

UAW Moves Threaten to Split Up AFL-CIO

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—The hyphen in "AFL-CIO" has served since its founding as a reminder that the two major houses of labor never have completely resolved their differences.

Now the AFL-CIO's largest union, the United Auto Workers, is threatening to erase the hyphen, which also has welded two onetime bitter enemies into the most powerful labor force in history.

The International Executive Board of the UAW yesterday directed its top officers to resign their positions with the AFL-CIO Executive Council but stopped short of a final break.

However, it amended the agenda for an April 20-22 prebargaining convention to include discussion and action on a review of its relationship with the AFL-CIO, with the UAW's International Executive Board being authorized to take "whatever action in this regard will best serve the interests of the UAW, its members and their families, the entire labor movement and the nation as a whole.

These UAW actions climaxed months of stormy debate on policy within the AFL-CIO's governing Executive Council between George Meany, 73, president of the AFL-CIO, and Walter P. Reuther, 60, president of the UAW.

The threat of Reuther's 1.4-million member union to disaffiliate, however, was held by several in the top councils of the UAW as a move which the UAW hopes will "turn the AFL-CIO around in its thinking."

"One explained: 'If we continue to sit in the AFL-CIO council, we will be bound by its decisions and to keep our discussions generally within the confines of its meetings.'

This way," he continued, "we can write and say what we want and our opinions will get back to the rank and file of all labor organizations and to the general public, who may call upon the AFL-CIO leadership for explanation."

Still another said "We don't want to have a big fight in a little circle—we're looking for a bigger field."

Of course, the latest action leaves the way clear for Reuther to lead his membership out of the AFL-CIO in April. There is no doubt the UAW convention will give him whatever he wants.

While some within the UAW insisted Reuther would do almost anything to preserve the amalgamation, AFL-CIO sources said in Washington they now think there is a "distinct possibility" the UAW will pull out.

They said they were caught by surprise, but Meany reportedly made no immediate overtures to dissuade Reuther and the UAW from their course. He moved, instead, they said, toward deciding who to recommend for election in Reuther's place as an AFL-CIO vice president and executive council member.

A high-ranking UAW source said the executive board "is not ready as things stand today to recommend secession to the April convention." But the source would not rule out the possibility.

While Reuther and the other officers of the UAW were told to get out of all executive council activities, Reuther continues as head of the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union department, the largest within the parent organization and containing most of the former CIO unions.

These include the 1.2-million United Steelworkers, the International Association of Machinists and the International Union of Electrical Workers, among others.

There is no question Reuther is the dominant figure in this department and would want its support in any withdrawal action. His continuance as its head also would prevent the possible attempted take-over by Meany of a battle among others for the top job.

County Rift Ends on Mental Health

By JOE MULLEN

A lengthy dispute over mental health jurisdiction in Oakland County ended yesterday paving the way for funding of a $250,000 federal staffing grant to Pontiac State Hospital.

Key to the agreement between the hospital and County Community Mental Health Services Board was mutual consent for joint participation in services to a 14-township area.

Last summer, when the hospital grant was approved, the hospital sought full mental health jurisdiction over the northern Oakland County townships containing one-fifth of the county population.

5 Are Missing as Fire Sweeps Platform in Gulf

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Five workers were missing after a spectacular fire swept a drilling platform in the Gulf of Mexico about 35 miles southeast of Cameron, La., last night.

Boats waited for daylight to make a search of surrounding waters. Intense heat kept salvage crews off the platform during the night.

One of the 10 workers on the platform who escaped, R. E. Campbell of Alleyton, Tex., said "We heard a spewing sound and then an explosion."

"Everything on the platform was on fire and the diesel fuel was running down onto the deck below and it was on fire."

Missing were Jim Duddleston, a welder of Cameron, La.; Ardell Clark, Singer, La.; Charles Clark, DeQuincy, La.; David Hester, DeQuincy, La.; and Charles E. Bishop, Vidor, Tex.

The platform and its drilling rig, are each valued at about $500,000.

TRAFFIC JAM—Relief may be in store for the weekday traffic jams outside Pontiac Central High School at opening and closing hours. Signs prohibiting stopping, parking and standing have gone up on West Huron in front of the school, and parking will be disallowed on a portion of Washington behind the school. The latter move is to permit parents to pick up students on that street. New signs on Washington will be put up in the next few days.

Smoke Killed Trio, Apollo Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Apollo astronauts reported fire in their spaceship three times within nine seconds and had started prescribed escape action when they died, investigators say.

A preliminary report made public last night — almost one week to the hour after the Cape Kennedy launch pad accident — indicated that smoke rather than fire killed the three astronauts.

"The official death certificates of the crew members list the cause of death as asphyxiation due to smoke inhalation due to the fire," said Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr., deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In his lengthy report to NASA Administrator James E. Webb, Seamans said investigators still are without direct clues on what sparked the inferno during a test countdown that resulted in the deaths of Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA's associate administrator for manned space flight, said three unmanned Apollo flights will be launched this year as scheduled.

CABIN, SUITS

The report said the cabin pressure, cabin temperature, and oxygen suit supply temperature were normal up to the time the fire was detected at 6:31:03 p.m. It gave this sequence of events:

6:31:03 — Chaffee reports a fire in the spacecraft.

6:31:04 — The spacecraft's inertial platform indicates a small amount of motion which may have been caused by movement of the crew.

6:31:05 — Cabin temperature starts to rise.

REPEATS REPORT

6:31:06 — White repeats report of fire in the cockpit. Cabin pressure starts to rise and inertial platform shows a larger amount of motion. "This means the crewmen were commencing their emergency egress procedure," the report says.

6:31:12 — Cabin temperature starts to increase rapidly. Chaffee reports bad fire exists in the cabin. He increases illumination of cabin lights and turns on the craft's internal batteries.

6:31:17 — Cabin pressure reaches a level of about 25 pounds per square inch. Cabin ruptures.

After the third report of fire, the report said, "No other intelligible communications were received although some listeners believe there was one sharp cry of pain. Loss of radio signals occurred a few seconds later."

Hunters in Blue but Faces Red

By DAVID J. COOK

It was a deer and not a fox and the hunters wore blue coats instead of red, but for the participants, it was as exciting a hunt as ever graced Merrie Old England.

The antlerless deer was a "young buck," said plant protection workers at Pontiac Motor Division.

"Definitely a large doe," observed one of three Pontiac police captains who directed efforts to chase, corner, capture or get rid of the 125-pound animal.

Not about to be caught, however, was their quarry, which appeared during lunch break at Pontiac Motor offices at Oakland and Baldwin.

Office workers got the chase under way.

SIZABLE FORCE

City patrolmen William Bookie and John Bridgewater were called to the scene about 12:30 unaware they were to be the first representatives of a sizable assembly of state and city officers.

Bookie's radio report to headquarters of the fleeing deer set the police wavelength crackling with reports from other officers.

"Thirteen to station one . . . I'm at Baldwin and Howard . . . she's lookin' right at me."

"Traffic six to thirteen, is that you behind the white house? She just took off, headed north on Baldwin."

MOVING FAST

"Six to one . . . I'm on Baldwin, she just crossed in front of me and moving towards Oakland . . . fast."

So it went for the next hour, with the spy animal crossing Montcalm and pulling away from a field of eight patrol cars, an officer serving a summons, two state conservation officials, the city dog warden and a public works truck.

Finally the deer collapsed in a field between Mae and Corwin.

There, the entourage of pursuers piled up. As police cars crept around corners (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3)

Chinese Claim Russia Beat 31 in Embassy Raid

MOSCOW (AP)—The Red Chinese Embassy charged today that 31 members of its staff, including three women, were beaten last night in a Soviet raid on the embassy by "170 goons and youths."

The Chinese called the alleged raid "a barbaric, fascist act."

They said Charge d'Affaires an Chih-yuan, the acting ambassador, was among the injured.

The Chinese asserted the Soviets tore down showcases on embassy property, outside the building.

One display window contained pictures and Chinese charges that Soviet police seriously beat a group of Chinese students in Red Square Jan. 25.

'INJURIES FAKED'

The Soviets say the Chinese students provoked the Red Square incident and faked injuries.

Soviet authorities ordered the controversial display removed yesterday. The Chinese refused.

Tass news agency reported last night that indignant Soviet citizens "took away the slanderous materials" at the Chinese embassy. It denied Chinese diplomats were beaten.

The Soviets described the Chinese version as "nothing but slander and provocation from beginning to end."

NEWS CONFERENCE

The Chinese Embassy called a news conference to repeat its version and describe the Soviet account as "just impertinent."

Chinese spokesman Miao Chun told the conference that Russians "beat up diplomats from our embassy brutally and like fascists."

He read a statement addressed to the Soviet government which charged the display cases were torn down "on your orders."

The statement objected to the removal of the display case containing the Chinese version of the Red Square scuffle 10 days ago.

Why Grow Old?

The rules for best health and most energy are so simple that we may fail to give them the importance they deserve.

Yet these same simple rules have been reinforced by research and medical backing during the past few years.

Take the question of exercise! Today it is considered an important factor in slowing up the process of hardening of the arteries, and thus in avoiding heart attacks and strokes, and it strengthens the heart.

Regular exercise is thought to be preventative to many of the chronic diseases of middle age. It is an antidote for strain and stress, and it also redistributes weight more attractively!

Enough sleep is an essential for greatest efficiency and the most zestful living. Lack of it can make a tremendous difference in your disposition and your reactions as well as your appearance.

The importance of the food we eat is constantly being highlighted in research laboratories and by various studies.

We know now that our mental and emotional habits are as important as our physical habits. Boredom will age one and worry can make a person ill. A cheerful outgoing attitude is one of the best of all rejuvenators.

We must learn how to relax. As all nature knows, life consists of cycles or rhythms. It must have work and then relaxation.

Moderation in all things, except enthusiasm, seems to be the rule. We can be as immoderately enthusiastic as we wish! Otherwise - moderation.

An active interested mind is likely to be reflected in a well body.

The platform and its drilling rig, are each valued at about $500,000.

Four gas wells had been previously completed from the platform for the CATCO group, a joint venture of Continental, Atlantic-Richfield, Tidewater and Cities Service companies.

The mental health board, however, resisted entering an agreement and this lack of a compact between the two mental health units held up the federal grant.

Yesterday's agreement was hailed by Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, and Paul N. Averill, chairman of the mental health board.

JURISDICTION

In essence, the agreement gives the hospital jurisdiction over three new services including a 30-bed inpatient unit at the hospital which will receive emergency patients directly.

Other new services performed by the hospital will be intensive night care treatment on a five day week basis and pre- and aftercare for out-patients.

The staffing grant will be used to recruit personnel for the new services at the hospital as well as expansion of existing services the hospital will continue to perform.

These include inpatient adult care, outpatient clinic, day care for adults, day care for children and inpatient services for children and adolescents.

SIZABLE FORCE

City patrolmen William Bookie and John Bridgewater were called to the scene about 12:30 unaware they were to be the first representatives of a sizable assembly of state and city officers.

Bookie's radio report to headquarters of the fleeing deer set the police wave-length crackling with reports from other officers.

"Thirteen to station one . . . I'm at Baldwin and Howard . . . she's lookin' right at me."

"Traffic six to thirteen, is that you behind the white house? She just took off, headed north on Baldwin."

"MOVING FAST"

"Six to one . . . I'm on Baldwin, she just crossed in front of me and moving towards Oakland . . . fast."

So it went for the next hour, with the spiny animal crossing Montclair and pulling away from a field of eight patrol cars, an officer serving a summons, two state conservation officials, the city dog warden and a public works truck.

Finally the deer collapsed in a field between Mae and Corwin.

There, the entourage of pursuers piled up.

Romney North for Traditional U.P. Inaugural

MARQUETTE (AP) — Calling for a physically and economically united Michigan, third-term Gov. George Romney was inaugurated for the sixth time today in an Upper Peninsula ceremony that has become a tradition of his administration.

Although officially inaugurated in Lansing on Jan. 2, Romney, his wife, Lenore, and other state officials flew to Marquette on the chilly shores of Lake Superior for his third U.P. inauguration.

In a speech to be delivered at Northern Michigan University's 5,200-seat fieldhouse, Romney stressed the need for the removal of "the present stifling tolls on the Mackinac Bridge and praised the U.P. for its progress in recovering from economic problems.

Although he emphasized matters of Upper Peninsula interest, Romney's speech covered much the same territory as did his Jan. 2 message in which he called for fiscal reform and tax action in the present legislative session.

Only last Thursday Romney recommended a $1.15 billion budget for fiscal 1967-68 and called for a state income tax in his annual budget recommendations.

"I have said before, and I say again," Romney emphasized, "we will not spend more next year than we are willing to pay for in taxes."

He also repeated his call for Michigan "to move ahead into a new generation of progress."

"Together we have passed through a period of preparation," he said. "The people have a new attitude about their state — a new involvement in its affairs — a new optimism for its future."

Taking a swing at the Democratic federal administration, Romney, considered a top contender for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, said the people "see the futility of trying to meet tomorrow's complex human problems with yesterday's over-simplified government answers."

"The people feel the stifling consequences of over-centralization, conformity, manipulated consensus, and arbitrary, unchecked power, whether public or private."

TRAFFIC JAM—Relief may be in store for the weekday traffic jams outside Pontiac Central High School at opening and closing hours. Signs prohibiting stopping, parking and standing have gone up on West Huron in front of the school, and parking will be disallowed on a portion of Washington behind the school. The latter move is to permit parents to pick up students on that street. New signs on Washington will be put up in the next few days.

Charge Is Dropped Pending Mental Test

An attempted murder charge brought against a Huntington Woods man in the stabbing of an Oakland University coed has been temporarily dismissed so he can receive psychiatric treatment.

In dismissing the case yesterday, Pontiac Township Justice of the Peace R. Grant Graham explained the prosecutor's office can renew the charge against Roger B. Shaw when he is released from a mental institution.

The decision was made at Shaw's preliminary court examination.

Shaw, 23, of 26116 Wyoming was arrested following the knifing of Janice E. Levenenz, 20, whom he had formerly dated.

The stabbing took place Jan. 19 in Shaw's car on a campus parking lot.

WAS RELEASED

Miss Levenenz of 2077 N. Opdyke, Pontiac Township, has since been released from William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where she underwent emergency surgery for an abdominal wound.

Asst. Prosecutor John Davey said it was necessary to agree to the dismissal because Shaw could not be admitted to a hospital while the charge was pending against him.

Graham said letters from two psychiatrists said Shaw was in need of immediate treatment because he had both homicidal and suicidal tendencies.

Shaw has been free on $5,000 bond.

He and Miss Levenenz had gone together for six months before breaking up in December. At about the same time, Shaw voluntarily committed himself to Pontiac State Hospital but left after 10 days.

Miss Levenenz is a senior majoring in business economics.

Coin Show Visitors Have a Golden Opportunity

BIRMINGHAM — Visitors to the Birmingham-Bloomfield Coin Show at Community House, 360 S. Bates, Sunday can strike gold. One of the door prizes at the third annual event is a U.S. $10 gold piece, worth about $27 currently, according to Thomas Alexander, secretary of the club.

Other door prizes will include U.S. proof sets. These are made from polished dies at the mint and are hand-pressed, Alexander said. The numismatics show will be open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The show has a triple purpose. It serves as a chance for dealers to get together, collectors to show their special displays, and the general public to learn about and view coins.

Some 25 collections will be on display featuring series of U.S., foreign and ancient coins. Dealers from all over the Middle West and Canada will conduct a "bourse."

MARKET — Alexander said at a bourse, which is a place where dealers exchange information and offer to buy, sell or trade with each other. "It's sort of a market," he said.

Of interest to the amateur or a person who possesses a few coins or even one will be a service offered by the coin experts.

They will give free appraisals of coins and identify foreign coins, Alexander said. "A person can bring a coin he feels may be valuable and let them take a look," he said.

One collector will show coins that would be illegal today. They are "lovetokens" made in the 1800s.

These were circulating coins which had one side ground smooth and initials, a symbol or short message inscribed. Alexander pointed out defacing coins is against the law today. Some 1,500 persons visited the club's show last year. This year the accent is on educational and informative displays.

5 Americans Freed by Reds — Yank Convicted by Czechs Heads List

By The Associated Press
Vladimir Kazan-Komarek, a travel agent convicted on espionage charges in a Czech court this week, today became the fifth American, within a few hours to be released from a Communist prison.

Kazan-Komarek was reported flying back to the United States, according to the State Department. He had been sentenced to eight years imprisonment after his conviction "for attempted overthrow of the government and espionage."

The other four Americans to gain their freedom all crossed into West Berlin last night after being released from prison in Communist East Germany.

They were Mary Helen Batte, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; William W. Lovett, 26, San Francisco, Calif.; Moses Reese Herrin, 26, Akron, Ohio; and Frederick Matthews, 24, Ellwood City, Pa.

All had been imprisoned more than a year, but were released before their sentences were over.

ESCAPE ATTEMPTS — Lovett had been charged in connection with a traffic accident in Leipzig and the other three with attempting to aid East Germans escape to the West.

Lawyers Jürgen Stange of West Berlin and Wolfgang Vogel of East Berlin cooperated with State Department officials in effecting the releases.

De pointed out that no new federal funds are earmarked for the program but that the Federal County is forced to continue its program on carry-over funds.

Deer Hunters in Blue Turn Red — Out from behind a parked car she hoped, scantily clad, a middle-aged male driver who never had a chance to hit the brakes.

The deer was gone in an instant, across the street and out of sight in a thicket near the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

The driver managed a sick smile and kept going, apparently unwilling to believe what had happened.

Police, relieved, were content to return to the humdrum world of fighting crime.

Mental Health Rift Ends; Way Paved for U.S. Funds

Existing hospital facilities will be used for the new services as well as for those presently offered. Staff recruiting will begin immediately.

Under the agreement, the mental health board will provide consultation and education services in the 14-township area.

It also will offer emergency outpatient services and outpatient diagnostic and treatment services to children and their families through its present contract with Child Guidance Clinics, Inc.

The hospital and mental health board in their agreement for the 14-township area will be known as Pontiac State Hospital Community Mental Health Center.

SOUGHT MORE

Two board members, Dr. Harry Arnkoff and Kenneth Morris, expressed lack of complete agreement on the compact yesterday, but both emphasized they intended to approve it. The board unanimously approved it 10 minutes later.

Dr. Arnkoff questioned the need for the board to provide emergency service and Morris expressed concern that the City of Pontiac was not included in the specified service area.

He noted that some 30,000 hourly rated workers are employed in plant plants and thought it unfortunate the city was excluded.

Attempts had been made by the board to meet with Gov. George Romney to clarify functions of the board and the State Department of Mental Health prior to entering an agreement. The agreement, however, precludes the meeting slated for next week.

The median family income of families in the United States involved is being done as a precautionary measure, the division stated.

HAPPY OCCASION—Dr. Donald W. Martin (left), medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, and Paul N. Averill, chairman of the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board, exchanged greetings after the two mental health units reached an agreement outlining services each will perform in the northern area of the county.

Transit Net Backers Await Romney Bill

DETROIT (UPI)—Supporters of a proposed rapid transit system in six counties in southern Michigan have decided to wait to push their campaign until they see a bill Gov. George Romney plans to submit to the Legislature.

Walter Schweikart, president of the Michigan Motor Bus Association, said, "we hear the governor's bill will be exactly what we want."

A meeting of local transportation leaders scheduled to draft a bill yesterday was postponed indefinitely.

Schweikart said he and other bus and railroad officials want a metropolitan transit authority that will provide for efficient transportation, but also protect employees working for private bus firms which might be bought by the government agency and provide a fair price for the transit companies.

Mental Health Board to Move

The Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board administration headquarters will move from 1 Lafayette to 1800 Woodward, Birmingham, effective March 1.

Board members authorized the move from the old county building yesterday to provide more space for the expanding mental health operation.

A one-year lease agreement was approved by the board for 3,000 square feet on the second floor of the new building located north of 14 Mile. The lease fee is $15,000.

Office space for 16 employees is provided in the new location.

compared to accommodations for just eight in the county building. A conference room and storage space also are available in the Birmingham building.

The lease agreement gives the mental health board an option to extend the one-year term.

Future housing of the mental health offices is earmarked either for the east wing of the county courthouse now under construction or for the present Oakland Schools administration headquarters which will be vacated within two years and taken over by the county.

GMC Truck Urges Check

GMC Truck & Coach Division of General Motors has notified 68 customers to check the tightness of a clamp bolt nut, and set screw on the power steering assemblies of their Model PD4107 intercity coaches.

GMC Truck & Coach said the bolt nut and set screw anchor the power steering piston rod in the assembly's end socket and looseness could possibly result in loss of power assist and, in some circumstances, steering control.

Checking of the clamp bolt nut and set screw on 365 coaches involved is being done as a precautionary measure, the division stated.

Attempts had been made by the board to meet with Gov. George Romney to clarify functions of the board and the State Department of Mental Health prior to entering an agreement. The agreement, however, precludes the meeting slated for next week.

The median family income of families in the United States involved is being done as a precautionary measure, the division stated.

Junior Editors Quiz on 'IOWA'

QUESTION: How did Iowa get its name of the Hawkeye State?

ANSWER: The state of Iowa has a lot of which to be proud. Its rich, black soil grows crops so well that it is said to be of more value than all the world's gold and silver mines put together. It is first among our state for production of corn, hogs, eggs and oats.

It is second only to Minnesota in butter production. And it is one of the leading states in the production of soybeans, honey, alfalfa and hay. The farmers of Iowa proudly call their state "The land where the tall corn grows."

From educational statistics we know that Iowa farmers, besides being hard working, are also smart. Iowa has a higher percentage of people who can read and write than any other state. There is also much food processing going on in Iowa, as well as the manufacture of farm machinery and washing machines.

As the white settlers moved west, the Fox and Sauk Indian tribes signed a contract giving over their lands east of the Mississippi River. But Black Hawk, one of the chiefs, would not honor the contract.

His tribe refused to move and fought the Black Hawk War, in which they were defeated. The chief died near Des Moines in 1838. It is due to Black Hawk's fame that Iowa acquired its nickname of the Hawkeye State.

1968 Budget Makes Dollars, Sense

Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY Thursday gave Michiganders a look at his proposed budget for fiscal 1967-68. It represents a record-breaking spending program of $1.1 billion for the year beginning July 1.

ROMNEY

The budget encompasses an overhaul of the State's tax structure, a tax dear to the heart of the governor that has twice been rejected by the legislature. Main provisions of his tax-reform program are:

- A corporate and personal income tax of 5 and 2½ per cent respectively.
- An 8 per cent tax on financial institutions.
- A 3-cent increase in cigarette tax.
- A 10 per cent cut in property tax.
- A $10 per person sales-tax credit related to income tax.
- Repeal of the business activities tax and raising of the intangible-tax exemption from $20 to $100.

The net of the pluses and minuses would give the State's general fund new revenue of $255 million for the upcoming fiscal year. Taken with the $38 million surplus foreseen at the beginning of it and projected revenue of $932.9 million during it, Michigan would wind up with a $72.7 million surplus July 1, 1968.

This fiscal concept is tied to substantial spending increases in the areas of education, mental health, social services, conservation, public health, State Police and the judiciary, civil rights programs and capital outlay. These and other increases total $128 million.

Currently the State is spending money much faster than it is being taken in to keep abreast of "built-in" budget commitments, expanded services for the citizenry and rising wage and materials costs.

Unless Michigan is again to sink into the morass of deficit operation and near-insolvency that marked the 14 years of Democratic dominance of the Statehouse, additional operating revenue must be forthcoming. The need is urgent.

We believe ROMNEY's approach to the problem is both enlightened and realistic, and worthy of support.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Charles Wayo, enrolled recently at Boy's Town in Nebraska, came from the village of Kofi Pare in Ghana by sheer faith. One of a family of six girls and three boys, he learned about God from his mother and father. He says, "God lets things go the way he wants them to go."

His driving desire was to get an education. Without shoes, he journeyed to Accra to go to school. There was no room for him, but he stayed and worked as a janitor and slept in a tree. He learned to read English from the lessons left in the class rooms. Finding the address of an American Air Force officer, he wrote to him about his ambitions and received in return $100. Part of this he gave to his mother and with the rest he set out in January, 1964, on his long trek to an education.

It took him six months to travel from Ghana through Togo, Upper Volta, Dahomey, Chad, Nigeria, Niger and across the Sahara Desert. In the Sahara he had to eat raw birds. He was finally picked up by French soldiers and sent to Morocco. There he stowed away on a fishing trawler and found himself in Spain. He walked through Spain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany and Austria, learning languages as he went. And all of this without a passport.

Finally a compassionate friend he met sent him to an American Embassy and with the help of others they got him to Boy's Town. He did all this because, as he says, "I have a vision that I will be something some day. I must get an education and work for my people."

Confident Living:

Learn to Take Things in Stride

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There is a story about a Chinese man who tied a pot of soup to the end of a pole. He was walking along, pole over shoulder, when the pot fell off and smashed into many pieces.

DR. PEALE

Without as much as a backward glance he kept right on walking. Somebody excitedly called after him, "Your crock is broken and your soup is gone. Why don't you stop and do something about it?"

"What can I do about it?" he said calmly. "The crock is broken and the soup is spilt. I might as well keep on going."

This kind of philosophical attitude should indeed help us to get along with the vicissitudes of human existence. There is a certain amount of trouble and disappointment in the world, and you have to take your share sooner or later. There is no use getting upset about it.

And it is a good idea to look for the good in things. It helps to develop a calmer philosophy.

On our farm we have a number of gigantic maple trees—several may be as much as 150 years old. One March night a storm raged down over the New York State hills and one of these old trees went down.

Verbal Orchids

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Sutton of Ortonville; 52nd wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Marion Perigo of Ortonville; 82nd birthday.

Mrs. Laila Cook of Holly; 90th birthday.

George E. McKnight of N.E. Sanford; 81st birthday.

It fell across a fence breaking it down. It fell upon some giant rhododendrons and smashed them to the ground. The tree lay prostrate.

Observing this fallen tree I said, "Why did it have to fall across the fence? Why couldn't it have fallen across the road so the county would take care of it?"

Wiser than I, my wife who practices philosophical calm said, "Suppose the large tree next to the house had fallen! It would have crashed on your library. Or suppose a child had been beneath it!"

There comes a time when you have to face hard facts and be able to take things as they come. You must develop the ability to take what comes, meet it calmly, keep your mental processes operating, do the best you can and keep the sources of Divine power open. In the words of St. Paul, "having done all, stand."

When you have done all you can, what more can you do? Don't go and do it all over again. Just stand and have faith. St. Paul learned in whatever state he was to be content. He drew on the deep source of philosophical understanding—as every man must if he wants to be able to take everything as it comes in life.

The other day I thought of the grocery store where I worked as a boy. It was cool and clean, filled with sweet odors. If you wanted cheese, there was a huge round of Wisconsin or New York State cheese on the counter with an enormous knife beside it. You'd whack off a piece for yourself, then reach into the cracker barrel and get yourself a handful of crackers to eat with the cheese. The grocer had to figure on so much free cheese and crackers every day.

The grocer for whom I worked stands as a great figure in the history of my young life. A series of quick tragedies happened to him. I was young and did not understand much of what was happening but noticed that he would go into the back room of the store and stay for a long time, saying as he went, "Norman, you mind the business up front. I've got to go into the back room, and please do not disturb me."

It was some time before I discovered what he did back there. He had a little corner where he prayed. He would kneel down on an old burr oak bench beside a box of supplies. Once I peeked in and saw him praying, head in hands.

Finally he would come out, his face lighted up with a strange peacefulness written all over it. One time he said, "If you get a grip on God He'll handle anything that comes along."

He was no theologian. He was educated in the subtle school of life. But he had learned to take things as they come and to be content, whatever state he was in.

The next time I was in the store I took a little bit of power to maintain a diet, but it takes even more won't power.

A fortune cookie is a gal with a wealthy dad.

When the Lord took Adam's rib, he created the first conversation piece.

"What is Truth?" puzzled the ancient philosophers. It also puzzles men sometimes.

Deliveries During Storm Discussed by Subscriber

Wasn't it a rather amusing coincidence that during the recent storm Pontiac Press carriers managed to deliver papers every day—even in outlying areas such as Highland and White Lake Township—and the United States Post Office was unable to deliver any mail from Thursday until the following Monday?

This seems to be a mute but pointed testimony of the gross inefficiency of all government agencies when compared to private enterprise. The U.S. Post Office doesn't really need to give service to stay in business and at any opportunity they manage to prove that fact most clearly.

Thank you for the good service. You were the one bright spot in that rather dull weekend.

Explains Bond Issue for Milford Voters

Voters of Milford school district should realize we are a growing community. The present building program will make our physical education facility overcrowded. Our taxes will not go up, they will be extended for a longer period. By extending them we will allow new people who move into our school district to help pay for it.

If the bond issue is approved February 25, it will be possible to let contracts for the pool at the same time as the high school classroom addition. This will result in considerable savings of cost and provide the added physical education facilities when they are needed.

Do residents of Pontiac Township know that after February 28 they will no longer have available to them the facilities of the Pontiac City Library? I have been told at the library this is because the township doesn't wish to pay the fee to belong.

'Support Is Needed for Osteopathic School'

The Legislature of Michigan has given the okay for a medical school for Michigan State. How about doing the same for the osteopathic school we are trying to get for Pontiac. We need the school and more good osteopathic doctors, as well as medical doctors. All I want is to see that the legislators do not discriminate against the fine osteopathic doctors we have here in Pontiac.

Discusses Possibility of Reducing Benefits

Congress is not only asking but demanding that the debt ceiling be raised $7 billion. Secretary Henry H. Fowler says if it is not raised the payments of Social Security, disability benefits and veterans' pensions will be in jeopardy. The people who have contributed most of their working years will be the first to suffer. Where is all the money taken from our paychecks these many years? If it were put in a bank or invested they would be held responsible for payment. Should we not be able to put the same trust in our government?

Question and Answer

A factory was built next to us, and the machines vibrate our whole house, from seven in the morning until 12:30 at night. We're zoned commercial, but thought it was supposed to be light manufacturing, which this isn't. How can we get help without moving? We've lived here 17 years. My husband has lived here 25 years and is a vet. Township gives us no help nor lawyers.

REPLY

Township Supervisor Terry says so far as the Township is concerned the company is not in violation of zoning ordinances. He says this is a civil suit which will have to be decided in the courts.

Michigan Bell Spending Good Sign of Times

Reflecting its confidence in the economic growth of the Pontiac area, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will spend $4.4 million on expansion and improvement of communications facilities.

The local expenditure is part of a statewide outlay of $184 million, equalling last year's record figure, for a broad program of new buildings and additions to existing ones, expansion of the long distance dialing network to cover nine more communities and installation of a record amount of exchange cable.

Although normal population growth and demand for telephone service account for maximum utilization of the company's present facilities, they are further taxed by the increasing tendency of subscribers to upgrade their service—from two- to one-party lines.

And, perhaps reflecting the tempo and prosperity of the times, subscriber's use of their telephones is steadily increasing.

The Press shares the gratification of the community over the progressive outlook evidenced by Michigan Bell and commends our good neighbor on the superb job done in keeping abreast with the remarkable development of this area and the State.

Guardians of the Peace Wear Many Hats

Writing in a recent issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Director J. Edgar Hoover reminds us "that the role of the policeman in our society goes far beyond the sworn duty of enforcing the law and arresting lawbreakers. Modern-day computers would be taxed to process the thousands of special services performed for the public by law enforcement officers every day."

Despite hamstringing decrees by the U.S. Supreme Court and the hollow cry of "police brutality" by un-American elements who profane freedom by abuse of it, our guardians of the law do a superb job for the citizenry as a whole.

City's 'Deficit Budget' Defined

By DICK SAUNDERS

How many people understand what Pontiac faces? How many know what the term "deficit budget" means?

Often the answer to the above question is: Not enough.

The city has just unveiled a deficit city budget for 1967. The deficit is about $540,000.

This means the city expects to spend $540,000 more than its 1967 income will produce. But the budget will balance because city officials are going to take a 1966 surplus of about $540,000 and add it to 1967 income.

SIMPLE ENGLISH

Now let's break this down into simple English.

Assume you budget $40 for food each week. Suddenly, food prices go up so that you must spend $50 per week for the same amount of food.

Let's also assume that last week you got lucky and were invited out to dinner three times. This left you with $30 spent on food and $10 left over.

You have a food bill that is going up $10 this week (to $50), and you have a $10 surplus from last week.

LOGICAL WAY

So, the logical way out is to give the little lady her $40 plus the 10 bucks surplus.

That takes care of this week nicely—just as the city's present "deficit budget" will take care of 1967 nicely.

But, what about the food bill next week?

Prices aren't going to recede. It's still going to cost $50 a week from now on. The big difference next week is that you won't have a $10 surplus.

ON YOUR OWN

You'll be on your own. Fortunately you will have some choices:

- You can go hungry one day each week.
- You can cut your boss for a $10 raise.
- You can eliminate one of the mouths you're now feeding.
- You can feed your wife and kids lower-quality food.

Obviously, for the welfare of your family, the wisest first choice is the $10 raise in income.

The city is in the same spot.

It may get through 1967 okay, but the ax is going to fall in 1968. Nearly all of the $540,000 hike this year is for wage increases to city employees.

NO CUTS

You don't hike wages this year and cut them next year.

That would be like the United Auto Workers and General Motors signing a two-year contract providing for pay increases in the first year and cuts in the second.

Such an agreement approaches the zenith of improbability.

Just as you would probably go to the boss for a raise to help balance the food budget, city officials will seek a "raise" to balance next year's municipal budget.

If the public says "No," the city will have to cut manpower and the quality of city services in 1968.

Communication Is Key Word in a Successful Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 40's and have been married 20 years. For some unknown reason my husband has stopped treating me as a wife. Recently when I told him I had missed his love and attention he said that he had his work and I had mine, and he was all through with "that kind of stuff." We have two children away at school and two at home.

He has been acting rather peculiar lately. I am 99 per cent certain there is no other woman involved yet I just can't understand his indifference. I keep myself neat and clean and I always bow to his wishes.

I would like to keep my marriage intact for the sake of the children, but if this is any sample of his life will be like after all the children are gone, it won't be worth living.

BUTTERFLY
DEAR BUTTERFLY: Please read the following letter.

DEAR ABBY: How do you convince your husband that you still love him but you aren't as young as you used to be, if you get what I mean?

After 20 years and five children shouldn't there be more to marriage than sex? If I am not as affectionate as he is, he puts and says I don't "love" him anymore.

Am I abnormal or is he? I always thought a man got less passionate after 40. Mine is unbelievable.

Please help me, Abby. I do love him, but I think he is expecting too much from a 41-year-old woman. TIED

Pastor Is Guest at Wayside Group

Rev. V. L. Martin, pastor of the Sunvale Chapel, spoke concerning "The Work of God" before the Wayside Gleasons Society, Friday, in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Joe R. Phillippe was heard in vocal solos "The Old-fashioned Home" and "He Giveth More Grace."

Mrs. A. D. Stimmer was hostess for the afternoon and Mrs. Bernard Muse was in charge of refreshments in the Valentine

DEAR BUTTERFLY AND TIED: I don't know what's "Normal" and neither does anyone else. Each person has his own emotional temperature, and what is "normal" for one could break someone else's thermometer.

Communication is the most important factor in marriage. As long as a man and wife are able to express their feelings, desires, frustrations, likes and dislikes frankly, their problems will be little ones.

Both of you, "TIED" and "BUTTERFLY," should take your husbands to a doctor, and all four of you should have physical examinations to rule out the possibility of physical deficiencies. Then hopefully the doctors will give you some helpful tips on how to adjust to what ails you.

Too bad "TIED" isn't married to "BUTTERFLY's" husband, and vice versa. But that is just another of life's inequities.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful fellow. He is kind, considerate and polite. He is almost perfect. Ours is a long distance romance, as he travels, but when we get together with other people I find that he has one fault that is very irritating.

He likes to do more than his share of the talking. With me alone this is not true. I am a rather quiet person and seeing him dominate every conversation in public irritates me. Should I mention this to him, or let it go? I am afraid that after we marry this may be a sore spot with us. IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Yes, tell him in as kind a way as you can. Not in criticism, but in "love." If you let it go, the irritation will grow, and the first time he leaves the cap off the toothpaste you're apt to clout him with a skilled.

DEAR ABBY: Frank and I were married at a double-ring ceremony, but Frank never seemed to enjoy wearing his ring much. He had three wedding rings in 8 months. Then the finger on which he wore the wedding band broke out in tiny water blisters. He blamed it on the ring, so I went to a skin doctor with him.

The doctor said it could be due to a metal allergy, so he taped Frank's wedding ring to his leg. The ring didn't bother his leg at all, but his finger healed up! Why then, Abby, would a man who has been married only 14 months, and claims to love his wife, be ashamed to wear a wedding ring and let the world know that he is married?

FRANK'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Don't assume that your husband is "ashamed" to let the world know that he is married just because he does not want to wear a wedding ring. As long as he acts married, he doesn't need the label. Accept him as he is.

Would Like to Celebrate Citizenship

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: This month I am going to become an American Citizen and I would like to know if it would be nice to send my sponsors some flowers on that day. Also, would it be correct to give a "New Citizen" party or would it be asking for attention or presents?

I came from the Netherlands six years ago and I am very proud to become an American, Mrs. L.D.

Dear Mrs. L.D.: Congratulations to you! By all means show your appreciation to your sponsors by sending them flowers and celebrate by having a party.

Since this is a proud and happy event for you, it would not appear that you were asking for anything — only that you wished to share your happiness with your friends.

ABSENT SON

Dear Mrs. Post: In the past, I have always signed all greeting cards and letters to friends with the names of each of the four members of our family.

Although our son is now away from home, serving in the Air Force, and has recently turned 21, he is not yet married and our home is still considered his home address.

Would it be correct etiquette to include his name on cards or letters from the family? Or does etiquette say that I should exclude his name? Mrs. Schuh

Dear Mrs. Schuh: Every member of the family who is living under the same roof may be included on your cards. Even though your son is not literally there, he has no separate home, and should be included with the rest of the family.

Methodists Call Couples

Board of Missions

Seeks Volunteers

A liberalizing of its mission-recruitment policy has been announced by the Methodist

Board of Missions. Under the new policy, young married couples, as well as single young men and women, will be accepted for special-term missionary service.

Thus the Board will be recruiting couples both as 3s

(special-term missionaries overseas for three years) and as US-2s (special-term missionaries in the United States for two years).

The Board began its program of short-term missionary service at home and overseas in 1948.

Since then, more than 900

young men and women have served as 2s overseas and more than 700 in the US-2

program in America.

The change from acceptance of single persons only to acceptance of young couples has resulted largely from the number of voluntary service agencies, such as the Peace Corps,

VISTA and other denominations, that now use young mar-

However, the Board pointed out, the new policy will not lower the standards of missionary service, and young couples will have to meet all the qualifications for special-term service.

Both husband and wife will be appointed to specific positions for which each is prepared.

The Board also said there would continue to be some positions (such as a housemother in a girls' school) which would require single persons.

Information on special-term service, and on all types of Methodist missionary service, is available from: Office of Missionary Personnel, Methodist

Board of Missions, 475 Riverside

Drive, New York, New York

U.S. Denies Hoffa Charge of Eavesdropping

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says Teamster President James R. Hoffa's claim that he was bugged during his 1964 jury tampering trial is "without any foundation in fact."

And the department sees big rewards offered in Hoffa's behalf as one reason to view "with skepticism" the affidavits supporting the eavesdropping charge.

The Justice Department told the Supreme Court in a memo-random Friday that even before Hoffa raised the eavesdropping issue, it had reviewed the case and found there was no monitoring of Hoffa, his lawyers or the jury at the Chattanooga, Tenn., trial.

In a petition to the court Jan. 28, Hoffa claimed new evidence of eavesdropping had been uncovered since the high court upheld his conviction Dec. 12.

PRISON TERM

The Teamsters leader faces eight years in prison on the jury tampering charge. He also is appealing another five-year sentence on a conspiracy conviction.

The Justice Department said it has investigated further since the latest Hoffa appeal and now has "gathered affidavits and other evidence which may be presented" if court hearings are ordered. No affidavits were submitted.

The department noted this was Hoffa's fourth appeal of the jury tampering conviction and that rewards of $25,000 had been offered in his behalf to anyone who would provide evidence of government eavesdropping.

"In these circumstances and against the background of petitioners' prior collateral challenges to their convictions, there is every reason to view petitioners' affidavits with skepticism," it said.

CO-PETITIONERS

Thomas Ewing Parks, Larry

Campbell and Ewing King are competitors with Hoffa.

Hoffa claims that Walter Sheridan, then a special consultant to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, ordered eavesdropping equipment installed in jurors' hotel rooms and that other devices were put in rooms of Hoffa and his attorneys.

Special to the Press

FLINT — With one of their big guns out of action, Pontiac Central's attack slowed and the Chiefs were bumped by Flint Central last night in a Saginaw Valley Conference basketball game, 76-67.

While there are a few SVC games remaining the defeat virtually knocks the Chiefs out of the running for the conference championship.

Sitting atop the pack to-day is Saginaw, coholder of the title last year with the Chiefs. The Saginaw quintet upped its record to 7-1 last night by pounding Bay City Central, 75-43.

In other league games, Flint Northern surprised Midland, 66-70, and Saginaw Arthur Hill rolled past Bay City Handy, 60-49. Flint Northwestern downed Flint Northwestern in a non-leaguer, 82-68.

The Chiefs are now a half game back of Saginaw with a 7-2 record, and it's likely that's where they'll remain, since the odds are slight that the Trojans will lose another this season.

EARLY COMMAND

PCH and coach Fred Zittel were aware that they had to win at Flint Central to hang onto their share of the title.

For a half, the Chiefs were in command as they built a 36-30 lead at intermission.

But early in the third period, junior forward Alton Wilson, one of the Chiefs' big guns, collected his fourth personal foul and it reduced his effectiveness to the point that he went to the bench.

Without Wilson — the Chiefs' No. 2 scorer behind Prentice Hill and one of the team's top rebounders — Flint Central took charge.

During a 10-minute stretch in the second half, the Indians outscored PCH, 31-8, turning a 40-33 deficit into a 64-40 lead.

LEADS ATTACK

Hill came through with 17 points but there was no one on the bench to pick up the slack left by the departure of Wilson.

Wilson wound up with 12 points despite sitting out much of the game. Gordon Hamilton helped out with 10.

Closing Rally by Ortonville Falls Short

A stirring comeback by Ortonville's Black Hawks in the fourth period fell a point shy as the team dropped a 52-51 decision to Lake Ponton.

Trailing 28-16 at halftime, Ortonville battled back to tie the game at 49 with 1:01 left and went ahead, 51-49, with 55 seconds remaining.

Lake Ponton's Bob Hoover was fouled on the way down court. He made the first shot, missed the second but teammate Bill Brown pushed the ball into the basket for the winning points.

The loss left Ortonville with a 2-8 record.

Joe McCullough led the Black Hawks with 16 points and teammate Gary Burt contributed 14. Hoover paced the winners with 21.

Leading the Flint attack was Tim Bograkovs with 24 points. When PCH and FC met earlier, Bograkovs managed only five points in a game won by the Chiefs in overtime, 61-57.

Helping Bograkovs were Freddie Bacon (18), Dwight Pinch (13) and Ron Pruitt (11). Pruitt and Rick Bower came off the bench to give the Indians a lift. The 6-5 Bower did a good job on the boards and he contributed eight points.

Neither team shot well from the field. PCH hit 28 of 80, while Flint managed 27 of 81.

The Chiefs are home Tuesday for a 4 p.m. game against Bay City Central.

Brother Rice Wins; Takes Playoff Spot

A berth in the Detroit Catholic League playoffs awaits Birmingham Brother Rice, a spot that also affords the Warriors another shot at an old antagonist.

The Warriors wrapped up the trip to Detroit for the tournament last night by knocking off Harper Woods Notre Dame, 62-50.

The victory raised Brother Rice's record to 10-2. One of those losses was administered by Detroit Catholic Central, the team the Warriors'll face Feb. 12 at 5:30 p.m. in the first round of the playoffs at U. of D. Memorial Building.

The Warriors fell behind at halftime against Notre Dame, 32-28, but they outscored the losers, 34-18, in the second half to sew up the decision.

The Warriors five starters hit in double figures with Lee Hart and Tom Shearer collecting 14 apiece to pace the attack. Dan Parks, Mel Boomer and Dave Kreuz tossed in 10 each.

Along with his scoring, Parks picked off 20 rebounds and held the losers' ace Jim Navetta to four points in the second half.

Gary Cookley led Notre Dame with 15.

Utica Collects Eighth Victory

Chieftains Turn Back Lakeshore, 51-43

Utica's classy Chieftains ran their record to 8-2 and held onto their share of the Bi-County League lead last night by pining a 51-43 setback on Lakeshore.

The Utica quintet romped to a 15-3 first quarter lead, maintained a 23-21 advantage at intermission and held the upper hand throughout the second half.

Gerry Lane led the Utica attack with 14 points and Jim Jick contributed 12. Don Somers came off the bench at 1:45 of the second period, played the rest of the way and wound up with 11 markers.

Ragged WKHS Drubs Lapeer

By DON VOGEL

Even when having an off night, Waterford Kettering has too much basketball firepower for other members of the Tri-County League.

The Captains turned in one of their poorer performances of the season last night, but still had little trouble taking the measure of Lapeer, 75-54.

The victory was the 10th for unbeaten Kettering and fifth in league play. Lapeer, now 1-4 in Tri-County play and 3-9 overall, dropped into last place. It was the Panthers' second loss of the season to Kettering.

L'Anse Creuse (2-3) pulled into a tie for third place with Oxford by edging the Wildcats, 51-47, at Mt. Clemens.

The Captains started out like they were going to blow the Panthers all the way back to Lapeer. Dave Cox hit two layups and Dick Miceli pumped in a pair of one-handers to give Kettering an 8-0 lead after 1:47 of play.

Coach Gene Hepinstall called time out, adjusted the zone defense, and Lapeer succeeded in stemming the tide.

What started out as a relaxing game for Coach Joe Dudy and the Captains' fans wh began to deteriorate into a near-nightmare.

Lapeer's offense was simple: get the ball over the centerline, shoot and scramble for the rebound. This is exactly what the Captains did right along with the Panthers.

They threw the ball away, tried to take shots with two men guarding them — and had quite a few blocked — and in general didn't look like the state's fifth ranked Class A team.

The only thing that kept the Captains from leaving the floor at intermission with less than a 40-29 lead was the Panther's failure to make free throws and persistent efforts to shoot from well out when they didn't have anyone capable of finding the basket from long range.

Cox, who led all scorers with 23 points, tossed in 15 before drawing his fourth foul late in the second quarter and being benched in favor of Ralph Winder who was disqualified using fouls with six minutes gone in the third stanza.

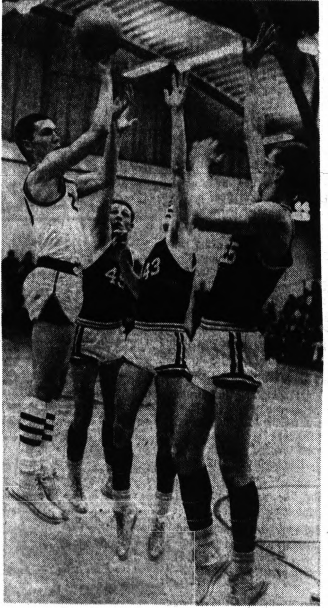

The second and third periods turned out to be a steady parade to the foul line. Lapeer closed to within 20-17 of the Captains in the second quarter, but three free throws by Joe Raczynski eased the pressure.

Bob Von Bargan made his initial appearance for Kettering at the start of the second half and his presence seemed to have a settling effect on the Captains.

The senior guard quickly canned two driving layups and Miceli and Pete Evans settled down to business. Cox returned and teamed with Miceli to

THE PANTHER LINE—Waterford Kettering players had some difficulty last night shooting over the long arms of Lapeer's Panthers. Pete Evans did manage to get this field goal try away although hampered by Jim Milton (45), Phil Thick (43) and Bill Des Jardines. Kettering won, 75-54.

Blue Jays Fall to Seaholm '5'

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Birmingham Seaholm applied the pressure at the right moment last night and it resulted in an 84-70 triumph over Southfield in a Southeastern Michigan Association contest.

Other SEMA Games found Ferndale downing Berkley, 54-46, and Royal Oak Kimball turning back Hazel Park, 77-56.

The victory raised Seaholm's record in SEMA play to 6-1 and to 9-2 overall. It also ended the Maples to retain their half-game lead over Ferndale (5-1).

With dangerous Southfield (3-5) behind them, the Maples will now turn to Ferndale, a team they'll meet on the Eagles' floor next Wednesday in what shapes up as a showdown for the SEMA title. The winner's unlikely to lose again in league play.

For most of three quarters, Seaholm seemingly had Southfield on the ropes, leading by as much as eight points midway in the third stanza, but the Blue Jays hit a hot streak late in the third and grabbed a brief 30-48 lead.

APPLY PRESSURE

At that point, coach Lew Parry and the Maples applied the pressure in the form of a full court press.

It rattled the Blue Jays, who began to sweat the ball badly, and Seaholm quickly wiped out the two-point deficit and ended the third frame with a 55-52 lead.

Three quick buckets at the start of the fourth made it 61-52, and it was all over, although the Blue Jays managed to pull within 64-60 moments later.

Along with fighting the Seaholm press Southfield lost three of its starters on fouls. Bill Davidson, who scored 14 points, left at 1:02 of the third stanza, followed by Dave Kontry at 5:02 and Ted Simmons at 2:41 of the final frame.

OFFENSE CLICKS

Seaholm's offense was just as good as the defense as four players hit double figures. Whit Shea and Dick Slater picked up 17 apiece, Rick Topour tossed in 14 and Dave Cook added 13.

Ferndale found Berkley charitable.

The Eagles hit on 24 of 41 shots from the charity line to provide their margin of victory. Berkley connected on only four of 13 shots from the foul line. Kimball made it four wins in its last five outings in stopping Hazel Park.

The winners went ahead at halftime, 36-25, and were never in trouble.

Farmington Paces I-L by Win at WTHS

PNH Again Awditing Showdown Following 85-70 Triumph

Pontiac Northern remained very much in the Inter-Lakes League cage chase Friday night but its hopes for an undisputed title may have died at Waterford when two crucial calls favored visiting Farmington.

The Falcons stayed atop the race with a come-from-behind 49-48 win over WTHS while Northern dumped Walled Lake, 85-70, to remain one game behind.

PNH will entertain Farmington next Tuesday night in their return encounter. The Hawks are hoping to avenge their early season one-point defeat and knot the I-L race.

The Farmington - Waterford contest found the Skippers ahead late in the game, 46-44, when official Wally Permperton of Detroit called a turnover against Karl Arrington.

Farmington's Greg D'orow then went to the foul line when Cliff Seiber was detected fouling on an attempted steal. Dorow made the first, but missed the second shot only to see teammate Mike Ames put in the rebound for a 47-46 lead.

The Skippers promptly missed two layups. The Falcons then sealed their win with another basket before Bill Hill closed the scoring for WTHS with six seconds to play.

The close saw contest found Farmington holding as much as a nine-point advantage in the first half, then the Skippers bounced back to lead by four in the final half. The winners had a big advantage under the backboards in the initial two quarters.

IN CONTROL

Northern also controlled the rebounds at Walled Lake, particularly in the second quarter when it moved to a 42-28 lead at the intermission after only a 21-7 margin at the end of the first period.

The host Vikings, who have consistently had trouble in the second quarter this season, only managed 11 points last night following a good opening period.

The Huskies' attack was helped considerably by tip - in baskets off the fingertips of Bob Traynor and Don Hayward. Traynor, a slender 6-3 junior, netched 19 points for his best varsity performance.

Greg Fogle, the Vikings' junior star, added 22 points in the final half to his 10 of the opening 16 minutes and helped Walled Lake cut its deficit to eight points in the third quarter.

The versatile, 6-0 sharpshooter made 12 of 24 field goal attempts in compiling his 32 points, his second best effort of the campaign.

The game was marred by personal fouls in the second half, with a total of 71 charity tosses taken in the game. PNH had a 31-25 advantage from the field.

SCOT GAINS RING TITLE

ACORA, Ghana (AP) — Johnny O'Brien of Scotland won the British Empire featherweight title Friday night by stopping defending champion Lloyd Roston of Ghana in the 13th round.

NOW WAIT A MINUTE—Referee 'Doc' Kosteta seems to be calling for Southfield coach Bob Neff to slow down as the mentor moves onto the court to confer with the official. Neff did go out for a short conference, but the referee awarded the ball to Birmingham Seaholm. The officials called Southfield player for traveling with the ball moments earlier and it was that call that prompted Neff's trip on court. Action came in the second half of the game won by Seaholm, 84-70.

Dartmouth Quintet Just 'Stalling Around'

Slow Contest Doesn't Faze Princeton '5'

Tigers Rest While Gaining 30-16 Win Over Indians

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — If Dartmouth's Indians had been attacking at Little Big Horn, General Custer might still be alive.

Of course, he'd be 127 years old, but even at that advanced age he'd have little trouble defending against the non-existent offense Dartmouth exhibited in losing a 30-16 Ivy League basketball game Friday night to fifth-ranked Princeton.

"I talked it over with the kids early in the week and every man on the squad said we should slow it down," said Dave Gavitt, Dartmouth's acting coach, explaining why the Indians refused to take more than a few token shots for almost 34 minutes.

"Princeton is a very fine basketball team," Gavitt continued. "They beat us 116-42 on our floor three weeks ago and the home court is supposed to be an additional 10-point advantage so we were 84-point underdogs," he added with a grin.

"We knew we couldn't run and shoot with them. We're not that good. I'm not mad at them because of that first score. They took only six shots in the East and I wish the Ivy League would do something so they could go to the NCAA Tournament."

FIRST SHOT

Dartmouth took only 19 shots and made five to Princeton's six of 11. The Indians went for more than 3 1/2 minutes before taking their first shot.

They took only six in the first half and held the ball for almost eight minutes at the start of the second half before losing it on a bad pass, which drew the biggest cheer of the night.

Almost 14 minutes elapsed before Dartmouth took its first shot of the second half.

"Our object was not to sit on the ball simply to hold the score down but rather to beat them," Gavitt said. "I felt we were making better chance if we could make the game depend on fewer shots."

"I'm not sorry we played this way, just that we didn't execute well enough to win."

"If we were down by 19-5 with 6 1/2 minutes left that was exactly what we were trying to accomplish."

"Then when we opened up we actually got the next three shots, all good short jumpers, but they missed. If they go in, it's 18-5 and a good ballgame."

FIRST PLACE

The victory was Princeton's 16th in 17 games and kept the Tigers ahead of the Ivy League with a 6-0 record. Dartmouth is 1-5 in league play and 7-9 overall.

The first basket of the game came on Joe Heiser's jump shot after 10:09 and gave Princeton 3-1 lead. Bill Stabile's short jumper after 11:34 was Dartmouth's first field goal.

Princeton's Ed Hummer scored the first basket of the second half after 15:45 minutes and Gunmar Malm tipped in Dartmouth's first goal of the half 30 seconds later.

Hummer and Heiser were the game's high scorers with seven points apiece.

"My boys really played hard-nosed defense," Princeton Coach Bill van Breda Kolff quipped.

"But I don't blame Gavitt," he added, turning serious. "It's his prerogative. I've held the ball too, but never like that. At halftime I told my team to let them hold it forever, if they wanted to."

The capacity crowd of 3,000 serenaded the Dartmouth players with a chorus of boos as they left the court at halftime trailing 16-8.

PCH upped its overall record to 8-2 and 8-1 in the SVC as John Mason and Dick Chase scored double triumphs.

Awkward Tumble Survived by Clay

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell today stage what may be their last gyth sessions before their heavyweight title showdown fight Monday night in the Astrodome.

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, said the consensus among boxing experts was that Terrell planned no boxing in today's session.

In Friday's workout, Clay took an awkward tumble through the ropes, but bounced back unhurt for a talking bout with an old foe, George Chuvalo, the Canadian he defeated last March in a 15-round decision.

Jimmy Ellis hit Clay at the edge of the ring when the stack top rope sent Clay sprawling backwards, Ellis atop him.

FOUR FEET — The practice ring is elevated about four feet above a concrete floor. Ellis and bystanders kept Clay from falling off the canvas backwards.

After the sparring, Clay shouted to Chuvalo, "I want you bad. When I retire, I don't want to be 15 rounds."

Chuvalo told him, "Don't worry about me. You'd better worry about Monday night. You'd better take care of Terrell first."

Clay hit the big bag with a left hook, pointed a glove at Chuvalo and said, "I wish that bag was your head."

Later Chuvalo said Clay "should win, but it'll be a much tougher fight than people think."

He went on, "Terrell has a tendency to tire in the late rounds. He'll be tough until somewhere after the 12th. A lot depends on how Clay handles the left jab."

If he pulls away from a jab, the way he was doing today, he'll catch another one behind the first one, right in his face."

Terrell, a man of very few words, was confident, Friday when he spoke to reporters. One of the writers asked him if he was irritated by criticism that he is not a good boxer.

"There are people who say I can't fight," Terrell allowed. He added, "But I must be able to do something, because look where I am now, and I am going to beat Cassius Clay."

Clay hit the big bag with a left hook, pointed a glove at Chuvalo and said, "I wish that bag was your head."

Later Chuvalo said Clay "should win, but it'll be a much tougher fight than people think."

He went on, "Terrell has a tendency to tire in the late rounds. He'll be tough until somewhere after the 12th. A lot depends on how Clay handles the left jab."

If he pulls away from a jab, the way he was doing today, he'll catch another one behind the first one, right in his face."

Terrell, a man of very few words, was confident, Friday when he spoke to reporters. One of the writers asked him if he was irritated by criticism that he is not a good boxer.

"There are people who say I can't fight," Terrell allowed. He added, "But I must be able to do something, because look where I am now, and I am going to beat Cassius Clay."

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell today stage what may be their last gyth sessions before their heavyweight title showdown fight Monday night in the Astrodome.

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, said the consensus among boxing experts was that Terrell planned no boxing in today's session.

In Friday's workout, Clay took an awkward tumble through the ropes, but bounced back unhurt for a talking bout with an old foe, George Chuvalo, the Canadian he defeated last March in a 15-round decision.

Jimmy Ellis hit Clay at the edge of the ring when the stack top rope sent Clay sprawling backwards, Ellis atop him.

FOUR FEET — The practice ring is elevated about four feet above a concrete floor. Ellis and bystanders kept Clay from falling off the canvas backwards.

After the sparring, Clay shouted to Chuvalo, "I want you bad. When I retire, I don't want to be 15 rounds."

Chuvalo told him, "Don't worry about me. You'd better worry about Monday night. You'd better take care of Terrell first."

CHI CHI PUTTS—He missed this putt from 30 feet, but Chi Chi Rodriguez carded a 70 in the third round of the Bob Hope golf classic yesterday to give him a 211 total and place him among the tournament leaders. He was one stroke behind Tom Weiskopf after the third round.

Big Guns Make Noise in Hope Golf Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The big guns of the tournament began to speak loud and clear Friday, but when the first round was over, another non-winner, long-hitting Tom Weiskopf, was atop the field in the third round of the $110,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

The 24-year-old former Ohio State golf star, something of a protégé of another ex-Buckeye, Jack Nicklaus, shot a four-under-par 68 for a 54-hole total of 210, six strokes under par for the distance.

CALM DAY — The day was sunny and the wind relatively calm as play continued on the four par-36-72 courses.

Nicklaus shot a 67, and Billy Casper, a 68 to tie in the 212 group. Arnold Palmer's 68 gave him 213.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, the wiry little Puerto Rican, had a 70 for 211, and Doug Sanders, the 1966 Hope winner, carded a 69 for 212.

Weiskopf, who was a freshman when Nicklaus was a senior at Ohio State in 1960 and who turned pro in 1964, said he was helped considerably by a lesson in putting from — no surprise — Nicklaus in a practice round here last Tuesday.

He also changed back to an old blade putter, which earned him a tie in the Greensboro Open last year with Sanders. He lost to Sanders in a playoff.

Palmer, who missed three of the first four greens, started with bogies on the first two holes when he was in a trap on 12.

Records Set in Annual WMU Meet

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Eight records from three Michigan teams dominated the third annual Western Michigan Invitational Track and Field meet Friday night.

Michigan, Michigan State and host Western Michigan each had four firsts. No team standings were kept.

MSU broke two relay records, taking the sprint medley relay in 3:52.2 and the mile relay in 3:15.8.

Record performances were turned in by Gene Washington and Dick Sharkey, both of Michigan State. Washington took the 60-yard High Hurdles in seven and one-tenth seconds, breaking the old record of 07.4 set in 1966. Sharkey ran the 2-mile in 8:51.2 knocking almost 19 seconds off the 1966 record.

Top Amateurs Compete in Mat Tourney — Over 100 of the country's top amateur wrestlers convened in Detroit today to compete in the 8th Annual Invitational Freestyle Wrestling Tournament.

The one day meet, sponsored by the Michigan Wrestling Club, is to be held in White Hall on the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

The event is the largest Olympic-style wrestling tournament in the Middle West. Many of the participating athletes have their eye on berths on the 1968 Olympic Team.

Finals start at 7:00 p.m.

Montreal Old Timers Top Wings

DETROIT (AP) — It was like old times at Olympia Stadium Friday night with the announcer reporting hockey action by Ted Lindsay, Marty Pavelich, Sid Abel, Jacques Plante, Dick Moore and Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

And Dollard St. Laurent scored two goals, including the winner, as the Montreal Canadiens Old Timers beat the Detroit Red Wings Old Timers 4-3.

Richard, considerably heavier than in the days when he terrorized the National Hockey League, assisted on both of St. Laurent's goals and showed considerable flashes of his old form.

Lindsay, in possibly the best condition of any of the oldsters, flashed up and down the ice and scored a goal with an assist from Gordie Howe, who plays with the Old Timers by virtue of his 21 seats in the NHL.

STILL ACTIVE

Howe was the only player on the ice still playing in the NHL, although Red Wing teammate Bill Gadsby retired only last year after 20 years.

Lindsay showed a lot of the old scrap and managed to get into a scuffle with Dick Moore of Montreal. No damage was done, but both were ejected about midway in the third period.

Other Detroit goals were by George Gee and Pavelich. Reggie Grigg and Buddy O'Connor also scored for Montreal.

Abel, currently Red Wing general manager and coach, received a six-stitch cut over one eye when he and St. Laurent bumped accidentally.

Kicker First 'Grid Saint'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Saints signed their first football player Friday—former University of Mississippi star Paige Cothren.

"Paige will be a kicking specialist for us," said Vic Schwank, director of player personnel for the Saints, the new National Football League team which begins play next fall.

Cothren, 32, a free agent from Eupora, Miss., was a kicker for the Los Angeles Rams from 1957 through 1959 but voluntarily retired.

Relaxing Win in Mile Run for Ergas Leps

Ex-Big Ten Champion Captures K. of C. Event in 4:05.5

NEW YORK (AP) — Ergas Leps thinks he's found a cure for that sluggish, ache-all-over feeling. A nice, slow, relaxing victory in the mile.

Ten minutes before the starter's gun went off for the mile in the New York Knights of Columbus track meet at Madison Square Garden Friday night, Leps, not feeling well, hadn't decided whether to run.

"But then I took another look at the program," the 27-year-old Toronto high school teacher said, "and decided it was going to be a slow race and there is nobody who can beat me in a slow race."

Nobody did. He won in 4:05.5.

For Leps, who owned the mile and 800 in the Big Ten while he was at the University of Michigan between 1960 and 1962, it was nothing new. He's been writing the book on slow miles this year.

First, there was the Boston Knights of Columbus track meet, which opened the Eastern indoor season last month. Leps won that in 4:06.4. Then came an invitational mile at a meet in Kansas City and for a time it seemed they'd never finish.

Leps' winning time was 4:22. Leps' victory was significant because it showed Kerry O'Brien, the young Australian who has been leaving records in his wake, could be beaten.

SET RECORDS

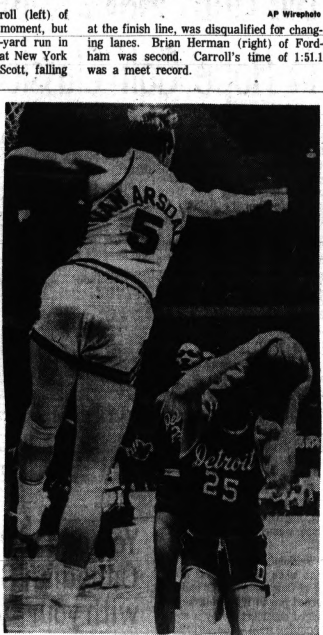

In two starts at the two-mile on indoor tracks in the last 10 days, O'Brien set meet records. But in moving down to the mile for the KC meet, O'Brien met his match.

He had moved out to a lead with four laps left in the race, but half a lap later Leps whisked past him and ran off to a seven-yard victory. O'Brien's time was 4:06.6.

O'Brien goes in the two-mile today at the Philadelphia Inquirer Games, his last appearance in this country for a while. Also on the indoor agenda today are meets in San Diego and Seattle.

A disqualification and resulting argument Friday night marred the 800. Noel Carroll, the former Villanova star from Dublin, Ireland, was declared the winner in meet-record time after Peter Scott, the NCAA 800 champ from Nebraska, was disqualified.

Both runners had passed Notre Dame's Pete Farrell on the final turn when Scott slipped, veered from his inside lane, and stumbled in front of Carroll, who knocked him sprawling across the finish line.

FLYING KNICK—Doris Murrey of the Detroit Pistons hesitates about shooting as Dick Van Arsdale of the New York Knicks looks on in a defensive move last night in a National Basketball Association game in Boston. New York won, 124-111.

Defeated Pistons Cry 'Foul'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, fuming over a rash of fouls called by National Basketball Association officials in a loss to New York, get another chance at the Knicks tonight.

The two teams returned to New York for a rematch after the Knicks bounced Detroit 124-111 while sinking 40 of 50 charity tosses in a doubleheader at Boston.

In other NBA games, St. Louis beat Boston 121-113, Chicago took a Cincinnati 118-113 and Los Angeles walloped San Francisco 129-80.

The Pistons committed 15 personal fouls in the first quarter, one shy of a 17-year-old NBA record. They fell behind by 24 points and never recovered.

"They called four on me in the first six minutes," said Detroit center Joe Strawder.

Two Detroit players, Coach Dave DeBusschere and reserve Doris Murrey, fouled out.

NOT FUNNY

"The fouls were 15-2 against us at one time," said DeBusschere. "It was so lopsided it wasn't funny."

New York, which jumped to a 26-2 lead early in the game, was paced by Willis Reed with 31 points. Cazzie Russell, getting a rare starting shot because of the injury to guard Howie Knepper, notched 18 points.

Dave Bing topped Detroit with 31 points.

In the second game at Boston, Lancers' Coach Ritchie Guerin racked up 41 points as the Lancers dumped the Celtics.

John Havlicek had 27 for Boston.

The Lancers, down 57-54 at 40 seconds left, pulled within two on a bucket by Loveless. Lancing tried a shot and missed with four seconds left, and the Lancers took over. They moved down and Loveless tried a shot that fell short.

Foes in Famed Suit, Teamed as Defendants

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The opposing stars of the law suit which brought the Supreme Court's famed "one man, one vote" ruling are on the same side in a new reapportionment suit.

Charles W. Baker, Shelby County, Tenn., court chairman, and Joe C. Carr, Tennessee secretary of state, gave their names to history in the 1959 Baker vs. Carr case in which the Supreme Court ordered the Tennessee General Assembly to reapportion itself.

A suit filed Friday in Nashville's U.S. District Court, where the 1959 suit started, asks the court to order reapportionment of all 95 county governing bodies, on the same "one man, one vote" basis. These county bodies in Tennessee are called county courts, and are so named in the suit.

Among the defendants listed in the new suit are Baker and Carr.

BIAS CHARGED

The new suit, as did the one eight years ago, contends voters in heavily populated areas are victims of discrimination because voters in less populated political divisions elect the same number of officials.

Lee Hyden of Memphis, a Shelby County commissioner, and Memphis attorney Herbert Morlary Jr., filed the suit to force reapportionment of their county, but made it applicable to all counties in the state.

It happened that Baker's name was the first on a list of 10 plaintiffs in the 1959 legislative reapportionment suit. The first of the six defendants was Carr. Thus, the suit was tagged "Baker vs. Carr," a phrase uttered frequently in subsequent reapportionment cases across the nation.

Viet Teacher Faces Ouster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has arrested and begun deportation proceedings against a Ft. Bragg, N.C., Vietnamese language instructor earlier ordered to leave the country by Feb. 15.

Officials of the Immigration and Naturalization Service say they seized Huynh Ngoc Tuyen, 28, Thursday at a special warfare language school at Ft. Bragg, where the former Vietnamese air force officer had been teaching Special Forces troops.

He was flown to Washington and jailed Friday in lieu of $2,000 bond pending a deportation hearing next Friday.

DISAGREEMENT

Tuyen's attorney, David Carliner of Washington, and immigration officials agree that Tuyen came to this country last August under a State Department program to teach Vietnamese to State Department and Foreign Service officers. They disagree about what happened next.

William T. O'Brien, deputy director of the Washington area immigration service, said Tuyen was fired from his State Department job. "According to information given me, Tuyen was incompetent," the official said.

Waterford District Starts Emergency Bus Plan

The Waterford Township School District has limited a main-roads-only bus plan to be executed on at least some of the township's secondary roads are plugged.

The new plan, launched Thursday afternoon after 21 buses got stuck on side streets in the morning, will allow the district to hold classes even on more severe days, said Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe.

"We are very reluctant to close schools unless we have to," said Tatroe, emphasizing that the $50,000 a day it costs taxpayers to operate the system is wasted when they do.

Once a decision has been made for a particular day must be consistent for the entire district to avoid confusion.

Bow-Arrow Robber Sentenced in State

BAY CITY (AP) — A Bay City wife with bows and arrows last night, accused of robbing a household of $10, Friday, pleaded guilty in Bay County Circuit Court to two counts of larceny and was sentenced to up to four years in jail.

Randy Matuszewski, 18, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail. Charges against the third held up a Bay City housewife were dropped.

Otherwise, children wouldn't know where to board their buses plugged.

VIA RADIO

When the main-roads-only plan is to be in effect, as was the case yesterday, it will be conveyed to homes via radio broadcast that morning.

The district's bus problem stems primarily from the large number of residential streets served.

Also, several subdivisions lie very deep because of their proximity to lakes and there are numerous highly-crowned gravel streets which are easily the essential details of the main-roads-only plan, such as where the children catch their bus when district has been informed of it is in effect.

There was little to the play. West would open the jack of clubs. East would win and cash his ace of trumps.

Eventually the defense would wind up with three clubs, one spade, one diamond and four trumps. South would be down five for minus 250 but he would be happy about the whole thing.

East and West can make game. They can actually make six clubs by playing exactly one round of trumps but that sort of play is likely only if you are playing with all hands exposed.

As we said, North and South were happy until the results came in. At the one table where South failed to preempt North opened with three diamonds.

This three diamond opening was East's cup of tea. He had a fine take-out double and proceeded to make it.

West liked his hand and made a forcing bid of four diamonds. East bid four hearts and West went to five clubs. East really should have passed but he felt sure that his partner held four spades.

Otherwise West would just have bid five clubs directly over the double. So East went to five spades.

Five spades was a reasonable contract but there was no way that East could handle North's four spades and he had to go down one trick.

This we had four North-South pairs at minus 250 and one at plus 100 so that minus 250 was a two IMP loss instead of a gain.

School Action Program Seeks to Prove Worth

By PAT MCCARTY
SCAP is on the upswing again — with a project geared to the whole community.

One of Pontiac's first community school programs, operated at Jefferson Junior High School, SCAP has had its ups and downs during its 1½-year history.

The title SCAP — standing for School Community Action Program — is a holdover from the days when federal funds were provided for the center. Those funds came to an abrupt halt Dec. 31, 1966.

But those associated with the program at the school now are engaged in an all-out drive to keep the "action" in it.

Jefferson's SCAP came into being in the summer of 1965 as one front in the War on Poverty.

OEO FUNDS
Following the success of the summer pilot program, the Office of Economic Opportunity provided some $16,777 to start one program at Jefferson and Whittier and Franklin elementary schools and another for the Bagley-Bethune area.

Additional allocations during the next year totaled $145,874. A general cut in antipoverty funds brought an end to federal SCAP support.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS
The Pontiac Board of Education and the Mott Foundation of Flint came through with funds to keep the programs running until June 16 on a minimal basis.

"Now we want to prove to the board that it's worthwhile" and that it deserves further support, said Albert C. Shaw, director of the Jefferson center.

When the federal programs were started at the Jefferson area schools in the fall of 1965, the board of education also cooperated with the Mott Foundation in establishing a community school program at McConnell Elementary School.

This year, similar programs were started at Wilson Elementary School with Elementary and Secondary Education Act money and at Eastern Junior High School with local funds.

EMPHASIS
Emphasis of the programs varies according to school — but at Jefferson it's on providing saleable skills for unemployed adults and upgrading the skills of those already employed.

Shaw already can relate a number of individual success stories.

But the problem facing the SCAP staff since last fall has been one of slipping morale.

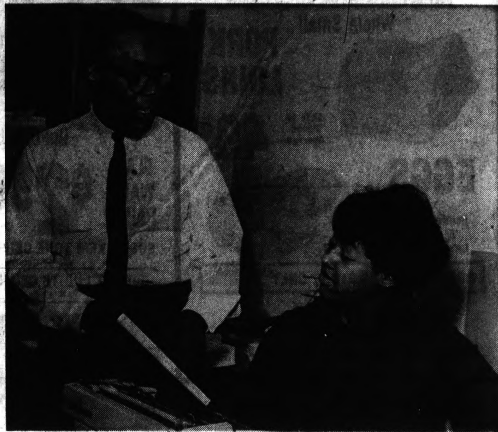

"Our participation went from 500 last year to less than 100 this year," Shaw said. "People were getting discouraged because they knew we were funded — only through Dec. 31."

ATTENDANCE
Although 220 persons registered for SCAP classes in October, with individual classes registrations exceeding 500, attendance began to wane.

Only 21 teacher were required this year, while last year's staff numbered 52.

"I guess part of it was my fault — I just thought 'Why build them up when the future is so uncertain?'" Shaw said.

"Now we're building again.

ON MOVE WITH SCAP—Albert C. Shaw, director of the School Community Action Program at Jefferson Junior High School, and secretary Jane Finch keep tabs on participation, which now is on the upswing with a

We know we once had it, and we can get it again," he said.

The SCAP teachers have been busy telephoning those who have registered for or indicated an interest in classes.

PARTICIPATION
"We've added 50 adults in the last two weeks. The participation of the 18- to 30-year-olds has doubled," Shaw said.

The campaign for increased participation is not limited to the Jefferson area, which is predominantly Negro.

"We are trying to tie in the whole community," Shaw said. "We want to bring the other side of the community over to our side, instead of our going to theirs — and not just to visit, but to participate."

Highlights of this drive will be SCOPE '67 — SCOPE being the School Community Organization for the Promotion of Education.

EXPOSITION
The exposition is scheduled for 6 to 9 p.m. Feb. 14.

All of the schools in the district, and a good many businesses and organizations, have been invited to set up displays at the event.

There will be dramatic skits illustrating the types of classes offered at the school — in basic education and business and vocational training.

During the "open house" portion of the exposition, those attending will be able to drop into classes which are in session.

Some alumni of the program also will be on hand to relate the benefits they derived from SCAP.

VISITORS WELCOME
And everyone in the community is invited to visit the school at 600 motor to get a look at "today's people preparing for tomorrow's world," Shaw said.

New Probe Into Alleged Cruelty Asked

DETROIT (AP) — A new investigation into alleged cruel treatment of mentally retarded children at the Wayne County Training School was urged Friday by the chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

The chairman, Mel Ravitz, said the probe was needed because public confidence in the school has been shaken by the allegations. Several former teachers have reported that children were slapped, kicked, beaten and had their heads banged against the wall.

Ravitz proposed a citizens' committee be appointed to analyze the quality of the school's administration and determine whether the school is functioning effectively. The Training School Committee of the Board of Supervisors approved the Ravitz plan, and he said it would be submitted to the full board at its next meeting.

Old-Fashioned Wall Phone In Kitchen Actually Works

Once A Garage, Area Now Weatherproofed, Heated, Floored And Transformed Into Family Room

Gives Sense of Accomplishment

Home Owner's Hobby Is Fun

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
"I don't care how you spell it . . . with a 'que' or a 'k' . . . I just love to go 'junking,'" chuckled Mrs. Carl Moss of West Highland Drive. "I've found more interesting pieces in little out-of-the-way shops."
"I bring them home, refinish or restore them and I have a useful piece of furniture toward which I feel a special sense of accomplishment every time I look at it."

"And, I find that the hobby is contagious. Several of my friends accompany me now on my junking excursions. My 15-year-old daughter, Ellen, has even caught the bug."

In the kitchen is an old-fashioned oak wall phone, the kind that great-grandmother used to crank and wait for the operator to ask for "Your number please."

"The phone actually works," said Mrs. Moss. "It is wired and when you pick up the receiver, you get dial tone. The dial is under the platform."

"It isn't exactly the most comfortable phone to talk on or the easiest to dial but it certainly causes a lot of comment."

Allowed to choose her own bedroom style, Ellen favored French Provincial furniture.

"The beds were equipped with full canopies," said Mrs. Moss. "But I felt that the room was too small for two twin-bed canopies so we adapted the idea."

"It gives the effect but still allows for a more spacious feeling. The 'purse' tree is one of Ellen's junking finds."

"It's an old hall tree painted white and makes an ideal stand to hold her collection of purses without cluttering up her drawers."

White walls and curtains and antique gold carpeting set the room's background.

The Mosses have one son, Steve and three married daughters, Mrs. Arthur Bouie, Mrs. William Kennedy and Mrs. Frederick Milton, all of whom live in the Pontiac area.

White House Has 20 Baths

In 1977 President Rutherford B. Hayes had the first running-water bathtub installed in the White House, and today the executive mansion has 20 modern bathrooms.

This is far more than the number found in most dwellings in the nation, but two out of every three new homes do have more than one bathroom, according to A. J. Crookes, chairman of the gas water heater division of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

All this added plumbing taxes the home's water heater, for the average family demand for heated water now amounts to about 120 gallons daily.

Even though water is cheap, it can become a precious commodity if your water heater can't keep up with your family's hot water needs.

Crookes points out that more than 31,000,000 homeowners maintain a dependable supply of heated water because they use a automatic, gas-fired water heaters.

ADVANTAGE

A major advantage of the appliance is its rapid heat recovery rate.

This means the flow of hot water is continually replenished faster than by any other types of water heaters.

The new gas water heaters now are available in counter-top, low-boy and traditional cylindrical models for incorporation into the home's laundry center or basement.

BOY'S RETREAT—The suspended ceiling in this boy's bedroom combines attractive appearance with acoustical efficiency. The strong, swirling design of the 2'x4' acoustical panels complements the room's nautical theme.

If access is ever necessary to the space above the ceiling, any one or all of the panels can be removed in a matter of minutes.

In Real Estate Titles

Look for 'Hidden Hazards'

There are many "hidden hazards" to home buying and real estate titles, according to a new, nationwide survey by the American Land Title Association.

Fraud and forgery have invaded a comparatively new field — real estate — and "lively corpses," (missing persons long legally presumed dead), missing heirs, overlooked tax liens, marital mix-ups, faulty surveys, similarities in names that cause trouble in legal documents — these and many others can snarl the title to land.

There are scores of true cases reported that could have come straight from an Alfred Hitchcock thriller, reports James Robinson, Secretary of ALTA.

Take as an example last year's most spectacular series of forgeries. A $3-million empire was built in Texas by a series of forged mortgage "releases" by a large real estate operator who suddenly developed a passion for gambling trips to Las Vegas, fast women and slow horses.

The forger had duplicates of the corporate seals of lending companies prepared, copies of the proper mortgage release forms used by lenders printed, and carefully practiced the signatures of the corporate officers authorized to release mortgages — whose names he knew.

SEVEN TIMES

In one example of surpassing boldness, the forger mortgaged, "released" and remortgaged the same piece of property no less than seven times.

The forged documents were recorded by public officials to whom they looked perfectly genuine and in correct form.

The pyramid of forgery did not come to light for months because the forger kept up payments on the bewildering array of mortgages himself.

Finally, a disastrous gambling trip to Las Vegas ran him out of money and the whole pyramid collapsed — into the laps of title insurance companies.

Michigan had several spectacular real estate forgeries last year, Robinson reports.

In one case, over 50 forged deeds came to light — all signed by various owners' names to a series of deeds by a dishonest salesman.

Even the "witnesses' names were fictitious or signed by derelicts. The notaries' acknowledgments were also forged.

SHOPPING CENTER

Another Michigan forgery case involved a $155,000 loss to title insurance companies on a tract of land being assembled for a shopping center.

An essential parcel of land, title to which was seemingly clear, was purchased. Then, from out of the blue, came word that a mortgage "release" was a forgery.

Real Wood? Check Again

"Is it" or "isn't it" real wood on the floor? Today it's most often vinyl asbestos floor tile. The look of a wood parquet floor is recreated in embossed patterns which can be combined to create a custom floor.

The elegance of the past is thus captured in a modern low-maintenance material for easy upkeep.

"Lively corpse" cases arose in Georgia and Chicago. The Georgia case was typical. Years ago, a salesman, in a hotel that caught fire, was missing and the woman posing as the "wife" presumed dead in the disaster. Then his wife died and he returned. Meanwhile, his property had been sold and he sought to reclaim it.

His wife "nagged" him, the man said, and he had simply walked away from the fire. He lost in his efforts to recover his property.

"John's Other Wife" cases arise frequently. Typical was a New Jersey case in which home buyers purchased a house from a supposedly happily-married "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe."

Later, the real wife, estranged from her husband, and living in California, threatened suit for real estate.

against the new owners for her dower rights in the property.

The title insurance company paid the loss. The deed from the woman posing as the "wife" could not dispose of the real wife's interest in the property.

Missing heirs, deeds from persons declared mentally incompetent, overlooked liens and easements, incorrect surveys, and missed provisions of divorce decrees, judgments and wills are among other frequent causes of title snarls, Robinson said.

"In many cases, such as fraud, forgery, marital irregularities and so forth, these 'hidden hazards' cannot be uncovered by a search of the land records," Robinson notes, "for the simple reason that such things are not on the records."

"Title insurance is really the only protection against scores of hidden hazards when buying California, threatened suit for real estate."

New Interests Push Popularity of Hobby Room

There's a new kind of room that's gaining in popularity. It's the hobby room or the studio.

An increasing number of adults whose children have left the family nest are taking up new interests. Attendance at adult education courses has zoomed.

For amateur painters, sculptors, model builders, pottery makers, and weavers, who need room to work in, a spare bedroom might be converted into a studio.

Such a room should have plenty of natural light. The window should be large, with an attractive view, if possible, to supply additional cheer.

A custom venetian, she adds, will give you maximum control of daylight. It can be adjusted to admit light and the view while keeping out glare and insuring privacy.

Ideal for the studio or hobby room are the new continental aluminum venetians with narrower louvers. Their lighter, airtier appearance is in keeping with an atmosphere of happy activity.

U.S. households now use about 36,000,000 gas room heaters for cold-weather comfort, reports the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Woodlots Require Good Management

Take a good look at your woodlot this winter. Do mature trees dominate certain areas, preventing the growth of saplings beneath?

Can more desirable tree species be planted in some areas? Are shrubs and grains needed for wildlife cover and feed?

According to a Pennsylvania

State University correspondence course on woodlot forestry, good management requires that trees grow close together.

Competition for space and light causes trees to crowd their tops as they grow making long, straight trunks free of side branches. Long boards, clear of knots, are cut from such logs.

Place Your Order for Seedlings Now

Orders for pine tree seedlings are being taken by the Oakland Conservation Office, 4515 Highland County Soil Conservation District, according to James Reid, chairman of the district. Species available this year are White Pine, Austrian Pine, Scotch Pine, Norway Spruce and Colorado Spruce.

Order blanks may be obtained at SCD Office, Room 9, Federal Building, 35 E. Huron. The Cooperative Extension Service Office have purchased gas-fired clothes driers, 155 N. Saginaw or the driers.

For Princess and Husband

Home Sweet Home Is Castle

Her Royal Highness Princess Beatrix and Claus von Amsberg live at "Drakesteyn," a small, octagonal castle situated in Lage Vuursche Forest, only a few miles from Soestdijk Palace.

The Princess has lived there since 1962. The castle is an architectural gem with its black-tiled roof and windows designed to let in a maximum of sunshine: they reach from floor to ceiling. The Princess bought the castle and paid for its restoration and furnishings out of her private means.

The history of "Drakesteyn" goes back to the 11th century, when a colony of monks built a farm on this site amid the trees. They remained there until 1382, when their bishop sold the land to a nobleman named Werner van Drakenburg.

The latter, after ordering the farm demolished and the monks removed, erected a new manor named "Drakesteyn." Here his descendants lived for many generations.

In the 17th century the Drakenburgs sold their property to a wealthy merchant family who in 1640 tore down the old manor and erected a new one in its place. The name "Drakesteyn," however, was kept as a reminder of feudal days.

The architect who was commissioned to build the new "Drakesteyn" designed its octagonal shape on a ground plan of 65 feet, surrounded by a charming symmetrical garden. Both the castle and the garden are representative of the 17th-century Dutch style in architecture.

"Drakesteyn" changed hands once again in the early 19th century. The new owner made a few alterations but in the main left its 1640 structure intact. It is his present-day descendant who sold the property to Princess Beatrix.

When Her Royal Highness bought the property, she found that it was on the Government list of historical monuments. This means that its original structure and design must be preserved and that it can be restored and modernized only by architects specially authorized by the Government. Princess Beatrix fully complied with the law.

On the ground floor of "Drakesteyn" there is a spacious hall with white walls and a large, tiled fireplace on one side. The 17th-century brass chandelier is a gift from Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard to their eldest daughter; the old grandfather clock and the antique chest are her own finds, while the 15th-century Italian Madonna is on loan from the family collection.

A door at the far end of the hall leads to the stylish dining room, which offers a delightful view of the garden. The most striking feature here is the Chinese wallpaper — exotic, hand-painted flowers and birds on a beige background.

The paper, which is signed and bears the date 1785, was purchased in England. To the right of the dining room is an exquisite small drawing room in the style of Louis XVI, and between it and the front door there is a powder room.

Princess Beatrix's study is to the left of the hall and the dining room. It is here more than in any of the reception rooms that her personality, taste and interests truly emerge. On the desk there are photographs of friends made at school and at the university, and of members of foreign royalty. There is a large collection of books on a wide variety of subjects, covering one entire wall. Dutch, English, French and German are represented.

A red-carpeted, narrow oak staircase leads to the living room, which is bright and spacious. The walls are cream-colored, white shades of blue and green stand out in the upholstery and the drapes. Art treasures and antiques are skillfully blended.

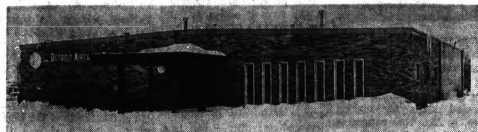

On the same floor there are a bedroom, a dressing room with bathroom and one guest room. On the top floor, under the sloping octagonal roof with its small cupola, there are four additional guest rooms, each with its own bathroom.

The walls of the master bedroom are covered with pale blue silk, and the French windows open onto a small wrought-iron balcony which has a single glided rose in the center.

The servant quarters are in the basement as are, of course, the kitchen, the pantry and other utility rooms. All the windows are above ground level so that the basement windows, too, offer a view of the garden and the fields.
