New Dominican Crisis Is Averted

'Heart Attacks Hit Go-Getter Types'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The aggressive, ambitious "man on the go" is the fellow to watch for a heart attack, a massive research study disclosed today.

A startling 85 per cent of heart attack victims in the 39-49 age bracket were men with "a certain emotional complex," the study found.

They were the ones who, before their attacks, had been tagged as having "excessive drive, aggressiveness and ambition . . . preoccupation with competitive activity, vocational deadlines and similar pressures."

The first large-scale effort to find out whether emotional makeup can signal danger to the heart was conducted by a team of doctors at Mount Zion Hospital here. The findings were published in the journal of the American Medical Association.

The doctors concluded that whether a man is a hustler or in a fast-paced job has a "profoundly important" bearing on whether or not he is likely to suffer a heart attack.

Back in 1960 the Mount Zion doctors selected 3,524 healthy men aged 39 to 59. Each was carefully examined and tagged for such things as high blood pressure and fat which are sometimes associated with heart disease.

CLASSIFIED

The men were also interviewed and classified according to income, job and emotional makeup. Advertising men, airline pilots, space engineers, newspapermen and others with a highly competitive personality went into "type A." Those relatively free of urgency in their outlook and jobs went into "type B."

Afterwards 70 of the men suffered heart attacks. Fifty-four of these turned out to be from "type A," and 16 in "type B." By age, 85 per cent of the victims 39 to 49 and 72 per cent of those 49 to 59 were among the "go-getters."

Latest Threat Weathered by Government

Trouble Sparked by Bid to Send Military Men Out of Country

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's provisional government appeared today to have weathered the threat of a new explosion, but the capital was in a state of jittery confusion.

A new crisis reached its climax last night with a proposal by the provisional president, Hector Garcia-Godoy, to send key military figures, including some who had been rebel leaders, out of the country on diplomatic assignments.

The armed forces in this revolution-ridden country moved to block the maneuver, but it remained unclear whether the military had planned to overthrow the provisional government painfully installed through the efforts of the Organization of American States.

Garcia-Godoy stressed his intention to remain in office as long as he has the support of the OAS.

Armed Forces Minister Francis Rivera Caminero, one of those whom the president wanted to send out of the country, denied that the military leaders had rebelled against the government or that the National Palace had been occupied.

He said the guard there merely had been reinforced.

Earlier it appeared the palace and government radio station had been occupied. Troops had sealed off major highways into Santo Domingo.

Rivera Caminero said the government radio, which had been ordered shut down by the president last October, had merely been "taken into custody" for a while. It remained on the air.

The armed forces minister said last night's army actions had been just demonstrations of disagreement, and that the army had acted spontaneously.

Saigon Police Foil Bomb Plot

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Police smashed a Viet Cong plot today to blow up a U.S. billet in downtown Saigon with the biggest plastic bomb ever used in the capital.

Intelligence agents of the national police seized six terrorists two and a half miles north of Saigon as they were bringing a 265-pound plastic bomb in a large water tank into the city.

Two of the terrorists were armed with 45-caliber automatics.

Officials had already warned the capital to expect a new onslaught of terrorism in the next two weeks before the Vietnamese New Year — Tet — on Jan. 21.

★ ★ ★

Last night they arrested five Vietnamese, aged 16 to 37, in an investigation of two explosions an hour apart at the military entrance to the Saigon airport and across town at a police substation.

The blasts killed one Vietnamese and injured 16 persons, including four American servicemen.

U.S. military commanders announced that the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade would continue operations in the marshy Plain of Reeds west of Saigon where the paratroopers have been slogging through mud and water after the Viet Cong for the past week. It is the first big American invasion of the northern fringe of the Mekong Delta, a Communist stronghold.

★ ★ ★

Although the Viet Cong fell back before the brigade's push, officials said the paratroopers would be kept in the area to destroy Communist supplies. The Vietnamese troops will be withdrawn.

EQUIPMENT FOUND

Since the U.S., Vietnamese, Australian and New Zealand soldiers began the operation near Bao Trai, 35 miles west of Saigon, on New Year's Day, they have turned up nearly three tons of fertilizer, nine tons of rice, about 5,000 documents, nine grenade launchers, five machine guns, ammunition, booby traps, radio equipment

Burglars Hit 2 Area Firms

Thieves Break Into Store, Bowling Alley

Burglars struck two Waterford Township businesses this morning, escaping with an undetermined amount of money in a safe job at Huron Bowl, 2525 Elizabeth Lake, and taking an assortment of appliances from Keasey Electric, 4620 Dixie.

Police said three masked men forced open the front door of the bowling establishment about 5 a.m. and tied up the lone occupant of the building, Donald Martell, 40, a janitor.

The three forced open a large safe and carried a smaller one from the building.

As of 1 p.m., eight hours after the burglary, township police had not yet determined how much money was contained in either safe.

One of the men pointed a blue steel revolver at him while the other tied him up, Martell said.

AUDIT BOOKS

Owners of the Huron Bowl, Joseph Bonfiglio and Dominic Mazza, refused to comment on the amount of money taken pending an audit.

In the break-in at Keasey Electric, an undetermined number of portable television sets, transistor radios and toasters and other items were taken.

Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm of the Waterford Township police department discovered the break-in at 2:26 a.m. while patrolling the area.

Wilhelm said entry was gained by breaking a window in the warehouse behind the store and then forcing a lock to get in the store.

This was a busy morning for Waterford Township Police Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm; a safe burglary; a breakin; and . . . a baby.

Wilhelm stopped a speeding car on Dixie Highway near Silver Lake Road about 4 a.m.

The anxious driver began explaining the impending maternity. But Wilhelm, with five previous emergency deliveries to his credit, was immediately aware of the situation and went to work.

Mrs. Floyd Sommers, 35, of 6710 Princess, Independence Township, gave birth to a 7-pound girl, the couple's third child, with Wilhelm's help at about 4:10 a.m.

Mother and baby then were rushed to Pontiac General Hospital.

County Seeks to Draw Road Unit Closer

Oakland County officials today took steps to bring the autonomous county road commission into a closer relationship with the rest of the county operation.

Concern over the past several years about the road commission's gradual drift away from the total county function resulted in a special meeting this morning of the ways and means and building and grounds committees of the County Board of Supervisors.

The joint committee appointed a five-member subcommittee to meet with road commissioners as soon as possible with the purpose effecting stronger ties.

Named chairman of the subcommittee was Curtis H. Hall, Farmington Township supervisor. Other members are supervisors Frederick L. Yockey, Huntington Woods; Homer Case, Bloomfield Township; Seeley Tinsman, Holly Township; and Willis Brewer, Sylvan Lake.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, said that more coordination is needed between the road commission and the drain commissioner's office to promote maximum efficiency in construction projects.

The road commission does not receive any county funds for operating purposes. The state provides the money.

On Kashmir Dispute

India-Pakistan Talks Said Progressing

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said today India and Pakistan had made further progress toward a settlement of their dispute over Kashmir following an hour-long secret talk and further intervention by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

★ ★ ★

Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistani President Mohammad Ayub Khan greeted each other with a smile and a handshake as they began what spokesmen called "cordial and pleasant" talks in a neutral villa on the suburbs of this central Asian capital.

Then Kosygin met Shastri at a luncheon that lasted almost three hours.

Afterward there were toasts to Indian-Soviet friendship followed by a private Kosygin-Shastri conference that lasted 30 minutes.

★ ★ ★

PRAYS FOR PEACE

Ayub Khan, a Moslem, went to a mosque in this predominantly Moslem city this afternoon and prayed for peace, a Pakistani spokesman reported.

Afterward there were reports the men were nearing an agreement on an agenda for the summit talks which have not gotten officially under way and on a nonaggression treaty.

★ ★ ★

The private meeting today was seen as an attempt to seal an agreement on the agenda. This would mean that the conference — called to find some solution to the Kashmir crisis — could finally get down to business.

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS

Today's meeting followed reports that the two countries have made substantial progress at their meetings alone and with Kosygin and may sign a nonaggression pact within the next few days.

★ ★ ★

Diplomatic sources said that the two leaders are considering an agreement to withdraw their troops from both countries to the line prior to their war last September.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the sources said, India and Pakistan will resume diplomatic relations and meet again at another summit conference within six months.

Jobless Figure at 9-Year Low; Shortages Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment fell last month to 4.1 per cent, the lowest in nearly nine years while employment hit a record December level of 72.7 million, federal officials reported today. They warned of budding labor shortages in some critical areas.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics attributed the bright employment picture and tightening labor market to the nation's record economic boom, to the Viet Nam war buildup and to federal job training programs.

Ross, at a news conference, said labor shortages in the coming year are likely to increase and the jobless rate to go down further as the armed services soak up most of the increase in the male labor force.

Wants Viet Air Lull Continued

Should Await Hanoi Act, Says Sen. Aiken

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken said today the United States should not resume its bombing raids on North Viet Nam targets unless Hanoi acts to widen the war.

★ ★ ★

The Vermont Republican made the suggestion amid indications that some administration officials are growing restive about the aerial lull that began on Christmas Eve.

TOKYO (AP)—Peking Radio asserted today that U.S. warplanes bombed a target in North Viet Nam Wednesday. The broadcast reported three F105s raided the western part of Thanh Hoa Province and bombed and fired rockets.

The bombing pause, it was learned, will go on for at least 10 days.

"I would continue it unless there is greatly increased activity on the part of North Viet Nam," Aiken said in a telephone interview from his home in Putney, Vt.

★ ★ ★

There have been significant differences of opinion within the Democratic administration about the extended pause in bombing North Viet Nam.

AIDING NORTH

Some military men believe the lull is giving the Communists the military advantages of easier transport and time to make repairs — or even step up the infiltration of troops into South Viet Nam.

But the administration believes its aerial surveillance would spot any North Vietnamese moves calling for U.S. retaliation from the air.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked yesterday about a New York Times report that Secretary of State Dean Rusk was not wholly in sympathy with President Johnson's peace offensive.

★ ★ ★

"I suggest you go to Secretary Rusk," he replied, then added, "There certainly has been no evidence of that over here."

★ ★ ★

At the State Department, a spokesman for Rusk said the story "is inaccurate and does not represent the situation."

Optimistic Air in NY Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The chief mediator in the city's week-old subway and bus strike said today that he "smelled" an atmosphere of agreement, but cautioned: "Not necessarily today, tomorrow or the next day."

However, at almost the same time, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz reported to President Johnson he saw no clear, apparent path toward solution.

All the federal government can do is appeal to good sense and reason, he indicated.

Both Wirtz and the chief mediator, Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, reported a narrowing of issues in the dispute.

The last publicly stated positions of the parties were $187 million apart on a two-year contract for 34,400 workers.

'ATMOSPHERE'

"I think I can smell an agreement or atmosphere of agreement when it arises around a bargaining table," the mediator said. "I can smell one now."

Feinsinger spoke as a delegation representing the city's one million organized union members visited Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for help in the strike, particularly seeking the release of hospitalized union chief Michael J. Quill and eight other labor leaders.

They were jailed for contempt of an injunction forbidding the strike.

With negotiations in recess, Feinsinger told a news conference he did not think release would speed settlement, saying "on the contrary, it would add insult to injury."

UNION VIEWS

It was apparent, however, that the union delegation felt otherwise.

"The negotiations have undoubtedly been delayed while they're in prison, and if they are released, it would be a contribution toward shortening the dispute," was the way the delegation chairman stated their release demand.

Soviet 'Friendship Team' Is Mongolia-Bound

'Situation Dangerous in Tuskegee'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Charles M. Keever said yesterday the slaying of a Negro civil rights worker by a white man had created a "dangerous situation" that may require federal troops in this predominantly Negro town.

★ ★ ★

About 150 students from Tuskegee Institute marched on city hall yesterday and demanded the death penalty for the man charged with first-degree murder in the shooting Monday night. Negroes said another protest march would be held today.

Keever held conferences into late last night with state and federal law enforcement authorities, officials of Tuskegee Institute and civil rights leaders. More meetings were to be held today.

"This is a very dangerous situation," he said. "If these meetings are not successful, we'll have to go elsewhere for help."

★ ★ ★

Keever was asked by a reporter if this meant he would ask for federal troops. "You're a pretty good guesser," the mayor replied.

TENSION GROWS

Observers said racial tension appeared to be building as a result of the slaying of Samuel L. (Sammy) Younge Jr., 21, at Tuskegee's only all-night service station.

Police said Segrest admitted firing two shots at the youth, whom he accused of harassing him. The incident followed an argument over whether Younge could use an employes' rest room instead of the station's desegregated rest rooms for the public.

★ ★ ★

"This definitely is not a civil rights shooting," said Macon County Sheriff J. H. Sadler. "He apparently kept agitating the old man until this happened."

★ ★ ★

This was disputed by Gwendolyn Patton, 22, who led the student march yesterday.

She said Younge's "participation in civil rights was the whole reason for the shooting." Younge was a field worker for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, a militant civil rights organization.

WANTS MONEY, NOT GIFTS—A policeman in Rome, Italy, directs traffic near one of the many piles of gifts received by the city's police yesterday from motorists as a tradition of the gift-giving holiday of the Epiphany. Today the scene had changed as police left their jobs, along with other municipal employes, for 48 hours in a strike for higher wages.

Party Leader Heads Junket

Alliance Tightening Likely Object of Trip

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union and Red China compete for influence in Mongolia, sandwiched between the two Communist giants. The Kremlin has the upper hand, but there has been Mongolian opposition to Premier Umzhagin Tsedenbal's pro-Soviet policy.

★ ★ ★

Brezhnev and his group are expected to try to strengthen Mongolia's alliance to the Soviet Union, and arrange for further economic aid.

UNDERSTANDING

The Mongolian ambassador in Moscow said in a recent interview that his country and the Soviet Union already had reached an understanding about extending their friendship treaty. The ambassador, Nyamyn Luvsanchultem, said that "documents will be signed reflecting the new, higher level of the development of relations between Mongolia and the Soviet Union."

★ ★ ★

Informed sources disclosed earlier this week that Brezhnev would make the trip as a get-acquainted mission with Communist world leaders and to strengthen the Soviet position in China-dominated Asia.

★ ★ ★

They (the sources) said the trip was likely to inflame the Red Chinese as an encroachment on its Asian sphere.

★ ★ ★

Schools Note Shortage of Substitute Teachers

BIRMINGHAM — A substitute teacher shortage has hit the Birmingham School System.

School officials are faced with what they say are critical needs at the secondary level, particularly in industrial arts, physical education, foreign languages, mathematics and all sciences.

But, they note there are needs in all subject areas and and at all levels.

Birmingham's substitute teacher list has not kept pace with the growth of the professional staff.

5 YEARS AGO

Five years ago, there were 150 substitutes for a professional staff of 543. Today there are 200 substitutes for a staff of 844.

Persons with bachelor's degrees and teaching certificates are preferred. However, the personnel department will accept those with at least 60 semester hours of college credit.

The Bloomfield Art Association will present a unique exhibition entitled "Stitchery, Lace and Loom," a collection of works by American and European artists.

The "Critic's Choice" show also opening Sunday features selections from the 13th Annual Regional Art Exhibition, sponsored by the University of Michigan Extension Service and College of Architecture and Design.

Gallery hours are 2-5 p.m. daily except Monday. The shows will continue through Feb. 6.

Dominican Regime Survives Threat

sial military figures, including some rebel leaders, who were to be assigned out of the country in an effort to bring calm.

★ ★ ★

Within hours troops moved into the palace and some armed forces informants reported military uprisings in unspecified cities of the interior.

APPEARS CALM

Garcia-Godoy, appearing preoccupied but calm, did not ask help from the inter-American peace force.

For a time it had appeared an uprising was building up against the provisional government.

The armed forces radio at San Isidro base just outside the capital broadcast a statement saying military chiefs rejected the changes in the high command or the proposed transfers abroad.

★ ★ ★

Besides Rivera Caminero, those scheduled for transfer included army and air force chiefs of staff and two leading figures among the rebel constitutionalist forces, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno and Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arache.

Today, the heart of the capital which rebels had seized in the April revolt and held for several months, remained quiet.

The 11,000 man peace force, which included 9,000 Americans, remained in quarters or at normal posts, though they have been on alert for four days.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of the OAS Political Committee conferred with Rivera Caminero and planned to call on Garcia-Godoy later today.

★ ★ ★

The other two members of the political committee, Ambassadors Ilmar Penna Marinho of Brazil and Ramon de Dlairman Duenas of El Salvador were with Bunker during yesterday's conferences.

PUBLIC REACTION

There was no public reaction from the rebel faction which staged the April revolution in an attempt to return ex-President Juan Bosch to office and restore the constitution.

Garcia-Godoy said in an interview early today:

"One does not resign when there's a chance for a solution to prevent tragedy from befalling the country. I will not be turned out by force."

Munching a piece of candy while smoking a cigarette, the lawyer-diplomat said:

"I don't know what the army pretends to do. If they don't want to obey my orders, then let them take the government over by force and we'll see what backing they can get."

WIFE, DAUGHTER

The president's wife and 15-year-old daughter were in another room of their comfortable suburban home.

A few presidential aides were on hand. Outside by the driveway, under mango and coconut trees splashed by a brilliant full moon, a handful of lightly armed guards lounged.

Garcia-Godoy went on: "If this is an act of rebellion on the part of the armed forces, it will not succeed unless it has the support of the United States."

The president said he would work part of the morning at his home, then return to the National Palace.

Go-Getters Main Targets for Heart Ills

Among nine of the heart victims who died, eight were from "type A."

The researchers found, as expected, that blood protein, blood fat and high blood pressure were signs of a tendency to heart trouble.

★ ★ ★

"Above all," they said, "the results clearly indicate that the presence or absence of a particular overt behavior pattern" was a danger sign for the heart.

'TYPE A' MEN

Although the "type A" men in the 39-49 age group were six times as likely to suffer heart disease, the researchers said there did not appear to be any significant difference from the others in height, weight or cigarette smoking.

However, among all 70 who suffered attacks, there was a pattern of more smoking, less exercise, and more earning power.

The two doctors who studied the emotional factor in predicting heart attacks were Dr. Ray H. Rosenman and Dr. Meyer Friedman of the Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center.

Associated in other aspects of the research were Dr. Reuben Straus and Dr. Moses Wurm, of St. Joseph Hospital, Burbank, Calif.; Dr. C. David Jenkins, of the University of North Carolina; and Dr. Harley B. Messinger, of Berkeley, Calif.

They worked under grants from the National Institute of Health, the American Heart Association and the Irwin Strasburger Memorial Medical Foundation.

Saigon Police Foil Plot to Bomb Billet

At the expense of light casualties, the allies claimed 243 Viet Cong killed, 52 captured, 624 suspects detained and the capture of 41 individual weapons and 11 crew-size guns.

The explosives seized on Saigon's jungle outskirts exceeded in destructive power the 250-pound bomb used by the Viet Cong to blast the eight-story Metropole Hotel, an enlisted men's billet, on Dec. 4. The attack killed two Americans, a New Zealander and eight Vietnamese, and injured more than 100 others.

★ ★ ★

The blast was part of a wave of grenade-throwings and other terrorism marking the fifth anniversary of the Viet Cong last month.

NEW VIOLENCE

The terrorism continued up to the Christmas truce. The Viet Cong were expected to continue their new violence in the capital until the four-day cease-fire they have proclaimed for the lungar New Year Jan. 21-24, Viet Nam's national holiday.

Warning that the period before the lunar new year was the right time psychologically for the terorrist attacks, a police official said:

"The Viet Cong are operating right at the city's edges. This gives them and their liaison agents an easy time of it to get into and out of Saigon. Once the Viet Cong terrorists had to slip into Saigon, but now they just walk in. It's so easy, it's just like going next door."

The equipment will be used in mechanical technology, automotive technology, dental assisting and other college programs.

GRAHAM JEAMBEY
He Got Revenge

Vengeful Man Foils Robbery

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Graham Jeambey never forgot that day in 1955 when a gunman robbed him of his last dime. The 44-year-old salesman was 350 miles from home when it happened.

"I swore then that if I ever got a chance to take a crack at a robber, I was going to do it," he said.

He got his chance Wednesday night, when he foiled a robbery attempt with a broken, unloaded revolver.

Since then, he said, he has been deluged with telephone calls. "Some of them said I was an idiot to get involved," he said.

★ ★ ★

Jeambey was shopping in a supermarket when three gunmen walked in an announced a stickup.

BROKEN PISTOL

He slipped out to his car, got a broken, empty 32-caliber automatic pistol, and casually reentered the store.

Then he jammed the empty gun into the ribs of one of the bandits and threatened to shoot.

The other two robbers fled, leaving behind their companion, Dwain Ivor Sholar, 30, a parolee from California's San Quentin Prison.

★ ★ ★

Twice since his arrest, Sholar has attempted to commit suicide. He was held today in a padded cell.

TELLS STORY

Jeambey, who admitted he was "pretty damned scared," told how he foiled the robbery:

"I knew the only way was to walk in casually and to keep the robber unaware of me. I got about six feet away from him — I had the pistol in my coat pocket.

"I leaped the last six feet, pulled the gun out, jammed it against him and said, 'Don't move or I'll shoot and I mean it.'

★ ★ ★

"You should have seen the look on his face — complete disbelief. He was carrying a large bag of money and started to reach for his gun in his side pocket, so I stuck my leg behind him and flipped him to the ground."

'Rights Work Before Draft'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Negro leader, encouraging civil rights workers to seek legal means of avoiding military service, says the fight against racial injustice in the United States is more important than the war in Viet Nam.

"I think we are involved in a war here and it will have more importance and perhaps much more significance in the generations to come than the Viet Nam war," said John R. Lewis, national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Lewis, 25, elaborated on his views in an interview yesterday after issuing a SNCC statement opposing U.S. involvement in Viet Nam and encouraging civil rights workers to seek an alternative to the draft.

There are legal means of avoiding military service, Lewis said. He is a conscientious objector.

"The work that the people in the civil rights movement are doing is in the national interest," he said.

VITAL ROLE

"My feeling is that what they are doing is so vital, so basic to the development — economically, socially and politically — of this country, that they should be exempt."

Lewis, a short, stocky Negro, is titular head of the loosely organized SNCC, composed of about 230 staff members with considerable following on college campuses.

He said the SNCC staff discussed Viet Nam and the draft in an Atlanta meeting last Thanksgiving and drafted a policy statement which was circulated, revised and then completed by a 23-member executive committee.

LBJ State of Union Message Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will deliver his State of the Union Message to a joint session of Congress next Wednesday at 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The timing of the message was fixed today when Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts breakfasted with Johnson at the White House.

AWAITING TREATMENT — Soaked by swamp water and mud of the Mekong Delta, a U.S. paratrooper puffs a cigarette and presses a bandage to his wounded cheek as he awaits medical treatment. He is a member of the 173rd Airborne Brigade. The brigade was pinned down for hours Jan. 2 by Viet Cong sniper fire as it moved out from Bao Trai for an assault on areas dominated by the Communists.

Bombs Tossed at 4 Vegas Cabs

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Molotov cocktails were tossed at four yellow cabs parked in front of a "Strip" hotel early today and their drivers attacked by some 60 men armed with tire irons and baseball bats, authorities reported.

Two drivers were hospitalized and one cab damaged by fire.

The violence broke out shortly before the last floor show was over at the Riviera Hotel. Unofficial reports said the hotel had been warned yesterday that trouble might occur.

The injured drivers were taken to Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital for treatment of head and shoulder lacerations.

NONUNION DRIVERS

The firm had been idled five months by a strike of Teamsters Local 881. For the past week, law enforcement agencies have doubled the watch at possible trouble spots, including McCarran Airport, and police patrolled the downtown gambling area on foot.

Heart disease, cancer and stroke were responsible for 1,187,558 American deaths last year.

Canada Teen Claims Oyster-Shucking Title

Johnny, who works full-time at it in this Vancouver Island community, says he shucked 44 gallons and 2½ quarts in an eight-hour shift. He says the title formerly was held jointly by members of a 12-man local crew who shucked 39 gallons each in eight hours.

Board Action Is Due on Future of Shelby

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The future of the township, either as a home rule city or as an incorporated part of the City of Utica, will be taken up by the Macomb County Board of Supervisors Monday.

The board of supervisors is scheduled to act on two sets of petitions presented in November by residents of Utica and of the township.

The incorporation move began when a group led by Utica Councilman Charles W. Stone filed petitions with the Macomb County clerk seeking to combine the City of Utica and a portion of Shelby Township into a new home rule city.

In a countermove, Shelby residents filed petitions seeking an election to form the entire township into a home rule city called Shelbydale.

★ ★ ★

The board of supervisors must first take action on the Utica election petitions. If the petitions are thrown out, as township officials feel they will be, then the board will act on Shelby's petitions.

AREA NEWS

UTICA PETITIONS

Township Supervisor Lorin E. Evans said the township attorney has advised that a legal technicality may make the Utica petitions invalid.

If that is the case, and Shelby's petitions are accepted, the board of supervisors will most likely set a date for an election.

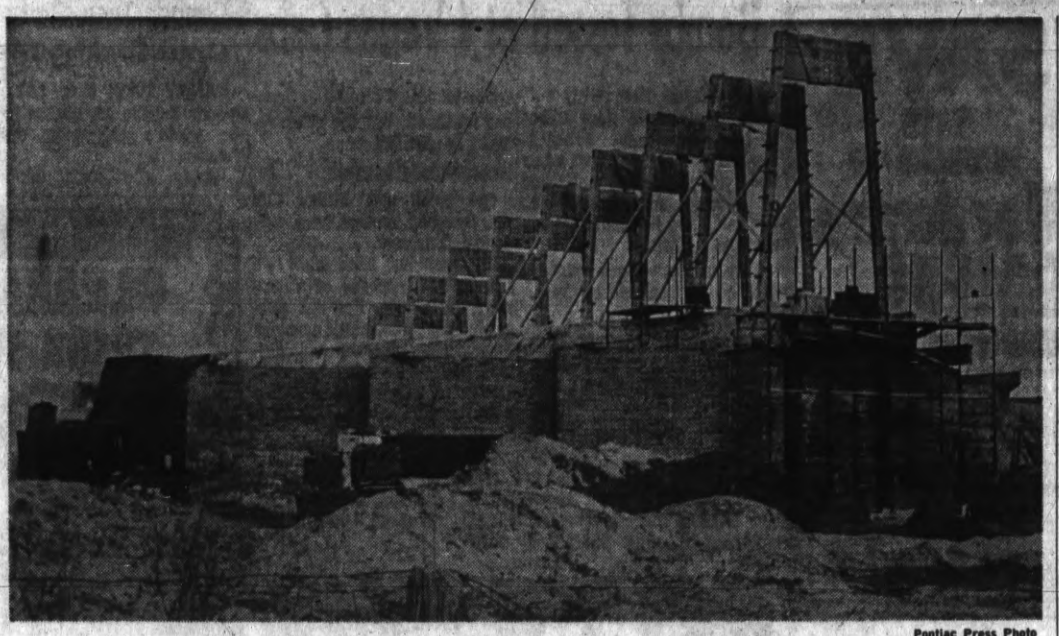

★ ★ ★

Evans said the vote would probably be held about the first of May. Also on the ballot would be candidates for a charter commission.

★ ★ ★

"We're not really ready to become a city yet but there's no other alternative," said Evans.

The plan incorporating part of the township with the city would extend Utica to include an area of the township bounded by Hall Road, Hayes Road, 21 Mile and the New York Central Railroad tracks.

SKELETON CHAPEL—Designed to serve the students and faculty of Oakland University, the St. John Fisher Chapel on Walton Boulevard across from the university is scheduled for completion in April. The campus chapel, being built by the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit, is designed in terms of the new liturgy. The priest will face the congregation, and no one will be more than 60 feet from the altar. Rising against the winter sky are the interior beams of the chapel.

Ground-Breaking Set Tuesday for 4 Utica Elementary Schools

UTICA — School officials will break ground Tuesday for four new elementary schools.

The ceremony, which will represent a ground-breaking for all four new buildings, will be held at 10 a.m. at the Hollywood Hills site on 16½ Mile in Sterling Township.

City and school officials to take part in the ceremony include the mayor of Utica, supervisors of Shelby and Sterling townships, board of education members, Schools Supt. Phillip E. Runkel and the architects.

The cost of the schools will total about $3 million. The money will be provided by an $8.5 million bond issue approved by voters in December 1964.

★ ★ ★

According to a school spokesman, the buildings will be filled as soon as they are opened next September.

BOND ISSUES

He said if bond issues submitted to the voters in 1963 had been approved "we would have been able to keep up with the demand."

Each school will contain about 650 pupils.

Farmington Hills Leading Poll to Name City

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—No clear trend has yet been identified, but "Farmington Hills" is running a two-to-one favorite in the name-the-city poll here.

★ ★ ★

Campaigning to incorporate Farmington Township as a city, township officials a week ago sent an open letter to registered voters and a questionnaire on potential names.

Mail deliveries at the Township Hall have been chockfull of responses, and officials have been hard-pressed to keep a running tabulation.

They had recorded some 475 votes by Wednesday night.

The tally then was Farmington Hills, 143; Farmington Woods, 78; Farmington Heights, 73; Quakertown, 70; North Farmington, 41; Farmington Township, 19; Wood Creek Farms, 19; and Clarenceville, 4.

★ ★ ★

Write-in suggestions with one or two votes each were Mayfair, Quaker Heights, Farmington Acres, Orchard Farms, Ajalon, IV Farms, Farmington Farms, Powersdale, Franklin Hills, Oakland Hills and Farmington Meadows.

SOUTHFIELD — A flute solo by a 15-year-old Bloomfield Township girl will be featured in the Jan. 16 concert of the Southfield Junior Symphony.

★ ★ ★

The 70-member orchestra has scheduled its 15th concert for 3 p.m. in the auditorium of Southfield High School, Lahser at 10 Mile.

Farm Price Index Is Reported Rising

LANSING (AP)—The index of prices received by Michigan farmers as of mid-December was up eight points, or three per cent, above the mid-November level.

The index rose to 241 per cent of the 1910-14 average, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said. The index was up 24 points, or 11 per cent, from December of 1964.

★ ★ ★

Price increases for wheat, milk, potatoes, hogs and poultry were primarily responsible for the increase.

1 Killed, 2 Hurt in Shelby Crash

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — One man was killed and two women injured in a two-car accident at 3:30 p.m. yesterday at Dequindre and West Utica roads.

★ ★ ★

Killed in the accident was Antonio Nardozzi, 66, of Sterling Township. The injured women, Mrs. Susie Nardozzi, 67, of Sterling Township and Anna M. Gibson, 45, of Detroit were admitted to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

★ ★ ★

Macomb County Sheriff's deputies said Nardozzi was traveling east on West Utica and apparently drove into the path of the other car.

Nullifies Teachers' Charge

Board Chief Back in District

IMLAY CITY — Board of Education President Howard Caldwell has moved into the Imlay City School District and out of the range of the latest attack by district teachers.

The Imlay City Teacher Action Committee, headed by Wilson Nickels, last week asked Lapeer County Prosecutor Michael Dionise to remove Caldwell from office.

The teachers charged that Caldwell was holding office illegally because he did not live in the district but with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Frantz of 3293 W. Oregon, Lapeer.

Caldwell had not been living in the school district since he sold his business and home here, they said.

★ ★ ★

The school board president, a member of the board for 11 years, and his wife have moved into a home at 7174 Imlay City, Imlay Township.

LOOKING FOR HOME

Caldwell said they had been staying with the Frantzes temporarily while looking for a home in the district after returning from a West Coast trip Nov. 30.

The battle between teachers and the school board has been running since November, when board members refused to grant teachers a $500 across-the-board raise.

Action committee chairman Nickels also is chairman of the Imlay City Teachers Club salary committee and president of the new Imlay City local of the Michigan Federation of Teachers.

★ ★ ★

The union has petitioned the State Labor Mediation Board to schedule a representation election which would determine the bargaining agent for the district's teachers.

No New Taxes

State Dems Unveil Program for '66

LANSING (AP) — Major Democrats Thursday unveiled a 1966 legislative program stressing citizen protection and said it would not require new taxes or an unbalanced budget.

An eight-page statement by House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, and Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, predicted the state would begin the 1966-67 fiscal year with a $125 million surplus.

Their program includes, however, a constitutional amendment which would repeal the existing prohibition against a graduated income tax.

The leaders said priority action would be given to consumer protection, public safety and law enforcement, and governmental reform.

JOIN PARTNERSHIP

They said the Legislature would move to bring Michigan as much as possible into partnership with federal social programs.

Their proposals came one week ahead of Republican Gov. George Romney's state-of-the-state message and less than 24 hours ahead of a meeting to which Romney invited legislative leaders. Romney said the meeting was called to "discuss areas of mutual concern."

★ ★ ★

The Democrats predicted revenues for the current fiscal year would total $805 million, $49 million more than Romney predicted one year ago when he submitted his budget. By summer, Romney had upped his revenue forecast to $783 million.

The Democrats did not predict how much would be available to spend in 1966-67 beyond the estimated $125 million surplus.

NEEDED RULES

They called for "some badly needed rules of fair play in sales for protection of the consumer," including a state consumer council and so-called truth-in-advertising, lending and packaging laws.

They proposed a state-operated fund financed by insurance companies to insure policy-holders against loss from bankrupt insurance firms.

★ ★ ★

Other consumer proposals included:

—Licensing hearing aid dispensers.

—Registering door-to-door salesmen with county agencies.

—Prohibiting regrooving of tires.

—Strengthening of certain financial requirements.

To strengthen the hand of law enforcement agencies, Dzendzel and Kowalski recommended:

—Establishing a statewide system to pool law enforcement information.

—Setting minimum qualification and salary levels for policemen and prosecuting attorneys.

—State control and administration of driver licensing.

FOUR CHANGES

In addition to the income tax amendment, Democrats asked for four other constitutional changes. To get these on the November, 1966, ballot would require two-thirds approval in each house. The Democrats are one vote in the House and three in the Senate short of such a majority.

★ ★ ★

The other changes proposed would:

—Abolish the Highway Commission and return to an elected highway chief.

—Permit the governor to fill judicial vacancies by appointment, a proposal with bipartisan support.

—Revise the system for determining legislative districts.

OTHER REQUESTS

In other areas the Democratic leaders asked for:

—Reorganization of the State Labor Department.

—Establishment of a state authority to assist local government in planning and building low-cost senior citizen housing.

—Billboard control.

—Aid to qualified students at private colleges to ease pressures on state institutions.

—State aid to local antipollution projects.

—A long-range plan for accelerated park and recreation area development.

★ ★ ★

Dzendzel and Kowalski said Democratic caucuses would review the proposals.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you a snob?

The world is full of snobs, but few of them realize it or admit it. Most snobs are hypocrites. They don't want to be recognized as snobs. It is the rare snob indeed who faces up to the fact of his snobbery — and enjoys it.

BOYLE

Snobs come in both sexes and all sizes, shapes, ages, occupations and degrees of wealth. Snobbery sometimes is thought to be a prerogative of the rich, but no man is so poverty-stricken he can't afford to be a snob.

Actually there are more snobs among the poor than among the rich, simply because there are more poor people.

HUMAN ATTRIBUTE

Snobbery is a very human attribute, but just how much of a snob are you?

Well, you are probably just about 100 per cent snobbish if most of the following things are true about you:

You'd try to romance a waitress or hatcheck girl but never think of marrying one.

★ ★ ★

You'd date the boss's daughter but never marry her either, for fear someone would think you were a social climber.

ANCESTORS

When talking about your ancestors, you always mention the one who came over on the Mayflower — and never mention the one who was hanged as a horse thief.

You never read a book that makes the best seller list.

When you are alone in an elevator and hear footsteps approaching, you quickly push the up button so you won't have to ride with a stranger.

You fawn on those you think are your superiors and frown on those you think are your inferiors.

VULGAR DISH

You never order corned beef and cabbage for lunch because it is supposed to be a vulgar dish.

When a friend confides to you that his son has just been thrown out of a public school, you brag that your son has just been thrown out of a private one.

You are proud of having won a Phi Beta Kappa key in college but you never wear it in public because you are afraid it will make you look ostentatious.

At a cocktail party you talk knowingly about international affairs when what you'd rather talk about is blondes, brunettes and baseball.

OFFICE RIVAL

When your rival for promotion at the office comes down with an ulcer, you develop two ulcers, hepatitis and migraine.

You'd never think of making a trip to Niagara Falls or the Grand Canyon — too many common people have had fun there.

★ ★ ★

Should a friend buy a more expensive house than you believe he can afford, you mutter sourly, "Some people don't know their place in life. Thank heavens, I do."

★ ★ ★

You believe anybody younger than yourself is still wet behind the ears and couldn't possibly know as much about life as you do.

When you move to the suburbs you immediately switch to another political party and join a different church.

You sometimes say to yourself: "Well, at least I know one thing: Whatever else I may be, at least I'm not a snob."

Mayor's Report Shows City Gains in 1965

The annual report on the state of the City just presented to the City Commission by Mayor WILLIAM H. TAYLOR JR. shows 1965 as a year of solid accomplishment for Pontiac.

TAYLOR

Particularly is this so in the areas of basic municipal facilities encompassing local and arterial paving projects, construction of sewer trunks and extension of water mains, continuation of the Clinton River rechanneling and in the adoption of a personnel and wage program for city employes that carries salary benefits of nearly $300,000 for the current year.

A start was also made last year on the City's beautification plan that saw an initial planting of 800 trees and shrubs.

★ ★ ★

Since municipal growth and planning is a never-ending process, the mayor outlined further improvements now under consideration. These include measures dealing with water pollution, increasing police and fire department manpower, upgrading park maintenance and recreation programs and increasing the hours of library activity.

Despite rising costs in city administration and a tight budget to begin with, Pontiac finished the year in the black, TAYLOR said. Along with good management, he attributed Pontiac's fiscal position to the booming economy that has put additional dollars into the City's coffers.

The steady civil progress reflected by the mayor's report together with the promise of major downtown business developments augur well for the continued expansion of the City and prosperity for its residents.

A Poll Hears Answer to Gals' Phone Woes

We are without doubt the most surveyed, polled, interviewed, analyzed and cross-sectioned population in history.

In one of the latest polls, 5,000 housewives across the Country were asked about their experience with the telephone ringing "when you least want it to."

★ ★ ★

The results, not surprising, in order of precedence were: When in shower or tub; When perched on ladder or chair reaching for the top of a closet or cupboard; When watching an engrossing television program; When up to the elbows in dishwashing; When concentrating on an intricate bridge hand.

Polish Service Stations Dispense Little Service

"Among other things," the Publication Oil Facts observes, "KARL MARX obviously never anticipated the service needs of the automobile age."

This has to do with the government-owned service stations of Communist Poland. There are only about 1,000 of them in that nation of 30 million people. Communist papers have described their operations as primitive and often chaotic. Motorists usually find them either jammed or closed.

★ ★ ★

So, as an experiment, contracts have been let to private individuals to operate some of the establishments.

This seems to be another example of how Communist nations are moving, even though slowly and reluctantly, in the direction of the capitalist principle that the best way to get results is to encourage private enterprise.

Even in Russia, the once-reviled profit motive is being tried out in certain areas of production and distribution in an effort to stimulate the economy. The commissars, faced with the failures of plan after plan, are being forced to swallow some bitter economic pills.

★ ★ ★

As for Poland's service stations, it will be a long time before they will remotely compare to those that American initiative has created in our own country.

LBJ Guidelines Prove Flexible

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's wage-price guidelines, it is now clear, can be rigid as a steel girder or flexible as a sheet of aluminum.

Conversely, it was Big Steel that found flexibility in the White House blessing of a compromise price increase and the aluminum industry that earlier had to knuckle under to stiff administration pressure.

But the lesson appears to remain the same:

Johnson isn't kidding about enforcing the guidelines in an effort to keep inflation from chipping away the solid gains of the booming economy.

Why did Johnson let the steel industry raise some prices $2.75 per ton, while forcing a rollback in aluminum and copper price hikes just two months ago?

★ ★ ★

RISING PRODUCTIVITY

Productivity is the amount of steel or aluminum or any other commodity produced per man-hour, and the government figures the rate is rising 3.2 per cent a year in the economy as a whole.

Thus, the White House says, industry can raise wages 3.2 per cent a year without boosting prices.

But the guidelines leave room for flexibility in various industries.

The difference in the steel and aluminum cases, the way the government figures it, is this:

Steel recently raised wages 3.2 per cent, while productivity has been rising only 3 per cent. Thus the industry was entitled to the increase which presidential economic adviser Gardner Ackley described as "inconsequential" — about one-tenth of 1 per cent.

A FASTER CLIMB

But in the aluminum industry, despite recent wage increases of 4 per cent, productivity has been climbing at something like 6 per cent a year.

Thus under the guidelines, aluminum could afford to cut prices, provided nonlabor costs didn't eat away the other 2 per cent of productivity increase.

The administration doesn't care how labor and management slice up the pie of increased productivity.

★ ★ ★

"But when a disagreement between management and labor is resolved by passing the bill to the rest of the economy, the bill is paid in depreciated currency to the ultimate advantage of no one," the guidelines state.

★ ★ ★

"Ultimately, it is rising output per man hour which must yield the ingredients of a rising standard of living," the guidelines statement says. "Growth in productivity makes it possible for real wages and real profits to rise side by side."

David Lawrence Says:

Tribunal Would Help NY Accord

LAWRENCE

Putting aside all the emotional outbursts, name-calling and irresponsible actions that have occurred, the question, after all, is whether the demands of 33,000 human beings for better working conditions are being given proper consideration.

★ ★ ★

There are two sides to almost every labor dispute. Unfortunately, the workers' side is too often beclouded by the injudicious action of labor leaders either seeking to perpetuate themselves in office or to indulge in some form of exhibitionism.

SPECIAL TRIBUNAL

The best thing that could happen to solve the problem would be for the union leaders to send the men back to work after receiving assurance from the mayor of New York City that a special tribunal would be set up to examine all the demands and to render a decision based upon equity and fair play.

For certainly transit workers who see other employes of the city government getting better wages in less strenuous jobs feel that they are the victims of discrimination.

Standards could be set up for all city government employes, so that there would be a wider knowledge among the workers themselves as to the basis for compensation.

★ ★ ★

It is acknowledged, for example, that some of the transit workers are being paid less than is being received by other employes in comparable jobs.

ECONOMIC FORCE

But this is not the kind of thing that can be settled by a strike or by a show of economic force or other coercive tactics. When a city government is involved, it represents the people — not only those who live within the borders of the city but those who come daily from outlying areas to do their work.

By setting up a special tribunal to study the whole question of the pay of employes of the City of New York, Mayor Lindsay would be taking a constructive step.

Those who work for a city government are entitled to as much consideration as employes who are outside the government, and in recent years there has been substantial progress made by the federal government itself in improving its wage scales.

★ ★ ★

These have been long neglected, Government employes have not fared as well over the years as have persons in private employment. While some differentials are inevitable, the gap has been too wide in many instances. The transit strike in New York City accentuates this defect in the compensation system for government employes.

PAY TAXES

But when all is said and done, the employers in a city are the citizens of the municipality. They are the ones who must pay the taxes, and there has not been enough information given them as to the importance of setting up adequate wage scales in order to get efficient service.

The lesson that the New York City strike teaches is that very little can be settled by violence or by economic coercion.

But the leaders in the transit union unwittingly have succeeded in drawing attention to the fact that unions would not be necessary if there were a responsible system for fixing the compensation of employes in many of our city governments.

Bob Considine Says:

Revival of Invective Art Is Right Note in Strike

NEW YORK — It was a bad day for the Irish of our city, having Mike Quill, considered by so many as the stereotype, fulminating on camera and even going to the pokey on camera.

CONSIDINE

But if one can find a ray of sun in the sorry spectacle, it could be this: The lost cause and all but forgotten art of invective was served well during the day.

Mike proposed that Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller who dropped the boom on him, "can drop dead in his black robes."

Mike reserves an even worse fate for himself, the promise to "rot in jail," before yielding so much as a farthing in his mostly one-man war against the four million New Yorkers who use the subways and buses each day.

★ ★ ★

JUDGED IN RETURN

He who had cried out "Anathema!" to a judge was himself judged in return, much as if he had been conked by a returning boomerang he had heaved at hizzoner. An ambulance carted Mike off to Bellevue.

A radio commentator at Penn Station shoved a microphone at a footsore and irate lady who wanted to get home to Long Island and told her the news about Mike.

★ ★ ★

"So he's sick, hey?" the woman shrilled. "Let him go the rest of the way and I'll send flowers to his grave."

FORGOTTEN HOW

We had sometimes feared in recent years that people had forgotten how to talk as they did the day old Mike went to the cooler.

Most of the speech-making we hear around New York of late has filtered out of the United Nations, where the language is soothing, the manners generally impeccable, the salutations sugary.

But Mike and his partisans and tormentors brought everything back to what was the saloon level normalcy in a heartier day — dynamic dialogue and licensed libel.

Smiles

Reader Has Suggestion to Avoid Future Tragedy

Everyone in the area is saddened because of the accident at Carroll Lake and Wise Roads in which two teen-agers lost their lives and others were injured. We offer the Wilson family our sincere and deepest sympathy at their tragic loss.

★ ★ ★

Several of our acquaintances have been injured at this intersection in the past. These were almost-fatal accidents — now this tragedy. It is our opinion that the Oakland County Road Commission should consider installing a four-way stop with a red blinker at this crossing. We have traveled this road for many years and think this type of stop would be practical and perhaps save a life.

'Some Areas of City Need Storm Sewers'

The mayor would look better in a picture directing a road crew putting in a storm sewer than in a picture breaking ground for a new bank. Mr. Mayor and Mr. L. Replies to Letter on Give-Away Programs

Comments by "Avondale High School Student" sound like a "give me" Democrat always wanting something for nothing. Anyone who defends a give-away administration while of school age surely is taught wrong and must be waiting to cash in on this give-away when he is old enough to work but will not.

Parents who write about their sons in Viet Nam do so because the soldier cannot. If they would speak for themselves and the truth would be heard, the military would have them court-martialed and put in prison. I am only fourteen and have eleven relatives who were in wars. I have had two sons in service by the volunteer route. My third son is in college — low grades, but giving it the old college try. He had to give up working this past semester and drop a course for which he was given an F. In my day we were given an "Incomplete" so we could try again.

If there are any loafers in college they are sons of rich men and if they weren't in school they would figure out some other way to avoid the draft. If I had my way all the young fathers who had to marry because they deliberately got a girl pregnant, and the conscientious objectors for religious or other reasons, would see service in the front lines either as medical men, cooks, or general utility workers.

Readers Says Hoodlums Are Being Protected

In reply to "A Very Irate Mother" of Bloomfield Hills, hoodlums are protected and she isn't. It's as simple as that. A few days ago The Pontiac Press told of an Avon Township man being fined $100 for trying to protect his home from hoodlums trying to break in. The man should be given a medal, not fined. Also, any police officer that is able to kill a robber in the act of breaking and entering should receive a citation and raise in pay. Warning shots are for birds.

Victory Imperative

Nashville Banner

Once committed to war, you either fight to win or you lose.

As demonstrated by the Viet Cong's cynical violation of that Christmas "truce," you cannot put a scintilla of trust in any Communist promise.

And as the nation surely realizes by now in the deepening involvement in Viet Nam, Whiz Kid civilian amateurism is no acceptable substitute for competent advisers at the helm of military decision.

By law the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the principal military advisers to the President, the National Security Council, and the Secretary of Defense. But you might not know that such is the law, or that the JCS even exist, from the regularity with which — by preemption — Secretary McNamara calls the signals; and the Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, intrudes to interpolate policy opinion extraneous to the business at hand.

In large measure that is what has happened in a war of increasing commitment, but which these policy spokesmen have yet to define in terms of VICTORY as the objective. All that Mr. McNamara has said beyond vague year-to-year appraisals is that as of now we no longer are losing it.

The President of the United States is the ultimate determinator of military and diplomatic policy. When the civilian Secretary of Defense presumes to decide questions of weaponry, strategy, or other technicality of combat, he is beyond his depth and legal authorization, and trespassing.

As President, Mr. Johnson is responsible for final decisions — with the advice, on military affairs, of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary McNamara is not a chief of staff, nor is Secretary Rusk.

At some point this side of defeat, or ignominious pullout, the United States is going to have to wage that war to completion. And nothing less than a pulverizing, all-out clobbering blow with the tools we already possess can do that job.

America has the power to pulverize the Viet Cong from the air; to destroy its capacity to prolong this war. We should decimate every route of communications or of troop and logistic transport. That is the pattern of victory, not sparing Hanoi, itself. America has the power at sea to blockade the shipping to those ports, for a noose of strangulation on those supply lines.

Our air power has been nibbling away at what should be a full-scale bombing operation — to cease and desist only when, in desperate realization that this is IT, the enemy sues for peace. In World War II, we and the British BOMBED key German cities almost into extinction; not only in retaliatory raids, but for knockout purposes. The Germans were bombing, too, with lethal assault.

The United States did not hesitate to bomb Japan, because that was the only way to end that war in the Pacific. On what ground is this present Asiatic enemy, now killing Americans, different? It is not enough, Mr. McNamara, that we no longer are losing. America is not satisfied with that — and won't be.

Westmoreland and his men — these thousands of American sons sent there to fight and die if need be for an avowed purpose of that national interest — deserve the best their country can give them in the authorization to WIN. They must not become the pawns of a defeatist game. Procrastination at such a juncture, and in such a showdown, is the thief of more than time. It steals lives.

These men are fighting where they were SENT — and to WIN.

Soviets Building Influence in Malaysia, Singapore

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia, (AP) — The Soviet Union may be seeking a base in Malaysia and Singapore for its campaign to increase its influence in Asia at the expense of Communist China.

More than a year ago, a correspondent for the official Soviet news agency, Tass, visited the country. He was the first member of the Soviet Communist party allowed to travel in the rich Southeast Asian peninsula. He is due back to open an office in Singapore this month.

A Soviet trade expert has applied for permission to visit. Approval of his trip is expected.

"Why not?" some officials say privately. "Russia is one of our biggest rubber buyers. Why not sell to them directly?"

CHINA PROPAGANDA

While Red China has been frightening Western-oriented Asian nations with its militant propaganda, the Soviets have been quietly building trade.

They already have embassies in two key Asian countries where the Chinese are excluded — Japan and Thailand. These provide a solid foundation for Soviet programs in the area and, among other things, have led to a Soviet-Japanese air pact and Soviet observers at the Asian Development Bank.

★ ★ ★

Increased Soviet presence in Malaysia would put Moscow in an excellent position to build up its Asian image and would give it a tremendous economic lever against the Chinese.

Malaysia has taken on new stature since neighboring Indonesia's war against it virtually collapsed following the abortive Peking-backed coup in October.

PRESSURE EASED

Since the pressure from Indonesia has eased, the Malaysian government has been working to resume diplomatic ties with the Philippines, has tightened ties with Burma and is a close ally of India and Thailand.

Malaysia's calls for revival of the Association of Southeast Asia was welcomed. This would link Thailand, Malaysia and the Philippines economically and culturally and generally tighten up those Southeast Asian nations against Red China.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet moves into Malaysia and Singapore seem to be part of a broad campaign to expand Moscow's influence in Asia. Other steps include the Soviet-sponsored summit meeting between the leaders of India and Pakistan, now under way in the Soviet city of Tashkent, and stronger contacts with North Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union's over-all objective seems to much the same as that of the United States — to contain Communist China.

Soviet Embassy officials in Bangkok and Tokyo say privately that the last thing they want to see is an expansion of Peking's influence in Asia.

Junior Editors Quiz on POLITICAL SYMBOLS

QUESTION: Why are the donkey and the elephant symbols of political parties?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Cartooning presents ideas in picture form so simply and effectively that few words of explanation are needed. Picture symbols for things — such as Uncle Sam for America — help the cartoonist greatly in putting his points across.

The Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey were both originated as picture symbols by the famous cartoonist Thomas Nast, who created them to use in his drawings appearing in Harper's Weekly in the 1870's.

The Democratic party took its name in 1828 when Andrew Jackson was elected as president. Jackson had had the support of small farmers and workers.

Later, he had occasion to seek a symbol for the Republican party, which though only started in 1854, had grown to great size, possibly a reason for the choice of the elephant.

Our main picture is taken from a Nast cartoon in which the elephant appears for the first time.

Nast's symbol of the tiger for New York's Tammany Hall, led by "Boss" Tweed, also became very famous and is said to have indirectly led to Tweed's downfall.

Disappearing Dalmation Started Drive

Dognaping Legislation Heading for Climax

Ten days later, a Dalmatian died in a New York hospital laboratory following experimental heart surgery and its body was cremated.

★ ★ ★

This incident touched off a series of events now heading toward a possible climax next year in Congress which already has been asked to pass legislation restricting the handling and sale of research animals.

Two leaders of the congressional antidognaping drive are Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N. Y.

BIG IMPACT

If passed, the legislation could have its biggest impact in Pennsylvania which is considered a major center for suppliers of laboratory animals because of its central location to eastern and midwestern laboratories.

A House Agriculture subcommittee already has held one hearing and plans more.

Clark plans to press early next year for similar hearings by the Senate Commerce Committee. The chances are considered good since the bill's other sponsor is Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., the committee chairman.

The bill's supporters contend up to 65 per cent of the nation's research animals have been stolen. Resnick says the theft of pets is a million-dollar business and most laboratories use a substantial number of stolen cats and dogs.

VOICE DISSENT

Opponents told the House committee the bill is discriminatory, an abridgement of state powers, poorly written and unnecessary because very few research animals are stolen.

The issue has generated some heat among pet lovers who have written hundreds of letters to Clark and Resnick, and to the House Agriculture Committee.

★ ★ ★

Under the legislation, dog and cat dealers would be licensed by the Agriculture Department which would fix standards for handling and transportation of animals. No animals could be sold at public auction, and no dealer could sell any animal for at least five days after he acquired it.

Maximum penalty for violation would be one year in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Clarke said it's only natural to make dognaping a federal crime since it already is a federal crime to transport stolen cars and cattle across state lines.

A recent case focused more attention on the legislation because of the involvement of the National Institute of Health, a major user of research animals.

★ ★ ★

The government purchased a white and black setter named "Teeney" from a Pennsylvania supplier but the Humane Society of the United States said it traced the dog to a man in Lexington, N. C., who contended he bought it from someone in Boyce, Va., whose name he couldn't remember.

The dog — or one like it — was reported stolen by a Boyce farmer earlier in the year.

PROOF LACKING

The institute turned the dog over to the farmer although it said proof of ownership was lacking. But it said there was evidence to support the farmer's claim.

★ ★ ★

The Human Society said it has found evidence of dog theft rings in Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. One witness told the House subcommittee that at least four dog auctions are held weekly within 50 miles of Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Another witness said some boys in Pennsylvania are paid $2 for each dog they can deliver to a dealer.

There was conflicting testimony given to the House subcommittee about the Slatington case.

ATE CHICKENS?

One story was that the dog which died in the New York hospital was raised in Altoona, Pa., and sold by its owner because it had started eating chickens.

But Resnick said positive identification of the dog was impossible because it had been cremated.

★ ★ ★

He told this story:

A truck bound from Pennsylvania to New York was stopped in Easton, Pa., for an inspection and was found to be carrying dogs for which the driver had no bill of sale.

Lakavage read of the incident and thought he recognized his stolen Dalmatian in a photograph.

BILL OF SALE

The day after the truck was stopped, the dealer produced a bill of sale and continued his journey which he said was to an animal farm in Ulster County, N. Y., in Resnick's congressional district.

Mrs. Lakavage went to Ulster County but was denied access to the farm without a warrant and local authorities were reluctant to give one.

★ ★ ★

Resnick said he subsequently learned that two Dalmatians were delivered directly to the New York City hospital and not to the Ulster County farm.

"By the time we called the hospital, it was too late," he said. "The dog had been operated on and had died — a mere four days after the truck driver had been apprehended in Pennsylvania."

BACKS MOVE

Clark said he can't understand the "implacable opposition of some members of the scientific community" to the legislation since it wouldn't inhibit the use of animals for legitimate experiments.

"It merely proposes to establish some order in the business of buying and selling animals for experimental purposes as well as some order and humane treatment in the business of transportating those animals from the dealers to the users," he said in a written reply to an opponent of the legislation.

Draft Talk Airs Ways to Fill Manpower Need

FT. STEWART, Ga. (AP) — Which way the nation's military induction system will proceed — dipping into the pool of draft-deferred college students or lowering other requirements — will be discussed here at the first of three regional conferences.

The meetings were called by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the Selective Service director, to meet the growing manpower need in Viet Nam. State Selective Service directors from Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will attend the session Sunday.

A Washington spokesman said, when Hershey called the meetings a week ago, that restoration of Korean wartime deferment rules was under consideration. Calling up high school graduates who have flunked mental tests will be discussed along with tightening deferments of college students.

There were about 2.2 million college students holding deferments last November.

POLICY CHANGE

Col. Mike Y. Hendrix of Atlanta, a regional field director, said the conference will deal with matters "pertaining to changes in policy regarding deferments."

"I think there will be a great deal of talk about student deferments," said Col. Harry O. Smith, Georgia director. He said he favors lowering the mental standards to pick up more of the young men who failed draft tests before moving in on college students.

"My feeling is that before we get too much into student deferments the standards in the 1Y classification should be lowered even more," Smith said. "Then the next step would be the college students." That has been the procedure in the past, he said.

"I think that's pretty much what's going to be followed," he said. It was decided Dec. 23 to review the cases of the men in 1Y, those who failed the mental exams and are classified as unfit except for emergency service.

Selective Service officials in Washington said in announcing the conference that a review of the manpower situation has become necessary because the draft rate of about 40,000 men per month is dwindling the supply in the 19-25 age bracket of unmarried, physically and mentally fit men.

★ ★ ★

On the agenda of the meeting is a statement by Hershey on the policy regarding persons who burn draft cards, stage draft board sit-ins or otherwise disobey federal law.

How to Save on Taxes—5

Net Amount Received on Rental Income Taxable

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Only the net amount received on rental income is taxable.

In general the expenses deducted from gross rental income consist of: depreciation, repairs, and other expenses.

Since a two-family home is the most common type of rental property, our example will illustrate how a typical landlord accounts for his income.

We will assume the home was built in January 1960, at a cost of $35,000 of which $5,000 was the cost of the land and $30,000 the cost of the building. Depreciation is taken only on the building.

RENTAL INCOME

Since the landlord and his family occupied half of the two-family home the expenses attributed to their half are not a factor in the rental income computation.

Assuming a life expectancy of the home of 40 years, a 2½ per cent yearly write-off could be claimed for depreciation.

The annula depreciation in this case then would be ½x2½ per cent x $30,000 or $375.

★ ★ ★

Repair items on a home would normally consist of such items as carpentry work, painting, papering, plumbing work, furnace repair.

EQUALLY BENEFIT

Such expenses as would equally benefit the owner's section as well as the tenant's quarters (such as exterior painting) are charged off the rental income at 50 per cent. Only the expenses solely attributed to the rental section are charged at 100 per cent.

½ exterior painting	$350.00
Repair plumbing for tenant	32.50
Carpentry work for tenant	18.90
Furnace inspection, filters	12.50
Total	$413.90

★ ★ ★

½ mortgage interest	$375.20
½ real estate taxes	218.00
½ fire insurance	38.00
½ snow removal	17.25
½ landscaping	35.00
½ water charges	37.25
Total	$720.70

Total charges against the rental income would be $1,509.60 ($375 depreciation plus $413.90 repairs plus $720.70 in other expenses).

If the landlord was collecting $150 a month rent and had the home rented for the full year he would have collected $1,800.

But on his income tax return he would only show a net rental income of $290.40 — ($1,800 minus $1,509.60).

The accounting of the $375 claimed in depreciation on the building is also reported.

★ ★ ★

In reporting the cost of the property, we have used a $15,000 figure which represents the investment attributed to the rented section.

We have the straight-line method of depreciation (abbreviated S. L. on the schedule). This allows the identical 2½ per cent write-off annually over the useful life of the property.

(NEXT: Returns of military personnel.)

Undersea Craft Face Big Role

Admiral Tells of New Vistas Ahead for Man

By Science Service

SAN FRANCISCO — The United States is on the verge of unleashing a heavy barrage of undersea vessels capable of working at great depths and with great maneuverability.

So says Rear Adm. Edward J. Fahy, who will become chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships on Feb. 1, and who is now commander of the San Francisco Naval Bay Shipyard.

Man will soon enter a new world of living and working under the sea, he said, and activity will by no means be confined to the military.

Man will operate fish farms and mines under the sea, for example, and there he will find new problem for which there are no solutions, not even guidelines.

★ ★ ★

New questions will arise about admiralty law and international law, Adm. Fahy observed. There will be great competition for the prizes held by the ocean: nickel, cobalt, copper, manganese, which are being exhausted on land. Diamonds are being mined off the coast of Africa.

IN SUNKEN SHIPS

Then there is the treasure locked in the holds of sunken ships. It has been estimated that one-eighth of all the treasure wrested from the earth now lies on the bottom of the ocean.

"There will soon come a day," he predicts, "when we will run into areas under the ocean that are staked out by other nations. They will be closed to traffic — their boundaries guarded, possibly mined."

There also is the difficulty of private industry protecting its developments on the ocean floor.

★ ★ ★

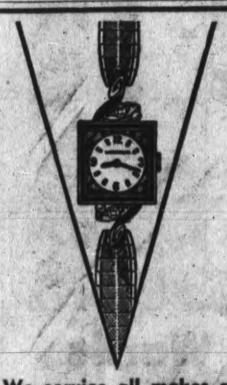

"Consider an industry engaged in the mining of precious metals — and faced with the threat of piracy, and the problem of how to police and protect its property," the admiral says.

FEDERAL PROBLEM

For instance, should we have an agency to regulate underwater traffic, similar to the way the Civil Aeronautics Board regulates aviation? And should submersibles be licensed?

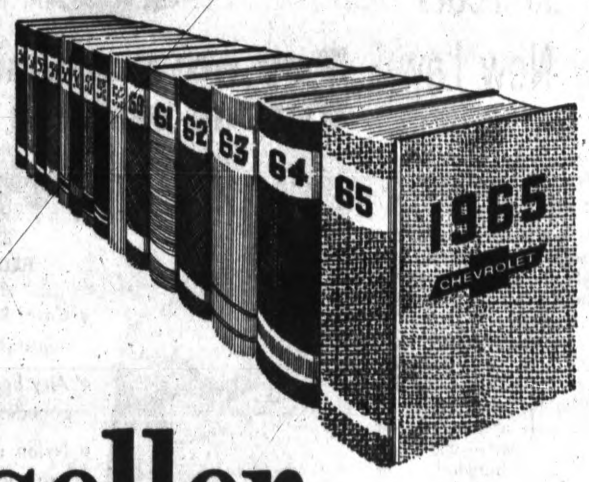

There are only about 800 to 900 known cases of leprosy in the United States.

'66 Caprice Custom Sedan. This model was the three millionth vehicle built by Chevrolet in 1965—the first time any manufacturer has turned out this number of cars and trucks in a single year.

More people bought Chevrolets than ever bought any other make of car before. A new record—even for Chevrolet.

And as buyers continue to pour into Chevrolet showrooms in '66, they continue to show their preference for Chevrolet products over every other make of car by a wide margin. With good reason—as you'll see from the new '66 styling, engineering and safety features listed at the right.

This growing success year after year just goes to show that there's really only one car people like better than a Chevrolet—and that's another new Chevrolet. Drop into your dealer's and see for yourself.

New Turbo-Jet V8's—most advanced and most talked about V8's going, offered in Chevrolets, Caprices, Chevelle SS 396's and Corvettes.
Eight new safety features, including backup lights, outside rearview mirror and front and rear seat belts, standard on all '66 models Chevrolet builds.
Body by Fisher craftsmanship—plus many added luxuries you can order, such as automatic Comfortron heating and air conditioning and AM-FM Multiplex Stereo radio.

Mountain Man for 30 Years May Be Ousted by New Law

MCCALL, Idaho (AP) — When Sylvan A. Hart acquired a master's degree in engineering from the University of Idaho, he decided that was enough of civilization for a while.

He put an ax, a rifle, and a few staples on his back and disappeared into the Idaho mountains.

Forcing the wilds to yield food and clothing, finding comfort when fierce winter gripped the hills, Hart became a mountain man, much like those incredible loners who roamed the West more than 100 years ago.

One year became two, then three, and — except for one prolonged occasion — Hart has never found reason to leave the wilderness.

THREATENED

Now 66, he is threatened by a civilization that wants to force him out of his remote home — in the name of wilderness preservation.

It was 1932 when Hart went into the hills. He made his headquarters at the point where Little Five Mile Creek flows into the Salmon River — known as the River of No Return because of its wild current. Visitors then were as much as a year apart.

★ ★ ★

He hewed timbers by hand and put up several buildings, covering them with adobe. He mined copper, smelted it, refined it, alloyed it and made utensils.

MADE RIFLES

To be free of store-bought ammunition he made several flintlock rifles, boring the barrels on a handmade lathe turned by a foot treadle.

His trips out of the back country have been rare. When he needs gunpowder, books or the Darjeeling tea of which he is fond, he pans a little gold — about $150 a year — and hikes to the hamlet of Burgdorf.

★ ★ ★

Hart's only extended time away from the wilderness was during World War II. It was the spring of 1942 before he heard of Pearl Harbor. He promptly enlisted, and served three years in Army ordnance.

The war may have been his undoing. Hundreds of surplus life rafts made river-running popular. Tourists increasingly float by Buckskin Bill's. He has become something of a celebrity.

LAW CHANGE

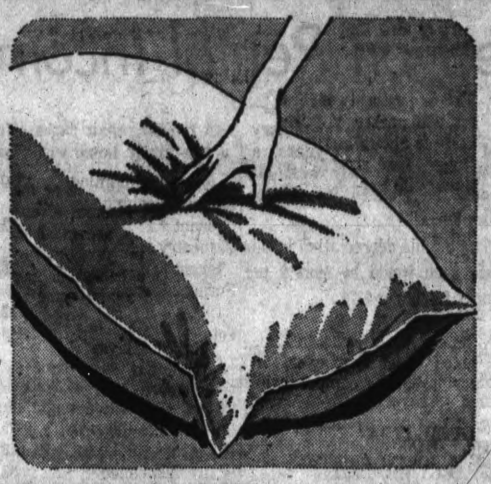

The trouble with this is that his wilderness has become a wilderness by statute. Now you are not supposed to live there.

Hart has applied for title to the land he has occupied so long. Under certain circumstances title could be granted, but federal officials in Boise say he has not filled out the forms properly. They have given him until July to reapply.

Each of the 66 homerooms will try to reach a goal of 100 pounds, or approximately three pounds per student.

A prize will be given to the three top homerooms.

★ ★ ★

Clothing will be collected Monday through Friday. Homerooms are to retain their clothing until this date at which time it will be weighed.

Last year Eastern Junior High School placed first with a total of 6,264 pounds. Washington Junior High came in second with 3,700 pounds, Northern third with 2,650 and Central fourth with 2,450.

Ski Excursion This Weekend

By HELEN COLLIAS

Pontiac Central High School's Ski Club rescheduled its Christmas ski trip for this weekend.

★ ★ ★

Members will travel north to the Wolverine Ski Lodge at Wolverine, Mich. John Zimmerle, ski club adviser, in making arrangements for the trip, has provided bus transportation.

The participant list has already been filled. However, a few additional skiers will be permitted.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

As the train, made up of Eileen Hatchett. Debbie Gorden, Diane McCall and Vickie Letzel, approached, two lovely maidens, Judith Almas and Jo Lynn Yansen, arrived with the hero. The chief was saved, all was well and Central went on to win the game.

Playmasters Set Production

'The Innocents' Slated at WTHS Tomorrow

By JEAN PRIESTLEY

Waterford Township High School Playmasters are ending six weeks of rehearsal with presentation of their first play of the year, "The Innocents," tomorrow night at 8.

The play, derived from Henry James' "The Turn of the Screw," is "a real horror story" to quote Anne Hobart, drama coach and director.

A double cast was chosen for the two performances with Sue Enfield and Rachel Schetling playing Mrs. Grose, the maid, and Jane Marsh and Linda Lottner, 8-year-old Flora.

Chuck Wilson and Tony Kellogg play Miles, Flora's brother, and Mrs. Giddens is portrayed by Lynn Hamilton and Janice Means.

BUY TICKETS AT DOOR

Jeanette Howey is costume chairman and Linda Bird is in charge of publicity. Lynn Hamilton will handle programs.

To help finance the club's activities, members are presently selling candy bars.

A new parking lot policy will go into effect Monday with students purchasing tickets to use the school lot.

Byron Merritt, assistant principal, is the author of the plan which was approved by the school board in November.

Spanish Club Observes Yule

By JAMIE SCHUTT

The holidays are over for most people, but Waterford Kettering Spanish Club members celebrated Christmas yesterday at a traditional Spanish Twelfth Night party.

Gifts were exchanged as they are on Jan. 6 in many Spanish speaking countries.

★ ★ ★

Since they are only first-year students, they brought along five upperclassmen for assistance and verification.

West Bloomfield

By MARGIT MISANGYI

Students at West Bloomfield High School have revitalized the Varsity Club.

This club was introduced to maintain the prestige of those earning a varsity letter.

In the past any high school or grade school student was allowed to purchase a jacket. Now the newly styled jacket will be sold only to Varsity Club members.

★ ★ ★

The basketball team will be at Brighton tonight. The junior varsity game will start at 6:30, with the varsity game following.

Clarkston

By CATHY RICHARDSON

Clarkston High School's Varsity Club began plans this week for the initiation of their prospective new members.

Prune juice, peanut butter, eggs and onions played an important part in the initiation of boys who had earned a varsity letter in any sport and were brave enough to want to join the club.

This afternoon Clarkston's Girls Athletic Association was to host a basketball game against Pontiac Northern High School's girls' basketball team.

GROUP SPONSOR

After tonight's home game with Northville, the band will sponsor a dance to honor and aid its stage band.

The stage band is a newly-developed division of the senior band. It will present its first performance tonight at the dance in the cafeteria.

★ ★ ★

Records will also be played.

Rochester

By KATHY MORGAN

The French Club of Rochester High School celebrates Epiphany Sunday in the way of old Europe.

Florence Pitts, president, will entertain the members with the customs of her own family. The Pitts, of French origin, have spent several years in France.

Refreshments will include the traditional long, flat cake baked with a charm inside. Ginger ale will replace the usual champagne.

If a boy receives the piece with the charm, he drops it in a girl's glass of ginger ale. A girl who receives the charm, drops it in a boy's glass.

★ ★ ★

The girl and boy wear paper crowns. To the new king and queen, everyone proposes a toast.

It's a Bird, It's a Plane--- No, It's Super Teacher

By LINDA LONGSTRETH

Holly High School has discovered a new vibrant personality on its faculty — Super Teacher.

★ ★ ★

A one-piece red suit, it is topped by a flowing white satin cape.

Distinctively monogrammed on the back of this cape are the initials which confirm his unmistakable identity.

★ ★ ★

SCHOOL SPIRIT

During the assembly, he assists cheerleaders in boosting school spirit and encouraging the team to victory.

In addition to this spirited role, Jacobson teaches social studies, economics and government at Holly High School. A favorite of the students, he also sponsors Holly's Future Teachers of America Club, and is secretary of the Holly Federation of Teachers.

Jacobson graduated with high honors from Eastern Michigan University.

★ ★ ★

HOME GAME

Tonight, there will be a home game between Milford and Holly. This afternoon, cheerleaders will lead a pep assembly as is custom before all home games.

★ ★ ★

Will Super Teacher reply to the student body cries once again by donning his unforgettable cape and adding that extra spark to our pep assembly? We hope so.

Pontiac Press Photo

SUPER TEACHER — Will the enthusiastic cheers of Holly High School students lure Richard Jacobson to assume his role as Super Teacher and spur the team to victory? Jacobson isn't talking and only time will tell. In addition to his faculty duties as social studies, economics and government teacher, he also sponsors Holly's Future Teachers of America Club and serves as secretary of the Holly Federation of Teachers.

Evangelist Speaks at ECHS Service

By LINDA WRIGHT

It's back to school for Emmanuel Christian High School students.

The student body was favored this week with a visit by Richard Sandlin, an evangelist, who spoke in the morning chapel service.

Juniors are happy to report that they are over the halfway mark towards their goal of $600. They are now awaiting the arrival of a new supply of candy. Seniors are also busy selling candy.

Members of the Student Council are revising the constitution. Changes have to be made to omit passages concerning the freshmen at LOHS, since they are now attending the new junior high.

GM Backs Safety Plan in Schools

The schoolchildren in these typical large, medium and small American cities and towns, along with youngsters in 86 other communities, all have something in common other than reading, writing and the new math.

★ ★ ★

They are participating in a nationwide program aimed at increasing safety awareness and reducing traffic accidents among elementary and secondary school students.

Called the Green Pennant Safety Program, it has been sponsored nationally on an experimental basis by General Motors and its dealers for the past four years.

Results of the experimental program indicate that the Green Pennant Safety Program can help reduce bodily injury accidents among schoolchildren as much as 20 per cent, according to school and police authorities. To date the program operates in 97 communities in 33 states with more than 900,000 students participating.

★ ★ ★

"The results of this school safety program have been most encouraging, and General Motors and its dealers plan to sponsor it in many more communities, large and small, as a focal point for all school safety education activities," James M. Roche, GM president, said today.

VITAL IMPORTANCE

"Safety is of vital importance to citizens of all ages and under all conditions, but it is particularly important to young people. The Green Pennant program helps instill a basic respect for good traffic safety habits during the impressionable school years, and hopefully this will carry over into adult life.

A school participating in the program earns the right to fly the Green Pennant by completing 30 calendar days without a student-caused accident following the start of the school year.

The pennant flies daily from the school flagstaff under the American flag as long as that school has an accident-free record. The pennant is lowered and placed inside the school whenever there is a student-caused accident.

★ ★ ★

Any school having an accident free record for the entire school year receives a Perfect Safety Award certificate for prominent display within the school.

The Green Pennant Safety Program was pioneered in Detroit where it is sponsored in some 1,500 schools by the Detroit News.

Had a Screw Loose

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — For four months, 2-year-old Michael Ingle worried his parents with severe coughing and frequent high temperatures. An examination revealed the lad had swallowed a half-inch wood screw, which lodged in his bronchial tube. The screw was removed and the youngster was reported recovering.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Sensible Living Can Curb Artery Woes

Q—What are the early symptoms of arteriosclerosis? What can be done to arrest its development?

BRANDSTADT

This is a late manifestation of a disease that begins in 50 per cent of the population when they are in their early 20s.

★ ★ ★

In a coronary artery, you would have attacks of a vise-like pain in the region of the heart (angina pectoris); in the brain, a stroke; and in the legs, pain on walking (intermittent claudication).

MAY DETECT

Sometimes your doctor can detect arteriosclerosis before any of these vascular accidents occur by feeling the arteries in your feet, seeing their outline in an X-ray film (usually one taken for another reason), or seeing characteristic changes in the interior of your eyes.

Prevention is now thought to depend less on cutting out high-cholesterol fats than on reducing your total caloric intake and keeping your weight at the lower limit of normal, cutting out cigarettes and, with your doctor's help, keeping your blood pressure, especially the lower (diastolic) reading, within normal limits and learning the fine art of equanimity.

Q — Two of my cousins had their spleens removed. How do they manage to get along without this organ? What are the chances of living more than five years after such an operation?

★ ★ ★

A — The chief function of the spleen is the destruction of worn-out red blood cells but, in man, the spleen is not essential for this purpose.

The outlook for a person whose spleen has been removed is generally very good. It depends on what condition the operation was performed for.

Airport Birds Get 'Stoned'

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Officials at Gen. Mitchel Airport in Milwaukee are using treated grain that has an inebriating effect on the airport's gull population.

Airport director Stewart D. Mast said yesterday that the treated grain causes the drunken birds to send out distress calls.

When other birds hear the distress calls, they stay away from the area, he said.

★ ★ ★

At least one gull was pulled into a jet engine, damaging it. Other birds have damaged wings of jet tankers.

Takes You Off the Spot

Ask Pals to Write First

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am moving to another city soon. Several friends here have said, "You MUST look up So and So. Here is his name and number. Just call and say you are a friend of mine."

ABBY

Abby, is it proper for a newcomer in town to call a resident there and put him on the spot that way? I can't just call a stranger and say, "Hello, I'm Millie McGillicuddy. I am 34 years old, divorced, have two children and am self-supporting. My measurements are 36-25-37, and Sam Strangelove told me to call you."

I'm afraid if I don't call I might miss meeting some interesting people, and if I do call, I'll appear presumptuous. How should this be handled?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: Ask all your big-hearted friends to write So and So a note and suggest that he call YOU.

That way, the go-between can clue his friend in on all the vital statistics, and leave it to him to call you if he so chooses.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in February. My first choice for matron of honor is my sister, but she's in a family way and says if she's able to stand up she'll do it.

My next choice is my husband's sister. But she's in a family way, too, and although she says she isn't due until March, she looks like she's going to deliver before my sister.

In case neither one can do it, would it be proper to ask my grandmother to be my matron of honor?

JEN IN SEASIDE

DEAR JEN: Your grandmother sounds like the safest bet to me. Ask her.

DEAR ABBY: I am considering marrying a man who has been married before. (I have not.)

We are both in our middle thirties and have gone together for four years. We love each other very much. My question: How much should I know about his former marriage? When we first met he told me that he was a divorced man, and he has never made reference to that subject again.

I've held off asking him any questions, hoping he would bring it up again. I don't want to know anything that is none of my business, but I want to know as much as I should. Can you give me an honest answer?

CURIOUS IN MEMPHIS

DEAR CURIOUS: Inquire only about that which may concern your lives together should you marry.

Has he children? Is his former wife still his financial responsibility? What were the grounds for divorce? Are they on friendly terms? This information is indeed your business and you have a right to know.

Additional Note Isn't Required

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My 17-year-old daughter, who is away at school, has on many occasions been invited for weekends to the houses of her classmates.

She always takes along a small gift for the hostess and, on return to school, sends a thank-you note.

A friend whose daughter is also away at school thinks it proper for the mother of the girl to also send a note of thanks to the respective hostess for the hospitality shown her daughter. We have debated this question and would like your opinion.

A: There is no need whatever of the mother to write a letter in addition to the bread and butter letter written by her daughter.

Q: When giving a dinner party at which there is no particular guest of honor, who is seated on the right of the host?

A: When there is no particular guest of honor, the hostess chooses the oldest lady present if there is sufficient difference in ages to sit at the right of host, or possibly one who has not visited her house for some time.

Otherwise, she seats her guests according to whatever arrangement she thinks they will enjoy most.

Repeat of Art Exhibition at Cranbrook Galleries

Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries plans a repeat of an exhibition staged last year in which three local galleries provided contemporary paintings.

★ ★ ★

Aim of the show was to offer area residents increasing opportunity to know the current work of internationally recognized artists.

★ ★ ★

A new format for the Cranbrook galleries, the exhibit was such a success that on Tuesday a second show, "Source Detroit II," will open and remain through Feb. 6.

ADDITIONS

This year four galleries will participate, and the show also will include sculpture. Participating are: the Donald Morris, J. L. Hudson, Gertrude Kasle and Franklin Siden galleries.

★ ★ ★

The academy's February calendar lists three new exhibitions: "Line," by academy design students Feb. 8-March 6; "Amusement Is," objects collected in the spirit of play, circulated by the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, Feb. 15-March 6; and paintings by Don Willett, faculty member, Feb. 25-March 20.

★ ★ ★

Continuing exhibitions are: "Hearts and Flowers," Hallmark Historical Collection greeting cards, through Feb. 13; "Color," an exhibition based on Joseph Alber's book "The Interaction of Color," to Feb. 6; and graphics by Laurence Barker, faculty member, closing Feb. 20.

GUIDED TOURS

The academy's Young People's Art Center is offering guided tours covering the permanent collection available for school groups, followed by studio classes. Cranbrook Institutions may be contacted for further details.

★ ★ ★

Galleries hours are 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. weekends, except major holidays. There is an admission charge.

Polly's Pointers

A Call for Help

DEAR POLLY — I enjoy the column so much and want to thank you and the people who sent in their Pointers for so many good ideas. I have some loose veneer on my dining table caused by dampness. What can I do to fix it? Thank you, dear readers, and dear Polly.—VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA — All our thanks for those kind words. I sought out an answer to your problem which other readers may have, too.

The authority consulted says that little will be gained by simply putting some glue or other adhesive beneath the loosened veneer and then pressing it down until the adhesive dries.

First it is necessary to remove the old glue both from the wood that held the veneer and the veneer itself. It will have to be carefully scraped off with a sharp instrument of some sort and care taken not to bend the veneer pieces too much. Old veneer is brittle and breaks easily.

After the new glue is applied beneath the replaced pieces, cover the repair with a piece of waxed paper and then put a flat block of wood between this and the furniture clamp that will hold the veneer in place until it dries. In other words, this is a tricky job. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have a very tall friend and her new wool sheath dress should be lengthened enough so I helped her crochet a lacy border, from matching color wool, to put around the bottom of the skirt.

We added a little of the crochet trim around the neck and it is really a smart, lovely looking dress. — MRS. R. J. L.

DEAR POLLY — When hemming a flared skirt or dress, turn under the raw edge and sew with a machine basting stitch BUT break the thread at each seam.

The threads can then be drawn up to make slight gathers in the hem edge until it will be the same size as the skirt. Handstitch the hem in easily with seams touching seams and gathers evenly spaced.

To keep a waist seam from stretching sew a strip of seam binding just beyond or over the seam that joins waist and skirt.—MRS. L. M.T.

DEAR POLLY — When buying bath towel sets it is sometimes hard to get matching bath mats. I buy an extra matching bath towel, fold it and then stitch it all around the edges to make a nice mat.—EDITH

DEAR POLLY — When the upper part of your daughter's leotards becomes too tight and "crampy" for comfortable wear, cut them off and use the long sock part to make knee socks.

Elastic can be put in the tops of these socks which will stretch and often give another year's wear. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — Can anyone tell me how to remove the printing from feed bags? I would like to make towels out of them. — BARBARITIA

June vows are planned by Betty May Bell, daughter of the Russel C. Bells of Hudson Avenue, and Ronald L. Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Schultz of Buchanan. She is a senior at Western Michigan University and he is in graduate study at Indiana University.

BETTY MAY BELL

New Book a Help to Troubled Teens

A 15-year-old boy breaks his older sister's favorite record in a fit of temper after an argument with her.

His reaction to the argument is all out of proportion and he feels sorry and hard-put to explain himself.

He knew he had been a little upset about the freedom she was getting and perhaps still felt a little jealous of her which he knew was unfounded and thought he outgrew.

★ ★ ★

Conflicts are not always easy to understand or resolve and sometimes we find ourselves doing things we do not really want to do — things that are generally harmful to our best interests.

FOR TEENAGERS

In a new 24-page pamphlet "How Serious Are Your Problems?" just published by the Child Study Association of America, a leading national agency in mental health education for family living, adolescents are encouraged to try figuring out whether their problems are relatively standard for their age and circumstances — and what to do about it.

The pamphlet was written by Greta Mayer and Mary Hoover, and illustrated by Marianne Streit. Miss Mayer is a staff member of the Association and Mrs. Hoover is a member of the Association's Book Review Committee.

The pamphlet, which is available from the Child Study Association of America, 9 East 89th Street, New York, N.Y., for 25 cents plus 10 cents postage and handling, also contains sections on Finding Your Place in the World; Being Yourself; When Help Is Needed; and Where to Go for Help.

Shape of Things

Keep Trying Anyway

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE X-495: Richard F., aged 45, is a member of Alcoholics Anonymous.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "don't you think it is smart to make sincere resolutions, even though there may be a good chance that we will fail to fulfill them?

"The reason I ask, is the fact that many people say it does no good to do this.

"But our A.A. members often have failed at the start but then they may finally make it and become sober, industrious citizens."

HEED DR. JAMES

For the idea is father to the deed!

Without first thinking a better plan of action, we are not likely to produce a better world.

★ ★ ★

Abraham Lincoln stated much the same thing when he advised:

"The probability that we may fail in the struggle ought not to deter us from the support of a cause we believe to be just."

In a similar vein, James Russell Lowell said:

"Not failure but low aim is crime."

Here are a few that fit various age groups and will benefit you and often mankind:

• Urge your children to memorize proverbs, wise sayings and inspirational verses from the Bible. These will buoy up their souls in old age!

• Play ball with God Almighty!

Which means, after God has given you a sturdy human body, don't sabotage it by nuisance habits, such as gluttony, smoking, alcoholism and emotional intemperance.

Get on God's team so you can relax at night and banish insomnia without chemical tranquilizers (which simply add more work for your liver and kidneys).

• Join my "Compliment Club" wherein you pay a sincere bit of praise to three different people every day.

A compliment to your family or neighbors while they are still alive is far better than an exaggerated floral wreath for their casket!

★ ★ ★

• Remember, there are no pockets in your shroud!

You older folks may wish to hang on to your money while you live to be sure you are comfortable.

But be sure to make provision in your will for laudable causes, such as the church, the Salvation Army, and our eleemosynary Scientific Marriage Foundation, which creates thousands of happy homes, and offers half-orphans both a Daddy and Mother again!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 10c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Could It Be We Are Afraid of Answers?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

By the age of 11 she had learned that her mother could not retain hold of her belongings. Never, she had learned, could her mother find her purse or her checkbook when she needed them.

She was always losing telephone numbers, eyeglass cases, grocery bills. Her mother was always in the position of having to say, "Does anyone know what I did with my so-and-so?"

So, one evening when her mother asked to borrow a little pearl pin which had been a Christmas present, she couldn't say "yes" with enthusiasm.

Afraid that it would be lost or mislaid like the grocery bills, her face took on a look of stubborn resistance. Her mother, angered by this failure in a generosity upon which she prided herself, called to the father and little sister, crying, "Just come and look at this stingy girl! She's so mean she can't lend me her good-for-nothing pin though God only knows all I do for her! Just take a good look at her!"

But, of course, she wasn't anything of the kind. She was just afraid that lending her pin meant the end of the pin. Since it didn't occur to anyone to ask, "Why don't you want to lend your pin?" nobody ever learned that she possessed a most reasonable answer to this question.

I make this point for a reader who writes:

"My 11-year-old girl gets a very stubborn look on her face when I ask her to do something. Sometimes she walks out of the room while I'm still talking to her about it. She is very untidy and never puts anything away after she's used it.

"Yesterday she left the butter out on the table to melt after making herself a sandwich. That's just one of the kind of things she's always doing."

Did you ask her why she left the butter out on the table? Were you brave enough to ask her this question? I bet you weren't. I bet you just attacked her as untidy and thoughtless.

We parents love to imagine that we avoid asking children why they do things we don't like because the question "Why did you do this?" smacks of child psychologist "coddling." But this is not the true reason for our avoidance of it.

★ ★ ★

We dodge the "Why did you do this?" question because we're afraid of the answer. We are scared that the answer may contain some criticism of us. The child might say, "Because you lose everything," or "Because you nag so much I don't want to do anything for you."

★ ★ ★

We want to monopolize all the accusing power. And so prefer to condemn children as "stubborn," "mean" and "thoughtless" lest the question "Why did you do this mean thing?" evoke a critical answer.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Only vegetables can live without stress, and they may have some we don't know about! We humans, must of necessity, have some stresses. In fact stress can be revitalizing when stressful situations act as challenges.

Whether or not they challenge rather than depress depends on our reaction to them. Stress is harmful only when it reaches our individual breaking point and overwhelms us.

There are a number of ways in which to prevent damaging stress. If you are in a rut, get out of it. You may not realize that monotony creates stress of the most subtle kind. It slips up on you. Sameness, day after day, often leads to stress in the form of frustration, irritation or depression.

Many times individuals in this situation do not make the necessary effort to break loose. They get caught in the trap of inertia and discouragement. It is essential that they change the pattern of their daily lives, even if they do so only in small ways. these small "breaks" can be revitalizing.

GO TO A MOVIE

This may mean only a few hours at a movie, away from your young children, a walk, a visit to a friend's, or a new hobby or interest added to your usual work. For a woman a drastic change in hairdo or a new costume may give her a life. Anything different helps. If you ARE in a rut you will have to pull yourself up by your bootstraps to find out what a big difference in outlook a few little changes can make.

★ ★ ★

Lots of garden-variety stress is built up by minor irritations such as traffic jams, lack of consideration on the part of others, noise and bad weather. Life would be much more vibrant if we could learn to slough these off and relax in the midst of them with a "let's drift" attitude. We would stay younger longer too. Unless you watch it, silly things like this will add stress to your life.

UNPLEASANT RELATIONSHIPS

Much stress comes from unpleasant relationships with others. These may be with a member of your family, a friend, someone you work with or those you know only casually. When you rave to yourself and stew about them you are only hurting yourself, not those who criticize. If it's a member of your family try to overlook the friction and meet the person halfway or more than halfway.

If it's a so-called friend then invest your emotions in someone more rewarding. If those you trade with are unpleasant, for heaven's sake, give your business to someone who is pleasant to deal with. If there is constant irritation in your job, get another one if you possibly can.

Exercise is an excellent way to work off your emotional tensions and stresses. This has often been proven. An interesting study was conducted at the University of California. One group of students exercised regularly while another didn't.

At the end of a set period of time both groups were subjected to stressful conditions. The exercised group adapted or recovered much more rapidly.

If you are a worrier, you may want my leaflet "Worry" which gives you psychological help in overcoming it. Send your request with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

August vows are planned by Susan Anne Whitman, daughter of the Richard D. Whitmans of Dawson Road, Milford Township and Gary James Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Powers of Middle Road, Highland Township. Both are juniors at University of Michigan.

A mid-July wedding is being planned by Peggy Ann Case, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Case of Island Park Drive, and Robert W. Brydges of South Jessie Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brydges of Hogback Lake Road, Springfield Township.

Offers '30s Look

Look for plenty of touches of the 1930's in the newest fashion. New York designer John Moore features much of the 30's look in his spring collection in bias cut of fabric, especially crepe, and in feather-trimming reminiscent of marabou.

Where Else but Paris

Open Costume Museum

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS — Paris long regarded as the home of fashion, now offers designers, students, historians and even psychologists a unique source for research and inspiration.

STARTS AT 1700

Financed by the Chamber of Commerce, the center is said to be the largest and most complete costume museum in Europe. It houses men's, women's and children's clothing dating from 1700 to the latest Paris creations.

When the Center opened its doors in 1962, the house of Dior donated 10 dresses, including one of the celebrated "new look" models which revolutionized fashion in 1947.

"By the time a style achieves historical significance," he says, "examples of the period are rare and sometimes impossible to find.

THINK AHEAD

"We should think ahead and collect contemporary styles before a specific fashion changes and ultimately disappears."

The costume center has three separate sections—one for clothing and accessories, a library containing reference books, prints and magazines going back to the 1890s and the largest collection of old and modern fabrics ever assembled.

The exhibits include over 2,000 costumes and 8,000 accessories. These are displayed on lifelike dummies and every button, shoe, handkerchief and hatpin is carefully documented.

The curator said that more (and more splendid) men's 18th century garments than women's have survived. This is because women's dresses, when no longer worn during that period, were often cut up for furniture covers.

UNDERCLOTHING

Among the center's possessions is a priceless collection of old linens. One group of fragile, hand-embroidered underclothing over 200 years old is still in good condition. It is kept carefully laundered—no mean trick, for it takes 36 hours to press one particular Second Empire batiste peignoir covered with frills, pleats and lace ruffles.

★ ★ ★

This gift creates a wonderful opportunity for students to study her special bias-cut technique which shook the fashion world in 1918.

★ ★ ★

Three decades of fashions by Paul Poiret, the man who took women out of whalebone corsets and invented the bra, show the oriental influence of the Diaghilef ballets.

FIGURE CHANGES

Dismembered dummies, displayed behind the scenes, with hundreds of legs, arms, torsos and heads scaled to numerous heights and sizes, show how women's figures have changed over the years.

A dummy with a 17-inch waist models 19th century wedding gowns which a modern bride couldn't hope to squeeze into.

★ ★ ★

Since its inception, the center has received regular donations from the leading contemporary Paris creators, including Balenciaga, Lanvin, Balmain, Patou, Ricci and others. It helps to organize fashion lecture tours, lends costumes for special exhibits and maintains contact with 125 museums in foreign countries.

★ ★ ★

It was a long time coming, but what better place could have been chosen for a museum devoted to the history of costume than the capital of fashion itself.

By JACOBY & SON

JACOBY

The hand was played in the Toledo Regional and Chuck found himself in a rather unsound four-heart contract. In addition, he was doubled by West, his partner redoubled and it appeared certain to him that trumps were going to break very badly.

A quick look at all the cards shows West with four potential trump tricks. In addition, there is no way for South to avoid losing a couple of club tricks.

What happened to poor West looks like one of those magical tricks done with mirrors.

West opened his singleton club. Dummy's ace held the trick. Chuck cashed the ace and king of spades in order to discard one club. Then he ruffed a spade and led back to dummy's ace of diamonds in order to ruff another spade.

After going to dummy's king of diamonds in order to ruff a diamond, Chuck had eight tricks in and was left with two losing clubs and the ace-queen-ten of trumps.

He led a club and now West's trump length became a liability. He had to trump his partner's trick and lead a trump to declarer's ten-spot.

★ ★ ★

Back came another club and poor West had to ruff again and concede the last two tricks to Chuck's ace and queen of trumps.

Flying Object Was Secret U. S. Launch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Reports of an unidentified flying object by Los Angeles County residents Thursday night were confirmed — and the object was identified.

The Air Force said the light in the early evening sky was caused by the launch of a space vehicle from this West Coast missile center.

Spokesmen said a satellite vehicle was boosted aloft at 8:50 p.m. aboard a Thor-Altair rocket combination. They declined to say if it achieved orbit or disclose its mission.

Cowboy's Partner Delayed at Border

BERRY'S WORLD By Jim Berry

BOARDING HOUSE

OUT OUR WAY

Created by Three 1st Division Officers

New Battlefield Operating Room Is an Innovation

AN KHE, South Viet Nam (AP) — Three officers of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division have created an innovation in battlefield medical treatment — an operating room that is air-conditioned, practically sterile and airmobile.

Its creators are Lt. Col. Jueri Svjagintsev, commanding officer of the 15th Medical Battalion; Lt. Col. Charles W. McQueary, commanding officer of the 11th Transportation Battalian; and Maj. T. J. Clark Jr., who commands the 478th Aviation Company.

Svjagintsev, nicknamed "Col. Alphabet" by fellow officers, is in charge of the hospital unit. McQueary's men built it to his specifications. Clark's people fly the thing around. He commands the cavalry's flying crane company, with helicopters capable of lifting 10 tons.

The hospital unit is 37x12 with an inside height of 6 feet, 7 inches. It weighs five tons.

"I don't just think this will save lives," says Svjagintsev. "I know it will. It's a great step forward in field surgical facilities.

"The old hospital operating tent is obsolete for us now except for minor wounds.

"The wounded men won't have to fight heat as well as loss of blood.

"It provides an almost sterile atmosphere in which to operate — tents are always full of dust. And its comfort will keep surgical teams at the peak of their physical efficiency."

EQUIPMENT

Included in the equipment is an X-ray machine which produces a finished film in 12 seconds — "very important for locating and positioning bullets and shell fragments so they can be removed with a minimum of probing," the medical officer said.

Svjagintsev and Clark tried to interest the Army in their idea but were told there were no funds available for it. They began scrounging up what they needed.

They had the shell for the portable operating room because the flying crane company had pods of that size, used for carrying freight. Everything else was obtained by the major and the two colonels.

"In the states it would have been a breeze," said Svjagintsev, "but over here even a simple bolt or nut is hard to come by."

Two of the key men in creating the unit were Capt. Dalton Romero and S. Sgt. Robert Lambeth. Romero is from Columbus, Ga., and Lambeth is a native of Winston-Salem, N. C.

★ ★ ★

One of the doctors using the medical pod is Maj. Jay Zabriskie, commanding officer of C Company of the 15th Medical. He, too, is convinced that the innovation will save lives.

★ ★ ★

"C Company has treated more than a thousand men since we've been in Viet Nam with a death rate of about one per cent — now we should be able to cut it even lower," the former Salt Lake City, Utah, obstetrician said.

'Curb Wastes Put Into River'

State Aims at Public, Private Detroit Firms

EAST LANSING (AP) — The state will ask 31 governmental and industrial units to make sharp cuts, probably costing more than $200 million, in their disposal of pollutants into the Detroit River.

The move, decided unanimously Thursday by the Water Resources Commission, stems from a series of conferences on pollution in the Detroit River and Lake Erie.

The commission adopted a set of recommended limits on waste disposal and dates for completion of improved waste treatment facilities by the affected units, including the City of Detroit.

It instructed its staff members to confer with the units involved in efforts to obtain voluntary agreements before the March commission meeting.

NO AGREEMENT?

If the units do not agree to the recommended restrictions, the commission would start its customary procedure of notices and hearings, possibly leading to pollution abatement orders.

The recommended restrictions would give Detroit until Nov. 1, 1970, to complete facilities that would cut its disposal of oxygen-consuming pollutants from about 600,000 pounds a day to 206,000.

Ralph Purdy, the commission's chief engineer, said recommendations by the U. S. Public Health Service would have cost Detroit about $129-million and the affected industries $100 million.

The commission's recommendations, he added, are not exactly parallel, but the cost would be about the same.

INTERFERENCE

Loring Oeming, commission executive secretary, said pollution in the Detroit River now interferes with recreation, fish and aquatic life and with water supplies.

Purdy said if the recommendations are followed, "some of the improvements will be dramatic—visible to the eye—and others will be slower."

Governmental units listed in the commission's plan to seek voluntary cutbacks were Detroit, Wayne County, Riverview, Trenton, Grosse Ile Township, Monroe, Luna Pier, Crystal Beach, Berlin Township, Frenchtown Township and Monroe Township.

Industries were Great Lakes Steel Corp., Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge and Trenton plants, American Cement Corp., Darling and Co., Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., Pennsalt Chemicals Corp., McLouth Steel Corp.'s Trenton plant, Revere Copper and Brass Inc., Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and Mobil Oil Co.

Mensante Chemicals Corp.'s Trenton resins plant and inorganic chemicals division, Allied Chemical Corp.'s Solvay process and Semet Solvay divisions, Scott Paper Co., E. I. duPont De Nemous and Co.'s industrial and biochemical division, Time Container Corp.'s Monroe paper products division, Consolidated Packaging Corp. and Union Bag-Camp Corp.

New Laboratories to Study All Facets of Education

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

National laboratories for the study of education are being organized to provide research services not only to local schools but to state educational agencies, colleges, universities, departments of education and private industry.

DR. NASON

All of these agencies are being asked by the U.S. Office of Education to cooperate in the planning, establishment and operation of the laboratories. For their development, $100 million in federal funds will be allocated over a five-year period.

In the past, not all segments of the educative process have come under the eye of the researchers. For example, the teaching - learning processes at college level have generally been neglected. With education research centered primarily around schools of education, it was difficult for that division of the college to carry on an investigation of the work done in other divisions.

The new educational laboratories will be responsible for bringing innovations and improvements at all levels of education, including the schools of education themselves.

★ ★ ★

The closest thing to these laboratories now in existence are the research and development centers at Harvard, and the Universities of Pittsburgh, Wisconsin, Texas, Stanford, Oregon and Georgia. None of these, however, covers the wide scope of activities or requires the broad cooperation called for by the proposed laboratories.

MAJOR CENTER

In still another new approach, the U.S. Office of Education has made a $3.5 million grant to Stanford University to establish a major center for research in and development of teaching. This agency will endeavor to create and validate a theory of teaching. It is hoped this agency can throw light on the relationships between various patterns of teaching approach and the resultant student learning.

Similar heroic efforts have been effective in other fields. The Atomic Energy Commission national laboratories have made important developments primarily on their single purpose because they could attract scholars of the highest calibre.

We already have centers concerned with public health such as the one I recently visited in Houston, Tex. Here, within a cluster of hospitals and research laboratories, is a concentration of experts in the field of medicine unparalleled in the past.

It is hoped that the same status will be attained by the new educational laboratories.

Waterford School Board Buys Land

Purchase of a 3.1-acre addition to Williams Lake Elementary School, 2525 Airport, for $9,504 was authorized last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

The parcel of land, which includes 230 feet of frontage on Airport, is designed for recreational use.

Subsequently, the school system is eligible for 50 per cent federal assistance under terms of the open space land grant act.

PLANNING SUBCOMMITTEE

The recommendation was made by the high school planning subcommittee of the citizens' advisory committee.

Kettering's field is not presently equipped with lights and some of its home football games are played on its rival's field.

Advocates of the proposal argue that a home field is a vital element in the development of school spirit from the standpoint of spectators, players and coaches.

★ ★ ★

Board members previously favored an individual field for both high schools. No site was designated.

BOTH SCHOOLS

They contend that Waterford Township Field belongs to both high schools.

The board will consider the recommendation at its Jan. 20 meeting.

Also last night, the board authorized the administration to create an elementary school planning committee.

The committee will review educational specifications for new elementary schools and work with the architect to consider his design.

ELECTRICIAN-PLUMBER

The administration also was given the authority to hire a third electrician-plumber until a head electrician-plumber is recruited to replace Floyd Wilcox who retired.

The board discussed hiring a second architect and an attorney to negotiate legal contracts with school employes. Interviews will be arranged.

The architect is deemed necessary because of the school system's stepped-up construction program.

★ ★ ★

The need for an attorney stems from recent board action which officially recognized three school employe groups as sole bargaining agents.

RECENT LAW

It was in compliance with a recent Michigan law which allows for collective bargaining for public employes.

Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe presented the first of a two-part curriculum report on developing a significant school system. He outlined improvements which have been made and pointed out needs of the school system.

★ ★ ★

Also last night, the board okayed second-semester teaching contracts for seven instructors.

OKs Joining U.S.-Funded Book Project

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night agreed to participate in a federally financed program which will provide its schools with books and other instructional materials.

Funds for the program are made available under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. of 1965.

Oakland Schools, which will administer the program in this county, applied for the funds in November.

Waterford Township Schools will make their purchases from recommended lists provided by the state librarian.

PREFERS FREE HAND

Although he favors the program, Tatroe thinks local school districts should have a "freer hand" in selecting the books and that ownership of the materials should rest with local systems instead of intermediate districts.

Under the present setup, books are to be loaned to local districts by the county.

Japan Joins U.S. Drive for Viet Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government today joined the drive to bring the North Vietnamese to the peace table.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato told roving U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that Japan will do its best to persuade the Communists to agree to talks to end the war in Viet Nam, officials said.

★ ★ ★

Sources close to Sato said he was "greatly encouraged" by his discussion with Harriman of the many-pronged American peace offensive and its chances of success.

The sources said the prime minister believes that in the light of the suspension of American bombing of North Viet Nam, the time is ripe for concrete Japanese overtures for peace.

SOVIET DELEGATION

Meanwhile, the Soviet delegation to North Viet Nam headed by top party official Alexander N. Shelepin flew on to Hanoi after a one-hour lunch stop in Peking. The Soviet group lunched with Deputy Premier Li Hsien-nien, a member of the Chinese Communist party Politburo, but sources in Moscow said there was no suggestion of policy talks during the brief stop in the Chinese capital.

The Russians may try to convince President Ho Chi Minh's regime to agree to peace negotiations. But the presence of experts on military production and rockets in the delegation indicates that Shelepin will try to outbid the Red Chinese influence in Hanoi with a boost in military and economic aid which the Chinese can't supply.

It was not clear following Harriman's meeting of one hour and 40 minutes with Sato what specific steps Japan might take to get the Communists to negotiate for peace in Viet Nam.

But the visit to Moscow on Jan. 16 of Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina is almost certain to be the occasion for a first step. Sato is going to sign an air agreement, but he presumably will have Viet Nam high on the agenda for his talks.

JAPAN EMBASSIES

Japanese overtures to Hanoi are also likely to be made through Japan's embassies in Laos, Cambodia and other countries where the North Vietnamese also have diplomatic establishments.

The Japanese government has stepped up its interest in the U.S. diplomatic maneuvers over the Viet Nam war since Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey visited Tokyo nine days ago. Humphrey urged Japan — or any other country — to take a lead in trying to end the war.

After today's talk a U.S. Embassy spokesman reported: "Prime Minister Sato expressed his understanding of the efforts of the U.S. for peace as well as the hope that the U.S. will continue such efforts.

"He also said Japan will do all it can so that the Communist side will agree to peace talks, since the problem depends on whether Hanoi will respond to efforts of the United States or not."

★ ★ ★

North Viet Nam has publicly condemned the U.S. diplomatic efforts, and so have Red China and the Soviet Union. The Viet Cong added their own criticism today, calling the U.S. campaign "cunning and extremely repugnant."

Barges to Help Ease Jam at Viet Ports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fleet of large barges, towed by sea-going tugs, is on the way to help relieve the port congestion which has jammed up the flow of supplies to U.S. forces in South Viet Nam.

Military authorities also are sending a number of floating piers across the ocean, to be put in place where permanent docks are few and inadequate.

Each of the 350-foot floating piers can handle three or four ships.

Officials cited these and other emergency steps being taken to crack a bottleneck which has resulted in cargo ships waiting as long as 11 days to be unloaded.

IMPROVEMENT LIKELY

Defense transportation authorities predict a "decided improvement" in the next 30 days, when the barges — called lighters — and tugs get to work in Viet Nam.

The stopgap measures are intended to tide U.S. forces over until completion of permanent port and base construction costing about $500 million — hopefully by midyear.

The Defense Department contends that "all supplies which are vital are moving on schedule," despite an acknowledged lack of enough docks and warehouse facilities, rail and road systems.

Ships with high priority cargoes, such as ammunition, are being unloaded without serious delays, officials claimed.

ARMY CHIEF

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, in answer to questions from newsmen Thursday in Honolulu, said a problem of logistics exists in getting men and materiel ashore in South Viet Nam. But he said all Army combat supplies are getting ashore where needed. Resor was returning from an inspection trip to Viet Nam.

It was estimated that the lighters, which will ferry cargo from ships offshore, can handle 150,000 tons of equipment and supplies a month. About 700,000 tons of cargo arrive monthly.

★ ★ ★

The floating piers will take longer to get to Southeast Asia. One such pier already installed at Cam Ranh Bay made the trip from the United States in three months, Army Engineer officials said.

License Plate Sales Ahead Numerically

LANSING (AP) — License plate sales are numerically ahead but proportionally behind last year's figures, Secretary of State James Hare said Thursday.

Hare said 841,392 motorists had purchased plates during the first two months of sales, an increase of 22,045. But increased vehicle population should have pushed sales to 850,000, said Hare, to keep pace with last year's rate.

Deadline for purchase is Feb. 28.

U. S. Bid to Be Made January 15 in Chicago

Fred Matthaei Jr., Chosen Heir to Father's 'Olympic Fortunes'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The job of guiding the Olympic fortunes of Detroit has been relegated to Fred Matthaei Jr.

For 40 years, Fred Matthaei Sr., tried gamely but unsuccessfully to bring the World Olympics to Detroit, although he earned Detroit the right to represent the United States in the bidders' circle seven straight times.

Saturday, Jan. 15, Matthaei Jr. will lead a six-man Detroit delegation to Chicago with the hope of winning the U. S. nomination for the 8th straight time.

If successful, Detroit will try again to convince the International Olympic Committee to award the 1972 games to the Motor City when the IOC convenes in Rome in April.

Competing with Detroit for the right to represent the United States is Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Los Angeles.

Los Angeles has provided the greatest opposition for Detroit and the west coast people "have attempted to give the impression that Detroit is a dirty industrial town incapable of handling this great event," said Richard Cross, Chairman of the Board of American Motors and a member of the Detroit Olympic Committee.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh appointed a 40-man committee for Detroit, with himself and Governor George Romney asked by the group to serve as honorary chairmen.

★ ★ ★

Matthaei Jr., was picked as head chairman, along with five others of the committee who will make the Chicago trip next week. The American Olympic Committee will hear the cities in alphabetical order.

Each city is given a half-hour to make its presentation, followed by a 10-minute question and answer session. Detroit's bid will be made at 10:00 a. m. after Chicago's.

★ ★ ★

Fred Matthaei Sr., attending the Olympic committee luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club yesterday, said he was optimistic that Detroit would win the U. S. bid for the 8th straight time.

In competition for the 1972 World Games in April, Munich, Madrid, Montreal, Vienna, Belgium and Moscow are considered the challenging cities.

GREAT PRESENTATION

Cross, who was one of the U. S. delegates in the 1963 presentation at Baden-Baden, Germany, said, "Our presentation at that time brought the IOC to its feet. It was the greatest presentation ever made and we were sure we had it won.

★ ★ ★

"Now, the other American cities are claiming Detroit has failed seven times and they should try for the bid. I can't conceive this happening because Detroit now stands uppermost in the minds of the IOC who remember the 1963 presentation," Cross added.

"We lost, not because it was Detroit, but because there was a lot of political bargaining and remember we only lost by a close vote to Mexico City."

Matthaei Jr. scoffed at the attitude that the 1972 would automatically go back to Europe because the games have never been away from Europe for two consecutive Olympic years.

"Until the IOC makes a rule to the effect that the games can't be held in the same continent two straight times, we must stay in contention until we get them," he noted.

"Detroit is the most experienced city in the world in the bidding," he added, "and as long as we take the positive approach and show the world how earnest we are, we've got to say our chances are real good."

In regard to the 1968 games in Mexico City, Cross said, "The Mexicans are a very cordial people and I expect some problems of the altitude, but nothing serious for the athletes I hope.

"One bit of irony," he added, "is that after we lost the bid for '68, Mexico City asked us for our presentation film to show their people how we would have handled the Olympics. It wasn't intended as a needle, but it proved how impressed they were with our presentation and with Detroit."

Red Wings Overpower Boston

Detroiters Hit in Third Period for 5-3 Victory

Winners Score Three Times in Final Frame; Near Second Place

DETROIT (AP) — Three straight days of practice on Detroit ice almost turned the trick for the Boston Bruins.

But in the end, the Red Wings' firepower proved too much and the Bruins fell for the eighth time this season, 5-3, to Detroit in the only National Hockey League game played Thursday night.

Boston, outscored 35-11 in the first seven games with Detroit this season, came to the Motor City Sunday night after losing to Chicago. The Bruins' last two visits ended in 10-2 and 2-0 Detroit victories.

It looked for a while like the Bruins would snap their seven-game losing streak on Detroit ice.

TAKE LEAD

They held the Red Wings without a shot on the net in two power plays and took a 3-2 lead after two periods.

Pit Martin, playing his first game against his former teammates, scored an unassisted goal in the first period and Ron Stewart and Ed Westfall tallied for the Bruins in the second.

★ ★ ★

Ron Murphy scored the first of two goals for the Red Wings in the first period and Floyd Smith notched his 12th of the season and eighth against the Bruins in the second.

Murphy's second goal capped a three-goal third period which saw the Red Wings fire 21 shots at Boston goalie Bernie Parent.

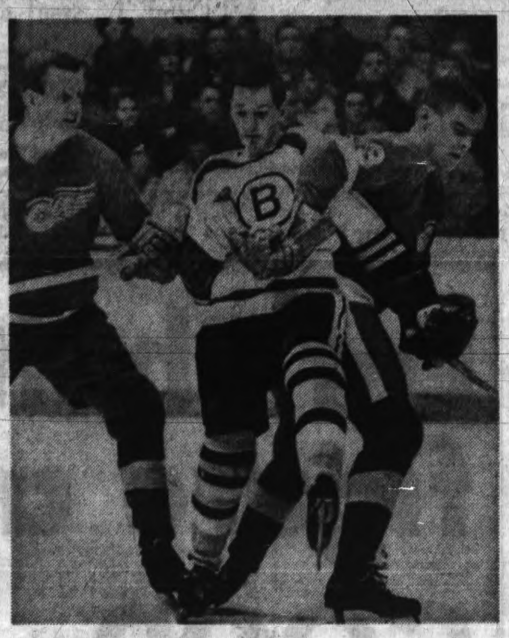

Parker MacDonald, the ex-Bruin, tied things up for Detroit early in the final period and Bruce MacGregor got the winner and assisted on Murphy's insurance tally.

The Red Wings, now two points back of second-place Montreal, played without regular goalie Roger Crozier, who was sidelined with intestinal flu.

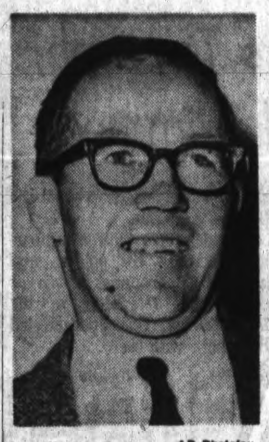

Hank Bassen filled in for Crozier, who had three shutouts in his last four starts, and made 25 saves.

Buffalo Bills' Mentor Finally Becomes 'Boss'

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Joel Collier had been a football coach for nine years, but never the boss.

Collier, 33, defensive coach for the Bills for the last four years, was promoted Thursday by owner Ralph C. Wilson. He succeeds Lou Saban, who resigned Sunday night to become head coach at the University of Maryland.

★ ★ ★

Since 1957, Collier had been Saban's assistant — at Western Illinois University, with the Boston Patriots of the AFL and the Bills.

★ ★ ★

Football coaching always has been his dream, he said after Wilson signed him to a two-year contract.

"I can't remember when I didn't plan on a coaching career. As a child, I devoured everything of a technical football nature I could get my hands on," he said.

CAPTAIN

Collier played sandlot football in his native Rock Island, Ill., was a star on his high school team and an end at Northwestern. He captained the Wildcats in 1953.

He will get his first chance to call the shots Jan. 15 when the Buffalo Bills meet the AFL All-Stars in Houston.

Wilson said that, before he decided on Collier, he and his associates also considered the Bills two offensive coaches, John Mazur and Jerry Smith.

"One of the things that prompted my decision was the job Joe (Collier's nickname) had done for us as defensive coach the last several season.

This is not to minimize offensive football, but I believe that the defensive phase of the game is becoming more important every year in football."

Collier said he would retain Mazur and Smith and hire one or two assistants.

Swimming Classes Set

Dick Cain, recreation supervisor, said open swimming would begin Jan. 17 and would continue for the following seven Monday nights from 6:30 to 9.

Junior and senior life-saving — open to both youths and adults—will begin Jan. 19, with classes held from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays until March 9.

Cost of open swimming nights is 25 cents for youths under 18 and 50 cents for those 18 and over.

A registration fee of $4 for life-saving classes is required in advance of the first class and may be paid at the Recreation Department.

Minimum requirements for those taking junior life-saving is 12 years of age and ability to swim 220 yards and for senior life-saving an age of 16 and ability to swim 440 yards.

Preps Continue League Races

The scramble for positions on league ladders continues tonight as most of the area prep basketball teams return to action.

In the Saginaw Valley Conference, unbeaten Pontiac Central (5-0) will try to remain that way in a home encounter against Midland's Chemics.

PCH and Saginaw are tied for the SVC lead with 3-0 marks, and Saginaw will be entertaining Flint Northern tonight.

Teams in the Inter-Lakes League open conference play tonight with Pontiac Northern (1-4) visiting Walled Lake (1-6) and Waterford (2-3) playing host to Farmington (4-3).

West Bloomfield (4-0) has a date at Brighton and Clarkston entertains Northville (3-0). Milford visits Holly and Clarenceville entertains Bloomfield Hills in other W-O contests.

Should both Northville and West Bloomfield win tonight, Northville could catch up tomorrow with a game against Brighton while the Lakers are idle.

Unbeaten Kettering (4-0) will be looking for its cecond Tri-County League victory in a game at Oxford (2-4), while Romeo (2-2) entertains L'Anse Creuse in another league scrap. Lapeer meets Mt. Morris in a nonconference outing.

★ ★ ★

SEVEN IN ROW

Cousino has turned back seven foes in a row—four in league play—and it's unlikely that any of the other loop squads can catch the Patriots.

★ ★ ★

In O-A action, Cousino entertains Madison (1-3), Clawson (3-1) visits Troy (1-3), Avondale (3-1) is at Fitzgerald (3-1) and Rochester (1-3) plays host to Lake Orion (0-4).

With a victory over Fitzgerald tonight, the Avondale squad would retain at least a share of second and be in a position to move into the slot alone when it journeys to Clawson next Tuesday.

Elsewhere on the Friday slate, Ferndale is at Hazel Park, Royal Oak Kimball visits Birmingham Seaholm, Southfield entertains Berkley, North Farmington visits Birmingham Groves, Utica's at Lakeshore, Lincoln at South Lyon and Ortonville visits Genesee.

'Big Show,' Says Ex-Coach

Shaughnessy Hits Out at High Bonuses

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Clark Shaughnessy, who coached professional as well as college football teams, accused the pro leagues Thursday of distorting the objectives of the game.

"Professional football has become a great big show business," Shaughnessy told the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

"I suppose one wonders when he reads his newspaper if those six-figure salaries are really being paid to college kids. Sure, they may not be as high as they're reported to be, but they're darn close.

★ ★ ★

The pros' talent war has pushed salaries to a point where they are "totally unrealistic," Shaughnessy said.

He added:

"Looking back on a half-century of coaching, I can say boys really don't change very much.

"Football teaches physical courage. I never saw a boy on a football field who wasn't courageous. Granted, I've seen some who lacked confidence, but courage? No."

VOTE TODAY

A vote is to be taken today on a proposal before the association to increase playing time in high school football.

The National Alliance Football Committee plans to vote on a recommendation that the clock be stopped anytime after the ball is dead, there is a change of team possession or a referee declares a first down.

Leads Portside Golfers

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Defending champion Al Odom of Galveston, Tex., took a four-stroke lead into the third round of the National Left-handed Golf Tournament today.

He shot a par-72 Thursday on the 6,702-yard Diplomat Hotel course for a halfway total of 141.

Central Matmen Triumph

Pontiac Central rolled to an easy 37-11 wrestling victory over Saginaw last night to run its season record to 3-2 and Saginaw Valley Conference mark to 1-1.

★ ★ ★

In other matches, Pontiac Northern whipped Port Huron Northern, 41-5, Royal Oak Dondero downed Kettering, 30-15, and Walled Lake rolled to its fifth straight win this season with a 33-12 win over previously unbeaten Roseville.

The victory was also the 10th straight for walled Lake, and coach Rick Schneider, a streak that stretches back into last season. Another bright spot for Walled Lake was the performance of the junior varsity, which recorded 11 pins in downing Roseville, 58-0.

Five-on-One Offense

Cager Calls Off Game

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (UPI)—There was only 2:57 left but Marshall Davis asked the official to call off the rest of the basketball game. He could not keep up with Southern Baptist's five-on-one offense.

Davis was Little Rock University's only player on the court. Coach Cleve Bansum had brought only eight men to the game, all he had.

Four of them fouled out with several minutes remaining, leaving four to play. Then there were three, then two and finally just Davis.

Royals, 76ers Triumph; Celtics' Lead Trimmed

By The Associated Press

None of the teams represented the cities where the games were played, and the results most likely caused some uneasiness in Boston.

This riddle is the result of Wednesday night's edition of the National Basketball Association's roadshow.

The Cincinnati Royals defeated the Detroit Pistons 109-97 at Toledo, Ohio, and the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Baltimore Bullets 133-127 at Syracuse, N.Y., in the league's only games.

The victories boosted the Royals to within one-half game and the 76ers to within 1½ games of the Eastern Division-leading Boston Celtics.

Happy Hairston scored 13 points and Oscar Robertson 11 as the Royals outscored the Pistons 36-23 in the last quarter.

OSCAR TOPS

Baltimore fought back after trailing 81-53 at halftime but couldn't quite make it. Poor foul shooting—only 29 of 55—cost the Bullets the game.

Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain netted 41 points and grabbed 28 rebounds. Hal Greer contributed 37 points to the 76ers' cause. Gus Johnson led Baltimore with 25.

U-M, Gophers Big 10 Choices

CHICAGO (AP)—What appears to be a wide open chase for the Big Ten basketball title starts in full force Saturday with Iowa, defending champion Michigan and Minnesota given the inside track for the honors.

With Cazzie Russell averaging 28.2 points a game, Michigan cannot be discounted, although its record in the warmup campaign is 6-4.

★ ★ ★

Iowa emerged as the only conference team ranked in the Associated Press poll, holding the No. 7 spot with an 8-1 mark. The Hawkeyes' only loss was to Texas Western in the Sun Bowl Tourney and they have three players averaging better than 16 points.

BIG THREAT

Minnesoat, with Archie Clark averaging 24.1, still is a big threat, although Lou Hudson is out with a broken wrist that may sideline him in the early stages of the championship drive.

Top scorer in the early campaigning was Purdue's Dave Schellhase with a 33.0 average as the Boilermakers posted a 4-6 showing. Russell was next, followed by Don Freeman of Illinois with 27.7.

In nine holiday tournaments, luring every conference team except Ohio State, only Northwestern came out a winner. The Wildcats captured the Memphis State Classic with victories over Missouri and Texas and may be the darkhorse of the Big Ten race. Also considered an outside bet is MSU under new coach John Benington.

In all, the Big Ten wound up non conference competition with a mediocre 53-42 record against outside oppostition.

Jumping the gun on the title drive was Illinois and Wisconsin. Through a scheduling quirk they met each other at Madison, Wis., Dec. 14, with the Illini taking a 90-70 victory.

Saturday's full drive will start with afternoon games sending Illinois 4-6 to Indiana 4-5, Purdue 4-6 to Northwestern 5-5 for a television attraction, Michigan 6-4 to Ohio State 5-4 and Iowa 8-1 to Wisconsin 4-6. Minnesota 7-3 is at Michigan State 7-3 in the only night engagement.

The revitalized Spartans have a 5-3 record going against Minnesota at East Lansing Saturday night. State actually is 7-3, but two victories against service teams can't be counted.

Former coach Forddy Anderson was fired after MSU won only one of 14 Big Ten games last year. The Spartans were 5-18 over-all.

"We still haven't equalled that record of one Big Ten win," said John Benington, the new Spartan coach. "But I'm very pleased with this team so far."

Six of the 10 preconference games were away from home, so Benington is happy to be back to the familiar court and friendly crowd at Jenison Fieldhouse.

Angry at what many termed a poor ride by Chilean jockey Eduardo Jara on Sembrada, the fans invaded the paddock and burned the official timer's shack.

Then they burst into the jockeys dressing rooms, tore the shirts off the backs of the riders and started bonfires with the shirts in the paddock area.

By JERE CRAIG

More than 670 ladies are on J. B. McDermid's mind at the moment and he has a month and a half to carry the "burden."

McDermid is the general chairman this year for the Elks Lodge 810's ninth annual Elks Ladies' National Invitational Tournament that begins here tomorrow.

At the conclusion of the weekend competition Feb. 20, 135 five-women teams will have bowled. Many of these will come from Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. A good proportion will be returnees from past Elks' tournaments.

Of course, Michigan — Pontiac in particular — supplies the majority of the teams. Last winter, Ogg Cleaners became the fourth consecutive local squad to win the team title.

The administration of the tournament, the hospitality of the local Elks lodge and the friendliness of the local bowlers and and tournament workers repeatedly brings complimentary expressions from the visitors.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow's luncheon and opening ceremonies will include the presence of Mayor William Taylor, local lodge Exalted Ruler Frank Barnard and state Elks Ladies Bowling president Gladys Scholes.

The fact this annual local tournament has developed as much support and prestige despite not offering big individual prizes bears a lesson for those in bowling.

At this time of year — when tournaments begin to appear almost daily — those offering clean, efficient service and good fellowship are the ones best remembered.

Big, high-paying tournaments have their strong points; but so do the little ones that make it easy for the bowler to relax.

★ ★ ★

The Elks Ladies National Invitational deserves a pat on the back for its fine past efforts, and best wishes for the upcoming competition.

SPARE PINS

The local bowling proprietors certainly should look further into the multi-purpose civic arena advocated for downtown Pontiac in Wednesday's Press by Sports Editor Bruno L. Kearns.

Not only would such a facility offer an excellent location for an annual bowling industry show but it also would be an ideal spot to develop a local sports Hall of Fame.

The ten-pin game has provided some of the area's brightest sports moments in recent years, but little has been done to perpetuate those accomplishments.

Bill Stillwell was six pins shy of a 700 series Tuesday in the 300 Bowl House League but his 267—694 combination easily made him top man for the night.

Jerry Mazza had a 245 for the league's next best effort.

Monday night at West Side Lanes, the Classic League was paced by secretary Fran Bertram who hit 214-253—659 for both top game and series honors.

There were 656s by Nick Coates (252-225) and Ricketts (213-240). Lloyd Pearsall recorded a 242-225—651.

Bertram helped Huron Bowl team to an eight-point sweep which enabled it to tie North Hill Lanes' team for first place as the first half of the season ended. Slater's also won eight, avoiding a basement finish by one point.

Yanks' Maris Inks '66 Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris, hoping to bounce back from a nightmarish 1965 season, is the first New York Yankee player to come to terms for 1966.

Maris, who played only 46 games because of injuries and batted a mere .239 last season, got a vote of confidence from Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk with no cut in his estimated $70,000 salary.

Lions' LeBeau, Browns' Brown Share Golf Lead

LeBeau and Brown shot 77s over the par-72 Hollywood Beach Hotel course but their handicaps gave them 70s — a one-shot lead over two-time champion King Hill of the Philadelphia Eagles, who fired a gross and net 71.

Four tied for third spot with net 72s — George Mira of the San Francisco 49ers, Bobby Joe Green of the Chicago Bears, Dick Lane of the Detroit Lions and Joe Marconi of the Chicago Bears.

The tournament ends Friday.

GRSBM has a 5-0 record, leads Grand Rapids' Grace Bible by one game and Michigan Christian's Warriors by 1½.

Midwestern will resume play tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Mumford HS gym against winless Detroit Bible College. The Falcons currently are 1-3, one game behind fourth-place Grand Rapids Baptist.

U.S. Rowers to Get Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — A move is under way to improve the United States' fortunes in international competition such as the Olympics, the European championships and the Royal Henley Regatta.

The creation of the National Rowing Foundation aimed at promoting rowing interest in this country was announced Wednesday by Don Spero of New York, a Diamond Sculls winner at Henley, England.

An endowment of $500,000 will be sought.

Palmer, Casper Trail in Los Angeles Golf

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Casper Jr. and Arnold Palmer found themselves slightly overshadowed by a pair of relatively unknown pro golfers today as the $70,000 Los Angeles Open went into the second round.

Pacing the pack of 143 players at the Ranch Municipal Golf Course were Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., who admittedly has had two terrible years on the PGA tour, and—

Two strokes back were Dave Marry, Gay Brewer and Chuck Courtney. Brewer and Courtney had first rounds of 35-34 and Marr 36-33.

Casper, with 38-32—70, was tied with eight others.

Palmer, who bogeyed three straight holes on the first nine when he missed three putts of four feet and less, was tied at 72 with a small army—not Arnie's—of 14 others.

'Double Return on License Fee'

County Unit Wants More Back From State

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Legislative Committee yesterday endorsed legislation calling for doubling the present 50-cent fee returned to driver's license-issuing bureaus from the state.

★ ★ ★

Committee members went on record as favoring a return of $1 from the total $3 fee after being advised that many license-issuing departments are losing money now.

The recommendation will be referred to the board of supervisors.

In other business yesterday, the legislative committee recommended legislation giving counties power to establish law enforcement commissions to set up countywide training programs.

★ ★ ★

This action was requested by the law enforcement study committee of the board of supervisors which seeks to upgrade law enforcement standards through training.

★ ★ ★

The committee also called for a legislative amendment that would allow mental health boards to contract with institutions, within their budget appropriations, without board of supervisor approval.

Current Books

A CITY DESTROYING ITSELF: AN ANGRY VIEW OF NEW YORK, by Richard J. Whalen (Morrow $3.50): A searing indictment of the worsening conditions with which resident and commuting New Yorkers have to cope and the effect of these conditions on the spirit of the metropolis.

Whalen deals with air pollution, water pollution (the Hudson as of now could not cleanse itself until well into the next century): inadequate sewage treatment; the traffic glut and tax laws that favor speculative building with no sense of obligation to the future or pride in the past.

Whalen believes he speaks for countless New Yorkers who think with him "that the place is worth the bother" to rescue.

SNAKE WATER. By Alan Williams. Harper $4.95.

This is no spy story, but its people are real desperadoes.

In his search for oblivion, he turns up in a small, dictatorially corrupt banana republic in South America — and promptly becomes a renegade, because he takes a drunken poke at a customs officer.

Ben is more or less forced into a fortune-grabbing expedition, which includes a cold-blooded murderer from South Africa, an equally coldblooded female from Britain and a psychopathic German.

★ ★ ★

MORNING AND NOON, A MEMOIR, by Dean Acheson. (Houghton Mifflin $6): A review of 50 years, beginning with Acheson's childhood in Middletown, Conn., in the last decade of the 19th century.

He gives memories of life in Washington in the twenties, his work as law clerk with Justice Brandeis and work on the arbitration claim of the Norwegian government against the United States, which took him to The Hague Peace Palace for the first time.

Then began his political involvements, first on behalf of Al Smith.

He recounts his brief relationship with FDR as Undersecretary of Treasury, his part in the World Economic Conference on currency stabilization, and the British war debt negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The book contains a wealth of informative and enlightening reading.

★ ★ ★

Acheson's descriptions of the people he met and the places he visited are not only interesting but entertaining.

BOLENS HUSKY 600

Never before has so much engineering know-how been poured into a 6-hp tractor. Speed of attachment-change alone puts the HUSKY 'way out in front of its competition. BOLENS engineers call it "the half-minute hitch" . . . and they're being conservative.
Eleven Fast-Switch attachments mean year-round usefulness. Mow with the 32-inch rotary mower shown above. A 22-inch tiller attachment gives you easy, convenient tilling. The 32-inch Sno-Caster makes snow removal a pleasure . . . or you can use the 42-inch grader blade. These and seven other attachments make the HUSKY 600 an all-season worker.

PLUS:
• All gear transmission with 6 speeds forward and 2 reverse • One-pedal clutch-and-brake action • 6-position attachment lift • 6-hp Briggs & Stratton engine

Try out the HUSKY 600 for yourself. See us today.

I-696 Expansion OK'd

LANSING (UPI) — The state highway department said yesterday it has received approval from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to expand I-696 through south Macomb and south Oakland counties.

★ ★ ★

Freeway expansion in the metropolitan Detroit area has been under fire by several communities.

Last week, the highway department's 18.6 mile route connecting I-94 in Macomb County and Northwestern Highway in Oakland County received federal approval.

"We received authority to enter appraisal and right-of-way acquisition phases from I-94 to Northwestern Highway, the entire length of the route," said Highway Director Howard Hill.

★ ★ ★

"We further received authority to proceed into construction stages from I-94 west to the interchange with I-75 in Hazel Park," he added.

However, Hill said construction on I-75 west to Northwestern Highway will not be authorized until the state has complied with state laws pertaining to route location.

Southfield, Oak Park and Pleasant Ridge have all voted against the proposed location of the route. Lathrup Village, Madison Heights and Royal Oak have approved the route.

No decision has been made yet by Hazel Park and Huntington Woods.

"We are now in a position to proceed with survey and design of the freeway along the route location the department has proposed with assurance we will receive federal funds for right-of-way acquisition and construction in communities where we have received approval by local council," Hill said.

Romney Names Chief Deputy to Insurance Post

★ ★ ★

Wickstrom, 56, has been with the insurance department for 28 years, "and will adequately fill the immediate void left by Mayerson's departure," Romney said.

"I am taking this step," the governor added, "to give us adequate time to insure the best possible successor is found."

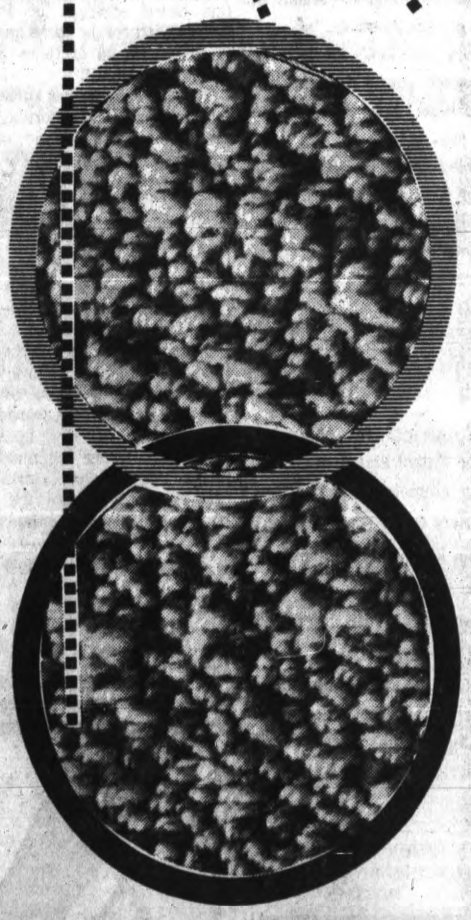

★ ★ ★

Evacuees Returning

California Weather Eases

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) — Residents of the rugged coastal region where Oregon meets California hoped the worst was over today after storms that drove more than 1,000 persons from their homes, blocked highways and stopped trains.

Most people who had evacuated returned to their homes. Railroads cleared their tracks. Roads opened.

A high pressure system from Nevada was expected to keep most of northern California dry through the weekend. Rain was forecast for Saturday south of Crescent City to Eureka, about 250 miles up the coast from San Francisco.

No deaths were directly attributed to the floods. Damage was estimated at about $1 million.

RAIN PREDICTED

Rain was predicted for today in the California-Oregon boundary area. This posed a new danger to coastal towns should the showers combine with high tides and peak river runoffs.

A crest was expected before noon at Reedsport, Ore., at the mouth of the Umpqua River. Should the crest be delayed until 1 p.m., it would combine with a tide of 9.8 feet, one of the highest since last summer.

The 200 families who had evacuated their homes north of Crescent City had returned, the Del Norte County sheriff's office reported. They had fled before the overflowing Smith River.

High tides backed up the Winchuck River Thursday near Brookings, Ore., eight miles north of the California line, and residents said it looked higher than in the disastrous Christmas week of 1964.

RIVERS SUBSIDE

But the Winchuck, Rogue and Chetco rivers in Oregon and the Smith, Eel, Mad and Russian rivers in California all backed down quickly from crests that reached or exceeded flood stages.

U.S. 101 remained closed by a slide near Piercy, Calif., about 160 miles north of San Francisco. Road workers hoped to clear it for one-way traffic today.

Southern Pacific resumed its Cascade passenger train run from San Francisco to Portland for the first time in three days.

Film Studio Founder, 93, More Confident Than Ever

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — He seems, as he pads wispily down a studio street, as if a sudden gust of wind might carry him away.

But when he sits down in his office and talks about the movie business the ancient eyes take on a glow, and the voice speaks forcefully.

THOMAS

This is Adolph Zukor, 93 today and still keeping daily office hours at Paramount Studios, which he founded.

★ ★ ★

The Hungarian-born ex-furrier was one of the major architects of the movie industry. He began with a penny arcade in 1903, later helped create the star system and theater chains and the big-studio operation.

★ ★ ★

Some of the Zukor innovations have faded with changing industry patterns. Studios no longer control assemblages of stars. Film companies divested their theater chains on government orders. The Hollywood studios now are virtually clusters of independent producers.

But Zukor has witnessed many changes in the film world, and he was never more confident.

★ ★ ★

"I think the picture business is in better condition now than it has been for the last five years," he remarked. "TV had its vogue, when the novelty of having entertainment in the home was so enticing that people didn't care what they looked at.

★ ★ ★

"But it has always been true in show business that when you feed the public the same thing over and over again, no matter how good it is, the diet gets stale.

"Now people are willing to pay money to go out and see movies. And, fortunately, the producers are making more good pictures than ever before."

SEES MANY FILMS

Zukor speaks not from hearsay. He sees many films, Paramount's and competitors', and watches a great deal of television as well. Now chairman of the board emeritus of Paramount Pictures, he spends every business day in his New York office from 10 to 4.

For 40 years, he has spent the winter months in California, and he maintains the same office schedule at the studio. He can be seen each day in the Paramount commissary, chatting with longtime associates and newcomers, too.

"I'm just as interested in the picture business as I was 40 years ago," he said.

Zukor said he goes to bed at midnight and rises around 9. "I used to do a little boxing, tennis, golf and baseball, but I gradually gave them all up," he said. "I have only one big meal, at lunch. I haven't had a drink in 30 years. Cigars are the one vice I retain — three a day."

★ ★ ★

Zukor expects to follow his usual office schedule today, then celebrate his birthday with his family. When I wished he'd have many more, he grinned and replied, "I'm willing."

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Actress Carroll Baker came back from an entertainment tour of South Viet Nam with Gen. William C. Westmoreland's four stars, an ashtray from the captain's cabin on the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga, and a combat suit marked "property of U.S. Marines."

CARROLL BAKER

Miss Baker said she took along $25,000 worth of Paris-designed gowns on the Christmas tour with Bob Hope. None of them were brought back, she said.

"I lost a couple," says the blonde star. "One $14,000 gown just disintegrated in the heat, mud and rain. Another from Balmain was mostly feathers. The boys just picked them off—and I couldn't care less."

She figures she kissed 5,000 GIs.

"Maybe Bob had better jokes," she said, "but the boys all seemed to like what I had to offer."

Prince Philip to Visit America in March

Prince Philip plans to visit the United States and Canada in March to promote the charities sponsored by Variety Clubs International.

PHILIP

Philip will join his uncle, Earl Mountbatten of Burma, in New York March 17 for the tour. Mountbatten also is interested in the youth welfare projects.

The queen's husband will combine the tour with an effort to promote U.S.-British trade relations. Among the cities he will visit are Miami, Houston, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York and Toronto.

HEAVENLY PHOTOGRAPH — Time-lapse photography captured the path of satellites Echo I and Echo II as they passed over the historic Minuteman statue in Concord, Mass. The bright track at lower right was made by a passing plane. The short white lines are star tracks left by the 12-minute exposure and indicate the rotation of the earth in that period. '15 Sex Changes Yearly in Files of California'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About 15 Californians change their sex every year on state records.

This intelligence came from E. K. Ball of the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

The switch from male to female, or vice versa, shows up on driver's licenses.

"Do you mean that literally?" demanded Assemblyman Milton Marks as Ball made his disclosure before an investigating legislative committee.

Ball assured him that he did. He said the department changed the sex on a driver's registration only upon a certificate from a reputable physician.

Lash Larue Hunting the Last Roundup

MIAMI (UPI) — Lash Larue, who fought for law and order with a bullwhip in 39 western movies, played a "real life" role of bad guy yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested for vagrancy in a downtown bus station after he walked up to a policeman and said: "I want you to destroy me."

Larue had only 35 cents in the pockets of his rumpled suit and a bus ticket to Tampa, Fla.

"Several people could have retired well on what I made," said the 48-year-old former cowboy hero. "All stolen. I've been systematically relieved of all my assets."

A petite blonde — "She's carney people, we stick together" — bailed Larue out for $50, sparing him a night in jail and more bitterness to add to the life he has led since "Hollywood slammed the door in my face several years ago.

"For years, I played the good guy bringing in the baddies for frontier justice. Now I'm playing the bad 'un," he said.

Larue's last movie was a 1961 feature entitled "Please Don't Touch Me." After that, he joined up with several carnivals, whipping lollipops out of kid's mouths instead of guns out of the hands of black-garbed villains.

"I began to travel. I had to get away from the pygmie attitude of man," he said. "I can't understand man. He has not lived by God's intentions. Man will never defeat God."

★ ★ ★

'COMPLETE WASTE'

"A complete waste. The whip isn't man's greatest asset. I've done everything wrong a man can do.

"I want my self-respect back. I want to walk and talk like a man. It's real hard to play a bad man. You get all hashed up in the dialogue."

Why did Larue ask the bus station policeman to destroy him?

"I've traveled far enough. Now that I know where I'm going, I'm very anxious to go home . . . with my father who is God. I wanted to transfer from the physical to the spiritual."

Mother of Actress Dies

PANORAMA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Margaret Pearl Darnell, 74, mother of actress Linda Darnell, died Wednesday after an illness of more than a year. Mrs. Darnell died unaware that her daughter was killed in a fire last April 9 at a Glenview, Ill., home in which she was staying.

Mart Edges Irregularly Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged irregularly lower on average early this afternoon as profits were taken on the rise to record highs. Trading was active.

It was another abbreviated session, with the market closing at 2 p.m. EST instead of 3:30 p.m. because of the New York City transit strike.

As on Thursday there was an unusual number of large blocks at the start, much of this attributed to reinvestment demand which is to be expected in the first week of January.

BUYING ALMOST RANDOM

Buying appeared almost random, however, as there was nothing in the way of strong leadership. The steels abdicated their pace-setting role of the past few days. The pattern was irregular among most major groups, including autos, nonferrous metals, rails, aerospace, electronics and oils.

Electrical equipments nudged higher. Airlines and drugs were off.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 363.4 with industrials down .8, rails down .3 and utilities up .3.

Prices were mixed in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Gulton Industries rose nearly 2 and Aerojet-General 1. Fractional losses were taken by Walter Kidde, Burma Mines, Clopay and AVC. Conductron fell more than a point.

★ ★ ★

Laurel's Ex-Wife Files Estate Claim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A suit seeking part of the earnings from the estate of the late Stan Laurel has been filed in Superior Court by the comedian's former wife.

Virginia Ruth Laurel of Beverly Hills claimed in her suit Thursday that Laurel agreed to pay her five per cent of his gross earnings in a 1936 divorce settlement.

She claimed the five per cent sum has not been paid in the past four years. Laurel died last Feb. 23. He was 72.

By EARL WILSON

HOTEL AMERICANA, NEW YORK, N.Y. — Mike Quill and I were neighbors before he went to jail, although he didn't invite me nor necessarily want me.

WILSON

Mike's digs were much better than mine, of course. He had the 50th floor corner suite which normally rents for $105 a day. Eddie Fisher, Peggy Lee, and Honor Blackman, the "Goldfinger" girl, have at various times slept where his kingly head has been lying.

As one of the greatest actors of our time, he must have felt a quiver of power at how he had the Celebrity Set trembling . . . and watching.

His hotel floor's the highest in town . . . "About as far away from the subway as you can get," several have remarked.

And the tales would drift to him through the hotel where I now still dwell as a sort of war correspondent.

Danny Stradella — "Diamond Danny" of Danny's Hideaway, who takes 50 people to Copacabana openings — was personally washing dishes the other night, for his dishwashers are members of the Subway Set who couldn't get to work.

Mike made his bed, but he might not have been able to lie in it if several executives and secretaries, including "Skip" Hartman, personnel director of the Loew's Hotels, hadn't helped make the beds.

"Do you have 'male maids' here?" one guest asked . . . and was pretty impressed that his "maid" was a department head.

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Top model and TV commerciálist Heather Hewitt's being rushed by Producers Cubby Broccoli and Harry Saltzman to test for "Funeral in Berlin," sequel to "The Ipcress File" . . . Bob Milford retired as director of live programming at CBS TV and was immediately rehired as TV consultant — first time in CBS history.

Dying Driver Can't Control Bus; 14 Hurt

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A bus, with its driver dying at the wheel, careened out of control for two blocks yesterday, injuring 14 persons as it struck six vehicles, felled a traffic signal and smashed into a store.

Investigators said the driver, Edmund Iannatta, 50, Havertown, Pa., apparently was stricken with a heart attack and lost control of the Philadelphia Transportation Co. (PTC) bus.

He gave them transfers for another bus and headed for the nearest depot.

★ ★ ★

Nine of the injured were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital. The other five were released after treatment.

HITS VEHICLES

With Iannatta leaning out the window and gasping for air, the bus struck three autos, a school bus and two trucks.

Then it knocked down a fire hydrant, a traffic signal and a utility pole before plowing into a Goodwill Industries store.

Four of those injured were in the store when the bus rumbled through a plate-glass window and halted. Iannatta was dead in his seat, his eyeglasses shattered and his foot twisted around the accelerator.

The other injured were occupants of the vehicles struck by the bus. A woman shoved her two children out of the path of the bus as they walked along a pavement.

The stilt, in proportion to size, has the longest legs of any known bird.

Klan Attorney Won't Change Legal Tactics Despite Contempt of Congress Citations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lawyer for most of the Bogalusa, La., Ku Klux Klan witnesses in a congressional investigation says he doesn't plan to change legal tactics in spite of a move to cite previous Klan witnesses for contempt of Congress.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, announced Thursday that contempt citations would be sought against Robert M. Shelton, Imperial Wizard of the United Klans of America, and six other southeastern seaboard Klan leaders.

Shelton, in Washington, declined comment and said he might hold a news conference today.

The committee said the action against the Klan leaders would be on the grounds that they failed to produce records and documents subpoenaed by the committee. They also refused to answer committee questions, citing constitutional rights, but past legal history indicates this alone is not grounds for contempt.

CLIENTS ADVISED

Michael S. Ingraham, a Baton Rouge, La., attorney representing most of the Bogalusa group, has advised his clients to follow the same tactics, both as regards to refusing to produce subpoenaed documents and refusing to answer questions.

But Ingraham said in an interview last night that he felt his clients are in a different legal position from the Shelton group of Klan leaders.

All but one of his clients appearing so far before the committee were defendants in an injunction action against them in U.S. District Court at New Orleans.

They produced Klan records and turned them over to the court, Ingraham said, and testified freely about Klan activities. The court ordered them to stop violence and intimidation against Negroes and civil rights workers.

Animals tend to eat more when they have company, biologists say. A chicken that has already stuffed itself will start eating again if placed with one that is feeding.

Dominican Regime Survives Threat

Saigon Police Foil Bomb Plot

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Police smashed a Viet Cong plot today to blow up a U.S. billet in downtown Saigon with the biggest plastic bomb ever used in the capital.

Intelligence agents of the national police seized six terrorists two and a half miles north of Saigon as they were bringing a 265-pound plastic bomb in a large water tank into the city.

Two of the terrorists were armed with 45-caliber automatics.

Officials had already warned the capital to expect a new onslaught of terrorism in the next two weeks before the Vietnamese New Year — Tet — on Jan. 21.

Last night they arrested five Vietnamese, aged 16 to 37, in an investigation of two explosions an hour apart at the military entrance to the Saigon airport and across town at a police substation.

U.S. military commanders announced that the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade would continue operations in the marshy Plain of Reeds west of Saigon where the paratroopers have been slogging through mud and water after the Viet Cong for the past week. It is the first big American invasion of the northern fringe of the Mekong Delta, a Communist stronghold.

Although the Viet Cong fell back before the brigade's push, officials said the paratroopers would be kept in the area to de-

Thieves Break Into Store, Bowling Alley

Burglars struck two Waterford Township businesses this morning, escaping with an undetermined amount of money in a safe job at Huron Bowl, 2525 Elizabeth Lake, and taking an assortment of appliances from Keasey Electric, 4620 Dixie.

Police said three masked men forced open the front door of the bowling establishment about 5 a.m. and tied up the lone occupant of the building, Donald Martell, 40, a janitor.

The three forced open a large safe and carried a smaller one from the building. It was estimated the safes contained several thousand dollars.

One of the men pointed a blue steel revolver at him while the other tied him up, Martell said.

AUDIT BOOKS

Owners of the Huron Bowl, Joseph Bonfiglio and Dominic Mazza, told police that an audit would have to be made to determine the exact amount of money taken.

In the break-in at Keasey Electric, an undetermined number of portable television sets, transistor radios and toasters and other items were taken.

Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm of the Waterford Township police department discovered the break-in at 2:26 a.m. while patrolling the area.

Wilhelm said entry was gained by breaking a window in the warehouse behind the store and then forcing a lock to get in the store.

This was a busy morning for Waterford Township Police Sgt. Ramond Wilhelm; a safe burglary; a breakin; and . . . a baby.

Wilhelm stopped a speeding car on Dixie Highway near Silver Lake Road about 4 a.m.

India, Pakistan Progressing in Kashmir Talks

Shastri, Ayub Khan Meet in Secret and With Soviet Premier

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI)—Diplomatic sources said today India and Pakistan had made further progress toward a settlement of their dispute over Kashmir following an hour-long secret talk and further intervention by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistani President Mohammad Ayub Khan greeted each other with a smile and a handshake as they began what spokesmen called "cordial and pleasant" talks in a neutral villa on the suburbs of this central Asian capital.

Then Kosygin met Shastri at a luncheon that lasted almost three hours.

Afterward there were toasts to Indian-Soviet friendship followed by a private Kosygin-Shastri conference that lasted 30 minutes.

Shastri, Kosygin and Ayub Khan then attended the opera together.

PRAYS FOR PEACE

Ayub Khan, a Moslem, went to a mosque in this predominantly Moslem city this afternoon and prayed for peace, a Pakistani spokesman reported.

Afterward there were reports the men were nearing an agreement on an agenda for the summit talks which have not gotten officially under way and on a nonaggression treaty.

The private meeting today was seen as an attempt to seal an agreement on the agenda. This would mean that the conference — called to find some solution to the Kashmir crisis—could finally get down to business.

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS

Today's meeting followed reports that the two countries have made substantial progress at their meetings alone and with Kosygin and may sign a nonaggression pact within the next few days.

Diplomatic sources said that the two leaders are considering an agreement to withdraw their troops from both countries to the line prior to their war last September.

Wants Lull in Bombing Continued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken said today the United States should not resume its bombing raids on North Viet Nam targets unless Hanoi acts to widen the war.

The Vermont Republican made the suggestion amid indications that some administration officials are growing restive about the aerial lull that began on Christmas Eve.

The bombing pause, it was learned, will go on for at least 10 days.

"I would continue it unless there is greatly increased activity on the part of North Viet Nam," Aiken said in a telephone interview from his home n Putney, Vt.

★ ★ ★

There have been significant differences of opinion within the Democratic administration about the extended pause in bombing North Viet Nam.

AIDING NORTH

Some military men believe the lull is giving the Communists the military advantages of easier transport and time to make repairs — or even step up the infiltration of troops into South Viet Nam.

But the administration believes its aerial surveillance would spot any North Vietnamese moves calling for U.S. retaliation from the air.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked yesterday about a New York Times report that Secretary of State Dean Rusk was not wholly in sympathy with President Johnson's peace offensive.

★ ★ ★

"I suggest you go to Secretary Rusk," he replied, then added, "There certainly has been no evidence of that over here."

★ ★ ★

At the State Department, a spokesman for Rusk said the story "is inaccurate and does not represent the situation."

CHANGE ON THE EXCHANGE—Everyone at the crowded New York Stock Exchange was sent home early yesterday as the market was closed at 2 p.m. rather than 3:30 p.m. Trading at the center was shut off early due to the massive transit strike which makes getting home a speculative venture for New Yorkers.

LBJ to Get Wirtz Briefing on Still-Snarled NY Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz returns to Washington today after a joint effort with Mayor John V. Lindsay brought reports of movement in New York's stalled transit crisis negotiations.

Wirtz, who had conferred with Lindsay and the strike mediators into the early morning hours, will brief President Johnson on the strike situation, now approaching the end of its first week.

Lindsay, with only a few hours sleep, returned to City Hall at 7:30 a.m. and renewed his effort to end the walkout of bus and subway workers. The negotiations were described as having reached the intense stage.

City traffic built up early and heavy, but Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes said he did not look for a repeat of yesterday's monumental rain-complicated jam.

★ ★ ★

BETTER PICTURE

Barnes said conditions throughout the city were "a thousand per cent better" than yesterday.

"Today we have orderly confusion," he said. "Yesterday there was disorganized chaos."

One immediate result of the conference between Lindsay and Wirtz — coupled with an appeal from New York's labor leaders — could be the release from custody of Michael J. Quill and other officials of the striking transit unions.

Lindsay hinted that such a move is under consideration by the Transit Authority. The authority had them jailed Tuesday when they refused to end the strike.

TRAFFIC TANGLE

The conference between the two officials followed a daylong, rain-soaked traffic tangle yesterday described as the worst in the city's history. The economic losses and the turmoil created by the strike mounted.

The extent of Wirtz' contribution to a solution was not announced, but the secretary made it plain that he brought no pledge of federal funds from Johnson.

"I want to settle that question with respect to federal money," he said. "As far as I know, there is none."

Lindsay and Wirtz came out of the meeting at 1:15 a.m. today. The mayor reported "some movement" in negotiations to end the walkout of bus and subway workers, now in its seventh day.

Afterwards, the city's three mediators, who had also met with Lindsay and Wirtz, returned to the Americana Hotel to continue negotiations.

Cold Wave Due to Send Mercury Tumbling in Area

A cold wave riding in with occasional snow flurries is due to arrive in the Pontiac area tonight.

Temperatures are expected to tumble to 5 to 12 above during the night and rise to 18 to 24 tomorrow. Sunday will be sunny but cold.

A few snow flurries will dot the skies tomorrow.

Variable morning winds will become north to northeast at 10 to 20 miles late today.

A chilly 28 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury registered 27 at 1 p.m.

Derailed Train Blocks Road

57 Cars Strew Debris on Florida Highway

ROCKLEDGE, Fla. (AP) — Fifty-seven cars of a freight train plunged off Florida East Coast Railway tracks last night, blocking one lane of busy, parallel U.S. Highway 1 with debris.

Boxcars lay four and five deep. Three locomotives also left the rails. The burst cars strewed the highway with cased beer, soda crackers, and other assorted cargo.

A railroad fireman was hospitalized for shock, but no injuries were reported.

Investigators from the FBI, the railroad, Sheriff's Department and State Highway Patrol moved through the roped-off wreck area trying to pinpoint the cause. They said a split rail or broke wheel may have derailed the 90-car Jacksonville-to-Miami train as it rolled southward at 60 miles an hour.

★ ★ ★

U.S. 1's south lane was cleared by dawn by crews that worked by floodlight, but the lane remained closed to traffic while crews removed debris from the roadside. This included several smashed truck-trailers which were catapulted from piggy-back cars.

PASSED LINE

Nearly 20 freight cars laden with 15 new automobiles each were not damaged, railroad crewmen said. The automobiles were located at the rear of the lengthy train.

Officials said it possibly would take "quite a few days" before the debris could be cleared out entirely and the tracks completely repaired.

Santo Domingo Still in State of Confusion

Crisis Is Sparked by Bid to Send Military Men Out of Country

HECTOR GARCIA GODOY

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's provisional government appeared today to have weathered the threat of a new explosion, but the capital was in a state of jittery confusion.

A new crisis reached its climax last night with a proposal by the provisional president, Hector Garcia-Godoy, to send key military figures, including some who had been rebel leaders, out of the country on diplomatic assignments.

The armed forces in this revolution-ridden country moved to block the maneuver, but it remained unclear whether the military had planned to overthrow the provisional government painfully installed through the efforts of the Organization of American States.

Garcia-Godoy stressed his intention to remain in office as long as he has the support of the OAS.

Armed Forces Minister Francis Rivera Caminero, one of those whom the president wanted to send out of the country, denied that the military leaders had rebelled against the government or that the National Palace had been occupied.

He said the guard there merely had been reinforced.

Earlier it appeared the palace and government radio station had been occupied. Troops had sealed off major highways into Santo Domingo.

STILL ON AIR

Rivera Caminero said the government radio, which had been ordered shut down by the president last October, had merely been "taken into custody" for a while. It remained on the air.

The armed forces minister said last night's army actions had been just demonstrations of disagreement, and that the army had acted spontaneously.

Tells Rights Workers to Avoid Draft

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Negro leader, encouraging civil rights workers to seek legal means of avoiding military service, says the fight against racial injustice in the United States is more important than the war in Viet Nam.

"I think we are involved in a war here and it will have more importance and perhaps much more significance in the generations to come than the Viet Nam war," said John R. Lewis, national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Lewis, 25, elaborated on his views in an interview yesterday after issuing a SNCC statement opposing U.S. involvement in Viet Nam and encouraging civil rights workers to seek an alternative to the draft.

There are legal means of avoiding military service, Lewis said. He is a conscientious objector.

"The work that the people in the civil rights movement are doing is in the national interest," he said.

VITAL ROLE

"My feeling is that what they are doing is so vital, so basic to the development — economically, socially and politically — of this country, that they should be exempt."

Lewis, a short, stocky Negro, is titular head of the loosely organized SNCC, composed of about 230 staff members with considerable following on college campuses.

He said the SNCC staff discussed Viet Nam and the draft in an Atlanta meeting last Thanksgiving and drafted a policy statement which was circulated, revised and then completed by a 23-member executive committee.

Study Disclosure

'Go-Getters Top Heart Attack Victims'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The aggressive, ambitious "man on the go" is the fellow to watch for a heart attack, a massive research study disclosed today.

A startling 85 per cent of heart attack victims in the 39-49 age bracket were men with "a certain emotional complex," the study found.

They were the ones who, before their attacks, had been tagged as having "excessive drive, aggressiveness and ambition . . . preoccupation with competitive activity, vocational deadlines and similar pressures."

The first large-scale effort to find out whether emotional makeup can signal danger to the heart was conducted by a team of doctors at Mount Zion Hospital here. The findings were published in the journal of the American Medical Association.

The doctors concluded that whether a man is a hustler or in a fast-paced job has a "profoundly important" bearing on whether or not he is likely to suffer a heart attack.

Back in 1960 the Mount Zion doctors selected 3,524 healthy men aged 39 to 59. Each was carefully examined and tagged for such things as high blood pressure and fat which are sometimes associated with heart disease.

CLASSIFIED

The men were also interviewed and classified according to income, job and emotional makeup. Advertising men, airline pilots, space engineers, newspapermen and others with a highly competitive personality went into "type A." Those relatively free of urgency in their outlook and jobs went into "type B."

Afterwards 70 of the men suffered heart attacks. Fifty-four of these turned out to be from "type A," and 16 in "type B." By age, 85 per cent of the victims 39 to 49 and 72 per cent of those 49 to 59 were among the "go-getters."

Soviet 'Friendship Team' Is Mongolia-Bound

'Situation Dangerous in Tuskegee'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Charles M. Keever said yesterday the slaying of a Negro civil rights worker by a white man had created a "dangerous situation" that may require federal troops in this predominantly Negro town.

★ ★ ★

About 150 students from Tuskegee Institute marched on city hall yesterday and demanded the death penalty for the man charged with first-degree murder in the shooting Monday night. Negroes said another protest march would be held today.

Keever held conferences into late last night with state and federal law enforcement authorities, officials of Tuskegee Institute and civil rights leaders. More meetings were to be held today.

"This is a very dangerous situation," he said. "If these meetings are not successful, we'll have to go elsewhere for help."

★ ★ ★

Keever was asked by a reporter if this meant he would ask for federal troops. "You're a pretty good guesser," the mayor replied.

TENSION GROWS

Observers said racial tension appeared to be building as a result of the slaying of Samuel L. (Sammy) Younge Jr., 21, at Tuskegee's only all-night service station.

Police said Segrest admitted firing two shots at the youth, whom he accused of harassing him. The incident followed an argument over whether Younge could use an employes' rest room instead of the station's desegregated rest rooms for the public.

★ ★ ★

"This definitely is not a civil rights shooting," said Macon County Sheriff J. H. Sadler. "He apparently kept agitating the old man until this happened."

★ ★ ★

This was disputed by Gwendolyn Patton, 22, who led the student march yesterday.

She said Younge's "participation in civil rights was the whole reason for the shooting." Younge was a field worker for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, a militant civil rights organization.

WANTS MONEY, NOT GIFTS—A policeman in Rome, Italy, directs traffic near one of the many piles of gifts received by the city's police yesterday from motorists as a tradition of the gift-giving holiday of the Epiphany. Today the scene had changed as police left their jobs, along with other municipal employes, for 48 hours in a strike for higher wages.

★ ★ ★

Within hours troops moved into the palace and some armed forces informants reported military uprisings in unspecified cities of the interior.

APPEARS CALM

Garcia-Godoy, appearing preoccupied but calm, did not ask help from the inter-American peace force.

For a time it had appeared an uprising was building up against the provisional government.

The armed forces radio at San Isidro base just outside the capital broadcast a statement saying military chiefs rejected the changes in the high command or the proposed transfers abroad.

★ ★ ★

Besides Rivera Caminero, those scheduled for transfer included army and air force chiefs of staff and two leading figures among the rebel constitutionalist forces, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno and Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arache.

Today, the heart of the capital which rebels had seized in the April revolt and held for several months, remained quiet.

The 11,000 man peace force, which included 9,000 Americans, remained in quarters or at normal posts, though they have been on alert for four days.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of the OAS Political Committee conferred with Rivera Caminero and planned to call on Garcia-Godoy later today.

★ ★ ★

The other two members of the political committee, Ambassadors Ilmar Penna Marinho of Brazil and Ramon de Dlairman Duenas of El Salvador were with Bunker during yesterday's conferences.

PUBLIC REACTION

There was no public reaction from the rebel faction which staged the April revolution in an attempt to return ex-President Juan Bosch to office and restore the constitution.

Garcia-Godoy said in an interview early today:

"One does not resign when there's a chance for a solution to prevent tragedy from befalling the country. I will not be turned out by force."

★ ★ ★

Munching a piece of candy while smoking a cigarette, the lawyer-diplomat said:

"I don't know what the army pretends to do. If they don't want to obey my orders, then let them take the government over by force and we'll see what backing they can get."

WIFE, DAUGHTER

The president's wife and 15-year-old daughter were in another room of their comfortable suburban home.

A few presidential aides were on hand. Outside by the driveway, under mango and coconut trees splashed by a brilliant full moon, a handful of lightly armed guards lounged.

The Soviet Union and Red China compete for influence in Mongolia, sandwiched between the two Communist giants. The Kremlin has the upper hand, but there has been Mongolian opposition to Premier Umzhagin Tsedenbal's pro-Soviet policy.

★ ★ ★

Brezhnev and his group are expected to try to strengthen Mongolia's alliance to the Soviet Union, and arrange for further economic aid.

UNDERSTANDING

The Mongolian ambassador in Moscow said in a recent interview that his country and the Soviet Union already had reached an understanding about extending their friendship treaty. The ambassador, Nyamyn Luvsanchultem, said that "documents will be signed reflecting the new, higher level of the development of relations between Mongolia and the Soviet Union."

★ ★ ★

Informed sources disclosed earlier this week that Brezhnev would make the trip as a get-acquainted mission with Communist world leaders and to strengthen the Soviet position in China-dominated Asia.

★ ★ ★

They (the sources) said the trip was likely to inflame the Red Chinese as an encroachment on its Asian sphere.

★ ★ ★

EQUIPMENT FOUND

Since the U.S., Vietnamese, Australian and New Zealand soldiers began the operation near Bao Trai, 35 miles west of Saigon, on New Year's Day, they have turned up nearly three tons of fertilizer, nine tons of rice, about 5,000 documents, nine grenade launchers, five machine guns, ammunition, booby traps, radio equipment and medical supplies, officials reported.

At the expense of light casualties, the allies claimed 243 Viet Cong killed, 52 captured, 624 suspects detained and the capture of 41 individual weapons and 11 crew-size guns.

The explosives seized on Saigon's jungle outskirts exceeded in destructive power the 250-pound bomb used by the Viet Cong to blast the eight-story Metropole Hotel, an enlisted men's billet, on Dec. 4. The attack killed two Americans, a New Zealander and eight Vietnamese, and injured more than 100 others.

★ ★ ★

The blast was part of a wave of grenade-throwings and other terrorism marking the fifth anniversary of the Viet Cong last month.

NEW VIOLENCE

The terrorism continued up to the Christmas truce. The Viet Cong were expected to continue their new violence in the capital until the four-day cease-fire they have proclaimed for the lungar New Year Jan. 21-24, Viet Nam's national holiday.

The equipment will be used in mechanical technology, automotive technology, dental assisting and other college programs.

Go-Getters Main Targets for Heart Ills

Among nine of the heart victims who died, eight were from "type A."

The researchers found, as expected, that blood protein, blood fat and high blood pressure were signs of a tendency to heart trouble.

★ ★ ★

"Above all," they said, "the results clearly indicate that the presence or absence of a particular overt behavior pattern" was a danger sign for the heart.

'TYPE A' MEN

Although the "type A" men in the 39-49 age group were six times as likely to suffer heart disease, the researchers said there did not appear to be any significant difference from the others in height, weight or cigarette smoking.

However, among all 70 who suffered attacks, there was a pattern of more smoking, less exercise, and more earning power.

The two doctors who studied the emotional factor in predicting heart attacks were Dr. Ray H. Rosenman and Dr. Meyer Friedman of the Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center.

Associated in other aspects of the research were Dr. Reuben Straus and Dr. Moses Wurm, of St. Joseph Hospital, Burbank, Calif.; Dr. C. David Jenkins, of the University of North Carolina; and Dr. Harley B. Messinger, of Berkeley, Calif.

Schools Note Shortage of Substitute Teachers

BIRMINGHAM — A substitute teacher shortage has hit the Birmingham School System.

School officials are faced with what they say are critical needs at the secondary level, particularly in industrial arts, physical education, foreign languages, mathematics and all sciences.

But, they note there are needs in all subject areas and and at all levels.

Birmingham's substitute teacher list has not kept pace with the growth of the professional staff.

5 YEARS AGO

Five years ago, there were 150 substitutes for a professional staff of 543. Today there are 200 substitutes for a staff of 844.

Persons with bachelor's degrees and teaching certificates are preferred. However, the personnel department will accept those with at least 60 semester hours of college credit.

★ ★ ★

The Bloomfield Art Association will present a unique exhibition entitled "Stitchery, Lace and Loom," a collection of works by American and European artists.

The "Critic's Choice" show also opening Sunday features selections from the 13th Annual Regional Art Exhibition, sponsored by the University of Michigan Extension Service and College of Architecture and Design.

Gallery hours are 2-5 p.m. daily except Monday. The shows will continue through Feb. 6.

GRAHAM JEAMBEY
He Got Revenge

Vengeful Man Foils Robbery

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Graham Jeambey never forgot that day in 1955 when a gunman robbed him of his last dime. The 44-year-old salesman was 350 miles from home when it happened.

"I swore then that if I ever got a chance to take a crack at a robber, I was going to do it," he said.

He got his chance Wednesday night, when he foiled a robbery attempt with a broken, unloaded revolver.

Since then, he said, he has been deluged with telephone calls. "Some of them said I was an idiot to get involved," he said.

★ ★ ★

Jeambey was shopping in a supermarket when three gunmen walked in an announced a stickup.

BROKEN PISTOL

He slipped out to his car, got a broken, empty 32-caliber automatic pistol, and casually reentered the store.

Then he jammed the empty gun into the ribs of one of the bandits and threatened to shoot.

The other two robbers fled, leaving behind their companion, Dwain Ivor Sholar, 30, a parolee from California's San Quentin Prison.

★ ★ ★

Twice since his arrest, Sholar has attempted to commit suicide. He was held today in a padded cell.

TELLS STORY

Jeambey, who admitted he was "pretty damned scared," told how he foiled the robbery:

"I knew the only way was to walk in casually and to keep the robber unaware of me. I got about six feet away from him — I had the pistol in my coat pocket.

"I leaped the last six feet, pulled the gun out, jammed it against him and said, 'Don't move or I'll shoot and I mean it.'

★ ★ ★

"You should have seen the look on his face — complete disbelief. He was carrying a large bag of money and started to reach for his gun in his side pocket, so I stuck my leg behind him and flipped him to the ground."

Won't Switch Poverty Unit

Plan for 'Community Action' Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson reportedly has decided against shifting the community action part of his antipoverty program to the new Department of Housing and Urban Development.

But he still has not made up his mind when to appoint a secretary to head the new urban agency.

A high administration source reported Thursday that Johnson had rejected a recommendation to shift the community action program made two weeks ago by his special task force which studied the functions and organization of the department which came into being Nov. 8.

The source said Johnson backed the position of Sargent Shriver, director of the antipoverty program, that this was a bad time to consider such a switch, although it might be feasible later.

NO INDICATION

There was no indication whether Johnson would name a secretary and announce specific decisions relating to the new cabinet-level agency before Monday's opening of the new congressional session.

In the meantime, housing administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, continues to run the department. Officials say privately it is stalled on dead center, and there are morale problems and delays in starting programs.

The new secretary will have to make a case before Congress early in the new session for funds to begin the new rent supplement program. Congress decided to delay funding it last October as confusion over the program's administration arose after Weaver was questioned about it by a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

Mayor's Report Shows City Gains in 1965

TAYLOR

Particularly is this so in the areas of basic municipal facilities encompassing local and arterial paving projects, construction of sewer trunks and extension of water mains, continuation of the Clinton River rechanneling and in the adoption of a personnel and wage program for city employes that carries salary benefits of nearly $300,000 for the current year.

A start was also made last year on the City's beautification plan that saw an initial planting of 800 trees and shrubs.

Since municipal growth and planning is a never-ending process, the mayor outlined further improvements now under consideration. These include measures dealing with water pollution, increasing police and fire department manpower, upgrading park maintenance and recreation programs and increasing the hours of library activity.

Despite rising costs in city administration and a tight budget to begin with, Pontiac finished the year in the black, TAYLOR said. Along with good management, he attributed Pontiac's fiscal position to the booming economy that has put additional dollars into the City's coffers.

The steady civil progress reflected by the mayor's report together with the promise of major downtown business developments augur well for the continued expansion of the City and prosperity for its residents.

A Poll Hears Answer to Gals' Phone Woes

We are without doubt the most surveyed, polled, interviewed, analyzed and cross-sectioned population in history.

In one of the latest polls, 5,000 housewives across the Country were asked about their experience with the telephone ringing "when you least want it to."

★ ★ ★

The results, not surprising, in order of precedence were: When in shower or tub; When perched on ladder or chair reaching for the top of a closet or cupboard; When watching an engrossing television program; When up to the elbows in dishwashing; When concentrating on an intricate bridge hand.

Polish Service Stations Dispense Little Service

This has to do with the government-owned service stations of Communist Poland. There are only about 1,000 of them in that nation of 30 million people. Communist papers have described their operations as primitive and often chaotic. Motorists usually find them either jammed or closed.

So, as an experiment, contracts have been let to private individuals to operate some of the establishments.

This seems to be another example of how Communist nations are moving, even though slowly and reluctantly, in the direction of the capitalist principle that the best way to get results is to encourage private enterprise.

Even in Russia, the once-reviled profit motive is being tried out in certain areas of production and distribution in an effort to stimulate the economy. The commissars, faced with the failures of plan after plan, are being forced to swallow some bitter economic pills.

As for Poland's service stations, it will be a long time before they will remotely compare to those that American initiative has created in our own country.

LBJ Guidelines Prove Flexible

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's wage-price guidelines, it is now clear, can be rigid as a steel girder or flexible as a sheet of aluminum.

Conversely, it was Big Steel that found flexibility in the White House blessing of a compromise price increase and the aluminum industry that earlier had to knuckle under to stiff administration pressure.

But the lesson appears to remain the same:

Johnson isn't kidding about enforcing the guidelines in an effort to keep inflation from chipping away the solid gains of the booming economy.

Why did Johnson let the steel industry raise some prices $2.75 per ton, while forcing a rollback in aluminum and copper price hikes just two months ago?

★ ★ ★

RISING PRODUCTIVITY

Productivity is the amount of steel or aluminum or any other commodity produced per man-hour, and the government figures the rate is rising 3.2 per cent a year in the economy as a whole.

Thus, the White House says, industry can raise wages 3.2 per cent a year without boosting prices.

But the guidelines leave room for flexibility in various industries.

The difference in the steel and aluminum cases, the way the government figures it, is this:

Steel recently raised wages 3.2 per cent, while productivity has been rising only 3 per cent. Thus the industry was entitled to the increase which presidential economic adviser Gardner Ackley described as "inconsequential" — about one-tenth of 1 per cent.

A FASTER CLIMB

But in the aluminum industry, despite recent wage increases of 4 per cent, productivity has been climbing at something like 6 per cent a year.

Thus under the guidelines, aluminum could afford to cut prices, provided nonlabor costs didn't eat away the other 2 per cent of productivity increase.

The administration doesn't care how labor and management slice up the pie of increased productivity.

★ ★ ★

"But when a disagreement between management and labor is resolved by passing the bill to the rest of the economy, the bill is paid in depreciated currency to the ultimate advantage of no one," the guidelines state.

★ ★ ★

"Ultimately, it is rising output per man hour which must yield the ingredients of a rising standard of living," the guidelines statement says. "Growth in productivity makes it possible for real wages and real profits to rise side by side."

Tribunal Would Help NY Accord

Putting aside all the emotional outbursts, name-calling and irresponsible actions that have occurred, the question, after all, is whether the demands of 33,000 human beings for better working conditions are being given proper consideration.

★ ★ ★

There are two sides to almost every labor dispute. Unfortunately, the workers' side is too often beclouded by the injudicious action of labor leaders either seeking to perpetuate themselves in office or to indulge in some form of exhibitionism.

SPECIAL TRIBUNAL

The best thing that could happen to solve the problem would be for the union leaders to send the men back to work after receiving assurance from the mayor of New York City that a special tribunal would be set up to examine all the demands and to render a decision based upon equity and fair play.

For certainly transit workers who see other employes of the city government getting better wages in less strenuous jobs feel that they are the victims of discrimination.

Standards could be set up for all city government employes, so that there would be a wider knowledge among the workers themselves as to the basis for compensation.

★ ★ ★

It is acknowledged, for example, that some of the transit workers are being paid less than is being received by other employes in comparable jobs.

ECONOMIC FORCE

But this is not the kind of thing that can be settled by a strike or by a show of economic force or other coercive tactics. When a city government is involved, it represents the people — not only those who live within the borders of the city but those who come daily from outlying areas to do their work.

By setting up a special tribunal to study the whole question of the pay of employes of the City of New York, Mayor Lindsay would be taking a constructive step.

Those who work for a city government are entitled to as much consideration as employes who are outside the government, and in recent years there has been substantial progress made by the federal government itself in improving its wage scales.

★ ★ ★

These have been long neglected. Government employes have not fared as well over the years as have persons in private employment. While some differentials are inevitable, the gap has been too wide in many instances. The transit strike in New York City accentuates this defect in the compensation system for government employes.

PAY TAXES

But when all is said and done, the employers in a city are the citizens of the municipality. They are the ones who must pay the taxes, and there has not been enough information given them as to the importance of setting up adequate wage scales in order to get efficient service.

The lesson that the New York City strike teaches is that very little can be settled by violence or by economic coercion.

But the leaders in the transit union unwittingly have succeeded in drawing attention to the fact that unions would not be necessary if there were a responsible system for fixing the compensation of employes in many of our city governments.

Revival of Invective Art Is Right Note in Strike

NEW YORK — It was a bad day for the Irish of our city, having Mike Quill, considered by so many as the stereotype, fulminating on camera and even going to the pokey on camera.

CONSIDINE

But if one can find a ray of sun in the sorry spectacle, it could be this: The lost cause and all but forgotten art of invective was served well during the day.

Mike proposed that Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller who dropped the boom on him, "can drop dead in his black robes."

Mike reserves an even worse fate for himself, the promise to "rot in jail," before yielding so much as a farthing in his mostly one-man war against the four million New Yorkers who use the subways and buses each day.

★ ★ ★

JUDGED IN RETURN

He who had cried out "Anathema!" to a judge was himself judged in return, much as if he had been conked by a returning boomerang he had heaved at hizzoner. An ambulance carted Mike off to Bellevue.

A radio commentator at Penn Station shoved a microphone at a footsore and irate lady who wanted to get home to Long Island and told her the news about Mike.

★ ★ ★

"So he's sick, hey?" the woman shrilled. "Let him go the rest of the way and I'll send flowers to his grave."

FORGOTTEN HOW

We had sometimes feared in recent years that people had forgotten how to talk as they did the day old Mike went to the cooler.

Most of the speech-making we hear around New York of late has filtered out of the United Nations, where the language is soothing, the manners generally impeccable, the salutations sugary.

But Mike and his partisans and tormentors brought everything back to what was the saloon level normalcy in a heartier day — dynamic dialogue and licensed libel.

Victory Imperative

Nashville Banner

Once committed to war, you either fight to win or you lose.

As demonstrated by the Viet Cong's cynical violation of that Christmas "truce," you cannot put a scintilla of trust in any Communist promise.

And as the nation surely realizes by now in the deepening involvement in Viet Nam, Whiz Kid civilian amateurism is no acceptable substitute for competent advisers at the helm of military decision.

By law the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the principal military advisers to the President, the National Security Council, and the Secretary of Defense. But you might not know that such is the law, or that the JCS even exist, from the regularity with which — by preemption — Secretary McNamara calls the signals; and the Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, intrudes to interpolate policy opinion extraneous to the business at hand.

In large measure that is what has happened in a war of increasing commitment, but which these policy spokesmen have yet to define in terms of VICTORY as the objective. All that Mr. McNamara has said beyond vague year-to-year appraisals is that as of now we no longer are losing it.

The President of the United States is the ultimate determinator of military and diplomatic policy. When the civilian Secretary of Defense presumes to decide questions of weaponry, strategy, or other technicality of combat, he is beyond his depth and legal authorization, and trespassing.

As President, Mr. Johnson is responsible for final decisions — with the advice, on military affairs, of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary McNamara is not a chief of staff, nor is Secretary Rusk.

At some point this side of defeat, or ignominius pullout, the United States is going to have to wage that war to completion. And nothing less than a pulverizing, all-out clobbering blow with the tools we already possess can do that job.

America has the power to pulverize the Viet Cong from the air; to destroy its capacity to prolong this war. We should decimate every route of communications or of troop and logistic transport. That is the pattern of victory, not sparing Hanoi, itself. America has the power at sea to blockade the shipping to those ports, for a noose of strangulation on those supply lines.

Our air power has been nibbling away at what should be a full-scale bombing operation — to cease and desist only when, in desperate realization that this is IT, the enemy sues for peace. In World War II, we and the British BOMBED key German cities almost into extinction; not only in retaliatory raids, but for knockout purposes. The Germans were bombing, too, with lethal assault.

The United States did not hesitate to bomb Japan, because that was the only way to end that war in the Pacific. On what ground is this present Asiatic enemy, now killing Americans, different? It is not enough, Mr. McNamara, that we no longer are losing. America is not satisfied with that — and won't be.

★ ★ ★

Westmoreland and his men — these thousands of American sons sent there to fight and die if need be for an avowed purpose of that national interest — deserve the best their country can give them in the authorization to WIN. They must not become the pawns of a defeatist game. Procrastination at such a juncture, and in such a showdown, is the thief of more than time. It steals lives.

These men are fighting where they were SENT — and to WIN.

How to Save on Taxes—5

Net Amount Received on Rental Income Taxable

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Only the net amount received on rental income is taxable.

In general the expenses deducted from gross rental income consist of: depreciation, repairs, and other expenses.

★ ★ ★

We will assume the home was built in January 1960, at a cost of $35,000 of which $5,000 was the cost of the land and $30,000 the cost of the building. Depreciation is taken only on the building.

RENTAL INCOME

Since the landlord and his family occupied half of the two-family home the expenses attributed to their half are not a factor in the rental income computation.

Assuming a life expectancy of the home of 40 years, a 2½ per cent yearly write-off could be claimed for depreciation.

The annula depreciation in this case then would be ½x2½ per cent x $30,000 or $375.

★ ★ ★

EQUALLY BENEFIT

Such expenses as would equally benefit the owner's section as well as the tenant's quarters (such as exterior painting) are charged off the rental income at 50 per cent. Only the expenses solely attributed to the rental section are charged at 100 per cent.

½ exterior painting	$350.00
Repair plumbing for tenant	32.50
Carpentry work for tenant	18.90
Furnace inspection, filters	12.50
Total	$413.90

★ ★ ★

½ mortgage interest	$375.20
½ real estate taxes	218.00
½ fire insurance	38.00
½ snow removal	17.25
½ landscaping	35.00
½ water charges	37.25
Total	$720.70

Total charges against the rental income would be $1,509.60 ($375 depreciation plus $413.90 repairs plus $720.70 in other expenses).

If the landlord was collecting $150 a month rent and had the home rented for the full year he would have collected $1,800.

But on his income tax return he would only show a net rental income of $290.40 — ($1,800 minus $1,509.60).

The accounting of the $375 claimed in depreciation on the building is also reported.

★ ★ ★

In reporting the cost of the property, we have used a $15,000 figure which represents the investment attributed to the rented section.

We have the straight-line method of depreciation (abbreviated S. L. on the schedule). This allows the identical 2½ per cent write-off annually over the useful life of the property.

Undersea Craft Face Big Role

Admiral Tells of New Vistas Ahead for Man

By Science Service

SAN FRANCISCO — The United States is on the verge of unleashing a heavy barrage of undersea vessels capable of working at great depths and with great maneuverability.

So says Rear Adm. Edward J. Fahy, who will become chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships on Feb. 1, and who is now commander of the San Francisco Naval Bay Shipyard.

Man will soon enter a new world of living and working under the sea, he said, and activity will by no means be confined to the military.

Man will operate fish farms and mines under the sea, for example, and there he will find new problem for which there are no solutions, not even guidelines.

★ ★ ★

New questions will arise about admiralty law and international law, Adm. Fahy observed. There will be great competition for the prizes held by the ocean: nickel, cobalt, copper, manganese, which are being exhausted on land. Diamonds are being mined off the coast of Africa.

IN SUNKEN SHIPS

Then there is the treasure locked in the holds of sunken ships. It has been estimated that one-eighth of all the treasure wrested from the earth now lies on the bottom of the ocean.

"There will soon come a day," he predicts, "when we will run into areas under the ocean that are staked out by other nations. They will be closed to traffic — their boundaries guarded, possibly mined."

There also is the difficulty of private industry protecting its developments on the ocean floor.

★ ★ ★

"Consider an industry engaged in the mining of precious metals — and faced with the threat of piracy, and the problem of how to police and protect its property," the admiral says.

FEDERAL PROBLEM

For instance, should we have an agency to regulate underwater traffic, similar to the way the Civil Aeronautics Board regulates aviation? And should submersibles be licensed?

There are only about 800 to 900 known cases of leprosy in the United States.

'66 Caprice Custom Sedan. This model was the three millionth vehicle built by Chevrolet in 1965—the first time any manufacturer has turned out this number of cars and trucks in a single year.

More people bought Chevrolets than ever bought any other make of car before. A new record—even for Chevrolet.

And as buyers continue to pour into Chevrolet showrooms in '66, they continue to show their preference for Chevrolet products over every other make of car by a wide margin. With good reason—as you'll see from the new '66 styling, engineering and safety features listed at the right.

This growing success year after year just goes to show that there's really only one car people like better than a Chevrolet—and that's another new Chevrolet. Drop into your dealer's and see for yourself.

New Turbo-Jet V8's—most advanced and most talked about V8's going, offered in Chevrolets, Caprices, Chevelle SS 396's and Corvettes.
Eight new safety features, including backup lights, outside rearview mirror and front and rear seat belts, standard on all '66 models Chevrolet builds.
Body by Fisher craftsmanship—plus many added luxuries you can order, such as automatic Comfortron heating and air conditioning and AM-FM Multiplex Stereo radio.

State Aims at Public, Private Detroit Firms

EAST LANSING (AP) — The state will ask 31 governmental and industrial units to make sharp cuts, probably costing more than $200 million, in their disposal of pollutants into the Detroit River.

The move, decided unanimously Thursday by the Water Resources Commission, stems from a series of conferences on pollution in the Detroit River and Lake Erie.

The commission adopted a set of recommended limits on waste disposal and dates for completion of improved waste treatment facilities by the affected units, including the City of Detroit.

It instructed its staff members to confer with the units involved in efforts to obtain voluntary agreements before the March commission meeting.

NO AGREEMENT?

If the units do not agree to the recommended restrictions, the commission would start its customary procedure of notices and hearings, possibly leading to pollution abatement orders.

The recommended restrictions would give Detroit until Nov. 1, 1970, to complete facilities that would cut its disposal of oxygen-consuming pollutants from about 600,000 pounds a day to 206,000.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Purdy, the commission's chief engineer, said recommendations by the U. S. Public Health Service would have cost Detroit about $129-million and the affected industries $100 million.

The commission's recommendations, he added, are not exactly parallel, but the cost would be about the same.

INTERFERENCE

Loring Oeming, commission executive secretary, said pollution in the Detroit River now interferes with recreation, fish and aquatic life and with water supplies.

Purdy said if the recommendations are followed, "some of the improvements will be dramatic—visible to the eye—and others will be slower."

Governmental units listed in the commission's plan to seek voluntary cutbacks were Detroit, Wayne County, Riverview, Trenton, Grosse Ile Township, Monroe, Luna Pier, Crystal Beach, Berlin Township, Frenchtown Township and Monroe Township.

Industries were Great Lakes Steel Corp., Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge and Trenton plants, American Cement Corp., Darling and Co., Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., Pennsalt Chemicals Corp., McLouth Steel Corp.'s Trenton plant, Revere Copper and Brass Inc., Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and Mobil Oil Co.

Mensanto Chemicals Corp.'s Trenton resins plant and inorganic chemicals division, Allied Chemical Corp.'s Solvay process and Semet Solvay divisions, Scott Paper Co., E. I. duPont De Nemous and Co.'s industrial and biochemical division, Time Container Corp.'s Monroe paper products division, Consolidated Packaging Corp. and Union Bag-Camp Corp.

New Laboratories to Study All Facets of Education

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

National laboratories for the study of education are being organized to provide research services not only to local schools but to state educational agencies, colleges, universities, departments of education and private industry.

NEWSOM

All of these agencies are being asked by the U.S. Office of Education to cooperate in the planning, establishment and operation of the laboratories. For their development, $100 million in federal funds will be allocated over a five-year period.

In the past, not all segments of the educative process have come under the eye of the researchers. For example, the teaching - learning processes at college level have generally been neglected. With education research centered primarily around schools of education, it was difficult for that division of the college to carry on an investigation of the work done in other divisions.

The new educational laboratories will be responsible for bringing innovations and improvements at all levels of education, including the schools of education themselves.

★ ★ ★

The closest thing to these laboratories now in existence are the research and development centers at Harvard, and the Universities of Pittsburgh, Wisconsin, Texas, Stanford, Oregon and Georgia. None of these, however, covers the wide scope of activities or requires the broad cooperation called for by the proposed laboratories.

MAJOR CENTER

In still another new approach, the U.S. Office of Education has made a $3.5 million grant to Stanford University to establish a major center for research in and development of teaching. This agency will endeavor to create and validate a theory of teaching. It is hoped this agency can throw light on the relationships between various patterns of teaching approach and the resultant student learning.

Similar heroic efforts have been effective in other fields. The Atomic Energy Commission national laboratories have made important developments primarily on their single purpose because they could attract scholars of the highest calibre.

We already have centers concerned with public health such as the one I recently visited in Houston, Tex. Here, within a cluster of hospitals and research laboratories, is a concentration of experts in the field of medicine unparalleled in the past.

It is hoped that the same status will be attained by the new educational laboratories.

Waterford School Board Buys Land

Purchase of a 3.1-acre addition to Williams Lake Elementary School, 2525 Airport, for $9,504 was authorized last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

The parcel of land, which includes 230 feet of frontage on Airport, is designed for recreational use.

Subsequently, the school system is eligible for 50 per cent federal assistance under terms of the open space land grant act.

PLANNING SUBCOMMITTEE

The recommendation was made by the high school planning subcommittee of the citizens' advisory committee.

Kettering's field is not presently equipped with lights and some of its home football games are played on its rival's field.

Advocates of the proposal argue that a home field is a vital element in the development of school spirit from the standpoint of spectators, players and coaches.

★ ★ ★

Board members previously favored an individual field for both high schools. No site was designated.

BOTH SCHOOLS

They contend that Waterford Township Field belongs to both high schools.

The board will consider the recommendation at its Jan. 20 meeting.

Also last night, the board authorized the administration to create an elementary school planning committee.

The committee will review educational specifications for new elementary schools and work with the architect to consider his design.

ELECTRICIAN-PLUMBER

The administration also was given the authority to hire a third electrician-plumber until a head electrician-plumber is recruited to replace Floyd Wilcox who retired.

The board discussed hiring a second architect and an attorney to negotiate legal contracts with school employes. Interviews will be arranged.

The architect is deemed necessary because of the school system's stepped-up construction program.

★ ★ ★

The need for an attorney stems from recent board action which officially recognized three school employe groups as sole bargaining agents.

RECENT LAW

It was in compliance with a recent Michigan law which allows for collective bargaining for public employes.

Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe presented the first of a two-part curriculum report on developing a significant school system. He outlined improvements which have been made and pointed out needs of the school system.

★ ★ ★

Also last night, the board okayed second-semester teaching contracts for seven instructors.

OKs Joining U.S.-Funded Book Project

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night agreed to participate in a federally financed program which will provide its schools with books and other instructional materials.

Funds for the program are made available under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. of 1965.

Waterford Township Schools will make their purchases from recommended lists provided by the state librarian.

PREFERS FREE HAND

Although he favors the program, Tatroe thinks local school districts should have a "freer hand" in selecting the books and that ownership of the materials should rest with local systems instead of intermediate districts.

Under the present setup, books are to be loaned to local districts by the county.

U. S. Bid to Be Made January 15 in Chicago

Fred Matthaei Jr., Chosen Heir to Father's 'Olympic Fortunes'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The heir to guide the Olympic fortunes of Detroit has been relegated to Fred Matthaei Jr.

For 40 years, Fred Matthaei Sr., tried gamely but unsuccessfully to bring the World Olympics to Detroit, although he earned Detroit the right to represent the United States in the bidders' circle seven straight times.

Saturday, Jan. 15, Matthaei Jr. will lead a six-man Detroit delegation to Chicago with the hope of winning the U. S. nomination for the 8th straight time.

If successful, Detroit will try again to convince the International Olympic Committee to award the 1972 games to the Motor City when the IOC convenes in Rome in April.

Competing with Detroit for the right to represent the United States is Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Los Angeles.

Los Angeles has provided the greatest opposition for Detroit and the west coast people "Have attempted to give the impression that Detroit is a dirty industrial town incapable of handling this great event," said Richard Cross, Chairman of the Board of American Motors and a member of the Detroit Olympic Committee.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh appointed a 40-man committee for Detroit, with himself and Governor George Romney asked by the group to serve as honorary chairmen.

★ ★ ★

Matthaei Jr., was picked as head chairman, along with five others of the committee who will make the Chicago trip next week. The American Olympic Committee will hear the cities in alphabetical order.

Each city is given a half-hour to make its presentation, followed by a 10-minute question and answer session. Detroit's bid will be made at 10:00 a. m. after Chicago's.

★ ★ ★

Fred Matthaei Sr., attending the Olympic committee luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club yesterday, said he was optimistic that Detroit would win the U. S. bid for the 8th straight time.

In competition for the 1972 World Games in April, Munich, Madrid, Montreal, Vienna, Belgium and Moscow are considered the challenging cities.

GREAT PRESENTATION

Cross, who was one of the U. S. delegates in the 1963 presentation at Baden-Baden, Germany, said, "Our presentation at that time brought the IOC to its feet. It was the greatest presentation ever made and we were sure we had it won.

★ ★ ★

"Now, the other American cities are claiming Detroit has failed seven times and they should try for the bid. I can't conceive this happening because Detroit now stands uppermost in the minds of the IOC who remember the 1963 presentation," Cross added.

"We lost, not because it was Detroit, but because there was a lot of political bargaining and remember we only lost by a close vote to Mexico City."

Matthaei Jr. scoffed at the attitude that the 1972 would automatically go back to Europe because the games have never been away from Europe for two consecutive Olympic years.

"Until the IOC makes a rule to the effect that the games can't be held in the same continent two straight times, we must stay in contention until we get them," he noted.

"Detroit is the most experienced city in the world in the bidding," he added, "and as long as we take the positive approach and show the world how earnest we are, we've got to say our chances are real good."

In regard to the 1968 games in Mexico City, Cross said, "The Mexicans are a very cordial people and I expect some problems of the altitude, but nothing serious for the athletes I hope.

"One bit of irony," he added, "is that after we lost the bid for '68, Mexico City asked us for our presentation film to show their people how we would have handled the Olympics. It wasn't intended as a needle, but it proved how impressed they were with our presentation and with Detroit."

Red Wings Overpower Boston

Detroiters Hit in Third Period for 5-3 Victory

Winners Score Three Times in Final Frame; Near Second Place

DETROIT (AP) — Three straight days of practice on Detroit ice almost turned the trick for the Boston Bruins.

But in the end, the Red Wings' firepower proved too much and the Bruins fell for the eighth time this season, 5-3, to Detroit in the only National Hockey League game played Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

Boston, outscored 35-11 in the first seven games with Detroit this season, came to the Motor City Sunday night after losing to Chicago. The Bruins' last two visits ended in 10-2 and 2-0 Detroit victories.

It looked for a while like the Bruins would snap their seven-game losing streak on Detroit ice.

TAKE LEAD

They held the Red Wings without a shot on the net in two power plays and took a 3-2 lead after two periods.

Pit Martin, playing his first game against his former teammates, scored an unassisted goal in the first period and Ron Stewart and Ed Westfall tallied for the Bruins in the second.

★ ★ ★

Ron Murphy scored the first of two goals for the Red Wings in the first period and Floyd Smith notched his 12th of the season and eighth against the Bruins in the second.

Murphy's second goal capped a three-goal third period which saw the Red Wings fire 21 shots at Boston goalie Bernie Parent.

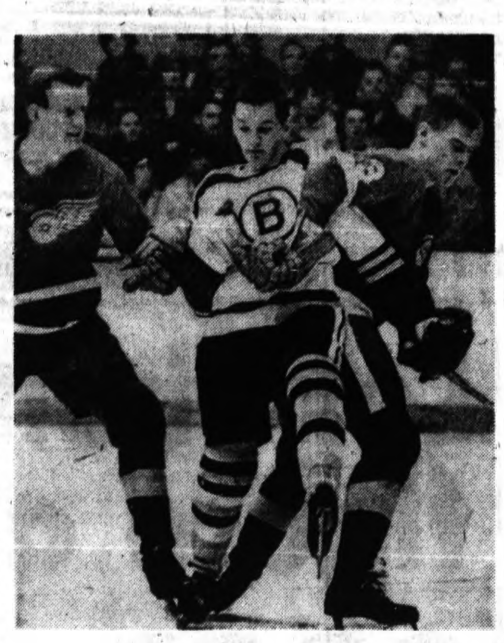

Parker MacDonald, the ex-Bruin, tied things up for Detroit early in the final period and Bruce MacGregor got the winner and assisted on Murphy's insurance tally.

★ ★ ★

The Red Wings, now two points back of second-place Montreal, played without regular goalie Roger Crozier, who was sidelined with intestinal flu.

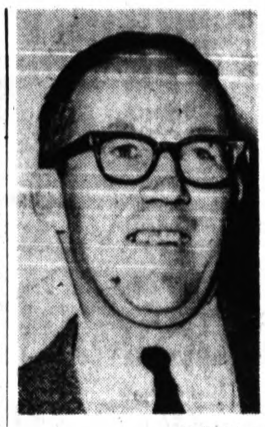

Hank Bassen filled in for Crozier, who had three shutouts in his last four starts, and made 25 saves.

Buffalo Bills' Mentor Finally Becomes 'Boss'

By MARVIN R. PIKE

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Joel Collier had been a football coach for nine years, but never the boss.

Collier, 33, defensive coach for the Bills for the last four years, was promoted Thursday by owner Ralph C. Wilson. He succeeds Lou Saban, who resigned Sunday night to become head coach at the University of Maryland.

Since 1957, Collier had been Saban's assistant — at Western Illinois University, with the Boston Patriots of the AFL and the Bills.

★ ★ ★

Football coaching always has been his dream, he said after Wilson signed him to a two-year contract.

"I can't remember when I didn't plan on a coaching career. As a child, I devoured everything of a technical football nature I could get my hands on," he said.

CAPTAIN

Collier played sandlot football in his native Rock Island, Ill., was a star on his high school team and an end at Northwestern. He captained the Wildcats in 1953.

He will get his first chance to call the shots Jan. 15 when the Buffalo Bills meet the AFL All-Stars in Houston.

Wilson said that, before he decided on Collier, he and his associates also considered the Bills two offensive coaches, John Mazur and Jerry Smith.

"One of the things that prompted my decision was the job Joe (Collier's nickname) had done for us as defensive coach the last several season.

This is not to minimize offensive football, but I believe that the defensive phase of the game is becoming more important every year in football."

Collier said he would retain Mazur and Smith and hire one or two assistants.

Swimming Classes Set

Dick Cain, recreation supervisor, said open swimming would begin Jan. 17 and would continue for the following seven Monday nights from 6:30 to 9.

Junior and senior life-saving — open to both youths and adults—will begin Jan. 19, with classes held from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays until March 9.

Cost of open swimming nights is 25 cents for youths under 18 and 50 cents for those 18 and over.

A registration fee of $4 for life-saving classes is required in advance of the first class and may be paid at the Recreation Department.

Minimum requirements for those taking junior life-saving is 12 years of age and ability to swim 220 yards and for senior life-saving an age of 16 and ability to swim 440 yards.

Preps Continue League Races

The scramble for positions on league ladders continues tonight as most of the area prep basketball teams return to action.

In the Saginaw Valley Conference, unbeaten Pontiac Central (5-0) will try to remain that way in a home encounter against Midland's Chemics.

PCH and Saginaw are tied for the SVC lead with 3-0 marks, and Saginaw will be enrtertaining Flint Northern tonight.

Teams in the Inter-Lakes League open conference play tonight with Pontiac Northern (1-4) visiting Walled Lake (1-6) and Waterford (2-3) playing host to Farmington (4-3).

In the Wayne-Oakland League, West Bloomfield's Lakers and Northvile will continue their battle for the top spot.

West Bloomfield (4-0) has a date at Brighton and Clarkston entertains Northville (3-0). Milford visits Holly and Clarenceville entertains Bloomfield Hills in other W-O contests.

Should both Northville and West Bloomfield win tonight, Northville could catch up tomorrow with a game against Brighton while the Lakers are idle.

Unbeaten Kettering (4-0) will be looking for its second Tri-County League victory in a game at Oxford (2-4), while Romeo (2-2) entertains L'Anse Creuse in another league scrap. Lapeer meets Mt. Morris in a nonconference outing.

★ ★ ★

SEVEN IN ROW

Cousino has turned back seven foes in a row—four in league play—and it's unlikely that any of the other loop squads can catch the Patriots.

★ ★ ★

In O-A action, Cousino entertains Madison (1-3), Clawson (3-1) visits Troy (1-3), Avondale (3-1) is at Fitzgerald (3-1) and Rochester (1-3) plays host to Lake Orion (0-4).

With a victory over Fitzgerald tonight, the Avondale squad would retain at least a share of second and be in a position to move into the slot alone when it journeys to Clawson next Tuesday.

Elsewhere on the Friday slate, Ferndale is at Hazel Park, Royal Oak Kimball visits Birmingham Seaholm, Southfield entertains Berkley, North Farmington visits Birmingham Groves, Utica's at Lakeshore, Lincoln at South Lyon and Ortonville visits Genesee.

'Big Show,' Says Ex-Coach

Shaughnessy Hits Out at High Bonuses

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Clark Shaughnessy, who coached professional as well as college football teams, accused the pro leagues Thursday of distorting the objectives of the game.

"Professional football has become a great big show business," Shaughnessy told the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

"I suppose one wonders when he reads his newspaper if those six-figure salaries are really being paid to college kids. Sure, they may not be as high as they're reported to be, but they're darn close.

★ ★ ★

The pros' talent war has pushed salaries to a point where they are "totally unrealistic," Shaughnessy said.

He added:

"Looking back on a half-century of coaching, I can say boys really don't chance very much.

"Foortball teaches physical courage. I never saw a boy on a football field who wasn't courageous. Granted, I've seen some who lacked confidence, but courage? No."

VOTE TODAY

A vote is to be taken today on a proposal before the association to increase playing time in high school football.

The National Alliance Football Committee plans to vote on a recommendation that the clock be stopped anytime after the ball is dead, there is a change of team possession or a referee declares a first down.

Leads Portside Golfers

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Defending champion Al Odom of Galveston, Tex., took a four-stroke lead into the third round of the National Left-handed Golf Tournament today.

He shot a par-72 Thursday on the 6,702-yard Diplomat Hotel course for a halfway total of 141.

Central Matmen Triumph

Pontiac Central rolled to an easy 37-11 wrestling victory over Saginaw last night to run its season record to 3-2 and Saginaw Valley Conference mark to 1-1.

★ ★ ★

In other matches, Pontiac Northern whipped Port Huron Northern, 41-5, Royal Oak Dondero downed Kettering, 30-15, and Walled Lake rolled to its fifth straight win this season with a 33-12 win over previously unbeaten Roseville.

The victory was also the 10th straight for walled Lake, and coach Rick Schneider, a streak that stretches back into last season. Another bright spot for Walled Lake was the performance of the junior varsity, which recorded 11 pins in downing Roseville, 58-0.

I-696 Expansion OK'd

LANSING (UPI) — The state highway department said yesterday it has received approval from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to expand I-696 through south Macomb and south Oakland counties.

★ ★ ★

Freeway expansion in the metropolitan Detroit area has been under fire by several communities.

Last week, the highway department's 18.6 mile route connecting I-94 in Macomb County and Northwestern Highway in Oakland County received federal approval.

"We received authority to enter appraisal and right-of-way acquisition phases from I-94 to Northwestern Highway, the entire length of the route," said Highway Director Howard Hill.

"We further received authority to proceed into construction stages from I-94 west to the interchange with I-75 in Hazel Park," he added.

However, Hill said construction on I-75 west to Northwestern Highway will not be authorized until the state has complied with state laws pertaining to route location.

Southfield, Oak Park and Pleasant Ridge have all voted against the proposed location of the route. Lathrup Village, Madison Heights and Royal Oak have approved the route.

No decision has been made yet by Hazel Park and Huntington Woods.

"We are now in a position to proceed with survey and design of the freeway along the route location the department has proposed with assurance we will receive federal funds for right-of-way acquisition and construction in communities where we have received approval by local council," Hill said.

Romney Names Chief Deputy to Insurance Post

★ ★ ★

Wickstrom, 56, has been with the insurance department for 28 years, "and will adequately fill the immediate void left by Mayerson's departure," Romney said.

"I am taking this step," the governor added, "to give us adequate time to insure the best possible successor is found."

Wickstrom, a native of Norway, Mich., is a 1932 graduate of the University of Minnesota.
