Ike Proposes 1959 Budget of Almost $74 Billion

Missiles Placed in the Spotlight; Tax Hike Hinted

U. S. Now in the Red, but Surplus Predicted for Next Year

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower proposed today a precariously-balanced 1959 budget of $73,934,000,000 with the accent on missiles and hinted higher taxes may be needed to meet the "growing danger" of Russia's space-age threat.

The chief executive said the federal government will end the current fiscal year some $388,000,000 in the red but optimistically predicted a $446,000,000 surplus in the 12 months beginning July 1.

The President's answer to the Soviet Sputniks was a proposal to spend $5,300,000,000 in the next fiscal year on the nation's missile arsenal—more than four times the amount spent three years ago and nearly twice the amount spent last year.

Although the nation's defenses are so strong as to provide a "crushing response to any attack," Eisenhower said, the main concern now is for the future.

In his message accompanying the 968-page document, the President made a score of recommendations for Congress to follow to balance the budget, many of which the lawmakers will find difficult to enact in this election year.

But he warned that they are necessary "to do what is required for our defense efforts and meet the basic needs of our domestic programs without an increase in tax rates."

The fiscal 1959 spending figure is not only peacetime's largest but is only $340,000,000 less than during the peak year of the Korean War. It is nearly 10 billion dollars more than the President's smallest budget.

Eisenhower not only called for extension of the Korean War tax rates on corporation income, alcoholic beverages and cigarettes, but proposed an increase in the tax on aviation fuel and a new tax on jet fuel.

SUGGESTS REVISIONS

He also urged approval of a House bill designed to remove unintended tax benefits and hardships and suggested tax revisions for small business that would not cost the government revenue.

As expected, the budget calls for vastly increased spending for missiles and new weapons systems. The President also asked Congress to give him a half billion dollar blank check to exploit any new scientific breakthroughs

Ike Ready to Join Summit Meeting --on 2 Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower held open the door to an East-West summit conference today with word to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin that "I am ready to meet" on two conditions.

Eisenhower's reply to Bulganin also urged Soviet agreement to a far-ranging peace program that would end nuclear weapons manufacture and testing, curtail use of the United Nations veto and production of space age missiles, and dedicate outer space "to the peaceful uses of mankind."

Any top-level meeting, the President told the Premier, must be preceded by an airing of issues in negotiations among diplomats and foreign ministers.

Furthermore, he said, these negotiations must show "good hope of advancing the cause of peace and justice in the world" by agreements at the summit. He thus rejected Bulganin's call last week for a meeting in three months.

Eisenhower's 4,000-word personal letter replied to one Bulganin sent him Dec. 10, but also clearly covered the essence of a second Bulganin note last week.

Eisenhower rejected or discounted about eight proposals Bulganin had put forward, including those for an East-West nonaggression pact and a German-Polish-Czech zone free of nuclear weapons.

Defense Takes 64 Cents in 100

Balance of Each Dollar Covers Civil Benefits, Government Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sixty-four cents out of every dollar in President Eisenhower's new budget will be spent on protection—the military, atomic, foreign aid and other costs related to national security.

Twenty-two cents for civil benefits, including welfare, labor, housing, commerce, farm programs, veterans and resource development.

Eleven cents for interest on the federal debt.

Three cents for general government, including along with the executive branch the costs of the legislative and judicial branches, administering the territories and possessions, and managing the government's records and property.

And here's where the money for each budget dollar will come from:

Fifty-two cents from the individual income taxpayer.

Three Injured Fighting Detroit Roll-Arena Fire

The men were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

West Europe Relieved

LONDON (AP) — West European newspapers today expressed relief that President Eisenhower had kept alive the prospect of a summit conference on East-West problems.

Area Can Expect Unpleasant Weather

Along with icy temperatures, Pontiac area residents can expect some unpleasant weather for the next few days, reports the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Tonight will be cloudy and somewhat warmer with a low of 26 degrees. Light snow is expected to begin late tonight, possibly mixed with sleet or light freezing rain.

Tomorrow will be cloudy with occasional light snow, high near 34-38. The forecast for tomorrow night is cloudy with little change in temperature and a low of 25-29.

The outlook for Wednesday is partly cloudy and colder.

Twenty was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m., the reading was 41.

Bulging Pot-O-Gold Finally Emptied

Three Waterford Township residents cracked The Pontiac Press Pot-O-Gold contest today, splitting the final $1,600 puzzle prize.

Under the relaxed rules of the contest, their entries, which contained two mistakes, were the top answers of 22,321 received this last week.

Melvin C. Kimmerer, 56, of 3049 Barkman St., a group leader at GM Truck & Coach;

POPULAR CONTEST

Total prizes distributed to the 11 winners was $8,100.

Overjoyed at their success with the tricky solutions to the Pot-O-Gold which have befuddled Pontiac area residents, the lucky trio had a variety of plans for their windfall today.

McCombs, who almost didn't send in a solution this time, plans to pay off some debts, and possibly set aside some cash for a trip this summer.

Kampsen, who just built a new house for his wife Lucille and two children, Karry and Johnny, will have lots of use for his $558.33 check.

All three of the winners had been playing the puzzle regularly, and Kampsen had previously come up with a solution which contained only one error, when perfect answers were required.

Death of Girl Concludes Row Over Presley

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (INS) — Carol Taylor, 15-year-old Redwood City girl, died yesterday of injuries suffered when she was beaten with a baseball bat by her foster brother in an argument about singer Elvis Presley.

Carol, who had not regained consciousness after the attack last Thursday, died of extensive brain injuries.

San Mateo County district attorney said a complaint charging the foster brother, Cordie Lee Pendleton, also 15, with murder probably will be drawn up today. The case may be processed through the Juvenile Court.

Cordie Lee and a younger brother, products of a broken family, had been taken into the home of Francis Taylor, executive secretary of the San Mateo County Red Cross Chapter, a year ago.

The youth, who broke down when informed of Carol's death, told authorities the argument over Elvis Presley touched off the attack and hinted at deeper resentments with the statement:

"She just thinks she's better than I am because she has her real parents."

2 Top Surgeons to Be Consulted

Hospital Plans to Take Depositions of Experts on Local Control Rules

Two of the nation's leading surgeons will be asked tomorrow to give depositions in the controversy between Pontiac General Hospital and Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger, ousted staff surgeon who is suing the hospital for reinstatement and $250,000 damages.

The depositions are also to be entered as evidence in another suit brought against the hospital by four general practitioners who claim local rules interfere with their right to practice medicine freely.

The surgeons are Dr. Paul R. Hawley, director of the American College of Surgeons and Dr. Kenneth Babcock, director of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Their depositions will be taken in Chicago by Dean G. Beier, attorney for the Pontiac General Hospital staff.

Attorneys for Dr. Sullenberger and the other four doctors have indicated they do not plan to attend, although there is legal provision for them to cross-examine at the time the depositions take place.

COMMENT ON ISSUE

Both doctors will be asked to comment on the question of whether local, public hospitals should make regulations concerning the professional qualifications of its staff.

Thursday night, the Oakland County Medical Society went on record overwhelmingly in support of the Pontiac General Hospital's stand that it must make such regulations "to insure the professional qualifications of those practicing therein."

According to Dr. John D. Monroe, the society's president, only five of the 140 doctors at the meeting voted against the resolution in support of the hospital.

In the suits against the hospital, it is argued that only the State of Michigan, which licenses physicians, has a right to make such regulations.

Papers Boost Prices

NEW YORK — During 1957, some 262 newspapers in 45 states raised prices to readers. Increases included single copy home delivery, mail subscriptions and wholesale rates, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

State Sen. Storey Dies Unexpectedly

Storey attended the opening of the 1958 Legislature last Wednesday and Thursday and left for his home at Belding in the 25th district, apparently feeling well. He was taken ill Friday night.

Storey was chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee. He first was elected to the House in 1938 and served six consecutive terms. He was elected to the Senate in 1954 and again in 1956.

2 Men Confess in Police Death

3rd Suspect in Detroit Bar Slaying Is Nabbed in Arkansas

DETROIT (INS) — Police said today two men confessed to taking part in the murder of Detroit Patrolman Donald Coulter who was felled by a shotgun blast during a bar holdup that netted $100.

The men told police a third man believed to have fled to Arkansas or Louisiana, was the triggerman in the Saturday morning slaying.

Burton Farmer, 22, and Andrew Madison, 30, both of Detroit, were being held for investigation of murder. Police are searching for Madison's brother, Turner, 29, also of Detroit who was reported seen with his wife at a bus station in Toledo, Ohio, last night.

A nationwide alarm was sent out to pick him up. A man fitting his description was arrested in Forrest City, Ark., today.

Police said a speck of nitrate powder detected by a powerful microscope on Farmer's hand cracked the case. The test was taken to determine if he had handled a shotgun recently. Farmer stated:

"It looks like you got me. I'll tell you all."

Police are also holding Essie Lee Graham, identified as a friend of Andrews, who told them she tried to get rid of the guns used in the robbery.

Postpones Plan to Seek Shorter Work Week

Union Proposal Calls for Share if Earnings Top 10 Pct. Before Tax

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers called today for a profit-sharing plan in 1958 wage contracts, and postponed demands for a shorter work week.

The union's proposed profit-sharing would begin when a manufacturer's profits topped 10 per cent, before taxes, on net capital. Corporate executives, stockholders, workers and consumers would be included in any sharing.

Under the UAW proposal half of profits above 10 per cent would be retained by the manufacturer for stockholders and executives; one-fourth set aside for hourly-rated workers and salaried employes other than executives, and one-fourth for consumers in the form of rebate on purchases.

It said the division formula is used by corporations in computing executive bonuses.

In postponing demands for a shorter work week, the UAW said it acted in the light of the realities of the world situation.

WAGE HIKE PROPOSED

The union proposed an immediate general wage increase, but set no specific amount.

It added, however, it should be

Auto Retailers Stocked Ahead at Year's Start

DETROIT (AP) — Automobile retailers started 1958 with 637,720 new cars on hand, Automotive News reported today.

The total compares with 531,949 units unsold on Dec. 1 and with 512,018 on Jan. 1 a year ago.

The trade paper said the total as of Jan. 1 this year represented a 46-days supply for the retailers. It reflected, the paper said, a decline in new car sales. It added that production curtailments ordered as a result of the sales lag, prevented inventories from going higher.

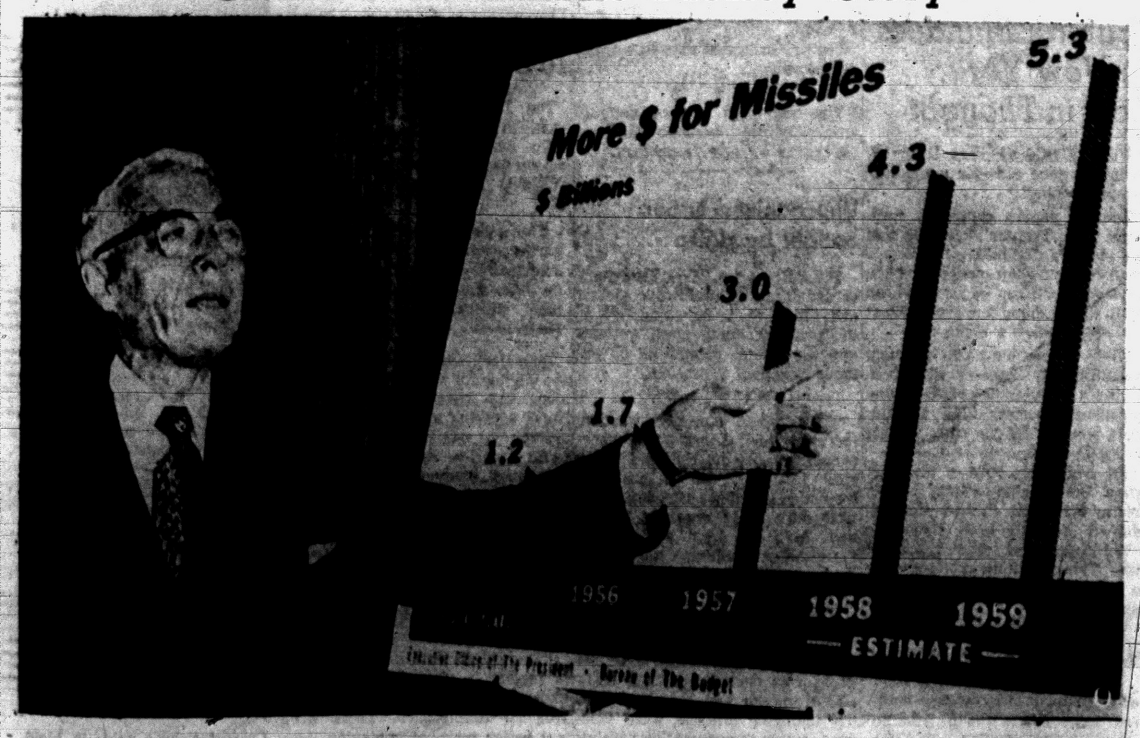

The paper continued: "But further (inventory) increases this month and in February are likely. Sales for the November-February period are expected to average 400,000 a month, while production has been running in excess of 500,000 monthly.

"A 45-day supply in dealer inventories is regarded as a maximum operating level by finance companies and banks. Floor-planning often is restricted when stocks rise beyond that point.

"The Jan. 1 inventory included a 10 per cent increment of unsold 1957 models, or about 65,000."

Ike Anniversary Dinner to Spotlight Gov. Joe Foss

South Dakota Gov. Joe J. Foss will be the speaker at the Jan. 20 Oakland County Eisenhower Inaugural Anniversary dinner to be held at the Elks Temple, it was announced today.

The dinner will feature television addresses by President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, over a closed-circuit telecast which will be beamed into 43 dinners in 27 states. The President's speech will also be featured on regular television.

The 42-year-old Foss, a Marine Corps hero in World War II and a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, won his first post as governor in 1954. He was re-elected to a second term in 1956.

The dinner is in celebration of the President's fifth inaugural anniversary. Merritt D. Hill and Mrs. Irma Liverance, Birmingham co-chairmen of the event, said some 500 are expected to attend.

"We are planning this dinner as a husband and wife outing," Hill said. "To get as wide participation as possible we have established a price of $50 for the man's ticket and $25 for his wife's dinner."

Tickets for the 7:30 dinner are available at Republican headquarters in Birmingham at 351 N. Woodward Ave.

Billy Grahams Greet Their Fifth Youngster

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist and Mrs. Billy Graham now have five children. The fifth, a seven-pound boy, was born yesterday at Memorial Hospital. He has been named Nelson Edman Graham.

He was named for Dr. L. Nelson Bell of Montreat, the maternal grandfather, and Dr. V. Raymond Edman, president of Wheaton College, Ill., from which the Grahams were graduated.

The Grahams have another son and three daughters.

Area Hospitals Receive Grants

Ford Foundation Makes Final Payments to 7 Private Institutions

The 1957 final payments to Oakland County's private hospitals on 1956 grants from the Ford Foundation were announced today by the foundation.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, received $38,000 for the year ending September 1957. Its total grant from the foundation was $196,000.

Others are: William Beaumont, Royal Oak, $52,450 of $104,900 in grants; Oakland Center Hospital, Royal Oak, $5,000 of $10,000; Mariette Community Hospital, $8,150 of $16,300.

Ardmore Hospital, Ferndale, $5,850 of $11,700; Sister Kenny Polio Hospital, Farmington, $10,250 of $20,500, and Cranbrook Infirmary, Bloomfield Hills, $5,000 of $10,000, complete the list.

The Ford Foundation, during its past fiscal year, made grants and appropriations totaling $83 million for education, public affairs, creative arts, urban and regional problems, economic research, science, international activities and overseas programs.

What are the signs in the sky which foretell the approach of a cold front?

There are few signs in the sky which will give you any clue to the approach of a cold front, despite what some may claim. A warm front usually gives ample warning before moving in but a cold front may often give none at all.

The first sign of a cold front is usually not far enough in advance of its actual arrival to do much good. This clue is a sharp pickup in the wind. This is actually the leading edge of the cold front, moving over the surface of the earth, and will probably be leading the full-bodied front itself only by hours.

Notice the sky. If it is clearing, or has just cleared, and the wind is picking up appreciably, with gusty blasts, a cold front is probably not far away.

Freeze Relaxes Everywhere but in New England

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Biting cold continued over New England today with temperatures ranging from the teens to below zero in some sections.

Elsewhere over the country, except for northern Minnesota where readings were in the low teens, temperatures were above normal.

Readings in the 20s were common in the mid-Atlantic Coast states and northwestward through the Great Lakes region and into the northern Plains. Southward, temperatures climbed through the 30s and 40s to the 50s near the Gulf Coast and into the 60s over southern Florida.

Federal Budget Tabs a Few Punchy Figures

Where else could you learn that Uncle Sam is replacing two dumbwaiters at the Capitol at a cost of $12,000? Or that congress needs $229,000 to foot the bill for folding documents in fiscal 1959?

The Commerce Department is asking $57,000 for earthquake investigative work. Apparently a slump is envisioned in this field inasmuch as the current year's quake doings are expected to cost about $117,000.

The Coast Guard, along with its many other duties, managed to patrol 924 regattas.

The Internal Revenue Service sent tax refunds to 36,845,998 Americans in fiscal 1957.

It'll cost about 1½ million dollars in the upcoming year keeping tabs on Americans being born, getting married and dying.

It'll cost about 1½ milion dollars in the upcoming year keeping tabs on Americans being born, getting married and dying.

The FBI will spend much more, however, keeping track of persons for other reasons.

Federal juries are expected to be busier than ever and 3½ million dollars is being counted on for jurors' pay, up half a million from this year.

Under the statement for the President's Advisory Commission for Presidential Office Space, there was this listing:

Ike Sets 2 Conditions for Summit Meeting

many as agreed at the Geneva summit conference in 1955. He blamed the cold war on the "expansionist policy" of Soviet communism.

He pledged the United States would never engage in aggression and pointedly expressed hope that "the Soviet Union will feel a similar aversion to any kind of aggression."

Eisenhower's proposals covered nine basic points:

Outer space—Eisenhower declared, "can we not stop the production of such weapons which would use, or more accurately misuse, outer space? . . . should not outer space be dedicated to the peaceful uses of mankind and denied to the purposes of war?"

Nuclear weapons—The United States and Russia should work to end their "now unrestrained production" and to adapt weapons material to peaceful purposes.

Testing — The United States would be prepared to "stop the testing of nuclear weapons, not just for two or three years (as Russia proposed), but indefinitely."

Surprise attack — Measures to rule out surprise attack, evidently meaning reciprocal aerial and ground inspection, should be taken.

Safeguards—Every step in all disarmament measures must be covered by inspection systems.

United Nations—Russia and the United States should renounce use of the veto in the U.N. Security Council in cases involving peaceful settlement of disputes.

Germany — Eisenhower urged "we now proceed vigorously to bring the reunification of Germany by free elections."

Eastern Europe—At the Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill meeting at Yalta in 1945, Russia agreed Eastern European peoples should have the right to choose their own form of government. But Russia made the countries Communist satellites. The President proposed "We should now discuss this matter."

Finding opportunity for negotiations which would make a summit conference profitable in accord with Eisenhower's conditions for a meeting could prove impossible. The evident difficulties will at least require long and arduous talks if any progress is to be made.

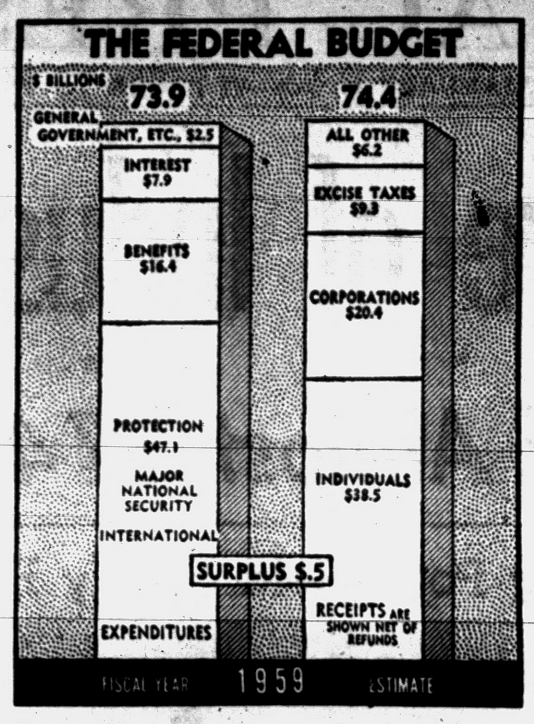

The proposals Bulganin made in his December letter to the President included a NATO-Warsaw Pact nonaggression treaty, an agreement to renounce use of force in the Middle East, a ban on use of nuclear weapons, a two or three year suspension of testing, the denuclearized zone in Europe, and friendship, cultural and trade agreements between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Biggest Surprise in Budget

Ike Asks 5-Cent Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest surprise in history's biggest peacetime budget is a five-cent stamp. President Eisenhower would have it replace three-cent postage on inter-city letters.

Eisenhower told Congress today he is depending on this and other increases in postal rates to put the federal government back into black ink in fiscal 1959.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was asked today to appropriate 145½ million dollars in the year starting July 1 to kick off President Eisenhower's proposed new program of federal aid to education.

Eisenhower estimated total budget expenditures for the promotion of educaflon during fiscal 1959 at 460 million dollars, compared to the estimated 353 million for fiscal 1958 which ends next June 30.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's spending budget for fiscal 1959 comes to $427.86 for each American man, woman and child.

Missiles alone — research, development, production, missile ships and construction for the program — will cost $30.67 per American.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was urged today by President Eisenhower to provide money for continuing efforts to rid the Great Lakes of the destructive sea lamprey.

He asked in his budget message that $915,000 be provided the Great Lakes Fishery commission for the year starting July 1. An equal amount was available for the control program in the current fiscal year.

Altogether, Congress has appropriated more than 2½ million dollars for the work, undertaken jointly with Canada.

The budget said a new feature of the fight on the lamprey in the new fiscal year will be the use of specific toxicants that kill lampreys and lamprey larvae.

The lamprey is an eel-like creature that attaches itself to game fish and sucks their blood. The lamprey has nearly eliminated lake trout and white fish from Lake Michigan and made heavy inroads in Lakes Superior and Huron.

The budget said the toxicants, in conjunction with stream barriers used to prevent the predator lamprey from spawning, should hasten effective control.

The spawned lampreys spend five years in streams before entering the lakes and the control measures hitherto have been effective only against the adult lamprey.

Both Sides in Lansing Fire Opening Salvos

State central committees of both major parties fired the opening salvos at weekend strategy sessions here, with Republicans lambasting Gov. Williams and his fiscal policies and Democrats extolling him for giving Michigan "the best state administration in the Nation."

SOUND GOP THEME

The Republicans failed to shed any light on a choice of candidates for state office, but John B. Martin Jr., their national committeeman, may well have sounded the theme of the GOP attack when he said:

"After nine long years, the governor says the state is busted, unemployment is rising, our mental hospitals are in rack and ruin, Michigan is in a sorry state.

"There we have an issue for 1958 and 1960," Martin said. "We never had a better issue."

Defending Williams, Democrats adopted a resolution asserting that the state's financial woes were "brought about solely by financial irresponsibility of the Republican-dominated State Legislature," which they said had failed to make appropriations adequate to meet authorized spending.

Both parties thus confirmed that money problems, including present and proposed taxes, unemployment and Michigan's controversial industrial climate, will rate top attention in the coming election battles.

Secretary of State James M. Hare and Alfred B. Fitt, legal adviser to the Governor, gave Democrats a briefing on the state intangibles tax which Williams proposed to increase by 21 million dollars a year, nearly twice the present rate. The Governor called it "the fairest tax I can think of" to see the state through a developing financial crisis which he said could leave the treasury 33 million dollars in the red by next July 1.

Committee members peppered Fitt with questions on the tax and the Governor's proposal. Fitt told them he could say little until Williams makes some specific recommendations in an upcoming message to the State Legislature.

So far, he has said only that he wants to see Michigan's tax tangibles brought to the level of the Ohio tax — now about twice the rate here.

Paul L. Adams, Democrat and newly appointed attorney general, likened taxes to a church tithe — "If you have a lot you pay a lot; if you don't have it you don't pay."

Attempt to Rob Crosby Tourney Ends in Capture

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — An attempt to rob the Bing Crosby golf tournament of an estimated $100,000 in receipts ended in a fight for a gun and capture of the gunman before dawn today, a deputy sheriff said.

The deputy, Tom Martin, guarding two safes across the street from the plush Del Monte Lodge, said he suffered powder burns in the struggle before overpowering the unidentified gunman and taking him to jail at nearby Salinas.

The man refused to give any name and was booked as John Doe.

House Investigators Start Probe

McElroy on Stand Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy told Congress today the U.S. military does not have positive evidence that Russia is ahead in long-range ballistic missiles—but that it is acting on that basis.

Because time is critical, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee, the Defense Department is pushing ahead with the most promising weapons programs. He said it expects within the next 18 months to begin producing the Polaris missile, a 1500-mile weapon capable of being fired from a submerged submarine.

McElroy also said provision for another launching base for intercontinental ballistic missiles is included in the new budget beginning July 1. No location was given in the version of McElroy's testimony made public.

The secretary testified behind closed doors as the committee opened a sweeping investigation intended in the next few weeks to cover all aspects of U.S. defenses and military operations.

Apart from launching its new investigation, the committee was expected to approve today legislation to authorize more than half a billion dollars in emergency spending for defense. The committee okayed the measure Saturday, but held up final action for technical changes.

The bill would authorize nearly half the $1,260,000,000 in additional defense funds requested by President Eisenhower for this fiscal year ending June 30. The money would go for long-range ballistic missiles, improving attack warning devices and for facilities to permit wider dispersal of strategic bombers.

15 Chairmen Named for Lincoln Banquet

Fifteen committee chairmen for the 68th annual banquet of the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club to be held Feb. 12 were announced today by Wendell Brown, club president.

Handling ticket sales for the 6:30 dinner at the Elks Temple will be Ted Koella.

According to Brown, anyone wishing to sell or purchase tickets may contact Koella at FEderal 3-7151 or LIncoln 3-8315.

Today's papers carried a message from Truman in support of the mayor's Committee for Pedestrian Safety. They quoted Truman as saying, "Keep your mind on what you're doing and watch what the other fellow's doing too."

He stepped off the curb against a traffic light.

He had gone only a few feet when he became aware of his traffic error. He flushed—and explained he had been trying to avoid a patch of ice at the same time trying to think up an answer to a question that had been put to him.

Traffic Deaths Low in State

Five Die on Weekend as Michigan Records Deathless Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan drivers had a perfect safety record Sunday with no deaths reported. The unusual situation held the state's weekend traffic death toll to only five.

★ ★ ★

The weekend toll included two pedestrians struck by cars and two drivers whose automobiles left highways and struck trees. Three persons were killed Saturday and two died in Friday night accidents.

★ ★ ★

Max Ludke, 66, Detroit, was killed Saturday when a car driven by his wife, Helen, 62, hit a tree in St. Clair Shores.

John S. Grendys, 45, Melvindale, was fatally injured when his car crashed into the rear of a stopped truck in Detroit Friday night.

Hearing to Open on Airliner Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) will open a public hearing Wednesday in San Francisco into the crash of a Pan-American airliner in the Pacific last Nov. 8 in which 44 persons died.

Six Midland, Mich., residents were aboard the plane.

The CAB said excessive carbon monoxide gas was found in 14 of 19 bodies recovered. It said the hearing will seek the source of the "possibly disabling" carbon monoxide as it tries to unravel the mystery of the crash.

Technicians who explored the crash will testify that they found no indications of a cabin fire nor a bomb, vapor explosion or a "thrown" propeller that flew from its mounting.

★ ★ ★

The CAB also said no unusual amount of life insurance had been purchased by any passengers.

Unorganized Labor Sought by Hoffa

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Teamsters leader James R. Hoffa has spelled out plans to bring hundreds of thousands of unorganized workers into his union, regardless of the industries they represent.

★ ★ ★

"I question strongly whether there are lines of jurisdiction wherever there are unorganized workers," Hoffa told 500 persons at a teamsters meeting yesterday. "The first duty is to organize them—then we'll sit down and discuss the question of whether they are in the right union or not."

★ ★ ★

This marked a significant shift from the teamsters' position on jurisdictional boundaries since the union was ousted from the AFL-CIO a month ago. At that time, top teamster officials were voicing a policy of cooperation with all of organized labor and a respect for traditional jurisdictional boundaries.

The Day in Birmingham

Fire Chief Still Looking for Cause of Store Blaze

BIRMINGHAM—Fire Chief Park Smith said this morning his department still is trying to determine the cause of the fire which destroyed the Chiku-Rin Gallery at 316 N. Woodward Ave. Saturday night. The blaze apparently started near an open stairwell, Smith said, and spread rapidly throughout the building.

Traffic was rerouted for about two hours after the fire was discovered at 8 p.m.

While Smith declined to make any estimate at this time of damage to the building and contents, Norman McBride of 28126 Fairfax, Southfield, gallery owner, said $8,000 worth of fabrics was destroyed.

John McKee Jr. of 6072 Wing Lake Rd. said the building is owned by the estate of his late father. He estimated the building's value at $15,000.

Chief Smith said damages to the building probably would not reach this amount.

One hearing is scheduled for tonight's City Commission meeting. Officials will consider the request of Thomas P. Monahan, owner of Monahan's Beef Buffet on East Maple avenue, to erect a sign within the limits of the city of Birmingham.

Commissioners also will consider the bids on the Pine and Raynale sewers received from 12 vicinity firms.

Several real estate brokers in Birmingham will present their reasons why they feel the proposed ban on Sunday real estate sales should be rejected.

The proposed pre-school vision-screening program will be discussed tomorrow when the Birmingham Alumnae Chapter of Delta Gamma sorority, meets at 8 p.m. with Mrs. A. D. Gravenhorst, 4360 W. Maple Rd.

The group, under the sponsorship of the national Delta Gamma sorority, will prepare a program of visual screening among all area children before they reach school age. Teams will be trained by the Society for Prevention of Blindness.

The local group hopes to have the project set up to start work in area nursery schools in the spring.

Ruth Shain International Relations Class resumes its winter program at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Community House.

Mrs. Shain said eight of the members will take the parts of reporters stationed around the world as they present a transcript of Edward R. Murrow's annual report.

Theodore M. Mitchell

Prayer service for Theodore M. Mitchell, 77, of 851 Haynes St., who died this morning at William Beaumont Hospital after a brief illness, will be conducted at Bell Chapel of William R. Hamilton Co. at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church, Detroit. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

A native of Greece, Dr. Mitchell came to Birmingham 30 years ago from Detroit and in 1930 organized the Liberty Cleaners. He retired 12 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Sophia; three sons, Gus T. and George E., both of Birmingham, and Nick T. of Royal Oak; a brother, John M. of Detroit, and a sister, Mrs. Hariklia Paraskevas of Greece.

UAW to Ask Share of Industry's Profits

based on increased producitivity and be higher than rates in ending three-year contracts that provide a yearly boost of 2½ per cent or six cents hourly, whichever is greater.

The present average hourly wage in the auto industry is about $2.32.

Increased benefits under the existing Supplemental Unemployment Benefit plan were asked. The plan should be expanded, too, the UAW said, to include workers who become victims of short work week schedules.

Under SUB, auto makers contribute to a fund from which unemployment compensation may be supplemented for 26 weeks to give roughly 60 per cent of the normal take-home pay.

Protection of jobs also will be asked in factory transfers from one location to another.

The industry's Big Three, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, reserved immediate comment on the union's demands.

The program was approved by the UAW's International Executive Board. It will be submitted to the Union's special convention which meets in Detroit next week to shape demands to be made on the auto industry in the spring.

Present three-year contracts expire at the end of May. Formal bargaining opens 60 days beforehand.

The UAW top leadership, including its International Executive Board, worked on the demands over the weekend at private sessions. The union is to hold a special convention in Detroit Jan. 23-24 for further consultations.

Over recent months Walter Reuther, UAW president, has mentioned a shorter work week as a top objective.

The UAW also has spoken of improved worker pensions and an increase in supplemental unemployment compensation as well as higher hourly pay.

UAW President Walter Reuther proposed to the Big Three of the auto industry last August that they cut prices on 1958 model cars by an average of $100. In return the union would take this into consideration in shaping their new contract demands, he said. Reuther's proposal was rejected.

The union gave this explanation: "The launching of the Sputniks has revealed and dramatized the true dimensions of the challenge of Communist tyranny and has emphasized the necessity for us to make the fullest possible use of our human and material resources to meet that challenge.

★ ★ ★

"As responsible citizens and in conformity with established UAW policy in relation to the timing of the introduction of the shorter work week, the leadership of the UAW recommends that the delegates to the special convention temporarily defer the implementation of the shorter work week in 1958 in the light of the realities of the world situation."

Inter-American Press to Offer 10 Scholarships

The Inter-American Press Association Scholarship Fund, Inc., today announced that at least 10 scholarships of $2,500 each will be available for distribution during 1958.

The Scholarship Fund is supported exclusively by voluntary contributions from members of the Inter-American Press Association throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Both North and South Americans are eligible for scholarships. Journalists and journalism students of North America are awarded scholarships for one year of study in Latin America, and Latin Americans may study for one year in the U. S. or Canada. Application forms are available at IAPA headquarters, 22 East 60th St., New York.

"The IAPA scholarship program is making a rich contribution to understanding and friendship in the Western Hemisphere. There are few better ways of achieving this than through an increasing two-way flow of journalists and journalism students."

"The Canary Islands"

Colorful Motion Picture

Last season Robert Davis entertained us with "Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands"; this time it will be "The Canary Islands," Spain's Fortunate Isles.

You will be amazed at the great number of interesting and diversified subjects shown in these color films. Just a few of these items are bananas, potatoes, cochineal, lava ash, the Dragon tree, communication by whistling, Corpus Christi Day, milk maids, pottery, home life and fish.

The Canary Islands, located at 30° north latitude and seventy-five miles from Africa's northwest coast, await the visitor in search of a hidden paradise. With an average temperature of 70 degrees one will see a delightful display of flowers and vegetation on mountain slopes rising from the seacoast and extending to snow-capped peaks.

2 Gunmen Slay Off-Duty Officer

Chicago Policeman and Girl Friend Abducted in His Auto

CHICAGO (INS) — An off-duty Chicago policeman was slain today by two gunmen who abducted him and a girl as they sat in the officer's auto.

★ ★ ★

John W. Quirk, 23, was shot to death after he rammed his vehicle into a parked car in an apparent attempt to fight his way to freedom.

Quirk received a police department creditable mention last Friday for his work in arresting narcotics peddlers.

The girl, Caroline Smith, 18, told police the gunmen invaded Quirk's auto as it was parked in front of her home. She said one of the men said:

"This is a stickup. Keep quiet and do what we say or I'll knock your head off."

Miss Smith said the men forced the officer to drive a directed route but when they ordered him to turn into an alley he instead smashed the car into the parked vehicle.

The girl said she ducked, heard several shots and then lifted her face to find Quirk dead and the men gone.

Police said they believed Quirk fired at least two shots from his service revolver and hit one of the men before he died.

An immediate police manhunt produced an abandoned auto in which two guns were found. The auto was apparently the slayers' car.

Man Joins Dead Wife Just 20 Minutes Later

"I'm going with mother."

With these words, Joseph T. Rice collapsed of a heart attack and died.

'Manless World' Won't Be Staged: Too Many Babies

ST. ALBANS, England (AP)—A severe outbreak of motherhood in the young wives club of St. Michael's Church has jeopardized plans to stage an amateur play called "World Without Men."

One after another of the 16 club members had to beg off from taking part in the play. At the moment it seems impossible to muster the necessary cast of 17 women.

One member's pet dog, which was to have appeared in the show, also had to be excused. She is expecting pups.

War in Algeria Kept Hot by Both Sides

ALGIERS (AP) — French forces claimed today to have killed 49 rebels in widely scattered sections of Algeria during the weekend. Algerian nationalists also continued their campaign.

A terrorist sprayed machine-gun bullets into a crowd leaving a movie theater in eastern Algeria, wounding five persons. In western Algeria a rebel band attacked a village 25 miles from Oran. One woman was killed and three other persons injured.

Red Prosecutor Asks Jail for American

BERLIN (AP)—An East German court prosecutor has demanded 10 months in jail for an American doctor accused of making an illegal camera purchase.

The Communist party organ Neues Deutschland said Dr. Walter Steinberg of Alhambra, Calif., was picked up last June along with Josef Gutmann, a Swiss national for whom five years was asked on the same charge.

The paper did not say when the trial began or when sentences would be made known.

R. C. O'Brien, U.S. consul in West Berlin, confirmed the arrest of Steinberg, born in Philadelphia in 1922, but said he had heard the doctor was arrested in September.

O'Brien said he had asked Soviet authorities in East Berlin to investigate but had received no reply. The United States, which does not recognize the East German government, deals with the Russians in such cases.

WHILE CAR PRICES WENT UP THROUGHOUT THE INDUSTRY, THE PRICE OF THIS CAR WENT DOWN

Here's good news for people who are tired of reading about higher prices for 1958 cars: Ford has priced many of its new '58 models lower than corresponding 1957 models! In fact, with all their exciting new styling and engineering advances, Ford Custom 300's are priced as much as $50 lower than last year. This is based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices. You get a 58 Ford equipped the way most people want a car equipped today. No other car so fine is priced so low. No other car gives you so much value!

Who'd ever guess it's the lowest priced of the low-price three

In case you haven't yet gotten around to pricing this elegantly styled 58 Ford Custom 300, put your mind at ease. When you compare manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices, you'll find that this Ford is priced lower than any sedan in its field. And Ford has the lowest-priced station wagon and convertible, too!

But price isn't everything. The 58 Ford made history, too, as the first car ever to use the whole world as its test track! This meant taking the all-new Interceptor V-8, combining it with new Cruise-O-Matic, the most versatile of all automatic drives, and tackling some of the roughest roads we could find on three continents. This terrific power team (available with up to 300 hp) proved that it can handle any driving you'll ever have to do . . . while saving you up to 15% on gas! Start your savings for '58 with a lower-priced Ford!

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. Gillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, flutery old woman with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. When she tells the conductor he puts it down to her imagination. Miss Marple obtains a large scale map and makes several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route. Too old for physical effort, she writes to Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession: taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic. Miss Marple figures the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, a rich manufacturer. Lucy gets herself employed at Rutherford Hall by Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, and Miss Marple is installed in the neighborhood, posing as Lucy's aunt. On pretense of playing golf, Lucy searches for the body. She finds a piece of fur on a bush below the railroad tracks, and in the grass, a compact. Alexander Eastley, Emma's nephew, and his friend, James Stoddard-West visit the Crackenthorpes and show Lucy the Long Barn that houses the atrocities Mr. Crackenthorpe has collected. Among them is a sarcophagus. On a hunch, Lucy pries it open and finds the body of a murdered woman. She informs the police. Emma can't identify the corpse.

CHAPTER 10

Inspector Bacon said, "I'd like you to have a look, yes, Doctor. We want to get her identified, I suppose it's impossible for old Mr. Crackenthorpe? Too much of a strain?"

★ ★ ★

"Strain? Fiddlesticks. He'd never forgive you or me if you didn't let him have a peep. He's all agog. Most exciting thing that's happened to him for fifteen years or so — and it won't cost him anything!"

★ ★ ★

"There's nothing really much wrong with him then"

"He's seventy - two," said the doctor. "That's all, really, that's the matter with him. He has odd rheumatic twinges — who doesn't? So he calls it arthritis. He has palpitations after meals — as well he may — he puts them down to 'heart.' But he can always do anything he wants to do! I've plenty of patients like that. The ones who are really ill usually insist desperately that they're perfectly well. Come on, let's go and see this body of yours. Unpleasant, I suppose?"

"Quite unpleasant, then."

"Never seen her before. No patient of mine. I don't remember ever seeing her about in Brackhampton. She must have been quite good-looking once — hm — somebody had it in for her all right."

GLANCES UP

"Found in the — what do they call it — the Long Barn — in a scarophagus! Fantastic! Who found her?"

"Miss Lucy Eyelesbarrow."

"Oh, the latest lady help? What was she doing, poking about in sarcophagi?"

"That," said Inspector Bacon grimly, "is just what I am going to ask her. Now, about Mr. Crackenthorpe. Will you —?"

"I'll bring him along."

Mr. Crackenthorpe, muffled in scarves, came walking at a brisk pace, the doctor beside him.

"Disgraceful," he said. "Absolutely disgraceful! I brought back that sarcophagus from Florence in—let me see—it must have been in 1908—or was it 1909?"

"Steady now," the doctor warned him. "This isn't going to be nice, you know."

"No matter how ill I am, I've got to do my duty, haven't I?"

A very brief visit inside the Long Barn was, however, quite long enough. Mr. Crackenthorpe shuffled out into the air again with remarkable speed.

"Never saw her before in my life!" he said. "What's it mean? Absolutely disgraceful. It wasn't Florence—I remember now—it was Naples. A very fine specimen. And some fool of a woman has to come and get herself killed in it!" He clutched at the folds of his overcoat on the left side.

"Too much for me . . . My heart . . . Where's Emma? Doctor . . ."

"You'll be all right," he said. "I prescribe a little stimulant. Brandy."

"Sir. Please, sir."

Inspector Bacon turned. Two boys had arrived, breathless, on bicycles. Their faces were full of eager pleading.

"Please, sir, can we see the body?"

"No, you can't" said Inspector Bacon.

"Oh sir, please, sir. You never know. We might know who she was. Oh please, sir, do be a sport. It's not fair. Here's a murder, right in our own barn. It's the sort of chance that might never happen again. Do be a sport, sir."

"Who are you two?"

"I'm Alexander Eastley, and this is my friend James Stoddart-West."

"Have you ever seen a blonde woman wearing a light colored dyed squirrel coat anywhere about the place?"

"Well — I can't remember exactly . . ." said Alexander astutely. "If I were to have a look—"

"Take 'em in, Sanders," said Inspector Bacon to the constable who was standing by the barn door. "One's only young once!"

★ ★ ★

"Oh sir, thank you, sir." Both boys were vociferous. "It's very kind of you, sir."

Bacon turned away toward the house.

"And now," he said to himself grimly, "for Miss Lucy Eyelesbarrow!"

After leading the police to the Long Barn, and giving a brief account of her actions, Lucy had retired into the background, but she was under no illusion that the police had finished with her.

She had just finished preparing potatoes for chips that evening when word was brought to her that Inspector Bacon required her presence. Putting aside the large bowl of cold water and salt in which the chips were reposing, Lucy followed the policeman to where the Inspector awaited her. She sat down and awaited his questions composedly.

"I will give you some names and addresses of reference if you want to know all about me."

The names were very good ones. An Admiral of the Fleet, the Provost of an Oxford College, and a Dame of the British Empire. In spite of himself Inspector Bacon was impressed.

"Now, Miss Eyelesbarrow, you went into the Long Barn to find some paint — is that right? And after having found the paint you got a crowbar, forced up the lid of this sarcophagus and found the body. What were you looking for in the sarcophagus?"

"I was looking for a body," said Lucy.

"You were looking for a body—and you found one! Doesn't that seem to you a very extraordinary story?"

★ ★ ★

"Oh yes, it is an extraordinary story. Perhaps you will let me explain it to you."

"I certainly think you had better do so."

RECITES EVENTS

Lucy gave him a precise recital of the events which led up to her sensational discovery.

"You were engaged by an elderly lady to obtain a post here and to search the house and grounds for a dead body. Is that right?"

"Yes."

"Who is this elderly lady?"

The Inspector wrote it down.

"You expect me to believe this story"

Lucy said gently:

"Not, perhaps, until after you have interviewed Miss Marple and got her confirmation of it."

★ ★ ★

Lucy forbore to point out that to be proved right is not really a proof of mental incapacity. Instead she said:

"What are you proposing to tell Miss Crackenthorpe? About me, I mean?"

"Why do you ask"

"Well, as far as Miss Marple is concerned, I've done my job, I've found the body she wanted found. But I'm still engaged by Miss Crackenthorpe, and there are two hungry boys in the house and probably some more of the family will soon be coming down after all this upset. She needs domestic help. If you go and tell her that I only took this post in order to hunt for dead bodies she'll probably throw me out. Otherwise I can get on with my job and be useful."

Pontiac Can't Pay Tab for Other Communities

Frequently outlying districts slide easily into a Pontiac side door and request some of the "essential services" all communities need.

However, the City of Pontiac must protect itself with the same diligence. All cities' resources are limited, including this one, even though we're in a very strong position. This newspaper is opposed to dissipating our expensive conveniences to these good friends and neighbors because of the liabilities we might face in the future. These things all cost us hard money. Every single asset we possess represents huge investments and Pontiac taxpayers have forked over the do-re-mi to make them possible.

★ ★ ★

We haven't that much money.

What we do for one, we would necessarily have to do for all. We can't play favorites and this general area is becoming so huge, one city cannot foot all the extra costs by itself.

Over an extended period of years, Pontiac has grown into an enviable position. Now as costs rise and population increases, we are prepared to look everything squarely in the face and keep pace with the acceleration.

Fortunately, we have no lag because we paid for our past expenses when we incurred them. Some communities suddenly find themselves facing heavy outlays now and this is regrettable; but it's no reason for penalizing those that were provident and thrifty in the past.

★ ★ ★

Taxpayers in nearby districts see these problems for the first time. The fact we paid for ours over the past years doesn't lessen our financial outlay or reduce the totals that we have invested and expended.

Nothing is free.

Each separate district may easily believe that it constitutes the only one that has come to Pontiac with a request for help and aid. The facts are, the line to the City Hall never ceases. It's constant.

★ ★ ★

When you decide you want schools, sewers, or water, or pavements, or a police department you pay accordingly. This, Pontiac has prudently done as the requests arose in the past.

We didn't delay.

During our fastest growing periods—and we've had some real ones—the City fathers faced every problem as it appeared. We never postponed or put off.

And we've never had outside help.

If we keep our finances and our city plant intact, we can face the future confidently. If we dissipate our resources by doling out a service here and another there, we will soon be pinched as badly as the rest and City taxpayers will face the necessity of digging up the jack for the same service a second time.

★ ★ ★

If only one area wanted one service, we could say "yes" with a ready smile. However, we are simply surrounded on all sides by areas which have many, many problems apiece. We must treat them alike. The sum total of their requests could sink a municipality many times the size of Pontiac. We can only keep faith with our own taxpayers by pointing out that we cannot possibly finance all the needs of all our good neighbors.

Pontiac is right now facing some new problems of her own. They require cash and further expenditures. We have our own expansion problems and they will increase in the years directly ahead.

IN THE move to have schools and colleges turn out more scientists, a great deal of screening should be done, so that, for example, such instruction would not be wasted on those who add by counting on their fingers.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

"Now Don't Forget, This Is Top Secret"

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's Letter—A Test of Sincerity

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has demolished the Soviet's tricky peace offensive. He has called the bluff of the Kremlin in one of the most effective pronouncements ever made on the subject of "summit" conferences, disarmament and non-aggression pacts.

LAWRENCE

The President's letter to Bulganin completely debunks the Soviet's alleged piety on the matter of disarmament and peace. It sets forth in concrete terms the steps that will have to be taken before any "summit" conference could be worthwhile.

What Mr. Eisenhower does is to lay down the conditions for such a conference in terms so plain and explicit that, if the Soviets are sincere, they will welcome the proposals. Otherwise, they will stand convicted of insincerity and hypocrisy before the whole world.

The President, moreover, revealed the emptiness of the Soviet proposal for "summit" conferences so long as the United Nations organization is ignored, defied and denounced by the Communists. Mr. Eisenhower says, in effect, that if the Kremlin had respected the U.N. Charter, there would be no need today for any "summit" conferences and no necessity for a handful of bigwigs to try to settle the affairs of 80 nations.

The Eisenhower letter was prepared by the Department of State's experts headed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It is a document that shows the result of meticulous research into the past pledges given by the Soviets that have been flagrantly violated. Putting it all together—starting with a discussion of the Yalta Agreements that have since been broken—the letter to Bulganin is a state paper of transcendent importance in modern history. It will encourage free men everywhere, including the enslaved in Hungary and Central Europe, who still yearn for freedom.

"Peace and good will among men," says the President, "have been the heartfelt desire of peoples since time immemorial. But professions of peace by governmental leaders have not always been a dependable guide to their actual intentions."

The President traces in his letter the Soviet record and challenges the Kremlin to make good on its pledges and to give evidence of its sincerity. He makes a host of far-reaching proposals—all the way from a cessation of testing of nuclear weapons and the abolition of stockpiles of bombs and missiles under a system of trustworthy inspection to the reunification of Germany and the holding of free elections in the captive countries. What the President says may be summarized in this way:

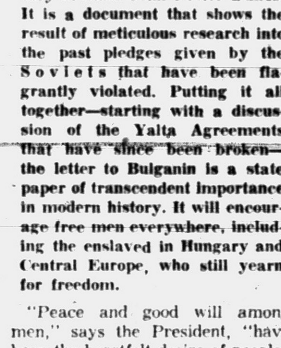

"We are with you in principle in trying to find a way to disarmament and peace. Let's get together through the proper officials and see if there is any chance of agreement. If there is something specific worked out, some progress that we can see ahead of time, I'll go anywhere in the world to attend a 'summit' conference or any other kind of conference to sign such an agreement. But there must be a reliable means of protection so that we shall know you will keep your word."

Mr. Eisenhower's letter is a milestone in the negotiating process. He scorns the private deal type of "summit" conference and calls for conferences step by step through diplomatic channels. Then, he says, a meeting by heads of state to ratify everything that has been done can be held.

This is the boldest challenge presented by the democracies of the world in the entire East-West struggle since the ending of World War II. It will rally the free world and should clear away once and for all any doubts about American leadership.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Colitis' Victim Might Try Nutrition, Belly Breathing

An Oregon reader wrties:

All I know is that the practice of the belly breathing exercise once, twice or three times a day can do no harm in any case and may do good in many cases of colon derangement.

DR. BRADY

Most colon-conscious persons eventually develop a morbid fancy that their digestion is very sensitive, their nerves are very delicate and hence they must have only refined, soft, smooth "easily digested" food—no coarse cereals, vegetables, greens or fruits.

SO-CALLED COLITIS

Following a diet restricted accordingly, they inevitably develop nutritional deficiency manifestations. The poor souls and their near-doctors generally attribute these manifestations to the "colitis," and so the condition goes insidiously from bad to worse.

Colitis (that is, real inflammation of the large intestine) like arthritis (real inflammation of joints) does occur in a few instances, say in one or two out of 100 cases.

Actually, however, there is no inflammation of the colon (large bowl) and no inflammation of the joints in the general run of cases labeled colitis or arthritis.

The pathology of both condition is degeneration due primarily to nutritional deficiency (malnutrition) through the years. The colon derangement or the joint disability therefore comes on insidiously—as degeneration does, not abruptly or rapidly, as inflammation would—and continues indefinitely or becomes steadily worse regardless of any and all standard 19th Century treatment.

In his famous "Studies in Deficiency Disease," McCarrison wrote (1921): "I have myself no doubt that (the familiar features, symptoms or manifestations of colon derangement) have resulted from the long-continued use of deficient foods from childhood onwards."

Think of this next time the huckster sells your undisciplined youngster a pretty package of sugar pap.

Brady's "Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene" is still available to any one who sends 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. I don't guarantee anything—that would be unethical. But I have here a stack of reports so high indicating that my little brown book is making substantial inroads on the membership of the B.W.A. (Bowel Watchers of America).

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Jesus Was Greatest Psychologist

Dr. Burgess knows at first hand that college students are idealists at heart and relish scientific facts which will help them live happier lives. So he asks me to repeat some of the data from my college textbook to show that Jesus was the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DR. CRANE

As head of the psychology department at Concordia College, Moorhead, Minnesota, he has used my textbook with over 1,000 of his students the past few years in his large classes in Applied Psychology.

"Dr. Crane, my students like its practical nature," Dr. Burgess said, as he and Mrs. Burgess had dinner with Mrs. Crane and me following my Bible Class at the Chicago Temple one Sunday noon.

"Why don't you tell your readers some of the interesting evidence you cite in Chapter 18 to show that Christ was the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist?"

JESUS AS A PSYCHOLOGIST

Apropos of this suggestion by Dr. Burgess, I might begin by saying that Jesus believed in advertising.

For he sent his 70 disciples ahead of him, 2 by 2, to recruit large audiences. They acted as press agents or public relations men.

Jesus also believed in polls of public opinion. And the Bible proves this fact when it mentions that Christ asked his Apostles what the public thought of him (Matthew 16:13).

Perhaps Jesus was also feigning sleep during that severe storm at sea when his Apostles grew panicky.

Since Christ was a rugged athletic individual, he wouldn't likely have remained asleep with waves showering cold spray over the deck where he lay.

He may thus have kept his eyes closed just so he could find out how much faith they possessed to tide them over the crisis. Maybe he was trying to fathom the depth of their faith.

Jesus also employed the narrative of anecdotal formula for an interesting speech. He illustrated his ethical points with concrete cases, called parables.

Any modern clergyman who puts parishioners to sleep is failing to follow Christ's surefire public speaking formula.

CONFOUNDED CRITICS

And when his critics tried to trap him with "planted" questions that would catch him on one or another of the two horns of a dilemma, Jesus neatly sidestepped their evil plans.

"Is it lawful to pay tribute to Caesar?" was one such dilemma.

If Christ had said "Yes" he would have alienated most of his Hebrew listeners.

If he had said "No," his critics would have turned him over to the Roman soldiers for inciting treason.

So Jesus asked for a coin, held it aloft, and then employed the clever psychology which we call the "reversible why" technique.

For he reversed their query by asking, "Whose image and superscription are on this coin?"

And when they chanted (audience participation strategy) that it was Caesar's, Christ replied:

"Render, therefore, to Caesar

JESUS AS PSYCHIATRIST

Jesus also understood our modern psychosomatic medical problems, for he used positive suggestion on patients and also made them do something tangible to produce their own recovery, as when he ordered the crippled man to "Take up thy bed and walk."

He employed other forms of psychological strategy as outlined more fully in tomorrow's column. Discuss these cases next Sunday at church.

Voice of the People

Mr. Clapp's Final Letter to Press Tells Experiences

This being near the time of the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, it brings to mind some of my experiences while traveling with livestock in cold weather.

★ ★ ★

In January, 1910, I brought to Howell from Massachusetts a $6,500 Holstein bull. There was a blizzard and zero weather when we loaded, and when I woke up next morning, I found some dumb car sealer had violated railroad rules against sealing cars with stock and attendant in them, and I wasn't able to attract attention and get the doors unsealed until the middle of the day. Had the bull's tie rope broken, he would have killed me. I spent all the next day in Niagara Falls with the yardmaster's thermometer showing 17 below all day.

The second day in Windsor yards, I was informed my car wouldn't be allowed in the ferry to Detroit, as the ice was so bad only one more boat would be allowed to try to get across. They were afraid we might be frozen in the river for a couple of days. I was finally allowed in the last boat to cross for a couple of days. I wasn't too warm as most of the blankets given to me for the trip I put over the bull to keep him from freezing to death, as he was more valuable than I.

In 1917 we had a carload at the Chicago International. When I went to order my car at the close of the show, I was told, "Positively no livestock accepted for shipment east of Buffalo." So those of us going on east sat it out in the cold, practically deserted farms for another week. We lost one animal valued $1,200, with pneumonia.

When finally released and our car loaded, I left it in charge of my assistant and came to Pontiac and Northville for a day's visit, and then I went home. Arriving at midnight, it was cold and nobody in sight, so I called the home of the man we hired to drive us around. His wife answered, and when I asked if her husband would drive me home, she said, "No, for two reasons. He's very sick with pneumonia and even if he was well, he wouldn't do it. Nobody has been over that road for two weeks."

That left me just one thing to do—with two suitcases (not light) I started for home, plowing two miles over hills, through snow waist deep and bitter cold. More than once I was on the point of just lying down and quitting. A sharp little hill close to home almost caused me to holler for help.

Earlier that year, I had been sent to the West Coast to look over every good herd of Berkshires in Washington, Oregon and California, buy enough to fill out a carload (one had already been bought in California for $3,000) and bring them back near Reading, Pa. It took just two weeks on the return trip. It was hot in California, and I was told at Barstow that if my train went through the "needles" during the day the heat would probably kill all of my load. We went through at night. At the other end of the trip I wound up in a snow storm. Such is life in good old America.

James W. Clapp

True Story on Missiles Is Found Hard to Believe

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — The full story of the handicaps which some of our top scientists have been working under has not been told. The true picture of the tangled jungle that is the Pentagon will not be in proper focus until the President presents his alternatives in a special message. The truth about our meager production figures in some missiles fields is hard to believe.

This writer has it on knowledgeable authority that a recent Air Force announcement to the effect that production of the Thor 1,500-mile rocket was being "tripled" actually meant stepping up production to six Thors a month.

The design has been perfected, the price of $700,000 per Thor has been settled, there appear to be sufficient parts and ample trained labor. But, until recently, only two a month were being built. This is the missile with which we have promised to supply such NATO allies as want to participate fully in the defense of Western Europe.

To cooperate in efforts to protect the national debt from passing the $275 billion ceiling, the Atomic Energy Commission recently froze further work on a phase of work which gave breathtaking promise that the size of the H-bomb can be trimmed in half without loss of its colossal power.

Physicists at Los Alamos, Livermore and other key points of the U.S. nuclear weapons labs, had asked for $17 millions to complete the research, production and test of their exciting plans. It has been held up at the cost of depriving the Armed Forces of war-deterrent H-bombs which could be carried by fighter planes or lifted by much smaller and less expensive missiles than the Atlas.

The Sputniks have made a much deeper imprint on American scientists in all fields than the public generally appreciates. One of the men who created the A-bomb soberly suggested today that it would not be surprising, to him, if Russia combined the world appeal of its end-atomic-tests campaign with an ultimatum to us that it will hit Eniwetok with an ICBM if we persist in staging a scheduled test there this summer.

Ike Proposes Precariously Balanced $73,934,000,000 Budget for 1959

that may develop in the coming year.

The President sought incentive pay raises, effective July 1, for the armed forces, as well as for one and one-half million classified and postal employes. However, the boost for the latter two groups would be about half the size contained in legislation Eisenhower pocket vetoed last year.

SPENT IN FUTURE

He asked Congress to appropriate $72,452,000,000 in new money, of which he would spend only $34,000,000,000 in the coming fiscal year. The rest would be spent in future years.

The budget, Eisenhower said, reflects not only "the swiftly moving character of the time in which we live," but also the determination to remain "sturdy."

At the same time, he said it shows his administration's will to adhere to basic principles of "governmental and fiscal soundness."

The slight surplus of income over outgo in the coming fiscal year could disappear in any one of a number of circumstances, some involving the state of the economy and some the election-year mood of Congress.

The President predicted an increase of two billion dollars in federal revenue although he conceded "many uncertainties."

He said his confidence in his prognostication is based on these "strong grounds": Accelerated defense and non-defense spending, industry's rapid technological advances, expanding needs of a growing population and "government policies designed to facilitate the resumption of growth."

MUST AREE

Congress must agree to a five-cent postage stamp on out-of-town letters, to cut back federal aid for schools in federally-affected areas and for hospital construction, to end acreage reserve payments to farmers and to scale down other farm programs.

He asked that the federal government be allowed to turn over gradually to states more of the responsibility for public assistance payments, slum clearance projects, natural resource development, vocational education and construction of waste treatment facilities.

He also urged that all federal credit programs be adjusted so that administration expenses are paid by interest collected on the loans. Many, he said, should be turned over to private lending institutions.

SLOW DOWN

Congress was also asked not to authorize any new water and power projects and to slow down work on most of those already started.

The President called for a one-year increase in the national debt limit—now at $275,000,000,000—to give the Treasury Department more flexibility in handling federal finances.

In summing up his fiscal program, the President said: "I feel confident this budget expresses the way in which the American people will want to respond to the promises and dangers of the dawning age of space conquest . . .

★ ★ ★

"Our response must rise above personal selfishness, above sectional interests, above political partisanship. The goal of lasting peace with justice, difficult though it may be to achieve, is worth all of our efforts. We must make the necessary sacrifices to attain it. Our own people demand it and the nations of the world look to us for leadership."

DEFENSE: $38,861,000,000 (including $1,270,000,000 to be acted on by Congress); $39,779,000,000. The number of men and women on active duty would be scaled down from 2,608,000 to 2,525,000. The Army would complete its reorganization into Pentomic divisions.

AIR FORCE CUT

The air force would be cut from 117 to 105 wings and the navy would work with 864 ships instead of 901.

Every mission and every installation will be studied to make sure it contributes to modern warfare, the President said. He said many will be closed while some new ones—to provide greater dispersal for the strategic air force—will be built. Procurement of older weapons—and even some outmoded missiles—is to be reduced.

All this is to offset the sharply accelerated spending on new missiles and research and development of other advanced weapons. The President said that while missiles took less than two cents of each dollar spent in 1953 on major procurement, they now take about 24 cents.

EXPECTS DEVELOPMENTS

New developments, he said, can be expected "at an ever-increasing pace." The early warning network will be expanded and a new ballistic missile detection system constructed.

Eisenhower said he would not hesitate to use the $500,000,000 he asked of Congress for exploiting technical advances in military satellites and other outer space vehicles as well as anti-missile missile systems.

All bombers bought with 1959 appropriated money, he added, would be capable of supersonic speeds and of using guided missiles and nuclear weapons.

The heavy-bomber force of the Strategic Air Command will be completely made up of B-52s with guided and ballistic missiles beginning to replace manned aircraft.

The Army will get some more airplanes and helicopters but no more than the four missile commands they already are to have on June 30. And the Navy is to get three guided missile destroyers, the first nuclear-powered frigate and three submarines capable of firing the 1,500-mile Polaris.

The President asked for authority to transfer up to two billion dollars from one defense program to another to take advantage of new developments as they come and to eliminate obsolete programs.

ATOMIC ENERGY: $2,300,000,000; $2,550,000,000. Both military and peaceful applications of atomic energy are to be stepped up with emphasis on naval and other military nuclear propulsion reactors.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS: $4,613,000,000; $4,397,000,000. Economic aid programs would be increased from $604,000,000 to $783,000,000. Military aid spending is to be reduced from $2,145,000,000 to $3,085,000,000.

The President said all aid programs are being reviewed to insure that they are related to "current military requirements and technology." He proposed making missiles and "other advanced weapons" available to Allies.

He asked extension and liberalization of the Reciprocal Trade Act and sought an increase of two billion dollars immediately in the amount of money the Export-Import Bank can lend to foreign firms and countries.

The State Department and Foreign Service budgets emphasize the increased role that the Middle East and Africa play in U. S. and world affairs and the President is seeking more funds for the U. S. Information Service and more contact with Iron Curtain nations.

He also asked Congress for four million dollars to build facilities for winter sports in view of the U. S. invitation to hold the 1960 Olympic winter games in this country.

LABOR AND WELFARE: $3,443,000,000; $3,643,000,000. In carrying out his policy of developing the nation's scientific and technical strength, the President proposed that the National Science Foundation budget be tripled.

The budget includes funds for starting the President's four-year one-billion-dollar education program but foregoes any request for money to help states build schools, twice rejected by the House.

The new program calls for 10,000 federal scholarships for talented young mathematics and engineering students, more testing and counseling services, strengthened science and math curricula, expansion of foreign language teaching and improvement of educational facilities.

He asked that legislation authorizing hospital construction—due to expire June 30, 1959—be exteended on a limited basis that would meet "only the most urgent needs."

COMMERCE AND HOUSING: $6,146,000,000; $1,627,000,000. The budget assumes Congress will pass postal rate legislation that will add $700,000,000 to the federal treasury.

It also assumes the House, which has already approved a four-cent first class rate, will increase this to five cents for out-of-town letters.

The President asked Congress to finance forest roads and other highways on public lands out of the highway fund instead of the federal treasury.

He urged that the small business administration be made a permanent organnization.

Predicting an increased need for college housing spending, he also sought higher interest rates and the repeal of limits on discount rates to encourage home building.

The President also said he will recommend later that all civil defense activities be more tightly controlled in his office because rapid technical advances "have led to a serious overlap among agencies carrying on these leadership and planning functions."

VETERANS SERVICE: $5,034,000,000; $5,012,000,000. Disability compensation rate increases voted last year by Congress and a steady growth of non-service-connected pension caseloads are a little more than offset by economies and by reductions in compensation and pensions resulting from a decline in readjustment needs of Korean veterans.

AGRICULTURE: $4,924,000,000; $4,601,000,000. The President recommends the end of the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank at the end of the current crop year but greater exphasis on the conservation reserve.

He urged nearly a 50 per cent cutback, however, in the program by which the government shares part of the cost of conservation practices with farmers. This reduction would not show up in the budget until the 1960 fiscal year.

The reduction in farm program spending is mainly brought about by the anticipation that the price support operations will be greatly reduced.

NATURAL RESOURCES: $1,457,000,000; $1,492,000,000. Besides asking Congress to hold the line against building any new water projects, the chief executive renewed his request that the Tennessee Valley Authority be allowed to meet its needs by the sale of revenue bonds.

INTEREST ON THE NATIONAL DEBT: $7,867,000,000; $7,869,000,000.

GENERAL GOVERNMENT: $1,377,000,000; $1,403,000,000. This includes modest increases for operating Congress and the federal courts.

South Korean Police Arrest Former Red

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean national police announced the arrest today of onetime Communist Cho Bong Am, President Syngman Rhee's only opponent in the 1956 presidential elections.

National Police Director Suh Chung Hak said his men found evidence that Cho and leaders of his Progressive party "have had connections" with North Korean espionage groups.

Five other Progressive leaders, including the party's only member of the 202-seat National Assembly, Dim Dal Ho, were arrested for questioning.

To Take Registrations From Monday Through Thursday at PCHS

Registration for classes in the Pontiac Public Evening School, which begins another semester Jan. 23, will be accepted today through Thursday at Pontiac Central High School, according to Raymond J. Graff, supervisor of trade and industrial education.

Registration will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Eighteen classes will meet one evening per week for 12 weeks from 7 to 10 o'clock, and the registration fee is $10.

These classes include: Accounting, bookkeeping, French, shorthand, Spanish, typewriting, business English, office machines, public speaking, beginning reading, parent education, ceramics, lip reading, tailoring-dressmaking, China painting, photography and watercolor painting.

No fees will be charged for the citizenship class, which will meet Mondays and Wednesdays, and the Americanization class, which will meet Thursdays. Both classes will begin at 7:30 p.m.

JOB SUPPLEMENT

Ten vocational industrial classes will be available to persons employed in trade vocations and instruction must be supplementary to daily employment. These classes will meet one evening per week for 12 weeks from 6 to 10 o'clock.

★ ★ ★

They include: Automotive diagnosis-tune-up, shop mathematics, blueprint reading, tool and die design, drafting, sheet metal layout, electrical maintenance, machine shop, advanced projection and welding. All of the above classes will cost $16 except for the welding, which requires a $20 registration fee.

Twenty hours of driver education for adults will also be available from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Registration fee is $25.

Classes for high school credit will be organized if enough people enroll to make a class feasible, according to Graff.

Toothpaste Revolutionized by Shy Printer

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS)—"This," said the man with the toothpaste smile from the toothpaste company, "will be even bigger than chlorophyll."

He squirted a tube of toothpaste at a piece of white paper and proclaimed:

He allowed a respectful 30 seconds for admiration of the red-and-white striped smear. Then he pushed forward a small, gray-haired man with glasses and said:

"This is the inventor—Leonard L. Marraffino."

The inventor of striped toothpaste smiled weakly.

"Tell her about it," proded the toothpaste company man, "How you worked on it for years, how everyone said it couldn't be done—but you did it!"

WASN'T EASY

"Well," said Marraffino gingerly, "It wasn't easy."

Marraffino, a 50-year-old printer who looked as if he'd much rather be back among the presses, cleared his throat and recounted the saga of striped toothpaste.

The figuring took three years, $12,000 and about 1,000 man-hours in a grocery store cellar in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

"People laughed and said it couldn't be done," noted Marraffino mildly. "I tried everything—cardboard spirals and brushes inside the tube, metal inserts and finally a plastic insert with grooves to hold the red. That did it, but it took three more years to get it patented.

HAS LAST LAUGH

Marraffino can be very forgiving to all the people who laughed at striped toothpaste. With a percentge coming from every tube sold, the do-it-yourselfer is going to have the last laugh all the way to the banl.

"But I'm not giving up the printing business," he said firmly. "I've been in that since I was 14.

"It sure is nice, though, to have people ask me for some of my toothpaste, and I get a big boot out of going into stores and buying it."

For himself?

Convict Marine of Cruel Actions

Sergeant Sentenced to Prison, Fined, Busted to Private

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—A hefty Marine sergeant was busted to private today and sentenced to eight months in prison for cruelty to prisoners in a Navy brig.

Sgt. Robert J. Barbuti, 23, Schenectady, N. Y., was also docked $60 a month pay for eight months. He said he was "chiefly worried about my family," his Japanese wife and their 8-month-old baby.

A former assistant warden at the Sasebo naval base, Barbuti could have been sent to prison for nine years. He was the 15th guard from the Sasebo brig to be tried on charges of mistreating prisoners.

The conviction of four other Sasebo guards has been reversed by the Navy's Pacific Command. Four more sentences are still under review, and six Marines were acquitted. All were tried on lesser charges, however.

Barbuti was convicted of punching and slapping soldier inmates, stepping on a prisoner's bare feet in his boots and forcing a Marine prisoner to hold a heavy, water-filled bucket over his head.

Seventeen other counts of cruelty and two of assault were dropped by the eight-man Navy-Marine general court-martial Saturday. They included scraping a bayonet across a man's chest and jamming a pencil up a man's nose.

Barbuti denied them all.

The 6-foot-1, 205-pound Marine's defense pleaded in mitigation that he was a "strict disciplinarian," and recalled that his Marine basic training included the practice of hitting recruits. The prosecution said that Barbuti had contributed to a "pattern of brutality" in the brig and violated all its regulations.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Gaillard Seeks Longer Terms

Calls for Speedy OK of Plan to Prolong Lives of French Regimes

CONFOLENS, France (AP)—Premier Felix Gaillard has caled for speedy National Assembly approval of his Cabinet's six-point plan designed to prolong the precarious lives of France's governments.

Citing the current system that has speeded the downfall of 24 governments since World War II, Gaillard declared last night the recurrent crises had "deprived France of authority in her relationships with foreign countries."

The 38-year-old Premier noted that in the postwar period the United States has had only two presidents, Russia two chiefs of state and Britain three prime ministers.

"We must not only allow the (French) government to last, but to make it so that while they are in power everybody knows they will last," he said.

Gaillard, who has been in office two months, told some 700 persons attending a banquet in his honor that the Assembly should act at once on the proposals to be presented next week.

Child Plays On as Dead Parents Lie in Kitchen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 2-year-old boy played in the kitchen of his home here yesterday, apparently oblivious of the bodies of his mother and father sprawled about him. His mommy was sleeping, he told a caller.

Police reported the father shot and killed his estranged wife, then took his own life. A coroner ruled the deaths murder and suicide.

Miss Obera Lee, 32, found the bodies of her brother William L. Lee, 31, and his wife Avonell, 21. She told police she became suspicious after finding a .32-caliber revolver missing from her home where Lee lived. She said she phoned Mrs. Lee's apartment and spoke to the couple's 2-year-old son William, who said his mother was asleep.

Miss Lee said the child had seen his parents sprawled on the kitchen floor and apparently had been playing around the bodies all morning. The boy and his 4-month-old brother Kenneth evidently were sleeping at the time of the shooting, police said.

Sees U. S. Economy Hurting Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said today that adverse economic conditions at home are going to make it difficult for many members of Congress to vote to expand foreign aid.

★ ★ ★

"Sure, we're going to be for foreign aid, as we always have been," Anderson said. "But with every lead and zinc mine in New Mexico closed because of foreign competition I am being put in a position where I can't vote for expanded foreign aid."

Anderson said some difficult going is ahead for a bipartisan conference President Eisenhower has asked Eric Johnston to call to impress on the American people the need for foreign aid.

Johnston said he would call 600 to 700 leaders of private organizations for a two-day rally here. No date was fixed.

Dirty Diapers Stolen

Two Bus Accidents Fatal to 22 in Mexico

TOLUCA, Mexico (AP)—Two bus accidents last night killed 22 persons in this central state of Mexico. Thirty-five others were injured, some gravely.

Six were killed and nine injured in the collision of a bus and automobile at Tizayuca.

The other dead and injured were passengers on a bus which went out of control on a hill near Tocuca and crashed into a wall. The driver said his brakes failed.

...you'll like what you see when you see today's Detroit Times

there's a bright difference

The eyes are a symbol. We hope you will recognize them and remember them from this day foward as a symbol for the "bright difference" you will see in The Detroit Times.

What is the "bright difference"? It is many things. The red color is gone from the front page of the Times. In its place, a cool green. The type style is new . . . and that, combined with other differences in page layout, makes the Times easier on the eyes . . . easier to read.

New local columnists will appear as part of the "bright difference." John Manning, Editor of the Times, will write one. Harvey Taylor will write another covering Detroit and suburbia, sometimes sad, sometimes witty, but always "off beat." There will be a column on bridge by B. Jay Becker and another column under the title "The Labor Front" by Jack Crellin. Two of Detroit's top reporters, Eddie Batchelor and John Creecy, will team up to write a continuing series of articles covering the school problems in terms of local interests and needs. This, like the sophisticated new cartoon panel, "Mr. Abernathy," will become part of the "bright difference."

And each Sunday, "Tempo of the Times" will appear . . . a new feature section covering, among other things, art, books, theatre and music, as well as many other activities and interests. And helping to keep the Times brightly different will be great reporters, Considine, Kilgallen, Winchell, Bishop, Fleeson, Pegler, Conniff, Baer. As time goes on, the Times will go on adding features that all add up to the BRIGHT DIFFERENCE that we think will make you like the Times more and more.

World Tourist Happy With His Job

NEW YORK (NEA)—Bill Harris once had to scrounge up a brass bed in the dead of night in Tangiers, Morocco, for an irate cruise passenger who wouldn't sleep on anything else. Among other things, he has also been tossed out of a native canoe into the boiling rapids of the Iguazu River in Brazil.

Nevertheless, Harris is in complete accord with the 100 or so people who stop him and say: "Boy I wish I had your job," for Harris is a full-time world tourist who gets paid for it.

CRUISE SCOUT

As cruise scout for American Express, Harris has logged more than a million miles since 1951, visiting more than 100 countries and most of the world's islands. In his 20 years in the travel business, he has been around the world 18 times.

Every year, new places are opened up for the cruise passengers to visit, but they're not new to Harris. It's his job to have been there first and make sure each port of call is ready to handle visitors in the style to which they're accustomed.

The demands can be exacting; overseas cruise passengers are eager for exotic experiences, but after shelling out from $3,200 to $35,000 for a ticket, they also expect the comforts of home — or better.

AIR CONDITIONED

"No matter where Americans go, whether it's French Equatorial Africa or in the heart of Poris, most of them seem to want air-conditioned rooms," Harris says.

Today, most of them also want standard American food wherever they go, Harris adds, although few are as finicky as the woman he recalls who brought along her own canned food from the U.S. for shore excursions.

On his travels, Harris sends a steady flow of reports back to American Express Travel Service advising them, for instance, that it's O.K. to re-open the Malay Peninsula or that they'd better change hotels in Milan.

On a recent swing along the Western African coast, he opened up off-the-beaten-path ports that will be available for cruise passengers for the first time. One of these, which will be visited by the SS Statendam on its world cruise which starts in January, is the home port of Dr. Albert Schweitzer at Lambarene.

Before he could give the go-ahead, Harris had to arrange special flights from the coast and negotiate with local dugout canoe pilots for the river leg of the visit.

Who takes these trips? Harris figures that out of 500 cruise passengers about 350 will be women and 150 of these will be unmarried or widowed, most of whom are not adverse to meeting the right kind of new man.

Of the 150 men on such a cruise, 100 will be single. Harris falls into this category when he's on board, and despite all the unattached women it's likely he'll remain that way for a while; at 40, he's still too busy being a professional tourist to settle down.

He spends 10 months of the year traveling around the world, another six weeks lecturing in the U.S. on what he's seen. The remaining two weeks he spends stretched out on a lawn chair at his family home in Swampscott, Mass.

"I wouldn't be caught dead traveling on vacation," he says.

Car Crash in Arizona Fatal for Detroit Man

HOLBROK, Ariz. (AP) — Irving Alex Stone, 27, of 70 West Warren Detroit was fatally injured yesterday when a car in which he was riding collided with a truck on U.S.66 about 11 miles east of this northeastern Arizona city.

★ ★ ★

Highway patrolman Laurel Peterson said the driver William Owen Athey 17 of Star Route Melbourne La. apparently dozed at the wheel and the auto strayed into the lane of the truck. He escaped with minor injuries.

Peterson said the truck driver Frank Holliman 42 of Enid Oklahoma tried to avoid the crash but the auto struck the left rear of the truck. He was unhurt.

Worked on Nuclear Sub in Ladies' Powder Room

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first work on this country's pioneer nuclear submarine was done in an office converted from a ladies' powder room.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's top nuclear expert, related the incident to a Senate group to illustrate the slight official support he said he got when he first proposed the nuclear job project.

The admiral testified Monday at a closed door hearing of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which is investigating the nation's military readiness in the light of Russian scientific advances. Some of what Rickover said was disclosed at the time. More of his testimony was released today, presumably after security censorship.

Despite his experience in the nuclear field, Rickover said he has not been consulted about development of subs to launch ballistics missiles or about other advanced weapons.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) and Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) expressed shock at this and asked Rickover why. He replied that was something for others to answer and said, "I am not complaining."

Discussing the capability of nuclear submarines, Rickover said such craft had remained submerged as much as 15 days and that he knew no reason why they could not stay under water longer.

"The Navy is developing a machine to make oxygen from sea water which will permit them to stay submerged almost indefinitely," he said.

As he has said before, Rickover told the senators, "Our objective is to build atomic reactors which will last for an entire war. You might ask me how long a war is going to last, but I am thinking of World War II."

Looking back over the years, Rickover said that at first his idea to start work on an atomic submarine was rejected but that "fortunately there were other voices in Washington."

"I was kept on, and I was assigned this job all by myself, and given an office in a ladies powder room."

★ ★ ★

Rickover said, "At that time nearly everybody knew it was going to fail so they let us alone completely, almost completely, so we were able to do the job."

Release Burt Lancaster

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Recovered from an appendectomy, actor Burt Lancaster has checked out of a hospital and says he is as "mean and healthy as ever" and plans to be back on the job in a week or 10 days.

Winter Chills Adults, but It's Treat for Kids

Pontiac Press Photos

"Wow! Here we go!" calls Eric Wentzel of Buckthorn street as he shows our photographer what fun it is to use a slide in the wintertime. All the snow that has been around during the past week was just the ticket for activities over at the Westacres clubhouse.

When Bernie Fling of Oakleaf avenue goes down the slide he likes to take his dog Spunkey. Makes it a little hard to guide the sled, but then the ride's more exciting.

JUDITH NORENE KABAT

The Frank Kabats of Ann Arbor announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Norene, to Monroe B. Osmun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe M. Osmun of Ogemaw road. Judith is in the University of Michigan School of Nursing and is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Monroe, a senior in the University's School of Business Administration, is a member of Delta Sigma fraternity. An August wedding is planned.

JUDITH ANN BRADLEY

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bradley of Spokane drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann, to James William Huttenlocher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Huttenlocher of Clarkston. The bride-elect was graduated from Michigan State University where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority, and her fiance, a University of Michigan graduate, was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Presidents' Chinaware on Display

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Bit by bit—a soup plate here, a cup and saucer there—the Smithsonian Institution is building up a collection of china off which American presidents have dined over the years.

★ ★ ★

Newest additions to the collection, now displayed in glass cases in the institution's First Ladies' Hall, include three oyster plates from the Rutherford B. Hayes administration; a couple of plates from the Benjamin Harrison tenure; and a cup and saucer and a plate from the Wedgewood service used by Theodore Roosevelt.

EASIER TO VIEW

Folks interested in the historic china have a better chance to study the Smithsonian pieces than the White House collection of presidential porcelain and china in the executive mansion. (This may be viewed only through special arrangement made by your congressman, or other officials.)

★ ★ ★

Easily viewed in the Smithsonian's well-lit cases are quite a number of Washington pieces, including a gold-rimmed white Sevres plate and bowl used by the first president as banquet service, a cup and saucer from the state china with the names of the then existing states in links around the border.

There are examples from the John Adams administration as well as from the administrations of Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Lincoln, Grant and Garfield.

A number of Lenox pieces, the first American-made china introduced in the White House during the Wilson era, include dinner and service plates used during that administration as well as in the administrations of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

RECENT REGIMES

There are also the Lenox dinner plates used by Roosevelt and Truman, and a service plate, dinner plate and cup and saucer of the Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

The earliest White House Lenox bears the Presidential Seal near the wide gold banding on the outer rim of the dinner plate and in the center of the service plate. The Wilsons ordered 1,700 pieces from the Lenox Potteries in Trenton, N. J.

Franklin Roosevelt helped plan the design for the set he ordered. The Truman-Eisenhower Lenox bears a wide outer and a narrow inner band of gold with the Presidential Seal in the center of the plate, surrounded by stars on a white background.

One set of china was bought by Theodore Roosevelt in 1902 after the first remodeling of the White House. It is of the famous Edgewood with simple colonial design traced in gold.

Horace D'Angelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace D'Angelo of Birmingham, received a B.A. in general business. Other students from Birmingham earning degrees were Ned S. Bearden, son of Judge W. Bearden, B.A. in economics; Arthur M. Lee, son of Arthur H. Lee, B.A. in social science; Howard A. Murray, son of Mrs. L. B. Murray, B.A. in economics; and Daniel E. Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Springer, B.A. in economics.

Candace E. Becker, daughter of Clyde E. Becker of Clarkston, earned a B.S. degree in mathematics, and from Rochester, Barbara Robertson, daughter of L. F. Robertson, received a B.S. degree in home furnishings. Orchard Lake's Thomas N. Boyer, son of F. E. Boyer, received his B.A. in economics.

Advanced degrees were awarded to Oscar Taboada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Soriano of Ferry avenue, Ph.D. in entomology, and Bruce H. Barnes, son of Donald Barnes of Rochester, M.S. in Mathematics.

Mrs. LeRoy Fauble is leaving by plane Thursday for Nurnberg, Germany, where she will reside with her husband, Pvt. Fauble, who is stationed there for the next 18 months. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carter of Omar street, and Pvt. Fauble's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Fauble of Snellbrook road.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Alonzi (nee Mary Jan Vizza) of South Marshall street announce the birth of a son, Mark Anthony, Jan. 9 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Alonzi of East South boulevard and Mrs. Rachel Vizza of North Roselawn drive.

Your Habits Can Result in Chronic Fatigue

By JOSEPHINE LOWAN

There are all kinds of fatigue. Some of it is natural and to be expected. However, chronic fatigue is damaging to happiness and success and is a signal that all is not as it should be.

If you are tired most of the time, or if you are exhausted at the end of a busy day and do not bounce back within a reasonable period of time, you should have a physical examination to discover any organic or systemic cause which may exist. Many of these can be corrected.

If your physician finds no reason for your constant state of tiredness, then you must look into your own habits of life and thought for the cause. Let me list a few of the most usual reasons so that you can check yourself:

1. Boredom and monotony. It is becoming more and more apparent that these two states can exhaust one while enthusiasm and keen interests can revitalize one.

A change of pace, new activities and interests, getting out of the rut, wherever it is, can make all of the difference in the world in the way you feel. Women in the home should remember this. Do not let the walls close in on you!

2. Irritating emotional factors. It is the current belief that hard work never hurt or seriously tired anyone, but that the emotional factors associated with your work may do so. If you work side by side with someone who is irritating or if you work constantly under a feeling of pressure or discouragement, this may be most fatiguing.

3. Hurry and worry.

ALL ARE CULPRITS

4. Poor working conditions such as inadequate llighting, rooms which are too hot or too cold, or desks and chairs which are too high or too low, all are culprits in making you weary.

★ ★ ★

5. Poor nutrition. This state lowers our store of energy greatly. This is especially true of vitamin and mineral deficiency.

6. A sedentary life and insufficient sleep rob us of pep.

7. Destructive emotions such as hate, jealousy or envy exhaust one.

We can change or improve most of the conditions I have mentioned by doing something about them, by constructive effort. Yet many humans just stew in the acid of the situation they find themselves in.

Why not make a real effort to change those factors in your life which lead to fatigue? If you cannot change them, make a serious attempt to adjust to them, to develop cutoffs.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Individual Happiness" which may give you some leads, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65, address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

We must not forget two other factors which often cause us to feel tired. Either eye strain or aching feet can make one feel weary all over, and this is a fact!

Many women who need eyeglasses will not wear them and therefore experience such fatigue and also age themselves by acquiring squint lines. They give an even greater impression of age because they fumble about and do not recognize their best friends when passing them on the street!

When your feet are tired or burn or ache, it also gives you a feeling of complete exhaustion. Often the trouble comes from weak arches. Every once in a while I give you exercises to stregthen the arches.

If you are overweight, or pregnant, or stand on your feet many hours each day, it is a good idea to take these exercises as preventative measures.

1. Sit on a chair with your legs extending out in front of you, heels on the floor. Soles of the feet face each other. Now circle outward with the feet as though you were piling up sand between them. Continue.

2. Sit in a chair or on a stool. Take one end of a towel in each hand. Put your feet on the towel with the centers of your feet on the towel, Push the towel away from you as you straighten your knees and point your toes. Hold for a few moments. Rest. Push again, etc.

3. Just walking about the room on the outsides of your feet is a splendid corrective exercise. So is picking up marbles with your toes.

Secretary Must Make Own Code

Knows Whether or Not It's Necessary to Go With Boss

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be improper for a secretary to accompany her employer on business trips — staying in the same hotels (in different rooms of course) when his wife cannot go along with them? The man in question finds it necessary to travel a good deal — sometimes to foreign countries — and he needs a secretary with him."

Answer: Theoretically and according to the normal conventions of etiquette, nothing could be more improper than for a young woman to ge traveling about the country with a man alone. But practically, and according to the exactions of the modern business world, it is necessary that every professional or businesswoman shall write her own code of propriety.

No one in the world can advise her as well as she can advise herself. She knows exactly how necessary she is or is not to the work her employer must do; she knows his attitude toward her, and certainly she knows her own attitude toward him.

Therefore, she knows beyond the shadow of a doubt whether she must, or whether she need not, go with him. If her own behavior is above reproach no scandal can touch her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I was expecting a baby and several showers were given for me. I have had a miscarrige. I would like to know what I should do with the many lovely presents I received. Would it be all right for me to keep them or should I return each present and explain what has happened? We also received several gifts of money."

Answer: You should return all the gifts you received with a note explaining your reason for doing so.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if, when staying in someone's house, it is proper to go into the linen closet to get a towel if there aren't any on the rack?"

Flora Shelly Group Meets for Dinner

Flora Shelly Group of the First Presbyterian Church met for a dinner at the church with Helen Griggs, Lila Redmond and Cora Baxter as hostesses.

Mrs. Allan Monroe led the Bible study. The mission education program was under the direction of Edith Vandeen, assisted by Florence Day.

Also participating in the Friday event were Adah Shelly and Grace Clark.

Mrs. Allen Hostess to Amvets Auxiliary

Mrs. John Allen opened her Marlborough drive home for the meeting of the Jimmy Dey Amvets Auxiliary. Co-hostess for the Wednesday event was Mrs. Edward Pompeian.

The group's membership drive was closed with the announcement that the losing team will prepare a dinner for the winners.

Soft Flattery at Neckline Highlights Casual Dress

Jo Copeland says, "I think this is the casual way to look. It has a functional spirit but soft flattery at the neckline. The bow tie might be pique, satin or velvet depending on the fabric of the dress itself."

A two-piece costume, the skirt has a series of inverted and box pleats combining roundness of line with a crisp tailored look.

Choose shantung or faille for dressy wear, linen or novelty cotton for warm climates, lightweight wool or tweed for spring and travel. From this chart select the one size best for you.

12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½
20	42	32	43	17¾

Apple Bits Taste Nice With Spice

By JANET ODELL

Muffins add the elegant touch to any meal. At this season of the year when apples are plentiful, try Mrs. Floyd Smith's recipe for apple muffins. "Scrumptious," her family says.

A former school teacher, Mrs. Smith keeps busy with her family and with civic activities. She works in PTA and the League of Women Voters. She belongs to a child study group.

APPLE MUFFINS
By Mrs. Floyd Smith

4 tablespoons shortening
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk
2¼ cups sifted flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg
1 cup finely chopped apple

Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and beat. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk. Add chopped apple.

Fill greased muffin pans almost full. Sprinkle tops of batter with mixture of 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Bake 20-25 minutes in 425-degree oven.

Makes 14-16 muffins. These will freeze well.

Apologize Freely

Never hesitate to apologize when you realize that you were in the wrong. "I'm sorry, I was wrong about that" will often set matters right when a proud silence only widens a breach.

Dear Abby....

Hostess Hasn't Got Any Bones to Pick

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My two sisters-in-law and my mother-in-law always come by me for Thanksgiving because I've got the biggest house. Now I don't need any donations but everybody always brings something.

One brings the salad and one brings the pie and so forth. This year one of my sisters-in-law wanted to show off that she could make the turkey and dressing better than me or anybody else so she fought and fought until I finally let her bring the turkey.

ABBY

NO LEFTOVERS

DEAR NO: If your sister-in-law BROUGHT the turkey, you don't have a bone (left) to pick with her.

DEAR ABBY: I feel sorry for that young girl who was embarrassed because her mother sang off key and made up her own words to popular songs. She should join right in and they would both have a good laugh. Doesn't she know that laughter makes the world go round?

I am 76 years old and my nieces from 12 to 20 bring their friends to visit me and they aren't embarrassed when I sing (I can't carry a tune, either) and even dance for them.

I can still stand on my head and do the splits. We all have a wonderful laugh. You should try it, Girlie.

AUNT MABLE

DEAR ABBY: This problem is not mine, thank heavens, but it is in our family. What do you think of a boy, 13 years of age, whose mother had to go with him on Halloween for tricks or treats or he couldn't go? She still walks him to school (four blocks) and meets him after school to walk him home.

Because of her own foolish fears he can't have a bicycle. She still cuts up his meat at the dinner table and he carries plastic straws in case he has to drink out of a public fountain. And that isn't all.

CONCERNED UNCLE

DEAR CONCERNED: That may not be all, but it's enough! The boy's mother probably wanted a girl and the poor kid has been paying for the disappointment ever since. She should have a long talk with a child psychologist before the world has another misfit on its hands.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am getting sick and tired of my husband's idea of a nice Sunday. He parks me at his mother's to do all the work she saved up during the week for me, while he roams around.

There is nothing the matter with his mother's health and she could do her own work. My own mother is older than his mother by 10 years and she has the sight of only one eye but she wouldn't think of asking me to do her work. Do you think I am wrong in complaining?

ABUSED

DEAR ABUSED: I think you are wrong in complaining TO ME . . . you should complain to your husband.

★ ★ ★

Security for You:

SS Coverage Earned by 10 Years Work

By RAY HENRY

From Miss N.E.H. of Salamanca, N.Y.: "I worked in a specialties shop from 1936 to 1952 when I quit work because the shop closed down. I have assumed I have enough time to be fully covered by Social Security and that I'll be entitled to payments when I reach 62. Is this right?"

Yes, anyone who has worked at least 10 years under Social Security is entitled to payments when he retires. For persons who are already near the retirement age less than 10 years will qualify them. The exact time depends on how close they are to the retirement age.

From C.A.W. of Oklahoma City: "I'm 78 years old and am drawing $31 a month from Social Security. I've been working as a self-employed person for four or five years and I would like to know how much longer I will have to work before I can quit and still draw Social Security."

You can quit now and draw Social Security. At your age, whether or not you can collect Social Security has no bearing on how much you work.

From Mrs. S. S. of Alliance, Ohio: "My husband will be 65 in April and plans to start collecting Social Security then. I'll also be eligible to Social Security as his wife. I've never worked so I have no Social Security number. Will I have to have one before I can collect the payments?"

No.

From A.B.C. of Fredericksburg, Va.: "My father and mother receive Social Security. I am an invalid and have been since I was 17. Now I am 48. I've been told by friends that I may be entitled to a check from Social Security each month. Is this true?"

Under normal circumstances, a dependent person who is over 18, but was disabled before he reached 18, may collect Social Security payments if his parents are already collecting them. You should immediately get in touch with your nearest Social Security office.

From Mrs. N.G.L. of Pittsburgh, Pa.: "My husband was a sailor in peacetime on the U.S.S. Hartford. Is it possible for me to collect a pension from the Veterans Administration as his widow?"

No. Pensions from the Veterans Administration are not paid to widows of peacetime veterans. One of the requirements for a widow to draw a VA pension is that her husband must have served in wartime military service.

From J.B.U. of Knoxville, Tenn.: "I am 61 years old and have become disabled due to a recent heart attack. I've worked under Social Security for the past 12 years. Would it be possible for me to receive monthly payments now?"

If your disability is so severe that you can't work much and if it has lasted for at least six months, chances are you are entitled to payments. However, the final determination must be made after the Social Security Administration receives your application for payments. I suggest you apply immediately to find out if you're eligible.

From Mrs. R. S. of Pine Bluff, Ark.: "I've just been married. How do I get the name on my Social Security card changed?"

Any Social Security office will make the change for you.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Spain to Reorganize North African Holdings

MADRID (AP) — Spain has announced the reorganization of her North African territories of Ifni and Spanish Sahara. The tiny Ifni enclave on the Atlantic Coast has been the scene of fighting by Moroccan irregulars who label themselves a liberation army.

★ ★ ★

The communique, issued after a cabinet meeting last night gave no details of the reorganization but said that Gen. Mariano Gomez Zamalloa had been named governor of Ifni and Gen. Jose Hector Vazquez was the new governor of Spanish Sahara, a 117,000 square mie area on the Atlantic south of Morocco.

Romeo Opens Civic Center

ROMEO — There was standing room only Saturday evening during the formal opening of Romeo's new $100,000 Community Youth and Civic Center.

Some 500 area residents crowded into the auditorium for the hour and a half program and dancing which followed.

Joseph Landeau, director of the Commission on Youth and Children for the city of Detroit, was master of ceremonies. His first official act was to call for the invocation by the Rev. John A. McMillan.

The presentation of an American flag to the center featured the Ladies' Auxiliary of VFW Post 2052 and representatives of all Scout groups in the community.

Singled out for special recognition at the ceremony was construction superintendent Royal A. Holt. After a brief address he received a standing ovation.

Two superintendents of schools, T. C. Filppula of Romeo and Carl Brablec of Roseville, spoke about the part the center is expected to play in development of youth in the community.

The high point of the program was reached when Romeo President Joseph E. Rymill read a framed proclamation. In it, chief benefactors Walter F. Sheetz and his wife were named "Distinguished Citizens of the Village of Romeo."

The next presentation — a surprise to all except the board—was the unveiling of a large portait of Sheetz by 14-year-old Karen Glish. The painting will hang in the auditorium in lasting recognition of his contribution to the center.

Soloist Lawrence Ranelli of St. Clair Shores, who sang the national anthem during the opening moments of the program, closed with the singing of the "Lord's Prayer." He was followed by the benediction delivered by the Rev. Peter Vos.

A 10-piece orchestra, provided by the Detroit Federation of Musicians played for dancing until 12:30 a.m.

Missile Efforts Deemed Weak

Sen. Johnson Sees Lag in U. S. Development for Defense Purposes

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said today the United States still is employing only "half-measures" in its effort to pull abreast of Russia in missile and satellite developments.

Johnson, chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, said he believes there is "no longer any question about the specific dangers that face this nation" because of Soviet advances in the missile field.

"But I do not believe we can claim to be putting our whole heart into our defense when we are engaged in half-measures," he said in an interview. "According to the sworn testimony of the men responsible for producing missiles, we are neither doing nor planning to do everything that can and should be done."

Johnson's estimate of the problem this country faces coincided largely with that of Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate's Republican leader.

Knowland said in a speech at Lexington, Va., that the Soviets "have a long-range missile capability which must not be underestimated."

"The challenge facing this country is to make sure that we overtake the Soviet lead in the missile field and that we retain a deterrent power in our Strategic Air Command that would effectively persuade the Soviet Union that they cannot commit aggression against us without suffering devastating counterblows."

But House Republican Leader Martin (Mass) contended "America today is stronger than the Soviets in the missile field."

He said in a television interview that "we are well able to protect our country if the need should come," and added that he spoke "as one who has had information available that would make me make this statement." He gave no specific details.

WILL ADDRESS LEAGUE — Daniel S. McHargue, associate professor of political science at University of Michigan, will be guest speaker tomorrow at a luncheon sponsored by the West Bloomfield League of Women Voters. His topic will be "Michigan's Need for Calling a Constitutional Convention in 1958." The Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake Rd. The public is invited. Reservations luncheon will be held at 12:45 p.m. at the West Bloomfield Town may be made by calling Mrs. Wilfred Churchill, FE 3-7222.

2 of 3 Crewmen Survive Storm

Disabled Fishing Boat Returns Safely After 2-Week Battle in Gulf

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—A 31-foot fishing boat overdue and almost given up for lost in the Gulf of Mexico reached port safely late Saturday with two of its three crew members.

Charles Shoemaker, 51, and Jack Martin, 47, were in good condition and spirits although they said they had been cold, hungry, thirsty and tired after battling stormy weather in a disabled boat for more than a week.

They said the skipper, John P. Lynn, disappeared the night of Jan. 6 while they were asleep below decks. They believed he was washed overboard. All were from Madeira Beach, near St. Petersburg.

The vessel Time sailed Dec. 30 for a fishing trip of about six days. The storm hit Jan. 1 while they were about 50 miles southwest of St. Petersburg.

The catch of 1,000 pounds of snapper and grouper was thrown overboard to lighten ship. The ice which kept the fish fresh was melted for drinking water.

Jet-Plane Satellite Reported by Reds

VIENNA (AP) — Radio Bucharest said today Russia has perfected a "jet-plane earth satellite" which will go into production shortly.

★ ★ ★

The Romanian radio said the new plane's turbo engines and rocket motors develop a thrust of more than 100,000 horsepower and give it a speed of seven to eight kilometers (4.3 to 5 miles) per second—enough to turn the plane into an earth satellite at great heights.

★ ★ ★

Jet-satellite's return to earth is to be achieved by "counteraction rockets," the radio announced. The broadcast did not say whether the craft would be manned.

This Boy Cracked Bank to Pay Speeding Fine

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—John W. Kingred of Chrisman, Ill., got the money to pay a speeding fine by cracking a bank. A piggy bank, that is.

Kingred, 18, dumped a sack of 500 pennies and 200 nickels on the desk of Justice of the Peace George Meers and said the money came from his piggy bank.

Busy Grandmother a Romeo Painter

By LEE WINBORN

Press Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — Grandmother Ruth (Mrs. Alva) Brooks turned her part-time job as a painter and paper hanger into a permanent occupation when her husband died four years ago.

"I just love the work, and as long as I was faced with making my own living, I decided to try my hand at it full time," Mrs. Brooks commented. "And I've never been sorry."

She has been doing redecorating on and off for the past 17-18 years, she says, and has built up quite a clientele in Romeo, Armada, Almont and Disco.

Mrs. Brooks, 55, of 116 Spring St., has three children, all married and living close by, including one in Romeo. She is also a doting grandmother whose eyes sparkle whenever she mentions any one of her 13 grandchildren. They range in age from six weeks to 13 years old.

The effervescent Mrs. Brooks tells how her career hit a temporary snag about a year ago. She twisted her left knee when trying to rise in a narrow space between two pieces of furniture. She dislocated the joint and tore the cartilage necessitating surgery and six weeks of recuperation.

"I'm still teased when my family remembers how my eldest daughter, Edith, had to come in and hang the paper in my living room while I was laid up," Mrs. Brooks said with a chuckle.

"I had put off the job for months and had the furniture all moved out ready to go, when the accident happened. So my daughter came to my rescue."

Mrs. Brooks's capabilities are not confined to the redecorating field. She has served three years as president of the Romeo Coucil of Church Women and is a member of the board of the First Methodist Church here.

"I used to have a dahlia garden and glads, but I'm usually busiest in the spring so I don't do much gardening anymore," she said, "But I want to return to the Community Chorus when I have a chance."

When asked how she liked to work on ceilings, bug-a-boo of many do-it-yourselfers, Mrs. Brooks said, "I love to paper them — it's fun. The job goes so fast, and there's nothing in the way."

Mrs. Brooks says she has "never asked any favors because of being a woman, and I will do anything that comes along that is in my line of work — including some fairly treacherous stairwells."

Reds Ban Legal Aid to American in Court

BERLIN (INS) — U.S. officials charged today that the Communists slammed the door on legal assistance for an American doctor tried in an East Berlin court.

★ ★ ★

Officials met to consider further action while court officials in the Red-controlled sector of the city reported Dr. Walter Steinberg of Alhambra, Calif., would be sentenced later today on charges of buying photographic equipment smuggled from East Berlin.

The case is tangled by the fact the U.S. does not recognize Communist East Germany.

MARY JO CAMPBELL

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Campbell of Helen street, Rochester, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jo, to Edwin S. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hughes of North Livernois road, Rochester. Both are graduates of Rochester High School. Edwin is serving with the Navy. No date has been set for the wedding.

One cord of well-seasoned wood will give just about as much heat as one ton of the average brand of coal, and in addition it leaves only about one-quarter the amount of ashes.

Waterford to Study New Water Policy

When the Waterford Township Board meets at 7:30 tonight, members will discuss the establishment of a new policy of charging privat contractors for the use of water from township fire hydrants.

Members will also discuss the extension of the property tax payment deadline from Jan. 20 to Feb. 28, according to Clerk James Seeterling.

With the completion of the Sylvan Shores sewer project, the board will hear a report from the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson regarding residential sewer hookups, operation, and final cleanup of work by the contractors, Weissman Excavating Co.

Action also will be taken on the issuance of a business license for Marion Corder to establish a used-car lot at 3560 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

Ford Plans Program to Cut Truck Accidents

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide program to help truck companies cut accident rates of truck drivers by upgrading their driving skills has been announced by the Ford Division of the Ford Motor Co.

Ford Division general manager J. O. Wright said a one-week, on-the-road course is planned to help drivers form new "seeing habits as a means of spotting a hazardous situation before it becomes too late to do anything about it."

Truman Says His Plans Made Ike Great General

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says President Eisenhower "was a great military commander in Europe and in NATO, when he had someone to tell him what to do."

"He is a fine, honorable gentleman," Truman said of the President yesterday before launching into an attack on the President's leadership ability.

★ ★ ★

"Who told him what to do?" Truman was asked by a newsman.

"The commander in chief."

"You were commander in chief?"

"Yes," Truman replied, saying, however, that that was not the point he wished to stress.

★ ★ ★

"I do not think President Eisenhower is a good policy maker, and he doesn't carry out the policies he does make," the former President told reporters gathered in the lobby of a Manhattan hotel.

The newsmen were there to accompany Truman on his usual morning walk, which he passed up to work on scheduled speeches.

The secretary "did pretty well" when he was a consultant to the State Department under then-secretary Dean Acheson, Truman said, adding: "Dulles needs a boss. He doesn't have one."

Truman said the Eisenhower State of the Union message delivered last Thursday was "about three years too late."

The former Presient went on to define a good policy maker as "one who knows where he is going and carries out his program."

★ ★ ★

In the White House, he continued, one must also "be a good politician an dsell Congress a bill of goods, and Congress is perfectly willing now to do something if someone will tell them what to do."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The President, Truman said, ought to be able to curtail interservice rivalry. Truman declared: "I didn't have any trouble, as they understood who was commander in chief. Eisenhower should be able to handle the military, as no one has had more experience than he. They could be made to behave if the man in charge wants to make them."

Manager Sure Thugs Didn't Watch Movie

DETROIT (INS) — The manager of the Avalon movie theater in Detroit said today he was gagged and robbed by two thugs who escaped with $1,300.

★ ★ ★

Ivy League Look Now Considered Thing of the Past

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California Men's Apparel Club, currently conducting showings for buyers here, says the Ivy League look is a thing of the past. It's retreating to the Eastern campuses whence it came.

★ ★ ★

"The young executive look is the thing now," a Calmac spokesman said.

What's the difference?

The "young executive" is not so tight or so short in the trouser legs.

Other trends: Colors are dark, ties a little wider and whiter, the three-button sack suit is still tops, materials are lighter in weight and synthetics are king.

Neighbors Collect Funds for 2 Injured County Boys

Neighbors have opened their hearts and purse strings for two south Oakland County boys who were seriously injured last week—one by stabbing and the other when struck by a car while performing his Safety Patrol duties.

Torchlight drives have netted close to $1,430 for the two boys.

A neighborhood Torchlight drive raised more than $225 for 7-year-old Dale Loucks of 2506 Kenneth St., Madison Heights, who was stabbed in the back a week ago Sunday by a teenage boy who has not yet been caught. Dale has been released from William Beaumont Hospital.

A total of $1,205 has been contributd by residents in Ferndale's George Washington School area toward the Ricky Andrews Account Fund Campaign.

Ricky, 10, a crossing guard, was injured critically Wednesday when he was pinned against a tree by a careening car following a collision. His right leg had to be amputated below the knee.

Michigan Youth Dies in Hunting Accident

VASSAR (AP) — Gerald Tedford, 16, of rural Vassar, was accidentally shot to death yesterday when his .410 gauge shotgun discharged while he hunted crows near his home.

Tuscola County sheriff's men said the youth was atop a log when he slipped and the gun discharged. A companion, James Gray, 15, also of rural Vassar, sought help, but police said Tedford was dead when they arrived at the scene.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tedford.

'Rivalries Must Cease'

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower, speaking on interservice rivalry, said: "I am not attempting to pass judgment on the charge of harmful service rivalries. But one thing is sure, whatever they are, America wants them stopped."

Held 19 Days in Albanian Prison

Curran Rejoins 3 Children

CHATEAUROUX, France (AP) — Maj. Howard Curran today sought "peace and quiet" with his three young, motherless children after 19 days as a prisoner in Communist Albania.

"I just want to be alone with the kids," the 39-year-old test pilot at the U.S. Air Force base here said. "I'm going to take a short leave and spend it here with them."

The major was flown out of Albania Saturday. He disappeared Dec. 23 on a flight from Chateauroux to Naples and was given up for lost. It was not until Jan. 9 that Albanian authorities announced he was in Albania. The flier reported he ran out of fuel and had to land in Albania after losing his way in bad weather over northern Italy.

His three children—Mike, 12, Pat, 8, and May Lou, 4 — greeted him happily on his arrival here aboard an Air Force transport late Saturday night. The major's wife died two years ago.

"We had planned a belated Christmas celebration," Curran said. "But we're putting it off now until Friday, when Pat will have her ninth birthday. We'll just forget about last Christmas."

The flier said the Albanian authorities questioned him for about five hours a day for the first five days of his detention.

"They asked military questions and I explained I did not consider myself qualified to answer," Curran said.

His plane, a T33 jet trainer, blew a tire on landing and he was unable to fly it out although the Albanians gave him permission. The future disposition of the plane has not yet been determined, an Air Force spokesman said.

Using Plastic Surgery to Rehabilitate Prisoners

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—New faces and other physical repairs through plastic surgery are giving Texas prisoners a new outlook when they are released.

O. B. Ellis, general manager of the state prison system, says the program has benefited 450 prisoners.

"It is a proven factor of criminology that facial deformities and other disfigurations that contribute to personality complexes and handicap a man in finding work are closely related in many cases to the crime a man commits," Ellis said.

PLAN MEET ON DELINQUENCY PROBLEM—East Oakland Area Council PTA Council will present a four-act skit at Brooklands School, on Auburn road in Avon Township, portraying the work of Child Protection Committee in Oakland County. Conferring on the meeting with Judge of Probate Arthur E. Moore are Mrs. William Porter, left, program chairman, and Mrs. G. A. Goforth, president of the PTA Council. Organized under the auspices of the Oakland County Juvenile Court, the Child Protection Committee seeks to prevent delinquency on the home and community level.

Gas Explosion Rocks Factory

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Officials of the Citizens Gas & Coke Co. said today that fire damage may run as high as $150,000 from a gas tank explosion that caused near panic here Sunday.

★ ★ ★

A million and a half cubic feet of ignited artificial gas shot up in a flash explosion of the municipal storage tank at the company's Langsdale plant.

The brief but intensely hot gas blaze ignited lubricating oil in the expanding type tank and sent a pillar of smoke towering over the near Northwest Side.

There was near panic in a residential area bordering the plant because of fear that fire might cause an explosion of a nearby 14-million-cubic-foot tank.

Firemen brought the flames under control within three hours.

There were no serious injuries reported.

Atomic Rocket to Arm Air Force's Voodoo Jet

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Air Force's F101B Voodoo will be equipped with a new air-to-air atomic rocket capable of downing an entire formation of bombers.

The rocket is the Douglas MB-1 Genie, described as the most devastating weapon of its kind in the nation's arsenal.

The Air Force made the announcement here yesterday. The F101B is manufactured by the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis. Speed of the craft has not been disclosed.

U.S. Women With Chemise Matching Soviet Fashions

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Men, if the unpublished Gaither Report has you worried about the shape of things to come, take heart in the findings of this top-secret Gunny Sack Report.

No matter where America stands in the missile race, she is making remarkable strides on the fashion front. Thanks to our intrepid designers and a shapeless mass called the chemise, American women will be just as well dressed as Russian women by the spring of 1958.

Fore and aft (and you'll have Murmansk Momma on her way to look twice to tell which), they'll have the tubby, tubular look of a to market in her greatcoat. No curves, no kinks; no wiggles, no jiggles. Just a bolt of cloth billowing in the breeze, or drooping in the doldrums, depending on wind conditions.

In closing the fashion gap, the bosom, derriere and other capitalistic tourist attractions have been relegated to the couturier's Siberia. Everything, but everything, has been left to the imagination.

The girl of your dreams will be as sexy as a barbershop calendar —still wrapped in its cardboard mailing tube.

This in a nutshell—or rather in a silk sheathed rain barrel—is the gist of the Gunny Sack Report, now revealed for the first time.

By posing as a fashion writer (all it took was a Paisley print tie with matching pocket handkerchief of the sincerest hue), this reporter managed to smuggle the information out of the heavily guarded salon of a 5th Avenue hotel where the high priestesses of the garment trade had gathered for their annual spring rites, otherwise known as fashion openings.

As ritual, these openings owe a great deal to an unfashionable gent named Jake Minsky. The trappings are virtually the same as in the early American art form he pioneered: a long wooden runway stretching clear into the bald-headed row, a round spotlight playing on a red velvet curtain and a piano tinkling seductive airs.

Only when the curtain opened, instead of Rose La Rose or Lili St. Cyr in their native habiliments, out stepped a trio of bored looking sirens in formless, knee-length pillow cases.

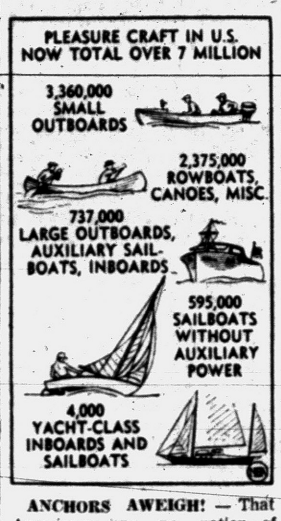

About this time Minsky would have been headed toward the fire exit with an angry mob at his heels, but the audience of fashion writers—all women except for the aforementioned spy — applauded smartly, white glove upon white glove, and buried themselves in their form sheets.

Muttering something about an early deadline for my fashion famished readers, I escaped with the Gunny Sack Report safe in my pocket.

One major finding: not one of the intrepid fashion writers was intrepid enough to don the springtime sackcloth for the opening.

ANCHORS AWEIGH! — That Americans are no nation of landlubbers is proved by the number of pleasure boats of all types now in use. This recreational fleet has nearly tripled in the past 10 years. In 1957 more than 1.9 billion dollars were spent on boats, motors, fuel, accessories and all connected items, up 21 per cent over 1956. Experts predict that 1958 will show even more phenomenal growth.

Driver Sentenced

Donald Smith, 39, of 8000 Barnsbury St., West Bloomfield Township, pleaded guilty to drunk driving and was fined $95 or 20 days in jail by Keego Harbor Justice of the Peace James Southart.

Fire hazards may be reduced with a new method of measuring the rate at which flames spread along the surfaces of various materials. Equipment used in the method was developed by the National Bureau of Standards.

The word turnpike originated from the early American custom of blocking toll roads with pikes or poles. When the toll fee had been duly paid, the pikes or poles were lowered.

Red Wings Move Into Second Place

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings — even without the great Gordie Howe at hand — are enjoying second place in the National Hockey League today.

A Detroit steamroller got moving early in the first period with a 60-footer by former Ranger Nick Mickoski. Less than three minutes later, Johnny Wilson made it 2-0 with a close-in shot past Ranger goalie Marcel Paille.

Reeling before the Detroit onslaught, New York finally got back into contention midway in the second period on a 20-foot shot which bounced off Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk's hand and slithered into the net.

Alex Delvecchio scored the clincher, an unassisted 15-foot shot, in the same stanza that proved to be the margin between third place and second for the Red Wings.

Andy Hebenton got his second marker of the evening and his ninth of the season, a 25-foot backhand shot just 45 seconds after Delvecchio's goal.

The New Yorkers made a determined effort to tie the score in the third period, peppering Sawchuk with 18 attempts but the Detroit netminder handled them all flawlessly.

Chicago's Black Hawks, overwhelmed by an 11-to-3 count last Thursday, turned the other cheek and routed the league leaders, 7 to 1.

Seven players scored the Hawk goals, with 14-year veteran Ted Lindsay and 18-year-old rookie Bobbie Hull each notching a goal and three assists in the National Hockey League contest.

Rookie Gary Aldcorn scored twice to lead Toronto to a 5-to-3 triumph over Boston, pulling the Maple Leafs into a fourth-place tie with the Bruins, three points in back of New York.

New York, Ohio Bowlers Ahead

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Morris Cramer of Albany, N. Y., and Sophie Cetinsky of Cleveland were leading the All-Star bowling tournament when the second of four days of qualifying action ended Sunday night.

Cramer, a pale, spindley bowling proprietor, crafted a hefty 1,320 series from games of 186, 225, 216, 214, 210 and 269, giving him a 12-game total of 2,591.

It was Cramer's big splurge in the final game that knocked Dick Selgo of Port Clinton, Ohio, from the top of the standings board at the Minneapolis armory.

Selgo had led the field through the first three squads with 2,532, but was forced to settle for second at day's end.

The best series of the day was the 1,336 by Lou Campi of Dumont, N. J., whose total of 2,447 placed him in 14th place.

Mrs. Cetinsky's 787 series was not the best effort in the ladies field, but her 1,528 grand total was enough to boost her ahead of Kardas of Grand Rapids, Mich., who led earlier in the day with her 1,525. Mrs. Kardas wound up in second place.

West Wins Pro Bowl, 26-7

Wilson's Pros Beat Parker's

LOS ANGELES (INS) — The eighth annual Pro Bowl football game, in which the West beat the East, 26-7, was called today the dullest game of the series, attended by the largest crowd.

The contest was so dominated by the defense on both sides that observers declared that to avoid dullness and to add sparkle some way would have to be found in future games to strengthen the offensive platoons.

A pro bowl crowd of 66,634 streamed into Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum to see the tussle. The previous record for the attraction was 53,676 set in 1951.

The West's victory was a big feather in coach George Wilson's cap, but it left him in the spot of being unable to top himself in future seasons.

In his first year as a National Football League head coach he led the Detroit Lions to both divisional and world championships and then coached the Pro Bowl winner.

The Eastern all stars were coached by Buddy Parker, who quit the Lions just before the start of last season.

★ ★ ★

He said that pass interceptions beat the East. Perhaps that wasn't the only thing, but it certainly was a factor.

The Westerners stole four passes and turned three of them into the three touchdowns they scored. In fact, they made more yardage on Eastern passes than the East did—98 yards to 51. The West added to its scoring with two field goals by Bert Rechichar.

The East went 52 yards in four plays in the second period and got their one touchdown on a 39-yard pass from Earl Morrall to Ray Renfro. But the rest of the time they were virtually stopped in their tracks. All-pro fullback Jim Brown was able to gain only 31 yards in 15 carries.

Fullback Alan "The Horse" Ameche of the Baltimore Colts set the stage for the key scoring play of a fierce first half when he rambled 66 yards to the East four.

Ameche's great run led to a 9-yard field goal by Reichichar that sent the West in front, 9-7, a lead it never surrendered.

★ ★ ★

Casper Changes Swing, Wins Crosby Tourney

Casper, who says he switched from a hooker to a slicer, carded 71 yesterday in the final round of the Crosby Pebble Beach tournament for a total of 71-66-69-71—277, and top individual money of $4,000.

Second place winner was Dave Marr of Mamaroneck, N.Y., who fired a consistent 69-70-70-72—281, and took home $2,400 for his efforts.

Jay Hebert, Marine captain of Iwo Jima fame who won the individual prize last year, had to be satisfied with a pro-amateur win this time. He was teamed with Los Angeles lawyer Roger Kelly for a 65-65-64-66—260, and $2,000. Hebert also picked up $1,300 and sixth place in the individual play with his 285.

Bob Rosburg of Silverado Club, Calif., who started the final day tied for the lead, ran into all kinds of bad luck and wound up with a 287 to tie for tenth position.

Four Michigan pros finished in the money, led by Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert who fired a total of 287 for $975. Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills carded 291 for $650, Jack Fleck of Rochester Golf and Country Club had 293 to earn $263 and Mike Dietz of Indianwood shot 299 to pick up $100.

Two Points for Run or Pass Conversion

Grid Point Rule Changed

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The nation's football coaches have a new strategy problem to cope with today: is it better to try for a one point conversion after a touchdown, or gamble for a two-pointer.

That option — one point if kicked, two points if by a run or a pass — was written into football law yesterday, along with a more liberal substitution rule and several other changes.

The new scoring rule, first change in football's point system in more than four decades, and other revisions were adopted at the closing session of the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

The scoring change — designed to reduce the number of ties and boost fan appeal — came as a surprise. Proposed by committee chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, athletic director at Michigan, the rule originally was scheduled for a year's study by a subcommittee.

"Sure it'll kick up a controversy," said Crisler, who retires from the committee now after serving as a member since 1941 and as chairman the past eight years. "Some folks will like it, some won't. A coach who wins a game using the new rule will be happy. But the fellow that got beat probably will scream."

The change in the substitution rule was designed to help small colleges with limited squads, Crisler said. Effective immediately, both starters and substitutes will be able to make two appearances in each quarter. For the past three seasons, only the players who started a quarter could leave and be eligible to return during the same quarter.

For the first two years after the committee repealed the free substitution rule following the 1952 season, no player could re-enter during a quarter in which he already had played.

Both the conversion and substitution revisions were tied in with somewhat offsetting changes in other rules. From now on, the conversion play will start three yards from the goal line instead of two, a concession to the defense. And each team will be allowed only four time-outs during each half instead of five.

That reduces by one the number of times a team can make a substitution without drawing a five-yard penalty for delaying the game.

Concluding a three-day meeting, the committee also voted to:

1. Penalize a team five yards and allow another kick every time a free kick (usually the kickoff) goes out of bounds. In the past, two successive out-of-bounds kicks gave the receiving team the ball at its restraining line (midfield on kickoffs).

2. Allow interior linemen to go downfield as soon as a pass is thrown instead of forcing them to wait until a receiver touched the ball.

3. Clarify the rule providing a 15-yard penalty if the defense tries, by words or signals, to interfere with the opponent's offensive signals.

4. Limit blockers to the use of one arm and hand instead of both arms and hands.

Crisler will be succeeded on the rules committee next year, both as a member and as chairman, by Matty Bell, athletic director of Southern Methodist.

All rules changes were adopted unanimously by the 10 committee members present, Crisler said. All rules become effective immediately and will affect all institutions playing football under NCAA rules — colleges and high schools. Many high schools, however, do not use NCAA rules.

Coaches Make Various Comments on Changes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football coaches were hardly as unanimous today about the new point after touchdown rule as the NCAA committee which abruptly passed it.

"Ridiculous!" said Coach Terry Brennan of Notre Dame yesterday. "You have to fight hard from any spot on the field to get six points. Now you can get two by going only three yards."

"The rule will be good for the game," said Blanton Collier, coach of the Kentucky football Wildcats. The rule, effective immediately, awards two points for a conversion scored on a run or a pass, one if scored on a place or drop kick. The line of scrimmage for the conversion was moved back a yard to the 3.

He called the rule "Crisler's Pet" and said the committee "acted in a dictatorial manner" in not submitting the change to the coaches. "I'm not opposed to the new conversion rule, but I'm not enthusiastic either."

Most coaches said they were surprised at the suddenness with which the rule was adopted.

Benny Oosterbann of Michigan, said the change "will add tremendous interest for spectators. It's going to be tough on the coach. He's got to think should I go for the seven or the eight—the seven is there, but the eight is another question."

"Now there will be a little more thinking in the game," said Coach Eddie Erdelatz of Navy.

Other aspects covered by the coaches:

"The rule should eliminate tie games" — Tommy Mont, Maryland.

"Seems they're de-emphasizing kicking. You'll see a lot more kick formations resulting in passing or running plays" — Murray Warmath Minnesota.

"It puts an extra premium on rushing or passing and virtually eliminates kicking . . . I'm disgusted. This is the worst bunch of rules they have ever come up with"—Jordan Olivar, Yale.

Among the coaches who dislike the change is George Blackburn, Cincinnati. He said:

"I can't see any merit to the thing. I think it should be a one-pointer or throw it out entirely."

"I think it's worth a try," said Rip Engle of Penn State. "It's revolutionary," remarked Andy Gustafson of Miami, Fla.

Duke Coach Bill Murray said he was "amazed and disturbed. Some body must have put the rules committee in a trance . . . Crisler has dominated the rules committee long enough."

850 in Cycle Race

FAWNSKIN, Calif. (INS) — More than 850 motorcycle riders competed today in the 37th annual Big Bear motorcycle run from the Mojave Desert to Big Bear Lake, high in the San Bernardino mountains.

Cranes Bow 5th Time

Cranbrook basketball team absorbed its 5th loss of the season last weekend, when Royal Oak Kimball grabbed an early lead and went on to win, 49-36. Cranes have won just one game.

3 Teams in Hockey Finals

The Walled Lake Wings, Dean's Hardware and the Auburn Heights Boys Club are the only survivors in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department Junior Hockey Tournament, which enters its final stages next weekend at the North Side ice skating rink.

Walled Lake, the lone unbeaten team remaining in the double elimination tourney, reached the finals with a 2-1 victory over Auburn Heights yesterday on North Side ice. Two goals by Don Proulx in the 1st period were enough to win for the Wings.

Four State Jumpers to Face Europe's Best in World Title Meet

ISHPEMING (AP) — A United States ski jumping team mixed with veterans and youngsters will try to make a creditable showing against Europe's best in the World championships in March in Finland.

W. Virginia Rolls Along

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kansas, Mississippi State and Texas Tech—each with the single purpose of regaining some lost prestige—play important conference games tonight, while West Virginia, which has developed into the Goliath of college basketball, sits idle until Wednesday.

Until Saturday, Mississippi State and West Virginia were the only top-ranked undefeated teams in the country. But along came Georgia Tech—and an undersized outfit, at that—and clubbed the Rebels 78-61.

That leaves only West Virginia, in the undefeated class, with a string of 12 victories. The Mountaineers, No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll, meet Pitt Wednesday.

Kansas, a floundering giant without Wilt Chamberlin, goes against Colorado on its home court tonight in the almost unbelievable position of being tied for next-to-last in the Big 8 with a 0-1 league record.

Kansas had run up a streak of 10 victories until Chamberlin took sick. Then the Jayhawks lost two in a row. Colorado, however, has won only three of 10 games, so with or without Chamberlin, the Jayhawks will be favored.

Mississippi State gets its chance for revenge against Vanderbilt in a Southeastern Conference game on the Commodores' floor. Not only did Georgia Tech snap Mississippi State's victory skein, but the Ramblin' Wrecks knocked the Rebs right out of the league lead.

Now Tennessee and Kentucky, a couple of strong outfits, are tied for first place, both showing clean league records. They meet Saturday, so something will give.

Maryland polished off North Carolina—and emphatically—last Saturday, 74-61, and now certainly is the favorite to win the AAC title. The defeat was North Carolina's second of the season.

TOP TEN AT A GLANCE

1. West Virginia (12-0)—beat Villanova 76-75, beat George Washington 93-66.

2. Kansas (10-2)—lost to Oklahoma 64-62.

3. North Carolina (11-2)—beat William-Mary 70-68, beat Virginia 82-66, lost to Maryland 74-61.

4. Kansas State (10-1)—beat Minnesota 72-71, beat Nebraska 74-59.

5. Mississippi State (11-1)—beat Alabama 64-62, lost to Georgia Tech 78-61.

6. San Francisco (13-1) — beat Santa Clara 65-58, beat College of Pacific 81-59.

7. Cincinnati (16-2)—lost to Oklahoma State 61-57, beat Seton Hall 118-54, beat North Texas 127-57.

8. Oklahoma State (10-1)—beat Cincinnati 61-57, beat Kansas 71-62.

9. Kentucky (10-2)—beat Vanderbilt 90-81, beat Louisiana State 97-52.

10. Bradley (9-1)—beat Houston 75-72 in overtime, beat Houston 116-60.

Chief Tankers Aim for 3rd Dual Win

Pontiac Central high's swimmers go after their 3rd win of the season Tuesday afternoon in their own pool, and are expected to achieve just that result. However, an improving Southfield team could make an interesting match of it. Coach Robert (Des) Boyce's club has a 2-2 mark for the season, dropping its 2nd Saginaw Valley meet to Bay City.

Other area and SVC meets Tuesday include Birmingham's visit to Ferndale for an afternoon EML test, shooting for its 9th straight win (4th in EML); Hazel Park at RO Kimball, aiming for Parkers' 4th win, and unbeaten Arthur Hill, SVC champion, at Saginaw High (seeks 3rd Valley win).

PCH-Waterford Meet Tuesday

Chiefs-Skippers Tangle for 1st Time on Court

Pontiac Wide Favorite for Expected Sell Out Tomorrow

Pontiac, with a 4-1 mark, will be heavily favored to beat Waterford which stands 2-4 for the season.

The game was not listed on the regular schedule of either school, but was added at a later date. Since both schools had played only eight football games it gave them the opportunity to add another basketball game.

Pontiac and Waterford have played in the same regional at Flint several times but were never forced to meet in tournament action.

The Skippers, figured to be at least 14-point underdogs, will pin its upset hopes on 6-foot-2 John Herrington who in six games has scored a total of 124 points for a 20.6 average.

Other Waterford starters are expected to be Jim Devine and Bob Mitchell at guards, and Larry Bowen and Chuck Kirken or John Keating.

The Skippers lost 54-52 to Van Dyke last Friday night while the Chiefs were whipping Bay City Central, 68-45.

Pontiac coach Art Van Ryzin, who has started five juniors in the last two games, may again go along with the non-seniors headed by 6-5 center Roosevelt Alexander, 6-2 forward Harrison Munson and Jerry Williams a 6-1 forward, along with Charley Barge and John Bandy at the guards.

Dick Whitmer who had a sizzling night against Bay City with 23 points and 14 rebounds along with ailing Jim Skinner are the regular forwards and they are certain to see plenty of action.

Despite the indication of a lopsided contest, a capacity crowd of 2,500 is expected to fill the Pontiac gym. Tickets have been on sale since last Thursday, and all seats on a first-come, first-served basis are general admission tickets.

Waterford students have been alloted 200 seats for the game. All unsold seats as of late this afternoon will be put on sale at the door.

Two Schools Sites for Dog Training Work

Area dog-owners interested in learning the correct technique of obedience training their own pets may take their choice of three locations. Each school has scheduled classes for a different night, say officials of the Southern Michigan Oberience Training Club, sponsor of the classes.

Demonstration dogs will appear at the following locations: C.A.I. Building, Waterford on Jan. 15; Daniel Whitfield School, Pontiac on Jan. 16 and the Bloomfield Hills High School, Bloomfield Hills on Jan. 20, sites of the upcoming training classes.

An added feature will be a drill team composed of members of the SMOTC. Dogs with advance training will also be featured. Owners may register their dogs for the 10-week course that night but should not take their dogs on demonstration night. Actual class work will begin the following week.

For further information regarding the demonstrations or classes call Jim Richmond, OR 3-3810, trainer at Waterford; Reg Armstrong, FE 2-7749, trainer at Pontiac; or the Bloomfield Hills High School, MI 7-0155.

Schayes Sets NBA Scoring Record

Nats Trounce Pistons

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Perhaps the kindest thing that could be said about the Detroit Pistons' showing against the Syracuse Nationals yesterday was that they had a hand in making National Basketball Assn. history.

If they do make the record books, it won't be because they lost, 135-109, but because they were the mat over which Syracuse veteran Dolph Schayes stepped expertly to a new all-time professional basketball scoring record.

The scoreboard made little difference to the crowd of shouting, clapping fans with eyes only for Schayes who dropped in 23 points, bringing his lifetime total to 11,770, six more than that accumulated by the former record holder, George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers.

The Pistons were a far cry from the team that ran over the Lakers, 129-102, in an NBA contest at Detroit Saturday night. At one point the Nationals doubled the Pistons' score, 56-28.

Detroit had trouble getting started in the face of a blazing Syracuse attack early in the first period. The Nats sank 50 per cent of their shots in the initial and final stanzas, and were better than 45 per cent for the game.

In other games yesterday the Cincinnati Royals overwhelmed the Boston Celtics 115-97, the Philadelphia Warriors, paced by Neil Johnston's 33 points, downed the New York Knicks 115-110 in overtime and the St. Louis Hawks turned back the Minneapolis Lakers 111-105.

Boryla, incensed over the call which gave Arizin the chance to deadlock the game, argued on another foul in overtime and was charged with two technical fouls. He tried to get to Eisenstein in the corridor after the game had ended, but bystanders restrained him.

St. Mike Plays Royal Oak Five Tonight at PCH

St. Michael aims for its 3rd victory of the season tonight when the Shamrocks clash with Royal Oak St. Mary in a Suburban Catholic League basketball game at Pontiac Central High School.

Coach Bob Mineweaser's Shamrocks now stand even at 1-1 in the Suburban Catholic loop and have an overall record of 2-1. They hold victories over Detroit Annunciation and Detroit St. Rita and a loss to Ferndale St. James.

The St. Mary Irish are tied with Orchard Lake for 2nd place in the SCL with a 3-1 mark. Their overall record is 4-1.

Michigan Off Big 10 Top as Title Battle Tightens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Gophers, having played only once, are the only unbeaten challengers in the race. All the others have tasted defeat and only one game separates the teams tied for second from those in last place.

While Minnesota and Indiana tangle for the league lead, Wisconsin moves in on Illinois, Ohio State will be at Michigan and Northwestern goes to Iowa.

Indiana and Michigan are tied for second with 2-1 records. Iowa, Michigan State, Northwestern and Ohio State all have split even in two games. Purdue, Illinois and Wisconsin bring up the rear with 1-2 marks. The log jam resulted from four home court victories Saturday.

Wisconsin upset Ohio State, 67-64; Northwestern knocked Michigan out of the lead, 93-72; Michigan State blasted Purdue, 84-75, and Indiana topped Illinois, 89-82.

Michigan State and Indiana again loom as prime contenders with Northwestern making a strong bid off its pre-conference play and its showing against Michigan.

Northwestern, however, must prove it is able to win away from home in the Big Ten, something they've failed to do in three years. Wildcat coach Bill Rohr, making his debut in the Big Ten, wondered after Saturday's victory when his Wildcats will hit a breather in the Western Conference.

Credit for Michigan State's victory went to Larry Hedden and John Green. Hedden, held to two free throws in an opening loss at Ohio State, scored 29 points while Green hit for 18 and did some more masterful rebounding.

Pontiac 'Y' Tankers Sunk Twice at Flint

Flint's YMCA prep and junior swimming teams scored convincing victories over the Pontiac "Y" tankers Saturday in a dual meet in the Flint Central High School pool.

The Flint prep team set five new varsity records while trimming Pontiac, 58-29. Pontiac's only triumphs were scored by Skip Erwin in the 75-yard individual medley and Tom McKinnon in the 25-yard backstroke.

Flint's junior squad also posted a record while winning by a 41-34 margin. Pontiac won three events—Bill Borum in the 100-yard freestyle, Bruce Norvell in the 50-yard breaststroke and a 1st place in the medley relay.

Pontiac faces Saginaw this Saturday in the Pontiac YMCA pool. The local swimmers are now winless in two meets.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Bill Lillard learned to control his wide-sweeping hook ball by plenty of practice under varying conditions. His experience includes the top leagues in Texas, Chicago and Detroit — not bad for a young fellow still in his 20's. Today we show his style.

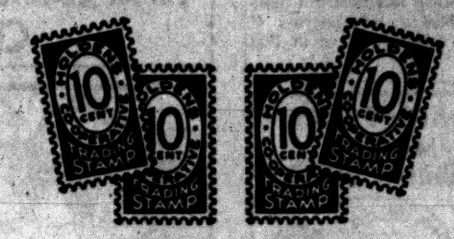

Marion Ladewig, finest woman bowler in history, became the most consistent female performer I've ever seen through practic sessions. Originally a softball player, Marion began bowling for fun and was up around 180-average in a couple years. Consistency is Marion's key.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHESS

QUESTION: Where did chess originate?

ANSWER: Chess has many things in common with war. The pieces have warlike names such as kings, queens, knigts and castles. Each piece has different powers for attacking and for defending itself. The game has been used by rulers to teach their men the art of war, and also to distract them from war. Chessboard battles let the players get rid of their fighting spirit sometimes without coming to blows.

Probably our oldest game, it was played in Persia thousands of years ago and may have originated in India even earlier. When the Arabs conquered the Persians, they spread the game through Europe. Benjamin Franklin helped popularize it in the United States.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a checkerboard (that's what you use for chess too) and have someone teach you to play. It's lots of fun and may not be as difficult as many people think.

(For being the first one to submit this question, Paul Schlitsey of Woodlyn, Pa., wins $10. Mail yours on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: Who was the bird woman?)

Hollywood Headlines

Sammy Davis Jr. Slated to Team With Eartha Kitt

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Things are happening fast for Sammy Davis Jr. Friday he married Loray White in Las Vegas, and the next day he signed a contract to co-star with Eartha Kitt in "Anna Lucasta." This will be Sammys debut as motion picture actor, and it goes before the cameras April 29th under the banner of Anthony Mann's Longridge Productions, with a United Artists release.

"Anna Lucasta," by Philip Yordan, was produced originally by the American Negro Theatre Group, and it starred Canada Lee as Danny, the role which Sammy will play.

This Yordan play is heavily dramatic and was first produced on Broadway in 1944. There is no music in it.

One of the offers the controversial diva Maria Callas received after she said she was too ill to continue in "Norma" at the Rome Opera House, came from Eddie Fisher.

Eddie received a cable in reply, and unless something completely unexpected happens, she will appear on his show February 4th. Johnny Duggan of MCA is credited with putting over the deal.

I talked with Maria's best friend, Elsa Maxwell, and Elsa said there were many cables received by Maria for television and motion pictures, among them a cablegram from Ed Sullivan, and I have already told you that Joe Pasternak wants Callas for his picture "Party Girl."

Two of my favorite comediennes, Hermione Gingold and Elsa Lancaster have been signed for "Bell, Book and Candle." Elsa was just terrific in "Witness For the Prosecution" and she has a role ii "Bell, Book and Candle" that's right down her alley.

Tommy Sands becomes our newest young star in his first picture "Sing Boy Sing." I went to the sneak preview with Tommy and his mother and father. He not only gives with song, but he has some strong dramatic scenes, and he's so good you'd never guess that this is his first picture. Claude Binyon's screenplay and producer-director Henry Ephron give Tommy a good showcase.

The young singer has the able support of Edmond O'Brien, who plays the heavy. Nick Adams' comedy characterization proves again his ability as an actor.

It won him a job with Dick Powell's Zane Grey series "Sundown at Bitter Creek." Lili Gentle, who gives up her career Tuesday to become Mrs. Richard Zanuck, photographs beautifully.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: C. V. (Sonny) Whitney has refused his consent to his daughter Gail's marriage to Dick Cowell. He adores his daughter but he says he and other members of the Vanderbilt clan do not approve of this marriage.

Both here and in Palm Springs, Gene Kelley has been paying marked attention to dancer Jeanne Coyne. Gene's friends wish it were serious, but I doubt if he'll marry again.

Red Voice Here Gasps Its Last

Daily Worker Quits in 34th Year for Lack of Financial Support

Publication was suspended on its 34th birthday. Lack of financial support killed the paper. Its weekend edition, called the Worker, will continue—at least until next Sunday.

Gates, who had refused to have the paper follow a strict Moscow line, charged the decision to abandon the Daily Worker was "murder" by party officials who no longer were able to control the paper.

An official of the printing company which handles the paper said the Sunday Worker is deeply in debt to the firm and that only next Sunday's edition will be printed.

However, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, a member of the Communist National Committee, wrote in today's issue of the Daily Worker: "The possibilities for resumption of the Daily Worker depend now upon the unfailing constructive efforts we all put into the Worker. We cannot allow deflections from our ranks to demoralize or demobilize us."

The last press run was 10,000 copies, 3,000 higher than the recent normal run.

'Spirit' Numbers Sought by Good-Luck Hunters

SINGAPORE — Boarded up for years, a "haunted" house in Singapore has become popular with good-luck seekers. A shrine has been set up in front of the house and small gifts are piled there by persons who want the "spirts" to give them lucky sweepstakes numbers. The legend is that a poor man went there years ago to commit suicide, fell asleep, and was awakened by a young woman who, upon hearing his troubles, gave him a winning lottery number. Crowds outside the house are sometimes so large police have to disperse them.

Notable Ancients Believed to Be Figures on Cards

NEW YORK — Playing-card experts say that most of the figures on the "court" cards are stylized portraits of prominent figures in medieval and ancient history.

For instance, Julius Caesar is supposed to have been the original king of diamonds, while Hogier, a lieutenant of Charlemagne, was the first jack of spades, and La Hire, one of Joan of Arc's most trusted officers, the original jack of hearts.

The experts surmise that the reason why some of the face cards, such as these three, are shown in profile while the others are full face is that the artist probably copied the profile likeness of Caesar from a coin and the other two officers from profile paintings instead of full-face views.

Leading Stocks Lose Up to Point

Chrysler was fairly active, dropping ⅜ to 52½ on an opening block of 2,500 shares, but trimming its loss a bit in later dealings.

Steels and other motors were traded briskly, most of them losing fractions. Aircrafts, though under no pressure, took losses running to around a point each for Boeing and Douglas.

Chemicals and rubbers were also down. Utilities resisted the trend, making slight gains. The 10 per cent reduction in copper output by Chile had little immediate effect on copper stocks.

While news of industrial layoffs continued, there was a slightly more optimistic tone to the weekend news. While the reading of the President's budget message was anticipated, leading Congressmen had little hope of a balanced budget in fiscal '59.

Small losses were taken by U.S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Du Pont, United Air Lines, Royal Dutch and Southern Railway. Goodrich was down more than a point.

NOTICE OF HEARING — On establishing Normal Level of Waters in Lakeville Lake, Addison Township, Oakland County, Michigan.

To whom it may concern:

Particularly: Garnet West, Charles Gunn, John and Edna Dunn, Grenville and Betty Ford, Gerald Dunn, Russell Randall, Anna Haddix, John and Gerald Dunn, Hayes and Agnes Dopp, Paul C. Johnson and Wife, and all owners of property fronting on, abutting or having access to rights in Lakeville Lake, or who are interested in having fixed and maintaining the normal level of said lake pursuant to the provisions of Act 194 Public Acts of 1939 as amended.

You are hereby notified that the Oakland County Board of Supervisors has caused to be filed in this Court a petition praying for the establishment by this Court of the normal level of Lakeville Lake said lake being located on Sections 18, 21, 22, 26, 27 and 28 of Addison Township, Oakland County, Michigan.

You are further notified that a hearing on the petition will be had in the Circuit Court for the County of Oakland on Wednesday the 15th day of January 1958, at the opening of Court on that day at 9:30 a.m. or as soon thereafter as Counsel can be heard.

You are further notified that on said date the petitioner intends to ask this Court to establish the high level of said lake at 952.3 feet above sea level and if you desire to oppose the establishment of the level at 952.3 feet above sea level you should then and there appear and show cause if any you have why

(A) The normal height and level of said lake should not be established;

(B) Why 952.3 feet above sea level should not be the level fixed as the high level of said lake;

(C) Why such other and further relief as to the Court seems fitting and proper should not be granted to petitioners.

Sleeping Drivers Mean Accidents

Safety Engineer Says Drowsiness Causes Highway Tragedies

CHICAGO (INS) — A Chicago safety expert reports that drowsiness, not fatigue, is the big cause of expressway accidents on long auto trips.

★ ★ ★

Matthew Sielski, traffic and safety engineer for the Chicago Motor Club, reported his findings after a 1,600-mile turnpike trip in the National Safety Council's monthly magazine, Traffic Safety.

Sielski said "highway hypnosis" is not specific enough to explain what causes same-direction and one-car turnpike wrecks.

He suggests that drivers combat drowsiness by stopping after the first three hours of travel and every 100 miles after that. The safety engineer cautions against driving more than 450 miles a day.

Only 144 Units Separate Automotive Giants

1957 Chevrolet Car Output Tops Ford

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — The 144-unit margin by which Chevrolet topped Ford division in car output last year probably is the narrowest to separate those two automotive giants since they began battling for industry leadership.

The final figures, as reported by the Automobile Manufacturers Assn., were: Chevrolet 1,522,550 cars Ford Division 1,522,406. They are subject to minor adjustment, but no change in the net result is expected.

CHEVY EXTENDED

It isn't much of a secret that Chevrolet extended itself in the final weeks of the year to overtake Ford. What the effort may have done to Chevrolet dealer inventories has not been indicated.

Overall industry inventories are high. However, Edward N. Cole, Chevrolet general manager, says demand for his division's product was up sharply in November and December.

Cole makes no claim that final figures on retail sales will give Chevrolet the No. 1 spot in that classification. He does say the figures will show the Ford lead will not be nearly as high as was indicated in registration figures a few weeks ago.

The most recent registration totals gave Ford Division a lead of approximately 47,000 units. Cole declined to say what he expected the final count would be, but said the Ford margin would be "less than 30,000" units.

Probably in the final count the Chevrolet-Ford share of the retail market will come close to half the industry total. Together they accounted for 49.80 per cent of total car assemblies last year.

Along with the closeness of the Chevrolet-Ford production race another outstanding development in car output was the extent of the Chrysler comeback. Chrysler boosted its slice of the production total to 19.99 per cent against 15.00 per cent in 1956. Its Plymouth Division moved up to 10.72 per cent from the preceding year's 7.81 per cent.

The Plymouth percentage put it firmly back in third place in the production standing. Buick which held that spot with a 9.23 per cent of industry total in 1956 dropped to 6.66 per cent last year.

General Motors' lost a hefty 6.72 per cent of the industry total output last year, dropping to 46.06 per cent from the preceding year's 52.78. The Buick, Chevrolet and Oldsmobile production declines accounted for virtually all the GM drop.

With the Ford Motor Co.'s percentage of 30.90 of industry total the "Big Three" accounted for 96.95 per cent of last year's car output. For the industry this compared with 96.55 per cent the preceding year. The Ford share was up from the 1956 total of 28.77 per cent.

American Motors' percentage moved up to 1.86 from the preceding year's 1.80 and Studebaker-Packard declined to 1.19 from the 1956 figure of 1.65 per cent.

In its latest revision of production figures, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. put the 1957 total at 6,119,307 passenger cars; 3,970 coaches and 1,095,425 trucks. The 1956 figures were 5,806,756 cars; 4,206 coaches and 1,107,796 trucks.

IT'S A BONBON — Webster defines a bonbon as being dainty and sweet so maybe that's what designer Hattie Carnegie had in mind when she created this little black straw "bonbon." The little hat, designed for evening wear, features red rose on a long black straw stem. It won applause at the Millinery Stabilization Commission's show in New York City.

Car Disappears Piece by Piece; Thought Stolen

He told police he parked it in the southwest section and when he returned someone had stolen the battery and drained the gasoline tank.

He went to a service station, purchased another battery and a container of gasoline and when he returned both front wheels were missing.

He went to a garage to get two front wheels, came back, and found the car missing.

Later he discovered police saw the stripped auto, thought it might have been stolen and hauled it away.

Loss of Scientists Concerns Britain

Migration of Brains Said Caused by U.S., Canadian Fellowships

LONDON (INS) — Britain, desparately short of trained scientists and technologists, is concerned and anxious today over the mounting migration of brain-power to the United States and Canada.

The Advisory Council on Scientific Policy, in the first authoritative inquest on the loss of trained men, has reported that one post-graduate physicist out of every ten trained in Britain finds a permanent job in the United States or Canada. For post-graduate chemists the corresponding figure is one in sixteen.

The reason for this exodus, according to the council, is the large number of research fellowships at present being offered to British graduates in the U.S. and Canada.

In the seven years to 1956 it is estimated that 410 chemists and 130 physicists accepted fellowships of this kind.

"Heads of several university departments," the council reported, "have expressed anxiety on this score and a few have attributed the increase in the number of fellowships offered to a shortage of suitably qualified research graduates in the United States and Canada."

The council recommends that British firms should be prepared to interview for posts students who have accepted fellowships in North America and that more publicity should be given to the fact that the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research research fellowships can be held in Europe.

3 Hurt as Fire Car Collides With Auto

George G. Crandall, 35, of 3619 Woodland, Royal Oak, told Sheriff's deputies he entered the intersection of Auburn and Crooks roads on the green light and did not hear a siren.

Robert Thor, 32, of 3238 Donley Rd., Avon Township, said he had both his siren and flasher light going.

The two, and David Stokes, 40, of 1848 Auburn, Avon Township, who was riding with Thor, were treated for cuts and bruises at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

Perfusion Causes Malignant Tumors to Crumple, Die

New Cancer Technique Shows Promise

By STANLEY MEISLER

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John, a man in his 70s, noticed a lump on top of his foot one day. The growth proved to be cancer.

Doctors tried the standard treatment — surgery — and hoped that all malignant cells had been removed. Hope did not last long.

Now facing the patient was an operation promising little chance of success and much horror. It is called hind-quarter surgery, an operation that removes an entire leg and buttock. John fought this. And doctors thought such a major operation might be too dangerous for so old a man.

BECAME FIRST

Several weeks later, John noticed some of his black tumors had started to dry. Soon they crumpled and fell off. Today, only six of the 200 tumors remain.

Has he been cured of cancer? Doctors at Tulane University School of Medicine, where the treatment was performed, are not sure. But they know there has been a startling improvement, enough to prompt continued research.

Perfusion combines two medical weapons — drugs and the heart-lung machine.

TWO PROBLEMS

For some time, the drugs nitrogen mustard and phenylalanine mustard have fought cancer. But their success has been limited. Doctors inject the drugs into the arteries sending the chemicals all through the body.

If the dose is too little, the drugs have almost no effect on the diseased part of the body. If the dose is too large, the drugs destroy bone marrow, the substance that makes blood.

In perfusion, the machine is connected only to the veins and arteries attached to the diseased part of the body. In John's case, that meant the leg. The machine pumped out the blood and just before pumping blood back into John's leg, doctors added the drugs.

Key problems may have been solved. First, the drugs concentrated only on the diseased limb. Second, doctors would not have to worry much about the dose being too large for bone marrow. If the marrow in John's leg were destroyed, there still would be enough in the rest of his body to make all the blood he needed.

Much more experimentation is necessary, of course, before perfusion can take a place as a major weapon against cancer. At Tulane, doctors are operating on dogs and several more humans to find out on what cancers the technique works best.

British to Unveil H-Test Results

Public Report to End Secrecy Row Between London, Washington

LONDON (AP)—"Important" results of British experiments on harnessing the power of the H-bomb are due to be made public late this month, ending for the present a reported secrecy wrangle between London and Washington.

★ ★ ★

Confirming widespread reports, the United Kingdom's Atomic Energy Agency announced yesterday that newsmen will be invited to tour the Harwell atomic energy research station and scientific reports will be published in the magazine Nature.

Newsmen will be shown the experimental machine known as Zeta, the agency said, but official statements will cover only early work with it.

Numerous unofficial accounts of the machine's work have said that it can produce temperatures of several million degrees centigrade, which would allow a controlled thermonuclear reaction for several seconds. The raw material is heavy hydrogen, which is easily extracted from sea water.

★ ★ ★

British newspapers have charged that Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, had forced a delay in the official announcement under a U. S.-British agreement to coordinate the declassifying of secret information about the project.

★ ★ ★

The Sunday Observer said the United States had asked a delay so its scientists could catch up with the British.

In the 20 years before World War II, the U.S. exported about 20 per cent of the food it produced.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

To John White, father of said child.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that the present whereabouts of the father of said minor child is unknown, and the said child has violated a law of the State, and that said child should be placed under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the name of the people of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Oakland County Service Center, Court House Annex, 1260-B West Blvd., in the City of Pontiac, in said County on the 21st day of January, A.D., 1958, at one o'clock in the afternoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing.

It being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Arthur E. Moore, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 10th day of January, A.D., 1958.

(Seal) ARTHUR E. MOORE,
Judge of Pontiac

Henry Morgan Sees No Future for Comedians on TV

Shirley MacLaine Is Awed by Her Salary

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Shirley MacLaine figures they must be out of their minds at NBC to be paying her $500,000 for 10 TV shows.

★ ★ ★

"When they told me the price, I didn't answer—because my mouth fell open," the talented, tousled comedienne from Hollywood told me. I didn't say yes—I thought I was talking to crazy people. Then they thought I wasn't happy and were going to increase it.

"I wouldn't let them because that was $30,000 a show!"

"Is it?" Shirley looked surprised. "I don't understand numbers. Maybe it's for 15 shows. It's an awful lot for a girl who can only dance and sing loud."

Shirley—who was born in Richmond, Va.—made it out to Hollywood "by spending every cent I had for tickets to 'Pajama Game' when I was in it, inviting talent scouts to come see me."

"They're the only ones I didn't invite when I was subbing for Carol Haney." Shirley soon had movie contracts with both, was on Bob Hope's and Betty Grable's TV shows, "and then every time I was on, my price jumped $3,000."

SHIRLEY

In this new deal NBC bought Shirley's exclusivity. "But a half million dollars!" Shirley exclaimed. "They sure must be talent-starved!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . .

Jackie Gleason called in writers Marvin Marx and Walter Stone, discussed a new comedy format . . . The Florida freeze chilled Garry Moore's TV jaunt to Winter Haven. (The orange growers there were clobbered by weather) . . . Gene Nelson'll get a mere $85 a week plus expenses for doing "Oklahoma!" at N. Y. City . . . Count Basie's ailing (bands working without him).

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Explaining why he was in N. Y. this winter, Hollywood producer Cy Howard said: "I came to N. Y. to get rid of my health." That's earl, brother.

HE'S OUTSPOKEN — Comedian Henry Morgan believes in speaking his mind about television, which he considers "worse than garbage." Morgan stars in CBS-Radio's "Sez Who?" Sundays at 7:30 p. m. and is a panelist on CBS-TV's "I've Got a Secret" Wednesdays at 9:30 p. m., but he's not satisfied and is yearning to return to straight comedy.

The DEW (Distant Early Warning) line is composed of radar bases from Alaska to Baffin Island (just short of the coast of Greenland on the west side). The line follows the 70th Parallel. These electronic signals will give Canada and the United States from four-six-hour warning in case of attack over the North Pole.

He's Not Happy as 'Personality'

Today's Radio, Video Draw Criticism From Gloomy Funnyman

By DICK KLEINER

Thus spake Henry Morgan, who is a talker. In fact, he makes it very plain he considers himself "outspoken," although not a "loudmouth." There is a difference. And one subject he knows is the radio-television field.

"There's nothing new about the absence of comedy on TV," he says. "This has been going on for 10 years. Maybe we've only noticed it in the last year, but it's a trend that has been going on for 10 years.

"Fred Allen died doing a panel show, remember; that's all they could find for him to do."

★ ★ ★

Morgan is currently appearing on a panel show himself, an old-timer named "I've Got a Secret" which he says is going so well "they don't dare fire us."

IT'S NOT ENOUGH

Outside of a once-a-week radio show caled "Sez Who?" and some sporadic ventures into commercials and guest appearances, this is his only job now. It's not enough to satisfy him.

"I'm on maybe 15 seconds during the show," he says. "I get a chance to ask maybe four questions. If I do what I'm supposed to do, I ask things like 'Is it bigger than a breadbox?' But that's not funny. So I get recalcitrant, and then they bawl me out for being recalcitrant.

"If I can be funny in that time and under those conditions, it's a tour de force."

"All I can tell you,' he says, "is that I did some commercials. They were pretty funny, people said. They sold a lot of whatever it was I was selling. Now they tell me they're going to 'fix' them. That means louse them up, make them unfunny.

"How can we hope for comedy when they start fixing something that's funny to start with?"

SEES LITTLE HOPE

All this has made Morgan even more sarcastic, more recacitrant, more sarcastic, more recalcitrant, torically. He sees little hope for improving TV fare and absolutely no hope for Morgan, the comedian.

★ ★ ★

"There's no room on television for comedians," he says. 'For personalities, yes. But who wants to be a personality all his life?"

This being the case, Morgan is thinking—and nobody can tell if this is a serious thought—about escaping.

"I'd like to go up along the coast somewhere," he says, "and write. Actually, I owe Doubleday a book. Eight years ago, they gave me a $2,500 advance to write a book. The editor called me last week—nag, nag, nag—and asked me how it was coming.

Since he apparently can't manage that, or really doesn't want to, he's gathering together carbons of his letters to utility companies. These, he admits, are pretty funny.

He writes them at the drop of a bill or incident or provocation, and seems to be engaged in a lengthy and wordy fight with all the utility companies at once.

PENTHOUSE DWELLER

There is, for example, a battle with the local electric power company, Consolidated Edison. They advertise that it's a good idea for homeowners to check their wiring, to see if they have enough power for the modern appliances. Morgan lives in a penthouse and there's the rub.

★ ★ ★

"It's made me think," he says, "about the value of appliances in the first place. And I've concluded that the only one that's worthwhile is the refrigerator. That's because I'm a bachelor and when it goes on and off, I feel less lonely."

★ ★ ★

Through the cloud of acrimony that surrounds Morgan it's possible to catch occasional glimpses of sunshine. His bitterness may be just an act—but it's a good one.

Shirley Temple Flawless in 1st TV Performance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Temple has made her return to show business after a nine-year absence demonstrating anew on a television fairy tales series what an old (29) pro she is.

★ ★ ★

The blonde curlytop star of the 30s, now a brunette mother of three, made her TV debut last night on the Shirley Temple Storybook," first of 16 programs on children's classics. She performed flawlessly, rising above some backstage noises heard behind her lines.

★ ★ ★

"I didn't even hear them," she said afterward. "I was concentrating too hard on what I was doing."

★ ★ ★

Strikingly beautiful, she had little to do but introduce and narrate the version of "Beauty and the Beast," starring Charlton Heston and Claire Bloom. She also sang the theme song "Dreams Are Made for Children," her first professional singing in almost 20 years.

★ ★ ★

"I had a wonderful time," she said after the show at a party with her husband, electronics official Charles Black, and her parents. "I am anxious to do more."

★ ★ ★

Courses in English to Get Face Lift

NEW YORK (AP)—Students in the city's junior high schools are to be taught how to speak well on the telephone, hold their own in group discussions, and acquire good taste in choosing and enjoying the best on television.

★ ★ ★

These and other skills, the Board of Education said yesterday, will be grouped under the heading of "English" along with the age-old skills of spelling, grammer and reading.

★ ★ ★

All are part of "language arts," a new course of study to be taught in grades seven, eight and nine.

Comic-Strip Artist Killed by Stroke

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man who created the comic strip world of Moon Mullins, his little brother Kayo, Mamie and Willie and Lord and Lady Pishbottom, is dead at 64.

Cartoonist Frank Willard, whose humor entertained newspaper readers for 34 years, died yesterday in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital after suffering a stroke several days earlier.

Willard, born in Anna, Ill., had lived in Beverly Hills, Calif., since 1950. He previously lived in New Canaan, Conn., and in Florida.

His wife Marie and two children by a previous marriage, Mrs. Priscilla Alden Austin, Tampa, Fla., and Frank Jr., Atlanta, Ga., survive.

Indonesia's President Visits With Nasser

Sukarno arrived yesterday for a six-day unofficial visit, continuing his six-week tour of several countries in Africa and Asia.

Sneaky Thief Dupes Bellhop in $25,000 Robbery

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A wily thief stole $25,000 worth of rare gold coins yesterday and made a getaway as bold as brass.

★ ★ ★

William Donner, 60, Forest Hills, N.Y., said he lost a collection which included coins dating to the Roman Empire.

★ ★ ★

Donner had attended a Florida coin collectors meeting in the Biscayne Terrace Hotel and went to lunch before leaving for home.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, detectives said, a gray-suited man handed bellhop Gene Perry a room key and said, "Check me out of 608."

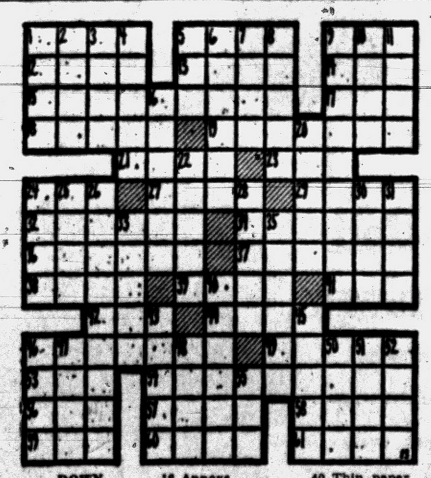

★ ★ ★

Perry checked with the hotel desk and then brought down Donner's lggage and stowed it in a taxi. The gray-suited man tipped Perry and rode off in the cab. Its driver told police he transferred the luggage to an automobile at a railroad station nearby.

Cotton Acre Yield Up

BIRMINGHAM — There are now some 85,000 cotton farms in the South and West, about 50 per cent of 1940's total of 1,600,000. During 1956, however, yield per acre jumped to 409 pounds compared with 250 pounds in 1940 and 200 pounds in the early 1930s.

Thailand (formerly Siam) has modernized its once primitive railroad system.

Precut Stairway Made

UNION, N. J. — A precut packaged stairway that can be installed with a minimum of labor has been developed by a Union manufacturer. The concern says each part fits easily into position, stringers are accurately cut to size, risers are mitered, treased nosed, and all parts sanded. The wood hand rail, it says, can be bent into any desired curve or shape.

Scientific research may lead to preservation at normal room temperatures of foods that now require refrigeration, according to Albert Weinstock of Armour Research Foundation at Illinois Institute of Technology.

Learn the Safety Rules for Check Endorsement

The safety rules for endorsing checks are something every homemaker should know, since much of a family's business may be handled by the lady of the house.

When you write your name on the back of a check at the left end, without qualification, you are saying you personally have received the value of that check. This is known as a "blank endorsement."

Should you lose it on the way to the bank the finder might cash it. To protect yourself, wait until you are ready to cash it before you place your blank endorsement on the back.

A check can be endorsed to a specific individual or firm when you are not cashing or depositing it yourself.

When you write on the back, "Pay to the order of John Doe" and then sign your name below, John Doe can cash it after he places his endorsement before yours. You have transferred the value of the check to him.

FOR DEPOSIT ONLY

A check that is to be deposited by mail should be endorsed with the restricted endorsement: "For deposit only." Sign your name underneath. This protects you if it is lost or stolen.

★ ★ ★

If your name is misspelled on a check, endorse it first the way it is written on the face of the check, misspelling and all. Then underneath put your correct signature.

If a check is lost, notify the bank at once. Telephone the information first, then confirm it at once with a letter.

One other protective measure in handling a check is to cash or deposit it immediately after receiving it.

Baptism Under Fire

CARLSBAD, N.M., (AP)—Fireman Bob Stockwell was baptized in a most unorthodox manner recently while fighting a fire in the First Baptist Church here. Wearing a gas mask, Stockell was crawling on the floor hunting for the flames when he fell into the bapistry.

Motorcyclist Finds Shoe on Other Foot

"I had to drive 75 miles an hour to catch you," Winfree admonished Smith, explaining that he had watched a television program in which the Highway Patrol urged the public to cooperate in observing the law.

About a month later, Smith arrested a motorcyclist riding with his feet on the handlebars. It was Winfree, who was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving.

Colleges and universities spent about $285,000,000 for research and development during the 1953-54 fiscal year, according to a survey by the National Science Foundation.
