football Hall of Fame.

McAfee, a Duke graduate who now officiates NFL games, Bill Dudley, Joe Guyon, Arnie Herber, Walt Kiesling, Steve Owen, Hugh (Shorty) Ray and Clyde (Bud) Turner, were chosen unanimously to the four-year-old shrine.

Kiesling, Owen, and Ray are deceased. The five surviving inductees will be honored here in ceremonies scheduled for Aug. 27, it was announced Tuesday.

Owen, whose umbrella defense revolutionized the game and is still in use today, served the New York Giants as player and coach for 28 years. Owen, who had a knack for developing outstanding players from obscure talent, attended Little Phillips University in Oklahoma.

Dudley was an all-around backfield for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Detroit Lions and Washington Redskins, and led the NFL in rushing and returning punts and kickoffs.

"Bullet Bill" played his collegiate ball at Virginia, where he scored 134 points in 1941.

Guyon, a standout performer at Carleton and Georgia Tech and later with several pro clubs, was a blocking back for Jim Thorpe, one of the 31 members already in the shrine.

Turner, a two-way performer for the Chicago Bears, coached pro football until 1962, when he retired to his ranch in Texas. Building earned his nickname from his bone crushing tackling as a linebacker and breaking blocks as a center.

Herber is best known for his playpassing to Green Bay teammate Don Hutson, a charter member of the hall of fame and one of the greatest receivers ever in the NFL.

Kiesling, a journeyman tackle who played with more than a half dozen pro clubs, attended college at St. Thomas, Minn. A rough lineman, Kiesling later became a top-notch coach.

Ray didn't contribute to the NFL on the football field, but in his office where he streamlined the sport in his capacity as NFL technical adviser and officials supervisor. Ray, of Illinois, held the post from 1939 to 1956.

Win Squeaker in AAU

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Dearborn and Bartlesville, Okla., won hard-earned semifinal games against Akron, Ohio, and Denver, respectively Tuesday night and face off tonight for the championship of the National AAU Basketball Tournament.

Akron and Denver will battle it out for third place beginning at 7:30 p.m., MST, and the championship game starts at 9:00 p.m.

The Dearborn-Akron game ended at 84-81 and the Bartlesville-Denver contest finished at 69-57.

Confidence nearly lost the prize for Dearborn, which led by a comfortable 74-59 lead with 3:30 left in the game. Coach Horace Walker pulled out University of Michigan stars Cazzie Russell and Oliver Darden only to see Akron surge back into contention.

Dan Sitz of Tennessee lit the fuse by scoring 10 points and Akron stormed back to a two-point lag, 63-61, with just four seconds remaining.

OFFENS PRESS

Dearborn sprang Russell and the Michigan great powered the ball up from the backcourt through the jaws of a vise-like Akron press.

With a scant three seconds left, Dearborn's Larry Tregon was fouled and made good on the second of his free throw attempts to provide the final margin.

Laver, who rallied to beat Mike Davies of Britain, 44, 6-3, 4-1, will oppose Earl Bookholz of St. Louis in Thursday's round of eight.

Hand will meet third-seeded Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles after disposing of Alex Olmedo, also of Los Angeles, 6-3, 8-4.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Russ Nagelson slammed a pair of home runs in leading Ohio State to a 7-3 college baseball victory over Michigan State Tuesday.

Both of Nagelson's homers, good for four runs, came off of Spartan pitcher Fred Devereux. The victory evened the series between the two teams at 1-1. They meet here again today.

NEW YORK (AP) — The old standards were played on the organ as always. Out on the court three other old standbys also played — for the last time in Madison Square Garden.

But for player-coach Richie Guerin and Cliff Hagan of the St. Louis Hawks there still are the National Basketball Association playoffs before they finish their careers.

For Tom Gola of the New York Knickerbockers it was the end — the end of a brilliant individual chapter in basketball, one which saw the Philadelphia native make All-America three times in LaSalle, play on the NBA champion and be named to five NBA All-Star teams.

Long Distance Win

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI) — Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., won his second long distance race in three days Tuesday night when he beat Australia's Ron Clarke in a two-mile event with a time of 8:34.0.

Grelle, who won a 1500-meter challenge race at Melbourne last Sunday, came on with a surge in the stretch to nip Clarke after the Australian had set the early pace. Clarke, holder of seven world records, finished in 8:34.5.

For N. Y.'s Mantle

Training Brings Pain

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle dug his spikes into the dirt, pumped his bat, and as the pitch broke down and over the plate, took a half swing that immediately left his face contorted in pain.

It's the same sign that has been on Mantle's face many times during his 15-year major league career. But in addition to the serpent-shaped scar on the right shoulder that still prevents him from lashing out at a pitch, Mantle is carrying an additional burden this year.

Some eight weeks have slipped by since his operation and Mantle still does not know if he will be able to play this season. Ask him and he says frankly: "I can't

U.S. Auto Makers Dueling Europeans

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — The second round of the 1966 battle among U.S. and European auto makers to see who can build the fastest sports cars will be fought here Saturday in the Sebring 12-hour endurance race. And it seems strange in this arena where Ferrari, Maserati and Jaguar waged so many tense duels in the past that an American car is at last in position to grab the world lead.

In last month's 24-hour Continental at Daytona Beach, first race in the 1966 series, Ford jumped into the lead as Ken Miles and Lloyd Ruby drove a big GT40 to victory.

Ford will be favored to make it two big ones in a row when some 70 cars growl away from the starting line at 10 a.m., EST, Saturday before 65,000 Sebring spectators.

Daytime practice runs were scheduled today and Thursday over the hazardous 5.3-mile Sebring course laid out over the roads and runways of an abandoned World War II air base.

Both Ford and Chevrolet were given better than even chances against the Italian Ferraris, the blood-red wonder cars that for years have dominated the world's road racing courses.

SIX OF SEVEN
Enzo Ferrari, the Italian builder, won his first Sebring race in 1956. After Maseratis scored a 1-2 victory, the following year, Ferrari won six out of the next seven, once sweeping all six top positions.

In 1964, American-made cars made a showing for the first time. Ferraris ran 1-5-2 but three Ford Cobras followed in order.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Clay Edgess, Los Angeles heavyweight, slugged his way into the quarter-finals with a first round technical knockout Tuesday night but two defending champions, both from Detroit, fell in the 39th annual Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

Hodges, a 24-year-old Southern California night student, subdued Joseph Pera of Roswell, N.M. in 1:40 of the first round.

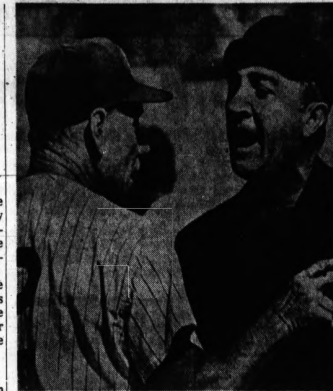

Light heavyweight Larry Charleston and middleweight Al Jones, a pair of defending champions from Detroit, were upset in second round matches.

Charleston gained a first-round decision over Art Cruz of Roswell, N.M., but was eliminated in the second round when he lost a decision to Richard Steele of Los Angeles.

Jones opened with a first-round technical knockout over Tom Beedle of Des Moines but lost on a TKO in 55 seconds of the second round of his second-round match with William Douglas Jr. of Huntington, W.Va.

"THE LIP" WARMS UP — Leo Durocher, back in baseball managerial ranks after a 10-year lapse, warms up his vocal cords during an argument with plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas at Long Beach, Calif., yesterday. Pelekoudas seems to be holding his own with the Chicago Cubs' skipper, who has had a lot of experience in this phase of the baseball game. Durocher was disputing a poutout that cost the Cubs a run. It didn't matter, however, as the Cubs beat the San Francisco Giants, 4-2.

Milwaukee Politician Heats Baseball Case

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The owners of conspiring to use Milwaukee's fire-eating county board chairman has breathed new life into the trial of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball. The proceedings, slowed to a walk by the laborious reading of previously publicized depositions, came alive Tuesday when outspoken Eugene H. Grobbschmidt was called to the stand by the defense and declared an adverse witness.

Grobbschmidt, most voluble of local politicians in the hullabaloo over the Braves' planned transfer to Atlanta after 12 years in Milwaukee, admitted that he had called Board Chairman William C. Bartholomay and President John McCalla of the Braves and National League President Warren Giles liars.

But he denied that he had continuously advocated harassment of the club.

NO APOLOGY
He acknowledged that he had publicly asked whether "some one was trying to make the Braves look bad." He admitted saying it in 1964 and again in 1965. And denied emphatically that he had apologized for the remark.

Grobbschmidt heads the government body which operates County Stadium where the Braves played. The Braves and other NL owners have cited his public utterances to back up their contention that the "unhealthy" political climate in the Milwaukee was a factor that led the club to ask the league in 1964 for permission to transfer the franchise.

Wisconsin, in the suit being tried in circuit court, accuses the owners of conspiring to use Milwaukee's fire-eating county board chairman has breathed new life into the trial of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball. The proceedings, slowed to a walk by the laborious reading of previously publicized depositions, came alive Tuesday when outspoken Eugene H. Grobbschmidt was called to the stand by the defense and declared an adverse witness.

Giants Find Solution; Dodgers Still Bargain

By United Press International

That's the latest development from the training camps of the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers as the two managements continued their efforts Tuesday to sign baseball's three best pitchers.

The Giants succeeded in signing their ace right-hander Juan Marichal after a 23-day holdout, but even a personal call from Dodger President Walter O'Malley failed to budge Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale in their negotiations.

Marichal, who posted a 22-13 record last season and finished second to Koufax in earned run average with a 2.14, signed for a little more than $70,000.

The "Domestic Dandy" had been holding out for $80,000 but settled for a compromise agreement.

Meanwhile, both the Giants and Dodgers continue to founder in the exhibition games.

San Francisco, which won its first six games of the spring, dropped its fifth straight Tuesday, losing to the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

WINNING BLOW
Bobby Wine's 12th-inning homer gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles as the Dodgers dropped their eighth game in 10 starts.

In other games: Ken McMullen's seventh-inning homer broke a 7-7 tie and handed the Washington Senators an 8-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Jackie Warner drove in three runs with a homer and single to pace the California Angels to an 11-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Woody Held belted a two-run homer in the seventh inning to give the Baltimore Orioles a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets. Art Mahaffey pitched scoreless two-hit ball for four innings and Pat Corrales and Alex Johnson had five hits between them to hand the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-4 victory over Cincinnati.

Pinch-hitter Frank Bolling drove in the tying and winning runs with a single in the eighth inning to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 4-3 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

Mild Weather Boosts Special Trout Season

Certain Waters Open
April 2 for Rainbows;
Runs Under Way

Fishermen who open the special season on rainbow and brown trout April 2 will find more of these spawning fish in the designated rivers than on past early openings.

The early breakup of ice and warm spell has started steelheads (rainbows) running on several Lower Peninsula rivers. If the warm weather continues, runs in the U.P. may start earlier than normal.

Last year on opening day, few spawners were in the rivers because of the extended winter. Good fishing didn't start until around April 15.

Listed for early hook and line fishing are nearly 80 northern inland waters, the Great Lakes, Lake St. Clair, and the St. Clair, Detroit and St. Mary rivers (not including the Saginaw).

Here is a county by county rundown of northern inland waters which will be open to early action under this spring's special season:

Illegal Vehicle Use Hit

The Conservation Department is going to crack down on the illegal use of motor vehicles in state parks and recreation areas of Oakland County.

S. Jerome Bronson, county prosecutor, has assured the department his full cooperation.

"We had a terrible time last weekend," said district parks supervisor Alfred Masala, "Motorcycles and motorcycles were going all over the place."

The law states that motor vehicles can be operated only on designated roadways and parking areas in parks and recreation areas, according to Masala.

"It's when they start tearing around hillsides and through woods on motorcycles and in jeeps that we have a big headache. These machines cause erosion problems and destroy plant life."

Bronson also pointed out that foot trails and bicycle trails in recreation areas are designed for the "specific use."

"When conservation officers call infractions to the attention of our office, prosecutions will result," said Bronson.

Gun Preview Slated Sunday

The first public showing of new firearms and accessories will take place Sunday at the Williams Gun Sight Co.

All major manufacturers will be represented, including Winchester, Remington, Savage, Weaver, Marlin Arms, Pacific Gun Sight, Norma, Ruger, Lyman, RCBS and Dupont.

Called the Michigan Gun Show, the doors will open at 10 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Williams Gun Sight Co. is located on Lapeer Road, two miles east of Davison. There is no charge.

Noted firearm experts who will be in attendance include Major George Nonte, technical editor of Shooting Times, and Elmer Keith, editor of Guns and Ammo.

For Pistol Shooters

Opens Range to Public

The Oakland County Sports-Rifle Association certified pistol instructor on the range as well as club members to give instruction in the wise handling of handguns and to render whatever assistance is needed.

The indoor range is located at the OCS club grounds on Waterford Road, a half mile east of Dixie Highway.

"The range is being opened because of the recent increase in accidents involving pistols," said OCS member Michael J. Smith, 6213 Wilson, Waterford Township.

"Private police organizations and private citizens are welcome to use these facilities," he said.

"There will be a National

Turtle Trapping Rules

The Conservation Department advises there is no restriction on size, season or number of turtles. A fishing license must be in possession if traps are used and the owner must have his name and address on each trap in addition to notifying a conservation officer before making the sets.

FROUD LASS—Carol Lorenz, 1888 Lakewood, has reason to be proud. The 16-year-old lass caught this 53-pound sailfin while fishing out at North Miami Beach. She entered it in the general division of the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament.

Stock Coho Salmon Two Weeks Early

HONOR IN—Because of Michigan's springlike weather, the State Conservation Department started planting some 550,000 Coho Salmon in two West Michigan streams yesterday.

April 2 originally was set as the date to introduce the silvery fighting sports fish in the Platte River near Honor and in Bear Creek near Kaleva.

SMOTC Sets Spring Match

Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club's sanctioned spring fun match will be April 24 at Bloomfield Hills High School.

Dogs can be entered in the following classes up to 10:45 a.m. the day of the show:

Novice A and B, graduate novice, open A and B, utility, sub-novice, brace and versatility. Judges will be David Riglot, Eleanor Bennett, Ray Chisness and Bill Wells.

Judging will get under way at 11 a.m.

The Jackson Canine Training Club has scheduled its annual fun match for this Sunday at Courtney Ford, 1122 E. Michigan, Jackson. Entries will be taken starting at 9 a.m.

Judging will begin at 10:45 a.m. Three novice, two open and one utility obedience classes will be judged. In addition, there will be conformation matches for all groups.

Don Lawicki of Wallied Lake will judge German Shepherds.

Also being released early are some 100,000 steelhead trout.

"The salmon are at the ideal size and age right now for release at what is supposed to be the peak of their migration instincts," fish division spokesman Wayne Tody said Monday.

"We'll have to plant them so they'll go downstream after the spring runoff or they might not go."

"The frost... has gone out of the swamps, the snow is gone, water temperature has passed 46 degrees. We can't wait."

The Coho is being introduced in hopes of establishing a new sport and commercial fish in the Great Lakes. The planted fish are expected to grow rapidly in Lake Michigan, and the first small males should return to their home streams in the fall of 1967. They were hatched and reared in Michigan from eggs obtained from Oregon.

Another planting of some 250,000 Coho salmon is scheduled in the Big Huron River emptying into Lake Superior but is awaiting the departure of Upper Peninsula winter conditions.

Muskegon Truck Driver Dies in Freeway Crash

DOUGLAS (AP) — William Moot, 48, of Muskegon, was killed today, State Police reported, when his truck struck one parked along the northbound lane of I 196 near Douglas, jackknifed and burst into flames. Trucker Gerald Jakob, 28, of West Allis, Wis., said he had pulled his truck onto the road shoulder for a nap and was jacked awake by the crash.

Did Good Job, Says Teacher

'Masquerade Forced by Criminal Record'

DETROIT (AP) — Andre Pickett, accused of teaching under another man's credentials, said Tuesday he assumed the identity of an Alabama boyhood chum to get a teaching job in Detroit.

Pickett allegedly used the college transcript of Jacob Cook, a Chicago social worker, to get a job in Detroit 18 months ago.

The masquerade was discovered Monday.

"I was sorry all the while," said Pickett from his Wayne County jail cell. "But I never actually used his (Cook's) name as the basis for my being a teacher. I don't think there's any question about my doing a good job."

"I knew I was qualified and I just had to use another name because I knew I had no chance of teaching with a criminal record," he added.

Pickett was arrested while teaching an English course at Pelham Junior High School on Monday.

He said he thought he would never be uncovered, "and I never felt it was a crime," he said. Pickett said he planned to abandon teaching soon and try his hand at free lance writing.

"I know English," he said, "and I feel I have a lot to say."

Hunt Source of Gas That Overcame 50

TRENTON (AP) — Investigators today sought the cause of the gas that overcame or otherwise affected about 50 men at McLouth Steel Corp.'s plant Tuesday.

Gas seeped through a plant area as a blast furnace was being replaced by an outside contractor, a McLouth spokesman said. Only the contractor's employees were affected, he said.

The victims were taken to three hospitals. Three men were detained for observation.

Gaming Exam Is Postponed for 2 Weeks

Preliminary examination of the men charged with violation of state gambling laws was postponed two weeks yesterday in a wrangle between prosecuting and defense attorneys over validity of a search warrant.

Robert J. Breen, 27, of 2465 S. Baldwin, Orion Township, and Wayne C. Brock, 27, of 33 W. Brooklyn face three counts each stemming from an early-morning raid Feb. 18 by Oakland County Sheriff's officers.

Orion Township Justice Helmut Stenback originally set examination of the two for yesterday but reset the hearing for April 6 after the dispute developed.

Defense attorneys contended "betting paraphernalia" confiscated by detectives in the raid did not constitute adequate grounds for a search warrant issued by the prosecutor's office.

Picked up inside Breen's home, alleged site of the operation, were several packs of playing cards, seven cases of beer, and $985 cash taken from Breen.

Fifteen men and two women apprehended with Breen and Brock pleaded guilty the next day to charges of loitering in a house of ill fame.

NEWTON, Ga. (AP) — Baker County officials are considering moving this entire low-rent city a quarter mile to higher ground.

Two weeks ago, the business section of the community of 529 was swamped with five feet of Flint River water, and damage was estimated at $150,000.

Large City Death Threat Laid to Smog

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — Some 10,000 persons may die prematurely in the near future due to smog blanketing one of the large cities of the world.

Prime targets for such a disaster are New York, Los Angeles, London, Santiago, Chile or Hamburg, Germany.

The early deaths will come to those already weakened by other diseases, particularly such respiratory problems as asthma and bronchitis.

The time is ripe for some large city to be trapped underneath the deadly blanket of dry, acid-laden air known as smog. Dr. Walter Orr Roberts, director of the National Center for Atmospheric Research, Boulder, Colo., said in an interview here.

One implication of his prediction is that such a catastrophe may be the only way to alert the peoples in the world's industrialized countries to the increasing menace of pouring uncounted tons of debris into the atmosphere.

BRING DEMAND
If it did happen, there might well be a demand from the public to halt the needless, thoughtless contamination of life-sustaining air.

Heavy and long-lasting smogs have occurred before.

Donora, Pa., was smothered with fumes and smoke for several days in 1948. London was similarly blanketed in 1952, an "incident" that took at least 4,000 lives.

Marines Volunteer to Stay in Viet Nam

CAMP LEJUNE, N.C. (AP) — The Marine Corps commandant says more than 2,000 Marines have voluntarily extended their tours of duty in Viet Nam.

Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr. also told a news conference that 14,000 men drafted into the Corps are working out very well. He said the draftees "take hold of the job assigned to them without complaining."

Downtown Redevelopment Hopes Take a Giant Step

Plans to provide the "mag-nificent solution" for redevelopment of downtown Pontiac urban renewal land moved a vital step forward last night.

After a 20-minute closed door meeting, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. announced receipt of a written offer from A. Alfred Taubman, including a $250,000

"good faith" deposit, for the proposed redevelopment.

The deposit would be tendered upon the city's approval of the preliminary Taubman proposal.

Much of the details of the redevelopment plan remain to be worked out.

Taylor said the city intended to proceed carefully.

Taubman proposes a land lease agreement with the city for certain downtown renewal land, the confines of which are still to be determined.

The land lease would run for 50 years and incorporate five 10-year options to renew. A flat annual rental would be paid to the city.

Taubman plans to erect an "enclosed mall regional shopping center." He intends to lease only the land on which the buildings would stand.

Maintenance and repair of the buildings would be done by the tenant. The tenant would pay real estate taxes based upon the building improvements only.

The offer last night by the Taubman Co. of Detroit is one of the first concrete steps toward redevelopment of vacant downtown urban renewal property since negotiations commenced last summer.

Taylor said a traffic study ordered by the city has been stepped up and a report was expected within five weeks.

The mayor said the next step would be for Taubman to furnish a detailed plot plan.

This plan would designate the area to be devoted to parking.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said that the total cost of the land, including the buildings and parking, is estimated in the neighborhood of $8 million.

Warren indicated the city would be covered by a long-term loan on the private money.

Red Chinese Snub Russian Invitation to Moscow Meeting

TOKYO (AP)—Red China angrily rejected today a Soviet invitation to the Communist party congress in Moscow, charging the Russians slandered the Chinese by sending a letter to other parties "instigating them to join you in opposing China."

Shortly after Radio Peking made the announcement, the Albanian radio said Albania would boycott the congress, and accused Soviet leaders of "insolence, big power chauvinism and anti-Semitism." Little Albania is Red China's sole ally in Europe.

Whether Red China would attend the Moscow congress opening next Tuesday had been a question.

The terms of the rejection, dated yesterday, seemed to say the anti-Chinese letter the Soviet Union sent to Communist parties throughout the world was the main factor in the decision.

The Soviet congress is expected to widen the split between the Soviet Union and Red China, although it is possible nothing will leak out until later.

MANY TO ATTEND

Outside Red China and Albania, most of the world's Communist parties are expected to be represented.

The Chinese Communist Central Committee signed the rejection in answer to a Soviet invitation Feb. 24.

The Chinese said the Central Committee "cannot send its delegation to attend this congress of yours."

The Chinese charged the Soviet invitation was "merely a gesture . . . sent with ulterior motives."

'WRONG, ILLEGAL'

It demanded the Soviet party "openly admit the convening of the Moscow meeting is wrong and illegal."

MSU Prof Quits GOP Senate Race

LANSING (AP)—Michigan State Prof. Leroy Augenstein pulled out of the Republican U.S. Senate primary today with a paring blast at closed primaries, but a pledge of support for the GOP.

He listed insufficient funds the emergence of a Democratic Senate contest and opposition of party leaders as his reasons for withdrawing from the fight he entered last September.

Designation last month of Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., as the organization's preferred candidate dented Augenstein's campaign.

FBI Is Probing Inquiry by GM

Try to Find if Federal Crime Committed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI today pressed efforts to determine if a federal crime was committed in what Senate investigators call a General Motors Corp. "smear campaign" against one of its harshest critics—author Ralph Nader.

Justice Department sources said the first phase of the FBI inquiry was complete, and its findings were being evaluated before a decision is made on whether further action was needed.

Nader, 31, contends girls and gumshoes were part of an effort to intimidate him before he testified before the Senate Auto Safety subcommittee Feb. 2. The senators requested an FBI investigation.

Intimidation of a congressional witness is a federal crime. Conviction can mean heavy fines and jail sentences.

GM President James M. Roche apologized yesterday for a GM inquiry into Nader's background and acknowledged it had strayed into personal portions of his life that had little bearing on his views of the auto industry. His apology came in an appearance before the subcommittee.

French Move May Endanger West—LBJ

Johnson Says Allies Must Stick Together to Preserve NATO

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson warned the Atlantic allies today that French President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to reform their alliance could imperil the security of France and endanger the safety of the Western world.

While he expressed confidence that the United States and 13 allies will stick together to preserve the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, without France if necessary, Johnson said:

"If our collective effort should falter—and our common determination be eroded—the foundations of the Atlantic's present stability would be shaken."

"The mightiest arsenal in the world will deter no aggressor who knows his victims are too divided to decide and too unready to respond. That was the lesson of two world wars."

"Yet a nation—not by the action of her friends, but by her own decision to prepare and plan alone—could still imperil her own security by creating a situation in which response would be too late and too diluted."

NARROW CONCEPTS

"Every advance in the technology of war makes more unacceptable old and narrow concepts of sovereignty."

In an address prepared for delivery to the Foreign Service Institute, Johnson made his most extensive reply yet to the independent course de-

Plains States Are Crippled by Blizzard; 6 Known Dead

By the Associated Press

A roaring spring blizzard whipped through the Plains states today, leaving behind deep snows which were whirled into drifts by biting winds.

Six deaths were attributed to the blizzard: three in Nebraska, two in Wyoming and one in South Dakota.

Much of South Dakota's Black Hills had up to two feet of snow.

Winds measured at 50 to 70 miles per hour swirled across Nebraska yesterday and last night. All roads were treacherous and were impassable in central and western areas.

Twenty-nine children, a driver and a teacher spent the night huddled in blankets in a stalled school bus between Ord and Loup City in central Nebraska.

At O'Neill in the same area, an expectant mother finally reached a hospital via a wrecker after two cars tried to get her to a hospital and both became stalled.

Many power and telephone lines were down in the central and northern areas as up to 10 inches of snow fell.

Eppley Field in Omaha, Neb., was blacked out by a power failure last night and all outgoing flights were canceled.

There were many power breaks in the Omaha metropolitan area.

STRONG WINDS

Strong winds lashed New Mexico and blew dust so hard that visibility dropped to zero at times.

Temperatures dropped 31 degrees in a 24-hour period in northeastern New Mexico.

In Iowa, ice storms were followed by wet, clinging snow in the northwest, resulting in broken lines and power shortages.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in northwestern Kansas. High-winds caused trouble for Missouri forest fire fighters in southwestern Missouri and several hundred acres burned and some homes were threatened.

WILD FIRES

Eleven wild fires burned up to 1,500 acres in the Lake of the Ozarks area.

MD Support for Osteopaths

Approve Eligibility for Public Hospitals

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's medical doctors' have voted overwhelmingly in favor of allowing qualified osteopaths on the staffs of publicly supported hospitals. The Associated Press learned today.

In response to a poll by a House subcommittee, MDs voted 5,010 to 1,705 in favor of making osteopaths eligible for positions on the staffs of public hospitals.

They were asked: "Do you believe that both DOs and MDs should, on the basis of individual qualifications, be considered eligible for staff appointments by the governing boards of public-supported hospitals?"

Members of the House State Affairs Subcommittee, which conducted the survey, declined comment on the results of the poll, which was to be formally released today.

ALREADY DONE

Dr. H.J. Harvey, legislative agent for the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, said that many public-supported hospitals already admit osteopaths on an equal footing with medical doctors—while many others do not.

2 Said Spotted This Morning

Seven reports of UFO sightings have been received by local authorities throughout Oakland County since the spectacular sightings by some 50 persons Sunday in Washtenaw County.

Holly Village police reported that a man entered their office this morning and reported sighting a weird object on Dixie Highway near old M87.

The unidentified man said the object hovered above the hood of his car emitting a peculiar odor and casting a strange glow from flashing green lights.

Officials reported that the man was very excited and apparently frightened.

His first words on entering the station were, "You're going to think I'm crazy, but I just saw a flying saucer."

Holly police dispatched a car to the scene but no trace of the object was found.

An unidentified man reported to Birmingham police officials that he had spotted a flying object in the vicinity of 14 Mile Road and Greenfield about 12:30 this morning.

HEAVY FOG said the man stated that heavy fog prevented him from giving a positive description.

In Pontiac, a woman reported seeing a UFO at the rear of Robert Frost Elementary School, located at the end of Cottage Street on the southeast side of the city.

Directly behind the school is swamp. The Grand Trunk Western Railroad has tracks about a half-mile away.

Pontiac police investigated the 8:40 p.m. sighting but found nothing.

WIXOM REPORT

Wixom police also reported having received a report of a sighting Monday night by a man and his wife on Pontiac Trail near Old Plank.

Pontiac Sets Sales Record

Record sales for the first 20 days of March were announced today by Pontiac Motor Division.

General Sales Manager E. R. Pettengill said dealers sold 54,742 Pontiacs and Tempests in the March 1-20 period breaking the previous record of 52,271 set a year ago.

On a daily sales basis, mid-March sales were up ten percent—3,448 units compared to 3,089 daily sales last year.

New car sales of 25,382 were reported by Pontiac dealers from March 11 through March 20.

Early spring's buds and shoots will tuck in their dainty heads at tonight's area weather forecast.

Occasional rain and scattered thunderstorms will change to snow flurries late this evening.

Very windy with lows in the 20s to 33 degree range is the prediction.

Thursday will be cloudy, windy and colder with snow flurries and a 30 to 36 degree high.

Southerly winds at 15 to 30 miles will increase to 15 to 35 miles tonight, shifting to west to northwest through Thursday.

Friday's outlook is fair and cold.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 40. The mercury showed 58 at 1 p.m.

DETROIT (UPI)—Judge Edward Piglia indicted Wayne County Sheriff Peter Buback and Undersheriff James Bommarito on charges of neglect of duty today and urged that they be removed from office.

Dems Rap School Tour 'Politicking'

LANSING (AP) — School children touring the state capitol were caught in political cross-fire Tuesday.

Spencer Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, charged that the kids were being made victims of "the foulest type of campaigning" by the Republican State Central Committee — and possibly the governor's office.

"For the first time in the 18 years I've been here, capitol tours for children have become a partisan activity," he said.

The charges immediately were denied.

TOUR QUERIES

Kowalski said queries on tours of the capitol by school groups — a daily occurrence — were "being routed through the office of the Republican state chairman."

"An employee of the Republican party working here in the capitol then arranges the tour, including directions to the capitol guides on which Republican officials — shall speak to the children," he added.

The practice came to light, Kowalski said, when Rep. Harry Thorne, D-Deerborn Heights, discovered a group of children from Oxford Elementary School in West Dearborn, part of his district, touring the capitol without his knowledge.

Romney's office denied any political activity in the traditionally nonpartisan tours.

GOP POLICY

George Trumbull, Romney's office manager, said policy for the past three years has been to refer all tour requests received in the executive office automatically to John Gafner, state property manager, who makes all the arrangements.

"We don't even want anything to do with setting these things up — since a tour of the capitol involves much more than just this one office," Trumbull said.

Romney aides acknowledged that an employee of the Republican State Central Committee occupies space in the capitol. Mrs. N. Smith runs two automatic letter-writing machines — one belonging to the Republicans and one to the executive office.

Press aide John Byington said she runs the state machine when not engaged in Republican work. She also arranges tours — "but only in answer to requests that go directly to the Republican State Central Committee — not on requests that come to this office," he said.

"And when state central arranges such a tour it informs every legislator involved, regardless of party," Byington added.

Pakistan Units Red-Supplied

Chinese Tanks, Jets Displayed at Parade

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan technicians a military ally of the United States, disclosed today that it is getting tanks and jet planes from Communist China.

The Pakistani army included five Chinese-made T59 medium tanks in the military hardware it rolled out for a parade in Rawalpindi, the nation's capital, 1,000 miles north of Karachi.

A flyover of modern jet planes included four Chinese-made MIG19 fighters, one of them piloted by the Pakistani air force commander.

It was the first time Pakistan had exhibited any Communist weapons. The bulk of its forces in the past have been equipped with American weapons received under aid agreements stemming from Pakistan's membership in the U.S.-backed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and Central Treaty Organization.

CHINESE TANK

A Pakistani military spokesman said the Chinese T59 is classed as a fast medium tank. It carries a 100mm gun, he said.

The MIG19, originally Russian designed, has been surpassed by the MIG21 but still is rated as an effective air-to-air and air-to-ground fighter.

It was reported about 150 Pakistani pilots have received flight training in MIG19s in China and have returned to active duty at home. Other Pakistanis are reported under training in China now.

"American-made tanks and jet fighters were displayed along with the Chinese hardware."

CLOSER TO REDS

Pakistan has moved steadily closer to Communist China, claiming it is threatened by India and must fashion good relations with its other neighbors, including the Soviet Union.

Speaking at the review, President Ayub Khan warned that the arms race between India and Pakistan will continue unless peace is established between them on "just and honorable terms."

He called on India to come to terms on the Kashmir dispute, which he said has been hanging for 18 years despite efforts by Pakistan to improve relations.

Under the present circumstances, he continued, Pakistan has to continue to build up its defenses, and a "shortage of resources" will not impede that.

FROM GIRLS TO TRUCKS — Mrs. John Morgan, 43-year-old Philadelphia woman, has decided to close down her one-woman girder factory and drive a truck. She's nearing the end of a three-week, $695 truck driving course. Her instructor says "she's built to handle the equipment and doesn't complain as much as men about handling the rigs." Mrs. Morgan weighs 235 pounds and hopes someone will hire her.

$13.1 Billion Set for Buildup

Minor Change Aimed at McNamara Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to give final congressional approval and send to President Johnson today an emergency $13.1-billion appropriation bill to help pay for the stepped-up war in Viet Nam.

The bill's money figure — the exact amount requested by the President — is not in dispute. The House voted the funds last week but the Senate, in giving its 87-2 approval Tuesday, added a minor amendment.

The amendment would limit Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's authority to transfer funds in support of South Vietnamese and other allied troops.

The money, to be used during the remaining three months of fiscal 1966, will purchase military hardware, support military operations and pay military personnel in Viet Nam.

ECONOMIC AID

Included is a $415-million emergency appropriation for economic assistance to South-east Asia and the Dominican Republic. About $275 million of that money is earmarked for South Viet Nam.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, a leading critic of the administration's Southeast Asia policies who voted Tuesday for the multibillion war money bill, offered a new solution for peace in a speech Tuesday night at the University of Connecticut.

The Arkansas Democrat said peace in Southeast Asia depends far more on a settlement between the United States and China than on who is to participate in a South Vietnamese government and how it is to be formed.

City Given Offer on Redevelopment

The loan would be repaid through revenue from the lease arrangements.

'ONE PIECE'

Since last summer, city officials have leaned toward one-piece redevelopment of downtown urban renewal land, meaning a single organization would carry out a comprehensive plan.

Taylor said last night the city would proceed cautiously. City officials indicate that the actual lease and the city's role — its cost and responsibilities — remain to be worked out.

UF Director Appointed for Oakland County Unit

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Joseph C. (Eileen) Dodge, 643 Suffield, has been promoted to staff director of the Oakland County unit of the United Foundation replacing Donald Langley who was promoted to director of UF schools and government unit.

MRS. JOSEPH C. DODGE

Mrs. Dodge, who served as director of the UF Eastern Wayne unit for two years, will be responsible for coordinating the work of the residential and business campaigns for the United Foundation.

She will also direct recruiting, training and educational programs throughout the year.

A graduate of Western Kentucky Teachers College, she was active in the UF as a volunteer for many years, before joining the staff, serving as residential chairman in 1958.

Mrs. Dodge was also on the Michigan United Fund budget and admission panels for several years as well as a vice president of the United Foundation. In 1960 she was president of the United Foundation Women's Organization now known as Women for the United Foundation.

ACTIVE CHURCHWOMAN

Besides her work for the UF, Mrs. Dodge has been active as a member of the First Presbyterian Church as building drive fund leader and organizer, and is presently on the board of directors of the Founding Friends of the Kresge Library at Oakland University.

She is also a former board member of the Metropolitan Family Service Society and the Oakland County Planning Board.

The goal for the 1966 Torch Drive, which runs from Oct. 18 through Nov. 10; has not yet been announced. Last year, Oakland County residents collected $377,285 for distribution to 207 health and community services.

Peking Snubs Bid by Soviets

About the time the Moscow invitation was sent, the Chinese said the Russians circulated "an anti-Chinese document in the Soviet Union both inside and outside the party and organized a whole series of anti-Chinese reports from top to bottom, right down to the basic units, whipping up hysteria against China."

The Soviet letter, as reported in West Germany this week, said the Chinese "want a clash between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. in order — as they say themselves — 'To watch the fight of the tigers while sitting on the mountain.'"

The Russians also charged China refused to enter joint action with the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam to oppose the American in Viet Nam.

CHINESE ROADBLOCKS

They said the Chinese placed roadblocks in the way of transfer of Soviet military aid to North Viet Nam.

Peking charged the Russians "wantonly vilified the Chinese Communist party as being 'pseudo-revolutionary,' as 'refusing to oppose imperialism' and 'encouraging U.S. imperialist aggression,' and as being guilty of 'adventurism,' 'splitism,' 'Trotskyism,' 'nationalism,' 'great-power chauvinism,' 'dogmatism,' and so on and so forth."

"You have also been spreading rumors alleging that China is obstructing aid to Viet Nam" and that "China has been encroaching on Soviet territory," the letter said. "You have gone so far as to state that 'China is not a Socialist country.'"

Johnson said all 15 NATO nations share a common danger — division — and can share one safety in unity.

Johnson at one point appealed to de Gaulle, in effect, to reconsider his independent posture.

Categories of awards are creative writing, speech, art and handicrafts, traffic safety, music, science, athletics, business initiative, scholarship and leadership.

Award winners, age 14 to 18, will receive Salute to Youth pins, embellished over the City of Pontiac seal, and certificates.

Community leaders will present the awards. Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. will be the featured speaker.

Tax Boost Nixed for Now, but LBJ Leaves Door Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has firmly rejected suggestions for an immediate tax increase as a hedge against inflation.

But he left the door open for a possible tax boost later if his administration feels it is needed.

"We don't want to act prematurely," Johnson told a news conference Tuesday. "We don't want to put the brakes too fast."

Johnson cited signs of a slowdown in the economy — including a 17 per cent drop in housing starts during February — and said the administration wants to assess the effects of the recently signed tax measure before taking any new anti-inflationary steps.

ABOUT $6 BILLION

This measure, designed to raise about $6 billion over the next 15 months, reimposed excise taxes which were reduced last Jan. 1, and will speed collections of corporate and personal income taxes.

In the impromptu news conference in his office, Johnson also:

— Named Robert W. Komer, formerly deputy special assistant to the president, as a special assistant on nonmilitary matters in Viet Nam. He will direct policies in such fields as education, medical care and social and economic reform.

— Said the United States is anxious for more contracts and exchanges with Red China but this won't occur until China's attitude changes.

— Remarked that the AFL-CIO has always been independent and should be. He was asked about the recent statements of George Meany, the AFL-CIO president, that the labor organization would ally itself in the future with neither major party.

Pontiac Twp. Woman Tells of Visit by 'Object' Last July

Flying saucer "sightings" yesterday and Monday in southern Michigan are nearly identical to an incident which a 42-year-old Pontiac Township woman claims she witnessed last July.

Mrs. John J. Brown of 2672 James said an object "came down between two houses and then legs just like a big spider came out."

Mrs. Brown, whose husband is employed at GMC Truck & Coach Division, related the eerie story, after keeping quiet for over eight months because "everybody would have thought I was nuts."

Objects Flying in Area Reported to Authorities ship, were returning from work in two separate cars around 8:45 p.m. when they both spotted a slow-moving object in the sky.

They said the object did not appear to be large and that it had two steady lights on each side — red and white — and a flashing blue light on the bottom.

Police Officer Lawrence Beamish took the report and said the couple were sure they had definitely seen the object.

He said Mrs. Sexton reported sighting the object first and that her husband, following at some distance behind her car, then became aware of it.

Milford police reported that they had received reports from separate sightings near Wixom Township and New Hudson last night, but that no further evidence could be found.

"I wrote everything down at the time," she said.

"First I noticed a big white light, too bright for a star and moving now and then from side to side."

MORE LIGHTS

"Then gradually I saw two more lights on either side of the big one, which slowly faded back."

"The small ones went from left to right — then red and green lights flashed up and exploded and then the white one came back."

Mrs. Brown said she then watched — on a "hot, quiet night" — as the object touched down to earth between her house and the one next door.

"The dog started barking and then a big dust storm like, a kind of cloud or vapor blew up and the thing came down."

SAW MOVEMENT

The legs came out, she said, and she noticed "a little bit of movement in a little gun turret-like on top of the thing."

"The big body part, painted in green and black stripes, looked just like a spider."

"I started toward the door, then another big cloud. It went sideways straight up between the houses and disappeared."

"It was 11:20 p.m. when it took off."

Mrs. Brown said she went outside the next day and on the front lawn found "the ground stirred up, a lot of dust and stuff blown over the grass."

"It couldn't have been the wind," she said, "it was quiet and hot all night."

$17,441 Added to Hospital Fund in Public Drive

Public campaign workers added $17,441 to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Building Fund, it was reported recent at the first report lunch held at the nurses home on the hospital grounds.

Teams from the Pontiac area turned in 15 subscriptions for $5,566, while the Birmingham area accounted for 61 pledges amounting to $11,875. When added to those from hospital and Community National Bank employees, the total for the public campaign now adds up to $138,175.

The standing of the fund is now at $2,341,162 toward the $3,250,000 minimum goal needed to help finance expansion and remodeling at the hospital estimated to cost $6,500,000.

The campaign had been extended and would now close on April 20, instead of the March 31 date as previously planned.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Boyd Masterson, 40, a one-man opposition ticket, declared his candidacy yesterday for mayor, marshal, police judge and collector in the suburban town of New Madrid.

His wife, Marie, declared her candidacy for alderman.

Johnson said all 15 NATO nations share a common danger — division — and can share one safety in unity.

Johnson at one point appealed to de Gaulle, in effect, to reconsider his independent posture.

Johnson said the Russians circulated "an anti-Chinese document in the Soviet Union both inside and outside the party and organized a whole series of anti-Chinese reports from top to bottom, right down to the basic units, whipping up hysteria against China."

The Soviet letter, as reported in West Germany this week, said the Chinese "want a clash between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. in order — as they say themselves — 'To watch the fight of the tigers while sitting on the mountain.'"

The Russians also charged China refused to enter joint action with the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam to oppose the American in Viet Nam.

They said the Chinese placed roadblocks in the way of transfer of Soviet military aid to North Viet Nam.

Peking charged the Russians "wantonly vilified the Chinese Communist party as being 'pseudo-revolutionary,' as 'refusing to oppose imperialism' and 'encouraging U.S. imperialist aggression,' and as being guilty of 'adventurism,' 'splitism,' 'Trotskyism,' 'nationalism,' 'great-power chauvinism,' 'dogmatism,' and so on and so forth."

French Move Dangerous to West—LBJ

Gaule wants French military units out of NATO and NATO out of France.

Johnson did not mention de Gaulle by name at any point, but it was evident his references were meant to apply to the French leader.

Johnson said at the outset that "we do not believe there is any righteousness in standing pat" on NATO.

YIELD TO CHANGE

"If any organization is alive and vital — if it is to have meaning for all time as well as for any particular time — it must grow and respond and yield to change," he said.

"Then, in what amounted to a rather mild phrased lecture to de Gaulle, Johnson asserted:

"Of course NATO should adapt to the changing needs of the times. But we believe just as firmly that such change must be wrought by the member nations working with one another within the alliance. Consultation, not isolation, is the route to reform."

Johnson said all 15 NATO nations share a common danger — division — and can share one safety in unity.

Johnson at one point appealed to de Gaulle, in effect, to reconsider his independent posture.

Johnson said the Russians circulated "an anti-Chinese document in the Soviet Union both inside and outside the party and organized a whole series of anti-Chinese reports from top to bottom, right down to the basic units, whipping up hysteria against China."

"You have also been spreading rumors alleging that China is obstructing aid to Viet Nam" and that "China has been encroaching on Soviet territory," the letter said. "You have gone so far as to state that 'China is not a Socialist country.'"

Johnson said all 15 NATO nations share a common danger — division — and can share one safety in unity.

Johnson at one point appealed to de Gaulle, in effect, to reconsider his independent posture.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

Your First Step to Beauty

CHAPTER 3

What is physical fitness? It's being in tip-top shape — having a lithe, supple body free of excess fat; it means shining hair, a glowing complexion, sparkling eyes, perfect posture.

It's magnetic, too. When you're physically fit, you exude radiant health, and a happy, positive feeling that makes you fun to be with. You're more alert, and able to live a more active, well-rounded life.

Think of the most popular girl you know. Is she a classic beauty? Or is it her style, verve, bounce and enthusiasm that make boys and girls alike flock around her? Most outgoing, popular girls are fairly bursting with vitality. Whether they're conscious of it or not, they're following the basic rules of good health.

Now is the time to develop the good health habits that will keep you young, attractive and physically fit throughout your life.

Outer beauty is a combination of many things: subtle makeup, flattering clothes, the right hair style, posture, the way you speak.

Inwardly, beauty is reflected by the alert, calm way you face problems, your responsiveness to the needs and feelings of others, and the generally well-balanced, positive attitude you have toward life.

ENOUGH SLEEP

Getting enough sleep can become a useful habit. Try going to bed fifteen minutes earlier than usual the first night, twenty minutes the next; keep it up until you're sleeping at least eight hours.

Suppose you have trouble sleeping, no matter how tired you are? If that's the case, organize your day so that your last hour or so before retiring is spent in a quiet, relaxing way. If you're tense from studying, watching a "kill 'em dead!" Western or reading a murder mystery, of course you'll find it difficult to sleep.

Instead, listen to soft music, read a nonviolent book, take a luxurious tepid bubble bath, sip a soothing cup of warm milk with honey, and you should travel off to slumberland as soon as you snuggle under the covers.

If you have your own bedroom, don't decorate it in wild reds and garish purples. Instead choose soft blues, pale greens and pinks or off-white to set the scene for sleep. Flowered or pastel sheets and a soft, pretty blanket make bedtime a tempting time.

If you read yourself to sleep, be sure your night table has a good reading lamp.

NO PILLOW

If you possibly can, learn to sleep without a pillow, you'll sleep better and your posture will improve. Be sure your room has proper ventilation. An airless, stuffy bedroom will stifle slumber.

If you eat the right food, exercise, and get enough sleep, you'll probably have a much happier mental outlook. And yet, if you're a real worrywart, all the physical fitness in the world won't make you feel much better. So, worriers of the world, this section is especially for you!

Don't waste your energy worrying. Worry is useless — it doesn't help solve your problems. Instead, it saps your vitality and clouds your thinking.

Everyone has problems, from your baby brother right on up to the President. It builds your character when you face problems intelligently, in a clear-headed, positive way. Did you

Voters League Has Pair of Meetings Set

Lillian Davidson is chairman of the annual League of Women Voters' meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. in Devon Gables.

Members of the League will discuss pending legislation with senators and representatives when they go to Lansing for the League Capitol Day on Thursday. The need for county home rule heads the list of topics of interest to members.

Those going from Pontiac include Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. Cameron Clark, Laura Belz, Mrs. Joseph Jenkins and Mrs. Earl Ottavio.

Mrs. Robert Forch of Dearborn, president of the League for Michigan, has said, "It is high time that the legislature pass county home rule. It is ridiculous to deny counties the right to design a form of government to meet today's needs."

"Some Michigan counties are having great problems because they are using a pattern of government set up over a century ago. County home rule would let these counties solve their problems."

Other topics of interest to league members are improvements in welfare laws and children's services including pre-kindergarten and day care.

ever notice that most people who have lived through wars, personal crises and the like are deeper, more interesting, more understanding?

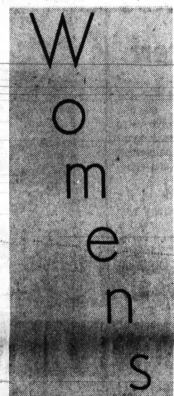

Worry didn't solve their problems, but knowing how to change the things they could change, and live with the things they couldn't, made them better human beings.

USE PENCIL

To clarify your problems, it's often helpful to write them down. If you write down exactly what's worrying you, why, and what you can do about it, vague little questions won't be running through your mind.

Act, happy. (Even if you aren't.) Walk around with a pleasant expression on your face, be enthusiastic, take an interest in other people, and some of the "pretend" happiness will work its way down to the "real you" and actually make you feel happier. (If you don't believe this is possible, try it for just one day.)

TOMORROW: A further word on physical fitness.

Children's Village director, James VanLeuven and his pretty wife, brought along their broadest smiles for the event in the Huron Theater. Several chapters of different sororities acted as hostesses in chic long gowns.

The occasion called for furs and hats. Mrs. R. W. McClure of Illinois Avenue (in a lavender froth of flowers) chats with Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde of Chippewa Road, stunning in a sophisticated hair-do, before curtain time at the benefit fashion show given by a combination of sororities Tuesday evening. Alvin's of Pontiac supplied the models and clothes.

Artist Is in the Limelight With Exhibit and a Party

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Robert Thom, well known local artist, will be honored at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newberg in their home on April 1.

Beginning Sunday Thom's paintings will be on exhibit at the Bloomfield Art Association galleries on South Cranbrook Road. They will remain there through April 3.

Perhaps Thom is best known for his paintings of events in the Michigan history which commission he received from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. On April 1 he will give a talk and show pictures of his paintings at the gallery to members of BAA.

On April 16 at the BAA fashion show when the "Jewels will Sparkle," Mesdames: Robert B. Thom, William H. Thom; Ernest Jones; Hugh Actor; Robert Bender and Henry C. Johnson will be among the models wearing the famous jewels.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Wellock are expected home early in May. Many friends from this area have visited with them in their Hawaiian home. A couple weeks ago the Wellocks entertained five couples from Michigan and thought it was great fun to catch up on all the news.

CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Warner returned last week after a cruise on the Europa to the Caribbean Islands which took them to Trinidad and six other ports, Mrs. Warner says. "Perfect weather, marvelous food, a good rest and fun."

Svea Kline returned to her art classes at BAA and the Flint Institute of Art after spending last week in New York with Mrs. R. S. Bishop of Flint, visiting different museums and hearing art lectures.

Probate Judge and Mrs. Arthur L. Moore look pleased with the turnout of the gala which will benefit Children's Village. Funds from the combined sorority fashion show are slated for a permanent play area on the grounds.

Use Ripe Olives in Many Ways

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Ripe olives are not a food you can be neutral about; you like them or you don't. If you're on the positive side, you'll want to keep them on hand all the time. They mean instant hospitality. Serve them as snack food any time of the day and use them in interesting recipes like the ones given here.

Beef and Ripe Olive Pie

2 pounds beef round, cut ½-inch thick
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 chopped large onion
1 (10½-ounce) can beef bouillon
½ cup water
1½ cups canned California pitted ripe olives
Pastry

Cut beef in small cubes, removing all fat. Dredge in flour mixed with salt, seasoned salt, garlic salt and pepper. Brown well in heated oil.

Add onion; cook until transparent but not browned. Add bouillon and water. Cover and simmer 1 to 1½ hours, until meat is tender. Stir in drained ripe olives.

Roll pastry ⅛-inch thick. Fit into 5-cup shallow baking dish making a fluted rim. Roll pastry scraps and cut into stars. Turn beef into pastry lined dish and top with stars.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 30 minutes, until pastry is nicely browned. Makes 6 servings.

PASTRY: Resift 1½ cups sifted flour with ¼ teaspoon salt. Cut in ½ cup shortening. Add about 3 tablespoons cold water to make a stiff dough.

Chicken Regency Salad

1 envelope Italian salad dressing mix, vinegar, water, and oil
1 package (9-oz.) frozen artichoke hearts
3 cups (1½-lbs.) cubed, cooked chicken
½ cup thinly sliced water chestnuts

¼ cup slivered ripe olives
1 tablespoon capers, chopped
2 teaspoons butter
½ cup pecan halves
Salt
¾ cup diced celery
1 large head Boston lettuce
2 small oranges, peeled and sectioned
Watercress

Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and oil as directed on envelope.

Cook artichoke hearts as directed on package. Drain. Then combine artichokes, chicken, chestnuts, olives, and capers in a large bowl. Add salad dressing to cover. Chill. Marinate about 3 hours, mixing occasionally.

Meanwhile, melt butter in small skillet. Add nuts. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until nuts begin to brown. Drain. Sprinkle with salt. Cool.

Add celery to chicken mixture. Then drain excess dressing from mixture and reserve. Arrange lettuce leaves on individual luncheon plates. Place chicken mixture in center. Top with orange sections and nuts. Garnish with watercress. Serve with reserved dressing, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Roman Brussels Sprouts

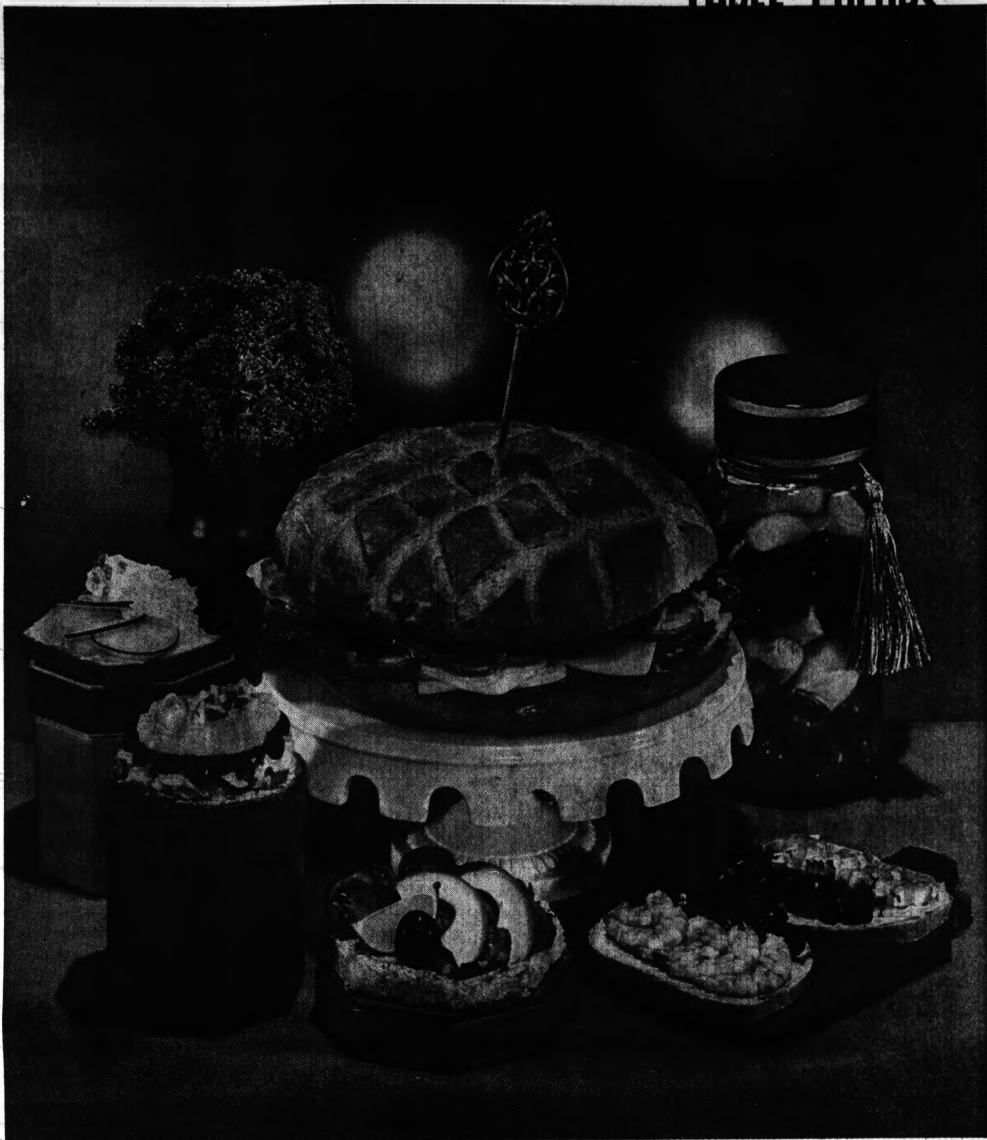

3 onion bouillon cubes
2½ cups boiling water
1½ tablespoons olive oil
1½ tablespoons anchovy paste

4 packages (10 ounces each) frozen Brussels sprouts
½ cup sliced ripe olives
2 tablespoons pine nuts or pecans
3 tablespoons dry white wine

Combine bouillon cubes, water, oil and anchovy paste in saucepan; boil, stirring, until bouillon cubes dissolve. Add Brussels sprouts; cover and cook 5 minutes, until almost tender. Mix in olives, nuts and wine. Continue cooking over low heat until Brussels sprouts are just tender.

ROMAN BRUSSELS SPROUTS—Here is a vegetable dish of classic simplicity. Fresh or frozen Brussels sprouts are chilled with nuts and ripe olives in a dressing of olive oil, anchovy and white wine.

RIPE OLIVES—No longer relegated to a mere relish tray, canned California ripe olives are now considered real, honest to goodness food. They can be found in all sorts of main dishes, in foreign foods and—as seen here—in sandwich sensations. Towering over the scene is an Oliver, made with a big round loaf of French bread and filled with the sort of spicy foods that appeal to teen-agers. Other sandwich specialties (from the left) the Cucumber on whole wheat bread with Sour Cream Whip; the Orange Leek which is tuna with trimmings; the Avocado on corn; and the Shrimp which gets a tossing of sherry. In all, the ripe olive is king.

Ripe Olives Star in Colorful Sandwiches

The Oliver

Split 1 large round loaf French bread; hollow out excess bread from both halves and spread with soft butter. Cover bottom half with 12 thin slices of cheese (Monterey Jack, domestic Muenster or other light cheese); 18 slices Italian dry salami and a large green pepper, cut into rings.

Top with 2 cups well-drained California ripe olives. Cover with top of loaf.

Wrap in waxed paper and have a good-sized teen-ager (not over 140 pounds please) sit on it to crush the olives and meld the flavors. Cut into 6 or 8 wedges.

The Shrimp

¾ pound cooked, peeled and deveined shrimp
Dry sherry
3 tablespoons lemon juice
4 slices light rye bread
3 tablespoons soft butter
½ (8-ounce) package cream cheese
12 canned pitted ripe olives
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
Black pepper

Toss shrimp in 3 tablespoons sherry and lemon juice; let stand 30 minutes. Spread bread with butter. Mix softened cream cheese with 2 teaspoons sherry; spread on buttered bread.

Arrange drained shrimp, halved olives and parsley over top. Sprinkle shrimp with pepper. Makes 4 open sandwiches.

The Cucumber

2 cucumbers
1½ teaspoons salt
6 slices whole wheat bread
6 tablespoons soft butter
3 hard cooked eggs
12 canned pitted ripe olives
Sour Cream Whip
Sliced green onions

Peel cucumbers, slice very thinly and sprinkle with salt. Chill 30 minutes or more; squeeze out excess moisture. Spread bread with butter.

Arrange cucumbers, sieved eggs and halved olives on bread. Top with Sour Cream Whip. Sprinkle with green onion.

Eat with knife and fork, spreading whip over top. Makes 6 open sandwiches. Sour Cream Whip: Mix ¾ cup dairy sour cream with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon thinly sliced green onion and ½ teaspoon salt.

The Orange Leek

6 tablespoons soft butter
2½ teaspoons ground coriander
3 slices dark unseeded rye bread
1 (7-ounce) can tuna
9 canned pitted ripe olives
1 peeled and thinly sliced orange

The Avocado

½ cup soft butter
1 tablespoon crumbled basil
6 slices cornbread (homemade or commercial)
6 crisply cooked bacon slices
1 ripe avocado
12 cherry tomatoes
12 canned pitted ripe olives
Salt
Pepper
1 lime

Mix butter and basil; spread over cornbread. Arrange halved bacon strips, sliced avocado, halved tomatoes and olives on buttered cornbread. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Cut lime into sixths and garnish each sandwich with wedge. (Eaters squeeze lime juice over all sandwich ingredients.) Serve with knife and fork. Makes 6 open sandwiches.

Mix butter and coriander; spread over bread. Arrange flaked tuna, quartered olives, sliced orange and leeks on bread. Makes 3 open sandwiches.

SIX POSSIBLE SITES — The site for a new $75-million atom smasher has been narrowed to six locations by the National Academy of Sciences. The six are at Ann Arbor; Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island; Madison, Wis.; Sierra foothills near Sacramento, Calif.; South Barrington or Weston, Ill.; and Denver.

1 of 6 Finalists

Ann Arbor Hails A-Smasher Possibility

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The world's largest atom smasher for Ann Arbor?

The city's business and industry hailed the possibility today as a boom to the economy.

On other scores, too, Ann Arbor's chance of getting the $75-million proton accelerator received acclaim, though it also was pointed out there would be problems.

Ann Arbor — specifically, Northfield Township, a wooded area a few miles north—was chosen Tuesday as one of six finalists from more than 200 original applicants across the nation.

SIX LOCATIONS

The National Academy of Sciences named Ann Arbor and five other sites in a list recommended to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The AEC has not indicated when it will make a decision. The academy's six recommendations are not binding on the AEC.

President Harlan Hatcher of the University of Michigan and Gov. George Romney expressed pleasure at the selection of Ann Arbor.

The university's presence, said, but he was quick also to add that it enjoys "broad, general support."

HONOR FOR STATE

Romney, in Boston at the time of the announcement, called it an honor for Michigan.

He said it reaffirmed Michigan's position "high on the list of top technical and research areas in the country."

Hatcher said the accelerator would be significant to education, science and research in Michigan.

"The accelerator," he said, "would serve as a tool to add greatly to man's knowledge of the physical sciences. We would be happy to be part of the achievement."

FIVE RIVALS

Michigan's five rivals for the site are Madison, Wis.; the Brookhaven National Laboratory area near Upton, N. Y.; Sacramento, Calif.; Denver, Colo., and the Chicago area.

Mayor Wendell Hulcher said if Ann Arbor finally is chosen it would "mean a lot to the city in terms of economic return."

"Some of our folks are not particularly anxious for it," he said, but he was quick also to add that it enjoys "broad, general support."

Hulcher said the project would "certainly fit the talent and capacities of our community." He said he referred to the scientific and research facilities not only of the university but area industries.

POPULATION

Ann Arbor's population is about 85,000.

Michigan's next step in its effort to get the giant accelerator remains to be determined.

Stuart Abbey, assistant director of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, said: "We expect to have another government team in to look at the site. At that time we'll provide material and information we feel would be helpful."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many women of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just apply a little PASTERITE, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get PASTERITE at drug counters everywhere.

Talks to Eye Math for Job-Bound Youth

A different kind of mathematics program may be developed for Oakland County high school students who don't plan to attend college.

David Wells, director of mathematics for Oakland Schools, has announced a series of seven seminars for Oakland County educators to explore the kind of mathematics training that would be of greatest use to employment-bound youth.

Seminar speakers will be Dr. Milton Beckmann of the University of Nebraska, Dr. Joseph Payne and Albert Shulte of the University of Michigan and Dr. Eugene Smith of Wayne State University.

Also speaking will be Kenneth Kidd of the University of Florida, Mrs. Anita Hardenek of the Warren Consolidated Schools and Dr. Emil Berger of St. Paul, Minn., Public Schools.

The first seminar will be held April 12 at the offices of Oakland Schools.

WEIGH DESIRABILITY

Each of the speakers, Dr. Wells, said, has been asked if a special noncollege mathematics program is desirable and if it would be consistent with research on the needs of job-oriented young people.

The speakers will be expected to give Oakland County educators some direction on:

- Content and organization of a redesigned series of mathematics courses.

- Recommendations for teaching materials.

- Ideas on selection of teachers and students for the classes.

"Something different than the college preparatory track is needed in mathematics," Dr. Wells said.

NO OPPORTUNITY

"Young people who are not enrolled in the college preparatory classes usually do not have the opportunity to take any mathematics course beyond the ninth grade.

"They are frequently unable to qualify for jobs because of poor knowledge of mathematics; those who are working have difficulty with some aspects of their jobs because they have forgotten the math they once learned."

The seminar is a first step toward developing a four-year course sequence in high schools for the 40 to 60 per cent of Oakland County youth who do not attend college.

Application for federal funds for a planning grant under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act will be the probable second step, according to Dr. Wells.

Suggestions from labor, business, industry and military services will be sought in creating the new curriculum.
