Johnson Tells Joint Chiefs to Economize

Emphasizes Defense Costs as Mentioned in Congress Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told the Joint Chiefs of Staff today that he wants "a dollar's value for every dollar spent" on national defense.

In his first meeting with the military high command as commander in chief, Johnson emphasized the insistence on economy which he mentioned in his address to a joint session of Congress Wednesday, the White House said.

The conference with the joint chiefs headed a long list of appointments on Johnson's first full day of uninterrupted work in his White House office, aimed at his newly declared goal of "a new American greatness."

The new President set that target for his administration last night in his Thanksgiving address to the nation.

The brief speech coupled an announcement of new honors for the slain President John F. Kennedy with an appeal to put "this midnight of tragedy" into the past and look forward to the work that must be done.

HONORS KENNEDY

The new President announced — at the request of Jacqueline Kennedy — that to honor Kennedy's memory and "the future of the work he started," the rocket-launching complex at Cape Canaveral, Fla., "shall be known hereafter as Cape Kennedy."

He also said that the neighborly spirit of the Kennedy family should be continued.

Johnson to Pick Group to Probe Kennedy Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission will investigate and report to the nation on President Kennedy's assassination, congressional sources said today.

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, assistant Democratic leader of the House, said he is certain the commission, to be appointed by President Johnson, will include members of the House and Senate.

Boggs earlier had proposed a congressional investigation by a special committee. The presidential commission will serve this purpose, he said.

House Liberals Out to Punish Southern Foes

Led by Missouri's Bolling, Group Eyes Denial of Seniority

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson faces a revolt among a group of House Democratic liberals, a revolt that began before the death of President John F. Kennedy.

It is aimed not at the President, but at Congress. It aims at punishment, by withdrawal of party seniority privileges, of those Democrats who refuse to support the national party ticket and policies. President Kennedy always declined to take such a drastic step, preferring conciliation and persuasion.

Leading the revolt is Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., one of the party's most articulate and thoughtful strategists in the House.

His target is the "subversives and quinquies of the Democratic party," whom he defines as some Southern conservatives.

Bolling ran for majority leader in the party caucus two years ago, and got clobbered. He has pursued a somewhat lone wolf course since, but commands some following in the Democratic study group, a loose amalgamation of more than 100 House liberals.

DISAGREES

Bolling takes issue with President Johnson's belief, as expressed in his speech to Congress Wednesday, in "the ability of Congress to act: to meet a crisis; to distill from our differences strong programs of national action."

Bolling said in an interview that Congress is not viable, or able to live, under its present structure.

He said it has not been viable for a long time "but hasn't been observed as such" because the late speaker of the House, Sam Rayburn, held it together and made it work by his personal prestige and influence.

"We staggered along in the appearance of functioning largely because of Rayburn," Bolling said. "It is not the fault of the minor injuries and Dismann was uninjured."

Rapson refused to make a statement at the scene of the accident, according to sheriff's deputies.

Clubs to Honor E. M. Estes

E. M. (Pete) Estes, Pontiac Motor Division general manager, will be featured speaker at an interview club luncheon in his honor Dec. 6.

Some 700 members of 16 clubs and professional organizations from within the city, Waterford Township, Auburn Heights and Bloomfield Township are expected to attend the noon lunch at Elks Temple.

Estes, who is a General Motors vice president and was chairman of the recent successful Pontiac Area United Food campaign, is the third person to be so honored in recent years.

Interview club luncheons were given for former Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson in 1958, and Michigan State University President John Hannah in 1957.

Estes speech will be a reply to the question "What is Pontiac's Immediate Future?"

Luncheon committee members are Harold A. Fitzgerald, The Pontiac Press publisher; Carlton C. Patterson Jr. of Thatcher, Patterson and Wernet Insurance agency and Frederick J. Poole of Poole Hardware Co.

Mother of the Victim Defends Thompson

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — T. Eugene Thompson's mother-in-law said today he is still "always welcome in my house" despite the charge that Thompson murdered his wife's mother.

She described the accused lawyer as a "sensitive... impulsive" man who made his wife happy and inspired her intense loyalty.

Mrs. Tonia Swoboda, a gray-blond, appeared as the sixth witness in Thompson's trial on charges of insuring his wife's life for more than $1 million and then hiring a salesman to kill her. The motive, the state charges, was the money and a dark-haired mistress.

Thompson, 35, was expected to testify in his own defense later in the day. Presumably, he would deny any connection with the horribly botched and brutal slaying of Carol Thompson, 34, last March 6.

Mrs. Swoboda said the new Thompson had collected "a lot of insurance," she confessed she was surprised when she learned the total on her daughter's life came to more than $1 million.

"I knew he had a fear of losing Carol," she added. "Carol's mother described her daughter as an 'intense' person who wouldn't hear a bad word about her husband."

"I couldn't criticize him because she would quickly come to his defense," she said.

Congress Action on Rights Big Problem for President

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON — The political necessity of getting congressional action on civil rights is President Johnson's biggest domestic problem — just as it was John F. Kennedy's.

The current mood of moderation among the lawmakers may produce some relatively speedy action on aid to education, vocational training and other bills when they return from their holiday next week.

But the fierce controversy over the late president's program for an expansion of racial equality will test all of Johnson's vaunted ability to reach his objectives.

Johnson has called for action now on Kennedy's civil rights legislation. The possibilities of getting it likely will be discussed today at a meeting between Johnson and Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

BUILDING TO CRISIS

Kennedy's relations with Congress were building to a crisis — a situation Johnson has inherited. Yet the new President cannot afford in an election year not to get what Negro voters regard as meaningful civil rights legislation.

Kennedy's strength with the Negroes was unquestioned, Johnson's is not readily assessable.

If the President has to compromise this provision any further.

The attorney general thinks that any civil rights legislation without a strong public accommodations provision would be unacceptable to Negroes.

House leaders began oiling up two old parliamentary moves to prevent the Southern-led Rules Committee from blocking action on the civil rights bill.

One would bypass the committee; the other would temporarily strip Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of his control over the 15-member group. Smith is strongly opposed to the rights measure.

NO COMPROMISE

If Robert F. Kennedy remains as attorney general and Johnson follows his advice in this field, the President would refuse to compromise this provision any further.

There now is no apparent way to move past the barrier of a Southern Democratic filibuster in the Senate — a bill containing the controversial section that would enforce desegregation on selected businesses dealing with the public.

promise the rights bill to get Congress' approval for it, he could lose ground sharply with Negroes, particularly if the Republicans nominate a strong civil rights advocate.

Live TV Asked in Ruby Trial

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby's lawyer says television viewers who saw his client kill the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy also should have a chance to watch as Ruby is tried for murder.

"In this case I think there are strong arguments for live telecasts from the courtroom and I can see no reason why we should object," Tom Howard said yesterday.

Dist. Judge Joe Brown, in whose court the case will come up Dec. 9, said he had not decided whether to admit TV cameras. Under Texas judicial rules this is a matter left to the discretion of the judge.

Ruby, 32, operator of a Dallas night club, fired a single bullet into the midsection of Lee Harvey Oswald, a Communist sympathizer charged with killing Kennedy, as police started to transfer Oswald from one jail to another Sunday.

Ruby is being held without bond in the Dallas County Jail, a few yards from the spot where a sniper's bullets mortally wounded Kennedy a week ago today.

Howard, a veteran Dallas criminal lawyer, said he does not plan to ask for a continuance.

Registration by Postcard

Clerk Gives Details for Pontiac Residents

Some 10,000 Pontiac residents are going to get some very important mail on yellow postcards tomorrow and Monday.

The cards, mailed today, will accomplish two purposes:

- They will notify persons that their status as registered voters is about to expire.
- They will provide a simple method of avoiding expiration without making a trip to City Hall.

"Don't throw the cards away," urged City Clerk Olga Barkeley, whose staff has been busy checking registrations and preparing the notices for two months.

"Just detach half of the notice, sign it, fill in your present address, put a stamp on it and drop it in the mail box," she said.

Normally, she finds about 1,000 expired registrations in her annual check.

MORE THIS YEAR

There are 10 times that many this year because the state's new constitution specifies voters must vote or renew their voter registration every two years.

The old law required renewal only every four years. The law goes into effect Jan. 1.

All Pontiac residents who receive the yellow notices will be given ineligible to vote as of that date if they don't renew by then.

By returning the notices as directed, residents will automatically renew their voting status for another two years.

Persons who have voted in a municipal, school, state or federal election are exempt.

Urban Renewal: a Progress Report

(This is the first in a series of articles on urban renewal.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

After three years of urban renewal treatment for its ills, how is the patient coming?

What is Pontiac's condition? With 12 to 18 months remaining before the original completion dates, what is the status of the projects which are facilitating from downtown the wrinkles of the years?

Much progress has been made since urban renewal became a common phrase here.

But the progress was a little more expensive than anticipated.

MORE PROBLEMS

More problems must be solved before the flower of urban renewal can blossom.

There are three major hurdles. None is insurmountable, according to urban renewal officials.

Two problems evolve from court battles fought elsewhere.

These involve the Clinton River Drain project and the cost liability for relocating public utilities.

The third problem is a product of the local program.

BROKE FINANCIALLY

The R20 project is financially broke. Costs to date have been excessive; income in the future is threatened by a sharp drop in land values.

It must be revised and re-budgeted with federal approval and cash.

These problems, and their solutions, will be detailed in following stories.

First, let's look at what has been accomplished to date in Pontiac's urban renewal program.

OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE

Pontiac's urban renewal rehabilitation program is an outstanding example nationally of citizen participation in a redevelopment program.

Property owners in the R20 project area have spent $327,000 to rehabilitate their homes.

Some 231 homes were found in need of rehabilitation and work has been started on all.

New Staff of Advisers Due Around President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new team of presidential advisers is sure to shape up in the White House soon, bearing the stamp of Lyndon B. Johnson and Texas.

President Johnson likely will want to keep some of the men who surrounded John F. Kennedy in his two years and 10 months in the White House.

But he won't want to keep all, nor will all want to stay.

The job of presidential aide or adviser usually demands fierce loyalty and at times personal closeness. Presidents want long-time associates and familiar faces around them. Johnson is no exception.

One likely prospect is Bill Moyers, 28, deputy director of the Peace Corps. The slender Texan has been at Johnson's side since the new President succeeded Kennedy.

READY TO MOVE

Kenneth O'Donnell, Kennedy's appointments secretary, already has cleared his White House desk, and there is speculation the job may go to Horace Busby, a former Texas newspaperman who has often helped Johnson on speech writing.

White House sources say that Johnson will retain McGeorge Bundy, Kennedy's special assistant for national security affairs. Johnson, an expert on domestic but not foreign affairs, may need Bundy's knowledge on international military and diplomatic matters.

The White House denies reports that Johnson has accepted the resignation of liberal historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., a Kennedy assistant and speech writer. Johnson invited him to sit in the presidential gallery when the new President addressed a joint session of Congress Wednesday.

Most observers expect White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger to leave. A reliable source in Helsinki says he will be succeeded by Carl T. Rowan, now ambassador to Finland.

Rowan, 38, a Negro, joined the Kennedy administration as a deputy assistant secretary of state in 1961. He is a former reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune.

Nab Patient Who Wanted Death of JFK

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP) — State police took into custody an escaped mental patient described by police as a man who wanted to kill President Kennedy and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller because he, the patient, had been unable to go to Russia.

State police said Guy Patterson, 36, was found in the area of Redwood, about 35 miles southwest of Ogdensburg.

Patterson's history bore a striking resemblance to that of Lee Harvey Oswald of Fort Worth, Tex., who slain Nov. 24 while under arrest on a charge of assassinating President Kennedy.

Patterson escaped yesterday. Police in Plattsburgh, who arrested Patterson last June, said they had been summoned to a rooming house and found Patterson typing letters and shouting threats, not only against the President and the governor, but against other officials and his parents.

'MAD AT EVERYBODY'

Patterson, who gave his home as Pineville, Ky., was "mad at everybody because they wouldn't let him go to Russia," police said. Police reported finding several books on communism in his room.

Lee Oswald called himself a Marxist and had been to Russia.

While police hunted Patterson, five other mental patients escaped in a group early today from Rockland State Hospital at Orangeburg, in southeastern New York, and forced an attendant at gunpoint to drive them to New York City.

All six were considered dangerous, officials said.

Mrs. Kennedy in Seclusion

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was secluded today with her two children at the Kennedy compound, with heavy rain adding to the gloom of her reunion with her parents-in-law.

The mother of the late President Kennedy went to an early Mass today — and remained for two of them. Her son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, joined his mother for the second Mass at 8 a.m.

Sen. Kennedy said that his parents and the widow were bearing up well.

He said it had been planned to take the children ice-skating today on the outdoor rink she family gave the town of Barnstable as a memorial to the late Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., who was killed in World War II. But the rain spoiled the ice.

WIDOW JOINS

The President's widow joined the Kennedy family for Thanksgiving dinner yesterday.

Mrs. Kennedy flew to Cape Cod Thursday with Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, to have dinner with family here the town of Barnstable as a memorial to the late Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., who was killed in World War II. But the rain spoiled the ice.

It was her first meeting with the 75-year-old head of the family since the assassination of the President a week ago today in Dallas, Tex.

Republicans. They are a conservative party, by and large. But they are responsible. We—the Democrats—on the other hand, are totally irresponsible.

MINIMUM OF LOYALTY

Bolling's solution? "The minimum is, we start with a demand for at least a minimum of party loyalty. They must at least support the national ticket."

"The maximum would have the effect of altering the power structure. This is the only kind of reform that would have any meaning."

"The faults of Congress are no intrinsic, but lie with the Democratic party. My approach is to maximize the number who behave like Democrats and minimize those who don't."

of them. About 105 of these homes have been completely rehabilitated to date.

There is no rehabilitation program in Pontiac's second urban renewal project (R44) because it is lacking in residential structures.

In both projects, there have been 192 families, 81 individuals and 80 businesses relocated. About 17 commercial establishments close to discontinue business operations rather than move.

YET TO MOVE

There are some nine businesses remaining to be relocated.

Relocation payments in the R50 project total $27,308 to date, according to Stanley Kedzior, relocation officer.

In the R44 project, $9,419 of a $72,780 relocation budget has been spent, with some major relocation payments yet to be made.

Thousands of square feet of sidewalk and driveways have been removed and replaced with new curb, gutter, pavement, storm and sanitary sewers and water lines.

WORK FAST

Working operations normally reach a fast pace at this time of the year because urban renewal must pay property taxes to the city on all structures it owns that are standing as of Jan. 1.

owns that are standing as of Jan. 1.

The moment a parcel is cleared, it becomes tax exempt. Urban renewal has run up a tax bill of $91,000 so far.

Demolition, however, is nearing completion, according to James L. Bates, urban renewal director.

LITTLE PROGRESS

While much progress has been made in the urban renewal project itself, the same can't be said for separate but closely associated projects, like the Clinton River Drain.

This brings us to the two court cases. These problems and their solutions will be the subject of the next installment in this series.

Art Group Sets Christmas Show, Sale

BIRMINGHAM — "The" gift as well as significant trinkets will be on display at the Bloomfield Art Association starting Sunday.

There Christmas shoppers with artistic inclinations can join those who are just looking at the 6th Annual Membership Show and Christmas Sale.

Approximately 70 paintings and 30 pieces of sculpture were selected by juror John A. Jacobson from works submitted by BAA members.

They will be displayed in the gallery through Dec. 29.

YULE MARKET

A Christmas "yule" market sale will be held on the lower level under the chairmanship of Mrs. Meyer Carter and Mrs. Paul Davison.

All types of gift items will be available — jewelry, cards, glass, paintings and sculpture. The exhibition will be open daily except Mondays from 2:30 p.m.

The association has selected two films to be shown tonight. The first contains vignettes of contemporary Italian artists at work in Rome.

FEATURED FILM

Also to be shown is "School of Paris — Five Artists at Work Today."

The program, which the public can attend for a nominal charge, will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the association, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Gov. George Romney and his family spent Thanksgiving Day at their Bloomfield Hills home yesterday.

Of the three Romney children, only Scott, a 22-year-old student at Stanford University in California, was unable to attend. Among those present were the six Romney grandchildren.

Birmingham children this year again will have a direct telephone connection with Santa Claus at the North Pole.

Through the cooperation of the Recreation Department and the Senior Men's Club, children may call between 3:30-5:30 p.m. Dec. 16-20. The number is MI 6-7222.

Drivers Desert Sphinx Post

CAIRO (AP) — The camel drivers of Egypt's pyramids have gone on strike.

The 149 camels who usually trot tourists around the ancient royal tombs and the sphinx have been trotted off the job by their owners in protest against new government regulations that require each camel to bear a license, limit the price of camel rides to 35 cents and—bitter blow of all—ban tips.

"I'd rather slaughter my camel than work under the new regulations," said Lamy Abu Ghomel.

An estimated million refugees from Communist China have fled into Hong Kong since 1949.

British Humor on Johnson

The Daily Mail printed a small first-page cartoon showing Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home talking to an Englishman. Instead of his usual dark and sober clothes, Douglas-Home wore a rakishly-cut coat, a loud necktie and the initials "A.D.H." on his shirt.

The caption said: "As I was saying to L.B.J. . . ."

Deer are found in nearly every country except Australia.

Holiday Toll Hits 9 in State

Union Lake Youth Killed Wednesday

By The Associated Press Highway accidents killed nine persons in the first two days of the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend in Michigan.

The Associated Press tabulation of fatalities began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

An elderly Vestaburg couple, Richard Seafie, 71, and his wife, Doris, 75, were killed Thanksgiving day in a two-car crash on U.S. 27 in Isabella County near Mount Pleasant.

Earl A. McIntosh, 50, of Inkster died yesterday when his car struck another and slammed into a tree near Ypsilanti.

HEAD-ON CRASH

Arthur Bowles, 55, of Oscoda was killed yesterday in a head-on crash on U.S. 23 east of Omer in Arenac County.

An 18-year-old Elkhart, Ind., youth, Floyd Sargent Jr., died Wednesday night when his car veered out of control on a curve and hit another car on U.S. 12 near Edwardsburg in Cass County, police said.

James Hall, 15, of Union Lake was killed Wednesday night when his car hit an Ottawa County road and rolled over, police said.

Cornelius Bauer, 56, of Grand Rapids died Wednesday night when his car hit an Ottawa County road and rolled over, police said.

A two-car collision killed an elderly Rockford couple on M37 near Grand Rapids Wednesday night. The victims, Lyle G. Warner, 79, and his wife, Leona, 79, were killed when their car failed to stop at an intersection, Kent County Sheriff's deputies said.

Life in Suburbs Is Like Penal Servitude

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is the time to get out the crying towel for the suburbanite.

The period of his greatest ordeal is at hand.

As a smug, lifelong lover of city life, I used to feel sorry for the people who choose to dwell out where the crabgrass grows.

Pity is wasted on such a fellow.

Life in the suburbs isn't really living. It's a form of penal servitude, a system of self-punishment, and I sometimes have wondered if suburbanites aren't expiating some unforgivable sins committed in a previous existence.

There are millions of people who work here during the day and spend their nights in the bedroom villages that sprawl around the fringes of the metropolis. This forces them to become horizontal yo-yos. They are in perpetual transit.

PRISONER TO TIME

In suburbia, the husband is a prisoner of his timetable.

He has to fortify himself with a couple of quick ones at the station before facing up to the long voyage home. "Maybe if I took the 6:32 train instead of the 5:37, I could have another one," he tells the bartender.

"But in any case, don't let me miss the 6:42."

In suburban living, the wife is an unpaid chauffeur, a pioneer mother in a covered station wagon shepherding her kids or hubby to some place they have to get to in a desperate hurry. She sees red and green traffic lights all day. Children are supposed to be healthier in the suburbs, but for some reason they seem unable to travel on their own feet a distance of more than two blocks.

The suburbanite, in spring and summer, gets backspain trying to raise onions in a garden that could be covered with 25 air-mail stamps.

In autumn he gets the bends from raking leaves and putting up storm windows, and performing the 1,001 little chores that make a house a home.

CHARCOAL BLINDNESS

He also suffers from periodic charcoal blindness, as it is an unwritten law in the suburbs that nobody cooks in the kitchen between Easter and Thanksgiving.

The first snow flakes that freckle the air herald his greatest season of disaster.

On frigid days he enters the office two hours late, red-faced, wearing boots and bundled in many layers of clothing.

Wiping a dripping icicle from his nose, he announced, "Could not get the car out of the driveway. Had to mosh on foot to the station. Then the 8:58 didn't leave until 10:04." He doesn't get much work done. He has to save all his energy so he can get back home.

Once I asked one of these fellows, "Since it is such a nuisance, why do you bother to live in the suburbs?"

A look of wonder swept his face.

Nisei Freed in Last Act of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — In one of his last official acts before his assassination, President John F. Kennedy freed a Japanese-American serving a life sentence for treasonable brutality to American prisoners during World War II.

The Justice Department confirmed that Kennedy had signed an order for the release of Tomoya Kawakita on the condition he leave the United States and never return.

Just when Kennedy signed the order, a department spokesman was unable to say. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., a week ago today.

In Los Angeles, Kawakita's lawyer, Morris Lavine, said he had been notified of Kennedy's action by telegram.

IN FEDERAL PRISON

Kawakita, 43, is at the federal prison at McNeil Island, Wash.

Kawakita, who has maintained that he is innocent, was convicted in federal court in Los Angeles in 1946 of committing eight acts of treasonable brutality against U.S. prisoners while he served as an interpreter in a prisoner-of-war camp at Oeyama, Japan.

Kawakita was sentenced to death, but former President Dwight D. Eisenhower commuted the sentence to life imprisonment on Nov. 2, 1953.

Born of Japanese parents in Calexico, Calif., near the Mexican border, Kawakita grew up in Southern California but went to Japan in 1939 to study.

After World War II broke out, he said, the Japanese refused to let him leave, claiming that his parentage made him a Japanese citizen.

Kawakita returned to the United States in 1946. A year later he was arrested after a former prisoner of the Japanese recognized him in a store.

Delay Verdict on Drug Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Antitrust Subcommittee has put off until Dec. 11 a decision on whether to investigate charges that American drug firms interfered with cut-rate drug sales in Latin America.

Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says subpoenas requiring the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association and seven major drug firms to produce documents relating to their operations in Colombia have been extended to Jan. 2. They were returnable Dec. 2.

The subcommittee has been looking into charges that the subpoenaed firms were interfering with attempts by McKesson & Robbins, largest American drug wholesaler, to sell drugs in Colombia at reduced prices under their generic rather than their trade names.

AGE IS SERVED — The old order, in the person of Sir Winston Churchill (right), is served with presents by youths as he arrives at London's Savoy Hotel last night for a dinner of "The Other Club."

Sir Winston Will Be 89 on Saturday

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, still fond of a hearty meal and a good cigar, will be 89 Saturday.

"He's feeling very fit," said a family spokesman, "better than in a long time."

Churchill dined Thursday night with London's exclusive The Other Club, which he and Lord Birkenhead founded in 1911. Its members got together solely to indulge their taste for good food, drink and conversation.

As Churchill was helped from his car and into a wheelchair, three youngsters came up with birthday presents. Claudia Beauchamp, 7, handed him flowers, curtsied and said, "Happy birthday, sir." Her brothers, Robert, 12, and Clive, 19, gave him a birthday letter and a cigar.

SAVED MONEY

Beaming and pink, Churchill said, "Thank you very much." The children said they had saved their pocket money to buy the 40-cent cigar.

Churchill presided at the dinner for 20 men. The menu included smoked salmon, oysters, dressed crab, filet of sole, saddle of lamb, sliced pears and ice cream with chocolate sauce.

World News

Russia Charges Britain War Preparation

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet armed forces newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda accused Britain today of seeking to boost military preparations and intensify the cold war.

The paper said the British decision to merge the army, navy and air ministry into a single defense ministry "further intensifies the aggressive policy of the British imperialists."

"The centralization of the military command in Britain," it said, "testifies to the intentions of the British ruling circles to follow a road which has nothing in common with the relaxation of international tensions that has taken shape lately."

ALGERIA FACT

ALGIER (AP) — Algeria and Tunisia signed an economic accord Thursday promising that Algeria will share some of the Sahara riches with its western neighbor.

No specific commitments were made on how much oil and gas resources Algeria will open to the Tunisians. France is developing Sahara oil and gas.

The agreement calls in general terms for cooperation between the two countries in developing their economies.

BRITAIN FISHING

LONDON (AP) — Britain will abandon its traditional 3-mile offshore fishing limit in retaliation against extensions by other nations, the Times of London said today.

The newspaper's diplomatic correspondent said Britain would announce an extension of its waters barred to foreign fishermen to 12 miles at the international fisheries conference which begins in London Tuesday.

Britain announced in April that it would withdraw from the North Seas Fisheries Convention of 1958, under which Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany and Denmark agreed on the 3-mile limit.

Iceland, Norway and Denmark recently extended their limits to 12 miles. There also has been increasing activity off the British coast by trawlers from Poland and Russia, both of which have 12-mile limits.

The Foreign Office would neither confirm nor deny the report.

WELKOM, South Africa (AP) — The people of this bustling gold mining town have voted to keep their swimming pool open on Sunday in defiance of the powerful Dutch Reformed Church.

The controversy broke out when Odenaalrus, another Orange Free State mining town, held a similar referendum recently. Church leaders call Sunday swimming a violation of the Sabbath.

The vote at Odenaalrus was 285-156 for Sunday bathing. At Welkom the vote was 2,161-1,753.

The results are not binding on the town councils but they are expected to accept the wish of the majority.

ITALIAN BARBERS

FOSSANO, Italy (AP) — A barber who accidentally cut a customer's cheek was acquitted Thursday night of a charge of "causing injury through an imprudent, negligent or unskillful stroke."

Businessman Giuseppe Buzzi said he feared his left cheek would be permanently scarred by 1½-inch cut suffered March 1 while Antonio Sanua was shaving him.

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda's government has a political hot potato on its hands.

The dilemma is caused by Chou Hung-ching, a defector from Communist China who apparently can't decide where he wants to go.

Chou, 44, a Japanese-language interpreter, came to Japan with a Communist Chinese oil hydraulic mission but deserted on the morning of the mission's departure. He sought asylum at the Soviet Embassy, which turned him over to Japanese authorities.

Chou expressed the desire to live in Nationalist-held Formosa. Later he said he wanted to return to Communist China. The government said it wanted to respect Chou's wishes.

SUKARNO SANCTIONS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Continuing its economic war against Malaysia, President Sukarno's government has frozen all enterprises in Indonesia owned by Malaysian nationals.

The presidential decree Thursday followed the confiscation of all rubber-processing enterprises in Indonesia either owned or controlled by Malaysians.

The new order also affects enterprises owned by Indonesians living in Malaysia.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese Army announced today that 46 antigovernment terrorists were killed and nine others injured by government forces in Portuguese Guinea between Nov. 1-24.

The announcement said seven government soldiers were killed during the period in the West African territory.

New County Courthouse Maze

Presenting: the Auditorium Mystery

BY DICK HANSON

Nobody wants to admit it, but there seems to have been a mistake in the design of the new courthouse auditorium at the County Service Center.

The error is obvious, really. Strange the architects didn't catch it in the first place.

The auditorium is turned the wrong way.

This fact became evident after a visit to Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn's court in the auditorium proper—if one can find it.

The large room is somewhere in the center of the building, surrounded—well, almost—by a corridor that proves to be one of life's mysteries.

Driving up to the new building gives no indication of the un-bammy experience that lurks behind the marble and glass facade.

The most natural thing is to park in a lot at the rear of the six-sided building. Once there, it is also natural to enter by the rear door.

Even if one did want to use the main entrance somewhere on the other side, there is no sidewalk to it, just as there was no place to park there.

So, one enters the rear door. But, where's the auditorium? Immediately inside is a coldy modern foyer.

Straight ahead is a blank, marble wall. A corridor disappears around the curving wall in either direction.

One walks to the right because a little, makeshift sign declares the corridor to the left is "private."

Following the corridor to the right, the visitor soon arrives before a huge office. The door is open, but the corridor ends in the office.

An important-looking man is working quietly at the far end of the office.

The distance between him and the door plus the imposing surroundings of mahogany-paneled walls, long board of directors table, leather chairs and plush carpeting don't invite conversation.

TIPTOE AWAY

One tiptoes away determined to try the other corridor marked "private."

Thereafter the trek carries the visitor past several closed doors on the left and right marked "private" and "staff only."

There is a distinct impression that somewhere on the other side of that persistent marble wall there must be an auditorium where Judge Thorburn is holding court.

But how does one get beyond the wall?

BUSTLING OFFICE

Beyond the threshold is a large bustling office with clerks busily working behind a long counter. This can't be the auditorium. (It's the treasurer's office).

Back to endless curving marble wall.

Lo, there is another metal-paneled door on the right marked "auditorium" in small letters.

Breathing a sigh of relief, one opens this door to discover another corridor curving out of sight.

There is nothing to do but follow it around, hoping that it actually does lead to the auditorium.

There isn't a soul in sight.

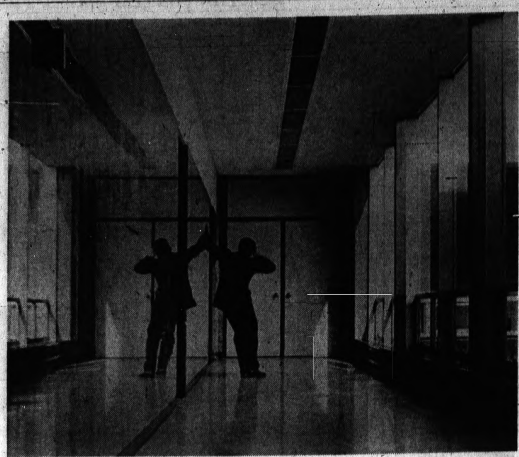

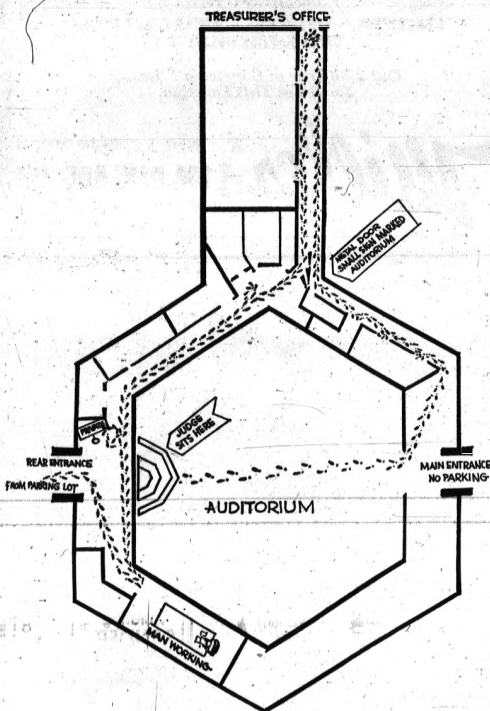

ALICE-IN-WONDERLAND
The left side of the curving corridor is lined with clear glass looking out to a deserted concrete square with a lone flagpole in the middle.

The right side of the corridor continues to be that baffling marble wall. In desperation, one plunges ahead.

Suddenly, the glass wall ends at two doors leading outside to the square.

And—trumpets should blare—the marble wall to the right is interrupted by two large, paneled wood doors that must lead to the auditorium.

One slips happily through these awesome doors (by now they look like the Pearly Gates) to hear the judge's voice ring out "You're late."

IN SEARCH OF JUSTICE — What lies beyond those doors? Can it be the elusive county auditorium where Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn is holding court?

Ferndale Man Heads MESC

Ferndale auto dealer George N. Higgins, for two years a member of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, has been elected chairman of the commission.

A former state senator and state representative from Oakland County, Higgins is currently a possible Republican candidate for Congress from the county's new 19th District.

Higgins has served as chairman of the Michigan Civil Service Commission, to which he was appointed in 1958 by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

He succeeds Walter A. Campbell of Muskegon as chairman. Campbell is a Democrat.

The four-member commission is equally divided between Democrats and Republicans and labor and management representatives.

Educational Film Strips at Oakland Schools

Special education teachers and representatives from parent groups are invited to a showing of educational filmstrips at 8 p.m., Dec. 6 at Oakland Schools.

The filmstrips, which range from fire prevention to family living, show how to give special help to handicapped children.

Enrollment to Start for Adult Courses

Registration for high school credit classes for adults and out-of-school youth will begin Monday, Dec. 2 at Pontiac Central High School.

The winter term of adult classes begins Dec. 11 and 12. Registration may be made daily 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Thursday, and Thursday evening 7-9 p.m.

High school credit classes meet for three hours two evenings per week for a ten-week period.

Interested residents should contact the Office of Vocational Education at Pontiac Central High School.

Plane Down in North State

KALKASKA (AP) — A light plane with four persons aboard returning from the Michigan State-Illinois football game crashed in Kalkaska County yesterday.

The only person injured, state police said, was the pilot, Arthur E. Moenhaus, 37, of Traverse City. He required 14 stitches to close a head cut, officers said.

The single-engine craft was en route to Traverse City from East Lansing when Moenhaus apparently misjudged his altitude and the plane struck some tree tops, police said.

The passengers were Archie McIntyre, 27, of Center Line and Mr. and Mrs. William Gourdie, 29 and 30, of Traverse City.

Police Faster Nowadays

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Police said Western singer Johnny Cash told them he stepped on the gas when he saw a patrolman coming up behind him because, "I just wanted to find out if I could still outrun a police car."

After a 6-mile chase up the Ojai Freeway, officers said, he discovered he couldn't.

Cash, 31, was cited Thursday for speeding and driving without having his operator's license with him.

Amvets to Aid Tippi

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Amvets announced yesterday a fund-raising drive to aid the widow of Dallas policeman J. D. Tippi, who was killed while trying to arrest the alleged slayer of the late President Kennedy.

200,000 Spend Thanksgiving at Kennedy Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 200,000 Americans put aside their Thanksgiving dinners for a while and made their way on a bleak and gray day up a hill to a grave.

Three schoolgirls brought a poem with them and read it by the grave.

Four little sisters picked chrysanthemums from their grandmother's garden and dropped them by the grave.

The mayor of a great city put a massive wreath there. A White House aide sought for words and found only: "He would have won in 1964 by 10 million votes." Mrs. Kennedy came once again and prayed.

DAY OF HOMAGE

Thanksgiving Day became a day of homage to John F. Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery.

Traffic slowed and jammed as the thousands drove across the Lincoln Memorial Bridge and other roads to reach the cemetery and its hills that look over the Potomac River.

Many parked their cars and walked to the cemetery. Silently, they paid their respects at the picket fence that surrounds the grave and the late President, who was shot and killed a week ago today.

11TH TRIP

Mrs. Kennedy made her fifth trip to the grave since the burial Monday. Dressed in black, she knelt, crossed herself, and moved her lips in silent prayer.

The time spent at the grave made her miss a plane heading for a Thanksgiving reunion with the Kennedy family in Cape Cod.

The Air Force put another plane at her disposal.

Others who joined the pilgrimage included his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, and his sister, Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Rep. John Shelley, D-Calif., the newly elected mayor of San Francisco, placed the giant wreath there on behalf of the people of San Francisco.

Thousands walked to the grave but thousands of others had to leave, turned away by guards who told them they would never get into the see the grave before the day was done.

Nov. 11 was first proclaimed a holiday in the United States by Woodrow Wilson. The observance in 1919 established a tradition of wreath-laying, speeches and parades.

Cheery Wake Ordered

LONDON (AP)—A $140 wake is being planned for Raleigh Le May.

Le May, a retired diplomat, died in August. In his will, published today, he ordered that his funeral be "short and sharp."

"Do not wait for any gathering of the class," he wrote. "You can have all that at the wake."

He set aside 50 pounds ($140) from his estate of 20,000 pounds ($56,000) to pay for a party for his friends. It will be held in mid-December.

Norman Mason, Le May's son-in-law, said the dead man had friends all over the world and "it is taking a lot of arranging to bring them together."

"It would not have been a cheerful occasion if we had held the wake after the funeral," said Mason. "His friends were not surprised he should want a cheerful wake. It was in his character."

Lady Bird Relieved as Talk Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson spoke the final words of his Thanksgiving Day address. The red lights blinked out on the television camera. His wife, sighing with relief, nodded approval.

The First Lady and the Johnsons' two daughters, Lynda Bird, 19, and Lucy Baines, 16, had been sitting on folding chairs just out of camera range as the new President addressed the nation Thursday night to "ask your help, to ask your strength, to ask your prayers that God may guard this Republic and guide my every labor."

When it was over, the President and his family left the White House and drove through darkened Washington to their home. It was 7 p.m. before they sat down for Thanksgiving dinner.

With them were Ems. Bernard Rosenbach, 22, Comfort, Tex., who is engaged to Lynda; and Jack Olson, a freshman at the University of Wisconsin, who has been dating Lucy.

Dinner featured the traditional turkey.

Mrs. Johnson and her two daughters spent much of their day with the President. They sat for portraits with him in the morning and then went with him to interfaith services at the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church.

Like Father, Unlike Son in Peer Ruling

LONDON (AP) — Protocol-minded hostesses in Britain have another headache. The earl marshal has ruled that a peer's children can retain their titles if papa renounces his.

Thus, a son who keeps his courtesy title may find himself closer to the head of the table at a formal dinner than his commoner father below the salt.

The Duke of Norfolk, who as earl marshal is the crown's principal authority on style and precedence, delivered the ruling to clear up a point in the new law that allows politician peers to renounce their hereditary titles to sit in the House of Commons. The law also requires wives to drop their titles, but it says the eldest son still succeeds to the peerage when the reluctant peer dies.

Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas-Home gave up his earldom last month to enter the House of Commons. His four children also renounced their titles.

By 1970 there will be 12 million cars in California. It is estimated.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Physical Fitness Is Like Money in Bank

Physical fitness is like money in the bank in more ways than one. You can squander it but you can also get it back. It can be built up and maintained through a combination of factors.

Most important is an annual physical checkup by your doctor. BRANDSTADT Recognition of the warning signs of impending ill health can lead to preventive measures.

Such measures are far more effective than treatment after a disease has become firmly established. A dental checkup twice a year is also important.

All athletic coaches urge the members of their teams to maintain a good state of nutrition, but you don't have to be an athlete to achieve such a state.

DIET IMPORTANT

The well balanced diet should include two glasses of milk and two helpings of meat a day. Bread or a cereal should be a part of each meal and you should get enough vegetable and fruit to make it unnecessary to use laxatives.

When these requirements have been met, if you're still hungry, you can allow yourself a piece of cake, candy or cookies if you are not overweight.

As we grow older we tend to exercise less. Although a person who is over 40 does not require as much exercise as a child, he must give his muscles, heart and lungs a workout every day or their effectiveness will diminish.

Fortunately the person who has allowed himself to get soft can regain his former fitness through a systematic program of increasing exercises.

FUN EXERCISE

Exercise that is fun is most likely to be faithfully adhered to. This may take the form of games but for persons who are 40 or over bodily contact sports or those that are highly competitive should be avoided.

If you take up golf or tennis, don't feel that you have to rival the experts.

Swimming, fishing, rowing, archery, hiking, badminton and dancing are excellent means of keeping fit.

To be of value, however, they should be pursued two or three times a week and preferably every day. If this cannot be done, they should be supplemented with daily calisthenics.

GOOD SWEAT

Exercise should be strenuous enough to cause a good sweat but should stop short of causing exhaustion.

If your heart is still fast and pounding hard five minutes after you have stopped exercising, you have overdone it and should increase your exercises more gradually.

Bending forward is fine but bending backward and deep breathing exercises are not recommended.

Rest and relaxation should not be neglected in your physical fitness program.

These are favored by a change of pace, a hobby that doesn't require great physical exertion, and thorough sleep.

CONFIRMS REPORT — Miss Joanna Morgan, a Dallas, Tex., school teacher, confirmed yesterday a statement by a Dallas Minister that some school children cheered the announcement of President Kennedy's death.

The average wage in Hong Kong ranges from 52 cents to $3.67 per day.

Murder Reenacted by Federal Agents

DALLAS (AP) — A gray convertible, similar to the black one in which President John F. Kennedy made his last ride, rolled past the Texas School Book Depository building.

A man and woman sat in the back seat, just as President and Mrs. Kennedy did last Friday. Two men were in the front. Looking down on this scene Wednesday were investigators and a cameraman. They perched in the same window from which the fatal shots were fired.

REENACT MURDER

They were reenacting Kennedy's assassination.

This was another phase of the step-by-step investigation into the trip to Washington for personal publicity purposes.

Gaston Defferre, mayor of Marseille and a possible candidate for president against de Gaulle in 1965, said Wednesday night he was shocked that de Gaulle wore his uniform "while everyone else, including Gen. Eisenhower, was in civilian clothing. We did not elect a general, but a president of the republic."

Wallons, a race of people who are primarily Celts, reside in Southern Belgium. They have their own language.

FELLED BY BULLET

Oswald, who once lived in the Soviet Union, was felled by a bullet fired by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator. Ruby has been indicted on a murder charge and is in Dallas County Jail.

Authorities have not said whether they had found any ties between Ruby and Oswald. FBI agents were in Laredo, the Texas-Mexico border, Wednesday tracing Oswald's activities there and in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

A Laredo clerk said the investigators told of finding a receipt from the store among Oswald's personal belongings. The receipt was dated Sept. 26, coinciding with the one on which Mexican immigration records indicate Oswald crossed into Mexico at Nuevo Laredo. He returned Oct. 3.

De Gaulle Is Criticized for Uniform at Funeral

PARIS (AP) — A leading Socialist criticized President Charles de Gaulle's attire at the funeral of John F. Kennedy and accused the Gaullists of using the trip to Washington for personal publicity purposes.

Gaston Defferre, mayor of Marseille and a possible candidate for president against de Gaulle in 1965, said Wednesday night he was shocked that de Gaulle wore his uniform "while everyone else, including Gen. Eisenhower, was in civilian clothing. We did not elect a general, but a president of the republic."

Wallons, a race of people who are primarily Celts, reside in Southern Belgium. They have their own language.

Canterbury Bishop Sees Church Unity

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Michael Ramsey, 100th bishop of Canterbury, is convinced that one day Christendom will be reunited—though not in his lifetime.

"The actual union of the churches of England and Rome will take a very long time because the differences in doctrine are considerable—and they do matter," said the archbishop, 59. "The Vatican Council seems to be not altering the doctrines of Rome but changing their relative emphasis. That will probably help unity."

Asked in an interview if the Pope would necessarily be head of a reunited Catholic church, the archbishop said: "Anglicans could not, I think, ever accept the papacy in its present form. There would need to be considerable alteration in present claims for the papacy."

Dr. Ramsey said the Anglican Congress in Toronto "revealed the great desire of the Anglican churches in every part of the world for a closer partnership with one another. The result has been a far greater cohesion of the Anglican communion. I don't think that will weaken, but rather strengthen, the contribution of the Anglican communion to the cause of unity."

SHED RIVALRY

"First the churches should shed their rivalry and competition and know themselves to be allies within Christendom. This stage is happening—almost everywhere and happening rapidly. It is happening in the relations between the Roman Catholic Church and other Christians. Great changes are occurring in the Roman Catholic Church and others. Without altering their doctrinal position, they see themselves as fellow already great unity in Christendom as a whole, even though Christians. That means there is the actual union of the churches has not yet been brought about."

The Church of England is a state church. The crown appoints its bishops. Parliament approves its liturgy and prayer book. Many Anglican churchmen would like the church freed from what they see as a secular stranglehold.

MORE CONTROL

"I believe the Church of England needs greater liberty to control its own affairs, particularly to revise its forms of worship," the archbishop said. "That liberty ought to be possible within the present establishment. If it were to be disestablished, it would lose in some ways but gain in others."

Michigan's Colorful Kim Sigler Died in Crash 10 Years Ago

By BOB VOGES

LANSING UP — Kim Sigler, who skyrocketed to fame and the governor's chair as a graft grand jury special prosecutor, died in flames 10 years ago tomorrow.

Sigler, governor in 1947-48, was the last Republican to hold the post before Gov. Romney took office.

Sigler died in the late afternoon on a murky, overcast day on Nov. 30, 1953, when the small plane he was piloting hit the guy wire and tower of a television transmission antenna northwest of Battle Creek.

Killed with him — instantly, according to investigators — were his personal secretary, Mrs. Ruth Prentice Harold Shuyler and his wife, Virginia, all of Lansing.

A fuel tank exploded and the plane was a smoking, twisted mass of wreckage when first witnesses reached the scene.

Sigler was flying from South Bend, Ind., to Lansing at the time, the last leg of a trip from New Orleans and Mississippi. The weather bureau at South Bend had advised Sigler before he took off that conditions over Michigan were "extremely poor" for flying.

Sigler, 59, decided to press on. He had flown as far as the southern tip of Chilli, all across the continent and past the rim of the Arctic Circle.

His only air mishaps had been minor ones — a bent propeller when he overran the runway at Grand Ledge and a successful emergency landing on a highway in Utah.

There was a shock of disbelief. Michigan found it hard to realize that the vivid 38th governor was dead.

A eulogy described him as "colorful in personality, full of imagination, eloquent of speech."

Rep. Paul Morrison, who delivered it, compared Sigler to the biblical King David who fought for reforms but did not live to see his dreams fulfilled.

Colorful was the correct word for Sigler.

How else would you describe a former cowboy, boxer, football player, factory worker, trial lawyer, governor, golfer, football fan and pilot?

He had a massive head, powerful features, silvery hair. He had 72 suits and often sported a cowboy hat.

A portrait hanging in the Capitol rotunda shows the Capitol almost tiny, in the background with Sigler looming three times as tall. Parked on the Capitol lawn is a private plane of the type Sigler was flying when he died.

Sigler was born in Nebraska, son of a prosperous cattle raiser and was a working cowboy as a youth. He played high school football and was a professional boxer.

He waited on tables while studying at the University of Michigan and labored in the Ford Highland Park plant while studying for his law degree at the University of Detroit.

After practicing law for a while in Detroit he set up shop in Hastings and became one of the best known trial lawyers in western Michigan.

"Kim always puts on a good show," the local folks used to say.

Sigler's boost to fame came when now Chief Justice Leland Carr of the State Supreme Court started a grand jury investigation into reports that legislators were being bribed "with bankrolls big enough to choke a horse."

MADE HEADLINES This became known as the Carr-Sigler grand jury. For nearly two years, the jury made constant headlines. There finally was a total of 115 persons including 54 legislators indicted on varying charges of bribe giving and taking and corruption.

Convictions weren't as easy to get as indictments, but Sigler's name became a household word in Michigan. Sigler eventually resigned as special prosecutor in 1946 when the Senate accused him of wasting money by keeping witnesses in luxury to assure their testimony.

Sigler struck back by running for governor on the Republican ticket. He beat the second term ambitions of Democratic Gov. Murray VanWagoner by a whopping 359,000 vote majority.

He had rough sledding with his Republican legislature. The Senate, particularly, didn't like him and wrecked a proposed government reform program.

AHEAD OF TIME

Sigler was ahead of his time in asking for a longer term for the governor and condoning of the multiple state agencies into just a few for the sake of efficiency.

He did get an act starting reorganization of the Department of Administration.

With only lukewarm party support, Sigler ran for a second term. He was beaten by then political unknown, Democrat G. Mennen Williams, whom Sigler had appointed to the State Liquor Control Commission. The Williams' majority was more than 164,000.

Williams, of course, became Michigan's only six-term governor and is now assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

BITTER DEFEAT Sigler, bitter at the defeat, retired to a private law practice and multiple business interests in 1949. He rumbled about running for office again, but never did. He became more and more interested in flying.

A state police pilot assigned to him when Sigler was governor recalled: "He would insist on taking over, even for landings and takeoffs. I used to Justice Dept. Denies 2 Persons at Window

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department denies it has any photograph or other evidence that there were two persons in the window from which an assassin shot President Kennedy.

Following reports that a picture existed showing two persons in the sixth floor window of the Texas School Book Depository Building, Edwin O. Guthman, Justice Department spokesman, said yesterday "We have no evidence whatsoever that anyone other than Oswald was in the room."

tell him: "There are old pilots and hold pilots but no old, hold pilots."

Sigler's wife, Mae, confined to a wheel chair by multiple sclerosis for many years, survived him by nearly 10 years. She died at the age of 69 last Oct. 22 at Colgate, Okla. They are buried side by side now in the family plot at Hastings.

Still surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Richard Gossett of McAlester, Okla., and Mrs. Betty Statlery of Pacific Grove, Calif.

Carrying on his memory also is that state Capitol portrait showing Sigler, looking almost as big as life, gazing into the wild blue yonder he loved so well.

Negro Pickets 'Protected'

DETROIT (UP) — Four Negro pickets were held under "protective custody," by police yesterday when they staged a demonstration in downtown Detroit during the annual Thanksgiving Day parade.

The pickets carried signs calling for Negroes to boycott Christmas shopping in Detroit stores.

The pickets were also passing out handbills which suggested the Negroes hold a "Christmas boycott to tell the do-nothing U.S. gov. 'no business as usual'."

The handbill also called on Negroes to:

- Remember the six slain Negro children in Birmingham.
- Remember the mothers who sacrificed their children's lives.

Make all Americans (especially the silently conspiring interstate merchants) remember with us — and halt the hate.

Halt the building of concentration camps in snake-infested Louisiana swamps for Negro demonstrators.

POLICE ACTION

Picked up by police were Richard Henry, president of the Group On Advanced Leadership (GOAL) and brother of Pontiac City Commissioner Milton Henry, Mrs. Dolores Wilson, Raymond Wilson and a third man, who refused to give his name.

The handbill they passed out exhorted Negroes to "buy less — buy nothing, this Christmas."

The boycott is part of a plan sponsored by the so-called Northern grass roots conference of which GOAL is a member.

Henry said he and the other three pickets intended to file suit against the city of Detroit for violation of their rights.

11 Grandparents Set to Greet Newborn Son

SOUTH HILL, Va. (AP) — Eleven grandparents were waiting to hear the good news Thursday when a 7-pound, 14-ounce son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Compton II.

On his father's side of the family, the son has grandparents, great-grandparents, and a great-great-grandmother. On his mother's side, there are grandparents, great-grandparents, and great-great-grandparents.

Costly Comedy

Job Has Its Compensations

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — As safety officer for the city of Long Beach, it is Don Rice's job to educate the city employees as to the seriousness and costliness of accidents.

Some accidents, he finds, do have an element of humor, however — if only in the fashion in which they are reported to the state workman's compensation office.

Here are some samples from Rice's collection of statements as reported on accident forms gathered from various parts of California.

A nurse suffering from a skin irritation claimed she was "allergic to rubber gloves."

ON SCENT

A policeman suffered on-duty eye injuries. Cause of accident: "Searching for prowler, hit by skunk."

A painter sought compensation for leg and back injuries. Cause: "Struck in rear by roller coaster."

Strained muscles and stretched tendons of the back was the claim registered by a barber. Cause: "Shaving six-foot man with back injury."

Scientists to Gather at Monroe Atom Plant

DETROIT (UP) — More than 150 scientists from throughout the country will gather here Monday and Tuesday for a conference on the "fast neutron breeder reactor," a type utilized in creating electricity from atomic power at the Enrico Fermi plant outside Monroe.

The two-day conference is being sponsored by Detroit Edison Co., Atomic Power Development Associates and Power Reactor Development Co., joint builders of the Enrico Fermi plant on Lake Erie.

Burglars Get Gold, Furs

Girl Recalls Old Lesson, Saves Baby

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Timothy Taylor, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor, is alive today because his baby sitter remembered a first aid lesson.

The baby sitter, Brenda Henry, 15, daughter of patrolman and Mrs. Maynard Henry of Kalamazoo Township was giving Timothy his bottle Wednesday night when the infant stopped breathing.

Brenda, recalling lessons she had learned from her father, applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. In four minutes the baby was breathing again, and Brenda called an ambulance.

Timothy, physicians discovered, was suffering from a respiratory ailment. He was reported in good condition at Bronson Hospital.

ported he slipped and fell "while decorating a seven-tier wedding cake."

A boy scout asked compensation for a sore throat as a result of "practicing mouth to mouth resuscitation."

The claim of a bartender: "Sprain right ankle — leaping over bar, hit stool."

NEW TWIST

A cocktail waitress said she suffered a sprained ankle while "sliding down a fireman's pole in a key club."

Teacher: "Cut thumb with screwdriver while opening a book."

Parking lot attendant: "Struck on head and scratched by a woman driver."

And-gone that could be repeated, shortly after the Christmas season was a claim filed by a department store Santa Claus who said he suffered "Pharyngitis, swollen tongue — interviewed 30,000 children in six weeks."

Johnson Lapel Pin for Wartime Bravery

WASHINGTON (UP) — The tiny lapel pin President Johnson wears is a replica of the red, white and blue striped ribbon worn by holders of the silver star.

The new chief executive earned the decoration while serving with the Navy in the South Pacific during World War II, and was given the medal personally by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

County Dairy Banquet Set

Oakland County's Dairy Farm of the Year will be named at the annual dairy banquet planned for Thursday at the Masonic Temple in Davison.

Awards also will be presented to the outstanding dairy men from the three Dairy Herd Improvement associations in the county.

The associations are sponsoring the 7:30 p.m. banquet in cooperation with the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Some 80 dairy farm owners and operators are expected to attend the annual function which will be highlighted by presentation of the best dairy farm trophy by Lee Olson, area news editor of The Pontiac Press.

SELECTED BY PANEL

The recipient of the award is selected by a panel of judges made up of DHA directors.

Several factors are studied by the judges in making their decision, according to Jay Pol-fenberger, county agriculture agent.

Taken into consideration in naming the top farm, he said, are the herd's high production of milk and butterfat, improvements made in farm management during the year and contributions to the county dairy program.

Program chairman for the banquet is Frank Ruggles of White Lake Township with another White Lake Township dairy farmer, James Reid serving as toastmaster.

BLACK AND WHITE

The Black and White 4-H Award will be presented by Adolph Engler of Avon Township, president of the Black and White Association.

Awards to the outstanding dairymen will be given by Gerald Brooks of Addison Township, Association No. 2; Charles Rogers of Fenton, Association No. 3; and Paul M. Salmon of Plymouth, Association No. 4.

Oakland County's 4-H King and Queen Tom Middleton of Oakland Township and Carmen Sue Miller of Brandon Township will report on the 4-H Citizenship Trip to Washington, D.C.

The program will close with a talk on "The Future of Dairy Farming" by Clinton Meadows, professor, dairy department, Michigan State University.

Tickets can be obtained from any DHA officer. The meal will be served by members of Austin Chapter No. 396, Order of the Eastern Star, Davison.

and Mrs. Neil Coulter, publicity chairman. The event is scheduled for 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Dec. 7 at the Metamora Club. Proceeds will be used for the club's charity projects.

Competition to Begin at Milford, Clarkston

Milford and Clarkston have scheduled Junior Miss Pageants in preparation for the state competition in Pontiac early next year.

The Milford event will be tomorrow, with Clarkston's following Dec. 14.

Any high school senior girl between 16 and 19 is eligible for the Jaycee-sponsored contest. The entrants will be judged on appearance, poise, scholastic achievement, mental alertness, fitness and talent.

The state contest will be held Jan. 24 and 25 at Pontiac Northern High School.

Milford's pageant will begin at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow in the civic room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Building. A talent show will be followed by an informal coffee hour at which each contestant will be interviewed.

COMPETITORS

Competing will be Melody Nick, Carol Rose, Charlene Barber, Judy Phipps, Lora Butke, Barbara Baker and Pam Sanders.

Judges will be Dr. Theresa Russell, local pediatrician; Wilbur Johnson, village president; and Robert Kemeth, Jaycee president.

Entry arrangements for the Clarkston contest can be made with chairman Terry Thomas or any Jaycee member.

Parade Will Greet Yuletide in Oxford

OXFORD — A gala parade down Washington Street will welcome the Christmas season here, State travels through town to his holiday home in the village park.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m. in front of the junior high school, the parade will be highlighted by the appearance of Oxford's Snow King and Queen, who will share Santa's sled in the annual event.

After the parade Santa will have a special treat for all youngsters visiting him. He'll be assisted by the two young monarchs.

NEWS OF THE AREA

After 37 Years of Service

Farmington Judge Ends Career

By PAT MCCARTY
FARMINGTON — With the final rap of the gavel today, Judge John J. Schulte Jr. will bring to a close a 37-year career on the bench.

The 79-year-old magistrate has spent half of his life meeting out justice to Farmington area lawbreakers.

In 1926 the young attorney was appointed to fill out an unexpired term as justice of the peace. Farmington voters have never failed to reelect him to office.

Records for the era before the city established a municipal court in 1953 are scattered, but since then Schulte has heard 11,000 civil cases and 9,700 involving criminal offenses.

MARRIED MANY

He has married 973 couples and seen only three of them return to his court for divorces.

The caseload in the municipal court has been increasing steadily. When the new judge, Sylvester J. Phene, takes over Jan. 1 he will face almost 20 litigations a day.

Phene's associate will be Michael J. Hand. Until their terms begin, Associate Judge Max Hulett will be in charge.

Schulte, meanwhile, plans to be basing in the Florida sun.

He and the Thomas Dwyers of Owosso are building a winter home in Inverness. They will return to Michigan for the summer months.

OLD CORKTOWN

Schulte was born in the section of Detroit known as Corktown. In 1915 he married Eva R. Hubert, a native of Tecumseh, Ont., and for the first seven years of their marriage worked as a general cashier for the western line of the Grand Trunk Railroad.

He was also attending night classes at the University of Detroit, where he earned his law degree in 1926. Two years later his part-time job with the legal firm of Geer, Williams and Martin expanded into full-time work.

In 1928 he and Paul A. Pare formed a partnership in Farmington. It continued until 1959 when Schulte dropped his legal practice.

Schulte, a widower some 12 years, has two sons, James of Walled Lake and Robert. The latter and his family live with the judge at 32034 Valley View.

LOOKING BACK

Looking back over his lengthy career, one incident stands out in the septuagenarian's memory.

Although the year has been forgotten, Schulte vividly remembers the woman whose husband had been beating her regularly. As an attorney, Schulte helped her obtain a warrant and a conviction.

The man was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Schulte recalls that he commented to the woman, "If I had a husband like that, I'd kill him."

After her husband returned home, she called her attorney and said, "Well, I did what you said — I killed him with a fence post."

WAS JUSTIFIABLE

Schulte then had to defend his client. The beating, he remembers, was found to be justifiable homicide.

The judge has sent only one woman to jail. That was in 1928. Sentenced to 30 days for being drunk and disorderly, she cursed the magistrate.

"First I made it 30, then 60, then 90 days," he said. "The courtroom was jammed too."

And one could easily get the idea that he'd do it again.

College Sets Music Event

AVON TOWNSHIP — Michigan Christian College's music department will present its fifth annual Winter Concert in the school's cafeteria at 8 p.m. Dec. 7.

Selections by the capella chorus will be featured, under direction of Fred Alexander. The women's ensemble and men's quartet will also perform at the concert.

Music to be presented at the occasion will be predominately sacred, by such composers as Bach, Berger, Grieg and Christiansen.

The public is invited to attend the concert at the school, 800 W. Avon. No admission fee will be charged.

Shoppers Get Last Vote for Favorite Miss

LAKE ORION — Shoppers, buy tomorrow if you want your purchase to provide voting power. Balloting for "Miss Merry Christmas" will end at 6 p.m.

Each 50-cent purchase at one of the 23 local stores participating in this year's contest allows the buyer one vote for the pretty miss of his choice.

Next Thursday this year's "Miss Merry Christmas" will be announced and the presents will start piling up.

Forty girls, ages 8, 9 and 10, have entered the contest. The candidates' pictures are posted in the windows of the Town House Restaurant.

The winner, in addition to receiving gifts from all the participating merchants, will ride in her own special float down Broadway during the Christmas parade on Dec. 7.

School in Southfield to Be Named Kennedy

SOUTHFIELD (AP) — A new elementary school, scheduled to open next fall in this Detroit suburb, will be named after the late President Kennedy.

The Southfield school board decided the 11-room building should serve as a memorial to the slain President.

Road Death Toll 1,651

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 1,651 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The highway death toll at this date last year was 1,453.

Recent Wedding Rites

Honeymooning in Area

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Honeymooning in the Lake Orion area are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Vern Hornbeck who exchanged nuptial vows and rings recently in the First Methodist Church, Lafayette, Colo.

The bride is the former Gloria Jean Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Richmond of Lafayette, Colo.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of gossamer nylon lute frosted with hand-clipped Chantilly lace. It featured a Sabrina neckline and bracelet-length sleeves.

A pearl crown held her finger veil of illusion. She carried a white orchid in a cascade of white ribbon with red sweet-heart roses on a white ribbon, which was a gift of the bridegroom.

MAID OF HONOR
Jeanette Richmond of Lafayette, Colo., was maid of honor for her sister.

Serving as best man was Mahlon Kravitz of Karvel, Colo. The guests were seated by Llewellyn Richmond, brother of the bride, and Henry Morehead of Hugo, Colo.

A church reception followed the ceremony.

Avon's Building Inspector Reinstated by Board Vote

By ROGER SRIGLEY
AVON TOWNSHIP — Beginning Monday, Township Building Inspector Lawrence Porter goes back to work. At least he's supposed to.

At a special session of the board Wednesday, members voted 6-1 to reinstate Porter. Supervisor Cyril E. Miller, the lone dissenter, was instructed to give Porter official notice that he was back on the payroll.

The board also voted, again 6-1, to pay Porter $1,000 for the time he was off, from Aug. 1 to Dec. 1. Again Miller voted no.

"He is not a qualified building inspector and he knows that," says Miller.

"YES, HE IS" "I'm qualified," he feels he is qualified," argues board trustee Lyle R. Knapp, speaking for the six who backed Porter.

Wednesday's meeting put an end, for the present, to a battle which ensued when Miller demoted Porter to the task of handling maintenance duties at the township cemetery, on July 22.

"I may have to prove that the job can be done effectively without him," Miller said today. He said he doesn't plan any immediate action, but he has "a plan."

Although a majority of the board members voted to reinstate Porter four weeks after Miller transferred him, they later agreed to wait for a recommendation from either the state attorney general's office or the Michigan Township Association.

ACTION NEEDED

Earlier this week a decision came from the township association which, according to Township Attorney Lewis R. Bebout, said "the action of the board would be required."

Miller says the letter is based on firing an employee, and he only transferred Porter.

The supervisor came out ahead on one point earlier, when the Township Board abolished a two-week-old employment board of review it had established.

The four-man committee was set up to hear employee grievances at periodic meetings.

RULED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Miller, basing his stand on another letter from the township association, showed the state attorney general has previously ruled it unconstitutional to create such a committee.

How does Porter feel about the whole thing?

"I've tried to stay out of this as much as I could," he says. "I'm not mad at anybody. I didn't ask for the job originally, nor did I misrepresent myself."

Porter has held the building inspector's post since 1959. Before that he was an operating engineer, handling heavy equipment for road work in the area.

EXPERT ADVICE

"If I didn't know about a decision I got expert advice. I will not take any chances whatsoever with anybody's property."

Porter admits that eventually the work should be done by a registered engineer, one who is familiar with blueprinting and tasks such as measuring stress.

"When Porter first moved into the job," he feels, "he really wasn't qualified," Knapp said today. "But he's worked hard, studied hard, and attended various schools."

"Cy (Miller) would have the people believe that Porter only works about two hours a day. This is wrong; he is a hard and capable worker."

'INJUSTICE'

Miller called Porter's reinstatement an "injustice to the people of Avon Township."

"I can't see putting him back in a $4,000 job and furnishing a car for an unqualified man."

However at Wednesday's meeting, Miller agreed to follow the 6-1 decision of the board and notify Porter to begin work Monday.

"I'm going to do something, but I'll wait," he said.

Fetching Party Fashions for the Petite Elite

Like mother, like daughter — and as fashion conscious — she chooses a long waisted dress for her first party, with filmy white overlay of Swiss organdie embroidered in small pale flowers that open wide and run around a sleeveless bodice. Lightly sashed, the skirt bells out neatly, fairly floating on air and moves freely for active little feet in a whirlwind of beauty. About $9.

In keeping with the tempo of the times, little girls, as their mothers, like to blossom out in the height of fashion when they go to parties.

These very young beauties look to their elders for fashion guidance and reflect the prettiest of grown-up couture — simple, smart, no-fuss shapes that echo the trend of the day with a glimpse into resort and spring.

Eliminating all unessentials, party fashions designed of Swiss cottons and embroideries, emphasize the long waist line, the high waist line, or no waist line at all, in a Look built for comfort and treasured by these lively young ladies who carry themselves and their clothes with assurance.

Shaping into prominence, these cotton confections as fresh as spring and as welcome, are immensely pretty with all the delicacy that belongs to Swiss cottons. As crisp as snow, they fairly float on air and carry the charm of "Snow White" magic.

If little girls have ever dressed prettier, they have certainly never had more beautiful cottons nor such big-time talent devoted to their very young fashions.

Inspired by the charm of these dazzling little tots, designers now see that they are as well turned-out as their mothers. So like mother, like daughter, she is sure to be dressed as a beauty—a petite elite.

Frosty Alpine flowers, pristine clear, bloom in embroidered all-over design on a party dress of misty white Swiss cotton that rests lightly on tiny shoulders. With waistline raised to heighten a small figure and a big bow of blue to soften a budding personality, such a highly styled dress is a little girl's jewel, sure to shine at any party. About $30.

If He Wants a Divorce

Let Him Do the Chasing

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 53 and have been married only eight years to a man who is 66, short, fat and bald. He chases women of 35 and 40. For the past six months he has been going around publicly with the worst kind of

ABBY

He has even brought them to the house in my absence, knowing I would arrive and catch them.

He admitted to my face that he is trying to get me to divorce him, but I am not going to let him off the hook so easy.

I made a bad deal and, at my age, I am content to sit with him. How would you handle him in the future?

DEAR WRONGED: Tell him to quit chasing before he drops dead. And that if he wants a divorce, he'll have to catch YOU.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been going to our pastor for marriage counseling for the past three months. He's not a regular marriage counselor, but he serves the same purpose, and is doing us a lot of good. Nothing was ever mentioned about a fee.

Should we wait for a bill? What if he never sends one? Or should we just send him a check? Please help us, but

Don't Try to Make an Impression

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am going to visit my fiancé's family for the first time next Sunday, and I don't mind telling you that I am very nervous over this meeting and do so want to make a good impression.

They are socially prominent people and I am, so to speak, "from the other side of the car tracks."

Because of ill health his mother was unable to pay the conventional visit on my family but she did write to me and ask me to come to visit her.

Will you please tell me what to do and say upon meeting his parents? Do I kiss his mother? Please help me.

A: First of all, forget the word "impression." To think too intently about what they think of you is the one way to make you self-conscious, tense and ill at ease. Be simple, natural and friendly.

If his mother comes forward to kiss you, you should be ready to be kissed and if she holds out her hand you take it, but the first gesture should come from her and you respond accordingly.

Q: My employer is giving a business luncheon at one of the hotels soon and has asked me to make out the place cards.

Will you please tell me if these cards may be typewritten, and also if it is necessary to write the names out in full? It is important that I do this correctly.

A: They must be handwritten and read Mr. Smith, Mr. Jones, etc. If there are two of the same name, one is of course written Mr. John Smith and the other Mr. Henry Smith.

if you use our letter, don't use our names.

CHURCH MEMBERS

DEAR MEMBERS: Since no "fee" was mentioned, there probably is none. However, since you have had several sessions with the pastor, his services should be rewarded.

Make a contribution to one of the special church funds (building fund, missionary, Sunday school). Every church can use money.

DEAR ABBY: Do you really think life is worth living?

DEAR PHILOSOPHER: It all depends on the liver.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

New Member Introduced at Sisterhood Luncheon

Mrs. Howard Green was introduced as a new member at the Tuesday meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob.

Hostesses for the luncheon meeting included: Mrs. Kenneth Solomon, Mrs. Herbert Bugeiser, Mrs. Ernst Conrad, and Mrs. Sherwin Birkkrant.

A service honoring Mrs. Rebecca Gould will be held Jan. 3 in recognition of her devotion and service to the Temple.

Since the Sisterhood has no December meetings, the congregational dinner was announced for Jan. 18. Mrs. Marvin Talan is chairman.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations held its 47th general assembly in Chicago recently. Mrs. Tom Horowitz reported on the assembly.

Progress reports on the group's projects for the Green's Market were given during the business meeting. The market is sponsored by the Waterford branch of the association and will be held Dec. 11 and 12 in the CAI building.

Dinner Dance After Wedding

Some 500 guests attended a dinner-dance and reception in Roma Hall, Livonia, following recent vows of the Alexander Theodore Maxims (Janet Ann Peavyhouse) in St. Thomas Eastern Orthodox Church, Detroit.

Rev. Christ Costa performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peavyhouse of South Lyon and the son of the Max A. Maxims of Shawnee Court.

Alencon lace accented the bride's colonial gown of white kitten satin styled with bolero jacket and short train. A layered crystal crown held her illusion veil. She carried white roses and ivy.

Wearing identical shocking pink satin dresses with velvet bodices, were Rita Peavyhouse, her sister's honor maid, with bridesmaids Kathleen Root of Royal Oak, Gladys and Evelyn Maxim.

White fur headbands and muffs topped with cranberry rosebuds and pink carnations completed their ensembles.

Mary Beth Maxim was flower girl.

Donald Maxim was best man for his brother. Ushers were Jack Poe, Flint; Perry Root, Royal Oak; and Philip Peavyhouse, Jimmy Tottis of Ferndale carried the rings.

The bride is an alumna of Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, Ky., and her husband is a senior at Western Michigan University.

Child Will Eventually Rebel

Mothers Often Give Too Many Orders

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My 4-year-old boy holds some grudge against me. Though he minds his father, he won't listen to me.

As I write this letter to you he should be in bed for his rest period. But he is out in the yard still playing though I have called him at least five times.

As I am soon expecting another child, I cannot carry him in and put him into his bed the way you say a mother should do.

The way I feel, I don't care if he gets his rest time or not.

ANSWER: Maybe he doesn't need it any more.

How many orders do you give this child a day? How many times do you say things like, "Put on your slippers... Finish your egg... The grass is wet so stay on the porch... Stop playing with the soap... Take my hand at this street crossing..."

A lot of times? I expect so, O.K. Then let it dawn upon you that the more orders we give a child, the more enforcements we get stuck with. But our enforcing energies have their limits.

"Many young mothers just won't take this in. They give more orders than they can enforce—and their children stop listening."

The mothers begin to doubt themselves when the simple fact is that they have bitten off more than they can chew. Even policemen can't take 14 hours of constant law enforcement. They work on shifts.

So, to make our orders heard, we reduce them to the minimum that is essential to preserve the child's safety. If he defies his rest hour, we say to ourselves, "So be it. He can't be very tired. It is therefore not essential that he rest."

"Tomorrow I won't make the mistake of commanding him to his rest hour and so make an issue of what isn't important."

But at the street crossing we do not cancel the command to take our hand.

Though the child who resists his nap-time knows more about the state of his energies than we do, we know more about the state of street traffic than he does.

So we follow through on this essential order, to the point of physical battle with the child.

There are many things we want children to do or stop doing but we can't have everything we want from them.

We have to settle for the most important things. Otherwise we fall into the "too many orders" trap.

Dickies Add Variety
By URSULA duBOIS
Idleness breeds boredom. There is no reason to be discontented. The feeling of accomplishment at the end of the day is important. To be praised gives us a physical and mental lift.

The dickies that Pat Woodell of CBS Television is displaying will get you a lot of praise and admiration. Knit them for your suits, jumpers or V-sweaters.

All the dickies shown are included in one pattern instruction sheet. One dickie has iridescent leaves, one a turtle-neck, one is beaded for an interesting neck effect, and the other has a fan design with aurora borealis sewn to the bottom of the fan.

Knit them all as a supplement to your own wardrobe or make them as gifts for the holidays.

Dickie No. 39 may be obtained by sending 50 cents by check, coin, or money order to:

Santa's Pets
Delight Kids

Marshmallow reindeer are great fun for children to make as Christmas table decorations. Just cut a piece of pipe cleaner in four-inch lengths. Bend up one-third. Then spear two marshmallows on the long section for the body and one marshmallow on the short section to form a head. For eyes and nose use whole cloves or small stars. Felt markers make a funny mouth. Shape the antlers and the four short legs from glitter-painted pipe cleaners. Result: colorful, prancing figures to delight your youngsters.

Blend Beverage

A cream blend of one-half cup chilled buttermilk and one-half cup of vegetable-tomato juice makes a refreshing and ideal beverage for the dieter.

explosion talk, today's teen-agers are still planning on big families — bigger, certainly, than those of their own parents.

Two thirds of them tell us, in one of the most revealing surveys we have ever made, that they do have in mind the world's burgeoning population and think that Americans generally should take it into consideration in planning their own families.

But, like many of their elders under similar circumstances, they are talking about other Americans, not themselves.

"I think they should definitely think about it," rationalized Donna Trachle, 16, of Water-town, Wis., "but besides whatever their conscience thinks is right — and whatever they like."

THE STATISTICS

Of the 1,281 young people we talked to, 48 per cent said they wanted families larger than their parents, 16 per cent said they would prefer smaller, 31 per cent the same size. The others couldn't decide.

"There are five children in our family," explained Jo Ellen Casey, 19, of Columbus, O., and I wish that my children could have the fun we have had."

Getting down to specifics, 36 per cent of the cross section said they would like two children, 22 per cent three children, 32 per cent four children and 15 per cent even more.

ATTITUDE CHANGE
In other words, 47 per cent would be glad to have four or more children — compared with 50 per cent in a similar 1958 survey, when population explosion were not such a popular topic of discussion. The change in attitude is hardly significant.

"I have already arrived at the conclusion," said K. A. H. Lohr, 17, of Watonska, Ill., "that I will be happy with a family of four, and certainly if four will bring me a lot of happiness, how much unhappleness will it bring to the rest of the world?"

Five years ago, 3 per cent of those interviewed said they preferred a single child, now less than half of the 1 per cent express such a preference. And all six of this small group were girls who listed themselves as Catholics.

We tried this time to measure the differences in attitudes of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish youths, and came up with some highly interesting statistics.

GIRLS ENTHUSIASTIC

In the first place, it's the Catholic and Protestant girls, rather than the boys, who are most enthusiastic by far about big families.

Sixty-nine per cent of the Catholic girls, 93.5 per cent of the Protestant girls, and 45 per cent of the Jewish girls look forward to having families bigger than the ones they were brought up in.

This compares with 23.5 per cent of the Catholic boys, 23 per cent of the Protestant boys and 46 per cent of the Jewish boys.

"I dislike constant family bickering," noted a 14-year-old Tappan, N.J., boy.

FOUR CHILDREN

Among the Protestants, 40 per cent of the girls but only 23 per cent of the boys would like to have four children.

Thirty-seven per cent of the boys, against 15 per cent of the girls, prefer three.

Catholic girls, on the other hand, voted 54 per cent for four children, as against 29 per cent of the boys. Twenty-seven per cent of the girls would even prefer more.

Catholic boys said in 23.5 per cent of the cases that they'd like just two children, as against 4 per cent of the girls. The same number of Catholic boys voted for three children, as against 11.5 per cent of the girls.

The Jewish boys and girls want fewer children than either of the Christian groups. Overall, 55 per cent voted for two children, 31 per cent for three, 19 per cent for four, and 10 per cent for five or more.

Asked how many of their children they would want to be boys and how many girls, the young people favored boys over girls but by a slight margin.

As to that population explosion, the Protestants seem most impressed with its dangers and the advisability of laying plans accordingly, the Catholics least.

Pair Pick Sylvan Lake for Their First Home

New residents of Sylvan Lake are the Michael Joseph Rooneys (Dianne Marie Bradford) whose honeymoon in northern Michigan followed recent vows and reception in the Memorial Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are the Paul Bradfords of Homestead Street and the Raymond J. Rooneys of Oshawa Circle.

Shelley Bradford attended her sister as bridesmaid and Kathleen Martin was maid of honor.

Jon Krumweide was best man and the bridegroom's brothers John and Norman Rooney ushered with Daniel McGeachy.

Announcing Engagement

The engagement is announced of Charlene Joy Brown, daughter of Mrs. Charles A. Brown of Pekin, Ill. and the late Mr. Brown to Peter F. Aris also of Pekin.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Loren D. Aris of Joyce Street. The December bride-elect attended Western Illinois University at Macomb, Ill. Her fiancé was graduated from the Ferris State College School of Pharmacy.

Currant Tarts Are Different and Good

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor Peter Rabbit's mother went to the store to buy currant buns, but we think currant tarts might have been just as acceptable.

Mrs. Peter Leonard, a member of the Queen Mary Needlework Guild of America, Inc., shares her recipe for currant tarts. They are good to serve during the holiday season.

CURRANT TARTS

By Mrs. Peter Leonard

1 egg, slightly beaten

1 tablespoon melted butter scant cup white sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup washed currants
unbaked pastry
Line nine muffin tins with pastry. Mix rest of ingredients in order given. Turn into pastry lined tins.

Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 10-15 minutes longer.

Girls Present
Puppet Show

Shelley and Donna Humbaugh presented a puppet theater before the Fashionette Club Tuesday evening in the Adelphi Shelly Library. Popular records provided music for the pantomime.

Milly Fishwell, storyteller in song, gave a program of special interest to the children and grandchildren of the members, with autoharp accompaniment.

Mrs. Harry Fedler was received as a new member.

Characterizes
Group Session

The Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church chose a program theme "Praise Through Sharing" for the November meeting on Tuesday. The January-March group served the luncheon.

Rev. Paul D. Cross gave the Bible study and Mrs. Richard J. Wright led the annual praise service.

Yvonne Hamlar directed the Pontiac Central Junior Girls' Ensemble in vocal numbers.

Local Couple Married
In Family Ceremony

Rev. G. W. Gibson of St. Francisville, Ill., former pastor of the Central Christian Church, officiated at the recent marriage of Joyce Louise Bump to Merlin Heaclyffe Bailey of Lake Orion.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Floyd Bump of Lakeview Street and the late Mr. Bump. Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Bailey of Caro.

Attending the couple at the family ceremony were Mrs.

Walter Savage and D. Max Bump.

The newlyweds are at home on Peters Drive.

Ease With Practicality

The age-old conflict between comfort and practicality seems to be solving itself in the instance of ladies' lingerie even before it has gotten a good start.

Perfect techniques with stretch cottons promised non-cutting—shoulder straps, as well as bras and slips that give with body expansion and still retains its shape.

However, these dandy features seemed to rule out any aesthetic treatments, such as lace. Recently the lace industry corrected this impression by announcing that it has also found a way to put a little give and take in its fancy fabric.

Still, the stretch lace on stretch lingerie will require a stretched budget for the woman who wants it. The lace itself costs twice as much as the already old fashioned non-stretch kind.

Vatican Sets Third Session

Church Father Confab Continues Next Fall

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The third session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council will be held next year from about Sept. 14 to Nov. 20, officials announced today at the Roman Catholic assembly.

Archbishop Pericle Felici, secretary general of the council, told the prelates in St. Peter's Basilica definite dates for the third session would be announced shortly.

The Roman Catholic assembly—bringing together cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and abbots from around the world—convened Oct. 11, 1962. That session ended Dec. 8, 1962. The second session opened Sept. 28. It ends Dec. 4.

There has been reports the third session would not be held until 1965. Many council fathers reportedly felt an extended recess was needed to give the council's drafting commissions time to write new provisions and amendments into the various documents.

FASTER ACTION

These council fathers felt such commission work would result in speedier deliberations in the full council.

Other prelates feared the momentum of the council's work would be broken by too long a recess. They felt the drafting commissions could be enlarged to enable them to work faster, and Pope Paul VI ordered such an increase last week.

The council fathers cast ballots yesterday to fill 43 additional seats on the 12 commissions. The results were announced today.

Council progressives are believed to have favored the larger commissions, not only to speed up their work but also to make them more representative. They also were reported in favor of the September date for the third council session.

Await Johnson Policies

Tragedy Snags Japan-U.S. Relations

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

This was a week of disappointment as well as sadness for Japan. Originally it had been scheduled that a distinguished United States delegation headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon would meet this week with their Japanese counterparts for a three-day discussion of mutual interests and problems.

Instead, on the day the meetings were to start Premier Hayato Ikeda and Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohkira were in Washington attending the funeral of President Kennedy.

And the discussions which the Japanese had hoped would be so fruitful were put off indefinitely.

It was just one more example of the paralysis that had fallen over many another nation with close ties to the United States as it settled back into a period of enforced waiting upon the policies and decisions of the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson.

AUSPICIOUS START

Until the death of President Kennedy, the Conservative Liberal-Democratic government of Ikeda had been off to an auspicious new start.

General elections earlier in the month had returned his party to power with a comfortable majority of 283 in the 467-seat House of Representatives.

His Socialist opponents had gained seven seats for a total of 144. But that total was far short of the 180 the Socialists had asked in order to be sure of blocking any changes in Japan's no-war constitution.

The Socialists had campaigned on two old standby issues, expanded trade with Red China and an end to Japan's alliance with the United States, and on a new one, Japan's mounting inflation.

TV ANTENNAE

Ikeda's answer had been to point to the millions of new television antennae sprouting from Japanese rooftops, thousands of new refrigerators in Japanese homes and an average annual gain of 10 per cent in the gross national product.

Except for the candidates, the Japanese yawned their way through the campaign and in the end agreed with Ikeda.

Nonetheless the Japanese had problems.

They were worried about the possibility of new barriers against the entry of Japanese goods into the United States and they wanted the United States to agree to a relaxation of trade rules with Red China.

Now discussions of both issues would be put off. President Kennedy's death brought new worries.

The Japanese stock market plunged downward, reflecting investors' fears that the new Johnson administration would slow the drive toward freer international trade.

There also was wonder whether the Johnson administration would maintain the same close ties with Japan as had been followed by Kennedy, and finally there was another reflected throughout the world. The newspaper Asahi expressed it editorially by saying:

"In view of the magnitude of the personal leadership of Mr. Kennedy in foreign affairs and the depth of mutual understanding that existed between Mr. Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev, we are bound to feel some anxiety."

Debaters of Pontiac Central Win Their 2nd Tournament

By DIANE OLSEN
The Pontiac Central High School debaters won their second tournament of the season recently at Flint Northern. Coach Walter Smith of the speech department has reason to be proud of his teams, who have won all but one of their 12 debates.

Members of the first affirmative were Dick Taylor and Robert Sullivan; members of the first negative were Carol Godeshian and Jim Embree.

Those debating on the second affirmative were Val Bunce and Bill Chafets; and on the second negative were Lenore Schoonover and Helmut Schick.

Carolyn Morris and Cheryl Heighl debated for the third negative and David Jarvis and Roberta Wine debated for the third affirmative.

CLASS PRACTICE

The debaters have been practicing before civics, history and English classes. The classes would then determine the winner and offer criticisms on case and presentation.

Last week the biology club, sponsored by Judy Ungvary of the science department, toured Pontiac General Hospital. The group of approximately 50 students was shown through the various laboratories and were shown various specimens.

Central girl's swimming club, the Dolphins, recently decided upon their theme. The performances to be given April 8-11 will be centered around the planets.

These girls will be working steadily from now until the show on their costumes, routines, narration, lightings and props.

SAFETY AWARD

Senior Dick Taylor has won this year's safety award given by the Pontiac Board of Realtors. For his speech, "In Defense of the Teen Drivers," Dick earned a $50 savings bond and a trophy.

The function, held last Saturday, included movies made by the state police and various speeches.

A campaign to update guidance counselors on job opportunities and requirements has been undertaken by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Bloomfield Hills 'B' Club to Initiate New Members

By TERI SEIBERT
The "B" club, a student athletics organization of Bloomfield Hills High School, will initiate new members Tuesday.

Boys who received letters for participation in last year's spring sports or this year's fall sports will take part in the initiations.

As part of the activities, prospective members will be required to act as cheerleaders at the Tuesday basketball game during lunch hour.

A future teachers' club was organized at BHHS recently. This club had not been a part of the school's extra-curricular activities for the past three years.

INTERESTED STUDENTS

The club serves to familiarize students who are interested in a teaching career with the many aspects of the profession.

Members of the club attended a statewide meeting of future teachers at Mercy College Saturday. The program included films, discussions and lectures concerning the teaching profession.

Officers of the club are Julie Rupe, president, and Carol Gouze, secretary. Deanna Maher, American problems teacher, sponsors the group.

PLANS HANDLED

Seniormen, a company which organized many high school senior trips, will handle the trip plans. Approximately 125 students plan to travel to both cities.

Trip club officers who are helping to coordinate plans include Jill Wahl, president; James Froberg, vice president; Jane Huggins, secretary; and Gordon Elliot, treasurer.

John Shiraef, teacher and newspaperman from Charlotte, Mich. will address BHHS students Wednesday. Shiraef has traveled to Europe and behind the Iron Curtain on six different occasions.

In his lecture, Shiraef will discuss the Russian people, their culture and their customs.

Physical science classes will observe the paper-making process when the group visits the Scott Paper Company in Ecorse, Mich. Wednesday. Physical science instructor Carol Triten will accompany the class.

For St. Michael Seniors

Sophs Give Surprise Assembly

By MICHAEL OMANS

Students at St. Michael High School witnessed a surprise assembly given by the sophomores for the seniors last Friday.

The program was a satirical skit about the senior's participation in St. Michael's homecoming game and festivities.

Following the skit Mother Mary Maura was given a Mass card and a spiritual bouquet in honor of her feast day, which was Friday, by two senior class and school representatives. They were Gregory Magerman and George Laviole.

It was after that skit that the student body heard the news of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Many of the students went to the church, where Fr. Herbert Mansfield led them in saying the Rosary and other appropriate prayers for the deceased leader.

Others congregated around cars listening to further details on the assassination. Slowly, however, the students drifted home.

All activities planned for that weekend were canceled and a special 9 a.m. Mass, which was attended by a large part of the student body, was offered on Monday for the dead President.

DRAFTED IN BLACK

When students returned to school Tuesday, they found the halls draped in black. Newspaper articles relating to the happenings of the fateful four days were pinned on bulletin boards in the hall.

Wins Contest for Waterford

By MARY BARNINGHAM

Speaking "In Defense of the Teen-age Driver," Waterford Township High School senior Kathy Payne won third prize, a $10 gift certificate in the recent speech contest at Pontiac Northern High School.

Yearbook sales during Waterford week totaled 1665 books. Students from first and second year-journalism classes sold books in homes throughout the week.

At the end of the week 82.4 per cent of the senior class had ordered Waterford, followed by 79.1 per cent of the junior class and 75.5 per cent of the sophomore class.

Striving to earn money for their class trip, the seniors at WTHS will be taking orders for candy until Dec. 9.

Candy orders will arrive on Dec. 16 and be distributed.

Under the direction of Dr. Zander, the University of Michigan will be conducting a series of experimental tests of muscular coordination. One hundred and sixty junior boys will take part in the two-week long experiment.

Juniors may now register in the counseling area to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test in March.

Harlem Ambassadors to Play

By JOY McREYNOLDS

Laughs and cheers will resound in the Waterford Kettering High School gymnasium tonight as the touring Harlem Ambassadors make their comical stand in a basketball game against faculty members of Pierce Junior High School and WKHS.

The Ambassadors, one of the best known teams in comedy basketball, maintain two objectives, to win the game, and to display the best performance possible.

Featured Ambassador players include Sweetwater Clifton, Leon Hillard, Ducky Moore and Red Turner. Clifton, Moore and Hillard are veterans of the Harlem Globetrotters, the most famous of the comedy teams.

Last season on the Ambassadors polished off a 115-0 record against amateurs, semipro and professional teams. Highlighting the event will be their "magic circle" pregame warm-up.

Sponsored by the Waterford Kettering pep club, the game will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $1 for students and $1.50 for adults. Tickets will be available at the door.

Cagers at Avondale High Meet Richmond Tuesday

By KATHY WILKES

The 1963-64 Avondale High School basketball season will get under way Dec. 3 when the Yellow Jackets travel to Richmond for their first nonleague game of the season.

Returning lettermen to the squad this year will be seniors Dennis Acker, Roger Batelli, and juniors Lynn Thorpe, Tom Beck, Dick Reddaway, Jon Anderson and Rick Bye. Coaches will be Richard Bye, varsity squad; and Raymond Carlson, junior varsity squad.

The Youth For Christ club is busy and is under the direction of Charles Miles. The group is being helped by the Oakland County Youth For Christ director, Dick Wynn.

Heading the club as president is Phyllis Gushman. Others are Peggy Guy, vice president of management; Shirley Evislizer, vice president of program; and Judy Newby, in charge of prayer and the follow-up.

CAST OF PLAY

The cast for "Merry Thaw," a three-act comedy by William Roos, was announced last week.

Starring roles are handled by Norene Blake and Eric Vogel. Other parts were awarded to Michael Meyers, Jim Jones, Jane Heichel, Judy, Judy Herman, Jill Parker, Andrea Peterson, Lawrence Even, Ed Grandner and Terry Thompson.

The play is a comedy about a family who buys an old house thinking the owners are dead, only to have all sorts of commotion begin when they turn up alive.

The play is scheduled to be given later in January and will be under direction of Margaret Rose.

Library club, under direction of Mrs. Judith Kwierant, is planning a Christmas party for Dec. 18. The group recently sponsored a successful hay ride.

Detroit plans to incorporate a "family center" in a new high school in an urban renewal area. The new school, on an 11-acre site, will replace Eastern High School.

For the first time in MHS history, basketball fans will be provided with a souvenir program featuring the Redskins' schedule, the team roster with pictures and pertinent information about the team and spirited school yell.

In compliance with the recent Presidential Proclamation, the American flag at Waterford Kettering High School will remain at half-staff until Dec. 22 in memory of the late President, John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Wednesday morning students attended the annual Thanksgiving assembly in the gym.

The program consisted of traditional Thanksgiving songs sung by the WKHS choir, under the direction of Mrs. Janet Hunt. Short narrations were presented between numbers.

Milford Band Plans Concert

By BOB GORSLINE
The Milford High School band, under direction of William Campbell, will give its first concert of the year Thursday at 8 p.m. It will feature a Christmas theme.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Under sponsorship of Mrs. Agnes Tripp and Mrs. Ruth Reebe, the future homemakers group is engaged in preparing Christmas decorations for the school.

For the first time in MHS history, basketball fans will be provided with a souvenir program featuring the Redskins' schedule, the team roster with pictures and pertinent information about the team and spirited school yell.

WALLED LAKE

By SUE GERVAIS

Walled Lake High School juniors are busy preparing for their prom "Wonderland by Night" which will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Dec. 7.

The gym will be decorated in white to picture a winter scene.

Under Martha Salo, general chairman, Sue Shimmer will act as chairman of decorations; Bettie York, chairman of tickets; Bob Smart, entertainment chairman; and Dana Kott, refreshments chairman.

The ski club will hold a fashion show Wednesday at 7 p.m. Ski equipment and attire will be supplied by the Viking Ski Shop of Livonia.

Students Scott Galbraith, Mark Fish, Anne Barrie and Pamela Connelly will model.

Following the style show, Gene Hill, ski instructor at Mt. Brighton, will present ski movies and talk on equipment and safety.

ROCHESTER

By FRED ENNIS

This week at Rochester High School was a short one due to the national day of mourning for the late President John F. Kennedy and two days of Thanksgiving vacation.

The senior class "hootenanny" was canceled because of the death of the President. Originally scheduled for last Friday, it may be rescheduled for some other date according to Senior Class President Kirk Roose.

Basketball practice at RHS had begun, under the coaching of Ralph Vanzo, leader of the Falcon varsity. The junior class will sponsor an after game dance following the first game against Avondale.

At Pontiac Northern

A Week of Preparation

By SUSAN KILLEN

During this week, one which contains the first major holiday of the season, the Pontiac Northern High School students have been working on preparations.

Thanksgiving baskets were organized and delivered on Wednesday. Also, a Thanksgiving program was presented over the school's public address system.

The PNH band and choir took major parts in this presentation. Northern senior Duane Shaw narrated part of the program.

Philip Wargelin, Northern's principal, presented a short talk, as did one of the area clergy.

REPORT CARDS

During the coming week report cards will be issued. This marks the end of the first 13 weeks of school, leaving only seven more weeks in the semester.

The school office is asking that seniors who are college bound bring in their applications to colleges as soon as possible.

This is not only to insure a place available at the college for the student, but to alleviate any congestion among forms in the office before the Christmas rush season.

Old Ironsides Set for Reconstruction

BOSTON (UPI)—The 166-year-old USS Constitution will undergo its first major reconstruction since the late 1920's when it is floated into drydock next Tuesday.

The Navy said yesterday the famous old fighting ship, known as "Old Ironsides," was drydocked for major repairs in 1929 largely through the contributions of American schoolchildren.

After her last overhaul, the Constitution visited 90 ports on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts. Because of its age, however, the ship will not be able to make any tours following next month's repairs, the Navy said.

Junior Editors Quiz on SNOW

REAL SNOW FLAKES

MAKING PAPER SNOWS

QUESTION: Why is a snowflake white?

ANSWER: Snowflakes are small crystals of ice formed as cold freezes the water vapor in clouds. But as they drift down, snowflakes may pass through warmer air, in which case they come to earth as raindrops.

It is said that there are no two snowflakes completely alike, although all are formed as six sided crystals. The white color comes from the fact that the minute ice crystal surfaces of the flakes reflect the light brilliantly combining all the colors into white.

In Greenland and some other Arctic countries there may be minute plants which will change the color of snow when it reaches the ground, giving the appearance of red snow or green snow.

To make paper snowflakes: fold a square piece of paper (1). Get center of folded edge; then fold this edge (2) so A and B equal each other. Then fold B on A (3). Now fold in center, open the paper and draw a dotted line where it is creased and a heavy line across as shown.

Cut through this heavy line (4). This will make a triangle (4). When you open you will get a hexagon (5).

Fold back to triangle — snip out designs by cutting out from free edge (main picture), also put a few cuts in folded edges, but don't cut across fold.

FOR YOU TO DO: Open your cut paper and you will have a beautiful snowflake. Who could resist making a lot more? They make fine holiday decorations.

Find GI Dead in Viet Crash

Native Killed, Second American Missing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—The bodies of an American and a Vietnamese whose B26 bomber was downed by Communist ground fire have been found 100 miles southwest of Saigon. A second American crewman is missing.

A U.S. military spokesman said the two men hailed out of the stricken craft before it crashed, but their parachutes failed to open.

Search parties found the bodies of the two crewmen Wednesday in rice paddies near the town of Ca Mau at the southern tip of Viet Nam.

An earlier report that the bodies of two Americans who had been found and a third was missing proved incorrect.

140 DEAD

The crash raised to 140 the number of U.S. servicemen who have died in Viet Nam since the military assistance program to Vietnamese government began in early 1961. The number of missing was raised to 12.

Of the 140 known American military dead, 112 have been killed in action or in combat accidents.

The B26 was on a combat support mission last Sunday when it was hit by fire from Viet Cong guerrilla fighters on the ground.

While the war against the Communist guerrillas continued, unrest was reported among civilians in Central Viet Nam against officials of the former regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

UNREST AT HUE

Qualified diplomatic sources said the unrest appears most widespread in the former imperial capital of Hue, near the dividing line between North and South Viet Nam.

Hue was the first battleground in the four-month Buddhist protest movement that led to Diem's overthrow.

Father, 3 Children Die in Home Fire

BYFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A real estate developer and three of his children died Thursday night in a fire that destroyed their home, built more than 200 years ago.

The victims were Charles Livermore, 50; Charles Jr., 10; Jonathan, 5, and Abigail, 6.

Livermore's wife, Mary, and another son, Tyler, 12, escaped after being awakened by a neighbor, Charles Thompson, who discovered the fire. The Livermore home was a 2-story wooden colonial built by Oliver Goodrich, a Revolutionary War soldier.

Complete Home for Widow of Police Hero

TRUCKEE, Calif. (AP)—California Highway Patrolman Glenn W. Carlson, 33, hadn't gotten very far in building his Sierra Mountain home when he was shot to death Nov. 15 by fleeing bank robbers.

Thanksgiving Day, the widow of the officer stood in the bare living room of the nearly completed home and said, "You just don't realize how wonderful people can be until something like this happens."

Jane Carlson and the three Carlson children—aged 7, 6 and 4—have been staying in a rented house while neighbors, and strangers pitched in with money, materials and labor to help finish the mountain home.

Hootenanny Impresario

Folk Singer Becomes Tycoon

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—You may not give a hoot, but folk music is big business nowadays, and the 60-ming tycoon may well be handsome Randy Sparks.

THOMAS

He's from Leavenworth, Kan., by way of Oakland, a sharp operator who realizes there's more to the folk field than wearing a goatee and being able to plunk out the chords to "Foggy, Foggy Dew."

A couple of years ago, Randy was another of the growing horde of hootenanny dispensers. Today he is impresario of the New Christy Minstrels, who sell millions of records and can draw $10,000 per night. Warming up in the wings are his new combos, the John Henry Singers, a Negro group "with more animal drive than the Christies," and a young outfit called the Ledbetters.

Sparks recently opened a folk-and-beer parlor in nearby Westwood where he will provide a showcase for new acts. He seems destined never to run out of hootenannies. He maintains in Exotic a private dwelling which he calls the Folkhaus and which offers a haven for transient folk musicians. Also a place to rehearse—not without an occasional complaint from the neighbors.

GRAND PLAN

"All this is part of a grand plan," explained the confident Sparks, who is nearing 31. "You see, when I started in the business, there was no place for us to learn our trade. There was no market for folk singing and we had to make our way."

Randy has had a long time to think about his aims. It was a decade ago that he and another University of California student dropped into San Francisco's hungry 1 to hear Josh White.

"Being from Kansas, the son of a lumber worker, shop business had always seemed remote and unattainable for me," Randy recalled. "Yet there was Josh White playing guitar and singing folk songs with complete ease. I could do the same thing."

He started bugging San Francisco night spots for jobs and to his astonishment got one. He met with middling success there and in other cities. He spent a couple of years entertaining in the Navy, then returned to show business with mixed results.

BIG BREAK

"Time after time, I'd get a big break, like going overseas with Bob Hope, then the whole thing would go down the tubes," he said.

Meanwhile he was experimenting with larger folk groups, and putting up recruits at his home—at one time the place was sleeping 14. Just at the moment he was facing insolvency, he came up with the New Christy Minstrels, joining with nine other singers to produce

Start Probe of VA Loans in Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—The U.S. District Attorney's office is investigating why Michigan reportedly leads the nation in the number of foreclosures on home loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

"Some of the reasons for foreclosures is that loans have been approved that should not have been," U.S. Atty. Lawrence Gubow said last night.

The VA said that 5,429 foreclosures properties are listed in Michigan. There are 23,026 in the nation, it said. From 300 to 425 of the properties in Michigan are reported each month in Wayne County, the VA said.

The investigation will deal primarily with abuses of credit reports, Gubow said.

FALSE STATEMENTS

The abuses reportedly include falsified employment statements and concealed debts.

Under VA procedures, private lending institutions loan money on property and the VA insures the notes.

Nehru Presence at Rite 'Physical Impossibility'

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told parliament it would have been a "physical impossibility" for him or Vice President Zakir Husain to reach Washington in time to attend Monday.

Nehru was answering criticism by Socialist party leader Ram Manohar Lohia, who said India's failure to send a top representative showed the foreign ministry's inability to make decisions quickly.

Nonsupporter Banned

PARIS (UPI)—Records by French pop singer Francoise Hardy were banned for a week from the state-run French radio and television networks after she told a reporter, "I seldom listen to the radio, and when I do it is to foreign stations. I don't have a television set."

some of the most rousing folkery extant.

The result: instant success. Sparks no longer travels with the group, staying here to develop his other enterprises. The fruit of his labor has been sweet, as I judged when he stepped into his chauffeured limousine at the end of our conversation.

"Every man should have his banjo," he remarked. "This is mine."

2nd Escapee Being Sought

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Police in Ann Arbor are searching for the second of two North Carolina prison farm escapees whose nine-day cross-country crime spree was interrupted Wednesday with the arrest of one of the fugitives.

Held in the Washtenaw County Jail was King H. York, 26, of Cedar Falls, N. C. He was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Police said York was carrying a pistol in a shoulder holster when arrested by an Ann Arbor traffic patrolman who became suspicious when he saw the pair in a car. The second fled.

York later identified his accomplice as Richard Alber and admitted that both had escaped from the Randolph County, N.C., prison farm Nov. 18, officers said.

York told police L. Henry Murray of Ann Arbor that he and Alber had taken part in a string of burglaries and four car thefts since their escape.

Aged Jewish Leader Dies of Heart Attack

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, 70, Jewish leader for almost half a century died Thursday, apparently of a heart attack. Rabbi Silver, spiritual leader of The Temple, one of the nation's largest liberal Jewish congregations, waged an untiring battle for the establishment of the state of Israel in the 1940s and won an international reputation for his lifelong leadership in the world Zionist movement.

A native of Lithuania, he was the son of a rabbi and was a fifth-generation rabbi in his family.

Auto Makers Eye Foreign Import Gains

By CHARLES C. CAIN
DETROIT (AP) — The American auto industry reportedly is reviewing again the question of whether it should build a small car, about of Volkswagen size, to compete with foreign imports.

of the U.S. auto firms will confirm the report. Several factors, however, seem to bear out the idea.

One is the way that the foreign import market has strengthened in recent months. In 1962, foreign imports sagged to about 339,000 units. Since then, the figure has climbed steadily and now is at the 400,000 level.

U.S. manufacturers concede that 400,000 - market is a pretty healthy chunk of business.

LION'S SHARE

Five foreign cars - Volkswagen, Renault, Standard-Triumph, MG and Volvo in that order - have captured 83 per cent of the 400,000 market.

Most of the foreign entries have been placing heavy emphasis on sports cars and convertibles, with all sorts of options on transmissions, interior trim, bucket seats and other items. This is a la carte type of car has a price tag well up into the medium price range of the U.S. field.

The primary target of the foreign imports, however, is the one big share of the market which U.S. auto makers leave uncovered. That is the under $1,896 price range. That is the sticker price of the lowest priced U.S. car, the Rambler American 220 2-door sedan.

(Sticker prices include federal taxes and dealer preparation charges, but do not include optional equipment, freight, state and local taxes and other extras).

PRICED BELOW
Foreign imports which have a sticker price below $1,896 include:

- $1,262 Fiat 600 - D 2-dr. sedan
- $1,515 Renault Dauphine 4-dr. sedan
- $1,595 Volkswagen 2-dr. sedan
- $1,696 Renault R-8 4-dr. sedan

- $1,899 English Ford Cortina 2-dr. sedan
 - $1,575 Austin Healey Sprite roadster
 - $1,495 Saab 3-dr. sedan
- The attention which these cars are getting from U.S. buyers has caused some studies by U.S. firms to determine what they should do to meet the market demand.

Ford came about the closest to getting into the smaller-than-compact field back in 1962 when it toyed with the idea of bringing out a new small car to be called the Cardinal.

When the import market slackened late that year, Ford shelved the Cardinal idea. It may be brought up again in the near future.

It seems a sure bet that other auto makers as well as Ford are giving careful thought to the problem.

Comes Up With Confusion

Committee Plumbs the Bathroom

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The complexities of modern life are demonstrated in many and varied ways, some of which are rather bewildering.

Nothing along that line has bewildered me quite as much as a press release someone passed along to me recently. It was captioned thusly:

"BRAB Announces Appointment of Ad Hoc Committee on Performance Characteristics of Sanitary Plumbing Fixtures."

A caption like that doesn't just grab your attention: It seizes your attention with a double hammerlock and throws it to the mat.

PIERCING QUESTIONS

When I had recovered my equilibrium, I came to grips with two piercing questions: (1) Who, or what, is "BRAB?" and (2) How does an ad hoc committee go about determining whether sanitary plumbing fixtures are performing characteristically?

For instance, some of the sanitary plumbing fixtures at my place will occasionally stop up and at other times overflow.

But I haven't the vaguest notion as to which of these performances is characteristic.

LESS LUCID

On the second point, however, the release was something less than lucid. It said merely that "The committee's work will be made possible by joint government-industry support."

Then it added that "With such support, BRAB will be able to bring to bear, on the problems of identifying and measuring physical and functional characteristics essential to the performance of sanitary plumbing fixtures, the collective knowledge of government, industrial, and academic scientists and engineers."

By the time I finished reading that, I was thoroughly alarmed. BRAB obviously was dealing with a problem of the first magnitude. And yet there was scarcely a hint as to its nature.

Fighting off panic, I called a chap in the information office of the National Academy of Science and asked him to tell me all he could about it without violating security.

SLOW ACCEPTANCE

He replied that he had not been completely briefed but understood it had something to do with a reluctance on the part of builders to accept new developments in sanitary plumbing fixtures.

That relieved my anxiety somewhat, but whetted my curiosity. I am determined to get to the bottom of this, and when I do I'll let you know.

Four Students Killed

When Plane Crashes

PRINCETON, Mass. (AP) — Four freshmen students from an aeronautics institute at St. Louis University were killed Thursday night when their rented plane crashed into the side of Mt. Wachusett and burned.

Along with four other students they had rented two single-engine planes Wednesday and flown east for Thanksgiving. The victims were John Apel, 18, Orland Park, Ill.; Alfred Pitt, 19, Staten Island, N.Y.; Glenn Bridgman, 18, Blackstone, Va.; and Henry Katz, 18, Worcester, Mass.

5 Children Tossed From Fiery Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. S. River, 27, tossed her five children from the second-story window of a burning Brooklyn tenement into the arms of a passerby Thursday night. Then she jumped.

The unidentified man vanished. The children range in age from 6 months to 11 years. They were treated at a hospital and released. Mrs. Rivera escaped with cuts and bruises.

Famed Announcer Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Utal, 55, whose announcer's voice was known to millions in the days of radio's "Mr. District Attorney" and "Cavalcade of America," died Thursday. He began his announcing career in his teens, and also had appeared as an actor in "The Edge of Night" on television and on radio's "Big Sister."

TO THE FAMILIES WHO OWN THE 1,491,395 ELECTRIC APPLIANCES REPAIRED BY EDISON

Nearly one million three hundred thousand of your electric appliances were repaired by Edison in 1962 without extra cost to you. About 200,000 more, for which there was some moderate charge, were also repaired.

Much of the work was done by experienced Edison people. Also capable handicapped people, employed by Goodwill Industries, supported themselves by repairing 182,000 of the appliances you brought in. They, too, are competent and conscientious workers and we are happy to have their participation and assistance.

Edison offers other services that cost nothing extra. These include the exchange of a variety of light bulbs and of fuses and appliance cords. There are advisory services for the homemaker to assist her with lighting, cleaning, laundry and kitchen planning. For the homeowner there's advice on home heating, water heating, wiring, and helpful suggestions about shrub and tree planting near electric lines. Similar types of services are offered to churches, schools, business firms and other establishments.

These services are brought to your attention because many of you may not be taking fullest advantage of them. Perhaps you are new as an Edison customer or perhaps you have just overlooked some of them.

People, moving to other areas, often write back to their friends to say how they miss Edison's extra services. From their comments it seems to us that Detroit Edison is an exception in providing such services without any extra cost to you.

Our Edison service is a broad service. It includes all the items described above, and all the electric energy you need. We like to feel our services are the kind that serve you well, and at a fair and reasonable cost.

Sincerely,

Walker L. Cisler

Lions Offer Packers 'Miami Trip'

Missed Point Is Crucial in 13-13 Deadlock

Green Bay 1 Game Behind Chicago in Western Division

By Bruno L. Kearns
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The memories of the 1962 defeat at Green Bay were still lingering in the Detroit Lions locker room after the 13-13 tie yesterday in the annual Thanksgiving Day battle with the Green Bay Packers at Tiger Stadium.

In fact, the thought of that 9-7 loss must have been some incentive for the injury riddled Lions who rose for the occasion as they have done in the past in the Turkey battle.

Many of the players remember after the loss in Green Bay last year, they were taunted with the expression, "Have fun in Miami." This refers to the runner bowl which matches the second place team of each league in the first week of January.

"We hope this gives them (the Packers) a nice trip to Miami," said one player after the deadlock yesterday. "It's too bad we couldn't have beaten them and made sure they took the trip."

"We're tired of the Miami trip anyway," said coach George Wilson. "I hope they enjoy themselves."

The needed victory for the Packers rested on the shoulders of place kicker Jerry Kramer, the leading scorer and field goal kicker in the NFL. The tie puts Green Bay one full game behind the Bears.

Kramer missed a field goal from the 10 yard line and he had the crucial winning extra point blocked by guard John Gordy. The guard from Idaho was the most disgruntled player in the Packers locker room.

"This was the first time since we have been playing against each other that he hadn't stopped to talk to me after the game," said Lions' kicker Wayne Walker, who had two field goals to his credit in the game.

Walker and Kramer were teammates at Idaho and they both have been the kicking specialists for their respective teams.

The jammed crowd of 54,016 had the tonsils warmed up from the start of the game giving vocal approval to every move against the Packers.

It was a defensive battle for most of the game, but it had the thrills to keep the fans on edge. Even though the game meant nothing for the Lions, the tenseness could be noticed from the opening kickoff.

PUNTING DUAL
The first quarter was a punting contest with Earl Morrall and Jerry Norton each booting four times before the Packers finally made a first down at the end of the first quarter.

The Lions' 42 yard try for a field goal was the only scoring threat in the first period.

In the second quarter, Kramer's attempt for a 45 yarder was short, and the Lions started a drive to the Packers 25, highlighted by a 36 yard pass to Gail Coghill. Walker then made it 3-0 with a 27 yard field goal.

Wolverines Have TV Jitters

'M' Moans, Game on Video

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR—It should have been a perfect day for Michigan football coach Bump Elliott. His brother Pete won the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl to make it a perfect Thanksgiving Day.

But then came the bad news. The Columbia Broadcasting System announced it will televise Michigan's battle Saturday with Ohio State throughout the mid-west, Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast areas.

That was a notice to make Bump shudder a little bit. It seems that every time the Wolverines go before the TV cameras, the club seems to put its worst foot forward.

This season when the Wolverines tied Michigan State 7-7, it wasn't on TV. But when they got clobbered by the Spartans 24-0, it was.

Then there was the 55-30 rout at the hands of the Buckeyes two years ago when Woody Hayes ran up the score in an effort to get a higher ranking.

Of course, this season the Wolverines played one of their worst games in front of the TV cameras while getting drubbed by Purdue, 26-13.

The Michigan-Ohio State game was put on TV since the Army-Navy game was postponed a week because of the death of President Kennedy. The Michigan-Ohio State game was postponed a week for the same reason.

NEED VICTORY
A victory would be sweet for the Wolverines because it would put them over the .500 mark after going 2-7 last season.

The Wolverines are currently 3-3-2 over-all and 2-2-1 in the Big Ten. The ties were with Michigan State and Iowa.

One of the Wolverines' two Big Ten victories was over champion Illinois — the only loss of the season for the Rose Bowl-bound club.

With practically the whole team returning next season, the Wolverines could be thinking of Pasadena themselves next year.

Ohio State comes into the game with a 4-3-1 over-all record and a 3-1-1 conference mark. A major factor in the game will be what effect the two week layoff has on the two clubs.

The delay probably hurt Michigan more than it did OSU. Hayes said last week he did not have enough time to prepare his players for the traditional game. OSU has dropped its last two starts.

Michigan, meanwhile, had been closing out strong, winning twice and tying a third game.

Elliott sent his Wolverines through a short practice session Thursday, then loaded the boys on the bus for the National Football League game between Detroit and Green Bay in Detroit.

Both the Wolverines and Buckeyes are expected to be in top shape for the 60th renewal of their series. OSU has won the last three games—two by shutouts—but is trailing 20-35-4 in the over-all series.

The Buckeyes attack will be centered around quarterback Don Unverferth and halfback Matt Snell.

Paul Warfield, one of the league's kick return leaders, has recently been used as a flanker back and is almost certain to see action as a receiver against Michigan's leaky, but improving pass defense.

Michigan again will be counted on quarterback Bob Timberlake and fullback Mel Anthony to carry most of the offensive load. Timberlake ranks fourth in the Big Ten in both passing and total offense, while Anthony is among the leading rushers.

Junior tackle Ed Orzen of OSU was dismissed from the squad for disciplinary reasons earlier this week, and will not play Saturday.

Michigan again will be counted on quarterback Bob Timberlake and fullback Mel Anthony to carry most of the offensive load. Timberlake ranks fourth in the Big Ten in both passing and total offense, while Anthony is among the leading rushers.

GOING HIGH FOR YARDAGE — Dewey Lincoln of Michigan State climbs over a pile of players at the line of scrimmage to make a short gain against Illinois yesterday. The Illini won the game, 13-0; the Big Ten title; and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Favor Washington to Gain Rose Bowl

By The Associated Press

Washington tries to wrap up the Big Six berth in the Rose Bowl and Southern California battles UCLA under a fainter smile of roses as West Coast football closes its season Saturday.

Five traditional rivalries are scheduled. All were postponed from last week because of President Kennedy's death.

Washington State visits Washington, California is at Stanford, Oregon entertains Oregon State and Pacific is at San Jose State.

Washington is favored against a disappointing Cougar team and if successful will be crowned Big Six champion with a 4-1 record. The title, combined with a decisive mid-season victory over Southern Cal, should win the Huskies the bowl nod.

OUTSIDE CHANCE
If Washington loses, the winner of the USC-UCLA game in Los Angeles would be the conference champion with a 3-1 mark. If Southern Cal is the champion, it is likely to get the bid.

But UCLA, even if it's the champion, might lose in bowl balloting because of what would be a 3-7 overall record. Conference faculty representatives will vote in telegraphic balloting after the game.

Big Six officials will announce the bowl decision in San Francisco as soon as votes are counted. If the representatives deadlock, they must continue to ballot until the tie is resolved.

Washington, leading offensive team in the Big Six, depends on the running of fullback Junior Coffey and the passing and field generalship of quarterback Bill Douglas. The Huskies are 6-3.

Washington State, though only 3-5-1, thrashed Stanford 32-15 in its last outing when Dale Ford moved to quarterback.

UCLA has been hot and cold this year, losing four games by three touchdowns or more, and beating Washington 14-0 in its last game.

7 Giveaways Ruin Spartans in 13-0 Loss

Four Interceptions, Three Fumbles Allow All Scoring

By FLETCHER SPEARS
EAST LANSING — The Spartans of Michigan State University played Santa Claus here today, showering Illinois with two of the top grad gifts on the national collegiate scene — the Big 10 Conference title and a date in the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

In their most generous showing of the season, the Spartans gave the ball away seven times—three fumbles and four pass interceptions.

Illinois took advantage of the MSU generosity and turned the mistakes into a 13-0 victory. The triumph brought the Fighting Illini their first outright conference crown since 1951.

In a terse announcement immediately after the game, Big 10 Commissioner Bill Reed announced that Illinois had accepted the invitation to appear in the Rose Bowl classic.

TWICE BEFORE
It will mark the third appearance for the Illini in the post-season game. They knocked off UCLA, 45-14, in 1947 and came back with a 40-7 rout of Stanford in 1951.

It will be the third bowl game for coach Pete Elliott. Pete was a member of the University of Michigan team that humbled USC in 1948, 48-0, and he was the losing coach 3 years later when Iowa knocked off the California Bears 38-12.

Illinois finished the Big 10 race with a 5-1 record with the Spartans second at 4-1.

MISTAKES HURT
A saddened Duffy Daugherty sat in the MSU dressing room after the game and mullied over some of the mistakes that spelled doom for the Spartans who went into the game as a three point favorite.

"The difference today was that we gave the ball away too often," Daugherty said.

"You're lucky if you get the ball 11 or 12 times during a game, and it's tough to sustain an offense against a team like Illinois if you give the ball away seven times."

The game was only four minutes old when Jim Sherman Lewis, the Spartans' running star all season, fumbled on his own 27-yard line.

The Illini cashed in quickly with Jim Plankhorn booting a 22-yard field goal five plays later for a 3-0 lead.

Plankhorn added his second field goal of the day midway in the second quarter, a 34-yarder, to push the Illini into a 6-0 halftime lead.

A fumble by quarterback Dick Proebstle on the second play of the closing half led to the final Illini score.

Guard Ed Washington recovered the fumble at the MSU 14-yard line, and fullback Jim Grabowski sprinted through a hole on the left side on the first play for the TD. Plankhorn converted to end the scoring.

OPPORTUNITIES
The Spartans had their opportunities, but each time a hard-charging Illini defense turned them back.

MSU's first threat of the ball game came late in the second quarter on a drive that carried 46 yards to the Illinois 12-yard stripe.

But on a second-down play at the 12, the Illini's bruising linebacker, Dick Butkus, a 277-pound junior separated fullback (Continued on Page 23, Col. 4)

LAST MINUTE TOUCHDOWN — Fullback Nick Pietrosante of the Lions dives over from the one foot line with 16 seconds remaining in the game to give Detroit a 13-13 tie with favored Green Bay yesterday in Tiger Stadium. Bill Forester (71) of the Packers fails to get over Detroit blockers and stop Pietrosante.

Playoff Still Possible

Injury to Nitschke Hurts Packers

The Green Bay Packers suffered another shattering loss in their traditional Thanksgiving Day game with the Detroit Lions yesterday — but this time it wasn't the game.

The favored Packers, who were blitzed a year ago in the holiday game, were tied by the fired-up Lions, 13-13 in the final 16 seconds.

But in the process, the Packers lost their standout middle linebacker, Ray Nitschke, who broke a bone in his right forearm in the fourth period.

Nitschke's injury wasn't as serious as the game but x-rays taken when the team returned to Green Bay revealed the fracture, that sidelined him for the season.

Packer coach Vince Lombardi is convinced the Packers have a chance to make the National Football League title game for the fourth straight season.

But the deadlock with Detroit didn't help the Packers' chances of overtaking Chicago, especially since the club has now lost Nitschke.

The Lions, who believe the Packer title chances are almost dead, whimsically offered the Packers their best wishes for a happy holiday season in sunny Miami.

The deadlock did ruin the Packer practice hopes of winning the crown without a playoff — but they still have a chance for an unprecedented third straight NFL crown.

The Chicago Bears, who play Minnesota Sunday, are 9-1-1 in the western division while the Packers are second with a 9-2-1 record.

If the Bears lose one of their final three games and the Packers win their final two, the clubs will meet in Green Bay in a playoff for the Western Division title. The Bears have already beaten the Packers twice this season.

Oakland Raiders Safe in AFL Second Place

DENVER (AP)—The Oakland Raiders are safer than ever in second place in the Western Division after beating last-place Denver 26-10 Thursday in their American Football League game.

The contest marked the start of a revised season-ending schedule, featuring from last weekend's postponements because of President Kennedy's assassination.

Kansas City plays at New York City, Houston at San Diego and Buffalo at Boston in other AFL games this Sunday.

Oakland, trailing 9-3 at halftime, stung Denver with two quick third period touchdowns.

Chisox Lefty Named Best Rookie in AL

Gary Peters Beats Teammate Jim Ward With Fast Finish

BOSTON (AP) — Persistent Gary Peters, the left-hander who began to feel like a yo-yo between the minors and the Chicago White Sox, was named the American League Rookie of the Year for 1963 today, beating out teammate Pete Ward.

The 26-year-old Peters received 10 of the 20 votes cast by a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Third baseman Ward of the Minnesota Twins center fielder Jimmie Hall drew the other four.

Peters, the first White Sox rookie winner in half a dozen years, wouldn't have drawn a single vote had the balloting been conducted at mid-season. He had won only five games in his fifth attempt to stick with Chicago.

But the 6-foot-2, 200-pound Pennsylvania native went on a tear from July 4 to Labor Day, the never-say-die southpaw won 11 consecutive games, setting an American League record for freshmen hurlers.

Peters wound up with a won-loss record of 19-8, and had an earned run average of 3.33—tops in the league for starting pitchers and bettered only by Dick Radatz' 2.03 figure for the Boston Red Sox.

FOUR SHUTOUTS

He also pitched 13 complete games and had four shutouts. He struck out 189 batters in 243 innings while allowing only 68 walks.

Ward, Canadian-born, 24-year-old, was Chicago's biggest offensive weapon, leading the White Sox in practically every hitting department. He batted .259 in 157 games, hit 22 home runs, drove in 84 runs, had 177 hits and scored 80 runs. His 34 doubles ranked him second in the league.

Hall, whose slim build belies his hitting power, slugged 33 homers for a freshman record and had 80 runs batted in to go with a .260 average.

Cleveland outfielder Vic Davalillo, the littler speedster from Venezuela, was eliminated from rookie honors consideration after breaking an arm midway through the season.

BOSTON (AP)—A long look at Gary Peters' '63 pitching performance:

Illinois to Rose Bowl After Win Over MSU

Daugherty switched quarterback in the third stanza, turning the chores over to sophomore signal caller Dave McCormick of Chicago.

The move started to pay quick dividends as the youngster passed the Spartans from their own 25 to a first down at the Illinois 25.

PASSING ATTACK

McCormick filled the air with passes during a hectic fourth quarter and the alert Illini secondary picked off four of the aerials.

Former Pontiac Central star Charlie Brown gave the Spartans their last scoring opportunity when he recovered a fumble by quarterback Mike Talafiero at MSU's 35-yard line.

The attack died two plays later when Ron Fearn turned in his second of two pass interceptions. Fearn picked off the ball at MSU's 40 and raced down the sidelines before John Karpinski knocked him down at the 20.

The Illini moved down to the MSU five with time running out, but the Spartans turned in a stout goal line defense to halt the scoring bid.

"It would have been easy to let them score," Daugherty commented, referring to the Illini's attempts to push the ball in from the five-yard line.

"It was the one bright spot of the game—they didn't lapse even though they didn't have any chance to win, and that takes character and courage."

"This is a great bunch of young men. They never quit trying and that goal line stand, I think, is symbolic of the attitude and spirit they have shown all season."

ILLINI HAPPY

Across the hall in the Illini dressing room, boyish Pete Elliott was discussing the game strategy and accepting congratulations from the many Illini fans who followed the team to East Lansing.

"We didn't plan any different defense," Elliott said. "We had Don Hansen (linebacker) keyed on Deway Lincoln and Sherron Lewis to stop the sweeps, and we kept Bukus in the center of the line to watch Lopes."

The plan worked to perfection.

MSU's power sweeps were bottled up time and again by Hansen, Bukus and Jackie Archie Sutton, a 240-pounder.

The Illini held Lewis to 38 yards in 13 trips. His longest spurt was a 21-yard sprint late in the game when the issue was no longer in doubt.

About Bukus, Daugherty summed it up with "He's a great linebacker...a real fine football player."

Sawchuk Injured in Wings' Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — It wasn't much of a Thanksgiving night for the Detroit Red Wings last night as they lost their knack for winning at home and their goalie in one frustrating evening.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk strained his back and couldn't play after the first period last night as the Red Wings suffered a 7-3 defeat at the hands of the Montreal Canadiens.

Sawchuk left at the end of the first period when Detroit was trailing 2-1 and sub goalie Harrison Gray, making his National Hockey League debut, allowed five goals in the last two periods.

The Wings don't know how long Sawchuk will be out and immediately called up Roger Crozier from Pittsburgh to fill the nets for Saturday night's game at Toronto.

Hank Berman will move from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh and Bob Champoux will become the Cincinnati goaltender after being a sub there in the series of fast chances. Gray will remain as the backup Detroit goalie.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Wings who haven't won since Nov. 10 and are in a tie for fourth place with New York, just three points ahead of cellar-dwelling Boston.

Manager-coach Sid Abel was critical of the whole team.

"There isn't a player on this team who's going well right now," Abel said, "they can't be as bad as this."

The Wings, who haven't won a game on the road this year, returned to Olympia after almost a three-week absence because the ice show was being staged. Although the club had a 4-1 record at Olympia, they couldn't stop Montreal as seven different players broke into the scoring column including Yvon Cournoyer, who was making his NHL debut.

BARKLEY CONNECTS

Defenseman Doug Barkley scored twice for Detroit and Parker MacDonald got the other Detroit goal against Charlie Hodge.

Gordie Howe, who hasn't scored a goal since making his record-breaking 545th goal Nov. 18, picked up two assists during the game.

The Red Wings had also made bad news because Norm Ullman suffered an ankle injury Wednesday and Bill Gadsby is now sidelined with a muscle spasm in his back.

Sawchuk, who has been bothered by his back lately, strained it when he fell backward late in the first period while trying to stop a goal by Jean-Guy Talbot.

He finished out the period but then had to leave the game and was taken to a hospital for treatment. The Wings have no idea how long he'll be lost.

It's doubtful the club could have won last night even with Sawchuk since Montreal dominated most of the game.

"Harrison gave up a couple of easy goals but I can't fault his performance," Abel said, "the whole club just isn't skating."

The Canadiens fired 34 shots on goal with Gray stopping 29.

Pistons Fall 118-101 as Hawks Lead

By The Associated Press

St. Louis has taken over first place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, but the Cincinnati Royals are having difficulty making any headway in the Eastern sector.

The Hawks moved one-half game in front of the Los Angeles by downing Detroit 118-101 Thursday night. At the same time, the Royals made the most of the talents of Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas for a 125-110 triumph over Philadelphia in the only other game scheduled.

It was the Royals' fourth straight victory and sixth in eight games. Still, they are 3 1/2 lengths behind pace-setting Boston, which has lost only one of 14 games.

The Pistons stayed close to the Hawks until the final four minutes when the Hawks made a 10-0 run into a 10-point bugle on four consecutive foul shots—two each by Len Wilkens and Zelmo Beaty.

HIGH SCORER

Bob Pettit was high scorer for St. Louis with 23, one more than Bill Bridges. Ray Scott topped Detroit with 20.

Robertson took care of most of the scoring, with 38 points, and contributed 16 assists, while Lucas almost single-handedly dominated the backboards for the Royals. He pulled down 31 rebounds and also clipped in with 21 points.

Robertson, Lucas and Wayne Brady, who scored 22, led a Cincinnati batch that outscored Philadelphia 20-6 and put it away in the last seven minutes. Les Shaffer scored 42 points for the 76ers.

Tonight's schedule shows Philadelphia vs. Boston at Providence, Los Angeles at Detroit, New York at Cincinnati and San Francisco at Baltimore.

SPACE CONSUMING — Grand Rapids grandmaster Marion Ladewig has a habit of acquiring women's Bowler of the Year awards — she has nine of them — and now she is looking for a bigger trophy case. Last season she won the women's championships in the Bowling Proprietors Association of America All-Star and World's Invitational tournament, easily qualifying as the 1962-63 Bowler of the Year.

St. John Sets Pace in World Pin Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim St. John of St. Louis, who gave up a Navy career for bowling, and three-time world champion Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., held the lead today going into the second day of the finals of the $48,000 World's Invitational at Bowling Tournament in Lake-side McCormick Place.

St. John, who never has won a major match game championship, averaged a torrid 239 for his first 16 games to build up a huge lead. The 64-game finals end Sunday night.

Mrs. Ladewig, who won the women's world championship in 1957, 1960 and 1962, averaged 212 in winning 10 of her 12 games.

With one-fourth of the men's 16 matches finished, the 33-year-old St. John has a Petersen point total of 89.24. Bolding Len Schister of Denver is second with 81.30 and Glenn Allison of St. Louis third with 80.28.

LONG STRING
St. John won his first 12 games Thursday with a sensational string of scoring in which his lowest game was 220. But defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis broke the spell in the 13th game when his 238 edged St. John's 245.

Carter, a five-time world champion who lost only in 1958, went on to capture three of four games from St. John.

There were several individual highlights during the Thanksgiving Day competition. St. John rolled a 1,000 series (239-247-258-289) against Ray Bluth of St. Louis. Harry Smith of Baltimore missed a perfect game by one pin when he left the eight pin on his final ball, and finished with a 299.

RECORD 72
In the women's division, Mrs. Ladewig opened with a record 732 series (201-253-278) against Ann Setlock of Detroit and built a sizable lead.

Lead Now Six Points
After Six-Point Win

A six-point win boosted the 300 Bowl team lead in the West Side Classic Monday night to six points as second place Sport Center Trophies could only win two points in the match.

Ron Rothbarth took series honors with 247-212-666 and Bob Dyer led the game category with 256 in a 662 series. Joe Foster had 659.

Final Bowlerama Pre-Registration Today

British doctors now have learned about a phenomenon that local medical men undoubtedly were aware of some time ago. The sports world has a "tempin' finger."

This affliction takes it place along with the "baseball arm," boxing's "cauliflower ear" and the more recently famous "football knee."

The British Medical Journal recently reported a 16-year-old youth who complained of a swelling in a joint on his right middle finger.

Blood tests and X-rays showed it wasn't rheumatoid arthritis. Then it was discovered the teen-ager was a fanatic bowler, usually 10 times a week!

Monroe Moore of 300 Bowl has been selected by the Professional Bowlers Association as one of the top five men in the ball fitting and drilling field.

He'll travel to PBA headquarters at Akron, Ohio, this first week of December to assist in setting up a clinic for association members.

The clinic will deal with all phases of bowling pro shop operations. Moore has frequently been consulted by the pro's regarding grips and drilling techniques.

TIME FLYING
More than half the berths in the 1964 American Bowling Congress Masters Bowling Tournament are filled. The 14th annual meet is slated for April 18-22 at Oakland, Calif.

Spots are filled on a first-come, first-served basis. That 792 series bowled by a La Mirada, Calif. woman last month has been officially approved by the Women's International Bowling Congress as a new record.

Janet Harman, the 1963 Professional Woman Bowler's Association champion, had games of 216-276-300 while leading off for her team.

Time is also rapidly disappearing for entries to the 1964 WIBC Queens Tournament at Minneapolis, Minn. Less than one-fifth of the entry places remain. Deadline for entering is Jan. 1st.

The American Junior Bowling Congress will have coaches Clinics at Monroe and Southgate, Michigan early next month. Bowlers over 18 years of age are eligible to apply for certification as coaches under the AJBC program.

NFL Schedules Dates for Playoff Possibilities

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League has rolled out a playoff schedule with 11 different possibilities involving six teams in the event the conference crowns are not decided by the end of the regular season.

One of the possibilities involves the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, running 1-2 in the Western Conference. The other 10 involve the four teams still in contention for the Eastern Title — Cleveland, St. Louis and New York, all tied at 8-3, and Pittsburgh, 6-3-2.

If the Bears, 5-1-1, and Packers, 8-2, wind up in a tie, they will play at Green Bay, Dec. 22 for the right to represent the west in the championship game.

The Eastern playoff schedule provides for four versions of triple ties and six different combinations for two-way ties. Commissioner Pete Rozelle said a four-way tie was not considered.

If a triple tie results, the championship set for Dec. 30 would be pushed back a week to Sunday, Jan. 5. The game would be played in the home city of the Western champion.

Rozelle drew up the schedule after a long session on the phone with representatives of the six clubs. The club officials made a call on the flip of a coin by league office personnel.

Desire for Car Detours Good Student

By LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: My son is almost 17 and feels quite grown up. He is a junior in high school with a B average. His intentions have been to be a history teacher and a track coach. He has been told by two colleges that he could possibly get a scholarship. However, in the past months things have changed. Now, he wants to quit sports and get a job after school to buy a car.

S.J.R., Redding, Calif.

Answer: Keep your son working toward being a history teacher and a track coach. Grades go down almost automatically when high school students are allowed to own automobiles. If he maintains a B average he should be allowed to drive the family car occasionally.

Be firm. He will resent it now, but later he will thank you for it.

Dear Dr. Nason: We have a so-called "gifted" youngster. Yet with high school algebra, he looked at the complex fraction problem and said "I can't do it." When it can be solved mentally he is happy to do the problem.

After a quiz last May when all answers solved mentally and merely written down correctly netted him a "D", he just quit trying and finished the year with a "F". He took the course in summer school with a "B".

The newspaper article says to have the student write out the solution step-by-step. This I cannot do as I do not know the step-by-step solution.

Mrs. G.A.G., Valley Falls, N.Y.

Answer: Cooperation of the school counselor, the algebra teacher, yourself and your son can bring about a solution.

The algebra teacher must take time to show your son how to think out algebra problems in words. Next, he must show him how to write the step-by-step solutions while continuing to think out each step in words.

The counselor should discuss with your son the fact that his faulty learning procedure is one that often trips gifted youngsters, not stupid ones. He'll have easier going again once he's established procedures.

You can provide the moral support he needs in attempting to substitute an efficient learning habit for his faulty one.

Dear Dr. Nason: As a boy I did well in school. All I had to do was glance over my assignments and bring the picture to mind when called upon. Every word seemed to be there.

Now I have lost my photo memory. Can I get my photographic memory back — and how?

D.M., Sacramento, Calif.

Answer: A photographic memory did make it easier for you as a boy. It also made it possible for you to get satisfactory grades without re-thinking the ideas in your own words. Now you are paying the penalty for overworking this good memory.

Instead of trying to get it back, practice understanding the ideas you read. In time this will build a solid foundation of knowledge from which you can draw when taking tests.

(You can write Dr. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of widest interest will be answered in future columns.)

No Buyer Is Yet Found for City Rubber Plant

Several large firms are reportedly interested in buying the Baldwin Rubber Division, but so far no buyer has come forward to prevent the closing of the Pontiac plant.

Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said he expects to meet next week in New York with buyers' representatives and the present owners, Industrial Plant Corp.

Adams listed some of the prospective purchasers as Yale Rubber Corp., Cooper Tire and Rubber Corp., Goodyear Tire and Rubber, U.S. Tire and Rubber and Detroit Diecutting.

At the plant however, Leonard Yocum, president of United Rubber Workers Local 125, was pessimistic about chances to save what was one of Pontiac's major industries.

DOWN TO THIRD
He said the total work force in the plant at 368 E. South Blvd. was less than a third of its original 700.

Continuing layoffs since plant closing was announced early this month will find only about 150 hourly workers still with jobs next week, he stated.

Then they too will be laid off when previous production orders are completed by mid-December, he predicted.

Yocum said a number of Dash It All! Why Am I
So Stuck on This Car

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Edward De La Violette, attempting to install a radio aerial in his new automobile, reached under the dash board Thursday to push out a metal plug. His finger became caught.

Despite neighbors' efforts, De La Violette was stuck for more than an hour. Firemen and a metal expert were called to the rescue.

De La Violette, 40, was freed, but the car's right-front fender and some inner metal had to be cut away.

Japan Minister Pledges
Close Ties With U. S.

Ohira told the upper House Foreign Affairs Committee Japan will "try to heighten the peaceful coexistence mood of the world to ease international tension."

Seeds Cause Home Brew to Be Deadly

KIMBERLEY, South Africa (AP)—Eight people, including a father and mother and their two sons, died on a farm near here as a result of poisoning from castor oil tree seeds which fell into their beer.

Testimony at the inquest showed they were having a party on the farm.

One of the victims prepared a mullin for home-brewed beer under two castor oil trees.

The seed pods on the trees were ripe and many of them had burst open. Seeds fell on the ground as the beer was brewed.

DIED QUICKLY
The victims who drank the beer became ill and died before medical help could be fetched.

The Kimberley district surgeon said that in the process of manufacturing beer, castor oil seeds, which are removed.

ZIP Number
Rings the Bell at Their Home

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The Post Office Department's Zip Code system has caused nothing but headaches for Charles Robinson and his sister, Miss Esty Robinson.

The Robinsons' telephone number is Glendale 4-4702 and downtown Canton's ZIP number is 44702.

Since downtown businesses started putting the ZIP number on their letterheads, the Robinsons' phone has been ringing almost steadily and people have been asking them about doctor appointments, legal matters, dog licenses, garbage collections, taxes and clearance sales.

Tito Orders Prisoners Free

Celebrates 20 Years Under Communism

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Yugoslavia celebrated its 20th anniversary as a Communist state today by freeing 2,457 political prisoners and cutting the terms of 875 others.

But the nation's best-known political prisoner, former vice president and author Milovan Djilas, apparently was not affected by the amnesty, which was announced yesterday and went into effect today.

Informed sources said the mass amnesty laid about 1,600 "unredeemed" political prisoners behind bars.

There was no announcement that Djilas was among the group granted amnesty.

Djilas, once one of President Tito's closest aides, was first sent to prison in 1955 for publishing criticism of Tito's regime.

While serving this term he wrote and smuggled to an American publisher "The New Class," a critical survey of modern Communism.

His original 18-month sentence was extended to 1961, when he was conditionally released—the condition being that he stop writing criticism of Communism and publishing it abroad.

But he was re-arrested on April 7, 1962, after the publication of his latest book, "Conversations with Stalin," based on three talks with the Soviet premier during Djilas' tenure as a top Yugoslav official.

DAMAGE INTERESTS
The Yugoslav government later announced he was arrested because he published articles abroad "damaging to the interests of Yugoslavia."

Tito himself alleged the amnesty order yesterday for the release of 1,764 imprisoned Yugoslavs. The rest were freed by order of the regional republican governments.

Politics Farthest From Mind

Death Clouds Bobby's Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political future of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is the farthest thing from his mind just now, close associates of the brother of the assassinated President reported today.

"He just hasn't had time to sort things out in his mind and plan a future," said one aide who asked not to be quoted by name.

But as the capital rebounds from the shock of John F. Kennedy's death, one of the top political questions is: What will become of Robert Kennedy now?

Until the death of the President, Robert Kennedy probably was the second most influential man in the executive branch. He was his brother's most intimate adviser.

Today, like nine other men, he is a member of President Johnson's Cabinet.

It is generally felt that Kennedy, at least for the foreseeable future, will remain attorney general. He would like to see the civil rights legislation pushed by him and his late brother get through Congress.

He most likely will want to be around to see what happens to Teamsters President James R. Hoffa when Hoffa's jury-tampering trial begins next January.

With public sentiment for the Kennedys at a peak, it might be politically risky for Johnson to drop the attorney general from the Cabinet, even if he should wish to. There has been no indication that such is the case.

HIGH REGARD
Friends of the attorney general report that he has developed high regard for Johnson because of the hard work and loyalty the Texas gave Kennedy while vice president. Loyalty to his older brother was Robert Kennedy's trademark, and he demanded and responded warmly to that devotion in others.

Should Johnson seek re-election and win, it is a pretty safe bet that Kennedy will stay.

Georgia Governor Aid Vowed to LBJ in '64

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Gov. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia says he'll work in behalf of President Johnson if the President runs for election next year.

"Since he is a Southerner, I feel his appeal will be strong in the South," said Sanders. Johnson, a Texan, and Sanders are personal friends.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL
Paul Anka, giving concerts in Poland, found capitalism in that Communist country. He cabled from Warsaw: "I was surprised to discover that ticket scalpers flourish here!"

Rocky Graziano's much happier now. A Long Island restaurant, moved his photo from its "sports gallery" to its "actors' gallery." ... A film star, who has read of the many jewel robberies in hotels here, now wears her diamonds everywhere. She explains: "Anybody who steals my jewelry has to take me with it."

A noted actor and his wife have hit Boozie Boulevard; both go into dish-throwing tantrums when they're loaded. ... The Manhattan cake scene which already has night spots named The Living Room, The Tenement and the Cellar, just acquired The Apartment.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: When a man says he learned about women the hard way, he probably means he married one.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The most disappointed people in the world are those who get what's coming to them."

EARL'S PEARLS: A local cafe serves a potent drink called The Cardtable: two of these and your legs fold up under you. The young men of today aren't really greedy, as some people insist. In fact, most of them would be satisfied with a single wedding gift—a very rich father-in-law. ... That's earl, brother.

Council Tables Turned

Efficiency Starts at Top

CAMBERLEY, England (AP)—The Camberley City Council asked efficiency experts to recommend how municipal employees could be made more efficient.

Instead of blasting the employees, the experts criticized the council members and told them they talked too much.

Said Councillor Peter Sutherland: "Unless their recommendations are dropped, I will insist that the consultants not be paid. Their recommendations interfere with the democratic principles of local government."

The London firm of business efficiency consultants was hired for 3,000 pounds

($8,400). It sat in on council and committee meetings and watched stenographers, clerks and laborers at work.

FIRST OF ALL ... The experts suggested that the council spend less time wrangling and talk less politics, that it reduce its committees from 14 to 6, that it meet every six weeks instead of every month, that it cut down the time spent in meetings, and that it abandon plans for a new $14-million town hall and enlarge the present building.

The experts said for the most part the council office workers are hard-working and diligent.

Crowds Flock to Biggest, Best Hudson Parade

DETROIT (AP)—Sunny skies and balmy weather brought thousands of people to the 37th annual J. L. Hudson Co.'s Thanksgiving Day parade in downtown Detroit.

Police Inspector Peter R. Socrant estimated the crowd at 250,000 to 300,000.

"It's the largest crowd I've ever seen at a Thanksgiving Day parade here," he said.

"It's the best parade we've ever had," said Wally Keip, master of ceremonies for 12 Thanksgiving Day parades.

"The crowd and weather were tops."

Terrorists Losing Battle to Block Latin Election

By ROBERT BERRIOL

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Despite spectacular last-minute exploits, pro-Communist terrorists in Venezuela appear to have lost their fight to force the army to call off Sunday's presidential elections.

As the campaign swirls to its climax, there are increasing signs that the extremist Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN) have lost both their physical punch and their appeal to urban masses.

Chances are considered good that the elections will go off with a minimum of trouble.

Despite daily bombing and shooting, the citizenry is noticeably less preoccupied with the FALN.

Apparently indifferent to the terrorists, some 15,000 people attended a political rally this week in the Caracas square where guerrilla snipers a few days earlier staged a spectacular battle and 24 persons were killed.

Noisy political caravans roam the capital streets each night without incident.

CANNOT RUN

President Romulo Betancourt is barred by the constitution from succeeding himself, but Raul Leoni, the candidate of Betancourt's Democratic Action party, is expected to defeat six opponents.

In an effort to attract world headlines and restore interest in its dying cause, the FALN returned to propaganda blows this week when they kidnapped a U.S. Army officer Wednesday and hijacked a Venezuelan airliner with 47 passengers yesterday, forcing the pilot to fly to Trinidad.

Forget Past, Look Ahead, Says Johnson

Appeal to U.S. Made in Address to Nation; JFK Honors Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, while ordering new honors to the memory of John F. Kennedy, has vowed that his own administration will seek "a new American greatness."

In effect, the new President's brief Thanksgiving Day address to the nation was an appeal to put "this midnight of tragedy" into the past and to look ahead to the work that must be done.

"A great leader is dead; a great nation must move on," he declared. "Yesterday is not ours to recover, but tomorrow is ours to win or to lose. I am resolved that we shall win the tomorrows before us."

Johnson plunged into the work with a heavy schedule today today that included meetings with chief military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers.

Speaking of his aims, Johnson said in his radio and television address last night: "I pledge to you the best within me to work for a new American greatness—a new day when peace is more secure, when justice is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

SITE RENAMED
The new chief executive announced that to honor Kennedy's memory and "the future of the work he started," the rocket-launching complex at Cape Canaveral, Fla., "shall be known hereafter as Cape Kennedy."

He also said that the neighborhood pad now being built for the moon exploration program—pads which Kennedy inspected from a helicopter 13 days ago—shall hereafter be known as the John F. Kennedy Space Center.

Johnson marked the passing of his predecessor also by calling for an end to hatred and fanaticism.

Referring to the five presidents he has known, including Kennedy, Johnson said: "In each administration the greatest burden that the president had to bear had been the burden of his own countrymen's unthinking and unreasoning hate and division."

The impact of the collision pushed Arnett's car into a north-bound auto on Opdyke driven by Warren Dismann, 445 Gordon, deputies said.

FACIAL CUTS
Rapon suffered facial cuts and a shoulder injury and is in satisfactory condition at the hospital. Arnett suffered only minor injuries and Dismann was uninjured.

Rapon refused to make a statement at the scene of the accident, according to sheriff's deputies.

Windy, Colder Predicted for Next Few Days.

Wintry winds northwesterly at 15 to 30 miles per hour pushed temperatures to a low of 34 early this morning.

The weatherman said tonight will be cloudy, windy and colder with a low of 32. Tomorrow will be cloudy and cold with snow flurries likely, with the high near 42.

Temperatures for the next five days will average near the normal high of 40 and, normal low of 32 with Wednesday a little colder.

The mercury recording at 1 p.m. was 38.

Trouble in Congress

LBJ Faces Dem Split

Congress Action on Rights Big Problem for President

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON—The political necessity of getting congressional action on civil rights is President Johnson's biggest domestic problem—just as it was John F. Kennedy's.

The current mood of moderation among the lawmakers may produce some relatively speedy action on aid to education, vocational training and other bills when they return from their holiday next week.

But the fierce controversy over the late president's program for an expansion of racial equality will test all of Johnson's son's vaunted ability to tack with the legislative wind to reach his objective. Johnson has called for action now on Kennedy's civil rights legislation. The possibilities of getting it likely will be discussed today at a meeting between Johnson and Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

BUILDING TO CRISIS

Kennedy's relations with Congress were building to a crisis—a situation Johnson has inherited. Yet the new President can not afford in an election year not to get what Negro voters regard as meaningful civil rights legislation.

Kennedy's strength with the Negroes was unquestioned, Johnson's is not readily assessable.

If the President has to compromise the rights bill to get Congress' approval for it, he could lose ground sharply with Negroes, particularly if the Republicans nominate a strong civil rights advocate.

There now is no apparent way to move past the barrier of a Southern Democratic filibuster in the Senate a bill containing the controversial section that would enforce desegregation on selected businesses dealing with the public.

NO COMPROMISE

If Robert F. Kennedy remains as attorney general and Johnson follows his advice in this field, the President would refuse to compromise this provision any further.

The attorney general thinks that any civil rights legislation without a strong public accommodation provision would be unacceptable to Negroes.

House leaders began oiling two old parliamentary moves to prevent the Southern-led Rules Committee from blocking action on the civil rights bill.

One would bypass the committee; the other would temporarily strip Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of his control over the 15-member group. Smith is strongly opposed to the rights measure.

Registration by Postcard

Clerk Gives Details for Pontiac Residents

Some 10,000 Pontiac residents are going to get some very important mail on yellow postcards tomorrow and Monday.

The cards, mailed today, will accomplish two purposes:

• They will notify persons that their status as registered voters is about to expire.

• They will provide a simple method of avoiding expiration without making a trip to City Hall.

"Don't throw the cards away," urged City Clerk Olga Barkeley. "These cards have been busy checking registrations and preparing the notices for two months."

"Just detach half of the notice, sign it, fill in your present address, put a stamp on it and drop it in the mail box," she said.

Normally, she finds about 1,000 expired registrations in her annual check.

MORE THIS YEAR

There are 10 times that many this year because the state's new constitution specifies voters must vote or renew their voter registration every two years.

The old law required renewal only every four years. The new law goes into effect Jan. 1.

Clubs in Area Will Honor E. M. Estes

E. M. Pete Estes, Pontiac Motor Division general manager, will be featured speaker at an interservice club luncheon in his honor Dec. 6.

Some 700 members of club and professional organizations from within the city, Waterford Township, Auburn Heights, and Bloomfield Township are expected to attend the noon lunch at Elks Temple.

Estes, who is a General Motors vice president and was chairman of the recent successful Pontiac Area United Fund campaign, is the third person to be so honored in recent years.

Interservice luncheons were given for former secretary of defense C. E. Wilson in 1958, and Michigan State University President John Hannah in 1957.

Estes speech will be a reply to the question "What is Pontiac's Immediate Future?"

Luncheon committee members are Harold A. Fitzgerald, The Pontiac Press publisher; Carlton C. Patterson Jr., of Thatcher Patterson and Wernet insurance agency and Frederick J. Poole, of Poole Hardware Co.

He said it has not been viable for a long time "but hasn't been observed as such" because the late speaker of the House, Sam Rayburn, held it together and made it work by his personal prestige and influence.

"We staggered along with the appearance of functioning largely because of Rayburn," Bolling said. "It is not the fault of the Republicans. They are a conservative party, by and large. But they are responsible. We—the Democrats—on the other hand, are totally irresponsible."

MINIMUM OF LOYALTY

Bolling's solution? "The minimum is, we start with a demand for at least a minimum of party loyalty. They must at least support the national ticket."

"The maximum would have the effect of altering the power structure. This is the only kind of reform that would have any meaning."

"The faults of Congress are not intrinsic, but lie with the Democratic party. My approach is to maximize the number who behave like Democrats and minimize those who don't."

Press to Feature 'Gifts of the Magi'

"Gifts of the Magi"—O. Henry's touching and human story of a young couple's love and Christmas giving despite their impoverished condition—begins in Monday's Pontiac Press.

A Christmas favorite for more than 50 years, "Gifts of the Magi" has been specially prepared in illustrated form and will appear in 20 installments.

Urban Renewal: a Progress Report

(This is the first in a series of articles on urban renewal.)

By DICK SAUNDERS
After three years of urban renewal treatment for its ills, how is the patient coming?

What is Pontiac's condition? With 12 to 18 months remaining before the original completion dates, what is the status of the projects which are facelifting from downtown the wrinkles of the years?

Much progress has been made since urban renewal became a common phrase here.

But the progress was a little more expensive than anticipated.

MORE PROBLEMS

More problems must be solved before the flower of urban renewal can blossom.

There are three major hurdles. None is insurmountable, according to urban renewal officials.

Two problems evolve from the R20 project is financially broke. Costs to date have been excessive; income in the future is threatened by a sharp drop in land values.

It must be revised and re-budgeted with federal approval and cash.

These problems, and their solutions, will be detailed in following stories.

First, let's look at what has been accomplished to date in Pontiac's urban renewal program.

OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE

Pontiac's urban renewal rehabilitation program is an outstanding example nationally of citizen participation in a redevelopment program.

Property owners in the R20 project area have spent $327,000 to rehabilitate their homes.

Some 231 homes were found in need of rehabilitation and work has been started on all

New Staff of Advisers Due Around President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new team of presidential advisers is sure to shape up in the White House soon, bearing the stamp of Lyndon B. Johnson and Texas.

President Johnson likely will want to keep some of the men who surrounded John F. Kennedy in his two years and 10 months in the White House.

But he won't want to keep all, nor will all want to stay. The job of presidential aide or adviser usually demands fierce loyalty and at times personal closeness. Presidents want long-time associates, and families around them. Johnson is no exception.

One likely prospect is Bill Moyers, 29, deputy director of the Peace Corps. The slender Texan has been at Johnson's side since the new President succeeded Kennedy.

READY TO MOVE
Kenneth O'Donnell, Kennedy's appointments secretary, already has cleared his White House desk, and there is speculation the job may go to Horace Busby, a former Texas newspaperman.

who has often helped Johnson on speech writing.

White House sources say that Johnson will retain McGeorge Bundy, Kennedy's special assistant for national security affairs, but not foreign affairs, may need Bundy's knowledge on international military and diplomatic matters.

The White House denies reports that Johnson has accepted the resignation of liberal historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., a Kennedy assistant and speech writer. Johnson invited him to sit in the presidential gallery when the new President addressed a joint session of Congress Wednesday.

Most observers expect White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger to leave. A reliable source in Helsinki says he will be succeeded by Carl T. Rowan, now ambassador to Finland.

Rowan, 36, a Negro, joined the Kennedy administration as a deputy assistant secretary of state in 1961. He is a former reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune.

Nab Patient Who Wanted Death of JFK

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP) — State police took into custody an escaped mental patient described by police as a man who wanted to kill President Kennedy and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller because he, the patient, had been unable to go to Russia.

State police said Guy Patterson, 33, was found in the area of Redwood, about 35 miles southwest of Ogdensburg.

Patterson's history bore a striking resemblance to that of Lee Harvey Oswald of Fort Worth, Tex., who was slain Nov. 24 while under arrest on the charge of assassinating President Kennedy.

Patterson escaped yesterday. Police in Pittsburgh, who arrested Patterson last June, said they had been summoned to a rooming house and found Patterson typing letters and shouting threats, not only against the President and the governor, but against other officials and his parents.

'MAD AT EVERYBODY'
Patterson, who gave his home as Pineville, Ky., was "mad at everybody because they wouldn't let him go to Russia," police said. Police reported finding several books on communism in his room.

Lee Oswald called himself a Marxist and had been to Russia.

While police hunted Patterson, five other mental patients escaped in a group early today from Rockland State Hospital at Orangeburg, in southeastern New York, and forced an attendant at gunpoint to drive them to New York City.

All six were considered dangerous, officials said.

Mrs. Kennedy in Seclusion

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was secluded today with her two children at the Kennedy compound, with heavy rain adding to the gloom of her reunion with her parents-in-law.

The mother of the late President Kennedy went to an early Mass today — and remained for two of them. Her son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, joined his mother for the second Mass at 8 a.m.

Sen. Kennedy said that his parents and the widow were bearing up well.

He said it had been planned to take the children ice-skating today on the outdoor rink the family gave the town of Barnstable as a memorial to the late Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., who was killed in World War II. But the rain spoiled the ice.

WIDOW JOINS
The President's widow joined the Kennedy family for Thanksgiving dinner last yesterday.

Mrs. Kennedy flew to Cape Cod Thursday with Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, to have dinner with former Ambassador and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, her husband's parents, and others of the large family.

It was her first meeting with the 75-year-old head of the family since the assassination of the President a week ago today in Dallas, Tex.

Before leaving Washington, Mrs. Kennedy again visited her husband's grave. It was her fifth visit since the burial Monday.

Every effort was made to shield Mrs. Kennedy from the curious when she arrived.

REMOTE HANGAR
An Air Force plane which brought her to Otis Air Force Base-taxed down the runway to a remote hangar.

She and her children, along with her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, transferred to a family car out of sight of newsmen.

Under police escort, Mrs. Kennedy was driven the 20 miles to the Kennedy compound overlooking Nantuxet Sound. During the ride, John Jr. rode on his mother's lap while Caroline sat between two Secret Service agents.

Mrs. Kennedy went directly to her father-in-law's home, the largest of three which make up the fenced compound. Later, lights came on in her summer home.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who is expected to arrive today, will be the first to see Mrs. Kennedy.

Art Group Sets Christmas Show, Sale

BIRMINGHAM — "The" gift as well as significant trinkets will be on display at the Birmingham Art Association starting Sunday.

There Christmas shoppers with artistic inclinations can join those who are just looking at the 4th Annual Members Show and Christmas Sale.

Approximately 70 paintings and 30 pieces of sculpture were selected by juror John A. Jacobson from works submitted by BAA members.

They will be displayed in the gallery through Dec. 23.

YULE MARKET

A Christmas art market sale will be held on the lower level under the cochairmanship of Mrs. Meyer Cantor and Mrs. Paul Davidson.

All types of gift items will be available — jewelry, cards, glass, paintings and sculpture. The exhibition will be open daily except Mondays from 2-5 p.m.

The association has selected two films to be shown tonight. The first contains vignettes of contemporary Italian artists at work in Rome.

FEATURED FILM

Also to be shown is "School of Paris — Five Artists at Work Today."

The program, which the public can attend for a nominal charge, will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the association, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Gov. George Romney and his family spent Thanksgiving Day at their Bloomfield Hills home yesterday.

Of the three Romney children, only Scott, a 22-year-old student at Stanford University in California, was unable to attend. Among those present were the six Romney grandchildren.

Birmingham children this year again will have a direct telephone connection with Santa Claus at the North Pole.

Through the cooperation of the Recreation Department and the Senior Men's Club, children may call between 3:30-5:30 p.m. Dec. 16-20. The number is MT 6-7222.

Report on Renewal

of them. About 108 of these homes have been completely rehabilitated to date.

There is no rehabilitation program in Pontiac's second urban renewal project (R44) because it is lacking in residential structures.

In both projects, there have been 192 families, 81 individuals and 80 businesses relocated. About 17 commercial establishments chose to discontinue business operations rather than move.

YET TO MOVE
There are some nine businesses remaining to be relocated.

Relocation payments in the R20 project total $27,260 to date, according to Stanley Kettler, relocation officer.

In the R44 project, $9,419 of a $72,780 relocation budget has been spent, with some major relocation payments yet to be made.

Thousands of square feet of sidewalk and driveways have been removed and replaced with new curb, gutter, pavement, storm and sanitary sewers and water lines.

WORK FAST
Working operations normally reach a fast pace at the time of the year because urban renewal must pay property taxes to the city on all structures it owns that are standing as of Jan. 1.

The moment a parcel is cleared, it becomes tax exempt. Urban renewal has a tax bill of $91,400 so far.

Demolition, however, is nearing completion, according to James L. Bates, urban renewal director.

Wreckers have knocked down 296 structures. There are 51 still standing, most of which are in the process of being demolished.

LITTLE PROGRESS

While much progress has been made in the urban renewal project itself, the same can't be said for separate but closely associated projects, like the Clinton River Drain.

This brings us to the two court cases. These problems and their solutions will be the subject of the next installment in this series.

Italy President Holds Service for Kennedy

ROME (AP) — President Antonio Segni and the country's highest officials today attended a Requiem Mass for President Kennedy at the Quirinal Presidential Palace.

Those attending included Premier Giovanni Leone, his cabinet ministers, U.S. Ambassador Frederick Reinhardt, prominent members of the American colony here and the diplomatic corps to Italy.

come ineligible to vote as of that date, if they don't renew by then.

By returning the notices as directed, residents will automatically renew their voting status for some two years.

SOME AUTOMATIC
Persons who have voted in a municipal, school, state or federal election in the last two years, automatically renew their registration by the act of voting, according to Mrs. Barkley.

"It is important that persons receiving the notices fill in their present address, especially if they have just moved to another address and the notice has been forwarded to them," she said.

"This is because you must be registered to vote in the precinct in which you reside."

Anyone getting a notice who plans to move soon and knows what their new address will be, is advised to use their future address.

SAVE TROUBLE

It will save them the trouble of filing a change-of-address notice with the clerk when they move. This doesn't apply to persons who move outside the city.

The first election date of the new year in Pontiac will be Jan. 13.

A special election is scheduled that day on a proposed amendment to the City Charter which would, if approved, revise the procedure for electing city commissioners in the April general election.

Comedy Basketball Team at Kettering

Debaters of Pontiac Central Win Their 2nd Tournament

By DIANE OLSEN

The Pontiac Central High School debaters won their second tournament of the season recently at Flint Northern. Coach Walker Smith, of the speech department has reason to be proud of his teams, who have won all but one of their 12 debates.

Members of the first affirmative were Dick Taylor and Robert Sullivan; members of the first negative were Carol Godoshian and Jim Embree.

Those debating on the second affirmative were Val Dunc and Bill Chafets; and on the second negative were Lenore Schoonover and Helmut Schick.

Carolyn Morris and Cheryl Height debated for the third negative and David Jarvis and Roberta Wine debated for the third affirmative.

CLASS PRACTICE

The debaters have been practicing before civics, history and English classes. The classes would then determine the winner and offer criticisms on case and presentation.

Last week the biology club, sponsored by Judy Ungvary of the science department, toured Pontiac General Hospital. The group of approximately 20 students was shown through the various laboratories and were shown various specimens.

Central girl's swimming club, the Dolphins, recently decided upon their theme. The performances to be given April 8-11 will be centered around the planets.

These girls will be working steadily from now until the show on their costumes, routines, narration, lightings and props.

SAFETY AWARD

Senior DICK Taylor has won this year's safety award given by the Pontiac Board of Realtors. For his speech, "In Defense of the Teen Drivers," Dick earned a $50 savings bond and a trophy.

The function, held last Saturday, included movies made by the state police and various speeches.

A campaign to update guidance counselors on job opportunities and requirements has been undertaken by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

HARLEM AMBASSADORS—The Harlem Ambassadors, a comedy basketball team, will make their comical stand against faculty members of Pierce Junior High and WKHS tonight. On top of the heap is American history instructor Bob Smith. Hoisting Smith on his shoulders is math instructor Gaylord Thompson.

Bloomfield Hills 'B' Club to Initiate New Members

By TERI SEIBERT

"B" club, a student athletics organization of Bloomfield Hills High School, will initiate new members Tuesday.

Boys who received letters for participation in last year's spring sports or this year's fall sports will take part in the initiations.

As part of the activities, prospective members will be required to act as cheerleaders at the Tuesday basketball game during lunch hour.

A future teachers' club was organized at BHHS recently. This club had not been a part of the school's extra-curricular activities for the past three years.

INTERESTED STUDENTS

The club serves to familiarize students who are interested in a teaching career with the many aspects of the profession.

Members of the club attended a state-wide meeting of future teachers at Mercy College Saturday. The program included films, discussions and lectures concerning the teaching profession.

Officers of the club are Julie Rupe, president, and Carol Gouzie, secretary. Deanna Maher, American problems teacher, sponsors the group.

PLANS HANDED

Seniorama, a company which organized many high school senior trips, will handle the trip plans. Approximately 125 students plan to travel to both cities.

Trip club officers who are helping to coordinate plans include Jill Wahl, president; James Frohberg, vice president; Jane Huggins, secretary; and Gordon Elliot, treasurer.

John Shirraef, teacher and newspaperman from Charlotte, Mich., will address BHHS students Wednesday. Shirraef has traveled to Europe and behind the Iron Curtain on six different occasions.

In his lecture, Shirraef will discuss the Russian people, their culture and their customs.

Physical science classes will observe the paper-making process when the group visits the Scott Paper Company in Ecorse, Mich. Wednesday. Physical science instructor Carol Tritten will accompany the class.

Harlem Ambassadors to Play

By JOY MEREYNOLDS

Laughs and cheers will resound in the Waterford Kettering High School gymnasium tonight as the touring Harlem Ambassadors make their comical stand in a basketball game against faculty members of Pierce Junior High School and WKHS.

The Ambassadors, one of the best known teams in comedy basketball, maintain two objectives, to win the game, and to display the best performance possible.

Featured Ambassador players include Sweetwater Clifton, Leon Hillard, Ducky Moore and Red Turner. Clifton, Moore and Hillard are veterans of the Harlem Globetrotters, the most famous of the comedy teams.

Last season the Ambassadors polished off a 115-0 record against amateurs, semipro and professional teams. Highlighting the event will be their "magic circle" pregame warm-up.

Sponsored by the Waterford Kettering pep club, the game will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $1 for students and $1.50 for adults. Tickets will be available at the door.

Cagers at Avondale High Meet Richmond Tuesday

By KATHY WILKES

The 1963-64 Avondale High School basketball season will get under way Dec. 3 when the Yellow Jackets travel to Richmond for their first nonleague game of the season.

Returning lettermen to the squad this year will be seniors Dennis Acker, Roger Ratliff, and Juniors Lynn Thorpe, Tom Reck, Dick Reddaway, Jon Anderson and Rick Bye. Coaches will be Richard Bye, varsity squad; and Raymond Carlson, junior varsity squad.

The Youth For Christ club is busy and is under the direction of Charles Miles. The group is being helped by the Oakland County Youth For Christ director, Dick Wynn.

Headed the club as president is Phyllis Ghisla. Others are Peggy Guy, vice president of management; Shirley Evislizer, vice president of program; and Judy Newby, in charge of prayer and the follow-up.

COST OF PLAY

The cost for "January Thaw" a three-act comedy by William Roos, was announced last week.

Starring roles are handled by Norene Blake and Eric Vogel. Other parts were awarded to Micheal Meyers, Jim Jones, Jane Heichel, Judy Judy Herman, Jill Tasker, Andrea Peterson, Lawrence Eves, Ed Grander and Terry Thompson.

The play is a comedy about a family who buys an old house, thinking the owners are dead, only to have all sorts of commotion begin when they turn up alive.

The play is scheduled to be given later in January and will be under direction of Margaret Rose.

Library club, under direction of Mrs. Judith Kwierant, is planning a Christmas party for Dec. 18. The group recently sponsored a successful hay ride.

Detroit plans to incorporate a "family center" in a new high school in an urban renewal area. The new school, on an 11-acre site, will replace Eastern High School.

Under sponsorship of Mrs. Agnes Tripp and Mrs. Ruth Beebe, the future homemakers group is engaged in preparing Christmas decorations for the school.

For the first time in MHS history, basketball fans will be provided with a souvenir program featuring the Redskins' schedule, the team roster with pictures and pertinent information about the team and spirited school yell.

Milford Band Plans Concert

Sophs Give Surprise Assembly

By MICHAEL OMANS

Students at St. Michael High School witnessed a surprise assembly given by the sophomores for the seniors last Friday.

The program was a satirical skit about the senior's participation in St. Michael's homecoming game and festivities.

Following the skit Mother Mary Maura was given a Mass and a spiritual bouquet in honor of her feast day, which was Friday, by two senior class and school representatives. They were Gregory Magerman and George Lavoie.

It was after that skit that the student body heard the news of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Basketball Season Begins

By CAROL ARMBRUSTER

Opening of the basketball season Tuesday night was accented further by the appearance of the Emmanuel Christian High School varsity cheerleaders in their new cheering skirts.

The white skirts are pleated and have maroon insets.

In order to raise money to purchase the skirts, the cheerleaders sold pennants and shakers.

Captain of the varsity cheerleaders is Carolyn Lingle. Her squad consists of Pat Gidcomb, Donna Gridley, Lois Green, Cheryl Jackson, Donna Newbanks and Kathy White.

NEW CHEERS

They are working on new cheers and have ordered large pompons.

In addition, they have also been decorating the halls with attractive posters to boost school spirit.

Cheerleaders on the junior varsity squad include Linda Bailey, captain and Marianne Jackson, Debbie Mayer, Kathy Vaughn and Linda Wright.

They have also purchased new cheerleading skirts which are maroon.

New bleachers have been ordered and will soon be installed in the gymnasium.

Wins Contest for Waterford

By MARY BARNINGHAM

Speaking "In Defense of the Teen-age Driver," Waterford Township High School senior Kathy Payne won third prize, a $10 gift certificate in the recent speech contest at Pontiac Northern High School.

Yearbook sales during Waterford week totaled 1965 books. Students from first and second year journalism classes sold books in hostessrooms throughout the week.

At the end of the week 82.4 per cent of the senior class had ordered Waterlogs, followed by 79.1 per cent of the junior class and 76.6 per cent of the sophomore class.

Striving to earn money for their class trip, the seniors at WTHS will be taking orders for candy until Dec. 9.

Candy orders will arrive on Dec. 16 and be distributed.

Under the direction of Dr. Zander, the University of Michigan will be conducting a series of experimental tests of muscular coordination. One hundred and sixty junior boys will take part in the two-week long experiment.

Juniors may now register in the counseling area to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test in March.

WALLED LAKE

By SUE GERVAIS

Walled Lake High School juniors are busy preparing for their prom "Wonderland by Night," which will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Dec. 7.

The gym will be decorated in white to picture a winter scene.

Under Martha Salo, general chairman, Sue Shimmann will act as chairman of decorations; Bettie York, chairman of tickets; Bob Smart, entertainment chairman; and Dana Kott, refreshments chairman.

The ski club will hold a fashion show Wednesday at 7 p.m. Ski equipment and attire will be supplied by the Viking Ski Shop of Livonia.

Students Scott Galbraith, Mark Fish, Anne Barrie, and Pamela Connelly will model.

Following the style show, Gene Hill, ski instructor at Mt. Brighton, will present ski movies and talk on equipment and safety.

scheduled for some other date according to Senior Class President Kirk Roose.

Last Friday was the fall awards assembly at RHS, at which time all the participants in the autumn cross country and football programs received their letters.

A Week of Preparation

By SUSAN KILLEN

During this week, one which contains the first major holiday of the season, the Pontiac Northern High School students have been working on preparations.

Thanksgiving baskets were organized and delivered on Wednesday. Also, a Thanksgiving program was presented over the school's public address system.

The PNH band and choir took major parts in this presentation. Northern senior Duane Shaw narrated part of the program.

Philip Wargelin, Northern's principal, presented a short talk, as did one of the area clergy.

REPORT CARDS

During the coming week report cards will be issued. This marks the end of the first 13 weeks of school, leaving only seven more weeks in the semester.

The school office is asking that seniors who are college bound bring in their applications to colleges as soon as possible.

This is not only to insure a place available at the college for the student, but to alleviate any congestion among forms in the office before the Christmas rush season.

SPACE-CONSUMING — Grand Rapids grandmother Marion Ladewig has a habit of acquiring women's Bowler of the Year awards — she has nine of them — and now she is looking for a bigger trophy case. Last season she won the women's championships in the Bowling Proprietors Association of America All-Star and World's Invitational tournament, easily qualifying as the 1962-63 Bowler of the Year.

St. John Sets Pace in World Pin Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim St. John of St. Louis, who gave up a Navy career for bowling, and three-time world champion Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., held the lead today going into the second day of the finals of the $40,000 World's Invitational Bowling Tournament in Lake-side McCormick Place.

St. John, who never has won a major match game championship, averaged a torrid 239 for his first 16 games to build up a huge lead. The 64-game final ended Sunday night.

Mrs. Ladewig, who won the women's world championship in 1957, 1960 and 1962, averaged at most 212 in winning 10 of her 12 games.

With one-fourth of the men's 16 matches finished, the 33-year-old St. John has a Petersen point total of 89.24. Bolding Leis, Schuster of Denver is second with 81.30 and Glenn Allison of St. Louis third with 80.26.

LONG STRING

St. John won his first 12 games Thursday with a sensational string of scoring in which his lowest game was 220. But defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis broke the spell in the 13th game when his 239 edged St. John's 245.

Carter, a five-time world champion who lost only in 1958, went on to capture three of four games from St. John.

There were several individual highlights during the Thanksgiving Day competition. St. John rolled a 1,002 series (239-247-258-258) against Ray Bluth of St. Louis. Harry Smith of Baltimore missed a perfect game when he left the eight pin on his final ball, and finished with a 299.

RECORD 732

In the women's division, Mrs. Ladewig opened with a record 732 series (201-253-278) against Ann Setlock of Detroit and built a sizable lead.

Mrs. Ladewig built up a Petersen point total of 60.43 through 12 games as the 16 women finalists rolled 12 of their scheduled 48 games.

In the second place is the qualifying leader, southpaw Joanne Chaplain of Blencoe, Iowa with a 56.42. Helen Duval of Berkeley, Calif., is third with 55.48.

Mrs. Ladewig's 732 series erased a mark set in 1961 by Mrs. Duval, who rolled a 712.

Final Bowlerama Pre-Registration Today

Bowlers Must Choose Site for Sunday

Competition to Start at 11:00 in Morning and End at 6:00 P.M.

Airway Lanes, North Hill Bowling, Howe's Lanes, Montclair Bowling Centre, Wonderland Lanes and 300 Bowl—sanctioned bowlers can pay the $7 entry fee and take their final choice of site and time Sunday.

The seventh annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama will conclude its qualifying rounds today with action on six fronts and bowlers of exceeding the 63 total that qualified two weekends ago at six other establishments.

Competition will begin at 11 a.m. Sunday at each house and last through the afternoon. No squads will start after 6 p.m. They may start earlier than 11 o'clock if the house so indicates.

Bowlers who pre-register by 5:30 p.m. today at either the establishments or The Press sports department will be assigned squads in tomorrow's paper.

However, registration will also be permitted at the time of bowling. Those pre-registering will receive preference in the assigning of squads.

The top one-eighth of the total bowlers on each site will qualify for the Dec. 8th finals at 300 Bowl. Presently the top score at 300 Bowl is 648; at Airway it is 662, and at Montclair it is 654.

These could very easily fall Sunday's action. Wonderland has a 663 leader, North Hill 702 and Howe's 736. But the latter three also have plenty of empty spaces thereafter that could take qualifying scores.

A handicap of 70 per cent based on 200 for both men and women is used. Thus the middle average bowler (140-175) has ample opportunity to cash in on some of the $1,850 guaranteed top prize money.

Participation by this group of bowlers has been below normal this season, and the financial support by The Press for the tournament (one of the most popular ones in the area) may be on the verge of discontinuance if some improvement is not forthcoming Sunday.

It may be interesting to the average bowler that no one with higher than a 172 average has ever finished above fifth spot in the handicap finals.

Flint Northern 11 Upsets City Rival

FLINT (UPI)—Flint Northern wiped out the 1963 Michigan prep football season yesterday by recording a 14-13 upset victory over arch-rival Flint Central in a traditional Thanksgiving Day game.

The Flint Northern victory handed Bay City Central the Saginaw Valley championship. Ironically, the only Bay City loss in another 6-1 season was at the hands of Flint Central, which needed to beat Northern to gain a share of the crown.

Flint Northern managed to win the game even though it failed to make a first down during the whole second half as the victors protected their 147-halftime lead and pulled out the one point win.

If there's such a thing as a skier's car, you're looking at it.

A SAAB is designed for tough Scandinavian winters where it bites through blizzards, pulls through rutted roads, and performs fearlessly at 40° below.

An ideal car for Olympic skiers and champions like Egon and Penny Pflüger-Zimmerman. An ideal car for anyone who travels or lives in cold country.

- SAAB's unusual 5-cylinder, 2-stroke engine starts instantly.
- SAAB's front-wheel drive gives solid traction on snow and ice.
- SAAB's superheated heater and defroster keep you comfortable and the windows fog-free.
- SAAB's engine, transmission and differential are warranted for 2 years or 24,000 miles (whichever comes first).

A real winter car! Real winter people like Egon and Penny Pflüger-Zimmerman think so. Come in for a test drive. We think you'll agree.

British doctors now have learned about a phenomenon that local medical men undoubtedly were aware of some time ago. The sports world has a "tempin finger."

This affliction takes its place along with the "base ball arm," boxing's "cauliflower ear" and the more recently famous "foolball knee."

The British Medical Journal recently reported a 16-year-old youth who complained of a swelling in a joint on his right middle finger.

Blood tests and X-rays showed it wasn't rheumatoid arthritis. Then it was discovered the teen-ager was a fanatic bowler, usually 10 times a week!

Monroe Moore of 300 Bowl has been selected by the Professional Bowlers Association as one of the top five men in the ball hitting and drilling field.

He'll travel to PBA headquarters at Akron, Ohio the first week of December to assist in setting up a clinic for association members.

The clinic will deal with all phases of bowling pro shop operations. Moore has frequently been consulted by the pro's regarding grips and drilling techniques.

TIME FLYING

More than half the berths in the 1964 American Bowling Congress Masters Bowling Tournament are filled. The 14th annual meet is slated for April 18-22 at Oakland, Calif.

Spots are filled on a first come, first served basis.

That 792 series bowled by a La Mirada, Calif. woman last month has been officially approved by the Women's International Bowling Congress as a new record.

Janet Harman, the 1963 Professional Woman Bowler's Association champion, had games of 216-276-300 while leading off for her team.

Time is also rapidly disappearing for entries to the 1964 WIBC Queens Tournament at Minneapolis, Minn. Less than one-fifth of the entry places remain. Deadline for entering is Jan. 1st.

The American Junior Bowling Congress will have coaches Clinics at Monroe and Southgate, Michigan early next month. Bowlers over 19 years of age are eligible to apply for certification as coaches under the AJBC program.

Lead Now Six Points After Six-Point Win

A six-point win boosted the 300 Bowl team lead in the West Side Classic Monday night to six points as second place Sport Center Trophies could only win two points in its match.

Ron Rothenberg took series honors with 247-312-466 and Bob Dyer led the game category with 256 in a 682 series. Joe Foster had 659.

NFL Schedules Dates for Playoff Possibilities

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League has rolled out a playoff schedule with 11 different possibilities involving six teams in the event the conference crowns are not decided by the end of the regular season.

One of the possibilities involves the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, running 1-2 in the Western Conference. The other 10 involve the four teams still in contention for the Eastern Title — Cleveland, St. Louis and New York, all tied at 8-3, and Pittsburgh, 6-5-2.

If the Bears, 8-3-1, and Packers, 8-5, wind up in a tie, they will play at Green Bay, Dec. 22 for the right to represent the west in the championship game.

If a triple tie results, the championship set for Dec. 29 would be pushed back to Sunday, Jan. 5. The game would be played in the home city of the Western champion.

Rozelle drew up the schedule after a long session with the phone with representatives of the six clubs. The club officials made a call on the flip of a coin by league office personnel.

THE EASTERN PLAYOFF SCHEDULE

Provides for four versions of triple ties and six different combinations for two-way ties.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said a four-way tie was not considered.

Texas Is Lone Big Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Twenty teams, topped by mighty Texas, remained unbeaten and united after Thanksgiving Day's college football games.

Texas, the only major team on the list, completed its regular season with a 15-13 edge over Texas A&M.

All of the unbeaten untied have completed their season except Prairie View, which closes against Central Ohio in Houston Dec. 7.
