SERIOUS BUSINESS — Getting your first diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough innoculations at one time is a big deal and this set of the Gary Newton triplets of Clarkston are a little baffled by it all. Sitting in their doctor's office, Lorie, far left, thinks "I wonder if this is gonna hurt," Cindy, "I've hear dthat getting shots is horrible," and Tracy, "I'm not nervous. It's this doggone tooth that just won't come through." The little girls are 11 months old today.

DISKING TIME — Typical of current activity on Oakland County area farms is this scene of disking a field on North Rochester road, south of Stony Creek road, in Oakland Township. NOT EGGS-ACTLY ALIKE — Amazement in the size difference of two chicken eggs is expressed in the face of Barbara Proulx, 15, of 4781 Honeysuckle Road, West Bloomfield Township. The oversized egg was laid by one of seven chickens raised by her brother Billy, 10. The unusual egg measures 6½ inches in circumference. A normal egg is about 3-4 inches.

REMOVE VICTIMS — Rescue workers carry a victim past a toppled train in Tokyo today after two electric commuter trains, coming from opposite directions, piled into a derailed freight train, killing an estimated 83 persons and injuring 147. Two thousand police were called to help with rescue work and handle the immense crowd that appeared.

Tokyo Officials Say 147 Injured in Rail Mishap

Rescue Workers Still Searching Wreckage 3 Hours After Accident

TOKYO (AP) — Two electric commuter trains, coming from opposite directions, piled into a derailed freight tonight, killing 83 persons and injuring 147.

Police said they expected the death toll to rise.

Most of the injured were in serious condition.

Three hours after the accident, rescue workers were still boring into the twisted wreckage.

Railway officials said the freight arrived at Mikawashima station in northeastern Tokyo ahead of schedule and derailed after being shunted to a siding.

The incoming and outgoing commuter trains smashed into the wreckage.

The inbound train plunged into a ravine and demolished a large storehouse. One person in the house was reported killed.

One commuter train was crowded with Japanese returing home from the suburbs after today's national holiday, Constitution Day.

AIDING IN RESCUE

Two thousand police were mobilized to assist in rescue work.

Reports from the scene said an inbound commuter train smashed into a derailed freight which, railway authorities said, apparently ignored a railway caution signal.

An outbound commuter train, coming from the opposite direction, then hit pair of the derailed freight blocking its path and slammed into the wreckage of the first two trains, railway authorities said.

Police said one of the cars toppled off the elevated railway tracks onto houses below.

The area, a residential-industrial district in northern Tokyo, is congested and police said drivers were having difficulty getting ambulances to the scene of the disaster.

It was the second train accident in less than 24 hours in Japan. Early this morning a freight train ran into the rear of a slow moving local passenger train pulling out of Koga station, 50 miles north of Tokyo. Forty persons were reported injured.

Report Has U.S. Willing to Share Nuclear Control

New NATO Position Would Require Strong European Union

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization launched its spring meeting today.

It started amid reports the United States was willing to share control of its nuclear warheads in Western Europe with a politically strong European union including Britain.

Qualified Western sources described the U. S. position as a new approach to the years-old discussion of the idea of giving the 15-nation alliance an independent nuclear striking force.

NATO defense ministers opened the spring conference with a meeting that lasted less than an hour and a half.

Sources here said they discussed 20 weapons research and development projects recommended by the NATO Permanent Council.

One involved standardization of weapons. Another was a proposal that NATO endorse a projected new British jet that can take off and land almost vertically.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate indication what decisions — if any — were reached.

Foreign ministers will open a three-day review of the Allied defense position tomorrow.

RUSK MEETING

In a separate session, U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder apparently smoothed over today recent tactical differences on Berlin policy.

American and German officials here were expressing complete satisfaction following a luncheon meeting of the two Western leaders.

Rusk and Schroeder are in Athens for the annual spring policy review of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Schroeder came here from talks in Italy with vacationing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

★ ★ ★

After the Rusk-Schroeder lunch, which lasted two hours and 35 minutes, West German sources said they were reassured "there would not be any settlement of Germany and Berlin that would not be in line with the interests of West Germany and could not be approved by the West Germans."

Moslems Boycotting Docks in Algiers Where 96 Died

ALGIERS (AP) — Moslem dockworkers today boycotted the waterfront where at least 96 dockers were killed yesterday in a bomb blast planted by the European Secret Army Organization.

★ ★ ★

The strike brought the port to a standstill. Seven ships were waiting to be unloaded and others were anchored in the outer harbor. The underground extremists fighting to keep Algeria French kept up their terror campaign today with bombings and robberies.

Two violent explosions wrecked a Moslem medical insurance office near the Algiers Casbah and two post offices were held up and robbed.

There were no immediate reports of casualties. The explosions occurred before the building opened for business. During office hours it is usually crowded with Moslems collecting government insurance payments for medical expenses.

The new terrorist action followed one of the bloodiest days in Algeria since rebellion erupted in the territory more than seven years ago. Officials reported 110 persons were killed and 147 wounded Wednesday in Algiers and Oran. Almost all were Moslem victims of the Secret Army.

HOLD BACK MOB

Algerian Nationalist leaders strove to hold back enraged Moslems from wreaking vengeance against the European extremists out to wreck the cease-fire reached by President Charles de Gaulle and the rebels March 19.

The savagery of the terrorists' attacks in Algeria's two biggest cities was clearly designed to provoke a civil war to block Algerian independence.

Infuriated Moslems slit the throat of one European and made threatening moves to rise up but they were held back by Nationalists leaders anxious to preserve the peace and speed their takeover of the North African territory.

At least 96 Moslems were killed and 140 wounded in one blow when a booby-trapped car loaded with 40 pounds of explosives and shrapnel exploded among 1,500 Moslems crowded around a dockside hiring hall.

Authorities said at first eight Moslems were believed killed. The horror of the blast that rocked the waterfront was not realized until rescue workers dug into the wreckage and the confusion cleared.

The toll may have been even higher, for the Moslems try to carry off their dead and wounded to their own habitat in the Casbah.

Fears of retaliation led to a tighter curfew in Algiers. It was moved up from midnight to 8:30 p.m.

Cosmonaut Visits JFK After Tour With Glenn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov visited President Kennedy today after a busy morning in which he met U.S. astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and traded shop talk, philosophy and jokes with Glenn as the American led him on a tourist round of Washington.

The two spacemen reached the White House about a minute ahead of their 12:45 p.m. schedule. A sizable crowd watched from the sidewalk. The party, including Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, posed for photographs and then were ushered to Kennedy's office.

The meeting between the two space conquerors was a no-ceremony affair, and the tour was carried out as simply.

Next on the program was a chat with President Kennedy at the White House.

Titov responded in Russia, "zdravstvuite ochen rad."

American experts on the Russian language said the simplest way to translate, that was "very pleased to meet you."

They described it as a greeting "not as casual as hello," on the order of what Titov might say later to Kennedy.

City Happy at M59's Early Date

State Highway Department officials today said they have proposed a change in plans for construction of the M59 freeway east of Pontiac that would assure early scheduling of the East Huron Street extension.

★ ★ ★

Construction of the extension had previously been postponed until sometime after 1967. The extension would link the I-75 freeway with the downtown perimeter road.

★ ★ ★

Today, Lyle Lipp Jr., assistant road engineer, said the link has been added to proposed construction plans for the first part of the highway.

"A portion of the M59 freeway from the perimeter road to Rochester is now slated to be placed under contract in the third quarter (summer) of 1963," Lipp said.

The announcement was greeted enthusiastically by city administrators, planners and the Downtown Pontiac Assn. The link is of major importance to Central Business District plans as a major means of access from the east.

★ ★ ★

It would involve widening and extending E. Huron Street (one-way easterly), and development of Mt. Clemens as a one-way westbound thoroughfare, to a point where the two would connect with the M59 freeway near the I-75 freeway. The link inside Pontiac is estimated to cost about $3.8 million.

Freighter, Tanker Collide in Fog Off LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Panamanian freighter and a Texaco tanker collided in dense fog a mile off Los Angeles harbor today. First reports indicated damage was slight.

The Coast Guard sent six boats to the scene and the first department sent a firebout.

Both the harbor department and the Wilmington Towboat Co., which reported the collision, said neither the freighter World Centurion nor the tanker Texas appeared in danger.

To Welcome U.S. Tourists

Canada Pegs Dollar .925

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada devalued its dollar Wednesday night and pegged it at 92½ U.S. cents to give a boost to exports and ease the nation's chronic foreign trade deficit.

★ ★ ★

The president of the Canadian Manufacturing Association said he was delighted with the export boost but expressed surprise at the new rate, the lowest since Canada adopted a free, floating exchange rate in September 1950.

The Canadian dollar had sold at 95¼ cents on the exchanges for the past two months.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said in a statement announcing the new rate the government had taken progressive steps to bring the exchange rate down. The Canadian dollar in August 1957 was worth $1.0€⅛ in U.S. currency.

★ ★ ★

The drop in the rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and to discourage import buying by raising import prices in terms of Canadian dollars.

It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the United States for Canadians and cheaper ones in Canada for American tourists.

For the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean that the government's exchange fund will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than one percentage point on either side of the 92½-cent rate.

Sees Decision Soon on Nuisance Taxes

LANSING (AP) — Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, says House Republicans probably will get together in the next day or two on a package of "nuisance" taxes designed to keep the state treasury solvent.

* * *

There is indication that any "fair and reasonable" package will attract enough Democratic votes to pass it through the House and send it to the Senate, he said last night.

Dim) moves for strict economy and taxes on various luxuries, services and goods are gaining headway in both the House and Senate as lawmakers work toward money-raising and spending decisions.

A seven-man committee of Republican House members and GOP members of the House Taxation committee came up with a tax package yesterday designed to keep government operating at the same level and starting retiring a big state treasury deficit.

PROPOSED PLAN

The committee, headed by Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, proposed:

* * *

Increasing the beer tax from one-third of a cent a bottle to two cents, raising $34 million; adding two cents to the nickel-a-pack cigarette tax, worth $20 million; reviving a four per cent tax on telephone and telegraph services, producing $8 million, and re-enacting a special four per cent excise tax on liquor, producing $7 million.

The $69 million total, the committee said, would produce $14 million for reducing the state deficit and take care of additional state aid needed for an expected 68,000 increase in public school enrollment. It would not, however, allow any increase in the $265-per-pupil state aid formula.

* * *

If Republicans decide still more revenue is required, the committee suggested a tax on goods sold at wholesale, which would produce $107 million annually at a rate of one per cent, and a 10 mill tax on real estate transfers, which would be worth $23 million.

* * *

Most of the same taxes are under consideration in the senate.

First TV Picture Goes From Earth to Satellite, Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first transmission of a television picture between two points on the earth by bouncing the signal off an orbiting satellite was announced today by the Air Force.

* * *

The experiment was conducted April 24 with a transmission from the Camp Parks, Calif., field station of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Lincoln Laboratory at Westford, Mass. The Echo I satellite served as the reflector for the bounced signal.

* * *

The distance between the two land points is about 7,700 miles, but the signal, traveling to the orbiting satellite and back to earth, traveled about 3,000 to 4,000 miles.

The satellite was at an altitude of about 1,000 miles when the transmission was made.

Board to Study 1962 Valuation

County Supervisors Are Faced With Figure Lower Than Expected

Main order of business when the County Board of Supervisors meets in Pontiac Monday will be the proposed county equalized valuation for 1962 tax purposes.

In a report from its equalization committee, the board will learn that a proposed total valuation of $2,112,408,200 falls far short of what had been anticipated.

When the County Board of Auditors drafted a tentative budget for county government in 1962, members anticipated a 5 per cent increase in valuation over the $2,404,682,200 figure in 1961 to help finance the budget.

As proposed by the committee, the valuation amounts to less than 1 per cent increase. It is approximately $23 million short of what county officials were counting on when they approved the tentative $16,555,202 budget.

The reduced valuation would result in the county budget needing 6.18 mills of the total 15 mills dividmed by the County Tax Allocation Board. Had the 3 per cent increase materialized the figure would have been 6.5 mills.

The allocation board ultimately will decide the millage to go to county government, schools and townships. Last year the board approved 8.25 mills for county government.

Also at Monday's meeting, the ways and means committee will recommend that the board approve spending $631,812 for construction of a supervisors auditorium at the County Service Center.

The buildings and grounds committee will seek authorization to accept bids for remodeling the welfare building at the center within a $43,000 allocation.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Youth Admits Poisoning Milk

Boy in Florida Tells of Sodium Arsenite to Kill Drummond Children

Juvenile court authorities in West Palm Beach, Fla., today charged a boy not yet in his teens with delinquency in the Easter Eve death of the two young children of a former Bloomfield Township industrialist and sportsman.

The 11-year-old boy confessed to authorities of diluting milk with sodium arsenite, which took the lives of Deborah Drummond, 9, and her brother James Randall, 3.

Police said the boy, whose name they will not release because of state law, admitted he deliberately put the deadly poison in a bottle of milk and placed it in the refrigerator at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robber J. Drummond of Boca, Raton, Fla.

Drummond is co-owner of the National Broach Co., a tool firm, and Drumbeat Harness Horse Racing Stables of New York. Drummond moved from this area several years ago.

* * *

Drummond has started a fund drive toward building a hospital in Boca Raton since it was necessary to rush his children to a hospital in Boynton Beach, 15 miles away.

Contributions can be made to the Debbi-Rand Memorial Hospital Fund, Boca Raton, Fla.

Glenn Meets Titov; Pair Tours Capital

space fliers had coffee, then registered for the meeting of the International Committee on Space Research of the International Council of Scientific Unions where both had speaking dates later in the day.

After that they set out on the sightseeing tour.

An early stop was the 555-foot Washington Monument where Titov quipped:

"This is the first joint Soviet-American journey into space."

Glenn laughed when the translation came to him and replied there is a joke among American spacemen that the needle-like monument "would never get off the pad."

SEES JOINT TRIPS

A smiling and expansive Titov told a news conference at the Soviet Embassy Wednesday that some day Americans and Soviets will fly together to the moon and beyond.

He didn't know when spacecrafts would be manned by international crews but — "I can tell you that it will be sooner if our governments can agree to prohibit war and to disarm."

And with a grin, Titov said it was a Moscow-Washington direct men were picked for the first trips into space.

"Women have made advances in many sciences," he said. "They can withstand hardships on a higher level than men.

"Justice will come and women will fly to space, especially on the prolonged journeys."

His wife sat in front of him, fingering a ring and relishing every word.

'Will Cease When Russia Agrees to Ban'

U.S. Reiterates Its Need for N-Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States told the neutral nations today that this country "will gladly cease" nuclear testing the moment an effective test ban agreement can be reached with Russia.

* * *

But in a note to the government of Ghana, the United States said that without a Soviet agreement, this country "will not unilaterally relinquish the right to conduct defense preparations."

The note was dispatched a day after the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission announced that the third U.S. atmospheric weapons test had been conducted in the Pacific.

The note to Ghana urged the neutral nations to support U.S. efforts to achieve an effectively monitored test ban agreement. It was in response to a note of April 26 from Ghana appealing for an end to testing by all nations.

* * *

The U.S. reply said that this country "regrets the necessity" for its Pacific test series but that in the absence of Soviet agreement, it must be conducted.

The note said Russia undoubtedly "derived much information of military significance" from its test series last fall.

"If the Soviet Union," it said, "were to conduct nuclear test explosions while the United States refrained, military preponderance would in time come to test with the Soviet Union."

This, the United States said, "would be exceedingly dangerous for any government seeking to maintain its independence."

NEW PLAN

In Geneva, India presented a compromise plan calling for East and West to open their territory to international inspection by gradual stages during a period of general and complete disarmament.

Neither American delegate Arthur H. Dean nor Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made any immediate comment on the Indian proposal.

Teacher, 65, Out of Peace Corps

Senator Cites Case of Woman Unable to Take Combat Training

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said today the Peace Corps dismissed a 65-year-old teacher because she was unable to take virtual combat training.

Tower, calling for a congressional investigation of the Peace Corps, cited the case of Janie Fletcher of Panhandle, Tex., who was being trained for an assignment in Brazil.

* * *

He said Mrs. Fletcher was sent home from the final hemispheric staging area in Puerto Rico because she could not run a mile before breakfast, do pushups each morning, and swim with her feet tied and her clothes on.

* * *

There was no immediate comment from the Peace Corps.

In letters to the chairmen of the Senate Foreign Relations and Appropriations committees, Tower asked an examination of the entire concept and administration of the Peace Corps.

* * *

He said the study should be made before Congress acts on a bill to provide $63,750,000 to finance the corps' operations for the fiscal year starting July 1. Congress has passed an authorization bill for the program, but the appropriations bill to provide the actual money is yet to be acted on.

Tower wrote that Mrs. Fletcher's experience includes being abused, sworn at, and required to take all manner of physical fitness programs inappropriate to her age.

Auto Industry Profits Double

Ford Motor Reports $127.7 Million Margin, but GM Sets Record

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. made a net profit of $127.7 million in the first three months of 1962, topping earnings of $76.2 million for the same quarter of 1961 by 67 per cent.

* * *

Ford, in announcing first quarter results yesterday, said the 1962 earnings were equal to $2.52 per share of common stock.

Sales for this year's first three months were a record $1,000,700,000 or 57 per cent above the $1,661,100,000 of a year earlier. Ford said the dollar sales were the highest for any quarter in the company's history.

Sales were some $95 million more than in the first quarter of 1960, when Ford earned $2.61 a share, its best rate ever for the opening three months of the year.

Combined profits of the five automobile companies more than doubled in the first quarter of this year against the first three months of 1961.

General Motors set the pace with an all-time record of $374 million. Total for the five companies was $509.25 million with Studebaker reporting a $2.6 million loss.

* * *

Last year, when both Chrysler and Studebaker were in the red, the total profit was $238 million. In the first quarter of 1960, a profitable one for all five companies, the total was $495.2 million.

New Syrian Government Returns Land Reform

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's new government launched its program of Arab socialism by reinstating the country's 1958 land reform law Wednesday.

The law, a keystone in the program begun when Syria was a part of President Nasser's United Arab Republic, divided the country's large feudal estates among landless peasants.

Meteor in Haley's Orbit Blazes Across Our Sky

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A meteor-like object blazed across the sky from west to east over the Southeast Wednesday night.

Karl Hujer, professor of astronomy at the University of Chattanooga, said the object probably was a meteor belonging to the orbit of Haley's Comet, due to be seen again in 1985.

Hujer said the earth's orbit overlaps that of Haley's Comet about this time each year, and sporadic meteors sometimes are seen.

U. S. Looking Forward to Foreign Travelers

With the vacation season fast approaching, the United States is looking for an influx of foreign tourists because of the "hard sell" of our Commerce Department.

In the past this business has been down largely due to language barriers, red tape involved in getting into this country and relatively high transportation costs.

Many changes have been made along these lines in hopes of luring tourists from abroad. Congress started it off by setting up a U.S. Travel Service with a budget of $2.5 million.

Ads are running in European magazines to attract foreigners to tour America for $98 a week. The red tape is gone. Our government has gone all out to lower the requirements and is ready to give a warm welcome to all guests.

The trains and buses are making special concessions for grand circle tours from coast to coast. This all seems to the good and we would like to think that many foreigners will visit our great country.

Last year Americans spent $1 billion more on overseas travel than foreigners spent here. A trip to America will still be just a dream to a lot of Europeans, but many can afford such a vacation and we hope they come.

★ ★ ★

In what better way can we display our mode of living and what our country really stands for than to have tourists on their own visit us? We should all try to make our visitors feel at home and offer assistance when we can.

Lions Help Sightless

One of the primary public service ventures of Lions Clubs is sight conservation and aid to blind people. Through the year, Lions spend their time and money helping persons with vision problems.

★ ★ ★

Lions pay for glasses for needy persons and drive blind persons to monthly dances and social events. They help support the leader dog training program.

Annually, during White Cane Week now in progress, they seek to raise funds to help people who have lost one of the most priceless things in life—eyesight.

★ ★ ★

Derby Important Event for Racing Enthusiasts

To horse racing enthusiasts May means just one thing—the Kentucky Derby. The age-old stampede for roses and glory is this Saturday.

The real fans know the Derby is not the oldest, not the richest, not the best American stakes race, but it's the one most race-horse owners would like to win.

Some will tell you, particularly New York fans who cherish the Belmont, that the Derby is more a "circus" than a race, and they're probably right. But what red-blooded American ever had anything nasty to say about a circus, anyway?

As is the story each year there is always an early favorite and this time it is Sir Gaylord. But again, as usual, the turf writers claim that if he breaks poorly, or gets into trouble in the one-and-one-quarter miles, it could be anybody's race.

Among the favorites are Ridan, beaten twice by Sir Gaylord in Florida, Crimson Satan, Roman Line, Green Hornet and Decidedly. Every Derby must have a sentimental favorite and a filly by the name of Addie B has the role this year.

There is something about this horse because she had never been on a track until three weeks before the race and, of course she had never seen a starting gate.

Whether she finally starts is questionable, but if she does the odds will be astronomical.

Probably there are only two certainties about the Derby. Few will see the whole race—TV viewers will have the edge. As one inveterate Derby goer once put it: "All I ever saw was 97,000 people, all more than six feet tall."

The prize of $250 in U.S. bonds goes to the person who names the player who has been at bat at least 25 times who will be leading the league on the night of May 10, and who comes the closest to his batting average.

David Lawrence Says:

Would Confiscate Funds for Taxes

WASHINGTON — If there's one issue that the American people can understand, it is that nobody—not even the government—is entitled to take away from the citizen money that belongs to him alone and is not due for taxes.

LAWRENCE

It now is estimated by the Internal Revenue Service that approximately $200 million will be taken from the citizens for different periods of time each year and then returned later to the lawful owners.

Many people in retirement will be affected by the proposed law that would require corporations, banks and other institutions to withhold a certain proposition of dividends and interest and pay it directly to the government every month or every three months.

Will the citizen get any interest for the time his money is in the government's hands? Nobody has come forward yet with a practical plan even to compute such interest. This "over-withheld" money certainly will not be earning compound interest for the citizen at the bank during the period he has been deprived of it.

The Administration's argument is that too much dividend and interest money is escaping taxation altogether and, in effect, that "the end justifies the means."

'IT'S CONFISCATION'

This may make things easier for the tax collector, but can it make things easier for the consciences of members of Congress who know they will be authorizing a confiscation of private property?

The fact that this confiscation is for short intervals each year doesn't lessen its injustice.

It has been contended that all these problems will be taken care of by the device of exemption certificates which the citizen who owes no tax will file in advance with his bank or savings institution.

But this is not all of the problem. It doesn't cover the case of the citizen who must pay a small tax and who finds a larger percentage of dividend or interest income has been automatically withheld than he really owed.

Does a "refund," therefore, completely meet the question of morality when the citizen doesn't owe all of the tax that is to be imposed on him?

Mortimer Caplin, commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, who is a very able man with long experience in the field of tax law, has just made a speech in which he estimates that nearly 7 per cent of the total collected by the "withholding" plan on dividends and interest will have to be refunded by the government.

He says that maybe as many as 2 million taxpayers have various deductions for medical expenses and old-age allowances which might bring their tax obligation below the amounts withheld by the government. He says:

"For taxable individuals in the lower-income brackets there may be some over-withholding, perhaps $200 million of over-withholding out of an estimated $3 billion of total withholding."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Chronic Joint Disability Still Challenge to Medicine

In a letter to the editor of his home town paper, a Hartford physician said:

BRADY

"Only a few besides Dr. Brady fail to appreciate the marked advancement in the medical sciences of the past 50 years . . . We recognize now over 40 different types of arthritis . . . While it is true that we do not know the exact cause and cure of some of the more common arthritic diseases (rheumatoid arthritis, Osteo-arthritis), we know that much can be done to alleviate suffering," etc., etc.

Many physicians of standing, besides this one, have told us medicine has made vast strides in the past 50 or 60 years, but after another hard look at the question, I must say that so far as chronic joint disability is concerned there has been no significant advance in diagnosis, prevention or treatment in 60 years since the profession converted to business.

It is unfortunate for persons past the middle period of life who are training for, or who are already subject to, degeneration of joint tissues, that they think "arthritis" is some kind of specific disease which is a cut above plebelan rheumatiz. And from the ways some latter-day specialists talk about it, one might imagine they know what "arthritis" is.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

It's indeed true that we do not know the cause and cure of some common chronic joint disabilities; it would be more candid to say we know the cause, prevention and proper treatment of the most common chronic joint disability.

At any rate I believe I do, and I tell you how to prevent or, if taken in time and followed faithfully, cure the rheumatiz (degeneration of joint tissues) in my Little Lesson 12, "Chronic Joint Disability."

Even an attempt to distinguish one type of "arthritis" (osteoarthritis) from another type (rheumatoid arthritis) is of no practical value, as nearly as I can learn.

Some authorities have described Heberden's nodes as a distinguishing characteristic of osteoarthritis. In any case, these swellings of the distal joints of the fingers may be annoying, unsightly, sometimes painful, but patients who have them generally suffer the least disability from their rheumatiz with the passing of the years.

Men and women in their forties put on slacker flesh, have dry, sallow skin, lusterless, dry, falling premature graying hair and develop a dismal outlook on life.

Everybody—child, youth, young adult, mature adult, grandmother or great grandfather (like me) — needs a wee bit of iodin daily to maintain good metabolism and good health. Most people do not get the iodin they need. The best food source of iodin is fish or shellfish from the sea. If everybody ate sea food three times a week, there would probably be no iodin deficiency.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Defines Psychologist, Psychiatrist

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-404: Norma L., aged 19, is a college freshman who recently asked me to conduct a forum on psychology.

DR. CRANE

"What is the difference between a psychologist and a psychiatrist?" Norma began.

Many of you readers make the same inquiry. Actually, everybody uses psychology in his contacts with other human beings and might technically be called a psychologist.

But when we officially label a person a "psychologist" we usually refer to a teacher of that subject in high school or college. This college teacher generally has a Doctor of Philosophy (Ph. D.) degree.

A psychiatrist, however, is always a physician with a Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) degree. He specializes primarily in ailments of the nervous system.

"Then what is a psychoanalyst?" another coed asked.

This term is not too popular here in America for it doesn't indicate the specific amount of training possessed by the individual.

For example, in some states like California, people set themselves up as "psychoanalysts" and may have a neon sign in their front yard advertising their services.

★ ★ ★

Yet they may not possess even a high school diploma. On the other hand, some of the psychoanalysts may have an M.D. or a Ph.D. degree.

But the word "psychoanalyst" doesn't of itself indicate any definite amount of college training to qualify its owner for human counseling.

So professional counselors in America usually call themselves psychologists or psychiatrists in order to indicate their educational background.

For example, the word "Reverend" now indicates a clergyman. "Professor" denotes a teacher.

"Psychiatrist" means an M. D., who deals with mental and nervous disorders.

PSYCHOLOGY DEFINED

"Dr. Crane, what is the definition of psychology?" another coed asked.

Well, the original meaning, as shown by the word itself, meant "the science of the soul," for "psyche" is the Greek word for soul.

But that was too vague. You can't feel or touch or weigh a "soul" and a science needs to start with self-evident facts, like axioms in geometry.

So psychology was later defined as "the science of consciousness." And many of your household dictionaries still carry such a definition.

But that went out of style by World War I, for even "consciousness" is a slippery term. For example, what's the difference between a person asleep and wide awake?

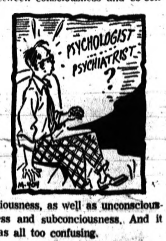

If you are called "conscious" while awake, what are you when asleep?

"Unconscious!" a coed called out from the audience.

"Then what about the boxer who has been knocked out in the ring?" I queried, "Is he the same as asleep? Can he awaken instantly at the sound of an alarm clock? Or, if it is chilly, will he reach down and try to pull up a blanket?"

She looked puzzled, and well she might, for the sleeper is partly conscious of his surroundings, which is why he doesn't roll out of bed or flop over against the wall when he reaches the far side.

Thus, psychologists distinguished between consciousness and co-consciousness, as well as unconsciousness and subconciousness. And it was all too confusing.

So now we define psychology as the "science of behavior." And that includes the behavior of children, as well as animals. It likewise covers buying and selling, as well as politics and love.

It also involves behavior of the vocal cords in speech, as well as our reactions to symbols, such as money or musical notes, etc.

But psychology counts for at least 50 per cent towards success so at least make it your hobby.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, explaining a long self-stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Why Are People Rude, Sneaky?'

Why do so few people believe in fair play?

Last Monday I was anxious to get home before the storm, yet waited in line at least 30 minutes on West Lawrence Street to get to one of the outside bank windows. People would sneak into line from the center lane when crossing Saginaw Street or if there was enough room between the two windows before another driver, that had been waiting, could pull up. I'd like to see these same sneaks when something like that happens to themselves.

'Remember Ladies in Shopping Plans'

Pontiac is planning on rejuvenating downtown, but we must think of the ladies. Women do 80 per cent of the shopping and if they cannot have good shops they will go elsewhere. Of course, a mall shopping center is the answer to a woman's prayer for most women's time is limited.

Just Disgusted

'Heed Warning— Don't Be Deceived'

There seems to be a lot of misconception about what happens to a person when he dies. I have heard preachers tell things the Bible does not say.

It's comforting to hear someone say "Bless that dear old soul, she has gone up to heaven with the Lord." This statement disagrees with "and no man hath ascended up to heaven." The Bible warns us about being deceived. In God's word, I trust.

'Need Longer Hours for Skiing, Boating'

West Bloomfield Township's new lake regulations are a wonderful help to people that don't live in our township. I work from 7 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., so when do I water ski or use my boat? My children have used a boat since they were seven and I've yet to find them or their young friends driving on the lake drunk as many out-of-township people do. I favor a 5 or 10-horsepower limit for children under 14 years.

Water skiing should be allowed one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise. Laws are made to protect the innocent and punish the guilty. I am only guilty of working too many hours so that I can live in West Bloomfield Township and not use Cass Lake.

Notes 2 Hurdles Before Romney

Drew Pearson Labels Religion, Lack of War Record Hindrances

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Two factors weigh against industrialist George Romney's political success in Michigan, according to columnist Drew Pearson.

Romney must hurdle his Mormon religion and his lack of a war record, Pearson said yesterday in Grand Rapids as speaker at the 83rd annual convention of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association.

"In the Mormon faith, it is so written that a Negro cannot become a member of the clergy and that Negroes are inferior," Pearson said, adding that Romney has disclaimed this tenet of his faith.

Pearson noted, however, that Detroit has 600,000 Negro voters.

A war record, Pearson believed, was important in a run against Gov. Swainson who was injured in a land mine explosion overseas.

Pearson told his audience he believed also that should Romney gain the governorship of Michigan, he could be his party's "sacrificial candidate" in the 1964 presidential race.

★ ★ ★

The speaker also outlined his recent visit with Soviet Premier Nikita Khruschev. He discounted the premier's celebrated boast that the Soviets would "bury" the United States and contended that both nations are "in for a long period of competitive peace."

Advisory Boards Urge Wage Hikes for Airline Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two presidential emergency boards yesterday recommended wage increases in disputes between the Flight Engineers Union and Trans World and Eastern Airlines.

One emergency board recommended salary increases totaling 13 per cent over a three-year period from January 1961 to January 1964, for flight engineers employed by Trans World Airlines (TWA). The board recommended rejection of a union demand for reduced work hours.

Wage recommendations in the Eastern Air Lines case were divided into two periods.

For a retroactive period of from April 1, 1960 when the old contract expired, through March 31, 1962, the board recommended a total wage adjustment of 10.82 per cent.

For a period of from April 1 this year to the same date 1964, the board recommended an increase for the engineers of 3 per cent for this year and 3 per cent next year.

Over Kashmir and Nepal

Nehru Busy Quarreling With His Neighbors

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Of India's half-dozen next door neighbors, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru at the moment is quarreling with two and on cool terms with a third.

He is disputing possession of Kashmir with Pakistan.

He is disputing with Red China about 12,000 square miles of border seized by the Red Chinese but claimed by India.

Deteriorating steadily are his relations with King Mahendra of the neighboring Himalayan state of Nepal.

The latter two situations are related and, as in the dispute with Pakistan, contain the seeds of armed conflict which neither India nor the whole of South Asia could afford.

Nepal is one of three small Himalayan states — Nepal, Sikkim and Bhutan — sandwiched between India and Red-Chinese controlled Tibet. India guarantees their defense and considers them within the Indian sphere of influence.

TOO INDEPENDENT

Nehru's quarrel with the 42-year old King Mahendra might be considered a family affair except that so far as India is concerned the king lately has been showing an unpleasant independence which includes closer relations with Red China.

An April summit meeting in New Delhi between King Mahendra and Nehru failed to improve conditions.

On his side, Mahendra accuses India of permitting Nepalese rebels to carry out attacks on Nepal from Indian soil.

Nehru is concerned primarily because of Nepal's agreement with Red China permitting construction of a highway between Lhasa, capital of Tibet, and Katmandu, capital of Nepal.

He also is unhappy with Nepal's border agreement with Red China which ceded to the Red Chinese the northern slope of famed Mt. Everest.

But the highway is the most important.

Nepal stretches along India's northern border for 500 miles and is the guardian of India's Ganges Valley. Completion of the road will mean that Red China has pierced the Himalaya barrier and will have an open highway to India's heartland.

Besides its strategic value, it also gives Red China an opportunity to encourage the smuggling of goods she needs from the outside world.

Nehru's concern, therefore, is understandable.

Red China not only promised to spend $8.8 million to build the road, she also promised to step up aid in other road building, communications and industrial projects, thus in effect placing the fifty kingdom under two spheres of influence — Chinese in the north and Indian in the south.

King Mahendra took over in 1955 a kingdom which for hundreds of years had been closed to the outside world, shot with intrigue and corruption. In 1960, he abandoned any pretense at democratic government, took over full powers and announced he would sponsor his own conception of a "guided democracy."

The Indians claim he is overlooking the lessons of history, specifically Red China's grab of Tibet after a period of pretended friendship.

Canada's largest city: Montreal, is a manufacturing and rail-air center and also a busy port.

It Happens That Way, Movin' East

'Safari' Into Darkest Washington Suffers Casualties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tourists are passing through Washington now at the rate of about 33,000 a day. They spent $380 million here in 1961 and it looks like around $400 million this year.

The tourist guidebooks list 68 main points of interest and for $18.50 you can get a two-day bus tour that includes all of them.

Or you can get a three-hour job for $5. Washington is a fascinating and inspirational city, and every American should see it.

But there are perils and pitfalls, too, and the following advice is free:

—Don't wander too far away from your sight-seeing bus when you get out to inspect a building. Tour No. 62 lost Mrs. Elva Ginsburg the other day and nobody knows her present whereabouts.

During a 20-minute stop at the National Archives Building she went inside to see the original of the Declaration of Independence and never returned.

★ ★ ★

After a long wait, the driver of No. 62, Orrin Rodgers, reported by radio to headquarters and received this order: "Proceed to Treasury without Mrs. Ginsburg."

If she is still in the archives building, she must be hungry, for it is filled with signs reading: "No Smoking, No Eating."

TAKEN FOR RIDE

—Wear lightweight clothing. It's getting hot here.

—The driver of the sight-seeing bus delivers a running lecture but here you must proceed at your own risk.

You will pick up fascinating information such as the fact that the Washington monument is 555 feet, 5 and one-eighth inches tall and sways one-quarter of an inch in a 30-mile wind.

But you also will get: "On our right, ladies and gentlemen, is the Bureau of Infernal Revenue, ha ha."

Your ticket clearly states that you cannot get off the bus at any intermediate stage and claim a refund. Like matrimony, you are aboard for better or for worse, in sickness and in health. Caveat emptor.

KEEP COOL

—Beware of advice from strangers. At the end of a long line stretching four abreast for three-quarters of a mile and winding into the White House stood Miss Doris Leppert, 12-year-old girl scout (five merit badges) from New York City in charge of a patrol of six.

★ ★ ★

In a confident voice she stated that when we got inside the White House and reached the Green Room, Caroline Kennedy would be there to receive us. Perhaps Caroline's mother, too, but we shouldn't count too heavily on that.

One hour later we arrived in the Green Room which was inhabited only by an oil portrait of Calvin Coolidge.

There was a long, embarrassed silence in our little group and then Miss Leppert, said briskly: "Over at the Bureau of Engraving we will see them making dollar bills right before our eyes."

JACKIE'S DOING

There was a time, especially when Congress was in session, that the Capitol was the most popular tourist attraction. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy changed all that with her televised tour of the White House.

The lower floor of the White House is open to the public from 10 a.m. to noon on weekdays and the line begins forming around 8 a.m. No matter what time you get in line you will not see any of the Kennedy family. Their living quarters are on the upper floors.

At the height of the tourist season almost 7,000 persons pass through the public rooms of the White House every hour. The state dining room seems to be the most popular room, especially with women tourists.

There are 20 chairs at the table, but Miss Leppert explained to our group that Caroline did not have her meals in this room. She ate upstairs and, as a matter of fact, might be having luncheon right this minute, which would explain why she had left the Green Room in the sole custody of Calvin Coolidge.

Ordered to Stand Trial for Scotland Yard Theft

LONDON (AP) — The Bow Street magistrate yesterday ordered Arthur Charles Ketteringham, 29, to stand trial for a burglary at Scotland Yard.

Police said Ketteringham, a post office maintenance engineer working at the yard, broke into a storeroom and rifled the Yard's collection of obscene books and pictures seized as evidence in various cases.

JFK on Steel--Will It Work Again?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy is playing it by ear in trying to get labor and business to avoid price and wage boosts that might trigger a new inflation.

He has no authority under peacetime law to set prices or wages. He can suggest what he thinks they ought to be. But neither labor nor business has to listen to him.

How then can he persuade them to sign noninflationary contracts? Only through devices similar to those he used in the steel case or can dream up in the next big dispute.

They may not always work. There will probably be unions and industries which ignore him and sign contracts he thinks damaging to the public interest.

He is probably reconciled to that possibility and is settling for the hope that if, in general, he can keep prices and wages down, it's a gain and the best he can expect with his present limited power.

For months before the steel contract was signed he used a very limited technique of persuasion although behind it, of course, was the tremendous moral influence of the presidency.

This was simply to suggest the public good required a noninflationary settlement which meant no wage or price boost.

The contract as signed gave no wage increase, although other benefits the union got cost the industry money, and there was no indication the steel companies intended to raise prices.

★ ★ ★

When they did, just a few days after the settlement, an angry Kennedy had to abandon the technique of polite nudging which hadn't worked and think up in a hurry brand new forms of persuasion.

He used denunciation. His aides got in touch with steelmen whose companies had not yet raised prices. And the Justice Department, seeking by his brother, Robert Kennedy, threatened antitrust suits and a grand jury investigation of price-fixing.

In the end the steel industry called off the price increase and Kennedy had won.

In the next contract crisis, and there seems sure to be one, the circumstances will be different, so Kennedy's techniques of pressure and persuasion will have to be adapted to the situation.

There is nothing to indicate he has a clearly thought out line of action—as there would be, and spelled out, if he had a law to work by—for any future crises.

Last February Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg said the government has no intention of dictating terms—this was superfluous since there's no such power under law—but he did say this:

He intended to suggest in general and perhaps occasionally in specific terms what management and labor should do for the public good.

Then, this week, Kennedy's advisory labor-management committee went so far as to suggest that, under law, Kennedy should be able to set up fact-finding boards, in disputes which might create national emergencies, to make recommendations on contract terms.

This might not mean much if this had been just an ordinary board. It wasn't. It was made up of representatives for labor, business, the government and the public.

★ ★ ★

For this board to make this kind of proposal meant that Kennedy already—in his fight against inflationary contracts—had been very successful in rallying broad support for what he wants to do.

Say IUE Chiefs Have Fist Fight

2nd Reported Scuffle Supposedly Occurs at Board Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A continuing feud between the two top leaders of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) is said to have erupted in a fist fight—their second one.

★ ★ ★

The latest exchange of blows between President James B. Carey of the AFL-CIO union and Secretary-treasurer Al Hartnett is reported to have occurred after an argument at an IUE board meeting Wednesday.

Neither man could be reached for comment.

Hartnett would bring a decided physical edge into any fight with Carey. Hartnett is 42, and packs about 190 pounds on a 6-foot-3 frame, while Carey is 50, stands 5-feet-8 and weighs about 160.

Carey is said to have lunged at Hartnett and struck him—in full view of the 31-member board. Hartnett's reported response was a blood-drawing punch to Carey's nose.

Board members reportedly piled in and at least one was knocked off his feet.

★ ★ ★

Then, the meeting was recessed for a day on complaints of Mary Callahan of Philadelphia that it was more than she and the other woman on the board, Evelyn McGarr of Montreal, could take.

★ ★ ★

The two union leaders have been at odds for a long time, evidently in a contest for power. They reportedly came to blows last summer—Hartnett winding up with a scratched face—but both men still deny it.

Declares 9 Laws Unconstitutional; Backs Negroes

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—U.S. District Judge Sidney C. Mize yesterday declared nine Mississippi segregation statutes unconstitutional and upheld the right of three Negroes to unsegregated transportation service.

The Negroes sought relief for themselves and others as a class action, but Mize ruled the plaintiffs failed to prove it was a class action.

The nine segregation laws ruled unconstitutional violated the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, Mize held.

★ ★ ★

The laws pertained to separate but equal accommodations for persons of white and Negro races traveling by common carrier.

Ask Clamp on Sale of Arms to Red Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration asked Congress yesterday for permanent authority to prohibit shipment of strategic materials to Sino-Soviet bloc countries.

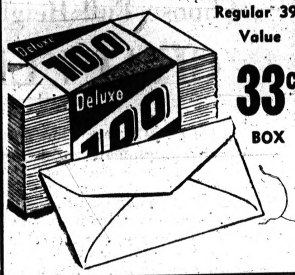

Dr. Jack N. Behrman, assistant secretary of commerce for international affairs, told the Senate Banking Committee that the world outlook is so uncertain there is no doubt controls will be necessary for the foreseeable future.

He asked a permanent extension of the Export Control Oct, which expires June 30, asserting that the customary two-year extensions place U.S. negotiators under a handicap when they try to persuade Western Allies to clamp tighter controls on shipments behind the Iron Curtain.

Kennedy and McCormack

Poll Shows Dem Deadlock

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston Globe poll shows Edward M. Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, and Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. virtually deadlocked for convention endorsement for the U.S. Senate Democratic nomination.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper said in a copyrighted report today it polled 577 delegates in 75 communities. The result: Kennedy 196, McCormack 193; undecided 188.

862 NEEDED

The Democratic State Committee says 1,723 delegates have been authorized for the June 8-9 convention at Springfield. Endorsement will require a majority, or 862 votes.

★ ★ ★

The Globe said supporters of McCormack, nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., claim to have 631 delegates nailed down. Kennedy backers credit their man with 287 and McCormack with 529.

'IMPORTANT' POINT'

"But the important point of both these figures," the Globe said, "is that only about half of the delegates are figured to be committed by both sides."

William E. Higham of Boston, a political newcomer, also is a candidate for the endorsement but the Globe's telephone survey did not attempt to learn how many delegates are committed to him.

West Germany Sets Up Group on Space Data

The government also authorized the founding of a company to handle the problems arising out of West German'y participation in European space programs.

PLANNING AHEAD—Robert Diebali (right), Waterford township planning director, discusses development of the township's sewer and water systems with supervisor Elmer Johnson. Plans for the sewer system are indefinite at this time pending the results of a study by the City of Pontiac to determine if its treatment plant would be adequate to serve the neighboring township.

Waterford Starting to Move Toward a New Sewer System

By JOE MULLEN

Though there have been few apparent advantages to date stemming from Waterford Township's change to a charter township form of government, benefits are definitely taking shape.

★ ★ ★

The primary purpose of the change was to enable the township to proceed with central water and sewer system plans to meet the demands of a rapidly expanding population.

The water program is in the advanced planning stages now and initial action has been taken on the sewer system.

Construction of water and sewer facilities is a vast and expensive project. Engaging in such a program under the former system would have resulted in a prohibitively high tax rate.

★ ★ ★

As a charter township Waterford can issue long term general obligation bonds and may also spread the retirement of these bonds over a greater period of time. A charter township also can sell its bond issues at a lower interest rate than an ordinary township.

Confidence in a charter township's ability to pay arises from the fact that this type of government is allowed to raise taxes five mills in a given year without a vote of the people. An even bigger increase can be levied if approved at the polls.

Though the taxing power may be utilized, township officials feel it will not be necessary in financing the water system. Anticipated revenue from connection fees, which will average about $400, is expected to prove sufficient in meeting obligations.

The sewer system also will, be mainly self-supporting.

$12 MILLION COST

Ultimate cost of a central water system is estimated at nearly $12 million.

No actual estimates as yet have been made on the sewer project, but its cost is expected to exceed that of the water program. Both systems are likely to be financed by general obligation bonds issued over 30 years.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works is acting as agent for the township on the water program. Johnson and Anderson Co., consulting engineers, is now working on final construction plans which should be ready by the first part of June.

Actual construction on the water system could get under way this fall, and the first phase of the program should be completed about a year after work begins. Cost of this portion of the program, integrating the existing 12 water systems in the community, is estimated at from $5-$6 million.

In addition to tying the existing water systems, intersis would be laid on streets 65 per cent occupied and two elevated water tanks and a ground storage tank would be constructed. Total storage capacity will amount to 8 million gallons.

Further work on the system to meet an estimated mushrooming of the present 49,000 population to 85,000 by 1970 would be initiated as needed.

The township's ground source has been termed adequate for the water supply.

TIES WITH DETROIT

Eventual water service from the Detroit system is at least 10 years away. Whether or not the township ever ties into this supply line would have little material effect on the water system cost. It would be merely a matter of connecting to the Detroit line.

The outlook for the sewer program is still indefinite.

The City of Pontiac is now conducting a study to determine whether its treatment plant is adequate to serve the township. Detroit is laying an interceptor line out Dequindre Road that might eventually serve Waterford. The Oakland County Department of Public Works is a third possibility, and the township might conceivably construct its own sewage treatment plant.

Now there are two small treatment plants serving about 1300 residents of the township. The Pontiac sewer system serves 3,000 more. The majority of the population utilizes septic tanks.

The Township Board recently passed a resolution asking the county DPW to serve as agent in the sewer program as the department is doing in water system negotiations. No formal action other than its acceptance, has been taken by the county on the resolution.

Proponents of the charter township form of government began urging the change several years ago. They pointed out that the switch would give the township taxing power comparable to that of a city in contrast to the weak position of the ordinary township.

ONLY ONE IN COUNTY

The charter township measure passed by nearly a 2 to 1 majority at the polls Sept. 12.

Waterford is the only charter township in Oakland County.

The taxing power variation is the two forms of township governments is not the only difference. There are many.

The charter township's fiscal period is a calendar year while the regular township operates on an April 1 to April 1 fiscal year. Ordinary townships must hold annual meetings in April unless abolished by vote of the people. Charter townships are not so obligated.

★ ★ ★

Charter townships must have four trustees on the board while regular townships are required to have two. The latter may elect two more if the population exceeds 5,000.

Charter townships also have broader power in enforcing zoning and building construction, and its power to license is not so restricted.

In contrast to a regular township, one with a charter can provide for the hiring of a township superintendent.

OWN ROAD SYSTEM

Bonded indebtedness of a charter township must not exceed 10 per cent of its assessed valuation and a surplus in any fund at the end of the year reverts to the general fund for reapportionment.

A charter township is also permitted to establish its own road system, separate from the county system. This, however, requires a large initial outlay of funds and is not considered feasible at this time in Waterford Township.

Pontiac Press Photo

WATERFORD WATER — Kenneth Squires, Waterford Township water department superintendent (left), finishes water from a hydrant on Dundee Street as Township Clerk James Secterlin looks on. The vast program for an integrated township water system has been in the planning stages for some time. Actual work on the first phase of the project is scheduled to begin this fall.

See Plans for Downtown as Practical

(Editor's Note— This is the concluding article in a two-part series on the Central Business District Plan revealed last week.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

The objective of the recently completed Central Business District Plan is to make downtown Pontiac a better place in which to operate and do business.

It is not a plan to tell businessmen HOW to operate or HOW to improve merchandising techniques.

Several of the changes recommended may be termed "fantastic" by some, but the team of experts that put the plan together call it "sound, realistic and above all, economically feasible. It can be done."

The framework of the CBD consists largely of the perimeter road and an inner circulator road which consultants call "the little brother" to the perimeter road.

The plan lists fast and firm schedulings of the perimeter road as "one outstanding advantage downtown Pontiac has over competition."

Slated for completion in 1963, it will give the CBD "a better overall approach, access and circulation plan than any private shopping center."

It will keep traffic out of the CBD while furnishing 16 to 20 easy, guided entrances.

★ ★ ★

The inner circulator is one-way in the opposite direction.

A strong point is that most of the inner circulator is already built. Flowing clockwise, it consists of Perry, Pike, Wayne and Lafayette streets.

MUST BE EXTENDED

To make this possible, Lafayette must be extended easterly to meet Perry, and Wayne southerly to connect with Pike.

The inner road would enable shoppers to move readily from one parking area to another.

Between the inner circulator and perimeter road, on all sides except due south, lie vast parking areas.

The basic crosstown routes would be Huron Street and Orchard Lake-Auburn Avenue, with the latter connected in one smooth flowing thoroughfare at Saginaw Street. It is recommended that both routes become divided boulevards through the CBD.

Saginaw will not exist north of Huron and be used only as an automobile access area south of Huron.

★ ★ ★

Construction of the East Huron Street extension linking the perimeter road with I-75 freeway is a must.

★ ★ ★

Previously slated for construction along with the M-59 freeway east to Utica, it is now slated for construction ni the summer of 1963.

IMPORTANT LINK

"While it is true that more than $16 million is being spent on I-75 within the limits of the Pontiac trade area, it will bring little value to the CBD until the radial connection to it is made," the plan says.

I-75 will create more potential for competitors and less for the CBD until the Huron Street extension is completed.

Into the framework must go several architectural features that will complete the picture.

The major department store-type comparison shopping center, north of Huron, is marked by an air conditioned arcade from about Pine and Carter Streets on the west, to Perry at the Greyhound Bus Depot on the east.

★ ★ ★ ★

As the main pedestrain route, the arcade is fed by escalators at both ends from parking areas. The plan stresses that it be a "pleasant walk" which also gives access to small shops and large department stores.

Naturally, some existing structures would have to be removed to build the arcade.

A major public outdoor feature is a central shoppers plaza, located roughly in the area of Saginaw and Warren.

Warren will either become a mall or store area and the plaza would be on land now occupied by Saginaw. Other smaller plazas and malls are suggested following the line of Saginaw Street south to Huron.

★ ★ ★

All this is surrounded by stores, many of them remodeled present buildings, some of them entirely new.

Another innovation involves use of the old courthouse site at Saginaw and Huron.

BILLED AS PARK PLAZA

The plan bills this as the Central Park Plaza. It will contain the Pontiac Pavilion and a modern office building.

"This area provides a particularly wonderful opportunity to establish early a central image such as a park," the plan suggests.

A third major change would be the Water Street Mall. The plan recommends it be widened into part of a tree-lined vista linking the business district with the Civic Center.

This would create a "prestige site for a fine restaurant in a small plaza at the business end of the mall."

★ ★ ★

To the South of this proposed mall, lies the site of another proposed innovation, the Motor Executive's Hotel.

★ ★ ★

South of this, the CBD would consist mainly of smaller, specialized shops.

Consultants point out that most of South Downtown lies within the city's two urban renewal projects "Successful operating developers have expressed to the city's agent strong interest in the development of an office building, supermarket and multi-family housing" in this area.

Hi-rise apartments are recommended on the fringe of the CBD.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE

It is also suggested that a community college be established close to the CBD.

Whether the plan should be taker seriously is summed up in a portion of its statement of purpose.

"Had the merchants and businessmen underetaken five years ago what is proposed here, the advantages of downtown Pontiac . . . would have been so strongly in its favor that it is very doubtful the outlying shopping centers would have dared to develop."

Report 30 City Buildings Meet Shelter Demands

The city got a look this week at some of Pontiac's capabilities for providing community fallout shelters in the event of a nuclear attack.

First reports from the Federal Defense Shelter Survey indicated there are 30 buildings in the city with space for 4,218 persons, which meet every federal requirement.

Buildings that will need "minor modifications" to pass requirements number 183. They provide shelter space with a capacity of 18,548.

Thus, the first phase of the shelter survey has uncovered perfect or nearly acceptable space for 22,766 persons in a total of 212 buildings.

★ ★ ★

Data was collected on some 400 buildings when the survey began in January.

"Notices of the survey results are now being mailed to owners of the affected buildings," said David S. Teel, assistant city manager. "We must now negotiate with owners for right of way privileges to use building areas as community shelters.

"Everything hinges on whether the owner will permit such use of the specified area in his building."

Second inspections of all potential fallout shelters is currently under way by the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Those buildings where right of access is granted and minimum standards are met, will be stocked with food, water, medical supplies and radiation detection equipment.

MANY DOWNTOWN

Of the 30 buildings meeting all requirements, 13 are in the Central Business District. Of the total 212 buildings, 64 are in the CBD. They account for capacity of 9,032, according to Teel.

Some of the buildings meeting all requirements are Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac State Bank and Community National Bank buildings, and Oakland County Jail.

Three schools were found to pass all tests.

They are Washington Junior High School and Longfellow and Whittier elementary schools.

Downtown business places include Sears Roebuck Co., Eagle Theater, Lewis Furniture Co., J. C. Penney Co., Neisner Bros. Store, and the S. S. Kresge Co. Store.

★ ★ ★

"The most common shortcoming of buildings was ventilation. Of the 182 needing only minor changes, 60 required only improved ventilation to meet minimum requirements for 50 people," Teel said.

Find 2 Men Reported Missing on Lake Erie

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Two Toledo men, reported missing on Lake Erie were found early today shortly after the Coast Guard had resumed a search for them with the aid of a helicopter from the Naval Air Station at Grosse Isle, Mich.

★ ★ ★

The Coast Guard said Larry Smith, 20, and Charles Brown, 30, were found at 6:10 a.m. anchored off North Cape, eight miles northwest of Toledo.

CWO Ernest Killian, Coast Guard group commander at Cleveland, said the men took a 14-foot outboard motor boat they bought two weeks ago for a trial run about 9:30 a.m. yesterday and failed to return.

Owners Warned to Get Licenses

Warden Is Dogged by a Lag in Tags

Prosecutor George Taylor and Dog Warden Dr. Frank E. Bates are wondering what to do about doggone dog licenses.

Dr. Bates said yesterday about 50 per cent of the Oakland County residents receiving notices to purchase dog licenses have not complied.

Six men have been making house-to-house surveys hailing for dogs — and licenses, Dr. Bates explained.

Any owner without a permit for his dog has been given a week's notice to purchase one. The dog warden's office, in turn, has been checking license purchases against notices.

★ ★ ★

When Dr. Bates discovered only half the owners were complying, he went to see Taylor to discuss methods of enforcement.

Both men agreed the prosecutor's office can issue warrants against offenders — if it wants to.

"But it seems so silly to get a warrant just for a doggone dog license," Dr. Bates said.

NEED 'EDUCATION'

Taylor agreed, saying he would rather educate people about dog licensing laws than prosecute them.

As a result, Taylor and Bates are planning to prepare a letter over Taylor's signature, warning violators that a complaint has been made against them by the dog warden.

Failure to heed the warning, both men said, will result in prosecution.

★ ★ ★

Dog owners violating the state dog licensing law are guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a maximum penalty of $100 fine, three months in jail, or both, Taylor said.

Bates added that dogs must be vaccinated against rabies before a license is issued.

Rabies shots cost from $2 to $5, depending on the type, and licenses are $4 for female dogs and $2 for males and spayed female animals.

★ ★

Bates said licenses can be obtained from most veterinarians, the county treasurer's office and some township treasurers' offices.

Ferrer Asks to Reconcile After Rosemary Testifies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)— Jose Ferrer after hearing Rosemary Clooney accuse him of infidelity while sitting five children at home, answered her by pleading for a reconciliation.

"I'd come home tonight," Ferrer said.

★ ★ ★

His blonde wife tearfully testified Wednesday in their contested divorce trial that the Oscar winner had "affairs with other women from the beginning of our marriage."

★ ★ ★

Asked to comment on Ferrer's desire to come home, Miss Clooney, 33, answered: "I guess he would, if he could—and that's my only comment."

TRIAL RECESSED

The trial is in recess until Tuesday.

Superior Judge Meryen Aggeler suggested that both sides use the time to resolve their tangled financial situations.

"From what I've heard," the judge said, "both parties are as confused as the court."

★ ★ ★

Both Ferrer, 49, and his wife have given graphic accounts of how it is possible in Hollywood to earn millions and still be broke.

★ ★ ★

Miss Clooney, for instance, testified that she grossed $305,613.43 in 1955 and wound up with a net profit for the year of $4,190.38.

And that, apparently, was one of her better years because during eight years of marriage she grossed a total of $2,060,667.97—and now owes $63,632.29.

★ ★ ★

"Besides being insolvent," she said, "my doctor told me a week ago that I have an ulcer."

Rabies Problem Now Centers in Bats, Skunks

Skunks rather than dogs are becoming the main threat in the transfer of rabies to humans, the chief U.S. Veterinary Public Health last night told a joint meeting of the Oakland County Medical Society and the Oakland County Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. James H. Steele told the gathering at Kingsley Inn:

"We are approaching a point where we will not have any human fatalities from dog bites, although dog bites are still a serious problem."

"More than half of the human deaths from rabies are caused by skunk bites," he said. And he predicted there was little that could be done about controlling rabies among skunks and other wild animals such as foxes, raccoons and bats.

The reason in that dogs can be vaccinated "while there's little that can be done about, for example, the skunk population."

Teachers Reinstated by Education Board

NEW BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Anchor Bay School Board voted unanimously last night to reinstate seven teachers who were suspended at Anchor Bay High School last week for wearing black arm bands in protest of a defeated tenure proposal.

The six-member board, however, refused to award the teachers back pay for their lost work week.

Federal Judge Theodore Levin was to hold a show cause hearing on the pay issue in Detroit today. Levin ordered the hearing after a suit was filed against the board by the American Federation of Teachers.

The teachers were told to report back to their jobs tomorrow.

Biggest Blast Yet Ends First Week of U.S. Air N-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States wrapped up the first week of its nuclear tests in the Pacific with its third and biggest burst so far in the series—a million-ton blast that flashed eight cloudy miles near Christmas Island.

As in the first two tests, the device Wednesday was dropped from a plane. But it was at least one week ago Wednesday, were in the 100,000 to 500,000-ton range.

By contrast, the atom bomb that struck Hiroshima in World War II was rated at 20,000 tons of TNT.

Wednesday's blast thundered over the Pacific at about 8 a.m. test site time, or about 1 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

★ ★ ★

CONTROVERSY

As nuclear weaponeers checked the results of the initial clutch of tests and prepared for blast No. 4, a controversy was reported blowing up within the Kennedy administration. The question: What steps should the United States take to halt future nuclear tests after Dominic runs its course.

Some officials advocate that the United States enter a new moratorium on atmospheric tests, a reversal of present policy. Others insist that U. S. security requires a formal test ban agreement under an international inspection system to prevent sneak tests or secret preparations for tests.

★ ★ ★

Some State Department and White House officials are concerned the dispute may weaken the American bargaining position in the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva.

At the basis of the dispute is concern over policy and propaganda.

Washington authorities are sensitive to demands from overseas for an end to nuclear testing in the atmosphere. Thus officials say that efforts to improve detection equipment for all types of tests will be pressed.

EYE MORATORIUM

As for policy, some administration officials were reportedly talking of the possibility that the United States could afford to join in a moratorium on atmospheric testing when the current series ends.

About 30 more shots are expected to be fired in the Pacific tests. Among them will be three high altitude explosions in June or July.

The discoverer of the Van Allen radiation belt, Dr. James Van Allen of State University of Iowa, said Wednesday that a big nuclear detonation at high altitude probably would kick a hole in the belt but that he expected that it would be healed or repaired in a matter of a few weeks.

Van Allen said he had no information that any of the sky-high tests at Johnston Island would be high enough or strong enough to rupture the belt.

But he said in an interview that an explosion of several megatons at an altitude close to the lower limits of the belt—about 400 miles up—would do it.

The AEC has announced that one of its Johnston Island tests will involve a megaton device detonated at hundreds of kilometers. A kilometer is five-eighths of a mile.

★ ★ ★

Van Allen said a powerful explosion near the beltwould probably affect the earth's magnetic field in such a way that proton particles in the belt's blast area would be directed down into the atmosphere.

NO HARM

But Van Allen said the particles wouldn't harm anyone.

The Van Allen belt is believed to be formed by electrified particles originating from the sun and outer space which are trapped by the earth's magnetic field.

In another development Wednesday the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO charged that the government has suppressed for more than a year a report that radiation hazards are more serious than has been publicly stated.

★ ★ ★

Leo Goodman, secretary of the IUD atomic energy technical committee, demanded immediate release of the report. He said it contends hazards to employes exposed to radiation are greater then first thought when present safety standards were established.

Judson Hardy, an official of the U.S. Public Health Service, said of Goodman's charges: "I don't know what he could be talking about."

Hardy said a new report from the National Advisory Committee on Radiation is due in a week or two and no attempts have been made to suppress it.

The IUD statement said that the Atomic Energy Commission "continues to assure the American people that it operates the safest industry in the country while at the same time asking Congress not to hear witnesses on radiation damage due to accidents in atomic plants."

Missing Diamonds Located at Airport

LONDON (AP) — An insurance company canceled a reward offer today after $55,000 worth of missing diamonds turned up in the customs department at Paris Orly Airport.

★ ★ ★

The gems disappeared en route to an exhibition at the Louvre and the company offered a reward of $5,600. The company said they thought the mixup came about because the two packages arrived during a French national holiday.

Conductor Quits Symphony Post

San Francisco Musical Director Will Leave Orchestra Next Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Enrique Jorda, the Basque musical director, is terminating his contract with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

★ ★ ★

Jorda, who once proudly told Adolf Hitler that the Basque people were pro-aryan said a vsmall opposition is undermining the structure and morale of the symphony."

TO STAY NEXT YEAR

He said that he would be willing to stay through next season because of the difficulty in finding a replacement.

★ ★ ★

The board of governors of the San Francisco Symphony Association accepted his decision with deep regret, and told him he would suffer no financial loss because of shortening his term as conductor and musical director.

CUTS SHORT VISIT

Opposition to Jorda came to a head in March when George Szell cut short an engagement as guest conductor. Later Szell, conductor of the Cleveland Symphony, made public a letter to a music critic saying he found music in a sad state in San Francisco. He made no explanation.

★ ★ ★

The musicianship of Jorda's symphony, however, won high praise the following month from Pablo Casals as it gave the noted cellist and conductor the American premier of his oratorio "el Pessebre."

Child Is Killed in 'Same' Mishap as Her Sister

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) —A 2-year-old girl was killed by a truck yesterday in an accident almost identical to one in which her 21-month-old sister lost her life two years ago.

★ ★ ★

Jill Ann Thompson was run over by a city truck driven by her uncle, David Bruck, 22. She was playing in the driveway that separates the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thompson, from Bruck's.

★ ★ ★

Her sister, Lisa Ann, suffered fatal injuries when hit by a car driven by Bruck in the driveway in 1960.

The present-day Army enlisted man receives 65 items of personal clothing worth some $150.

Built First Such Car Twelve Years Ago

British Turbine Maker Wishes Chrysler Success

By BEN PELEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The English company which built and demonstrated the first turbine-powered automobile a dozen years ago hopes the announced plans of an American car maker to offer a few turbine-powered cars for sale next year is a rousing success.

★ ★ ★

"Our own projects would be badly hurt should Chrysler fail," said C. Spencer King, chief designer for the Rover Co., Ltd., of Solihull, England. "We wish them the very best of luck."

King and his boss, W. F. F. Martin-Hurst, managing director of Rover, were in this country recently to show their latest turbine prototype, the "T.4" at the New York International Auto Show.

King, a boyishly handsome man, took time out to fly to Detroit for a round of visits, including an informal session with George Huebner, who heads Chrysler's turbine car project.

Huebner had two turbine-equipped cars at the New York show, a Dodge Dart and a Plymouth. Chrysler has said it will build 50 to 75 turbine cars for the public in 1963.

Automotive News this week said the Chrysler cars will be called the Typhoon series and will be designed to use either a turbine, or a conventional piston engine. These will be available late next year, the trade paper said.

Rover demonstrated the first gas turbine car in 1950. The current prototype, installed in a neat, conservative Rover sedan with front wheel drive, is the fourth in the series—hence the name "T.4."

WILLING TO WAIT

King said the Rover turbine "probably" is advanced enough that it, too, could be offered to the public in the immediate future if the company so desired. The official Rover attitude is one of willingness to wait.

"We have more than 500 small industrial turbines in operation," King said, "and we can benefit from observing them. The is not meant to be a reflection on Chrysler. The conditions are different."

At a New York presentation Martin-Hurst declared: "We are not engaged in a race to be the first to market a gas turbine car. We are well aware that the deserts places of the world are studded with the graves of pioneers who misjudged the timing of their ventures, or who started without realizing the magnitude of the task they had set themselves. We do not intend to make this mistake."

★ ★ ★

King said that Rover and Chrysler have set about their task differently while using the same basic turbine principle. "We use a stationary heat exchanger, they use a rotating one. We may both benefit from work now being done on a new glass heat exchanger."

The heat exchanger recovers part of the heat from the exhaust gases so that it can be reused. This also cuts the temperature of the exhaust to decent figures, around 400 degrees.

A turbine has roughly one-fifth the parts of an internal combustion engine, a single spark plug, and is aid-cooled, needing no radiator.

It is a multifuel engine, working best on diesel fuel.

The gas turbine principle is much like that of the old water wheel. Picture a pair of water wheels, each on its own shaft. One is designed to work a pump (compressor). The other is connected to a powershaft. When falling water strikes the first wheel, it is pumped up and forced through a narrow pipe so it strikes the second wheel with greater velocity, increasing its speed.

In a gas turbine the second, or power wheel, spins up to 45,000 revolutions per minute from the force of the gases.

Chrysler has been concerned because previous versions failed to provide sufficient engine braking, which drivers of conventional cars depend upon. Rover says this isn't really necessary because it uses disc brakes on all four wheels which it says offers more than enough braking power. You just step on the brake pedal a little more often.

King is enthusiastic about his Rover, eager to have Chrysler succeed and generally optimistic about turbines. "Right now this engine has been developed to only about 20 per cent of its potential. The conventional internal combustion engine has been developed to at least 80 to 90 per cent. Our field is virtually unlimited."

Ironwood Gets Grant for Redevelopment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan was granted its first job-producing area redevelopment money yesterday — $400,000 to build a skiing facility in Ironwood.

The Area Redevelopment Administration told Sens. Philip A. Hart and Pat McNamara, Michigan Democrats, a grant and a loan to the Gogebic Range Ski Club would produce 200 jobs in addition to the construction work.

The money will be used to build an 80-meter ski jump, 120-meter ski flying slide, canteen, rest rooms, roads and parking areas.

The loan is $250,000 for public facilities to be repaid over 25 years and the grant is $150,000.

35 U.S. Negroes Are Listed as Millionaires by Magazine

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ebony Magazine yesterday listed 35 Negro millionaires in the United States.

★ ★ ★

The richest Negroes in the country are insurance company executives and physicians, and "many Negro fortunes emanate from the south with an exclusively Negro clientele," the magazine said. The article listed the names and business interests of "America's 100 richest Negroes."

It named Norris B. Herndon, president and majority stockholder of the Atlanta Life Insurance Co, the richest Negro in the U.S. The magazine described him as "reserved and retiring, spending much of his time at a Florida home far away from the crowd."

Only five entertainers and two sports figures appeared on the list of the 100 richest Negroes. They were Marian Anderson, Harry Belafonte, Johnny Mathis, Lena Horne, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Floyd Patterson and Jackie Robinson. Only Mathis, was described as a "true millionaire."

★ ★ ★

The article said there would be more Negro millionaires "were it not for the ingrained conservatism of Negro businessmen."

Negro businessmen also find it hard to obtain capital, the magazine said.

OTHERS LISTED

Among those listed as millionaires were:

—Alonzo Wright, Cleveland, who made his first fortune with a chain of gas stations and now owns downtown real estate, two hotels and Ohio farmland.

—A. G. Gaston, Birmingham, Ala., whose investments include an insurance firm, cemetery, a business school and savings and loan association.

—Dr. Percy Julian, Oak Park, Ill., chemist who sold his laboratory to Smith, Kline and French for $2,338,000 and remained its president.

★ ★ ★

—Dr. Edwin B. Henderson, Alexandria, Va., who inherited $2 million.

—Dr. Haley Bell, Detroit, dentist who is co-owner of radio station WCHB, for which $1 million was offered recently.

—Viola Austin, New York widow of millionaire realty broker Augustine A. Austin.

Of the 100 richest Negroes listed, 24 were doctors or dentists, 18 were in the insurance business and 14 in real estate.

Hammarskjold Plane Death Still Mystery

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A U.N. commission of inquiry announced yesterday its inability to penetrate the mystery of Dag Hammarskjold's death.

In a report to the General Assembly, the five-nation body did not rule out any of the rumored causes of the plane crash —sabotage, attack by hostile aircraft, mechanical difficulties or human failure. But it said there was no evidence to back up any of these theories.

Hammarskjold died Sept. 18 when a chartered plane crashed near Ndola, Northern Rhodesia. The U.N. secretary-general was on a Congo peace mission.

The report said:

★ ★ ★

"The commission has carefully examined all possible causes of the accident. It has considered the possibility of sabotage or of attack and the material or human failures which could have resulted in an accident. It has found no evidence to support any of the particular theories that have been advanced nor has it been able to exclude the possible causes which it has considered."

The commission included representatives from Nepal, Sierra Leone, Sweden, Yugoslavia and Argentina. It began work in December and held hearings in Africa and at Geneva.

The group went into every rumor thoroughly, including reports that a bomb was placed on the plane, a mysterious 17th person was hidden aboard the plane, the altimeters were out of order, the plane caught fire and that a Katanga plane attacked it.

The commission said the plane had been unguarded before it left Leopoldville, providing an opportunity for sabotage, but it found no evidence sabotage took place.

CHECKED EACH RUMOR

It found no signs any hostile plane was in the vicinity or that the Hammarskjold aircraft had been fired upon. Contrary to reports, the commission said, there were no bullet holes in the fuselage and no signs that it had been struck by a rocket or that an explosion had taken place.

The commission said the altimeters were in perfect order and that all signs indicated that neither crew nor equipment had caused the crash.

"There is no convincing evidence," the report said, "that any witness heard or saw an explosion before the crash."

The commission criticized Rhodesian authorities in relation to search and rescue operations. It said "lack of initiative and diligence" on their part may have contributed to the difficulty of solving the mystery.

Quicker action, it declared, might have resulted in the rescue of the one survivor, U.N. security officer Harold Julien, in time to save his life and provide some important answers.

The report concluded:

★ ★ ★

"Had that degree of diligence been shown which might have been expected in the circumstances, it is possible that the crash could have been discovered at an earlier hour and Sgt. Julien's chances of survival materially improved.

★ ★ ★

"Had he survived, not only would one life have been saved but there would have existed a possible source of direct knowledge of the conditions and circumstances surrounding the tragedy."

★ ★ ★

The commission noted that the wreckage was not discovered until 15 hours after the crash, although it was less than 10 miles from Ndola Airport.

JFK Gets Rail Pay Advice Today

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is due to get an advisory board's recommendations today for settling another big labor pay case, this one involving the bulk of the employes of the nation's railroads.

The report will deal with the wage increase demands of unions representing 650,000 rail workers, the same number of workmen involved in the recent steel labor controversy.

Even before receiving the report from the three-man presidential emergency board, named to try to head off a possible rail strike, the railroad industry had directed an appeal to the White House to disallow as inflationary any increase the board may recommend. The carriers demanded a wage cut.

The unions complained that the industry's public statements coming just in advance of the report were unethical and comparable to "trying to influence a judge while he has a case under consideration."

All this presaged rough going ahead, no matter what the board may recommend, in the 30-day period allotted under the Railway Labor Act for negotiations on the basis of the board's findings before a strike can be called. Members of the 11 rail unions involved have already authorized walkouts.

The report due today deals with claims of the nonoperating workers who service and maintain the rail system. They compose about two-thirds of all rail employes.

The carriers have a hot dispute running, too, with the operating unions—the engineers, firemen and others who man the trains. This relates primarily to industry demands to eliminate firemen from freight locomotive crews and to make other manpower economies.

All the rail labor organizations are solidly opposing the many proposed rail mergers.

The report to be delivered into Kennedy's hands in mid-afternoon concerns requests by the unions representing nonoperating workers for a 25-cent hourly pay raise, plus provision for six-month advance notice of job layoffs.

The railroads have asked the emergency board to recommend a 20 per cent wage cut for unskilled and semi-skilled nonoperating workers, a freeze on wages of skilled workers, and the right to lay off employes on 24-hours notice.

The unions say the workers average $2.43 an hour, the industry claims it is $2.47 and insists their employes are better paid than those in industry generally.

Artistic Legislating by House Dem Clears Way for Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way was clear today for a try at a House-Senate compromise on a bill to provide $1.5 billion in federal aid to build college classrooms.

The House Rules Committee removed its roadblock Wednesday after being assured that House participants in a joint conference would not accept a $900-million scholarship provision in the Senate bill.

The committee's handling of the higher education measure offered a rich example of the high art of legislating.

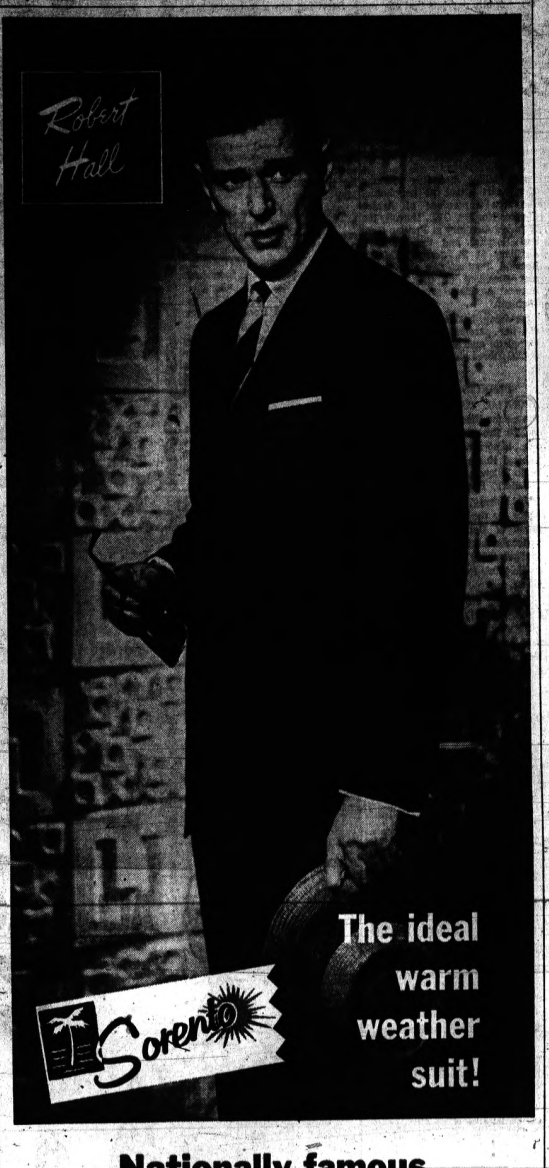

Rep. Howard W. Smith, 79, D-Va., chairman of the rules committee, readily admitted he initiated the proceedings whereby his committee sought to dictate the terms under which the House bill could be sent to conference.

Another member of the committee, Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., observed that it didn't seem a proper function of the rules committee.

"I confess it is somewhat unusual," Smith replied. "But sometimes you have to do unusual things to get along with legislation. And this is not the first time I have offended in that direction."

The House passed a bill last Jan. 30 providing $300 million a year for five years in grants and loans for the construction of academic facilities. A scholarship provision had been stricken in advance by sponsors of the bill because heavy opposition to it threatened the entire measure.

The Senate, following President Kennedy's request for student aid, provided for 212,500 federal scholarships in the bill it passed Feb. 6.

Appeal Action of Dismissal

Fatal Hit-Run Accident on Dixie Involves Man From Wyandotte

Action to appeal the dismissal of charges by Waterford Township Justice of the Peace John E. McGrath stemming from a fatal hit-run accident 18 March was started yesterday by the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

McGrath ruled in a preliminary examination April 4 that evidence submitted by state police was obtained in violation of search and seizure laws.

State police entered the garage of defendant Peter Michalec, 39, of Wyandotte, to inspect his car without a search warrant.

Michalec was first arraigned March 19 in connection with the death of Howard Donker, 53, of 4195 Solvay St., Waterford Township. Donker died within an hour after being struck March 16 on Dixie Highway near Silver Lake Road.

* * *

When the charges were dismissed at the preliminary examination, police secured a new warrant and a second arraignment took place. The defendant stood mute at both arraignments and has been free on bond.

* * *

A spokesman for the prosecutor's office said that rather than proceed with a second examination, the appeal was decided upon. The appeal must be filed by May 21 and it will be heard in circuit court.

Circuit Judges Deny Seeking Sixth Seat

Oakland County circuit judges denied they were seeking to add a sixth seat to the bench here when they appeared before the ways and mans committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

★ ★ ★

They termed any suspicions to the contrary were based on rumor.

"No request for an additional judge came from our bench," declared Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero. "We knew nothing about it before hearing the same rumor that came to you."

★ ★ ★

Neither the judges nor ways and means chairman David Levinson could say where such a rumor originated.

OPPOSE IDEA

Earlier, the committee, having "been informed that steps are being taken to introduce legislation (in Lansing) . . . to authorize an additional circuit judge for Oakland County," unanimously passed a resolution intended to head off such action.

". . . The need for an additional judge has not been demonstrated," the resolution states. It calls for letting the County Board of Supervisors decide whether to make any additions to the bench before allowing any bill for such to be considered by the state legislature.

Because the county bears the major cost of maintaining circuit judges and their staffs, it should have a voice in the matter of new additions, the resolution stipulates.

★ ★ ★

Judge Dondero pointed out to the committee that the Oakland County circuit judges as a body rank second in the state in the number of cases handled each year.

He left it up to the committee to consider whether an additional judge might be needed here.

★ ★ ★

"Our docket is in good shape," said Circuit Judge William J. Beer. He said that it was possible that an additional judge might be needed here at some future date as the county's population continues to increase.

★ ★ ★

Judge Dondero noted that the county's new courthouse was constructed with space allowances for a sixth judge. The space is being used for clerical offices and a jury assembly room at this time, he said.

Scientists Split on Fallout as Experiments Go On

(EDITOR'S NOTE—More so than in any other field of pressing public concern, science speaks with a divided voice on the hazards of fallout from nuclear tests. In the last in a series on facts about fallout, an Associated Press science writer describes hopeful avenues of research and sums up what is known today.)

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

OAK RIDGE, Tenn — Outside, rain spattered down. A frightened mother kept her children home from school. Rain, she believed, would bring down deadly amounts of radioactive fallout.

Other parents at times of nuclear tests, and even long afterward, won't allow their children to drink milk for fear it is contaminated with radioactive iodine that would give them thyroid cancer.

* * *

A small boy broke his finger. His mother is convinced it healed slowly because fallout had weakened his bones.

Scientists are generally dismayed over such extreme reactions to real or potential hazards in fallout.

TAKES MUCH MORE

They know what happens to animals given pretty good wallops of radiation, or big doses of strontium 90 or radioactive iodine. They know, for example, that strontium goes to bones, and can produce bone cancer in animals. But it takes 1,000 to 10,000 times the amount of strontium represented so far in fallout to produce the bone cancer in animals.

Still, that gives them cause for caution about what the far more tiny doses from fallout might do to humans over the years. But the scientist's phrase of "might be hazardous" is sometimes taken to mean any amount will be hazardous.

* * *

Federal radiation experts have established what they believe are sound safety limits regarding special-threat fallout atoms. These are the maximum amounts of radioactive strontium, iodine, or cesium which they believe a person could take in or be exposed to daily and still not be harmed. Fallout in the air, in milk or food rarely has exceeded these limits, and then only for brief periods.

NO ABSOLUTE PROOF

But they cannot offer absolute proof of no bodily harm from test fallout. Full knowledge about such radiation is lacking.

This uncertainty creates an issue in discussions of the need for nuclear testing, the moral right to test, and the fear that testing enhances prospects of ultimate war.

New research experiments are aimed at learning what the somatic or bodily effects of low-level, chronic radiation may be.

* * *

One project being started here at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory by a team of specialists will involve a colony of 100,000 mice, quite apart from the mice used in genetic studies.

Hundreds to thousands of mice will be exposed to various dosages of gamma rays from radioactive cesium over periods of days to months.

TO OBSERVE MICE

Then they will be observed and examined during their life span—normally about two years or so—to see if they live less long or get more cancers, leukemias and other ailments than mice not so exposed, explains Dr. A. C. Upton, a pathologist and physiologist.

Little is known about the long-term effects of low amounts of external radiation, he adds. Mice here will receive total dosages of five to 40 roentgens. That is about as low an amount as it is practical to give and still hope to see any measurable results among hundreds of mice.

* * *

It is already known that a dosage given at a low rate generally has no more than one-quarter to one-third the effect on mice as the same amount given rather rapidly.

Life shortening from radiation has been observed so far in mice, Dr. Upton adds. But little information is available about animals larger than mice, and about humans.

Irradiated mice usually die of about the same causes as normal mice, but they die sooner. The timetable for death is advanced. The more radiation received, the earlier the appearance of diseases of old age, such as cancer.

SET UP NEW COLONY

At the Argonne National Laboratory, near Chicago, the Atomic Energy Commission also is setting up still another colony of 10,000 mice.

Some of these will be dosed with varying amounts of strontium 90 and perhaps other fallout atoms to pinpoint effects. The amounts will be about 1,000 times or so larger than the amounts humans now are exposed to from fallout. Out of this will come more solid clues to human hazards from long-lasting fallout atoms such as strontium and cesium.

* * *

Like Dr. Upton's project, the Argonne research may take up to 10 years to draw significant new clues to put the human hazards into clearer focus.

These projects represent just some of the research to assess the real influence of radiation on human life.

"Many of us are concerned not so much about present levels of fallout, or what may come in the near future, so much as the effects if tests are held repeatedly to add greatly to existing radiation levels," Dr. Upton said.

VALUABLE DIVIDENDS

The research seeking basic information could also produce extremely valuable dividends, he adds, such as:

Sounder estimates of the precautions really needed for workers in the atomic age as atomic energy power plans expand.

Opportunities to test, in animals, antidotes or preventives proposed for radiation sickness, or protection against genetic or somatic hazards.

Clearer understanding of how radiation acts to kill cancer cells or combat leukemia, or how large doses act to bring on these diseases.

* * *

Clues to the immunity reaction by which a living body rejects borrowed organs, and study of methods to make borrowed organs survive to save lives.

* * *

Clues to the action of some viruses which, like genes, are regarded as bundles of genetic information to dictate what happens to cells and organisms.

These may well overshadow the ability finally one day to state precisely the risks from fallout.

MATTER FOR CONCERN

As of now, in the words of one U.S. Public Health Service expert, fallout "is a matter for concern, but not alarm."

Many but not all scientific judges would agree.

Reply to Japan Fails to Satisfy Minister

TOKYO (AP) — Foreign Minister Zentaro Kosaka said yesterday "We are very dissatisfied" with the U.S. reply to Japan's protest against its current nuclear tests. Kosaka was replying to a Socialist member in the foreign affairs committee of the upper house. He said Japan also is making an effort to prevent a resumption of Soviet tests.

Meadow Brook Ball Nearing

Oakland County's outstanding social function of the year, the Meadow Brook Ball, is fast approaching.

The affair on May 12, again will be held at Meadow Brook Hall, located on the Rochester estate of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and the late Mr. Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wilson and the executive trustees of the Michigan State University Oakland Foundation are sponsors of the $100-per-couple event, the proceeds of which will go directly to the MSU() Scholarship Fund. Mrs. William T. Gossett and Mrs. R. Jamison Williams are cochairmen.

The ball's purpose is to raise $25,000 toward the MSUO Foundation Scholarship Committee's $60,000 goal for the 1962-63 college year to provide 160 scholarships for students who otherwise could not attend college. Some 160 students are attending MUOO this year because the scholarship committee raised $60,000 last year. In the 1960-61 year $40,000 was earned for 130 scholarships.

All phases of this scholarship fund raising have been through the efforts of a group of women who comprise the scholarship and MSUO ball committees. Since the school does not yet have alumni, these workers have offered to perform one of the most important functions, normally handled by alumni, making the project a community effort.

Civic groups, business and service organizations have contributed to the fund raising. Some of the individual gifts include three four-year Charles Evans Hughes Scholarships, established by the William T. Gossetts in memory of her father, the late Chief Justice of the United States; and scholarship trust funds created by the Wilsons, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kyes and Birmingham's Village Woman's Club.

MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner has promised that no top-quarter high school student in the area will be denied the opportunity to attend college for lack of money.

Looking forward to the annual Meadow Brook Ball May 12 at the Rochester estate of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and the late Mr. Wilson are committee members (from left) Mrs. Don E. Ahrens, Mrs. Howard L. McGregor Jr. and Mrs. James C. Zeder. Some 250 couples are expected to attend the gala affair for dinner and dancing.

Mrs. Arthur W. Selden of First Congregational Church (right) who will participate in Friday's May Fellowship Day, sponsored by United Church Women of Pontiac, checks final arrangements for the event with (from left) Mrs. Merton B. Warner of the host church, Covert Methodist, coffee hour chairman; and Mrs. William DeRoo, University Presbyterian Church in Rochester, worship leader. Mrs. Selden will offer response to the program's theme "One Family Under God."

'Church Women' Make Fellowship Day Plans

United Church Women of Pontiac will participate in the nation-wide observance of May Fellowship Day Friday at the Covert Methodist Church on Pontiac Lake Road.

Registration and coffee hour will begin at 9:30 a.m. followed by the special worship service and address of the guest speaker, the Honorable Arthur E. Moore, from 10:15 until 11:45 a.m.

"One Family Under God — Who Is My Family?" will serve as the worship service theme to precede Judge Moore who will relate details of the newly created Religious Assistance Program and its effect on the community.

May Fellowship Day is an annual observance sponsored by United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of Churches. The Pontiac Council is one of the 2,300 local and state councils of United Church Women participating in this year's observance, all using the same worship service, especially prepared for the day.

The offering is used to develop and strengthen work of local and state councils, thereby providing Christian women with an opportunity to unite locally in fellowship, and to become a working part of the ecumenical movement in the community.

Mrs. Allen E. Priestley is chairman and Mrs. Lyndon S. Salathiel, cochairman, for this year's observance program.

SERVICE PARTICIPANTS

Participants in the worship service include the Rev. Wilbur E. Courter of the host church giving the welcome, Mrs. Floyd Miller, of the Baldwin Avenue Presbyterian Church, presenting the silent meditation and call to worship; Mrs. Lenworth R. Miner, president and wife of the Rev. Miner of Macedonia Baptist, giving a statement on significance of the day.

Mrs. William De Roo, of University Presbyterian Church in Rochester, will lead the worship service, and Mrs. Arthur W. Selden of the First Congregational Church will give the theme response.

Others taking part in the service are Mrs. Shields Dierkes, of Orchard Lake Community Church; Mrs. John J. Fricke, All Saints' Episcopal Church; Mrs. Lucy Whiters, Messiah Baptist Church; Mrs. Eva Spears, Newman AME; Mrs. Allen Ebey, First Church of the Brethren; Mrs. Lewis C. Ball, Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren; and Mrs. Harold L. Harris, Zion Church of the Nazarene.

Presenting the benediction will be Mrs. Gary Crowel, wife of Lt. Crowel of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Merton B. Warner from the host church is chairman of the coffee hour, assisted by Mrs. William Grace, Mrs. James Lucas, Mrs. L. D. Bigelow and Mrs. Gard Thomas, all from the host church.

Serving as hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Harold D. Floyd, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service and Mrs. Wilbur E. Courter, wife of the Rev. Courter, both of the host church.

Mrs. Donald Sturdevant of the host church will supervise the nursery and Mrs. David Moothart of Central Methodist Church will serve as organist for the service.

Long time United Church Women members and former registrar Mrs. H. R. Fraser, Bloomfield Hospital resident, (center), was visited by Mrs. Lyndon S. Salathiel of First Presbyterian Church (left) and Mrs. Allen E. Priestley, fellowship day chairman, who issued a special invitation to attend the program.

College Campus Personals

Among 17 Wayne State University students to receive fellowships under two different programs for graduate study in the natural and social sciences is Ronald A. Andrews of East Montcalm Street.

He and six others have been selected for a cooperative graduate fellowship which carries a $2,400 stipend for a 12-month tenure and $1,800 for a nine-month program. Ronald will receive his bachelor of science degree in physics from Wayne in June and will return in the fall for graduate work in the same field.

The others were awarded summer fellowships for full-time study or research.

Mother, Let Her Go to Dance

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I have a 17-year-old daughter who has been invited to a fraternity dance by a boy friend who goes to a college in another state. My daughter is very anxious to go and cannot understand why I am hesitating about saying "yes." His college is a big one and quite a distance away from here.

As she does not know of anyone else who will be going to this dance from here, she will have to go alone. Would it be proper for her to go by herself on the train and stay at a motel or whatever place is provided by the boy? This is a new experience to me and I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

A: Surely all arrangements have been made at the college to properly put up and chaperone the girls who are coming to the dance. If the trip is only a matter of several hours on the train, there is no reason why you may not let her go.

Q: I'm going to spend part of my vacation in the town in which my fiance works. I'm staying at the house of friends of his, a young married couple with a small child, who are strangers to me. I know from him that they haven't much money and I wondered how I could pay my way.

I don't want to hurt their feelings but I would feel a lot better about staying there if I could defray the expense of my visit.

A: Discuss this with your fiance, and if he thinks they would be offended by an offer to pay for your visit, you can send something nice for their child or for their house when you return home.

Q: I am a widow in the late thirties and planning to remarry shortly. The wedding will be in church. I would like to know if it would be in good taste for me to have two bridesmaids in addition to the attendant of honor?

A: One attendant is in best taste at a second marriage.

You'll Get the Message

No, Never ASK to Kiss Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman in college and, believe it or not, I have never kissed a girl. I mean really kissed her. I have given girls little innocent pecks on the cheek, but that doesn't count.

ABBY

This may sound nuts but I have dated plenty of girls and, while everyone else is making out, we sit and talk. I spoke to a buddy of mine and he said, "Don't ask a girl if you can kiss her. Just grab her and kiss her!" I would die of embarrassment if she pushed me away. Does a guy just grab a girl or does he ask first?

SHY GUY

DEAR SHY: A kiss should be more of a spontaneous act than a planned campaign. If you have to ask a girl for permission, the whole thing would probably be a big letdown. Wait until you get the "message."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife were married for three years. They were divorced and stayed apart for almost a year. Then they were remarried to each other.

If they had not been divorced, they would be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary this June. Would it be proper to entertain at an open house for their 25th anniversary anyway, and ignore the time they were apart? Incidentally, a daughter was born to them before their divorce.

MIDWEST

DEAR MIDWEST: Be generous and ignore the divorce.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was married two years ago, but it wasn't much of a wedding. She eloped with a schoolboy sweetheart. It lasted only a year and now she is getting married again.

We want to give her a large church wedding with a white gown and veil, but our friends say that we can't do it because of that first marriage she had. In view of the fact that she never had a "real" wedding, don't you think we should go ahead with our plans?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Although your daughter never had a large church wedding, she did have a "real" marriage ceremony. Forego the veil and gown for a simple wedding.

NEVA LOUISE TURNER

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

The Tailor Trix pressing board winner of the week is Mrs. V. Smith, Hamilton, Ont., who makes this suggestion:

"After having difficulty drying oven mitts because of the heavy padding, I decided to make 'slip covers' for them. Now the mitts do not have to be washed so frequently. I just put a mitt on two layers of fabric, allowing a seam allowance. Seam the raw edges, turn and finish the hem with bias tape. In 5 minutes I have a new cover which is very easy to launder."

HAT FUN TO MAKE

"Dear Eunice,

"I couldn't wait to make the 'cocktail hat' from the pattern I sent for from your column. I find it was even cuter than the picture, and fun to make. I am using a pair of 'clip' earrings clipped on the hat for a little 'extra touch.' There are probably other little touches such as a flower, fruit, etc. to make it look more individual."

Mrs. F. W.

DRESS PLACKET HARD

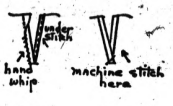

"Dear Eunice,

"In making little girls' dresses, I can't seem to get the placket in the back. Can you help me?"

Mrs. J. T. W.

This is a rather tedious technique and is actually the same principle as used in "gussets." In other words, you must reinforce the area you are going to clip with tiny machine stitches first to prevent the clipped fabric from fraying out. Try to use a strip of fabric with one side of the selvage for your continuous lap, this will keep it from looking so thick.

The secret to keep it from pulling out at the bottom, since it is only held together with one thread (any more than one would make a tuck), is to fold the two finished sides of the continuous lap over each other and diagonally stitch through BOTH of them about one half inch above the lower edge diagonally down to the end. This will keep from pulling against only one thread. The illustration should help you.

THREE TIMES AROUND

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"My teen-age daughter wants lots of pleated skirts. Will you please give me the dimensions for figuring the yardage needed?"

Mrs. A. S.

For the average "generously pleated" skirt, you will need three times her hip measurement for the skirt. When the skirt is pleated, it must be as large as her hips or else the pleats will fan out in a very unattractive way. The excess must now be held in at the waistline. This can be done by making each pleat a little smaller at the waistline before applying the waist band. If the skirt is box-pleated, you can make a small dart in the center of each space between the pleats and this will make it fit smoothly at the waist.

HOW TO MATCH PLAIDS

"Dear Eunice,

"Will you please tell me how to baste a plaid or striped material to insure a perfectly matched seam? Thank you for all your excellent 'tips'."

Mrs. J. M. D.

First of all, the cutting of plaids and stripes is the most important step when it comes to the finished product looking matched and even. Be sure the center back seam will meet at the "center" of a plaid, so it will look unbroken after stitching.

Fold and press the seam allowance on one side of the seam. Next, lay the pressed or folded seam allowance over the other seam allowance, right side of fabric, matching the plaid perfectly. Pin this seam in place. Next, slip-stitch the folded edge of the seam line to the seam line of the under section.

Be careful that you keep your stitches in the fold of the seam. You can now turn the seams to the wrong side and machine stitch the seam. It is a good idea to pin carefully before stitching so that the fabric will not slip.

To answer many questions concerning plaids, when cutting the bodice, you must always match the side seams below the side dart, not at the armhole.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Massage Heels, Elbows

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Why let 10 pounds too much lie on you — and ABOUT you? They do lie about you because they make you look older than you are. They may even make you feel older.

* * *

Just 10 pounds can make the difference between a smoother thigh-line and a bumpy one, between a slim waist and a roll over the girdle, between a flat abdomen and one which protrudes.

Those of you who have been reading, "Why Grow Old?" this week know that I am bringing you my 9-Day Reducing Diet. I have suggested that you should profit by making this a Spring Makeover as well as a period of rapid reduction.

I already have written this week about giving the complexion special care. Also, remember your heels and your elbows! These are probably somewhat roughened by cold weather. Massage cream into them after your bath, every day, if you haven't done so before.

If, for no longer, at least for just this nine days, massage your scalp every night before going to sleep. Spread your fingers on your scalp and then hold them in place while you rotate your hands.

Cold weather might have roughened your heels and elbows. Make massaging them a part of your daily routine.

Here are the menus for Friday.

BREAKFAST — One egg; One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast; Black coffee.

LUNCHEON — Fresh fruit salad; Two tablespoons cottage cheese; One glass skimmed milk; One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast.

DINNER — Baked fish, medium portion; One-half cup cabbage, lightly cooked; One-half cup spinach or greens; One glass skimmed milk; One orange.

* * *

If you have missed the preceding menus or would like to have the complete 9-Day Diet in booklet form, for future reference, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

See 65 Ideal Time to Retire

Most Teen-Agers Believe 20s Best Age

By EUGENE GILBERT
President Gilbert Youth Research Co.

You teen-agers have prospects of living longer than people ever have in history. This promise is held out by advances in preventive medicine — such as the vaccines that keep you from getting ill — as well as the drugs that combat illness and cure you. There are many other things that conspire to offer longevity.

★ ★ ★

Since you'll be the people who will inherit a longer life, it seemed entirely proper that we should want to know what you think about such a matter as retirement and particularly what age level you think is the best time in life.

Well, we went out across the nation in search of answers, and this is what we found:

The best time of life for a man is between the ages 21-30, say 67 per cent.

For a woman, it's before she's 25, say 73 per cent.

RETIREMENT IDEAS

The ideal retirement age for a man is 61-65, according to 23 per cent.

For a woman, 46-50, say 21 per cent.

For two out of three of you, there's been no serious thought whatsoever about retirement as far as setting personal age limits.

The question about best time of life, of course, lends itself to a variety of explanations and reasons and choices.

"I don't know," Sharron Porter, 18, of Playa Del Rey, Calif., said quite frankly. "I don't believe there is any special time for a woman but each time is wonderful when she is with someone she really is fond of and feels needed."

Others are more definite, specifying exact ages, rather than giving age spans.

Carolyne Williams, 18, of Canoga Park, Calif., for example, picked 35 as the best age in a man's life. She explained:

"The man generally is settled and is beginning the highest point of his income in life."

But Sani Evans, 17, of Sioux Falls, S. D., thought the teen-age years couldn't be topped, because it is a time "when he is free of responsibility and first discovering the world."

"A 17-year-old fellow we talked to in Belleview, Fla., said there are no bones about it, it is the most fabulous age for a man. Why?

"Because you are allowed to vote, drink and drive."

Statistically, it turns out that 67 per cent of those we questioned picked the age groups representing a span from 21 to 29. Only 14 per cent thought the 31-40 decade was best.

As for the best age in a woman's life, it would seem most of you regard being over 25 as banishment to a rocking chair. Thirty-five per cent said that for a woman the best age is under 20. And another 38 per cent picked the 21-35 years span. After that — for instance, from the age 36 onward, the number signifying older age levels could be counted on one hand.

Jacqueline Wiesche, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who selected 19 as the year, explained that it's "the age where a woman really comes to life."

Sara Bales, 17, of Sioux Falls, S.D., upped it a year, claiming 20 is the time "a girl is at the peak of her natural beauty and has the exuberance to enjoy life fully."

We then put other questions to the 1,011 teeners in our survey, such as naming the ideal retirement age.

The largest number in the survey group, 23 per cent, probably made a choice with which you would hardly disagree. It follows the traditional pattern in U.S. That is, retirement between the ages 61-65. Twenty per cent figured that it should be between 66-70, which is practically standard practice these days.

But as for retirement ages for women, it seems that you lean toward an age level that is apparently below that practiced as a rule. Twenty-one per cent said the ideal retirement age for women is between 46-50. And 19 per cent said it was between 61-65. Surprisingly, nearly 11 per cent said it should be when a woman is under 40.

We were a bit surprised to learn that only 29 per cent of you have given any thought to when you'd like to retire. Of this relatively small number, we found that among you fellows the favorite retirement age is between 56-60, an age, incidentally, selected by only 13 per cent of the girls in this age-group.

★ ★ ★

The girls (21 per cent), on the other hand, picked 46-50, with 17 per cent saying they would like to quit work before they are 40.

Retirement, naturally, brings up some question of support and income. So we asked what you thought about Social Security payments: should they be cut, kept the way they are, or boosted?

Raise the payments, said 35 per cent. Keep them the same, said 29 per cent. Cut them, said a handful (5 per cent).

Most of you (32 per cent) think that Social Security payments to a man and wife average between $100-150 a month. The next largest number, 11 per cent, figured it averaged under $100.

★ ★ ★

Actually, it is difficult to set an average because there are so many other factors that determine what the payments will be. This depends on income before retirement, age of retirement, age of the wage earner's wife, and age of children. As it is now, the maximum benefit for a family is $254 a month.

CARROT CAKE — Carrots are delicious for dessert when they're in Carrot Cake. It's a tasty and tasteful looking cake with colorful orange flecks of carrots highlighting a rich brown loaf studded with nuts and redolent with cinnamon.

No One Refuses Carrots in Cake

Carrots for dessert?
And how!

Here you have colorful orange flecks of carrots peeping out of a rich spicy brown cake, full of nuts. Carrot Cake is a truly unique and delicious cake — the epitomy of excellence in looks and taste.

Carrot Cake is a moist and flavorful loaf and oh so easy to make. Poly-unsaturated vegetable oil takes the effort out of blending your ingredients.

It's the most versatile of cakes too. Though perfect for dessert after any meal, why don't you serve it when the girls come in for a coffee break? It's equally appropriate at breakfast, brunch or an afternoon school treat. Spread some cream cheese on it for the youngsters and just watch your Carrot Cake disappear. A bunny couldn't nibble his carrot with more gusto.

Carrot Cake

1 cup sugar
½ cup poly-unsaturated vegetable oil
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup grated carrots
2 eggs
½ cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees (moderate). Mix sugar and oil; add sifted dry ingredients and carrots. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add nuts and blend well. Turn into oiled 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Bake 55 to 60 minutes.

Cover cake with aluminum foil for first 20 minutes of baking to reduce cracking. Makes 1 loaf.

Be Original in Concocting Different Macaroni Dishes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Macaroni and cheese, a favorite meatless dish, can take on half a dozen variations while remaining meatless.

Cook 2 cups (8 ounces) of elbow macaroni as package directs. Drain and mix with your favorite cheese sauce to which you've added one of the following: ½ cup of sliced pimiento-stuffed olives; 2 tablespoons of grated onion; 2 tablespoons of chopped chives; chopped pimiento and green pepper to taste; drained minced clams or other seafood. Or substitute Swiss cheese for cheddar in the sauce.

When recipe directions read that a food is to be "diced," it is usually safe to cut the food into one-quarter-inch squares.

Oatmeal Has Come Far Since Early Grocery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ground oats were sold from tall glass jars in apothecary shops in the early days in this country. As demand grew, the product became a grocery store item, and was sold from open barrels.

Today packaged oats come in several forms, quick cooking or old fashioned, or ready-to-eat dry cereal. Bite-sized shredded wheat oat cereal can also double as a sundae topping. Mix the cereal into rich chocolate sauce and spoon it over vanilla ice cream.

Aging of Beef

Do You Know? — What effect does aging have on beef? . . . The fact is aging improves the flavor and tenderness of beef . . . Only high quality beef is aged, because the meat must have a good fat covering to prevent evaporation.

Pocket Gadget Helps Housewives Shop

A pocket-size plastic disc looks something like a circular slide rule. But it's for shoppers, not engineers.

When you learn how to use the disc, it tells you which of two products of the same quality is the better buy—regardless of difference in net weight, liquid volume or price. An arrow on the disc points to the percentage of money saved.

The disc will compare values of any items weighing between two ounces and eight pounds and costing between a dime and $10. (Dial and Save, P.O. Box 3322, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y.)

Egg Color Unimportant

What about egg shell color? . . . Shell color varies from white to brown . . . Consumer preference has traditionally varied depending upon area . . . Shell color is a breed characteristic . . . Some breeds of poultry produce eggs with brown shells; others with white . . . But—the nutritive value and the cooking performance of both white and brown eggs of the same grade are identical.

Ground Ham Serves Six in Party Style Pie

Wondering what to do with that left-over ham? Here is a dish that isn't at all the kind usually thought of when "leftovers" are mentioned, yet it calls for cooked ham.

★ ★ ★

It's a scrumptious meat pie combining ground ham, spicy green pepper, bright tomato slices, mushroom soup, seasonings and a golden crown of melted Swiss cheese.

Home economist Reba Staggs suggests purchasing fully-cooked or canned ham when cooked ham isn't on hand for the dish.

Party Ham Pie

3 cups ground cooked ham
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 medium tomato, peeled and thinly sliced
½ cup grated Swiss cheese
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Milk

Brown onion and green pepper lightly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add ham, ½ cup mushroom soup, flour, mustard and horseradish and mix well.

Spoon one-half the mixture into baked pie shell. Top with tomato slices. Spoon remaining ham mixture over tomatoes.

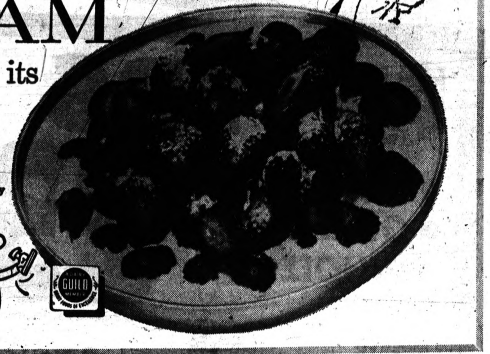

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Sprinkle with grated cheese and continue baking 5 minutes. Add enough milk to remaining soup to give the consistency of gravy. Heat and serve with pie. 6 servings.

Beans Digest Well

Nutritionists say beans, properly prepared, are readily absorbed into the system and are 90 per cent digestible — more digestible than bread, peas, potatoes, corn or rice . . . One pound of dry beans measures more than 2 cups . . . And 2 cups are enough for 6 to 8 servings of baked beans or 12 servings of hearty bean soup.

Spring Is Tea Time for Auxiliary

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Automation may be the password of the times, but we'll wager that dainty tea sandwiches won't be affected. It is difficult to see how they could be made by machine (that is, and look like anything!)

★ ★ ★

Three weeks from today, the Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital is giving its annual membership tea at the Lake Orion home of Mrs. John Marra. Bite-size sandwiches and cookies will be served.

★ ★ ★

To some women the thought of preparing hundreds of these little sandwiches nearly floors them. But to one of the committees it is all in a day's work.

This might be because two of the women have had a short-term course in sandwich making. Mrs. Harold Furlong and Mrs. Arthur Young attended several classes sponsored by the Village Women's Club and held at Meadow Brook.

What they learned they will teach the others helping them: Mrs. Mac Whitfield, Mrs. Harold Euler, Mrs. Milo Cross and Mrs. Stuart Whitfield. They will make up their fillings the day before the tea and get the bread ready.

The fillings will be refrigerated, of course, and the bread tightly covered or even frozen. The day of the tea the committee will use a streamlined production method and whiz through their chores in record time.

One of the fillings they are planning to use will complement the color scheme of the Marra home which is pink and red. This is a cream cheese and dried beef filling. You might like to try it for your next party. This same mixture, if made a little thicker, can be served on toothpicks for a cocktail tidbit.

DRIED BEEF FILLING

Soften a small package of cream cheese. Stir into it as much dried beef cut into fine pieces with scissors as you desire to make a polka dot effect. Add a horseradish to taste. Monosodium glutamate may also be added. This to desired consistency with mayonnaise. Spread on rounds of bread.

★ ★ ★

Minute cream puffs filled with tuna salad will also appear on the sandwich trays May 22. These are another item you can prepare ahead of time for the shells keep nicely. You put the filling in just before serving.

If you want to get double the number of servings, just cut the puffs in half and serve halves heaped with filling. They're more decorative that way too.

Here's a creampuff recipe in case you need one.

1 cup water
1 stick butter or margarine
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
dash of salt
4 eggs

Heat butter or margarine and water to boiling. Stir in flour and baking powder until mixture forms into a ball. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Beat until smooth.

Drop by teaspoonfulls on greased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees 15 minutes (maybe a little less time). Turn off oven and let puffs stand 5 more minutes. When cool, slit in half with sharp knife and fill with tuna or chicken salad.

LET'S HEAR ABOUT IT—Janet Odell, left, Pontiac Press Home Editor, hears all about the plans one of the committees has for mass production of tea sandwiches for the coming Pontiac General Hospital Auxiliary tea. Mrs. Stuart Whitfield, Cherokee Road; Mrs. Milo Cross, North Hammond Lake Drive; and Mrs. Harold Furlong, Navajo Drive are among those who will make sandwiches at Mrs. Furlong's the day of the tea, May 22.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to help keep freedom in your future for $4.33 a week

The sum of $4.33 a week will buy you a dozen Savings Bonds in a year. A few years of this and you'll be $1,000 richer.

Nothing wrong with being rich. The more savings strength we have as individuals, the more strength we have as a Nation.

But there are some other rather remarkable wheels you set in motion when you buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

As your Bond dollars grow, your country uses them to protect the things America stands for. And to make sure that you and your family will always enjoy the freedoms which a handful of brave Americans set their names to on July 4, 1776.

Buy Bonds for freedom now. All you need to make this investment is a few dollars a week and a belief in America.

Spring Is Tea Time for Auxiliary

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Automation may be the password of the times, but we'll wager that dainty tea sandwiches won't be affected. It is difficult to see how they could be made by machine (that is, and look like anything!)

★ ★ ★

Three weeks from today, the Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital is giving its annual membership tea at the Lake Orion home of Mrs. John Marra. Bite-size sandwiches and cookies will be served.

★ ★ ★

To some women the thought of preparing hundreds of these little sandwiches nearly floors them. But to one of the committees it is all in a day's work.

This might be because two of the women have had a short-term course in sandwich making. Mrs. Harold Furlong and Mrs. Arthur Young attended several classes sponsored by the Village Women's Club and held at Meadow Brook.

What they learned they will teach the others helping them: Mrs. Mac Whitfield, Mrs. Harold Euler, Mrs. Milo Cross and Mrs. Stuart Whitfield. They will make up their fillings the day before the tea and get the bread ready.

The fillings will be refrigerated, of course, and the bread tightly covered or even frozen. The day of the tea the committee will use a streamlined production method and whiz through their chores in record time.

ARTICHOKES—This colorful and festive Artichoke Antipasto, centering around fresh artichokes, will start any spring dinner party off with a flourish.

Artichokes Add Glamour Touch to Your Company Entertaining

Now is a fine time to enjoy a gourmet favorite at prices all can afford. . . fresh artichokes. This elegant and subtly-flavored vegetable is now at its peak of fine flavor.

★ ★ ★

This fine vegetable has even more to recommend it . . . artichokes are high in vitamin and mineral content and low in calories. And they're delicious served either hot or cold, with a dip or sauce, or when stuffed.

Artichoke Antipasto is a winning dish which will come in handy for your spring entertaining. Fresh artichokes, filled with a blue cheese dip, mark the center of the Artichoke Antipasto tray. Cherry tomatoes, cocktail frankfurters, pineapple spears, pimiento-stuffed olives, carrot curls, scallions, celery, cheese wedges and sliced mushrooms complete this festive dish.

For a different way to serve artichokes, try them with a dip, a Hot Swiss Dip. This makes a very special hors d'oeuvre.

Wash artichokes; trim stems to 1 inch; pull off tough outer leaves. Place artichokes upside down on table or board and press firmly. Remove chokes (fuzzy portion) using sharp knife and metal spoon.

Place artichokes in 1-inch boiling water; add lemon juice allowing 1½ teaspoons for each artichoke. Sprinkle each artichoke with ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cover tightly and cook 20 to 45 minutes (depending upon size of artichokes), or until stems can be pierced easily with a fork. Immediately turn artichokes upside down to drain.

Artichoke Antipasto

Prepare 3 artichokes as directed above.
1½ cups sour cream
2 jars (5 ounces each) process blue cheese spread
Cherry tomatoes
Cocktail frankfurters
Fresh pineapple spears
Pimiento-stuffed olives
Carrot curls
Scallions
Celery fans
Cheddar cheese, cut into wedges
Sliced mushrooms

Chill artichokes. Meanwhile, combine sour cream and blue cheese spread; blend well. Chill. Fill artichokes with blue cheese dip and arrange in center of large serving platter. Arrange remaining ingredients as desires around artichokes. Makes 12 servings.

Artichokes with Hot Swiss Dip

Prepare 4 artichokes as directed above; chokes (fuzzy portion) need not be removed for this recipe.
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
½ cup beer
½ cup water
1½ cups grated natural Swiss cheese
1 teaspoon caraway seeds

While artichokes are cooking, melt butter or margarine. Stir in flour. Slowly add beer and water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in cheese, and caraway seeds. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted and smooth. Serve with hot artichokes.

Mold Shrimp Paste Serve on Crackers

This shrimp paste hails from the South. It's such a pretty pink color, it's just right for a party.

Shrimp Paste

1 pound small shrimp (cooked and cleaned)
½ cup (¼ pound) butter
Salt and pepper to taste

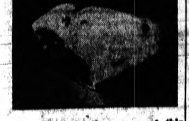

★ ★ ★

Put the shrimp through the fine blade of the food chopper. Cream butter with a spoon; mix in the shrimp thoroughly, adding salt and pepper. Pack into one 1½ cup mold or into three ½ cup molds; chill, covered, for at least several hours.

★ ★ ★

Unmold with the help of a spatula, running it around the edges and down to the bottom of the mold or molds. Serve with Melba toast or crackers.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. American-Style Leg of Lamb.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the hind leg. The shank bone is removed and the shank meat tucked into a pocket under the fell.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. Place the meat fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert a meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, making sure the bulb does not rest in fat or one zone. Do not cover and do not add water.

Roast in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) until the thermometer reaches 175 degrees F. for well-done. Allow 20 to 35 minutes per pound.

Sauce Is Baked With Pudding

A new version of a pudding-cake dessert with a baked-in sauce.

Saucy Pudding Cake

1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
½ cup granulated sugar
1¼ cups firmly packed dark brown sugar

1 egg (well beaten)
½ cup cool water
¾ cup quick-cooking rolled oats
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
1½ cups boiling water

Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Beat together the granulated sugar, ½ cup of the brown sugar, butter and egg; add sifted dry ingredients alternately with the cool water. Stir in oats, raisins and walnuts.

Turn into a greased 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle the remaining 1 cup brown sugar over top; pour boiling water over this. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 to 45 minutes. Allow to stand 10 or 15 minutes before serving.

Spoon into serving dishes. Top with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. Makes 9 servings.

Delightful sauce for fish fillets: melted butter mixed with lemon juice and minced parsley.

Home Grown Product

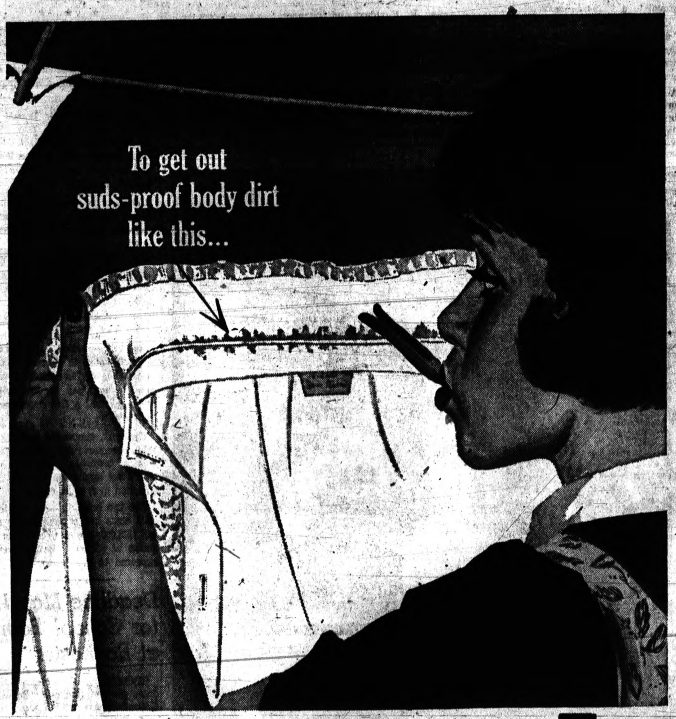

Our state ranks first in the production of red tart cherries! . . . We are fortunate in having a perfect Cherry-land, for most cherries are grown most successfully eight to ten miles from water . . . And, the water of the Great Lakes remains cold, retarding the growth of the buds in early spring and thereby lessening the chance of frost damage . . . Look for Michigan red tart cherries . . . most of them may be found canned and frozen right in our grocery stores.

Dice celery fine and add to creamed chicken, ham or eggs for a crisp texture contrast.

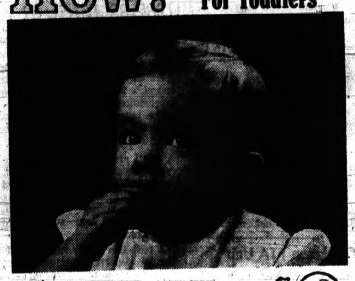

Age Has Nothing to Do With Certain Food Needs

Senior citizens actually need less food to burn as energy but still need as much of the repair materials in food as they did at 20 years of age. Sometimes even more proteins, minerals and vitamins, are needed just as more rest is needed.

This increasing segment of our population should plan meals around the four food groups which include dairy foods, meat group, vegetables and fruits and breads and cereals.

1962-63 Figure $2.29 Million

Budget OK'd in Southfield

SOUTHFIELD — The City Council here last night gave formal approval to a $2.29-million budget for 1962-63 following a public hearing attended by only 12 residents.

The budget was approved despite Mayor S. James Clarkson's heated charge last week that the budget was part of a City Council "subterfuge" in setting the tax rate.

Clarkson claimed the tax rate amounted to $9.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation compared to the charter limit of $7 per $1,000.

The $7 per $1,000 (seven mills) designated in the budget was broken down into 6.06 mills for general operating fund, .3 mills for library .3 mills for parks and recreation, and .34 mills for building and site purposes.

The budget, some $151,000 higher than the 1961-62 budget, includes $1.67-million for operating and $310,611 for operation and debt retirement in the water department.

City Administrator Donald V. Smith said expenses may even be higher than the budget. More than $230,000 will go for items and services not in the current budget, he said.

Cutbacks in some areas such as library operation and recreation programs may be necessary, Smith added.

He also pointed out that payments on county-built drains — the Southfield Road storm drain, the Northwestern storm drain, and the X2 Towns Drain — will be higher this year.

In other action, the City Council voted to borrow $75,000 from the old Evergreen Sewer fund to help pay for two building sites and a fire department pumper.

The fund, containing some $210,000 in revenues raised when the city was a township, has been declared not applicable to drain construction in a court ruling.

The two building sites and their total costs are a civic center site for $135,000 and a fire station location at $50,000. The pumper is expected to cost about $25,000.

AVON TOWNSHIP — Some 400 supporters of Michigan Christian Junior College are expected to attend the college's annual benefit banquet at 7 p.m. Friday in the college's cafeteria.

★ ★ ★

Master of ceremonies for the event will be Jim Wood of Detroit radio station WJR. Another WJR personality at the banquet will be singer Jan Wynn.

Banquet entertainment chairman Gerald Montgomery, director of the Greater Detroit Safety Council, has arranged an appearance by a mystery magician.

Tickets for the banquet, sponsored by friends of MCJC, are being sold throughout southeastern Michigan by business and professional men under the direction of banquet chairman, Millard Loftis, of Redford Township.

Along with the ticket sales drive, MCJC supporters are seeking to acquaint community leaders with the college's history and scope.

The majority of the college's students, as well as most of its financial support, comes from southeastern Michigan.

Public Hearing Set on Novi's 1962-63 Budget

NOVI — A public hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday on the village's 1962-63 proposed general operating budget of $122,500. The budget is $1,500 lower than current expenditures.

The present tax rate of $5 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation will remain the same.

Local property taxes will provide $55,000 of the total budget, while $55,000 will be derived from anticipated state sales tax and miscellaneous revenue. Another $15,000 will come from fines and fees.

A reduction in the allocation for the fire department is responsible for decrease in the operating budget.

The separate road fund budget has been estimated at $65,000. Gasoline taxes from the state would provide the funds for road improvements.

KEEGO HARBOR — The annual Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up week begins here Sunday with the Keego Harbor Chamber of Commerce and the West Bloomfield Kiwanis Club spearheading the project.

Mayor Milton Parry and Depuy Fire Marshal John J. Sellman are cochairmen of the drive.

They ask that all junk, newspapers and discarded articles be placed at the curb no later than 9 a.m. Sunday so that volunteer workers can truck them away.

Parry, in a proclamation, asked the cooperation of all citizens to make a special effort to make the city clean and attractive.

★ ★ ★

Sellman emphasized that fires can be prevented by ridding attics, basements and garages of debris.

Anyone wishing to help during the drive should report to City Clerk Eileen Van Horn at the City Hall before 9 a.m.

Tells of Million-Dollar Plans for Area Amusement Park

A million-dollar expansion-renovation program for the Walled Lake Amusement Park was announced today by its new owner, Cyril Wagner.

Wagner, operator of northwest Detroit's Edgewater Amusement Park, said the rebuilding of Walled Lake Park, 13 Mile and Novi roads, is planned over a 10-year period.

The amusements area was purchased from Fred Pierce, whose family had owned it for more than 30 years. Another park is operated by Pierce in Excelsior, Minn.

One of the first projects planned for the area, according to Wagner, is the remodeling of the present roller rink building into a "collegiate spot" for dancing with top name entertainment.

★ ★ ★

He explained that it is his intention to build up the dance hall into something similar to the Edgewater casino that was destroyed by fire several years ago.

The Walled Lake park opens its new season tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. with a new price policy initiated at Edgewater a year ago.

Admission into the park will be the only charge. It will allow visitors to ride all the amusements as many times as they want.

OFFERS FEATURES

Roller skating, speedboating and swimming also will be free after paying the admission price.

More than a dozen different rides and attractions are available, including rocket ships, roller coaster, flying scooter, tilt - a - whirl, ferris wheel, dodgem, miniature railroad and fun house.

The park gates will be open 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Special rates will be available to church, school, union and fraternal groups.

Settles for Much Less Than $1 Million

Heston Prefers to Remain a Film Bargain

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — With Elizabeth Taylor and Marlon Brando demanding more than a million dollars a picture one wonders how much a genuine box office Titan collects.

Take Charlton Heston. Three of the all-time money-making movies are his, "The Greatest Show on Earth," "The Ten Commandments" and "Ben Hur." No other actor, living or dead, can match his record.

Liz and Brando don't come close.

But Heston's salary is less than half theirs; less than a third as a matter of fact.

Why doesn't the imposing, granite-faced Heston flash his record and command a million dollars too?

ACTOR'S ANGLE

His craggy face broke into a grin and he replied, "My agent told me a long time ago that I might have a lengthy career in pictures and that it is a good idea to be a slight bargain.

"That's what I am, a little bit of a bargain, and it works out fine."

Heston does not suggest that Richard Burton's friend Liz or Brando should ask for less money. But he does believe agents should share a great deal of the credit and or blame for sky-high salaries.

"Agents feed actors unhappy pills, convincing them they aren't making enough money," the actor grinned.

"I'm sure I could get higher salaries but my agent doesn't make deals as tough as he could. When I first started out I wasn't confident I could make a living at acting.

★ ★ ★

"But when you are getting six-figure salaries it comes to a difference of $100,000 more or less. That is not as important an amount as it sounds—not after taxes, lawyers, agents and other expenditures. I prefer to take a percentage of the earnings.

OTHER ANGLES

"Maybe some stars haven't thought out the monetary aspects. Personally I'd rather see the extra money spent for top director and leading ladies.

"If the star demands an excessive guarantee there isn't enough left to attract good co-stars and other creative people."

Heston credits exorbitant star salaries with chasing producers to Europe to make pictures.

"It's getting difficult for a picture to be made in Hollywood," he said. "Costs are so great working capital is hard to find. Production money is more available abroad and costs are less.

"There are no sinister forces at work, just simple arithmetic. "The danger of an actor demanding enormous salaries is that he must demonstrate his ability to return that amount and more at the box office. At those prices he can't afford a single flop. "It is something like being the fastest gun in the West. You only lose once, but when you do the results are devastating."

Burton Visits Liz After Wife Departs Rome

ROME (UPI)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were seen together again last night a few hours after the Welsh actor's wife left Rome insisting there were "no problems" in her marriage.

★ ★ ★

Photographers took pictures of the two outside Miss Taylor's villa about midnight.

Miss Taylor was scheduled to resume picture making today after two weeks off-camera.

Burton's wife, Sybil, left Rome yesterday as calmly as she had arrived a week earlier.

★ ★ ★

"I am happy and so there are no problems," she replied when asked how she felt about published reports linking her husband romantically with Miss Taylor.

Yanks Keep Rolling Behind Howard's Bat

By The Associated Press

"They can't get me out."

That's Elston Howard's credo. The rangy New York Yankee catcher doesn't say it with cockiness, but with quiet confidence. It was his simple explanation last year when he was a prominent member of the all-star Yankee cast with his dazzling .348 average, and again this spring when he started off the season in rapid-fire style.

★ ★ ★

Now, after a slight skid, Howard is hot again. He powered the blazing Bombers over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night, 4-3, with a ninth inning homer—his second in as many games and fourth of the season.

By bringing the Yankees from behind, Howard keyed them to their seventh successive victory. The streak has carried the Yanks 2½ games to the front in the American League, with the season still in the shakedown stage.

In the other AL night game, Kansas City cut loose in an extra-base extravaganza against Detroit and outscored the Tigers 12-8. Prize rookie John (Boog) Powell smashed a pair of two-run homers for Baltimore as the Orioles beat Minnesota 6-5 Wednesday afternoon. Bad weather knocked out the two other games on the schedule—Boston at Washington and Los Angeles at Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

White Sox rookie Joel Horlen turned back Howard his first three times up and held the Yanks to five hits as he took a 3-2 lead into the ninth. Then Yogi Berra opened up with a double and Howard promptly cashed in on his last chance with a homer.

Yankee starter Ralph Terry doled out only three hits but trailed 3-2 when he gave way in the seventh to Jim Coates, who checked the White Sox on one single over the last three innings. Al Smith had a triple, single, two runs batted in and one scored against Terry and the lone hit off Coates.

POWELL CONNECTS

Powell, the massive 20-year-old blond with a big reputation and muscles to match, bombed his first two major league homers and decided the Orioles' close one over the Twins. The much-publicized newcomer poled a 370-footer to right against southpaw Jim Kaat in the third and gave Baltimore a 6-0 lead with a 340-foot homer to left off right-hander Ted Sadowski in the fifth.

HAPPY VICTORS—Baltimore relief pitcher Dick Hall (left) congratulates outfielder John Powell in the dressing room following the Orioles' 6-5 win over the Minnesota Twins yesterday at St. Paul-Minneapolis. Powell socked two home runs, each with a man aboard, to pace the Oriole victory.

Mossi Belted Again as A's Triumph, 12-8

Al Kaline, Bruton and Brown Homer; Wertz Ties Record

KANSAS CITY (AP) — When the pitching is bush league quality, 12 hits, including three home runs, don't do much good in the American League.

That baseball fact of life was emphasized last night in Detroit's 12-8 loss to the seventh-place Kansas City Athletics.

Despite the defeat, it was a wonderful night for some Tigers, especially old pro Vic Wertz who tied the American League record with his fifth consecutive pinch hit, Al Kaline hit his seventh homer, Dick Brown his fourth and Billy Bruton his third.

The loss dropped the Tigers into a second-place tie with the idle Cleveland Indians, two and a half games back of the front-running New York Yankees.

★ ★ ★

The Yanks had what it took to get two runs home in the ninth for a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, whom they kicked from third down into fifth place.

PITCHING SHODDY

While both the Yankees and White Sox got respectable pitching, neither the Tigers nor Athletics did as batsmen fattened their averages with a total of 27 hits.

★ ★ ★

The difference between Detroit and Kansas City was that combined Don Mossi, Sam Jones, Fred Gladding, Hank Aguirre and Ronnie Kline were worse than Norm Bass, John Wyatt and Diego Segui put together.

Wertz' fifth straight clutch hit was a single into left field in the seventh inning as he batted for Aguirre. It tied the league record set by Johnny Mize of the Yankees in 1953 and equalled by Bob Hale of Cleveland in 1960.

The major league record is eight straight and was set by Dave Philley in 1958 with the Philadelphia Phillies.

★ ★

Detroit looked like a winner at the start last night. The Tigers got one home in the first as Wood beat out a slow bounder, stole second and came in on Kaline's single to center. Then they added another in the top of the second on Brown's homer over the left field wall.

MOSSI LOSER

But then the Athletics got to Mossi and reliever Jones, and before their second turn was over, had scored seven times. Six of the runs were charged, to Mossi, the loser and now 2-3.

★ ★ ★

Detroit got two of those runs back in the third on Kaline's home-run blast. Then the Tigers picked up two more in the fourth, Bruton homering behind a walk to Jake Wood.

But by the time they got the Athletics out in the fourth, they were out of the ball game again. Kansas City scored three times on a solo homer by Norm Siebern and two-run shot by Wayne Causey.

Detroit got its last two runs in the fifth on Wood's bases-filled single. The A's came up, however, with single tallies in the seventh and eighth.

Derby to Have Variety of Horses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Derby winners, like beautiful women, come in all shapes and sizes. And it doesn't figure to be any different Saturday when a hand-picked field of 3-year-old horses break from Churchill Downs' barrier in the 88th running of the $125,000-added turf classic.

If you like your horses tall and rangy with plenty of muscle in the hind quarters and with a broad chest, then your choice for America's No. 1 glamor race should be either Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan or Fred Turner Jr.'s Sir Ribot.

At 16 hands, two inches, they are the biggest horses in the prospective field of 18 entries and 17 starters, each weighs close to 1100 pounds. They are built to go the Derby distance of 1¼ miles.

Horsemen measure a hand as 4 inches, working from the base of the foot to the top of the right shoulder.

STANDS 16 HANDS

C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord, the 8-5 favorite, stands around 16 hands but is not as heavy as either Ridan, the 5-2 second choice, or the well liked Sir Ribot.

If you prefer a horse slightly smaller but with all the personality of a young lady capable of matching her ability against the best of the males, then look no farther than Cicada, stablemate of Sir Gaylord. She stands 15 3½ hands. The only drawback is that she probably will not be in the starting field.

Trainer Casey Hayes said she will be a Derby starter only if something happens to Sir Gaylord.

Smallest horses in the field, outside of Cicada, probably are Verne Winchell Jr.'s Donut King and Crimson Satan, the 1961 two-year-old champ from Peter Salmen's Crimson King Farm.

RECALLS SIZES

As the trainers paraded into the racing secretary's office this morning bearing entry fees of $250, Roscoe Goose recalled the shapes and sizes of past Derby winners. Goose who has seen Derbies as a rider or trainer since 1907 and rode Donerail to victory in 1913 for the highest derby win price in history—$184.90 for $2.

"Twenty Grand (1931) probably was the biggest Derby winner," said Goose.

"Black Gold (1924) should be considered the smallest although Clyde Van Dusen (1929) didn't have much size. Determine (1954) didn't have much in the way of height but he was a chunky—more the bull dog type.

"For beauty there is no argument in my mind. The honor goes to Count Fleet (1943). Pink Star (1907) is my choice as most undistinguished looking Derby winner."

With 18 entries, and 17 starters at an additional cost of $1,250, the Derby will have a gross value of $164,650 with the winner picking up $122,150. Only one winner ever banked more, $123,450 by Needles in 1956.

The first name in the Kentucky Derby entry box today was Good Fight, an outsider owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowden of Detroit. The horse won some races in Florida.

Kenyon Named Football Coach at Clarkston High

Ralph Kenyon will move up from the assistant ranks to become head football coach at Clarkston High next fall, it was learned today.

He will succeed Tom Taylor, who will return to his alma mater, Albion College as a coach. Some other athletic staff changes are expected at Clarkston.

Brighton High reportedly will when a new school year rolls around.

Kettering, Orion Victors in Rain

Oxford Posts Another Track Triumph; Golf Verdicts to Milford

A trio of one-sided track meets were held despite the rain around Oakland County yesterday.

Waterford Kettering blasted Clarkston 73-35. Lake Orion whipped Oak Park 73½ to 35½ and Oxford took a triangular with 66 1/6 points to 35½ for Holly and 32¾ for Millington.

Two lists by Bob Buchanan and Orv Mullens and a good mile by Mike Popovich paced Kettering. Freshman Bob Gray had a CHS win.

A mile slam and record shot put of 44-8 by freshman Ed Legg were Orion highlights as Orion made its Oakland A record 2-0.

Balance paid off for Oxford as Millington got double victories from both Terry Fritz and Ray Cobb. The wildcats have now defeated eight schools without a defeat.

In golf, Milford was the better team in the rain and fog at a Wayne-Oakland triangular with 173 to 176 for West Bloomfield and 195 for Clarkston. Laker Rod Thompson was medalist at 40. Larry Hoy and Jim Hagerty had 42s Tuesday in a 178-206 triumph over Ann Arbor U. High. The Redskins are now 8-2.

Palmer Vegas Favorite

Snead Seeking Repeat

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sam Snead, veteran of innumerable golf wars, set out today in quest of his second straight victory in the Tournament of Champions and a major share of its $58,000 purse.

★ ★ ★

The almost 50-year-old West Virginian was slated to tee off with capable Jay Hebert in the first twosome of the initial round over the 7,000-yard par 36-36—72 Desert Inn Country Club course.

The 72-hole tournament ends Sunday, with the winner collecting $11,000.

PALMER FAVORED

Just behind Snead and Hebert were Mike Souchak, the 1959 winner here, and the man most everyone thinks will win this one, Arnold Palmer. Twenty-four other professionals, each having qualified to compete here by having won at least one major PGA event in the past year, will follow.

★ ★ ★

A year ago Snead put together rounds of 68-67-69-69—273, 15 shots under par, to hit the jackpot.

Palmer has yet to win this event. In six tries his best effort was a fifth place finish in 1960.

LITTLER THREATENS

Luckiest of them all, and a decided threat again, is U.S. Open Champion Gene Littler. He reeled off three straight wins in 1955-56-57.

★ ★ ★

Palmer, after practice rounds, said he was encouraged because he was driving the ball well.

"These fairways aren't the widest in the world, so it's important to keep the ball in play here," Palmer said. "I've always had trouble lining a shot up here. I could never get lined up right because there is very little background to set yourself up right.

★ ★ ★

"All things considered," Palmer added, "I'm pretty happy with my game. That's a pretty good indication. So maybe I can do something here."

Malane, State Coach Feature Avon Fete

Honors paid to star lineman Jim Malane and a talk by Cal Stoll of the Michigan State football staff highlighted the annual Avondale High School All Sports Banquet Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Called the "outstanding grid leader ever at Avondale" by coach Frank Crowell, Malane headed five Yellowjackets who received Oakland A League All-Star certificates. He was the first lineman in history to win loop most valuable player honors.

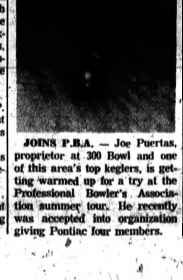

★ ★ ★

He was also named team MVP. Doug Venable was voted the most improved and Robert Bauer was selected captain for next fall.

Basketballers and girl athletes also won awards. Track and baseball letters will be given later.

★ ★ ★

Stoll stressed the "development of moral fiber" through competing in sports in his speech.

Giants 'M' Trio Beats Bucs, 3-2

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Giants have come up with a formidable three-M combination—Mays, Marichal and Marriage—that's got them sitting atop the National League with their longest winning streak since the club moved west in 1958.

The Giants stretched their victory string to eight games Wednesday, whipping Pittsburgh 3-2 on a homer by Willie Mays that broke a 2-2 tie and provided Juan Marichal with the run he needed to post the sixth consecutive route-going performance by five San Francisco pitchers.

It was home run No. 8 for Mays, who has hit four in the last seven games while swinging away at a .400 clip, and the second game in a row he won for Marichal. He tagged a homer when Marichal started the route-going cycle last Saturday.

MARRIAGE HELPS

Marriage has been even more of a help to Marichal. The 24-year-old fireballing right-hander who broke into the majors by hurling a one-hitter settled down domestically before the season opened.

The victory over the Pirates, sending them to their sixth loss in eight games, was Marichal's fourth in six decisions, and his third complete game.

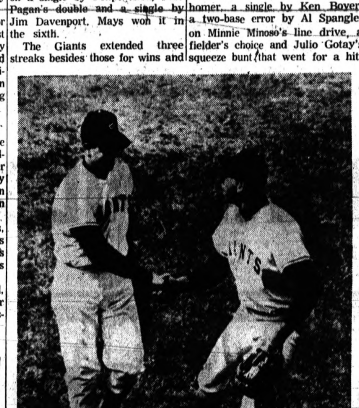

In the only other games played, Bob Gibson hurled a five-hitter for St. Louis that throttled Houston 4-1 and Bob Buhl and Don Elston combined for a three-hitter as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1. The Cincinnati-New York and Milwaukee-Philadelphia games were rained out.

SKINNIER HOMERS

Marichal gave up the two runs in the first inning on Bob Skinner's homer, then shut out the Pirates on four hits the rest of the way. The Giants tied it against Earl Francis in the fifth on a single by Felipe Alou, Jose Pagan's double and a single by Jim Davenport. Mays won it in the sixth.

The Giants extended three streaks besides those for wins and complete games. Mays' homer was the 16th consecutive game in which the Giants have hit at least one homer, Francis' failure to last the distance was the 22nd straight game in which an opposing pitcher has failed to go nine innings and Giants' fielders now have handled 324 chances without an error.

Gibson, who limied the Colts to two hits last week, allowed a run on Jim Pendleton's homer in the second inning. The Cardinals then went ahead to stay in the fourth with three runs on Bill White's homer, a single by Ken Boyer, a two-base error by Al Spangler on Minnie Minoso's line drive, a fielder's choice and Julio Gotay's squeeze bunt that went for a hit.

NICE GOING—Pitcher Juan Marichal (left) of the San Francisco Giants is congratulated by teammate Orlando Cepeda after the Giants' pitcher gave up seven scattered hits to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, at Candlestick Park Wednesday. Marichal hurled the route to give the Giants their 8th straight victory.

Ninowski Expects to Play for Cleveland After All

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Ninowski, embittered by being traded away from his hometown Detroit Lions, is becoming more and more agreeable to playing for the Cleveland Browns next fall.

"It looks like I'll play for Cleveland if my business won't be hurt because of it," the former Michigan State quarterback said last night.

"My business definitely was the big factor when I said I wouldn't go to Cleveland after the trade was made."

Ninowski was hurt and angry with the Lions when they dealt him away in a six-player National Football League swap March 29 that brought Milt Plum to Detroit from Cleveland.

Art Modell, Cleveland's board chairman, met here this week with Ninowski and said the Browns were trying to help solve the business difficulties.

Ninowski works in suburban Detroit as a manufacturer's representative and runs his own repail firm.

"We'll make a real effort to broaden his market to include northern Ohio to offset any financial loss," Modell was quoted as saying in Cleveland. "I want him to come to the Browns with complete peace of mind."

Ninowski said he has had no meeting with Paul Brown since the Cleveland coach came here for an airport meeting the day following the trade.

Howe Named to 2nd Team

Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings, already established as one of the National Hockey League's all-time greats, apparently wasn't quite good enough to make the NHL's first all-star team this year.

Although he tied for 3rd place in the NHL point scoring race and despite his handicap of playing with a 5th-place club, Howe could do no better than the 2nd team on the annual honor squad selected by sports writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

Ironically, not a single member of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs was named to the first team.

Hull, who scored 50 goals during the 1961-62 season, was a unanimous choice. It was Harvey's 3rd straight year on the first team.

Joining Howe on the 2nd unit are defensemen Pierre Pilote of Chicago and Carl Brewer of Toronto, center Dave Keon and winger Frannk Mahovlick of Toronto, and Chicago goalie Glenn Hall.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Golf balls are flying again at Oakland County area courses and it's time to send a little "gossip" on the wing as your reporter begins his fifth annual stand in this column.

Geographically speaking, Warren Orlick, head pro at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, has the most interesting collection of assistants you may ever hear about.

Orlick's staff carries a distinct local-national-international flavor, stretching from the city of Pontiac through Dixie (the Deep South, that is, suh) to the British Isles.

Warren's No. 1 assistant is Jim Chapman, who comes from Gleneagles, Scotland. His newest aide is 20-year-old Keith Baines, who arrived in the U.S.A. just 21 days ago from Watford, England.

A pro at 16 years of age, Baines worked for three years at West Herts Golf Club at Watford before joining Tam's family. Watford is 20 miles from London.

ORLICK

The national wrinkle is furnished by Jimmy Picard, a native of Lafayette, La., which happens to be the home town of touring pros Jay and Lionel Hebert.

Providing the local touch are Tom Deaton and saddlemaster Bob Runyon, both of Pontiac. Deaton is a former Pontiac Central golfer and a 1959 PHC graduate.

Orlick's becoming "cosmopolitan" while staying at home.

SAUGATUCK SITE?

Lake Hamilton Golf Club near Saugatuck may be the site of the 1962 Michigan PGA medal play tournament Sept. 16, although some of the pros aren't too happy about the idea.

A 3,000 purse has been guaranteed for the 36-hole event and unless somebody makes a better offer, Saugatuck may be their only choice.

The State PGA is toying with the thought of adding a match play championship to the tourney calendar, but sponsors are hard to find.

★ ★ ★

Hillcrest may be host to the State Assistant Pro event Aug. 23.

OUT OF BUSINESS

Two Oakland County driving ranges are no longer operating. "Out of business" this spring are the Sportland Golf Range at Northwestern and Lahser and Alex Sinclair's range on Northwestern in Southfield.

Sinclair now operates a driving range and putt-putt course in East Lansing and Tony Janis left his Sportland enterprice after purchasing Alpena Country Club.

Gary Krause is manager and George Hosner and Jim Anderson are teaching pros at Don Soper's driving range in Royal Oak. Soper, State PGA president, will officially open his new Royal Oak Golf Club May 30.

SHORT PUTTS

Stonycroft is planning "Bill Kennedy Day" this Sunday to give new club members a chance to get acquainted with their head pro. A tourney will be held as part of the day's activities.

May Ask Shift of Warriors

Switch to San Francisco Likely Today; Philly Might Still Have Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Gottlieb will ask the National Basketball Association today to approve the sale and transfer of the Philadelphia Warriors — including Wilt Chamberlain—to San Francisco.

At the same time, however, Gottlieb is expected to acquire another franchise for Philadelphia, either by purchase of an existing franchise or by NBA grant of a new one—which would have the effect of expanding the league to 10 teams.

Gottlieb confirmed a long-standing rumor that he will ask approval of the sale and transfer of the Warriors to San Francisco, but hedged on whether he will attempt to establish a new team in Philadelphia.

"I just don't want to comment on that right now," he said Wednesday night. "I don't want to risk having my words twisted."

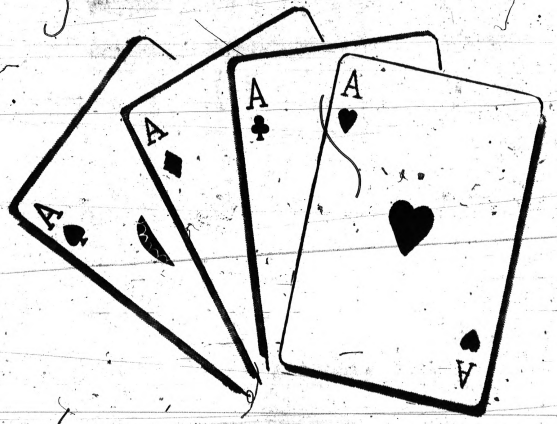

NBA president Maurice Podoloff, however, indicated that a new team probably will go into Philadelphia. He said Gottlieb wanted to avoid "leaving a hole in Philadelphia."

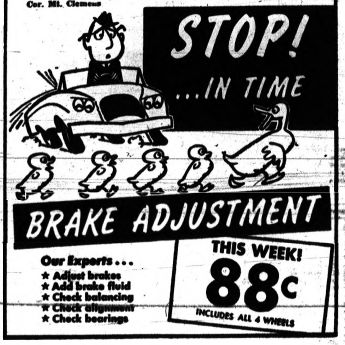

He said Gottlieb has been "conducting negotiations for the purchase of the franchise in either Syracuse, Detroit or Chicago for purpose of moving one to Philadelphia."

TALE OF THE TAPE—This is how bantamweight champ Edger Jofre of Brazil and Herman Marquez of California shape up for their world title fight in San Francisco Friday night.

Both Predict Title Win

Bantams Set for Friday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—World bantamweight champion Eder Jofre, the little slugger from Brazil, and challenger Herman Marquez, a smooth California boxer, both predict victory Friday night.

NO STRATEGY

They've concluded their heavy training for the 15-round match at the Cow Palace with only limbering exercises and the weigh-in remaining.

Through an interpreter, Jofre said he has no strategy for the bout but would wait to see the type of attack Marquez throws.

The champion from Sao Paulo boxed four rounds with sparring partner Ronnie Perez Wednesday and his manager, Abraham Katzenelson, termed him in top shape.

Marquez called a halt to boxing a day earlier and also was sharp. Throughout his training, his talk has centered on "when I win" with little thought of losing.

Jofre has won 41 fights, including 31 by knockout, and drawn in three.

The challenger, a longshoreman in Stockton, Calif., has a 20-7-1 record.

Jofre, a European style boxer, keeps boring in under a high, peek-a-boo guard, often leading with a stiff jab. He seems equally at home punching to the head or body. Frequently he jarred Perez during the sparring sessions.

MOVES RAPIDLY

Marquez moves rapidly, throwing a steady barrage but not looking too much for a knockout opening. In his sparring sessions, he carried his guard lower than Jofre and worked both against a bantamweight and a lightweight.

The weigh-in and final physical examinations are scheduled for noon Friday.

The main event is slated to start at 9:30 p.m. PDT, with neither radio nor television.

Puerto Rican Wins

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Daniel Berrios, 126, Puerto Rico, stopped Nick Nichols, 125½, Miami, after five rounds of a scheduled 10-round fight Wednesday night. Nichols failed to answer the bell for the start of the sixth after taking a heavy beating in the first five rounds.

Baseball Training Camps Begin Saturday in City

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's 1962 baseball training camp for boys 9 to 18 years of age begins a seven-day stand this Saturday morning at three different city diamonds.

Subsequent outings are scheduled May 12-19-26 and June 2-9-16. Each Saturday session will run from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

These annual training camps serve as tune-ups for the City Junior Baseball League program.

Pontiac's most qualified baseball instructors will be on hand to teach all phases of the game—throwing, catching, running, batting, fielding, sliding, pitching, etc.

Camp locations are Kelly Field at Bagley and Brush streets, Washington Junior High School at Genesee and Menominee, and Jaycee Park at Joslyn and Walton Boulevard.

CHANCE FOR EVERY BOY

These camps provide managers with an excellent opportunity to fully organize their teams for the coming season and also give every participating youngster a chance to play for some team.

★ ★ ★

Boys interested in attending the weekly three-hour sessions should bring tennis shoes and baseball gloves.

Junior League competition will be conducted in four age divisions.

Fullmer, Pender May Still Fight in Boston Ring

BOSTON (AP) — Boston promoter Sam Silverman says he still has hopes of staging the world middleweight title fight between Paul Pender and Gene Fullmer in Boston this summer.

★ ★ ★

The 15-round match to settle the middleweight dispute originally was set for June 9 at Bozeman, Mont. But co-promoters Silverman and Norm Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y., have been unable to find a sponsor to telecast the fight "live" from Bozeman. Their price was $150,000.

★ ★ ★

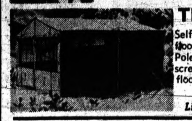

Rothschild said Wednesday he is negotiating with several firms for closed circuit TV to be piped into theatres. If that can be sold, the fight would be Monday, June 11, at Bozeman.

★ ★ ★

However, Silverman says he still thinks the fight would be a success here—possibly in July at Fenway Park.

Court Ruling Causes Rash of Waterway Regulations

Need State Boat Legislation to Prevent Chaos on Lakes

By BRUNO L' KEAINS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Michigan "The Water Wonderland" is on the verge of becoming a state of "Water Warfare." A Supreme Court ruling has lit the fuse and a maze of ordinances in waterfront communities around the state is kindling an explosion that would set lake against lake and one water sport against the other in open defiance.

This threat of complete confusion on the 11,000 lakes and streams in Michigan would endanger the state's tourist position and status as the boating capital of the country; and this involves more than just a few visitors and more than the sale of just a few boats and motors.

Just as the horse and buggy roads gave way to the booming auto industry and the need for superhighways, the waterways must concede to the mushrooming boating industry with the growth of water skiing, skin diving, motor boating, sailboating and pontoon cruising. In view of this growth, controls are certainly needed, but with uniformity and not by unwarranted harassment of the mobile boating public.

CHAOS UPHELD

When the high court recently upheld the ordinance of Fabius Township in St. Joseph county, forbidding water skiing and power boating after 4:00 p.m. and before 10:00 a.m. the wheels of boating chaos were put into motion.

Would it be sound to rule that a car with 180 or more horse power is not permitted on a state road after 6:00 p.m.? Would it make sense to forbid all compact cars to use the expressways before 10:00 a.m.?

Why should a person who has invested thousands of dollars in a boat and motor be told he can't use his boat after a certain time on a given lake?

It certainly holds true that some lakes cannot adequately handle certain sized boats and motors and by agreement of all the homeowners of such private lakes, specific restrictions are made for the benefit of the residents of such lakes.

Oakland County however, with more than 400 lakes spread across 60 different communities would be a jig-saw of boat laws if each and every community passed different ordinances governing the public waters within their borders.

West Bloomfield township has accepted the precedence set by the high court ruling and has set time, speed, age and provisional sports regulations on the lakes within the township.

The irony of the matter is that some lakes are encompassed within the territorial jurisdiction of two, three and even four communities. So if a boater leaves West Bloomfield township at 10 MPH and by some great skill of imagination he feels he has cruised into Waterford Township, he can up his speed to 20 mph; and if the water skier takes off in Waterford Township and "the sign out in the middle of the lake" says he is in West Bloomfield Township at 6:35 p.m. he better let go of the tow rope. As ridiculous as it may seem, this could go on all over the county and state.

There is only one solution, and other Midwestern states have recognized and accepted the fact that regulatory control hinges to the state. Michigan House Bill 575 now under consideration by the House Ways and Means committee gives the state this right.

The Minnesota Supreme Court rationalized that since boating is enjoyed over a wide area encompassing a number of municipalities it presents a "statewide" problem and not a matter subject to local regulation. Ohio also stopped waterfront community laws by declaring the state boating law has preempted the field.

★ ★ ★

These states have also ruled that to let every waterside community adopt its own boating ordinances would be "chaotic, unreasonable and absurd."

BETTER UNIFORMITY

House Bill 575 would reverse the decision of the court. Working toward better uniformity, a state boating committee composed of representatives of the waterways commission, secretary of state's office, and the various water sports groups would be set up. The committee would be empowered to prescribe special boating regulations for any community upon application by governing body of the community desiring remedial rules. No regulations would be set until public notice and hearings are made within the community.

State legislation would not remove local jurisdiction it would merely prevent jig-saw lake laws.

Water Sports

'Guppy' Gains Favor of Boaters

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A metal fish to scare away evil electric currents and a shoe shaped like a scrub brush are among the wild, wonderful and sometimes even workable gadgets offered boatmen.

Finery for a boat means fitting her out with new hardware and accessories that should make her stronger and more handsome than ever.

The fish looks like one but is formed from five pounds of special zinc alloy.

Called the Guppy, it is hung over the side of a craft tied up in salt or brackish water. Acting as an anode and grounded to the boat, it is slowly eaten away by electrolysis. During the process, it's protecting the boat's underwater fittings.

A brush with straps fits on the boatman's foot so he can hang on the side and scrub a boat below the water line.

Other answers to the wear of water and weather are plastic cleats, chocks and navigation lights. Made of Tenite, the items stand sun and salt without discoloring.

Cleats appear as strong as metal. Cabin ventilators, made of the same material, let in air while baffling out even the cold water of a wave.

The simple staple gun has become an aid for the handy man ashore. He may use the stapler afloat with new brass plated staples that resist rusting and those long orange stains that result.

Power tools with built-in batteries are another boon.

★ ★ ★

Quarter-inch drills can go aboard without the long extension cords or, worse, the chance of shorting out in moist air and giving the spring skipper a stiff shock.

New seam sealers never harden and crack to let in water. Several makes are developed from the same thiokol that can propel rockets.

★ ★ ★

Another plastic, this in the shape of a tube, protects rope ends that always used to fray and open.

Replacing the knot, back splice or whipped end, the plastic cements on to form a sleeve that needs no care to keep from unraveling.

First aid kits companies are using plastic containers. The boatman no longer has to force open a rusted metal box to get an adhesive bandage.

With the improvements, water should never leak into boats. The gilhickies are good.

But rain and spray will seem to have ways of sneaking into the bilge. For them, a pump called the Bailer Bos'n sits below without any power connections or batteries. It's reported to have a pendulum inside that can swing with the rocking boat and squirt up to 300 gallons a day overboard.

★ ★ ★

For the craft tied at a mooring where it gently rolls all day, this automatic bilge boy may be the next best thing to perpetual motion pumping.

Boat Mechanic Wins Annual Nassau Race

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A boat mechanic who finds a use for rubber bands is sixth annual Miami-Nassau powerboat race champion—in record time.

John Bakos of St. Cloud, Fla., drove his 25-foot Bertram cruiser, Ashore, to a record win in 3:42.20. Sam Griffith of Miami, trying for his third consecutive victory in this race, clocked 3:53.

Bakos said that once out on the Atlantic "it was a smooth ride all the way. We locked the throttle open with rubber bands and left it open."

Bakos cut 38 minutes off the 180-mile race's record time, set by Griffith last year.

George Thompson of Sarasota, Fla., placed third in an 18-foot outboard catamaran at 4:07.

CURRENT CATCHER — Zinc fish is hung overboard to protect boating hardware from the ravages of electrolysis.

Outboard Regatta Slated at Holly Memorial Day

The annual Holly outboard regatta will be held on Bush Lake, Memorial Day May 30th according to Les Klingler, commander of the Holly VFW which sponsors the races.

Races will take place in nine classes and the regatta is sanctioned by the Michigan Outboard Racing Association.

The Memorial Day parade will be held at 10:00 a. m. and the races will start at noon.

Marine Company Ahead in Earnings for 1962

WAUKEGAN, Ill. — Net earnings of Outboard Marine Corporation for the quarter ended March 31, 1962 were 52 per cent ahead of the same period last year while sales were up 12 per cent, it was announced today.

Earnings were $2,085,689 or $0.29 per share on sales of $39,795,229 in the second quarter of the Company's 1962 fiscal year, compared with earnings of $1,368,262 or $0.18 per share on a volume of $35,404,566 in the 1961 quarter.

For the first six months of this fiscal year, sales and earnings totaled $61,160,676 and $551,392 respectively, while for the same period last year sales were $56,560,177 on which a net loss of $112,818 was incurred.

Girls Find Holly Race Little Rough in Canoes

Canoe racing seemed like fun, so Kathy Mills and Gail Herrington, a pair of 15-year-old girls from Holly decided to enter the Holly-Fenton race last weekend. They were the only female entries among the 34 canoes.

★ ★ ★

The wind on Mill Pond was a little rough as was the current of the Shiawassee river. After zig zagging in different directions they finally decided to drop out.

Thirty two of the 34 canoes finished with Ralph Sawyer and Ron Holman of Oscoda winning the seniors' division with a time of 1 hour 29.12 minutes. They were followed by Stan Hall and Jerry Lauers of Oscoda and the Widing brothers of Holly. The top six places received money awards and trophies. The prize list was $115, $70, $40, $30, $20 and $5.

In the junior division, Dave and Doug Funk of Ossineke made the trip in 1 hour, 31.34 minutes to take honors. Bart Brown and Hal James of Greenville were second.

Among the novice winners, Ed Adams and John Lowe of Holly were first.

In the tug of war feature between the Chambers of Commerce of both towns, Holly CC was the winner. The race attracted large crowds in both towns.

Boating Can Help Fitness If Boater Likes Activity

NEW YORK (NEA)—Commenting on President Kennedy's call for more physical fitness, a New York columnist listed pleasure boating as one of the few participant sports now showing new popularity while helping to develop muscular citizens.

It is true that marine activities can probably call on a greater variety of muscles than any other form of recreation. Before a boat is even launched, the sinews of the upper and lower back are well stretched as rain water is bailed and bailed from the boat.

Legs are flexed as the craft is dragged down a sandy bank and urged into the water. Rowing out to the mooring adds tone to wrist, biceps and back, and blisters to unaccustomed hands as the boy seems to refuse to progress against the wind and current.

Once along side a larger boat, luggage and gear must be juggled up to the deck.

★ ★ ★

Dexterity and self control are well exercised as a 50-pound cake of ice is hoisted from the bilge of a tilting dinghy, balanced on the gunwhale just before it slips overboard, and then hefted aloft and over the bulwark above in to make it a press-up that would startle professional weight lifters.

No program of integrated calisthenics could compare with the next procedure—known, as raising the anchor.

Thighs strain, arms ache and finally the anchor suddenly surges free. The fatty tissues of the lower back are given a resounding massage as the anchor man falls backward and lands soundly on the deck with wet and muddy anchor line.

All around muscle tone comes quickly if you fall overboard at this time instead and must swim back to the boat and then try to climb back in. Even commando practice does not include wall scaling while wearing a heavy wet straitjacket of soggy clothes. All this before you get started sailing.

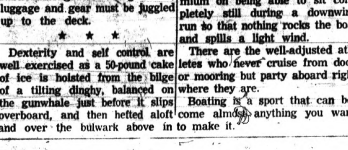

But health faddists may not have had their share of fun afloat if they rate boating as just a participant activity. The sport ranks high as a spectator endeavor, as the President, an experienced boatman himself, would undoubtedly agree.

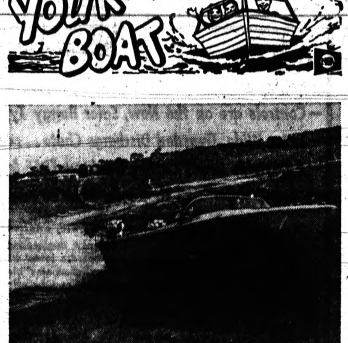

Thousands of pleasure craft people head out every weekend just to dangle lines down at indolent fish and watch other boats of the watery world go by.

Sailboat racing even puts a premium on being able to sit completely still during a downwind run so that nothing rocks the boat and spills a light wind.

There are the well-adjusted athletes who never cruise from dock or mooring but party aboard right where they are.

Boating is a sport that can become almost anything you want

Lighter craft should not be used where going is rugged?

3—What Boat?

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

While boating under sail is delightful, it is a more or less specialized sport and not so popular as getting there with a motor.

Your boat must be adapted to use to which you intended to put it You wouldn't purchase a limousine to travel rough mountain trails, any more than you'd buy a jeep to take you to the opera.

A heavily constructed, seagoing boat is wasted on calm, protected waters, and lighter craft built for sheltered waters should not be used where the going is more rugged.

★ ★ ★

For regular use on open waters, a boat should be 18 feet, or longer, wide of beam and with a high freeboard (distance from waterline to gunwale at the bow). Construction should be sturdy and well reinforced.

The exact type of construction best suited to open waters is a matter of debate. Some favor lapstrake construction others go for the "smooth bottom."

Some are convinced that the catamaran design is best. You must decide whether your sheltered-water craft should have a planing hull — for speed — or a displacement hull for softer riding.

Your best bet is to consult an experienced boatman or dealer.

NEXT: Cost of maintenance.

HONEST! — This 911¾-pound mako shark will be entered for recognition as a world record all-tackle catch for women. It was bagged by Mrs. Audrey Cohen of Brigantine, N. J., aboard a charter boat off West Palm Beach, Fla.

This Catfish Just Loved His Freedom

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (NEA) — An eight-pound, six-ounce white catfish landed in Lake County set a new California record for the length of time a tagged fresh water fish has remained at liberty.

Judging from available information this catfish caught by A. A. Sherrick of Clear Lake Oaks, Calif., also marks a national record. The fish was tagged Aug. 18, 1952, and released at The Narrows in Clear Lake. At that time it measured only 10 inches in length. It was at liberty nine years and five months.

Another important tag return was recorded in California when a 14-year-old San Leandro girl, Patricia Williams, landed a tagged sturgeon in San Pablo Bay. It has been two years since a tagged sturgeon was last reported.

This one, which weighed 80 pounds and was 66 inches long, had been at liberty seven years and five months.

Peach Blossom Event Has Dress Rehearsal

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—The 10th annual Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls women's open golf tournament has a dress rehearsal today when 29 of 30 lady professional golfers team with male amateurs for a pro-am tournament.

★ ★ ★

The Peach Blossom event, a 54-hole, $7,500 affair, opens Friday. The arrival Wednesday of Sandra McClinton, a young pro from Mineola, Tex., pushed the starting field to a record 34, including 30 pros and four amateurs.

Heading the amateur field is Clifford Ann Creed, North-South amateur champion from Louisiana.

Two Tiger Rainouts Get Re-Scheduled

BOSTON (UPI) — American League President Joe Cronin today announced two schedule changes for the Detroit Tigers which stemmed from early-season postponements.

The postponed game of April 11 between the Senators and Detroit Tigers will be played as part of a two-night doubleheader at Washington on Friday, June 8. The postponed game of April 12 between the two teams will be part of a two-nighter on Wednesday, Aug. 8.

When fitting-out, make a detailed inspection of your boat and equipment listing everything that needs to be done. A few days later sit down and transcribe the list to individual groups under headings of hull, power plant, electrical equipment, etc. This not only makes the over-all task seem less formidable, but provides you with a working plan.

150 Players Tackled by Dentists

'62 Grid Prospects 'Fitted'

By DON VOGEL

Football players are a brave lot. They get flattened in practice or a game and jump to their feet asking for more punishment.

Any resemblance between the "brave" gridiron heroes of 1962 and the "timid" junior and senior high students at Pontiac Northern yesterday afternoon was not coincidental.

They were one in the same.

Facing an opponent on the football field is one thing. A session with the dentist, even an neuatral ground, isn't covered in the football manual.

Nearly 150 Pontiac high school grid prospects were tackled, by a battery of dentists in the home economics room at PNH.

They were being fitted for mouth protectors that will become standard football equipment in Michigan next fall.

QUICK WORK

It was really very simple.

All the boys had to do was chomp down on a plastic tray filled with white material for a minute or so and then leave.

The facial twisting and contorting that went on would have made a coach cringe with the belief that his future players were in great pain because of a severe injury.

"Ugh! Don't we get anything to wash our mouths out with," said one brave Lincoln Junior High lad as he beat a hasty retreat from the room.

"What's it taste like," timidly asked another grid hopeful as he perked through the door. He was next in line.

"Nothing to it," stated the lanky sophomore-to-be as he turned away from the girls near the window so they couldn't see his grimace.

The young ladies, future nurses from Northern and Central, were helping dental assistants prepare the impression material and trim the final molds.

FITTING — Dental Assistant Sharon Reeling (left) shows Sally Mapley, Pontiac Northern student, how to trim the final mold of a mouthpiece which will be used by high school football players next season.

Pontiac Press Photos

UGH!—Bob Hadden, of Lincoln School learned yesterday that all football battles don't start on the gridiron. He is stuffed with a mouthful of plastic as Dr. Daniel McGeen fits him for a mouthpiece which will be required on the football field next season.

This will be the second year mouth protectors, or mouthpieces, will be used by Pontiac prep gridders.

"We prepped 165 last fall for use in the junior and senior high schools," said Hollis Lasley, director of physical education for Pontiac schools.

NOT USED

"Some of the boys didn't have them, and as a consequence, a few suffered mouth and nose injuries. Some who had them, left them in their lockers for a couple of days and were injured.

"The boys who used the guards all the time 'were not hurt in the-time of the month."

Boys in the 9th, 10th and 11th grades planning to go out for football at Northern or Central next fall had impressions made yesterday.

Each mold is marked with the boy's name and turned over to coaches at the high school he plans to attend. The coaches, assisted by home economics personnel, students and future nurses, will coat the molds with a special rubber-like material.

After the material becomes solid and is pulled away from the mold each gridder has a mouth protector fitted to the contours of his teeth.

Start Investigation Into Death of Paret

NEW YORK (AP)—An investigation of boxing touched off by the death of former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret has gotten underway with closed session interviews of principals in the fatal Paret-Emile Griffith title fight.

★ ★ ★

The probe is being conducted by a state legislative committee headed by assemblyman Harward Plumadore, an ex-professional boxer. Plumadore announced when the investigative body was formed that the main question to be answered was "whether the disadvantages of continuing the sport in the state outweigh the advantages."

★ ★ ★

In addition to the March 24 Paret-Griffith bout, in which the 25-year-old Cuban suffered fatal head injuries, the committee was instructed to look into the activities of "racketeers, gamblers, convicted felons and other unsavory elements" in boxing.

Smelt Runs Heavy

Conservation officers report that a heavy run has begun in streams between Cheboygan and Mackinaw City that enter into the Straits of Mackinac.

Visit to Native Iowa Yields Bride for Legislator, 64

'State Rep. Handy to Wed 'Neighbor Girl'

LANSING (UPI) — State Rep. Gail Handy, 64, and a "neighbor girl" from the Iowa farmland his family helped settle will be married in Michigan Sunday.

Handy and Imogene Rinehart Hansen will be married in a quiet ceremony at the Community Congregational Church in the lawmaker's home town of Eau Claire.

The four-term legislator returned to his native Coon Rapids, Iowa, last spring to attend a funeral.

"I happened to ask about some of the friends I attended school with while I was there," he said. "I learned Imogene, one of the neighbor girls, was living in Scranton (Iowa) and went to see her."

★ ★ ★

"We weren't exactly childhood sweethearts — I hadn't seen her for 52 years — but our families were very close because both had been early settlers in Iowa. She was named after my mother."

Shortly after his brief visit to Iowa, Handy announced he and Mrs. Hansen would be married.

The Berrien County legislator was married for 33 years previously. His wife died in 1959. Mrs. Hansen became a widow six years ago, he said.

SUFFERED HEART ATTACK

Handy spent six weeks early this year recovering from a minor heart attack he suffered March 1 on the floor of the House. Up until this year, he worked his farm just outside Eau Claire.

Plans for his marriage included buying a home in Eau Claire, across from the Congregational Church.

"The doctor says for me to take it easy so that's just what I plan to do," Handy said. "We'll have things to do around the house but besides a little campaigning that will probably be all I'll do."

Handy announced while he was hospitalized here that he will seek re-election to his House seat. He first served in the legislature from 1938-42 and was successful again in 1958 and 1960.

House Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, and his wife will be witnesses at the wedding. The two Berrien County lawmakers are long-time friends.

★ ★ ★

Handy's son, Robert, 21, will also attend the ceremony. He is a student at Western Michigan University. His daughter, Mrs. Ruth Wigington, lives in Salem, Va. He has two grandsons.

Mrs. Hansen does not have any children.

Handy said he will be back for the remainder of the current legislative session.

"We aren's planning a honeymoon trip at this time," he said. "I'm going to take life easy for a while like the doctor advises, but we'll probably take a trip later this year."

Democrats Not So Loud Now

GOP Wailing Over Shortage of Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time in years, Republican leaders are wailing more than the Democrats about a shortage of campaign funds.

★ ★ ★

GOP speeches are sprinkled with comments to the effect that the party has no serious campaign problems except money and that some campaign projects are being held up by a shortage of cash.

One result of this has been a delay in carrying out plans to strengthen the party organization in the big cities—where the Democrats won the 1960 presidential election. Twelve cities have been chosen for the work, but no field force has been recruited to do it.

Any political organization always wants more funds. But the fact remains that the Democrats have been doing less grousing recently about their financial troubles.

PREDICTABLE RESULT

A change in the credit rating of the two parties was a predictable result of President Kennedy's victory in 1960. A party has relatively less trouble raising money when it occupies the White House.

Both parties tried last year to cut down the debts inherited from the 1960 campaign. Both are still in debt and need money this year for the state and congressional campaigns in which all 435 members of the House of Representatives and 34 senators will be up for election.

Republicans emerged from the 1960 campaign with a debt of about $750,000. That has been cut to about $500,000. The national party organization netted about $400,000 from Feb. 1 fund-raising dinners, which were linked by closed circuit television.

To supplement the money raised at such dinners, the GOP recently began soliciting sustaining memberships costing $10 a year.

For 1962, the GOP has a $4.6-million budget, which calls for wiping out the debt and includes funds for the national committee as well as the separate senatorial and congressional campaign committees.

However, the GOP probably still will be in debt when the books are closed on 1962.

The Democrats have no announced budget for 1962 except for a $600,000 allotment to the senatorial and congressional campaign committees and monthly contributions to the operating expenses of those two units.

Interstate System Planning Expansion

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Interstate System, Grand Rapids-based trucking firm, yesterday announced a three-phase $6-million capital improvement program this year. It also announced a 370 per cent increase in its first-quarter net earnings.

★ ★ ★

The expansion program includes construction of four new terminals and improvements at several others.

Already completed in the first phase is a new terminal at Providence, R. I., additions to others at Denver and at Philadelphia and purchase of 140 new tractors and 20 semitrailers.

★ ★ ★

The second phase includes new terminal dock and office equipment and purchase of 122 tractors and 75 trailers.

Trading Is Moderate

Stock Mart Irregularly High

NEW YORK (AP) — Selected issues got a play in a cautious market that nudged irregularly higher on balance early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The market seemed to be feeling around, for a clue to the next strong move and opinion was fairly generally among security analysts that a test of recent lows was more than likely.

CHANGES MINOR

Changes of most key stocks were minor. Some went a point or so either way. Among the higher-priced or more volatile stocks, gains of 2 to 4 points were scored by several which attracted speculative attention.

The momentum of Tuesday's rally had worn itself out but economic news was good. In March, instalment credit made a big gain and business sales set a record.

Gains by a number of blue chips kept the list in plus territory despite losses in steels and scarcely any price movement among motors.

GAINS 4 POINTS

International Business Machines eased on profit taking at the start, then erased the loss and showed a gain of about 4.

Among wider movers, Beckman Instruments was up about 3, Champlin Oil and Texas Instruments more than 2 apiece, Addressograph, Minneapolis - Honeywell and Corning Glass about 2 apiece, and Walter E. Heller (news) more than a point.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.47 at 673.43. Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading. Paddington "A" was off a couple points. Down a point or so were Bell Telephone of Canada, Gulton Industries, Mill Factors and Ross Products. Thorofare Markets, Breeze Corp. and Insurance Co. of North America advanced about a point apiece. Seaboard World Airlines was an active fractional gainer. Universal Controls was briskly traded and down a fraction.

★ ★ ★

Corporate bonds were irregular. U.S. Treasury bonds were steady.

U.S. Bonds Edge Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. Treasury bonds opened unchanged to slightly higher today. Corporates were mixed at the start.

Governments were described by an over-the-counter dealer as few issues, mostly the distant maturities, were quoted 1/32 to 2/32s of a point higher.

The new short term bonds were unchanged, as was most of the rest of the list.

In corporate dealings on the New York Stock Exchange, rail bonds were lower, with about twice as many issues losing fractions as registering gains.

Utility bonds got off to an upside start. Gains and losses were about even in the industrial section.

Country Folks Show Their Vote Is Loud

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians had new evidence today that the country folks still have a potent voice in states where voting reapportionment is an issue.

But this was about the only trend discernible in Tuesday's gubernatorial primary elections in Alabama and Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

Former Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, who openly opposed a reapportionment plan to give urban voters of that state a bigger voice, drew heavy support in the rural areas to lead a 12-man field in the Democratic primary.

★ ★ ★

And in Alabama, former Circuit Judge George C. Wallace, an ardent segregationist, harvested a substantial share of his votes in rural areas to lead in the Democratic primary.

★ ★ ★

Both men meet the runners-up in runoff elections later this month, and it is uncertain where the urban votes, spread over several candidates Tuesday, will go.

Another former governor trying to return to public life, James E. Folsom of Alabama, was losing his battle with State Sen. Ryan deGraffenried for the runoff spot opposite Wallace. Folsom, who ran behind in the cities, appeared unable to make up enough ground on DeGraffenried as results from rural ballot boxes trickled in.

FATE OF GOVERNORS

Gary, who gained national attention by supporting the unsuccessful bid of then Gov. W. Averell Harriman of New York for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, will meet W. P. Bill Atkinson, millionaire homebuilder, in the May 22 runoff.

The winner will take on Republican Henry Bellmon in November. A Republican has never been elected governor of Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

The fate of a third former governor and two incumbents who hope to stretch their tenure in office to lengths unprecedented in their states will be determined later this month.

★ ★ ★

In Arkansas, former Gov. Sidney S. McMath got into a May 29 primary race that Gov. Orval Faubus hopes will bring him a record fifth term in the statehouse.

McMath, tabbed a liberal, indicated he will attack Faubus' actions in the Little Rock school integration controversy. Rep. Dale Alford, a militant segregationist, also is in the race.

★ ★ ★

Gov. Price Daniel tests in a Saturday primary the sentiment of the voters on his attempt to become Texas' first four-term chief executive. His principal opponent seems to be John Connally, former secretary of the Navy.

There will be a runoff June 2 if none of the several candidates gets a majority. Entries include Edwin A. Walker, the former Army general who was admonished for his troop indoctrination program.

★ ★ ★

Although Sen. John G. Tower proved there is plenty of conservative strength when he was elected in 1961 as the first Republican senator from Texas since Reconstruction days, Walker is not expected to cut any figure in the race.

Will Continue Building Study

Detroit Syndicate to Test Soil for Structure at County Center

Satisfied that the Oakland County Board of Supervisors is still interested in leasing land at the County Service Center for a proposed $1-million office building, a Detroit syndicate agreed yesterday to continue its engineering study.

Detroit realtor Louis Savage, head of the four-member syndicate, said soil tests would be conducted on the proposed site to determine its engineering suitability.

The building, if approved by the board, would provide office space for lawyers desirous of relocating in the vicinity of the county's new courthouse.

★ ★ ★

The four-story building of 40,000 square feet also would contain a bank, restaurant, abstract company offices and offices of The Legal News, a newspaper for attorneys.

The site being considered is east of the courthouse and immediately south of where the Community National Bank's temporary office is now located.

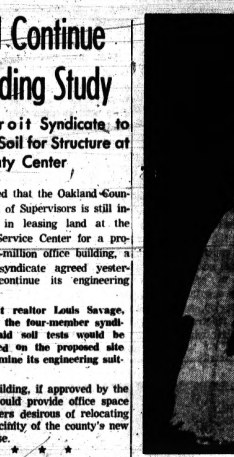

The syndicate has offered to lease land at the center for a percentage of the rental fees over "about 50 years," after which the lease would be terminated and the building would belong to the county.

★ ★ ★

At least one other private concern has voiced objection to the plan. Attorneys representing the concern have stated its intention to construct a building for similar purposes on property adjacent to the County Service Center.

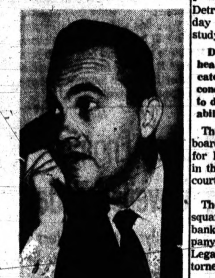

Therefore, the attorneys contended, the county is competing with private enterprise.

A Chicago engineering firm has designed and built the world's largest ice pick to plumb the mysteries of glaciers. The thermal drill can go down and bring up 10-foot ice cores for study. The information obtained will be useful for the construction of military outposts in polar regions.

Will Be Arraigned on Robbery Charge

A 22-year-old Pontiac man who allegedly used a BB gun in a $47 gas station holdup April 24 is scheduled to be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday on a charge of armed robbery.

★ ★ ★

Ernest J. Polk, 216 Ferry St., was bound over to the higher court in his examination yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. Polk was being held today at the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

★ ★ ★

Polk was arrested minutes after the robbery of the Clark Gas Station, 157 Auburn Ave. An attendant, John Goodsell, 46, 109 Moreland Ave., identified Polk as the holdup man.

After 10 Days at Sea

Man, Daughter Rescued

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A harrowing, 10-day ordeal at sea was to end today for the skipper of a converted World War II sub chaser and his 13-year-old daughter.

Jeff L. Hodges, 35, of San Jose, Calif., and his daughter, Sandra, were still aboard the 107-foot wooden-hulled Pelican as it headed towards San Francisco, under tow by the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Taney.

DEVELOPED TROUBLE

Hodges left Gray's Harbor, Wash., in the old craft April 22, expecting to sail down the coast to San Francisco in about a week.

But the Pelican, which hadn't been sailed for seven years, developed engine trouble and Hodges and his daughter drifted helplessly for almost 10 days.

DRIFTED 200 MILES

They were located southwest of Monterey Bay, about 95 miles west of Pt. Sur after drifting some 200 miles. When found they were nearly out of food, because high wind had blown some overboard.

But the Coast Guard said both Hodges, an experienced seafarer, and Sandra were in good shape. They did not require medical attention and elected to stay aboard the Pelican, which Hodges plans to use as a cargo vessel.

City Planners OK Three Proposed Zone Ordinances

The city planning commission last night gave its okay to three proposed zoning ordinances slated for second reading and adoption by the City Commission next week.

The ordinances concerned rezoning of about 80 acres east of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Co.' Belt Line north and south of Mt. Clemens Street.

The land is to be rezoned from manufacturing to residential use. It is almost entirely vacant.

An ordinance proposing the rezoning of property at the southwest corner of West Huron Street and Franklin Boulevard was given conditional approval.

Planning commissioners recommended that final approval be held up until developers have obtained a building permit for the three-story apartment building they outlined plans for at last month's meeting.

The ordinance calls for a zoning change from personal service use to residential-3.

City Planning Group Re-Elects Leaders

At its May meeting last night, the City Planning Commission re-elected Daniel R. Veazey, chairman and William F. Kalwitz, vice chairman.

Veazey, 18 Illinois St., and Kalwitz, 112 Osceola Drive, are both long-time members of the commission. The terms are for one year.

Commissioners extended a greeting to a new member, City Commissioner Loy L. Ledford, attending his first planning meeting as ex officio member. Mayor Robert Landry was unable to attend.

Ledford replaced former Mayor Philip E. Rowston and former Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

Senator Says: Here's Budget

Veteran Porter Reports Only Small Increase in State Spending

LANSING (AP)—The veteran senator in charge of the Senate Appropriations Committee says there is only going to be a slight increase in state spending this year.

Breaking a long silence, while he sat back and observed with cynical eye the antics of those working for income taxes, nuisance taxes of more or less spending, Sen. Elmer R. Porter finally gave his word.

Porter, 74 years old and chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, helped write state budgets since he was elected to represent Lenawee and Monroe counties in 1936.

★ ★ ★

While the newcomers from the Senate and House were trying to get together to figure out their estimates of revenues needed and taxes to raise them, Porter gave his flat announcement yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He said his committee, working with the House Ways and Means Committee, had worked out a spending formula.

"I wanted to wait until the horse came to pull the buggy," said Porter, slight and silvery-haired. "But this is the buggy and the horse will have to pull."

Porter said his committee has agreed to spend a little less than $500 million next year. This compares with the estimated $482 million in state spending this year.

★ ★ ★

"What we want is a workable budget," Porter said. "I've been selling the boys on letting $25 million go for new construction, actually $17 million of this would be to complete projects already under way."

★ ★ ★

Porter refused to say what taxes he would vote for but indicated he would swing his weight toward a program of so-called nuisance taxes.

Garry Moore Likes What He Does

He's Portrait of Most Happy Fella

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Thomas Garrison Morfit had a profound feeling of gratitude this week.

The reason: Thomas Garrison Morfit—better known to millions as Garry Moore—reached an historic milestone in a fabulous career. He performed in his 5,000th national network broadcast.

BOYLE

"All I ask is to be allowed to continue," said Garry, who quit school in Baltimore back in 1935 to become a radio continuity writer.

* * *

There is no immediate hurry in the industry to dust off a place on the shelf for Moore. He remains, after 27 years in radio and 12 in television, one of the biggest profit-producing performers in the entertainment field.

His shows are estimated to bring to Columbia Broadcasting System an annual income of between $15 million and $20 million. This puts him on a par with, or ahead of, such other network money-winners as Arthur Godfrey, Art Linkletter, Dave Garroway and Ed Sullivan.

HAVING FUN

"I must be extraordinarily fortunate," Garry said. "I've never had as much fun as I'm having now. I never get up with a feeling of hating to go to work, as some people do.

"I suppose it's because I'm still a fan myself. I still get a big thrill out of working with people I've admired for years—such as Duke Ellington and Ed Wynn. As a kid, I can remember standing outside a theater in Baltimore to get Ed Wynn's autograph. He's still a hero to me."

* * *

This quality of youthful enthusiasm is still one of the greatest assets of Moore, who feels he is lucky to have lasted so long and at present would like to go right on performing forever.

"Of course, you don't really retire in this business," he said with a wry smile. "You just wake up some morning and find they've retired you.

LOTS OF IDEAS

"Three or four years is an average lifetime on television, and already I figure I'm at least eight years to the good.

"But after this entertainment bubble bursts—as it inevitably must—and everything goes down the drain, I'd like to move on to some form of information program. I've got some ideas in the field I'd like to try out."

Garry has his own theory, too, on how he and his program pals have managed to endure without boring their public.

* * *

"Our survival is probably the result of a remarkable lack of being spectacular," he said. "When you are spectacular, you have a skyrocket quality that can become so bright you burn yourself up.

"You have to stay on a low key to last when you're on so often. And you have to surround yourself with good people, and not be afraid to let the other fellow get the spotlight. The longer you stay off screen the better off you are."

YOUNG, FRESH TALENT

He also believes in surrounding himself with young, fresh, talented newcomers.

"They keep you in touch with what's new," he explained. "Styles in comedy change more radically than the public realizes. The kids coming up help you to keep in step with the changes."

At the ripe age of 47, Garry has this philosophy of life:

* * *

"It pays to remember to be grateful, and to forget the idea you have a right to be happy all the time. If you have one really happy hour every day, you're ahead of the game.

"If I got fired tomorrow, I'd have no cause for anything but gratitude—although they'd probably have to drag me out of the studio, kicking and screaming."

BUDDIES—Bryan Terrell, 7 months old, lets out a squeal and his pal from the barnyard replies with an oink as they strike up a friendship in the tot's Plainview, Tex., home. How long their close acquaintance will last will probably be determined by the endurance of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Terrell, the boy's parents.

Mayor Wagner's Wife Calls Vital Signals

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I suspect Mayor Bob Wagner's decision not to run for governor means he's more interested in the U.S. Senate—and if true, I hope his wife, Susan, is always on that campaign plane. Because his blonde bombshell can sit a few feet away and flash him some very vital political intelligence such as "Your coat's open too far" or "Your socks are droopin'." I saw her signaling him at the Harry Gould dinner for Grand Central Hospital and 'twas a lovely bit of husband-and-wife teamwork.

WILSON

Asked whether he minds giving autographs, Atty. Louis Nizer, counsel for Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher, and author of the best seller, "My Day in Court," replied: "Not as long as my autograph is attached to a book."

* * *

Richard Rogers, one of the sensations at the Tony Awards, was astonished at the standing ovation he got. "I was just hoping," he said, "that the applause I got would last until I got up on stage."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Debbie Reynolds, filming "My Six Loves," has requested no interviews on the set. ('Cause they all ask about the Fishers) . . . Louis Prima'll have no gal vocalist when he opens at Basin St. East May 14. (Keely Smith opens next night in Las Vegas) . . . The bookies are hunting the comic partner of a TV-cafe duo . . . Sophia Loren and husband Carlo Ponti'll be here June 23 for the "Boccaccio 70" premiere . . . Chuck Conners (of "Rifleman") will produce a World War II TV series, won't appear in it . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: If girls continue to wear those short skirts, a lot of us guys are gonna end up "knee-sighted."—Bill East, Winston-Salem Sentinel.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: When they say a woman has a sobering effect on her husband, it might just mean that she hides his bottle.—Ima Washout.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Nat Sackin offers a simile: "As useless as a pocketwatch in a nudist camp."

A LOCAL FELLOW (reports George Kirby) has finally worked out a budget that makes his paycheck stretch to cover a week's expenses. Trouble is, he's paid by the month. That's earl, brother.

School District Bill on Way to Swainson

LANSING (AP)—A measure to replace Michigan's 83 county boards of education with more flexible intermediate school districts is on its way to Gov. Swainson today for signing.

* * *

The House yesterday concurred in minor Senate amendments to the bill, which already had cleared both chambers.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Clarence B. Meggison, R-Charlevoix, was supported by the State Department of Public Instruction. It was opposed by some rural school interests and Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

* * *

Up to three counties could merge into an intermediate district, if approved by the voters in all districts affected.

Breakthrough in Space Flight Seen for Reds

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A top American missile man predicted Wednesday that the major breakthrough in space flight will be achieved by the Soviet Union.

* * *

Krafft A. Ehricke said he believes the Soviets soon will put two men into space and may achieve the first rendezvous in space this year.

2 YEARS AWAY

The American program for achieving a rendezvous of a manned vehicle with a fueling station in space is still about two years away, he said.

* * *

However, he said, the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union in many aerospace areas involving weather satellites, communications and reconnaissance techniques.

* * *

Ehricke, former German V-2 rocket scientist now director of advanced studies for General Dynamics Corp., was chairman of the final session of the three-day meeting of scientists on manned space flight.

Miami Man Trapped in Drawbridge Gear

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A city employe was injured seriously when he became trapped and squeezed in the mechanism of a drawbridge.

It took firemen and police about 20 minutes to free the man, Henry Williams, 59, Wednesday.

* * *

Williams was helping to clean a pit beneath the bridge when a signal sounded and the span was raised. His co-workers and Williams started climbing a ladder to the bridge surface instead of flattening himself against a wall.

Swainson Signs Bill on Jury Commission

Oakland County's jury commission bill has been signed into law by Gov. Swainson.

The bill authorizes the Board of Supervisors to set up a three-man commission to select jurors' names at random from voters' lists.

* * *

Gov. Swainson also signed a measure raising the pay of jury commissioners from $3 to $10 a day.

Dismisses Charge of Murder Attempt

CORUNNA (AP) — Charges of attempted murder against William Mahar, 38, of Owosso, were dismissed yesterday at the request of the prosecutor in Shiawassee County Circuit Court.

A charge of breaking and entering remained, however, and was to go to the jury this afternoon.

The charges arose from a break-in on Oct. 1, 1961. That case began a police scandal in Owosso.

* * *

Mahar originally was implicated in the murder charges by Roy D. Smith, 39, of Owosso, who admitted breaking and entering and shooting in one of the offices he and Mahar were alleged to have broken into.

* * *

But Smith, in testimony yesterday, said Mahar did not come up gun. Smith's trial will come up later.

Students, Machine in Chess Marathon

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A chess game has been under way at the University of Florida for two years. Just 56 moves have been made.

The participants are engineering students here and an electronic brain in Oak Ridge, Tenn. It may be some time before either side can claim victory, faculty members said yesterday.

The chess board is displayed in a glass case in the engineering building. Students taking part in the game ponder the board between classes and sometimes take days to decide on a move.

FEEDS BRAIN

The moves are jotted on postcards and mailed to Oak Ridge, Tenn., where a technician feeds them into the electric brain.

The machine "thinks" for awhile, makes a move of its own. It is mailed to Gainesville.

Just 18 pieces remain on the board from the original 32. Both sides retain their kings and queen and the machine has seven pawns to five for the students.

* * *

The students maintain the slight edge because they have a rook, which the machine doesn't. A rook carries more relative weight than two pawns.

FAA Readying Special Corps to Prevent More Skyjacking

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) is readying a corps of specially trained flight inspectors to help prevent any recurrence of last summer's "skyjacking" incidents, it was learned today.

★ ★ ★

The training includes courses in firearms and judo, conducted by the United States Border Patrol. Thus far, 18 volunteer "graduates" have been sworn in as U.S marshals. The FAA would not say how many inspectors eventually will receive such training.

The 18-man nucleus of the anti-hijacking corps will be based in Chicago, Miami, Dallas and Kansas City. Presumably, they would board any flight on which a hijacking attempt might be suspected and assigned a seat near the cockpit for the chief purpose of protecting the crew.

All 18 are regular inspectors who will continue their normal duties of spot-checking pilot performances, monitoring maintenance procedures and conducting qualification and proficiency flights.

ENDED UP IN CUBA

Creation of the "elite corps" was the latest of many actions taken after three hijackings of U.S. airliners last summer.

Two of the planes wound up in Cuba for brief periods.

Congress swiftly passed legislation tightening the laws against sky piracy, including a provision allowing an optional death penalty. Armed guards rode many flights.

Several secret antihijacking measures and precautions also have been put in effect on a stand-by basis—all aimed at quick apprehension of the "skyjacker", without endangering crew or passengers.

★ ★ ★

In the midst of last year's hijacking furor, it was proposed the pilots be allowed to carry guns. The pilots themselves were luke-warm toward the idea, pointing out that very few have been trained in the use of firearms.

'Cardinal Auto Cost $11 Million'

N. Y. Paper Claims Ford Lost That Amount on Tooling for Tiny Car

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Herald Tribune estimated yesterday that the Ford Motor Co. lost more than $11 million on tools for a small car which the company recently decided not to market in the United States this year.

The newspaper said the loss, equaling 10 to 13 cents a common share of Ford stock, would be written off in the March quarterly report. That report on earnings and sales was made public after the close of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday.

Ford had no comment on the story.

However, Henry Ford II said last month the decision against marketing the car, tentatively called the Cardinal, in the United States this year would "have no material effect on profits."

The newspaper said about 125 American supplier firms were involved in the Cardinal project. About half supplied tooling for a proposed Cardinal assembly plant at Louisville, Ky.

Cuban Refugees Moving Out, but More Arriving

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Nearly 2,500 Cuban refugees left overburdened Miami last month to resettle elsewhere in the United States, the Cuban Refugee Emergency Center reported.

But three times that number streamed into the Miami area from the Castro-run island.

During April there was a record average of 610 resettlements weekly. This compared with 280 weekly in July 1961. But 8,000 registered at the refugee center.

The number of Cubans in the Miami area now is estimated at between 75,000 and 100,000.

U.S. Reported Willing to Share N-Warheads

Would Divide Control With European Union That Includes Britain

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The United States was reported today to be willing to share control of its nuclear warheads in Western Europe with a politically strong European union that includes Britain.

The U.S. position was described as a new approach to the years-old discussion of giving the North Atlantic Treaty Organization an independent nuclear strike force.

Qualified Western sources disclosed the new U.S. ideas as foreign and defense ministers prepared to open NATO's annual spring meeting. The defense ministers were to meet this afternoon to study weapons and production problems, among others. The foreign ministers open a three-day review of the allied defense position Friday.

During the past 18 months, numerous proposals for a supranational nuclear strike force have been put before NATO planners. But none has been able to solve the key question: "How many fingers on the trigger?"

★ ★ ★

Only two fingers are envisioned in the concept of American partnership with the European political union that is the ultimate aim of the six-nation European Common Market. A qualified Western source reported that Washington now was using nuclear armament as an inducement to the six nations — all NATO members — to get on with their political negotiations and to include Britain.

WOULD GAIN ENDS

In the view of some Americans, an American offer to share nuclear control with a European authority would achieve these ends:

★ ★ ★

1. Encourage West Germany and France to let Britain into the Common Market and speed formation of a political authority to manage the Common Market's foreign and defense policies.

Britain has started negotiations to join the highly successful economy union and professed a desire to participate in its concurrent political discussions. France and West Germany want to keep Britain out of the political discussions until the economic negotiations are complete.

The political talks have bogged down because of Dutch and Belgian refusal to proceed without British participation.

★ ★ ★

2. Satisfy the West German desire for nuclear armament and forestall the French drive for a separate national nuclear strike force.

★ ★ ★

3. Give smaller states a voice in nuclear decisions within the NATO framework.

Officials Fear Casualty List Might Increase

77 Ambulances Rushed to Scene of Tragedy; 2,000 Police Helping

TOKYO (AP) — Two electric commuter trains, coming from opposite directions, piled into a derailed freight tonight, killing 83 persons and injuring 147. Police said they expected the death toll to rise.

TOKYO (AP)—A triple train accident in northeastern Tokyo killed 48 persons and injured at least 120 tonight, Tokyo Fire Department officials said.

The fire department said 77 ambulances were rushed to the scene, where a commuter train piled into a derailed freight train near Mikawashima Station and a third train plowed into the wreckage.

It was one of the worst rail accidents in Tokyo history.

The fire department said the casualty list might mount.

Ninety minutes after the tragedy, rescue workers were still working to extricate people from the wreckage.

One commuter train was crowded with Japanese returing home from the suburbs after today's national holiday, Constitution Day.

AIDING IN RESCUE

Two thousand police were mobilized to assist in rescue work.

Reports from the scene said an inbound commuter train smashed into a derailed freight which, railway authorities said, apparently ignored a railway caution signal.

An outbound commuter train, coming from the opposite direction, then hit part of the derailed freight blocking its path and slammed into the wreckage of the first two trains, railway authorities said.

Police said one of the cars toppled off the elevated railway tracks onto houses below.

★ ★ ★

The area, a residential-industrial district in northern Tokyo, is congested and police said drivers were having difficulty getting ambulances to the scene of the disaster.

Moslems Boycotting OAS-Bombed Docks

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslem dock-workers today boycotted the waterfront where at least 96 dockers were killed yesterday in a bomb blast planted by the European Secret Army Organization.

The strike brought the port to a standstill. Seven ships were waiting to be unloaded and others were anchored in the outer harbor. The underground extremists fighting to keep Algeria French kept up their terror campaign today with bombings and robberies.

Two violent explosions wrecked a Moslem medical insurance office near the Algiers Casbah and two post offices were held up and robbed.

There were no immediate reports of casualties. The explosions occurred before the building opened for business. During office hours it is usually crowded with Moslems collecting government insurance payments for medical expenses.

The new terrorists action followed one of the bloodiest days in the territory more than seven years ago. Officials reported 110 persons were killed and 147 wounded Wednesday in Algiers and Oran. Almost all were Moslem victims of the Secret Army.

The meeting between the two space conquerors was a no-ceremony affair, and the tour was carried out as simply.

The Soviet cosmonaut and the American astronaut shook hands at the home of National Academy of Sciences, where Glenn greeted his fellow member of the exclusive orbit club with a simple "hello."

Titov responded in Russia, "zdravstvuite ochen rad."

American experts on the Russian language said the simplest way to translate that was "very pleased to meet you."

They described it as a greeting "not as casual as hello," on the order of what Titov might say later to Kennedy.

M59 Freeway Updated to 1963

Pontiac Pleased Over Earlier Linking With Perimeter Road

State Highway Department officials today said they have proposed a change in plans for construction of the M59 freeway east of Pontiac that would assure early scheduling of the East Huron Street extension.

★ ★ ★

Construction of the extension had previously been postponed until sometime after 1967. The extension would link the I-75 freeway with the downtown perimeter road.

★ ★ ★

Today, Lyle Lipp Jr., assistant road engineer, said the link has been added to proposed construction plans for the first part of the highway.

"A portion of the M59 freeway from the perimeter road to Rochester is now slated to be placed under contract in the third quarter (summer) of 1963," Lipp said.

The announcement was greeted enthusiastically by city administrators, planners and the Downtown Pontiac Assn. The link is of major importance to Central Business District plans as a major means of access from the east.

★ ★ ★

It would involve widening and extending E. Huron Street (one-way easterly), and development of Mt. Clemens as a one-way westbound thoroughfare, to a point where the two would connect with the M59 freeway near the I-75 freeway. The link inside Pontiac is estimated to cost about $3.8 million.

To Welcome U.S. Tourists

Canada Pegs Dollar .925

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada devalued its dollar Wednesday night and pegged it at 92½ U.S. cents to give a boost to exports and ease the nation's chronic foreign trade deficit.

The president of the Canadian Manufacturing Association said he was delighted with the export boost but expressed surprise at the new rate, the lowest since Canada adopted a free, floating exchange rate in September 1950.

The Canadian dollar had sold at 95¼ cents on the exchanges for the past two months.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said in a statement announcing the new rate the government had taken progressive steps to bring the exchange rate down. The Canadian dollar in August 1957 was worth $1.06⅛ in U.S. currency.

The drop in the rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and to discourage import buying by raising import prices in terms of Canadian dollars.

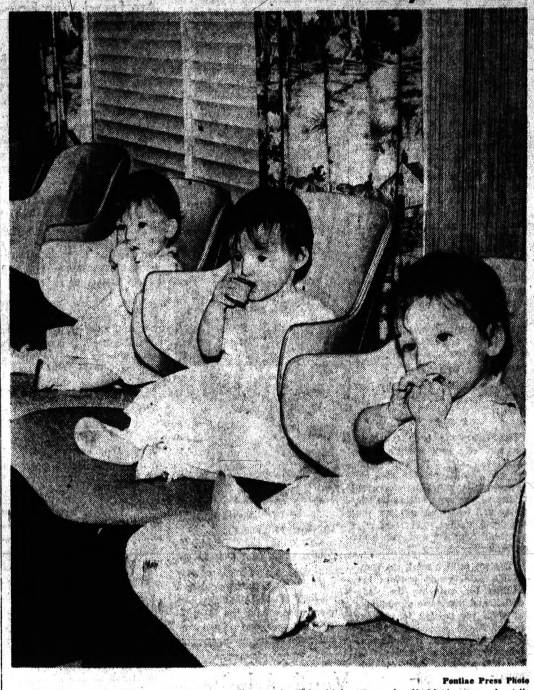

It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the United States for Canadians and cheaper ones in Canada for American tourists.

For the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean that the government's exchange fund will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than one percentage point on either side of the 92½-cent rate.

Sees Decision Soon on Nuisance Taxes

LANSING (AP) — Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, says House Republicans probably will get together in the next day or two on a package of "nuisance" taxes designed to keep the state treasury solvent.

★ ★ ★

There is indication that any "fair and reasonable" package will attract enough Democratic votes to pass it through the House and send it to the Senate, he said last night.

Dual moves for strict economy and taxes on various luxuries, services and goods are gaining headway in both the House and Senate as lawmakers work toward money-raising and spending decisions.

A seven-man committee of Republican House members and GOP members of the House Taxation committee came up with a tax package yesterday designed to keep government operating at the same level and starting retiring a big state treasury deficit.

PROPOSED PLAN

The committee, headed by Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, proposed:

★ ★ ★

Increasing the beer tax from one-third of a cent a bottle to two cents, raising $34 million; adding two cents to the nickel-a-pack cigarette tax, worth $20 million; reviving a four per cent tax on telephone and telegraph services, producing $8 million, and re-enacting a special four per cent excise tax on liquor, producing $7 million.

The $69 million total the committee said, would produce $14 million for reducing the state deficit and take care of additional state aid needed for an expected 58,000 increase in public school enrollment. It would not, however, allow any increase in the $285-per-pupil state aid formula.

★ ★ ★

If Republicans decide still more revenue is required, the committee suggested a tax on goods sold at wholesale, which would produce $107 million annually at a rate of one per cent, and a 10 mill tax on real estate transfers, which would be worth $23 million.

★ ★ ★

Most of the same taxes are under consideration in the senate.

House and Senate appropriation committees are working on a 1962-63 budget which would cost about $300 million, about $18 million more than current spending and approximately $45 million above revenue estimates for the fiscal year that will end June 30.

Board to Study 1962 Valuation

County Supervisors Are Faced With Figure Lower Than Expected

Main order of business when the County Board of Supervisors meets in Pontiac Monday will be the proposed county equalized valuation for 1962 tax purposes.

In a report from its equalization committee, the board will learn that a proposed total valuation of $2,112,408,200 falls far short of what had been anticipated.

When the County Board of Auditors drafted a tentative budget for county government in 1963, members anticipated a 3 per cent increase in valuation over the $2,094,683,200 figure in 1961 to help finance the budget.

As proposed by the committee, the valuation amounts to less than 1 per cent increase. It is approximately $23 million short of what county officials were counting on when they approved the tentative $16,555,202 budget.

★ ★ ★

The reduced valuation would result in the county budget needing 6.18 mills of the total 15 mills divided by the allocation board. Had the 3 per cent increase materialized the figure would have been 6.05 mills.

The County Tax Allocation Board ultimately will decide the millage to go to county government, schools and townships. Last year the board approved 5.25 mills for county government.

Also at Monday's meeting, the ways and means committee will recommend that the board approve spending $631,812 for construction of a supervisors auditorium at the County Service Center.

The buildings and grounds committee will seek authorization to accept bids for remodeling the welfare building at the center within a $43,000 allocation.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Rebels Grab Up Dr. Dooley's Site

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Pro-Communist rebels were reported to have captured the historic town of Muong Sing today in a major victory that could reopen the Laotian civil war on a large scale.

★ ★ ★

There was no official announcement but a highly placed military source warned persons planning to go there that the town was "captured and occupied" today after "a big battle."

Its fall would give pro-Communist Laotian rebels a zone of control along the entire length of the border with Communist China and open a back route to the hard-pressed loyalist bastion at Nam Tha.

The report of Muong Sing's capture came exactly on the first anniversary of the cease fire proclaimed between the royal Laotian government and the rebels.

Since the town is at least 30 miles on the government's side of the line, it appeared to be a rebel declaration that the truce is over.

Muong Sing was the last important town held by the government anywhere along the border with Red China and North Viet Nam.

Without it the government has only one airstrip remaining within 80 miles of the embattled northwestern provincial capital of Nam Tha.

Rebel forces already half encircle Nam Tha to the east and from Muong Sing the capital is only a two-day march along an excellent trail.

An early stop was the 555-foot Washington Monument where Titov quipped:

"This is the first joint Soviet-American journey into space."

Glenn laughed when the translation came to him and replied there is a joke among American spacemen that the needle-like monument "would never get off the pad."

SEES JOINT TRIPS

A smiling and expansive Titov told a news conference at the Soviet Embassy Wednesday that some day Americans and Soviets will fly together to the moon and beyond.

He didn't know when spacecrafts would be manned by international crews but — "I can tell you that it will be sooner if our governments can agree to prohibit war and to disarm."

And with a grin, Titov said it was a historical injustice that men were picked for the first trips into space.

"Women have made advances in many sciences," he said. "They can withstand hardships on a higher level than men.

"Justice will come and women will fly to space, especially on the prolonged journeys."

His wife sat in front of him, fingering a ring and relishing every word.

Royalty Twists at Ball Aboard Dutch Liner

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Royalty did the twist at Queen Juliana's ball aflout Wednesday night and an expert witness reported Princess Margaretha of Sweden far outclassed Britain's Prince Philip.

"Prince Philip was a good sport about it," said one of the Dutch guests on the cruise aboard the Dutch luxury liner Oranje. "He was smiling and gay, but you would hardly call his dancing of the twist abandoned."

"Margaretha was really good," reported Cosimo Gile, the Italian musician whose band played the music.

Youth Admits Poisoning Milk

Boy in Florida Tells of Sodium Arsenite to Kill Drummond Children

Juvenile court authorities in West Palm Beach, Fla., today charged a boy not yet in his teens with delinquency in the Easter Eve death of the two young children of a former Bloomfield Township industrialist and sportsman.

The 11-year-old boy confessed to authorities of diluting milk with sodium arsenite which took the lives of Deborah Drummond, 9, and her brother James Randall, 3.

Police said the boy, whose name they will not release because of state law, admitted he deliberately put the deadly poison in a bottle of milk and placed it in the refrigerator at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robber J. Drummond of Boca, Raton, Fla.

Drummond is co-owner of the National Broach Co., a tool firm, and Drumbeat Harness Horse Racing Stables of New York. Drummond moved from this area several years ago.

★ ★ ★

Drummond has started a fund drive toward building a hospital in Boca Raton since it was necessary to rush his children to a hospital in Boynton Beach, 15 miles away.

Contributions can be made to the Debbi-Rand Memorial Hospital Fund, Boca Raton, Fla.

'Will Cease When Russia Agrees to Ban'

U.S. Reiterates Its Need for N-Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States told the neutral nations today that this country "will gladly cease" nuclear testing the moment an effective test ban agreement can be reached with Russia.

★ ★ ★

But in a note to the government o Ghana, the United States said that without a Soviet agreement, this country "will not unilaterally relinquish the right to conduct defense preparations."

The note was dispatched a day after the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission announced that the third U.S. atmospheric weapons test had been conducted in the Pacific.

The note to Ghana urged the neutral nations to support U.S. efforts to achieve an effectively monitored test ban agreement. It was in response to a note of April 26 from Ghana appealing for an end to testing by all nations.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. reply said that this country "regrets the necessity" for its Pacific test series but that in the absence of Soviet agreement, it must be conducted.

The note said Russia undoubtedly "derived much information of military significance" from its test series last fall.

"If the Soviet Union," it said, "were to conduct nuclear test explosions while the United States refrained, military preponderance would in time come to test with the Soviet Union."

This, the United States said, "would be exceedingly dangerous for any government seeking to maintain its independence."

NEW PLAN

In Geneva, India presented a compromise plan calling for East and West to open their territory to international inspection by gradual stages during a period of general and complete disarmament.

The plan was put before the 30th plenary session of the 17-nation disarmament conference by Indian delegate Arthur Lall in an effort to bridge the gap between Soviet and Anglo-American stands.

Neither American delegate Arthur H. Dean nor Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made any immediate comment on the Indian proposal.

lems from wreaking vengeance against the European extremists out to wreck the cease-fire reached by President Charles de Gaulle and the rebels March 19.

The savagery of the terrorists' attacks in Algeria's two biggest cities was clearly designed to provoke a civil war to block Algerian independence.

Infuriated Moslems slit the throat of one European and made threatening moves to rise up but they were held back by Nationalists leaders anxious to preserve the peace and speed their takeover of the North African territory.

At least 96 Moslems were killed and 140 wounded in one blow when a booby-trapped car loaded with 40 pounds of explosives and shrapnel exploded among 1,500 Moslems crowded around a dockside hiring hall.

Authorities said at first eight Moslems were believed killed. The horror of the blast that rocked the waterfront was not realized until rescue workers dug into the wreckage and the confusion cleared.

The toll may have been even higher, for the Moslems try to carry off their dead and wounded to their own habitat in the Casbah.

Fears of retaliation led to a tighter curfew in Algiers. It was moved up from midnight to 8:30 p.m.

Auto Industry Profits Double

Ford Motor Reports $127.7 Million Margin, but GM Sets Record

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. made a net profit of $127.7 million in the first three months of 1962, topping earnings of $76.2 million for the same quarter of 1961 by 67 per cent.

Ford, in announcing first quarter results yesterday, said the 1962 earnings were equal to $2.32 per share of common stock.

Sales for this year's first three months were a record $1,899,700,000 or 37 per cent above the $1,461,100,000 of a year earlier. Ford said the dollar sales were the highest for any quarter in the company's history.

Sales were some $95 million more than in the first quarter of 1960, when Ford earned $2.61 a share, its best rate ever for the opening three months of the year.

Combined profits of the five automobile companies more than doubled in the first quarter of this year against the first three months of 1961.

General Motors set the pace with an all-time record of $374 million. Total for the five companies was $509.25 million with Studebaker reporting a $2.6 million loss.

Last year, when both Chrysler and Studebaker were in the red, the total profit was $238 million. In the first quarter of 1960, a profitable one for all five companies, the total was $495.2 million.

PLANNING AHEAD—Robert Dieball (right), Waterford township planning director, discusses development of the township's sewer and water systems with supervisor Elmer Johnson. Plans for the sewer system are indefinite at this time pending the results of a study by the City of Pontiac to determine if its treatment plant would be adequate to serve the neighboring township.

Waterford Starting to Move Toward a New Sewer System

By JOE MULLEN

Though there have been few apparent advantages to date stemming from Waterford Township's change to a charter township form of government, benefits are definitely taking shape.

★ ★ ★

The primary purpose of the change was to enable the township to proceed with central water and sewer system plans to meet the demands of a rapidly expanding population.

The water program is in the advanced planning stages now and initial action has been taken on the sewer system.

Construction of water and sewer facilities is a vast and expensive project. Engaging in such a program under the former system would have resulted in a prohibitively high tax rate.

★ ★ ★

As a charter township Waterford can issue long term general obligation bonds and may also spread the retirement of these bonds over a greater period of time. A charter township also can sell its bond issues at a lower interest rate than an ordinary township.

Confidence in a charter township's ability to pay arises from the fact that this type of government is allowed to raise taxes five mills in a given year without a vote of the people. An even bigger increase can be levied if approved at the polls.

Though the taxing power may be utilized, township officials feel it will not be necessary in financing the water system. Anticipated revenue from connection fees, which will average about $400, is expected to prove sufficient in meeting obligations.

The sewer system also will be mainly self-supporting.

$12 MILLION COST

Ultimate cost of a central water system is estimated at nearly $12 million.

No actual estimates as yet have been made on the sewer project, but its cost is expected to exceed that of the water program. Both systems are likely to be financed by general obligation bonds issued over 30 years.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works is acting as agent for the township on the water program. Johnson and Anderson Co., consulting engineers, is now working on final construction plans which should be ready by the first part of June.

Actual construction on the water system could get under way this fall, and the first phase of the program should be completed about a year after work begins. Cost of this portion of the program, integrating the existing 12 water systems in the community, is estimated at from $3-$6 million.

In addition to tying the existing water systems, laterals would be laid on streets 65 per cent occupied and two elevated water tanks and a ground storage tank would be constructed. Total storage capacity will amount to 8 million gallons.

Further work on the system to meet an estimated mushrooming of the present 49,000 population to 85,000 by 1970 would be initiated as needed.

The township's ground source has been termed adequate for the water supply.

TIES WITH DETROIT

Eventual water service from the Detroit system is at least 10 years away. Whether or not the township ever ties into this supply line would have little material effect on the water system cost. It would be merely a matter of connecting to the Detroit line.

The outlook for the sewer program is still indefinite.

The City of Pontiac is now conducting a study to determine whether its treatment plant is adequate to serve the township. Detroit is laying an interceptor line out Dequindre Road that might eventually serve Waterford. The Oakland County Department of Public Works is a third possibility, and the township might conceivably construct its own sewage treatment plant.

Now there are two small treatment plants serving about 1300 residents of the township. The Pontiac sewer system serves 3,600 more. The majority of the population utilizes septic tanks.

The Township Board recently passed a resolution asking the county DPW to serve as agent in the sewer program as the department is doing in water system negotiations. No formal action other than its acceptance, has been taken by the county on the resolution.

Proponents of the charter township form of government began urging the change several years ago. They pointed out that the switch would give the township taxing power comparable to that of a city in contrast to the weak position of the ordinary township.

ONLY ONE IN COUNTY

The charter township measure passed by nearly a 2 to 1 majority at the polls Sept. 12.

Waterford is the only charter township in Oakland County.

The taxing power variation in the two forms of township governments is not the only difference. There are many.

The charter township's fiscal period is a calendar year while the regular township operates on an April 1 to April 1 fiscal year. Ordinary townships must hold annual meetings in April unless abolished by vote of the people. Charter townships are not so obligated.

★ ★ ★

Charter townships must have four trustees on the board while regular townships are required to have two. The latter may elect two more if the population exceeds 5,000.

Charter townships also have broader power in enforcing zoning and building construction, and its power to license is not so restricted.

In contrast to a regular township, one with a charter can provide for the hiring of a township superintendent.

OWN ROAD SYSTEM

Bonded indebtedness of a charter township must not exceed 10 per cent of its assessed valuation and a surplus in any fund at the end of the year reverts to the general fund for reapportionment.

A charter township is also permitted to establish its own road system, separate from the county system. This, however, requires a large initial outlay of funds and is not considered feasible at this time in Waterford Township.

Owners Warned to Get Licenses

Warden Is Dogged by a Lag in Tags

Prosecutor George Taylor and Dog Warden Dr. Frank R. Bates are wondering what to do about "doggone dog licenses."

Dr. Bates said yesterday about 50 per cent of the Oakland County residents receiving notices to purchase dog licenses have not complied.

Six men have been making house-to-house surveys looking for dogs — and licenses, Dr. Bates explained.

Any owner without a permit for his dog has been given a week's notice to purchase one. The dog warden's office, in turn, has been checking license purchases against notices.

★ ★ ★

When Dr. Bates discovered only half the owners were complying, he went to see Taylor to discuss methods of enforcement.

Both men agreed the prosecutor's office can issue warrants against offenders — if it wants to.

"But it seems so silly to get a warrant just for a doggone dog license," Dr. Bates said.

NEED 'EDUCATION'

Taylor agreed, saying he would rather educate people about dog licensing laws than prosecute them.

As a result, Taylor and Bates are planning to prepare a letter over Taylor's signature, warning violators that a complaint has been made against them by the dog warden.

Failure to heed the warning, both men said, will result in prosecution.

★ ★ ★

Dog owners violating the state dog licensing law are guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a maximum penalty of $100 fine, three months in jail, or both, Taylor said.

Bates added that dogs must be vaccinated against rabies before a license is issued.

Rabies shots cost from $2 to $5, depending on the type, and licenses are $1 for female dogs and $2 for males and spayed female animals.

★ ★ ★

Bates said licenses can be obtained from most veterinarians, the county treasurer's office and some township treasurers' offices.

Ferrer Asks to Reconcile After Rosemary Testifies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)— Jose Ferrer after hearing Rosemary Clooney accuse him of infidelity while siring five children at home, answered her by pleading for a reconciliation.

"I'd come home tonight," Ferrer said.

★ ★ ★

His blonde wife tearfully testified Wednesday in their contested divorce trial that the Oscar winner had "affairs with other women from the beginning of our marriage."

★ ★ ★

Asked to comment on Ferrer's desire to come home, Miss Clooney, 33, answered: "I guess he would, if he could—and that's my only comment."

TRIAL RECESSED

The trial is in recess until Tuesday.

Superior Judge Mervyn Aggeler suggested that both sides use the time to resolve their tangled financial situations.

"From what I've heard," the judge said, "both parties are as confused as the court."

★ ★ ★

Both Ferrer, 49, and his wife have given graphic accounts of how it is possible in Hollywood to earn millions and still be broke.

★ ★ ★

Miss Clooney, for instance, testified that she grossed $305,613.43 in 1955 and wound up with a net profit for the year of $4,190.38.

And that, apparently, was one of her better years because during eight years of marriage she grossed a total of $2,060,667.97—and now owes $63,632.99.

★ ★ ★

"Besides being insolvent," she said, "my doctor told me a week ago that I have an ulcer."

Report 30 City Buildings Meet Shelter Demands

The city got a look this week at some of Pontiac's capabilities for providing community fallout shelters in the event of a nuclear attack.

First reports from the Federal Defense Shelter Survey indicated there are 30 buildings in the city with space for 4,218 persons, which meet every federal requirement.

Buildings that will need "minor modifications" to pass requirements number 182. They provide shelter space with a capacity of 18,598.

Thus, the first phase of the shelter survey has uncovered perfect or nearly acceptable space for 22,766 persons in a total of 212 buildings.

★ ★ ★

Data was collected on some 400 buildings when the survey began in January.

"Notices of the survey results are now being mailed to owners of the affected buildings," said David S. Teel, assistant city manager. "We must now negotiate with owners for right of way privileges to use building areas as community shelters.

"Everything hinges on whether the owner will permit such use of the specified area in his building."

Second inspections of all potential fallout shelters is currently under way by the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Those buildings where right of access is granted and minimum standards are met, will be stocked with food, water, medical supplies and radiation detection equipment.

MANY DOWNTOWN

Of the 30 buildings meeting all requirements, 13 are in the Central Business District. Of the total 212 buildings, 64 are in the CBD. They account for capacity of 9,032, according to Teel.

Some of the buildings meeting all requirements are Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac State Bank and Community National Bank buildings, and Oakland County Jail.

Three schools were found to pass all tests.

They are Washington Junior High School and Longfellow and Whittier elementary schools.

Downtown business places include Sears Roebuck Co., Eagle Theater, Lewis Furniture Co., J. C. Penney Co., Neisner Bros. Store, and the S. S. Kresge Co. Store.

★ ★ ★

"The most common shortcoming of buildings was ventilation. Of the 182 needing only minor changes, 60 required only improved ventilation to meet minimum requirements for 50 people," Teel said.

Rabies Problem Now Centers in Bats, Skunks

Skunks rather than dogs are becoming the main threat in the transfer of rabies to humans, the chief U.S. Veterinary Public Health last night told a joint meeting of the Oakland County Medical Society and the Oakland County Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. James H. Steele told the gathering at Kingsley Inn:

★ ★ ★

"We are approaching a point where we will not have any human fatalities from dog bites, although dog bites are still a serious problem."

"More than half of the human deaths from rabies are caused by skunk bites," he said. And he predicted there was little that could be done about controlling rabies among skunks and other wild animals such as foxes, raccoons and bats.

The reason is that dogs can be vaccinated "while there's little that can be done about, for example, the skunk problem."

Find 2 Men Reported Missing on Lake Erie

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two Toledo men reported missing on Lake Erie were found early today shortly after the Coast Guard had resumed a search for them with the aid of a helicopter from the Naval Air Station at Grosse Isle, Mich.

★ ★ ★

The Coast Guard said Larry Smith, 29, and Charles Brown, 30, were found at 6:10 a.m. anchored off North Cape, eight miles northwest of Toledo.

CWO Ernest Killian, Coast Guard group commander at Cleveland, said the men took a 14-foot outboard motor boat they bought two weeks ago for a trial run about 9:30 a.m. yesterday and failed to return.

See Plans for Downtown as Practical

(Editor's Note— This is the concluding article in a two-part series on the Central Business District Plan revealed last week.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

The objective of the recently completed Central Business District Plan is to make downtown Pontiac a better place in which to operate and do business.

It is not a plan to tell businessmen HOW to operate or HOW to improve merchandising techniques.

Several of the changes recommended may be termed "fantastic" by some, but the team of experts that put the plan together call it "sound, realistic and above all, economically feasible. It can be done."

The framework of the CBD consists largely of the perimeter road and an inner circulator road which consultants call "the little brother" to the perimeter road.

The plan lists fast and firm schedulings of the perimeter road as "one outstanding advantage downtown Pontiac has over competition."

Slated for completion in 1963, it will give the CBD "a better overall approach, access and circulation plan than any private shopping center."

It will keep traffic out of the CBD while furnishing 16 to 20 easy, guided entrances.

★ ★ ★

The inner circulator is one-way in the opposite direction.

A strong point is that most of the inner circulator is already built. Flowing clockwise, it consists of Perry, Pike, Wayne and Lafayette streets.

MUST BE EXTENDED

To make this possible, Lafayette must be extended easterly to meet Perry, and Wayne southerly to connect with Pike.

The inner road would enable shoppers to move readily from one parking area to another.

Between the inner circulator and perimeter road, on all sides except due south, lie vast parking areas.

The basic crosstown routes would be Huron Street and Orchard Lake-Auburn Avenue, with the latter connected in one smooth-flowing thoroughfare at Saginaw Street. It is recommended that both routes become divided boulevards through the CBD.

Saginaw will not exist north of Huron and be used only as an automobile access area south of Huron.

★ ★ ★

Construction of the East Huron Street extension linking the perimeter road with I-75 freeway is a must.

★ ★ ★

Previously slated for construction along with the M-59 freeway east to Utica, it is now slated for construction ni the summer of 1963.

IMPORTANT LINK

"While it is true that more than $16 million is being spent on I-75 within the limits of the Pontiac trade area, it will bring little value to the CBD until the radial connection to it is made," the plan says.

I-75 will create more potential for competitors and less for the CBD until the Huron Street extension is completed.

Into the framework must go several architectural features that will complete the picture.

The major department store-type comparison shopping center, north of Huron, is marked by an air conditioned arcade from about Pine and Carter Streets on the west, to Perry at the Greyhound Bus Depot on the east.

★ ★ ★

As the main pedestrain route, the arcade is fed by escalators at both ends from parking areas. The plan stresses that it be a "pleasant walk", which also gives access to small shops and large department stores.

Naturally, some existing structures would have to be removed to build the arcade.

A major public outdoor feature is a central shoppers plaza, located roughly in the area of Saginaw and Warren.

Warren will either become a mall or store area and the plaza would be on land now occupied by Saginaw. Other smaller plazas and malls are suggested following the line of Saginaw Street south to Huron.

★ ★ ★

All this is surrounded by stores, many of them remodeled present buildings, some of them entirely new.

Another innovation involves use of the old courthouse site at Saginaw and Huron.

BILLED AS PARK PLAZA

The plan bills this as the Central Park Plaza. It will contain the Pontiac Pavilion and a modern office building.

"This area provides a particularly wonderful opportunity to establish early a central image such as a park," the plan suggests.

A third major change would be the Water Street Mall. The plan recommends it be widened into part of a tree-lined vista linking the business district with the Civic Center.

This would create a "prestige site for a fine restaurant in a small plaza at the business end of the mall."

★ ★ ★

To the South of this proposed mall, lies the site of another proposed innovation, the Motor Executive's Hotel.

★ ★ ★

South of this, the CBD would consist mainly of smaller, specialized shops.

Consultants point out that most of South Downtown lies within the city's two urban renewal projects. "Successful operating developers have expressed to the city's agent strong interest in the development of an office building, supermarket and multi-family housing" in this area.

Hi-rise apartments are recommended on the fringe of the CBD.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE

It is also suggested that a community college be established close to the CBD.

Whether the plan should be taken seriously is summed up in a portion of its statement of purpose.

"Had the merchants and businessmen undertaken five years ago what is proposed here, the advantages of downtown Pontiac . . . would have been so strongly in its favor that it is very doubtful the outlying shopping centers would have dared to develop."

Teachers Reinstated by Education Board

NEW BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Anchor Bay School Board voted unanimously last night to reinstate seven teachers who were suspended at Anchor Bay High School last week for wearing black arm bands in protest of a defeated tenure proposal.

The six-member board, however, refused to award the teachers back pay for their lost work week.

Federal Judge Theodore Levin was to hold a show cause hearing on the pay issue in Detroit today. Levin ordered the hearing after a suit was filed against the board by the American Federation of Teachers.

The teachers were told to report back to their jobs tomorrow.

Spring Is Tea Time for Auxiliary

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Automation may be the password of the times, but we'll wager that dainty tea sandwiches won't be affected. It is difficult to see how they could be made by machine (that is, and look like anything!)

* * *

Three weeks from today, the Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital is giving its annual membership tea at the Lake Orion home of Mrs. John Marra. Bite-size sandwiches and cookies will be served.

* * *

To some women the thought of preparing hundreds of these little sandwiches nearly floors them. But to one of the committees it is all in a day's work.

This might be become two of the women have had a short-term course in sandwich making. Mrs. Harold Furlong and Mrs. Arthur Kyung attended several classes sponsored by the Village Women's Club and held at Meadow Brook.

What they learned they will teach the others helping them: Mrs. Mac Whitfield, Mrs. Harold Euler, Mrs. Milo Cross and Mrs. Stuart Whitfield. They will make up their fillings the day before the tea and get the bread ready.

* * *

The fillings will be refrigerated, of course, and the bread tightly covered or even frozen. The day of the tea the committee will use a streamlined production method and whiz through their chores in record time.

One of the fillings they are planning to use will complement the color scheme of the Marra home which is pink and teal. This is a cream cheese and dried beef filling. You might like to try it for your next party. This same mixture, if made a little thicker, can be served as toothpicks for a cocktail tidbit.

DRIED BEEF FILLING

Soften a small package of cream cheese. Stir into it as much dried beef cut into fine pieces with scissors as you desire to make a pokka dot effect. Add horseradish to taste. Monosodium glutamate may also be added. Thin to desired consistency with mayonnaise. Spread on rounds of bread.

* * *

Minute cream puffs filled with tuna salad will also appear on the sandwich trays May 23. These are another item you can prepare ahead of time for the shells keep nicely. You put the filling in just before serving.

If you want to get double the number of servings, just cut the puffs in half and serve halves heaped with filling. They're more decorative that way too.

Here's a creampuff recipe in case you need one.

* * *

1 cup water
1 stick butter or margarine
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
dash of salt
4 eggs

Heat butter or margarine and water to boiling. Stir in flour and baking powder until mixture forms into a ball. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Beat until smooth.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees 15 minutes (maybe a little less time). Turn off oven and let puffs stand 5 more minutes. When cool, slit in half with sharp knife and fill with tuna or chicken salad.

LET'S HEAR ABOUT IT—Janet Odell, left, Pontiac Press Home Editor, hears all about the plans one of the committees has for mass production of tea sandwiches for the coming Pontiac General Hospital Auxiliary tea. Mrs. Stuart Whitfield, Cherokee Road; Mrs. Milo Cross, North Hammond Lake Drive; and Mrs. Harold Furlong, Navajo Drive are among those who will make sandwiches at Mrs. Furlong's the day of the tea, May 23.

2 or 3 drops almond extract

* * *

Place apple and milk in electric blender. Blend until apple is mashed. Gradually add other ingredients, blending until mixture is smooth. Makes about 2 cups. Serve over fruit salad.

Court Ruling Causes Rash of Waterway Regulations

Need State Boat Legislation to Prevent Chaos on Lakes

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Michigan "The Water Wonderland" is on the verge of becoming a state of "Water Warfare." A Supreme Court ruling has lit the fuse and a maze of ordinances in waterfront communities around the state is kindling an explosion that would set lake against lake and one water sport against the other in open defiance.

This threat of complete confusion on the 11,000 lakes and streams in Michigan would endanger the state's tourist position and status as the boating capital of the country; and this involves more than just a few visitors and more than the sale of just a few boats and motors.

Just as the horse and buggy roads gave way to the booming auto industry and the need for superhighways, the waterways must concede to the mushrooming boating industry with the growth of water skiing, skin diving, motor boating, sailboating and pontoon cruising. In view of this growth, controls are certainly needed, but with uniformity and not by unwarranted harassment of the mobile boating public.

CHAOS UPHELD

When the high court recently upheld the ordinance of Fabius Township in St. Joseph county, forbidding water skiing and power boating after 4:00 p.m. and before 10:00 a.m. the wheels of boating chaos were put into motion.

Would it be sound to rule that a car with 180 or more horse power is not permitted on a state road after 6:00 p.m.? Would it make sense to forbid all compact cars to use the expressways before 10:00 a.m.?

Why should a person who has invested thousands of dollars in a boat and motor be told he can't use his boat after a certain time on a given lake?

It certainly holds true that some lakes cannot adequately handle certain sized boats and motors and by agreement of all the homeowners of such private lakes, specific restrictions are made for the benefit of the residents of such lakes.

Oakland County however, with more than 400 lakes spread across 60 different communities would be a jig-saw of boat laws if each and every community passed different ordinances governing the public waters within their borders.

West Bloomfield township has accepted the precedence set by the high court ruling and has set time, speed, age and provisional sports regulations on the lakes within the township.

The irony of the matter is that some lakes are encompassed within the territorial jurisdiction of two, three and even four communities. So if a boater leaves West Bloomfield township at 10 MPH and by some great skill of imagination he feels he has cruised into Waterford Township, he can up his speed to 20 mph; and if the water skier takes off in Waterford Township and "the sign out in the middle of the lake" says he is in West Bloomfield Township at 6:35 p.m. he better let go of the tow rope. As ridiculous as it may seem, this could go on all over the county and state.

There is only one solution, and other Midwestern states have recognized and accepted the fact that regulatory control belongs to the state. Michigan House Bill 575 now under consideration by the House Ways and Means committee gives the state this right.

The Minnesota Supreme Court rationalized that since boating is enjoyed over a wide area encompassing a number of municipalities, it presents a "statewide" problem and not a matter subject to local regulation. Ohio also stopped water front community laws by declaring the state boating law has preempted the field.

★ ★ ★

These states have also ruled that to let every waterside community adopt its own boating ordinances would be "chaotic, unreasonable and absurd."

BETTER UNIFORMITY

House Bill 575 would reverse the decision of the court. Working toward better uniformity, a state boating committee composed of representatives of the waterways commission, secretary of state's office, and the various water sports groups would be set up. The committee would be empowered to prescribe special boating regulations for any community upon application by governing body of the community desiring remedial rules. No regulations would be set until public notice and hearings are made within the community.

State legislation would not remove local jurisdiction it would merely prevent jig-saw lake laws.

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A metal fish to scare away evil electric currents and a shoe shaped like a scrub brush are among the wild, wonderful and sometimes even workable gadgets offered boatmen.

Finery for a boat means fitting her out with new hardware and accessories that should make her stronger and more handsome than ever.

The fish looks like one but is formed from five pounds of special zinc alloy.

Called the Guppy, it is hung over the side of a craft tied up in salt or brackish water. Acting as an anode and grounded to the boat, it is slowly eaten away by electrolysis. During the process, it's protecting the boat's underwater fittings.

A brush with straps fits on the boatman's foot so he can hang on the side and scrub a boat below the water line.

★ ★ ★

Other answers to the wear of water and weather are plastic cleats, chocks and navigation lights. Made of Tenite, the items stand sun and salt without discoloring.

Cleats appear as strong as metal. Cabin ventilators, made of the same material, let in air while baffling out even the solid water of a wave.

The simple staple gun has become an aid for the handy man ashore. He may use the stapler afloat with new brass plated staples that resist rusting and those long orange stains that result.

Power tools with built-in batteries are another boon.

★ ★ ★

Quarter-inch drills can go aboard without the long extension cords or, worse, the chance of shorting out in moist air and giving the spring skipper a stiff shock.

New seam sealers never harden and crack to let in water. Several makes are developed from the same thiokol that can propel rockets.

★ ★ ★

Another plastic, this in the shape of a tube, protects rope ends that always used to fray and open. Replacing the knot, back splice or whipped end, the plastic cements on to form a sleeve that needs no care to keep from unraveling.

First aid kits companies are using plastic containers. The boatman no longer has to force open a rusted metal box to get an adhesive bandage.

With the improvements, water should never leak into boats. The gilhickies are good.

But rain and spray will seem to have ways of sneaking into the bilge. For them, a pump called the Bailer Bos'n sits below without any power connections or batteries. It's reported to have a pendulum inside that can swing with the rocking boat and squirt up to 300 gallons a day overboard.

★ ★ ★

For the craft tied at a mooring where it gently rolls all day, this automatic bilge boy may be the next best thing to perpetual motion pumping.

CURRENT CATCHER — Zinc fish is hung overboard to protect boating hardware from the ravages of electrolysis.

Boat Mechanic Wins Annual Nassau Race

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A boat mechanic who finds a use for rubber bands is sixth annual Miami-Nassau powerboat race champion—in record time.

John Bakos of St. Cloud, Fla., drove his 25-foot Bertram cruiser, Aokone, to a record win in 3:42.20. Sam Griffith of Miami, trying for his third consecutive victory in this race, clocked 3:53.

Bakos said that once out on the Atlantic "it was a smooth ride all the way. We locked the throttle open with rubber bands and left it open."

Bakos cut 38 minutes off the 180-mile race's record time, set by Griffith last year.

George Thompson of Sarasota, Fla., placed third in an 18-foot outboard catamaran at 4:07.

Outboard Regatta Slated at Holly Memorial Day

The annual Holly outboard regatta will be held on Bush Lake, Memorial Day May 30th according to Les Klingler, commander of the Holly VFW which sponsors the races.

Races will take place in nine classes and the regatta is sanctioned by the Michigan Outboard Racing Association.

The Memorial Day parade will be held at 10:00 a. m. and the races will start at noon.

Girls Find Holly Race Little Rough in Canoes

Canoe racing seemed like fun, so Kathy Mills and Gail Herrington, a pair of 15-year-old girls from Holly decided to enter the Holly-Fenton race last weekend. They were the only female entries among the 34 canoes.

★ ★ ★

The wind on Mill Pond was a little rough as was the current of the Shiawassee river. After zig zagging in different directions they finally decided to drop out.

Thirty two of the 34 canoes finished with Ralph Sawyer and Rod Holman of Oscoda winning the seniors' division with a time of 1 hour 29.12 minutes. They were followed by Stan Hall and Jerry Lauers of Oscoda and the Wilding brothers of Holly. The top six places received money awards and trophies. The prize list was $115, $70, $40, $30, $20 and $5.

In the junior division, Dave and Doug Funk of Ossineke made the trip in 1 hour, 31.34 minutes to take honors. Bart Brown and Hal James of Greenville were second. Among the novice winners, Ed Adams and John Lowe of Holly were first.

In the tug of war feature between the Chambers of Commerce of both towns, Holly CC was the winner. The race attracted large crowds in both towns.

Boating Can Help Fitness If Boater Likes Activity

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Commenting on President Kennedy's call for more physical fitness, a New York columnist listed pleasure boating as one of the few participant sports now showing new popularity while helping to develop muscular citizens.

It is true that marine activities can probably call on a greater variety of muscles than any other form of recreation. Before a boat is even launched, the sinews of the upper and lower back are well stretched as rain water is bailed and balled from the boat.

Legs are flexed as the craft is dragged down a sandy bank and urged into the water. Rowing out to the mooring adds tone to wrist, biceps and back, and blisters to unaccustomed hands as the bow seems to refuse to progress against the wind and current.

Once along side a larger boat, luggage and gear must be juggled up to the deck.

★ ★ ★

Dexterity and self control are well exercised as a 50-pound cake of ice is hoisted from the bilge of a tilting dinghy, balanced on the gunwhale just before it slips overboard, and then hefted aloft and over the bulwark above in a press-up that would startle professional weight lifters.

No programs of integrated calisthenics could compare with the next procedure—known as raising the anchor.

Thighs strain, arms ache and finally the anchor suddenly surges free. The fatty tissues of the lower back are given a resounding massage as the anchor man falls backward and lands soundly on the deck with wet and muddy anchor line.

All around muscle tone comes quickly if you fall overboard at this time instead and must swim back to the boat and then try to climb back in. Even commanding practice does not include wall scaling while wearing a heavy wet straitjacket of soggy clothes. All this before you get started sailing.

But health faddists may not have had their share of fun afloat if they rate boating as just a participant activity. The sport ranks high as a spectator endeavor, as the President, an experienced boatman himself, would undoubtedly agree.

Thousands of pleasure craft people head out every weekend just to dangle lines down at indolent fish and watch other boats of the watery world go by.

Sailboat racing even puts a premium on being able to sit completely still during a downwind run so that nothing rocks the boat and spills a light wind.

There are the well-adjusted athletes who never cruise from dock or mooring but party aboard right where they are.

Boating is a sport that can become almost anything you want to make it.

Lighter craft should not be used where going is rugged?

3—What Boat?

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

While boating under sail is delightful, it is a more or less specialized sport and not so popular as getting there with a motor.

Your boat must be adapted to use to which you intended to put it You wouldn't purchase a limousine to travel rough mountain trails, any more than you'd buy a jeep to take you to the opera.

A heavily constructed, seagoing boat is wasted on calm, protected waters, and lighter craft built for sheltered waters should not be used where the going is more rugged.

★ ★ ★

For regular use on open waters, a boat should be 18 feet, or longer, wide of beam and with a high freeboard (distance from waterline to gunwale at the bow). Construction should be sturdy and well reinforced.

The exact type of construction best suited to open waters is a matter of debate. Some favor lapstrake construction others go for the smooth bottom.

Some are convinced that the catamaran design is best. You must decide whether your sheltered-water craft should have a planing hull — for speed — or a displacement hull for softer riding.

Your best bet is to consult an experienced boatman or dealer.

NEXT: Cost of maintenance.

For the first six months of this fiscal year, sales and earnings totaled $61,160,676 and $551,392 respectively, while for the same period last year sales were $56,560,177 on which a net loss of $112,818 was incurred.

HONEST! — This 911¾-pound mako shark will be entered for recognition as a world record all-tackle catch for women. It was bagged by Mrs. Audrey Cohen of Brigantine, N. J., aboard a charter boat off West Palm Beach, Fla.

This Catfish Just Loved His Freedom

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (NEA) — An eight-pound, six-ounce white catfish landed in Lake County set a new California record for the length of time a tagged fresh water fish has remained at liberty.

Judging from available information this catfish caught by A. A. Sherrick of Clear Lake Oaks, Calif., also marks a national record. The fish was tagged Aug. 18, 1952, and released at The Narrows in Clear Lake. At that time it measured only 10 inches in length. It was at liberty nine years and five months.

Another important tag return was recorded in California when a 14-year-old San Leandro girl, Patricia Williams, landed a tagged sturgeon in San Pablo Bay. It has been two years since a tagged sturgeon was last reported.

This one, which weighed 80 pounds and was 66 inches long, had been at liberty seven years and five months.

★ ★ ★

The Peach Blossom event, a 54-hole, $7,500 affair, opens Friday. The arrival Wednesday of Sandra McClinton, a young pro from Mineola, Tex., pushed the starting field to a record 34, including 30 pros and four amateurs.

Heading the amateur field is Clifford Ann Creed, North-South amateur champion from Louisiana.

Two Tiger Rainouts Get Re-Scheduled

BOSTON (UPI) — American League President Joe Cronin today announced two schedule changes for the Detroit Tigers which stemmed from early-season postponements.

★ ★

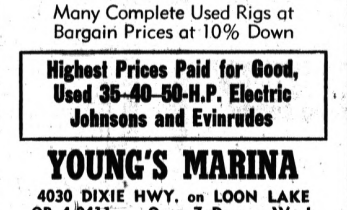

The postponed game of April 11 between the Senators and Detroit Tigers will be played as part of a twi-night doubleheader at Washington on Friday, June 8. The postponed game of April 12 between the two teams will be part of a twi-nighter on Wednesday, Aug. 8.

When fitting-out, make a detailed inspection of your boat and equipment listing everything that needs to be done. A few days later sit down and transcribe the list to individual groups under headings of hull, power plant, electrical equipment, etc. This not only makes the over-all task seem less formidable, but provides you with a working plan.

Slightly Higher on Balance

Up-Down 'Trend' Seen in Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregular early today with a slightly higher tone on balance. Trading was moderate.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among most key stocks.

The momentum of Tuesday's climax rally seemed to have spent itself and the market was groping for its next clue for action. Opinion in the street was that a test of recent lows would be needed before the advance could continue.

Meanwhile, economic news was good. In March, installment credit was reported to have made its biggest monthly gain since last November. Business sales set a record.

★ ★ ★

International Business Machines dropped about 2 points in some routine profit taking on its strong recent run. General Foods was a point or so higher following a dividend hike.

Ford eased despite a big jump in profits on record sales.

Youngstown Sheet recapped a point. Corning Glass was up 3. Addressograph about 2 and General Tire (new) around a point.

The tendency among steels and motors was slightly lower. Plus signs predominated among rails, oils, chemicals, electronics and electrical equipments but most gains were minor.

GAIN, LOSE POINT

In a mixed tobacco section, American Tobacco (new) gained about a point while Liggett & Myers was around a point lower.

Prices were fairly firm at the opening with many stocks unchanged. The ticker tape ran late briefly, then trading settled down to a routine pace.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

U.S. Bonds Edge Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. Treasury bonds opened unchanged to slightly higher today. Corporates were mixed at the start.

Governments were described by an over-the-counter dealer as few issues, mostly the distant maturities, were quoted 1/32 to 2/32s of a point higher.

The new short term bonds were unchanged, as was most of the rest of the list.

In corporate dealings on the New York Stock Exchange, rail bonds were lower, with about twice as many issues losing fractions as registering gains.

Utility bonds got off to an up-side start. Gains and losses were about even in the industrial section.
