Revises Protocol Rules

JFK Visits Eisenhower

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (U) — President Kennedy made his own journey of protocol today and scheduled a short tour of his weekend desert retreat to call on former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Kennedy, who wound up the formal part of his California visit Friday with a firm expression of confidence in the future of freedom and a personal look at an Atlas rocket firing, planned to see his predecessor on what was labeled a courtesy call.

Kennedy was understood to feel he should call on Eisenhower, rather than vice versa, since he is a transatlantic in these parts and Eisenhower has made it his winter residence.

Mopup in Algiers Suburb Backed by French Force

ALGIERS (UPI) — French troops and tanks mopped up today in the revolt-torn Algiers suburb of Bab El Qued as reinforced French land and sea forces stood by to crush any attempt by European extremists to seize power.

President Charles de Gaulle's new strongman high commissioner for Algeria, Christian Fouchet, and his top aides flew in secretly this morning, armed with full powers to crush the Secret Army Organization (OAS).

Troop reinforcements were rushed to Algiers from the neighboring countryside. The Bab El Qued quarter of Algiers, where fighting between French troops and OAS commandos raged all day yesterday, was sealed off while troops backed by tanks carried out a house-to-house search.

Long lines of French tanks were reported standing in the streets of Bab El Qued—OAS stronghold of working class Europeans demanding that Algeria remain French—as the house-to-house operation was pressed.

While troops held the OAS stronghold in a grip of steel, units of the French Mediterranean fleet cruised off the Algerian coast while other warships, including the flagship missile cruiser Colbert and the carrier Lafayette, waited in readiness in the eastern part of Bone.

New French High Commissioner Fouchet quickly installed himself at government headquarters at Rocher Noir, east of Algiers, and

'Ridiculous, Impractical'

Assail Con-Con Recess Idea

Hannah Wants Speedup First for Three Weeks

Says Too Many Feuds Over Political Matters Developing Now

LANSING (AP) — Constitutional convention delegates checked in a random sample have scoffed at a proposal to adopt an accelerated work schedule for the next three weeks and then go into a recess until after the November elections.

"Ridiculous and impractical" was the reaction of several delegates to the suggestion made yesterday by John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, who declared:

"If this suggestion has merit, I hope it will prevail. If it is impractical, it should be rejected."

Hannah, who is president of Michigan State University, said he recognized that there were several disadvantages to the idea, such as the giving up of convention hall and the problem of restaffing the convention for the November session.

He indicated to newsmen he felt that too much political wrangling had developed on the floor during discussions of proposed new ideas for the constitution.

The convention could adopt an expanded work schedule, Hannah said, which would begin at 9 a.m. and end at 9:30 p.m., with breaks for lunch and dinner.

This would add up to 2½ hour sessions in the morning, afternoon and evening.

Delegates have been meeting for just two sessions a day, but another proposal being considered calls for three daily sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays and two sessions on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Hannah said the accelerated work schedule might enable the delegates to complete first reading consideration on all matters and possible second reading of the total constitution.

FINAL IN NOVEMBER
The third and final reading there would be in the month-long session beginning in November.

George Romney, R-Blomfield Hills, who hopes to get the Republican nomination for governor, said he would not take a position on the proposal and would abstain from voting if it came up on the floor.

Partly cloudy skies with a low of 33 is the weather picture for tonight.

Winds today were light and variable. Thirty-four was the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 47.

Open for Public Inspection Tomorrow

Credit Union Home Ready

Pontiac area residents tomorrow will get a preview of one of the city's newest and most unusually designed buildings—the $400,000 GMTC Employees Federal Credit Union headquarters.

Located across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at 509 S. Woodward Ave., the modernistic structure will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow for tours by the public and members.

The building, designed and built entirely by firms in the Pontiac area, will serve some 11,000 members when it opens officially April 2.

Architectural highlights of the building include a unique, circular wing with a roof constructed of concrete.

Inside there are light beige and white paneled meeting rooms, kitchen, coffee shop and a large round room with unusual lighting effects which contains a lobby and tellers' windows.

The credit union, founded in 1936, will move from its present location at 156 W. Huron St. to its new quarters March 31. The organization has owned its building on West Huron street for eight years. It will be sold.

Harry J. Woodman, treasurer, general manager, said the interior of the building will be fully decorated and furnished when visitors see it at tomorrow's open house.

Peacemaker Huddles With Military

Still Lack Accord in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, (UPI) — Military sources said today that a number of top army men have been arrested or relieved of their jobs, presumably in connection with the tense political situation in Argentina.

Conflict in Land Use Near Wisner Stadium

Clean Lines Form Pontiac Dream City

(Editor's Note — This is the third in a three-part series on the Pontiac General Development Plan, adopted by the City Commission in December. The plan will guide all the future development of the city. Public understanding of it is essential to its proper use and criticism, if any.)

By DICK SAUNDERS
Neatness is the key word in the dream city prescribed in the new Pontiac General Development plan.

We have seen already how neighborhoods are to be planned in "uncluttered" units, how parks are to be laid out in "systems," and how commercial activities are to be condensed into centers.

Industry, the city's greatest resource, will also be condensed to a large degree. There are currently more than 90 manufacturing plants in Pontiac.

The big change in industrial land use as outlined in the "dream" of city planners, is locating industries which complement each other in one general area and condensing heavy industry into specific areas.

Right now, the major heavy industry centers are—Pontiac Motor Division, Fisher Body Plant and GMC Truck & Coach Division, but there are also small heavy industry areas scattered throughout the city.

In the "perfect Pontiac," there would be no scattered heavy industry. All heavy industry would be very near or adjacent to the three GM sites. Areas of light industry, of necessity, be scattered.

Almost all light industry areas would lie along or near railroad tracks.

EXPANSION TO NORTH

The plan recommends expansion of heavy industry north of Pontiac Motor Division in an area bounded by the north end of the plant, Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, Walton Boulevard and Joslyn Avenue.

Most of that land is vacant, a small part is now zoned residential. The site would not include Jaycee Park.

To the southeast of Pontiac Motor, the land bounded by (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Red China Hits U. S. for Grave Threat in Asia

Warns It Can't Remain Indifferent to Increased Viet Nam Aid

TOKYO (AP) — Red China charged today that stepped-up American military aid to South Viet Nam was a grave threat to peace in Southeast Asia and warned "no peace-loving country can remain indifferent."

Peiping's latest attack accused the United States of turning South Viet Nam into a living hell by "slaughtering patriots fighting for independence and freedom."

"The U.S. Air Force has taken a direct part in the war against the people of that region, and the United States has increased preparations for aggression in South Viet Nam and other regions of Southeast Asia," the broadcast declared.

U.S. Army helicopters with American crews have shuttled South Vietnamese troops into battle zones and U.S. pilots have accompanied South Vietnamese planes on strafing and bombing missions.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Sixteen Communist Chinese MIG jets flew over Quemoy Island yesterday and Nationalist Chinese anti-aircraft artillery fired at the planes, hitting one of them, a Defense Ministry communique said today.

missions. U.S. officials insist, however, the American troops are noncombatants.

Communist China "will struggle to the end to check U.S. armed aggression in South Viet Nam," declared the New China News Agency in a broadcast devoted to an editorial in the People's Daily Observer of Peiping.

It was the second time in a month that Red China sharply assailed U.S. efforts to bolster the South Viet Nam government's fight against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Peiping declared on Feb. 24 that U.S. aid to President Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western regime seriously affected the security of Red China and Communist North Viet Nam.

2 Die, Girl Hurt Critically in Smashup

Two Utica area men are dead and a Madison Heights girl was fighting for her life today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as the result of a fiery two-car collision last night in Avon Township.

Killed in the head-on crash shortly before 8:30 p.m. were Ralph J. Giordano Jr., 22, of 4280 Ryan Road, Utica, and Pfc. Joseph E. Krasinski, 23, a soldier from Pittsburgh, Pa., stationed at the Nike Missile Site.

Cynthia Biedrinski, 18, of 520 Harvard St., Madison Heights, a passenger in the car driven by Krasinski, was the only survivor. It was never her condition was described as "very critical" today by hospital authorities. She suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said Giordano was driving his fiberglass-bodied sports car at a high rate of speed on John R. Road when it went out of control north of South Boulevard.

Giordano's sports car, collided head-on with Krasinski's auto, burst into flames and exploded.

News Flash

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Kennedy today allocated $10 million to help alleviate damage caused by recent floods in New Jersey.

Wreckage from the fiberglass body was strewn about 150 feet along both sides of the road, police said.

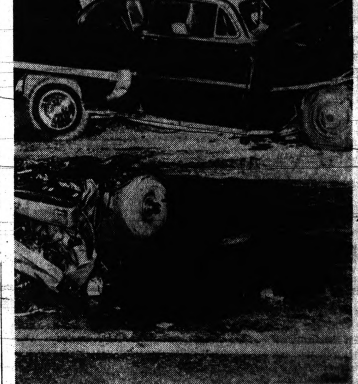

The impact hurled both men from the cars and forced the engine of Krasinski's auto back into the front seat.

The Troy Fire Department was called out to extinguish flaming sections of the sports car and to wash burning gasoline from the roadway.

The car in which Miss Biedrinski was a passenger was not set afire. She was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Both men were dead on arrival at the same hospital.

County to Consider Analysts

To Eye 'Money Savers'

The possibility of hiring one or more research analysts in an effort to save money in Oakland County government was taken under advisement yesterday by the ways and means committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The committee reached its decision on further study after a hearing before Judge Arthur E. Moore, who recommended including $20,000 in the 1963 county budget to research social services.

An earlier request by the judge for $12,000 to hire a "director of research and program evaluation" within the probation department was dropped out of the tentative budget by the salaries committee.

Yesterday Moore contended that research on a broader scale would show much duplication of effort among the various social service departments.

He said he believed there is much duplication in separate investigations constantly being conducted by social workers, aid to dependent children (ADC), friends of the court, health and probation departments.

"Another example of what a research analyst might do," said Moore, "would be to probe ADC records to find out if any of the children being supported by the county are illegitimate; to find out if we might be supporting moral degradation in the event any unmarried women are having children to qualify for more funds."

'County Booster' Needed in 1963

Supervisor Describes Coordinator Post for Economic Development

By 1963 Oakland County is going to need an economic development coordinator, the County Board of Supervisors ways and means committee was informed yesterday.

In making the statement, Addison Township Supervisor Frank Webber urged the committee to include approximately $35,000 in next year's budget to hire the coordinator.

Webber is chairman of the miscellaneous committee which has as one of its duties the study of manpower and economic needs of the county.

He said the coordinator's first job would be to organize an economic development corporation so that businessmen here could apply for federal funds under the Area Redevelopment Act for industrial expansion.

Under the act, a corporation could qualify for up to 50 percent federal backing in new business ventures in the county, said Webber. The act is intended to promote new business, creating additional jobs.

Other counties in the eastern states are way ahead of us in this respect, Webber said.

Once the coordinator would get the corporation rolling, Webber added, he could be sent to Washington to seek government contracts for companies already set up here.

Webber told the committee that as miscellaneous chairman he has been encouraging area businessmen to set up an economic development corporation. "But the job of coordinator should be full-time," he said.

"Those contacted were interested in the idea of forming a corporation, but none took the initiative," he said.

Webber's proposal received much initial support among ways and means committee members. Chairman David Levinson agreed "We should put some money aside for economic development."

"The sooner the better," Webber added.

The committee agreed to consider his proposal at length later on in the current 1963 tentative budget hearings.

When Webber asked the committee to authorize a $100,000 allocation for advertising sign resorts in the county next year and raise it to $150,000, members not only agreed unanimously but added the figure to $200,000.

Members quickly agreed that the booming tourist attraction is bringing a good deal of new money and taxes into the county and warrants even more advertising.

The Day in Birmingham

Near Eastern Missionary to Speak at Area Church

BIRMINGHAM — A missionary who has served in the Near East for the last 13 years will be the guest speaker April 1 at the Congregational Church.

Rev. C. Robert Avery, director of the Publications Department of the Near Eastern Mission of the United Church Board for World Ministries, will speak at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

His sermon will be "Jonah and Protestant Missions."

The publications department of the denomination's mission publishes religious and secular books in Turkish for adults and children.

Rev. Avery said that while there is a high degree of literacy in Turkey, it has only been in the last decade that millions of Turkish people have learned to read.

One of the mission's pioneer projects, he said, is the publication of simple books for those who have just learned to read.

A pancake breakfast will be sponsored April 1 by mothers of children at Holy Name School to raise funds to further the circuit television program at the school.

The breakfast, to be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., will be served at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Southfield and 13-Mile roads.

Marvin B. Cline has been re-elected to his fifth consecutive term as president of Beverly Hills Village. Hugh G. Allerton Jr. was named president pro tem.

Charles E. Lewis of 272 Hawthorne St. has resigned from the Birmingham Board of Zoning Appeals.

Lewis said his plans for the coming year would prevent him from attending the board's meetings regularly.

The Birmingham Exchange Club has received permission from the city to hold its annual tooth brush street sale April 28.

Proceeds from the sale are used for the club's social work.

Up on the south wall of the high ceiling room, a clock-cut to scale runs six minutes to their hour. It takes 30 minutes to go from Detroit to Birmingham, the little clock hands spin around "to scale," thus telling their engineers how many miles per hour the train is traveling.

In order to reach one end of the line to the other, it was necessary to build a series of three sub-passages, which is one of the most intricate and perfectly constructed parts of the line.

Every train and there are many — can be run from four big control boards on a balcony at one end of the room. When members are not busy building new bridges, laying ties or repairing wires, they have fun from the balcony.

There are several individual control boards beside each community board that can be manipulated from the main floor. These boards flip up and over the tracks for easy repair work.

According to secretary Charles Bobb, the 17-year-old club welcomed new members "from 12 to 118," but it takes plenty of patience and a love of railroading to be in their dedicated membership.

Clean Lines Form Pontiac Dream City

Montclair, Joslyn, Glenwood and East Kennett Road may be used for heavy industry in future years. It is now largely commercial and residential.

Heavy industry expansion is also indicated from Fisher Body Plant south to Montclair between Pontiac Motor on the east and Baldwin railroad and Opdyke Road.

"The only other area not used for heavy industry now, but earmarked for it in the future, is east of the GMTC plant between the railroad and Opdyke Road.

"These are the only heavy industry areas in the 'perfect Pontiac.' As for light industry the plan sets aside two major areas for development."

FOR LIGHT INDUSTRY

One is a large area directly north of GMTC, bounded on the South by South Boulevard, west by East Blvd., north by railroad tracks and Murphy Park east by Opdyke Road. This land is tabbed for a vast, well-planned warehousing function in the future. The area is now vacant.

Another is the area from the proposed loop road northwesterly to Johnson Street and bounded on the South by Cass Avenue. Much of this is now vacant.

Planners also see the area from Orchard Road, between Bagley and the railroad tracks, for light industrial use, as well as the east side of the Woodward street area where there are no current commercial establishments.

Many property owners now next to light industry areas such as junk yards may have their land transformed into parks or residential subdivisions.

Efforts will be made to separate industrial from residential areas. Planners will insist on adequate buffer zones between industry and adjacent commercial or residential areas.

FACILITIES TO EXPAND

Public service facilities will expand. The future Pontiac will have at least eight branch fire stations. It now has four.

Residents should see branch fire stations located at Walnut, on East Boulevard north of South Boulevard and South Boulevard at Bagley.

Future generations may well go to the neighborhood shopping center, browse a library or Pontiac should have five additional modern branch libraries and planners recommend they be built in shopping centers.

A large segment of the Clinton River in downtown Pontiac may be enclosed in a vast tunnel. Other portions may be widened and beautified. Both moves will improve Pontiac's storm sewer system.

Future residents may live on the city dump. When these lowlands are filled, development will follow. All garbage and refuse may be dumped in a huge public incinerator.

Water supply, sewage treatment facilities and traffic movement of this dream city are already current news items.

The water distribution system will be revamped, a pumping and storage plant built and Detroit water in the kitchen tap by the end of 1965.

Now $3.2-million sewage treatment plant is to be opened this summer. The loop road around downtown Pontiac will begin next fall. Bolder, a library, a shopping center, a five-mile street will be city-way feeders to a vast "freeway" system.

Planners say it will all take time. The whole dream, they expect, may never come to pass. But they add, part of it already is a reality.

Senate Session Aims at Poll Tax

1st Saturday '62 Callup to Shoot at Opposition to Antilynch Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate met in its first Saturday session of the year today in a continuing effort to wear down Southern foes of an anti-lynch amendment to the Constitution.

When the session started at 9 a.m., only five of the 100 senators were in the hands of Federal marshals, a distance of about 4 1/2 miles. The, which cuts Giddings into two nearly equal parts, forms the southern boundary of the proposed airport and, hence, would eliminate all of Giddings north of the freeway.

Plans for the airport, approved by the Board of Supervisors, are now in the hands of Federal Aviation Agency officials, pending approval. If okayed, the airport probably would be built in about ten years.

Highway department spokesmen say they can't afford to junk plans for the Giddings overpass for several reasons.

First of all, they consider the airport idea too "iffy." They aren't convinced it ever will be built.

Secondly, "an overpass" would mean "no safety" at the intersection, spokesmen say. Completed one.

Actually, highway department officials claim they have only two alternatives: Build an overpass or close Giddings.

To close Giddings would mean to close an agreement made with the County Road Commission, they say.

A contract for the construction of the Giddings overpass, was let more than a year ago, before airport plans were revealed. Planning for the bridge goes back at least two years.

Novi Recount Fails to Help Candidate

The votes were counted again last night in the Village of Novi, and defeated council candidate Herbert Koester, 56, of 4280 W. Eight Mile Road, won a lost seat.

County Clerk Mrs. Clarence Stipp said the 21-vote margin, by which Koester had lost, was found correct by the Village Election Board and the Village Election Commission.

Completion of the recount now permits the seating of victorious candidates Ray Harrison, Donald Young and J. Philip Anderson.

Board of Study Recreation Tab

Waterford Twp. Unit Has Request to Match Schools' Contribution

Appropriation of $18,219.13 to match what the Waterford Township Recreation Department for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be considered by the Waterford Township Board Monday night.

Recreation Department Director Robert Lawver had submitted requests for $30,000 to no action was taken. Authorization by the school board of the same amount as last year, instead of the additional $2,000, followed decrease of a proposed millage increase.

The school board met Thursday night to canvass the results of Tuesday's election and then acted on the recreation budget. The proposed five-mill increase over the next seven years was voted down by almost a 5-1 margin.

Customarily the township and school board contributions are made on a 50-50 basis and the total accounts for the bulk of the recreation department's yearly budget of approximately $48,000.

Another item slated for the attention of the township board is the review of a proposed disorderly persons ordinance that would eliminate the need to obtain warrants from the County Prosecutor's Office. Cases of this type could then be handled entirely through the justice courts in the township.

Also up for consideration will be a requested move from Pontiac to Waterford Township of an SDD liquor license and the establishment of a hearing date on the Edgfield sewer special assessment roll.

LOUIS D. CORBAT

Former Mayor of Oxford Dies

Memorial Service Set Sunday Evening for Louis D. Corbat

Memorial service for former Oxford Mayor Louis D. Corbat, 68, of 53 Vinewood St., will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at First Congregational Church. Mr. Corbat died yesterday at Veterans Hospital, Dearborn, after an illness of several weeks.

Surviving are his wife, Lillian; a daughter, Mrs. Ray Cleveland East Lansing; two sons, Kenneth L. of Williamsburg, Va., and Richard L. of Northport, L.I., N.Y.; 10 grandchildren; two sisters and four brothers.

A retired schoolteacher, Mr. Corbat had taught in Pontiac Central High School and in schools in the South. For many years he was active in H-Y, Boy Scouts, American Red Cross, the Lions Club and American Legion.

He also was an active member of the Michigan National Educational associations.

ATHLETIC BACKGROUND

During his senior year at the high school at Richmond and at Western Michigan University he had served as captain of both the varsity football and baseball teams. At one time he played semiprofessional baseball.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan, Carolyn Carr Chapter of Pontiac.

Robber 'Manicured' by Beauty Shop Gal

WASHINGTON (AP)—James W. Higgins, flashing a shiny toy pistol, bullied into Vincent and Vincent's beauty salon with intent to rob and pilage, police said. He barely got away with his life.

"Then he started screaming for the police," said Mrs. Witty, 47. "I was so mad I just kept hitting him."

Police rescued Higgins, had him patched up at a hospital and charged him with robbery.

Secret Marriage Licenses Will Be Harder to Obtain

Underage couples who want to get married because the girl is pregnant will find it tough to get Probate Judge Arthur Moore to go along with their plans.

Armed with a ruling in his favor from State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, Judge Moore said he will start to use a little more "force" in turning down requests for underage marriages involving pregnancy.

Kelley ruled yesterday that state law does not require probate judges to issue secret marriage licenses on request. It's up to the judge to decide, Kelley said.

The ruling, requested by Moore several weeks ago, backs up current procedure in Oakland County Probate Court.

ADOPTION BETTER

Moore said he has turned down requests for secret marriage licenses in cases where he felt the couple was not mature enough to make a good home for the expected child.

"We feel it would be better for the child to be adopted," Moore said.

Complaining parents led the judge to request a ruling from the attorney general. They insisted, Moore said, that a probate judge was required by law to issue secret licenses as long as the parents consented.

Legal age limits are 16 for girls and 18 for boys. Couples under these ages who are expecting a child can be married only with a secret license.

If the license is not granted, the baby is put up for adoption.

Reflections AN INHERITANCE

"Rich man suicide!" "Million dollar inheritance down the drain!" were headlines: the first man's inheritance was cowardice while that of the second was a sanguine trust of women, horses and schemes.

The opening lines of Walden's novel will read, "To each of my sons I bequeath the right to earn a fortune."

Marshall's inheritance was a fortune. His father was a banker. His mother was a socialite. His father's inheritance was imagination.

Through the efforts of Dr. Frederick R. Seal, Director of Agricultural Research Service, 8 million pounds of soybean meal were used to make plywood glue in 1960. Furious fires are controlled with a foam made of soybean protein. Millions of pounds of barley malt go into Malted Milk. Zein made from corn gluten is a coating on pills; low quality corn starch, a useless product, is converted to an oil-well drilling mud that lubricates the bit and carry cuttings to the surface. Our inheritance from this one person is beyond imagination.

The court assists the mother in adoption proceedings.

Moore said it is "very risky" for a child to be brought up in a home in which one or both parents are underage. He prefers, in most cases, that the child be placed in a "solid" home.

In Michigan, Moore pointed out, 20 couples are on the waiting lists for each child available for adoption.

Kettering High Picks 2 Entrants for Speech Battle

In the first of several local elimination contests, two Waterford Kettering High School students earned the right to go on to district competition in the annual public speaking contest sponsored by the Knights of Pythias.

Douglas Strimling, an 11th grader, and 10th grader Loreta Avery took top honors among five Kettering students at the Castle Hall of Fellowship Lodge 277, 982 Voorhees Road, Waterford Township.

They will compete April 11 with local contest winners from Waterford Township High School and Oxford High School who will be determined later in contests at the two schools.

The public speaking contests are held nationally by the Knights of Pythias who have sponsored the event for 17 years.

6 Killed in Smashup of 2 California Cars

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Six persons, including four children, were killed Friday night in a station wagon-on-truck crash 20 miles southwest of here, police reported. The other seven occupants of the two vehicles all were in serious condition, officers said.

Names were not immediately available, but all names were reportedly from the San Joaquin Valley.

'Why Do We Permit Reds to Sell Their Propaganda?'
The Cardinal Mindset Foundation says: "The current Communist campaign to capture our youth is tolerated in the name of 'academic freedom.' There is no doctor's freedom to sell a false cancer cure. There is no merchant's freedom to sell narcotics. There is no architect's freedom to build a building which is unsafe or a fire trap. We do not permit freedom of speech for a man falsely to yell 'fire' in a crowded theater. There is no more reason to allow Communist speakers, fronts and propaganda to sell the poison of communism to youthful minds than there would be to invite Poly Adler to lecture in college halls and to organize campus vice chapters."

It Seems to Me . . .
Russia's Proposed Automobile Quietly Slips Into Oblivion

Cancel the order. Don't wait for your Zaporozhet. The Zaporozhet is the breath-taking automobile which the Russians promised. It was to be a high-class vehicle with a 24-horsepower motor and room for four (moderate-sized) Russians inside. This global masterpiece was calculated to do a neat 40 miles to a gallon of gasoline.

Originally, it was scheduled for "mass production in October of 1960." Well, there were a few trifling conflicts and delays and the day came and went. In fact, October of 1961 did likewise. And still no Zaporozhets. And there's none now. But ole NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV has a very simple explanation. He decided the plain Soviet folks can't afford an automobile.

The money, materials and manpower went into missiles, machinery, missiles and missiles. Further, he says that after he watched the gigantic traffic on U.S. streets, he doubts whether the Russians want a lot of cars, anyway. He thinks now the Kremlin should build a few and operate them for the benefit of the peasants as the government officials see fit. The old mutt's strictly in character.

And, Mr. ESTES, you won't have to hold your breath any longer. This awesome competition from Moscow is fading into the limbo of forgotten things. You can proceed, Sir, with your usual confidence and aplomb. And the boys along the assembly line can buy some new golf clubs or plan a trip to visit Mother in Utah without the thought of losing jobs through the threat of this super-duper Communist contraption. Another dud for the duped!

Good Spring Ahead . . .
Weather experts agree the past winter was the worst since 1910. This assertion will arouse a modicum of dissent. Indignities were frequent.

However, this greatest of all public prints hereby declares unequivocally that spring will be simply delightful. We'll have enough rain to clear away the ravages of Old Man Winter and the mess he heaped upon us. The streets and highways of an entire nation are in a shameful state of repair because of the rigors of winter. Eliminating these will take time and cost money. Pontiac has always been especially quick to restore highway order and we have equal confidence in H. Morris Thatcher and the Oakland County Road Commission.

We need those showers for the bloomin' flowers, anyway. And the weather will largely be pleasant, invigorating and delightful. Prepare. Sit back and purr.

Lankford Exposed . . .
Earlier in the year, Representative RICHARD E. LANKFORD, a sanctimonious Maryland pinhead, wrote his hitherto faithful constituents substantially as follows: "I am now on a committee commonly referred to as the Watch-dog of the House. I will take a direct part in maintaining maximum economy and efficiency in the Federal Government." There was more incidental drivel

Christ's spiritual strength in the wilderness is related to Lent with its victory over temptation: In the wilderness, though hungry, He said, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God." On the awesome cliffs where He tempted with worldly power and glory if He would worship evil, He said, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve." With victory, "Jesus returned in the power of the spirit into Galilee."

Days of All Faiths:
Annunciation Is Real New Year

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER
Up until about 200 years ago, the greeting for March 25 was "Happy New Year." The feast of the Annunciation, not January 1, was the beginning of the year. This makes very good sense. January, a month deep in winter, doesn't really begin anything. But the spring equinox, March 22, is the start of a whole new cycle of life in the world we see around us.

And on the religious level, March 25 is the greatest of all beginnings: the day when the world's Savior was conceived, and the final era of history began. For it was on this day that the Archangel Gabriel appeared to the Jewish maiden Mary and announced to her that she was chosen to be the mother of the Son of God. Read the story in St. Luke's Gospel, chapter one verses 26 to 38, and observe that Mary had a choice in the matter. Nothing happened until she said "Be it unto me according to thy word." This is important. It shows a profound fact about the relationship between God and man; that God never forces Himself upon us. God is love, and love never "harges in." Here God needed the consent of Mary before He could perform the greatest act in history.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:
I Wouldn't Be Worried About Cholesterol Diet

What is your opinion of the selection of foods for their low cholesterol content? (J.F.H.)
Ans.—I wouldn't bother myself about cholesterol content in any circumstance. Oil of cinnamon does remove warts. I tried it on three and they came off clean as a whistle—after a while. One must be careful to apply a drop right on the wart. If it gets on the surrounding skin, it blisters and looks ugly. Time and patience are necessary to do the job. Now my question is: If oil of cinnamon burns the skin so quickly, what can cinnamon buns, cinnamon toast, etc., do to the delicate lining of the stomach? (H.S.)
Ans.—The oil would irritate or burn the stomach if you took it undiluted.

My son, aged three months, has been eating banana since he was two months old. He is never constipated. (M.D.H.)

Liquor Restrictions Bother Bar Owner
'Multilingual Guides Needed for Caves'

Property owners and tax-conscious citizens who have supported the commission's restricted attitude toward the liquor business, should consider that last year the business employed 1.3 million workers with earnings of $4.9 billion. It's a business second to the automobile industry in state tax revenue and at federal, state and local levels. It paid more than $4 billion in taxes and license fees alone.

As a tavern owner I paid $1,383.15 in property taxes. I operate as a "half" business in competition with clubs, hotels and ultra-bowling lanes which can offer entertainment that is denied bars by city ordinances and secondarily to compete with Class "C" bars that can offer a customer something besides beer. I don't pay "half" taxes, as some "half" liabilities or operate on "half" expenses, and as a disabled veteran, I didn't give "half" effort to my country. B. I.

Changing Elephants Was Ridiculous

A parade in honor of Jackie Kennedy was delayed considerably while they took three elephants which were scheduled to march first and put them at the tag end. 'Centralized Control Is Hazardous Move'

In a front page editorial, The Chicago Tribune points up the dangerous drift to complete centralization of our country and the hazard it entails to the success of our efforts to defeat the Communist attack upon us. "This course," the editorial concludes, "can only end in collapse and coercion. We can see ahead a summit meeting at which an American with the title of President and a Soviet dictator meet and agree that now there is nothing left to fight about. . . . Their countries are the same." Birmingham Reader

Washington Notebook:
Ice Cream's Cool Gift for Royalty

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When Chief of Naval Operations Admiral George W. Anderson was stationed in the Mediterranean, he became a friend of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco. One morning, he suddenly realized that it was their wedding anniversary. He wracked his brain as to what he could give a couple "that has everything."

Finally he hit on a solution. He knew that the Prince and Princess had two children, that all children liked ice cream and that ice cream was difficult to get in the area.

So he had some ice cream packaged up from the galaxy of the Springfield, his flagship, at the time, and sent an aide to deliver it to the royal family. The aide had some difficulty explaining to the guards just what the ice cream was but did deliver the gift. The report was that the children and their royal parents were delighted.

Congressman Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., says his brother-in-law Marshall likes to tell the story about the time his father visited Palm Springs, Calif., and found himself in a foursome playing golf with former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy. After the game they visited a warm springs bath, where, with sheets wrapped around them like old Romans, they dipped themselves in the water and talked.

"What did you talk about, dad?" asked Marshall. "What do fathers always talk about?" came the reply. "We talked about our sons, of course."

Congressman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., at an American Legion breakfast explained, "I hesitated this morning at wearing my 49-year American Legion button because I didn't want people to know I was that old."

been able to master—which is very similar to my relationship with my wife." A Washington correspondent for the New York Journal of Commerce recently wrote an article using his initials J. F. K. instead of his by-line. The article was in praise of the U.S. consul in Leonidovsk, who rescued Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., from an attack by thugs at a Katanga reception.

The State Department asked the author for 50 cents a word, permission to reprint the article. They also inquired if the initials stood for John F. Kennedy. When told they did not, the State Department man seemed surprised.

The article was finally reprinted with the initials J. F. K. at the end. However the following inscription was added: "The author of this article is John Francis Koder."

Plan to Aid Mental Patients

LANSING (AP) — A plan to transfer some 500 senile mental patients to the deactivated Camp Lucas Army Hospital at Sault Ste. Marie was disclosed today by Sen. Elmer R. Porter, R-Blacksburg.

Porter, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, proposed it as an answer to the bed shortage in state mental institutions.

Many of the 3,000 to 4,000 elderly, senile patients in mental hospitals could just as well be cared for in a convalescent institution, he said. Transfer to a special-care unit would leave open facilities for patients requiring more intensive care, he said.

The senator said he is working on the plan with a Sault Ste. Marie citizens group headed by Dr. Kenneth J. Shoultz, administrator of Chippewa County Memorial Hospital, and Stanley R. Pratt, general manager of the Soo Evening News.

U.S. to Try Chemicals Again

Viet Nam Project Flops

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. experiment in using chemicals to strip the leaves from jungle trees in South Viet Nam providing cover for Communist guerrillas has flopped so far, it was learned today.

The defoliation experiment has not been abandoned yet. Another try is expected when the rainy season starts, about early May. But officials are not hopeful. Comments from informed authorities range from outright dismissal of the experiment as a farce to a concession that it had turned out "not so good so far."

Heavy jungles covering much of South Viet Nam have shielded Communist guerrillas from aerial observation and permitted them to move about freely.

DROPPED BY PLANES
Sponsors of the defoliation experiment, the Defense Department's Advanced Research Project Agency, had hoped it would provide a way to deny cover to the guerrillas by killing the jungle foliage over wide areas.

For the past several months, U.S. planes have been dropping various chemicals on trees along a 15-mile segment of a highway running out of Saigon. Officials had hoped to keep the work secret but word got out in Viet Nam.

The Russians hopped on the report, and charged the defoliation that the United States had been helping the South Vietnamese to use poison chemicals to destroy big forest areas, rice and other crops.

U.S. authorities said the experiment has been conducted over a very limited area with special effects.

Eyes Fast Aid for the Jobless

Expect JFK to Urge Immediate Enactment of Public Works Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is expected to urge Congress Monday to launch immediately a multimillion-dollar public works program for areas plagued by unemployment.

Reliable sources said the plan could cost the federal government up to $400 million to $500 million. But the program's cost might be double that, the states would have to match most if not all the federal grants.

The President was reported to have approved the plan only Thursday. Labor union leaders appealed for such a program in talks with Kennedy at the White House March 12.

NOT RECESSION FEAR

Officials stressed that the proposal for an immediate public works program did not mean they fear a new recession was shaping up. Rather, they said, it would be an effort to provide work for some of the unemployed, officially counted at 4,543,000 in mid-February.

Under the proposal, public works projects would be limited to ones that could be started quickly and completed in a year—the object being to provide jobs as soon as possible.

The hard core of jobless has disturbed officials because it has persisted despite upswings in the economy.

Chris-Craft Unionists Agree to Delay Walkout

CADILLAC (AP)—Union carpenters, painters and machinists have agreed to day-to-day continuance of their old contract at the Chris-Craft Corp. plant at Cadillac while negotiating for a new one.

The extension decision was announced yesterday by a union spokesman who had reported earlier that workers had voted "all most unanimously" to walk out last midnight with expiration of their old contract.

SAFETY MAKES CENTS

Some people are afraid of high places . . .
Some are frightened of explosions . . .
Some are even fearful of ghosts . . .

. . . BUT—most of the same people would take chances with a car that would make a tight-rope walker turn pale.

ACCIDENTS COST MONEY!!

- They increase hospital costs!
- They increase insurance premiums!
- They cost staggering amounts in lost wages, lost time and convenience—not to mention suffering, loss of companionship and family life.

SO . . . never get tired of the word SAFETY!!!

Bad Taste to Brag of Promotion

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband has just been made vice president of his firm and of course I am very proud of this. I have been telling the good news to my friends and acquaintances as I see them.

A: My husband objects to this and considers it in very bad taste because he feels it is bragging. I think it is only natural to want to tell this to our friends and that he is being overly modest. I would appreciate your views on this matter.

A: You would naturally and properly tell a few of your intimate friends of your husband's promotion, but to broadcast it to every one you see would not be in good taste, and the news itself of very questionable interest to most of them.

Q: When seated at a table in a crowded restaurant with someone who is a stranger, is it considered rude to read in the presence of this other person? I know it is not good manners to read at a table when others are present, but does the fact that the other person is a stranger, alter the rule?

A: If the table is small and your large newspaper may possibly disturb your table companion, you should not read it. There is, however, no reason why you may not read a book.

The Emily Post Institute of readers' booklets on a variety of subjects. For example, a copy of the booklet entitled "The Bride's Troussseau," send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Hyvarinen-Proctor Vows Heard Friday Evening

Candlelight vows of Margaret Ann Proctor to Jacob A. Hyvarinen were spoken beneath an arch of lemon leaves and gladioli Friday evening in the First Assembly of God Church. The Rev. Arnold Haskman officiated.

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Proctor of Lake Angeles and the Charles Hyvarinens of Brimley are parents of the bride.

Advises Talk With Husband

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been married twice and am still in love with my first husband. We had two children. He loves me and wants us back. We were divorced over a silly argument. We both got stubborn and, before we realized it, the divorce went through.

I married my second husband in a hurry to show my first husband I could still get a man. I am not in love with my second husband. He is younger than I. I guess we were both lonely.

ABBY: I would give anything in the world to be back with my first husband, raising our children together. Is there any way out of this mess?

DEAR SORRY: A woman who pulls wedding rings off, and replaces them nonchalantly, doesn't deserve to be rescued from a mess of her own making. Talk it over with your second husband.

Students and Teachers to Exhibit Work at Bloomfield Art Associations Show

Tammis Perkins of Hilltop Drive is engaged in one of her favorite pastimes—sculpturing. The seventh grader from Millford Junior High School is among those who have entered their works in the Bloomfield Art Association's exhibition. Another specialty of Tammis is painting people. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perkins, she has already decided to take up commercial designing in the future.

Discusses Waywards

Frances Willard Unit of the Women's Christian Temperance Union heard George Corwin, Oakland County Youth Assistance Bureau, discuss "The Pattern and Causes of Juvenile Delinquency" at Wednesday's meeting.

Mrs. Sophia Sulz spoke on "Conversion From The Heat," and Rev. Lola Marion gave the opening devotion on "We Owe Our Debtor."

Mrs. Bonnie Hyde closed the session with prayer. Next month's meeting will be at the Richard Avenue home of Mrs. Sulz.

couple who received guests in the church parlors. Pearl-frosted Aleon lace accented the bride's gown of white peau de seau styled with bustle back and cathedral train. A pearl tiara secured her silk illusion veil and she held yellow-throated white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Conrad Proctor, Ann Arbor, her sister-in-law's matron of honor, and bridesmaids Beatrice Hyvarinen of Osceola and Carol Smith, appeared in identical light green silk organza and carried yellow roses. Sherry Proctor, Ann Arbor, was flower girl.

BROTHER BEST MAN
Rudolph Hyvarinen of Brimley was his brother's best man. Seating guests were Dr. Conrad Proctor, Herbert Woodman, Chris Hansen of Royal Oak and William Luke of Clawson.

The new Mrs. Hyvarinen, a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., teaches at Daniel Whitfield School. Her husband, an alumnus of Michigan State University, teaches at Hazel Park Junior High School.

After a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, they will be at home in Pontiac. Green cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. Proctor's beige peau de seau dress worn with beige satin shoes. The mother of the bridegroom chose green taffeta and wore long gloves and a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids.

Students and teachers alike will exhibit their work in the Bloomfield Art Association's annual "Masters and Apprentices" show opening Sunday.

Highlighting the afternoon will be a reception for students, their families and friends from 2 to 6 p.m.

Among localities displaying their achievements in the show remain oil paintings, water colors, drawings, sculpture, etching and metal work produced by the more than 20 students now enrolled in classes will be Mrs. A. E. Kohn of Garland Avenue, Linda Sutton of Emerson Avenue and Tammis Perkins of Hilltop Drive.

The exhibit will be at the Birmingham Arts Center, at 156 S. Cranbrook Road, where the classes meet. Three recent works by each of the art association's nine award-winning instructors will be in display in a separate gallery area.

Both Linda Sutton's charcoal sketch of her instructor Betty Conn and a sculptured horse's head in clay have been set aside by her teacher for the "Masters and Apprentices" show sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association. Here Linda sketches more of her favorites—people, animals and landscapes—during school hours at Bloomfield Hills Junior High where she is a ninth grader. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max C. Sutton of Emerson Avenue has hopes of being an art teacher.

The "masters," who devote time to creativity as well as teaching, are Betty Conn, Albert Muller, Barbara Brock, Carolyn Hall, Dorothy Teddl, Svea Kline, Mildred E. Williams, Mary Jane Bigler and Kathleen Birch.

Each of the "apprentices," who range in age from 6 to 66, will be assisted by his instructor in selecting one best work from his 1961-62 class sessions for the exhibition which continues through April 22.

The public may view the works from 2 to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday.

Enrollments in art, sculpture and other classes hit a record high during the current season, according to the association.

The educational achievement was facilitated by the move last spring from smaller headquarters to the former Birmingham sewage treatment plant, which the association converted into an arts center.

"Spring Romance," though a favorite of Mrs. A. E. Kohn of Garland Avenue, is a painting which hangs among her others at home. A former art teacher, Mrs. Kohn, for whom art is no longer just a hobby but "a part of her life," has entered "Mexican Madonna" in the Bloomfield Art Association's annual "Masters and Apprentices" show opening Sunday. Mrs. Kohn specializes in flowers and landscapes.

Students Receive Awards

Hard Work Honored at U. of M.

BY SHARON WARREN
Campus Correspondent

The hard work which some students have exhibited at the University of Michigan is receiving recognition. The news centers around achievements and awards.

Thirty-nine Michigan college students, including 20 from the University of Michigan, are among 1,638 who will receive Woodrow Wilson Fellowships, one of the nation's top honors, given by that foundation annually to seniors who plan graduate study as a step to college teaching.

The University of Michigan places first nationally among state-supported universities in the number of candidates chosen since the plan began in 1945.

Honorable mention was given to William F. Cartwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cartwright of Birmingham. His major field was chemistry, and he was enrolled in the college of literature, science and the arts.

John E. Howell of Jackson Street is the new information officer. John is a senior in the college of literature, science and the arts.

Some 255 top freshmen at the University of Michigan have won William J. Branstetter prizes for scholarships. Winners are freshmen who rank in the top 7 per cent of their school or college with a minimum of 15 hours of degree credit.

They will select one of 19 deluxe bound volumes, gold stamped with the University of Michigan seal, and will receive their books in a convocation May 11 at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater.

The book list was prepared by the committee on university scholarships.

Winners from the Pontiac area were a nursing student, Donna L. Helmkamp of Ogemaw Road, and Brian D. Wideman in the college of literature, science and the arts, of Avondale Street. Ruth E. J. Miley, a literature, science and the arts student from Bloomfield Hills, was among the recognized.

Birmingham was well-represented with the following list of winners. From the college of literature, science and the arts were Edward H. Boothman, Michael J. Emery, Sally E. Reyden and Roger L. Schreiner.

Two students in the school of nursing were Margaret L. Chamberlain and Ruth A. Payton. David M. Sanborn, an engineering student, concludes the list.

Twenty-seven University of Michigan law students and recent alumni were named to the Order of the Coif, a national honor society. Students selected represent the top 10 per cent of all who have been graduated since last June or will win degrees this June.

Among 89 Kalamazoo Students

Coed Will Study Abroad

Judy Canterella, daughter of Mrs. Charles Kelley of Vinewood Avenue, is among 89 students at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, with the opportunity to spend six months at a university center overseas. They will embark Sept. 5. These students will initiate the foreign study phase of the college's four-quarter plan for year-round education. Under the summer study-abroad plan begun in 1958, some 170 students (including 72 this summer) have received scholarships to attend universities in Caen, France; Bonn, Germany; and Madrid, Spain.

Next fall, Kalamazoo College students will study in England; Quito, Ecuador; Aix, France; Muenster, Germany; Beirut, Lebanon; and Sierra Leone, West Africa, in addition to the Bonn and Caen locations.

Miss Canterella was named to study at the university center in Aix.

Outstanding students named to the high scholarship list at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo totaled 78 during the fall semester, according to Registrar Clayton J. Maus.

Among those listed are Karen Rogerson, daughter of the Clarence Rogersons of West Ann Arbor Street. The all-A student is a junior in the elementary education curriculum.

Richard Whitmer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer of North Genesee Avenue, also was on the all-A list. Now in his junior year in the general curriculum, Richard is majoring in political science.

Elementary education freshman Carolyn Mavis, daughter of the Elmer H. C. Mavis, Orchard Lake, also is on the high scholarship list.

Judy Hinkley, a freshman majoring in music, has been pledged into the Michigan State University Chapter of Alpha Phi Sorority. Her parents are the Don Hinkleys of Illinois Avenue.

Founded at Syracuse University in 1872, Alpha Phi is one of the oldest of the women's college social groups.

The Michigan State chapter was established in 1922, and the present chapter house, built several years later, is now known as "the house with the winding stairs."

At Annual Dinner

To Address League

Second vice president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan, Mrs. Robert Forch of Dearborn, will address the Pontiac League at its annual dinner at the Elks' Temple 6:15 p.m. Wednesday.

"Former" president of the LWV of Dearborn, Mrs. Forch has served on the state board since January 1961. That May she was elected second vice president and has since directed the state League's Action program on constitutional revision.

This work involved writing two books covering general aspects of revision and the constitutional aspects of taxation. The first volume was used by con-con candidates as well as league members. Mrs. Forch gave the league's testimony to the finance and taxation committee at con-con in January.

Other items on the evening's agenda are elections, adoption of the 1962-63 budget and selection of a study item on the local level.

Anyone interested may contact Mrs. G. A. Flessland or Lillian Davidson before Tuesday.

Nuptials Performed in Detroit

A dinner-reception for 1,000 guests in the St. Lawrence National Hall, Detroit, followed the vows of Lenuta Frase of Detroit to Eli Poponen, son of the Tom Poponen of Mt. Clemens Street. Father Gheerrie Moraru performed the ceremony in St. Trinity Romanian Orthodox Cathedral, Detroit.

Daughter of the Thomas Frases of Sebis, Romania, the bride was seen in marriage by her uncle, John Mihail, Detroit. Mrs. Frase was bride for the wedding.

With her gown of white Italian lace, styled with cathedral train, the bride wore finger-tip silk illusion veiling. She carried white orchids, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. John Nan, Southfield, appeared in mint green chiffon. Sandra Scrobert, Nancy Kerezy and Mary Jo Koren, Waterford, Janet Bondy and Gloria Motoc, Detroit and Diana Marc, Dearborn, wore apricot chiffon. They carried tea roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom, formerly of Bolta, Romania, had John Nan for his best man at the March 10 ceremony. Ushers were George Stancu of Union Lake, Peter Mace of Dearborn, George Motoc, Thomas Poponen, Nick Preda and Dan George.

Sylvia Ioum was flower girl and her brother Nicky carried the rings.

Church News

FIRST CHRISTIAN—Pastor Jack H. C. Clark will dedicate the church of First Christian Church in services Sunday. He will also recognize memorial gifts to be used in the sanctuary. Architects for the project were Harry M. Denney Jr. Associates and the building contractor was Denzil Flowers, a member of First Christian. Guest speaker Sunday evening will be Rev. Russell E. Palmer of Central Christian Church in Flint.

Pastor Dedicates Chancel

The chancel of First Christian Church which has just been rededicated will be dedicated in two services Sunday. Pastor Jack H. C. Clark will preach on "The Glory of God's House" at the morning worship hour. "Jesu, Priceless Treasure" by J. S. Bach will be the anthem by the Chancel Choir under the direction of Robert Crumpton.

The evening service will begin at 7:30 with the prelude "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God." The pastor will lead the worship and recognize those who have previously dedicated items for use in the sanctuary.

Rev. Russell E. Palmer, pastor of Central Christian Church in Flint, will be the guest speaker.

A native of Oklahoma, he is a graduate of Phillips University. His bachelor of divinity degree was received from Butler University. He has studied two years at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Rev. Mr. Palmer was an accredited visitor at the First Assembly of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam in 1948, attended the Ecumenical Festival of Faith in Chicago in 1954, and the North American Ecumenical Youth Assembly at Ann Arbor in 1961.

The new articles to be received in the service also will be recognized. Among them will be a red oak contemporary styled communion table with a lighted plaque of The Lord's Supper. This will be presented by the Kingdom Builders' Class and Christian Men's Fellowship.

A new brass Communion Cross will be given in memory of W. F. Jackson by his daughter Maria Jackson.

The new Christian flag in the chancel will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Addis in memory of her father, James Lee. The new American flag given by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thompson is in memory of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Amburn, the Fayette Thompsons, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jenkins.

The memorial book which lists all of the memorials will be kept in the church foyer. It will be presented in memory of Mr. and

Dr. Brockway Giving Lecture

Ann Arbor Speaker to Illustrate Trip to Japan and Russia Sunday

Dr. L. O. Brockway of Ann Arbor will give an illustrated lecture on "Impressions of Japan and Russia" at 7 p.m. Sunday in the reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The lecture will be based on a six-week lecture tour in Japan and Russia during September and October. The trip in Japan included visits to universities and industries in Tokyo, Nagoya and Hiroshima.

In Russia Dr. Brockway was a guest of the Academy of Sciences under an exchange agreement with the National Academy of Sciences in Washington. He visited Moscow University where he gave lectures in chemistry and physics.

Dr. Brockway is a professor of chemistry at the University of Michigan and chairman of electron diffraction of the International Union of Crystallography.

He has represented the United States at international conferences held in Stockholm, Paris, Madrid, Montreal, Cambridge, Paris, Leningrad and Kyoto.

Dr. Brockway serves his church as high priest and is chairman of the committee to college people as well as associate pastor of the Ann Arbor congregation.

Congregations Plan Hat Parade, Banquet

The congregation of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, 429 Central Ave., will join The Friendship Baptist Church in the annual Hat Parade and Banquet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Friendship Church, 96 Williams St.

Everyone is supposed to make his or her own hat with the best looking hat receiving a prize.

Mrs. Joseph Blackshire is general chairman. Assisting are Mrs. Currie Kincaid, Mrs. T. J. Williams and Mrs. Brenda Dyer.

Mrs. Charles Douglas, Mrs. N. C. Wiley and Russell Colton by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Colton and Mrs. Russell Colton.

Other appointments in the chancel include a new lectern which matches in style the pulpit; and a rich red velvet double curtain which hangs behind the Communion table.

The floor covering is maroon carpeting with tile in nutfing.

The First Christian Church was built at West Huron and Osceola in 1837 with an Akron styled worship center that was lowered during the remodeling process.

The largest single addition is the new organ of red oak. It has a central sound chamber as well as an echo chamber. The chimneys are displayed on the wall.

Graduation Scheduled

A graduation program for those enrolled in the 5-week first aid class taught by Mrs. Gertrude Fleming will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium of New Bethel Baptist Church. The public is invited.

The Lenten weekly evening service sponsored by the Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship will be held Thursday evening. Rev. Amos Johnson of New Bethel Baptist Church is president of the fellowship.

St. Stephen's Offers Series

Rev. Malcolm Boyd of Wayne State University, Lenten Speaker

Rev. Malcolm Boyd, chaplain to Episcopal students at Wayne State University, will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Lenten series sponsored by St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Rev. Mr. Boyd will lecture on "Unity and Universal Mission" and lead discussion in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery, 1011 Greenstone Road, Birmingham. All interested persons are invited to attend.

St. Stephen's Lenten series, "Christian Unity and the Church's Mission to the World," is designed especially for Episcopalians, Methodists, Presbyterians and members of the United Church of Christ, the four denominations now entering into merger discussions.

Chaplain Boyd was a radio, television and theater actor, on the West Coast when he became interested in the ministry.

With the encouragement and support of friends like Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers he left his own TV program to enter the Church Divinity School of the Pacific at Berkeley, Calif.

After his ordination to the priesthood he served briefly in Indianapolis, Ind., going from there to fill the position of chaplain at the University of Colorado.

There he gained fame as the "espresso priest" because he sometimes met with his students at coffee houses near the campus and entered into their discussions around the espresso tables.

He took up his duties at Wayne last summer, with time out to join the Episcopal clergy "Freedom Riders" who rode up from the South last September in protest to racial discrimination.

Session Sets Training Time for Study Plans

The Session of the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church has given its program of evangelism and Christian education the go ahead.

Three evenings were set up for training elders and deacons in reclaiming inactive members. The group will study the various reasons for becoming inactive and plans made for calling on these members.

Visitors will call on the congregation throughout the year.

Elder Jack Koster is chairman of a committee set up to organize a Men's Club for fellowship and a course of study. Others on the committee are Elders Marvin Fausa and Clifford Brown.

Rev. Walter W. Tuomivirta Jr. will speak at the dinner meeting set for getting the club started at the church tonight.

The Christian education committee headed by Elder Francis Oak voted to provide the adult Sunday School with the Faith and Life Curriculum beginning in April.

Other committeemen include Leola Oak, Frances Hoisington, Robert Nelson, Margaret Miller and Mr. Brown. Margaret Miller is the representative from the Women's Association and Judith Dunham, represents the church secretary and senior high youth advisor.

Britain Builds Churches

LONDON (U.P.)—More than $3 million has been spent by the Methodist Church in constructing new churches and other buildings in Great Britain in the last eight years.

Adventists Building Academy

The congregation of the Riverside Seventh-Day Adventist School (left), H. A. O'Dell of 4863 Green Lake Road and Elder James Cunningham of Lansing, director of fund raising in the state and former pastor of the local congregation, are going over building plans of the new Seventh-Day Adventist School being erected at 5725 Pontiac Lake Road. Mrs. O'Dell is chairman of the building committee.

Stake Council Member Conducting Conference

Elder Sterling W. Sill, an assistant to the Council of Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) in Salt Lake City, Utah, is presiding over meetings today and tomorrow during a quarterly conference of the Detroit Stake.

Conducting the conference sessions is President George W. Romney of Bloomfield Hills.

Visitors as well as church members are invited to attend the general sessions Sunday. Meetings will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the local church, 425 N. Woodward Ave.

Elder Sill is an insurance executive in Western America. He is active in civic groups and has served as a member of the Board of Regents at the University of Utah. A former bishop and state high council member, he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by the University of Utah.

Special leadership and parent-and-youth meetings will be held tonight.

Institute on Judaism 'Through Poetry' to Be Reviewed by Mrs. Stimpert

The annual Institute on Judaism for Christian church youth will be held at Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake Road at 2 p.m. Sunday.

As in previous years, various members of the Temple Beth Jacob Youth Group will present talks on the theology and festivals of Judaism. Mrs. James Roen will be the representative from the Women's Association and Judith Dunham, represents the church secretary and senior high youth advisor.

Advisors to the Temple Beth Jacob Youth Group are Mrs. Ben Biegler and Mrs. Rudolph Hartman.

Representative Church Youth Groups from this area have been invited to attend. The entire meeting is open to the public.

Biased Clubs 'Unethical'

CHICAGO (U.P.)—No ethical grounds exist for excluding qualified citizens from social clubs or fraternal organizations because of race, religion or ethnic origin, says the board of directors of the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice.

Adventists Building Academy

The new school known as Pontiac Junior Academy will have four classrooms, two music rooms, a library, craft room or applied arts, and a room for home economics. The building also will house a gymnasium and principal's office.

The completed academy costing about $125,000 will contain 12,000 square feet. The architect is J. W. Williams of South Bend, Ind.

Here for a fund raising dinner to assist the church was Elder James O. Cunningham, former pastor of the local congregation.

He spoke on the text, "For Where Your Treasure Is, There Will Your Heart Be Also" as a basis for the pledge campaign.

Other speakers were Dr. Raymond Mayor, Richard C. Edens, Kenneth L. McCune, Howard A. Nodel, Walter J. Plunz, Forrest J. Glennie and Dr. Glenn Bylsma. Elder John P. Erhard is pastor.

United Missionary Ready for Campaign

The congregation of the First United Missionary Church, 149 N. East Blvd., will observe Commitment Day tomorrow in preparation for the "Lift High the Cross" coming campaign. Special honors will be given classes with a complete commitment.

Members will bring a sack lunch Sunday morning. The afternoon will be spent in a survey of the community with invitations to everyone to participate in the campaign.

The plans call for bringing men, women and children to Sunday School.

Mrs. D. V. Wells, visitation director, anticipates more than 80 will take part in the survey with approximately 1,600 invitations given, she said.

The nursery will be open for children while the parents are making calls. Rev. O. P. Eastman is pastor.

Speaks on 'Desertion'

Dr. Thomas Holt Jr. will preach on the fourth of the Seven Last Words of Christ at 11 a.m. Sunday in New Hope Baptist Church. His topic will be "Desertion."

Music will be by the Pastor's Chorus.

At 3:30 p.m. the Male Chorus of St. James Missionary Baptist Church will present a musical program.

Concert Band Coming to 1st Assembly of God

The Evangel College concert band will play at First Assembly of God, 210 N. Perry, on April 1 at 10:45 a.m.

The band repertoire includes "Hallelujah Chorus" by Anderson, "Light Cavalry" by Franz, "The Russian Choral and Overture" by Isaac, "Marche de Concert" by Bright, "The Holy City," "I Have Christ in My Heart," "The Unveiled Christ," and "Suite in E Flat" by Holst.

In addition, there will be a special visual presentation with band accompaniment, narration, and vocal, entitled "Let There Be Light."

The 25-piece band is currently on a spring tour of Illinois, Mich.

Band director is Jesse Peterson, head of the music department at Evangel College. Peterson holds a master's degree from the State University of Iowa and did his undergraduate work at Texas Wesleyan College.

Joe Nicholson, instructor in music at Evangel College, is associate conductor of the band. He holds a bachelor's degree from Texas Wesleyan College and a master's degree from North Texas State College.

Currently 53 of the 568 students at Evangel College are majoring in music. Evangel, a four-year liberal arts college of the Assembly of God, is located in Springfield, Mo., international headquarters of the denomination.

New Youth Building to Be Dedicated Soon

WHEATON, Ill. (CNS)—The new headquarters building of Youth for Christ International which has been occupied since early this year will be dedicated on April 9, according to President Ted W. Engstrom.

The new building provides three times as much space as the previous headquarters in Wheaton and was erected at a cost of $140,000. "This modest new building will allow us to continue to expand the worldwide evangelistic activities of Youth for Christ," Dr. Engstrom said. It will present YFCI operations in 45 nations with a program of high school clubs, youth rallies, literature and overseas "teen teams."

Youth Day at Marimont

Young People Usher, Offer Prayer, Speak at Sunday Services

Tomorrow is Youth Day at the Marimont Baptist Church with young people of the church in charge of morning worship. Sandy Stewart will offer prayer, Mark Vincent will lead responsive reading and Pat McBride will give the announcements.

Alan Somers will lead the singing.

The ushers will be Ronnie Rowe, Homer Hassenzahl, Bill Stewart, Bob Smith and Larry Clower.

Eleanor Hassenzahl will be at the organ and Ruth Hassenzahl at the piano. The mixed trio of Pat Largent, Alice Cooper and Alan Somers will sing two special numbers.

Philip Somers, Jr. will speak on, "The Eternal Promise of the Gospel."

Pat Johnson's class of fourth grade girls will have charge of the opening exercise in the junior dept. Betty Williams will read the Scripture and the following girls will present an object lesson: Deanna Ladd, Debbie Vaughn, Susan Dendler and Cheryl Danner.

The color film, "Teen-Age Witness," will be shown to the young people's department at 10 a.m.

Elwood Lundeen will be the song leader in the evening service and Barry Smades will sing a vocal solo. Robert Gavette will speak on "The Ministry of Ransom."

Bill Willson, wrestling coach at Pontiac Northern, will be the speaker in the senior high group at 6:30 p.m. Bob Hassenzahl will lead the Teen & Twenties group in a discussion on Revelation.

Nothing so obstinately stands in the way of all sorts of progress as pride of opinion; while nothing is so foolish and baseless.

— J. G. Holland

SINGS AT REVIVAL. — Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Crauch (left), ministers at Bethel Tabernacle, 1348 Baldwin Ave. listen as Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Yarbrough of Memphis, Tenn., play and sing hymns. The Yarbroughs who play the piano, organ, guitar, accordion, and trombone are conducting revival services at the local church. They received their education and theological training in Tennessee. The meetings will continue every evening through April 4.

PANTOMIME AT TRINITY. — "Make Way for Youth" is the title of the program being presented at 7 p.m. Sunday in Trinity Baptist Church. Shown in a pantomime of "The Lord's Prayer" are Nadine Maches of 233 W. Wilson Ave. (smiling), Kathryn Jackson of 263 S. Edith St. (left), and Sheila Rice of 17 Maple St. James Harper of the Church of God in Christ will be soloist. Other numbers will include readings, vocal and instrumental selections. Mrs. Sarah Gary of the youth department is the director. Dr. Joseph W. Moore is pastor.

Give—Because It Is Right 3 Faiths Make Appeals for the Hungry

"To those peoples in the huts and villages of half the world struggling to break the bonds of mass misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves for whatever period is required—not because the Communists may be doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right."

It is right," could President Kennedy, in his Inaugural Address, have reaffirmed the reaction of Americans to the needs of the hungry, homeless and destitute millions throughout the world.

The great voluntary overseas relief organizations of our religious faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—are currently engaged in their annual appeals for funds with which to carry on their ministries among those stricken by disasters, by malnutrition, by political displacement and impoverishment, by flood, famine, disease, poverty and ignorance.

Because it is right, millions of Americans will respond to these appeals on April 1—Protestants through "One Great Hour of Sharing," observance in Protestant churches and Catholics through "The Bishops' Relief Fund" appeal in Catholic churches.

Our national Jewish community will be emphasizing the United Jewish Appeal for funds to aid refugees and others in need abroad.

Through these efforts, the traditional compassion of Americans for the less fortunate than themselves will live in deeds throughout the year.

Through them, hundreds of millions of pounds of food, clothing and medicines, including U.S. Government-donated surplus commodities, will be distributed free to the hungry, homeless and destitute.

Orphanages, schools and hospitals, tuberculosis and other health projects will be supported, programs of resettlement and constructive development maintained, agricultural, vocational and other educational projects—giving knowledge and new skills—will be carried on, guiding hundreds of thousands to self-sufficiency.

All this "because it is right."

Keeping faith with those in need—each through his own faith—Americans will share generously and gladly.

Family Night at Home Planned by Members

The Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, will observe a unique "Family Night at Home" Wednesday. All members of families affiliated with the church are asked to make a date with each other.

Plans for worship at home formulated by Christian Koch, assistant in Christian education, include three related but distinctly different services, one for families with small children, another for families with older children, and a third for families including only adults.

This "Family Night at Home" is one in a series of Lenten programs sponsored by the committee on Christian education of the Orchard Lake Church.

The Senior High Fellowship will join with other young people of the Pontiac area in a special program at Temple Beth Jacob on Sunday afternoon.

Pastor Edward D. Auchard will teach the final Inquirers Class Sunday evening, and the final Communicants Class next Saturday.

"Peace Makers" will be the subject of the sermon tomorrow morning by Rev. Mr. Auchard.

The Chancel Choir directed by Mrs. Alice Smith will sing "Seek Ye the Lord" by Roberts at 9 a.m. The Crusader Choir directed by Mrs. Helen Weiss will sing "I Look for Jesus" by Dexter at 11 a.m.

First Nazarenes to Hear Potters

Laymen Participating in Old Fashioned Sing, Use Kerosene Lamps

Rev. Lyle K. Potter, a leader in the field of evangelism and Sunday School work, will speak at the First Church of the Nazarene, 60 State St., at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Potter, who travels with her husband as a talented musician and soloist.

The pastor of the church, Rev. J. E. Van Allen, reports some ways in which the laymen of the church will participate in the Sunday School Crusade. On Wednesday night the Sunday School superintendent, Donald Leach, and the pastor will each try to fill one side of the auditorium.

On Thursday night representative laymen will endeavor to fill a pew: Eight captains will organize the laymen for the task.

On Friday night, an old-fashioned pioneer service is planned. The only light for this service will be kerosene lamps and candlelight. Mr. Potter says, "This night we will turn the calendar back sixty-five years." Only old hymns will be sung.

On Sunday morning a special service is planned for the entire School by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Potter.

Pine Hill Meets to Call Minister for Pastorate

Members of the Pine Hill Congregational Church have decided of a special meeting at 11:45 a.m. Sunday at the Pine Lake Elementary School for the purpose of calling a minister for the church. The Rev. Dr. Alfred D. Grey retired on Dec. 31.

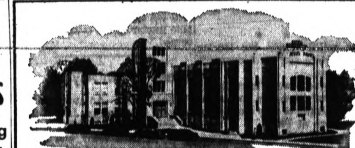

"A New Commandment" is the sermon topic when James Lyon appears as guest speaker tomorrow. Mr. Lyon is a graduate student at Wayne State University as well as a social worker for Wayne County.

Guest soloist will be Mrs. Ethel Riegelman of Birmingham, accompanying will be Mrs. Emerson Whitfield of South Hammond Lake Drive.

The Women's Association is sponsoring a rummage sale March 31 at the Pontiac Congregational church, with Mrs. James Hatton, 2083 Lakewood Lane, chairman.

Interfaith Understanding

NEW YORK—Fuller understanding between Judaism and Christianity can be a main support in assuring world peace, says Dr. Frederick W. Foerster, in a new book, "The Jews: A Christian View," published by Farrar, Straus & Cudahy. There have been several such recent books, by Christians analyzing Judaism and by Jews analyzing Christianity.

DAR Is Slapped by Jackie in Press Interview

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Old and lovely women and their organization, the Daughters of the American Revolution and young girls all figured today in Pakistani press reports about Jacqueline Kennedy.

Rawalpindi's Pakistan Times said Mrs. Kennedy had this exchange while chatting with Pakistani women journalists at a garden party Friday:

"Mrs. Kennedy, since you supported the UNICEF greeting card program 'condemned by the Daughters of the American Revolution are you doing anything else to forward the cause of the children and counteract reactionary influences?"

"A 'Well the best way to do it is to ignore such influences and in any case it is mostly confined to old and lovely women and their organization."

"UNICEF—The United Nations Children's Emergency Fund—raises cash every year by selling greeting cards. The DAR objected to Americans aiding this international project."

"The Pakistan Times also reported that Mrs. Kennedy, while talking to a group of pretty Pakistani girls at a party, said she had not seen an ugly girl since arriving in Pakistan Wednesday."

Eggs and Tomatoes Tossed at Philip

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Prince Philip was hit by two eggs and several tomatoes thrown as he visited the Argentine British Cultural Institute here today.

"The action caught the touring British prince and his bodyguards by surprise."

"Four persons were immediately arrested but there was no hint as to their identity or why they loosed the barrage at Philip."

"He continued his day's activities, visiting British-owned meat plants and other areas."

10 Negro Dems in Dixie Race

Names Put on Ballot for County Party Post in Ala.; 2 Unopposed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—County Democratic leaders have agreed to put the names of 10 Negroes on the May primary ballot for county party posts—2 of them without opposition.

"So to speak, we are as good as elected," Orrell Billingsley Jr., one of the Negroes, said of himself and Arthur Shores.

The other eight Negroes have opposition in their race, for post-poned on the Jefferson County (Birmingham) Democratic executive committee.

A federal court suit by the Negroes seeking to force the party's acceptance of them as candidates was dismissed on the basis of the agreement.

Earl J. Ellis, chairman of the Jefferson County Democratic committee, said the elections subcommittee has agreed to place the Negroes' names on the ballot for committee posts.

This announcement came today following the agreement and the dismissal of a federal court suit brought by the 10 Negroes.

U. S. District Judge H. Hobart Groves dismissed the suit late Friday after he was informed of the agreement.

An attorney representing the party leaders named in the suit said the agreement "ends the dispute insofar as the courts are concerned."

Seeks Cuban Asylum

MIAMI (UPI)—An American tentatively identified as John Wilkes of Amarillo, Tex., landed a light plane in Cuba today and sought asylum as a political refugee, Radio Havana reported.

LOW AND SLOW — The world's fastest jet aircraft, the McDonnell F4H Phantom II, can also fly in slow motion. It proves it by pacing an old Ryan PT22 trainer. Recently clocked at over 1,650 m.p.h., the Phantom II can creep as slowly as 125 m.p.h. Flaps and a system controlling the air flow over the wings make this possible. The slow flight capability is particularly valuable in making carrier landings. In photograph above, the Phantom II appears smaller than the trainer because it is farther from the camera plane.

Detroit Science Fair

2 Area Students Tops

Two area high school seniors were among the first place winners of the Metropolitan Detroit Science Fair announced yesterday.

Robert A. Liebler, 17, of 20105 Westhampton, Southfield, a student at Southfield High School, won first place in the mathematics classification of the senior division. His entry was named, "A Polynomial Theorem."

First place in biology went to James F. Phillips, 17, of 146 S. Fremont St., Romeo. A student at Romeo High School, Phillips won with "Beta-Bacterial Mutation."

An Oak Park-High School junior, Larry Hauptman, 16, of 2400 Harding, Oak Park, placed second in biology with "Electrophoresis Through Capillary Tubes."

SPECIAL AWARDS

Special awards in the senior division went to Pauline E. Myers, 18, of 83 Chippewa, Pontiac, a senior at St. Frederick High School, in chemistry; and Joseph J. Godbow, 15, of 33925 Oakland Road, Farmington, a sophomore at Our Lady of Sorrows High School, in biology.

Also receiving special awards were Christine R. LaLonde, 17, of 2144 Garland, Pontiac, a senior at St. Frederick, in biology; and Alan E. Watson, 17, of 1296 Beachland Blvd., Waterford Township, a senior at Waterford High School, in physics.

Area students took two of the three first places in the junior division where judging was confined to the field of general science.

Ninth grade winner was Greg W.

Baumann, 14, of 4294 Rouge Circle Drive, Birmingham, a student at Derby Junior High School. His entry was "The Effect of High Frequency Radio Waves on the Growth of Bacteria."

First place winner among seventh grade entrants was Jan E. Rowe, 12, of 3872 Woodside Park, Oak Park, a student at Lincoln Junior High School. Her entry was "Corrosion."

Connie M. Takis, 13, of 1392 E. Lincoln Road, Birmingham, won second place in eighth grade competition. A student at Derby Junior High School, she entered "The Durability of Floor Wax."

BIRMINGHAM WINNER

Special awards in the junior division were won by Kathy J. Swiger, 14, of 270 Chestnut St., Birmingham, a ninth grade student at Derby Junior High School; and Daniel B. Newman, 14, of 3721 Lincoln St., Birmingham, also a ninth grader at Derby School.

Also receiving special awards were seventh graders Patricia A. Russell, 12, of 2101 Beverly St., Oak Park, Clinton Junior High School; Christopher H. Mayhew, 12, of 1555 Northumberland St., Avon Township, Rochester Central Junior High School; and William H. Scharling, 13, of 1906 Little Pine Lane, Oakland Township, Rochester Central Junior High School. First, second and third place

Romney Slams Swainson for Con-Con Attack

DETROIT (UPI)—Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney charged today that Gov. John B. Swainson's "attack on me... makes it perfectly clear that party has injected partisanship into the constitutional convention."

Romney, in a statement issued by his campaign headquarters here, referred to Swainson's reaction to a proposal by con-con delegate John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, president of Michigan State University, that the convention be recessed until November to free it of the pressure of political campaigns.

Swainson said "Hannah's proposal indicates that he recognizes the political atmosphere that pervaded the convention since the announcement by a delegate of his intention to run as a Republican candidate for governor."

Romney said he had pledged that he would not inject partisanship into the con-con and that he had maintained that pledge.

Cuba Shake-Up Seems Started

Castro Transfers Many Government Officials, Ousts Very Few

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The government shake-up promised by Prime Minister Fidel Castro in a major address last week appeared today to be under way in Cuba.

Havana Radio announced a number of changes in position in high echelons. However, most of them represented transfers rather than dismissals.

Fausto Chomon, now Cuba's ambassador to the Soviet Union, was named minister of communications succeeding Paul Carbello who became chief of the Cuban Air Force.

Luis Busch Rodriguez, secretary to the president and to the council of ministers, was appointed head of the Supreme Court.

Celia Sanchez, once Castro's private secretary, will succeed Busch in the secretary's post.

Commerce Minister Manuel Lizardo became minister of interior commerce, a post formerly held by Maximino Berman who was assigned to other non-specified "government functions."

Chomon succeeded Sergio del Valle as air force chief.

Troy Toy Firm Wins Top Order for 'Turnpike'

A million-dollar order was received by AMT Corp. of Troy at the recent New York Toy Fair, a corporation spokesman said yesterday.

The one order was the largest ever placed on a single item at the fair. It was for the corporation's authentic model turnpike.

"The turnpike is a new concept in road racing," said Lois E. Ellis, sales manager. "It is an authentic one-twenty-fifth scale of a one-eighth-mile track and the only unit on the market in which the driver has complete steering control."

The turnpike will be available for delivery next fall.

To Meet the CAP at Clarkston School

CLARKSTON — A Civil Air Patrol-sponsored "get-acquainted night" for boys and girls 14 to 21 who are interested in aviation is scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. at Clarkston Junior High School.

Plans for establishment of a CAP squadron in the area are nearing completion and a squadron commander has already been designated.

First Lt. Robert K. Doyle, 8335 Perry Lake Road, will direct the unit when it is formed.

Lt. Col. Eugene J. Kempf, chief of staff of the Michigan Wing, CAP, will be at the meeting to show a film on the CAP program and to answer questions.

Your Neighbor's House

Scienzynskis Chose Tri-Level in Golf Manor

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Some day — we promise — some day we're going out to Golf Manor to do a home in the sun-merline. Two years ago when we did one of the first homes in the subdivision, the roads were so clogged with snow that we wondered if we would make it without a snow plow.

Just a few weeks ago we went again. The roads were clearer, but we couldn't see any of the nice landscaping at the home we were photographing. The next time we go, it's to be on a hot day.

The Stanley Scienzynskis moved into Golf Manor a year ago last November. They've now been in this area for 10 years. Before moving to their new tri-level on Red Arrow Drive they lived at Middle Struts Lake.

The home Bert Smokler built for them is on a pick-shaped lot, 152 feet across the front and 62 feet on the rear. The basic design was Smokler's, but the Scienzynskis had some changes made in the building.

The house itself is 4 feet longer than the original plan. Family room and bedrooms are 2 feet deeper. Front and back porches were added.

Ronald Scienzynski will be 4 in May. He is a rather solemn little boy who has a delightful manner when he warms up to you.

The whole family was home to greet us. Ronnie was watching television in the living room.

Here there is brown tweed carpeting and sandalwood walls.

Draperies are cream with a black and aqua design.

TRAFFIC LANE

There is a coat closet at the right of the front door. Two doors at the rear of the room lead into the kitchen and breakfast room and stairs at the left go both up and down.

Sofa and lounge are gold. A gold and black tweed chair has a blonde frame. Occasional tables are Italian Provincial walnut. In addition to the pole lamp next to the sofa, there are tall lamps on the tables.

The Tessera floor in the kitchen is pink, beige and aqua. Walls are creamy yellow in the kitchen end. In the breakfast room there is a birch dado with coral paper above. The chimney wall has ivy design paper on it. This wall holds the built-in oven.

Sliding glass doors open onto the back porch. This has redwood sides.

Birch cabinets have a pickled finish. Counter tops are gold and white. Appliances are white. The breakfast set is birch. Chair seats are red. A little desk, for Mrs. Scienzynski's planning, is built in next to the range. Ronnie likes the cuckoo clock over the built-in.

The living room carpeting is carrying up the "stripes" to the bedroom level. In the master bedroom there is tufted tweed carpeting in aqua, pink and beige. Walls are pink. The curtains are white.

Furniture is golden mahogany. The headboard is tufted leather in a rose beige shade. The bedspread is white candlewick.

Ronnie has a "private office" in his closet. There's a little desk tucked away behind the folding doors. The walls of his room are blue. Curtains have a design of children playing on them. His furniture is maple.

The third bedroom has peach walls, tweed carpeting and maple furniture. Curtains are semi-sheer shaded brown ones. The candlewick spread is peach.

In the bathroom beige and brown are dominant colors.

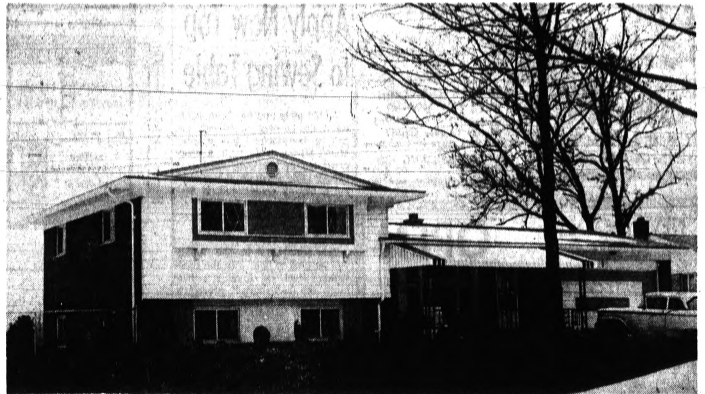

There's an oak parquet floor in the family room and den on the lower level. The den has green walls. It is a sewing room now, can be a study room when Ronnie needs it.

A birch dado runs around the walls, finished in the same pickling as the kitchen cupboards. Walls above and ceiling are pale beige. Curtains are a rosy shade.

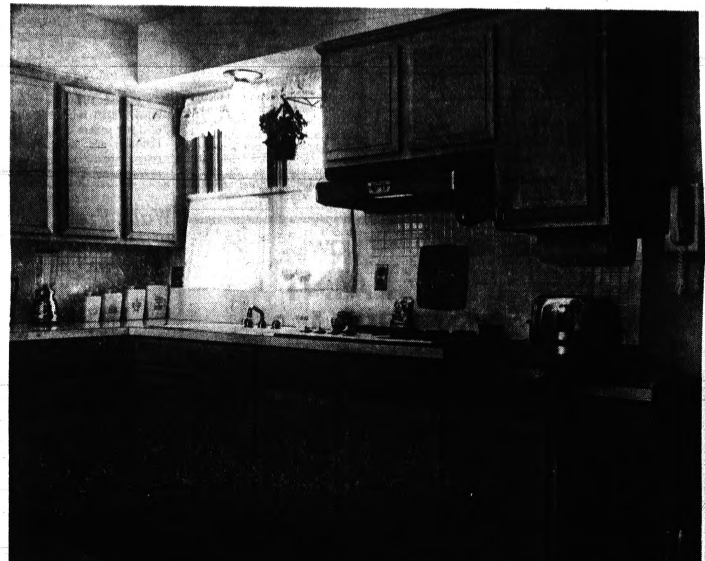

At one end of the room there is a small dinette set and a buffet. The other end of the room has living room furniture.

On the floor there is a random striped rug. Early American furniture is birch. Sofa and chairs have a colonial print upholstery. In the corner there is a home organ which Mrs. Scienzynski loves to play.

The exterior of the house is red brick with a white frame upper story. Trim and shutters are coral. There is an attached garage at one side. The front porch is covered with a white metal awning, supported by black wrought iron pillars.

IN GOLF MANOR—This tri-level home on Red Arrow Drive is owned by the Stanley Scienzynskis. Built by Bert Smokler, the house combines red brick, white frame and coral trim. A covered porch protects the front entrance. The Scienzynski's lot is pre-shaped with 152 feet on the front, 62 feet at the back.

MOSTLY WHITE—Tile, counter top appliances and walls in the kitchen are white. Birch cabinets have a pickled finish. Scienzynski's little planning desk. She can watch Ronnie at play in the back yard from those windows over the sink. The sheer curtains are white with pink roses. At the right is Mrs.

Bicycle Bumper

If you let your children use your carport for outdoor play during the winter months, you can get cheap protection from bicycle and tricycle bumps along the walls by installing a 1x2 board of tough Douglas fir along all walls.

No one is more lost, it often seems, than the young marrieds moving into a house for the first time.

It can be a hectic experience until they learn to overcome problems inherent in home management. The best advice is the Boy Scout motto: "Be Prepared." Here are some hints along these lines for persons, young or old, moving into a house for the first time:

— Get to know your drainage situation thoroughly, before the need arises. Heavier-than-usual rains may not come immediately, but they'll eventually come. A stopped-up drain can cause untold grief.

— Learn the best way to clean and care for your surfacing materials. If you have quality materials, such as ceramic tile, in your kitchen and bathroom, all that is needed is an occasional wipe with a damp cloth. You needn't wax real tile, but other materials often require special care.

— Check electrical circuits at the first opportunity. Know which outlets and appliances are on which circuit, and what size fuse is needed. Or, if you have circuit breakers, check their location before the need arises.

— Inspect the built-ins and appliances immediately and read the manuals provided by manufacturers. Do the same with plumbing — learn the location of shut-off valves.

While this is only a sampling of things to do in "getting started" at home keeping, they're some of the basic ones to help you off to a good start.

CORNERWISE—By setting the double bed cornerwise in this bedroom, Mrs. Scienzynski finds it easier to make. The headboard is rose beige tufted leather. The candlewick spread is pink. Carpeting is aqua, beige and rose tweed; walls are pink. Curtains are white.

MORE FORMAL—A more formal atmosphere is felt in the living room. Here the furniture is Italian Provincial walnut. The sofa is gold. There are butterflies on the shades of the jole lamp next to it. Draperies are cream with a black and aqua design. Walls are sandalwood.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwey

FAMILY GROUP—Father and son listen as Mom plays the organ. Ronnie was afraid of the lights. This is one end of the family room. The dado is birch with a pickled finish. Upper walls are light beige. Furniture is Early American birch. The rug on the oak parquet floor is random striped in rose, aqua and beige.

Redecorate Room by Paneling Walls

For that home remodeling job, consider hardwood flooring for paneling walls and ceilings. Smart interior decorators have suggested that you try nailing standard lengths of flooring to one wall of the living or dining room, as a starter. They point out also, that if you wish to be real daring, you can nail the light-toned Northern hardwood floorings to both walls and ceiling.

Northern hard maple and birch floorings are available, at local lumber yards. The dealers will also help you in selecting the studs and nailing strips you will use in completing the paneling project.

Use a penetrating sealer for finishing the wood and add wax if a high polish is desired.

Apply New Top to Sewing Table

An old table that has been shunted aside to only occasional use can be transformed into a functional sewing table with a snap-proof top at low cost. The converted table becomes the nucleus for a sewing center, and it need not be pressed into unnecessary service on the patio or in the recreation room during a party.

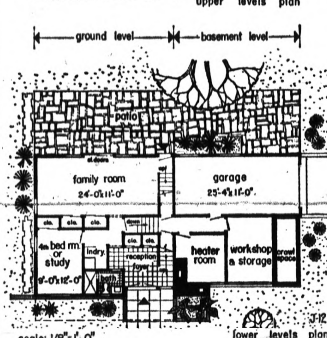

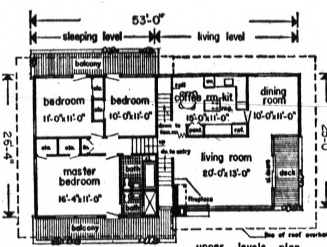

The handyman in the family will be glad to help with the renovation when he finds out how much the do-it-yourself project is saving him. Use a panel of plastic-surfaced Marlite, which ordinarily is used for walls and ceilings, to top the old table.

Attach the panel with wallboard or contact cement. Sand and stain the edges. The legs also can be cleaned and painted, if desired.

Applying a new top of plastic-surfaced Marlite — much easier than completely refinishing the table, and the surface is smoother and more practical for sewing work.

Plastic-surfaced Marlite, sold at lumber yards, comes in a variety of colors, woodgrains and interesting patterns. It is washable and never needs refinishing.

The usefulness and convenience of a sewing table will be increased if you mount it on casters so that it can be moved around the house. With a portable machine on top, the homemaker can make draperies, for instance, right at the window where they will be used. This simplifies fitting and speeds up the work.

FLOOR PLAN — Unusual adaptation of split level design creates 2,005 square feet of living area in basic ground cover of 1,289 square feet. This doesn't include 303 square feet in balconies and living room deck. Dimensions, including balconies, are 53' wide by 33'4" deep. Note extremely broad roof overhang.

Walls Free When Heat Is Hydronic

Many professional decorators prefer to work in a house that's heated with a hydronic (hot water) heating system.

Hydronic systems, because of their wall-hugging baseboard heat distributors, are free from the usual decorating problems that prevail with other types of heating systems.

Hydronic baseboards are usually installed along the length of outside walls at ankle height. They are only about 8-inches high.

Thus the decorator, as well as the homeowner, can place furniture close to walls without fear of blocking heat. In addition, installation of floor to ceiling drapery and wall to wall carpeting is simplified with baseboard units.

Baseboard can be painted to blend or contrast with the room's decor.

About 16,000 lumber mills now are operating in the Southern Pine producing states.

Unusual 4-Level Split Cuts Excavation Costs

By JULES LEHR

Not too many years ago some unnamed architect took a long look at a hillside lot, scratched his head, sat down to his drawing board and, not too surprisingly under the circumstances, designed a split-level house.

As everyone is aware, the split-level plan caught on for a number of reasons, combining as it does the best elements of both the two-story and the ranch.

But the fact remains it was intended originally for a sloping lot, and sometimes the high cost of adapting level ground to split-level specifications makes it hardly worth the effort.

This striking three (or four) bedroom split, on the other hand, was designed to eliminate 90 per cent of the customary and costly dirt moving. This refinement, plus other cost-cutting features which were accomplished without sacrificing a whit of livability, make it worthy of selection as House of the Week. It is plan J-12, the series designed by architect Samuel Paul.

The house contains three full baths, a large reception foyer, a kitchen-breakfast room, dining room, family room, study (or fourth bedroom), living room with a dramatic corner fireplace and other touches of elegance such as balconies off all three upper level bedrooms and a covered living room deck.

J-12 Statistics

A three-bedroom, four level split with three full baths, garage, dining room, family room, study, kitchen-breakfast room, living room, dining room, large living room, back room balconies and covered living room deck.

This four-level house has no cellar, in the usual sense, and that's the key to its economical construction.

The lowest level (garage, heater room, storage and hobby room) is so that its large windows are above grade and require no arwayways; thus it, too, constitutes 571 square feet of living area in the strictest sense. Architect Paul refers to the design as a "raised split-level."

ENTRANCE — The main entrance is on the 718-square foot ground level. Its double doors open to a spacious reception foyer which has double closets; and an adjoining full bath serves nicely as a powder room.

The stair to the living room is at the right, and to the left is the laundry and study. The study is equipped with a large closet, and with the full bath practically adjacent to it could easily become a fourth bedroom or guest room.

Straight ahead from the foyer is a huge family room — 297 square feet of airy informal space with glass doors leading to a rear patio that stretches the entire width of the house. Note also the two big closets in the family room — a family man himself, architect Paul is well aware of the toys, games and other paraphernalia that invariably collect in this well-used room.

TWO STAIRS — A second stair with an open-work rail connects the family room to the kitchen-breakfast room, visually and functionally interlacing the two informal zones into a graceful expanse of 42 feet.

An island range, with a counter-top and hood, not only divides the kitchen and breakfast area effectively but also forms a square work area which is the ultimate in step saving. And don't overlook the large pantry closet, or the long "bonus" counter between it and the refrigerator.

A floor to ceiling glass wall, with sliding glass doors leading to the covered deck, complements the glamorous fireplace and wrought iron rail at the opposite end of the living room. The rear of the fireplace, incidentally, forms an attractive brick wall both in the foyer and along the main stair. Upstairs, all three bedrooms are well sized, and the balconies adjoining each of them provide real luxury — of the inexpensive type. The front balcony, 7' long, forms a covered front porch over the main entry.

Local Realtors Start Plans for Special Week

Planning for the annual Realtor Week celebration started in Pontiac with the announcement by Ray O'Neill, president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors, that Robert Lewis would head this year's committee in charge.

The annual observance of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the Pontiac board is a member, is scheduled from May 20-25.

Mr. Irvin is vice president of the board. He will announce his committee in the near future.

According to Mr. O'Neill, the 22 Realtors in the Pontiac area will join with thousands of colleagues across the nation for the celebration, which is being held in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the Homestead Act.

"This act is one of the greatest single steps ever taken by a nation to make possible widespread real property ownership," Mr. O'Neill said, "and it is fitting that Realtors, who have been so instrumental in advancing this principle, should join in the celebration."

The Homestead Act made available millions of acres of public land to private ownership and settlement. It was passed by Congress on May 20, 1862, and led to one of the most colorful and important eras in the development of this country—the settling of the west and the settlement of a territory equal in extent to Great Britain and France combined.

Realtors and other groups are observing the occasion along with the United States Department of Interior. A special U. S. commemorative postage stamp, which will be available on May 21, will be issued to mark the centennial.

Mr. O'Neill explained that the purpose of Realtor Week was to make better known to the public the services offered by realtors and to point up the differences between realtors and others in the real estate business.

"Realtors are members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards," he said, "and only they are entitled to use the term. We are subject to the rules and regulations of NAREB, observe the standards of conduct that it sets, and are entitled to receive the benefits—many of which are passed on to our clients—of local, state, and national association."

The term realtor, Mr. O'Neill pointed out, is registered with the U. S. Patent Office, and its exclusive control by NAREB has been upheld by numerous federal and state court decisions.

"Today, NAREB ranks as one of the largest trade associations in the country," Mr. O'Neill said, "with a total of 70,897 members in 1,118 real estate boards."

GLASS WINDBREAKER — It's a cooler, more colorful patio that is enhanced by the windbreak of clear and green glass block. The addition of color to the actual glass in glass block is the newest note of functional decor for homeowners and architects. Coming in both 8 and 12 inch sizes, this "Shade Green" glass block is functional, as well as beautiful, in that it reduces sun brightness and solar-heat transmission.

Winter Garden NOTES

Be you own back yard critic!

You won't find a better time than now to appraise the strengths and weaknesses of your outdoor decor—with an eye to making improvements. Your greenery is at its lowest ebb. Fruited plants probably have been picked clean by stay-at-home birds. Winter dust and grime may have obscured colors of twigs and buds. From this low point, you can better plan on achieving new highs.

Robert Washburn, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., suggests a three-point check to wit:

1. Do your shrubs fulfill their original purposes, such as sun control, screening out unsightly views, wind breaks, bird food and a lavish spread of spring blossoms?

2. Are low-growing shrubs placed where tall ones are needed?

3. Is there a serious lack of color on the winter scene? You may come to the conclusion that your back yard is backward out of step with the changing styles. A generation ago, deciduous species predominated. Today the evergreen is more prominent, both needle and broadleaf varieties.

While you may like the idea of color provided by evergreens, you may not want to downgrade shrubbery that provides visual for feathered friends. Bird-conscious gardeners may prefer planting such deciduous species as Hawthorn, privet, bayberry, buckhorn, sumac, flowering apple and multiflora rose.

Sometimes extensive landscape juggling is not required. Pruning adjacent trees to provide more light can provide dramatic effects.

If the back yard seems to need a major overhauling, you had better seek expert advice. Tree man, surveyor or landscape architect can help you achieve best results, probably at a saving.

Hall and entryways, with their constantly changing temperatures, artificial lights and drafts, are best decorated with such hardy plants as Aspidistra, or various types of Philodendrons. Ficus, Fatsia, or Persea — kept in porous clay pots to help preserve constant moisture and temperature conditions.

A new dwarf variety of Zinnia is being introduced by Mandeville & King Company, flower seed specialists of Rochester, N.Y. Known as Red Buttons Zinnia, the new variety is the answer to a long-standing demand for a Zinnia with flowers as small as the Lilliputians, on plants that are also dwarf. It is being offered exclusively by Mandeville.

The new Red Buttons strain grows to a height of about 12 inches, and the plants are of such uniform habit that a row of them is quite even in height and width. The blossoms are 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inches across, fully double, and bright red in color. The stems are of ample length for cutting, and the flowers hold well in water.

Red Buttons Zinnia is well adapted to use in low beds and borders, since the plants are so much dwarfier than other Zinnias. It is most effective in mass plantings.

Like all Zinnias, Red Buttons is easy to grow. Seeds planted 1/4 inch deep germinate readily if kept moist, and in warm weather the seedlings appear in several days. Plants should be thinned to six inches to allow maximum well-rounded development. Plenty of sun is desired, and no location is too hot for Red Buttons.

You may buy ready-mixed potting soils in your garden store. But if you prefer to mix your own, a formula found satisfactory for a large range of house plants is three parts garden soil, one part well-rotted manure, two parts leaf mold or peat moss, one part perlite or sand, one-quarter part wood charcoal flakes.

Lay Quarry Tile Walk From Garage to House

Do you own a home with an unattached garage? If so, it may be that in rainy weather your entranceway is tracked with mud. You can correct this situation by building a waterproof quarry tile walk between the house and garage. You might even do what more and more builders are doing and extend the tile into your entrance. Quarry tile is stainproof and will not be damaged even under extreme weather conditions.

Sturdy Racks Hold, Hide Garbage Cans

City sanitation officials, who are working to improve garbage storage and handling procedures, urge all homeowners and businessmen to built-sturdy racks for their garbage and refuse cans.

The racks, which should be at least 18 inches off the ground, can be made from lumber or pipe. Attach garbage cans to the racks with chains so that they will not be lost.

It is important that the lids be in place at all times, officials emphasize. Covered containers prevent rats and stray animals from reaching the contents.

Sanitation officials point out that galvanized steel garbage tins, other containers have been rejected because they either are too heavy; not strong enough to keep rats out; or burn rapidly when exposed to fire.

The rack should be large enough to accommodate at least three standard cans. Garbage can racks also simplify collection because the garbage cans are in a central location and easy to pick up and put on the truck.

Scrubbing Comes First To Make Enamel Stick

To prevent new enamel from peeling from bathroom walls and ceilings, it is important that they be washed thoroughly with a good detergent in order to remove the film of oily material usually deposited there. Steam from showering and bathing condenses on these walls and carries with it traces of oils from soaps. These build up in time and may interfere with adhesion of the new enamel. Occasionally, the old enamel may still be so slick that subsequent coats adhere poorly. This may be avoided by going over glossy areas with sandpaper, steel wool or "liquid sandpaper" before painting.

Make Sick Room a Cheerful Place

A room in the house that few families think about when they buy a home—but which plays an important role from time to time is the sick room.

It may be a bedroom or a den pressed into service for the occasion. And, like any other room, it can be made a lot more comfortable for the occupant with a little planning.

Frank Vecchiarelli, a light control specialist for the Flexalum division of Bridgeport Brass Company, passes along some advice to family members who may have to play the role of nurse temporarily.

The sick room should neither be darkened nor filled with direct sunlight. These conditions tend to make the patient more uncomfortable. Venetian blinds should be adjusted so that light enters the room in a diffused way. In addition, to permit plenty of cheerful, indirect light to enter, this position of the blinds will also allow fresh air to come in without drafts.

Indirect lighting in the room is also advised for comfortable television viewing. The TV set should be turned so that the light source is behind the screen, not facing it.

Two pieces of equipment that should be kept in readiness for use in sickrooms, Vecchiarelli says are a turntable surface and wireless intercom.

The turntable surface is especially useful in reducing exertion by children willing away the time doing jigsaw puzzles. A wireless intercom that can be plugged into any socket enables the woman of the house to talk to the patient from the kitchen or other locations thereby saving countless trips back and forth to the sick room.

Sheathing, Siding Must Be Seasoned

"Wood sheathing" is a layer of one-inch boards which should be applied to the wall framing. Good carpenters recognize this feature as essential for bracing the framework and assuring maximum tightness. It also provides a strong nailing base for the surface siding. "Wood siding" is the decorative wood that appears on the outer house walls. It is, of course, the recipient of paint. Like framing and sheathing, this lumber should be properly seasoned. Aside from nail holding power, the dry condition of "pre-shrunk" lumber is a key contributor to a long lasting paint performance.

In applying wood siding, the prerequisites of tightness should again be observed. Ends should be squarely cut and adjoining boards butted snugly together. A sealer coat should be applied to ends and if necessary as a caulking to seal the lumber against rain.

Proud Northville Thumped by Rouge

'B' Defenders Breeze 72-53 in Semi-Final

Detroit 'Cinderella' Team Gets Taste of Saginaw Power

Bell Tops Mustangs; East Grand Rapids Other Class Victor

By BILL CORNWELL
LANSING — Proud Northville didn't want to admit what everybody suspected right along—that powerful River Rouge was too much for the champions of the Wayne-Oakland League.

Coach Dave Longridge and his Mustangs sincerely believed that they could give mighty River Rouge a battle. Now they know differently.

Northville ran into the full force of Rouge's vaunted power here Friday night and today Oakland County's last remaining hope for a state basketball championship is on the sidelines.

SECK SECOND IN ROW
The Panthers, gunning for their 2nd consecutive Class B title and 8th in a nine-year stretch, raced to an overwhelming 47-21 halftime edge and coasted to a 72-53 triumph over Northville at the Lansing Sexton gym in the semifinals of Michigan's Class B tourney.

It was the 22nd victory in 23 games for the Panthers who met East Grand Rapids for the championship at 11:30 this morning on MSU's Jensen Fieldhouse floor. Today marked Rouge's 6th appearance in the state finals in a nine-year span. The Panthers only failure in a title game came at the hands of East Lansing in 1958. This was Northville's first trip to the semis in the school's history.

East Grand Rapids, unranked during the regular season, earned the right to meet Rouge in the finals by crushing Ludington, 60-48, in last night's other Class B semifinal contest at Lansing Everett.

RATED FIRST
Rouge, rated No. 1 all season long, was only bothered by Northville in the game's early moments. The contest began evenly enough with Northville trailing by a single point, 4-3 after leading 30-20. Then the Panthers cut loose and Northville died quickly.

Rouge leaped ahead, 16-5, with two minutes left in the 1st quarter. Northville's deficit mounted to 23-12 entering the 2nd period and the Mustangs were outscored by a 25-9 margin in that stanza.

Rouge wasn't finished. The Panthers amassed a 23-12 superiority in the 4th section and enjoyed a thoroughly comfortable 68-35 cushion going into the 4th period.

Northville had its only fling of the evening in the final quarter, outscoring the Panthers by a 20-4 count, but by that time Rouge coach, Lofton Green had emptied his bench and it was merely a matter of running out the clock and the final score simply looked more respectable.

MANY ERRORS
Rouge's pressing defense forced Northville into numerous errors and floor violations and the Mustangs were unable to compete with Rouge on the backboards as the defending champs controlled the rebounding.

Ken Wilburn and Louie Hyatt spearheaded Rouge's assault with 20 points apiece.

Craig Bell was the lone Northville player with 15 double figures, with 13 points. Tom Swick, Dick Bathey and Steve Judy each collected nine while Al Oakland County's Dan Brown was limited to four.

A tight zone defense kept Ludington at bay in the other "B" semi. Ludington was forced to shoot from outside and East Grand Rapids' rangy front line controlled the boards.

East Grand Rapids repeatedly worked the ball under the bucket for easy layups and led Ludington all the way by comfortable margins.

George Maertz lifted 25 points, Mick McCarthy 21 and Bill Moser 19 for the winners.

Van Tillson, brother of former Ludington and U. of M. star Pete Tillson, scored 13 points in a losing cause. Teammate Darby Peterson added 10.

EAST LANSING — Mighty Saginaw, king of the Saginaw Valley for two years running, Friday night rode into the finals of Michigan Class A basketball tournament on the strong shoulders of Ernie Thompson and Brian Best.

Thompson and Best captured all the scoring honors and dominated the backboards to highlight unbeaten Saginaw's 69-59 victory over Detroit Pershing in semifinal action at Michigan State University's Jensen Fieldhouse before 12,322 spectators.

The brilliant Thompson fired 28 points and Best, deadly from the corners, swished 19 as the Trojans breezed to their 21st of the season.

Saginaw's success sends the Trojans against a fast and dangerous Mustangs in the state final.

The Cinderella team of the tournament, Pershing, had no more miracles left yesterday against the Valley champs who won the state title in 1962.

The upstart Doughboys had pulled one surprise right after another in reaching the semis, including a quarter-final upset of Detroit city champ Eastern, but they ran out of surprises in this contest.

They conceded nothing to Saginaw for one half and the Trojans were going to win. They simply had too many horses for Pershing.

Saginaw settled the issue in a hurry after the rest period. The Trojans scored five of the first six field goals in the 3rd quarter to boost their margin to 43-30 and Pershing never came closer than nine points.

Thompson and Best sparked the flurry of buckets at the start of the 3rd season with two fielders apiece. Bruce La Breche made the other.

La Breche wound up the evening with 10 points. Lovell Humes, who sprained his ankle in district action at Midland against Mt. Pleasant, returned to the lineup for the first time since the injury, but he was visibly hindered in his movements.

Willie Iverson paced Pershing with 18 points. Dick Smith notched 14 and center Mel Daniels 12. It was Daniels who gave the doughboys their only lead of the game, 8-6, with a hook shot midway through the 1st period.

TEAMS HAVE JITTERS
Northwestern, conqueror of Pontiac Central in the quarter-finals, and Benton Harbor played give-away for virtually the entire game with the Colts doing the better job.

Both teams had the jitters at the start, but Benton Harbor was the first one to settle down.

The contest was loaded with floor violations, wild passing and rugged, erratic play.

The Tigers led throughout the 1st half until the final five seconds when Al Ford sank a layup to give Northwestern an uphill 22-22 deadlock at half-time.

From then on it was a free-wheeling, topsy-turvy affair with the lead changing hands twice and the score being led in nine occasions.

Benton Harbor took the lead for keeps, 48-46, as Alex McNutt's bucket with :24 left in the game. The Tigers trailed in the next three points to make it 51-46 and coasted home to earn their spot in tonight's title round.

HE'S BEST — Saginaw's Brian Best got himself into this tangle with Detroit Pershing player Willie Iverson, but he managed to get out of this and help lead his team to a 69-59 victory over the Doughboys with 19 points. Saginaw faces Benton Harbor tonight at 8:30 p.m. for the state championship.

3 Parochials, Brimley in C-D Title Contests
EAST LANSING — Two bitter rivals from the same conference, Flint and the Upper Peninsula were featured performers in two championship basketball games this afternoon at Michigan State's Jensen Fieldhouse.

Muskegon Christian and Kalamazoo Christian were slated to square off at 4:30 in Class C and Flint St. Matthews tangled with Brimley from the UP at 3 p.m. in Class D in the 1962 Michigan high school tournament.

The Muskegon and Kalamazoo parochials shared the Four-C league title this season and each beat the other once at home in top play.

Kazoo rated as a slight favorite in this "rubber" match on the basis of its 47-42 triumph over defending state champion Grosse Pointe St. Paul Friday night in semifinal action at the Lansing Civic Center.

Muskegon gained its berth in the finals by scoring a 56-51 victory over another UP quintet, Houghton.

In the opener of the Class C twin bill at the Civic Center, St. Matthews advanced to the championship round with a 59-52 conquest of Lawrence in the "D" semis at East Lansing high school. Brimley, state "D" champ in 1959 and 1961, earned a 3rd title shot by downing Suttons Bay, 47-43, at MSU's intramural sports building.

REMARKS
This will be the 2nd title game since last over St. Paul and the Grosse Pointers never caught up.

Game scoring honors went to St. Paul's Gary Schick, who netted 19 points. Kazoo's Ron Zuiderveld bagged a dozen.

Muskegon and Kazoo are both burnant-hardened veterans. The Muskegoners showed their journey know-how by erecting a 2-21 lead at the half and fighting off Houghton's feverish attempts to rally in the 3rd and 4th quarters.

Ed Douma was high for Muskegon with 15 points.

BIG PERIOD
A big 3rd period iced St. Matthew's success. Nursing a 21-18 lead at the half, the Mats piled up a 21-12 bulge in the 3rd section and it was all over but the shouting.

Four Mats hit double figures, headed by Alex Peterson's 14 points.

Brimley, conqueror of pre-tourney favorite champion in Wednesday's quarter-finals, rallied in the 4th stanza to beat Suttons Bay after trailing practically from the start.

Suttons Bay had quarterly leads of 14-8, 23-21 and 37-33 and held the upper hand until the final two minutes when the Brimley's George Logan tied the score at 43-43 with a jumper.

Ironically, it was a set shot by Harold Sutton with 1:39 remaining that sent Suttons Bay to the sidelines.

Sutton's 11 points were high for the winners.

Pontiac's Mike Samardzija had another good round in the Houston Texas pro bowling tournament yesterday but fell off just enough to miss making the cut to 32 for today's head-to-head competition.

He wound up in 35th place in a field 144 with an average of 206 for 20 games. His Friday scores were 212-162-175-253-224-223-181-179.

Don Bickford of Dallas paced the qualifiers with 4,435 in his 1st PBA appearance. A 1,196 series Friday—best of his career on tops on the leg four this season—boosted him from 7th to No. 1. He finished with 235, 279, 248, 200 and 234 for a 221 average.

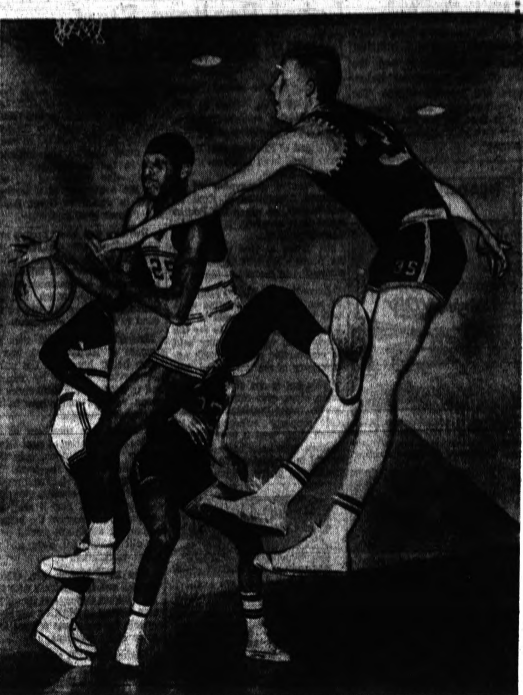

Don Carter of St. Louis was 2nd at 4,400. Dick Downey of Newark, N.J., leader after three blocks, had 4,361. Earl Sterling of New Orleans added 17 to that after being the opening day pacemaker due to games 6, 171, 135, 194. His total average of no one. The finals are scheduled for tonight.

The Cowboys won seven matches in the quarter-finals and carried through with six victories in the semifinals to pull out of reach of the rest of the field.

Oklahoma State had 68 points, clinched its 23rd NCAA wrestling title Friday—was in second place with 36 points.

Consolation semifinals are scheduled this afternoon and matches for third place will precede the championship finals.

ROME, FRIDAY'S FIGHTS
Bene, defeated winner over Charles Brown, Detroit. Bitter eliminated in 2nd round.

FANCY FOOTWORK — Ken Wilburn of River Rouge (25) uses some fancy footwork in the first period of the Class B semifinal game against Northville at Lansing Everett last night. Bill Challos of Northville tries to put a guard on Wilburn's maneuvers. Rouge, the defending champion, defeated the Mustangs, 72-53 to go into today's finals against East Grand Rapids.

By The Associated Press
The National Hockey League goes into its winnow weekend tonight with one playoff spot still undetermined and two players frantically chasing scoring records.

Most attention is centered on blond Bobby Hull's quest of the league's proudest record — 50 goals. The hefty Chicago Black Hawk center has 48 with two games to go.

And then there's Detroit's uphill scramble to gain fourth place and the last playoff spot. New York holds the position with a three point lead and has one game to go. Detroit plays two more.

Almost overlooked in the light of Hull's drive toward 50 goals has been Andy Bathgate's quiet quest of a record for assists, 85, set by Montreal's Jean Beliveau last season.

And the Ranger captain also is shooting for his first scoring title. He has 83 points on 27 goals and 56 assists, while the fast-moving Hull has 81 on 48 goals and 33 assists. The winner of the scoring title gets a $1,000 bonus, the No. 2 man $500.

But it's the big 50 goal mark set by the legendary Maurice (Rocket) Richard and equaled by Bernie (Boom Boom) Giedron last season — that Hull wants. He's getting every chance at it.

The Black Hawks, who can't neither rise nor fall from their third place position, are playing Hull as far as he can go, not only with his regular line mates of Bill Hay and Murray Balfour, but on other lines as well. All his Wings are feeding him at every chance.

He faces tough opposition in each of his games, however. The 23-year-old 205 pounder goes against leading Montreal and Boston. The winner of the scoring title gets a $1,000 bonus, the No. 2 man $500.

Tomorrow he closes in New York, where the Rangers will be trying to protect Bathgate's chances at the title — and perhaps still be trying to nail down their first playoff spot in four seasons.

The Rangers, idle tonight, could clinch it if Detroit loses to Toronto. A Detroit victory or a tie would send it down to the last night, when the Red Wings host Montreal and Chicago is at New York. Toronto visits Boston in the other closing game.

The first three positions, Montreal, Toronto and Chicago, are set. First round playoffs start Tuesday with Chicago playing Montreal and Toronto going against the fourth place team.

CHEER LEADER — Ben Hogan waves his arms and shouts in response to the cheers of spectators who saw him sink a 40-foot putt on the 12th hole of the Doral Open at Miami, Fla., yesterday. In the foreground is Dr. Cary Middlecoff who puts his ball in position for putting. Rain has hampered the tournament.

Try Again at Miami
Golf Play Rained Out

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — They planned to start the second round all over again today in the weather-plagued Doral Country Club Golf Tournament, and nobody could be sooner than Bill Casper.

The big Californian took it with tournament round which had been characteristic good humor, but if a rainstorm hadn't washed out the second 18-hole round Friday night he might have been on top at the halfway in the $50,000 event.

About 100 players were still on the course when the storm struck and Casper was leading with two straight 2-under-par 70s. The possibility that anyone would catch him before the day was over was at least doubtful.

He had moved ahead of Jack Nicklaus, first-round co-leader, who needed a par 72 on his second trip and now had 141.

But the rain wiped all the scores off the board. The tournament was back where it started in the morning, with Nicklaus and Bobby

Hot Musial Wins One for Cards

By The Associated Press

This is the last time "round for Stan (The Man) Musial. And he's ready.

That's the report today from the St. Louis Cardinals baseball camp, where the 41-year-old great has been warming up in preparation for his bid to annex five more National League records before he retires after the 1962 campaign.

Musial, unclogging from the picture-book but unorthodox batting stance that has made him one of the game's greatest hitters, continued his solid hitting Friday by stroking a double that chased home the winning runs in the Cards' 4-3 victory over Philadelphia.

SIXTH STRAIGHT
It was the second day in succession in which Musial, who led the league in batting seven times, accounted for two hits and a pair of RBI. It also was the Cards sixth consecutive triumph and left them with a 9-4 record.

A 300 hitter for 16 consecutive seasons through 1958, Musial has been below the mark for the last three years and wound up with a .288 average for 1961 with 15 homers and 70 RBI. Sound but not outstanding for The Man.

Now he's looking to close out a 20-year major league career by adding NL records in most games, most hits, most RBI, most runs and most at bats to the league marks he already has established for most total bases, most long hits and most doubles.

While Musial was keeping the Cards in first place among NL clubs, Houston's Colts moved into the number one spot with their fourth straight victory, an 8-5, 10-inning win over Boston at Scottsdale. The Los Angeles Dodgers, beaten 4-3 by the New York Mets at Vero Beach, dropped into third.

BRAYES WIN
In other games, Milwaukee beat the American League leading New York Yankees 3-2 in 10 innings at Bradenton, San Francisco edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 at Mesa, Cleveland whipped the Los Angeles Angels 4-1 at Tucson and Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-1 at Sarasota.

The Kansas City-Washington and Pittsburgh-Cincinnati games were canceled due to rain while Detroit and Baltimore rescheduled their rainout for a day-night doubleheader today.

The Colts tied in the ninth on Johnny Wick's homer and a run-producing single by Von McDaniel, then beat the Sox on "Judge" Brown's three-run homer in the 10th.

The Mets edged the Dodgers with an unearned run in the fifth after Gus Bell's RBI single and two-run single by Frank Thomas gave them three runs in the third inning. A Yankee throwing error enabled Phil Ruff to score from

Orlando Cepeda, Manuel Mota and rookie Charles Peterson drove in the Giants' runs while Mike McCormick checked the Cubs on one run and seven hits for three innings. Jerry Kindall's seven RBI

The Twins hopped on the White Sox for three-run spurts in the first and fourth for all the runs they needed behind the pitching of Jack Kralick, first Minnesota hurler to go seven innings.

Weather May Decide Sebring Prix Champion
SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — The weather could be the great equalizer today, as the starting flag drops on the annual 12-hour Grand Prix of Endurance for sports cars here.

Eighty-one cars are ready to start the race, but one make is favored to win both the sports and grand touring categories—the Italian Ferraris, which won here last year.

There are 11 Ferraris entered. They have been fastest in practice, and they have the best drivers. Ferraris has the 10 m.m. (EST).

But rain throws the odds out the window. The fast, heavy cars like a Ferrari, are slowed considerably by rain. The small, light cars like Porsche and Lotus, are not.

"We don't stand a chance," conceded Porsche's top driver, Dan Gurney of Monte Carlo, "unless it rains."

Huscherle von Hanstein, was hoping for rain, too. "We have only one sports car here," says von Hanstein "and that's a couple of years old. We are concentrating on winning the grand touring category, since that's where the world championship points are to be awarded, but in rain we might do very well."

Bears Seeking Repeat of '61 Upset Triumph

Top Buck Lucas Hurt in Semi-Final Romp, Cincinnati Nips UCLA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker is confident his Bearcats can beat Ohio State—with or without the Buckeye star.

Lucas, a three-time All-American, injured his troublesome left knee in the Buckeye 68-66 romp over Wake Forest in Friday night's semifinals but still is expected to start against Cincinnati.

Cincinnati earned its berth opposite the top-ranked Buckeyes with a 72-70 heart-breaking triumph over UCLA on Tom Thacker's jump shot with just four seconds to play in the other semi-final match.

SAME TEAMS
It marks the first time in history the same two teams have met in consecutive years in the finals. Last year Cincinnati upset Ohio State 70-65 in overtime for the championship.

As for the injury to Lucas and his possible absence against the Bearcats in the finals, Jucker said, "We beat them last year with him and we think we can do it again."

Ohio State's youthful coach, Fred Taylor, asked what strategy he had cooked up for Cincinnati, replied: "Nothing. The only thing I can tell you is we'll play them."

UCLA coach John R. Wooden, who also lost to Ohio State during the regular season, and Wake Forest coach Horace (Bones) McKinney, whose Deacons lost to Ohio State twice this season, picked the Buckeyes to come out on top.

SEALOUT CROWD
The championship game will be played before a sellout crowd of more than 17,000.

Lucas injured his knee in a hard fall to the floor with little more than six minutes left to play.

Forty-five minutes after the game, Dr. Robert Murphy, Ohio State's team physician, said "Lucas suffered a mild sprain of the knee and should be able to play in the championship game."

The Buckeyes had little trouble with Wake Forest, jumping to a 23-17 lead and going out at half time on top 43-34.

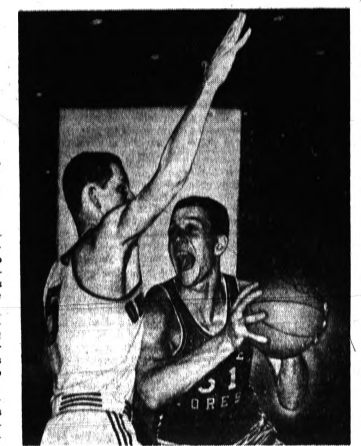

The Deacons came out after intermission determined to catch Ohio State, but there was just too much power in the Buckeye line.

UNUSUAL TEAM
UCLA, an unusual team from the West Coast with an 18-9 record, gave the Bearcats all they wanted.

With the score 70-70, the 13th tie of the game, Cincinnati went into a stall with 34 seconds remaining. With 10 seconds left, the Bearcats called time out for a conference with Jucker.

When time was resumed, everyone expected the ball to go to Paul Hogue or Ron Bonham for the final shot. Instead, as Jucker explained later, the strategy called for Thacker to take the last shot.

"We figured they would go for Bonham so we planned for Thacker to take the last shot," said Jucker. "Thacker hadn't scored a field goal all night, and I know I took a big chance."

OUTTA MY WAY — Wake Forest's Len Chappell (right) lets out a yell as he bumps into Ohio State's John Havlicek during the first round game of the NCAA finals at Louisville last night. Ohio won easily and will play for the championship tonight against the Cincinnati Bearcats, the defending champions.

Foot Injury Sidelines Bruton Few Days

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Billy Bruton will be sidelined for at least three or four days.

"It happened last Sunday when I banged a foot ball off my foot," said Bruton. "Then I guess I aggravated it sliding Wednesday. It didn't start to bother me until Thursday night."

Accompanying Bruton to the hospital for X rays was southpaw reliever Hank Aguirre.

PLAY TWO TODAY
The rainout out game with the Orioles was put over until today as part of an afternoon-night double-header.

Paret Underdog by 17-5 Tonight
NEW YORK (AP) — Apparently operating on the theory that the welterweight crown is harder to hold than a banana peel dived in, the odds makers have made Champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba a 17-5 underdog to lose his title again to Emile Griffith tonight.

Only two of the last seven rulers of the 147-pound set have held the championship more than a year and Paret is not one of the exceptions.

The odds, however, seem to be a favorite's price on Griffith for their last fight at Madison Square Garden on Sept. 30. Paret, plugged along the way, upset the sleek, hard-hitting Griffith on a split, disputed 15-round decision.

Griffith won his first fight and the title on a 13th round knockout at Miami Beach, April 1, 1960.

Roebuck, Fisher Get Offers Pro Baseball Scouts Like Two 'M' Hurlers

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Professional baseball scouts are waving their checkbooks again toward the University of Michigan campus, mainly because of two young pitchers.

David Roebuck, sophomore from Bryan, Ohio, and Fritz Fisher, an Adrian junior, are the major eye-catchers from a school which has won 10 of its stars signed for a total of about $400,000 in less than a decade.

Roebuck is a strong right-hander and the key to U-M's aspirations of defending its Big Ten title.

PASSING UP $65,000
Reportedly passing up a $65,000 bid from the Cleveland Indians, he must replace last year's ace, Mike Joyce, who quit the Wolverines after his sophomore year when he got $80,000 to go with the Chicago White Sox.

Fisher is a holdover from the championship team, posting a 6-2 mark as a sophomore last season. He's got a $40,000 offer from a couple of teams and has been contacted by several others. The Major Leaguers were especially interested in the 1.74 earned run average he had, as well as his sparkling curve and good fast ball.

This pair will lead the Wolverines to Arizona April 6 for spring training and despite the loss of Joyce and Bill Freehan, the team again appears strong.

Freehan, who would have been a junior, signed a reported $100,000-plus bonus pact with the Detroit Tigers after setting the Big Ten hitting record at .385.

SEVERAL CHANGING
Michigan's third best bonus prospect, Joe Merullo, will step in from third base to fill the gap at catcher left by Freehan. The River, Mass., senior played third last year but came to the U-M as a backstop originally and played some there his sophomore year.

Bonus money is nothing new to be flashed around the U-M campus. Actually, it was a former Wolverine, Dick Wakefield, who was baseball's first big bonus baby. Wakefield signed for $100,000 with the Detroit Tigers in the early 1940s.

In recent years, the Tigers have shelled out fat checks to such Wolverines as Steve Boros, Dave Brown, Wilbur Franklin, and Bill Roman.

Other top names picked off the campus in the past decade were John Herrnstein, who got $50,000 from the Philadelphia Phillies, Don Eaddy, by the Chicago Cubs, and Ken Tippery by Baltimore.

Spring Affliction—New Car Fever

Fussy Auto-Buyer May Have Troubles

By BEN FLEIGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT—Anyone who has undergone the agonies of trying to decide whether to buy a new car should be able to recognize the symptoms of a common springtime affliction—new car fever.
A leaky radiator, bald tires, the ravages of winter, the gleam of fresh paint all of these can be built into a good case for action.
Such symptoms become widespread when the calendar shows good weather is just ahead.

The people who make and sell cars hope the better will produce results, or even better, an epidemic of sales.
But one of the questions which a prudent sufferer must decide is whether it would be better to buy now, or later. When can he get the best deal?
If you can better the ones wrestling with such a decision, here are some points to consider:
SOME ARE SHORT

something over one million. Normally this would mean dealers would be trying to unload and would be cutting prices to get the job done. But currently this is only partially true.
The inventory situation is extremely uneven. Some dealers, notably in General Motors lines, complain of shortages. When a dealer is having trouble getting stock, he is less likely to shave his profit margin.

If your heart is set on a particular make, model or body style, you can expect to find the going a little rougher than if you are willing to settle for immediately available merchandise.
The used car situation, on the other hand, is almost uniformly good from the viewpoint of one planning to offer a car in trade. Supplies are modest, especially of models up to three years old, and resale prices are strong. Thus, dealers are apt to give reasonably generous allowances for your old car.

Sticker prices on comparably equipped cars have remained all but unchanged for the past three months.
Anyone who tries to tell you what will happen to prices on 1963 models will be guessing. But it is true that labor and material costs have increased since the last generally upward movement in retail car prices.

The asking price on new cars often goes down as the summer progresses. Dealers try to clear their stocks before a new model year begins and factories encourage them with year-end rebates and other gimmicks which allow them to sell for less. Some of these already are in effect on slow-moving lines.

The amount of such reductions is related to supply. A lot of cars means a bigger price cut. With most 1963 models due to show considerable appearance change, prospects would look favorable this summer for year-end bargains.
Of immediate concern, however, is the possibility of a steel strike. Some observers suggest the current near-record inventories represent an effort by the car manufacturers to be assured of adequate stocks of steel in case of a strike. Some observers suggest the steel contract expires June 30. If a settlement should come early, look for sharp cutbacks in production. If a strike occurs, dealers can be expected to tighten their offers.
Remembering the 1959 steel strike when new car stocks shrank dramatically, they will be trying for a higher gross on each sale to make up for reduced sales to dealers.

Supervisors Seeking Original Jury Bill

Disatisfied with changes made in a jury commission bill by the State House of Representatives, Oakland County supervisors yesterday moved to have the bill amended back to original form when it arrives in Senate.

Members of the board present at a ways and means committee budget hearing instructed legislative committee Chairman John Semman to contact Sen. Farrell E. Holley, R-Oakland County, immediately.

Semman was to inform Roberts of the supervisors' wishes.

The bill, originally submitted by the board, would relieve township supervisors and city assessors of drawing prospective circuit court jurors from assessment roles.

The responsibility would be given to a three-member jury commis-

Only Oakland County would be affected by the bill, intended to improve the method of selecting jurors.

Under House changes to the bill the State Legislature and not the board of supervisors would appoint the commissioners. Also, the jury commission system would be maintained for the county.

The board of supervisors approved the bill Feb. 6 only after amending it to call for permissive legislation. This would enable the board to abandon the new system at any time a majority felt it was unsatisfactory.

Under provisions of the bill, the jury commission would select jurors from a list of names at random from voters' lists instead of from assessment roles.

Proponents of the bill claimed the present system discriminates against nonproperty owners, since only property owners' names appear on assessment rolls.
Also they charged that jurors are being hand-picked in some instances, and that too many repeaters and incompetent persons under the present system.

HOMESICK FOR KOREA — Former South Korean President Syngman Rhee grimaces as he sits in a chair in his room at Tripler Army Hospital in Honolulu. Rhee, in ill health and homesick for Korea, was hospitalized last week when his scheduled return home was canceled because of Korean government pressure. Rhee wants to go home to die, he says. Comforting the aged "Tiger of Korea" is his Austrian-born wife, the former Francesca Donner. Friends pleaded with the Korean government to let him return.

Ford Finally Admits Subcompact Plans

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. is planning to bring out its subcompact automobile next fall.

But the company said yesterday in confirming it has a small car that "changes in market conditions, or other factors, may cause these plans to be altered."

Reams have been written in recent months that Ford would put a subcompact on the market next fall, but yesterday's confirmation was the first admission by Ford that its subcompact existed in anything other than experimental form.

Ford had maintained a steadfast silence and in recent weeks had met inquiries with "No comment" or "what small-small car?"

FILES PROSPECTUS

The formal disclosure came when Ford filed a prospectus with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with the proposed public sale of additional Ford stock by the Ford Foundation.

SEC rules require a company to make full disclosure of its plans, and one paragraph in the prospectus said:

"For some time the company had under development another new car that would be part of the Ford line and would be smaller and lighter than any other car presently manufactured in the United States by the company or its competitors."

"The company currently is considering introducing such a new car as a 1963 model late in 1962, but changes in market conditions, or other factors, may cause these plans to be altered."

The small-small Ford, about five inches longer than a Volkswagen and a foot shorter than the Rambler American, will be built at Ford's plant in Louisville, Ky. The overall length will be 166 inches.

The company reportedly is aiming at a delivery price of $1,650 to $1,700 for the Cardinal, which will use a front-mounted V4 engine and front-wheel drive.

Two horsepower options will be available, 56 in one engine and 70 in a larger one for use with automatic transmission.

Child Playing in Hay Futs Snake in Place

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Carol Sue Kebert, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kebert, kept playing with a lever on a hay rack until the tines were released. But her parents don't mind.

When they checked the tines, they found she had released them at just the right moment to pin a 2 1/2 foot copperhead snake.

Credit Union Building Spacious

The new home of the GMTC Employees Federal Credit Union will provide members and employees with five times the working area of its present facility at 156 W. Huron St.

Besides providing increased space for conducting business, the new structure also includes an employes coffee shop, a kitchen, a walnut-paneled conference room and a spacious meeting room which will be available for GM and credit union groups.

The meeting room, which will accommodate 200 persons, is in the lower level of a circular wing which houses 13 tellers' windows.

The round wing at the south end of the building is likely to attract the most attention of visitors who attend an open house there from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Its circular roof, although made of 150 tons of concrete, is four inches thick, 60 feet in diameter and requires no supporting columns to obstruct the view inside.

The circular portion is connected to a section in the shape of a reverse "L" by an area which includes a 17-inch thick vault of reinforced concrete and brick, the teller manager's office and a rectangular lobby.

Loan and collection services will be handled in the horizontal wing which faces Woodward avenue while accounting and administrative offices are in the vertical portion which runs toward the rear of the 10-acre site.

PARKING FOR 100 CARS

A lot which will provide parking for over 150 cars will be located at the rear. The exterior work on the parking lot, grounds and building will be completed after the April 2 opening date.

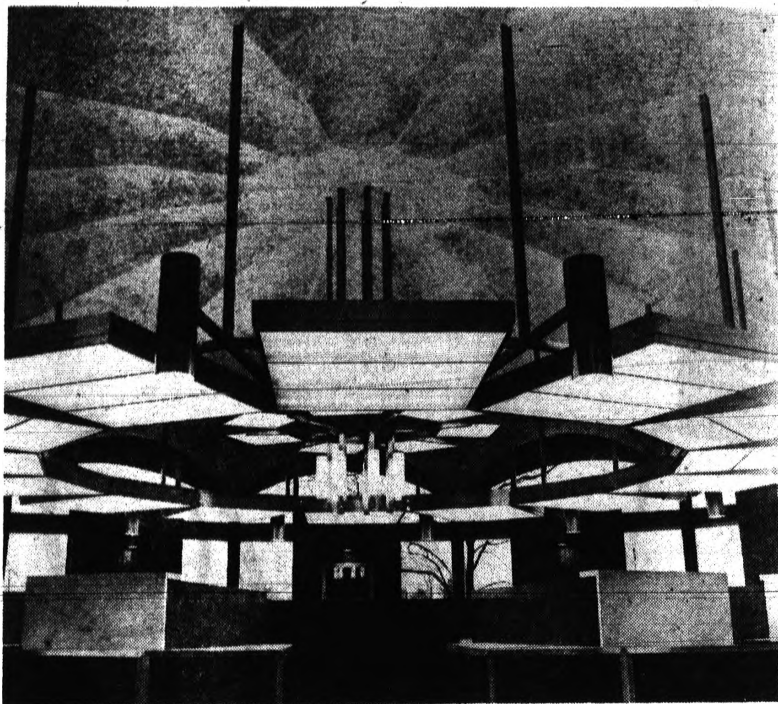

The new structure, according to credit union officials, is quite a contrast to the organization's earlier facilities.

After it was founded in 1936, the credit union's records were kept in a single desk drawer in the farm home of the first treasurer, Al Beard, on Deer Lake Road.

The credit union bought its own building on West Huron Street eight years ago. It will be sold when the move to the new structure is completed.

Paperbacks in Demand

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paperback book sales in 1960 totaled 300 million, on one-fourth of all volumes sold in the United States, according to a report in the "Exchange," the official New York Stock Exchange publication.

Sertoma Members Launch Plan to Aid Youth Home

Club Helps Prisoners Learn to Care for Others

JACKSON (AP) Inmates at Southern Michigan Prison, along with members of the Sertoma Club, are working together in a successful "care" program deeply rooted in home soil.

"Care" in this case refers to

Too Much to Digest

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—The post office employees must have thought railroad man Simon Ferguson was opening a dealership when he received 500 copies of the Reader's Digest. But Ferguson kept only one of them and returned the other 499 to the magazine's office, where a mechanical addresser took the blame for printing Ferguson's name on the 500 mailed copies.

the concern for prison inmates and residents of the Jackson County Juvenile Home.

The club's 48 members are dedicated to that purpose with the auxiliary, known as Laser-toma, providing monthly birthday parties and other forms of the juvenile home.

Warden William H. Bannan explained that "It's not the program of talking on random subjects so much as the reaction from the inmates who get the feeling that somebody outside cares about them."

The inmates, some hardened by the fact that for years outsiders had turned to them only in search for material gain, first met with Sertoma Club members with skepticism.

When the club first took on the prisoner visitation as a club project, the going was a little rough, those who pioneered the project admit. It took weeks to break down inmate suspicions that they, too, wanted something.

Needs of the juvenile home were brought up at a general discussion and provided the first break. Inmates started asking questions and became interested in doing something for others.

The major transformation of the appearance of the juvenile home was the direct result of the determination of the inmates to give their time and talents in helping the children.

Woodworkers, artists and others with similar talents re-finished, built and repaired items for use at the home. Two complete sets of playground equipment were built from materials donated by a Jackson company.

Christmas cards by the hundreds were addressed to "Children of the Juvenile Home" by men with the prison mailing address. Two inmates donated $15 each for Christmas candy.

Proud of what has been accomplished in little more than a year, Marland Moreau, who guided the program practically since its inception, and other club members would like to see it go nationwide in scope.

Chip, North Area Dog, Always 'Gets His Man'

GRAND RAPIDS —A string of 11 arrests has not spoiled Chip, a German Shepherd dog which became one of the first of its breed to become an official, fulltime member of the Michigan State Police.

Off-duty, Chip is as playful and docile as before he became a member of the force. But assign him to the task of tracking down fleeing, sometimes armed criminals, and he suddenly can be as ferocious as they come.

Chip and Trooper Clark Helms of the Houghton Lake Post were matched "for life" in a 14-week training period. They live together in the officer's Houghton Lake home where the dog is a playful companion with the Helms' three children whose ages range from 3 to 7.

In their first case, Chip took just 20 minutes to track down a young prisoner who had run away from Camp Pugsley, the honor correctional camp near Traverse City.

Chip took a whiff of the escapee's room, raced a half-mile down a railroad track, and led troopers to a tree deep in the brush. The prisoner was frantically trying to climb a tall limb when police arrived.

IN SECOND DAY

His second arrest came a few days later, and this time Chip passed an even sterner challenge.

James Courtney, serving a three-to-14 year term at Camp Pellston in Emmett County for forgery, seemingly had successfully fled from the area even though Chip and Helms searched until 4 a.m. the first night before the hunt was called off. Chip had been put on the trail after sniffing one of the escapee's old socks.

A few hours later Chip and Helms were back on the job and it wasn't long before Chip barked happily, wagged his tail and sniffed toward a bush. There was Courtney, cold and hungry.

On his next case Chip discovered two other Camp Pellston escapees sleeping in knee-high grass an hour after their truck was discovered near Pellston. The two were aroused when Chip jerked the blanket off them.

Chip has figured in seven other cases with his far-off growl enough to coax other escapees to come out of hiding. Helms said.

Helms explains that Chip is friendly to strangers only if he is, and added that he dictates the dog's every move.

His successful performances have made Chip a legend almost overnight in the north country.

There are three things the average man believes he could do well — sing bass, manage a baseball team, and decide who should be allowed to drive cars . . . The trouble with the future is that it's not all it used to be . . . The reason some people won't resist temptation is that they're afraid they may never get another chance. — Earl Wilson.

Revises Protocol Rules

JFK Visits Eisenhower

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Kennedy made his own rules of protocol today and scheduled a short journey from his weekend desert retreat to call on former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Kennedy, who wound up the formal part of his California visit Friday with a firm expression of confidence in the future of freedom and a personal look at an Atlas rocket firing, planned to see his predecessor on what was labeled a courtesy call.

Kennedy was understood to feel he should call on Eisenhower, rather than vice versa, since he is a transient in these parts and Eisenhower has made it his winter residence.

The President demonstrated his support of some of the headiest nuclear research conducted in this country when he visited the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at the University of California.

88,000 FILL STADIUM

He stopped there before addressing a record crowd at Charter Day ceremonies in the football stadium on the university's Berkeley campus.

An estimated 88,000 filled the stadium seats and spread over the field—the biggest attendance yet for an on-the-spot Kennedy speech audience.

The possibility of cooperation with the Soviets in outer space is encouraging, Kennedy told the throng—which gave him roaring, whistling ovations.

Mopup in Algiers Suburb Backed by French Force

ALGIERS (UPI)—French troops and tanks mopped up today in the revolt-torn Algiers suburb of Bab El Qued as reinforced French land and sea forces stood by to crush any attempt by European extremists to seize power.

President Charles de Gaulle's new strongman high commissioner for Algeria, Christian Fouchet, and his top aides flew in secretly this morning, armed with full powers to crush the Secret Army Organization (OAS).

Troop reinforcements were rushed to Algiers from the neighboring countryside. The Bab El Qued quarter of Algiers, where fighting between French troops and OAS commandos raged all day yesterday, was sealed off while troops hunkered by tanks carried out a house-to-house search.

Long lines of French tanks were reported standing in the streets of Bab El Qued-OAS stronghold of working class Europeans demanding that Algeria remain French—as the house-to-house operation was pressed.

While troops held the OAS stronghold in a grip of steel, units of the French Mediterranean fleet cruised off the Algerian coast while other warships, including the flagship missile cruiser Colbert and the carrier Lafayette, waited in readiness in the eastern port of Bone.

New French High Commissioner Fouchet quickly installed himself at government headquarters at Rocher Noir, east of Algiers, and Get your umbrellas ready. A preview of April showers is coming our way. Precipitation will total one quarter to one half inch in rain Sunday through Tuesday or Wednesday.

Partly cloudy skies with a low of 35 is the weather picture for tonight.

Forty-six is the predicted high for tomorrow.

Winds today were light and variable. Thirty-four was the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 47.

Open for Public Inspection Tomorrow

Credit Union Home Ready

Pontiac area residents tomorrow will get a preview of one of the city's newest and most unusually designed buildings—the $400,000 Credit Union Federal Credit Union headquarters.

Located across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at 339 S. Woodward Ave., the modernistic structure will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow for tours by the public and members.

The building, designed and built entirely by firms in the Pontiac area, will serve some 11,000 members when it opens officially April 2.

Architectural highlights of the building include a unique, circular lounge with a roof constructed of concrete.

Inside there are light beige and walnut paneled meeting rooms, a kitchen, coffee shop and a large round room with unusual lighting effects which contains a lobby and tellers' windows.

The credit union, founded in 1938, will move from its present location at 156 W. Huron St. to its new quarters March 31. The organization has owned its building on West Huron street for eight years. It will be sold.

Harry J. Woodman, treasurer-general manager, said the interior of the building will be fully decorated and furnished when visitors see it at tomorrow's open house.

'Ridiculous, Impractical'

Hannah Wants Speedup First for Three Weeks

Says Too Many Feuds Over Political Matters Developing Now

LANSING (AP)—Constitutional convention delegates checked in a random sample have scoffed at a proposal to adopt an accelerated work schedule for the next three weeks and then go into a recess until after the November elections.

"Ridiculous and impractical" was the reaction of several delegates to the suggestion made yesterday by John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, who declared:

"If this suggestion has merit, I hope it will prevail. If it is impractical, it should be rejected."

Hannah, who is president of Michigan State University, said he recognized that there were several disadvantages to the idea, such as the giving up of convention hall and the problem of restoring the convention for the November session.

He indicated to newsmen he felt that too much political wrangling had developed on the floor during discussions of proposed new ideas for the constitution.

The convention could adopt an expanded work schedule, Hannah said, which would begin at 9 a.m. and end at 8:30 p.m., with breaks for lunch and dinner.

This would add up to 2½ hour sessions in the morning, afternoon and evening.

Delegates have been meeting for just two sessions a day, but another proposal being considered calls for three daily sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays and two sessions on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Hannah said the accelerated work schedule might enable the delegates to complete first reading consideration on all matters and possible second reading of the total constitution.

FINAL IN NOVEMBER

The third and final reading then would come in the month-long session beginning in November.

George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills, who hopes to get the Republican nomination for governor, said he would not take a position on the proposal and would abstain from voting if it came up on the floor.

Peacemaker Huddles With Military

Still Lack Accord in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, (UPI)—Military sources said today that a number of top army, navy and air force commanders in an effort to mediate President Arturo Frondizi's latest crisis with his restless military.

The retired army general met in a three-hour pre-dawn conference with top army, navy and air force commanders in an effort to mediate President Arturo Frondizi's latest crisis with his restless military.

The meeting ended without apparent agreement. Some of the participants expressed optimism, others said only that negotiations would continue.

Aramburu himself told reporters a solution always is possible if there is good will. He decided to go on TV and radio tonight to deliver a nationwide address dealing with the crisis.

Reliable sources said naval officers had told Frondizi that he must get out by 9 a.m. this morning, but this was categorically denied by Rear Adm. Jorge Palma, the navy chief of staff.

Rear Adm. Gaston Clement, the navy secretary, said on leaving the conference that Aramburu is continuing his efforts at mediation. Asked about the report the navy had handed Frondizi an ultimatum to get out, Clement replied that he knew nothing about it.

Rear Adm. Agustin Pena, the air force secretary, was noncommittal. Only Gen. Rosendo Fraga, the army secretary, said he was optimistic.

Most ANTAGONISTIC

Persistent reports have pictured the navy leaders as the most antagonistic toward Frondizi. Earlier this week, they were said to have presented their army and air force colleagues with a blueprint for a three-man junta to take over the country.

Frondizi appealed to Aramburu to step in as peacemaker after military support of his shaky regime began waning in the wake of sweeping Peronist victories in National Assembly and provincial elections last Sunday.

The military ousted Peron in 1955 and is violently opposed to his return. But it is apparently split on how far it should go to prevent a Peron resurgence, whether to seek a constitutional solution or to seize the government.

Frondizi appeared to have made peace with the military earlier this week when he agreed to form a new coalition government with a half-civilian, half-military cabinet and to nullify the Peronist victory.

Frondizi named four new ministers Friday night, two from his own Intransigent Radical party and two from the small Christian Democratic party. But the major anti-Peron opposition, the Popular Radicals, thus far have adamantly rejected Frondizi's overtures.

Aramburu, provisional president in the post-Peron regime, huddled into the early morning hours with the three armed service secretaries and their top military commanders.

Upon emerging shortly before 6 a.m., Aramburu told reporters that all problems "have a solution when there is good will."

Red China Hits U. S. for Grave Threat in Asia

Warns It Can't Remain Indifferent to Increased Viet Nam Aid

TOKYO (AP)—Red China charged today that stepped-up American military aid to South Viet Nam was a grave threat to peace in Southeast Asia and warned "no peace-loving country can remain indifferent."

Peking's latest attack accused the United States of turning South Viet Nam into a living hell by "slaughtering patriots fighting for independence and freedom."

"The U.S. Air Force has taken a direct part in the war against the people of that region, and the United States has increased preparations for aggression in South Viet Nam and other regions of Southeast Asia," the broadcast declared.

U.S. Army helicopters with American crews have shuttled South Vietnamese troops into battle zones and U.S. pilots have accompanied South Vietnamese planes on strafing and bombing missions. U.S. officials insist, however, the American troops are noncombatants.

Communist China "will struggle to the end to check U.S. armed aggression in South Viet Nam," declared the New China News Agency in a broadcast devoted to an editorial in the People's Daily Observer of Peking.

It was the second time in a month that Red China sharply assailed U.S. efforts to bolster the South Viet Nam government's fight against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Peking declared on Feb. 24 that U.S. aid to President Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western regime seriously affected the security of Red China and Communist North Viet Nam.

Conflict in Land Use Near Winer Stadium

Clean Lines Form Pontiac Dream City

(Editor's Note—This is the third in a three-part series on the Pontiac General Development Plan, adopted by the City Commission in December. The plan will guide all the future development of the city. Public understanding of it is essential to its proper use and criticism, if any.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

Neatness is the key word in the dream city prescribed in the new Pontiac General Development plan.

We have been already how neighborhoods are to be laid out in uncluttered units, how parks are to be planned in "systems," and how commercial activities are to be condensed into centers.

Industry, the city's greatest resource, will also be condensed to a large degree. There are currently more than 50 manufacturing plants in Pontiac.

The big change in industrial land use as outlined in the "dream" of city planners, is locating industries which complement each other in one general area and condensing heavy industry into specific areas.

Right now, the major heavy industry centers are Pontiac Motor Division, Fisher Body Plant and GMC Truck & Coach Division, but there are also small heavy industry areas scattered throughout the city.

In the "perfect Pontiac," there would be no scattered heavy industry. All heavy industry would be very near or adjacent to the three GM sites. Areas of light industry would, of necessity, be scattered.

Almost all light industrial areas would lie along or near railroad tracks.

EXPANSION TO NORTH

The plan recommends expansion of heavy industry north of Pontiac Motor Division in an area bounded by the north end of the plant, Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, Walton Boulevard and Joelyn Avenue.

Most of that land is vacant, a small part is now zoned residential. The site would not include Joyce Park.

To the southeast of Pontiac Motor, the land bounded by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, Walton Boulevard and Joelyn Avenue.

Wreckage from the fiberglass body was strewn about 150 feet along both sides of the road, police said.

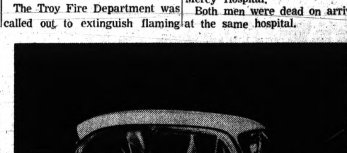

The impact hurled both men from the cars and forced the engine of Krasinski's auto back into the front seat.

The Troy Fire Department was called out to extinguish flames at the same hospital.

Both men were dead on arrival at the same hospital.

The car in which Miss Biedzinski was a passenger was not set afire. She was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Both men were dead on arrival at the same hospital.

Bad Taste to Brag of Promotion

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband has just been made vice president of his firm and of course I am very proud of this. I have been telling the good news to our friends and acquaintances as I see them.

A: My husband objects to this and considers it in very bad taste because he feels it is bragging. I think it is only natural to want to tell this to our friends and that he is being overly modest. I would appreciate your views on this matter.

A: You would naturally and properly tell a few of your intimate friends of your husband's promotion, but to broadcast it to every one you see would not be in good taste, and the news itself of very questionable interest to most of them.

Q: When seated at a table in a crowded restaurant with someone who is a stranger, is it considered rude to read one's newspaper or a book in the presence of this other person? I know it is not good manners to read at table when others are present, but does the fact that the other person is a stranger, alter the rule?

A: If the table is small and your large newspaper may possibly disturb your table companion, you should not read it. There is, however, no reason why you may not read a book.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects. To obtain a copy of the booklet entitled "The Bride's Trouseau," send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Hyvarinen-Proctor Vows Heard Friday Evening

Candlelight vows of Margaret Ann Proctor to Jacob A. Hyvarinen were spoken beneath an arch of lemon leaves and gladioli Friday evening in the First Assembly of God Church. The Rev. Arnold Haskman officiated.

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Proctor of Lake Angelus and the Charles Hyvarinen of Brimley are parents of the bride.

Advises Talk With Husband

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been married twice and am still in love with my first husband. We had two children. He loves me and wants us back. We were divorced over a silly argument. He and I both got stubborn and before we realized it, the divorce went through.

I married my second husband in a hurry to show my first husband I could still get a man. I am not in love with my second husband. He is younger than I. I guess we were both lonely.

Abby, I would give anything to be back with my first husband, raising our children together. Is there any way out of this mess?

SORRY NANCY

DEAR SORRY: A woman who pulls wedding rings off, and replaces them nonchalantly, doesn't deserve to be rescued from a mess of her own making. Talk it over with your second husband.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is in the Army. He will not be home for seven months. He wants to send me money to go and buy myself a diamond engagement ring. We went looking for rings when he was home so I know his taste. Is this the way to get engaged? Or will people think we are crazy?

SERGEANT'S SWEETHEART

DEAR SWEETHEART: If you have shopped for rings together and know what he would buy for you, don't worry about what people will think. Buy the ring.

DEAR ABBY: We are three girls who go together. A certain girl is trying to go with us. She sits at our lunch table and tries to get herself into our conversations. I hope you won't think we are stuck up, but we are afraid if we don't get rid of her she will give us a bad reputation. She has no friends and none of the boys cares for her. We have been

Tammin Perkins of Hilltop Drive is engaged in one of her favorite pastimes—sculpturing. The seventh grader from Milford Junior High School is among those who have entered their works in the Bloomfield Art Association's exhibition. Another specialty of Tammin is painting people. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perkins, she has already decided to take up commercial designing in the future.

Discusses Waywards

Frances Willard Unit of the Women's Christian Temperance Union heard George Corcoran, Oakland County Youth Assistance Bureau, discuss "The Pattern and Causes of Juvenile Delinquency" at Wednesday's meeting.

Mrs. Sophia Sulz spoke on "Conversion From The Heist," and Rev. Lola Martin gave the opening devotion on "We Owe Our Debt."

Mrs. Bonnie Hyde closed the session with prayer. Next month's meeting will be at the Richard Avenue home of Mrs. Sulz.

Four Square Club Enjoys Social Hour

Four Square Club, Order of the Amaranth, met at the home of Mrs. John Balch on Liberty Street. Members enjoyed a social hour following a short business meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Albert Kugler will open her home on Rosewood Drive for April's meeting.

Students and teachers alike will exhibit their work in the Bloomfield Art Association's annual "Masters and Apprentices" show opening Sunday.

Highlighting the afternoon will be a reception for students, their families and friends from 2 to 6 p.m.

Among localities displaying their achievements in the show containing oil paintings, water colors, drawings, sculpture, engravings and metal work produced by the more than 250 students now enrolled in classes will be Mrs. A. E. Kohn of Garland Avenue, Linda Sutton of Emerson Avenue and Tammin Perkins of Hilltop Drive.

The exhibit will be at the Birmingham Arts Center, the art association's headquarters, at 1516 S. Cranbrook Road, where the classes meet. Three recent works by each of the art association's nine award-winning instructors will be displayed in a separate gallery area.

Both Linda Sutton's charcoal sketch of her instructor Betty Conn and a sculptured horse's head in clay have been set aside by her teacher for the "Masters and Apprentices" show sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association. Here Linda sketches more of her favorites—people, animals and landscapes—during school hours at Bloomfield Hills Junior High where she is a ninth grader. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max C. Sutton of Emerson Avenue has hopes of being an art teacher.

The "masters," who devote time to creativity as well as teaching, are Betty Conn, Albert Mullen, Barbara Brock, Carolyn Hall, Dorothy Siddall, Svea Kline, Mildred E. Williams, Mary Jane Bigler and Kathleen Birch.

Each of the "apprentices," who range in age from 6 to 16, will be assisted by his instructor in selecting one best work from his 1961-62 class sessions for the exhibition which continues through April 22.

The public may view the works from 2 to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday.

Enrollments in art, sculpture and other classes hit a record high during the current season, according to the association.

The educational achievement was facilitated by the move last spring from smaller headquarters to the former Birmingham sewage treatment plant, which the association converted into an arts center.

"Spring Romance," though a favorite of Mrs. A. E. Kohn of Garland Avenue, is a painting which hangs among her others at home. A former art teacher, Mrs. Kohn, for whom art is no longer just a hobby but "a part of her life," has entered "Mexican Madonna" in the Bloomfield Art Association's annual "Masters and Apprentices" show opening Sunday. Mrs. Kohn specializes in flowers and landscapes.

Students Receive Awards

Hard Work Honored at U. of M.

BY SHARON WARREN

Campus Correspondent

The hard work which some students have exhibited at the University of Michigan is receiving recognition. The news centers around achievements and awards.

Thirty-nine Michigan college students, including 20 from the University of Michigan, are among 1,058 who will receive Woodrow Wilson Fellowships, one of the nation's top honors, given by that foundation annually to seniors who plan graduate study as a step to college teaching.

The University of Michigan places first nationally among state-supported universities in the number of candidates chosen since the plan began in 1945.

Honorable mention was given to William F. Cartwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cartwright of Birmingham. His major field was chemistry, and he was enrolled in the college of literature, science and the arts.

The Arnold Air Society, a national honorary for outstanding Air Force ROTC cadets, has chosen its officers.

John E. Howell of Judson Street is the new information officer. John is a senior in the college of literature, science and the arts.

Some 257 top freshmen at the University of Michigan have won William J. Branstrom prizes for scholarships. Winners are freshmen who rank in the top 7 per cent of their school or college with a minimum of 15 hours of degree credit.

They will select one of 19 deluxe bound volumes, gold stamped with the University of Michigan seal, and will receive their books in a convocation May 11 at the Lydia Mendelsohn Theater.

The book list was prepared by the committee on university scholarships.

Winners from the Pontiac area were a nursing student, Donald L. Helmkamp of Oakman Road, and Brian D. Wideman in the college of literature, science and the arts.

Y. J. Miley, a literature, science and the arts student from Bloomfield Hills, was among the recognized.

Birmingham was well-represented with the following list of winners. From the college of literature, science and the arts were Edward H. Boothman, Michael J. Emery, Sally E. Reyden and Roger L. Prentiss.

Two students in the school of nursing were Margaret L. Chamberlain and Ruth A. Payton. David M. Sanborn, an engineering student, concludes the list.

Twenty-seven University of Michigan law students and recent alumni were named to the Order of the Coif, a national honor society.

Among 89 Kalamazoo Students

Coed Will Study Abroad

Judy Cantarella, daughter of Mrs. Charles Kelly, of Vineyard Avenue, is among 89 students at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, with the opportunity to spend six months at a university center overseas. They will embark Sept. 5.

These students will initiate the foreign study phase of the college's four-quarter plan for year-round education. Under the summer-study-abroad plan begun in 1958, some 119 students (including 72 this summer) have received scholarships to attend universities in Caen, France; Bonn, Germany; and Madrid, Spain.

Next fall, Kalamazoo College students will study in England; Quito, Ecuador; Aix, France; Muenster, Germany; Beirut, Lebanon; and Sierra Leone, West Africa, in addition to the Bonn and Caen locations.

Miss Cantarella was named to study at the university center in Aix.

Outstanding students named to the high scholarship list at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, totaled 78 during the fall semester, according to Registrar Clayton J. Maus.

Among those listed are Karen Rognaldson, daughter of the Elmer H. C. Rognaldson, Orchard Lake, also is on the high scholarship list.

Judy Hinkley, a freshman majoring in music, has been pledged into the Michigan State University Chapter of Alpha Phi Sorority. Her parents are the Don Hinkleys of Illinois Avenue.

Founded at Syracuse University in 1872, Alpha Phi is one of the oldest of the women's college social groups.

The Michigan State chapter was established in 1922, and the present chapter house, built several years later, is now known as "the house with the winding stairs."

Bridge Club Meets

Wednesday Duplicate Bridge Club held its weekly tournament at the Elks Temple with four pairs of winners at the six tables in play.

Second vice president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan, Mrs. Robert Forch of Dearborn, will address the Pontiac League at its annual dinner at the Elks Temple 6:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Former president of the LWV of Dearborn, Mrs. Forch has served on the state board since January 1961. That year she was elected second vice president and has since directed the state league's Action program on constitutional revision.

This work involved writing two books covering general aspects of revision and the constitutional aspects of taxation. The first volume was used by con-con candidates as well as league members. Mrs. Forch gave the league's testimony to the finance and taxation committee at con-con in January.

Other items on the evening's agenda are elections, adoption of the 1962-63 budget and selection of a study item on the local level.

Anyone interested may contact Mrs. G. A. Flessland or Lillian Davidson before Tuesday.

Coburness for the affair were Mrs. Murre Mumro, Mrs. C. T. Crowley and Mrs. Leon Yale.

Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club met at the Old Plantation Inn Thursday for a 6:30 p.m. dinner and public relations program.

Guest speaker for the evening, John Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, was introduced by program chairman Mrs. Lewis Cornell.

Mrs. Riley told highlights of his trip to the Orient as a part of the National Editorial Association of newspaper executives and publishers study group.

Public Relations Topic of Women's Meeting

Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club met at the Old Plantation Inn Thursday for a 6:30 p.m. dinner and public relations program.

Guest speaker for the evening, John Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, was introduced by program chairman Mrs. Lewis Cornell.

Mrs. Riley told highlights of his trip to the Orient as a part of the National Editorial Association of newspaper executives and publishers study group.

Eula Funk, District 10 chairwoman, was introduced as special guest at the affair by Mrs. H. C. Toney, club president. Miss Funk's comments included announcement of the state convention slated May 4-6 in Detroit.

Reservations for the April 1 District 10 meeting at Rosemond Hills, Southfield, were taken, and delegates to the state convention were elected. They are Mrs. John Landon, Mrs. Ralph Williams and Mrs. Cornell.

Bridge Club Meets

Wednesday Duplicate Bridge Club held its weekly tournament at the Elks Temple with four pairs of winners at the six tables in play.

Second vice president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan, Mrs. Robert Forch of Dearborn, will address the Pontiac League at its annual dinner at the Elks Temple 6:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Former president of the LWV of Dearborn, Mrs. Forch has served on the state board since January 1961. That year she was elected second vice president and has since directed the state league's Action program on constitutional revision.

This work involved writing two books covering general aspects of revision and the constitutional aspects of taxation. The first volume was used by con-con candidates as well as league members. Mrs. Forch gave the league's testimony to the finance and taxation committee at con-con in January.

Other items on the evening's agenda are elections, adoption of the 1962-63 budget and selection of a study item on the local level.

Anyone interested may contact Mrs. G. A. Flessland or Lillian Davidson before Tuesday.

Nuptials Performed in Detroit

A dinner-reception for 1,000 guests in the Shewan National Hall, Detroit, followed the nuptials of Lenita Frasse of Detroit to Eli Poponea, son of the Tom Poponeas of Mt. Clemens Street. Father Glen Frasse, Morari performed the ceremony in St. Trinity Roman Catholic Cathedral, Detroit.

The daughter of the Thomas Frasses of Sebia, Romania, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, John Mihail, Detroit. Mrs. Frasse was here for the wedding.

With her gown of white Italian lace, styled with cathedral train, the bride wore fingertip with illusion veiling. She carried white orchids, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. John Nien, Southfield, appeared in mint green chiffon. Sandra Seorobetz, Nancy Kereasy and Mary Jo Koren, Waterford, Janet Bondy and Gloria Moberg, Detroit and Diana Mace, Dearborn, wore apricot chiffon. They carried tea roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom, formerly of Bolta, Romania, had John Nien for his best man at the March 10 ceremony. Ushers were George Stancu of Urdula, Detroit and Diana Mace, Dearborn. George Moberg, Thomas Poponea, Nick Preda and Dan George.

DAR Is Slapped by Jackie in Press Interview

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Did and lonely women and their organizations, the Daughters of the American Revolution and young girls all figured today in Pakistan press reports about Jacqueline Kennedy.

Rawalpindi's Pakistan Times said Mrs. Kennedy had this exchange while chatting with Pakistani women journalists at a garden party Friday:

"Q. 'Mrs. Kennedy, since you supported the UNICEF greeting card (program) condemned by the Daughters of the American Revolution are you doing anything else to forward the cause of illiteracy and counteract reactionary influences?'

A. 'Well the best way to do it is to ignore such influences and any case it is mostly confined to old and lonely women and their organizations.'

UNICEF—The United Nations Children's Emergency Fund—ruefully greeted the DAR's objection to Americans aiding this international project.

The Pakistan Times also reported that Mrs. Kennedy, while talking to a group of pretty Pakistani girls at a party, said she had not seen an ugly girl since arriving in Pakistan Wednesday.

Eggs and Tomatoes Tossed at Philip

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Prince Philip was hit by two eggs and several tomatoes thrown as he visited the Argentine British Cultural Institute here today.

The action caught the touring British prince and his bodyguards by surprise.

Four persons were immediately arrested but there was no hint as to their identity or why they tossed the barrage at Philip.

He continued his day's activities, visiting British-owned meat plants and other areas.

10 Negro Dems in Dixie Race

Names Put on Ballot for County Party Posts in Ala.; 2 Unopposed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—County Democratic leaders have agreed to put the names of 10 Negroes on the May primary ballot for county party posts—2 of them without opposition.

"So to speak, we are as good as elected," Orzell Billingsley Jr., one of the Negroes, said of himself and Arthur Shores.

The other eight Negroes have opposition in their race; for position on the Jefferson County (Birmingham) Democratic executive committee.

A federal court suit by the Negroes seeking to force the party's acceptance of them as candidates was dismissed on the basis of the agreement.

Earl J. Ellis, chairman of the Jefferson County Democratic committee, said the elections subcommittee has agreed to place the Negroes' names on the ballot for committee posts.

His announcement came today, following the agreement and the dismissal of a federal court suit brought by the 10 Negroes.

U. S. District Judge H. Hobart Grooms dismissed the suit late Friday after he was informed of the agreement.

An attorney representing the party leaders named in the suit said the agreement "ends the dispute insofar as the courts are concerned."

Seeks Cuban Asylum

MIAMI (UPI)—An American tentatively identified as John Wilkes of Amarillo, Tex., landed a light plane in Cuba today and sought asylum as a political refugee, Radio Havana reported.

LOW AND SLOW — The world's fastest jet aircraft, the McDonnell F4H Phantom II, can also fly in slow motion. It proves it by pacing an old Ryan PT22 trainer. Recently clocked at over 1,600 m.p.h., the Phantom II can creep as slowly as 125 m.p.h. Flaps and a system controlling the air flow over the wings make this possible. The slow-flight capability is particularly valuable in making carrier landings. In photograph above, the Phantom II appears smaller than the trainer because it is farther from the camera plane.

Cuba Shake-Up Seems Started

Castro Transfers Many Government Officials, Ousts Very Few

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The government shake-up promised by Prime Minister Fidel Castro in a major address last week appeared today to be under way in Cuba.

Havana Radio announced a number of changes in position in high echelons. However, most of them represented transfers rather than dismissals.

Faure Chapon, now Cuba's ambassador to the Soviet Union, was named minister of communications, succeeding Paul Curbelo who became chief of the Cuban Air Force.

Luis Buch Rodriguez, secretary to the president and to the council of ministers, was appointed head of the Supreme Court.

Celia Sanchez, once Castro's private secretary, will succeed Buch in the secretary's post.

Commerce Minister Manuel Lizarzo became minister of interior commerce, a post formerly held by Maximo Berman who was assigned to other unspecified "government functions."

Chomon succeeds Sergio del Valle as air force chief.

Troy Toy Firm Wins Top Order for 'Turnpike'

A million-dollar order was received by AMT Corp. of Troy at the recent New York Toy Fair, a corporation spokesman said yesterday.

The one order was the largest ever placed on a single item at the fair. It was for the corporation's authentic model turnpike.

"The turnpike is a new concept in road racing," said Lois E. Ellis, sales manager. "It is an authentic one-twenty-fifth scale of a one-eighth-mile track and the only unit on the market in which the driver has complete steering control."

The turnpike will be available for delivery next fall.

To Meet the CAP at Clarkston School

CLARKSTON — A Civil Air Patrol-sponsored "get-acquainted night" for boys and girls 14 to 21 who are interested in aviation is scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. at Clarkston Junior High School.

Plans for establishment of a CAP squadron in the area are nearing completion and a squadron commander has already been designated.

First Lt. Robert K. Doyle, 8335 Perry Lake Road, will direct the unit when it is formed.

Lt. Col. Eugene J. Kempf, chief of staff of the Michigan Wing, CAP, will be at the meeting to show film on the CAP program and to answer questions.

Romney Slams Swainson for Con-Con Attack

DETROIT (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney charged today that Gov. John B. Swainson's "attack on me... makes it perfectly clear which party has injected partisanship into the constitutional convention."

Romney, in a statement issued by his campaign headquarters here, referred to Swainson's reaction to a proposal by con-con delegate John A. Hamann, R-East Lansing, president of Michigan State University, that the convention be recessed until November to free it of the pressure of political campaigns.

Swainson said "Hamann's proposal indicates that he recognizes the political atmosphere that pervaded the convention since the announcement by a delegate of his intention to run as a Republican candidate for governor."

Romney said he had pledged that he would not inject partisanship into the con-con and that he had maintained that pledge.
