

Red Forces Invade Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE (AP) — The Soviet Union, imposing its will on Czechoslovakia, sent tanks and troops into Prague today in an occupation designed to thwart the small nation's moves toward a liberalized brand of communism.

The lightning invasion began last night, and Moscow announced it involved forces of East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary as well as those of the Soviet Union.

Moscow said it was coming in to "render necessary help to the fraternal Czechoslovak people." Moscow said it acted on an invitation from "party and government leaders" in Prague to put down a threat of counterrevolution im-periting the structure of communism.

No such invitation was announced here.

Some shooting was heard in Prague today, but a statement over Prague radio said Czechoslovak forces, tiny in comparison with the might of the Soviet Union and the combined arms of four other Communist states, had received no orders to defend the country. Prague radio appealed for restraint.

Although the occupation was accomplished with little resistance, two persons were killed and 25 injured in occupying the Prague radio station; four were reported killed and 10 injured in the Bohemian town of Liberec; and a motorcyclist was reportedly crushed to death by a Soviet tank.

Within hours Soviet paratroopers had surrounded Communist party headquarters in Prague, virtually imprisoning nine of the 11 presidium members and threatening to bring the eight-month-old liberal Czechoslovak regime under the Soviet thumb.

Government leaders throughout the world called emergency meetings to assess communism's most explosive crisis since Soviet tanks crushed the Hungarian uprising 12 years ago.

The United States was in private consultation today with other members of the United Nations on the crisis. There was speculation that a request would be made for an urgent meeting of the U.S. Security Council.

Unconfirmed reports in Moscow said a coup in Prague yesterday deposed Czechoslovak party chief Alexander Dubcek and replaced his liberal regime with leaders who invited the Soviet troops.

Dubcek and other progressive members of the party presidium were held prisoners at the Central Committee headquarters on the Vltava River. President Ludvik Svoboda was isolated at the government headquarters.

Tass said the occupying troops would be "withdrawn as soon as the threat against socialism in Czechoslovakia ends."

SPECIAL SESSION

The Romanian news agency Agerpres said the Romanian Central Committee was called into special session to deal with the situation.

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Foreign Ministry emphatically denied today reports originating in Czechoslovakia that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko have resigned to protest military intervention in Prague. "I can say this is a provocation," one spokesman said when asked by a newsmen about the report.

The Norwegian Radio had reported picking up a broadcast by a Czechoslovak radio station saying Kosygin and Grechko had resigned.

Yugoslav President Tito called a session of his party Central Committee's presidium, Tanjug, the Yugoslav official news agency, reported.

The U.S. Embassy advised Americans in Czechoslovakia to stay where they were. About 1,500 American tourists were believed to be in the country. Among those was former child movie star Shirley Temple Black.

McCarthy Force Arms for Floor Attack on HHH

CHICAGO (AP)—Losers in four preliminary challenges, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's supporters armed today for a three-pronged convention floor attack on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's Democratic presidential nomination strength.

Stephen A. Mitchell, a former national chairman and McCarthy's convention manager, said the smoking issues of a Vietnam war plank, delegate seating and unit-rule voting will be taken to the convention itself in an effort to win support for the Minnesota senator in his uphill battle against the Vice President.

In Philadelphia, McCarthy forecast an active floor fight over a Vietnam plank he obviously expected the platform committee, meeting in Washington, to fashion on a harder line than he has taken.

"As of now," McCarthy said, "we expect to do better on the floor than in the platform committee."

CZECH CRISIS

Just how this floor fight might go, however, seemed likely to be influenced by the action of Russia and four other Communist bloc countries in sending troops into Czechoslovakia.

This move against a country trying to loosen Moscow's grip on its affairs seemed likely to some political leaders to increase East-West tensions to the detriment of efforts to negotiate some kind of peace in Vietnam.

Whether this would be reflected in a tougher platform plank than McCarthy wants remained to be seen.

Humphrey, who sat in on a security council meeting called by President Johnson last night, was generally expected to reflect administration views on this new international crisis.

LBJ Asks Soviet Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, denouncing the invasion of Czechoslovakia as tragic and contrived, appealed today to the Soviet Union and other intervening nations to withdraw their troops.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson consulted with key advisers well into the morning hours today after Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin told him in a meeting that the Soviet Union was invading Czechoslovakia.

Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey were closeted together in the White House until after 3 a.m. That was long after the President, met in emergency session with the National Security Council, which advises him on crucial military and foreign policy matters.

But, at least in the initial phases, very little was being said officially and publicly.

Dobrynin, it was learned, called the White House last night to seek an unusual after-hours appointment with Johnson. When the request was granted, he showed up in the presidential office bearing an official notification that troops of the Soviet Union, Poland and

East Germany were entering Czechoslovakia.

This was at about the same time that the White House was receiving an Associated Press bulletin quoting Prague Press Secretary George Christian said Johnson acted quickly to convene the NSC on the basis of information supplied by Dobrynin.

AVOIDS DETAILS

He declined to go into details, though, on the content of the envoy's message.

When the security council met, Christian said, Johnson and his advisers — including top military, diplomatic and intelligence officials — reviewed available information.

Johnson then directed Secretary of State Dean Rusk to summon Dobrynin to a late-night meeting at the State Department "to discuss the matter further."

Rusk and the ambassador subsequently met for about 10 minutes. No account of the meeting was given.

In addition to his early hours meeting with Humphrey, Johnson kept in close contact with other key officials.

Chrysler Execs Optimistic at Preview of '69 Models

By JERRY ROBBINS
City Editor, The Pontiac Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Three top Chrysler Corp. executives voiced optimism here today for another banner year for new car and truck sales and a continued climb in business activity in 1969.

Chrysler President Virgil E. Boyd predicted domestic new car sales including imports will hit about 9.3-million units in 1968 and that sales next year will be at least equal and possibly higher than in 1968.

"That will make sales in 1968 virtually equal to those in 1965, which to date was the best year in the history of the industry," Boyd told 300 newsmen at the opening of Chrysler's three-day national news preview in Atlanta.

The 1969 cars and trucks, Boyd said, mark the end of a decade of revolutionary growth and change in the auto industry, which has been chiefly characterized by the growing demand for more and more cars.

Boyd of 376 Dunston, Bloomfield Hills, predicted that the demand for new cars will continue to rise, basing this confidence on the following trends:

- The scrappage rate of 6.5 million cars this year will hold steady for a few years before going even higher.
- The number of multiple-car families will continue to grow.
- The number of new drivers and young car buyers will continue to increase.
- Strengthening consumer confidence — based in part on hope of lessening international tensions and war expenditures, and an easing of inflationary pressures — supports a bullish outlook.

$365-MILLION EXPENDITURE

Lynn Townsend, Chrysler's chairman and chief executive officer, said Chrysler spent approximately $365 million to prepare its 1969 cars which go on public display at dealer showrooms Sept. 19.

The relative restraint of recent federal fiscal policies and the outlook for possible peace in Vietnam provide basis for a hope that we may be headed for a continued climb in business activity, despite current speculation about declines for the economy in coming months, Townsend said.

Townsend of 5991 Orchard Bend, Bloomfield Township, pointed out that in the past 10 years Chrysler Corp. has tripled its size in nearly every way.

9 Guards Hostages in Ohio Pen Impasse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Penitentiary Director Marion Koloski said today he was "hopeful" of ending within a short time a rebellion of convicts who still hold nine guards hostage and under threat of death.

Koloski, meeting newsmen outside the century-old prison, said the impasse now 24 hours old developed over the inmates' concern about their prosecution for June 24 rioting.

He reported one guard had been permitted into the four cell-block area where some 300 inmates have barricaded themselves, and learned all the hostages "are in good health."

Koloski said the inmates have demanded that "the law be changed" — referring to procedures now being undertaken for prosecutions now being undertaken and fires which caused $1 million damage.

A FAIR TRIAL

"I assured them that everyone indicted would get a fair trial," the warden said. Some inmates, he said, had asked for amnesty for the June rioting. He replied only that he was continuing his amnesty for the present outbreak.

He said Gov. James A. Rhodes and Department of Correction officials "have placed their confidence in me to resolve this situation." None of these officials plan to talk to the convicts, he said. Earlier, State Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso, a tough-minded "law and order" official who has seen service in many of the recent Ohio racial disturbances, arrived at the prison.

He said then, "I hope we'll be able to get something settled quickly — whether they release them or whether we have to go in and get them."

About 35 heavily armed guardsmen are inside the prison, and more than 100 others are on standby alert, reinforced by about 75 Columbus policemen and a score of Ohio Highway Patrol officers.

The guards were taken hostage in an uprising involving about 300 prisoners at the penitentiary.

The convicts said they would burn the hostages alive, using gasoline and lighter fluid, if officials attempted to use force to free them or do not meet all the prisoners' demands.

While the tense situation dragged on, a riot flared up and was swiftly put down at the state's Lebanon Correctional Institution 75 miles southwest of Columbus. Five Lebanon prisoners were shot and some 50 other persons injured after 200 inmates refused to return to cells at the end of a recreation period. Some 600 other prisoners did return to cells.

School Board Hears 2 Plans to Economize

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — In efforts to cut district costs, Board of Education members last night heard two plans for economizing on system's transportation and co-curricular activities budgets.

The cuts became necessary after district voters turned down in April a millage request for 14 mills. Although voters in June passed a reduced 9½-mill levy, the four and one-half mills difference necessitated cuts.

The board accepted the recommendations of assistant superintendent Erwin Johnson which netted economies in the district's transportation system estimated at $89,000. Last year's expenses in that area were set at $187,188.

Under the new plan, the number of stops school buses will make has been cut from 334 to 143. Johnson estimated this would also cut in half the number of students who ride a bus to school in the district.

WALKING DISTANCES SET

At the same time the board set arbitrary figures for approved walking distances for students. Under the new plan, also recommended by Johnson, kindergarten through sixth grade students may walk up to a mile in order to get to school.

The walking distances for secondary school students will be one mile and a half, Johnson said that the new stipulations are different than the system's past policy.

"Formerly the decision on whether students walked was determined by traffic patterns and safety factors. However," he added, "the new program will be kept under close scrutiny so that the safety of students will not be jeopardized."

The board also approved an amended co-curricular activities plan presented by a committee of concerned parents, coaches and principals.

EARLIER CUT $40,000

The board had previously cut the budget for such activities by more than $40,000. The new plan called for use of economizing in many areas, volunteer help for many previously paid jobs, the use of driver education cars for some team transportation, and the takeover of some school activities by the Bloomfield Recreation Department.

The board vetoed the committee's request to impose a $15 participation fee on every participant in every school sponsored sport.

At the same time they agreed to review the program in November to check its operation and finances.

In other action the board approved a recommendation for tuition amounts for students whose families are building homes or who have purchased homes in the district but who have not yet moved into the district. The charge for elementary was set at $715.70 annually and that for secondary students at $751.66.

Fowler Says White Police Fear Pontiac Negro Areas

Pontiac's only Negro city commissioner charges that white policemen are afraid to enter the city's Negro districts.

T. Warren Fowler Sr., who represents predominantly black District 1, told the City Commission last night that "youngsters 12, 13 and 14 years old are parading the streets during all hours of the day and night." He urged enforcement of the city's juvenile curfew law.

"We, as Negroes, do want law enforcement," Fowler said. "We want equal law enforcement, and we're unhappy that we are not getting it in my district."

Police Chief William K. Hanger was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

'UNEQUAL PROTECTION'

Fowler told newsmen after the meeting that "if a man is afraid to go into the black areas, he shouldn't be on the police force."

Fowler complained of unequal police protection, claiming police did not answer calls as promptly in District 1 as in other parts of the city.

He said there is increasing prostitution in the Negro area, with prostitutes soliciting on the main streets of his district due to the infrequency of police patrols.

The answer to the problem in Fowler's view is the hiring of additional Negro police officers. There are only four Negroes on Pontiac's 116-officer force.

'NEEDED FOR PEACE'

"We are going to have to have them, if there is to be peace," Fowler said. "The citizens do not have confidence in white policemen."

Lt. Ted C. Goines said the department is looking for more officers, "both black and white," but enough qualified men cannot be found. Of 15 recruits expected to join the force Friday, he said none is a Negro.

Dems to Review Clerk-Register Pick Thursday

The Oakland County Democratic Committee will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the County Courthouse to reconsider a candidate for the clerk-register of deeds position on the Nov. 5 ballot.

The ballot was left empty by the apparent drowning death of John D. Murphy, the incumbent clerk who disappeared and was presumed drowned in Lake Michigan on July 24. His body has not yet been found.

Murphy was nominated in the Democratic primary Aug. 6, running unopposed except by write-in candidates, even though he had been reported dead 10 days before.

On Aug. 13, Murphy's son, Shane, 26, of 3108 Coolidge, Royal Oak, was recommended by the Democratic Committee as a replacement for his father on the ballot. Legal steps were begun to have his name replace his father's on the upcoming ballot.

NOT GIVEN TIME

However since then, one of the five persons reportedly considered for the spot has claimed he was not given sufficient time to make his presentation before the committee.

Making the claim is Charlie Harrison, 36, of 85 Carr, a Pontiac Negro. Party officials said on the basis of Harrison's claim the meeting was called and the 400 members of the committee asked to attend and vote again on the issue.

Whoever is chosen will oppose Republican Lynn D. Allen, 42, of 110 Wenonah, a Pontiac optometrist. Allen's father, Lynn D. Allen Sr., held the county clerk post from 1932 until 1958.

Area Man's Body Is Found in Lake

ONEKAMA — The body of a 38-year-old Hazel Park man was found floating in Lake Michigan Tuesday, but his two teenage sons remained missing following a fishing trip.

Coast Guard officials said they found the body of Jack L. Mariucci about 4 p.m., floating off Portage Point Inlet near Onkama in Manistee County.

They said he was attached to a boat cushion. A shore resident had notified the Coast Guard he had seen the cushion shortly after noon.

Mariucci reportedly went fishing with his two sons, Donald, 18, and Lee, 16, Monday while his wife remained behind. Their small boat was found in the same general area as the body, authorities said.

from 704,000 to 2.2 million; dollar sales from $2.1 billion to $6.2 billion; earnings from a net loss of $34 million to a net profit of $200 million, and dividends paid stockholders from $13 million to $92 million.

Commenting on the strength of foreign confidence in the American economy, he said:

"In 1967 the net purchases by foreigners of U.S. corporate securities amounted to well over $1 billion. And in the first four months of 1968 alone that impressive total net figure for 1967 was equaled."

"The fact is that from the standpoint of people in other countries our economy has never looked stronger or inspired greater respect," Townsend said.

On the bill recently enacted in Congress to impose a surcharge on incomes and reduce federal expenditures, Townsend said:

"We at Chrysler believe the recent measures taken to check inflation and bring our national economy into a healthier relationship with the rest of the world have been all to the good. We hope they will help promote a sound and stable growth of the economy."

John J. Riccardo, group vice president U.S. and Canadian automotive, said sales of Dodge trucks during the first seven months of 1968 have been 39 per cent ahead of 1967 and have increased Dodge's share of the U.S. retail truck market from 6.8 to 8.3 per cent.

Newsmen were to get their first look at the new models this afternoon when the Chrysler and Plymouth were scheduled to be unveiled. The Dodges will be shown tomorrow.

Divers Call Off Search for Missing State Boy

PORT HURON — Skin divers called off a search for a missing 14-year-old Port Huron boy, presumed drowned in the St. Clair River.

James Goodson, Jr., the victim, had been swimming off a dock with a friend, Goodson apparently tired — called for help, but went under when the friend attempted to aid him. The river current in the accident area was reported to be swift.

Maddox Wants Part in Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, charging "raw discrimination," says he will demand participation in any nationally televised debate between Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Maddox, the newest Democratic presidential contender, was in Washington to appear before the party's platform committee and get a State Department briefing on Vietnam and other foreign affairs.

He said yesterday he is demanding participation in any debate in telegrams to all three television networks and to the Federal Communications Commission.

Prospects for the debate, tentatively planned for Friday night, have been clouded by an announcement Humphrey plans a brief vacation.

ASKS FCC AID

Sen. George S. McGovern, a fourth Democratic presidential contender, has asked the FCC to rule that he should be in any Humphrey-McCarthy debate.

A Humphrey spokesman said the vice president's vacation alone would not rule out the debate but that with the two other candidates demanding inclusion "they're having a little problem and it may not be held."

Maddox said one network, CBS, had offered him a separate half hour in lieu of participation in the debate.

Few Foresaw Red Move

Europe's Hopes Shattered

LONDON — The swift Soviet bloc thrust into Czechoslovakia shattered hopes of West European leaders that the Czechoslovaks might be able to work out some freer mode of life.

Some analysts of Soviet affairs had cautioned that Soviet action was inevitable unless there was a clampdown on the new liberalism. But most expected the Soviet Union to combine external pressures and internal subversion rather than use military force.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail N. Smirnovsky brought the first word to the British government in a postmidnight call at the home of Lord Chalfont, minister of state in the Foreign Office. He delivered an oral message for Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who immediately returned to London from a vacation in the Scilly Isles. Wilson called key ministers for a morning meeting and stayed in contact with Washington and other NATO allies.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and his Cabinet conferred after a night of studying news dispatches and diplomatic reports, then issued a statement condemning the invasion as "a clear violation of Czechoslovak sovereignty and interference in its internal affairs."

James A. Robert, acting general secretary of the NATO council, arranged a morning meeting of the council in Brussels to discuss the situation. Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe held off any move until the council could issue instructions.

LBJ OKs Hiring Cuts

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has approved an extra five per cent cutback in federal employment to make up for exemptions granted the Post Office Department, FBI and Federal Aviation Administration.

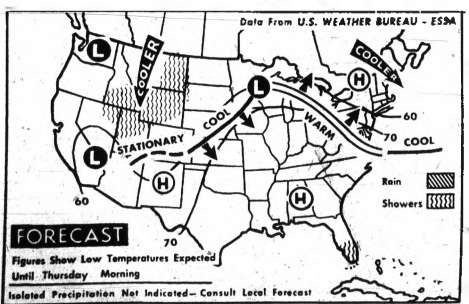

Johnson approved the cutbacks yesterday and Budget Director Charles Zwick said major agencies must start Sept. 1 limiting replacements to 70 per cent of those leaving federal service.

Firearm Registration Opposed by VFW

DETROIT (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars adopted a resolution Tuesday opposing any form of federal registration of firearms.

The delegates to the VFW's national convention said they specifically opposed any registration of rifles, shotguns or other sporting weapons. The resolution was adopted by a voice vote.

"We favor the enforcement of existing legislation by law enforcement agencies," the resolution said, "and an increase in the sentences imposed by the courts for use or possession or both, of firearms while committing a crime."

The delegates expressed concern about a mass outcry for gun laws following the assassinations of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Federal registration is not the answer, they said, "because of millions of guns that can never be accounted for and are now in the hands of Americans."

LIMIT COURT TERMS
The resolution described private ownership and use of firearms as a form of self-defense and premeditated training.

The delegates also adopted a resolution urging that U.S. Supreme Court justices be appointed to 10-year terms rather than for life.

That resolution was offered by Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, who is chairman of the VFW's Americanism Committee.

"Every official in our government is subject to the will of the people," Musmanno told the delegates. "Presidents, governors, senators, representatives, councilmen, constables have a definitely limited terms with the right to reelection or reappointment."

'LOST CONFIDENCE'

"But judges of the Supreme Court are not elected by the people, and are not accountable to the people," he said. "It may well be that it is because of this perpetuation in office that some members of the court have lost contact with reality and thus hand down decisions which challenge the Constitution and defy common sense."

Musmanno contended that the Supreme Court "by numerous, incomprehensible decisions" had "lost the confidence of the majority of our nation."

The resolution itself accused the Supreme Court of rendering decisions during the past 12 years "which have given aid and comfort to the Communist party and subversives."

It said the decisions have made it "practically impossible for the United States government to ferret out, prosecute and imprison those who are part of the Communist apparatus."

Since April 1966 aircraft oceanographic surveys have observed 132 miles whales in the Atlantic in 226 hours of observation time.

Health Offices Will Reopen

degrees. After the interruption of the July 4 holiday, Berman ordered the building closed the morning of July 5.

"I knew that morning that we faced something more than a simple virus," he said. "We immediately closed the building and began our preliminary probe into the matter."

ELIMINATED VIRUS

Three specimens were taken from the blood of each of the stricken employees. More than 300 specimens were taken in all. Throat cultures and stool specimens were also taken. All the results eliminated the possibility of a simple virus, but offered no further clues as to the medical origin of the sweeping sickness.

After a week of testing that yielded only more questions, Berman called in Michigan health officials from Lansing to help locate the problem.

When further investigations yielded no answers, the Michigan Health Department asked for the aid of United States Public Health officials.

About 20 officials from Atlanta, Ga., representing the Communicable Disease Center responded to the call for help, as did several officials from the air pollution section of the U.S. Health Department in Cincinnati, Ohio.

INVESTIGATORS HIT

During early investigations, at least five of the officials were stricken themselves. Late in July investigators and employees were not allowed in the building without protective masks.

It was noted by Berman that the sickness did not appear to be contagious — employees were going home, but no other family members were known to contract the symptomatic illness of the mysterious contamination. No permanent effects have been observed, either.

Through a long process of elimination that included testing and searching every corner of the building, the source of the contamination was finally discovered. The ventilation system was the logical place to begin the search, according to Berman, because the air-conditioning unit had been noticeably defective in past years.

After hours of crawling through dusty air ducts, a torn seam in one of the ducts was discovered that allowed contaminated air to enter the fresh air system.

COMPLETELY NEW

"The type of leak that was discovered was something completely new to all the authorities we talked to," Berman noted.

The leak was found in an exhaust duct that is located immediately adjacent to the fresh air system. The exhaust duct, which is part of the cooling system for the building, was known to have carried contaminated air, but the air was never supposed to have mixed with circulating fresh air.

The leak was not spotted earlier because of its obscure location in the complex system, which is located in the basement of the building, said health officials.

Health officials say this experience may lead to new codes that would outlaw such close proximity between the fresh air system and the independent cooling system.

WATER SYSTEMS

Similar cross connection systems are already outlawed for water supply systems to avoid mixing polluted water with household water, according to one health department spokesman.

Meanwhile, minimal operations have continued at the county department in makeshift trailers located outside the building. Other cases have been referred to the department's South Oakland County Office at Greenfield and 11½ Mile Road, Southfield.

The air-conditioning unit has been turned off and workers are preparing the building for use early next month. Dr. Berman hopes to resume normal activity by Sept. 1 without the benefit of air-conditioning.

He said the air-conditioning system will not be used again until authorities can be certain the contaminated air will not mix with the fresh air. This probably will mean relocating the cooling system to another part of the building away from the fresh air system.

COSTLY MOVE

Berman said it has been suggested to move the exhaust system to the roof of the 12-year-old building. Such an operation would cost about $10,000, he said.

He also admitted that an exact identity of the foreign substance that caused all the trouble "probably never will be determined." He said tests would continue, however, until all known possibilities could be exhausted and only guess work remained.

Firm Sets Dividend

ROCHESTER — The Board of Directors of Higbie Manufacturing Co. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 17½ cents a share on the $1 per-value common stock of the company, payable Nov. 1 to stockholders of record Oct. 15.

Teachers, Parents Are Welcome

New Superintendent Plans 'Open Door'

The new superintendent of West Bloomfield School District leaned back comfortably in his chair, thought for a minute and said, "I'm going to try and de-institutionalize the office of superintendent. I want my office to be a place where teachers and parents will feel comfortable and welcome."

Dr. Anthony P. Witham, 37, a man who speaks and moves in a calmly efficient manner and has a background which includes several professional appointments, publications and speaking engagements assumed his new position early last month with a large amount of enthusiasm.

The door to his newly redecorated colonial-style office is "always open" and he is looking forward to working and living in West Bloomfield community.

He and his wife, Betty Jane, and their two daughters are just getting settled in their new home at 6790 Commerce, Orchard Lake.

MONROE DISTRICT

Prior to accepting his present position, Witham was the assistant superintendent of Monroe Public Schools, a position he held for five years.

He received his BA in philosophy at Seton Hall University, South Orange, N.J., and his masters and doctors degrees in education at Wayne State University.

He taught at Berkley Public Schools in south Oakland County for five years, was curriculum consultant for the Genesee County Board of Education in Flint for three years and was the director of Flint Community College for one year.

During the years 1960-67 his professional part-time positions included visiting lecturer at Michigan State and Eastern universities and director of American and Canadian teacher institutes for Educational Development Laboratories, Huntington, N.Y.

TEAM APPROACH

Witham prefers a central team approach to the superintendency in directing school programs rather than one individual trying to do all, he said.

He hopes to accomplish a distinct climate for individuality, recognizing that there are differences at the community, board, teaching and student levels.

"This requires a mutual respect, considerable cooperation and much more communication," he said.

In addition to his work, Witham is looking forward to fishing, boating and swimming on Green Lake and enjoying his new home on the lake.

Chrysler's Bid for Rezoning to Be Aired in Troy Sept. 16

TROY — The city commission this week set Sept. 16 as the date for a public hearing to consider a request by Chrysler Corp. to rezone a 29-acre parcel in the city from residential to office use.

The site is located east of Crooks, south of Square Lake Road and west of 17½. It is part of 1,650 acres Chrysler owns in Troy.

According to city manager Paul York, the property is slated for a two-story, 75,000-square-foot office building which will serve as Chrysler's headquarters for its long-range development program in Troy.

Chrysler's land is the square mile bounded by Crooks and Coolidge and 18 and 19 Mile Roads as well as 1½ square miles of the periphery of the main block.

BUSINESS, RESIDENTIAL

York said that the corporation plans a long range development of the area for a business and residential community with all the necessary services and facilities.

The commission also approved the requests of the "Troy Daze" Committee for the city's first annual Labor Day celebration.

The committee had submitted a list of planned activities for the weekend festivities which the commission okayed.

The commission also appointed three Troy citizens to the city's hospital study committee. They were: Warren B. Cooksey, M.D., chief of staff at Crittenton Hospital; Joseph C. Andrews, D.O., associate chairman of the radiology department of Bi-County Community Hospital; and Owen R. Pinkerman, vice president and director of William Beaumont Hospital.

Woman Missing; Reward Is Offered

SOUTHFIELD (AP) — The family of a wealthy Detroit area builder has offered a $25,000 reward for the return of Judy Ruggiere, 29, a member of the family who has been missing for two days.

Police said Mrs. Ruggiere was reported missing shortly after midnight Sunday by her husband Anthony. Officers found her car behind a Detroit restaurant which was recently gutted by fire.

Investigating officers were not available for comment.

Mrs. Ruggiere is the daughter of the late A. J. Gargaro, a contractor.

Her sister, Mrs. Sue Curbelo of Southfield, said she thinks she must have been kidnapped.

There were no signs of a struggle in the house, but Mrs. Curbelo said "she wouldn't go without a fight unless she were forced at gunpoint."

State Riot Training Set

BATTLE CREEK — More than 3,000 Army reservists will undergo riot training this weekend at Ft. Custer near Battle Creek. A spokesman at Fifth Army Headquarters at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., said similar training will take place in other camps in the Wisconsin-Illinois-Indiana area.

Lake Huron Hunt Halted; Crippled Cruiser Spotted

ALPENA (UPI) — Coast Guard aircraft and boats conducted a six-hour search over a 2,400-square-mile area of Lake Huron yesterday after receiving a Mayday signal from a boat supposedly in distress.

The search was called off after a Coast Guard patrol plane spotted the cruiser Sha-Heen limping toward Alpena on one of its two engines. The Mayday signal of distress apparently was sounded by another cabin cruiser accompanying the Sha-Heen.

The Sha-Heen, owned by John W. Smith of Detroit, left Harbor Beach along with the cruiser Erica Jack early yesterday morning. Coast Guard officials said when the Sha-Heen lost power in one of its two engines, the Erica Jack sent out the Mayday, apparently thinking the Sha-Heen was in serious difficulty.

The Erica Jack, a 38-foot Chris-Craft owned by Robert Nichols of 1691 Wilshire, Beverly Hills, had six persons aboard and was bound for Harbor Springs on the other side of the Lower Peninsula. Aboard the Sha-Heen were Smith and his wife.

SEARCH CRAFT

After receiving the distress call, the Coast Guard dispatched two helicopters, one fixed wing aircraft, two lifeboats and one patrol boat. The search was conducted in an area between Harbor Beach and Thunder Bay Island with the Sha-Heen finally spotted opposite Harrisville, heading toward Alpena.

Smith pulled into Alpena late yesterday to undergo repairs on his vessel while the Erica Jack continued on to Mackinaw Island so its owner could be questioned by Coast Guard officials.

Tax Rate to Be Set for Orion Schools

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Community Schools Board of Education will meet at 7 this evening at the board offices to set the tax rates for the coming year as well as the salaries for administrators.

Lake Orion voters defeated a 3.5-mill school operations request Monday.

Yesterday Supt. Lewis Mundy said, "The board will have to meet to consider what action will be needed to attempt to operate without the extra millage."

Monday's county vote was 430 in favor of the mills and 598 against.

Absentee Tally Ousts Barakat

The canvas of votes from the Aug. 6 primary has changed the outcome of the Democratic Board of Supervisors race in the Madison Heights-Royal Oak District (No. 5).

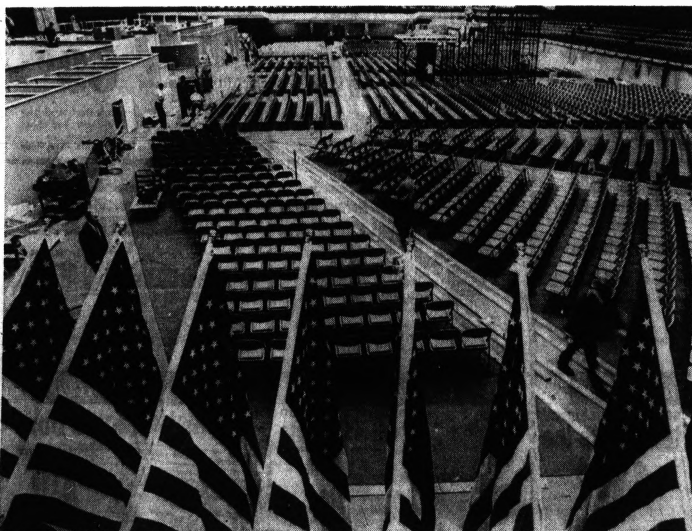

According to County Election Clerk Mable Childs, Lee Walker, the present mayor of Madison Heights, has become the official nominee, defeating formerly-declared winner Joseph Barakat by four votes.

Mrs. Childs said the canvass turned up a discrepancy in the recording of absentee ballots in that district. She said that absentee ballots for four of the precincts had not been included in the final vote totals.

The race, which was entered by seven Democratic hopefuls, first was reported won by Barakat by a four-vote margin. The additional absentee ballots, however, gave Walker eight more votes.

When told of the new outcome, Barakat seemed unsurprised. He indicated that this latest incident was another of what he called a "number of irregularities in the District 5 election procedures."

Although he was not sure what his next step would be, he said, "this thing isn't over yet." According to election rules, he has until Monday to request a recount.

English Girl, 16, Flees Kidnapers After Four Days

DETROIT (UPI) — An intensive four-day search for a missing 16-year-old English girl ended last night when she walked into a precinct police station.

Catherine Reid told police she had been kidnapped by four men and a woman Friday night and held captive at a house on the city's northwest side until she managed to escape and flag down a passing motorist.

The girl disappeared Friday night while on an outing to Detroit with her cousin, Phyllis Barton, 13, also of Liverpool, England.

The cousins were in America on six-month visas to attend the wedding of their aunt.

ACCEPTED RIDE

Phyllis told police she and Catherine accepted a ride from a carload of strangers and were driven to a spot near their guardian's home in Novi. They got out of the car and walked away but Catherine later returned when one of the men called her back.

The men forced Catherine into the car, Phyllis said.

Police questioned the older girl briefly when she reappeared last night, then took her to her guardian's home. Police said they planned to question her further today.

Waterford Schools End Data-Gathering on American Negro

A five-week workshop aimed into five distinct periods of the accumulation of history. In the first section, historical data on American Negroes has been completed in the Waterford Township School District. Seven teachers and administrators participated.

Some 100 pages outlining the accomplishments of Negroes in various fields of endeavor will supplement the school system's curriculum this fall as a result of the workshop.

Workshop chairman Kenneth Cooper, principal of Four Towns Elementary School, said the curriculum supplement will be used immediately in the upper elementary grades. "We hope it will be adapted to all grade levels later," Cooper added.

He said the main purpose of the summer project was to gather sufficient information to place black Americans within the appropriate framework in the development of American history and social science.

OMISSION TARGET

Workshop participants were instructed to "remove the omission of the existence of black people in America" in the district's teaching materials.

The conspicuous absence of the American Negro from history textbooks has become a matter of concern for educators everywhere. Cooper said textbook publishers are always slow to revise editions, and he predicted that an acceptable text probably would not appear on the market for at least another year.

Even when an adequate text does appear, the supplemental materials gathered this summer still can be useful because they will provide additional supplemental reading as well as a good bibliography for future reference, Cooper noted.

For the first year use of the materials will be optional. Cooper said several teachers have said they will use the materials and he hopes that before long all teachers will realize their value and utilize them.

A NATURAL THING

"Inclusion of the supplemental material should be a natural thing — we want to avoid teaching it as a separate chapter or making it conspicuous in any way," Cooper said.

The seven-member committee broke black participation down

"There are a lot of misconceptions about the American Negro's origin in our country," Cooper says. "Not all of them came to this country as slaves — and a good number were leading lecturers in America!"

The remaining three historic breakdowns were from the Emancipation Proclamation's signing in 1862 through the post-Civil War Reconstruction period; Reconstruction through the 1920's, and the 1920's to present.

NEGRO IN MICHIGAN

Another area of interest for the committee was a history of the Negro in Michigan.

Cooper said the workshop benefitted the teachers involved as much as he hopes it will benefit Waterford students. "It put a little new life into all of us — it was a real learning experience," Cooper exclaimed.

3rd Jackson Bank Eyed

JACKSON (AP) — A group of Jackson investors organized by two executives of the Litchfield State Savings Bank is working to establish a new bank in Jackson.

The group has applied to State Banking Commissioner Robert P. Briggs for a state bank charter for a company it plans to call the Midwest Bank. Jackson has two banks now — City Bank and Trust Co. and National Bank of Jackson.

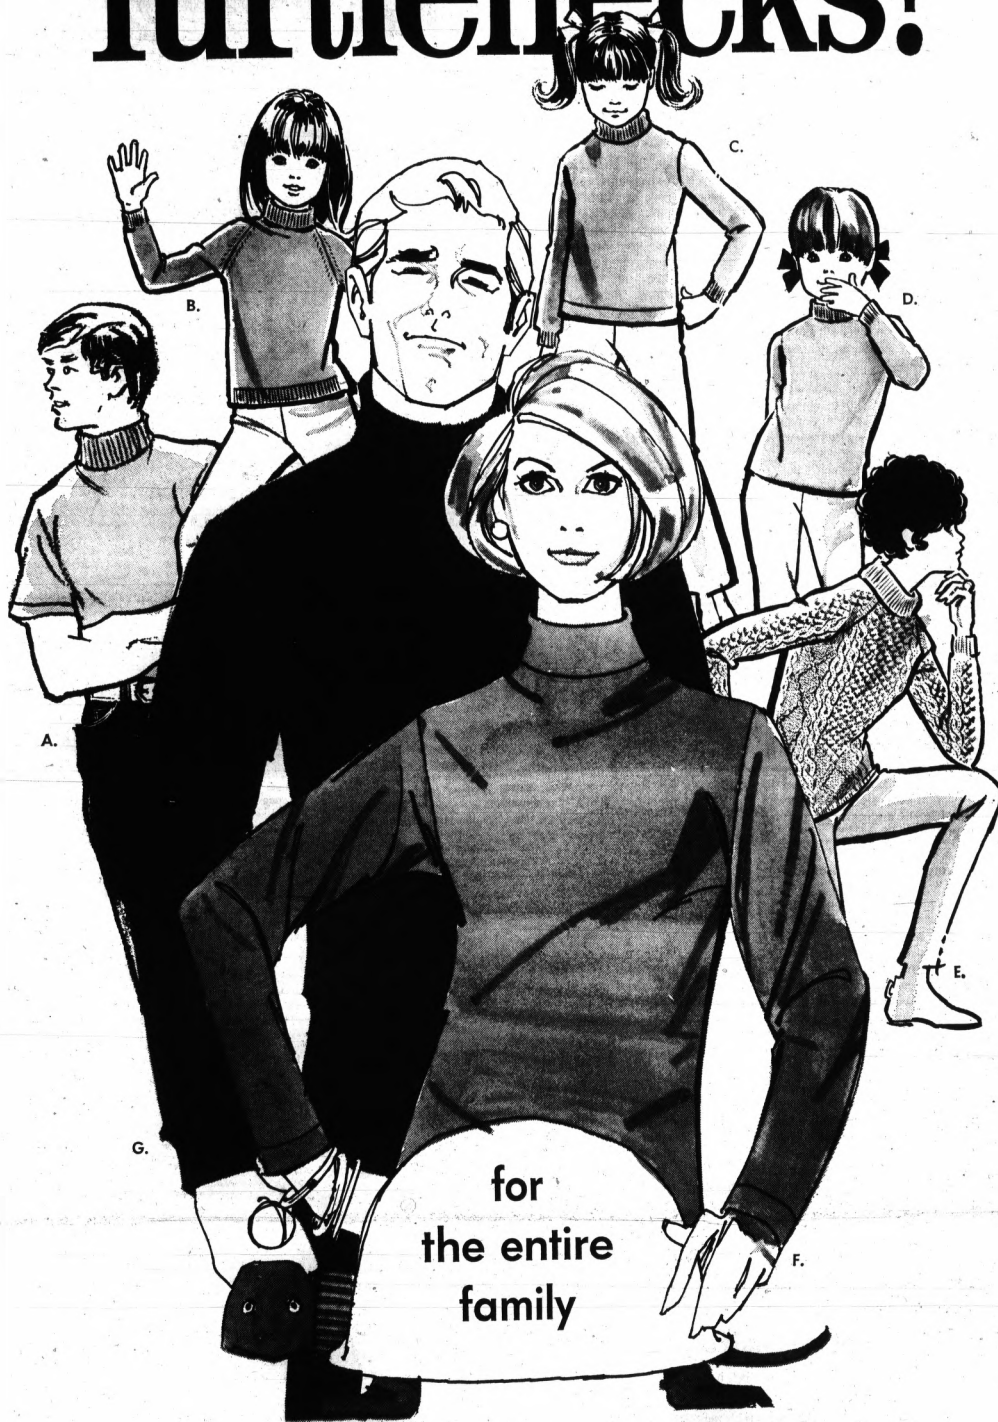

Briggs has 60 days in which to rule on the application for the new bank, which would begin operations by the end of the year.

Leading the investor group are E. Dean Edwards, president of the Litchfield Bank, and John F. Langs of Detroit, board chairman of the Litchfield bank.

Edwards said Midwest Bank would have no connection with the Litchfield Bank other than sharing the two men as officers. Initial capital funds amount to $1 million, Edwards said, and are being supplied by about 115 individuals.

Trace Decline of Passenger Service

A recent survey by the Association of American Railroads showed a remarkably broad grasp of railroad problems by the public — with but one exception. "That had to do with discontinuance of rail passenger trains. Apparently, the public has failed to understand its own changing transportation preferences and the ensuing economic stress that it has placed on the rails."

In the AAR pamphlet recently released, the story is told of why passenger trains are disappearing. People have simply chosen other forms of transport and not because of declining service.

Shortly after World War II, the railroads and the Pullman Company spent over $500 million for new, modernized passenger equipment.

This equipment included ultra-modern chair cars, plush sleeping cars with showers, valet service, radio-telephones, dining cars with full course meals, lounge cars with coffee shops and bar service, vista-dome observation cars, air conditioning and other conveniences and luxuries.

'Liberals' Attempting to Lead a Balking America?

The classical definition of liberalism is grossly distorted in the belief of many of the new-style liberals that Government is the friend and protector of the people.

JAMES H. LORIE, professor of Business Administration at the University of Chicago, takes exception to the new liberalism: "The Constitution of the United States was based in part on the belief that people needed protection FROM the Government, and that free, competitive enterprise was the most efficient engine for promoting the public good."

"The intellectual climate of this country," he elaborated, "then placed the burden of proof for the necessity of interference with the market process on those who would interfere. Interference was presumed to be an error unless an overwhelming case could be made for it."

Wallace: 'Don't Do as I Do; Just Do as I Say'

Former Alabama governor GEORGE WALLACE is beginning to worry Democrats and Republicans alike the way he is winning friends and influencing voters with his no-nonsense promise to chastise the dissidents and restore respect for law and order in America.

Wallace, it should be remembered, was the man who once literally stood in the school-

But in spite of these innovations, passenger traffic declined. If the rails had been still running as many trains as they did in 1957, passenger deficits in 1967 would have been about $1.5 billion — more than the industry's total net operating income from freight service.

In 1959, the Interstate Commerce Commission conducted a long study of the passenger train crisis. It reported that railroads have "conscientiously endeavored to improve their standards of service" and "generally have not discontinued trains without serious efforts—sometimes prolonged—to make them pay, and only after sympathetic consideration of public convenience."

The U.S. will depend more and more on the rails for the hauling of freight. To meet this transport challenge, every available rail investment dollar must go for the continuation of a modernization program which is reshaping the railroad industry from the ground up to the benefit of the entire Nation.

LORIE holds that in the present intellectual climate the reverse is probably true — actions by the government to regulate business are presumed to be beneficent and the burden of proof is on those who oppose.

The professor compared the tender concern of Government for the consumer to the Boy Scout who came to a scout meeting with a black eye. The scout explained that he had tried to help a little old lady across the street.

"How in the world," asked the scoutmaster, "could you get a black eye doing that?" The scout replied, "She didn't want to go."

Could it be that the people do not wish to go where the new liberals are trying to lead them?

house door to defy the law of the land on the matter of integration and whose campaign speeches carry the implication that the order of the courts on the same issue will be ignored should he become president.

Here's one case where it seems the meaning of law and order, like beauty, is in the beholder whose eye is getting poked.

Political Moves Distress Intellectual

By RAYMOND MOLEY

As we shall see when the Democrats complete their deliberations in Chicago, it is difficult for idealistic intellectuals to accept the thorny realities of politics. In the early days of the republic, the political leaders themselves were an intellectual elite, but more recently academic people and practical politicians are uneasy partners.

Never has this painful lack of adjustment been so well documented as in a new book by Rexford G. Tugwell, "The Brain Trust," which is an account of his mental and emotional experience while serving Franklin Roosevelt in the campaign of 1932.

Rex's story begins when, because of his outstanding talents, his grasp of the problem, and his utter sincerity, I enlisted him early in April 1932 in what became known as Roosevelt's Brain Trust.

His ideas were fairly radical, but he served as an intellectual stimulant to Mr. Roosevelt who realized that he must come up with fresh ideas to combat the Depression.

NATIONAL PLANNING

Tugwell's views on "agricultural planning" had been accepted by all. They called for national planning in that field. But Rex believed that planning should be advocated for industry as well. Rex carried his cause to Mr. Roosevelt and his present book recites his long arguments with him on the subject.

By mid-September it was clear that the election was won. The practical course under those circumstances was to excite as little controversy as possible. The Brain Trust had already been fiercely accused of radical and dangerous designs. And we realized that the concept of planned industry would elicit little understanding and great opposition.

We also believed that it was best to keep Mr. Roosevelt's options open until after the election.

And so it was FDR's decision to keep his speeches safely within the bounds of orthodoxy. This course deeply depressed Rex. And in all the years since in this eloquent book he has voiced his regret.

'PITIFUL PATCHES'

He also says that the reforms after the inauguration were but "pitiful patches." There was in "an amazing resemblance to Hoover" who would have adopted most of them had he been free from the restrictions of a Democratic House and the traditionalists in his own party.

We can never know what might have happened if Franklin Roosevelt had adopted the Tugwell plans. We do know that with his mastery capacity to inspire confidence in what he did do, the Great Depression was licked. That has always been my answer to those who would have followed a different course.

Tougher Attitude on Russia Seen

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — At a sensitive moment in American politics, the Soviet Union's troop thrust into Czechoslovakia is likely to harden the foreign affairs posture of Democrats convening in Chicago and of the Republican party as well.

Among Democrats, the crisis in eastern Europe probably will assist Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who already is the commanding leader for the presidential nomination to be awarded at the party's national convention next week.

His chief rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, is banking heavily on a convention battle over Vietnam war policy to bolster his bid to overtake Humphrey. But echoes of the European crisis undoubtedly will make the task of Democratic doves far more difficult. For the convention is not likely to adopt a conciliatory plank on dealing with the Communists in Vietnam while Communist troops in Europe are on the march.

WEEKS OF TENSION

The movement by Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops came after weeks of tension over internal liberalization of the Czech Communist regime. The trend represented a break with old-line Communism.

The Soviet government said its troops moved at the request of Czechoslovakia to meet a threat to the Socialist system.

While the situation was not clear, its impact on the Democratic platform hearings under way in Washington could only be one of stiffening attitudes toward the Communist world.

President Johnson summoned the National Security Council into crisis session—and candidate Humphrey is a member of that panel.

NATIONAL UNITY

If the crisis persists, the political drawbacks of identification with President Johnson's administration—and its Vietnam policy—may be offset for Humphrey by the tendency toward national unity behind the government, which normally occurs in times of international tension.

In fact, there has been the expected flurry of gossip that in this time of crisis there might be a late-starting movement to draft Johnson himself for the nomination—though he has said he would not accept renomination.

For the Republicans and their presidential nominee, Richard M. Nixon, there was a tinge of irony in the European developments.

Two weeks ago, Nixon accepted his nomination with a speech in which he held out hope for a time of negotiations with the Communist world.

But the ever-cautious Nixon added that "we shall restore the strength of America so that we shall always negotiate from strength and never from weakness."

In view of European developments, the latter phase of his remarks is likely now to take precedence.

A similar trend can be expected among many Democrats.

Bob Considine Says:

Yaz Not the Only One to Endure Fickle Fans

NEW YORK — A limited number of articulate inmates of a former insane asylum named Fenway Park, Boston, have been booing Carl Yastrzemski this year.

Carl is somewhat less of a baseball god than he was a year ago when he was leading the Red Sox to the top of the American League in the most enthralling finish in baseball history. His crime this year seems to be that he's mortal.

Hard to believe that idolatrous cheers can turn to scornful jeers in such a short time, but there it is. There was a hard core of Boston fans which booed Ted Williams through much of that immortal hitler's life, even after his World War II and Korean war service which knocked him out of what would have been some of the best years of his playing life.

Ted occasionally thumbed his nose at his tormentors or exasperated in their general direction. For such acts as these he was given a hard time by the management and some of the more easily outraged members of the news media.

Williams' case ventilated a relatively new bit of American slang. He was accused of having "rabbi ears"—that is, he could hear one guy booing him in the midst of a thunderous cheer from 25,000 others.

HAMS AT HEART

Probably true. Baseball players, most athletes as a matter of fact, and nearly all politicians, actors, writers, painters, poets, preachers, architects, bridge-builders, ballerinas, comedians and columnists have built-in rabbit ears. All creative people are hams at heart.

The late, great Buck O'Neil of the New York Journal wrote one of the most glittering attacks on the booing of a public hero, many years ago. "There's something like this," he wrote on Old Glory, burn the Bill of Rights—but don't boo Babe Ruth."

Trudy Cobb once went into the grandstand to slug a vicious heckler, who turned out to be a cripple. Cobb was fined a large sum and roundly denounced throughout baseball for doing what would have come naturally to almost any other abused man.

Eddie Arcaro, the best jockey of his time became so accustomed to being booed that he always seemed genuinely surprised when he heard himself cheered for winning the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness or the Belmont.

SELECT COMPANY

We've all heard huge gatherings at sports events and other assemblies but a president of the United States, a governor, senator and, by all means, hizzoner the mayor. Yaz, therefore, can take some comfort from the fact that he is now a bonafide member of a distinguished club, a club limited to the mighty — the hems of whose garments, once wet with kisses, are now spat upon by jerks who have memories as easily erasable as the markings on a slate.

Deadlock Breaker

The Muskegon Chronicle

Regardless of which poll you read — and better explanations are due from the Gallup and Harris organizations — the opinion-samplers have been consistent in giving George C. Wallace 15 to 16 per cent of the vote — quite possibly enough to create an Electoral College deadlock and give the Alabamaan sufficient bargaining clout to some dubious Dixie-flavored dealing.

Concern has drawn support from both parties for a plan to insure that the presidential candidate winning a plurality of the popular vote be elected by the House of Representatives if no candidate received the necessary majority of 270 votes in the Electoral College.

Six leading senators have asked their colleagues to endorse the proposal.

The Constitution provides that in the event of an Electoral College deadlock, the election shall be decided in the House, with each state having one vote. Sponsors of the plan would arrange a previous agreement among the candidates for the 91st House — seated and nonseated — that they would vote for the presidential candidate who received a plurality of the nationwide vote.

Letter Tells of Problems With New Sewer System

The new sewer system in Waterford Township is a joke. We have been torn up for months and still are not permitted to connect to it. In the meantime, every time we have a shower our basements are flooded. Washers, dryers, furnaces, water heaters and other expensive appliances and furnishings are ruined.

Who is going to help us repair or replace these expensive items? How long are people going to sit back and allow a handful of politicians to lead us around by the nose? I am sick of the filthy messes to clean up and the expensive repair bills. How about you?

'Area Could Help Girl Live a Normal Life'

An article about the little girl who needs $20,000 worth of plastic surgery said that only a little over $3,000 had been collected. Where is the heart of the people of the Pontiac area? If each family gave $1 toward this fund, this little girl could live a normal life.

Seeks Answers to Problems of Our Youth

What can be done to stop the fire that rages out of control in the heart and soul of our youth? They do not respond even when it means curtailment of their own programs as in West Bloomfield Township, where sponsored dances were canceled because of the youngsters' troublesomeness.

Who is to blame for the actions of our youth? Is it the parents who close their eyes to their offspring's doings? People say that youth must have fun, but it is fun to destroy everything in sight?

Give the teachers a hand in dealing with troublemakers. They may perhaps be a little unreasonable at times. But isn't this better than having communities torn with disorders of all kinds?

We can also indict the Church, charging it with letting down many of its standards. Church leaders are afraid to speak out lest restless youth get the idea they no longer need the church.

Some place the blame on law enforcement agencies, saying, that by their policies, the police have forced youth to being rebellious. But said to say, police have orders to handle with kid gloves and the young, aware of this, are taxing the patience of officers all over the Nation.

Many remedies are being tried: youth centers, job training, sports, etc. Constructive programs are good but take time to get results.

Remember we need the youth and youth needs us. The youth of the Nation is waiting to see what we will do.

We're planning a trip to North Carolina and would like credit cards similar to Michigan Bankard for each state: Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana. Can you help us?

MRS. RICHARD SOUCEY

REPLY

It might be difficult to get out-of-state credit cards, to say nothing of the inconvenience. We called several credit card companies and most suggested using Diners' Club or American Express credit cards, both of which are widely accepted. Applications will be sent if you call 341-4400 for Diners' Club, 963-5640 for American Express. You can also borrow money on your Michigan Bankard and repay it just as you would a charge purchase.

Theological Revolution Taught

By NOEL GROVE
CHICAGO — (NEA) — They openly admit to being revolutionaries. And they do not object to being called propagandists.

"It is a choice of either programming people's minds and getting the message across, or not programming them and not getting it told. Because you know the other side is doing it."

Joe Feller speaking. Not a member of a Black Power group or the American Communist party, but a churchman.

As a staff member of the Ecumenical Institute here, he serves as an instructor in the institute's "spirit movement," aimed at giving new meaning and purpose to established concepts of church and religion.

To do this, the institute periodically conducts weekend courses in their theology in 65 cities in the United States and several foreign countries.

RESEARCH GROUP

Established in 1957 as a research group in theological reform, the Ecumenical Institute first received financial aid from the Chicago Federation of Churches and other religious sources, but is now financially dependent upon contributions of its followers.

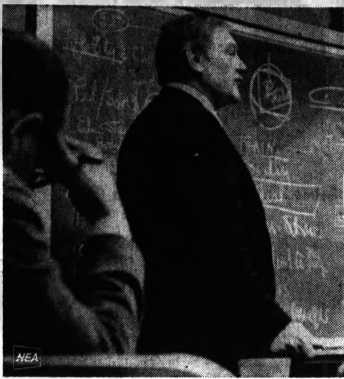

Staff includes about 100 full-time workers in the Chicago headquarters, plus cadres of chapters of followers around the United States and beyond.

The headquarters are located on the campus of a former church seminary in the middle of the West Side Negro ghetto. In addition to theological reform the institute is involved in an experimental program in ghetto rehabilitation.

The tenets of the institute's theology are enough to shake most fundamentalists to the hem of the choir robes. EI does not hold with an afterlife. And the virgin birth it explains as "a gimmick of the time of the Caesars, a Good Housekeeping seal of approval on the conception of anyone important."

The lesson which EI hopes to inject into its weekend students is acceptance — of death, but especially of life. The word that the church has to say about life, they say, is that all life is good. The theology of Ecumenical Institute would have modern man setting sail over the sewers of life aboard a raft of integrity.

Curiously, the main objection particular position developed in many churchmen have to the America in the '60s, related to ECUMENICAL "BRAINWASH" — Dr. Joseph Mathews, dean of the Ecumenical Institute, teaches a class at EI headquarters in Chicago. The institute's classes on theology are designed to give new meaning and purpose to established concepts of church and religion.

Not enjoyable, and avoidable if possible, but good, just as the smell of sweat is not fun but part of participation in sports.

But if life is good, EI adds, living isn't easy. Living is toil and fear, frustration and annoyance. Recognition of this and acceptance of all, therefore become prime virtues.

Once unencumbered by false illusions of what he is and what life is, EI feels, modern man is free to live a life of commitment, to live intentionally, helping to shape and lead history in the way that best benefits mankind.

"History," said one EI staff member, "is like a bunch of kids playing crack the whip. We want the church and the individuals in it at the front of the line giving the direction, instead of being flipped around at the rear."

SPIRITUAL FATALISM

A sort of spiritual fatalism emerges, a dedication to an ethical living of the moment, with no promises of reward. The theology of Ecumenical Institute would have modern man setting sail over the sewers of life aboard a raft of integrity.

Curiously, the main objection particular position developed in many churchmen have to the America in the '60s, related to institute's teaching concerns not the message but the method.

The beginning course in EI theology offered on weekends is a masterpiece of timing and presentation, right down to voice inflection and repetition of key words and phrases (you're going to die, going to die, going to die).

Those who come to one of the institute's centers for the course stay on the premises. It's no Sunday School picnic. It's a boot camp of the mind.

QUICKIE LECTURES

A battery of instructors trades off with one skillful, practiced presentation after another. Quickie lectures on the modern theories of Niebuhr, Bullmann, Bonhoeffer and Tillich are interspersed with the poetry of D. H. Lawrence ("How Beastly the Bourgeois Is"), discussion of an antiwar Picasso painting ("Guernica"), and the showing and almost scene-by-scene character analysis of the movie "Requiem for a Heavyweight."

One result has been cries of indoctrination and unreasonable dogmatism.

They have taken a largest paper money ever issued was the one kwan note of the Chinese Ming dynasty issue of 1688-99; it measured 9 inches by 13 inches.

existentialism, and brought with it a high personal commitment and related it to a sociological analysis of the city," says the Rev. John G. McElhinney, Methodist minister of Philadelphia, Pa.

"This has some value, of course, because there is a meaningfulness about our society today. But, on the other hand, I find it objectionable to limit it to this approach, to say that now the questions of theology have been answered completely, and to attempt to push this down into the local parish."

ONLY SOLUTION

"You get this feeling," said a staff member of the National Council of Churches in New York, "that they are convinced that they and they alone have the plan that will solve the problems of the church and the world."

A visit by an EI contingent to Japan brought angry cries from a seminar participant there. Masao Takenaka, writing in the religious publication "Christian Century," stated: "What took place showed little evidence of dialogue. Rather, we were given a one-sided teaching experience in a brainwashing exercise in indoctrination."

Institute staff members defend their technique from the standpoint of efficiency.

"We only have 44 hours in which to get our message across," said one, "and we have to do it in the best way we can. If we had two weeks in which to say what we want to say, we'd be glad to do it that way, with open discussion and questioning."

ALL'S FAIR

"We don't give them much chance to talk," admitted Joseph Mathews, dean of the institute. "We want to reprogram their minds, knock them loose from the two-story universe concept, and let what happens happen after they leave."

If that amounts to brainwashing, then all's fair in Christian love and ethical conflict, according to the institute.

After all, shrugged EI staffer Joe Feller, "we're in a revolution."

Clash Marks Hearing on Parochial aid

LANSING (UPI) — Supporters and opponents of state financial aid to nonpublic schools clashed today at a legislative study committee hearing on the controversial issue.

A spokesman for the Michigan Council of Churches said such aid would establish a dangerous precedent and might even be unconstitutional.

"The state of Michigan is in no way obligated or justified in supporting various expressions of religious education for general welfare or any other reasons," said Rev. Robert C. Frears, interim executive director of the council.

Foremost among favorable witnesses were director William Ford of the Michigan Office of Economic Opportunity and Lansing Attorney Leo A. Farhat. They said the steadily rising costs of education would force many private schools to shut down unless they receive some state aid.

AID TO DISADVANTAGED

"Many of our nonpublic schools in Michigan have exerted real effort in opening their doors to the disadvantaged, particularly in the inner city of Detroit," said Ford. "But it will be most difficult if not impossible to maintain the nonpublic effort without financial help."

The joint legislative committee, headed by Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, has been holding public hearings around the state in an effort to get a wide spectrum of views on the school aid proposal. Sessions are scheduled for Escanaba next Tuesday and Muskegon next Thursday.

The Rev. Frears said if the state extended financial aid to parochial schools, it would be bound to exercise control over them.

"When the state provides public money to any educational institution, it has the right, indeed the moral obligation, to exercise controls on the expenditure of those funds," he said.

TWO QUESTIONS

"Therefore, I would raise two questions: Are the nonpublic schools willing to relinquish some of their important freedoms in order to receive financial aid from the state, and are the state board of education and the Legislature going to be responsible in use of public monies if they give financial assistance to nonpublic schools without controls?"

Farhat, a former Ingham County prosecutor and president of the Michigan Prosecutors Association, said there would be no constitutional question raised.

"The Legislature, as a co-equal branch of government, has the right, if not the duty, to provide for the secular education of all children regardless of the school they attend," Farhat said.

He said the constitutionality of state aid to private school students for secular education purposes has been tested and cleared by the U. S. Supreme Court.

PARTLY COVERED

Michigan now pays for private and parochial school bus programs, remedial reading and related projects, and provides grants and scholarships for parochial college students.

Legislation to provide for direct state financial aid to nonpublic school students failed to emerge from committee in the 1968 Legislature.

Volunteers Man Dowagiac Hoses

DOWAGIAC (AP)—If you live in Dowagiac and your house catches on fire chances are you'll see City manager Milton Mitchell manning a fire hose. The trouble began Aug. 12, when the city's nine firemen submitted their resignations after the city passed a proposal to combine the police and fire departments. Object of the proposal was to save money by cross-training the personnel.

Tuesday the city council refused to acknowledge the withdrawal of six of the firemen's resignations, thereby leaving the Cass County city of 7,200 without a fire department.

Mitchell said he would help temporarily man the fire department, along with the city assessor and the manager of the city's municipal facilities.

'Mac' Crossing Set for Hikers

ST. IGNACE (AP)—A once-a-year event—a free crossing of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge—will be a Labor Day feature again this year.

The only gimmick is, you have to walk it. More than 15,500 persons showed up for the 11th annual four and one-half mile walk across the Straits, span last year.

Among them was Gov. George Romney, who is expected to make it again this year, his schedule permitting.

In 1966, Romney was clocked in 57 minutes. Last year, the governor completed the distance in 47 minutes.

Larry Rubin, executive secretary of the Bridge Authority, said the record is 34 minutes, set by Ron Laird, an Olympic walker, now of California.

SPEEDSTERS EARLY

Those who are trying for speed and a record are asked to show up early at the St. Ignace Plaza entrance to the bridge.

The Michigan Amateur Athletic Union is sponsoring a walking contest starting at 7:10 a.m. A competition sponsored by the International Walkers Association will kick off at 7:40.

Walkers who want to make it a more leisurely stroll can start any time from 8 until 10:30 a.m. All who finish will receive a certificate noting their time. There will be prizes for the youngest and oldest competitors.

BUSES AVAILABLE

In addition, buses will take competitors to the St. Ignace starting point until 10 a.m. Buses also will make a return trip for those who want to get back from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace.

Vehicle traffic will continue during the walk over two lanes of the bridge.

Detroit Figure Given a Fine and Probation

GROSSE POINTE (AP)—Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, reputed Detroit area Mafia kingpin, was found guilty Tuesday of violating Michigan's gun registration laws.

Grosse Pointe Municipal Judge Douglas Patterson put Giacalone on probation for a year and fined him $100. Giacalone thus escaped a 90-day jail term because, according to Patterson, "he's a family man. He knows better."

"Putting him in jail on this charge isn't going to do anybody any good," he added.

Giacalone, along with his brother, Vito, was named in a 1963 U. S. Senate subcommittee testimony as a Detroit Mafia leader.

FOUND AT HOME

He was arrested after unregistered weapons were found at his home during a search May 13.

Giacalone's defense attorney Joseph Louisell said he will appeal Patterson's decision.

Vito Giacalone is scheduled to go on trial in the same court Wednesday on similar charges.

Russia's Might Felt by Neighbors

EDITOR'S NOTE—The writer is an Associated Press correspondent formerly stationed in Prague and Moscow.

By A. I. GOLDBER
Associated Press Writer

The might of more than three million Soviet troops has weighed heavily on the Soviet Union's neighbors in Central Europe and the Middle East since the end of World War II in 1945.

Iran, Turkey and Israel have at various times been under the shadow of the threat.

Hungary, in an abortive rebellion in 1956, felt the crushing weight of Soviet tanks and firepower.

Czechoslovakia, which swung into Communist ranks in 1948 under the threat of action by Soviet troops only a few hours drive away, listened to the rumble of tanks as units of the Warsaw Pact armies drove today toward Prague.

2nd INVASION RECALLED

It was the second time in just under 30 years that Czechoslovakia had been invaded. The other time was in March 1939, when Adolf Hitler's Nazi armies blitzkrieged Bohemia and Moravia, making them a German Third Reich protectorate and giving autonomy to Slovakia.

Soviet troops liberated the country in May 1945 while U.S. troops under Gen. George S. Patton Jr. held up at Pilsen on the orders from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Supreme Command headquarters in Paris.

The current Statesman's Yearbook, a British publication, says that in 1966 the Soviet army was thought to consist of about 140 divisions, 70 of them in combat readiness and numbering about two million men. Says two or three divisions are stationed in Poland, 22 in East Germany, and two army and two air divisions in Hungary. The Soviet Union was believed to have also about 350,000 security and border troops. The air force was believed to consist of more than 500,000 men with about 11,000 first-line aircraft in 1966.

As in the case of Hungary, the Soviet Union said its action in moving troops into Czechoslovakia Tuesday night was at the request of the country's leaders to protect the government against anti-Soviet forces. The first Soviet announcement from Moscow was distributed in English by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The announcement did not square with Prague Radio's first reports, which said the Soviets Say Czechs Asked Aid

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced its military intervention in Czechoslovakia today by claiming Czechoslovak government and Communist party leaders had asked for aid to put down a threat from "counterrevolutionary forces" acting in "collusion with foreign forces hostile to socialism," the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

The dispatch in English also was monitored in New York. It said: "Tass is authorized to state that party and government leaders of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic have asked the Soviet Union and other allied states to render the fraternal Czechoslovak people urgent assistance, including assistance with armed forces."

"This request was brought about by the threat which has arisen in the Socialist system, existing in Czechoslovakia, and to the statehood established by the constitution, the threat emanating from the counterrevolutionary forces which have entered into a collusion with foreign forces hostile to socialism."

The statement came over teleprinters of the Russian news service in English.

SUBJECT OF EXCHANGES

It added:

"The events in Czechoslovakia and around her were repeatedly the subject of exchanges of views between leaders of fraternal Socialist countries, including the leaders of Czechoslovakia. These countries are unanimous in that the support, consolidation and defense of the peoples' Socialist gains is a common internationalist duty of all the Socialist states. This common stand of theirs was solemnly proclaimed in the Bratislava statement."

"The further aggravation of the situation in Czechoslovakia affects the vital interests of the Soviet Union and other Socialist states, the interests of the security of the states of the Socialist community. The threat to the Socialist system in Czechoslovakia constitutes at the same time a threat to the mainstays of European peace."

"The Soviet government and the governments of the allied countries—the People's Republic of Bulgaria, the Hungarian People's Republic, the German Democratic Republic, the Polish People's Republic—proceeding from the principles of inseparable friendship and cooperation and in accordance with the existing contractual commitments, have decided to meet the above-mentioned request for rendering necessary help to the fraternal Czechoslovak people."

"This decision is fully in accord with the right of states to individual and collective self-defense envisaged in treaties of alliance concluded between the fraternal Socialist countries. This decision is also in line with vital interests of our countries in safeguarding European peace against forces of militarism, aggression and revenge which have more than once plunged the peoples of Europe into wars."

"TROOPS TO WITHDRAW"

"Soviet armed units together with armed units of the above-mentioned allied countries entered the territory of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 21. They will be immediately withdrawn from the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic as soon as the threat to the gains of socialism in Czechoslovakia, the threat to the security of the Socialist community countries is eliminated and the lawful authorities find that further presence of these armed units there is no longer necessary."

"The actions which are being taken are not directed against any state and in no measure infringe state interests of anybody. They serve the purpose of peace and have been prompted by concern for its consolidation."

"The fraternal countries firmly and resolutely counterpose their unbreakable solidarity to any threat from outside. Nobody will be ever allowed to wrest a single link from the community of Socialist states."

"BABY NEEDS A NEW PAIR OF SHOES."

Contrary to what you may have heard from your Great Aunt Minnie, Wall Street is not Las Vegas. The difference between them is simple: the Strip is for gamblers, the Street is for investors. Now that doesn't mean Wall Street offers only gilt-edged blue chips. Some stocks offer prospects for Capital gains or growth. Still others are bought for income. But whatever your investment objectives are, the name of the game on Wall Street is information: concrete facts and definite opinions. And that's where we can improve your chances. Each year we study literally hundreds of companies; what we learn and what we conclude can help you be a more informed investor. So if "baby needs a new pair of shoes", try Las Vegas. But if you're planning for baby's college education, give one of our Registered Representatives a call. Or send for our Financial Services Brochure. No cost or obligation, of course.

fighting, Premier Imre Nagy announced that the Soviet Union had acceded to demands that all Soviet troops be withdrawn from Hungary.

The rebellion slowed down. But the Soviet forces moved back to surround Budapest and in an attack Nov. 4, 1956, an estimated 200,000 troops backed by 2,500 tanks and armored cars put down the remnants of rebellion. There were casualty reports varying from 6,500 to 32,000 dead. There was a wave of executions and deportations. Nearly 200,000 fled from the country.

Nagy was removed and Janos J. Kadar, supported by the Soviet Union, became premier. The Soviet troops retired into the countryside again. Nagy and three of his associates were executed in 1958.

The Soviet Union's first test of military power after World War II was in Iran. Soviet troops remained in the country despite an agreement that they and British troops would leave six months after any armistice with Germany and her associates. The British left six months after the armistice with Japan.

The nearness of Poland to Soviet military might and mobility was a factor in suppressing the workers' rioting in Poznan in 1956 which threatened the government.

Developer Request on Services Nixed

City commissioners last night turned down a request of developer Charles Langs to have the city pay for the extension of sewer, waterlines and streets into a planned 234-unit senior citizens development on Auburn near Opdke.

The commission acted after the Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Nepling recommended against the request.

The city has in the past, to encourage development, undertaken part of the responsibility for extending the utilities and constructing streets in new developments.

Nepling recommended suspending that policy — whereby the city pays for 20 per cent of improvements — and requiring all developers to pay for 100 per cent of construction costs.

LOW BID
In other action, the commission:

• Approved the lowest of two bidders, A & A Asphalt Paving Co., for construction of paving, curb, gutter and drains on East and West Brooklyn. The bid was $265,825, about $20,000 under the senior bid.

• Deferred for one week consideration of bids for the paving of streets in the City of Detroit industrial park subdivision. Six bids were received but the apparent low bidder did not submit an alternate bid as was requested. Bids ranged from $94,292 to $130,589. Consideration of the bids was delayed for a week to determine what the alternate bid would be on the basis of the base bid.

• Gave final approval to amending a city ordinance governing the use of air guns, bow and arrows and slingshots. The ordinance makes it illegal for minors to possess them. The amendment makes it legal to possess them for instructional programs requiring their use.

• Approved a plat plan for the proposed Bonneville Estates Subdivision, 22 lots between Yale and Ypsilanti, approximately 600 feet west of Baldwin. The developers plan three-bedroom frame houses with aluminum siding priced at $16,500 and $17,900, officials said.

• Approved the purchase of a house at 652 Central for $22,500 for expansion of the city's industrial park area.

Detroit Panel Gives Funds to Youth Plan

City commissioners last night accepted the resignations of Rev. H. G. Clark from the city's human relations commission and City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 2, from the planning commission.

Commissioners appointed District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson to replace Irwin on the Planning Commission. Jackson is a real estate appraiser.

Irwin, a realtor, said business demands and the amount of time entailed in planning commission activities dictated his choice.

Clark, who was chairman of the human relations commission and a member since mid-1966, said that his congregation will be constructing its first new building this year and his time will be occupied with this endeavor.

Clark is pastor of North Oakland Christian Church.

Primary Held in Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — John Wold, a Casper geologist, and Velma Linford, a 60-year-old former school teacher, won nominations for Wyoming's lone seat in the House of Representatives in Tuesday's primary elections.

Wold, 51, defeated incumbent Rep. William Henry Harrison, the descendant of two former presidents, and three other lesser-known candidates in a bitterly fought Republican primary. Harrison, 72, was seeking his sixth term in Congress.

Returns from 503 of the state's 520 precincts gave Wold 22,644 votes and Harrison 21,635.

Miss Linford, who resigned from a position with Volunteers in Service to America—VISTA —to seek the Democratic nomination, defeated three male opponents for the right to meet Wold in the November general election.

Returns from 501 precincts attending the 1968 Michigan gave Miss Linford 14,643 votes; State Fair Aug. 23 through Raymond Whitaker of Casper, Sept. 2 will be able to get 11,349; David Laird, a Worland up-to-date information about farmer, 3,984, and George W. K. social security and Medicare. Posvar, a perennial candidate according to E. J. Keirns, fair from Casper, 1,004.

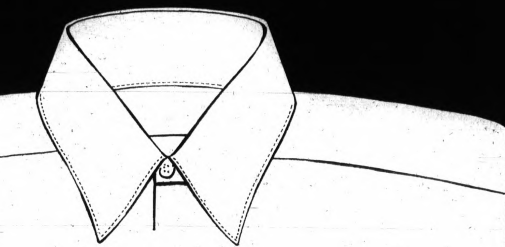

Medicare at Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Persons attending the 1968 Michigan State Fair Aug. 23 through Sept. 2 will be able to get information about Medicare. Posvar, a perennial candidate according to E. J. Keirns, fair from Casper, 1,004.

Soviet Thrust Comes When U.S. Strength in Europe Is Ebbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet troop movement into Czechoslovakia comes at a time when the U.S. 7th Army, backbone of West Europe's defense, is at its lowest strength in years.

Because of the balance of payments problem, U.S. Army forces in West Germany have been cut to about 200,000 men and are due to drop even further by Sept. 30.

By contrast, the U.S. Army had about 273,000 soldiers arrayed along the Iron Curtain during the Berlin crisis of 1961. U.S. tactical air strength also has been cut to ease the gold-dollar drain and to beef up U.S. air power elsewhere. The Air Force's tactical fighter strength in West Germany is down to five squadrons.

Because of this—and even more because the United States has about 541,000 men pinned down in the Vietnam war—the last problem U.S. military leaders wish to face at this time is a crisis in Europe.

The attitude of U.S. military men throughout the period of Russian threats against Czechoslovakia this summer could be summed up in this sentence: "Leave us out; we have enough problems of our own."

The United States has no military commitment to Czechoslovakia, nor does it have even an implied moral commitment to that Communist country which in the past has been as hostile to the United States as any other East European Communist state.

American officers who have assessed the relative military strength of Czechoslovakia and its Communist neighbors have felt it would be suicide for the Czechs to resist if invaded by Russia and other Warsaw Pact armies.

REALIZATION
This realization also may have prompted the Czech leadership to caution its people against resisting.

According to recent estimates, a Czech army of some 175,000 men in 14 divisions faces overwhelming Russian, East German, Polish and other Communist force.

The Russian army has some 20 divisions in East Germany, plus four in Hungary and two in Poland. The Russians have based about 900 tactical planes in East Germany alone.

The East German army numbers some 85,000 men in six divisions. The Polish army some 185,000 men in 16 divisions.

100 FIGHTER PLANES
In all, Czechoslovakia could send into only about 600 fighter planes, most of them old model Russian-built MIGs.

Developments in Czechoslovakia may blunt efforts of some key U.S. senators to reduce U.S. forces in Germany even further.

Although the U.S. military chiefs have no wish to get into the Communist wrangle, they also have no wish to reduce U.S. strength in Germany.

A year ago, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told Congress that he and his colleagues felt there is no military justification for reduction of military forces in Central Europe.

PUT IN EFFECT
The outdraw of American air strength along the Iron Curtain was ordered into effect nonetheless, and is now well along.

The reduction involves about 22,000 army men and about 5,000 Air Force troops.

Technically, these units are referred to as U.S. forces in Europe—that is, they are supposed to remain committed to the North Atlantic Alliance and "in a high degree of readiness" to return to Europe if needed.

There was no immediate sign that the reduction would be reversed in the light of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

BEING BROUGHT HOME

Being brought home are two brigades of the 24th Infantry Division, a tank regiment, an artillery group and other units, together with four fighter squadrons.

This will leave in West Germany two mechanized infantry divisions and two tank divisions, plus a brigade of the 24th Infantry Division and two armored cavalry regiments which are about the size of brigades and which are tank units functioning as a screening force along the more vulnerable invasion routes.

Like army units in the United States and elsewhere, the 7th Army was drained of experienced company level officers and noncommissioned officers to support the U.S. buildup in Vietnam.

As a result, many young officers and noncoms underwent what amounted to on-the-job training with the 7th Army, diminishing the combat effectiveness of that army.

REPLACEMENTS

However, Army officers say that a substantial number of Vietnam veterans, completing their one year of war duty, are being sent to Europe as replacements, and this is raising the fighting trim of the 7th Army once again.

Army forces in Europe for a time were drawn on for equipment for Vietnam, in the early months of the U.S. buildup in Southeast Asia, but the 7th Army has had priority in new equipment coming off the line.

under increased war production division strength reinforcements to Europe on short notice.

Also because of the Vietnam war, the strategic reserves of Army divisions maintained in the United States stands at the equivalent of five—well below the eight—divisions force kept in readiness for deployment from the United States before the States three years ago.

U.S. embarked on its big ground war effort in Vietnam in mid-1965.

The U.S. Marines have one full division and part of a second in the United States, also considerably less than the corps had based in continental United States three years ago.

Czechs Ask Troop Withdrawal

VIENNA (AP) — Here are the texts of a Czechoslovak government statement to the nations whose troops invaded Czechoslovakia and of a Czechoslovak Communist party statement to the Czechoslovak people.

From the presidium of parliament to the heads of the Soviet bloc nations:

"The presidium of our National Assembly expresses its deep and fundamental disagreement with the measures of the allied troops which today, without reason based to occupy our republic. This is a violation of the sovereignty of our state which is intolerable for our further mutual relations. We ask you most resolutely at the moments when shots are heard in the streets of Prague to immediately order the withdrawal of all troops from the territory of our entire republic."

From the Communist party presidium to the people:

"Yesterday on Aug. 20, 1968 at 4 p.m., troops of the Soviet Union, the Polish Peoples Republic, the German Democratic Republic, the Hungarian People's Republic and the Bulgarian People's Republic crossed the state frontiers of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic."

"The presidium considers this action as running counter not only to all principles of relations between Socialist states, but also as a denial of the basic norms of international law. All leading functionaries of the state, the Communist party first secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Czechoslovakia and the national front remain in their functions, to which they have been elected as representatives of the people and members of their organizations, under laws of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic."

"The presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Czechoslovakia has and other norms valid in the been in session and discussed the preparation of the 14th con-

Lawn Gone to Seed Needs Lots of Green

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—I have a friend, a botanist by trade, who does part-time work as a turf consultant.
The other day I asked him to top by and take a look at my lawn, which has been giving me some trouble this year.
"This is amazing," he said. "I counted 11 different botanical species on your lawn and none of them is grass."
"Oh, yeah?" I said, thinking he was being a wise guy.
"Well, what's that patch of green stuff over there?"

ARE VARIETY
He said, "That is a rare variety of chickweed heretofore found only on a remote island 10 miles south-southeast of Madagascar."
My friend wrote out a prescription for some grass seed and left, still shaking his head in disbelief.
I don't know if you have bought any grass seed lately, but if you have you are aware of the price range roughly follows the London gold exchange. I wasn't aware of that. Somehow I had the notion that grass seeds were less expensive than semiprecious stones. So I did a visit to a grass-seed dealer. I was in for a shock.
HOW MANY CARATS?
The salesman, who was wearing a white smock and had a jeweler's loupe in his eye, asked me how many carats of grass seed I wanted.
"Gimme a couple of dollars' worth," I said. I thought that would be enough for a half-acre, at least.
The salesman disappeared into the vault and presently emerged with a velvet tray on which was mounted six grass seeds.
"Will there be anything else," he said.
I said, "I may need more than that. Can I get a discount if I buy them by the ounce?"

The salesman consulted the ticker behind the counter and jotted down the latest quotations.
"You're in luck," he said.
"The Dow-Jones grass seed average is off 1.04 points this morning. It's a good time to buy."
I made some rapid calculations and figured out that if I fasted every Wednesday, took out a second mortgage on my house and sold one of my children to a passing gypsy, I could afford enough grass seed to cover two and a half square feet.

Blood Donors Sought for Boy

DETROIT (AP)—The Southeastern Michigan chapter of the American Red Cross issued an urgent plea yesterday for Type O-positive blood — 50 pints of which are needed daily to save the life of 5-year-old Donald Shomo of Detroit.

Donald is a hemophiliac—a bleeder. His blood lacks the substance which causes clotting and makes uncontrolled bleeding an overriding fear in event of even a small cut or bump.

A minor twisting of his knee last week started a chain of events which has landed Donald in Children's Hospital of Michigan, where he and two bleeder brothers are not infrequent patients.

The twisting caused an internal hemorrhage in the knee. Friday doctors had to drain the knee of blood, which was causing swelling of the joint. Now the problem is complicated by bleeding from the drain incision.

A blood derivation known as O-positive cryoprecipitate is needed to coagulate Donald's blood to clot. It takes 12 pints of blood to make enough for one transfusion, and Donald must have several of these daily. Hence the need for 50 donors of a pint each daily.

Bedouins' Loyalty Is Pledged to Israel

WADI FIRAN, Israel - held Sinai (AP)—A group of Bedouins of the fiercely independent Bedouin in the southern Sinai desert have pledged their loyalty to Israel.

They came out of the wilderness, in pickup trucks, by foot and on camel—four sheikhs and 800 picked followers said to represent 10,000 Bedouin scattered throughout the Southern Sinai in 16 tribes.

They brought food for the Israeli visitors who plunged through four hours of desert to reach the oasis. The Israelis brought electric lighting, a truckload of soft drinks and a movie, "The Sword of Ali Baba"—the first movie of the Bedouin had ever seen.

Tribesmen sat in lines on sandbags provided by the troops as the strangers entered a shaded amphitheaterlike gorge, dominated by the jagged peak of Mt. Sinai where Moses is said to have received the Ten Commandments.

SPOKESMAN

Sheik Abu Abdullah, head of the 3,500 - strong El - Mizeneh tribe, had been elected spokesman. Mounting a platform surrounded by Star of David flags, he proclaimed: "The Sheikh Abdullah, in the name of all the tribes, and in all honesty and mutual respect, declares that after one year of Israeli rule we are satisfied. We take pride in the young state of Israel which strives for peace."

"We are grateful that our internal autonomous rule and judiciary are being preserved."

Thus do we prove we are faithful to the Israeli authorities and can be treated as equals."

A representative of the Israeli chief of staff—whose name the authorities inexplicably refused to disclose—and the Israeli military governor, Col. Menachem Sharfman, were present.

Throughout Egyptian rule of the region, the Israelis asserted, the Bedouin had never declared their loyalty to Cairo.

CELEBRATIONS

The celebrations began with camel racing, dancing and innumerable cups of hot, sticky, strong tea and coffee.

The Israeli and Bedouin leaders squatted in a circle on the carpeted floor of a tent, lit by naked light bulbs from an army generator, and fished chunks of roasted mutton out of mammoth trays of boiled rice.

A few tents away an Israeli girl soldier played an accordion while others sang to entertain applauding Bedouin. The pungent odor of hashish hung over tribesmen who danced wildly to a rhythm beaten out on an empty gas can.

During negotiations with the occupiers, the Bedouin demanded more work, more social welfare and a workers' town where Bedouin could learn, work and sleep. The Israelis promised to help.

Once a month the sheikhs receive rations from the military government and CARE, the American relief organization. They comprise nine pounds of flour, two pounds of sugar, two pounds of rice, some oil and tea for each member of the tribe.

Moscow's Pedestrians Finally Taken to Task

MOSCOW (AP) — The Moscow pedestrian, whose ways have long been the despair of drivers, has finally been taken to task.

He is being threatened with fines for his hair-raising violation of traffic laws.

The typical pedestrian here pays no attention to traffic lights, moving out blithely across the wide streets despite oncoming cars.

He disdains to use tunnels provided for his safety and ignores the policeman who waves him back. He climbs over fences meant to keep him from crossing at particularly dangerous intersections.

CRACKDOWN URGED

Drivers who swerve to avoid him or honk to keep him from walking in front of cars get an indignant stare, perhaps a curse.

An influential Moscow newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda, has called for a crackdown. "This place has the most undisciplined pedestrians in the world," the paper declared. "Whereas the driver is the main traffic violator aboard, here it is the pedestrian."

"The pedestrian crosses the street wherever and whenever he wants just to suit his own convenience. His indifference toward the color of a traffic light seems to be congenial."

FEELING OF IMMUNITY

Official figures show 70 per cent of Moscow's traffic accidents are caused by pedestrians. Fatalities rose 13 per cent last year compared to 1966. The newspaper blamed the pedestrians' "feeling of complete immunity."

Moscow's policemen often angrily blow and the pedestrians scurry away and disappear into a sidewalk crowd. Anybody who meekly stops usually gets only a bawling-out. Disregard of traffic laws by pedestrians is so widespread the police are not inclined to be too tough.

Last year drivers here paid five times more in traffic fines than pedestrians. Komsomolskaya Pravda said this will have to stop if accidents in the city are not to increase astronomically as more and more cars come on the market. It proposed fining all the pedestrian violators.

"A man who is fined 3 rubles $3.32 two or three times will finally decide that the shortest distance between two sidewalks is the pedestrian tunnel," the paper said.

Refugees Still Trickle From Tibet to India

KALIMPONG, India (AP) — Perched at 4,000 feet on the edge of Tibet, this sleepy town used to be a meeting place for Tibetan merchants and Indian mule traders, coming and going between their two countries.

Now the traffic is one way only—out of Tibet. It is made up of Tibetan refugees, telling tales of chaos in the country they have fled.

The 1959 Lhasa uprising against Communist rule prompted the Chinese to seal escape routes out of Tibet.

Despite increasingly tight Communist border surveillance, a trickle of refugees continues. On the average, 10 Tibetans a month manage to escape, joining an estimated 51,000 already in India. Another 15,000 live in Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim.

FIRING SQUAD

The usual tale of Tibetans captured escaping is the firing squad or mysterious deportation, according to refugee sources. What makes these people leave their native land and face the dangers of the trek south?

Speaking only Tibetan — and rudimentary Chinese — these highly religious people emphasize that above all they come to be with their spiritual and temporal ruler, the Dalai Lama, who lives in exile at Dharmasala in northwestern India.

VP's Solid Strength Still Shy of Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey's chances for a first-ballot nomination at next week's Democratic National Convention could hinge on a dozen large delegations where nearly 750 votes are either held by favorite sons or uncommitted, the Associated Press survey showed today.

The latest AP tally of solid first-ballot strength, based on primary results, public pledges and AP delegate surveys, gives Humphrey 852 1/2 votes—still more than 450 away from the 1,312 needed for the nomination. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has 453 1/2 and Sen. George S. McGovern has 32 1/2. Only solid support is counted, not those leaning to a candidate.

But most of those who lead the major uncommitted or favorite son blocs are considered favorable to Humphrey.

This includes seven favorite sons: Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, with 104 votes; Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana, 36; Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee, 51; Gov. Dan K. Moore of North Carolina, 59; Gov. Robert E. McVair of South Carolina, 28; Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. of Virginia, 54; and Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida, 57.

Also considered favorable to the vice president are the dominant figures in three other important states: Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley in Illinois, where 92 votes are uncommitted; Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, where 51 votes are uncommitted; and National Chairman John M. Bailey in Connecticut, where 35 votes are uncommitted.

The other two big blocs of uncommitted delegates are in the California delegation led by Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, where 142 are uncommitted, and in New York, where 86 1/2 are uncommitted. Both groups supported Sen. Robert F. Kennedy before he was assassinated.

In addition, there are still large groups of uncommitted votes in states such as Michigan, Indiana, Nebraska, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia and the District of Columbia, where the Rev. Channing Phillips is currently listed as a favorite son.

Altogether, the uncommitted vote in the newest AP poll stands at 821 1/2 with 449 held by favorite sons. Another 13 are scattered. Including one delegate with a one-half vote in Alabama for Gov. Lester G. Maddox of Georgia whose home state delegation is entirely uncommitted.

Shields Sought Lansing Backs Boycott by Cabdrivers

DETROIT (UPI) — Driving a cab in Michigan's largest City is often a dangerous job. More dangerous than it has to be according to many of the cabbies.

Some 50 cabdrivers picketed the City-Council Building in downtown Detroit Tuesday asking the Common Council to require that all cabs have a bulletproof shield to separate the driver from his passenger.

The cabdrivers said the shields cost about $400 and most likely wouldn't be installed by the cab owners unless the law required them.

LANSING (AP)—City Council has thrown its support behind the current California table grape boycott — and monkeys may feel the wrath.

Council ordered city agents or employees dealing in California table grapes to stop buying them in support of an attempted nationwide boycott spurred by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

Among Lansing grape purchases are some 10 pounds a week for monkeys and chimpanzees at the Potter Park Zoo.

The council resolution, introduced by Councilman Joel I. Ferguson, also urges vendors on the Lansing City Market to refrain from purchasing or selling California table grapes.

The organizing committee, attempting to unionize grape pickers and obtain contracts with major growers, has called the boycott in an effort to block what it says is employment of "illegal Mexican nationals" during its strike.

Of the some 6,000 species of fern, the tree fern (Alsophila excelsa) can reach up to 80 feet in height. It grows on Northolk Island in the South Pacific.

Crisis Bewilders Muscovites

MOSCOW (AP) — Citizens of Moscow were tense and puzzled today after waking up to find Soviet armed forces had moved into Czechoslovakia.

Those who had not heard it on Radio Moscow or seen it in Prava, the official party newspaper, were astonished when told about it by a Western newsman.

Two Soviet army officers, approached in Red Square and asked about the situation, turned their backs and hurried away.

The news spread fast by word of mouth through this rumor-prone city as Muscovites noticed that Prava was late appearing on the newstands. This usually means big news is developing.

Harriman Hits 'Red Buildup'

Ho's Personal Envoy Attends Paris Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Communist forces are preparing for attack in the southern part of the demilitarized zone (DMZ) in Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged today prior to the 18th meeting between U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators.

The one new factor thrown into the Vietnam negotiations was the attendance of Le Duc Tho, the seven-ranked North Vietnamese Politburo member who is considered Ho Chi Minh's personal representative to the talks.

Despite Tho's presence, the two sides got together amid indications their meeting would prove as fruitless in cooling down the war as all previous sessions.

Moments before going to the meeting at the former Majestic Hotel, Harriman accused North Vietnam of building bases in the southern half of the DMZ separating North and South Vietnam.

MOVE 'COMPELLED' — Harriman told newsmen U.S. forces had been "compelled" to enter the DMZ last week because elements of the North Vietnamese army had entrenched themselves there.

North Vietnam Monday accused the United States of occupying the southern half of the DMZ in violation of the 1954 Geneva accords.

Harriman met with his counterpart, Xuan Thuy, to seek some sign from Hanoi that it was prepared to de-escalate the ground war in the south in exchange for a U.S. bombing pause in the north.

Harriman refused to comment on a report that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had expected a breakthrough in the talks as the result of the activities of an unidentified third party.

Harriman said he would not comment on any statements by political candidates.

Long lines of people waited to buy Prava where copies were available.

The first announcements over Radio Moscow told the Soviet people that their army invaded Czechoslovakia as a sacred duty to save that country from the enemies of communism.

It broadcast the full text of an article in Prava justifying the invasion.

A suburban farmer in from the country paused in front of the Kremlin in Red Square and responded to questions by repeating: "The Czechs are our friends. I don't understand."

450 Walk Out at Paper Plant

MUNISING (AP) — Some 450 members of two unions today struck the Kimberly-Clark Corp. paper plant in Munising in Upper Michigan.

Union officials said the walkout was part of a strike set for today against Kimberly-Clark's five paper plants in four states. The other plants are located at Memphis, Tenn.; Lee, Mass., and Neenah, Wis., where there are two facilities.

Picket lines were set up at Munising plant by Local 87 of the United Paper Mill and Paper Workers and Local 96 of the United Pulp and Sulphite Workers.

The strike was called to support new contract demands in health, welfare and pension benefits.

2 From City Face Exam in 'Family Feud'

A Pontiac man and his 17-year-old neighbor will face preliminary examination on charges of assault with intent to kill at 9 a.m. July 29 in Pontiac Municipal Court.

The charges arose out of an incident Friday when a man and two youths were wounded by shotgun blasts after a family feud developed into a series of shootings.

Charged in the case are James Metoyer, 34, of 115 Center and McClain Williams, 17, of 114 Center.

Williams allegedly shot Metoyer's brother, Alphonse, wounding him three times, and Metoyer's 16-year-old son.

Police said Metoyer shot Williams in apparent retaliation.

Some of those who had copies stood motionless on the sidewalk, throwing and reading the announcement again and again.

"Prague? Why Prague," muttered a young man as he moved down the street.

NATION INVADDED — Four of her Red Bloc neighbors, East Germany, Poland, Soviet Russia and Hungary, sent troops into Czechoslovakia last night. A fifth Communist nation, Bulgaria, at lower right of map, also sent troops.

Blonde Swedish actress Mai Britt, after nearly eight years of marriage, is suing Sammy Davis Jr. for divorce.

A suit filed yesterday in Santa Monica Superior Court said Davis "inflicted great anguish and mental suffering" upon her, causing illness and unhappiness.

The action came four days after Frank Sinatra, a close friend of Davis, was divorced by Mia Farrow in Juarez, Mexico. The Sinatras separated last October — two days before Davis, a Negro, and Miss Britt announced a parting of ways.

Miss Britt, who has lived in the couple's $320,000 Bel Air home since the separation, asked for division of the community property in "a just manner" and custody of their three children.

Their children are Tracey, a 7-year-old daughter, and two adopted sons, Mark, 8, and Jeff, 3.

Neither Miss Britt, 33, nor Davis, 42, in London with the stage company of "Golden Boy," commented publicly about her divorce action.

Davis once said he hired bodyguards because of threats aimed at their interracial marriage, but after a while people stopped jeering at the Davises.

It will be the second divorce for both. Miss Britt was married first to a Stanford University law student and Davis to Lory White, a Negro singer.

Navy Promotes 3-Time Cancer Victim

The Navy has promoted Edwin M. Rosenberg, who has had stomach cancer three times, to rear admiral. Rosenberg, 49, a plans officer with the Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor, was first stricken with cancer in the stomach and intestines in 1946 and was retired the following year by a Navy board.

In 1948, Rosenberg wrote to the Navy: "I'm well and wouldn't you like to employ me and get full value for your money instead of paying me and not getting anything." It took a private bill in Congress to get him rehired. Four years later, while commanding the destroyer escort Blackwood, Rosenberg came down with cancer again. An operation and X-ray treatment followed, but he stayed in the Navy.

Several years later he was hospitalized again for cancer but returned to duty after three months.

Commerce Chief to Quit in January

Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith said Monday in Los Angeles he will leave the cabinet next January no matter who is elected president.

The former president and board chairman of American Airlines did not elaborate except to say he did not have any future plans.

Smith also told newsmen that he expected the nation's economy to "undergo some leveling off" in the next 12 months. "It's good for the country in that it will take the edge off the inflationary spiral," he said.

Combat Spawns Chaos, Irony for GIs

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP)—In the battlefield, where the killing is done, the chaos of war makes a mockery of the neat, mimeographed battle plans and colored symbols arranged on wall maps back at headquarters.

For in the field, an incautious step, a minute flaw in a bowitzer's sights, a commander's mistake, fortune's whimsey—all most anything—can kill a man or cripple his body.

Most GIs learn to conquer or control their fear of the predictable dangers of combat. But many find dealing with chaos and the bitter ironies it spawns a much tougher proposition.

They find that life—and death—in the rice paddies, swamps, jungle and mountains often is the direct opposite of their back-ground in a well-ordered civilization where the question "Why?" usually has an answer.

For the combat infantryman here, the question often is not only unanswerable but unasked.

For one Marine sergeant, the terrors piled up one atop the other at the very end of his 15-month tour in Vietnam.

During the hectic days of the siege at Khe Sanh, routine paper work often was delayed. One piece of late paper work contained the order for the leather-neck to go home.

A day after he should have left Khe Sanh, the sergeant finally got his orders. His friends congratulated him. Home. Today he was starting home.

The sergeant joked with his comrades in the trenches until finally the morning fog lifted and it was time to go to the airstrip for the last ride out.

Looking toward a hill infested with hidden North Vietnamese troops, the Marine emptied his pistol in their general direction. "Well," those are the last shots I'll fire in Nam," he said and climbed out of the trench.

Moments later, one of the 800 shells that hit Khe Sanh that day exploded near the sergeant, sending steel splinters into his body.

Later when he was being evacuated by helicopter, he could move not only on red tape, but that he had won a much undesired third Purple Heart.

Under Marine regulations the third Purple Heart automatically means a man is sent out of the war zone no matter how long or short a time he had spent in Vietnam.

GIs are deeply superstitious about being "short-limers," men near the end of their combat tours. There have been too many cases where battle-hardened, extreme care and an unbroken chain of luck have failed a man at the last moment.

The sergeant major of one Marine battalion in the demilitarized zone area was within 14 days of returning to the States after fighting in his third war.

In two months he would leave the military for good and retire. One of his men called the grizzled veteran "the mole" because of the way he stayed near his sandbagged bunker.

One day during a prolonged lull in the routine enemy shelling, the sergeant crawled out of his bunker and headed rapidly for the foxhole of another old-timer who had hot coffee.

The lull ended midway between the bunkers and the sergeant was killed instantly.

"We're both better and worse than we were before we were pushed into this war up to our necks. Half the things I've seen and done here I hope I never have to think about again. And I sure wouldn't want my wife or family to know some of the things I've had to do."

"But at the same time there are times when we are all better than we were. I've never known friendship like I've found here. There isn't anything I wouldn't do for the guys in my fire team. And I sleep better knowing most of them feel the same way. Yeah, that's it. Sometimes we are better."

The better side, as the corporal called it, is the wellspring for much of the positive side of the war—heroism, endurance, determination and sacrifice—sometimes the ultimate sacrifice of giving your life for your comrades.

Many in Vietnam have heard the thump of an enemy grenade landing near them and in the midst of their comrades. Sometimes the grenade hits on a trail, sometimes in a shell hole, sometimes among men huddled behind trees or termite mounds firing at an enemy only yards away.

More than a score of men have reacted instinctively—there is no time to pause and consider—by throwing themselves on the grenade to save their friends. The results normally are fatal to the man who cared enough.

Some men welcome war as a personal proving ground. Because they are in some way unsure of themselves, they press harder than most, taking reckless chances that will put some nagging fear or uncertainty to rest. Often these men return to the United States with several rows of ribbons on their chest. Often they go home in caskets, the question and the proof no longer relevant.

GOING FOR BROKE
"You know, I'm going to sign over for another tour when my 12 months is up," a beardless 24-year-old lieutenant nicknamed Buddy said one night in the central highlands.

"This is the life for me. I'm going to try to stay in Vietnam for as long as the Army'll let me."

The next day Buddy's company was caught in an ambush which killed or wounded half the unit. Buddy was killed early in the action, leading a counterattack at the head of his men. Only later did a correspondent who was with the unit learn from a family friend that Buddy was the son of a much-decorated World War II Army officer who was killed in action.

COURAGEOUS, BUT...

No one questions the courage of American fighting men, and not a few tributes have come from the enemy which sets some pretty high standards for its own men. But the idea that Americans always charge into the guns or are spoiling for a fight isn't true.

In one instance an American unit under heavy fire lay behind what cover it could find. It had been ordered to assault up the hill. The sergeant called out the order, "When I count three, everyone move out." The order was passed down the line without elaboration. Minutes later the sergeant called out loudly, "One. Two. Three. Go." Everyone, including the sergeant, began running toward the rear—away from the hill.

"Nobody is going to be interested in that hill in a couple of days," the sergeant explained later. "We would have taken two or three men killed for each one we got. Those are very bad odds."

A reconnaissance team sat in its Army helicopter as it dived toward a landing zone deep in enemy territory. As the chopper leveled out, the door gunner panicked and pushed the first heavily laden recon man out while the chopper was still 25 feet in the air.

As the chopper dropped lower, the next man paused at the door, got a firm grip on the door gunner's arm and dragged him out when he jumped.

The door gunner, without adequate field gear, spent the next five days with the recon team. When the patrol was over, all the recon men were decorated. The door gunner got an official reprimand.

The fraternity of those who have been under fire together is a close one. Newcomers in the form of replacements not only have to prove themselves, they sometimes must pay an initiation fee in extra danger.

ROOKIE ON POINT

One replacement started his third day in Vietnam as the point, or lead, man on a combat patrol. Normally this is the most dangerous spot and in some times referred to as the "not-long-to-live slot."

Asked about the assignment, the platoon sergeant said after a few moments, "Well, we want to get him up front so we can watch for his mistakes and correct him."

The interdependence of men, especially in jungle warfare, has wrought what one officer

Factfinder Hears College Dispute

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Michigan State Labor Relations Board Tuesday appointed Leon Herman of Southfield as a factfinder in a dispute between the Battle Creek Board of Education and faculty members of Kellogg Community College.

Robert Siecrst, a faculty spokesman, said unless the dispute is settled soon faculty members will not return to classes when the fall term resumes next week. He said the main issue involved is working conditions. Other issues had been settled, he said.

OU, OCC to Collect Race Data on Students

By DICK ROBINSON

A record is going to be kept of the complexion of local college classrooms.

This year for the first time the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is requiring from all colleges information on students from minority groups.

It's part of a crackdown by the federal government to see if colleges are complying with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

That provides that "No person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

NO MORE MONEY

If colleges don't comply with the act, zap! No more federal money.

This is how the information is gathered:

Students are asked to fill out IBM-type cards at registration.

Among other items, they ask if the student is receiving any type of financial aid and his predominant ethnic background—either American Indian, American Negro, Oriental American, Spanish American, foreign student or other.

"HEW agrees that if reporting is done by the students themselves, it should be on a voluntary and anonymous basis," a directive from the American Council of Education (ACE) states.

Information cards at Oakland University and Oakland Community College both state that the "information is to be used for statistical purposes only."

NO NAME, PLEASE

However, OCC's card has spaces for name and social security number. OU's card doesn't have such spaces and says "you should not identify yourself by name."

"Completion of this card is voluntary," says the OU card. OCC's card doesn't point this out.

"We haven't had any objections to these cards," says (OU) Acting Provost Donald Goldob of the Farmington Township campus.

He adds that if a student refuses to fill out the card, a college official can check off the proper racial box.

'VISUAL OBSERVATION'

This is allowable under the guidelines. "A properly controlled system of visual observation' will also be acceptable," ACE reports.

HEW is requesting this information for the second year. Many colleges last year didn't understand regulations and "sent polite little notes to HEW saying they didn't keep that racial information," a college source indicates.

Colleges have always been afraid to do this, says an Oakland University spokesman, for fear of violating federal and state fair employment practices act.

Now when a college is asked how many Negro students, for example, they won't be able to hedge the issue. The facts will be there.

RECRUITING PROGRAMS

HEW is also asking colleges across the country whether a variety of school programs—such as recruiting and university administered student financial aid—are operated in a nondiscriminatory manner.

In addition, information is being requested on any college programs which help to educate disadvantaged students.

Youthful Ex-Seaman Is an Empire-Builder

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Pistell, a big-game hunter who looks like a pro football line-backer, at 40 has bullied his way to prominence as one of the more fabulous figures of Wall Street.

At 16 he was an ordinary seaman. At 30 he was a millionaire. Today, as a corporate empire-builder, he seems to acquire new firms almost with the ease of a man picking up a dropped penny.

"I read investment reports with the same enjoyment most people get out of novels," he remarked.

The self-made son of a Buffalo finance company owner, Dick

College Stress Is Placed on Job Training

CHICAGO — Employment training in public community junior colleges throughout Illinois presents a new source of educated help for industry.

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce said 27 colleges opened their doors last fall to 83,894 students. It represented an enrollment growth of about 30 per cent over the past two years.

The projected 1968 opening enrollment, with an additional seven colleges approved by public referendum, will be 130,100 students for a 50 per cent increase over last year.

Twenty-one per cent of the students are enrolled in occupation-oriented programs. This accounts for 34 per cent of all courses offered in the public community colleges.

A junior college enabling act of 1965 requires at least 15 per cent of all courses taught to be in occupational, semitechnical employment.

Air Pioneer for Army Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — M. Sgt. Carl Truman Hale, among 16 enlisted men who formed the first company in the Army Air Corps, is dead at 81.

He died of cancer Monday, 56 years after he volunteered for the "flying experiment" while on duty with the Signal Corps in Alaska.

When he made out transfer papers to the Air Corps, fore-runner of the Air Force, Hale said his first sergeant scoffed: "You'll be sorry. Them things ain't safe. You'll just get killed, that's all."

Hale retired in 1938, with 20 years of service. He is survived by his widow and two children.

A study in North Carolina recently revealed that 31 per cent of the men, and only 18 per cent of the women, were using seat belts when they drove.

Czech Radio Carries Last Assurance: World Is Watching

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the last hours before its apparent takeover today, Radio Prague broadcast what it feared was an unbroken reassurance to Czechs that the world was watching. It urged them to be "courageous." The last sounds U.S. monitors in Washington heard were of music and then a voice saying "We are again repeating, an announcement. . . . Then there was silence."

The announcement apparently came from the Czech government and promised to keep listeners abreast of the news as long as there were technical facilities.

The Czechoslovak radio attempted to broadcast a statement by the Presidium shortly before 0200 (2 a.m. Prague time) this morning. However, all the transmitters at our disposal were gradually taken out of operation and the radio did not even know how many of you have heard this information.

REMAIN CALM
"We don't even know, listeners of our radio, if you can hear us at the moment."
"We do want to remain calm. We are waiting for directives from our government and the Presidium of our National Assembly, although some telephone lines in our building have been cut off and despite the fact that we can hear aircraft flying above the radio building."

A REAL "CAT"—George Adamson, a "member" of a pride of lions in his remote camp in Meru National Park, Kenya, and Boy, whom Adamson rescued from going to a zoo after the filming of "Elsa."

Researcher of Lion Life Looks for Scientific Help

MUGWONGO, Kenya (AP)—But Adamson, who gained fame in East Africa for his hunting expertise, and trail blazing in the unknown Northern Frontier District of the 1950s, wants some professional scientific help to catalog the life of his lions.

Then, about sunrise, he begins another long day of listening to looking at and listing in his diary the activities of his pride of nine lions.

The frogs, along with a multitude of lizards and birds, have found refuge and food beneath the shade of a giant acacia tree under which Adamson set up his camp three years ago.

Two of the lions, rescued from pending imprisonment in a zoo after filming the story of "Elsa," came with Adamson to Mugwongo.

CUBS BOTTLE FED

A third later joined them after making an 11-hour trip from the Nairobi Game Park. Adamson set up his camp three years ago.

Four cubs were later given him and bottle fed by Adamson before they learned how to kill game.

In keeping with his original goal of turning the pride back to nature, Adamson avoided giving much protection to the first cubs born at Mugwongo.

The first disappeared perhaps into the stomach of a leopard, the second was killed by a lion from another pride.

LEFT UNTOUCHED

Two cubs born 13 months ago were never touched by Adamson. "We didn't try to tame them at all. Now you can come quite close but they won't allow themselves to be handled, which is of course what we wanted," Adamson said.

Before the year is out, three young lionesses become adults. Adamson hopes to have more cubs added to the pride, and a chance to broaden his study of lion in the wilderness.

"We are convinced that you will act in the same way and that in the morning you will go to work as normal and that you will try to do your job all that is necessary. At this moment this is the only possible solution."

At this point a female announcer took over from the male voice. She vouched for the loyalty of the Czech radio workers to the Czech government and promised to keep listeners abreast of the news as long as there were technical facilities.

WORLD AWAKENED

A male voice came back on. "The whole world was awakened from sleep this night," he said. "As our teleprinters are not functioning normally we are depending on listening to foreign stations."

He then reported President Johnson had summoned the National Security Council "which is dealing with the critical situation in Czechoslovakia."

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson has interrupted his leave to hurry back to London and West German Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger was informed of the crisis during the Presidium of our National Assembly.

He spoke, too, of unconfirmed reports from some radios—"The United Nations is also to meet!"

"Rumanian offer of help!"

"The frontier with Czechoslovakia is occupied by Soviet tank troops."

"We are unable to give you more information at the moment," he said. "The world is awakening to an unusually sad morning, but it is watching us and will continue to watch us at this critical time."

"Let us be courageous, dignified, but calm, and at our place of work, everywhere where we belong and where we must defend our positions."

"It is necessary that history should be able one day to use those historic words about us: 'This was our best and finest hour.'"

The Czech radiocast, which had been beamed in the local language to the home audience, then played music for a few minutes longer. When an announcer started to say "we are again repeating an announcement . . . the broadcasting stopped."

In Bonn, West Germany, a correspondent for the Prague radio said it went off the air at 5 a.m.

Correspondent Vilem Fuchs told a newsmen: "After my colleagues in Prague had all declared their loyalty to Mr. Dubcek (Czech leader) and the government and said they expected to be cut off from the world at any time, the station suddenly just went off the air at 5 o'clock."

Hamburger Cups for Adults

Hamburger Cups are geared to an adult's taste. Mix flavorful blue cheese cracker crumbs and a bit of cherry-spiked tomato sauce into the shapely burgers.

Baste the burgers as they grill with more tomato sauce. Mildly seasoned tomato sauce pairs naturally with ground beef dishes. Its sunny, vine-ripened goodness seems to bring out the beefy flavor of the meat.

Press a depression in the hamburgers as they grill, then, after cooking, fill the "cup" with salty sour cream and a sprinkling of sliced green onions and crumbled blue cheese.

You'll think of other variations, as well, based on the tastes and ages of your family and guests. Use Cheddar cheese cracker crumbs inside the burgers and crumbled sharp Cheddar cheese to fill the cups. Pickle relish, sliced cucumbers or radishes crumbled cooked bacon, sliced stuffed or ripe olives or tiny cocktail onions go well, too, with or without the sour cream.

Accompany Hamburger Cups with fresh mushrooms wrapped in foil and heated to buttery tenderness on the grill. Layer herb-buttered chunks of French bread on skewers and toast alongside. Add a green salad and for dessert scoop French vanilla ice cream into cantaloupe halves or quarters.

HAMBURGER CUPS

1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons dry sherry or vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 pounds lean ground beef
1/2 cup cracker crumbs (blue cheese flavor is especially good)
1 egg
1/2 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon crumbled blue cheese
Sliced green onions

Combine tomato sauce, sherry, brown sugar, mustard, Worcestershire and salt. Mix 2 tablespoons of sauce mixture with beef, cracker crumbs and egg. Shape into 6 patties about 1-inch thick. Grill 3 inches above hot coals for 10 minutes; baste often with tomato sauce mixture. With back of spoon make depression in each patty. Turn grill about 10 minutes more, basting with remaining sauce. Place patties on heated platter. Spoon sour cream into depressions; sprinkle with blue cheese and onions. Makes 6 servings.

For indoor Cooking: Prepare as directed above; broil 5 inches from heat about 5 minutes on each side.

BUTTERY MUSHROOMS

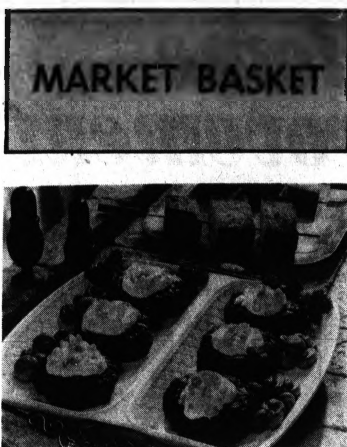

1/2 pound small, fresh mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt to taste

Place mushrooms on large square of double thickness of heavy duty aluminum foil; dot with butter and sprinkle with salt. Bring ends up and seal tightly. Grill package 5 inches above hot coals, turning often, for 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

SKEWERED BREAD CHUNKS

1 or 2 cloves garlic, crushed
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
1 loaf unsliced French bread, cut lengthwise in half then crosswise in 2-inch slices
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Combine garlic, butter and parsley. Spread on bread; sprinkle with cheese. Sear on skewers. Grill 5 inches above coals, turning often, about 5 minutes or until hot and lightly toasted. Makes 6 servings.

HAMBURGER CUPS

Cheese Mixture Is Filling for 'Burgers

There's no need to ponder over party menus for the younger set. Hamburgers are an all-time favorite.

Take a tip from the teens and serve Two-High Beef Burgers at your next party. Here's food that the husky he-man can enjoy, yet it's pretty enough to serve to the bridge club. And what hostess can resist the thrill and ease of preparation of this recipe?

Two sizzling beef patties topped with a zesty cheese mixture are mounted on a Bermuda onion slice. Heat until the cheese is softened, place on a toasted bun and garnish with a cherry tomato for a special party touch.

Team a Two-High Beef Burger with a cup of hot or chilled soup, potato chips and relishes, and you have a great luncheon or supper.

Served on a tray, it is an ideal meal for carrying to a cool spot on the porch or patio or to your favorite chair in front of the television. These tasty burgers are an excellent entree the year around.

TWO-HIGH BEEF BURGERS

2 pounds ground beef
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
3 tablespoons salad dressing
4 teaspoons prepared mustard

Bake potatoes at 400 degrees 1 hour or until done; cut lengthwise into halves. Scoop out potato, saving shells. Mash potato.

Blend sour cream, mayonnaise, lemon juice and seasonings. Beat into mashed potato with butter.

Cut lettuce lengthwise into halves. Place cut-sides down on board; shred then finely chop enough to measure 1 1/2 cups. Fold into potato mixture with 1/2 cup cheese. Heap into shells.

SPRINKLE CHEESE
Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Broil until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

If cheese is to be grated or shredded, the job is easier if you work with cold cheese taken directly from the refrigerator.

Pickle Spokes Decorate Skillet Meat Loaf

When the breezes blow warm, up go the windows and off goes the oven. Cooler ways for cooking become top considerations in meal planning.

A dinner dish that's worth more than just thinking about is meat loaf. Not the usual baked-in-the-oven kind, but a replica which is simmered a short time on top of the range.

Crispy iceberg hills and tomato bits add flavor personality and moistness to this No-Oven Meat Loaf. What's more, they donate an easy-to-decorative topping for the round loaf in the form of spokes of summery-green pickle sticks filled in with rasy wedges of the vegetable.

These tips will simplify the loaf's preparation: Handle it as gently as possible by mixing lightly and shaping with wet hands. The cooked loaf will be juicier and more tender.

The meat loaf may be shaped ahead of time with topping ingredients added at cooking time.

NO-OVEN MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground meat loaf mix
1/4 cup fine cracker crumbs
1/2 cup instant minced onion
1/4 teaspoon instant minced garlic (optional)
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning (or 1/2 teaspoon each sage and marjoram)
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
1/4 cup finely-cut iceberg hills
1 1/2 cups chopped, drained, canned tomatoes iceberg hills, cut into 8 three-fourth-inch wide lengths

Add a Sparkle to Old Favorite

Add new sparkle to that old favorite — carrot and raisin salad.
Blend cream cheese, pineapple juice, mayonnaise together. Then mix with grated western carrots and seedless raisins. Serve on a bed of iceberg lettuce.

1 tablespoon salad oil
Combine the meat loaf mix, cracker crumbs, onion, garlic, salt, poultry seasoning, pepper, egg, finely-cut pickles and 1/4 cup of the tomatoes. Mix lightly but thoroughly.
Shape into a round loaf 6 inches in diameter. Arrange the 8 pickles, spoke-fashion, on top of the loaf, pressing them in slightly.

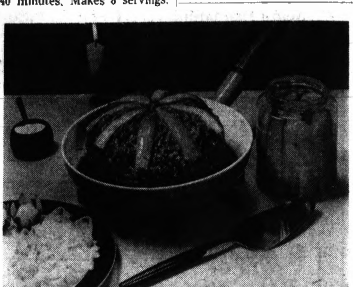

Heat oil in skillet. Place meat loaf in hot oil. Spoon remaining tomatoes over meat, filling in the spaces between the pickles. Cover skillet tightly.
Cook on high heat until steam escapes, about 5 minutes. Then simmer until meat is done, 25 to 40 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Try Vegetable Soup Before Cold Dish

It's a good idea to preface a cold course with a hot soup. And this is a delicious one, easily prepared with a blender.

Vegetable Bisque
1 can (8 1/2 ounces) mixed vegetables
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/16 teaspoon white pepper
1 cup milk
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed chicken broth, undiluted

Into an electric blender turn vegetables and their liquid; puree; there should be about 3/4 cup. In a 1- to 1 1/2-quart saucepan make a white sauce of the butter, flour, pepper, milk and broth. Add vegetable puree; reheat but do not boil. Makes 3 servings.

NO-OVEN MEAT LOAF—A simmered meat loaf is both pickle and tomato flavored and decorated. Easy, too, for warm weather serving are noodles, tossed with grated cheese, as an accompaniment.

Get 'Em While They're Hot

BARBECUE with

BARBECUED BEEF SANDWICHES

Simmer 2 or 3 tablespoons of sweet pickle relish in Ragu's Old World style Spaghetti Sauce. Add slices of pot roast or roast beef. Make sandwiches with meat on hamburger buns and pour heated sauce (like gravy) over meat and buns.

For picnics away from home, put sauce and meat slices in a casserole and bake in a moderate oven until very hot. Tie lid on casserole securely. Wrap in newspapers and carry to picnic. Sauce will keep warm several hours.

SPAGHETTI SAUCE

America's Tastiest SPAGHETTI SAUCE

TWO-HIGH BEEF BURGERS — Every-one — youngsters, career girls, the menfolk — love burgers, and they'll all rate Two-High Beef Burgers the best yet. The flavor combination of beef and a tangy cheese mixture makes this a recipe you'll want to serve often.

Be Different With Exotic Meat Loaf

Young marrieds with limited incomes often look to ham-grocery to balance the food that this one with shredded budget. But when it comes time to entertain, the lowly ham-dresser burger needs dressing up to turn it into company fare.

How about making it into a meat loaf? Not just an ordinary meat loaf, but one with interesting texture and flavor touches contributed by chopped water chestnuts and a topping of crushed pineapple.

Accompanied by a green vegetable, a tossed salad and hot rolls it's elegant an exotic enough for any buffet supper table.

EXOTIC MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground chuck
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 (8 oz.) can water chestnuts, drained and chopped
2 eggs, beaten
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
1/4 cup ketchup
1/2 teaspoon dried basil, well rubbed
1 (8 1/2 oz.) can crushed pineapple

Mix together all ingredients except pineapple. Shape by gently packing into a 9"x5" loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Chill until fairly firm, about 2 hours.
Turn out into lightly oiled shallow pan; remove paper. Spread drained pineapple evenly over top of loaf. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour. Let stand about 15 minutes before slicing. Makes 8 servings.

Try New Salad

On a fluffy bed of finely shredded western iceberg lettuce, make a ring of overlapping green pepper slices, with rings of drained canned whole kernel corn and sliced tomato inside.
Heap canned crisp shoestring potatoes in center and rizzle a creamy bottled dressing from center to edge, like spokes.

When Both Sides Air Opinions

Abby Finds Self Caught in Middle

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Why do you always stick up for the men? You are a traitor to your own sex. A man has to practice self-defense. He has to protect himself from the women who will condemn him.

A while back, a woman wrote in asking if it was "stealing" to pick her husband's pockets, while he was sleeping, and you said it wasn't. Now how stupid can you be?

According to the law, that which a man earns is community property between husband and wife, to be shared equally, so I ask you, how can a wife "steal" a portion of what is hers in the first place? Just because the husband happens to get his hands on it first is no reason for him to steal HER share.

I notice you said nothing about the stinginess of a husband who would force his wife to pick his pockets while he slept in order to make ends meet.

If you don't start giving us women a fair shake, I am going to call up and cancel the paper.

AGNES ON IN L'VILLE

DEAR AGGIE: Read on...

DEAR ABBY: I have always suspected that you hated men, and now I am sure of it.

A poor neglected man wrote to you asking what to do about a wife who is either over at her mother's house half the time, or else she's yacking with her Mamma on the phone.

You said, "You married a Mamma's girl... learn to live with it." Why didn't you tell him to give his wife a good swift kick in the behind and tell her to grow up and act like a wife, and if that didn't straighten her out to send her back to her mother?

I am not kidding, and I hope in the future you will give men at least a 50-50 break.

EDDY IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband with whom I cannot discuss anything on an intelligent rational basis.

If I say anything about the children, he says, "you raised them wrong." He refuses to discuss his business with me because he says I "jinx" every deal he tells me about. We can't discuss politics because he is a reactionary Republican who calls me "Pinko" because I'm a liberal Democrat.

We can't agree on entertainment, either. Everything I like on TV is stupid.

What does a wife do in this kind of situation. Shut up entirely and have a silent marriage. Or should I speak up and get a tongue lashing from a narrow-minded, ill-tempered man who will open up his big mouth to me.

He reads your column each day and laughs at the other person's woes. I wonder what his reaction will be when he reads your answer to ours.

SILENT PARTNER

'City Plan,' Topic of Guest Speakers

A meeting sponsored by the Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs, on the subject of the redevelopment of downtown Pontiac, is scheduled Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Auditorium, North Telegraph Road.

C. Don Davidson, Professor of Architecture at the University of Detroit, and Marvin Skelton, specialist in land development and financing, will be available to answer questions following the presentation which will be illustrated by color slides.

Davidson and Skelton are graduates of Pontiac Central High School.

The meeting is open without charge to all interested persons.

DEAR SILENT: What did you talk about BEFORE you were married? Where there is no "communication" there is no hope for an improved relationship.

If you are serious about wanting to solve your woes, I hope you and your husband can agree on a marriage counselor, because you certainly need one.

DEAR ABBY: My little daughter-in-law is the sweetest child and I love her dearly, but I wish I could tell her NOT to TRY SO HARD when she invites Dad and me to dinner. She wants everything to be "just so," which I think is commendable, but the poor little thing knocks herself out and I feel guilty for having made her work so hard.

I wouldn't embarrass her for the world by going into her kitchen to "help" her, but believe me, she could use some help. When we arrive, she's in the kitchen struggling with five or six different kinds of hot hors d'oeuvres, and during dinner she's either in the kitchen or jumping around "serving" us.

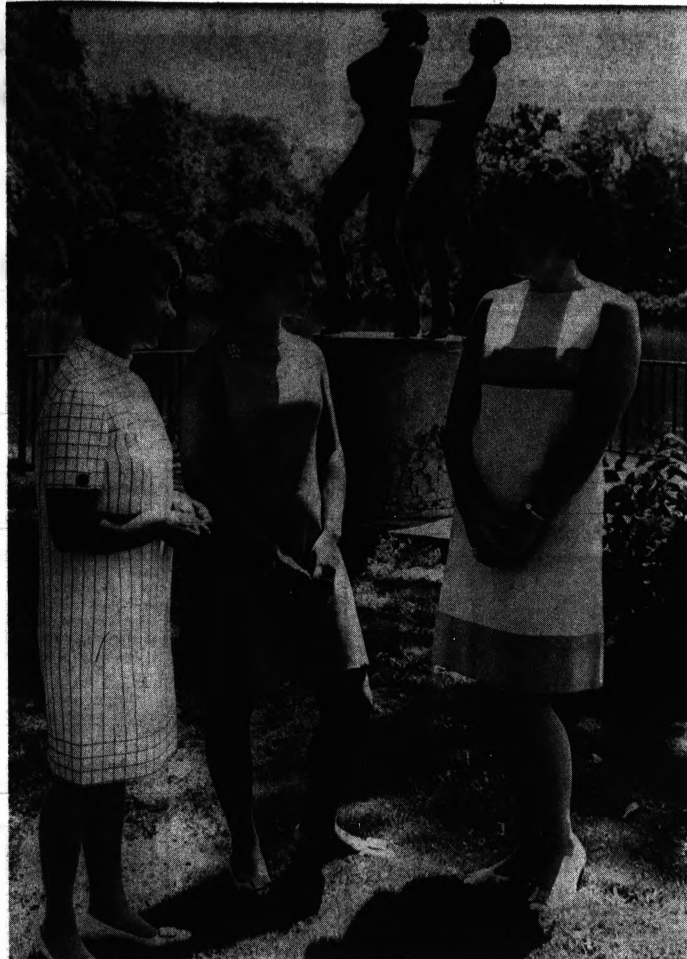

I wish I could tell her if she'd just throw some hamburgers on the grill, slice a few tomatoes and open up a quart of ice cream for dessert, we'd love it. But no, she insists on making the most complicated dishes which require hours of time and tremendous effort.

How can a mother-in-law tell her sweet new daughter-in-law that she'd rather have her company and simple food than the most elaborate meal in the world? She reads your column.

NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: She can't. But since you brought it up, many older, experienced women can also learn this lesson. When a guest accepts an invitation to dinner, he wants to find a HOSTESS—not a "GHOSTESS." Simple food served in a relaxed atmosphere is enjoyed far more than the most elegant gourmet fare offered by a worn out, fretful, nervous wreck who has obviously slaved for hours.

If she reads my column, I hope she doesn't miss this one.

Carl Milles's "The Dancers," at the lakeside adjoining Kingswood's campus, is the meeting place for three of the school's alumnae discussing arrangements for their style show, "Reflections in Fashion." Scheduled Sept. 6, a luncheon at Kingswood will precede the showing of fashions from the shop of Claire Pearone. Mrs. Melvin Kolbert, left, Huntington Woods, is chairman of the event. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Macon Trabue, center, Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Richard P. Mabey, right, Birmingham, is in charge of publicity. Proceeds will benefit the Ellen and Catherine Wallace Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Robert A. Grays Wed

Carrying a cascade of white roses and ivy, Robyn Jan Rutzen exchanged vows with Robert Alan Gray Saturday afternoon in Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a bouffant silk organza skirt, lace bodice and matching lace train. A petal headpiece trimmed with pearls and crystals held her veil of illusion.

Susan Folsom was maid of honor for the daughter of Robert E. Rutzen of Watkins Lake Road, and Mrs. Lloyd H. Golden of Edgewood Drive.

ATTENDANTS

Shirley Ford, Mrs. Charles Golden, Mrs. Roy Holmstrom, Joanne Kriss, Mrs. Robert Rutzen Jr. and Sandy Smalley were bridesmaids.

On the esquire side, Michael Grose was best man, assisted by Charles Golden, Thomas Gray, Roy Holmstrom, Geoff Rutzen, Robert Rutzen Jr. and Thom Smith.

Robert, son of the Thomas H. Grays of Clarkston, and his bride left on a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan following a reception in the church parlors.

They will be seniors at Western Michigan University this fall.

MRS. ROBERT GRAY

Guests Expect a Little More at a Reception

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My son's wedding reception will be held at 9 p.m. There will be music and it will be in a beautiful hall. Everything sounds lovely but here's the problem. All the bride wants to serve is champagne punch and fancy cookies.

Quite a few of the people we've invited are beer drinkers and I know they all expect something to eat. She says it's too much like a picnic if the usual fare is served, and if they want beer they can go to a local bar. I'm afraid everyone will think we're too cheap if she doesn't change her mind. I get more and more nervous day by day. What can I do? — Mrs. A.E.B.

Dear Mrs. B.: I agree with your daughter-in-law about the beer, it's just not an appropriate drink for a formal reception.

However, I agree with you about food. Guests arriving for a 9 p.m. reception should certainly be served sandwiches and snacks to go along with the cookies and cake.

CUSTOMS

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is now expecting her first baby. Her husband is from a foreign country, and is here only two years. He said to respect his parents, the child has to be named after either one of them and no doubt about it.

My sister can't stand either name and does not wish to do so. He already has two married brothers whose four children (two boys and two girls) have the same names. What can be done about this? Nothing can change his mind. — Elaine

Dear Elaine: Nothing can be done if your sister wants to keep her marriage intact. Since it is considered necessary to name children after grandparents in his country, she must accept it.

However, there is no reason that she can't encourage use of a nickname — even one quite removed from the formal name.

EATING CLAMS

Dear Mrs. Post: When I order clams on the half-shell in a restaurant, is it proper to drink the juice out of the shell after eating the clams? — Jerry

Dear Jerry: It would not be proper in a de luxe restaurant, but it would be permissible in a less pretentious one, and expected at a clam bar.

Pair to Reside in New England Following Recent Wedding

Newlyweds, the Orey Frank Gadoways (nee Karen Dawn Wilcox) will make their home in South Lancaster, Mass., following a honeymoon trip to the New England states.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Leitch of Pauline Street and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orey H. Gadoway of Saranac, N.Y., were wed in Seventh Day Adventist Church Sunday during an evening ceremony.

ENSEMBLE

Carrying a cascade of white roses and Stephanotis, the bride wore a silk linen skimmer with Venetian lace accents. A matching linen court train completed her look.

An open cap of matching starched Venetian lace was worn with bouffant veiling of silk illusion.

Maid of honor, Anita Anderson of Byron and bridesmaids Cheryl Wilcox and Lois Stots, were escorted by Brian Loomis, best man, and ushers Taly Dorn and Tom Stewart.

Chris Heil was flower girl.

THE ROSE FAMILY REACHES FAR

This may surprise you, but there are some members of the rose family which we never seem to associate with the lovely rose. They are the blackberry, the strawberry, plum, pear, cherry, peach, raspberry and apricot. If you doubt this — the next time you see any of these fruits' blossoms, look at them closely — you will find them to be 'miniature roses.'

We love the real rose, and our selections are always excellent in lovely long stem beauties. Let them express your love and admiration when words fail.

Why Grow Old ?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is a bad idea to stretch the truth, it is painful to stretch the budget, but it is relaxing to stretch the body. This takes the kinks out of the muscles and the spirit. Stretching before getting up in the morning is a luxurious and delightful way to start the day. Place your right arm back over your head. Now stretch the right arm back and push forward, stretching, with the left leg. Hold the stretch for a few moments. Relax. This time stretch with the left arm and the right leg. Do this very slowly in a lazy fashion.

Lie on your back. Now bend your right elbow and move it as far across the body as you can. Feel the pull at the back of the arm and over the back of the shoulder. Relax and return arm to bed. Do the same thing with your left elbow.

Lie across the bed with your head hanging off of the bed. Tilt your head backward until you feel the stretch under the chin. Raise head and touch your chin to your chest. Continue lowering and raising, slowly.

When you get out of bed in the morning, or just before going to bed at night, do the following. Stand facing the wall. Place your hands on the wall as far up on the wall as they will go. Keep your elbows straight as you rise high on your toes and "walk" up the wall with your fingers. STRETCH! Go as high as you can. Hold at the highest point while you count to six. Relax and return heels to the floor.

If you would like to have my free leaflet "Relaxing Exercises" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The territory of the Neo-Thirties never looked better than in this "bonnie" inspiration by Sacony. The V-necked torso that kicks off a skirt of pleats from the hip graduates to high-fashion in Loom 88 wool jersey made of autumn solids banded with white. Bonnie's beret from Mr. John, Jr.

Diminish Scratch

If you have a piece of pewter that has a small surface scratch, you can make it far less noticeable by rubbing the blemish with number 000 steel wool.

The nation's farm population has declined to 10,817,000.

Inkless Pen

When you use carbon paper for transferring a design to paper or fabric you will find that an inkless ballpoint pen gives a more uniform tracing than a pencil, and leaves the original design clean so it may be used again.

Study Shows Women Who Smoke Give Birth to Smaller Babies

LONDON (UPI) — An investigation among 2,000 pregnant women in Sheffield has established that women who smoke regularly during pregnancy have smaller babies, it was reported.

Prof. Charles Scott Russell, who conducted the investigation at Sheffield University, said he thought this is the first time a direct link between smoking and smaller babies has been firmly established.

Russell's report, in the latest issue of the British Journal of Preventive and Social Medicine, also indicated that women who smoke 5, 10, or more cigarettes a day run a greater risk of miscarriage, stillbirth, or death responsible for the smaller of the child in the first month babies.

However, the Russell report concluded: "When mean foetal weights were compared for smokers compared with 4.1 per factors in turn, it was quite clear that the smoking effect on non-smokers was obvious in every pregnancy rate of 31 per cent compared with 14.5 per cent of other non-smokers."

OTHER FACTORS
Russell's investigation team took into account a number of other possible factors in the smallness of a baby, such as social background, environment, and the mother's attitude toward pregnancy.

As the team expected, a number of these factors were linked with the mother's smoking against chipping or dising and so might have been coloring.

Improve Handles

You can have smoother, better looking handles on your enamel cookware by giving them a coat of colorless nail polish. This also provides protection against chipping or dising and so might have been coloring.

As the team expected, a number of these factors were linked with the mother's smoking against chipping or dising and so might have been coloring.

Polly's Pointers

Try This for Bath Mat

DEAR POLLY — I suggest that Helen try using hair shampoo, applied with a stiff brush, on her white rubber bath mat. It takes only a little and I have found it works on many things that are hard to clean, like pebbled plastic.—WINIFRED

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Helen that I put my rubber bath mat right in the washing machine as I do my towels and other such things. Regular detergent and hot water gives it a cleaner-than-new look. Do not put it in the dryer. Hang over the edge of the tub to dry.—JEANNIE

DEAR GIRLS — Both these methods do get the mats spottily clean but do not give the really snowy white look that I think Helen is seeking and I am afraid she looks for in vain.—POLLY

POLLY'S PROBLEM

—DEAR POLLY — The rear plastic window in our convertible is foggy. Would any readers know what can be done to make it transparent again?—THEODOSIA

DEAR POLLY — My Pointers are for mothers sending packages to their boys who are overseas in service. When using newspaper to cushion the contents of a box, be sure to include the complete Sunday comic sheets and pages with items they may enjoy. My son reads them and passes them around.

In all my packages, I hide a surprise. It need be very little — just something different to look for. I also send him the daily paper to keep him in touch with home.

It is hard to address a package as there is no place to rest one's arm. I put a box or something of equal height at the side of the package to hold my arm so I can write the address easier and better.

I do hope you publish my letter because every little thing we at home can do to make life a bit more enjoyable for our boys in the service is so important.—MRS. J. H.

DEAR POLLY — Did you ever use a large dressing comb as a "washboard" to rub soiled articles that require a little rubbing when being hand washed? — Mrs. D. G.

Indeed I have but I am sure many of our new homemakers will like to hear about it.—POLLY

Local Boy Wins Music Award

Among winners of awards announced at the honors convocation, a final day's event at the National Music Camp recently, was Mark Davis, 14, of Pontiac.

Mark Davis receives a handshake and a medal from Edward German, director of the Intermediate Boys chorus at Interlochen.

Mark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davis, 88 Oriole Road, received the Intermediate Chorus Medal, an award that goes to the person in the Intermediate (junior high) division making the greatest contribution to the chorus. In addition to his choral work, Mark also plays piano and French horn.

A student at Washington Junior High School, Mark is finishing his third summer at Interlochen. He is here on a partial scholarship from the Pontiac schools.

The awards ceremony came at the conclusion of eight weeks of intensive work, interspersed with a sports program, for more than 1,500 campers ranging from third grade to college age.

The National Music Camp is the nation's oldest; it was founded by the late Dr. Joseph E. Maddy in 1928.

Check Your Insurance Before Taking Trip

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Just as most of us feel we are protected from the rain clouds by carrying an umbrella, so we can jinx the possibility of losing luggage on a trip by carrying insurance on the bags. It may not be scientific, but it gives us peace of mind if nothing happens — and money if something does.

But why stop at baggage insurance when the whole works — accident, sickness and hospital indemnity, and baggage insurance — can be obtained in a package at modest cost. To those of you who've asked if this type of all-in-one insurance is available on a group plan, the answer is no, because of its small unit cost.

However, if you're going on a vacation tour, you can get such a package policy through your travel agency for each member of your family, covering you 24 hours a day. And you have a choice of from one day to six months' protection.

CHECK
Of course, you'll want to check any life or accident policies you may already have, to see what coverage is already in effect. If you're planning on a certain tour or cruise that involves travel on a chartered carrier ask your insurance agent to spell out the indemnity clauses in your policies. If you want additional protection, here are some cost figures of a representative all-in-one travel policy:

For a 21-day vacation, about $7 or a little less will buy $5,000 worth of accident coverage, $500 worth of medical expenses, and $20 a day hospital indemnity. The cost for 21-day protection in the amount of $25,000 accident coverage, $2,500 medical and $20 a day hospitalization runs around $20. You can get $100 worth of baggage insurance for 21 days for less than $2, and $500 worth for about $7.

While you're checking your various insurance policies already in effect, and providing you have a theft or homeowner's policy, see if a floater clause covers your baggage, for how much and how long.

These all-in-one travel policies do not conflict with Blue Cross coverage, I'm told. Blue Cross pays the hospital bills, while these travel policies pay you in cash up to the amount of the policy. Incidentally, there are certain limits applying to age groups in relation to the principal sums that can be bought — varying from $50,000 available for ages 16 to 69, to $25,000 for ages 70 and over, and $5,000 for ages 12 months to 15 years inclusive.

You can get Mary Feeley's "Financial Building Blocks" by sending her a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-400, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Scalp Hygiene Is a Necessity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Good scalp and hair hygiene dictates that hair should be shampooed as often as needed, according to a report in "Today's Health," publication of the American Medical Association.

Although once a week is recommended, polluted air might make more frequent washing necessary for hair health.

Daily brushing to supplement the shampoo also helps. It keeps the hair and scalp clean by loosening and removing dust, grime, hair spray residue and dead cells.

Women Volunteers Fill Important Gap

They push book carts through hospitals; help clean up slums; teach underprivileged children; ring doorbells for political candidates; iron clothes for orphans; feed foundlings; help in the fight against air pollution; collect money to fight diseases.

"They are America's women volunteers, not rich and not paid; often joked about and virtually unheralded. They are so numerous it is almost impossible to count them, but they fill an estimated 80 million jobs."

Some work two hours a week; others work more. Without them many services in this country would dry up.

There are 28 major health fund organizations alone which derive millions of volunteer hours from women each year. The Mother's March each year involves some two million women. In the peak years of the March of Dimes, women volunteers collected $15 million annually for polio research.

SOCIAL PROTEST

Women volunteer groups first budded in the waning days of the 19th century, an era of social protest during which women clipped the ties that bound them exclusively to their homes and went into the streets to demand suffrage and countless other improvements.

The early volunteers formed such groups as the Anti-Saloon League and the National Child Labor Committee.

In 1890, many groups joined to organize the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which today is the single largest women's service organization with more than 11 million members in 54 countries. There are 15,700 clubs in the organization.

By the dawn of the 20th century, women were firmly entrenched in the club habit. They brushed off snide suggestions that volunteers were unwanted spinsters or unhappy wives and continued exploring social injustices and forming organizations to fight them.

MIDDLE-AGE WOMEN

Who is the volunteer woman? Many are middle-age women who have reared their children.

"A child of 3 or 4 is excellent company," one woman said. "But once they are grown, housework becomes galloping boredom. A woman must have something more than dusting the dining room suite."

Evelyn Byron, director of the Chicago Volunteer Service Bureau, has placed volunteers for more than 26 years.

"We have every category of woman," she said. "The teacher, the schoolgirl, the career woman, the housewife. We get them all."

WANT TO CONTRIBUTE

Elaine Whitelaw of the National Foundation in New York City said, "More and more young women of child-bearing age want to contribute to the social needs of their country."

Mrs. Murray Mellicker of the Women's Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Kansas City has made some surveys of woman volunteers.

"There is a decline in the lodge type of activity as a source of self-expression for women. Women volunteers are growing increasingly professional. And competition is stiffer for volunteer offices. Once you had to browbeat a woman into taking a local PTA presidency.

Mrs. Mellicker said that more affluence and leisure has also contributed to the increase of women volunteers.

TWO TYPES

There are basically two types of volunteer work. One is direct service involving people-to-people contact. The other includes fund raising, office and clerical duties.

"Many persons think volunteer work is glamorous but we tell them it's serious. If a volunteer promises to go to a nursery and read to a child at a certain time, she must be there. But we can't hold a stick over their heads," Mrs. Byron said.

She added that many women are motivated by boredom to join volunteer services.

The woman hospital worker is probably the most familiar form of volunteer.

96 PCT. ARE WOMEN

The American Hospital Association reported that in 1964, the last year for which it has figures—nearly 3,000 of 5,545 hospitals surveyed had auxiliaries comprising volunteers. The membership totaled more than a million persons, and 96 per cent were women. Adult volunteers alone contributed 30 million volunteer hours to hospitals in 1964.

Lucille Crawford, the director of volunteers of Chicago's Children's Memorial Hospital, which has 240 day volunteers and 80 night workers, said "Hospitals need to concern themselves with the dignity of a patient. The more automation in a hospital, the more it tends to be less humanized. Volunteers can fill this void."

Mrs. Meyer Mieselman of Highland Park drives 30 miles twice a week to work in the emergency ward at Memorial Hospital.

"What you see here you could never see anywhere else," she said. "Many people can't take this kind of involvement, but I love children."

REARED 2 DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Mieselman reared two daughters, but she has been doing volunteer work 14 years.

"I never had any problems, even when the children were small. I always found a sitter. My husband thinks my volunteer work is wonderful."

Almost all of the women interviewed agreed with Mrs. Mieselman that their husbands have no objections to volunteer work.

"It makes me more interesting and more interested, less confined and not so dull," one woman said.

NO CONFLICT

None of the women said she had found any conflict between house chores and volunteer duties.

In 1968 many women skipped their routine volunteer duties to work for political candidates. More women than ever rang doorbells, passed out petitions and held coffee klatches.

Irene Anderson, the wife of a Chicago advertising executive, stumped for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as well as keeping up her duties in other areas.

Mrs. Anderson is a member of the League of Women Voters; she also worked with the American Cancer Society and does work at home for the Metropolitan Housing and Planning Council.

'OUTGOING PERSON'

"I'm an outgoing person and hospital work just didn't do anything for me. The planning council was something my husband was interested in, so I joined to have something to talk to him about at the end of the day."

Mary Jo Finch is a secretary for a public relations firm. She lives on Chicago's Near North Side where the city's night life thrives. She is young and single and not bored.

IN GOOD HANDS — While crying son

Ricky, 2, is held by Mrs. Amelia Lopez, volunteer and Spanish interpreter Mrs. J. A. Young (kneeling right) comforts the lad as technician Mrs. Eva Gerole takes a blood sample at the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

Temple U. Ends 2-Sex Dorm Plan as Incompatible

PHILADELPHIA — Temple University is calling off its experiment of mixing the sexes in a previously all-male dorm.

It just didn't work out. During the past school year, 42 girls were programmed, due to overcrowding, to share Johnson Hall, a dorm for 300 men. When classes resume in September, there won't be any such sharing.

"Sex wasn't the problem," Mrs. Jane Austin, girls' dorm boss who tried to make it work said today. "It was the sexes. They just couldn't function as an organized dorm unit."

The students couldn't agree on how to govern themselves and how to hand out discipline.

Complications Mar Chicago's Welcome to Dem Delegates

CHICAGO (AP) — When Democratic National Convention delegates come to Chicago this weekend they will find that some of the simple things of life have become complicated.

Take, for instance, the telephone. Installers, who have been on strike against the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. since May 8, agreed four weeks ago to put in television, teletype and telephone equipment. But only at the International Amphitheatre, the convention site, and only for handling news and official business.

In such a circumstance, the thinking delegate would turn to pay telephones to make personal calls. There are pay telephones scattered around the amphitheater. But, as of Tuesday, they all were out of order. Transportation? A strike by Local 777 of the Democratic Union Organizing Committee of the Seafarers International Union against the Yellow and Checker companies has taken three-fourths of the city's normal supply of 4,484 cabs off the streets.

PRIVATE CARS

The convention staff has arranged for private cars and has chartered buses to ferry delegates, officials and others among O'Hare International Airport, hotels and the amphitheater.

But, apparently, if a delegate wants to taxi out of the Chicago area to visit kinfolk, he will have to whistle for a cab.

TIGHT SECURITY

Of course, there's the Chicago Transit Authority's efficient network of buses and elevated and subway trains. But a group of dissident drivers has threatened a wildcat strike Sunday, the eve of the convention opening.

Tickets? Delegates won't have to worry about their own except that their credentials will be subject to a careful check before they enter the area that encompasses the amphitheater.

Tight security will be in force in the entire mile-square amphitheater-stockyard district, five miles southwest of the city's main business district.

But they probably won't be able to get any tickets for people who are neither participants nor guests of the convention. Officials have said there are none for the general public—unless delegates can dip into their state's allotment.

If all the 3.5 million residents of Chicago wanted to go, the 10,000-seat hall would have to be filled and emptied 350 times.

If delegates get around, they probably will see many of the uninvited as well as the invited. Two organizations have suits on file seeking to prevent officials from interfering with their plans for convention week.

The Youth International Committee—yippies—wants to conduct a "festival of life" in Lincoln Park. The other, the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, wants to hold rallies and to march Wednesday night to the convention hall. It also wants an okay to sleep in parks. Unless the city provides space, the antiwar group said, "the streets will be filled with thousands of persons roaming aimlessly."

The weather? Chicagoans have sweat out a series of hot, humid spells this month. No change is in sight.

Kelley Backs 2 Bond Issues

Cash for Playgrounds, Sewage Plants Asked

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley today urged Michigan voters to authorize the issuance of $435 million in bonds for sewage treatment and outdoor recreation facilities.

Kelley, addressing a regional water pollution control meeting, said the state is needed to clean up the state's waterways and provide playgrounds for a growing population.

The bond issues will be on the Nov. 5 election ballot, with $335 million going to combat water pollution and $100 million for recreation purposes.

"Every study of the problem indicates that water pollution poses a dire threat to Michigan's economy, its tourist business and to the health of all our citizens," Kelley said. "We cannot make that threat disappear by talking it away. We need vigorous action supported by large sums of money."

TO LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Kelley said the water pollution control funds would go to local governments for new treatment plants, improvements to existing plants and loans for new sewers.

"This would be a massive shot in the arm to the war against pollution of our lakes and streams," he added.

The attorney general, who doubles as chairman of the Michigan delegation to the Great Lakes Commission, said $70 million of the recreation bond issue would be used to erect campsites, parks and other outdoor facilities. The remaining $30 million would go for playgrounds in heavily-populated urban areas.

Attending the conference here were water pollution control officials from Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana.

'Loan Racket' Murder Trial Ends Mistrial

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A murder trial involving an alleged Mafia loan-shark racket ended Tuesday in a mistrial before Macomb County Circuit Judge Alton H. Nee.

Nee ordered a new trial for John Palmer, 30, of Detroit, after ruling that a statement by Police Lt. Richard Oakes prejudiced the case against Palmer.

Palmer was returned to county jail without bond to await the new trial for second-degree murder in the fatal beating last March of Sam DiMaggio, 57, of Sterling Heights.

DiMaggio reputedly was the victim of a so-called "juice racket" involving loans at inflated interest rates and was beaten for failing to make a loan payment.

Nee said Oakes testified he had traced telephone numbers found on Palmer to Atlanta, Ga. He then said the body of Robert J. Dunaway, 37, of Grosse Pointe Woods was later found in Atlanta. Police said they believe Dunaway, an alleged Mafia musician, was involved with Palmer in the DiMaggio beating and the Mafia were irrelevant to the trial.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When he was 18, Jim Webb flunked a college music course, broke up with his girl, got on an airplane and wrote "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

At 19 he rode skyward in a balloon for a publicity stunt and wrote "Up, Up and Away."

Now 21, the composer prodigy of pop music needs no balloons or airplanes. His "MacArthur Park" is at the top of the charts, and Jim Webb's career is soaring.

He has been signed to write the score for the film musical of "Peter Pan." Nearly completed is a second album of songs for actor Richard Harris whose first Webb album, "A Tramp Shining," was a runaway success.

Frank Sinatra, among others, has asked for some Webb songs. Taping has begun on a television special, "Jim Webb and His Friends." And on his latest single record, "One of the Nicer Things," Jim Webb—composer and lyricist—makes his singing debut.

DIZZY ASCENT

It's been a fast and dizzying ascent for the kid who came out of Oklahoma in 1964 knowing he had to write songs: "There was a time in my life when, as an articulate and soft-spoken matter of body chemistry, I wrote three songs a week."

Webb seems the calm center of Jim came to San Bernardino, this whirlwind success.

He leased a huge, tree-shaded old house just off Hollywood Boulevard where he lives with an entourage of friends, musicians and his business manager.

Articulate and soft-spoken, still with an Oklahoma drawl, Webb seems the calm center of this whirlwind success.

He broke up with his girl, made a brief visit to Oklahoma, and on that auspicious flight home wrote the song that catapulted him to success.

Prof Analyzes Viet War by Computer

EAST LANSING (AP) — A Michigan State University professor who has analyzed the Vietnam war by computer says U. S. policymakers would be more likely to achieve a negotiated settlement by de-escalating the bombing of North Vietnam.

Jeffrey Milstein, an assistant professor of political science, said the bombing de-escalation would also be more likely to lessen the rate of Communist troop commitments in South Vietnam.

Milstein said he did a systematic computer analysis and simulation of the war's progress from January, 1965 to December 1967 at Stanford University in cooperation with William Mitchell, a computer scientist. He said he found, among other things, that both sides seem to lack "an adequate understanding of the dynamics of the war."

The MSU professor said his research indicates "escalation of the bombing provokes a subsequent counter-escalation of North Vietnamese troop commitments. This buildup leads to increased U. S. troops in South Vietnam, which results in more casualties on both sides."

The lawn mower, invented in 1830 in England by Edwin Budding, was very much like our modern hand mowers.

Job Bias Grant

DETROIT (AP) — The State Civil Rights Commission will receive a $20,000 grant from the U. S. Equal Opportunity Commission for research aimed at eliminating job discrimination. The commission plans to examine the hiring practice of employers with few or no Negro or Spanish-speaking workers. Emphasis will be on working through existing laws to eliminate any discrimination in hiring.

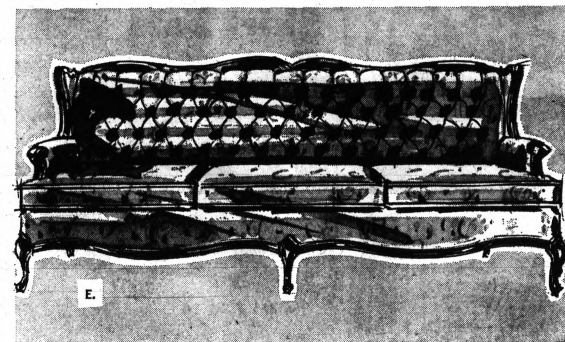

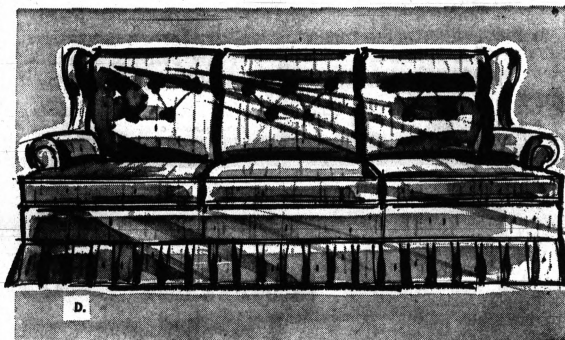

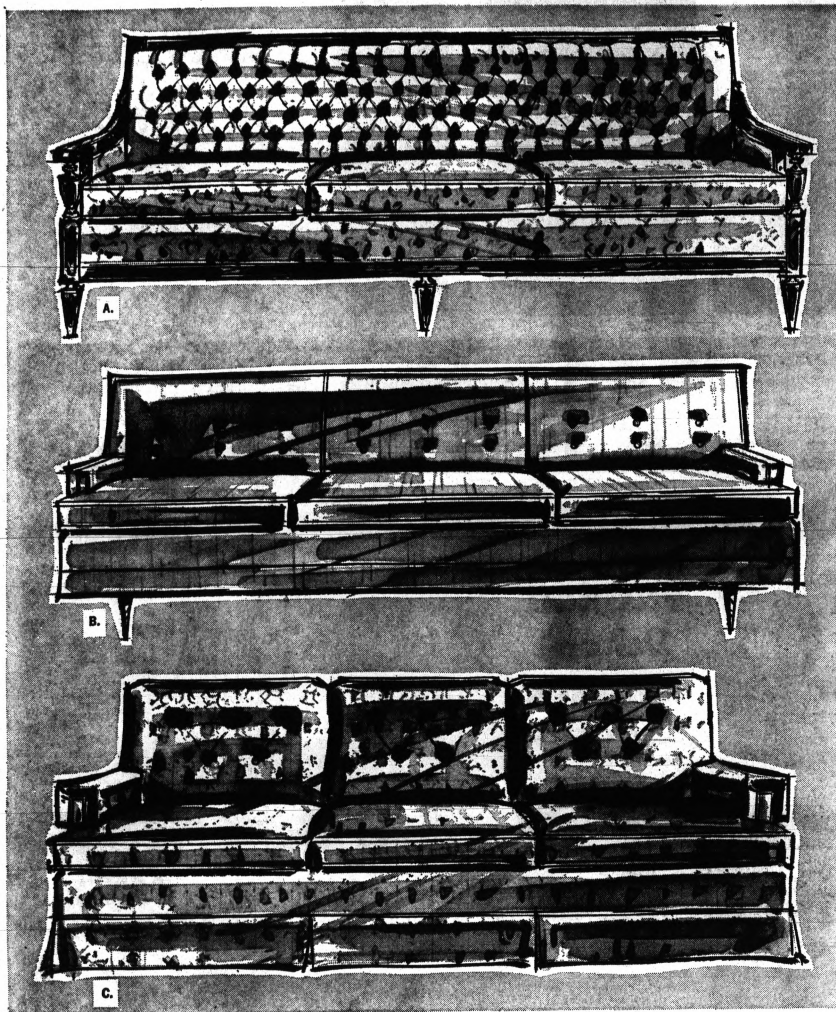

Japan to End Engine Quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Japanese government has agreed to eliminate all quotas on importation of American automobile engines and related parts at the beginning of 1972, the State Department reported Tuesday.

In the interval, the Japanese will apply an increasing scale of quotas.

The Japanese government, in a memorandum delivered to the State Department, also agreed to reduce the import duty on large American passenger cars from 28 to 17.5 per cent, the department said.

Officials said that the quotas on automobile engines and related parts would be 30,000 for 1969, 50,000 for 1970 and 70,000 for 1971. Each engine and the related parts are considered one unit for import purposes.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carter

Here's one that's hard to believe. But it's true. . . The New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns played a full 18-inning doubleheader on Sept. 20, 1926 in the heat of a pennant race.

That's the record for the longest doubleheader in big league history. . . And, that was a short time for just one game.

Did you know that the famous movie colony of Hollywood might have a different name, were it not for a home run? . . . The legend is that a man went to the scene one day long ago, and had a home run. . . That home came in, and paid off big time. . . The man took his winnings and bought real estate in what is now Hollywood. . . The home was called "Hollywood." . . And, the man named his real estate holdings after the home. . . Just think, if some other home had been the one that day, the world famous name of Hollywood, as a community and movie headquarters would not exist.

Now's the time to get an oddity. . . Stan Musial made a total of 3630 hits in his baseball career, exactly 1815 of those hits came at home and exactly 1815 came on the road. . . That's a little hard to believe, but it's been checked and it's true.

I bet you didn't know. . . that the quality is critical to our safety and performance. And, further, what kind of economy is it to put a $4200 car on a $14 thousand "cheapie"? Even worse, who's willing to bet his life on one? Join the groovy group of Carter customers who put safety first - let us recommend your next set of tires.

Outside of Judging Ring

Many Activities Take Place

More goes on at a dog show than judging. * * *

This is the major reason for owners and handlers entering the competition, of course, but other activities can be just as interesting to the non-expert. * * *

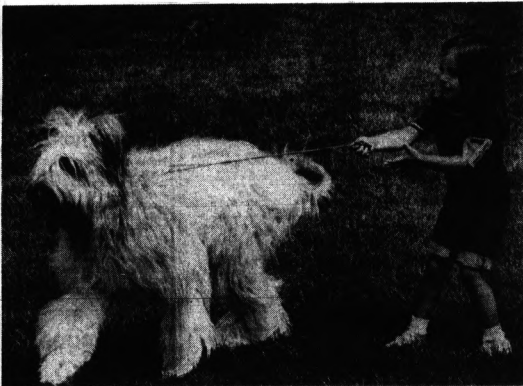

A spectator who takes a fancy to a certain breed finds owners usually happy to answer questions. Most of them are either breeders with an eye out for potential costumers or persons interested in boosting the image of a particular breed. * * *

The various methods of grooming constantly taking place backstage can be educational and interesting. The junior showmanship competition for the youngsters always is a popular spectator draw. So is the obedience. * * *

The average spectator comes to see different dogs — not the judging. A special breed may be the sole attraction. * * *

One of the favorite past-times is trying to figure out what breed is in the ring. Even dog show people have their problems with proper identification if an off-beat canine appears. * * *

Another favorite is trying to guess which dog the judge will select. Invariably the non-expert is wrong. That's because the judges have certain standards they are looking for as well as the dog's overall showmanship and appearance.

Crisis in Conservation

Department's Image Sagging

By NORRIS INGELLES

The Lansing State Journal. A story circulated last summer about a harried city dweller, who, troubled by the racial conflict, the Vietnam war and the Middle East Crisis, jumped in his car and headed north to "get away from it all."

He had driven for several hours when he got a strong urge for something cut to drink. Up the road, in a tiny Upper Peninsula village, he spied an inviting-looking tavern, and decided to stop.

Inside, a dozen men leaned against the bar, quietly sipping their beer. In an effort to strike up a friendly conversation, he smiled at his fellow imbibers and asked: "How's the deer hunting up here?"

After an hour of listening to the angry replies to his question, he turned his car around and headed back to the "quiet city."

Conservationists and state officials readily admit what our city dweller found out. Probably no state agency is the target of so much criticism, anger — and sometimes even violence — as the Michigan Conservation Department.

SHEDS LIGHT

James L. Rouman, executive director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, sheds some light on what is behind this tarnished image the department has with so many citizens.

"The people back home almost all think they know more about their back 40 than anyone else, and sometimes it is a simple case of not being able to see the forest for the trees. Fish and wildlife management is a comparatively new field, and some old timers find it hard to accept the findings of the biologists and technically trained," he declared.

He said he feels much of the controversy over department programs results when people living in an area fail to recognize the natural changes that take place in the wilds.

"They treat an area on the basis of what it used to be like," he observed.

Rouman recalled an earlier time in an area near his home in the Upper Peninsula where the forest land had been recently cut over and as a result, contained a large supply of food for deer.

"They were running around there like crazy. Now, with the forest grown up there are only a few," he noted.

Another situation that causes problems is that an angler fishes a lake for many years and develops his own personal theories about it. "Some of these theories are OK," he observed, "but others don't take into consideration the natural biological transformations."

TRANSFORMATIONS

As a result, when these transformations take place, the conservation department gets the blame.

Prof. Howard A. Tanner, director of Michigan State University's School of Natural Resources, says he is "very disturbed" about the public image of the department.

"I don't say the department is always right, but it does have much better 'batting average' than the public thinks," he declared.

Tanner, who directed the fisheries division of the department before taking the MSU position, says he has had close contacts with conservation agencies in several other states.

He termed some of their programs "primitive" compared to similar ones in Michigan.

"Yet, they enjoy a much better public image than the conservation department here in Michigan," he declared.

Tanner labels much of the criticism aimed at the department "very unfair" and added: "To have major segments of the public tell you you are not only stupid but crooked as well when you are working as hard as you can was an extremely galling experience. Yet it is a reasonably popular sport in Michigan to bait the conservation department."

Prof. Tanner noted that some legislators actually get elected by running on an anti-conservation department platform. "It is not just the conservation department that is involved; it is the well-being of the vast resources of this state. But, they are still willing to play at political back-biting with these resources," he declared.

MORE EDUCATION

Sen. Gordon Rockwell (R-Mt. Morris), chairman of the Senate Conservation and Recreation Committee, says he feels more efforts are needed to let the people of Michigan know what the department is doing to effectively preserve and manage the natural resources of the state.

Sen. Rockwell says most citizens' contacts with the department have a negative connotation — no hunting, no camping, no dogs allowed, no fishing. "It may seem to be a policeman's organization. We are not telling the people our good intentions," he stated.

Rouman believes the department has been doing a better job in its information and education programs in recent years. "The image has improved of late," he observed.

However, he feels the large number of negative concepts associated with the department's operations make it difficult to maintain a "major conservation problems and policies of the department" in a good light.

He cited, for example, the old "game warden" image — the idea that "the conservation of-ficier is watching me and is going to check on me."

"He carries a gun and wears a uniform and gives a police-type image," Rouman noted. "When he cracks down on game law violators it makes some people happy, but others angry."

"The department is doing a better job today, but should not be so negative in its approach. It has made many unpopular and unwise moves in the area of public relations," he added.

He also cited a need for a better way to present state rules on natural resources. "The game and fish laws are too heavy and too burdensome. They are hard to read for the average Joe who just wants to go fishing."

Prof. Tanner urged improvements in the competency of conservation department employees who work on the "grass roots" level.

"Often times these people are not in step with the policies of the department, even though they have the most contact with the public," he declared. He said they should spend more time educating the public to the "major conservation problems and policies of the department."

He said he feels most important in the long run. (NEXT: Lands crisis)

Rough Water Hinders Salmon Angling

When fishermen can get on half to seven miles out with cohos averaging 11 pounds. A few have been caught in the 15-17 pound range.

Lures that were successful last year are still producing. Fish are being taken out with jugs and spoons. The department is picking up in the Frankfort area.

Walleye fishing is fair on the St. Clair River south of Marysville. Action on pike is ahead of last year and well in advance of the Oct. 21 small very good on Lake Superior. Perch fishing continues fair to good along the Huron County shoreline from Bay Port to Grindstone City.

Squirrel hunting numbers will be controlled by issuing free daily permits at Rose Lake. The season's squirrel bag limits will match the standard ones in effect statewide.

New experimental feature in the wildlife research area of Beaver and Garden islands this fall will be to permit archery deer hunting from raised platforms or scaffolds.

This special brand of archery deer hunting on those islands will be split into two periods; the first, Sept. 15-Nov. 14; the second, Dec. 1-31.

Bowmen will be required to get free permits at the Department's Beaver Island field office to hunt deer during for bow and arrow action. Starting Nov. 1 and continuing through Nov. 14, shotgun tests this fall will be held on Beaver Island with wild turkeys. Those hunting dates are subject to the season's kill quota of 50 turkeys; if and when that total is reached, turkey hunting from Sept. 15 through Nov. 14 listed November 14 closer.

Special Hunting Seasons Set

The Conservation Department's Rose Lake and Beaver Islands wildlife research areas will offer liberalized hunting this fall under three new test seasons approved by the Conservation Commission.

The experimental hunts will provide an advanced, longer season on squirrels in the Rose Lake Area, a new twist to archery deer hunting on Garden and Beaver islands, and extended action on wild turkey on Beaver Island.

At the Rose Lake Area near East Lansing, the department has held early squirrel seasons for the last two years which have attracted heavy hunter turnouts and produced sizable harvests with apparently no harm done to the animals' productivity.

This fall, the Department will carry this experiment one step further by launching that season Sept. 16, two weeks ahead of last year and well in advance of the Oct. 21 small game opener for Southern Perch fishing continues fair to good along the Huron County shoreline from Bay Port to Grindstone City.

Voyage to Clear Up Gulf Stream Mystery

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A lot of the mystery of the Gulf Stream, the vast Atlantic flow of water that carries northward 22 times the combined discharge of all the rivers in the world, should be cleared up in the spring.

First charted nearly 200 years ago by Benjamin Franklin, the Gulf Stream's course still isn't precisely known. Some of those details should be filled in by the journey of the PX15, soon to be christened the Benjamin Franklin, directed by the Swiss oceanographer Dr. Jacques Piccard. The undersea ship is due for launch this month; the research voyage, 1,500 miles and four to six weeks long, will begin next spring.

Power to move the vessel will come from the Gulf Stream itself — the Franklin will drift at an average of two knots, 300 to 2,000 feet below the ocean surface.

One of the prime scientific purposes of the trip, according to Dr. Piccard, is the charting of the Gulf Stream's scattering layer, tiny plankton that drift toward the surface at night and during the day. Sonar waves bounced from such plankton layers are often confused with the echo from the real ocean bottom, yielding false depth readings and confounding navigation.

TO TAKE MEASUREMENTS

Another aim is to take measurements of the temperature, salinity and other physical characteristics of the Gulf Stream itself.

The Gulf current drift was originally planned for this year; it was postponed to allow participation of the Naval Oceanographic Office in the project. Three of the six crew members will be Navy scientists. Skipper of the Grumman craft will be Donald J. Kazimir, a former U.S. Navy submarine officer.

Cap. Kazimir's chief worry, as it is for all submariners, is the chance of a leak. Because of the water's pressure, it is difficult to spot the leaking point; the water from even a tiny pinhole streams through with such force that it ricochets many times, making location of the source difficult.

For Dr. Piccard the only foreseeable hazard is the Gulf Stream north of Cape

VIEW OF SUB—The proposed Gulf Stream drifter PX15, soon to be christened the Benjamin Franklin, will spend four to six weeks underwater next spring, tracking the vagaries of the famous ocean current.

Hatteras, where it veers eastward from the continental shelf into deep water.

DIFFERENT TYPE

The Ben Franklin differs from the usual submarine in its ability to drift at a given depth. Most submarines have hulls that are more compressible than the water; when they dive, their volume shrinks, making them more dense than the surrounding water. They can, therefore, stay at a desired depth only by using propellers or constantly regulating water ballast.

The drifter, however, is less compressible than water. It will therefore, not tend to keep going down once it has been ballasted for a certain depth. Nor will it rise, since its rigid steel hull subtracts density less quickly than the surrounding water.

Afro-American Course Planned

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — For the first time, Harvard University will be offering a course in Afro-American history this fall.

"It's not going to be a course that glorifies individual Negroes, and we're not interested in taking any group in the United States and blowing up its achievements," said Prof. Frank Freidel, who will conduct the course. "Rather, we will examine the relations and tensions between Negroes and whites."

The two-semester course will range from the introduction of slavery into the United States to the problems of today's cities. The 25-year-old Freidel, a member of the Harvard faculty since 1955 and the author of several books, said the first semester will consider black-white relations through 1945, and the second will treat "all today's practical problems: housing, education, employment."

STUDENT REQUEST

Freidel said planning for the course began when a group of Negro students approached the faculty to ask for one, and the faculty asked him to direct it. "I was happy to undertake the project because I thought it was important and the subject would make a sound course, one that would be needed more by the white students than by the Negro students, who are pretty well-read in the field," he said.

Freidel said the university has "by and large avoided specialized courses of this sort" because it seeks to offer a more general education, but agreed to this one because of the subject's timeliness.

"Actually, most of what we'll be teaching hasn't been absent from the curriculum; it's been scattered through it in various courses. I hope my political history course, for example, has been calling attention to these problems all along.

PROBLEM OF ATTITUDES

"Throughout, we'll be examining white attitudes toward Negroes, and vice versa, because this is the problem we're facing," Freidel said. "The course will be taught in the spirit of free inquiry, we'll examine all points of view."

All those enrolled will assemble twice a week for general lectures. For their third class session each week, the students will gather in discussion groups of 20.

Harvard teaching fellows will moderate these sessions, Freidel said, "and this is going to be the hardest work to conduct the discussions properly and keep them far-ranging and fair."

Freidel will be the principal lecturer, but other faculty members will take over individual lecture sessions to present ma-

But, He's on Different Side Now

Court Disputes Not New to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Senate majority leader eight years ago, Lyndon Johnson supported a resolution assailed by Republicans as an attempted curb on the presidential power of Supreme Court nominations.

Now, senators supporting President Johnson in a new controversy over court appointments are charging opponents with a move to deprive him of his authority under the Constitution.

And both instances share an undercurrent of politics because of their timing in presidential election years.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower was in the closing months of his second and last term in 1960 when the Senate's so-called majority passed, over solid GOP opposition, a resolution against any Supreme Court appointments while Congress was in recess.

REPUBLICAN PROTEST Congress adjourned Sept. 1 that year.

While there were no vacancies on the court at the time, Republicans protested that Democrats wanted to hold open any that occurred in hopes that presidential candidates would be elected. He then could have filled any vacancies.

Democrats denied any such motivation. They argued it was awkward for the Senate to have to consider confirmation of a recess appointee already sitting on the court.

They noted there had been no recess appointments for more than 100 years before Eisenhower named Earl Warren as chief justice in 1953.

FOCUS ON PROVISION Republicans focused on the Constitution's provision that: "The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate."

That language was clear and the Senate was powerless to tamper with it, they argued.

While the political charges did not carry into the floor debate, Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York hinted at that aspect when he asked:

"Has the issue of recess appointments to the Supreme Court suddenly become a part of the majority leader's sacred list of must bills?"

NO REPLY

If so, continued Keating, who is now a state judge, "I wonder under what possible standard of what constitutes the public business this matter is given priority over all the vital matters which should be considered?"

He received no reply from the majority leader. Johnson was, at the time, also the Democratic nominee for vice president.

The resolution was passed, 48-37. It expressed the sense of the Senate that recess appointments to the Supreme Court should not be made. While not binding, it could have served as a signal to the White House that, if any vacancies occurred, they would encounter rough going in the Senate.

As it turned out, the Democrats did elect their presidential candidate, John F. Kennedy, and there were no court vacancies during the recess of Congress.

When it became known in June of this year that Warren planned to retire from the court, a Republican Senate bloc held that the choice of a successor should be left to the new president to be chosen in November.

And, as the Republicans did in 1960, Democrats argued in 1968 that the President had no choice under the Constitution but to fill a court vacancy.

When the GOP opponents said the selection should await a determination of the national mood in the election, Democrats countered that the Republican wanted to save the appointment in hopes a president of their party would be filling it.

While the constitutional issues and political cross fire were elements in both controversies eight years apart, many other factors are at work in the current dispute.

2 NOMINATED Johnson has nominated Associate Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to the vacancy that would be created by Warren's departure.

None of the political implications involved in the 1960 controversy ever materialized and there has been no occasion for a recess appointment since.

But the controversy over Fortas in particular remains a very substantial one, with the opposition planning to filibuster if necessary to prevent his confirmation during the current congressional session.

Cary Grant, Others Sue for $750,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Cary Grant, producer Norman Krasna and others are suing Warner Bros.-Seven Arts Inc. for $750,000.

The suit, filed Tuesday in Los Angeles Superior Court, alleged Warner Bros. improperly sold television rights of the film "In a Desert" for a price below its value to Seven Arts Inc. in a package deal before the two firms merged.

Grant, Krasna, Stanley Donen, Granley Co., Stanley Donen Films Inc. and Granley Productions said they were to have divided 75 per cent of these receipts of the film.

Mayor Seeking to Stop Smoking by Youngsters

BUTLER, N.J. (AP)—Mayor Clayton D. Brown asked the Borough Council Tuesday to pass a law making it illegal for a resident under 18 to smoke.

"It is incumbent upon us as parents and adult members of society to protect our youth from developing dangerous health habits as a result of influence or irrational judgment," he said.

The mayor's proposal, which the council will vote on in September, met resistance from Councilman Robert Predmore. Predmore said, "I've heard of people choking to death on beefsteak. That also may be hazardous to health."

Sonja, Hubby Give Arts Hub

OSLO, Norway (AP)—A new art center given by Sonja Henie and her ship-owner husband, Nils Onstad, will be opened Friday by King Olav V.

Among the first visitors to the $3.5-million galleries will be royal guests coming here for Crown Prince Harald's wedding to Miss Sonja Haraldsen Aug. 29. These will include the kings of Denmark, Sweden and Belgium, and Queen Mother Elizabeth of Britain.

The center will be operated by foundations established by the former skating queen and her husband. It is the largest private donation ever given this country.

The fan-shaped museum, beside the Oslo Fjord, will house about 100 works of the couple's collection of art of the last 50 years.

The main building includes a small sculpture park, a library, reading and lecture rooms, a playroom for children, and eating facilities. Apart from exhibitions, attractions will include concerts and plays. Ole Henrik Moe is museum director, and Trygve Lie, former secretary general of the United Nations, heads the foundation committee.

Reds Hit 18 Yank Copters

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops trying to fight off an allied cordon shot down nine American helicopters below the demilitarized zone, military spokesmen reported today. Another nine were damaged in the Mekong Delta.

Enemy ground gunners opened up on reconnaissance helicopters, then dived with allied helicopter gunships called in by the scouting copters. All of the downed craft were reported recovered, but there was no word on the fate of their crews.

The engagement Tuesday came as troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division were closing a cordon around an estimated 100 North Vietnamese troops six miles northeast of the provincial capital of Quang Tri City.

Associated Press Correspondent Robert O. Anderson, writing from Da Nang that U.S. troops succeeded in closing the cordon about midnight and sporadic firing continued through today.

INITIAL REPORTS

Initial reports said 13 North Vietnamese troops and three U.S. cavalrymen were killed, while 15 Americans were wounded.

In other fighting along the DMZ, U.S. Marines reported killing 20 enemy soldiers north of Con Thien. One American was killed and seven wounded.

Far south in the Mekong Delta, nine more U.S. helicopters were damaged on the ground during a wave of 15 mortar and light ground attacks against allied airfields and provincial and district capitals.

Until today only the delta had been spared from the new intensified fighting that began with enemy attacks Sunday, shattering a two-month lull in the ground war.

The delta attacks, apparently well-coordinated, came during a two-hour period before dawn and were described by U.S. headquarters as harassment. Such attacks are common, however, when enemy troops are maneuvering into position for a major assault.

The nine damaged helicopters were hit by mortar shells during attacks on the big base, about 100 miles south of Saigon, and on the Vinh Loc airbase, 75 miles below the capital.

The enemy followed the mortar attacks with six ground assaults against allied outposts but contact was broken off by early morning. Initial reports claimed 12 enemy killed, but the higher command said 15.

On the allied side, the delta attacks killed one U.S. civilian and wounded 12 others. Four South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 41 wounded.

FOOTBALL ATTACKS

In the foothills of the central highlands, more than 200 enemy troops stormed a U.S. and South Vietnamese artillery position after hitting them with a mortar barrage. Two companies of South Vietnamese militiamen and a platoon of paratroopers from the U.S. 173d Airborne Brigade backed by artillery and dive-bombers repelled the attack after five hours of fighting.

Thirty enemy troops were reported killed. South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 22 wounded. American losses were put at nine dead, including five children, and 41 wounded.

Enemy troops also attacked the U.S. Air Force base at Phan Rang, 160 miles north of Saigon, today with mortar and small arms fire. U.S. casualties and damage to the base were termed light.

Enemy troops slammed about 50 mortar rounds into a U.S. base camp 18 miles east of Tay Ninh, near the Cambodian border, where the heaviest fighting in the latest offensive started Sunday. Casualties and damage were reported light.

Six B52 bomber strikes were launched against suspected enemy positions around Tay Ninh Tuesday night. The U.S. Command officially revised its count of casualties suffered when an enemy force overran a joint U.S. Marine-South Vietnamese militia post Tuesday near the provincial capital of Hoai An, 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Kennedy Girls Feuding? Don't You Believe It!

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — We were reading in a French paper that — BOOM! — the Kennedys were feuding. The girls.

We checked it and it's pretty absurd but you'll be hearing it again no doubt. The Kennedy kids — Jackie and Ethel's — are a big happy tribe at Cape Cod. Caroline and John-John and Ethel's growing brood. And Mrs. Steve Smith had joined her brother Teddy and Jackie Kennedy on Aristotle Onassis' yacht off Greece.

Most of the Kennedys will view the Chicago convention from afar by TV, the way it looks now. That'll be different!

Broadway Producer David Merrick is getting a reputation as Broadway's Great Lover. Some supposedly romantic leading men he employs are envious of his subtle, mustachioed manner of enticing the beauties away from him. (The first thing he does is send flowers.)

He'll be attending the Chicago convention because he considers political conventions great shows — except the Republican one at Miami Beach which he deemed as lively as a mortician's meeting.

Beautiful Barbara Streisand's friends are upset. A paper has for a second time printed an article about her allegedly claiming she was portrayed as "too nice a person." They say she is real nice and what's wrong with somebody wanting to bum-rap her?

When Marly Allen got a haircut in Hollywood for his "Big Valley" TV appearance, he handed the barber a quarter. "That's the price of a haircut, isn't it?" he said.

A couple of city officials at Leone's forecast that the old Madison Square Garden site will be the biggest parking lot in Manhattan for a year or more.

Thank all of you for your condolences upon the death of my wife's mother, Mrs. Rosella Lyons, who passed away peacefully at 83. It will be several days before I'll be able to write more about this fine woman. How amazed she'd been if anybody'd ever told her that Jack Dempsey would attend her funeral, but there he was, a gentleman, with class.

Princess Grace and Rainier aren't afraid of fairs even though she had her mishap at the Expo about a year ago... they'll return to the U.S. soon to visit the HemisFair at San Antonio.

Joe E. Louis will be given the honor of drinking the first drink when McGinnis' Act 48 restaurant opens. Godfrey Cambridge claims he was approached by campaign spokesmen for a certain candidate who promised him 40,000 copies of his book, "50 Easy Steps to the White House" if he'd support the candidate. He replied, "I'm not for sale."

Things are looking up for Dyan Cannon. Humphrey Head-quarters asked her to be hostess at some Humphrey parties at the Chicago convention (she'll be there in '80 Day Masters). Cary Grant flew her and baby to Chicago in George Barrie's jet. Lawyers for Drs. Spock and Coffin are expected to have their appeal on "technicalities of the law" rather than the claim that the Vietnam war is immoral... Peter Lawford must not be planning marriage. On the Personality show he said, "A bachelor over 35 has 20 years of heaven ahead of him."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Secret Stuff: A prominent author was nabbed on a narcotics charge when a plumber, called to fix a pipe, spotted herm grouting in a sewer pot and told the cops. A film actor's allegedly catching the romance between the wife and the guy next door... The words-out-phases in some of the major Manhattan discotheques are tapped.

Don Adams, no fan of flying, took a train back to Hollywood... Royal Box star Tolle Fielding was loosed, fully dressed, into the pool at Phil Greenwald's home. (Twas the biggest splash ever seen on L.A.)... George Plimpton's contribution to the authors-and-poets tribute to McCarthy at Cheetah was a reading about golf, "although it's more suited to the Eisenhower years."

Viva, the underground film star, showed up at the Rainbow Grill in a see-through blouse... The producer of the Jack Lemmon film, "April Fools," phoned frantically from L.A. to ask about some expensive equipment accidentally left at the All about news scene were shot. (He was all there)... Broadway theatrical agent Michael Hardt's writing a play called "Bald" (not to be confused with "Hair").

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The miniskirt has forced girls to think more: "Now if they drop something, they have to decide if it's important enough to bend over and pick it up." WISE KID SAID THAT: John Bruno described a dull guy: "Even on color TV he'd come out in black and white."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Brigands demand your money or your life. Women require both." — Samuel Butler. Cindy Adams writes from Reykjavik, Iceland: "We didn't really plan to come here, but our Washington-to-N.Y. plane couldn't land at Kennedy airport, so... That's early, brother."

Beach Party Exemplifies Contrasts of Vietnam War

COLOCO BEACH, Vietnam (AP) — The platoon sergeant, John Miedema of Grand Rapids, Mich., was there, and so was the grenadier, Pfc. Steve Farnsworth of Wilburne, Ore.

It was at a place called fire-base Panther II, five miles west of Hue.

The men trailed into an untidy formation and assumed non-committal expressions as they were greeted by their battle-friend first sergeant, William F. Jones, Newark, N.J. He began the classic, two-prong army lecture:

"We don't want any casualties on Coloco Beach. When you are swimming look out for the man on your left and the man on your right. They may not be able to swim as well as you."

"We have a big bag of mail. Chow is at 1100. There is another unit here from the 101st and it's got some legs (nonparatroopers) in it."

Several of the guys organized a game of thumper where everyone hits the picnic table in chicken, ham, rolls and potato salad. It all disappeared.

Heat Pipe Set to Up Satellite Solar Power

RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — The applications technology satellite (ATS-E) scheduled to be launched next year will be equipped with a heat-pipe radiator that will increase its solar energy power output by 20 per cent.

The heat pipe is a device which transports heat by means of a continuing cycle of evaporation and condensation of a fluid in the pipe. The fluid is chosen to suit the temperature range of the application. In this case it is ammonia.

Once the spacecraft is in orbit, heat from the sun will raise the temperature on the solar side of the pipe to cause the ammonia to evaporate. The heat-carrying vapor will travel to the cold side and condense, releasing the heat.

The condensed liquid will return by capillary action to the solar side of the pipes and the process will begin anew.

CUT TEMPERATURE
In the ATS-E, the heat-pipe cooling system is expected to reduce the peak temperature on the sunny side of the solar panels from 160 degrees Fahrenheit to about 60 degrees. Scientists at the Donald W. Douglas Laboratories here, where the heat-pipe cooling system configuration was developed, said the system should operate particularly well in zero gravity space environment.

The ATS-E radiator will consist of two cylindrical aluminum honeycomb structures which will act as support structures for the electrical power generating solar panels. These will be attached to the forward and aft ends of the spacecraft.

Plans call for eight heat pipes, which look like barrel hoops, to be fixed into the inner diameter of each of the two structures. Assembled, the mechanism will be about 55 inches in diameter and 25 inches in height. The complete assemblies are called substrates.

The life of the substrate cooling system on the ATS-E is expected to be more than three years.

The cooling system is being built for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration under a $575,000 contract awarded to McDonnell Douglas Corp. by Hughes Aircraft Co., the prime contractor for the ATS-E.

It was a get-together for Charlie Company, 1st Battalion, 50th Airborne Infantry, 82nd Airborne Division, working with the 101st Air Cavalry Division. Everyone agreed it was a swell party and it could not help whacking home the contrasts of the war.

At 9 a.m. huge Chinook helicopters plucked the 130 men for a day at the beach, a slight but welcome break from combat.

IN FULL GEAR

From the chopper pad the men marched by platoons down the dusty road and onto the South China Sea beach. They were in full gear and brought along every pistol, grenade, machine gun and mortar they owned.

"Welcome to Coloco Beach. You are going to have a good time here."

"You will not leave trash behind. The way the beach looks now is the way it will look when you leave."

"You are welcome to swim."

"However, we know how we

KEEP ON LOOKOUT

No questions. Men like the "top" take care of them, they say. Gear was stacked neatly in favor of swimsuits.

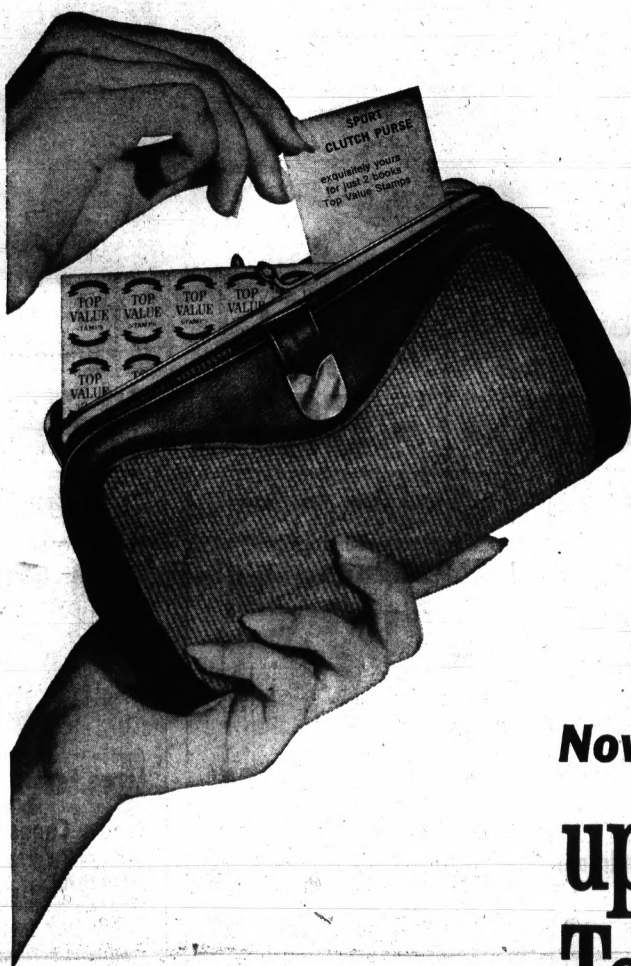

FROSTY BEER

Twelve cases of frosty beer and 42 cases of soda pop were quickly flanked and over-run. About a platoon took to the surf. A touch football game started on the sand.

As the game progressed, signals were missed, and the beers went down. Pfc. Michael Powell of Flint, Mich., lobbed can after empty can into a trash barrel. He also did a completely convincing imitation of a rifleman falling off a bench into the sand.

Li. Vic Weisman of Wheeling, W. Va., back from a Stateside leave, recalled: "Back there you drive down the road without a weapon. Takes some getting used to. The bridges don't have any bunkers on the ends either when he's going home."

what does A&P stand for?

(Besides The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Inc.)

Fairness, honesty, dependability and quality.
Our founder established these business guides for A&P over 100 years ago.

It is from this basic foundation that so many of our current-day policies have grown:

Our Raincheck policy, for example, which assures you that you will never miss out on an advertised item.

Our policy of packaging meats, that guarantees that the side you can't see is equal to or better than the side you can see.

Our complete and unconditional guarantee of anything you buy at A&P, no matter who makes it.

Our dedication to quality in the production of our own brands.
Quality standards so high that we guarantee any product bearing the A&P Seal is equal to or better than the nationally famous brands.

You can probably sum it up in one word, "CARE."
We care about you.

When you think about it... shouldn't A&P be your store?

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Here is another automatic play for any of the 10 best players in the world. It is easy enough to see that the hand is a cinch with four hearts in the West hand but there is a catch. The declarer's only problem is to make it against a 4-1 break in that suit.

The play is to win the club lead and draw trumps. Then South runs off three diamonds in order to discard his losing club and ruffs dummy's last club.

Now he leads the three of hearts toward dummy. He plans to play the ten if West plays low. This works against any combination of cards.

Suppose West held a singleton honor. The trick would be won by the king and a low heart led from dummy. The moment East followed low, declarer would play the eight spot and claim his slam.

Suppose West held a singleton small heart. The 10 would lose to an honor and East would be on lead. If he returned the seven, declarer would simply play his eight. If he returned the nine or his remaining honor, declarer would let it ride around to dummy's king and be left with a proven finesse. Finally, if East should take the 10 with a singleton heart, East would be forced to lead a diamond or club. This would give declarer a chance to ruff in one hand and discard a losing heart from the other one.

Colgate announces the enzyme active pre-soak- AXION

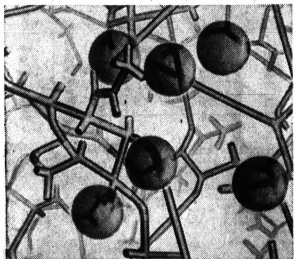

Soaks out stains and dirt that bleaches can't bleach out, detergents can't wash out!

New Axion upsets every idea you've ever had about your wash

Axion is an incredible new discovery. It is entirely different from any detergent. It is entirely different from any bleach. It is an enzyme active pre-soak that cleans away stains as no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on the stain— not on the fabric

Axion, with active enzymes, is the latest result of Colgate research. Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains...loosen stains so they wash away easily during the regular wash cycle.

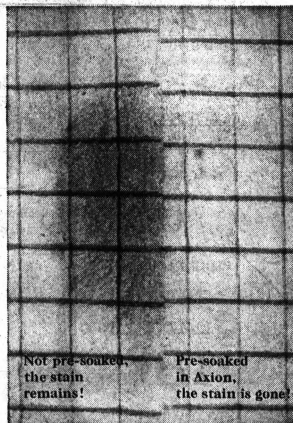

An enzyme molecule

Yet Axion won't harm synthetic fabrics or colors. So you can safely use Axion where you could never use chlorine bleach. Axion's enzyme active formula was developed to concentrate on stains and dirt...for cleaning, whitening, and brightening far beyond detergent or bleach.

See the difference Both towels washed in detergent and bleach

See how Axion performs. Both of these towels had set beef liver stains. The one on the right was pre-soaked in Axion. Then they both were machine-washed with regular detergent and bleach. The towel that was only washed in bleach and detergent is still badly stained. The towel pre-soaked in Axion—stain free, clean!

Axion attacks stain after stain

Blood • Gravy • Sauces • Chocolate • Fruit Stains • Dirt on White Socks • Grass • Yellowing on Pillowcases • Baby Foods • Perspiration Stains • Diaper Stains • Grime on Shirt Collars and Cuffs • and many more.

Important— saves you money

Axion helps keep laundry new...doesn't damage fabrics the way harsh bleaches can. Dozens of costly items will last longer and look better. So it's obvious you can save money by using Axion.

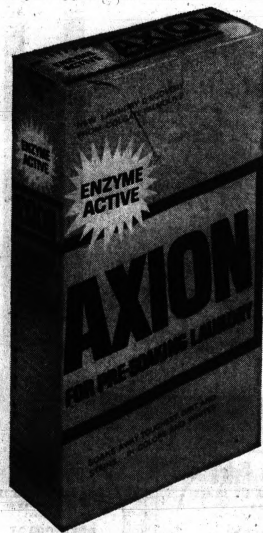

Works on your whole wash

You will see a striking difference in your entire wash the first time you pre-soak with Axion. Your whites will be noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh-smelling. Perspiration stains will be gone. Yellowed sheets and soiled pillowcases will be white again. Those grimy children's white socks, your husband's shirt collars and cuffs—so clean you'll find it hard to believe. And, just by following package instructions you can use Axion effectively on synthetic fabrics and colors you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you'll find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash!

Red Forces Invade Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE (AP) — The Soviet Union, imposing its will on Czechoslovakia, sent tanks and troops into Prague today in an occupation designed to thwart the small nation's moves toward a liberalized brand of communism.

The lightning invasion began last night, and Moscow announced it involved forces of East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary as well as those of the Soviet Union.

STILL PUZZLED — Oakland County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman checks on one of the laboratory animals being tested to identify the "bug" that struck nearly 100 health department employees last month. Department offices, closed since July 12, are scheduled to open early in September.

Health Offices, Shut by 'Bug' to Reopen

Oakland County health officials are continuing their efforts to determine the exact "bug" that caused the closing of the department's offices early in July, when nearly 100 employees mysteriously took ill.

The building's air-filtering system found to be the carrier of the bug — still unknown — after weeks of investigation. The department expects to ready its offices for occupancy by early September, according to Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman.

Berman revealed yesterday details of the extensive investigation — estimated to have cost $100,000 to $250,000 — that has been carried on to discover the origin of the "bug" that struck 92 of the 98 full-time employees of the department the first week of July.

Conclusions drawn from investigations point to what Berman called "a new mode of potential spread of illness." The source of the problem has been traced to a faulty air cross connection assembly in the office building's ventilation system.

A mystery remains, however. Investigators have still been unable to identify the foreign substance that might have slipped through the system to contaminate the air in the building.

Berman said definite precautions have been taken to keep the matter quiet until valid conclusions could be gathered from the costly probe that has been carried on to locate and identify the problem.

OFFICES CLOSED

The health offices, located in the Oakland County Service Center complex near Pontiac Lake Road and Telegraph, have been closed since July 12.

The previous week, July 1 through 6, all but six of the employees were stricken with severe fevers, headaches and muscular discomforts. Initial reaction of Berman and others was that the illness was a sweeping virus that had infected everybody in the building.

Berman, who was stricken himself, said fevers were recorded as high as 103 (Continued on Page A-4, Col. 1) resistance although the CTK news agency said several persons were killed and 25 wounded as occupying troops entered the building housing Prague radio.

Within hours Soviet paratroopers had surrounded Communist party headquarters in Prague, virtually imprisoning nine of the 11 presidium members and threatening to bring the eight-month-old liberal Czechoslovak regime under the Soviet thumb.

Government leaders throughout the world called emergency meetings to assess communism's most explosive crisis since Soviet tanks crushed the Hungarian uprising 12 years ago.

McCarthy Force Arms for Floor Attack on HHH

CHICAGO (AP)—Losers in four preliminary challenges, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's supporters armed today for a three-pronged convention floor attack on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's Democratic presidential nomination strength.

Stephen A. Mitchell, a former national chairman and McCarthy's convention manager, said the smoking issues of a Vietnam war plank, delegate seating and unit-rule voting will be taken to the convention itself in an effort to win support for the Minnesota senator in his uphill battle against the Vice President.

In Philadelphia, McCarthy forecast an active floor fight over a Vietnam plank he obviously expected the platform committee, meeting in Washington, to fashion on a harder line than he has taken.

"As of now," McCarthy said, "we expect to do better on the floor than in the platform committee."

CZECH CRISIS

Just how this floor fight might go, however, seemed likely to be influenced by the action of Russia and four other Communist bloc countries in sending troops into Czechoslovakia.

This move against a country trying to loosen Moscow's grip on its affairs seemed likely to some political leaders to increase East-West tensions to the detriment of efforts to negotiate some kind of peace in Vietnam.

Whether this would be reflected in a tougher platform plank than McCarthy wants remained to be seen.

Humphrey, who sat in on a security council meeting called by President Johnson last night, was generally expected to reflect administration views on this new international crisis.

EXPRESSIONS OF CONFIDENCE

Without reference to these developments, Mitchell expressed confidence in an interview that coordinated Inconfirmed reports in Moscow said a coup in Prague yesterday deposed Czechoslovak party chief Alexander Dubcek and replaced his liberal regime with leaders who invited the Soviet troops.

But Dubcek and his colleagues were reported meeting in the party's Central Committee headquarters, the building surrounded by Soviet paratroopers and tanks marked with white crosses.

The presidium of the Czechoslovak Parliament issued a statement saying, "We ask you most resolutely at the moment when shots are heard in the streets of Prague to immediately order the withdrawal of all troops."

Tass said the occupying troops would be "withdrawn as soon as the threat against socialism in Czechoslovakia ends."

SPECIAL SESSION

The Romanian news agency Agerpres said the Romanian Central Committee was called into special session to deal with the situation.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Foreign Ministry emphatically denied today reports originating in Czechoslovakia that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko have resigned to protest military intervention in Prague.

"I can say this is a provocation," one spokesman said when asked by a newsman about the report.

The Norwegian Radio had reported picking up a broadcast by a Czechoslovak radio station saying Kosygin and Grechko had resigned.

Yugoslav President Tito called a session of his party Central Committee's presidium, Tanjug, the Yugoslav official news agency, reported.

The U.S. Embassy advised Americans in Czechoslovakia to stay where they were. About 1,500 American tourists were believed to be in the country. Among those was former child movie star Shirley Temple Black.

A Soviet Tank Moves Into Wenceslas Square in Prague Early Today

LBJ, Aides Confer on Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson consulted with key advisers well into the morning hours today after Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin told him in a meeting that the Soviet Union was invading Czechoslovakia.

Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey were closeted together in the White House until after 3 a.m. That was long after the President met in emergency session with the National Security Council, which advises him on crucial military and foreign policy matters.

As Johnson and Humphrey went into their post-midnight conference, both smiled readily at newsmen in the lobby near the presidential office. Earlier, after the 35-minute NSC meeting, Johnson was grim and unsmiling.

Smiles or not, official Washington was viewing with deep concern the unfolding military drama in Czechoslovakia.

VERY LITTLE SAID

But, at least in the initial phases, very little was being said officially and publicly.

Dobrynin, it was learned, called the White House last night to seek an unusual after-hours appointment with Johnson.

When the request was granted, he showed up in the presidential office bearing an official notification that troops of the Soviet Union, Poland and East Germany were entering Czechoslovakia.

This was at about the same time that the White House was receiving an Associated Press bulletin quoting Prague Radio as announcing that troops from the neighboring Communist states were crossing the Czech frontier.

Press Secretary George Christian said Johnson acted quickly to convene the NSC on the basis of information supplied by Dobrynin.

AVOIDS DETAILS

He declined to go into details, though, on the content of the envoy's message.

When the security council met, Christian said, Johnson and his advisers — including top military, diplomatic and intelligence officials — reviewed available information.

Johnson then directed Secretary of State Dean Rusk to summon Dobrynin to a late-night meeting at the State Department "to discuss the matter further."

Rusk and the ambassador subsequently met for about 10 minutes. No account of the meeting was given.

In addition to his early hours meeting with Humphrey, Johnson kept in close contact with other key officials.

Chrysler Execs Optimistic at Preview of '69 Models

By JERRY ROBB
City Editor, The Pontiac Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Three top Chrysler Corp. executives voiced optimism here today for another banner year for new car and truck sales and a continued climb in business activity in 1969.

Chrysler President Virgil E. Boyd predicted domestic new car sales including imports will hit about 9.3-million units in 1968 and that sales next year will be at least equal and possibly higher than in 1968.

"That will make sales in 1968 virtually equal to those in 1965, which to date was the best year in the history of the industry," Boyd told 300 newsmen at the opening of Chrysler's three-day national news preview in Atlanta.

The 1969 cars and trucks, Boyd said, mark the end of a decade of revolutionary growth and change in the auto industry, which has been chiefly characterized by the growing demand for more and more cars.

Boyd of 3764 Dunston, Bloomfield Hills, predicted that the demand for new cars will continue to rise, basing this confidence on the following trends:

● The scrapage rate of 6.6 million cars this year will hold steady for a few years before going even higher.

● The number of multiple-car families will continue to grow.

● The number of new drivers and young car buyers will continue to increase.

● Strengthening consumer confidence — based in part on hope of lessening international tensions and war expenditures, and an easing of inflationary pressures — supports a bullish outlook.

$365-MILLION EXPENDITURE

Lynn Townsend, Chrysler's chairman and chief executive officer, said Chrysler spent approximately $365 million to prepare its 1969 cars which go on public display at dealer showrooms Sept. 19.

The relative restraint of recent federal fiscal policies and the outlook for possible peace in Vietnam provide basis for a hope that we may be headed for a continued climb in business activity, despite current speculation about declines for the economy in coming months, Townsend said.

Townsend of 5991 Orchard Bend, Birmingham, pointed out that in the past 10 years Chrysler Corp. has tripled its size in nearly every way.

9 Guards Hostages in Ohio Pen Impasse

Birmingham

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state adjutant general expressed hope today for quick settlement of a prisoner-warden standoff which leaves nine guards captives in the state penitentiary overnight.

Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso arrived after daybreak at the prison where the guards have been held hostage since early yesterday.

"I hope we'll be able to get something settled quickly — whether they release them or whether we have to go in and get them," Del Corso told a newsman as he headed for the warden's office.

The guards, taken hostage in an uprising involving about 300 prisoners at the penitentiary, remained unharmed but under a threat of death. The convicts said they would burn the hostages alive, using gasoline and lighter fluid, if officials attempted to use force to free them or do not meet all the prisoners' demands.

The guards were held in cells vacated by prisoners.

While the tense situation dragged on, a riot flared up and was swiftly put down at the state's Lebanon Correctional Institution 73 miles southwest of Columbus. Five Lebanon prisoners were shot and some 20 other persons injured after 200 inmates refused to return to cells at the end of a recreation period. Some 600 other prisoners did return to cells.

Three persons were hospitalized with gunshot wounds. The rampage lasted two hours before prisoners were forced into cells and the Lebanon medium security prison was declared secure.

State officials declined to speculate on any relation between the two prison incidents.

National Guardsmen called to Lebanon were sent home without going to the prison, while Columbus guardsmen moved into the Ohio Penitentiary compound shortly after midnight to assist highway patrolmen and prison guards. Inmates of the 132-year-old prison gained some demands — amnesty for prisoners involved in the disturbance and an investigation of alleged guard brutality — but refused to release the hostages.

Properly damage was small at both the penitentiary and the Lebanon institution. Small fires at both prisons were quickly extinguished. Rebellious prisoners at the penitentiary in Columbus included 89 men considered ring leaders in a riot June 24 when prisoners set fires and did other damage at a total loss estimated at $750,000. Their cellblocks were opened Tuesday morning after two convicts jumped a guard and took his cell keys.

School Board Hears 2 Plans to Economize

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — In efforts to cut district costs, Board of Education members last night heard two plans for economizing on systems transportation and co-curricular activities budgets.

The cuts became necessary after district voters turned down in April a millage request for 14 mills. Although, voters in June passed a reduced 9 1/2-mill, levy, the four and one-half mills difference necessitates cuts.

The board accepted the recommendations of assistant superintendent Erwin Johnson which netted economies in the district's transportation system, estimated at $69,000. Last year's expenses in that area were set at $487,188. Under the new plan, the number of stops school buses will make has been cut from 334 to 143. Johnson estimated this would also cut in half the number of students who ride a bus to school in the district.

WALKING DISTANCES SET

At the same time the board set arbitrary figures for approved walking distances for students. Under the new plan, also recommended by Johnson, kindergarten through sixth grade students may walk up to a mile in order to get to school. The walking distances for secondary school students was set a mile and a half. Johnson said that the new stipulations are different than the system's past policy.

"Formerly the decision on whether students walked was determined by traffic patterns and safety factors. However," he added, "the new program will be kept under close scrutiny so that the safety of students will not be jeopardized."

The board also approved an amended co-curricular activities plan presented by a committee of concerned parents, coaches and principals.

EARLIER CUT $40,000

The board had previously cut the budget for such activities by more than $40,000. The new plan called for use of economizing in many areas, volunteer help for many previously paid jobs, the use of driver education cars for some team transportation, and the takeover of some school activities by the Bloomfield Recreation Department.

The board vetoed the committee's request to impose a $15 participation fee on every participant in every school sponsored sport. At the same time they agreed to review the program in November to check its operation and finances. In other action the board approved superintendent Eugene Johnson's recommendation for tuition amounts for students whose families are building homes or who have purchased homes in the district. The charge for elementary was set at $715.70 annually and that for secondary students at $751.06.

Maddox Wants Part in Debate

Few Foresaw Red Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, charging "raw discrimination," says he will demand participation in any nationally televised debate between Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Maddox, the newest Democratic presidential contender, was in Washington to appear before the party's platform committee and get a State Department briefing on Vietnam and other foreign affairs.

He said yesterday he is demanding participation in any debate in telegrams to all three television networks and to the Federal Communications Commission.

Prospects for the debate, tentatively planned for Friday night, have been clouded by an announcement Humphrey plans a brief vacation.

ASKS FCC AID

Sen. George S. McGovern, a fourth Democratic presidential contender, has asked the FCC to rule that he should be in any Humphrey-McCarthy debate.

A Humphrey spokesman said the vice president's vacation alone would not rule out the debate but that with the two other candidates demanding inclusion "they're having a little problem and it may not be held."

Maddox said one network, CBS, had offered him a separate half hour in lieu of participation in the debate.

Europe's Hopes Shattered

LONDON (AP) — The swift Soviet bloc thrust into Czechoslovakia shattered hopes of West European leaders that the Czechoslovaks might be able to work out some freer mode of life.

Some analysts of Soviet affairs had cautioned that Soviet action was inevitable unless there was a clampdown on the new liberalism. But most expected the Soviet Union to combine external pressures and internal subversion rather than use military force.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail N. Smirnovsky brought the first word to the British government in a postmidnight call at the home of Lord Chalfont, minister of state in the Foreign Office. He delivered an oral message for Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who immediately returned to London from a vacation in the Solis Isles. Wilson called key ministers for a morning meeting and stayed in contact with Washington and other NATO allies.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and his Cabinet conferred after a night of studying news dispatches and diplomatic reports, then issued a statement condemning the invasion as "a clear violation of Czechoslovak sovereignty and interference in its internal affairs."

James A. Robert, acting general secretary of the NATO council, arranged a morning meeting of the council in Brussels to discuss the situation. Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe held off any move until the council could issue instructions.

LBJ OKs Hiring Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has approved an extra five per cent cutback in federal employment to make up for exemptions granted the Post Office Department, FBI and Federal Aviation Administration. Johnson approved the cutbacks yesterday and Budget Director Charles Zwick said major agencies must start Sept. 1 limiting replacements to 70 per cent of those leaving federal service.

McCarthyites Gear for Fight

attacks on Vietnam policies, delegate seating and unit rule voting would generate a surge of support toward McCarthy, as the original challenger of Johnson's policies, and away from Humphrey, as a defender of them.

"Our chief problem at the convention is to translate into delegate votes the sentiment expressed by the people in primaries and recorded by polls across the country that McCarthy is a November winner," Mitchell said.

"We believe that our fight for an open convention, with representative voting and the elimination of the gag rule of forcing all members of a delegation to vote by the majority's edict will attract support from uncommitted and Humphrey delegates."

Joseph L. Rauh Jr., Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) leader and another supporter of McCarthy, said the aim is to make McCarthy "the civil rights candidate of this convention."

As a possible indication of things to come, the credentials committee rejected challenges brought by the McCarthy forces against the state delegations representing Washington, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Minnesota. The latter is the home state of both Humphrey and McCarthy.

McCarthy supporters contended primarily that they had not been given fair representation in these delegations. The committee also voted against seating the predominantly white regular party delegation from Mississippi, opening the door to a biracial group.

Rauh called this action "a tremendous thing for civil rights in the south." But it was a shared victory, for Humphrey also had opposed seating the regulars.

Mitchell said the McCarthy forces will make a concerted effort to break apart the unit vote rule within the Texas delegation headed by Gov. John Connally as a favorite son.

With no evidence he was motivated by this threat, Connally was reported planning a quick trip to Chicago. He was quoted as being "highly displeased" with what he regarded as "dovish" statements by Humphrey on Vietnam and the possibility that he might let McCarthy for his running mate if nominated.

Dems to Review Clerk-Register Pick Thursday

The Oakland County Democratic Committee will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the County Courthouse to reconsider a candidate for the clerk-register of deeds position on the Nov. 5 ballot.

The ballot was left empty by the apparent drowning death of John D. Murphy, the incumbent clerk, who disappeared and was presumed drowned in Lake Michigan on July 24. His body has not yet been found.

Murphy was nominated in the Democratic primary Aug. 6, running unopposed except by write-in candidates, even though he had been reported dead 10 days before.

On Aug. 13, Murphy's son, Shane, 26, of 3128 Coolidge, Royal Oak, was recommended by the County Committee as a replacement for his father on the ballot. Legal steps were begun to have his name replace his father's on the upcoming ballot.

'NOT GIVEN TIME'

However since then, one of the five persons reportedly considered for the spot has claimed he was not given sufficient time to make his presentation before the committee.

Making the claim is Charlie Harrison, 36, of 85 Carr, a Pontiac Negro. Party officials said on the basis of Harrison's claim the meeting was called and the 400 members of the committee asked to attend and vote again on the issue.

Whoever is chosen will oppose Republican Lynn D. Allen, 42, of 110 Wenonah, a Pontiac optometrist. Allen's father, Lynn D. Allen Sr., held the county clerk post from 1932 until 1958.

Area Man's Body Is Found in Lake

ONEKAMA (AP) — The body of a 38-year-old Hazel Park man was found floating in Lake Michigan Tuesday, but his two teenage sons remained missing following a fishing trip.

Coast Guard officials said they found the body of Jack L. Mariucci about 4 p.m., floating off Portage Point Inlet near Onkama in Manistee County.

They said he was attached to a boat cushion. A shore resident had notified the Coast Guard he had seen the cushion shortly after noon.

Mariucci reportedly went fishing with his two sons, Donald, 18, and Lee, 16, Monday while his wife remained behind. Their small boat was found in the same general area as the body, authorities said.

Commenting on the strength of foreign confidence in the American economy, he said:

"In 1967 the net purchases by foreigners of U.S. corporate securities amounted to well over $1 billion. And in the first four months of 1968 alone that impressive total net figure for 1967 was equaled."

"The fact is that from the standpoint of people in other countries our economy has never looked stronger or inspired greater respect," Townsend said.

On the bill recently enacted in Congress to impose a surcharge on incomes and reduce federal expenditures, Townsend said:

"We at Chrysler believe the recent measures taken to check inflation and bring our national economy into a healthier relationship with the rest of the world have been all to the good. We hope they will help promote a sound and stable growth of the economy."

John J. Riccardi, group vice president-U.S. and Canadian automotive, said sales of Dodge trucks during the first seven months of 1968 have been 39 per cent ahead of 1967 and have increased Dodge's share of the U.S. retail truck market from 6.8 to 8.3 per cent. Newsmen were to get their first look at the new models this afternoon when the Chryslers and Plymouths were scheduled to be unveiled. The Dodges will be shown tomorrow.

Firearm Registration Opposed by VFW

DETROIT (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars adopted a resolution Tuesday opposing any form of federal registration of firearms.

The delegates to the VFW's national convention said they specifically opposed any registration of rifles, shotguns or other sporting weapons. The resolution was adopted by a voice vote.

"We favor the enforcement of existing legislation by law enforcement agencies," the resolution said, "and an increase in the sentences imposed by the courts for use or possession, or both, of firearms while committing a crime."

The delegates expressed concern about a mass outcry for gun laws following the assassinations of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Federal registration is not the answer, they said, "because of millions of guns that can never be accounted for and are now in the hands of Americans."

LIMIT COURT TERMS
The resolution described private ownership and use of firearms as a form of self-defense and premeditated training.

The delegates also adopted a resolution urging that U.S. Supreme Court justices be appointed to 10-year terms rather than for life.

That resolution was offered by Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, who is chairman of the VFW's Americanism Committee.

"Every official in our government is subject to the will of the people," Musmanno told the delegates. "Presidents, governors, senators, representatives, councilmen, constables have a definitely limited term with the right to reelection or reappointment."

'LOST CONFIDENCE'

"But judges of the Supreme Court are not elected by the people, are rarely seen by the people, and are not accountable to the people," he said. "It may well be that it is because of this perpetuation in office that some members of the court have lost contact with reality and thus hand down decisions which challenge the Constitution and defy common sense."

Musmanno contended that the Supreme Court "by numerous, incomprehensible decisions" had "lost the confidence of the majority of our nation."

The resolution itself accused the Supreme Court of rendering decisions during the past 12 years "which have given aid and comfort to the Communist party and subversives."

It said the decisions have made it "practically impossible for the United States government to ferret out, prosecute and imprison those who are part of the Communist apparatus."

Since April 1966, aircraft oceanographic surveys have observed 132 miles whales in the Atlantic in 226 hours of observation time.
