Nikita Suggests
Big Four Confab

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
High Communist diplomats in Europe indicated today that Soviet Premier Khrushchev would like a Big Four summit conference late this year to discuss the Berlin crisis at top level before the East and West make final decisions.

The diplomats said the Soviet leader wants to have a round of talks with the Western leaders by November or early December.

In Washington, President Kennedy conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk for 30 minutes today, apparently on the Berlin situation.

Details were not announced, but Assistant White House Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said the conference presumably concerned this country's reply to Khrushchev's Berlin memorandum.

The Khrushchev document, outlining his demands for an early German treaty, was handed to Khrushchev by Soviet Ambassador in Vienna early last month.

The Soviets were reported to hold that since Berlin and Germany are four-power responsibilities, Khrushchev should meet in conference with Kennedy, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

THROUGH CHANNELS

Such a four-power summit meeting could be prepared by East-West consultations through diplomatic channels, or, if necessary, by a foreign ministers' conference, by a foreign ministers' conference, by a foreign ministers' conference.

Khrushchev is said to want speed—be it reported to feel that only the government chiefs could make such decisions now.

Moscow's projected timing of a top-level meeting would indicate that Khrushchev wants to defer full-dress negotiations on Berlin until after the Soviet Communist Party Congress in Moscow late in October.

Khrushchev, according to some reports, may inform the party congress that he intends to call a world conference to negotiate a German peace treaty.

The Kennedy-Rusk meeting followed the President's return from his summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass., where he spent the Fourth of July weekend.

U.S. Road Toll Hits Summer Holiday High

Accidental Deaths for 4th of July Period Are All-Time Record

By The Associated Press

|---------------|-----|
| Traffic       | 508 |
| Boating       | 63  |
| Drowning      | 204 |
| Miscellaneous | 148 |
| Total         | 923 |

Traffic deaths climbed to record heights for a summer holiday during the long Independence Day weekend.

The tally today also showed that the over-all accident toll, including a heavy loss of life on water, reached an all-time mark for any holiday period.

Late reports boosted the motor vehicle fatality total beyond the 500 mark. It passed the previous high of 491 set during a four-day observance of Independence Day in 1950. That had been the top mark for any summer holiday period.

And it went far beyond the National Safety Council's advance estimate that 49 Americans might die in traffic accidents during the 192-hour period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday.

The previous record for deaths in accidents of various kinds, including traffic, had been established in the four-day celebration of Christmas in 1956. It was 884. During that same period traffic deaths soared to 76, a standing record for any holiday period.

BATE SLACKENS

The death rate on the highways slackened late Tuesday. Council of Bate said the highway death toll was the heaviest in history for the final hours of any holiday.

They said the fatality rate dropped from an hourly average of between five and six to about two to three.

The council, in a preliminary statement, had estimated a traffic death toll of 450.

This year's Fourth of July holiday traffic count compared to 492 for the recent four-day Memorial Day period, a record for that holiday.

In last year's three-day observance of Independence Day traffic deaths totaled 442.

Three deaths in fireworks were reported during the count of violent accidents during 6 p.m. last Friday to midnight Tuesday, a period of 102 hours. That was the largest total since four died in 1954.

ONE ESCAPES

Another Warren youth, Thomas Kida, 20, of 463 E. Mine Mill Road, who was also in the boat, escaped injury.

The injured youth already had hurled one stick of dynamite into the lake before the second blew up. The fuses had been shortened and taped to the side of the sticks.

Miller told officers he was using them instead of firecrackers for the Fourth of July.

Bozo Ignores Own Advice

Bozo said he had noticed his boat was being gutted by flames and he had been getting hushier and hushier.

"But I was too busy making people laugh to give it much thought," Bozo said. "I guess I made a billion people laugh."

And he probably has. Bozo has performed all over the world. He's made children of all ages laugh and has become a household word through his performances, television shows, children's albums and eight major movies as well as a number of short films.

HUNDREDS OF MESSAGES

Hundreds of cards and telegrams poured into the hospital, and the switchboard operator gets dozens of calls each day from people wanting to know how Bozo is.

"Maybe I can help save the lives of some of my little partners and buddies."

"I'll clown... until the last day I can put on paint," Bozo said.

"I'll also, warn mamas, papas, and little children about symptoms of cancer and other dread diseases."

Flares 'Tween Russ, China

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Top U.S. officials were reported convinced today that a serious dispute had broken out again between the leaders of the two greatest Communist powers, Russia and Red China.

The argument could have a profound impact on Soviet handling of East-West crisis issues, particularly Berlin and Laos.

Western authorities are trying to get at the real facts of the controversy and thus establish a basis for judging what its effect on future Sino-Soviet policies may be.

The most authentic evidence of the quarrel known to U.S. State Department experts is the fact that the Soviet leadership sent a high-level delegation to Ulan Bator last week to represent Moscow at the 14th anniversary of the Mongolian Communist party.

But Soviet Premier Khrushchev, at the same time, virtually ignored the far more important 40th anniversary of the Chinese Communist party.

This snub, U.S. experts say, is unmistakable proof of very severe differences between Moscow and Peking. The cause of the current argument is not known, but it is assumed to be along the familiar lines of recent years—the Red Chinese favoring tough, expansionist policies for international Communism, with a risk of nuclear war; the Russians favoring a more cautious policy under the label of "peaceful co-existence."

REPORTS ON LETTER

Top Kennedy administration officials were deeply interested in an article published in the Times in London last Sunday. This article by Isaac Deutscher, a long-time student of Soviet affairs, reported that Khrushchev had circulated among foreign Communist parties a letter denouncing Red Chinese policies.

In Deutscher's article, it was reported that Khrushchev had accused the Red Chinese Communists under Mao Tse-tung of violating an international Communist agreement, made last November at Moscow, which represented a compromise on expansionist policies between Soviet and Red Chinese officials.

Highly placed officials said today the United States had no independent evidence to confirm the existence of such a Khrushchev message. Obviously efforts are being made to obtain a copy of the document, said a State Department spokesman.

But in high quarters there was considerable skepticism today about the reported document.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—

The Teamsters convention today shouted approval of a resolution affirming belief in the integrity of Union President James R. Hoffa in the resolution adopted by an overwhelming vote today.

The resolution reviewed indictments and charges against Hoffa leveled in Senate investigations.

"It said that despite all this the delegates expressed confidence in his integrity and 'high devotion to duty.'"

The blanket vote of confidence and "wholehearted approval" of Hoffa's activities was contained in the resolution adopted by an overwhelming vote today.

SENATE PROBES HIT

Action on the resolution came after the Teamsters general counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, a noted criminal lawyer, attacked Senate investigators for conducting hearings in a manner, Williams said, that tried to demonstrate guilt by association without regard for basic civil rights.

Williams said the proof of the pudding was that a half dozen cases involving Hoffa and other officers on the convention platform—cases in which Hoffa was the rights of cross examination and other defenses were protected—all resulted in acquittals.

Williams said the Senate investigations reminded him of how a misguided father missing by some small change might treat a son.

"It was as though," Williams said, "you told a small boy 'If you admit it, I'll thrash you for stealing. If you deny it, I'll thrash you for lying and if you don't answer I'll thrash you for disobedience.'"

The attorney said that this was no way to treat a boy and no way to treat anyone in a free society.

Water Table
May Spur Talk

City Official Might Ask
Discussion of Possible
Contracts With Detroit

The July Fourth holiday has ushered in the traditional season of dropping water tables and mounting discussion about a new source of water for Pontiac.

Contracts that would see Pontiac substitute piped-in Detroit water for local well water have been under study by the City Commission for a number of weeks.

City Manager Walter K. Williams said he may call for a discussion of the contracts at tonight's City Commission meeting.

It's up to the seven commissioners to decide when, if ever, Pontiac makes the big shift to Detroit water.

Williams has called the decision "the biggest" in his ten years as Pontiac city manager.

A switch to Detroit water would see a big pipeline extended north to the southern city limits over an 18-month period.

While the line is being laid, the city would have to install a new, larger water main through the center of town to distribute the Detroit water.

$3-MILLION ISSUE

It was estimated that a $3-million revenue bond issue would be necessary to pay for the new main.

To pay for the water and to retire the bonds would require an estimated 250-300 per cent boost in water bills, beginning in 1963 or thereafter. About that time, sewage bills will probably be going up, too, because of added costs to operate new facilities now under construction.

Fears that Pontiac's well system would someday fail to support residential and industrial water needs have been the main concern of water planners for many years.

The worst lot the city got was in August of 1955 when the water table dropped to 125 feet below the surface at the Walnut Street plant.

That mark—125 feet—is considered the lowest the city can go for useable water.

After that, because five new wells were added and the others modernized so that in the past five years the city's 21 wells have not been in much trouble.

The water table came back up for a while, but then headed downward again.

Heavy Traffic
in Area Fails to Materialize

Only 1 Death Recorded on Oakland Roads as Many Get Early Start

Heavy traffic predicted in Oakland County for late yesterday when Fourth of July motorists were expected to glut the highways on their way home failed to materialize.

Forewarned of the probability of traffic jam-ups on overcrowded roads, many motorists left lakes and cottages earlier throughout the day.

The result was a steady traffic flow with few mishaps, Pontiac state police reported.

In fact, Michigan's 12 deaths in traffic were among the lowest in the nation among states of comparable size.

Oakland County's single traffic death will put it in a favorable position when statistics within the state are compared.

Troopers credited the sobriety of drivers with holding the local traffic fatality count to one.

A Drayton Plains man was killed when his car rammed a roadside abutment near his home Saturday morning.

Elsewhere in the state the traffic death toll of 12 was a little more than a third of the toll at the similar four-day Memorial Day holiday when 37 deaths resulted from traffic accidents.

Still to be recorded are delayed deaths in hospitals that result from traffic injuries over the weekend.

Safety leaders attributed the lower death rate in Michigan to more careful driving by motorists and a safety campaign carried out by various agencies.

Despite thousands of bathers who flocked to the 42 lakes in Oakland County over the holiday weekend, a single drowning was recorded.

An estimated 75,000 small boats took to the water here over the weekend, according to Sheriff's deputy Donald Krest, who heads the water patrol division.

He reported boat traffic was heavier than it has been before this year.

Pontiac Wins at Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Spectators at Daytona's "Firecracker 250" yesterday saw Pontiacs take seven of the first 10 places, and set a new speed record.

David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., averaged 154.294 miles per hour to capture the event, driving a 1961 Pontiac. The old world record for that distance was 146.842, set last July 4 in a similar race.

Britain Raps Russ

GENEVA (AP)—Britain accused the Soviet Union today of refusing to negotiate a treaty to suspend nuclear weapons testing and reducing the conference to the level of cold war propaganda.

Pontiacs finished third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth and tenth.

Prerace favorite Glenn (Fireball) Roberts set the pace through much of the race. But last he had chances when a tire blew 50 miles from the finish. After a quick pit stop, he finished fifth.

Drivers with Ford took second, seventh and ninth.

Chase on Dixie Nets Two Boys, and Stolen Car

Pontiac State Police topped off their holiday traffic patrol with a wild chase on Dixie Highway from M15 to downtown Pontiac early this morning.

Arrested and turned over to Saginaw police were two 16-year-old boys from Saginaw.

Troopers Lawrence Miller and Joseph Kenderzinski said the teenagers stole a car in Saginaw last night.

Pontiac area police were alerted when the two stopped to get gas south of Flint and sped away from the service station without paying the attendant.

The local troopers spotted them at M15 and chased the teen-agers south at speeds of 80 to 90 miles an hour. Troopers said the driver failed to heed warnings to stop and "ran the patrol car off the highway several times."

Miller fired two shots at the speeding car as it crossed the intersection of Oakland and Baldwin.

"The second shot smashed their right window and they stopped at Oakland and Lafayette," said Miller. Neither boy offered any resistance when stopped.

Troopers quoted the teen-agers as saying they were "headed south to get a job." The chase, which began at 1:10 a.m. lasted seven minutes.

Starting to Rebuild 18 Old Xway Bridges

LANSING (AP). — Eighteen bridges built nearly 20 years ago as part of a wartime emergency highway construction project are going to be rebuilt, says State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The bridges stretch along nine intersections between Dearborn and Ypsilanti on the oldest section of I-94 Expressway, formerly known as the Detroit Industrial Expressway.

Reconstruction started today.

The highway was built to serve scores of war plants during World War II. Because of a steel shortage, the bridges were built entirely of concrete and have since deteriorated.

New decks will be put in on all nine, Mackie said. The bridges are located at Telegraph Road, Rotunda Drive, Oakwood Boulevard, Ecorse Road (M-17), Inkster Road, Middle Belt Road, Wayne Road and Shook Road.

Heeds Call of Duty

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP)—Duty can be a stern taskmaster, as Meter Maid Phyllis Hagen keeps telling her husband, Hartley. He parked the family car downtown and returned to find it ticketed for over-time parking — by Phyllis.

Color Scheme to Be Tried on Chicago Street

CHICAGO (UPI). — "Color streets" will be tested on Chicago Avenue soon and if the scheme is successful, there may be "color highways" all over Illinois.

Approaches to Chicago Avenue sections will be painted yellow and the intersections themselves will be red, according to a plan announced by Illinois and Cook County (Chicago) highway officials.

The color will be provided by a new plastic material which can be mixed in any color. The only colors used at first will be red and yellow at intersections and black or white elsewhere, officials said. If the test is successful, they said, they would color other Chicago streets and outlying highways in Cook County.

Red-tinted concrete already is in use to mark exit ramps along Cook County expressways.

After All, How Fast Can a Fellow Read?

WIRRAL, England (AP). — A reader wrote the local librarian complaining that a book he borrowed had been stamped by error for return on the same day. "Admittedly," he wrote, "the book is entitled 'How To Speed Up Your Reading' but this is ridiculous."

U.S. Says It Gave Money to Angolans

LISBON, Portugal (AP). — The American Embassy said Tuesday the U.S. government has given $350,000 worth of aid to victims of the rebellion in Portugal's West African territory of Angola.

The statement followed a Portuguese denial in Luanda, Angola, that the U.S. government had given such aid. The charity organization Caritas in Luanda said the U.S. government "had given nothing and had nothing to do with the gift. It came from the American Caritas," the organization said. The embassy said the U.S. government had supplied the aid sent to Angola and that Caritas had merely handled distribution.

Mayor's Consistent— Gives Good Police Rest

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP). — Mayor Ben West has given five-day paid vacations to two police bank robbers minutes after two holdups Monday.

Referring to a number of disciplinary suspensions given other policemen recently, West said, "If we give them five days without pay for bad work why don't we give these men five days with pay for good work?" The vacations went to motorcycle officer Frank Hancock and detective C. O. Robinson.

Feuds Delaying Drive in Congo

Campaign to Reconvene Parliament Bogs Down Despite U.N. Attempts

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The drive to reconvene the Congolese Parliament was bogged down today in feuds and second thoughts despite impatient U.N. attempts to restore Democratic government in the year-old republic.

Maneuvering for influence and position among Leopoldville politicians threatened to kill the momentum built up last month when President Joseph Kasavubu announced the reopening of the national legislature after over nine months of nonparliamentary government.

Kasavubu, Premier Joseph Ileo and his ministers were plagued by growing fears that voting in the Parliament might go against them.

Ileo has never received a parliamentary vote of confidence. Diplomatic observers give him little chance to survive once the legislature reconvenes.

Kasavubu himself was reported fearful of being ousted by someone more acceptable to the leftist Stanleyville regime of Antoine Gizenga.

The Leopoldville army chief, Gen. Joseph Mobutu, and his close political ally, Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, are also key figures in the jockeying. Their close and friendly association with Katanga President Moise Tshombe after he was released from custody has local politicians and U.N. officials worried that the army chief is thinking about making a grab for power.

Another obstacle to the reconvening of Parliament came Tuesday from the Katanga capital of Elisabethville, where the provincial assembly refused to ratify Tshombe's pledge that Katanga boutiques would participate in the Leopoldville assembly.

The Katanga legislature rejected all the agreements Tshombe signed providing for closer cooperation between his secessionist state and the central government. The developments were a blow to U.N. negotiators who have worked intensively for weeks to get Parliament back into session to elect a government representing all factions.

Man Fatally Wounded in 'Family Argument'

SAGINAW — Leon Hart, 39, of Saginaw was fatally wounded Tuesday by his father-in-law in what police said was a family argument.

The father-in-law, Alice Aldis, 85, suffered a heart attack after the shooting and was in critical condition today at Saginaw General Hospital.

Kefauver Urges Halt to High Price of Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., today urged Congress to deal with what he called "price gouging" in the sale of medicines and false "advertising claims" for new drugs.

His remarks were in a statement prepared for the start of hearings on his bill which seeks to place the drug manufacturing industry under stern new federal policing.

Kefauver said his bill would encourage competition and thus reduce medicine prices without resorting to direct federal control over drug prices.

The measure is the product of nearly two years of investigation by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

'I Asked Swap' —Eichmann

Nazi Says He Planned Offer to Trade Allied Prisoners for Trucks

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann asserted today that he dreamed up a plan to trade 10,000 Jewish lives for 10,000 trucks because another Nazi official was hectoring him on his Jewish emigration preserve and anyhow "I had no work to do."

Spectators in the packed Jerusalem courtroom laughed grimacingly as Eichmann, grinning and gesturing, claimed his whole idea was to restore his own slipping standing with his Nazi bosses.

The man who is being tried as the master killer who sent six million Jews to their deaths depicted himself as a small-time Nazi official with no work to do and almost out of a job, who had to do something to boost his own position.

Answering questions by his West German attorney Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann also flatly denied having anything to do with shipping 450,000 Hungarian Jews to gas chambers. The orders all came from the Nazi ambassador in Budapest, Dr. Edmund Veesenmayer, he claimed.

He also categorically denied having any part in sending Jews on the notorious "death march" from Budapest to the Austrian frontier in the autumn of 1944.

The Israeli prosecution alleges he did so in direct defiance of orders by his U.S. boss Heinrich Himmler to call off deportations and executions of Jews.

Thousands of Jews perished of cold, sickness and hunger or were shot by guards.

"I did not initiate this and I had no actual part in the foot marches," Eichmann claimed.

Family Awaits Son of Author

Patrick Hemingway to Arrive Today; Catholic Rites Thursday

KETCHUM, Idaho (AP)—The family of author Ernest Hemingway today awaited the arrival of his son Patrick from Africa before holding simple graveside services at the public cemetery here.

The family said Patrick had telegraphed he expected to arrive sometime today. On that basis the funeral was tentatively set for 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

The Rev. Robert J. Waldmann, who will officiate at the service, said Hemingway was entitled to burial rites of the Catholic Church "although he was not as good a member as some others."

Hemingway was converted to the Catholic faith after his second marriage.

"As far as I know, he did not leave or reject the church officially," Father Waldmann said. The priest said the church did not intend to pass judgment on Hemingway's membership. He said the simple rites were "due to the family's request which we are following."

The priest also said the church accepted the ruling of authorities that Hemingway died Sunday of a "self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head." Officials made no determination of whether the shooting was accidental or otherwise.

"We will not go beyond the ruling of the authorities," said Father Waldmann.

Search Boy for Body of Harbor Springs Boy

HARBOR SPRINGS (AP) — A rural Harbor Springs youth was missing and believed drowned today in a boating mishap about 25 feet from shore in Little Traverse Bay.

State police and Coast Guard searchers sought the body of 16-year-old William Cupps. Three companions told authorities Cupps was attempting to board a sailboat from a small paddboat when the smaller craft capsize and tossed him into the water.

First broadcast of London's Big Ben was made in 1921.

Asks U.S. to Halt 'Harassing' of Riders

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—With some Negro leaders forecasting more "freedom rides" into expanded fields and others calling for a slowdown, still others looked to day to the federal government to halt what they called harassment of riders in the South.

James Farmer, national director and a founder of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), Tuesday promised the expanded move.

Farmer, 42-year-old New York Negro who was released Tuesday on bond after serving three weeks for breach of peace, said "freedom rides" would expand into new fields in an attack against southern segregation.

He told a news conference the assaults would include more rides and "much more to follow along this and different lines in the spirit of nonviolence."

Shooting Victim Still in Hospital

Officer Sees No Malice in Case of Stephen Wise Injuring Wife

A July 4 shooting victim was in poor condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today as the prosecutor's office closed the case of Mrs. Genny Wise as an accident.

Asst. Prosecutor Anthony Renne said after he took a statement yesterday from the woman's husband, Stephen, 27, 8911 Exton Road, Independence Township, that the early morning shooting "was an accident and there was no malice."

As Mrs. Wise, 27, was caring for a friend injured in a flat fight following a drinking party at her home, Wise accidentally discharged a .45-caliber pistol.

The bullet passed through two walls striking Mrs. Wise in the abdomen, Renne said.

She was under surgery for more than three hours.

Wise, an employee of General Motors Truck & Coach Division, along with his wife, said he took the weapon out of a holster when he believed some men were returning to the home to resume the fight.

Ernest Hemingway

The death of ERNEST HEMINGWAY, who enjoyed the intense admiration of untold millions was sudden and, as might be expected with HEMINGWAY, violent.

He leaves behind an outstanding collection of short stories and novels. His writing was ranked with the best of the 20th Century.

Hemingway lived as he wrote in a virile fashion. He enjoyed every minute of it, because it was his way of life. A soldier of fortune, with a bit of reporter thrown in and to top it off, a literary genius without formal schooling.

He was truly a man's man. He did big things with big people and seemed to bask in the publicity which surrounded him.

It's too bad that a shadow is cast on the report of his death. During his lifetime he had always been straightforward, and we can't help but feel that he wished to die the same way.

He will be missed by many, especially all those who appreciated his competence in writing an earthy yarn.

Youngsters to Exhibit Craftsmanship in D.C.

In August the National Housing Center will have an exhibit in the Nation's capital that is intended in part as an answer to those who say craftsmanship in America is dead.

The show will display 150 items drawn from 40,000 submitted in ceramics, woodwork, wrought metal and other materials by secondary school students all over the country.

A spokesman for the exhibit says of the entries that "their professional exactness is incredible." If so, it is indeed a heartening sign.

Yet, there are many observers of U.S. life today who feel there has been much justice in the criticisms of our workmanship.

They will be looking for broader evidences that Americans not only can master a craft, but have that individual pride of workmanship that must necessarily support such mastery.

Criticism of State Dept. Is Often Justifiable

Our State Department is certainly the brunt of all kinds of jibes such as the misuse of our foreign aid, and in many instances we feel the criticism is justified.

Perhaps one of the problems the U.S. State Department faces is the fact that they have too many fingers in too many pies. If they are spread too thin, it is relatively impossible to do a thorough job on any one project.

A new facet of their work has come to our attention and since it has to do with medical schools throughout the world in areas where trained doctors may number no more than one in 200,000 persons maybe they are out of their league.

A noted American physician, Dr. Thomas H. Weller of the Harvard School of Public Health, has taken the administration of this medical missionary program to task for trying to provide medicine too far advanced for the back countries of Africa and Asia.

It is possible to overshoot the goal in medicine as well as in foreign aid. The doctor who specializes in cancer research among peoples whose life expectancy is 35 years and who die most commonly from starvation, tuberculosis or pneumonia is wasting his talents.

What these people need is help in the most elementary medical safeguards, instruction in the fundamentals of sanitation and someone to show them the difference between existing on a diet of raw meat and a simply balanced nutritional diet.

Yet, in many places it is the specialist, the highly respected laboratory researcher, the superbly trained doctor of international repute who is emulated by native medical students.

But the people they will treat do not live long enough to fall ill to heart ailments or cancer. They succumb at an early age from diseases which were mastered 50 years ago in this country.

Taking the few persons capable of aiding the health of their people and training them for completely irrelevant areas of their profession is indeed another waste of American taxpayers' money and tragic misuse of scarce native talent.

The Man About Town

Local Wild Life

Oakland County Animals and Birds Get Friendly

Morning after: What often is worse after a holiday.

A pair of pet squirrels at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Orcutt of Drayton Plains have become too domesticated. If they're shut out of the house, they start chewing their way through a door.

A young woodchuck, now less than a year old, that is a pet of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lemper of Commerce, is proving that he is a real ground hog by digging holes in their lawn.

The nest of a ruffed grouse near the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stalker of Lake Orion has yielded a brood of those usually scarce and cautious birds that have become good mixers in the Stalker poultry yard.

A quartet of deer are regular visitors to the premises of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Dowdy who live just off the Dixie Highway, 16 miles northwest of Pontiac. They dote on the strawberry plants, and even are quite friendly with the family dog who at first was afraid of them.

What is evidently the same blacksnake has been near a bridge over the Clinton River near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Kneph of Waterford for several years. It comes on to their lawn, and the children have seen it catch mice.

What pleases the innermost cockles of a falling heart is the news from our circulation department that the re-orders of people who bought copies of our Centennial issue exceed anything in the previous history of the paper.

The recent death at South Haven of Mrs. Edith Curran, formerly of Pontiac, took place on her 92nd birthday.

With an Oakland County heritage, Frederick R. Elliott of Flint has been chosen regional chairman of the Michigan United Fund. His mother was the former Miss Florence Ripley of Holly.

You'll quite agree with Elmer Under of Rochester, who phones that the Detroit Tigers' success is largely due to the Alkaline Solution that they administer to their opponents.

The calico cat in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Buntington of Waterford has given birth to four all-white kittens.

Verbal Orchids to -

Hemingway Like His Characters

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Ernest Hemingway's people confronted death as something not to be postponed, as Hector in Homer's Iliad did when he stepped running to face Achilles, armed but without hope.

Hemingway said 26 years ago, long before illness overtook him, "I must write because I do not write a certain amount I do not enjoy the rest of my life."

It is a reasonable guess the prospect of years of invalidism, or at least marginal vitality, took the joy out of life for him.

This may be too simple for future analysts seeking the meaning of the shotgun blast which killed him last Sunday. You can almost read them now: "The woods were full of literary frauds and second-raters who played it cute and safe, wrote strictly for bucks, suffered from the Bell Tolls' and then ruined it altogether by making his people talk as people never talked. His prize-winning 'The Old Man and the Sea' was simply an allegory about man's wretched struggle against the uncaring universe.

But no one can ever really understand—perhaps feel—is a better word—what Hemingway really meant to American literature unless he was alive and living in those middle 1920s when Hemingway's work began.

THE LITERARY PIGEON-FANCYERS who like cooling or a message mauling him. But he was no sooth-sayer, he used words like rocks, and, in the beginning he had no message.

THE MUSCLES OF MUSCLES
Maxwell Geismar once wrote that Hemingway's people "act as if thought is unthinkable."

This was true. He was an artist, writing about the muscles of the heart, not the capillaries of the brain. The muscles got tired as he grew older. His best work was his early work: the short stories, "The Sun Also Rises," "A Farewell to Arms," some parts of "Death in the Afternoon," some parts of "To Have and Have Not."

IT WAS DOWNHILL AFTER THAT—although for him it was up on the mountain for most of his contemporaries—as if he had listened too much to the critics who wanted a message, who said he had no social consciousness.

IN THOSE early days he showed none of it. Why should he have? He was an artist writing about people in trouble as he saw them, without moral judgments. He had one measuring rod: to write "truly." It was his own word.

HAD A MESSAGE
He knew what happened to writers who listened to critics. He talked about them in "Green Hills of Africa," if they believe the critics when they say they are rotten and they lose confidence.

HE BEGAN to have a message in "To Have and Have Not." It spoiled a brilliant book. Before then he could have written about the sudden, brutal switch of Henry Morgan to murder because someone film-flamed him.

NOW he made Morgan an example of the class struggle, a grotesque distortion. Hemingway put a moral tone into "For Whom the Bells Toll," which the chief justice said was perhaps the strangest case that had come before the court, the court said a husband has no right to be there, and the attending physician has the right to exclude the husband.

I wonder what the harried doctors, the 19th century hospitals and the courts of Manitoba think of the teaching of the profession of medicine in a great Philadelphia medical school that the place for a man is at his wife's side when their baby is being born?

Probably they'll recite the familiar piece about keeping the delivery room "sterile"—a humorous idea, in view of the traffic in and out of the room in the course of the delivery; and about doctors and nurses being too busy to stop and take care of fainting husbands — husbands, they imply, are all sissies.

THE LEAST a real man can do if he is a good husband is to study along with his wife everything the studies in relation to the hygiene of pregnancy, prenatal care and childbirth, so that when the time comes, he won't be a tutee in the nintyhammer the 19th century hospital "officials" like to ridicule and push around.

The first piece printed in this column was titled "The Bridegroom's Health Certificate." In it I told why a young man proposing to marry should prevent his local certificate to the girl's parent or guardian.

The first piece printed in this column was titled "The Bridegroom's Health Certificate." In it I told why a young man proposing to marry should prevent his local certificate to the girl's parent or guardian.

The piece brought numerous jibes, most of them anonymous, arguing that the prospective bride should be required to have a health certificate, too.

I was inclined to dismiss such a theory as unsound — but that was years ago, before young Victorian anemia, or pumped out sex-shockers which disappeared in the garbage can.

SOME HONEST MEN
There were some honest men writing, like Theodore Dreiser and Sherwood Anderson, who tried to cut new roads with stories about the world as they saw it themselves, but Dreiser was clumsy and Anderson was sentimental.

Then Hemingway, who used his ears to listen and not to keep his half off his chin, broke through to write about talk as it's spoken and life as it is. He wrote to write and not for money. He made no concessions.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Man's Presence at Birth 'Tightens Marriage Bond'

The battle between warm-hearted human beings and cold-blooded hospitals over the question of the separation of man and wife at the supreme moment of their wedded life went to court in Winnipeg, Manitoba, when a man claimed the right to be present with his wife when their baby was being delivered, but was excluded by the doctor.

The man didn't take it as meekly as most of them do. He had enough Canadian character to fight and a self-respect to do something about it. He said the court.

THE MANITOBAN COURT of Queen's Bench, whether a father or expectant father had the right to be present at the birth of his child.

Then Hemingway, who used his ears to listen and not to keep his half off his chin, broke through to write about talk as it's spoken and life as it is. He wrote to write and not for money. He made no concessions.

THE MANITOBAN COURT of Queen's Bench, whether a father or expectant father had the right to be present at the birth of his child.

In a decision, which the chief justice said was perhaps the strangest case that had come before the court, the court said a husband has no right to be there, and the attending physician has the right to exclude the husband.

I wonder what the harried doctors, the 19th century hospitals and the courts of Manitoba think of the teaching of the profession of medicine in a great Philadelphia medical school that the place for a man is at his wife's side when their baby is being born?

Voice of the People

'Don't Gripe About Schools if You Neglected to Vote'

The recent school election was a disgrace. Everywhere you go people are griping about the way schools are run, and they are only griping because they didn't vote. Next time anyone complains to me about schools, I'll ask if he voted. If not, I won't even acknowledge his complaints. People like that deserve to be ignored.

'Some Costumes Are Disgraceful'

When I see some of the costumes your white squaws and maidens wear downtown, I am aghast. My great-great (13 times) grandfather would have been humiliated looking to the outer reaches of the Great Forests that they appeared in similar garb.

'Why Does Kennedy Have Lady Doctor?'

Every time I see a picture of Kennedy's doctor, it hits a nerve. With all the fine male physicians, why in the world would a man want a woman doctor? Or was that, too, just a public relations stunt, designed to pick up even more female support?

Transvestism Affects Both Sexes

CASE J-433: Tom T., aged 31, has been married for 7 years.

"Dr. Crane, I am worried," his devoted wife confessed, "for Tom is peculiar."

"One day I came home unexpectedly and found him dressed in my lingerie."

"He blushed and said he was just trying to see how he would look in a woman's clothes."

"That satisfied me at the moment, but later I have found that he has an abnormal fondness for my underthings. Why, he wears them under his clothing, even at work."

"Is Tom a homosexual or is he losing his mind or what?"

TRANSTVESTISM
This desire of one sex to wear the clothing of the opposite, is called transvestism.

It is now so common among women that it usually goes unnoticed, since girls have adopted slacks and blue jeans and men's style of shirts, even to the wearing of "impudic" ties.

And the safety razor manufacturers now publicly advertise razors for use by women.

But as soon as a man attempts to use a woman's articles of apparel, or even her cosmetic aids, he is viewed askance.

And he is generally regarded as a homosexual, for the "female" partner in a male homosexual union is often addicted to swigs, lipstick, female lingerie, etc.

Incidentally, a lot of you wives of platonic husbands might well adopt some lacer, more feminine lingerie, plus a change of perfume.

Digression Pills Disgrace Reader

What next? Now they're putting out a "family size" bottle of indigestion pills. What's more revolting than the thought of a whole family stuffing to the point of gurgling and then all taking pills to "neutralize acidity"? I think the whole world's losing its mind.

'Invite the U.N. to U.S. A-Tests'

Let World Body Watch Blasts for Peace Uses, Humphrey Urges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations should be invited to monitor and inspect a limited program of U.S. underground nuclear tests for peaceful purposes, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., suggested today.

He also proposed turning over to the United Nations the data and results of such tests.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader and chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, said in a statement that U.N. inspection of the tests would give the Soviet Union "a clear alternative to the impasse which now exists in the test ban negotiations."

"Its delegates may vote to join this project of testing for peaceful purposes or face the censure of world opinion by voting against our resolution," Humphrey stressed he was not suggesting a resumption of military nuclear tests.

He urged President Kennedy to direct the U.S. delegation to sponsor a resolution in the coming session of the General Assembly advocating establishment of a U.N. control system for the American testing program.

"There can be no workable treaty for a test ban until we have developed effective methods to detect underground nuclear explosions. Such methods can be perfected only through a responsible research program which includes underground nuclear testing," Humphrey said.

He described the Geneva test ban negotiations as "hopelessly bogged down."

Ruin by Bruin Quickly Leads to His Undoing

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—A friend gave John Fitch an orphaned male bear cub the other day.

Fitch, 37, who had been hunting for bear all week with nary a sight of one, was delighted. He brought the cub home in a box.

The 30-pound animal took over the garage and the backyard, stripped Fitch's apricot tree, tried to climb the fig tree but gave up because it was too slippery and harassed the family's dog and pet turtle.

When he didn't have anything else to do, the cub, named Bigfoot by the Fitches, nibbled faintly on flowers. That was too much for Fitch. Today the cub is nibbling bars at the San Diego zoo, and Fitch is repairing his backyard.

The last holiday weekend accidental death reported in Delaware was during last Christmas. It, too, was a traffic fatality.

MacArthur Says War Won't Provide Solution

MANILA (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur told the Philippine Congress today that the Philippines' scientific advancement in the development of military weapons "has destroyed the possibility of war being a medium for the practical settlement of international differences."

"Global war has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides," said the 81-year-old leader of World War II and the Korean War.

"No longer is it a weapon of adventure—the short cut to international power. If you lose, you are annihilated. If you win, you stand only to lose."

"No longer does it possess even the chance of the winner of a duel—it contains now only the germs of double suicide."

MacArthur's appearance before the cheering Congress was the high spot of the third day of return to the Philippines after 15 years. Filipino enthusiasm for their World War II liberator continued without letup.

HITS AT TRUMAN

The old soldier once more in effect criticized former President Harry Truman and other political leaders during the Korean War for not letting him carry the United Nations offensive to Red Chinese territory.

"With victory in our grasp," said MacArthur, "and without the use of the atom bomb—which we needed no more than then against Japan—we failed to see it through."

"Had we done so we would have destroyed Red China's capability of waging modern war for generations to come. Our failure to win that war was a major disaster for the free world."

"The fatal consequences are now increasingly being felt in the military rise of Red China into a mighty colossus which threatens all of Asia and bids fair to emerge as the balance of military power in the world. This would jeopardize freedom on all continents."

'GREAT ILLUSIONS'

MacArthur said if global war could be outlawed "it would mark the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount." But he warned that "it may take another cataclysm of destruction to prove the bald truth that the further evolution of civilization cannot take place until global war is abolished."

MacArthur said the present world tensions are fostered by two great illusions:

"The one a complete belief on the part of the Soviet world that capitalistic countries are preparing to attack them; that sooner or later we intend to strike."

"And the other, a complete belief on the part of the capitalistic countries that the Soviets are preparing to attack us; that sooner or later they intend to strike."

MacArthur said, "Both are wrong. Each side so far as the masses are concerned, is desirous of peace. Both dread war, but the constant acceleration of preparation may, without specific intent, ultimately precipitate a kind of spontaneous combustion."

Before his speech to Congress, MacArthur lunched with more than 2,500 of his Filipino World War II comrades and received from the men who had served in the battered, battered units on Corregidor and Batan and those who had taken to the hills to fight as guerrillas against the Japanese.

'Jukebox' May Give Information About Church

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Persons visiting Roman Catholic churches may soon be able to get their information from a whispering jukebox-like device.

The gadget, officially described as a "plurilingual automatic phonodiffuser," has received qualified approval by the Vatican's sacred congregation of rites. It is now up to the bishops of each individual diocese to say yes or no.

The "phonodiffuser" is a slot machine giving information on the church's history and artistic beauties. You insert a coin, put on earphones, and listen to the information in the language you choose.

Killed in Car Plunge

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (U.P.)—Mrs. Richard Filetstra, 54, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was killed Monday when the car driven by her husband plunged down an embankment about 22 miles west of Golden, B.C. Filetstra was not injured seriously.

Crosses Remind Motorists of Highway Toll

PARIS, Ky. (AP)—Small, white crosses by the hundreds dotted roads leading into Paris, a reminder of the nation's highway toll.

Boy Scouts throughout the long Fourth of July weekend marked each traffic death nationally by putting up two crosses.

As the toll surged upward late Tuesday, the scouts made an extra 150 crosses and prepared to assemble others to keep an accurate count on highway deaths.

Nab Anti-Castroites Protesting at Game

NEW YORK (UPI)—Twelve Cubans were arrested Tuesday for staging an anti-Castro demonstration on the field at Yankee Stadium during a baseball game between the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees.

The demonstrators carried banners which read "Help us in fighting communism or you'll cry, too."

They were hustled off the field by police before a standing-room-only crowd of more than 75,000, the largest to attend a baseball game at Yankee Stadium since 1947.

National Guard Ready to Train

Will Start on Saturday at Camp Grayling and Phelps Collins

CAMP GRAYLING (U)—Michigan National Guardsmen, arriving by plane, train and motor vehicle, begin 15 days of training Saturday at Camp Grayling.

All National Guardsmen begin their training the same day at Phelps Collins Base at Alpena.

Some 9,500 guardsmen will take part in the training exercises.

Infantry units from the Detroit area, Grand Rapids, Flint, Bay City, Alma and Lapeer will fly to Camp Grayling in C-119 Flying Boxcars.

The big troop carriers will land about five miles from the camp and the infantrymen then will stage a mock assault on the installation.

Maj. Gen. Cecil J. Kennedy, commanding general of Michigan's 46th Infantry Division, said that "in addition to the airborne operation, there will be platoon and section tests in every arm and service of the division. The medical battalion will set up and operate its facilities in the field just as it would in combat."

Kennedy said infantrymen will use live ammunition for the first time. He said a railroad over which realistic targets can be moved has been set up.

Shah Urges Students to Remember Iran

TEHRAN (AP)—The Shah of Iran Tuesday told 207 Iranian students studying in the United States and now on a home visit that Iran needs trained experts to implement development projects.

He urged the students to return home after graduation to take over technical jobs from foreign experts now engaged on development works in Iran. In recent years, many Iranian students have stayed on in the United States after graduation.

Newly United Church Faces 2-Way Race for Presidency

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

PHILADELPHIA—A brick, two-way contest shaped up today for the presidency of the newly constituted United Church of Christ, its highest administrative office.

Rank-and-file forces put the Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner, of Philadelphia, into the race, challenging a nominating committee's choice, the Rev. Dr. Ben M. Herberster, of Norwood, Ohio.

The balloting comes this afternoon, a day after the constitution of the new 2-million-member denomination was declared in effect.

It unites the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church, the first merger in the country of denominations of different national origins and ecclesiastical structure.

AFTER 21 YEARS
Enactment of the constitution climaxed 21 years of preliminary steps.

Gasoline Explodes Injuring Workmen

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Three storage tanks containing 285,000 gallons of gasoline exploded and burned early today at a fuel storage plant on the James River.

Two workmen were injured in the spectacular blaze at the Crown Central Petroleum Corp. loading pier. One was hospitalized in critical condition, the other was not seriously injured.

Two other men in the area managed to swim to safety.

Flames shot 150 feet into the air several hours after the first explosion, which occurred as a barge adjacent to the pier was transferring fuel.

Franklyn Farnum Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Franklyn Farnum, 83, veteran actor, died of cancer Tuesday at the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital.

Police Need Helmets to Fight Off Children

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police here have been ordered to put on plastic "combat" helmets when they turn off fire hydrants on hot summer days to protect them from brickbats tossed by children.

The order was issued because of frequent attacks on officers who must turn off hydrants that have been opened without authorization by young and old peering relief from the heat.

Student Loan Plan

OUR school has made available to its students a plan for financing tuition payments with a national organization that is devoted exclusively to education financing. Through The Student Loan Plan students may make reduced monthly payments that extend beyond the completion of their course.

There is no good reason why any worthy young man or woman should forego the admitted advantages of specialized training just because they might feel their present financial condition should delay this opportunity.

It is immaterial to the school which plan of payment you adopt. The Student Loan Plan will enable you to act NOW. Ask about details at the school.

Start Picking Jury for Murder Trial

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A task of selecting a jury from a panel of nearly 100 persons today opened the Circuit Court trial of Otto Peebles on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of his wife.

Court sources said 15 preliminary challenges without cause were allowed the prosecution and 20 for the defense. Unlimited challenges on grounds of jury prejudice are allowed both sides.

Judge Fred N. Searl presides at the trial which aides of Prosecutor Richard V. Laghiglia estimate will take up to two weeks.

Peebles, 42, a gun collector and co-owner of a Rockford metal industries plant, is charged in the March 13 gunning death of his 41-year-old wife, Louise.

She was fatally wounded at a nearby Silver Lake home in the company of Roy Staples, 44, a Columbus, Ind., sales engineer.

Electronic Device Could Be Aid to Sub Steering

WASHINGTON (AP)—Piloting a submarine soon may be like steering the family car along a highway, Navy researchers said today.

They reported recent successful tests of a new electronic device displaying a simulated highway on a TV-type screen. It gives the effect of looking through a "windshield" at a road.

Although the system still is experimental, the researchers said, the recent tests aboard the nuclear submarine Shark "have thus far indicated that the system is entirely feasible."

A worldwide communication system using 50 satellites has been planned. These would re-broadcast and not merely reflect.

13 Prisoners Strike, Then Police Arrive

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—Thirteen prisoners were back in their cells today in Lawrence County Jail after barricading themselves in a cell block in a brief demonstration.

The inmates removed two cell doors and used these to barricade the main door leading into the cell block Tuesday night.

They then demanded to see a newspaper reporter.

"They had some kind of a gripe," said Deputy Warden Harry Gregor.

Roseville Man Jailed by Pennsylvania Law

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two men were in the Uniontown city jail today awaiting a hearing on charges of stealing money from pay telephone coin boxes.

Charged with burglary are Glenn Harold, 31, of West Newton, Pa., and James E. Hensley, 27, of Roseville, Mich.

Police Chief Louis Martinak of nearby Perryopolis said he arrested the pair on Route 51 8 miles north of Perryopolis early Tuesday after a high-speed auto chase.

Hijack $1,500 in Melons

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Thieves hooked their own tractor-truck onto a parked 33-foot trailer and hijacked 20 tons of watermelons valued at $1,500, police were told.

Highest point in Texas is Guadalupe Peak with a 9,000 foot elevation.

All-State High School Bandsmen at Interlochen

Among the nine Pontiac students at the National Music Camp at Interlochen who were chosen to be members of the All-State High School Band are (from left) Kathy Murphy, flute; Peg Coppersmith, saxophone; Barbara Vahlbusch, bass clarinet; Jill Anderson, clarinet; and Donna Rofe, flute. They will complete the intensive two-week session with a final concert at 12:45 p.m. Sunday.

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

The first of the All-State sessions at the National Music Camp at Interlochen is under way, with nine local students participating in the two-week session of the All-State High School Band.

From Pontiac Northern, Pontiac Central and Washington Junior High Schools come instrumentalists Kathy Murphy, Peg Coppersmith, Barbara Vahlbusch, Jill Anderson, Donna Rofe, Delores Dumity, Lyle Velte, Paul Aldo and Leon LeDuff. They are among students from all over the state working intensively for two weeks under the baton of Harry Begian of Livonia.

During their stay, they live in rustic log cabins under the towering pines of the world-famed camp on the shores of Lakes Wabekannetta and Wabekanes. They rehearse daily with the entire orchestra, work out difficult passages and compete for seating in sectional groups, study privately if they choose and attend classes in theory or conducting.

RECREATION, TOO

In addition they carry on a lively recreation program that includes swimming, volleyball, tennis, campfires and skits.

Their camp is separate in identity from the other eight camps in this bustling music community—but their identity is parallel. They all are part of the Interlochen whole, which represents the finest traditions and highest ideals in character and performance of the arts.

In its 34th season, the camp is the dream come true of Dr. Joseph Maddy, a music educator now in his seventies. So great is his influence on musical young people over the years that parents have requested the program be extended into a year-round academy of the arts. Beginning in the fall of 1962 when permanent winter facilities have been completed on the campus, the year-round school will begin operation.

All-State students have the privilege of attending all concerts during their camp stay.

In addition to the two Sunday concerts they present, they have had the opportunity of hearing concerts by the National High School Choir, the combined National High School orchestras and faculty drama and dance concerts with well-known performers in the theater and dance who are members of the Interlochen faculty.

THEY RETURN

Such a rich environment in the arts invariably draws All-State campers back in future years for the full 8-week session. Pontiac has two such campers this year in the National High School Symphony Orchestra and the National High School Philharmonic Orchestra—cellist David Eicher and violinist Jean Rutula, both of whom have been All-State campers in previous years and are scholarship students at the camp.

Well termed the "Summer Capitol of the Arts," Interlochen will host some 3,000 students by summer's end when the All-State programs in drama, piano, orchestra and choir have completed their sessions.

Good brass instrumentalists are in demand for Interlochen's All-State sessions. Among 200 All-Staters at the camp this past two weeks have been Pontiac brass players (from left) Delores Dumity, French horn; Lyle Velte, percussion; Paul Aldo, cornet; and Leon LeDuff, trombone. They are among students from Pontiac Northern, Pontiac Central and Washington Junior High School chosen for the All-State High School Band.

Abby Says: Mouth, Too

Shut Your Eyes, Dearie

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law must have a hundred pictures in her living room. She has them perched on every table, and her walls are covered with them. They are all pictures of her children when they were babies. All her children are married now, and she hasn't room for any of the recent pictures we give her because her house is cluttered with this ancient collection.

(He is left-handed.) Can this love last?

OLDER THAN HIM
DEAR OLDER: It can, if you don't keep reminding him that he is left-handed.

DEAR ABBY: I am faced with a very awkward situation. We frequently invite a few friends to our home for a game of cards.

We know a couple and, my husband does business with the man. His wife is real nice, but the husband uses the filthiest language I ever heard. He doesn't have to lose his temper or get excited or anything. He just uses these dirty words.

one after another, for no reason whatever.

I cannot stand this man's talk any longer, and some of our friends who have been in his company in our home feel the same way about him. What can be done (tactfully) about it?

AGAINST DIRTY TALK
DEAR AGAINST: Tell your husband to see his foul-mouthed friend during business hours. If you enjoy the wife's company, socialize with her during the daytime.

325 Witness Marriage of Joyce Louise Mapley

An arch of white gladioli formed the setting for the Saturday wedding of Joyce Louise Mapley and John C. Hovis in Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church. Urns of roses and gladioli banked the altar.

Some 325 witnesses were present for the ceremony performed by Rev. Ronald Carter of Flint's Evangelical United Brethren Church and Rev. Myron Everett of the local U.B. church who administered Holy Communion for the couple.

Parents of the newweds are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mapley of McNeil Street and Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Hovis of Dwight Avenue.

Cascading roses adorned the front of the silk organza bridal gown which was fashioned with Sabrina neckline, short sleeves and a chapel train. Stepanotis and an orchid atop a Bible were held by the bride, who wore her sister's pearls and a Swedish cut-crystal crown with illusion veiling.

Blue chiffon gowns were worn by the attendants who held blue carnations and snapdragons arrangements.

SISTERS OF GROOM
Honor maid Gwendolyn Hovis, the bridegroom's sister, stood with the bride's sister Mrs. Patrick L. Sutton of San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Floyd Hicks, Marilyn Opendorff and Shirley Dobson.

Diane Marton, the bride's godchild, was flower girl, and Jay Green, the bridegroom's cousin, carried the rings.

MRS. JOHN C. HOVIS

man, Vernon Love and Edward Bonner.

At a dinner in First Federal Savings and Loan Building following the afternoon ceremony Mrs. Mapley greeted guests in a pink lace ensemble. Mrs. Hovis wore rose beige lace. Camellias and roses comprised their centers.

Beginning a trip to Northern Michigan, the bride donned a brown print sheath. The couple will live on Mark Avenue, and Mr. Hovis, a former Michigan State University student, will attend Wayne State University in the fall.

Youth, 19, Only Man at Girls' Camp

PARIS, Tex., (UPI) — Doug Kerr, 19, has the kind of a summer job most young men dream about. He is the only male at the Girl Scout camp near Paris and he claims they come in all ages, sizes and giggles.

He is a licensed Red Cross water safety instructor and a landed a job as lifeguard at the camp's swimming pool and as a swimming instructor for the Red Cross in Paris.

The only trouble is he has to be on his good behavior.

"See that road over there," he said, pointing to a strip separating the pool from the more feminine part of the camp. "I'm not allowed to cross it."

"Doug is a fine young man, and an expert swim instructor," said Bob Cox, president of the Red River Valley Girl Scout Council. "He is a real gentleman."

How does he feel, though about all those girls he works with each day?

"They're real good swimming students," he said with a grin. "That's what I'm here for."

Use Cake Make-Up Properly?

Two major mistakes that many women make when applying cake make-up are: (1) not having the sponge wet enough when smoothing on the make-up, and (2) applying face powder while the skin is still moist.

According to a leading beauty authority, if your sponge is not wet enough the make-up will not spread on as evenly and as transparently as it should, and if you apply face powder to a moist surface, it will cake or build up on the damp portions of your face.

HERE'S HOW

The correct procedure is to apply cake make-up with a silk sponge that has been saturated in water, then squeezed until it remains wet but does not drip. After smoothing on the initial application, turn the sponge over to the unused side and blend the make-up again.

This will insure a softer, more natural looking complexion. Then, before applying the face powder, fold a few facial tissues, using them as a blotter, and absorb all excess moisture.

Having done this, your powder will cover your complexion with a light, delicate texture.

Personal News

The Alvin M. Grahams of Michigan Avenue honored their daughter Mrs. Alvah B. Clark at an open house Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Clark has been living with her husband at the Army post in Wiesbaden, Germany for the past two years. He will join his wife and infant daughter Letha Marie here later in the month.

Sandra Lee Gresham Weds Richard Caverly

A reception in Mountain View Association Clubhouse, Waterford, followed the candlelight nuptials of Sandra Lee Gresham to Richard A. Caverly Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church, Clarkston. Rev. William Richards performed the double ceremony before some 150 guests.

The Walter E. Greshams of Maiden Drive, Waterford, are parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Merrill Caverly of Oakview Road, Drayton Plains and the late Mr. Caverly.

Fashioned of floor-length white embroidered tulle, the bridal gown featured a Sabrina neckline, long fitted sleeves and a bouffant skirt with tiered back. The short veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of lace and pearls. A single strand of pearls and colonial bouquet of white roses completed her ensemble.

Attendants appeared in white embroidered organza over powder blue taffeta and wore matching blue crowns with tear-drop pearls. Bridesmaids Diane Taylor of Clarkston, Mrs. Robert Carter of Ulfia and Mrs. Robert Porritt of Ulfia carried white roses and blue-tipped carnations. Maid of honor Kathy Gresham, sister of the bride, held white roses and carnations.

On the esquire side were Arthur Caverly of Oxford, his brother's best man, and Basil Caverly, brother of the bride, and Robert Porritt.

For traveling to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a white pique sheath dress with blue and green print jacket. The couple will live in Waterford until fall when the bridegroom will attend Hillsdale College.

MRS. RICHARD A. CAVERLY

Mrs. Gresham wore pink rosebuds with matching dress of pink lace over tulle. Mrs. Caverly chose black and white silk chiffon over tulle and corsage of white rose and lily.

Experiment; Find Your Best Cream

Letters pour in from readers asking me how to find the right night cream. The best answer is: experiment!

You have the right night cream when your skin feels dewy and moist all day long. A young skin is elastic, an elastic skin is moist. So the cream that is right for you is one that will keep your skin feeling and looking moist.

Chances are very good that your skin is dry; this is the common problem. You may pick a vitamin cream, a cream with polysaturateds, a lanolin cream or a hormone cream. They all have this in common: they ward off dryness and this, in turn, holds off the formation of wrinkles and deep lines.

Bad skin is almost certainly skin which has been neglected. It has not been thoroughly and properly cleansed and it has not been given a careful creaming every single night without fail.

Good Way to Get Out of Rut

Serve Your Community

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A speech given by Les Perlis, director of APT-CIO Community Service Activities, which was given at the 25th Anniversary Conference of The Public Affairs Committee in New York City recently, highlighted the tremendous importance of the way we spend our leisure time.

His address was full of human compassion and an understanding of the need of every human being for "a feeling of purpose, for the sense of drive, for the need to be needed."

He was speaking mainly of the industrial or office worker, who spends only eight out of every 24 hours, five days a week inside the office or plant.

The rest is spent at his home and in his community. There are two full days of leisure each week and many holidays.

Mr. Perlis says, "Effective use of this free time will strengthen him and lengthen his life, disuse or misuse of these extra hours will rob him of zest and purpose and shorten his years."

BOREDOM CAN KILL

All of you who read this column know that I am an enthusiastic advocate of all these ideas, that I believe that boredom can sicken and even kill and that an eager interest, self-investment and the feeling of being needed can rejuvenate one.

Because of the hundreds of thousands of letters I receive from women each year, I know that increased leisure time for the man has affected the woman in the home, too — at least to some extent.

Also, after her children are grown and have left home, she finds herself completely bewildered and lost.

Her heavy responsibilities have ended and modern appliances and conveniences have left her hands idle and her heart restless.

I do not suggest that we do without these modern wonders which make life so comfortable, but rather that the hours they save us be filled with something constructive and vibrant.

Mr. Perlis suggests using these leisure hours in public service. Take an active interest in local and national welfare and the numerous civic and philanthropic organizations which need you and your leisure hours.

There are thousands of voluntary health and welfare agencies and fund raising drives which need you.

Mr. Perlis asks, "Where are the citizens with leisure time who will take the time to do more than has been done in your area — community organization, planning and action for better schools, better parks, proper jails, better roads and the elimination of mosquitoes and grubs and corruption?"

Every chapter in life has its

"When a woman's children have grown, she often finds herself with time on her hands. This woman is keeping herself occupied and at the same time doing a worthy service—working for a philanthropic organization."

benefits and its penalties. So — your children are no longer about you. If you invest in it, you with you and you are no longer so will have the time of your life!

New Employee Must Mind Own Business

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A girl's first week in a new office isn't easy.

Fortunately her work usually demands the strictest attention, so there isn't much time for self-consciousness. But there'll be:

Moments when she feels as uncomfortable as a fish out of water.

Moments when her ignorance about the routine the other workers take so casually will get her down.

Times when she thinks she would gladly swap places with anyone in the office who isn't "new."

The only way for her to overcome those feelings is to concentrate on the work harder than ever and learn as much as she can, as quickly as possible.

She isn't expected to walk in knowing her job "cold" — and feeling as much at home as a senior partner.

In fact, that kind of attitude actually works against a newcomer.

She can, however, give some thought to getting off on the right foot with her associates. If she holds the job, they will be an important part of her life — and the first week is the time for her to gain their respect.

Doing her work well and quietly is one way. Another is not interrupting their work — even though she is eager to "belong" and thinks her excuse will make the interruption seem necessary.

If she is pleasant to everyone who has anything to say to her, she'll get a reputation for being friendly — without taking the chance of seeming to "push."

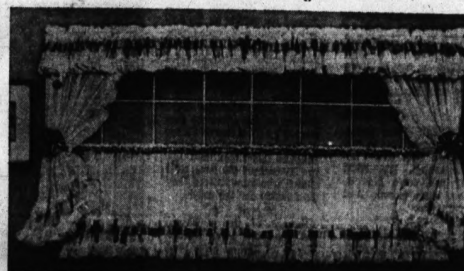

When lunchtime comes she goes alone if no one has said, "How about lunch?" This is no time to hang around waiting to be asked — or to do the asking herself.

She shouldn't make the mistake of rushing to confide in her associates — nor should she pry into their personal lives.

In fact, "minding her business" is the best way for a newcomer in an office to find a place for herself.

Virtue Its Own Reward and That's Enough

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One month Greg got a D in arithmetic. It shocked him so that he stopped jumping over homework examples he couldn't immediately solve.

Next report he got a B for his month's work; and on his test paper found his teacher's comment: "This work shows good improvement."

When he showed this achievement to his mother, she kissed him and said, "That must make you feel nice." Later, to their surprise, his father merely smiled and said, "Want to drive downtown with me to pick up my engineering magazine?"

Nobody rewarded Greg with praise for his industry. Nobody promised to take him to the circus for his steadfastness or paid him a dollar for it.

Nobody suggested in any way that earthly reward always results from virtue, though Greg's parents always are surprising him with gifts of delight in him like a new pen, a box of crayons, a small glass rooster for his bookshelf.

UNJUSTIFIED ACT
I don't think much either of always-rewarding children for virtue.

Parents who feel compelled to produce circus tickets, money and other rewards for a child's industry, helpfulness and other virtues create, I think, an expectation that is unjustified.

The world does not always reward us for moral performance. A brave young man volunteers for military service — and is turned into a paraplegic.

We can spend years working for an employer in the hope that he will reward us with promotion — and find that it's the other fellow who has been promoted instead.

We can sacrifice our need for dental care to send Jimmy to summer camp — and lose two teeth instead of gaining Jimmy's devotion.

"We can spend our whole lives putting on the most virtuous performances only to become sick with depression or rage at the realization that we are not going to be rewarded."

As the man said, "Virtue is its own reward."

Unfortunately the phrase is so hackneyed few of us ever ponder it. Parents should. We have no right whatever to suggest to children that reward always follows virtue. This is not a moral law as Jesus told us when he said, "Great is your reward in heaven."

So we'd better stop confusing earth with heaven for children. Because in adulthood they can become furious with us as they advertising last year.

Cleaning Hint

The Leather Industries of America offers this tip for cleaning bone-colored leather purses and shoes. Simply wipe with a damp cloth which has been wrung from a mild detergent suds. If you want to add luster, apply a neutral wax polish. If you own bone-colored suede, remove soiled spots by rubbing gently with a fine sandpaper or paper emery board.

Make-Up Makes or Breaks Us

By ALICIA HART

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Just a couple of days ago, I saw a revival of a silent movie starring Greta Garbo and John Gilbert. This was a young Greta Garbo and she was very nearly unrecognizable. She had not yet metamorphosed into the pale beauty with lovely facial planes. Here, she was tagged out with frizzy hair, eyebrows like commas and a cupid's bow mouth.

CAN THIS BE?

A young man sitting near me, who obviously was seeing a Garbo picture for the first time, said incredulously: "Is this the face that launched a legend?"

I couldn't much blame him. For this was a very young Garbo and she still retained something akin to baby fat. But most of all, it was her make-up that was grotesque. Part of the time, she appeared a better bet for the role of the vampire in "Dracula."

As the picture staggered to a close, I thought of all those marvelous photographs of her later years. These were the pictures of the haunting beauty with the deep-set eyes. And, of course, the flawless make-up.

The moral to all of this is that make-up is sufficiently important to make or break a woman as a beauty. Today, it is far more subtle than it was in the 1920s. And we are lucky enough, in the 1960s, to benefit by this.

National advertisers invested $104 million more in newspaper advertising in 1960 than they did in 1959.

The older group, age 70 and over, went shopping with someone else and was more likely to patronize a specialty shop. This group preferred one-piece dresses with front openings to the hemline and laced shoes with medium heels.

Income was not as closely income as age in clothing preferences, but a third of the women said they sometimes refused to go out because they lacked proper clothes.

"FORGOTTEN WOMEN?"
Clothing buyers in the same city were also interviewed. Miss Shipley found they did not place emphasis on clothing for older women nor direct any advertising toward them. A low percentage of stock was considered suitable for this group. Department stores and shops carrying less expensive merchandise appeared to have most stock suitable for older women.

Elderly Women Request Wider Range of Styles

EAST LANSING—Style and fit of clothing is more important than price or ease of care when the older woman shops for clothes. That was what 148 women reported during a recent survey in a midwestern city.

Suzanne Shipley, graduate student in home economics at Michigan State University who conducted the study, found that these older women had definite clothing preferences.

NOT SATISFIED

Most of the women interviewed indicated they preferred a wider selection of styles when they shop, and a third of the group said available styles sometimes make them feel older.

Specific clothing preferences included one-piece dresses with side openings. They liked three-quarter length sleeves, gored skirts of mid-calf length, V-shaped necklines and necklines with collars.

Choices were for small prints and solid colors, especially the more subdued, such as navy and light blue. Medium-heeled pumps with closed heels and toes rated highest in shoe styles.

Age seemed to influence interests and preferences. The younger group from 55 to 69, was more interested in style change, shopped more often and desired a wider style selection. They liked matching jackets for dresses and some preferred short sleeves.

The older group, age 70 and over, went shopping with someone else and was more likely to patronize a specialty shop. This group preferred one-piece dresses with front openings to the hemline and laced shoes with medium heels.

Income was not as closely income as age in clothing preferences, but a third of the women said they sometimes refused to go out because they lacked proper clothes.

Out of the Rathskeller, Into the Sky

Germans Eat Kraut on Airy Perch

By GAY PAULEY

STUTTGART, Germany (UPI)—Dining or winning at dizzy heights rapidly is growing into an international fad. San Francisco long has had its Top of the Mark, New York its Rainbow Room and Paris its Eiffel Tower with spectacular views of the surrounding city.

Now, the nation which made world famous the custom of eating in a rathskeller (the rathskeller) also has produced a restaurant among the highest in the world.

It occupies two glass-enclosed floors of a four-story circular "basket," setting like a bump on a skyny, while concrete shaft 498 feet high in Stuttgart's television tower.

The tower itself reaches to 694 feet. One other floor of the basket is for a kitchen and food preparation section, designed for the circular area, the other, for offices, television equipment and technicians.

The tower itself owned by the South German Broadcasting Co., sits in a forested area on a hill high above the city and is visible on good days at least 50 miles away.

"Restaurant Betriebs Fernsehturm" was unique in Europe when it first was opened mere five years ago, said Max Schober, 50, the head waiter whose family for three generations has been in the restaurant business.

Today, several other European cities are copying. Moscow plans a similar tower and dining spot—the tower, twice as high as Stuttgart's—and has invited Dr. Fritz Elhardt, the Stuttgart architect-engineer who designed the original, to Moscow for consultation.

Schober told me that Stuttgart is in the heart of Germany's sauerkraut belt, where its pyramid-shaped cabbage are grown and shipped to various parts of the world.

But the day I dined there with a group of 20 persons on a "get-acquainted" tour of Germany, the nearest thing we had to sauerkraut was a cabbage salad with a cream dressing (modern kraut-salat, the menu read). With it went a rich chicken soup (poulardekraftbruehe mit reicher entlaage), a stuffed veal roll (gefuellte kalbsrolle mit rahtunke), and ice cream with a hot chocolate sauce (vanilleschreime mit herber ingwerschokolade in schlagsahne).

Schober explained that Walter Frohne, the 24-year-old head chef, tried to plan a varied menu to please the restaurants international clientele. But for those who ask for

German dishes, a typical menu would include pork with sauerkraut, some form of potatoes, and the homemade noodles (handgemachte spaetzle) which Stuttgart housewives claim as their own. The noodles are shaved paper-thin into boiling water for a few minutes and then served amply doused with butter.

The tower annually draws a million visitors, and Schober said that the restaurants listed had included Russian diplomats, American millionaires, and just plain folks from all parts of the world.

Coakley-Collins Wedding

Exchange Their Vows

MRS. CHARLES J. COAKLEY

Honeymooning at Eagle Harbor are Charles J. Coakley and his bride, the former Shirley Ann Collins, who exchanged wedding vows Friday evening in Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, Warren.

Rev. John Warkne performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception in the Warren home of the Ernest Marshalls.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Collins of Houghton, the bride chose ballerina-length white Chantilly lace over tulle, styled with Peter Pan collar for her wedding. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of pearls with nylon petals. She held a hand cascade of yellow roses.

Mrs. Gerald Marshall of Warren, wearing pink satin, was her sister's only attendant. Pink roses were arranged in a semi-cascade.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Lawrence Coakley of Stirling Avenue and the late Mr. Coakley, had Gerald Marshall for his best man. The new Mrs. Coakley is a graduate of the Northwest Institute of Medical Technology at Minneapolis, Minn.

Her Dress Good Guide to Stranger

EAST LANSING — Clothing is sometimes used as a guide for identifying the rule and status of a stranger.

Dr. Mary Lou Rosencranz, researcher in the department of textiles, clothing and related arts at Michigan State University, conducted a study on clothing awareness with women in a small Michigan city.

She wanted to determine the importance these women would place on clothing in judging people they did not know. Drawings of people in a variety of situations were used for the study.

The clothing awareness of each woman was matched to her age, background, social class and ability to express her thoughts.

Mrs. Rosencranz found that clothing awareness was greatest in women from the higher social class and those who had higher incomes, more education, organizational membership and magazine readership. She found that the age

Mary Beth Fromm Wed at Ceremony in Pontiac

A floor-length gown of sheer nylon organza was chosen by Mary Beth Fromm for her marriage Saturday evening to William L. Ridenour of Livonia.

The Rev. Richard Stuckmeyer performed the rite in Grace Lutheran Church, before some 175 guests. White chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the altar.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Martin of Riveria Street are the bride's parents. Mr. Ridenour is the son of the Carl Smiths of Livonia.

Appliques of Venice leaf motif and a chapel train accented the skirt of the bride gown which featured a bouque waistline and Sabrina neckline edged in the bodice. Her fingertip pure silk illusion veil was secured by a seed pearl crown. White rubrum lilies, pink rosebuds and ivy comprised her cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Kurt F. Lauckner of Ann Arbor was her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaids included Barbara M. Fletcher of Detroit, Kathryn A. Johnson and Marjorie Atkins.

IDENTICAL DRESSES

The attendants wore identical soft blue embroidered cotton satin sheaths with matching bouffant silk organza overskirts and held cascades of pink rubrum lilies.

Flower girl Gina Lauckner appeared in pale blue bouffant dotted swiss.

The best man was Robert DeHollander of Detroit. Seating guests were Calvin Gleson of Detroit, Kurt F. Lauckner of Ann Arbor and Gary K. Fromm, the bride's brother.

The new Mrs. Ridenour will be graduated from Grace Hospital School of Nursing in September.

Couple on Honeymoon in Northern Michigan

Charity Garcia DeLao became the bride of William P. Kruszewski of Flint Saturday afternoon in an informal ceremony in the residence of Rev. D. B. Pawley of Clarkston.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Armando DeLao of Corpus Christi, Tex., and the late Mr. DeLao. The William Kruszewski of Flint are parents of the bridegroom.

For her wedding, the bride chose ballerina-length white nylon sheer over tulle and fingertip veil of silk illusion caught by a tiara of pearls and crystals. A necklace of white crystals and colonial bouquet of white roses completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Daniel DeLao of River Rouge attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor, wearing a navy blue silk suit and corsage of pink and white carnations. Daniel DeLao was best man.

After a reception at the bride's residence on Navajo Road, the couple left for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan. They will live in Pontiac.

of the women and whether they came from a rural or urban background had no significance on their clothing awareness.

When viewing the pictures in the study, women mentioned clothing most often as a guide for determining occupation, the suitability of clothing for a man or woman, suitability for the occasion, economic status as portrayed by clothing and whether the people were well dressed or poorly dressed.

Mrs. Rosencranz says the women interviewed were more aware of the clothing and accessories worn by women than those worn by men. Thus, women in the pictures were judged more critically by their appearance than were the men.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I like fitted overblouses, yet most of the patterns are cut very straight and boxy. Should I fit them in at the side seams to make them more fitted?" Mrs. J.W.E.

Yes, overblouses can be fitted in to suit the individual figure. You can add darts, but they must be directly in line with your bustline. Perhaps you will find that a dart at the underarm as well as one below the bust will give you the fitting you desire.

You may have a slight curve at the side seam, however, I wouldn't add too much shape here, it is better to shape a garment with darts. You will enjoy sewing so much more when you do not become a slave to any pattern, but consider it a basic shell, and change it until it is most becoming to you.

DEPENDS ON MATERIAL

"Dear Eunice,

"Can you please tell me if there is any way or method to set permanent pleats in fabrics such as voiles, jerseys, percales, etc.?"

Mrs. I.E.A. "Permanent" pleats is a term that has been used rather loosely, and everyone expects too much of it. Pleats that stay in after washing are made with special pleating equipment and done commercially. Even these usually have to be pressed over with a steam iron to make them look sharp.

They usually are only successful in washable fabrics that have a synthetic content in them. This synthetic content, such as nylon, dacron, arnel, etc., that makes a fabric crease resistant, also helps hold the pleats in. The fabrics you mentioned will not stay permanent pleated even if they are pressed commercially.

DON'T PUSH HER

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"My little girl is only 11 years old, but is so interested in learning to sew. Do you think this is too young? She has been making doll clothes for more than a year." Mrs. T.R.

Sometimes a child is pushed into learning to sew just because her mother thinks she should have something to do. This is a mistake and the child might never have a desire to learn because of this first experience.

Since your little girl has expressed such a desire to sew, by all means let her. I would suggest you find a pattern with a very simple over-blouse that could be worn with shorts or a skirt. This would give her experience of applying facings, hems, and just plain straight sewing, along with learning to read pattern instructions. From there, she can gradually go on to more difficult patterns. You can help her most by giving her plenty of enthusiastic praise for her efforts.

Many Rewards Await a Woman at End of Diet

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Did you know that it's far easier on the budget to be slim? This is true for several reasons. Plump or fat people eat more, of course, and thus spend more for food. But that's just the beginning.

The prettiest clothes and therefore the biggest fashion bargains come in small sizes. A woman who is really overweight has to pay more for clothes that are neither here nor there in relation to fashion.

Her shoes wear out faster and must be repaired and replaced often. The same thing is true of lingerie and foundation garments. Hosiery, too. And the upholstered furniture in her home won't last as long or look as well.

For people who are careful about money, this alone should be an incentive to lose weight. Invariably, the woman who loses weight begins to look both younger and prettier.

Students Make Good Use of Vacations

NEW YORK — Over 100,000 American students are traveling to Europe this summer. Student travel has been climbing steeply since the end of World War II.

In 1950, for example, the U. S. Passport Bureau issued 90,000 passports to people who gave their occupations as "student" — an increase of 27 per cent over 1950. Many

Trip Alone If Not Wed Improper

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: I am a man in the mid-fifties. I was married for 25 years when my wife died suddenly two years ago. About a year ago I became very friendly with a woman whom I had known slightly for the past 10 years. She is widowed. We are very fond of each other but she has not quite decided to marry me because of family entanglements.

We plan to take our vacations at the same time and I suggested that we motor out to visit my brother and his wife who lives several hundred miles from here. We would have to spend at least one night in a hotel.

We both like to travel and we would see a part of the country we have never seen before. Considering our ages and our established reputations, do you think we could, in all propriety, do this or not?

A: I'm sorry, but to make this trip alone would not be proper and might lead to gossip.

Q: My husband and I have been married six months. When we visit relatives who should be the one to make the move to leave — my husband or I? I usually say something when we visit my relatives, but when we visit his I think it is his place to make the move to leave.

I feel his relatives will think that I am not enjoying their company if I say something. We both work and I do not like to stay out late at night.

A: It is not very important, but it would be better for him to suggest leaving when you visit relatives of his for the reason that you give.

Q: What kind of letter paper could I order which would be suitable for the whole family to use for all general purposes?

A: Paper stamped with the address only and of conventional size and color suitable for men as well as women members of the family, would be the most correct house paper.

Q: Isn't it an imposition to ask to borrow someone's comb? It seems unbelievable that anyone would ask to borrow anything so personal but there are people who do.

I have had friends ask this of me on several occasions. I dislike anyone using my comb but how can I get out of it without offending the borrower?

A: I agree that one should not ask to borrow another's comb, but as your friends do ask to borrow yours, why not carry two, one for yourself and one for them?

students travel on economical student ships or university chartered flights, and make the grand tour of Europe for astonishingly small sums.

"These days," said one mother, "the kids seem to commute to Europe." They have learned many of the tricks of inexpensive travel from European students, who are veterans at making small travel funds go a long way.

Many low-cost tours jointly arranged by the U. S. National Student Association and the European national student groups have sprung up in the last 10 years.

Camping, although it did not begin in America, has thrived greatly in this country. The first private summer camp for students seems to have been set up in Germany about 1880. Today there is some camping in Germany and in neighboring Scandinavia, but it never "caught on" there as it has here.

As many as 500,000 American youngsters are taking the national trek to summer camps this year — and the movement is growing fast.

Most astonishing of all, Americans are going back to school in the summer in unprecedented numbers. Colleges and universities have long conducted summer sessions, and enrollment in these has been skyrocketing right along with winter-session enrollment.

In the primary and secondary grades, on the other hand, a real revolution is in full swing.

Traditionally, public schools either closed completely or ran only small programs in the summer intended for "flunkers" who had to make up courses they had failed.

Summer school attendance was almost a humiliation and a disgrace. Now more and more public schools are opening their doors in the summer and bright youngsters are eager to attend. No figures on attendance are available, although a 1959 survey showed that half the public schools in urban areas now offer summer programs.

Typical of the new approach is the summer program offered by the public schools of Newton, Mass. These schools are cooperating with Harvard University in the training of superior teachers in a special program supported by the Ford Foundation.

Distinguished liberal arts graduates who enter the Harvard teacher-training program spend their first summer teaching in the Newton schools under expert supervision.

The courses — and the future teachers — are so good that parents have been very anxious to get their children in, and children have been clamoring to attend. Newton has more than twice as many applicants for its summer program as it can handle.

The question of what children do with their summer vacations is an important one, says columnist Dorothy Barclay. For children who stay at home, she strongly urges joint family planning. Nature study trips, pursuit of new hobbies, increased use of such facilities as the YMCA and the library, along with summer games and Jobs, are among the activities that can turn a dull summer into a rewarding one.

She cites a family in Shaker Heights, Ohio, that planned a whole series of inexpensive weekend trips together. They arranged to go aboard tug boats and freighters on the Ohio River.

They toured an oil refinery and a steel mill; they went to fisheries along the river waterfront and talked with workmen and rivermen. The children deeply appreciated their parents' efforts, and the whole family learned things together, at a time when many families are "growing apart."

Summer school vacations began with the Romans. School children in Ancient Rome had such a hard grind that even their severe teachers recognized the need for a break from the routine — hence, the summer vacation.

In Ancient Greece things were different. Wealthy Greek lads pursued schooling throughout the year — but the course was a balanced and fairly relaxed program of the 3 R's, music and gymnastics. In schooling, as in everything the Greeks did, they showed their genius for taking care of all sides of human nature.

America has borrowed the best parts of both the Roman and the Greek views. Summer vacations provide a rest and a change, but recreation is part of education, and work and play go together to make good students.

SAFE!

The Daily Newspaper
Is the Safer, Surer
Advertising Investment

Two questions influence the choice of an advertising medium. First, what does it cost to reach a person with a sales message? Second, how many of those you reach will buy? A typical advertiser can reach a person through newspapers at least as economically as through other media. And the newspaper delivers an audience that likes to read advertising, prefers newspapers with advertising, and shops from advertising. Such an audience guarantees more sales action per message delivered, and makes newspapers the safer, surer ad medium. Why not send the daily newspaper to bat for you?

'Jumbo' Quart Is Still Quart to Paul Adams

LANSING (AP)—A quart is still just 32 ounces even when it's labeled as a "jumbo econo-family size" quart, says Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

In a warning to consumers concerning fraud, Adams said that no matter how long a train of adjectives is tied to it, a quart is just a quart, and a consumer holding a quart is determined amount.

Adams cautioned consumers to be on the lookout for the new or odd-sized container which does not contain one of the standard measures.

"In this way you can help to outlaw a psychological assault on your purse that is often, to say the least, on the borderline of fraud," he said.

Mother of 11 Slain at 4th Celebration

HILLSDALE (AP)—A woman was slashed to death at a Fourth of July celebration on the Hillsdale County fair grounds Tuesday night. Her estranged husband is being held.

Mrs. Lela Marshall, 47, of Hillsdale, mother of 11 children, was the victim. She was dead on arrival at the Hillsdale County Health Center. Her jugular vein was severed.

City police said the husband, George, 53, of Allen, a former Kentuckian, attacked his wife with a pocket knife.

Two of Mrs. Marshall's grown sons, McKinley and Orville, seized the elder Marshall and disarmed him. Marshall was taken to the county jail. Police said he had been treated for a mental condition.

London's Sir Anthony Honored by Earlom

LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden has been made an earl, it was announced today.

Eden resigned as prime minister in January 1957, after the abortive Anglo-French invasion of Suez. He cited ill health as his reason for leaving the nation's highest office.

Blood temperature may be taken by a thermometer so small it may be pushed through a hollow needle inserted into a vein.

$5,000 SUGGESTION — T. F. Wiethorn (left) manager of the Pontiac Plant of Fisher Body Division, presents a $5,000 suggestion award to Harold E. Rioux, who is holding the "$5,000 plastic plug." Wiethorn is pointing to the plug as it is installed in the car body.

Harold E. Rioux Wins $5,000 Fisher Award

T. F. Wiethorn, manager of the Pontiac Plant of Fisher Body Division, presented the plant's first $5,000 suggestion plan award today to Harold E. Rioux, a journeyman panel checker.

The award, largest since the maximum was increased from $2,500 to $5,000 in 1950, was made for the suggested use of a plastic plug to fill an access hole in the shroud, or fire wall, of General Motors' regular sized auto bodies.

A metal plate, attached by a screw and covered with sealer, was previously used.

Rioux, who lives at 9007 Davisburg, is 64 and plans to retire at the end of this year. He will use some of his award money to purchase additional camping equipment for several extended camping trips he and his wife Alice plan to make next year.

A General Motors employee since 1923, he has worked at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac since 1943. During this time he has turned in 21 suggestions, and received six awards totaling $7,500, an average of $381.72 per suggestion submitted.

This is his second maximum award under the program. In 1950 he received the former maximum of $2,500.

Payment of this award brings the total awards at Fisher Body Division to $1,182.

Red to Stay Active Despite Blindness

NEW YORK (AP)—Communist leader Henry Winston pledged today to continue party activity despite blindness and the possibility of being sent back to prison.

He was released from federal custody last Friday by White House direction.

The 30-year-old Negro, who formerly was the party's organizational secretary in this country, claimed he was a political prisoner who finally was freed in "response to the democratic will of the American people."

At a news conference he blamed his blindness on "callous and criminal neglect" by federal officials.

The Justice Department said earlier he was discovered to have a brain tumor while in a federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind. He was permitted to undergo an operation by a private physician.

Brazil became an independent nation Sept. 7, 1822.

Tractor Group Will Discuss Donation Return

DETROIT (AP)—The disbanded Tractors for Freedom Committee met here today to decide how to return public contributions to finance the unsuccessful attempt to trade American farm tractors for Cuban invasion prisoners.

Walter P. Reuther, a co-chairman, conferred at United Auto Workers Union headquarters with Joseph M. Dodge, a Detroit banker who is treasurer of the committee, and Joseph L. Rush Jr., the UAW's attorney in Washington.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, honorary chairman, and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, also a co-chairman, were not expected to attend. Reuther presumably will confer with them by telephone before issuing a statement later today.

McKinley Wins Wimbledon Semi

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Charles (Chuck) McKinley of St. Louis smashed Mike Sangster of England 6-4, 6-4, 8-6 today and gained the final round of the Wimbledon lawn tennis championship. He will meet Rod Laver of Australia for the title Friday.

Laver, runner-up the last two years, bowled over Ramanathan Krishnan of India 6-2, 8-6, 6-2. The left-handed Australian was seeded No. 2, McKinley No. 8.

The McKinley-Sangster match was a battle of sheer power. Both players threw caution to the wind and apparently tried to make every shot a winner.

To Reduce Cleaning Cost

MANSFIELD, Ohio (UPI)—Automatic, coin-operated machines that dry clean suits, coats and dresses in loads up to 8 pounds have been introduced by Westinghouse Electric Corp. and others for use in neighborhood laundry shops. The dry cleaning units are supposed to reduce cleaning costs by nearly 80 per cent.

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian government reportedly has decided to reject President Kennedy's plea that it join the Organization of American States (OAS).

Durable Goods Spending Slows

Rises 1 Per Cent Last Five Years Compared to 8 for 1946-55

ANN ARBOR (AP)—If you live in an average household, your family has about $7,000 invested in your car, refrigerator and other durable goods.

If you tried to sell them today, you'd probably get about $3,300, allowing for normal wear and tear.

Your spending for these durable goods, if you followed the national pattern, increased at a phenomenal rate—6 per cent annually—from 1946 through 1955.

However, for the past five years, your investment in cars and the like has increased only 1 per cent annually.

These were some of the highlights of an analysis of "consumer durables: stocks and expenditures," published by the Foundation for Research in Human Behavior, an independent organization headquartered at the University of Michigan.

POINTS OUT FACTORS

Written by William F. Butler, vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, the analysis was based on work done by Raymond Goldsmith of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Butler pointed out the relative size and condition of consumer goods nationally, the amount of income people receive, their feelings about the economy and their cash and debt position all influence buying decisions.

The average American household today has a net investment, after allowing for normal wear and tear, of about $300 in autos and $2,400 in other durable goods, Butler said.

Nationally, the net value of consumer durables is four times as great as the total amount of consumer installment credit outstanding, more than half the value of business investment in plant and equipment and probably greater than the entire Soviet investment in plant and equipment, Butler noted.

GOING UP—A breathtaking view of the countryside is awaiting these youngsters on their way to the top of Lookout Bridge at the Holly Ski Area in Groveland Township. Visitors who take the chairlift ride can see 15 miles in all directions from the ridge. The chairlift, the only one located in southeastern Michigan, is one of several summer attractions at Mount Holly.

Holly Hill Goes Western as Hot Weather Resort

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP—Win- ter sportsmen accustomed to seeing the Mount Holly Ski Area only after a heavy snowfall has covered its slopes would hardly recognize it now.

The popular winter resort on U.S. 10, two miles north of Grange Hall Road, has been transformed into a summer playground with an atmosphere right out of the Wild West.

Now located at Mount Holly is a western trading post, a barnyard complete with lambs, goats and calves and a corral where pony rides are available for children.

One of the feature attractions will be an authentic replica of a Wells Fargo stagecoach, according to the owner of the ski-area, Morton Graddis, 1135 Vaughn Rd., Birmingham.

Graddis said another stagecoach is available for rides presently but he is awaiting delivery soon of a handmade model which is being built in Chicago.

FREE PICNIC AREA

A large free picnic area is provided for visitors to Mount Holly, which is on the northern section of the Holly Recreation Area. Campsites, swimming and additional picnic tables are available at the nearby recreation area operated by the Parks and Recreation Division of the Michigan Conservation Department.

Mount Holly opened as a summer picnic and recreation area over the Fourth of July weekend.

Graddis said it is for people who are looking for something different in summertime recreation.

The Western theme also is carried out at the winter ski lodge which has been turned into a snack bar featuring such items as gold nugget sundaes, lumberjack ice cream cones and cowpuncher sodas.

Rides are offered on the chairlift at Mount Holly, the only one

Novi's Medlyn Will Leave Post

School Superintendent to Head Placement Unit at University of Indiana

NOVI — Dr. William H. Medlyn will leave his post as superintendent of the Novi Community School District July 31 to take up a position at the University of Indiana.

Medlyn, 36, was appointed superintendent of the old Novi School District No. 8 in 1954 and he was given charge of the Novi Community School District when it was consolidated in 1956.

He will head the college and university placement bureau at the University of Indiana where he also will act as a consultant on education and school planning.

Medlyn filled a dual role with the district. Besides serving as superintendent, he was also principal of Orchard Hills Elementary School, which was constructed during his administration.

The Novi Board of Education has not yet named a successor for Medlyn. However, board members have elected Dr. Walter Ambinder as their new president for 1961-62.

Ambinder succeeds Arthur J. Healy, who refused a nomination for another term at the board's organizational meeting. John MacBride was elected secretary and David Fried was named treasurer. MacBride replaces Russell Taylor as board secretary.

Fried succeeds Edward A. Erwin who he defeated in the annual school election June 12.

Roman Candle Hits Troy Boy, 3, He's Burned

TROY — A 3-year-old Waterford Township boy, injured while playing with fireworks here last night, was reported in satisfactory condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital—Pontiac.

Bradford S. Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Walters of 6026 Williams Lake Road, suffered burns and lacerations to his face and head when struck by a lighted Roman candle.

Bradford was visiting his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Walters at 6720 Coolidge Road when the accident occurred about 10:30 p.m.

Troy police said Bradford was a group of children who were playing with sparklers in his grandparents' yard. Fireworks were left on a picnic table in the yard.

One of the children apparently got too close to the picnic table and accidentally touched off the Roman candle which struck the boy in the head, according to police.

Charges Ex-Law Dean and Wife, Three Others With Being Spies

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's military rulers pressed their anti-Communist campaign with new vigor today, charging a former law school dean, his wife and three others with being Communist spies.

The military junta leveled the spy charges, which carry a maximum penalty of death, after accusing John M. Chang, former premier ousted in the May 16 coup, and 11 of his associates, in collaborating with the Communists. All are being held.

The junta also ordered stiff new penalties for sympathizing or trafficking with the Communists. The stepped-up campaign was considered a smokescreen to divert attention from Monday's shakedown in which Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-ho took over as chairman of the ruling junta and named Song Yu-chan, a retired lieutenant general, his prime minister. Pak thus pushed Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yong from both key posts, contending South Korea needed more aggressive leadership.

Accused of spying for the Reds were Chin Sung-nok, former dean of Seoul University Law School and a chairman of the Civil Service Commission under ex-President Syngman Rhee; his wife, Kong Myung-ki; her brother, Kong Kyu-min, and two others.

Utica Trucker Is Barred From Teamster Confab

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Norman Angel, 47253 Jeffery St., Utica, a trucker who claims he was beaten by Teamster Union agents, was refused entry to the union's national convention here Tuesday.

Teamster officials said Angel was denied admittance because he lacked credentials identifying him as a delegate.

They said no one without an official convention badge was allowed entry to convention headquarters.

Angel claimed he was choked and shaken up April 17 at Teamster headquarters in Detroit. He also said he was beaten at Detroit's Cobo Hall June 28. The union denied any connection with the Cobo Hall incident.

Angel's difficulties with the union arose when he protested he lost his truck driving job because truck cargoes were diverted to railroads.

Solon Is Critical of U.S. Waste in Space Work

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A member of the House Space Committee today said President Kennedy's stepped-up program to put man on the moon may be delayed by the waste of critical resources.

Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, D-Conn., called on the House to carefully review the $1.5 billion authorization for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for the fiscal year which began last Saturday.

"While I thoroughly agree with the urgency and need," Daddario said in a statement, "I believe the best way to do it is by building on existing work and facilities where they are available."

Daddario said he was especially concerned by NASA's attempts to build a scientific staff and facilities to do research on the life sciences when the Air Force already has 1,300 engineers and technicians engaged in the same field.

Tales of Hemingway's Life in Havana Full of Color

Ernest Hemingway, celebrated by President Kennedy as a true "Citizen of the World," wrote novels and short stories about every corner of the globe to which his adventurous spirit happened to lead him.

And from his years of experience on this Caribbean island, now torn by violence and political strife, came the book that many consider his greatest achievement — "The Old Man and the Sea."

At the famed Floridita Restaurant in Havana he had a special corner reserved for him at the bar. Above the corner, which was his kingdom, the management had a bust of its hero on a shelf. When Hemingway was in town the bust was uncovered. When he was out of town, a cloth sack was draped over it.

Hemingway was a lover of Cuba's famed daiquiri, a frosted rum drink which he consumed in great quantities.

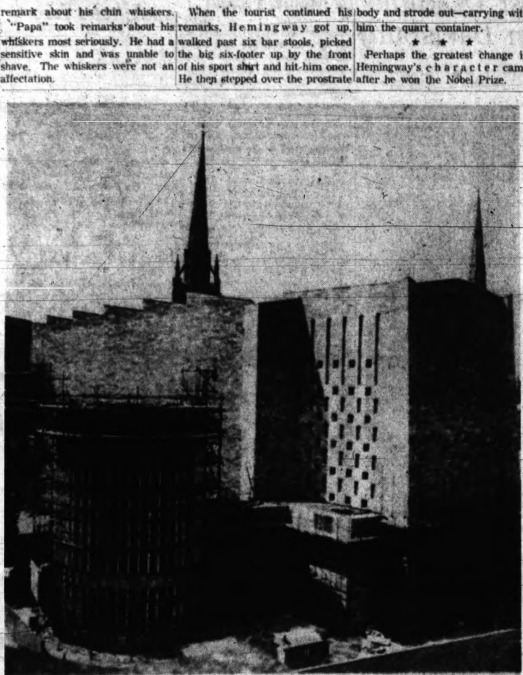

He drank 30 to 40 daiquiris in wine glasses a day when he was at the Floridita. When he left for his country farm some 15 miles distant the bar prepared a quart container to keep him cool on the drive out in his station wagon.

The tales of Hemingway in Havana are endless.

There was the time when a tourist at the bar made a scolding remark about his chin whiskers. When the tourist continued his body and strode out—carrying with him the quart container.

Perhaps the greatest change in Hemingway's character came after he won the Nobel Prize.

He then stopped over the prostitute after he won the Nobel Prize.

TRILL OF HIS LIFE

On one occasion a correspondent wrote him that he had received a note from a messenger boy in New York planning a vacation in Cuba saying it would be the greatest thrill of his life if he could see Hemingway during the few days in the Cuban capital.

The great heart of Hemingway responded with what was to be the gracious trademark of his character in his later life.

"I would be honored to see the young man," Hemingway replied. "My time is at its disposal when he arrives. Please call me and let me know when I can talk to him."

For several years in Cuba, following his airplane accident on an African safari in 1934, Hemingway lived literally standing up. For several years he was not able to sit down and performed all of his functions as well as his literary work standing up.

In Cuba, Hemingway was worshipped as a genius. The government and people regarded him with awe. To the American residents, he was a symbol of the greatness of their country.

He was rarely seen in public but he managed to attend most athletic functions. He completed each year in the Cuban Tourist Institute-sponsored fishing contest for the Ernest Hemingway Trophy and won it personally several times.

LIVED QUIET LIFE

Hemingway and his fourth wife Mary were ideally suited to each other. They lived a quiet life on their country farm where they entertained scores of friends from all over the world throughout the years.

From time to time they were seen at the gambling casinos of Havana where Hemingway took a flag at roulette now and then.

I knew Hemingway in a formal fashion more than 15 years. Our relationship was on a strictly "Mr." basis.

However, a warm bond of mutual respect surrounded this relationship and Hemingway was available at any time of the day or night, at work or at rest, to answer questions.

Dedicate Frigate Launched in 1797 as Monument

BALTIMORE (AP) — The U.S. frigate Constitution, described by Undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr. as "older than the Navy itself," was dedicated as a permanent monument.

The ship, bedecked with flags, launched here in 1797 as the first ship commissioned by the U.S. Navy, was returned to its home port for the last time in 1958.

The Constitution has been rebuilt, renovated and repaired many times since its launching.

"One thing we have to have in the spirit that drove this ship," Fay told a crowd of several thousand which turned out at a downtown pier to see the Constitution, and two modern destroyers and a submarine.

Book Explores Strategy in Presidential Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy scored his razor-thin election victory over Richard M. Nixon because of perfectionist planning and a weakness in Nixon's over-all strategy, according to a book appearing today in bookstores.

The volume, entitled "The Making of the President," was written by Theodore H. White, novelist and former foreign correspondent.

White, who explores the campaign from strategy conferences in 1956 through the Nov. 3 voting, recites many "ifs" which might have reversed the outcome. But he concludes that these were "truth and facts" on the Kennedy and Nixon strategies.

White writes that accidents befell both sides. But the Nixon strategy — or lack of it — made the Republicans more vulnerable, he concludes.

He says the major elements in the Kennedy strategy included concentration on northeastern industrial states, emphasis on civil rights and cultivation of suburban voters. The South was left to running-mate Lyndon B. Johnson.

White suggests Nixon might have won the election if he had handled the civil rights issue differently.

LOSES BOTH

He says the former vice president took a relatively liberal civil rights stand at the Republican convention and then let the issue become blurred in an effort to win the South.

White believes that Nixon either should have struck boldly for the North or campaigned for the Northern Negro vote. He says that Nixon lost both by trying to win both.

"This is one of Nixon's characteristic and fatal flaws — that he presents too often a split image," the author says.

White reports that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller laid down extraordinary terms for his meeting with Nixon which produced the so-called Fifth Avenue compact on the eve of the GOP convention.

The book says Rockefeller demanded that Nixon request the meeting personally, that it be held in the governor's New York home and that it be kept secret until issued by Rockefeller.

In contrast, White says, the Kennedy camp cultivated the press. The author concludes that there is no doubt the difference in treatment colored the dispatches of reporters assigned to the two candidates.

James Hoffa Calls Editorial Garbage

MIAMI-BEACH (UPI) — Delegates to the Teamsters convention Tuesday adopted a resolution protesting the "unfairness" of a newspaper editorial which compared Union President James R. Hoffa to a dictator.

Hoffa called the opinion of the Miami Herald "pure rot and garbage."

The newspaper said the Union convention and Hoffa's candidacy for a five-year term were reminiscent of controlled elections in Hitler's Germany, Spain and Soviet bloc nations.

The 48-year-old Hoffa called a news conference to criticize the newspaper for its opinion and the 2,000 delegates they adopted the resolution formally, censuring the Herald for printing the editorial.

Plan Lots of Peach Dishes—Supply Is Huge

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor
Well, dear readers, now is a time when you can help yourselves and someone else too.

We're sure you have noticed how many peaches are in the stores and how reasonable they are. The other day we had a note from the Fresh Peach Council asking our help in the peach situation.

It seems that the California peaches and the southern ones are hitting the market at the same time. Would we encourage you, our readers, to buy and use lots of peaches? Can't think of a more pleasant task right now.

Peach Shortcake is almost as good as Strawberry Shortcake. This particular recipe calls for a spicy sauce instead of the more usual whipped cream to top the shortcake. Lemon-lime carbonated beverage is the secret. It keeps the sliced peaches from darkening too quickly also.

Spiced Peach Shortcake
(Serves) 1 (one) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
1/2 lb. 1/2 cup sugar (to taste)
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon lemon juice
4 cups sliced fresh peaches
8 shortcakes

Pour lemon-lime carbonated beverage into a saucepan. Heat to boiling. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Stir into the boiling lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Continue cooking and stirring until thickened slightly and clear. Add cinnamon, lemon juice and peaches. Cook for about 5 minutes longer, stirring constantly.

For each serving spoon warm peaches with syrup between layers on top of slit shortcake or sponge cake. Makes 6 servings.

Deep Dish Picnic Pies are baked in the oven, then warmed over the outdoor grill in their little foil pans. They're best served with either cheese or ice cream for garnish.

If you don't have a light hand with pie crust, don't worry. These pies are crust-less.

Deep Dish Picnic Pies
8 cups sliced nectarines OR peaches
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup flour
2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup butter

Mix nectarines or peaches, granulated sugar and flour lightly but thoroughly. Spread in pie pans. Mix brown sugar and flour. Cut butter into flour-sugar mixture until crumbly; spread over fruit in pie pans. Bake 25-35 minutes; remove to cooling rack. Serve warm with ice cream or Cheddar cheese slices. Makes 5 servings.

There's a new flavor of gelatin just recently put on the grocery shelves. You'll find the orange-pineapple flavor an excellent one for salads and desserts. In this recipe you simply fold diced fresh peaches into the slightly thickened gelatin.

Peach Dessert
1 cup boiling water
1 regular size package (3 ounces) orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup cold water (for a 1-quart mold) peaches and water to 1 1/2 cups
1 1/2 cups sliced fresh peaches

Add boiling water to gelatin. Stir well to dissolve completely. Then add cold water. Pour into individual molds or serving dish. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in diced peaches. Chill until firm. Makes 6 servings.

Lemon Whey

Pour into boiling milk as much lemon juice as will make a small quantity quite clear; dilute with hot water to an agreeable smart acid and put in a bit or two of sugar. This is less heating than if made of wine, and, if only to excite perspiration, answers as well.

Serve Chicken in New Ways

Light, refreshing luncheons are the order of the day during the warm summer months. Chicken can fill the bill of fare in many tempting sandwiches and salads. And chicken is a wise choice now, with broilers and fryers at exceptionally attractive prices.

For a quick yet satisfying treat try a "Chicken-Roquefort Sandwich." Spread toast with mayonnaise. Add slices of cooked chicken and crisp lettuce. Close the sandwich with another piece of toast spread with mashed Roquefort or Blue Cheese. Cut the sandwiches diagonally, and spear each half with a pickle or olive topped wooden pick.

On the more glamorous side try "Chicken Mousse," a shimmering salad delight.

Softer, egg package of unflavored gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water, and dissolve in 2 cups of hot chicken stock or bouillon. Season with grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, paprika, salt and pepper. Chill until slightly thickened. Mix in 2 cups sliced cooked chicken, 1/2 cup finely chopped celery and 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper.

Reconstitute 1/2 cup nonfat-dry milk with 1/2 cup water and beat until stiff. Beat in 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Fold into the gelatin mixture and chill until firm. Serve on crisp watercress or other salad greens.

Fish Fritters

Take the remains of any fish which has been served the preceding day, remove the bones and pound it in a mortar; add bread crumbs and mashed potatoes in equal quantities; mix together half a teaspoon of cream with 2 eggs; well beaten, some cayenne pepper and anchovy sauce; beat all up to a proper consistency, cut it into small cakes and fry them in boiling lard.

Ladies Love Sipping Sodas for Dessert

This menu is fun to serve at a ladies' lunch, but have low-calorie beverages on hand for any weight-watcher.

Seafod Salad Melba Toast

Special Chocolate Ice Cream Soda

2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons instant coffee,
2 cups chilled milk
1 teaspoon almond extract
2 bottles (8 ounces each) sparkling water

1 quart chocolate ice cream
Mix sugar and instant coffee; dissolve in a little milk; mix in point it in a mortar; add bread crumbs and mashed potatoes in equal quantities; mix together half a teaspoon of cream with 2 eggs; well beaten, some cayenne pepper and anchovy sauce; beat all up to a proper consistency, cut it into small cakes and fry them in boiling lard.

Divide milk mixture among the glasses; fill almost to top with sparkling water and stir gently to blend liquids. Top each glass with a large scoop of the remaining ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Meat in Summer Is a Necessity

Did anyone ever tell you, "Don't eat meat in the summer"? They were referring to an old fallacy a few people still believe that meat overheats the body and is not healthful summer eating.

Although your family may prefer light meals in the summer composed mainly of cold foods, their daily requirements of protein, vitamins and minerals are the same as during the other seasons. Meat and other high protein foods from animal sources are essential foods in the everyday diet regardless of weather and temperature, the American Meat Institute reports.

Diet built around meat do not heat the body any more than do similar diets built around other protein foods. Besides supplying necessary proteins, vitamins and minerals, meat sharpens the appetite and promotes good digestion, important factors to remember in summer meal planning.

Glamorous Recipes Have Gelatin Base

Each of us has "extra special" party. The event was held in the dramatic garden setting of a private home in Pasadena. Guests came from 6:00 p. m. until 9:00 p. m. to parade by beautifully set exhibit tables. Then the guests moved on to the terrace and garden where dining arrangements had been made to serve the gourmet foods.

Of the dozens of dishes offered at this taste-testing party, gelatin recipes made a particular hit. Three recipes are given here from the Pasadena event. They would be family, as well as party treats.

The members in charge of the benefit prepared dozens of their most interesting dishes... hors d'oeuvres, salads, main dishes and desserts... to serve at the tasting.

Roquefort Mousse, might well make a home appearance served with cold, sliced meats. The Chicken Almond main dish is an excellent hot weather recommendation. It combines diced, cooked chicken with green grapes and silvered toasted almonds in a cool smooth base of whipped cream, mayonnaise and unflavored gelatin.

The dessert, Pasadena Bavarian, has a custard base made with eggs, milk, commercial sour cream and whipped cream plus unflavored gelatin. It is handsomely garnished with fruit at serving time.

Turn into 1½-quart mold. Chill until firm. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Roquefort Mousse

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup Roquefort or blue cheese
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine gelatin and salt in a saucepan; stir in water. Place over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Gradually blend gelatin mixture into mayonnaise. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Fold in chicken, grapes and almonds. Fold in whipped cream.

whipped cream. Turn into 5 cup mold. Chill until firm. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Pasadena Bavarian

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup almond extract
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine unflavored gelatin, sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together milk and egg yolks; add to gelatin mixture. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly.

Remove from water. Add almond extract and vanilla. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold sour cream into gelatin mixture. Then fold in egg whites and whipped cream. Turn into 1½-quart mold. Chill until firm. Serve with fresh fruit. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Sauce for Mackerel

Wash and boil green fennel, mint and parsley, a little of each, until tender. Drain and press them, chop them fine, and add melted butter; serve up immediately. If the herbs mix long with the butter, they will be discolored.

According to estimates, local advertisers in 1960 placed 10 times as much advertising in newspapers as they did in television; nearly 7 times as much as in radio, and over 42 times as much as in outdoor.

Chunky Peanut Butter Stirred Into Pudding

Not exactly "hearty pudding" but certainly a mighty quick one to prepare is this crunchy good Cocoa-Peanut Pudding made with evaporated milk. For this family treat place 1 plug (about 4-oz.) chocolate pudding and pie filling mix (not instant) in a saucepan, then stir in 1 tall can evaporated milk and 1/2 cup water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 3 minutes.

Remove from heat and stir in 1/2 cup chunky-style peanut butter. Cover and chill. At serving time spoon pudding into four dessert dishes. Sprinkle with chopped salted peanuts, if desired. Serve immediately.

Skillet Meat Loaf Made With Beer

No longer a step-child in the kitchen, meat loaf is dressed in many forms and stars at mealtime throughout the year. For a change, and an easy-to-prepare family supper on a warm summer's day, try skillet meat loaf livened with a zesty flavor of beer or ale.

Beer blends the egg and dry ingredients, and makes gravy right in the pan, along with a touch of chili sauce. Cooking meat loaf in a skillet on top of the stove has the double advantage of keeping your kitchen that much cooler, and gravy and heat to serving temperature, enabling you to serve the dish in a hurry. ## Little Folks Will Like Fruit Refreshments

Everybody loves a party, but especially wee people like Christopher Robin and other Teddy Bear-keepers. Their bright button-eyes will pop too when they sit down to festive fare for the five-foot-unders such as orange cupicles on sticks and a grapefruit-grape cooler served in petite party cups. Children love to make things and they will have a lot of fun putting together their own cookie sandwiches with a creamy orange filling.

Orange Cupicles
Orange cupicles require only partially reconstituted orange juice concentrate, poured into paper cups and set in freezer. When the mixture is partially frozen wooden spoons or sticks are inserted and the cupicles frozen solid.
A delicious, colorful, and at the same time healthful, punch for the little ones is made from grape juice and canned or frozen Florida grapefruit juice.
Reconstitute 1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate with 1 1/2 cans cold water. Pour into 1-ounce paper cups and set into freezer. When mixture is partially frozen, insert wooden spoons or sticks. Freeze until solid. To remove from cup, push up on the bottom until the cupicle slides out. Yield: 15 cupicles.

Note: Recipe may be doubled and ice cube tray with divider used to freeze mixture.

Grapefruit-Grape Cooler
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups grape juice, drained
2 cups grapefruit juice (canned or reconstituted frozen)
Dissolve sugar in 1/2 cup of grape juice over low heat. Add to remaining grape juice and grapefruit juice. Chill. Yield: 4 1/2 cups.
Subway construction was started in New York City as early as 1869.

Cornmeal Cookies Unique in Flavor

These "different" cookies are favorites of New Mexican residents of Spanish ancestry.
Cornmeal Cookies
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup cornmeal
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup egg (slightly beaten)
1/2 cup milk (about)
Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Melt butter; stir in cornmeal and sugar; cool. Stir in egg and flour mixture. Gradually add just enough of the milk to be able to make small balls (walnut size) of the mixture without having it crumble; men.

Prune Tart
Scald the prunes, then take out the stones and break them; put the kernels into a little cranberry juice with the prunes and some sugar. Simmer—and when cold, make a tart of the sweetmeat, or eat it any other way.
About 95 per cent. of the physicians in the United States are men.

Castro Loses Beans to U.S.

You might not expect to find beans mixed up in international politics, but the abundant supply of red beans in the food stores these days can be accounted for by the chilly relations between the United States and Mr. Castro of Cuba. For many years, Cubans depended on the United States for a good share of the red kidney beans and the small red beans which are an important part of the Cuban diet.

But this country is not shipping beans or much of anything else to Cuba. So the red beans are staying at home, waiting for us to eat. Here's a hearty dish for a chilly spring evening, suggested by home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture: BEANS IN CHEESE SAUCE. You'll need 3 cups of beans which already have been cooked. Kidney beans or small red beans are ideal, but you may prefer one of the white varieties, such as Navy beans.

Melt 1 tablespoon of butter and blend with 1 tablespoon of flour. Add 1 cup milk slowly, and cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add 1 cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and stir until cheese is melted. Put in graced baking dish and bake at 350 degrees, (moderate oven) about 30 minutes. Serves 4 persons.

The nutrition experts point out that beans are rich in protein, and energy, and adding cheese enriches the dish even more in these important nutrients.

Dried Beef an Aid to Summer Cooking

When every second counts or when you're wilted from the heat, you'll find meats-in-a-can are a real hot weather asset. For instance, select a can or a jar of dried beef, mix the contents with a well-seasoned cream sauce and heap the creamed beef on crisp toast points and you'll have a speedy supper main dish.

Have you ever wondered just how a meat packer prepared dried beef? Preserving meats by drying has been a process known to man for centuries, says the American Meat Institute, but the modern way of drying beef is this: Pieces of lean beef rounds are soaked in a brine or pickling solution under closely controlled conditions. After ten or fifteen days, the meat is hung in a "drying house"—until thoroughly dried. Then, to give the meat that good smoke flavor, the dried beef is smoked and then dried again. Finally the beef is sliced paper thin, packed and sent on its way to you for use in quick and easy meals. This concentrated form of protein is especially good for camping trips, but equally at home at elegant patio parties.

Says U.S. Tries to Starve Cuba

Fidel Claims Russians Offer Lard to Replace Load Cut Off by U.S.

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro claims the United States is trying to force Cubans to go hungry by embargoing food exports to Cuba. In a nationwide television-radio address Tuesday night, the prime minister accused the United States again of economic aggression and said the Soviet Union had offered Cuba 10,000 tons of lard to make up for a U.S. shipment of 12 carloads that was stopped last week.

(Castro did not explain the circumstances of the embargo on the hard shipment. A Florida court ordered the shipment seized to help satisfy a $425,000 bill the Cuban government tourist agency owes a Miami advertising agency.)

Castro called the lard seizure the latest act of "imperialist aggression" and announced Cubans would have to cut down on fats until production can replace U.S. imports. Cuba has depended on the United States for most of its lard, but Castro said Cuba would buy no more U.S. lard, imports of which, he said, had run to $20 million a year.

WILL BE RATIONED

The prime minister announced that Cubans, who normally consume about 40½ pounds of fats per person annually, would be rationed one pound of oil and one pound of lard a month.

Castro also complained about the seizure of a Cuban twin-engine Monday. The plane, hijacked in flight by some of its passengers, was seized when it landed to be applied toward the Miami advertising firm's judgment. Three Cuban crop-dusting planes that landed in the Florida keys also were seized for the same reason.

Castro termed Adlai Stevenson's recent tour of South America as President Kennedy's special envoy a vain effort to build up an aggressive anti-Cuban front.

Radio Moscow Announcers May Have Red Faces

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today broadcast four 10-month-old news items, including a report of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's arrival in Finland.

While Khrushchev slept in his Moscow bed, an early morning newscast told of his welcome to Finland by President Urho Kekkonen. The visit was last September.

The newscast included three U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld welcoming news that Khrushchev would attend the General Assembly; the arrest of Congolese political leader Jean Bulikango, and the winning of gold medals by Soviet athletes at the Rome Olympics.

"It looks as though someone picked up an old file tape by mistake," said an official at the British Broadcasting Corporation's monitoring station. "I understand it has happened once before."

POX THREATENS CONGO SCHOOL...

milk is the lifesaver! When chicken pox or measles hit schools in America it's mildly serious. But in the Congo it's terrifying. The little girls at Mutato school were raised on a diet tragically lacking protein. Low resistance to the simplest diseases invited killers like meningitis and pneumonia. Protein supplement was needed fast... and milk was the answer. It came in time... in the form of powdered milk from America.

This lifesaver was sent by Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Program of their faith. While this case is Protestant—all three faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—maintain overseas programs that meet such emergencies, as well as provide basic food, clothing, shelter, jobs, education, tools and equipment to the millions in need.

Next time you are asked to support your faith's Overseas Aid Program, remember what milk did for the little girls at Mutato school!

Shell experts test for knock by accelerating up steep grade. In another test, that "fifth wheel" in the back is lowered onto the road to measure mileage precisely.

TOP PERFORMANCE:

Shell test crew reveals 5 ways to test your car for top performance—and how the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell can help you get it

To Shell experts, top performance is a scientific standard. They measure it with precision instruments. But any good driver can run a version of their basic tests. Here are 5 they recommend.

IS YOUR CAR really delivering its best? It's easy to find out. Shell experts suggest five simple tests.

Test #1. Quick starting

Count the seconds it takes to start your car. The engine should "snap to" in about two to three seconds. If your engine is balky, try Super Shell. It's blended with a frisky ingredient called Butane—to give you quick, easy starts.

Test #2. Smooth running

Does your engine vibrate roughly when idling? Does it seem to "surge" as you pull away, then falter and fade?

Sometimes these troubles can be corrected by minor adjustments of the carburetor and spark timing. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you. But the problem may be the wrong blend of gasoline.

For example, some gasolines can bubble in the fuel line during hot weather. Bubbles interfere with the flow, often cause rough running.

Shell scientists don't let that happen with Super Shell. When hot weather threatens, they adjust Super Shell's 9-ingredient formula to give it the correct volatility for smooth summer driving.

Test #3. Reserve power

On a turnpike, in light traffic, accelerate suddenly from about thirty miles an hour to the legal limit. Now ask yourself:

- Did your car accelerate smoothly—with no faltering, no bogging down?
- Do you have plenty of power to spare?

If you feel you've "run out of engine," Super Shell may be your answer. It contains TCP® additive to help restore lost power. Another Super Shell ingredient, called Platformate, contains components that release 11 per cent more energy than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

Test #4. Knock

Accelerate up a long, steep hill and listen carefully.

If you hear a sound like marbles falling into an empty oil drum, you've got knock. It could cause trouble.

Take no chances. Switch to Super Shell. Its formula includes no fewer than three ingredients to fight the various causes of knock.

Test #5. Miles per gallon

When you measure miles per gallon, follow these three simple steps:

1. Fill your tank to the brim. Write down your mileage reading.
2. Drive in your normal manner for at least three tankfuls. Keep a record of the exact amount you buy.
3. Fill your tank to the brim again. Add all the gallons you've bought (not counting the fill-up in step 1). Divide this amount into your total miles driven. This gives average miles per gallon.

Try this test with three tankfuls of Super Shell.

You'll see what top performance really is. *Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2887212.

Here are the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

- #1 is TCP for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for extra power.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." (Added in cold weather.)
- #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

At Shell, 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

Doesn't Want It Returned

Ted Protests Spitball

CHICAGO (NEA)—In 22 years in the American League, highly controversial Theodore Samuel Williams never had a cross word with Joe Cronin.

But Ted Williams disagrees violently with the American League president and Commissioner Ford C. Frick, who would restore the spitball.

The big chain is merchandising a complete line of sports paraphernalia bearing Williams' name. It hardly could have found a more versatile subject. T. S. Williams is vastly more than the major league's last 400 swatter. He is, among numerous other things, one of the world's foremost authorities on fishing and hunting.

Williams is still rabid on one subject, however—pitchers. The Splendid Splinter, who had less trouble with pitchers than any other hitter you can recall, always hated them and seemingly always will. When you mention pitchers to The Kid, good will, personal and professional, flies out the nearest open window. And Williams files off the handle.

We jumped into Williams in George B. Vidal's office at Sears' headquarters on Chicago's southwest side.

In the pitcher-batter argument it all depends on whom you talk to. Frick, Cronin and company believe that all the changes in 40 years have been to the batter's advantage. But Williams, the man with the micrometer eye, came in thinking like a hitter and went out the same way. He is richly entitled to speak eloquently for the hitter.

"Why give those guys (the pitchers, his natural enemies) any more edge than they have already?" Williams opened. "The pitchers all ways want all the best of it. With a spitball alone, they have a wide margin."

The old slogan, "Spit is a hard word," is particularly applicable to Williams.

The spitball went out in 1920," he recalled, "and between then and the late 1930s the highest number of high batting averages were compiled. Then the pitchers, with the extra pitch—the slider and the screw, knuckle, palm and whatnot ball. They've got enough on their side already. Why not let the poor hitters alone?"

"I worked on a young third baseman, Roy Hall, at Scottsdale," recalled Williams, who coached the Red Sox hitters in the spring. "Got him to wait for his pitch until there were two strikes and he'd swing. The last time I looked he had 18 home runs and 66 runs batted-in for Waterloo of the Midwest League."

"The Red Sox will have to find room for him."

"Carl Yastrzemski will hit a ton or two when he gets a thorough knowledge of the strike zone and learns to wait until the last second for a good pitch."

Ted Williams still talks like the master of the strike zone that he was.

Even though he is out of baseball, the pitchers aren't going to get anything from him.

Nearly 1,400 fans watched the Pontiac All-Star tie the King and Court 8-8 in chilly weather Monday night at Winder Stadium. King Eddie Felner announced his team would return next year.

A pair of former Michigan State backs, Walt Kowalczyk and Bob Berchick, will be among 35 players reporting for summer drills with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League at North Field, Minn., Sunday.

Putt-Putt Tour Visits Pontiac

$500 National Event on Docket Thursday at Dixie Course

The Pontiac-area will be host to a national putt-putt golf tourney for the first time Thursday.

The Dixie Highway Putt-Putt Golf Course, managed by young Stu Bloch, will be the site of the 8th of 19 national tourneys on the 1961 schedule.

There will be a total purse of $500 at stake in tomorrow's tournament, which begins at 1-p.m. and runs for 108 holes.

Among the many talented players expected to compete in the national event at the Dixie course are Ned Connor, 1960 national putt-putt champion from Greenville, S. C., and Frank Holt of Savannah, Ga., last year's leading money winner.

Bloch has renovated and improved the Dixie layout for tomorrow's tournament.

National putt-putt tournaments are sponsored by the Professional Putters Association, which promotes putt-putt golf throughout the country.

This year's national PPA calendar of events started June 34 at Orlando, Fla. The next PPA event is slated July 9 at Cleveland, O.

FUMBLING ACT — Detroit rightfielder Al Kaline tumbles into the stands in a vain try for a home run ball (circle) hit by Yankees' Roger Maris in the eighth inning of Tuesday's second game. The Tigers won 4-3 in 10 innings.

337 Golfers Tee Off in Michigan Amateur

JACKSON (UPI)—A field of 337 teed off today at Arbor Hills and the Country Club of Jackson in the first of two 18-hole qualifying rounds in the Michigan Amateur Golf Championship.

The bulky field included five former champions, including Don Stevens of Detroit who was the last summer at Black River in Port Huron.

Stevens, as defending champion, is exempt from the qualifying and will join the low 65 qualifiers in the start of match play on Friday. Match play will be at the country club.

The Stevens family has dominated the amateur the past two years.

Melvin "Bud" Stevens, Don's brother, captured the crown in 1959.

Before the Stevens brothers arrived on the scene, Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile held a virtual stranglehold on the title for half a decade.

Johnson, a former Michigan State University quarterback, won the championship three years in a row, starting in 1954. His string was interrupted by youthful Lloyd Byron of Pontiac in 1957 but Johnson regained the title in 1958.

With Johnson and Sam Keadis of Royal Oak, another former champion, will test the Arbor Hills course in the first round of qualifying.

Melvin Stevens of Detroit and Tom Draper of Birmingham, also a former winner, start their qualifying test at the country club layout.

The field boasts many highly regarded young amateurs from the collegiate ranks.

Pro-Am Date is Set

The 1961 Michigan Pro-Am golf tournament will be played Friday, July 21, at Fox Hills near Plymouth. It has been announced by State PGA tourney chairman Gene B. Bane, John Barnum is the defending pro champ of the annual 18-hole event.

who led Jack Nicklaus of Ohio State at the halfway mark of the NCAA semifinals two weeks ago only to bow to "Mr. Amateur" in the afternoon round, is entered along with teammate Bud Badger.

Bob Zimmermann, a home town product who gained national acclaim in collegiate golf at Duke, is competing as are Tom Grace of Notre Dame and Pete Gross of Franklin and the University of North Carolina.

Another leading challenger is Mike Andonian of Pontiac, a public course star who was tipped at the wire in last year's National Public Links championship in Hawaii.

Two rounds will be held at match play Friday, Saturday and Sunday to determine the Michigan amateur king of 1961.

Miss Wright Has Reason to Grin

NEW YORK (UPI) — You can't blame the girls of golf for wearing a bit of a smirk today.

Their new national champion is a comely Californian who busts the ball in the exclusive neighborhood of 20 yards and they've fattened the men's last two times out on a competitive basis. Mickey Wright proved herself the George Davis of women's golf in the U. S. Women's Open championship when she won with two closing rounds of 69, three under par, and an even par 72. And the five-foot, nine-inch, 100-pounder from San Diego was knocking the ball far enough to discomfort all the men in the gallery.

Not as good as her best, though. Down at Glen Lakes Country Club in Dallas there is a 212-yard hole. Missing Mickey twice has been over the green with her tee shot.

Winning the Women's Open for a third time in the contest at Baltusard Golf Club in Springfield, N. J., over the weekend, Mickey still was contemplating an almost equally thrilling performance. That one you may have seen on television. She and pretty Barbara Romack learned up in an alternate shot duel at Las Vegas against Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald. The girls won, 57 to 58.

HOLES REDUCED

Sure, the holes had been reduced to a par three layout. But what's the difference? Aren't the men pros supposed to be able to hit approach shots, too?

"Barbara and I were scared to death," Mickey said as she recalled the match over holes ranging in length from 120 to 210 yards. "I think the men were trying to prove something because they charged their chips and approach shots and the difference was that we made the medium sized putts."

The daughter of a San Diego attorney, Mickey spoke almost apologetically over the victory, although there was a twinkle lurking in her eyes. The boys really were "trying to prove something," he cause the whole pro clan of males blame the girls of golf for wearing came up with a blushing countenance last winter when Louise Suggs of Atlanta hosted Sam Snead and a dozen other pros in a par-three tournament at Palm Beach. This last incident, however, makes it appear to be no accident.

MISS STRUNG

Miss Wright, who is 26 and now has won the Women's Open for the third time, is a high strung lass who has trouble keeping her nerves from jangling.

"I like to play at seven in the morning," she said. "Waiting around until noon or an afternoon starting time gives me too much time to think and I go all to pieces."

A golfer since she was nine, Mickey decided at the tender age of 13 that she wanted to be a pro golfer. After one year at a psychology major at Stanford she was more certain of it than ever.

The bombing blunder is regarded by her pro companions as their longest litter but Mickey modestly says that Kathy Whitworth of Jalisco, N. M., "hita it longer when she hit it right."

"Carol Mann of Olympia Fields, Ill., is going to be longer than any of us," she contends. "She bunts it farther than most of us hit it with a full swing. Judy Kimball of Sioux City is another big hitter."

Mickey thinks her height is a big asset in banging the ball but, as she won the Open, she had every shot in the bag.

Palmer and Finsterwald can attest to that, too.

Sportcaster's Notebook Delays Phil-Card Game

ST. LOUIS (U-P)—Ever hear of a major league baseball game being held up because of a loose-leaf notebook?

It happened yesterday during the second inning of the first game of a doubleheader between Philadelphia and St. Louis at Busch Stadium.

Sportscaster Harry Caray, who does the St. Louis play-by-play, reached out of his booth for a foul ball. He accidentally knocked his record book out of the booth. It came apart and pages fluttered onto the field behind home plate.

The umpires called time. And how about this—they even helped pick up the pages.

Kerbowy Gets Deadline

DETROIT (U-P)—Nicholas Kerbowy will continue to draw pay from the Detroit Pistons until Sept. 15 although he was stripped of his duties as vice president and general manager last January.

License Money Returned Locally

LANSING (UPI) — If the money managers of government financing seem to mundane to the ardent sportsman, he might consider this: The dollars spent for hunting and fishing license help pay the costs for local schools and municipal operating.

Actually, the sportsman is more closely tied to Michigan financial picture than he realizes.

Licenses revenues, of course, go into the state fish and game fund which is used to pay for many and varied operations of the Conservation Department. But a share of that fund is returned to local governments as "payments in lieu of taxes" on state-owned recreation land.

The Conservation Department reports that some $218,954 out of the game and fish fund went to local governments in fiscal 1959-60.

Since state-owned lands are taken off the local tax rolls, and legislators have determined that local governments should still get some tax benefits from acres held in the public domain, a complicated formula for determining the payments in lieu of taxes has been devised.

QUESTION POSED

The question comes up, then: Are hunting and fishing licenses too cheap?

Sportsmen would probably be the last to quarrel with the idea that the people who use the state parks, other recreation facilities, and hunt or fish on state-owned land should pay for the upkeep of these areas.

Also virtually beyond question is the value of the services, research and regulatory actions of the Conservation Department.

But some among them Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the department of fisheries at the University of Michigan — say the hunter or fisherman gets more for his money than people who take part in other forms of entertainment.

"The sportsman who grumbles about a $2 or $3 hunting or fishing license often thinks nothing of spending the same amount for drinks to take along," Lagler said.

"A $1 fishing license is so cheap it's ridiculous."

By contrast, golfers, bowlers, skiers and the like pay each time they go out and wind up with nothing but the experience. Rebaital prompt sportsmen hunters and fishermen — to point out that outdoor recreation of the type they enjoy really can't be compared with the sports in which a proprietor has made an investment in special facilities to provide the pleasure sought by his customers.

On a more theoretical plane, it is the historic right of people living in Michigan or anywhere else to go to the woods and waters and seek the game that, in the final analysis, really belongs to no one.

Project Can Prove to Be Very Expensive Operation Before Completed

It's Possible to Have Private Deer Herd in State

By the Associated Press
Like to have your own deer herd, of your own land, where you can hunt when and as much as you like without worrying about limits or closed seasons?

It's possible under a little-known state law passed in 1929. What's more, it's even possible to buy the deer from the state at $30 a head.

Sounds like a good deal, you might say. Well, like most "good deals," this one has a catch. The catch is money and lots of it.

First, you need a big chunk of land — probably at least a square mile (640 acres). State game men point out that deer are wide-ranging critters, and you need a lot of room. Even on a square mile of good whitetail habitat, you probably couldn't keep more than 25 or 30 animals without resorting to artificial feeding.

Assuming you already own or can afford to buy the land, you come next to the not so little item of a deer-proof fence, which the state insists on, so your private deer and the public's deer won't mingle.

"Minimum specifications for such a fence include that it be at least eight feet high with a two-foot overhang and posts not less than one rod (16½ feet) apart.

EXPENSIVE MILE
Materials and labor for the fence will run about $10 per rod, or nearly $13,000 to enclose a square mile. It's when prospective deer preserve operators get this estimate that they generally lose interest, says Ilo H. Bartlett, Conservation Department deer specialist.

Once the fence is up, the state will issue you a game breeder's permit for up to a year and you are in business — except for deer. You can either buy deer from the state or breed them, but that's already on your property.

There are about 60 private deer herds in Michigan. Nearly all of them, however, involve only a few deer kept as pets or for exhibition purposes such as the roadside show that the state's main highways.

There is only one large private herd maintained in Michigan for hunting. It's on North Manitou Island in northern Lake Michigan, where each fall about 250 animals are harvested from a base herd of 1,000 or so. Patrons pay $250 for a weekend hunt, with a deer (either sex) guaranteed.

A similar preserve on Grand Island, off Muskegon in Lake Superior, shut down in 1955. Bartlett notes that islands are good bets for private herds because they don't have to be fenced.

The University of Michigan has one of the largest private herds, on the E. S. George reserve near Ann Arbor. No hunting is allowed, but caretakers kill a number of deer each fall and sell the meat commercially.

NO BIG RUSH
Bartlett doubts there will be any great rush to establish deer hunting preserves similar to those which have sprung up in recent years for pheasant and duck hunters. He feels the investment is too high compared to the probable return.

Not is it likely that very many sportsmen will be willing or able to lay out the cash required to maintain a private herd for their own amusement.

So long as reasonably good "wild" hunting remains, deer hunting in Michigan figures to be the familiar "every man for himself" scramble during the last two weeks in November — with arguments the rest of the year over how the deer should be managed.

In Northern Ohio 'We've Been Outfoxed,' Moans Bounty Official

Takes Indians Overall Title in Delayed Shoot With Shields

TOLEDO UP — Foxy fox hunters appear to be collecting multiple bounty payments on animals taken in adjoining areas of Northwestern Ohio, Northeastern Indiana and Southern Michigan.

Practice for the Michigan State Trap Championships opened today at the Detroit Gun Club on Oakley Road, north of Walled Lake.

"We've been outfoxed," commented L. C. Kellermeyer, Defiance County commissioner.

The event will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

So many bounties have been presented for bounty payments to Defiance, Paulding and Van Wert counties that the price has been reduced from $5 to $3.

Practice for the Michigan State Trap Championships opened today at the Detroit Gun Club on Oakley Road, north of Walled Lake.

Ohio requires four paws from the dead fox before payment is made. Indiana requires splitting the ears or tongue. Kellermeyer splits the ears.

Thiefels defeated Marjorie Shields of Grand Rapids in the shootoff for the Tri-State championships. The Pontiac gunner posted scores of 88, 95, 93, and 98 at Baldwin to edge Shields by one clay bird.

"By carting the fox around, the applicant collected on each part in each state," Kellermeyer said yesterday, adding:

Smith was runner-up to Ken Sedelky of Baldwin for the 410 championship in the open skeet shoot. Al Fruman of Birmingham captured Class B honors in this event and was runner-up in the same class in 20 gauge.

"In addition, some Ohio sheriffs didn't want to be bothered with fox paws, and would give them back."

Tom Nardoni of Birmingham was Class B runner-up in 28 gauge. Jack Patton of Detroit was the division champion.

"So the man would take them to another county, its bounty would be more foxes, so it got to be a big business."

Observed Sheriff John Bridenbaugh:

"It's no fun. Especially if they hold them a long time before coming in."

He made one arrest recently for fox fraud. The offender, who collected at several places on 46 foxes, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Toledo workhouse.

State Conservation officials said today sales of state park permits initiated in January are well above estimates.

Receipts through the end of May totaled more than $128,000.

Some $108,000 of this amount was in annual permits, a 42 per cent increase over the department's estimates for the period.

Daily permit sales were lower than anticipated, primarily because of the cold spring weather, the department said.

Department officials said the five-month receipts represented more than enough to pay the first year's obligation for the principal and interest on a $2-million bond issue approved last month by the Conservation Commission.

Pheasant, Bear Dates Planned

Conservation Office to Set Regulations for Other Game

LANSING (UPI)—Hunting regulations on pheasant, bear, skunks, muskrat, prairie chicken, sharp-tailed grouse and Hungarian partridge will be set at the Conservation Commission meeting Thursday and Friday at Higgins Lake.

Conservation Department officials recommended the same seasons and bag limits as last year for pheasant and muskrat.

A trial ban on bear cubs during the early fall bear season was recommended to protect this year's cubs. A closed season on the Keweenaw Peninsula was also recommended.

The department recommended hunters be allowed to take skunks any time during the year, instead of the seasons which varied from Oct. 1 through Jan. 31. Another change in the skunk regulation would make it illegal to possess live skunks from the wild except by special department permission.

Game division chief H. D. Rubi said the prohibition on keeping live skunks would reduce the danger of a spread of rabies, which skunks are prone to carry.

The department suggested there be no hunting of Hungarian partridge, which previously was allowed only in Chippewa County. The game birds, introduced in Chippewa County in 1954, were diminishing in numbers, the department said.

The commission also was to consider recommendations for the purchase of $174,200 in lands for Cheboygan, De Tour, Benzie, D. H. Day and P. J. Hoffmaster state parks and Brighton and Island Lake recreation areas.

Million Wildfowl Illegally Killed in United States

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal under-agent has estimated that one million wildfowl a season are illegally killed or crippled in the United States by hunters who sell the birds. He called them market hunters.

Anthony M. Stefano, an agent for the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, told a House merchant marine and fisheries subcommittee yesterday that over a 10-year period in gathering evidence he purchased 21,000 ducks and geese in 354 market-hunter cases.

He added that this number probably represented only about one per cent of the market hunting in the United States and asserted that "the situation is becoming no better."

Frank P. Briggs, assistant secretary of the interior for fish and wildlife, and Stefano both recommended that the number of enforcement agents be increased from 138 to 220 and the number of undercover agents from 2 to 12. Briggs testified the Fish and Wildlife Service believes the illegal wild-fowl kill in the United States amounts to as much as 20 per cent of the legal kill.

Poisons Kill Fish in Oakland County

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

Water pollution killed over 2,400 fish in the Oakland County area during the last seven months of 1960.

This represents three per cent of the 80,000 killed in Michigan during the same period, according to figures released by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The Public Health Service, in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, conducted the survey, using reports from individual state conservation and health agencies.

Poisons attributed to agricultural projects accounted for the fish kill in Oakland County. Wadon Lake lost 900 game fish. A total of 1,200 died in the North Branch of the Clinton River. All but two per cent were game fish.

Upper Long Lake suffered a loss of 300 game fish. Although the number of fish that fell victim to pollution on the Evans Branch of the Rouge River near Royal Oak, was not listed, the report indicated that 80 per cent were "eating fish."

Waste material from silos and barns being washed into the water and poison used in spraying were the chief causes of the area pollution problems. No incidents of industrial water poisoning in the county were reported. This wasn't the case in other areas of Michigan.

INDUSTRIAL WASTE
Industrial wastes caused the deaths of over 22,000 fish in the Cass River near Caro, Cass City and Frankenmuth. About half were game fish.

Fish in the Black River near Crosswell, Willow Run Creek near Belleville and Paw Paw River near that city fell before industrial discharges.

The second largest kill in Michigan, 11,000 on the Tittabawassee River near Freeland, could not be attributed to any known source.

Because the report only covered from June 1 to Dec. 31, 1960, the exact kill for the entire year is unknown. It would be safe to assume that the figure could be pushed up 20,000 to over the 100,000 mark.

GAME FISH DIE
Considering that over six million fish died because of polluted water in 36 states makes Michigan's pollution control look fairly good. But it must be pointed out that on waters in other states, tens of thousands of the fish counted dead were minnows and other similar species.

Nearly half of Michigan's kill were fish anglers prefer to catch.

Will There Be a Strike in Auto Industry in 61?

By A. F. MAHAN
DETROIT (U)—Will there be a strike in the auto industry this year? Probably not for a straight cents-per-hour wage increase. But very possibly there will be a strike if the United Auto Workers Union becomes convinced it can make existing jobs more secure and get back to work those some of its laid-off members by hitting the bricks.

These are conclusions drawn from a frank, personal off-the-record discussion with the top negotiators of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler and their counterparts in the United Auto Workers' hierarchy.

Neither side gives the appearance it is spilling for a fight.

As a matter of fact, peaceful settlement hopes were expressed by everybody on both sides as negotiations began last week to replace current three-year ones expiring Aug. 31. Talks resumed Thursday.

Inventories are high, unemployment widespread.

General Motors had 32,249 hourly rated workers laid off June 1 and drawing Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB). Ford had 9,233 idle at the same time, and in June 20 Chrysler had 24,454 unemployed. Unsold new cars in dealers' hands July 1 were estimated at $20,000.

Top UAW men said their rank and file members are particularly unhappy when the auto companies schedule overtime work for a reduced force, rather than recalling laid off employees or creating new jobs.

PEACE OVERTIME

Overtime normally is the heaviest in the early weeks of new model production, when employment also is highest. But some plants work considerable overtime throughout the year. The union's GM committee seemed most concerned about the overtime issue.

Both Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., and Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, have agreed as members of the President's committee on labor-management policies that unemployment approximating 7 per cent of the nation's labor force is "intolerable."

Still others expressed the opinion they undercut the union's strength at the bargaining table, blunting in advance a strike threat.

Goldberg insisted he didn't undercut either side and, in the first place, he didn't anticipate a strike. He pointed out there hadn't been a truly major walkout since the UAW struck Chrysler for 104 days in 1950-51 to gain trust fund guaranteed pensions.

Reuther said on the first day of 1961 bargaining: "We hope and will do everything possible to reach agreement at the bargaining table without assistance or interference from Washington. We always hope to reach agreement without a strike."

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, however, expressed concern a day later for those he called detractors who hold that "the only way to avoid costly strikes and inflation-taken two ways. Some took them as an invitation to the union to set the terms."

Fugitive Picked Up; 'Family' Shocked

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—He said, "Some weekends would have been a lot better than this." But to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bloom the fugitive captured in their home "was just like one of the family. Trusted like a brother."

Still shocked that the odd-job man they took to their hearts was the person he represented himself to be, the Blooms nevertheless promised Tuesday to aid him.

The man they knew as Bryan Brenton was, in fact, Kenneth Holbeck Sharp, 29, sought since 1952 on a charge that he shot and killed a 75-year-old service station attendant during a holdup in Chicago.

When the FBI took Sharp into custody Monday, Bloom said, he was baby-sitting for the three Bloom children, boys aged 2, 4 and 8. He was just like one of the family. The kids miss him already.

POSSIBLY DERANGED
The FBI said Sharp, considered possibly deranged, had been in Philadelphia for five years. He worked for three years as a pin boy in a bowling alley Bloom manages.

Laid off when the alley was converted to automatic pinsetters, Sharp went to work in a service station Bloom operated. "I trust him like a brother," Bloom said. "Some weekends would have been a lot better than this."

The station closed six months ago and Sharp moved in with the Blooms while working at odd jobs.

"The kids loved him immediately. He would take them swimming on hot days. He would go with us to the shore," said Mrs. Bloom. "I'm ready to sell my house if it will do him any good."

"They asked who he was and he asked 'Who am I supposed to be?' The agents looked at his arm and Sharp was tattooed on it. I couldn't stand it any more," Bloom recounted.

"We are going to Chicago as witnesses. I'm ready to sell my house if it will do him any good," Bloom said.

Teen Admits Strangling Girl

Body Found Beneath Car in Detroit Garage Mile From Home

DETROIT (U)—A 17-year-old boy today admitted the strangling of a 13-year-old neighbor girl which posed a brief mystery to police.

The Wayne County prosecutor's office said 17-year-old Arthur Lee Iverson admitted he caused the death of Katharine Diane Arka on Fourth of July eve.

Katharine's body was found Tuesday beneath a car in a garage about a mile from her home. She had been missing since the day before.

Iverson admitted the slaying after a lie detector test, police said. He was quoted as saying Katharine died as he was holding his arm tightly around her neck while trying to pull her into the car in a garage of mutual friends. Police said there was no evidence of sexual molestation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Arka, the dead girl's parents, said Katharine left home about 1 a.m. Tuesday to walk a friend home.

When she failed to return home by 7 a.m., the police were notified. Cleveland Thomas, 61, discovered the body. He said he noticed her legs protruding from beneath the car as he passed the open door of the garage. Thomas told a neighbor who notified police.

Disease Drops in City, County

Only One New Case of Mumps Reported in Pontiac

Communicable diseases declined in Pontiac and Oakland County last week, according to the city and county health departments.

In Pontiac only one new case of mumps was reported to the department. Four cases were reported the previous week.

One new case of chicken pox has been reported each of the last two weeks.

The only diseases showing slight increases in the city were measles and hepatitis. Two new cases of each were reported last week compared to one each the week before.

One year ago there were 25 new cases of measles reported in the week ending July 2.

The only county increase was in new hepatitis cases which went from two to four last week.

The biggest county decrease was in mumps, which dropped from 84 new cases two weeks ago to 39 new cases last week.

Blames Activities for Distracting Many Students

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The president of Ohio's State Board of Education, Charlton Myers, says extracurricular activities like basketball and bands tend to "siphon the energy and siphon off the attention" of many pupils.

Myers points out that basketball on school nights has been trimmed in Ohio as a result of state board urging, but adds there have been no suggestions that the total number of games be trimmed.

Invitations to high school bands to play in far away places "seem exciting (and) desirable," he says, "but this is not education."

Until we discipline learning and fun, we will continue to send good teachers, in expensive buildings, to schools where children who are too tired and distracted to benefit.

JFK Due to Plan New Fast Moves to Protect Berlin

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's return to Washington today was expected to bring a speed-up in U.S. planning of new moves to counter Soviet threats against West Berlin.
Possible steps include sending one or more Army divisions to reinforce the five division of U.S. troops already serving with NATO forces in Germany.
Some sea and air forces may be deployed. A wide range of other actions is under consideration.
Development of detailed plans was ordered by the President last week before he left for his July 4 holiday at Hyannis Port, Mass. One of the tasks awaiting him on his return to the capital was the review of the progress of this work.
Some plans are expected to be ready for consideration by the National Security Council.
Officials said that the United States probably will send a note to Moscow by the end of the week reasserting allied rights to maintain a military garrison in West Berlin and to keep open supply routes to the city across East German territory.
France, Britain and West Germany are due to send similar messages.
The Western powers, informants said, will add up to a new round of warnings to Soviet Premier Khrushchev about underestimating allied determination to defend West Berlin and its access route.

Warren Youth Loses His Hand

Uses Dynamite Sticks for Firecrackers; One Explodes Too Soon

A Warren youth lost his right hand yesterday when a stick of dynamite he was using as a firecracker exploded at Upper Strait Lake in West Bloomfield Township.
Anthony Miller, 20, of 2187 Panama St. was hospitalized in satisfactory condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

ONE ESCAPES

Another Warren youth, Thomas Kida, 26, of 4635 E. Nine Mile Road, who was also in the boat, escaped injury.
The injured youth already had hurled one stick of dynamite into the lake before the second blew up. The fuses had been short-circuited and taped to the side of the sticks.
Miller told officers he was using them instead of firecrackers for the Fourth of July.
The possession and use of firecrackers, unless authorized, is illegal in Michigan but the possession and use of dynamite is not, according to Assistant Prosecutor Anthony Renne.

Girl, 3, Burned While Playing With Sparklers

A 3-year-old Flint girl suffered burns over almost 50 per cent of her body when her clothing caught fire while she was playing with sparklers in Pontiac last night.

The Mount family was visiting at the home of Donald Watson, 140 W. New York Ave., when the accident occurred.

Blood Is Spilled at Record Pace on Highways

Toll Is Greatest of Any Summer Holiday; and Over-All Rate Is Worst

By The Associated Press
Traffic . . . 503
Boating . . . 62
Drowning . . . 202
Miscellaneous . . . 148
Total . . . 915

Traffic deaths climbed to record heights for a summer holiday during the long Independence Day weekend.

The tally today also showed that the over-all accident toll, including a heavy loss of life on water, reached an all-time mark for any holiday period.

Late reports boosted the motor vehicle fatality total beyond the 500 mark. It passed the previous high of 491 set during a four-day observance of Independence Day in 1950. That had been the top mark for any summer holiday period.

And it went far beyond the National Safety Council's advance estimate that 450 Americans might die in traffic accidents during the 102-hour period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday.

The previous record for deaths in accidents of various kinds, including traffic, had been established in the four-day celebration of Christmas in 1956. It was 884.

During that same period traffic deaths soared to 706, a standing record for any holiday period.

RATE SLACKENS
The death rate on the highways slackened late Tuesday. Council officials said the homebound bound traffic was the heaviest in history for the final hours of any holiday.

They said the fatality rate dropped from an hourly average of between five and six to about two to three.

The council, in a preliminary statement, had estimated a traffic death toll of 650.

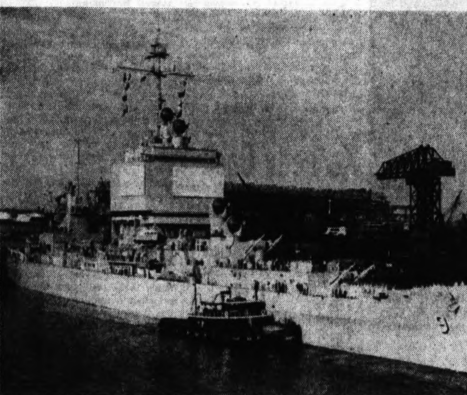

This year's Fourth of July holiday traffic count compared to 462 for the recent four-day Memorial Day period, a record for that holiday.

In last year's three-day observance of Independence Day traffic deaths totaled 442.

Three deaths in fireworks were reported during the count of violent accident deaths from 6 p.m. last Friday to midnight Tuesday, a period of 102 hours. That was the largest total since four died in 1954.

For comparative purposes, The Associated Press made a survey of accidents in a nonholiday period of 102 hours, from 6 p.m. Friday June 16 to midnight Tuesday June 20. The count showed: 362 traffic; 33 boating; 80 drownings; 99 miscellaneous, a total of 574.

N-CRUISER STARTS SEA TRIALS — The world's first nuclear-powered cruiser, the 721-foot USS Long Beach, leaves Fore River Shipyard of Bethlehem Steel Co. at Quincy, Mass., for three days of sea trials off the coast. The big boxlike structure amidships houses radar equipment and looms large because the vessel lacks the conventional stack and other superstructure. Terrier missiles are in racks on deck and the captain's gig on davits. The ship's estimated cost is $320,347,000.

Woman Killed, Girl Kidnaped by Gunman in Utah Badlands

MOAB, Utah (UPI) — A gunman tricked three Connecticut vacationers into stopping their car in the Utah badlands Tuesday night, then fatally shot a woman, wounded a man and kidnaped a 14-year-old girl.

Roadblocks were thrown up around the rocky, canyon-cut area in an effort to catch the dark-haired, stocky slayer.

Dead on arrival at Moab, 19 miles from the shooting scene, was Jeanette Sullivan, 41, Rockville, Conn.

Taken to I. W. Allen Hospital with 22-caliber bullet wounds in the head and hands was Charles Boothroyd, 65, also of Rockville.

ROBS ALL THREE

Denise Sullivan, 14, daughter of the woman, was kidnaped by the man, who also robbed all three.

The girl, according to the Grand County sheriff's office, made a futile attempt to drive away in their small foreign car but was run off the road and dragged from the vehicle after her mother and Boothroyd were shot.

Sheriff John Stocks said he feared for the life of the hostage girl.

Water Table May Spur Talk

City Official Might Ask Discussion of Possible Contracts With Detroit

The July Fourth holiday has ushered in the traditional season of dropping water tables and mounting discussion about a new source of water for Pontiac.

Contracts that would see Pontiac substitute pipe-in Detroit water for local well water have been under study by the City Commission for a number of weeks.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said he may call for a discussion of the contracts at tonight's City Commission meeting.

It's up to the seven commissioners to decide when, if ever, Pontiac makes the big shift to Detroit water.

Willman has called the decision "the biggest" in his 10 years as Pontiac city manager.

A switch to Detroit water would see a big pipeline snaked north to the city limits over an 18-month period.

While the line is being laid, the city would have to install a new, larger water main through the center of town to distribute the Detroit water.

$3-MILLION ISSUE
It's estimated that a $3-million revenue bond issue would be necessary to pay for the new main. To pay for the water and to retire the bonds would require an estimated 250,000 per cent boost in water bills, beginning in 1963 or thereafter. About that time, sewage bills will probably be going.

A Pleasant 80 Will Greet Us on Thursday

Temperatures will average 3 to 8 degrees below the normal high of 80 to 85 and the normal low of 58 to 64 for the next five days in the Pontiac area, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Mild weather is expected through Friday with a cooler trend returning Sunday and Monday. Precipitation will average 5 to 8 inches of an inch in showers late Friday Saturday and again over the eastern portion of the state early Sunday.

Tonight's low for the local scene will be a mild 60 degrees. Thursday's outlook includes pleasant 80 degree temperatures.

The lowest temperature reading, preceding 5 a.m. at 4:30. At 1 p.m. the mercury registered 80.

Hoffa Faces Tiff Over Dues Hike

Would Boost Levy on Each Member by $1 — He's Using Loophole

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Teamsters convention today shot approval of a resolution affirming belief in the integrity of Teamster President James R. Hoffa despite a series of court charges and accusations against him.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — James R. Hoffa faced a Teamsters convention showdown today on a dues hike proposal, distasteful to many delegates and considered possibly illegal by some of his own attorneys.

The dues issue is regarded as the toughest to ram through the special convention out of a batch of proposals that range from a $1 salary boost for Hoffa to a broad taxation of his already substantial union control.

Hoffa wants a convention vote to require every Teamster local to boost member dues, no matter what they may be, by $1 a month.

Sixty cents of that amount would go to Hoffa's headquarters, boosting the national union's annual revenue to about $20 million from about $5 million now.

THE DIFFICULTY
The difficulty, as pointed out privately by some of Hoffa's own legal experts, is that the Landrum-Griffin law—passed by Congress two years ago after labor racket scandals—requires that local unions must hold secret ballot elections to get rank and file member approval before raising dues.

This may leave a loophole letting national unions unilaterally raise local union dues, as Hoffa is trying to do.

By way of being prepared, however, for any court challenge, the dues hike proposal provides that the increase will not go into effect in event it "cannot be effectuated." Locals threatened with legal protests reportedly will be encouraged to conduct ratifying votes.

Heavy Traffic in County Fails to Materialize

Only 1 Death Recorded on Oakland Roads as Many Get Early Start

Heavy traffic predicted in Oakland County for late yesterday when Fourth of July motorists were expected to glut the highways on their way home failed to materialize.

Forewarned of the probability of traffic jam-ups on overcrowded roads prompted many motorists to leave lakes and cottages earlier throughout the day.

The result was a steady traffic flow with few mishaps, Pontiac state police reported.

In fact, Michigan's 12 deaths in traffic were among the lowest in the nation among states of comparable size.

Oakland County's single traffic death will put it in a favorable position when statistics within the state are compiled.

Troopers credited the sobriety of drivers with holding the local traffic fatality count to one.

A Droyton Plains man was killed when his car rammed a roadside abutment near his home Saturday morning.

Elsewhere in the state the traffic death total of 12 was a little more than a third of the toll of the similar four-day Memorial Day holiday when 25 deaths resulted from traffic accidents.

Still to be recorded are delayed deaths in hospitals that result from traffic injuries over the weekend.

Safety leaders attributed the lower death rate in Michigan to more careful driving by motorists during a safety campaign carried out by various agencies.

Despite thousands of bathers who flocked to the 425 lakes in Oakland County over the holiday weekend, a single drowning was recorded.

An estimated 75,000 small boats took to the water here over the weekend, according to Sheriff's Deputy Donald Kent, who heads the water patrol division.

He reported boat traffic was heavier than it has been before this year.

Ten water violation tickets were issued to boaters here since Friday. All but one of the tickets issued by the patrol were for reckless operation of motorboats.

Only one injury accident was recorded in the county yesterday with six persons, including three children, were hospitalized following a two-car crash on M24 in Pontiac Township.

10 Persons Injured in Ohio Derailment

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Ten persons were hurt, one seriously, early today when the Pennsylvania Railroad's New York-to-Chicago passenger train, the General-Traillblazer, derailed nine miles northwest of here.

The accident took place in the Convoys, six miles east of the Ohio-Indiana line, and about 16 miles southeast of Fort Wayne, Ind.

A trailer-truck became stalled on a crossing, and was hit by the train. The lead unit of a three-unit diesel which hit the trailer remained on the tracks. But the other two units, an express car, a baggage car, a lounge car and four coaches derailed.

12 Persons Die in Algeria Clashes

Quick Unity or War Foreseen for Laos

From Our News Wires

PARIS — Prince Suvanna Phouma said Tuesday that war will break out in Laos again unless a new coalition government is formed soon.

He said he hopes for an agreement among the rival factions by July 20. Although he did not say it in so many words, he made it clear that he should be Laos' next premier.

Suvanna is an avowed neutralist but has worked closely with the Communists in recent months. He has been talking in Paris with U.S. Ambassador Averell Harriman.

A sharp word battle between the United States and Chinese Communist diplomats appears to have doomed any chance of success for the 14-nation conference on Laos at Geneva.

East and West were far apart on how the conference should proceed and so many of the top Communist policy makers have left Geneva that there was little chance of a breakthrough. The Chinese would be able to make any change in position.

At a meeting in Paris, Phouma, military leader of the pro-Western Lao government, said steps are under way to set up another meeting of the nation's three political parties to map out a coalition regime for the divided kingdom.

Phouma, who returned from the United States Tuesday, expressed confidence in a nation united by the three political parties.

Phouma said he was very satisfied with his Washington trip because it gave him a chance to explain "all we did at Zurich, Geneva and Vientiane."

Muslims Stage General Strike

Workers Demonstrate Loyalty to Rebel Chief, Protest Partition

ALGIERS (AP)—Muslim demonstrators and riot forces clashed across Algeria today and at least 12 persons were killed as Muslim workers staged a 24-hour general strike.

The strikers were demonstrating loyalty to the regime of rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas and protesting President Charles de Gaulle's threat to partition the North African territory.

At the demonstrations, it appeared certain the death toll would rise to 100. The rebel spokesman said he had been tentatively scheduled to resume next Monday.

Two thousand Muslims clashed with police at Tlemcen, in eastern Algeria, site of the biggest French air base in Algeria. At Miliana, in the central part of the country, some 300 young men, women and children, led by rebel fighters, were in uniform, rushed riot forces who opened fire on them. Five persons, including a French policeman, were reported killed.

In the two clashes, one Muslim was reported killed at Castiglione, about 30 miles west of Algiers, when several hundred armed with clubs and knives tried to charge riot police and troops.

Another Muslim was reported killed in Ain Beldj, also in eastern Algeria.

At Berard, 6 miles from Castiglione, three Muslims were killed and seven wounded.

Shortly before noon the Algerian cash, which had been ominously silent throughout the morning, began to bill with unrest. The twirling flags were with cries of "Vive Ferhat Abbas" and the high pitched "yu-yu-yu" cry of Muslim women urging their men on.

USE STONES, STONES

Troops and police in Algiers charged a Muslim mob at the fringes of the Bab-el-Oued district, where some 200 demonstrators massed, waving green and white rebel flags. Police used tear gas and fired shots.

Major cities were all paralyzed economically by the Muslim walkout.

In Algiers, docks were idle. Muslim businesses were shuttered and public transport barely limped with only European cabs and armed forces. But tough French Zouave troops roamed the city, forcing Muslim merchants to open their shops and crying out the steel shutters with crowing and threats of authorities.

BIRMINGHAM — An emergency blood bank, sponsored by the Birmingham Community House Newcomers Club, has been scheduled for July 24 at the service building.

Arab League Works on Kuwait Trouble

KUWAIT (AP)—Arab League Secretary-General Abdel Khalek Hassouana conferred with Iraqi leaders today about Iraq's claim to the oil-rich little sheikdom and its role in the Arab League, walks from the plane in the city of Kuwait on his arrival Tuesday from Baghdad.

British put Kasseem up to claiming Kuwait so they could bring troops in.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home said in London Britain will keep a force in Kuwait big enough to protect its independence "but no larger than that."

British Air Marshal Sir Charles Elworthy now has about 10,000 British regulars under his command here plus 10,000 Kuwaiti regulars, desert tribesmen and Saudi Arabian volunteers.

Hundreds of Kuwaitis cheered Hassouana as he drove Tuesday night to the palace of Sheikh Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah, who requested British help after Premier Abdel Karim Kasseem claimed Kuwait and its vast oil reserves as Iraqi territory.

Hassouana made clear he would say nothing for publication about his talks with Kasseem and the sheik until he has had a chance to confer with leaders of other Arab countries.

SETS JULY 12 DATE

The Arab League, meeting in Cairo, decided to postpone until July 12 consideration of Kuwait's request for admission to the league. Nine of the states agreed while Saudi Arabia-Kuwait's chief backer in the league—abstained. Iraq has said it will oppose Kuwait's admission.

The British here feel that if the league fails to solve the Kuwait crisis, they may have to hand over the sheikdom's defense to the United Nations. Other British defense force has been welcomed in Kuwait, but there are fears a prolonged stay would allow Iraq to whip up anti-British feeling throughout the Middle East.

The first public Kuwaiti criticism was voiced Tuesday by the nationalist paper Al-Naba which represents Kuwait's wealthy merchant class. It repeated the claim of a Cairo newspaper that the

Kennedy Back at White House

Now Walking Briskly; Jackie Stays at Shore Until Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew back today from a holiday weekend at his Cape Cod home to pick up on a full-time basis the labors he couldn't completely drop even for the Fourth of July.

The presidential jet landed at Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland at 10:22 a.m. A helicopter took the President to the White House lawn.

Mrs. Kennedy stayed at Hyannis Port, not planning to return to Washington until next week when she and the President will entertain President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan during his state visit. The children, 3-year-old Caroline and 7-month-old John, may remain still longer.

Kennedy may quit Washington's heat again next weekend for a seashore break.

Kennedy walked briskly, without any trace of his back trouble. The helicopter parked near his office, but he was back in the air within two minutes from the time he left his plane, headed for the White House.

The helicopter sat down on the White House lawn at 10:39 a.m. Kennedy walked quickly to his office, but he was back in the air within two minutes from the time he left his plane, headed for the White House.

Chase on Dixie Nets Two Boys, and Stolen Car

Pontiac State Police topped off their follow-up traffic patrol with a wild chase on Dixie Highway from M15 to downtown Pontiac early this morning.

Arrested and turned over to Saginaw police were two 15-year-old boys from Saginaw.

Troopers Lawrence Miller and Joseph Kenderdick said the teenagers stole a car in Saginaw last night.

Pontiac area police were alerted when the two stopped to get gas south of Flint and sped away from the service station without paying the attendant.

The local troopers spotted them at M15 and chased the teenagers south at speeds of 80 to 90 miles an hour. Troopers said the driver failed to heed warnings to stop and "ran the patrol car off the highway several times."

Miller fired two shots at the speeding car as it crossed the intersection of Oakland and Baldwin.

"The second shot smashed their right wheel and they stopped at Oakland and Lafayette," said Miller. Neither boy offered any resistance when stopped.

Troopers quoted the teenagers as saying they were "headed south to get a job." The chase, which began at 1:10 a.m. lasted seven minutes.

County Drivers Play It Safe

at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was Mrs. Robert L. Wilson, 26, of 200 Alice St., Pontiac.

She suffered multiple fractures and lacerations in the crash.

CHILDREN OKAY

The others, including her three children, were listed in satisfactory condition.

A 4-month-old son Russell received a slight head injury and was admitted at St. Joseph Mercy along with his two brothers, Richard, 2, and Robert, 4, for observation.

Their 3-year-old father, who was driving, was treated for cuts and bruises, then released.

Hospitalized from the other car was Jeanie Rodgrass, 48, of 111 W. Longfellow St., Pontiac, and the driver, Howard Meridian, 27, of 3000 Bough Road, Metamora.

He received a head injury and she suffered lacerations on her left leg and hand.

Her deputies reported that the car apparently were over the center line when they crashed head-on at an estimated 55 miles an hour.

Wilson said he did not know what happened. Meridian was unable to make any statement.

Ballots Ready for Absentees

Should Be Available to Con-Con Voters at Two Offices Tomorrow

Absentee ballots for the July 25 constitutional convention primary are ready for delivery today and should be available for voters tomorrow at township and city clerk offices, according to Mrs. Mabel M. Child, county election clerk.

Mrs. Child said most South Oakland County clerks will pick up their ballots from the Averill Press in Birmingham today while other clerks will receive theirs at the customary school of instruction for clerks to be held tomorrow morning in Pontiac.

The deadline for applications for the absentee ballots is July 22. They are expected to be popular in the primary because the election falls during the summer vacation season.

The ballots for the primary will narrow the field for the 144 delegates seats to the October convention to 288.

COUNTY TO PICK 6

Oakland County voters will pick party nominees for six state representative seats from among 61 candidates. Both candidates for the county's senatorial seat are unopposed. They will not be on the primary ballot.

The actual selection of delegates is scheduled to take place Sept. 12, with the convention to meet Oct. 3.

Delegates will be paid $1,000 a month with a maximum of $7,500. If the session lasts more than 75 months, the convention is expected to last five or six months.

A ruling by State Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams that the convention can hold sessions anywhere the delegates choose has touched off a scramble by Detroit, Grand Rapids and Lansing for the expected long session.

Most speculation has been that the convention will meet in the Capitol here and perhaps use the House of Representatives chambers until the 1962 legislature convenes.

The capital city has offered work space in the new municipal building a block from the Capitol.

To Ask Okay of Loan Offer

$3 Million From Bank Will Be Used by Urban Renewal Program

City Commissioners will be asked tonight to approve Community National Bank's offer to loan the urban renewal program $3,000,000 for six months at the low interest rate of 1.44 per cent a year.

The money will be used to pay an earlier loan and carry on the program through the end of the year.

When bids were opened last week, it turned out that Community National Bank had underbid big New York City investment issues for the second straight time.

The first time was in January when the bank underbid all bid bonds and ended up loaning the program its first $2,043,000 at 1.5 per cent.

The funds are used to carry on the program and finance acquisitions until proceeds are realized from sale of land to private developers.

The other major item on tonight's agenda is a review of bids on annual insurance policies covering workers' compensation for sanitation employees and public utility automobiles.

'Invite the U.N. to U.S. A-Tests'

Let World Body Watch Blasts for Peace Uses, Humphrey Urges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations should be invited to monitor and inspect a limited program of U.S. underground nuclear tests for peaceful purposes, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., suggested today.

He also proposed turning over to the United Nations the data and results of such tests.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader and chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, said in a statement that U.N. inspection of the tests would give the Soviet Union "a clear alternative to the impasse which now exists in the test ban negotiations."

'JOIN OR CRINGE'

"Its delegates may vote to join this project of testing for peaceful purposes or face the censure of world opinion by voting against our resolution."

Humphrey stressed he was not suggesting a resumption of military nuclear tests.

He urged President Kennedy to direct the U.S. delegation to sponsor a resolution in the coming session of the General Assembly advocating establishment of a U.N. control system for the American testing program.

"There can be no workable treaty for a test ban until we have developed effective methods to detect underground nuclear explosions. Such methods can be perfected only through a responsible research program which includes underground nuclear testing," Humphrey said.

He described the Geneva test ban negotiations as "hopelessly bogged down."

Ruin by Bruin Quickly Leads to His Undoing

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — A friend gave John Fitch an orphaned male bear cub the other day.

Fitch, 37, who had been hunting for bear all week with nary a sight of one, was delighted. He brought the cub home in a box.

The 30-pound animal took over the garage and the backyard, striped Fitch's apricot tree, tried to climb the fig tree but gave up because it was too slippery and harassed the family's dog and pet turtle.

When he didn't have anything else to do, the cub, named Big-foot by the Fitches, nibbled daintily on flowers.

That was too much for Fitch. Today the cub is nibbling bars at the San Diego zoo, and Fitch is repairing his backyard.

Electronic Device Could Be Aid to Sub Steering

WASHINGTON (AP)—Piloting a submarine soon may be like steering the family car along a highway, Navy researchers said today.

They reported recent successful tests of a new electronic device planned. These would re-broadcast displaying a simulated highway on a TV-type screen, it gives the effect of looking through a windshield at a road.

Although the system still is experimental, the researchers said, the recent tests aboard the nuclear submarine Shark "have thus far indicated that the system is entirely feasible."

A worldwide communication system using 50 satellites has been tested of a new electronic device planned. These would re-broadcast and not merely reflect.

13 Prisoners Strike, Then Police Arrive

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—Thirteen prisoners were back in their cells today in Lawrence County Jail after barricading themselves in a cell block in a brief demonstration.

The inmates removed two cell doors and used these to barricade the main door leading into the cell block Tuesday night.

They then demanded to see a newspaper reporter.

"They had some kind of a gripe," said Deputy Warden Harry Gregor.

Warden Carl Nord put in a call for help from the New Castle State Police barracks. Six troopers rushed to the jail.

State police said the inmates refused to remove the barricade. But when the troopers began battering their way into the cell block, the prisoners gave up their stand and removed the barriers.

Roseville Man Jailed by Pennsylvania Law

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two men were in the Uniontown city jail today awaiting a hearing on charges of stealing money from pay telephone coin boxes.

Charged with burglary are Glenn Harold, 31, of West Newton, Pa., and James E. Heasley, 27, of Roseville, Mich.

Police Chief Louis Martinak of nearby Perryopolis said he arrested

ed the pair on Route 31 8 miles north of Perryopolis early Tuesday after a high-speed auto chase.

Hijack $1,500 in Melons

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Thieves hooked their own tractor-truck onto a parked 33-foot trailer and hijacked 20 tons of watermelon valued at $1,500, police were told.

Highest point in Texas is Guadalupe Peak with a 9,000 foot elevation. Police said he arrested.

Experiment; Find Your Best Cream

Letters pour in from readers asking me how to find the right night cream. The best answer is: experiment!

You have the right night cream when your skin feels dewy and moist all day long. A young skin is elastic; an elastic skin is moist. So the cream that is right for you is one that will keep your skin feeling and looking moist.

Chances are very good that your skin is dry; this is the common problem. You may pick a vitamin cream, a cream with polysaturates, a lanolin cream or a hormone cream. They all have this in common: they ward off dryness and this, in turn, holds off the formation of wrinkles and deep lines.

Bad skin is almost certainly skin which has been neglected. It has not been thoroughly and properly cleansed and it has not been given a careful creaming every single night without fail.

Serve Your Community

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A speech given by Leo Perlis, director of AFL-CIO Community Service Activities, which was given at the 25th Anniversary Conference of The Public Affairs Committee in New York City recently, highlighted the tremendous importance of the way we spend our leisure time.

His address was full of human compassion and an understanding of the need of every human being for "a feeling of purpose, for the sense of drive, for the need to be needed."

He was speaking mainly of the industrial or office worker, who spends only eight out of every 24 hours, five days a week inside the office or plant.

The rest is spent at his home and in his community. There are two full days of leisure each week and many holidays.

Mr. Perlis says, "Effective use of this free time will strengthen him and lengthen his life; disuse or misuse of these extra hours will rob him of zest and purpose and shorten his years."

BOREDOM CAN KILL

All of you who read this column know that I am an enthusiastic advocate of all these ideas, that I believe that boredom canicken and even kill and that an eager interest, self-investment and the feeling of being needed can rejuvenate one.

Because of the hundreds of thousands of letters I receive from women each year, I know that increased leisure time for the man has affected the women in the home, too — at least to some extent.

Also, after her children are grown and have left home, she finds herself completely bewildered and lost.

Her heavy responsibilities have ended and modern appliances and conveniences have left her hands idle and her heart restless.

I do not suggest that we do without these modern wonders which make life so comfortable, but rather that the hours they save us be filled with something constructive and vibrant.

Mr. Perlis suggests using those leisure hours in public service. Take an active interest in local and national welfare and the numerous civic and philanthropic organizations which need you and your leisure hours.

There are thousands of voluntary health and welfare agencies and fund raising drives which need you.

Mr. Perlis asks, "Where are the citizens with leisure time who will take the time to do more than has been done in the area of community organization, planning and action for better schools, better parks, proper jails, better roads and the elimination of mosquitoes and gruff and corruption?"

Every chapter in life has its

New Employee Must Mind Own Business

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A girl's first week in a new office isn't easy.

Fortunately her work usually demands the strictest attention, so there isn't much time for self-consciousness. But there'll be:

Moments when she feels as uncomfortable as a fish out of water.

Moments when her ignorance about the routine the other workers take so casually will get her down.

Times when she thinks she would gladly swap places with anyone in the office who isn't "new."

The only way for her to overcome those feelings is to concentrate on the work harder than ever and learn as much as she can, as quickly as possible.

She isn't expected to walk in knowing her job "cold" — and feeling as much at home as a senior partner.

In fact, that kind of attitude actually works against a newcomer.

She can, however, give some thought to getting off on the right foot with her associates. If she holds the job, they will be an important part of her life — and the first week is the time for her to gain their respect.

OTHER HINTS

Doing her work well and quietly is one way. Another is not interrupting their work — even though she is eager to "belong" and thinks her excuse will make the interruption seem necessary.

If she is pleasant to everyone who has anything to say to her, she'll get a reputation for being friendly — without taking the chance of seeming to "push."

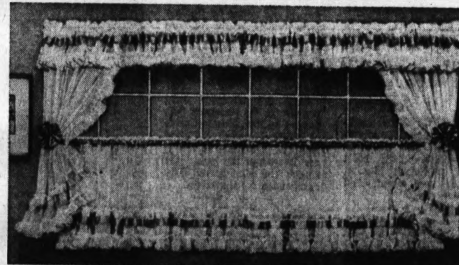

When lunchtime comes she goes alone if no one has said, "How about lunch?" This is no time to hang around waiting to be asked — or to do the asking herself.

She shouldn't make the mistake of rushing to confide in her associates — nor should she pry into their personal lives.

Virtue Its Own Reward and That's Enough

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
One month Greg got a D in arithmetic. It shocked him so that he stopped jumping over homework examples he couldn't immediately solve.

Next report he got a B for his month's work; and on his test paper found his teacher's comment: "This work shows good improvement."

When he showed this achievement to his mother, she kissed him and said, "That must make you feel nice." Later, to their dismay, his father merely smiled and said, "Wait to develop down with me to pick up my engineering magazine."

Nobody rewarded Greg with praise for his industry. Nobody promised to take him to the circus for his steadfastness or paid him a dollar for it.

Nobody suggested in any way that earthly reward always results from virtue, though Greg's parents always are surprising him with gifts of delight in him like a new pen, a box of crayons, a small glass rooster for his bookshelf.

UNJUSTIFIED ACT
I don't think much either of always rewarding children for virtue.

Parents who feel compelled to produce circus tickets, money and other rewards for a child's industry, helpfulness and other virtues create, I think an expectation that is unjustified.

The world does not always reward us for moral performance. A brave young man volunteers for military service — and is turned into a paraplegic.

We can spend years working for an employer in the hope that he will reward us with promotion — and find that it's the other fellow who has been promoted instead.

We can sacrifice our need for dental care to send Jimmy to summer camp — and lose two teeth instead of gaining Jimmy's devotion.

We can spend our whole lives putting on the most virtuous performances only to become sick with depression or rage at the realization that we are not going to be rewarded.

As the man said, "Virtue is its own reward."

Unfortunately the phrase is so hackneyed for it is ever pondered. Parents should. We have no right whatever to suggest to children that reward always follows virtue. This is not a moral law as Jesus told us when he said "Great is your reward in heaven."

So we'd better stop confusing earth with heaven for children. Because in adulthood they can become furious with us as they begin to discover the truth: that we cannot always wait for others to reward our virtue but have to learn how to reward it ourselves. They justly accuse us of sentimentality and misdirection.

Cleaning 'Hint

The Leather Industries of America offers this tip for cleaning bone-colored leather purses and shoes. Simply wipe with a damp cloth which has been wrung from a mild detergent suds. If you want to add luster, apply a neutral wax polish. If you own bone-colored suede, remove soiled spots by rubbing gently with a fine conifer or paper emery board.

Health and beauty aids sold in food stores now account for 54 per cent of total industry sales of the most popular toiletries. Manufacturers of toilet requisites invested $29½ million in national newspaper advertising last year.

Make-Up Makes or Breaks Us

By ALICIA HART

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Just a couple of days ago, I saw a revival of a silent movie starring Greta Garbo and John Gilbert. She was a young Greta Garbo and she was very nearly unrecognizable. She had not yet metamorphosed into the pale beauty with lovely facial planes. Here, she was topped out with frizzy hair, eyebrows like commas and a cupid's bow mouth.

CAN THIS BE?
A young man sitting near me, who obviously was seeing a Garbo picture for the first time, said incredulously: "Is this the face that launched a legend?"

I couldn't much blame him. For this was a very young Garbo and she still retained something akin to baby fat. But most of all, it was her make-up that was grotesque. Part of the time, she appeared a better bet for the role of the vampire in "Dracula."

As the picture staggered to a close, I thought of all those marvelous photographs of her later years. These were the pictures of the haunting beauty with the deep-set eyes. And, of course, the flawless make-up. The moral to all of this is that make-up is sufficiently important to make or break a woman as a beauty. Today, it is far more subtle than it was in the 1920s. And we are lucky enough, in the 1960s, to benefit by this.

National advertisers invested $104 million more in newspaper advertising in 1960 than they did in 1959.

ences included one-piece dresses with side openings. They liked three-quarter length sleeves, gored skirts of mid-calf length, V-shaped necklines and necklines with collars.

Choices were for small prints and solid colors, especially the more subdued, such as navy and light blue. Medium-heeled pumps with closed heels and toes rated highest in shoe styles.

The older group, age 70 and over, went shopping with someone else and was more likely to patronize a specialty shop. This group preferred one-piece dresses with front openings to the hemline and laced shoes with medium heels.

Income was not as closely income as age in clothing preferences, but a third of the women said they sometimes refused to go out because they lacked proper clothes.

"FORGOTTEN WOMEN?"
Clothing buyers in the same city were also interviewed. Miss Shipley found they did not place emphasis on clothing for older women nor direct any advertising toward them. A low percentage of stock was considered suitable for this group. Department stores and shops carrying less expensive merchandise appeared to have most stock suitable for older women.

Time to take a sunbreak in a handsome mailot of Orlon knit by Rose Marie Reid. In lushia, Caribbean blue or black, it is margined in braid and is available locally.

Most Gals Are 'Hippy,' Not Tall, Slim Beauties

EAST LANSING—Style and fit of clothing is more important than price or ease of care when the older woman shops for clothes. That was what 118 women reported during a recent survey in a midwestern city.

Suzanne Shipley, graduate student in home economics at Michigan State University who conducted the study, found that these older women had definite clothing preferences.

NOT SATISFIED

Most of the women interviewed indicated they preferred a wider selection of styles when they shop, and a third of the group said available styles sometimes make them feel older.

Hay Fever Creeps Up Real Sneaky

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — It is always difficult to write a column for the day after a four-day holiday weekend, because you never know the condition of your readers. Providing they are still alive, they are quite possibly either badly sunburned, muscle-bound, hungover, dyspeptic or broke; at very best, they are churlish about being back at work so soon.

So my feeling is that a post-July 4th weekend column should not be too discordant with the popular mood and it is for this reason that the day's subject, dear discomfited, is "hay fever."

Maybe you are thinking of turning away because this subject — you surmise — has nothing to do with you. Your nose may be as dry as an unhealthy dog's.

But before being hasty, this is a reminder that hay fever is very sneaky, the way it creeps up and assaults a nose, often quite late in life.

One day your proboscis is normal and the next Thursday about noon, suddenly all small breaks loose from the nose and is replaced by an angry tickle that has come to roost till Labor Day.

FROM EXPERIENCE

I speak from experience as one who is just now realizing that, as senility approaches, so can pollen. It does not seem quite civilized to have romped, dry nose, through the careless years of youth and then — in the prime of life, having learned to care for your health and having developed the technique of keeping the nose powdered and the eyes mascaraed — to contract hay fever.

Somewhat it seems like a problem you should have got out of your system when you were young and stupid; like adenoids. But it doesn't always happen that way.

In the U.S., there are many millions of persons who have hay fever, who suffer from it annually, and know it. But the Hay Fever Prevention Society says it cannot but underestimate the millions of sufferers because there are uncountable mobs of folks who are out-of-type — they bury their watery eyes in tissues every mid-summer and say they've got a cold.

There's no wonder so many suffer from hay fever. A single mature ragweed plant gives off into the winds one-billion pollen grains, any one of which can tickle up a sneeze in a sensitive, allergic nose.

IT TONS OF POLLEN

And one square mile of ragweed produces 16 tons of pollen each summer season.

Since ragweed causes 55 per cent of all the hay fever in the country, it would seem a good idea to kill off the ragweed, which stretches across our rural scene and blows its potential poisons into the innermost regions even of our big cities.

But, the society has told me, public opinion rarely becomes thoroughly aroused to do anything about the affliction — which they call "the neglected stepchild in medical education for more than 100 years." It is considered merely a nuisance disease.

It is far more than that, of course. It results annually in many thousands of man-hours lost around the land.

What's more, the villain ragweed represents a farm loss of many millions of dollars yearly.

There are plant wars which will kill off ragweed without injury to insects, livestock or people. It seems only sensible that local communities would start thinking about organizing ragweed control programs to knock off this plant that causes so much agony. A thousand effort might make a thousand people breathe freely again.

But people just don't think along these lines, apparently. That's probably because nonsufferers think hay fever is just not worth concerning themselves about. And victims of hay fever are so miserable for three months of the year, they can't think of anything constructive.

Says Steel Demand Still Up in Detroit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Iron Age Magazine said today that steel demand from Detroit has not slackened despite the strike threat hanging over the auto industry.

Steel orders from the Motor City are flowing normally as most auto-makers are proceeding on the assumption there will be no strike. Current labor contracts of the "big three" car manufacturers expire August 31.

Purchasing agents of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler all confirm that contract negotiations are not influencing summer steel orders, the metalworking weekly said.

BULL SESSION—James Bulger of Tucson, Ariz., ignored the sign Monday at the bull ring in Nogales, Mexico, and threw himself in. Amid the boos of the aficionados and the cheers of the spectators he executed one pass (top) before being chased by the bull, toreros and police eventually scrambling (bottom) pell mell over the barrier.

Military Convoys to Start Saturday for North Bases

LANSING (AP) — Military convoys will move on most major state highways Saturday, the Michigan National Guard announced today.

Maj. Ronald D. McDonald, Michigan adjutant general, said the state's 46th Infantry Division and 17th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing will begin their annual field training that day.

Convoys will begin moving out shortly after midnight Friday for Camp Grayling near Grayling, and the Phelps Collins Air National Guard base near Alpena.

The convoys will move at about 35 miles per hour, but will maintain a distance of about 15 yards between vehicles and will pull off highways about once an hour, allowing traffic to pass, he said.

"Our troops are instructed to be as helpful as possible, consistent with safety to aid civilian motorists," McDonald said.

Mother of 11 Slain at 4th Celebration

HILLSDALE (AP) — A woman was slashed to death at a Fourth of July celebration on the Hillsdale County fair grounds Tuesday night. Her estranged husband is being held.

Mrs. Lola Marshall, 47, of Litchfield, mother of 11 children, was the victim, she was dead on arrival at the Hillsdale County Health Center. Her husband was severed.

City police said the husband, George, 53, of Allen, a former Kew-Forest, attacked his wife with a pocket knife.

Two of Mrs. Marshall's grown sons, McKinley and Orville, seized the elder Marshall and disarmed him. Marshall was taken to the county jail. Police said he had been treated for a mental condition.

Durable Goods Spending Slows

Rises 1 Per Cent Last Five Years Compared to 8 for 1946-55

ANN ARBOR (AP)—If you live in an average household, your family has about $7,000 invested in your car, refrigerator and other durable goods.

If you tried to sell them today, you'd probably get about $3,300, allowing for normal wear and tear.

Your spending for these durable goods, if you followed the national pattern, increased at a phenomenal rate—8 per cent annually—from 1946 through 1955.

However, for the past five years, your investment in cars and the like has increased only 1 per cent annually.

These were some of the highlights of an analysis of "consumer durables: stocks and expenditures," published by the Foundation for Research in Human Behavior, an independent organization headquartered at the University of Michigan.

POINTS OUT FACTORS

Written by William F. Butler, vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, the analysis was based on work done by Raymond Goldsmith of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Butler pointed out the relative size and condition of consumer goods nationally, the amount of income people receive, their feelings about the economy and their cash and debt position all influence buying decisions.

The average American household today has a net investment, after allowing for normal wear and tear, of about $900 in autos and $2,400 in other durable goods, Butler said. Nationally, the net value of consumer durables is four times as great as the total amount of consumer installment credit outstanding, more than half the value of business investment in plant and equipment and probably greater than the entire Soviet investment in plant and equipment, Butler noted.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon . . . it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. And only Ford in its field builds wagons with all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most . . . made by FORD . . . America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!

Castro Loses Beans to U.S.

You might not expect to find beans mixed up in international politics, but the abundant supply of red beans in the food stores these days can be accounted for by the chilly relations between the United States and Mr. Castro of Cuba. For many years, Cubans depended on the United States for a good share of the red kidney beans and the small red beans which are an important part of the Cuban diet.

But this country is not shipping beans or much of anything else to Cuba. So the red beans are staying at home, waiting for us to eat. Here's a hearty dish for a chilly spring evening, suggested by home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture: BEANS TO CHEESE SAUCE. You'll need 3 cups of beans which already have been cooked. Kidney beans or small red beans are ideal, but you may prefer one of the white varieties, such as Navy beans.

Melt 1 tablespoon of butter and blend with 1 tablespoon of flour. Add 1 cup milk slowly, and cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add 1 cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and stir until cheese is melted. Put in greased baking dish and bake at 350 degrees, (moderate oven) about 30 minutes. Serves 4 persons.

The nutrition experts point out that beans are rich in protein, and energy, and adding cheese enriches the dish even more in these important nutrients.

Dried Beef an Aid to Summer Cooking

When every second counts or when you're wilted from the heat, you'll find meats-in-a-can are a real hot weather asset. For instance, select a can or a jar of dried beef, mix the contents with a well-seasoned cream sauce and heap the creamed beef on crisp toast points and you'll have a speedy supper main dish.

Have you ever wondered just how a meat packer prepared dried beef? Preserving meats by drying has been a process known to man for centuries, says the American Meat Institute, but the modern way of drying beef is this: Pieces of lean beef rounds are soaked in a brine or pickling solution under closely controlled conditions. After ten or fifteen days, the meat is hung in a "drying house" until thoroughly dried. Then, to give the meat that good smoke flavor, the dried beef is smoked and then dried again. Finally the beef is sliced paper thin, packed and sent on its way to you for use in quick and easy meals. This concentrated form of protein is especially good for camping trips, but equally at home at elegant patio parties.
