Romney Raps State Highway Death Apathy

OK Record Budget for Oakland County

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a record budget of $17,218,878 for 1965.

The final figure, determined after considerable revision by the Ways and Means and Salaries committees and the Board of Auditors, is $1,183,852 higher than the budget for the current year.

This is the 17th consecutive year the county budget has been higher than the previous year.

The annual estimate of receipts and expenditures was presented to the board by David Levinson of Birmingham, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

It was adopted unanimously without discussion after an advertised public hearing held in accordance with a new Michigan statute.

NO QUESTIONS

No one appeared at the hearing to question the final tabulation.

The bulk of the county's operating funds — $12,143,678— will come from an allocated millage of 5.26 on a state equalized valuation of $2,308,684,200, the second highest in the state.

The remainder will come from estimated receipts (fees, federal and state subsidy, etc.) of $5,025,200 and an estimated $50,000 balance at the end of the current year.

More than half (54.07 per cent) of the anticipated expenditures will be used for health, welfare and health conservation, which will take a total of $9,310,923, including staff salaries.

SALARIES UP

A total of $7,426,112 was allocated for salaries, an increase of 5.5 per cent over this year's salaries appropriation.

Major factors contributing to the increase are 60 new positions, bringing the county staff to a total of 1,837 employes, and a $100 across-the-board increase for present employes.

Departmental requests for additional employes totaled 108, compared to 52 in 1964. Of the 60 new positions granted, 51 will

Slow Progress Is Reported on Auto Contracts

Two New Local-Level Agreements Reached in First 24 Hours

DETROIT (AP) — Slow progress was reported today in efforts to end a nationwide strike against General Motors Corp., despite tentative agreement on national contract terms with the United Auto Workers Union.

Only two new local-level working agreements were threshed out in the first 24 hours following announcement yesterday that both parties had reached understanding on economic and noneconomic national issues.

The two settlements came at a Fisher Body plant at Framingham, Mass., and the Allison factory at Indianapolis.

These left unresolved 115 of 130 local-level working agreements which supplement the national contract. Workers are staying out to back up demands in these.

'Must Arouse Residents to End Slaughter'

Governor Addresses Pontiac Meeting of Traffic Safety Confab

Gov. George Romney said yesterday that unless the people of Michigan become aroused at the current slaughter on state highways, the work by the Governor's Special Commission on Traffic Safety will have been to no avail.

The Governor made the remarks before nearly 200 persons at the Regional Traffic Safety Conference at Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave.

The purpose of the meeting was to present to the public the findings of the commission. This was the first of eight such meetings to be held throughout the state.

Romney said the biggest problem the state is facing in traffic safety is the lack of adequate citizen interest to stimulate public programs and to prompt public funds for these programs.

★ ★ ★

The Governor said that steps have been taken in the past year to stop the mounting traffic toll. He added that the 29 major recommendations by the commission were also aimed to stem the tide.

INTEREST NEEDED

"But we must stimulate enough interest by the time the legislature convenes in 1965 to make a massive attack on the problem," he said.

Romney listed three areas not mentioned in the commission report which he felt had to be implemented for a good safety program.

He said the public must take a greater interest in traffic safety by setting good examples in driving and walking, and by assisting local officials in strong safety programs.

★ ★ ★

Local officials interested in safety programs was the second need cited by Romney.

VOLUNTARY HELP

Finally, the Governor said that voluntary compliance with the laws must be increased.

"We can curb this rise (in traffic injuries) and reverse it substantially," he said.

Following Romney's address, Secretary of State James Hare reported to the group on research being done in the area of the 16-20-year-old drivers.

★ ★ ★

Hare said study has found three interesting correlations concerning youthful offenders.

PARENT EXAMPLE

First, in most cases the young chronic violator usually has one parent who is a chronic violator also, he said.

Hare added that there are some indications that the amount of discipline adminis-

Gun Battle Mars Visit of De Gaulle

CORDOBA, Argentina (UPI) —Police and Peronists clashed in a gun battle in Sobremonte Square today where thousands massed to give visiting French President Charles de Gaulle a frenzied welcome. Several persons were wounded.

De Gaulle and his host, Argentine President Arturo U. Illia, were on the other side of town inspecting an automobile factory when the shooting broke out in front of the Palace of Justice.

Twenty minutes after the gun battle ended, de Gaulle, Illia and Mayor J. Martinez arrived at the Justice Palace for lunch with State Gov. Justo Paez Molina as scheduled. Their limousine was heavily guarded.

Peronists continued to mill about in the square, but police had it entirely surrounded and appeared to have the situation well in hand.

★ ★ ★

The shooting was brief but intense. There was fire and answering fire between police and Peronist extremists.

ATTACK POLICE

The firing broke out after Peronists attacked police with stones.

Several ambulances converged on Sobremonte Square and several wounded were carried away on stretchers.

Police rushed heavy reinforcements into the riot area which already was under heavy guard.

Earlier, police had brandished pistols and threatened to unleash police dogs to cow and dislodge Peronists who had threatened to block de Gaulle's passage past the General Workers Confederation headquarters.

★ ★ ★

Peronists link de Gaulle's political "third force" in world affairs with exiled dictator Juan D. Peron's "neutralism" of a past age.

SWARMED INTO TOWN

Peronists swarmed into town last night from Buenos Aires. Among them were many who helped transform Saturday's welcome for de Gaulle into a riotous clamor for the return of Peron from Spain.

★ ★ ★

A large area around the airport, officially declared a "military zone," was reserved for troops and police. Three anti-aircraft batteries, 15 fighter planes and an armed helicopter were standing by to prevent leaflet drops in the vicinity of the airport.

President Illia flew here today, in advance of de Gaulle, to say a formal farewell to the 73-year-old French leader.

McNamara Predicts N-Spread

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said there is no question but that "tens of nations" could have nuclear weapons and the means of delivering them in another 10 or 20 years.

★ ★ ★

This grim prospect will result, he said, from an expected dramatic drop in the cost of making warheads and the spread of advanced, simpler nuclear technology throughout the world.

The proliferation of nuclear weapons "is one of the great dangers that we face and must continue to act to reduce and prevent," McNamara said in a wide ranging exposition of views which also covered the draft, "hot pursuit" in Viet Nam, the Republicans, and presidential control of atomic weapons.

His views were expressed in a recorded interview with reporter Irving Kupcinet. It was televised by a Chicago station (WBKB-TV) on a midnight show over the weekend.

The Pentagon provided a transcript on request.

COST WOULD FALL

McNamara said the cost of nuclear warheads today ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000 each, but would "fall dramatically" in the years ahead.

This would enable other nations to develop and produce weapons.

"You can imagine the danger that the world would face if 10, 20 or 30 nations possessed nuclear warheads instead of the four that possess them today," McNamara said.

★ ★ ★

". . . Without question it will be possible for tens of nations to possess such weapons 10 or 20 years from now."

'Ringo, Have Your Tonsils Out'

LONDON (AP)—British nurses appealed today to Beatle Ringo Starr to have his tonsils out. Otherwise, they said, children may balk at losing theirs.

The appeal came from London's Whittington Hospital, where Beatle therapy is part of the regular treatment in the children's wing.

Huge pictures of the Furious Four have been painted on walls and ceiling of the children's wards and in the operating theater.

"They soothe the kids," a nurse said.

"Doctors tell the children to point out their favorite Beatle while they are giving injections. It really does help calm them.

"It can be a terrifying experience for children to be wheeled into an anesthetic room full of unfamiliar masked figures and frightening instruments.

"But most children know and love the Beatles, and the pictures help reassure them."

Ringo came back from the group's last American tour saying he had tonsillitis and would undergo surgery. Now he says he is having second thoughts because to remove his tonsils might remove the distinctive croak from his voice.

"We can see the trouble ahead," said the nurse. "Ringo says he won't have his tonsils out and the children might want to copy him."

Queen Starts Canada Tour With Lunch

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II arrived here today for the start of her controversial Canadian tour.

★ ★ ★

The royal yacht Brittania docked at the foot of Queen Street, a main downtown thoroughfare. The waterfront area was sealed off.

Officials will maintain rigid security throughout the queen's visit because of strong opposition from secessionists in French-speaking Quebec.

Governor General Georges Vanier, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, and their wives went aboard the Brittania for lunch with the Queen and Prince Philip.

★ ★ ★

The royal visitors will go ashore after the luncheon.

ARRIVED BY JET

The queen arrived by jet plane yesterday at the Summerside Royal Canadian Air Force base for her fourth visit to Canada. She boarded the Brittania at Summerside for the 45-mile cruise to Charlettetown.

She was welcomed at Summerside by Vanier, Pearson and local dignitaries. Except for a few air force personnel and their families, the base was cleared of spectators.

Although the queen was probably not aware of it, the base was sealed off by tight security checks. All newsmen entering the gates had to show credentials and were stopped by security officers inside.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Rejects Red Charge on Attaches

Russia said the men had taken 900 pictures and filled 26 notebooks during a train trip from Moscow to the Soviet Far East, and had thus "engaged in espionage." To this, a State Department spokesman replied, "We reject this charge."

To Ask Pontiac Area Firms for Two-Thirds of UF Goal

Pontiac area industrial firms will be asked to meet more than two-thirds of the Pontiac Area United Fund 1964 Campaign goal, Charles F. Brown, industrial division chairman, announced today.

Brown said that of the $815,500 sought in this year's drive, local industry would be asked to five per cent higher than last year's target.

The fund drive will run Oct. 13 - Nov. 6. This year's industrial goal, Brown pointed out, is

"I know that with the fine leadership we have in the industrial division, we will again surpass our goal this year," Brown noted.

"All early planning and organizational work has been carefully carried out, and I am sure this will result in success."

★ ★ ★

Brown, who is Pontiac division manager of the Consumers Power Company, said the following chairmen have been named to assist him and will head the campaigns in their respective companies.

NAMES CHAIRMEN

Owen O'Neill, GMC Truck and Coach Division; William A. Beggs, Jig Bushing Co.; Robert F. Anderson, Pontiac Varnish co.; Ted Pearson Jr., Universal Oil Seal Co.; Henry F. Stack, Fisher Body Plant; Richard B. Gould, Pontiac Motor Division; and Philip A. Hartrick, Consumers Power Company.

Brown pointed out that in addition to the major industrial firms, there are 67 small industries represented in the goal total. Mark Blackman, assistant division manager, Consumers Power Co., heads this group.

Bruce J. Annett, of Annett Realty, Inc., is general chairman of this year's drive.

The lowest mercury reading recorded this morning was 34. By 2 p.m. the area had warmed up to 46.

Ike Gets Caught in Middle on N-Arms Control Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was in the middle today — between Democrats and Republicans, each claiming he was on their side in a dispute over nuclear- weapons control.

★ ★ ★

It began Monday when the GOP unveiled a task-force report claiming President Johnson had overextended his control of field-type nuclear weapons. This, the GOP group contended, has damaged U.S. security.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower appeared at a New York news conference, but wouldn't endorse or reject the report.

★ ★ ★

He deplored the injection of the nuclear-weapons issue into the presidential campaign and added: "I don't think these are things that ought to be talked out in detail . . . I don't think we should reach conclusions telling the President what he should do or what he should say."

NOT BEST INTEREST

The White House promptly released a statement declaring that President Johnson agreed with Eisenhower that "it is not in the best interest of the country to take our defense plans and make them public."

★ ★ ★

Dean Burch, Republican national chairman, said Johnson's comment was "a patent attempt to get off the hook of an issue which is embarrassing him and his administration because the American people realize the Democrats have used the question of nuclear weapons to strike fear and horror into their hearts."

★ ★ ★

Burch has complained in the past about Democratic campaign material he charged was designed to frighten people into believing Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, was trigger-happy and might bring on a nuclear war.

Although he hasn't mentioned it since he began formal campaigning for the White House, Goldwater proposed last Oct. 24 in Hartford, Conn., that the NATO commander be given more authority over the use of tactical nuclear weapons.

REPEATED PLAN

He repeated the proposal in a campaign position paper during his primary race for the nomination and in speeches June 30 and Aug. 24.

Johnson has contended that only the president should have the final say on use of any nuclear weapon.

★ ★ ★

Burch praised Eisenhower for saying nuclear weapons should not be an issue in the political campaign, adding, "but, as the general said in New York, it is."

The task force report was read in Eisenhower's presence. It called on Johnson to assure the United States' NATO allies that the American NATO commander could use tactical nuclear weapons in an extreme emergency, and to assure Americans that the controls wouldn't impair U.S. ability to respond to a nuclear attack.

★ ★ ★

Asked about the report, Eisenhower said, "I'm not in the position of agreeing or disagreeing with any particular point."

Later, Eisenhower was overheard to say to its principal author, Neil H. McElroy, his own former defense secretary: "I didn't know what to tell them."

Say Student Fired Back at the Reds

BERLIN (AP) — Ten West Berlin students dug the tunnel by which 57 East Berliners escaped beneath the Red wall over the weekend, and one student exchanged shots with Communist border guards, reliable informants said today.

★ ★ ★

The shooting developed in the final phase of the operation Sunday night at an East Berlin apartment house that was on the escape route.

Motorized Red squads, evidently summoned by a dweller in the apartment house, closed in unexpectedly and opened up with submachine guns. A student who had armed himself with a revolver in fear of just such a contingency, fired back.

★ ★ ★

The youth heard someone moan as he got away. He was the rear guard of a group of four.

PROPAGANDA DRIVE

Communist authorities in the Soviet sector whipped up a propaganda campaign about the shooting while West Berliners rejoiced at the flight to freedom.

★ ★ ★

The Communists said the affair may affect the agreement permitting West Berliners to visit East Berlin on certain occasions.

Lady Bird Starts Dixie Tour

ABOARD LADY BIRD SPECIAL (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson launched a Southern whistle-stop tour today with a quotation from Robert E. Lee and urged Virginians to forget differences over civil rights and seek a unified nation.

With President Johnson at her side, the First Lady recalled to a crowd at her first stop in Alexandria, Va. — not far from Lee's Arlington home — the advice of the Confederate general to Southerners after the Civil War to "abandon all these local animosities and make your sons Americans."

★ ★ ★

To this, Mrs. Johnson added her own advice, urging fellow Southerners to seek "the ties that bind us together, not settle for the tensions that tend to divide us."

The President climbed aboard the Lady Bird Special for the start of his wife's 1,682-mile foray into the South and rode with her to the first stop just across the Potomac River.

SOUTH VALUED

"I want to tell you from Alexandria to New Orleans that to this President and his wife the South is a respected and valued and beloved part of this country," Mrs. Johnson said in her prepared speech.

The First Lady pointed out that "the hard duty of assuring equal and constitutional rights to all Americans falls, not only on the President of the United States but upon all who love this land."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Johnson, born in Karnack, Tex., declared her own deep pride and love of the South. She talked of old customs, a special brand of gentility and courtesy, new economic growth, and a long line of famous statesmen, including 12 presidents and 15 secretaries of state from Thomas Jefferson to Dean Rusk.

★ ★ ★

She said she has always believed there is "more love than hate" in the South and was convinced of it by the way the passage of the equal rights law was received.

GREAT CREDIT

For the most part, she said, it was "in a way that was a great credit to local leadership," to mayors and minister, white merchants, Negro leaders and to average citizens.

Mrs. Johnson said she views the South as "a place of the heart" and on her journey she wants to visit not only its "queen-like cities" but the small towns and rural areas because "I was born in such an area and I am at home there."

★ ★ ★

be concerned with health, welfare and social work functions.

Elected county officials will receive the following salary increases beginning Jan. 1, 1965:

Clerk/register, from $13,500 to $16,000; drain commissioner, from $13,500 to $16,000; prosecuting attorney, from $15,000 to $17,500; sheriff, from $12,250 to $14,750; treasurer, from $13,500 to $16,000.

REMAIN THE SAME

Probate judges will remain at the present level of $23,500, and circuit judges will continue at $11,000, in addition to the $15,000 paid annually by the State of Michigan.

After adopting the budget, the board took unprecedented action which will result in a delay in spreading the 1964 taxes in the county.

Louis F. Oldenburg of Highland Township, chairman of the Committee on Local Taxes, presented the tabulation of amounts to be spread on the tax rolls of the county's 46 municipalities.

★ ★ ★

An objection was raised, however, by James Clarkson, mayor of Southfield, because of appeals on the assessment of some 460 parcels in Southfield which are still pending before the State Tax Commission.

CAN'T DETERMINE

Clarkson pointed out to the board that the state equalized valuation of the City of Southfield can not be accurately determined until after a final ruling on the appeals by the State Tax Commission.

★ ★ ★

After considerable discussion, the board voted to delay the spreading of the taxes until Oct. 27.

This will give assessors and township supervisors slightly over 30 days to prepare tax bills, which must be in the hands of taxpayers by Dec. 1.

Police Hunt Thief With 'Great Catch'

Sheriff's deputies today are seeking a thief with an effective line — fishing line, that is.

Wayne M. Brown, 3025 Angelus, Waterford, reported yesterday that while he was on vacation thieves stole 80 to 100 trout from his trout pond near M15 in Brandon Township.

Deputies said they aren't certain how the thief stole the fish, but on their report they noted "two spots near the pond where the culprit dug up worms."

Hilda's Gone; Work Begins

Louisiana Recovers; Flood Threats Mount

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Louisiana, hit by its worst hurricane in seven years, stepped up efforts to return to normal today even while flood threats mounted.

Gov. John McKeithen flew on an inspection tour of several devastated areas Monday and described what he saw as "a terrible disaster."

★ ★ ★

Hurricane Hilda moved up through the Gulf of Mexico and struck Louisiana's coast Saturday. Hilda and the vicious tornadoes she set off killed 36 persons.

Damages may run to $100 million.

WORE OUT

Hilda's might wore out over Louisiana. After colliding with a cold front over Georgia and the Carolinas, it pushed out into the Atlantic Ocean.

Repair crews fanned out over Louisiana to fix electric, gas, sewage, water and communication lines knocked out by the storm. Insurance companies beefed up their claims offices.

Farmers began salvaging what was left of their crops. Stricken residents returned to their homes — or what was left of them — to clean up debris.

While all this was going on, hundreds were forced to evacuate their homes in the Baton Rouge area because of rising waters in the Amite and Comite river basins. Officials expected them to crest three to six feet above flood stage today.

FUNDS FOR RELIEF

President Johnson earmarked $1 million in emergency funds for hurricane disaster relief in Louisiana.

The Small Business Administration designated all sections of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama hit by the winds and floods as disaster area.

★ ★ ★

McKeithen arrived at La Rose as funeral services were starting for some of the 21 persons killed by a tornado which demolished or damaged about 70 homes.

State Rep. Richard Guidry of Lafourche Parish estimated the La Rose damage at more than $4 million.

KILLED 8

The governor also stopped at Erath where the storm knocked over a huge water tower onto the city hall, killing eight civil defense workers inside the building.

Herrington, wholesale sales manager with the Stroh Brewery, Detroit, is accused of shooting Dr. John R. Foster, a dentist, on Sept. 16.

Foster, of 3130 W. Long Lake, West Bloomfield Township, had his offices at 200 E. Brown, Birmingham.

OK Assessment District for Street Improvement

BIRMINGHAM—A special assessment district for the improvement of Coolidge Road was approved by the City Commission last night.

★ ★ ★

At the same time the commission accepted the low bid from the Ministrelli Construction Co., Livonia, of $74,263 for the paving of the road between Maple and Derby.

Birmingham and the City of Troy have already entered into an agreement on the project since the road is the dividing line between the two communities.

The project is being undertaken in conjunction with a $50-million development in Troy and Birmingham's share of the total cost is 30 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Of this, the City of Birmingham will pay 25 per cent with home owners affected by the improvement paying the remainder.

TENTATIVE COSTS

The average assessment had been estimated at $325, based on tentative cost figures for the project, but the Ministrelli bid was 11.5 per cent below preliminary estimates.

Under the agreement between the two cities, Troy advertised for bids on the project, receiving three, and then forwarded a recommendation to approve the low bid to Birmingham.

The improvement of Coolidge, which calls for the construction of a boulevard from Maple to Derby, is expected to be completed this year.

Both candidates for the Michigan State Senate from the 16th District will speak at tonight's meeting of the Birmingham Study Club.

Republican Robert J. Huber of Troy and Democrat Donald Oberholtzer of Clawson will address the group and answer questions.

The 8 p.m. program will be held at the home of club president Mrs. Kensinger Jones, 26825 York, Huntington Woods.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — "The Pursuit of Excellence" will be discussed by Birmingham Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith at the Thursday night meeting of the Berkshire Junior High School PTA.

Service for Mrs. Albert J. (Alice M.) Fouracre, 78, of 1247 E. Lincoln, Birmingham, will be 4 p.m. Thursday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Fouracre died yesterday after a long illness.

She was a member of Rebekah Lodge No. 445, Birmingham, and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert B. Thompson; three sons, Vernon A., Donald G. and Jack, all of Birmingham; and six grandchildren.

Mrs. K. Herman Boyce

Service for Mrs. K. Herman (Bernice) Boyce, 53, of 1014 S. Bates, Birmingham, will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Boyce died yesterday after a short illness.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Carolyn, and a son, David R., both at home; her mother, Mrs. Earlis B. Kresge of Royal Oak; and a sister.

Soapy Speaks at Dem Dinner

G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African Affair, last night credited the economic policies of the Kennedy-Johnson administration with "giving the United States its longest continuous period of economic growth in history."

★ ★ ★

The former six-term governor of Michigan made the statement at the Democratic 19th congressional district dinner, honoring congressional candidate Billie Farnum. The event was held at Pine Knob Lodge in Independence Township.

U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, kicking off his campaign for reelection, also spoke.

Williams said the democratic administration in the past four years "has stimulated economic growth and controlled inflation by working with labor and industry, by encouraging and expanding investment in the development of human and material resources and by reducing purchasing power and corporated investment."

"That is why Americans are earning $86 billion more income annually and why Michigan is prospering today," Williams said.

DENOUNCES BARRY

Sen. Hart denounced Republican Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater as a man who gives Americans "little reason to believe he is concerned about the well-being of the people he seeks to represent.

"He treats nuclear weapons as if they were merely improved hand grenades," Hart said. "He tells our older citizens that Social Security isn't good for the country—and then decides maybe it is."

Vote to Keep Tshombe Out of Conference

CAIRO (AP) — Leaders of the nonaligned nations meeting in Cairo decided unanimously today to exclude Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo, who was under virtual house arrest in a suburban palace.

★ ★ ★

They declared it would be inopportune for the controversial Congolese leader to take part in their conference, though they would welcome his chief, President Joseph Kasavubu.

A delegation carried the statement to the walled Aruba Palace in Heliopolis, to which Tshombe was escorted when he flew in from Athens before dawn as an unwanted guest.

A cordon of Egyptian police guarded the palace.

Tshombe was visited this morning by Mohamed Faik, director of African affairs in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's office.

Faik told Tshombe he would not be permitted to leave the palace, except to leave the country, before the conference reached a decision.

NATIONAL WEATHER — It is expected to be dry in almost the entire nation tonight. The eastern third of the nation will be quite cool. It will be a little warmer in the Pacific northwest and from the southern Plains to the upper Lakes area.

County Okays Planned Keego Water System

A resolution establishing a proposed water system for the City of Keego Harbor as a county project was approved yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

A request for the system has been submitted to the Department of Public Works and approved by the DPW board of directors.

★ ★ ★

A contract for an engineering study of the proposal is now being prepared by the DPW. The study is expected to get under way within the next week or 10 days.

Actual construction work on the system will probably be started in the Spring of 1965, according to DPW officials.

Goldwater Tours Pennsylvania

With Goldwater In Pennsylvania (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today the overriding issue in the presidential campaign is "What period of America are we going to have tomorrow?"

The Republican presidential nominee, speaking at the Warminster shopping center in Bucks County, Pa., told a crowd estimated locally at 2,500 persons that he does not believe for a moment the American people are going to accept any form of socialism.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater began a swing through Philadelphia suburban areas on a crisp, sunny morning. He planned to return to Washington for a major address later in the day.

★ ★ ★

Before steering his campaign into Pennsylvania, Goldwater said that if he wins he will ask former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to undertake a study mission to South Viet Nam.

TEAM OF EXPERTS

Goldwater said he wants Eisenhower to head a team of experts to conduct an on-the-scene inquiry into the situation in the embattled Southeast Asian country, and seek a solution.

Goldwater said "the forgotten American" is the man with the most at stake in the presidential race.

He said he was talking about the average American but "unfortunately he hasn't been a man who has squeaked very loud."

★ ★ ★

Goldwater said "minority groups run this country" through what he called "extensive lobbying" in Washington.

GOT HANDOUTS

"These are the ones that have been benefiting from government handouts financed by you," Goldwater said, drawing a cheer from the crowd.

He said President Johnson tells the nation "Let us continue," but only when he is not busy "walking in the rose garden, walking around his ranch or walking around issues."

There were cries from the crowd "Give it to him, Barry," as the Republican nominee criticized Johnson.

Goldwater said that he is not the least interested in the power of the presidency "except to return the illegal powers — as well as some of the legal powers — to the people."

HEARS VOICE

Taking note of a sign which read, "We want a man, not a mouth, in the White House," Goldwater said, "I thought I heard Bobby Baker's voice out there but I thought he was hiding in the basement of the White House."

Seven Arrested by FBI

Continues Probe of Racial Bombings

McCOMB, Miss. (AP) — A Mississippi grand jury today continues an inquiry into the rash of racial bombings in this railroad hub on the heels of additional arrests by the FBI.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge W. H. Watkins told the jury Monday it "must be zealous in our duty to obey civil laws of our land whether we happen to like these laws or not."

FBI agents arrested seven men, including a onetime Army demolition expert, Monday. The seven — like the four arrested earlier — face state charges on illegal use of explosives.

The Pike County grand jury will be asked to indict the 11 white men on the state charge, which carries the death penalty. The law was passed 15 years ago when the state was gripped by a violent bus strike.

Federal, state and local officers began a concentrated crackdown last week after Gov. Paul Johnson pledged that "law and order will prevail in Mississippi."

★ ★ ★

The county grand jury opened its probe into the 16 explosions which have wrecked and damaged Negro homes and churches in the area this summer.

Judge Watkins said "things are in fact happening that are repulsive to us and tempt us to revolt."

EXPLOSIVES EXPERT

Among those arrested Monday was Emery Allen Lee, 35, a former Army explosives expert.

Buried in a gravel pit near his home officers found rifles and blackjacks, military hand grenades, a five-gallon can of explosive powder and several thousand rounds of 30-caliber ammunition.

★ ★ ★

Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Jackson FBI office, identified the others arrested Monday as Hilton Dunaway, 36; John Paul Westbrook, 20; Charles Avery Womack, 26; Gerald Lawrence, 21; Sterling L. Gillis, 35; and Murphy J. Duncan, 20, all of McComb.

They were taken to state highway patrol headquarters at Jackson for questioning, then transferred to the Hinds County Jail.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury also will be asked to indict 16 Negroes and a white civil rights worker on charges of criminal syndicalism, which forbids advocating any unlawful acts designed to bring about social or political change.

The charges stemmed from a rock-throwing incident that followed the bombing of a Negro home on Sept. 20.

Miller to Cross Trails of Lyndon, Lady Bird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller heads into the swing that crosses trails with President Johnson and whistle-stopping Lady Bird Johnson.

The advance word from the Miller camp is that the Republican vice presidential nominee will point up the coincidence by launching a fresh attack on the Democratic president.

★ ★ ★

Although Miller and the Johnsons scheduled campaign appearances in North Carolina today, a direct confrontation is unlikely.

★ ★ ★

After addressing an airport rally in Wilmington, Miller listed a luncheon speech in Asheville and a dinner in Hickory. He planned to push on directly into Georgia.

IN RALEIGH

Mrs. Johnson's itinerary is taking her lo several other communities in North Carolina before she closes out the day at Raleigh, where the President will join her.

Miller's latest campaign swing is his first foray into the Deep South, an area to which the GOP national ticket looks for strong support on Election Day.

★ ★ ★

He plans to go from Georgia into Florida and then westward to the border states of Tennessee and Missouri. He will close out this week's seven-state tour by stumping Illinois and Ohio.

No Work, No Time, No Job

GOLDFIELD, Nev. (AP)—Esmeralda County Commissioners are looking for a new district attorney who won't object to spending one day a week on the job.

Attorney Keith Hayes who has his office in Las Vegas, 187 miles away, quit yesterday after commissioners contended he wasn't spending enough time on the job. Hayes said it was ridiculous to spend all that time here: there just wasn't enough business.

★ ★ ★

Commission chairman M. L. Shank said the county would like to see a retired attorney willing to settle down in Goldfield to take the $400 a month job. The county has 500 residents.

Ever wonder what your United Way gift is doing?

It's working many wonders—like these

When you so generously gave the United Way last fall, did you realize that your gift would keep right on doing good all year long? Well, it does. Just ask the kids who are being helped this summer. Your gift is helping send some of them to the country for a week or so—to learn the lessons of growing up under the guidance of experienced counselors. It's helping to provide a healthy atmosphere for others to play in, helping them realize that someone does care about them. It's helping the children in our community every single day of the year, to grow up as responsible adults who will lead rich, constructive lives. Now you know why we say: One Gift Works Many Wonders/THE UNITED WAY

West Bloomfield to Set Date for Bond Issue Election

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education last night decided to set the date for a bond issue election and the amount to be sought at its Oct. 19 meeting.

Tentatively considered now is Dec. 16 as the date to request additional building and site purchase funds from district property owners.

Central in a proposed building program would be an elementary school in the south end of the district, where new subdivisions are bringing rapid enrollment increases.

The board has cited the need for a new elementary school on Maple midway between Middle Belt and Orchard Lake.

Its 11-acre site there was one of those purchased when a $1.6-million bond issue was approved by district taxpayers in June, 1963.

The majority of the funds made available through that issue was designated for construction of a junior high school now being built on the west side of Orchard Lake Road about a mile north of Maple.

Another factor to be determined in consideration of a bond issue is the purchase of additional sites, although no specific locations have been decided.

The district this year is educating a student body which grew more than 19 per cent since last year.

Also on the agenda for the special meeting in two weeks is a reexamination of the board's policy concerning the transportation of special students.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Some 13 West Bloomfield School District youngsters now are attending special education classes at seven different schools in the Birmingham, Walled Lake and, in one case, Farmington school districts. The classes also have different starting times.

Parents of the special education students now are allowed $200 a year from the state for transportation of each youngster.

A spokesman for one of them last night urged the board to coordinate a program that would pool the resources of each to provide transportation at a reasonable cost.

★ ★ ★

The problem is to find a driver willing to take each of the students to the location of his class at the time it meets, board president Paul J. Rich noted.

In the past there have been persons who would do this, but apparently no one is available now, he said.

The board last night sold $150,000 worth of bonds in anticipation of state aid to Community National Bank, which offered a 1.65 per cent interest rate as the lowest of two bidders.

Sewers Going In For Troy Apartment Complex

Despite 'Tentative' OK in Lake Orion

Sewer Financing Still Unsettled

LAKE ORION — The Village Council has signed a contract with the county for the construction of a $1.36-million sewer system, but a method of paying for it is far from settled.

★ ★ ★

A resolution was passed last night at a special meeting to indicate the council's tentative approval of a financing plan devised by Louis H. Schimmel of the Michigan Municipal Advisory Council.

As the resolution spells out, however, the purpose of the action was to give the council a position on the issue for the first time.

Residents, 400 of whom have joined a newly organized group called the Lake Orion Homeowners Association, now have a starting point for action.

★ ★ ★

The group will present two petitions to the state, objecting to Schimmel's plan and seeking a delay in the project to allow exploration of alternate anti-pollution measures on the village's east side.

VILLAGEWIDE

Schimmel's proposed financing scheme calls for a village-wide assessment of 5 mills ($5 per $1,000 of assessed valuation). It is this portion of the plan that has drawn the association's opposition.

The millage would account for about $14,000 of the $73,000 needed each year to retire $1.36 million in bonds over a 33-year period.

Schimmel pointed out that this is a small part of the total cost, consistent with the fact that the first phase of the project is designed with the capacity of eventually serving the west side of the village when the second phase is completed.

The remaining, major part of the cost would come from the users only, in the form of a user charge of about $84 per year and services charges estimated at $26 per year.

$124 PER YEAR

In short, users would pay about $124 each year, including the 5-mill assessments, and non-users about $14 each year for the east side project.

Although Village President William Shoup expressed personal satisfaction with Schimmel's plan, other council members said they would prefer to wait and see if the association can obtain a delay from the state.

Such a delay would give them time to examine several alternate proposals for eliminating the pollution of Paint Creek, and time to consider other financing methods.

After the meeting, association spokesman Mrs. Charles Robbins of 622 Detroit said the group will consult with attorneys Dundero, Jones & Peterman of Royal Oak in determining its next step.

NO SUIT PLANNED

She said that the association does not plan to sue the village council for a halt on the project, but the state would have the option of including the council in any legal action it initiated.

★ ★ ★

A lawsuit filed by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley against the villge is now in court, and the state could be asked to enter the suit on behalf of the association.

★ ★ ★

The association will meet at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Lake Orion Youth Center to elect representatives and a president.

5 Meetings on Housing Are Slated

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—A series of five weekly meetings on housing will be presented at the township hall on M59, beginning at 8 p. m., Thursday.

★ ★ ★

On this date, Dr. Carleton Edwards and Dr. Gertrude Nygren, housing specialists from Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, will discuss planning of new or remodeled homes to meet family needs.

Other topics to be presented include plumbing, heating, water supply, sewage disposal, selection of building materials, lighting, wiring, interior design, landscaping and financing.

Representatives from the Oakland County Health Department, Kast, Heating, Detroit Edison Co., White Lake Lumber Company, and First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland are cooperating with the County Extension Service and township officials in sponsoring the educational program.

★ ★

Interested families are invited to participate in this free educational program by registering at the county extension office, 153 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac, or at White Lake Township Hall.

★ ★ ★

Man Critical After Hit-Run

Found on Troy Road by 3 County Boys

TROY — A Sault Ste. Marie man is hospitalized in critical condition this morning after being struck by a hit-and-run vehicle early today.

Rollin J. Single, 60, was found by three Madison Heights boys at about 1:30 a.m. on Stephenson Highway, ¼-mile south of 15 Mile Road (Maple).

The boys covered Single and called Troy police to the scene.

Police said they are looking for a car of unknown description with damage to the front end.

★ ★ ★

Single was taken to William Beaumont Hospital with a broken leg and fractured skull.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Author Will Begin Troy Forum Series

TROY — Author - lecturer Donald J. Thorman will discuss the challenge and responsibility of the layman in today's world at 8 p.m. Saturday in St. Thomas More's church hall, Adams road north of Wattles.

Thorman's appearance marks the start of this season's Tuesday Forum series.

Thorman, whose book "The Emerging Layman" (Doubleday, 1962) was chosen as a selection by four Catholic book clubs, has taught sociology and papal social encyclicals on graduate and undergraduate levels at Loyola University, Chicago.

Formerly president of The National Catholic Social Action Conference, he had served on the board of directors of the Catholic Press Association.

★ ★ ★

Besides stints as managing editor of St. Jude and Ave Maria magazines, Thorman has been publisher and director of development for the Spiritual Life Institute of America.

DESCRIBE CHANGE

In his St. Thomas More lecture, Thorman will describe the dramatic change in status of the American Catholic layman. The emerging layman's challenging position and his affect in such vital areas as education, religious tolerance, Christian unity, interracial justice and liturgy will be aired.

Thorman's talk will conclude with a look at the layman's future as an active force in his Church and community.

A question and answer period will follow the lecture, with a social hour rounding out the Tuesday Forum program. Open to the public, this evening forum will follow an afternoon workshop conducted by Thorman for St. Thomas More Parish officers and committee chairmen on the role of the layman, how to prepare for it and its responsibilities.

★ ★ ★

The Saturday program will set the theme for a series of five lectures entitled "God Speaks to Man" by Father Robert Callahan of St. John's Seminary, Plymouth.

This series, scheduled to begin Oct. 20, at St. Thomas More, will be a Tuesday Forum project.

Tuesday Forum is sponsored by the adult education committee of St. Thomas More Parish. James Kennedy, of 863 Helston, Bloomfield Township, is adult education chairman, with Dr. Michael Quinn officiating as chairman for the "God Speaks to Man" series.

It concludes Nov. 17 on the theme "What Is Expected of Man."

DONALD J. THORMAN

Romney Will Make 2 Stops in Area

Gov. George Romney will make his first visits as state head to Milford and Highland Township Friday.

His campaign for reelection will take him to the corner of Main and Center at 4:30 p.m. He will greet residents and give a short speech in front of the Community National Bank.

★ ★ ★

The governor will stop in East Highland at 6:30 p.m. to appear in front of the Pontiac State Bank, Highland and Duck Lake Roads.

First Step for Troy Builders

TROY — First step in preparing to break ground on a $50 million apartment house complex planned for Troy, is the installation of a 1,100-foot storm sewer.

Workmen of the Biltmore Development Company began last week on the job of installing the 36-inch in diameter storm sewer conduits along Coolidge Road, between Maple and Big Beaver Roads.

Biltmore spokesmen said actual ground breaking on the apartment house complex should take place within the next 60 days.

The development, announced last July, will feature apartment house living for 2,000 families and extensive recreational facilities including swimming pools and landscaped play areas.

It will occupy a 200-acre T-shaped site, running a mile long on Coolidge from Maple to Big Beaver Road, with the quarter-mile wide base of the T running from Coolidge east to Crooks Road.

Annual Bible Lectureship Begins Sunday at MCC

Educators, missionaries, radio and television personalities, ministers and editors will converge on the campus of Michigan Christian College Sunday through Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The occasion is the 7th annual Bible Lectureship, which each year brings people from all over the world to the campus at 800 W. Avon.

The theme for a series of lectures, panel discussions, luncheon and dinner gatherings during the lectureship will be "In the Shadow of the Cross."

Among those slated to speak at the college are educator Jimmy Allen of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., Wayne Poucher, commentator on the national radio-TV news program "Life Line," and E. R. Harper, speaker on the "Herald of Truth" program which is aired over 385 radio and 90 television stations.

★ ★ ★

Others will be Ira Y. Rice, a missionary to the Far East, Glenn Martin, missionary to Nigeria and Reuel Lemmons, editor and author, of Austin, Texas.

SPECIAL SERIES

A special series on "Women in the Shadow of the Cross" will be taught by Nashville, Tenn. educator Mrs. Wilma Folwell.

Panel discussions will take place at 2 p. m. each day during the lectureship, on doctrinal and moral issues of the day.

A Missions Forum session each night at 7 will feature "The Niagara Frontier," "The Far East," and the "Fields of Nigeria."

★ ★ ★

Special luncheons, an exhibit tent, a daily Lectureship Breakfast and the "President's Fellowship Hour" ending the day's activities will also highlight the 5-day event.

Group to Serve Turkey Dinner in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Jack Frost has appeared and when that happens, Tom Turkey is seldom far behind.

★ ★ ★

One of the latter's first appearances this season will come in the form of a turkey dinner with all the traditional trimmings Thursday at Rochester Congregational Church.

★ ★ ★

The Harvest Home Dinner, staged by the Women's Fellowship of the church, will be open to the public from 5 to 7 p.m.

Grand Rapids Plan for Garage Outlined

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A possible 370-car underground parking garage was outlined by city planners Monday as an alternative to a $1 million downtown ramp spanning the Grand River. River ramp plans were detailed in August but the site is being considered as a new Grand Rapids Junior College campus.

Flint Man Is Killed

FLINT (AP) — Herbert W. Jackson, 26, of Flint was fatally injured Monday when the car he was driving was struck broadside by another auto at a Flint Township intersection.

Expect 500 at 'College Night'

ROCHESTER — More than 500 Rochester Senior High School students and parents are expected to gather at the school Monday for the annual "College Night," according to guidance director George Stringer.

Representatives of 40 colleges, universities, technical schools and military services will be available to answer questions and present information on their educational programs and related subjects.

Students and parents will have an opportunity to talk to three or more representatives in the course of the evening, which has been split into three periods.

Beginning at 7:30, each period will last about 35 minutes, with students and parents spending the first two in rooms allotted to the schools of their preference.

The third period, from about 9 to 9:30, will be a "browsing period," during which time the visitors may move freely from room to room, contacting as many representatives as they wish.

Merry Makers Plan 1st Dance of Season

LAKE ORION — Sets will square up Saturday at Blanche Sims School for the first Merry Makers dance of the season.

Square dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and will be preceded by a round dance workshop from 8:30 to 9, with Dorance and Frances Galloway as instructors.

Talk on Telstar Set for Engineer Group

A talk on the Telstar satellite communications system will be featured during the ladies night program of the Oakland Chapter, Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The dinner will begin at 7 p.m. at Devon Gables, 1116 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Hills.

Speaker will be David Witmer of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., who will describe the new communications system. A demonstration of the microwave radio transmission used in Telstar will be part of the program.

UF Chairman Named for W. Bloomfield Area

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Duane K. Sanford, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. supervisor, recently was appointed 1964 campaign chairman of the West Bloomfield United Fund.

Sanford will direct the work of more than 250 volunteers in 16 areas. His appointment to lead the drive for $41,000 was announced by John Cojeen, West Bloomfield UF president.

Confracts Awarded for Utica City Hall

UTICA — Bids totaling $124,599 were awarded last night by the Utica Building Authority for construction of a new city hall.

Erwin Kerner of Utica received the general contracting award, $89,761, and Alex Elbling & Son of Pontiac, the mechanical contracting award, $24,198.

Scheper's Electric Shop of Utica was awarded the electrical contract, $10,640.

Construction on the building, which will also house the Utica Public Library and Police Department, is expected to begin within three weeks.

Good Employes Prove Hard to Find

Chicago Area Short of Steel Workers; Firms Try Recruiting

CHICAGO (AP) — The steel industry, headed for its biggest year in history, is running out of workers in the Chicago-Gary, Ind., area, largest steel producing center in the world.

Two of the industry's giants, U.S. Steel and Inland Steel, reported today they are carrying recruiting drives for their busy Chicago area plants into the far corners of the Midwest and Pennsylvania in an effort to beef up overworked crews.

★ ★ ★

The problem, say industry spokesmen, is the lack of skilled labor in Chicago, traditionally a fertile source for the steel plants.

"We've advertised here and tried to work with employment services," said a Chicago spokesman for U.S. Steel, "but we are just unable to meet our requirements locally. We're having trouble getting skilled and even semiskilled workers."

IN PENNSYLVANIA

The spokesman said U.S. Steel will conduct job interviews this week in many industrial areas of Pennsylvania, including Altoona, Johnston and Uniontown.

The Chicago area produces nearly 23 per cent of the nation's steel and industry officials estimate the nation will produce a record 125 million tons of ingot in 1964. Last month's production of 10.6 million tons of ingot set a new industry record for September.

★ ★ ★

"There's a big push on," said Phil Morris, personnel director for Inland Steel's vast Calumet Works. "When you get large steel companies looking for the same thing (skilled labor), there aren't enough top-flight people to go around."

In Chicago, Morris said, "we're looking for people with high school educations or at least the equivalent. You just can't find them there.

EXPECT ADVANCE

"You hire a man as a laborer, but you want him to move up," Morris said. "The days of the pick and shovel are over in the steel mills."

As of this week, Morris said, there were 486 jobs open among his work force of 21,200. "And if I filled those I'd have to ask for some more."

★ ★ ★

Morris said Inland is recruiting workers in Duluth, Minn.; Green Bay, Wis.; South Bend, Ind., Evansville and Terre Haute, Ind., and Escanaba, Mich., among other cities.

Smaller steel producers in the Chicago-Gary area also are pressed, but haven't announced any plans for recruiting outside the immediate area. There are nine major steel-producing facilities in the area.

TOUGH TO RECRUIT

"It's tougher now for the companies to recruit," acknowledged Sam Evett, assistant director of District 31, United States Steelworkers, which has a membership of about 130,000 production and fabrication workers.

"The industry is going to have the best year it's ever had," Evett said, "and it's going to do it with less men."

Shore Patrol Searches for Fisherman's Body

LELAND (AP)—A shore patrol by Leelanau County sheriff's men resumed Monday in the search for James Plaunt, 68, of Northport, whose overturned outboard motorboat was found Friday in Grand Traverse Bay. Deputies said Plaunt was presumed drowned after a mishap in rough water on a trip from Northport to Traverse City.

Say LBJ Odds Beat Dewey's

May Be a Warning to Democrats—NY Times

NEW YOR K(AP) — The New York Times said today that exactly four weeks before Election Day Nov. 3, President Johnson is the most overwhelming choice to win the presidency since Thomas E. Dewey at the same stage of the 1948 campaign.

★ ★ ★

"Therein may lie a warning to the Democrats," the story said, adding:

"Yet, even Mr. Dewey never enjoyed the kind of lead that gives Mr. Johnson — and Mr. Dewey's upset by Harry S. Truman was a tame event compared with the shock that would hit political analysts, poll-takers and party officials if Sen. Barry Goldwater were to manage a victory this year."

★ ★ ★

The Times said: "Even the established gambling odds support the conclusions of the study. The latest established national betting line is 7 to 1 on Mr. Johnson."

★ ★ ★

The Times said that many analysts, despite the polls and the atmosphere of Democratic victory, are reluctant to predict flatly a landslide for Johnson; many believe that in the remaining weeks of the campaign Goldwater may gain ground.

VOTER POLLS

The story reported the situation that emerges from reports of Times correspondents, from a study of voter polls and from other data concerning 49 states and the District of Columbia. It said no extensive reports from Alaska were available.

Lots of 'Time' Ahead for NY Dope Peddler

At a time when society seems to be taking a pretty bum rap through coddling of its criminal element and a tendency on the part of the judiciary to treat lawbreakers as problems instead of criminals, it is heartening to see a jurist figuratively stand up to be counted. Especially when at the same time he counts off an extended number of years of penal servitude for an enemy of the people.

Justice Aaron F. Goldstein sentenced a Minepla, L.I., dope peddler to 63 years in prison (there were nine counts involved) and expressed regret that the state penal code precluded a sentence of death.

Billiards Comes Back as Women Chalk Cues

"Pool," as it was known to a past generation, is enjoying resurrection from the limbo of passe recreational pursuits—but under different guise and auspices.

Gone is the old corner pool room, off limits in the eyes of society for its respectable young, with virtual ostracism awaiting the youth who inadvertently flipped a piece of cue chalk out of his pocket.

★ ★ ★

The purveyors of indoor entertainment have taken a leaf out of the book of Bowling's "How to Win Friends and Influence People" — and the application is paying off handsomely.

Today's pool rooms are unrecognizable in their new boudoir-like decor and the name of the game itself has metamorphosed into "billiards"—pocket billiards to be explicit.

★ ★ ★

But the real impetus to the rebirth of the game was given when it went coeducational. The gals now queue up for the cue game just as they did for bowling, once the tenpin entrepreneurs smartened up and made their product alluring.

As evidence that pool is now cool, there are 11,000 billiard establishments in the United States compared with only 6,000 five years ago.

★ ★ ★

Who knows whether the next "Minnesota Fats" of billiardom may not wear skirts?

Passing of Old Guard Tests Red Solidarity

The recent death of figurehead East German Premier OTTO GROTEWOHL at 70 brings to four the number of old-time, old-line Communists who have passed from this mortal scene in recent weeks.

★ ★ ★

The passing of these leaders, all of whom performed yeoman service for the party in the early days of the cause, has created hardly more than surface ripples, either in Communist or world affairs. This is significant.

The acid test of any ideological movement is whether it can survive the loss of original prophets and apostles.

★ ★ ★

Communism, even in such prospering nations as France and Italy where is is not shielded from competition with enlightened Western capitalism, still exhibits a popular strength that cannot be accounted for solely on the basis of the personal magnetism of a MAURICE THOREZ or a PALMIRO TOGLIATTI. Until their deaths, both were longtime potent leaders of the Communist parties in France and Italy respectively.

It is not that communism has produced certain father-figures that presents the real challenge. Rather, it lies in the fact that it produces children.

Grid Win Is Loss for Pigskin Contestants

Saturday the Army sustained a 17-6 defeat in its invasion of Texas. Casualties of 593 were suffered by Press contestants who had picked the West Pointers to upset the Lone Star Staters or foreseen the combatants battling to a stalemate.

The fifth game of the contest schedule coming up Saturday pits the State's biggest schools — Michigan and Michigan State — against each other in the 57th meeting of the ancient rivalry. To date, the Wolverines have finished ahead 35 times while the Spartans trail with 16 wins. There have been five ties.

★ ★ ★

Of the 1,717 contest players remaining, 1,120 picked the squad based in Ann Arbor as the winner, 562 pinned their hopes on the gridders from East Lansing. Thirty-five figured the blue and the green would be all even when the meeting was over.

Last year, the teams did play a tie, which really sent the contest into a tailspin and set the stage for the showdown game the following week for the lone pair who had called the no-decision result.

★ ★ ★

Both U. of M. and State came up with brilliant performances Saturday, and the upcoming clash should be a classic —if a descriptive standby may be borrowed from the sports department.

We can only urge contest participants to keep cool and collected until the gridiron wheel of fortune is given another spin.

And speaking of fortunes, you might be giving tentative thought to what you'll do with that $500 U.S. Savings Bond award that goes to the winner. Nothing like being prepared, you know.

David Lawrence Says:

Task Force Tells N-Arms Facts

WASHINGTON — Former President Eisenhower is exactly right when he says that the controversy of how nuclear weapons should be used by the United States ought not to be an issue in the presidential campaign.

This started, however, with an interview given by Sen. Goldwater to a LAWRENCE German magazine prior to the Republican National Convention.

The Arizona senator urged that the supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe be given discretionary authority to use "very small" nuclear weapons.

Immediately his Republican opponents characterized the senator as "trigger - happy," and the Democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominees not only repeated the misinterpretation of what was actually said by him but amplified it into a major issue.

It is natural, therefore, to find friends of Sen. Goldwater answering back.

★ ★ ★

Now a task force headed by Neil H. McElroy, former secretary of defense under President Eisenhower, has issued a report which, for the first time, tells the American people some essential facts about the nuclear-weapons controversy.

STUDY GROUP

The group which Goldwater asked to make the study includes Adm. Arthur W. Radford and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, both of whom have served as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and three members of Congress familiar with military matters.

Among the recommendations in the new report is the following:

"The president should give assurances to NATO members on the policy and capabilities of the United States to meet our commitments to the alliance.

★ ★ ★

"This should include assurance that the American NATO commander has been delegated sufficient authority by the president to use tactical nuclear weapons for the defense of Western Europe under predetermined circumstances which might preclude reaffirmation by, or consultation with, the president.

INCLUDE ASSURANCES

"It should also include assurances and demonstrations that systems vesting actual, as contrasted to theoretical, control of nuclear weapons in the president are not extended to battlefield nuclear weapons essential for immediate defense in the event of an attack, nor implemented in such a manner as to risk, in the event of failure of communications, these weapons being available to NATO."

★ ★ ★

The above is exactly in line with the thoughts expressed by Sen. Goldwater in the interview published in "Der Spiegel," a German magazine, on July 8, 1964 — a week before the Republican National Convention nominated the Arizona senator for the presidency.

Bob Considine Says:

Last 11 Presidents Rated Able by Socialist Thomas

NEW YORK—Norman Thomas, 80 years young but still keen despite the perennial losing streak of his Socialist party, thumbed through his colossal memory yesterday and allowed that, on the whole, the 11 presidents he has lived under have all been "able and responsible men."

CONSIDINE

He opposed them all, politically, but that did not impair his 20-20 vision.

"I grew up under Teddy Roosevelt," the man who attracted 900,000 votes in the 1932 election sold us in his modest little office. "I rather inclined to be enthusiastic about TR. I was young and, at that time, wasn't a Socialist. I considered myself a progressive. TR seemed a welcome breakaway from McKinley Republicanism."

He dismissed William Howard Taft as a do-nothing president, then took on Woodrow Wilson.

"I studied under Wilson at Princeton. He was my idol. But in time I came to realize that he had extensive feet of clay. He made a shocking mess of civil liberties in this country when he kept Eugene Debs in jail on the charge that he was a pacifist. Under Wilson, civil liberties descended to their lowest ebb in the history of this country. Conditions were far worse than any McCarthyism that followed.

NEAR BOTTOM

"Harding was a tragedy. I once delivered newspapers for him in Marion, Ohio. He was likable. But in any category of presidents, he would finish near the bottom.

"Coolidge had abler men around him than anybody remembers. But it was fortunate that the country took him literally when he said he did not choose to run.

"Herbert Hoover was an unlucky president. At almost any other time in our history, he would have emerged as an outstanding president. But the Depression, which he had nothing to do with, killed his chances. He had genius, but no for a situation like that.

★ ★ ★

"Franklin Roosevelt was elected simply because he wasn't Hoover. I liked him immensely. He carried out all of the Socialist party's policies, some of them on a stretcher. He moved toward the welfare state, and in doing so he hurt our party. It never did so well after he reached the White House. His first 100 days caused many of our people to defect to the Democratic party.

GOOD ONE

"Harry Truman? I like him. He proved conclusively that power does not necessarily corrupt. Nothing he ever did or said before he became president led me to believe he'd make a good one. He made a surprisingly good president, but, unlike some, hasn't been much of a counselor since getting out."

Which took Mr. Thomas to Ike.

"I have great personal admiration for the general," he said. "The public loved him. But I don't think he ever had a real grasp of the meaning of modern politics. How could he, and suddenly hobnob with Senator Goldwater?

★ ★ ★

"As for Kennedy," the old warrior continued, "He was a charming figure. I voted for him, with some misgivings. The Bay of Pigs was a bad show, but he came out of it fine. He grew in wisdom and grasp. His death was a terrible shock. But President Johnson has done more than Kennedy did, is a better politician. He inherited the capital of the nation's affection for Kennedy, but he has carried on well from there."

SAYS NOTHING

Mr. Thomas went to the big Madison Square Garden rally for his friend Barry Goldwater.

"I found a place in the top gallery," he reported. "Never saw more enthusiasm for a fellow who wasn't saying anything.

"'I was alive in McKinley's time,' I said to one young man, 'and it wasn't as good as he says it was.'"

Voice of the People:

'Praises Due for Success of School Millage Vote'

Pontiac property owners are to be congratulated for turning out in such a large number and voting overwhelmingly in favor of the school millage renewal. A great many people played an active part in the program of informing the voters of the importance of the millage issue.

The five to one favorable vote was a strong endorsement of our school administration and system. It showed that the people of Pontiac are interested in the constant improvement of this area. It showed a new pride in Pontiac that was first evidenced in the vote for the charter amendment several months ago.

Good city government and good schools are both important elements of a growing, progressive area. When people have the interest and enthusiasm shown by Friday's vote, great things are in store for our city.

'Backlash Talk Clouds Current Issues'

If the people would quit clouding the issue with talk of the backlash they could find out what the real issue is.

'Would Warn Parents of Child Molesters'

I'm writing in regard to the three young boys, two five-six-year-olds and one 11-year-old, that had been molested in public restrooms in Detroit. Policemen told Peter Gruits of Bethesda Temple to spread the word to parents not to let their young boys go into public restrooms; that boys had been molested. I learned an 11-year-old was also set upon at the Fair. Also, another boy coming from Chicago to Detroit was molested.

Is there a reason for not warning parents about what's going on?

MRS. HOWARD MURRAH

'Magazine Misrepresented Goldwater'

The Saturday Evening Post stated a strong opposition is essential to the preservation of democracy. Then they go on to slander and misrepresent Senator Goldwater, while portraying President Johnson as some sort of saint. Recently the Post lost a considerable amount of money in a libel suit for statements about a football coach.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson's policy of being, or trying to be, "all things to all people," is taking feathers from us, the people, and putting them in his political cap. It is a well-planned attempt at eliminating the opposition. Thanks to Mr. Goldwater for offering us a clean deal.

'Hard Work Doesn't Always Lead to Top'

Barry Goldwater says hard work gets you to the top. He must have worked very hard to have a custom automobile made for himself.

What a different fate came to the Baldwin Rubber workers. Many years of work left them without a job and retirement pension. If there had been no Federal Unemployment Compensation what would the City of Pontiac have done for them? With no job, how can they pay for health insurance? How can they pay their medical bills?

★ ★ ★

Barry Goldwater would cut down the services of the Federal Government which could include Social Security. He wants the cities and states to take over. Consider the Baldwin Rubber workers again. If they had taken out private annuity policies, how can they continue to pay for them with no paycheck?

M. M.

Says Waterford Surplus Could Be Used

Why was the millage vote for police and fire departments asked for in Waterford Township when the present administration can come up with a surplus $100 thousand in next year's budget?

If a place can't be found specifically for this money, why don't the people receive the benefit in better community services or a millage reduction?

★ ★ ★

This financial picture is really out of focus to anyone familiar with budget percentages. This is a 12 per cent unknown factor —not five to eight per cent reserve for contingencies which it should be.

Answers Given to Medicare Questions

For the writer who asked for information regarding Medicare I offer the following:

The King-Anderson Bill before Congress would make a change in the social security principle, providing "service" or "goods" instead of cash benefits. This is a radical and dangerous change since it removes from the individual his freedom to spend his money in whatever manner he chooses to meet his own personal needs.

★ ★ ★

It would add a tremendous burden to the Social Security system, threatening the existence of the system itself. The limited aid allowed under the King-Anderson bill would be so small a clamor would rise to increase benefits to the point that its cost would exceed present estimates, necessitating increases in the tax rate.

★ ★ ★

The Social Security tax is the ultimate in a poor man's tax assessed on the first earnings, without the benefit of any exemptions. The wage earner who makes only $5,000 annually pays the same tax as the executive making $50,000 and each is being entitled to the same benefits, regardless of need and ability to pay.

Hotel Rooms Searched in Siberia

4 Attaches in Red Raid Leave Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Three U.S. military attaches and a British naval attache who were held for hours in hotel rooms in Siberia while Soviet officials searched their belongings left Tokyo for Hong Kong today.

The four men were to leave the British colony Thursday and after a night in New Delhi were to return to their posts in Moscow.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. Embassy official said they were "continuing on an original schedule" to be back at their posts Oct. 9.

The four arrived in Tokyo Saturday. Their presence was not disclosed until Monday when the U.S. State Department in Washington reported the hotel incident. The State Department and the British Foreign Office both have delivered strong protests to Moscow.

NOT HARMED

The four are Lt. Cmdr. Nigel P. Laville, assistant British naval attache in Moscow; Lt. Col. Karl R. Liewer, assistant American military attache; George A. Aubrey, the American military attache, and Maj. James F. Smith, an assistant American air attache.

A U.S. Embassy official said they were not harmed by the Soviet officials during the search, which occurred on the night of Sept. 28-29 in Khabarovsk. The Russians took some of their belongings, including a wrist watch.

★ ★ ★

The United States called the incident a flagrant violation of diplomatic immunity.

State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said that a group of 15 Soviet officials "forcibly entered" and "forcibly searched" the two rooms occupied by the four attaches.

LENGTH OF SEARCH

He said a search of a room occupied by Laville and Liewer lasted 45 minutes and in the room of Aubrey and Smith it continued for 3 hours and 10 minutes.

Aubrey repeatedly protested, McCloskey said, and his request to contact the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was denied. Later the attaches telephoned a brief report to the embassy. They gave a preliminary report to American officials in Tokyo.

McCloskey said the United States and Britain made a strong protest on Sept. 29 in Moscow. On the following day in Washington William R. Tyler, the assistant secretary of state for European affairs, summoned Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and told him that the United States "takes a most serious view of this flagrant violation" of diplomatic immunity.

★ ★ ★

Tyler asked assurances that the Soviets will prevent similar incidents in the future. He also asked that the confiscated belongings be returned and that disciplinary action be taken against the Soviet officials responsible.

FBI Joins Hunt for Child Who Disappeared

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — The FBI yesterday entered the hunt for 22-month-old Ricky Dale Crowder—feared kidnaped from his mother's car when she left him alone for a few minutes to shop in a drugstore.

★ ★ ★

The toddler disappeared Sunday night. At first it was hoped he had wandered off and would soon be found.

But as the hours passed, and a house-to-house search by hundreds of volunteers failed to turn up any trace of him, the hope faded.

Dale's mother, Mrs. Rex Crowder, 25, said the boy could walk, but was unable to open the car doors himself. There was also doubt the boy would have shut the doors again if he had got out by himself.

★ ★ ★

All the car doors were closed when Mrs. Crowder returned.

REMEMBERED CAR

She told police she remembered a 1949 or 1950 model blue car parked next to hers in the parking lot of the shopping center where Ricky disappeared.

She said she was in the drugstore about 6 or 7 minutes, and both Ricky and the blue car were gone when she returned.

Copter Crash in Japan Kills 6 Americans

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — A U.S. Navy helicopter en route from Atsugi Naval Station to Yokohama Naval Base crashed and burned today, killing six Americans, the Navy announced.

The cause of the crash is being investigated. Names of the dead were withheld until next of kin were notified.

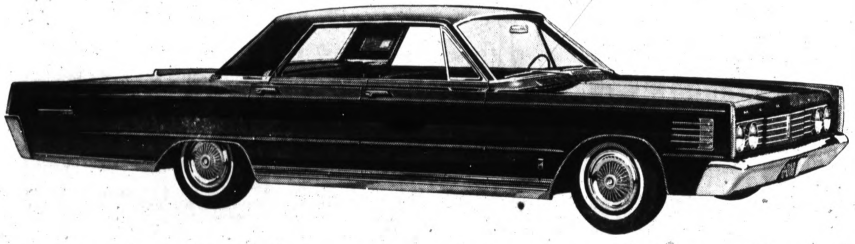
A PRODUCT OF Ford MOTOR COMPANY • LINCOLN-MERCURY DIVISION



The Ford Motor Company introduces an entirely new kind of Mercury for 1965... now in the Lincoln Continental tradition

We predict that the reaction of many people when they first see a 1965 Mercury drive by will be: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique pillar lights on the front fenders.) The ride is new. It's solider, quieter. Inside, there's an extensive selection of options for personal customizing—luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field... a Mercury that accurately reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. See how well the idea works—at your Mercury dealer's. No medium-price car has ever come so close in luxury to the high-price class.

Marine Says Cannon-to-Missile Shift Left 'Gun Gap'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's top Marine said today there is "a deficiency" of naval gunfire to support over-the-beach landings and "remedial action is essential."

Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant, discussed what he called a "gun gap" with the Associated Press following indications that the Navy is studying how to beef up its shore bombardment capability.

* * *

Not much has been said publicly, but both the Marines and the Navy amphibious forces have been concerned for some time that that capability has been reduced by the switch from conventional guns to missiles in the armaments of many warships since World War II and Korea.

In a little noticed passage of a recent speech, Greene said "the days of the 16-inch guns of the battleships are gone."

GUNS REPLACED

"Missiles have largely replaced the guns of the cruisers and destroyers," he said.

"Progress is being made in this area but it is slow, and we are anxious to have what could some day be a serious deficiency corrected before it becomes a serious reality."

* * *

Asked to elaborate on this, Greene told the Associated Press in a statement that "any further reduction in the naval gunfire support means would materially affect the ability of landing forces to successfully force a landing against a defended beach."

"Since World War II and Korea the major caliber inventory in the active fleet has undergone a drastic reduction," he said.

MISSILE SHIPS

"This situation has been brought about by the conversion of large numbers of ships from conventional guns to a missile capability."

"In view of this reduction without compensation for landing force naval gun fire support requirements, a deficiency exists and it will become more critical until remedial action is completed."

* * *

Greene said there is no doubt "that a further reduction in available naval gunfire support will increase the 'gun gap' and reduce our shore bombardment capability."

The Navy and the Marine Corps, he said, are working jointly to reduce the gap.

HITS PROBLEM

Adm. David L. McDonald, the chief of naval operations, referred briefly to the same problem in a speech here last Friday.

Listing a number of "the important items that we are studying today," McDonald asked the rhetorical question:

"Do we have enough guns left to ensure adequate gunfire support of amphibious operations?"

There are four World War II battleships in mothballs.

RESERVE FLEET

Some Navy amphibious experts have proposed that these ships be taken out of the reserve fleet and converted to "commando ships."

As such, their forward 16-inch batteries would be retained, but much of the superstructure at the aft end of the ship would be stripped away and the vessel equipped with quarters for a Marine force and fitted out with a helicopter pad, making it a self-contained assault ship.

This idea has receievd little topside support in the Navy, in part because of the cost.

There are indications that the Navy is considering an entirely new kind of gunfire support ship to provide a bombardment cover for any Marine or Army troops called upon to storm enemy beaches in the future.

SEAMAN RECOVERING—Clarence Neece has a grin for his nurse after surviving 10 hours in the storm-tossed Gulf of Mexico. Neece, 57, fell from his grounded vessel and was carried out to sea. He clung to a piece of driftwood until rescued by a helicopter.

10 Hours in Water

Relates Survival Tale

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — "I was getting a little hazy but my mind was still running on survival," C. F. Neece told his rescuers yesterday.

The 51-year-old seaman had spent 10 hours clinging to a piece of driftwood while winds as high as 90 miles an hour whipped the Gulf of Mexico.

"I never gave up," he said. "I knew I was going to make it if I could keep from swallowing too much water."

Neece was picked up around dawn yesterday by a rescue helicopter. His body temperature was down to 94 degrees.

* * *

Neece, a ruggedly built man, complained only of a sore throat and cold feet.

FEET STILL COLD

"My feet are still cold from being in the water so long," he said.

Neece was a member of the crew of the Bonnie Fortune, a 60-foot pilot vessel driven aground near Dauphin Island Sunday night by high winds and large waves. When leaping for the deck of the rescue vessel, Neece slipped and fell into the water.

He was quickly swept away by the current. Clad in rain gear and a life jacket, he tried to swim back but could not buck the waves.

"I told the Good Lord I would change my ways if he helped me," Neece said later from a hospital bed where he was wrapped in blankets.

"I needed his help."

"I knew it was just me, on my own," he said, when the rescue boat did not follow him.

Doctors who examined Neece at Brookley Air Force Base hospital said his stamina kept him alive.

"When I drifted down the ship channel I found the breakers were coming from both ways," he said. "I would come up and would rub my face to get the water off of it. I swallowed some."

"I saw the Sand Island light beacon and I tried to make for it.

"At one time I was within 50 feet but somehow the current swept me away. I guess I was better off in the water. I might have been dashed against the rocks."

The pay-as-you-go income tax bill was signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on June 10, 1943.

Judge Denies Delay of Espionage Trial

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Neither a presidential campaign nor a government - dropped spy case is sufficient reason to further postpone the trial here of two men accused of espionage, a federal court judge has ruled.

The trial of John W. Butenko, of Orange, a 39-year-old American engineer, and Igor A. Ivanov, 34, a Russian chauffer, now is scheduled to begin in U.S. District Court Friday.

The two are accused of conspiring to transmit vital defense information to the Soviet Union. They were arrested last Oct. 29 in an Englewood train station. A brief case containing Air Force documents was seized by FBI agents at the time of the arrests.

A last - minute motion for a two - month adjournment was made by defense lawyers yesterday just before the scheduled start of the trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Anthony T. Augelli dismissed the motion but granted the defense an additional three days.

ARGUES TO ADJOURN

Raymond A. Brown, Butenko's attorney, argued for adjournment on two grounds.

Brown said that Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater has called President Johnson "soft on Communism." He estimated the trial would last about a month, ending around election day, Nov. 3, and added:

"Anyone on trial for espionage is in danger of having the minds of jurors contaminated by these extraneous matters."

* * *

Brown also argued that jurors would be prejudiced by the government's action of last Friday, when it dropped the prosecution of an alleged husband - wife spy team in Brooklyn, N.Y.

The government halted the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre Sokolov, reportedly because it was feared that testimony in open court might endanger U.S. counterespionage operations.

Biting Criticism of Book

LBJ, Rusk on First Tokyo Olympics Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and two Japanese officials will speak Wednesday on the inaugural telecast from Tokyo to the United States via the Syncom satellite.

The link will be used to carry the Olympic Games, which start in Tokyo Friday morning.

★ ★ ★

The transmission will take place between 9:15 and 9:45 a.m. EST and will include talks previously recorded by Johnson and Rusk, plus live speeches by Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina and Communications Minister Zitsuzo Tokuyasu.

NASA said each of the major U.S. television networks will transmit one five-minute segment Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., urged the Defense Department Monday to permit accreditation of U.S. correspondents to Navy ships patrolling off the Vietnamese coast.

The Defense Department said Wilson's telegram to Secretary Robert S. McNamara had been received, but that there had been no reply to it and that there was no comment.

★ ★ ★

Wilson said he made the request because the American people "obviously aren't getting the full story of what's going on in Viet Nam."

Wilson is a member of the House Armed Services Committee and chairman of the House Republican campaign committee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today appointment of Jennings Pemble Field Jr., a 44-year-old Tennessee business executive, as director of Gemini program control in NASA's office of manned space flight here.

Field will be responsible for the billion-dollar project's costs and budget.

Two-man Gemini spacecraft will conduct experiments on orbiting the earth for periods up to two weeks, and in maneuvering in space and accomplishing rendezvous with other vehicles. The first flight is scheduled for early 1965.

Field has been group vice president of IMC Industries Inc., a Memphis manufacturing and sales company, since last year when he resigned as assistant general manager of the Mishawaka, Ind., division of the Bendix Corp. He is a native of Merigold, Miss.

Unity Chapter Facing Vote

Points to Self-Reform in Catholic Church

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council scheduled a vote today to put principles of Christian unity into personal daily action for the world's half billion Roman Catholics.

The worldwide gathering of Catholic prelates in St. Peter's Basilica was to vote on a chapter on ecumenism — the unity movement. It contains declarations that the Catholic Church must be ready for self-reform in areas where errors may have been committed and that Catholics must undergo a "conversion of heart" toward non-Catholic Christians.

★ ★ ★

The chapter says that all Catholics "in some way have responsibility for the sins of disunity."

It calls for a new mental attitude to remove any Catholic misconceptions about Protestants, Anglicans and Orthodox Catholics, saying that without such a change the ecumenism movement will not progress.

COMMON PRAYER

The council fathers also were to vote on a measure proposing the possibility of common prayer between Catholics and other Christians. It would be left up to the various national bishops conferences to decide when, how and in what circumstances there could be common prayer in their countries.

The chapter also calls for public meetings and discussions between Catholics and other Christians to discuss what divides and unites them.

★ ★ ★

It declares that Catholic teachings, both for priests and laymen, must conform to the principles of the ecumenism movement "to keep minds open to others."

It proposes widespread cooperation with non-Catholic Christians in all fields of public life to give "a common christian witness to the world."

SECOND STEP

The chapter is a second major step toward the ultimate goal of Christian reconciliation, defined by Popes John XXIII and Paul VI as a basic objective of this council.

The council approved Monday with overwhelming votes the sections of the first of three chapters in the ecumenism schema.

★ ★ ★

That chapter states that the Catholic Church must accept responsibility with others for the discords that have split Christianity over the centuries.

Texas Officials Concur With Warren Probe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, determined to learn from mistakes which surrounded the John F. Kennedy assassination, have agreed to seek better cooperation between federal and state law officers.

★ ★ ★

They held a joint news conference yesterday as Carr presented a report on Texas' role in the investigation of the assassination last Nov. 22 in Dallas.

Carr concurred with findings of the Warren Commission, which held Lee Harvey Oswald solely responsible for killing the President. His report listed three factors which hampered Texas officials and made two main recommendations.

"We would be foolish not to look back and see if something couldn't be learned," Carr said of his recommendation that newsmen and state bar officials work toward trial coverage ground rules to prevent recurrence of the "disorder and confusion" associated with news coverage of the event.

His report stated that "the news media . . . virtually took charge" of the city jail building after the assassination.

PROCEDURE STRAINED

"Interviews and comments elicited by the news media from police officials and prosecuting attorneys" and news coverage of the Jack Ruby trial strained "the orderly procedures of the rule of law," Carr found.

Ruby currently is appealing the death sentence for the Nov. 24 killing of Oswald.

Another drawback, the report said, was a deficiency in security measures resulting partly from Dallas police not being advised by federal officials of Oswald's background and presence in Dallas.

"We don't feel the Dallas police can be justly criticized or should accept the full responsibility for the events of Nov. 22 because of the fact that the Dallas police had not been advised . . . by the FBI that Oswald was in Dallas and, indeed, was working in a building along the parade route," Carr told newsmen.

Connally added that the Texas Department of Public Safety has worked well with the FBI in the past but "there have been times . . . that it is something of a one-way street."

★ ★ ★

The governor and I met and it is our desire to get together and work out some feasible way to bring the recommendations into reality," Carr said.

He referred to a recommendation in his report that federal, state and local officers study ways to improve "coordination and exchange of information concerning criminal or subversive suspects" and to recommend "ways and means of improving security measres" for the President and other officials.

Record Is Claimed for House Voting

WASHINGTON, (AP) — It took some doing — including a 236-mile taxicab ride—but Rep. William H. Natcher, D-Ky., can claim a perfect voting record for his 10 years in the House.

The claim of making all 967 roll calls on legislation since he was sworn in Jan. 6, 1954, was certified by the clerk of the House, Ralph R. Roberts.

★ ★ ★

"I know of no other member who has a comparable record," Roberts wrote Natcher.

Natcher recalled that he had some close calls.

WENT HOME

Back in 1958, he said in an interview, he squeezed in a close one by going back home to Bowling Green for a local vote before returning to Washington to vote in the House.

He flew to Louisville, hired a taxicab to take him 118 miles to Bowling Green, kept the cab waiting while he voted, and then rode back to Louisville to catch a plane for Washington.

★ ★ ★

An even closer one, Natcher said, occurred right in the Capitol.

He was attending unveiling ceremonies in 1957 for a bust of the late Alben W. Barkley.

BELL DIDN'T RING

"The ceremonies were held on the Senate side, and the House bells do not ring on that side," Natcher said. "We had a roll call vote. A page came for me but he had a hard time obtaining me. I did get there but I was the last one in the well" — where members vote at the last minute if they miss out on the first call.

★ ★ ★

In addition to answering the 891 roll calls totaled by Roberts through July 16, 1963, and the 76 since then as shown by House records, and certified to by Roberts, Natcher said he has answered an estimated 3,000 or more quorum calls. Of these, he said, he has missed only two.

"I do not believe," Natcher said, "that such a record is the sole criteria of a good representative. I do believe that each member of Congress should stand up and be counted on every issue."

Natcher, 55, gray-haired and courtly, said he did not get the idea of stretching out a perfect voting record until after he had served about three years in the house and "the clerk informed me I had a perfect record."

★ ★ ★

As for those 967 votes—they are, he says, pretty much like the part in his hair — almost straight down the middle.

Total Performance 1965 Ford Galaxie 500 LTD 4-Door Hardtop

Only 17 cars (and they're all Fords) offer all these exciting new features for 1965!

From a new series of limousine-like ultra-luxurious Fords (Galaxie 500 LTD's) . . . sporty XL hardtops and convertibles . . . to the most dramatically improved wagons in 15 years . . . there are 17 full-size Fords to choose from. This is the widest selection in the whole popular priced field. And these Fords offer features you won't find on other cars—at any price.

New body-frame-suspension system
You'll feel—and hear—the result after just a few minutes behind the wheel. These are the quietest Fords ever built . . . and the strongest . . . and the smoothest. Their all-new frame, body and suspensions virtually seal off the passenger compartment from noise and road shock.

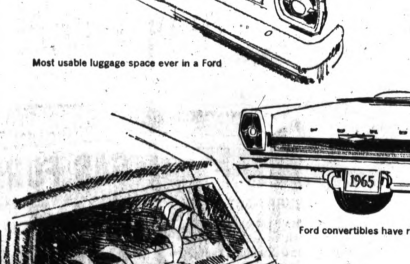
New—automatic transmissions are all 3-speed
Smoother, more economical than the 2-speed automatics offered on some competing cars.

New 240-cu. in. Big Six
Gives you low gas bills, but high performance. Bigger 6-cylinder engine than in any competing car. (V-8 powered Fords are livelier this year, too.)

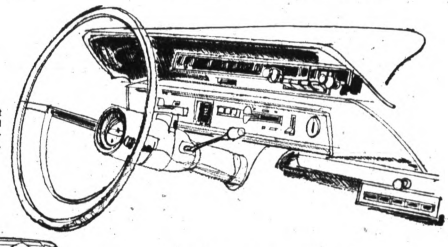
New Safety-Convenience control panel
This luxury option lets you reach out to the instrument panel and lock all doors with the flick of a switch. Also: lights warn you when fuel's low, doors are ajar, and remind you that seat belts are unfastened.

New and bigger trunk
Generous room for various sizes and kinds of luggage as illustrated . . . or room for four big 2-suiters upright.

Spacious interior of new ultra-luxurious Ford LTD



Most usable luggage space ever in a Ford



New "swept-back" instrument panel provides more room. Optional Safety-Convenience controls previously available only on Thunderbird.

Ford convertibles have rear window of pliant glass (not plastic)

Convertibles have rear window of pliant glass
Won't discolor or crack like plastic. And you don't have to unzip it when you put the top down.

Silent-Flo ventilation system
Close the windows to shut out traffic din and you still get a smooth, silent flow of fresh air (standard in 4-door hardtops).

New dual facing rear seats in Ford wagons
A Ford exclusive—it is ideal for families up to 10. Seats fold down to give you 7.6 cu. ft. of lockable, below-deck storage space.

Standard in 4-door hardtops: Silent-Flo ventilation system

Unique reversible key works either side up

New reversible key
No more fumbling with an armful of packages, trying to get the key right side up. Ford's exclusive new reversible key is the same on both edges . . . works no matter which side is up.

New interior spaciousness
Lower transmission tunnel than in many competing cars . . . new "swept-back" instrument panel . . . and other interior redesigning make these the most comfortable Fords ever.

Only in Ford wagons: dual facing rear seats

New array of courtesy lights
Illuminated doorway, ash tray and interior. A real convenience for night driving.

Take a test drive
From special new 15" low-profile tires (better traction—longer tire life) . . . to new windows with stylish curved side glass (more shoulder room) . . . the list of new features goes on and on. The total result is something you simply have to see, feel, touch. Come in soon.

NEW YORK — Medical specialists pointed a strong finger of suspicion today at asbestos as a cause not only of lung cancer but also of another extremely rare form of fatal human cancer.

★ ★ ★

This cancer, known as mesothelioma, involves the lining of the abdominal and chest cavities.

Much of the specialists' evidence comes from autopsy studies of men working with asbestos as an insulation material.

They said it also is possible that dust from products containing asbestos might be exposing people generally to some risk of cancers. How much risk there might be, they said, they could not tell.

FLOORING MATERIAL

Asbestos is used not only for insulation but as a flooring material, in automobile brake shoes, and in many other applications. Ordinary wear and tear, they said, might release dust into the atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

The report was presented to the American Public Health Association by Drs. Irving J. Selikoff and Jacob Churg of the Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, and E. Cuyler Hammond, Sc.D., director of statistical research for the American Cancer Society. Dr. Hammond is known for his studies of cigarette smoking in relationship to lung cancer.

★ ★ ★

Asbestos is a mineral, magnesium silicate, and about 3½ million tons of it are used worldwide each year, they said. In 1935, worldwide usage amounted to about 500 tons, the researchers said.

Tiny, hard particles of asbestos can lodge in the lungs during mining, processing and application of asbestos-containing materials, or possibly from dust raised through normal wear, they said.

MARKED INCREASE

"We had previously found that lung cancer and possibly gastrointestinal cancer were markedly increased in incidence among asbestos insulation workers," they said.

Now they also find a markedly high increase among such workers of mesothelioma, a cancer so rare it is not classed separately as a cause of death in the international classification of diseases.

As a prime example, they reported finding 10 deaths due to this form of cancer in a study of 307 deaths among New York and New Jersey building trades union members engaged in using asbestos at least occasionally as an insulation material.

By contrast, this form of cancer was found to be the cause of death among only three out of more than 30,000 autopsies in a study of the general population sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

HIGH INCIDENCE

Other studies showed a high incidence not only of lung cancer but mesotheliomas among persons who had asbestos particles in their lungs at the time of their deaths, they said.

"It would appear that mesothelioma must be added to the neoplastic (cancer) risks of asbestos inhalation and joins lung cancer (53 out of 307 deaths) and probably cancer of the stomach and colon (34 of 307 deaths) as a significant complication of such industrial exposure in the United States," their report said.

★ ★ ★

The cancers may not appear until 20 to 30 years after asbestos dust is inhaled or swallowed, they said. Since the particles do not dissolve, they may remain in body tissue as a continuous source that might incite ultimate cancer.

Dr. Hammond said one worry is whether a few or even a single past exposure might set the stage for cancer. He said this is a matter calling for more research.

★ ★ ★

Taking precautions to avoid breathing in asbestos dust is a main protection for industrial workers, he and Dr. Selikoff said.

NY Surgeon Predicts Use of Battery-Run Extra Heart

CHICAGO (AP) — A New York surgeon today forecast developments within two years of permanent, auxiliary heart pumps for human use — implanted within the body and powered by batteries carried by a shoulder harness.

Dr. Yukihiko Nose of the State University of New York's Downstate Medical Center, Brooklyn, said this possibility is suggested by successful experiments in dogs. These tests use a cigarette pack sized, inflatable plastic bulb pump implanted in the aorta, the main pathway of blood from the heart.

★ ★ ★

Equipment for powering the pump's tiny motor and supplying compressed air is carried in a 3¼-pound package attached to a harness worn by the dog.

Contraction and expansion of the bulb, aiding in pumping blood through the heart, is controlled by an electronically powered valve triggered by the animal's own heartbeat.

SUMMARIZED REPORT

Dr. Nose told reporters about it at the 50th clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons. He was summarizing a formal report prepared for the meeting by himself and three colleagues.

After describing the experimental pump for dogs, the report said:

"Efforts are now being directed toward development of a similar device that will hopefully be used in treating chronic myocardial insufficiency (weak hearts) in man."

★ ★ ★

At the news conference Dr. Nose said "in one or two years, it may be possible to implant one in a human."

The plastic pump is designed to serve as an aid to the left ventricle, the heart chamber that pumps blood throughout the body.

REDUCES WORK

The doctors said that in the animal experiments, the pump has reduced the work of the left ventricle by more than 50 per cent.

They added that in a test of whether the auxiliary pump will remain open as a passageway for blood, three animals have worn such devices for up to 20 months.

★ ★ ★

Nixon Quiets Talk About a Cabinet Post

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday night he would discourage speculation on his getting a cabinet post, should Sen. Barry Goldwater become president.

At a news conference here, Nixon was asked about a report that Goldwater had mentioned him as a possible future secretary of state.

★ ★ ★

He said he "had given no thought to the possibility of Cabinet appointment," but added, "I have been interested in public office.

"I would discourage speculation in that respect. Right now we're concentrating on winning the election for the Republican party."

★ ★ ★

Nixon, on a 36-state trip in support of the GOP, charged that the election of President Johnson "will lead to retreat, defeat and surrender and could lead to war."

Killed as Auto Flips

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP)— Mrs. Anna Papesh, 60, of Detroit was killed Monday when a car driven by her husband, John, 64, went out of control and overturned in a ditch near here. The driver was not seriously injured.

The Order of Railroad Telegraphers, organized in 1886 at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, by a group of 24 men, now has more than 50,000 members in the United States and Canada.

Caught Between Revisionists, Doctrinaires

Talk of Profit Motive Has K Walking Tightrope

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Talk in the Soviet Union about the profit motive has Premier Khrushchev on a tightrope between the devil of creeping capitalism and the deep blue sea of Marxist-Leninist dogma.

A profit-motive debate probably will enliven a Communist Central Committee meeting in November. As he has before, Khrushchev may occupy the role of compromiser and the debate likely will resolve nothing.

* * *

Party members admit the economy is in a bureaucratic trap, but the notion of profits is difficult to square with Communist scriptures.

Suspecting him of capitalist inclinations, Peking has called Khrushchev the head of "a bourgeois privileged clique."

TALK PROFIT

Talk of profit motives — not evil capitalist profit but virtuous Communist profit — began in the Soviet press about two years ago and then faded amid indications of acid debate in high places. Now the talk is on again, seemingly inspired by Khrushchev, whose excursions into the unorthodox often shock doctrinaire Marxist-Leninists.

The debate illuminates Khrushchev's odd position. The top man in a dictatorship, he lacks the authority of a dictator and can be rebuffed by cautious conservatives or a cumbersome collective leadership.

* * *

Crisis is chronic in the Soviet consumer industries because of strictly centralized planning, and built-in self-defeating mechanism called the plan target and quota system.

Factory managers argue for the lowest possible production quotas and the highest possible amount of raw materials and workers.

NEED GADGETS

Suppose, for example, a factory makes widgets and gadgets. There is a crying need for gadgets, but widgets are easier to produce. The manager concentrates on widgets and makes up his quota in quantity.

Suppose he is required to produce a quota of gadgets, too. He argues this down to the lest possible figure. His factory could produce 1,000 gadgets in its sleep, and he gets hisself assigned that quota. The factory produces 1,500 gadgets and he is a hero. Had he accepted a 2,000 quota and produced only 1,500, he'd have been a bum.

* * *

Suppose the factory spent a million rubles in production. Its profit is considered a percentage of that. Thus, if costs rise, the factory is credited with more — not less —profit, and vice versa.

When the product leaves the factory, it runs into more problems. Without incentive, workers all through the consumer economy show a lofty indifference to inefficiency and waste. The customer comes last. Poor quality goods, easy to produce, rot on shelves. High quality goods are hard to produce and hard to find. Designs change slowly if at all, because of the managerial pursuit of quantity in production.

LESSEN CONTROL

For seven years Khrushchev has been wrestling with the problem of allowing decision making at lower levels. But his experiments spelled lessening of control at the center. The skittish party in Moscow tightened controls all over again.

The economy now is under a supreme economic council decrees of which are binding on all republic agencies. An armaments expert, First Deputy Premier Dmitri F. Ustinov, is economic czar, and this indicates military interest. The military would have no love for the idea of expanded consumer production at the expense of armaments, military space programs, and heavy industry.

* * *

It seemed a jolt for Khrushchev, an infusion of even more bureaucracy and a backward step toward Stalinist ideas of total central control. The Soviet press tried to make it appear that Khrushchev initiated the reversal, but the evidence is against that.

Khrushchev continued to argue against management of everything from the center and for a reversal of Stalin's "Socialist law" 'that demand in the consumer economy should always exceed supply.

STANDSTILL

The dilemma for Khrushchev is the need to square dogma and necessity. Khrushchev's compromises seem to pull the economy both toward and away from centralized control at the same time. The result is standstill.

Now, cautiously, talk of profit incentives is burgeoning. It began with guarded complaints that the economies of the Soviet republics suffered because everything had to be cleared through Moscow.

* * *

Economist Yevsey G. Liberman argued that the profit motive could be adapted to the Soviet system so factory managers could get cracking with new methods and ideas. Other economists, perhaps inspired from above, joined in. Some blasted the quota-plan system as an obsolete encouragement of bureaucratic waste.

Economists argued that factories should cut costs, not raise them. Output would be expressed in terms of profit. Rewards would be available for all. Like capitalists, Soviet factory managers would be out looking for business, competing, offering more money to workers for better work, improving quality, modernizing plant out of profit. It all sounded rosy.

NO CLASHES

But the debate must steer clear of clashes with doctrine. As Liberman said, profits would be the measure of a factorys success — "not capitalist enterprise but enhancing the initiative of workers and managers, rewarding initiative on the basis of Socialist law."

That's the rub. There's no such law.

Nothing can be done about the profit motive without a revolutionary change in the system of government dictatorship over plans, distribution and prices. The system stands squarely in the way of freedom of maneuver within the economy. Until this dilemma is resolved, the whole profit-motive discussion is as words wafted on the winds.

Strike Spreads at Wholesalers

Teamsters Hit 'Illegal Lockout' in California

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The wholesale food industry strike-lockout which has plagued Southern California for 23 days spread today to other parts of the nation.

A Teamsters Union spokesman yesterday confirmed that pickets would be stationed outside wholesale firms in Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and San Diego and Richmond in California who are affiliated with concerns involved in the dispute here.

The pickets were to protest an asserted "illegal lockout" by 55 of 56 wholesale firms here, members of the Food Employers Council.

The 55 outlets locked out employes after the union went on strike at the 56th concern at midnight Sept. 13. The council claimed a strike against one was a strike against all.

A contract between the Teamsters and the council expired Sept. 6.

STUMBLING BLOCK

The current stumbling block in negotiations was a job bidding clause. Other issues to be resolved include automation and wages.

Negotiations, recessed yesterday afternoon, resumed this morning in an effort to settle the dispute. Slight progress in the talks with federal mediators William Rose and Ron Hagist has been reported.

The strike-lockout has caused no crisis for housewives in Southern California as a good supply of food remained on the shelves of most stores. But concern has been expressed about the problems faced should the strike continue and expand.

Four grocery chains yesterday filed a suit to limit picketing and stop asserted threats or acts of violence by the Teamsters. The complainants — Safeway, Von's, Food Giant and Stater Bros.—asked $10,000 each per day in damages.

LIMIT PICKETS

The order, if granted, would limit pickets at entrances of stores, parking lots and warehouses. The suit also asked that pickets be enjoined from intimidating, threatening or coercing customers.

About 100 retail firms were being picketed in the Los Angeles area, and some local unions have voted to fine members up to $400 for crossing Teamster picket lines to deliver bakery or other products.

Invasion! Door-to-Door Smiles

Monday morning on Thors Street was cold and blustery, capped with gray skies and filled with thoughts of the week's laundry, shopping, floor-washing, and general house-cleaning . . . until the doorbell rang.

★ ★ ★

There on the doorstep was an attractive lady dressed in a green nubby wool dress and a beige hip-length coat.

"Good morning!" she smiled, "I'm Gov. Romney's wife."

★ ★ ★

On other streets, in other neighborhoods Pontiac housewives were greeted by other Republican women.

★ ★ ★

Some were visited by women candidates: Mrs. Joyce Hatton, Mrs. Karla Parker and Miss Ellen Solomonson, running for the state board of education.

★ ★ ★

One or two met candidate for the U. S. Senate, Mrs. Elly Peterson.

Most opened their doors to discover the wives of Republican candidates, Mrs. Allison Green, wife of the secretary of state candidate; Mrs. Meyer Warshawsky, wife of the candidate for attorney general and Mrs. William G. Milliken, wife of the candidate for lieutenant governor participated in the door-to-door campaign.

NINE OTHERS

They joined nine other candidates' wives in a 45 minute door-to-door visit in the Pontiac area. Most of them had attended a campaign breakfast in Detroit at 7 a. m., watched Mrs. Romney christen the "hi-ya-neighbor" campaign bus and then clambered in, headed for Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

They arrived a little before 10, swooped into the Republican headquarters on East Huron Street and spread out in groups of five and six for different neighborhoods.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after 11, they met again at the K-Mart Shopping Plaza on Glenwood. They invaded the stores, shook hands, patted babies and smiled, smiled, smiled.

At 11:30 a. m. they trooped back onto the bus and disappeared in the direction of Roseville. All of a sudden it was over.

★ ★ ★

The people on the bus had just started. After Roseville they were to visit Port Huron, Lapeer, Flint and Owosso — before they called it a day.

Today, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday these ladies will continue the bus and auto tour which will travel a 1,200 mile route round the periphery of the Lower Peninsula making planned program stops at 30 cities and towns.

The five-day-whistle-stop tour of ladies is believed to be the first such campaign excursion ever attempted by a political party in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

It was the first time that Mrs. Romney campaigned door-to-door.

Michigan's first lady marched up sidewalks, stepped over shrubs and even dodged a dog. Always enthusiastic she shifted into high whenever the housewife indicated she was very honored but was really a Democrat.

For most of the women in the caravan, this was their first time on the campaign trail but they learned in a hurry.

★ ★ ★

Other women campaigning yesterday were: Mrs. Paul D. Bagwell, wife of the candidate for the Michigan State University board of control; Mrs. James O'Neil, wife of the candidate for state board of education and Mrs. John Pingel, wife of the candidate for the MSU board.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wilbur M. Brucker, wife of the candidate for Wayne State University board of governors; Mrs. Robert P. Briggs whose husband is running for the state board of education and Mrs. Richard Kuhn wife of the candidate for Congressional representative from the 19th district.

ALSO THERE

Also there were Mrs. Daniel Barry whose husband is running for drain commissioner; Mrs. Donald Freeman and Mrs. Farrell Roberts whose husbands are running for the second district, court of appeals and Mrs. Allen Miller whose husband is a candidate for the court of appeals from the third district.

Most will climax the motorcade in Dearborn, Friday.

Pontiac Press Photos

Waving to her Republican compatriots before she starts her first door-to-door campaign is Michigan's First Lady, Mrs. George Romney. To her left is Mrs. James O'Neil, wife of the candidate for the state board of education, who also participated in the Republican women's invasion of Pontiac between 10 and 11:30 a.m. yesterday.

For the Senate

She's in Race

By MIRIAM NEAL

Women went to school, got the vote, shortened their skirts and suddenly the battle of the sexes became more interesting.

Now the hapless male found himself surrounded by women doctors, lawyers, journalists and even politicians.

★ ★ ★

This election year Mrs. Elly Peterson, Republican, is running for the United States Senate—the first woman from Michigan nominated to do so.

In March, just before she announced her candidacy, she said she would not do so unless she had the approval of her husband, U.S. Army Col. W. Merritt Peterson of the Michigan Military Establishment, and unless she was sure of equal support from men and women.

HALF AND HALF

Determining those, she went on to win the nomination from two male opponents and is now campaigning with a staff composed half of women, half of men.

Mrs. Peterson, 50, was born in New Berlin, Ill. She started in politics when she was 21. "In Illinois it was a matter of course" to become active in politics.

★ ★ ★

After she married and moved to Michigan, she continued her work in politics partly for the love of it and partly because her husband traveled so much on Army business.

Her political base was her home in Charlotte where, in 1956, she ran for alderman and lost by 47 votes. Working up in the state party she helped many Republicans, including Gov. George Romney, gain office.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE

As vice chairman of the Republican National Committee and director of women's activities for the party, Mrs. Peterson planned and directed the 12th annual Republican women's conference in Washington, D. C.

Being a woman, says Mrs. Peterson, "has not hampered me at all; there has been no adverse reaction."

★ ★

Even among people whose women-in-the-home attitudes were notorious, she has found only genuine interest and questions relating only to her stands on campaign issues.

She adds that: "Actually (being a woman) is an advantage. It stirs more interest in the campaign" and attracts national as well as good state coverage.

EVEN DEMOCRATS

Professional women's groups have been another source of support. Even Democratic women have told her she would get their votes.

On the campaign trail, however, a few distinctly female problems do crop up. A male candidate doesn't have to worry too much about his wardrobe: a couple of good suits,

He Wasn't Playing Cards, He Was Playing Around

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my boyfriend is 23. We both work and are saving for a spring wedding.

ABBY

We have gone steady for 10 months and dated a year before that so we know each other pretty well.

Recently "Tom" began telling me that he was playing cards with the fellows at night, so I took baby-sitting jobs while he went out.

★ ★ ★

A few days ago I found out that he had been seeing another girl. I gave him back his ring. He begged and pleaded and said he didn't know what made him go out on me.

He wants a second chance. Should I take him back and maybe find out he still cheats after we are married?

DISTURBED

★ ★ ★

DEAR DISTURBED: If you have any doubts about his ability to keep his marriage vows, don't marry him! Forewarned is forearmed.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I recently moved to California from New York State. We bought a nice little home in the San Fernando Valley.

Most of our neighbors are about our age (30ish), but right next door lives a retired older couple. Whenever I am outside doing anything in the yard, the man comes out to "help" me.

★ ★ ★

He is a pleasant, but talkative, guy and an expert on everything. Gardening, building, repairing. Name it, and he has the tools and the know-how.

★ ★ ★

He saw me building a wall for our barbecue pit and he ran right out and took over. Every time I got to work on it, he came out to "help" me.

★ ★ ★

He finally finished the job while I sat on the ground like a moron. How can I let him know that some people do things for the exercise and enjoyment of it, and not just to get them finished?

★ ★ ★

NEWCOMER

★ ★ ★

DEAR NEWCOMER: And perhaps someone ought to let YOU know that some people "offer to help" not because they want to see the job done, but because they are lonely and want company.

Be firm, but kind, in your refusal to let him take over, but let him hang around and talk because that's probably all he wants. (P. S. One day, YOU may retire.)

Win International Award

Unusual Diamond Sets

NEW YORK — Streaks of baguette lightning, a family of gold-and-diamond amoebas, rings for two fingers at once, and a galaxy of free forms—these are shining reflections of the strong contemporary look of the prize jewelry in the 1964 Diamonds - International Awards Collection.

★ ★ ★

The awards are given annually for excellence in precious jewelry design. The 1964 awards were presented today to 26 jewelers from eight countries at a luncheon at the Hotel Savoy Plaza here. Later, the 30 prize-winning pieces went on public exhibition at the National Arts Club.

These 30 pieces can be said to be the world's best jewelry of 1964, since they were chosen by a board of judges from 1,011 designs submitted by 195 jewelers in 18 different countries.

The 11-year history of the Diamonds - International Awards has seen the transition from "flat" jewelry to dimensional pieces. With this has come increased interest in small diamonds, which lend themselves easily to work in free-forms, and in fancy-cut diamonds.

This year the baguette comes into its own as an integral part of design rather than as side embellishment. This simple straight-lined cut that seems to have been "waiting in the wings" for the contemporary look in high fashion jewelry.

Gold is just as important as platinum in the 1964 Awards collection. Some pieces demonstrate that all that is gold does not glitter, for the focus is on the varying finishes that can be achieved with textured gold.

Andrew Grima of London received a "Diamonds-International Award" today for designing "Wave," an architectural brooch with 229 baguette diamonds, each mounted in platinum on white gold background. This unique setting produces the effect of diamonds suspended in mid air.

Streams of diamonds flow toward the center of "Whirlpool," a watch bracelet by Meister Watches, Ltd., of Zurich, Switzerland. Two 18 karat yellow gold sprays, each flecked with 16 baguette diamonds, are separate pins which can be released from the bracelet at the touch of a secret lock. Round white diamonds are dotted on the bracelet which holds a concealed watch.

An uninterrupted vine of diamonds swirls around the wrist in a bracelet called "Primavera Di Capri" (Spring in Capri) from E.U.G. Virgilio of Naples, Italy. The bracelet has a platinum vine of baguette diamonds rising from the wrist. Marquise diamond petal flowers trail across the vine; drop shaped rubies "grow" from the baguette stream.

Elly Peterson on Campaign Trail

appropriate ties and clean shirts and he is all set.

Not so for Mrs. Peterson. She has three revolving wardrobes so she can dress appropriately for everything from a plant tour to a formal dinner. When she is going on a long trip she takes two of them while the third is being cleaned.

Getting her hair done is another problem. Every woman likes to go to someone she can trust but I guess I've gone to one in every town in Michigan and they're all pretty good."

OTHER PROBLEMS

The other problems of a campaign are universal. Last week alone she traveled 1600 miles, averaging five hours sleep per night. Last Tuesday she was "on the trail" from 6:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Wednesday.

When does she relax? "Not very often." Still, her biggest problem is not running out of energy—she enjoys the schedule — but trying to gain rapport with the thousands of people she meets.

* * *

She makes it a practice to leave plenty of time for any audience to ask questions. Too often, she says, a candidate can leave without touching a voter's particular interest.

She admits that the questions are often purely personal but she adds that at least she knows she has come in real contact with one voter.

EVERY COUNTY

At this point, she has given up visiting every town and city but: "I will travel in every county."

* * *

She travels the state in a special truck complete with stove and table and staff. The time period lessens and the road stretches long.

* * *

But she has already won the modern battle of the sexes.

She is talking and being listened to as a legitimate candidate and not as just an "upstart female."

Whirlwind of Activities Greets Food Editors

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

NEW YORK CITY — This day was tops. It started at the Tower suite atop the Time-Life building with a hunt breakfast hosted by American Sugar Company and ended on top of the Better Living building at the World's Fair, watching the fireworks as guests of Bordens.

In between we heard a speech by Secretary of Agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, and were saturated with discussions of diets for weight control and control of heart disease.

True to the tradition of fox hunting there was a master of the hounds with his Beagles — three hims and a her, all with long ears.

The sugar people are understandably excited about their new product, granulated brown sugar. This break-through in the processing of brown sugar means no more caking or hardening in the storage container.

Recipes for using the new type of brown sugar should be in The Pontiac Press food pages later this week.

Secretary Freeman spoke of the abundance revolution and told how his department and other experts are concerned with getting the abundance of food into stomachs rather than into surpluses.

The United States need never fear hunger for tomorrow and has enough to give everyone an adequate diet and more left over to give or sell overseas.

One farmer now feeds 30 people in addition to himself; in Russia the Russian ratio is one for six.

He touched on such subjects as the food stamp plan, distribution of surplus foods and the school lunch program. Then he mentioned a number of things the U.S.D.A. does of which many people are not aware.

It holds the patent on frozen orange juice.

Wonder drugs, stretch cotton and aerosol bombs were all developed in its research laboratories.

After a session with Gerber on baby foods in other countries, we took off by bus for the World's Fair. Borden's showed us their exhibits in the Better Living building, including the intriguing one starring Elsie the cow.

But 'Backlash' Could Hurt Dems

Midwest Outlook Is Bright for Johnson

(Editor's Note: This is another report on voting trends around the nation. Today's report is on the Midwest.)

★ ★ ★

By DAVID SMOTHERS

CHICAGO (UPI) — White backlash could provide the surprise element in the Middle West this election year. But don't bet on it.

As election day draws closer, President Johnson appears to be ahead or even in all but one of the midlands states. He is profiting by defections from the Republican ranks and, in some cases, from Republican candidates who can't seem to warm up to Barry Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

But in almost every state there is a common imponderable: How many voters, Democrats as well as Republicans, will vote for Goldwater because they think the Negro struggle for civil rights has gone too far and Goldwater will cool it off?

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Still, the over-all outlook is bright for Johnson in the Middle West. He appears well ahead in Michigan. Missouri and Kentucky seem to be leaning his way, while Illinois and Wisconsin rate as toss-ups. Goldwater holds the edge in Indiana, but things could change by Nov. 3.

President Kennedy carried only three of these states in 1960 and one of them, Illinois, was a squeaker. Michigan and Missouri were the others. On the basis of his early showing, Johnson appears to be running stronger in the Midwest than his predecessor.

One factor which could help him is a seeming unwillingness by some GOP candidates on the state level to wave the Goldwater banner with wholehearted enthusiasm.

★ ★ ★

Michigan Gov. George Romney is the standout example. Running in a state where the Negro and labor votes are both heavy, Romney has said of Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, "I accept them, but I don't endorse them."

STANCH SUPPORTER

In Illinois, GOP gubernatorial candidate Charles H. Percy insists he is a stanch Goldwater man while the Democrats insist he isn't. Wilbur Renk and Warren Knowles, the Republican candidates for senator and governor in Wisconsin, talk little about Goldwater. The same is true of Indiana's Lt. Gov. Richard O. Ristine, who is running for governor.

After the first three weeks of all-out campaigning, this is how the midwest election picture shaped up:

Illinois—one of the hottest political battlegrounds in the nation, with experts unwilling to call the turn. Going for the Democrats is the last of the old-fashioned big city machines, expertly directed by a political master, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

★ ★ ★

But Goldwater has a devoted following among most Republican leaders—a following which has sometimes earned Illinois the title of "Goldwater country."

★ ★ ★

Percy is fighting a hard campaign against incumbent Gov. Otto Kerner and this race, too, rates as a toss-up. Percy is appealing to independent voters and he could run ahead of Goldwater, particularly in the Chicago suburbs where the Illinois race may be decided.

COMFORTABLY AHEAD

Michigan—Johnson and Romney both appear to be comfortably ahead, but a Johnson landslide—300,000 votes or more—could bury Romney, too.

Otherwise, there appeared to be little chance for Congressman-at-large Neil Staebler, Romney's opponent, to get into the governor's mansion at Lansing. Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart also looked in good shape as he sought a second term.

Indiana—This state hasn't voted Democratic in a presidential election since it rejected Alf Landon in 1936, but the Hoosiers could change. Appearances are that Goldwater will take the state, but not by the 225,000 votes which Richard M. Nixon piled up over Kennedy in 1960.

Democratic Gov. Matthew E. Welsh can't succeed himself and his signing of a state sales tax bill last year may hurt the Democrat who wants to follow him, Lafayette lawyer Roger D. Branigan. In the Indiana Senate battle, Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke is campaigning up and down the state and his energy may prove the difference in his contest with State Sen. D. Russell Bontrager.

NO PREDICTIONS

Wisconsin—Nobody but the official party spokesmen are guessing out loud about this one, even though Harry S. Truman was the last Democratic presidential contender to take Wisconsin.

Democratic Sen. William Proxmire, going for a second term, is one of the hardest-working campaigners in Wisconsin history. A recent farm poll showed him well ahead of Renk, a gentleman farmer from Sun Prairie. Democratic Gov. John Reynolds could have greater trouble against Knowles.

Missouri—This is a traditionally Democratic state, except for the Eisenhower years, and Johnson figures to do better than Kennedy. Goldwater is coming up strong and could score in the southeast boot-heel and in the south central areas, which usually go Republican.

★ ★ ★

Veteran Sen. Stuart Symington could be in trouble in his battle with an aggressive Republican, Springfield attorney Jean Paul Bradshaw. Civil rights rates as an issue here. Fiscal responsibility is the major issue in the tussle for governor between Democratic Secretary of State Warren E. Hearnes and Republican Ethan Shepley.

Kentucky—Most observers believe Kennedy's religion beat him here in 1960 and that's no longer an issue. With no major state races on the ticket, Johnson has a good chance to be the first Democrat to take the Blue Grass State since Adlai E. Stevenson squeaked through with 700 votes in 1952.

Man Asleep in Car; Thieves Take $900

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Thieves took his car keys, opened the auto trunk with them and removed a cash box containing $900 early Sunday, private hall manager Theodore Dombrowski told police Monday, adding that he was asleep in the car at the time.

Divers Find Body

REED CITY (AP)—The body of John Clark, 63, of Evart was recovered Sunday from nearby Wrights Lake by divers, according to State Police. Clark apparently fell from a boat and drowned Saturday while fishing, police said. The boat was found empty Saturday night.

Training Act Program Is Increased in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 38 per cent increase in Manpower Development and Training Act programs in Michigan was recorded for the first half of 1964 over all last year. The U.S. Labor Department said 220 programs for 7,171 unemployed Michigan workers were approved by July 1.

Dedicate College Dorm

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Dedication of the new $623,000 men's dormitory at Aquinas College is scheduled Friday with the Most Rev. Stephen S. Woznicki, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Saginaw, officiating.

Pakistan's economy is based on agriculture, which is the occupation of about 90 per cent of the population.

OFF SHE GOES — The huge XB70 experimental bomber takes off at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., yesterday in its second test flight. The first flight was plagued with malfunctions, but the second was more successful, with only minor difficulties.

With Slight Malfunction

Troubled XB70 in Successful Flight

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The controversial six-jet XB70 flew for the second time yesterday and its performance apparently lived up to almost all expectations.

The $1.5-billion plane, forerunner of future supersonic airliners, soared almost effortlessly for 90 minutes with North American aviation test pilot Al White at the controls.

White made a precautionary landing on a dry lake bed here when an apparently malfunctioning warning light in the backup hydraulic landing system flashed on.

No attempt was made yesterday to push the revolutionary craft to its design maximums of 2,000 miles an hour and an altitude of 80,000 feet.

★ ★ ★

White kept the radically-designed plane under the speed of sound in a flight aimed at basic maneuvers to test its true reliability.

The initial flight of the giant plane on Sept. 21 was marred by a series of mechanical problems coupled with a fiery tire blowout that damaged the landing gear.

New brakes on the landing gear — installed after the first flight — smoked during the precautionary landing.

A repeat problem involving the landing gear was the only major difficulty reported yesterday by White and his copilot, Air Force Col. Joe Cotton.

★ ★ ★

A minor problem with a broken fuel intake valve delayed yesterday's takeoff for about eight hours.

The Delta - winged plane lost its designation as the RS70 bomber in a running battle in which the Defense Department led by Secretary Robert McNamara, opposed further development of the manned bomber.

The XB70 provides a workshop for furture development of triplesonic passenger planes capable of crossing the United States in 90 minutes.

The first test flight was 20 months behind schedule, but White and Cotton expressed satisfaction with the plane's performance despite the problems that created momentary concern for ground observers.

★ ★ ★

White had planned to fly the XB70 through the sound barrier yesterday at about 700 miles an hour at a height of 35,000 feet.

The plane flew 600 mph at an altitude of 28,000 feet. White said he would try again for the supersonic goal next week.

Tattoo Marks on Son Needled Mom to Act

LONDON (AP) — A mother took a long, hard look at the new tattoo marks on her 14-year-old son's arm, then went out and smashed the tattooer's windows.

"I don't particularly like what I did, but young boys must be protected," said Louise Stone, 40.

"I did what every mother should do if she found her son marked for life."

Mrs. Stone pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of wilful damage to property and was fined $65.

★ ★ ★

She told the court:

"It's wrong that a tattooer should be able to disfigure children the age of my son John. I broke the widows to draw attention to the wrong."

TERRIBLY HUMILIATED

She said John is "terribly humiliated" at what she did, but "the humiliation is his punishment."

The tattoo pattern showed a pirate gripping a sword between his teeth. Mrs. Stone said she hoped to have it removed by plastic surgery, paid for by the government's National Health Service.

Mrs. Stone is separated from her husband and is living on relief.

★ ★ ★

The tattooer, Harry Potter, told newsmen:

"I have two notices in my shop warning customers that they must be over 17 to have any tattooing done. How can I tell how old some of these grown-up looking youths are?"

Details Emerge on Tunnel Escape

BERLIN (AP) — Details of the daring escape of 57 East Berliners through a tunnel deep beneath the Red wall began to emerge today.

While West Berliners rejoiced at the flight to freedom, Communist authorities in the Soviet sector whipped up a propaganda campaign over the death of a border guard, shot just after the last refugees reached the West early Monday.

★ ★ ★

Calling the death of East German border guard Sgt. Egon Schulz "cowardly murder," the Communists said the affair may have an effect on the agreement permitting West Berliners to visit East Berlin.

The East German Communist party organ Neues Deutschland hinted that the agreement, reached recently between the West Berlin city government and the East German regime, might be revoked.

'CAN'T HAVE BOTH'

"Under no circumstances can one have both — the pass agreement on the one hand and murdering people on the other," the Communist paper said.

The agreement allows West Berliners to visit relatives in the Soviet sector during four periods within the next 12 months.

The refugees who came through the tunnel were kept under wraps at a refugee camp and authorities refused to let newsmen interview them. West Berlin officials said they wanted to determine whether interviews would endanger future escapes.

Reliable informants told this story of the escape:

Ten West Berlin students began digging the tunnel April 10. They used part of an old tunnel through which three East German girls escaped last winter before it was discovered by Red guards, who blew up the eastern section of the tunnel.

UNUSED BAKERY

The Western entrance was in the cellar of an unused bakery on Bernauerstrasse, a street where numerous tugnels had been constructed since the Berlin wall was built August 13, 1961. One such tunnel helped 59 East Berliners reach freedom in the summer of 1962.

The students planned to dig beneath the wall and the 300-foot security zone on the Eastern side which cannot be entered without special passes. They wanted to reach the cellar of a house outside the zone.

Working 90 feet below the surface, the young men at times were hardly able to breathe. Again and again the tunnel threatened to collapse because of the sandy soil. Several times water seepage almost forced them to abandon the project.

The students refused to give up. They installed a ventilation system and a telephone line connected to an observation post in West Berlin where other students could watch the border guards across the wall.

Last Saturday, they had driven a 450-foot tunnel. The time had come to break through to the surface.

MISCALCULATION

But the student handling the planning had miscalculated. Instead of coming out in a cellar, they emerged in an abandoned shack in the backyard of an apartment house.

The time was 8 p. m. It was a clear, cold night. The stillness near the wall was broken only by the tapping of the hobnailed boots of a Communist guard posted just 60 feet from the door of the house through which the refugees had to pass to reach the tunnel.

★ ★ ★

Couriers were dispatched to contact persons wanting to escape.

The refugees came in heavy clothing, carrying only small bags with the most precious of their belongings.

BEGAN TO CRY

First to enter the murky tunnel was a 4-year-old boy. Frightened, he began to cry halfway through. His mother crawling close behind tried in vain to quiet him. Desperately she edged closer to the boy and clasped her hand over his mouth.

Four of the West Berlin helpers were posted outside the tunnel at the eastern end, one carried a small walkie-talkie radio over which he received instructions from the observation post in West Berlin. The post was to sound the alarm in case of unusual border guard activities.

One of the West Berliners carried a revolver, to be used in case they were discovered by the Red guards.

But the first phase of the operation ran smoothly. It was broken off shortly after midnight when 28 refugees had crawled to freedom.

SECOND PHASE

The second phase began at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The observer in West Berlin spotted guards with dogs patroling near the tunnel area. Once a patrol car stopped, several officers got out and inspected the guard posts.

The four escape helpers waited in the darkened hall of the house. But they were not discovered.

Every time an unsuspecting occupant of the house came home, he locked the main door behind him. The escape helpers had to reopen the door with a skeleton key.

'TURN OFF LIGHT'

Just after midnight two men walked into the house and one turned a flashlight on the escape helpers.

"Are you crazy?" one of the students shouted, thinking the pair were escaping refugees. "Turn off the light and get going."

★ ★ ★

One of the men said another was waiting outside and he wanted to get him. He left, and five minutes later motorized police squads roared into the area.

The observation post sounded the alert, but it was too late. Armed with submachine guns, guards burst into the house.

A submachine gun barked. The escape helper with the revolver fired back. He heard someone moan just before he got away and into the tunnel. His three comrades already were crawling toward West Berlin.

As they crawled they feared that any second the Reds would fire into the straight tunnel or hurl tear gas and explosives.

FIRED SALVOS

In the confusion, however, the guards did not discover the tunnel for some time. They aimlessly fired salvos from the submachine guns into the cellar of the house.

In the haste of the getaway, one of the students suffered facial injuries and abrasions on his legs.

AP Photofax

FLEE TO FREEDOM — One of 57 East Germans who escaped to freedom through a tunnel under the Berlin wall is helped onto a seat to be lifted by block and tackle into an abandoned bakery atop the West German end. The avenue of flight through which 23 men, 31 women and three children passed from Saturday until yesterday was closed when Red guards discovered it.

Board Acts on 2 Lots in Waterford

Waterford Township Board members last night approved one request for a lot split and rejected another.

★ ★ ★

In one of the shortest meetings in recent months, the board authorized that Lot 35 of Lake Acres No. 1 subdivision in the area of Detroit and Alco, be split into four lots.

The board rejected a request for a split of Lot 119 in Woodhull Lake Farms because one of the four splinter lots would have only 45-feet frontage as proposed.

In other business the board rejected an application for a billiard permit proposed for a vacant building on Williams Lake Road near Landsdowne.

★ ★ ★

Clerk Elmer Fangboner made the motion to deny the request because he felt a billiard hall would be unsuitable in this area. Trustee Loren Anderson supported his motion.

NOTICE READ

Also last night the first notice of proposed rezoning of a parcel at Sashabaw and Seeden from single residential and commercial to multiple dwelling was read.

★ ★ ★

A single story apartment building is planned on the six-lot site. Rezoning of the parcel will be on the agenda of next Monday's meeting.

'Britain May Join N-Force'

Wilson Drops Hint

LONDON (UPI) — Labor party leader Harold Wilson hinted today he might let Britain join the American - proposed Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF) if Labor wins the election next week.

Wilson told a news conference that although Labor opposes the idea of the mixed - manned force it does not think it permits "a German finger on the trigger."

The Labor party platform attacked the MLF. And in a speech last night, Wilson said "No Labor prime minister will agree to policies which mean having a German finger on the nuclear trigger."

The statement appeared to indicate any Labor government would veto British participation in the MLF. Questioned about this today, Wilson said he was "very much against the proliferation of nuclear weapons in any direction." But he added:

★

"The present (MLF) proposal does not involve the possibility of unilateral action by any single country."

FEAR OF FUTURE

Wilson said, however, that "we are afraid of further developments which have been actively canvassed in Europe and the United States."

His statement appeared to leave labor in a "wait - and-see" position on the MLF.

The Conservative party government has agreed only to investigate the proposal.

Claim Cong Using Peasants as Shield

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — The Vietnamese government's Viet Nam Press Agency claimed today that the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas are using peasants as human shields in battle.

The agency said the Viet Cong drove a crowd of peasants ahead of them into a government ambush on Sunday near the town of Son Ha, 330 miles northeast of Saigon.

The agency quoted the defense ministry as saying that 16 persons were reported killed and 17 wounded in the ambush.

Loocal authorities are examining the dead and wounded to determine how many were innocent and how many belong to the Viet Cong, the agency said.

Peasants and Communists are often indistinguishable. Both usually wear black pajama-like suits and conical straw hats. Many peasants, of course, are also Communists.

OTHER ACTION

In other military action, a massive counterattack fizzled out yesterday when an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong faded into villages, paddies and rubber plantations only 11 miles due north of Saigon.

The Viet Cong had ambushed a government supply column on Sunday, killing or wounding nearly half the 200 men in it, including one American sergeant dead and five Americans wounded.

Several battalions were thrown into the counterattack. But the Viet Cong slipped away, taking many of their dead and wounded with them. Only 3 enemy bodies were counted.

Government sources did succeed in driving Communists away from the numerous roadblocks they had erected along nearby Highway 13 running north from the capital.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

In other Viet Nam developments:

• A U.S. military spokesman announced that American military strength in Viet Nam had risen to 19,500 men by the end of September, in line with Washington policy. This is an increase of 2,300 men since the end of July. An eventual increase of 5,000 men is expected.

• The 1,000 U.S. personnel at Da Nang, 390 miles northeast of Saigon, have been ordered off the streets since Saturday, when 200 students demonstrated in front of the residence of two American civilian officials.

★ ★ ★

The students were demanding that police release a boy of 16 whom the Americans had caught loitering around their residence. The students disbanded when police said the boy had been released.

WALL SLOGAN

But they painted wall slogans in an American - frequented section of town saying things like "Viet Nam must not sell her honor for dollars."

The two American officials are Joseph R. Vaccaro of Trenton, N.J., and Thomas Maskray, an Australian under contract to the U.S. government. Both work for the Agency for International Development (AID).

De Nang is the city where Vietnamese demonstrators stoned an American billet Aug. 24 during the recent political upheavals.

The Vietnamese Defense Ministry said the Viet Cong lost 253 killed and 74 captured during the week ending Saturday night. The government lost 146 dead and 271 missing.

Though the "kill ratio" was favorable to the government, the weapons ratio was not. The Communists captured 360 modern American weapons, including 12 machine guns and mortars, and abandoned 93 weapons of various vintages, four of them machine guns or mortars.

Olympic Committee Is Called to Order

Problems Mar IOC Sessions During Week

N. Korea, Indonesia Want Teams Entered in Tokyo Games

TOKYO (AP) — The Emperor of Japan declared open the full meeting of the International Olympic Committee today with customary pomp, but behind the scenes a full-scale donnybrook brewed.

Wednesday's working sessions will be stormy. Soviet Russia will probably raise the GANEFO issue, East Germany wants full membership in the IOC instead of sharing a team with West Germany, and the election of the international president will be announced.

Track and swimming athletes who took part in the unauthorized GANEFO — The Games Of The Emerging Forces — at Jakarta, Indonesia, have been suspended by their international federations thereby keeping them out of the Olympics.

ON SIDELINE

As a result, North Korea and Indonesia may not compete here at all, but observers believe the Russians may raise the issue in the full committee meeting and possibly seek to override the ban.

Russia, too, favors East Germany's full membership in the IOC but Avery Brundage of Chicago, IOC president who mediated the German dispute in 1952 and created a single, all-German team, has always considered this sports unification as one of the outstanding successes of the Olympic movement.

* * *

All the ballots in the contest between Brundage, seeking re-election as IOC president, and his only rival, Lord David Burghley, Marquis of Exeter, are here under seal and all that remains is the announcement.

Brundage is a stern upholder of pure amateurism. The English nobleman is considered to be more liberal. Advance hints point to a narrow Brundage victory.

8,000 READY

Virtually all the 8,000 athletes from the 98 nations expected to compete here are now on hand for the opening ceremonies Saturday, Oct. 10. The Games end Oct. 24.

This is a record-breaking Games in many ways. It is the largest of modern times, it is the first ever held in Asia, it will be the first which will be televised live almost around the world thanks to the Syncom satellite poised over the Pacific, and it is the first on which the vast sum of two billion dollars has been spent preparing the facilities.

* * *

Much of this, of course, was for permanent improvements such as super-highways in Tokyo and a high speed train to Osaka, but the stadiums and playing fields here are unmatched.

There are other firsts for these games that mean so much to Japan. For the first time swimming races will be decided by touching electric panels at the finish line. The new trans-Pacific cable is being used for the first time to carry out news of the Games, and pictures are being sent by direct cable both to Europe and North America. For the first time judo and women's volley ball are being contested.

American Olympic Team Awaiting Starting Signal

TOKYO (AP) — Quietly confident.

That's the general tone of America's talent laden track and field forces as they tune up for the big show — the Olympic Games starting Oct. 10.

* * *

Track and field competition doesn't start until Oct. 14 and lasts eight days.

But several of Uncle Sam's biggest stars are ready right now and fairly itching for the starting signal.

Two of these are Ralph Boston, who set a pending world long jump record of 27 feet-4¼ inches in the final team trials and Bob Hayes, generally recognized as the World's Fastest Human of all time off his three 9.1 100-yard clockings the past two years, although none has been ratified as an official world standard.

MUST WAIT

"I'm ready to go now, man," says Boston, but he will have to wait until Sunday, Oct. 18 to strut his stuff.

Some of the other American headliners aren't feeling quite as sharp as Boston and Hayes but that's the way they prefer it. As hurdler Hayes Jones, a veteran of the 1956 and 1960 Olympiads put it, "If I felt perfect right now I'd be worried. Just a little more honing and I'll be ready."

* * *

Rex Cawley, who set a world record of 49.1 for the 400 meter hurdles in the Olympic Trials, laughed off reports that a leg ailment is bothering him.

"It's just a little twinge, an old thing and nothing to worry about. I don't say I could go out and break 49 flat right now but next week that's what I aim to do.

Boston, who will renew a historic rivalry with the Soviet Union's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, the listed record holder at 27-3¼, doesn't think it will necessarily take a world record jump to win, although the Olympic mark of 26-7¼ which he set at Rome in 1960 is sure to go.

"I feel confident of jumping right out of that pit," says the relaxed veteran, "but there are too many elements that have to be just right at the time to set a record. The big object here is just to win, no matter what it takes."

Hayes, who "played it cool" for several months after suffering a leg injury while winning the National AAU 100 meters in late June, says he's ready to ramble.

NO PROBLEM

"There was some doubt about how it would hold up in the final Olympic trials in Los Angeles but it came out fine. It's not a problem any more.

* * *

Hayes, who will rush back after the Olympics to finish out the season as a Florida A&M halfback, revealed he will go all out for a world 100-meter record in the opening heat on Wednesday morning, Oct. 14.

"If things are right, I'll blast off," he said. "It would be as good a time as any to get that 9.9 I've been looking for these last two years."

* * *

The listed world record is 10.0, by Armin Hary of Germany and Canada's Harry Jerome — the latter will be in the competition.

"My plan," explains the muscular Hayes, "is to shoot the works in that first race, qualify as comfortably as possible the next morning and then give it everything again in the finals that afternoon. I know there will be plenty of opposition. If Jerome is sound he'll be tough."

WHITEY FORD
Yankees Name Veteran

Sadecki, Ford Mound Foes at St. Louis

New Yorkers Favored 17-10; Yanks' Ramos Out; Kubek Doubtful

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ray Sadecki, a 23-year-old lefty with his first big winning year, will tote a tremendous burden Wednesday as the opening pitcher for the underdog St. Louis Cardinals against Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees' cagey veteran.

* * *

Ford's experience under fire is one reason why the Yanks are 17-10 favorites to take it all and 6-5 in the opener. It will be Whitey's 22nd series start.

The Series schedule, which calls for a day off for travel after the second and fifth games, permits the first game pitchers to make three starts if it goes the seven-game limit.

USED IN RELIEF

Because Johnny Keane, Cardinal manager, had to use Bob Gibson in relief in Sunday's final game to clinch the National League pennant, he is forced to start Sadecki, a 20-game winner who was knocked out of the box Saturday by the New York Mets.

It figures to be the Yanks' Big Three of Ford, Mel Stottlemyre and Jim Bouton against the Cardinals' trio of Sadecki, Gibson and Curt Simmons. Nobody else is likely to start.

* * *

Al Downing, normally a regular, probably will be in the Yanks bullpen which will be hurting without Pedro Ramos, the stopper of the last month of the season.

Ramos is not eligible for the Series because he was acquired from Cleveland too late to be placed on the list which closes Sept. 1. The absence of the handsome Cuban may be fatal to Manager Yogi Berra, who learned to lean more and more on Ramos in the stretch drive to his first pennant.

MAY NOT PLAY

Tony Kubek, regular Yankee shortstop, and Julian Javier, the Cards' second baseman, were on the doubtful list because of injuries.

Kubek, in fact, very likely will miss the entire Series because of a jammed right wrist that has kept him out of action for two weeks.

Javier suffered a badly bruised left hip Saturday in a collision with the Mets' Bob Taylor. The Cards were optimistic about his playing but had Dal Maxvill ready. Maxvill, normally a weak hitter, came through with flying colors in the weekend games.

Phil Linz, the Yanks' harmonica-playing rascal, undoubtedly will start at shortstop. Linz has been getting key hits in the Yanks' late drive.

* * *

Speed will be on the side of the cards with Lou Brock, their base-stealing whiz, Curt Flood and Javier the best of the lot. They will put pressure on Elston Howard, the Yanks' fine catcher, just as the dashing Dodgers of Los Angeles did last year in a four-straight sweep.

SPORTS

Strong, Silent Reds Show Friendly Side

TOKYO (AP) — The Russians are the strong, silent team at the Tokyo Olympics.

Everybody says they'll dominate it as they did the Olympics in Melbourne and Rome but the Russians won't say so.

* * *

And if you suggest it to them they murmur something polite like, "we hope so," or "we'll do our best."

They're friendly this year. Visitors are welcome. You can wander around their billets at the Olympic Village, read the copies of Pravda and Izvestia pasted on the bulletin board or the schedule of cultural and recreational events posted alongside.

And you can talk to anyone you want.

QUIET TYPE

Only, after a while, you suddenly realize you're the only one who's talking. They nod, shake their heads or smile.

The weather? That's a tricky subject packed with political dynamite here. It's been blowing 30-m.p.h. gusts since Monday morning, kicking up clouds of dust, and the Russians aren't happy about it. But they're too polite to say so.

* * *

A volleyball coach paused amid pleasantries, the smile suddenly disappearing from his face, to say, "it's very windy." The remark was obviously pregnant with meaning and reflected a certain degree of disenchantment with Tokyo's charms.

But the speaker, who asked anonymity, added quickly that he intended no personal complaint. Volleyball, after all, is an indoor sport and he was not personally affected.

You want to talk to someone who can say something about something besides the weather? Everybody is very sorry but everybody in authority is out, on the practice fields or in conference.

A helpful minor official volunteered, however, that the Soviet delegation would be holding a news conference next Thursday.

* * *

Coach Gabriel Korobkov and his 176-member track and field team are training out in secluded Utsunomiya, 75 miles from Tokyo. Outside of Soviet Premier Khrushchev back in Moscow, Korobkov is about the only Russian who's willing to talk. He talks frankly and fluently.

The headquarters of the Russian team at the Olympic Village in Tokyo was hushed and practically deserted Monday, five days before the opening ceremonies for the 18th Olympiad. Hushed, that is, except for a Beatles song blaring out of one of the rooms.

A Soviet athlete was sprawled inside. Did he like the music?

"It's very interesting," he said.

Girls Too Much

Ref Quits Officiating

IPSWICH, England (AP) — Soccer referee Roger Smith announced today he's finished with women's football.

"I'd rather go in a lion's den than face those girls again," he said.

Smith, 47, made his decision after a girls' match between Ipswich and nearby Stowmarket ended in a riot.

Ipswich were leading by three fights, one judo throw and six goals to one when he ejected right back Linda Garwood of Ipswich for foul play.

FLOOD OF TEARS

Linda refused to go. The Ipswich girls staged a sitdown in the middle of the field.

More fights erupted, then a flood of tears. The game — billed as a charity match — was abandoned.

Eighteen-year-old Linda said: "I had beaten my opponent fairly. She didn't like it and made a grab at my hair.

* * *

"Judo happens to be my hobby so I took her by the arm and gave her a gentle hip throw and the referee ordered me off."

Ipswich team manager Frank Nightingale said he's following referee Smith out of women's football.

PARENTAL HELP

"I've resigned," he said. "One of the girls even brought her mother on the field to argue with the ref."

* * *

Reply from the girls: "He hasn't resigned. We fired him for siding with the other team."

MONDAY'S FIGHTS

SAN FRANCISCO — Jimmy Lester, 153½, San Francisco, knocked out Tony Noriega, 152, Bakersfield, Calif., 7.

HELSINKI — Olli Maeki, Finland, stopped Aissa Hashas, France, 8, Maeki retained light welterweight European championship.

BOSTON — Tony Valenti, 161, Medford, Mass., stopped Jim Beecham, 160, Philadelphia, 7.

MARACAIBO, Venezuela — Carlos Hernandez, 137, Venezuela, knocked out Kenny Lane, 139, Muskegon, Mich., 2.

Local Cyclist Third

Pontiac motorcyclist Buck Graves picked up a third-place in the scrambles championship at Lansing Sunday.

Buck trailed Jerry McGovern of Grand Rapids and Rodger Bates of Lansing in the Class A heavyweight division.

Bay City Again Tops State Class A Teams

By the Associated Press

Bay City Central regained the top spot in Class A and Hillsdale's lead in Class B was trimmed to a point in this week's Associated Press Michigan high school football poll.

* * *

Unbeaten St. Charles lengthened its lead in Class C-D.

Bay City Central, which was the No. 1 team in the first poll of the year, slipped to the runner-up spot last week but moved back up when it remained undefeated while Battle Creek Central lot last Friday night.

TWO JUMPS

East Lansing jumped two places to take over second while Traverse City made its first appearance in the elite group a big one as it took third.

Flint Central advances three places to fourth and Midland retained fifth in Class A.

Cadillac maintained its second place behind Hillsdale in Class B, but moved just a step away on the basis of its 45-6 trouncing of Lansing Waverly last week.

The AP's statewide panel of sports writers and sportscasters also promoted Kingsford (5-0) to third place. Lowell and Manistique round out the top five.

The C-D race saw Akron-Fairgrove move up a couple of places to take the No. 2 position.

Michigan Seventh

Texas Retains No. 1 Ranking

By The Associated Press

Hurricane Hilda didn't get north to the state of Michigan. No matter. The Michigan State Spartans and the Michigan Wolverines provided their own power on the gridiron and blew Southern California and Navy right out of the Top Ten in college football.

* * *

The Texas Longhorns retained today their No. 1 spot in this week's voting by The Associated Press panel of sports writers and broadcasters with a come-from-behind 17-6 triumph over Army.

But Michigan State upset Southern California 17-7 and Michigan walloped Navy 21-0 to give the Top Ten a thorough shaking up. As a result Southern California, No. 2, and Navy, No. 6, flopped right out of the rankings.

MOVED UP

Illinois took over the No. 2 spot with a 17-6 triumph over Northwestern. Alabama moved up to No. 3 by blanking Vanderbilt 24-0 and Ohio State jumped a notch to No. 4 by slamming Indiana 17-9.

Kentucky, perhaps the surprise team of the season to date, jumped from nowhere to the No. 5 spot with an 20-0 upset over Auburn, a defeat that pushed Tigers out of the Top Ten. It was the third straight for Kentucky's unbeaten Wildcats. They previously downed Detroit 13-6 and Mississippi 27-21.

Note Dame whipped Purdue 34-15 and advanced from ninth to No. 6. Michigan made No. 7 with its win over Navy while Nebraska came into the picture as No. 8. The Cornhuskers trimmed Iowa State 14-7 for their third in a row.

The top ten football teams with first place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

	W	L	T	Pts.
1. Texas (22)	3	0	0	430
2. Illinois (6)	3	0	0	392
3. Alabama (3)	3	0	0	366
4. Ohio State	2	0	0	363
5. Kentucky (5)	3	0	0	355
6. Notre Dame	3	0	0	244
7. Michigan (1)	2	0	0	243
8. Nebraska	3	0	0	68

9. tie, Michigan State	1	0	0	36

Eagles, Red Raiders Post Touch Victories

Eagles edged Wildcats, 14-12, and Red Raiders topped Castoffs, 20-0, in Waterford men's touch football last night.

Bob Bomarito caught two TD passes for the Wildcats, but Ken McClintock matched this with two scoring aerials of his own for the Eagles who had the necessary extra point plays.

Bruins defeated Pansies, 13-12, in high school flag football.

49ers' Fullback Lost for Rest of Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fullback J. D. Smith, the San Francisco 49ers' top ground gainer for the past five seasons, will be out for the year.

The club made the announcement Monday, two weeks after Smith was hurt in the 49ers' 28-24 victory over Philadelphia.

23 Yearlings Sold

TORONTO (AP) — E. P. Taylor sold off 23 yearlings Monday from his Windfields Farms for a record $422,000, including a full sister to Northern Dancer which went for $100,000 to Jean-Louis Levesque of Montreal.

Birmingham Team Wins Harrier Meet

Birmingham Seaholm runners raced to their fifth title in six tries over the weekend in the All - Oakland County Cross Country meet at Walled Lake.

★ ★ ★

Scott Bradley of Seaholm posted a winning time of 10:37 over the Bogie Lake Country Club course and teammates Mike Branic and Neil Fourman finished fourth and fifth.

The Maples closed with a point total of 51. Milford ran second with 92 and Royal Oak Kimball came home third with 95.

Kimball won the reserve meet with 43 points. Seaholm finished second at 46.

Bill Hollis of Pontiac Central finished sixth in the varsity competition and the Chiefs' team wound up in eighth position.

2 Sophomores Hold Lead in Big 10 Race

CHICAGO (AP) — A pair of sophomores, Dalton Kimble of Iowa and Bob Griese of Purdue, share the Big Ten all-games football scoring lead.

Kimble, who had a one point lead over Griese last week, scored a touchdown against Washington Saturday while Griese scored a touchdown and added a conversion. Both have 24 points. Fred Custardo of Illinois is third with 19 points.

FAST BREAKER — Art Arfons beams as he sits on his jet-powered racer The Green Monster in which he set a new world land speed record yesterday going 434.02. He broke the record set by his brother Walt last Friday in the Wingfoot Express. He said his goal is 500 m.p.h. in car which is powered by an F-104 fighter plane engine.

Driver Gunning for New Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Art Arfons, who traveled faster Monday than any man before him in a land-bound car, set his sights today on going even faster.

The speed record that Arfons broke with a run of 434.02 miles an hour in his jet-powered car was set only last Friday in a car designed by his brother Walt.

★ ★ ★

Art Arfons planned to spend today rechecking his car, the Green Monster. If all is well, he intends to try for 500 m.p.h. Wednesday.

Arfons' first run Monday on the one-mile course at these Western Utah salt flats was timed at 396 m.p.h. But he turned his 17,000-horsepower car around and headed back at 479 m.p.h.

OFFICIAL AVERAGE

The average of 434.02 m.p.h. becomes the official record, topping the 413.20 m.p.h. clocked by Tom Green in Walt Arfons' car last week.

Some speed experts contend neither of the Arfons brothers' times is a true auto speed record because the wheels of jet cars are not driven directly by the engines.

★ ★ ★

The International Auto Federation in Paris recognizes as the world record 403.14 m.p.h. set last July in Australia by Donald Campbell of Great Britain in a turbine-powered car.

The U. S. Auto Club has an unlimited jet category, into which Arfons' record fits.

"I think it's absolutely impossible to run a conventional engine over 430 miles an hour or so," Arfons said. "Jets are going to put them out of business by sheer speed and power, and I don't think it will be long before the IAF recognizes jet records."

Unlike Tom Green, who said he had little feeling of speed in last week's run, Arfons said he knew he was going fast.

"I'd see something 800 yards ahead and all of a sudden it would be behind me," he said.

The 38-year-old garage owner from Akron, Ohio, said his engine is capable of "almost any speed you want to think about. I wasn't using much more than half the power."

★ ★ ★

At present, however, Arfons is looking only to hit 500 m.p.h. That's how fast the Green Monster is designed to go.

The engine, a J79 jet, is the same one used in the Air Force's F104 fighter.

Phils' Pilot Stays With 2-Year Pact

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — General Manager John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies says he and owner Bob Carpenter think Manager Gene Mauch has done a terrific job, despite the team's National League tailspin that cost them the pennant.

Quinn made the comment Monday after giving Mauch a new, two-year contract with a reported increase in salary.

The Phillies finished in a tie for second place with the Reds after blowing a 6½-game lead in the last two weeks, during which they dropped 10 games in a row.

Mauch, whose present contract had another year to run, signed the new pact in Quinn's office before leaving for the World Series in St. Louis.

Kenny Lane Kayoed

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela knocked out Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., Monday night in the second round of their lightweight fight in the Olympic Stadium before a crowd of 16,000.

Hernandez knocked Lane down twice in the first round.

Abel Picks 3 Wings for Stars

MONTREAL (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Manager-Coach Sid Abel selected three of his own players in completing the National Hockey League All Star team which will oppose Toronto Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Abel, who will coach the All Stars for the third time in the last four years, selected defenseman Bill Gadsby and centers Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman from the Red Wings.

EARLIER CHOICES

They join the first and second All Star teams selected last spring. Detroit's Gordie Howe was selected on the second team at right wing then.

Two members of the All Star team, Frank Mahovlich and Tim Horton, will play with the Stanley Cup champion Maple Leafs.

Wings' New Goalie OKs '64 Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Goalie Roger Crozier, the Detroit Red Wings' new No. 1 man in the nets, agreed to contract terms Monday.

With the team playing an exhibition series at Tulsa, Okla., with the Tulsa Oilers of the Central League, the front office of the National Hockey League club made the announcement here.

★ ★ ★

Crozier's signing completed the Red Wings' roster for the 1964-65 season.

Crozier, 22, a Canadian, is successor to the veteran Terry Sawchuk. Swachuk was drafted by the Toronto Maple Leafs from the Red Wings last summer in exchange for $20,000.

Sugar Ramos Quits Ring

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Former featherweight world champion Ultiminio (Sugar) Ramos announced Monday night he will not fight any more.

Speaking at a TV program with sports' commentator Paco Malgesto, Ramos said he has decided to retire "and try to live in peace and quiet for a change."

The former champion, who lost his title last month to Mexico's Vicente Saldivar, told Malgesto he has not yet made any definite plans, but that one thing was sure: he will not climb into a ring again.

BILL FARRAH Asks
"What Does Our Wholesaling Car Parts Mean to You?"
THE ANSWER: Quite a lot when your car needs service or repair. When you bring your car in here for service, you want it back fixed right and rolling as soon as possible.
Well, if we had to order the parts, as most dealers so often do, then wait for their delivery, that would add days to the time that you're without your car. The fact, however, that we wholesale parts to other dealers means that we always have a large, complete stock on hand. No unnecessary delay or inconvenience. In fact, we carry the largest stock of parts of any dealer in Oakland County.
Think about that the next time your car needs service . . . top flight service at the right price. Bring it in and see for yourself how much faster, better service you get here at . . .

Joe Louis Tells All

'Billy Conn Nearly Beat Me'

By JOE LOUIS

Boxers always gave me trouble and the best all around boxer I ever fought was Billy Conn. Billy was nothing more than a light heavyweight but he was fast, smart and he had courage — too much courage.

★ ★ ★

That was his biggest problem — he was too game for his own good. He was cocky, too, a real fighting Irishman. If it wasn't for that he probably would have won the title from me the night we met for the first time at the Polo Grounds, on June 18, 1941.

This was my 18th title defense. I was 27 and felt I was at my peak. I weighed 199½ for the fight against Billy's 174. But he wasn't any setup.

Billy had been the light heavyweight champ. He beat Gus Lesnevich, a real, good fighter, twice and he gave up the title to go after me.

By the time he was ready for me he had won 19 straight in nearly three years. They weren't pushovers, either. He knocked out Bob Pastor, who game me trouble. He beat Lee Savold, another good heavyweight, and had won his last four by knockouts.

Billy was 23 when he met me. He was confident and he bragged how he would beat me. But I liked Billy then and I always have. We're great buddies today.

GOOD GATE

Billy's talking made for a good gate. We drew 54,487 people and nearly a half million dollars. I was about a 3 to 1 favorite that night.

Billy told the boxing writers to grab some of those odds. He was so convincing that a lot of them did bet on him. Along about the 12th round I guess some of them were counting their money.

Billy had a good left jab, a fast right and he moved very fast. And, besides being game, he could take a punch real good.

He seemed sort of scarey in the first two rounds but I couldn't get in a solid punch. Then he started to give me trouble. He moved in on me with his left jabs and followed with fast rights that beat me to the punch. His punches didn't hurt me. They stung a little. He didn't hurt because he didn't get set for his punches. He was moving too fast.

By the end of the fifth round he was going real good and I couldn't get untracked. My trainer, Jack Blackburn, was getting mad. He said "Chappie, this boy's showing you how to take charge. Don't you know how to be the boss?"

★ ★ ★

I began to get to Billy with some left hooks and couple of good one - twos. Billy wasn't scared a bit. He mixed it up with me a couple of times. Then he went back to his hit - and-run style. I couldn't do much with him in the eighth and ninth. He was always on the move.

This made him real cocky. I think about this time his Irish got the better of him. He went after me in the 11th and 12th rounds. He hit me some pretty good shots and he was beginning to set himself to get more power in his punches.

In the 12th round, especially, he let me have it pretty good. Near the end of the round he nailed me with a left and right to the head.

The fans roared. They thought I was in real trouble. The punches hurt all right but my head was clear. That 12th was his best round.

By then he was ahead pretty good. All of the officials had him ahead (referee Eddie Joseph, 7-5; judges Bill Healy and Marty Monroe, 7-4-1 each). All he had to do was stay away from me and box and he would have won the fight. But Billy was out to get me.

REAL MAD

When I got back to my corner at the end of the 12th, Blackburn was real mad. He let me have it.

"Chappie," he said, "don't you want that title any more? You're losing the fight. You're still fighting a Billy Conn fight. Get in there and take charge or you're done."

When the bell rang for the 13th I stood up and I said "I'll knock him out in this round." I don't know what caused me to say that but that's just what I said.

When we came into the middle of the ring Billy said: "Joseph, you're in for a tough fight tonight." He didn't get that out of his mouth before I hit him. He came right back after me.

I guess he thought he had me in real bad shape in the 12th. But I really wasn't hurt as much as it probably seemed outside of the ring.

★ ★ ★

Anyway he started to slug with me. They tell me the crowd was going real wild. I don't remember that. I was just concentrating on Billy.

He was throwing punches fast. He let go with a left hook and I got him with two hard rights to the head. It shook him up. If he grabbed me then he might have been okay. But Billy wasn't grabbing. He wanted to fight. That was just fine with me.

He got in a left hook to the head and then his left dropped a little.

I shot over a right to the jaw and then I let him have it with both hands. He was hurt. He had a funny look on his face but he came back at me.

He started to throw a right but I already had one on the way. It shook him all over. I followed up with both hands and blood came from his nose and from a cut under his right eye.

DEAD GAME

Billy was dead game. He tried to move inside and I smashed him to the head with a left and right. His legs wobbled and he fell. He looked finished.

At seven he pulled himself up on his knees. His eyes were dazed but somehow his fighting spirit was making him try to get up. The count reached 10 and he didn't make it. The knockout time was two minutes, 58 seconds. Another two seconds and the round would have been over.

Even if he got up, I felt sure I would have knocked him out in the 14th. But I'll say this now, if Billy Conn wasn't so game, he would have won the title that night.

NEXT: Joe Louis thinks boxing's future is bright but needs a federal czar.

Conn Takes Count In 13th Round

Club Directors Huddle

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whether major league baseball remains in Cleveland hinged Tuesday on the outcome of a meeting of directors of the Cleveland Indians.

★ ★ ★

One director said Monday: "I'll be shocked if the outcome is that the team will be moved."

A number of cities have made offers for the franchise, including Seattle, which has made a determined bid. The team has lost money the past several years because of poor attendance.

BOTH SIDES

Some directors said Monday they understood President Gabe Paul will present the case for and against the team remaining here.

Director A. Ray Smith of Tulsa, Okla., owner of one-tenth of the franchise, won't attend.

MSU Team Pins Hopes on Defense

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State again will rely on defense against Michigan Saturday because "we can't hope to match them touchdown for touchdown," says football coach Duffy Daugherty.

★ ★ ★

In upsetting Southern California 17-7 last Saturday, the Spartans used a five-man defensive backfield.

But they will have to devise something new for next Saturday's battle to decide football supremacy in the state, Daugherty said.

KEY TO DEFENSE

He said the key to stopping Michigan, which beat Navy 21-0 last Saturday, is stopping quarterback Bob Timberlake.

Michigan has won both its games — both against service academies. Air Force was its opening day victim. Michigan State lost its opener to North Carolina and is 1-1.

★ ★ ★

Saturday's game will mark the beginning of Big Ten Conference action for both teams.

"In view of our last two games, we'll have to depend on strong defense and a strong kicking game for success this year," Daugherty said.

★ ★ ★

Hitting was to resume in practice today. Monday's drill was a light session without pads, devoted mainly to strategy.

Leafs Sign Ice Star

HOUGHTON (AP) — Former Michigan Tech hockey star Gene Rebellato has signed a pro contract with the Toronto Maples Leafs' farm club at Victoria, B.C., it was announced Monday. Rebellato, 24, is a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

'M' Begins Light Drills for Spartans

ANN ARBO R(AP)—The University of Michigan held light drills, stressing the ground game, Monday as the Wolverines began work for their encounter with Michigan State Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The squad escaped serious injury in last Saturday's 21-0 victory over Navy, Coach Bump Elliott said.

Only defensive specialist John Rowser, who was injured in practice two weeks ago, is a doubtful starter against MSU, Elliott noted.

Rowser reinjured his leg slightly last Friday and did not see service against Navy.

Linebacker Barry Dehlin, halfbacks Carl Ward and Jim Detwiler and end Steve Smith, who suffered cuts or slight muscle pulls last Saturday, were at practice Monday.

Reviewing movies of MSU's two previous games, Elliott pointed out that the Spartans have a strong defensive unit as good as the one that led the Big Ten defensively last year.

★ ★ ★

He said MSU's 17-7 victory over the second-ranked Southern California was no fluke; the Spartans dominated the game all the way.

Elliott also announced that he was tightening security precautions against potential MSU "spies."

Practice will be closed beginning Tuesday and may even be barred to press pass holders.

Jackson Harness Gets 16th Season Started

JACKSON (AP) — Gordon Fraser Jr. drove Noble Boy to victory in the Inaugural Preferred Trot as Jackson Harness Raceway opened its 16th season Monday Night.

★ ★ ★

Halle Guy and Evergreen Adios were the winners of the first two races and the daily double (3-1) returned $33.20.

A crowd of 2,547 wagered $105,136.

Famed Cat, Solon Evicted

PORTLAND, Ore., (AP) — A half-Manx tabby cat which once dined at Chicago's famous Palmer House Hotel with Adlai E. Stevenson has been evicted from a Portland apartment with its owner, Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore.

* * *

Sen. Neuberger said Monday that she had rented the apartment in advance, but when the operators saw her 11-year-old cat, Muffet, they introduced a previously unstated policy: no pets.

Sen. Neuberger moved to another apartment for her West Coast stay.

Head Volunteers for Elly in County

The appointment of Mrs. Howard Liverance of 6200 Indianwood Trail, Bloomfield Township, and Mrs. C. B. Rosenberg, 409 Ellen, Royal Oak, as county cochairmen of the Volunteers for Peterson was announced today.

* * *

The women were active in Elly Peterson's successful bid for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate.

* * *

They will be responsible for setting up the volunteer unit in Oakland County, according to Mrs. Roderick H. Spann, state chairman of the organization.

Took Years for Decision

Pat Wayne Wants to Be Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — With some sons and daughters of famous stars, an acting career is a foregone conclusion. It wasn't that way with Pat Wayne.

Pat, 25, is the son of John Wayne, still reigning as one of the last originals of a great movie era. Pat has his father's broad shoulders and square jaw, but the eyes seem Latin like his mother's. She was the first Mrs. Wayne, Josephine Saenz.

THOMAS

The boy has been acting since he was 11, his first role was in "Rio Grande" with his father. He has done a dozen films since but always during summer vacation; his pa would brook no interference with Pat's studies.

During his teen years Pat was taken up as a cause by the clamorous younger set, and he could evoke sighs and screams the same as Elvis Presley. The experience neither turned Pat's head nor convinced him that he and acting were meant for each other.

WANTED ACTING

"I didn't really decide on a career until my senior year in college," he said. "I could have gone on with medicine or biology; I had been accepted by all seven med schools I applied to. But I decided that acting was the thing I most wanted to do."

He has gone about his profession with serious intent, taking lessons in drama with Vince Chase at MGM. That didn't sit too well with the elder Wayne, who learned everything he knows in front of a camera.

"But he is from a different era in movies," Pat explained. "When he was starting out, there were a lot of eight-day pictures where you could learn your trade. You don't get that training any more, so you've got to keep working at acting between pictures."

His ambition: to be a star. Not just a successful actor but a star. He doesn't want it to come too soon, not before he's 32 or 33. That's when he figures he'll be equipped for it, as was his father.

Meanwhile he learns. He's getting some good lessons right now from Jimmy Stewart, whose elder son he plays in "Shenandoah." Pat has received a liberal education from his dad — "He's always there forcing me until I get it right." And Pat has had the best of mentors in his godfather, John Ford.

"Mr. Ford never wanted me to be an actor," said Pat. "I think he wanted me to be a priest. He was disappointed when I made my decision.

But, he added cheerfully, "I've worked for him since, in 'Cheyenne Autumn'."

AP Photofax

BIG AMBITIONS — Actor Pat Wayne, 25-year-old son of John Wayne, doesn't want to settle for anything less than Hollywood stardom. His current role places him as the son of Jimmy Stewart in the movie "Shenandoah." Pat has been acting since he was 11.

Barry's Daughter Relays Message

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Joanne Goldwater Ross relayed a message from her father, Sen. Barry Goldwater, to a Republican women's club Monday:

"He asked me to tell you not to believe in the polls," Mrs. Ross said of the Republican presidential candidate.

* * *

Mrs. Ross, in Chicago with her husband, Dr. Thomas Ross, who is attending the American College of Surgeons convention, is visiting GOP clubs and groups in Chicago and suburbs.

To Determine if Radar Can Relay Topography

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A $71,670 study contract has been awarded North American Aviation Co., Downey, Calif., to determine if radar can relay information about topography to a computer, which in turn would tell an astronaut what lay ahead on the moon.

* *

The computer study is being run by Dr. Jack Green of North American on an area of extremely rough lava in Pisgah crater near Barstow, Calif., a Manned Spacecraft Center spokesman said today.

Humphrey Treads Lightly in Talk to Religious Body

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey stepped gingerly today into a controversy over mixing politics at a Roman Catholic welfare conference.

In the full stride of campaigning for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket, the Democratic vice presidential nominee learned his scheduled appearance today before the National Conference of Catholic Charities had run into some sharp objections.

* * *

A spokesman for the St. Louis archdiocese said the senator's talk had been arranged by the Washington office of Catholic Charities but it overlooked the fact that "an election campaign is in progress and that there are Democrats who are Catholic just as there also are Republicans who are Catholics."

There were also said to be more than 160 telegrams criticizing his appearance — one urging the Catholic group to "stay in the pulpit and out of politics."

POVERTY SUBJECT

The senator, however, was not asked to cancel his talk and, after editing, the speech draft dvelt mainly on the subject of poverty.

Declaring the nation cannot afford poverty in his prepared remarks, Humphrey said: "I do not intend to demean your intelligence by rebutting the notion that poverty is simply the fault of the poor. But we should be concerned with another remarkable notion uttered recently: namely, that those of us concerned with the poor have 'manufactured' poverty by redefining the 'luxuries of yesterday as the necessities of today.'"

* * *

Such a statement, Humphrey contended, "only demonstrates the most profound misunderstanding of America — of its spirit, of its traditions, of its faith and of its compassion."

Humphrey argued that 60 years ago an automobile was a luxury. "But it is not a luxury today for a poor breadwinner to drive to work when that is the only way to reach his job," he added.

* * *

Poverty, in short, is measured by the standards of a man's own community, he said. "If most Americans are well-fed, the man who can't give his family three good meals a day is poor."

A spokesman for the national office of the charity conference said Humphrey was put on the program after the senator's office had asked that he be permitted to speak.

Episcopal Women Win in First Vote

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — A proposed change in canon law which would allow women to sit on church and mission governing boards passed by a slight majority Monday night at the annual convention of the Oregon Episcopal diocese.

It failed to receive a two-thirds vote which would have made it effective immediately, however, and so must be approved a second time at next year's convention.

Oregon is one of only seven jurisdictions in the Anglican communion which forbids women to hold such offices.

Radio Pioneer Expires

FT. ORD, Calif. (AP) — John L. Reinhartz, 70, a pioneer in the radio and electronics field who designed radio apparatus for the Byrd North Pole expedition in 1925, died Monday. Reinartz was a U.S. Navy Chaplain in World War II.

2 Challenges to Civil Rights Act Heard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court opened its new term hearing arguments on two challenges to the constitutionality of a key section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Dispensing quickly with opening day formalities Monday the high court heard four hours of debate on the two cases. Both involve the section of the law which prohibits discrimination in such public accommodations as hotels, motels and restaurants.

★ ★ ★

One case was brought by the Heart of Atlanta Motel; the other, by Ollie's Barbecue, a Birmingham, Ala., restaurant.

The court gave no indication of when it may decide the cases. It called for additional, written arguments from the two sides within 10 days.

BARRY QUESTIONS

The public accommodations sections is one of two whose constitutionality was questioned by Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater in explaining his Senate vote against the rights bill. President Johnson's administration considers passage of the law one of its prime legislative accomplishments.

Moreton Rolleston Jr., owner of the Heart of Atlanta Motel who acted as his own attorney, told the court that unless it declares the law unconstitutional, "there is no end" to how far Congress will invade personal liberties.

★ ★ ★

Rolleston challenged Congress' constitutional right to ban restaurant, hotel and motel discrimination under its powers to regulate interstate commerce.

"People are not commerce," he argued. He denounced as "hogwash" Justice Department contentions that the measure is aimed at relieving the burden on interstate commerce.

NEGROES BANNED

Justice Hugo L. Black asked Rolleston how he could say interstate commerce is not involved since Negroes can find no motel accommodations in travels through the South. The attorney replied that after the Heart of Atlanta was ordered to admit Negroes, only three went there during August.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox, arguing for the government, said Congress has the power to regulate even local activities when a burden is placed on interstate commerce.

He cited government reports on civil rights disturbances as showing they affected interstate commerce and mentioned loss of business, conventions going elsewhere and industries deciding not to move into an area.

In the Birmingham case, attorney Robert McD. Smith contended that the provision of the public accommodations section dealing with restaurants was irrational, saying it holds that foods once purchased in interstate commerce have an eventual serious effect on that commerce.

Ollie's concedes it is in violation of the law as worded but contends it is not in interstate commerce.

State Dem Appointed

LANSING (AP) — State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency said Monday he has appointed Alberto Pulido of Detroit as assistant director of the State Democratic Party.

"Bridge Writers' Choice 1964" includes hands contributed by bridge writers from all over the world.

Most of them are deadly serious, but Ewart Kempson managed to poke some fun at himself. If seems that when Ewart JACOBY played the hand in a team match, he took the first diamond trick with the ace, drew trumps, took the heart finesse and made four odd. This was all that could be made, but Ewart was not satisfied with his play of th hand.

He felt there should have been some safer way to play it. Certainly he should have ducked the first diamond. Then assuming a trump or diamond return he could draw trumps the same way, ruff out his last diamond, lead a heart to the king and finesse dummy's jack of hearts. This way he would have been sure of his contract unless East started with four hearts to the queen.

He showed the hand to Mrs. Kempson as an example of an almost perfect safety play. She looked at it awhile and said, "I would have ducked the first diamond and continued the same line of play until playing the king of hearts. Then I would have led a club toward dummy and played the jack."

Ewart points out that his wife's play would make the contract against any combination of cards once trumps broke evenly.

Gains Selective

Stock Market Nudges Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — Selected issues were prominent as the stock market nudged ahead irregularly in fairly active trading.

Speculative attention was drawn to a scattering of stocks while profits were taken on a number of recent gainers.

General Motors advanced a point even though Wall Street seemed to have exhausted most of its bullishness of yesterday based on the tentative agreement between GM and the auto union. The question remained how long the GM strike would last in view of the many local issues still to be decided.

Chrysler, down well over a point, was one of the outstanding casualties. Ford and American Motors each gained small fractions while Studebaker was unchanged.

HIGHER GAINS

A slightly higher edge prevailed among steels, airlines, farm implements and tobaccos. Building materials, rubbers and nonferrous metals were mostly lower. Rails continued to advance. Oils were generally unchanged, with Jersey Standard off a bit.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 327.8 with industrials unchanged, rails up .6 and utilities unchanged.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE

Prices were generally higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Hygrade Food was up about a point and Fanny Farmer more than that. Fractional gains were made by Atlantic Thrift Centers, D. Kaltman, Magellan Petroleum, Scurry Rainbow Oil, Silver Creek Precision. Christiana Oil and Giant Yellowknife.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Government bonds were steady.

Dixie Council Is Integrated

Tuskegee, Ala., Unit Vows Justice for All

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — "Justice and fairness to all concerned with no discrimination or favoritism" is the pledge of the first integrated City Council in Alabama in this century.

★ ★ ★

Monday night, the Rev. K. L. Buford and Dr. Stanley Hugh Smith, both Negroes, were inaugurated as city councilmen in Tuskegee, climaxing a long struggle for Negro voting rights. It was, as the new council phrased it, "a break with tradition which our taking office symbolizes."

While Negro voters outnumber their white counterparts in Tuskegee, three of the five members of the City Council—and the mayor of this community of 7,200 — are white. They were elected with the support of the Negro community, which voted against members of its own race to elect them.

TOOK OFFICE

The others, Councilmen L. M. Gregg, John L. Sides and James Allen Parker and Mayor Charles M. Keever, also took office Monday night.

Gregg and Sides were reelected in the municipal elections Aug. 11. Keever and the two Negro councilmen were elected in a runoff Sept. 15.

★ ★ ★

One of the first acts of the new governing body of Tuskegee was adoption of a statement of intent. In it, the new council promised to "work for a community composed of citizens whose hearts are united in brotherly love and will pursue the common goal of making Tuskegee a better place in which to live.

"There are problems which face us," admitted the statement. "These we shall meet honestly and forthrightly. Our diffrences will be solved with logic and with reason, and with such wisdom as the Almighty shall give us."

Soybeans Decline After Higher Start

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures opened higher and then declined in moderately active transactions today on the Board of Trade. Wheat was mostly steady and the feed grains slightly weaker.

About an hour after the opening soybeans were unchanged to ⅞ cent a bushel lower, November $2.77; wheat unchanged to ⅛ higher, December new grade $1.48¾; corn ¼ to ⅜ lower, December $1.21¾; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 66½ cents and rye ⅛ to ¾ lower, December $1.27⅜.

Business Notes

R. H. Jansa, 15300 James, Oak Park, vice president and general manager of Perkins Engines, Inc., diesel engine manufacturer based in Wixom, will address a conference of trucking industry leaders in Chicago Thursday.

More than 450 truck fleet operators are expected to attend the meeting. Jansa will report on lightweight diesels designed for pickup trucks, delivery vans, taxicabs and other small vehicles.

Major Provisions in GM Contract

Following is a summary of the major provisions of the national contract tentatively agreed to yesterday by General Motors and the United Auto Workers.

The provisions, according to GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton, are:

RETIREMENT BENEFITS

Substantially increased retirement benefits for current employes and for those already retired, including:

1. An increase from $2.80 to $4.25 per month per year of credited service for normal retirement of current employes.

2. An increase in pension benefits of $1.45 per month per year of credited service for employes already retired.

3. Greatly increased benefits in case of early retirement or retirement because of disability up to $400 a month payable to age 65.

4. Provision for retirement as early as age 55.

5. A new widow's benefit providing a monthly income for her lifetime in the event of the employe's death before retirement and increased benefits for the widow in case of death after retirement.

WAGE INCREASES

1. An improvement factor wage increase of 2½ per cent or 6 cents an hour, whichever is greater, on September 6, 1965, and a second increase, effective September 5, 1966, of 2.8 per cent or 7 cents an hour, whichever is greater.

2. An additional wage increase of two cents an hour effective September 5, 1966.

3. Transfer of 9 cents of the current 14-cent an hour cost-of-living allowance to the employe's wage rate, effective October 1, 1964. The remaining five cents is continued and subject to adjustment.

SPECIAL EMPLOYE FUND

General Motors will establish a special account for the amounts, if any, that it is not obligated to contribute to the SUB Fund when it is at maximum funding. Starting in 1965, eligible employes will receive payments ranging from a minimum of $25 to a maximum of $100 if sufficient funds are available in this special account. The payments will be made on the last day before Dec. 25.

If the total amount in the special account is not sufficient to pay eligible employes this minimum of $25, the total amount in the special account will be carried over to the next year. If the money in the account is more than sufficient to pay each eligible employe the $100 maximum, such extra amounts that are available will be carried over.

RELIEF TIME

The amount of relief time for employes in automobile manufacturing plants on operations on which the employes' manual operations are continuous and which cannot be left unattended, and on which the employes receive 24 minutes per eight-hour shift by the tag relief system is increased to 36 minutes per eight-hour shift.

VACATION PAY ALLOWANCE

An additional week of paid absence allowance for all employes with one or more years' seniority which the employe may use as time off in amounts and under stated conditions.

TWO ADDITIONAL PAID HOLIDAYS

The equivalent of two additional holidays is provided, bringing the total paid holidays to nine. Good Friday is added as a paid holiday and the present half holidays, Dec. 24 (Christmas Eve) and December 31 (New Year's Eve) become full holidays.

IMPROVED LIFE, SICKNESS AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE

1. Commencing with contributions due in Oct., 1964, General Motors will pay the full cost of group life insurance and sickness and accident benefits for employes while actively at work, while receiving GM sickness and accident benefits, and during the first full month following layoff or leave.

2. A new survivor income benefit providing income to survivors equal to $100 a month for 24 months is provided in addition to an employe's regular GM group life insurance. After these 24 monthly payments, if the employe's widow is age 50 or over at the employe's death, she will receive a monthly benefit of $100 until age 62 while otherwise eligible.

3. The maximum duration of sickness and accident benefits is increased from 26 to 52 weeks.

IMPROVED SUB AND SEPARATION PAYMENTS

The maximum weekly Benefit is increased from a flat $40 to $50 plus $1.50 for each dependent up to a maximum of four. Benefit for scheduled short work weeks is increased from 65 per cent of pay to 75 per cent.

Separation payments paid under the SUB plan would be increased approximately 40 per cent at all levels.

FULLY PAID MEDICAL INSURANCE FOR RETIREES

General Motors will assume the full cost of hospital-surgical-medical coverages for retired employes and their eligible dependents. Retirees currently pay half the cost of this coverage. Present retirees are given an opportunity to enroll or to change their coverage.

WAGE ADJUSTMENTS

Wage differentials at certain plants will be negotiated in Detroit between the Corporation and the International Union within the next six months. The adjustments will equal 2½ cents an hour and are to be effective Sept. 7, 1964.

BEREAVEMENT PAY

The Corporation will compensate any eligible employe who is excused from his normally scheduled days of work for up to the first three calendar days following a death in his immediate family.

SEVEN-DAY OPERATIONS PAY INCREASED

The 5 cents an hour bonus paid to employes on 7-day continuous operations is increased to 10 cents. In addition, time and one-quarter will be paid for the first eight hours worked on any shift which starts on Sunday and are not otherwise payable on an overtime basis. Double time and one-quarter will be paid for work on any shift which starts on a designated holiday when holiday pay is not payable.

TUITION REFUND PROGRAM

For any employe in active service who desires to further his education through spare time classes, the Corporation will refund the tuition (up to $250 a year) upon satisfactory completion of approved job related training courses in local colleges, high schools or approved trade schools.

JURY DUTY PAY

The jury duty allowance paid by General Motors will be increased to an amount equal to the difference between an employe's daily straight-time pay and the amount of jury duty fee paid to the employe by the court.

APPRENTICE TUITION

GM will pay the full cost of registration fees and tuition for required related training for indentured apprentices. Payments previously were limited to $400.

Blue Shield to Instruct Area Medical Aides

Michigan Blue Shield will conduct a seminar for medical assistants Thursday at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

Doctors assistants in the Oakland County area will be instructed in the latest claim reporting procedures by Helen Schick, Blue Shield educational coordinator.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "About six months ago, I put about $8,500 into an account with a brokerage firm. Acting on the broker's recommendation, I traded several times during the period in speculative issues, losing about $500. I have now decided to invest in stocks with a growth potential, such as Dow Chemical, Corn Products, Scott Paper, and RCA. Would you advise buying these stocks and should I open a margin account?" N.A.

A. My first advice to you is to change your broker. Your account appears to have been "churned" to some extent — and in the wrong sort of stocks.

I would not open a margin account but would buy and own outright the type of stocks you mention.

Dow Chemical, Scott Paper, and RCA are excellent purchases for you. At the moment, I would hold but not buy Corn Products, where growth has slowed down temporarily. In its place, I suggest General Foods, leader in the packaged foods field.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I am confused about over - the - counter buy and sell orders. When you buy at the ask price and sell at the bid price, will there be any additional charge for commissions? I was led to believe that the difference in price between the two would take care of commissions on both transactions." A.C.

A. You are generally right in your belief.

The usual over - the - counter trade is conducted by a dealer, acting as Principal. He sells to you at a net price and buys from you also at a net price without commissions. He makes his profit somewhere in between and is not obliged to disclose this figure on your statement.

There are, however, some stock exchange firms and unlisted dealers that buy and sell for you as an Agent. When they do so, they show on the statement the price paid or received on your shares and add the customary stock exchange commissions.

Membership Drive Extended by YMCA

The YMCA has extended its 1964 membership campaign in an effort to secure more new members, according to Theron Slosson, general secretary.

★ ★ ★

A goal of 150 new members had been set Sept. 22. On Oct. 5 the club had recorded 108 new members.

Persons interested in an adult membership should call the YMCA office.

Ex-Service Head in Area Named to Jackson Post

Charles W. Sayre, former director of audiovisual services for Waterford Township Schools, has been named director of adult education and community services for the Jackson Public Schools.

Sayre took a leave of absence from the Waterford school system a year ago for an administrative internship in the Flint adult education program.

Winner of the 1963 Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce outstanding young man award, Sayre served as chairman of a committee two years ago that studied the feasibility of incorporating Waterford as a city.

Apartment Ransacked

5 Are Held in Break-In

Five Pontiac youths are being held at Oakland County Jail for investigation in the ransacking of a Pontiac Township motel apartment at 3 a.m. today.

The five are David W. Rehm, 21, 700 Emerson; Harold Grant, 19, 660 Balboa; Michael S. Haase, 20, 181 S. Marshall; Dennis R. O'Berry, 19, 199 East Blvd.; and Joyce Thorne, 18, 188 Chicago.

The apartment, located at 2062 Commonwealth, was torn up, tables were broken, glasses smashed on the floor and food strewn throughout the rooms, deputies said.

Officers said entry was gained by breaking down the front door. Apartment tenant Donald C. Benway had been beaten by the intruders.

★ ★ ★

The five were apprehended for questioning by Pontiac police upon request of deputies.

A package of link sausage from the apartment was found in their car.

Bus Pact Up for OK

A 90-day bus agreement will be up for approval at tonight's City Commission meeting.

The agreement, which would provide regular bus service in Pontiac through Dec. 31, is with Pontiac Transit Co.

The city has granted three 30-day extensions to the contract for bus service since the agreement expired at the end of June.

Street lighting on M59 construction will also be discussed at the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

★ ★ ★

In other business, a contract for demolition in portions of the two urban renewal projects will be up for commission okay.

Child Victim of Attack by Three Dogs

MIDDLETON, Mass. (UPI)— A 2-year-old girl was in fair condition today after being bitten, clawed and tossed around by three boxer dogs in the front yard of a neighbor's home.

Officials at Hunt Hospital in Danvers said little Cynthia Mandalka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mendalka Jr. suffered bites on her body, head and neck. The attack took place yesterday.

All of her clothing, except a sneaker, had been torn off by the dogs.

A neighbor, Mrs. Paige Campbell, heard the noise and drove off the dogs with a broom.

★ ★ ★

The child's mother Patricia, 26, said when she came out of the house "The dogs were tossing her (Cynthia) up in the air like a ball. She was covered with blood and her chest had been ripped open."

EMERGENCY SURGERY

The girl underwent more than five hours of emergency surgery.

John Mendalka, the father, said it was the second time in two weeks one of his four children had been bitten by the dogs. His 5-year-old son John was bitten on the hand and was given a tetanus shot, he said.

Police Chief James Wengworth said he could find no immediate cause for the attack. The dogs were rounded up and confined at a kennel.

The United Nations Children's Fund reports that it sold 32 million greeting cards around the world and cleared an estimated $1.9 million on them in 1963.

Stroke in Italy Kills Ex-Head of Gibson

GREENVILLE (AP) — Charles J. Gibson Sr., 74, retired president of Gibson Refrigerator Corp. here, died Monday after a stroke while on vacation in Montecatini, Italy.

★

He had been traveling with his wife, Wanda, and their son, Charles Jr. The body will be returned here for burial as was that of another son, Albert, who died on a trip to Italy several years ago.

The elder Gibson stepped down in the mid-1950s as president of Gibson Refrigerator, founded by his father in 1877.

Court Agrees on Dismissal of Libel Suit

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Supreme Court Monday upheld dismissal of a libel suit against The Detroit News—reaffirming the "wide latitude of writers and speakers in expressing opinions in regard to one who becomes a candidate for public office."

A unanimous opinion written by Justice Harry Kelly upheld dismissal of a suit filed by Robert Robbins, a Republican Congressional candidate in the 17th District in 1960. He was defeated by incumbent John Dingell.

★ ★ ★

The News, on its editorial page, had described Robbins as "a Republican who represents the thinking of the ultra old guard group which complains that President Eisenhower has made socialism respectable."

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph Moynihan granted the News' motion to dismiss.

WIDE LATITUDE

"The wide latitude given a writer or speaker in expressing opinions in regard to one who becomes a candidate for public office has been recognized in this state for many years," Kelly said.

★ ★ ★

He cited an earlier case which said the law will protect the expression of such opinions, "provided that in their statements of or reference to the facts upon which their criticisms are based, they observe an honest regard for the truth."

Unmanned Satellite Launched by Soviets

MOSCOW (AP — Another unmanned Soviet earth satellite, Cosmos 47, has been launched, Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported today.

Warren Commission Report Answers Rumors

JFK Said Easy Target for Marksman Like Oswald

(Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of special articles dealing with rumors about President John F. Kennedy's assassination and how the Warren Commission dealt with them.)

★ ★ ★

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, many Americans questioned whether an oddball like Lee Harvey Oswald was sufficiently skilled with a rifle to have done the ghastly job.

There were rumors he could not have possibly fired three shots with such accuracy in a space of a few seconds; that a second rifle was found on the roof of the Texas School Book Depository Building from which the lethal gunfire came.

Most of these rumors started before the public knew much about Oswald. The Warren Commission report, however, has answered most of the rumors about the killer, his marksmanship and his weapons.

Numerous experts on weapons, ammunition, ballistics and marksmanship, plus extensive tests of the murder rifle with duplicate ammunition and Oswald's record in the U.S. Marine Corps, produced this answer:

From the standpoint of a trained shooter which Oswald was, the two shots (a third missed) that killed Kennedy and wounded Gov. John Connally of Texas were "easy," to use a word from the expert testimony. The President's open car was moving at 11.2 miles per hour, going away in a straight line from the assassin's station on the sixth floor of the building.

★ ★ ★

By scientific examination and timing of amateur movie film made of the incident, it was determined that Kennedy was 265.3 feet from the rifle when the second shot hit his head.

FROM REPORT

The facts of the matter as developed by the commission:

The assassination weapon was a 6.5 millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano Italian military rifle model 91-38, rebarreled from its original caliber of 7.35 millimeters.

The American gun market after World War II was flooded with weapons of this type. For the most part, they are shoddy and somewhat beat up, hence the rebarreling job in this case.

Ordering under the alias of A. Hidell, an alias he used frequently, Oswald purchased the gun by mail from Klein's Sporting Goods Co. of Chicago, paying $21.45 and ordered it shipped to a Dallas post office box which he rented in his own name.

★ ★ ★

The total charge included $19.95 for the rifle and a cheap four-power telescopic sight, plus $1.50 for shipping and handling. Without the scope, the weapon cost $12.78. (A new American-made rifle of comparable caliber would cost from $50 to $100 with another $25 to $40 for the scope.)

BOUGHT REVOLVER

In the same general period, early 1963, Oswald also bought by mail a .38 special Smith & Wesson victory model revolver from Seaport Traders, Inc., of Los Angeles, for $29.95. This was the weapon with which he killed Dallas police officer J. D. Tippit who tried to arrest him in a suburb shortly after the Kennedy assassination.

Oswald put four revolver bullets in Tippit during the attempted arrest.

As for his skill with a rifle, the commission pointed out at some length that Oswald spent nearly three years in the Marines. Training with the M-1 rifle at San Diego in December, 1956, the young Marine fired a score of 212 — two points over the score necessary for qualification as a sharpshooter.

★ ★ ★

The Marines rate their riflemen in three grades — marksman, sharpshooter and expert.

SCORE DROPPED

Three years later, shortly before Oswald left the Marines on a dependency discharge, his firing score had dropped somewhat. Nevertheless, in those nearly three years, he was drilled constantly in handling of weapons.

Despite many rumors to the contrary, the commission could find no conclusive evidence that Oswald had been practicing on a nearby range shortly before the Kennedy trip to Dallas. His wife, Marina, however, said he did practice operating the rifle's bolt action.

On the question of ability, expert witnesses also pointed out that use of the scope was a substantial aid in rapid, accurate firing.

Also, there was physical evidence that Oswald rested the rifle on some packing cases stacked by the window of the book depository, giving the rifle a much more solid base than if he had attempted an off-hand, stand-up shot.

★ ★ ★

The commission dealt with a rumor that Oswald could not have fired three shots from the Mannlicher-Carcano in 5½ seconds:

"According to expert witnesses, exacting tests conducted for the commission demonstrated that it was possible to fire three shots from the rifle within 5½ seconds. It should be noted that the first loaded shell was already in the chamber ready for firing; Oswald had only to pull the trigger to fire the first shot and to work the bolt twice in order to fire the second and third shots.

7 SECONDS

"They testified that if the second shot missed, Oswald had between 4.8 and 5.6 seconds to fire the three shots. If either the first or third shot missed, Oswald had in excess of seven seconds to fire the three shots."

Army experts took the Oswald gun and others like it onto test ranges and determined that with swift, efficient handling, it took 2.3 seconds between shots to operate the bolt. These tests proved that with a shell already in the chamber, Oswald should have had no difficulty in getting off three slugs in 5½ seconds.

The commission did not set the 5½ second figure. Its conclusion was that the three shots took between 4.8 and 7 seconds.

There was some confusion shortly after the assassination about the type of weapon found on the sixth floor of the depository building. A deputy constable who discovered the rifle after Oswald fled identified it as a 7.65 Mauser, a German bolt-action weapon.

DIDN'T PICK UP

The constable, Seymour Weitzman, did not pick up the rifle to examine it at close range because he did not want to interfere with fingerprint experts on the way to the scene.

His mistake was quite understandable since it would take someone quite familiar with foreign rifles to tell at a glance the difference between a Mauser 7.65 and a Mannlicher-Carcano 6.5. In any case, Dallas Police laboratory experts were on hand shortly and correctly identified the rifle.

Although accurately labeled within a short time, the Mauser version was made public quickly and repeated by other law enforcement officials before the gun was checked out by experts. Then came the announcement that the gun in truth was a Mannlicher-Carcano.

And then, too, came rumors that two weapons were involved. The second weapon was reported variously to have been found on either the roof of the building or an adjacent overpass.

NO OTHER RIFLE

"No second rifle was found in either of these places or in any other place," the commission said. "The shots that struck President Kennedy and Governor Connally came from the rifle found on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository."

'Big Duke' Licks Illness Like Indians

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I don't know what the hell I had, but the doc said whatever it was I licked it."

Big John Wayne was talking from his bed at Good Samaritan Hospital. He delivered the line Monday in the same matter-of-fact way that millions of movie fans have heard him speak on the screen just after putting down an Indian uprising at Ft. Apache.

Wayne, sitting up in bed, devoured a bowl of soup, a couple of pork chops and a salad, plus dessert.

"The only trouble we have with this patient is getting him to eat," quipped his nurse.

'GET ME A GUN'

"I had a rough 10 days in the intensive care unit," said Big Duke. "They kept bringing in all those cardiac cases beside me. Finally, I told them to get me a gun — I was ready to shoot my way out."

Duke was moved to another floor quick. He may get out of the hospital this week.

★ ★ ★

"I had two operations in five days. That was the rough part.

"First they took that thing from my lung. Then I got to coughing later, coughed so damn hard that I busted a tissue. So they had to open me up again."

LUNG ABSCESS

His son, Michael, described "that thing" as an abscess of the lung.

Pilar, Duke's pretty wife, said her husband suffered edema — an abnormal amount of fluid in the lungs.

★ ★ ★

"He swelled out so much," said Mrs. Wayne, "that he looked more like Sidney Greenstreet than Duke."

The big boy says he is OK now.

Eye-Opening Test

LINCOLN, England (UPI) — Police stopped 500 motorists for roadside vision tests and found 27 could not read a car license plate 25 yards away. One man who had forgotten his glasses was driven home.

Robber Calls Taxi, Gets a Ride to Jail

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — A silver-haired robbery suspect who refused to identify himself to police was captured early yesterday when he called a cab but got a cop.

Alerted by a suspicious taxi cab dispatcher, Police Capt. Ed Hicks and officers Roy White and Curtis Frank caught the suspect shortly after he held up a J. C. Penney Co. store and telephoned for a taxi to make his getaway.

Bobby, Father of 8, Talks of Population

NEW YORK (AP) — A student at Columbia University asked Robert F. Kennedy last night what he plans to do about the population explosion if he is elected to the U.S. Senate.

Kennedy replied that he did not know if he was the right person to answer the question.

★ ★ ★

His wife, expecting their ninth child, joined the laughter.

Kennedy, Democratic candidate for the Senate then answered the question seriously. He said it's a personal matter in the United States, but critical and demanding of a solution in certain other countries.

Mae West in Hospital Again for Exhaustion

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mae West is back in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, apparently still suffering from exhaustion.

The 69-year-old actress entered the hospital last month. At that time, the hospital said she was suffering from exhaustion. She was discharged last Wednesday but returned to the hospital three days later.

Singer Gets Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Frankie Laine, 54, was reported in good condition after prostate surgery yesterday at Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

2 Complainers Not GM Men, Say Firm, Union

LANSING (AP)—Two of four Lansing men who said the United Auto Workers union offered them only unfavorable picket line hours because they wore Goldwater buttons are not UAW members, the union said Monday.

Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corp. said the two, Richard S. Glasco Jr. and Richard Jackson, also are not Oldsmobile employes, although Jackson had been until May, 1963.

Ellis G. Geyer complained to Republican State Central Committee headquarters last week that the Goldwater supporters were told only 2 to 6 a.m. picket line duty was available at a strike-bound Oldsmobile plant.

Geyer, who is an Oldsmobile employe and UAW member, said Monday that Glasco and Jackson "were just with us, that's all."

The fourth man, Vance Brokaw, also an Oldsmobile employe and UAW member, had signed up for picket duty, Geyer said.

At the time of the original complaint, UAW 652 President Roy F. Rammacher denied there was discrimination. He said picket line duty is assigned on a first come, first served basis.

Romney Raps Road Death Apathy

OK Record Budget for Oakland County

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a record budget of $17,218,878 for 1965.

The final figure, determined after considerable revision by the Ways and Means and Salaries committees and the Board of Auditors, is $1,183,852 higher than the budget for the current year.

This is the 17th consecutive year the county budget has been higher than the previous year.

The annual estimate of receipts and expenditures was presented to the board by David Levinson of Birmingham, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

It was adopted unanimously without discussion after an advertised public hearing held in accordance with a new Michigan statute.

NO QUESTIONS

No one appeared at the hearing to question the final tabulation.

The bulk of the county's operating funds — $12,143,678— will come from an allocated millage of 5.26 on a state equalized valuation of $2,308,-684,200, the second highest in the state.

The remainder will come from estimated receipts (fees, federal and state subsidy, etc.) of $5,025,200 and an estimated $50,-000 balance at the end of the current year.

More than half (54.07 per cent) of the anticipated expenditures will be used for health, welfare and health conservation, which will take a total of $9,-310,923, including staff salaries.

SALARIES UP

A total of $7,426,112 was allocated for salaries, an increase of 5.5 per cent over this year's salaries appropriation.

Major factors contributing to the increase are 60 new positions, bringing the county staff to a total of 1,837 employes, and a $100 across-the-board increase for present employes.

Departmental requests for additional employes totaled 108, compared to 52 in 1964. Of the 60 new positions granted, 51 will

UAW, GM Try to Settle Issues at Local Level

Both Sides Express Hope Pact Can Be Completed in Week

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers union strived anew today to settle 117 remaining local level working agreements and end a strike against the auto maker.

The local agreements supplement the national contract on which the UAW and GM agreed yesterday.

See Story, Page 24

Hope was expressed on both sides everything could be wrapped up in a week, but neither predicted it would be.

Final settlement would send back to their jobs 280,000 of General Motors' 350,000 UAW-represented workers who were called out on strike 12 days ago to support the union's national-level demands. They remain out to back up at-the-plant union goals.

★ ★ ★

President Lyndon B. Johnson said in Washington last night he was pleased that GM and the UAW have settled nationally and also was pleased with previous announcements by the Big Three auto makers — GM, Ford and Chrysler—they planned generally to maintain 1964 prices for 1965 models.

CAUTIONS OTHERS

At the same time the President cautioned others against following what he called a generous settlement by an industry which has been racking up record profits for the last year and a half.

GM made $1.1 billion in this year's first half, compared with $1.59 billion in all of 1963 —the largest profit ever made by a manufacturing corporation.

Ford and Chrysler also set records last year and topped first half performances with $3.24 million and $1.14 million, respectively, in 1964's first six months.

Chrysler and Ford reached virtual parallel agreements with the UAW ahead of General Motors, and UAW President Walter P. Reuther estimated they were worth 54 cents hourly over their three-year lives.

'Must Arouse Residents to End Slaughter'

Governor Addresses Pontiac Meeting of Traffic Safety Confab

Gov. George Romney said yesterday that unless the people of Michigan become aroused at the current slaughter on state highways, the work by the Governor's Special Commission on Traffic Safety will have been to no avail.

The Governor made the remarks before nearly 200 persons at the Regional Traffic Safety Conference at Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave.

The purpose of the meeting was to present to the public the findings of the commission. This was the first of eight such meetings to be held throughout the state.

Romney said the biggest problem the state is facing in traffic safety is the lack of adequate citizen interest to stimulate public programs and to prompt public funds for these programs.

★ ★ ★

The Governor said that steps have been taken in the past year to stop the mounting traffic toll. He added that the 29 major recommendations by the commission were also aimed to stem the tide.

INTEREST NEEDED

"But we must stimulate enough interest by the time the legislature convenes in 1965 to make a massive attack on the problem," he said.

Romney listed three areas not mentioned in the commission report which he felt had to be implemented for a good safety program.

He said the public must take a greater interest in traffic safety by setting good examples in driving and walking, and by assisting local officials in strong safety programs.

★ ★ ★

Local officials interested in safety programs was the second need cited by Romney.

VOLUNTARY HELP

Finally, the Governor said that voluntary compliance with the laws must be increased.

"We can curb this rise (in traffic injuries) and reverse it substantially," he said.

Following Romney's address, Secretary of State James Hare reported to the group on research being done in the area of the 16-20-year-old drivers.

★ ★ ★

Hare said study has found three interesting correlations concerning youthful offenders.

PARENT EXAMPLE

First, in most cases the young chronic violator usually has one parent who is a chronic violator also, he said.

Hare added that there are some indications that the amount of discipline adminis-

Canada Trip Under Way for Queen

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (AP) — The royal yacht Britannia cruised slowly toward Prince Edward Island's capital today, bringing Queen Elizabeth II for a crowded program of public appearances at the start of her controversial Canadian tour.

★ ★ ★

The Britannia was to dock in Charlottetown harbor shortly before noon after a trip from Summerside, 45 miles away. The queen arrived by jet plane Monday at the Summerside Royal Canadian Air Force base for her fourth visit to Canada.

She was welcomed by Governor-General Georges Vanier and Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, but guests at the brief air base ceremonies were by invitation only and consisted mainly of local dignitaries, air force personnel and their families.

Although the queen was probably not aware of it, the base was sealed off by tight security checks. All newsmen entering the gates had to show credentials and were stopped by security officers inside.

★ ★ ★

LINE STREETS

Crowds lined the streets of Summerside as the queen and her husband, Prince Philip, drove in a closed limousine to board the Brittania. At the dock mounted police guards in khaki coveralls patrolled in the background, with a police dog on a tight chain.

Authorities are primarily concerned over the Quebec segment of the queen's visit, which will follow her stay in this city of 20,000. But they were taking no chnaces even in this friendly maritime province.

Extra measures are being taken in Quebec because of threats of violence from French-speaking advocates of independence for Quebec.

★ ★ ★

The queen's program included a 19-minute drive through downtown Charlottetown. For security reasons the authorities ruled out an open car.

OUTDOOR CEREMONY

Her chief public appearance was to be at an outdoor ceremony opening the $5.6-million Fathers of Confederation memorial buildings. The complex, which includes a cultural center, was built to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the first conference that laid the groundwork for the Confederation of Canada.

Russia Says Four Attaches Were Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today accused three U. S. military attaches and a British attache of espionage in Siberia, but the American Embassy rejected the charge.

The Soviet accusation "was not responsive to our serious protests against the violations of diplomatic immunity" of the attaches, the U. S. Embassy said, referring to an earlier protest that property of the attaches was seized.

Earlier Story, Page 7

The Foreign Ministry said it rejected the American and British protests.

The Soviet protest said more than 900 pictures, material in 26 notebooks and other materials showed that the attaches were "grossly violating the universally accepted standards of conduct of foreign diplomats."

To Ask Pontiac Area Firms for Two-Thirds of UF Goal

Pontiac area industrial firms will be asked to meet more than two-thirds of the Pontiac Area United Fund 1964 Campaign goal, Charles F. Brown, industrial division chairman, announced today.

Brown said that of the $815,500 sought in this year's drive, local industry would be asked to raise $546,500.

The fund drive will run Oct. 3 - Nov. 6. This year's industrial goal, Brown pointed out, is five per cent higher than last year's target.

"I know that with the fine leadership we have in the industrial division, we will again surpass our goal this year," Brown noted.

"All early planning and organizational work has been carefully carried out, and I am sure this will result in success."

★ ★ ★

Brown, who is Pontiac division manager of the Consumers Power Company, said the following chairmen have been named to assist him and will head the campaigns in their respective companies.

NAMES CHAIRMEN

Owen O'Neill, GMC Truck and Coach Division; William A. Beggs, Jig Bushing Co.; Robert F. Anderson, Pontiac Varnish co.; Ted Pearson Jr., Universal Oil Seal Co.; Henry F. Stack, Fisher Body Plant; Richard B. Gould, Pontiac Motor Division; and Philip A. Hartrick, Consumers Power Company.

Brown pointed out that in addition to the major industrial firms, there are 67 small industries represented in the goal total. Mark Blackman, assistant division manager, Consumers Power Co., heads this group.

Bruce J. Annett, of Annett Realty, Inc., is general chairman of this year's drive.

Less Cost, More Know-How

McNamara Predicts N-Spread

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said there is no question but that "tens of nations" could have nuclear weapons and the means of delivering them in another 10 or 20 years.

★ ★ ★

This grim prospect will result, he said, from an expected dramatic drop in the cost of making warheads and the spread of advanced, simpler nuclear technology throughout the world.

The proliferation of nuclear weapons "is one of the great dangers that we face and must continue to act to reduce and prevent," McNamara said in a wide ranging exposition of views which also covered the draft, "hot pursuit" in Viet Nam, the Republicans, and presidential control of atomic weapons.

His views were expressed in a recorded interview with reporter Irving Kupcinet. It was televised by a Chicago station (WBKB-TV) on a midnight show over the weekend.

The Pentagon provided a transcript on request.

COST WOULD FALL

McNamara said the cost of nuclear warheads today ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000 each, but would "fall dramatically" in the years ahead.

This would enable other nations to develop and produce weapons.

"You can imagine the danger that the world would face if 10, 20 or 30 nations possessed nuclear warheads instead of the four that possess them today," McNamara said.

★ ★ ★

". . . Without question it will be possible for tens of nations to possess such weapons 10 or 20 years from now."

'Ringo, Have Your Tonsils Out'

LONDON (AP)—British nurses appealed today to Beatle Ringo Starr to have his tonsils out. Otherwise, they said, children may balk at losing theirs.

The appeal came from London's Whittington Hospital, where Beatle therapy is part of the regular treatment in the children's wing.

Huge pictures of the Furious Four have been painted on walls and ceiling of the children's wards and in the operating theater.

"They soothe the kids," a nurse said.

"Doctors tell the children to point out their favorite Beatle while they are giving injections. It really does help calm them.

"It can be a terrifying experience for children to be wheeled into an anesthetic room full of unfamiliar masked figures and frightening instruments.

"But most children know and love the Beatles, and the pictures help reassure them."

Ringo came back from the group's last American tour saying he had tonsillitis and would undergo surgery. Now he says he is having second thoughts because to remove his tonsils might remove the distinctive croak from his voice.

"We can see the trouble ahead," said the nurse. "Ringo says he won't have his tonsils out and the children might want to copy him."

House Arrest for Tshombe Near Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe was kept under virtual house arrest today while the conference of nonaligned nations decided whether to admit him.

After arriving before dawn, Tshombe and several members of his party were whisked to walled Aruba Palace in suburban Heliopolis. A cordon of police was thrown around the structure.

Tshombe was visited this morning by Mohamed Faik, director of African affairs in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's office.

Faik told Tshombe he would not be permitted to leave the palace, except to leave the country, before the conference reached a decision.

★ ★ ★

Tshombe's doctor said a report that Tshombe's health papers were not in order and he might have to stay under quarantine was ridiculous.

TRY TO DISCOURAGE

A majority of the conference members, over some opposition, first tried to dicourage Tshombe from coming by asking Congo President Joseph Kasavubu to come in his place.

When Tshombe persisted, Cairo Airport early Monday refused his charter jet permission to land and shunted it on to Athens.

But at 3 a.m. today, followed by an entourage of 20 persons, Tshombe stepped jauntily off a scheduled Ethiopian Airlines flight from Athens and into a scene of embarrassed confusion at the airport in suburban Heliopolis.

Security officers ushered him into a lounge and called Cairo for instructions.

Ike Gets Caught in Middle on N-Arms Control Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was in the middle today — between Democrats and Republicans, each claiming he was on their side in a dispute over nuclear- weapons control.

★ ★ ★

It began Monday when the GOP unveiled a task-force report claiming President Johnson had overextended his control of field-type nuclear weapons. This, the GOP group contended, has damaged U.S. security.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower appeared at a New York news conference, but wouldn't endorse or reject the report.

★ ★ ★

He deplored the injection of the nuclear-weapons issue into the presidential campaign and added: "I don't think these are things that ought to be talked out in detail . . . I don't think we should reach conclusions telling the President what he should do or what he should say."

NOT BEST INTEREST

The White House promptly released a statement declaring that President Johnson agreed with Eisenhower that "it is not in the best interest of the country to take our defense plans and make them public."

★ ★ ★

Dean Burch, Republican national chairman, said Johnson's comment was "a patent attempt to get off the hook of an issue which is embarrassing him and his administration because the American people realize the Democrats have used the question of nuclear weapons to strike fear and horror into their hearts."

★ ★ ★

Burch has complained in the past about Democratic campaign material he charged was designed to frighten people into believing Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, was trigger-happy and might bring on a nuclear war.

Although he hasn't mentioned it since he began formal campaigning for the White House, Goldwater proposed last Oct. 24 in Hartford, Conn., that the NATO commander be given more authority over the use of tactical nuclear weapons.

REPEATED PLAN

He repeated the proposal in a campaign position paper during his primary race for the nomination and in speeches June 30 and Aug. 24.

Johnson has contended that only the president should have the final say on use of any nuclear weapon.

★ ★ ★

Burch praised Eisenhower for saying nuclear weapons should not be an issue in the political campaign, adding, "but, as the general said in New York, it is."

The task - force report was read in Eisenhower's presence. It called on Johnson to assure the United States' NATO allies that the American NATO com- could use tactical nu- apons in an extreme cy, and to assure Americans that the controls wouldn't impair U.S. ability to respond to a nuclear attack.

★ ★ ★

Asked about the report, Eisenhower said, "I'm not in the position of agreeing or disagreeing with any particular point."

Later, Eisenhower was overheard to say to its principal author, Neil H. McElroy, his own former defense secretary: "I didn't know what to tell them."

Say Student Fired Back at the Reds

BERLIN (AP) — Ten West Berlin students dug the tunnel by which 57 East Berliners escaped beneath the Red wall over the weekend, and one student exchanged shots with Communist border guards, reliable informants said today.

★ ★ ★

The shooting developed in the final phase of the operation Sunday night at an East Berlin apartment house that was on the escape route.

Motorized Red squads, evidently summoned by a dweller in the apartment house, closed in unexpectedly and opened up with submachine guns. A student who had armed himself with a revolver in fear of just such a contingency, fired back.

★ ★ ★

The youth heard someone moan as he got away. He was the rear guard of a group of four.

PROPAGANDA DRIVE

Communist authorities in the Soviet sector whipped up a propaganda campaign about the shooting while West Berliners rejoiced at the flight to freedom.

★ ★ ★

The Communists said the affair may affect the agreement permitting West Berliners to visit East Berlin on certain occasions.

WHISTLE-STOP SPECIAL — Mrs. Lyndon Johnson (center) starts her train tour of the South this morning with her husband waving goodby in the background. Lady Bird Starts Dixie Tour

ABOARD LADY BIRD SPECIAL (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson launched a Southern whistle-stop tour today with a quotation from Robert E. Lee and urged Virginians to forget differences over civil rights and seek a unified nation.

With President Johnson at her side, the First Lady recalled to a crowd at her first stop in Alexandria, Va. — not far from Lee's Arlington home — the advice of the Confederate general to Southerners after the Civil War to "abandon all these local animosities and make your sons Americans."

★ ★ ★

To this, Mrs. Johnson added her own advice, urging fellow Southerners to seek "the ties that bind us together, not settle for the tensions that tend to divide us."

The President climbed aboard the Lady Bird Special for the start of his wife's 1,682-mile foray into the South and rode with her to the first stop just across the Potomac River.

SOUTH VALUED

"I want to tell you from Alexandria to New Orleans that to this president and his wife the South is a respected and valued and beloved part of this country," Mrs. Johnson said in her prepared speech.

The First Lady pointed out that "the hard duty of assuring equal and constitutional rights to all Americans falls, not only on the President of the United States but upon all who love this land."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Johnson, born in Karnack, Tex., declared her own deep pride and love of the South. She talked of old customs, a special brand of gentility and courtesy, new economic growth, and a long line of famous statesmen, including 12 presidents and 15 secretaries of state from Thomas Jefferson to Dean Rusk.

★ ★ ★

She said she has always believed there is "more love than hate" in the South and was convinced of it by the way the passage of the equal rights law was received.

GREAT CREDIT

For the most part, she said, it was "in a way that was a great credit to local leadership," to mayors and minister, white merchants, Negro leaders and to average citizens.

Mrs. Johnson said she views the South as "a place of the heart" and on her journey she wants to visit not only its "queen-like cities" but the small towns and rural areas because "I was born in such an area and I am at home there."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Johnson has scheduled her 19-car train to travel through 180 communities in eight Southern states in four days.

be concerned with health, welfare and social work functions.

★ ★ ★

Elected county officials will receive the following salary increases beginning Jan. 1, 1965:

Clerk/register, from $13,500 to $16,000; drain commissioner, from $13,500 to $16,000; prosecuting attorney, from $15,000 to $17,500; sheriff, from $12,250 to $14,750; treasurer, from $13,500 to $16,000.

REMAIN THE SAME

Probate judges will remain at the present level of $23,500, and circuit judges will continue at $11,000, in addition to the $15,000 paid annually by the State of Michigan.

After adopting the budget, the board took unprecedented action which will result in a delay in spreading the 1964 taxes in the county.

Louis F. Oldenburg of Highland Township, chairman of the Committee on Local Taxes, presented the tabulation of amounts to be spread on the tax rolls of the county's 46 municipalities.

★ ★ ★

An objection was raised, however, by James Clarkson, mayor of Southfield, because of appeals on the assessment of some 400 parcels in Southfield which are still pending before the State Tax Commission.

CAN'T DETERMINE

Clarkson pointed out to the board that the state equalized valuation of the City of Southfield can not be accurately determined until after a final ruling on the appeals by the State Tax Commission.

★ ★ ★

After considerable discussion, the board voted to delay the spreading of the taxes until Oct. 27.

This will give assessors and township supervisors slightly over 30 days to prepare tax bills, which must be in the hands of taxpayers by Dec. 1.

Robert P. Briggs, vice president of Consumers Power Company and cochairman of the commission, led the discussion of the commission report.

PROGRAM GIVEN

The previously announced document suggested a program restudy, reevaluation and retraining by all agencies concerned with traffic safety.

Sections of the report were presented by committee members: John Denman, Ford Motor Company; Judge John C. Emery, Jr. of Birmingham; Kenneth Kildebrand Jr., Michigan Association of Insurance Agents; and Clancy Nanry, Detroit Edison safety director.

Also presenting reports were Orrin Lucas, traffic analyst for the Michigan State Police; Joseph Corcoran, Michigan Department of State; and Louis Berg, former Detroit Police official.

County Okays Planned Keego Water System

A resolution establishing a proposed water system for the City of Keego Harbor as a county project was approved yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

A request for the system has been submitted to the Department of Public Works and approved by the DPW board of directors.

★ ★ ★

A contract for an engineering study of the proposal is now being prepared by the DPW. The study is expected to get under way within the next week or 10 days.

Actual construction work on the system will probably be started in the Spring of 1965, according to DPW officials.

Police Hunt Thief With 'Great Catch'

Sheriff's deputies today are seeking a thief with an effective line — fishing line, that is.

Wayne M. Brown, 3025 Angelus, Waterford, reported yesterday that while he was on vacation thieves stole 80 to 100 trout from his trout pond near M15 in Brandon Township.

Deputies said they aren't certain how the thief stole the fish, but on their report they noted "two spots near the pond where the culprit dug up worms."

Hilda's Gone; Work Begins

Louisiana Recovers; Flood Threats Mount

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Louisiana, hit by its worst hurricane in seven years, stepped up efforts to return to normal today even while flood threats mounted.

Gov. John McKeithen flew on an inspection tour of several devastated areas Monday and described what he saw as "a terrible disaster."

★ ★ ★

Hurricane Hilda moved up through the Gulf of Mexico and struck Louisiana's coast Saturday. Hilda and the vicious tornadoes she set off killed 36 persons.

Damages may run to $100 million.

WORE OUT

Hilda's might wore out over Louisiana. After colliding with a cold front over Georgia and the Carolinas, it pushed out into the Atlantic Ocean.

Repair crews fanned out over Louisiana to fix electric, gas, sewage, water and communication lines knocked out by the storm. Insurance companies beefed up their claims offices.

★ ★ ★

Farmers began salvaging what was left of their crops. Stricken residents returned to their homes — or what was left of them — to clean up debris.

While all this was going on, hundreds were forced to evacuate their homes in the Baton Rouge area because of rising waters in the Amite and Comite river basins. Officials expected them to crest three to six feet above flood stage today.

FUNDS FOR RELIEF

President Johnson earmarked $1 million in emergency funds for hurricane disaster relief in Louisiana.

The Small Business Administration designated all sections of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama hit by the winds and floods as disaster area.

★ ★ ★

McKeithen arrived at La Rose as funeral services were starting for some of the 21 persons killed by a tornado which demolished or damaged about 70 homes.

State Rep. Richard Guidry of Lafourche Parish estimated the La Rose damage at more than $4 million.

KILLED 8

The governor also stopped at Erath where the storm knocked over a huge water tower onto the city hall, killing eight civil defense workers inside the building.

Exec Facing Murder Trial

A Farmington Township executive yesterday was bound over for trial in Oakland County Court after standing mute to a charge of first - degree murder.

An innocent plea was entered for Wells S. Herrington, 45, at his arraignment by Circuit Judge James S. Thornton. No trial date was set.

Herrington, wholesale sales manager with the Stroh Brewery, Detroit, is accused of shooting Dr. John R. Foster, a dentist, on Sept. 16.

Foster, of 3130 W. Long Lake, West Bloomfield Township, had his offices at 200 E. Brown, Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

A $25,000 bond which Herrington posted for his release was continued by Judge Thorburn.

Birmingham Area News

OK Assessment District for Street Improvement

BIRMINGHAM—A special assessment district for the improvement of Coolidge Road was approved by the City Commission last night.

★ ★ ★

At the same time the commission accepted the low bid from the Ministrelli Construction Co., Livonia, of $74,263 for the paving of the road between Maple and Derby.

Birmingham and the City of Troy have already entered into an agreement on the project since the road is the dividing line between the two communities.

The project is being undertaken in conjunction with a $50-million development in Troy and Birmingham's share of the total cost is 30 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Of this, the City of Birmingham will pay 25 per cent with home owners affected by the improvement paying the remainder.

TENTATIVE COSTS

The average assessment had been estimated at $325, based on tentative cost figures for the project, but the Ministrelli bid was 11.5 per cent below preliminary estimates.

Under the agreement between the two cities, Troy advertised for bids on the project, receiving three, and then forwarded a recommendation to approve the low bid to Birmingham.

The improvement of Coolidge, which calls for the construction of a boulevard from Maple to Derby, is expected to be completed this year.

Both candidates for the Michigan State Senate from the 16th District will speak at tonight's meeting of the Birmingham Study Club.

Republican Robert J. Huber of Troy and Democrat Donald Oberholtzer of Clawson will address the group and answer questions.

The 8 p.m. program will be held at the home of club president Mrs. Kensinger Jones, 26825 York, Huntington Woods.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — "The Pursuit of Excellence" will be discussed by Birmingham Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith at the Thursday night meeting of the Berkshire Junior High School PTA.

Principal John W. Dickey also will introduce new teachers at the 8 p.m. meeting.

Mrs. Albert J. Fouracre

Service for Mrs. Albert J. (Alice M.) Fouracre, 78, of 1247 E. Lincoln, Birmingham, will be 4 p.m. Thursday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Fouracre died yesterday after a long illness.

She was a member of Bebekah Lodge No. 445, Birmingham, and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert B. Thompson; three sons, Vernon A., Donald G. and Jack, all of Birmingham; and six grandchildren.

Mrs. K. Herman Boyce

Service for Mrs. K. Herman (Bernice) Boyce, 53, of 1014 S. Bates, Birmingham, will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Boyce died yesterday after a short illness.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Carolyn, and a son, David R., both at home; her mother, Mrs. Earlis B. Kresge of Royal Oak; and a sister.

Soapy Speaks at Dem Dinner

G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African Affair, last night credited the economic policies of the Kennedy-Johnson administration with "giving the United States its longest continuous period of economic growth in history."

The former six-term governor of Michigan made the statement at the Democratic 19th congressional district dinner, honoring congressional candidate Billie Farnum. The event was held at Pine Knob Lodge in Independence Township.

U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, kicking off his campaign for reelection, also spoke.

Williams said the democratic administration in the past four years "has stimulated economic growth and controlled inflation by working with labor and industry, by encouraging and expanding investment in the development of human and material resources and by reducing purchasing power and corporated investment."

"That is why Americans are earning $86 billion more income annually and why Michigan is prospering today," Williams said.

DENOUNCES BARRY

Sen. Hart denounced Republican Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater as a man who gives Americans "little reason to believe he is concerned about the well-being of the people he seeks to represent.

"He treats nuclear weapons as if they were merely improved hand grenades," Hart said. "He tells our older citizens that Social Security isn't good for the country—and then decides maybe it is."

Javits Unsure, 'Won't Leave Ballot Blank'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., says he has not decided how he will cast his ballot in the presidential election but "I am not going to leave it blank."

★ ★ ★

"I cannot and do not support the Goldwater ticket for election," Javits told Syracuse University students Monday night. He added: "I am not prepared to support President Johnson."

He said that, if election results do not show a "great rank-and-file support" of Sen. Barry Goldwater's position, "there will be a great effort by the moderates to win back the (Republican) party and I will be part of that effort."

History Prof at Yale Dies After Long Illness

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Ralph E. Turner, 71, professor emeritus of history at Yale University, died Monday after a long illness. Before coming to Yale in 1944, Turner taught at the University of Minnesota, the University of Iowa, the University of Pittsburgh and the American University in Washington, D.C. He retired in 1961.

Goldwater Tours Pennsylvania

With Goldwater In Pennsylvania (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today the overriding issue in the presidential campaign is "What period of America are we going to have tomorrow?"

The Republican presidential nominee, speaking at the Warminster shopping center in Bucks County, Pa., told a crowd estimated locally at 2,500 persons that he does not believe for a moment the American people are going to accept any form of socialism.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater began a swing through Philadelphia suburban areas on a crisp, sunny morning. He planned to return to Washington for a major address later in the day.

★ ★ ★

Before steering his campaign into Pennsylvania, Goldwater said that if he wins he will ask former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to undertake a study mission to South Viet Nam.

TEAM OF EXPERTS

Goldwater said he wants Eisenhower to head a team of experts to conduct an on-the-scene inquiry into the situation in the embattled Southeast Asian country, and seek a solution.

Goldwater said "the forgotten American" is the man with the most at stake in the presidential race.

He said he was talking about the average American but "unfortunately he hasn't been a man who has squeaked very loud."

★ ★ ★

Goldwater said "minority groups run this country" through what he called "extensive lobbying" in Washington.

GOT HANDOUTS

"These are the ones that have been benefiting from government handouts financed by you," Goldwater said, drawing a cheer from the crowd.

He said President Johnson tells the nation "Let us continue," but only when he is not busy "walking in the rose garden, walking around his ranch or walking around issues."

There were cries from the crowd "Give it to him, Barry," as the Republican nominee criticized Johnson.

Goldwater said that he is not the least interested in the power of the presidency "except to return the illegal powers — as well as some of the legal powers — to the people."

HEARS VOICE

Taking note of a sign which read, "We want a man, not a mouth, in the White House," Goldwater said, "I thought I heard Bobby Baker's voice out there but I thought he was hiding in the basement of the White House."

Hotel Rooms Searched in Siberia

4 Attaches in Red Raid Leave Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Three U.S. military attaches and a British naval attache who were held for hours in hotel rooms in Siberia while Soviet officials searched their belongings left Tokyo for Hong Kong today.

The four men were to leave the British colony Thursday and after a night in New Delhi were to return to their posts in Moscow.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. Embassy official said they were "continuing on an original schedule" to be back at their posts Oct. 9.

The four arrived in Tokyo Saturday. Their presence was not disclosed until Monday when the U.S. State Department in Washington reported the hotel incident. The State Department and the British Foreign Office both have delivered strong protests to Moscow.

NOT HARMED

The four are Lt. Cmdr. Nigel N. Laville, assistant British naval attache in Moscow; Lt. Col. Karl R. Liewer, assistant American military attache; George A. Aubrey, the American military attache, and Maj. James F. Smith, an assistant American air attache.

A U.S. Embassy official said they were not harmed by the Soviet officials during the search, which occurred on the night of Sept. 28-29 in Khabarovsk. The Russians took some of their belongings, including a wrist watch.

★ ★ ★

The United States called the incident a flagrant violation of diplomatic immunity.

State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said that a group of 15 Soviet officials "forcibly entered" and "forcibly searched" the two rooms occupied by the four attaches.

LENGTH OF SEARCH

He said a search of a room occupied by Laville and Liewer lasted 45 minutes and in the room of Aubrey and Smith it continued for 3 hours and 40 minutes.

Aubrey repeatedly protested, McCloskey said, and his request to contact the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was denied. Later the attaches telephoned a brief report to the embassy. They gave a preliminary report to American officials in Tokyo.

McCloskey said the United States and Britain made a strong protest on Sept. 29 in Moscow. On the following day in Washington William R. Tyler, the assistant secretary of state for European affairs, summoned Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and told him that the United States "takes a most serious view of this flagrant violation" of diplomatic immunity.

★ ★ ★

Tyler asked assurances that the Soviets will prevent similar incidents in the future. He also asked that the confiscated belongings be returned and that disciplinary action be taken against the Soviet officials responsible.

FBI Joins Hunt for Child Who Disappeared

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — The FBI yesterday entered the hunt for 22-month-old Ricky Dale Crowder—feared kidnaped from his mother's car when she left him alone for a few minutes to shop in a drugstore.

★ ★ ★

The toddler disappeared Sunday night. At first it was hoped he had wandered off and would soon be found.

But as the hours passed, and a house-to-house search by hundreds of volunteers failed to turn up any trace of him, the hope faded.

Dale's mother, Mrs. Rex Crowder, 25, said the boy could walk, but was unable to open the car doors himself. There was also doubt the boy would have shut the doors again if he had got out by himself.

★ ★ ★

All the car doors were closed when Mrs. Crowder returned.

REMEMBERED CAR

She told police she remembered a 1949 or 1950 model blue car parked next to hers in the parking lot of the shopping center where Ricky disappeared.

She said she was in the drugstore about 6 or 7 minutes, and both Ricky and the blue car were gone when she returned.

Copter Crash in Japan Kills 6 Americans

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — A U.S. Navy helicopter en route from Atsugi Naval Station to Yokohama Naval Base crashed and burned today, killing six Americans, the Navy announced.

The cause of the crash is being investigated. Names of the dead were withheld until next of kin were notified.

A PRODUCT OF Ford MOTOR COMPANY • LINCOLN-MERCURY DIVISION

The Ford Motor Company introduces an entirely new kind of Mercury for 1965... now in the Lincoln Continental tradition

We predict that the reaction of many people when they first see a 1965 Mercury drive by will be: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique pillar lights on the front fenders.) The ride is new. It's solider, quieter. Inside, there's an extensive selection of options for personal customizing—luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field... a Mercury that accurately reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. See how well the idea works—at your Mercury dealer's. No medium-price car has ever come so close in luxury to the high-price class.

LBJ, Rusk on First Tokyo Olympics Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and two Japanese officials will speak Wednesday on the inaugural telecast from Tokyo to the United States via the Syncom satellite.

The link will be used to carry the Olympic Games, which start in Tokyo Friday morning.

★ ★ ★

The transmission will take place between 9:15 and 9:45 a.m. EST and will include talks previously recorded by Johnson and Rusk, plus live speeches by Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina and Communications Minister Zitsuzo Tokuyasu.

NASA said each of the major U.S. television networks will transmit one five-minute segment Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., urged the Defense Department Monday to permit accreditation of U.S. correspondents to Navy ships patrolling off the Vietnamese coast.

The Defense Department said Wilson's telegram to Secretary Robert S. McNamara had been received, but that there had been no reply to it and that there was no comment.

★ ★ ★

Wilson said he made the request because the American people "obviously aren't getting the full story of what's going on in Viet Nam."

Wilson is a member of the House Armed Services Committee and chairman of the House Republican campaign committee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today appointment of Jennings Pemble Field Jr., a 44-year-old Tennessee business executive, as director of Gemini program control in NASA's office of manned space flight here.

Field will be responsible for the billion-dollar project's costs and budget.

Two-man Gemini spacecraft will conduct experiments on orbiting the earth for periods up to two weeks, and in maneuvering in space and accomplishing rendezvous with other vehicles. The first flight is scheduled for early 1965.

Field has been group vice president of IMC Industries Inc., a Memphis manufacturing and sales company, since last year when he resigned as assistant general manager of the Mishawaka, Ind., division of the Bendix Corp. He is a native of Merigold, Miss.

Unity Chapter Facing Vote

Points to Self-Reform in Catholic Church

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council scheduled a vote today to put principles of Christian unity into personal daily action for the world's half billion Roman Catholics.

The worldwide gathering of Catholic prelates in St. Peter's Basilica was to vote on a chapter on ecumenism — the unity movement. It contains declarations that the Catholic Church must be ready for self-reform in areas where errors may have been committed and that Catholics must undergo a "conversion of heart" toward non-Catholic Christians.

★ ★ ★

The chapter says that all Catholics "in some way have responsibility for the sins of disunity."

It calls for a new mental attitude to remove any Catholic misconceptions about Protestants, Anglicans and Orthodox Catholics, saying that without such a change the ecumenism movement will not progress.

COMMON PRAYER

The council fathers also were to vote on a measure proposing the possibility of common prayer between Catholics and other Christians. It would be left up to the various national bishops conferences to decide when, how and in what circumstances there could be common prayer in their countries.

The chapter also calls for public meetings and discussions between Catholics and other Christians to discuss what divides and unites them.

★ ★ ★

It declares that Catholic teachings, both for priests and laymen, must conform to the principles of the ecumenism movement "to keep minds open to others."

It proposes widespread cooperation with non-Catholic Christians in all fields of public life to give "a common christian witness to the world."

SECOND STEP

The chapter is a second major step toward the ultimate goal of Christian reconciliation, defined by Popes John XXIII and Paul VI as a basic objective of this council.

The council approved Monday with overwhelming votes the sections of the first of three chapters in the ecumenism schema.

★ ★ ★

That chapter states that the Catholic Church must accept responsibility with others for the discords that have split Christianity over the centuries.

FAST BREAKER — Art Arfons beams as he sits on his jet-powered racer The Green Monster in which he set a new world land speed record yesterday going 434.02. He broke the record set by his brother Walt last Friday in the Wingfoot Express. He said his goal is 500 m.p.h. in car which is powered by an F-104 fighter plane engine.

Driver Gunning for New Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Art Arfons, who traveled faster Monday than any man before him in a landbound car, set his sights today on going even faster.

The speed record that Arfons broke with a run of 434.02 miles an hour in his jet-powered car was set only last Friday in a car designed by his brother Walt.

* * *

Art Arfons planned to spend today rechecking his car, the Green Monster. If all is well, he intends to try for 500 m.p.h. Wednesday.

Arfons' first run Monday on the one-mile course at these Western Utah salt flats was timed at 396 m.p.h. But he turned his 17,000-horsepower car around and headed back at 479 m.p.h.

OFFICIAL AVERAGE

The average of 434.02 m.p.h. becomes the official record, topping the 413.20 m.p.h. clocked by Tom Green in Walt Arfons' car last week.

Some speed experts contend neither of the Arfons brothers' times is a true auto speed record because the wheels of jet cars are not driven directly by the engines.

* * *

The International Auto Federation in Paris recognizes as the world record 403.14 m.p.h. set last July in Australia by Donald Campbell of Great Britain in a turbine-powered car.

The U. S. Auto Club has an unlimited jet category, into which Arfons' record fits.

"I think it's absolutely impossible to run a conventional engine over 430 miles an hour or so," Arfons said. "Jets are going to put them out of business by sheer speed and power, and I don't think it will be long before the IAF recognizes jet records."

Unlike Tom Green, who said he had little feeling of speed in last week's run, Arfons said he knew he was going fast.

"I'd see something 800 yards ahead and all of a sudden it would be behind me," he said.

The 38-year-old garage owner from Akron, Ohio, said his engine is capable of "almost any speed you want to think about. I wasn't using much more than half the power."

* * *

At present, however, Arfons is looking only to hit 500 m.p.h. That's how fast the Green Monster is designed to go.

The engine, a J79 jet, is the same one used in the Air Force's F104 fighter.

Phils' Pilot Stays With 2-Year Pact

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — General Manager John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies says he and owner Bob Carpenter think Manager Gene Mauch has done a terrific job, despite the team's National League tailspin that cost them the pennant.

Quinn made the comment Monday after giving Mauch a new, two-year contract with a reported increase in salary.

The Phillies finished in a tie for second place with the Reds after blowing a 6½-game lead in the last two weeks, during which they dropped 10 games in a row.

Mauch, whose present contract had another year to run, signed the new pact in Quinn's office before leaving for the World Series in St. Louis.

Kenny Lane Kayoed

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela knocked out Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., Monday night in the second round of their lightweight fight in the Olympic Stadium before a crowd of 16,000.

Hernandez knocked Lane down twice in the first round.

Abel Picks 3 Wings for Stars

MONTREAL (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Manager-Coach Sid Abel selected three of his own players in completing the National Hockey League All Star team which will oppose Toronto Saturday night.

* * *

Abel, who will coach the All Stars for the third time in the last four years, selected defenseman Bill Gadsby and centers Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman from the Red Wings.

EARLIER CHOICES

They join the first and second All Star teams selected last spring. Detroit's Gordie Howe was selected on the second team at right wing then.

Two members of the All Star team, Frank Mahovlich and Tim Horton, will play with the Stanley Cup champion Maple Leafs.

Wings' New Goalie OKs '64 Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Goalie Roger Crozier, the Detroit Red Wings' new No. 1 man in the nets, agreed to contract terms Monday.

With the team playing an exhibition series at Tulsa, Okla., with the Tulsa Oilers of the Central League, the front office of the National Hockey League club made the announcement here.

* * *

Crozier's signing completed the Red Wings' roster for the 1964-65 season.

Crozier, 22, a Canadian, is successor to the veteran Terry Sawchuk. Swachuk was drafted by the Toronto Maple Leafs from the Red Wings last summer in exchange for $20,000.

Sugar Ramos Quits Ring

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Former featherweight world champion Ultiminio (Sugar) Ramos announced Monday night he will not fight any more.

Speaking at a TV program with sports' commentator Paco Malgesto, Ramos said he has decided to retire "and try to live in peace and quiet for a change."

The former champion, who lost his title last month to Mexico's Vicente Saldivar, told Malgesto he has not yet made any definite plans, but that one thing was sure: he will not climb into a ring again.

BILL FARRAH Asks
"What Does Our Wholesaling Car Parts Mean to You?"

THE ANSWER: Quite a lot when your car needs service or repair. When you bring your car in here for service, you want it back fixed right and rolling as soon as possible.
Well, if we had to order the parts, as most dealers so often do, then wait for their delivery, that would add days to the time that you're without your car. The fact, however, that we wholesale parts to other dealers means that we always have a large, complete stock on hand. No unnecessary delay or inconvenience. In fact, we carry the largest stock of parts of any dealer in Oakland County.
Think about that the next time your car needs service . . . top flight service at the right price. Bring it in and see for yourself how much faster, better service you get here at . . .

Joe Louis Tells All

'Billy Conn Nearly Beat Me'

By JOE LOUIS

Boxers always gave me trouble and the best all around boxer I ever fought was Billy Conn. Billy was nothing more than a light heavyweight but he was fast, smart and he had courage — too much courage.

★ ★ ★

That was his biggest problem — he was too game for his own good. He was cocky, too, a real fighting Irishman. If it wasn't for that he probably would have won the title from me the night we met for the first time at the Polo Grounds, on June 18, 1941.

This was my 18th title defense. I was 27 and felt I was at my peak. I weighed 199½ for the fight against Billy's 174. But he wasn't any setup.

Billy had been the light heavyweight champ. He beat Gus Lesnevich, a real, good fighter, twice and he gave up the title to go after me.

By the time he was ready for me he had won 19 straight in nearly three years. They weren't pushovers, either. He knocked out Bob Pastor, who game me trouble. He beat Lee Savold, another good heavyweight, and had won his last four by knockouts.

Billy was 23 when he met me. He was confident and he bragged how he would beat me. But I liked Billy then and I always have. We're great buddies today.

GOOD GATE

Billy's talking made for a good gate. We drew 54,487 people and nearly a half million dollars. I was about a 3 to 1 favorite that night.

Billy told the boxing writers to grab some of those odds. He was so convincing that a lot of them did bet on him. Along about the 12th round I guess some of them were counting their money.

Billy had a good left jab, a fast right and he moved very fast. And, besides being game, he could take a punch real good.

He seemed sort of scarey in the first two rounds but I couldn't get in a solid punch. Then he started to give me trouble. He moved in on me with his left jabs and followed with fast rights that beat me to the punch. His punches didn't hurt me. They stung a little. He didn't hurt because he didn't get set for his punches. He was moving too fast.

By the end of the fifth round he was going real good and I couldn't get untracked. My trainer, Jack Blackburn, was getting mad. He said "Chappie, this boy's showing you how to take charge. Don't you know how to be the boss?"

★ ★ ★

I began to get to Billy with some left hooks and couple of good one - twos. Billy wasn't scared a bit. He mixed it up with me a couple of times. Then he went back to his hit - and - run style. I couldn't do much with him in the eighth and ninth. He was always on the move.

This made him real cocky. I think about this time his Irish got the better of him. He went after me in the 11th and 12th rounds. He hit me some pretty good shots and he was beginning to set himself to get more power in his punches.

In the 12th round, especially, he let me have it pretty good. Near the end of the round he nailed me with a left and right to the head.

The fans roared. They thought I was in real trouble. The punches hurt all right but my head was clear. That 12th was his best round.

By then he was ahead pretty good. All of the officials had him ahead (referee Eddie Joseph, 7-5; judges Bill Healy and Marty Monroe, 7-4-1 each). All he had to do was stay away from me and box and he would have won the fight. But Billy was out to get me.

REAL MAD

When I got back to my corner at the end of the 12th, Blackburn was real mad. He let me have it.

"Chappie," he said, "don't you want that title any more? You're losing the fight. You're still fighting a Billy Conn fight. Get in there and take charge or you're done."

When the bell rang for the 13th I stood up and I said "I'll knock him out in this round." I don't know what caused me to say that but that's just what I said.

When we came into the middle of the ring Billy said: "Joseph, you're in for a tough fight tonight." He didn't get that out of his mouth before I hit him. He came right back after me.

I guess he thought he had me in real bad shape in the 12th. But I really wasn't hurt as much as it probably seemed outside of the ring.

★ ★ ★

Anyway he started to slug with me. They tell me the crowd was going real wild. I don't remember that. I was just concentrating on Billy.

He was throwing punches fast. He let go with a left hook and I got him with two hard rights to the head. It shook him up. If he grabbed me then he might have been okay. But Billy wasn't grabbing. He wanted to fight. That was just fine with me.

He got in a left hook to the head and then his left dropped a little.

I shot over a right to the jaw and then I let him have it with both hands. He was hurt. He had a funny look on his face but he came back at me.

He started to throw a right but I already had one on the way. It shook him all over. I followed up with both hands and blood came from his nose and from a cut under his right eye.

DEAD GAME

Billy was dead game. He tried to move inside and I smashed him to the head with a left and right. His legs wobbled and he fell. He looked finished.

At seven he pulled himself up on his knees. His eyes were dazed but somehow his fighting spirit was making him try to get up. The count reached 10 and he didn't make it. The knockout time was two minutes, 58 seconds. Another two seconds and the round would have been over.

Even if he got up, I felt sure I would have knocked him out in the 14th. But I'll say this now, if Billy Conn wasn't so game, he would have won the title that night.

Club Directors Huddle

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whether major league baseball remains in Cleveland hinged Tuesday on the outcome of a meeting of directors of the Cleveland Indians.

★ ★ ★

One director said Monday: "I'll be shocked if the outcome is that the team will be moved."

A number of cities have made offers for the franchise, including Seattle, which has made a determined bid. The team has lost money the past several years because of poor attendance.

BOTH SIDES

Some directors said Monday they understood President Gabe Paul will present the case for and against the team remaining here.

Director A. Ray Smith of Tulsa, Okla., owner of one-tenth of the franchise, won't attend.

MSU Team Pins Hopes on Defense

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State again will rely on defense against Michigan Saturday because "we can't hope to match them touchdown for touchdown," says football coach Duffy Daugherty.

★ ★ ★

In upsetting Southern California 17-7 last Saturday, the Spartans used a five-man defensive backfield.

But they will have to devise something new for next Saturday's battle to decide football supremacy in the state, Daugherty said.

KEY TO DEFENSE

He said the key to stopping Michigan, which beat Navy 21-0 last Saturday, is stopping quarterback Bob Timberlake.

Michigan has won both its games — both against service academies. Air Force was its opening day victim. Michigan State lost its opener to North Carolina and is 1-1.

★ ★ ★

Saturday's game will mark the beginning of Big Ten Conference action for both teams

"In view of our last two games, we'll have to depend on strong defense and a strong kicking game for success this year," Daugherty said.

★ ★ ★

Hitting was to resume in practice today. Monday's drill was a light session without pads, devoted mainly to strategy.

Leafs Sign Ice Star

HOUGHTON (AP) — Former Michigan Tech hockey star Gene Rebellato has signed a pro contract with the Toronto Maples Leafs' farm club at Victoria, B.C., it was announced Monday. Rebellato, 24, is a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

'M' Begins Light Drills for Spartans

ANN ARBO R(AP)—The University of Michigan held light drills, stressing the ground game, Monday as the Wolverines began work for their encounter with Michigan State Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The squad escaped serious injury in last Saturday's 21-0 victory over Navy, Coach Bump Elliott said.

Only defensive specialist John Rowser, who was injured in practice two weeks ago, is a doubtful starter against MSU, Elliott noted.

Rowser reinjured his leg slightly last Friday and did not see service against Navy.

Linebacker Barry Dehlin, halfbacks Carl Ward and Jim Detwiler and end Steve Smith, who suffered cuts or slight muscle pulls last Saturday, were at practice Monday.

Reviewing movies of MSU's two previous games, Elliott pointed out that the Spartans have a strong defensive unit as good as the one that led the Big Ten defensively last year.

★ ★ ★

He said MSU's 17-7 victory over the second-ranked Southern California was no fluke; the Spartans dominated the game all the way.

Elliott also announced that he was tightening security precautions against potential MSU "spies."

Practice will be closed beginning Tuesday and may even be barred to press pass holders.

R. H. Jansa, 15300 James, Oak Park, vice president and general manager of Perkins Engines, Inc., diesel engine manufacturer based in Wixom, will address a conference of trucking industry leaders in Chicago Thursday.

More than 450 truck fleet operators are expected to attend the meeting. Jansa will report on lightweight diesels designed for pickup trucks, delivery vans, taxicabs and other small vehicles.

Trading Drags

Market Is Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed an irregularly higher trend early today as trading dragged.

Fractional gains outnumbered losses among key stocks.

★ ★ ★

General Motors continued to gain, rising ¾ to 101¼ on an opening block of 8,100 shares. Ford and American Motors added fractions but Chrysler continued to back away fractionally.

The optimism over GM's tentative agreement with the United Auto Workers was fading in view of the swarm of local issues that remain to be solved before the big auto maker could call back the 280,000 strikers.

SPOTTY ISSUES

Steels, farm implements and chemicals were spotty, although du Pont posted a 1-point gain, helping to shore up the averages.

Airlines and aerospace issues were generally higher.

★ ★ ★

Among the higher-priced issues there was some selling. IBM opened with a loss of more than 3 points. Polaroid slipped about 2.

Coppers moved slightly higher on balance in further response to Monday's price-boost news. The leading rails also gained ground moderately.

★ ★ ★

Utilities and tobaccos were steady.

Opening blocks included: Ford, up ¼ at 58⅞ on 8,000 shares; and Chrysler, off ⅝ at 61 on 11,000.

AP STOCKS

Monday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.6 to 327.6, a new high.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Dixie Council Is Integrated

Tuskegee, Ala., Unit Vows Justice for All

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — "Justice and fairness to all concerned with no discrimination or favoritism" is the pledge of the first integrated City Council in Alabama in this century.

★ ★ ★

Monday night, the Rev. K. L. Buford and Dr. Stanley Hugh Smith, both Negroes, were inaugurated as city councilmen in Tuskegee, climaxing a long struggle for Negro voting rights. It was, as the new council phrased it, "a break with tradition which our taking office symbolizes."

While Negro voters outnumber their white counterparts in Tuskegee, three of the five members of the City Council—and the mayor of this community of 7,200 — are white. They were elected with the support of the Negro community, which voted against members of its own race to elect them.

TOOK OFFICE

The others, Councilmen L. M. Gregg, John L. Sides and James Allen Parker and Mayor Charles M. Keever, also took office Monday night.

Gregg and Sides were reelected in the municipal elections Aug. 11. Keever and the two Negro councilmen were elected in a runoff Sept. 15.

★ ★ ★

One of the first acts of the new governing body of Tuskegee was adoption of a statement of intent. In it, the new council promised to "work for a community composed of citizens whose hearts are united in brotherly love and will pursue the common goal of making Tuskegee a better place in which to live.

"There are problems which face us," admitted the statement. "These we shall meet honestly and forthrightly. Our diffrences will be solved with logic and with reason, and with such wisdom as the Almighty shall give us."

5 TO 1

Negroes outnumber white persons in Tuskegee by about 5-1, but their efforts to gain the right to vote was largely unsuccessful until, in March, 1961, a federal judge handed down a nodiscrimination order.

Plant Orders Double Rate of '63 in State

EAST LANSING (AP) —Michigan industrialists are ordering new factories built this year at a rate about twice that of last year's, says Bernard Conboy, director of Michigan's Department of Economic Expansion.

By Aug 31, major construction contracts during 1964 in Michigan totaled nearly $1.5 billion—nearly twice as much as in all of 1963, he said.

★ ★ ★

"Even more encouraging than the total comparison," he added, "is a two-fold increase in construction contracts for manufacturing plants."

The construction figures include manufacturing and nonmanufacturing industries and utilities, but not school or residential contracts.

★ ★ ★

In the Michigan Economic Record, a publication of Michigan State University's Bureau of Business and Economic Research, Conboy said Michigan had 2,226 favorable moves by industry from 1957 through August 1964, compared with 511 unfavorable moves.

Conboy described favorable moves as moves into the state, expansion, new starts and reopening of operations.

Major Provisions in GM Contract

Following is a summary of the major provisions of the national contract tentatively agreed to yesterday by General Motors and the United Auto Workers.

The provisions, according to GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton, are:

RETIREMENT BENEFITS

Substantially increased retirement benefits for current employes and for those already retired, including:

1. An increase from $2.80 to $4.25 per month per year of credited service for normal retirement of current employes.

2. An increase in pension benefits of $1.45 per month per year of credited service for employes already retired.

3. Greatly increased benefits in case of early retirement or retirement because of disability up to $400 a month payable to age 65.

4. Provision for retirement as early as age 55.

5. A new widow's benefit providing a monthly income for her lifetime in the event of the employe's death before retirement and increased benefits for the widow in case of death after retirement.

WAGE INCREASES

1. An improvement factor wage increase of 2½ per cent or 6 cents an hour, whichever is greater, on September 6, 1965, and a second increase, effective September 5, 1966, of 2.8 per cent or 7 cents an hour, whichever is greater.

2. An additional wage increase of two cents an hour effective September 5, 1966.

3. Transfer of 9 cents of the current 14-cent an hour cost-of-living allowance to the employe's wage rate, effective October 1, 1964. The remaining five cents is continued and subject to adjustment.

SPECIAL EMPLOYE FUND

General Motors will establish a special account for the amounts, if any, that it is not obligated to contribute to the SUB Fund when it is at maximum funding. Starting in 1965, eligible employes will receive payments ranging from a minimum of $25 to a maximum of $100 if sufficient funds are available in this special account. The payments will be made on the last day before Dec. 25.

If the total amount in the special account is not sufficient to pay eligible employes this minimum of $25, the total amount in the special account will be carried over to the next year. If the money in the account is more than sufficient to pay each eligible employe the $100 maximum, such extra amounts that are available will be carried over.

RELIEF TIME

The amount of relief time for employes in automobile manufacturing plants on operations on which the employes' manual operations are continuous and which cannot be left unattended, and on which the employes receive 24 minutes per eight-hour shift by the tag relief system is increased to 36 minutes per eight-hour shift.

VACATION PAY ALLOWANCE

An additional week of paid absence allowance for all employes with one or more years' seniority which the employe may use as time off in amounts and under stated conditions.

TWO ADDITIONAL PAID HOLIDAYS

The equivalent of two additional holidays is provided, bringing the total paid holidays to nine. Good Friday is added as a paid holiday and the present half holidays, Dec. 24 (Christmas Eve) and December 31 (New Year's Eve) become full holidays.

IMPROVED LIFE, SICKNESS AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE

1. Commencing with contributions due in Oct., 1964, General Motors will pay the full cost of group life insurance and sickness and accident benefits for employes while actively at work, while receiving GM sickness and accident benefits, and during the first full month following layoff or leave.

2. A new survivor income benefit providing income to survivors equal to $100 a month for 24 months is provided in addition to an employe's regular GM group life insurance. After these 24 monthly payments, if the employe's widow is age 50 or over at the employe's death, she will receive a monthly benefit of $100 until age 62 while otherwise eligible.

3. The maximum duration of sickness and accident benefits is increased from 26 to 52 weeks.

IMPROVED SUB AND SEPARATION PAYMENTS

The maximum weekly Benefit is increased from a flat $40 to $50 plus $1.50 for each dependent up to a maximum of four. Benefit for scheduled short work weeks is increased from 65 per cent of pay to 75 per cent.

Separation payments paid under the SUB plan would be increased approximately 40 per cent at all levels.

FULLY PAID MEDICAL INSURANCE FOR RETIREES

General Motors will assume the full cost of hospital-surgical-medical coverages for retired employes and their eligible dependents. Retirees currently pay half the cost of this coverage. Present retirees are given an opportunity to enroll or to change their coverage.

WAGE ADJUSTMENTS

Wage differentials at certain plants will be negotiated in Detroit between the Corporation and the International Union within the next six months. The adjustments will equal 2½ cents an hour and are to be effective Sept. 7, 1964.

BEREAVEMENT PAY

The Corporation will compensate any eligible employe who is excused from his normally scheduled days of work for up to the first three calendar days following a death in his immediate family.

SEVEN-DAY OPERATIONS PAY INCREASED

The 5 cents an hour bonus paid to employes on 7-day continuous operations is increased to 10 cents. In addition, time and one-quarter will be paid for the first eight hours worked on any shift which starts on Sunday and are not otherwise payable on an overtime basis. Double time and one-quarter will be paid for work on any shift which starts on a designated holiday when holiday pay is not payable.

TUITION REFUND PROGRAM

For any employe in active service who desires to further his education through spare time classes, the Corporation will refund the tuition (up to $250 a year) upon satisfactory completion of approved job related training courses in local colleges, high schools or approved trade schools.

JURY DUTY PAY

The jury duty allowance paid by General Motors will be increased to an amount equal to the difference between an employe's daily straight-time pay and the amount of jury duty fee paid to the employe by the court.

APPRENTICE TUITION

GM will pay the full cost of registration fees and tuition for required related training for indentured apprentices. Payments previously were limited to $400.

Blue Shield to Instruct Area Medical Aides

Michigan Blue Shield will conduct a seminar for medical assistants Thursday at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

Doctors assistants in the Oakland County area will be instructed in the latest claim reporting procedures by Helen Schick, Blue Shield educational coordinator.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "About six months ago, I put about $8,500 into an account with a brokerage firm. Acting on the broker's recommendation, I traded several times during the period in speculative issues, losing about $500. I have now decided to invest in stocks with a growth potential, such as Dow Chemical, Corn Products, Scott Paper, and RCA. Would you advise buying these stocks and should I open a margin account?" N.A.

A. My first advice to you is to change your broker. Your account appears to have been "churned" to some extent — and in the wrong sort of stocks.

I would not open a margin account but would buy and own outright the type of stocks you mention.

Dow Chemical, Scott Paper, and RCA are excellent purchases for you. At the moment, I would hold but not buy Corn Products, where growth has slowed down temporarily. In its place, I suggest General Foods, leader in the packaged foods field.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I am confused about over - the - counter buy and sell orders. When you buy at the ask price and sell at the bid price, will there be any additional charge for commissions? I was led to believe that the difference in price between the two would take care of commissions on both transactions." A.C.

A. You are generally right in your belief.

The usual over - the - counter trade is conducted by a dealer, acting as Principal. He sells to you at a net price and buys from you also at a net price without commissions. He makes his profit somewhere in between and is not obliged to disclose this figure on your statement.

There are, however, some stock exchange firms and unlisted dealers that buy and sell for you as an Agent. When they do so, they show on the statement the price paid or received on your shares and add the customary stock exchange commissions.
