Rain-Starved States Assured Aid by Ike

Share-the-Cost Program Meets With Approval

President, Governors Confer Over Critical Issue in Cattle Belt

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Governors of drought stricken states presented a federal-state share-the-cost program to President Eisenhower today and got an agreement for federal assistance in feeding starving cattle.

Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, chairman of the governors' drought conference here, said the President, who breakfasted with the governors, was pleased with the states' action.

Thornton quoted the President as saying their share-the-cost program fitted in with his views that the best government is government on the local level.

Thornton said the President had assured them no state would be penalized in the drought relief program if it could not put up any state funds. Agriculture Secretary Benson, also here for the conference, confirmed that.

The President detailed last night, in a broadcast and televised address to the Future Farmers of America, what he thinks the federal and state governments should do about this "drought of devastating intensity," he he called it.

"My own conviction is that the principle of partnership between the federal government and the state governments should govern our approach to such emergency problems," he said.

"Only in this way can we gain the advantages of local knowledge, efficiency and incentive on the one hand, and of the wider federal resources on the other."

Whether present supports will be continued after the December 1954 expiration date, or whether the program will be drastically altered, as some propose, Eisenhower declined to predict.

Jimmy Dillon of Jones, La., president of the Future Farmers of America, introduced the Chief Executive to the crowd of youngsters and their guests. Dillon also presented Eisenhower with an honorary "farmer" degree. With a grin, Eisenhower said maybe the degree would entitle him to free Agriculture Department pamphlets for his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

An audience of 11,000 that packed Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium to the roof cheered Eisenhower's espousals of self-reliance even more loudly than his promises of federal action alone to meet drought, falling prices and other problems.

Body Recovered After Boat Capsizes Early This Morning

Henry Mertsch, 55, of 4247 Jay Rd., Detroit drowned early today in Big Lake, Springfield Township, while duck hunting.

His companion, Edward Babinger of 3290 Whitney, Detroit, told Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post that their rowboat capsized near the shore.

Babinger said he started swimming to shore for help after telling Mertsch to hang onto the overturned boat. When he reached shore, Babinger said he saw Mertsch lose his grip on the craft and sink out of sight.

Mertsch's body was recovered at 10 a. m. by State Police and Oakland County sheriff's deputies in about 10 feet of water near the south shore.

Sen. McCarthy to Conduct Quiz of Greenglass

Convicted Atom Spy Will Be Asked About Radar Espionage

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today he will go to the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary tomorrow to question atom spy David Greenglass on what he may know about radar espionage.

The senator said he had cleared arrangements for the interview through the Department of Justice.

McCarthy, who has been conducting hearings in New York into a radar spy plot, said he did not know what time tomorrow he would leave for Lewisburg.

Evidence that Julius Rosenberg, executed atom spy, also master-minded a spy ring at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., where radar defenses against atomic attack are devised, turned attention to Greenglass.

Greenglass, a member of the atomic spy ring, escaped with a 15-year sentence in the Rosenberg case after testifying for the government. He is a brother of Rosenberg's wife, Ethel, who also was executed for her part in the atomic plot.

McCarthy expected "complete testimony" to arrive today from a German scientist who reportedly told authorities that the Russians were using secret data stolen from Ft. Monmouth.

The scientist, not identified, was said to have fled from Eastern Germany into the western zone of Berlin more than a year ago and to have talked to U. S. Air Force intelligence officers.

In Germany yesterday, an Air Force spokesman said they were "baffled" by McCarthy's statement and had no information about the case.

But McCarthy concluded his permanent senate investigations subcommittee session last night with the assertion that the refugee scientist's full testimony would get here today. The senator said the scientist ultimately will be called as a witness before his committee.

Among witnesses scheduled to testify today in closed hearings are Maj. Gen. Kirke Lawton, commandant at Ft. Monmouth, and Maj. Gen. George I. Back, head of the Army signal corps.

The subcommittee has been probing into possible Communist subversion by civilian employes at the vital radar defense center at Ft. Monmouth.

Driver Cleared in Lake Death

Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty After Boat Hits Swimmer

Alfred A. Kahner, 21 was cleared by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury Thursday of involuntary manslaughter in the motorboat death of another Detroiter in Cass Lake July 15.

Kahner, of 19980 Santa Rosa, Detroit, was acquitted by a jury of nine women and three men after 90 minutes' deliberation in Judge Frank L. Doty's court.

Kahner was charged with the death of George Hackett, 28, of 25853 Fordson, who was killed in July when struck by Kahner's boat while swimming off Cass-Dodge Park No. 4.

Kahner's attorney, Bernard Girard, based his defense on the fact that Kahner was not operating the power boat in a reckless or careless manner.

Kahner testified he thought he'd struck a log and didn't know a swimmer had been hit until bathers on a nearby dock told him.

118 Equals $47,000—So Far

GE Shudders as Stork Derby Becomes Stock Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The stork was winning in a landslide today over the General Electric Co.

The company thought it would be nice to give five shares of stock to any baby born to a GE employe yesterday on the firm's 75th anniversary.

A bachelor who cooked up the idea figured there would be a dozen or so lucky children, but by today company accountants had tallied 118—with more to be reported.

That means the company must fork out more than $47,000 in stock.

"And the west coast hasn't been heard from yet," said a company spokesman, a bit desperately.

General Electric stock closed yesterday at 78 7/8.

At 78⅞—the quotation is probably posted in many hospital nurseries—each babe enters life with shares worth $394.48.

GE was shaken but dead game as the tally passed the 100 mark. "General Electric stands firmly behind its offer," its headquarters reported.

At Schenectady, home of the company's main plant, 30 GE babies were born during the 24 hours. Just under the wire was a boy born at 11:59 p.m. to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sheward.

The plant newspaper had taken an expectancy poll and came up with the report that 30 GE babies might become eligible.

And smaller GE plants in the Schenectady area reported the arrival of nine more well-heeled tots.

From all across the country came reports of other babies winning the stork, or stock sweepstakes.

Company personnel men reported nervously that GE had approximately 226,000 employes in the United States.

Firemen Battle Two City Blazes

26 Families Are Routed by Apartment Smoke; Restaurant Damaged

Two fires, one in an apartment and another in a downtown restaurant, caused an estimated total damage of $13,200 and one person was overcome by smoke, last night, according to Pontiac Fire Chief John F. Schroeder.

Mrs. Jesse Redus, 34, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital after she was overcome by smoke at the Milford Apartment, 32 Murphy Ave., where 26 families were routed from their rooms.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, broke out in the basement lockers and caused an estimated $12,000 damage before firemen were able to put it out about two hours later, said the fire chief.

Mrs. M. H. Holmquist, caretaker, alerted others in the building after noticing smoke in the basement.

Firemen also put out a blaze at the Hickory Hut, 20 S. Saginaw St., which caused an estimated $1,200 damage. Schroeder said the fire was caused when grease ignited in the chimney leading from the barbecue pit.

Dressen Becomes Manager of Oakland

BROOKLYN (UP) — Charley Dressen formally was granted his outright release as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers today and announced immediately that he has accepted a job as manager of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League.

Dressen, who was let go as Dodger manager Wednesday in a dispute over the length of his contract, managed at Oakland in 1950, before he was hired by the Dodgers. He is a lifelong friend of Clarence (Brick) Laws, Oakland owner.

Oakland also was the "jumping off" spot from where Casey Stengel of the Yankees made his return to the Major League in 1949. Augie Galan, a former Dodger player, managed Oakland last season. The Oaks finished seventh in the Pacific Coast League last season.

North Koreans Warn Guards of Escape Try

Prisoners Armed With Clubs Defy Orders of Indian Troops

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Thousands of impassioned North Korean prisoners threatened to break out of compounds in the Korean neutral zone today, forcing cancellation of the second day of Red attempts to woo them back to Communism.

The Indian custodian command said it withdrew a battalion preparing to force 500 POWs to hear Red interviewers after 2,000 massed North Koreans armed with clubs got set to break out of nearby compounds at the first sign of violence.

"Korean prisoners in all compounds of enclosure were drawn up in neat rows with the front rank of men stripped to the waist and ready with clubs to scale or break through the barbed wire fencing on signal," the Indian command said.

"In another compound, the fence poles were being loosened to crash through the wire fencing," the statement added.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission called off Friday's scheduled explanations to 1,000 North Koreans after Maj. Gen. S. P. P. Thorat, the Indian commander, reported that to use force in such an explosive situation "would undoubtedly result in heavy casualties."

Meanwhile, some official U.N. observers indicated they would protest if the prisoners were dragged forcibly before Red explainers.

For the time being, the Indians gave up trying to budge the frenzied North Koreans from their stockades. The NNRC announced that instead of North Koreans, 1,000 Chinese would be interviewed Saturday.

Thursday, the Indian command congratulated its troops on winning a battle of wills after 500 angry Chinese were persauaded to attend Red explanations. But Friday, the battle went to the prisoners, North Koreans this time.

"We've done all the appealing we can," said Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya.

He said the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, of which he is chairman, would consider how to enforce its rule that the POWs must attend the interviews. The rule was backed by the Reds but strongly opposed by the allies.

Thimayya said the commission is empowered to use force if necessary.

As soon as the guards withdrew, the North Korean POWs triumphantly marched from their tents singing and waving flags. Thimayya said they later began digging trenches between the tents.

Red explainers and allied and neutral observers were asked to return at 8 a.m. Saturday (6 p.m. Friday EST).

The Reds asked that Chinese POWs be sent to Saturday's explanations, presumably in hopes of meeting less resistance.

Four Percenter Faces Probe

Federal Grand Jury to Determine if Stephenson Committed Perjury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell said today a federal grand jury will be asked to determine whether Warren L. Stephenson, former local Republican leader, committed perjury in his testimony at a House investigation of "four percenters."

Stephenson acknowledged at the hearing that he sought a four per cent fee for seeking more government business for a California munitions firm.

There were apparent conflicts in some of his testimony and the published record of the closed door hearings disclosed that Rep. Hardy (D-Va) told Stephenson "you are one of the biggest liars I have ever listened to."

Pentagon Auto Show Wins Acclaim

New Model Wilson Has Vision, Power Steering, Smooth Drive, Pickup

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A one-man automobile show is now being staged in the Pentagon.

Featured item is the new redesigned model of Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Chief attractions of the new model are improved power steering, smoother automatic drive, better all-around vision, faster pickup on the grades, easier riding over the bumps and a new exterior guaranteed to be pleasing to the public eye.

The new model C. E. Wilson is mostly the result of eight months of intense testing and developing over the world's toughest personality proving ground—the Pentagon.

Inside reports indicate that Wilson himself, recognized as one of the best brains in the auto industry, did most of the engineering. Here are the details:

Better Vision

A few weeks ago Wilson's GM successor, Harlow H. Curtice, visited him and asked how he was doing. Wilson replied:

"Well I've learned that it's fairly easy to take a lot of the foolishness out of defense programs. But I've also discovered that it's d— difficult to put good sense into them."

At an early press conference Wilson made some very snide remarks about the military research programs, charging that there was a lot of "boondoggling" in them. At a recent conference he admitted:

"There was some waste in the research program. But research is the only answer to keeping ahead of the Russians for the future. And we've got to keep the present program going strong."

Power Steering

Six months ago the word "Wilson" was enough to turn the average Air Force officer purple. The other day at a cocktail party an AF colonel remarked:

"At first we thought Wilson was pushing us around rather ruthlessly. Today, I think, he was pushing us in the right direction. He has taught us plenty about production and better business methods."

Top generals and admirals are now reconciled to the fact that Wilson intends to be "boss" in every sense of the word. They like the new situation much better than they did at first. His relations with his new Joint Chiefs of Staff are very cordial. He has established an easy, informal working relationship with them.

Smoother Drive

When Wilson took over at the Pentagon he had the reputation of having more administrative drive than anyone in industry. In Washington, however, he discovered at first that there was both slippage and grinding in his gears.

He didn't mesh too well with some senators and congressmen. He succumbed to some of the town's social life, thinking it was important.

Today he's taking it easier, and getting a lot more mileage. He has found that social life here is largely bunk.

And the other week-end, while visiting his good friend, radio and TV star Arthur Godfrey, at Leesburg, Va., he said:

"I now fall asleep as soon as my head hits the pillow and can forget all about hydrogen and atomic bombs."

Better Pickup

Wilson started his tour in Washington on a very bumpy road. First it was the jolt over sale of his GM stock. Then it was an endless series of jars over budget

Big 3 Foreign Ministers Open London Meetings

LONDON (AP) — The Western Big Three foreign ministers opened a three-day discussion today on pressing worldwide problems. How to keep a hot war from starting over Trieste headed their list of headaches.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault started their first conference in the green-walled conference room at the British Foreign Office. The talks are due to wind up Sunday.

At their first session the ministers considered terms of the new Western notes which will be sent to Moscow soon suggesting four power talks on Germany and Austria at Lugano, Switzerland, on Nov. 9, diplomatic officials said.

The notes as drafted were said to propose discussion of all matters affecting a final German peace settlement, instead of only arrangements for free German-wide elections, as previously suggested by the West.

Other suggested topics would include tentative ideas on a set of East-West security pledges which would seek to allay Soviet fears of possible new German aggression and the holding of a five-power conference, including Red China, on basic causes of world tension. The West would agree to such a conference only after a Korean peace settlement.

Reach Agreement on Pembroke Sewer

City, Township Groups Meet

Construction of New School, Home Projects Now Possible

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — A $200,000 agreement for water, sanitary and storm sewage facilities for the proposed Pembroke School and nearby areas was reached last night by representatives of Troy Township, Birmingham, Birmingham Board of Education, the Presbyterian Church and two land developers.

Construction of the $637,500 school has been stymied for several months because the facilities were not available.

The breakdown of costs shows land developer Arthur Nechman paying $102,622; developer Frank Goebel, $48,665; Presbyterian Church, $31,225; and the Board of Education, $18,961.

As planned, water and storm sewer connections will be handled through Troy Township and sanitary sewage wil flow through the Birmingham system into the Southeastern Oakland County Sewage Disposal District.

The project will be supervised jointly by Birmingham and Troy Township. Board of Education President Ernest Seaholm stated.

"This school is vital to the area, and work will begin as soon as possible," he added.

The original delay of the school and nearby developments occurred when the Birmingham City Commission said it could grant water and sanitary facilities but could not take the storm-water drainage into their already full sewers.

New Model Wilson Winning Acclaim

problems. He took this rough ride hard, close friends now say.

Now, however, he has developed a much superior shock absorber system.

When a group of aircraft manufacturers lashed out at him for tightening up progress payments on their work he actually laughed it off. He explained to the press that the net effect of the new order was far less drastic than the plane makers had claimed and that his plan was to improve business procedures. Most people agreed with him.

Wilson demonstrated his improved pickup following a series of conflicting reports on the immediate threat of Russian hydrogen bomb attack. In calm terms to the press and on TV he almost immediately allayed mounting public panic by stating that the U. S. was at least three years ahead of Russia in both nuclear weapon development and the means of delivering hydrogen and

Remodeled Exterior

In the early days of his Pentagon tenure, Wilson was somewhat shy, suspicious and even snarling with the press. It took a charge of TNT to get him to talk to reporters.

Now Wilson meets the press once a week. He smiles, jokes and seems honestly to have fun doing it. He's confident, firm and really informative at these sessions. His former shyness has gone.

The day last January he left Detroit to take this job he said to a friend:

"I'm risking failure for the first time in my life."

If the new model Wilson holds the road the way he's now traveling he has nothing to worry about the success of the trip.

HOLLAND (UP) — Auditor General John B. Martin said Thursday night that distribution of school funds on a strict basis of need and improvement of tax assessment procedures are common aims of groups feuding over state financial procedures.

Speaking before the Holland chapter of the American Association of University Women, Martin said he believes a current controversy over distribution of state grants and tax methods will produce sounder use of public funds.

Man Routs Attackers

Two men attempting to attack a Pontiac woman Wednesday night were routed when a Wayne street resident rushed onto his front porch after hearing the woman scream. Albert Padar of 137 Wayne St., said the two men ran to their car and escaped after he snapped on his porch light.

Today's typical railroad tank car can carry about 8,500 galons of oil, although some may carry up to 16,000 gallons.

2 Senators Rap Site for Bases

Case, Stennis Say Two Positions in Morocco Not Practical

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Case (R-SD) and Stennis (D-Miss) today objected to U. S. Air Force plans for building the last two of five bases in French Morocco, saying the sites chosen are unsuitable.

They spoke out in separate interviews, each emphasizing he voiced personal views based on their tour, with Sen. Duff (R-Pa), of American bases in Morocco and elsewhere abroad.

Case and Stennis criticized proposals to build bases near Dolhaut and De El Jima in Morocco. Work has not yet started on these. Neither senator objected to the nearly complete facilities near Nouasseur and Sidi Slimane or the construction under way near Ben Guerir.

* * *

Case is chairman and Stennis and Duff are members of the Senate armed services subcommittee which reported Wednesday on its inspection tour of U. S. bases abroad.

"I personally do not favor building the bases at Dolhaut and De El Jima," Case said. "The sites seem unsuitable for the purposes intended. It would be impractical to construct runways suitable for use by jet planes in those two areas because of soil conditions."

Case took note of French reluctance to admit more than 7,500 uniformed and civilian Americans to Morocco to man the bases. U. S. officers contend that would not be enough to man the three bases now a-building.

"Until the personnel 'ceiling' problem has been worked out," Case said, "it is unnecessary to talk about other bases that would require even more personnel."

Stennis said he understands the Air Force itself is inclined to take a second look at the suitability of the Dolhaut and De El Jima sites.

"It ought to be reconsidered seriously," Stennis said, both as to suitability and whether the two bases are as badly needed as at first thought.

Auction Returns Part of Embezzled Funds

BALTIMORE (AP)—A court report shows a credit union of government workers netted from a public auction $19,371 of $340,000 embezzled from them.

The money came from sale of personal and household effects of Mrs. Naomi Ringrose, former head of the credit union now serving a five-year sentence.

Her fashionable home was sold at a private sale, bringing in an additional $50,000.

Music Soothes Shoppers

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Merchants have installed loudspeakers on lamp posts along a two-block section of the shopping district to provide music daily. The purpose, they say, is to soothe and entice harried shoppers.

Profits Are Up

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Sales of $43,224,093 for the fiscal year ending July 31 were reported here by the King-Seeley Corp., makers of automotive parts. Net income was reported at $1,830,948, some $950,000 above last year's figure.

Auto Crash Ends Short Freedom From Leg Cast

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—They removed a cast today from a right ankle Joseph Cloutier, 60, fractured six months ago. It was such a relief—for 15 minutes.

En route home by auto from the hospital, Cloutier suffered a fracture of the left kneecap in a traffic accident. Today the knee is in a cast.

Injunction Scope Is Broadened

AFL Dock Union Also Brought Under Court Order by Judge

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government has broadened the no-strike injunction against the International Longshoremen's Assn. to include the rival AFL union.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld last night widened the scope of the Taft-Hartley injunction which halted the five-day waterfront strike with a temporary restraining order effective until Oct. 25 against the ILA-AFL.

The old ILA, ousted from the AFL on charges of failing to clean house of graft and racketeering, had complained it was "hog-tied" by the original injunction, saying it enabled the AFL union to harass ILA dockers into violating the no-strike edict.

* * *

Weinfeld set next Tuesday for the AFL union to show cause why it should not be prohibited from striking under the same injunction.

In another action, Weinfeld ordered that a three-man statutory court be convened Oct. 27 to rule on the constitutionality of the new New York-New Jersey waterfront commission.

Heavy details of police continue to patrol the sprawling waterfront and thus far have prevented bitter interunion rivalry from erupting into violence.

The older ILA originally struck over a wage dispute with the employer group, the New York Shipping Assn.

Red Rally to Mark Defeat of Napoleon

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists today summoned 70,000 young East Germans to rally at Leipzig this weekend for the 140th anniversary of Napoleon's defeat at the "Battle of the Nations."

The Red call credited Russian and Prussian forces with the victory but ignored the Austrian and Swedish troops who also fought the French there.

The Communists claimed the demonstrations would "strengthen friendship with the great Soviet Union in the fight for a united Germany."

The historic three-day battle near Leipzig in 1813 was one of Napoleon's last battles before his abdication in April, 1814, and his first exile to Elba.

Huron Valley UF Drive Is On

Campaign Workers Strive for Goal of $13,601.12

MILFORD — The Huron Valley Area United Fund campaign got off to a head start this week with a kick-off supper held for campaign workers in Milford Presbyterian Church.

Most larger areas will begin UF drives next week.

UF facts were presented at the kick-off by a puppet, "Ruby Redfeather," using the voice of Mrs. William Dildine. William Dildine, moderator, asked the puppet questions.

Total budget for the Huron Valley area has been set at $13,601.12. The area is participating in the Twenty Townships United Fund which has a quota of $87,700.

Of the local quota, $325 is earmarked for the Salvation Army; $2,200 for the local cancer fund; $2,200 for local emergencies; and the remaining $8,876.12 for the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other organizations.

Campaign Chairman Sanford Burton explained that for the first time the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross will rely on funds derived from the UF campaign. There will be no Red Cross drive in the spring.

Ohio's New Senator

There was little surprise in Ohio Governor Lausche's choice of Thomas A. Burke to fill the Senate seat vacated by the death of Robert A. Taft.

Burke, 54, a long time friend and political ally of the Democratic Governor, is nearing the end of his fourth term as Mayor of Cleveland. Like Lausche, the only survivor of the last GOP landslide in Ohio, Burke is a potent vote getter.

★ ★ ★

His appointment shifts the Senate standing to 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and one Independent, with Vice-President Nixon holding the tie-breaking vote. Governor Lausche, however, told newsmen he "anticipates" that Burke will take no action to disturb the present organization of the upper House. In this respect the new Senator's position will be the same as that taken by the GOP renegade Morse of Oregon.

★ ★ ★

The appointment has set the politicos speculating. They see in it the probability that Burke will step aside in November, 1954, to let Lausche seek the remainder of Senator Taft's unexpired term. Then the prognosticators expect Burke to campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

If successful in that effort, Burke would succeed Lausche in governorship just as he did when elected for the first of his four terms as Mayor of Cleveland.

Churchill Back at Helm

It's an open secret in Britain that even some members of the Conservative Party are questioning whether Sir Winston Churchill is physically capable of carrying on as Prime Minister.

The issue of the doughty old stateman's health was brought out into the open by left wing Laborite Aneurin Bevin. He has called on Sir Winston to resign "if he is unable to do his duty."

The Conservatives who have been careful to show their concern only privately, have been pointing to Churchill's growing deafness and irritability since his slight stroke last May.

Churchill himself, now 79, long ago indicated his desire to have Foreign Minister Anthony Eden succeed him as leader of the party. But Eden, now recovering from several serious operations, is reported still unable to undertake heavy responsibility.

This has led to much recent speculation on the probability that if a change had to be made now, Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler would get the call. At the same time many believe Churchill, remembering that Gladstone was Prime Minister at 82, won't step aside willingly.

Happily all doubt about the Prime Minister's ability to carry on was erased at the Conservative convention at Margate. The only health he discussed was Anthony Eden's. Otherwise he spoke with his old force and humor, denouncing nationalization of industry as "an utter flop" and flailing "the inherent fallacy of socialism."

In fact Sir Winston gave every indication that he has no intention of quitting the world stage or abandoning his campaign for a Big Four confab on East-West differences.

Open Disrespect for Law

It will shock most readers to learn the attitude of some California farmers toward the growing and still unsolved problem of Mexican "wetbacks."

Spokesmen for a group of land owners employing these illegal immigrants have made a disturbing proposal to Attorney General Brownell. They suggested that this open violation of the law be legalized by giving the wetbacks one year visas. Worse, they warned if this were not done, the Nation's economy might be undermined.

The only inference to be drawn from such a proposal is that the farmers represented are profiteering from this illegal traffic. Wetbacks, so called because they swarm into the country in thousands by swimming the Rio Grande River, have been exploited cruelly.

Fugitives from the law, they have no choice but to accept any wages offered them. Only the fact that "any wages" provide them a better living than they could earn at home, encourages this traffic.

The Californians apparently ignore entirely the danger that it provides an avenue for the entry into this country of diseased, criminal or subversive aliens.

With native farm labor amply available to anyone willing to pay decent wages, the Californians' proposal has nothing to recommend it. Instead it shows not only open disrespect for law but a cynical willingness to participate in a criminal operation.

City Manager Sees Much Good Coming in Future

Rounding out three years on the job, City Manager

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature).

The taxpayers of the U. S. are again forced to give their hard earned money to another foreign country, which does not want to help itself. Which ruler made the remark that it did not matter whether it was American dollars, French francs, English shillings or Russian rubles? Eisenhower then reached into the taxpayers' pockets without even consulting Congress.

One minute he yells, "cut taxes" and the next, "more money' to be somebody's sucker.

This so called Shah doesn't care for America, just its money. Many of our boys are coming back from hell itself and our country has no homes for many of them.

How many of us can do this?

Indecision on Taxes, Defense Spending Not Healthy for Business Community

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Two big uncertainties face the business world, and the Eisenhower administration has not yet been able to remove them.

One relates to the manner in which the United States plans to meet the threat of an H-bomb or A-bomb attack. The other relates to the fact that, with certain types of taxes due to be repealed next year, the treasury is confronted with a huge loss in revenue which can only be made up by some other kinds of taxes.

The news emanating from Washington in recent days has indicated pretty clearly that a balanced budget in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954, is out of the question and also that for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1955, it is touch and go whether a balance can be achieved.

Business planning is difficult when there is uncertainty. Even if the news is bad on the subject of taxes, business men want to know sufficiently in advance to figure out how to adjust themselves to a new situation. Prolonged indecision, therefore, is not very good for the health of the business community.

Administration officials hereabouts seem to think that decisions can be announced around the first of January. This is a bit late in planning for 1954's business operations.

One reason for this delay is that the process of examining the thousand and one estimates from the different departments and agencies cannot possibly be concluded sooner. Another is that the government has always waited till January 1 to disclose its budget.

But already some informal impressions are being conveyed to the public which show the handwriting on the wall.

Thus, Joseph M. Dodge, director of the budget, who is noted for his caution and conservative approach, has just made a speech which tells that the wind isn't blowing too favorably in the direction of budget balancing or tax reduction. He put it succinctly the other day:

"The facts suggest that we are in a costly trap of built-up dollar demands on the government for domestic purposes, many of them made mandatory by existing legislation, on which there have been imposed staggering expenditures for our national security. The source of payment is in taxes or in increased government debt."

Then the budget director goes on to say that every issue is subjected to the "impact of the extremely varied views and objectives arising from special areas of interest or responsibility and all the public and congressional pressures which can be made to serve them."

This is a reference, of course, to the political realism which every administration must take into account. But Mr. Dodge also points out that from an economic standpoint drastic budget cutting isn't healthy. He adds:

"There are the possible disturbing effects on the economy of action that is too abrupt — and we cannot ignore the large areas of human welfare that are so interwoven into government expenditures as to be substantially dependent upon them."

This point came to light earlier this week in a Wisconsin election, where the farmers elected a Democrat because of a fear that price supports might be taken away and a further drop in income brought about.

The Eisenhower administration is getting a taste of what is involved in the spending forced on the government by what Mr. Dodge calls "habits encouraged over the years" and by "the pressures that have been built up behind the discovery of how much can be done to benefit a particular group or area as a result of persuading the government to finance it from taxes levied on all the people."

But entirely apart from the pressure for such local projects is the momentum behind a bigger defense program. The pressure is twofold—from those who want to spend money locally on civilian defense and other projects in continental United States, and from those who want to spend more money for big bombers to insure an effective retaliation or threat of it so that civilian defenses will not be so necessary.

It's a debate involving billions and billions—and the talk about balancing the budget in fiscal year 1955 or even later becomes a hushed whisper as plans of that kind are bandied about in inner circles. Meanwhile, business waits for some decision and some leadership from Washington.

Enthusiasm Kept Alive by Church Contest Plan

God likes enthusiasm. So He would like to have church basements overflowing with young people. But if your basement is not adequate, rent your school gymnasium. It will be one of the best "home missionary" projects your church can ever sponsor.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-317: Newt B., aged 45, is a vigorous church worker and a very devout man. But he is open to any good ideas which will help the church.

"Dr. Crane, we had a dandy basketball game last week," he informed me when I was visiting at our summer home in Indiana last Spring.

"It was between the Christian Church and the Methodist Church. The school gymnasium was used.

"Our local physician was on one team. And the pastor of my church played for our team. Other young married men made up the balance of both teams.

"And it was certainly exciting. Everybody enjoyed the game and we had a big crowd. I wish we could have more games like that one."

God is not stationary. He moves onward. So progress must be the characteristic of the church.

But you can't make progress by stopping after one dandy basketball game.

When you find a method that will bring out crowds and produce wholesome rivalry, why quit? Keep it up every week in the year.

"But enthusiasm dies down after a contest," many church leaders have protested in years past.

Certainly it does. I've told you many times in the past that contests are like department store advertising. One ad this week will not fill the store next week or the rest of the year.

Of course not: So department stores advertise all the year around. And churches should learn this valuable lesson by keeping their contests going all 52 weeks in the year.

Vary the individual nature of the contest, but keep the basic rivalry going steadily.

In larger cities, the C. Y. O. and Y. M. C. A. thrive on athletic rivalry for youth.

Hi-Y clubs in each high school have tournaments. Then the champs of one school's 15 or 20 Hi-Y Clubs, will play the champs of neighboring high schools.

But in smaller cities which lack a Y. M. C. A. why not rent the local school gymnasium? It is actually cheaper in the long run than to raise a million dollars to build a competitive gymnasium to do what that school gymnasium can already offer the public.

So rent your school gymnasium. Or, if your church basement is adequate, get it functioning every week.

Obtain volunteers to chaperone the church basement one night apiece. In fact, it would be a boon if your church folks in smaller cities had your church basement running every week night with a different pair to chaperone it each evening.

Challenge other Sunday school classes or groups in your own church. Then let your champion teams play those of neighboring churches.

Our churches haven't begun to meet the needs of modern youth. And they can't excuse their failure on lack of facilities. For almost every town of even 500 population has a local school gym.

And most churches have a basement adequate to handle contests of different age groups.

Six livewire couples can chaperone a church basement every night in the week.

And the recruits for such zestful games and contests make excellent prospects for the priest or clergyman on Sunday morning.

No church should be dark during week nights. And unless you are attracting youth, you are going to seed. So start "sparkplugging" your church.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
International News Service

Friends, commuters and proxies, lend me your commutation tickets. New York is about to lose its last 5c ride.

Don't be surprised this winter if they put meters on revolving doors.

The last jitney excursion to go the derby route is the Brooklyn-Staten Island ferry.

It runs from the foot of 69th Street to the toe of Tottenville. It's the all-scenic route over the fog-bound berry-crate lanes.

The man who owned the jitney navy went to his uncollectable reward. His heirs don't want to spend the rest of their lives guessing which is the front end of the ferry boat.

So they are going to sell the bay Greyhound to the city. The subway now costs 15c, the bus lines are 15c, the tunnels are 50c and so are the bridges. I appeal to some public-spirituous citizen to save the last 5c excursion in New York.

Steerage to Staten Island will be 15c. With a shoe-shine and an accordion serenade by the Flotsam and Jetsam glee club it will be 20c.

Dinner at the captain's table will be optional.

This is your last opportunity to save nickel-plated tradition. Shall the harpies of the shore pluck the eagle of the sea?

It was the old merchant marine from Liberty Street to Jersey City that was the gateway to Newark. It was 5c a copy and no questions asked, or answered.

Dr. Brady Gives Name of Obstructician to Obstetricians Who Oppose Rooming-In

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Reporting on experience with rooming-in (baby kept beside mother's bed from birth till mother goes home) at Duke Hospital (JAMA-3-5-'51) Dr. Angus McBryde made this interesting comment:

"A year was required to persuade the staff that rooming-in was desirable.

"The greatest opposition came from the nurses and obstetricians, but even some of the pediatricians were hard to convince at first."

Reminds me of one case where I had to do the rumba to keep an untrained "nurse" from getting into the act before I could finish caring for the navel.

When she realized she had lost the chance to get her hand in, she cautioned me: "Doctor, be sure and leave me lots of cord." I never left less!

"The nurses resented any interference with the set nursing routine . . ." (They liked lots of cord.) "The obstetricians did not want the mother bothered."

Obstructicians would be a more appropriate name for 'em. They don't mind the nineteenth century institutions how much the mother worries about what may be happening to her baby away off in the plate glass show window.

And plenty does happen to unfortunate infants kept in the newborn nursery—in too many instances what happens is death from infectious diarrhea, carried from one infant to the next on the hands of the nurse who tends them.

* * *

But the old timers at Duke Hospital gave up their fight against the newfangled practice finally when a newspaper reported a nursery epidemic of infectious diarrhea in a Pennsylvania institution of nineteenth century vintage which killed many newborn infants.

* * *

It would be funny if it were not so dangerous how obstinately the old timers in practice cling to nineteenth century methods and beliefs even though newer knowledge has brought about improved techniques and experience has proved these developments desirable.

A great many hospitals, nurses, obstetricians and pediatricians still get by with the nineteen century routine — they are pretty cynical about it, too.

They say in effect "This is the way we do it here — if you don't like it you may go to — some other hospital or doctor."

But as one institution after another modernizes, this defiant attitude is bound to change. After all there are some people who do not like to be pushed around.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

In the studio—cameras pick up perfect image. Diagram represents television wave pattern as it appears on engineer's oscilloscope.

But outside interference—a passing truck, a neighbor's vacuum cleaner—can distort TV waves . . . scramble the wave pattern like this.

Scrambled TV waves ruin reception on ordinary TV sets. Image becomes streaked and distorted. Crosley tackled wave distortion . . . developed Picture-Sentry.

GUARDS AGAINST INTERFERENCE

Crosley Picture-Sentry (an advanced electronic circuit) controls TV wave pattern, guards against scrambling. Image stays as clear as in the studio.

24" Giant-Screen Custom Console. Genuine mahogany. Authentic Chippendale styling. Carved top molding. Also modern comb-grain white oak. Model shown, F-24CDMH, $575.00.*

Exclusive Picture-Sentry wipes out roll-over . . . streaks . . . and flutter . . . automatically gives you true-to-life pictures

Ask people who've already seen the new Crosley television sets. They'll tell you how unbelievably clear, sharp and real the picture is. Then go to your Crosley dealer's and see for yourself. He won't high-pressure you—he won't have to. Turn on a Picture-Sentry Crosley. Compare it with other makes. You convince yourself that Crosley television is your television. And don't forget to ask about these other Crosley features.

Crosley's built-in UHF reception gives you all 82 channels—other UHF-VHF combinations optional. Crosley prices include Federal excise tax and full-year warranty on picture tube as well as 90 days on chassis parts! Permanent pinpoint focus . . . no dial fussing. All rich wood cabinets . . . not metal, not plastic. Super picture power . . . ideal for fringe areas. Removable picture window . . . you can clean window and tube face yourself. Brightness and tone controls in front, in easy reach. Illuminated dial on custom sets . . . no more squinting. When and if color comes—your '54 Crosley will receive in black and white all programs broadcast through the compatible color system being developed by the television industry.

Backed by Crosley's More Than 30 Years' Experience in Electronics

Bone-Breaking Days Behind for Boy, 7

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 7-year-old boy whose legs have been fractured more than 60 times due to a brittle bone condition is recovering from a series of unusual operations designed to prevent further breaks.

Terry Estes has spent much of his life at St. Louis Children's Hospital since the condition became evident five years ago when he began to walk.

Physicians placed metal pins in each of his thigh bones and in his lower leg bones for support. As the bones grow longer, each pin must be removed and replaced by a longer one.

Since the treatment began 18 months ago, he has suffered only one break. Physicians say he can now look forward to normal activity as an adult.

Motorist Signals Turn, 2nd Car Breaks Arm

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP)—Gerald Lambert, 28, of Plainwell, Mich., obeyed the law. A passing motorist didn't. So far Lambert's the only one to suffer.

Lambert was signaling for a left turn here yesterday when a motorist swung by at close quarters. The passing car struck his arm, breaking it.

Police are looking for the other driver.

Rhee Is Restless as Time Begins Shrinking for U.N.

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Time is developing into one of the most dangerous elements of the Korean negotiations.

The United States and its United Nations Allies struggle against a shrinking timetable of their own making and against the Communists to whom time is of no importance. And they struggle against an impatient, aging Syngman Rhee to whom time is important for him it is running out.

When the Korean truce was signed at Panmunjom last July 26, attached to it was carefully worked out schedule providing specific actions to be accomplished within specific time limits. It looks lovely on paper. translated into calendar dates, it provided:

July 27—A cease-fire.

Oct. 28—The start of the political conference to settle Korea's future.

Dec. 24—The end of the period during which "explainers" would attempt to persuade unwilling prisoners to go home.

Jan. 23—A decision by the political conference on the final disposition of still unwilling prisoners.

Feb. 21—Unwilling prisoners declared to have civilian status and removed to the neutral country of their choice. The dissolution of the neutral nations Repatriation Commission.

Included in the time table against which we now race also could be Jan. 26.

It is the result of a corollary agreement between the United States and Syngman Rhee that the U. S. would walk out of the political conference if, after 90 days it became convinced that negotiations were futile.

The opening date of the political conference already has been abandoned.

The Communists have demanded and the neutral Repatriation Commission has recommended that the Dec. 24 date for ending talks to prisoners be extended.

The period of mounting tempers has seen U. S. Marines move to the fringe of the neutral zone housing some 22,500 anti-Communist and 359 pro-Communist prisoners, with guns pointed both at the Communists and the restless South Koreans.

And, as of today, the Reds start their "explanations" to war prisoners 20 days behind schedule in an atmosphere filled with tension, suspicion and ill-will.

When the United States went to the rescue of invaded South Korea in the summer of 1950, it entered not only a conflict but a world completely alien. It was an ancient world which had learned the new words of democracy but used them in a different way.

So, our differences with Syngman Rhee, an ardent patriot impatient of democracy's inevitable delays.

So, too, the present mounting danger. The United States [illegible] for the rights of man but grows impatient. The Reds, caring nothing for human values and regarding time only in the sense of histroy, believe they can outwait us.

An explosion could result.

Engineer Orders Crew to Jump Before Crash

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A locomotive engineer last night ordered three crewmen to jump to safety seconds before his Baltimore & Ohio freight crashed into another train, carrying him to his death.

The dead man was John Paul Bolin, 49, of Decatur. The crewmen were uninjured.

Sheriff David M. Peters said Bolin's locomotive, rounding the curve, struck the caboose on another freight which had stopped to take on an additional car.

India Will Get More U. S. Aid

Industrial Program Is Designed to Decrease Unemployment

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's fledgling industrialization program is about to get a potent shot in the arm from the United States.

America's foreign aid organizations—the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) and private agencies such as the Ford Foundation—are ready to give a mighty push to the Nehru government's campaign to step up industry.

In addition to technical help, the FOA for the first time will give a substantial economic lift to India's industries. U. S. Point Four experts assigned to Indian industry will be increased from 5 to 50 in the next year.

Since Point Four came to India late in 1951, the Ford Foundation and other private American groups have channeled nearly all their assistance to Indian agriculture to help end famine.

But famine no longer is India's most urgent problem. The new challenge is staggering unemployment, a statistician's nightmare.

* * *

"That's the reason behind the switch from farm to factory.

Most Indians out of work—and the estimates range from 50 million to 90 million—are really the "under employed," landless farm laborers who drift over the countryside during the jobless off season.

The problem grows by leaps and bounds. Indian official estimate that two million youths reach working age each year.

Another complication is the fact India's economy jumps from the one-man craftsman level to that of the big tycoon, with nothing resembling the U. S. small businessman in between.

* * *

The Ford Foundation has turned from stress on backing training programs for county agent-style village farm instructors to emphasis on development of small private and cooperative manufacturing enterprises.

Next year the bulk of increased U. S. technical help will go to the engineering, chemical and textile industries. Economic aid programs are still under negotiation. Possibly economic aid will come through supporting Indian government industrial credit programs.

The funds will be taken from India's 60 million dollar share of a special economic aid appropriation over and above already allocated technical aid money for the year ending June 30, 1954.

GUATEMALA, Guatemala (AP) — Guatemala's Congress approved a Communist - sponsored resolution last night calling for an "energetic protest" against "criminal aggression by imperialist troops" in British Guiana. Rugged Old Tombstone Celebrates Minus Dice

TOMBSTONE, Ariz. (AP) — John Heath will be "hanged" again today in this "town too tough to die."

The Earps and the Clantons will shoot it out along the streets.

PHS Students Get Respite While Teachers Confer

St. Michael's Group Elects Pat Fraiser

Freshmen children of Mary at St. Michael High School elected Patricia Fraiser to the post of perfect at elections this week.

Other officers elected were Ronald Elmy, vice perfect; Julia Ames, secretary; and James Brower, treasurer.

The group, comprised entirely of freshmen, meets monthly for spiritual and social activities. The organization also plans to hold one Communion Day a week.

World Billiards King Dies in England at 80

LANCING, England (AP) — Tom Reece, 80, who compiled the world billiards record of 499,135 points in 1907, died today.

After five weeks of play Reece was still shooting without a miss, and he then declared 499,135 points was enough although, under rules of the game in that day, he could have played longer.

St. Freds Holds Columbus Day Panel Discussion

The anniversary of the discovery of America was commemorated Monday at St. Frederick High School with a panel discussion presented by the sophomores.

Chairmen of the two groups were Norma Thyle and Ruth Schachern.

Speakers participating were Julie Bailey, Frances Martell and James Theeringer.

Other student orators who took part in the discussion were Kathleen Kinch, Michael Carry, Margaret Bunker and Robert Ashby.

To Wear New Uniforms

HOLLAND (AP) — The 108-piece Holland High School band will wea its new military style blue and red uniforms with white trim at the Holland-Dowagiac football gam Friday night. Interested citizens raised $5,000 toward the cost and the board of education contributed $2,000.

PHS to Present Cinderella Play

Slate Matinee Shows Nov. 11, 12, 13 With 1 Evening Performance

"Cinderella" is the fall production of the Pontiac High School Speech Department's children's theater, to be presented Nov. 11, 12 and 13 at the high school.

One evening performance on Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. will spotlight the three-day run of matinee shows designed specifically for the convenience of elementary school children.

Sponsored by the Pontiac Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, the project is directed by Miss Mary Parrish, high school drama instructor.

Requests for reserved seats will be accepted only for the evening performance. Reservations for that program will be available beginning Nov. 5.

Paper Greeted at St. Michael

St. Frederick Clansmen Stage Pep Rally and Pantomime

Pontiac High School was devoid of the clatter of teeners' feet yesterday and today while teachers attended a Michigan Education Association conference at Birmingham.

While hard working PHS'ers were enjoying the longed for respite, St. Michael students were busy devouring the first edition of the school paper, The Michaelite, and war whoops were heard from St. Frederick High School when clansmen get together for a pep assembly highlighted by a student supervised pantomime skit.

PONTIAC HIGH

Tanks were the subject of the day recently in the corridors of the red-bricked teepee after a group of Tomahawkers visited an Army Reserve unit.

VICKY

Scribe Vicky Micu relates the wonderment of all, when students learned the cost and size of the iron-clad "monsters," approximately $90,000 and 30 tons respectively.

Prospective ruler-rappers, better known as the Future Teachers Club, along with adviser Mrs. Ann Morrow, plan to attend the Teachers Institute today and participate in a panel discussion there.

ST. MICHAEL

The air was filled with the rustle of paper when St. Michaelites gathered all scraps for the recent school paper drive. After the students "weighed in," the junior class emerged as victor, winning 15 per cent of the contest proceeds.

MARGARET

Sophomores are revolving in a whirl of activity as plans began to formulate for the annual Halloween dance.

Margaret Martin reports that whispers of "sabotage" were heard in the corridors recently when blasts shook the school building. It seems senior chemists were making oxygen and the experiment came off with a bang.

ST. FREDERICK

The spirit of Christmas is already invading the corridors of St. Frederick, according to correspondent Mary Drake. Choral groups have begun rehearsal for the annual Christmas play, as classes start preparations for Yuletide festivities.

MARY

Two guest speakers were welcomed into the high school fold when Joan Mauer, executive secretary of Marygrove College Alumnae, spoke to the junior and senior girls on the advantages of a college education. Harry Simonck also told the two classes about the Junior Achievement program and how it operates in Pontiac.

Says U. S. Too Reliant on Foreign Materials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Malone (R-Nev) said today the United States is "much too dependent" on foreign sources for strategic materials being stockpiled against the possibility of war.

He said 77 per cent of all critical materials now stockpiled by the government came from abroad.

Malone is chairman of a senate interior subcommittee which opened secret hearings here yesterday into the stockpiling program.

The original idea of the program was to build up stocks of critical materials against the chance that war might cut off sources of U. S. supply. But Malone, in an interview in advance of today's committee session, said that a "great majority" of 75 critical materials on the stockpile list can be developed in this country.

Chinese Convicts Pay for Own Prison Food

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese Reds have decreed that convicts in Kwangsi province serving sentences under a year must provide their own food while behind bars, the independent newspaper Wah Kiu Po reported today.

It said more than 110,000 prisoners will be affected.

The paper said the Communists consider the cost of feeding the prisoners too great to be borne by the state.

Find Whisky Still

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Federal agents found an old-fashioned whisky still yesterday in a fashionable residence on one of Tulsa's busiest thoroughfares. They confiscated 600 gallons of mash and arrested a man and two women.

Forty square miles of glaciers cling to Washington's Mt. Ranier —the largest single-peak glacier system in the United States.

White House Drinks Usually Non-Alcoholic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Press Secretary Murray Snyder says White House refreshments are "normally non-alcoholic" but he has no comment about the President's private parties.

However, Snyder said yesterday, wine is sometimes used at diplomatic functions where protocol requires an exchange of toasts.

His statements came in response to requests for comment on a remark by Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance. Dr. Hooton told a Methodist meeting yesterday he was sure no liquor was served at public or private White House affairs.

Buys Controlling Interest

MIDDLEVILLE (AP) — Edward Lamb Enterprises, Inc., of Toledo, has purchased a controlling interest in the White Products Corp., maker of electric and gas water heaters. Gerald L. White will continue as president.

Warns of Reds in Guatamala

Sen. Wiley Tells Group U. S. Must Not Overlook Danger in Hemisphere

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today "communism has established a strong beachhead in Guatemala" and has taken root to "considerable extent" elsewhere in Latin America.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in an address prepared for a luncheon meeting of the City Club here, said one way to assure the continued security of the United States is to make sure "that we do not overlook our own back yard, our own hemisphere."

He said a foreign relations subcommittee will shortly issue a study of the worldwide strength of the Communist party, country by country.

* * *

"This study," he continued, "will indicate the considerable extent to which communism has unfortunately taken root practically right 'under our own noses' in this hemisphere."

He spoke of a Communist "beachhead" in Guatemala, a Central American country close to the Panama Canal, and "serious developments" in British Guiana, where the British government moved swiftly recently to oust officials it accused of Communist scheming.

Wiley said there is reported to be a school in Prague, Czechoslavakia, "which is graduating literally thousands of Red agents and pouring them out through the underdeveloped areas of the world," and he added:

"Reportedly, the bulk of the personnel for this school of revolution comes from Communist parties in Latin America, from leftwing intellectual groups, and from the Latin American labor federation, headed by Vicente Lombardo Toledano of Mexico."

* * *

"Today," Wiley said, "Moscow is training what she hopes will be the future Red rulers of Brazil, Argentina, Costa Rica, Cuba, Panama, the Dominican Republic and other Latin American lands."

The Communist party is outlawed in many South and Central American nations, Wiley said, but this "does not prevent leading Communists from occupying key places in intellectual life, in the trade union movement, often in government itself, and from constantly fomenting trouble so as to fulfill Moscow's plans for global revolution."

British Seek Arrest of Nobleman in U. S.

WINCHESTER, England (AP) — Hampshire County police say they have issued a warrant for the arrest of Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, who is now in the United States.

The police last night disclosed only that the charge against the 27-year-old baron was "serious" and was for an alleged criminal, not a civil, offense. They said, however, that it was not one for which he could be extradited to England.

He was reported to have been in Texas the past week and to have visited with his sister and her husband in Waco, Tex. He arrived in the United States from southern France, where he had been reported ill.

In September, he resigned from the board of a British publicity firm.

Bride Sues Husband for Fault as Fiance

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A bride of eight months has filed a $10,000 suit against her husband for injuries she suffered in a fall from his car one month before their marriage.

Mrs. Nancy E. Livingston said in her complaint that her then husband-to-be failed to close a car door properly and she fell out when he made a turn. Mrs. Livingston said cuts on her upper lip and right eye permanently disfigured her face.

Attorneys for the husband seek to have the case thrown out when it comes up Oct. 29. They contend a wife cannot bring a damage suit against her husband. The wife's attorneys argue the accident happened on Dec. 16, 1952, a month before their marriage.

Big Business Runs U. S., Says Reuther

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and its affiliated United Auto Workers, said yesterday, "Big business has taken over the government of the United States."

Speaking at the 17th annual convention of the CIO International Woodworkers of America, Reuther said President Eisenhower is "a great man and a great military leader."

But, he added, "people are worried about the leadership they are getting from the government and the recent vote in Wisconsin in which a Democrat defeated the Republicans there for the first time in history is the handwriting on the wall."

Ike Gives Approval to Movie Portrayal

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For the first time, Columbia Pictures says, President Eisenhower has authorized his portrayal in a movie.

The Chief Executive will be played by an actor in "The Long Grey Line," based on "Bringing up the Brass," autobiography of West Point's athletic instructor, Sgt. Marty Maher.

The studio said a letter from James C. Hagerty, the Presidents' press secretary, authorized an actor to show Eisenhower as a cadet at the academy and an actor to depict the President in a scene where Maher makes an appeal to him. The film, starring Tyrone Power, will be made on location at West Point next spring.

Reds Demand Hand in Trieste

Russia Warns Big Three She Expects to Have Vote in Decision

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia warned the Big Three last night that she will tolerate no decision on disputed Trieste unless the Soviets have a hand in it.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky issued the challenge before the 11-nation U. N. Security Council deliberating a Russian request that the council try again to set up an international administration for both zones of the Adriatic territory and give it independence.

The warning obviously was aimed at the American, British and French foreign ministers meeting in London today with the explosive Trieste issue high on their agenda.

* * *

The Big Three meeting put a restrainer on all other areas of the Trieste dispute. The council postponed further discussion of the issue until Tuesday afternon, despite Russian objections. In Belgrade and Trieste city, scenes of demonstrations and violence in the past week, authorities kept a close watch to prevent trouble.

Vishinsky declared his government would not countenance any "unilateral" action on Trieste reached by the United States, Britain, Italy and Yugoslavia.

This was a rap at Yugoslav President Tito's proposal that the Trieste issue be considered at a conference of those four nations.

U. S. and British officials indicated they would await the outcome of the London meeting to decide what tack to take in the council debate.

* * *

Italy and Yugoslavia, rival claimants to Trieste, both appeared to be standing pat until they learn the outcome of the London talks.

Vishinsky led off his remarks last night with a rehash of Russia's earlier charge that the United States and Britain violated the 1947 Italian Peace Treaty by their decision to turn over Trieste's Zone A—occupied by British and American troops—to Italy.

Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the council that the Allied decision on Trieste was "an honest attempt to reach stability in a vexed part of the world."

Lodge accused the Russians of dredging up the Trieste issue—long dormant in the council—just to make trouble and spread propaganda.

Thieves Pilfer Diapers

SMILE OF FREEDOM—John M. Higgins, 45, smiles after being released from the Los Angeles jail where he spent 40 months as the prison's "forgotten man." Higgins was jailed for writing "poison pen" letters to a judge who figured in his divorce 13 years ago, but never has been tried. A letter to the Circuit Court of Appeals secured his release on $250 bond.

Boy Singer Denies Assaulting Girl, 13

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Why, it just didn't happen."

That's the response, through an attorney, of 14-year-old singer Jimmy Boyd to a civil suit accusing him and two other boys of having assaulted a 13-year-old girl.

The freckle-faced television and recording singer, who became famous with his rendition of "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," was named in a suit filed yesterday in behalf of the girl's mother. It demands $35,000 damages and alleges the girl was taken to a secluded part of Griffith Park Sept. 24, assaulted and beaten.

Named with young Boyd were Edward Slaughter, 17, and Wesley Seville, 16.

Atty. Bernard Reich, representing Boyd's mother, Mrs. Winnie Boyd, said Jimmy admitted accompanying the two boys on an auto ride with the girl but denied there was any attack on her.

Reich quoted Jimmy: "I've never had anything at all to do with this girl."

The attorney said his investigation showed no complaint was made to police of any attack.

Mindy Proves Hit Discs Unnecessary for Success

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—The fact that she's never had a hit record doesn't seem to bother Mindy Carson. Her sleep is sound and her face unlined by worry.

She says, in fact, that it hasn't hurt her career one whit. She still packs 'em in on her personal appearances in theaters and nightclubs.

"Nowadays," she says, "hit records aren't essential to success in show business. If I got a hit record now, it would make things easier, sure. It would be gravy. But I can get along without it."

Her Columbia records, incidentally, aren't flops by any means, but they just haven't been smash hits. It's a situation which shocks many in the music business, because Mindy should be way up on top.

She has a voice and she has style and, besides, she's pretty. Everyone thought "Honey Darlin'" would do it for her, but it didn't.

"For the last five years," Mindy says, "it's been tough for a singer to get good theater and nightclub dates without a hit record. But that seems to be changing now.

And the reason, which Miss Carson was too nice to say point blank, is that too many recording stars were stage duds. They'd get out before an audience and perform like high school sophomores.

Perhaps an audience will show up once to see a singer, on the strength of his recordings, but that's all. They want to be entertained, and with professional artistry.

So Mindy and other smart singers like the Ames Brothers and Fran Warren concentrate on perfecting their acts.

They let the hit records fall where they may, so it's a good thing records are unbreakable these days.

THE POPULAR SIDE: Notice how the top vocalists these days seem to be men? Very few gals are clicking, for some unexplained reason.

Bill Haley, the Essex recording star, claims that he writes his wild numbers during the recording session, which isn't too hard to believe.

Jane Froman points to Bing Crosby as an example of her theory that vocalists who "sing straight" stay on top longer.

ON THE CLASSICS: Happy samplings from the compositions of the Spaniards Albeniz, Granados, Falla and Turina are crammed into one 12-incher just issued by MGM on the crest of a wave of interest in Iberian music. Gaston Poulet conducts the London Symphony on the record.

* * *

SUREFIRE: "Pa-Paya Mama" (Perry Como, RCA.)

SLEEPER: "For Now and Always" (Lu Ann Simms, Columbia).

GOOD ONES: "Farewell — So Long—Goodby" (Bill Haley, Essex); "Just Walkin' in the Rain" (Cathy Ryan, MGM); "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie Blues" (Arthur Godfrey, Columbia); "Tiger Rag" (Dorothy Collins, Audivox); "You're Thoughtless" (Betty Madigan, MGM); "There I Go" (Sandy Solo, Derby); "Blowing Wild" (Franklin Laine, Columbia).

POP ALBUMS: It's geography week with Columbia's new albums. There's "New Orleans" with Joe Stafford and Frankie Laine, and from there you can take a "Caribbean Cruise" with Paul Weston's Orchestra.

After that, tag along with Percy Faith on a beautiful album of "Continental Music."

Faith has a companion album, playing "Romantic Music," but romance is nongeographic.

CLASSICAL: Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra do Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition" and Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite" (Columbia).

Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet Overture," "1812 Overture" and "Capriccio Italien" on the new Epic label are played by van Kempen and the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra.

Muskegon Boy Battles Illness; Sees Comeback

MUSKEGON (AP) — Little Bryan Dunnewin has lost a leg but not his fight — "I'm on my way back."

"I've certainly had my share of sickness," he says, "but I'll be back in school and riding my bike in a few days."

Twelve-year-old Bryan's illness started last winter. Doctors amputated a leg after diagnosing bone cancer. He recovered quickly and soon was running and riding his bicycle on an artificial leg.

Still he loved athletics. He had played one year of Little League baseball, and was regarded as a brilliant prospect by his coach.

Maybe, Bryan mused, he would be back scooping up grounders before too long. Then some weeks ago another illness struck.

Bryan was taken to Hackley Hospital with lung congestion. Physicians shook their heads. He needed two blood transfusions and three "lung taps" to remove surplus fluid from his lungs He pulled through again.

Bennie Oosterbaan, football coach at the University of Michigan, and Frank Leahy, Notre Dame gridiron coach, wrote Bryan, wishing him a swift recovery.

"I'll be back at Bunker School in the next week," Bryan says.

Automobile manufacturers each year use more cotton than manufacturers of shirts, rugs and carpets combined.

Crowded Airport Cited by Witness

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — An American Airlines pilot has testified that so many planes were waiting to land here the morning a sister ship crashed that pilots had difficulty maintaining their flight patterns.

Capt. E. F. Campbell said yesterday he feared his fuel supply would run below the required minimum if he waited to land Sept. 16, and so he set his New York-Albany flight down near Hartford, Conn.

All 28 persons aboard the ill-fated ship, inbound from Boston en route to Chicago, were killed when the plane struck two radio towers, plunged to earth and burned.

Campbell testified at the closing session of a two-day Civil Aeronautics Board hearing on the crash.

Previous testimony indicated 9 or 10 planes were waiting to land the foggy morning of the crash and that the doomed ship had circled the feld for about 45 minutes prior to the crash.

Guitar Playing Record Set, Mayor Stops Champ

NAZARE, Portugal (AP) — Silvino da Silva claims some sort of record for guitar playing—15 hours without stopping.

He finally gave up on the advice of the local mayor, who was getting a little tired of Da Silva's repertoire.

10 Die as Switch Engine Rams Into French Train

SEREZIN, France (AP)—Ten persons were reported killed and 15 seriously injured today when a switch engine rammed into the rear of a suburban train in the station here.

Thirty persons in the train were reported slightly hurt.

In 1952, petroleum and its running-mate, natural gas, supplied 62 per cent of the nation's energy.

TV Detective an 'Old Hand'

Got First Experience as Threatrical Cop on Broadway

Ralph Bellamy, playing a television private eye, insists that there be no adverse reflection upon real-life police enforcement officers in the content of his scripts.

The star of TV's "Man Against Crime" series had his first contact with policemen when he agreed to play Jim McLeod, tough detective of Sidney Kingsley's Broadway hit "Detective Story."

Bellamy prepared for his role by learning all about New York City policemen. He stalked to patrolmen on their beats, accompanied them in radio cars and lived at police station houses to get first-hand information about law enforcement personnel.

In the weekly episodes Mike Barnett solves many cases, but never at the expense of ridicule for regular police officers. He is employed by insurance firms, jewelers, individuals and like persons who engage him for logical reasons in the script as the "Man Against Crime."

Bellamy had a long and distinguished acting career before tackling television. He was born in Chicago, June 17, 1904, the son of an advertising agency executive.

His ancestors include George Anne Bellamy (1733-1788), London actress who played Juliet to David Garrick's Romeo; Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward," said to have been translated into more languages than any book except the Bible; and E. E. Rexford, composer of "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Bellamy came to New York in 1929 to play on Broadway in "Town Boy," which opened on a Friday night and closed after the Saturday matinee. He immediately returned to his first success — stock. However, he tried Broadway again the following year in 'Roadside" which clicked and brought him four film and three stage offers.

He accepted one of the film assignments and went to Hollywood for a dozen years, making some 80 pictures beginning with "The Secret Six" starring Wallace Beery. His work in "The Awful Truth" won him an Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences runner-up citation.

He accepted the role of Mike Barnett on television's "Man Against Crime" series while he was still playing to full houses in "Detective Story." Since the play closed he has devoted his talents exclusively to television.

Bellamy is six feet, one and one-half inches tall, has light brown hair and blue eyes. He is married to the former Alice Murphy, who joins him in his favorite hobby of taking Summer cruises through Southern waters aboard freighters.

RALPH BELLAMY

Ralph Bellamy stars as Mike Barnett, hard-hitting hero of the exciting show "Man Against Crime." The fast-paced detective series moved to a Sunday time recently, beginning a new season of 'who-dunnit thrills.'

Reds Kill Student for Refusing Job

HONG KONG (AP)—A 28-year-old medical student who refused a Chinese Communist government post was forced to march more than 15 miles to his execution spot. And his relatives had to pay for the bullet that killed him.

Huang Lucy, a niece of the victim, now is in Hong Kong. She says Huang Chuen, a third year medical student at Shanghai University, decided in 1950 to spend his summer holidays in the village of Taj Shing in Kiangsu Province. While there, Huang was called upon to take over the post of village chieftain.

He declined because he wanted to return to school. For refusing, he was thrown into prison and later executed.

Youth Knew Economics but He'll Get Wiser

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Eric will learn.

Nine-year-old Eric Nuttall said yes when his mother asked if he planned to cut the Nuttall lawn last summer.

"Are you going to pay me this year?" he asked.

His mother opined the 25 cents they paid him last year ought to be about right again this year. But Eric had different ideas.

"I think I should only be paid ten cents this year," he said. "I'm bigger now and it's easier for me to do it."

Bootmaker Finds Cowboys' Feet Running Oversize

FORT WORTH, Tex. (INS)—The old-time cowboy couldn't begin to fill the boots of his modern counter part.

Today's cowboys have bigger feet.

It all came to light recently when H. J. Justin & Sons, Inc. of Fort Worth, the nation's largest manufacturer of cowboy boots, dropped the extra charge for oversize boots.

For many years in the boot company's 74-year history, an extra charge of one dollar was made for any boot over size 8½, because they had to be specially made.

In recent times the extra charge was made only for boots over size 12, and now it has been dropped completely. Justin bootery now keeps size 13 in stock.

John Juston Sr., board chairman and son of the founder of the bootmaking company, explained that at the turn of the century a cowboy with a boot size of 8½ was a "big-footed man."

He recalls many men in those days who wore size 4½ or 5. Now he said it is only on rare occasions that Justin sells a size 5 or 6.

Justin blames the big feet on the change in living habits of cowboys.

"The old cowboy never walked anywhere," he explained. He used his feet only to climb up to the stirrup. From the time a boy was a toddler on a ranch he began to live in the saddle."

Party Boom on Potomac

Veteran Caterers Report All Past Records Broken

By PATTI SIMMONS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Two of Washington's top caterers are having the biggest party-boom in their history.

Huberts, in business a half a century, declare "there's never been anything like it." Ditto Avignone Freres who have dished up high-society delicacies here for 30 years. Customers of the latter outfit include the Russian embassy, Perle Mesta and Gwen Cafritz.

Clarence Ellis, who runs Ridgewell caterers, says he's been too busy to stop and add up the money, money.

The society page barometer for September alone recorded 71 official, diplomatic and service set events in 30 days—or 25 receptions, 15 cocktail fetes, 17 dinners, 11 luncheons, plus a tea, a dance and one roast pig party to celebrate the Chinese Moon Festival.

Responsible, at least partly, for this party cyclone were the visits of the President of Panama, the Crown Prince of Japan and the invasion of the Finance Ministers for the International Bank and Monetary Fund conclave.

Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. George Humphrey took one look at the guests, tabulated in the neighborhood of 7000, at the reception they tossed for a convention of American bankers and gave up handshaking after 45 minutes.

October got off to a roaring start, with functions galore posted for the King and Queen of Greece, plus President Eisenhower's gala birthday doings at Hershey, Pa., and Gwen Cafritz's first party of the season.

Owner of Avignone Freres, Pierre Orcino points out a new trend in embassy entertaining which is getting worse. Back about five years ago, a caterer often got two or three weeks' notice when he was expected to stage a diplomatic clambake.

Today, Orcino reveals, a lot of countries are planning their parties only two or three days ahead of time. He blames "global tensions."

A check on the cabinet party-pulse shows the couple which has done the most entertaining since the Republicans took over is Secretary of State and Mrs. John Foster Dulles.

They chalked up 13 dinners between February and May alone. Besides these black-tie events, the Secretary of State is tossing his own stag dinners while Mrs. Dulles goes in for small ladies' teas.

Getting into the Republican dinner swim, however, can work havoc with the budget. One caterer quotes $25 a head for serving up the complete eight-course-works to 20 guests. Besides soup, fish, filet mignon and such, your $500 dinner tab thoughtfully includes liquor, flowers, waiters and dishwashers.

When an embassy takes on 1000 free-loaders on their national holiday all they've got to do is write out a check to the tune of about $3000.

For this it's up to the caterer to produce a batch of turkeys or hams, probably 17 gallons of macaroni, 10 gallons of shrimp, 1500 canapes, 1000 or more small pastries, 40 gallons of ice cream, plus napkins, glasses, china, waiters, bartenders and moppers-up.

But embassy menus aren't nearly so extravagant today, one caterer observes, as when Uncle Sam's lend-lease was in operation. Then an ambassador never kicked at a $4000 bill for one reception. Today the first question a diplomat usually discusses is price.

Long, Long Ago

CONCORD, N. H. (UP) — New Hampshire, a Republican stronghold for many years, wasn't always a joy to the GOP. During Franklin Pierce's term as president, the Democratic party lost control of New Hampshire. Pierce was a native of Hillsborough.

Once every 50 minutes, on the average, someone is burned to death in the United States.

100 Years Since Perry Opened Door to Japan

WASHINGTON (UP)—Just 100 years ago Commodore Matthew C. Perry led four United States Navy ships into a Japanese harbor. Centuries of Nipponese isolation were ended.

Perry's expedition started a period of dazzling progress in the island kingdom.

Bands played, thousands cheered that day—July 14, 1853. Perry went ashore at Kurihama, 30 miles south of Tokyo. According to the National Geographic Magazine, the commodore was sweating under the weight of a full dress uniform on a blistering day.

Perry met a representative of the emperor and handed him a rosewood and gold box. The box held a letter from President Millard Fillmore. The letter asked "friendship, commerce, a supply of coal and provisions and protection for our shipwrecked people."

The simple Japanese folk were frightened by the black smoke from the paddle-wheelers. Suddenly a whistle blew and the entire crew of one Japanese guard boat jumped over the side.

All in all, the operation was considered a success. Nobody got hurt much and the wet crew dried off.

In February, 1854, Perry returned with a larger fleet and more gifts for the emperor. One of the presents was a telegraph instrument. Another was a miniature railroad, some firearms, and books.

A treaty was signed at Yokohama on March 31. This called for Japan to open the ports of Shimoda, 80 miles southwest of Tokyo, and Hakodate, on the northern island of Hokkaido, to U. S. ships.

An American consul was allowed, and limited trade was permitted. Within 50 years Japan amazed the rest of the world by becoming a modern state. A railway network was developed, banks were started and industries boomed.

Japan has not forgotten Commodore Perry. In 1953-54 at Kurihama, Hakodate, Tokyo, and Yokohama ceremonies of remembrance and gratitude will be held.

Gunman Calls Twice, 2nd Time Is Welcome

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — A 26-year-old housewife told police that a bandit approached her twice, but she didn't mind too much the last time.

Mrs. Gloria Abadie said the first time the gunman threatened her with a pistol he took $700 in jewelry. The second time, a month later, he returned the loot intact, and apologized for taking it.

Admiral's exclusive Optic Filter then goes to work on this nearly twice-as-bright picture, just as a photographer uses a filter to give his pictures more depth and clarity. UF Volunteers to Show Film

Color Picture Will Be Shown to Local Groups Requesting It

Pontiac Area United Fund's trained volunteers, in preparation for the United Fund drive opening Tuesday, are ready to show the new color-sound film, "The You in United Fund," to local groups.

Work of local agencies supported by the United Fund campaign, scheduled to start its appeal for $487,200 Tuesday, is the basis of the 17-minute movie.

Dwight S. Adams, United Fund executive secretary, invites any wanting to see the film to contact United Fund campaign headquarters in Hotel Pontiac, FE 2-0159. Four separate prints of the film have been made so that more than one group can view it at once, avoiding date conflicts.

Volunteers, who also give a brief talk on the movie, include Donald A. Brown, Ray Munde, Carleton C. Patterson Jr., Anthony Renne, Farrell Roberts and David Speer.

Other projectionists are John B. Wilson, Paul Meredith, Roy R. Trent, George Luenberger, and John W. Herlinger and Gordon G. Smith.

Volunteers will show the new film to at least 50 groups this month, Adams said.

Talks at County Teachers' Meet

Former Red Prisoner Says Classroom Study Best Defense

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

"Communism can be exposed in the American classroom," declared the key speakers before the annual Oakland County-Michigan Education Association conference which opened Thursday in Birmingham High School.

The two-day conclave continues today, with John Fisher, noted Canadian news analyst and commentator, speaking this afternoon. County teachers participated in a series of education workshops this morning.

Robert A. Vogeler, American businessman who fell victim to the mockmy of Communist justice, and Dr. Robert A. Skaife; field secretary of the National Education Association, Washington, D. C., delivered pleas before the Oakland County teachers asking that communism be taught so boys and girls could judge for themselves.

"I am proud of the American teacher," said Vogeler.

He commended the teachers for advancing the beliefs in tolerance, patience and concern for one's neighbors and all mankind.

Stating that he had known and lived with adults who were raised believing that the rights of the state came before the rights of the individual, he said this type of mind is "ripe for Communist thinking."

Vogeler, imprisoned in Budapest in 1949 and accused of "espionage, sabotage and conspiracy against the Hungarian government," was held incommunicado for 17 months.

"What the Communist wanted was my confession that would implicate the United States in a conspiracy against Russia," he said.

Released after interrogations which lasted from two to 14 hours over 17 months and after physical and mental torture, Vogeler has taken on a life mission of "telling my story so that people will know that it can happen here if we are not constantly on the alert."

Dr. Skaife declared that he had made a survey of the entire nation's schools and colleges and found that the majority resented congressional investigation of teachers and professors.

"They feel, that inasmuch as education in this country has always been a local perogative, investigating, too, should be done on a local level," said Dr Skaife.

Continuing, he pointed out to the teachers that it was up to them to let their public know what was going on in the schools and that if their public relations were good they would not have to worry about their communities not understanding them.

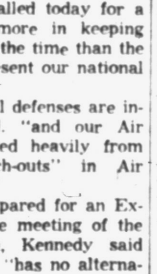
Mother's 'White Lie' Blinds Son to Approaching Death

Last night at a cocktail party I was introduced to the gamest person I have ever met — a pink cheeked old doll with blue-gray hair.

Deems Taylor told me her story later at Sardi's.



BILLY ROSE

Mrs. Winfield—let's call her that—was the widow of a wealthy man who had died in his late 40's of leukemia. The tragedy wasn't an unexpected one, for a few years earlier his brother had died of the same disease— a type of cancer which attacks the blood cells and often kills in a few days. Moreover, their father had also succumbed to the same malady.

Deems first met Mrs. Winfield about a year after her husband's death, and she confided that her son, George, who was 14 at the time, had gone into a mental tailspin when his dad passed on, although he was unaware of his father's hereditary illness.

Eventually the lad straightened out, and it wasn't until he was in his 20's, and on the eve of marriage, that he learned the real reason for his father's death from a bumbling, though well-meaning friend.

The frightened young man went ahead with his marriage — but with little else after that. He kept pretty much to himself, gave up the sports and travel he had been so fond of, and made certain his marriage was a childless one.

By the time he was 30, it looked as if both his marriage and sanity were going to crack up. To him, every cold, every headache, was the beginning of the end.

One night after dinner, Mrs. Winfield asked her son to join her in the music room for a chat.

"It's taken me a long time to get around to this," she said, "but the reason I never mentioned leukemia when your father died was — well, if you must know, he wasn't actually your father. Shortly after we were married, he wanted a child, but I was afraid it might inherit the disease which seemed to run in his family. Well, there was a friend of his—"

"You can spare me the details," said George.

He never spoke to his mother again, but that was the end of his hypochondria. Within a month, he and his wife were off to Europe, and when they returned he bought an estate on Long Island and began to make up for lost time . . .

"Is he still around?" I asked.

"No," said Deems. "George died of leukemia six years later. It hit him on a Wednesday and he was dead before the week was out. In short, the old lady you met tonight presented her son with six happy years by confessing an infidelity she had never committed.

117,000 to Enter New World in '54 From Europe

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Crowded Europe plans to send 117,000 of its sons and daughters to the New World next year in quest of a broader future. Thirty thousand of them plan to head for the United States.

They will be aided on their way by their "Old Country" governments and by international funds.

The greatest number—45,000—are to go from tight-packed Italy. Germany is to send 38,700, Austria 9,000, Greece 6,200 and Holland 4,400.

That was the program laid down and unanimously approved last night by the Inter Governmental Committee for European Migration, meeting here to shape up its 1954 program for spreading out the world's population.

The group, which coordinates European immigration problems, has the cooperation of migrant receiving nations.

Under the program for next year, Argentina will take 25,000, Australia 20,000, Brazil 15,000, Venezuela 5,200, Chile 3,000 and the rest will scatter over almost every other nation of the New World.

'Russia Could Kayo U. S. Radar Barriers'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—New York State's civil defense director says Russia may have learned enough of America's radar secrets to knock out U. S. radar defenses.

Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner told civil defense workers here yestrday that thefts of radar documents from Ft. Monmouth, N. J., have enabled Russia "to keep abreast of American advancement."

"As fast as we have been building radar," he said, "the Russians have apparently been building jamming equipment, and we may find ourselves with a radar net that doesn't work."

"A few years ago," Gen. Huebner added, "we felt we had one enemy, but this is no longer true. We are also menaced from within by our own people for the first time in our history."

Voting Machines Acquired by More Areas in County

Recent order placed by Holly township for voting machines brings to 19 the townships among Oakland County's 25 which have equipped balloting places with mechanical voting facilities.

Cities which still use paper ballots are Pontiac, Clawson, Pleasant Ridge and Sylvan Lake.

Satisfaction over machines used in the past presidential election was general throughout the county, and townships which had rented machines on a trial basis are purchasing them as permanent equipment.

These include Oakland, Springfield, Bloomfield, Oxford, Independence, Highland, Novi, Farmington, Milford, Waterford and Troy.

In other areas the rental contract has been extended, with the option of future purchase.

Royal Oak Township, where only part of the area is as yet equipped with machines, has extended its rental contract on four machines. Berkley has purchased the 16 machines in used there.

Communities of the county which have been using machines for a longer period include Royal Oak city, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Birmingham, Oak Park, Avon, Commerce, Orion, Southfield, White Lake and West Bloomfield Townships.

Townships not yet equipped with machines include Lyon, Rose, Groveland, Brandon, Addison, Pontiac and part of Royal Oak.

British Staff Chief Will Visit Range

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The Australian government announced today that British Field Marshal Sir John Harding will visit the Woomera rocket range on Oct. 30. The disclosure immediately stirred speculation that Britain's third atomic test explosn may be set tentatively for that date.

Harding, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, is here for talks with Australian and New Zealand defense chiefs.

The Woomera range, in remote central Australia 600 miles northwest of Adelaide, normally tries to put on a show for eminent visitors. The final date for an atomic test, however, would be determined by considerations.

An atomic weapon of undisclosed nature was tested at Woomera yesterday. It was Britain's second atomic explosion, the first having been a year ago.

Fencing Class Set to Open

Pontiac's Parks and Recreation Department has announced completion of plans to conduct another fencing class at Pontiac High School every Wednesday evening beginning next week.

Sponsored jointly by the Recreation Department and the Pontiac Board of Education the class will offer instruction in the use of blunt, or protected, foils and sabres.

Instruction in the correct form and fundamentals used in fencing matches will be given by Frederick Rodeck and Eldon Gardner Jr.

Classes will be held in the girl's gymnasium at the high school from 7 to 9 p.m. They will continue through April.

The season will be climaxed with various tournaments with teams from Saginaw, Bay City, Lapeer, Highland Park and the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint.

This activity is open to all senior high school students and any participant from last year. No fee is charged and equipment, including face masks, and body and arm guards will be provided.

Anyone interested in joining should contact Miss Reva Bailey or Arthur VanRyzin at the high school, or by phoning FE 3-7131.

Players Ready Opening Show

Noel Coward Hit Slated to Start Group's Season at Orpheum, Nov. 5

Pontiac's Master Players are busily rehearsing this year's comedy production "Present Laughter," to open a three-day run Nov. 5 at Orpheum Theater.

The Players' opening piece for the 1953-54 theater season is a work by British playwright Noel Coward, described as "An adult comedy of sophisticated nonsense."

The principal concern of the play is the after-curtain activities of a famous, eccentric and amorous actor in an intrigue drawn by his wife, secretary, director and producer to cut down his entanglements with enthusiastic admirers.

The production, Coward's most recent Broadway success, will be the 12th hit offered by the Master Players in Pontiac.

Previous hits have included "Death Takes a Holiday," "Angel Street," "Dover Road," "Chicken Every Sunday," and "The Tavern."

In charge of production is Merrill F. Walls, veteran director.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the Players or from members of Waterford Community Activities, Inc., or at the Waterford Community Activities building.

Tickets are also available with seat reservations at Calbi Music Store.

Asks Different Defense Policy for America

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) called today for a defense effort "more in keeping with the perils of the time than the one that is at present our national policy."

"Our continental defenses are insecure," he said, "and our Air Force has suffered heavily from successive stretch-outs" in Air Force goals.

In a speech prepared for an Executive Committee meeting of the American Legion, Kennedy said the United States "has no alternative than to give priority to the development of a strategic Air Force with sufficient retaliatory powers to threaten a potential aggressor with havoc and ruin.

* * *

"I do not believe that the present program of air power expansion gives us such an Air Force," he said. "Our present effort should be judged not in comparison with what we have done in the past but rather with what the Soviets are now doing today. If we do this, we cannot help but be alarmed by our present progress."

A determination must be made as to whether this country shall rely on an elaborate system of continental defense or concentrate on a strategic Air Force containing such retaliatory powers that the Soviets will be impelled to hold their hand, Kennedy said, adding:

"At the present time, unfortunately, we are doing neither."

UM Votes Today on Question of Trophy

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The board of intercollegiate athletics of the University of Michigan meets today to decide whether the Wolverines will join Michigan State College in establishing a trophy to go to the winner of their annual football tussle. Governor Williams suggested the trophy last week and MSC's athletic council has already approved it.

Woman Hurt at Picketing Despite State Troopers

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — As State Police guarded against violence, a mass of strike pickets blocked off entry of non-strikers to the Kingsford Chemical Co. plant today.

Despite the presence of State Police, a woman was injured in the crush of pickets. Witnesses said a worker's car knocked her down.

The police arrested two pickets. One was charged with swinging a club against a worker's car. Police said the other kicked in a car door.

Pickets of the CIO United Auto Workers massed on the roadway leading to the plant to intercept non-strikers' cars at the 8:30 a. m. (EST) shift.

Twenty-eight state troopers were on hand at orders of Gov. Williams following demands on him to protect "law and order."

Only a few non-strikes got into the plant. Lt. Laurence Baril, commander of the Marquette Post who is in charge at the strike scene, said eight of 10 men got through the picket lines. The company called back 200.

There was violence on the picket line yesterday, and tempers mounted last night as the company broadcast appeals for its 200-odd workers to return today.

A car full of non-strikers was upset and windows smashed in several other autos yesterday. No one was injured, however, and no arrests were made.

Kingsford police blamed striking members of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, who walked out July 1 to enforce demands for a union shop, six paid holidays, and a dues checkoff.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams authorized State Poice intevention after Attorney General Frank Millard requested it. Dickinson County Sheriff Peter Carlevato, Kingsford City Manager J. J. Cummings and Police Chief Henry L. King joined in the request, after Williams indicated he would not act without advice fro mlocal authorities that things were out of their control.

University of Michigan Alumnae Plan Get-Acquainted Tea on Tuesday

Beauty's Not Enough, Gals, You Must Study Football

So Says Betty Furness, Who Claims a Girl Can Lose Her Man in the Stadium

By DOROTHY ROE

Girls who go to football games should know the difference between a punt on the field and a boat on the river, says Betty Furness, currently conducting a weekly TV quiz during the half-time interval of Dumont's gridiron telecasts.

The purpose of the quiz is to teach women what they should know about football, and Betty, after boning up on the subject, thinks she is fully as qualified to speak on this topic as on how to defrost a refrigerator or use an automatic washing machine.

This dynamic blonde feels that many a girl has lost her man in the football stadium, when she brightly inquired why all the big brutes were jumping on that one poor boy with the ball. Says she:

"A football game is one of the last male strongholds. Here is where the boys like to be alone, and hate to be distracted by silly questions from a dizzy date.

"But you can fool them by getting a book in the library and doing some homework on football fundamentals. Learn what a T-formation is, and how to recognize a double wing back. Study pictures of the official signals, so you'll know what's going on.

* * *

"You'll create a sensation with your guy the next time you go to a game if you can discuss intelligently the merits of the two-platoon system, and whether it's fair to make one platoon tackle both offense and defense."

As a starter, Betty suggests you bone up on the following terms, and be all primed to dazzle your date the next time he goes out to cheer for the old school team:

Down, scrimmage, lateral pass, forward pass, field goal, safety, touchback, fumble, free kick, free catch, interception, interference, clipping, roughing, blocking and snapper.

* * *

This may seem a tough assignment, but it's really easy, once you get in the right attitude of mind, says Betty, who points out:

"Women have no right to let football stump them. After all, they've made good in practically every other field. There are lady bankers, lady brokers, lady cab drivers, lady wrestlers and even lady baseball players.

"Any gal who can figure out a family budget can master higher mathematics, and should be able to catch on to football jargon in no time. It's all in having the nerve to start."

Once women get into the swing of this thing, there's no telling what may happen. We may yet have a feminine Red Grange.

'Man's Man Look' Replaces Sloppy Casualness in College Wardrobes

Boy in Stew Because Girl Breaks Off Steady Deal and Insists on Just Dating

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: After going with Joan for two years she tells me she no longer wants to go steady with me, but says she still loves me deeply. We didn't have a quarrel, but we are both very jealous of each other.

"It's been three weeks since we broke up and I've lost weight, I can't sleep, I go up to her house every night to try to talk her into going steady again.

"But she says she'll just date me. I'm desperate. Please help me get her back!"

Joan hasn't stopped loving you. She still wants to see you. She just wants to give your airtight relationship a breath of fresh air, that's all. And I see no reason for you to hurt so over it.

Lots of girls have several years of close relationship with one boy, then begin to crave new relationships, new faces, new conversation, a change of pace. They crave a bit of variety. And they can't have it when everybody knows they're going steady.

All she wants is to keep right on having dates with you, her best friend, and at the same time have the feeling that she can, for a while, have some private life of her own.

Your jealousy is a sign that she has been restless for some time. If you love her as much as you think you do, stop being a nuisance to her! And to yourself.

Take yourself in hand and realize that all is not over between you. It just has to be stretched out, that's all. Take your hand off the phone when you have those frequent urges to call her. Busy yourself somewhere else when you're out at the same places—don't hover like a bee around her.

Manners
MAKE FRIENDS

One of your co-workers asks what your salary is. Lightly, but politely evade the question. Of course, you'd like to tell him to mind his own business, but don't combat ignorance of propriety with rudeness.

Nosiness thrives on satisfaction, starves on lack of information.

Make dates with he as often as she'll let you and do your best to make her sure you're the nicest boy she knows and is ever likely to meet. Wait patiently while she gets this restlessness out of her system.

"Dear Miss Woodward: What should I think of a girl who refuses to date my son because she says she loves another? She'll talk to him on the phone, but she won't go out with him alone.

"She's 14 and she'd make my son who is 15, such a good wife in about three years. Can you think of any way to change this girl's mind?

"My son refuses to go to school because she's changing to another school to keep out of his way. I desperately need some advice."

The love of your son's young life happens to dote on another boy. She considers that she's going steady with him, and in that relationship it would be disloyal, dishonest, completely wrong for her to go with your boy or anyone else.

He's feeling frustrated and disappointed in not having his own way. Your own nose is out of joint going over his being thwarted.

But this hurt is a young hurt that can be minimized if you'd get the right perspective on it and treat him like a big boy, not a baby. Coddling will continue the hurt. A brisk, reasonable, "that's how it is" attitude will snap him out of it.

Dishwasher Is Cleansed by Vinegar

When the inside of a dishwasher starts collecting minerals from the water, fill it with water and 2 cups of vinegar and let it operate through a complete cycle.

One reason why toilet bowls become discolored by rust is that the inside of the flush tank is full of rust and sediment.

Give the inside of the tank a good cleaning and you won't be bothered by this headache for a good long time.

Before freezing weather sets in, be sure that any outside drains in drives or walks are cleaned out.

If they start off the season clogged with leaves and dirt they'll soon be completely closed by ice and won't be worth a nickel until warm weather.

Loose pieces in a parquet floor can be refastened to the wood subfloor with cement. If the piece can be lifted out of place, it can be fastened back with glue or mastic.

The tops of wood fence posts should either be cut off at an angle so that they readily shed water or covered with metal so they will not absorb water.

Hubby Upset by Attentive Neighbor

Fears Widower's Calls on Wife Will Cause Gossip

By EMILY POST

A wife writes: "I have recently been ill but am now able to be up and around. My husband and daughter go to business and so I am alone in the house during the day.

"Our next-door neighbor is a widower and retired. We have always been very friendly toward this family in a neighborly sort of way but never have hobnobbed with them socially. Last week and again this week this man has come in to see me for a few minutes in the afternoon, bringing me flowers from his garden.

"When I told my husband about these visits from Mr. G. he seemed quite disturbed over it. He thought that it was improper to see this man alone and that it would give the neighbors food for gossip.

"I think my husband is making a mountain out of a molehill. However, I would like to have your opinion."

Answer: I see no impropriety in his occasionlly bringing you flowers. However, it all depends upon the general attitude of your community. If it is very provincial it is likely to misunderstand the slightest gesture of attention on his part.

On the other hand, if it is worldly it will measure the quality of attention more accurately and not attach any undue importance to it.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married at a morning wedding. After the ceremony there will be a wedding breakfast. (The breakfast will actually be luncheon.)

The woman who is in charge of the arrangements intends to use very lovely silver candelabra as part of the decoration on the bridal table. I told her that I did not think candles were proper at this time of the day, but she said that on such a festive occasion they were quite proper.

I would very much like to have them if they are correct. Will you please advise me?

Answer: If the room is in any way dark, yes. But if the room is bright and sunny, no.

Dear Mrs. Post. When a man is visiting a sick friend in the hospital and is seated by the bed and a nurse walks into the room, is he supposed to rise?

Answer: Ordinarily no, but if it is the first time he has seen her, his sick friend should introduce him to her, and he, of course, would rise.

All-over check in restrained coloring is subtly subdued yet sporty enough to give a lift to gray slacks. This year the look is more conservative, in tune with the seriousness of our era.

Restrained Garb Seen on Campus

Traditional Clothes Still Play Important Role for Students

Back in the roaring Twenties, when Harold Lloyd was starred in "The Freshman," college clothes were loud and bold. Then a raccoon coat was a must in every college kid's wardrobe.

But today the campus crowd selects quieter, more subdued clothing in tune with the seriousness of our era.

Clothing with an air of tradition continues to play a very important role in the basic wardrobe of university men.

Some of the classic essentials included in the traditional wardrobe are gray flannel suits and odd slacks, tweed topcoats, neat patterned sports jackets, button-down Oxford shorts and Tyrolean hats.

This year the look in general is more conservative, quieter. The college man clings to the casual jacket and odd slacks — standard uniform on every campus.

These have calmed down in pattern and gained more serenity in color. The two-button sports coat with patch pockets is a big item.

Most university men prefer topcoat fabrics that can take a lot of punishment. Rough tweed is rough on wear yet easy on the eye patternwise.

College men prefer zip linings in topcoats, which feature raglan shoulders and deeper armholes with a full swing back.

Along with these classic essentials, new and worth including in your wardrobe, are belted-back sports jackets, black corduroy coats and long mufflers.

These point up the trend on campus toward a slick, polished "man's man look". This is rapidly replacing "sloppy Joe" of a few seasons ago.

Corduroy is an outstanding example of how college men are becoming better dressed. Corduroy slacks are neater, more dressed up and rapidly replacing khaki.

In jackets, black corduroy is dressier and smarter, especially when worn with regular shirt and repp tie. The favored model is the traditional unversity style.

Miniature glen plaid suitings also enliven the back-to-campus season. They make fashion news on campus, are more conservative than conventional campus styles.

A conversation piece is the colorful repp foulard vests seen on campus. They give color to gray flannel suits, provide the big men on campus with fashion importance.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Laughing at Yourself Is Prerequisite for Making Others Chortle and Guffaw

A whole roomful of people almost traded blows the other day arguing about whether women are ever really funny when they try to be. The men in the group were agreed that women are very funny critters but, so they contended, only unconsciously so.

The women pointed to Beatrice Lillie, Imogene Coca and Gracie Allen as examples of women who try to be funny and succeed gloriously. The men said yes, maybe, but Bob Hope, Jimmy Durante Danny Kaye are funnier and make a lot more money.

MISS McBRIDE

The discussion went on and on and nobody ever gave in. I didn't even put in nomination my candidate—a woman named Willie Snow Ethridge who certainly isn't as well known as Beatrice Lillie or Bob Hope. But I laugh harder at her than I do at either of them.

Willie started her public career as a humorist, with a series of books about her family. She poked affectionate fun at her husband, a Louisville publisher, and also at her children.

Nor did she spare herself. And when she began writing about trailing her husband to odd corners of the world where he had government missions, she became more than ever the butt of her own jokes.

And that, a wise and cultivated man told me once, is the basis of all humor: To make others laugh, you must first of all be able to laugh at yourself.

The late Albert Spalding, the violinist who made this point, had been sitting by while Herb Shriner, the Indiana humorist, and I talked about his work.

Herb had explained that he takes incidents based on the small-town life he knows so well and heightens the effect a little to make city audiences guffaw. Usually the joke is on Herb, or at least his brother, his cousin or his next-door neighbor, which is practically the same thing.

That was when Albert Spalding astutely summed it all up.

I hate to voice this, but mightn't it just be possible that the reason that there are fewer women than men comedians is that women can't bear to make fools of themselves? And that when they do, they're reluctant to admit it, and if accused of it, cry rather than laugh over their own foolishness?

Before women advance on me in a direful phalanx, I'll add quickly that people who are professionally funny seem to me, as a rule, deadly serious about the whole subject of humor. In an interview with Bob Hope some time ago I desperately and unsuccessfully tried to get at the real person.

Bob was agreeable and he conscientiously made jokes about every topic I brought up, but that wasn't what I wanted. It wasn't until I repeated to him an old joke of his own that I broke him down.

I said: "Do you remember in your vaudeville days when your partner asked you 'Why is a little pig's tail like getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning?' And you answered, 'Twirly.' (Too early.)"

Bob looked at me for a moment in stunned silence and then whooped with laughter.

"Did I ever tell a joke as bad as that?" he marveled when he could stop chortling.

After that, we got on fine. You see, he'd laughed at himself.

Trim Edges Help Looks of Garments

AUBURN, Ala., (INS) — The smart gal who wants to look sharp will smooth the edges on her home sewn garments.

That, maintains clothing specialist Kathleen Thompson, is what gives homemade clothes a professional touch. She says:

"Trim collars and belts at the points. Trim seam edges to even width."

The Auburn expert pointed out, however, that on heavy material it pays to trim one seam edge narrower than the other. She continued:

"Overlapping and bulkiness often occur on the outside of round collars. Notch the seams to prevent this.

"On curves, such as round necklines, clip the seams to allow for spreading of seam edges. Straight stitching and sharp turning of seams on the line of stitching are also very important."

'Perfection' in Parents Warps Child

Youngster Loses Ability to Exercise Own Judgment

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Carol Folsom, 7, had a new apricot - colored dress which she cherished. One day she got a cherry stain on its bodice.

When she brought it anxiously to her mother, Mrs. Folson said, 'I'm not sure the stain will come out. Take your dress off and I'll see what I can do."

Then, leaving dinner carrots boiling on the stove, Mrs. Folsom went to the yard to take some wash from the line.

When she returned to the kitchen, Carol had not removed her dress. Instead she'd taken a can of combustible cleaning fluid and was industriously rubbing away at a stain on her bodice. The kitchen was heavy with fumes from the open can and Carol stood less than a foot away from the stove.

Mrs. Folson dropped her wash, snatched the can and threw it out the open kitchen door. Then she seized Carol. She slaped, shook and screamed at her in a voice she didn't recognize.

At dinner that night, Carol ate very little. She didn't speak. When she shoved her dessert away irritably, her mother suddenly rose from the table.

"It's been a bad supper for me too, darling," she said. "I'm terribly ashamed of what I did this afternoon. I was a bad mother. I hadn't any right to carry on so over the cleaning fluid because I know you haven't been told it mustn't be used indoors."

There was silence in the dining room when she left it. As she was stacking dishes for washing, an arm appeared around the front of her waist.

With her head against her mother's shoulder, Carol whispered "You're not a bad mother"—and burst into tears. "You're a good mother. You're the best one. I didn't mind you hitting me. I didn't mind, mommy . . ."

So Carol and her mother hugged, feeling that they loved each other very much.

"Perfect parents" can experience a child's remorse, but not this kind of creative inter-flow of mutual gratitude and respect. Their claim to faultlessness makes any mutuality impossible with a child at fault.

Thus to survive, children of such parents learn to blame themselves for every conflict that arises until guilt and self-distrust corrode their judgement, and the moral systems are paralyzed for lack of use.

Of such children, the great Czech writer, Franz Kafka has written a tragic allegory called "The Trial." In it, its hero is arrested one day.

He doesn't know what crime he's committeed nor the name of the accuser. He makes no effort to find out. So corrupt is his moral discernment that he passively accepts the judgement of death as he accepted the judgments of life.

I bet he had perfect parents. Not ones like Carol's mother.

Dusk Gray in a dacron and wool blend dinner jacket makes formal fashion news for this fall. Lessened weight for ease and comfort is one of the welcome changes.

Dusk Gray Is Newest Formal Hue

Lightweight Fabric Also Distinguishes Dinner Jackets

The growing number of evening affairs that call for formal clothes encourage men not only to don dinner jackets, but to adopt the new fashions.

This season, it is color—Dusk Gray. This shade of gray is quite dark, almost an Oxford Gray. Yet it is easily distinguished from the conventional midnight blue.

Details other than color are involved. The fabric is a lightweight blend of worsted and dacron for comfort.

The lapels are faced with dull barathea weave fabric in black. The single-breasted jacket rules the evening scene, with bothe the peaked lapel and shawl collar models favored.

One of the welcomed changes in men's formal clothes is the lessened weight for ease and comfort.

For years, women have been lightly clad in filmy gowns. Now, men can be comfortable in the new lightweight dinner jackets, whether they are worsted, mohair blend or other fabric.

The accessories are also undergoing changes. Patterned ties and matching commerbunds run quite a range from stripes to checks and figures. Colors include, red and gray, blue and gray.

The newest evening shirts reflect the Edwardian trend in dress. They show lace trim down the side of the placket in front. Others present the lace strips between the pleats.

Pleated bosom shirts, with the pleats extending the full length of the shirt in front, are well liked.

Silk shirts, espaecially shantung, show medium-width pleats and low-front collars for flattering lines and comfort.

Evening jewelry is related in color to the accessories. Dark blue and red stone studs and matching cuff links are coordinated with the colors of the neckwear. Black and gray pearls are favored as are plain gold finishes.

The Dusk Gray Homburg hat teams up with the Dusk Gray dinner jackets and trousers to match. The midnight blue homburg has the proper formal connotation with midnight blue clothes.

Patent leather shoes in plain toe or moccasin pattern and midnight blue nylon socks are correct footwear fashions.

Paris Beltmaker Focuses Interest on Back, Hips

"When a guy turns to gaze at a gal he looks at the hips and notices the belt. Belts should have a touch of interest at the strategical point — the back."

This reasoning comes from Irving Grasse, an American leather-craftsman living in Paris. And Grasse makes corselet belts, narrow in front but wide and laced at the back, to support his theory.

He cuts custom designed belts with a French touch. There is one model imitating at the back the dainty curves and V points of the top of French provincial chairbacks. The leather has the antique wood-color and the tooled edge of the chairs.

A special belt has the complicated design of an antique metal key-plate, cut out in dark leather and applied on the back of a wide sporty belt. A "hardware belt" is studded with nailheads and fastened by a supersize nail.

A model called "Globetrotter," is a large cow-hide belt covered with luggage labels of shipping lines and hotel-stickers in an artistic and colorful crisscross. The front fastening is just the narrow stripe and buckle you see on luggage name-plates.

The "Vagabond belt" and a model called "Tramp" are conversation pieces. The "Vagabond" is made of "aged" cow-hide with a horizontal slit at the back, sewn together with a shoe-string in studied carelessness. "Tramp" is a contour-belt imitating in style a man's shirttails complete with side-slits.

One group of belts is designed for practical color changes. There is the dog-collar belt, on which a narrow leather stripe leads through loops over a large contrasting belt. "Blue-Jeans" is a leather waist-ornament cut like the upper part of a workman's overalls with a narrow belt looped through at the right place.

A very feminine belt is called "Pin-Curler." It's a black bar-coil waist-clincher. A pouch-purse of horse-suede with coin-trimmed drawstring dangles at the waist.

Linoleum Takes to New Roll of Plank, Sisal

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Linoleum looks like almost anything but linoleum these days.

One company is showing two new linoleum patterns, one of which looks like random plank flooring, and the other like a sisal rug.

Real random plank flooring is expensive, but the linoleum version is fairly cheap. It features realistic plank segmentation with inset dowels and butterflies, and is called "Fashion Plank."

The "sisal" linoleum looks like the real summer floor covering, but does not collect dust and can be cleaned with a mop. This pattern is called "sisaltex" and comes in red, green or tan.

Angry, Embittered Reader Believes That Failures Outnumber Successes

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Why do all your stories have happy endings?" a reader asks angrily.

"Why don't you face the fact that for one woman who succeeds and has a happy life, a hundred are just miserable failure?"

She went on for about six pages, in a very ill-tempered and bitter vein. She did not sign her name, but asked me to answer in the column.

I was not an optimist when I started in this business — although I certainly am now. I used to think that life was grim and life was earnest, and the odds were against most of us.

I wanted only to help such people as I could to beat the odds and get into work they could like, as well as live on.

Through the years, I have met hundreds —actually thousands— of people in trouble, horribly disillusioned and defeated. I have seen them, with just a minimum of help, with just a small shove, really, pick up the pieces and build happy and successful lives.

I have come to see that underneath, all of us are better than we seem; more talented, stronger, more capable of the kind of faith that really does move mountains.

Sometimes just the story of a woman who did overcome her problems will spur another woman on to overcome her own. That is why I prefer to broadcast the happy endings.

Moreover, it is my experience that there are, in life, more happy endings than unhappy. Unhappy marriages, remember, are spread around in the newspapers — there's no news in a happy marriage.

In short, in this country more of the population is out of jail than in it, more is out of the hospital than in it, more is eating regularly than starving to death. And more women are living satisfying, happy and successful lives than not.

The woman who wrote me is obviously so bitter and unhappy herself that unhappiness is all she sees.

Perhaps if she would try to "accentuate the positive," as the song goes, she might find a little happiness coming her way.

I would suggest that she start some kind of volunteer work which will bring her in contact with people—even people in trouble. It will probably affect her as it did me.

She will see so many brave people struggling with obstacles, and overcoming them successfully, that she will forever after believe in happy endings, and bring them into her own life.

Men's Suit Will Create Tall Illusion

Built-up lines and an array of colorful fabrics are combining to give men's clothing a new lift for fall.

Spurred by the excitement produced by nubby touch fabrics, new modifications are being developed in the single-breasted suit to maintain it at the peak of popularity.

A trim, slim line is being achieved by slightly raising the gorge joining the collar and the lapel.

At the same time, shoulders are being made higher and lapels are being narrowed to conform with the trim outline.

The entire effect creates a trim illusion of height which is flattering to most men.

Both the two-button and three-button single breasted models reflect the trend to more casual styling. This is being expressed in the greater use of center vents, easy lines and patch pockets.

Ice Cream Washes Off

ST. LOUIS (INS) — Ice cream spilled on Junior's new suit should be no cause for alarm, according to Orene Cowen, Missouri University clothing expert.

Miss Cowen reminds homemakers that ice cream stains contain a washable combination of milk or cream, sugar and frequently egg and coloring.

A fresh stain on washable material can easily be removed by sponging the garment with cold or lukewarm water and then washing it in warm soapsuds.

Post-Vacation Blues Days Time to Study Reactions

Getting back from vacation has some advantages, hard as it may seem to believe it.

In view of the fact that there inevitably comes that Monday when the long anticipated holiday is just a memory, the return-from-vacation period might just as well be put to some use.

Speaking personally, I don't think that it is of particular importance whether or not one is eager to return to the realities of making a living.

A bustling, bright-eyed and energetic returnee may be a fellow who just loves his job, but he may also be a guy who had a wretched time at a front-porch, dress-for-dinner mountain resort when he yearned for the deck of a sail boat and a fighting fish on the end of a line.

Conversely, the returning wage slave, reluctantly dragging back to the office, may have landed but again he may have landed home the night before after a 6,000 mile automibile trip, found the garden full of weeds, the cellar full of condersation and a report from camp that the kids have chickenpox.

Climbing back into the business rut after vacation serves most usefully, I believe, as a period for study of one's reactions.

After a couple of weeks — or longer if you're lucky — of change of environment and freedom from the day-in, day-out irritations of living, it is interesting to discover if the causes are your own evil disposition and fatigue or whether they are really annoying.

Before I went away, I would cheerfully have murdered an early-bird neighbor with an irresistible urge to clip his hedge a few minutes after dawn on Saturdays.

Upon my return, I find him a sensible fellow who is merely beating the heat. I shall join him in early morning chores and loll in the afternoon shade when my late-sleeping neighbors are toiling in the broiling sun and muttering about the impossibility of getting a decent night's sleep.

I was bored with neighborhood coffee klatches centering on the bright red shade of an absent neighbor's hair. And I find I'm just as bored with post-vacation blonde shade which the same hair assumed during my absence.

My annoyance continues unabated with characters who have their secretaries call me on the telephone and then keep me dangling while the secretaries try to find their employers.

But in a sweet, post-vacation mood, I quietly hang up the phone without permitting my blood pressure to rise a single point.

A pleasant fellow-employe used to irritate a bit by remarking "Howdy-doody," every single time we met, mugging violently and indicating he was making a very funny joke. He's still at it, but he's pleasant, good humored and cheerful, and there really aren't enough of such types around.

Trains are still running erratically, and people still will try to sneak cigarettes into "No Smoking" coaches, and the little men in charge of running air conditioning plants never seem to be guided by the condition of the weather in the streets.

Volcano Rises on West Coast

Eruption in the Pacific May Create Freakish Vanishing Island

WASHINGTON — A new volcano boiling up from the Pacific floor off San Cristobal Bay, on the west coast of Baja, California, may join the ranks of nature's freakish "come and go islands."

Mexican fishermen, who first sighted the latest submarine volcano 360 miles south of San Diego, described it as a cone-shaped formation just below the water's surface, capped by boiling mud.

If it is a major oceanic eruption, it may rise above the surface, perhaps to a height of several hundred feet. But it is also more than likely to disappear into the depths again.

Most famous of the "now you see it, now you don't" islands is Falcon of the Tonga group south of Samoa. First seen in 1867, it piled up to 250 feet by 1885, but by 1900 it had vanished. In 1927, a new eruption created an island cone 360 feet high on the same spot, but today it is again merely a shoal some 50 feet below the ocean surface.

An unstable belt in the earth's crust surrounds the entire Pacific Ocean, according to geologists. The Pacific's shores, they say, are nearly all high and rugged, crowned with volcanoes or with young, still growing mountain ranges which shake periodically like jelly on a plate.

Volcanologists count about 500 active craters in the world—active by virtue of eruptions within historic times.

Three-fourths are in the Pacific half of the globe. The Indonesia archipelago alone has 167 active volcanoes. Of Japan's 200-odd volcanoes, about 50 are classified as active. There are 40 or more active cones in Alaska and Hawaii.

In the United States proper, only Mt. Lassen, 10,543 high, in northeastern California, has erupted during the present century. It was active from May 1914 to June 1917.

North America's newest and most spectacular volcano is Paracutin in Mexico. Bursting from a cornfield on Feb. 20, 1943, the fiery disturbance built a cone 1,800 feet high in nine years. Within the last year, however, it appears to have burned out.

Mack Sennett Now Adviser at Universal

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pioneer laugh-maker Mack Sennett is back in the movie business after an absence of many years—too many, his friends agree.

The inventor of the tossed pie and film discoverer of Charlie Chaplin, Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields and many others, Sennett is now acting as script consultant on a future Abbott and Costello film, "High and Dizzy."

"The producer, Howard Christie offered me an office out at Universal and everything," said Sennett. "I didn't want to get involved in all that. So the script writer, Lee Loeb, comes to my apartment and we work on gags for the picture. I've got a storehouse of 'em."

This is his first return to active film making since he and Steve Allen put together some of the old Sennett reels into a feature called "Down Memory Lane" in 1949. He also acted as supplier of gags and background for 20th Century-Fox's "Hollywood Cavalcade" in 1939.

The Abbott and Costello opus concerns the early days of film comedy, and there's no greater expert than Mack. Although he keeps his youthful outlook—he now sports a sharp-looking crewcut—he is now delving into the past for his memoirs. He's telling them to Cameron Shipp, who did similar jobs for Lionel Barrymore and Billie Burke.

"That man Shipp is a digger," Sennett complained. "By the time he's through, there won't be a skeleton left in my closet.

"The book will be a history of the movies, but there's a thread of a love story running through it. The girl is Mabel Normand. We were childhood sweethearts and continued the romance when she became a star for my company. But we never got married.

Why? Because I was married to my job. I couldn't worry about a wife and home; I was too concerned with meeting the payroll every Saturday. Mabel was the kind of girl who required attention, and I couldn't give it to her."

Mack tells some fascinating stories about their long and stormy romance. Once she found him alone with another actress. She stalked off in a huff, with Mack not far behind. When he arrived at her house, he found her sitting on the hearth, hammering away at the diamonds he had given her.

Sennet's activities seem to be largely literary these days. He's also hard at work on a novel he has been composing for several years.

"It's a story told with all the gags of Mack Sennett comedies," work I've ever done. I get up at seven and start working on it. At nine, my secretary comes in and we keep busy until one o'clock. Then I go out and relax with some golf."

I asked Mack what he thought of all the new-fangled gimmicks aimed at winning back the film audience.

"I don't think too much of 3D," he replied. "The depth pictures seem to be a flash in the pan. But the wide screens —Cinerama and Cinemascope are very impressive. I think they'll help the business.

"It needs help. Take myself. I write all morning and play golf in the afternoon. When evening comes, I'm too tired to go out to a movie. So I stay home and watch the fights or something else on TV. Lots of other people feel the same way."

He added that comedy has its limitations on TV.

"They don't have the time to develop good laughs. In the old days, we used to spend three or four weeks making a two-reel comedy that took up 18 minutes on the screen. On TV they whip up an hour show in a few days."

Energetic Men Till El Salvador

Smallest Western Land Is Third in Production of Coffee

WASHINGTON — In El Salvador, where winter is called summer and adios means hello, a caballero can serenade a lady in old-time Spanish fashion but he must first pay $2 for a city permit.

Such paradoxes and contrasts between old and new are typical of the Central American republic, says the National Geographic Society. The smallest country in the Western Hemisphere, the "Little Thumb of America" is the world's third largest producer of coffee, after Brazil and Colombia. Almost entirely agricultural, it is nevertheless the most densely populated nation on the American mainland and one of the most enterprising.

El Salvador's peaceful farms and green valleys would belie another national nickname, "Daughter of Fire," if it were not for a telltale line of 14 high volcanoes. Izalco, near the coast, erupts with such regularity that mariners call it the "Lighthouse of the Pacific."

El Salvador's capital, San Salvador, is so often rocked by quakes that its valley is called "The Hammock." The handsome city has been wrecked 12 times in the past four centuries. The volcanoes, however, compensate for their destructiveness by giving El Salvador a fertile soil, beautiful lake-spangled scenery and popular hot springs and geysers.

Maryland-size El Salvador is a rectangular 160 by 60 mile country lying between the tropical Pacific coast and the mountain backbone of Central America. An average elevation of 2,000 feet gives the land a pleasant climate, divided into wet and dry seasons. Though in the northern hemisphere, Salvadorians call their May-to-October wet season "winter," while the dry winter months are referred to as "summer."

On their farms, many resembling stone-walled New England plots, Salvadorians grow corn, sugar, rice, cotton, indigo and fiber-yielding henequen as well as coffee. On the Balsam Coast grows another famous Salvadorian product, paradoxically called Balsam of Peru. This healing ointment's misnomer dates from Spanish colonial times, when the native Salvadorian export was shipped to Europe via Peru.

Agricultural, mountainous El Salvador might have remianed a backward nation except for the energy of its people, most of whom are of mixed Spanish and Indian descent. Rich or poor, they are nearly all industrious land-owners who love the soil and who are interested in new developments of agricultural science. They also mine gold and silver, and have built an outstanding road network. They have plans to develop El Salvador industrially.

The famed leaning tower of Pisa leans 14 feet from the vertical.

Central Coach 'Called Turn' on BC Future

Auer 3 Years Ago Said Wolves Would Be Right Up There Some Time

By MIKE STURM

BAY CITY (AP) — Three years ago, coach Howard Auer of Flint Central called the turn on Bay City Central.

Auer's team had just whipped Bay City 38-6 but the Flint Central coach said:

"We're all going to be looking up to this Bay City outfit one of these days."

Well, "these days" have arrived and the rest of the state's high school teams are looking up — rather awed, too — at the Bay City team.

Elmer Engel has molded a real powerhouse in the current Bay City Central team. It has won 10 straight games. Last four have been this season, with the Wolves rolling up 138 points to the opposition's zero.

But it wasn't always this way. Indeed, not.

In 1950 there was a faction that was all for Bay City to drop out of the Saginaw Valley Conference, if only to preserve the lives and limbs of the Bay City players. They pointed out that Central was the smallest school in the circuit and couldn't keep up with the bigger boys.

Bay City had been losing constantly until the game with Flint Central. They lost that one, too, but in the second half they played the Indians off their feet, flashing a brand of football that had everyone in the Valley talking.

Central finished the season with a 3-6 record, and uncovered what later developed as the 1951 all-state quarterback, Bill Smiley. They following year, 1951 Bay City lost only one game, that a 25-21 decision to Saginaw which cost the Wolves the Valley title.

There was no stopping Central in 1952, however. Engel came up with all-stater Jack Greenwood and lost only one game — a 14-13 decision to a fired-up Alpena team which pulled one of the biggest upsets of the year. But the Valley title was Bay City's with five straight wins.

Now riding a 10-game winning streak, Wolves have added a rugged defense to their high-scoring offense. How long before the bubble busts nobody knows.

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's once-beaten football team faces the most exacting task confronting any prep eleven in the state tonight, when the Chiefs travel to Bay City to meet Central's power-laden Wolves.

Coach Ed Graybiel's charges will attempt to accomplish what four crushed victims of the Bay City steam-roller attack have failed to do this season — halt the Wolves' punishing offensive while overcoming the defensive barrier of a 223-pound average line.

In four starts to date, the defending Saginaw Valley Conference champion Bay City squad has racked up 138 points while holding Midland, Muskegon Heights, Bay City Handy and Saginaw scoreless.

Pontiac will be without full-time services of three regulars tonight. Halfback Bill Rose, the team's second best runner with a 5.5-yard average, has been nursing an injured leg and isn't expected to see any action. Guard Bill McLarty and fullback Coley Gracey, both of whom were injured in last week's Flint Central game, will probably play only on defense.

Zack Athanas will go at fullback in place of Gracey. While Gene Vaughn will take over McLarty's offensive guard slot.

Game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. at Bay City's Central High Stadium. Pontiac fans attending the contest are offered the following directions for reaching the stadium:

Take Dixie Highway, turning right on M-15. Follow M-15 into Bay City. After reaching Bay City, veer left on Columbus avenue (first traffic light) and drive five blocks to stadium. Field is located on Columbus.

Bay City-Pontiac game is the only Saginaw Valley Conference tilt on schedule tonight, but two other league teams are in action against "outside" foes. Saginaw entertains Midland, and Flint Northern goes to Wayne. Arthur Hill and Flint Central are idle.

Something Must Give

Princeton-Navy Game Tops Eastern Schedule

By FRANK LEAHY . . .
Notre Dame Football Coach

Competition is beginning to get much keener on the national scene as teams which have made strong early season impressions begin to come face to face with foes of like calibre. Such is definitely the case in the East as high ranking undefeated Navy meets perennially powerful Princeton.

An interesting note is that Navy's defense to date has been most impressive while Princeton has been scoring enough to win but certainly has not shown the offensive power usually evident in Charley Caldwell's teams. Something will have to give in this game.

Here at Notre Dame we host the only team to have beaten us at home last fall. Our own observations of the Pitt team and a complete study of last year's film have been the basis for much concentrated effort during the past week. It's hard to surmise how the game will come out, but we are going into it well prepared for another terrific battle.

Also of great interest in the Midwest is the Illinois-Minnesota game. Everyone is still talking about the devastating power running shown by Illinois in upsetting Ohio State. Minnesota definitely has the wherewithal to determine whether the Illini's performance of last Saturday was a "hot streak."

Coast conference leader UCLA gets a good test as it meets Stanford. The Indians are not the power they were two years ago, but are strong enough to test the Rose Bowl aspirations of the Uclans.

Oklahoma opens its Big Seven defense by meeting Kansas, its most consistent challenger over the past five years. Southwest Conference favorite, Rice, meets darkhorse Southern Methodist.

Our scouting force will be interested in the outcome of two top southern tilts. Our opponent of next Saturday, George Tech, meets a good Auburn team while future opponent North Carolina meets Maryland, a teqm which runs the Split T as it should be run. Both outcomes will have important bearing on our schedule.

QUARTERBACK—J. Lee McTeer
HALFBACKS—Carle Shelinut and Bob Staley
FULLBACK—Steve Zervas.

Hazel Park High, current co-leader of the Eastern Michigan League, will provide the football opposition for Birmingham High tonight at 8 p. m. at Pierce Field.

Parkers and Port Huron share the lead, each having won their only league game. Hazel Park is rated by most observes as the only team with any kind of chance to stop Port Huron from winning its 3rd straight title.

In that connection, the schedule is a natural, for Hazel Park and Port Huron don't meet until Nov. 13 in the season's finale for both teams. Birmingham is host to the Big Reds, Oct. 30.

Parkers, primarily a running team, have an excellent first string, but is hampered by lack of depth. Only 18 players were dressed for the East Detroit game last Friday.

Pride of the Viking line is Capt. Wally Cleaver, a 185-pound tackle. Darwyn Hepler is a top-rated end. Backfield is built around fullback Steve Zervas, who boasts an eight-yard average per carry this season.

Birmingham will be without the services of quarterback Jerry Wedge, sidelined with a "charley horse". Payson Chapman may move from right half to quarterback. In that event, sophomore John Appleford will take over at right half.

Dick Morgan and Pete Huber are other possibilities at the signal calling spot.

Another backfield shift, installed last week, will be retained with Dave Allen operating at left half and Tom Beck at fullback. Both teams enter the game with identical 2-1 season records.

Maples lost to Mt. Clemens between victories over Cranbrook and Ferndale. Vikings dropped their opener to Royal Oak, then defeated Muskegon Catholic Central and East Detroit.

Rochester Aims to Topple Inter-Lakes Leader; Keego Defends Unbeaten Status

By JACK SAYLOR

Rochester will try to go one-up in its series with the Inter-Lakes Conference tonight when it meets Berkley on the Bears' gridiron. Berkley currently is co-leader in the I-L with two league victories.

Rochester, left league-less when the Tri-County decided to call it quits, made an unsuccessful bid for membership in the Inter-Lakes last November, but the Falcons are still hoping to enter the I-L or some other circuit.

In the last three years, Gene Konley's football teams have played six games with I-L elevens and the record is 3-3. In 1951, the Falcons lost to Keego, Farmington, and Walled Lake.

Inter-Lakes champ Farmington and Keego were victims of Rochester's undefeated team last year. Keego since has left the I-L in favor of the Wayne-Oakland.

Falcons evened the books by whipping Farmington, 26-6, last month and take a three-game winning streak to Berkley tonight.

Prep grid activity in the immediate Pontiac area is rather limited today with Pontiac High, Waterford and Avondale, in addition to Rochester, on the road, and Lake Orion and Oxford at Clarkston.

Keego is at home to Brighton tonight however, and other games locally bring Fraser to Bloomfield Hills, Walled Lake to Southfield and Fitzgerald to Troy this afternoon. Holly plays at Milford tonight and Hazel Park is at Birmingham in another night game.

Keego will be defending its league lead and its role as Oakland County's only undefeated squad. After a scoreless tie with Waterford, Charlie Guinnip's Presidents have successfully hurdled Walled Lake, Clarkston and Holly.

Waterford is at Farmington this afternoon, while night games send Pontiac to Bay City and Avondale to Roseville.

St. Michael will be in Wisner Stadium Sunday to meet St. Rita, while St. Frederick, St. Mary of Orchard Lake and Shrine of Royal Oak all play away from home.

The schedule:

TODAY

Saturday

Cranbrook at Cleveland University School.

SUNDAY

St. Rita at St. Michael; St. Frederick at St. James; Shrine at Redford St. Mary; OL St. Mary at St. Benedict.

Shoemaker Ties Riding Mark Set by Despirito

By RUSS NEWLAND

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Wee Willie Shoemaker, mighty mite of American thoroughbred racing, was ready today to begin rolling up the greatest riding record in history.

The 96-pound Texan tied the world record yesterday in the seventh race at Golden Gate Fields. He brought Haltafire home in front for his 390th win of the year, tieing the record set last year by Tony Despirito of Lawrence, Mass., who [illegible] was 17.

Shoemaker, 22, is more than 100 winners ahead of Desperito this year.

The little jockey, born in El Paso, Tex., owns a home now in Arcadia, Calif., but drives and lives from track to track in a trailer. He is practically certain to become the first jockey ever to chalk up 400 or more winners in one year. After the current meeting is over he will ride at nearby Bay Meadows and from there will go to Santa Anita.

"The Shoe" had mounts in all eight races scheduled for today. The public was expected to make him the favorite in most of them.

Carter Winner of Savage Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lighweight champion Jimmy Carter of new York, having shaken off his non-title jinx, prepared to head east today after scoring a savage six round technical knockout over Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles.

Charter, weighing 136½, interrupted the comeback of Chavez, 139½, with a brutal attack in the 5th and 6th that left Chavez beaten and badly cut in the mouth.

A crowd of 6,200, paying a gross of $15,482.50, witnessed the fight in the Olympic Auditorium last night.

Chavez, who admits to 31, put up a game fight, particularly in the 2nd round, when his body attack slowed the champion down. Carter, 29, looking razor sharp, carried the 1st round, and early in the 5th scored so heavily that the end was no surprise.

Bay City, Ann Arbor Strong Loop Favorites

Prep League Picture Expected to Clear After This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Conference play picks up tonight as the high school football season rolls into its fifth week.

When the weekend is over there should be a clearer picture of which are the teams to beat.

But there's no doubt that Bay City Central and Ann Arbor, a pair of Class A powers, are the standout teams in their conferences.

Bay City is expected to make short work of invading Pontiac and win its second game in the Saginaw Valley Conference. Coach Elmer Engel's Wolves have smashed four opponents this season.

Pontiac, on the other hand, started with its usual rush and now has started to fizzle out. It's a case of two teams going in opposite directions.

Ann Arbor, meanwhile, can take a firmer hold on the Six-A league by defeating Battle Creek Central. Pioneers have won two league games and are a two touchdown favorite to make Battle Creek their third.

Alpena and Traverse City will battle in the Arrowhead league. Both teams won their first league games, but Traverse City, the league's newest entry, has an overall record of 4-0, compared to Alpena's 2-1-1.

In the Grand Rapids league, Grand Rapids Central has a chance to break a deadlock with Catholic Central. Each has a 2-0 record but Central can go one up by defeating winless Ottawa Hills.

Catholic Central will play an intersectional game Saturday at Saginaw Arthur Hill.

Monroe, the only unbeaten team in the Border Cities can strengthen its first place hold against Royal Oak.

Top non-conference games include: Flint Northern-Wayne, Kalamazoo-Muskegon Heights, Lansing Sexton-Benton Harbor, Midland-Saginaw, Grosse Pointe-Wyandotte, Ionia-Grand Haven, Boys Town-Detroit Catholic Central.

Harness Racing Probe Starting in Windy City

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul S. Dougherty of the Illinois Harness Racing Commission has called for an immediate investigation of the sulky sport in Chicago to determine if there is a "criminal alliance" between local and New York tracks.

Dougherty yesterday sent a letter to commission chairman E. J. Hayes of Du Quoin, Ill., proposing open hearings start at once on the subject.

He said he wanted to learn if there is "hidden" New York ownership in addition to that which is already known in the three Chicago area racing groups — Chicago Downs, Maywood and Fox Valley.

New York tracks currently are being investigated by Gov. Dewey to find if "criminals have direct or indirect interests" in them.

'Cats Favored Over Titan 11

'Ladies Night', Fashion Show Being Utilized to Attract Crowd

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Villanova's Wildcats are favored in their 21st meeting with the University of Detroit Titans in Connie Mack Stadium tonight.

Not only will the Wildcats be out for their 14th win in the series, but the game will test another promotion idea by Villanova athletic director Ambrose (Bud) Dudley.

This is "ladies night" at the ball park. Ladies will be admitted for one dollar, and at halftime, 20 models will show off the latest fashions. Strawbridge & Clothier Co., a Philadelphia department store, is co-operating in the fashion show.

Dudley's previous idea for bringing out fans really startled the college football world. By arranging to have a grocery chain distribute free tickets with food purchases, Dudley brought 97,000 fans to see his Wilcats in their season opener against Georgia at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

Notre Dame to Honor Rockne, Gipp, Layden

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Paul Taylor of Kalamazoo, Mich., sister of the late George Gipp, Notre Dame football great, will accept a plaque here Saturday to commemorate her brother's election to Football's Hall of Fame.

Presentation will be made by Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, at half-time ceremonies during the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh game, which opens the 65th home season for the Irish.

Besides "the Gipper", his Notre Dame coach, the late Knute Rockne, and one of Rockne's famed "Four Horsemen" Elmer Layden, now a Chicago businessman, have been elected to the Hall of Fame.

Rockne's widow will accept his plaque.

McCarthy Only Bruised in 3-Vehicle Collision

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Joe McCarthy, former manager of the New York Yankees, Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox, escaped with minor bruises yesterday when his automobile was wrecked in a three-vehicle collision in the nearby town of Alden.

The 66-year-old major league veteran was treated for his injuries by a doctor at his home. His wife said he was feeling fine.

Irish-Pitt Game on TV in South Bend

DETROIT (UP)—A local one-station telecast of the Notre Dame Pittsburgh football game at South Bend, Ind., will be sponsored by General Motors Corp. Saturday because the game is a sell-out.

GM, sponsor of the nationally-televised "Game of the Week," acted under an agreement with the NCAA which permits one-station telecasts of sell-out games. The auto firm said the game would be carried only by Station WSBT-TV in South Bend.

Failed to Get Olszewski

Cravath, Ex-USC Coach Now Retired, Reveals Secrets of College Recruiting

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—For so long as anyone can recall, football coaches and ex-football coaches, like wrestlers, have been a traditionally tight-lipped fraternity who would not admit anything for publication, however they might like to relax in private.

It is with some surprise, therefore, that we find one of them, Jeff Cravath, who was a real big-timer only a few years ago at the University of Southern California, blowing the whistle all over the place and giving away some of the most sacred rituals of the recruiting racket. He names a few names too.

* * *

Cravath was fired three seasons back after his Trojans hadn't done so well, and since then he has been raising cattle on his ranch near Santa Ana, Calif., and thinking hard. He has come to the conclusion that the sport of which he was an ornament is going plumb to hell and he tells you why in the current issue of Collier's magazine.

Cravath titles it "The Hypocrisy of College Football," and he makes it plain that he speaks with high authority, having been no mean hand, himself, at the grim task of getting his share of the high school heroes. The still active coaches share his feelings, Cravath says, but are in no position to sound off.

As an example of what he means, the former Trojan mentor tells of his unsuccessful efforts to land a great high school fullback named Johnny Olszewski back in 1949—the same Johnny who was destined to gain national fame at the rival University of California. He says this was the biggest proselyting deal in which he was involved.

One of his own USC alumnus, Cravath understood, offered Olszewski a new car, $150 a month during his four-year college career, expenses through law school, and a junior partnership in his firm after graduation. That seems reasonable enough, but Cravath claims the offer fell short.

Penn, Irish Contest Already a Sellout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It's a sellout for the Pennsylvania-Notre Dame football game in Franklin Field on Nov. 7.

Penn's athletic director Jerry Ford said all 74,711 tickets have been sold. He said this is the earliest sellout for a Penn football game since Army's great team, headed by Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, packed the big stadium.

It's Time Out!

Birmingham's Tracy May Start for Vols Saturday

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Tom Tracy, an all-state tailback for Birmingham (Mich.) High School in 1951, may be Tennessee's starting fullback tomorrow when the Volunteers tangle with ancient rival Alabama.

This is the NCAA's television "game of the week" and kickoff time is 3 p.m. (EST).

Tracy scored the fantastic total of 154 points for Birmingham High in 1951 and was chosen to the Associated Press' Class A all-state team. At the time, Birmingham was a Class B school but played all Class A teams.

His Birmingham coach, Vince Secontine, called Tracy "the most outstanding high school football player I had seen in nine years of coaching.

"The boy was a natural."

Tracy played the tailback position for Birmingham, which lost only one game in 1951. He was the fastest player on the team, and was timed in 10.2 for the 100-yard dash.

He is a sophomore at Tennessee.

Writer Sees Spartans, Michigan Safe From Upsets; Irish, Illini, Wisconsin, Buckeyes Also Are Favored

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—The unbeaten who move into action on Saturday present quite a formidable list. It includes Notre Dame, Michigan State, UCLA, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Maryland, Duke, Mississippi State, Michigan, Southern Cal, Navy, West Virginia, Rice, Baylor, Syracuse, Yale, Harvard, Princeton, and Kansas State. Some have been tied.

It might be remembered that last week Michigan State, Southern Cal, Mississippi State, Syracuse, Michigan, Yale and Princeton were scared stiff.

* * *

They were caught wobbling and barely won or drew lucky ties. UCLA's victory over Wisconsin was the best of the day. They were lucky to duck just in time.

* * *

This coming weekend finds Michigan State, Maryland, Duke and Michigan comparatively safe. Georgia Tech can find trouble from stout-hearted Auburn.

EAST—Army-Duke. Game and heady Army should find itself outmanned. Fordham-Boston College. Tonight Fordham due to win tough game. Navy-Princeton. One of the big games of the East. Princeton has been lucky in three games. Navy is team to give all it has. Columbia. Ohio State is named over Penn and Penn State over Syracuse.

* * *

SOUTH—Maryland has the call over North Carolina. Alabama should win easily from Tennessee. LSU over Georgia, Mississippi State over Kentucky. Georgia Tech over Auburn and Tulane over Ole Mississippi.

Virginia over VMI, and Wake Forest over North Carolina State. SMU and Rice rate a draw—no choice. We rate Texas just a shade over Baylor.

WEST—Illinois-Minnesota. Fine game. Paul Giel against J. C. Caroline. Illinois. Oklahoma rates over Kansas. Michigan State should handle Indiana. Michigan should remain unbeaten over Northwestern. Notre Dame has too much stuff for Pitt.

* * *

UCLA over Stanford. UCLA may go through unbeaten. California over San Jose State, and revived Washington over Oregon. USC should top Oregon State. Wisconsin is the pick over Purdue.

UM May Become Passing Team Against Wildcats

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's passing game may be a strong factor in the clash with Northwestern here Saturday.

Despite the fact that coach Bennie Oosterbaan's Wolverines will be trying to stop the proven passing artistry of Northwestern quarterback Dick Thomas, Michigan has given signs of a developing aerial game of its own.

Against Iowa, sophomore quarterback Lou Baldacci emerged as a passer. He completed seven of 11 for 100 yards and one touchdown.

As a team, Michigan completed 15 of 27 for 186 yards and both touchdowns. Second scoring pass was freed by Duncan McDonald, Baldacci's substitute.

Wolverines made 134 aerial yards against Washington. One touchdown came through the air. Against Tulane Michigan completed seven of 13 for 94 yards.

In all, Wolverines have scored only three of their 14 touchdowns via the air lanes. The time may be ripe for them to balance up that scoring power a little.

Meanwhile, mounting practice field spirit may be an indication that Iowa did Michigan a favor by scaring the daylights out of the Wolverines.

There was zip and enthusiasm during yesterday's practice session that gave rise to the belief that Oosterbaan's players may be highly keyed for Saturday's game.

After Wednesday's heavy scrimmage, the Michigan coach limited the contact work. But he extended offensive and defensive drills in search of the precision that was lacking a week ago.

With a few exceptions, Wolverines ran their plays with fine timing amid a barrage of encouraging yells of those awaiting their turns.

Pass-wise in particular did the Wolverines look sharp. Baldacci took the lead and every other thrower in the Michigan camp got into the act.

Halfback Tony Branoff and ends Gene Knutson and Bob Topp came through with fine receiving performances, picking off long passes as well as the short lightning thrusts over the line.

Oosterbaan was sharply critical of the occassional failure and urged his squad on through the last serious drill before the kick-off.

Ends, Durable Signal Caller Hoosier Keys

Borden, Fellinger and Helinski Top-Rated on Indiana Squad

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—A pair of six-foot-two-inch ends and a 60-minute quarterback will be the key players in Indiana's bid for a football upset of Michigan State here Saturday.

The ends are Nate Borden at the right side of the line and Pat Fellinger at the left.

Borden has caught three passes for 62 yards and two touchdowns. Fellinger has taken two throws for 35 yards.

Florian Helinski, the Indiana quarterback, played 60 minutes in his last game and 57½ minutes and 55 minutes in the two previous Indiana games.

He's completed 20 of 49 pass tries for 280 yards and two touchdowns.

"If Helinski starts hitting those big ends, he could give Michigan State trouble," said Indiana advance man Tom Miller.

Michigan State, shooting for its 28th straight win, will be relying on its great depth to make it four in a row over Indiana.

A good victory Saturday would give MSC a strong lead in the Big Ten race and would solidify MSC's now somewhat shaky hold on second place behind Notre Dame in national rankings.

A sellout crowd of more than 51,000 will be watching the MSC performance with a critical eye.

Last Saturday, Michigan State had to overcome a two touchdown deficit to beat Texas Christian 26-19.

The narrow margin, when a huge score had been predicted, made MSC followers wonder if the Spartans just had an off Saturday or were ripe for an upset by some ambitious invader.

Globetrotters End Training, Start Tours

Four Teams Heading in Different Directions to Begin Barnstorming

CHICAGO (AP) — Abe Saperstein today put his Harlem Globetrotters show on the road after a training camp session the likes of which basketball probably has never seen.

For two weeks, Saperstein and an old basketball pro, Elmer Ripley, watched 57 of the nations best Negro cagers show their stuff for a chance to hit the golden trail Abe has traced through tiny hamlets and world capitals.

Today, four units of 10 men each, carefully screened for playing and comic talents, set out in four directions to begin another year of the type of barnstorming no other aggregation has made so successful since the old New York Celtics.

"That camp was something I never dreamed of," said Ripley, head basketball coach at West Point the last two years and former mentor at Yale, Georgetown, Notre Dame, Columbia and John Carroll.

"The way these boys mix skill — real skill — with just about every trick you can do with a basketball is really something."

160 at Annual Banquet; Press Awards Presented

One hundred sixty players and guests attended the City Recreation Department's annual softball-baseball banquet Thursday night at St. Benedict's hall.

Highlight of the affair was presentation of the Pontiac Press' most valuable player awards to Herman Bishop (Class A baseball), Pete Mihay (men's softball) and Connie Dawson (girls' softball).

Among the guests were Russell Themm and Floyd Temple, of the Northside Community Club, Charles Irish, Harold Goldberg and Archie Barnett, of the Pontiac Baseball Federation; Paul Hoskins, of the softball advisory group; City Manager Walter K. Willman; GMC Recreation director Harold Welch; Paul Parks, president of the Old-timers' association; and Benard Ballentine, director of recreation at Roseville.

Championship trophies were presented Shaw's Jewelers, Eagles, Stadium Inn and GMC girls softball team, and Ortonville's Class A baseball team.

Los Angeles Lacked Money in Major Bid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baltimore came up with money and a ball park and Los Angeles was firstest with the leastest.

Such was the explanation by co-owner Del Webb of the New York Yankees in telling about Baltimore's success in getting the St. Louis Browns' franchise and Los Angeles losing it.

Webb, who volunteered to front for the Los Angeles movement to get major league baseball at the recent hectic meetings in New York, said Baltimaore came far better prepared than any other city.

Webb said: "To be perfectly frank, the Los Angeles people did not put the money where their mouth was."

Lions Rated Slim Edge Over Coast Rams

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions are four-point favorites over the Los Angeles Rams for their vital National Football League game in Briggs Stadium Sunday.

This easily is the most important game of the season so far. It may decide the Western Division champion, even though eight games still would have to be played.

A win for the Lions would give them a 4-0 record and a strong hold on first place. On the other hand, a Los Angeles victory could create mass confusion. It would put the teams in a tie for the lead, with 3-1 records, and it would provide an opportunity for Baltimore and San Francisco to also share the lead.

As matters now stand, Detroit has a 3-0 record. The other three teams have 2-1 records. So, if things break right, by Sunday night there could be a four-way tie for first place.

At any rate, both Los Angeles and Detroit aren't thinking about anything else but the game on hand. Each team has high respect for the other.

Russ Thomas, Lion coach, scouted the Rams last Sunday when they whipped the Green Bay Packers. He said:

"Rams have a tricky defense. They don't use any set patterns. They keep changing their defense all the time. It's difficult plotting an offense against them."

Likewise, Ram coach Hamp Pool is impressed with Detroit. But he should be. Lions have whipped Los Angeles four straight times, including three in a row last season to end the Rams' three-year dominance of the loop's western division.

Says Pool:

"I think the Lions have the best line in pro football since the Chicago Bears in the early 40's. On the offense, the guy we'll have to stop is Cloyce Box."

Whether Lions have the best line since the Bear machine of 1939-40-41 isn't known. But Buddy Parker's forward wall has been mighty hard to budge this season, allowing less than 100 yards rushing in each of the Lions' first three victories.

Pool also points out that the Lions, in whipping his team three times last year, virtually stopped the Rams' ground attack in each game. In the three games, the Rams made only 39, 91 and 128 yards.

Pool admits, though, that it was Box more than anyone else who beat the Rams last year. Lions' elusive end made two touchdowns in each of the regular season games and then, in the playoff, he and Doak Walker, Lion halfback, were used as decoys. This loosened the Ram defense and fullback Pat Harder ran wild through the middle.

Rams may have even more trouble this season. Box has come up a left halfback. It's a tricky setup.

HE SHOT ONE ARROW—Archer Leo Koivisto of Sault Ste. Marie is pictured with a possible record-sized black bear he bagged with a 70-pound pull bow at 35 yards while deer hunting in Michigan's northern peninsula this week. The bear was mortally wounded with the single arrow—otherwise this story could have had a different ending. AP Wirephoto

Season Starts Tuesday

Conservation Men See Pheasant Kill at Million First Time Since Early '40s

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's most popular small game species becomes legal game at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The gaudy pheasant, a naturalized citizen which came originally from China, will become the target of at least a quarter million hunters when the small game season opens in the southern lower peninsula.

Before the season ends Nov. 10, it is expected that an increased population of pheasants will have attracted at least 350,000 into the pleasant southern uplands with their guns.

Conservation department game men are almost sure the total pheasant kill will hit 1,000,000 this year, given any break in the weather at all.

If the magic number is reached, it will be the first time since the palmy days of the early 1940's. Pheasants started on a downward cycle then and a slow recovery has been on for some three years.

Last year, the kill fell just short of 1,000,000.

But this year, a count of broods by rural mail carriers, best index to pheasant numbers the conservation department has, was 30 per cent above last year.

There have been no changes in pheasant bag limits. Hunters are still limited to two males a day, four in their immediate possession and eight for the whole season.

Other small game becoming legal in the south at the same time include rabbits, ruffed grouse, woodchuck and fox and gray squirrel.

As last year, it was expected that most other small game hunting in the south will be done incidental to pheasant hunting.

Babe Reaches Quarterfinal in Texas Test

Golf's Comeback Queen Opposes Betsy Rawls in Feature Match

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Babe Zaharias, co-medalist in the 18th annual Women's Texas Open Golf Tournament, was scheduled to meet Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., in the top quarterfinal match today.

* * *

It was the comeback queen of the fairway's first stiff match in the tourney. Yesterday the Babe shot a one-under-women's-par 74 to defeat her golfing pal Betty Dodd of San Antonio 3 and 2. She played the match out "just for practice."

* * *

Mrs. Zaharias, admitting that she gets tired after a few holes, seems to be growing stronger. She is apparently pacing herself, going just as hard on herself as she needs to. She is still recovering, competively speaking, from her cancer operation last spring.

* * *

The tourney's co-favorite and co-medalist, Fort Worth's Polly Riley, had things a little more difficult than competitor Zaharias. Lesbia Lobo, 19-year-old from San Antonio, had Miss Riley two down after seven holes. However, Miss Riley rallied, won six straight holes and triumphed 5 and 4.

Earl Blair, sophomore halfback at the University of Mississippi, runs the 100 yard dash in 9.8.

Perez Favored in Bout on TV

Lulu Shooting for 23rd Straight Against Little Known Joey Cam

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Lulu Perez, one of the few hotshot young prospects in the fight game, is expected to win his 23rd straight tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in a 10-round bout with Joey Cam of Boston.

The wiry 5-foot-5 Brooklyn featherer, fast becoming a favorite with the television customers, hopes to move into a November date with Willie Pep, the ex-champ, if he gets past Cam without too much trouble.

Tonight's fight at 10 p. m. (EST) wil be carried by ABC radio and NBC television.

Cam is a comparative unknown on the big time. His only New York appearance was a decision victory over Bill Bossio May 29, the night Perez whipped Glen Flanagan.

Perez' record is 32-1, the one defeat coming Oct. 13, 1951, to Charley Slaughter in a six-rounder.

It is Cam's big chance to break into the money. A victory over the flashy Perez, ranked No. 6 in the featherweight class, would earn him a Garden date.

CASE — Hitting The Spot.

Is For the Experts — In the preceding article I stressed the importance of a long follow-through for accuracy and easy arm-lift for hook spinning the ball.

While I don't encourage it, quite a few stars insist it's easier to hit a spot near the foul line as illustrated than one farther out on the alley. My argument against it is that it invites dumping the ball too quickly by forcing it.

It may be all right for a few experts, but my advice is to follow the pattern of the majority — like the Vardon (V) grip in golf. Follow through — the easy way to top scoring!

Bandsmen Hit Road

Michigan's famous marching band will take the road for two away from home games this fall, going to Minneapolis for the Minnesota game, October 24 and the Michigan State game at East Lansing, November 14.

League Titles at Stake for Michigan's UP II's

MARQUETTE (AP) — With the mythical upper peninsula championship virtually decided in Ironwood's 34-7 romp over Menominee last Friday night, powerhouses around the region turned to the more immediate problem of wrapping up conference titles.

Ironwood plays at Ashland and can take the Michigan-Wisconsin league crown with a victory.

Iron River, whose 12-game victory string is the longest in the peninsula, can win the Menominee Range pennant with a triumph over Iron Mountain.

Ontonagon should not have too much trouble in downing L'Anse to put away Western U. P. league honors.

Things are a bit uncertain only in the Great Lakes Conference, where Manistique's upset of Sault Ste. Marie pushed the Emeralds half a game in front of the Lock City Devils.

Tackle Bob Koski of Rock's Little Giants, back to punt from his own two-yard line, chose to run from his end zone instead against Marquette Pierce last Friday.

When he finished, he had gone 108 yards from where he received the ball, an official 98-yard gallop — longest from scrimmage in the area this season.

Hacker Leading NL 'Gopher Ball' Hurler

NEW YORK (AP)—Warren Hacker, one of the most effective pitchers in the National League in 1952, was the most affected by the "gopher ball" plague during the 1953 season.

The 29 year old Chicago Cubs hurler, who had a 15-9 record and was second in the league in the earned run averages a year ago, saw the opposing batters spitting on their hands and swinging for the fences every time they faced him during the past season. And they reached those fences for 35 home runs—the most off any major league pitcher.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press reveal that two Detroit southpaws, Ted Gray and Billy Hoeft shared the American League gopher ball title. They did not come close to Hacker's dismal record, each giving up 24 homers.

Mead Joins 'M' Cagers

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Center Milt Mead, who suffered a broken nose in a football game earlier this fall, was among the 15 Michigan basketball candidates who worked out at Yost fieldhouse Thursday.

It was Mead's first appearance in cage togs since the accident. Thirty freshman hopefuls shared the court with the varsity candidates.

'No One to Fight'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Percy Bassett's manager says the interim featherweight champion isn't fighting regularly because there isn't "anyone to fight."

"We'll fight anywhere in the country; just find us a challenger," said Mike Sololoff in answer to an order by the National Boxing Assn. either to defend his title or be stripped of his crown.

Underdogs May Juggle Football's Ratings

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK (AP) — Underdogs stand a good chance to juggle the national ratings again this weekend and maintain the element of surprise that so far has marked the current season.

The Illinois-Minnesota game has real possibilities for an upset. The ninth-ranked Illini rose to sudden stardom on the strength of their 41-20 stampede of Ohio State last week but will have to prove they are still that good against a Paul Giel-led Gopher squad that appears to have found itself.

* * *

The Michigan-Northwestern, Georgia Tech-Auburn, Stanford-UCLA, Rice-SMU, Navy-Princeton and Mississippi State-Kentucky contests belong in the same class.

* * *

Northwestern, Minnesota's victim by a surprise 30-13 margin, has the makings of an explosive attack featuring the passing of Dick Thomas and some strong running. It might be just the thing to catch Michigan, the nation's No. 5 unit, after the Wolverines narrow 14-13 squeak over Iowa in a savage encounter.

Other top teams have an easier time of it. Top-ranked Notre Dame returns to action after a week's layoff to play Pitt. Michigan State, No. 2, is expected to take care of Indiana in routine fashion, while Maryland's third-rated Terps are expected to extend their unbeaten string at the expense of the one boasted by North Carolina. And Baylor, No. 8 draws uncoordinated Vanderbilt.

Duke's Blue Devils from Durham invade New York's Polo Grounds with a plan to steal the march on Army's Cadets and solidify their position as seventh best in the nation.

Two roaring mad and thoroughly trounced squads from Ohio State and Penn clash for comeback honors with the speedier Buckeyes the choice to succeed.

* * *

Cornell's rugged Reds get a solid crack at Yale's unbeaten mark, Kansas gets a shot at Oklahoma, Arkansas challenged Texas and TCU takes aim at Texas A&M's clean slate in other major encounters.

Georgia-LSU, Wake Forest-North Carolina State, Tulane-Mississippi, Virginia-VMI, William and Mary-Virginia Tech, Purdue-Wisconsin, Iowa-Wyoming, Iowa State-Missouri, Nebraska-Miami, Columbia-Harvard, Penn State-Syracuse, USC-Oregon State and Oregon-Washington are among the other games on tap.

Fordham returns to the Polo Grounds tonight for the first time in several years to play Boston College and West Virginia's tenth-rated Mountaineers draw George Washington.

Dressen Holding to Demands

By ORLO ROBERTSON

BROOKLYN (AP)—If Charlie Dressen manages the Brooklyn Dodgers next year he'll have to swallow his pride and accept a one-year contract.

That seemed certain today as the little man who guided the Dodgers to two straight National League pennants stood steadfast on his demand for at least a two-year contract and President Walter O'Malley declined to budge an inch.

"If I reconsidered I'd be lowering myself," said Dressen. "The club offered a one-year contract and won't compromise. If they would make it two years, I'd take it. Money don't enter into it. In fact I'd sign for less if they'd make it longer than one year."

* * *

From O'Malley came these words:

"I have every reason to believe that Charlie's decision is final and irrevocable. It is inconceivable to me that Charlie would humiliate himself and ask for a one-year contract at this point. Doing that certainly would put him in an embarrassing position—and it would do the same to me.

* * *

Earlier yesterday, Dressen said he planned to see O'Malley on another matter today and assumed the managerial discussion would come up again.

* * *

But O'Malley said he had no appointment with Charlie, hastening to add:

"However, Charlie is a friend. He is welcome to see me at any time."

"We started to think about a new manager as soon as we received Charlie's letter," the Dodger president said. He was referring to a strongly worded letter Dressen and his wife composed shortly after the Dodgers clinched the pennant. It demanded a three-year contract at $50,000 a season for Charlie.

* * *

Pee Wee Reese, the club's 34-year old shortstop, was the man most often mentioned as Dressen's successor.

Wings Starting Busy Weekend

Hookie Dave Gatherum to Be in Nets Tonight Against Hawks

CHICAGO (AP) — Detroit Red Wings, starting one of their busiest weekends of the National Hockey Legue season, meet the Chicago Blackhawks tonight.

Wings will play three games in three days. After tonight, both teams journey to Detroit for a Saturday game. Then, on Sunday Detroit will play host to the Montreal Canadiens.

Rookie goalie Dave Gatherum will be in the Detroit nets tonight. Terry Sawchuk, regular goal tender who suffered a slashed knee last week saw the injury puff up in a practice session and it was decided to let Gatherum play one more game.

The Red Wing rookie made an impressive start Sunday, blanking the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0.

It's Football Season, but UM Is Practicing Baseball

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Michigan baseball coach Ray Fisher took advantage of Thursday's "spring" weather to work out with his young pitching prospects for next year.

Among them was Dick Peterjohn, a Cleveland, O., sophomore who Fisher hailed as one of the outstanding pitchers in American Amateur Baseball Association competition this year.

Hunters Asked to Help in Survey on Pheasants

LANSING (UP) — Michigan's conservation department asked hunters again today to send wings and feet of pheasants they kill this year to the department for study by biologists.

Envelopes for mailing the wings and feet are available at most sportsmen's clubs and at many license dealers, the department said. Biologists study the wings and feet to learn more about pheasants, which have been in abundance in the state only since 1925.

Alabama Given Edge Over Vols in TV Feature

Kickoff in Nationally Telecast Game Is Set for 3 P. M. Saturday

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Favored Albama goes after its first victory over Tennessee since 1947 in a meeting of two perennial Southeastern Conference powerhouses tomorrow.

Experts rate the Tide two touchdowns better than the twice beaten Vols. But an underdog Tennessee team has chased Alabama up its own goal posts too often in the past for the Crimsons to feel too confident.

Kickoff of the nationally televised game in Legion Field is scheduled for 3 p.m. (EST). A crowd of 40,000 is expected plus the television audience across the country.

Albama's split-T attack is built around quarterback Bart Starr, the SEC's No. 2 passer, and halfback Corky Tharp, leading conference ball carrier with 265 yards in 38 rushes. Tharp has a seven-yard average per try.

Tailback Jimmy Wade runs Tennessee's single wing offense, a rarity in these days of T-formation popularity but generating deadly power still.

Wade has been the most active ball carrier in the Southeastern this season, running 55 times for 197 yards. He has completed 7 of 14 pass attempts for 119 yards and one touchdown.

After being upset by unheralded Mississippi Southern in its 1953 opener the Tide was worked back up the comeback triail with a 7-7 tie with Louisiana State, a 21-12 victory over Vanderbilt, and 41-13 triumph over Tulsa.

Tennessee was jolted by Mississippi State 26-0 and Duke 21-7 before winning over little Chattanooga 40-7.

Swartz Shuffles Off

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Beaumont of the Texas league traded pitcher Don Swartz to Buffalo for third baseman Eddie Kazak, who played with Houston in the Texas League in 1951, hit .275 with Buffalow th past season.

Amount of money involved in the deal was not disclosed.

Beliveau Begins Repaying Canucks, Gets Two Goals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jean Beliveau, National Hockey League's most discussed rookie in many a season, already has started paying dividends on the $20,000 the Montreal Canadiens reportedly are paying him for playing center ice.

The 22-year-old graduate from senior competition scored his first two goals of the young NHL season last night as the Canadiens defeated the New York Rangers, 6-1, and took over the undisputed lead. Toronto Maple Leafs whipped the Boston Bruins 4-1 in the only other game and moved into a 2nd place tie with Detroit.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, another Montreal youngster matched Beliveau's scoring feat and Maurice Richard and Eddie Mazur added the other goals. Veteran Elmer Lach figured in three goals and the three assists sent his all-time point total in the NHL to 602.

Leafs put on a blistering 1st period attack to turn back the Bruins. Three of their tallies came in the opening period with Ron Stewart and Rudy Migay accounting for the 1st two and Eric Nesterenko the 3rd when the Leafs were a player short.

Turner Takes Easy Win Over Bernardo

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Young Johnny Bernado just wasn't ready for the big time.

The Philadelphian was given a thorough trouncing by the more experienced Gil Turner, a fellow last night.

Turner, 152½, pounded his heavier (155) opponent into helplessness at 2:41 of the 5th round before 3,066 fans. Bernardo hadn't laid a glove on the fast-punching Negro welterweight in the 5th when referee Willie Clark stepped between the two fighters to halt the slaughter.

It was Turner's 41st ring victory.

Tigers Sign Hurler From Atlanta, Dick Donovan

DETROIT (UP)—Announcement of the purchase of a 26-year-old pitcher from Atlanta was the first official act of Herold (Muddy) Ruel since taking over as general manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Ruel said Thursday that Richard Donovan, who had a record of 11 wins against eight losses with Atlanta last year, pitches right-handed and bats left-handed.

In 1951, he had an 0-2 record with the Milwaukee Braves, then the Boston Braves. He finished that season with the National League team's farm club, where he made it 4-6.

Turpin in Excellent Shape, to Have No Weight Trouble

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—If Dr. Vincent Nardiello is right, all those stories about Randy Turpin's erratic training must be wrong.

"The boy is in marvelous condition," said the New York State Athletic Commission physician yesterday after a physical checkup at his Grossinger, N. Y., camp.

* * *

Turpin stepped on the scales for a private trial run to see if he could make the 160-pound limit for Wednesday's middleweight title bout with Bobo Olson at Madison Square Garden.

* * *

Commission rules forbid any release of pre-fight weights but it is reported the scales hit 161 pounds. "He will have no trouble making the weight," said Dr. Nardiello.

* * *

Turpin, who has boxed only five days since arriving from London three weeks ago, whipped through four rounds, two with Eddie Dixon and two with Irving Steen. He looked strong and rough.

He won't work today, unless he changes his mind. Chances are he will box Saturday and Monday, breaking camp Tuesday.

Olson was to get the once-over from Dr. Nardiello and Bob Christenberry, commission chairman, at his Asbury Park, N. J., camp today. Bobo also is close to the weight and expects no trouble.

Indiana Head Wanted UM's Lou Baldacci

CHICAGO (UP)—Football coach Bernie Crimmins said today he made an all-out effort to induce Michigan quarterback Lou Baldacci to enroll at Indiana, but "we were never in the running."

Baldacci told Indiana officials he "had always wanted to go to Notre Dame," Crimmins' alma mater, but later he enrolled at Michigan. This year, even though a sophomore, he is the first string quarterback of the unbeaten Wolverines.

"I didn't see Baldacci in the Ohio high school all-star game," Crimmins said, "but I heard about him. I was there for the football clinic.

"He wanted to go to Notre Dame, but we tried to get him to come to Indiana. We wanted him very badly and tried hard to get him."

Was Versatile Player

Michigan State football coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn played tackle and fullback in high school, and saw action as a tackle, fullback and guard at Minnesota, where he earned All-American honors.

Mr. Bruin Turns Mock Combat Into Real Thing

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—It was dark, awful dark, as three soldiers crept up on what they thought was a lone sentry guarding "enemy" antiaircraft installations deep in the forest of this military reservation during mock combat exercises.

The trio surrounded the sentry post and on a signal dropped, firecrackers—used to imitate rifle fire—into the sentry's hideout.

What popped out was no sentry. It was a big, black bear.

Bruin and the soldiers both beat a retreat—in opposite directions.

The soldiers were M. Sgt. Harold S. Pratt, Auburn, Wash.; Pvt. Alfred A. Webb, St. Louis; and Pvt. Ralph Braskowski, Milwaukee, Wis.

The first American steam locomotive built for public service was the "Best Friend," built for the South Carolina Railroad in 1830 by the West Point foundry.

Bob Considine Says:

Verdin Does Not Expect to Keep Speed Mark Long

NEW YORK (INS) — "On the turns I had to slow down to six hundred," Lt. Comdr. James B. Verdin said, without blinking even one of his large brown eyes. "But the ship was wonderful on the run through the measured course. Like a ride on rails. But there wasn't much time to look at the scenery."

Jim Verdin, 35, father of three, and the prototype of every young officer out of "Mister Roberts" and "The Caine Mutiny," was talking about a hot afternoon earlier this month at Salton Sea, Cal., where he and a Douglas - Navy F4d Skyray Jet interceptor returned the world speed record to the United States.

The new record, set in four blazing passes 100 feet over a three kilometer course, is 753.4 mph. It broke by the sufficient margin of one percent the mark set eight days earlier by Cmdr. Mike Lithgow of the RAF in a Vickers Supermarine Swift.

At top speed, which reached beyond 760 mph, Verdin's Westinghouse J-40 Turbojet (with afterburner) developed 25,000 horsepower. An afterburner, attached to a gassy friend's mouth, would light Washington, D. C. for two weeks.

"I won't hold the record as long as Joe Louis did," the soft-spoken man from Council Bluffs, Iowa, told me as we rattled along toward the garden state race track with just enough speed to spill the coffee in the diner. "The F-100 probably will break it the first hot day they get."

He was speaking of North American's new Super Saberjet in which the Air Force will invest countless millions. He was talking also about a phenomena peculiar to these times, now that many are interested in the sound barrier and how to puncture it. I asked him to explain why a hot day would have anything to do with breaking the record.

"The speed of sound is not dependent on altitude but the temperature of the air," he patiently pointed out. "For fast ground speeds you try to get the hottest possible day. Then the sound barrier is pushed back to very high speeds. It was 98.5 degrees the day I set the record, heat blowing in from Palm Springs, and the speed of sound was estimated at 793 mph.

"You see," he said, "the closer you get to the sonic barrier the more pressure is built up against you. The air gets thicker and infinitely harder to push aside. If you get a hot day you can go beyond very fast speeds and on to extremely fast speeds before you hit the resistance of the barrier . . . I figure the F-100 people will wait until they get a nice day with the temperatures around 103 . . . 105."

The new record, if any, will have to be better than 761 mph to win approval of the Federation Aeronautique International, governing body for airplane speed records. Verdin's mark must be bettered by one percent.

Verdin, winner of the Navy Cross and the DFC in World War II (for attacking a Jap battleship and for dropping one on a destroyer), and winner of more ribbons in the Korean War, quietly painted for us the swiftest and most exciting day of his life—October 3, 1953.

"Douglas had its high priced help there at the course, and they iced my fuel for the skyray while I took a look at the course from a Grumman Cougar," he remembered. "They ice the fuel because that shrinks it and you can pack more in.

"We towed her out to the starting line to save the stuff. Didn't even use blocks on the wheels after the engine was started. Just started rolling. I was in the air a little over a minute after the engine started, and headed for the measured course, 40 miles away.

"It was marked for me by smudge pots and burning tires, and orange-red markers to tell me when to turn off my afterburner, which eats fuel like crazy. About five miles short of the line I was doing 620 and turned on the afterburner. It gave me another hundred miles an hour right away, and I held her steady and low over the course. It doesn't take long . . . about nine seconds for the just under two miles."

He paused and said, quite reverently, "she's really a going machine."

The four runs (746.075, 761.414, 746.053 and 759.499) were timed by devices that measure a millionth of a second. It took five hours to get the final figures, so massive is the mathematics job. Without cockpit refrigeration, and if the speeds had been continued, Verdin would have been cooked in 200 degree heat, caused by friction with the air. In the elapsed flying time of 20 minutes and 25 seconds he burned 575 gallons of gas.

Somehow, the talk turned to cars, and Verdin said he hoped to be able to afford a station wagon for the kids, soon. I asked him if he is a fast driver and he looked quite alarmed.

"Anybody drives a car over 60 miles an hour ought to have his head examined," he said with pious fervor.

Grains Decline in Dull Trading

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices receded in all grain pits on the board of trade today following yesterday's sharp upward surge. Only a part of yesterday's advance was lost.

Brokers said there may have been some selling following President Eisenhower's speech last night. He said the price support principle would be maintained for farm crops but did not mention at what per cent of parity they would be supported.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅞-1¼ cents lower, December $1.93¾; corn was ½-¾ lower, December $1.45⅞, and oats were ¼-½ lower, December 76⅝. Soybeans were ½-1¾ cents lower, November $2.70, and lard was 2 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, October $16.65.

Stock Advance Less Vigorous

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today but with much less vigor than yesterday when the biggest rally of the year was staged.

Gains today went to around a point at the best. Most, however, were in the minor fractions.

Trading was brisk right from the start with many large blocks on the tape.

General Electric, yesterday's most active issue with a gain of 3 points, opened today off ½ at 78⅜ on a block of 1,500 shares. Buying came into GE yesterday after the company announced plans for building an atomic reactor for electricity production.

Among the better performing major divisions today were steels, railroads, oils, coppers, rubbers, and chemicals. Other sections were steady or narrowly mixed.

Says U. S. Must Review Defense

Kyes Declares Nation Should Have Courage to Discard Old Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Roger M. Kyes said today the nation must reassess its defense plans "and have courage to disregard the outmoded procedures and weapons which will no longer serve more than tradition."

In an address prepared for the Women's National Press Club, Kyes made no direct reference to the "new look" which the administration ordered the new Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) to make.

An initial paper containing recommendations by the JCS was taken to the National Security Council earlier this week — and apparently handed back to the Defense Department for another look.

Kyes devoted much of his text to discussion of his inspection trip to American bases, military maneuvers and military leaders in Europe. He said he had an impression of "growing confidence, determination and optimism regarding the general position of our alliance for the security of Western Europe."

He said that under the leadership of Dwight D. Eisenhower, former supreme commander, and Generals Matthew Ridgway and Alfred Gruenther, his successors, "a military force has been built up in Western Europe which should discourage any would-be aggressor."

Of the United States military picture in general, Kyes had this to say:

"A survey of our defense activities and those of our allies leads me to the conclusion that, even taking into account the needs of a realistic continental defense program for the protection of the United States, better planning, more realistic balancing of the elements of military strength, and the elimination of duplication within countries, including our own, and between Allied countries, will result in sufficient savings to permit the development of a reasonable military posture in the Western world within the economic capabilities available to us.

"As an essential part of this positive approach, we must reassess our strategic planning and logistics in the light of technological advances, and have the courage to discard the outmoded procedures and weapons which will no longer serve more than tradition.

"We no longer can afford to prepare for every conceivable kind of war. We no longer can afford the luxury of the 'status quo' in strategic planning.

Pontiac Trio Receive Fines

Missouri Judge Tells Mother to Obtain Court Order to See Twins

IRONTON, Mo. (AP) — A squabble over custody of 3-year-old twins, whose disappearence produced a widespread search complete with roadblocks, wound up yesterday in Magistrate Court.

Twins Danny and Dennis Francis disappeared Wednesday from the yard of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Francis, with whom they had lived for 10 months.

An alarm was sounded and roadblocks were set up. Authorities found the twins unharmed and with their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Francis, 25, of Pontiac, hiding in a wooded area near one of the roadblocks 35 miles east of here.

The mother, divorced from the twins' father, and two companions, Miss Gloria Trammel, 24, and Frank McGowan, 17, both of Pontiac, were held overnight in the Iron County jail here.

Yesterday the Pontiac trio pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace of this town of 1,100 and each was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate John Eversole of neighboring Washington County. The mother was instructed to get a court order before she tries again to gain custody of the children.

The twins' father, Louis Francis of Pontiac, also is seeking custody of the children in a Michigan court and a hearing in the case is set for tomorrow.

The regular magistrate here disqualified himself for the hearing yesterday. He's the grandfather of the twins.

New Lifesaving Gear Now Made of Plastic

NEW YORK (UP) — Plastic is going out to sea.

Lifesaving gear floated with sponged "plastisols" of vinylite resins comes tailored both for individuals and for rafts.

Millions of tiny foam bubbles give buoyancy to the material, which is resistant to moisture and the chemical action of salt water.

The life rings are somewhat flattened versions of the familiar life preserver. For a 25-man life raft, the plastisol is molded into two large half rings that are joined together to float the raft.

Ford II Takes 6 Teenagers on U. N. Tour

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) —Henry Ford II, Ford Motor Co. president and a member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, took six teenagers on a personaly conducted tour through the U. N. headquarters Thursday.

Ford had promised to take the six youngsters through the U. N. after hearing of their activities in the George Junior Republic, an organization of teenagers who practice self-government at Freeville, near Ithaca, N. Y.

Ford was among the persons receiving awards from the organization Wednesday night for their "outstanding efforts to preserve our democratic way of life for the youth of the country."

The boys held the auto magnate to his promise and they began touring the modern structure that overlooks the East river at 9 a. m. —a good hour before other delegates began arriving for morning sessions.

Possum Posse Planned

MT. CLEMENS (AP)—The Macomb County Sheriff's office is considering formation of a "possum posse" to combat an influx of the furry little beasts. One possum bit Nate Gonzales as he walked down a main street. Two housewives called police to get them to remove possums from their premises.

Hal Boyle Says:

TV Newscaster Swayze Finds Boners Aren't Bad

NEW YORK (AP) — When the ordinary man commits a conversational error in his living room, he doesn't worry much about it. Nobody may even notice it except his kindly old mother-in-law, and if she is eating free who is she to holler?

But when a television performer makes a mistake he feels sure it will be seen in 10 million living rooms, and at least 9 million gleeful people will write in letters pointing it out.

That is why, when you shake hands with some TV stars, you discover they have very short fingers. Their fingers didn't grow that way. They've just been gnawed down.

In one of the most nerve-killing industries of our times it's a big problem to keep from getting too tense, John Cameron Swayze, NBC newscaster has a simple gimmick to reduce nervousness.

"My father was a drug salesman," he said, "and before each program I put an 'RX' — the druggists' prescription sign — at the start of every paragraph of my script. And this sign is a constant reminder to relax."

Actually John, a methodical craftsman, has found that on a fast-paced program employing the teamed and well-timed talents of as many as 100 people, the boners that occasionally are bound to happen win more friends than critics. Such as the time he introduced a Florida bathing beauty feature — and a Chicago snowstorm flashed on screen.

"I don't know of anything the audience enjoyed more than this one," John recalled, smiling, "They get a kick out of seeing that, for all the electronic marvels of television, there is still a human element in it — and sometimes the human element slips up."

Swayze, now in his mid-forties, was perhaps the original pioneer in news telecasts.

"I made them for several months back in 1933 in Kansas City," he said, "but so far as I know the only people who ever saw them were television dealers. The public wasn't buying sets then."

He is one of the top-paid men in the field now, but he made the real big time only within the last five years. He came up the hard way, and that may explain why his hat size has never changed. He feels his success came as the result of a series of lucky breaks, and because of a willingness to do what others didn't want to.

"When I was a kid in Kansas everybody was taking piano lessons," he said. "But my father figured that in business it was more important to be able to talk than to play a piano, so he made me take elocution lessons."

Later John got another lucky break. He came to Broadway to become an actor — and couldn't land a job. But he did meet a stage-struck girl from Arkansas — Beulah Mae Estes. And after he returned to Kansas City and found work as a reporter, he and the girl from Little Rock set up housekeeping on $30 a week.

"The paper decided to put on some radio news broadcasts," said Swayze. "Nobody else on the staff wanted the job, so I took it — at $15 a week."

Today he makes more than 100 times that. His annual income is in six figures—that golden pasture between $100,000 and $1 million.

Swayze aired his wares later in Hollywood, then came to New York again. In 1948, when the networks televised the national political conventions some of the top radio announcers were afraid to risk their reputations in the new medium. John was very happy to try the gamble, and made himself a video star almost overnight.

"That was my luckiest break," he said.

Most successful men have their favorite mottos. John has two: (1) "Luck is when opportunity and preparation meet."

(2) Bernard Baruch's advice to "always keep your head in the direction of the firing."

And, he added, he has a third one in reserve to keep his pleasant, happy life in perspective:

"One wrong break can ruin it all."

Radar Control Checks Traffic in Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two policemen gave Grand Rapids' new radar speed control system a workout over the last 20 days and yesterday the results were shown to city officials.

Police Chief Dewey Beaver showed them how the system worked with two officers parked in a car, tabbing speeders as they go by.

He said that in the 20 day trial, two officers using the new equipment caught 300 speeders, while seven motorcycle cops caught only 145 speeders in the same period.

Beaver said that the radar cops handed out only 22 tickets, however, while the motorcycle cops passed out 413, for various violations.

Chief Beaver pointed out that there were fewer traffic accidents last year than in 1951 but more people were killed. It was the fault, he said, of faster driving which the radar system is supposed to stop.

Insurance Plan Gets School OK

Accident Policy to Be Offered at Yearly Cost of $1.25 Per Student

A plan to give parents a chance to insure students against accidents while going to or coming from or at school for $1.25 per child per year has been approved by Pontiac Board of Education.

Frank J. DuFrain, superintendent of Pontiac Public Schools, said notices explaining the plan will be sent home to parents.

Low cost insurance, DuFrain explained, is offered because insurance officials expect a large group to sign up. He said Rochester is using the plan this year.

DuFrain added that an accident on school grounds occur "about once a day."

The policy, wihch pays all medical expenses up to $2,000 plus up to $7,500 for "losses" such as eyes, legs and arms, will pay off regardless of whether the child has other insurance, DuFrain said.

Wales has a maximum length of only 130 miles.

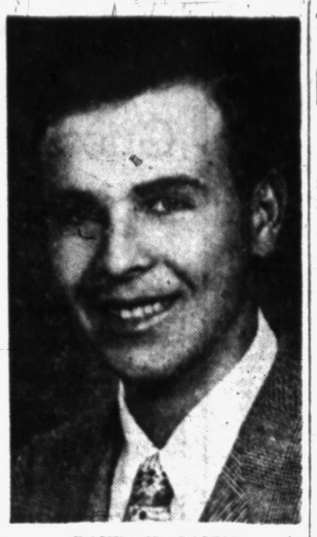
Marlette Youth Named to Head Future Farmers

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP) — David H. Boyne, 19-year-old Marlette, Mich., dairy farmer, is the new national president of the Future Farmers of America.

Boyne, a student majoring in dairying at Michigan State College, was elected at the FFA's 25th anniversary Thursday to succeed Jimmy Dillon of Jones, La.



DAVID H. BOYNE

The new president lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil C. Boyne, on a 340-acre Michigan dairy farm. He was president of Michigan Future Farmers in 1952.

Boyne, who represents the FFA in a student exchange program with the Young Farmers Club of Great Britain this year, is in partnership with his father on 220 acres of land. On it, they have a herd of registered Holstein cattle, and raise wheat, corn, oats and soybeans.

Two Plead Guilty to Breaking, Entering

Two Pontiac men pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the nighttime when arraigned before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty today.

Roy W. Newton, 22, of 30 Norton St. and William E. Wilsey, 17, of 31 Judson St. will be sentenced Nov. 6.

They were arrested by two Pontiac policemen Sunday on Oakhill St. near Moreland Ave. as suspicious persons.

They admitted breaking into two grocery stores and a barber shop earlier in the night and a total of $126.57 was confiscated by police.

Nine other breakins in Oakland County were also admitted by the pair, police said.

Plan Burning Ceremony for Football Halftime

DETROIT (AP)—Lots of fire is expected at tonight's Hamtramck-Van Dyke high school football game, but it centers around the scheduled halftime ceremonies.

Hamtramck has paid off more than $2,000,000 worth of bonds in the last three years.

UM Doctors Work to End Hypertension

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Patients with high blood pressure are benefiting from at least three new methods of treatment developed by the nation's doctors.

Dr. Sibley W. Hoobler, associate professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan, told the opening session of a two day alumni conference yesterday just what's been done about it.

Salt free diets, a method of operating on sympathetic nerves and a dramatic new drug, called "rauwolfia serpentina" were listed by Dr. Hoobler as making a brighter outlook for hypertension sufferers.

"The temptation as we progress in our work with high blood pressure will be to combine all the known drugs in a single capsule," Dr. Hoobler said.

No Appeasing Reds Aussies Tell Nixon

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Two top Australian labor union chiefs told U. S. Vice President Richard Nixon today their followers "don't want anything that smacks of appeasement" in dealing with the Soviet Union.

T. N. P. Dougherty, general secretary of the Australian Workers' Union, said he told the vice president: "The only way to find out whether the Russian peace overtures are genuine is to have experts go throughout the Soviet Union and determine the extent of its military buildup."

Laurie A. Short, federal secretary of the Federated Ironworkers Assn., said Australian workers want to be sure of Soviet intentions before the United States makes any agreement with the Kremlin.

Nixon is on a good will tour of the Far East.

To Improve Harbors

Famous Prosecutor F. G. Katzman Dies

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Frederick G. Katzman, 78, died last night after collapsing in the very trial room where he prosecuted Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti in a murder case that set off worldwide reverberations.

He was stricken while presenting evidence in a civil case in the old Norfolk County Superior Court. There, as prosecutor in 1921, he won the death penalty against Sacco and Vanzetti for slaying two South Braintree men during a $15,776 holdup.

As prosecutor against the two men, who later were electrocuted, Katzman was the target of Communist abuse for years.
