Flint Teamster Business Agent Burned; Testified Before Senate Rackets Probe

Expecting Khrushchev's OK

See Summit in Mid-August

MOSCOW (UPI)—Western diplomatic sources said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who returned last night from a dramatic hush-hush visit to Peiping, will accept the Anglo-American proposals for a summit conference on the Middle East crisis in mid-August.

The observers said they expected Khrushchev's replies to the notes from the leaders of the western big three on the projected meeting to be forwarded within 48 hours.

A communique issued after the conclusion of the four-day secret "Red summit" meeting between Khrushchev and Communist China's Mao Tse-tung accused the United States of dragging its heels and called for a summit conference "at once."

A brief announcement by Radio Moscow reported Khruschev' return to the Soviet capital from the Peiping talks, regarded here as a communist planning session preliminary to east-west talks.

Waiting on Khrushchev's desk at the Kremlin were messages from President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan proposing a summit meeting within the framework at the U. N. Security Council "on or about" Aug. 12.

A letter from French Premier Charles de Gaulle suggested a summit meeting outside the Security Council on Aug. 18, preferably in Geneva. Neither Eisenhower nor Macmillan specified the site for the meeting.

Diplomatic observers are convinced Khrushchev will accept the Anglo - American proposals. They refused to speculate on his choice for the site of the meeting.

The talks between Khrushchev and Mao — the world's two top Communist leaders — were seen here primarily as a dramatic gesture to stress that Khrushchev will speak for Communist China as well as for the Soviet Union at the summit conference.

★ ★ ★

A joint communique noted that Khrushchev and Mao exchanged views on the international situation and "achieved full agreement on measures which must be undertaken in the struggle against aggression for the preservation of peace."

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev certainly filled in Mao on Soviet strategy tactics for the summit conference and probably Mao passed on a few pointers of his own, based on his special knowledge and the Asian point of view.

(The majority of western observers interpreted the Peiping meeting as an effort to help the Chinese Communist "save face" in their exclusion from such talks. Khrushchev, in his original proposal suggested India sit in. He made no mention of Communist China, which is not a member of the United Nations and therefore could not participate in the council-summit talks proposed by the United States and Britain.)

Officials in Nationalist China, however, expressed fears that Khrushchev's meeting with Mao

BURNS A MYSTERY — Frank Kierdorf, who staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital early today suffering from burns over his head, face and most of his body, is shown in his hospital bed, with Nurse Phyllis Laprese attending him. He has been unable, or unwilling, to tell investigators how he was burned. His identity was established through fingerprints.

Nephew of Hoffa Aide Near Death in Hospital

Frank Kierdorf 'Critical' With 2nd Degree Burns Over Most of His Body

A Flint Teamsters Union official who testified before the Senate Rackets Committee last November, staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning near death with burns over 85 per cent of his body.

Police, puzzled for hours as to his identity, later identified the man as Frank Kierdorf, 56, a business agent for Flint Teamsters Local 332, and nephew of an aide to teamster czar Jimmy Hoffa.

Police theorized that Kierdorf might have been set afire like a human torch. He remained on the critical list at noon.

His presence immediately put a mystery cloud over past and present investigations of the giant Teamsters union by the Senate committee.

An assistant to Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel for the committee, said today there had been no plans to return Kierdorf to testify. He took the Fifth Amendment more than 40 times last Nov. 5.

The office secretary at Local 332 confirmed that Kierdorf had been a business agent there "for a number of years." She said that any statement from the local would have to come from its executive secretary, Claude Sutton, who was not immediately available.

★ ★ ★

Frank Kierdorf's uncle is Herman Kierdorf, who was questioned Friday by the committee when the Detroit phase of the inquiry resumed.

Immediately after his testimony, Herman announced that he had resigned as business agent for Teamsters Joint Council No. 43 in Detroit.

Herman was described as an aide to James R. Hoffa, Teamsters president, who is scheduled to be called before the committee in Washington tomorrow.

Kennedy's assistant, Paul J. Tierney, said the committee will proceed with its original plans. Where the burning of Frank Kierdorf might fit into further investigation, Tierney said he did not know at this time.

A check of police records show that Kierdorf served 2½ years for armed robbery in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson. Paroled in 1945, he was employed shortly afterwards by the Teamsters Union.

A Flint address of 613 W. Stewart St., was traced to Kierdorf.

A night nurse at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mrs. Mary E. Medino, saw Kierdorf approach the main entrance of the hospital at around 1 a.m. He was clad only in a bathrobe, socks and shoes.

Immediate attempts to identify him were thwarted because of his critical condition.

In answer to questions asked of him by police, Kierdorf would only say, "John Doe of Washington," or "I don't remember."

★ ★ ★

Police said his speech was incoherent. They were led to suspect he was the victim of torture by his mumbling, "No, no you don't . . . don't do it, John."

First and second degree burns covered almost all his body. His hair and eyebrows were burned completely off.

More U. S. Troops, Tanks Pour Into Lebanon Today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The United States added new muscle to its troops in Lebanon today even though the shooting war between the rebel and pro-government forces appeared over.

A full battalion of 75 army tanks was scheduled to be disembarked from troop ships just below Beirut's International Airport during the day. It was the biggest injection of armor since U. S. Marines landed in Lebanon three weeks ago.

Accompanying the heavy detachment of armor were 2,200 troops from the 35th Tank Battalion of the 7th U.S. Army which is stationed in West Germany.

The continued buildup of American military strength seemed almost certain to provoke criticisms even from friendly Lebanese. Many questioned the Army's wisdom in not halting the flow of armor and troop reinforcements at a time when the months-long crisis appeared headed for some sort of a final solution.

Military leaders were unable to provide an explanation for the troops-and-tanks reinforcements. A gradual easing of tension has been going on since Thursday when government and opposition deputies joined to support Gen. Fuad Schehab, Lebanese army chief of staff, for president.

The landing of the 2,000 troops yesterday brought the strength of U. S. military forces in Lebanon to more than one-and a half times the size of the Lebanese army. Lebanon's army totals 9,000 men; U.S. forces now total 13,000.

5 Firemen Overcome in Warehouse Blaze

JACKSON (UPI) — Fire which may have been caused by lightning partially destroyed a big brick construction company warehouse last night, and one of the firm's owners said today damage may total $100,000.

Five firemen were overcome by smoke in fighting the fire at the Dunigan Bros. contracting firm. One of the five was treated and released, the other four remained at Foote Hospital and doctors said they were "resting comfortably."

The 100 by 100 ft. brick building, a former ice house with a 45 ft. high roof, was lined with three feet of cork insulation.

Pontiac Bakes at 95 Degrees; Cooler Tonight

A scorching high of 95 degrees made yesterday the hottest day of the summer so far in the Pontiac area. In Detroit, the mercury only reached 92.

Pontiac area residents will have fair and cool weather tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts. The low will be 58-62 degrees.

Tuesday will be partly cloudy and warmer, followed by scattered thundershowers tomorrow night. The high tomorrow will be 86-90, and the low tomorrow night 62-66. The outlook for Wednesday is generally fair and pleasant.

The weather Bureau's five-day forecast predicts temperatures will average two to five degrees above the normal 80-85 and low of 58-62.

★ ★ ★

It will be cooler Wednesday with a warming trend Thursday and Friday. Scattered thundershowers are expected Tuesday and around Friday.

Sixty-one was the lowest record temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 85.

Middle Straits Lake Claims Boy Sunday

Oakland Drowning Toll in '58 16

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies recovered the boy's body in about 10 feet of water, 35 to 40 feet from shore, after dragging for approximately 30 minutes.

Koehler, of 22365 Cleveland St., was visiting friends near Crystal Echo Beach No. 2 with his father Clyde and brother Clayton, 13. Clayton left him at the beach at 3:45 p.m.

★ ★ ★

When he returned shortly before 5, he found his brother's inner tube floating near shore. Although the water was crowded, no one had heard the boy call for help.

Says Russia Failed in Shoot for Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia tried but failed to beat the United States to the moon three months ago, Aviation Week Magazine reported today.

The magazine said the Russians fired a rocket at the moon May 1 but the device failed. Aviation Week would not give the source of its report.

The trade journal also said the Air Force will try to send this country's first rocket 238,000 miles to the moon between 6 a.m. and noon on Aug. 27.

The Defense Department has declined to disclose exact date for the moon shot.

Roy W. Johnson, head of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency, said last week the first U.S. moon rocket was designed to circle the earth's natural satellite, taking pictures of the never-seen "dark side."

This would be in contrast to the Russian lunar rocket which the magazine said was supposed to actually strike the moon, possibly as a spectatcular climax to Communist May Day celebrations.

Johnson said reports that the first U.S. moon rocket would be launched this month might be "optimistic." But he said a rocket "certainly" would be fired this year.

Dulles Flying to Rio on Good Will Tour

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles was flying down to Rio today for a fence-mending visit with Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek and talks ranging from war and peace to the price of coffee.

★ ★ ★

Dulles carried a message from President Eisenhower to the Brazilian leader, who took the lead in trying to rebuild good relations between the United States and its Latin neighbors after Vice President Nixon was stoned in Venezuela and Peru last May.

★ ★ ★

Kubitschek then proposed a summit meeting of the Western Hemisphere's presidents to restore inter-American unity and deal with Lafin America's chronic economic underdevelopment.

Eisenhower reportedly feels that such a high-level meeting could not accomplish much, but approves the idea of a meeting of foreign ministers.

Add Link in Mystery of Kierdorf Burning

How a Pontiac labor leader refused to help a top Teamster official to "muscle into Oakland County rackets" today fit into the mystery of the burning—of a Flint Teamsters business agent today.

Just days before he is to testify for the second time before the Senate Rackets Committee, Robert P. Scott revealed how the uncle of the Flint man near death in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital "threatened to bump me off in 1951."

Scott, 51-year-old member of the State Board of Examiners of Barbers, said the threat came back in 1951 from Herman Kierdorf, who testified before the Senate committee last week.

Told of the identification of Kierdorf's nephew, Frank, 56-year-old business agent for Flint Teamsters Local 332, Scott said he still intended to testify. His wife admitted he was "petrified to death."

Last night, soon after Frank Kierdorf staggered into the hospital with burns over 85 per cent of his body, Pontiac Police dispatched a car to check on the safety of Scott.

(It was disclosed in last Thursday's Pontiac Press that Scott had been asked to appear before the McClellan committee this week).

For awhile also this morning, it was believed that the critically-burned man might have been Joseph Warren, auto mechanic from Oxford who testified before the committee Friday.

Scott, of 31 Bloomfield Terrace, said he did not know Frank Kierdorf personally. However, he said he had a "speaking acquaintance" with him in 1952 in Detroit when Kierdorf attended a Michigan Federation of Labor convention as a delegate from the Flint local.

Scott, once was a vice president for Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 and a secretary-treasurer of the MFL.

He said the threat on his life came earlier from Herman Kierdorf who had been hired by Billy Hoffa, brother of Teamsters Union President James R., to kill him because he wouldn't help them "muscle" into rackets here.

County Electors to Pick Nominees for 12 Offices

Local Issues to Spur Voting in Primaries Tomorrow

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Voters throughout Oakland County and the rest of the state will decide tomorrow who the Republican and Democratic nominees for the general fall election will be.

Interest in Tuesday's primary balloting in the county is expected to be spurred on by special issues on the ballot in five townships and one city.

Polls at the county's 295 voting precincts will open at 7 a.m. All voters in line when the polls close at 8 p.m. will be allowed to vote.

Some 75,000 to 80,000 voters are expected to vote, County Clerk Florence J. Allen forecast today. She said this is from a total county registration of 289,570, as determined from a count made back in April.

Republican and Democratic nominees for 12 offices—two in Washington, D.C., four in Lansing, and six in Pontiac—will be chosen by county electors tomorrow.

Nominations for offices at stake are governor, lieutenant governor, United States senator from Michigan, Oakland County representative in Congress, state senator from the county, state representatives, and county prosecutor, sheriff, clerk-register of deeds, treasurer, drain commissioner and surveyor.

In addition, voters in each of the county precincts will select a delegate of his party choice to the coming county conventions. Mrs. Allen pointed out that write-ins for these delegates are permissible where no candidate is listed.

Although the county has six representatives in the Michigan House of Representatives, voters will select a party nominee for only the district in which they live.

CAN'T SPLIT BALLOT

It was emphasized by Mrs. Allen that, unlike general elections, splitting of ballots in tomorrow's primary is NOT possible. "A split ballot means a void ballot," she said.

As hundreds of candidates throughout Michigan cocked their campaign guns today for a final salvo, Robert M. Montgomery, state elections director, predicted about one million voters will go to the polls.

The weather is forecast to be generally hot with thundershowers seen for later in the day.

Probably the greatest interest of the special issues on county ballots will be the proposed incorporation of the village of Rochester along with a portion of Avon Township.

2 ISSUE IN WATERFORD

Waterford Township residents will decide whether they want to abolish the annual township meeting, and hunting with high powered rifles in their township.

★ ★ ★

Voters in the city of Farmington and Farmington township have matters of incorporation and annexation to rule on.

Other special issues include a one-mill tax proposal for increased fire facilities in Highland township, two-mill tax increase for municipal buildings in Milford township, and a $306,000 bond proposition to expand similar facilities in Oak Park.

"I think a lot more people will vote because of these special issues than ordinarily would," predicted Mrs. Allen.

She urged voters who can visit the polls before 5 p.m. to do so, so as not to jam the voting areas along with those working persons who must vote after work.

Of the 295 precincts in the county, only five are without automatic voting machines.

The Pontiac Downtown Kiwanis Club is staging a "Ballot Battalion" of telephone call in a get-out-the-vote campaign for the primary.

Can U. S. Regain Lost Prestige in Mideast?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Censorship and a cloud of conflicting propaganda obscure much of what has been going on in the Middle East. To get down to basic facts, William L. Ryan spent nearly three months in the area on a survey trip—the sixth he has made to the Mideast. This is the first of four articles in which he analyzes the West's dilemma on the eve of a proposed summit meeting.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

For years, the United States has been losing friends in the Arab East.

It still is.

Strangely enough, the shock of recent events may have given Americans a chance to turn the tide. These events made Arabs see their area as the possible cockpit of World War III. The thought jolted them.

U. S. FACES LAST CHANCE

Thus, in the proposed summit meeting, and in its actions elsewhere, the United States may face a last chance to salvage something from the wreckage of its prestige among the Arabs.

Oil and strategic position are two key points underlying any consideration of this area where Western civilization began.

TRYING TO OUST WEST

And this is the crossroads of the world. The question that must worry Western leaders is this: Is the Soviet Union going to be able some day to squeeze the West's influence out of this area, and make Moscow master of the great sea route that connects East and West?

Those are the stakes.

One of the things that brought America to today's crisis was a persistent near-sightedness.

Americans failed to see, or at least to comprehend, the implications of the postwar movement toward independence and nationhood that swept across lands long under colonial rule.

This nationalism fever swept up the Arabs, too, but theirs is not a nationalism confined to the specific boundaries of one country. It is pan-Arabism, a feeling of oneness among people occupying a vast segment of the backward world, speaking Arabic, sharing the same racial memories, harboring bitterness against a history of exploitation.

The Russians did not really awaken to the possibilities of this movement until after Stalin's death. Then Soviet policy, however cynically, set out to capitalize on the tide, as if heeding the Biblical prophecy of Jeremiah:

"Egypt riseth up like a flood and the waves thereof shall be moved as rivers."

The waves now threatening to engulf all the Holy Land are those of a pan-Arab nationalism churned by frustration into a thing called Nasserism. Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria,

The Day in Birmingham

Lincoln Avenue Residents to Act Against Speeders

BIRMINGHAM — Residents of W. Lincoln avenue in Birmingham have informed the City Commission they plan to take action to stop speeding along their end of the street.

Along with a petition signed by 74 persons protesting speeding, the group stated in a letter to the commission it will mark off sections of the street with painted white stripes and time motorists with stop watches.

Those exceeding the speed limit first will be warned by letter, according to Hyatt Eby, 986 W. Lincoln, the group's spokesman. Complaints will be filed with the Police Department against repeaters, he stated.

The police and Municipal Court have agreed to back the program, according to Eby.

"It is a certainty that the pattern of travel on Lincoln will change once the users of the street learn that we mean business," Eby stated in his letter to the commission.

★ ★ ★

Meeting tonight, this will be the second complaint from Lincoln avenue residents studied by the commission.

A week ago, a number of persons on E. Lincoln protested the parking ban on their street.

Alyea to Face Murder Charge

First-Degree Warrant to Be Ordered in Killing of Southfield Caretaker

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said this morning that he expected to have a first-degree murder warrant ordered on Raymond L. Alyea, 35, in the slaying last Thursday of Anthony Jasinski.

Alyea, the ex-convict who has admitted to being with Jasinski that night, is being held at the Oakland County Jail.

Ziem said he expected that Alyea, of 12044 Lansdowne St., Detroit, would be arraigned sometime today before Southfield Municipal Court Judge Clarence Reid Jr.

The suspect was apprehended near his home on Detroit's East Side Friday night. He admitted being with Jasinski, a 51-year-old caretaker for Ilgenfritz Nurseries, Inc., where the savage killing took place.

Jasinski lived in quarters at the rear of the Southfield firm, at 22951 Northwestern Highway. Alyea still denies any knowledge of having committed the crime, saying he "blacked out" and when he came to Jasinski was dead.

Alyea's girl friend, Anna Geraci, a 41-year-old waitress, was expected to be released today. She is being held as a material witness.

Court to Study Little Rock Suit

Judges Fail to Indicate When Ruling Might Be Expected on Appeal

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An appeal challenging a 2½-year postponement of racial integration at Little Rock Central High School was taken under advisement today by the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The judges gave no indication of when they might hand down a ruling in the case which will have a major effect on the speed of public school integration in the South.

Attorneys for the school board in their arguments accused the government of letting the board down in enforcement of integration.

Attorneys for the National Assn. of the Advancement of Colored People charged the school board with evading its duties and with laxity in student discipline.

A board attorney, A. F. House of Little Rock, told the judges the U. S. attorney general's decision not to prosecute leaders of a mob at the school only encouraged the anti-integrationists.

House told the court no board in the South could enforce integration by itself.

Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, charged the Little Rock board with laxity in student discipline. Marshall said he doubted the board would do anything to ease integration tension in the 2-year cooling off period it was granted by a U.S. District Court.

Adlai Stevenson Visits Churches in Moscow

Flint Teamster Burned

Fingerprints containing "identifiable characteristics" were obtained when it was found the inside of his hands were not as badly burned as first believed.

Identification of the horribly-burned man came from Detroit police records after his fingerprints had been sent out to all points including Washington, D. C.

Law enforcement agencies from this area were hard at work this noon in an attempt to piece together how Kierdorf received such burns.

They are investigating the possibility that he may have been tortured by dousing his body with gasoline and igniting it.

Nurses reported smelling gasoline on his shoes.

The burning was so severe, doctors reported, that it burned the hair in Kierdorf's nostrils.

He apparently had been wearing only shorts at the time of the incident since the only parts of his body not seriously burned were from his waist to the upper part of his legs, plus his feet.

Police said the bathrobe he was wearing when he walked into the hospital must have been put on him after he was burned.

★ ★ ★

Back before the committee last November, Kierdorf refused to answer questions as to whether he threatened Flint auto dealers with picketing if they failed to hire Kamenow.

The dealings of Kamenow entered around Christmas gifts from several Pontiac stores during this part of testimony last year.

Kierdorf also refused to say whether he was given his job as business agent after serving a term for armed robbery.

Owen (Bert) Brennan, one of Hoffa's chief aides and a vice president of the Teamsters International Union, said after hearing about Kierdorf this morning that he was not aware that he was in any trouble.

★ ★ ★

"We certainly didn't know of any trouble that would lead to anything like this," Brennan said. He called Kierdorf "a good guy."

Police did not rule out the possibility of an accident accounting for Kierdorf's burns, but said they had no reports of any explosion or fire that might have caused them.

Kierdorf's name has popped in and out of the Senate committee's trailing after corruption in Teamsters affairs. The latest time was just last week when investigators were centering on racketeering in the Detroit Laundry industry and allied businesses.

But it was only a more or less incidental mention, and members of the committee said they doubted there was any direct connection between their present hearings and the burning of Kierdorf—assuming the burning was a deliberate thing. Tierney said the committee planned no active investigation of the burning, "although we are interested generally."

Unemployed in State Reap Highest Benefits Since World War II

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan paid out unemployment benefits at the rate of almost one million dollars each working day during the 12-month period ended June 30.

Max M. Horton, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, said the state's jobless picked up benefits totaling $267,488,742 during the fiscal year.

It was the highest rate of unemployment payments in Michigan since World War II.

The peak was reached in May when 462,000 unemployed workers—15.8 per cent of the state's labor force—came in for a total of $41,279,335 in benefits.

Benefits paid in the first six months of 1958 totaled more than any previous full year of the commission's 20 years of operation, Horton said. January-to-June benefit payments totaled $196,015,736.

Ford Strikers Back on Jobs in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—A brief walkout at the Ford Motor Co.'s Chicago Heights plant ended today when 1,100 union workers returned to their jobs.

A company spokesman said he still knew of no reason for the sudden walkout Saturday which he said forced Ford to close the plant.

"The workers reported for work at 7 a.m. this morning as usual," the spokesman said. "Everything is normal. There are no pickets."

Drowned Body Taken From Bay Near Base at St. Petersburg

The body of a Pontiac airman, who drowned Friday, was recovered yesterday from Boca Ciega Bay, Fla., near St. Petersburg and MacDill Field Air Force Base, where he was stationed.

GAVETTE

The victim was Airman 2-C Charles E. Gavette, 22, son of Gerdon C. Gavette, 730 Melrose St. and Mrs. Martha G. Fuchs, 93 W. Rutgers Ave. The drowning occurred while Gavette, a jet mechanic, was swimming at a beach party at a public park.

★ ★ ★

Police said that Gavette apparently was trying to evade a raid, called because an ordinance forbidding liquor at the park was being violated.

Gavette had attended Pontiac High School. After three years as a paratrooper in the Army, he worked at the Pontiac Fisher Body Division plant nine months, then enlisted in the Air Force last February.

He is also survived by his widow, Dorothy, of Rome, Ga. and two sons. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hooper, of 322 Prospect St.

may have set the stage for new trouble in Asia.

First disclosure of Khrushchev's surprise lighting visit to Peiping came in broadcasts of the communique by Radio Peiping and Radio Moscow.

The sharply-worded statement denounced the United States and Britain as "enemies of peace and democracy" and demanded that American and British troops be withdrawn at once from Lebanon and Jordan.

The communist leaders accused the United States of "obstructing" a summit meeting and demanded "that a conference of the heads of government of the big powers should be called at once to discuss the situation in the near and Middle East. . ."

The communique charged that the actions of the west, particularly in sending troops into the Middle East, was "bringing mankind to the brink of a war catastrophe."

Play Softball 145 Innings

'Oh, My Aching Feet!'

MUSKEGON (AP) — The Muskegon Moose and the Muskegon Heights Eagles rested blistered feet today. They played a 145-inning softball game Saturday. The Moose finally won, 78-71, over a span of 12 hours and 20 minutes.

A tie at the end of nine innings wasn't responsible. Neither was a series of ties thereafter. They just set out to see if they could better the 140 innings they went in 1957.

With many from both sides in stocking-feet, the teams agreed to quit at the end of 145 innings in the marathon arranged to benefit a muscular distrophy fund.

Beach-Bound Detroiters Jam Roads

Sun Shines Across U. S.

By The Associated Press

There were a few wet spots, but generally fair weather prevailed in most of the country today.

Stormy weather struck sections of the northern Plains and northern Rockies during the night. Winds with gusts up to 40 m.p.h. lashed some sections during thunderstorms. However, rainfall was light in most areas.

A second wet belt was in the Middle Atlantic Coast states, with heavy rainfall in some regions. More than 3 inches of rain doused Richmond, Va., during the night, while the Charleston, W. Va., area was drenched with more than 4 inches in the last 24 hours.

In Detroit, summer's hottest weather brought the year's worst traffic jams Sunday around Metropolitan Detroit area lakes and parks.

A late afternoon rain and windstorm dropped the thermometer to the high 70s and drove some 43,000 people out at almost the same time from Kensington Park on Grand River Avenue, U. S. 16 near Brighton. At one time cars were backed up four miles from the park exit.

To ease the jam, State Police turned cars onto old U. S. 16, closing the ramp from the park to the Detroit-Brighton Expressway until traffic cleared.

At Belle Isle, Detroit's island park, cars were lined up four abreast and almost a mile back from the bridge exit.

As Shrine to State's Six-shooter Days

Reconstruct Minnesota Fortress

WASHINGTON — Minnesota's Fort Snelling, an old frontier post that now echoes the blast of jet planes, is to become a shrine to its six-shooter days.

With the state's 100th birthday due in May, its Centennial Commission has authorized reconstruction and restoration of the fortress buildings on the outskirts of the twin cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The fort's site, on a high bluff commanding the junction of the Mississippi and Minnesota Rivers, was selected in 1805 by Lieut. Zebulon M. Pike, the National Geographic Society recalls. His orders were to pacify the Indians, and obtain strategic military and trading posts.

The Fort Snelling tract included a nine-mile stretch along the Mississippi. Lieut. Pike paid an uninflated price of $200, 60 gallons of whisky, and some Indian-prized trinkets.

The fort's establishment was delayed, however, until 1819, when a small force of infantry under Col. Henry Leavenworth set up a camp of stockaded log cabins near the Minnesota River outlet.

A permanent post was started across the river the following year and called Fort St. Anthony after nearby waterfalls. These falls were particularly useful in powering both a sawmill to cut construction lumber and a flour mill to help feed the garrison.

As an Indian agency and guardian of the peace, Fort Snelling soon became the center of a vigorous frontier life. Through it passed the early trappers and fur traders, explorers and missionaries. It welcomed settlers with food and tools, and sheltered them when Indians went on the warpath.

The state's first white child was born at this post. Its doctor answered neighborhood calls. The fort's band and uniforms lent military tone to parades and parties of the nearby communities. The young territorial government used its jail to house civilian lawbreakers.

Though the troops were withdrawn in 1855 as the frontier moved west, Fort Snelling was reopened in 1861, and served through four wars.

During the Civil War, Minnesota's volunteers trained there. Expanded and adapted to meet each new emergency, the fort prepared men for the Spanish American and World Wars.

Meantime, as buildings and facilities grew, the post's once extensive acreage was reduced by sale and intergovernment and state transfers of property. In 1946, the remaining area was turned over to the Veterans Administration.

★ ★ ★

Today, in addition to a veterans hospital, the old Fort Snelling tract is also occupied by a national cemetery, an Air Force jet-alert station, an Army air-training base, a Bureau of Mines office, and the Minneapolis-St. Paul municipal airport.

The relatively small site set aside for the historic memorial includes portions of the original fort's towers and remains of its stone walls.

Bob Considine Says:

Alcatraz Visited by Notre Dame Educator

SAN FRANCISCO—Father John Cavanaugh of Notre Dame visited Alcatraz the other day as a guest of Warden Madigan. It was an experience he won't forget, especially when coffee was served by Ken Carpenter, an associate of the late and badly ventilated John Dilliinger.

"Don't speak to any of them unless they speak to you," the warden warned the famed educator. Carpenter spoke first. He was on coffee duty that day and in his white coat and apron did not look unlike a dandruff and bile healer on TV. They had coffee.

"What are you in for, Ken?" the priest asked.

Carpenter gave him a fierce grin. "For making some premature withdrawals from a bank," he said. He got up, went to his galley, picked up a ladle for some kind of dish he was cooking, and looked at it intently before stirring. Madigan watched him.

"If he comes over here, puts that across your neck and threatens to choke you to death if I don't let him out, you'll just have to die, father," the warden remarked casually. Carpenter brought back some fresh coffee.

George Ellis, a Chicago hood, was the next to give the priest the nod. It was in the machine shop where the more dexterous among The Rock's 280 post-grad prisoners fashion things like steel brushes for sale to the Navy.

Ellis "broke" Atlanta—an epic escape — by wriggling 200 feet through an 18-inch drainpipe. The first time he tried it he found the end of the pipe protected by steel bars. He made his execruciating way back, negotiated it in time for a metal saw, and broke through to freedom, leading two other snake-hipped convicts. They were caught in four days.

"I blame my mother for me being in trouble all my life," Ellis told the padre during their talk.

"Do you ever blame yourself?" Cavanaugh asked him.

"Only just recently I'm beginning to," Ellis admitted. "It's been the hardest thing I've ever had to do."

★ ★ ★

Then here was a little brown fellow with a holy medal dangling from his neck. He greeted Cavanaugh with considerable reverence. He was the leader of the Puerto Rican group that shot up the House of Representatives.

"How long have you been here?" the priest asked.

"Three years, padre," the man said.

"How much more time must you serve?"

The Puerto Rican threw back his head and laughed.

"Eighty-seven years, padre," he said. Then he stopped laughing. "Padre, they didn't understand what it means to be a Nationalist. I am a Nationalist, just like George Washington was a Nationalist."

The visit included a look at the collection of weapons and other devices which past and present inmates fabricated in their ceaseless dream of breaking through the maximum security lockup of the land.

There are slender paintbrushes (many prisoners have taken up painting as a hobby) whose owners honed the handles into ice-pick sharpness, daggers chipped from porcelain toilet bowls, and the remnants of an exceptionally intricate gasoline bomb which blew a nice hole in the prison wall.

The priest saw the thick plate glass through which visitors talk to inmates by telephone and earphones and the much thicker glass behind which sits the guard who pushes the buttons that open the door leading into the place. The glass was chipped with many bullet marks.

"Theirs?" Cavanaugh asked — meaning the men.

"No, ours," a guard said. "We have got to be sure, here."

Ready to Open Polls Tuesday

Waterford to Provide Voters With Improved Facilities in Primary

At 7 a. m. Tuesday morning, each chairman of Waterford Township's eighteen new precincts will announce "in a distinct voice — 'Hear Ye, Hear Ye — the polls of this precinct are now open'."

With this traditional announcement, months of concentrated study and work by township officials will come to an end, thereby providing more convenient voting facilities for residents.

This will be the first time that the township has had a complete precinct change in many years, according to clerk James Seeterlin, who has directed the project.

All 12 of the former precincts had more registered voters than was legally permitted, and a complete revision of the township precincts was necessary before the primary election, Seeterlin explained.

The number-one job for the last few months has been assembling election material, revising files, selecting new, as well as checking the former election workers, plus the gigantic job of mailing 17,500 precinct-change notifications to property owners.

Seeterlin has urged registered voters who have moved within the last year, and are still in the township, but have failed to list their new address, to go to their original voting precinct.

They may vote there and make out a new change-of-address card. This can only be done on election day, as the deadline date for this procedure was July 7, Seeterlin said.

With the purchase of three new automatic voting machines this year, the township is set to have 37 in operation.

Rival Circuses Battle It Out in France

QUIMPER, France (UPI) — Rival circuses fought it out with animal whips, fists, water buckets and other handy objects yesterday when one troupe discovered its posters had been plastered over by its competitors.

★ ★ ★

The entire crews of both circuses — some 400 men and women in all — joined in the fray. They paused only momentarily when a passing hunter fired his shot-gun in the air in an attempt to halt the battle.

★ ★ ★

When the free-for-all ended there were 12 casualties on the field, two of whom were hospitalized with deep head gashes.

ROME (UPI) — Premier Aminitore Fanfani is home from a trip to Washington, London and Bonn during which he met the west's major leaders.

In a short statement, Fanfani expressed his thanks to President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for "listening to us with attention and informing us thoroughly" about the international situation.

Berserk London Taxi Fells Palace Guards

LONDON (UPI) — A taxi went out of control outside Buckingham Palace yesterday and mowed down a squad of Welsh Guards marching to duty. Two guards and two passengers in the taxi were injured seriously.

Police said the taxi, driven by 72-year-old Benjamin Davies, ran on to the sidewalk while trying to avoid hitting a dog. Guard Cpl. Tom Grenough said the car "bowled them over like nine pins."

French-Arab Clashes Result in 88 Dead

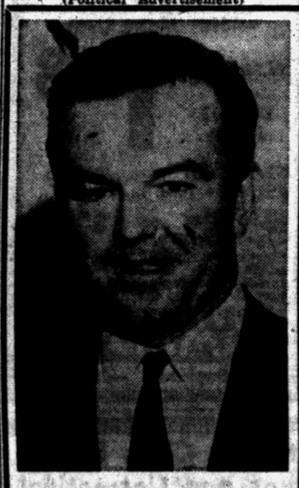

ALGIERS (UPI) — Weekend clashes between French troops and Arab guerrillas took a toll of 88 lives, 10 French and 78 Algerian, French authorities said today. Twelve Arabs were captured.

The French casualties occurred near the village of General Bourard, 150 miles northwest of Algiers, when guerrillas ambushed a convoy of French half-tracks.

Another convoy was ambushed by guerrillas attacking across the border from Tunisia, French authorities said. They made no mention of casualties on the border attack.

The French announcement gave no details of the clashes in which the 78 Arabs were killed.

July Record Month

14,452 Over Big Mac Saturday New High

ST. IGNACE (AP)—The vacation season is helping the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge set records almost as fast as the Bridge Authority can total the figures.

A one-day record for traffic across the five-mile-long span was set in the 24-hour period that ended at midnight Saturday—14,452 vehicles. The old mark was 13,579 vehicles on July 5.

July was a record month. The Bridge Authority said 307,838 vehicles made the crossing, exceeding the previous high of 212,912 vehicles in August 1957 when ferries carried traffic across the Straits. The nine-month-old bridge's best month before July was 150,806 in June, less than half the July count.

The 100-million-dollar bridge linking Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas was opened to traffic Nov. 1. Through July 31 it carried 803,801 vehicles. In a similar nine-month period of the previous year the ferries carried 521,536 vehicles.

July toll revenues totaled $1,082,885, also a high one-month mark for the bridge.

The bridge so far has brought in $3,013,225 in toll revenues. The tolls from the ferries in a corresponding period of the previous year were $2,100,040.

Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Bridge Authority, predicted the bridge will gross $4,242,000 by the end of its 10th month of operation on Labor Day.

He said this would be enough to pay a full year's interest on the bond issue that financed construction of the bridge.

Money collected in September and October—he predicted a total of about one million dollars—will be applied to operating and maintenance costs above the $417,000 provided by the State Highway Department.

'Cowboy' Surprises Outlaw

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A gun-toting cowboy surprised an outlaw trying to crack a safe at Fon King's laundry yesterday.

Now this cowboy was a cool hombre. He wasn't looking for trouble. He didn't even draw his gun. And when the safecracker offered him 10 cents to "keep quiet" he played along.

★ ★ ★

But the cowboy no sooner got out of sight than he went to the law—in this case his mother. The mother called police, who arrived after the badman and his two accomplices, unable to open the safe, had fled.

As for the careful cowboy, he walked off into the twilight without even giving his name. But the police weren't mad at him. They figure he did pretty good for a 4-year-old.

Super Jets Deployed to Formosa by U.S.

TAPEI, Formosa (AP) — The American command in Formosa today announced that F100D Super Sabres have been deployed here but denied they were sent in answer to rising clamor for late-model planes for Chiang Kai-shek's air force.

★ ★ ★

An announcement said American pilots flew the planes to this island from the Philippines for routine training, just as they have in the past. Super Sabres also are stationed in Japan and Okinawa, the announcement said.

★ ★ ★

A U. S. spokesman said that the arrival of the Super Sabres is not linked with a clash over the Formosa Strait July 29 in which Communist jets, said to have been modern MIGs, shot down two Nationalist Thunderjets.

WASHINGTON — The industry-sponsored Tree Farm program of growing timber as a crop on tax-paying lands gained by 3,399,700 acres in 1957, reaching a total of 44,947,917 acres in 45 states. At the start of 1958 there were 11,163 Tree Farmers certified to participate in the program.

Put Your Man's Name on Fall Ballot; Vote Now

Tomorrow is election day for Pontiac and Oakland County.

This is the summer primary election to select candidates for both Republican and Democratic parties. The nominees selected will have a place on the November ballot.

Voting is a privilege granted only in a democracy. We should all accept our duty as citizens by going to the polls.

Frequently primary elections are passed off as not being important. This is untrue. Far too many people will shrug their shoulders and say, "Wait 'til November." This may be too late.

★ ★ ★

Now is the time to study the list of nominees for each job and make your selection. Without a representative vote in the primary election it is entirely possible for an organized minority group to elect a candidate of its choice.

★ ★ ★

Elections are not held for any one minority group. The basic reasoning behind any election is to get a true representative picture of the majority's choice. Unfortunately this cannot happen unless we as citizens exercise our given right to VOTE.

Tuesday is your opportunity. Use it.

Some Already Finding Fault With Four-Centers

★ ★ ★

A few have written letters saying that they will refuse to buy and use them. Actually, there's nothing to prevent them from licking a couple of those little, old two centers. Of course when they do that, they're placing that same smear on the noble features of Thomas Jefferson. And when they use the current threes, they smear the Statue of Liberty and the words "In God We Trust."

★ ★ ★

When this protesting group employs other denominations, the post office department has to put a smear smack dab on the historic and classic features of such distinguished patriots as WILLIAM HARRISON, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, FRANKLIN PIERCE, U. S. GRANT, JAMES GARFIELD, JAMES POLK, JOHN TYLER, ZACHARY TAYLOR, and a long list of former Presidents.

Doesn't this all tend to become a bit chauvinistic?

See Michigan No Threat to Ohio Bid for Industry

Reports circulating out of Ohio indicate that they are not worried about competition from Michigan in the battle between the states to attract new industry.

★ ★ ★

This came to light when a team of touring Michigan businessmen representing the Citizens Alliance to Build Michigan called on the Ohio Governor.

Gov. C. William O'Neill said, "In Ohio both political parties work together, instead of against each other, to provide a favorable business climate."

GOV. O'NEILL pointed out that Ohio's progressive highway program and a tax base that has been unchanged in 20 years help keep industry.

★ ★ ★

Head of Michigan's touring contingent, LAURENCE LOVE, fabricating company president from Battle Creek, said his group was "most impressed by O'NEILL's long term planning."

★ ★ ★

It would seem that Ohio's attitude of working together for a common cause has considerable merit over Michigan's continual fight in opposite directions.

ONE THING some of us are looking forward to enjoying in the near future is not reading a book being written about SHERMAN ADAMS by his wife.

And that's TOMORROW Night.

It was necessary to advance this date from Friday evening, in order to conform to changes in the fair program. So, you boys and girls of 18 or under who wish to compete for this prize must be on hand at the judges' stand at that hour.

There's no entrance fee, and you may win the $50. I never knew a freckled faced youngster who wasn't a live wire and winner. One of them will be a winner tomorrow night—and all the other contestants also will have a lot of fun.

David Lawrence Reports on 'ACA':

Formed to Preserve Opportunity

WASHINGTON — Conservatives of both the Republican and Democratic parties, as well as the many independents in the country who believe in the basic doctrines of conservatism, now will have an opportunity to combine their efforts for the cause in which they be- made possible lieve. This will be through the "Americans for Constitutional action," the foundation of which organization has just been announced by Admiral Ben Moreell of Pittsburgh, retired, and a number of other prominent Americans in the field of business.

LAWRENCE

Admiral Moreell, who won fame during World War II for his leadership of the "Seabees" — the Navy's big construction corps — will have associated with him as trustees both Democrats and Republicans.

The main purpose of the "ACA" program is "to support, regardless of partisan considerations" the causes and candidates conforming to objectives "which are essential to the preservation of the opportunity state created and preserved by our republic." Here are the six main points of the platform of the "ACA":

"1. Preservation of our government as a republic through the support and utilization of the guide lines established by our Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and its Bill of Rights;

"2. Unqualified support and protection of free enterprise and private ownership, with its reward of merit system, as it functions within the framework of sound and workable two-party government;

"3. Adherence to government and economic concepts which will protect the principles of sound money, effective economy, taxation for revenue only, and to operate our government within the framework of a balanced budget;

"4. Articulate and effective support of the Constitutional provision guaranteeing that all powers not expressly granted to the Federal Government are reserved to the states and to the people;

"5. Intelligent and energetic use of the secret ballot and the demonstrated desirability of an effective two-party political system in implementing the capacity of free men and women to control their own destinies;

★ ★ ★

"6. Active participation in the primary and political convention decisions within the political party of our own choice, so as to select appropriate nominees, and the determination to support — regardless of party affiliation — candidates for office who most nearly embrace and support the provisions of this policy statement."

Such an organization has long been overdue in American politics.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Those Who Skimp on Milk Are Heading for Trouble

Many of the manifestations of aging and disease in older persons, that today are accepted as inevitable results of senescence, may well be the result of lifelong faulty diet. Sherman repeatedly has emphasized that the ordinary American diet is more deficient in calcium than in any other element. As a result adults experience a long-continued loss of calcium through the years. This does not become superficially manifest because the great calcium stores in the bones constantly make up for the calcium losses in the blood and tissues.

DR. BRADY

But as a result of this constant depletion, the bones become poor in calcium and more fragile. Osteoporosis of the aged may be the result of a dietary fault and not an inevitable accompaniment of aging.

An intake of almost 1 gm. of calcium a day is needed to maintain the calcium balance of the body. Most foods are poor in calcium. The best sources of this mineral are milk, which contains about 1 gm. to the quart, cheese and green leafy vegetables.

BY COLUMBIA PROFESSOR

I have quoted the foregoing paragraphs verbatim from a medical textbook, "The Patient Past Fifty," by Ernst P. Boas, M.D., professor of medicine, Columbia University.

This is one of the most illuminating books in my medical library, but I gather from current medical literature that my opinion of the book is singular—in scanning the medical journals I have never come across a reference to it. Maybe this apparent rejection of the book is because I praise it.

Nothing in the book indicates that Boas knew when he wrote it that vitamin D is essential for the absorption and utilization of calcium.

Milk—whole milk, skim milk, buttermilk or naturally or artificially soured, clabbered or "cultured" milk—is the best source of calcium in the everyday diet. However, it is possible, though difficult, for a growing child, youth, young or mature adult to get enough calcium from cheese, egg yolk, nuts, peanuts, beans, peas and green leafy vegetables if he or she takes little or no milk provided he or she, in one way another, gets an adequate daily ration of sunshine vitamin D.

Any child, youth or adult whose daily intake of calcium and D is inadequate is a moddle-coddle. The daily intake of Ca and D is generally inadequate if one doesn't consume daily at least 1½ pints of milk, skim milk or sour milk. That is three glasses of milk a day, the way to health and vite. Replace milk with tea, coffee, cocoa, pop, wine or beer if you'd rather cultivate mollycoddlism.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Suggests Patient Care Plan to Cut Hospital Expenses

While I am no longer a resident or taxpayer in Pontiac, I have followed with a great deal of interest the trials and tribulations of those in charge of the operation of Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

So, I am wondering if the members of the Hospital Board would care to consider a new system of "progressive patient care?" Under this plan, the patient in serious condition gets the constant surveillance of highly trained nurses and other medical personnel. He has at his bedside all the emergency equipment he might need and should a complication arise, it can be dealt with in a matter of minutes.

★ ★ ★

When he begins to improve, however, and can get along with less careful watching, he is moved to another zone—the intermediate area. There he receives normal hospital service, but not the painstaking kind he got when he was in greatest danger. Many of his needs can be met by nurse's aides or practical nurses, supervised, of course, by registered nurses.

★ ★ ★

With even more improvement in his condition, the patient in the later stages of convalescence might be moved a third time into a self-help unit of the hospital where quarters are rather like motel rooms and where he is expected to wait on himself and go to meals in the hospital cafeteria. There he remains until discharged—barring complications.

★ ★ ★

This plan has been amazingly successful for more than a year in the Manchester (Conn.) Memorial Hospital, and it has the advantage of better care, cheaper rooms, lower overhead and easier transition from hospital to home.

Henry A. Houston

Birmingham

Wants Answer To Problem

I, for one, think the City Commission should cut some of that red tape they are talking about and let Paul Kern, Jr., have a look at our hospital problem. It's odd that they won't allow him to look at what should be a matter of public records. What to they have to hide?

How about the thousands of cups of free coffee served to anyone who comes for it? After we spent much money to build an addition, the cost went even higher. With millions spent on a new building and equipment one would think things would be more efficient and cheaper. What in the world is going on?

More Help Is Needed

Having read the letter from the person who gives thanks to the many services providing for the needy, it prompts my writing. It is fine that these needy families receive so much; but I wish there were an agency for the working middle class.

We can't afford to send our children to camp, have dental care, or get polio shots. If our money runs low our Christmas fund shrinks, therefore a small Christmas.

No extras can be afforded, though Dad has a steady job, because we are buying a house.

World's Space Experts Trade Satellite Notes

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Space and rocket experts, mainly of the United States and the Soviet Union, today began comparing notes on the results of their earth satellites and rockets which have been probing the upper air.

For the next four days they will be presenting a series of formal reports. They also will be meeting face to face in an unusual chance to discuss problems and especially to learn more specific details of each others' work than has been exchanged so far through slower, more formal channels.

★ ★ ★

The sessions are one of 14 divisions of work by scientists attending the full-dress meeting of the Committee for the International Geophysical Year, which is now 13 months old.

The IGY is an 18-month cooperative study by scientists of more than 60 nations on all physical aspects of the earth and sun and their effects on human life. Other fields include studies of the weather, oceans, glaciers and earthquakes.

★ ★ ★

But space has taken the center of the stage, for the launching of the Soviet Sputniks and the U. S. satellites has been one of the most dramatic events for the public.

One report today by Dr. Fred Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory at Cambridge, Mass., said careful studies of the flights by Soviet and U. S. satellites showed there is much more air at higher altitudes than had been thought.

Air drag effects shoewd there is five times more air 140 miles above the earth and 20 times more at 250 miles.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Subsidize Married Children

Dorman is on the spot. His wife wants him to indulge their married daughter with enough money to live on an exaggerated scale. But Dorman knows part of the fun of newlyweds is in learning to skimp and budget. Subsidized husbands grow snarlish. But there is a safe way to help newlyweds without spoiling the zest of budgeting.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I'm in a dilemma," he began, "for my only daughter married a young chemist recently.

★ ★ ★

"The boy is a fine chap and I am happy she married so wisely.

DR. CRANE

But he doesn't make enough money to support her in the style to which she has been accustomed.

"My wife thinks we should help them financially, at least for the first few years. But I worked my way up from scratch and know that it is dangerous to cultivate too high a standard of living in a young couple.

"So how can wealthy parents help their married children without spoiling all the fun of sacrificing and learning to live on a budget?"

FUN TO SKIMP

Dorman is a smart father. For part of the fun in early marriage lies in learning to skimp and save.

It kills much of the zest to coast along on papa's financial coat tails.

The usual red blooded husband resents doing so. Those who don't are sissy males or the gigolo type.

So the in-laws should not try to ruin the independence and self-reliance of young couples. But they can still help them financially if they will simply make their gifts apply to certain capital investments.

For example, Dorman's daughter lives in a modest suburban area where new homes range in price from $15,000 to $25,000.

If Dorman wishes to make a belated wedding gift of $5,000 as a down payment on a new home, this generous present will not disturb the living scale of the couple.

★ ★ ★

For they will still continue the monthly payments in lieu of their present rent, and not alter their budget.

But in-laws should not add a cash subsidy to the weekly pay check of such a couple.

For example, Dorman's daughter and her husband now are living on an income of about $100 per week.

If Dorman were to add $50 cash to that weekly income, he would upset the apple cart, for he would immediately cultivate a 50 per cent rise in their standard of living.

Then he'd have to continue his weekly checks and thus make the young husband a remittance man, as many wealthy parents have unfortunately done.

★ ★ ★

Such a husband ultimately begins to grow snarlish. Or he decides his wife is not entitled to all of his pay check for she can live off her old man's dough.

Nothing will cause snarlishness among young married people any faster than to rob the husband of his pride.

So make a down payment on their home. And offer a "baby bonus" in the form of a new car when they present you in-laws with your first grandchild.

And if husband and wife both work for the first year or two, then be sure they live solely on the husband's pay check for current expenses.

★ ★ ★

Apply the wife's check to major investments like a down payment on a house or furniture, etc.

Don't live at the level of the combined pay checks or the wife may be forced to work year after year, since it is dangerous to try to cut back to the level of just a single pay check.

See tomorrow's case record about such a tragedy. And send for my booklet "How to Live on a Budget," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Goldfine Hits House Probers

Says Quizzers Prevent Filing Financial Report by Time Required

WASHINGTON (AP)— Bernard Goldfine says a House subcommittee has held on to records he needed and has prevented him from filing a required financial report on time.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) quickly branded the charge untrue. He said most of the documents his investigating subcommittee has are only photographic copies.

"We have no original documents at all that would have prohibited his filing the report," Harris said.

The Securities and Exchange Commission announced Friday a report from Goldfine's East Boston Co., due last Tuesday, had not been filed. It said it was planning new action against Goldfine and the company as a result.

Goldfine, in a weekend statement issued through a public relations representative, said the SEC action "is but a continuation of the 'get Goldfine movement." He contended he was being kept in the role of a political scapegoat.

Goldfine's earlier troubles with the SEC and with the Federal Trade Commission were involved in the Harris subcommittee's investigation of his friendship with Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

Adams testified he had received expensive favors from Goldfine and had made inquiries about SEC and FTC cases in which Goldfine was involved. But both he and Goldfine denied that any special treatment had been asked or received as a result.

Thrill Ride Runs Amok; 1 Dies, 1 Hurt

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A souped-up merry-go-round called the "Comet" hurled two riders into a crowd at the Orange County Fair last night.

One, Francis Kearney, 18, Monticello, N.Y., died about three hours later at the Middletown Sanitarium.

The other, George Van Aken, 30, Middletown, suffered a possible fractured spine. He was reported in critical condition today at the sanitarium.

The Comet has 10 cars suspended from cables which rotate around a pole. State police said the cars were whirling at about 45 miles an hour when a cable attached to the Kearney-Van Aken car snapped.

★ ★ ★

The two riders hit a concrete sidewalk at least 30 feet away and struck four persons, who suffered shock and bruises.

Italians Buy TV Sets Painlessly

Gadget Permits User to Pay for Programs Until Cost Is Complete

MILAN (UPI)—Television was a luxury item in Italy not long ago. Only 16 persons out of thousand owned a set.

But recently an inventor perfected a gadget called "taxivision" which can make a TV set available to almost everyone. "Taxivision" beats the lowest terms of payment by installment plan.

To realize the benefit of this invention it is necessary to know how much it usually costs an Italian citizen to install a set.

The over-all costs are between 100,000 to 200,000 lire ($160 to $320), according to the size and quality of the set. The average set which most Italians buy costs about 110,000 lire ($176), and another 20,000 lire ($32) is added for a license and installation.

Installment plan terms usually call for not less than a 20,000 lire ($32) initial payment and 5,000 lire ($8) monthly payments. Interest is about five per cent of the price.

With "taxivision" a buyer initially pays only the installation fee of 5,000 lire. The gadget is attached to the set, and the viewer puts into its slot a 100 lire (16-cent) coin for 45 minutes of viewing time.

By this system, the user can adjust his viewing to his budget, and at the same time pay for this luxury item and eventually own it. It would belong to the user in about four years if one coin were put into the machine every day.

Progress of payment for the TV set with a "taxivision" attachment is recorded by a calculator at the side which registers every 100 lire coin. Once a month the coins are collected, and when the final payment is registered the "taxivision" is removed from the set for use elsewhere.

"Taxivision" can be fitted to any TV or radio set. Buyers can change their sets for later models even if payments have not been completed.

If "taxivision" users dislike a program, or if they have to go out, they only have to close the set to stop the 100 lire worth of TV viewing from being wasted. A special time indicator shows the number of minutes left for viewing before another coin must be inserted.

Six Pilgrims Drown Near Journey's End

TRIESTE (AP)—At least six Catholic pilgrims were reported today to have drowned off the Yugoslav port of Zara when a crowded boat capsized, plunging 40 persons into the Adriatic.

Word reaching Trieste said five women and a man drowned and two others were missing.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Quarter-Million Hear of Doom

Jehovah's Witnesses End Convention in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The final session of the Jehovah's Witnesses eight-day international assembly drew more than a quarter-million persons to Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds yesterday.

It reportedly was the largest convention gathering in this city's history.

The witnesses packed the two ball parks and thousands stood outside.

* * *

They heard, once again, the central theme of the convention: present-day civilization is nearing an end.

"We know not the day or the hour, but the world's end is near," said Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, and thousands of witnesses applauded. The society is the legal name of the Witness movement.

A total of 4,784 observers assigned to the task counted the crowd and said 253,922 persons were in attendance.

* * *

Knorr said the end of the present world is "nothing over which to be sorry because a new world of new heavens and a new earth is to begin after this old world ends in Armageddon."

Nothing is more evidence, said Knorr, "Than the government of the earth by man and by the many gods of man has failed."

He predicted the United Nations will have no more success in staving off a war than did its predecessor, the "blasphemous, abominable" League of Nations.

Also, once again, he said Protestant and Roman Catholic leaders were selling out to "government by men" when only trust in God will save the world.

Stamp Shortage Brings Blushes at Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Blushingly, the U. S. Post Office Department had an announcement to make today.

* * *

The run on stamps touched off by the new higher rates caused the department's main station here to run right out of 1 and 4-cent stamps last night.

* * *

A spokesman said the situation was expected to be remedied with all deliberate speed.

Miss Liberty Should Apply the Torch:

Give Roly-Poly Russian Bear a Hotfoot!

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — These summer dog-days will long be remembered for the hot and heavy pen-pal correspondence between the Big Four heads of states.

For the sake of whimsy—if not to help solve the complex problems of a probable summit meeting—let's give it a cast of characters.

The villain, natch, is a fat, roly-poly Russian bear who can be churlish or smiling by turns. The supporting cast includes la Belle France—a headstrong maiden—and John Bull. The heroine is our very own Miss Liberty.

The plot goes something like this: Miss Liberty met the bear at a houseparty in Geneva three years ago. Her actual "date" at that time was a suave, urbane Russian who smiled a lot and proved to be quite congenial.

The bear, a hard-drinking type who likes to boast at cocktail parties, was also there, and as soon as he could get back to Russia and swipe his friend's job, he began writing letters to Miss Liberty.

Miss Liberty has never cared particularly for the bear, but since she's a diplomatic sort who likes to please, she began answering his missives. Surely no harm could come from having such a pen-pal, with a safe ocean between them!

LETTERS FUN

For sometime the correspondence was rather fun. The bear kept insinuating that he'd like to be closer friends, and inasmuch as some of Miss Liberty's political pals had begun criticizing her at home, she saw no harm in encouraging the bear just a little.

There was no doubt about it—the bear looked like a young man bound to rise. He had an excellent job, and even though Miss Liberty considered his manners somewhat boorish, the fat fellow seemed bent on self improvement. For instance, he practically gave up drinking. That is, he at least discouraged it among his Russian pals.

The bear's letters became longer and cozier. He was dying to make a date with Miss Liberty, but since she never invited him to visit her, and claimed she was too busy to meet him elsewhere, the bear had to content himself with lucrative business trips to Hungary and Poland.

BEAR BOASTS

He also began entertaining a bunch of big-shots from the Middle and Far East, and gradually his letters became more boastful. Business was booming, he said, and he was quite a sought-after fellow. If Miss Liberty didn't want to play ball, there were plenty of others—like a fascinating Egyptian and a couple of attractive Orientals—who did.

The bear, like so many self-made men, refused to take "no" for an answer. While biding his time to force a meeting with Miss Liberty, he therefore tried blandishment.

"Why don't you let some of your relatives come and look me over?" he wheedled. "They'll see that I'm not such a bad fellow, and while they're visiting me, I'll send some of my folks over to call on you."

Miss Liberty wasn't too keen on the idea, but since her kinfolks included a bunch of farmers, engineers, scientists and performers who were dying to make the trip, she couldn't very well be stuffy about it.

The Russians and Americans started whipping back and forth across the Atlantic, and the fat little fellow proved a charming host. Some of Miss Liberty's returning cousins began exerting pressure for her to see for herself what a friendly and prosperous pen-pal she had.

Miss Liberty demurred. Her intuition told her that no good could come of a date with this crass fellow who hogged the spotlight and always had to have his own way. Somehow she just didn't trust the guy.

RELATIVES PESTER

Her relatives kept pestering, and in a spirit of self-preservation she began making eyes at a British chap named John Bull, whom she'd slapped the year before at Suez, but who seemed anxious to make up.

John Bull gave every appearance of being the dependable type, who would discourage her from having anything to do with his Russian rival. But that's where Miss Liberty was wrong.

John, a big trader who needed to know important people to expand his business, decided it would be a good thing for Miss Liberty to meet the bear — provided he could come along to broaden his own connections.

The next thing Miss Liberty knew, the bear had blandly invited himself to visit her, and John Bull —instead of loading his shotgun— was beaming with anticipation.

Cornered, Miss Liberty began writing frantic notes setting up all sorts of conditions. She wouldn't see the bear unless she had plenty of chaperones in a "security" counsel. Even then, for goodness sakes, what was the use? She not only didn't like the bear — she'd heard he was a killer.

At this point, the bear broadly hinted that if she didn't change her attitude, he would step up his advances to a delightful gal named la Belle France. This charmer, whom Miss Liberty had regarded as one of her best friends, had already said she'd be thrilled to meet him in Geneva. The bear, incidentally, knew a darned nice Indian whom he wanted to bring along.

To hell with coming to America (his letters had begun to take on a more vulgar tone) if Miss Liberty had to surround herself with chaperones. Now quit stalling and say when, he threatened coarsely, or take the consequences.

What was Miss Liberty to do? Her congressional beaux, such as she had left, seemed intent only on getting out of town.

The bear was trying to turn all her friends against her, la Belle France seemed scornful of her fears, and even John Bull appeared more interested in meeting the bear than protecting her morals.

★ ★ ★

Miss Liberty, a virtuous girl, is caught in a dilemma. She needs our loyalty and help as never before. What would you suggest?

U.S. Must Salvage Friends in Mideast

denies Nasserism exists. Whatever its name, the force came into being because of him — perhaps even in spite of him. He may be the captive of its momentum.

Events of the past three months plummeted Western prestige in the Arab East. In many Arab eyes the twin intervention — in Jordan by the British and in Lebanon by the Americans — set back the clock and revived the dreaded bogeys of imperialism and colonialism.

Many Arabs still want desperately to remain the West's friends, though they have fallen silent before the swelling tide of emotional and often grotesquely distorted racial pride. Before this summer's events there had been developing a cautious attitude of reasonableness — reasonableness, at any rate, by Arab standards, which are far different from the West's.

Much of that climate is gone now. The United States, as leader of the West, can claim as friends in the Arab East only those whose survival depends upon such friendship: Hussein, a lonely young monarch heavily guarded in Amman against his own people; Camille Chamoun, the tough, stubborn politician who has been occupying Lebanon's presidential palace; 750,000 frightened Christians in Lebanon; less than 500,000 scared Bedouins in Jordan.

Britain's Aneurin Bevan has called Hussein a kept king in a kept country. The description was cruel but accurate. And to some in Lebanon, Chamoun was an ardent nationalist who attached himself to the United States only because he feared the loss of his own power.

Many Arabs would be America's friends if they could be — or if they dared. But the U.S. history of association with unpopular regimes and American insistence upon labels such as pro-Western or pro-Communist—meaningless in the Arab East — make it difficult. Those who want to be America's friends are not standing up to be counted.

How did American fortunes sink so low?

Palestine always has been basic to the Middle East problem. Up to February 1955, there was reason to hope the Arabs might turn inward to their own vast economic woes. Then began a nightmare for Western policy.

Nagged by hit-and-run commando attacks, Israel mounted an attack on the Egyptian-occupied Gaza Strip. That humiliated Nasser and endangered his political position. He sought arms. He could not meet U.S. terms. The Communist bloc was eager to help.

Even with these arms Nasser was in no position to upset Middle East peace. He still might have concentrated on attempts to cure over-ambitious, Nasser's plan for a high Aswan Dam to increase Egypt's arable land might have kept him occupied at home.

But Washington pulled the rug from under Nasser, withdrawing an offer of help on the dam and handing him a gratuitous insult: Egypt wasn't up to such a program. The result was nationalization of the Suez Canal and the 1956 crisis.

Nasser now is captive of all these events. Making himself into the image of liberator and encouraged by Moscow, he has burned more and more of his bridges westward. His Nasserism became something quite apart from Arab nationalist yearnings.

For years, the United States made no conspicuous effort to recognize there could be anything but evil in Arab nationalism.

There's still a chance to remedy that. Every Arab is a nationalist, whether he is friend or foe of the West. His nationalism is not a force that will be stopped by diplomacy.

★ ★ ★

The West, depending heavily on Arab oil, must choose: It can try to oppose nationalism and drive the Arabs into desperate measures such as slain Nuri Said meant when he talked of "a compulsion to flirt with suicide." This can mean unending Arab turmoil and even eventual Soviet sway.

Or the United States can encourage a genuine nationalism and try to lead it into constructive channels. To those who have had long Middle East experience, this course offers a chance to avert disaster.

Tomorrow: The Nasser myth—and reality

Still Unable to Form Government in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotina Cabinet crisis entered its third week today with Premier-designate Souvanna Phouma still unable to form a government.

★ ★ ★

Phouma's proposal to include six new faces in the government along with eight former ministers has met with stiff opposition, a government source said.

★ ★ ★

The so-called "younger group" of new men — who have never served in the government before — are demanding eight Cabinet posts to give them a majority and control of Cabinet decisions. They claimed the people are disgruntled with the Old Guard that has been running the country since the French pulled out.

Bloodhound Finds Boy, 8, Suffocated in Icebox

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Bloodhounds led police early today to the body of Dennis Dalrymple, 8-year-old twin, missing since Saturday. He was found suffocated in a refrigerator behind a home about an eighth of a mile from his own home.

Police said the death was clearly accidental. They said the youngster apparently crawled into the box out of curiosity and the door slammed shut behind him.

B&O Freight Train Derailed by Washout

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP)— A Baltimore and Ohio freight train was derailed yesterday by a washout that resulted from flash floods.

Trainmaster Harold F. Lydick said the main-line tracks probably would not be cleared until tomorrow morning. Traffic was rerouted through Wheeling.

Some of the 30 derailed cars were set afire when a broken electric line ignited a car of inflamable naphtha. A carload of propane gas burned but did not explode.

Dodge Executive's Wife Sold Him on Welk

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Bertram M. Carter is officially "director of car sales activities for Dodge." Carter's unofficial title is more impressive. To intimate friends and financiers, he is known as "The man who, with the cooperation and intuition of his wife Ann, discovered Lawrence Welk."

Modestly, Carter denies privilege to the title. But what is his word against that of honest Larry Welk himself, who stood up in a Philadelphia hotel suite recently and said, "This man is responsible for the whole wonderful thing."

Well, today, Carter himself was in town and agreed to describe, over an iced tea, how it all happened. The time: May, 1953; the place, Los Angeles.

"Welk never really had a lasting sponsor, you know, and it was his lifelong ambition to attract one," Bert Carter said. "He even went into the chewing gum business once, producing Lawrence Welk's Hawaiian fruit gum, so he could sponsor himself. But it didn't last."

The distinguished-looking Dodge man shook his head in deep sympathy. "A shame," he said. Then, brightening:

"Well, one day we happened to see him on a sustaining show on station KTLA — I was regional sales manager in L. A. at the time — and my wife, who's been mixed up in show business, made a wild statement.

"'That man,' she said, 'is box-office. Pure box-office.'

"I say, 'Why?' People in show business can spot box-office in the dark, but I still asked, why?

"'I don't know,' said Ann, 'why. He's sincere or something. I think he's dependable. I think you should sponsor him.'"

Therewith Carter, following the pattern of men who do idiotic things for love, rounded up his 31 Los Angeles dealers and discussed it. They had contemplated a show featuring David Rose and his symphonic strings. Ann's husband ventured that the Dodge car was more sincere than symphonic. Everyone agreed.

Proving his sincerity, Welk went to work for $700 a week, (he now makes $100,000) on a 13-week contract. "It is easy to see that he was eager for the opportunity," Carter recalls affectionately. "He had to pay his band of 18 or 20 men out of that. And on the side, he sold cars."

Welk, the son of a hard-working immigrant, didn't stop working. In the afternoons, he would visit dealers in the Los Angeles area and take potential customers for test rides. "He'd bring his band, and they'd play a few numbers for dancing outside the showrooms. Then, if he saw an interested customer, he'd take off his accordion and take 'em by the hand, and be off."

At the end of the 13 weeks, questionnaires of Dodge buyers revealed that 80 per cent made their purchases because of Lawrence Welk.

★ ★ ★

"We then sold Detroit on the idea of sponsoring him nationally, and here he is."

The opinion was ventured that one of Welk's charms for the public is his apparent shy helplessness. Was it sympathy that made the public love him?

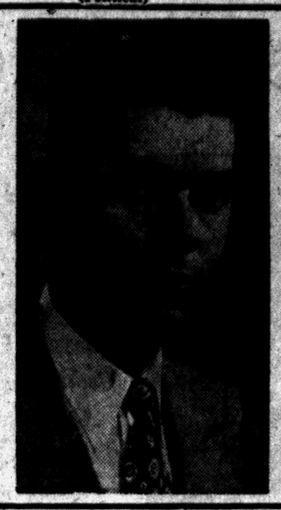

"Well," said Carter, "we occasionally get letters, as all companies do, complaining about this or that about the car they've bought. But almost inevitably they wind up saying, 'We don't like this about the car — but don't fire Lawrence Welk.' They're protective toward him, that's for sure."

★ ★ ★

The recession makes it hard to know how much Welk is doing for sales. "But we have surveys that even survey the surveys, and I can tell you this," said Carter, a little proudly. "We'd as soon drop an atom bomb as the Welk show."

Bagwell Blasts Williams for Switching Stories

IONIA (AP) — Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor, said Gov. Williams "talks out of both sides of his mouth" in a speech prepared for the opening of the Ionia Free Fair here today.

Bagwell quoted Williams' remarks during an investigation of highway land purchases in Grand Rapids when Charles M. Ziegler was Republican highway commissioner.

He quoted Williams as saying to Ziegler:

"If it were not for the fact that you are voluntarily leaving office, your conduct in this matter — your ignorance of facts, your failure to make prudent use of public funds, your delegation of one-man authority to a deputy who has shown himself to be irresponsible in the disposition of the taxpayers' money — would warrant me considering your removal from office."

"In that investigation," said Bagwell, "it was established that an offer was being considered but no money changed hands. Not one cent in taxes was lost.

★ ★ ★

"Now here is another situation," said Bagwell. "A Democrat, John C. Mackie, is highway commissioner. This Democrat floated a 100 million dollar bond issue. Because he failed to sign the bonds himself and delegated part of this responsibility to a 'non-elected deputy' a great deal of money was lost by the taxpayers."

Bagwell said the Highway Department had admitted the loss of $54,000 but said interest would bring the sum closer to $100,000.

In 1957, said Bagwell, the Governor declared the situation "would warrant considering removal from office."

In 1958, Bagwell said, Williams will only remark "no comment."

Keep the Doctor You Have

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The son of friends of ours recently finished his internship at a hospital and has opened his own office. We received an announcement of this in the mail. My husband thinks that we should now call him when we have need of a doctor. He feels it is our duty as friends of the family to patronize him and that he and his family would be justified in feeling hurt if we do not do so. He claims that is the purpose of the announcement.

Answer: You are right; your own doctor knows your symptoms and the best way to cure your ills and no one should expect you to change to a new one who would know nothing of your medical history. You would send to the young doctor anyone you know of who has no doctor of their own in your town.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary that a hostess give a corsage to her guest of honor?"

Answer: It is not necessary, but on an especial occasion when many guests are invited to meet a professional, a corsage is rarely, if ever, omitted.

Feather Pillows Can Be Washed

Modern pillows can be machine washed and dried, following the manufacturer's directions, without removing the feathers.

Another method for washing pillows by hand or by machine is to transfer the feathers to a roomy cloth bag and to suds them separately from the ticking.

Men's Skins Show the Value of Soap

How's this for the honest-to-goodness truth: "No wonder all you men have such nice skins — all you use is soap."

That's what a woman in Minneapolis told a prominent author. And she wasn't kidding, either.

Mrs. Jones supplied patterns for the mau maus (Hawaiian dresses), which the women fashioned for the affair. The group's menu included Hawaiian punch, volcano fruit salad (served aflame), and a raft loaf for the main course. Dessert consisted of a variety of fresh fruit.

Guests attending included Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wittkopf, Mr. and Mrs. H. James Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skaggs, Mr. and Mrs. Montney, Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lasho and Mr. and Mrs. William Bergemann.

Mrs. Richard Lasho (left) and Mrs. Thomas Skaggs took a few minutes out from the Hawaiian festivities Sunday to check the club's guest list. Mrs. Lasho was expense chairman for the event. Mrs. Skaggs is the group's treasurer.

'Army Discipline' Last Resort?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: If there is any freedom of the press you'll print my letter and permit me to defend myself. I am the retired Army officer who ran over the little boy's wagon and tricycle. First, let me say that I have arthritis so bad I can hardly drive my car. Every night for the past eight months I've had to stop my car in the driveway, open the door, get out, move the toys, get back into the car, close the door and proceed to the garage. I've spoken nicely to the boy, given him treats, appealed to his parents but it accomplished nothing.

ABBY

"I finally warned his parents that if the toys were in my driveway again I would run over them. His father said, 'I wish you would, it might teach him a good lesson.' So I ran over them. Can anyone suggest a better method of teaching him a lesson?"

RETIRED ARMY MAN

DEAR RETIRED: You could have stopped your car—hunted up the lad and made HIM move his toys. Or left your car and asked the boy's father to put it in the garage. Destroying property deliberately is too drastic.

"DEAR ABBY: We are invited to a silver wedding party to be held in an exclusive hotel. With the invitation came the request for $20 per couple, or $10 single. Our hostess is very friendly with the silver wedding couple, but we hardly know these people. The couple celebrating their wedding is not hard up and he is a well known professional man. My hostess said they were collecting the money to send them on a second honeymoon trip. Should we be a part of this?"

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: If you hardly know the couple for whom the party is being given, decline the invitation.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Here is a question from a lonely, unattached, mature woman. Would it be proper for a woman in my position to invite a single unattached gentleman to my home for a meal? I have known him casually for a long time. Does this cheapen a woman in a man's eyes? How do men feel about this? Please reply."

UNCERTAIN

DEAR UNCERTAIN: I can think of nothing a lonely unattached man would appreciate more than a dinner invitation from a woman in like circumstances. Ask him.

"DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a married man. He is nothing to look at and I am not beautiful. We are just two plain people in love. His wife is very mean to him and has had him sleeping on the couch for two years because she doesn't want him near her. That's why he turned to me for the love and understanding he needed.

"He has three children who hate him because his wife poisoned their minds against him. He says everyone at his plant hates him because he is quiet and minds his own business. His wife refuses to give him a divorce and I can't turn against him because he says I am the only one in the world who loves him. What should I do?"

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: From what you tell me I'm afraid your boy friend has been on the wrong couch for two years. He should see a psychiatrist. This romance will net you nothing but a broken heart. Do yourself a big favor and send him on his way.

2 Groups Meet on Landscaping

Leaders of Societies Discuss 20th Century Design, Usage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world's two leading groups of landscape architects met here recently for a joint discussion of their work — past, present and future.

The two groups are the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA) and the International Federation of Landscape Architects (IFLA).

The main theme of the congress was 20th century design and usage. Discussion range from shopping centers and highways to the "wide open spaces."

★ ★ ★

There were several seminars for leading landscape architect members of the two organizations during the six-day period.

One was on America's new approach to its wilderness areas. It was conducted by William G. Carnes, staff chief of the National Park Service's "Mission 66."

"Mission 66" is a 10-year program conducted by the government aimed at preserving "the nation's heritage in wild lands, scenery and historic treasures." It is to last through 1966.

Seminars were conducted on urban housing and renewal; shopping centers and school site planning; modern highway and land use relationships; parks, recreation areas and open spaces, and professional education and research.

BAD CORNERS — Two of Oakland County's intersections have been cited by the State Highway Department as among the 10 worst intersections in the state, as far as accidents are concerned. Above is the U. S. 10-Williams Lake-Walton Boulevard corner, which had 24 casualties in 41 accidents. Below is U. S. 24 at 12 Mile Road, which had 22 casualties in 20 accidents.

Walled Lake Educator Feted at MSU Banquet

By ELEANOR DUCKWITZ
Walled Lake Correspondent

WALLED LAKE — Waldo Proctor, vocational agricultural teacher in the Walled Lake Schools for the past 30 years last week was presented with a 30-year service key and an engraved watch at the 39th banquet of teachers of vocational agriculture held at Kellog Center on the campus of Michigan State University in East Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Both the key, given by the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, and the watch, given by the Sears Roebuck Foundation were tributes to Proctor's many years of service to the boys and citizens of his community and the state.

Of the 27 young men who graduated from what is now Michigan State University and began vocational agriculture teaching when Proctor did, only two taught as long as 30 years, and Proctor was the only one to do all his teaching in one district.

During this period, 1,300 boys and men have had training in regular classes, part-time and adult education sessions at Walled Lake High School. It was one of the early schools to affiliate with the Future Farmers of America, being the 23rd school to be chartered in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

During the time Proctor sponsored the chapter, seven boys received the highest honors the Michigan Association of Future Farmers could confer — the State Farmer degree. They were George Campbell, Harry Colestock, Charles Jones, Jack Shaw, George Spencer, Sam Smith and Howard Croft. Jones and Spencer also received the highest national honor — the American Farmer degree.

MANY CHANGES SEEN

Many changes in area farming have been witnessed by Proctor. When he began teaching, potatoes were the chief crop of his students. Then followed a shift to poultry, dairy and general fee crops.

An even greater change has been noted in the size of the farm. From family farms of 40 to 80 acres, operations have extended to units of 300 to 500 acres due to improvement in equipment and the ability of each farmer to do more work by himself.

Last year the agriculture course was dropped at Walled Lake Senior High, but Proctor has remained on the faculty as a biology teacher. He also will teach agriculture in adult education classes if demands warrant it.

★ ★ ★

For the past several years, he has taught an adult section in landscaping.

In addition to his teaching duties, Proctor is mayor pro tem of Walled Lake, past president of the Walled Lake Rotary Club, past master of the Walled Lake Masonic Lodge and a member of the First Baptist Church.

He has held many offices in the Michigan Association of Teachers of Vocational Agriculture, including the presidency. Since 1939 he has been chairman of the E.E. Gallup Memorial Fund and annually makes the plaque which is presented to retiring presidents.

★ ★ ★

Thoughtful Thief Warns Farmer Near Rochester

ROMEO — A thoughtful thief left a "courtesy" note for an Avon Township farmer after draining all the gas and oil out of his tractor.

The note read: "Sir, you have no oil in your tractor. Thought I would tell you so you wouldn't burn a good tractor up. Thank you."

The tractor is owned by Dennis Dellaporte, 253 Thalia St., Rochester, who has a farm at Inwood and Dequindre roads.

The theft was reported Saturday to Romeo State Police.

The engagement of Laura Brown to David L. Hensel has been announced by her father, John B. Brown of Ville Platte, La. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Hensel of 571 Lakeside Dr., Milford. The couple will be married Aug. 16 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Ville Platte.

Starr E. Booth Claims Beverly Pittsley as Bride

ORCHARD LAKE—In a double-ring marriage rite Saturday evening at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Starr E. Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Starr Booth of 3230 Grindley St., Orchard Lake, claimed Beverly E. Pittsley as his bride.

★ ★ ★

She wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a scooped neckline and chapel train. Her veil was attached to a crown of iridescent sequins and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses centered by red roses.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Joyce, and attendants were Kate Pressey of Allen Park, Mrs. Loretta Ross of Dearborn and Maria Cody of Melvindale.

John Booth of Walled Lake was the best man, while Don Hakola and Jim and Dan Booth were the ushers.

MRS. STARR E. BOOTH

Following their honeymoon at Niagara Falls and New England, the newlyweds will make their home at 1853 Oakley Park Rd., Commerce Township.

Rome's Legions Halted

ROME — Julius Caesar once halted his legions to let them watch and be inspired by the courage of a pair of fighting cocks locked in a battle to the finish.

To Drop 3 Teachers in Lake Orion District

ORION TOWNSHIP—In an economy move, the Lake Orion Community School district has decided to get along with 10 less teachers than anticipated, and three less than last year.

Trimmed from the proposed faculty were vocal and instrumental music teachers, and shop and home economics instructors on both elementary and junior high school levels.

By so doing the Board believed it will have pared $30,000 to $40,000 from its 1958-59 budget.

This will leave the staff with only three less teachers than the district started with last year as the cuts were made from the proposed hiring list, it was pointed out.

Although the first state aid payment will not be received on Aug. 15 as scheduled, the Board said it will be able to make its first salary payment on Sept. 15 by postponing payment of outstanding bills.

Ohio Turnpike Aids Its Canine Travelers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — A small section of the Ohio Turnpike has gone to the dogs.

The Ohio Turnpike Commissioon has set up dog exercise areas at each of the 16 plazas. The runs are about 150 feet long, 15 feet wide, covered with four inches of fine gravel and enclosed with four-foot-high snow fences. Assistant maintenance engineer Wesley Hottenstein said:

"Dogs sometimes get messy, and we thought that giving them an enclosure of their own would make things better for everyone, including the dogs."

Anna Fear Weds at Orchard Lake

UNION LAKE — Orchard Lake Community Presbyterian Church was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Anna Gail Fear to Air Force Lt. Richard E. Bachmann.

The double-ring rite was performed by the Rev. William Bostick, who 25 years ago married the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dalbert W. Fear of Burleigh road, Union Lake.

MRS. RICHARD E. BACHMANN

Her tiered veil was attached to a bandeau of jewelled Alencon lace, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Michal Bojeun of Grand Rapids was matron of honor and the attendants were Ealine Burgess of Union Lake and Helen Percy of Flint.

Lt. Walter J. Cantley Jr. of Jenkintown, Pa., was the best man. Ushers were Ralph Fear, brother of the bride, and Fred and William Bachmann, the bridegroom's brothers.

'58 American Cars Use Plenty of Lights

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The better-lighted 1958 American luxury automobiles use as many as 53 separate light sources—more than the average home uses for general illumination.

William H. Robinson, marketing manager for General Electric's miniature lamp department here, said the average passenger today has 24 lights, two more than the average American home.

The average 1958 auto has five instrument panel lights, two interior lights, four headlamps, four combination direction signal-stop-park-tail lights, one license plate light, two backup lights, and lights for the glove compartment, radio panel, trunk, parking brake, automatic transmission indicator and heater switch.

Wilderness Playground of 58,000 Acres

Porcupine Mountain Area Among State's Most Beautiful

By JOE HAAS

ONTONAGON — Here, near the extreme western end of the Upper Peninsula, are the Porcupine Mountains, the highest point in our state, 2,023 feet, a region whose natural beauty baffles one's imagination.

Here is being developed America's largest state park, comprising 58,000 acres. A paved two-lane highway already is completed to a turning point near the summit of one of its highest peaks. This road winds through many miles of unspoiled wilderness.

★ ★ ★

From this turning point a steep up hills walk of only 20 rods takes you to an observation point that many world travelers consider to be the most scenic spot on earth.

It is the top of the big rock, from which you look down upon the Lake of the Clouds, a deep blue gem nearly two miles long and a half mile wide.

It is surrounded on all sides by dense forests of which you are far above their tops. The magnificent view is entrancing in the extreme.

★ ★ ★

There I met people from both Pontiac and Clarkston who are so pleased and engrossed with the landscape that they have canceled other parts of their vacation so they are spending a whole week in communion with this masterpiece of nature. It gets under your skin as nothing else ever did.

The area around it is so rugged and rough that many days can be spent in negotiating the trails and wooded by-paths that lead down to the lake which is called by its lovers "The Jewel of the Universe."

The development of skiing in the Porcupines also is well under way. Several slides already are in operation during the winter months, when the snow reaches a depth of 12 feet. One slide is 4,000 feet long.

A visit to the Porcupines and their Lake of the Clouds settles one thing for all time—Michigan is the greatest tourist state in the nation. It has everything that any other state can offer at some season of the year, and many things that any of the others do not have.

When here one gets some idea of the great expanse of our state. It is further from here to Pontiac than from Pontiac to New York City. Yet the distance can be covered all on good paved highways—and no toll roads.

The purpose of this week-long swing around our Northern Peninsula is several fold, first and foremost being a selfish desire to see for ourselves what it has to offer, now being extra accessible on account of "Mighty Mac."

Then we want to pass on to others how easy and economical it is for them to avail themselves of the many pleasures and scenic advantages that have been opened for them, largely through the use of the tax dollars which they have paid.

We have stopped only at the best motels. The charge has averaged $9 per night. We have eaten good at a cost of around $5 per day, these prices being for two people. We have visited every city of any importance, and the principal scenic spots. With numerous side trips off the regular routes, the mileage from the Pontiac area is under 2,000, so you can figure that cost according to what your car will deliver.

Advance reservation is almost a neeessity at this season of the year. An advance payment of $10 is sure to have your room awaiting you, with a rebate if that's too much. Lists of approved motels are available from a number of sources. A letter and check in advance leaves no worries.

Sweep of Orioles Places Tigers in Fourth

Foytack, Hoeft Win 3-2 and 4-1 in Double Bill

Victory Streak at Six; Hurling and Improved Defense the Answer

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have reached the American League's first division.

A doubleheader sweep over the Baltimore Orioles before a Sunday crowd of 17,229 stretched the Tigers' winning streak to six games—their longest since the waning days of the 1956 season. It put them in fourth place.

He says the credit should go to Inman (Coot) Veal, the club's new shortstop, and Billy Martin, the new third baseman.

"They've tightened up the left side of that infield," said Norman. "Veal is hitting a little for us, too, and Martin is giving us a lot of help with the bat. And our pitchers are much improved and one of the reasons for that is the improved defense."

The scores yesterday were 3-2 and 4-1 and most encouraging part of the long proceedings was the work of Paul Foytack and Billy Hoeft.

Foytack had not pitched a complete game since June 24, had not started since July 22 and had finished only 6 of 20 starts. If the club was disgruntled and disappointed with the stocky right-hander, it was prepared to send Hoeft to Charleston to wake him up.

The big southpaw's last complete game was June 17, he had completed only 4 of 14 starts and had not started since July 17. Each is now 8-9.

All the opening game scoring was wrapped into the first five innings. Gail Harris tripled home a Tiger run in the first and a walk, two singles and a wild pitch by ex-Detroit sandlotter Milt Pappas produced two more in the third.

Foytack hung on for the victory and yielded only a pair of fifth inning runs on two singles and Dick Williams' double. He stayed out of trouble the rest of the way, putting down three Oriole pinch hitters in the ninth inning.

Hoeft got some boos when he yielded a Baltimore run in the first inning on three singles but the big lefty turned them to cheers before the afternoon was over. Baltimore batters got only five more hits and Hoeft kept them well scattered.

Al Kaline doubled home a first inning run, Charlie Maxwell homered off the right field foul screen in the fourth and Harvey Kuenn hit a disputed homer in the fifth.

Kuenn batted in the other in the 6th handing Skinny Brown his 1st defeat. Hoeft's win gave the Tiger staff five complete game victories in its last six outings.

White Sox Hand New York Double Setback

Sunday Hexes Yanks Again

By the Associated Press

No need to break up the Yankees, friends. All ya' gotta do is get them to skip the rest of the week and play on Sunday.

It's there in black and white, a 10-12 record with four doubleheader flops to show for the Sunday efforts of the big, bad New Yorkers who make a farce of the American League Monday through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Even Manager Casey Stengel, when he isn't cracking wise about the National League, says: "Don't know what it is. Maybe I oughta just manage on weekdays and take Sunday off."

Chicago's climbing White Sox, now only a half game out of second place, had yesterday's Sunday outing against the runaway AL leaders, cutting the Yanks' margin to 15½ games with 3-1 and 4-0 victories behind the right-handers Dick Donovan and Ray Moore.

It was the second straight Sunday doubleheader loss—fourth of the season—for the Yankees, who used to double up with ridiculous monotony.

Boston's Red Sox took advantage to pull back into second place, shattering Cleveland's seven-game winning streak in a 3-2, 4-2 swep that dumped the Indians from second to fifth. Detroit, running its win streak to six, moved up to fourth with 3-2, 4-1 victories over Baltimore, and Kansas City split with Washington, dropping a 15-inning nightcap 4-3 after romping 12-0 in the opener.

Donovan, winning his fifth straight for an 8-10 record, fired a three-hitter against the Yankees in the opener and outdueled Whitey Ford (13-5). Bill Skowron's 10th homer and double and Tony Kubek's first inning single were the only safeties off Donovan, who had lost his three previous starts against New York.

Moore (7-3) was just as stingy, scattering five hits for his second shutout (both against the Yanks) and his third complete game (all three against the Yanks). Johnny Kucks lost it.

★ ★ ★

The Red Sox, closing out a road trip during which they won only 4 of 14 games, yanked both away from Cleveland with late inning rallies. Ted Williams' two-run homer in the ninth own the first game as Murray Wall won in relief over Gary Bell. The Bosox whipped Ray Narleski in the second game with four eighth-inning runs with Pete Runnels' two-run double the big blow.

Eddie Yost's RBI single broke up the 15-inning Senators-Athletics' second game as Pete Ramos won his 10th with seven innings of clutch relief. Roger Maris slammed a double, triple, and two home runs—one a grand slam—and drove in five runs as Kansas City, scoring eight in the sixth inning, romped behind Ralph Terry's five-hitter in the opener. The second game matched the longest game, inning-wise, of the season.

TOO LATE — Tiger shortstop Inman (Coot) Veal arrives at second base too late, finding Baltimore second baseman Bill Gardner waiting with the ball in the 4th inning of Sunday's first game. The Tigers took both ends of the doubleheader, 3-2 and 4-1.

Once Close NL Race Loses Challengers

Braves Rip Giants

By the Associated Press

Und so der Braves haben totgeschlagen der Giants!

Freely translated, as any German-bred, jumpin' for joy Milwaukee burgher will tell you, it means the San Francisco Giants have had it as a National League challenger.

Just as the Brooklyn version did when Charley Dressen uttered his immortal "The Giants is Dead" a few years back.

By combining a six-game winning streak of their own with a six-game losing streak of the Giants, the last four in hand-to-hand tussling, Milwaukee's champion Braves have opened up a five-Looks as if they've hit on a formula — dawdle along for four months before lowering the boom.

The "boom" came in the form of 4-3 and 6-0 victories yesterday at County Stadium as Milwaukee wound up a four-game weekend sweep of the "freak" Giant team that has been flirting with the top all season.

The Giants plunged so far they now lead third place Pittsburgh by only two games after the Pirates' third successive shutout victory over the hapless St. Louis Cardinals, 2-0, in the first of two scheduled games at Pittsburgh. The Pirates ran the scoreless streak over the Cards to 32 innings, leading 2-0 in the fifth inning when the second game collided with the Pennyslvania 7 p. m. curfew.

Chicago and Philadelphia split, the Cubs outscoring the Phils 12-10 after the Phils had won the opener, 8-2 behind Ray Semproch. Los Angeles and Cincinnati also split, enabling the Dodgers to vacate last place in favor of the Cards. Los Angeles won the first game, 8-6 in 10 innings, and dropped the nightcap 3-1.

Punch and pitching did it for the Braves against the Giants, who haven't won since Casey Stengel labelled them "freaks" last week. Joe Adcock's two-run homer in the sixth and sacrifice fly in the eighth won the opener for Bob Trowbridge, who bagged his first victory with seven hitless innings in relief of starter Gene Conely. Wes Covington and Frank Torre banged homers in the second game and the Braves coasted behind Warren Spahn's four-hitter for his 43rd career shutout. Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez were the losers.

Bob Friend won his 14th, tying Spahn for the NL high, for the bustling Pirates, who had blanked St. Louis 2-0 Friday and 1-0 Saturday. George Witt had added five more blanks to the Cards woeful streak before the curfew put off completion of the game until Sept. 16.

City Softball Playoffs Begin

Burgess Hurls No-Hit Gem

The men's annual City League softball playoffs got off to an exciting start last night at Beaudette and North Side parks with the individual spotlight falling on Elmo (Smoky) Burgess of the Pontiac Police.

Burgess sent his team on its merry winning way in the Class C playoffs by hurling his 2nd no-hitter of the year and homering for the game's only run as the Policemen nosed out the American Legion, 1-0.

Four of the remaining five contests were also decided by a single run and one of them went into extra innings.

Elks No. 810 spotted Birmingham a 1st-inning run, then bounced back for a 2-1 win in the Class A opener. CIO Local 594 tallied twice in the bottom of the 9th inning for a 4-3 triumph over Stadium Inn to begin Class B action.

The Post Office defeated the Moose, 6-5, and Spence Rambler dished out a 9-5 licking to O'Neil Realty in Class D activity while the Pontiac Merchants scored twice in the top of the 7th for a 5-4 victory over Deni's Corner in the other "C" game.

Burgess faced only 22 batters in his no-hit masterpiece and won his own contest with a home run in the top half of the 2nd, which spoiled a brilliant two-hit mound effort by the Legion's Ken Spears. Spears pitched to only 24 men.

Phil Toth homered for the Elks and Fred Harper's 7th-inning single scored hurler Lynus Grant with the decisive run against Birmingham as Grant outpitched Roger Reynolds.

Ray White's 9th-inning homer went for naught for Stadium when the CIO rebounded to score twice without the benefit of a hit after two men were out. Tom Stilwell homered for the Union club with a teammate aboard in the 6th. The Merchants also tallied twice without a safety to topple Deni's.

Second-round action in all classes of the double-elimination playoffs resumes tonight on the Beaudette and North Side diamonds.

City Junior Baseball Playoffs Under Way

Eight games got the 1958 city junior baseball playoffs under way today as teams collide in Classes D and F along with the Midgets and Widgets.

Lytell & Colgrove met Birmingham and Don Nicholie played Cranbrook in Class D in the only afternoon action. All other games were in the morning.

The playoffs will continue Tuesday and Thursday with all title contests set for Aug. 11.

Three of the playoff entries won Saturday playoffs to reach the post-season contests. The Little Tigers whipped the Hornets 15-7 and the Little Braves walloped the Hornets 29-2 in Widget contests while Auburn Heights Boys' Club downed Waterford 7-4 in 'F'.

Tim Kaul socked a bases-loaded triple to pace the Tigers and Tom LaVerdue and Ron LaMarbe homered for the Little Braves who pulled two double plays. Auburn came from behind with five in the 6th to win.

Ejected Twice Sunday

Richards Uses Stout Language in Disgust

DETROIT (AP) — Paul Richards, the one-time Tiger catcher, used some pretty stout language in expressing his disgust over a couple of decisions by the umpires in Sunday's doubleheader.

The Baltimore manager's first run-in came in the eighth inning of the opening game, when Gene Woodling was called out at first base on a close play. Woodling argued with first base umpire Bill McKinley, went to the bench and continued his argument from there.

McKinley said he finally threw Woodling out "because he called me a pretty bad name."

"He had a few names for me, too," McKinley explained, "so I tossed him out."

Oriole players put on a wild demonstration with left fielder Bob Nieman leading the way. The ex-Tiger threw his glove, cap and sun glasses into the air, picked up his glove and drop-kicked it 15 or 20 yards.

McKinley said Richards told him "if you had any guts at all, you'd overrule Flaherty."

McKinley explained that cannot be done on a judgment play unless the other umpire asks help in calling the play. Richards was thrown out again.

Flaherty said later "I called the play as I saw it—and that's it."

As it turned out, the Tigers didn't need the run—but Richards' claim is that the decision changed the complexion of the contest.

Pontiac Skaters Add to Honors

Louis Parker and Carol Walsh of Pontiac finished 3rd in the novice pairs competition as the American Roller Skating championships came to a close at Cleveland Sunday.

A Detroit group took the intermediate fours title in the meet entered by over 6,000 skaters.

Two Lion Rookie Backs Vie for One Open Spot

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

"Last year we carried only five running backs and we could keep all six this year depending however on how they can be used," said Wilson.

Wilson doesn't feel the Lions need six ball carriers which would mean one of the backs would be used primarily as a flanker for the pass patterns.

Jerry Reichow, the third quarterback, served in this flanker capacity most of last season. Wilson however has indicated that Reichow will see more action at quarterback this year.

Should Lewis and Webb both be retained, Cassady is the logical back to hold down the flanker post. He was sharp as a pass receiver last season and may be assigned these duties permanently.

Lewis, the fastest man on the team, gives the Lions a fast threat on outside running plays. Webb also has good speed for his 210 pounds and his addition would give Detroit a strong down the middle running attack with Tracy, Johnson and Gedman.

Tracy has been one of the shining lights in training camp thus far. "His blocking has picked up very well, and he is running harder," said Wilson, "he is definitely the most improved player in camp from last year."

Actually, the Lions now have a 7th candidate for a running post with the return of Ralph Pfeifer, fullback from Kansas State who quit the camp a week ago, and who decided to return the past weekend.

Pfeifer, the Lions' 7th draft choice, returned after he had talked things over with his wife. He called Wilson and asked if he could return. Yesterday he took part in the practice session.

Wilson figures he will take a player-squad of 44 players to meet the College All-Stars in Chicago, August 15th. Three of the All-Stars, end Tom Shulte, tackle Alex Karras and center Wayne Walker, will return with the Lions to join the training camp.

Local 653 Golfers Take Honors in CIO Tourney at City Municipal

Joe Gaines, veteran Pontiac golfer representing Local 653, fired a one-under-par 68 Saturday at City Municipal course to capture low gross honors in the 10th annual Region 1-B UAW-CIO golf tournament.

Low net honors in the championship fight went to Don Bruske, also of Local 653, who shot 72-6—66.

Local 653 likewise made a clean sweep of four-man laurels. The team of L. Sach, Bruske, E. Fender and Ken Hockey had a low gross score of 296 while N. Thompson, A. Andonian, W. Logie and M. Rampart took low net honors with a total of 279.

Earl Buchholz Wins National Net Crown

The 17-year-old Buchholz, top-seeded in the tournament that ended here yesterday, defeated stocky Chuck McKinley of St. Louis 6-0, 6-3, 6-3 in 90-degree heat for the championship.

U.S. Gal Swimmers Set Dozen Records

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — America's women swimmers should be able to challenge the world's best in the 1960 Olympics if they continue the pace set here the last three days, say the experts.

★ ★ ★

Records were broken in 12 of the 13 swimming events of the National AAU senior women's outdoor swimming and diving championships. Only the 400 meters tree style mark escaped revision.

Miss Ruuska set four records and became the first woman to win four gold medals in a national meet since Ann Curtis of San Francisco did in 1948.

Birmingham LL District Champ

The Birmingham Americans, riding along on the big bat of 12-year-old Tom Angell, gained a berth in the Michigan Little League tourney starting Wednesday by defeating Walled Lake 5-3 Saturday in the district finals at Birmingham.

Walled Lake, which took an early 2-0 lead, held a 6-5 hitting edge. Winner Dick Mosher won his 2nd playoff tilt fanning 10 and walking none. One of the hits he allowed was a homer by Jim Hughes, who pitched a no-hitter and homered earlier in the game.

Stevens Takes DDGA Title

Melvin (Bud) Stevens won the annual Detroit District Golf Association championship Sunday with a 3-2 victory over Fred Wilt of Gowanie in the 36-hole match play finals at Detroit Golf Club. The long-hitting Stevens, a member of Western GC, was playing in the DDGA tournament for the first time.

British Race Ace Dies

BONN, Germany (AP)—The experts and adventure-lovers called England's Peter Collins the Golden Boy of auto racing. But they never really thought he would end his career as a sacrifical lamb.

No National skeet champion could have been more proud of his title trophy at the big Nationals, concluded Saturday, than Jim Caccitti of Philadelphia, who shot 209 for last place in Class E. "I'll bet," said Jim, "that even the champions of many of these divisions, didn't get any nicer award than I did, and I bet I was the lowest shooter in the tournament."

Air Force Man Top Skeet Champion

By H. GUY MOATS

National Skeet Shooting Assn. championships for 1958 Saturday passed into the record books, highlighted by a terrific display of marksmanship on the part of a husky, genial air force base master sergeant.

M.Sgt. Harold Myers went all the way in the 250 target finale without a dropped "bird" to grab the most highly coveted all-gauge championship. The 36-year-old former combat flier, a veteran skeet campaigner in the NSSA, fought off a last stage drive by John Dalton and George Notte and won on the 75th straight bird in the shootoff.

Myers not only won the top title. He shared in the two-man championship with Dave Crosby of Concord, Mass., won the husband and wife championship with his woman's champion wife, Betty, and was a member of the championship all-service five-man team. His collection of awards was outstanding in the final round of the big tournament at Oakland County Sportsmen's club, on Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Little Eddie Brown, 13-year-old son of auto dealer Bill Brown Sr., most sensational all-around young shooter of the week-long event, was easily the top junior. Eddie won the national all-around junior championship with only a single miss 249x250, to mar his record, and keep him out of the big championship.

Another coveted title went to 18-year-old Ken Sedlecky of Baldwin, in his first year of senior shooting. He is the new high-over-all king. Ken was in the junior class up to this year and has held several championships. Sedlecky fired 540x550, to edge California's Ben DiIorio by one target and two over veteran Alex Kerr of California and Ed Scherer of Waukesha, Wis., each of whom had 538x550.

Judy Allen, Oakland Calif., college girl, shot a 247x250 to capture the women's all-gauge honor, with Catherine McDowell of Shreveport, La., one target behind. Betty Myers, easy-going sharpshooter helpmeet of the men's all-gauge champ, walked off with the women's all-around crown. She collected 523x550, to force a shootoff with Judy. Betty then smashed 121 targets to Judy's 118, to clinch the top spot.

With conclusion of the Nationals, rated as very successful by NSSA officials, despite the fewer contestants compared to last year, Oakland County Sportsmen's club now is beginning preparations for the Michigan Skeet Championships, here, on the weekend of Aug. 23-24.

Venturi Leading Chicago Open

CHICAGO (AP)—Ken Venturi, a sophomore pro with a golden touch, had a three-stroke lead and the "whirlybird" jitters today as the $50,000 Chicago Open entered its final round.

★ ★ ★

San Francisco's Venturi, 27, yesterday tacked a 2-under-par 68 onto previous rounds of 65 and 67 for a 54-hole total of 200. That was three strokes ahead of veteran Jack Burke and another comparative newcomer to the pro ranks, Don January, who shared the runner-up spot at 203.

★ ★ ★

In fourth place, four strokes off the pace at 204 was the youthful South African star, Gary Player, 22, Johannesburg, while Ernie Vossler, and seasoned Marty Furgol were five strokes behind at 205.

Shooting for the $9,000, Venturi said the best shot he could have fired would have been to bring down a helicopter which hovered over the course yesterday for picture-taking purposes.

Hal Boyle Says:

Baby Robin Eats 14 Feet of Worms Daily

That a baby robin has a long menu. It eats an average of 14 feet of worms every day.

That in 303 B.C. a fellow named Chandragupta made one of the best real estate deals in history. He bought the subcontinent of India from Seleucus I Nicator, a Middle East Macedonian ruler, for only 500 elephants.

That termites can live on wood because they have bacteria in their intestines that enable them to digest it. If the cost of living keeps going up, we all may need some of those bacteria. Sawdust is much cheaper than steak.

That in Gary, Ind., you are breaking the law if you board a street-car within four hours after you eat garlic.

That the interest alone on the U.S. government's debt now costs $14,000 every minute, night and day.

That rice is the basic food of more than half the people on earth.

That although your own skies may be sunny, it is always raining somewhere in the world. Over the whole globe as many as 45,000 thunderstorms have been recorded in a single day.

That one out of every three acres in the United States is still forest land.

That Gen. Lucius D. Clay says: "The time has come when senior officers should belong to the same service and wear the same uniform. We have to have that kind of defense organization because we can't afford any other."

That the handwriting of Napoleon was terrible. It is said that some of his letters were mistaken for battlefield maps.

That James Swan, who emigrated to America in the 18th century, loved his new country so much that in 1795 he paid the entire American debt to France—exactly $2,024,899.93—out of his own pocket. Swan was a Scotsman.

That U.S. motorists drive about 63 billion miles a year, most of it, probably, looking for a parking place.

That more defective children are born in January, February, and March than any other similar three-month period of the year. Probable reason: The defective diets of their mothers the previous summer.

That America's 13 million teenagers now spend nine billion dollars a year, according to a recent survey. Which didn't say how much of this they had earned themselves.

That this country now has one vending machine for every 48 persons, compared with one for every 2,280 persons in 1925. Life is getting more automatic every day.

★ ★ ★

That actor Peter Ustinov bought the pillbox he served in on the cliffs of Dover during World War II and converted it into a three-room apartment. Peace, it's wonderful!

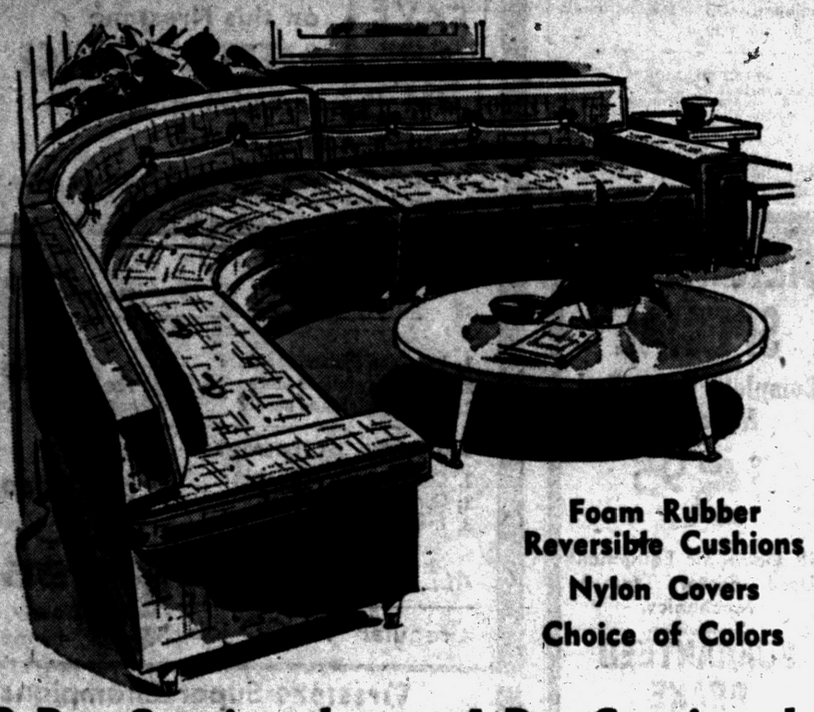

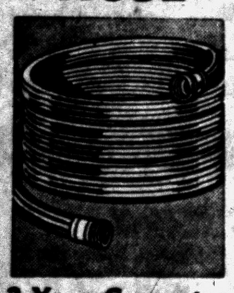

That it was Josh Billings who observed: "One half the troubles of this life can be traced to saying yes too quick, and not saying no soon enough."

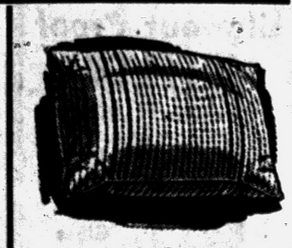

First short wave broadcast was heard in 1924.

Saving Michigan from Slump Year

'Mighty Mac' Big Spur to Tourist Trade

By BOB VOGES

NEW BUFFALO (AP)—"Michigan's tourist and resort operators should get down on their knees every night to bless the Mackinac Bridge."

Sylvester W. Kasmer, supervisor of the New Buffalo Tourist Information Lodge maintained by the State Highway Department on the Indiana border, was speaking.

Kasmer's lodge is the busiest of three such facilities currently operated by the department. Others are at Monroe, near the Ohio boundary, and at Menominee, just across the river from Wisconsin.

He thoroughly believes that only the attraction of the Mackinac Straits span has saved Michigan from what otherwise would be a dull and down tourist year in 1958.

"Most of our queries now center on one thing—how to get to the bridge," Kasmer said. "The bridge has given Michigan's resort industry a much-needed shot in the arm."

Kasmer has the figures to prove it. Last year the lodge on busy U.S. 12 serviced 110,253 cars and 350,647 persons. This was down from the 132,886 cars and 427,471 persons handled in 1956.

As of late July this year, business has picked up again. The count up until last week was 80,842 cars and 196,255 persons stopping for information on Michigan compared to 54,873 cars and 172,192 persons during the same period of 1957.

During a three day period over the Fourth of July holiday, 12,773 visitors stopped off. There were 5,250 tourists counted at the lodge on a recent Sunday.

He estimated that during the average year the lodge hands out around 14 tons of maps and promotional literature about Michigan.

It wasn't always that way, Kasmer recalled that in the early days of the operation he used to drive his car up and down the highway, swinging into the lodge every time he passed to try and bait a few tourists to follow him.

Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, in that order, supply the largest numbers of out-of-state visitors filtering into Michigan via the New Buffalo route.

But they all come from every state in the country and several dozen foreign countries yearly.

★ ★ ★

Kasmer thinks its part of his job to go out after the visitors. He speaks before service clubs and like groups on the glories of Michigan. Local good will is built up by permitting church clubs and other area organizations to use the picnic grounds behind the lodge.

Nothing is for sale and there's no charge for any service.

Heart of the lodge is the information desk. The rest rooms also get plenty of use.

"Travellers appreciate clean rest rooms," Kasmer stid. "We try to keep them spic but sometimes it's a battle when seven or eight busloads roll in on us at once."

Kasmer is happiest when the place is overrun with tourists and their children and maps are being handed out wholesale. Right now he's lobbying to get a neon sign from the state to pull in the visitors.

"I try to sell them all on the grand tour of Michigan," he said. "All around the lake and into the Upper Peninsula and down the east side again. I want them to spend their money for gas and food and beds in Michigan."

'That Hilltop Girl' Lead Meant for Kim Novak

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — The first thing on the agenda for Kim Novak after she finishes "The Beach Boy" will be "That Hilltop Girl," in which she'll star, with Richard Quine directing her. It was Quine who gave Kim her first screen test, and who directed her in "Bell, Book and Candle." They are good friends and work well together.

Now a word about "That Hilltop Girl." Sam Briskin bought it especially for Kim. It's by Charles Williams, was published in 1951 and sold over two million copies, including the paper back editions. Producer Freddie Kohlmar says it will be made this year and describes it as a melodrama about a girl in a southern town.

★ ★ ★

Gary Cooper had nothing but high praise for Karl Malden, who took over as director on "The Hanging Tree" the last 10 days after Delmar Daves was rushed to the hospital with a perforated ulcer.

"It's difficult for an actor who is in the picture himself to also direct, but Karl is so txperienced he had no problems," said Coop.

Speaking of Malden, he'll be with Marlon Brando in "Guns Up," which probably will have the title changed again. It's been so long in getting before the cameras.

Had a talk with Taina Elg at Dinah (Shore) and George Montgomery's house, where we were dinner guests. Taina said that she is going to England, where she lived for five years and studied with the Sadler Wells Ballet, to star in a re-make of "39 Steps" for J. Arthur Rank.

"I am going first to Finland," she said. "I haven't been home for almost five years. My husband (Carl Bjorkenheim) and I will take our baby, pick up my mother and take her with us to England. We have rented a house close to Pinewood Studios.

Dinah asked Taina what she thought about starting little Missy Montgomery, who is nine, on ballet. Taina, who started when she was ten, said that getting a good teacher at an early age is important.

He was so funny telling me about Cornelia Otis Skinner, who co-stars with him in "Pleasure of His Company," Freddie Brisson's play on Broadway this fall. He said, "Cornelia has taken off 15 pounds, has a new hairdo, and has discarded those Queen Mary corsets on my advice, so now she looks 20 years ylunger."

Edith Head is making Cornelia's clothes, as well as Dolores Hart's (also in the play). Charles Ruggles and Walter Abel are in the cast, and Cyril commented on how young Charlie looks for the many years he's been an actor.

Breatahlessly Marie MacDonald telephoned to tell me how close to drowning her 23-months-old daughter, Tina Maria, came, when someone left the gate to the pool unlocked. If it hadn't been for the bravery of her 8-year-old daughter, Denise, or Deedie, as Marie calls her, the baby could have drowned. Deedie jumped into the pool, swam to the baby who had fallen in at the deep end, and carried her up the ladder.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

2 AWOL GIs Held in Robbery

Gas Station Attendant at Cadillac Shot From Behind in Holdup

CADILLAC (AP) — Two men described by police as AWOL from the Army were held here today in the robbery and pistol wounding Friday night.

★ ★ ★

The pair, identified by police as Lynwood Cunningham and Jack Fulkrod Jr., both 21 and of Lansing, were arrested Saturday at Houghton Lake, a resort town 35 miles east of here.

State Police arrested Fulkrod when they stopped his car. He led officers to Cunningham at a nearby resort. There was no resistance.

The gasoline station attendant, Richard Liptak, 21, of Cadillac, told police he was shot from behind without warning while he complied with the demand of two gunmen that he open the cash register.

Police said the FBI had been seeking Cunningham and Fulkrod on an AWOL charge. The men's camp was not identified.

Air Conditioned Cars Gaining Popularity

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — U. S. motorists are going more and more for air conditioning, one of the more expensive extras in automotive equipment.

Authoritative estimates put the number of installations last year at 400,000 units. The figure may be somewhat smaller this year because of the lower volume of car sales, but the percentage is expected to be higher. Some industry sources are predicting that by 1960 approximately 15 per cent of all new cars will be air conditioned.

Harry W. Loper, automotive engineer of the Dow Chemical Co., advises motorists with air conditioning systems to give more than casual attention to their engine cooling systems. Air conditioning, he says, puts an added load on the cooling system.

The cooling system often is neglected until trouble develops. Loper says special attention should be given to the pressure cap, fan and fan belt, water pump, radiator hose and thermostat. Bugs and debris should be cleaned from the radiator.

Usually cars equipped with air conditioning at the factory have radiators with greater heat rejecting capacity. Some are equipped with five or six bladed fans instead of the usual four; 17-pound pressure caps instead of 13 or 14 pounds and some have shrouds around the fan.

Air conditioning systems generally consist of a compressor, usually mounted on the car engine block; a condenser, located in front of the radiator; evaporator-blower fittde into the trunk or under the instrument panel; lines connecting these various units and controls on or near the instrument panel.

Loper points out that addition of the compressor and other units to the engine compartment further reduces the free-air space. The condenser placed in front of the radiator, he says, cuts down on the amount of air flowing through the radiator. "The condenser also gives off heat," he says, "and this considerably increases the air temperature before it reaches the radiator."

Danger of overheating the car cooling system, of course, is the major problem with car equipped with air conditioners. It can occur even with a clean cooling system, Loper says, but the chances of it occurring with a dirty cooling system are greatly increased on hot days.

★ ★ ★

"Overheating at low speeds or at idle may be a problem with cars having air conditioners," he says. "The only ways to decrease the cooling system temperature when overheated is to increase the speed of the car, turn off the air conditioner or stop and let the system cool off."

Census Reveals Poorer Families Are Smaller

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau says the popular belief that poorer families have the most children is not true.

A bureau survey found that families with incomes under $2,000 average 3.2 members while those earning $7,000 or more average 3.8 members.

The largest families are in the South — 3.74 members — and the smallest in the West with 3.51. The Northeast average is 3.55 and in the north central states, 3.57.

★ ★ ★

The survey also turned up evidence that Americans are getting more schooling these days. In 1950 the man of the house averaged 9 years of education. Today's it's 10.4 years.

Atlas Success Big Advance

Perfect Missile Flight Pushes Rocket Defense Ahead by 6 Months

CAPE CANAVERAL Fla. (AP) —Rocket experts today hailed the first completely successful launching of a fully powered Atlas as a significant step in the nation's race to develop an operational ICBM.

★ ★ ★

B. G. MacNabb, operations manager for the missile's developer, Convair Astronautics, said progress in the intercontinental ballistic missile program was advanced 6 to 12 months by Saturday's brilliant launching.

★ ★ ★

Every test objective was accomplished, MacNabb said, as the 85-foot Atlas streaked over the Atlantic at speeds of 15,000 miles an hour.

It was the first successful performance of a three-engine Atlas, which has enough power to go the full 6,000-mile intercontinental range.

On July 19 the first fully powered Atlas—propelled by twin booster rockets and a sustainer engine—burst apart in a violent explosion 45 seconds after launching.

In eight tests prior to that time only two engines were used in limited range shots. The Atlas test flight program began at the cape 13 months ago.

Grain Prices Mostly Weak

CHICAGO (AP)—Activity in grain futures was unusually light for a Monday and early prices on the Board of Trade were mostly weak.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was about steady but corn sagged as much as a cent a bushel or more while soybeans slipped major fractions.

A fairly good commission house demand offset a moderate volume of wheat hedging, but dealers said the weakness in other grains and soybeans appeared to be more in absence of any buying interest rather than heavy selling.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel lower, September $1.85½; corn 1 to 1¼ cents lower, September $1.28¼; oats ⅛ to ½ lower, September 63¼; rye ⅜ to ⅞ lower, September $1.25⅝; soybeans ⅝ to 1 cent lower, September $2.26¾; lard 2 cents a hundred pounds higher to 5 cents lower, September $12.47.

Export business continued slow, but the Department of Agriculture over the weekend accepted subsidy bids of 21 to 22 cents a bushel on 1,745,357 bushels of corn for export, the largest volume in several days.

Ticker Lags in Trade Rush

Gains ranged from fractions to a point or so. There were a few small losers.

★ ★ ★

Turnover was so heavy the ticker tape ran behind in reporting transactions for six minutes after the opening. Trading continued active after the tape caught up.

The over-all market appeared to be bolstered by a more favorable business picture. The copper industry received reports that output may be stepped up shortly.

★ ★ ★

Ahead a point or more were Alcoa, Anaconda, Kaiser Aluminum, Reynolds Metals, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and American Telephone & telegraph.

Divorcee Seeks Lawyer

May Plead Self-Defense

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A criminal lawyer who may defend the alleged killer of a wealthy drug firm executive said today that the divorcee accused of the slaying may have a "pretty good case" on a self-defense plea.

Frank Symmes, an Indianapolis attorney, made the statement after visiting Mrs. Connie Nicholas, 42, for about an hour Sunday afternoon as she recovered in a hospital from an apparent suicide attempt.

★ ★ ★

Symmes based his self-defense statement on Mrs. Nicholas' story that Forrest Teel, 54, executive vice president of Eli Lilly and Co., struck and beat her before she shot him in his white Cadillac.

Mrs. Nicholas' face was puffed and her eye bruised, and an eye specialists was called to determine the extent of the injury, which she said she received in a fight with Teel over her gun.

Attendants at General Hospital said Mrs. Nicholas was removed from the critical list today and is expected to live to face murder charges.

Symmes was Mrs. Nicholas' only visitor yesterday and later he said he was uncertain if he would be able to take the case because of a full schedule.

★ ★ ★

With his father, Frank A. Symmes, the attorney has taken the defense in a number of major criminal cases in the state. One of the latest was the defense of former Indiana highway chairman Virgil (Red) Smith who is free on bond after conviction in Indiana's highway scandals.

"I told Mrs. Nicholas that if dad and I found it impossible to defend her in court, we would certainly recommend a good criminal man to represent her," Symmes said.

He quoted Mrs. Nicholas as asking him "When I am better and able to leave the hospital, may I go home or must I go to jail?"

Symmes said if he took over her defense, he would seek to have the charge reduced and bond set. Symmes indicated he would like to defend Mrs. Nicholas.

Mrs. Nicholas was in a coma for 60 hours before regaining consciousness Saturay afternoon to relate a lurid story of her long-time affair with Teel. She told police and newsmen the shooting was accidental and occurred while they argued over Teel's affections for a younger woman.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Nicholas said she had been meeting secretly with the handsome executive for at least 10 years unknown to Teel's wife.

★ ★ ★

She said she waited for Teel outside the younger woman's apartment early Thursday and pleaded with him to return to her. During the violent quarrel, she said, Teel struck her.

'It was the first time he had ever struck me," she said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Nicholas said she pulled a gun from her handbag "to scare him" and the shooting occurred during a tussle for the gun.

4-H Boys, Girls to Emcee Fair Opening Tomorrow

The kids will take over some of the jobs of their teachers this week during the 18th annual Oakland County 4-H Fair which opens tomorrow night.

For the first time in the history of the fair, one 4-H boy or girl will be the master of ceremonies for each evening program. Previously, leaders had handled the job.

Winners of the contest held Saturday, in which nine 4-Hers competed against each other for Master of Ceremonies titles and the evening they will be the host, are: Walter Cudnohufsky, of the Lake Orion 4-H Club, Tuesday; Gloria Sanders, Rochester 4-H club, Wednesday; Jeanne Mott, West Bloomfield 4-H Club, Thursday; and Ken Smith, South Lyon 4-H Club, Friday.

Ed Braid, a member of the Lake Orion 4-H Club, was selected quizmaster for the Friday night 4-H version of the television program Tic Tac Dough, called Tic Tac Toe.

4-H members and their leaders will compete against each other in a test of their skills and knowledge of 4-H work. This also has never been featured at the local fair.

Tomorrow night will present two big firsts to the fair. A king as well as a queen will be selected to reign throughout the fair. The judging begins at 7:40 p.m.

The lucky Oakland County boy or girl, 18 years old or younger, who is judged to possess the most freckles will receive a $50 savings bond from The Pontiac Press. Contestants do not have to be members of 4-H. This new-to-the-fair contest begins at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow night.

Some unique events at the 1958 fair include a "tractor square dance" Wednesday at 8 p.m. Dressed in appropriate costumes, 4-H boys will drive two sizes of tractors, a small one as if it was a girl and the large one for the boy parther, according to Jane Hoerath, 4-H agent.

The 4-H program is directed by Jack Worthington and Mrs. Hoerath, county 4-H agents, under the supervision of the Extension Service of Michigan State University and the Oakland County Extension Service.

Car Rolls Off Ferry, 8 Drown

Five Children Among Victims of California Freak Tragedy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An attendant yelled "jump! jump!" in vain while a fruit picker's station wagon with faulty breaks rolled off a ferry boat into the Sacramento River, drowning eight persons.

"I guess they couldn't understand me," ferry operator Duke Bryant said. "The little kids in the car were laughing and playing but the teenagers were screaming in fright as the car went through the safety chain and over the edge.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Dead were Fortino Aguilar, 38; Mrs. Christina Aguilar, 32, his wife; Mrs. Santos Garcie, 50, Mrs. Aguilar's mother; and five Aguilar children, Margarita, 15; Maria, 13, Christina, 6, Fortino, Jr., 4, and Pepe, 3.

★ ★ ★

Having Theft Tools Charged to 3 Here

Held at Oakland County Jail were Donald L. Worthum, 24, of 748 Young St.; Easton Ray, 24, of 691 Brown St. and Billie E. White, 26, of Ortonville.

Sgt. Frank Randolph and Patrolman Merle Finkle said they were holding as evidence two crow bars, a keyhole saw, a drill and other minor tools.

They said that when they investigated the auto, Worthum was sitting in the back seat, attempting to hide the saw, drill and a crow bar under his jacket.

The two officers said they became suspicious because the auto was parked behind a store at 2616 Dixie Highway without its headlights on.

Federal Funds Vetoed by Ike

Independent Offices Bill for $6.5 Billion Goes Back to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill carrying 6½ billion dollars for 17 federal agencies. He said more than 500 million dollars extra for the civil service retirement fund was not needed.

In returning the bill to Congress, Eisenhower said he was doing so: "Because of my strong conviction that Congress should reconsider its action appropriating over half a billion dollars not presently needed in the civil service retirement and disability fund.

"There is no sound justification whatever for adding unnecessarily over half a billion dollars to a deficit which may reach 12 billion dollars this fiscal year.

Congress already has passed a resolution which will permit the 17 agencies, as well as some other federal agencies, to operate and spend until the end of this month.

The lawmakers took that action recently to provide for maintenance of programs for which funds had not been specifically appropriated at the start of the current fiscal year, July 1.

Construction Shakes Off Recession

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Construction has shaken the effects of the recession with the help of government spending and is climbing to new records, a monthly survey by the labor and commerce departments showed today.

Total dollar volume of new construction for the first seven months of 1958 was up slightly over the same period in 1957, the year when the economy was booming before it skidded into a recession last August.

The value of new construction outlays in July was, according to preliminary government estimates, $4,613,000,000 (B) — three per cent above July, 1957, which was the highest month on record up until the July just ended.

The boom aspects of July this year as compared with the same month of 1957 were tempered, however, by a reminder from the commerce and labor department experts that last year construction activity was restricted somewhat by shortages of cement and concrete products.

The total dollar volume of new construction for the first seven months of this year was $26,700,000,000, reflecting a five per cent increase in public construction over 1957.

This hike in public construction reflected increased spending for highways and public housing projects for the armed services.

Teamsters Ready

Hoffa Union Readies Push Against Sears

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Hoffa's giant Teamsters Union is quietly mapping an organization drive aimed at the biggest merchandiser of them all: Sears Roebuck and Co.

★ ★ ★

So far, the teamsters have talked only in general terms about this drive. Organizing efforts, they say, will start at different times in various places this fall on the initiative of state officers.

But a 44-page booklet detailing Sears' operations has been distributed privately to teamster locals concerned with Sears. The booklet frankly concedes that Sears won't be easy to organize.

The teamsters say Sears has about 205,000 workers in 724 retail stores, 11 mail order warehouses, 54 pool stock warehouses and about 815 catalogue sales offices. Its sales volume in 1957 was $3,600,000,000.

As the booklet outlines it, the two principal points that will make it tough to organize Sears are these: (1) Sears' general practice of meeting prevailing wages and working conditions, and (2) a highly successful profit sharing plan.

This profit plan, says the booklet, is a combination pension and savings arrangement that has resulted in some amazing cash benefits for some Sears employes. Both company and employes contribute.

Many employes have accumulated 40 and 50 thousand dollars in the plan and one man who worked 40 years accumulated $538,000," the teamster booklet says.

"A woman clerk whose yearly income never exceeded $3,900 accumulated some $117,000 after 35 years' service. Her direct contributions over the period amounted to $3,400."

The teamster booklet thus makes clear that hard work will be necessary.

It says:

"While the teamsters have organized more outlets and members than any other union, it is letter clear that we have won comparatively few operations."

★ ★ ★

"Moreover, because of the shrewd defensive tactics of Sears management, we have had difficulty in pushing for gains for our people. . .

"It is obvious that Sears Roebuck remains a major target, not only for the teamsters, but also for the entire labor movement."

Expert Says Homes Need Built-In Safety

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — A top home safety analyst says that a 28,000 person-a-year home accident fatality rate makes it imperative to "build as much safety into the home as possible."

O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois, called upon homemakers to pay particular atention to the safety factors of their garage, roof and chimney, basement and attic, crawl space, kitchen, dining room and bedrooms.

Hogsett said bathrooms, storage closets, electrical wiring, plumbing and heating systems and areas easily accessible to rodents should also be checked regularly.

He said special care should be given to keeping dangerous objects such as knives and screwdrivers out of the reach of children, as well as light switches near tubs or water faucets.

North Carolina has 48 unincorporated towns of over 1,000 population.

Berle's Heart Belongs to TV

It's Been Two Years Since Uncle Milty Has Been 'Near You'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

LAS VEGAS (NEA) — The curtain looks nice but I don't think we'll get applause on it. Get it up quicker!" — You, the blonde on the left. Smile, honey, smile."—

"No, no, you don't come up with the lights yet." — "That hum in the sound system. Get an engineer. I'm not going on with that hum." — "No, no, you bumped up the lights too quick."

DIRECTS REHEARSAL

Milton Berle was sitting at a ringside table, microphone in hand, directing rehearsals of his El Rancho Vegas night club show. The shrill Berle whistle snapped open the eys of yawning chorus girls wearing slacks and pin curls. Stage hands and electricians jumped on the double.

★ ★ ★

A waiter brought in some pots of coffee and stacks of cups. The cups rattled on the tray. Everyone is nervous at a Milton Berle rehearsal except Milton Berle. He's frantic, but he knows what he wanst — and gets it.

On October 8, in an NBC-TV studio in Hollywood, Milton Berle again will be in command of his own weekly half-hour television show. It's been two years since Uncle Milty signed off his 366th hour show with his favorite refrain:

For two years Berle has been laughing it up in night clubs and collecting a handsome weekly check from NBC under his 30-year contract. But there are people who will tell you, "He wasn't really happy. It was killing him not having a regular TV series. He felt he wasn't wanted."

This past season a misty-eyed Berle re-visited the New York studio where he won and kept the "Mr. Television" title for eight years. It was during a "Wide, Wide World" show reviewing the history of TV. The studio was dark and empty and Berle, the clown, presented a quiet, almost tragic, figure.

There was no script and Berle's ad libs cued a storm of laughter that convinced NBC and TV sponsors that home screen fans wanted to be near him again.

★ ★ ★

Berle played the El Rancho in Las Vegas in the summer of '56, just after leaving TV. On stage he was the brash funny man with the fast delivery, the perfect timing. But offstage he was irritable, sullen and sometimes morose. He wasn't wanted by TV — "and it was killing him."

★ ★ ★

The El Rancho's orchestra leader raised his baton. He was ahead of his cue. "What have you got your hand up for?" Berle grinned. "We're not ready." The hum was back in the sound system.

In a few hours the chorus girls would return, without pin curls, wearing smiles and not much else. The El Rancho theater restaurant would be jammed with people, the orchestra would play "Near You" and an annoucer would say;

★ ★ ★

"The El Rancho proudly presents — Mr. Television."

And Milton Berle, I suspect, would be thinking about October 8, and a TV studio in Hollywood.

GREAT DAY ON WAY — It's been two long years since "Mr. Television" — Milton Berle — has had his own TV show. Berle is still playing the night club circuit, but his thoughts are on the evening of October 8, when he returns to the nation's screens with his new half-hour show.

Will Eddie Fisher Be Another Actor-Singer?

By EARL WILSON

Out in Hollywood there's a lot of talk about the comeback of Eddie Fisher. Producer Joe Pasternak told me he's trying to get MGM to sign him to a long-term contract. "I'm not talking about just his singing, but the way he delivers lines on TV and in night clubs," said Joe. "He can be another big acting star like Frank Sinatra." Joe's equally fond of Debbie Reynolds, whom he refers to as "an angel with spurs." Joe, famous for his malapropisms, recently told one actor, "Take this script home and maul it over."

Ted Husing is taping a series of radio interviews in L. A. and I went over to do one. Speaking of his brain operation which left him partly blind but not without his famous eloquence, he said, "I've got more holes in my head than a golf course."

Actress Shirl Conway and composer Bernie Wayne — who married on "Bride and Groom" New Year's Eve — have separated. Wayne will get an Alabama quickie divorce, while Shirl ironically will be emoting in Buck County in "Love Story." Part of their trouble was the wedding itself, performed on TV. Neither gets custody of the prizes as there really weren't many.

What do school teachers do in summer? English instructor Louis Ginsberg of Paterson, N.J., says he builds up his low blood-pleasure, corrects the hardening of his platitudes, raises his fallen archness, and reads his students' papers and draws his own confusions. To forget the whole mess, he takes milk of amnesia. He says a ringaling husband is one who likes to have his cake and Edith, too.

Jack Paar told me that in Cuba, a security officer pulled a gun on a man who rushed up at him with hand jammed in pocket in a seemingly menacing manner. "I thought this was it, and I asked 'Why now?' and 'Why in the stomach?'" Jack said. "Then the man said, 'I'm with the Ruthrauff and Ryan ad agency here in Havana, and I wanted to say hello.'" (Re Dody Goodman appearing again Jack says, "It depends on her—but no contract. Nobody has any.")

Kim Novak yelled her pretty lungs out for Sammy Davis Jr.'s act.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Eddie Hanley says an outer space buy with helmet and metal horns landed here, went to a 42d St. penny arcade, looked around, approached a gun machine with two lights lit up and a tiara of lights across the top, and said, "What's a beautiful girl like you doing in a place like this?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Prairie Fire Cuts Short Celebration

PIERRE, S. D. (UPI) — Engineers broke the back of the renegade Missouri River yesterday but the celebrating was cut short by a raging prairie fire.

The program, which marked the diversion of the turbulent Missouri River through tunnels below the huge Oahe Dam, was interrupted by a spectacular blaze which swept toward the east abutment of the structure.

Gov. Joe Foss, the master of ceremonies, called for volunteers, and heavy earth-moving machinery was pressed into service to fight the flames.

The diversion of the river completed the first bank-to-bank phase of the dam, the biggest rolled-earth structure in the nation, and closed the old river channel.

The entire flow of the river, about 9,000 cubic feet per second, now is running through the tunnels.

Britons Call Stilton the 'King of Cheeses'

LONDON — Stilton, known in England as the "king of cheeses," is creamy and veined with a natural blue culture which grows within the cheese during the several months it takes to mature.

The bulk of the best Stilton comes from the summer milk of Shorthorn cows fed in the pastures of Belvoir Vale in Leicestershire. Something in the combination of cow, grass, water, and weather in that region is just right for this cheese.

Stilton, incidentally, is not made at the Huntingdonshire village of Stilton. The cheese is so called because it was taken to and sold at the Bell Inn, Stilton, to coach travelers on the Great North Road between Edinburgh and London.

Eye Evolution Process in Creatures Neither Plant Nor Animal

LONDON (UPI) — A British scientist believes he has a clue to "the slime of the earth" from which, according to the Book of Genesis, all life on earth emerged.

Philip J. Alexander of St. George's College has spent 30 years studying the "myxos" — or slime creatures — which apparently got stuck at the crossroads of evolution hundreds of millions of years ago because they could not decide whether to become plants or animals.

★ ★ ★

Even today scientists are not sure which fork of the long road the "myxos" did take. There is one school which regards them as plants — myxomycetes — with some of the characteristics of the animal kingdom.

And another, including Alexander which considers them animals — mycetozoa — with some of the traits of the plant world.

"They might be our primeval ancestors," Alexander said, "the so-called 'slime of the earth.'"

Most people have seen the "myxos" which emerge in a small, white, creamy mass from a living or dead tree or a dry wooden post, solidifying into a lump.

But very few know of the extraordinary life cycle which Alexander hopes many more scientists will study under the impetus of this centenary year of Darwin's Theory of Evolution.

"At one period the myxos exist as creeping protoplasm," he said, "moving and feeding like amoeba (one-celled animals). But in their final plantlike form, often as objects of great beauty and delicate structure, they produce spores like certain fungi.

"What is the explanation of this Jekyll and Hyde sort of existence in which they appear first as animals and then as plants?"

Alexander believes that if the mystery is solved it will take man's knowledge of the evolutionary process far back through the aeons to the point where plants and animals went their separate ways.

Wants to Fire Women From Government Jobs

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—A provincial legislator has urged that women employes of the provincial govenment be fired and sent back to the kitchen.

Lin Yuan-tsan told the provincial assembly that most women employes are relatives of officials anyway and "their positions should be filled with unemployed college graduates."

An average adult has half an ounce of sugar in his blood.

Flint Man Puffs to Win in Pipesmoking Contest

FLINT (UPI — Insurance salesman Richard Valley, 32, of Flint, is winner of the 10th annual World Pipesmoking Contest.

He puffed one hour, 31 minutes and 46 seconds on 3.3 grams of tobacco, three seconds ahead of James F. Cunningham, also of Flint.

2 Daughters Follow Example of Mothers

Betsy Byrne, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Byrne of Lowell, Mich., was valedictorian of the senior class this year. Her cousin, Jean Jakeway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Jakeway of Greenville, Mich., was salutatorian.

In the school's 1930 graduating class, Betsy's mother, the former Dorothy McCabe, was valedictorian. Mrs. Jakeway, the former Bonnie McCabe and Mrs. Byrne's sister, as salutatorian.

Maternity Costs Down

CHICAGO—The price of having a baby is cheaper than it used to be, a survey shows. Now 18 per cent below what they were 25 years ago, maternity services cost an average of about $112 for families with incomes of $3,000 a year or less and $276 for families with incomes over $5,000.

Gary Crosby Blames Blackout on Hamburger

Bing Crosby's oldest son—he's 25—went to a hospital in nearby Henderson Saturday night after blacking out at a resort hotel. He said he thought a bad hamburger caused it all.

U. S. public schools will have 12,500,000 more pupils in 1960 than they had in 1950, education officials estimate on present population trends.

Raise Loud Protest to Save State Park

By TOM SHAWVER

LANSING (AP)—A statewide protest against proposed copper mining operations in Porcupine Mountains State Park has picked up steam after formal organization of a group to fight the move.

They call it the Porcupine Mountains Wilderness Assn. Members include representatives of such groups as the Michigan Botanical Club, the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs and the Michigan Botanical Society.

James L. Rouman, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and prime organizer of the association, was elected president at a meeting of 18 representatives of interested groups.

Rouman pledged the facilities and influence of his 55,000-member organization in what already has blossomed into one of the hottest conservation issues in years.

Triggering the dispute was a proposal by the Bear Creek Mining Co. last spring to undertake copper mining on 933 acres of the Upper Peninsula Park, plus some 5,000 acres underlying adjoining Lake Superior.

The mining firm, a subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Corp., said it could profitably extract low grade ore without defacing the 58,000-acre park, acquired starting in 1944 to preserve part of the disappearing wilderness. Backing the company were some Upper Peninsula business and civic leaders who said the contemplated multi-million-dollar operation would furnish badly needed employment in the area's mining industry.

Opponents sent out a loud protest, contending any mining enterprise would damage the natural beauty of the state's last major wilderness and pave the way for opening other state forest lands to private exploitation.

The State Conservation Commission, which will approve or reject the mining operation, has postponed a decision until members make an on-the-spot survey of the affected park lands in October.

To launch their campaign, the newly formed association plans to mail 85,000 sheets of stamps along with letters asking for contributions to their cause. The stamps will depict the Lake of the Clouds, top beauty spot in the Porcupine Mountains, and will carry the words "Save the Porcupine Mountains wilderness."

Rouman said the MUCC probably will pay for the project in hopes contributions will defray the cost.

Big Drug Firms Deny Price Fix

Charge 6 Companies Set Monopoly Rates on Antibiotics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two major drug manufacturers say they will fight government charges that they conspired to fix the prices of wonder drugs. Others named with them also deny the allegations.

The denials came after the Federal Trade Commission announced Saturday the filing of complaints against six firms which make a group of antibiotics called tetracyclines.

The FTC said the companies have an absolute monopoly in sale of the tetracyclines, which include aureomycin, terramycin and achromycin. These drugs, developed within the past decade, attack a wide range of disease-breeding microbes.

The agency said the tetracyclines are the biggest selling antibiotics. One estimate mentioned by the commission said 750 million dollars was spent on wonder drugs last year.

Charges of fixing wonder drug prices at arbitary and noncompetitive levels were filed against these firms:

Chas Pfizer & Co., American Cyanamid Co., Bristol-Myers Co., and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., all of New York City; Bristol Laboratories Inc., Syracuse, N. Y.; and the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.
