Dodd Protests 'Speculation'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blonde secretary testified today she overheard "speculation" that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., "must have" been paid at least $10,000 by Julius Klein, registered agent for West German business interests, for a 1964 trip Dodd made to Germany.

The testimony by Marjorie Carpenter before the Senate Ethics Committee brought a prompt protest from Dodd, who said he will ask the Justice Department to bring perjury charges against her. Mrs. Carpenter formerly was Dodd's personal secretary, but was discharged late in 1964.

Vote-Age Plan on State Ballot

Proposed Amendment to Constitution OK'd

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's over-21 voters will be asked this fall to decide whether 18-year-olds should be granted the franchise.

A resolution placing the first would-be amendment to the state's 18-month-old constitution before the people cleared the Legislature yesterday on a 79-23 vote in the House.

It passed the Senate with the necessary two-thirds majority last April.

With a deadline bearing down on them and such questions as a legislative pay raise and the 1966-67 budget yet to be resolved, the House took time out last night to consider two amendment proposals.

The other, a change to allow a state or local graduated income tax, failed on a vote of 72-26—two short of the 74 needed for a two-thirds majority in the House.

The resolution is still alive, however. It was reconsidered and placed back on the House calendar.

If the three Republican yes votes cast yesterday hold firm, House Democrats could get the measure through.

Only absenteeism in Democratic ranks prevented it from getting approval.

If passed, however, it would have to muster a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

ANOTHER EXTENSION

The Legislature also voted the session's third lease on life this month—extending the time for resolving of House-Senate differences from midnight yesterday to 4 p.m. today.

Democrats generally contend a graduated income tax is necessary for fiscal reform. Republicans have been arguing (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

South Viet Troops Crush Reds

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops, in their first major action in nearly three months, wiped out most of a Communist battalion today.

American jungle fighters guided by a turncoat Communist lieutenant mauled another in a second major victory that ran the Communist death toll to 680.

The South Vietnamese forces were spearheaded by Marines and included troops of the 1st Vietnamese army division whose loyalty to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky wavered during the three months of Buddhist-led crisis.

It was their first big offensive since the crisis started.

American Air Force and Navy planes carried out more devastating attacks against Communist North Viet Nam yesterday.

They bombed four huge oil installations north of Hanoi and sent ammunition-laden boxcars exploding like a string of firecrackers.

Huge B52 strategic bombers struck Communist troop concentrations 60 miles northwest of Saigon early today while swarms of U.S. and Vietnamese planes hurled rockets, flaming napalm, bombs and bullets against Communist forces fighting for their lives.

CASUALTIES DOWN

A U.S. spokesman reported meanwhile that U.S. war casualties were reduced almost 50 per cent last week. The number of Americans killed in action dropped from 142 to 79 and the wounded from 741 to 567.

South Vietnamese dead increased from 151 to 175; the Viet Cong lost 928 killed, a drop of 300 which reflected a lull in the fighting for the period.

The South Vietnamese killed more than 300 Communists in a battle just below the border of North Viet Nam, routing a battalion of Viet Cong (400 to 600 men) and trapping them against the sea. A fleet of Vietnamese junks moved in from the sea to cut off escape.

Viet Hero Gets Medal of Honor

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson today presented the Medal of Honor to Army 1st Lt. Charles Q. Williams, the fourth man to receive the nation's highest award for valor in the Viet Nam war.

Williams, a 32-year-old native of Charleston, S. C., was honored for his "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty" in leading the defense of a camp at Dong Xoai under attack by a Communist Viet Cong regiment.

The officer took command of the camp after a superior officer was wounded. He himself was wounded several times during the bloody, 14-hour battle on June 3-10, 1965.

But, the citation said, he braved hostile gunfire many times, directing operations, stabilizing the defenders' positions and encouraging his troops to hold out against the vastly superior attacking forces.

Williams was serving as executive officer of an Army Special Forces detachment at the time. His outnumbered forces consisted of men of the detachment (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

DAUGHTER'S BRAVE, TOO—Two-year-old Shannon Williams, daughter of 1st Lt. Charles Q. Williams of Fayetteville, N.C., was perfectly calm meeting the President in Washington today. Williams was awarded the Medal of Honor for gallantry in Viet Nam.

Senate Passes $2,500 Raise for Legislators

Governor Warns His Approval Depends on Action by Lawmakers

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney said today he would go along with a "moderate" pay raise for legislators.

The governor said he already has made his views known to Republican leaders in the House, where some stiff opposition was expected.

The Senate, which earlier had approved a $5,000 pay hike, agreed last night to a $2,500 boost.

Romney said his signature on any pay raise bill was dependent on several points.

AWAITING TRIAL

One senator is awaiting trial on a drunken driving charge, another a morals charge and both a senator and a representative admitted owing back income taxes, later paid.

Romney had opposed any raise in the $4,000 to $5,000 bracket for the lawmakers.

But he has said he believes legislators should be adequately compensated.

He noted the Senate faces a four-year freeze in salaries unless something is done this year.

In his news conference today, Romney said his approval of any pay raise depended on legislative action on several points.

He listed these as:

- A strong "conflict of interest bill," that would ban lawmakers, for instance, from practicing as attorneys before state agencies.

- More equitable pay for unclassified state employees, such as heads of some of the smaller state departments.

- A move to improve the legislative process.

Romney said he has reason to believe the Legislature is moving along these lines.

The compromise, recommended by a House-Senate conference committee, would raise lawmakers' annual salaries from $10,000 to $12,500, leaving their expense money at $2,500 a year. The raise would go into effect for next year's Legislature.

It passed the Senate with four votes to spare — 23-8.

Pontiac Div. Sales Exec Is Retiring

The retirement of E. R. Pettingill as general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division and the appointment of Thomas L. King as his successor were announced today by John Z. DeLoe, a General Motors vice president and general manager of the division.

Pettingill, of 13485 W. Leland, Holly, is a 40-year veteran with Pontiac.

He will retire at the end of this month under provisions of the General Motors Retirement Program.

King, of 5455 Wayfind, Bloomfield Township has served as assistant general sales manager in charge of Central Office administration since last September. He will assume his new duties July 1.

A veteran with 20 years' experience in Pontiac's sales department, King will direct the sales efforts of the company which has for the past six years been in third place in the automotive industry.

He joined Pontiac as district manager in the Washington, D.C., zone and was promoted to parts and accessories merchandising manager in 1948. He became a business management manager in Charlotte, N.C., in 1949.

WEST COAST POSTS

Two years later he was named assistant zone manager in Los Angeles, Calif., and in 1954 he was appointed zone manager in Portland, Ore.

LBJ Assures Protection in Dixie March

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Johnson has responded to an appeal by the Rev. Martin Luther King for federal protection in troubled Philadelphia, Miss., by saying the state's governor has "given assurances that law and order will be maintained."

Deputy Press Secretary Robert H. Fleming replied "Yes" when asked at a news briefing whether Johnson also had told King "additional (federal) personnel would be there" when the civil rights leader returns tomorrow to Philadelphia, scene of racial violence on Tuesday.

But Fleming later told a reporter Johnson actually had referred to federal personnel already observing the civil rights march through Mississippi and said he did not know if their number would be increased.

$3.5 Million for Students of Private Colleges OK'd

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved a $3.5 million program of tuition grants for students at private colleges and universities in Michigan Wednesday night and began final action on the state budget.

With House-Senate disagreements over certain provisions still to be worked out, the state's 1966-67 spending plan was about $965 million, said Sen. Garland Lane, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Senators also approved a county home rule bill and bills to tighten regulation of cemeteries Wednesday night.

In each case, the Senate was acting on compromise bills worked out by House-Senate conference committees. The committee proposals still await final House approval.

Senators withheld immediate effect from the tuition grant measure. This, said Senate Minority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, would give Gov. George Romney a chance to ask the Michigan Supreme Court for an advisory opinion on whether the bill is constitutional — if Romney decided to sign the bill, that is.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Drendel, D-Detroit, argued that "if the bill is going to do any good, it should have immediate effect."

Lockwood contended that to "prevent the possibility of lengthy litigation," advisory opinion should be sought.

The bill, which would provide up to $500 a year for a private college student, depending on need, has the backing of the State Board of Education and spokesmen for Michigan private colleges.

The Detroit Council of Churches and the Jewish Community Council of Detroit have opposed it, contending it would violate separation of church and state.

In budget action, the Senate approved a compromise higher education bill providing $220 million—cut by $1.4 million in conference committee.

It also approved capital outlay expenditures totaling $78,995,486, a boost of $11,000 in conference, and a Mental Health Department appropriation of $115.8 million, a boost of $50 million in conference.

Before going into conference, the budget bills totaled $954.7 million, compared with Gov. George Romney's recommendation of $944.9 million.

The county home rule bill is aimed at giving county governments greater autonomy in running their own affairs, and at allowing them to streamline their operations.

Lindsay Cancels New York Dinner for King Faisal

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay, described as "deeply disturbed" over the anti-Jewish remarks of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, today canceled an official state dinner in honor of the visiting Arab monarch.

The announcement was made by Lindsay's office while the mayor was in Washington.

It said: "The dinner is canceled. Under the circumstances, the mayor has concluded that it would not be feasible to proceed with the dinner."

The cancellation came after the city became embroiled in heated controversy over Faisal's reference to Jews as "our enemy."

Two Michigan Men at Dinner for Faisal

WASHINGTON — At President Johnson's White House dinner for King Faisal of Saudi Arabia were two Michiganders: Arjay Miller, Detroit, and Harold A. Fitzgerald, Pontiac.

President Johnson welcomed the visitors warmly, and the king spoke briefly in reply.

REMODELING PAYS — David Strunk, 38, of Royalford, Pa., examines an envelope found in the wall of a home recently purchased and began to remodel. He found two 57-year-old bank deposit books showing over $6,000 and a jar containing several $1,000 World War I Liberty Bonds worth at least $15,250. The bank told Strunk the bonds must be cashed by heirs of the deceased buyer, Emma L. Kupka. Strunk is hoping for a reward.

Faces Army Charge After a Suicide Try

DETROIT (AP) — Charges of being absent without official leave await a 17-year-old soldier who held police at bay for an hour with two sticks of dynamite before exploding them in his apartment.

Pvt. Robert A. Maiale, quoted by officers as saying he "would rather die here than in Viet Nam," set off the blast with a battery Wednesday as military and civilian police surrounded the apartment building in suburban Melvindale.

The explosion blew out the windows of the upper flat, blasted a large hole in a hallway and knocked down the ceiling. Maiale was treated for minor bruises at a Detroit hospital before being confined at Ft. Wayne in Detroit.

WALL PARTITION — Police said a wall partition shielded him from the blast, saving his life.

A Roman Catholic priest and two police officers, who had tried to talk the soldier into surrendering, narrowly escaped injury in the explosion.

Police said the youth told them he "had a lot of personal debts" and "would rather die here than in Viet Nam."

Military Police said Maiale has been AWOL from Ft. Sill, Okla., since April, and that he escaped from confinement at Ft. Wayne two weeks ago.

WAVING GUN — MPs and Detroit officers said they traced Maiale to the Melvindale address, and said they found him waving a gun from an upstairs window. The pistol turned out to be a toy.

When the youth asked to see a priest, officers summoned the Rev. Michael Houle from a nearby church. Accompanied by the two policemen, Father Houle talked with Maiale.

"He was very nervous," the priest said. "We sat at the kitchen table. He had the dynamite in one hand and the battery in the other. He said he was a disgrace to his family and that he just wanted people to leave him alone."

"He said if we'd leave, he'd give himself up in five minutes," Father Houle continued. "We had just reached the sidewalk when we heard the blast."

Judge Denies Jury Trial for Oregon U. Editor

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Circuit Judge Edward Leavy today denied a motion for a jury trial for University of Oregon Editor Annette Buchanan, whose contempt of court trial is scheduled for Monday.

Miss Buchanan, 20, has twice refused to reveal to a grand jury the names of five students she interviewed for an article on marijuana.

Contests Legislation on JP Term Extension

A Pontiac attorney, stymied by a legislative act to get his name on the August primary ballot for justice of the peace in Bloomfield Township, has taken this case to Oakland County Circuit Court.

The lawyer, Barry A. Kushner, 32, is contesting the constitutionality of the legislation which was enacted earlier this month that extended the terms of some justices until January 1968 when the office will be abolished throughout the state.

In adopting the measure, legislators decided that the usual election of justices this year would be unnecessary because winners would not take office until July 1967 and then would only hold the post for six months.

At the end of that time, as outlined in the 1963 state constitution, justice courts will be eliminated and replaced by an entirely different countywide court system.

Nominating petitions for the justice post were filed in May by Kushner, 633 Warrington, Bloomfield Township, but became worthless when the legislature said there would be no election.

In his complaint, Kushner says he has been denied his constitutional right to be a candidate as a result of the legislation.

At this point, the suit is aimed at the Oakland County Election Commission, who, in carrying out the legislative mandate, has, according to Kushner, "illegally" refused to certify him as a candidate.

A hearing on Kushner's request to get his name on the ballot is scheduled for July 5 at 9 a.m. before Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn.

Kushner says he is prepared to take the case to the Supreme Court to get the matter clarified, and noted the urgency of resolving the situation since the primary is less than 45 days away.

Kushner contends that only an amendment to the constitution, and not the legislature could extend the terms of office.

5 Police Face Arraignment

Four in Detroit Mute on Perjury Charges

DETROIT (AP)—Five Detroit policemen indicted on perjury charges faced arraignment today. Four others stood mute in Recorder's (criminal) Court Wednesday following the grand jury indictment.

Pleas of innocent were entered for Sgt. William Krukpa and Patrolmen Kenneth Prayner, Daniel Allen and Robert Brown. Each was released on a $2,500 personal bond.

Scheduled for arraignment today were Patrolmen Alfred P. Finner, Gustave Herbstreit, Anthony E. Kimball, Leon Barnett and Frank Zugel.

All nine are charged with lying to Circuit Court Judge Edward S. Piggins, the grand juror, when they denied receiving gifts from bar owners.

GAVE TESTIMONY — "The charges against the nine police officers arise out of testimony that they received gifts and whiskey from certain bar owners in Detroit," Piggins said.

"The names are set forth in the indictments, and the details, in general, are the same," he said, "namely, that they were asked if they received money, gifts or anything of value from businessmen in Detroit, and all denied they ever had."

Piggins demanded questions about his suspicions as to why the gifts were allegedly made.

"My suspicions have no part in these proceedings," he said. "I can merely give you the facts."

CHECKING POLICE — The one-man grand jury has been investigating since August reports of wrongdoing in law enforcement agencies in Wayne County.

Addition of 41 Teachers OK'd

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education has approved the addition of 41 teachers next fall.

Twenty more teachers had already been approved at a prior meeting, Schools Supt. Eugene L. Johnson said.

Sixty per cent of the new teachers will be employed at elementary schools and 40 per cent at secondary schools.

The board also picked up an option on 28 acres between Long Pine and W. Long Lake in Middle Belt-Fieldstone Subdivision for a future school site.

Johnson said the final papers will be signed tomorrow.

SUBSTITUTE PAY — A $4 increase in substitute teacher salaries was also approved by the board at Tuesday's meeting.

Fully qualified teachers with degrees and certificates will receive $24 per day.

Those with special certificates or without a degree will receive $22 per day.

Johnson said substitute teachers who teach more than 20 consecutive days will be paid according to the beginning step on the salary schedule.

QUALIFIED STEP — Those who are continuously employed for a semester or longer will be put on the qualified step of the salary schedule.

In other action, the board accepted the resignation of David

W. Lee who has served as a board member for 13 consecutive years. Phillip Bartlett, 964 Dursley, Bloomfield Township, was sworn in as his replacement.

BIRMINGHAM — John L. Hannett, of 17869 Dunblaine, Beverly Hills, has been appointed director of development at Detroit Country Day School.

He will direct activities related to fund raising to complete a new learning center and to meet the school's long-range needs.

Hannett joined the faculty of Country Day in 1963 as athletic director and science teacher. He will continue as basketball coach in addition to his development duties.

As an independent school, Country Day is dependent upon funds raised through the development process. A campaign initiated a year ago has resulted in gifts of over $700,000.

An addition with a new entrance, administrative offices and additional locker room space, has been completed.

Meeting Stated on Sewer Plans

Walled Lake Official Due at Chicago Talks

WALLED LAKE — City Manager Royce Downey will meet with the Housing and Urban Development Commission in Chicago next Thursday to review plans for the construction of a $2.3-million sewer system.

Fifty per cent of the funds will be provided by a federal grant and the other 50 per cent will be raised locally, Downey said.

One-half of each unit's water bill will be allocated to make up the local 50 per cent, he said.

Four thousand residents, 128 commercial establishments and 17 industries will be served by the system, according to Downey.

The city is now served by septic tanks.

EXPANSION APPROVED

At Tuesday night's council meeting, a proposal for a $600,000 expansion of the water main system was approved.

The system, which is to be completed in six months, will be financed by a revenue bond issue already approved by the city council, Downey said.

A new deep well and 2½ miles of water mains are included in the project.

2 Wagonloads of Hay Burn in Milford Twp.

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — Apparently ignited by a lighted cigarette tossed from a passing car, two wagonloads of hay burned yesterday afternoon on South Milford at Moore.

John W. King Jr., 3175 Central, Highland Township, said there were 160 bales of hay, valued at 50 cents a bale, on two wagons he was pulling with a tractor.

One More Attempt on $8 Million Share

Avon Seeks Sewer Line Cost Cut

AVON TOWNSHIP — Township officials will make one more attempt to reduce their share of the cost of the proposed Clinton-Oakland Sewerage Disposal System before entering into an agreement with the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW).

The township board last night authorized financial consultants Stratton Associates, Inc., of Detroit to negotiate with the DPW to reduce the township's $8-million allocation.

The board also instructed Township Supervisor Cyril E. Miller to arrange a meeting with the Rochester Village Council to discuss a supplemental agreement for sewage treatment and to resolve legal problems.

Township officials feel that the $8,370,433 which they would have to pay for their share of the $28,827,500 project, including interest, is inequitable. Miller feels the cost should be lowered by at least $1 million.

In a report to the board last night, Stratton Associates pointed out that the cost was apportioned among the units of government without regard to location in the system.

IN EXCESS — The report contends that Avon should only be required to share in the cost of two sections of the system.

The firm also claims that the amount of capacity to be purchased in the system is "far in excess of the township's immediate needs" but that to enter into a contract for lesser capacity would only result in substantially higher costs at a later date.

It was also recommended that an attempt be made by Avon and Pontiac Townships to have plant.

Avon University make a contribution towards the cost allocated to these townships.

At its proposed meeting with the village council, tentatively set for July 6, the township board plans to discuss a supplemental agreement for use of the village's sewage treatment and Pontiac Townships to have plant.

3 Put on Building Group

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has appointed three members to the newly created building authority.

They are Donald Holland, 52641 Brookrest, to fill a six-year term; Paul Illich, 3730 Sandy Creek, four-year term; and Stephen Cooper, 53216 Villa Circle, two-year term.

The building authority will study and make recommendations on use of land owned by the township.

The board also named two persons to serve on a committee to be set up by the Macomb County Drain Commissioner.

The committee is to study possible solutions to the pollution of the Clinton River.

The project is expected to serve a population of 210,700 by 1990.

Waterford Township, with a projected population of 85,000 and an anticipated 24,286 connections, would pay about 40 per cent of the total cost.

Avon Township will contribute about 26 per cent while Pontiac and Independence townships each will pay about 10 per cent.

West Bloomfield's share will be 6.1 per cent, Orion Township, 4.7 per cent and Orchard Lake 1.4 per cent.

1,000 Workers for Ford

Kentuckians Due in Wixom

WIXOM — Some 1,000 men from the heart of Appalachia, most of them jobless, are coming to work at the Ford Motor Co. plant.

The state of Kentucky is helping them do it.

In a reversal of the traditional system of bringing the plant to the work force, Kentucky's Office of Economic Security, in cooperation with the Ford Motor Co., is helping the workers go to the job.

For the past several weeks, two men from Ford's labor relations department have been conducting interviews in Michigan, Kentucky, and West Virginia. They were looking for 1,000 workers ready to move to the Wixom plant area.

They found more than half the quota in Kentucky's mountainous poverty belt.

FINAL CHOICE

After first being screened by state employment personnel, the men met Darwin Hepler, a 30-year-old Michigan State University graduate who represented Ford. He made the final determination of acceptance or rejection.

Of the 1,738 men referred to Hepler and his associates, during stops at seven Kentucky communities, 365 were given tentative work commitments, pending physical examinations and aptitude tests. They are to begin work here July 19.

In virtually all of the state-operated employment centers, large lines greeted Ford representatives when they opened the doors.

All those who were hired are not expected to be at Wixom, however.

STATE OPINION

How does the state feel about losing these citizens to Michigan?

"If they want to work, they know they have to go where the job is," said Adam Walker, manager of the Corbin state district employment office.

He emphasized that many attempts have been made to bring industry to this Appalachian area, but without much success.

And for the unemployed, the opportunity presented by the local plant was good.

Report of Defection by Cuban Girl Athletes Untrue, Says U.S. Immigration Service

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Reports of mass defection by Cuban girl athletes are "without foundation in fact," the U.S. Immigration Service says.

A bus driver's story touched off reports Wednesday that 12 to 17 girls who had competed in the Caribbean and Central American Games in San Juan had renounced their Communist homeland. But after waiting seven hours for the girls to appear, the Immigration Service decided there was nothing to the story.

The driver, Reynaldo Feliciano, said he left the Olympic Village with a busload of 33 girls for a dock where a tugboat waited to take them to a Cuban freighter offshore. He said when he arrived, only 16 girls were aboard.

The Immigration Service during the morning issued a statement saying "from information available, it appears that 12 females defected from a bus. We are waiting for them to appear and seek asylum."

A police spokesman said a police escort had accompanied the bus and none of the girls got out on the way.

Jose Llanusa, chief of the Cuban delegation to the Games, told newsmen: "No one jumped off any bus."

Nevertheless the bus driver stuck to his story as police questioned him into the evening.

The girls were among 145 Cubans taken to the docks after completing their competition in the Games. More than half of the 33-member delegation remained to compete and join in closing ceremonies Saturday.

Francisco Marti Gonzalez, one of the two this week, told newsmen in Miami, Fla., that such things as the affluence he saw in Puerto Rico "showed me the difference between free enterprise and Cuba's state dictatorship."

Arriving with him in Miami was Hector Rodriguez, 22, a member of the Cuban track team.

"We urge all youths in Latin America to be alert against communism, which is trying to destroy freedom and sovereignty," he said.

Cotton is one of the oldest fibers known to man.

Osteopathic College Beaten by Bias

A setback was dealt the prospect of the Pontiac area's becoming the center of a new medical college when the Michigan House of Representatives voted against a bill to establish an osteopathic authority to govern the facility.

The House decision was close. The proposal, which had previously passed the Senate, lost by only two votes.

Regrettably, the development of the new medical institution, which would have done much to relieve the region's shortage of medical practitioners certain to become more acute with the impact of Medicare, assumed the complexion of a competitive and political issue.

A charter for the medical college was initially granted by the State board of education serving under Michigan's old constitution. The new board, that became effective in 1964, has from the outset been cool toward the local project. Furthermore, backed by Gov. George Romney, it has claimed complete autonomy over all state-supported educational establishments — both existent and proposed.

The Governor, moreover, may well have delivered the death blow to the pending legislation setting up the osteopathic authority when, with surprising impropriety, he prejudged it as unconstitutional and implied he would veto the bill were it to pass.

Other forces joined in opposition to the legislation — the attorney general, county and State medical societies and, unaccountably, the UAW-CIO which usually stands behind measures that promise future benefits for its membership.

Considering the forces arrayed against it, for reasons generally questionable, it is noteworthy that the osteopathic authority bill went down by so slim a margin.

The contest that would have enriched the area's cultural climate and given it an eventual $60 million facility employing 1,200 workers with an annual payroll of $12 million is doomed for this session of the legislature. But it will assuredly be revived at the session that convenes next January.

Meanwhile, it is to be hoped that specious opposition to the medical college will have dissolved into rationality, and the project be given the legislative support it needs and merits.

American Middle Class Really in the Middle

We don't hear much about the "middle class" any more.

There was a time when critics of society took pleasure in attacking the middle class as the repository of puritanical virtues, the fountainhead of anti-intellectualism, the fortress of narrowness and prejudice.

But nobody knocks the middle class nowadays. Perhaps it is because recent history has proved that it is the absence of a staunch, flourishing middle class in so many newly established nations around the world that accounts for their unrest and instability.

For anyone who is curious about where he stands in the social structure, however, there are still some fairly reliable criteria.

For instance, if taxes — income, property, sales, excise, ad infinitum — give you a constant pain, that's part of the middle-class pattern. (The poor at least escape some of them and the rich either don't feel them or have ways of minimizing theirs.)

If your son or daughter is not eligible to earn college money in part-time work because your income exceeds the maximum set by the government's youth opportunity program — sorry, you're middle class.

If you don't qualify for rent subsidies, welfare assistance, free medical care — if, briefly, you have to pay all your own bills — you can be pretty sure you're middle class.

You are, to put it bluntly, the forgotten man today, just because there are so many of you. Forgotten that is, until April 15 every year.

For Uncle Sam knows, even if he doesn't admit it, that it is the thousands of dollars from the millions of the middle class, not the millions of dollars from the thousands of the rich, that keep this country operating and paying the tab for the Great Society.

If the shoe fits, accept it gladly. You'll never get another one for free.

It's Hard to Label High Justices

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Trying to pin a flat across-the-board liberal or conservative label on the nine Supreme Court justices for their work in the term which ended Monday is like trying to squeeze jelly.

They split ranks repeatedly and shifted around. These five men — Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Abe Fortas — have been bracketed together as liberals.

MARLOW

This would seem to give the liberal viewpoint a 5-4 majority over the justices who have been labeled conservative: John M. Harlan, Byron R. White, Potter Stewart and Tom C. Clark.

And this would have been the case, if it had worked out that way. But it didn't. The liberals voted as a bloc more often than the conservatives but there was otherwise a mishmash.

In 18 major cases, which this writer picked from the court's decisions in the 1965-66 term to get an insight into how the justices stood, here were some of the results:

UNANIMOUS TWICE

The conservatives voted unanimously against a decision of the liberals only twice. Four times they voted unanimously with the liberals who, for their part, voted unanimously only eight times out of 18.

But six times the conservatives voted unanimously in joining one or more liberals in making up a majority necessary to give a decision.

In the 18 decisions, the greatest dissenter was Black who has been considered an extremely consistent liberal from away back. Some liberals may consider his dissents this year in the best liberal tradition.

But that judgment depends on who is doing the considering. For instance, was it in the liberal tradition for Black to vote with Harlan and Stewart against the court's 6-3 decision banning the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in state elections?

DISSENTED SIX TIMES

But Douglas, another long-standing liberal, dissented six times, five times side by side with Black, but not joining him against three other decisions, including the poll tax ban.

The voting of Clark may surprise many who thought they had him safely tucked away in their minds in a conservative niche. He dissented only twice from the majority decision, the same number of dissents Warren and Fortas gave.

Brennan was on the majority side more often than any justice on the court, dissenting only once, and that was against a majority decision which said that only in limited circumstances could arrested civil rights workers have their case shifted from state to federal courts.

Peace Hopes Dimmed by N. Viets

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

A spark of renewed hope for Viet Nam peace talks seems to have flickered off, at least for the immediate future.

Whatever cautious optimism there may have been recently in capitals searching for avenues to negotiations appears to have been smothered by a stonily truculent attitude in North Viet Nam.

That could change. But the tone of Hanoi propaganda—echoing the Chinese—shows the Communists profess to believe that the American will to fight is weakening.

Such a belief, if genuine, would militate against concessions necessary to make peace talks possible.

DEAD-END STREET

If such missions were bent on disclosing an avenue to the conference table, they apparently found a dead-end street.

Hanoi seems more over-eager to sell behind the Red Chinese line, as if its Politburo were firmly controlled by a Peking wing.

The North Vietnamese party has taken up a propaganda line described by a Yugoslav Communist newspaper as "a vocabulary identical to that used by Peking."

This would signify a frozen position on peace approaches, since China seems more intent on proving the United States a paper tiger than on easing the threat of general Asian war.

GOOD PROSPECTS

Statements from Peking and Hanoi suggest a Communist conviction that the Communist side has good prospects in view of Saigon's political situation and antiwar manifestations in the United States.

For a brief time there were signs of hesitant optimism in non-Communist capitals, possibly occasioned by trips to Hanoi by a Canadian envoy and an unofficial French expert on Viet Nam, and possibly bolstered by U. Thant's assurance that he intended to continue exploring for a diplomatic path to peace.

From all available evidence, the Canadian mission failed utterly, although the Canadians likely will try again if there is any sign of change in the atmosphere.

SPECULATION BREWS

There is a feeling among close observers of the Far East that Hanoi tends to waver between the Chinese and the Russians, depending upon the advantages of the moment, and to play one against the other.

Speculation about peace efforts developed in London after Prime Minister Harold Wilson said a Viet Nam peace could be achieved only by secret efforts, "some of them complicated, intricate and even possibly devious."

To some, this signified Britain might have been engaged in secret peace moves. However, a diplomatic consensus in London is that a British initiative in the near future is unlikely.

Britain has been so identified with U.S. policy, the diplomats say, that neither Peking nor Hanoi is prepared to talk.

Australia's attitude is that she favors any genuine third party attempt to seek a basis for negotiation. The government expresses no optimism about changes in Hanoi or Peking attitudes.

Likewise, there is no sign of a significant initiative in India. Indians show increasing understanding of the difficult U.S. position, but Prime Minister Indira Gandhi does not appear to have a peace proposal.

Bob Considine Says:

Arnold Palmer's Collapse No Surprise to Us Duffers

NEW YORK—Arnold Palmer's collapse in the U.S. Open may not have come as any surprise to bad golfers.

What we watched on TV as Palmer shot a 32 on the first nine of the scheduled final day of the tournament was no CONSIDINE more than we dream about when we think of our own games.

What happened to him from the 15th on was recognizable, too. That was, in truth, a replay of our own woes.

Arnie hit a tree, scraggled a ball only a few yards with a 3-iron, went into traps, missed putts. Doesn't everyone?

What happened to him on the playoff with Billy Casper was what happens to us when, having bragged about our games over so many martinis, we then have the terrible problem of going out and playing up to what we promised.

Billy Casper is a fine guy. Anybody who has the strength of character to lose 60 pounds, and drop 26-foot putts under extreme pressure, should be applauded.

Yet, for reasons not easily assayed, I found myself rooting for Palmer. As they used to say of New York Yankee rooters, and I am still one, that's like pulling for U.S. Steel.

Nevertheless, Palmer is tremendously exciting in the way that Dempsey, Ruth, Hagen, Tilden and Grange were exciting.

He can do a million things wrong, as they did, and somehow persevere and win. At least, he could until the 15th.

Airlines that fly to Spain found themselves in something of a quandary when Linda Bird Johnson began planning her trip there.

There is evidence the students are systematically worked up by experts.

This same pattern was noted by an American reporter in the 1960 Tokyo riots against President Eisenhower. The reporter moved without hurt among the demonstrators for five hours on the day of major violence, at the climax of which a howling army of students stormed the Japanese parliament. He wrote:

"They were too well-organized to be called a 'mob.' Individually, the demonstrators were just nice college kids out for a lark, amiable and polite. Occasionally, a few would stop and gather around me to express a liking for America, democracy and individual Americans like me."

"But toward evening, the agitators lined them up 20 abreast in a phalanx of locked arms. At each end, leaders with whistles blew a rhythmic one-two-three-four beat. They all jogged in unison to it, chanting... to the beat...

The earth literally shook under their dogtrot. As night came on, in the glare of the Japanese lanterns, the whole effect was hypnotic. Soon they had the glazed eyes of creatures frenzied beyond human reason."

A Communist Party USA general directive for the organization of demonstrations says: "Demonstrations must proceed in silence. Party members are responsible for seeing to it that the masses sing revolutionary songs and that appropriate slogans are chanted (in chorus)."

Someone should explain to Mr. Moley that though some unions are 'flush' it does not mean that all unions are this fortunate. The cost of the one advertisement in a Detroit paper was one thousand dollars, shared by Local 223 and Local 17.

Has Detroit Edison thanked you and the rest of their customers including myself for helping to pay for their ads in the papers every day?

JUST WONDERING

Question and Answer

How does Michigan stand in traffic fatalities?

NERVOUS DRIVER

REPLY

That depends on whether you mean total deaths or the mileage death rate (number of deaths per 100 million vehicle miles). According to 1963 figures by state traffic authorities, Michigan was sixth of all U.S. territories with 1,885 deaths. However, we do a lot better when you consider how many miles we travel. In mileage death rate we're way down the line (31st) with 5.3, as compared to Puerto Rico's 13.9 and South Carolina's 8.0.

Music, Weapon of Insurrection

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)

There's a common pattern in the emotional violence of the American student protest marches and sit-ins—whether against Viet Nam, the draft or university rules.

The violent pitch usually follows prolonged chanting or singing.

There is evidence the students are systematically worked up by experts.

This same pattern was noted by an American reporter in the 1960 Tokyo riots against President Eisenhower.

The reporter moved without hurt among the demonstrators for five hours on the day of major violence, at the climax of which a howling army of students stormed the Japanese parliament. He wrote:

Motorcyclist Safety Advised

Helmets, Tests Urged
as Accidents Increase

By Science Service

CHICAGO — Crash helmets and other safety precautions are advised to cut down on the growing number of deaths and accidents among motorcycle riders. There were 82 motorcycle accident deaths in 1963, leading to an estimate of far more than 1,000 deaths in 1965.

First-hand experience with victims of motorcycle accidents treated at the Maine Medical Center in Portland, Maine, has led to warnings by three doctors writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association. From May through August last year, 38 young persons underwent treatment and three of them died.

So many suffered multiple injuries that it was difficult to classify the damage in these accidents, the doctors said.

One is blind and paralyzed. Ten suffered fractures of the lower extremities. There were two spinal fractures, two severe abdominal injuries and nine cases of major injury to the head and neck.

The physicians called for carefully supervised motorcycle driver training programs by states, with meaningful road tests and rigid inspection and licensing rules.

"Education programs in public schools, as well as press and other news media campaigns are needed," they said. "Physicians should make themselves available to participate in such efforts in their communities."

Ways to improve safety equipment should be sought, they believe. Part of the fault is driver carelessness, part is lack of safety devices and part is due to the public's lack of awareness of special features of motorcycle handling.

Engineers, Doctors Teaming to Restore Sick Bodies

BOSTON (AP) — Physicians and engineers are joining in a new partnership to restore sick bodies and assist or replace worn-out vital parts.

"The work is too big for doctors to do alone any more," says Dr. John P. Merrill of Harvard Medical School, a leader in research that led to artificial kidney machines.

The kidney machines, artificial hearts, heart pacemakers and man-made replacement parts such as heart valves all pose interwoven medical and engineering problems that are best handled by a team approach that was not necessary for other types of medical devices.

LONG-RANGE RESULTS

At Tufts-New England Medical Center, for example, the surgical research staff includes a full-time engineer and two consulting engineers.

Some potential long-range results from this teamwork may be measured from what the full-time engineer, William C. Birtwell, thinks about hospital beds. "You know, a bed really isn't the best place for many patients," he said.

His thoughts for improvement center on some type of chamber that would make it possible to do for hospital patients what space capsules do for astronauts — put them in an environment that is totally different from the one around them.

HOSTILE CONDITIONS

For some patients, just normal atmospheric conditions — not to mention problems with infection — can be as hostile as the void of space is to a healthy human, he says.

Imagine, for instance, the possibility of keeping a badly burned patient suspended in a weightless state, instead of in contact with bed sheets that complicate treatment.

For the moment, however, Birtwell is more concerned with research on mechanical aids for poorly functioning hearts.

"We use a multidisciplinary approach where no one is subservient," he says. "Our object is not the creation of hybrid doctor-engineers, but a team that reduces ideas to physiological, biochemical and technical realities."

LEARNS QUICKLY

An electrical engineer himself, he says "any intelligent engineer brought into a medical problem at the proper level can quickly learn the terminology and understand the basis of the problem so he can look at it from an engineer's viewpoint."

To illustrate the gulf in understanding that can exist between

Ralph A. Deterling Jr., surgeon-in-chief at Tufts, cites an experience when he sought to learn how sturdy a new fabric would be if he placed it in a patient as part of an operation.

He was told that the material was guaranteed indefinitely, which prompted him to ask how quickly learn the terminology and understand the basis of the problem so he can look at it from an engineer's viewpoint."

Just as the answer showed the need for textile manufacturers to learn about the effects that the body's unique set of chemicals can have in reaction with substances, Dr. Deterling says, it also demonstrated that "we physicians must be able to define better what we need."

WORK TOGETHER

Rather than seek solutions on his own and then ask an engineer to implement them, Dr. Deterling explains, they physician is learning that he must "show the engineer what the problem is so he can feel it, factors.

Researchers say another major assist was given to collaboration between engineering and medicine about three years ago when the National Institute of Health began to allow money for medical research to be used for subcontracts with industry.

More than 85 hand and machine operations are used in making a shoe by some manufacturers.

Russians Believed Hiking Aid to N. Viets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Recent visitors to Hanoi say Soviet military aid and influence in North Viet Nam appear to be growing.

They report increasing amounts of supplies arriving from the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. This is especially true of trucks and military equipment. The rate of replacement of trucks is said to be much greater than the rate they are being destroyed by American air attacks.

The Russians, these travelers say, seem to be gaining influence over the Chinese with the North Vietnamese government.

At the same time, they add, the Hanoi regime still shows no disposition to negotiate a settlement with the United States.

'DON'T SEE WHY'
"They don't see why they should negotiate at this stage," said one newly returned visitor to Hanoi. "They feel that because of the Buddhist disturbances in South Viet Nam, the will of the Americans to stay on will be sapped."

'DON'T SEE WHY'
"They also feel they are getting a good grip on southern Laos and, having gotten this grip, they can sit down and wait two years or more. Then, they will use the right opportunity to spring in to South Viet Nam."

Morale in Hanoi, the visitors say, "seems to be very high," but there is anxiety over possible American air attacks on the capital, so far spared.

There has been considerable evacuation of people from Hanoi to the country, especially children.

IMPRESSIONS
The same sources also gave these impressions of North Viet Nam:

There is no visible effect of U.S. air attacks on communications and transportation routes. The main rail route to Communist China is open and trains leave and arrive daily.

The highway routes between Hanoi and Haiphong continue open. Bridges knocked out around Hanoi have been replaced by floating bamboo bridges which will handle trucks, but not trains. Hundreds of trucks arrive in Hanoi and depart again at night.

Virtually all industry is devoted to total war but there is a critical labor shortage.

TWO-YEAR PLAN
Economically, the Hanoi regime is thinking in terms of a two-year plan for decentralizing industries from cities to villages and rural areas.

A View From Home—4

We're Winning War in Viet---Slowly

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — It has become the vogue in the United States of late to write off our military effort in Viet Nam as failing. The view is unfortunate — and wrong.

Failing? On the contrary. Militarily we are surely succeeding.

This isn't to say the enemy is being routed. He isn't. And it also isn't to say that one day the enemy will finally wave a white flag, admit his errors and surrender. He won't.

Nonetheless his side is slowly losing this war. And our side is slowly winning.

COUNT SURVIVORS
Forget the politics for the moment and never mind the social confusion in that land. We're talking about combat, the blood and mud of it, where success is measured by counting the survivors at the end of every day.

And in this chilling respect, our superiority is undeniable.

The facts and figures are that whenever the shooting starts in Viet Nam, the United States comes out on the fat end of the statistical stick.

The enemy, for example, reportedly lost 12,256 dead during the first three months of this year. The U.S. lost 1,221.

EVENTUAL DEATH
The enemy loses an estimated 11 per cent of their wounded to eventual death. The U.S. loses less than 1 per cent.

The enemy has not gained any appreciable ground area in the past year. The U.S. now controls 10 per cent more than in 1965.

Defense Department analysts believe the enemy has not significantly increased their influence over the population in the forces outnumber them four to one. U.S. influence has grown by 8 per cent.

Clearly it's the enemy who is catching hell. And this is not surprising.

FRIENDLY FORCES
In a year of escalation, friendly forces have grown by over 250,000.

U.S. offensive operations have more than tripled; air bombing has reached nearly three times what it was in Korea; and the chances of a Communist soldier being killed in the action has more than doubled.

Moreover the enemy in Viet Nam is now sadly confronting the most modernly awesome firepower ever assembled for warfare:

B-52 bombers, for example, which carry four-dozen 750-pound bombs apiece; 20mm jet plane shells, each of which strike with the force of a car hitting a cement wall at 450 m.p.h.; and individual rifles that can fire 12 bullets every second.

Eighteen hundred helicopters and more than 700 attack planes also haunt the enemy.

250,000 GIs
And so, of course, do 250,000 American GIs who, it is estimated, will fire off one billion rounds of ammunition before this year ends, shoot over 10 million mortar and artillery explosives and toss 9.4 million hand grenades.

That's 4,000 rounds of ammunition, 400 artillery shells, and 360 grenades for every Viet Cong in the country.

But still, the enemy fights on. And despite defeats, death rates

Rare Kind Words for Medicare

ANN ARBOR — The Medicare plan, more accustomed to bricks than praise, had a few roses dropped in its path by the chief financial officer of the University of Michigan Hospital.

Associate Director Ernest C. Laetz predicted that Medicare's demand for utilization committees will prove a definite benefit to patients, hospitals and the doctors themselves.

In a talk at the 26th Annual Institute of the American Association of Hospital Accountants, Laetz said utilization committees will "tend to reduce costs of treatment, allow more patients to be hospitalized in a given number of beds, and reduce needless hospital construction."

He also predicted the utilization studies will upgrade medical care "by means of continued education of the staff and a critical constant review of patient cases."

Hospitals under Medicare will be required to form utilization committees to study the amount and quality of care furnished to patients.

EFFECTIVE ANSWER
The U. of M. hospital administrator said this mandatory self-analysis will prove "an effective answer to the critics who say hospital costs are increasing without control."

"New they must realize that both cost and quality of care will be of vital concern to the medical staff and hospital."

He compared this effect of Medicare to the effect of the 1913 income tax bill which, he said, led to better accounting methods in business and a much higher level of efficiency.

"Our only regret should be that, nationally, we couldn't have done this much sooner, and without the prodding of the federal government."

Laetz said the new ground

One Founder of Exchange Dead at 82

QUEENSTOWN, Md. — Thomas Marsalis, one of the founders of the American Stock Exchange, died yesterday at his home, "West Wye," near here after a long illness. He was 82.

A native of Dallas, Tex., Marsalis graduated from Harvard and, in 1917, established the Thomas Marsalis and Co. stockbrokers in New York City.

He moved to Maryland's Eastern Shore in 1929 and, for a time, owned "My Lord's Gift," one of the original "Thumb Grants" given by Lord Baltimore and so named because they were designated by having the recipient place his thumb on the area of a map which he wanted.

Survivors include a grandson, Thomas M. Lucke of Valley Forge, Pa.

Services will be held Saturday from Old Wye Church in Wye Mills, Md., with burial in Old Wye cemetery.

Russell Sees Military, Political Gains in Viet Nam

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said today the U.S. military situation in Viet Nam is improving and political stability in Saigon is "a great deal better than it was six weeks ago."

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said "We are not out of the woods yet" but significant military progress is being made against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

"This progress has been made despite the tragic handicap of political dissension behind the lines," the Georgia Democrat said. "But I believe that latter situation is a great deal better than it was six weeks ago."

In other developments relating to Viet Nam:

—The Army disclosed it is converting 11 World War II oil tankers into floating electrical generating plants. When docked in Viet Nam, the electricity the ships generate will be relayed to local power stations. The Army said each ship, drawing on its own 150,000-barrel oil capacity, can produce power around the clock for about two years without refueling.

SEIZE GROUND

—Maj. Gen. Roy Lasseter Jr., deputy assistant chief of staff for intelligence, told the House Appropriations Committee in testimony made public today that the only way to halt the movement of Communist troops, arms and ammunition into South Viet Nam is to seize the ground over which it moves.

Perhaps significantly, Russell said in an interview that he can't talk about a possible escalation of the U.S. military effort forecast in the Senate Wednesday by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Urging a reciprocal reduction in hostilities, Javits said President Johnson had provided "the rationale for the further escalation of the conflict." He alluded to Johnson's statement Saturday that the United States may have to step up operations in the south and raise the cost of aggression in the north.

There is general belief among members of Congress that the war is going to get hotter. Some feel that escalation may come while members are scattered on an Independence Day vacation and critics lack a ready-made forum in Washington.

LITTLE HOPE

Russell said he never has had much hope that the Communists will agree to unconditional negotiations. He said he continues to believe that the United States must push on to a military victory.

"I don't see anything else but to win unless we intend to reverse our entire foreign policy and retreat to fortress America," he said.

He said he is satisfied that President Johnson is holding firmly to the policy of punishing the aggressor until his will to fight is destroyed.

U. S. Winning Malaria War

Antileprosy Drug Is Success in Field Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army medical researchers reported today a major breakthrough in the fight against malaria, next to the Viet Cong the most savage enemy American troops face in Viet Nam.

A spokesman for the surgeon general's office said diaminodiphenylsulfone (DDS), a drug long used in treating leprosy, was found in Viet Nam field tests to cut in half the number of men who are stricken by malaria.

Soldiers who receive the drug but still come down with the disease should be able to return to duty in two or three weeks, instead of the present six to eight weeks. Chances of a relapse should be slashed from 40 per cent to 4 per cent.

Last year 1,801 U.S. troops were stricken by malaria with 63,035 man days lost. The latest complete monthly figures which fluctuate widely show that one of every 20 men could expect to be stricken during their one year tour.

DRUG APPROVED

The drug has been approved by the armed forces epidemiological board and the Food and Drug Administration, the spokesman said. Use of the drug by all U.S. troops in danger areas is expected soon. Stockpiles of DDS already are on hand in Viet Nam.

The drug is aimed specifically at falciparum, which drugs now in use are virtually helpless to prevent. Falciparum, a severe form of malaria, is restricted to the Vietnamese highlands.

A less serious strain of malaria, vivax, is under almost full control in Viet Nam with presently used drugs.

A top figure in the research section of the surgeon general's office said even though the number of cases should be halved with the use of DDS, the figure still was too high "and we certainly haven't whipped this thing yet."

Detroit Sues Schools Over Short Sessions

DETROIT (AP)—An attorney whose five-year-old son faces half-day sessions at a Detroit elementary school has filed suit to force full-day sessions in the first and seventh grades next fall.

The board of education, in an economy move, decreed June 14 that the two grades would go into half-day sessions in all Detroit public schools this fall.

Detroit School Superintendent Samuel Brownell recommended the move after voters defeated a millage proposal. Brownell is named defendant in the suit filed Wednesday by John H. Shepherd.

Shepherd charged that the shortened sessions are unconstitutional because they would deprive his son, Marc, of an equal education.

Wayne County Circuit Judge John B. Swainson set a hearing on the suit for July 1.

The Statue of Liberty, a gift from France, was dedicated Oct. 28, 1886. President Cleveland was the main speaker at the ceremony.

House Hikes Jobless Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House approved without controversy yesterday a measure extending unemployment insurance coverage to another three million workers. The vote was 374 to 10.

Obviously in no mood to fight, Republicans joined Democrats in supporting the bill written by the House Ways and Means Committee extending the coverage effective in 1969.

The bill provides a new period of benefits for jobless workers who have not found work after exhausting their regular state period.

The extra payment period is limited to 13 weeks and only if the nation or state is in a recession.

Under the bill, employer taxes would be increased from a net four-tenths per cent to six-tenths per cent of taxable wages.

TAXABLE WAGE BASE

Also the taxable wage base would be increased from the present $3,600 per year to $5,000 a year for wages paid in 1969 through 1971.

In 1972, the taxable wage base would be increased to $4,000 annually.

This will have the effect of doubling unemployment insurance tax collections by 1972.

Presently about $644 million is collected.

valiant defense against 250 Viet Cong. Greeting Howard at San Diego, Calif., are his wife, Teresa (white dress); his mother, Mrs. Edith Schnedler (right); and his six children.

Wounded Hero of Hill Battle Is Home

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U) — Staff Sgt. Jimmie Howard, just six days away from the bitter fight to hold a hill in Viet Nam, says he's ready to return anytime the Marine Corps gives the order.

"I'm a career Marine and I'll go where they send me — Viet Nam, too," Howard said yesterday after returning to San Diego and a hero's welcome from his mother, wife and six children.

Carried down the plane ramp on a stretcher, he was first met by his mother, Edith Schnedler of Sperry, Iowa.

"Oh, my God, it's been a long wait," his wife, Teresa, cried before embracing her husband. Howard, 36, will be around for awhile.

He was taken to Balboa Hospital for treatment of shrapnel wounds received last week when he led his unit of 17 men in a valiant defense against an estimated 250 Viet Cong.

SIX KILLED

Six of Howard's men were killed and all the rest were wounded before help arrived.

They were out of hand grenades and had only 12 bullets, but the slopes of the hill were littered with Viet Cong dead.

Howard's men say his leadership in the battle saved their lives, but he says: "I don't feel like a hero. I was just setting an example for my men. I had a mission to do."

About the celebrated rock-throwing incident, Howard said: "It was pitch dark on that hill last week."

"If you throw a rock and a man sees it against the sky or hears it land near him, he's going to jump instinctively because he thinks it's a grenade. When he moves, you know where he is."

"We got quite a few of them that way," he said.

Howard learned the rock trick in the Korean War, where he got three Purple Hearts and the Silver Star.

What's Four Roses doing with a Fifth?

Plenty. First we took our fifth size bottle and redesigned it. (All other sizes, too.) Gave it a clean, elegant, handsome look, right? But most important is what we're doing inside the fifth. We've added a Fifth Rose — the great new taste in Four Roses. The honestly good taste of Four Roses. The kind of whiskey taste you don't just say you like, but you really do like. (A bonus note: see how surprisingly reasonable a good-tasting whiskey can be. The fact is, Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more.) So now there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses. Agreed?

Sturdy Steeds and Steady Moms

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

There are about as many children competing in the Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt as there are adults. Except for the very young ones, the boys are self-sufficient. But the girls need more attention from their mothers—before, during and after the events in which they compete.

These maternal chaperones spend hours at the club during the show and countless more hours during the rest of the year.

They do it because their daughters love to ride; because they think riding is important; and just because they're mothers who care.

GOOD SPORTS

They applaud when daughters win; they sympathize, but talk about good sportsmanship when daughters lose.

Sometimes, like Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, they see a daughter go on and on in her chosen sport to reach the top. Crystine Jones, a member of the U.S. Equestrian Team, won two events at a recent international show in Germany.

But she is the exception and most of the girls do not go that far.

Mrs. Howard Maedel of Bloomfield Village was the mother of a competing girl rider for eight years.

She has worked out a ten commandments for these mothers, a list that tells what they go through better than any description of a day:

Agreeing wholeheartedly with Mrs. Maedel's list is Mrs. Fred V. Davis whose 12-year-old daughter, Blyth, has been riding since she was four.

Blyth is competing in 12 classes this year, rides three horses.

COMMANDMENTS FOR MOTHERS

Thou shalt arise no later than 6:30 a.m.

She always shows in the first class in the morning.

Thou shalt check on her clothing for the fifth time.

Hunt cap, rat catcher (shirt) breeches, boots, choker, stack pin, coat, cuff links, hair net.

Thou shalt try to have her "eat something."

This will be in vain.

Thou shalt have her check her clothing for the sixth time.

Have duplicates of everything, if possible.

Thou shalt not make noises like an angry mother.

She's mounted, ready to enter the ring and you find the hunt cap has been left in the car. You can always borrow a cap and if it is too small and gives her a headache, there's aspirin in the hospitality tent.

Thou shalt grit thy teeth and smile sweetly.

The woman next to you makes some remark about your daughter's posture.

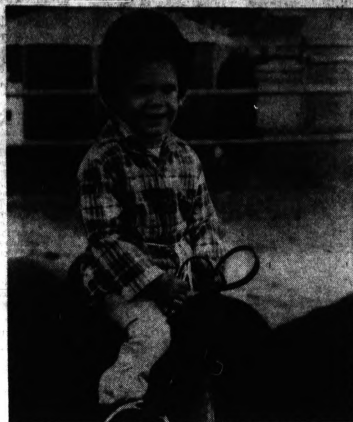

Thou shalt not panic when your daughter's horse wants to quit at the third fence.

She'll get him over; he knows who's boss.

Thou shalt not look smug when she gets a "call out" (being chosen by the judges as a finalist.)

Thou shalt not weep with pride when she wins the class and leaves the field with blue ribbon and silver trophy.

Thou shalt not weep when she loses the blue ribbon by one fault and comes off the field smiling.

Dana Wolf, daughter of the A. A. Wolfs of Birmingham, is only two and has been riding just one month. But she won a ribbon in Lead-line Equitation class earlier this week at the Detroit Horse Show.

YWCA's Day Camp Names College Senior as Director

Jacquelyn Morris, Western Michigan University senior, has been appointed director for the Pontiac YWCA's annual Day Camp program.

Currently living in Clarkston, Miss Morris is a Pontiac North-east High School graduate and veteran camper and counselor in the Camp Fire Girls camp program.

Under chairmanship of Mrs. Donald McMillen, Day Camp opens July 5 and continues through Aug. 12. Girls from eight through 12 years will attend three days a week, while girls aged five through seven will camp two days a week.

Mrs. Roba Netzer, YWCA executive director, has announced that area teen-agers are invited to apply as junior counselors and aids for both age groups.

Youngsters may attend any two-week session or all six weeks.

Both age groups will have field trips each week.

The older girls will have weekly swimming lessons in the YMCA pool.

Highlight of the Y's day camp is a trip by chartered bus and boat to Bob-Lo Island.

Folders will full details about the program are available by contacting the YWCA. Registration opens Monday.

Fall Vows Planned

The engagement of their daughter, Carole Ann, to Richard Shoemaker, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Statwick of Eugene Drive, Oxford Township. His parents are the Richard Shoemakers of Hillberg Street, Oxford Township.

A September wedding is planned.

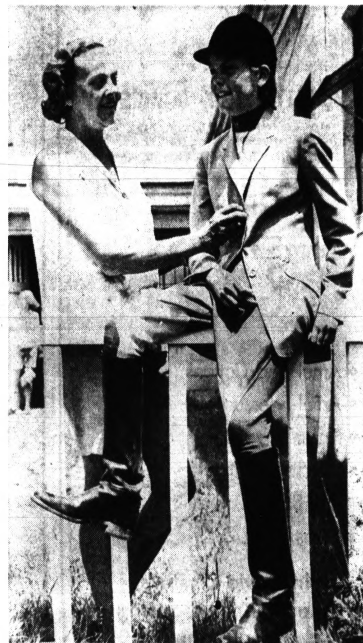

Mrs. Newton Elected

Mrs. John Newton was recently elected president of the Mothersingers Club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John Kock of North Saginaw Street. Several out-of-town guests were present.

With beautiful horses all around them at the Detroit Horse Show, many of the youngsters prefer to play with this amiable pony, Dolly. She belongs to Nancy Albert of Pleasant Ridge (center). Karen and David Sheppard of Franklin are caring for her during the summer. Dolly is groomed to perfection with her tail in a curled braid.

Mrs. Fred V. Davis of Lake Crest Drive makes sure that daughter Blyth is correctly dressed before she enters competition at the Bloomfield Open Hunt during the Detroit Horse Show. When Blyth is competing, her mother spends most of her time at the club, too.

It's Correct to Answer an Invitation

By ELIZABETH L. POST
This is the prize-winning letter chosen this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post, has been sent to Mrs. Ruth Burns of Mahopac, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Post: My pet peeve concerns the bores who do not "r.s.v.p." or wait until the last minute. Frequently, I'm left hanging, wondering if they're coming, and am tempted to phone saying, "Are you or are you not?"

Almost as irritating are the ones who say, "I'm not sure yet, I'll let you know," and again wait for the last minute to respond.

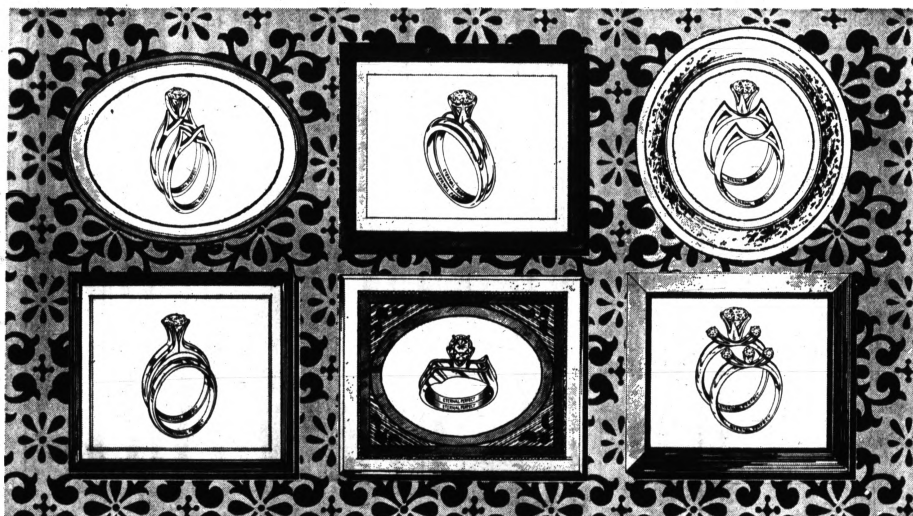

Dear Mrs. Burns: Failure to answer an invitation which has r.s.v.p. on it is inexcusable. When the invitee honestly will not know whether or not he can go until the last minute it is far better to refuse and allow the hostess to invite someone in his place.

If the occasion is a cocktail party or dance where one or two guests more or less would make no difference, you might call and explain his situation and hope that the hostess insist that he come if he can at the last moment.

But if she sounds hesitant or says she's so sorry, that's it. He must hope for a rain check. The fact that so many people are lax about answering invitations has given rise to one of the most deplorable facts of social behavior today: answer cards. People can tell me how busy they are, how little time they have, how poor their handwriting is, or that they don't know the correct terms, but it isn't going to change my mind.

If the hostess is thoughtful enough, or cares enough, to send someone an invitation, that someone can find the three minutes (at most) that it takes to answer by hand.

Second Debut for Mother

New Mother can smooth out her facial line right at home—thanks to a new non-surgical face-lift discovery called 2ND DEBUT. It contains skin-smoothing CEF-40 (CER-100 for the face over 40), 2nd Debut is a moisturizing skin lotion that smooths out facial lines... helps return eyes, mouth, chin and neck to firm, more youthful tone and softness. The process is simple: it's based upon resuppling the skin with the natural ingredient throughout which the inner cells obtain and retain much-needed water moisture.
This ingredient is called CEF... Cellular Expansion Factor. 2nd Debut is a non-surgical face lift that gives

Don't Count on Wedding Ring if He Has to Hide You Now

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and have been going with this guy for over a year. He is 22. We have to keep it to ourselves because of his parents. They are very narrow minded. They disapprove of me because I made a few mistakes in the past. Once when I was 14 and again when I was 16, but I gave both babies away. Anyway, this guy says he will marry me in time, but right now he can't be seen in public with me. I hate all this hiding and sneaking around.

I know my reputation isn't so hot, but I am not a criminal. I don't go with anybody but this one guy, and I want to get married. What is your advice?

TIRED OF HIDING

DEAR TIRED: A guy who can't be seen in public with the girl he intends to marry is a long way from being man enough to marry her. If it's a wedding ring you want, don't count on him.

Change your address, and the farther from the scene of your "mistakes," the better.

DEAR ABBY: You were much too lenient toward that tombstone man who stated that each gravestone must bear the dates of birth and death on it. In a word, he was a chiseler.

You made a monumental boo boo, Abby, but don't get stoned or potted over it. Your words of wisdom and wacky wit are a source of joy. You are the flower of the earth — you blooming idiot.

YOUR L'VILLE PUN PAL

DEAR PAL:

Call not a blooming idiot one Who cultivates the lowly pun;

Each thought begins with our Creator, I'll plant you now and dig you later.

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago I read an article in the paper about kooky weddings. It told about how people got married on horseback, water skis, and even while free-falling out of an airplane with a parachute. I would like to know how you feel about such weddings. Abby. Can these people be serious?

DEAR CURIOUS: I can understand (barely) how ardent horse-lovers can be serious about wanting to be married on horseback, but that is where I would say whoa! Jumping into the sea of matrimony on water skis leaves me cold. And the same goes for taking the plunge in a parachute.

Kooky weddings and publicity go together like ham and eggs. I personally prefer rice and old shoes.

DEAR ABBY: When some poor, ignorant, unimaginative clod points to the work of a serious modern artist and asks, "What is THAT? supposed to be?" how does the artist reply?

CONFUNDED

DEAR CONFUNDED: The

artist tells the clod what he had in mind when he put the brush to the canvas. If he can remember, that is.

Problems? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Running Water

Once the washing suds have been rinsed out of fabric gloves, they can be re-shaped under running warm water.

Let this flow through each glove to inflate the fingers and hand cavities. The water pressure smooths the fabric and straightens the fingers so the gloves need no finger-pressing after being drip-dried.

Interlochen Starts New Season

INTERLOCHEN, Mich. — America's oldest summer school devoted to the fine arts will open for its 39th season on Sunday.

It is the National Music Camp, founded in 1928 — when the late Dr. Joseph E. Maddy greeted 115 students — and entering the 1966 program with nearly 1,000 students, but for the first time without Dr. Maddy.

Dr. George C. Wilson, director of the camp, will greet the students, faculty and staff at an assembly in Kresge Auditorium at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

This will be largely a get-acquainted affair. Members of the board of trustees will be present.

Introductions will continue at a faculty-student-staff reception in the Stone Student Center after the assembly. But at this affair, too, there will be the renewal of many faculty-student friendships begun in past summers.

Rehearsals of most orchestras, bands and other ensembles will start on Monday and classwork begins on Tuesday.

Early rehearsals are in order because the initial student performance, by high school bands, is scheduled for Saturday evening, July 2.

Four afternoon concerts by student bands and orchestras and an evening concert by high school orchestras are listed for Sunday.

Actually, the initial concerts will be given by faculty groups on Wednesday, June 29, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Returning students and returnees among the faculty and staff of 900 quickly will learn that there have been physical changes at Interlochen.

Driving in, they'll find that the lodges have been moved. The lodges are closer to the waterfront and the cleared land is to be the site of dormitories.

When they take their places in Kresge auditorium for the assembly, they'll find they are in individual seats instead of on benches. There are 4,015 new seats, installation of which is nearing completion.

Returnees also will see the two $50,000 dormitories which will accommodate 100 persons — students or guests — each, given by large foundations. These first became available for guests at the Interlochen Arts Academy Commencement period and will accommodate guests and faculty during the camp period.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion A. Shipman Jr. of Prairie Lawn Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Sue, to Melvin J. Patterson Jr., son of the Melvin J. Pattersons of Lorena Drive. They are juniors at Michigan State University and Hillsdale College, respectively.

September vows are being planned by Judy Lee Dinkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dinkins of Chenoa Road, Commerce Township, and Pvt. William Brennecke, son of the Willard Brennecks of Foxbury Road, Commerce Township. He is stationed at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

Polly's Pointers

Make a Batcape

DEAR POLLY — As Batman is all the rage now, a cape can be made from the material in a discarded umbrella. Remove the material from the frame being careful not to cut into it. Rip one seam from end to center. Cut center of the circle large enough for the neck and reinforce with bias tape.

Sew a piece of elastic to side and bottom ends for the hands to slip through, with the pointed ends of material resembling the wings of a bat. The youngsters can have lots of fun.—E.M.A.

DEAR POLLY — To clean the old-type bed springs, I dip a baby's formula brush into detergent suds and then brush the liquid on the springs and think it works perfectly.—DONNA

DEAR POLLY — A paper clip bent into an S shape makes a dandy substitute if you run short of hooks for your draw draperies.

An ordinary rubber sink mat placed on the open lid of the sewing machine will keep the material from sliding, keeps the wood from being scratched.—MADELEINE

DEAR POLLY — When I go to a coin laundry I take along my sprinkling bottle and plastic bag and sprinkle everything to be ironed and then put it all right into the bag.

This saves time because it can be done while the heavier things dry. It saves trouble as I do not have to clear the kitchen table and then mop up the sprinkles when I am finished.—MRS. G.E.C.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for Mickey who wanted to know how to remove formula stains from baby's clothes. Soak or rinse in cool (not hot) water. If the stain persists sprinkle the wet spot with persin powder. Let it stand for 30 minutes and then rinse and wash with good baby soap.—MRS. R.A.B.

DEAR POLLY — Remove formula stains (and grease stains, too) with shampoo. Pour it on the stain (don't be stingy) and then launder the garment as usual. This is fine for "special" clothes but I would like to know of a less expensive way to remove stains from all of baby's clothes.

I buy the biggest bottle of shampoo for the least amount of money I can find.—PEGGY.

Two Types of 'Bleach' on Market

Chlorine bleaches are today's most popular disinfectants for laundering. The cost per wash load is 4 cents to 5 cents, no matter how you buy it — in bottles, tables, or powder form. The germicidal action is excellent, yet not significantly better than pine-oils.

Inexperienced shoppers, however, need some pointers about "bleach" because but non-chlorine bleaches are merely "whiteners" (optical brighteners), not effective as germicides.

Chlorine bleaches must be diluted before they contact fabrics. They must not be mixed with ammonia products, and they must be stored and handled with great respect. Anyone who used chlorine bleach must follow the manufacturer's directions very carefully.

Two other types of disinfectants are recommended by the USDA: quaternary types and phenolic types, both claimed excellent for laundering. However, they are expensive (around 32 cents to 47 cents a load), are rarely stocked on laundry-supply shelves in stores.

Frost causes the cotton plant to shed leaves naturally.

They are blooming mates and you made them! Give a lift to last year's outfit with bright flowers cut from "Bondex" iron-on fabric. Put the flowers down the side of the Bermudas, or around the hemline. Then, with what's left, try a little op art on the tennis shoes. A placement chart is included with the pattern. No. PPE 1138.

Tack paper tablecloths and paper plates on picnic tables with thumb tacks if a strong breeze is blowing.

A bachelor of arts degree in sociology from Mercy College, Detroit, was earned recently by Eleanor Anne Duross. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis P. Duross of Oakway Drive, West Bloomfield Township, she was president of Sigma Pi Beta sorority during her junior year.

Tricycle, bicycle, tandem, you can ride into a boutique fashion with very little effort... but no one else will know. Start with matching gingham shirts and all you need is "Bondex" iron-on fabric to become a big wheel in any circle. No. PPE 1137. Both patterns may be obtained free by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Needlework Editor, The Pontiac Press, Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48058.

Study Pricing of Art Works

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (U) — How artists price their works of art — and why purchasers should choose certain prints or paintings — was the subject of a recent study at Pennsylvania State University by Harold Altman. Altman concluded that prices are set largely through comparison, although personal need of the artist can be a factor.

Again, size may influence price. Some French artists actually price their work by the square inch of canvas involved.

For anyone about to buy a print or painting, Altman gives this advice: Don't go overboard for what is currently fashionable.

Hints for Him

Heavy set men can look slimmer by wearing pointed collars: rounded collars are for the thinner male.

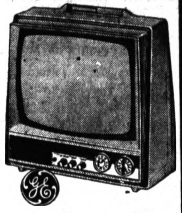

• When polishing your own shoes, use cotton-tipped stick to get at hard-to-reach places between the soles and uppers... Clean shoe brushes will do the best polishing job. • To keep on clean, give it an occasional soaking in warm suds to which a few drops of turpentine have been added.

Briton Says Sugar to Blame for Heart Ills

LONDON — St. Helena is a tribe in Africa showed that al-aying the Massi do a lot of hilly island and the natives get a lot of exercise simply walking up and down. Napoleon complained about the exertion when he was a prisoner there. The natives eat only about two-thirds of the amount of animal fats consumed by Britons. though they are among the heavy-exercise. Why not also point out that animal fat enters in the out the Massi do not eat world, they have practically no sugar?" heart disease or arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). The mean altitude of all North America is about 2,000 NO SUGAR "They explained this away by feet.

So, according to the prevalent theory of coronary disease which largely blames animal fat intake plus lack of exercise, the St. Helens ought to have less heart trouble than the sedentary British.

But, according to a recent medical survey, they have just as much.

And Dr. John Yudkin, Britain's leading nutritionist, cited the still unpublished study in an interview today as additional evidence for his own theory that sugar, not animal fat, is the villain in heart trouble.

SAME AMOUNT
The St. Helens, the study discovered, eat about the same amount of sugar as the British.

Dr. Yudkin is a good-humored scientist who appeared, in his laboratory at Queen Elizabeth College, to be not the least discouraged by the fact some leading American experts challenge his theory.

He said "The Establishment" was never easy to shake loose from an idea, but he felt he had accumulated more evidence in support of the sugar theory in three years than the cholesterol (FAT) theorists had been able to accumulate in 12 years.

"They go to all sorts of lengths to make events fit their theory," he said. "For example, an American study of the Massi

License Fee Hike Clears Legislature

LANSING (AP) — You have to pay an extra dollar to renew your driver's license next year—to make sure that more new drivers are well-trained.

Renewals would cost $4 and a first license $5.50.

The House agreed Wednesday to Senate amendments to a bill guaranteeing Michigan school districts $30 for each student enrolled in driver education programs.

School districts now are allowed $25, but because the teen population is growing faster than the number of driver licenses and renewals, they receive only $18 to $22.50 per student.

The increase in fees will give the schools an estimated $1.75 million a year, said sponsor George Montgomery, D-Detroit, "or almost a 50 per cent increase for many schools."

An attempt to make sure the driver education fund would never fall behind the demands placed on it failed. The Senate struck out a provision that would have made up the difference between fee revenues and costs out of the state general fund. The House went along with the Senate amendment.

The bill also requires school districts to admit into their driver education programs parochial and private school students (it now is discretionary with the schools) and allows them to enroll teen-aged high school dropouts.

School districts will get only a partial improvement in their state funds in the coming fiscal year, since the license fee hike won't take effect until next Jan. 1.

The bill now goes to Gov. George Romney.

Grand Rapids Man Is Drowning Victim

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—David L. Thompson, 23, of Grand Rapids drowned Wednesday in Lake Michigan at Grand Haven State Park. State police said Thompson was found floating face down in waist-deep water. Two companions who accompanied him to the beach said they had not seen him for about a half an hour.

Drug Bills Among 16 OK'd by Romney

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Wednesday signed into law 16 bills, including two measures strengthening controls over sale of narcotics.

One measure would limit the amount of narcotic drugs sold at retail without a prescription. It would make it illegal to sell to any person without a prescription more than four fluid ounces of the exempt preparation within 48 hours.

A companion bill deletes a portion of the Narcotics Act which was replaced by a 1964 law controlling the sale of paracetamol.

Other bills signed would:

—Amend the State Scholarship Act to allow the Higher Education Assistance Authority to use scholarship achievement as well as competitive examinations in determining award winners.

—Grant intermediate school districts authority, after voter approval, to issue bonds to provide for construction, remodeling or enlarging buildings for vocational training programs.

—Grant a one-year extension, to July 1, 1967, of the date when the State Board of Education may accept federal funds under the Economic Opportunity Act.

—Broaden the act covering fire protection for townships and villages to include cities of less than 15,000 population and prohibit use of the act to decrease the number of full-time paid firemen.

—Allow townships to contract for fire protection service from private individuals or organizations.

—Clarify the existing provision that community mental health boards may execute contracts with other social service agencies.

—Permit reporting to the Friend of the Court the salary and other income of a person responsible for child support in paternity cases.

—Amend the Drain Code to permit boards of supervisors to include the drain commissioner and his department employees under Social Security.

—Amend the act authorizing counties to maintain and regulate parking lots.

—Amend the Township Act to include garbage and rubbish collection as a public improvement permitting, assessing and bonding.

—Specify that a building contract fund be considered a public trust for the benefit of the person making the payment.

—Increase the pay for county juvenile officers.

Foreign Car Makers Feel U.S. Safety Squeeze, Too

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Proposed legislation to set U.S. automobile safety standards would apply to foreign-made cars sold in America as well as to American autos. The following dispatch studies the international implications of the bill.)

By PATRICK J. SLOVAN
United Press International
WASHINGTON — The drive in Congress for new U.S. auto safety standards has touched off a revolution among foreign auto manufacturers as well as American car producers.

It could also mean the start of an international trade war that could increase the U.S. trade deficit by $1 billion and limit motorists to driving only cars made in their countries.

But it also will reduce the European highway death and injury toll—currently running at 60,000 deaths, double the U.S. rate.

Under the legislation approved this week by the Senate Commerce Committee, interim auto safety standards would be set Jan. 1, 1969. Revised and more stringent standards would be imposed a year later.

Most likely, the temporary standards will be those the Government Services Administration (GSA) sets for the U.S. cars it buys for federal agencies.

NEW MODELS EQUIPPED
General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors, have all of the GSA's 17 standards in their 1967 models bowing this fall.

The Big Four will have little trouble meeting nine new standards the GSA has required for 1968 models.

But the government doesn't buy foreign cars, and the imports don't meet all of GSA's standards.

Although Volkswagen executives said their cars meet all U.S. standards, they only comply with 12 of the GSA specifications.

'ALL STANDARDS'
"We plan to meet all the GSA standards when our new cars go into production this fall," said a VW spokesman.

Detroit will have major safety innovations in this fall's models, including the energy-absorbing steering column. Popular imports won't have the advances until 1969 models.

Antipollution devices for auto engines — already achieved by the Big Four—still have to be devised for foreign cars.

But foreign auto makers are catching on.

U. N. SESSIONS
Current GSA meetings smack of United Nations sessions. "We've got Italians, English, some French boys, we got them all, said one GSA official.

Damier-Benz rushed one of its $27,000 models to Washington to take another GSA official on a test spin.

Representatives of auto makers in Tokyo, London, Paris and Milan are hustling through government halls with copies of the administration safety bill and Ralph Nader's book, "Unsafe at any Speed."

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., has already termed the VW the world's unsafest car.

LIST OF CAMPAIGNS
He's about to release a list of defect repair campaigns involving all foreign cars sold in the United States — from the Rolls Royce to the Renault.

The Senate version of the auto safety legislation contains language that was urged by the State Department.

It states that future standards

"be appropriate to the vehicle." Supporters of the provision contend it would prevent applying specifications for headroom in a big American car to a small European auto.

"It also could mean a loophole for foreign cars," said Nader, who just returned from a European campaign against unsafe cars. "You could end up with two sets of safety standards."

MORE LIKELY

Three is more likely. The European Economic Community—the Common Market—is considering auto safety standards of its own.

These standards and possibly others could apply to U.S. cars and parts sold abroad which earn Detroit $1.8 billion a year — $1 billion plus for the U.S. balance-of-trade.

"If this got out of hand, each

Ends Arizona Battle

Couple Signs Simpler Loyalty Oath

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Barbara and Vernon Elfrandt have signed a simple affirmation of their loyalty to the state and nation, ending a five-year battle against Arizona's loyalty oath.

Their decision to sign the oath — declared unconstitutional in April by the U. S. Supreme Court — cleared the way for the Quaker couple to receive more than $60,000 in back pay.

But there may be more legal roadblocks in the way.

The Elfrandts may have to file suit to receive the money withheld by their school boards in Tucson District One and the Amphitheater District. At least one of the boards has taken the issue up with an attorney.

PAY OFF LOANS
Most of it will be used to pay off loans they have received while working without pay for five years, they said.

Despite the high court's ruling April 18 that the oath was unconstitutional on grounds it "threatens the cherished freedom of association protected by the First Amendment," the Arizona Supreme Court held last month that it would stay in effect.

Chief Justice Fred C. Struckmeyer Jr., who wrote the state court's opinion, said the U. S. Supreme Court apparently only invalidated the criminal penalties and said "there is some measure of ambiguity" in the ruling.

The state court declared Mrs. Elfrandt had to take the oath before she could collect back pay, with interest. There was no mention of her husband.

The result of the two rulings

Romney, Ferency
Invited to Debate

LANSING (AP) — The State AFL-CIO has issued an early invitation to Gov. George Romney to debate his Democratic challenger, Zoltan Ferency, at a September political education convention.

State AFL-CIO President August Scholle tendered the invitation to the union's convention on political education, to be held Sept. 26-28 in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

A Romney aide said it is much to early for the governor to make a commitment at this time.

Kalamazoo Tot Killed
as Car Runs Over Her

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Linda Kay Phillips, 18 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips, was killed yesterday when she was run over in the driveway of her parents' home.

Authorities said the victim's uncle, Vernon Turmur, who was staying with the family, was backing out the driveway when the girl stumbled into the path of the car.

confused the Elfrandts. But Mrs. Elfrandt, 33, a teacher at Amphitheater Junior High, Smith declared that appointees to the public office still must sign the oath.

"I'd prefer the word loyalty be defined in more positive terms," said Elfrandt, 38, a visual rights, the couple maintained. The high court upheld that contention.

Exploiting the Sea—3

New Vessels Open a Frontier

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Oceanographers frequently refer to the oceans as "inner space" and contend the knowledge and reward buried in their depths are even more important than those of space. The following dispatch, third of four, tells how man is overcoming the barriers the jealous seas have placed in the way of underwater exploration.)

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press International

WASHINGTON — In a recent message to Congress on the national oceanographic program, President Johnson singled out for special mention a "revolutionary vessel" which will be able to perform tasks on the sea bottom which were "thought impossible only a few years ago."

The vessel is the NR1, a nuclear-powered submersible being built by the Navy and the Atomic Energy Commission. It will be able to move over the ocean floor for weeks at a time.

Its endurance submerged will not depend on its power plant, which needs no oxygen, but rather on the endurance of the crew and the amount of water and food and air which can be stored aboard the craft.

"This vehicle," the message said, "will be able to perform tasks heretofore only imagined. It will be able to perform detailed studies and mapping of the ocean bottom for commercial and scientific purposes."

"It will be able to obtain information leading toward greater exploitation and control of the oceans' resources, including marine life and minerals."

OCEAN RECOVERY

"It will be capable of locating and retrieving objects of commercial, scientific, and military value from the ocean."

NR1 is one of at least 27 "Undersea Research Vehicles" (URV) being planned, built, or operated by various nations.

They range in operating depth from 200 feet to the bottom of the deepest ocean trenches where—36,000 feet below the surface—the water pressure reaches 15,000 pounds per square inch.

Of the world total, 32 underwater research craft are American. The biggest is the submarine Severyanka, which the Russians converted to oceanographic use. It can dive only to 550 feet, but it carries 60 crew members and scientists.

DEEPEST DIVER

The deepest diver now in operation is the Archimede of the French navy. It can go down to 36,000 feet.

Perhaps the most famous is little Alvin, a 13-ton, two-man vessel which recovered a lost H-bomb from 2,550 feet of water off Palomares, Spain, in April. It can operate down to 6,000 feet.

Development of such vessels and undersea research platforms reflects a growing interest, by private industry as well as government and scientific institutions, in a department of oceanography known as "ocean engineering."

For the first time the national oceanographic program included ocean engineering in the proposals made to Congress for the 1967 fiscal starting July 1.

BRIEF PERIODS

Until a few years ago, man could work effectively for brief periods only in the sunlit upper regions of the sea. They were enabled to do this by scuba-diving techniques.

Development of means for working for longer periods and at deeper levels was spurred

Union OKs Pact, Ends

Strike in Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP) — United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union Local 1024 ratified a new contract with Master-Craft Corp. Wednesday, ending a strike which began May 1. The two-year pact calls for a 28 cent package wage increase over the two-year period and improved pensions and vacation benefits.

in the United States by the Navy's Deep Submergence Systems Project (DSSP).

DSSP came into being largely as the result of the disaster which befell the submarine Thresher in 1963. The Thresher, with 129 men aboard, sank in water too deep (8,400 feet) for rescue or salvage operations.

The Navy hopes with DSSP to develop ability to locate lost submarines quickly and rescue their crews or at least provide them with means of escape.

In time it hopes to be able to raise sunken ships weighing up to 1,000 tons from depths never before plumbed by salvage operations.

National security is deeply involved in DSSP. It would be a calamity if some other nation recovered a sunken U.S. nuclear submarine with nuclear weapons aboard before American salvage craft could do the job.

Suspect-Victim Visit Delayed

Alleged Abductor to Meet Beaten Woman

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI)—Authorities have delayed a confrontation between a parolee Michigan murderer and an attractive mother he is accused of abducting, because her vision was impaired by the beatings she suffered.

Police postponed plans to take Sanford N. Harris, 43, to the hospital room of Mrs. Charlene O'Brien, 27, to see if she could identify him.

Mrs. O'Brien was kidnapped Saturday in the parking lot of a shopping center.

She was found Monday, beaten, barely conscious and almost nude, in a clump of weeds where her abductor apparently had left her to die.

Doctors at St. Anthony's Hospital said the confrontation would have to wait until Mrs. O'Brien's condition improves.

SERIOUS CONDITION

They said she was still in serious condition and suffering from double vision.

Harris was charged with aggravated kidnapping.

Police said he would be arraigned today in Magistrate Court on that charge and on a charge of violating parole by switching addresses without notifying his parole board.

Authorities said Harris was paroled in August 1963, after serving 20 years in the Ionia (Mich.) Reformatory on conviction of fatally stabbing a woman in a restaurant robbery in Detroit on Christmas Eve, 1941.

Million-Dollar Legal Fight on Ship Collision

NEW YORK (UPI)—A legal battle involving more than $1 million began taking shape in federal court yesterday over responsibility in last week's tanker collision in which 33 persons were killed.

The Alva Steamship Co., Ltd., owners of the British tanker Alva Cape, petitioned for exoneration, or limitation of liability, to $126,400 plus $36,000 for cargo.

The company said its vessel was "properly manned and seaworthy," and claimed the crash was caused by "the fault, neglect and lack of care" on the part of the Texaco Massachusetts and the tug Latin American.

Domestic Tankers, Inc., owners of the Texaco Massachusetts, filed a $300,000 damage suit against the tug Alva Cape, and Exco Massachusetts and the Humble Oil and Refining Co.

Humble, as owner of the two tugs, countered with a $750,000 damage suit against Domestic Tankers, the Texaco Massachusetts and the Latin American.

NEGLECTANCE

The Humble Co. suit said that the accident was "due wholly to the fault and negligence of the Texaco Massachusetts and the tug Latin America." It claimed "they failed to post a proper lookout, to sound proper whistle signals and to comply with navigational duties."

Red Proposes Alliance With Labor, Rights Groups to Oppose LBJ in '68

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Communist party, calling for creation of a leftist force to oppose President Johnson's reelection in 1968, says it wants the cooperation of organized labor and the civil rights movement.

Gus Hall, the party's chief spokesman, said Wednesday night that "I think the time is right for us to forge an alliance with labor and the civil rights people. There would be no party label on our presidential candidate."

The comment came after Hall had proposed an antiwar front in a 30,000-word, 2-hour and 55-minute report at the opening session of the party's first national convention in seven years.

The week-long series of meetings are being held in a musty, ornate ballroom on Manhattan's Lower East Side. They are billed by the party as its first step back to a role in national politics since a Supreme Court decision last November freed its members from registering with the Justice Department. About 70 delegates and observers attended the session. Fifty pickets marched behind police barricades outside the building, shouting anti-Communist slogans.

Attacking what he called the "sickening demagoguery" of the Johnson administration, Hall said, "The time has come for all organizations and individuals who are for an alternative to gather their forces."

MSU Graduate Tops Qualifiers With 36-32-68

Pete Green, Curyla
Share Second Spot;
Champ Fires 73

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Bob Meyer expected little more than a vacation when he entered the 55th annual Michigan Amateur Golf Championship.

He had not been playing well for some time, but entered with the hope of making the cut and advancing into match play for the third time in as many years.

But Meyer's vacation was all but forgotten after he shot a 36-32-68 Wednesday for the first round qualifying for the first round on the Belvedere Golf Club course.

"I couldn't believe that first nine (he played the back side first) and I guess I played a little too cozy coming back," the 24-year-old Michigan State graduate student explained.

GETS EAGLE

Meyer eagled the 472-yard 15th hole when his two-iron effort on the second shot stopped just four feet from the cup. He added birdies on the next two holes on putts of three and 30 feet.

"I'm ashamed of my tee shot on the 17th hole (a 180-yard par three)," Meyer said. "I used the two-iron again and fell 30 feet short, but I made a lucky putt."

Meyer was eliminated in the first round of match play in 1964 and got as far as the third round last year.

One shot in back of the former MSU golf co-captain — who said nothing much happened while he was playing for the school team — were Don Curyla of Detroit and Pete Green of Orchard Lake Country Club.

Bill Albright of Detroit and Cliff Taylor of Spring Lake were another strike back with 70s, while Wayne Kramer of Flint had a 71. They were the only players in the field of 230 to break par on the hill course.

As was expected, the scores in general were lower than last year, when it took a two round total of 156 to reach match play. One player with a 157 made it in a playoff. It appeared a score of 153 would be needed to make the field this year. Part of the reason is that the handicap required to enter the tourney was reduced from six to five.

Defending champion Bud Stevens of Detroit, the only player exempt from qualifying, played anyway and fired a 36-37-73.

Top Women Golfers
in Waterloo Pro-Am

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — The top swingers in women's golf warmed up today with an 18-hole pro-amateur match for the $10,000 Waterloo Women's Open.

The field of 36 professionals and 11 amateurs will tee off Friday in the 54-hole tournament which offers $1,500 to the winner and $1,200 for second place. The wind-up is Sunday.

The Memphis club, which finished last in the CPHL last season will undergo a major "shake-up" by the time Peters assumes his duties this fall, Abel said.

Nine Titlists in Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Nine former champions alone the 131-player field in the $100,000 Western Open starting today, and two — Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer — may make the tourney a private feud.

Casper, who snatched the U.S. Open crown from the collapsing Palmer at San Francisco earlier this week, is defending champion in the 72-hole medal play quest for a top prize of $20,000.

Former Wing in Ice Post

Detroit Puts Peters in Top Position

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings Wednesday named former player Jimmy Peters as general manager and coach of Detroit's farm team, the Memphis Wings of the Central Professional Hockey League.

Peters, 43, of Union Lake, will combine the posts held last season by General Manager John Matchelli and Coach Vic Stasiuk.

Peters will take a leave of absence from his sales representative post with Rex Industries of Melvindale, Mich., for the 1966-67 season.

Palmer, who now has lost three National Open playoffs and two out of three play-offs on the 1966 pro tour, is a two-time Western Open winner.

Casper, whose red hot putter whittled down Palmer in the final round Sunday and Monday's playoff of the U.S. Open in San Francisco, won $11,000 last year in taking the Western Open at Tam O'Shanter here.

Other returning Western champions include Dutch Harrison (1963); Cary Middlecoff (1965); Doug Ford (1967); Doug Sanders (1968); Mike Dougan (1969); Capt. (1962), when the Western last was played at Medinah; and Chi Chi Rodriguez (1964).

The field of 127 pros and four amateurs will be reduced Friday to the low 75 scorers and ties and on Saturday to the low 60 and ties.

Tommy Aaron with 58 topped the scorers in Wednesday's pro-amateur competition. Tied for second with 69 were Claude King of Norfolk, Va., and Gardner Dickinson. Bracketed at 70 were Bobby Nichols, Joe Campbell and Gay Brewer. Casper posted a 72 and Palmer a 75.

Golfer Collects 6th WDGA Medal Title

By FLETCHER SPEARS
GROSSE ILE — The best came last for Mrs. Keith LeClair of Ann Arbor, who won the Women's District Golf Association 54-hole medal play championship for an unprecedented sixth time yesterday at Grosse Ile Golf and Country Club.

She opened with two-over-par 79s on Monday and Tuesday over the 6,100-yard, par-77 course and finished with an even par 77 yesterday for a 235 total, eight strokes better than runner-up Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lochmoor and Mrs. Frank Richart of Barton Hills.

Mrs. LeClair, mother of four daughters, wrapped up a final round in dramatic fashion as she came within a foot of driving the 258-yard, par-4 18th. Her club shot stopped three inches from the hole and she tapped it in for a birdie-3.

Her par round was the lone one of the tournament by the 16 players. Only five rounds in the 70s were recorded.

Mrs. LeClair went into yesterday's 18-hole round with a four-stroke lead over Mrs. Gamble and the memory of how she let an eight-stroke advantage get away on the last round of 1965.

"I feel better," she said. "I was on pins and needles out there, said Mrs. LeClair, who admitted last year's disaster was still fresh in her mind. "Each shot I hit made me feel much better."

The title got away from Mrs. LeClair last year when she faltered on the final 18 holes and to Girl Scout camp, and to pick up Cindy, 9, who's spending some time at day camp.

The other two — Peggy 4½ and Barbara 2½ — stayed with a sitter.

Among local golfers in the tournament, Feather Frechette of Indianwood came in with a 253 and Kathy Shanahan of Pine Lake, firing a final 82 despite an out-of-bounds penalty, was strokes back at 254.

"I'm just thrilled," she said over and over, perhaps trying to unwind from the pressure of the final round.

Caring for her family has kept Mrs. LeClair away from the golf courses most of the summer. Prior to the medal tournament, she had turned in only three practice rounds.

Shortly after finishing her round, she left to take her oldest daughter, Nancy, 12, to Girl Scout camp, and to pick up Cindy, 9, who's spending some time at day camp.

Connecticut Cutter Earns Newport-Bermuda Honor

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Kialoa II, a California sloop, was the first to finish, but it appeared today that Palawan, a cutter out of Greenwich, Conn., would win the 63-mile Newport-Bermuda ocean yacht race on an over-all basis.

Wednesday nearly 45 days after the start of the race Saturday. She took more than five hours to sail the last 20 miles because of light winds.

ALUMINUM CUTTER

The Palawan, a new aluminum class B cutter owned by Thomas J. Watson Jr., finished second shortly after midnight. The handicaps, which determine the over-all winner on corrected times, were not announced in advance because of a new mathematical formula being used for the first time, but expert yachtsmen felt certain Palawan would be declared the overall winner.

Another California sloop, the Kialoa II, a 73-foot sloop owned by John B. Kilroy of Los Angeles, crossed the finish line at St. David Head at 10:05 p.m. Wednesday nearly 45 days after the start of the race Saturday. She took more than five hours to sail the last 20 miles because of light winds.

POINT LEADER SEEKING

Dick Mitchell, current Flat Rock Speedway point leader, returns to the oval Saturday seeking his second straight feature victory.

Pontiac's Joy Fair, defending point champion and now second to Mitchell, will be in contention as will Danny Byrd.

AAU Track Next Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — All but two of the NCAA champions, crowned last week at Bloomington, Ind., have entered the National AAU Track and Field Championships to be held at Randall's Island, New York, Saturday and Sunday.

The absentees will be Rainer Stenius of Long Beach, Stenius of the long jump, who went home to Finland, and Bob Richards of Brigham Young, winner of the steeplechase, who reportedly has religious scruples against competing on Sunday.

NEW CUB — Veteran left-hander Curt Simmons was purchased by the Chicago Cubs for mthre St. Louis Cardinals yesterday for the $20,000 waiver price. The 37-year-old Simmons had a 1-1 record this season in 10 games with the Cards.

'Blue Ribbon' Rider Youngest of Five
The Rigan McKinneys of Lexington, Ky., start their offspring riding young.
The family is competing in the Detroit Horse Show this week at the Bloomfield Open Hunt.
In addition to Mrs. McKinney, the family entries include Laura, 16, Steve, 12, McLane, 9, Sheila, 7, and Tamara, 3. Right now, Tamara is the center of attention.
So far, the youngest has the only blue ribbon this week.
She won the lead line equitation class for six-year-olds and younger. In equitation, only the rider is judged and the lead line class has an older person leading the horse around the ring.
Tamara was put in the saddle before she was able to walk.
Mrs. McKinney let Tamara ride with her and it is evident the rhythm of riding a horse was absorbed by the infant.

Debbie Wilson lost her trophy but her horse did win a blue ribbon Wednesday at the Detroit Horse Show.
Miss Willson, a talented Bloomfield Hills rider, lost her bid to retain the Deborah Jean Scott Memorial Trophy when she was runner-up to Duncan Lloyd of Galesburg in the equitation over fences class for 14-17-year-old riders.
While she was riding in that class, Rod Jenkins substituted for her on Anchors Away in the Open Green Conformation Hunters Class that was running concurrently at the annual show on the Bloomfield Open Hunt grounds.
Anchors Away took the top prize. Another Bloomfield Hills horse, Mrs. G. J. Graham's Battle Fashion, won the Middle and Heavyweight Working Hunters class earlier in the day.
Moonlight Murrum, owned by Linda Brandt of Bloomfield Hills was the blue ribbon winner in the Amateur Formal Working Hunter class that started Wednesday's activities.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Two Michigan State troopers led a field of Midwestern policemen today at the start of the last day of the three-day Illinois State Police Invitational Pistol Tourney.
Trooper Richard Burnett had a two-day aggregate score of 1758 and Trooper Richard Brantner had 1750 in the seventh annual event.
Michigan State Police led the team scoring with 1158-52x. The Missouri Highway Patrol was running second with 1154-45x and the Illinois State Police, third with 1154-36x.
Trooper Dorr Wiltse of the Michigan State Police fired 10 bullseyes in 10 shots in .22 caliber timed fire, but failed to win the match.

Dean Checks Minnesota, 4-1

Victory Lifts Hurler's Season Mark to 6-8

ANAHEIM (AP) — If Dean Chance runs true to form, the California Angels may have a better chance of winning the American League pennant than most people realize.

The fourth-place Angels received perhaps their biggest psychological boost of the season Wednesday night when Chance throttled Minnesota with a six-hitter, 4-1, to gain his sixth victory against eight defeats.

A 4-3 record is nothing to brag about, but Chance calls it the best start of his career.

EVEN AT MIDPOINT

In 1964, he had a 5-5 record at the mid-season All-Star break, but finished the year with a 20-9 record and a 1.65 earned run average. It earned him the Cy Young Award.

Chance's performance against Minnesota gave the Angels their 10th victory in 11 meetings with the Twins this year. The Angels also have won 10 games in their last 12 starts.

The Ohio farmboy didn't allow a runner to advance past first after the third inning.

In the third, Tony Oliva doubled and eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Harmon Killebrew for the Twins' lone run.

The Angels won the game in the third inning when Jose Cardenal led off with his eighth homer to start a three-run outburst and break a 1-1 tie.

Bobby Knopp contributed his 11th homer of the season to the winning edge.

The victory kept California 7½ games out of the American League lead.

CATCHER SCREENED — Cleveland Indian's catcher Joe Azcue climbs the backstop screen in an unsuccessful attempt to snare a foul pop-off the bat of Boston pitcher Jim Lonborg in the third inning of their first game last night in Boston. The ball hit the top of the screen and bounded away from Azcue. Cleveland won the opener, 3-2, and Boston took the second game, 6-5.

KC Rookie Hurls 5-Hitter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rookie John Buzhardt was locked in a 1-1 duel in the seventh inning of the nightcap when the A's pushed across two runs to take the lead.

The White Sox won the opener 7-4 with Tommie Agee tripling home two runs and scoring a third in the ninth inning.

Indians Win, 3-2; Sox Rebound, 6-5

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski walked with two out in the ninth inning and scored on Don Demeter's double, giving the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 victory over Cleveland Wednesday night and a split of their doubleheader.

Rocky Colavito who hit three home runs in the twinbill, powered the Indians to a 3-2 victory in the first game.

Reliever Tom Kelley got the first two outs in the ninth inning of the second game before walking Yastrzemski.

Barber Clips Yankees, 3-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Barber pitched a four-hit and Curt Blefary blasted a three-run homer in the seventh inning as the Baltimore Orioles blanked the New York Yankees, 3-0, Wednesday night.

Barber gave up an infield single to Hector Lopez with one out in the second inning and then retired 14 Yankees in order before walking Mickey Mantle in the seventh. After Joe Pepitone grounded into a double play Elston Howard doubled for the second hit off the Oriole left-hander.

Leaders Take Easy Wins
The leaders rolled merrily along last night in the city men's softball leagues.

National League pace-setter Motorcar Transport scored at will for an 18-8 triumph over once victorious J. A. Freeman as Larry Johnson homered and doubled to account for seven runs.

In the Slow Pitch circuit, unbeaten MGM Cleaners-Shalea Lounge trimmed Arco, 17-5, and Sport-O-Rama, the once-beaten runner-up whipped National Cash Register, 28-8.

Motorcar scored the first three times it batted and scored at least once in each of the first three innings. J. A. Freeman was injured Wednesday night in a championship match with Fritz Greco of Germany in the World Greco-Roman Championships.

"This boy has suffered a severe concussion and at this point we consider his condition fair — certainly not critical," said Dr. L. F. Joblonski.

DETROIT (AP) — Bernie Little, owner of the ill-fated speedboat Miss Budweiser, purchased a new boat Wednesday and said he would enter her in the Gold Cup race on the Detroit River July 3.

The Tampa, Fla., powerboat enthusiast announced he had bought a new Miss Budweiser from the Staudacher Marine Boatbuilders of Bay City, Mich.

Little's prior Miss Budweiser was one of the three boats that met with disaster in the President's Cup Regatta at Washington Sunday with all their drivers killed.

Don Wilson, piloting Miss Budweiser, and Rex Machester, driving Notre Dame, were killed when the two craft collided. Ron Musson was killed when his Miss Bardahl disintegrated.

Little said his new boat is a 22-footer of a new design. He said a crew of eight mechanics has been ordered to work on the boat to get her ready for Monday's starting of qualifying races.

Bill Brown of Seattle, recovered from injuries suffered in a crash at Tampa June 12, will drive the new Miss Budweiser in the Gold Cup, Little said.

Sandy Charms Texas Hearts

By the Associated Press
Sandy Koufax has captured the city of Houston again. He's gaining ground on the Astros, too.

Redleg Hurler Turns Batter in 4-3 Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Maloney is a pitcher who he always tries to make good pitches — and when that isn't enough to win, he takes a hand with the bat himself.

Maloney singled and scored the winning run on an error in the ninth inning of Wednesday night's game in which the Cincinnati Reds extended their winning streak to five by edging Pittsburgh 4-3.

"Well, what you are going to do when you're opposed by a guy who not only pitches but runs bases? Pirates' Manager Harry Walker, demanded afterward. "What else can you say about it?"

Maloney pitched a good game and we have no excuses. Maloney is leading the Reds' hurlers in both pitching (9-2) and hitting (.263). He also has 56 strikeouts — more than any else on the club.

league lead, as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Astros 5-2 before a crowd of 50,900 — largest ever for a baseball game in the Astrodome.

The previous attendance highs at the domed stadium were 50,136 and 49,442 last season — with Koufax and the Dodgers the attractions each time.

Last spring, when Koufax and teammate Don Drysdale were locked in a contract dispute with the Dodgers, Astro officials estimated they would lose $200,000 in revenue should the pair decide not to play this year.

While Koufax's drawing powers is as strong as ever in Houston, his 1966 pitching record against the Astros has been mediocre.

Wednesday night's victory was his first in three tries this season against a club he had beaten 11 times in 12 previous decisions.

The Astros knocked him out in his first start, on April 13 in Los Angeles, and beat him 3-0 last week in the Dodgers' park. They tagged him freely again Wednesday night, Jim Wynn rapping four hits and John Bateman three, but the southpaw ace struggled through to the finish for his 13th complete game in 17 starts.

18 Games Over .500

Giants at Season Peak

CHICAGO (AP) — "We're at our high point in the standings for the season and I just hope we can keep up the pace," says Herman Franks, manager of the National League leading San Francisco Giants.

"We are 18 games over the .500 mark (43-25), have won nine out of our last 11 games, and have improved our current road record to 4-2," he added. "It's a pretty good feeling."

Helping the Giants on their way are the last-place Cubs. The Giants have taken them three times, including a 3-2 and 9-5 doubleheader sweep Wednesday.

Wimbledon Continues

U.S. Netter Regains Form

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, the United States' No. 1 tennis star, had got his service back under control today and was still hot on the trail of the Wimbledon title.

Three days ago, after an erratic victory over 19-year-old American Robert Lutz, Ralston was saying he could win the title in serving.

He went off with dozens of balls to Queen's Club and practiced for hours serving in to an empty court.

The hard work paid off Wednesday. Ralston defeated Alexander Metreveli of Russia 6-0, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 and his service looked top class again except for occasional lapses.

Besides Ralston, the American Davis Cup men moved into the third round this:

CHL Richey, of Dallas, overcame Terry Addison of Australia 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Reds' Matmen Capture Title

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Soviet Union, which has dominated Greco Roman wrestling for the past 16 years shows no sign of easing up on the rest of the world.

The Russians wrapped up their 13th title in as many tournaments since 1950 Wednesday and won three gold medals in the process.

The only time the Russians have missed were the four Olympic years when the World Championships were not held.

Team standings of the Greco-Roman competition of the Amateur World Wrestling Championships:

USSR, 39½; Bulgaria, 19; Romania, 14½; Germany, 14; Turkey, 13; Sweden, 11; Finland, 10½; Yugoslavia, 9½; Hungary, 9; Japan, 8½; Poland, 4; Iran, 4; Czechoslovakia, 4; Austria, 4; USA, 1½.

U. of Miami Miss Seeking Second Collegiate Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion Roberta Albers of the University of Miami, Fla., moved a step closer Wednesday to a possible repeat victory with her second straight easy victory in the Women's National Collegiate Golf Tournament.

The 19-year-old Floridian, who won last week's Trans-Mississippi Amateur Tournament in a tune-up for her title defense here, defeated Ann Baker of the University of Tennessee 3 and 1 for her second victory.

Peggy Conley of the University of Washington, who finished as runner-up to Miss Albers in the Trans-Mississippi, also posted an easy victory, 4 and 3, over fellow Washingtonian Carol Hock-sprung.

Miss Conley will meet Joyce Kuzmierski of Michigan State today. Another match will pit Odesa College schoolmates Jeanie Butler and Jan Ferraris against each other.

Fast Count Earns Keep With Victory on Coast

BOSTON (AP) — Fast Count, a 3-year-old brown colt owned by millionaire sportsman C.V. Whitney, deserved an extra round of oysters after proving his class as a clutch marathon runner.

Winless in nine spring outings as a sophomore, Fast Count posted his fourth victory in five 1966 distance starts by capturing the $82,200 Massachusetts Handicap before a crowd of 18,165 yesterday at Suffolk Downs.

Crosby Giving Pros Stiff Test in New Course

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A new course has been approved as one of the three used for the Rich Bing Crosby Golf Tournament in January — Spyglass Hill.

Next Jan. 19-22 when the pros and their amateur partners compete in Crosby's $110,000 event, they'll play Spyglass instead of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club and it's tougher.

It may be tougher than Pebble Beach which always has been considered the most difficult here.

Crosby played the course and commented, "It's going to be one of the finest golf courses in the world. It has the sea, lakes, forests, everything. It will be a severe test for the pros."

Two Stay Tied for Golfing Lead in Seniors' Play

PETOSKEY (AP) — David Goldman of Dallas, Tex., and Carl C. Benkert, Louisville, Ky., remained deadlocked for overall first place after the second round of the Western Senior Golf Championships Wednesday.

Both Goldman, the Class E leader, and Benkert, the Class D leader, fired 70s to go along with their 72s from Tuesday. They led going into today's final round.

Curtis Person, Memphis, Tenn., moved up to take over second place in overall low score with a 69. He fired 75 Tuesday. Person trails Goldman in Class E.

In Class C, Ben Merwin, Ontario, Canada, kept the lead with 73-61-154.

C.W. Wolf of Harrisburg, Pa., took over the Class B lead with 82-79-161. The first round leader, Larry Stage of Lafayette, Ind., skidded to 88 after a first round 77.

In Class A, Walter Cope, Lima, Ohio, remained on top with 82-84-166.

DOESN'T AGREE — Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., points at the umpire and argues a line decision during his singles match yesterday with Terry Addison of Australia at Wimbledon, England. The decision eventually was reversed in Richey's favor and he went on to win the match, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

BUCKEYE ACE Eying Phillies

Arin Talks Terms; $100,000 Mentioned

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's two-time All-American pitcher, Steve Arin, may agree to contract terms today with the Philadelphia Phillies, he said Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-2, 190-pound strike-out artist, who met here Wednesday night with Phillies General Manager John Quinn, has indicated he wants a contract in the neighborhood of $100,000.

He would not disclose which Quinn offered, but said, "I think we're pretty close. I want to play ball this summer."

The Phillies also talked with Arin last week in Omaha, Neb., where Arin led Ohio State to the NCAA baseball tournament title with two 12-strikeout victories over No. 1 ranked Southern California.

Arin was 11-1 this season and 13-2 his sophomore year when the Buckeyes were runners-up at Omaha.

Italian Cage Team Claims U.S. Players

LOS ANGELES (U) — Rookie professional basketball player Henry Finkel from the University of Dayton belongs to the Los Angeles Lakers and, contrary to reports from Italy, is due here Aug. 1.

"We have Finkel's signed contract and he is coming back to Los Angeles Aug. 9," said General Manager Lou Mohs of the Lakers of the National Basketball Association Wednesday.

Mohs' comment was in regard to a report from Canini, Italy, that Finkel would be there in August to try out for the Oran soda team.

The report also said Dorie Murray of the University of Detroit would try out for the Italian team.

First Win in WMGA Weekly Outing

Mrs. Philip de Guere of Birmingham, playing in only her second Women's Metropolitan Golf Association weekly outing, carded a 39-43-82 to pace a field of 18 players at Highland Hills Golf Club.

Grabbing the runner-up spot was Mrs. Midge Cova of Novi with a 42-42 — 84. Mrs. John Menefee of St. Clair Shores finished third with an 88.

Mrs. de Guere, who moved to Michigan from Palatka, Fla., five months ago, needed only 24 putts in her round. She collected four pars and two birdies on the front nine and picked up three pars on the back side.

BONUS BABY BACK — Lew Krauss, a $100,000 bonus baby in 1961, has finally earned a starting berth on the Kansas City A's pitching staff. Arm trouble and inexperience sent him to the minors, but now he's making a comeback at the age of 23.

Champs Duel in 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP) — George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion, and Oscar (Ringo) Bonavena, the South American heavyweight king, will open the Summer boxing season at Madison Square Garden tonight with a 10-round match that could be a brawl.

Chuvalo shook off Cassius Clay's punches and went the 15-round route March 29 in a Toronto world title match. Bonavena, who has lost only two fights, has been campaigning at home since losing to Zora Foley, Feb. 28, 1965.

Tigers Send Navarro to Boston Farm Club

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers announced Wednesday transfer of right-handed pitcher Julio Navarro from their Syracuse farm club to Toronto, a Boston farm team.

The move completes the player swap in which the Tigers received pitcher Earl Wilson from the Red Sox.

Gets Starting Role

A's Bonus Baby Nearly Weaned

KANSAS CITY (U) — Lew Krauss pitched a shutout in his new role as a regular starter for the Kansas City A's, indicating he's on the verge of realizing his ambition — to prove he's worth the $100,000 bonus owner Charles O. Finley paid him in 1961.

The recent trade which sent front-line starter Roland Sheldon to Boston gave Krauss his chance. He came through with a 1-0 six-hitter, halting a seven-game winning streak of the California Angels Sunday.

"Yes, they told me I'd get a chance to be a regular starter," Krauss said. "This was the best news I ever heard. That bullpen is tough."

The hard-throwing right-hander from Chester, Pa., is making a comeback at the age of 23.

In his first professional game in 1961 as an 18-year-old just out of high school he fired a three-hit shutout over the Angels. He had been signed by his father, Lew Krauss Sr., a former A's pitcher.

ARM TROUBLE

Then came arm trouble and the frustrations of learning to become a pitcher instead of a thrower. An elbow operation in 1962 took care of his arm problems. Experience and maturity are paying off this season.

Krauss' entire major league record prior to this season showed just two complete games, a 4-11 won-lost record and 5.25 earned run average. This season he's 3-3 with a sparkling 2.58 ERA.

"I have a really effective change-up for the first time this year," he said. "I throw it off my fast ball. It was my out pitch Sunday."

The turning point for me came last winter at Caracas in the Venezuelan League. I said to myself, "This is it, big boy, it's now or never — either make it in the majors or give it up." I decided I'd have to bear down more and learn to concentrate."

Krauss credits Reggie Otero, now a Cleveland Indians coach, with helping him a lot at Caracas, where he had a 14-7 record. Manager Alvin Dark and pitching coach Cot Deal are high on Krauss.

2 Ex-Champs After Ladies' Golf Crown

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Former champions Sharon Wilder and Mrs. Jack Scrippsma attained the finals of the 45th Spring Lake Women's Open Golf Tournament Wednesday with victories in the semifinals.

Miss Wilder, 22, Grand Rapids high school physical education teacher, and Mrs. Scrippsma, mother of four girls and wife of a Grand Rapids businessman, meet today for the title at the Spring Lake Country Club.

Winner of the tourney in 1964, Miss Wilder defeated Cynthia Hill of South Haven 4 and 3. Mrs. Scrippsma, 1968 champion, won from Mrs. Chris Miller of Farmington 2 up.

Miss Wilder shot a ladies-par 37 to make the first turn 4 up on Miss Hill. Mrs. Scrippsma, good with her chip shots, rallied from a 2-down deficit at the turn.

March Branches Out

BENTON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi march to promote Negro voter registration was engaged on several fronts today, in arenas ranging from federal court to unbanked cotton fields.

Plans for a rally Friday in Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers were slain three years ago, occupied the time and energies of most march leaders.

For the rank and file, headed down Miss. 18, Canton — site of several civil rights struggles in the past — loomed just ahead.

Lawyers sought swift court action on a petition for a federal injunction to forbid interference with the rally in Philadelphia, a Ku Klux Klan stronghold.

HANDPICKED MARCHERS

The march will supply about 75 persons for the Philadelphia rally. They will be handpicked for their devotion to the principle of nonviolence and driven to the town in autos. Philadelphia is about 70 miles east of Benton.

Hosea Williams, a march leader, said the federal court also was asked to order police protection for the rally, to be led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Floyd B. McKissick.

King heads the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, McKissick directs the Congress of Racial Equality. Both are considered "moderate" organizations. Williams said Stokely Carmichael, chief of the militant Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which preaches "black power" and does not renounce violence, will be left behind with the marching column.

DECLINES COMMENT
Plans for a rally Friday in Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers were slain three years ago, occupied the time and energies of most march leaders.

"Decisions are being made day by day, hour by hour," he said.

James H. Meredith, who started the march, was expected to join the column at Canton, next major stop on the route.

His Objection

a Correction on Direction

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A lawyer asked the plaintiff in a civil case yesterday: "What was your reaction when you were confronted by this other vehicle?"

The plaintiff replied: "Well, Judge, I wasn't confronted — I was rear-ended."

Meredith, recovered from his wounds inflicted by two shots blasts the day after he left Memphis, Tenn., to march to Jackson, declined to say whether he would be armed when he returned.

"I believe in law and order," he said in Washington. "If government refuses to provide adequate protection to Negroes, then there's not a choice but for the Negro to try to provide these services for himself."

The Negroes and whites in the column, who number about 250 persons, spent the night in the two big tents, one for women, the other for men, a short distance southeast of Benton.

"TASK FORCES" moving by car, were scouting ahead, lining up support. In the rear, Negro leaders were trying to use the ferment created by the march to increase Negro voter registration.

TASK FORCES

In Jackson, civil rights forces organized nightly rallies to help set the stage for the grand climax — a mass march on the state capital Sunday.

The Americans for the Preservation of the White Race urged "all Southern Christian people to fly their Confederate flags" along the march route.

Chronic respiratory diseases, including tuberculosis, affect about 26 million Americans annually and cause one out of 10 deaths, according to the National Tuberculosis Assn.

Draft Methods Assailed as Antiquated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of a House committee examining the military draft charged today that methods used by the Selective Service System are as antiquated as a "horse and buggy in a jet age."

The comments of Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., came after Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey told the armed services committee he opposes a centralized computer system to select young men for induction.

Schweiker described Hershey's opposition as a "fetish."

The committee member advocated "national standards and a national pool of registrants," claiming present procedures "are way behind times."

"We have no national standards now," he said in an interview. "We have 4,000 individual boards, each determining its own policy of who will be drafted and who will be deferred."

CITES DIFFERENCES
"We should have a national pool. Some boards are drafting fathers, and some are not," Schweiker said.

He criticized as inadequate the 10 days given a registrant to appeal his classification and said "certainly this should be extended to at least 30 days."

Hershey, draft director for 25 years, also told the committee yesterday he opposes any lottery system for selecting draftees because it only substitutes "chance for judgment."

"Selective Service operates a program critical to the nation's survival," the general said.

REFLECTS NATURE

"The criticism it receives reflects not only the nature of the system's mission, but its urgency and its pace."

Hershey's testimony opened the hearings, called after congressional critics charged current procedures are inequitable.

The general said local boards are in the best position to decide the status of a registrant. He said he'd prefer human mistakes than rely on any computer system.

A lottery would be no better than the current process of considering registrants in the order of date of birth, he said.

It would be a "real can of worms," he said, adding that it would give rise to false hopes.

"A man with a low number would think 'I'm out.' But remember, men with higher numbers might be rejected and he'd be called and he'd really moan."

Funds to Aid in Migraine
Cure Sought

By Science Service
LONDON — Curing the agonizing pain of migraine headaches is the goal of the British Migraine Trust, whose chairman is Lord Brain.
Launching an appeal for $2 million, Lord Brain said a cure "is well within the bounds of modern medicine."

He told the Royal College of Physicians here that with "the application of electronics, radio-isotopes, and other revolutionary developments, the prospects of securing results in this complex field have become, for the first time, more definite."

As many as two million people in Britain suffer from migraine attacks.

Migraine is not a killer, but it is an agonizing and generally disabling ailment that is more common in some sections of the population.

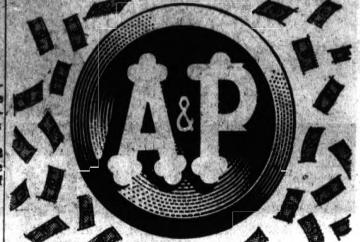

FOR SOME TIME

Although the Migraine Trust has been sponsoring research for some time, some aspects of the work are hampered because patients can rarely be studied during an attack.

It is therefore intended to establish a migraine in-patient unit, the first of its kind, at the National Hospital, London. The unit will be equipped to carry out complete metabolic studies on all patients, and to study brain blood-flow and other activity.

Over a period of 10 years, this alone will cost about $1 million.

Jam Has to Set for 24 Hours

The recipe below is one used on many of the farms where the famous Michigan Strawberries are grown. Try it. Once you have enjoyed its jewel-like color and full flavor, you'll be making double portions next year.

Michigan Strawberry Jam
4 cups whole Michigan strawberries
3 tablespoons vinegar
3 cups granulated sugar
Wash, drain and hull strawberries. Place strawberries and vinegar in a large, heavy kettle (at least 4 quarts). Cover and bring to a boil. Boil three minutes.

Add sugar, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Boil for 30 minutes, uncovered, stirring often. Remove from heat, skim foam from top of the jam and pour into a heavy bowl.

Let jam sit for about 24 hours at room temperature, stirring every so often. Pour cold jam into small jars and pour paraffin over the top to seal. Makes 4-5 small jars of jam.

This rich strawberry jam is delicious on toast, but, for a change of pace, try it poured over hot cereal on a cold winter morning and watch the children gobble it up.

Hot muffins filled with this jam are a treat for breakfast or a club luncheon. Just prepare from your favorite recipe or mix. Spoon batter into muffin tins.

Make an indentation in the top of each unbaked muffin, filling it with a half-teaspoon of the jam. Bake the usual way.

ELEGANT SERVICE — Planked Halibut with baked tomatoes makes an attractive dish which is also good eating. It takes little more time or effort to make food look good and the results are appreciated.

Garnish With Tomatoes

Serve Butter-Baked Fish on a Plank

According to Webster, half-flavorful fish may be served dramatically and simply as in this recipe for Planked Halibut Steak.

PLANKED HALIBUT STEAK
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon kitchen bouquet (bottled browned sauce)
¼ teaspoon oregano, crushed
Dash pepper

1 to 1½ lb. halibut steak, about 1-inch thick
Lightly grease a hardwood plank and place in cold oven; preheat oven to 350 degrees. Meanwhile, combine softened butter, salt, kitchen bouquet, oregano and pepper.

Spread half of mixture on one side of halibut steak; place buttered side down on the preheated plank or on a heatproof platter. Spread remaining butter on top of halibut. Bake in 350 degree oven until fish flakes easily, about 30 minutes.

If desired, garnish with lemon wedges and watercress or parsley. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Baked Tomatoes

4 small tomatoes
Onion salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon butter
Cut tops from tomatoes. Sprinkle with onion salt and pepper and dot with butter. Place around planked halibut steak for last 20 minutes of cooking.

BARBECUED BOLOGNA — Good old bologna, cooked in an enticing new manner: scored and marinated with a combination of sweet-and-spicy ingredients, given a final brushing with kitchen bouquet—it's a meat dish fit for company and will serve a dozen or more people.

Barbecue Big Piece of Bologna

Bologna is one of the most neglected meats in the market. Too often, it is used just as liaison between two pieces of bread. But it has a variety of other talents, and may be served as the main course of an outdoor meal.

When purchased by the piece, rather than sliced, it has an entirely different flavor, and takes beautifully to spit-barbecuing. Furthermore, it is one of the most economical ways to serve a crowd — an important consideration these days.

Add bologna to your list of new-things-to-try. It can be grilled whole, as shown here, or it may be cut into thick slices and cooked over coals.

It may also be cut in squares and threaded on skewers, alternately with green pepper, squares and pineapple chunks.

When grilled whole, and brushed with a sweet-and-spicy combination of flavorings, it can be the mainstay of a party meal.

Barbecued Bologna

1 large piece bologna, 3½ pounds
¼ cup honey
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup cider vinegar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon kitchen bouquet
Remove casing from bologna and lightly score the outside in diamond pattern. Place in container and cover with a mixture of remaining ingredients. Cover and refrigerate for several hours, turning once or twice. Drain and save marinade. Balance on spit and anchor with hotting forks. Start spit and broil about four

Casserole Coffeecake Is Rich With Nutty Filling

Coffee, conversation and conviviality are a time-honored trio. Ever since the first coffee house was opened in Vienna in 1683, intellectuals have gathered over a cup of coffee to engage in lengthy debates about politics and literature.

In 18th century England, coffee houses were known as "Penny Universities" because poor students could buy a "dish" of coffee for a penny and listen to the sparkling discussions of Pope, Swift and Dryden.

Contemporary life seldom permits the luxury of long hours spent in idle conversation, but the relaxation of coffee "break" is enjoyed daily in homes and offices. Something sweet is usually served with the fragrant beverage: a pastry, doughnut or coffee-cake.

Pecan Casserole Cake is a welcome change from the usual coffee-cake. It's made from a sweet yeast batter which does not require kneading. The savory filling is an unusual combination of pecans and raisins folded into a meringue.

Pecan Casserole Cake
¼ cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
¼ cup margarine, melted

¼ cup sugar
¼ cup evaporated milk
1 egg, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups unsifted flour
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup finely chopped pecans
¼ cup raisins
Confectioners' sugar frosting
Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add margarine, ¼ cup sugar, milk, egg yolk, salt and vanilla. Stir in flour to make soft dough.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, 1 hour. (Dough will not be doubled in bulk.) Turn dough out onto floured board. Roll to a 26x14-inch rectangle. Beat egg white until stiff; gradually beat in ¼ cup sugar until mixture is glossy and stands in soft peaks.

Fold in ¼ cup chopped pecans and raisins. Spread on dough. Roll up from long side, jelly-roll fashion; pinch edge to seal.

Arrange in a coil in greased 1½ quart round casserole. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, ½ hour. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 35 minutes, or until done. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting, and sprinkle with chopped pecans.

Popcorn Cones Dipped in Chocolate and Nuts

When the neighborhood children gather at your house and the interest in outdoor games begins to pall, gather the group around a table. Give them coloring books and crayons and a popcorn cone to munch.

The quiet that descends will be startlingly pleasant.

The cones can be ready and waiting for they're quick to make. While the popcorn pops in its own foil fry pan, the butter and marshmallows will melt. Combine the mixtures and shape into cones.

Dip the tops in melted chocolate and chopped nuts for a very festive looking treat. Putting the cone on a stick makes it much easier for little hands to hold and eat.

Popcorn Cones
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ pound marshmallows
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 package pops-in-a-pan corn (1 6-oz.) package semi-sweet pieces
½ cup finely chopped dry roasted peanuts
Have ready 8, 6-oz. paper cups and 8 lollipop sticks. Lightly grease paper cups.

Put butter and marshmallows in pan over hot water. Cover. Heat until marshmallows are melted. Add vanilla and stir.

Meanwhile, pop corn according to package directions. Put popped corn into a large greased bowl. Pour marshmallow mixture over popped corn and mix thoroughly.

Lightly pack marshmallow-coated popcorn into the paper cups and insert stick in the center of packed popcorn. Allow to thoroughly cool and harden, about 30 minutes. Remove paper cup from popcorn.

Melt chocolate pieces over hot, not boiling water. Spread chopped peanuts out on a piece of waxed paper. Dip each popcorn cone into melted chocolate and then into peanuts. Set aside until chocolate has hardened. Makes 8 popcorn cones.

POPCORN CONES—Mold popcorn ball mixture in paper cups and dip ends of cones in chocolate and chopped peanuts. A basket of bright marbles holds the treats until they're eaten.

Grilled Spuds Add to Meals

Summertime spuds are designed for charcoal grilling. Scrub and quarter 8 medium baking potatoes. Blend together ½ cup (1 stick) of butter, ¼ cup of crumbled blue cheese, 1 tablespoon of minced fresh chives (or 1½ teaspoons of dried chives) and a pinch of sugar.

Divide spread among centers of potatoes, wrap each securely in heavy aluminum foil and grill for 45 to 60 minutes directly on hot coals or over hot charcoal. Makes 8 servings.

Bread dough needs to rise in a warm place (80 to 85 degrees) to Good hot or cold.

Asparagus Salad

Thin diagonal slices of asparagus are delicious in a tossed green salad. Tender crisp cooked spears topped with grated hard cooked egg, crumbled bacon and French dressing trimmed with a strip of pimiento. Good hot or cold.

House. Bristling somewhat, Valenti stood by his comment and added, "My wife and daughter sleep better, too."

FREQUENT VISITS

His predecessors, Will Hays and Eric Johnston, seldom set foot in Hollywood, but Valenti vowed he would be a frequent visitor. "I intend to spend time in the creative end of the business," he said.

Many of the questions concerned the rising tide of seduction on the screen, and Valenti indicated he would not be afraid of "Virginia Woolf" or anything else.

Concerning film content, he remarked: "Everybody doesn't want to read the Bobby Twins; there are others who might like to read Kafka's 'Trial.'"

In another room of the Beverly Hills Hotel, the powers of the film industry gathered to hear the new leader. Nizer outlined Valenti's career, including the fact that he was "at 15 the youngest boy ever to graduate from a Houston High School."

Valenti cited Sen. Murphy's advent to Washington and his own to Hollywood, terming it an "east-west cultural exchange."

After a few other lukewarm gags, he launched into his panacea for the ailing film industry; but not before he acknowledged to a member of the audience:

"Mr. Bob Hope, you have nothing to worry about."

Griffin wanted better aid program in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., today urged creation of an executive service corps of American businessmen as part of a four-point program to win the economic — social "war" in Viet Nam.

In his maiden Senate speech, the newly appointed senator said a five-day visit to South Viet Nam in May convinced him that the "weakest link" in the U.S. effort is its economic aid program.

"As a result of serious mismanagement and ineffective controls," he said in a prepared speech, "U.S. import subsidies have brought boom to the black markets of Saigon; they have made the rich richer and the poor poorer, and they have indirectly routed American supplies into the hands of the Communist Viet Cong."

Griffin, named to the seat vacated by the death of Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., said U.S. executives should be encouraged to take one to three-year leaves from their businesses to serve in the aid program in Viet Nam.

Griffin also recommended: Stationing a team of auditors and investigators in Saigon to supervise administration of aid programs; development of greater incentives to attract better qualified government personnel to serve in Viet Nam, and new programs to reach and assist the rural Viet Nam areas which contain 80 per cent of the people.

Dog Gone at School, Disobedient Dropout

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A recruit washed out here — and the Orlando Police Department is asking for a replacement.

The replacement is needed for the department's canine corps. The request was made by Police Capt. Bow Chewing after tests found one dog "gun shy."

Milk Appears in Cold Soups and Iced Drinks

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Appetites may lag when the thermometer goes up. Many of the foods that were greeted with enthusiasm at other times of the year are rejected now.

It behoves us, as directors of the family diet, to offer the important foods in an acceptable manner.

Milk can be more than just something the youngsters gulp down with their meals (bad habit, that!). Milk can be turned into something sophisticated.

Chilled soups fall in this category. Chilled milk soups are something special.

Watercress is in season and the county market offers big bunches of it. Use a cup of it chopped to make a delicately flavored cream soup.

CHILLED WATERCRESS SOUP
3 chicken bouillon cubes
¼ cup chopped scallions or green onions
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons MSG
1½ teaspoons celery salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
8 cups water
1 cup whole milk
1½ cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
1 cup finely chopped watercress

Add bouillon cubes and scallions to butter; cook over low heat until scallions are tender. Mix in flour and seasonings. Gradually add 3 cups of the water. Cook and stir until mixture boils 1 minute. Remove from heat.

Stir in remaining water, whole milk and instant crystals. Blend in watercress.

Chill. Garnish with watercress, if desired. Makes 8-10 servings.

Chicken soup can also be served chilled. A few herbs and some chopped almonds add interest.

CREAM OF CURRIED CHICKEN SOUP
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 quart reliquified nonfat dry milk
1 cup or 1 can (6 ounces) diced cooked chicken
1 cup chicken broth or bouillon
1 tablespoon chopped chives
¼ teaspoon crushed rosemary
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds

Melt butter in saucepan, stir in flour, salt and curry. Over medium heat, gradually stir in reliquified instant crystals. Bring to boil; boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Cool.

Combine remaining ingredients in electric blender. Blend until smooth. Stir into instant crystal mixture. Chill thoroughly, if desired, garnish with almonds and parsley. Serve iced. Makes 6-8 servings.

Children may not be enthusiastic about cold soup, but they're sure to like milk drinks. Let them make up fruit flavored milk cubes. The secret is frozen juice concentrates mixed with vanilla ice cream.

ORANGE MILK CUBES
½ can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup milk
2 scoops vanilla ice cream
Milk
Orange wedges

In a mixing bowl combine orange juice concentrate, sugar, milk and vanilla ice cream; beat until well blended. Pour into muffin pans and freeze until firm. To remove cubes from pan, dip cups into warm water; use a spatula to lift cubes out. Pour icy cold milk into glass and top with 1 or 2 milk cubes. Garnish with orange wedges. Stir to blend flavor with milk. Makes 12 cubes.

GRAPE: Substitute ½ can (6 oz.) frozen grape juice concentrate, thawed, for orange. Garnish with grape cluster.

PINEAPPLE: Substitute ½ can (6 oz.) frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed, for orange. Garnish with a pineapple wedge.

Frappes are long cooling drinks. Basically, they are fruit, ice and milk crushed together.

fat dry milk, sometimes alone, sometimes with whole milk. Children can feel grown up and elegant drinking these frappes.

ORANGE FRAPPE
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals
2 cups whole milk
1 pint orange sherbet
¼ teaspoon allspice
3 cups orange juice
1 quart crushed ice
Orange slices and mint, for garnish

Stir instant crystals into whole milk and chill. Before serving, add sherbet and allspice and beat or blend in electric blender.

until foamy. Stir in orange juice. Pour over ice into chilled glasses. Garnish and serve with straws. Makes 8 servings.

APRICOT FRAPPE
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals
2 cans (12 ounces each) apricot nectar
1 pint lemon sherbet
¼ cup lemon juice
1½ quarts crushed ice

Stir instant crystals into apricot nectar; chill. Beat in sherbet and lemon juice or blend in electric blender. Pour over ice into chilled glasses; serve with straws. Makes 8 servings.

CREAM OF WATERCRESS SOUP

Sour Cream Sauce Is Elegant With Potatoes

Baked Potatoes with Sour Cream in individual casseroles is a new and different way to serve that favorite combination. The potatoes are layered with onions and a savory sour cream sauce.

A wreath of buttered cornflake crumbs and grated cheese provides zesty crunchiness.

Baked Potatoes With Sour Cream
½ cup chopped onions
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

1½ cups dairy sour cream
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup sliced, cooked potatoes
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups corn flakes or
¼ cup corn flake crumbs
¼ cup grated cheddar cheese

Cook onions in two tablespoons butter until golden brown. Combine sour cream and eggs. Place half the potatoes in greased individual casseroles or 1½-quart baking dish. Spread half the onions over potatoes; pour on half the sour cream mixture.

Repeat layering, using remaining potatoes, onions and sour cream mixture. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, cheese and remaining butter. Sprinkle corn flake crumbs mixture over potatoes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Serve on Cheese

Mix a can of well drained crushed pineapple with a tablespoon or two of chopped chutney and a dash of curry. Spoon over a block of cream cheese and serve with plain Melba toast.

Lemon Juice Sours

No buttermilk in the house for cornbread? You can make it from sweet milk by adding 1½ tablespoons lemon juice to a cup of the milk.

Grape Juice Is Flavorful Star

Don't pass up the big supplies of grape juice at your food store these days.

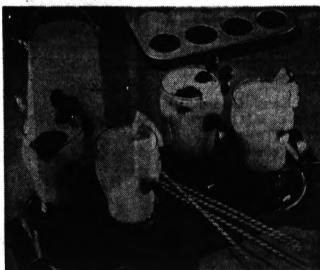

And to help you enjoy the abundance of this delicious juice, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service provides these menu suggestions:

For a sparkling Grape Juice Punch, simply pour ½ cup of grape juice into a chilled glass, or over ice cubes, and then add ¼ cup of carbonated lemon-lime beverage.

Or, try this light and luscious Fruit Sherbet, with only 137 calories per serving. For eight servings, take 1 envelope unflavored gelatin; 1 six-ounce frozen concentrated grape juice, thawed; ¼ cup sugar; 2½ cups buttermilk; and ¼ cup water.

Mix gelatin and sugar thoroughly in small saucepan. Add water and place over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Empty thawed grape juice into bowl; add buttermilk. Stir in gelatin mixture. Turn into freezing tray.

When mixture is partially frozen, scoop into mixing bowl and beat until smooth. Return mixture to freezer tray and freeze until firm.

ORANGE FRAPPES

Thinly Sliced Pork Fills a Sandwich

Cold, thin sliced, cooked pork loin makes delicious sandwiches — the main dish of a summer supper or appetite-satisfying snack food.

Sandwich thin slices of pork roast between white, whole wheat or rye bread with leaf lettuce. Or make snacks by using thin refrigerator rye bread with small slices of the meat for two-bite sandwiches.

Have your meat man bone the pork loin and roll it, making a solid piece of meat. Then use your roasting rack and slowly cook the meat to crispy goodness. Or roast the meat on a rack in a shallow roasting pan in the oven.

Cool the roast, then refrigerate it until sandwich-making time rolls around. Cut thin slices for sandwiches, and garnish each with pickle slices or a thin coating of applesauce.

Make Most of Volunteering

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second article in a series that tells what every young man should know about his prospects for service in the armed forces. With much additional detail, the articles have been reprinted in a booklet which may be obtained through The Pontiac Press for $1.)

By ELTON FAY
There is an alternative to being drafted—you can volunteer. Unless you have volunteered, your draft board can put the finger on you at any time from age 18½ through 25.

As a volunteer, you will have the same six-year total military obligation as a draftee, but your active duty may range from a few months to six years. And, unlike a draftee, you will be able to choose your service.

You should shop around to see what each of the armed services offers in the way of regular or reserve enlistment.

The pay will all be the same, but you may find that one service seems better than another as to how and where you would like to work off your six-year military obligation.

COMPARISON SHOPPING

Where do you go if you want to do some comparison shopping?

Well, you can start off with the recruiting officer or officer located in most cities, at the post office or in their own offices.

The recruiting officer (often a noncommissioned officer with service stripes up to his elbow) has been around a long time.

In the larger recruiting office there will be a representative of each service, but in many one man talks for all the services. He has pamphlets full of information too.

CAN STILL ENLIST

Once he has received his order to report, the draft registrant no longer may volunteer for National Guard or reserve units.

But the door to enlistment in the regular Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Air Force is still open until he actually begins the process of involuntary induction.

To help you choose, here is how the programs stack up:

Army

Regular Army: age limits 17 to 24; enlistments for three, four, five or six years.

If you want to try for the graduate specialists program which provides upwards of 100 classroom courses to help you along in education while in service you must be a high school graduate.

If you qualify through aptitude and physical examinations, you also have a fair choice in vocational training in such fields as electronics, radar, missiles, automotive repair and other subjects.

Army Reserve Forces: age limit 17 to 28.

If you have not been ordered to report for induction you may join the Army Enlisted Reserve for six years (the term of your military obligation), with the requirement that early in enlistment you do two years of active duty.

Army National Guard: The 17 to 26 year age men may enlist for six years, take not less than four months active duty and serve the remainder in training in ready reserve status.

Students are permitted to delay the start of their active duty for training up to one year in order to complete high school.

Navy

Regular Navy: age 17 through 30; enlistments for three, four or six years, except that if enlistee is 17, first enlistment ends on 21st birthday.

If a graduate of high school or a four-year vocational school or junior college, an enlistee is eligible for training in one of approximately 60 specialties.

Naval Reserve: 17 through 28. Six-year enlistment, two of which is active duty and four in inactive reserve but usually in an organized reserve unit.

LIMITED PROGRAM

The Naval Air Reserve has a limited program requiring six months of active duty and five and a half years inactive.

Marines

Regular enlistment: 17 to 28 years, inclusive; enlistments three, four or six years.

The corps says: "Enlistments are for general duty and a small highly qualified percentage for aviation duty only."

Reserves: 17 to 26 years; enlistment for six years, with six months active duty and the remainder in the ready reserve.

during which time attendance at drills of reserve units is compulsory.

Air Force

Regular: 17 to 28 years; four year enlistment.

An applicant must attain an aptitude score qualifying him for training in one of four general fields — electronics, general, administrative and mechanical.

Assignment depends on educational background, aptitude score and the requirements of the air force.

Reserves: 17 to 26; six year enlistment; you serve a minimum of four months and such additional active duty for training as may be required.

Air National Guard: age 17 to 36; six-year enlistment.

Active duty is a minimum of four months, plus additional active duty for training in the specialty which was requested by you; then assignment to a ready reserve unit.

Coast Guard

Regular: 17 to 26 years; four year enlistment.

After completion of basic training, the Coast Guard says, "consideration will be given" to assigning you to a station near your home town whenever possible.

(However, it should be remembered that if assigned to a ship, the Coast Guard patrols ocean waters ranging from the Arctic to the Antarctic.)

Reserves: age 17 to 26; enlistment for eight years; six months active duty training, with remainder of enlistment in the ready reserve.

Parental consent is required for 17-year-olds volunteering for regular or reserve service or early draft induction.

Next we'll tell you what induction is like.

A really great bridge player knows the correct mathematical play. He doesn't always follow this line.

Sometimes he believes that the correct play is to follow clubs by East.

East was a very good player. Why would he go out of his hunch and that he should go against the mathematics.

When this treatment succeeds was a triple-cross and that East he is a hero. When it fails he is a bum.

South started by playing four rounds of hearts. East discarded the eight of clubs on the last heart. South dropped the four of clubs and West the deuce of diamonds.

South cashed dummy's king and queen of diamonds and then asked of diamonds and the jack of diamonds was thoroughly protected in the West hand. Then South ran four spades. East discarded a club on the last spade and South studied his last four cards.

He had two ways to play the hand. The simple way would be to discard the ten of diamonds and play East for the ace of clubs. The complicated way would be to discard his last low club and play West for the ace of clubs.

Strict mathematics favored the simple play. East had started with six clubs and West with only two but South studied the early discard of the eight of clubs by East.

East was a very good player. Why would he go out of his hunch and that he should go against the mathematics.

When this treatment succeeds was a triple-cross and that East actually did not hold the ace of clubs. South discarded his low club!

West had to throw the queen of clubs to keep his two diamonds and South end played him with a club lead.

State Boy Is Cited for Heroic Rescue

PAW PAW (UPI) — James Rhoten, 15, Gobles, was cited for bravery and heroism yesterday by the Van Buren County chapter of the American Red Cross.

Rhoten was credited with saving the lives of two preschool children of the Richard Cook family March 21 after lightning struck their house.

In the fire that followed, Rhoten, who was baby sitting, led the children from the house and returned to rescue the family pets.

State Junior College Gets $750,000 Grant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Port Huron, Mich.) Junior College has been awarded a $750,000 grant for construction on a new building. Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich., announced yesterday.

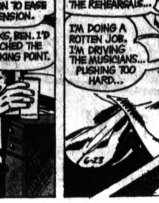

The building, for combined library, science and engineering facilities, is to cost $2.3 million, the rest of the total being financed by state and local sources.

WELCOME ADDITION — Elk, 3½-year-old German Shepherd, is the newest member of the Waterford Township Police Department. Handled by Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm

Police Import Will Help Collar Crooks

The latest addition to the Waterford Township Police Department is an import from Germany who doesn't understand a word of English.

The transplant from Dusseldorf is a 3½-year-old German Shepherd who answers to the name of Elk ("Eich" in German, if you please).

Well-trained as a sentry dog, Elk figures to be highly valuable to Waterford police.

He'll be available to other police departments, too, according to Waterford Chief William Stokes.

Valued at $2,000, the black and tan dog was donated to the Waterford force by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sanderson, 1564 Bawtree, West Bloomfield Township.

No newcomer to police work, Elk once teamed with Hans—the State Police dog—to track down an escaped convict. On another occasion he led police to two juvenile offenders who had stolen an automobile.

BURIED TREASURE

Elk also recovered a stolen property buried in a field.

In training exercises at Selfridge Air Force Base, Elk once held 22 men at bay in a mock riot demonstration. According to Wilcox, Elk is capable of jumping over a 6-foot fence.

Wilcox observed that Elk will attack on command, hold a person at bay, search and find, retrieve in water and in and out of tunnels and jump off a diving board into water.

2nd Meeting Set on Library System

The second meeting of the special advisory committee for the North Oakland Library-Contract System (NOLCS) will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

It will be another follow-up meeting initiated by city officials to answer some of the discontent recently voiced by member representatives of the library system.

NOLCS is a cooperative effort by Pontiac and 16 area communities in the purchase and circulation of library books.

Established eight years ago, NOLCS had been governed by a until recently.

Workshop Set for Teachers

Community resources available to area teachers will be explored in a four-week workshop beginning Monday at Pontiac Northern High School.

The course, for which six term-hours of college credit are given, is cosponsored by the Pontiac Board of Education and Michigan State University.

Registrations can be made at the first class session. The class will meet from 8 a.m. to noon weekdays.

Participants in the third annual community resources workshop will visit local businesses, industries and social service agencies. They then will work in small groups to organize a specific project.

U.S. May Give $300,000 to County for Poverty Project

Funds Sought to Aid Aged

By JOE MULLEN

Oakland County's officials in the war on poverty are hoping for a $300,000 federal windfall to finance a program aimed at locating and aiding the aged poor.

Called Project Find, the program is one of the rare ones financed entirely by the Washington Office of Economic Opportunity.

Most antipoverty programs require 10 per cent local participation in cost the first year.

Project Find seeks to identify persons, who, besides being aged and poor, are friendless and disabled. It also calls for assistance in problems of health, recreation and leisure time.

Composite figures gathered from the Oakland County Bureau of Social Aid, county welfare department and the local Social Security Office indicate that of the 690,000 county population as of the 1960 census, some 48,000 persons were 65 or older.

LOW INCOMES

Of this total, 12,000 persons had an income of $1,200 or less yearly and 6,000 more had income of $1,800 or less per year.

Classified in the $2,400 to $3,000 income range were 3,500 persons.

The aged poor (over 65 and with income under $3,000) usually have problems beyond the age-income scope according to officials of the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity (OCEO).

These mainly are isolation, health, housing, recreation and leisure time.

LACK UNDERSTANDING

Many lack the ability to comprehend their plight and make any attempt to combat their situation, commission officials believe.

A staff of community aides composed of senior citizens, many of whom themselves are poor, is proposed to carry out the program.

Neighborhood based information and referral centers would be established.

Specifically, the goals of Project Find are to locate the aged poor, intervene in their behalf, involve them in social action and self help and recommend and document need for new services.

PROJECTS PLANNED

These goals would be attained in the following ways:

- Door to door canvass for a complete inventory and census.
- Interviewing the aged poor and recording findings.
- Making referrals to appropriate agencies if persons are eligible for help.
- Providing escort service and making home visits for those needing companionship.

• Conducting meetings of neighborhood groups and organizing a social action program.

• Creating new and needed senior citizen clubs and working with such existing clubs.

CLOSE SUPERVISION

The community aides would work under close supervision of experienced community organizers, social workers and public health nurses. Consultants from existing public agencies would be utilized.

Some examples of self-help programs Project Find might launch are:

- Friendly visiting to the homebound by neighbors to offer companionship, pick up mail, renew a prescription or run errands.
- Provide escort service for the ill, blind, frail or handicapped to a clinic, doctor's office or public agency.
- Set up a "buddy system" among houses, neighbors or apartment building floors in which two persons look in on each other to watch for illness or emergencies.
- Some examples of social action programs which might be organized are:
- Focus community attention on the plight of the aged poor and set up representation on boards and committees.
- Obtain reduced or free fares for the aged poor and better service by commercial lines in terms of closer stops and central exchanges.

Besides hiring community aides, the commission hopes to recruit a vast number of volunteer workers as block, street, neighborhood and building captains.

Commission officials feel that if the federal grant is forthcoming, the program could be started immediately.

This is based on the fact that the commission already has two fully staffed opportunity centers as a basis for the operation and that the county's aged poor population already has been identified as a result of the recent "Medicare Alert" effort.

AIM OF EFFORT

This effort was aimed at identifying the aged to advise them of the Medicare program and aid them in registering for it.

Another built-in advantage to launching Project Find is that a Senior Citizen Advisory Council already has been established by the commission.

Besides the present opportunity centers in Pontiac and Royal Oak Township, four more are proposed.

Boy Scouts Ready to Go to 2 Camps

Members of the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, are currently preparing for another summer at Camp Agawam in Orion Township and their initial session of camping at Lost Lake Camp, near Clare.

More than 1,000 Pontiac area scouts are expected to attend Camp Agawam this year.

Agawam, the council's training camp, is slated to open June 28 for seven one-week periods.

Lost Lake Camp is the 2,284-acre reservation for which the council is currently sponsoring a development fund campaign.

There will be one-week wilderness camping sessions for 19 area scout troops there this summer.

65 TROOPS

A total of 65 of the council's 130 Boy Scout troops are registered to attend a council camp for at least one week this summer. They'll be guided by their own volunteer troop leadership.

Several other scout troops plan to set up individual camps in other areas.

AMA President at Term's End

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — When Dr. James Z. Appel took over as president of the American Medical Association a year ago the nation's doctors still were fighting federal Medicare.

As the Lancaster, Pa., physician prepares to return to private practice — "I didn't go to medical school to learn how to make speeches," he says — Medicare is now the law of the land and stands serving those over 65 on July 1.

Dr. Appel said he feels that his efforts helped soften Medicare's threat of becoming a socialized medicine, even though most doctors in the U.S. aren't too happy with the program.

"The American Medical Association has always said that the elderly patient who needs financial help should be given it," Dr. Appel said today. "What we object to is that Medicare also pays for people who can well afford to pay their own way."

On June 28, in Chicago, he gives up the AMA presidency to Dr. Charles L. Hudson of Cleveland, Ohio.

JUNK TREE — Young members of the Pontiac Boys Club offer a unique illustration of their efforts to clean up the neighborhood near the club at 530 E. Pike. This tree, long dead, has been painted and "decorated" with various pieces of junk gathered in the cleanup.

Grads Warned Avoid Bogus Schools

Recent high school graduates making plans to continue their educations are being warned to beware of bogus trade school solicitors.

While many reputable schools are contacting graduates, the Pontiac Board of Education has received reports of soliciting by representatives of nonaccredited schools.

Graduates are being advised to investigate thoroughly the schools they are considering, particularly those demanding payment of fees before an application is processed.

Lists of trade and correspondence schools approved by the State Department of Education are available in the counseling office at the Pontiac Board of Education Building, 350 E. Wide Track, and from counselors at Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern high schools through June 30.

Few Nominees for Rights Unit

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. has encountered a certain amount of "slowness" in receiving nominees for membership on the city's new Human Relations Commission.

Taylor said a total of 10 of the 24 groups of individuals invited to submit names have replied to his letter of May 24.

The deadline was last Friday.

10 Attending Workshop for Counselors

Counseling theory and practice are being brought together via closed circuit television in a program now under way at Oakland Schools.

Seven area educators are among the 10 attending Oakland Schools' fourth summer practicum for counselors.

While working with students, the counselors will be observed by other participants via closed circuit television.

This is the first time some of the children selected for extra guidance sessions will be under the age of 13, according to instructor Dr. Robert Williams, Oakland Schools director of counseling and guidance.

College credits are given for the three-week Michigan State University practicum which started Monday.

AREA PARTICIPANTS

Counselors taking part in the course include John H. Nellenbach, Pontiac Eastern Junior High School; Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Pontiac Northern High School; Donald P. Bentley, Baker Junior High School, Troy.

Others from the area are Kenneth A. Ish, Barnum Junior High School, and Mrs. Norma J. Sanderson, Derby Junior High School, both of Birmingham; A. Fred Eby, Waterford Village School; and William Greenman, Southfield High School.

Also, the United Ministerial Alliance, the Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship, and the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit.

Taylor said a second letter has been sent informing of the new Tuesday deadline.

White Cane Drive Brings In $3,000

The Pontiac Lions Club collected $3,000 in its White Cane Drive recently, according to a club spokesman.

All Lions Club members and 12 blind workers participated in the drive. White Cane Drive was sold and canisters were distributed throughout the city.

Proceeds from the drive will go to the blind, especially to buy glasses and leader dogs, said committeeman Omer Gagne.

His Wedding Bells Forecast for Frank Struck Sour Note

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — From the same exclusive and reliable source that assured us that Frank Sinatra and Mia Farrow would be married by Memorial Day, comes another exclusive and reliable forecast... that they will surely be married by Thanksgiving, and maybe by Labor Day.

Just remember that you read it here (several times, with lots of different dates, because Frankie, we ain't too sure of this item).

Fearless Forecast: The Easter egg hunt will give way to a match ball hunt on the White House lawn by 1972. The President will be a New Yorker... Secret Stuff: A mother complained to a network that you read it here (several times, with lots of different dates, because Frankie, we ain't too sure of this item).

One of the biggest women stars has her eye on one of the biggest film directors who has his eye on his bankroll as he tries to get a divorce so he can marry her... Is ex-Police Commissioner Vincent Broderick considering joining Louis Nizer's law firm?... Valerie Allen's starting with Troy Donahue in "The Owl & The Pussycat" in summer stock.

Ed Wynn was one of the gentlest of men, one who had been up and down and up again. He loved all humor, puns included, and once told about the waiter who received an order for lamb cut grain and sang out to the chef, "Cheese, the chops..."

If flatheadedness becomes the fashion, what's in my Jayne Mansfield picture collection?

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

The Jan Mitchell's (of Luchow's and Longchamps) are having another baby in July—and the Joe Peppinos told friends at the Pink Pussycat that they're also anticipating... Cassius Clay ordered kosher meatballs in a N.Y. restaurant and went back to the kitchen to make sure they contained no pork.

Paula Wayne, Sammy Davis' ex-leading lady, who's going to record for Columbia, was given a big $10,000 barbecue surprise party his closing night at the Galveston Balinese Room by John Mitchell, operator of the club.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Some wives'll buy a 96c coat hanger at a bazaar — and then complain they have nothing to hang on it.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The girls who wear wigs, false eyelashes and padded bras are the first to complain there are no real men any more.

EARL'S PEARLS: It's getting so that women can do any thing men can do except listen—Arnold Glasow.

Thousands of teen-agers applauded a rock 'n' roll group at Palisades Park, and a viewer noted: "It's a terrific crowd considering they're not protesting anything..." That's earl, brother.

Senate Passes Pet-Theft Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation designed to prevent the theft of pet animals for use in research has received unanimous Senate approval.

The 85-0 vote sent the measure back to the House which had passed a similar version. The bill would authorize the secretary of agriculture to regulate the transportation, sale and handling of dogs, cats and other feline animals to be used in research or experimentation.

The legislation also would set "humane standards" for treatment of animals — including rabbits, hamsters and guinea pigs — by research and medical facilities. Violation of its provisions would carry a maximum one year jail sentence and $1,000 fine.

Thief Gets a Surprise

WICHITA, Kan. (U) — A Wichita woman is chucking over the surprise she must have given a purse snatcher.

The handbag, lifted from a car seat, contained play make-up, a child's sunglasses and assorted little girl's playthings, but no money.

The woman said she had given the old purse to her 4-year-old daughter to play with before it was stolen.

New Study to Aid Great Lakes Ports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Public Works Committee has ordered a study which will be the first step toward keeping Great Lakes ports competitive with those on the East Coast, Sen. A. Hart, D-Mich., reported today.

The committee asked the Army Engineers to make a St. Lawrence Seaway study with particular reference to the adequacy of existing locks, "in view of the needs of the present and anticipated heavy volume of commerce utilizing the waterway."

Hart had requested the action in hopes that the Eisenhower-Snell Locks at Messias, N.Y., which now can handle ships up to 730 feet long, will be enlarged to take 1,000-foot ships.

"The Canadians have already embarked on a program to similarly increase the size of the locks on the Welland Canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario," he said.

"Without corresponding action on our part, the Eisenhower-Snell Locks would prove a hopeless bottleneck in Seaway development."

Negro Claims Hospital Bias

Can't Find Job, Says Surgeon in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A Negro thoracic surgeon said Wednesday he can't find a Detroit hospital to work in due to discrimination in staff appointments.

Dr. Hayward C. Maben is the city's only Negro physician who has qualified for two specialty boards, the American Board of Surgery, and the Board of Thoracic Surgery. Thoracic surgery involves operations in the thorax, the cavity containing the heart and lungs.

Dr. Maben said he applied for staff appointments at eight Detroit hospitals between August 1965 and April 1966. He said he was turned down or ignored by everyone.

He named Grace, Harper, Hutzel, Mt. Carmel Mercy, Sinai, Highland Park General, St. Joseph, Mercy and Providence hospitals.

'DISCOURAGED'

"There were others I was too discouraged to apply to because of the experiences of other colored physicians," Dr. Maben said.

The Detroit Medical Society, representing 200 Negro physicians, said it would call on the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, the Detroit Area Hospital Council, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the Wayne County Medical Society and the courts, if necessary, "to seek relief" for Dr. Maben.

Dr. Joshua Williams, president of the society, called Dr. Maben's case a "shocking example of inequity in hospital staffing."

The administrators of the hospitals involved said they had rejected Dr. Maben because they were overstaffed, and in some cases had too many open-heart surgeons.

DUE REVIEW

Dr. Roger DeBusk, administrator of Grace Hospital, said Dr. Maben applied in August 1965, and was turned down. Dr. DeBusk said his application was coming up again for review in July.

"There's no doubt about his being qualified," said Dr. DeBusk. "Our problem is a waiting list. . . We have not processed applications of late because of the lack of beds."

"If he came in," Dr. DeBusk said, "we couldn't supply beds. But he will be considered again."

"We already have 28 qualified Negroes on the staff. That's more than the other hospitals combined," he added.

Richard Sejonst, administrator at Harper Hospital, said "any thoracic surgeon who moves into Detroit will have trouble getting a staff appointment."

Plush Setting for Grads of Northern High

DETROIT (AP) — In air-conditioned opulence, the 272-member senior class graduated from Northern High School Wednesday.

The school's 97th commencement exercises were held at Ford Auditorium rather than Northern's auditorium.

The seniors and their 2,000 guests sat on seats upholstered with two-inch thick green velvet.

Aisles and foyer were richly carpeted and the walls were decorated with contemporary objects d'art.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., addressed the students.

'FOCUS OF NATION'

The freshman Democrat from Detroit said that the five-day walkout by the Northern students in April brought to the attention of the nation of the problem of inferior education of Negroes in the nation's cities.

The student rebellion — ostensibly staged to dramatize supposedly poor education in inner city schools — led to the apparent removal of Arthur T. Carey, 64, as principal.

Conyers said the tragedy of American education is that "50 to 60 per cent" of the nation's students who enter the ninth grade never finish high school.

George W. Donaldson, acting principal at Northern, said the exercises were held at Ford Auditorium "to give the class a lift."

The $470 rental of the hall was paid for by federal funds distributed to the school by the State Department of Public Instruction.

Senate Okays $2,500 Pay Hike

LANSING (AP)—The Senate, which earlier had approved a $5,000 pay raise for legislators, agreed Wednesday night to a compromise $2,500 boost—but even that appeared to face stiff opposition in the House.

The compromise, recommended by a House-Senate conference committee, would raise lawmakers' annual salaries from $10,000 to $12,500, leaving their expense money at $2,500 a year. The raise would go into effect for next year's Legislature.

It passed the Senate with four votes to spare — 23-19.

Meanwhile, a $9,500 raise for State Appeals Court judges—to $32,500—was on its way to Gov. George Romney and an equal boost for Supreme Court justices—to $35,000—was expected to win legislative approval. It already has passed the Senate.

Seven Republicans and one

Democrat voted against the legislative pay raise. Six senators did not vote, although Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, said later he would have voted "no" if he had been present.

EARNED IT

"I think I earned it," said Sen. Frank Beaulieu, R-St. Clair. "If everyone else can get a cost of living increase, why can't we?"

Legislators last raised their pay in 1964. Backers of a raise this year point out that the next chance to boost pay will be in 1971, since a raise can take effect only at the beginning of a legislator's term.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, who voted against the pay raise, noted that a study commission recommended a $5,000 raise, but suggested that the Legislature improve its procedures.

adopted first, not the pay raise,

The improvements should be he told newsmen.

Joining Bursley in voting against the raise were Republican Sens. Robert J. Huber, Troy; Haskell Nichols, Jackson; Robert Vander Laan, Grand Rapids; Milton Zaagman, Grand Rapids; and Charles Zollar, Benton Harbor; and Sen. Jan Vandenberg, D-North Muskegon.

"I can understand some of the previous votes on the $5,000 raise," said Raymond Dzendsel, D-Detroit, the majority leader.

But, he said, state civil service employees are receiving a raise and "we have given a raise to almost every elected officer we have anything to do with. All we are asking is this modest increase for the next four years."

The minority leader, Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, also supported the bill.

The question caused some sharp disagreements among House Republicans—from whom it appears to have no more than token support.

On other pay issues, the Senate approved a $1,500 raise in the minimum salary for county Probate Court judges—from a range of $7,500 to $18,500 to a range of $9,000 to $20,000. The state would pay half the salaries, which now are paid in full by the counties.

Sales Manager at Pontiac Div. Leaving Post

40-Year Veteran at Auto Firm Retires; Successor Is Named

The retirement of E. R. Pettengill as general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division and the appointment of Thomas L. King as his successor were announced today by John Z. DeLoe, a General Motors vice president and general manager of the division.

Pettengill, of 13485 W. Lane, Holly, is a 40-year veteran with Pontiac.

He will retire at the end of this month under provisions of the General Motors Retirement Program.

King, of 5455 Wayland, Bloomfield Township, has served as assistant general sales manager in charge of Central Office administration since last September. He will assume his new duties July 1.

A veteran with 20 years' experience in Pontiac's sales department, King will direct the sales efforts of the company which has for the past six years been in third place in the automotive industry.

He joined Pontiac as district manager in the Washington, D.C., zone and was promoted to parts and accessories merchandising manager in 1964. He became business management manager in Charlotte, N.C., in 1960.

WEST COAST POSTS

Two years later he was named assistant zone manager in Los Angeles, Calif., and in 1954 he was appointed zone manager in Portland, Ore.

He was named manager of the Los Angeles zone in 1958. In 1958 he was named Western regional manager in 1960. He was appointed Eastern regional manager.

A year later he was promoted to assistant general sales manager in charge of the western half of the United States. Born in Kingstree, S.C., in 1910, King received his bachelor's degree from the University of South Carolina.

Yanks Led to Victory by Turncoat

SAIGON (UPI)—American troops guided by a turncoat Communist lieutenant and South Vietnamese marines on their own scored two major victories over the Communists today, piling up a total of 680 enemy dead.

It was the first big South Vietnamese offensive since start of the political crisis three months ago.

American Air Force and Navy planes carried out more devastating attacks against Communist North Viet Nam yesterday.

They bombed four huge oil installations north of Hanoi and sent ammunition-laden boxcars exploding like a string of firecrackers.

CASUALTIES DOWN

A U.S. spokesman reported meanwhile that U.S. war casualties were reduced almost 50 percent last week. The number of Americans killed in action dropped from 142 to 79 and the wounded from 741 to 567.

South Vietnamese dead increased from 151 to 175; the Viet Cong lost 923 killed, a drop of 300 which reflected a lull in the fighting for the period.

The South Vietnamese killed more than 300 Communists in a battle just below the border of North Viet Nam, routing a battalion of Viet Cong (400 to 600 men) and trapping them against the sea. A fleet of Vietnamese junks moved in from the sea to cut off escape.

The Marines are in the troubled First Corps area where political ferment against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky reached a crescendo in Hue and Da Nang. Many of the army troops in the area were taken off combat duty to put down the rebellion.

53 KILLED

The American paratroopers and cavalrymen scored their victory in the Tuy Hoa coastal area 240 miles northeast of Saigon where they have been battling North Vietnamese units since the weekend.

Dodd Fund Misuse Said Huge

WASHINGTON (AP)—James P. Boyd Jr. accused his former boss, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, today of "misappropriation of hundreds of thousands of dollars in campaign funds."

Boyd, testifying at a Senate Ethics Committee investigation of misconduct charges against the Connecticut Democrat, said that in his mind Dodd's association with public relations man Julius Klein "took on a new light" after publication of the campaign documents.

He said he was referring to news reports in the first week of December 1964 about funds for Dodd's reelection campaign to the Senate.

Boyd, Dodd's administrative assistant until May of last year, said the newspapers didn't have full information and he thought the published totals were "very erroneous and very disappointing to me."

Campaign funds were injected into the second day of the bipartisan committee's public hearings when Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., asked Boyd when he first became concerned about Dodd's relationship with Klein, a registered agent for West German interests.

'A LITTLE ODD'

"Well, I thought it was a little odd for quite awhile," said the quiet-spoken witness.

"I questioned the propriety of accepting gratuities from a foreign agent," Boyd continued, but he added, "I didn't really become concerned until I became aware of his misappropriation of hundreds of thousands of dollars in campaign funds."

"The association took on a new light by publication of the campaign documents," he said.

Boyd described as "a cover-up and no more" Dodd's description of the purpose of a trip to West Germany two years ago.

Dodd had said the trip was made to question an agent of "the Soviet murder apparatus."

The Legislature also voted the session its third lease on life this month—extending the time for resolving of House-Senate differences from midnight yesterday to 4 p.m. today.

Weather to Be Hot and Humid

Mostly fair, hot and humid — just what people, traveled hundreds of miles to the south for, in January — is the weather outlook for today, tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures mounted to 83 yesterday — highest so far this year — and are expected to skyrocket to 95 tomorrow. Lows are slated for 59 to 68 tonight.

Morning south- to southeast winds will continue at 5 to 15 miles per hour.

There is little chance of showers before Saturday.

State to Ballot on Lowering of Vote Age to 18

House Approves First Proposed Amendment to the Constitution

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's over-21 voters will be asked this fall to decide whether 18-year-olds should be granted the franchise.

A resolution placing the first would-be amendment to the state's 18-month-old constitution before the people cleared the Legislature yesterday on a 79-23 vote in the House.

It passed the Senate with the necessary two-thirds majority last April.

With a deadline bearing down on them and such questions as a legislative pay raise and the 1966-67 budget yet to be resolved, the House took time out last night to consider two amendment proposals.

The other, a change to allow a state or local graduated income tax, failed on a vote of 72-26—two short of the 74 needed for a two-thirds majority in the House.

The resolution is still alive, however. It was reconsidered and placed back on the House calendar.

If the three Republican yes votes cast yesterday hold firm, House Democrats could get the measure through.

Only absenteeism in Democratic ranks prevented it from getting approval.

If passed, however, it would have to muster a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

The Legislature also voted the session its third lease on life this month—extending the time for resolving of House-Senate differences from midnight yesterday to 4 p.m. today.

Democrats generally contend a graduated income tax is necessary for fiscal reform. Republicans have been arguing that reform is possible under the flat-rate income tax concept.

In other action, the House gave final approval to a bill that would require the Highway Department to make plans for relocating people displaced by highway construction.

$3.5 Million for Students of Private Colleges OK'd

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved a $3.5 million program of tuition grants for students at private colleges and universities in Michigan Wednesday night and began final action on the state budget.

With House-Senate disagreements over certain provisions still to be worked out, the state's 1966-67 spending plan was about $965 million, said Sen. Garland Lane, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Senators also approved a county home rule bill and bills to tighten regulation of cemeteries Wednesday night.

In each case, the Senate was acting on compromise bills worked out by House-Senate conference committees. The committee proposals still await final House approval.

Senators withheld immediate effect from the tuition grant measure. This said Senate Minority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, would give Gov. George Romney a chance to ask the Michigan Supreme Court for an advisory opinion on whether the bill is constitutional — if Romney decided to sign the bill, that is.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dendzel, D-Detroit, argued that "if the bill is going to do any good, it should have immediate effect."

Lockwood contended that to "prevent the possibility of lengthy litigation" an advisory opinion should be sought.

The bill, which would provide up to $800 a year for a private college student, depending on need, has the backing of the State Board of Education and spokesmen for Michigan private colleges.

The Detroit Council of Churches and the Jewish Community Council of Detroit have opposed it, contending it would violate separation of church and state.

In budget action, the Senate approved a compromise higher education bill providing $229 million—cut by $1.4 million in conference.

It also approved capital outlay expenditures totaling $78,965,486, a boost of $11,000 in conference, and a Mental Health Department appropriation of $15.8 million, a boost of $30 million in conference.

Before going into conference, the budget bills totaled $954.7 million, compared with Gov. George Romney's recommendation of $949.4 million.

The county home rule bill is aimed at giving county governments greater autonomy in running their own affairs, and at allowing them to streamline their operations.

compromise version of a bill to increase coverage of the State Minimum Wage Law.

OVER 10 WEEKS
The bill, to take effect March 1, 1967, would cover any employer in operation more than 10 weeks a year.

The present law covers an employer who works for more than 13 weeks—amounting to a waiting period before he comes under the law.

"The one exception to this new provision is summer employment of less than four months duration," said Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkeley, chairman of the labor committee.

Also approved by both houses and sent to Romney was a bill to guarantee state support to local water pollution control projects—providing state money on a matching basis with the federal and local governments.

The price tag for the state sponsors said, comes to $2.5 million.

Faces Army Charge After a Suicide Try

DETROIT (AP)—Charges of being absent without official leave await a 17-year-old soldier who held police at bay for an hour with two sticks of dynamite before exploding them in his apartment.

Pvt. Robert A. Maiale, quoted by officers as saying he "would rather die here than in Viet Nam," set off the blast with a battery Wednesday as military and civilian police surrounded the apartment, building in suburban Melvindale.

The explosion blew out the windows of the upper flat, blasted a large hole in a hallway and knocked down the ceiling. Maiale was treated for minor bruises at a Detroit hospital before being confined at Ft. Wayne in Detroit.

WALL PARTITION
Police said a wall partition shielded him from the blast, saving his life.

A Roman Catholic priest and two police officers, who had tried to talk the soldier into

"He was very nervous," the priest said. "We sat at the kitchen table. He had the dynamite in one hand and the battery in the other. He said he was a disgrace to his family and that he just wanted people to leave him alone."

He said if we'd leave, he'd give himself up in five minutes," Father Houle continued. "We had just reached the sidewalk when we heard the blast."

MOTHER SAID
The youth's mother, Mrs. Michael Maiale, of Taylor Township, said:

"I don't know why the military wants him...he never has been in the Army. But he wanted to go, so I signed the papers. I wish to God now that I never did that."

Maiale was married at 16 in December, 1964. Two months later he joined the Army.

He was subsequently discharged, but rejoined last December after turning 17.

Contests Legislation on JP Term Extension

A Pontiac attorney, stymied by a legislative act to get his name on the August primary ballot for justice of the peace in Bloomfield Township, has taken his case to Oakland County Circuit Court.

The lawyer, Barry A. Kushner, 32, is contesting the constitutionality of the legislation which was enacted earlier this month that extended the terms of some justices until January 1968 when the office will be abolished throughout the state.

In adopting the measure, legislators decided that the usual election of justices this year would be unnecessary because winners would not take office until July 1967 and then would only hold the post for six months.

At the end of that time, as outlined in the 1963 state constitution, justice courts will be eliminated and replaced by an entirely different countywide court system.

Nominating petitions for the justice post were filed in May by Kushner, 6333 Worthington, Bloomfield Township, but became worthless when the legislature said there would be no election.

'DENIED RIGHT'
In his complaint, Kushner says he has been denied his constitutional right to be a candidate as a result of the legislation.

At this point, the suit is aimed at the Oakland County Election Commission, who, in carrying out the legislative mandate, according to Kushner, "illegally" refused to certify him as a candidate.

A hearing on Kushner's request to get his name on the ballot is scheduled for July 5 at 9 a.m. before Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn.

Kushner says he is prepared to take the case to the Supreme Court to get the matter clarified, and noted the urgency of resolving the situation since the primary is less than 45 days away.

Kushner contends that only an amendment to the constitution, and not the legislature could extend the terms of office.

Exam July 12 for Avon Man in Wife's Murder
The pretrial examination has been set for 9 a.m. July 12 for Jack W. Young of Avon Township charged with first-degree murder.

Young, 34, of 3940 Crooks demanded examination yesterday before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green.

A piano player and factory worker, Young is charged in the bludgeoning slaying of his 30-year-old wife, whose body was found Monday evening in their small, rented home.

Young was arrested Tuesday evening in Unionville in Tuscola County after reportedly going fishing with a friend.

Addition of 41 Teachers OK'd

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education has approved the addition of 41 teachers next fall.

Twenty more teachers had already been approved at a prior meeting, Schools Supt. Eugene L. Johnson said.

Sixty per cent of the new teachers will be employed at elementary schools and 40 per cent at secondary schools.

The board also picked up an option on 23 acres between Lone Pine and W. Long Lake in Middle Bell-Fieldstone Subdivision for a future school site.

Johnson said the final papers will be signed tomorrow.

SUBSTITUTE PAY

A $4 increase in substitute teacher salaries was also approved by the board at Tuesday's meeting.

Fully qualified teachers with degrees and certificates will receive $24 per day. Those with special certificates or without a degree will receive $22 per day.

Johnson said substitute teachers who teach more than 20 consecutive days will be paid according to the beginning step on the salary schedule.

QUALIFIED STEP

Those who are continuously employed for a semester or longer will be put on the qualified step of the salary schedule.

In other action, the board accepted the resignation of David

W. Lee who has served as a board member for 13 continuous years. Phillip Bartlett, 964 Durley, Bloomfield Township, was sworn in as his replacement.

BIRMINGHAM — John L. Hannett, of 17989 Dunblaine, Beverly Hills, has been appointed director of development at Detroit Country Day School.

He will direct activities related to fund raising to complete a new learning center and to meet the school's long-range needs.

Hannett joined the faculty of Country Day in 1963 as athletic director and science teacher. He will continue as basketball coach in addition to his development duties.

As an independent school, Country Day is dependent upon funds raised through the development process. A campaign initiated a year ago has resulted in gifts of over $700,000.

An addition with a new entrance, administrative offices and additional locker room space, has been completed.

Meeting Stated on Sewer Plans

Walled Lake Official Due at Chicago Talks

WALLED LAKE—City Manager Royce Downey will meet with the Housing and Urban Development Commission in Chicago next Thursday to review plans for the construction of a $2.3-million sewer system.

Fifty per cent of the funds will be provided by a federal grant and the other 50 per cent will be raised locally, Downey said.

One-half of each unit's water bill will be allocated to make up the local 50 per cent, he said.

Four thousand residents, 128 commercial establishments and 17 industries will be served by the system, according to Downey.

The city is now served by septic tanks.

EXPANSION APPROVED

At Tuesday night's council meeting, a proposal for a $600,000 expansion of the water main system was approved.

The system, which is to be completed in six months, will be financed by a revenue bond issue already approved by the city council, Downey said.

A new deep well and 2 1/2 miles of water mains are included in the project.

One More Attempt on $8 Million Share

Avon Seeks Sewer Line Cost Cut

AVON TOWNSHIP—Township officials will make one more attempt to reduce their share of the cost of the proposed Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System before entering into an agreement with the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW).

The township board last night authorized financial consultants Stratton Associates, Inc., of Detroit to negotiate with the DPW to reduce the township's $8-million allocation.

The board also instructed Township Supervisor Cyril E. Miller to arrange a meeting with the Rochester Village Council to discuss a supplemental agreement for sewage treatment and to resolve legal problems.

Township officials feel that the $8,370,433 which they would have to pay as their share of the $28,627,500 project, including interest, is inequitable. Miller feels the cost should be lowered by at least $1 million.

In a report to the board last night, Stratton Associates pointed out that the cost was positioned among the units of government without regard to location in the system.

IN EXCESS

The report contends that Avon should only be required to share in the cost of two sections of the system.

The firm also claims that the amount of capacity to be purchased in the system is "far in excess of the township's immediate needs" but that to enter into a contract for lesser capacity would only result in substantially higher costs at a later date.

It was also recommended that an attempt be made by Avon and Pontiac Townships to have Oakland University make a contribution towards the cost allocated to these townships.

At its proposed meeting with the village council, tentatively set for July 6, the township board plans to discuss a supplemental agreement for use of the village's sewage treatment plant.

As suggested in the Stratton report, such an agreement would assist both the township in providing an immediate source of sewage disposal treatment, and the village, in receiving additional revenue from the treatment of the sewage.

Once the agreement with the village is worked out and an equitable allocation of cost is arrived at, Stratton recommends that the township execute a contract with the DPW for the disposal system.

Avon is one of six township involved in the sewer system. Orion, West Bloomfield and Waterford townships have approved the agreement. Independence Township has asked for a study from Stratton Associates and Pontiac Township is scheduled to consider it at its next meeting June 27.

The system will connect to the Dequindre interceptor which the city of Detroit will extend from 14 Mile to 23 1/2 Mile.

Besides sharing in the cost of the trunkline, the participating municipalities, except Pontiac, also would pay for their individual internal sewer systems which would feed into the trunkline.

The project is expected to serve a population of 218,700 by 1990.

Waterford Township, with a projected population of 85,000 and an anticipated 24,286 connections, would pay about 40 per cent of the total cost.

Avon Township will contribute about 26 per cent while Pontiac and Independence townships each will pay about 10 per cent.

West Bloomfield's share will be 6.1 per cent, Orion Township, 4.7 per cent and Orchard Lake 1.4 per cent.

A $5 savings bond intended for the contest winner will go to the runner-up, the commission said.

Trash Strike Over in Suburbs

DETROIT (AP)—An incinerator operators' strike which halted trash disposal in suburban Detroit communities was settled yesterday.

The agreement was reached in the chambers of Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem and ratified by the 12 striking members of Council 29 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

The incinerator operators returned to their jobs at the Southeastern Oakland County Incinerator Authority yesterday afternoon.

Striking members of the Department of Public Works in Clawson and Hazel Park also returned to work yesterday.

The DPW workers, members of the same union, had been ordered to return to work in a temporary injunction issued by Oakland Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

1,000 Workers for Ford

Kentuckians Due in Wixom

WIXOM—Some 1,000 men from the heart of Appalachia, most of them jobless, are coming to work at the Ford Motor Co. plant.

The state of Kentucky is helping them to do it.

In a reversal of the traditional system of bringing the plant to the work force, Kentucky's Office of Economic Security, in cooperation with the Ford Motor Co., is helping the workers go to the job.

For the past several weeks, two men from Ford's labor relations department have been conducting interviews in Michigan, Kentucky, and West Virginia. They were looking for 1,700 workers ready to move to the Wixom plant area.

They found more than half the quota in Kentucky's mountainous poverty belt.

FINAL CHOICE

After first being screened by state employment personnel, the men met Darwin Hepler, a 30-year-old Michigan State University graduate who represented Ford. He made the final determination of acceptance or rejection.

Of the 1,728 men referred to Hepler and his associates, during stops at seven Kentucky communities, 965 were given tentative work commitments, pending physical examinations and aptitude tests. They are to begin work here July 19.

In virtually all of the state operated employment centers, large lines greeted Ford representatives when they opened the doors.

All those who were hired are not expected to be at Wixom, however.

STATE OPINION

How does the state feel about using these citizens to Michigan?

"If they want to work, they know they have to go where the job is," said Adam Walker, manager of the Corbin state district employment office.

He emphasized that many at-

Pontiac Press Women's Editor

There are about as many children competing in the Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt as there are adults. Except for the very young ones, the boys are self sufficient. But the girls need more attention from their mothers — before, during and after the events in which they compete.

These maternal chaperones spend hours at the club during the show and countless more hours during the rest of the year.

GOOD SPORTS

They applaud when daughters win; they sympathize, but talk about good sportsmanship when daughters lose.

Sometimes, like Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, they see a daughter go on and on in her chosen sport to reach the top. Crystine Jones, a member of the U.S. Equestrian Team, won two events at a recent international show in Germany.

But she is the exception and most of the girls do not go that far.

Fall Vows Planned

The engagement of their daughter, Carole Ann, to Richard Shoemaker, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Statwick of Eugene Drive, Oxford Township. His parents are the Richard Shoemakers of Hillberg Street, Oxford Township.

A September wedding is planned.

Mrs. Newton Elected

Mrs. John Newton was recently elected president of the Mothersingers Club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John Kock of North Saginaw Street. Several out-of-town guests were present.

Mrs. Howard Maedel of Bloomfield Village was the mother of a competing girl rider for eight years.

She has worked out a ten commandments for these mothers, a list that tells what they go through better than any description of a day.

Agreeing wholeheartedly with Mrs. Maedel's list is Mrs. Fred V. Davis whose 12-year-old daughter, Blyth, has been riding since she was four.

Blyth is competing in 12 classes this year, rides three horses.

COMMANDMENTS FOR MOTHERS

Thou shalt arise no later than 6:30 a.m.

Thou shalt always be in the first class in the morning.

Thou shalt check on her clothing for the fifth time.

Hunt cap, rat catcher (shirt) breeches, boots, choker, stack pin, coat, cuff links, hair net.

Thou shalt try to have her "eat something."

This will be in vain.

Thou shalt have her check her clothing for the sixth time.

Have duplicates of everything, if possible.

She's mounted, ready to enter the ring and you find the hunt cap has been left in the car. You can always borrow a cap and if it is too small and gives her a headache, there's aspirin in the hospitality tent.

Thou shalt grit thy teeth and smile sweetly.

The woman next to you makes some remark about your daughter's posture.

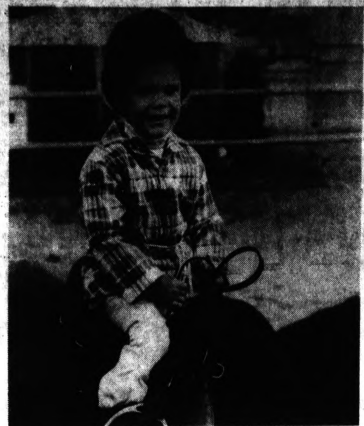

Thou shalt not panic when your daughter's horse wants to quit at the third fence.

She'll get him over; he knows who's boss.

Thou shalt not look smug when she gets a "call out" (being chosen by the judges as a finalist.)

Thou shalt not weep when she wins the class and leaves the field with blue ribbon and silver trophy.

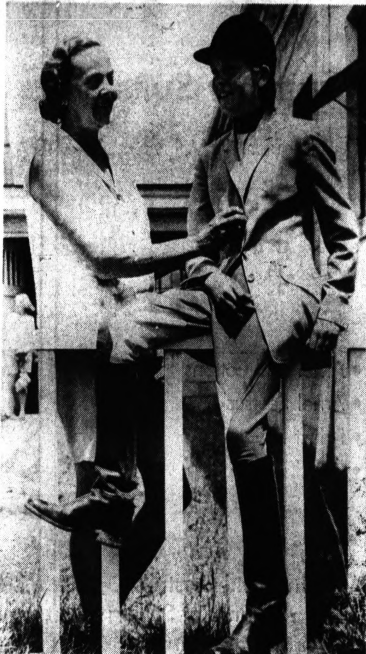

Thou shalt not weep when she loses the blue ribbon by one fault and comes off the field smiling.

Dana Wolf, daughter of the A. A. Wolfs of Birmingham, is only two and has been riding just one month. But she won a ribbon in Lead-line Equitation class earlier this week at the Detroit Horse Show.

With beautiful horses all around them at the Detroit Horse Show, many of the youngsters prefer to play with this amiable pony, Dolly. She belongs to Nancy Albert of Pleasant Ridge (center). Karen and David Sheppard of Franklin are caring for her during the summer. Dolly is groomed to perfection with her tail in a curled braid.

Mrs. Fred V. Davis of Lake Crest Drive makes sure that daughter Blyth is correctly dressed before she enters competition at the Bloomfield Open Hunt during the Detroit Horse Show. When Blyth is competing, her mother spends most of her time at the club, too.

YWCA's Day Camp Names College Senior as Director

Jaquelyn Morris, Western Michigan University senior, has been appointed director for the Pontiac YWCA's annual Day Camp program.

Currently living in Clarkston, Miss Morris is a Pontiac Northern High School graduate and veteran camper and counselor in the Camp Fire Girls camp program.

Under chairmanship of Mrs. Donald McMillen, Day Camp opens July 5 and continues through Aug. 12. Girls from eight through 12 years will attend three days a week, while girls aged five through seven will camp two days a week.

Mrs. Reba Netzer, YWCA executive director, has announced that area teen-agers are invited to apply as junior counselors and aids for both age groups.

Youngsters may attend any two-week session or all six weeks.

Both age groups will have field trips each week.

The older girls will have weekly swimming lessons in the YMCA pool.

Highlight of the Y's day camp is a trip by chartered bus and boat to Bob-Lo Island.

Folders will full details about the program are available by contacting the YWCA. Registration opens Monday.

It's Correct to Answer an Invitation

By ELIZABETH L. POST

This is the prize-winning letter chosen this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post, has been sent to Mrs. Ruth Burns of Mahopac, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Post: My pet peeve concerns the bores who do not "r.s.v.p." or wait until the last minute. Frequently, I'm left hanging, wondering if they're coming, and am tempted to phone saying, "Are you or are you not?"

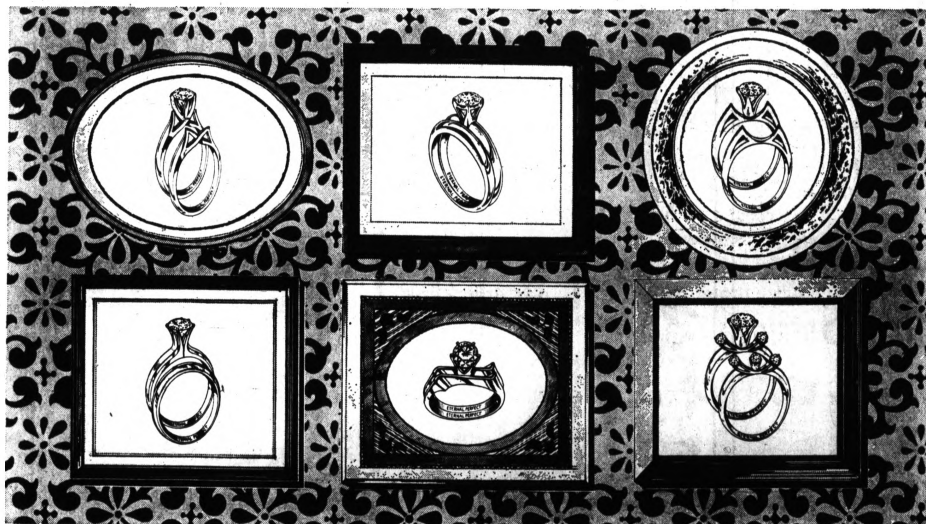

Almost as irritating are the ones who say, "I'm not sure yet, I'll let you know," and again wait for the last minute to respond.

Dear Mrs. Burns: Failure to answer an invitation which has r.s.v.p. on it is inexcusable. When the invitee honestly will not know whether or not he can go until the last minute it is far better to refuse and allow the hostess to invite someone in his place.

If the occasion is a cocktail party or dance where one or two guests more or less would make no difference, you might call and explain his situation and hope that the hostess insist that he come if he can at the last moment.

But if she sounds hesitant or says she's so sorry, that's it. He must hope for a rain check. The fact that so many people are lax about answering invitations has given rise to one of the most despicable facts of social behavior today: answer cards. People can tell me how busy they are, how little time they have, how poor their handwriting is, or that they don't know the correct forms, but it isn't going to change my mind.

If the hostess is thoughtful enough, or cares enough, to send someone an invitation, that someone can find the three minutes (at most) that it takes to answer by hand.

Don't Count on Wedding Ring if He Has to Hide You Now

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and have been going with this guy for over a year. He is 22. We have to keep it to ourselves because of his parents. They are very narrow minded.

They disapprove of me because I made a few mistakes in the past. Once when I was 14 and again when I was 16, but I gave both babies away. Anyway, this guy says he will marry me in time, but right now he can't be seen in public with me. I hate all this hiding and sneaking around.

I know my reputation isn't so hot, but I am not a criminal. I don't go with anybody but this one guy, and I want to get married. What is your advice?

TIRED OF HIDING
DEAR TIRED: A guy who can't be seen in public with the girl he intends to marry is a long way from being man enough to marry her. If it's a wedding ring you want, don't count on him.

Change your address, and the farther from the scene of your "mistakes," the better.

DEAR ABBY: You were much too lenient toward that tombstone man who stated that each gravestone must bear the dates of birth and death on it. In a word, he was a chiseler.

You made a monumental boo boo, Abby, but don't get stoned or potted over it. Your words of wisdom and wacky wit are a source of joy. You are the flower of the earth — you blooming idiot.

YOUR L'VILLE PUN PAL

DEAR PAL:
Call not a blooming idiot one Who cultivates the lowly pun:

Each thought begins with our Creator,
I'll plant you now and dig you later.

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago I read an article in the paper about kooky weddings. It told about how people got married on horseback, water skis, and even while free-falling out of an airplane with a parachute.

I would like to know how you feel about such weddings, Abby. Can these people be serious?

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: I can understand (barely) how ardent horse-lovers can be serious about wanting to be married on horseback, but that is where I would say whoa! Jumping into the sea of matrimony on water skis leaves me cold. And the same goes for taking the plunge in a parachute.

Kooky weddings and publicity go together like ham and eggs. I personally prefer rice and old shoes.

DEAR ABBY: When some poor, ignorant, unimaginative clod points to the work of a serious modern artist and asks, "What is THAT supposed to be?" how does the artist reply?

CONFOUNDED
DEAR CONFOUNDED: The artist tells the clod what he had in mind when he put the brush to the canvas. If he can remember, that is.

Problems? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Running Water

Once the washing suds have been rinsed out of fabric gloves, they can be re-shaped under running warm water.

Let this flow through each glove to inflate the fingers and hand cavities. The water pressure smoothes the fabric and straightens the fingers so the gloves need no finger-pressing after being drip-dried.

Valenti in return. This week the movie town got its first look at the new man.

Valenti is the former presidential assistant who was plucked from the White House to fill the long-vacant post of president of the Motion Picture Association, at a reported $125,000 yearly. He arrived at his news conference accompanied by the association's new general counsel, Louis Nizer, author of "My Life in Court."

Tanned and athletic-looking, Valenti seemed as if he could have played the coach in one of those Richard Arlen-Jack Oakie football movies. Valenti gave the impression of a take-charge guy from the start. He quoted himself, citing the speech he was to give to an industry luncheon in which he outlined his plans for developing new talent, revising the censorship code, etc. His speech gives less hint of his Texas upbringing than does that of his former boss, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Unusually, Valenti was asked about his oft-quoted remark that he slept better because Lyndon Johnson was in the White House. Bristling somewhat, Valenti stood by his comment and added, "My wife and daughter sleep better, too."

FREQUENT VISITS

His predecessors, Will Hays and Eric Johnston, seldom set foot in Hollywood, but Valenti vowed he would be a frequent visitor. "I intend to spend time in the creative end of the business," he said.

Many of the questions concerned the rising tide of sedition on the screen, and Valenti

Businessmen Corps Urged

Griffin Wants Better Aid Program in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., today urged creation of an executive service corps of American businessmen as part of a four-point program to win the economic — social "war" in Viet Nam.

In his maiden Senate speech, the newly appointed senator said a five-day visit to South Viet Nam in May convinced him that the "weakest link" in the U.S. effort is its economic aid program.

"As a result of serious mismanagement and ineffective controls," he said in a prepared speech, "U.S. import subsidies have brought boom to the black markets of Saigon; they have made the rich richer and the poor poorer, and they have indirectly routed American supplies into the hands of the Communist Viet Cong."

Griffin, named to the seat vacated by the death of Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., said U.S. executives should be encouraged to take one to three-year leaves from their businesses to serve in the aid program in Viet Nam.

Griffin also recommended: Stationing a team of auditors and investigators in Saigon to supervise administration of aid programs; development of greater incentives to attract better qualified government personnel to serve in Viet Nam, and new programs to reach and assist the rural Viet Nam areas which contain 80 per cent of the people.

indicated he wasn't afraid of "Virginia Woolf" or anything else.

Concerning film content, he remarked: "Everybody doesn't want to read the Bobsey Twins; there are others who might like to read Kafka's 'Trial.'"

In another room of the Beverly Hills Hotel, the powers of the film industry gathered to hear the new leader. Nizer outlined Valenti's career, including the fact that he was "at 15 the youngest boy ever to graduate from a Houston High School."

Valenti cited Sen. Murphy's advent to Washington and his own to Hollywood, forming it "an east-west cultural exchange." After a few other lukewarm gags, he launched into his panacea for the ailing film industry; but not before he acknowledged to a member of the audience.

"Mr. Bobe Hope, you have nothing to worry about."
