Chrysler and Union Wrap Up Pact

Some Sections of Contract Still on Table

New Package Is Worth 24 to 30 Cents More Per Hour for Men

DETROIT (AP)—The major sections of a three-year contract between Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union are wrapped up.

Before UAW President Walter Reuther dashed to join negotiations with strike-threatened General Motors yesterday, he and Chrysler Vice President John D. Leary said they had reached an agreement covering production and maintenance workers, parts and warehouse employes and cafeteria workers.

These comprised all but about 8,000 of Chrysler's work force of about 70,000 UAW members.

Negotiations continued to work on provisions for engineers and salaried office workers.

The settlement yesterday has the same basic economic features as the UAW's agreement with Ford Motor Co. two weeks ago — improved layoff pay, a new severance plan, high retirement benefits, and continued cost of living and improved productivity wage increases.

The package is estimated to be worth 24 to 30 cents more per hour for each worker during the life of the contract.

Two new provisions were expected to give the work force greater stability—a seniority system for rehiring laid off workers and a stronger no-strike clause.

Under the new seniority plan, each laid off worker will have his name on two lists—one a plant list of workers available for rehiring and the other a company-wide list of laid off workers.

Vacancies will be filled first by hiring a man from the company-wide list, then from the plant list continuing the alternation throughout the recall.

The UAW feels this offers greater job stability to high seniority workers who are left jobless by the shift of a plant to another location.

The stronger no-strike clause calls for more definite notice of the cause of a local strike. Also, UAW strike authorization will expire after 60 days unless renewed by mutual agreement between the local and the International Union.

Chilly Weather Will Diminish With Low of 44

Partly cloudy and a little warmer is the weatherman's forecast for tonight with the low about 44. Southwesterly winds at 10-15 miles an hour will become southerly tomorrow.

The outlook for Friday is partly cloudy and warmer with the high near 65, the low around 48. Scattered showers and turning colder is the prediction for Saturday in both Lower Michigan and Upper Michigan.

Temperatures for October will average below seasonal normals over most of the nation.

Thirty-nine was the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 62 at 2 p.m.

Auto Smashup Kills Woman

Independence Driver Is Victim as Her Car Hits Abutment in Waterford

An Independence Township woman was killed this morning when she lost control of her car on Clintonville road at the eastern end of Lake Oakland in Waterford Township and smashed into an abutment.

The accident victim is Mrs. Margaret Eaglen, 29, of 5372 Eastview.

Mrs. Eaglen was traveling north on Clintonville road at 2:33 a.m. when the accident occurred. The car went out of control when she attempted to negotiate an "S" curve and crashed into a pile of dirt on the opposite side of the road.

Cause of death was attributed to a crushed chest and fractured neck. She was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Seeking 2 Men in Slaying Here of Texas Man

Examination Is Asked by Tsermengas Before Justice Dieterle

Two men, supposedly with Demitrios (Jimmy) Tsermengas when he "accidentally" killed Fort Worth underworld character George Kean last December here, were still being sought in Texas today.

Tsermengas, 39, yesterday afternoon appeared before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle and demanded an examination on the first-degree murder charge against him.

Dieterle ordered examination for 10 a.m. Oct. 10 and ordered Tsermengas returned to Oakland County jail without benefit of bond.

Texas Rangers, Fort Worth, Houston and Dallas city police were seeking the whereabouts of Lowell E. McComb and Thomas D. Smith, wanted here as alleged accomplices in the Kean death.

Sheriff Harlon Wright of Tarrant County (Fort Worth) said he had been contacted by McComb's attorney and that he (the attorney) would surrender McComb "sometime today."

Smith, Sheriff Wright said, had been located at his home in Houston and was expected to be arrested today by Texas Ranger Capt. John Kledenhagen.

However, Wright said Smith probably would not be extradited to Michigan as he had three felony charges (two armed rob-

Strike Begins in Pontiac

Pontiac Press Photo

AT THE DEADLINE—These Pontiac Motor Division employes joined thousands of GM workers across the nation at 10 a. m. today when they walked off the job. Negotiations between the union and GM had not reached a settlement at that time.

Issues Are Unresolved as Deadline Goes By

Firm Says That Strike Was Almost 100 Per Cent Within 30 Minutes

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

DETROIT — General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union failed to reach an agreement before a 10 a. m. strike deadline today and more than 275,000 GM employes left their jobs in plants across the nation.

General Motors said the strike was almost 100 per cent within 30 minutes.

One hundred and twenty-six plants in 71 cities throughout the nation were shut down, representing "virtually all" of GM operations.

GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton estimated the strike would cost the workers $5,000,000 a day in wages, and that the company also would lose about $5,000,000 a day.

Seaton said the company was standing by its offer to give the UAW the same terms as were in the Ford settlement "which the Union praised when it reached a settlement with Ford."

The Union insisted there were issues peculiar to GM which must be settled, including short work-week schedules, and differences in wage scales for the same work.

The striking GM employes included 25,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), which also failed to reach an agreement before the deadline.

GM and UAW negotiators spent a total of 19½ hours over the bargaining table during the past 24 hours in an unsuccessful attempt to reach an agreement on a national contract before the deadline.

Some of the strikers left their jobs early, failing to report for work when their shift began this morning. The UAW ordered all preparations for a nationwide strike made well in advance and said the local unions were permitted to strike at their local time although this put some of them on strike before the deadline was reached in Detroit, where the negotiations were conducted.

★ ★ ★

The Union laid elaborate preparations for the nationwide strike, third in GM's history, long before the final minutes ticked away.

Union negotiators had given up hope of avoiding at least widespread local strikes hours before the deadline.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, director of the Union's GM department, officially acknowledged that hope of avoiding the local strikes was lost in a statement issued four hours before the deadline.

"There has been no work on the local demands during the six months we have been negotiating," Woodcock said. "GM has refused to allow its plant officials to bargain on local issues while talks on the national contract were in progress.

"Our hands are tied. There is no chance of moving enough before the deadline to prevent widespread local strikes."

Seaton said the company was not impressed by the strike deadline and presumably not by the strikes.

He said the company had been

Strike Halts Work at 3 GM Plants

A total 14,100 UAW workers in Pontiac were affected today as an estimated 11,700 walked off their jobs at the 10 a.m. strike deadline and halted production in the three General Motors Corp. plants here.

Sign-bearing pickets appeared at the three plants shortly after 10 a.m.

One incident occurred later as a truck reportedly tried to leave the Pontiac Motor plant through gate 14, striking a picket and injuring him slightly. Union members afterwards appeared at the Pontiac Police Department, demanding action against the truck driver, Capt. Joseph Koren said.

Koren said that troubles at the gate "were all cleared up" by the time two police cars arrived there at 10:55 a.m. The picket was identified as Edward Hoffmaster, who remained on duty with a bruised leg, it was reported.

Joining in the walkout were an estimated 5,100 first-shift workers at Pontiac Motor Division plants; 4,000 at GMC Truck & Coach Division; and 1,600 at Fisher Body.

An additional 2,400 on other shifts at Pontiac Motor will be affected later today, as well as an added 1,000 at GMC Truck & Coach. Fisher Body has only the one shift.

Non-union and salaried employes remained on the job, as well as skeleton crews in the power plants at each plant.

Company and union officials here refrained from comment as eyes focused on Detroit where a settlement, if any, might be forthcoming between representatives of the corporation and the UAW international.

Meetings on local grievances were scheduled for this afternoon here between company and union officials at Fisher Body and GMC Truck & Coach. Earlier grievance sessions at Fisher Body and Pontiac Motor broke off at 9 a.m.

Burdette Faces Turley in 2nd

Day Cloudy as Braves' Yankee-Killer Tries to Beat Stengel Strategy

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves called on their Yankee-killer Lew Burdette, today as they went out to make it two in a row over the New York Yankees in the World Series.

Burdette, who won three games from the Yankees when the Braves took last year's series, was opposed by another right-hander, Bob Turley.

It was a cloudy day, with the sun trying to shine through. The temperature was expected to be in the low 60s by game time, 2 p.m. EST.

The first forecast had called for possible showers this afternoon. However the possibility had vanished, according to the weather bureau.

Both clubs were late arriving at flag-bedecked County stadium for the second game and Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees was debating several lineup changes.

Because Burdette's low, sinking deliveries usually are particularly tough for left-handers to hit, Stengel was undecided whether to go with right-handers or put two more left-handed hitters in his lineup. If the latter, Norm Sieberg would take over in left field for Elston Howard and Jerry Lumpe would be at third base instead of Andy Carey.

Expert Analyzes Baseball and TV

By BOB CONSIDINE

MILWAUKEE — It is going to be a great big wonderful and prosperous World Series. But that won't hide the fact that the baseball business is sick.

The tonic of having the Dodgers in Los Angeles and the Giants in San Francisco has helped, but the game is going down the drain in other places—Washington, Cleveland, Cincinnati. The minors are shot.

The primary cause of the disease is television. It eliminates just about every irritation and all costs attached to witnessing a game in real life.

The viewer has no need to stir himself from his chair or barstool, find transportation, buck the crowds, tip the bum who shows him to his seat, get back home.

Novelty played the primary role in the attendance marks set by the Dodgers and Giants this year. But it must also be noted that the Giants televised no games this past year.

With 77 games televised the year before, the Giants drew only a third of what they drew in 1958. The Dodgers permitted only eight of their games to be given away (as opposed to 103 the year before at Ebbets Field.) They drew a million more customers in 1958.

In the National League this past season there were 190-odd fewer games telecast than during 1957. Paid admissions were up by 2,000,000.

In the American League there was an increase in television coverage, 436 games being 'case as

Ford Unveils Car to Press

New Model Has Flat Roof, More Glass and Single Taillights

DETROIT (AP)— The 1959 Ford will have a flat roof, more glass, parking lights in the front bumpers and large single taillights. They will also have silver anodized aluminum, sculptured lines and chrome used only for accent. The economy Custom 300 line will be about six inches longer to provide more passenger space.

These details were disclosed today as the Ford division began a two-day national press preview of its entire 1959 line.

J. O. Wright, division general manager, told newsmen in an address prepared for delivery at the preview that every piece of sheet metal in the 1959 Ford cars has been changed in appearance, contour and proportion. He reported also that more than a billion dollars in advance orders have been forwarded by dealers and fleet owners who have seen the 1959 line.

This, Wright said, will necessitate heavy overtime operations in Ford factories throughout the country. The overtime, he added, will extend into November, possibly later.

Ford division production and sales declined sharply this year. In the first nine months of 1958 its output totaled 928,545 cars and trucks against 1,746,058 in like 1957. Through August of this year retail sales amounted to approximately 811,000 cars and trucks compared with 1,186,000 in like 1957.

Monday Deadline for Nov. 4 Election

There are only three more days—Friday, Saturday and Monday — in which voter registrations for the Nov. 4 election can be accepted, City Clerk Ada R. Evans warned today.

Registrations can be made at the clerk's city hall office Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Monday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The registration booth at Saginaw and West Huron streets will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; and 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday.

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to take over the booth next week for a voter instruction service. Models of Pontiac's automatic voting machine will be there and volunteers will be on hand to explain how to use them.

New Models Must Have Price Tag

COMPLETE WITH LIST — A new 1959 Pontiac is shown here with the manufacturer's suggested retail price affixed, as required by a new government regulation. Pontiac stenographer Janet Squires checks the listing (see insert) which includes charges on the basic car, Federal excise tax, suggested dealer delivery and handling, suggested delivered price on options and accessories, factory installed, and destination charge.

GM Building Occupants Wait for Elevators

DETROIT (AP)—Elevator operators in the 15-story General Motors headquarters building joined the strike against GM today, forcing 7,000 occupants to climb up and downstairs.

The 32 operators are United Auto Workers Union members. Supervisory employes manned a couple of elevators but there was a long wait for those who wanted to ride.

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president, had expressed confidence earlier that the elevator operators would not join the strike.

He commented, "If they do go out, I'll run one of the elevators myself."

★ ★ ★

Seaton was in a meeting of GM officials when the elevator walkout came and there was no immediate indication whether he would keep his promise.

GM bargaining talks are held in a fifth floor conference room.

Firemen's Field Day Here Only One of Kind in State

Pontiac's firemen's field day Saturday will be the only one of its kind in Michigan and one of the biggest in the nation, officials predict.

It will begin at 2:30 p.m. at Northside Field after a huge parade of fire equipment completes a 1:30 p.m. parade in downtown Pontiac, said Sherwin M. Birnkrant, chairman of the sponsoring Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Topping the list of field events is a championship water battle between the Waterford Township Fire Department and the Brooklands Fire Department in Avon Township.

Nine other volunteer fire departments are scheduled to compete for trophies in two other types of contests, said Birnkrant. One involves racing against the clock to assemble a fire hose and carry it over a seven-foot slippery barricade; the other is a race to see which department can most quickly raise a 26-foot ladder by ropes and scramble to its top.

Other features are also scheduled, including a unique demonstration of Pontiac Motor Division's in-plant fire equipment in action, said Birnkrant.

★ ★ ★

Northside Field is on Montcalm street at Edison street, across from the Pontiac plant. The public is invited to use the plant's Montcalm lot for free parking, Birnkrant said.

GM Production Dips 600,000

Record of Comparative 9-Month Figures for 1957-58 Shows Drop

General Motors produced 92,151 passenger cars and trucks in the U.S. and Canada during September, compared to 107,370 during September, 1957, a production report showed today.

For the nine months through September, GM units totaled 1,903,-559, compared to 2,552,109 for the same period of 1957.

Individual division production figures are difficult to compare with the same month of last year, because of different dates for halting production to swing over to new models.

Liz Says Mike Would Wish Her Happiness

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I will love Mike Todd to the day I die. It was only a few weeks ago that I came out of my shell, could even force myself to look at pictures of Mike again. I know that Mike, of all people, would want me to be happy."

The speaker: Elizabeth Taylor, movie queen, widow of showman Todd, and barefoot hostess at a house party celebrating Eddie Fisher's return to television.

Fisher, a close friend of Todd, concurred: "Mike would be the first person to want Liz to be happy."

★ ★ ★

The press was barred from the party after the singer's Tuesday night show. But reporters outside Miss Taylor's swank Bel-Air mansion saw her skipping gaily over the lawn, barefoot.

Fisher's wife, Debbie Reynolds, announced she would divorce the singer, who squired Miss Taylor about town while in New York recently.

When reporters quizzed Miss Taylor's executive secretary, Dick Hanley, about the gathering, he replied: "What party? Mrs. Todd had some friends in."

'Copter Pilot Finds Body of Kenneth, 4

IRON MOUNTAIN (UPI) — The body of four-year-old Kenneth Scott, who disappeared Sunday in the bear-infested wilderness north of here, was found today by an Air Force helicopter.

The body was sighted by a copter pilot from the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base at Marquette. The pilot landed to recover the body from a spot about 1½ miles southeast of the hunting camp from which Kenneth wandered away.

It was not immediately known how long the boy had been dead or what caused his death.

Discovery of the body came shortly after two of the nation's best bloodhounds were flown here from The Dalles, Oregon, to join in the last-ditch search for the child.

Mercury Rises After Evening of Heavy Frost

By The Associated Press

Slightly warmer weather is in store for Michigan after heavy overnight frost and temperatures as low as 29 in the Upper Peninsula.

Grand Marais, on the shore of Lake Superior, was the chilliest spot in the state with 29. Gladwin's 33 was the low mark for the lower peninsula.

Heavy frost was general throughout the state. It was 34 at Sault Ste. Marie; 36 at Kinross, Saginaw and Jackson; 37 at Marquette and Houghton; 38 at Detroit and 39 at Pellston and Traverse city.

It was another frosty morning in most of the Eastern half of the nation but some warmer air headed into the chilled Midwest.

The cold air in the Midwest which sent temperatures to new lows for the season in many areas Wednesday has moved into the East and parts of the South. It covered areas from eastern Texas to the eastern Great Lakes region and eastward to the Atlantic Coast. The only warm air was in Florida and southern sections of Georgia.

Frost warnings were posted from New England into the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, and scattered frosts were likely in parts of Arkansas and the Virginias.

Mental Patients May Get Beds

State Group Approves Using Excess Space in TB Facilities

A committee of probate judges working for emergency facilities for the long waiting list of mentally ill patients found out this morning they have won over the State Mental Health Commission.

The committee last Friday came away from a meeting with the commission in Lansing with a feeling of defeat.

But today Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore received a letter from commission chairman, Dr. Harry E. August, stating that the commission had formally approved the use of excess beds in state tuberculosis sanatoriums for mental patients and instructed its director to negotiate with the state health commissioner to that end.

The judges had urged such use of the more than 900 vacant beds to ease the 1,500-person backlog of mentally ill in Michigan.

They had stressed that these persons, all potentially dangerous to themselves and society, could not wait for a long-range solution to the shortage of facilities.

Dr. August also wrote Judge Moore that the commission is willing to explore the possibility of turning elderly patients now in state institutions over to their counties. These elderly persons, mainly senile rather than mentally ill, fill many beds in state hospitals.

Judge Moore said the Oakland County Board of Supervisors is being urged to turn the former County Contagious Hospital into a psychiatric institution where emergency patients and the elderly patients could be housed at least temporarily and diagnosed before being sent to state hospitals or nursing homes.

Judge Moore, in pointing out the urgent need, cited a Royal Oak boy of 13 who last night climbed a Ferndale radio tower and had to be dragged down by firemen.

"This boy has been mentally ill since the age of five," the judge said, "yet he is running around loose like hundreds of others in the state because I just don't have a place to send him."

★ ★ ★

While he is happy that the Mental Health Commission will seek $1.6 million next January from the Legislature for a 1,080-bed addition to Northville State Hospital, Moore said the judges feel the problem is an emergency in Michigan and cannot be delayed for two or three years until a permanent solution is found.

The Day in Birmingham

Hudson, Honigman to Talk on Issues Facing Voters

BIRMINGHAM — Some of the issues facing voters in the general election Nov. 4 will be topics of discussion Tuesday evening at a public meeting in the Birmingham Community Building.

Sponsored by the Birmingham Unitarian Church Men's Club, the meeting will feature talks by two candidates, one from each party.

Speaking for the Republicans will be Jason L. Honigman, candidate for Michigan attorney general, and for the Democrats, State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, who is now running for the 18th District, U.S. House of Representatives seat in Washington, now held by Rep. William S. Broomfield.

The speaking portion of the program, which will follow the club's regular dinner meeting at 7 p.m., will be open to the public. It is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

Some of the topics slated for airing are:

1. Extent of need for unemployment compensation and how its costs can be met.

2. Governor Williams' indication of a need for increased state revenue of state government operation and how that need would be met.

3. How to encourage industry to remain in Michigan and how to bring new industry into the state.

Volunteers serving in public school libraries are being trained by the staff of Baldwin Public Library, according to Miss Lee Tuttle, library publicity director.

Workshops have been arranged in cooperation with the children's department of the library.

Sessions are under the direction of Henry F. Corbacho, director of the materials center, Birmingham School District; Miss Jeanne Lloyd, Baldwin Library director; Mrs. Norman Burns, children's librarian and Mrs. Jesse Sewell, of the Pierce School library.

Volunteers are being taught organization, card usage, repair of books and special display techniques.

With several new schools in the district, the need for such trained personnel is growing. In his annual report on the various schools, Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, Birmingham Schools superintendent, stressed the importance of adequate school libraries and trained personnel to manage them.

Bloomfield Hills Board of Education today announced that its adult education program will begin Oct. 21.

Two-hour classes will be scheduled once a week through Dec. 8, beginning at 8 p.m. Classes are being offered in languages, music, recreation and science.

Other courses include estate planning and finance, public speaking, local and international affairs.

Information on subjects and fees is available at the Board of Education office.

Two White Lake Township youths were arrested last night by Bloomfield Hills Police on charges of unlawfully taking and using a motor vehicle.

David E. Montrille, 19, of 1236 Applewood Dr., and Richard L. Leonard, also 19, of 1329 Applewood Dr., were picked up while driving a truck owned by the City of Bloomfield Hills.

The two, first spotted at the scene of a reported abandoned truck, fled in the truck when police arrived. Officers radioed for assistance, and the youths were apprehended a short time later driving the city truck.

Police said the pair told them they drove off with the city truck, which had been parked next to the city garage.

A tire and sporting equipment stolen from cars parked near the Grand Trunk Railroad Station in Bloomfield Hills, driveway markers from homes, and two lanterns from a Troy construction project were recoverd from the city truck. The youths admitted taking all of these items, police said.

Birmingham Police are holding Richard Guiliani, 18, of 1842 Witherbee St., Troy, and Thomas Allore, 17, of 380 E. Frank St., Birminbham, for investigation of the robbery last night of Thurston's Market, 1056 S. Woodward Ave.

Lt. Merlin Holmquist said the pair was arrested last night in the vicinity of the store after police had noticed a broken window in front of the building.

Holmquist said $4.81, along with two burned $1 bills identified by the owner, George Sprung, were found on Guiliani, an Army private on furlough.

Sprung said this was approximately the amount missing from the store.

Richard J. McNeil, 22, of Farwell, and Merrill Chick, 41, of Burton Township, near Flint, are being held by Birmingham Police for investigation of the theft of used tires from the Eton Shell Service station at Eton and 14-Mile Rds.

The pair was arrested last night at 14-Mile and Crooks Rds. after the station attendant became suspicious of them while they were loitering at the station and took the license number of their auto.

The first fall meeting of the Congregational Church Supper Club will be held at 6:45 p.m. tomorrow in the church social hall. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gerity, chairmen, said no formal program is planned for this meeting.

Train Ride Turns Boys' 'Itchy Feet' to Itchy Arms

"Itchy feet" brought on itchy arms for two Detroit boys today.

Having played hooky from school Tom and George, both 13, hopped aboard an open Grand Trunk Railroad boxcar in the vicinity of Detroit's Fisher Building so that they could get home in time for supper.

The train pulled past their neighborhood, but was moving too fast for them to get off, so the two runaways decided to stay on for a free ride to George's family summer cabin in Grayling.

Meanwhile, the door of the car closed and the youths were unable to open it.

The train pulled into Pontiac and stopped.

The mercury dropped and so did the hopes of the boys for going north. Adding to their woes, the boxcar they chose for their trip was filled with itchy insulation.

Their screams and yells attracted the attention of Grand Trunk Railroad detectives, who freed the boys and turned them over to Pontiac Police.

The boys soon learned that their plans were in vain. The car they were in is headed for California.

Waiting for their families to pick them up, George and Tom—as they scratched their arms — admitted the itch to travel has gone.

About 60 per cent of the nation's students who enter college will eventually graduate according to studies by the Office of Education. Most of those who do graduate get their degrees in four years from the college they originally entered.

Sea Water Studied as Source of Fuel

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — The possibility of using sea water as a source of fuel for automobiles is now being studied, according to former Under-Secretary of the Army Earl D. Johnson.

Johnson told the 35th annual convention of the Life Insurance Office Management Association yesterday that the average American car owner uses 900 gallons of gasoline a year.

The same amount of energy can be found in three gallons of sea water, he said.

Johnson, executive vice president of General Dynamics Corp., said there is more energy in the world than can be used in hundreds of millions of years and that sea water as a source of fuel for autos is being only "mildly explored."

"We are facing a complete scientific revolution and unless we keep abreast of the possibilities of new developments," Johnson said, "we will be eclipsed by them."

Coach Sends Contract to Baby of Great Athlete

RICHMOND, Ky. (UPI) — Eastern State cage coach Paul McBrayer mailed a scholarship contract to a 3-week-old boy recently.

His name is Gregory Adams. His father, Jack, rewrote virtually every Eastern basketball record before grading in 1956.

In his congratulatory note to the proud father, McBrayer wrote: "Have him (Gregory) sign this (the contract) and at his convenience and return it to me."

opposed to 381 in 1957. Attendance was down a million.

★ ★ ★

Dizzy Dean's game-of-the-week, squirted relentlessly into towns that once loyally supported minor league ball, empties the ballparks to such a degree that you could fan a shotgun through the stands and hardly hit a soul.

So far, the tactic of owners whose clubs are withering at the gate has been to put a deeper and deeper bite on the sponsors of the telecasts. That sort of thing is getting near the breaking point, or perhaps has arrived.

The maker of beer, cigarettes, razors and so forth can stand just so much. He can't sacrifice his use of other media to the cause of presenting for home screens a frequently bad ball club. He can't go into the baseball business.

Which brings it down to pay-TV. I think toll television gets closer every year. If it becomes a question of no baseball TV, or baseball on a pay-as-you-see TV basis, you'll get instand acceptance of the latter.

There were predictions in the early 1920s that radio would ruin baseball and all other sports. But it did just the opposite. It became a brilliant factor in the evolution of the Golden Age of Sport.

Radio is but a tease. It beckons to a listener to see that which is being described. Television is the fruition. It surfeits. If leaves nothing unsaid, unseen, undefined.

When its prying eyes have scanned the field of play to the final time, when its Zoomer lenses have explored the last crease in Casey Stengel's last chin, the viewer has no questions.

The radio listener, it was discovered, came up hungry no matter how much was shoveled at him in the course of an event. He would express that hunger by going out to see the thing in the flesh the next time it happened.

Radio broadcasting of games has undergone many changes of technique over the years. Listening to a foaming description of a World Series game by Graham McNamee long ago, Ring Lardner commented to Grantland Rice,

"This is the first World Series double header I've ever covered; the one that McNamee is describing and the one I'm looking at."

The art got windier than that, then was invaded by th ecracker-barrel, corn-pone, real down-to-earth boys, then the briskly clinical old ballplayers, and the "You won't believe this, but. . ." school of Gee Whiz journalism.

But the voice that accompanies TV is usually only an intrusion, a hollow Greek chorus that feels it must speak ere the bloodless machines with the red eyes devour a game the sports pages of American newspapers developed into a national pastime.

Orders for Buicks Outstrip Production

FLINT (UPI) — Buick officials said today orders for their 1959 model are coming in faster than they can fill them. Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick division, said 37,429 cars were sold in the first 10 days they were on display.

"This is the fastest any new model Buick got off the ground," Ragsdale said. "Our new car orders are running about four to five weeks ahead of production." Ragsdale estimated Buick lost about 20 per cent of its scheduled production since Aug. 18 as a result of labor difficulties.

He said more than one-third of all orders received by dealers were for the four-door, hardtop models with the curved glass rear "picture window."

275,000 Workers Idled by Nationwide GM Strike

harassed repeatedly by local-level strikes during the past several weeks and a national strike was a "rather empty thing" because of the local strikes.

GM was faced with the prospect of being closed by strikes while its two biggest competitors, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler, were turning out 1959 model cars.

Woodcock said there were still several major problems to be solved in the national agreement negotiations. Among these he listed short work weeks, vacation pay eligibility, representation, pension eligibility for Korean War veterans and a union voice in investment of pension funds.

GM, which has not had a nationwide strike since its workers were idled for 113 days in 1945-46, offered to settle with the Union on Ford contract terms but Reuther has insisted there were some matters "peculiar to GM which demand a GM settlement."

He said these problems included short work weeks and wage differentials among various plants.

Seaton said there were more than 8,000 local contract issues in dispute. But Reuther said these could be resolved after a national agreement was concluded. He said local negotiating committees at the plants where the issues arose were already working on the problems.

The Union insisted, however, that local Unions maintain the right to strike over these issues, which were mostly minor matters, even after a national agreement was reached. This is what happened in many cases after Ford reached a national agreement with the Union.

GM and the Union have been negotiating on terms of a new contract for almost 6½ months and the company has been operating without a Union contract since May 29 when the old pact expired.

GM, like the other auto makers, had a disappointing sales year for 1958 models and many workers had long layoffs or short work weeks most of the year.

★ ★ ★

Reuther said both Ford and Chrysler had worked out agreement with the union in recent years to curtail the short work weeks and short work days insofar as possible, but he accused GM of poor work scheduling which accentuated the problems of workers putting in less than 40 hours a week.

★ ★ ★

Seaton was asked if GM had planned any move in the final hour of bargaining.

"We see no necessity for a new offer when we've already made one exactly like that of Ford and Chrysler, which the union said was good for the UAW and good for the nation," he replied.

Seaton said that if the union had any hopes of forcing additional concessions from GM, "it is going to be a rough affair."

Seaton said that GM's output is so diversified, ranging from automobiles to refrigerators to electric locomotives, that there are thousands of pay scales.

The union has insisted that the wage rates of an assembler, for example, should be uniform in GM plants but Seaton declared the types of work are so varied, it would be impossible to adopt a standard rate.

The vanguard of an anticipated total of 275,000 General Motors employes walked off their jobs in advance of the strike deadline.

beries and auto theft) still pending in Texas, "He owes us 15 years down here," said the sheriff.

Details of the Kean murder came to light yesterday when a Commerce Township insulation salesman told Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem that the fatal shooting took place "sometime in mid-December" in his home on Long Lake in Commerce Township.

Donald E. Chandler, 38, of 1872 Point Dr., told Ziem how the three men threatened him as they left his home to dispose of Kean's body. Ziem quoted Chandler as saying the men told him not to tell police "or it will be your life or your wife's."

Chandler, who described himself as "an acquaintance" of Tsermengas, posted a $500 check as bond when Ziem was granted a court order to hold him as a material witness.

Chandler substantiated a story given by Tsermengas Tuesday that Kean, Fort Worth hoodlum trying to control the underworld there, was shot when Tsermengas, McComb and Smith attempted to disarm him as he slept in a drunken stupor in the Chandler home.

The four men stopped there as they were en route from Fort Worth to Sault Ste. Marie to pull a robbery.

Chandler quoted Tsermengas as saying, "I didn't mean to kill him. I was only trying to knock him out."

★ ★ ★

Tsermengas, who moved to Ecorse from Fort Worth, called Chandler and said he wanted to see him on the day the shooting took place, according to Chandler's statement to Ziem.

McConnell told Daily Herald Reporter Brian Woosey that the millionaire philanthropist paid him his $28 a week wages and fired him — after McConnell rode home in style.

The Gals Now Are Taking to Football

For the first time in the history of our Man About Town football contests, more entries have been received from women than from men.

★ ★ ★

As a rule, their selections indicate fully as great an insight into the rudiments and possibilities of the game as that of the males.

In many instances it was plainly evident that a sober reflection on statistics dominated their choice.

★ ★ ★

It would seem that the reading of our sport pages no longer is an exclusive masculine diversion. The fashion pages have a competitor.

The ladies are carefully figuring the dope, and are not swayed by false rumors that a team is better or worse than last year.

★ ★ ★

They quite evidently have the same consideration for facts and fancies that made them par (or better) on the males in baseball predictions.

Accompanying notes with the entries from the women express a fascination for football, and regrets on its tardy discovery.

★ ★ ★

One woman wrote, "I always thought it was a game for plug uglies, and to fatten the doctors' bank accounts. After I learn about it I'm ashamed, and would boost for a team in my Sunday school class."

★ ★ ★

Another wrote, "For years I disliked my husband's utter absorption in your sport pages. Now I try to beat him to it."

Bolstered by that unpredictable asset, a woman's intuition, that $300 prize is engendering a feminine flirtation.

There Is No Off Season for Garden Enthusiasts

A few lines in last week's garden page of The Press advised readers that the page would be the final one until the 1958 season. The brief paragraph had a note of finality!

As if, with the coming of the Fall equinox, gardens automatically fold up over night and there is nothing more to be done outdoors until next Spring.

Every lover of growing things knows how far from the truth is such an idea.

Fall is an important and busy time in the garden, and one which may be filled with satisfaction and hope.

★ ★ ★

For this is the Harvest season; and it is also the time of preparation for another Spring.

Fall flowers which have been building up their display during the closing weeks of Summer, are now at their best with great splashes of warm color sufficient to last in memory through all the grey days of winter.

The vegetable gardens are giving up their yield in such generous quantities about now that many gardeners-for-fun will be asking: Why did I ever plant so much stuff?; even while looking about to see where something more might be planted next year.

★ ★ ★

There is much to be done between now and the time advancing winter seals the ground to our spades and trowels. Flowering bulbs which pay such dazzling dividends come March and April must go into the soil in the next few weeks; many plants for next summer's flowering must be transplanted now, along with shrubs and evergreens; lawns are due for patching, and even reseeded completely if done soon enough.

These are tasks to which true gardeners turn with a will. For the perfect garden is always just one season away.

Regardless of this year's triumphs and mistakes, the perennial password at this season is:

Just wait until you see next year's garden.

And next year's starts right now.

If The man who concocted a tranquilizer for plants wants to give it the acid test, let him try to curb the aggressiveness of crab grass with it.

"Have You Ever Seen Such Wonderful Bad News?"

David Lawrence Says:

Hassles May Help Private Schools

WASHINGTON — Present-day controversies may enable private schools in America to come into their own.

LAWRENCE

Private enterprise has again and again proved that it can do a better job than governmentally managed business. With the prospect that the federal government is likely more and more to take away states and move in now on the public schools—which could mean more "mass education" and less specialization—alternative systems of private education will be given renewed impetus.

There is already much criticism of the "mediocrity" of public schools due to large classes and poor teaching.

Bona fide private schools, financed by private funds and operated in privately owned buildings, are today a major success in American education.

It is an open secret among educators that many of the graduates of state colleges and universities would not have been able to pass the entrance exams of the leading colleges and universities that are privately endowed.

Many parents, moreover, find a big defect in the public schools because they do not teach any religious principles or touch religion even in a nonsectarian way. This is regarded as an unfortunate omission in the education of the child.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court of the United States, however, has declared it to be a violation of the Constitution to allow religious instruction in classes inside public schools.

A circumvention of this was upheld in a later case by the court which said state laws are constitutional that provide for "released time."

This means that students who wish to attend religious classes outside public schools during school hours may be released for that purpose, but other students who do not wish religious instruction must stay in the classrooms for other instruction.

The question of whether this is discrimination as between students or connivance by a public agency of the state with a private religious school has not been finally settled.

Many lawyers predict that ultimately there will be a reversal by the court. If this happens, it will give added reason for enrollment in private schools.

Grover S. McLeod, a prominent attorney of Birmingham, Ala., who from the start has had no illusions about schemes to use public school buildings for private education, wrote a few weeks ago for the "Alabama Lawyer," published by the Alabama Bar Assn., an article saying that the South has been making a mistake in failing to organize private school systems promptly.

He says:

"To a lawyer who has followed the segregation cases, it is apparent that the state cannot exercise any part in the operation of a private school system. In other words, if we are to have a segregated school system, then public education, as we have known it, is finished. . . .

"The Catholic Church has a system that we can emulate. The church has for a number of years operated a system here in Alabama that offered an excellent education with no interference from the state.

"Most Protestant churches in Alabama have large physical plants. They have educational buildings that are little used except on Sundays. . . . The Protestant churches should prepare themselves for the eventual education of the children.

"They have hospitals, and some of them are the best in the state—why can't they have day schools for the children?"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Pyorrhea Is One Sign of Nutritional Deficiency

In volumette XVI of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, I say the first key to vite is: Save Your Teeth. In volumette 1 of the Pocket Cyclopedia I say that to save your teeth you must (1) follow a diet that will maintain good nutrition and (2) visit your dentist regularly for inspection, scaling, cleaning, polishing and, if necessary, treatment of any trouble the dentist's examination reveals.

DR. BRADY

That's all. Of course, if you're a gullible soul you can also brush 'em thus and so, using the latest glorified soap containing the mysterious protective substance, but it will do no more good than simple washing of the mouth with soap and water.

It is unfortunate that many persons harbor a notion that washing the mouth with soap and water is drastic punishment. In fact plain toilet soap and tap water tastes only clean and is therefore less disagreeable to use than any fancy liquid, paste or powder dentifrice.

The title of Volumette 1 of the Pocket Cyclopedia is "Save Your Teeth" For a copy send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. In it are three chapters on pyorrhea.

Pyorrhea alveolaris is not a disease. It is merely one of the manifestations, signs or effects of advanced degeneration of the jaw bone, sockets, gums and teeth. Literal meaning of pyorrhea alveolaris is flow or discharge of pus from one or more teeth sockets.

Application of medicaments to the gums or tooth sockets is usually helpful and surgery may be required, but from all I have been able to learn about it such treatment is merely paliative.

The degeneration can be arrested or the pyorrhea cured only by correcting or overcorrecting nutritional deficiencies from now on, and supplementing the diet with additional vitamins and minerals, particularly vitamin A, vitamin D and vitamin C and calcium.

Dentists sometimes call pyorrhea interstitial gingivitis, chronic atrophic alveolitis, paradentoseis, Riggs' disease. But no matter what you call it, it's still degeneration.

One who has good nutrition, health, vite and youth grows new cells to replace worn-out cells. When new cells are no longer grown fast enough to carry on the functions of the cells that have worn or died, that's the beginning of degeneration.

The worn-out cells are replaced more and more with inert, non-functioning fibrous or fatty tissue or scar tissue. In the arteries this means arteriosclerosis. In the joints, rheumatiz. In the jaw, gums and teeth, pyorrhea.

First comes impairment of function, later atrophy or wasting of tissues. Wherever it occurs, it is degeneration—due fundamentally to nutritional deficiency, in my judgment.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Readers' Attitudes Differ on Situation of Laborers

To the factory wife who's no slave, she's a person who can't see beyond her nose. If it weren't for Walter Reuther, this or any other factory area wouldn't be what it is today, and the benefits just wouldn't be there. Her husband wouldn't be so contented with his job or working conditions.

Unions were started because of deplorable working conditions, wages and lack of other benefits we now enjoy.

As long as we have a Walter Reuther, that lady will never know what it is to be cold or hungry. As for the high standard of living in the U. S., had it not been for a few like Reuther, who had inherent desire and foresight to delve into the problems of the working man, this high standard of living couldn't prevail.

★ ★ ★

Where would Walter Reuther be if it weren't for GM? He'd be wherever people have problems and need help in solving thm. For you see, here is a man who is truly an executive in every respect and not too self-important to help his fellow man.

Bill Ward
UAW 653 Committeeman

The letter regarding GM slaves was disrespectful and disgusting. Directly or indirectly, General Motors' wheels are the fortunes of thousands of families. Their vast wealth means security and necessities to so many. They gained their riches by integrity, ingenuity and accomplished ability.

★ ★ ★

Why don't the whining, ungrateful GM slaves move on? According to the contract, you're under no obligation. That is one of your American freedoms. Then you would give a few who would like to have the privilege a chance.

★ ★ ★

The ones to suffer are you and me. Walter Reuther is secure and stands to lose nothing but face. Your GM paychecks saw to that.

Says Integration Is Marxist Idea

Our U.N. is where the Communists have set up housekeeping with the aim to promote one world government as the solution to all our problems. Yet this is the cauldron where all the unrests now facing us have their roots.

★ ★ ★

One is the racial problem, antagonized from ant hill proportions to mountainous size. Little Rock problems are no different than in the North or in the world. Integration is made to look the answer when actually state's rights is the issue. If an honest poll were taken, no one would be surprised to see that each race is contented to stay with his own kind. A close study will show those who seek to integrate the world through all mediums such as movies, TV and schools, don't seek it for themselves.

★ ★ ★

Our Lord gave each race its own character and charm. The Christian Negro can be rightly proud of his race, but to mongrelize what the Good Lord created is a Marxist move.

There's a statue of a man in the U.N. building without a head. Is this because man does not know what the character of his face will be in another hundred years?

'Band Ruling Is a Big Mistake'

The new ruling on the high school band is a case of squelching any good thing that didn't happen to be the creation of a select few. The band has brought nothing but honor and credit to the city and the school system.

It has developed many more accomplished musicians, percentage-wise, than any other department in the school system. Look at the ranks of the U.S. Navy Band, the faculties of instrumental departments of universities and public schools, the Detroit Symphony and many other fine organizations, and you'll find Pontiac graduates, all band alumni.

Not only are band members usually good students, but the lessons of cooperation and behavior development taught by Mr. Harris and his assistants have developed a record of next to nil in juvenile delinquency among members and thus fine men and women in adult life.

If the trend toward scientific education is behind this, let's not be so narrow as to assume every student is a future physicist or atomic researcher. And when we develop these mechanical-scientific-atomic people, won't even they look for pleasure of the arts? Our world won't change to the extent that all but space ships and atomic submarines will be ruled out. That is unless there's success in developing the breed of iron men that some folks picture as our only hope for the future.

Alumni Too!

'Late Resignation Is GOP's Loss'

Sherman Adams is resigning too late. If Eisenhower had let him go the instant the facts were established, he might have saved himself and his party, but he has fumbled too long. The GOP stands convicted and nothing will change the facts. This will just add more votes to their overwhelming defeat in November and again two years later.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

'H-R' Is Important to Everyone

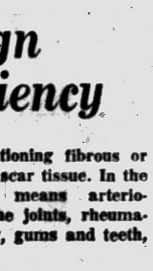

"H-R" is just as vital in the field of athletics as in advertising and selling, yet many coaches fail to employ good psychology. It is proper to try to win, but it is meanwhile wise to let as many players compete as possible and also keep in mind the fathers in attendance on Dad's Day.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-334: Tom P., aged 18, is a tall high school athlete.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, Tom won a scholarship at the university," his high school principal informed me, "for he was our greatest basketball star.

DR. CRANE

"And he practiced faithfully. But, despite his 6' 5" frame, he was overshadowed by other greater giants so he didn't play much.

"However, his coach didn't use good judgment. For several times when we sent a delegation to the university, he could have substituted Tom and let us enjoy watching our alumnus play.

★ ★ ★

"But he failed to do so. And once, on Dad's Day, he didn't even have Tom dress for the game, though Tom was good enough to have played for at least 5 or 10 minutes.

"It seems to me that athletic coaches often miss the boat as regards what you psychologists call 'H-R' or Human Relations."

PSYCHOLOGY FOR COACHES

Yes, the work of an athletic coach involves a lot of psychology. And some of them are expert Applied Psychologists.

When Lynn Waldorf was coaching football at Northwestern University, he actually enrolled in our School of Speech, so he could improve his after-dinner speaking.

He was a good speaker before he ever took these additional courses, but he wanted to be even better.

★ ★ ★

That is the attitude of a smart coach, for his contacts with parents and alumni are as important as his recruiting of stellar athletes.

For example, when Dad's Day occurs in the football season, a smart coach makes it his business to see how many dads are present.

And even if their sons are not All Americans, he inserts those sons into the line-up for at least a few minutes of play, unless the tied score prohibits taking any risk whatever.

But some coaches will be on the winning end of a 41-12 football score and still fail to insert the sons of dads who are sitting in the stands and who have recruited home folks from their offices or home town to see the local boys play.

This is stupidity of the highest sort on the part of coaches. Most of them would not think of making such an error, yet many of them still do so, even in the bigger leagues, apparently for lack of a reminder notebook.

ERRORS IN H-R

And the rules committees often make grave errors in psychology. For example, last year they ruled against breaststroke swimmers staying under water for one or two lengths of the pool.

★ ★ ★

Yet that is the most beautiful and graceful event at an entire swimming meet.

So the pleasure of the spectators was ruined. Now the breaststroke is a noisy, splashing event like the butterfly, having lost its former distinctiveness and charm for spectators.

On the other hand, the rules for football have often been modified to add human interest value, as when the bone-crushing methods were modified by the forward pass.

This opens up the game and makes it far more fascinating to watch.

Another flaw of coaoches is their tendency to worship at the shrine of high school headlines.

They allocate pay scholarships (rides) to high school stars and then coddle them when maybe two-thirds of the backbone of all their college teams are volunteers who demand no scholarships at all and who often outshine the paid players.

Yet these loyal athletes who make football, track, swimming and the other sports possible, often get very little attention and less thanks. Yet they are the "bread and butter" of most coaches.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Fire Loss Sets Record in U.S.

Over 1¼ Billion Dollars Damage Last Year Is Highest Ever

BOSTON (AP) — Two million fires with aggregate destruction of $1,280,000,000 last year sent American fire losses to the highest point in the country's history, the National Fire Protection Assn. reported today.

Losses have moved up to new record totals for three successive years, the announcement said, and in 1957 exceeded 1956 losses by about $48,350,000.

The analysis by the nonprofit fire safety organization showed that fire damaged or destroyed 530,000 American dwellings in 1957, causing aggregate loss in this category of 276¼ million dollars. This represents an increase of 6,500 buildings damaged or burned and a rise of 16¼ million in such dwelling losses.

Damage to all buildings was up $52,115,000 to a total of $1,068,115,000, with 843,900 structures involved. A $24,540,000 increase in manufacturing plant losses accounted for part of the increase.

An additional 1,181,600 fires not involving buildings were reported.

These were principally aircraft, motor vehicle, forest, ship, rubbish and grass fires. These accounted for losses estimated by the NFPA at $211,811,000.

Sanitation Truck Tips as Wheel Falls Off

Leon Chism, 35, of 82 Clovese St., was injured yesterday afternoon when the wheel of a sanitation truck he was driving dropped off.

★ ★ ★

Chism told Pontiac police he was traveling east on S. Blvd. east near E. Blvd. south. When he shifted into high gear, a wheel dropped off.

The truck swerved to the left, and when he cut to the right, it flipped over.

He suffered multiple contusions, lacerations and a mild concussion. He is reported in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Italy's unemployment at the start of 1958 totaled 1,600,000, or about 7.3 per cent of the labor force.

Fishermen Don't Brag —They Won't Even Talk

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — State fish experts here don't agree that fishermen brag too much.

Quite the opposite, they say. Because fishermen are reluctant to talk about their exploits, they pose a serious handicap to scientific fish management. Fishermen probably keep things to themselves, they add, because big stories draw competition.

Both Parties Call for Repeal

Sooners Set to OK Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The dam that has kept legal liquor out of Oklahoma since statehood in 1907 is beginning to crack.

Oklahoma Democrats, who have always controlled the state government, sent a shock wave through the legal structure of prohibition in June by nominating for governor a 32-year-old reformer who promises a quick vote on constitutional repeal.

★ ★ ★

The nominee, Tulsa County attorney J. Howard Edmondson, has promised stricter enforcement of prohibition pending its test at the ballot box. Wets have hailed this as their best omen yet. They have argued that Oklahoma will remain legally dry as long as its bootleggers flourish.

And flourish they have. Edmondson said that as a county attorney he has been unable to prosecute liquor merchants due to loopholes in the laws relating to search and seizure.

The state's bootleg business has been estimated unofficially at 100 million dollars a year.

Edmonson's opponent in the Democratic runoff primary, who had the endorsement of the United Dry Association of Oklahoma, was swamped under the biggest landslide of votes in Sooner history. And last year, the drys lost by a wide margin a statewide referendum in which they attempted to establish local option for 3.2 beer.

BEER LEGAL

Beer, or "3.2" as it is called by most Oklahomans, is legally defined as non-intoxicating by state law—thus opening another chink in the prohibitionists' armor. Beer was legalized in Oklahoma 25 years ago, about the time most Americans were freed from the injunctions of the Volstead Act, or national prohibition.

★ ★ ★

Edmondson said legalized liquor would bring into the state treasury millions of dollars in taxes which Oklahoma drinkers are now paying to neighboring states.

"I am very much interested in seeing that the right kind of control features are included in any repeal measure submitted to the people," said Edmondson.

★ ★ ★

"I believe the people of Oklahoma have made up their minds on this issue, but they want to see that adequate controls and revenue features are provided."

The red-haired gubernatorial nominee is considered a cinch for victory in the general election in November barring a political miracle.

★ ★ ★

His Republican opponent for governor is Phil Ferguson of Woodward.

But Ferguson is even more opposed to prohibition than Edmondson. So, even in the unlikely event there is a GOP victory this fall, one of Will Rogers' classic remarks seems headed for oblivion.

"Oklahomans will vote dry," said the humorist, "as long as they can stagger to the polls."

Potatoes With Nuts Inside Stump Buyer

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Dig those nutty spuds!

Inside every potato in a five-pound bag she purchased, Mrs. Gustave A. Oster III found a nut-like object which tasted vaguely like a walnut or a waterchestnut.

An agricultural expert theorized the potatoes were grown in either Virginia or North Carolina. In these states, he noted, there is a growth called "nut grass."

★ ★ ★

He suggested that the grass had been so thick in the potato fields as to penetrate the potatoes, growing their nuts inside. But the official, a potato expert for some 40 years, said he had never heard of a whole field of potatoes being so affected.

20 Americans Seek to Become Hermits

FRESNO, Cal. — Twenty Americans have applied for membership in an austere Roman Catholic order of hermits new to the United States. An Italian prior plans to establish a secluded community in the Santa Lucia Mountains near Fresno.

★ ★ ★

Members will live in small houses spread 20 to 30 feet apart and clustered around a church on a 700-acre site donated by American benefactors. The hermitage will overlook the Pacific Ocean.

The order is the Camaldolese, founded in Italy in 1012. After five years a member may receive permission to become a recluse. Recluses leave their houses or cells only three times a year.

100-Year-Old Church to Become Area Center

SOUTH DANBY, N.Y. (UPI) — George Peter recently paid $675 for a church that dates back more than 100 years.

Peter, who worshipped in the church as a child, bought the structure at a public sale when it appeared it would be torn down. The new owner, a technician at nearby Cornell University, said he plans to paint and repair the church and let organizations in the area use it as a meeting place.

TV Western Allows Broadest Scope to Play

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)— The TV western is the ideal medium for drama, a Michigan State University professor-playwright concluded after a year of study in Hollywood.

"In a western," Albert W. Bluem said, "you can use almost any idea, character or situation—things you could use in no other form without bringing sponsors and organized groups down on you."

Mineral Production Up

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea— The value of mineral production in New Guinea increased to $2,826,000 in 1957 from $2,587,000 the year before, with gold output rising by more than 7,000 ounces.

661 Polio Cases Now in Wayne

14 More Are Stricken; 50,000 Get Emergency Salk Shots in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Fourteen new cases of polio have been reported in Wayne County, bringing the epidemic's toll to 661. Four of the new cases were in hard-hit Detroit. The county also includes some Detroit suburbs.

The polio case load is now nearly triple the total for the same period a year ago. Area residents have been crowding into emergency centers set up to give low cost Salk vaccine shots.

At the same time the National Foundation announced in New York it was sending almost $500,000 to the Wayne County chapter to replenish its treasury for the fight against polio.

The new cases brought the total in Detroit to 504 with 16 deaths. In the same period a year ago the city had 169 cases with two deaths.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, city-county health commissioner, estimated that nearly 50,000 persons have been vaccinatd at $1 a shot in emergency centers set up this week in schools, YMCAs and community halls.

He said there is little likelihood of the polio epidemic easing until mid-November.

State Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Plymouth) has proposed that the legislature provide money for free polio shots for all children, which he estimated would cost the state about $1 each. Swainson, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, urged the move as a nonpartisan attack on the polio problem.

Assistant Director Attends 3rd Annual Institute

John Streit, assistant director of the Pontiac Recreation Dept. recently attended the third annual institute in recreation administration in Atlantic City, N.J. Theme of the institute was "Communications and Public Relations."

The institute was held in connection with the 40th National Recreation Congress, which Streit will also attend.

Approximately 2,000 recreation experts from all parts of the U.S., Canada, and four foreign countries attended the gathering.

Dems in California Lead in Registering

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Democrats have piled up a record lead over Republicans in the number of registered voters. Since the June primary they have out-registered Republicans by as much as 5-1 in 20 counties checked by The Associated Press.

The average appeared to be about 3-1 in favor of the Democrats, who held a 7-5 margin in registration for the primary. Then the Democrats had 3,542,374 voters to 2,552,678 for the GOP.

Registration since that time indicates that the number of eligible for the November election may exceed 6½ million for the first time in the state's history. The record is 6,508,821 signed up for the 1956 presidential election.

★ ★ ★

Even in such traditionally Republican counties as Santa Barbara in Southern California and Marin in Northern California, the Democrats gained voters.

Costs Dip as Herds Grow

WASHINGTON — Federal studies indicate that American dairy farmers spend 129 man-hours a year per cow caring for a 10-cow herd, but that a 30-cow herd requires only 80 man-hours per cow.

Student Reveals Plan for Control

Offers 5 Basic Rules Which Reduce Parents to Putty in the Hand

LEVITTOWN, N. Y. (UPI) — First came Machiavelli's "The Prince," a document related to grown-up cunning in politics.

And now comes Olivia T. Mellan's "How to Persuade Your Parents," a document that could be subtitled, "Parents are Push-overs."

★ ★ ★

Youngsters who use Miss Mellan's five basic rules are told they will reduce mom and dad to mere putty in their hands. The rules:

Nagging — "The best time to nag," writes Olivia, "is during a quiet meal, when your father has come back from work."

Screeching — This is a by-product of crying and is only a matter of getting the proper pitch. Olivia suggests the dog howl after you first turn pale and open your mouth wide.

Begging — This is effective if it includes falling to the floor and going into a choking fit. "Recover slowly," Olivia cautions.

Silent treatment — For variety, a change of pace. Olivia says parents like your silence at first but eventually realize that it's better to have you jabbering away. They surrender to your demand in due time.

Parent psychology — This one, Olivia admits, is hard. You must keep a straight face and insist that you don't really want to go to the movies. Mother soon will get tough and order you to the movies.

Olivia's document was carried in the sixth-grade class newspaper at the East Broadway school here. No, Olivia isn't the school principal. She's only a sixth grader. Give her a little more time.

Meat Production Drops

CHICAGO—The nation produced more than 27 billion pounds of meat during 1957, only slightly less than the 28 billion pounds produced in 1956, but per capita meat consumption dropped to 159 pounds, about 8 pounds below 1956.

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — The 1959 International Petroleum Exposition — the "world's fair" of the oil industry — will be held here May 14-23, 1959. Some 30,000 persons from 50 nations are expected to attend.

The United States exports 11 per cent of its annual farm output.

LOS ANGELES — Ornithologists have found that birds sing an average of 18 hours a day most of the year.

Premature Baby Dies After Long Car Trip

LAKEVIEW, Ore. (AP) — Little Craig Williams died Wednesday after being separated three days from his parents on a long automobile trip across five states.

Death came, said a doctor, because the 2-month-old child failed to respond to treatment for a condition caused by premature birth.

But the doctor said that the frail, weak child also had been unable to withstand the effects of the long trip.

★ ★ ★

The trip began in Slick Rock, Colo., when the infants' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Williams, set off for Lakeview.

Making the trip with them, in another car, was James Shelton, a bachelor.

The baby was put in the Shelton car, because it had a better heater. The two vehicles later became separated during the trip.

The Williams car pushed on for Lakeview, thinking it was trailing Shelton. But Shelton for a time held back, thinking he was ahead. Finally, he drove on to Lakeview and found the child's parents. The baby was rushed into an incubator and was given special treatment—but it died a few hours later.

Williams came here to get a job as a miner.

Tulsa Man Tells World He Still Loves His Wife

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Willard Hudson, a Tulsa Tribune printer, ran this newspaper ad addressed to his wife:

"Attention, Nette Hudson: I know it. You know it. I want the whole world to know it. I love you. Happy Anniversary, Dear. — Willard."

Tiny Beetles Wreck Forest in Colorado

DENVER — All living things fit together in a pattern, ecologists say, and when a part of the pattern is disturbed, dramatic events may follow.

They cite an event in Colorado's White River National Forest. Winds once blew down some of the forest's spruce trees, which are preyed upon by the tiny bark beetle. The fallen trees couldn't withstand the beetles, and the tangle of branches keep away beetle-eatng woodpeckers.

After the beetles killed the crippled trees, they turned to nearby healthy ones. Woodpeckers ate thousands of the beetles, but the insect population soared and in a few years the entire forest was dead or dying.

Enthusiastic Pet Costs Owner Heavy Penalty

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — William C. Griswold's pet dog has cost him $4,052.

A circuit court jury here awarded that amount to Reynolds Collison, Griswold's nephew, for injuries suffered when the dog jumped on him and knocked him down.

Collison had sought $16,300 damages, claiming the incident caused permanent injury to a leg.

Novi Increase in Tax Stands

Board of Canvassers Finds School Boost Favored by 3 Votes

NOVI — The 2½-mill tax increase approved by Novi School District voters Sept. 22 by a margin of just one vote withstood the challenge of a recount last night.

★ ★ ★

A recount by the Board of Canvassers resulted in a 207 to 204 margin, compared to the original count of 202 to 201 favoring the proposal.

The recount was petitioned by residents of the Novi Township.

The tax hike, which will be in effect for five years, will result in from $25,000 to $30,000 in additional revenue for school operating expenses, according to Arthur Heslip, Board of Education president.

★ ★ ★

A steady increase in enrollment necessitated the additional funds, he said.

Romeo's 'Reno Bertoia' Uses Pots and Pans Instead of Bat

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — Detroit Tigers' Reno Bertoia has a namesake in Romeo —an 18-year-old Hungarian youth who is learning to be a chef.

★ ★ ★

Romeo's "Reno Bertoia" was nicknamed by his boss, Louis Vanoff, proprietor of the Peerless Cafe, one day when they were watching a baseball game on television. The Tiger infielder hit a homerun, and immediately Vanoff dubbed his new employe "Reno." The name stuck.

★ ★ ★

Born Eugene Zimanyi in Vec, Hungary, "Reno" came to Romeo in March 1957 after fleeing with his family in the face of Soviet oppression.

Eugene's father, Andrew, 51, owned a grocery store in his homeland and was an active member of the Hungarian underground.

On the evening of Dec. 17, 1956, the secret police came to question Zimanyi. He denied having any connection with the underground, and his wife, Anna, 50, and Eugene substantiated his story.

FEW HOURS TO DECIDE

"If we'd told the truth, he'd have been taken out and shot," his son said. "As it was, the police said they would check his story and be back the next morning."

"We knew we only had four to five hours to decide what to do; so we began to pack and left home at 6 a.m. the following day. It was my 17th birthday," "Reno" recalled.

Mrs. Zimanyi had a sister and brother living in Detroit, so the Motor City was chosen as their destination. The family was en route for over three months—their first stop being in Austria, then on to Muchen, Germany. Their flight to the United States ended at a displaced persons camp in New Jersey, from which they took a train to Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Holy Cross Church in Detroit sponsored the refugee family, and the Rev. Andrew Jacob began looking for a job for Zimanyi.

Robert F. Fettig, 64707 Mound Rd., Romeo, heard of the family's plight and put the father to work on his farm. He then found a job for Eugene in the local restaurant.

"Reno's" employer is a native of Macedonia, who came to the United States at the age of 16 himself. He said, "I learned this business the hard way, and I know what it means to get a break. That's why I wanted to help 'Reno'."

WORKS WAY UP

"He didn't speak a word of English when he arrived in Romeo," Vanoff declared. "At first he washed dishes, and now he has worked up to the position of second cook."

"Reno" is a college graduate. An Hungary two years of college are equivalent to four in the United States, he said.

"I have a cook's diploma, and some day I hope to be a chef," the youth said enthusiastically. "But right now I'm happy. We have a home, a new TV and a '57 car, but most important of all, we are free."

Pontiac Press Photo

YOUTHFUL CHEF — Eugene Zimanyi, who was forced to leave Hungary on his 17th birthday in face of Soviet oppression, plies an old Hungarian art in the kitchen of a Romeo restaurant. The young chef, dubbed "Reno Bertoia" after the Detroit Tiger infielder, has worked his way up from kitchen helper to second cook.

JOANNE LOUISE THOMPSON

Mr. and Mrs. B. Ford Thompson of 151 albertson St., Rochester, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Louise, to Robert J. Fifield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Fifield of Dequindre road, Romeo. The prospective bridegroom is serving in the Navy. No date has been set for the wedding.

New Cadillacs Too Big for Parking Ramps

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Some 1959 model autos are too long, too low and covered with too many expensive gadgets to risk parking them, a St. Louis parking firm has decided.

★ ★ ★

Wayne Stedelin, vice president of the City Auto Parks Co., said Cadillacs are nine inches longer this year and so long and wide that the firm would have to rebuild its ramps to accommodate them.

Owners of 1959 Cadillacs were warned to stay away from the firm's six parking lots.

Stedelin said lights in the front bumpers of some models, plus fancy grillwork, add to the legal perils of operating the firm.

"We are studying dimensions of other cars now on the production lines," he said. "We may have to extend our ban to other new models."

Youth Dies in Crash

JACKSON (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Harold R. Lee of Jackson was killed today when his automobile swerved off U.S. 12 east of the Elm Ave. overpass, clipped off 14 guard rails and flipped 50 feet through the air.

But Declines to Estimate Total!

Little Rock School Group Says Donations 'Pouring In'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Little Rock's Private School Corporation reported today that offers of money and emergency classrooms are pouring in for its new last-ditch plan to keep the schools white.

The plan for privately supported and privately housed schools apparently would leave Negroes with no high schools and would be staffed by retired teachers.

But Justice Department officials said the plan was another "scheme" that simply won't work. The officials told United Press International in Washington it would be the people of Little Rock, rather than the courts, that would reject the plan because it would mean the end of free public education which has become the foundation of the American way of life.

The prohibitive cost also would be a major stumbling block, the Justice Department spokesmen said.

Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation, said in Little Rock he had picked up one contribution of $5,000 for the plan but he declined to estimate the total.

"We'll let you know from time to time what the total is," he said. "I don't have any way of keeping posted hour by hour."

CLASSROOM SPACE OFFERED

His secretary reported that at least three Baptist churches had been volunteered for classrooms, as well as a carpenter's union hall, suites in a life insurance building, "quite a few" rumpus rooms and "a large living room."

★ ★ ★

Raney announced yesterday that the corporation, which has been stymied by the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a plan to lease the four closed high schools and operate them as private institutions with state money, had hit upon the new plan.

The plan is to operate private, segregated schools—he doubted there will be any for negroes—in private buildings with funds raised by popular subscription.

He said the corporation is ready to begin next week, if the appeals court on Monday makes permanent its temporary order to the school board not to turn over to the corporation the four high school buildings.

Mrs. Raney said late last night she had been able to do nothing but answer long distance telephone calls.

"They were all well wishers, although not all were contributors," she said. "I got calls from people in Rocky Mount, N. C., Sherman, Tex., Selma, Ala., and a lot of other places."

Static Tests Hint Air Force Shoot for Moon Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —For the second day in a row the Air Force unveiled what is believed to be the first stage of the next U.S. moon rocket for a ground test.

★ ★ ★

The modified Thor missile puffed out smoke off and on for three hours Wednesday after its Gantry service tower was rolled clear.

Just as in a similar test Tuesday, no rocket engine ignition was seen, however.

It apparently was a static test of the missile to prepare it for launching. Statics—roaring the engine at full thrust while the missile is bolted to its stand—usually are held a week to 10 days before liftoff.

The next opportune time to launch a lunar probe will come Oct. 12 and three days thereafter then the moon is closest to earth.

The Air Force made no comment on either of the tests of the past two days.

★ ★ ★

The first moon rocket—a 1,500-mile Thor intermediate range ballistic missile topped by two Vanguard stages—blew up 77 seconds after a fiery liftoff Aug. 17.

Won't Give Up Alcatraz Search

Prison Island Divided Into Zones as Hunt for Convict Continues

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Alcatraz guards blocked off the island prison into zones today in an unremitting search for Aaron Burgett, 28-year-old convict missing since Monday.

"There's still no sign of him, but we're not going to give up," said a prison official.

★ ★ ★

Although tired guards and FBI men have scoured the "rock" thoroughly since Burgett and a companion, Clyde Johnson, overpowered a guard, prison officials refused to give up the search. Johnson, a Memphis, Tenn., bank robber, was recaptured.

Warden Paul Madigan was sure that the 6-foot-2 post office robber from St. Louis, Mo., had either drowned in trying to swim to the mainland a mile away, or was still on the island.

"There are quite a number of caves, trees, bushes, hedges and buildings where he could hide," Madigan said. "Some years ago, one man, Dwight Hamilton, hid himself for three days on the island."

Burgett was serving a 26-year term for the post office robbery when he disappeared last Monday.

County Is Still Pursuing Hikes

Will Try Legislature Again Next Year for Filing Fees Increase

Oakland County will try again for legislation next year to increase filing fees in the county clerk's office.

Included in a proposal of increased fees approved by a three-member county supervisors' committee yesterday was a recommended $3 hike for marriage licenses. Licenses now cost $2.

Oakland and other counties joined unsuccessfully in the 1958 lawmaking session in Lansing to have a number of these charges boosted in order to make clerk offices throughout the state more self-supporting. Proposals to make this possible died in Senate committees.

The Legislative Committee of the Board of Supervisors, which met Wednesday for a second time to draft suggested legislation aimed to help the county, listened but took no action on several proposals Macomb and St. Clair wanted Oakland officials to go along with.

Among the Macomb suggestions were ones to do away with justice courts and replace them with a county court with the same jurisdiction, and amend or abolish one-man grand juries.

★ ★ ★

"We will ask them to give us more information on their plans," said John G. Semann, chairman of the Legislative Committee from Berkley.

MR. & MRS. R. W. LEE JR.

Ruth Ann Watkins Wed in Lake Orion Ceremony

LAKE ORION — Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday evening at Lake Orion Methodist Church by Ruth Ann Watkins and R. W. Lee Jr. Performing the double-ring rite was the Rev. Albert B. Johns.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Watkins of 170 W. Flint St. Parents of the bridegroom are the R. W. Lees of North Shore drive.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an unpolished satin gown with a fitted bodice of French lace. It featured a bateau neckline and long sleeves tapered at the wrists.

Her full skirt flared into a cathedral train and her fingertip veil was gathered to a miniature poke bonnet decorated with pearls and iridescent sequins.

She carried a cascade bouquet of peach Johanna rosebuds and stephanotis centered by a white orchid.

Attending the bride were Janice Morin and Patricia Boyd, both of Lake Orion, and Suzanne Haddrill of Clarkston.

James Honchell was the best man and ushers were William Buck and Lawrence Talley, all of Pontiac.

A reception was held at Lake Orion Methodist Church House, adjoining the church.

The newlyweds plan to make their home at 94 North Shore drive, Lake Orion.

Engineer Sues for Back Salary

Former Employe Asks $49,095 Sum From Madison Heights

MADISON HEIGHTS — Former city engineer for Madison Heights, James H. Salle, claims in a suit filed yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court that the city has refused to pay him a back salary of $49,095.

Salle, now a Detroit engineer, said in the suit he had accrued a bill of $62,093 for the two years he served the city as engineer, but that officials had paid only $12,997 of this since April of this year.

He asked the court for a writ of mandamus which would order the city to pay the $49,095 balance.

Judge Frank L. Doty signed a show cause order for 9:30 a.m. Oct. 6, when the city's representative must appear before him to present his case when the writ shouldn't be granted.

Hint Resignation of Summerfield

Aide Denies Reports That Postmaster May Quit Due to Ill Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides to Postmaster General Summerfield today denied a report that he may resign because of poor health.

"There is no truth to that rumor at all as far as I know," said Roy Walter, special assistant to the postmaster general.

Summerfield was out of the city and not available for comment, but he said as recently as a week ago that he intends to remain as postmaster general through the last two years of the Eisenhower administration.

Walter told a reporter he knows of no health problems that would cause Summerfield to become the next member of the original Eisenhower cabinet to quit. He said he has no idea where the report originated.

The New York Times reported last Friday it had been rumored that Summerfield would resign if his doctor gave the word.

Mrs. Lillian Favale, an office aide to Summerfield, echoed Walter's denial in a separate interview.

"I assure you that is just a story," she said, referring to the report. "There have been no rumors, and there is no truth to the story."

Summerfield, a Flint automobile dealer before he came here, was an early Eisenhower backer in 1952 as Michigan's Republican national committeeman.

He was named Republican National chairman after Eisenhower's nomination and was appointed to the cabinet after the President's election.

Money, Labor Donated

Improve Camp Agawam

LAKE ORION — Donations of money and labor have enabled Clinton Valley Council's Camp Agawam near here to receive important improvements.

Ted Pearson Jr. of Oxford, chairman of the Council Camp Development Committee, announced that new main electric lines have been installed along the waterfront section of the main part of camp, and that Oliver handicraft lodge has been rewired.

A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham has paved the camp's entrance area.

Pontiac West Side Kiwanis Club has announced it will winterize Peterson dining lodge by installing a ceiling beneath the roof girders and seal the windows. This will enable more and better use the large hall during winter months.

Lake Orion and other Explorer scouts of the Manitou District recently made a trip to the new Camp Ausagawam, near Mio, where they surveyed, made maps, installed a sign and made arrangements for a $250 well drilling project.

Admiral Sees End to Formosa Crisis

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The former U.S. 7th Fleet commander, Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, said today he believed a satisfactory solution would soon end the Formosa crisis.

He said he based his optimism on the slackening of the artillery barrage on the Quemoys and the successful running of the Communist blockade.

★ ★ ★

Relief appeared to be the general reaction of Filipinos to President Eisenhower's and Secretary of State Dulles' newly outlined views on the crisis.

Acting Foreign Secretary Juan Alcazaren said Dulles' statements on a possible slimming of Nationalist Chinese troops on Quemoy appeared to be a drastic change in U.S. policy. He had no other comment.

★ ★ ★

One foreign office source welcomed the Dulles statement as "a ray of light."

The Philippines officially has backed U.S. policy against aggression in the Formosa crisis. But there have been private doubts over the feasibility of holding Quemoy.

Canada Will Do Nothing About Unidentified Subs

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — Canadian Defense Minister G. Randolph Pearkes says Canada can do nothing about unidentified submarines prowling outside her Atlantic territorial waters.

The submarines probably are Soviet but, Pearkes said, "the high seas are open to anyone."

None of the underseas craft reported lurking off Newfoundland has been positively identified, he said. He was quoted last year as saying two Soviet submarines had been identified in the Pacific near Alaskan waters.

Pearkes is on a tour of military installations.

Other members of the five-man council, J. Philip Anderson, A. Russel Button and Dicron Tafralian, were sworn into office along with Tuck and Groenenberg.

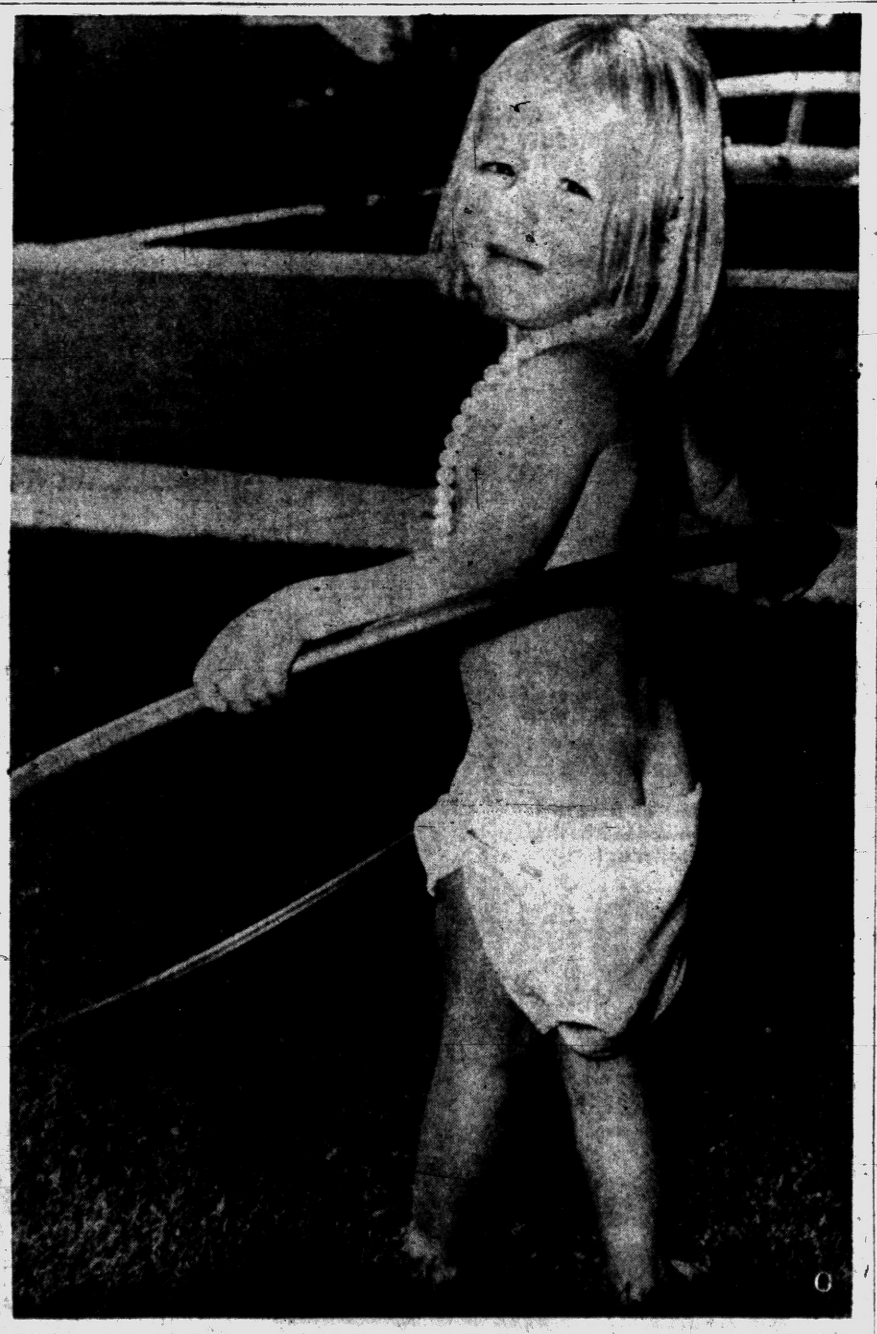

They were elected Sept. 22 when voters approved the charter, officially incorporating the 32-square mile village.

2 Detroiters Jailed in Kidnap Scheme

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP—Two Michigan men have been charged with kidnaping a man in a robbery scheme that yielded only $8.

They are William Abney, 38, and Henry Ford, 19, both of Detroit. Abney, a former Kankakee cab driver, is an uncle of Ford's wife.

Federal warrants were obtained in U. S. District Court in Danville yesterday after government lawyers heard the story of Frank Mazanec, 50, of Highland Park.

Mazanec said the men held a sawed off shotgun on him and drove him from Detroit to Kankakee and robbed him of $8 Monday night. He said Ford, whom he had known for six months, apparently had a change of heart and fled with him when Abney left the car to buy cigarettes.

Police said Mazanec and Ford at first said they both were kidnaped by a gunman but Mazanec later changed his version and said Ford and Abney worked the scheme together.

DR. RUSSELL L. JENKINS

Jenkins, will be guest speaker at the Roosevelt Elementary School Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting at 8 p.m. Monday. This will be the first meeting of the new school year for the group, according to its president Mrs. William Yates.

Virginia Governor Busy

Planning to Reopen Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. and his advisors hope today to put the final polish on the state's plan to reopen some of the integration-closed public schools.

The governor canceled his semi-weekly press conference and scheduled meetings throughout the day with top Virginia legal and education officials and with others whom his office declined to identify.

★ ★ ★

If all goes well, indications are the plan will be made public either late today or Friday.

Almond's office reported Wednesday he had no comment on a resolution from the Norfolk City Council asking him to reopen Norfolk's six closed schools.

★ ★ ★

The Norfolk resolution asked him to act under Chapter 69 of Virginia's antiintegration laws of 1956. This says that whenever a local governing body declares an emergency and asks the governor to act in the name of the General Assembly, he should reopen closed schools and operate them himself on a fully segregated basis.

★ ★ ★

The best guess is, however, that Almond will act under Chapter 68 of the laws and reopen the six Norfolk schools (10,000 pupils) and the two closed schools in Charlottesville (1,700 pupils) by eliminating the grades in which Negroes would be enrolled. White children enrolled in these grades would be farmed out to other white schools, and the Negro children ordered admitted by federal courts would be sent back to Negro schools.

★ ★ ★

Chapter 68 closes any integrated school and turns it over to the governor for possible reorganization and reopening with segregation restored.

Premier Arrives Today

Algeria Awaits De Gaulle With Mixed Emotions

ALGIERS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle returns today to Algeria to spell out at least part of his plans for this troubled North African territory.

It was his fourth visit to Algeria since assuming the premiership June 1.

★ ★ ★

He is delivering a policy statement at Constantine Friday.

The mixed peoples of Algeria—French, Arabs and Berbers—waited with mixed emotions for clarification of his intentions toward the territory, officially regarded in Paris as part of France.

They had contributed heavily (about 30-1) to the landslide endorsement Sunday of De Gaulle's new constitution. The Fifth French Republic, with the strongest executive branch the nation has known for three quarters of a century, will be born under the new charter next Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The tone of the reception by Algeria's French settlers, outnumbered by North Africans about 9-1, was intended to remind De Gaulle that his victory in the constitutional referendum was an outgrowth of their May 13 right-wing uprising that swept him back to power.

The settlers' major demands are for continued French rule and complete integration of Algeria into the French administrative and economic system.

★ ★ ★

Most of the Arabs and Berbers, largely poverty-stricken and illiterate, look to De Gaulle as a man who in the past has spoken of independence as a right of North African peoples.

It was at Constantine that De Gaulle, as the Free French leader in World War II, first came out in favor of equal rights for the North Africans of Algeria. That was Dec. 12, 1943.

Ice Cream Output Up

MILWAUKEE — The average American last year ate nearly 18 pounds of ice cream and is expected to consume at least that much this year. United States manufacturing plants produced 647,675,000 gallons of ice cream last year, slightly more than in 1956. In 1909 the per capita consumption in this country was only 1½ pounds.

Conventions—$160 From Average Man

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Convention Bureau estimates that 200 million dollars is pumped into the city's economy each year by conventions held here.

The Bureau figured out that the average convention-goer spends $160, with hotels getting about 30 per cent, restaurants almost as much, retail stores 16 per cent, night clubs and sports events almost seven per cent and beverages more than six per cent.

Transportation, sightseeing and auto expenses account for the rest of the money spent by the 1,150,000 convention-goers who visit Chicago each year.

About 2,500 food and nonfood items are packaged in tin cans.

Boston Tavern Man Lists 1 Day's Woes

BOSTON (AP)—This sign behind the bar of a local tavern saves the mixologists a lot of headaches:

"YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT TROUBLES?"

"So far, today, we've had 20 requests for one on the house; eight requests to step outside; seven complaints that the beer is all foam; four complaints about no foam; five hints that we water the liquor; nine spilled drinks; two fires in the kitchen; 200 glasses to wash, five times each, three angry wives looking for their husbands; 17 marriages to patch up; 10 offers of advice on our night life, and three requests for same; 100 chances to laugh, all at the same joke; 18 salesmen to discourage and a couple of saleswomen and 18 phone calls for Henry.

Only One Way to Get Bulletin From Hospital

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — An official of the American Medical Association tells this story:

The man on the phone asked the nurse about a patient named McGowan. "His operation was a success," she replied, "his fever is down, he'll be eating in two days and will be released next week. Who is this calling?"

The man replied: "This is McGowan, Nobody tells me what's going on around here."

Injured by Blown Tire

Elvis Turns Interest to:

German Girls, Opera, Classic Music

FRIEDBERG, Germany (AP)—Pvt. Elvis Presley said today he wants to meet German girls, see German opera and hear classic music concerts during his tour of duty with the U.S. Army in West Germany.

The rock 'n' roll singer, temporarily turned soldier, also said he still wants to meet French actress Brigitte Bardot.

★ ★ ★

The 23-year-old Presley held a news conference before 150 reporters and photographers in the enlisted men's club of the 3rd Armored Division. He arrived in this old German garrison town Wednesday night with 142 other recruits to start rigorous training as a tank crewman.

Of German girls, Presley said, "I've heard lots of rumors about them and I want to meet them."

What rumors? He quickly replied: "I'd better not answer that question. But nevertheless I would like to meet them."

"I would also like to see German opera and hear classic music concerts," he said. "I do not read music myself but I have a great admiration for musicians of all sorts.

"I hope to get a pass this weekend to go to Frankfurt to buy a guitar. I didn't bring one with me because I couldn't put it in my duffle bag. But it is hard to get along without one."

Presley appeared nervous before the battery of newsmen—both American and German. He frequently scratched his ear.

Asked about a New York statement that he would like to meet Bardot, he said he knew she was engaged to another guitarist—Sascha Distel—and added: "I got sort of shot out of the saddle on that one."

Still, he said, "I admire her very much. She has a terrific personality and I would consider it a privilege to meet her."

Of his Army life, Presley said soldiers frequently have asked him to shoot craps "but I never indulge because it would have a bad effect on the young people. They would lose their respect for me."

He said he had lost 10 pounds since entering the Army and added: "I expected a lot of kidding when I entered the Army. I thought the other soldiers would give me a hard time.

The More People, the Less Work

But – It Takes More Time to Do It

TORONTO (AP) — The more people there are to do less work, the more time it takes them to do it.

That's the gist of Parkinson's Law—so named by C. Northcote Parkinson, professor of history at the University of Malaya.

★ ★ ★

His book "Parkinson's Law and Other Studies in Administration" poses this idea: in any organization the number of subordinates multiplies at an annual rate determinable in advance, regardless of the amount of work the staff turns out.

Here for an education meeting, Parkinson said he discovered his theories while he served as a staff officer with the British air force in World War II.

★ ★ ★

He explained: "I was posted to staff headquarters where there was a very senior officer whom I'll call A. Under him there was another senior officer we'll call B. Under B was a fairly senior officer, C, and I was D."

All four worked hard getting through mountains of paperwork each day.

Then A went on leave. The work was easier. B was called away. The work became easier still.

★ ★ ★

"At this point C fell ill, I was left alone and had everything cleaned up by lunchtime each day," the professor said. "I suppose if I had left the sergeant in charge he could have completed it all before morning tea break."

Parkinson hastily explained the law doesn't apply to history professor and other actual workers. It affects only those who go about organizing other people's work. He cited this example:

★ ★ ★

A senior civil servant is getting older and finds his work too much for him. He doesn't want a man of equal status to help him so he asks for two assistants and he directs their work. Other civil servants demand assistants also.

Result? In time the assistants ask for assistants and the pyramid builds. But the amount of work remains the same.

★ ★ ★

Raindrops Take Various Shapes

Single Thunderstorm of Summer Can Dwarf Atomic Bomb Output

WASHINGTON—Bits of water in the shapes of telephones, dumbbells, pancakes, hot dogs, ducks, and innumerable other unlikely objects pelt down on farms and towns, bringing life to the soil and welcome coolness to the city.

These are raindrops, which rarely take the teardrop shape tradition assigns them, the National Geographic Society says.

Rain is a phase in the great water cycle, a perpetual motion machine on a grand scale powered by the sun. Over the earth's surface the energy expended in the cycle is beyond counting. A single summer thunderstorm dwarfs the output of an atomic bomb.

The sun warms water in the sea or on land, causing it to evaporate. The warm air rises, carrying vapor, until high enough to cool. Then the vapor condenses into droplets so tiny it takes between one and 10 million of them to form a raindrop. A cloud is simply a mass of such droplets, too small and light to fall through the air currents that support them.

Although every step needed to coalesce these droplets into bigger drops is not quite clear, meteorologists believe there are two basic methods by which it happens.

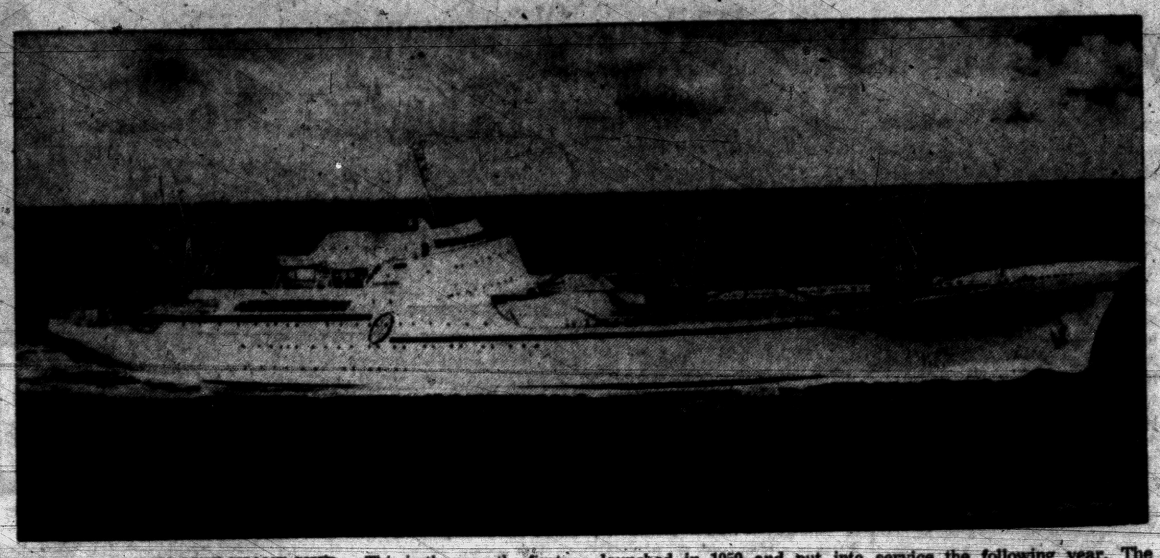

One process begins when some droplets in a cloud are larger than others. Being heavier, these fall through the air faster. As they fall they overtake smaller drops. Collisions add to the droplets' size. Falling faster and faster as they gather weight, they eventually drop out the bottom of the cloud as rain.

HIGH-ALTITUDE FREEZING

The second process starts when water vapor is carried so high—some thunderclouds are five miles tall—that part of it freezes into ice. By a complex interaction between the particles of ice and remaining droplets of water cooled below the freezing point, the ice pellets grow. They also collide with droplets and gather them up in the turbulent winds inside a thunderhead—up to 70 miles an hour.

The process continues until the pieces of ice become large enough to fall through the updrafts. Usually they melt to form raindrops before reaching the ground. If they do not, they are called hail.

FIRST ATOMIC MERCHANT SHIP — This is the way the first atomic-powered ship of the U. S. merchant marine fleet will look sometime in 1960. The NS (Nuclear Ship) Savannah, under construction in Camden, N. J., is designed for a service speed of 20 knots. The 587-foot-long ship, displacing 21,800 tons, will be launched in 1959 and put into service the following year. The sketch, produced for the Reliance Electric and Engineering Company, shows the outstanding visible difference between the Savannah and cargo ships of today—no funnels to chop up its sleek silhouette. Construction was authorized by Congress in 1956.

Remote Controls Near

CHICAGO—Remote controls for manufacturing processes are considered not far off, considering the advances made in the remote-control handling of "hot" atomic materials. Now in use is a remote-control device that cuts out a piece of corroded radio-active piping, replaces it with fresh piping, welds it into place, televises the welding operation so it can be inspected while it is going on, and tests it by ultra-sonic waves.

Believe West Lives Better, Has More

East Berlin People Not Anti-American

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN (UPI) — An East Berlin kindergarten class out for a stroll passed a brand new Soviet zone "Sachsenring" automobile.

One of the five-year-olds said, "Look, teacher, at the beautiful western auto."

At lunch in school, the children had apples imported from China. The tots guessed they came from the West.

A baby chick was exhibited in the classroom. The children immediately said it was from West Berlin.

This anecdote, told by East Berlin kindergarten teacher Rotraud Gaube in the East Berlin newspaper B. Z. Am Abend, illustrates the feeling in the Soviet zone of Germany that the West is good and the East is bad, the West progressive and the East backward.

Strangely enough, this feeling has not been changed basically by Soviet scientific and military advances.

A pro-Western attitude accompanies the belief that people in the West live better and have everything from baby chicks to automobiles.

Anti-Americanism may have hit many countries in the world, but the Communist zone of Germany definitely is not one of them.

Western diplomats assert that a great reservoir of good feeling toward Americans still exists in East Germany.

They base this belief on interviews with the many East Germans who still visit the West, reports of travelers in the zone and letters written by its residents to the West.

The Communist attempt to whip up anti-Western feeling over the Anglo-American landings in the Middle East has boomeranged in many cases.

East Berliners rebuked Communist gangs that held up American automobiles in the Soviet sector of Berlin and painted "Ami (American) Go Home" on them.

Passers-by denounced the Communists as "rowdies" and "provocateurs."

One motorist stopped his automobile and shouted at a gang, "You are acting like swine, you Russian slaves."

OPPOSE ACTION

On July 18, the Communists rounded up residents of the Berlin suburb of Potsdam and made them demonstrate before the American and British military liaison missions to the Soviet armed forces.

A Potsdam resident wrote to Rias, American-run West Berlin radio station, to deny that the demonstration had been spontaneous as the Communists claimed.

The letter said women "cried bitterly" when they learned they would have to engage in anti-Western acts.

Sometimes the faith of East Germans in the West is touching and simple.

The Communist newspaper "Volksstimme" (Peoples' Voice) in Chemnitz reported a farmer refused to join a collective farm because he was hoping the Americans would arrive.

"Are you sure the Americans will not get here one of these days?" He was quoted as asking.

Gregory Peck Innately Shy, Introvert Type

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Gregory Peck — though not a pebble-nudger like Gary Cooper, nor a shucks man of the Henry Fonda school—still gives the impression of being shy.

He says it is not exactly a true picture.

"I was a shy youngster, yes. But it's worn off." Peck blushes. "I think I'm a little too old for that, don't you? Oh, occasionally a shy feeling curls up around the edges, but I say the devil with it."

Many, perhaps most, fine actors started life with an introspective nature that made them feel queasy in the parlor. It even has been suggested that the less socially adjusted a child is, the more likely is he to be an artist.

"Oh sure, no doubt about it," says Peck. "I wasn't aware of why I became an actor at first. I knew I was a withdrawn child—a 'loner.' I loved to dream. But I didn't know why I went into acting until I worked with Katharine Cornell.

"She and her husband, Guthrie McClintock, gave me my first job, God bless 'em. I was getting to the age (mid 20s) when you wonder if you're in the right business, or whether you're barking up a leafless tree. Then Mr. McClintock hired me to do a role in one of his wife's plays.

SHY OFF STAGE

"I noticed immediately that she was a painfully shy person . . . until the minute she stepped on the stage. On the stage she could give, project, use her very best qualities—things she was unable to do in real life. I had always felt before that a performer had to be an extrovert who could hold everybody in a room spellbound.

"I was happy to realize how wrong I was."

Three of Peck's four sons, aged 14 downward, take bit parts in his new film, "The Big Country," which premieres this week in New York. It seems to be a trend, actors' kids breaking into the movies and TV by the dozens.

"Not my kids," Greg grins. "I'm not starting any acting dynasty. They just happened to be on the set because they'd been at camp all summer, and I wanted to see them. We needed some urchins, and they were convenient. I'm not grooming them for show business at all; in fact, I don't expect any of my kids is going to act.

★ ★ ★

"The oldest one shows some kind of faint spark in science. I'd like to see that go through. It'd give the family a touch of class.

"The other boys are just boys. They like to swim and goof off."

Peck explains the sudden surge of young Nelsons, Crosbys, Burnses, etc., as a perfectly natural phenomenon. "We're in only the second generation of talking-movie people.

"Look how many youngsters go into the steel business, or the medical profession, or the dress industry, because their dads were in it. These youngsters have grown up with movies. They don't know what else to do with themselves."

There's a difference, of course, in following an elder's footsteps into the acting business.

"Acting is such an intangible thing," he says. "It's a matter of dreams and notions. It's a wisp of an idea. Not all children are born to dream."

Japan Soon to Start Inter-Island Tunnel

TOKYO — Boring operations will start this year on the world's longest tunnel, a 22.67-mile underwater bridge between the islands of Honshu and Hokkaido. The project is being undertaken by the Japanese National Railways.

The tunnel, 630 feet below the surface of Tsugaru Strait, is expected to add 16,400,000 tons of freight traffic annually to the railroad's operations by opening up the unexploited resources of isolated Hokkaido Island. The tunnel is scheduled for completion in 1968.

Ohio Inventor Aids Churches

Gives Away 15 Organs Each Week; Is Having Biggest Thrill of Life

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Claud Foster, 86-year-old inventor and manufacturer who has given away seven million dollars, is getting his biggest thrill out of passing around his last $500,000.

★ ★ ★

Each Wednesday, Foster's small office here is packed with ministers and their families, mostly from small Ohio communities, who have come to pick up a check for a free organ.

Foster will give away 15 organs each week until the total reaches 700. Then he'll tour the state to "see and hear how those organs are being used."

The organ giveaway started this way:

"I used to drive around in the country on Sunday, stopping off to attend services at small churches," Foster explained. "I heard some fine sermons, but it grated on my nerves to hear people singing to the accompaniment of an old piano that usually was out of tune.

★ ★ ★

"I decided to give those churches a good organ when I could afford. Now I can, so I'm doing it," he added.

A visit to one of the first recipients of a free organ stirred a mild uproar from the white-haired inventor when he discovered that the instrument was not being used.

★ ★ ★

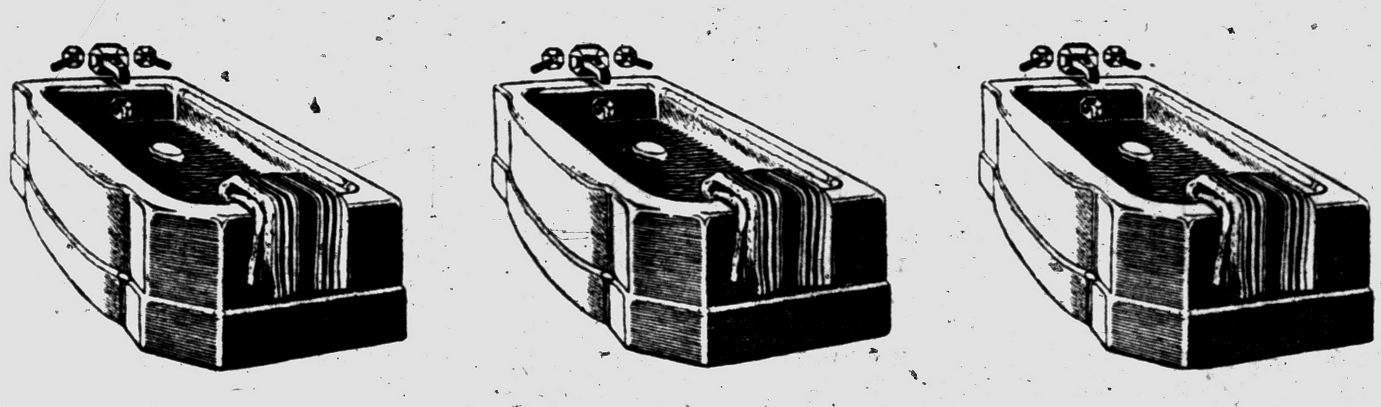

"We have no one who can play it," the minister said.

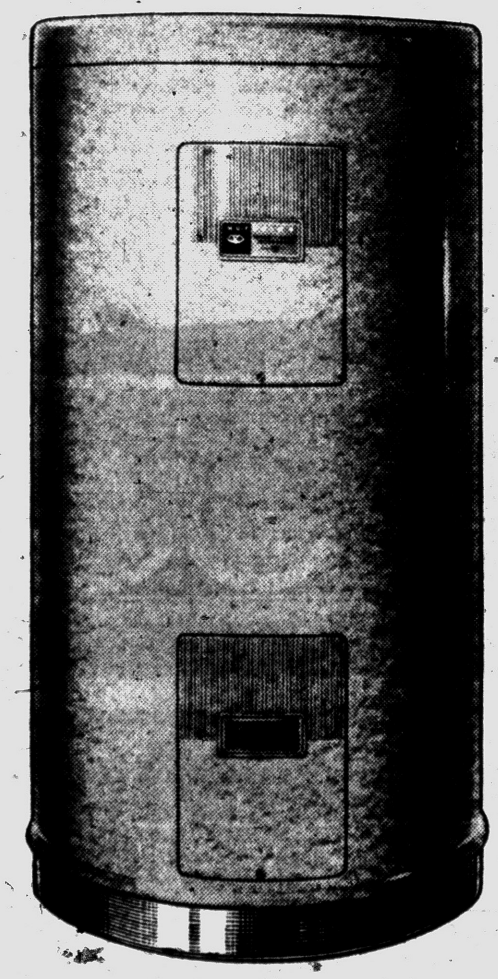

It was no excuse for Foster.

"Anyone who can play the piano can play this organ," he said. And before he left, the minister's wife had begun mastering the keyboard.

One per cent of India's population travels by rail every day — approximately 3,800,000 passengers. The daily total averages 120,000,000 passenger-miles.

India Reports Oil Discovery

Afraid to Be Optimistic Yet After Long Search for Petroleum

NEW DELHI (AP)—The most closely watched spot in India these days is a barren site 200 miles north of Bombay where a drilling team of Russians and Indians bored into a pocket of oil.

The government isn't yet sure whether it should rush up refineries or prepare for the well to run dry—as they so often have in India's long quest for oil.

"We don't know exactly what we have," caution officials at the drilling scene in Cambay.

Oil, in substantial quantities, could give Indian industry its biggest boost since independence.

K. D. Malaviya, minister for mines and fuel, told Parliament "I can say that we have discovered an oil field. I can also say that the situation appears to us to be very hopeful." More cautiously, he warned that "nowhere in a single well has a commercial quantity of oil and gas been established. We must drill a fairly large number of holes in order to determine the area of the oil and gas field."

India produces no more than eight per cent of the petroleum it needs.

As India's industrialization program gets off the ground, officials estimate the country will need two or three times its present oil consumption.

Private British and American companies are drilling in eastern India, especially in the plain formed by the Ganges River.

India's present oil production is in Assam in far eastern India.

Western India has been reserved for government drilling operations, with Russian and Romanian help so far.

Great Britain has a population of about 50 million and of these 23 million are listed as employed.

Lincoln Authorized 1st Medals of Honor

WASHINGTON — Only 2,199 Medals of Honor have been presented to American servicemen since President Lincoln, on July 12, 1862, signed an act of Congress authorizing their presentation "in the name of Congress" to those who "shall most distinguish themselves by their gallantry in action and other soldierlike qualities."

The first Medals of Honor were given in a joint ceremony March 25, 1863, to the six survivors of a band of 20 Union soldiers who had volunteered to cut Tennessee off from the Confederacy by sabotaging the Western & Atlantic Railroad.

Plane Missing From Formosa

11 Aboard Nationalist Flying Boat Believed Downed by Weather

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Chinese Nationalist flying boat carrying 11 persons, including four U. S. servicemen, was missing today on a flight from the offshore Matsu Islands.

The plane disappeared shortly before sunset Wednesday. Almost 24 hours later Nationalist search planes and two U. S. destroyers had failed to find a trace. Officials speculated that the slow-flying plane had encountered bad weather.

The twin-engine PBY flying boat was under radar observation from Formosa when it vanished, officers said. They did not report any sign of Communist fighters in the area.

Harvey Toy, manager of the Nationalist domestic airline Foshing, said that the plane was last heard from 25 minutes after taking off from Matsu for the 120-mile flight to Formosa. It was chartered by the Nationalist Defense Ministry.

★ ★ ★

The four U. S. military men aboard are connected with the military advisory team stationed on Matsu, Toy said. Their names were withheld. U.S. officials said they were two Army officers, an Army enlisted man and a sailor.

The others aboard were three Chinese military passengers and four Chinese crewmen.

The Communists fired 19 shells at Kaoteng, one of the Matsus, 15 minutes after the plane took off.

Ike Puts Trust in GOP but Nixon Woos Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have different ideas on how to elect a Republican Congress.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday if all the registered Republicans went out to vote there would be no trouble about electing GOP candidates. He mentioned Maine, a normally Republican state.

Nixon is campaigning in California, where party registrations give the Democrats a 7-5 advantage. He has been calling on Democrats to forget party lines and support Republicans in order to continue what he calls the best six years in the country's history.

Political strategists said Nixon's tactics of trying to enlist Democratic support appear more realistic in view of party registration strength in California and several other vital states.

★ ★ ★

Registered Democrats outnumbered Republicans by about 900,000 in California in 1956 and have been topping Republicans 5-1 in new registrations since then.

Registrations are seldom a deciding factor in elections, as Californians proved by rolling up a 600,000 margin for Eisenhower two years ago.

In last month's Maine election, which Eisenhower cited as a specific example, Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie polled 172,704 votes to 111,522 collected by GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne in the senatorial race.

Since 1956 figures showed 250,734 Republicans and 103,419 Democrats, the supposition was that a great many Republicans who went to the polls in Maine didn't vote that party's ticket when they got there.

If the balloting trend should follow registration lines in next month's elections, Republicans might be in trouble in states such as New York, Arizona, Delaware, New Mexico, Nevada, Maryland and West Virginia. All of these have Senate seats at stake and in all of them Democratic registration has outstripped that of the

★ ★ ★

In the once-Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania, where a new senator will be elected, Democrats have shown a recent upsurge. The GOP led by about 400,000 registrations in the state in 1956 but an estimated 60 per cent of new registrants this year listed their party as Democratic.

Scientists to Plan Cooperative Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sicentists from 21 nations start considering plans today for continuing cooperative research work after the International Geophysical Year ends.

The General Assembly of the International Council of Scientific Unions gathered for the opening of a four-day meeting to act on proposals for future work on space matters, antarctic studies and oceanography surveys.

★ ★ ★

The council's executive board has recommended creation of a special committee on space research to coordinate post-IGY research of all nations in the field of rockets, satellites and space probes generally.

Chennault Leaves $406,500 Estate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Claire Chennault, leader of the Flying Tigers who died July 27, left an estate of $406,500, documents on file in U.S. District Court today showed.

The will of the famed U.S. flier who fought for China against Japan before Pearl Harbor, allocated one-half of $362,000 in securities in the estate to Neil Thompson Chennault, the general's first wife, and their eight children.

The remainder of the estate, which included other personal property and real estate, went to anna Chan Chennault, the general's second wife.

Meeting Called by Arab League

Middle East Diplomats Plan Closed-Door Talk on U.N. Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Pressed by Moscow to bring the Middle East question before the General Assembly, diplomatic chiefs of the Arab world decided today to hold a strategy council on the issue.

Informed sources said the Middle East diplomats will hold a closed door session as soon as Maymoud Fawzi, foreign minister of the United Arab Republic, gets here from Cairo. He has been attending a conference of the Arab League there. Fawzi, due here Saturday, was expected to relay President Nasser's views on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's Middle East report.

The report said the United States and Britain made conditional promises for pulling their troops out of Lebanon and Jordan.

Both the U.A.R. and Sudan have made plain they don't like the strings-attached withdrawal pledge and would press for U.N. debate unless the troops get out quickly.

But the more moderate Arab elements are hesitant about touching off a debate now.

This move to delay debate was strengthened by Britain's announcement that her troops would start pulling out of Jordan Oct. 20. The announcement set no target date for completion of the pullout, but British sources predicted the operation would be speedy.

The last U.S. Marine battalion left Lebanon Wednesday, leaving less than 7,500 army men there.

★ ★ ★

Both the United States and Britain have been emphasizing the necessity of a stable situation in Jordan and Lebanon as a condition to withdrawal. They also have insisted that the U.A.R. stop propaganda broadcasts against Jordan and lift its blockade of oil supplies and air transport to Jordan.

Efforts at finding a compromise solution to the Formosa crisis appeared to be gaining ground here.

India and Britain have been working on the United States to get the Nationalists off the offshore islands in the Formosa Strait.

Coast Attorney in Tax Agency

Dana Latham Is Named to Internal Revenue Head by President

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For years, Atty. Dana Latham has wished, along with other Americans, that the federal government would do something to simplify its tax laws.

He's going to get a chance to minimize any confusion. He has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to become commissioner of internal revenue.

He will be administrative head of a vast network of tax offices and can make recommendations of his own, as well as review those of others to the secretary of the Treasury.

"The goal should be for simpler, more uniform tax laws," the 60-year-old lawyer and tax expert said. "There have been improvements since the 1954 codification of tax laws. Nevertheless, with new legislation being added all the time, tax statutes still are confusing."

Latham will withdraw from the law firm of Latham and Watkins, with which he has been associated for 25 years, and as soon as he can close out his personal affairs he will go to Washington. His appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

He will succeed Russell C. Harrington, a Rhode Island accounting executive, who is retiring to private life.

Pope Recovers Speaking Voice

82-Year-Old Pontiff Holds Special Audience, Speaks in Latin

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, (AP)—Pope Pius XII, apparently fully recovered from a slight loss of voice, held a special audience today and spoke a full 15 minutes in Latin.

One of the persons in the audience said members of his group were amazed at the pontiff's vivacity.

The informant was one of a group of 100 members of the Religious Congregation of the Institute of the Oratory of St. Filippo Neri, now holding its world congress in Rome.

★ ★ ★

Vatican sources, as well as Rome's Il Quotidiano, official organ of Italian Catholic Action, said the pontiff's brief ailment was a temporary loss of voice due to fatigue.

The fatigue resulted from two months of intensive work during which the 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church held audiences almost daily and addressed more than a score of gatherings.

His weekly general audience Wednesday was so big that it had to be held in two sections to accommodate 10,000 pilgrims and tourists. On his doctors' advice, the Pope did not speak but limited himself to giving his blessing.

The Pope today also addressed a second audience composed of delegates to a congress of railroad station bookstand workers.

A local lush says his wife drove him to drink, and adds, "It's the only decent think she ever did for me" . . . People keep complaining that the dollar isn't worth anything any more — but they also keep trying to grab as many of 'em as they can. —Earl Wilson.

Fined if You Do Report and Fined if You Don't!

NEWFANE, N. Y. (AP) — Canada and the United States don't agree on everything, a Canadian motorist told Peace Justice Clive Merritt.

The Canadian had been fined $10 for failing to report that his car hit and killed a dog. Another motorist reported his license number to New York State Police.

But in Quebec, he and his son were fined $10 each because they DID notify the police of killing a dog, the Canadian told the justice. He said Quebec authorities levied the fines for "unnecessary deploying police."

Shipping Is Stymied at Talks Break Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Talks have broken off between striking union deck officers and American flag ship operators, affecting passenger and dry cargo vessels in ports from New England to the Gulf Coast.

Contract negotiations recessed indefinitely Wednesday in the dispute involving 20 steamship firms and the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union. There was no indication when they would be resumed.

About 40 ships already have been idled by the walkout. The number could grow to 300 should the strike be a long one. The old contract between the union and the employer group, the American Merchant Marine Institute, expired at midnight Tuesday. The union announced a strike an hour later.

★ ★ ★

An offer by federal mediators to enter the dispute was received somewhat cooly by both sides.

The disagreements are over vacation, pension and welfare benefits. Wages are not involved.

The 1,300-member union has pledged that all ships loaded with military cargo will sail.

Sad 'Shaggy Dog' Story

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Tim Considine, 17, suffered an eye injury during a rough-and-tumble scene in the filming of the "The Shaggy Dog" at Disney studio. He was clawed across the right eyeball in a tussle with an 87-pound English sheep dog. He was treated by a physician.

Eloped 79 Years Ago

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — In 1879, a young horse trainer and his 15-year-old sweetheart eloped across the state line to Spartanburg, Ind. Saturday, they will observe their 79th wedding anniversary. Park McGriff, 105, spends much of his time in bed. His 94-year-old wife is a semi-invalid.

The planet Mars was within about 35 million miles of the earth in 1956, the nearest it is expected to be for many years, astronomers say.

Crickets Chirp Faster if Warm

Cold-Blooded Insects, Affected by Heat, Make Living Thermometers

WASHINGTON — Insects are so completely in the grip of the weather that some are living thermometers. An observer can read from their actions the temperature in degrees Fahrenheit.

Famous for its accuracy is the snowy tree cricket, a half-inch-long denizen of the trees, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

In North America it begins its sernade about the middle of July and continues into the autumn. The male "sings" by rubbing its wings together, producing a "treat treat treat treat" sound through the night.

The tempo is determined by the temperature. The warmer it is, the faster the cricket chirps.

To take a reading, count the number of chirps in 15 seconds and add 40. The resulting figure is the temperature in Fahrenheit, accurate within a degree or two. The crickets simplify the process by not competing with each other. They chirp in unison.

★ ★ ★

All insects, being cold-blooded, are greatly affected by the temperature of the air. It determines the temperature of their bodies, hence their rate of activity.

A scientist with stopwatch, thermometer, and ruler found ants on a California mountain traveling 52 feet an hour at 50 degrees Fahrenheit. When the temperature doubled, the ants scurried 780 feet an hour—15 times faster.

★ ★ ★

One species of grasshopper has two songs—a daylight chant and an evening serenade. It is so sensitive it will change its tune if a cloud passes under the sun.

Observers note that many grasshoppers fly only when the mercury stands at 85 degrees or higher. Certain moths seem unable to fly unless their body temperatures are above 63 degrees.

Modernism Prevails

SANTO DOMINGO PUEBLO, N. M. (AP) — This northern New Merico Indian Pueblo where, until recent times smoke signals were the vogue, recently was the scene of ceremonies by the Mountain States Telephone Co., marking the installation of the two-millionth telephone in the Rocky Mountain region. It was placed in the home of the pueblo governor.

Hugh Mulligan Writing for Hal Boyle:

He Greets Arriving VIPs With Wet Kiss

NEW YORK (AP)—Four or five times a month, Capt. Roald L. Olsen takes his fire engine out into New York harbor to embrace some very important visitor with a warm and wet welcoming kiss.

As skipper of the fireboat John D. McKean, otherwise known as engine No. 37, Olsen functions as a sort of Grover Whalen greeter with barnacles and without carnation. His job is to wave the official municipal hello with nozzles.

Since a good many dignitaries of various rank and renown go flitting in and out of New York in any given month, Olsen has to gauge the gush of his greeting to the importance of the celebrity.

Someone like Winston Churchill, who has sampled Olsen's spume, would rate the maximum cascade of cordiality. That is eight boats in the fire department fleet gathered round in a ring and each pumping up 10,000 gallons of seawater a minute in sprays 100 feet high.

It's a breath-taking sight, like planting a dozen Old Faithfuls out in the middle of the bay, and one that the visitor is apt to remember all his life, particularly if a stiff breeze fans a few hundred gallons across his brow.

"When the atomic-submarine Nautilus got back from the North Pole, we even broke out two or three rail hoses on each side of the boat, in addition to the five big monitor guns on deck," Olsen recalled. "It was raining very hard, but that was a very special occasion so it called for more water."

The extra rail pipes put the Nautilus on a social level with the Queen of England.

But lesser nobility or events, say the arrival of a new U.N. delegation or the opening of a new pier, might rate only two or three boats, with or without the additional rail pipe, depending on their standing in aquatic protocol.

"It's like deciding whether someone should get an 11- or a 21-gun salute," Olsen explained. "Fortunately, we don't have to make the decision. The fire commissioner, sometimes even the State Department, decides how how many boats will go and what they'll do. Sometimes we'll only circle an excursion boat chartered by a visiting delegation and give them a couple of blasts on the deck guns. But the maiden voyage of an ocean liner like the Brasil or the United States might get the whole works."

Sometimes, if a waterfront fire should break out at the same time, an eight-boat big shot is liable to find himself without a trickle of welcome.

"When the alarm sounds," said Olsen, "we turn right around and head for the fire, no matter how small it is or how big the visitor is. That's our primary job, after all. The eight boats have to patrol 578 miles of waterfront, and we often get called down to Jersey or out to Long Island to help fight a ship or pier blaze."

In his 10 years as seagoing smoke eater, Capt. Olsen, a lean, blond, blue-eyed mariner of 57, has welcomed some of the biggest visitors and fought some of the biggest fires in city history. He recently won two heroism awards for jumping into the flaming East River to rescue a Swedish sailor thrown overboard in a freight-oil tanker collision.

"That young sailor," says Olsen simply, "was the most important man I ever met in the bay. He was the same age as my son."

ANCHOR MAN — Navy Seaman Apprentice William P. Brewer of Caseyville, Ill., isn't intimidated by that huge anchor on the oiler, USS Kawishiwi. Brewer is catching up on some reading while he awaits another can of paint from above. Ship was tied up in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Sound Sleeping Champ

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Garrett McDowell reckons he's a sound sleeper. A car knocked down the fence in his yard, overturned, and crashed into his bedroom. McDowell slept through it all.

From Xeres to Sherry

MADRID — The ancient name of the Spanish town, Jerez, from which the wine, sherry, takes it name, was Xeres, but the Moors called it Scherisch.

May Shoot for South Pole or Moon

Pacific Missile Site Nearly Ready

POINT MAGU, Calif. (UPI) — This spot on the coast of southern California—whose name is an Indian word for "place of landing"—is getting ready to become the most prominent take-off point in the United States.

It is from here—site of the new National Pacific Missile Range—that the U. S. is almost certain to launch the first earth satellite to orbit over the South Pole and the first reconnaisance satellite aimed at the moon.

★ ★ ★

Both these scientific feats are distinct possibilities either late this year or early 1959, according to the best available estimates. Other missile firings as part of America's new Army and Navy training program are expected even before that here on the shores of the Pacific ocean.

But directors of the National Pacific Missile Range aren't commenting yet on what might happen as scientists design more advanced vehicles.

They're too busy pressing at feverish pace the work of getting the largest sea test range into operation. Construction of launching pads for intercontinental (ICBM) and intermediate (IRBM) ballistic missiles already is well advanced with tons of concrete and steel arriving by truck and train.

JUTS INTO PACIFIC

Point Magu itself juts out into the Pacific 55 miles northwest of Los Angeles, but the Pacific range stretches another 100 miles farther north to Point Arguello and Camp Cooke, a former Army infantry facility near Santa Maria, Calif.

Also included is Cooke Air Force Base and the Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation. The Air Base is helping to train this country's new missilemen while Hunter-Leggett is used to drill tomorrow's Army today—for war as it might be fought as far away as 1975.

Rear Adm. Jack P. Monroe is range commander for all the services.

"You'll notice," he told a reporter, "that the range—particularly in the southern part—is a remote, hilly area, with wide, deep canyons pointing toward the sea, from which missiles or vehicles of any size or shape can be fired, both with complete safety and freedom from unauthorized observation."

ANY SIZE, SHAPE

Adm. Monroe has a "far-away" look when he talks about vehicles of any size or shape.

"This planning is done with the end in view of being able to accept any future vehicle to be launched," is his only comment when asked how far beyond the heavily-instrumented offshore islands the services expect to send such vehicles.

But experts agree it's a clear shot into the heavens down the Pacific towards the South Pole, or to the north off Alaska, or into the Marshall Islands, where atomic weapons testing has been going on since 1946.

More than 100 million dollars already has been spent getting ready for the Pacific phase of missile research and training, and thousands of service and civilian personnel are preparing to use the sea corridors for vehicles that could "go out of this world."

Probes Possibilities of A-Rocket Launch

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — Can atomic energy thrust a rocket into outer space?

That's what the Atomic Energy Commission intends to find out in tests at the new multimillion-dollar rocket research projects at Jackass Flats.

★ ★ ★

A huge aluminum reactor has been built for the tests which begin in three weeks.

The reactor is not a prototype of a rocket engine. It's a device for testing and developing a system for fueling a rocket yet to be designed.

Originally, the project was tested at Los Alamos, N.M., but AEC officials said it was necessary to move the present stage of the test to isolated Jackass Flats because of potential radiation hazards.

★ ★ ★

Radiation from the test will be released into the atmosphere. AEC officials say the fallout from the testing will not contribute significantly to the over-all world fallout.

Days of Stompin' at Savoy Now Thing of Past

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be no more "Stompin' at the Savoy."

Even the famed ballroom's piano is gone — the ivories that jumped under the talented fingers of Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Fats Waller, Erroll Garner.

The piano went Tuesday, by the thump of an auctioneer's gavel in the room where once the nation's best drummers supplied the beat.

The fixtures were auctioned off as final preparations were made to tear down the Savoy in Harlem to make way for a housing project.

In the days when swing was king, the Savoy was one of its most glittering thrones. Nearly every name band of the late 20s, 30s and 40s beginning with Rudy Vallee and Isham Jones, played the ballroom.

★ ★ ★

And the crowds came in droves to stomp.

A few sentimentalists turned up at the auction Tuesday and danced a few, final steps. They were the last to stomp at the Savoy.

Silent Robber Gets His Loot

Easy-Going Bandit Is Hardly Bothered During Bank Holdup

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Asst. Vice President Monroe W. Long looked up from his desk at the Cheltenham National Bank and saw a tall slender man walk casually through the door.

The man was wearing white gloves and a checked lumberman's shirt. He had a white handkerchief tied about his face and a pistol in his hand.

★ ★ ★

It was five minutes before closing Wednesday. Some six customers were in the suburban bank.

The man paid no attention to them. Without a word or a threatening gesture, he walked among the customers to the counter.

He vaulted the counter and walked into the cage of teller Anna Kirk. From his pocket he took a large paper bag, and, standing beside Mrs. Kirk, he started taking money from her cash drawer.

★ ★ ★

She pressed an alarm button. A bell clanged outside the building. The robber took no notice; never even looked up, she said. Outside passers-by crowded excitedly around the bank door.

The man—about 30, Long said later—went to a second teller's cage, then a third, each time filling his bag from the cash drawer, never seeming to hurry.

Finally, he vaulted the counter again and only then did he quicken his pace. That seemed to arouse the customers. One of them threw a marble pen and pencil stand. It missed the robber by a foot, smashing the glass of the swinging door.

The robber pushed through the crowd on the sidewalk. They gave way. But Thomas Regan, 21, an electric company meter reader, ran toward the man as if to tackle him. A woman school crossing guard screamed: "He's got a gun. Don't bother him; some of the children might get hurt."

The robber hastened to a car parked at the curb, fumbled with the door lock, got in and drove off. He hadn't said a word. The car was found an hour later in a parking lot. It had been stolen, police said.

★ ★ ★

Later, after the FBI arrived, an agent said the robber got away with about $5,000.

Catastrophe Toll Down in First 6 Months of '58

NEW YORK (UPI) — Catastrophes — accidents in which five or more persons are killed — took slightly more than 800 lives in the U.S. during the first six months of 1958, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

For the corresponding period of 1957, the toll was about 1,200, including at least 350 deaths from Hurricane Audrey in June.

Car's Quite a Wreck, but Driver Feels Fine

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Excited bystanders examining a demolished car at a nearby railroad crossing asked, "Where is the driver?"

★ ★ ★

"Here I am," answered Michael L. Groner of Marble, Pa., who was among several persons helping push the car off the tracks.

Asked how he got out of the auto, Groner said: "I don't know."

He suffered only hand scratches.

Hotel Strike Talks Fail in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—No further negotiations are scheduled after failure of a renewed effort to end the two-day strike of 2,300 service employes against five major hotels.

Mayor David L. Lawrence met for an hour Wednesday night with representatives of two unions and the five members of the Pittsburgh Hotels Assn. The meetings broke up after neither side would budge from its position.

★ ★ ★

The walkout left the Pittsburgher, Penn-Sheraton, Sherwyn, Roosevelt and Webster Hall hotels virtually deserted.

Representatives of the Bartenders and the Restaurant and Hotel Workers unions called the strike after rejecting a last-minute management offer.

★ ★ ★

The hotel proposal would have gradually reduced the present 48-hour week to 40 hours over a three-year period for about 400 bartenders and tipped employes.

Union negotiators demanded an immediate 40-hour week for all 2,300 employes without reduction of pay. Also in dispute are wage and pension issues.

Touchy Question

Culture and Progress Are Preserved but Now Who Will Get the Statues?

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA) — It is said about New York that the only people who look up are out-of-towers — which will account for half of the frenzy in and about the St. Paul Building in the city's financial district.

It is also said that New York will be a great town if they ever get it finished — which accounts for the other half of the frenzy.

For it has come as a wondrous discovery to the Western Euectric Co. that above the door of their St. Paul Building stand three statues executed by one of America's greatest sculptors, Karl Bitter.

★ ★ ★

And the discovery can be traced directly to the cofpany's immediate plans for tearing down the building in favor of a new, block-square office structure.

The frenzy, it turns out, is not over how to dispose of these mammoth works of art, but rather how to decide which of the askers should get them.

The problem is really not quite so simple as it sounds. The statues are none feet high and depict a Negro, a Caucasian and a Mongolian sharing the weight of the building on their shoulders. Consequently, in any new setting they should stand well above eye level and should support something.

Then, too, there is the subject matter — integration — that problem of prejudice that does not seem to go away.

"So you see," a Western Electric spokesman said asking that he not be identified, "we have to worry about how it will fit into its new surroundings, and whether local residents will knock one or another of the statues over in a fit of race temperament."

Actually, the three stone brothers would have crumbled under the scash of a steel demolition ball if somebody hadn't looked up one morning, wondered, and then searched out a history of the St. Paul Building.

The story of the site itself, like every site on Manhattan Island, is unbearably historical. Here, on lower Broadway, is where P. T. Barnum set up his museum of sports and wonders. He was followed by James Gordon Bennett and his once-famed New York Heralr. And then, in 1896, by the St. Paul Building — the tallest building in New York.

To adorn such a marvel, Karl Bitter was commissioned to do the staturay — anything that appealed to him. It was the only way to commission the best-known sculptor of his day, who had already been represented in three expositions and most of the major cities in the country.

Bitter had been an Austrian immigrant, fleeing his native country after trouble with the army and a sharply defined caste system.

In America, however, he found that freedom was a reality. And so, to fit out the tallest building, he put his highest ideals of men working together.

For a time, Sunday crowds would come to Broadway and Ann Street to gape at the tremendous building and its men of stone. But then taller buildings climbed out of the island and the curiosity value of St. Paul disappeared.

For more than a half-century pedestrians in the financial district have been too busy dodging other pedestrians to look up. And this landmark.

But once the building was rediscovered by its wreckers, and the word went out the Western Electric would take the statues to any new home that could be found, the building aroused more than enough interest to warm the long-cold hands of Phineas T. Barnum.

Today, colleges, universities, cities, museums and park departments have put in their bids for Bitter's statues.

Columbia University says it would spend $100,000 to provide a fitting setting. The city of Indianapolis has its plan worked out. Drawings, sketches, ideas from all over have poured into the company's office — far too many to be judged immediately.

For help, the firm has turned to national associations of sculptors, mural painters, architects, designers and other artists. And for the first time in the country's cultural history an award committee has been set up to decide matters exactly like these — the preservation of culture in spite of progress.

CONTROVERSIAL FIGURES — The burden of the three stone figures sculpted by Karl Bitter is only slightly heavier than that which landed on the building's owners when they had to decide to whom they should give the statues.

Social Security Raised

Affects 30,000 in Oakland

The Social Security Amendments of 1958 which were signed by the President last August 28th, will provide increased monthly payments to an estimated 30,000 people in Oakland County, beginning with the checks which are due early in February, 1959, according to William E. LaRock, Social Security district manager in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The amount of the increase will be about 7 per cent, although the increase in some checks will be slightly more than 7 per cent and slightly less than 7 per cent in some others.

People who are already getting social security payments do not need to apply for the increase. It will automatically be added to the checks for January 1958, which will be mailed out early in February.

Under other changes made by the new law, social security benefits will become payable to a number of people not previously eligible for payments. They must, however, apply to their social security offices before payments can start.

The Pontiac social security district office is at 18 S. Perry Street. It is open from Monday through Friday, from 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

LaRock emphasized that it is not necessary for people already receiving monthly payments to apply for the automatic increase. It will be added to the January checks, which will be delivered early in February.

"Inquiries about the automatic increase will slow down our effort to start payments promptly to the people who can now get payments for the first time," he said.

California to Hawaii Speed Record Set

HONOLULU (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabre Jets landed here Wednesday from Sacramento and set what the Air Force said was an unofficial world speed record of 4 hours, 19 minutes and 45 seconds for the 2,400 miles.

The Air Force said the previous mark from McClellan AFB near Sacramento to Hickam AFB here was 4 hours and 32 minutes, also set by F100s.

Wings of jet transports are heated by electric wires designed to keep them free of ice even in sub-zero altitudes.

Gromyko Plans Blast at Dag

Schedules U.N. Speech to Strike at Report on Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has arranged for a hurriedly scheduled speech in the U.N. General Assembly to blast Dag Hammarskjold's Middle East report.

★ ★ ★

There was no official word from the Soviet delegation as to the subject of Gromyko's speech, but Eastern European diplomats said he would deal with the secretary general's report made public Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The Russians, as well as some Arab delegates, have made it clear they would press for a more definite commitment from the United States and Britain for immediate withdrawal of their troops from Lebanon and Jordan.

Reports from Moscow quoted the government newspaper Izvestia as criticizing Hammarskjold's report for the tone it took on the question of troop withdrawals.

The secretary general simply reported that the United States and Britain had promised to get their troops out as soon as conditions improved enough.

The United States expressed the hope the U.S. pullout would be completed by the end of October. The British announced they would begin withdrawing this month but set no definite date for completing the move.

Waterford Receives Only 1 School Bid

Only one sealed bid for the purchase of $300,000 in notes was received by the Waterford Township Board of Education at 2 p.m. yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The Community National Bank of Pontiac submitted a 1½ per cent yearly rate of interest bid on the funds which will be used for operation of the school system.

★ ★ ★

The loan was made in anticipation of undistributed state appropriations for the school year. Only 75 per cent of the money due from the state monthly was received in September and it is expected that only about 50 per cent will be paid in October.

★ ★ ★

The notes will be dated Sept. 2, 1958 and will mature May 31, 1959, according to specifications.

World's Biggest Firm

GM Makes More Than Cars

DETROIT (AP)—A one-time buggy maker just barely 50 years ago succeeded in lumping four struggling automobile manufacturers into a single corporation.

It became General Motors Corp., the world's largest manufacturing concern and the first and only one to pile up more than a billion dollars profit in a single year.

GM passed its Golden Anniversary Sept. 16, 1958—just 16 days ago — with new models trickling out and high hopes of a booming year after a disappointing 1958.

General Motors makes many more things than automobiles, although it turns out half of the cars made in the United States. It also makes diesel locomotives and giant earth moving machinery and tiny ball bearings and buses and refrigerators, among other things.

★ ★ ★

When one-time buggy-maker William C. Durant pulled GM together Sept. 16, 1908, it consolidated Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Buick and Oakland. The auto divisions, which account for 85 per cent of GM's business, still consist of these, although Oakland has become Pontiac and Chevrolet.

In its first year, General Motors built approximately 31,000 cars. In record 1955, it built almost four million.

★ ★ ★

Chevrolet is now the world's top producer, but for financier Alfred P. Sloan Jr., it might be among the missing automobiles, like the Durant, the Dort, and the Leland. Sloan, one of 11 Durant successors as president, turned down a recommendation of industrial engineers who surveyed GM in 1921 and proposed liquidation of Chevrolet because it "could not hope to compete in its field" — against Ford, of course.

General Motors has grown world wide in scope. It builds cars in many foreign lands. It imports German Opels and English Vauxhalls, to compete for the American car dollar.

At peak production it has given jobs to almost 600,000 people. In the U. S. alone, it has 124 plants spread from coast-to-coast in 70 cities.

And when national defense requires it, GM can become the biggest weapon in democracy's arsenal. During World War II it turned out 12½ billion dollars worth of airplanes and engines, tanks and trucks, guns and shells.

Bufalino Adds Million to Suit

Resents Remarks Made by Kennedy After First Libel Protest Filed

DETROIT (AP)—A suit asking one million dollars for slander was added today to the four million dollars damages asked by Teamsters Union Official William Bufalino and his local from Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate rackets committee.

Th supplemental suit filed in U.S. District Court was based on what Bufalino described as remarks made by Kennedy in a news release after the earlier suit was filed Sept. 23.

It asks $500,000 for bufalino and his Local 985, covering coin machine and car wash employes. The earlier suit, accusing Kehnedy of libel and slander, asked two million dollars each for the local and its president.

In his comment on the earlier suit, Kennedy said, "I have more important matters to consider than any suit filed against me by Bill Bufalino.

"I think that Mr. Bufalino should take some of the union funds that he is going to spend on this lawsuit and spend them for the benefit of some of the members of his local who are making as little as $2 a day."

Bufalino was among numerous witnesses called before the committee in its recent investigation of the Teamsters Union.

Longest Auto Strike

UAW Trained Sights on GM Back in '45

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, the biggrst of the auto makers, was the target of the United Auto Workers when the union started trying to make up for lost ground in wages after World War II.

The 113-day strike over wages in 1945-46, the last UAW national strike against GM, was the longest in the history of the auto industry.

The company estimated that its 175,000 UAW employes lost $130,000,000 in wages, the company across the country lost $100,000,000, in sales.

At the end, the UAW won an 18½ cent hourly pay increase, a boost of about 16 per cent from their $1.12 average rate.

The negotiations that preceded the strike were significant in two areas.

★ ★ ★

The talks marked the first time the UAW used the so-called "divide-and-conquer strategy" in contract negotiations with the Big Three—GM, Ford and Chrysler. The UAW ever since has chosen one company as its prime negotiations target, applied the pressure of a strike threat, and pushed through to a settlement.

★ ★ ★

In 1945 the UAW announced it would not bargain for wage increases which would result in an automatic car price increase. The UAW asked for—but did not get—a look at GM's books to determine whether the corporation could afford a substantial pay increase without boosting prices.

★ ★ ★

Walter Reuther, now president of the UAW, was a vice president and the director of the union's General Motors department.

The strike started Nov. 21, 1945 when the union set a deadline for arbitration and General Motors failed to reply.

Two weeks later President Truman asked the strikers to return to their jobs while negotiations continued. The UAW refused.

President Truman then named a fact finding board to determine what would be a fair wage increase. The union had asked for a flat 30 per cent boost. The company first had offered 6 per cent, then 10 per cent, then 13½ per cent.

The fact finding board came up with a figure—a 19½ cent hourly increase, slightly more than 16 per cent—which was agreeable with the UAW. But GM refused to go that high.

In the last days before the settlement only a penny separated them.

★ ★ ★

There were sporadic outbursts of violence during the strike—confined mostly to bricks thrown at the homes of company officials—but nobody was hurt.

Ford and Chrysler followed the pattern set in the GM settlement of March 13, 1946.

Ford gave the UAW an 18 cent hourly increase and Chrysler settled for 18½ cents an hour.

Zonkey Is Born

State Traffic Deaths Show Steady Drop

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Traffic deaths on Michigan highways have decreased for the ninth consecutive month compared with 1957, State Police said today.

Police counted 117 persons killed last month, five less than for September of last year although delayed reports of fatalities may increase the total somewhat.

The nine-month toll is 941 for the year compared with 1,104 for the first nine months of last year. This is the lowest three-quarter total since 1945 when gas rationing held down traffic volumes and 739 persons were killed.

Since then, total travel has increased by 17 billion miles or 60 per cent and the number of cars has gone from one-and-one-half million to three-and-one-half million.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs congratulated motorists on the record and warned about October which he said was "the worst month for traffic fatalities."

Electricity is available to an estimated 98 per cent of Sweden's people.

Dignity Cost Plant Worker His Jobless Pay

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — An employe who refuses to accept a job because it is "beneath his dignity" is not entitled to collect jobless pay if he is laid off, a Circuit Judge has ruled.

Circuit Judge Dale Souter made the ruling yesterday in a case involving Henry Kremers of Greenville, a former employe of the Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc.

Kremers was fired after he refused to accept a sweeping job after his regular job had been eliminated because of the recession. Kremers was offered the sweeping job, which would have paid him more than $70 a week, because of his seniority.

Kremers' claim for unemployment compensation was originally approved by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) but denied by a referee. The MESC's appeal board upheld the referee and then the case was taken to court with Souter upholding the appeal board's ruling.

One Leaves, Two Join GM Engineering Staff

Two appointments and a retirement were announced today at the General Motors Engineering Staff in Warren.

Walter K. Jensen, of 3861 Mystic Valley Dr., Bloomfield Hills, was named to succeed Carl H. Jensen of Detroit as director of parts fabrication. Carl Jensen is retiring after 32 years with GM. The men are not related.

John A. Dobb, of 2379 Robell Dr., Walled Lake, was named assistant director of the Engineering Staff's new devides section.

Chrysler Pact Signing Delayed by Balky Pen

DETROIT (AP) — Prolonged efforts to reach a new contract between the United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. ran into an unexpected last minute snag yesterday.

All eyes in the conference room were on UAW President Walter Reuther as he started to sign the new agreement ending months of negotiating.

Reuther scratched a "W" and then nothing happened. Meanwhile across the bargaining table, Chrysler officials finished signing the agreement and waited for Reuther's copy. An aide to the UAW chief finally produced another pen and the agreement was signed.

Many Motorists Violate New School Bus Law

DETROIT (AP) — Hundreds of motorists are violating the state's new school bus law, says the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Motorists are especially hazy about the law in metropolitan areas where cities, villages and townships have conflicting traffic codes, the club said.

One of the chief violations, said Bayard A. Clark, Auto Club safety director, is passing buses which have pulled off on road shoulders to pick up or discharge children.

★ ★ ★

Wherever possible buses must pull off on the shoulder for passengers. But motorists still may not pass even if the driving lane is open.

This rule does not apply within Detroit city limits, where school buses generally use designated city bus stops.

State law for many years required motorists to stop at the rear of a halted school bus. Under the change effective Sept. 13, vehicles must stop both front and rear until the bus signals a go-ahead.

These stops must be at least 10 feet from the front or rear of the bus and apply on all two, three or four-lane roads in rural areas.

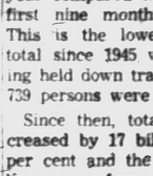

They do not apply in incorporated cities or villages unless they post notice of a similar local ordinance. Traffic in the opposite lane of a divided highway need not stop.

In a campaign to educate motorists on the law, State Police are passing out illustrated leaflets on the new regulation.

Chances of Survival Fade for Students

SENNETERRE, Que. (UPI) — Snow and wind dimmed hopes today for the survival of two young Michigan students missing in one of the wildest regions of northern Quebec since Aug. 15.

But the father of one of the boys won't give up.

University of Michigan Professor of Music Percival Price planned new efforts in search for the youths. They are his 21-year-old son Allen and Robert Carey, 23, both engineering students at the University of Michigan, who set out from Lake Waswanipii about 80 miles north of here on Aug. 1.

They intended to cover a 250-mile chain of rivers, lakes and portages en roue to Rupert House outpost on the Quebec shore of James Bay. They were scheduled to return to civilization two weeks later.

Allen's father arrived here two weeks ago and has since tirelessly tried to help direct the search. This week, he hired two Indians to follow the route the missing boys are believed to have taken. The Indians took off in a canoe three days ago and were expected back in a week.

TOKYO — Orders for high-temperature boilers, high-speed turbines, and high-energy generators have been placed with the United States, Great Britain and Switzerland in Japan's stepped-up program of adding electric-power production capacity. In 1957 Japan bought more than $21,000,000 worth of this type of equipment from foreign countries.

Note: Cut off 2 squares of Roquefort about the size of butter pats and you'll have the amount needed.

Nothing Calorific Here!

A weight watcher's delight is Glamour Salad. Pit a can of chilled drained diet pack light sweet cherries. Arrange cherries, drained chilled canned apricot halves and slices of peeled cantaloupe on crisp salad greens. Pass diet salad dressing.

Broil Fresh Peaches for Easy Hot Dessert

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Home economists at the University of Maryland suggest a toasted peach dessert that's easy to fix.

Dip 12 peach halves into a mixture of 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ¼ cup sugar and ¼ cup lemon juice. Then dip the peaches into ¼ cup melted butter or shortening. Remove and roll in 2 cups of crushed cornflakes. Arrange the peaches, cut side down, in a shallow pan 7 by 11 inches. Place under broiler for about 10 minutes or until brown.

Good Cool Weather Dish in Sweet-Sour Potatoes

Here's the lift your spirits may need after you've considered the dentist's recommendations for braces on Junior's teeth, and decided that after all, that gray gabardeen suit is good for another season: A new way to fix potatoes.

This is a cool weather dish, suggested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, along with the information that we have a lot of potatoes now and probably will continue to have them for several months. Long potatoes, round potatoes, red potatoes, white potatoes. They're all plentiful, all thrifty buys. It doesn't matter much which type of potatoes you use to make Sweet-Sour Fried Potatoes.

Ingredients needed for this tasty dish, which serves 4 or 5, are: 4 slices bacon; 2½ to 3 cups diced raw potatoes; ⅓ cup finely chopped onion; 1 tablespoon sugar; ¾ teaspoon salt; ½ cup of water; ¼ cup vinegar.

Cook bacon in a fry pan until crisp, remove from pan, and chop. Using 2 tablespoons of the bacon fat, cook the potatoes over medium heat, without turning, for 15 to 20 minutes or until they are brown on the bottom. Turn the potatoes with a wide spatula. Add onion and cook for 5 minutes, or until potatoes are tender.

★ ★ ★

Add sugar, salt, and water. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes, or until potatoes are tender.

★ ★ ★

Remove from heat, and pour vinegar over potatoes. Cover and let stand for 15 minutes. Add chopped bacon, and reheat before serving.

Fruit Nice Addition to Tossed Salad

Ever add fruit to a tossed green salad?

Luncheon Plate Salad

1 medium-sized cantaloupe
1 container (8 ounces) cream-style cottage cheese
4 cups salad greens
1 cup seedless grapes
1 cup blueberries
Thin boiled dressing or French dressing

Halve and seed cantaloupe; cut each half into 4 strips; cut away rind. Arrange on individual salad plates with a mound of cottage cheese.

Mix greens, grapes and blueberries with dressing; add to salad plates. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

To Scald or Not to Scald

Many yeast bread recipes suggest that milk be scalded, then cooled to body temperature before it's added to the yeast. The reason for scalding the milk is to destroy certain enzymes that interfere with yeast activity. Pasteurized and evaporated milk do not need to be scalded as the enzymes have been destroyed by a previous heating process. These milks should be warmed to about 105 degrees as cold ingredients slow up yeast action.

Avocado at Snacktime

NEW YORK (UPI) — For a tasty cocktail dip, try this combination. Mash a large ripe avocado until it's free of lumps. Blend in ¼ pound of cream cheese. Add ½ cup of sour cream, 2 tablespoons of fresh lemon juice, diced anchovies from two 2-ounce cans, a few drops of tabasco, a dash of salt and ground black pepper. Beat until smooth. Serve with chips or crackers.

Dressing Given New Look, Fewer Calories

Found: A low-calorie dressing for salads that tastes good. Too many salad dressings for weight-watchers are ones we'd rather leave than take. But after using this one on a variety of fruit and vegetable salads, we can recommend it as most acceptable.

This dressing is patterned after that old-fashioned concoction known as boiled dressing. Actually the name is a misnomer because this mixture should be cooked over hot water and never boiled.

The old-time recipe often included cream and several tablespoons of butter. This recipe calls for non-fat dry milk powder and only one tablespoon of butter or margarine.

You might like to use this updated dressing on an orange slaw — a delightful combination of green cabbage and citrus fruit.

This salad can ring an interesting menu change when you're planning to serve sliced turkey and baked ham for a company supper: Add the turkey (cut in thin strips) to the orange slaw and let it accompany the glazed baked ham. Weight-watchers among your guests will be able to help themselves to the slaw with impunity!

Low-Calorie Boiled Dressing

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup non-fat dry milk powder
1 egg
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons cider vinegar

★ ★ ★

In the top of a double boiler stir together thoroughly the flour, sugar, salt, pepper, mustard and non-fat dry milk powder. Beat egg enough to mix yolk and white; add water and beat enough to combine. Gradually stir into dry ingredients so mixture is smooth after each addition.

Cook over very hot (but not boiling) water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in the butter. Cool to lukewarm, stirring occasionally; gradually stir in the vinegar. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups.

Note: The dressing tastes best after it has been stored a day or so and the flavors have had a chance to blend.

Orange Turkey Slaw

4 cups shredded green cabbage
3 oranges
1 teaspoon finely grated onion (pulp and juice)
¾ cup julienne strips cooked turkey
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Salt
White pepper
½ cup (about) Low-calorie Boiled Dressing

Turn the cabbage into a bowl. Cut the rind away from the oranges so no white membrane remains; cut 2 of the oranges into membrane-free sections; cut remaining orange into round slices. Mix the cabbage lightly with the orange sections, grated onion, turkey and lemon juice; add salt and pepper to taste.

★ ★ ★

Add the boiled dressing, tossing with two forks, so it will be well distributed. Garnish with the orange slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cottage Cheese Base for Popular Dips

Cottage cheese can be used to make the ever popular dips for crackers and chips, according to home economists at Michigan State University. Molsten dry or creamed cottage cheese with salad dressing, salad cream, fruit juice, or cream, as you stir, to get the thickness desired.

You may want to use the electric mixer to get a real smooth dip. Create your own flavor combination by adding onion juice, green pepper, herbs, spices, dried fruits or nut meats — chopped or ground — to the cheese dip.

Spoon Peachy 'Sweet Stuff' Over Ice Cream

Ice cream toppings are in business. All members of families, and especially teenagers, like to spoon sweet stuff from small jars over the frozen dessert.

Chocolate and butterscotch sauces for ice cream are always popular. But now fruit horns in deliciously, and the sauces made with it can be festive concoctions.

A big crop of peaches has obliged ice cream this year Here's how to put them into a topping that's easy to prepare.

This sauce reminds us of tutti-frutti, although it is only a remote relative. We used to think tutti-frutti was a made-up word. But Mr. Webster dignifies its amusing sound by saying it's "a confection consisting of different kinds of preserved fruits."

Tutti-frutti, popular in Victorian and later days, is made with various sorts of fruits, sweetened copiously and brandy-flavored. As fruits (pineapple, strawberries, raspberries, apricots, cherries, peaches) come into season, each is laid away — preferably in a stone crock in a cool old-fashioned cellar.

Real tutti-frutti gives us a comforting feeling of stability in this changing world! In the latest edition (1951) of Fannie Farmer the self-same recipe for the confection is given as is included in our first edition (1896) of that estimable lady's book.

Our grandmothers wouldn't have used commercial pectin in a fruit recipe similar to our peach topping, but modern cooks are inclined to do so to gain a bonus in yield.

You don't have to reserve this topping for ice cream alone. It is pleasant served with simple vanilla-flavored rice and bread puddings.

If you're new to preserving, remember to choose ripe but firm fruit for good color, texture and flavor.

Don't double a recipe! Cooking in small batches is recommended because small quantities need to be boiled a minimum amount of time so color and flavor are protected.

Follow manufacturers' directions for preparing jars. Follow recipe directions for quickly closing jars with an airtight seal.

Ginger Peachy Topping

Ripe firm peaches (about 3 pounds)
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 box (2½ ounces) powdered pectin
6 cups sugar
3 tablespoons minced drained maraschino cherries
3 tablespoons minced crystallized ginger (wash sugar from ginger in hot water and drain before mincing)

Scald peaches and remove skins; chop enough of the peaches into pieces about the size of a small raisin so you have 4¾ to 5 cups.

Put peaches, lemon juice, salt and pectin into a 5- or 6-quart kettle; bring to a hard boil. (Mixture will be foamy so large kettle is necessary.) Stir in the sugar; bring to a hard boil and let boil exactly 1 minute.

Quickly skim off all foam with a spoon; pour into boiling hot half-pint jars. Seal at once with regular home caning caps.

If fruit rises to top as jars are filled, or if it rises after jars have cooled about half an hour, shake jars to redistribute fruit and place on their sides to finish cooling. If fruits do not stay distributed after storage, stir before serving. Makes 6 half-pints.

1 teaspoon salt
½ pound fresh or 1 cup frozen lima beans
½ pound fresh or frozen okra
3 potatoes, peeled and cubed
2 tablespoons catchup
2 stalks celery, chopped
2 fresh tomatoes, chopped
1 cup canned kernel corn, drained
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
Dash of cayenne pepper

Clean chicken carefully and place in large saucepan with cubes of beef, water, chopped onions, and salt. Cook over medium heat for 2½ hours. Remove chicken and meat. Cut chicken from bones and set aside.

Add lima beans, okra, cubed potatoes, catchup, chopped celery, chopped tomatoes, corn kernels, and butter to the soup. Cook for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Return meat and chicken to the soup and cook until most, but not all, of the liquid is absorbed. Add sugar, vinegar, and cayenne pepper and cook 5 minutes longer, stirring frequently. Yield: About six servings.

Shrink Fresh Plums Before Processing

Canning the fresh purple plums coming in from Idaho is one way to have this delicious fruit the year around. Wash firm fresh plums. Prick with sharp-tined fork to help prevent skins from bursting.

Prepare medium syrup by adding 1 cup granulated sugar to 2 cups boiling water. Cook until sugar is dissolved. Idaho fresh purple plums are sweet; require less sugar. Allow 1 to 1½ cups syrup for each quart of fruit.

Pour boiling syrup over plums, not more than two layers in pan. Cover with inverted plate to keep syrup over fruit. Let stand 30 minutes to an hour or more to shrink fruit.

Pack fruit in hot jars. Heat syrup to boiling. Pour over plums, leaving ½ inch head space. Run knife between fruit and jar to remove air spaces. Wipe threads and sealing shoulder of jar. Adjust covers, to jar manufacturer's directions. Process in boiling water bath 15 minutes. Remove. Cool. Label. Store in cool dark place.

PINEAPPLE BRAN MUFFINS—Bran muffins, long a favorite as breakfast or luncheon bread, take on a new look and taste with the addition of crushed pineapple. You can get all ingredients ready the night before for a quick before-breakfast mixing.

Familiar Bran Muffins Different With Pineapple

There's nothing quite like the appeal of hot oven-fresh muffins to stir up appetites. Served morning, noon or night, Pineapple Bran Muffins will add a touch of luxury to the simplest of meals. In fact, it's hard to imagine an occasion when these fruity muffins in which crushed pineapple and bran are added to the batter, wouldn't be a treat.

Pineapple Bran Muffins will brighten a salad luncheon or supper. Serve with a Chef's Salad topped with sliced eggs, ham strips and Swiss cheese with caraway seeds.

★ ★ ★

You can also perk up a Sunday brunch or breakfast consisting of a fruit cup and a puffy omelet with these muffins. They are easy to make for breakfast if ingredients are assembled in the evening.

Pineapple Bran Muffins

2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup buttermilk
1½ cups all bran cereal
¾ cup lightly drained crushed canned pineapple
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup melted shortening

Beat eggs and stir in sugar, buttermilk, bran and crushed pineapple. Let stand 5 minutes. Sift together dry ingredients. Stir lightly into bran mixture only until all flour is moistened. Add cooled shortening as you stir. Fill greased muffin pans ⅔ full. Sprinkle tops with granulated sugar.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before removing from pans. Serve hot. Delicious reheated. Makes about 12 large muffins.

Fortify Milk Shakes

You can fortify the nutrition of finicky eating youngsters by serving them wheat germ milk shakes, which can be given a soda-fountain appeal by adding honey, flavored ice cream, banana or fruit syrups to the shake. Or use chocolate milk. Add a level tablespoon of wheat germ to the flavored milk before shaking. If ice cream isn't used, make sure the milk is cold.

Whipped Milk, Fruit Dress Up Rice Pudding

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dress up rice pudding with this fruit and nut combination. Mix 1½ cups cold cooked rice with 1 cup coconut, ½ cup canned or frozen diced peaches, and ¼ cup each well-drained canned crushed pineapple.

★ ★ ★

Add Rice, Spice to Apple Betty

Brown betties are friendly desserts. Simple and homey, they breathe of warm, buttery fruitiness and spice. And both Big Folk and Little Folk show great liking for them. That's how it will be with this Apple-Rice Betty.

It has a brown crispy top. You spoon through to meet a medley of tangy, canned apple sauce, rice and nuts enlivened with lemon and spice, given richness with butter. Served warm and apple-fragrant, with a swirl of cream . . . what a happy ending to a meal!

Apple-Rice Betty is simple to make, with but brief baking time required. While most would probably prefer it fresh from the oven, it can be served chilled, if desired. And good it is that way, too.

Here are the few and easy directions for making it:

Apple-Rice Betty

2 cups canned apple sauce
2 cups cooked rice
¼ cup brown sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup melted butter
6 graham crackers, rolled into crumbs

Combine apple sauce, sugar, lemon, cinnamon, nuts and melted butter. Spread half of the cooked rice in a shallow, greased baking dish (10" x 6" x 2"). Cover with half of the apple sauce mixture. Repeat procedure with remaining rice and apple sauce mixture. Cover with graham cracker crumbs.

Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until crumbs are browned, about 15 minutes. May be topped with whipped cream when ready to serve. Serves 8.

APPLE-RICE BETTY—Come Fall and a hearty, warm dessert tastes wonderful. This one combines apple sauce with cooked rice and other goodies. Serve it cool if you prefer, with a dab of whipped cream.

Start Travel With Soup

Business style or family style, trips should start off on the right note, and breakfast often sets the pace. Whether it's father starting off at dawn's early light, or the entire family taking to the road, serve a large bowl of soup for breakfast. Take along thermos bottles of soup, too, for light, refreshing soup "break" en route.

Anchovies, added to potato salad, help to give it piquant flavor.

Like to add a couple of tablespoons of extra sweetening to canned New England-style beans? You can use maple syrup, molasses, white or brown sugar.

Creamed ham is delicious spooned into the cavities of hubbard-squash halves that have been baked. Sprinkle with parsley for flavor and color.

Crisp Salad Best for Cheese Sandwich

This is a particularly good flavor combination.

Sandwiches With Special Salad

8 slices bread
4 thin slices baked ham (warmed in a little butter on the grill or in skillet)
4 slices cheddar cheese
2 to 4 tablespoons butter
3 cups salad greens
1 cup celery crescents
2 unpeeled red apples (cut in thin small fan-shaped pieces)
Thin boiled dressing or French dressing

Make four sandwiches of the bread, ham and cheese; spread one side of sandwiches with half the butter; brown on hot griddle or in heavy skillet. Spread top side of sandwiches with remaining butter; turn and brown.

Meanwhile toss together the salad greens, celery and apple with dressing. Serve hot grilled sandwiches with the salad. Makes four servings.

Coconut Base Topped by Lemon Honey

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're planning a party, this honey coconut delight can be made in advance for the dessert course.

* * *

Dissolve 1 package (3-ounce) lemon-flavored gelatin in 1 cup hot water. Add ⅓ cup honey and 2 tablespoons lemon juice and mix well. Chill until slightly thickened.

Chill 1 2/3 cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk in refrigerator tray 25-30 minutes or until soft ice crystals form around edges. Whip until stiff, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and whip very stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture.

Melt ¼ cup butter, add ¾ cup flaked coconut and cook until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Add ¼ cup chopped walnuts and 1½ cups crushed lemon wafers and mix well. Press half of coconut mixture into 9 by 9 by 2-inch pan.

Spread milk mixture on top and sprinkle with remaining coconut mixture. Chill 2-3 hours. Serves 6.

Slivers of orange rind, cooked in sugar syrup, may be teamed with fresh orange sections for a refreshing compote.

Tomatoes Like Cheese

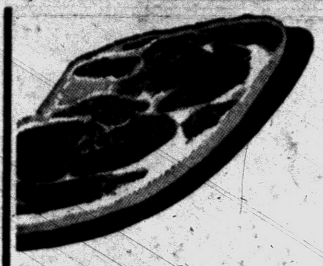

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's a wonderful dressing for tomatoes or tossed green salad. Combine 1 cup cottage cheese, ¼ cup of lemon juice, ½ teaspoon of sugar and ¼ teaspoon of salt. Yield, 1¼ cups.

Gourmet Touch Given to Lobster

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"The tumult and the shouting dies . . ." It's back to work for the country's food editors after a week of hearing about and sampling the new products in the food world. I have lots and lots of new ideas and recipes for you.

★ ★ ★

At one luncheon we had an appetizer course that would be simple to duplicate. The menu listed it as halibut in avocado cups, but the I had was tuna; a colleague said she had lobster. Apparently the Waldorf ran out of halibut Any fish would do.

It was flaked fine and mixed with a little mayonnaise. A scoop of this mixture was put into an avocado half and topped with a smooth creamy dressing. I skipped the dressing. Try this when avocados are reasonable—like now.

There are about 59 varieties of avocados grown in Florida. In spite of the freeze last winter you can look for quality fruit this year, though they may be smaller in size.

One of our most interesting meetings in New York was sponsored by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. They showed us films on oranges, pears, bananas, lettuce and cantaloupes.

In each we saw how the produce is grown, harvested and shipped. The greatest of care is taken to insure the produce's reaching the consumer in tiptop shape.

Suggestions for serving the above foods were given. One of the more interesting ways of serving cantaloupe is in this salad

Cantaloupe Sour Cream Salad

4 small ripe cantaloupe
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon paprika
Lettuce

Cut cantaloupe in half. Remove seeds and cut into balls with a melon ball cutter or with a ½ teaspoon, measuring spoon.

Combine next 6 ingredients and pour over the melon. Toss lightly. Chill and serve on lettuce. Garnish with additional paprika, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

On the last day of the Conference we attended a luncheon given by the South African Rock Lobster folks. They served their product to us in five differnet forms. We were encouraged not only to taste all five, but to go back for seconds! A tossed green salad, hard rolls, melon balls and cookies completed this delightful meal.

The five ways of serving lobster were as an appetizer: Simply broiled with butter; combined with chutney and peanuts and browned; in a creamy chafing dish recipe; and in an elegant mousse.

My favorite way was the third way, Holiday Lobster. Now that we can buy these frozen lobster tails in new 6-tail package form, it will be easy to prepare this dish for company. I think you'll like it too.

Holiday South Seas Rock Lobster

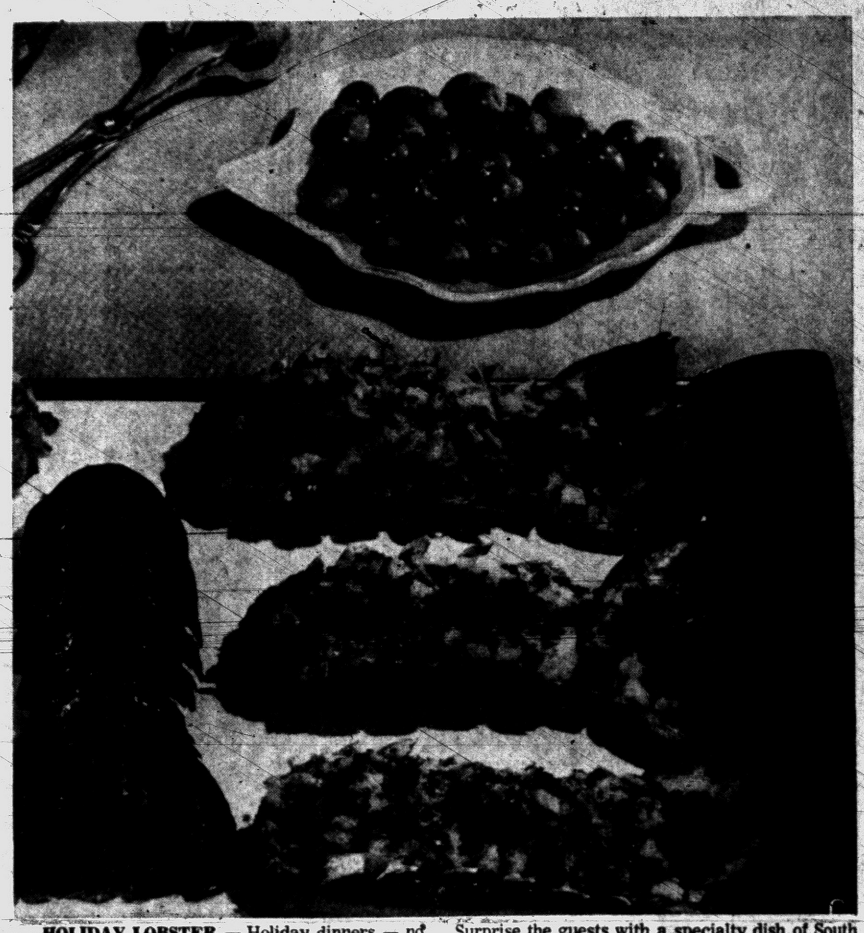

6 South African rock lobster tails (1½-lb Family Package or 3 10½-oz. packages)
6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Juice of 3 small limes (3 tablespoons)
6 tablespoons mango chutney, chopped
½ cup finely-chopped salted peanuts
Grated Parmesan cheese

Drop frozen rock lobster tails into kettle of boiling, salted water. After 1 minute, remove tails from kettle, drench with cold water, cut away underside membrane and carefully remove meat from shells. Reserve shells.

Cut up rock lobster meat, which will be translucent and only partly cooked, into small pieces.

In heavy iron skillet, melt butter, add mustard, Worcestershire sauce, and lime juice. Stir in chopped chutney. Add rock lobster pieces and peanuts. Saute very slowly until heated through.

Stuff shells with mixture, sprinkle lightly with grated Parmesan cheese and quickly brown under broiler for a few minutes. Serves six.

HOLIDAY LOBSTER — Holiday dinners — no matter what is being celebrated take on the festive air of the special occasion when the entree is imaginative, creative and totally different. Surprise the guests with a specialty dish of South African rock lobster, cooked in an exotic mixture of mangoes and chopped peanuts.

Season Sauerkraut With Trio of Spices

New way to season an old main-dish standby.

Skillet Franks and Kraut

1 jar (16 ounces) sauerkraut
1 bay leaf
4 whole cloves
4 whole allspice
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 pound frankfurters

Turn sauerkraut (including the liquid in jar) into a 10-inch skillet. Break bay leaf into several pieces and add with cloves, allspice, brown sugar and onion; mix well with sauerkraut. Bring to simmering; cover and simmer 20 minutes. Add frankfurters to skillet, lifting kraut and spreading it over the franks. Cover and continue to simmer for 10 minutes or until franks are hot through. Makes 4 servings.

Add diced crisp celery to cooked shoestring beets, green peas and diced carrots for a good salad. Use mayonnaise for the dressing.

U.S. Reported Cool to Parley

Reds Propose Meeting Over Ending N-Tests to British Also

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported cool today to the Soviet proposal that foreign ministers — not ambassadors—meet to seek agreement on ending nuclear weapons tests. But the proposal was promised careful study.

The Soviet proposition was made Wednesday in notes to the U.S. and British embassies in Moscow. The three governments had agreed earlier to negotiate for a nuclear test suspension in Geneva Oct. 31 but the expectation had been that they would be represented by ambassadors. This country had designated James J. Wadsworth, one of its U.N. ambassadors, to head the U.S. delegation.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union dispatched the notes only a day after the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission reported detection of two new Soviet nuclear tests. These ended the much-publicized Soviet voluntary test suspension, and raised some question concerning the present Soviet attitude toward the Oct. 31 talks.

Both this country and Britain let it be known, however, that they were ready to go ahead if the Soviet Union halted testing by Oct. 31.

The Soviet Union professed a desire to proceed, but it was not immediately clear what effect her newest proposal might have.

A Moscow broadcast said a quick and universal end of nuclear testing is important to all mankind and added: "For this reason the Soviet government hopes that the parties to the conference will bend every effort to come to terms on, and sign, an appropriate agreement on the earlier possible date."

The Soviet move is expected to be discussed with Britain before a final decision is made on acceptance or rejection. This may take a week or so.

The initial reaction of some U.S. officials was that much detailed work remains to be done before a test ban can be agreed upon, and this work could better be carried on by special ambassadors than by foreign ministers.

One speculative possibility is that the Soviets are looking for a way to bring about a high-level meeting with Secretary of State Dulles. Once the foreign ministers are in conference, according to this idea, the meeting might get into the Formosa issue, and might produce a suggestion by the Soviets to include Chinese Communist representation.

Cheese for Dessert

You can have cottage cheese for dessert, point out Michigan State University home economists. Press 1 cup creamed cottage cheese through a sieve or whip if with an electric mixer to make a fine curd. Add 3 tablespoons sweet or sour cream, sweeten with sugar to taste, and whip until fluffy. Serve as topping on fruit tarts or pies, on baked apples, or on fresh fruit salads and desserts.

Neighbors Build Anew Replacing Burned Home

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Pomponio, each 75, were on a trip to Italy their home burned.

Relatives and neighbors got busy and built a new house at the same site, without notifying the Pomponios of the fire. They had a home when they returned.

Rice Production Down

BANGKOK — Thailand produced 7,500,000 tons of rough rice in the 1957-58 season, about 10 per cent below the previous year's output.

Pork Prices a Bit Lower

Pencil and paper in hand? Let's think through the market list and the food for your family this coming week.

MEAT FOR YOUR MEALS — Does your family like pork? Then the larger supplies of pork arriving in the markets is welcome news, declares the Marketing Information Agent. More pork spells slightly lower prices for a number of cuts.

Thinking of a pork roast? Both the Boston butt and rib-end will cost about the same, 16 to 22 cents per person. Bacon will cost less than it did a few weeks ago. You can be more generous with servings of bacon with eggs or on thick bacon-tomato sandwiches now that bacon is featured at less than 70 cents a pound in most stores.

A decrease in wholesale costs for large-size hams is being passed along to shoppers in some instances. Less customer demand for spareribs is one reason why you may find lower prices on this cut.

Does your family want beef? Some retailers report that wholesale beef prices are slightly higher; that retail prices remain as they have been. This may make beef features seem more attractive. Round steak at 79 to 99 cents a pound means you can serve a tasty "Swissed" steak for 26 to 33 cents per person. A rib roast or rib steak will take 43 to 45 cents per serving.

ERUITS AND VEGETABLES — Jack Frost will soon end the Michigan produce harvest. What does this mean to you? It means action if you have canning jars yet to fill.

Good supplies of good quality tomatoes will be drastically affected by frost, and immediately after you can expect price changes at the grocer's.

Several apple varieties are available. You will be happier by buying the variety best for a particular use. For baking, try those large Wolf River apples. For pies, choose Greening. For fresh sauce, the best choices now are McIntosh or Greening. Want apples for snacks or lunches? Then McIntosh are the most mature, have the best flavor for eating this early in the season.

Michigan's peach season ends this week.

Need other vegetables and fruits? Then check the good supply list of plums, grapes, pears, cauliflower, potatoes, cabbage, carrots.

Have you noticed the many featured items in the canned and frozen food departments? There is a reason. When processing plants are finishing their season's pack these foods are usually more reasonably priced than when they have to pay their way in storage houses.

The amount of any food left from the last year influences price too. If this season's pack is large and of good quality, special merchandising efforts are made to sell the balance of last year's crop.

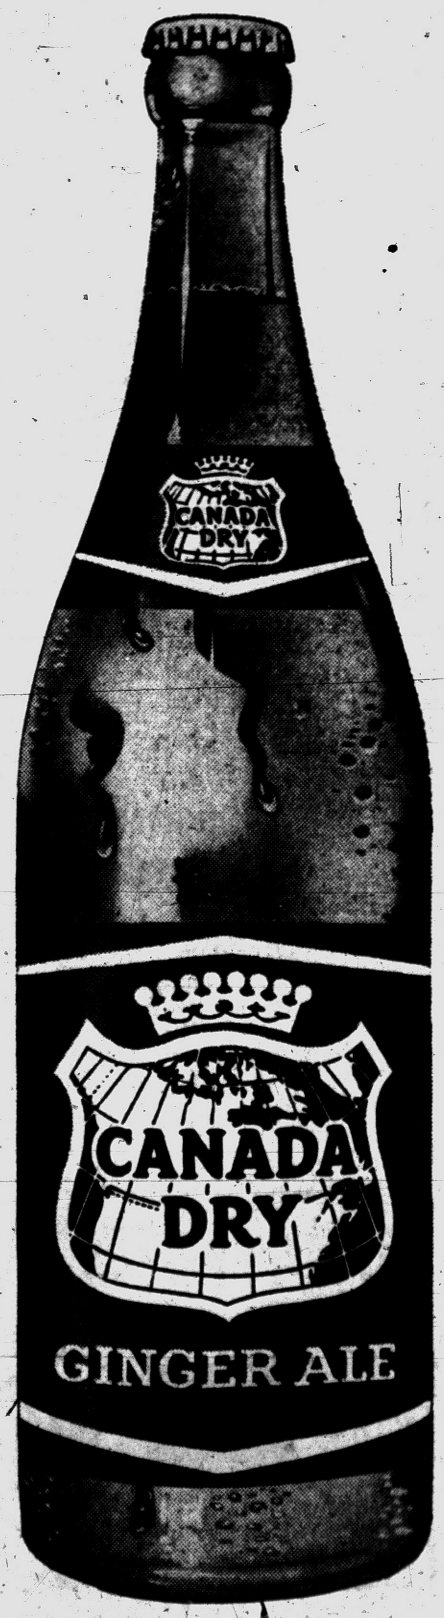

DAIRY AND EGGS — Have you planned to use 4 cups of milk for the youngsters, 3 for the growups each day? Then you can be sure your family is getting its calcium needs. Skim milk, buttermilk and non-fat dry milk rate just as high in caucium as whole milk, yet have only half the calories.

Make breakfast a hearty one by serving a high protein food like eggs. Small-size eggs will continue to be a thrifty choice during October. Three small eggs will give the same food value as two large ones.

Don't try to put a cookie dough with nuts and fruit in it through a cookie press.

What Young People Think

Industry Needs Men Over 65, Say Teeners

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Parents who have the idea that their children look upon them as living relics of a prehistoric civilization will be happy to know that teenagers have more confidence in the abilities of old folks than many employers.

While these kids may regard Mom and Dad as older than Methuselah, they are, for the most part, willing to let grandpa work as long as he is able.

The tendency in industry to bounce employes into mandatory retirement once they reach 65 wins little favor among today's teenagers.

Seventy-eight per cent of the youngsters interviewed in a nationwide survey insist that not only are many men capable of working beyond their 65th year but in many cases are preferable to younger workers because of their maturity and experience.

★ ★ ★

"I'll take an old geezer with a good head on his shoulders to most young guys I've met," answeered 15-year-old Sandy Lawson of Dallas, Tex.

A breakdown on the figures shows that 81 per cent of the boys and 77 per cent of the girls regarded the average worker over 65 as "just as capable" as a man 20 or 30 years his junior.

Only 13 per cent of both boys and girls thought the older man "less capable," and 6 per cent of the boys and 8 per cent of the girls looked upon him as "more capable."

'OLDSTERS UNDERRATED'

"Too many businesses," said 17-year-old Ruth Ellen Floyd of Duluth, "underrate the value of the older employe. They spend a good deal of time and money training younger and less competent help."

"Someday," announced 17-year-old Tom Conroy of Des Moines, "when I am responsible for hiring and firing employes, you can be sure that I will lean toward the mature man of experience rather than brash youngsters."

The 13 per cent who favored mandatory retirement at 65 thought in terms of the welfare of the older man and the morale of his younger co-worker.

To get the teenage perspective on the thorny question of how old is old, we asked our teenaged audience at what age they thought a white collar worker should be made to retire. The question was limited to white collars workers in order to put emphasis on mental agility rather than physical endurance.

AN INDIVIDUAL MATTER

Exactly 50 per cent of the boys and girls surveyed refused to pick a particular age for white collar retirement. In a variety of wordings, they indicated that retirement depended upon the health, stamina and mental attitude of the individual worker.

"Some people age faster than others," was a typical comment.

One girl wryly commented: "I worked for a 70-year-old man this summer and he had more life and humor in him than my boy friend. You're only as old as you feel."

Of those who picked a particular age, 25 per cent thought the white collar man should retire sometime between 65 and 70; 8 per cent held out for 75 and 5 per cent thought he was good until 80.

Jim Edwards of Chicago, who voted with the 80-year-old faction, gave his own retirement formula: "As long as the guy can stand on his own two feet and get the job done, then he's young enough to do it."

In line with these opinions, would teenagers favor a change in the present Social Security retirement age of 65?

No, answered 62 per cent, leave the law as it is. The majority of these made it clear that they had no objection to people retiring voluntarily at 65 or any other age, their gripe was against mandatory retirement.

Find Good Looks in Good Posture

Good posture and poise makes many women seem extremely attractive. Teenagers, whose bodies are still growing, would do well to strive for good posture.

And they should avoid getting a lopsided look by carrying books, musical instruments or heavy handbags on the same side constantly.

Mary L. Kramer Becomes Bride of Glen Harding Jr.

St. Patrick Church was the scene of the Saturday morning wedding of Mary Lou Kramer and Glen Thomas Harding Jr. The Rev. Lewis Ellis officiated before 200 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kramer of Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harding of Myrtle street.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of embroidered net over satin featuring a tiered net back and scoop neckline. Her fingertip veil was held by a cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds and stephanotis.

Marcia T. Kramer of Milford was her sister's maid of honor and Mary Catherine O'Dea was bridesmaid. Both wore ballerina-length dresses of aqua chiffon over taffeta with matching headpieces. Their cascade bouquets were pink carnations.

★ ★ ★

Paul E. Harding was his brother's best man, with Larry J. Hayden, David J. Gallo and Robert F. Harding as ushers.

Following a reception held at the Dublin Community Center, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon through northern Michigan. They will live in Bangor Me. where the bridegroom is stationed at Dow Air Force Base.

The new Mrs. Harding selected a red and gray suit for her going away outfit.

★ ★ ★

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kramer wore a Dior blue silk crepe dress with a matching hat and contrasting accessories. Mrs. Harding wore a moss green wool dress with a variegated brown hat and accessories.

Dear Abby . . .

GI Says Uniform Scares Off Girls

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am a soldier and I would like to know why most parents and some girls think a man in uniform is poison? There are a few heels in every outfit but why do we all have to suffer for it? I had to borrow civies and lie to the father of one girl before I could take the girl out because if he knew I was a GI he wouldn't have allowed his daughter to associate with me. My buddy and I met two very nice girls at the beach and the minute we told them we were GIs they said goodbye. Why, Abby?" A GI

ABBY

DEAR GI: Men in uniform are usually at a temporary base and parents are suspicious of men who might be here today and gone tomorrow. However, it is my opinion that a GI (like any other human being) should be given a chance to prove himself to be respectable and reliable—even in his temporary location. Some of the finest boys in the nation are wearing uniforms, and parents who refuse to allow their daughters to associate with them are missing the boat!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married over a year and have a problem with his parents and their inquisitive nature. They ask to know the price of everything from the Sunday roast to the clothes we wear. They usually criticize the purchases and say we overpay for everything. We both work and have never asked them for financial help so I don't think it is any of their business. But how can we get this across to them without insulting them?"

INDEPENDENT

DEAR INDEPENDENT: Your husband's parents may mean well, but they are overstepping their bounds. Young marrieds who manage their financial affairs well enough to be self-supporting deserve privacy and can achieve it with a good-natured, "Sorry, the cost is confidential."

"DEAR ABBY" My problem is if I go to bed early I can't sleep, but if I go to bed late I am sleepy and can sleep but I wake up sleepy. Please tell me if I should go to bed early and force myself to sleep so I will wake up not sleepy or should I go to bed late and wake up sleepy?"

NINE YEARS OLD

DEAR "NINE": Nine-year-olds should go to bed at nine and wake up at seven. Form this habit and you will wake up well rested.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband has a workshop in our basement, but he got tired of hammers, screw drivers and plyers getting lost or borrowed, so he locked up that room with a padlock and takes the key to work with him. When I need a hammer I have to use the heel of my shoe. I can't even find a nail when I need one. I think it is terrible that he doesn't trust me and treats me like one of the children. Don't you think he should let me have the key?" LILLIAN

DEAR LILLIAN: Hubby should give you one more chance to prove that you are as respectful of his tools as he is. But don't complain if, when things start getting "lost," he tells YOU to get lost.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am getting married in two weeks at a chapel wedding and my problem is this: I am three months pregnant and I want to wear a white ballerina-length lace dress. It is NOT a regular wedding dress, but a dressy cocktail dress. My mother knows I am pregnant but nobody else does as it is not obvious. She does not think it is proper for me to wear white, but I bought the dress already and I can't take it back. Please help me make up my mind." WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Wear another dress or have the white one tinted.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO CRIED OUT ALREADY: Tears never solved anything. Ditch the tissue and face the issue.

Shorts Not for the City

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My girl friend and I went into town the other afternoon to shop. We both wore Bermuda shorts and blouses. When we returned home my mother said to me, "You didn't go into town like that, did you?" and when I said "Yes" she was annoyed and forbade me to do it again. She said it was in very bad taste.

"I could see her objecting to 'short' shorts but I can't see anything wrong in Bermuda shorts which come almost to the knee. I would very much like your opinion on this."

Answer: I agree with your mother that shorts of any length should not be worn in town — even by the young with long thin legs.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have several friends who invite me to their houses quite often for dinner. I do not have a home of my own but live in a furnished room at one of the women's clubs. Can you tell me how I may show proper appreciation to these friends for asking me to their houses? It embarrasses me not to be able to return these invitations."

Answer: You do not have to return invitations in kind. A few flowers to your hostesses would be perfect, or if the club you live in has a good restaurant, you could very properly invite them to a meal.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When leaving church after the Sunday morning service is it proper for a woman to remove her glove before shaking hands with the clergyman? Also, what is the proper thing to say to him when leaving the church?"

Answer: She should not remove her glove. She tells him that she enjoyed his sermon, or says anything she thinks of — probably what a beautiful day it is.

Receives Coveted 'Winnie' for Top Designs

Scaasi Takes Critics' Award

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

It took Arnold Scaasi less than two years to become the designer of the hour, winning the coveted Coty American Fashion Critics Award.

SCAASI

Scaasi made his first public appearance with his fall collection here last August when he was presented at Kingsley Inn.

The 1958 awards presentation was held Wednesday at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Other awards were presented to Ben Zuckerman, who received the return award; Donald Brooks and Jean Schlumberger. The "Hall of Fame Award" was given posthumously to Clare McCardell who did much to influence American fashion during her lifetime.

McCardell

Zuckerman

The critics' award founded by Coty in 1943 is presented annually to American fashion designers whose work during the previous year has made an important mark in the manner of dress of American women.

The trophy, called the "Winnie," is presented to each designer chosen for an award. In 1951 the jury of fashion experts recommended the "return award" to designers receiving the top award for the second time.

The "Hall of Fame Award" is given to a designer chosen three times as best of the year.

NORELL WAS FIRST

Norman Norell of Traina-Norell was the first to receive the Winnie in 1943, and went on to win the Hall of Fame Award.

Subsequent Winnie awards have been presented to Claire McCardell, Gilbert Adrian, Tina Leser, Emily Wilkens, Clare Potter, Ben Reig, Vincent Monte-Sano, Nettie Rosenstein, Mark Mooring, Jack Horwitz, Adele Simpson, Hattie Carnegie, Pauline Trigere, Bonnie Cashin, Charles James, and Jane Derby.

Ben Zuckerman, Ben Sommers, Thomas F. Brigance, James Galanos, Jeanne Campbell, Anne Klein, Herbert Kasper, Luis Estevez, Sally Victor, Leslie Morris and Sydney Wragge also have received Winnies.

Here is one of the dramatic evening ensembles which helped Arnold Scaasi win the coveted "Winnie," fashion's highest award, last night at the New York Metropolitan Museum. He was cited for "redefining the figure in unfailingly flattering terms."

Candles still denote a gracious way of dining. And they needn't sputter throughout a meal. One sputter-killer is to dip them in shellac. This also keeps the candles from bending when stored.

Boots the Rage in Campus Wear

Something new has been added to the college wardrobe this fall—boots of all shapes, sizes and description. Especially on northern campuses, where cold weather demands warm clothing, the girls are going all out for boots.

Some reach to the knee and are made of stretch nylon. Others are ankle height, and made of everything from fleece-lined leather to blanket cloth. Even sneakers come boot style this fall, with fleece linings.

So there'll be no excuse for college girls to get cold feet.

Pontiac Central versus Pontiac Northern!

The first such encounter in athletics will take place February 2nd when the basketball teams of the two schools meet in their lone game on the new PNH floor.

Till then, however, the Chiefs of the west side will be getting good support from the north end Tribe.

Presently, the loyalty between the two student bodies is at a higher peak than when there was just one school.

This was indicated at last week's football game against Wyandotte at Wisner Stadium.

Of the total 3,200 students at both schools, 2,100 of which are at Pontiac Central, there were 2,700 at the game.

ADULTS FAIL TO TURN OUT

The big failure in recent years and at the season home opener last week was the adult turnout.

The downswing in city football the past many years may have caused some adults to give up on Pontiac grid fortunes.

This is a poor attitude at a time when the grid future for Pontiac is actually looking up, and especially when Pontiac Northern's debut on the gridiron is certain to help the upswing.

Only 200 paid Pontiac adults were in attendance at the PCH game last week, whereas more than 250 adults came from Wyandotte, plus the Dotte students.

CHIEFS' SHARPEST GAME

When PCH assistant coach Ed Heikkinen scouted Wyandotte he returned with the report that the Chiefs would have to be at their best to get by the Dottes.

"It was the sharpest I have ever seen a Pontiac football team in many years," said one veteran observer after the game, "at least this team has more spirit than any I've watched for a long time."

This is a tribute to coach Jesse MacLeay and his aides, but the 40-13 score by which Pontiac Central handled the Wyandotte invaders does not mean PCH is loaded.

The game did show that a new spirit exists in Pontiac football and it may be a long time before a challenge is made in Saginaw Valley competition but there's only one way to go and that's upward.

Next season Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern will meet for the first time on the gridiron, but the first touch of rivalry will take place on the cage court in February.

Viewers Watch Casey Jawing Away

Lip Reader All That's Needed on Telecasts

By The Associated Press

The first game of the World Series was a smash hit on television except for one thing—the lack of a lip reader.

It was frustrating to watch Casey Stengel, the Yankee manager, jawing away in a conference at the pitchers' mound during the tense eighth inning and not know what he was saying.

★ ★ ★

Lip readers in the TV audience knew because the NBC cameras zeroed in for some nifty closeups. You could see Casey's lips clearly forming words. It was a perfect spot for a lip reader to give out with the inside dope, but nothing was forthcoming from announcer Mel Allen. Like most of the TV viewers he apparently can't read lips, either.

This happened during the high drama of the eighth when the Yanks led 3-2. But the Braves had men on second and third with one out. As the batter, Wes Covington, came up Casey called time and strode out to the mound to confer with his relief pitcher Ryne Duren and catcher Yogi Berra.

In the dressing room afterwards Stengel said, "I thought about walking Covington. But that would have put three on with a chance of forcing in the tying run. My man (Duren) doesn't have that fine control. So I gambled on him pitching carefully to him."

Those watching on TV knew nothing about that at the time. But they could guess as Duren got two foul strikes on Covington.

"The drama is mounting," Allen said. Duren threw ball one, then Covington hit a sacrifice fly to Mickey Mantle in center to score the tying run.

Another dramatic moment came in the 10th just before the Braves won 4-3 on Billy Bruton's hit with two on and two out. A camera showed Duren's first pitch to Del Crandall, the batter before Bruton, virtually knocking down the Milwaukee catcher. Crandall got up, brushed off his uniform, then singled to set the stage for Bruton's game winning blow.

★ ★ ★

The NBC crew, under the direction of Harry Coyle, did good work throughout. Among the best shots were Stengel tromping out to the mound after Hank Aaron's double in the eighth.

New York Boss Certain Turley Will Tie Series

Spahn's Hurling, Big Hit by Bruton Paced 4-3 Opening Win

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The New York Yankees were in a most unenviable position today as they awaited Lew Burdette and the Milwaukee Braves in the second game of the World Series.

Imagine being one down, their best pitcher, Whitey Ford, chased from the mound, and the fellow who vanquished them three times a year ago waiting in the wings?

That was the Yankees' position as they sought to even the Series following yesterday's 10-inning 4-3 Milwaukee triumph behind Warren Spahn in the opener.

Right-hander Bob Turley, who won 21 while losing only seven, was the scheduled Yankee pitcher. He started twice last year. He was routed the first time but came back to defeat the Brayes 3-2 in the sixth game.

The odds-makers, backing Burdette, who beat the Yankees three times in 1957, made the Braves 11 to 10 favorites to win today's game and 6 to 5 to take the series. Before Warren Spahn whipped the American Leaguers, 4-3, in 10 innings yesterday, the Yankees had been favored for the series, 13 to 10.

Manager Fred Haney of the Braves had laughed at those pre-series odds. Today, Casey Stengel, the skipper of the Yankees, was laughing at them.

"I'm going with the guy who won the pennant for me," explained Stengel. "He'll get us even. I don't worry about odds."

Everybody, of course, knows what Burdette did to the Yankees last October. He not only whipped them three times in as many starts but shut them out in the last 24 innings. After a slow start this year, he developed into the best hurler in the National League, winning 14 of his last 17 decisions to wind up with a 20-10 record.

Burdette, naturally, was not doing any predicting before his resumption of hostilities with his former Yankee teammates, but he vowed to duplicate his teammate Spahn's winning performance.

"Spahnie did his share to keep it in the room," drawled the 31-year-old West Virginian. "I'm happy for him but I can't let him get ahead of me.

"It would be nice if we could win all four between us, just as we did a year ago. But we're no hogs. I'd prefer that we won it in four and let one of our other pitchers share in the team's success."

★ ★ ★

Spahn, whose stout-hearted performance kept the Braves within striking distance of the Yanks until they tied the score 3-3 in the eighth, before winning it in the 10th on Billy Burton's single, predicted a quick Series triumph.

"I think we can beat 'em in five," he said. "In fact, it may even be four, if Lew beats Turley. And I think he will.

Actually, Ford was not the losing pitcher. Ryne Duren, the fireball relief pitcher, was charged with the defeat. After blowing his fast ball with spectacular success for 2 1-3 innings, during which he struck out five, the bespectacled right-hander lost some of his blinding speed. Singles by Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Bruton produced the run which broke the 3-3 tie and gave Spahn his third World Series triumph against two defeats. The 37-year-old southpaw yielded eight hits, walked four and struck out six.

'Near-Failure' May Lead 'M'

NO FAILURE NOW—Halfback Brad Myers of the University of Michigan was nearly dropped from the squad a year ago by coach Bennie Oosterbaan because he was a "confused" football player. Now he is regarded as the 2nd best runner in the Wolverines' backfield, topped only by John Herrnstein.

Halfback Myers Almost Dropped by Oosterbaan

Bennie Now Rates Brad 2nd to John Herrnstein in Wolverine Backfield

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Brad Myers, once all but written off the Michigan football squad as a flop, may be the Wolverines' chief weapon against Michigan State in their Big Ten meeting Saturday.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan rates the 6-foot, 195-pound back from Evanston, Ill. his second best runner—second only to John Herrnstein who was so impressive against Southern California last Saturday. But with the Michigan State defense rigged to stop Herrnstein, it will mean more freedom for Myers.

The fast, hard-running junior worked his way up to the first string the hard way. He was considered a big disappointment 18 months ago in spring practice after a glowing high school build-up.

"We almost didn't invite him back for fall practice last year," Oosterbaan said. "He just seemed confused on the field." Myers did get a last-minute invitation, however, and Oosterbaan hasn't been sorry.

★ ★ ★

"I've never seen anyone improve so fast," Ooosterbaan commented.

Mike Shatusky, who owned the right halfback job last fall, took Myers in hand. The senior taught the sophomore everything he knew about the position.

"I know he might take my job away," Shatusky explained, "but Brad's my boy."

As it was, the pupil and teacher divided the job last year—except for the Michigan State game. Myers caught Asian flu the day before the MSU battle.

★ ★ ★

Ten days before this season opened, Oosterbaan switched Myers to left halfback. Lameness prevented him from learning his new position thoroughly. Yet he gained a creditable 37 yards against USC.

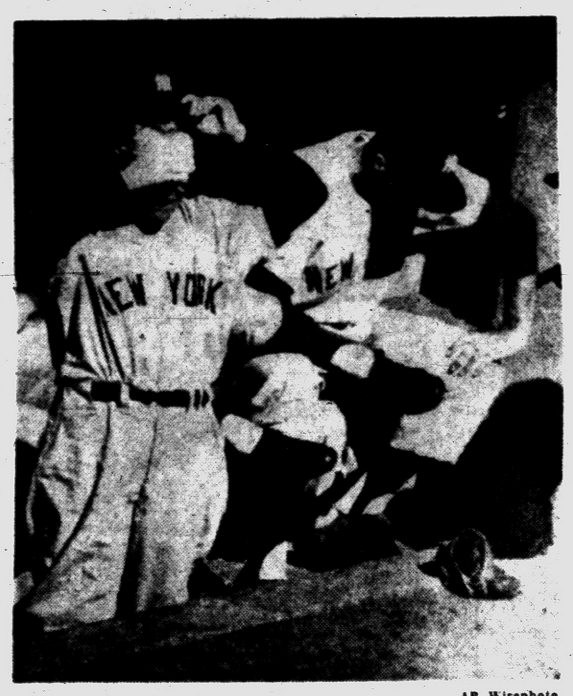

"He did quite a job for having scrimmaged for only 10 minutes at left half," said Oosterbaan.

The Wolverines will be visiting Spartan Stadium for the first time since 1953. The prospect of having only a 38-man traveling squad shouldn't handicap the Wolverines. Their depth situation is such that Ooosterbaan used only 23 players last week.

Oosterbaan has done a slight juggling act with his second unit. Gary McNitt, a sophomore from Mesick, has been elevated and will share the No. 2 right halfback slot with Al Groce.

★ ★ ★

McNitt's prime strength is pass defense, a Wolverine weakness. Center Dick Syring also is working with the second unit although not fully recovered from his hip injury. Jim Dickey again will start at center.

CASEY MOPS BROW — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yanks mops his brow in the dugout during a tense moment of yesterday's World Series opener. Casey made several trips to the mound but all in vain as the Braves outmaneuvered his strategy in the 10th inning.

'Rubber' Game for Daugherty With U. of M.

Spartans Have Divided Four Tilts Since Duffy Became MSU Coach

EAST LANSING (AP) — Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State and Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan, a striking contrast in coaching personalities, play off the rubber match of their individual football series here Saturday.

Bennie won two in a row and then Duffy got back with wins the next two seasons.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty, in his fifth year at State, is starting to build seniority as a Big Ten head football coach. Oosterbaan is in his 11th year at Michigan and only Ray Eliot of Illinois has been around longer as a conference football boss.

Both have a reputation for building winning football teams.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty is the outgoing, life-of-the-party type, always ready with a quip and his own best recruiter of promising material. Oosterbaan is softspoken, retiring and more of a student of tactics than a star of banquet circuits.

★ ★ ★

Oosterbaan helped give Daugherty his worst year—the 3-6 debut season of 1954 — with a 33-7 licking. He did it again in 1955 with a 14-7 defeat that spoiled the otherwise perfect year ending in a Rose Bowl win.

Daugherty blanked Michigan 9-0 in 1956. Then he gave the Wolverines their lumps last year with a 35-6 runaway.

Michigan State will have the advantage of home town status in this one — only the seventh game in 51 between the two schools played at East Lansing.

Michigan will travel up Friday night to stay at a downtown Lansing hotel. State will have the familiarity of the usual dormitory beds and the home stadium.

More important, the Spartans will be able to go as deep in talent as the coaches dare gamble — 45 men were used in the opener. Michigan, because of the intervening 70 miles to Ann Arbor, is considered the visiting team and will be restricted to 38 players under Big Ten rules.

★ ★ ★

The two coaches, neither one the feuding type, always have been friendly.

"But we'd rather beat Michigan than anyone else," Daugherty has said, "the players feel the same way. Somehow, it's always the big one."

Michigan State is favored and is rated third nationally after a 32-12 manhandling of California in the opener. Michigan was ranked 15th on the strength of a 20-19 edging of Southern California.

Pistons Start in Exhibitions

Only Two Rookies Still Remain on Team; Play in Toledo Tonight

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons tonight begin their national basketball association exhibition schedule with only two rookies left on the roster.

Bradley's Shelley McMillon and Barney Cable were the only two rookies coach Red Rocha elected to take into the pre-season games after cutting 6-foot, 10½ inch center Jim Dew of Alabama State yesterday.

The Pistons meet the Cincinnati Royals in Toledo's sports arena tonight and then the two teams move to Columbus, Ohio, for another game tomorrow night. The Pistons and Minneapolis Lakers will make an exhibition showing in Detroit Oct. 10.

Only 12 players are left on the club roster and one, guard Dick Farley, isn't counted until 60 days after the start of the season since he is a returning serviceman so the team is charged with only 11 men.

Yogi Wants Bad Ones

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Batting practice is a time of fun and good-natured kidding — even at the World Series.

Yogi Berra, popular New York Yankees catcher who is labeled as a notorious slugger of bad pitches, was having a little trouble meeting the ball.

So Yogi quipped to the hurler, "Throw me a few bad pitches, will ya?"

Sees Opener From Pole

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An intrepid World Series fan was caught without a ticket yesterday—136 feet above ground at County Stadium.

Anthony Albano, a 61-year-old fan from Brooklyn, climbed to the top of a light pole to view the opening game of the baseball classic between the Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees.

"I sees these two guys climbin' the pole," an usher told police. "I thought they was electricians and were gonna turn on the lights or something. Then one guy gets half way up and comes down. This other joker goes all the way."

Albano shinnied up the pole at about 10 a.m. and he didn't get down until Milwaukee won the opening game 4-3 in 10 innings.

When it was all over, fans heard his plaintive wails.

The fire department was called and arrived with an aerial ladder. A fireman went up, tied a rope around Albano's waist and lowered him to the waiting arms of two other firemen.

Chips, Dales Start Loop Play

By The Associated Press

Central Michigan College, now the favorite in the Interstate Conference football race, swings into league action this weekend and Hillsdale opens defense of its MIAA title.

The Dales, their 35-game regular season victory string broken against Central Michigan a week ago, take on hapless Olivet in one of two night games on tap in the MIAA.

In other league activity in the Michigan conference, Kalamazoo is at Alma for a night contest and Northern Michigan and Hope engage in a non-league night game at Holland.

The other MIAA game features Adrian at Albion.

Central Michigan has three straight victories—having defeated independent Northern Michigan, Western Michigan and then Hillsdale of the MIAA. This weekend the Chips are at home against Illinois Normal, beaten 13-0 last weekend by Eastern Michigan, the state's other member of the interstate loop.

Wayne State, last of the Michigan schools to start its season, meets Case Tech at Detroit in a Presidents' Athletic Conference affair. Western Michigan goes to Marshall for a Mid-American Conference tussle and Michigan Tech visits Ferris.

Northern Michigan will be trying to avenge one of its 1957 defeats when the Wildcats go to Hope. Hope beat Northern a year ago 14-13 and has wins over Eastern Michigan and Alma this season.

Eastern Michigan is out for revenge, too. The Hurons suffered only three setbacks last year, and Youngstown was one of the teams that beat them. The score was 13-6. Halfback Dave Kimmel, whose 81-yard run made the difference last season, is gone from the Youngstown squad and coach Dike Beede is going with a lot of sophomores but has a great runner in Ray Carter, a 9.8 dash man who has taken Kimmel's place in the lineup.

'M'-MSU TV Tickets Selling

Closed Circuit Sales Going Good Despite Delay

DETROIT (AP) — Promoter C. W. Smith said today ticket sales for the closed circuit TV showing of the Michigan-Michigan State football game on Saturday are surprisingly good—despite the delay.

The delay was caused by court action against the closed circuit showing. Two days ago a Detroit judge lifted a temporary injunction.

"As soon as that happened, we started to do good business," said Smith, who could not sell tickets until the case was settled.

"We have had good advance sales all over and believe this is going to be a good thing for everyone concerned," he added. "The whole nation is watching this venture and we believe it may have a profound effect on the question of football and television."

The closed circuit showing will be staged at nine locations—one in Toledo, four in Detroit and four in out-state Michigan.

SOUTHFIELD PILOT — Quarterback Bob Filar, ace signal-caller for Southfield's defending Inter-Lakes Conference champions, will pit all his tactical know-how against unbeaten Farmington tomorrow afternoon in their early season league showdown at Farmington. One Oakland prep grid coach has called the lanky Filar the best college prospect in the south end of the county. Filar is a senior this year.

Jays, Farmington Clash; Waterford Tries Again

Last year Southfield and Farmington met on the Southfield gridiron in the final game of the season with the Inter-Lakes Conference championship at stake.

Except for the element of time and a change of scenery, the two schools may settle the Inter-Lakes crown Friday.

An offensive-minded Farmington squad, carrying a 2-0 record, and defending titleholder Southfield, with a victory and a tie in two starts, collide tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

This time around Farmington will be the site and the showdown comes on the first day of the 1958 I-L campaign instead of the last.

★ ★ ★

Only Walled Lake, the 1956 champion which opens its league schedule tomorrow night at home against Berkley, seems capable of stopping a march to the crown by the Southfield-Farmington winner.

Waterford, which has yet to score a point while dropping two decisions, tries again tomorrow evening against visiting Van Dyke in a game matching last season's tail-enders.

Farmington has shown explosive scoring power while thrashing Livonia Bentley, 28-0, and Rochester, 38-13. The Falcons have a talented quarterback in Al LeSage and a fleet of fancy ball-carriers such as Tom Grimshaw, Neil Stevenson, Harvey Chapman and Mike Agee.

Southfield boasts one of the area's finest quarterbacks in lanky Bob Filar and halfback Tom Ridley is a deceptive, swivel-hipped runner who has been moving well despite a leg injury.

Walled Lake, a 3rd place team last year with serious title ambitions this fall, has a 2-0 mark and the Vikings will be heavily favored to take the measure of Berkley, winless in two outings.

The punchless Skippers of Dave Freeman and Van Dyke look evenly matched for their scrap at Waterford Stadium. The loser could easily finish the conference campaign in last place.

★ ★ ★

Oakland B League warfare resumes Friday night with Avondale going to Madison and defending champion Lake Orion playing host to Fitzgerald. Troy invades Class A Roseville and Clawson entertains Oak Park in non-league games.

Orion won its league opener last week against Madison, 20-13, and will be a slight favorite to dispose of Fitzgerald. Avondale finds itself a slight underdog at Madison Heights.

Chiefs Set to Invade Ferndale

MacLeay Calls Plays for PCH From Sidelines

Pontiac Central Eyes Third Straight Victory Friday Night

By BILL CORNWELL

Two down and ready to tackle the next one!

That best describes the attitude of the Pontiac Central football team as the resurging Chiefs prepare for Friday night's battle with Ferndale on the Ferndale gridiron.

Although the Railsplitters are a dangerous and highly respected opponent, PCH must be given the favorite's role tomorrow evening when the two teams line up for the 8 o'clock kickoff.

This will be Pontiac's last non-league workout. Saginaw Valley Conference warfare begins next week with the Chiefs starting their 1958 loop campaign against Arthur Hill at Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

Jesse MacLeay, who has guided the Chiefs to a 2-0 record in his 2nd year as head coach, will call the plays from the bench for the 3rd straight time when PCH and the Dales square off.

During the opening 26-0 triumph over Waterford, plays were sent to the huddle by tackles and guards.

Last week, when the Chiefs handed Wyandotte a 40-13 thumping, the strategy was relayed to the field through the rotation of quarterbacks Harrison Munson, Bill Davis and Allen Howze.

★ ★ ★

This time it may be the ends who serve as messengers.

What's the reason for the direction of the attack from the sidelines in Paul Brown style?

In MacLeay's own words: "Running a football team on the field is a great responsibility. If anything goes wrong out there or the play doesn't work, I want the blame to rest on me and not on my quarterback."

The quarterback situation has thus far been a somewhat surprising but nevertheless pleasant development as far as MacLeay is concerned.

With Fred Staley, last year's regular signal-caller, laid up with an injury before the current season ever got under way, MacLeay appeared to have a king-sized problem on his hands.

But Munson, Davis and Howze picked up the reins with yeoman-like efficiency and so far the Chiefs have not suffered in the least. Staley may be ready for action in the Valley opener at Arthur Hill.

★ ★ ★

Senior end Jim Pritchett, who missed the Wyandotte game due to injury, will be ready for the date with Ferndale. Gerry Andrews, who was a sturdy performer in Pritchett's absence, will probably get the starting call, however.

Wings' GM Sees Canadiens' Rule

Adams Scans NHL

(The Detroit Red Wings ruled the National Hockey League for seven straight years, beginning in the 1949-50 campaign. Now the Montreal Canadiens are the rulers, and comparisons are inevitable. The Canadiens have won two league championships in a row. How far can they go? Few men are as well qualified to answer as Jack Adams, general manager of the Red Wings. Here, in his annual preseason story, written especially for the Associated Press, Adams analyzes the National Hockey League and the Canadiens).

By JACK ADAMS
Written for The Associated Press

A hockey team can collapse overnight. Generally, a team disintegrates in five years.

On that basis, then, the Montreal Canadiens have three more title years coming. They may not have that many.

The great Rocket Richard, Doug Harvey and Tom Johnson are all well over 30 years of age, and they all are key players. No one knows whether they have any championship hockey left in them.

If I have to make a prediction, then I'll say I think the Canadiens will dominate the NHL for the next two or three years.

Last season, the Richard brothers, Rocket and Henri, and Dickie Moore, Jean Beliveau and Harvey all had great years. Many of our players, ones we were depending on most, had poor seasons.

One must consider the matter of injuries. They can change a picture overnight. Hockey is a rough, bruising game and anyone is liable to get hurt anytime. Injuries to one or two key players can make a tremendous difference.

When Detroit won seven straight titles, we had an exceptional situation. We brought up several outstanding young players and they developed as the team was winning championships. That's why we didn't wear out fast.

Our inter-league draft, started three years ago with a view to leveling competition, is beginning to show results. As a result, all teams are stronger. Largely because of the draft, I look for Chicago to be a real contender this season.

The Canadiens, of course, are the club to beat. Boston has a fine club, especially on defense. Our team can be right up there, too. New York could take one of the top spots.

★ ★ ★

As for our own club, we have a great nucleus in Gordie Howe, Norm Ullman, Red Kelly, Alex Delvecchio and Marcel Pronovost. We have some fine young players coming up — giving us a nice mixture of youth and experience. I'm not saying we could win it, but if some of our veterans have strong seasons and some of our kids come through, we could make a lot of noise.

★ ★ ★

We have had a good training camp. The spirit is good and we have reason to be optimistic. Everyone is giving his best and right now, we aren't conceding a thing to anyone.

Red Wings Win Over Edmonton

Exhibition Tour Closes Tomorrow Night; Barons Here Sunday

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI)—The Detroit Red Wings continued their exhibition swing through western Canada last night with a 6-1 victory over the Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League.

Detroit's famed "production line" accounted for four goals, with all-star right wing Gordie Howe scoring twice. Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman, Howe's linemates, each scored once.

The other two goals were scored by defenseman Warren Godfrey and left wing Duncan Fisher.

The Wings will close out their Western trip tomorrow night with a game at Calgary, Alta. The Wings will meet the Cleveland Barons in Detroit on Sunday.

Equestrian Trials Off

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI) — A steady rain forced the cancellation of the U.S. equestrian team preliminary tryouts for the 1959 Pan-American games scheduled for yesterday. The trials will resume today at the Fairfield County Hunt Club.

Viking Frosh 11 Wins; Defense Star Injured

Walled Lake's freshman football team won its 2nd game in as many starts with a 13-0 conquest of Southfield at Walled Lake last night.

★ ★ ★

Mike Hinkley returned the opening kickoff 70 yards for the first touchdown and Doug McClelland tallied the other in the 2nd quarter when he recovered a fumble in the end zone.

★ ★ ★

Joe Butler, a 135-pound linebacker, paced the Little Viking defense which allowed southfield to cross midfield only twice.

Butler is in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for observation of possible head and leg injuries. Southfield has a 1-1 record.

Set Harrier Record at Dondero

Chiefs in Top 7 Places

Led by a pair of easy-going, arm-in-arm runners, Pontiac Central High's cross-country squad yesterday won its first 1958 dual meet, to square its record at 1-1. Chiefs turned in a surprisingly fine victory with a perfect 15-50 count over Royal Oak Dondero. Birmingham edged Coach Dean Wilson's team in the opener, 24-35.

Yesterday's meet was run over the Dondero course, and lanky John Jefferson and Rufus Anderson made it a double-record-breaking event. The two Chiefs ran together over the layout, taking an early lead and staying side-by-side all the way to the finish. Their 10:10 mark, bettered the former course record by more than two seconds. They broke the tape arm-in-arm.

Chiefs took the first seven places. Less than a minute separated the first and seventh PCH runners. Other Chiefs in the top 10 were, in order, sophomore Maurice Johnson (10:23), Jim Patterson (10:28), Joe Anderson, sophomore brother of Rufus (10:28.5), Carl Adams (10:41) and high jumper Freddie Brooks (10:53).

Bill Reid (10:58), Dave Pringle and John Ahola were Dondero's top finishers. PCH also won the Jayvee meet, 15-48, with sophomore Jim Nelson first home at 10:55.

Yesterday's very fast times for the Chiefs' top runners hold promise of a real battle here Monday afternoon when Flint Central's power-laden, highly-regarded squad opens the PCH Valley season. Pontiac Jayvees will run against Walled Lake's Jayvees at the same time.

150,000 Michigan Hunters Await Waterfowl Season

LANSING (AP)—An army of 150,000 hunters, bigger than the fighting forces of many small nations, will hoist shotguns to their shoulders and blast away next week in the opening days of Michigan's waterfowl season.

★ ★ ★

Officially, the season starts half an hour before sunrise Wednesday. It will run 70 days to Dec. 9, the same as last year. Shooting will come to a halt at sunset daily except in large sections of Saginaw Bay where a 4 p.m. closing goes into effect for the first time.

Ducks will be the main target of hunters, but geese, coots, rails, gallinules and jacksnipe become legal game the same days.

"From the standpoint of hunters, it should be a good season for ducks, about the same as last year," said Herbert J. Miller, waterfowl management boss for the State Conservation Department. Hunters bagged about half a million ducks last season.

"Again this season, the bag limit is four per day and eight in possession, and again the wood duck is illegal. Additionally, redheads and canvasbacks will get partial protection, the daily bag may include only two redheads or two canvasbacks or one of each.

★ ★ ★

That's a restriction ordered by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service on the basis of surveys in the big duck breeding grounds in Canada.

Cost of the resident small game license went up this year form $2 to $3. The duck hunter also must shell out to the federal government for a duck stamp.

Lions' Offensive Line Gets Workover

Fullmer in No Hurry to Fight Giardello

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer has been offered a $10,000 guarantee to fight Joey Giardello in San Fransico, his manager, Marv Jenson, said Monday.

But Jenson said he is considering some other offers and is in no hurry to sign for a Giardello fight.

Wilson Shuffles Front Line for Packers' Game

Detroit Coach Figures at Least 4 TD's Needed to Win in NFL

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Coach George Wilson works on the belief that in the majority of cases it takes three or more touchdowns to win a football game in the pro circuit.

He points out last Sunday's scores where four of the six winning teams had to score four touchdowns and more to win and the other two were victorious with three touchdowns plus other points via safeties and field goals.

The Lions, losers 28-15 at Baltimort, showed little success in the offensive line which paved the way for only 73 yards rushing against the Colts.

All concentration in practice this week was directed at sharpening the offensive unit and the Lions will be at their best physical strength for the Green Bay clash Sunday.

Wilson was satisfied with the defensive line and especially the playing of 255-pound rookie Alex Karras who was outstanding against Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

Karras gave big Alan Ameche and quarterback Johnny Unitas a couple of bruising jolts to hamper the Colt offense several times.

Three players who sat out the Baltimore game, halfback Danny Lewis, defensive back Jack Christiansen and defensive lineman Gene Cronin will be ready to play against the Packers.

With the addition of center Bob Griffin, a five year veteran released by the Los Angeles Rams, Charley Ane will now get a chance at guard in place of Stan Campbell.

★ ★ ★

Ane, the Lions' utility lineman, may also move to tackle if necessary to permit rookie Bill Glass see action at offensive guard.

While the Lions were losing to the Colts, the Packers also were taking a drubbing from the Chicago Bears, 34-30.

The game is already sold out with 32,000 expected for the 2:00 p.m. (EST) kickoff at City Stadium.

Detroit won both games in 1957 but in the 49 meetings of the two teams, Green Bay leads the series 28-21.

BIG LION, BIG ALEX — Former Iowa tackle Alex Karras began his National Football League career for the Lions last Sunday at Baltimore in impressive style. Karras played the entire game with the defensive unit and was the outstanding lineman on the field. The huge tackle will start again this week against the Green Bay Packers.

Happy Day for Golfer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Golfer John W. McGuire had his share of good fortune yesterday.

The Indianapolis, Ind. businessman defeated Maurice R. Smith of Kansas City, Mo., 7 and 6 in the National Senior men's amateur golf tournament.

★ ★ ★

He had six 3s in the 12 holes on the Monterey Peninsula 36-36—72 par course.

And after McGuire finished he was notified an oil well had come in for him.

Defending champion J. Clark Espie, also of Indianapolis, met Chick Evans Jr., Chicago, in today's feature match. Espie eliminated Charles W. Williams, San Jose, Calif., 6 and 4 yesterday while Evans, shooting one under par on the first nine, beat Walter E. Barnes, Rockford, Ill., 5 and 4.

★ ★ ★

Lou Klein's Son Follows Mother as Crash Victim

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gerald Klein, eight-year-old son of former major league baseball player Lou Klein, died Wednesday of injuries received in an auto wreck Monday.

The crash killed the boy's mother. The station wagon driven by the 39-year-old Mrs. Klein was in collision with another car, then crashed into a signpost and a milk vending machine.

Jerry is survived by an older brother, Louis III, 12, and his father, who was manager of the Fort Worth, Tex., club last season.

We show fine form in the drawing today illustrating the fourth and final step. The right arm and left leg are coming forward in perfect timing. The right arm is straight and fully extended while the left arm is used for balance.

Note how both knees are bent slightly. This allows the bowler to bring the ball forward in an arc just above the level of the alley bed. With the left knee bent slightly, the bowler also helps cushion his slide and stop just short of the foul line. It acts as a sort of shock absorber.

Check the bowler's head, shoulders, hips and feet. They are all facing his target directly. This means his arm swing has been straight back and straight forward, and he hasn't permitted his body to swerve off-line during his approach.

His eyes, too, are concentrating on his target — either the pins or a spot on the alley.

The right arm should be fully extended, but not tense or locked. A little relaxation is necessary.

Titans Shuffle for Unbeaten Marine 11

DETROIT (UPI) — Coach Wally Fromhart continued shuffling his University of Detroit personnel in an attempt to come up with the right combination. The Titans host Quantico Marines Friday night.

Fromhart returned junior Dick Kennedy to No. 1 left guard, dropping Art Brauer, who played with the first unit last week, to the second team and sophomore quarterback Tony Hanley was lifted from the four-deep lineup. Hanley was demoted from second string to the list of reserves.

The Marines are loaded with former college grid stars and ironically the Titans have a few ex-Marines.

Halfback Bill Dando and tackle Ernie Dromgold were with the Marine team which whipped the Titans, 20-0 in 1955.

Last year the pair changed uniforms and helped U. of D. wallop the Quantico eleven, 33-0. This will be the last time Dando will face his ex-service team as he is a senior, but Dromgold is a junior.

The Titans have some big foes coming up on the road against Villanova and Boston College before returning home for the homecoming affair against Arizona State October 25th.

Quantico continued its winning ways as it rolled to its third straight win, trimming Xavier University 31-20 at Cincinnati, Ohio, last Sunday.

One of the big reasons for their win was the hard running of halfback Harry Jefferson. Jefferson, an All-Big Ten selection from the University of Illinois romped for three touchdowns.

The fleet-footed halfback turned in two touchdowns from scrimmage, the first being a 21 yard gallop that followed a recovered fumble by tackle Tony Anthony. His 21 yard touchdown run came on the first play from scrimmage by Quantico.

Jefferson also scored in the third quarter on a five yard pitch-out around right end.

The Illini halfback turned in the game's most spectacular play when he raced 79 yards on a punt return for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Typhoon-Ravaged Japan Facing Flood Threat

TOKYO (AP)—Fresh rains today brought a new flood threat to scenic Izu Peninsula. The region was still cleaning up wreckage left a week ago by Typhoon Ida, which killed 579 persons, two thirds of them in peninsula area.

★ ★ ★

People living in low-lying areas on the peninsula, 80 miles southwest of Tokyo, were ordered to high ground after two inches of rain last night.

Hubby Has Taken Her Away From It All

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I didn't think I knew anybody rich enough to own a yacht (except Aristotle Onassis)—then I went cruising in the Hudson on the little 118-foot "Chanticleer" which is worth from $500,000 to $1,000,000 and is owned by Frances Langford's husband, Ralph Evinrude, a Wisconsin boy who made good.

WILSON

"We call it our home and sleep on it two or three months a year," Frances said.

It has five TV sets aboard, stereophonic music, push-button Cadillac-type windows, and a crew of eight.

Frances is evidently happy away from the Hollywood glamour set. She loves the water and is a champion fisherwoman. At their other home in Stuart, Fla., she exhibits the head of a giant tuna she caught.

Sharks ate away the rest of the tuna (just as in Ernest Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea")—but the head itself weighed (are you ready out there?)—419 pounds.

Benito Collada, owner of NY's oldest night club (opened in 1925), threatens to move to Palma, Mallorca, due to the cabaret tax charged his customers.

To save money, college boys now carry a pint of whisky, buy one drink, then refill glasses from their own bottles.

"The government shouldn't tax a man for taking a drink," argues Collada. "The government claims drinking is a luxury but after a man pays his taxes, drinking is a necessity."

David Niven's pretty wife Hjordis caused a sensation in Japan when she took a steam bath. The reason: after disrobing, she walked through the wrong door, into the men's bath. "She caused a sensation among Japanese men," David explained, "not because she was nude—but because she was tall."

John Huston dropped into Eddie Condon's and sent a note to Eddie on the bandstand saying, "They're going to pull a pinch. There's a pusher in the joint. Walk slowly toward the door." Huston revealed himself as the author of the note when Condon actually did start toward the door.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Brigitte Bardot's fiance, Sacha Distel, says she won't make a film with Frank Sinatra: "After the producer paid them, he'd have only five per cent left" . . . Rocky Marciano's debut as a fight announcer was postponed till Oct. 6.

Truman Speaks at Cheyenne

Says GOP Responsible for Stagnant Economy, Lagging Defense

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Recession and unemployment have been brought by the Republican party to almost every state in the Union, former President Harry S. Truman charged in a speech at Cheyenne Wednesday night.

Truman said, "The truth about this Republican administration is apparent in a stagnant economy and a lagging national defense."

★ ★ ★

According to the former President, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's farm program is a throwback to the days of Harding and Coolidge, "when there were no price supports at all the farmers were at the mercy of the commodity exchanges."

"Benson's policies have driven farm prices down to a level where American farmers have lost 20 billion dollars since 1952," Truman declared.

Truman told the Democratic audience the Republican administration has fostered a stagnant economy, lagging national defense and exploitation of the West's natural resources.

Since 1920 the issue between the parties has been whether we are going to have full development of our resources for the benefit of all people or see them wasted and exploited by a few companies," Truman continued.

★ ★ ★

"Republicans will make glowing promises to show their interest in developing our resources, but as soon as you turn your back, they'll stick a knife in the promised project. Somewhere between promise and performance, the Republican hatchet men take over, and the result is little or no development of our resources at all."

Points to Waste of Antibiotics

Researcher Says Use in Surgery Can Increase Infection Likeliness

DETROIT (AP) — A Canadian medical research director says giving antibiotics to surgery patients is a waste of money and can increase their susceptibility to serious infection.

Dr. Robert G. Harrison, director of surgical research at the University of Alberta, told doctors attending the annual meeting of the Michigan State Medical Society yesterday such routine drug administration adds $30 to the average surgery bill.

★ ★ ★

"Furthermore, the main disadvantage is that the patient may become sensitized to the antibiotic so that it cannot be used later when needed," Dr. Harrison said.

It has been demonstrated in controlled research that just as many patients who are given antibiotics get wound infections as among those who do not have the drugs, he said.

Whether a wound becomes infected depends upon the number of germs that get in, the general condition of the patient, and whether the tissues are left healthy or damaged, he added.

Dr. Harrison said surgeons should continue pre-operative scrub downs for 10 minutes despite the introduction of new type strongly antiseptic soaps.

Other speakers yesterday told of cancer research projects. They included Dr. Helen Curth of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, New York City.

Dr. Curth described types of cancer in which changes in the skin indicate cancer - malignant internal tumors.

Hollywood Headlines

Every Studio Is Shooting at Least One Picture

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

You'd never know there was a movie depression. Every studio in town has at least one picture shooting, and that's not bad these days.

Universal-International is stirring back to life after a long slumber. Even the so-called beached whale—MGM—is in the swim again with pictures starring Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, Deborah Kerr, Rossano Brazzi, Audrey Hepburn, Tony Perkins and Debbie Reynolds.

★ ★ ★

The consensus around town: there's life in the movie business yet. . . .

Meanwhile, back in the swamps. Bill Holden can just see it coming. Pending court approval, he'll play in "The Horse Soldiers" with John Wayne, John Ford directing. It is a Civil War saga and will be shot largely on location in the South.

★ ★ ★

"I can just see Jack Ford telling me to get into the swamp and start sloshing," Bill sighed. "I haven't worn a business suit or worked in a Hollywood studio for three years. I left just as the five-day week went into effect."

So he's been working six and seven days a week on locations all over the world. And making millions. . . .

★ ★ ★ ★

Hard-working Dean Martin — yes, you read that right—has only five pictures lined up for himself. They include "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" with Tony Curtis, "Oceans 11" with Frank Sinatra and "The Bells Are Ringing" with Judy Holliday.

"Next year," he joshed, "I'm going to be playing a date at the Sands in Las Vegas while I make a picture in England. They'll have jets by then, you know."

Record Runner Races Half Mile to Help Woman

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The only American who ever broke the four-minute mile may have set a new record yesterday when he raced half a mile to get help for a woman pinned under an overturned car.

★ ★ ★

Don Bowden of the University of California was taking his morning track workout when he heard groans from the bottom of a 150-foot embankment deep in the hills.

A car driven by Mrs. Doris Scott, 42, had careened off Grizzley Peak Boulevard and plunged down the embankment, pinning her underneath.

"At first I thought it was a wounded mountain lion groaning in pain," Bowden said. "I had a look and I knew I couldn't move the car an inch."

★ ★ ★

Bowden then did what he's best equipped to do—he dashed a half mile to his parked car and drove to a golf club for help.

s found Mrs. Scott er...Rescuuf

Rescuers found Mrs. Scott suffered only a few bruises, but she could have remained underneath the car for hours or days had not Bowden found her.

Bowden, now a graduate student in political science, broke the four-minute mile on June 11, 1957. His time was 3:58.7.

The Step Pyramid of Djoser, built about 2740 B.C. at Memphis, Egypt, is the oldest free-standing stone structure in the world, the National Geographic Magazine says.

Newsprint Machines Use $2,500 Blankets

TORONTO — A blanket for a newsprint-making machine is called a felt, costs up to $2,500 must be custom-made, and wears out in 10 to 14 days.

Its function is to pick up the wet sheet of newsprint when it is only one step removed from a liquid solution of wood fibers and carry it through operations that turn it into dry, solid paper.

Along the way resilient wool felts help extract water and cushion the newsprint sheet against damage by pressure rollers. The typical felt is an endless belt 75 feet long and more than 20 feet wide.

Marco Polo brought the idea of the papermaking felt back from China, where it was used in a primitive form.

2 Planes Report Sub

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Two pilots flying separate planes reported seeing an unidentified submarine off the Victorian coast today. This made five such sightings in eight days. Defense officials sent a Neptune reconnaissance plane up to search for the submarine without success. All planes and ships were warned to be on the lookout.

MSU Tests Plan to Shake Cherries From the Trees

BAILEY (UPI) — The laborious task of cherry picking may give way to a time-saving tree-shaking technique.

Michigan State University horticulturists plan further experiments into harvesting cherries by shaking.

★ ★ ★

MSU horticulturists described the basic equipment of the shaking process as a cloth-covered catching frame 20 by 30 feet wheeled under the trees which are then shaken with long hooked poles.

The researchers hope to develop a tractor-operated shaking device to replace the poles used last summer.

★ ★ ★

Most of the cherries fall directly into the net and generally are not as bruised as is hand-picked fruit. Only a small percentage of cherries which strike limbs during their fall are bruised.

★ ★ ★

The nets are sloped so the fruit rolls gently together and then is poured into lugs through a special vent.

Memo to Next Year's Hopefuls:

How to Beat the Rush to College

NEW YORK (NEA) — When you're one of nearly nine million teenagers whisking through high school corridors with the urgency of youth, it's hard to think ahead of the next day's fun.

But those who want to go to college must. Now is the time, not next spring, to plan for college, to beat the enrollment crush.

Freshmen and sophomores, especially, can decide on a probable career, scan colleges that offer sound studies in the field, discuss finances with parents, scout for scholarships and loans, plan high school courses to fit college requirements, maintain good grade averages and take part in useful extracurricular activities.

Sounds like a big undertaking that takes all the fun out of being young. But you can plan ahead and have fun, too.

★ ★ ★

Why the big rush to get a foot in some college's hallowed gate? Because they are crowded.

This country's 2,200 colleges and universities will enroll an estimated 3,623,000 students this year, despite the recession and increased costs of getting a sheepskin. By 1970 the number is expected to double.

However, on top of this discouraging news comes a ray of sun. Numerous schools throughout the country do have living and classroom space and say they can handle more students.

College officials and counselling experts say a youth who really wants to go to college and who looks over the scene with an open mind can find a good school.

Last year's success of this country's first College Admissions Center proves this. As a clearing house, it failed to place only a couple dozen youths out of 574 turned down by their first choice schools.

The center in Northbrook, Ill., was set up by the Association of College Admissions Counsellors under a Sloan Foundation grant.

Its director, Gary Mills, reveals that a majority of those shutout were from the Northeast where the Ivy League schools draw stacks of applications.

Over-application to specific crowded schools causes many head and heartaches each September.

Taking advantage of geographical location and being realistic about educational needs are two levers into most colleges, educators point out.

★ ★ ★

Students from the East and West coasts are wise to look into Midwestern schools and vice versa. And a student from Wyoming may have a better chance of getting into Harvard than a Cambridge lad.

Often colleges make allowances in grade requirement for students from out of state to gain a good geographical balance in the student body.

Clarence E. Lovejoy, who heads a college admissions counselling service in New York, tells tenth graders to plan for college in earnest. Keeping a career in mind, he advises, "Look for a college that will give a good general education aimed toward that career."

★ ★ ★

A youth who doesn't know if college is going to take will be wise to enter a two-year college for a shake-down effort and then transfer to another school for a degree.

Young women, especially, who look to secretarial jobs and some technician's positions will find it cheaper and shorter to receive training in a two-year program at a junior or community college which specializes in these areas.

★ ★ ★

Community colleges, according to the New York City Board of Education which controls six of them, are growing by leaps and bounds. In New York there are 34,000 persons studying for bachelors degrees, as well as graduate degrees, or taking non-credit courses.

The two-year degree in applied science or technology dovetails with great changes in today's industry, a spokesman points out.

Such two-year programs fill a desperate need in the country for persons to handle routine tasks that require technological background.

But even these schools are growing out of their postwar britches. As a result the high school grade average of 80 per cent required by New York community colleges in 1953 jumped to 84 per cent in 1957.

Hall of Gems Open in Capital

Jewel Exhibit Includes Collection of Diamonds in Many Sizes, Colors

WASHINGTON — Diamond fanciers will find their favorite jewel well represented in the Hall of Gems and Minerals newly opened by Washington's Smithsonian Institution.

Among the exhibits of cut and uncut stones of all sorts is a valuable collection of diamonds in various sizes, shapes and colors. One canary-yellow gem, believed to have originated in South Africa, weighs 18.3 carats. Its bulk can be gauged by the fact that the average engagement-ring stone comes to less than half a carat.

Of special interest to Americans are the Smithsonian's diamonds found in the United States. These are mostly from Arkansas, plus a mixed selection from California, Texas, Ohio and other states.

Through the ages, men have prized diamonds not only for beauty, but for mystic qualities believed to give them power to heal disease, ward off evil, and attract good fortune. Some diamonds have been feared. An old Hindu legend predicted early death for the wearer of a red-spotted stone.

★ ★ ★

In the modern gem world colorless, or blue-white diamonds are usually regarded as the most desirable. More common and much less valuable are those with yellowish or brownish casts.

There are, however, a few diamonds whose deep, pure colors give them superlative rating. Called "fancies," they include the famous deep-blue Hope diamond (44.5 carats) and the Tiffany Yellow (128 carats).

SOUTH AFRICA LEADS

Following the chance discovery in the 1860s of a sparkling pebble near the Orange River in South Africa, the African continent became by far the world's leading diamond source. It now produces 97 per cent of the supply.

The largest single gem find was made accidentally in 1905 at the Premier Mine in the Transvaal. It was named Cullinan after the mine's original discoverer and weighed 3,106 metric carats—one pound, six ounces.

Most of the world's diamond output—amounting to nearly five tons a year—is destined not for show but for work. Diamonds in industrial tools drill for oil, cut steel, saw stone and polish piston rings. They also polish dental fillings and give long life to phonograph needles.

Literally from out of this world are still other diamonds that the average person seldom sees—the ones that astrophysicists find in meteorites.

Princess Meg Risks Own Life to Rescue Boy

BRUGES, Belgium (UPI)—Britain's Princess Margaret swept a small boy from the path of an onrushing automobile and then leaped to safety herself today in a narrow brush with death.

The princess, on a third day of a quiet visit to Belgium, was walking with her party through the market square of this ancient city when a small European car drove straight at them.

Margaret swept up a youngster directly in the auto's path. She then jumped aside herself as the car braked sharply and came to a stop after grazing her skirt.

A woman was driving.

A British detective accompanying Margaret, Chief Inspector Frederick Crocker, sprang forward to make sure the Princess was all right.

She smiled her thanks to Crocker, assured Belgian police at the scene that she was unharmed and walked on, continuing her sightseeing tour of this medieval city.

The fact that tragedy came so close to striking down the pretty young princess dampened the spirits of everyone in the party — with the apparent exception of Margaret herself.

NEW YORK — Americans consume an average of 16 pounds of bananas a year each—four pounds less than in the late 1930's.

Business and Finance

Grains Begin High, Retreat

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures started higher on the board of trade today, but there was nothing to sustain the advance and prices soon fell back to around yesterday's closes.

There was nothing in the news to affect the markets in either direction. Tension over the crisis in the Formosa Strait has become less of a market factor in recent trading sessions, although the trade is watching the situation for unexpected flareups.

Trading in wheat came to a virtual standstill after a small volume of commission house buying at the opening. Activity in the corn pit likewise was a very dull affair. Action in soybeans was confined to a small volume of buying by local traders and commission houses. Soybean traders said there appears to be a lack of outside interest in soybean futures.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was 1/8 to 1/4 higher, December $1.93 3/4; corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, old style December $1.13 3/4; oats unchanged to 1/8 higher, December 64 1/2; rye 1/2 to 3/4 higher, December $1.30 1/4; and soybeans unchanged to 1/4 higher, November $2.18 1/2.

Steel Output Increases

DETROIT (AP) — Steel mills in Detroit will operate at 75.7 per cent of capacity and produce about 108,000 tons of steel, Iron Age magazine said. Last week's output was 95,700 tons as Ford Motor Co. resumed operations, bringing the operating rate to 67.2 per cent.

Steels, Motors Drop Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market was mixed in moderately active early trading today.

Steels and motors took some losses as fractional price movements prevailed among most pivotal stocks.

The irregular trend was asserted in an active opening and continued as turnover fell.

Some chemicals made gains and the oil section was firm. Tobaccos leaned to the upside as did utilities.

Chrysler was ahead a fraction following a new agreement with the United Auto Workers. General Motors and Ford dropped a bit as widespread walkouts began at GM plants.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel backed away moderately. Lukens Steel steadied after taking a 5⅜ loss yesterday on a reduced dividend. It was ahead a sizable fraction.

Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical were about a point to the good. Air Reduction, Woolworth, International Harvester, Liggett & Myers, American Airlines and Berlillard made small gains.

More profit taking was in evidence as a sequel to yesterday's moderate decline which interrupted the market's rise to historic highs.

Joins Committee Studying Education

Kenneth A. Meade, of 26725 Captains Lane, Franklin, director of General Motors Educational Relations Section, has been named to a 13-man committee to study cooperative education in American colleges and universities.

The study, financed by a $95,000 grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, a Ford Foundation subsidiary, will study programs in which students alternate between classrooms and jobs in industry.

★ ★ ★

Heading the committee is Dr. Ralph W. Tyler, director of the Center for Advance Study in Behavioral Sciences, Palo Alto, Calif., while Charles F. Kettering, GM director, is honorary chairman.

Meade holds a master's degree in physics from the University of Michigan and has held his present post since 1952.

Delivery Drivers Walk Out at J. L. Hudson's

DETROIT (UPI) — One of the nation's largest department stores couldn't deliver its merchandise yesterday.

Home deliveries from Detroit's J. L. Hudson Co. were halted as the teamsters tried for the fifth time to sign the company's drivers.

★ ★ ★

Teamsters Union Local 299 officials said 308 of the company's 320 drivers and helpers have signed union cards. James R. Hoffa is president of the local.

Hudson's was met by a walkout of 300 home delivery drivers and helpers yesterday at its downtown and two suburban centers.

Teamster officials asked an immediate National Labor Relations Board election and recognition of the union as bargaining agent.

There were 1,783 women studying for engineering degrees in the U. S. in 1957, compared with only 683 in 1950.

Dear Parents, so gentle, good and kind, look down from Heaven above, and know that the care you tenderly gave, is returned in our endless love. Your loving daughter, Mrs. Clarence C. Liebetrau.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARgaret Curtis Dingel who passed away 5 years ago today.
Not dead to us who loved her,
Not lost but gone before;
She lives with us in memory,
And shall for evermore.
Sadly missed by her father, brothers, sister-in-laws and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LAWrance Jon Blodgett, who passed away 10 years ago today.
10 years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away.
God took him home—it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still.
Sadly missed by his Mother, sisters and brothers.

PEA-PICKIN' SEASON OVER — Tennessee Ernie Ford, all duded up for tonight's premiere of the "Ford Show," cavorts with Joanne Burgan and Dorothy Gill, a couple of "flappers." They'll be joined by funnyman George Gobel for the season's opener on NBC-TV channel 4 at 8:30 p.m.

Ford Returning to 'Ford Show'

Ole Ern's Buddy George to Help Star Launch New TV Season

Tennessee Ernie Ford and his guest George Gobel will do the hula when the "old peapicker" stars on the season's premiere of "The Ford Show" at 8:30 tonight on NBC-TV Network, Channel 4.

Old Ern conjures up a South Sea Island atmosphere to comfort Gobel for not having had the Pacific vacation that Ernie had. Ernie also will sing "Gee, But It's Good to Be Here" as a greeting to his audience after his summer vacation, and the spiritual, "Take My Hand, Precious Lord."

★ ★ ★

Actually, Tennessee Ernie clambers up on his high milking stool before the television cameras this evening after a 13-week summer hiatus which wasn't exactly a usual type vacation. According to Ole Ern, he worked harder during the three months he was off-camera than the preceding nine months on-camera.

Ernie owns a big cattle ranch in Lake County, California, and outside of entertaining, his favorite preoccupation is working the spread.

Not merely a gentleman farmer, Mr. Ernest Jennings Ford has become quite well known in Northern California ranching circles during the last five years. "My neighbors don't ask me about ratings, they want to know how the bulls did at the last state fair," Ern chuckles.

It's a fact that his cattle have done quite well at the fairs, last summer winning three blue ribbons and seventeen lesser awards at agricultural judgings around the state.

Television, Ern admits, is a tough enough job without taking on the added responsibility of running a sprawling cattle ranch, but he finds it relaxes him when he's riding herd on some of his blue-ribbon beef. "Keeps me in shape for all the settin' I do in the winter," he states, implying that he thinks his breakneck schedule of TV, recording and personal appearances during the TV season is easy.

With his wife Betty and sons Buck and Brion, Ern does all the heavy work on the ranch along with his hired hands. He's been known to stay up all night with a sick calf, and thinks nothing of riding miles into the brush in search of a stray.

Ern's love for his prize cattle is such that the NBC brass have become apprehensive, lest he try to combine his two loves. Consequently, the small print of the Ford TV contract states: "The aforementioned Ernest Jennings Ford shall not at any time under the conditions of this contract pertinent to the program described above as "The Ford Show" have any steers, cows, bulls, or kindred livestock as guest stars."

But that doesn't phase Ernie. "I'll sneak 'em in as part of the band," he says.

★ ★ ★

"The Ford Show" will become a colorcast series on Thursday, Oct. 23. The first three programs of the season will be in black and white only.

Jayne to Have Pink Fur Walls in 1 Bathroom

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This may cause quite a few arched eyebrows in interior decorating circles, but the new dream house of Jayne Mansfield and hubby Mickey Hargitay will have 11 bathrooms.

One of the bathrooms will have walls of fur. Pink fur.

★ ★ ★

Pink predominates. There will be pink-tinted mirros in the master bedroom. The fireplace in the living room will be heart shaped. The swimming pool will be heart shaped. The gates, in sharp contrast, will be shaped like gates. But all these things will be pink.

Recently, Jayne and Mickey claimed they had to sleep on the floor. It developed that it was a temporary situation. The custom furniture arrived.

★ ★ ★

"We're spending $75,000 to redecorate," Mickey explained. Which should dispense with any rumor the couple is in a financial bind.

The home that the couple is redecorating was built by crooner Rudy Vallee in his Boola-Boola heyday.

Angry GOP Legislators to Tighten Up on Mackie

LANSING (AP) — Republican lawmakers are promising new clamps on State Highway Department spending in 1959.

That was the reaction of two GOP senators to argument before a legislative committee yesterday over a $52,000 project for a new highway tourist information center to serve Mackinac Bridge traffic. Construction is now under way.

★ ★ ★

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, a Democrat, defended his decision to go ahead with it despite evidences of legislative disapproval.

But Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) expressed "dismay and concern" and said Mackie "violated the spirit and mandate" of lawmakers' action last spring in refusing money to staff the facility.

The matter was debated before the special Senate committee searching for waste in government. Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains), chairman of the group, seconded Hutchinson.

WILL EXPLORE ERROR

Lodge, who invited Mackie to appear, said the committee next week will explore Republican contentions that Mackie blew $155,000 in state funds by bungling arrangements for a recent 10-million-dollar bond issue for roads.

Admitting error, an aide to Mackie has placed the cost to the state at $44,750. He contended timely marketing of the bonds would result in a savings of nearly nine million dollars in bond interest payments.

In the face of prodding from Lodge, Mackie refused yesterday to give assurances he will not go ahead with plans to build other tourist service centers planned at Ironwood, St. Ignace and on U.S. 27 at the Indiana line.

★ ★ ★

Need for the facilities and availability of funds will control any decision, Mackie said. He argued he has the authority to proceed under a 1937 state law.

★ ★ ★

There were other developments at the hearing:

Lodge commended Mackie for improvements made in handling of the Highway Department motor pool after taking office in July 1957. He said there was no evidence of misuse of pool cars.

Mackie called a legislative prohibition against future publication of state highway maps "childish and ridiculous." The senators disagreed.

OBJECTS TO SIGNS

Lodge objected to the commissioner's name on construction project signs. Mackie retorted that President Eisenhower's and Postmaster General Summerfield's names appear on post office project signs.

Mackie denied allegations first made by Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) that the department, on assuming control, "dumped" 60,000 highway maps bearing the name of Charles M. Ziegler, Mackie's GOP predecessor.

The department spent $56,000 on remodeling of its central offices, but in doing so recaptured 10,000 square feet of wasted space at an annual saving of $40,000 or more.

Information service spending, counting map printing costs, was up in 1957-58 to $200,000 as compared with $157,000 to 1956-57.

Educator Cites Lack of Funds in State

ESCANABA (AP) — Teachers must seek an objective understanding of their own problems, Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, told a regional conference of the Michigan Education Assn. here today.

"At the state level," said Bartlett, "you should be aware that state school aid—continued at the same inadequate level for the third consecutive year—is not meeting th need.

"I seriously doubt," he said, "that there has been any school district that has not felt the detrimental effects of the legislaure's callous irresponsiblity to the children of Michigan."

Bartlett said there will be more special teaching certificates issued this year than last, the classroom shortage will be greater and that more youngsters will be attending school in half-day sessions.

"We need citizen cooperation," he said, "if we are to obtain a better and more adequate education for all the children of Michigan."

Time Hangs in Balance as Watch Is Appraised

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Hasker Dozier spent 11 months in jail for failing to pay a court judgment against him in a traffic accident, then discovered he could obtain his release if he proved his possessions are worth less than $20.

★ ★ ★

"All I've got are my pants, shoes and the shirt on my back," Dozier told Circuit Judge James E. Spier.

★ ★ ★

Then he remembered a watch on his wrist.

Judge Spier adjourned the case until the watch can be appraised.

Elfrida Denies Help on NBC '21' Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Elfrida von Nardroff, who won $220,500 on NBC-TV's "21" program, says she received no help on the show.

Miss von Nardroff was questioned Wednesday at the district attorney's office in a probe of TV quiz programs, including "21."

★ ★ ★

Later she told newsmen she was shocked by claims of "21" participants that they were given answers before going on the air.

"I was naturally concerned about myself," she said, "and I didn't like the implications."

★ ★ ★

She added: "I was never given help of any kind."

Miss von Nardroff said she has been subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury Oct. 15.

His Love for 'Children' Is Not Exactly Mutual

HENRYETTA, Okla. (AP) — A 75-year-old pensioner with a penchant for bussing teenage girls has agreed to leave town.

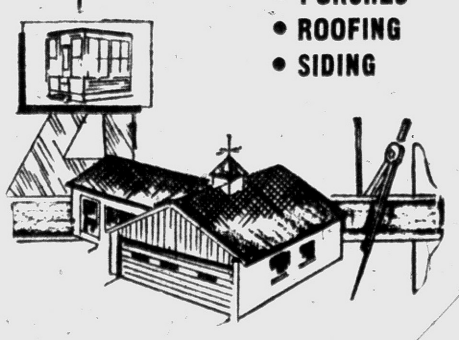

Police Chief Don Stormont said he arrested Claxton Williams after the man was identified by two pretty girls who said they had been grabbed and kissed on the street.

"I just love children," said Williams.

Social Security Income

Average $2,200 Per Couple

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Notes for and about the older generation:

The average retired couple drawing Social Security last year had a total income of about $2,200, according to the Social Security Administration.

No one knows how they spent their incomes. But the Labor Department has some figures from 1950 which gives a clue.

A survey made at that time showed that the urban family headed by a person between 65 and 75—with roughly comparable income—spent its money this way:

Food and beverages—34.2 per cent; transportation—12.7 per cent; housing—12.3 per cent; clothing and clothing services—7.5 per cent; medical care—7.5 per cent; fuel, light and refrigeration—6.5 per cent; furnishings and equipment—5.7 per cent; household operation—4.5 per cent; recreation, reading and education—3.7 per cent; personal care, tobacco and miscellaneous—5.4 per cent.

One of the strangest reasons for wanting to know about social security came in this letter recently to the Social Security Administration:

"Dear Sir: It seems like we just get our card game going when someone starts in on politics or something. Lately it's been income tax and Social Security. What conditions must exist before social security can be collected and how is it figured. Please settle our argument so we can go on with our card game."

Have you wondered why the number of people over 65 has jumped from three to 15 million since 1900?

Clark Tibbitts, one of the country's experts on the subject, says there are three big reasons:

1. About half the increase is due to the rise in population—from 75 million in 1900 to 175 million now.

2. During the 1800s and early 1900s millions of immigrants poured into the United States. Coming largely as youths and young adults, they eventually became part of the middle-aged and older population. They account for about 20 per cent of the increase since 1900.

3. Improvement of the environment in terms of health accounts for most of the rest of the growth in the number of people over 65.

For example: ways of purifying milk and water were introduced, the sanitary handling of waste was mastered, vital advances in nutrition through changing eating habits were made, the infectious diseases have largely been brought under control.

Tibbitts predicts by 1975 the aged population will be nearly 21 millions.

An El Paso, Tex., woman recently notified her social security checks were mailed from New York City and asked to have them sent from somewhere else.

"Why?" she was asked.

"Well, these days are so uncertain, you never know when an atom bomb might fall on New York. I don't want to take any chances on not receiving my checks."

She got her wish.
