Romney Says Viet Plan Interests Kosygin

Pontiac Press Photo by Rolf Winter

IT'S FUN TIME!—The weather was perfect yesterday. Deep snow everywhere. Just right for snowball fighting, fort building, snowmen and just plain rolling around in it. No matter what the adults were saying, these children in Franklin Village ran joyously into the winter scene as soon as school let out. They dash across the village green. Franklin Community Church is the background.

Neutralization Is Proposed

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — Gov. George Romney has discussed his proposal for guaranteed neutralization of all Vietnam with Soviet Premier Alexsei N. Kosygin, and reports the Russian leader expressed interest but made no commitment on the plan.

★ ★ ★

"If I'm elected president this is the thing that will get my immediate attention, and I'll push it as hard as I can," Romney said in outlining his Vietnam program last night.

The Republican governor said later in an interview that he raised the proposal during his meeting with Kosygin on Dec. 19 in Moscow.

The governor would not discuss the Moscow conversation in detail, but he said Kosygin expressed interest.

As the campaigning governor explained his Vietnam plan to more than 900 people at Keene State College last night, he renounced President Johnson's current war policy with these words: "I refuse to support an administration that cannot wage the conflict effectively or seek peace convincingly."

The White House said it would have no comment on the Keene address.

In it, Romney said as president he would seek neutralization of North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia; removal of foreign military troops from the area; and a ban on alliances with outside blocs.

He said there would have to be an internal settlement in South Vietnam worked out by Saigon and from the Communist National Liberation Front to halt the fighting, remove foreign forces and provide for peaceful participation by members of the Vietcong in the nation's political process.

★ ★ ★

Romney said there would have to be a neutralization agreement among the major powers, and a system for international supervision of the peace terms.

SPENDING CEILING

Pressing his presidential primary campaign in Munsonville today, Romney proposed a ceiling on federal spending and "a reasonable tax increase" to move the federal government toward a balanced budget in 1970.

He said that is a crucial step to combat inflation.

In a related development, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said yesterday that Gov. Romney "vacillated and vacillated badly" when riots broke out in Detroit last summer.

★ ★ ★

He said any statements by Romney that Detroit officials took a soft attitude during the riots' early hours were an attempt by the governor to "defend himself."

Avon Incorporation Wins by 47 Votes

Incorporation for Avon Township moved ahead by a 47-vote majority in yesterday's election.

There were 2,687 ballots cast by a possible 7,700 registered electors. Heavy snow and poor road conditions reportedly kept some voters from the polls.

The count was 1,367 in favor to 1,320 opposed.

The vote was reportedly close in most precincts with the exception being that area bounded by the southern city limits of Rochester to South Boulevard between Rochester Road and Livernois where the tally was 222 to 96 in favor of incorporation.

★ ★ ★

Other precincts having small majorities for incorporation were those in the Hamlin-Livernois-Crooks area, Brooklands, the area north of Walton and west of Old Perch Road, and the Tienken Manor subdivision.

CHARTER COMMISSIONERS

Electors also chose nine charter commissioners from a field of 15 candidates whose job will be to prepare a city charter acceptable to voters.

Only after such a charter is accepted will the township actually become a city.

City officials, who had counted on a "no" vote which would open the door to annexation of the township by Rochester, had no comment this morning.

★ ★ ★

Township Supervisor Cyril Miller said he was pleased with the results and promised to "continue to work for the orderly development of the whole area."

CREDIT GIVEN

He gave credit for the outcome of the election to "those who spent so much of their time in presenting the true facts to the people."

Charged with writing an acceptable charter for the proposed new city are the following winners of yesterday's commission race and the votes they received:

- Township Clerk Thelma Spencer, 1,344
- Township Trustee George Ennis, 1,299
- Township Trustee William McCullough, 1,196
- Township Treasurer Helen Allen, 1,183
- Justice of the Peace Harry Huber, 1,094
- George Karas, director of Oakland University's physical plant, 1,077
- Harold Pepper, Avon Township Study Committee chairman, 978
- Eugene S. Nowicki, National Twist Drill & Tool Co. employe, 897
- Herman F. Lamb, maintenance engineer at Troy's White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, 859

★ ★ ★

Failing to gain enough votes for representation on the commission were George L. Schutte, Louis E. Berklich, Arlene L. Rampson, Norman F. Kapcia, Ross C. Rector and Marian Tymkow.

Election Today on Annexation to Walled Lake

An election today will decide on the annexation into Walled Lake of parts of Commerce Township and Wolverine Lake Village. If the annexation is approved, it will more than triple the size of the 3.7-square-mile city.

★ ★ ★

Polls are open until 8 p.m. at Walled Lake Junior High, 615 N. Pontiac Trail; the village hall, 425 Glengary; and the township hall, 2840 Fisher.

Deciding the issue in the 10 square miles of the township up for annexation are 885 registered voters.

About 350 residents are registered in the three-quarters of a square mile of the village on the ballot. The city has 1,126 registered voters.

★ ★ ★

Annexation depends on combined votes of the city with the township and two areas of the village.

Tomorrow to Be Sunny, Warmer

It was clear and cold this morning but temperatures kept to a low of four above zero at 7 a.m.

★ ★ ★

The mercury is expected to dip to five to 12 above tonight, then climb near the low 30s tomorrow. Fair tonight and mostly sunny tomorrow is the outlook.

Today's westerly winds at five to 10 miles per hour will become southwesterly tonight.

Thursday's forecast is partly cloudy and a little warmer.

One to three inches of new snow fell in the Pontiac area yesterday.

PRECIPITATION

Chance of precipitation in per cent are: today 5, tonight and tomorrow 10.

Sunny skies pushed temperatures to 21 at 2 p.m.

NASA Air Tests Set

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Pressed for time, U.S. space officials begin testing "enriched air" tomorrow as a safer substitute for the pure oxygen atmosphere that fed the fire which killed three astronauts early last year atop their rocket at Cape Kennedy.

British Spending Is Slashed

LONDON (AP)—In a drive to make Britain solvent, Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today cancellation of a billion-dollar order for U. S. F111 bombers, and a withdrawal of all British armed forces from the Far East and the Persian Gulf by 1971.

Wilson told the House of Commons he also plans slashes in social welfare benefits, cuts in education, housing and road building, and virtual abandonment of the civil defense program

When he mentioned an end to free medical prescriptions, some Laborites shouted, "Resign! Resign!" The prescriptions will now cost 30 cents.

Wilson said the withdrawal from east of Suez, four years ahead of the target set last July, will permit manpower reductions in the armed forces of 75,000 military personnel and 80,000 civilians.

★ ★ ★

The decision to cancel the contract to purchase 50 F111 swing-wing bombers involves $1.02 billion.

AIR DEFENSE SYSTEM

Although the British will leave the Far East by 1971, Wilson emphasized Britain is prepared to aid the Commonwealth partners in Southeast Asia through "a joint air defense system for Malaysia and Singapore." Britain will train personnel to operate the joint air defense system

★ ★ ★

The prime minister said Britain's defense budgets will be cut by $264 million in fiscal 1969-70; between $504 to $624 million in 1972-73.

Man Sues God for Back Injury

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — George Albrecht has filed a $25,000 damage suit against God, charging He was responsible for a 1964 accident in which Albrecht injured his back.

★ ★ ★

Albrecht names as codefendants all Palm Beach County churches — about 30 of them — because he said they were "the agents of God."

The 35-year-old electrician said he injured his back during a rainstorm at a construction site when the sidewalk he was standing on suddenly collapsed and dumped him into a pit.

★ ★ ★

Albrecht sued the city and the construction company, but a trial jury ruled the mishap was "an act of God."

Pontiac's GTO Captures '68 Car of the Year Title

Motor Trend Magazine yesterday named the Pontiac GTO the automotive industry's Car of the Year.

It was the fourth time in eight years that Pontiac Motor Division has received the honor, a feat accomplished by no other manufacturer, noted the magazine's publisher, Walter A. Woron.

John Z. DeLorean, Pontiac Motor Division general manager and a GM vice president, accepted the Golden Calipers trophy for Pontiac's achievement in ceremonies in Los Angeles, Calif.

Past awards include 1959 for the wide-track concept, 1961 for the Tempest and 1965 for the styling and engineering leadership typified in the Pontiac model.

"All of us in the industry are aware of the extensive testing and evaluation which precedes the selection . . . and we regard the winning of this award as a vote of confidence that we are building the best cars possible," DeLorean said.

★ ★ ★

Motor Trend said the 1968 GTO like no other automobile "confirms the correlations between safety, styling and performance."

Woron singled out the GTO's rubber-like bumper as being "the most significant achievement in materials technology in contemporary automotive engineering."

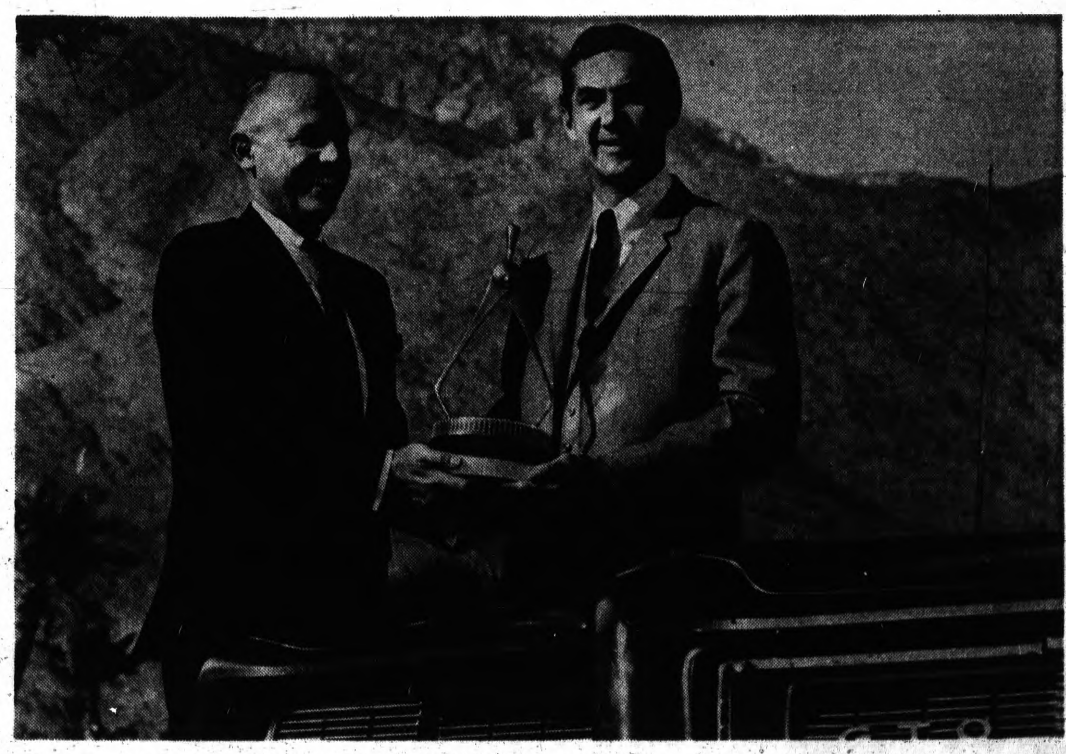

He said GTO continues to establish the class standard in the fifth year of its existence.

"It represents a unique and revolutionary engineering-styling function," Woron said.

SALES PREDICTIONS

DeLorean said the company expects GTO sales to exceed 100,000 this year. The GTO — the best selling first-year car Pontiac has had — reached sales of 32,000 in its first sales year, he said.

"The success of the GTO has shown that many young new car buyers desire a car that offers high performance, excellent handling with around-town suitability, distinctive appearance and moderately low cost," DeLorean said.

SBA Denies Politics in Alaskan Disaster Loan Inconsistency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government refuses to say why it lent a prominent Alaska Democrat nearly all he asked for and cut in half the request of the state's Republican governor after the Fairbanks flood damaged their neighboring motels last August.

The Small Business Administration, which lent the money, would say no more than who got how much. But it insisted politics was not involved.

★ ★ ★

The Budget Bureau refused to tell what caught the eye of fledgling lawyer Robert M. Weinberg when he spotted the loans in a routine budget check and referred them to his superiors.

But the SBA acknowledged it is tightening its disaster loan criteria. Said SBA administrator Robert C. Moot:

"While the Fairbanks loans were not the sole factor in changing our criteria, I must say I saw nothing in these cases to dissuade me from changing them.

"But I found no evidence of any collusion, fraud, malfeasance, or partisanship in these cases."

The largest loan in the wake of the Aug. 14 flood of the Chena River, $894,000, went to L. Donald Pruhs' Golden Nugget Motel. Until a month ago, Pruhs was chairman of the Democratic central committee for the Alaskan interior. He's now a member of the party's state central committee.

Employed as a supervisor in Pruhs' contracting firm is Alex Miller, Alaska's Democratic national committeeman.

"I'm certainly not going to apologize for being a Democrat," Pruhs said Monday after details of the loan were made public. "I was a Democrat long before the flood, and I didn't start the flood. Because I was central district chairman, they took my loan and examined it when it was just one of 2,500 loans."

★ ★ ★

"I don't know anything about any other loans. I submitted mine and that's the only one I'm interested in."

The loan required no higher approval than that of the SBA's San Francisco office, but government sources reported that Pruhs retained a Washington attorney to help him get it.

Involved was a regular SBA loan of about $690,000—previously approved but not paid—combined with a $200,000 damage claim into a disaster loan, which carries a lower interest rate and allows the borrower an additional 20 years to repay.

Across the street from Pruhs' 38-unit Golden Nugget, which opened last May, is the 106-room Travelers Inn, owned by Republican Gov. Walter J. Hickel.

Larger and built on lower ground, it suffered—by Pruhs' own estimate— greater flood damage.

Hickel asked the SBA for $1.2 million, including the refinancing of two mortgages. He got $623,400. The governor's brother, Vernon, who manages the Travelers Inn, said the agency gave him scant help in refinancing the mortgages- nd cut back his damage request nearly $100,000 to about $475,000.

Ship, Barges Ram in Texas; 31 Flee Fire

By LAWRENCE LEE
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The freighter Christiane smashed into a string of gasoline-laden barges in the Houston Ship Channel early today, turning the water into an inferno of blazing fuel exploding in shocks felt and seen for 30 miles.

★ ★ ★

There were no serious injuries as two American tourists, the captain's wife and 3-year-old daughter and 27 officers and crewmen from the Christiane fled through the blazing waters in lifeboats.

★ ★ ★

Traffic was choked off on the ship channel, one of the busiest in the nation, until midmorning when Coast Guard units began allowing ships to pass through the gasoline-laden waters with caution.

★ ★ ★

One of the barges flamed up anew shortly after dawn before the fire was tapped out and the gasoline barges were towed to anchor amid fireboats on the side of the channel.

The Christiane limped toward Galveston, Tex., for repairs.

FIERY COLLISION — Flames sweep through a freighter after a collision with a string of three barges in the Houston ship channel. None aboard any of the vessels suffered serious injuries.

'Bombing of N. Viet Offers No Cure-All'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly reconvened Congress appears headed for another debate on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in the wake of a nonpartisan group's assessment that U.S. air attacks offer no "cut-rate route to victory."

As the 90th Congress reassembled Monday for its second session, the group that includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and retired Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley said the military effectiveness of the bombing was overrated—while contending it is not the obstacle to peace talks its critics contend.

★ ★ ★

A march to Capitol Hill by some 3,000 women opposing U.S. participation in Vietnam also focused congressional attention on the war.

A number of congressmen were quick to react to the statement on U.S. bombing by the Citizens Committee for Peace and Freedom in Vietnam. A special panel of the committee, which included Eisenhower, Bradley, former Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas and former Harvard President James B. Conant, said:

"Bombing is a military tool which supports and helps protect America's fighting men now committed in Vietnam. However, bombing is only one of America's weapons. It is not a panacea—it is not a cure-all. It is not a cut-rate route to victory."

Congress Firm on Budget Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The money message from Capitol Hill to the White House as Congress reassembled wasn't changed from last year: President Johnson must cut spending if he wants a tax hike.

There was little official action Monday with the launching of the second session of the 90th Congress but there was talk domestic spending must be cut.

★ ★ ★

It came from Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, submitted to Congress last year, is still in Mills' tax-writing commttee. The Arkansas Democrat said it will stay there until he sees the President's new budget, due for presentation before Jan. 29.

SPENDING HIKE

Mills said his committee will challenge any increases over the current fiscal year's domestic spending. He said a spending hike of $10 billion to $12 billion would violate his precondition for backing a tax hike—that spending be held at current levels or cut back on anything except Vietnam-related projects or fixed outlays such as interest on the government debt.

But he wouldn't pinpoint for newsmen just how much of a hike he would tolerate.

"A $10 billion to $12 billion increase in spending would just equal what the surtax would yield," Mills said. "Imposing a surtax under those circumstances doesn't give any assurance that the time will ever come when we don't need it."

Dirksen said it is time to delay or "stretch out" already authorized spending on some domestic programs.

Pontiac Div. Seeks Strike Authorization

Permission to set a strike deadline at Pontiac Motor Division is being sought by UAW Local 653, according to Wayne Anable, local president

Negotiators have been unable to reach agreement on a local contract. The national contract was approved by vote of the workers last month.

Some progress has been made, but a number of issues remain to be settled, Anable said.

"Since negotiations started our local has resolved 150 issues. Management has not seen fit to meet us on our major issues.

"Positions are clear to both parties on the remaining issues. We have asked for strike authorization.

"We have not been granted strike authorization at this time due to existing circumstances in other General Motors UAW locals," Anable said.

"I have been assured that maximum efforts and assistance will be given to our local union's problems by the international union at the proper time," he concluded.

News Briefs at a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the trespass convictions of 39 University of Michigan students and teachers who sat-in at Selective Service headquarters in Ann Arbor to protest U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War.

The 38 were fined $50 each and sentenced to terms ranging from 15 to 20 days in jail.

Head for Civil Service

LANSING (AP) — Richard L. Milliman, weekly newspaper publisher and former press secretary to Gov. George Romney, has been elected chairman of the State Civil Service Commission. Milliman, president of the Crawford County Avalanche and Clare Sentinel, was appointed by Romney to an eight-year term.

Papandreou in Paris

ATHENS (AP)—Leftist political leader Andreas Papandreou flew to Paris with his family today. After a medical checkup in the French capital, he was expected to go on to the United States to become a professor of economics again.

Ohio GM Plant Struck

DETROIT (UPI) — About 3,000 members of the United Auto Workers union went out on strike at General Motors' Central Foundry at Defiance, Ohio, today in a dispute over a local contract.

'Idiot' to Be Spy Chief

BONN (UPI) — An officer Adolf Hitler considered an idiot today was scheduled to become chief of West Germany's cloak and dagger agency ferreting out Soviet secrets. On May 1st Lt. Gen. Gerhard Wessel will succeed Reinhard Gehlen as president of the Federal Intelligence Agency (FIA). In January 1945, Wessel predicted a massive Soviet attack within the week. Hitler read the report and shouted: "Absolutely idiotic. The fellow who did this ought to be put away in an insane asylum." Three days later, the Russians began an attack that smashed through the German eastern front.

Cong Ambush S. Viets

SAIGON (AP) — Vietcong soldiers killed 14 South Vietnamese infantrymen and wounded 32 in an ambush 357 miles northeast of Saigon yesterday, but the Vietnamese caught up with the guerrillas eight hours later and killed 40.

Trial by Jury Is Waived in Ax Murders

The first-degree murder trial of William G. Gravlin of Troy was postponed this morning in Oakland County Circuit Court because he waived a trial by jury.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin, 33, is accused of the September 1964 ax slayings of all seven members of his family.

★ ★ ★

The case is scheduled to be heard Feb. 13 and decided by Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin was recently released from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane after authorities said he was mentally capable of standing trial.

2,000 Troops Flee Before Advancing Reds in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Two thousand Laotian government troops are believed to have fled before advancing Communist forces in the strategic Nam Bac Valley in northern Laos, government sources said today.

No report has been received from the three government battalions since Sunday, when the government ordered the village of Nam Bac and its airstrip abandoned.

Some of the government troops have straggled into the Royal Laotian capital, Luang Prabang, which was mortared by the Communists Sunday night. It is 50 miles south of Nam Bac.

A general and two colonels were sent north to assess the situation.

Nam Bac, which government forces captured from the Pathet Lao in July 1966, had been under heavy artillery attack for several weeks.

Meanwhile, the government gave a further report on a Communist air attack last Friday. It had reported earlier that two Communist planes were shot down.

A government communique said four North Vietnamese AN2 Colt biplanes bombed and strafed a village of the Meo tribe at Muong Yut, killing four civilians and wounding many others. It said machine gun and rifle fire brought down two of the planes well within Laotian territory.

One plane was destroyed and the other contained three bodies, two in North Vietnamese uniform and one mutilated beyond recognition, the communique said.

The unofficial casualty toll rose to more than 300 dead today as new tremors spread more panic through the devastated western tip of the Mediterranean island. Officials fear the final toll might be 500 or 1,000.

Birmingham Area News

Crossover Construction OK'd

BIRMINGHAM — The city commission last night approved construction of median crossovers for traffic on Hunter north and south of Maple on a matching funds basis with the State Highway Department.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning had recommended that the commission approve paying half of the estimated $30,000 to $40,000 required for construction. The department had offered to pay the other half in a communication received Jan. 10.

Completion of the crossovers will clear the way for further work on the city's partially-finished "ring road," designed to ease traffic congestion in the central business district.

The west leg of the road, including Oakland, Willits, Chester and Brown streets, is virtually complete. The commission may now decide either to continue construction of the road west of Hunter, or utilize the crossovers for extension east of Hunter.

Both possibilities are currently under study by the city administration.

The commission also considered a pair of requests from the city of Oak Park. The first, dealing with a proposed resolution urging support of State Senate Bill 2582, to defer policemen and firemen from service in the Armed Forces, was referred to the administration for study.

No action was taken on the second request, which asked "favorable action" on a resolution of Oak Park asking for legislation by the state to allow deferred payment of special assessments by indigent persons.

The commission had previously considered the matter, and adopted a policy of supporting such legislation if introduced.

★ ★ ★

In other business, Mayor William E. Roberts appointed Samuel J. Mitchell, vice president of Chamberlain Real Estate Co., as 1968 chairman for Michigan Week.

REAPPOINTMENT

The commission also approved the reappointment of John Grant for a three-year term to the Board of Review which considers general tax assessments proposed by the city. Grant was initially appointed to replace George Fineh.

Mayor to Give 'State' of City

To Outline '67 Action, '68 Prospects Tonight

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. will deliver an annual address outlining steps taken by the city government last year and detailing prospects in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Taylor is expected to make the address at tonight's City Commission meeting which begins at 8.

Commissioners will also discuss the possibility of purchasing the 72-unit Crystal Beach housing project from its Detroit owners with the view of eliminating the project.

The units are recognized as the most delapidated housing in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Owners last year offered to sell it to the city for half price if a 50 per cent write off could be a deductible tax item.

APPRAISALS

With the Internal Revenue Service approving such a move the city and owners arranged for different appraisals of the project.

Negotiations have been stymied by the difference in the appraisals. City Manager Joseph A. Warren said he will present to the commissioners what the Detroit owners called their final offer.

In other action tonight, the commission is scheduled to:

- Conduct public hearings on the budget for Pontiac General Hospital and for the water utility, sewage utility, and parking systems.
- Consider a resolution which would put into effect a three-mill property tax reduction — as long as the city's recently imposed income tax holds up in court.
- Authorize the sale of $1-million in preliminary loan notes for the R44 urban renewal project.

Red Arms Cache Found in Cambodia Conspiracy

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian authorities today reported finding a huge Communist arms cache intended for use in assassination attempts against Prince Norodom Sihanouk and President Josip Broz Tito of Yugoslavia.

Police said the arms were found among the ancient ruins of Angkor visited in November by Jacqueline Kennedy during her "dream" trip to Cambodia.

Tito, the Yugoslavian Communist leader probably most hated by the Chinese Communist regime, arrives tomorrow and was scheduled to visit the ruins later this week.

An official police announcement said the arms included about 1,000 hand grenades and were to be used by pro-Chinese Communists.

★ ★ ★

Sihanouk charged in a radio speech Friday that Cambodian Communists planned to "blow Phnom Penh sky high" in an effort to kill the Yugoslav leader but he did not mention himself as being a target of assassins.

GROUP ARRESTED

He said police and army troops had uncovered about four crates of hand grenades and had arrested a group of Communists whom he charged were backed by Red China.

Four Children, Mother Killed in Detroit Fire

DETROIT (AP) — A mother and four children were killed today when a fire trapped them in their home on Detroit's East Side.

Dead are: Mrs. Gloria Raudabaugh, 38; Margaret, 13; Tony, 10; Michelle, 7, and Eric, 3.

Police said her husband Charles, 38, and another son, Charles III, were returning home when they saw the fire. Two more sons, James, 15, and David, 8, ran out of the house.

★ ★ ★

Due to the intense heat and flames, police said, no one was able to enter the building to save the fire victims.

Law Dissolves Freeway Vetoes

LANSING (AP)—Acting Gov. William Milliken today signed into law a bill establishing a state system of binding arbitration to resolve local differences in disputes over interstate highway routes.

The bill was sought as the result of a stalemate over the route of the I-696 freeway in Oakland and Macomb counties. Construction of the freeway has been delayed for 10 years because of differences between the local communities and the state over its exact location.

'U.S. to Consult Saigon'--Rusk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has promised the Saigon government that it will be fully consulted before the United States decides whether to take up Hanoi's offer to hold talks if the bombing stops.

★ ★ ★

But, in a formal statement issued yesterday, Rusk stopped short of saying that the Saigon government could block such initial contacts if the United States decided they were worthwhile in order to explore Hanoi's willingness to enter full-scale peace negotiations.

The Rusk statement was issued here shortly after South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu criticized the United States for taking the lead in seeking peace talks instead of letting his country play that role.

It was plainly designed to quiet fears in Saigon that Washington might make some sort of deal behind Thieu's back.

★ ★ ★

Rusk had been notified in advance of what Thieu proposed to say in his speech before a conference of Vietnamese newspaper editors.

His statement, read to newsmen by press officer Robert J. McCloskey was aimed at meeting Thieu's criticism to some extent.

Two teen-agers were injured this morning in a three-vehicle collision involving a school bus in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

None of about 50 children on the bus was hurt in the 7:30 a.m. accident at M59 and Crescent Lake Road. Traffic was tied up for nearly one hour.

★ ★ ★

Injured were Allen Watts, 18, of 1732 Elsmere, and Michael Stocker, 17, of 555 Hillcliffe, both of Waterford Township. Both were taken to Pontiac General Hospital for examination.

★ ★ ★

Police said a tractor trailer slid into the teen-agers' car which in turn was pushed into the side of the stopped bus.

Youth Is Mute at Arraignment

Suspect, 20, Charged With Two Kidnapings

A 20-year-old Berkley youth stood mute yesterday at his arraignment on charges of kidnaping, assault and molestation of an 8-year-old boy and his 6-year-old sister Saturday.

The suspect, Byron Lee Hoffmeister of 2327 Bacon, was released on $1,000 bond set by Berkley Judge Theodore F. Hughes, who presided at the arraignment.

The examination date is not yet available.

Hoffmeister was apprehended by Southfield police Saturday after he allegedly kidnaped, choked and beat the two youngsters.

★ ★ ★

The two were treated and released Saturday from Providence Hospital, Southfield, said Berkley police.

10-BLOCK WALK

The boy was kidnaped while making the 10-block walk to pick up his sister after her catechism class, said the boy's mother. The captor, driving a car, then picked up the girl.

The boy was found by construction men while the suspect was beating him. The young girl was found walking on a roadside in West Bloomfield Township by two Bloomfield Hills' residents.

Boat, Trailer Owners Win Zoning Reprieve in Troy

TROY — Boat and house trailer owners filled the city commission chambers last night and won a reprieve on the city's proposed zoning ordinance amendment.

Many among the crowd of 50-to-75 spectators voiced their objections during a public hearing on the ordinance, which would have limited semipermanent trailer parking (over 24 hours) to the back of a residential district at least 10 feet behind the house.

Opposition to the proposal centered around difficulty of using a trailer or camper year-round if it had to be parked in the back yard.

Mrs. Ernest A. Watson, 5085 Somerton, told commissioners, "If you check, I think that you will find trailers being used 12 months a year. If you go up north, you will see trailers in the parks every weekend."

★ ★ ★

Another trailer owner, who identified himself as Melvin Stockman, concurred, adding, "I use my camper all year-round, and if I had had it in the back yard this week I never would have gotten it out."

ASKS SHOW OF HANDS

Commissioner Ben S. Jones, after the close of the hearing, commented, "Today many homes are oriented toward the back yard. I think we'd have to define the back and front in order to make this ordinance effective, and I don't think it could be enforced."

Commissioner Glen H. Houghten moved that the proposal be sent back to the planning commission for revision, and then called for a show of hands among the audience of those who would object to parking trailers back of the front building line.

No one raised his hand. The commission then voted unanimously in favor of revision.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the commission denied a request to rezone lots 1-3 and 8-10 of Lasier Gardens Subdivision, at John R. and Big Beaver, from single-family residential to commercial to permit construction of a shopping center.

The commission also set a public hearing Feb. 19 on the requested vacation of Creston Street west of Somerton, and tabled for one week consideration of the agreement to provide for membership in the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG).

Deadline Nears for Signup in Wixom Primary

WIXOM — This Friday is the deadline here for unregistered residents to register to vote in the Feb. 20 primary.

Those persons who have already registered under the permanent registration system and have voted within the last two years don't have to reregister, said Deputy City Clerk Mrs. Donna Thorsberg.

The clerk's office at the City Hall, 49045 W. Pontiac Trail, is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday.

Residents can transfer registrations from one address to another within the city by applying in person or by sending a signed request to the city clerk giving the former and new addresses.

Petitions for primary candidates must be filed by Jan. 22 at 5 p.m. A minimum of 40 or a maximum of 60 signatures is required on the petitions, said Mrs. Thorsberg.

ISSUES IN PRIMARY

In the primary, voters will be choosing two candidates for mayor, and two candidates for each of three council seats. A primary won't be held for offices where no more than two candidates have filed.

★ ★ ★

The two filing would automatically be nominated and face each other in the April 1 general election. Any other candidates could enter the contest only as write-ins in the general election.

W. Bloomfield Board Asks Bond Okay for High School

WEST BLOOMFIELD — The new high school for the school district here is coming a step closer to reality.

The board of education last night decided to submit an application to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for the sale of $4.5 million in bonds.

This is the remainder of the $7-million bond issue approved by voters in June 1966. Most of the $2.5 million spent went for the Frank Doherty Elementary School now under construction, reported board vice president Leonard L. Grossman.

The board is also awaiting approval from the State Board of Education for a $4.6-million bond issue election. "We hope to have an answer in a week," said Grossman.

★ ★ ★

The board requested prequalification, or approval, of the bonds from the state board last October.

This approval is necessary if the school district expects to borrow from the state school bond loan fund, according to Schools Supt. Leif Hougen.

The two bond issues will finance the new high school expected to cost between $6.8 million and $8 million. The board heard last night that construction of the entire school at once will save the district about $800,000.

The board had originally planned to build the school in two phases. Planned to open in the late 1960s or early 1970, the building will be located on 56 acres across from the West Bloomfield Township Hall on Orchard Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

The new building will house about 1,900 students. The present high school at 6000 Orchard Lake Road will then become the district's second junior high school, said Grossman.

The board will be meeting with architect Linn Smith next Monday to review plans for the new high school. The meeting is at 8 p.m. at the board offices at 3380 Orchard Lake Road.

Rochester Historical Committee to Meet

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Historical Committee will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the City Council Chambers, Sixth and Oak.

Leaders from all civic and social organizations have been asked to attend in order to form plans for celebrating the city's centennial in 1969.

John A. Boeberitz is general chairman of the committee.

Edison Will Pay for Pact Ballot

ORCHARD LAKE — Detroit Edison deposited a $300 bond last night with the city clerk as a guarantee it will pay for an election to renew its 30-year contract here.

The election date will be set at the City Council's meeting Feb 19, said Councilman David A. Bradbury. Total cost of the election will be around $300, he added.

Detroit Edison's contract with the city will expire in April.

Also at last night's council meeting, several residents of Indian Trail requested stricter enforcement of weight and speed laws on the road.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Elmer Peters said he would consider the request. He explained that the police haven't had time and men to closely patrol the narrow road.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

The council confirmed its support of a joint fire department for the city, Keego Harbor and Sylvan Lake. These municipalities are presently leasing protection from West Bloomfield Township.

The three cities are planning to construct a building and buy two trucks within the next year, said Bradbury.

★ ★ ★

The estimated cost of $100,000 over 10 years would be about half the cost of the township's service, the councilman added.

Relocation Completed for Portion of Road in Milford Township

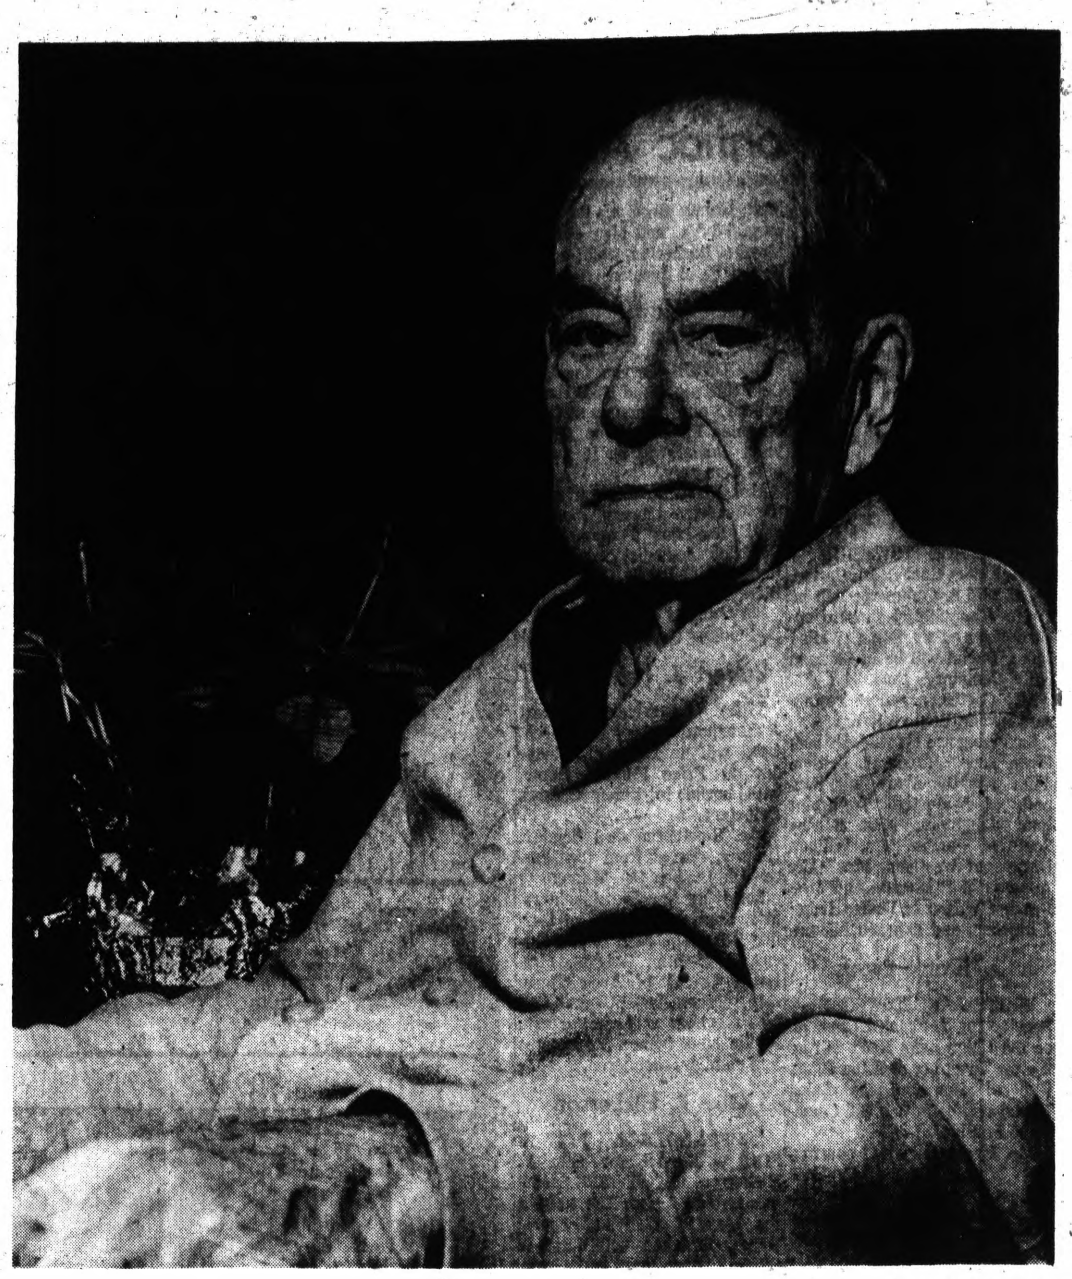

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — The ribbon has been cut for the relocated portion of Moore Road fronting the New Hudson Sand and Gravel Co.

The $20,000 project was financed by Lyle A. Walker, head of the company. He said he plans to develop residences on the 640 acres he owns surrounding the firm.

★ ★ ★

The 2,900 feet of Moore which was relocated is now 800 feet farther north than it used to be.

Walker added that the project was a condition of the township's approval to rezone the area for excavation.

Spanish-American War Vet Remembers Teddy Roosevelt

Veteran, 91, Doesn't Like Army Officers

By JEAN SAILE

ORION TOWNSHIP — J. Sterling Kemp has no love for army officers.

And the officers he particularly doesn't like are the ones who directed the Spanish-American War 70 years ago.

One of the few remaining survivors of the actual conflict, Kemp at age 91 is currently a resident at Glen Acres Nursing Home Annex, 1235 W. Silverbell.

Alert and with a memory for detail, he can recall vividly the time in Cuba when he and a hundred men, busy raiding a mango orchard, were approached by Theodore Roosevelt, then a lieutenant colonel with the Rough Rider Regiment.

★ ★ ★

Roosevelt, Kemp recalls, was in enemy territory and his uniform showed the stitch marks where his rank insignia had been removed.

WISHED FOR GUN

A guinea fowl flew up, and Kemp recalls Roosevelt saying, "I wish I had my gun with me."

What Kemp was doing at the time has something to do with his dislike of officers.

Detailed to take the hundred men to get a wagon out of the mud of the San Juan River, Kemp snorts, "Why there wasn't even any mud in that river. That was a fast-running rocky stream. Two men could have pushed it out."

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless Kemp recalls that as one of the few men not ill with malaria, typhoid or dysentery in his company, he as a private was ordered to take the men into enemy territory to rescue the wagon.

VALUABLE CARGO

"And you know what that wagon had in it?" he asked. "Chocolate and cookies and jelly — for the officers."

Kemp got into the war by responding to President McKinley's call for men. Sent to Springfield, Ill., from his home which was then Chicago, Kemp recalls he was in the army just two months before embarking from Port Tampa, Fla., for Cuba.

"Nobody had enough training," Kemp recalls. "While we were on the ship, the officers were worried about the location of Cervera's fleet. They didn't known where he was. Isn't that awful? A country as big as this and we didn't know where the enemy was! What a catastrophe!"

★ ★ ★

"The officers didn't know a darn thing," continued Kemp. "One of them was off catching butterflies after we landed," the veteran snorted; and he still summons the indignation as though the event were recent.

TRACES ANTECEDENTS

A veritable history book, Kemp traces his antecedents to a great-uncle who was a former mayor of Detroit and who with his brother allegedly built the first railroad in Michigan. The line which ran from Detroit north was later bought out by Grand Trunk.

The name of the family was Howard and the two brothers then built the Howard rifle which they sold to the Whitney Arms Co., a descendant of old Eli Whitney cotton gin operation, Kemp recalls.

One thing the former insurance agent would like to obtain is one of those old buffalo guns manufactured by his ancestors.

★ ★ ★

"My son found one once," he recalls, "but I never did get one."

Mrs. Kemp, a patient at the Glen Acre Convalescent Home next door, and the veteran have been married 63 years. They raised four children.

Birmingham School Board to Consider Teacher Pay

BIRMINGHAM — The board of education will consider a tentative salary schedule and calendar for the remainder of the 1967-68 school year at its regular meeting tonight at 8.

★ ★ ★

The salary schedule proposed by Supt. of Schools Dr. John B. Smith is the same as that included in a tentative agreement reached between the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) and board negotiating teams Nov. 11, but rejected in a vote of BEA members.

The schedule calls for a starting salary of $6,300 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience. Top of the scale after 12 years is $10,275.

Smith, in recommending the adoption of the interim scale and calendar until negotiations are concluded, said "operations of the school have been handicapped because of the lack of a definite calendar, and parents, teachers and students have been unable to make personal plans."

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that a calendar of anything less than 180 school days will cost the district $40,000 a day.

SALARY COMMITMENTS

In addition, Smith said, district representatives visiting placement offices and interviewing teaching candidates for the 1968-69 school year have been unable to make salary commitments due to the lack of a negotiated schedule.

"It is essential for the welfare of Birmingham's schools," he warned, "that a schedule be adopted."

Also on the agenda is the naming of a committee to study the need for additional high school facilities.

★ ★ ★

A report on secondary needs was presented to the board at a special meeting Jan. 8. It stated that the district's high schools would have to accommodate about 1,000 new students by 1971, according to population projections.

ADVISORY PANEL

The board will also consider the appointment of an advisory and planning committee for a millage election, recommended by Smith "as soon as possible."

★ ★ ★

Board members had expressed hope at earlier meetings that an agreement between the board and BEA could be reached before a millage election, so that exact figures might be obtained on operating needs.

That hope has not been abandoned, according to Administrative Assistant Walter Piel. However, Piel said, planning for an election may be begun before details on the millage request are ascertained.

Troy School District Signup Under Way for Adult Education

TROY — The winter adult education term will begin Jan. 29 in this school district.

Registration will take place at Troy High School today and tomorrow from 6:30-9 p.m. Registration may also be made by mail or in person at the adult education office in Morse School, 550 Hickory.

★ ★ ★

The winter program has been expanded to include several new courses, among them creative writing, fundamentals of aeronautics, and college algebra and trigonometry.

New workshops added this term include executive skills development, handcrafts and decorations, interior design, modern social and ethical issues, and investment.

2 Republicans Seek Village Presidency in Clarkston Primary

CLARKSTON — A primary election here Feb. 19 will select one of two new contenders for the office of village president, both of whom have filed as Republican candidates.

With Robert Wertman's failure to seek reelection, the job is being contested by Councilman David Leak and Frank Russell.

Three trustee seats are sought by incumbents Harry Fahrner and Donald Cooper plus E. Nelson Kimball and Jack Hagen. Hagen is the only Democrat listed.

Art Pappas seeks reelection as clerk, Mary Ann Pappas as treasurer, and Ralph Thayer as assessor.

★ ★ ★

Romney Fights for Votes in N.H.

Regardless of the showing Michigan's Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY makes in New Hampshire's Republican presidential preference primary March 12, he will have treated the Granite State to a dynamic, tireless campaign keyed mainly by a precept so elementary as the advancement of integrity and morality in government.

ROMNEY

It's surprising that so few seekers of public office have thought of it before.

With Romney, the espousal of personal and political rectitude is no political pitch, and genuinely reflects the character of the man.

★ ★ ★

Readers may remember the monumental goof committed by U.A.W.'s GUS SCHOLLE in backing ROMNEY's opponent in a bygone gubernatorial campaign when the garrulous GUS questioned the sincerity of the governor's religious dedication—a goof far worse than ROMNEY's innocuous "brainwashed" semantic slip.

GUS was quickly muzzled by the U.A.W. hierarchy, and thenceforth his voice has been thunderously silent as far as ROMNEY's personal character is concerned.

As of now, the governor is polled a 5-to-1 underdog to RICHARD NIXON in the upcoming election. But since his electoral appeal has presumably touched bottom, there is only one way for him now to go. It is up.

★ ★ ★

New Hampshire is ideal for the personal type of campaigning that is ROMNEY's forte. It is small enough to enable him to cover its every nook and cranny and to project his magnetic personality in personal contact with untold thousands.

ROMNEY's private and public career has epitomized success and undeviating drive toward objectives. You can bet your bottom campaign button that he will not take a New Hampshire licking lying down.

Whether, like the fabled St. George who went forth and knocked off a dragon, Michigan's George can topple the rock-ribbed bastion of New England Republicanism remains to be seen. But the inhabitants of the state whose motto "Live Free or Die" appropriately reflects Romney's inherent opposition to increasing Government control of people and things, will have witnessed a ballot battle they will not soon forget.

Science Outracing Comprehension by Populace

The feat of Stanford University scientists in artificially reproducing the infectious core of a virus has excited fellow scientists more than it has the ordinary man in the street.

In the first place, only a molecular biologist can fully understand what was done and how close it brings us to the day when "life" can be created in a test tube or human inheritance or evolution can be manipulated.

In the second place, most people are already quite confident that scientists can do anything, or eventually will (a conviction not shared by scientists).

★ ★ ★

In the third place, it is really the simple things that amaze the scientifically unsophisticated.

The primitive savage is startled by the production of flame from a cigarette lighter; a wrist watch interests him only mildly because its function and complexity are beyond his comprehension.

And on our own level of civilization, a camera that develops its own film elicits "oohs" and "aahs" of genuine appreciation while the transmission of television pictures of the surface of a planet millions of miles away does not.

Scientifically unsophisticated people are in the majority, and probably always will be. Nevertheless, it behooves all of us to begin learning just where to properly direct our appreciation—and understanding—of the scientists' pioneering accomplishments.

For the new scientific worlds they are exploring today are where our children will live tomorrow.

1910 View of Senate No Longer True

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A useful exercise in adult education is to review, after 10 or more years, what we were taught in college. Too often we find that what we heard or read then has been disproved by what has happened since.

MOLEY

For example, we might note the contrast between the membership and the temper of the U. S. Senate today and the comments on that body in James Bryce's classic, "The American Commonwealth," which was required reading a generation ago.

It was published in 1893 and a new edition came out in 1910 when Bryce was the British ambassador to Washington.

Bryce said that in foreign policy the Senate in large measure was a considerable restraint upon the President. Certainly that is not true now.

★ ★ ★

He also said that because a Senate seat attracted abler and more ambitious men, the membership was of a higher order than the membership of the House.

MORE AMBITIOUS

Surely, it still attracts the more ambitious, but not necessarily the abler individuals. But it is probably true that the hundred best members of the House are more useful legislators than the average in the Senate.

The belief of Bryce and the assertion in the Federalist Papers a century before, that the Senate — because of the longer terms and greater average age of the members — would serve as a restraint upon the "passions" of the House, is now completely disproved.

The Senate today is much more profligate in spending money and in accepting new programs than is the House.

★ ★ ★

Senators generally respect the member who works hard on the business of legislation, who is industrious in his committee work and who creates and sponsors important legislative measures. They do not greatly respect the member who is preoccupied with outside activities for personal exploitation at the expense of regular attendance upon Senate business.

CONTRAST EVIDENT

There is already a contrast on this scale of values between the Kennedy brothers, Robert and Edward.

Robert, whose presidential ambition is all too obvious, pays only cursory attention to the business of the Senate. He is irregular in attendance, and when he appears at committee hearings it is usually only to badger witnesses and to get headlines for purely negative criticism. He seems to care very little for the respect of his colleagues, and they respond by withholding respect for him.

Edward is more diligent and, for a junior member, has worked hard on constructive projects of his own.

★ ★ ★

Robert follows the example of his brother, John, who was far from effective as a senator. Edward seems to respond to the example of his elder colleagues.

AMBITIOUS PEOPLE

In some cases the diligence of a senator in attending to his committee work in Washington permits publicity-minded and ambitious people in the home state to undermine him. One such case was the defeat of Guy Cordon of Oregon, a most useful member, by Richard Neuberger. Sen. Wayne Morse also is a product of this procedure.

★ ★ ★

The level of the Senate under direct election has declined progressively over the years. Thus, there is a wide difference between prestige in the Senate and the national image that is created by so many of its newer members.

Some Guy Dubbed Them The Weaker Sex!

James Marlow Says:

Bombing Pause Has Price Tag

WASHINGTON — What does the price tag say?

If the United states called a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam and the Vietnamese responded by slowing down their fighting in South Vietnam then the pause would be worth it and peace talks might get started.

MARLOW

If the United States stopped bombing the North in the hope of a reciprocal response but the North used the pause to build up its forces in the South with men and supplies, U.S. ground forces in the South would have to pay the price.

So far the North has never shown any intention of slowing down its own side of the war when there was an American pause. But the calls for a bombing halt, temporary or permanent, go on.

★ ★ ★

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is the latest one to oppose the bombing. He wants a permanent halt to it.

He thinks what the North said on New Year's Day may be "one small indication" that if the United States stopped the bombing the North Vietnamese might be willing to talk peace.

This is what he said Sunday. He was referring to the North Vietnamese statement Jan. 1 that an end to the bombing will bring peace talks. In the past Hanoi had only said such U.S. action could — rather than will — bring talks.

But North Vietnam really didn't make it that simple. Hanoi said there will be peace talks if the United States unconditionally ends the bombing and all other acts of war. But it didn't say it would stop its end of the war if the United States met its demands.

And so far President Johnson, thinking of the price tag, has refused to end the bombing. Instead, he is trying to find out what exactly North Vietnam will do if the bombing stops.

But Mansfield went beyond just hoping for the best. He said of the bombing, and gave it as a principal reason for wanting the bombing stopped altogether, whether or not the North Vietnamese respond:

"I think that militarily it has not accomplished its objective, politically I think it's very risky, and morally I think it's quite calamitous."

Yesterday, a committee of distinguished men, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, tried to take a detached view of the bombing problem. Some of the others in this group are retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, and Paul Douglas, former senator from Illinois.

The group — called the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam — published a pamphlet giving the two sides of the argument about ending the bombing of the North. But it also offered conclusions of its own.

★ ★ ★

It said the bombing is not as central to the American effort in Vietnam as some of its proponents claim nor as much of an obstacle to negotiations as its opponents claim.

It said the war cannot be won in the air by bombing the North. But the bombing is a help to American ground forces fighting in the South and the war can be lost on the ground, the group said.

But the committee takes pretty much the same position as Johnson has, saying: "We believe that the beginning of an extended bombing pause must be promptly followed by Hanoi's cessation of sending men and materials into the South and any firing from the North upon our fighting men."

Bob Considine Says:

Many Changes Found on Return to Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS—It makes one blink to come back to this place after an absence of four or five years. And I don't mean there's more neon.

What impresses the returnee is that the desert has developed a skyline. Everything was low-slung and spread out the last time I saw this Paris of the plains.

CONSIDINE

It was something of a rarity to live on the second floor of a hotel along the Strip. That was the top floor as a rule.

This time I'm on the 18th floor of the Sands, and there appear to be others just as tall or taller.

★ ★ ★

The jingle-jangle seems much more muted than I remember it. Maybe they're using soft nickels in the slot machines. The gambling halls are quieter, too, and seem to have receded farther away from the front doors of the big hotels.

OLD GUARD VANISHES

Coincidentally, gambling now provides only half the income of the average hotel, where once it might have been 80 per cent.

I've been here for six hours and have yet to see a broken nose, a cauliflower ear or hear a "dese" or even a "dem." Where did the old guard go? Back to Detroit? Cleveland? Miami?

Wherever they went, they went away richer—except the few however, who were worse suckers around the tables than some of the rubes they tolerated only because they were losers.

★ ★ ★

The corporation types now sit in the high places. They are just as happy to see the high rollers come into town as was Benny Seigal—the patron devil of the Strip.

PROFIT AND LOSS

Benny's Flamingo, the first of the posh ones along the Strip, did more for this place than anything that happened until Howard Hughes dropped in.

But the corporate types play it cooler. The only game they play is "P and L." The "P"—for profit — is upstaging the "L"—for loss—that the big Eastern banks are looking into this place as an investment area almost as keenly as the aforementioned Mr. Hughes.

When their starched accountants arrive with the loot — somewhat more elegantly than Frank Costello used to send it in — Las Vegas will move still farther away from Benny's dream.

★ ★ ★

This has become one of the greatest convention towns in the world. I can recall the day when few big corporations would dare hold a meeting here.

AIR CLEAR OF FEAR

The cliche at the time was that executives, salesmen, distributors and whatnot, would gamble away their all and disgrace themselves, their families, and, worst of all, the dear old American Widget and Gadget Corp.

Now the air is as clear of that fear as it is of smog. Everybody comes to Las Vegas and more and more bring the wife and kids. Thousands enjoy the place though they never belly-up to anything more lethal than the hotel newsstand.

The new-style types in the business offices and the chamber of commerce have broadened the profit base by extolling the nongambling aspect of Las Vegas: The boating and water skiing, fishing on Lake Mead, golf on emerald courses that would have seemed like shimmering mirages to desert rats who once sought gold in this area long before the invention of the slot machine, and entertainment of a higher caliber than any other city or resort in the country.

'Appreciate Cooperation of Downtown Merchant'

Many people run down our downtown merchants but I would like to brag on one. At Christmas time it has been the custom of our department at Pontiac Motor to purchase toys and clothing for the Children's Village. After talking to merchants in the area, we were offered discounts ranging from four per cent to ten per cent. Much to our dismay we could not cover the entire group of approximately 180 children.

During the shopping time we talked to the buyer at Simms Brothers and he worked with us to the extent that we were able to get all the children gifts. Our hats off to the owner and personnel at Simms for helping us make these children happy.

Recent Heavy Snowfall Prompts Opinions

I protest against that resident on the west side of Ottawa Drive who turned off the street in his car, advanced across the sidewalk and then parked right there. His driveway wasn't shoveled out. All pedestrians had to wade through knee-deep snow to get around his automobile. He should get a summons and pay a fine for selfishness.

PEDESTRIAN

I think Pontiac does a pretty good job of shoveling out after snowstorms. A few residents who refused to pay charges should do their own promptly. They have no right to enjoy the shoveled walks of their neighbors and others and do nothing themselves.

Two Agree With Action of School Bus Driver

The bus driver who returned students to their school after much disorderly conduct was using a disciplinary measure that was really needed.

STUDENT WHO RIDES THAT BUS

I agree with the Waterford driver who refused to drive students from Pierce Junior High School. Until we are given enough authority to protect ourselves from these students who are bent on "taking over," and assurance that we won't be faced with retaliation from irate parents, we have no choice but to use our own judgment as to what would be best for the safety of the rest of the group.

★ ★ ★

Parents should be more cooperative in teaching their children how to act on a school bus. Those parents who object to our decisions should ride a school bus and see for themselves before condemning the school system and its efforts.

Reader Gives Opinion on City Income Tax

The City Commissioners act like small children. If they don't get what they want, they threaten you with drastic action. Then they take up brainwashing. First it seems funny that just two city employes have an attorney stop the setting of the vote on a city income tax. Then Judge Beer says the tax is legal without letting the people defend the petitions. I did not sign the petition but would have if asked. Maybe we need a Boston Tea Party in Pontiac.

Urges Merchants to Keep Sidewalks Clear

For the time it takes and the small cost of salt, it would be nice if merchants on Saginaw would keep their walks cleaned. Surely there is enough help to do this. Let's all put our efforts into this cause. We're trying to increase our business downtown and this is just one of the small things that would be appreciated. Snow and ice on our sidewalks are a hazard. Let's eliminate this.

'What Is School Plan for Added Revenue?'

The unbelievable property tax raises in nearly all communities of Oakland County have been an automatic revenue increase for the schools. It is a larger amount than any bond issues the school districts have asked the taxpayers to pass. Our township increased the taxes over $30 a thousand. What are the districts planning on doing with all this added revenue? I wish The Pontiac Press would poll the various school districts on this question.

The largest third party movement in history is under way via the American Independent Party. The failure of the Republican and Democratic parties to offer the people a choice is the reason for the rapid growth of this party. Only Children of 'the Family' to Be Invited

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would be deeply grateful if you could tell me the proper way to tell my wedding guests that the dinner reception is for adults only. We have arranged for a six o'clock ceremony followed by a dinner for 125 people.

★ ★ ★

I'm allowing nieces and nephews to attend the dinner, but I can't afford to accommodate children outside the immediate family. I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings. — Gladys.

★ ★ ★

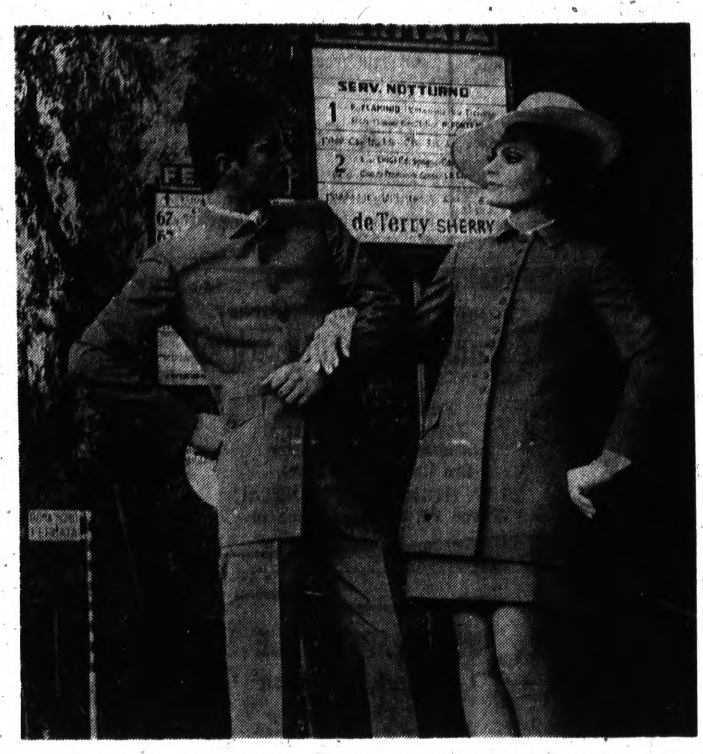

Dear Gladys: It is incredible to me that people receiving an invitation addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. Johnson" would assume that this included all the little Johnsons. However, from the number of letters I receive, it must be a very common problem.

★ ★ ★

Therefore, it is time to evolve a way to handle the situation, and this is it: If you live in an area where it is generally accepted that children are included in all invitations, you may enclose a card saying, "Due to limited space (or facilities) we regret that we cannot invite children other than immediate family members."

Young Girl Already in Trouble Asks for More by Present Attitudes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter wrote a letter to you, but she didn't mail it. I found it on her desk. Everything she wrote was true, but she left out a few very important facts. Here is her letter:

"Dear Abby,

ABBY

I am a 16-year-old girl "in trouble," and my mother refuses to let me get married. The boy I'm going with is 19 and wants to marry me. We've gone together for seven months. My mother THINKS she is going to send me to a home for unwed mothers and get me to give the baby up, but she is altogether mistaken and I have told her so. CARES"

Abby, I think you ought to know that my daughter is not yet 16. The boy is married, but not living with his wife. He says he will get a quick divorce and marry my daughter, but in my eyes he will make a very poor husband.

I want her to go to a home for unwed mothers and give her baby up, but she doesn't want to.

Abby, is it such a terrible thing for a girl to give her baby to a family who can give it all the advantages if the girl is not equipped to care for it?

I married at 16, had a family right away, and had to raise my children alone as my husband walked out on me. No one knows how rough this kind of life can be unless she has gone through it.

I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy, let alone my own daughter. I want her to finish high school, go on to college, meet a nice man who will marry her and give her a better life than I have had.

She's pretty and intelligent and could easily do it if she doesn't spoil everything now. She has already made one mistake. How can I keep her from making two? HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: First, I don't think it is so "terrible" to give a baby up for adoption if the mother is not "equipped" to care for it. (By "equipped" I don't mean with material things — I refer to a good home with two parents who love each other and have a solid marriage.)

A 19-year-old boy who has "gone with" a girl who is not yet 16, and has gotten her pregnant, is not my idea of a very promising husband. Even if he were to get a "quick divorce" and marry the girl, it would offer no real solution.

★ ★ ★

If your daughter is wise, she'll listen to you. If she won't listen to you, I hope she'll read these words, and listen to me. I agree with you wholeheartedly.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended an open-house party honoring a couple who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. I took them a very nice gift.

I noticed a beautiful three-tier wedding cake on the buffet table, but the guests were served plain home-baked cake. Far as I know, no one even got a taste of the beautiful wedding cake.

I can't understand why anyone would order an expensive cake to serve 100 people, and then give their guests plain, home-baked cake. I was very much insulted.

Both guests of honor have high blood pressure and diabetes and cannot eat sweets anyway. Was I wrong to feel insulted? GUEST WITH A GIFT

DEAR GUEST: If you are suggesting that your gift entitled you to a piece of the "beautiful wedding cake," I think you're wrong. Whether one serves the anniversary cake to guests, saves it to eat privately, or lets it petrify, should be of no concern to the guests.

DEAR ABBY: Where is a girl supposed to get married? In her own home town? Or her fiance's? My fiance and I have been having some disagreements on this. He's from Illinois and I am from Kentucky. His people live mostly on farms and could not get away for very long, whereas my people live in the city and most of them work in offices and could take a couple of days off work to attend the wedding.

It really doesn't matter to me, except that most of my friends are in Louisville. Whot does the book of etiquette say?

LOUISVILLE GIRL

DEAR GIRL: The book of etiquette says the wedding should take place in the girl's home town. But again, let me say that common sense, convenience, and circumstances transcend etiquette.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman at college and have a serious question to ask you. When a boy tries to get you to go all the way by asking, "You wouldn't buy a pair of shoes without trying them on, would you?" What is a girl supposed to say?

STUPID

DEAR STUPID: "I'd rather buy a pair of shoes without trying them on, than get stuck with a pair that's been worn by everybody in town."

Lifts Skirts on Truth of Fatted 'Calves'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Without a blush, the Federal Housing Administration told Washington's secretaries Monday they could wear miniskirts with gay abandon and fear no more about fattened calves.

It said advice to the contrary, issued last week under its name, was a hoax.

"It was a put-on," said an information officer at FHA about a wordy directive which solemnly warned female employes of the agency that they wore miniskirts in chilly weather only at the risk of fatty limbs.

★ ★ ★

"The bodily response is a quick build-up of successive layers of fatty molecules under the skin areas of the thighs, knees, calves and ankles of female legs," the memo proclaimed.

The press officer said the directive was a satire of the stuffy, bureaucratic and eternal language of Washington's interoffice memos.

Trouble was, Washington is so accustomed to windy language that the capitol was fooled. Saturday morning papers and radio broadcasts carried the story without hesitation.

★ ★ ★

"It gave us a pretty good laugh," said the man at FHA. "We're not even going to try to find out who did it. Whoever he is, he has a really great sense of humor."

Rome Fashions Make Entrance Despite Flu

ROME (AP) — While Rome shivers through one of the coldest winters in years, Italian fashion designers turned women's thoughts to warmer weather in spring-summer fashion shows.

★ ★ ★

Thirty couture houses are presenting their creations for the coming season in a program lasting through Thursday.

The ateliers' staffs had been hard hit by Rome's raging flu epidemic. Designers feared their collections would not be ready on time.

But with characteristic Italian flair and the burning of much midnight oil, a last-minute effort has made the showings possible as planned.

London designer Hardy Amies has decreed that legs shall be covered but the majority of Italy's top stylists are keeping skirts reasonably short.

The generally held view is that "Women just won't wear maxiskirts in the summer."

The lowered waist, frequently marked by a belt, and the softly moving skirt are typical of the 1930's influence that is likely to be the prevailing mood of these Italian shows.

But since fashion has never yet done a complete doubletake, the look that now emerges pays no more than lip service to the bulky styles of 30 years ago.

The silhouette, which in the recent past varied from the wide and unhampered fashions of the caftan craze to the straight-up-and-down military styles, now closes in to achieve a more fitted, shapely look that no longer ignores the curves of the body underneath.

★ ★ ★

Waists will be well marked, even tiny, and dresses will show a seam at the waistline for the first time in years.

It all adds up to a very womanly look with clothes that cling. From this close-fitting line, skirts will flutter in a provocative flare.

One thing is certain, these new Italian fashions will look their best on the woman with plenty of poise. It looks as though the pert and pushy teen-ager will have to take a back seat for a while.

'The Escape' Can Bring Man's Self Indulgence

This is the second of a series of articles on the divorced man. Author is Jean Sprain Wilson, AP newsfeature writer.

Sidney Siller, a giant, gray-eyed, silver-haired man whose experience as a divorce lawyer prompted him to organize the Committee for Fair Divorce and Alimony Laws, ironically calls this "Hallway Justice."

★ ★ ★

Justice or injustice, rightly or wrongly assessed, shaking the guilt, or the self-imposed sense of worthlessness that follows the end of a marriage, takes time. The trauma meanwhile takes its toll.

★ ★ ★

Writer Morton Hunt made a study and a new career of the subculture of the formerly-marrieds after his own 17-year union collapsed.

★ ★ ★

He describes the early emotions this way: "A frightening feeling accompanies the separation — the excruciating loneliness even for those who longed to escape, the waves of indefinable anxiety, the recurrent sense of being lost, the upsurge of desire to rush back at whatever cost into the bad marriage."

★ ★ ★

Though a few withdraw altogether from social contact, a surprisingly large number of men — and divorced women, too — plunge headlong into a phase of overindulgence. Too much food, liquor and sex are efforts to satiate inordinate appetites aroused by badly battered egos.

A study of obesity indicates that divorced men are often compulsive gorgers. As for wine and women, the story of a prominent Madison Avenue advertising man aptly illustrates this.

★ ★ ★

"I told myself I drank because I was lonely. A few drinks made my woman-chasing seem to me less contemptible at my age," he ruminated.

★ ★ ★

"My wife had been carrying on with some one else under my nose. I guess I had to prove to myself I appealed to other women since I had been rejected by her. My work went to hell. The lunch hours got longer and the cocktail hour got earlier until I just didn't get back to the office. Then one morning I awoke with the sun streaming into the car and I was slumped over the wheel, still in my tuxedo, parked at a suburban shopping center. I hadn't the foggiest idea how I got there. That scared some sense into me."

★ ★ ★

That passions subside and scars heal with time are little consolation to the freshly detached male. But it does happen.

★ ★ ★

"Under normal circumstances they have to grieve for the dead love even as one grieves for a dead lover, before they can feel for someone else," declares author Hunt.

★ ★ ★

What does not subside as rapidly as passions is the sense of apartness and aloneness when the world of pairs closes out the newly divorced man.

Classes for Diabetics Set at Health Center

"Diabetes" is the subject of a series of five classes to be held Tuesdays from 2-4 p.m. at the Oakland County Health Center, North Telegraph Road, beginning Jan. 30.

Topics to be discussed include the nature of the disease, dietary management, medications and suggestions for coping with everyday problems.

* * *

The classes are free. A written statement from the patient's physician is required for attendance and can be presented at the first class. Relatives may attend.

Sponsored by the Oakland County Health Department, the classes will be taught by Mrs. Kay Claus, nutritionist, and Carol Cummings, pubilc health nurse.

Those interested may pre-register by contacting the Health Department.

Sigma Chis Pick New Sweetheart

ALBION (UPI) — Things are sure changing.

This is Sweetheart Week for the Sigma Chi chapter of Albion College.

The chapter is famous for one reason. Back in 1911, two members wrote that memorable song "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

* * *

In it, of course, is that famous phrase about "The blue of her eyes and the gold of her hair."

Well, the members have selected their Sweetheart of Sigma Chi for 1968. She's lovely Nancy White, s senior from East Grand Rapids.

CHOSE BRUNETTT

Miss White is a brunette with hazel eyes.

Chapter President Loren Musilek, of Birmingham, explained "We just don't have enough blue-eyed blondes."

For an extra special seafood salad, halve grapefruits and remove the sections. Fill shells with cooked shrimp, lobster, or crabmeat, moistened with French dressing.

Home Stylists Find Gel a Hair-do Help

Here are some hints for home hair setters: With knack or not, you're going to need a good hair setting gel.

A gel adds body to the hair and makes the setting easier and faster. Stroke the gel on with your fingertips, either wet or dry, and comb it through. It spreads evenly from scalp to ends, making the hair hug the roller.

* * *

You'll need a wide-toothed comb for combing wet hair, assorted-size rollers and clips or bobby pins. The largest rollers make the smoothest 'dos; medium rollers are for more body and curl.

When the hair is completely dry, brush it vigorously into the style you wanted. Finish off with a light mist of hair spray.

Use a pipe cleaner when cleaning the petcock of a pressure cooker. It simplifies the job.

MRS. WILLIAM LaFAY

Area Man Is Married in Petoskey Ceremony

Gowned in an ivory ensemble fashioned from satin, Linda Louise Smith became the bride of William James LaFay Friday in St. Francis Xavier Church, Petoskey.

Alencon lace highlighted the ensemble at the bodice and sleeves as well as the full train.

★ ★ ★

To complement her attire, the bride chose a matching satin rose securing her shoulder length veil.

Rosemary Smith and Dennis Spivey attended the couple as maid of honor and best man.

Other members of the wedding party were Mary Ellen Beer, Linda Hicks, Kathryn Lentini and Kathi Walsh with ushers James Kloc, James Rice, E. C. Whitaker and John Thorndycraft.

Following a reception in Petoskey, the couple departed for a honeymoon in Florida.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward Smith of Petoskey and the late Mr. Smith. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Louis LaFay of Tubbs Road and the late Mr. LaFay.

'Risks of the Pill Less Than Risk of Conception'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A University of Caliornia gynecologist belives the risk to women from taking "The Pill" is much less than the risks of conception.

"Too many women have been frightened by a few articles which give a false, disaster-laden impression," said Dr. Edmund W. Overstreet, professor of obstetrics.

He said about four of every 10,000 American women die from the effects of pregnancy.

He said birth control pills do have nuisance side effects in a small percentage of women, "but some people can't take aspirin or other simple medications" either.

Alfred B. Nagy, lay administrator, will discuss "The New Christian Morality" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in St. Hugo of the Hills Schools. At Detroit's Gesu Parish, Nagy works in adult education, teen and young adult programs, human relations and personal and marital counselling. He is a graduate of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania's Moravian College.

GOP Women Choose Head

Elected as president for the coming year of the Bloomfield Republican Women's Club is Mrs. O. Brent Moffitt.

New officers include Mrs. William H. Ragsdale, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Donald C. Somers, second vice president and hostess committee chairman; and Mrs. Lee C. DeNike, corresponding secretary.

★ ★ ★

Recording secretary is Mrs. J. T. Miller with Mrs. Jack E. LaBelle as treasurer and Einor Paton as council delegate.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Father Time is a sneaky character but in a way he outsmarts himself. He is dangerous because he slips up on us gradually, day by day, week by week, year by year, wrinkle by wrinkle, pound by pound. Therefore, we may not be aware of what he is doing to us.

★ ★ ★

However, we can fight him in the same way, day by day, week by week, line by line and pound by pound, and believe me, thousands of women who are following my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan are going to give him a real setback and a big shock! They will turn the clock of age back about 10 years, whether he likes it or not!

One of the most important ways to fight time is with daily exercise. Women who keep their bloom and their figure long past the age for fading are usually faithful exercisers. They exercise not just once in a while, but daily, as a way of life.

IMPORTANT EXERCISE

Exercise is an important part of any reducing routine and should be a part of yours unless there is a medical reason which prohibits it. In the first place it burns up calories. I said yesterday that you must cut your calories by 500 every day in order to lose one pound a week.

If you walk briskly for 20 minutes, or about a mile, you use around 80 calories. Make that two miles and you have used 160 calories. This adds up importantly over a week.

Of course, more strenuous exercise utilizes even more calories. Increased activity, plus curtailment of food intake, means a successful and happy weight loss.

Walking will not spot reduce you. For this you need special exercises. A two mile walk, or two 20 minute periods of brisk walking, plus 15 minutes of specialized figure molding exercises daily, and you've got it made! On days when you cannot take a walk do special exercises for two 15 minute periods.

WALK FOR EXERCISE

A walk is wonderful exercise because it gets you outside, but if you cannot manage this, then concentrate on your figure molding exercises. These are beneficial to health as well as to the figure, and are important because they increase tone while the pounds drop away. They are therefore insurance against flabbiness.

We all know that exercise is essential to the health of the circulatory system, and that's the best kind of health one can have. However, there are warnings I must give you. Don't dash out for a two or three mile brisk walk if you have been walking leisurely about the house, doing your household tasks, and have only walked briskly when going from wherever you were to the refrigerator for a snack.

★ ★ ★

Seriously, before doing any strenuous exercise have your heart and blood pressure checked by your doctor. Whether you are taking a walk or taking figure molding exercises, start in slowly and build up gradually.

If you would like to join thousands of other women in the fun, to lose from 15 to 20 pounds and look years younger just eight weeks from now, send for my Bip Kit. This gives you complete instructions, has a calorie chart, a height and weight chart, my champion exercises, menus for 15 days with calories counted for you, and a wall chart on which you can watch your beauty line rise as your weight line drops.

★ ★ ★

If you want this kit send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling, and your printed name and address. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

You can eliminate that shiny ridge that you sometimes acquire when ironing around a zipper. Place a thick, dampened towel over the closed zipper and press over it.

HOW ABOUT THAT! — Larry Tremper (center) and Larry Hurst look properly impressed as they watch Roger Shepler, Varsity Club adviser, exhibit his prowess with a basketball. The Fabulous Faculty Five will challenge Pontiac Central High School Varsity Club members on the courts tomorrow during second hour. Richard Ayling, director of the individual instruction program, will coach the faculty with Dean Wilson, track coach, guiding varsity players.

Faculty-Varsity Tilt Tomorrow

By KATHY McCLURE

Pontiac Central High School's Fabulous Faculty Five hope to beat the Varsity Club tomorrow. The annual basketball game will be held second hour in the boys' gym.

So far, the record is 51-0 in favor of the faculty. The "old, agile," team members are confident of another win now that Richard Ayling, director of the individualized instruction program, has returned to the lineup.

Ayling will coach the faculty and also play. The lineup will include "Galloping" Garth Errington, principal; "Wild" Bill Richardson, English; "Jumping" Jerry Beckner, science; and "Generous" Gene Gerard, business.

Concluding the list are "Sleeky" Steve Czabo, physical education; "Careless" Carl Knirk, business; "Perfect" Peter Ugolini, dramatics; "Gorgeous" Jim Goodfellow, math; and a "host of other greats."

Coaching the Varsity Club will be Dean Wilson, track coach. Walt Terry, Larry Froede, Leon Looney and Rick Sherrell will be among the players.

OTHER PLAYERS

Also playing will be Larry Hurst, Bob Dickie, Larry Tremper, Mike Prince and others.

Ralph Grubb, driver education, and Fred Zittle, social studies, will referee the game.

Cheerleaders will include Mrs. Arthur Chantler, physical education; Mrs. Brian Haynes, English; Judy Misner, English; and Diane Kline, English.

★ ★ ★

Money collected from the sale of tickets will be used for the promotion of athletics at Central.

CONGRESS

Students from Central attended the 21st Delegates Congress of the Cooperative Education Club of Michigan held Jan. 5 and 6.

Ray Hibbs and Chuck Graham represented the Central chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America. Representing the Office Education Association were Joan McCann and Barbara Puckett.

Advisers William Rogers and Ralph Rotsel accompanied the delegates to the congress held in Battle Creek.

Delegates from all over Michigan elected new officers and ratified the new constitution.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Principal Edward Dauw reported that juniors of homeroom 132 had pizza "coming out of their ears" Jan. 10. As winners of Pride Week and of the Holiday Decorating Contest, they were treated to a pizza party by the Student Council.

Pontiac Central students eligible for the State of Michigan Competitive scholarship are Jeff Ross, Kathy McClure, Michael Leacher, John Mason, Steve McKelvey, Richard Coty, Albert Yee, Karen Stringer, Peter Elliott, Kathy Doig and Charles Sterns.

Others are Chris Litwin, Sandy Nutter, Richard Rogers, Alana Cargle, Joyce Eaglen, William Rollo, Dale Cheal, Anita Crone, Cheryl Dell and Carol Gaydos.

Still others are Victor Adams, Roger Houston, Annette Johnson, Charlotte Miller, Ted Mole, Larry Tremper, Janie Ulrich, Cathy Crew, Michael Jacobs, Jan Godoshian, Joy Pepper and Cheryl Davis.

★ ★ ★

OTHERS

Completing the list are Cecylya Brown, Robert Guzman, Greg Arcinago, Nora Genez, Sue Brown, Maxine Thome and Linda Lippard.

★ ★ ★

These students became eligible for this scholarship through test scores. The scholarships will be contingent upon academic records and financial need. The winners of these scholarships will be announced in the spring.

New Industrial Arts Wing Is Opened at Lahser High

By GRETCHEN HAAS

This week another wing of Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School was completed and opened for use.

This wing, called the Industrial Arts House, includes the facilities for industiral arts, music art and drama classes.

Private practice room in the music department are new, and ceramics classes can now begin thanks to the added space.

A concession stand has also been built and is presently being used for the school's paperback book sales. In the future the stand will also be used for selling refreshments during school games.

Although the auditorium is not finished, the area planned for the drama and speech classes will provide them with greatly needed work space.

★ ★ ★

New drama practice rooms, equipped with full-length mirrors, are also planned.

The estimated date for completion of the gym, pool and auditorium is now April 1.

The first major session of the Constitutional Convention took place last week. This elected body of representatives from each of the humanities classes has been formed for the purpose of designing the type of student government to be used at Lahser.

This planning group is working to form a government which will operate in close association with the student body.

Milford Offers 'The Crucible'

By DIANA NEALER

The Salem witchcraft trials will be portrayed when the Milford High School Drama Club presents "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Directing are Grace Leppala of the faculty and student director Bruce Watson.

★ ★ ★

In 1692 the hysterical cries of young girls caused the hanging of a number of citizens of Salem.

To save themselves from certain punishment when they were caught dancing and calling upon the devil in the woods, the girls accused members of the community of witching them.

Events snowballed until John Proctor goes to court to clear his wife and is himself accused. Finally he must decide whether he will lie and save his life or tell the truth and face certain death.

Abigail Williams who is responsible for starting the hysteria is played by Gail Davis. John Proctor is portrayed by Randy Smith and Proctor's wife, Elizabeth, by Lesley Salminen.

★ ★ ★

Others in the cast are Bruce Watson, Charles Baird, Charles Hildreth and Carol Stiles.

Also in the cast are Ken Lawrence, Sharon Marciniak, Chris Palmer, Wendy Prodell, Cathy Cleary, Wayne Hall, Jon LaBreche, Mark Cook, Keith Kraus, Nancy Williams, Debbie Deliere and Dian Scherer.

2 Rotary Guests From Rochester

By KARIN HEADLEE

Honored guests for the January meetings of the Rochester Rotary Club are Rochester High School's Larry McLean, senior, and Mark Price, junior.

The boys will attend weekly luncheons at the Elks' Club where they will view movies, hear speeches and join in the general discussion of the meeting.

An organization of Rochester businessmen, the Rotary Club promotes interest in community service. The Junior Rotary Club contains high school seniors and juniors who are selected on recommendations of their English teachers.

Rochester's Girls' Athletic Association will play an away game with Clawson Friday at 3:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The 30 members of the G.A.A. squad practice basketball every Friday night and on Tuesdays when the gym is free.

Coached by Theo Guillaume, a faculty member, the team began its season with a victory over Lake Orion.

Cranbrook Eyes Church Ruling

By DAVID DYE

There is a movement at Cranbrook School investigating the problem concerning mandatory church attendance. School policy requires students to attend church every Sunday.

Two concerned seniors, Tim Barrett and Joel Kramer, ran a poll in the fall to get students opinions on the requirement. Tim and Joel felt they had to act because many boys were violating the rule, and many wanted to abolish it.

The results were 17 for mandatory church and 106 against.

Two-thirds of the students who answered thought that the church service was uninteresting and uninformative Yet almost four-fifths of them are for some type of student-run activity (lectures or discussions) to replace mandatory church.

★ ★ ★

Tim feels the mandatory church rule needs to be relaxed.

NEED CHOICE

Students should be able to decide whether they want to attend church or an activity concerning religion and current events.

While the poll was being conducted, Jim Walker, another Cranbrook senior, acted independently. He convinced the faculty to let the 10th, 11th and 12th graders choose between going to church or Marquis Club every Sunday.

(Marquis Club is a youth group at Christ Church, where teen-agers may participate in discussions and events for the better understanding of themselves and the world.)

The experiment seems to be a success. Students attending are interested and enjoy the club's relaxed atmosphere where they can express their views freely on social and world issues.

BASIC QUESTION

Though the Marquis Club may be a temporary substitute for the question of mandatory church, the basic question of the law's necessity has yet to be answered.

Soon a discussion between students and faculty will resolve the question.

★ ★ ★

"The Headmaster and the faculty have listened to the students concerned and have been very helpful," said Tim.

"When students make a proposal that is more effective and valuable than attending church," said Headmaster Robert M. Sandoe, "it will be acted upon."

Annual Variety Show Drawing Near at Waterford Kettering High School

By DONNA FURLONG

"Good Times" are coming to Waterford Kettering High as the annual variety show approaches.

Narrators for the program to be presented tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. will be Marcia Steehler and Steve T. Peterson. A modified version of the show will be done for the student body at a later date.

Featured in the two-hour performance will be Don Van Dyke, humorous reading; Roger Fidler, Jim Fisk and Mike Fourslund, instrumental trio; and Bill Daugherty, John Hascall, Ken Hebenstreit, Doug Johnson and Larry Thompson in the Dixieland Band.

Other performers will be Sue Lynn Robison, baton; Pat Guzak, mod dance; Ellen Kaul and Kathy Clarkson, novelty number; and Sue Aeschliman and Debbie Baer, a novelty duet.

★ ★ ★

A selection from "The Red Velvet Coat," which was performed last fall in Lansing, will also be done by members of Dramatics Club.

Rounding out the list of troupers will be the "Oke Fenokee Swamp Soppers," Kathy Clarkson, Carol Methner, Terry Ruelle, Mary Sies, Nancy Stoppert and Greg Windeler.

Tickets may be purchased at the door. It will be open to the public.

Play production classes are now performing "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" for nearby elementary schools.

Snow White is being played by Mona Haviland. With Bev Taylor as the queen and Dan Orders, Prince Charming.

★ ★ ★

The dwarfs are Linda Baker, Janet Donaldson, Mary Fields, Jeri Klock, Leroy Sexton, John Turnball and Janie Vanella.

Portraying animals are Jill Case, Sue Gratz, Barb McConnell, Cheryl Reinhardt, Diana Richmond and Sandy Swain.

Concluding the cast are Stu Lesser, huntsman; Matt Smith, guard; and Cheryl Wilton, narrator.

The play is performed by invitation only. Those schools interested should contact Patty Looman, a teacher.

A recent guest was Jerry Skarbek of the Peace Corps. Just returning from Tanzania, Africa, Skarbek stopped to inform the students on the progress of our school.

Each year Kettering students sponsor a drive to provide money for a worthy cause. Last year money was raised to build a school in Tanzania. The school was named Dosi-Dosi.

Champs to Play Faculty

By ANNE KILLEEN

Would you spike a volleyball game with the faculty women and serve it to the Girl's Athletic Association Champs? North Farmington High School will tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m.

The 1967-68 GAA champions are the Chosen Few. Captain Sharron Huth has lead her team through an undefeated season while Sue Roberts, chaplain, has kept the girls in the right spirit.

Members of the Chosen Few are Pat Cummins, Angie Garcia, Connie Feuling, Pat O'Donoghue and Katheleen MacArthur. These senior girls have been joined by two of NFH's exchange students — Lene Kibsgaared, Denmark, and Jutta Umland, Germany.

Mrs. Ron Kean, sponsor of the Girls' Athletic Association, will serve as captain of the faculty women's team.

This is the first year GAA champs have challenged the faculty women. A series of three games will be played in NFH's gymnasium, and the winner of two out of three will reign in GAA's "Net of Fame."

Exchange Club has invited foreign students from neighboring high schools to spend the upcoming weekend at North Farmington High. Exchange Weekend is an annual NFH affair sponsored with the assistance of Mrs. William Hall, club adviser.

Thursday evening, 20 foreign students will arrive for dinner at the homes of NFH's families. Friday they will attend and speak in different classes. The annual Exchange Day Assembly will be held sixth hour.

Basketball, NFHS style, will be on the evenings' activity list. Following the game with Wayne's John Glenn High School, all are invited to the sophomore class Dime Dance.

Stars went to the Journalism I class last Friday when they wrote and published North Farmington's bi-weekly newspaper on their own.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

At the end of each semester, journalism students employ what they have learned in the class, printing their own issue. The students efforts are then evaluated as part of their final grade in the class.

Adviser Lynne Chamberlin appointed editorial positions and maintained the duty of editor-in-chief.

Front-page news was edited by Cathy Kennedy and Diane Kuhn. The editorial page was handled by Kay Sullivan and Diane Gilbert.

Paulette Franck and Gail Slagle were coeditors for the feature page; sports news was compiled by John Thomas and Chris Rader. The Stars art editor was Doug Carnahan.

The remaining 21 members of the class acted as reporters, typists and assistants to the editors.

School News Roundup

Marian

By PATRICIA POLMEAR

"I am not here to tell anyone what to do about drinking, because that is a personal decision," Robert Hammond, executive director of the Michigan Alcohol Education Foundation, told Marian High School students at a recent assembly.

Hammond stated that alcohol influences the behavior of people.

He explained four ways the eyes can be affected by alcohol, and told ways the hearing is also affected.

"Alcohol can create a problem of mental imbalance if used to excess. Alcoholism is a type of sickness that affects the coordination and control of emotions," continued Hammond.

★ ★ ★

"More than 80 million people use alcoholic beverages in the United States. In Michigan alone, there are 2½ million users. Of these, 200,000 are alcoholics."

AN ANESTHETIC

"Alcoholic beverages," he added, "serve as an anesthetic."

The speaker also explained that every person's capacity to drink differs from someone else's limit.

"Some people can take seven drinks, and not be affected, while others sniff the cork and pass out," he quipped.

★ ★ ★

Hammond, however, finds that one rule generally holds true:

PSYCHOLOGICAL MAKEUP

"For most adults to drink to full intoxication takes more alcoholic content than for a young person. It is all a matter of an adolescent's psychological makeup."

★ ★ ★

"Unconsciously, the young person reacts to drinking the way he thinks a person who has been drinking should act," he said.

"Here's a blessing for furnaces, mice, bread, everything but school rings," began Rev. Paul Bigley at the senior ring blessing ceremony.

In his homily, he reminded the class that their rings "can mean as much as you care for it to mean."

He provided time for the girls to meditate before the sprinkling of the holy water. Seniors rose for the Marina hymn.

★ ★ ★

Following the ceremony, class business was settled and the period ended with soft drinks and potato chips served to the accompaniment of guitars, song and chatter.

Marian publications again achieved high honors in journalistic competition for 1966-67, according to four rating services.

The Catholic, National and Columbia Scholastic Press Association all named the school paper, Marianews, and the yearbook, Marian Way, first place winners.

Marian competed with thousands of high school newspapers and yearbooks for national recognition.

★ ★ ★

Commended for its superior news coverage, feature articles, and excellent typography, the school paper is said to treat religion, "in vital, specific forms, not in pious and vague generalities."

'BEAUTIFUL LAYOUTS'

Yearbook surveys commended Marian Way for its "bold, beautiful layouts, imaginative, lively theme and excellent copy."

"These awards indicate the hard work of an excellent, dedicated staff. Through these critical surveys we hope to improve any weak points," analyzed Sister Raphael, publications moderator.

Clarkston

By KATHY MATLOCK

Clarkston High School has this year added to its available courses, embryology. This is a nine-week laboratory course. A senior level course, its purpose is to prepare the biology majors for future study. In this class students study and experiment with the developing embryo.

Mrs. Russell Woodruff, a biology major from Alma College, teaches the class this year.

The Girls' varsity basketball team defeated Waterford Township with a score of 22-21. The Junior Varsity was defeated by a score of 18-21.

The Girls' Varsity will play Waterford Kettering at Waterford, this Friday.

★ ★ ★

This Thursday the ski team will have a meet with Walled Lake and Southfield at 4 p.m. at Mount Holly.

CLASS CHANGE

Last year the ski team won the Class C championship. This will be the first year that they will race Class A. They are in the Wayne-Oakland League. Jim Johnston, electronics teacher, is the coach.

Kingswood

By MARY STEWART

Tryouts for Kingswood's varsity and reserve basketball teams are taking place this week.

Returning to try out are last year's team members: Alexa Kachinko, Mary Beth Bartter, Katey Lerchen, Pat Farrell, Kitsy Hanson, Dede Knox, Penny Mitchedd, Marnie Greenwood and Kathy Mullins.

June Morris, basketball coach, hopes that the team will be well-prepared for Kingswood's first game with Rochester Feb. 1.

In addition to basketball, Kingswood has field hockey and lacrosse teams playing other area schools.

★ ★ ★

Also, tennis, modern dance, bowling and volleyball are included in the athletic curriculum.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

In the intramural aspect of sports at Kingswood, the student body is divided into two teams, the "Greens" and the "Whites."

Games between these teams are played during athletic classes to determine which team will win the green and white banner at the close of the school year.

Brother Rice

By GARY MILLER

Some students at Brother Rice High School will take a European tour this summer instead of their usual family vacation.

James Murphy, who teaches history, economics, and accounting, has organized the tour and will act as chaperon. All students have been invited to take part.

Countries such as England, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Holland and Switzerland will be visited.

Murphy will teach an optional two-week course dealing with the countries to be visited. This course will be conducted prior to the date of departure.

★ ★ ★

Murphy plans to leave Detroit July 20 and return home on Aug. 18.

SCHOLARSHIP FINALISTS

Brother J. D. Donnelly, principal of Brother Rice, announced last week that three seniors are semifinalists in a scholarship program. The three seniors are John Canever, Tim O'Rourke and Tim Zimmerlin.

The Brother Rice Pep Shop officially opened last week. Buttons, shirts and tickets may be purchased at the shop which is adjacent to the gym.

Mike Mayer, vice president of Student Council, is in charge of the shop. John Staiger and Bob Mulcrone assist him.

★ ★ ★

The Brother Rice Student Council will sponsor a sock hop Saturday night in the gym. Bob Seger will be featured.

Lapeer

BY SHARON KIEHLER

Four members of the Lapeer High School student body — Kathy, Dave, Debbie and Dan Sohlden — were struck a disasterous blow recently.

A fire destroyed their home including all clothing and contents. Their parents are the Wayne Sohldens of 4494 Williams, Attica.

There are 17 members in the family.

Many students expressed the desire to help the Sohldens. Therefore, on Friday, each student was asked to bring a small monetary contribution to help purchase new clothing.

★ ★ ★

During the lunch hours the cheerleaders circulated through the cafeteria with cannisters for contributions.

The four Sohlden children were not informed by the student body of this collection until it had been completed. The committee hoped to raise around $150.

St. Lawrence

BY JANICE V. BROUCK

Konstantyn Damas, a senior at St. Lawrence High, has been awarded the Father Hugh-Smith Scholarship at the University of Detroit.

The scholarship is for four years at the university. Konstantyn's brother, Stanislaus, won the same scholarship when he graduated from St. Lawrence in 1966.

The National Honor Society sponsored a Careers Day Program for the St. Lawrence High students recently.

Speakers representing professions and careers held sessions with the students. Some of the fields of interest included teaching, social work, modeling, airline stewarding, medicine, law, interior decorating business and journalism.

★ ★ ★

The keynote speakers were Wilfred Schuchard and Msgr. Edward De Keyser.

Students reported Careers Day was an enlightening experience through which they gained valuable information about those interests and occupations which they intend to pursue.

Farmington

There have been murmurs for several months about big changes to be made in the Farmington High School English curriculum. The new outline of courses was approved by the Board of Education at its recent meeting.

Last spring, a committee of five was appointed to study possible alterations in the antiquated curriculum currently in use. That committee developed into total involvement of the Farmington Senior High School staff.

Twice a week, 13 teachers and two student teachers met with mounting enthusiasm to update the course offerings. As professionals they were concerned about a continuing decline of student interest in the field of English.

They do not pretend that the resulting bill of fare will be total panacea, but with modifications over the first few years, these educators feel it should go far toward providing the stimulus to learning which has been lacking.

★ ★ ★

Testing will be done among the low 25 per cent of ninth graders to determine how many of them will need a basic English course as they start the 10th grade. In order to bypass this course (fundamental skills) the student must get an 'A' on the test which will be graded by a board of high school English teachers.

School Superintendent Tells Board of Financial Woes

The serious financial condition facing the Waterford Township School District in 1968-69 was told to the Township Board last night by Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe.

Tatroe, who proposed 1968-69 budget reductions totaling $1.2-million following a Nov. 20 school millage setback, painted a grim picture to Township Board members.

He urged township officials to offer suggestions to help the board of education cope with the financial predicament.

He told board members that a revolution is occurring in public employment. "Salaries of public employes who work for school systems have really skyrocketed in the last three years," Tatroe said.

★ ★ ★

He emphasized that 85 per cent of the school district's budget is spent for salaries.

'CAN'T KEEP UP'

"We just can't keep up," said Tatroe, who noted that a mill in the township produces about half that of the average Michigan community because of an inadequate industrial tax base and a nonpredominance of large homes.

Tatroe said that the 23.60 mills used to operate the school district is below the county average and that Waterford teachers this year settled for the third lowest salary scale in the county.

Waterford ranks fourth in enrollment among the county's 28 school districts, trailing only Pontiac, Royal Oak and Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Tatroe cited a few districts which operate on substantially larger budgets than Waterford does even though their enrollments are nearly the same.

Tatroe stressed that funds set aside for construction cannot be used for operation.

"The money we have for buildings can't be used to solve our problems," he said. "We would still need 7½ mills today even if we hadn't built anything."

According to Tatroe, it costs $58,000 a day to operate Waterford Township Schools.

★ ★ ★

"The cards are really stacked against us," said Tatroe. "We've even got to renew 15 mills or close the doors completely."

EXPIRATION NEAR

The district's 15-mill taxing authority for operation expires after the 1968 tax levy.

★ ★ ★

Prior to the budgetary conversation, Tatroe and Township Board members discussed pedestrian overpasses, sidewalks, gravel paths and other safety measures for children, but no recommendations were made.

Funds Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Department of the Interior has awarded $627,570 to the Grand Rapids Department of Public Works to construct interceptor sewers, pumping stations and force mains. The total cost of the project is $2,091,900.

Trailer Park Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mecosta County in central Lower Michigan has been awarded a $123,000 federal grant to construct trailer parking sites in the county, U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announced Monday.

Break-In Arrest

PETOSKEY (AP) — Three Emmet County youths have been charged with breaking and entering in connection with recent burglaries at two supermarkets where $540 was taken. Police said the three charged were Robert A. Foisy, 17, of Harbor Springs, Steven Schwartsfisher, 22, and Edwin Wagenschultze. 18, both of Petoskey.

News of Waterford

Contracts Awarded for 9 New Vehicles

The Waterford Township Board last night accepted bids for the purchase of nine new vehicles, including six police cars.

Awarded the contract for the six police cars with a net proposal of $10,120.02 was Beattie Motor Sales, Inc., of Waterford Township.

The bid included a $5,130 trade-in allowance for five cars now being used by township policemen.

John McAuliffe Ford, Inc., of Pontiac had submitted an apparent low bid of $8,910 for the police cars at the board's Jan. 8 meeting.

However, it was disclosed at last night's meeting that the firm had erred and that the intended bid was $9,910.

CONTRACT AWARDED

Consequently, the board voted 6-1 to reject the low bid and award the contract to Beattie Motor Sales. Clerk Arthur J. Salley was the lone dissenter.

The cars to be received are custom four-door Ford sedans.

The board accepted two other bids from McAuliffe Ford — $2,438.95 for a station wagon for the fire department and $1,844 for a one-half ton truck.

★ ★ ★

The bid for the one-half ton truck was accepted after it was determined by the township vehicle committee that the low bidder, Spartan Dodge, Inc., of Pontiac had not met engine specifications.

Spartan Dodge's low bid was $1,820.35.

BID ACCEPTED

The low proposal of $2,571 from Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet of Pontiac was accepted for a one-ton truck. The bid included a $150 trade-in allowance for a used township truck.

A purchase order of $9,040.24 was awarded to Utility and Industrial Supply of Jackson for brass water works fittings to be used for new water service connections in the township this year.

Also approved last night was a request by Lighthouse Lanes, 4443 Dixie, to serve alcoholic beverages on the bowling alley concourse and for a dance permit.

★ ★ ★

Appointed to four-year terms on the Waterford Township Board of Canvassers were Carole Terry of 6351 Cleveland and Olin LaBarge of 2877 Adlake.

AFFILIATIONS

Mrs. Terry is a Democrat and LaBarge is a Republican, according to township officials.

★ ★ ★

Gaining terms on the Waterford Township Library Advisory Board were William Dean Jr. of 4355 Forest and Mrs. Lyndon S. Salathiel of 534 Shoreview.

Opening lead—♥ K

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

When the king lead indicates either ace-king or king-queen, the ambiguity isn't going to hurt you often but it will hurt occasionally.

JACOBY

West has a normal opening lead of the king of hearts against the four spade contract. If South takes his ace right away, West will have no further problems. South is going to wind up losing two clubs and two hearts providing that East and West don't do something silly later on.

Therefore, South is going to let West hold that first heart trick. If West continues the suit, South will have executed a successful Bah Coup (named after the resort of Bath, England, where some whist player is supposed to have made this play in the early part of the 19th century) and will make two heart tricks and his contract.

If East and West are playing the old-fashioned lead of king from either ace-king or king-queen, East is going to play his nine of hearts as a come-on. He will want West to continue with the ace and another heart to give a ruff.

West may be smart enough to shift to some other suit, but West is more likely to continue on the assumption that East's play of the nine was from ace-nine-deuce and not from nine-deuce.

If East knows definitely that his partner has led from ace-king-queen and not from ace-king, he will play the deuce of hearts. West may still continue the suit. Players don't always follow signals. But if he does it will be in spite of East's play not because of it.

Furthermore, it is perfectly possible that a smart West player would shift to a diamond after his king of hearts held the first trick and a nine spot signal by his partner.

Everyone makes good plays; everyone makes bad plays. All we know is that it is a lot easier for East and West to find the correct defense if East knows that West does not hold the ace of hearts than if East has to guess.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Wednesday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Be perceptive. Realize that change for mere sake of change may not be wise. Find out why — investigate. Be a reporter. Dig for the facts. Then day proves fruitful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): If persistent you find ways of greater self-expression. Means check routine. Get details in order. Then you will find base of operations. This permits greater freedom of action.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Accent on short journeys, dealings with relatives Finish projects. Put ideas to work—test theories. Day may be significant if you act rather than procrastinate.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Early today your hunches may pay dividends. Take initiative. Follow through on project. Sence of timing plays important role. Indications point to profit.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): State your needs. Cycle high — lunar position emphasizes personality, direct action. There are changes — permit them to occur. Don't hang on to past. Avoid unnecessary complications.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Some undercover activity may cause concern. Be flexible. Don't permit others to dictate terms. Your position is due to be strengthened. Realize this. Plan actions accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Get busy with what must be done. Don't be sidetracked by friends. Know that you must separate business from friendship. Otherwise there could be financial complications.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Not wise to falter or express doubt. Much depends upon display of confidence. One you wish to confide in may not be available. Necessary for you to be self-reliant.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Strengthen ties with those far away. Means correspond, call, make feelings known. Pay attention to messages. You make discovery of value. Gain shown from written word.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Unusual persons, subjects dominate interest. Satisfy curiosity without parting from cash. Means be practical. Accent on occult, the hidden, legacies and money of partner or mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Take the lead without appearing arrogant. Provide face-saving device for close associate. Don't battle. Instead, win your way through diplomacy. Those in authority favor your position.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Basic tasks require attention. Area you neglected cries out for correction. Could involve health, job, diet. Better to finish rather than to being projects.

★ ★ ★

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural executive — you drive through to completion of projects. You have faith in ultimate ability to succeed. Opposite sex finds you attractive, dynamic.

Social Security—14

Critics' Fiscal Arguments Insupportable

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The harshest critics of the Social Security system, watching it grow and take on more and more burdens like Medicare, like to argue that it is at least $350 billion in the red and steadily going broke.

Without minimizing the huge financial problems which inevitably accompany the system's constant enlargement, it seems fair to say that these arguments are insupportable.

In the first place, the $350 billion figure represents the entire unfunded outstanding obligations of the Social Security system.

But this total sum is not owed NOW in any real sense, and could not be unless the many millions of potential beneficiaries in this country suddenly—in one curious stroke — became eligible together for their retirement, survivors' and disabled benefits.

Of course nothing like that is going to happen.

What counts is the system's capacity to pay its obligations as they develop.

Most economists and other specialists believe it is in good shape if, generally, it has a fund reserve roughly equal to the amounts it must pay out in benefits in a given year.

Social Security authorities say trust funds of the system presently hold close to $26 billion, more than enough to cover an expected record $25.2 billion outlay in cash benefits in 1968 as new higher payments take effect.

★ ★ ★

Some critics argue that so close a relationship between income and outgo is dangerous.

GUARANTEED BY LAW

But present and future income is guaranteed by law, since Social Security taxes must be deducted from workers' pay checks, employers must match these deductions, and additional revenues are gathered as interest on the accumulated funds.

Furthermore, Congress in its 1967 Social Security revisions has just spread the base from which the tax is collected to reach earnings up to $7,800 instead of the old $6,600, and has provided for six tax increases between 1969 and 1987.

On top of this, steadily rising wage levels suggest that in the years ahead more and more workers will be paying Social Security taxes up to — or near — the newly specified income top of $7,800.

★ ★ ★

Another point is that the new top probably could be lifted again, at least to the $10,800 level the administration sought in 1967, without too much political fuss.

And there would be still more leeway here, since analysts note that even at the $10,800 level only 87 per cent of U.S. workers would be taxed on all thier wages.

Despite Social Security's enormous and continuing growth, receipts have exceeded payments in all but five of its more than 30 years of life.

In the next five years, forecasts are that perhaps another $36 billion will be added to its trust fund reserves — notwithstanding rising outgo.

The system is helped, additionally, by the fact that many Americans who pay in never make any claims against it.

Some die before retirement time and leave no survivors, some work on past retirement age at good income levels and never seek benefits.

Notice to Employers

The City of Pontiac Income Tax was made effective January 1, 1968. The ordinance requires all employers to withhold from salaries and wages at the rate of 1% on residents and ½% on nonresidents.

All employers located in the City or doing business in the City are required to register with the City Income Tax Division. Please phone or call at City Hall for a registration form if you have not already returned the registration form mailed to you.

Employers outside the City who employ Pontiac residents are requested to register and withhold as a convenience and service to their employees who would otherwise be required to make quarterly or annual payments.

The Guns of Judgment Day

Cliff Farrell's new Western thriller

From the Doubleday & Co. novel; Copyright © 1967, by Cliff Farrell. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Dan Briscoe, going on patrol in Yellow Lance as night marshal, felt this might be the last night. He faced a dilemma with the Hatch brothers in town, plainly intent on settling a grudge against him. While Briscoe was having supper with the Mayor, deputy Frank Buckman encountered the Hatch brothers and was killed.

Filled with remorse, Briscoe decided to hang up his guns. Mayor John Cass suggested Briscoe go to another town where a friend of his, Bill Royal, might give him a job as ranch foreman.

Chapter 6

It was two weeks later when Dan Briscoe alighted from a westbound Santa Fe express at a station which had the name, FLAG, painted on its wall.

Dan got his bedroll and leather from the baggage truck, then moved into the shade of the depot while he surveyed the town.

Like the other passengers, he was wrinkled and dusty after days aboard a train rolling through the oven heat of Kansas and New Mexico.

He needed a shave, but his mustache and sideburns were gone. Along with many other things in his past he had shed them before boarding the train.

★ ★ ★

Protected from the sun, he found the air surprisingly cool and bracing. Also thin. This was mountain country. A sign on the depot stated that Flag's elevation was 7,255 feet above sea level. Population 358.

JARRING NOTE

A sawmill droned somewhere, sending forth the spice of resin to tone up the fragrance of the pines.

A distant, snow-tipped mountain peak was framed by the sky.

There was only one jarring note: In addition to lumbering, Flag was a railroad town, and a shipping point for cattle.

★ ★ ★

There were pens and loading chutes in sight down the tracks. That reminded him of Yellow Lance.

RESPONDS TO COUNTRY

He was almost of a mind to return to the train and continue the journey westward. But he found himself responding to the country.

He searched out the sign of a Wells Fargo office near the depot and walked there, carrying his belongings.

He wore a white cotton shirt and the customary denim saddle breaches and haff-boots.

★ ★ ★

Like his bedroll and the satchel, both of which he had bought secondhand in Kansas City, his attire showed the fading and wear of much use and washings.

GOES UNNOTICED

It had seen many hunting trips when he had been off duty at Yellow Lance, as had the seasoned range hat that shaded his face.

Several cow ponies were tethered at rails of stores and saloons along the dusty street. Cowhands were commonplace in Flag. He drew scarcely a second glance from passersby.

The stage office seemed deserted, but the sound of his heels on the plank floor brought a bald head rising reluctantly beyond the counter.

★ ★ ★

The agent, who had been dozing in a chair, got to his feet with an abused sigh. He had a wrinkled, petulant face, and the apathy of a man not in love with his job. "What is it?" he barked.

INQUISITIVE

"I'm thinkin' of headin' for Flat Butte, if there's a stage in that direction," Dan said.

The pouting lips straightened. Tired eyes suddenly became inquisitive. "Flat Butte, hey?"

Dan waited. When the man didn't elaborate on the query, he nodded. "That's it. Flat Butte."

★ ★ ★

The agent placed elbows on the counter in order to pull his body higher so that he could lean and inspect Dan from head to foot. "Cowhand?" he asked.

"I reckon," Dan said. "Now, about a stage to Flat Butte?"

"You'll have to wait a couple days," the agent said. "Stage to Flat Butte an' points south leaves here only on Tuesdays an' Fridays. This is Wednesday. Next one pulls out Friday mornin' at five-thirty sharp."

"What's the fare?" Dan asked.

★ ★ ★

"One way?"

There was malicious irony in the question. Dan found himself wanting to twist the sharp, little nose that was poked in his direction. "I haven't decided," he said.

ADVISES ROUND TRIP

"Twelve-fifty, one way," the agent said. "Twenty-four dollars round trip. You'll save a dollar."

"I'll let you know," Dan said.

"I'd advise a round trip," the man said.

★ ★ ★

"Now, if there's one thing that doesn't cost a man a cent, it's giving advice, good or bad," Dan remarked.

PONDER ATTITUDE

"An' worth a lot more'n money, sometimes, mister," the agent snapped.

Dan left the office, pondering the man's attitude. There was, of course, the chance he had been recognized, but he doubted if that was the real explanation.

He headed toward a ramshackle, two-story structure on the opposite side of the street whose sign proclaimed it as offering rooms and board. It was named Heather House.

★ ★ ★

A sizable wagon, with a canvas top sagging over narrow hoops, was entering the town from the west, drawn by a six-horse team. Its body rumbled and boomed as it negotiated the chuckholes, showing that the vehicle was traveling empty.

OUTRIDERS

It was accompanied by two outriders on chunky horses that were wild-eyed and trying to refuse entering the lane of buildings.

The riders, as well as the driver, were swarthy and wore colorful shirts with big square buttons, round woolen caps with small tassels at their sagging peaks, and wide sashes.

Their breeches were tight at the knees and ended in leather thongs.

★ ★ ★

Dan had seen men like these on westbound trains passing through Yellow Lance.

BASQUES

They were Basques, natives of the Spanish-French Pyrenees, heading for Nevada or the valleys of California where big sheep ranchers were in need of such men whose talent for flock-tending was their birthright.

The Basques were hawk-nosed, with dark, proud eyes that fiercely roved doors and windows as they rode by. The stocks of rifles jutted from saddle slings. Pistols and dirks jutted from their sashes.

Dan halted to watch this pageantry pass by. He instantly became the target of three pairs of suspicious eyes. The Basques inspected him briefly, decided that his attention was no more than curiosity, then lost interest in him.

The big wagon swung off the street into a loading lot alongside a rambling supply building near the railroad tracks.

Dan resumed his way to Heather House. As he reached its steps, a woman emerged, accompanied by a small boy. They were in a hurry.

The woman was perhaps in her sixties. She wore a duck saddle jacket, and a man's stiff-brimmed range hat was set on her short-cropped, iron-gray hair.

Her eyes, steely gray, passed over Dan quickly, measuring him and his luggage, with a glance. He felt that he had been catalogued and filed for possible future reference in that one look.

"Kin I ride back to the basin with Andre an' the boys, Gran'ma?" the lad was demanding. He looked to be about 6 years of age.

"Now why would you want to ride sixty miles in a freight wagon, darling?" the woman protested. "My land, you'd have your teeth jolted out."

"I wanna, Gran'ma. I wanna! Andre said he'd show me how they used to hunt goats in the old country."

"Well, we'll see."

$5,000, Weapons Stolen From Store

MONROE (AP) — About $5,000 in cash and an undetermined amount of handguns and ammunition have been stolen from a large discount store just outside of Monroe, police reported Monday.

Police said burglars punched a hole in the roof over the weekend and dropped into the store, the Bargain City Shopping Plaza.

Tools from the hardware department were used to peel open the office safe, where the money was stored.

GM Talks Intensify; Strikes Draw Near

DETROIT (AP) — With 8,200 Chrysler workers idled by local walkouts, the United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. bargained intensively today in hopes of averting a rash of local walkouts at the giant auto maker.

The union had set a 9:15 a.m. strike deadline today at GM's central foundry in Defiance, Ohio, and has threatened to strike at six other plants if local contracts are not settled by Wednesday. Two other plants face Friday deadlines.

★ ★ ★

In other developments, bargainers for the UAW and American Motors Corp. will continue concentrating today on local issues at the company's plants in Grand Rpaids and Kenosha and Milwaukee, Wis.

No main table bargaining talks on a new national contract have been held since a brief session Friday, and evidently the company and the UAW are attempting to get local issues settled at GM and Chrysler before approaching the national contract for the nation's smallest auto maker.

Thanksgiving Day is celebrated on the second Monday of October in Canada.

Weakness in Blue Chips

Gains, Losses Even in Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains and losses were about equal early this afternoon as weakness in blue chips continued to depress averages. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.33 at 891.41.

★ ★ ★

The market was continuing a process similar to that of the past five sessions when the industrial average sagged but gains outnumbered losses on the New York Stock Exchange. The difference Tueday was that as the session wore on gains no longer were more numerous in the total list.

Aside from profit taking on early 1968 strength of blue chips, the reason most often cited for current action was extreme uncertainty over President Johnson's forthcoming messages to Congress.

★ ★ ★

"It is difficult to see how they may be stimulating to the market" said Arthur Wisenberger & Co.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 323.3 with industrials off 1.5, rails up .1 and utilities up .2.

★ ★ ★

Prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange. Mary Carter Paints "A" advanced about 3 points. Up more than a point were National General warrants and Gale Industries. Sterling Precision had a flurry, rising a large fraction in active dealings then backing away to trade about unchanged. Active fractional gainers included Burma Mines, Kaiser Industries, Banner Industries, National Video and Goldfield.

LEAVES COACHING — Dean Wilson, a track coach for 18 years, 12 at Pontiac Central, leaves coaching for an administrative position with the school system. Wilson came to Pontiac from Traverse City when Hayes Jones (with him on right) was a sophomore, and Wilson's most recent protege has been Bill Tipton (with him on the left) now a freshman at Eastern Michigan. Roger Shepler has been named to take over the track coaching duties.

Wilson's Goal 2-Years Short

Central's Track Coach to Leave Bright Record

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Just two more years coaching track is what Dean Wilson wanted, but the Pontiac Central coach who has been part of five state championship teams and a dozen individual champions decided today to accept a more "secure" administrative position in the Pontiac school system.

★ ★ ★

The decision to take the new position as coordinator of the traffic safety program was naturally his, but the decision to give up track coaching came about as result of the school system's rule that administrative personnel cannot hold coaching jobs.

Wilson, 42, has been a track coach for 18 years, including three as head coach at Traverse City High School and 12 as head coach at Pontiac Central.

It wasn't long after he came onto the PCH scene in 1953 that the Chiefs became a dominant power in Michigan High School track, and the most noted of the many individual champions from Pontiac was Hayes Jones, Olympic bronze and gold medal winner in the hurdles.

STATE CHAMPIONS

Pontiac Central won four straight Michigan high school championships, 1955-56-57-58 and repeated again in 1960 during which time the Chiefs had 11 individual champions.

A varsity football and track star at Western Michigan University, Wilson's most recent protege on the cinders has been hurdler Bill Tipton, high and low hurdles champion in Michigan the past two years, also the 1967 National Junior Hurdles champion.

★ ★ ★

Tipton, like his hurdles' predecessor Jones, is now at Eastern Michigan University with the World Olympics as his goal.

Tipton has already equalled or broken many of Jones' records at Pontiac Central, in Michigan High School competition and on the national junior level, and he will be shooting for Jones' marks at Eastern Michigan and in the NCAA when he becomes eligible for varsity competition.

One of the highlights in Wilson's career as track coach came when Pontiac Central in 1956 became the first team from outside the state of Ohio to capture the Mansfield Relays crown.

They did it again in 1958 and lost the title on a disqualification on the final event in 1960.

Tipton, like Jones was twice hurdles champion at Mansfield, and honored as the outstanding runner in the event.

NAME SUCCESSOR

In leaving coaching, Wilson leaves to his successor Roger Shepler a distance runner named Jon Costello whom he says has the potential of being the first Michigan prep miler to break the 4-minute barrier.

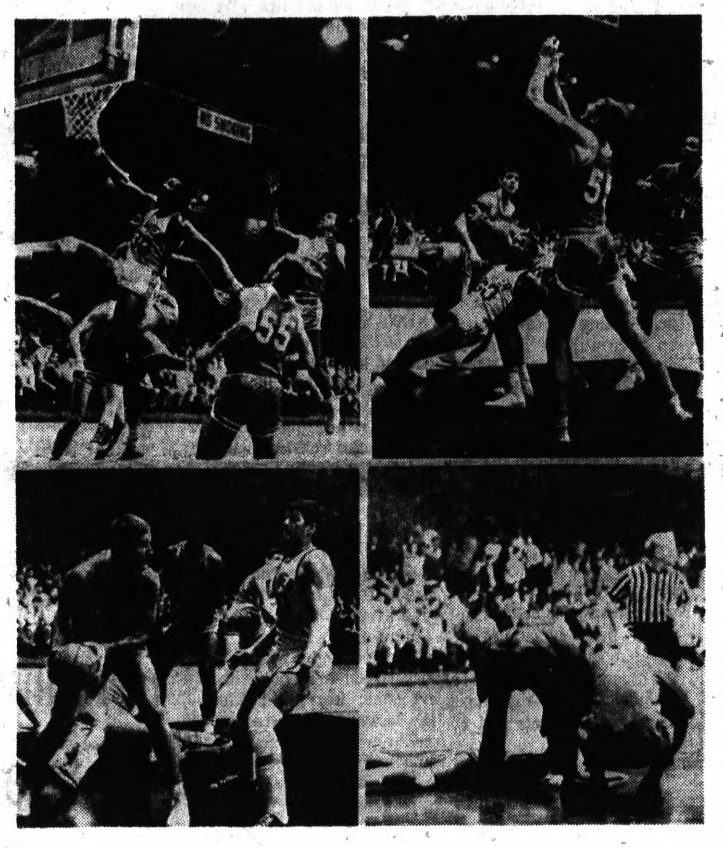

Shepler, a state pole vault champion at Lansing Eastern in 1954, and later captain of Western Michigan's track team, has coached Pontiac Central to the Saginaw Valley cross country championships the past three years, during which time he has been Wilson's assistant.

Alpine Races Canceled

BADGASTEIN, Austria (AP) — The first of two downhill races in the international women's Silver Jug Alpine skiing competition was canceled early today because of poor track conditions.

The organizers announced the non-stop training would be held in the afternoon instead, with only one downhill race to be held Wednesday.

Two Track Battles Loom: Top Milers; NCAA, AAU

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Ryun of Kansas, the world's fastest miler, and Dave Patrick of Villanova, presently rounding into the best shape of his sub-four-minute-mile career, may run the mile against each other Feb. 9.

The race would probably be the high point of the 1968 indoor track and field season. And it could—in theory at least—cost Ryun, Patrick and some 200 other athletes a chance to go to the Olympics.

★ ★ ★

The Amateur Athletic Union fired the latest round in its interminable battle with the National Collegiate Athletic Association Monday. The target was the Feb. 9 track meet in New York run by the U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the NCAA.

The meet, called the Madison Square Garden Invitational, will feature mostly college stars, such as Ryun, Patrick, long-distance champion Gerry Lindgren and pole vault record-holder Bob Seagren.

But three of those scheduled to run—Tommie Smith of San Jose State, Charlie Green of Nebraska and Wade Bell of Oregon—are no longer eligible for college competition, though they are still at their respective schools.

★ ★ ★

The AAU maintains it must sanction any meet in which non-collegians participate. The Federation will "absolutely not" ask for such a sanction, spokesmen said Monday.

Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, said that any athlete competing in the meet will be reported to the International Amateur Athletic Federation, which in turn will suspend his eligibility for international events such as the Olympics.

Two IHL Players Given Suspensions

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two players from Michigan entries in the International Hockey League will not meet on the ice for more than a month as a result of their free-swinging battle in a game with 64 penalty minutes Sunday night.

Port Huron left winger Marty Reynolds and Muskegon defenseman Roy Phug have been suspended for the next two games between their clubs — Jan. 26 at Muskegon and Feb. 18 at Port Huron.

IHL Commissioner Andy Mulligan also fined Reynolds and Pugh $25 each.

Reynolds, who received a match penalty, a misconduct and three minor penalties for 26 minutes, received a cut over the eye in the second period battle with Pugh, who left the ice on a stretcher after receiving a cut over the eye in the second period battle with Pugh, who left the ice on a stretcher after receiving a match penalty.

Toronto Hosts Contest Tonight

NHL All-Stars to Give Silent Tribute

TORONTO (AP) — The National Hockey League 21st annual All-Star game — stripped of its usual glitter by the death of Minnesota forward Bill Masterton—pits Toronto's defending Stanley Cup champions against standouts from the other 11 NHL clubs tonight.

Prior to the opening faceoff in Maple Leaf Gardens, a crowd of more than 15,000 will pay a moment of silent tribute to the memory of Masterton, who died early Monday from a brain injury suffered in a game last weekend.

"It was a shock," NHL President Clarence Clampbell said of the tragedy—first of its kind in the league's 51-year history. "But the game will go on."

The mid-season classic matches first and second team All-Stars, selected at the close of the 1966-67 season, plus a complement of players including one from each of the six new expansion clubs against the Cup champs, currently fourth in the league's East Division.

Gordie Howe, Detroit's magnificent, 22-year veteran, will be making a record 19th appearance in the All-Star game. Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's high-scoring tandem, each will be skating in the allstars line-up for the sixth straight year.

FIRST TEAM

Hull, Mikita and Chicago teammate Ken Wharram were first-team All-Star picks last spring along with defensemen Pierre Pilote of the Black Hawks and Harry Howell of New York, and Rangers' goalie Ed Giacomin.

Howe was named to the second team with forwards Norm Ullman of Detrois and Don Marshall of New York, defensemen Bobby Orr of Boston and Tim Horton of Toronto, and goalie Glenn Hall, a former Chicago star now with the St. Louis Blues of the new West Division.

Horton will play for Punch Imlach's Maple Leafs, who have won just one of six previous games against the All-Stars.

All-Star pilot Toe Blake of Montreal has filled out his lineup with the addition of Boston forward Johnny Bucyk, three players from his own club-forward Jean Beliveau, and defensemen Jacques Laperriere and J. C. Tromblay — and six from the expansion teams.

OTHER PLAYERS

Representing the West Division, in addition to Hall, will be defensman Bob Baun of Oakland, forwards Ken Schinkel of Pittsburgh, Leon Rochefort of Philadelphia, Ed Joyal of Los Angeles and Dave Balon of Minnesota, and goalie Terry Sawchuk of Los Angeles.

Red Wings Call Up Gary Marsh

DETROIT — The Detroit Red Red Wings recalled left wing Gary Marsh from the minors Monday to fill in for forward Dean Prentice, who underwent minor nose surgery in a Detroit hospital.

Prentice is one of several players idled with injuries and other ailments.

He will miss Wednesday's National Hockey League game at Montreal, but should be back for Saturday's match at Pittsburgh.

Prentice underwent surgery to correct infected sinuses. Marsh, up from Fort Worth in the Central League, will probably return after the Montreal game.

Meanwhile, defenseman Kent Douglas spent three hours in traction Monday for a pinched nerve in his neck. But he is expected to make the Montreal game.

Forward Floyd Smith, hobbled with a broken bone in his foot, will skate Tuesday before the team decides if he is able to play.

OTHER INJURIES

Other Wings hampered by injuries include Bruce MacGregor, sprained ankle; Bart Crashley, sore hip and Paul Henderson, still out with a shoulder separation.

MacGregor and Crashley are expected to play Wednesday, but Henderson will remain in Detroit.

The Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins, running one-two in the standings of the National Hockey League's East Division, dominate the top five positions in the circuit's individual scoring race.

Titans Handed 4th Straight Loss by Xavier Five, 84-81

CINCINNATI (AP) — Forward Bob Quick hit the net for 25 points to spark Xavier over the University of Detroit 84-81 Monday night in an independent basketball contest which saw the Musketeers break a four-game losing streak.

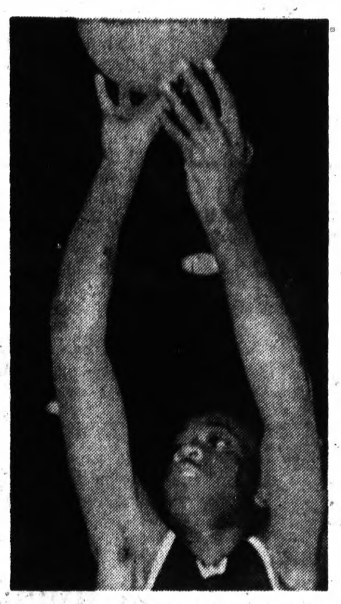

Detroit's Ralph Brisker set the pace for the losers with 24 points.

Breaking in front early in the game, Detroit led at halftime, 46-41. Xavier was trailing at the final six minutes of play when it tied the score, 69-69.

The two teams then swapped leads of one point until Quick put Xavier ahead 78-77 for keeps with 1:41 remaining.

Center Tom Rohling pushed in 18 points and grabbed 22 rebounds for Xavier. Detroit's Bruce Rodwan had a game total of 18.

The victory was Xavier's fourth straight against 10 setbacks this season. Detroit, taking its fourth loss in a row, has an 8-6 record.

NEW HIGH—Guard Frank Russell hit a career high 33 points in Pontiac Central's last start and he has a chance to display his shooting touch tonight for the home fans against Roseville.

Chiefs, Waterford in Home Contests

Pontiac Central and Waterford Township basketball fans can reevaluate their hopes this evening as their teams reach check points in what have been disappointing starts so far.

WTHS and the Chiefs play home games tonight against units that they just squeezed past 5½ weeks ago. Any improvement by either should be evident.

Central is entertaining Roseville (3-4) of the Eastern Michigan League. The Skippers are hosts to Lapeer (2-6). Both contests are nonleague endeavors.

PCH is bidding to square its record at 4-4 with its second win in a row after slumping to four defeats in five starts. This followed a 72-69 opening win at Roseville.

All-State quarterback Ken Fiott of the Wildcats has been on target with his basketball shooting eye, too, and carries a 20 points per game average into the tilt.

FOUR IN A ROW

Waterford (2-4) has lost four straight following its 81-78 victory at Lapeer. The Skippers need a win badly in their bid to reorganize their efforts as they begin a four-game home stand.

The visiting Panthers feature a potent one-two scoring punch in Bill DesJardins and John Rice — both scoring at better than 15 p.p.g. — but their defense has been porous.

Oak Park's cage fortunes have improved noticeably this winter — the Redskins (4-2) lead the Northwest Suburban AA race — and Ferndale's Eagles provide a stern test tonight.

The Eagles take a 5-2 mark onto the Oak Park floor, and haven't been beaten in their three other nonleague starts.

Winless Emmanuel Christian is at Utica Stevenson, Waterford Mott invades Southfield Lathrup, and Bloomfield Hills Lahser travels to Pontiac Northern to play the Huskies' sophomores.

THUMB LEAGUE

In Southern Thumb League play, Almont can tighten the scrap for the top spot by upsetting invading Anchor Bay (8-1). The host Raiders are 5-2 and must win to keep alive any title hopes.

Capac (8-1), whose only defeat was by Anchor Boy, plays weak Memphis; struggling Dryden visits Richmond (2-7); and New Haven (4-4) risks its fading hopes at Armada (3-6).

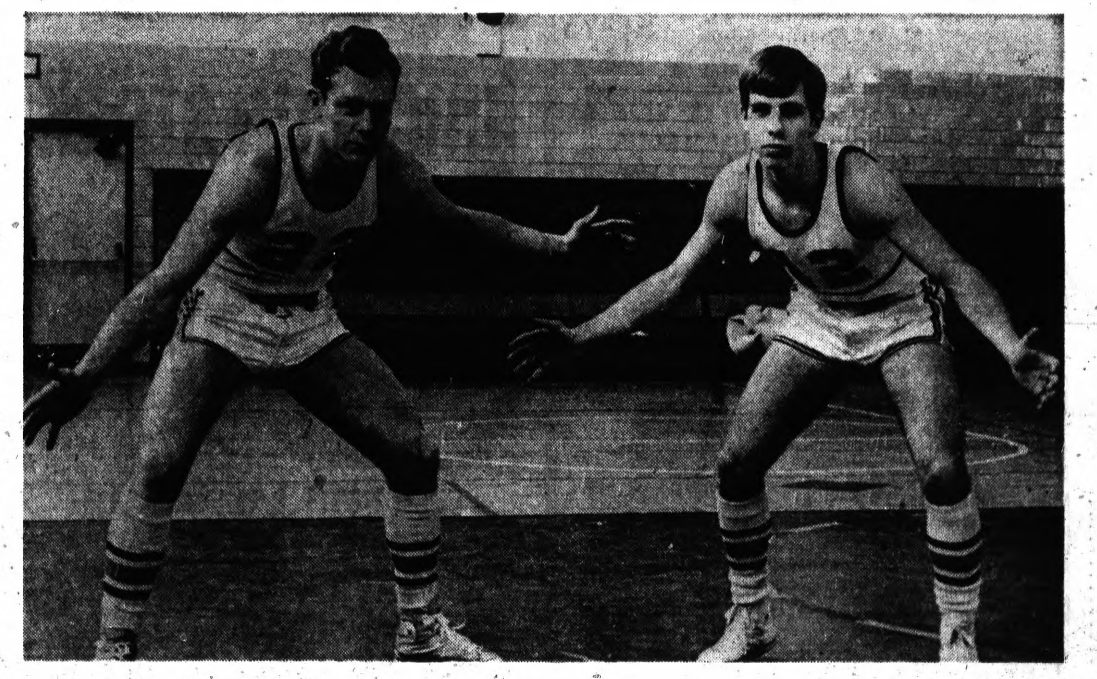

★ ★ ★

Cranbrook attempts to make its two straight wins in a home meeting with Grosse Pointe University School.

Bengals Stocking Up

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The Cincinnati Bengals, a new entry in the American Football League, is being stocked with 40 players today from other league teams.

Half of the Bengals' choices will be announced tonight and the remainder tomorrow.

Pontiac Press Photo

RESERVE DUTY — Guards Len Loveless (left) and Bob Haggard could be in for added duty tonight as Waterford entertains Lapeer. Starter Bob Finkle was injured in the Northern game last week and should he be unavailable tonight, coach Bob Taylor will likely fill the void with either Loveless or Haggard, both seniors.

Comfortable Wins Posted by Rec Basketball Teams

The heavy slate of men's recreation basketball action Monday night found most of the winners compiling comfortable margins.

The Pontiac Class A schedule resulted in a 91-76 victory for the Little Giants over Booth Homes, and an 81-69 conquest for Conn Clothes against P.O.O.B.Y.

Other city men's play included Local 594's 75-67 decision over Petrolanes, a 59-45 verdict for Town & Country Lounge over the Pontiac Police and Coulacos Insurance's 58-46 triumph over Local 653.

Auburn Hills forfeited again, this time to the Questionables.

Waterford Township's results were all National League games. The unbeaten O'Neil Realty quintet increased its lead with a 59-48 win over Irwin Realty, who fell into a second place tie with Drayton Drugs.

The drugmen pounded the Huntoon Cougars, 72-44, despite trailing 29-24 at the intermission. The L. L. B's were behind at the half and after three periods, but trimmed Lighthouse Lanes, 54-49.

The leading individual efforts last night included Jerry Olson's 32 points and 29 by Dennis McDonald in the Little Giants' win; 28 tallies by Mel DeWalt of Conn's; 29 and 22, respectively, for Petrolanes by Butch Halsema and Charles Robison in city action.

Denny Brosseau poured in 12 points as O'Neil's (5-0) pulled away in the last quarter, enabling the realtors' gunner to net 32 for the night.

FALL-AWAY JUMPER — New York's Dick Barnett (12) leans away from defender Tom Kron (11) of Seattle while uncorking jump shot Monday night in the first game of a National Basketball Association twin bill at Boston. The Super Sonics downed the Knicks, 129-113. Willis Reed of the Knicks is in the background.

Knicks Belted, 129-113

Celts Outrun Warriors, 111-102

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Sharman, who starred for the Boston Celtics before retiring to the coaching ranks, figures the only way to beat his old team is to run, run, run.

Sharman was convinced more than ever his strategy was correct as his San Francisco Warriors took two straight from the Celtics within the past month.

★ ★ ★

Now he may not be so sure.

The Warriors ran well, but found a stiff Boston defense too tough Monday night as the Celtics charged to a 111-102 victory after the Seattle Supersonics belted the New York Knicks 129-113 in the opener of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at the Garden.

No other NBA games were scheduled.

In ABA action, New Orleans edged Indiana 108-107 and Kentucky turned back Houston 115-102.

GOOD NIGHT

"They ran pretty good on us at times, but it was just one of those nights for us," Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said.

To offset San Francisco's runnng game, Russell substituted freely calling on fresh troops to keep pace with the Warriors. The Celtics employed 10 players, San Francisco only seven.

Two Boston rookies, 6-foot-7 Johnny Jones and Mal Graham, saw plenty of action and played key roles in the victory. Jones scored 10 points in 21 minutes of play, while Graham had 12 in 38 minutes.

Russell let John Havlicek, 28, and Sam Jones, 27, take care of the Boston scoring as he concentrated on defense, outplaying Nate Thurmond. Russell, who played 43 minutes, scored 12 points and had 21 rebounds. Thurmond had 12 points and 21 rebounds.

Rudy LaRusso and Fred Hetzel were San Francisco's big guns. LaRusso connected for 27 points before fouling out, while Hetzel had 25.

San Francisco led 77-75 until the Celtics caught fire with two minutes left in the third period. Boston clicked for 11 straight points to decide the issue.

Thursday Service for Hockey Player

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) Service for Bill Masterton, Minnesota North Star hockey player who died early Monday of brain damage suffered in a game will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Hillcrest Methodist Church in suburban Bloomington.

Saturday Masterton's body will be flown to Winnipeg, Man., his original home, for burial.

The entire North Star team will serve as honorary pallbearers Thursday.

Bing Setting Pace in NBA Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Bing of the Detroit Pistons continues to lead the National Basketball Association in scoring, but Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati has the best per-game average, statistics released today by the league revealed.

Bing has 1,246 points in 45 games for a 27.7 mark while Robertson has 1,039 points in 35 games, a 29.7 average. Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia 76ers is second in points and has a 24.2 average.

Chamberlain leads in field-goal percentage with a .566 mark and in rebounds with 24.4 per game, Larry Siegfried of the Boston Celtics is tops in free-throw percentage at .862, while Lenny Wilkens of the St. Louis Hawks leads in assists with 7.9 per game.

Kentucky Whips Georgia

770th for Baron Rupp

By the Associated Press

Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats have clawed their way back into the rough-and-tumble Southeastern Conference basketball race.

Ahead for the Baron is a long trip down the country road—and what shapes up as the biggest scuffle in his 38-year Bluegrass reign.

★ ★ ★

Kentucky, shunted from fourth to eighth place in The Associated Press ratings this week after a 96-78 road loss to Florida, rebounded Monday night by thrashing Georgia 104-73 in a bruising SEC game.

The victory gave the Wildcats a 10-2 season record and a 4-1 mark in conference play. Moreover, it was Rupp's 770th coaching triumph—one short of the all-time NCAA record held by ex-Kansas wizard Phog Allen.

ROUGH ROAD

Rupp figures to catch Allen when Kentucky visits Auburn Saturday. But the magic 772nd victory could prove particularly elusive.

The Wildcats' next stops on a four-game road trip will be Knoxville, Tenn., where powerful Tennessee has rolled up 31 consecutive home-court victories, and Baton Rouge, La., where the Maravich family appears to have a dynasty in the making, at Louisiana State.

"We've got 12 or 13 more games to go—and the road can be rough," Rupp said after torrid shooting by Thad Jaracz and sophomore Mike Casey swept the Wildcats to a surprisingly easy verdict over Georgia.

Fourth-ranked Tennessee remained unbeaten in the SEC and ran its over-all record to 10-1 with a 67-52 romp over visiting Florida and No. 9 Vanderbilt, only other nationally ranked team in action Monday night, topped Auburn 74-65 on the losers' floor for a 12-3 season mark.

HOT SHOTS

Jaracz canned 12 of 16 field goal attempts and Casey 13 of 21 while totaling 25 and 29 points, respectively, in a rough game marked by an injury to one player and the ejection of another.

Kentucky soph Dan Issel was helped from the floor after being spilled by the Bulldogs' Ray Jeffords while driving for the basket. Minutes later, on a Gegrgia fast break, Jim Lemaster of Kentucky whacked Jeffords and was tossed out of the game.

★ ★ ★

Bob Lienhaard, 6-foot-11 Georgia center, paced the visitors with 29 points—hitting 23 in the second half.

"We played a little basketball tonight," Rupp said. "I'd have settled for a one-point win. This game had me worried."

Tennessee's Tom Boerwinkle outscored Florida's Neal Walk 27-16 in a battle of 7-foot pivotmen and the Vols' 1-3-1 defense limited the tall Gators to four field goals in the second half.

Boerwinkle put in 21 points in the first half before getting into foul trouble. Walk, who brought a 27-point average into the game, got 13 before intermission but managed only three free throws thereafter.

BIG SURPRISE

Bob Bundy, a surprise starter at center, led Vanderbilt past the Tigers with 22 points and nine rebounds. Auburn rallied from a 36-23 halftime deficit and trimmed the Commodores' lead to four points with 25 seconds to play. But Bundy and Ken Campbell broke loose for the wrap-up baskets.

UCLA, Houston Hold 1-2 Positions

By the Associated Press

There's no way of telling whether UCLA or Houston will win Saturday night's big game between the unbeaten college basketball giants in the Houston Astrodome. But it's an open secret that the Bruins are considered the superior team by most experts.

UCLA maintained a commanding lead in The Associated Press' latest weekly poll. The Bruins collected 32 first-place votes and 347 points in the balloting by a national panel of 35 sports writers and broadcasters.

ONLY THREE

Houston drew only three votes for the top position and 317 points, the latter on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc. The balloting was based on games through last Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The Bruins, who have won 46 games in a row, including 12 this season, play the University of Portland, Ore., at home Thursday night before their important meeting on the Cougars' court.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Sat., Jan. 13 and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. UCLA	(32)	12-0 347

Pershing Holds Top Spot in State Class A Ratings

By The Associated Press

Without Ralph Simpson, Pershing High would be just another good basketball team. With him, the Doughboys are a great one.

Says Will Robinson, Pershing coach, "In Ralph Simpson we have perhaps the finest shooter in high school basketball today. Naturally, we'll build around him."

For the second week running, Pershing holds the top spot in the weekly Associated Press Class A basketball poll.

Menominee is No. 1 in Class B, Detroit All-Saints dominates Class C and Adrian Catholic is out front in Class C.

PROGRESS

Pontiac area quintets made significant jumps in three classes of the weekly poll.

Southfield lost two points in the voting but climbed from 10th to 9th as three Class A schools fell from the top 10. Lake Orion made the top 25 for the first time ever, placing 23rd.

Romeo moved from 15th to 12th in "B;" while Orchard Lake St. Mary, 9th last week, moved within one vote of sixth place and unbeaten Detroit Country Day of Birmingham vaulted from 18th to 13th, both in Class C.

With Simpson hitting 38 points, Pershing beat Detroit Cass Tech 74-70 last week for its sixth straight win this year and its 26th in its last 27 games.

Stan Grayson scored 43 points as All Saints racked up its 10th straight victory in a 77-41 decision over Detroit St. Gabriel.

Muskegon, Detroit Southeastern and Midland moved into the top ten in Class A as a pair of Detroit schools, DeLaSalle and Murray-Wright were beaten.

LONG-WINDED FRENCHMAN — France's Jacques Mayol (center) prepares for his record plunge into the Atlantic Ocean Sunday off Port Everglades, Fla. The 41-year-old diver submerged 231 feet to claim a world record of 2:21 without any artificial breathing apparatus.

UCLA-Houston Cage Tilt May Be Without Alcindor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unveiling their "non-Alcindor offense," the UCLA Bruins are preparing to play Houston in a crucial basketball game next Saturday without their injured star Lew Alcindor.

★ ★ ★

Alcindor is "progressing well" and may be released within a day or two, the clinic spokesman says, but Bruin Coach John Wooden is taking no chances even though he's not sure big Lew won't play.

"We haven't practiced the high-post, if we can get him the ball, I don't think there are college players who can stop him from scoring."

DRAWS BIG E

In Houston, the top - rated Bruins face the nation's No. 2 team. If UCLA has to play without Alcindor, Edgar Lacey, a 6-foot-6 forward, would probably move to the high post. Wooden said Lacey is the team's best defensive player and would guard Houston's Elvin Hayes.

★ ★ ★

"I think we'd have a fine team without Alcindor even if we hadn't had him all year," Wooden said. But the 20 - year Bruin coach conceded this year's offense is based around Lew.

The injury, on a rebounding play, was the second this year.

Last Dec. 22, as the Bruins were demolishing Bradley, 109-73, Alcindor also suffered an eye injury and was removed from the game.

NFL Players Await Talk With Owners

CHICAGO (AP) — John Gordy, president of the National Football League Players Association, said Monday night the NFL is willing to meet with the Players' Association at a mutually convenient time and place.

Dan Schulman, attorney for the association, said Gordy, an offensive guard with the Detroit Lions, received a telegram from Arthur Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and president of the NFL, expressing willingness of the owners to meet with the association.

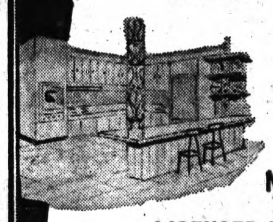

Officers of the association will be polled Wednesday to choose alternative times and places to commence negotiations with the owners.

Prep Front

By FLETCHER SPEARS

There's a class at Pontiac Central where the kids do the grading, and only a few come up with As.

That's nothing new, really. All the classes are like that. The instructor sets the goals and the youngsters either reach that level or find a niche somewhere below the rim.

There's one in particular, however, where progression from, say, a 'D' to an 'A' student, is marked by a corresponding development of the body muscles.

Simply, it's physical education and before you pooh, pooh it, keep in mind that if you are a father of a teen-age son who's enrolled in one of those classes at PCH, he's in better shape than you are. Physically, anyway.

Art VanRyzin, 52, is head of PHC's physical education department, and he and his staff run some 800 boys through the PE program. They have sophomores three days a week and juniors twice a week. Nothing for the seniors.

★ ★ ★

Using a program similar to one pioneered by a high school in California, VanRyzin puts the boys through the paces in six exercise areas and they're graded A-E in each one.

IN GOOD SHAPE

When a young man reaches that 'A' bracket, he's got a flat tummy and some solid muscle.

★ ★ ★

An 'A' means a young man can do a minimum of 12 pull-ups, 56 push-ups, 60 sit-ups (in two minutes), climb a 24-foot rope, do 21 burpees (the Army's squat-thrust) in 30 seconds and 20 bar-dips.

If you want to test yourself, here's what a student must do to earn at least a 'D': 2 pull-ups, 16 push-ups, 30 sit-ups, climb eight-foot rope, do 11 burpees and 4 bar-dips. Anything less you flunk.

Physical education is often thought of—and in some cases it's true—as a time for playing games and having a ball.

At PCH, physical education is what the term implies.

AID DEVELOPMENT

"The muscles are there, we just try to help the boy develop them," says VanRyzin. He added that it's difficult to do so in the time alloted.

★ ★ ★

"To do a real job, we want them five days a week for three years, and then we could give them a complete physical education program."

The program they have is a good one, one which fits in with former President Kennedy's long-range view on physical fitness.

While VanRyzin and his staff don't downgrade the facilities at PCH, they are such that they detract from the over-all effectiveness of the physical fitness program.

Ex-Farmington ace Mike Wilson continues to shine on the basketball court for Albion. Through the first nine games, Wilson had compiled an average of 19.3.

One of Pontiac Central's wrestlers—heavyweight Charles Mason—may be in line for an 'honorary' letter from Pontiac Northern.

Mason, who owns a 10-1 record that includes seven pins this season, gained a decision over Ypsilanti's heavyweight in a quadrangular match at Pontiac Northern Saturday, and his victory enabled Pontiac Northern to squeeze past Ypsilanti to take the title.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan leads the Mid-American Conference basketball race with a perfect record of two victories and no losses.

Other teams, however, have played more games and have better records if nonleague games are counted. The rankings include games played through Monday, Jan. 15.

Toledo ranks second in league standings with three wins against one loss, and Bowling Green follows with two victories and one loss.

EVEN RECORD

Against all opponents this season, Western Michigan has won five and lost five, while Toledo and Bowling Green each have won eight and lost three.

In the league race, the remaining teams stack up as follows: Marshall 3-2, Kent State 1-2, Ohio University 0-2 and Miami 0-3.

Radio Report at 'M' Brings Bump's Denial

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A report by a student-operated University of Michigan radio station saying Michigan football Coach Bump Elliott would be named athletic director caused quite a stir around the U-M campus Monday.

"There's absolutely nothing to it," said Elliott, who said he received several congratulatory telephone calls. He said he has heard nothing since being interviewed for the job last month.

★ ★ ★

Ken Wilson, a reporter for WCBN, and author of the story, said it was based on his own opinion, later admitting, "It was complete speculation on my part."

Wilson reported that Elliott "will be named to the job Feb. 16 and will take over June 30 when Crisler retires."

STEPPING OUT

H.O. "Frtiz" Crisler, 69, Michigan athletic director since 1949, plans to retire sometime before Jan. 1, 1969, probably this spring.

Last year, he named a committee of alumni, faculty and administrative personnel to recommend a successor.

Elliott is considered a leading candidate for the post along with Davey Nelson, a former Michigan football player and now athletic director at Delaware, and Dr. Robert Bronzan, athletic director at San Jose State College in California.

Football Aide Added

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Joe Yukica, new head football coach at Boston College, has added former Columbia star Bill Campbell, 26, to his staff.

Campbell, capain of Columbia's 1961 tean, was named Monday to tutor BC defensive ends and linebackers. He served as an assistant under Buff Donelli at Ctlumbia last year.

U.S. May Okay Tennis Switch at Wimbledon

Australia, France Also Considering Move to Open Play

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States apparently is preparing to join the other major tennis-playing nations—Britain, France and Australia—in a giant power play to force open competition.

"These are the four countries who founded the International Lawn Tennis Federation," Robert Kellher of Los Angeles, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association told a press conference Monday.

"They are the only ones who have ever won the Davis Cup. If they stick together, they should carry the day."

The British, in a bold and rebellious move, already have announced that, effective April 22, they will abolish the distinction between amateurs and professional and stage the famed Wimbledon tournament as an open event.

GOING AHEAD

The ILTF has warned that, if they do, the British will be suspended from all international competition and barred from the Davis Cup. The British say they're going ahead.

Meanwhile, there's considerable behind-the-scenes maneuvering in France, Australia and the United States.

"I have been going around the country talking to the various sectional associations," Kelleher said. "The Texas and Western Associations are in favor of letting our players compete at Wimbledon. They oppose abolishing the distinction between amateurs and professionals.

"The Northern California Association (San Francisco) wants to go all the way with the British. I am here talking to the Eastern and New England Associations, the two biggest. I find many in favor of giving open tennis a chance."

DECISION DUE

The USLTA makes its important decision Feb. 3 in Coronado, Calif., when it votes on three issues: 1. Permitting U.S. players to compete at Wimbledon; 2. Abolishing the "amateur" designation and permitting all tournament players to be merely "players"; 3. Placing both pro and amateur tennis under the wing of the USLTA.

Decathlon Ace Angers Group in New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The Otahuhu Athletic Club near Auckland is irate with U.S. decathlon champion Bill Tommey of Laguna Beach, Calif., who failed to arrive for the club's athletic meeting last Saturday.

The club arranged to sponsor Tommey's trip to New Zealand but club officials say that instead of picking up his air ticket at Los Angeles he flew to England on urgent business without notifying the club.

The club's executive has decided to ask that the New Zealand Amateur Athletic Association and the American Amateur Athletic Union be told.

"Under no circumstances would the present Otahuhu Club executive invite another American athlete to New Zealand," said Barney Roberts, president of the club.

Meet Gophers Tonight

Northwestern Leading Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwestern's Wildcats, led by a chunky 5-foot-11 sharpshooter, take on winless Minnesota tonight in hopes of embellishing their perfect Big Ten basketball record.

★ ★ ★

Sophomore Dale Kelly rallied Northwestern to its second straight conference triumph and the Big Ten lead Saturday with a 32 point scoring splurge at Indiana as the defending cochampions fell 86-81.

Against Minnesota, Northwestern will be facing a team without a conference triumph in two outings and a poor 3-9 record for the season.

★ ★ ★

Northwestern has an overall 7-4 mark but in three of those four defeats Kelley was on the sidelines because of an ankle injury. Not only has Kelley recovered but the Wildcats are in peak health for what could be an all important week in their drive for the conference championship.

SPARTANS NEXT

Northwestern is heavily favored against Minnesota and then goes to Michigan State Saturday where a victory would turn the Wildcats into serious title contenders.

Two other vital games are on tap tonight, with Indiana at Purdue and defending cochampion Michigan State at Wisconsin. Indiana has a 2-1 record while the other three have split even in two games.

All four teams are championship contenders but the losers Tuesday night will find the going rough since they'll be saddled with two defeats early in the campaign.

As usual, the home teams are favored, but since the opening of the season 10 days ago where all five home teams were victorious, visiting teams have won four of the last six games.

Three conference games are slated for Saturday. In addition to the Northwestern at Michigan State game which will be regionally televised, Michigan will be at Ohio State and Minnesota at Iowa.

Scandinavians in Big Sweep

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The Scandinavian All-Stars swept all but one first place Monday night in a gymnastics meet with the Western Athletic Conference All-Stars.

★ ★ ★

The only WAC first place winner was New Mexico's Paul Tikenoff in the long horse.

The Scandinavians outscored the WAC All-Stars 273.65 to 259.35.

Geometrics and Florals Lead Trends

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Home Editor

NEW YORK — Decisions. Decisions. Just when a woman thinks she is on top of design trends, they shift. Most husbands consider fashion's whims in color, pattern and roller coaster lengths expensive.

★ ★ ★

However, making a mistake when buying a coat or dress is not so tragic as a wrong decision in a home furnishings buy. This is especially true when purchasing what salesmen call "large ticket" items, for example, a sofa, custom bedspread or draperies.

★ ★ ★

Keeping up with the Joneses is more than spending money. It's keeping up with design trends and picking the one that you can live with comfortably. The best way for most to be modish without taking on an added mortgage is to reflect the times in accessories.

TWO TRENDS

Currently, two distinct and different trends rank as leaders in the home furnishings field. One reflects the more knowing and increasing interest in geometrics. The other gladdens the heart of a girl-next-door type. It is the wild array of fresh, multiflowered daisy motifs.

With a country-garden full of other florals, the daisies are part of the romantic revival. They are seen in glass tumblers, coasters, wallcoverings, bed linens and peeping out of the tissue box to bring a gay, countried note to our homes.

Geometrics on the other hand strengthen interest in things architectural. Ready in the wings, these patterns vaulted onto the home decorating stage along with the startling burst of Op-Pop and kinetic items that have become so much a part of our lives we feel they've always been here. Truly contemporary, the geometrics add a strong, clean note to our homes' interiors.

Both themes rely on clear, bright colors, often in sharply contrasting shades, with the flowered patterns also popular in glowing pastels.

Depending upon your taste, you can't go wrong with either design leader.

Defense Firms Set for Peace

Industries Prepared for War-Buying Cut

BABSON PARK, Mass.—"An early 'outbreak' of peace in Vietnam would not only be bullish for the stock market as a whole but would not seriously affect the defense sector of the market," Roger E. Spear, president of Spear & Staff, Inc., investment advisers, said today.

"Our contacts at the Pentagon tell us that defense industries as a whole are pretty well prepared for any eventuality, whether it be demobilization or a further mobilization," Spear said.

"In fact, we find that many companies would rather experience a slowdown in defense procurement for war items in order to resume production of goods for the civilian sector of the economy."

Spear singled out Raytheon Co. as an example of one of the many defense-oriented firms which are well prepared to cope with any quick peace settlement in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

"We are informed, in fact," Spear declared, "that the company believes it would have been better off without the Vietnam war, taking into consideration the amount of work they are getting as a result of it, and the profit potential of 'peace-time' products where output could have been increased."

VIET BUSINESS

Spear said: "Government work accounts for about $575 million of Raytheon's revenues and about 10 per cent of that, or $55-$60 million, is related to Vietnam. But only about half of the Vietnam business in turn is directly related to the war effort. That would include bomb fuses and the like.

"If complete demobilization happened over a short period of time this direct portion would disappear and the company would feel the effects over a period of six to nine months.

"But we are talking here of only about 5 per cent of sales, and major defense programs such as Nike-X and SAM-D would pick up the lost momentum within a comparatively short period of time.

★ ★ ★

"A major factor contributing to defense companies' readiness for any quick changeover to peace in Vietnam," Spear said, "is the fact that government procurement men are doing a remarkably good job of advising companies as to probable future procurement requirements.

★ ★ ★

"The fact that there are only a handful of companies devoting a large portion of their activities to the production of goods destined for Vietnam and the fact that the great bulk of companies whose operations include only a small portion of Vietnam production are well-informed should reduce the impact of eventual demobilization," Spear concluded.

Divorce Rate Causes Alarm in Slovakia

VIENNA (UPI) — An alarming increase in divorce in Czechoslovakia has caused the establishment of an advisory board for married couples.

According to recent Czech press reports the rate of divorce in Czechoslovakia is now one of the highest in the world.

The reports said that in 1966 in Prague 36 marriages out of every 100 ended in divorce. The total number of divorces in Czechoslovakia in that year was given as 20,000.

Establishment of the new advisory board came after complaints about marriage guidance services.

NOT FREE

However, advice is not free. The institution is considered a "service - establishment" and visitors therefore have to pay a so-called "recognition fee" of 30 Czech crowns ($4) for the visit and 20 Czech crowns ($2.75) for following visits.

Wallcovering Is Washable

Now there's a wallcovering which has the elegant look of traditional, fine wallpaper plus the highly practical virtues of stain resistance and scrubability — yet with none of the shine characteristics of many plastics.

★ ★ ★

The material is so resistant to stains that even crayon, lipstick, ink and fingerprints rubbed off easily with soap or detergent suds, the manufacturer reports.

WHEN MICHAEL CALLS, By John Farris. Trident. $4.95.

Sixteen years ago, a 10-year-old boy named Michael, shocked by the death of his mother in an asylum, had run away from home in the midst of a blizzard. Later his remains had been discovered in a ravine. Michael was dead.

But now suddenly Michael's boyish voice is heard on the telephone. First by his aunt Helen, a widow. Then by others, including Helen's daughter Peggy.

Both seem in danger, along with Michael's brother Craig, who has become a psychologist in a school for "difficult boys."

In the midst of the ensuing terror about "Michael's ghost," a retired detective named Doremus takes over the job of protecting the possible victims and solving the mystery.

EYEWITNESS. The Negro in American History. By William Loren Katz. Pitman Publishing Corp. $9.75.

Negroes have been part of American history ever since there was an America, but this obvious fact is meeting with general recognition only now. Most historians have slighted the subject, and so have general texts.

Times are changing and doubtless the imbalance will be rectified. The present volume suggests the csope and variety of Negro histoey through often vivid documentary testimony, accompanied by some expanatory text by author Katz.

The book takes the reader from accounts of the slave system by its victims and exploiters through the first painful gropings toward black identity to the contemporary civil rights movement.

★ ★ ★

The "eyewitnesses" range from Prince Hall, America's first Negro Mason discussing discrimination, to former Rep. Charles Weltner of Atlanta explaining why as a Southerner he would vote for the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Between those expressions lies a long, tortuous road with many detours. As it stretches into the future, the past as always can serve as a meaningful prologue.

WARREN: The Man, The Court, The Era. By John D. Weaver. Little, Brown. $7.95.

Not since President Roosevelt's effort to pack the Supreme Court has that august body been so much in the news — and so much the subject of controversy.

The chief justice has become the focus of that controversy, inspiring enthusiastic admiration in many but anger in others. Political extremists even have called for his impeachment.

The chief justice as an individual comes to life in this book. It is a big, documented but still readable portrait of a complex and interesting man

Few expected when Earl Warren was appointed chief justice in 1953 that this genial politician would end up presiding over a judicial revolution. Perhaps no court in the past century has made so many basic and bold changes in the country's legal and social structure.

★ ★ ★

Biographer Weaver obviously admires the chief justice. However, he writes with seeming objectivity and with literary grace and wit.

Not least important is his ability to make legal matters clear and interesting to the general reader.

ISRAEL JOURNAL. June, 1967. By Yael Dayan. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

Of the many books that have been written thus far about the quick conflict in which the Israelis smashed the Arabs, this would seem to be the most personal, emotional and impressionistic. Its author is a young lecturer. She also happens to be the daughter of Israel's defense minister.

When Israel mobilized, Miss Dayan came on the scene as a "military correspondent" with a division headquarters, but as soon as the firing began she became a sort of utility staffer. Her duties varied from reporting to meal-cooking.

She kept a diary, and it was the basis for this book.

Her journal is highly partisan but colorful. Her descriptions of the battles and pursuit are not too coherent, despite the assistance of charts, but she catches many small, graphic details.

★ ★ ★

So this is an unusual report of warfare from the viewpoint of a woman under fire, a writer recording in feminine style the hot fever of combat. That makes it a new twist in combat correspondence.

GLASS—Philosophy and Method. By John Burton. Chilton. $10.

Artist-craftsman Burton has addressed himself to the layman, not the scientist or technician, in this ardent tribute to the joys of creativity in the field of glassmaking.

He has a dual theme. The first is a scatter-shot introduction to bits of history, lore and the principles of the art, accompanied by some personal adventures in visiting several centers of glass production.

This part of the book is well-illustrated by photographs of many front-rank examples of the glassmaker's skill from several museums around the world, particularly the Corning Museum of Glass.

This theme entices the reader into the real substance of his book—a do-it-yourself guide telling the layman how to begin, practice and learn how to make small glass objects himself.

★ ★ ★

Burton's enthusiasm for his subject and his faith in the creativity of you and you and you make infectious reading.

A Junior Editors Quiz About FLAGS

QUESTION: Where did the idea of flags come from?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Flags originated because ancient armies needed conspicuous symbols which could be held high and would tell what was happening in the battle. By seeing where the flags were, generals could plan their strategy—and the fighting men would know where the enemy was and in what direction to throw their spears.

Flags also served as symbols of a nation's power and pride. The Egyptian kings had a chariot sent in advance of them with a tall pole and long streamers, by which all men could know that the Pharaoh was coming.

The Romans developed such flag-like symbols further, by having them identified with various units of their armies. In later days, a cross on a flag identified Christians as they fought with various non-Christian peoples.

Many countries still use flags with a cross design, a good example being that of Denmark, a white cross on a red ground. This flag has represented the Danish state for more than 700 years.

Many modern flags represent the unity and authority of all the people in the country. Such is our Stars and Stripes, of which we are so proud.

One of the most meaningful expressions of love and sympathy at the time of a death is flowers. We know from experience what comfort they bring. A picture of each floral arrangement sent to the funeral home, in color, is given to the family following the funeral. This provides a lasting record for the survivors and makes acknowledgment much easier.

It's Time for Oscar Fans to Bone Up on 1968 Awards

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"The Game" is going on in the bars and parlors of Beverly Hills . . . and you can play it, too. Who will win the Oscars?

Is it going British this year? (Probably not.)

For Best Actress, will it be Katharine Hepburn for "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," or Faye Dunaway for "Bonnie and Clyde," or Dame Edith Evans for "The Whisperers"—or who will you have in mind? (Anne Bancroft for "The Graduate"?)

WILSON

For Best Actor, could Spencer Tracy win? Or Rod Steiger for "In the Heat of the Night" or Warren Beatty for "Bonnie and Clyde" or Paul Newman for "Cool Hand Luke" and "Hombre"—or Rex Harrison for "Dr. Doolittle"?

Sidney Poitier, about the year's hottest actor, could make it for "To Sir, With Love" and "In the Heat of the Night." (A possible dark horse, Dustin Hoffman, "The Graduate.")

★ ★ ★

Some people think Carol Channing and Bea Lillie might get nominated for Best Supporting Actress for "Thoroughly Modern Millie" or Katharine Houghton, Katie Hepburn's niece, or Estelle Parsons for "Bonnie and Clyde"—for Best Supporting Actor, maybe Jim Brown for "The Dirty Dozen" or Michael J. Pollard for "Bonnie and Clyde."

Best Picture? Shucks, it's "Bonnie and Clyde" again, "The Graduate," "In Cold Blood," "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," "In the Heat of the Night."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Variety reports "Valley of the Dolls" is the current box office champ, replacing "Gone With the Wind" . . . Sammy Davis has kept the Copa so jammed that a table had to be placed at the edge of the stage for Barbra Streisand and Elliott Gould . . . Roger Smith wrote the script for the movie Ann-Margret's making in Buenos Aires with Rossano Brazzi; his screen-writing price is now as high as his screen-acting price.

Tony Curtis and George Hamilton bought themselves mink coats . . . Broadway producer David Black (he'll present "George M") flies to Paradise Island on weekends to take tennis lessons from pro Pancho Gonzales . . . Secret Stuff: A film exec who's spent a fortune trying to make his pretty discovery a star would like to peddle her contract.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Matty Simmons of Cheetah magazine saw a pop version of "Macbeth" and the Three Witches were a rock group.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: These frigid days the fashion-conscious miss asks for a miniskirt in a color that won't clash with blue knees.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Middle age is somewhere between dreams and memories."—Angie Papadakis.

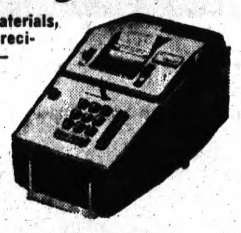

EARL'S PEARLS: Art Paul figured out how to lower his golf score. He tells opponents, "I'm superstitious—so I'll just skip the thirteenth hole."

Dean Martin likes to keep alive his reputation as a tippler. An interviewer asked his favorite reading material, and Dino answered: "Bottle labels." . . . That's earl, brother.

A Look at TV

Alcindor's Video Angle

By RICK DuBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Please try to understand why I simply have to write about Lew Alcindor's eye injury today It's become an obsession with me ever since he got hurt in a UCLA basketball game last weekend. Life is suddenly more difficult. And besides, there's a television angle.

The video angle is that UCLA, the most powerful and fantastically splendid college basketball team ever assembled, will play the country's No. 2 squad, Houston, Saturday in a game that is expected to get a large nationwide pickup on television.

The site of this event, which has been variously billed as the sport's game of the year, decade and century, is Houston's Astrodome, where some 55,000 persons—more than double the largest crowd ever to have seen a college basketball contest—are expected to attend.

But, as some of our great sportswriters have often written, how cruel is fate. The good people of Houston are, after all, not really going to the game to root for their university to beat UCLA. What they really are going for is to root for Houston to beat Alcindor. It has never been done by a college team.

★ ★ ★

Will he play? No burning question of our time has touched me quite so deeply. The sad thing of his injury has all but shattered the great contest for me already.

IF, IF, IF

If he plays, I will feel he is probably not up to par anyway. If he wins, I will imagine it is like watching Nureyev carry on with a sprained ankle. If he loses, I will commit suicide. If he fails to play and UCLA wins anyway, I will deny ever being concerned about the outcome.

This is a team that has never been beaten, and, regardless of Saturday's outcome, is the best there is, and ever has been in college ranks. On a neutral court, with a healthy Alcindor, there would simply be no doubt as to the outcome.

Heart Disease Traced to Chlorine in Drinking Water

SAGINAW (AP)—A young Michigan doctor believes a chemical in the water you drink may be responsible for the country's high incidence of heart attacks and strokes.

He indicts chlorine, an almost universally used water purification agent, as the villan and says experiments with chickens support his view.

The doctor is Joseph M. Price, 26, of suburban Birch Run, now serving as a Medical Corps captain with the 3rd Infantry Division in Vietnam.

Dr. Price's experiments were conducted over two and a half years prior to his entering military service. His findings were disclosed in a 50-page report released by his father, Joseph A. Price, who assisted in the experimentation.

As an alternative to chlorine purification, Dr. Price suggested flowing water in thin sheets under ultraviolet rays.

BASIC CAUSE

"Nothing, I repeat, nothing," insisted Dr. Price in his report, "can negate the incontrovertible fact that the basic cause of arteriosclerosis and the resulting clinical entities such as heart attacks and strokes is chlorine in processed drinking water."

Arteriosclerosis is a chronic disease characterized by abnormal thickening and hardening of the walls of the arteries, which carry fresh blood from the heart to the brain and other parts of the body.

Athcrosclerosis is a particular type of the former disease and is characterized by deposits of fatty substance and an increase of fibrous tissues in the inner layer of the arteries.

An eminent Detroit medical scientist described Dr. Price's experiments as "very interesting," and said chickens often are used in research into human illness.

MALE SUSCEPTIBLE

Dr. Price divided 100 day-old roosters into two groups of 50 each. The roosters were chosen because in humans it is the male that is primarily susceptible to atherosclerosis.

Both groups were placed on the same diet. At the age of six weeks, Dr. Price placed one group on well water treated with about a third of a teaspoonful of chlorine bleach per quart. The other group got untreated well water.

"Within three weeks," he reports, "there were grossly observable effects in both appearance and behavior. The experimental group became lethargic, huddling in corners except at feeding time. Their feathers became frayed and dirty, their pale combs drooping.

"Meanwhile, the control group was the epitome of vigorous health.

AORTA CHANGE

"No less remarkable was the gross appearance of the aortas (great arteries) which carry blood from the heart. The abdominal aortas (the place where atherosclerosis is known to occur in chickens) of all cockrels dying after four months were carefully examined.

"In 95 per cent of the experimental group grossly visible thick yellow plaques of atherosclerosis protruding into the lumen artery canal were discovered.

"These chickens were noted to have an extremely high apparently spontaneous death rate, and common findings were hemmorrhage into the lungs and enlarge hearts.

"At seven months there were so few experimental chickens remaining that the survivors were sacrificed, with identical findings. At the same time one-third of the apparently vigorous healthy control group was also sacrificed, with not one abnormal aorta found."

Dr. Price then split the remaining healthy birds into two groups, one getting chlorine treated water and the other not.

"And once again," Dr. Price's report said, "roosters receiving chlorine showed fantastic gross changes in appearance and behavior within three weeks.

Thieves Should Read This Loot

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Police and union members hope the thieves will put to good use the loot they took when they broke into offices of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union Local 317.

The only things found missing after the break-in were two Bibles.

Officials especially wish the culprits would read the 15th verse of the 20th chapter of Exodus: "Thou shalt not steal."

Break In Boots With Caution

Break in new boots properly by wearing your normal complement of socks. Extra socks, mistakenly used for padding, will cause the boot to form in too large a shape.

The top two eyeholes — or top buckle — may be fixed less securely than normal until the "break" is established. Tighten and loosen the tops on alternate runs for maximum comfort during this period.

Ignore advice to condition boots by soaking them in water. Bootmakers have gone to great lengths — and you've paid much money — for the waterproof qualities which contribute to long boot life. Bathtub treatments negate this effort.

Boots Fit Man

By SIGI ENGL
Sun Valley Ski Director

The boots — not the actual skis — are the most important part of the equipment that any skier has.

They are the link between himself and the skis. If you are about to buy a new pair of boots, here is my suggestion. Go to a reputable store and spend at least an hour or so trying on various boots.

Regardless of the type, the boot that you should buy is the one that obviously fits you best.

You have a wide variety. You have the lace, the buckle — the leather and the plastic. Don't let yourself be talked into any certain make or type. The only boot for you is the one that fits you best.

PRESSURE

Many sport shops are now equipped with a machine that can press out some of the pressure points — depending on the shape of your foot. They also have at their disposal liquids to soften the leather and clamps to deal with pressure points in the bottom or the sides.

★ ★ ★

Now comes the time to break them in. I myself have now for years followed this particular pattern.

I soak a brand new pair of boots for about 10 or 15 minutes in a tub of water. I then put them on and start walking for the first time.

Since the boot is at that moment very soft from the moisture, it will be molded exactly according to your foot. It is good to repeat this several times.

★ ★ ★

Another good solution is to walk in the rain with your new boots.

★ ★ ★

I cannot emphasize enough that the time spent in breaking in your boots before you take your ski vacation will be repaid a thousandfold once you are on the slopes.

Ski Thieves to Roam Slopes in Real Style

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Somewhere on the ski slopes of Michigan this season police are hoping to run across one of the finest dressed skiers in the country.

A thief (or thieves) broke into the Alpine Ski Shop in Royal Oak over the weekend and stole the following items: 420 pairs of ski pants (valued at $40 a pair), 428 sweaters ($32.50 each) 8 pairs of ski boots $100 pr.), 15 pair ski boots ($45 pr.), 15 pair ski boots ($30 pr.), 16 stretch suits ($90 each), and 1 rabbit fur coat ($160).

Total value of ski wear stolen: $34,435.

3 Gaylord Resorts Have Package Plan

Three ski resorts in the Gaylord area have joined forces for the first time this year to offer an exchange package ski plan.

★ ★ ★

The Au Sable Lodge, the Pinnacles and Snow Valley will freely exchange tow tickets and even Saturday night dinner tickets so the skier may take their choice of areas. This will serve to make Gaylord the center of ski action.

Bring The Whole Family...

More and more families are discovering the joys of skiing together and are planning their ski-weeks at times other than during school and business holidays. They avoid crowds and seem to feel that a brief respite from household chores, school books and the office in favor of wholesome and exhilirating family fun on the slopes is most beneficial. (They checked with their school authorities and found them quite sympathetic). You might wish to consider this thought in planning a Boyne Country ski-week for your family. And by the way, if you have toddlers, bring them along. We will be happy to arrange for baby sitters. Since we are so close, it's easy to bring the entire family to Boyne country.

State Tops in Snow Sports

Michigan High in Winter Fun

New Activities Added at Many Resorts

Michigan holds a foremost ranking as a winter sports center in the Midwest (even though the slogan Water Winter Wonderland has been removed from its license plates).

Last year the nearly 80 ski areas around the state reaped more than $28 million from outdoor enthusiasts, and this doesn't include revenue from ice fishermen, tobogannists, snowmobile devotees and sightseers or carnival goes.

This year the total will reach an estimated $30 million if the excellent conditions continue to prevail.

Beginning today, the Press will publish a weekly preview and review of the winter sports situation around the state each Tuesday through late March.

The Michigan Tourist Council reports there are 83 winter sports areas this year. All but four are equipped for skiing. Tobogganing, sledding, ice skating and/or snowmobiling comprise the activity at the other four sites.

SWIMMING

Many ski resorts, of course, feature at least one of the activities. Seven even have swimming pools (heated, naturally).

New to the state sports scene this year are the Black Forest Ski Resort west of Port Huron, and Schuss Mountain west of Mancelona.

Reopening this winter after a year's shutdown are Snow Valley near Gaylord and Carousel Mountain near Holland. Significant improvements have been made at several other areas.

A four-place chair lift — the second in the world—has been installed at Walloon Hills, rivaling that of Boyne Mountain.

Boyne Highland has a triple chair; and Caberfae's $300,000 expansion program included the addition of two chair lifts and overhauling the electric rope tows.

Cannonsburg put in eight new slopes and Brice's Hill west of St. Ignace now has lights for limited night skiing.

In Southeast Michigan, both Pine Knob and Alpine Valley erected a new chair lift while improving existing slopes. Pine Knob now has the longest run in Southeast Michigan, a 2200-foot slope.

Mt. Brighton and Mt. Grampian added new runs.

More than half of the state's ski resorts feature snowmaking equipment to keep their good conditions.

Most have dining and lodging available at the lodge or close by.

Ski Sides Must Be Patched

Gouged ski sides will let in moisture, causing skis to rot or delaminate.

★ ★ ★

Small holes or scratches may be filled with OKA-paste, available in a variety of colors at most ski shops. This preparation is self-bonding and easy to work with.

★ ★ ★

For large gouges, purchase a small amount of epoxy and some glass fibers from a ski shop, hardware store or boating supply house. Pigment may also be purchased to color the repaired area.

Make a dam with masking tape along the perimeter of the gouge and, laying in the fibers at random, overfill with epoxy. The excess takes into account shrinkage and sanding.

For gouges more than an inch long, drill two or three holes one-eighth inch in diameter and one-quarter inch in depth into the side of the ski. Stick several fibers into these holes and pack them with epoxy. Allow several days for the skis to cure.

ALPINE'S CHANGING FACE—While Alpine Valley Ski Resort on M59 west of Pontiac has been in operation sometime, some new "looks" have been introduced from time to time. This will be the first full season for manager Dave Delpiere and he is taking a look at the development of the area's new advanced-intermediate slope. Delpiere is using a newly acquired former U.S. Army Otter with a special slotted roller attached to ready the fresh snow for the skiers.

Constant Growth for Caberfae

CADILLAC — Caberfae keeps right on growing. Merle Trepp is determined to bring Caberfae to the forefront in the skier's eyes.

Caberfae which began its first season in 1936-37 with one rope tow and one run opened its 32nd season with 35 slopes.

★ ★ ★

Along with 5 T bars and 16 electric rope tows Caberfae this year installed two chair lifts.

"These new lifts will put Caberfae in competition with any ski area in the Midwest," Trepp said. The cost of each new chair lift including installation was approximately $60,000.

Unique to the two new chair lifts installed is their Bull-wheel unloading. You can ski right off the chair, not having to wait for the chair to go around in front of you. It also alleviates the worry of being hit by a moving chair.

"These lifts," Trepp said, "will service areas which have always been here, but never skied because there was no access to them."

Not only were two chair lifts added but all rope tows were reconditioned with Stearns brakes and gear reducers to provide safer units.

Color coding of the lifts lends a new safety factor to the Caberfae slopes and is the first in the midwest to incorporate this system. Each of the lifts have been painted in the colors to conform to the type of slopes (beginner, intermediate, etc.) reached by the particular tow or lift.

This system will help skiers avoid getting on a lift which will take them to runs too difficult for their skiing ability.

Careers in Ski Field for Dedicated Skiers

NEW YORK — "Careers in the ski field are wide open for the hard working, dedicated, intelligent, qualified skier who is willing to give up skiing."

That about sums up today's vastly changed job situation in the ski industry, as reported in SKI Magazine.

Whereas the "ski bum" once was synonymous with "ski time," today you'll hear a waitress wail that by the time she gets through with breakfast and dinner, she's lucky to have five free hours to get to the slopes, ski and get back to work.

Indeed many who "got away from it all" to settle in a ski area to work and ski, today find themselves working full time at whatever vocation they chose.

Furthermore, ski area managers have found that "ski bums" don't last too long once they find "they were expected to work, not ski." Some do get to ski for fun, of course, like the one who advises: "If you really want to ski, get a bar job. You're through at 4 a.m., and you can ski all day long." (That is, if you can stay awake.) Although pay is generally low, there are jobs for the imaginative entrepreneur in the ski areas, whether it be in real estate sales and construction, or actual ski area jobs.

Here is a sampling of pay scales for full year and seasonal jobs to be found today: Waitress — $1.25 per hour or $50 per week, or $20 per week plus room board lifts; chambermaid —$25 to $30 per week plus tips, room and board, lifts; area laborer—$1.25 to $1.85 per hour or $100 for 60 hour week; ski shop clerk —$60 to $70 per week; instructor—$15 to $20 per day (depending on certification) plus lift tickets for family, or $100 per week plus a percentage of private lessons.

Paid patrolmen command $12 to $15 per day $1.15 per hour for 20 hour week plus free skiing for family; $2 to $2.40 per hour overtime. Ski rental workers and snowmakers average $1.25 to $1.75 and $1.85 to $3 per hour, respectively.

In area administration, managers get $5,000 to $7,500 per year for small areas and $15,000 to $17,000 for large areas, while assistant managers get $6,500 per year at a medium size area. Department heads make $7,000 to $10,000 at medium to large areas, and snowmaking managers bring down $150 per week.

Whatever it is, there are opportunities, but they all require enough work to make fun skiing hard to come by.

Pontiac Area Skiers Tops in Girls' Races

Pontiac area prep coed skiers distinguished themselves Sunday with first-place medals in several United States Ski Association Central Division Region III weekly Junior Alpine racing events at Boyne Highlands.

Heading the list was Birmingham's Pauli Cunningham who took first in both the giant slalom and the downhill Class A Open division.

In the Class B High School girls event, Betsy Shuler of West Bloomfield led a 1-2-3 sweep that included Julie Crary of Waterford Township and Kathy Fast of Bloomfield Hills Andover.

Another West Bloomfield coed, Kathy VanAcker, was first in the girls Class C HS class giant slalom and second in the downhill. Birmingham's June Richardson grabbed second in the downhill and third in the giant slalom for "C" Open girls.

Tom Carter of West Bloomfield's Lakers earned third place in the rugged Class A. High School Boys giant slalom and downhill.

Saturday, Scott McLean of Andover placed first in the downhill and in the giant slalom for "C" High School boys.

'68 Ski Week 'Family Affair'

Miss Austria Presides as National Queen

The 1968 National Ski Week—probably one of the few 10-day weeks in the year — will feature a greater number and variety of programs, exhibitions, contests and give-aways than ever before.

The dates for the observation — January 19-28 — encompass two weekends, and virtually all major areas and many smaller ones have planned special events to introduce more people to the sport. Motto of the week will be "Skiing Is a Family Affair."

★ ★ ★

Presiding over the whole shebang will be Gigi Mackh, an instructress at Mt. Snow who last month was named National Ski Week Queen.

Miss Mackh, who won the Miss Austria title in 1964, also claims the distinction of having taught the Beatles how to ski.

18 Bobsledders in U. S. Trials

Switzerland Tests to Begin Thursday

NEW YORK (AP) — Eighteen U.S. bobsledders have left for St. Moritz, Switzerland, to compete for places on the American team which will compete in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, starting Feb. 6.

★ ★ ★

Jim Lamy of Saranac Lake, N.Y., the American coach, said he would move the squad Thursday to Alpe d'Huez, site of the bobsled events.

★ ★ ★

The only holdover from the 1964 Olympic team is Bill Hickey of Keeseville, N.Y., driver of the four-man team which finished sixth at Innsburck.

DRIVERS

Bros Said, a real estate operator from Fair Haven, Vt., and Jim Hickey, Bill's younger brother, a member of the U.S. Air Force, also will be bidding for roles as drivers of the four-man sled.

★ ★ ★

Leading candidates for the two-man piloting spots are Howard Clifton of Elnora, N.Y., who finished third in the World Championships a year ago; Paul Lamey, a lieutenant in the Navy, and Gary Sheffield, an Air Force member.

Grandmother Began Skiing at Age of 52

Mrs. Herbert Irish, of Harbor Springs is a 61-year-old skiing grandmother who heads three generations of skiers. A physical education teacher in the Harbor Springs schools, Mrs. Irish started skiing at 52.

Her son Dave, is an instructor at Boyne Highlands. His wife, Ann cuts a swath on the slopes and she in turn is teaching their oldest daughters, Tracy, 7 and Susan, 6.

One of State's Oldest

Skyline Is Progressive

Grayling — Skyline ski resort, six miles south of Grayling at the intersection of M26 and US 27 claims to be the first independent ski area in the Midwest.

Skyline opened in 1945, five years before Boyne Mountain opened.

Ralph Morse owner of Skyline says, "Ev Kircher and his brother skied Skyline years ago."

Morse, who is 63 years old has been skiing for 56 years. He started skiing in the state of New York when he was seven. In fact, last year Hart ski company sent Morse a pair of Hart skis with an engraved title identifying Morse as "The Old Man of the Mountain."

Morse's ideas for a ski resort with progressive hills to teach the beginner from the first phase of skiing on, originated in the Alleghenys.

★ ★ ★

He noticed that only 5 per cent of the people were using the mountain for skiing while the rest were taking lessons. He then thought the Michigan hills could better serve the purpose of teaching the beginner.

Originally Skyline consisted of one rope and one slope. This was a place where friends were gathering for just a place to ski and there were no tow fees.

Eventually, it was suggested they nail a cigar box on the motor tower and let people contribute money for gas.

Skyline has two trails, eight open slopes, one chair, and eight rope tows.

Skyline is built around the idea of teaching and training people to ski correctly. There are eight National Patrol members at Skyline and four to five instructors under the direction of Dale Mollenhauser from California.

DEMAND FOR LESSONS

Dale will be at Skyline as a full time instructor because the demand for lessons is increasing every year. Skyline stresses skiing in control.

The ski club rules being the Golden Rule. The slopes are designed that they are all well sheltered from devastating winds. Morse designed the tilt-up seats for Skyline's new chair lift.

The padded seats tilt up when the skier gets off. Thus, they don't accumulate snow and become wet, assuring the customer a warm, dry ride.

Skyline claims to be the only area for people from the Saginaw, Flint area which is close enough for them to drive up for a day's skiing and drive home for dinner.

The area is open every day. They also ski Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

ACROBAT ON SKIS—He calls himself a skiacrobat and Art Furrer has the ability to earn the designation. He has travelled extensively giving demonstrations, and has been featured in several ski movies with his funny antics. Next week he will begin his annual exhibition tour of U.S. ski resorts with a week's trip through Michigan.

Ski Acrobat Makes Tour

Pine Knob Ski Resort off Sashabaw Road east of Clarkston Monday will be the first stop for Art Furrer on the ski acrobat's annual tour of the United States.

Furrer, called the funniest man on skis, will do two shows at Pine Knob. They will be at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. and there is no charge to the public.

In conjunction with the 8 p.m. show, members of the National Ski Patrol will give a torchlight performance on the Pine Knob slopes.

A movie, Mod Magic on Skis, will be shown as part of the show. Furrer will feature acrobatic maneuvers, plus demonstrations of techniques for teaching and racing.

He is appearing under the sponsorship of a distillery who is introducing a new "skiing-oriented" drink. All proceeds from the sale of the drink during his tour will go to the National Ski Patrol.

In addition to Pine Knob, Furrer is slated to perform at Shanty Creek Lodge at Belle Aire; Sugar Loaf Mountain, Cedar; Hidden Valley Lodge, Gaylord; Boyne Mountain, Thunder Mountain, Boyne Highlands and Walloon Hills, all in the Boyne area; Crystal Mountain, Thompsonville; and Caberfae Lodge, Cadillac next week.

★ ★ ★

He will move into Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado and the Far West after his Michigan tour is completed.

Avon Twp. Incorporation Wins by 47-Vote Margin

Incorporation for Avon Township moved ahead by a 47-vote majority in yesterday's election.

There were 2,687 ballots cast by a possible 7,700 registered electors. Heavy snow and poor road conditions reportedly kept some voters from the polls.

The count was 1,367 in favor to 1,320 opposed.

The vote was reportedly close in most precincts with the exception being that area bounded by the southern city limits of Rochester to South Boulevard between Rochester Road and Livernois where the tally was 222 to 96 in favor of incorporation.

Other precincts having small majorities for incorporation were those in the Hamlin-Livernois-Crooks area, Brooklands, the area north of Walton and west of Old Perch Road, and the Tienken Manor subdivision.

CHARTER COMMISSIONERS

Electors also chose nine charter commissioners from a field of 15 candidates whose job will be to prepare a city charter acceptable to voters.

Only after such a charter is accepted will the township actually become a city.

City officials, who had counted on a "no" vote which would open the door to annexation of the township by Rochester, had no comment this morning.

★ ★ ★

Township Supervisor Cyril Miller said he was pleased with the results and promised to "continue to work for the orderly development of the whole area."

CREDIT GIVEN

He gave credit for the outcome of the election to "those who spent so much of their time in presenting the true facts to the people."

Charged with writing an acceptable charter for the proposed new city are the following winners of yesterday's commission race and the votes they received:

- Township Clerk Thelma Spencer, 1,344
- Township Trustee George Ennis, 1,299
- Township Trustee William McCullough, 1,196

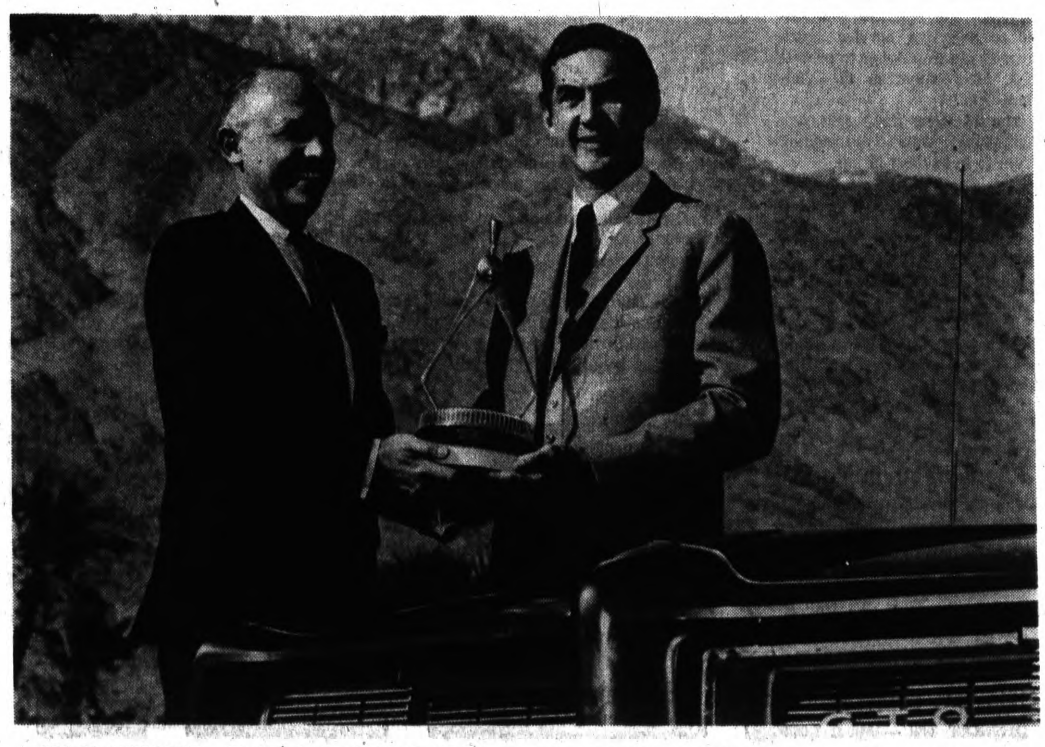

★ ★ ★

- Township Treasurer Helen Allen, 1,183
- Justice of the Peace Harry Huber, 1,094
- George Karas, director of Oakland University's physical plant, 1,077
- Harold Pepper, Avon Township Study Committee chairman, 978
- Eugene S. Nowicki, National Twist Drill & Tool Co. employe, 897
- Herman F. Lamb, maintenance engineer at Troy's White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, 859

★ ★ ★

Failing to gain enough votes for representation on the commission were George L. Schutte, Louis E. Berklich, Arlene L. Rampson, Norman F. Kapcia, Ross C. Rector and Marian Tymkow.

Romney: Plan Stirs Kosygin

GTO IS A WINNER — Pontiac Motor Division's GTO was named by Motor Trend Magazine as Car of the Year for 1968. John Z. DeLorean (left) division general manager, accepts the award from Walter A. Woron, publisher of the magazine.

Neutral Viet Asked

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — Gov. George Romney has discussed his proposal for guaranteed neutralization of all Vietnam with Soviet Premier Alexsei N. Kosygin, and reports the Russian leader expressed interest but made no commitment on the plan.

★ ★ ★

"If I'm elected president this is the thing that will get my immediate attention, and I'll push it as hard as I can," Romney said in outlining his Vietnam program last night.

The Republican governor said later in an interview that he raised the proposal during his meeting with Kosygin on Dec. 19 in Moscow.

The governor would not discuss the Moscow conversation in detail, but he said Kosygin expressed interest.

★ ★ ★

As the campaigning governor explained his Vietnam plan to more than 900 people at Keene State College last night, he renounced President Johnson's current war policy with these words: "I refuse to support an administration that cannot wage the conflict effectively or seek peace convincingly."

NO COMMENT

The White House said it would have no comment on the Keene address.

In it, Romney said as president he would seek neutralization of North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia; removal of foreign military troops from the area; and a ban on alliances with outside blocs.

He said there would have to be an internal settlement in South Vietnam worked out by Saigon and from the Communist National Liberation Front to halt the fighting, remove foreign forces and provide for peaceful participation by members of the Vietcong in the nation's political process.

★ ★ ★

Romney said there would have to be a neutralization agreement among the major powers, and a system for international supervision of the peace terms.

SPENDING CEILING

Pressing his presidential primary campaign in Munsonville today, Romney proposed a ceiling on federal spending and "a reasonable tax increase" to move the federal government toward a balanced budget in 1970.

He said that is a crucial step to combat inflation.

In a related development, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said yesterday that Gov. Romney "vacillated and vacillated badly" when riots broke out in Detroit last summer.

★ ★ ★

He said any statements by Romney that Detroit officials took a soft attitude during the riots' early hours were an attempt by the governor to "defend himself."

★ ★ ★

Romney was quoted in New Hampshire as saying the riots in July could have been prevented if there had been an adequate application of force at the start.

★ ★ ★

"The facts of the matter are that he (Romney) vacillated and vacillated badly all during that night (the first 24 hours of the riot)," Cavanagh said.

Election Today on Annexation to Walled Lake

An election today will decide on the annexation into Walled Lake of parts of Commerce Township and Wolverine Lake Village. If the annexation is approved, it will more than triple the size of the 3.7-square-mile city.

★ ★ ★

Polls are open until 8 p.m. at Walled Lake Junior High, 615 N. Pontiac Trail; the village hall, 425 Glengary; and the township hall, 2840 Fisher.

Deciding the issue in the 10 square miles of the township up for annexation are 885 registered voters.

About 350 residents are registered in the three-quarters of a square mile of the village on the ballot. The city has 1,126 registered voters.

★ ★ ★

Annexation depends on combined votes of the city with the township and two areas of the village.

Fire Kills 5 in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A mother and four children were killed today when a fire trapped them in their home on Detroit's East Side.

★ ★ ★

Dead are Mrs. Gloria Raudabaugh, 38; Margaret, 13; Tony, 10; Michelle, 7, and Eric, 3.

★ ★ ★

Police said her husband Charles, 38, and another son, Charles III, 17, were returning home when they saw the fire. Two more sons, James, 15, and David, 8, ran out of the house.

★ ★ ★

Due to the intense heat and flames, police said, no one was able to enter the building to save the fire victims.

Tomorrow to Be Sunny, Warmer

It was clear and cold this morning but temperatures kept to a low of four above zero at 7 a.m.

The mercury is expected to dip to five to 12 above tonight, then climb near the low 30s tomorrow. Fair tonight and mostly sunny tomorrow is the outlook.

Today's westerly winds at five to 10 miles per hour will become southwesterly tonight.

Thursday's forecast is partly cloudy and a little warmer.

One to three inches of new snow fell in the Pontiac area yesterday.

PRECIPITATION

Chance of precipitation in per cent are: today 5, tonight and tomorrow 10.

Sunny skies pushed temperatures to 19 at 12:30 p.m.

Pontiac's GTO Captures '68 Car of the Year Title

Motor Trend Magazine yesterday named the Pontiac GTO the automotive industry's Car of the Year.

★ ★ ★

It was the fourth time in eight years that Pontiac Motor Division has received the honor, a feat accomplished by no other manufacturer, noted the magazine's publisher, Walter A. Woron.

John Z. DeLorean, Pontiac Motor Division general manager and a GM vice president, accepted the Golden Calipers trophy for Pontiac's achievement in ceremonies in Los Angeles, Calif.

Past awards include 1959 for the wide-track concept, 1961 for the Tempest and 1965 for the styling and engineering leadership typified in the Pontiac model.

★ ★ ★

"All of us in the industry are aware of the extensive testing and evaluation which precedes the selection . . . and we regard the winning of this award as a vote of confidence that we are building the best cars possible," DeLorean said.

LIKE NO OTHER

Motor Trend said the 1968 GTO like no other automobile "confirms the correlations between safety, styling and performance."

Woron singled out the GTO's rubber-like bumper as being "the most significant achievement in materials technology in contemporary automotive engineering."

He said GTO continues to establish the class standard in the fifth year of its existence.

★ ★ ★

"It represents a unique and revolutionary engineering-styling function," Woron said.

SALES PREDICTIONS

DeLorean said the company expects GTO sales to exceed 100,000 this year. The GTO — the best selling first-year car Pontiac has had — reached sales of 32,000 in its first sales year, he said.

"The success of the GTO has shown that many young new car buyers desire a car that offers high performance, excellent handling with around-town suitability, distinctive appearance and moderately low cost," DeLorean said.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The freighter Christiane smashed into a string of gasoline-laden barges in the Houston Ship Channel today turning the water into a blazing inferno as the volatile fuel exploded in sheets of flame.

ficers and crewmen scrambled into the ship's lifeboats and fled through the fiery waters. State police said they had no reports of serious injuries.

★ ★ ★

The collision occurred about 12:30 a.m. just south of a highway tunnel between the suburbs of Baytown and La Porte, which is 30 miles southeast of Houston.

The Christiane Shipping Co. of Bermuda, was outbound toward Port Arthur, Tex., when it struck the barges being pushed by the tugboat Barbara Waxler.

One barge was empty but the other two bore 30,000 barrels of high octane gasoline which exploded, spraying fire across the chilly waters of Upper Galveston Bay.

NASA Air Tests Set

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Pressed for time, U.S. space officials begin testing "enriched air" tomorrow as a safer substitute for the pure oxygen atmosphere that fed the fire which killed three astronauts early last year atop their rocket at Cape Kennedy.

Boy, 11, Set on Fire

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Two men soaked an 11-year-old boy in gasoline and set him on fire to settle a long-standing grudge with the boy's father, police said today.

★ ★ ★

The boy, Miguel Flores, was hospitalized with second- and third-degree burns over 95 per cent of his body. Doctors said there was only a small chance he would live.

SBA Denies Politics in Alaskan Disaster Loan Inconsistency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government refuses to say why it lent a prominent Alaska Democrat nearly all he asked for and cut in half the request of the state's Republican governor after the Fairbanks flood damaged their neighboring motels last August.

The Small Business Administration, which lent the money, would say no more than who got how much. But it insisted politics was not involved.

★ ★ ★

The Budget Bureau refused to tell what caught the eye of fledgling lawyer Robert M. Weinberg when he spotted the loans in a routine budget check and referred them to his superiors.

But the SBA acknowledged it is tightening its disaster loan criteria. Said SBA administrator Robert C. Moot:

"While the Fairbanks loans were not the sole factor in changing our criteria, I must say I saw nothing in these cases to dissuade me from changing them.

"But I found no evidence of any collusion, fraud, malfeasance, or partisanship in these cases."

The largest loan in the wake of the Aug. 14 flood of the Chena River, $894,000, went to L. Donald Pruhs' Golden Nugget Motel. Until a month ago, Pruhs was chairman of the Democratic central committee for the Alaskan interior. He's now a member of the party's state central committee.

Employed as a supervisor in Pruhs' contracting firm is Alex Miller, Alaska's Democratic national committeeman.

"I'm certainly not going to apologize for being a Democrat," Pruhs said Monday after details of the loan were made public. "I was a Democrat long before the flood, and I didn't start the flood. Because I was central district chairman, they took my loan and examined it when it was just one of 2,500 loans."

★ ★ ★

"I don't know anything about any other loans. I submitted mine and that's the only one I'm interested in."

The loan required no higher approval than that of the SBA's San Francisco office, but government sources reported that Pruhs retained a Washington attorney to help him get it.

Involved was a regular SBA loan of about $690,000—previously approved but not paid—combined with a $200,000 damage claim into a disaster loan, which carries a lower interest rate and allows the borrower an additional 20 years to repay.

Across the street from Pruhs' 38-unit Golden Nugget, which opened last May, is the 106-room Travelers Inn, owned by Republican Gov. Walter J. Hickel.

Larger and built on lower ground, it suffered—by Pruhs' own estimate— greater flood damage.

Hickel asked the SBA for $1.2 million, including the refinancing of two mortgages. He got $623,400. The governor's brother, Vernon, who manages the Travelers Inn, said the agency gave him scant help in refinancing the mortgages—and cut back his damage request nearly $100,000 to about $475,000.

Stars Launch Drive to Aid Critical Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hollywood and Broadway actors are launching a drive to raise campaign funds for six senators and congressmen whose outspoken opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam may threaten their chances for re-election in November.

Actor Paul Newman and his actress wife Joanne Woodward head a star-studded list of show business celebrities slated to participate in a fund-raising show Sunday night in New York for the Congressional Peace Campaign Committee.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, and Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., are national co-chairmen of the committee.

The drive is scheduled to be unveiled at a news conference here today by actors Tony Randall and Alan Arkin, and the senators and representatives whose campaigns are to benefit from the committee's efforts.

ANTI-VIET DEMS

They are Sens. Ernest Gruening of Alaska, and Wayne L. Morse of Oregon and Reps. George E. Brown Jr. and Phillip Burton, both of California and Ryan and John G. Dow, both of New York. All are Democrats.

'Bombing of N. Viet Offers No Cure-All'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly reconvened Congress appears headed for another debate on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in the wake of a nonpartisan group's assessment that U.S. air attacks offer no "cut-rate route to victory."

As the 90th Congress reassembled Monday for its second session, the group that includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and retired Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley said the military effectiveness of the bombing was overrated—while contending it is not the obstacle to peace talks its critics contend.

★ ★ ★

A march to Capitol Hill by some 3,000 women opposing U.S. participation in Vietnam also focused congressional attention on the war.

A number of congressmen were quick to react to the statement on U.S. bombing by the Citizens Committee for Peace and Freedom in Vietnam. A special panel of the committee, which included Eisenhower, Bradley, former Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas and former Harvard President James B. Conant, said:

"Bombing is a military tool which supports and helps protect America's fighting men now committed in Vietnam. However, bombing is only one of America's weapons. It is not a panacea—it is not a cure-all. It is not a cut-rate route to victory."

HANOI CESSATION

The group concluded the beginning of any extended pause in air attacks "must be promptly followed by Hanoi's cessation of sending men and materials into the South and any firing from the North upon our fighting men."

Congress Firm on Budget Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The money message from Capitol Hill to the White House as Congress reassembled wasn't changed from last year: President Johnson must cut spending if he wants a tax hike.

There was little official action Monday with the launching of the second session of the 90th Congress but there was talk domestic spending must be cut.

★ ★ ★

It came from Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, submitted to Congress last year, is still in Mills' tax-writing commttee. The Arkansas Democrat said it will stay there until he sees the President's new budget, due for presentation before Jan. 29.

SPENDING HIKE

Mills said his committee will challenge any increases over the current fiscal year's domestic spending. He said a spending hike of $10 billion to $12 billion would violate his precondition for backing a tax hike—that spending be held at current levels or cut back on anything except Vietnam-related projects or fixed outlays such as interest on the government debt.

But he wouldn't pinpoint for newsmen just how much of a hike he would tolerate.

"A $10 billion to $12 billion increase in spending would just equal what the surtax would yield," Mills said. "Imposing a surtax under those circumstances doesn't give any assurance that the time will ever come when we don't need it."

Dirksen said it is time to delay or "stretch out" already authorized spending on some domestic programs.

Inkster Group to Ask Aid in School Crisis

DETROIT (AP) — Seventy parents, teachers and community leaders from suburban Inkster will ask the State Legislature today for an emergency sum of $900,000 to keep the schools from closing Feb. 5.

Dr. Edward B. Forte, superintendent of Inkster schools, said the plight stems from state law regarding educational financing and from gerrymandering some 20 years ago.

★ ★ ★

He said the boundaries were established on a racial and economic basis. About 40 per cent of Inkster's 40,000 residents are Negro. Some 80 per cent of Inkster's 5,000 students also are Negro.

"While Inkster's population has increased in the last 20 years, the city's school tax base has all but disappeared. This has made the quality of education here a farce," Forte said.

News Briefs at a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the trespass convictions of 39 University of Michigan students and teachers who sat-in at Selective Service headquarters in Ann Arbor to protest U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War.

The 38 were fined $50 each and sentenced to terms ranging from 15 to 20 days in jail.

Wilson Cuts Spending

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today announced a $2.4 billion cut in spending which included cancellation of a $1-billion order for American-made F111 swingwing jet fighter-bombers and withdrawal of British defense forces from the Far East and the Persian Gulf.

Papandreou in Paris

ATHENS (AP)—Leftist political leader Andreas Papandreou flew to Paris with his family today. After a medical checkup in the French capital, he was expected to go on to the United States to become a professor of economics again.

Ohio GM Plant Struck

DETROIT (UPI) — About 3,000 members of the United Auto Workers union went out on strike at General Motors' Central Foundry at Defiance, Ohio, today in a dispute over a local contract.

'Idiot' to Be Spy Chief

BONN (UPI) — An officer Adolf Hitler considered an idiot today was scheduled to become chief of West Germany's cloak and dagger agency ferreting out Soviet secrets. On May 1st Lt. Gen. Gerhard Wessel will succeed Reinhard Gehlen as president of the Federal Intelligence Agency (FIA). In January 1945, Wessel predicted a massive Soviet attack within the week. Hitler read the report and shouted: "Absolutely idiotic. The fellow who did this ought to be put away in an insane asylum." Three days later, the Russians began an attack that smashed through the German eastern front.

Cong Ambush S. Viets

SAIGON (AP) — Vietcong soldiers killed 14 South Vietnamese infantrymen and wounded 32 in an ambush 357 miles northeast of Saigon yesterday, but the Vietnamese caught up with the guerrillas eight hours later and killed 40.

Birmingham Area News

Crossover Construction OK'd

BIRMINGHAM — The city commission last night approved construction of median crossovers for traffic on Hunter north and south of Maple on a matching funds basis with the State Highway Department.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning had recommended that the commission approve paying half of the estimated $30,000 to $40,000 required for construction. The department had offered to pay the other half in a communication received Jan. 10.

Completion of the crossovers will clear the way for further work on the city's partially-finished "ring road," designed to ease traffic congestion in the central business district.

The west leg of the road, including Oakland, Willits, Chester and Brown streets, is virtually complete. The commission may now decide either to continue construction of the road west of Hunter, or utilize the crossovers for extension east of Hunter.

★ ★ ★

Both possibilities are currently under study by the city administration.

REQUESTS CONSIDERED

The commission also considered a pair of requests from the city of Oak Park. The first, dealing with a proposed resolution urging support of State Senate Bill 2582, to defer policemen and firemen from service in the Armed Forces, was referred to the administration for study.

No action was taken on the second request, which asked "favorable action" on a resolution of Oak Park asking for legislation by the state to allow deferred payment of special assessments by indigent persons.

The commission had previously considered the matter, and adopted a policy of supporting such legislation if introduced.

★ ★ ★

In other business, Mayor William E. Roberts appointed Samuel J. Mitchell, vice president of Chamberlain Real Estate Co., as 1968 chairman for Michigan Week.

REAPPOINTMENT

The commission also approved the reappointment of John Grant for a three-year term to the Board of Review which considers general tax assessments proposed by the city. Grant was initially appointed to replace George Finch.

Red Arms Cache Found in Cambodia Conspiracy

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian authorities today reported finding a huge Communist arms cache intended for use in assassination attempts against Prince Norodom Sihanouk and President Josip Broz Tito of Yugoslavia.

Police said the arms were found among the ancient ruins of Angkor visited in November by Jacqueline Kennedy during her "dream" trip to Cambodia.

Tito, the Yugoslavian Communist leader probably most hated by the Chinese Communist regime, arrives tomorrow and was scheduled to visit the ruins later this week.

An official police announcement said the arms included about 1,000 hand grenades and were to be used by pro-Chinese Communists.

★ ★ ★

Sihanouk charged in a radio speech Friday that Cambodian Communists planed to "blow Phnom Penh sky high" in an effort to kill the Yugoslav leader but he did not mention himself as being a target of assassins.

GROUP ARRESTED

He said police and army troops had uncovered about four crates of hand grenades and had arrested a group of Communists whom he charged were backed by Red China.

'U.S. to Consult Saigon'--Rusk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has promised the Saigon government that it will be fully consulted before the United States decides whether to take up Hanoi's offer to hold talks if the bombing stops.

★ ★ ★

But, in a formal statement issued yesterday, Rusk stopped short of saying that the Saigon government could block such initial contacts if the United States decided they were worthwhile in order to explore Hanoi's willingness to enter full-scale peace negotiations.

The Rusk statement was issued here shortly after South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu criticized the United States for taking the lead in seeking peace talks instead of letting his country play that role.

It was plainly designed to quiet fears in Saigon that Washington might make some sort of deal behind Thieu's back.

★ ★ ★

Rusk had been notified in advance of what Thieu proposed to say in his speech before a conference of Vietnamese newspaper editors.

His statement, read to newsmen by press officer Robert J. McCloskey was aimed at meeting Thieu's criticism to some extent.

Senate Dem Asks Creation of Law Panel

LANSING (AP)—Senate Democratic minority leader Raymond Dzendzel of Detroit called Monday night for creation of a regular standing committee to handle legislation dealing with crime control and law enforcement.

Dzendzel said the proposed eight-man Senate committee could be used to continue the work of a special Senate crime study committee set up following last summer's Detroit riots and ease the work load of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Standing committees are responsible for considering and perfecting bills. Special committees study specific problems and report back to the Senate.

Normally, Dzendzel said, the judiciary committee would consider many of the areas under study by the special crime committee of which he is a member.

"However, being realistic we know that judiciary is one of our busiest, hardest working, overloaded committees and handles some of the most complicated bills," he told the Senate.

"Last year the committee had problems finding enough hours in the day so they could adequately consider all of the legislation before them," Dzendzel said. "If anything, the 1968 session is shaping up to be even worse."

Mayor to Give 'State' of City

To Outline '67 Action, '68 Prospects Tonight

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. will deliver an annual address outlining steps taken by the city government last year and detailing prospects in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Taylor is expected to make the address at tonight's City Commission meeting which begins at 8.

Commissioners will also discuss the possibility of purchasing the 72-unit Crystal Beach housing project from its Detroit owners with the view of eliminating the project.

The units are recognized as the most delapidated housing in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Owners last year offered to sell it to the city for half price if a 50 per cent write off could be a deductible tax item.

APPRAISALS

With the Internal Revenue Service approving such a move the city and owners arranged for different appraisals of the project.

Negotiations have been stymied by the difference in the appraisals. City Manager Joseph A. Warren said he will present to the commissioners what the Detroit owners called their final offer.

In other action tonight, the commission is scheduled to:

- Conduct public hearings on the budget for Pontiac General Hospital and for the water utility, sewage utility, and parking systems.
- Consider a resolution which would put into effect a three-mill property tax reduction — as long as the city's recently imposed income tax holds up in court.
- Authorize the sale of $1-million in preliminary loan notes for the R44 urban renewal project.

Trial by Jury Is Waived in Ax Murders

The first-degree murder trial of William G. Gravlin of Troy was postponed this morning in Oakland County Circuit Court because he waived a trial by jury.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin, 33, is accused of the September 1964 ax slayings of all seven members of his family.

★ ★ ★

The case is scheduled to be heard Feb. 13 and decided by Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn.

★ ★ ★

He was recently released from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane after authorities said he was mentally capable of standing trial.

2,000 Troops Flee Before Advancing Reds in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Two thousand Laotian government troops are believed to have fled before advancing Communist forces in the strategic Nam Bac Valley in northern Laos, government sources said today.

No report has been received from the three government battalions since Sunday, when the government ordered the village of Nam Bac and its airstrip abandoned.

Some of the government troops have straggled into the Royal Laotian capital, Luang Prabang, which was mortared by the Communists Sunday night. It is 50 miles south of Nam Bac.

A general and two colonels were sent north to assess the situation.

Nam Bac, which government forces captured from the Pathet Lao in July 1966, had been under heavy artillery attack for several weeks.

Meanwhile, the government gave a further report on a Communist air attack last Friday. It had reported earlier that two Communist planes were shot down.

A government communique said four North Vietnamese AN2 Colt biplanes bombed and strafed a village of the Meo tribe at Muong Yut, killing four civilians and wounding many others. It said machine gun and rifle fire brought down two of the planes well within Laotian territory.

One plane was destroyed and the other contained three bodies, two in North Vietnamese uniform and one mutilated beyond recognition, the communique said.

RESCUERS SEARCH QUAKE RUBBLE—A member of a rescue team holds up a wedding dress he dug out of the debris of a collapsed building in the Sicilian village of Gibellina, demolished in Sunday's earthquake. The unofficial casualty toll rose to more than 300 dead today as new tremors spread more panic through the devastated western tip of the Mediterranean island. Officials fear the final toll might be 500 or 1,000.

2 Teens Hurt in Collision of 3 Vehicles

Two teen-agers were injured this morning in a three-vehicle collision involving a school bus in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

None of about 50 children on the bus was hurt in the 7:30 a.m. accident at M59 and Crescent Lake Road. Traffic was tied up for nearly one hour.

★ ★ ★

Injured were Allen Watts, 18, of 1732 Elsmere, and Michael Stocker, 17, of 555 Hillcliffe, both of Waterford Township. Both were taken to Pontiac General Hospital for examination.

★ ★ ★

Police said a tractor trailer slid into the teen-agers' car which in turn was pushed into the side of the stopped bus.

Gains Still Top Losses

Mart Continues Erratic Pace

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued an erratic performance in fairly active trading early today.

As in the past five sessions, gains continued to outnumber losers, this time by a margin of less than 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. The key industrial blue chips, however, continued to make a ragged showing.

Among the more active issues, the advantage seemed on the plus side, but not by much. Among small gainers in this category were Benguet, American Standard, Del E. Webb, Avco, Crescent Corp., Great Western Financial, Howard Johnson and International Paper.

U.S. Industries picked up a couple of points and Getty Oil about a point.

Following their gyrations of Monday on news of Supreme Court approval of their merger, Pennsylvania Railroad held firm while New York Central lost a fraction.

Eastman Kodak, Phelps, and Merck lost a point or so.

Union Carbide opened on 5,000 shares, unchanged at 47⅞.

Wall Street was displaying caution in advance of President Johnson's messages on the state of the union and the budget, brokers said.

On Monday, the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks fell 2.0 to 323.7.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Zapata Off - Shore picked up a point. Kaiser Industries rose ½ to 21¾ on 17,000 shares. Royal American Industries opened on 14,200 shares, up ¼ at 3⅜. Kawecki Chemical eased ⅛ to 35½ on 13,600 shares.
