Leach Tot Gets Liver Transfer; May Be Medical 1st

Two-year-old Kathy Leach of Lake Orion began her trip into the annals of medical history last night when she underwent a liver transplant operation at the University of Minnesota Hospital.

The rare operation in which a healthy liver is transplanted from a child who has just died, has never been successful.

If Kathy lives, it will be a first for medicine.

Kathy survived the initial eight-hour operation but her condition was listed today as serious.

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leach of 12 Indianside, has been at the hospital since April waiting for another child to die so that she could have the operation.

She suffers from extra-hepatic biliary atresia.

Kathy stayed at the hospital because the transplant had to take place within hours after the donor died.

Kathy's grandmother, Mrs Samuel Leach Jr., 25 Detroit, Lake Orion, said she last talked to her son, a Lake Orion policeman, about 2 a.m., after the operation was completed.

KATHY

"Apparently the operation was a success because the liver was working," she said, "but she will be on the serious list for a few days.

"My daughter-in-law said the doctor told her that Kathy's liver had absolutely deteriorated."

The Leaches were informed that the operation had begun, only a few hours after they had returned home from a weekend visit with Kathy.

State police took them to the airport where they boarded a plane for a return trip to Minneapolis.

The operation was started about 5 p.m. yesterday and completed about 1 a.m. It was performed by a team of surgeons headed by Dr. Karel Absolon.

Mrs. Leach said the operation came two years almost to the day, from the time Kathy's condition was discovered.

When she was admitted to the University of Minnesota Hospital, she was given two to 12 months to live without the operation.

COULD WAIT

However, her condition didn't seem to deteriorate, and the doctor told the Leaches she could afford to wait for a perfect liver.

The operation costs about $18,000, in addition to hospital expenses, most of which will be covered by donations from groups and individuals, not only from the immediate area but from throughout the country.

It is also costing about $400 to $500 per day to provide Kathy with intensive care for the first few days after the operation.

All 20 Guilty in Steren Case

MANISTEE (AP)—All 20 defendants in the Steren Assembly Club gambling case were convicted last night by a jury which had deliberated for some 10 hours.

The 20, among those arrested in an October 1963 State Police raid on the Madison Heights establishment, had been charged with violating and conspiring to violate state gambling laws.

Shortly before the verdict, the chief prosecutor, James Finn, charged that his star witness—police spy Peggy Allen—had been intimidated by several state officials, including two now in the legislature. Finn did not name them.

The defendants face maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fines on the conspiracy counts and of $500 fines for violating gambling laws.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick Ziem set sentencing for Sept. 10 in Pontiac. Bond was continued at $1,000.

Finn, of the Oakland County prosecutor's staff, said he may reveal the names of the men who allegedly harassed Miss Allen. "I'll have to take it up with my office first," he said.

UNDER PRESSURE

County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said he had been aware the 29-year-old former stenographer was "under a good deal of pressure," but he declined to elaborate.

Miss Allen, the state's main witness, testified she had gone to the club shortly before the raid, carrying $200 in marked money given her by State Police, with which she was to place bets.

On the stand, she identified all 20 defendants as men she had seen in the club.

The woman said harassment by state officials included threats to blackball her from jobs and to ruin her reputation. She said she and her family received threatening and abusive calls.

BRONSON PLEASED

Bronson said he was "most pleased with the outcome" of the trial.

The conviction, he said, also fulfilled his election campaign pledge.

"We promised to vigorously attack organized crime in Oakland County," said Bronson. "We made good the pledge.

"We cannot allow organized crime to seek a sanctuary in suburban areas."

Another 25 persons were arrested in the raid and charged with frequenting a gambling establishment still face trial.

The raid on the Steren Club followed a 10-year investigation headed by then-State Police Capt. Frederick Davids, now Michigan State Police commissioner.

The trial was moved to Manistee on motion of defense attorney Clinton Roeser, who argued that publicity attending the raid and later legal moves made a fair trial in Oakland County unlikely.

Romney to Talk to Star Witness

Reported Pressure Said Reprehensible

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney said today he would talk with the star witness in the Steren Assembly gambling conspiracy trial concerning charges that state officials pressured her.

The governor praised former legislative stenographer Margaret (Peggy) Allen for her role as a state police spy in the Steren Assembly Club gambling conspiracy trial.

But he termed "reprehensible" reported pressure on the pretty 29-year-old brunette by state officials.

Romney said in a news conference that "I expect to convey to her my admiration for her part in law enforcement. It is an excellent example of the type of action that is needed in the part of citizens."

Prosecutor James Finn said at the conclusion of the trial in Manistee yesterday that Miss Allen had been pressured by state officials — "two of whom are now in the legislature."

Miss Allen said she was not rehired as a stenographer by state Democrats and that she was threatened with being blackballed and having her reputation ruined.

DEFEND OUTPOST — Staff Sgt. City Acts on 2 Rezoning Bids

The Pontiac City Commission last night gave tentative approval and final approval to two rezoning requests for major housing and commercial projects proposed by Waterford Township developer Charles L. Langs.

The commission's tentative okay was for a change from Manufacturing-1 to Residential-3 on a 30-acre tract of land across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The action reversed a recommendation by the city's planning commission.

In a separate move, final approval was given Langs on rezoning for a proposed $15 million development located south of Auburn near the site of the proposed new osteopathic college.

On the site near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Langs plans to construct a 263-unit apartment complex.

The planning commission turned down the request for rezoning because, they said, there was not adequate school facilities for the children which will be generated by the project.

CHILDREN

In the early stages of planning it was believed by school officials that up to 150 children might be among the residents in the development.

Last night Langs told the commission that this projection was far too high, and on the basis of the 86 units which have already been spoken for, there will probably be no more than 20 school age children in the entire 263-unit complex.

He also told the commission that a two-acre site had been set aside for a school, should the school board want to use it.

It was at this point that Commissioner T. Warren Fowler assailed the developer. Fowler cast the only vote against the rezoning.

MAKES CHARGES

Fowler, the city's only Negro commissioner, charged that "this will undoubtedly be an all-white project; no Negroes will be allowed."

Fowler then charged that Langs had refused to sell a unit to two Negro girls who attempted to get a residence at the Townhouse Apartments on Pike, another Langs' development.

After Fowler had finished, Langs said that he resented the charge that he would not sell to a Negro family.

He was painting the trim on the uppermost part of the rear of the building when he fell from a ladder (upper right). He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Troops Arrive at Camp After 3-Day Battle

Fight Through Cong Ambushes in Effort to Break Siege Lines

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military sources in Pleiku reported a large Vietnamese relief force reached the besieged special forces camp at Duc Co tonight with little resistance from the Viet Cong.

A two-mile convoy of infantry and armored detachments had been fighting its way westward for three days through guerrilla ambushes and roadblocks in an effort to break the siege lines that have ringed Duc Co since June 3.

How many of these troops may have been involved in the final push was not disclosed.

But at the last previous report all were within six miles of their goal, a western outpost 220 miles northeast of Saigon on a strategic cross-country highway.

The highway, Route 19, runs through the central highlands from the supply port of Qui Nhon on the South China Sea, to the Cambodian frontier at a point five miles west of Duc Co.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett in Pleiku said that, despite the troops' closing push, the siege persisted.

The Viet Cong were reported to have moved in behind the relief force and again cut Route 19, the only land route to government-held territory, in several places.

Both government forces and the Viet Cong have suffered heavy casualties in the fighting in and around Duc Co, whose neighboring villages are all flying Viet Cong flags.

Housing Post OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today the bill to create an 11th Cabinet department — Housing and Urban Development — to deal with the problems of the nation's cities.

The measure, debated for 10 years in Congress and on President Johnson's list of priority measures, was sent to conference with the House which passed it 217-184 June 16 in different form.

The framework of both versions is the same. Senate sponsors said they expected little difficulty in working out a compromise.

The legislation essentially would upgrade the Housing and Home Finance Agency with its 13,500 employes, to Cabinet status.

HHFA originally was set up to handle the government's housing programs.

But in recent years it has taken on other functions including mass transit subsidies, open space grants, urban planning, college dormitory loans and grants for public facilities including sewage and water plants.

PRESENT HEAD

The present head of HHFA, Robert C. Weaver, New York Negro, is considered a prime possibility to become the secretary in the new department.

'Viet Won't Halt N-Pact'

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Semyon K. Tsarapkin said today the Soviet Union is prepared to sign a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons regardless of the Viet Nam war.

Tsarapkin, head of the Soviet delegation at the 17-nation disarmament conference, told a press luncheon the war remains an obstacle in the negotiations.

But he stressed that the Soviet Union would sign a nuclear nondissemination treaty at any time, provided the treaty explicitly bars West Germany from direct or indirect access to nuclear weapons.

He said the Western powers are suggesting a treaty which would bar access to nuclear weapons for all nonnuclear powers — with one exception, West Germany.

Officials Probe Titan Tragedy

Safety Device Failed; 53 Workers Killed

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Deep in an underground silo sheathing a Titan 2 missile, something went awry with the safety devices.

An explosion and flames thundered through the "gun barrel" of the missile complex Monday afternoon, killing 53 civilian workers.

"These things are not supposed to happen," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base, headquarters for the 18 missile sites in this region.

"We have many safety features, but the fact that it did happen contradicts these safety factors."

Heading an Air Force investigation ordered by President Johnson is Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert.

REMOVE BODIES

An Air Force investigation team also is continuing its probe, begun after about 100 rescue workers finished the task of removing bodies from the smoke-filled 155-foot-deep silo.

There were only two survivors of the blast and flash fire which apparently erupted somewhere on or around the second or third levels of the nine-level complex where the workmen were renovating the site.

The missile, loaded with liquid fuel, was in the silo but did not burn.

There was no danger of a nuclear explosion, Wood said, because the warhead had been removed while the construction crew was working on the complex.

The Titan 2 is America's mightiest ballistic missile.

BOUND FOR COMPOUND—Federal officials say Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobster fisherman, told them he shot the captain and four crewmen of the cargo ship Seven Seas during an argument over Fidel Castro Sunday night. Ramirez is shown being taken to an Immigration Department detention compound in Key West, Fla., last night.

Clinton D. Reed, 36, of 5964 Dvorak was dead on arrival at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital about one-half hour after he fell from the top of a two-story building.

According to witnesses and coworkers of the Naegele Outdoor Advertising Company, Inc., of Detroit, the accident occurred when Reed leaned against a metal bar attached to the sign.

The bar gave way, they told Detroit police, causing Reed to lose his balance and fall to the ground.

A hearing was scheduled today by the Wayne County medical examiner.

Canadians, Russians Close Big Wheat Deal

WINNIPEG (UPI)—Canada has completed a deal to sell Russia 187 million bushels of wheat, Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp announced today.

Avalanche in Chile Kills 5; 2 From U. S.

PORTILLO, Chile (AP) — An avalanche roared down on a lodge at this Andes ski resort early today, killing five persons, including two U.S. citizens and a Canadian.

Jurisdiction, Missing Cook Still Sea Murder Mysteries

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Seven Seas, a swaybacked old banana boat whose last cargo was murder, has been unburdened by one mystery.

But two others remain: Who has jurisdiction in the case, and what happened to the ship's cook?

Federal authorities said a crewman picked up Tuesday in the Gulf Stream in the Seven Seas' skiff told them he shot the captain and four shipmates after an argument with the skipper about Fidel Castro.

The man, Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobsterman, told officials he had defended the Cuban leader and that Capt. Rogelio Diaz threatened to turn him over to anti-Castro refugees when the Seven Seas reached Tampa, where it was headed for repairs after leaving Miami.

'ME OR THEM'

It was either "me or them," officials quoted Ramirez as saying. They said he told them he shot the captain and stalked aft to shoot four other shipmates one by one as the vessel chugged southward Saturday night. Three were killed as they slept.

Ramirez said he threw the body of the captain and another shipmate overboard and then left the ship in the 14-foot aluminum skiff. He was found by a German freighter about 60 miles south of here drifting in the skiff, a 38-caliber pistol in his belt with a baby-food jar full of spare bullets. Fired shells of similar caliber were found on the Seven Seas.

Ramirez was brought to Miami in custody of U.S. immigration authorities where one of the mysteries remained unresolved: Who has jurisdiction. Charges will await that determination.

If it is decided the Seven Seas, registered under the Panamanian flag, was within the three-mile U.S. continental limit, Florida probably will have jurisdiction. If the slayings occurred outside the limit, either Panama or the United States could prosecute, as the Seven Seas is American owned.

STILL MISSING

Still missing is the ship's cook, Gerald Davison. Authorities said Ramirez told them he had not shot him.

The Seven Seas seemed almost a recreation of a grade B South Pacific thriller when she was spotted Sunday, a drifting derelict. Years ago a graceful schooner, her masts had long since been taken out and replaced by a crude superstructure. Her port holes were sealed, her steel hull caked with gray paint.

Coast Guardsmen found two bodies in bunks in the crew's quarters and a third body on deck. A track of blood led from the pilot house to the railing.

A 17-year-old Honduran crewman, Elvin Burywaise, who said he had seen one of the shootings, was found in the stifling darkness of the vessel's anchor chain locker where he had cowered for 16 hours. The seaman said the ship apparently had been headed toward Cuba after the shootings until the diesel engine stopped.

Would U.S. Nix S. Viet Request?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department today denied reports that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told a Senate group that U. S. troops would stay in Viet Nam even if a South Vietnamese government asked them to leave.

Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey told a news conference: "My information is that Ambassador Lodge did not say that."

McCloskey added that he had talked with Lodge and the ambassador denied having made the remark.

McCloskey declined to say exactly what Lodge told members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when asked what the United States would do if South Viet Nam asked American forces to withdraw.

Asked what the State Department's answer to this question was, McCloskey said: "This would be a hypothetical contingency with little reality in it. I find it too speculative to even discuss and, further, I see no prospect that any such contingency would arise."

SEES NO CHANGE

McCloskey said there was no change in the long-standing U. S. position that U. S. forces operate in South Viet Nam at the request of the Saigon government.

An informed source said Lodge gave an affirmative answer when the question was raised by a senator during a July 27 closed hearing on his nomination as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

One senator said the first time Lodge was asked the question he shook his head "as if he didn't want to answer."

But when it was raised again later, after a number of senators had left the hearing, he was said to have replied affirmatively.

'SPECIFIC FORM'

"I don't think the issue will be faced in a very specific form," a senator commented. "It's unlikely that we'd recognize any government that would do that."

The State Department's immediate reaction to the report was neither direct confirmation nor denial.

A department spokesman said he had found no evidence so far that Lodge made the statement, but the spokesman did not flatly rule out the possibility.

Osteopath College Aid Hearing Slated

A joint legislative committee is scheduled to come to Pontiac Sept. 8 for a hearing on a request for state financial aid for the planned Michigan Osteopathic College to be located here.

The legislators are to meet with city officials and osteopaths at the Holiday Inn for an afternoon and evening series of conferences.

At one point during the hearing, the legislators are slated to visit the proposed college site at Auburn and Opdyke.

A request has been made to the state for financial assistance in operating the school.

Pontiac Motor Layoffs Begun

Unemployment Claims Are Being Processed

The seasonal layoffs for model changeovers and inventories have begun at Pontiac Motor Division, where the fabricating plant has closed down.

The fabricating plant closed Friday, affecting nearly 7,800 employes. The closing down of the engine plant will affect another estimated 2,400.

Final assembly plant production will cease for the 1965 Pontiac models on Aug. 19. This affects approximately 2,700 employes, according to Theodore B. Bloom, director of personnel for Pontiac Motors.

GMC Truck & Coach Division will close Friday for inventory. They will begin their call-backs and reopen Aug. 30, according to present plans.

The Fisher Body Plant will close its final assembly the same day as Pontiac's, Aug. 19. They will start on new models around Sept. 1. However, call-backs will be gradual.

1966 MODELS

Pontiac Motor Division plans to begin production on its 1966 models Sept. 13. Call-backs are expected Aug. 27.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission has again arranged for the use of union halls for the processing of claims during this annual layoff period.

Operations by MESC personnel were started at the Pontiac Motor UAW Local No. 653 Hall Aug. 2, according to C. H. Lown, unemployment claims manager of MESC.

Next Monday, MESC will start operations at the Fisher Body Plant UAW Local No. 596 and at GMC Truck and Coach UAW Local No. 594.

REGULAR DAYS

All GM employes will be expected to file their unemployment claims on their regular "hit" days at their respective local halls.

A "hit" day depends upon the last digit of the social security number. Zero and one numbers are Mondays; 2 and 3 Tuesdays; 4 and 5 numbers Wednesdays; 6 and 7 Thursdays; and 8 and 9, Fridays.

GM has requested that the MESC waive the registration for work and seeking work requirement of the act for the period of the shutdown.

The Pontiac office of MESC services all of Oakland County, north of the Fourteen Mile Road. It is anticipated that the peak claims will be around 13,000 according to Lown.

FILE ANYWHERE

Claimants who plan on leaving the Pontiac area may file claims anywhere in the United States or Canada and have them sent to the Pontiac office for processing.

However, the MESC office advises that it would be to their advantage if they filed their claims in Pontiac before leaving and informed the local office of their intent of leaving the area.

Lown also pointed out that the waiver of the registration and seeking work provisions of the act does not relieve the claimant of the responsibility of keeping available for recall to his customary employment.

Birmingham Area News

Assurance on Parking Boosts Development

BIRMINGHAM — A multimillion-dollar development proposed for the downtown business district has moved nearer to becoming a reality with the removal of a major obstacle by the City Commission.

The problem was solved when commissioners assured the potential developer that the city would lease parking facilities for tenants of the building.

The estimated $3-million structure, which would contain both businesses and apartments, is being considered for the northwest corner of Woodward and Merrill.

In a resolution adopted Monday, the commission pledged the use of 75 parking spaces in the municipal parking lot across the street from the site of the proposed building.

The developer, a Detroit contractor who requested that his name not be revealed at this time, said that there are still details to be worked out, "but now we can move in a forward direction."

STUMBLING BLOCKS

Zoning and parking were two stumbling blocks facing the project, he said.

The property was made financially more attractive last month when the commission amended the zoning code to allow apartments to be built over commercial establishments in the downtown area.

The B. F. Goodrich Co., which owns the site, had planned to build a retail tire outlet on the property, but was discouraged by civic leaders and businessmen who felt that this type of store shouldn't be situated in downtown Birmingham.

The tire company said it would consider selling the property if a buyer could be found in 60 days.

OFFER TAKEN

The prospective developer said that his offer to purchase the property has been accepted and negotiations are continuing.

The new zoning permits two lower floors of businesses and up to four floors of residences.

Between 50 and 60 apartments are being considered for the proposed development, according to the developer.

Atlas Rocket Test Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Atlas-Centaur rocket scored a much needed test flight success today and hurled a dummy payload toward a make-believe moon in a crucial rehearsal for an attempt late this year to soft land instruments on the lunar surface.

The powerful rocket, which was in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration doghouse because of repeated test failures, thundered away from Cape Kennedy right on schedule at 9:31 a.m. EST on the start of the "paper moon" shot.

The flight control center reported 50 minutes later that the rocket had performed as planned and drilled the metal model of the project surveyor moonship onto the desired course at a speed of about 23,700 miles an hour.

An announcement said several hours might be required to determine the precise path but that tracking data indicated the rocket was right on the money.

GM Cleared in $400,000 Fatality Suit

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — General Motors has been cleared of responsibility for the performance of a 1960 rear-engine Corvair involved three years ago in a double highway fatality.

After a 10-week trial, a Santa Clara County Superior Court jury returned an 11-1 verdict yesterday in favor of the defendant, General Motors, the world's largest car manufacturer.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Doreen Collins of San Jose, Calif., sought $400,000.

She contended a 1960 Corvair was faulty and caused an accident which resulted in the deaths of her daughter, Lorraine, 7, and her fiance, John H. Taylor, 38, also of San Jose.

Mrs. Collins, 39, charged that "defective design" of the Corvair's rear-swing axle caused it to go out of control and collide with a 16-ton truck Sept. 13, 1962, near Merced, Calif.

Stirling Moss, British racing ace, testified for the car's safety.

Tentative OK Is Given on Rezoning Bid

funds for the project," Langs said.

SALES

The developer then told Fowler that he had nothing at all to do with the sales of the units.

"I couldn't sell one to you or anyone. Sales are handled by a separate company, a Negro company which is trying to get Negroes into these developments," Langs said.

The developer said that there were Negroes living in the Townhouse development.

After the Fowler-Langs exchange, the commission voted six to one to approve the rezoning.

Commissioners indicated that the change in projected number of school age children was a factor in overturning the planning commission recommendation.

Commissioners also stated that schooling for the children in the complex was a matter for the school board to worry about.

"We have enough problems of our own," one commissioner commented.

SHOPPING CENTER

The other rezoning question was in connection with a 90-acre site on which Langs plans to construct a multiple housing-shopping center complex.

The "planned unit" project will consist of several different types of housing. A total of 800 to 1,000 living units is estimated.

These would be single family dwellings, apartment units and townhouse-type buildings.

3 States Examine U.S. Suits to Abolish Poll Tax

By The Associated Press

Officials of Texas, Virginia and Alabama were examining government suits to abolish the poll tax today to determine what action to take.

In Texas, President Johnson's home state, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he would file an answer after the necessary study and preparation.

See Stories, Page B-6

Similar reactions were expressed in Virginia and Alabama.

The suits were filed by the Justice Department Tuesday, the same day federal examiners began registering Negroes to vote in nine Southern counties and parishes in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

1,144 REGISTERED

A Civil Service Commission spokesman in Washington said that 1,144 Negroes registered to vote on the first day of federally supervised registration under the 1965 voting rights law.

Both the registration and the suits to abolish the poll tax are designed to make it easier for Negroes to vote.

At Austin, Tex., two federal attorneys delivered to the federal district court clerk a petition signed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach charging the 63-year-old poll tax requirement served only to limit voting rights, particularly those of Negroes.

Both Carr and Gov. John B. Connally said they wanted to study the petition before commenting.

DEFEND LAWS

Carr said last week, "It's my duty to defend the laws of Texas, and in the event the U.S. attorney general challenges their validity we will meet him in the courtroom."

Virginia officials generally had little to say after a similar suit was filed at Richmond. It claimed the $1.50-per-year tax was designed solely to restrict the electorate, particularly Negro voters.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. said recently the poll tax kept Virginia's elections clean by making sure only bona fide residents voted, and that a substitute would have to be found if the poll tax was struck down. "When the people of Virginia want to repeal it, they have the right," he said.

ISSUES STATEMENT

The Rev. Milton A. Reid, a Virginia regional representative for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, issued this statement:

"We feel that it is just a matter of time now before the poll tax will be a thing of the past. The court suit is just a method for President Johnson to get across his program without having Congress assume the role of the federal courts."

Gov. George C. Wallace had no immediate comment after the filing of a suit in Montgomery, Ala. Other sources also were unavailable for comment and Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers was out of town. Alabama's poll tax is $1.50 per year and retroactive for two years.

Martha Witt Smith, an Alabama authority on voter registration, termed utterly ridiculous the Justice Department claim the poll tax was designed to disfranchise Negroes.

On Viet Nam Policies

LBJ Briefings Fail to Silence Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's briefings have not silenced all congressional critics of his Viet Nam policies, but the White House cites understanding with the legislative branch as one reason for cautious optimism.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., termed the sessions of lawmakers with the President and top officials an "exhibition of how the unpleasant can be evaded and the failures ignored." He said if efforts by United Nations Secretary General U Thant do not succeed by next year, "the United States will be placed on a war footing entirely comparable to that of the Korean War."

Morse spoke in the Senate Tuesday, a day which saw two briefings at the White House for House members, with a third scheduled today.

The Senate Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, told a news conference he is satisfied Congress "is in substantial agreement with the President's policy."

Hawaii, said in a speech to an International Air Cadet dinner the bombing of North Viet Nam is necessary "because the Communists are forcing our hand — because they intend to take over South Viet Nam and make this an example for the rest of Southeast Asia."

House leaders expressed cautious optimism after Tuesday's briefing, and later White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked the basis for it.

He said understanding between the executive and legislative branches is helpful, reports have come through of increased Viet Cong losses and there is a feeling of general support in the country. But he said Johnson is not speaking glowingly of the situation at the briefings.

GOP Fete in Lansing

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Republicans disclosed plans Tuesday for a $50-a-plate fund raising dinner to be held here Sept. 13. Gov. George Romney and House Minority Leader Gerald Ford, R-Mich., are expected to attend.

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)— Max Conrad, the "flying grandfather" whose log book includes a long list of flying records and honors, arrived here yesterday for the International flying farmers convention.

HAAS HEIFER WINNER — Richard Theriot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Theriot of 7510 Oakhill, Brandon Township, was all smiles last night when he received the Winifred Haas Memorial Heifer from Bill Eastham, assistant city editor of The Pontiac Press. Theriot was chosen the winner from a field of four applicants by a committee of 4-H leaders.

Judging, Awards Open 4-H Fair

Crowds of 4-H'ers and spectators flocked to the opening day activities of the Oakland County 4-H Fair yesterday while judges awarded ribbons in seven categories.

Projects appraised were those dealing with photography, flowers, vegetables, general exhibits, poultry, rabbits and home economics, except clothing.

The threat of rain was never fulfilled at the fairgrounds at Perry and Walton. The skies were clear by evening, when a new 4-H king and queen were crowned.

Named as the fair's royalty were Jeree Bachelor of the Hi-Lo Club and Jim Smith of Nu-Ly-Wix.

Both veteran 4-H'ers, the king and queen were picked from six contestants.

PARENTS

Jeree, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bachelor, 24602 Orchard Lake, Farmington Township.

A senior at Farmington High School, she was president of her 4-H club last year.

At the fair this year, she has entries in the wild flower, junior leadership, cake decorating and action exhibit categories.

HELD OFFICES

After working his way through all offices in the Nu-Ly-Wix Club, Jim now is president of the Oakland County 4-H Service Club.

Son of the Philip Smiths, 28318 Dixboro, Lyon Township, Jim will be a freshman this fall at the University of Montana, where he will major in business.

During his 4-H career, he has concentrated on beef projects and this year has an entry in that category.

The new king and queen were crowned by last year's royalty, Tim Phillips and Janet Lessiter, both of the East Orion 4-H Club.

JUDGES

Tim and Janet helped in the selection of the new king and queen, working with Shirley Toles, Macomb County summer 4-H agent, and Harry J. Reed, managing editor of The Pontiac Press.

Also picked last night were winners of the annual freckle contest sponsored by The Pontiac Press.

Those chosen for their preponderance of freckles were Shelle Hatley, 7, and 10-year-old William G. Libby Jr.

Shelle's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hatley, 2933 Glenbroke, Keego Harbor. Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Libby Sr., 5334 Clinton River, Waterford Township.

PRIZES

Their prizes were $25 U.S. savings bonds.

Judges for the contest were Marshall Mohney, director of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; William K. Hanger, Pontiac police chief; and Pat McCarty, Pontiac Press reporter.

The Winifred Haas Memorial Heifer was presented to Richard Theriot, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Theriot of 7510 Oakhill, Brandon Township.

A members of the Oak Hill Club and a veteran of four years in 4-H, Theriot was chosen to receive the 2-month-old registered Holstein calf by a committee of 4-H leaders.

THIRD GENERATION

The calf is the third generation offspring of a heifer presented in 1961 by the late Joe Haas, Pontiac Press columnist, in memory of his deceased wife.

Theriot was chosen from a field of four applicants for the award.

Mining Opposed Zoning Decision Due Sept. 14

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night postponed its decision on a rezoning request until the next regular meeting Sept. 14.

A letter from a representative of Cooper Supply Co. of Detroit, which wants to rezone a section of the township to allow sand and gravel mining, asked that the board "weigh all the facts" before making a decision.

There have already been two recommendations against the rezoning, one from the township zoning committee and one from the Oakland County Coordinating, Zoning and Planning committee, which disapproved the request two weeks ago because it did not have enough material to act on.

Neither recommendation is binding on the Township Board.

Cooper Supply wants the northeast sector of the township at Inwood and Hixon rezoned to permit sand and gravel mining. At present, the zoning ordinance does not provide a designation for this type of operation.

RESIDENTS OPPOSED

Township residents opposed to the gravel mining formed the Oakland Township Association to fight the change. Donald Oselette, president of the group, said that at this point "there is nothing more we can do."

"We have made all our presentations at the proper places," he said, "so now it's up to the Township Board."

The opposition to the gravel mining claims that not only will it destroy the value and beauty of the land but will also present a danger, particularly to the children who play and travel to school in the area.

Cooper representatives claim that a greenbelt will hide the pits and that there will be no truck traffic through the township. Oselette takes exception to the last point claiming he doesn't see how Cooper trucks can avoid using the township roads and that they will have to be reinforced at the taxpayers expense.

Both sides have indicated they will go to court if necessary.

School Budget Airing Tonight

NOVI — The board of education will hold a public hearing tonight on a proposed $458,844 operating budget for 1965-66.

The figure represents a $33,000 jump over last year's costs and reflects teachers' salary increases and expansion of the academic program.

School trustees will set the new tax rate at the 8 p.m. hearing. The Oakland County Tax Allocation Board has given them authority to levy up to 8.65 mills.

In addition, 10 mills have been voted extra for operation. The debt retirement levy last year was 7 mills.

With a salary schedule improved last year, teachers are expected to take home a total of $212,500 this year, compared to $205,000 last year.

ADMINISTRATORS

The two elementary school principals will work as fulltime administrators, adding another $8,000 to the budget.

The district also has hired a fulltime helping teacher, raising costs in that department by $4,000.

Vocal music was added to the fourth, fifth and sixth grade curriculum. Expansion of that program will cost an estimated $2,835.

Village Police Chief Resigns; Patrolman Named as Successor

WOLVERINE LAKE — Glenn E. Smith has resigned as chief of the village police department with Clarence Willett named as his successor.

The resignation and appointment will become effective Sunday.

Citing financial reasons for leaving his $6,200-a-year job, Smith announced he has accepted a position with Charlebois and Smith, a Kalamazoo construction company.

The 48-year-old chief quit in the middle of his eighth year with the village police force.

President of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association in 1964, Smith currently is serving as secretary of the organization.

BOARD MEMBER

He is on the board of directors of the Michigan-Ontario Juvenile Officers Association and a past president of Waterford Eagles Lodge No. 2887.

Smith, his wife and their four children live at 920 Penny Lake but plan to move to Kalamazoo.

Willett was appointed acting chief of the three-man department for a six-month probationary period. The Village Council also plans to hire a new officer.

Willett, 44, joined the department as an auxiliary officer seven years ago and became a full-time patrolman in 1961.

The Willetts and their daughter live at 757 Brushwood.

School Head Leaving Novi in September

NOVI — After four years as schools superintendent, Thomas Culbert is leaving Novi.

The 41-year-old administrator will leave Sept. 1 to become head of the school system in Manistee.

Culbert termed the move a "professional advancement."

The Manistee district, he noted, has 2,500 students compared to Novi's 1,500.

The Novi Board of Education will solicit applications for the vacant post until Aug. 31.

3 PRINCIPALS

If a superintendent is not hired immediately, the district's three principals will act as an administrative team during the interim, Culbert said.

Culbert, his wife and their four children live at 44145 Marlson.

He is a member of the Novi Rotary Club, the Michigan Education Association and the Michigan and national associations of school administrators.

Most Great Lakes Likely to Stay Above '64 Lows

DETROIT (AP) — The Great Lakes, continuing below average levels for both the last 10- and 105-year spans, are expected to begin their usual fall decline this month—and to keep on going down for the next six months.

But the Corps of Army Engineers said all, except Superior, are expected to stay above 1964 low marks through next January.

At the end of July the engineers said Lakes Huron and Michigan were about nine inches above levels of the same time a year earlier. Erie was two inches higher, and Ontario about an inch. Superior was reported down about three inches.

Huron and Michigan, connected by the Straits of Mackinac, set all-time lows last year. They were about 1.4 feet at the end of July from the lows set in March and April of 1964.

Army engineers do not forecast levels beyond six months ahead, but the lakes normally begin rising in spring.

All currently are above the so - called Low Water Datum Line, except Michigan and Huron, which were level with it at the end of July.

It is from this arbitrary line above sea level that channel depths are dredged, so each inch above it adds that much additional clearance for vessels, and vice versa.

In other words, ships currently can be loaded to drafts beyond channel depths except on Huron and Michigan.

* * *

All are expected to be below the line by January, but before then ice will have ended shipping on them.

The Specter of Hunger Haunts India's Hordes

Prime Minister LAL BAHADUR SHASTRI is in many respects a typical citizen of India. In one prime consideration he is most typical: he is the father of six children, exactly meeting the national average.

Until recently, SHASTRI refused to endorse birth control. Government support for family planning has amounted to only a fraction of the level called for in the third five-year plan. With a population of about 480 million, India is menaced by a population growth that greatly complicates a serious food shortage.

The prime minister made a portentous about-face in a recent broadcast to the nation. Every year, he said, 12 million hungry mouths are added to the country's population while food production remains stagnant. Warning his people to be prepared for "greater discipline and hardship," Shastri at long last came out for intensive birth control.

As many as 1,800 family planning clinics were in operation in 1961 and a goal of 8,200 clinics was set for 1966. But the magnitude of the task dwarfs efforts made to date. A poll taken in 1962 indicated that only one-half of 1 per cent of the people had ever heard of birth control.

The United States has been shipping to India 600,000 tons of wheat a month. Even this has not been enough to feed the people or to forestall food riots. The great hope of India's children and her yet unborn generations must be that India's political leaders, starting with Premier SHASTRI, are serious in their birth control turnabout.

By Giving Rivals Lift Railways Help Selves

Despite its inelegant name, piggyback is highballing into an important position in our transportation picture.

In fact, this business of hoisting truck trailers onto a flat car and moving them by rail rather than road is headed for its first million-carload year.

Booming dynamite in tunnels under reconstruction, track crews lowering the right-of-way or raising bridges around the country, indicate the railroads' haste to seize on this new hope for their threatened industry. Outsized loads make these changes necessary.

Those vacationing by auto can savor another aspect of the change as they spin along. In 1964, about a million and three-quarter trailers took their journeys by rail, leaving that much more room on our already brimming highways.

This is but another evidence of American resourcefulness by which an industry takes its competition for a ride.

Annual Yearling Sale Is Owners' Big Gamble

Horse racing fans should be interested to note that at the Saratoga yearling auction now going on, Carry Back, who won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, will be represented by a couple of colts and a filly.

This is the 45th annual yearling auction at Saratoga which happens to also be a top social event in the East. The event runs four evenings, with 245 yearlings to be put on the block. To see and be seen at the Spa, many of the visitors will spend mornings inspecting the horses consigned for sale.

It is often said that these evening auctions are "the biggest gamble of horse business." They can also be hypnotic. And precarious — raise your hand to smooth an eyebrow and you may find you've bought a two-year-old.

Saratoga was not the first but is now the oldest track for thoroughbred racing in the country. It celebrated 100 years of racing two years ago. War and adverse legislation, however, broke the continuity. Although racing began in 1863, this is only the 97th season.

Many of the old hotels are gone, giving way to supermarkets and motels which charge Miami Beach prices. But Saratoga is still known as the "owners' meeting," where men who love racing — and can afford to—will bring generally better than average horses to run for generally cheaper than average purses.

GOP Looking Like a Nonparty

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Republicans in Congress are beginning to look like a nonparty, thanks to their own lack of direction, the weight of President Johnson's performance and the huge Democratic majority.

MARLOW

But even countrywide they haven't recovered yet from the divisions which plagued them in 1964 and the political catastrophe that overwhelmed them in November.

It left them with only 141 of 435 seats in the House, 32 of 100 seats in the Senate, and 17 of 50 governorships. At this moment, there's no reason to think they will improve their fortunes much in the 1966 elections.

After the GOP National Committee met two days this summer, the chairman, Ray C. Bliss, said the members were "not cocky" about the party's chances "but we honestly believe we can make gains."

Party leaders have been worried that a sprawl of independent research and campaign groups will cloud party policy and splinter financing in the 1966 elections.

SPLIT OVER MEDICARE

In both houses, Republicans split almost in half on the medicare bill while on the 1965 Voting Rights Act, the great majority of Republicans in both houses voted for it.

And Johnson still has pretty much full support for his foreign policies even though there are some misgivings about the involvement in Viet Nam and where it may lead.

At this moment, looking ahead to the 1968 presidential race, no single Republican is a standout for the nomination, although the next three years might produce one.

Barry Goldwater, after what happened to him last year, is out of presidential consideration; he intends to run for the Senate in 1968. And not one of his top men who ran the show in 1964 retains a commanding party position.

STILL STRONG FORCE

Nevertheless, conservative Republicans who think like Goldwater are a strong force in the party. They were a decisive force in 1964 and may be again.

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who tried hard last year for the Republican presidential nomination only to be flattened by the Goldwaterites, says now he definitely will not try again. He wants a third term as governor.

But even in this there are New York Republicans who oppose him.

'Don't Stub Your Toe Or He'll Claim Police Brutality'

David Lawrence Says:

Few in House Studied Vote Bill

WASHINGTON — Plenty of publicity was given in the press and over radio and television to the signing of the new voting rights bill by President Johnson. But it may come as a surprise to most people to discover that, of the 407 members of the House of Representatives who voted on the measure, very few had enough time to study thoroughly the text of the bill on which they were voting.

LAWRENCE

How can democracy work effectively if members of the national legislature do not read the bills on which they have a duty to vote?

The voting rights bill was approved by a recorded vote of 328 yeas and 74 nays Aug. 3.

Copies of the conference report of more than 8,000 words, containing the text of the bill — some sections of which had been rewritten, revised or changed — could hardly have been examined intensively or read thoroughly by many members of the House of Representatives between the time copies reached them and the hour for voting.

The Senate-House Conference Committee, which had studied the different versions of the House and Senate bills, agreed upon its report July 29.

Except, however, for some rephrasing of hitherto disputed points, the agreement was not then even in written form. Staff people of the Senate and House worked on the report the following weekend.

FILE REPORT

On Aug. 2, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee obtained permission from the presiding officer of the House to file the report for printing.

He had until midnight Aug. 2, to prepare the report for the printers. It was inserted in "The Congressional Record," which, though dated Aug. 2, was not available, as is the custom, to readers at the Capitol or elsewhere until the next day.

So, on Aug. 3, members of the House were given their copies of "The Record" which contained the conference report. The voting on the bill by the House took place in the early afternoon of that day. The House disposed of the bill that same day after only 53 minutes of actual debate, and the Senate put it through with less than a half hour of debate on Aug. 4.

Now, the real question is: How many members of the House of Representatives or the Senate actually read the measure? The conference report included many important changes.

Constitutional government can certainly not be made effective if members of Congress do not read the laws they are passing.

In Italy, on the other hand, there has been a cascade of second thoughts about Mussolini.

Reach anywhere into an Italian magazine stand today and you can pick up a learned tract stating in effect that Il Duce did a lot of good for the motherland and fie on the dastards who plugged him and his girl so vilely and strung them by their heels.

CONSIDINE

Now we have a kind word for Adolf Hitler as expressed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky at a time — not so long ago — when he was commander of South Viet Nam's air force.

An official version of what the dapper little airman really meant when he said Hitler couldn't have been all bad has been released by the Saigon government.

"It goes without saying that Vice Marshal Ky's admiration does not go to Hitler the dictator, warmonger and Nazi, but rather to the leader who in the 1930's, by sheer energy and dynamism was able to build the unity of Germany, a country then divided.

ENERGY, DYNAMISM

"Viewed from this angle, one would not hesitate to wish Viet Nam to be headed by a leader endowed with the energy and dynamism of the Hitler of the beginning of Germany's renaissance.

"To admire certain successful achievements of a man does not necessarily mean that one should take a leaf out of his book."

Of course, he was picking on Jews and other minorities at the time he was "uniting" Germany, but that doesn't seem to worry N. C. Ky.

On the other hand, the superb young leader of the free world who was mowed down in Dallas in one of history's most senseless assassinations, the man who breathed youth back into our world, who faced up to Khrushchev and the imminent threat of nuclear war, is now better known as a callow second guesser who griped about his secretary of state, a fellow who had only contempt for his honorable opponents, and a scatterbrain who never knew where he left his briefcase.

Tempus certainly does fugit.

Mother Asks Questions About Freedom and War

Mr. Lyndon B. Johnson, what right did you have to take away our right to work, just because you felt you owed the unions of this country a debt for your election? You are guilty of taking away our freedom here in the United States, so why send our boys to die for it in Viet Nam? Did you forget that in your campaign promises you were supposed to keep us out of war?

This girl, in spite of threats and persecution, has made an effort to rid our country of one phase of crime. Many so-called citizens who refuse to get involved should be ashamed to be shown up by this brave and conscientious girl.

Reader Doesn't Want to Be Union Member

In regard to the repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, there's a point that unions choose to ignore. Some people don't want to belong to a union under any circumstances! I do not need someone to decide what working conditions and wages are right or me, although I respect those who feel the need of a union. Joining or not joining should be voluntary to suit our need.

I would consider it a privilege to work for less money if that is the only way to stay out from under the thumb of the unions. Union officials make far too many statements for publication, supposedly on my behalf, that do not reflect my views. Yet, when called on to testify for their misdeeds they are renowned as closed-mouthed Fifth Amendment takers.

Immigration

Today's British Papers

There is considerable reaction to the British Government's new controls on immigration and most of it is unfavorable. Many British papers take the line that the Commonwealth has been let down badly.

The London Times says the immigration cuts are bound to harm Commonwealth relations and will perhaps be most bitterly resented in the West Indies. The Governments of India and Pakistan also can hardly approve a policy which continues to attract only professional and semi-professional men and women from countries which are worse off in these human resources than Britain herself. The Times writes:

"The cohesiveness of the Commonwealth has taken some hard knocks in the past five years. For its member countries to be told so bluntly that Britain will continue to take their doctors, their teachers, their scientists and technologists, but that their less educated countrymen will be subject to the strictest examination in their applications for vouchers, must damage strained friendships still further."

The London Guardian also sympathizes with the Commonwealth countries who were asked for their views on the immigration problem. The Guardian says:

"It is reasonable to suppose that we have not taken their advice. We have virtually closed the door now to Commonwealth immigrants. If this is to be the pattern of the future, is there any point in prolonging the existance of such a category of Commonwealth immigrants?"

The Edinburgh Scotsman (independent) says:

"The first thing to be said about the new restrictions is that they are nothing for Britain to be proud of. They will not improve Britain's reputation in the Commonwealth and can only be justified if they get a breathing space for the Government and local authorities to improve the social conditions of the worst-off immigrants already here."

Only the Sheffield Telegraph sees some wisdom in the cuts, with one reservation: the emphasis put on skilled workers from countries who need them to speed up their own growth. The paper writes:

"Britain has done its duty to the Commonwealth. It has allowed immigration on a large scale for as long as it had dared. Its record in this sort of invisible overseas aid has been admirable. No other country has done as much so willingly."

At the moment they consider that Americans are merely buttressing up sawdust Caesars and tinpot dictators who can be swept away like autumn leaves by the wind of change that is blowing like a hurricane all over Southeast Asia. To puncture the Communist ego and confidence, President Johnson needs something more than tactical superiority in the air.

ALL FIRED UP — The Civil War cannon at the right is just an innocent bystander. The camera angle indicts it for blasting a fire hall on Missionary Ridge at Chattanooga, Tenn. Actually, the hall is being torn down for an approach to an interstate highway. The ridge was the scene of a bloody Civil War battle.

But Damage Not as Severe

State Drought Worst Since '36

EAST LANSING (AP) — The drought in central Lower Michigan is the worst to hit that part of the state in 29 years, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported Tuesday.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said a U.S. Department of Agriculture representative Thursday will inspect the areas, where rainfall in the June 3-July 31 period was the lowest since 1936.

Th records were set in the central core of drought counties —Montcalm, Gratiot, Bay, Saginaw, Midland and Isabella. They received less than one inch of rain, or about 20 per cent of normal.

"The counties around this dry core received less than two inches during this period, 20-40 per cent of the normal," the Weather Bureau added.

DAMAGE LESS SEVERE

It said, however, that even though the June-July period was the driest on record in some areas, damage was not as severe as in 1936, when heat records also were broken.

Even the weekend showers, which were described as a "million-dollar rain" by a Michigan State University agriculturist in the South Haven region, brought only .2 to .7 inch to the dry core —not enough to wet the soil effectively.

Gov. George Romney forwarded requests from eight counties today for drought emergency programs—bringing the total to 22.

If the requested relief is not granted immediately, he said, "farmers will be forced to reduce their herds because of a shortage of hay and pasture."

NEW APPLICATIONS

Michigan agriculture officials said they also have received new applications from Lapeer and Kalkaska counties and expect them from St. Clair, Sanilac, Tuscola and Gladwin counties.

Counties already awaiting word from Washington are Clare, Clinton, Gratiot, Ingham, Ionia, Isabella, Livingston, Mecosta, Menominee, Midland, Montcalm, Oakland, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Alcona, Alpena, Arenac, Bay, Genesee, Iosco, Montmorency and Ogemaw.

The Weather Bureau's A. H. Eichmeier said during this year's June 3-July 31 period, Mount Pleasant received one inch of rain, compared with the previous low of 1.28 in 1936.

For Midland, the figures were .98 inch this year and 3.6 in 1936 and for Lansing they were 1.64 and 2.37.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said soil moisture shortages still are being reported over most of the state, but exceptions are more widespread. They include areas in the west-central area, eastern Thumb and parts of the Upper Peninsula.

At South Haven, MSU's Stanley Johnston said peach and blueberry crops had been showing effects of the drought but 1.2 inches of rain Sunday and Monday would help them recover.

The central drought counties, though, were reporting hay and grazing crops cut in half and an estimated 25 to 75 per cent loss of corn.

"We anticipate it will be difficult for farmers to get enough silage and hay from the second cutting to carry them through the winter," said R. C. Lott, Ingham County extension director.

For the corn and bean crops, the recent rains have been too light and too late to help much, Eichmeier said.

Italians spent the equivalent of $1,132,585,000 in 1964 for smoking tobacco, or $122 per capita.

Malaysian Quits After Singapore Action

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The secretary general of the key faction in Malaysia's ruling alliance coalition party resigned today to express his disapproval of the separation of Singapore from the Malaysian federation.

Dato Syed Ja'afar Albar, executive of the 500,000-member United Malay national organization of Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, told a news conference:

"Malaysia without Singapore is illogical."

Albar, one of the chief foes of the Chinese-led Singapore government, said: "My own solution was for a truce. After all we are not fighting with bullets but a verbal war."

Rahman had said that the political battle between the two governments, if not halted, would have led to racial bloodshed.

"I don't think this would have happened," Albar said. "People here are very disciplined. The verbal war is better than separation.

"I am afraid now Singapore will become a center of subversion.

"How can you leave out a territory right on your doorstep?"

Rahman is president of the United Malay organization.

In Singapore, the new island nation's foreign minister, S. Rajaratnam, said his government would try to convince Indonesia it should live in peace and friendship with Malaysia, its archfoe.

"But there is no question of Singapore playing the role of mediator between the two countries," Rajaratnam said in an interview reviewing Singapore's prospective foreign policy.

"As we are now out of Malaysia, perhaps Indonesia may be prepared to listen to us in regard to the necessity for living in peace and friendliness with Malaysia."

In Jakarta, however, Indonesian President Sukarno was reported as determined as ever to crush the Malaysian federation.

Sukarno conferred in Jakarta Tuesday night with government and military aides on the break between Singapore and the rest of the federation. Foreign Minister Subandrio said the break was a "victory for our confrontation."

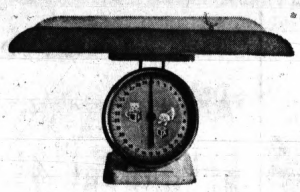
BOOM!



Everything's booming here in Michigan—business, industry and babies. And that means increased needs for telephone service—today and in the years to come.

More and better telephone service to meet these growing needs requires additional telephone cable and lots of new telephone equipment. The equipment has to be housed. This sometimes means new buildings and building additions. In the next three years, Michigan Bell plans to spend over $300 million to keep up with the demands of Michigan's increasing business, industry and population.

Like Michigan, your telephone company is growing. And as it grows, Michigan Bell will continue to bring you telephone service that is high in value—low in cost.

Junior Editors Quiz on WOODEN SHOES

QUESTION: Why do people still wear wooden shoes in Holland?

ANSWER: In the warmer countries around the Mediterranean Sea, the arrival of civilization brought sandals as an improvement on bare feet.

But sandals were too flimsy to be practical in Europe, where civilization soon spread. The barbarians had wrapped their feet in skins, but these, again, were not good for farmers working in muddy fields.

It was discovered that wood gave a drier shoe than leather. Sometimes leather tops were nailed on wooden soles.

But the working peasants of Europe, especially those of France and the Low Countries, found that a shoe cut out of solid wood was warm, dry, long-lasting and economical.

In France, such shoes were called "sabots," in Holland, "klompen." As cheaply manufactured shoes appeared, many French peasants gave up their sabots, but the Dutch hung on to their klompen, and often use them today.

In this low-lying country, with so much mud and water underfoot, klompen keep the wearers' feet dry and warm. They are rarely used indoors. When coming inside, a Dutchman takes off his klompen and lines them up neatly by the door.

FOR YOU TO DO: This would be a nice picture to color. Put bright colors on the boat and child's dress and blue in the sky and water. The klompen should be a light cream color.

Confirm Collision of U. S. Sub, Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has confirmed that the U.S. submarine Medregal was in collision with a Lebanese freighter.

The Defense Department denied, however, a Chinese Communist radio statement that the collision occurred in Red Chinese territorial waters. The incident July 13 took place in international waters of the South China Sea, the department said, and resulted in some damage to the Medregal, but no personnel casualties.

House Committee OKs Study on Metric System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may be a bit closer to reckoning its weights and measures in meters, kilograms and liters.

The House Science and Astronautics Committee sent a bill to the House Tuesday authorizing a three-year, $2.5-million study of the advantages of shifting to the metric system used by most of the western world, and the problems involved.

Last year more than 200,000 foreign farmworkers, mostly Mexicans, helped harvest American farm crops.

Materialistic Stigma on Refugee-Escape 'Business'

BERLIN (UPI) — The Scarlet Pimpernel has gone into business.

Authorities have discovered that some West Berliners under the guise of helping refugees escape from East Germany across the wall have been making a profit out of human misery.

The West Berlin city government has ordered investigation of at least two groups of Scarlet Pimpernels, so-called after the name of the hero of a novel who smuggled persons across boundaries to save them from danger.

Others among these "refugee helpers" were said to have caused the arrest of Western residents by sending them into East Berlin to smuggle out refugees — although it was almost certain they would be caught.

Soon after the wall went up Aug. 13, 1961 teams were formed here to get out East Berliners and East Germans.

FORGED IN WEST

Some refugees were led over the wall or through barbed wire. Others escaped through tunnels. Some even went through the city's sewers. Many were waved through Eastern checkpoints by Communist border guards because they had passports and identity papers forged in the west.

Many of the escapes involved the use of Western "refugee helpers" who dug the tunnels, got hold of maps of the sewers, bribed border guards, acted as couriers in the East and in one way or another organized and masterminded the flights.

The refugee helpers braved imprisonment and even death. Most of them had high motives and many still do.

But as time went on the vultures appeared who demanded as much as $1,500 to help a refugee, with most of it in advance from Western relations of the refugee.

HARD LUCK

If the flight failed, that was the refugee's and the family's hard luck.

Police went into action when four West Berliners arrested as refugee helpers told their story after their return.

They said they were chosen because they were broke and promised between $100 and $175 for the job.

They were given forged West German identity cards, told to give them to designated Eastern residents at a rendezvous then get drunk and give that as an excuse for losing their papers.

WERE ARRESTED

They were assured the Communists would accept the story and let them return to West Berlin. But the Communists did not accept it and they were arrested.

They asserted they had learned in the East that about 150 others had been arrested because of similar ineffective plots.

The four were seized in April and allowed to return to West Berlin last week because the Communists knew their story would cause trouble in the West.

The West Berlin newspaper Tagesspiegel granted that some escapes cost money to organize. But it said any penny demanded above the costs was blood money.

The Kurier said, "Action should be taken against those who make a dirty business out of the misery of Germans on the other side of the wall."

more natural shoulder suits? naturally

One great look — but a lot of ways of looking at it. For while the natural shoulder man may like authentic styling, we think he likes a fresh touch too. So we've interpreted the look to your liking. In textures as classic as hopsack, cheviot and tweed . . . in lines as trend-setting as shaping and striping. In styles as traditional as the vested three-button . . . and as conversational as the shaped two-button. Theater Is No Place to Be Late

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Will you write about theater goers who arrive late for a performance, forcing those who are seated to stand or be climbed over and causing them to miss what is going on on stage?

I am sure innumerable persons find this most annoying.

Perhaps if this rudeness is brought to their attention, they will make an effort to get to the theater on time.

A: A basic rule of courtesy at the theater is to be on time. Nothing is more unfair or lacking in consideration to others than to arrive late for a performance.

If one should unavoidably be detained, it is considerate to wait at the back of the theater until the first scene is over.

PLACE CARDS

Q. My employer is giving a business luncheon at one of the hotels and has asked me to make out the place cards. Will you please tell me if these cards may be typewritten, and also if it is necessary to write the names out in full?

It is important that I do this correctly.

A: They must be handwritten and read Mr. Smith, Mr. Jones, etc. If there are two of the same name, one is, of course, written Mr. John Smith and the other, Mr. Henry Smith.

BRIDE'S NAME

Q: I was christened Elizabeth, but ever since I was a little girl everyone has called me Betty.

Is it necessary to have Elizabeth on my wedding invitations, or may I use the name Betty?

A: "Betty" on formal wedding invitations would not be correct. You must use Elizabeth.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Wedding Invitations and Announcements."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Brides Look at Linens

By MADELEINE DOEREN

Pioneer brides started out with at least eight quilts and a supply of fine, hand-loomed bed linens.

As life in America became more elegant, lavishly embroidered lace-trimmed sheets and pillow cases went into hope chests.

Today's young woman, one of some 255,000 expected to wed this year, has neither time, help nor storage space to maintain a huge and fanciful linen inventory.

STOCKPILE LINENS

Early fall brides-to-be and their mothers, too, are stockpiling linens from the August white sales to follow the rule of six sheets per bed . . . one set in use, one in the laundry and one in reserve. However, with automatic home laundry equipment and no-iron finishes, it is now possible to get by with four.

* * *

Two pillows, two pillow protectors and three cases per pillow are advised. An extra set of pillows is a luxury for couples who like to read in bed.

* * *

Two mattress pads are suggested, with perhaps one of the new electric models which warms and cushions the bed from beneath.

ELECTRIC SHEET

A light cotton plisse electric sheet, ideal for warm climate living and for the summer cottage, is a recent innovation.

The careful shopper checks the exact measurements of pillows and mattresses. An oversize mattress may be king size (77x80) or queen size (60x80). Two standard twin beds attached to a single headboard measure about the same width as king size.

* * *

The summer sales offer sheets in percales and muslins, the difference being in yarns per square inch. Percales have about 180-count or more. They are softer but cost more than muslins.

BUY BLANKETS NOW

Now is the time to buy blankets as prices are good. The deep, rich decorator shades are edging out pastels. A reversible blanket might please the couple whose color preferences differ.

* * *

Two blankets are naturally warmer than one unless that one is an electric. Warmth depends on insulation rather than weight. The best insulators going, electrics are available in various fabric blends. Acrilan is especially light-weight colorful and long wearing.

CO-ORDINATE COLORS

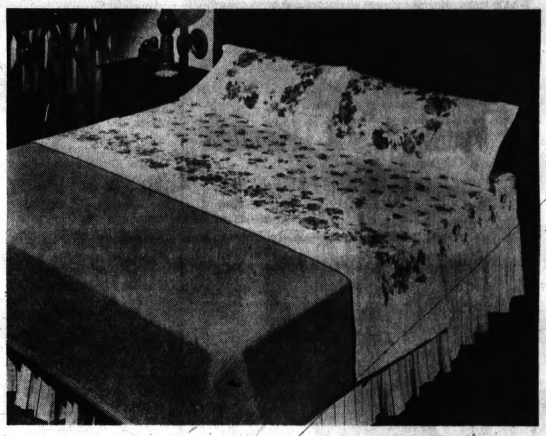
Relate blankets and sheets to your room decor as well as to sleep apparel. One would avoid violet-printed sheets if wearing printed sleepwear and if the bedroom rug were red.

* * *

Every bed deserves at least one attractive bedspread. A summer spare, keyed to the season in color and weight is a nice change. The dust ruffle, if any, should harmonize with both spreads.

A cotton cover keeps an electric blanket fresh and clean and laundering to a minimum.

Starting with a basic color scheme of green, this white bathroom acquires 'three faces' with go-together towels. "Granada" scroll pattern in deep gold on white spells elegance. "Polka-Dot" pattern gives a contemporary look and "Spring Daisies" (pictured) boasts blues, splashed with citron and green.



A simple solid color spread with dust-ruffle of narrow, tailored pleats, is suggested for a super-size bed in a small bedroom. Super-size linens come in prints, stripes and polka-dots. Slats of the louvered door, used as a headboard, can be opened and closed in varying degrees for an airy look.

Garden Club Honors Its New Branch

The Cranbrook branch of Women's National Farm and Garden Association will host a luncheon Monday in the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Lloyd C. Sherwood for members and officers of the newly-formed Heritage branch.

A tour of several area gardens will highlight the afternoon event.

Mrs. Edwin O. George has selected Oakland Hills Country Club on August 26 as the setting for her luncheon honoring officers and board members of the Cranbrook branch.

Among the officers attending their president's luncheon will be Mrs. William H. Pettibone, vice president; Mrs. C. Norman Fry and Mrs. James M. Tenney, secretaries; and Mrs. Sherwood, treasurer.

Chairmen and board members planning to attend are Mrs. Dean K. Johnson, Mrs. Austin K. Conrad, Mrs. Robert M. Nelson Mrs. George H. Glover, and Mrs. William G. Walters.

More scheduled to arrive at the event are Mrs. Earl S. MacPherson, Mrs. Carson E. Dalton, Mrs. Ernest Scherer, Mrs. Donald K. Tyler, Mrs. Walter Kuckleman, Mrs. Dale Douglass and Mrs. Ben Glowacki.

Still others planning attendance are Mrs. Glenn S. Glass, Mrs. Henry C. Botsford, Mrs. S. B. Harriman, Mrs. Carleton A. Smith, Mrs. Harold Tanner and Mrs. Lawrence T. Herman.

Gal Golfers Compete

In spite of the dismally chill winds Tuesday, members totaling 60 from the Nine Holers and the 18 Holers of Pine Lake Country Club teed-off at their annual match.

WINNERS

Mrs. Harold Hyems of Birmingham and Mrs. Harry S. Pearce of Sylvan Lake won the two-ball foursome with a low net score of 33.

* * *

Other winners included Mrs. John Vitta of Detroit, and Mrs. Robert Adams of Bloomfield Hills.

BUFFET FOLLOWS

A buffet luncheon in the club followed the contest and members and chairmen, Mrs. Beers and Mrs. Cartwright, played several rounds of bridge.

Personals

Recently returned from two weeks at Interlochen Music Camp is JoLynn Yansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Yansen of Chippewa Road.

JoLynn was a member of the All-State High School Choir.

Presently attending an orchestral program at Interlochen is Barbara Warren, daughter of City Manager and Mrs. Joseph Warren of Cherokee Road. Barbara will be a senior at Pontiac Central High School.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Wargelin and daughter Carol of Voorheis Road have returned from a trip which took them through most of the European countries.

Accompanying them on their six week journey was Mr. Wargelin's father, Dr. John Wargelin.

The four flew over and returned on the U.S.S. France.

AOP Alums Fete College Members

The Detroit North Suburban chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority will hold its annual fall coffee hour for collegiate members and new alumnae August 21 at 10 a.m. in the Southfield home of Mrs. Robert Sulkowski.

* * *

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Walter Beck and Mrs. Joseph Adamczyk.

Will Meet Jointly

Members of the Oakland County Barracks No. 49, Veterans of World War I and its auxiliary members will join in a cooperative dinner and meeting at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the post hall on Auburn Road.

Mrs. Romney Has Accepted an Honorary Chairmanship

Mrs. Lenore Romney today accepted the honorary chairmanship of the state advisory committee of the Michigan Chapter, Arthritis Foundation.

Announcement of Mrs. Romney's acceptance was made jointly by H. J. McLaurin, Chairman of the Board of the Michigan Chapter, and Dr. George L. Miller, president.

In explaining the importance of Mrs. Romney's acceptance and the work of the Chapter, McLaurin said, "We are indeed fortunate to have a leader of the caliber of Mrs. Romney as honorary chairman of our state advisory committee. Mrs. Romney's exemplary and continuing efforts in community and citizen betterment are well-known."

McLaurin explained that the purpose of the advisory board would be two-fold. It will advise the board of directors on policy and other matters requested by the regular board, and would act as contacts for future Arthritis Foundation activities in the members' communities.

"These activities would not include fund-raising," Mr. McLaurin noted, "since we are supported by the United Foundation Torch Drive and the Michigan United Fund."

SUPPLIES SERVICES

Dr. Miller pointed out that the Michigan Chapter, which is located in Detroit, supplies services and information to both arthritics and their families.

She Doesn't Want Marriage

Escort Service Needed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I live alone and like it. I am a widow, 51, but am told I look much younger.

ABBY

My children are married and live elsewhere. I have an adequate income, my own car and travel occasionally.

I am not "lonely," and live alone by choice. However, there are times when I wish to go places where ladies cannot go unescorted.

This town is too small for an escort service. And the few local bachelors and widowers in my age group have let me know after a few dates that they have matrimony in mind.

I do not wish to remarry. Where can I find a reliable escort when I need one?

I would gladly pay a fee plus all the expenses, but I want it understood that everything would be on a strictly professional basis. Sign this,

"ESCORT WANTED"

DEAR WANTED: Unless you can afford to "import" a professional escort from the nearest city that has such a service, you will have to break down and ask one of the local matrimonial - minded men to escort you.

Susan Ann Simon chose a gown of white organza and Rochelle lace for her recent marriage to Laurence Arquette in St. William's Catholic Church, Walled Lake. Reception in the Farmington Odd Fellows Hall followed the noon rite performed by Rev. Raymond Jones. Parents of the couple are the Frederick Simons of Pickford Street, Mrs. Leon Edmundson of West Lake Drive and the late Lawrence Arquette.

Tell him you need an escort and nothing more. And don't offer to pay all the expenses and a fee besides, or you'll never get rid of him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband just came home from the barber shop and I almost broke into tears when I saw him.

He went to a shop he always goes to, but his regular barber was busy, so he let one of the other barbers take him.

All my husband asked for was a haircut, but this barber asked my husband if he minded if he "trimmed" his eyebrows a little bit. My husband said, "Go on."

Well, he sure trimmed them! He cut nearly all his eyebrows off! There are only a few hairs left over each eye. I am just sick over this. I loved my husband's bushy eyebrows.

He doesn't even look like the same man any more. Can anything be done while they are growing back? And what will he do in case they don't grow back?

IN TEARS

DEAR IN: In all probability his eyebrows will grow in just as luxurious as before. But in case they don't, your husband has a good case for a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: As an aging grandmother, and mother of three married children, I would like to commend your answer to the "Heartbroken" mother who was sad because her son-in-law had promised her daughter they could baptize their children in her religion, and then went back on his promise.

You said, "Skip it. It's THEIR problem." I know how right you were because, I, too, had a daughter whose husband took her away from her own religion.

However, they are getting along fine and if religion is a problem to them, it's THEIR problem. When I think of how few years I have left to enjoy my children and grandchildren, I overlook the problems that might estrange them from me.

There have been times when I could have cheerfully choked my son - in - law, but that wouldn't bring my daughter back to the church she was reared in, so I mind my own business and pretend I don't see what's going on.

I hope "Heartbroken" takes your advice and does the same.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Many of you have asked how to make the pleat at the back of a skirt nice and flat. This is a problem when there is a seam in the pleat. Here is one solution that is easy to do.

Leave the seam in the pleat open about 8 inches from the lower edge, and then finish the hem, after it has been marked accurately. (Be sure as you put in the hem that you get both sides of the opened pleat exactly the same length).

Lay the pleat in the correct position and complete the machine stitching of the inside seam through the finished hem. It's a good idea to miter the corner of the seam at the bottom and overcast by hand if fabric ravels. Press the pleat and you will have a very professional looking skirt. This method is especially helpful with heavy fabrics.

Dear Eunice:

I know all pieces must be cut in the same direction when working with velvet or velveteen, but I always forget which way. Your column has helped me many times and I'd be particularly grateful in this instance if you'd help my project be a "creation," not a "catastrophe"!

Mrs. G.M.L.

Dear Mrs. G.M.L:

Most designers and authorities on sewing agree that velvet and velveteen should be cut against the nap. There is a simple way to check this. Hold your fabric up to your body and as you run your hand down, it should feel slightly rough, not smooth.

Material in this position will not only hold up better in areas of pressure, but will also appear to be a richer, darker color.

Incidentally, if you purchase velvet or velveteen now and don't intend to make it up for some time, roll it the approximate width of a hanger and pin through the selvages of one end with a safety pin and attach to a hanger. This will prevent folds which would be very difficult to press out.

Suspender Belt

If you wish to make the elasticized belting like the imported knits for skirts and slacks of double knit, men's suspenders are the answer.

They come in many colors and widths and work out perfectly. I also have found the narrow suspenders in the children's department are often useful.

Mrs. A. J. Meyer, Detroit, Mich., is being sent a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

If you would like Eunice Farmer's leaflet, "Spaghetti Straps and Chinese Ball Buttons," please send 10 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Maybe You Should Present Money Now

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: After 10 years widowhood and sacrificing to educate my two sons, I remarried three years ago. My husband is a very fine person — kind, generous and quite well-to-do.

MARY FEELEY

Having no dependents, he has named me sole heir to his estate, with no restrictions as to the money's use.

Recently my mother died leaving me a net sum of $35,000. My sons are now married, have several children, the usual mortgages and financial struggles of young people.

My question is: How do I allot this $35,000 with fairness to both my sons and my husband? Since he does not need money it seems pointless to leave him any of it.

And since my sons' needs are so great and so numerous, it seems fair that they should have the residue of their grandparents' money at my death.

Yet I do not want to seem ungrateful to my husband for all his goodness to me.

I will greatly appreciate your comments on this matter. Mrs R. V., Cincinnati, O.

Dear Mrs. V., Why not consider the advantages of giving your sons with money, in yearly gifts now, while they need it most — while they are meeting mortgage payments and trying to raise their children on what I assume to be the usual limited incomes of young marrieds.

It's a natural maternal instinct, of course, to want to leave a substantial estate to your sons at your death. However, I suspect the relief of financial assistance in these difficult early years would be most welcome to them.

The federal tax law allows you to give a total of $3,000 to any number or persons during any calendar year without incurring a gift tax for that year.

In addition to this annual exclusion, there's an over-all tax exemption of $30,000 against all taxable gifts during one's lifetime.

This exemption of $30,000 may be used in one year, or spread over a period of years until the amount is exhausted. Such gifts are not therefore included in your estate at death.

Sometimes a modest amount of money at a crucial point in marriage can save a young couple from getting into debt over their heads — and prevent the sad pattern of taking out one loan in order to pay off another.

From what you tell me of your husband, he would want you to use that $35,000 in the way that would prove most comforting to you and most beneficial to your children.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of general interest will be answered in her column.)

But Squeezing Tomato's Such Fun, Say Women

At one supermarket in West Germany a housewife cannot squeeze the tomatoes, rummage through a pile of packaged sirloins, compare the weight of one carton of eggs with another, or haggle over the price of bacon. Is the manager lurking behind the cereal boxes?

No. The supermarket is fully automated and everything is displayed behind glass.

International Management says the customer enters by pressing a button on a machine which releases a turnstile and presents her with a "shopping token."

Inside, she wanders among machines displaying their wares, and if she wants to buy, she drops the token into a vending machine and presses a button. The machine delivers the goods and returns the token suitably marked.

When the housewife leaves she drops the token into a payment slot and receives her bill. She puts the money into another machine which gives change.

EFFICIENT, BUT —

Automated groceries sound terribly efficient. But . . . squeezing tomatoes is so much fun.

The family of four of an average American homemaker uses 45,000 dishes annually.

Acne: The Teen Problem

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE W-445: Mary T., aged 15, is a shy, unhappy girl.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "you can probably guess the reason.

"For you can see these pimples all over my face! And they even extend down my back, so I don't dare wear a bathing suit.

"One of the girls in my class at school even wondered if I had a venereal disease!

"So I am afraid to mingle with people except where I am forced to do so.

"What is the use of living when I look like this?" and she began to cry.

ACNE PROBLEMS

Mary's problem is the most widespread complaint of high schoolers, both boys and girls.

It is called acne, and humiliates its victims for many reasons.

But it is NOT a venereal disease!

Nor is it contagious, so banish those worries at once!

To understand acne better, you should know that the human skin has many tasks.

It regulates temperature; protects us against invasion of outside germs, but also helps destroy inner toxins (poisons).

When the glands of the body cannot handle overwhelming masses of germs and toxins, the skin is a "spare tire" to assist.

That's one reason why in measles or chickenpox, etc., your skin breaks out.

Acne is usually linked with blackheads in the skin. The blackheads are specks of dust or dirt which have plugged the neck of the sebaceous glands.

You have sweat glands in your skin which secrete perspiration but you also have oil or grease glands, namely, the sebaceous glands.

During the teens, possibly because of too much rich foods, plus metabolism changes associated with puberty and outdoor athletics which encourage dust plugs, the sebaceous glands become inflamed.

TREATMENT

There are two methods of combating acne, namely, (1) Local, and (2) Systemic or General.

Local treatment consists of keeping the skin free from oil and dust.

It is often helpful to steam your face every night, as barbers do before shaving a client.

Employ a non - irritating soap. Lather your face and neck. Now apply hot towels.

Then dab your skin with an antiseptic solution such as rubbing alcohol and slap on cold water to shrink the pores.

You can also buy a blackhead remover at the drug store, but don't pinch your pimples for this causes them to grow larger and more inflamed.

Blackheads are also called comedones.

Under "Systemic" treatment, comes elimination of infection in tonsils, teeth, etc., as well as anemia and any lowered resistance.

Avoid rich foods and keep the bowels open daily.

And then widen your social perspective by joining the "Compliment Club" wherein you pay sincere compliments to at least three companions each day.

Send for my booklet on the "Psychology and Medicine of the Face," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus twenty cents.

Acne tends to clear up after marriage and doctors can often remove many of the pimply scars by modern methods, so don't become unduly blue or depressed about pimply skin in the teens.

The average American homemaker with a family of four do dishes 1,095 times a year.

NEW YORK — Unescorted ladies touring Italy this summer are being protected by pinch-proof panty pads developed by an American "silhouette engineer."

The new posterior padding is providing American women with an effective defense against being pinched in public places by overly hospitable Italian males in their traditional display of admiration.

According to Sidney Schnur, president of Rubber Fabrics Co., New York, "The new pads have been designed essentially to make the torso more-so in order to enable the 'have-nots' to compete on a more equal basis with the 'haves' especially when worn under tight pants. But, they can hardly be differentiated from the real thing when pinched and they will absorb the pain, if not the embarrassment, otherwise endured by the pinchee."

Polly's Pointers

Traffic Exercises

DEAR POLLY — Mine is a Pointer for saving time — our most precious commodity. I used to sit humped over the steering wheel mentally fuming at every traffic delay.

Once I estimated that the minutes spent waiting for lights to turn green would soon add up to the weekly hour I would like to spend at an exercise class to help my bulging waistline.

It dawned on me that exercise can be done any time, anywhere.

Now a red light is the signal for me to sit up straight with hips and shoulders touching the seat back and my stomach muscles drawn in-in-in and held until the light changes.

This simple trick has taken inches off my waistline and strengthened my back muscles, resulting in greatly improved posture. — MRS. C. A. M.

DEAR POLLY — I always hang just-washed slipcovers on parallel lines so they dry in better shape. They need much less ironing, sometimes only a bit of touching up after they are put on the chair or sofa. —MRS. C. J. M.

GIRLS — Also keep a close watch so slipcovers do not get too dry. If they are put on the furniture when just barely damp and are a good close fit, I find the flounce is usually all that needs touching up with the iron.— POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have used many of the Pointers to great advantage. The following is one of mine that I find of immense help.

When threading yarn into a rather small holed needle, just wet the end of the yarn and press soap around it. This will make the end stiff and the needle can be threaded in a jiffy.

Hope my Pointer helps others as theirs have helped me.— ROSE

LBJ Call for New Taxes Languishes in Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's excise tax cut has long since become law, but whatever happened to the new taxes he asked for last May?

It was little noted at the time, but when the chief executive sent his tax cut program to Congress he also asked for $468 million in new taxes on airlines, trucking firms and boat owners.

Today, nearly three months later, the new tax proposal is still languishing in the House Ways and Means Committee.

A spokesman for the committee said he doubted there would be any action this year because of the crush of other business.

Some observers believe this means the program, or at least part of it, is dead.

ASKS FAIR SHARE

Johnson contended that some of those who reap profits from federal services are not paying a fair share to support them.

He said airplanes are not assessed enough for the control of airways, trucking interests are not paying their share of road construction costs, and boat owners don't pay anything for the use of inland waterways.

The administration's program would increase the highway diesel fuel tax from 4 to 7 cents per gallon, the truck use tax from $3 to $5 per thousand pounds and the tax on tread rubber from 5 to 10 cents per pound.

Commercial aviation would pay new taxes of 2 per cent on freight charges and 2 cents per gallon on jet fuels; the 2-cent tax on aviation gasoline would be raised to 4 cents.

In addition, the President asked for a 2-cent-per-gallon tax on fuel for any boat with a draft of more than 15 feet.

Some congressional sources believe postponement of hearings until 1966 will kill the program. The adage "taxers are losers" is doubly true in a congressional election year.

But the committee will be under pressure from the Bureau of Public Roads to enact the new user taxes on trucks quickly, since a delay could seriously jeopardize completion of the interstate road system.

The bureau says the interstate system will cost the federal government $5 billion more than previously estimated. Existing user taxes will provide almost $2 billion of the increased costs, but the President said about $3 billion must be raised.

DELAY WANTED

In addition to the truck tax increases, the President asked for a five-month delay, until February 1973, of the date for the reduction of all user taxes earmarked for interstate road costs.

Johnson recommended that the existing 5 per cent tax on airline tickets, which had been due to expire in July, be made permanent. Congress complied, and there was hardly a peep of protest from the airline lobbies.

However, they cannot be expected to remain silent when hearings begin on the air fuel and freight taxes.

The boat fuel tax increase probably will be least popular of all in Congress because of the growing number of boaters who can be expected to raise a chorus of protest, perhaps at the polls.

OPENING THE DOOR — Federal voting rights examiner Bruce Rhiddlehoover (right) opens the door for a Negro voter registration applicant in Buras, La., yesterday. Two federal examiners were on hand in Buras to process applicants.

Mississippi Negroes Up Voting Strength

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Negroes in Mississippi could control a third of the state legislative seats if they register as voters, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Negroes also outnumber whites in one of five congressional districts.

Federal voting registrars began enrolling Negroes in two Mississippi counties Tuesday and in Madison County — north of here — Negroes nearly doubled their voting strength in a single day.

There were 209 registered at Canton, with scores more told to come back today. The Justice Department said that before the federal registration began, only 218 of the county's 10,366 eligible Negroes were registered.

1960 CENSUS

The 1960 census reported Negroes constituted 71.8 per cent of Madison County's population.

The percentage is even higher in other counties — Tunica with 79.2, Claiborne 76, Holmes 72.

Negroes are predominant primarily in the cotton-growing delta region, but there are a few other areas with large numbers of nonwhites. Tishomingo County, in the extreme northeast corner, has the smallest percentage — 4.9.

The survey indicates that 29 counties have more Negroes than whites. Those 29 counties have 40 seats in the 122-member Mississippi House.

52 SENATORS

Negroes could elect 19 of the 52 state senators.

The delta district of Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, Democrat, has 359,426 Negroes and 247,661 whites, or more Negroes than the entire population — 295,072 — of the east central Mississippi district of Rep. Prentiss Walker, Republican.

Whites outnumber Negroes in the state at large, with 1,257,546 whites and 915,743 Negroes. However, census authorities say the Negro voting age population is proportionately smaller than the total Negro population because Negroes continue to leave the state when they become adults.

U.S. Watching Registrations

More Examiners to Be Sent if Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department sources say the question of whether more federal officials will be sent into the South to register Negroes hinges on how Southern counties comply with the new voting rights bill.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach was keeping a close watch on the situation.

Federal registrars set up shop Tuesday in nine counties in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. A Civil Service Commission spokesman said they registered 1,144 Negroes on the first day of federally supervised registration.

The department would not comment officially on the possibility of sending in more federal examiners. Katzenbach said Monday, however, he was prepared to designate other counties "but withheld doing so immediately in view of indications of compliance, particularly in Georgia."

It is known that he originally planned to name Sumter County, Ga., as one of the first counties to which federal registrars would be sent. Recent disturbances in Americus, Ga., have focused national attention on that county. But he stayed his hand at the last minute when three Negroes were appointed deputy registers there.

"We place the highest emphasis on voluntary compliance with the new act," Katzenbach said, but the government will not hesitate "to appoint examiners wherever and whenever they are necessary."

N.Y. Pair Split on Pollution

Rocky, Bobby Divide Over Federal Control

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—New York State needs more federal money, not federal controls in the fight to halt pollution of Lake Erie, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said Tuesday.

But his contention was challenged by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who said New York State should agree with conclusions endorsed by Ohio, Indiana and Michigan after a U.S. Public Health Service water-pollution conference in Cleveland, Ohio, last week.

The conclusions called for federal enforcement of pollution abatement plans in each state.

Rockefeller said at a second water-pollution conference here that New York would not benefit "in terms of its intrastate pollution problem, from such federal enforcement."

PROPOSED PLAN

He said the proposed federal enforcement would not result in extra financial assistance for New York.

"We do not need federal legal assistance and indeed such federal enforcement activity could only serve to duplicate and hinder state action . . . and thus delay the achievement of the real goal . . . clean waters," Rockefeller asserted.

The governor criticized Kennedy's suggestion that New York ask for federal enforcement, and called instead for Kennedy to work for additional federal aid to the state.

Distribution Begun of Highway Funds

LANSING (AP) — The Highway Department says it has begun distributing $52.54 million in motor vehicle highway funds collected during April, May and June. The total is an increase of $3.5 million, or 7 per cent, over the same period last year. Checks totaling $9.45 million are being sent to the incorporated cities and villages. The counties will receive $18.39 million and the Highway Department will retain $24.69 million under the formula.

Tank Truck Explodes

ROBERT GOLDFARB

Two Describe Sea Tragedy

Crewman Drowned Near Sinatra Yacht

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. (AP) — "The boat flipped over and Jim yelled 'I can't swim.' Bob gave him the life preserver —the only one. It was Bob that saved Jim's life."

Charyl Navin, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., was describing the drowning of Robert Goldfarb, 23, of New Rochelle, N.Y., after he had saved the life of a fellow crewman aboard the yacht on which Frank Sinatra and actress Mia Farrow are vacationing.

The chartered, 168-foot yacht left Vineyard Haven Harbor late Tuesday and headed for Newport, R.I. It ran into thick fog, however, and remained anchored early today in the mouth of Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay.

Goldfarb, Miss Navin, yacht steward James O. Grimes and Margaret Whittemore, 21, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were rowing a small boat back to the yacht when the drowning occurred early Tuesday.

HEAVY WAVES

"We were out about 15 minutes," Miss Navin said. "There were heavy waves and a strong wind and the water began coming in over the stern. Then the boat sank, right under us."

She said after the boat was tossed over in the waves, Goldfarb became exhausted trying to keep Grimes close to the boat and afloat.

She and Miss Whittemore decided to swim to the yacht.

"We couldn't see any lights on shore but the yacht was brightly lighted."

The girls said they must have been in the choppy water for nearly an hour before they could get close enough to the yacht, the Southern Breeze, to shout for help.

DISPATCH LAUNCH

"We screamed and a launch was sent out to pick us up. And then they went to the dinghy and got Jim," Miss Whittemore said.

Goldfarb was not found.

He was a graduate of the New York Maritime Academy at Fort Schuyler, N.Y., and had been a crewman on yachts and tankers. He leaves a widow.

The yacht skipper, Capt. William Cannon of Houston, Tex., said Sinatra and his guests were "shocked and appalled at the tragic event."

NOT AVAILABLE

Sinatra was not available for comment.

The Southern Breeze left Newport a little more than a week ago for what was reported to have been a month-long trip along the New England coast. Sinatra chartered the yacht from C. W. Edwards of Houston for his party of 29 celebrities, friends and crewmen.

Among the passengers is Miss Farrow, a star in the television serial "Peyton Place."

Though never affirmed or denied, rumors spread through the island after their arrival that Sinatra, 49, and the 19-year-old actress were about to marry.

Ferris State Begins Study on Manpower

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Ferris State College this week started a $60,000 study of Michigan's need for technically trained manpower. The study, financed by the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion and the State Board of Vocational Education, will chart the demand for skilled technicians equipped to work in state business.

Plane Gets to U.S. on Third Attempt

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I think they were a little embarrassed."

With this comment, Darlene Thommen of Cranford, N.J., summed up the feelings of the crew of Pan American Airways flight 2103, which arrived at Kennedy International Airport 12 hours late on a flight from London after three takeoffs.

The big 707 jetliner with 165 passengers aboard had engine trouble shortly after its scheduled takeoff from London yesterday. It returned to the field for repairs and then tried again. More trouble and a return to London followed.

On the third try, the plane made it but, for many passengers, two takeoffs were enough.

According to the passengers, about 15 persons got off the plane after its second return to London. The airline put them up in hotels and advised family and friends.

KEEP IN TRIM

But other than being very tired, the passengers who decided to try again were in good shape.

"It was very tiring, that's all," said Peggy Maitland of New Castle, Pa.

"They said it was the number four engine — a gasket or something. We had three hours flying time but we got nowhere."

"They treated us very nicely," said Miss Thommen. "I think they were a little embarrassed."

U.S. SERVICEMEN

About 80 of the passengers were U.S. servicemen returning home from European duty.

Army SP/4 Leslie T. Cason, 21, of Norfolk, Va., said the trip was "just great."

"Only the civilians got scared," he said. "One man got really mad in London. He told the stewardess, 'Forget it, honey, let's try again tomorrow.' Then he walked off the plane."

The plane's first takeoff was at 4 p.m. yesterday. Oil pressure trouble developed in the right outboard engine shortly after takeoff. The pilot dumped thousands of gallons of jet fuel into the sea, shut down the engine and returned to London.

Nears England

Fog, Wind Hamper Sailor

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — A fog, high wind and tides plagued Robert Manry today as he neared England on his epic sailing adventure across the Atlantic.

The 48-year-old Cleveland newspaperman was last seen two days ago 290 miles out and headed northward. It was believed he had two objects:

1. To avoid the busy shipping lanes as much as possible, and

2. To borrow some favorable wind for his 13½-foot sloop Tinkerbelle.

A coastline fog this morning slowed down shipping off Lands End and discouraged any private attempts to meet Manry.

British naval officials said the American probably was buffeted Tuesday night by winds up to 45 miles an hour, but they pointed out he has come through much rougher stuff since he left Falmouth, Mass., on June 1.

3,200 MILES

Manry originally estimated he would reach his goal — 3,200 miles from the starting point — around Aug. 15. If he has any luck, he's apparently going to come very close. The best guess for his arrival now centers on late Sunday or Monday.

Lacking a fresh fix on his position, veteran Falmouth sailors said he may have kept up his average of about 30 to 35 miles a day, this would put him around 220 miles out and headed for the Scilly Isles.

They emphasized, however, that Manry's real problems may just be starting.

"He will be getting into the confluence of waters pretty soon," a harbor master said. "If the winds shift southeasterly, he will be fighting both wind and tide at the same time, and his forward progress may at times be negligible."

WASHED OVER

Manry told a television reporter he had been washed overboard six times on the crossing.

"Even with a lifeline, it's never easy to clamber back aboard a wallowing boat," one sailor said.

If he makes it, Manry, an editor of the Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer, will have made history's first solo crossing of the Atlantic in such a small boat.

Commission Takes No Action to Upgrade Bar License

The Pontiac City Commission last night took a sidestep in the march toward settling the problem of upgrading tavern licenses to Class C in the city.

Meeting in regular session, the commission took no action on a request by Paul Spadafore to upgrade his tavern license at 856 Oakland.

Instead, the commission agreed to invite a five-man citizens' advisory committee to a regular commission meeting to discuss the problem in public.

The citizens' committee, upon request from the commission, was formed in June 1964. The body studied the problem of upgrading licenses in the city for three months.

At the end of the study a series of recommendations was presented to the commission in hopes of settling the long-standing problem.

PROPOSE PROCESS

In their report the committee proposed a long-term process for upgrading the tavern licenses to Class C.

Last January the committee report was rejected by a majority of the commission at an informal session.

In a letter to the commission, Spadafore said that the survival of his business was at stake in the question of upgrading the license.

He said that one establishment with a Class C license was already in operation near his tavern, and another would soon be moving in.

'BUSINESS CLEAN'

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson spoke for Spadafore's request, stating that the businessman ran a clean, respectable operation, "one you would take your family to for a meal."

The commissioner said he didn't want to champion any cause, but felt that this request should be given serious consideration.

Hudson said in light of the citizen's advisory report, Spadafore's plea was not an unfair request.

Commissioner Robert Irwin first suggested that the committee appear at a meeting to explain their recommendations in public.

City Affairs

Two or three commissioners disagreed that this should be considered at this time, but then relented when Mayor William H. Taylor, Jr. reiterated Irwin's suggestion.

Hudson agreed, but added that he felt there was no need to beat around the bush on the problem, that this was a question which should be answered yes or no.

The citizens committee was headed by Philip Sauer, a downtown restaurant owner.

In other action at the meeting, the commission was presented a petition requesting the city to build public housing for senior citizens in the Urban Renewal Project.

2ND WEEK

This was the second week in a row such a document was presented to the commission. The petition was signed by 16 residents.

The petitioners urged low income housing be constructed near the business district, in order that the senior citizens could walk to the city's major shopping facilities.

The commission also last night adopted an amendment to Ordinance 944, giving the planning commission the power to designate "parking districts."

The planning commission was also given the power to set down rules and regulations for the establishment of the parking areas, by virtue of the newly adopted ordinance.

SCHEDULE HEARINGS

The commission scheduled five public hearings last night.

A hearing on the rezoning request by the Pontiac United Fund to change from residential to personal service, property at 329 Orchard Lake Ave., has been set for Aug. 31.

Sept. 14 is the date set for General Motors Corporation that the city vacate portions of Glenwood and Lowell and an area east of and parallel to Glenwood between Lowell and Kennett.

The area will be used for a parking lot for Pontiac Motor Division.

VACATING PETITION

The Sept. 14 date was also listed as the time for a hearing on a petition for the city to vacate Tallahassee between Oakland and Sarasota.

If vacated, a warehouse is scheduled to be constructed there.

The planning commission had approved all the requests and petitions for which hearings were set.

The commission approved a lease with General Motors Corporation for the firm's use of space at the Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Some 200 square feet of space will be used by the Air Transport Section of GM for a waiting room, conference room and for flight operations.

Finally, the commission received approval from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for the use of the excess funds from the bond proceeds from the 1962 Water Revenue Bond issue for the construction of arterial water mains on Joslyn, Walton and Giddings.

The $288,202 project will get under way shortly, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said last night.

Planners to Get Rezoning Bid on Shopping Center

A petition from two developers requesting a zoning change to permit construction of a $1-million shopping center in Pontiac was last night referred to the planning commission by the City Commission.

Fred Gaukler Jr., 1846 Bracken, Bloomfield Hills, and John E. Buckley, 4073 Cambrook, Waterford Township, requested a change from Residential-3 to Commercial-1 on a small tract located between Baldwin and Terry Lake.

The parcel has a 448-foot frontage on Baldwin and has a depth of 1,269 feet.

Gaukler and Buckley said in their petition they wanted to develop a fully planned shopping center which would include a large retail store, attorney offices and a medical clinic.

BEARDED AND BUSY — A bearded, sandal-clad student is engrossed in his studies as smoke pours from the main building on the University of Texas campus in Austin yesterday. Estonians Continue to Prosper Despite Russian Imperialism

By FRED COLEMAN

TALLINN, Estonia (AP) — This is perhaps the one city in the Soviet Union where the visitor may find it hard to tell the residents from Scandinavian tourists.

Conditions are so much better here than in Moscow and other parts of the Soviet Union that it is difficult to remember Estonia often is cited in the West as an example of Soviet imperialism.

"Why don't you write that there are no 'captive peoples' here?" one Soviet official suggested.

Soviet officials come armed with statistics purporting to show that Estonia under Soviet rule is better off than it was as an independent state.

DIFFICULT QUESTION

But such claims led to a question the Russians have difficulty answering. Why is Estonia, considered an occupied country in the West, better off than the occupier?

Part of the answer is that independent Estonia was better off than Russia in 1940 when Stalin took over the Baltic states of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia.

Part of the answer is the Estonians themselves. They seem to make the heavily controlled Soviet economic system work better.

A fishing cooperative branched out into furniture, trucking, mink-raising, and boat-repair businesses on its own initiative.

RECTIFIER FACTORY

A mercury rectifier factory started in 1958 was told to manufacture the device developed by a Soviet research institute. It didn't work. Estonian engineers developed their own rectifier and are now the leading supplier.

Estonian officials say they have a relatively free hand in producing the styles of clothing Estonians want to buy. Estonian-made clothes are also popular in Moscow.

Residents can tune in Finnish television for Western news, films and ideas.

A new ferry line was opened this year to Helsinki, Finland.

Tallinn is a city of old, winding cobblestone streets built on a hill overlooking the sea. It looks more like the old cities of Western Europe than like Russia.

In the Gloria Restaurant, perhaps the closest thing to a Western nightclub in the Soviet Union, the men wear stylish, dark Western suits and the girls smart cocktail dresses. They do the Twist.

There are four modern cafes in town, all with Scandinavian furniture, that have made Moscow newspapers often write articles with the theme, "Why can't we have cafes like they do in Tallinn?"

RUSSIAN SIGHS

A Russian who looked at a two-story private home on a collective farm near here sighed:

"I'm a Muscovite and I would like to live in one of these farm homes."

In Moscow families often are crowded into one-room apartments and share common kitchen and bath facilities with other families. But they consider farm conditions worse.

In Estonia, young people also are leaving the farms for the cities. But those who remain on the farm often live better than their counterparts elsewhere in the Soviet Union.

They earned what they have.

The wood home the Russian was admiring is owned by the electrician on the collective farm 15 miles from Tallinn.

He earns 100 rubles a month and his wife makes 105 as the farm veterinarian. They saved for 11 years to build the house they began two years ago. They hope to install running water soon. They have television.

One-family homes along the dirt road center of the farm village cost about 3,500 rubles each. Most of the money is borrowed. A ruble equals $1.11.

The land was privately owned before the Soviet Union incorporated Estonia. Five farms were united into the collective farm.

Farm Chairman Rudolph Mannov, a wiry, sun-bronzed man in his 40s, said the farm concentrates on cattle breeding and dairy products, but also raises grain and potatoes. Little machinery is seen.

The village has a recreation center where movies are shown twice a week. Current fare: From India, "Flower in the Dust," and from Czechoslovakia, "Prague Blues."

DECLINES BID — Stephanos Stephanopoulos, former deputy premier and politician, leaves the royal palace in Athens, Greece, yesterday after declining the invitation of King Constantine to try to form a new government. He is a leader of the Center Union Party which caucused earlier on the king's proposal to end Greece's political crisis.

Why the Hike in Food Prices?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife who is paying a dime more for every dollar's worth of food than she did a year ago may be ready to swat whoever is responsible. But she may have trouble finding her target.

The Agriculture Department says different factors operated on different kinds of food staples, but the general explanation of a 10.1 per cent rise in prices is the usual one: Supplies were smaller than the demand.

Food fats and oils, for example, were in good supply in this country, but short elsewhere, so foreign customers came in and bid up prices here. On the other hand, pork supplies fell and prices rose because of purely domestic decisions: U.S. farmers became discouraged with low returns.

The department had a somewhat muted note of cheer. Prices should reach their peak this month or next and then ease somewhat, but not all the way down to last year's levels.

INCREASED MOST

Items on which prices increased the most by midyear included food fats and oils, meats, fresh vegetables and potatoes. Partly offsetting these advances were lower prices for oranges, sugar and coffee. Pork prices increased 13 per cent, fresh fruits 22 per cent, fresh vegetables 7 per cent, and beef 10 per cent.

It is normal for retail prices to go up a little by midyear. That is a time when supplies are at the lowest level because it is at the end of the previous year's production and just ahead of the new harvests. But this year's price increases were above normal.

In the case of pork, slaughter fell off nearly 10 per cent.

In the case of beef, prices advanced largely because of the shrinkage in pork supplies and a consequent small reduction in total meat supplies.

The department expects some easing off of beef and pork prices later in the year. It may be another year before total meat supplies reach 1964 levels. That's because it takes time for an improvement in meat animal prices to be reflected in larger supplies.

Prices of fresh vegetables shot up during the first half of the year because of reduced production and supplies. Factors included adverse weather during the late winter and spring in some producing areas and a reduction in acreages of some vegetables because of farmers' fears they would not be able to get enough labor.

But in recent weeks, vegetable production has increased. Supplies are now larger than a year earlier and prices have turned downward. High prices for potatoes reflected largely the fact that last year's fall crop was short. Growers who had received lower prices had planted fewer acres.

Reduced production of some early fruits, also, was reflected in higher retail prices.

Greek King Seeking Coalition to Govern

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine was reported seeking today a coalition government to try to ease the Greek political crisis.

The young king's second effort at forming a government was thwarted when Stephanos Stephanopoulos, bowing to the wishes of his and ex-Premier George Papandreou's Center Union party, rejected the king's mandate Tuesday.

Reports circulated that Constantine might call a crown council of political leaders, but without Papandreou and the Communist-line United Democratic Left (EDA) party.

Political advisers to the 25-year-old king were said to be encouraged by the fact that at the Center Union party caucus Monday, 26 deputies had voted for Stephanopoulos to try forming a government. Another 116 voted against, and Stephanopoulos went along with the majority, turning down the king's request.

WANT COALITION

Informed sources said the king's advisers thought it possible that the 226 could be won over to the idea of a coalition, aligning themselves with 21 deputies who made up the short-lived government of George Athanasiadis Novas, the 99 deputies of the rightist National Radical Union (ERE) and the 8 Progressive party deputies.

That would amount to 154 of parliament's 300 seats, a majority that would loosen Papandreou's strong hand on parliament. But the sources noted that such a coalition could come about only if the 26 Center Union deputies broke with the majority of their party.

The crisis began July 15 when Constantine fired Papandreou as premier in a dispute over control of the armed forces.

Papandreou told friends he planned a speaking tour of the country soon to explain his disagreement with the king and to ask for new elections and the people's support.

Bridge Repairs for 6 Months?

RIVERVIEW (AP) — Commuters from Grosse Ile in the Detroit River may be limited for another six months to use of their small, two-lane bridge.

Repairs on the wrecked span of the larger toll bridge, struck by a freighter Friday, won't be completed until then, bridge officials said Tuesday.

Three submerged cars which plunged into the river from the broken span were removed by a 25-ton crane. A diver reported it would be impossible to get two other cars out.

The freighter John T. Hutchinson left for Chicago for repairs to a hole in her bow, suffered when she hit the span. Her collision bulkheads were repaired here.

Water Shortage Spurs Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Water shortages—a present crisis in the Northeast and a long-term source of national anxiety—get White House attention today.

President Johnson signs a $185 million bill to continue and extend the Interior Department's program to develop practical means of desalting ocean water as a supplement to the overtaxed rivers, lakes and springs.

Later, Johnson meets with the governors, congressional delegations and mayors from four largely urban states that draw on the Delaware River Basin for water and may have critical shortages next month because of a four-year drought afflicting the area. The four states are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The saline-water conversion bill, extending the program through 1972, has been pushed hard by Johnson. He told his science adviser to bear down on desalting programs "as if you knew you were going to run out of drinking water in the next six months." And the White House says further legislative proposals will be submitted next year.

PRESENT BILL

The present bill authorizes an additional $15 million for research and development, making $35 million available for next year, counting carry-over funds. Additional amounts above $90 million, up to $185 million, would require additional congressional authorization.

The Delaware Basin water conference was called after Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall reported to Johnson the biggest cities of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey face a water impasse by early September.

The gathering is intended to organize "appropriate action to meet the immediate problems, to lay plans against the possibility of another year of drought, and to consider longer range attacks on the problem of water supply and conservation."

Johnson has suggested desalinization as a possibility for easing the long-term water problems of the Northeast.

RAINS EASE CRISIS

Although rains in the past few days slightly eased the immediate crisis—New York City's reservoirs had a net gain for the first time in 67 days—there was no prospect of a natural solution to the problem. Udall has said only a prolonged series of rains or a hurricane could do this.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said he intends to discuss with Johnson not only water supply but additional congressional appropriations for pollution control.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said he will not press to have his state declared a drought disaster area. He said he thinks the northeastern drought states can receive federal help without such a declaration.

In addition to Rockefeller and Hughes, Govs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Charles L. Terry of Delaware have accepted invitations to the conference, along with the mayors of major cities concerned with the Delaware Basin problems.

Nominee for Tax Court Blind Since Early Boyhood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles R. Simpson, President Johnson's nominee for the U.S. Tax Court, is a cheerful, balding former law school faculty member who likes baseball, historical novels and hard work. He's been blind since early boyhood.

In a way, Simpson explained in an interview, his handicap had its advantages.

"You know that you have to do not as well, but better," he said. "So you work harder, try harder, to do a better job. I've tried to do that all my career.

"We've all had problems to overcome in life at one time or another. It's a question of whether you're going to let this thing beat you."

The President announced Simpson's nomination to the 16-member court Tuesday. Simpson, 44, now heads the legislation and regulations division in the general counsel's office of the Internal Revenue Service.

GOVERNMENT CAREER

His government career began in 1952 when he left a faculty post at Harvard University Law School to join the IRS. He moved steadily up the ladder. Last May, he received the Justice Tom C. Clark Award for outstanding career lawyers in federal service.

An IRS job he'll never forget was one of his first, Simpson said. "It dealt with the deductibility of losses caused by termites.

"For a time," he added with a laugh, "I was the termite expert around the IRS."

It was an event leading up to that first government job, Simpson said, that was the turning point of his career.

QUESTIONED

"There was some question about whether I should be employed," he related. "The person who had the power decided that I should." That person was Charles Davis, then chief counsel of the IRS and now a Chicago attorney.

"When they hired me, they asked my wife if she'd go to work there, too. She said yes." Simpson's wife, Ruth, trained as a nurse, thus began a new career as her husband's private secretary.

She also manages to find an hour or so every night to read historical novels to her husband in their spacious apartment near the Pentagon. "I manage to read what I need to" by the Braille system, Simpson said. "You have to be selective."

Simpson was born June 16, 1921, with partial sight, the only son of a Danville, Ill., policeman.

LOST SIGHT

"I had enough sight to go to public schools, but lost it all when I was 13 or 14," he said. He then transferred to the Illinois School for the Blind in Jacksonville, Ill.

"I got a good basic education there and in 1940 I went to the University of Illinois."

Simpson went on to the university's law school, where he rolled up the best academic record there in 25 years. He later served three years in the Illinois General Assembly before going to Harvard.

As for his success, he said, "I can't claim full credit for all of it. I've had lots of good friends and good health. You might even call them breaks.

"But the basic element," he added, "has been one of determination."

To Study Youth Court System

LANSING (AP) — Five Michigan legislators will study Connecticut's juvenile court system first hand next week, says Rep. David Holmes, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Youth Committee.

The Monday through Wednesday visit is the first step toward revamping Michigan's philosophy in dealing with youth problems, Holmes said.

Connecticut "is one of the few states that has a uniform court system dealing with youths...it is divided into three districts, each district having its own judge who travels throughout the district," he said.

"As it now stands in Michigan, a youngster committing the same crime in the Upper Peninsula as in the Lower Peninsula, could get a wide variety of disciplinary actions—based on the personality of the probate judge."

Making the trip with Holmes will be Reps. James Del Rio, D-Detroit; James Karoub, D-Highland Park; Vincent Petitpren, D-Wayne, and Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek.

Spring vegetable production by American farmers is expected to decline by three per cent from last year, according to Department of Agriculture forecasts.

Mother Holds Two of Quints

Reported Overawed by 'Wobbly' Babies

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The mother of New Zealand's quintuplets held two of her babies for the first time today and then went home from the hospital.

Shirley Ann Lawson gave their bottles to Deborah and Shirlene. It was the first time she was allowed to touch any of the five babies born July 27.

The 26-year-old mother said she was "overawed by the experience."

"The babies are so wobbly I felt nervous," she said, "but it's marvelous to hold them."

READY TO LEAVE

Mrs. Lawson telephoned her husband, Sam, and told him to come to National Women's Hospital for her "as soon as possible."

"I am just dying to get home after four months away," she told newsmen. "I am not worried about how I will cope when the quints come home. Once we get into the routine, I am sure it will be all right.

* * *

"I don't know yet what nursing help I'll have but the less help the better for me. I want the babies to be mine, not anybody else's."

Mrs. Lawson has one other child, a 5-year-old daughter, Lee Ann.

HOSPITAL STAY

The quints — four girls and a boy — are remaining for a while in the hospital's special nursing unit. Dr. R. A. Warren, the medical superintendent, said they have progressed enough to come out of their incubators but are being kept inside to facilitate the special care they are receiving.

"It will be wonderful to have Ann home," said her husband, who runs a fish and chips shop.

"I only hope she is doing the right thing," he added. "I would really rather — and so would the doctors — have her come out for a few hours each day, but she is dying to come home and seems perfectly well."

Mrs. Lawson went to the hospital in April after tests confirmed that she was going to have at least four babies. Childless since the birth of her first child, she had been treated with a fertility-stimulating hormone that has resulted in a number of multiple births.

FOURTH SET

The Lawson babies are the fourth set of quints known to be living. The others are the Fisher children of Aberdeen, S.D., who will be two on Sept. 14; the five Cuervo boys in Venezuela, who are a week older than the Fishers, and the 22-year-old Diligentis of Argentina.

Two days after Mrs. Lawson's babies were born, Mrs. Maarten Ohlsen gave birth to quintuplets in Falun, Sweden, but only one of the babies survived. Mrs. Ohlsen had been treated with the same hormone drug given Mrs. Lawson.

Yugoslavia's President Marshal Tito speaks several languages, including Russian, German and some English.

Dean Martin Scorns Lazy Tag

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—"And they call me lazy!" Dean Martin said with scorn.

The allegedly lazy singer-actor was breezing through his third film of this year and preparing to continue his string of television shows, which will total 30 in the coming season.

THOMAS

"Not bad for a lazy guy," he muttered.

He happened on a thought that seemed to give him pleasure. "You know," he said, "when Jerry Lewis and I broke up, he said I wouldn't last two years in show business. Now what happens? He gets dropped by Paramount!"

It should be added that his ex-partner was quickly picked up by Columbia, which signed him for a new movie, "Three on a Couch."

When Martin and Lewis split nine years ago, the wise crowd figured Dean would suffer from the breach. They didn't figure on the resourcefulness of the former Steubenville, Ohio, welterweight boxer. He has proven fast on his feet.

He demonstrates that in his new film, "The Silencers," in which he plays undercover agent Matt Helm. It's reported that Dean has enough dolls in the spy spoof to make James Bond seem like a monk.

Why is he undertaking a full season of television when he obviously is prospering in films?

"Why not?" he countered. "All this talk about how tough television is. Baloney. You know how long it takes me to do an hour television show? Four hours. Yeah, I mean it: Four hours! That's actual working time.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

"I go to the studio at one in the afternoon on Sunday and I'm home at eight in the evening. I knocked off a show like that last Sunday, right in the middle of this picture. And that morning I had myself a round of golf!"

The Martin method leaves preparation of the show up to TV creators who understand his style in music and comedy. By the time Dean arrives, the script and songs are set, he reviews them briefly, then does a run-through.

"When we started out, we did a dress rehearsal, then sat around for two hours before doing the show," he added. "I cut that out. The dress rehearsal was much better than the show, because it had that quality of spontaniety.

"We make a mistake now and then. Who wants a show that is perfect?"

WEEKLY EXPOSURE

Dean has no concern about the weekly exposure cutting into his movie draw.

"People who watch the TV show will see me singing and telling jokes. Since I don't tell jokes on the screen, they're seeing an entirely different Martin from what they get in theaters."

One thing is certain: Martin's way of life becomes him.

NIXON SPEAKS — Former Vice President Richard Nixon speaks to a crowd estimated at 15,000 at the site of the Hoover Presidential Library in West Branch, Iowa, yesterday afternoon. The celebration was to commemorate the 91st anniversary of Herbert Hoover's birth.

Speaks at Hoover Ceremony

Nixon Mum on Political Aims

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, here for ceremonies commemorating the 91st anniversary of Herbert Hoover's birth, turned aside questions about his political aspirations.

"If I had any," he said, "I wouldn't talk about them here."

But Nixon, the unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate in 1960, told a news conference he would return to Iowa sometime this fall to address a party fund-raising dinner in Des Moines, and said:

"When I come then, I'll be glad to answer your political questions."

Nixon's appearance imparted campaign boisterousness to activities Tuesday in this eastern Iowa town of 1,000 where President Hoover was born in 1874. Hoover died last year and is buried here.

Nixon plunged into crowds seeking a glimpse of him and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He shook hands and responded to cries of, "Hey, Dick!"

After a speech in which he called for stepped-up American attacks on North Viet Nam, Nixon spent about 15 minutes autographing programs and snatches of paper urged upon him.

Eisenhower only once broke through the cordon of officers escorting him. As he entered the Hoover residential Library, he reached out both hands to well-wishers lining the sidewalk.

There were reports that Eisenhower was suffering from bursitis.

However, Eisenhower's aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schultz, said the general's ailment was a chronic one which the former president calls his "tennis elbow."

Nixon emphasized that he "would not be so presumptuous" as to indicate that his views on Viet Nam reflect Republican policy.

In his speech, he said the United States "must continue to step up our air and sea attacks on North Viet Nam until the Communist leaders stop their aggression against South Viet Nam."

'WRONG TARGET'

Nixon told newsmen it was unfortunate last week that President Johnson "in a burst of temper hit the wrong target" on the Viet Nam issue.

He referred to Johnson's statement accusing a prominent congressional Republican of violating his confidence and publicizing "untrue and perhaps malicious" information about Viet Nam discussions.

Nixon said the President should discipline his own Democratic party members who oppose the administration's Viet Nam policies before criticizing Republicans.

Farm Site Donated

LANSING (AP)—An anonymous donor has given a 213-acre farm site near Onondaga, valued at $80,000 to $100,000 to a camp which plans to train and rehabilitate teen-aged boys, officials of Camp Ingham Inc., said Tuesday. Robert L. Drake, president of the camp organization, said the site would be used for a farming program with various vocational and technological training programs.

Costs Irk Workers Sent to Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP)—Some employes of the State Highway Department, transferred to the Detroit area from outstate posts, are complaining over the costs.

A petition signed by more than 70 transferred workers beefed about the department's compensation for family living expenses during the changeover.

The group also demanded extra pay for hazardous work.

Frederick Tripp, director of administration for the department, promised a hearing, acknowledging there were problems.

More than 200 employes have been transferred to Detroit area jobs within recent months.

James C. Tolan, spokesman for the complaining group, said he was one to suffer from transfer.

CONSTRUCTION AIDE

A construction aide at an annual $7,200 salary, Tolan was brought to Detroit from Battle Creek March 8.

"I own a house in Hastings but I have not been able to sell it without taking a terrific loss," Tolan said.

Transferred workers get a per diem allowance of $8 a day for the first 90 days and $4 a day for a second 90-day period. The complainants demand that this be extended for another six months.

American railroads last year paid a total of $870 million in federal, state and local taxes.

Hoffa Lawyer Asks for Time

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An attorney for James R. Hoffa Tuesday requested additional time to prepare a motion asking for a rehearing of a federal court decision that upheld the conviction of the Teamsters Union president on jury-tampering charges.

The petition was filed in the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals by attorney James E. Haggerty Sr. of Detroit. It also asked for 60 days additional time for three other men convicted with Hoffa.

GOP: Aid Bill Is Boondoggle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Great Society proposal to pump $3.3 billion into economically depressed areas was called up for action in the House today with Republicans attacking it as a five-year boondoggle.

House Democratic leaders claimed they had the votes to pass the Senate-approved bill late tomorrow or Friday. But GOP lawmakers planned an attempt to send the measure back to committee or, failing that, to offer "tightening" amendments.

The big bill is an extension and expansion of two programs — the controversial Area Redevelopment Act of 1961 and the Public Works Acceleration Act of 1962 — and contains elements of a third, this year's Appalachian aid measure.

President Johnson originally had asked for a five-year, $510-million program, but the Senate increased the money figure, primarily by adding more public works projects.

The present measure is an authorization bill; the actual money must be appropriated by other legislation.

SPECIFIC AIM

All three were aimed at remedying "hard core" unemployment and poverty in sections of the nation not sharing in the general over-all prosperity.

The heart of the measure is a five-year program authorizing $400 million in federal grants annually to build waterworks, sewers, parks and streets.

Another $170 million would be authorized annually for the same period for loans to purchase sites for factories and to guarantee private loans for industrial development.

Congressmen Oppose Dropping Russia's Dues Issue in U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is finding in Congress strong opposition to any abandonment of efforts to force Russia to pay United Nations peace-keeping assessments.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said that as he interprets the sentiments of his colleagues they are "getting real tired" of temporizing on the issue.

France and 11 other nations also are in arrears on peace-keeping assessments. But congressional and other U.S. critics of the situation usually limit their fire to the Soviet Union.

Dirksen, who conferred with Goldberg privately, was asked at a news conference Tuesday if the administration was retreating from its position that the Russians must pay or lose their vote in the U.N. General Assembly.

RETALIATION

He replied that so far as he was concerned he was thinking in terms of retaliation rather than retreat.

"We can foreshorten our contributions and aid to the U.N. and its agencies," he said. "After all, money talks. We are free agents to do as we choose."

Dirksen added he thinks the United States should call for a showdown in the United Nations.

"There is no use kidding ourselves or kidding the world," he said.

Goldberg described as "not accurate" a published report that he would agree to shelve Article 19 of the U.N. Charter which says countries two years arrears in payments shall have no vote in the General Assembly. The report said that after the Soviets were allowed to vote they would make a voluntary contribution to the peace-keeping fund.

"This matter is still under discussion and our position will be explained fully and clearly when the committee of 33 convenes on Aug. 16," Goldberg said. The 33-nation committee was set up to study the no dues-no vote situation.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. position on Article 19 was under review.

Russia, France and the other 11 nations have refused to pay for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo, the Middle East or both. The 11 are Belgium, South Africa, Yemen, Cuba, Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

$60 MILLION

The Soviet Union is about $60 million in arrears and would have to pay about $22 million to get off the two-year list covered by Article 19. France owes about $16 million and would have to pay about $1.5 million to get off the listing.

President Johnson told newsmen in June that "we don't want to see the U.N. wrecked on account of a dollar. We have great hopes for the U.N., and we think it would be tragic if because of a relatively minor amount of money compared to the total budgets of the various nations, the U.N. should become less effective."

But Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who sat in on a briefing Goldberg gave members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that "Article 19 already is dead as a doornail, and has been since last fall when we threw in the sponge and refused to make an issue of it."

Rehabilitation Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of disabled Americans rehabilitated through federal programs was up 13 per cent during the past year. The White House made public a report Tuesday showing 135,000 disabled persons prepared for useful work in 1964.

A Spicy Sauce for Cold Cuts

TROPICAL BREEZE SAUCE — A spicy sauce that's served chilled, the Tropical Breeze Sauce is just the right accent for cold meats such as turkey, ham, and cold cuts.

Nothing — but nothing — adds more to the flavor of a meal or the reputation of a cook than a skillfully made sauce.

While we usually think of sauces as hot, this one is a spicy accent sauce served chilled with cold slice turkey, ham, or cold cuts. It brings out the flavor of the meats and adds a bit of juiciness and tang.

An added advantage is that it keeps the cook as well as the diners cool, for it mixes in minutes and never goes near the stove.

With the cold meats and sauce, serve potato chips, a fruit or vegetable salad, a cool dessert, and hot or iced coffee — a fine menu for patio, porch, or picnic.

For a winter buffet, the cold meats and sauce are delicious with a hot noodle casserole.

Tropical Breeze Sauce

1 jar (10 ounce) apple or currant jelly
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ cup chopped chutney
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons curry powder
1½ teaspoons paprika

Stir jelly with fork to break it into small pieces. Combine with remaining ingredients; blend, leaving tiny pieces of the jelly visible. Serve with cold sliced ham, turkey, chicken, bologna, ham sausage, or luncheon meat. Yield: 2½ cups.

This Salad Enough for Supper

There's hearty eating satisfaction on a warm day in "Summer Salad Dinner." Topping lettuce on individual plates are beets, slices of cold meat and California avocado halves filled with a gelatin mixture enriched with dairy sour cream and given zip with horseradish.

Summer varieties of California avocados now in markets may have green skins or purplish-black skins. However, their exterior appearance doesn't affect the fruit inside; it's the same velvety-smooth popularity winner any time of year.

Summer Salad Dinner

Water
1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
Lettuce
12 slices cold meat (chicken, turkey, roast beef, etc.)
3 California avocados
Lemon juice
French dressing

Drain beets, saving liquid. Add water to beet liquid to make 1 cup. Pour into small saucepan; add gelatin. Heat gently, stirring occasionally until gelatin is dissolved.

Stir sour cream, vinegar, sugar and horseradish gradually into gelatin mixture. Turn into small bowl; chill until firm.

Line 6 plates with lettuce; arrange meat and beets on lettuce.

Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds. Brush avocados with lemon juice.

Spoon gelatin mixture into avocados; add to plates. Pass dressing for meat and beets.

May Mark Ripe Melons

Something new may be added at the melon bin this year. Shippers and chain store produce merchandisers are considering decals that identify the kind of melon.

No longer should Mrs. Consumer wonder if it is a honeydew or Cranshaw melon if she reads the decal. Some produce managers are even considering the possibility of marking the melons when they are ripe for eating.

Most melons are picked before they are ready to eat. If melons were picked table ripe, they would be spoiled or badly bruised after a 7- to- 10-day trip across country. However, reduction in air freight rates in the future may bring a riper melon to the store.

Melons packed in Arizona and California must meet soluble sugar test standards set by law and checked by state department agriculture inspectors at all shipping points.

Yeast Rolls Given Two Doses of Corn

In "Good Newes from New England," Edward Winslow wrote of "Corne, which is the staffe of life." For corn, or maize, was one of the staple foods of the early colonists.

Whereas rye, wheat, oats and barley were easily killed by frost, drought and disease, corn grew tall and strong, and bore quantities of grain for a minimum of care. In their struggle for survival, it was corn that came to the aid of the settlers.

Although we frequently associate cornbreads with the South, they are just as much a part of New England history. Here's a new version of the ever-popular corn rolls made with corn meal plus whole kernel corn.

Double Corn Rolls

¾ cup yellow corn meal
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons margarine
¾ cup boiling water
¼ cup warm water (105-115 F.)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
1 cup (8¾-ounce can) well drained whole kernel corn
3¼ cups unsifted flour (about)
Melted margarine

In a bowl combine corn meal, sugar, salt and margarine. Stir in boiling water. Cool to lukewarm.

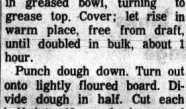
Measure warm water into a large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm corn meal mixture, egg, drained corn and 2 cups flour; beat until well blended. Add enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic; about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Cut each half into 10 equal pieces and shape each piece into a smooth ball.

Place balls 3 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Brush lightly with melted margarine. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15-20 minutes, or until done. Makes 20 rolls.



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Heel of Round.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is a boneless, wedge-shaped cut from the lower part of the round. It has very little fat and is the least tender cut of round.

How is it prepared?

A. By braising or cooking in liquid. To braise, first brown the meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Add a small amount of liquid, cover and cook slowly until tender. Allow about 3 to 4 hours for a 4 to 5 pound cut.

Biscuits Yummier With Chipped Beef

For a mouth-watering main dish, try this: Combine 1 cup chipped beef (about 3½ oz.), one 10½-oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup, ¼ cup grated cheese, ⅜ cup milk and dash of pepper; heat thoroughly.

Dip 6 round shredded wheat biscuits into hot milk; drain. Served biscuits topped with creamed chipped beef; garnish with hard-cooked egg slices. Makes 6 servings.

Blueberries Accent Cake

Here's the blueberry cake we bake every year—if you haven't tried it, you may want to do so.

Annual Blueberry Cake

1 tablespoon plus ¼ cup butter
½ cup finely packed light brown sugar
2 cups blueberries
1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup granulated sugar
1 large egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
Grated rind (about 1 tablespoon) of a lemon
½ cup milk

In a cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches), melt the 1 tablespoon butter; sprinkle the brown sugar into the pan in an even layer; spoon blueberries over brown sugar.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream the ¼ cup butter with the granulated sugar; beat in egg thoroughly with vanilla and lemon rind.

Gently beat in sifted flour mixture in 3 additions, alternately with milk; beat only until smooth. Pour batter over berries.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center of batter comes out clean. Cut in squares in pan and serve warm with whipped cream.

These Squares Are Dessert or Cookie Treat

This dessert should suit anyone with a sweet tooth!

Sweet Butterscotch Squares

2 large eggs
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¾ cup unsifted flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup walnuts, broken small

In the top of a double boiler, beat the eggs slightly. Add brown sugar and butter; over rapidly boiling water, stir constantly until just hot — about 5 minutes; remove from heat.

Add flour and baking powder; stir until blended. Stir in vanilla and walnuts. Turn into a greased and floured 8 by 8 by 2 inch square cake pan.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 20 to 25 minutes. While still warm, cut into squares and remove with spatula; serve with unsweetened whipped cream.

A little lemon juice added to mushrooms that are being simmered helps to keep them white.

Camp Stew Can Be Toted in Ice Chest

Wherever the winds of fortune blow, you are sure to detect the delicious aroma of coffee, especially at a camp site.

Now, with the onset of summer, campfires and the fragrance of coffee will be evident all over the country as the American population gets out to relish the joy of cooking and dining in the open.

The first night at camp is apt to be hectic, with tent, bedding and provisions to be unpacked and arranged.

The camp cook has little inclination for culinary pursuits so the smart family campers carry along a meal already prepared.

Hearty stews are the obvious choice of campers. Our Camp-Burger Stew, has the added benefit of being prepared and packed in advance, ready to heat up in its own container as soon as you arrive in camp.

The stew is packed, two servings to a can, in empty coffee cans which are recovered with metal or plastic tops and sealed with masking tape for traveling in your portable camp ice chest.

Before cooking, the tape is removed and the plastic tops are replaced with foil.

CAMP COFFEE

Camp-Burger Stew can be heated on any type of camp cooking equipment, from coal-burning barbecue grill to camp stove. Accompany the stew with buttered bread, salad and a simple dessert of cheese and fruit.

Most important is the coffee, lots of it, fresh and fragrant. Here's how to steep coffee in a camp coffeepot:

Measure the water into a clean pot and let boil. You'll need three-quarters measuring cup per serving.

When the water comes to a boil, move the pot to one side so the water stays hot, but is not actually boiling and add two level measuring tablespoons (or one Approved Coffee Measure) of regular grind coffee for each serving. Stir the brew for half a minute and then let it steep over low heat for six to eight minutes.

A few drops of cold water will settle the grounds before you serve.

Camp-Burger Stew

2 lbs. lean beef, ground
2 cans (10¾ oz. each) beef gravy
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
½ cup coffee beverage
1 can (1 lb.) small white potatoes
1 can (1 lb.) baby carrots
1 can (1 lb.) onions
1 can (1 lb.) green beans

Shape the beef into 6 large patties. Brown well on both sides. Combine beef gravy, tomato sauce and coffee.

Drain potatoes, discard liquid. Drain carrots, onions and green beans, saving liquid. Combine liquids from these 3 vegetables. Measure 1 cup and add to gravy mixture; blend well.

Fill 3 coffee cans with equal amounts of vegetables and 2 meat balls; pour an equal amount of gravy mixture into each can. Cover, sealing with masking tape. Pack in portable ice chest to carry to camping grounds.

Remove tape and replace plastic covers with foil before heating. Heat on camp stove until bubbling hot. Each can holds 2 servings.

Tray of Ice Cream Simple to Make

Go tropical as the weather gets hotter and treat everyone to "Date-Banana Ice Cream." Made with packaged pudding mix, whipping cream, bananas, small pieces of dates and lemon juice, it's a summer-time delight.

Date-Banana Ice Cream

1 cup dates
1 package (3 or 3¼ oz.) vanilla pudding and pie filling
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 bananas
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream

Cut dates into small pieces. Combine pudding mix with sugar and salt; prepare as package directs. Cool. Whir bananas in blender or press through sieve; combine with lemon juice. Stir into pudding with dates.

Whip cream and fold into pudding. Turn into refrigerator trays and freeze until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Wealthy Had Monopoly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Romans at the height of their power were fond of sweet raisins, historians report. The sweet dried grapes were reserved almost exclusively for the wealthy.

It was a rare occasion when a slave ate raisins. The act of eating a necklace of raisins was the dramatic gesture of freedom from slavery.

Stuff Tomatoes With Asparagus

To take full advantage of the fresh tomato season.

Asparagus Stuffed Tomatoes

4 large ripe tomatoes
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 cup medium white sauce
1½ cups cooked asparagus cuts and tips, drained
½ cup crushed potato chips or buttered crumbs

Scoop out insides of tomatoes. Saute onions until golden brown; add the insides of the tomatoes. Stir in the white sauce and asparagus. Simmer two minutes.

Place hollowed-out tomatoes in baking pan; fill with the asparagus mixture; top with potato chips or buttered crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Peanut Butter Must Be Nutty

Peanut butter must contain at least 90 per cent peanuts under a revised food standard published today by the Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

FDA said the standard allows 10 per cent for optional ingredients which, with proper label declarations, may be used to create products with eating characteristics acceptable to a wide variety of consumers.

Such ingredients include seasonings and hydrogenated peanut and cottonseed oils to reduce oil separation and counteract the tendency of peanut butter to stick to the roof of the mouth.

All optional ingredients used, however, must be declared on the label.

At present there is no standard regulating the peanut content of products marketed as peanut butter. In the past, it has ranged as low as 78 per cent. Some widely-sold brands now on the market contain less than 90 per cent peanuts.

The standard was published in the Federal Register July 8, 1965, and becomes effective in 60 days unless there is a request for a public hearing based on legally valid objections.

FDA said the standard follows a proposal published Nov. 10, 1964, and is intended to resolve some of the questions raised by the peanut butter industry concerning an earlier standard published in 1961. That standard was legally challenged and was stayed pending final action.

Cooks Beef on Engine of His Car

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — An army chef has a method of cooking dinner while taking the family out for a Sunday drive — use the car's engine.

Warrant Officer Bert Quaintance, who got the idea when he saw a cake being baked with only three candles, has successfully sizzled a beef-roast on a 200-mile drive from Edmonton to Calgary.

"We stopped half way at Red Deer to turn it over, and when we arrived at the campground in Calgary it was cooked."

The 45-year-old food services supervisor for the Western Command, says wieners, roast chicken or beef and vegetables can be cooked on the car's engine.

To cook a rib roast, season, add meat tenderizer and fat and wrap in a large sheet of extra-heavy-duty foil. Fold edges together twice to make and lock a seam.

Wrap in two more sheets of foil to protect food from engine fumes and to avoid losing meat juices.

Place the package on the car engine just before starting a trip, laying it on the manifold of a six-cylinder engine or between cylinders of a V-8 immediately ahead of the air filter.

A two- or three-pound rib roast requires about three hours cooking. After driving 1½ hours, turn the meat over.

Vegetables should be parboiled to retain moisture. Boil medium-size potatoes for five minutes or carrots for 10 and wrap in foil.

For chicken, a young broiler or fryer should be cut in half, seasoned and, with tenderizer and fat added, wrapped and cooked the same as a roast.

Wieners may be wrapped in bacon before being sealed in foil, and the rolls may also be heated in the engine.

The warrant officer recommends testing the meat occasionally en route because cooking times vary according to the weather and engine heat.

Shrimp Arithmetic

For those who may wonder about the correct quantity and form when buying shrimp, here are a few simple rules: One pound of fresh or frozen shrimp will yield one-half pound of peeled and deveined shrimp. In other words, one-half pound of cooked and cleaned, or canned shrimp should be used where recipe calls for one pound of raw shrimp, fresh or frozen.

Eat Your Fill of Melons Now

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

One of the nicest things about summer is that melons are ripe. Even though you can sometimes get them at other seasons, they don't taste so good.

There is no sure-fire method of picking a good melon. With watermelon, it's best to have it plugged. Then you can see if the meat is red and the seeds are shiny and black.

Cantaloupe should have well raised, coarse, dry and grayish webbing on a light background. The indentation at the end should be smooth. Ripe melons usually smell good.

If the one you take home isn't ripe, let it stand a room temperature for a couple of days. When you put it in the refrigerator, wrap it so that the aroma doesn't penetrate other foods.

With a melon baller or a spoon scoop out crimson balls of watermelon and use them in an unusual salad that's molded in three layers.

Tri-Color Salad

1 pkg. (3 oz.) lemon flavored gelatin
½ teaspoon dill weed
1 can (8¾-oz.) pineapple spears
1 pkg. (3 oz.) strawberry flavored gelatin
1½ cups fresh cantaloupe balls
1 tablespoon Rose' wine vinegar
½ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup bleu cheese.

Dissolve lemon flavored gelatin in one cup boiling water. Stir in dill weed. Set one-half mixture aside.

Drain pineapple reserving all juices. Add juice to remaining one-half lemon gelatin mixture. Cool. Turn into a 2 quart mold; arrange pineapple spears in lemon mixture. Chill firm.

Meanwhile, dissolve strawberry - flavored gelatin in 1¾ cups of boiling water. Stir in melon balls until blended. Stir in Rose' wine vinegar. Pour over thickened lemon gelatin layer. Chill firm.

Stir sour cream and bleu cheese into reserved lemon gelatin mixture. Pour over thickened strawberry flavored layer. Chill 4 hours before serving.

Molded Watermelon-Fruit Salad

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¾ cup cold water
4 cups diced watermelon
½ cup sugar
6 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup small cantaloupe balls
1 cup diced fresh organes or peaches
½ cup fresh blueberries or strawberries
Salad greens or fresh mint
Watermelon balls
Mayonnaise

Soften gelatin in cold water. Place over hot water, not boiling to melt. Press watermelon cubes through a sieve. Measure juice (there should be 3 cups). Add sugar, lemon juice, salt, and softened gelatin. Mix well.

Chill until mixture begins to thicken to consistency of fresh egg whites. Fold in fruits.

Pour mixture into a 6-cup mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm.

At serving time, unmold onto a large serving platter and garnish with salad greens or fresh mint and watermelon balls. Add mayonnaise. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Definitely not for the under-21 set, but most appealing to their elders is a sipping dessert made with melon.

It's easy to make any melon into a sipping dessert. But a triangular wedge, scoop out seeds and pith through the plug, and introduce liquor into the hollow. Then a few hours in the refrigerator works a minor miracle!

The liquor permeates the fruit and mingles with the juices in mysterious ways. When the melon is served as first course or dessert, every bite has exciting new flavor.

Cantaloupe Toddy

1 small cantaloupe, chilled
1 ounce whisky
½ cup reconstituted frozen lemonade

Cut top from cantaloupe, making scalloped edge, or use half a larger melon. Scoop out pith and seeds. Fill hollow with whisky and lemonade. Serve with straws and spoons. Makes 1 drink.

Bake Raisin Scones; Makes 12 Servings

Sunny Brunch Raisin Scones: Resift 2 cups sifted flour with ½ cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in ⅓ cup shortening. Mix in ⅔ cup California raisins, then 1 egg blended with enough milk to make ¾ cup liquid.

Divide dough in half; pat each into ¾-inch thick circle on greased baking sheet and cut into 6 wedges. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Makes 12.

Tunnels Aren't Good

If you have holes and tunnels in the cakes you bake, it could be due to one of four things — too much leavening, insufficient liquid, undermixing or too slow an oven.

Make Melons Basis for Summer Salads

Sweet, delicious melons are on hand, ready for eating any time of the day. Use rings or "fingers" of chilled melon on a bed of lettuce as the foundation of a cool, fresh fruit salad.

Add grapes and cubes or slices of fresh pears. Serve with a peak of sherbet or fruit dressing.

Top Showing of Week

Steels Strong in Mart Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were strong in a rising stock market early this afternoon.

The market was turning in its best performance of the week.

Changes of most key issues were fractional with a few running to a point or so.

Trading was moderately active and below the pace shortly after the opening.

MAKE ADVANCE

Lukens Steel advanced nearly 2 points. Jones & Laughlin was up more than a point and U.S. Steel and Republic were ahead about half a point.

Among major blocks crossing the ticker tape were Texas Eastern Transmission, up a minor fraction on 18,500 shares, and Standard Oil (Indiana), off half a point on 11,500.

Motors, mail order-retails, electronics, airlines and drugs paced the advance.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .2 to 328.0 with industrials up .9, rails off .1 and utilities off .4.

Ford Motor and Chrysler added about half a point and General Motors was ahead by a lesser fraction.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Advances of about a point were made by Massey Ferguson, Northeastern Airlines and Old Town.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged and Treasuries declined.

'Motor Bikes Cripple, Kill'

Police Commissioner Speaks on Training

LANSING (AP) — Motorcycles and motor scooters "are cripplers and killers," State Police Commissioner Frederick Davids told the State Safety Commission Tuesday.

"I wouldn't want to have any part of including teaching the riding of them as part of the driver education system in our schools," Davids declared. "I'm afraid the parents would descend upon me in wrath."

Davids was asked his opinion on the question at the meeting where figures were cited showing a drastic rise in the number of such bikes registered and number of accidents there.

Persons riding such bikes should have some form of instruction, Davids and other experts agreed. The question is what form it should take, they admitted, coming to no conclusion.

NEED INSTRUCTION

"They should have some special instruction," said Davids. "They also need a St. Christopher's medal and a couple of rabbit's feet."

Davids added that he isn't anti-scooter or cycle. "I've worn out about five of them," he said.

The trouble is, he said, that in almost every motorcycle or scooter accident there are injuries to both the operator and passenger. The injuries often are fatal, he said.

"When we're encouraging safety and pushing the use of safety belts to keep motorists inside the cars, we'd be working against ourselves to advocate teaching how to ride them in the schools. We don't need any more of them weaving in and out among traffic."

Davids said motorcycle and scooter fatalities rose from 26 in 1960 to 51 in 1964. Reigstrations went up from 30,614 in 1960 to 39,041 in 1964, he said.

The greatest increase in registrations, he said, has come within the past six months. There were 28,813 registrations in the first six months of 1964 and 44,622 for the first six months this year, more than the entire total for 1964 and a jump of more than 54 per cent for the six-month period.

The largest increase, Davids said, has come in the small, light type motorcycle.

FORD 'BRONCO' — Ford Motor Co. today became the first auto maker to preview one of its 1966 lines as it unveiled a new four-wheel-drive vehicle called "Bronco."

It is a utility vehicle which is described as the little brother of the Mustang line and available in a roadster (shown here), a roomy wagon or a short-roof utility vehicle.

Suspect Ship Warning Cong

Russian Radar Boat Stationed off Guam

HONOLULU (upi) — A Russian trawler, which has been a fixture three miles off the entrance to Guam's Apra Harbor since December, apparently is providing Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam with early warnings of B52 raids launched from Guam.

Pacific forces headquarters here declined yesterday to make any specific comment about the trawler, which is fitted with elaborate radar gear and is in a perfect position to observe the strategic air command bombers as they take off from Anderson Air Force Base at the north end of Guam.

Under ideal conditions, the trawler crew could give the Viet Cong about three and one-half hours advance warning of an impending raid — the flying time from Guam to South Viet Nam.

The B52 raids, providing saturation bombing of sites known to be Viet Cong staging areas, have provided few actual kills of Viet Cong troops.

Checks of the areas by ground patrols after the raids have shown that the sites were used as permanent bases by the Viet Cong — but the guerrillas apparently have not been in the areas when the bombers struck.

STAY BY SUBS

The Russian trawler tooks its position off Apra Harbor in December when Polaris submarines started using Guam as a base. Similar ships have been familiar sights in every area where American Polaris submarines have been used.

* * *

A spokesman for Pacific forces headquarters said the United States observes the "three-mile limit" under international law, and ships of any nation are free to come and go as they please so long as they remain outside the limit.

The Russian trawler at Guam is just three miles offshore.

Missing Girl Seeks to Stay in U.S.

DETROIT (UPI) — A 19-year-old Bulgarian girl, who disappeared 10 days ago rather than return to her native country, has sent an urgent letter to her relatives seeking help to stay in the United States.

The girl, Nevenka Tchobanova, disappeared the same day her visa expired and was to have returned to Bulgaria.

"Why can not I stay here a little longer or permanently to find a brighter future" the girl asked relatives in Oregon, Ohio.

"I am curious and interested very much in the life of this country . . . and not in the private life and inside of the house of my relatives," she said.

She had been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Kiril Tchobanoff of Warren, Mich., a suburb of Detroit.

BEGGED TO STAY

In the letter, written by hand in broken English on notebook paper, Nevenka said, "I cried and begged, but everybody desired for myself to return to Bulgaria, so I try it on my own."

The Ohio relatives of the girl released the letter to a Detroit paper today and urged the girl to make known her whereabouts.

Immigration officials said they may be able to get an extension of her visa but the longer she remains in hiding the harder it will be for her to obtain help.

Warren policewoman Mary Conforti said people who might know where she is have been uncooperative.

WITH OWN PEOPLE?

Authorities believe the girl may be hiding with some family of Bulgarian descent.

She reportedly spurned two offers from her native countrymen here to marry her.

Miss Conforti said police had no information of any romance the girl may have had during her three month stay in Warren.

Royal Oak Twp. Petition for Cityhood Is Said Void

A petition filed two years ago for the incorporation of Royal Oak Township as a home rule city was declared null and void yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

This action was based on the request of proponents of incorporation who decided to abandon the effort.

The proposed incorporated area was to have been named the City of Medgar Evers, according to the petition filed in November 1963.

Incorporation proponents last month requested to the boundaries committee of the board of supervisors that no further proceedings be had on the petition.

Invalidation of the incorporation petition then was recommended by the committee to the full board.

ARMED FORCES

In other business yesterday, the board of supervisors went on record as favoring the extension of rights and privileges to members of the armed forces who presently are serving under conditions of war.

Acting on a recommendation of its veterans affairs committee, the board called for insurance benefits similar to those extended during World War II.

The resolution also calls for social security benefits, education and training privileges and family benefits such as supplementing allotments to dependents.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to U.S. Senators Hart and McNamara and Congressmen Broomfield and Farnum.

"Animals, on the other hand, are becoming extinct. I'm trying to encourage their preservation."

To help keep down the number of humans, Milligan has become an official of an organization called Family Planning International. It advocates birth control.

Marriage to Join Labor and Business

DETROIT (AP) — Love is bringing together a family from labor and another from business and industry.

Michigan labor leader August (Gus) Scholle's daughter, Susaff, 21, and John T. Connor Jr. 24, son of the secretary of commerce, are engaged.

Pretty, blonde Susan and Connor, both Harvard University law students will be married in Detroit Dec. 18.

And hardly anybody could be more enthusiastic than Miss Scholle's father.

PRAISES PAIR

Scholle, veteran and sometimes hard-bitten champion of labor and longtime president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, declaimed over young Connor as a "vey fine boy" and said his daughter was a "very human girl."

"They didn't seem to care a hoot in hell who the parents were and that's fine with me," he said.

Susan contributed a touch of her own.

"It could only happen in America — the one, big happy thing, labor and management together," she laughed.

SCHOLASTIC SOCIETY

Miss Scholle, whose father never got past the ninth grade, is a Phi Beta Kappa. So is her fiance. Susan achieved election to the honorary scholastic society at the University of Michigan, Connor at Williams College in Williamstown, Pa. Their Harvard law studies are postgraduate work. They aspire to law careers.

Each has a summer job as a law clerk, Susan in Detroit and Connor as an aide to counsel for the governor of New Jersey. They'll live in Cambridge, Mass., after their marriage.

Labor man Scholle expressed confidence for the marriage.

"The parents," he said, "are both good Democrats, so we have a great deal in common. I hope they are as happy and harmonious as our political philosophies seem to be."

Crisis Around the Corner—3

Water Shortage Absurd? Don't Bet on It

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of three articles on the water crisis in the United States, written by United Press International reporter Harry Ferguson.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter

WASHINGTON — With 320 million cubic miles of water in the seas and oceans, it seems absurd to be talking about shortages.

The message to mankind seems clear and concise: "There's more water than you will ever need. Help yourself."

All we have to do to put the matter into perspective is to recall Coleridge's poem about the ancient mariner becalmed at sea aboard a sail ship and running out of fresh water.

This was his despairing cry: "Water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink."

A man who drinks a half-pint of sea water for three consecutive days is on the road to sure death.

SALT CONTENT

The heavy salt content in sea water attacks the kidneys, cripples the liver and ruins the digestive system.

Doubtless in the early morning of mankind's existence, there has been some smart fellow who contemplated an arid desert running down to the shore of a blue ocean and wondered why they couldn't be blended to produce food.

The answer, again, is too much salt.

Now, when it is later than we think so far as the supply of fresh water is concerned, man has attacked the problem.

NO DIFFICULTY

There is no difficulty in removing the salt from sea water and coming out with a product fit for human and plant consumption. But the price isn't right.

There are many plants around the world which convert sea water into fresh water and the U.S. government operates some of them on an experimental basis.

But the cost is running around $1 per 1,000 gallons of water and, in some cases, as much as $1.50 per 1,000 gallons.

Precise figures are difficult to come by, but it seems likely that the water we take out of our faucets costs about 27 cents per 1,000 gallons.

SOOTHE CITIZENRY

Not that you necessarily pay that much for it, because many cities try to soothe the taxpayer by hiding water costs elsewhere.

The day may come when salt water can be converted into fresh for about 32 cents per 1,000 gallons, but none of the experts here in Washington will bet on it.

They keep hammering away at state, county and city officials to cut down on waste and pollution as the best emergency measure.

So we are entangled in a web of political timidity and public apathy. No man wants to run for mayor on a platform of providing plenty of water at $1.50 per 1,000 gallons.

NEEDS A SHOCK

The average citizen has to be hit right in the gut by a severe water shortage before he goes into action.

Money ceases to be a consideration when a nation becomes desperate for water. The sheikdom of Kuwait, on the Persian Gulf, is rich in oil and almost barren of water.

It almost could be said that water was more valuable than oil. The solution to the problem was to build plants which now convert 5.2 million gallons of sea water into fresh.

Israel, desperate for water, cheerfully assumes the risk of war with its Arab neighbors by tapping and diverting the river Jordan to its own uses.

MUST GET WORSE

So far as the United States is concerned, things have got to get worse before they get better. Cities will have to be shaken out of their complacency by near disasters.

Nineteenth century thinking about water supplies will have to be abandoned.

Most cities operate on the theory that they must get their water from a river or a lake nearby. Listen to Dr. Rolf Eliassen, an expert at Stanford University:

"Cities will have to get away from their provincial attitudes of looking for water at their back doorsteps, and become willing to make a search for it. If you need water desperately, you have to go get it.

WILLING TO PAY

"In California, where we know it's not going to rain for months, we are willing to go 700 miles for water and the public is willing to pay for it.

"We haven't had rain here in four months but I'm able to water my lawn anytime. My garden is beautiful. We're never short of water because we weren't afraid to go long distances for it."

The other day, President Johnson signed the Water Resources Planning Act.

As is usually the case when the federal government acts, the bill creates a commission including the Secretaries of Interior, Agriculture, Army, Health, Education and Welfare and the chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

But the significant fact is that this new legislation is not an emergency measure enacted in response to the current drought.

INVESTIGATION

It is the result of a special Senate investigation conducted four years ago. In the fullness of time, the commission doubtless will also come up with a report or, conceivably, some action.

This is cold comfort to a New England farmer whose livelihood is drying up under his feet.

But until there is some rethinking of the problem of water, our governments—federal, state and municipal — seem to be spending all their time locking the barn door. The horse, of course, was stolen 40 years ago.

Dirksen Will Offer New Districting Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen says he expects to pick up more support for a revised version of his proposed constitutional amendment to allow states to apportion one house of their legislature on other than a straight population basis.

The Republican Senate leader said Tuesday he will offer the new bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee. The original version of his legislation failed by seven votes in the Senate last week. It was aimed at bypassing the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" decision.

House Moves to Punish Draft Card Destroyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has moved to punish young men who deliberately destroy their draft cards. Some protestors against the fighting in Viet Nam have threatened such action.

It passed and sent to the Senate a bill providing penalties up to five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

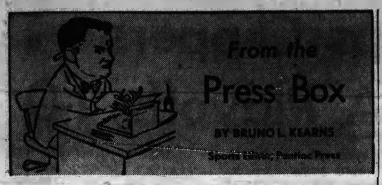
Plum to Start at Quarterback Against Eagles



Long before Jerry Rush started his college football days at Michigan State, he had some special tutoring at the tackle position.

It was Lou Creekmur, seven-time All-Pro tackle of the Detroit Lions, who had Rush under his wing in 1960 and who predicted that the former Pontiac Central gridder was sure to make the pro ranks.

That was the year of the Oakland County High School All-Star Football game, the first and only one of its kind in Michigan.

Creekmur was coaching the North Squad and Leon Hart had the South Oakland Stars.

BOTH WAYS

Rush at this time had the reputation among Saginaw Valley teams of identifying himself after completing a tackle. In the All-Star game which the North won, 18-12, Rush, playing both ways, rushed in on the fourth play of the game and hit South quarterback Ron Bishop for a big loss.

Bishop looked up and heard what most every back in the Saginaw Valley heard during the season. "Now remember you just been hit by Jerry Rush."

Rush went on to MSU along with all-state teammate Charlie Brown and both were given the recognition as being among the few linemen on Duffy Daugherty-coached teams who earned starting berths as sophomores.

"I liked playing offensive tackle much better, maybe because I played it more at State," said Rush, who was touted for defensive end but now is working at defensive tackle for the Lions at Cranbrook.

TOO MANY POUNDS

At his present 272 pounds, Rush doesn't figure to have the speed for defensive end, but even at defensive tackle he should be down to 255 or 260. "It doesn't make any difference where, just so I get a chance to play," said Rush.

"When I used to watch the Lions on TV, I thought it was just a dream that I could ever be on the team," he said, "I didn't even give myself a 1,000 to one chance."

"When I was drafted No. 1 by Boston in AFL before the NFL draft, the president of that team stopped to see me and I told him that I would play for him if any team other than the Lions drafted me," Rush noted.

When the Lions made their No. 2 choice, Rush recalled that "the Boston man just called to find out if this moved them out of the picture. He started making a pretty good offer, but I reminded him what I said earlier."

Back from the All-Star game last Saturday morning, Rush started and played much of the time next to Roger Brown on the Blue team of the intra-squad game, without a minute of playing time in Lions' camp.

"I looked over the defensive charts a couple hours before game time and Roger helped me on the field with the defensive moves," Rush said.

Considering this, coach Gilmer commented he was quite pleased with Rush's performance in the game.

Making the team and cutting the pounds aren't the biggest or the only problems for Rush. He completed a visit with his draft board yesterday and has an Army reserve stint facing him, and to add another problem, the hay fever season has started and he is a constant sniffler from now until mid-October.

If Rush plays up to the Lions' expectations, they wouldn't care if he did have to sneeze out the saying, "Remember man, Jerry Russsschewww - - - just hit ccchheewwwou."

FEELING GOOD — South African swimmer Karen Muir, 12, and team manager Alew Bulley share her moment of elation in London Tuesday after she broke the world record for the 110-yard backstroke by eight-tenths of a second. She swam the distance in 1:08.7 in the preliminaries of the British championships, and was the youngest competitor to break a recognized world record.

Bobby Nichols 'Draws' Vote

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI) — Defending champion Bobby Nichols cast one loud dissenting vote today against those who are picking Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer or Gary Player to win the PGA golf championship starting Thursday.

"It looks like they are counting me out," said Nichols, for on these home grounds of Palmer, the legion of Arnie's Army will reluctantly admit there are Nicklaus and Player also to be considered.

But no one, except the defending champion himself, seems concerned about Nichols. He feels very strongly, they are making a mistake.

"I'm hitting the ball well and straight," he said, "and I'm hitting the greens in regulation. So if my putting holds up, I'm not worried about these other golfers they all are talking about."

Putting has been Nichols' stock in the golfing trade. He has trouble reaching the green and is known as a scrambler.

He won the PGA championship last year primarily on his putting, sinking them from long distances to make up for errant drives and approaches.

"I've straightened out my driving and my approaching," Nichols said. "And I've never been concerned about my putting."

Nichols was listed as an 8 to 1 shot in the field of 167 golfers who will tee off Thursday for the first of four rounds over the 7,090-yard Laurel Valley Country Club course, Palmer's home course.

NICKLAUS FAVORED

Nicklaus, off two big successive triumphs — in the Thunderbird and the Whitemarsh Open — is the 4 to 1 favorite to win this one with Palmer the second choice at 5 to 1.

Doug Sanders, Bruce Crampton and Mason Rudolph, all at 6 to 1, also are rated ahead of Nichols in the odds.

"I was a 30 to 1 shot when I won it last year," Nichols recalled. He shot a 271 to win by three strokes over Palmer and Nicklaus.

So confident is Nichols that he is on his game, even though he checked in Monday at Laurel Valley, he didn't play the course until Tuesday. That put him in the same category as Nicklaus and Player, neither of whom had played Laurel Valley until Tuesday.

"I felt the rest would do me more good than playing the course," Nichols explained.

Like Nicklaus and Player, he found the course "tough, but fair."

"No golfer is going to burn it up," Nichols predicted. He went along with Palmer's prediction that 280-four under par — would be good enough to win it.

Gilmer Selects Milt for Lions' 1st Exhibition

Coach Says Morrall Will Be at Helm in Second Game

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The awaited decision on the starting quarterback for the Detroit Lions' against the Eagles in the opening exhibition game Sunday in Philadelphia became known when the Lions went through their drills this morning at Cranbrook.

Milt Plum, who started the signals for the first offensive unit, was coach Harry Gilmer's choice to start Sunday.

Gilmer indicated since the intra-squad game at Wisner last Saturday night that the quarterback who directed the starting unit this morning would start against the Eagles.

This, however, did not mean that the starting quarterback in Sunday's encounter would be the No. 1 man when the regular season started.

"The quarterback who does not start in this game, will be the starter in the second game," said Gilmer, "and it will be one of the rookies who will be one of the relief quarterbacks in each game.

"I won't have Morrall relieving Plum in this game, and then have Plum relieving Morrall in the next one. I must see what the rookies will do and they will be the backup men in each case."

SPECULATIONS

Another indication is that the Lions will not go to Philly with five quarterbacks, which means that a trade or deal for a draft choice could be in the making.

As always the case when trade rumors start circulating, the various possibilities are speculated.

Among the several speculations involving the quarterbacks are:

a. That Plum or Morrall would be accorded the No. 1 spot and the other to be No. 2, with Tom Myers No. 3, and either Karl Sweetan or Sonny Gibbs placed on the taxi squad and the other released or traded.

b. That Morrall would be traded to Pittsburgh in exchange for Bill Nelson, a three year qb along with a draft choice. Nelson would be No. 2, Myers No. 3 and Sweetan and Gibbs taxied or traded.

c. That Plum would be traded to Philadelphia in exchange for Norm Snead and a draft choice.

d. That either Plum, Morrall or Gibbs would be traded to the Giants for a No. 2 quarterback or a draft choice.

In any case one quarterback may be gone before Sunday's game along with a couple tested players who may bring the Lion at least draft choices.

ALONE IN MAGIC CIRCLE — Los Angeles Dodger lefthander Sandy Koufax (32) receives congratulations of manager Walt Alston after becoming first major league hurler to win 20 games this season. He defeated the New York Mets, 4-3, last night for his 20th conquest.

Minnesota Could Reign With .500 Stretch Pace

By United Press International

A mere .500 shapes up as the Minnesota Twins' "magic pace" to their first American League pennant.

With an 8½-game lead and only 50 games left to play, the Twins have reached the point where 25 more victories would give them a season total of 98 — a figure which the Baltimore Orioles, Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers or Chicago White Sox could equal only by a tremendous late surge.

To exceed that 98-victory total, the Orioles would have to win 35 of their last 51 games for a .686 pace. The Indians would have to take 37 of their last 52 for a .711 pace and the Tigers or White Sox would have to close at a 39-14, .736-rate.

The Twins moved another stride closer to their objective Tuesday night when they beat the New York Yankees 7-3 and picked up a half-game on the second-place Orioles, who were bombed by the Boston Red Sox 15-5 before winning the nightcap of a twi-night doubleheader 12-4.

UNEARNED RUNS

It was "giveaway night" at Yankee Stadium as the Twins scored five unearned runs in the eighth inning after the Yankees had tied the score at 2-2 in the seventh.

Relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen threw wildly on Bob Allison's two-out roller to permit the tie-breaking run to score in the eighth and the Twins stretched the lead to 7-2 on singles by Jimme Hall and Don Mincher and Earl Battey's double.

Jim Kaat yielded an eighth-inning homer to Mickey Mantle but gained credit for his 11th win with relief aid from Al Worthington.

It was the Twins' sixth straight victory and their eighth in 12 games with New York.

The Los Angeles Angels downed the Indians 5-2, and the White Sox scored a 6-0 victory over the Washington Senators in other American League games.

The Red Sox clinched their opener with the Orioles by scoring 12 runs in the fifth inning.

Giardello Set for Title Bout With Tiger

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello made it official Tuesday and signed for a return title bout with Nigeria's Dick Tiger at Madison Square Garden Oct. 21.

There was a slim possibility the Garden may back up the title 15-rounder with another top bout, perhaps another championship contest, said matchmaker Ted Brenner.

"But the chances are the fight will stand by itself," said Harry Markson, the Garden's boxing director.

"I am sure it will sell out. We may add a light-heavyweight bout featuring champion José Torres or welterweight champion Emile Griffith if a deal can be worked out, but I'm inclined to doubt it."

Markson said he is negotiating for either closed circuit or home television of the Giardello-Tiger fight.

The 35-year-old Giardello, a New Yorker living in Cherry Hills, N.J., received his license from the New York State Athletic Commission last week. He hasn't fought in his native city in nine years.

Stillwell shot a two-over-par 73 on the north course while Haggarty, a left-hander, scored a three-over-par 71 on the south course.

Play in the various classes was to conclude today with contenders changing courses.

Class A (75-79) — Harry Peterson, Detroit GC, 84; Roy Berry, Barton Hills, 86.

Class B (70-74) — Clarence Farley, Blythefield, 82; Edwin Pate, Grosse Ile, 80.

Class C (65-69) — Marvey Olsen, Lochmoor, 81; Harold Meshrer, Red Run, 75.

Class D (60-64) — Walter Clark, Lochmoor, 80; George Haggarty, CC of Detroit, 71.

Class AA (Over 80) — William Ryan, Detroit GC, 46; Cyrus Goodrich, Battle Creek, 43.

Sandy Koufax Owns 20, Talks About 30

By the Associated Press

Sandy Koufax doesn't want any relief, but he thinks he'll need some to win 30 games.

The inimitable Koufax discussed that elusive plateau after becoming the majors' first 20-game winner in the Los Angeles' Dodgers 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets Tuesday night. He also talked about his physical condition.

"I feel a little tired," he admitted, "but after a couple of nights sleep I'm always ready again. It would help if the weather got a little cooler. But I'm not looking for any rest. I still want to pitch every fourth day.

"I have a chance to win 30, but I would have to win every start. I really don't think I'll get 30 because you have to pick up some in relief, and I doubt that I'll be doing that."

12 STARTS

If Koufax continues pitching every fourth day, he will have 12 more starts, enough so that he could afford to lose a couple and still become the first to win 30 since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

It's even possible that Manager Walt Alston will call upon the left-handed ace for some relief duty if the National League pennant race remains as close as it is now. The Dodgers lead San Francisco by only one game and Milwaukee and Cincinnati by two each.

Top Swimmers, Divers Converging on Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Olympic veterans and promising newcomers merge this week in a National AAU swimming and diving meet with international overtones.

Forty-six of the more than 500 young men and women competing in the men's and women's National AAU Championships will earn places on American teams that will travel to Europe and South America.

Some of the youngers who will burst into acquatic prominence here may also have an eye on 1968, when America will pick another Olympic team.

John Nelson of Pompano Beach, Calif., for instance, is a high school sophomore who looks like a promising contender for the 1968 international competition. He placed in three events in last year's AAB outdoor meet — and could be the coming youngster in the free-style events.

YOUNG TANKERS

He'll have plenty of competition, though, from such other swimmers as young Greg Buckingham of Santa Clara, Calif., and veteran Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., world record holder in the 1,500-meter free-style and the first man to cover that distance in under 17 minutes.

The National meet opens today with men's three-meter and women's one-meter diving. Thursday, the divers switch boards, men going to the low spring and women to the higher board.

India Team to Tour

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's world champion field hockey team will tour Europe in September and October, the All-India Sports Council said today.

County Girl Links Loser

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Battle Creek golfer Sharon Miller kept her chances alive for a victory in the Broadmoor Women's Invitational Tuesday by defeating another Michigan girl.

Miss Miller defeated Linda Fuller, Union Lake, 7 and 6, in the first round of the tournament.

Sharon Wilder of Grand Rapids fell to Susan Lance, Woodlawn Hills, Calif., 5 and 4.

Happy Wickersham Wins, 3-0

DETROIT (AP) — Dave Wickersham says he takes no special pleasure in beating Kansas City —he's just happy to be winning again.

Wickersham continued his successful comeback from a disastrous start and blanked the Athletics, 3-0, Tuesday night.

"No, I'm not mad at Kansas City," Wickersham said after posting his fifth victory in his last five decisions. "They did me a favor by trading me to Detroit.

"I know most of the fellows playing for them and have no enemies. I'm just happy to be beating anyone," he added.

SHAKY START

Wickersham survived a shaky first inning — when he gave up two of his three walks — and went on to bring his record to 6-8.

"I was throwing hard in that first inning but I just wasn't in the groove," he explained. "Once I got into it, things went quite smooth."

Kansas City Manager Haywood Sullivan lauded Wickersham's performance by saying," he pitched a whale of a game. We might have played all night and never scored."

Wickersham aided his own cause with one of his infrequent hits. His two-out single in the sixth inning scored Don Demeter with the second Detroit run. Dick McAuliffe scored seconds later as Don Wert drilled a single to center.

The hit was Wickersham's third in 43 trips to the plate and the RBI was his first of the season.

A walk to Norm Cash and singles by Al Kaline and Gates Brown gave the Tigers their first run in the first inning.

Bert Campaneris had two of the four hits off Wickersham. He stole his 39th base of the season following his hit in the third inning. He became the only KC player to reach third when he moved there on an infield out in the same inning.

Brown, playing left field for the benched Willie Horton, collected two of the Tigers' six hits.

Fred Talbot, who had won four straight since the All-Star game break, was the losing pitcher.

The two teams are scheduled to meet in a twi-night doubleheader tonight.

Ace Pontiac Tanker St. Louis Winner

Pontiac Northern's 14-year-old ace swimming junior Steve Yedlin wrapped up his summer season with two firsts and a third over the weekend at the St. Louis (Mo.) Shaw Park Invitational.

Yedlin, who set the Michigan 200-meter freestyle record for 13- to 14-year-olds 10 days ago, wasn't pushed as he won the event at St. Louis in 2:19.

He also won the 100-meter freestyle comfortably in 1:02. 1:02 his 1:17.5 in the 100-meter backstroke was good for third place.

Braves Get Ex-Met

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The New York Mets, who recently sold outfielder Billy Cowan to their Buffalo farm club in the International League said Tuesday that he has been re-sold by the Bisons to the Milwaukee Braves.

Softball '9' Thrives in Tourney Play

Francis Coal & Oil's softball team, which could post only a 6-12 record during the regular season, has come alive in tournament play and now has a chance to win the city's Class D berth in the state playoffs.

The Coal & Oil squad knocked off Orchard Lanes last night, 3-2, and tonight it will take on the Pontiac Merchants at 7 at Northside in the playoff finals.

Two wins over the Merchants would give the Francis nine the city's National League title and move the team into state regional Class D action at Waterford next week.

Francis, trailing 2-1, came up with two runs in the sixth inning to take the decision.

In International League playoffs, Michigan Bell advanced to the finals with a 12-6 triumph over Buckner Finance. Motorcar Transport and Michigan Bell meet tonight.

300 Bowl downed Spencer Floors last night, 6-5, in a Class A exhibition game.

In Waterford Township playoffs, Jack Nelson tossed a no-hitter as Bob & Larry's Bar wrapped up the Class C title with a 9-2 victory over Dixie Bar, and Midget Bar (2-0) downed Dixie Tool (1-1), 7-3, in a Class D contest.

Nelson lost his shutout in the seventh inning when his teammates committed three errors. Dean Perkio, Morey Yarnold and Joe Croteau collected two hits apiece to pace the winners.

Tonight, Dixie Tool will meet Howe's Lanes (1-1) at 7 and Lakeland Pharmacy (3-0) will try to wrap up the Class B crown in a game against Richardson Dairy (1-1) at 8:30.

PBI Nips Clippers in 'A' Playoffs, 1-0

Class A city baseball fans might have been disappointed when rain delayed the start of the post-season playoffs two days, but the opening game last night was a treat for those who like excellent pitching.

Pontiac Business Institute won a tense 1-0 duel from the R. T. Clippers on the clutch playing of two season-long standouts, pitcher Ed Sparkman and infielder Morey LaPratt.

LaPratt gave the left-hander the only run he needed with a single to center field, scoring Sparkman from second base with two out in the fourth inning.

The PBI second baseman, who led the regular season leaders in runs batted in, produced the third straight hit in the inning off Don Glowaz. The southpaw yielded only four in the tilt.

Sparkman had singled to left but Bob Smith, who started the rally with a one-out single, was thrown out trying for third base. Glowaz had retired the first 10 batters in order.

Sparkman was touched for a single and double by Bud Thomason. The only other Clipper runners reached base on two walks, an error and hit batter. During the season, he won five.

The PBI southpaw had 11 strikeouts, and got the final five batters on strikes. He had one bad inning, the fifth. The Clippers loaded the bases with two out, but Thomason grounded out to end the threat.

The men's league best-of-three semifinal series will continue tonight at 8 o'clock under the Jaycee Park lights with Huron-Airway and Cranbrook starting.

JUNIOR BALL

Two rain-postponed city junior baseball elimination tilts were played yesterday.

In the Class E American playoffs, Bloomfield Hills ousted Clarkston, 13-7, and moved into today's championship round against the Yankees.

The Met Club dropped Kennerly's Standard Service from the "E" National playoffs with a 6-0 triumph that put the winners in the finals against the Lakers.

Cary Walsh had three singles and Pete Young two in the Hills' team's 10-hit attack. The Met Club's Webster and Musgraves shared a three-hitter against Kennerly's.

Flint 11 Outtalks Pontiac Pros

The tackle the Pontiac Arrows thought they had, will now be playing against them when they meet the Flint Bluedevils in the home exhibition opener Saturday night in Wisner Stadium.

Jim Richendollar, the 275-pound tackle, who was wrestling coach at Southfield High School, has decided to stay with the Flint team.

Last year Flint played an independent schedule and Richendollar was at a regular defensive tackle spot.

Coach Lyle Wells of the Arrows got him to cast his lot with Pontiac when the club was moved here from Mount Clemens this year, but when Flint became a member of the Midwest Football League, several weeks of discussions took place as to the big lineman's status.

He practiced with Pontiac, went to Flint, reported he was coming back to Pontiac and now it was announced by Flint coach Terry Williams he will be a Bluedevil this Saturday night.

Pontiac officials have not indicated what their next move will be, whether they'll force the issue with Midwest Football League commissioner Ed McCracken in Dayton or not.

The Flint team comes to Pontiac as a strong contender for the league title won by Lansing last year. Wells feels the Arrows will be the strongest challengers.

BEEFY LINE

The addition of Richendollar gives Flint a beefy line that could be hard to crack.

Teaming with Richendollar at the tackle slots will be Al Pettyplace, a 6-2, 230-pounder who starred at Saginaw SS Peter & Paul before playing at Hillsdale.

Len Christman, president of the Bluedevils, is another of the team's big linemen at 220 pounds. Christman, recovering from a strep throat infection, is expected to see only limited action Saturday against the Arrows.

The tallest Bluedevil will be end Paul Krusel, a 6-4, 241-pounder, who played freshman ball at the University of Detroit.

Williams has two men bidding for the quarterback position — Ken Waters, who attended Central State of Ohio and 190-pound Tommy Thompson, a graduate of Flint Central who played two years at Western Michigan.

Adult tickets for the game are on sale at several downtown Pontiac locations: Griff's Grill, Osmun's Men Store, Bob & Ken's Bar and V.F.W. Post 1380.

A limited number of student tickets — 50 cents each — are on sale at the S. S. Kresge Store in Miracle Mile.

Tom Draper Makes Canadian Amateur

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI) — Three Michigan golfers began match play today in the 61st Canadian Amateur golf championship.

Tom Draper of Royal Oak qualified for today's play Tuesday with a total score of 149 for two rounds, six strokes behind medalist George Boutell, Phoenix, Ariz.

Pete Passink, Battle Creek, fired an 80 and 75 for a total of 155. Tom Pendlebury, Ann Arbor, shot an 81 and 74 to equal Passink.

Stan Harrington Again Outpoints Ray Robinson

HONOLULU (AP) — Stan Harrington outclassed Sugar Ray Robinson Tuesday night and won an easy unanimous 10-round decision over the former middleweight champion.

The fight drew only 3,800 fans at Honolulu International Center who paid a gross gate of $16,000 to see the rematch which was pretty much a carbon copy of their June fight.

Robinson made his last stand as early as the second round when he exchanged stiff punches with Harrington in midring.

But Harrington rocked him soundly in the fourth round, the best of the fight, and from then on Sugar Ray was on his bicycle in constant retreat. There were no knockdowns.

Pontiac Swimmer Wins River Race

Pontiac Swim Club member John Mason won the 11th annual International Cross-River Swim Saturday in the mile-and-a-half race from Port Huron to Sarnia, Ontario.

Another Pontiac swimmer, Bob Lorenz, was third. Last year he set the record for the senior men's division in the race.

Mason made the rough crossing in 17 minutes, 19 seconds this year while competing as a junior men's entrant. That is for swimmers 14 to 17 years old.

The United States swimmers among the 50 entrants had the highest number of points and won the international trophy for the fourth time.

Appeal Looms by Norm Evans

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Norm Evans, Chelan, Wash., said Tuesday he will appeal his unprecedented suspension when the Unlimited Hydroplane Racing Commission meets in November.

Evans was suspended from driving unlimiteds for a full year as the result of an accident in Sunday's Gold Cup unlimited regatta here.

He escaped with bruises when his boat, Miss Lapeer, and Miss U.S. 5, Driven by Roy Duby, piled up while jockeying for position at the start of a heat.

Duby finished the race with a damaged sponson, but Evans' craft was scratched for the rest of the race.

Referee Bill Newton ordered the suspension saying Evans cut directly in front of Duby, leaving him no choice but to climb over the Miss Lapeer. Newton said Evans had been disqualified from last year's Detroit Golf Cup race for "rough driving."

He was driving the same boat, then campaigning as the Miss Eagle Electric.

Specialized Fish Lakes Planned for Oakland

The day is coming when a fisherman will be able to go on an Oakland County lake and expect to catch only bluegills. Or he may decide to try his luck on waters where only black bass are available.

"We don't know how successful this specialized fishing will turn out," said Henry Vondett, district fish biologist at the Pontiac Lake conservation office, "but we are going to try it on a few lakes in the area."

Fish in designated lakes will be poisoned and the lakes restocked with only one species.

Pontiac Press Photo
HENRY VONDETT

Crystal Lake in the Holly recreation area is scheduled to become a black bass lake and Hart Lake in the Bald Mountain area will be stocked with bluegills.

Studies are being conducted in the Highland and Proud Lake areas to determine if certain lakes will be included in the experiment. A northern pike lake probably will be established in one of these areas.

"If everything goes well," said Vondett, "a fisherman could try for bluegills on one lake and then switch to a pike, bass or trout lake later in the day."

The experimenting with one species to a lake also is taking place in other parts of the state. Two lakes in Oakland County have been stocked with trout.

Hartwig contains only rainbows and Little Algoe has browns. This program was started two years ago. Both lakes are in the Holly recreation area.

ANOTHER PLAN

"We are even toying with the idea of introducing sterile bluegills to a lake," the fish biologist pointed out.

"Our objective would be to see if no reproduction would improve the size and quality of the fish by eliminating the possibility of the lake becoming overpopulated with little bluegills and causing stunting."

Vondett pointed out that any bass or pike lakes would also be stocked with one species of minnows to serve as forage fish.

Most of the management work will be done on lakes in state-owned recreation areas, he said. "This gives us a chance to obtain better data in these control situations."

Cass Lake will come under department study this fall.

"I'm anxious to see how the splake are doing," said Vondett. "We plan to do some netting when the splake come back into shallow water."

Over 25,000 splake, a cross between brook and lake trout, were stocked in Cass late last year. Fishermen had a field day in May while this fish were in shallow water.

Splake move into the depths when water temperatures begin to rise.

If Cass tests prove successful, Vondett indicated that he will recommend splake for another lake or two in the county.

Put-and-take trout plantings on some area streams probably will be curtailed, he said, but not eliminated. Stream surveys are scheduled for this fall.

Animals Kept Officers on Move in July

Wild animals kept conservation officers hopping last month in the District 14 area of Oakland, Macomb, Wayne and southern St. Clair counties.

Squirrels were the biggest culprits. Mr. bushy tail led the list with 204 complaints.

Others were raccoon 18, rabbits 11, woodchucks 10, skunks 7, muskrats 5, dogs 3, deer 2, moles and seagulls one each.

The officers also arrested 33 fish and game law violators. Twenty-six violations involved fishing. Failure to have a license led the list by a wide margin.

Officers also checked out an example of wildlife friendliness.

Glen Quick of Richmond took officers Rex Glidden and Alden Liimakka to a wooded area near Richmond. Quick called and a ruffed grouse came out of the woods.

He called some more and the grouse jumped up on his shoulder.

Fire Hazard Cut by Rain

Another High Danger Period Coming Up

LANSING (AP)—Rains over the past few days were hailed with cheers by the Conservation Department.

Milton Bergman, chief of the department's forest fire section, said they came just in time.

"The drought was building the fire possibility situation up to the danger point," he said.

"High winds and drought conditions combined to create the hazard."

The incidence of fires during the previous week, Bergman said, was much higher than any other time this year.

The Upper Peninsula and almost all of the northern Lower Peninsula received varying degrees of rain, Bergman said, "to help the situation enormously."

PARCHED AREA

The central Michigna area — worst parched in the state—also received some rain but could use more, he added.

"This gives us a breathing spell for a few days," Bergman said. "But as soon as the forests and grasslands dry out, the danger can build up again."

To date, Bergman reported, Michigan has had 655 outdoor fires burning over 2,366 acres of land.

The high danger period is still ahead — the fall when greenery is killed and leaves start to fall.

Bergman recalled that last year Gov. George Romney had to issue a fire safety proclamation, banning fires and smoking in the woods.

Permit Applications Due Aug. 27

Hopeful Elk Hunters Study Open Areas

"Which area should I select?" This is the most common question being raised these days by hopeful Michigan elk hunters as they fill out and mail the necessary applications to the Conservation Department's Lansing office.

The deadline for applying is Aug. 27.

Only 300 of the several thousand applicants will ever have to worry whether they made the correct choice among the five areas that will be open to hunting during the Dec. 8-16 season.

Department officials are expecting a big increase in applications over the 23,339 received in 1964 when Michigan's first organized elk hunt was held. The 90 per cent hunter-success rate appears to be the key to more demand for permits.

Last year, 298 hunters took 289 elk.

The five adjacent areas that will be open this December are located in Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Otsego and Montmorency counties, and are the same as in 1964.

The map that comes with the 1965 application doesn't show where the elk were killed last season. It really wouldn't be too helpful in making a determination because the success rate in the four areas open to taking any elk was only six percentage points apart.

The fifth area, where bulls were protected — and will be again this season — as tourist attractions, registered only 77 per cent.

AREA SCORES

Here is a rundown by area:

No. 1 (northwest)—75 hunters killed 70 elk for 93 per cent success.

No. 2 (central)—cows and calves only; bulls protected; 30 hunters killed 23 elk for 77 per cent.

No. 3 (northeast)—60 hunters took 53 elk for 88 per cent.

No. 4 (southeast)—74 hunters downed 66 elk for 89 per cent.

No. 5 (southwest)—59 hunters killed 57 elk for 95 per cent.

Two hunters did not participate and four were sidelined by violations.

All but 14 of the elk were taken between the Gibbs Road line on the south and Wolverine Road line on the north. The kill was fairly well distributed through the five areas between Old U.S. 27 on the west and M33 on the east.

No elk were tagged in the small portion of Presque Isle County that is included in area 3.

There were 103 bulls, 126 cows and 40 calves taken last year.

Good tracking snow aided hunters. They found elk favoring hardwood forests and open country. Hunting parties reported seeing an average of 12 elk.

The department report shows that 76 per cent of the cows taken were with calf. Working from this figure, game experts have determined that the herd of 3,000 (after hunting) animals will total about 3,600 by the time this season rolls around.

ELK RANGE

This is just about the maximum number of animals the range can handle, according to the experts.

One of the reasons for last season's high success ratio was the fact that the elk had not been gunned over to any extent. The only experience the big animals had with guns was gained from poachers and the occasional deer hunter who made a mistake.

Duck Hunting Dates Being Studied

The Conservation Commission is expected to informally discuss the seasons for ducks and geese during the monthly meeting Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

The Mississippi Flyway Council has recommended that the seasons remain about the same as they were in 1964. However, Michigan cannot establish its seasons until the Interior Department officially announces the 1965 regulations.

Council recommendations generally are closely followed by the Interior Department.

Conservation Commission members are polled by phone if the regulations come out between meeting of the state conservation group.

An Oct. 6 duck opener appears likely, although it may be set a week later.

The only change recommended by the council was that the possession limit on geese be twice that of the bag limit. Last year, the bag limit and possession limit were the same.

The council proposed that there be a 70-day season for geese with a bag limit of five, including two Canada geese.

40-DAY SEASON

They asked that the goose hunting seasons be scheduled between Oct. 1 and Jan. 15.

For ducks, the commission asked for a 40-day season scheduled between Oct. 6 and Jan. 9. They proposed a bag limit of four with no more than two black ducks or mallards or one of each.

The fall flights of ducks are expected to be no better than last year in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central flyways and to show a small decrease in the Pacific flyway.

Director John S. Gottschalk of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife warned that the duck breeding population this year was at the lowest levels since reliable surveys were started in 1947.

He said the population must be allowed to increase.

Ducks Unlimited reports that water conditions in the Canadian breeding ground the best in years.

Walter F. Crissey, reporting on the 1965 status of waterfowl for the bureau, said statistics showed that the mallard breeding population was the lowest of record "and I think we must conclude that continental hunting regulations last fall were too liberal, at least for the mallard."

School Boards Pressured for Changes

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

School Boards and school administrators are on the spot this year. They are being asked to make changes and to take on new responsibilities at a rate never before even approached.

Pressures for the changes are coming from outside the schoolrooms, from the public, from industry and from the federal government.

In the past, it was considered sufficient to make equal education available to all from the first grade through high school.

But too many children lacked the background and experience necessary to take advantage of failures and dropouts in numbers far beyond what the country could afford. These children were not equal in their readiness and ability to take advantage of the "equal" opportunity for an education.

Now, we have concluded that nothing is as undemocratic as the treating of these unequal children as equals.

PRINCIPLE CHANGING

The principle of equal education for all is being replaced by the demand that each child receive the education that will be best for him. Not the same amount of education for each, but more education for those who need it most.

The Head Start program, instigated at the national level, is evidence of the determination to provide, at the earliest possible age, the supplementary training for those who need it.

This could well mean that the responsibility of the school will be extended downward not only to include kindergarten but pre-kindergarten training for those who need it.

The back-to-school program envisions remedial grouping, special after-school programs, work with parents of the disadvantaged and optimum placement for individual progress.

GROUPED BY PROFICIENCY

This strikes right at the heart of the firmly entrenched lock-step system of promotion. To meet these goals, students must be grouped according to their proficiency in each subject rather than by age.

The problem facing school administrators is how much these new responsibilities could and should be absorbed by the school and how much will be left to other agencies.

To add to the problem, the knowledge explosion of the last few years had made schools responsible not so much for the teaching of facts as far as training of students in the skills of learning — so they can continue learning throughout their adult lives.

Changes in education formerly were stimulated from within the school system and were slow in their evolvement. The present changes are being stimulated from without, with the added challenge that they are to be brought about regardless of who does it.

Oswald Jacoby starts today's discussion by giving Jim a bidding problem.

JACOBY

Oswald: "Take a look at the East hand only. You are vulnerable. South who is not vulnerable opens three hearts. Double and North jumps to six hearts. What do you do?"

Jim: "This really is a tough one. We may be cold for six spades and we should not expect to set six hearts very much. On the other hand you have taught me that you can't expect the maximum result on every hand and that if you are going to be fixed at least be fixed with a plus score. I double and take the sure plus score."

Oswald: "I was pretty sure that you would give that answer. The hand came up in a recent New Rochelle, N.Y., tournament and for once good bidding was rewarded. Six spades would have been down one and six hearts went down four tricks so that the double of six hearts gave East and West a top score."

Jim: "So I see. I wonder what East would have done if North had been a trifle less sensational and merely jumped to five hearts over the double?

Oswald: "We will never know. If East doubles five hearts, he winds up only 500 points plus for a bad score. If he bids five spades he is taking a chance but comes out all right because five spades makes easily."

Jim: "If he bids five spades his partner might go on to six. Of course, he shouldn't but strange things happen."

Such petition prays, among other things, that the Court by Order fix a date for the hearing of said petition and require each person owning or having an interest in the parcels of land involved, insofar as disclosed by the records in the office of the Register of Deeds of Oakland County and the persons in possession of land, as set forth in Schedule A, which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, to appear and present to the Court any objections to the petition, if any they have, against the same, and

(2) (i) further appearing to the Court that said petition prays that the Court shall fix the hearing of such petition, appoint three disinterested freeholders who are residents of Oakland County as commissioners to ascertain and determine the necessity of the proposed public use and the necessity of acquiring and using the interests in land described in said petition for such use and the compensation to be just compensation to be paid therefor to each of the owners thereof, or to those otherwise interested therein, as and for his, her, their, and/or its just compensation for interests in the land, sought to be taken by this proceeding.

Being Shot From Cannon Less Scary Than Subways

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You've heard about the Flying Zacchinis who get shot out of a cannon at 125 miles an hour . . . so Nancy, 22, who let her father-in-law talk her into being one of the human cannon balls explained to me that riding New York subways is more terrifying.

WILSON

"When I married George" — the youngest member of the family of human cannon balls, a mere 24 — "I said 'No, you'll never get me in that thing, No, no, no, never!' "

"But I guess I looked in the mirror and decided 'Old girl, you're getting older and haven't had much excitement.'

"Besides, Papa Zacchini" — 70 now, the trigger man — "kept telling me, 'You'd just fit nice into that cannon.'

"I don't know how I did it the first time. I said a prayer . . ."

"I'm still scared," spoke up her husband. "I just broke my leg a few weeks ago getting shot out."

"You have to hit the net just right or you can break your neck or snap your back," Nancy said.

"It's the air pressure that shoots us out — not really a gun. But we black out when we're leaving the cannon and we go out through burning gunpowder that's there for effect . . . but it can singe you.

"I try to swim in the air . . . to balance myself or maneuver so that I hit the net just right."

"I rode the subway here the first time," Nancy said. "I couldn't believe what went on. When that train started, I screamed at my husband, 'People are gonna get killed in this train! There's gonna be a wreck!' The train was lurchin' every which way and jumpin' around. I was sure glad to get out of that subway and back into my nice safe cannon."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Frank Sinatra's intimates said the other day that he and Mia Farrow have NO marriage plans — now, at least — but hedge slightly in refusing to say "they won't." Frank's reaction is "What's all the fuss about?" He's had several horror films sent to the ship — 'cause there's too much of a riot now when they try to go on land. Frank, asked about entertaining troops in Viet Nam, indicated he would like to, "but nobody's asked me."

Sue Lyon and Jack Haley Jr. are resuming the romance . . . Myron Cohen'll tour South Africa.

Dick Patterson, Carol Burnett's co-star in "Fade Out, Fade In," was treated with four stitches in the Madison Square Garden boxing riot . . . Ann-Margret, who goes dramatic in "Once a Thief," will endow a Swedish university with a drama scholarship for a deserving youngster.

'New Bible Imagery Is Necessary'

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A Roman Catholic scholar said today man is living in a secularized, neo-pagan world which urgently needs to restate the Christian message in the literary forms of modern thought.

"But the challenge is not new," declared Prof. Avery Dulles of Maryland's Woodstock College. "At no time in her history has the church been content to reproduce mechanically the symbols of the Bible."

Dulles, son of the late Secretary of state John Foster Dulles, spoke at the Second International Ecumenical Conference, sponsored by Western Michigan University's Medieval Institute.

Speaking on "symbol and myth in the Bible," Dulles said the church continually forges new images to convey more adequately that which, in its full reality, bursts the bonds of any human language.

SECONDARY IMAGES

At times the secondary images may even seem to overshadow the Biblical imagery, Dulles said, adding:

"But the new images, devised for the needs of a particular culture, are never completely new. They look back to the great images enshrined in scriptures. Like new doctrines, they are ultimately controlled by the primary sources from which they stem."

Dulles is one of several prominent theologians speaking at the four-day conference, which was called to foster closer ties between the major religious traditions. Others include Dean Samuel Miller of the Harvard Divinity School, Prof. Paul Van Buren of Temple University, and Prof. William Lynch of St. Peter's College and Georgetown University.

In his speech, Dulles said the inspired imagery of the Bible "may surely be reckoned as one of the main sources of its spiritual power."

Order $456,000 Released From Gable's Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A superior court judge has ordered the release of $456,000 from the Clark Gable estate for a son born after the actor's death.

The estate is valued at nearly $2.4 million.

The petition, made by Gable's widow, actress Kay Williams, stated the actor's will was made before his son, John Clark Gable, 4, was born.

The law provides that a child not mentioned in his father's will is entitled to half his father's separate property.

ENTIRE ESTATE

Gable's will, dated Sept. 19, 1955, left the entire estate to his widow, except for a house that went to his first wife, Josephine Dillon.

Gable died Nov. 16, 1960. His son was born March 20, 1961.

Film Star Cary Grant Gives Mom Auto Ride

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Actor Cary Grant, honeymooning with his young fourth wife, took his mother, Elsie Leach, 89, for a drive in the country today.

* * *

Mrs. Leach was smiling as they drove away from the Clifton Nursing Home where she has been a patient for almost a year. She had been waiting to see her son again since he took his wife, former actress Dyan Cannon, 27, of Seattle, Wash., to see her 11 days ago.

Seagulls Top Zoo Problem

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Keepers at Miami's Crandon Park zoo list seagulls as their top problem.

"Even when we feed our own birds by hand, the gulls divebomb right in and snatch the food away," says head keeper Bill Lunsford. "They're our biggest problem."

Other flying freeloaders also cause problems, particularly in the winter. The zoo finds it has to double its bird food purchases during the months when it's cold up north.

Lies Motionless in NY Harbor

Strike Leaves Liner Like a Ghost Ship

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's proud flagship is a ghost ship these days, lying motionless in New York harbor with the murky waters of the lower Hudson lapping at her hull.

The SS United States, 990 feet long and nearly 12 stories high, world's fastest liner and the largest built in this country, is one of 100 American flag ships paralyzed by the continuing strike of marine engineers.

Miles of passageway and corridor are blacked out. The ship's dozen decks are silent. Instead of a wave-capped sea, the view from the bridge is Manhattan's west side highway and beyond that, the midtown skyline.

The United States carries a passenger load of 1,700 and a crew of 1,060 when she makes her regular run from New York to Le Havre to Southampton to Bremerhaven and then back again. But now a crew of 10 is all she needs. Three such crews stand watch during each 24-hour period.

Scattered stacks of well-thumbed magazines and paperbacks and an occasional coffee container are the sole traces of life aboard ship.

LIGHTS ON

Only the emergency lights are on. The huge high-speed turbines below the waterline have been silenced and only a single emergency generator is running.

Engineer George Murphy, in white coveralls and a white hardhat led the way through a white door on deck into the electrical workshop where a 250-kilowatt generator pounded steadily inside a cramped, gray-painted compartment.

"It's the only source of power aboard now," he said. "We use it to keep up a little lighting, the emergency system and the fire pumps."

Murphy is not a member of the striking Marine Engineers Benevolent Association (MEBA). That union walked off the ship when it pulled into the harbor June 25 after a contract expiration. So far the United States has missed three sailings and some 8,800 fares.

PICKET LINES

There were picket lines at first, but now even a single token picket often fails to appear at United States Line pier 86 at the foot of 46th Street. A pile of picket signs has been left haphazardly in a doorway of the pier building on 12th Avenue.

The MEBA membership has voted to support a settlement formula proposed by Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, but the management group of eight subsidized shipping lines has rejected it. Wirtz wants the central issue of crew size on automated ships left to AFL-CIO President George Meany.

The grand ballroom of the United States is red-carpeted and red-upholstered. During a normal run, some 375 passengers can be found there nightly, dancing or enjoying the entertainment.

But today the room is dark and quiet. Chairs face each other neatly over empty tables.

HANG LIMPLY

On deck, lines hang limply from the towering red, white and blue smoke stacks. Other lines are coiled or stacked neatly on deck and in the 22 lifeboats hanging from support arms on either side of the vessel.

On the bridge, the engine telegraphs are locked in the "finished with engines" position. The clocks are stopped.

Capt. Edwin Yarborough, a U. S. Lines merchant ship captain in charge of one watch aboard the United States, was going over his security setup the other day for a newsman.

"This is our damage control center," he said, leading the way into a small room off the bridge. "We have sensitized all areas of the ship and from here we can check all 66 watertight doors, receive alarms from the thermostatic fire control panel and watch for trouble on the smoke detector board."

Even motionless, the United States is preserving a quiet fiction. Her log is filled in day by day as if she were under way. One neatly written entry reads:

"Log of SS United States, voyage 299 New York, pier 86 North River. 1200-1600 routine inspections and reports. Strict fire and security watch maintained. Lines and gangways tended. Continuous fire patrol. 1300 commenced exercising watertight doors. Equipment in apparent good order."

How does it feel to command a ghost ship, Capt. Yarborough looked around the bridge and then said, "She's a wonderful, modern ship—the finest in the world — and it just seems a shame to let her lie idle."

1 Dies, 14 Hurt in Hotel Fire

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — Fire raced through a Catskills Mountain resort hotel as 30 guests slept today, killing one man and slightly injuring 14 others.

State police said the ruins of the Prospect Hotel near Parksville were being searched on the possibility that two more persons might have died.

The unidentified dead man and the injured were guests and employes of the hotel, which has a capacity of about 150 guests.

The fire flared up about 2:45 a.m. in the four-story frame main building of the hotel. The intensity of the flames prevented firemen from getting to the body of the unidentified dead man until about 4:45 a.m.

TREAT INJURED

Eleven of the injured were treated at hospitals and three at the scene of the fire.

The dead man, believed to be a hotel employe, was seen at a fourth floor rear window but before firemen could get to him the wall collapsed, Liberty firemen said. The body was found about two hours later.

Cause of the fire was under New York City.

Cause of thefire was under investigation.

Airlines Clearing House Does a Billion-Dollar-a-Year 'Business'

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines serving this country exchange more than a billion dollars a year in business.

The whole complicated procedure is operated from headquarters here of the Air Transport Association by the Airlines Clearing House, a nonprofit organization.

The Chase Manhattan Bank in New York handles the actual clearing and settling.

The vast but little-known operation stems from the fact that a passenger often buys from one airline a ticket that includes travel on other airlines.

HANDLES ACCOUNTS

The clearing house handles the billings, and the bank, as its agent, clears and settles accounts monthly between airlines, charging or crediting the various amounts involved.

The clearing house also simplifies travel on credit plans, largely accomplished through the use of the Air Travel Card.

Claude H. McCall, an Air Transport Association official who is secretary-treasurer of the clearing house, says interline billings through the clearing house last year totaled $1,174,000,000.

The 37 members of the clearing house range trunk airlines clearing more than $200 million a year in gross interline receivables, to local service operators clearing less than $4 million a year. Even a helicopter airline may clear as much as $2 million annually.

AGREEMENTS

An airline must qualify as a domestic or foreign carrier under the Federal Aviation Act, and must sign operating and settlement agreements.

Before World War II, the airlines were paying their bills to other lines directly. Some airlines, short of funds, put off payments for many months.

The clearing house opened in Chicago Dec. 1, 1943. It had 18 employes. By 1947 the clearing house had 60 employes.

In 1950 the agency moved to Washington, where it could be administered by just one or two Air Transport Association staff workers. The clearing house agreed to a proposal by Chase Manhattan that the bank handle the monthly clearings.

The airlines do their own billing, and each month the Chase Manhattan determines how much each company owed or was owed, and charges or credits its account with the net difference.

As a result of the new method of clearing through the bank, operating costs of the clearing house itself have dropped from more than $12,000 in 1950 to less than $2,000 a year currently, McCall says.

All 20 Guilty in Steren Case

MANISTEE (AP)—All 20 defendants in the Steren Assembly Club gambling case were convicted last night by a jury which had deliberated for some 10 hours.

The 20, among those arrested in an October 1963 State Police raid on the Madison Heights establishment, had been charged with violating and conspiring to violate state gambling laws.

Shortly before the verdict, the chief prosecutor, James Finn, charged that his star witness-police spy Peggy Allen — had been intimidated by several state officials, including two now in the legislature. Finn did not name them.

The defendants face maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fines on the conspiracy counts and of $500 fines for violating gambling laws.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick Ziem set sentencing for Sept. 10 in Pontiac. Bond was continued at $1,000.

Finn, of the Oakland County prosecutor's staff, said he may reveal the names of the men who allegedly harassed Miss Allen. "I'll have to take it up with my office first," he said.

UNDER PRESSURE

County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bonson said he had been aware the 29-year-old former stenographer was "under a good deal of pressure," but he declined to elaborate.

Miss Allen, the state's main witness, testified she had gone to the club shortly before the raid, carrying $200 in marked money given her by State Police, with which she was to place bets.

On the stand, she identified all 20 defendants as men she had seen in the club.

The woman said harassment by state officials included threats to blackball her from jobs and to ruin her reputation. She said she and her family received threatening and abusive calls.

Bronson said he was "most pleased with the outcome" of the trial.

Leach Tot Gets Liver Transfer

In Surgery 8 Hours; Condition Is Serious

Two-year-old Kathy Leach of Ijke Orion underwent an eight-hour liver transplant operation last night at the University of Minnesota Hospital — an operation which represents her only chance for life.

Her condition was listed today as serious.

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leach of 12 Indianside, has been at the hospital since April waiting for another child to die so that she could have the operation.

She suffers from extra-hepatic biliary atresia and had to receive a healthy liver from a child who had died.

TALKED TO SON

Kathy's grandmother, Mrs Sam Leach Jr., 25 Detroit, Lake Orion, said she last talked to her son, a Lake Orion policeman, about 2 a.m., after the operation was completed.

KATHY

"Apparently the operation was a success because the liver was working," she said, "but she will be on the serious lit for a few days.

"My daughter-in-law said the doctor told her that Kathy's liver had absolutely deteriorated."

The Leaches were informed that the operation had begun, only a few hours after they had returned home from a weekend visit with Kathy.

DEFEND OUTPOST — Staff Sgt. Relief Force Battles Way Through Cong

Troops Arrive After 3 Days of Fighting With Red Guerrillas

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military sources in Pleiku reported a large Vietnamese relief force reached the besieged special forces camp at Duc Co tonight with little resistance from the Viet Cong.

A two-mile convoy of infanty and armored detachments had been fighting its way westward for three days through guerrilla ambushes and roadblocks in an effort to break the siege lines that have ringed Duc Co since June 3.

How many of these troops may have been involved in the final push was not disclosed.

But at the last previous report all were within six miles of their goal, a western outpost 220 miles northeast of Saigon on a strategic cross-country highway.

The highway, Route 19, runs through the central highlands from the supply port of Qui Nhon on the South China Sea, to the Cambodian frontier at a point five miles west of Duc Co.

SIEGE PERSISTED

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett in Pleiku said that, despite the troops' closing push, the siege persisted.

The Viet Cong were reported to have moved in behind the relief force and again cut Route 19, the only land route to government-held territory, in several places.

Both government forces and the Viet Cong have suffered heavy casualties in the fighting in and around Duc Co, whose neighboring villages are all flying Viet Cong flags.

U.S. sources in Pleiku, the corps headquarters 30 miles northwest of Duc Co, said "We have been waiting for weeks for

Safety Device Failed

Probe Titan Blast

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Deep in an underground silo sheathing a Titan 2 missile, something went awry with the safety devices.

An explosion and flames thundered through the "gun barrel" of the missile complex Monday afternoon, killing 53 civilian workers.

"These things are not supposed to happen," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base, headquarters for the 18 missile sites in this region.

"We have many safety features, but the fact that it did happen contradicts these safety factors."

Heading an Air Force investigation ordered by President Johnson is Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert.

REMOVE BODIES

An Air Force investigation team also is continuing its probe, begun after about 100 rescue workers finished the task of removing bodies from the smoke-filled 155-fool-deep silo.

There were only two survivors of the blast and flash fire which apparently erupted somewhere on or around the second or third levels of the nine-level complex where the workmen were renovating the site.

The missile, loaded with liquid fuel, was in the silo but did not burn.

There was no danger of a nuclear explosion, Wood said, because the warhead had been removed while the construction crew was working on the complex.

The Titan 2 is America's mightiest ballistic missile.

Mishaps Fatal to Youngster, Pontiac Man

George Beauchamp, 39, of 427 Kuhn died last night as the result of injuries received early Saturday in an auto accident on I-75 near Joslyn in Pontiac Township, and a 2-year-old Pontiac girl was killed in an accident near Capac.

State Police at the Pontiac Post said Beauchamp had stopped on the northbound shoulder of the road to adjust a rope which fastened a boat to the roof of his car.

Beauchamp died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital of skull fracture.

GM Cleared in $400,000 Fatality Suit

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — General Motors has been cleared of responsibility for the performance of a 1960 rear-engine Corvair involved three years ago in a double highway fatality.

After a 10-week trial, a Santa Clara County Superior Court jury returned an 11-1 verdict yesterday in favor of the defendant, General Motors, the world's largest car manufacturer.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Doreen Collins of San Jose, Calif., sought $400,000.

She contended a 1960 Corvair was faulty and caused an accident which resulted in the deaths of her daughter, Lorraine, 7, and her fiance, John H. Taylor, 38, also of San Jose.

Mrs. Collins, 39, charged that "defective design" of the Corvair's rear-swing axle caused it to go out of control and collide with a 16-ton truck Sept. 13, 1962, near Merced, Calif.

City Gives Tentative OK to Apartment Rezoning

The Pontiac City Commission last night gave tentative approval and final approval to two rezoning requests for major housing and commercial projects proposed by Waterford Township developer Charles L. Langs.

The commission's tentative okay was for a change from Manufacturing-1 to Residential-3 on a 30-acre tract of land across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The action reversed a recommendation by the city's planning commission.

In a separate move, final approval was given Langs on rezoning for a proposed $15 million development located south of Auburn near the site of the proposed new osteopathic college.

On the site near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Langs plans to construct a 263-unit apartment complex.

The planning commission turned down the request for rezoning because, they said, there was not adequate school facilities for the children which will be generated by the project.

CHILDREN

In the early stages of planning it was believed by school officials that up to 150 children might be among the residents in the development.

Last night Langs told the commission that this projection was far too high, and on the basis of the 86 units which have already been spoken for, there will probably be no more than 20 school age children in the entire 263-unit complex.

He also told the commission that a two-acre site had been set aside for a school, should the school board want to use it.

It was at this point that Commissioner T. Warren Fowler assailed the developer. Fowler cast the only vote against the rezoning.

MAKES CHARGES

Fowler, the city's only Negro commissioner, charged that "this will undoubtedly be an all-white project; no Negroes will be allowed."

Fowler then charged that Langs had refused to sell a unit to two Negro girls who attempted to get a residence at the Townhouse Apartments on Pike, another Langs' development.

After Fowler had finished, Langs said that he resented the charge that he would not sell to a Negro family.

Top Dems at Odds on Tax Views

LANSING (AP)—Two state Democratic leaders wound up on opposite sides of the fiscal reform fence again today.

And testimony by State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency, prepared for a fiscal reform hearing by a House Taxation subcommittee in Detroit Tuesday, placed the Democratic chief and Republican Gov. George Romney on the same side.

Ferency called dependence on a continued economic boom to produce needed state revenues "sheer folly."

He said this about 35 hours after Senate majority leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, talked down any urgent need for new taxes "in view of our fantastic income, which far exceeds every expectation of the so-called tax experts."

Ferency, who repeatedly has warned the Democratic-dominated legislature against foot-dragging on fiscal reform, told the House subcommittee:

TAX REFORM

"Michigan needs tax reform and at least a beginning must be made almost immediately."

Dzendzel said a bonding program in which the state would build now and pay later over a long period of time is gaining support in the legislature.

He said it would become a major topic of discussion when the legislature returns in September.

"It could free $40 million to $45 million a year for operations (and) could put an income tax off for 10 years or even longer," he said.

Despite his feelings, Dzendzel plans to attend a meeting between Romney and legislative committees on Mackinac Island tomorrow and Friday. They will discuss six alternate tax programs now before them.

Atlas Rocket Test Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas-Centaur rocket scored a much needed test flight success today and hurled a dummy payload toward a make-believe moon in a crucial rehearsal for an attempt late this year to soft land instruments on the lunar surface.

The powerful rocket, which was in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration doghouse because of repeated test failures, thundered away from Cape Kennedy right on schedule at 9:31 a.m. EST on the start of the "paper moon" shot.

The flight control center reported 50 minutes later that the rocket had performed as planned and drilled the metal model of the project surveyor moonship onto the desired course at a speed of about 23,700 miles an hour.

An announcement said several hours might be required to determine the precise path but that tracking data indicated the rocket was right on the money.

'Motor Bikes Cripple, Kill'

Police Commissioner Speaks on Training

LANSING (AP) — Motorcycles and motor scooters "are cripplers and killers," State Police Commissioner Frederick Davids told the State Safety Commission Tuesday.

"I wouldn't want to have any part of including teaching the riding of them as part of the driver education system in our schools," Davids declared. "I'm afraid the parents would descend upon me in wrath."

Davids was asked his opinion on the question at the meeting where figures were cited showing a drastic rise in the number of such bikes registered and number of accidents they cause.

Persons riding such bikes should have some form of instruction, Davids and other experts agreed. The question is what form it should take, they admitted, coming to no conclusion.

NEED INSTRUCTION

"They should have some special instruction," said Davids. "They also need a St. Christopher's medal and a couple of rabbit's feet."

Davids added that he isn't anti-scooter or cycle. "I've worn out about five of them," he said.

The trouble is, he said, that in almost every motorcycle or scooter accident there are injuries to both the operator and passenger. The injuries often are fatal, he said.

"When we're encouraging safety and pushing the use of safety belts to keep motorists inside the cars, we'd be working against ourselves to advocate teaching how to ride them in the schools. We don't need any more of them weaving in and out among traffic."

Davids said motorcycle and scooter fatalities rose from 26 in 1960 to 51 in 1964. Reigstrations went up from 30,614 in 1960 to 39,961 in 1964, he said.

The greatest increase in registrations, he said, has come within the past six months. There were 28,813 registrations in the first six months of 1964 and 44,622 for the first six months this year, more than the entire total for 1964 and a jump of more than 54 per cent for the six-month period.

SMALL TYPE POPULAR

The largest increase, Davids said, has come in the small, light type motorcycle.

BOUND FOR COMPOUND—Federal officials say Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobster fisherman, told them he shot the captain and four crewmen of the cargo ship Seven Seas during an argument over Fidel Castro Sunday night. Ramirez is shown being taken to an Immigration Department detention compound in Key West, Fla., last night.

New Fires Threaten Riviera Vacationland

DRAGUIGNAN, France (AP) — New forest fires today menaced areas of the French Riviera vacationland devastated by wind-driven flames last week.

The new outbreaks were in a triangular region including the cities of Evenos, Broussan and Ollioules.

Officials said the new fires had disrupted telephone service in the area and threatened to destroy large areas of forest.

Jurisdiction, Missing Cook Still Sea Murder Mysteries

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Seven Seas, a swaybacked old banana boat whose last cargo was murder, has been unburdened by one mystery.

But two others remain: Who has jurisdiction in the case, and what happened to the ship's cook?

Federal authorities said a crewman picked up Tuesday in the Gulf Stream in the Seven Seas' skiff told them he shot the captain and four shipmates after an argument with the skipper about Fidel Castro.

The man, Roberto Ramirez, 35, a former Cuban lobsterman, told officials he had defended the Cuban leader and that Capt. Rogelio Diaz threatened to turn him over to anti-Castro refugees when the Seven Seas reached Tampa, where it was headed for repairs after leaving Miami.

'ME OR THEM'

It was either "me or them," officials quoted Ramirez as saying. They said he told them he shot the captain and stalked aft to shoot four other shipmates one by one as the vessel chugged southward Saturday night. Three were killed as they slept.

Ramirez said he threw the body of the captain and another shipmate overboard and then left the ship in the 14-foot aluminum skiff. He was found by a German freighter about 60 miles south of here drifting in the skiff, a 38-caliber pistol in his belt with a baby-food jar full of spare bullets. Fired shells of similar caliber were found on the Seven Seas.

Ramirez was brought to Miami in custody of U.S. immigration authorities where one of the mysteries remained unresolved: Who has jurisdiction. Charges will await that determination.

If it is decided the Seven Seas, registered under the Panamanian flag, was within the three-mile U.S. continental limit, Florida probably will have jurisdiction. If the slayings occurred outside the limit, either Panama or the United States could prosecute, as the Seven Seas is American owned.

STILL MISSING

Still missing is the ship's cook, Gerald Davison. Authorities said Ramirez told them he had not shot him.

The Seven Seas seemed almost a recreation of a grade B South Pacific thriller when she was spotted Sunday, a drifting derelict. Years ago a graceful schooner, her masts had long since been taken out and replaced by a crude superstructure. Her port holes were sealed, her steel hull caked with gray paint.

Coast Guardsmen found two bodies in bunks in the crew's quarters and a third body on deck, A track of blood led from the pilot house to the railing.

A 17-year-old Honduran crewman, Elvin Burywaise, who said he had seen one of the shootings, was found in the stifling darkness of the vessel's anchor chain locker where he had cowered for 16 hours. The seaman said the ship apparently had been headed toward Cuba after the shootings until the diesel engine stopped.

30-Foot Fall Fatal to Area Workman, 36

An Independence Township man fell 30 feet to his death yesterday afternoon from a sign-changing project in Detroit at 19376 Woodward between Seven and Eight Mile Roads.

Clinton D. Reed, 36, of 5964 Dvorak was dead on arrival at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital about one-half hour after he fell from the top of a two-story building.

According to witnesses and coworkers of the Naegele Outdoor Advertising Company, Inc., of Detroit, the accident occurred when Reed leaned against a metal bar attached to the sign.

The bar gave way, they told Detroit police, causing Reed to lose his balance and fall to the ground.

A hearing was scheduled today by the Wayne County medical examiner.

Determine What Steps to Be Taken

By The Associated Press

Officials of Texas, Virginia and Alabama were examining government suits to abolish the poll tax today to determine what action to take.

In Texas, President Johnson's home state, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he would file an answer after the necessary study and preparation.

See Stories, Page B-6

Similar reactions were expressed in Virginia and Alabama.

The suits were filed by the Justice Department Tuesday, the same day federal examiners began registering Negroes to vote in nine Southern counties and parishes in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

1,144 REGISTERED

A Civil Service Commission spokesman in Washington said that 1,144 Negroes registered to vote on the first day of federally supervised registration under the 1965 voting rights law.

Both the registration and the suits to abolish the poll tax are designed to make it easier for Negroes to vote.

At Austin, Tex., two federal attorneys delivered to the federal district court clerk a petition signed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach charging the 63-year-old poll tax requirement served only to limit voting rights, particularly those of Negroes.

Both Carr and Gov. John B. Connally said they wanted to study the petition before commenting.

DEFEND LAWS

Carr said last week, "It's my duty to defend the laws of Texas, and in the event the U.S. attorney general challenges their validity we will meet him in the courtroom."

Virginia officials generally had little to say after a similar suit was filed at Richmond. It claimed the $1.50-per-year tax was designed solely to restrict the electorate, particularly Negro voters.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. said recently the poll tax kept Virginia's elections clean by making sure only bona fide residents voted, and that a substitute would have to be found if the poll tax was struck down. "When the people of Virginia want to repeal it, they have the right," he said.

ISSUES STATEMENT

The Rev. Milton A. Reid, a Virginia regional representative for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, issued this statement:

"We feel that it is just a matter of time now before the poll tax will be a thing of the past. The court suit is just a method for President Johnson to get across his program without having Congress assume the role of the federal courts."

Gov. George C. Wallace had no immediate comment after the filing of a suit in Montgomery, Ala. Other sources also were unavailable for comment and Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers was out of town. Alabama's poll tax is $1.50 per year and retroactive for two years.

Martha Witt Smith, an Alabama authority on voter registration, termed utterly ridiculous the Justice Department claim the poll tax was designed to disfranchise Negroes.

Pontiac Motor Layoffs Begun

Unemployment Claims Are Being Processed

The seasonal layoffs for model changeovers and inventories have begun at Pontiac Motor Division, where the fabricating plant has closed down.

The fabricating plant closed Friday, affecting nearly 7,800 employes. The closing down of the engine plant will affect another estimated 2,400.

Final assembly about production will cease for the 1965 Pontiac models on Aug. 19. This affects approximately 2,-700 employes, according to Theodore B. Bloom, director of personnel for Pontiac Motors.

GMC Truck & Coach Division will close Friday for inventory. They will begin their call-backs and reopen Aug. 30, according to present plans.

The Fisher Body Plant will close its final assembly the same day as Pontiac's, Aug. 19. They will start on new models around Sept. 1. However, call-backs will be gradual.

1966 MODELS

Pontiac Motor Division plans to begin production on its 1966 models Sept. 13. Call-backs are expected Aug. 27.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission has again arranged for the use of union halls for the processing of claims during this annual layoff period.

Operations by MESC personnel were started at the Pontiac Motor UAW Local No. 653 Hall Aug. 2, according to C. H. Lown, unemployment claims manager of MESC.

Next Monday, MESC will start operations at the Fisher Body Plant UAW Local No. 596 and at GMC Truck and Coach UAW Local No. 594.

REGULAR DAYS

All GM employes will be expected to file their unemployment claims on their regular "hit" days at their respective local halls.

A "hit" day depends upon the last digit of the social security number. Zero and one numbers are Mondays; 2 and 3 Tuesdays; 4 and 5 numbers Wednesdays; 6 and 7 Thursdays; and 8 and 9, Fridays.

GM has requested that the MESC waive the registration for work and seeking work requirement of the act for the period of the shutdown.

The Pontiac office of MESC services all of Oakland County, north of the Fourteen Mile Road. It is anticipated that the peak claims will be around 13,000 according to Lown.

FILE ANYWHERE

Claimants who plan on leaving the Pontiac area may file claims anywhere in the United States or Canada and have them sent to the Pontiac office for processing.

However, the MESC office advises that it would be to their advantage if they filed their claims in Pontiac before leaving and informed the local office of their intent of leaving the area.

Lown also pointed out that the waiver of the registration and seeking work provisions of the act does not relieve the claimant of the responsibility of keeping available for recall to his customary employment.

Birmingham Area News

Assurance on Parking Boosts Development

BIRMINGHAM — A multimillion-dollar development proposed for the downtown business district has moved nearer to becoming a reality with the removal of a major obstacle by the City Commission.

The problem was solved when commissioners assured the potential developer that the city would lease parking facilities for tenants of the building.

The estimated $3-million structure, which would contain both businesses and apartments, is being considered for the northwest corner of Woodward and Merrill.

In a resolution adopted Monday, the commission pledged the use of 75 parking spaces in the municipal parking lot across the street from the site of the proposed building.

The developer, a Detroit contractor who requested that his name not be revealed at this time, said that there are still details to be worked out, "but now we can move in a forward direction."

STUMBLING BLOCKS

Zoning and parking were two stumbling blocks facing the project, he said.

The property was made financially more attractive last month when the commission amended the zoning code to allow apartments to be built over commercial establishments in the downtown area.

The B. F. Goodrich Co., which owns the site, had planned to build a retail tire outlet on the property, but was discouraged by civic leaders and businessmen who felt that this type of store shouldn't be situated in downtown Birmingham.

The tire company said it would consider selling the property if a buyer could be found in 60 days.

OFFER TAKEN

The prospective developer said that his offer to purchase the property has been accepted and negotiations are continuing.

The new zoning permits two lower floors of businesses and up to four floors of residences.

Between 50 and 60 apartments are being considered for the proposed development, according to the developer.

permission to clear the Viet Cong out of this natural highway from Cambodia into Viet Nam. We have enough forces there now to try and do the job."

ROAD COLUMN

The road column reportedly met little resistance as it moved into Duc Co in heavy fighting yesterday and Monday.

There were many casualties and the Viet Cong succeeded in splitting the armored part of the column from an infantry task force.

The airstrip at Duc Co was still judged unusable late today, U.S. sources said.

There were hopes that by tomorrow the relief forces would have cleared a sufficient area around the strip to permit supplies to be sent in.

fulfilled his election campaign pledge.

"We promised to vigorously attack organized crime in Oakland County," said Bronson. "We made good the pledge.

"We cannot allow organized crime to seek a sanctuary in suburban areas."

Another 25 persons were arrested in the raid and charged with frequenting a gambling establishment still face trial.

The raid on the Steren Club followed a 10-year investigation headed by then-State Police Capt. Frederick Davids, now Michigan State Police commissioner.

The trial was moved to Manistee on motion of defense attorney Clinton Roeser, who argued that publicity attending the raid and later legal moves made a fair trial in Oakland County unlikely.

NUMBER TRIMMED

The number of defendants was trimmed from 21 shortly before the 12-day trial began here when Frank George Miller was excused because of a heart attack. Charges against Miller still are pending.

Tentative OK Is Given on Rezoning Bid

funds for the project," Langs said.

SALES

The developer then told Fowler that he had nothing at all to do with the sales of the units.

"I couldn't sell one to you or anyone. Sales are handled by a separate company, a Negro company which is trying to get Negroes into these developments," Langs said.

The developer said that there were Negroes living in the Townhouse development.

After the Fowler-Langs exchange, the commission voted six to one to approve the rezoning.

Commissioners indicated that the change in projected number of school age children was a factor in overturning the planning commission recommendation.

Commissioners also stated that schooling for the children in the complex was a matter for the school board to worry about.

"We have enough problems of our own," one commissioner commented.

SHOPPING CENTER

The other rezoning question was in connection with a 90-acre site on which Langs plans to construct a multiple housing-shopping center complex.

The "planned unit" project will consist of several different types of housing. A total of 800 to 1,000 living units is estimated.

These would be single family dwellings, apartment units and townhouse-type buildings.

The commercial development is planned as a neighborhood shopping center to service residents of the housing complex.

Supervisors Authorize Election

Residents to Vote Nov. 2 on Farmington Annexation

A special election Nov. 2 on the question of the City of Farmington annexing 560 acres from Farmington Township was authorized yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. Sought for annexation is a triangular parcel bounded by Grand River, Gill, Freedom and Halstead.

A group of over 500 residents of both the city and township signed petitions for the annexation election and submitted them to the boundaries committee of the board of supervisors.

The committee recommended the election after reviewing the petitions July 28.

In the November election, voting will be limited to residents of the city and the area to be annexed. The issue would have to pass by a majority in both the city and township.

WOODCROFT SUBDIVISION

The parcel which includes the Woodcroft subdivision has about 150 residents. All of it is zoned residential.

Leonard Terry, Pontiac Township Supervisor, was the lone opponent of the election proposal in a voice vote of the board of supervisors.

Terry, who recently registered a strong protest to the City of Pontiac's annexing its newly acquired land-fill site in Pontiac Township, said he was against annexation in general.

In other business yesterday, the board of supervisors gave the green light to the construction of a new courthouse wing.

NEXT SPRING

Tentative plans call for work on the $1.6 million addition to begin next spring with completion slated for early 1967.

Existing crowded conditions in the courthouse and the need to provide space for the county's 7th and 8th circuit court judges were cited as reasons the new facility was needed immediately.

In giving the go-ahead on the project, the supervisors authorized the County Board of Auditors to complete the necessary space and program studies for the wing.

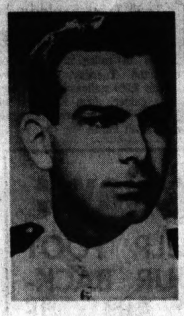
They also accepted the recommendation of the ways and means and building and grounds committees and retained the architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach.

DESIGNED COURTHOUSE

The Birmingham firm, which will start immediately on preliminary plans and specifications for the wing, designed the present courthouse facilities.

Harry W. Horton, supervisor from Royal Oak, suggested that the architectural award be held up until the firm corrects what he termed inadequate heating and air conditioning facilities in the existing building.

He voted affirmatively, however, when county officials said that corrections were in process.



ROBERT GOLDFARB

Two Describe Sea Tragedy

Crewman Drowned Near Sinatra Yacht

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass. (AP) — "The boat flipped over and Jim yelled 'I can't swim.' Bob gave him the life preserver —the only one. It was Bob that saved Jim's life."

Charyl Navin, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., was describing the drowning of Robert Goldfarb, 23, of New Rochelle, N.Y., after he had saved the life of a fellow crewman aboard the yacht on which Frank Sinatra and actress Mia Farrow are vacationing.

The chartered, 168-foot yacht left Vineyard Haven Harbor late Tuesday and headed for Newport, R.I. It ran into thick fog, however, and remained anchored early today in the mouth of Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay.

Goldfarb, Miss Navin, yacht steward James O. Grimes and Margaret Whittemore, 21, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were rowing a small boat back to the yacht when the drowning occurred early Tuesday.

HEAVY WAVES

"We were out about 15 minutes," Miss Navin said. "There were heavy waves and a strong wind and the water began coming in over the stern. Then the boat sank, right under us."

She said after the boat was tossed over in the waves, Goldfarb became exhausted trying to keep Grimes close to the boat and afloat.

She and Miss Whittemore decided to swim to the yacht.

"We couldn't see any lights on shore but the yacht was brightly lighted."

The girls said they must have been in the choppy water for nearly an hour before they could get close enough to the yacht, the Southern Breeze, to shout for help.

DISPATCH LAUNCH

"We screamed and a launch was sent out to pick us up. And then they went to the dinghy and got Jim," Miss Whittemore said.

Goldfarb was not found.

He was a graduate of the New York Maritime Academy at Fort Schuyler, N.Y., and had been a crewman on yachts and tankers. He leaves a widow.

The yacht skipper, Capt. William Cannon of Houston, Tex., said Sinatra and his guests were "shocked and appalled at the tragic event."

NOT AVAILABLE

Sinatra was not available for comment.

The Southern Breeze left Newport a little more than a week ago for what was reported to have been a month-long trip along the New England coast. Sinatra chartered the yacht from C. W. Edwards of Houston for his party of 29 celebrities, friends and crewmen.

Among the passengers is Miss Farrow, a star in the television serial "Peyton Place."

Though never affirmed or denied, rumors spread through the island after their arrival that Sinatra, 49, and the 19-year-old actress were about to marry.

Plane Gets to U.S. on Third Attempt

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I think they were a little embarrassed."

With this comment, Darlene Thommen of Cranford, N.J., summed up the feelings of the crew of Pan American Airways flight 2103, which arrived at Kennedy International Airport 12 hours late on a flight from London after three takeoffs.

The big 707 jetliner with 165 passengers aboard had engine trouble shortly after its scheduled takeoff from London yesterday. It returned to the field for repairs and then tried again. More trouble and a return to London followed.

On the third try, the plane made it but, for many passengers, two takeoffs were enough.

According to the passengers, about 15 persons got off the plane after its second return to London. The airline put them up in hotels and advised family and friends.

KEEP IN TRIM

But other than being very tired, the passengers who decided to try again were in good shape.

"It was very tiring, that's all," said Peggy Maitland of New Castle, Pa.

"They said it was the number four engine — a gasket or something. We had three hours flying time but we got nowhere."

"They treated us very nicely," said Miss Thommen. "I think they were a little embarrassed."

U.S. SERVICEMEN

About 80 of the passengers were U.S. servicemen returning home from European duty.

Army SP/4 Leslie T. Cason, 21, of Norfolk, Va., said the trip was "just great."

"Only the civilians got scared," he said. "One man got really mad in London. He told the stewardess, 'Forget it, honey, let's try again tomorrow.' Then he walked off the plane."

The plane's first takeoff was at 4 p.m. yesterday. Oil pressure trouble developed in the right outboard engine shortly after takeoff. The pilot dumped thousands of gallons of jet fuel into the sea, shut down the engine and returned to London.

Nears England

Fog, Wind Hamper Sailor

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — A fog, high wind and tides plagued Robert Manry today as he neared England on his epic sailing adventure across the Atlantic.

The 48-year-old Cleveland newspaperman was last seen two days ago 290 miles out and headed northward. It was believed he had two objects:

1. To avoid the busy shipping lanes as much as possible, and

2. To borrow some favorable wind for his 13½-foot sloop Tinkerbelle.

A coastline fog this morning slowed down shipping off Lands End and discouraged any private attempts to meet Manry.

British naval officials said the American probably was buffeted Tuesday night by winds up to 45 miles an hour, but they pointed out he has come through much rougher stuff since he left Falmouth, Mass., on June 1.

3,200 MILES

Manry originally estimated he would reach his goal — 3,200 miles from the starting point — around Aug. 15. If he has any luck, he's apparently going to come very close. The best guess for his arrival now centers on late Sunday or Monday.

Lacking a fresh fix on his position, veteran Falmouth sailors said he may have kept up his average of about 30 to 35 miles a day, this would put him around 220 miles out and headed for the Scilly Isles.

They emphasized, however, that Manry's real problems may just be starting.

"He will be getting into the confluence of waters pretty soon," a harbor master said. "If the winds shift southeasterly, he will be fighting both wind and tide at the same time, and his forward progress may at times be negligible."

WASHED OVER

Manry told a television reporter he had been washed overboard six times on the crossing.

"Even with a lifeline, it's never easy to clamber back aboard a wallowing boat," one sailor said.

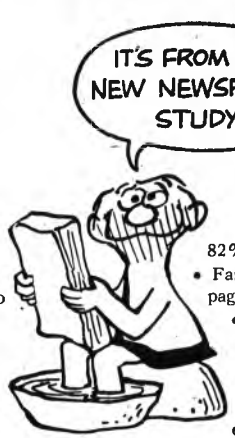
If he makes it, Manry, an editor of the Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer, will have made history's first solo crossing of the Atlantic in such a small boat.

Michigan Tech Gets $80,000 CD Contract

HOUGHTON (AP)—Michigan Technological University has been awarded an $80,000 contract by the Office of Civil Defense, it was announced Tuesday. The money is to conduct a statewide civil defense program in which conferences will be held with local government officials on planning of community shelters and courses will be given in fallout detection techniques.



For the first time, a major advertising medium—daily newspapers—can prove the extent to which a national ad on the newspaper page can expect to draw in the reader who is a real prospect to buy.

A new study sponsored by the Newsprint Information Committee and supervised by the Bureau of Advertising, ANPA, in technical consultation with the Advertising Research Foundation, and conducted by Audits and Surveys Co., Inc., shows:

- Many more people open newspaper pages containing national ads than anybody ever suspected or could prove before. The figure—82% of those reading the newspaper on an average day.
- Far more people see the national advertising on newspaper pages than the current yardsticks have led anyone to believe.
- People are drawn by the magnet effect of newspaper advertising to read about products for which they are real prospects; result—newspaper readership is rich in prospects.

When prospects are added to the cost-per-thousand equation, newspapers stack up as a more efficient media buy than ever before.

Braves Get Ex-Met

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The New York Mets, who recently sold outfielder Billy Cowan to their Buffalo farm club in the International League said Tuesday that he has been re-sold by the Bisons to the Milwaukee Braves.

Softball '9' Thrives in Tourney Play

Francis Coal & Oil's softball team, which could post only a 6-12 record during the regular season, has come alive in tournament play and now has a chance to win the city's Class D berth in the state playoffs.

The Coal & Oil squad knocked off Orchard Lanes last night, 3-2, and tonight it will take on the Pontiac Merchants at 7 at Northside in the playoff finals.

Two wins over the Merchants would give the Francis nine the city's National League title and move the team into state regional Class D action at Waterford next week.

Francis, trailing 2-1, came up with two runs in the sixth inning to take the decision.

In International League playoffs, Michigan Bell advanced to the finals with a 12-6 triumph over Buckner Finance. Motorcar Transport and Michigan Bell meet tonight.

300 Bowl downed Spencer Floors last night, 6-5, in a Class A exhibition game.

In Waterford Township playoffs, Jack Nelson tossed a no-hitter as Bob & Larry's Bar wrapped up the Class C title with a 9-2 victory over Dixie Bar, and Midget Bar (2-0) downed Dixie Tool (1-1), 7-3, in a Class D contest.

Nelson lost his shutout in the seventh inning when his teammates committed three errors. Dean Perkio, Morey Yarnold and Joe Croteau collected two hits apiece to pace the winners.

Tonight, Dixie Tool will meet Howe's Lanes (1-1) at 7 and Lakeland Pharmacy (2-0) will try to wrap up the Class B crown in a game against Richardson Dairy (1-1) at 8:30.

PBI Nips Clippers in 'A' Playoffs, 1-0

Class A city baseball fans might have been disappointed when rain delayed the start of the post-season playoffs two days, but the opening game last night was a treat for those who like excellent pitching.

Pontiac Business Institute won a tense 1-0 duel from the R. T. Clippers on the clutch playing of two season-long standouts, pitcher Ed Sparkman and infielder Morey LaPratt.

LaPratt gave the left-hander the only run he needed with a single to center field, scoring Sparkman from second base with two out in the fourth inning.

The PBI second baseman, who led the regular season leaders in runs batted in, produced the third straight hit in the inning off Don Glowaz. The southpaw yielded only four in the tilt.

Sparkman had singled to left but Bob Smith, who started the rally with a one-out single, was thrown out trying for third base. Glowaz had retired the first 10 batters in order.

Sparkman was touched for a single and double by Bud Thomason. The only other Clipper runners reached base on two walks, an error and hit batter. During the season, he won five.

The PBI southpaw had 11 strikeouts, and got the final five batters on strikes. He had one bad inning, the fifth. The Clippers loaded the bases with two out, but Thomason grounded out to end the threat.

The men's league best-of-three semifinal series will continue tonight at 8 o'clock under the Jaycee Park lights with Huron-Airway and Cranbrook starting.

JUNIOR BALL

Two rain-postponed city junior baseball elimination tilts were played yesterday.

In the Class E American playoffs, Bloomfield Hills ousted Clarkston, 13-7, and moved into today's championship round against the Yankees.

The Met Club dropped Kennerly's Standard Service from the "E" National playoffs with a 6-0 triumph that put the winners in the finals against the Lakers.

Cary Walsh had three singles and Pete Young two in the Hills' team's 10-hit attack. The Met Club's Webster and Musgraves shared a three-hitter against Kennerly's.
