President Eisenhower's Message on the Farm Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the text of President Eisenhower's farm message to Congress today:

To the Congress of the United States:

In this session no problem before the Congress demands more urgent attention than the paradox facing our farm families. Although agriculture is our basic industry, they find their prices and incomes depressed amid the nation's greatest prosperity. For five years, their economy has declined. Unless corrected, these economic reversals are a direct threat to the well-being of all our people.

But more than prices and incomes are involved. In America, agriculture is more than an industry; it is a way of life. Throughout our history, the family farm has given strength and vitality to our entire social order. We must keep it healthy and vigorous.

Efforts toward this goal have been unremitting. Many new foundations of permanent value to all farm families have been laid in the past three years. Two years ago a new farm law was enacted, designed to gear agricultural production incentives to potential markets, thereby giving promise to our farm people of a stable and dependable future once the wartime inheritance of surpluses is removed from the farm economy.

Loan programs have been substantially improved, enabling many more farmers to acquire family-sized farms and to improve their farms and homes. The benefits of social security protection have been extended to farm families. The return of the Farm Credit Administration to farmer control; expansion of soil conservation assistance and rural electrification and telephone programs; increased funds for research and extension work; initiation of new programs to aid low income farm families; adoption of tax provisions of benefit to farm people; increased storage facilities; upstream soil conservation programs; greatly expanded disposal activities for surplus farm products; strengthening our Department of Agriculture representation overseas in the interest of expanded markets—these and other advances have permanently reinforced the foundations of all agriculture.

Remedies for these problems demand a clear understanding of their principal causes. These are:

FIRST—Production and market distortions, the result of wartime production incentives too long continued;

SECOND — Current record livestock production and near-record crop harvests piled on top of previously accumulated carryovers;

THIRD—Rising costs and high capital requirements.

In short, we have an over-supply of commodities which drives down prices as mounting costs force up from below. Thus is generated a severe price-cost squeeze from which our farm people, with the help of government, must be relieved.

We must free the farm economy from distortions rooted in wartime needs and thus enable our people in agriculture to achieve prosperity; in so doing they will help carry the nation's prosperity to still greater heights. The administration and the Congress must move together to achieve this goal.

The requirements are clear. New means are needed to reduce surpluses and to widen markets. Costs must be cut and production must be better balanced with prospective needs.

The Main Problem —the Surplus

Of the many difficulties that aggravate the farm problem, mountainous surpluses overshadow everything else. Today's surpluses consist of commodities produced in a volume imperatively needed in wartime but unmarketable in peacetime at the same prices and in the same quantity.

The plain fact is that wartime production incentives were too long continued. During the past three years, there has been no lack of effort to get rid of surplus stocks. Disposal efforts have been diligent and vigorous. Vast quantities have been moved — much of them given away. In the past three years we have found outlets for commodities in a value of more than four billion dollars—far more than in any comparable period in recent history.

But these disposal efforts have not been able to keep pace with the problem. For each bushel-equivalent sold, one and a half have replaced it in the stockpiles. Farmers, the intended beneficiaries of the support program, today find themselves in ever-growing danger from the mounting accumulations. Were it not for the government's bulging stocks, farmers would be getting far more for their products today.

Other consequences of past farm programs have been no less damaging. Both at home and abroad, markets have been lost. Foreign farm production has been increased. American exports have declined. Foreign products have been attracted to our shores.

Steadily this chain of events has lengthened. Our farmers have had to submit to drastic acreage controls that hamper efficient farm management. Even these controls have been self-defeating, because acres diverted from price-supported crops have been planted to other crops. These crops have been

President Seeks Soil Bank Vote From Congress

Bill Cutting Surpluses of Farmers' Products Asked in 9-Point Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to vote a soil bank plan to help use up the present towering surplus of farm products as part of a nine-point program to ease the plight of farmers.

In a special message to Congress, Eisenhower called for urgent attention to the "paradox facing our farm families." He said:

"Although agriculture is our basic industry, they find their prices and income depressed amid the nation's greatest prosperity. For five years, their economy has declined. Unless corrected these economic reversals are a direct threat to the well being to all of our people."

Eisenhower's outline suggested additions to existing controversial programs which agricultural officials said would put more than an extra billion dollars into farmers' pockets from government resources.

The recommendations would be aimed, Eisenhower said, at using present price-depressing crop surpluses to reduce output. Farmers who helped cut back production would be offered government surpluses as compensation.

FARMERS TO DECIDE

The program lays much of its immediate emphasis on the soil bank or "acreage reserve" plan under which farmers would be encouraged — but not compelled — to reduce plantings until surpluses are trimmed and markets grow enough to buy agriculture's productive capacity.

Inducement not to use crop lands would be offered in the form of cash payments as well as surplus stocks of such crops

Punctured Fuel Tank Starts Fire

Pontiac Press Photo

FLAMES SWEEP GARAGE — A charred 1956 station wagon stands in the foreground as passers-by watch firemen put out a blaze which destroyed the interior of a service station garage on the corner of Auburn and Opdyke Rds. this morning. According to owner Marion Russell, of Lake Orion, the fire started when gasoline from the station wagon's punctured fuel tank spilled on the floor and was ignited. The vehicle, owned by Alfred J. Kuencer, of 6435 Lanman Rd., was being raised on a hoist when the tank was accidentally broken open. Kuencer had brought it in earlier to have its brakes examined. Firemen from the Pontiac Township Department fought the blaze. Both the station wagon and the garage's interior were completely ruined.

Riot Fever Calms Down; Student Demonstration Decries Baghdad Pact

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A new government took office today as Jordan settled down to calm after a weekend of rioting and demonstrations against the pro-Western Baghdad Pact.

Syrian press dispatches received in Damascus, the capital, said 11 rioters were shot dead and 28 wounded in the recent disorders in Jordan but did not say over what period. Disorders also occurred last month.

(Huge student demonstrations in Damascus and other Syrian cities Monday supported the rioting elements in Jordan which opposed the Baghdad Pact. No violence was reported, but 5,000 students who walked out of their classes in Damascus, paraded with placards hailing "The liberation fighters in Jordan" and shouted anti-Baghdad Pact slogans. Embassies of the Western Powers and of Iraq and Jordan in Damascus were heavily guarded.)

Both cities remained under curfew. But a government spokesman declared there was no state of emergency, as some foreign reports have said.

Officials put casualties in rioting in Jerusalem yesterday at one killed and three injured. An American Embassy spokesman in Amman said about 300 Americans living in the Jordan capital were safe. A number of Americans lived in the Philadelphia Hotel, which was attacked and set afire in Amman Saturday. Some of them are now living with other American families in the city.

An American Point 4 installation on the Amman-Jericho Road was set afire Saturday.

The United States made a vigorous protest to Jordan's charge d'affaires in Washington concerning Saturday's riots. Secretary of State Dulles summoned the official, Taysir A. Toucan, to his home in an unusual Sunday meeting.

The State Department said Dulles "expressed his deep concern" at the "mob violence" which burned an American foreign aid headquarters in Amman and ripped down an American flag during an attack on the U.S. consulate in Jerusalem. He urged measures by Jordan to protect American lives and property.

GMC Truck Unveils New 'Air Ride'

A new era in truck suspension was hailed by officials of the GMC Truck & Coach Division this week following introduction of its "air ride" principle at the current Chicago Auto Show.

In announcing development of the system, Philip J. Monaghan, General Motors vice president and division general manager said that it will introduce outstanding economy and efficiency to the trucking industry.

The revolutionary new type of suspension, whereby air-filled rubberized bellows replace the conventional metal leaf springs, is now on an experimental GMC truck-trailer combination and will be ready for production late this year, Monaghan said.

Over 400,000,000 miles of operating experience with air suspension on GM coaches, and tests with air-ride trucks at the General Motors Proving Ground, shows that GMC truck air suspension:

Eliminates spring lubrication, repairs and replacement.

Encourages standardization of loading dock heights by assuring constant truck-trailer floor height.

Prolongs chassis life and reduces overall maintenance.

Prolongs body life by lessening road shocks, reducing maintenance costs.

Eliminates spring noise and other vibration noise.

Permits greater traction when needed under the driving axle of tandem-axle combinations using a "dead" pusher or trailing axle, by providing easy adjustment of air spring pressure to throw more load weight on the driving axle.

GMC highway tractors with air suspension would be able to haul trailers and semi-trailers that had either the conventional leaf springs, or air suspension.

"General use of this new type

Grace Claims Romance Began at Second Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Grace Kelly says her romance with Prince Rainier III was love at second sight.

Smiling happily, the honey-blonde actress told some 70 reporters and photographers yesterday how she met and was courted by the handsome monarch of tiny Monaco, whom she intends to marry after Easter.

"I've been in love before — but never in love like this," she said.

She met the prince at his palace in Monte Carlo last May, she said, but didn't date him and didn't feel at all romantic about him.

It was a different story Christmas Day at the home of her wealthy parents in Philadelphia.

Prince Rainier had Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Austin of Margate, N.J., Miss Kelly's aunt and uncle. After dinner the Austins brought him calling at the Kelly home.

"Then it apparently was love at first sight, or rather second sight," Miss Kelly said, smiling.

She held up her hand, showing the engagement ring of rubies and diamonds, and another gift from Rainier—a bracelet of heavy gold links with a Monaco gold coin.

The prince, 32, and Miss Kelly, 26, parted Saturday for the first time since their engagement. She is en route to Hollywood to complete a motion picture commitment. He is driving to Florida for deep sea fishing.

Miss Kelly said Rainier will decide where the wedding will be held, soon after April 1.

"After we're married, my emphasis is going to be on our marriage," she said when asked about her future movie-making plans.

Juliette, the 20-year-old niece of Louis A. Wehle, state conservation commissioner, and Air Force Lt. John Owens met with their families in a seven-hour conference here yesterday.

Juliette and her parents had nothing to say after the meeting, but Owens told newsmen:

"I'm going to Japan to think things over for a year. She's pretty mixed up. I'm positive she didn't realize what she was doing. She made a terrible mistake. She knows that now. There's nothing we can do now."

TERRIBLE MISTAKE

The "terrible mistake" Owens referred to was Juliette's predawn flight with an old boy friend just eight hours before she was to have married Owens.

Early Saturday morning she turned up at a private party with Stephen Hahn, 26-year-old son of another socially prominent family. Miss Wehle was clad in a negligee and a housecoat.

Shortly after showing up at the party she borrowed some clothes, Hahn borrowed a station wagon and the pair took off for Syracuse. From there they flew to New York. Late in the afternoon Juliette called her family and said they were returning.

President Seeks OK on Plan for Soil Bank

as cotton, wheat and possibly corn, rice and peanuts.

If the program were authorized by Congress and Congress took full advantage, the payments and the value of the surplus crops would total about one billion dollars. This is at least three-quarters of a billion more than they got in direct payments from the government in 1955.

In addition to the soil bank plan Eisenhower proposed:

1. New steps to move stocks from the present seven-billion-dollar surplus holdings into foreign and domestic use.

2. Easing of production controls on some major crops.

3. That Congress consider placing a dollar limit on the amount of price support aid that could be given to a single farm.

4. A speed-up of the rural development program for low-income farmers first suggested by the administration last year.

5. Greater aid to stabilize farming in the drought-plagued Great Plains.

6. A 25 per cent increase in federal appropriations for research aimed at finding new uses, new markets and new crops for agriculture.

7. Assurance that the federal government will always supply adequate credit to meet farmers' needs.

8. That the federal government make refunds to farmers of gasoline taxes collected on motor fuel used for nonhighway purposes. It was estimated this would save farmers $60,000,000 a year.

GMC Truck Shows Air Ride Principle

of suspension in trucks and trailers by the nation's trucking fleets could mean literally millions of dollars gained by increased payload potential, decreased freight damage and reduced maintenance expense," Monaghan said.

"Another area of considerable savings can be in the packaging of goods to be shipped by air-ride trucks. The cushioning of cargo against road shock will permit lighter, less rigid and less expensive crates and containers."

Mounted between the axles and frames of an F853 duo-purpose tractor with a 48,000-pound gross combination weight and a 35-foot-long maximum volume van-type trailer, the suspension system has 10 rubberized tire-fabric bellows filled with compressed air.

As the bellows flex under the jarring impact of road shocks, they form a cushion between the axles and the body, absorbing heavy jolts and virtually eliminating high-frequency vibrations that wear out the tractor and trailer.

Even with a partial load located to one side of the trailer, the floor remains level because the air springs on that side of the trailer automatically are subject to more air pressure and compensate for the unbalanced character of the load.

Due to the air suspension vehicle's air-smooth ride, freight resting on the floor of the trailer would not be subject to as much damage from the weight pressing down from above, aggravated by severe road jolts.

The air suspension system on the experimental tractor-trailer combination is composed basically of air bellows, leveling valves, air beams, air chambers and an air storage tank.

The tractor has a total of six bellows, four in front and two over the rear axle. Two small bellows are mounted on each end of the front axle and a large bellows is installed at each end of the rear axle, giving ample support to the tractor's above-frame structure.

Four large bellows support the trailer. Two are mounted on each side of the trailer between the axle and the trailer's body.

Compressed air is supplied to the bellows, air beams and air chambers from the tractor's air system. It flows from the storage tank to the leveling valves that meter the air into the bellows, and beams and chambers. Air is available to the air suspension system from the supply tanks only when pressure has been developed to maintain a safe margin for the air brake system.

Pick Detroit in Study of Cancer Detection

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U. S. Public Health Service announced today in Washington that Detroit has been picked as one of eight cities for continuation of studies into a new method of detecting uterine cancer.

Public health service physicians said that techniques developed in a preliminary study in Memphis, Tenn., represent "positive steps toward total elimination of this form of cancer."

This technique will be applied in further studies in Detroit and seven other cities throughout the nation.

The new process involves detection of cancer cells through microscopic examinations of specimens from patients. If the tests are successful, this method could mean elimination of the disease that is now the second most deadly form of cancer among women.

Of all traffic accidents, more than one out of every five occufred between 5 and 8 p.m.

Ontario Police Hunt Sex Killer of 5-Year-Old Girl

Her tiny body was found Saturday, 14 hours after she followed a stranger from the churchyard where she was playing with her two brothers. Today she will be buried while police hunt for her abductor.

Volunteer searchers found the child, sprawled on her back, one arm thrown across a railway track. Police said she dropped there in pre-dawn darkness and died of exposure. An autopsy showed she had been criminally assaulted.

Throughout the weekend police paraded a ragged company of known sex deviates through headquarters for questioning. One suspect, held for a time, was released yesterday when Susan's brothers, Pat, 10, and Mike, 9, were unable to identify him in a lineup.

Blaze Victims Get Enough Clothing, but Need Food

Sufficient clothing for the Truman Smith's 15 children has been obtained, according to Harvey W. Perry, who last week offered his Pontiac office as a collection agency for donations.

The Smiths lost their 10-room Goodrich farm home Jan. 1 when a $20,000 blaze leveled the structure, and destroyed everything the family owned.

"The Smiths need bedding, dishes, cooking utensils and food such as canned goods to fed all those hungry mouths," Perry state.

Mrs. Zelma Decker of 3883 Mildred, Rochester, has offered her home as a collection place for Rochester citizens wishing to donate to the family.

Publishers, Union Officials Meet Today

DETROIT (INS)—Three national union officials were scheduled to meet today with the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn. in an effort to end the city's 40-day-old newspaper strike.

Heading the list was Woodruff Randolph, president of the International Typographical Union. Randolph returned to the Motor City after visiting his Indianapolis headquarters yesterday.

Other national officers who will participate in the negotiations are Joseph Bailey, vice president of the ITU national body and the representative for the mailers union on the ITU executive board, and James H. Sampson, international vice president of the stereotypers union.

Only two unions have reached agreements on new contracts in the strike that has forced a shutdown of the city's three major dailies—the Times, News and Free Press.

Three unions are officially on strike and three others are still negotiating new contracts.

Green-Tinted Boy Still in Critical State From Polio

CHICAGO (UP) — A 15-year-old farm boy whose body has taken a strange green tint since he was stricken with polio remained in a critical condition today.

Edward Walsh, one of the 10 Karon Walsh children who were stricken with polio last summer, was reported "very, very slightly improved" at the University of Illinois Research Hospital.

Edward was brought to Chicago Dec. 28. Physicians said his blood serum is greenish in color, instead of the normal red.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners to Clear Way for Willits Widening

BIRMINGHAM — Purchase of right-of-way and planning and assessment districts to widen Willits from Bates to Woodward will be among details cleared by City Commission, if no objectors attend the hearing this evening at Municipal Building.

Several assessment resolutions also are among items on the agenda. Willits would be widened, with the aim of the city to facilitate traffic going around the busy business district. Commissioners may vote in agreement with Royal Oak's Commissioners, pointing out to the governor's Safety Committee, that Woodward avenue, as a congested highway should have better lighting facilities. The Royal Oak petition points to three fatal accidents on Woodward in that city last year.

City Manager D. C. Egbert will suggest several ways to answer the complaints in regard to park property, east of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and north of Derby road. His suggestions include a tot lot, a nursery stock area, or a lawn addition. He will recommend annexation of three isolated areas, formerly part of Troy Township, by Birmingham.

He will also ask a hearing date be set to acquire site A for parking lot use with a ground level plan for 170 cars, being adaptable for future building of a structure.

Embury Methodist Church Women's Society for Christian Service will hear Mrs. Reginald Becker talk on Christian work in the present day at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the church social hall. Devotion chairman is Mrs. Howard Palmer and hostesses are Mrs. Archie Livingstone, Mrs. Walter DeMill and Mrs. Melvin Hunter.

He belonged to Bloomfield Hills Country Club, the Economics Club, and was one of the early vestrymen at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Surviving are his wife, Nola R.; two daughters, Mrs. George R. Fink of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. James Morrison Taylor of Birmingham; one son, John L. of Mansfield, O.; two sisters, Lillian of Detroit and Mrs. Arthur K. Moore of Traverse City; a brother, Bert, of LaJolla, Calif.; and nine grandchildren.

Arrangements are being made by Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with service at 11 a. m. Tuesday at Christ Church Cranbrook. Interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Pope Approves Painless Births

Holy Scripture, Morals Not Violated in Method, Says Pontiff in Speech

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII has approved a drugless method of reducing the pains of childbirth.

The head of the Roman Catholic Church said in an address yesterday the method, commonly known as "childbirth without fear," violates neither Holy Scripture nor morals. He described it as a "psycho-prophylactic" method in which the mother's natural forces alone are called into action.

The pontiff told a congress of more than 1,000 gynecologists that he had received information on the subject and had been asked to pass judgment on it from the religious and moral viewpoint.

EMOTIONAL APPEALS

The method approved by the Pope calls for intensive instruction of the expectant mother in the processes of childbirth. Repeated appeals are made to her emotions not to permit feelings of fear, and during labor specially trained personnel assist and remind her of what she has learned.

The pontiff said the method already is used extensively in Russia and China and is finding favor in Western countries, particularly in the United States and France.

He explained that the "new method opposes itself" to the fact accepted by men that women must give birth in pain. Advocates of the new method, he continued, assert that normal functions of the human organism when accomplished properly are not accompanied by any painful sensation, and normal childbirth, being a natural function, therefore should be without pain.

Hal Boyle Says:

Refugee Keeping American Gals in Stitches

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Leon Jolson is a refugee who became a millionaire by convincing even policemen that they could do home sewing.

His success is one of the most spectacular of any achieved by the hundreds of thousands of fugitives from totalitarian terror who have found a new life in America.

Jolson and his wife, Ann, came here in 1947. They were stateless, penniless and childless. On Jolson's left arm he bore the blue tattooed numerals symbolizing the three years he was imprisoned in Nazi concentration camps before he escaped and joined the Polish underground movement.

Today at 42 Jolson is an American citizen, has two children, and heads the $60,000,000-a-year Necchi and Elna sewing machine corporations.

But for a short time after his arrival he and his wife had to exist on a $90-a-month check from a private relief organization while Jolson learned the English language.

What could he do to earn his way in this strange land? Jolson had been a sewing machine company representative in Poland. He was amazed to find how few American women did home sewing. He decided there was a big market here, and that he would go back into the only business he knew.

"There is already too much competition in it," they told him. "Besides American housewives are different from European housewives. They aren't interested in acquiring the technical skill to do home sewing."

WAS UNCONVINCING

Jolson thought they were wrong. He felt that by importing an Italian model sewing machine that required less operating skill he could make a go of it. In 1948 he started his own business on $2,000 borrowed capital.

"I was scared stiff," he recalled.

But his business mushroomed to $2,000,000 in sales by the end of the firs' year. By 1953 they had reached $45,000,000. His firms now account for about a tenth of the $600,000,000 American sewing machine industry.

"I hope my success," he said seriously, "has led some Americans not to underestimate Europeans about mass production. But in fields requiring precision and skilled hand work we have much to learn.

Grateful to his adopted country, Jolson established a $10,000 fellowship grant at Columbia University and a $250,000 foundation to promote better understanding between "all races, creeds and nationalities on the community level."

He says:

"I sometimes wonder if a native American can understand this country as well as a new American does. He is so accustomed to freedom that it no longer seems as wonderful to him as it does to one who has lost it — and found it again."

Tokyo Gets 5 B57 Jets to Boost Far East AF

They were the first jet bombers to arrive in FEAF's major modernization from B26 propeller-driven planes to the swifter and deadlier jets.

The twin-jet B57s are the vanguard of 45 similar planes assigned to replace the B26s, which were the workhorses of the Korean War. The new planes reportedly are capable of delivering the atom bomb.

Love-Spurned Jap Poisons Charity Cake for Spite

They said it was poisoned, checked the donor, Tatsue Kurihara, 27, found she was angered over the loss of a boy friend to the younger woman.

Miss Kurihara was arrested. Miss Takahushi will recover.

Adlai's Son Returns to Harvard Studies

BOSTON (AP)—John Fell Stevenson, 19, youngest son of Democratic Presidential aspirant Adlai Stevenson, was back at his Harvard studies today, apparently recovered from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last month.

Young Stevenson arrived at Logan International Airport last night, accompanied by Harvard Economics Prof. Seymour Harris, who spent the weekend with the elder Stevenson.

Over 1,000 Enter County Home in '55

Oakland County Children's Home had its biggest year in 1955, with a total of 1,032 admitted through Dec. 15, as compared with 960 admissions during the 12 months of 1954.

Of the children cared for, 234 were brought to the home because of neglect of parents or guardians, 49 were dependent upon the county, and 749 were involved in juvenile delinquency.

The home supplies separate living quarters for the two classes of youngsters sheltered there. Two cottages house dependent and neglected children, and delinquents have their own quarters. Youngsters range in age from infants to 17.

Of the children who came under the jurisdiction of the home last year, 464 were released to parents and another 46 to relatives. Six children were adopted, and 130 placed in boarding homes.

"Our constant aim is to rehabilitate the children who come under our care," said William Moulton Jr., superintendent of the home, "by supplying, wherever possible, the factor needed to make them acceptable members of society.

SOME INCORRIGIBLE

"Some of the children whose conduct has been delinquent have been truants or incorrigible in school. Others have committed acts of vandalism. Sometimes the only thing needed is a proper home environment," he added.

Among the "failures," the home lists 73 sent to the State Boys Vocational School, four to the State Girls Training School, and 10 to the Oakland County Jail. A total of 148 were reported as having gone AWOL.

Of the remaining, 23 went to the Boys Ranch at Camp Oakland, 3 to private training schools, 5 to the State Hospital, 2 to Lapeer Home for Mental Defectives, 1 to the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium. Four boys went to the Army, 3 to the Marines and the balance were released to other counties and states.

Of youngsters who have got into trouble with the police and been released from the home, approximately 10 per cent have to be returned, Moulton said. Last summer, of about 150 released some 15 to 20 were returned to the home because they had gotten into trouble again, according to Moulton.

"But many of these children are in trouble because of poor home conditions," Moulton said. "There is a need—a big need—for 'free homes' where children might be placed, not to bring a profit to those who take them, but simply because people, in the goodness of their hearts, want to find room in their lives to salvage a human being.

"Love, wise discipline, a real home and a measure of understanding is all that most of these youngsters need to become fine members of society. But without these things, that often only the individual can supply, they sometimes are drawn back to delinquency and misconduct when they are released."

Okay Name Change for District Schools

Applying psychology to the problems of school financing, the Oakland County School Board voted this week to change the official name of the Waterford area school system.

From now on it will be known as the Waterford Township School District.

Buyers of bonds to finance new buildings are creatures of habit, according to county officials. Accustomed to seeing the word "district" in the names of municipal corporations, their first thought when confronted with the title "Waterford Township Schools" is to raise the interest ante—or at least investigate.

Winds Hamper Rescue of Navy Ship and Tug

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—High winds and heavy seas appeared today to have washed away any hope of immediate rescue for a destroyer-escort and a salvage tug, hard aground on mud flats off Ft. Story.

Both the USS Basilone and the salvage tug Seneca, the latter listing about 11 degrees to starboard, were taking a heavy pounding from wind and sea. But Navy officials said neither vessel was in "serious danger."

The Basilone went aground early Thursday morning. The Seneca followed suit Saturday evening while attempting to free the destroyer. Crews of both vessels totaling 28 were still aboard.

"My feet were killing me! Then I tried Ben-Gay!"

Mr. Wesley Craig of Detroit, Mich., praises Ben-Gay for relieving the pain of sore, aching feet. "I'm the manager of a restaurant," says Mr. Craig, "and it's sure a 'standing' job! As a result, I'd been having a lot of trouble with my feet and my leg muscles. Finally, I tried Ben-Gay. I rubbed my legs, feet and ankles with it and what relief! Believe it or not, the next day I played 18 holes of golf without an ache or a pain! Ben-Gay's my stand-by from now on!"

Mr. Craig is right. Ben-Gay is amazingly effective in relieving the throbbing and burning of tired, sore feet. Ben-Gay acts fast . . . really fast to bring soothing relief. Its world-famous formula contains up to two and a half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than any of five other widely offered rub-ins: It works two ways: First it stimulates the blood supply to the painful area. Then its pain-deadening action goes to work to bring welcome relief. Your feet feel better...you feel better all over. Try it! Rub in Ben-Gay . . . rub pain away!

Soviet Defense Cut Typical Propaganda

We Americans shouldn't swallow Russia's report that its military budget has been cut 10 per cent to $25.6 billion.

This is roughly $10 billion below the total of our prospective 1956 defense budget. Of course, this claim by Finance Minister ZVEREV is deceiving and the propaganda use being made of it is typically Communist. It should be remembered the Russians never give anyone any details about their military spending they want to keep secret.

Because of that it is very difficult to compare Russian military expenditures with ours. Recently the U.S.S.R. announced a reduction of 640,000 in its military manpower. This had little meaning except its propaganda value. Even with this reduction Russia's army still totals about 4,160,000 to our 2,600,000.

Such a decrease in U.S.S.R. manpower might result in an even greater cut than 10 per cent. But it makes one wonder whether Russia is not economizing in manpower for the express purpose of increasing its stock of ultra modern weapons.

Furthermore, there is no one in Russia to check up on how much actually is spent for military purposes, as our Congressmen do in Washington. Unlike a dictatorship, the people of a democracy have to be told all the facts about such spending.

Another difficulty in comparing the two budgets arises from the fact that many Russian military expenditures may be charged to other departments than defense. Every cent of ours, on the other hand, is charged in the budget against national defense, including even veterans pensions.

It should be borne in mind also that all our defense work is carried on by well paid free labor. It is quite likely that much of Russia's is done by slave labor.

Era Dies With Hague

In the death of FRANK HAGUE came the end of an era of a special breed of big city political boss.

During 30 years, which included his eight terms as mayor of Jersey City, HAGUE rose from humble beginnings to vast political power. Not only was he the unchallenged boss of that city, but at times virtually controlled the entire state. His voice also was listened to frequently in national Democratic councils.

HAGUE had a colorful personality and great ability for organization and for inspiring supporters' loyalty. His political enemies viewed him as a ruthless tyrant. To his supporters he was a benefactor who dispensed Christmas baskets, free boat rides, hospital care and social services.

Undoubtedly the one time political boss who had spent the last few of his 81 years in deserved oblivion, was among the first to see the end coming for him politically. Rising public resentment against the attitude reflected in his "I am the law" statement plus a U. S. Supreme Court decision in 1937, started him downgrade.

Another factor was the introduction into Hudson County, N. J. of voting machines which couldn't be manipulated as paper ballots had been.

HAGUE and his era are ineffacable parts of city and state political history in New Jersey. Few there could mourn either. Most, no doubt, hope to forget both.

Ike Backs Trade Body

Once again President EISENHOWER has asked Congress to approve U. S. participation in the proposed Organization for Trade Co-operation.

In his meeting with congressional leaders, the Chief Executive emphasized the significance of this organization. At the same time he asked them to help speed the necessary enabling legislation through Congress.

Aim of OTC is to provide machinery for ensuring fair trade practices between nations and for hearing complaints and working out solutions. The cost to the United States wouldn't exceed $50,000 a year.

Congress should have no hesitation in approving U. S. membership. Besides helping to promote free world unity, it would benefit American traders to have a code of fair practices governing international commerce.

Quite a Twist

David Lawrence Says:

International Blackmail Goes Unnoticed as Red China Coerces Her Way Into U. N.

WASHINGTON—Two of the most flagrant cases of international blackmail are going almost unnoticed in the court of public opinion. Scarcely any candidates for office in either party in America and hardly any statesmen in Europe and Asia are saying a word about it.

The first case is the ultimatum of the Red China government delivered recently at Geneva that unless the Secretary of State of the United States agrees to meet personally with the head of the gangster regime of China, the several Americans held prisoner in Red China will not be released.

The second is the refusal of the Moscow government to release 100,000 German citizens taken prisoner more than ten years ago in World War II. The initial step in the blackmail caper when the Soviet government last summer demanded that the West German government receive an ambassador from Moscow and then the prisoners could be released.

Chancellor Adenauer agreed reluctantly to this deal and now has received the Soviet ambassador at Bonn but only 10,000 out of the 100,000 prisoners have been returned to Germany. The rest are to be held as hostages by the Soviet for future bargaining purposes just as the Red Chinese deliberately imprisoned American citizens to use them as pawns in international barter.

U. N. CHARTER FORBIDS

Yet admission of the Red China regime is favored by many persons in America and abroad who claim the United Nations must inevitably accept the Peiping government.

The charter of the U. N., on the other hand forbids membership to aggressor governments. Indeed the legalism argument runs up against a stone wall the moment all the "realistic" facts are set forth honestly.

The United Nations is at war with Red China. An armistice was signed at Panmunjom, but no treaty of peace has been signed. The armistice terms have been repeatedly violated. The pertinent facts are:

1. The U. N. maintains a war command in Korea today. All the legal circumstances of war still exist.

2. The U. N. has denounced Red China as an aggressor. Red China still maintains armies in North Korea where the aggression occurred.

3. The U. N. has proposed unification of Korea be achieved under the supervision of U. N. members. Red China has refused to agree and a state of war goes on.

How can Red China be admitted into the same organization with which her government is in a state of war unless the U. N. is without honor or courage? This is the realism that America sees.

BLACKMAIL TACTICS

Syngman Rhee cries out against Red China armies in Korea just as Chancellor Adenauer inveighs against Moscow for continuing to keep her armies in East Germany. The rest of the world's statesmen are not saying anything on this moral issue—the blackmail tactics of the Communists.

Two weeks ago Senator Knowland called on all presidential candidates to declare themselves as to what they recommend that this country should do if Red China is voted into U. N. just after the 1956 presidential election. Both parties in Congress have declared themselves almost unanimously against admission of Red China into the U. N. It is not a partisan issue.

This much seems certain — the day the U. N. votes Red China into the U. N. there will be started the biggest wave of protest against entangling alliances with other nations that has been noted in America since the 1920s.

If Europeans who favor Red China want its government seated in the U. N., they will have to weigh that decision against the complete loss of confidence by the American people thereafter in the U. N. To forsake America in favor of Red China will not benefit Europe in the long run. For then the biggest blackmail of the century—enforced entry into the U. N. by means of a shooting war — will have been successfully perpetrated by the Red China government, aided and abetted by the Soviet government, which has publicly admitted that it furnished the arms and ammunition for the war against the U. N.

British Supporting Brady's Body 'Resistance' Theory

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Ordinary everyday "exposure" to cold, draft, sudden change, insufficient clothing, wet feet or dampness may be uncomfortable but does not cause nor predispose to any illness.

Well, yes, you are quite right—I have been saying this over and over again but up to now I have generally harped solo, and on many occasions when doctors or folks have ganged up to lodge indignant protests I have felt pretty bad, not for the loss of a few dollars—I might have lost that gamboling on the bowling green—but about the loss of thousands of young, teachable readers.

The opening statement of this piece is the finding of the British Medical Research Council.

The council concluded from three years of laboratory studies and inoculation tests on human volunteers that such "exposure" as most persons experience from day to day neither causes nor predisposes to illness.

The council's report was published a year ago.

BRITISH TOPS

Nobody of professional opinion in this country can outrank this British body in medical authority.

So you old fogies had better watch out. I am not alone.

The findings of the council investigators don't mean a thing to American health and medical authorities, either because the doctors here have never heard of them or hope the public hasn't.

BRADY AGREES

And I imagine the fact that the British investigators' findings coincide with what I have been teaching all along doesn't make the new knowledge more acceptable to the unteachables among the old timers.

Here I feel it is the injunction of Hippocrates that I risk the loss of readers by "harping"—as those who have no answer call it—on these facts:

(1) There is no such state or phenomenon as "resistance."

(2) No physician of standing will diagnose "a cold" or "the common cold" as one does diphtheria or measles, without strings attached, strings to pull a change if or when development of the illness makes it obvious that the first guess was wrong.

(3) Good safety rule: Try to keep not less than five feet away from the person who comes to school, church, the office, store, plant, theater, bridge party, dentist, hair dresser, lunch counter, barber, tailor or fitter purporting to have a nasty cold, yet unmasked. There's no telling what the so-and-so will give you.

Signed letters, not more than one page of 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Block Entry to Property When Refused Low Offer'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will no be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

For several years I have allowed Oakland Avenue shoppers to park on my property, free of charge. Until just recently that arrangement was satisfactory for all concerned.

However, the city and a private concern have wanted to buy the property for parking space. Since I don't feel the offers were good enough, I turned them down.

Now it seems I'm getting a squeeze play. When people try to drive into my property, the one business concern refuses to let them pass. I realize it's their property, but that arrangement has been going on for years, and it seems pretty small of them to cause all that trouble just because I won't sell at their price.

With everyone crying for parking space, you'd think they'd welcome free parking for customers.

Audit of Red Statements Would Expose Untruths

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

Peace and prosperity can be distorted if the initiative in international affairs is seized by gangster politicians.

Already it is clear that the size of the U. S. budget for the new fiscal year, starting July 1, will be inflated, particularly in military and foreign aid items, by the mood of the personalities in the Kremlin.

The recent utterance by Comrades Khrushchev and Bulganin before the Supreme Soviet were doubtless calculated to set in motion destructive and confused forces throughout the free world.

With conventional diplomats and statesmen relatively important in face of the word-mongering and half-truths uttered at Moscow, it would be salutary to borrow from the business world the technique of an independent audit.

Without dependable accounting, the modern corporation could not thrive. And without credit established by individuals and companies, business on the current monumental volume could not go on.

JUDGE BY RECORD

Credit managers judge individuals and companies on the basis of their record of performance, not on self-serving remarks.

In line with the belief of free men that the truth shall set them free, it is important to make a factual accounting of the remarks by the two eminent Russian Communists.

Since Khrushchev holds no official government position, President Eisenhower is correct in ignoring his personal attack. The fact, however, that the head of the Russian Communist Party made such an issue of the President's Christmas message to those behind the Iron Curtain indicates that Eisenhower's approach had teeth in it.

Eisenhower's remarks made it crystal clear to thinking men that there is no genuine social system behind the Iron Curtain but an "anti-social" system, consisting of tyranny, dictatorship and economic slavery.

President Eisenhower offended the party line by adopting the wise precedent of Woodrow Wilson, who during World War I differentiated between his hostility toward the Kaiser and his friendship toward the oppressed German people. Eventually such an approach brought internal revolution in Germany.

APPEAL TO SUCKERS

Part of the technique of the Kremlin masters is to appeal to suckers in other countries through resort to historical prejudices and gripes, such as "colonialism," pointing to its intolerable evils in the 18th Century.

It is sheer suckerbait for the Soviet spokesmen to dwell on the evils of the "colonialism," which is disappearing, in an effort to divert attention from the 20th Century "colonialism currently imposed on satellite countries by the Soviet dictators.

If the world is to have "peaceful coexistence" between the free world and the Communist area, then a phase of the competition must be in the realm of ideas and information.

A prelude to progress consists of skill in making dependable audits of the self-serving, half-truths and downright misrepresentations of the Soviet leadership. This is the indispensable antidote to the Soviet attempt to enslave men through circulating untruths.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And again another scripture saith, They shall look on him whom they pierced. —John 19:37.

* * *

He who tears down the cross, what is there left to lift him to heaven? The church claiming to be a Christian church is false to the title, if she make the cross of Christ of none effect.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Everyone, Rich or Poor, Should Know Principles Learned Via News Route

Marvin is smart. He wants to serve a business internship during high school via the operation of his own newspaper route. That is such excellent training for boys in applied psychology, salesmanship and credit, that wealthy parents should be delighted when their boys ask permission to carry newspapers. Even if a parent had to pay the newspaper $10 per week tuition, it would still be a bargain in sound education.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, Marvin wants to take over a newspaper route," his mother began, "but I have rather discouraged the idea.

"For it would tie him down every day. Besides, he'd be forced to go out in stormy weather.

"And he would then have to collect from his subscribers, too, so I really feel it is too big a chore for him.

"Besides, his daddy makes a good living for us, so Marvin doesn't need to work. What do you psychologists think of this matter?"

BRAVO, NEWSPAPER BOYS

Marvin's mother makes a mistake in saying Marvin doesn't need to work, for everybody, rich and poor must learn how to support himself, apart from papa's subsidies and mama's apron strings.

The purpose of good parenthood is to equip children to meet the problems of real life and solve them successfully.

Moreover, life expects us to deliver the goods by our own efforts, in foul weather as well as fair.

One of a husband's greatest assets for successful marriage is his ability to earn a regular pay check and budget it wisely.

Nothing else in modern American life teaches a boy the proper attitude toward money, as does carrying a newspaper route.

For he then operates his own private business on what is called the "small merchant" plan. He purchases his papers at wholesale.

Then he merchandises them, including delivery of the papers as well as the placating of irate subscribers. He also tries to win new customers to increase the size of his route and thereby his income.

This dealing with people causes a boy to acquire the knack of getting along with them gracefully. He learns to smile and speak first. In short, a newspaper boy also gets a practical course in salesmanship.

But that isn't all, for he then becomes experienced as a credit manager, for he must collect from his subscribers and then balance his books.

BALANCE YOUR BOOKS

Most Americans have never been in any field of productive work where they are called upon to balance their books.

That's why millions of Americans think a retail merchant pockets every cent that is rung up on the cash register.

That's why many workers misjudge employers and think the latter are bloated "economic royalists", rolling in dough. For most Americans know almost nothing of "net profit."

They confuse gross sales income with take-home profit. But every newspaper carrier knows this is not the case.

For he must deduct for the wholesale cost of his papers, plus depreciation of his bike and any broken windows he must repair, if he accidentally sails a folded paper through them.

A complete knowledge of economics involves practical experience with all three of these fields, namely, production, merchandising, (which includes sales and advertising), plus credit and collections.

The newspaper boy thus obtains a broad viewpoint about "free enterprise" and makes a stalwart citizen. Few former newspaper boys ever become delinquents. They aren't Prodigal Sons, either!

Girls, they make excellent husband material, too. And they deserve college scholarships.

For they have served an internship in American business and are self-reliant men by the time they graduate from high school.

Carrying a newspaper route ranks beside an Eagle Scout award in the Boy Scouts for character building, so encourage it, regardless of Daddy's income!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Romance of the Decade

Grace Kelly, Prince Make Fairy Tale Come True

(She was the girl from Philadelphia, and he was head of one of Europe's oldest royal families. Now movie queen Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III of Monaco have come together in the romance of the decade. This is the first article in a series giving the full, intimate story of the romance and of the principals in this fairy tale drama.)

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Staff Writer

When Grace Kelly first was asked to meet Prince Rainier III of Monaco, the monarch she will marry, the shy movie actress said, "No, I'd be bored."

But the French magazine editor who suggested the meeting as she traveled to the Cannes Film Festival last May was persuasive, and the Monaco government thought the publicity would be nice for Monte Carlo.

So blonde, blue-eyed Grace Kelly of Philadelphia (population 2,071,000) met mustachioed, curly-haired Rainier of Monaco (population 24,000) in his 200-room palace on the Mediterranean.

They talked.

They walked through the gardens.

And sometime during their first three-hour meeting they started to fall in love . . . and into the starring roles of the fairy tale romance of the decade.

SOUNDS UNREAL

The romance is so much like a fairy tale come true that it sounds unreal even though Grace Kelly today wears her prince's diamond-and-ruby ring and the engagement has been announced.

The 26-year-old girl who will wear a crown and sit on the throne of Monaco is the granddaughter of an Irish bricklayer and the daughter of a man once disqualified from competing in an English sports event because he wasn't a "gentleman."

Yet quite, reserved Grace Kelly will be the first woman in American history to marry the head of a ruling royal family.

The blonde beauty who has won a unique place in both make-believe and real royalty was born Nov. 12, 1929, to both the money and the manners of Mainline Philadelphia.

Her father, wealthy building contractor John B. Kelly, is the famed oarsman who in 1920 was barred from taking part in the Diamond Sculls Regatta at Henley, England, one of the most important rowing events in the world. British officials informed Kelly he wasn't eligible because he was not a "gentleman."

VICTORY FOR IRISH

"Did you ever know an Irishman who would take a thing like that lying down?" Grace has related with delight. "So two months later he won the Olympic singles. And whom did he beat? The English champ!"

She used the manners.

The Grace Kelly whom Hollywood summed up with awe as "a lady with sex-appeal" achieved extraordinary movie fame, an Academy Award and the title of the "world's best-dressed woman" by being exactly what she is—a convent-trained girl from moneyed society.

The prince she will marry is also exactly what a prince should be: Handsome, rich, dashing, heroic, and . . . real.

Rainier III of Monaco, 30th ruler of Europe's second smallest state, scion of a family that has reigned for 600 years, is the kind of man to make any girl wish she was Cinderella.

He is blue-eyed, dark-haired, of medium height and athletic, speaks English with only the trace of a continental accent and smiles shyly but charmingly.

He is, besides, custodian of a substantial royal treasury which receives about $120,000 yearly from the famed gambling casinos of Monte Carlo.

He is a hero of the French resistance and holds five medals from three countries for notable service in the French army during the war.

He is, like his future father-in-law and brother-in-law, a great sportsman—listing his hobbies as skin-diving, race-car driving, skiing and yachting.

To top everything off, this prince who was known as the "most eligible bachelor in Europe" is a popular ruler. His subjects drank champagne in the streets when his engagement of Miss Kelly was announced.

Rainier's subjects were thinking of more than just his romantic well-being. Unless Rainier produces an heir, the principality will revert to French control.

The beautiful blonde Grace and the dark and handsome Rainier should "live happily ever after."

ROMANTIC GOSSIP

Grace had been romantically linked with almost every handsome man she ever met—Clark Gable, Ray Milland, Jean Pierre Aumont and others—but shrugged them all off politely until she met Rainier.

The prince, who has been chased by actresses, society leaders, titled ladies and even college students from Illinois, proposed to Grace twice.

The "yes" she finally gave the man she once said "no" to meeting is the perfect ending:

It gives this girl who has "everything" the prince every girl dreams of; it gives the prince the woman he loves, and it gives Monaco what that tiny principality most wanted—a lovely princess and, eventually, a possible heir to the crown.

Decision of A-Arms to Chiang Unresolved

MANILA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of Air Donald Quarles said today no decision had been made to provide atomic weapons to Nationalist China if Communist China attacks.

Commenting on reports quoting him as saying in Taipei that Nationalist China's air force should be given atomic bombs if the Communists attack Formosa, Quarles said:

"I didn't say that they should be so equipped. Just how we work out deployment and use of atomic weapons is controlled by many things."

He said the United States would coordinate use of atomic weapons with its allies in this area but added that he could not be specific when or where they would be used.

UM Mechanism 'Sniffing' Fog to Test Road Visibility for Safety Measures

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan researchers are turning bloodhound to sniff fog on the state's highways on nights when visibility hampers drivers.

The optics and vision experts are testing the fog with an elaborate apparatus which actually inhales the vapors and may give the answers to some new highway safety measures.

The apparatus, which fills a university station wagon and a peculiar dome-like structure on top, will find out to what degree various fogs diffuse the beam of a headlight.

The instrument, called a polar nepthelometer, draws a mile by mile record of the fog's light-scattering characteristics.

Dr. H. R. Blackwell, director of the vision laboratores in the university campus, will head the operation after long work for the government on secret optics and vision studies.

He explains that two factors are essential in the study of how to see better: The capabilities and limitations of the human eye and the optical properties of the atmosphere.

Since the studies were started in 1946, Dr. Blackwell said, "We have learned a great deal about what the eye can and cannot do." Now they are on the other level of study—to find out what properties in the atmosphere affect light.

Occasionally, Dr. Blackwell and associate research engineer Benjamin S. Pritchard, will stop their station wagon and turn to still another device.

The device looks like a surveyor's transit and will measure how much light gets through the fog from a source placed as far away as two miles. It's called a transmissometer.

It's hoped the research may give some of the answers to improved headlight design, new highway markings and lighting systems.

The research is sponsored by the Illuminating Engineering Society research fund, a non-profit group set up to direct studies in all segements of optics and vision. It is one of the few projects the vision laboratories at the university has handled in years that has not been classified as secret or top-secret by the government.

The university hopes to interest the state in the possibility of the research unit helping solve some state highway safety problems.

The university nepthelometer is only the second in the world and is the first refined version, the first being developed roughly in England during World War II.

'SNIFFS' FOG

The university's nepthelometer was developed by Pritchard. It "sniffs" a sample of fog and pierces it with a beam of light. At the same time, an armencircling the fog sample detects the amount of light scattered at every direction.

The equipment is so sensitive that even the heat from the station wagon's engine would throw off the measurements if the vehicle should stop.

Dr. Blackwell said that the 100-man staff of the university's vision laboratories is currently working on some 93 projects, even employing the university's computer to compile the voluminous information.

Dr. Blackwell, who came to the laboratories in 1943, said "I believe we have the finest vision research staff in the country." He said the laboratory's work has resulted in the revision of lighting in U. S. airfields and in the specification of lighting in the nation's homes and schools.

Detroit Port Warned About Poor Facilities

DETROIT (AP) — Representatives of foreign steamship lines say that Detroit's commercial docking facilities are inadequate and threaten to direct their ships to Monroe or Windsor, Ont., unless the problem is corrected this year.

James C. Higgins, spokesman for the group which represents more than 25 shipping companies, made the statement before the Detroit Port Authority yesterday. He told the authority the firms stand ready to make the move unless the matter is corrected.

Higgins said the Detroit harbor terminal can unload only three ships at a time presently, forcing other ships to anchor for long periods in the Detroit River while waiting their turn at the dock.

Higgins pointed out that foreign trade is expected to increase sharply. He said at least eight berths must be made available this year? By 1957, he said, 16 docks will be needed to handle the cargo.

Lear, Union to Meet

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Federal Mediator W. A. Reinke reports another meeting scheduled next Thursday in attempts to revive negotiations between Lear, Inc., and Local 330 of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers. A strike at the firm's Grand Rapids division has idled about 1,800 production workers since Oct. 21 when contract talks were broken off.

Water Use Hits Peak

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Water Supt. Spencer G. Ferris reports that 1955 water use in Grand Rapids totaled a record 12,702,000,000 gallons, bringing a revenue of $1,555,09 for the year. The previous consumption record was 11,620,000,000 gallons in 1953.

Double Eagles Almost Extinct

U.S. Gold Coins Found Only as Collectors' Item With Increased Value

WASHINGTON (INS) — Like Colonial paper money, the Depression script and Confederate bills, U.S. gold coins have passed almost entirely in the hands of collectors.

Anyone still holding gold coins—illegal for 21 years—would have little difficulty disposing of them at a tidy profit.

In fact, the government became so conscious-stricken over redeeming gold coins at face value that federal reserve banks have been informally urged to advise holders of the bargain prices offered by dealers.

Ownership of U.S. gold coins has actualily been legal since July 13, 1954, when the government backtracked on what was probably the most widely violated law since prohibition.

FULL COOPERATION

On Dec. 28, 1933, the government had ordered all gold coins—except collectors' items—turned in at face value, and in mid-1954 the Treasury said "it can reasonably be assumed that substantially all" of them were delivered as requested.

At the same time, all outstanding gold coins were re-classified as "rare and unusual" or collectors' items. None has been issued since 1933.

By presidential proclamation on Jan. 31, 1943, the value of gold was increased from $20.67 an ounce to $35, boosting the value of a $20 gold piece—the popular "double eagle"—to about $35.

An official of the U.S. Mint said the cheapest "double eagle" available now would cost about $60 to $70.

Open market value of other gold coins depends on their scarcity with some of them worth thousands of dollars, in cases where only a limited number of a series was turned out by one of the U.S. Mints.

Lecture Subject on Philippines

Waterford Travelogue Brings Philip Walker to Platform

WATERFORD — An adventure in Hong Kong with illustrated photographer lecturer Philip Walker will appear Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Isaac Crary Junior High on Waterford Township Recreation Travelogue Platform.

Philip Walker, with his travelogue, "The Phillippines Today," is back from the Far East with an all-color motion picture lecture on Hong Kong.

The film penetrates the mysterious Far East and brings the audience within close range of Red China's Borders. The Chinese, states Walker, called the sheltered waters of this part of the South China coat "Fragrant Lagoon" and the English translation became "Hong Kong" — more of a symbol than a name. It is a symbol of Far Eastern atmosphere, of sampans, junks and boat people.

Along with the square, Victorian blocks of buildings which seems to grow right out of the granite of Hong Kong City, Walker's picture portrays the life of these boat people. It takes his audiences to Aberdeen Village out to the Floating Restaurants on a sampan, round about Aberdeen Harbor where all sorts of floating crafts and the people who live out their whole lives aboard.

The loss estimated at $6,000 is partially covered by insurance. The family of seven is living temporarily with Mosier's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hotchkiss, 4191 Stanton Rd.

President Presents Farm Situation Before Congress

thrown into surplus and their prices have declined. Today, almost without regard to the livestock or crop he produces, nearly every farmer is adversely affected by our surpluses. The whole process, for instance, has contributed to the present plight of hog producers.

When three years ago this administration assumed its responsibility in agriculture, work was begun immediately on what became the Agricultural Act of 1954. That act was developed and passed with bipartisan support, as all our agricultural legislation should be.

The 1954 law brought realism into the use of the essential tool of price supports. It applied the principle of price flexibility to help keep commodity supplies in balance with markets. That principle is sound and essential to a well-rounded farm program. For two reasons, the 1954 law has not yet been able to make its potential contribution to solving our farm troubles.

FIRST: The law began to take hold only with the harvests of 1955; it has not yet had the opportunity to be effective.

Attack on Surplus Must Go Forward

The attack on the surplus must go forward in full recognition of the fact that farm products are not actually marketed when delivered to and held by the government. A government warehouse is not a market. Even the most storable commodities cannot be added forever to government granaries, nor can they be indefinitely held. Ultimately the stockpiles must be used.

It is unthinkable to destroy food. Instead, we must move these stocks into domestic consumption or dispose of them abroad. Neither route under present conditions offers the results often expected. Surpluses moved domestically almost always compete directly with crops farmers are trying to sell. Moved abroad in quantities large enough to remedy present difficulties, they would shatter world prices and trade, injure our friends and undermine domestic prices as well.

To be sure, outlets for some of the surplus exist both at home and abroad. But experience has amply proved that neither the home nor foreign market can, under present conditions, readily absorb the tremendous stocks now depressing our agriculture.

Clearly new action is imperative. We must stop encouraging the production of surpluses. We must stop shifting acres from one crop to another, when such shifts result in new surpluses. Nor can crop problems be converted into millstones weighing down upon the producers of livestock.

Remedies are needed now, and it is up to the Administration and the Congress to provide them swiftly. As we seek to go forward, we must not go back to old programs that have failed utterly to protect farm families.

I recommend, therefore, the following nine-point program. I urge the Congress to pass this program with maximum speed, for delay can only aggravate and multiply the difficulties already sorely harassing millions of our rural people.

The Soil Bank Plan Will Work Off Surplus

Our most pressing need today is to work off our surpluses so that our basic program of 1954 can succeed in gearing production to prospective markets at fair prices. A three-pronged attack is needed.

FIRST: Future production of crops in greatest surplus must be adjusted both to the accumulated stocks and to the potential markets.

SECOND: Producers of other crops and of livestock must be relieved of excessive production from acreage diverted from surplus crops.

THIRD: Lands poorly suited to tillage, now producing unneeded crops and subject to excessive wind and water erosion, must be retired from cultivation.

These essential adjustments can all be hastened through a soil bank program. I recommend a soil bank of two parts.

The first is designed to meet the immediate need to reduce the crops in greatest over-supply. It may be called the acreage reserve program.

The second part is a long-range attack to achieve better land use and protect farmers and ranchers from the effects of production on acres already diverted. It may be called the conservation reserve program.

Acreage Reserve Plan

I recommend that the Congress consider a voluntary additional reduction in the acreage of certain crops which today are in serious surplus—wheat, cotton, corn and rice.

In considering the application of this program to each of these crops, the Congress will wish to accord special attention to their distinctive problems — notably in the case of corn—as set forth later in this message.

I do not propose this program as a device to empty government warehouses so they may be filled again. There is, therefore, a basic corollary to the acreage reserve program: In future years we must avoid, as a plague, farm programs that would encourage the building-up of new price-depressing surpluses.

What I here propose is essentially a deferred-production plan. As a necessary part of the voluntary acreage reduction, it is essential to protect the farmer's income. It would be grossly unfair to require farmers to bear the full burdens of this readjustment. Just as other readjustments from war were shouldered in considerable part by the nation as a whole, so should this.

In the case of wheat and cotton, for example, I look to a voluntary reduction equivalent to possibly one-fifth of the acreage otherwise permitted by allotments—perhaps 12 million acres of wheat and 3 million of cotton. It should be practical to include wheat already seeded if it is incorporated with the soil, as green manure, or by other accepted practices. This would make it possible for more farmers to enter the program immediately and thereby start at once to work down the surplus.

Certificates to Have Redeemed Cash Value

Administrative discretion is needed to assure that the rates of reduction in different areas are related to the supply and demand conditions for different grades and classes. The farmer's cooperation in this temporary program must not impair his historic acreage allotments. Rights of tenant farmers must be protected. I should expect the reduction in wheat and cotton planting to continue for some 3 or 4 years, during which time these huge crop carry-overs should decline to normal levels.

In return for their voluntary participation in the acreage reserve program cooperating farmers will be allocated certificates for commodities whose value will be based on the normal yields of the acres withheld in this reserve. I recommend that these certificates be made available to cooperating farmers through their county agricultural stabilization committees at normal harvest time for each crop. The certificates will be negotiable so farmers can convert them to cash. They will be redeemable by the Commodity Credit Corporation in cash, or in kind at specified rates.

I further recommend that the legislation provide that each participating farmer contract to refrain from cropping or grazing any land he puts in the acreage reserve.

By so reducing crop production, commodities now in government ownership can be used to supply market needs up to a proportionate amount. Thus the bulging Commodity Credit Corporation stocks can be correspondingly worked down without depressing current market prices.

The program will operate in this way: A farmer, with an allotment of 100 acres of wheat, for example, may choose to plant only 80 acres and put the remaining 20 in the acreage reserve. His acreage allotment will not be affected. He will agree not to graze or harvest any crop from the 20 acres put into the reserve.

In return for this cooperation in the temporary acreage reduction program, he will receive a cashable certificate. The certificate will be equal to a percentage of the value of the crop he would have normally harvested from the 20 acres. This percentage will be set at an incentive level sufficiently high to assure success of the program.

This deferred production plan uses the surplus to reduce the surplus. It will be financed with commodities already owned and paid for by the government. Time and shrinkage, storage and other costs are eroding away the present value of these stocks. Consequently, the real net cost to the government—taking these and other facts

Sneak Thief Takes Cash From Station

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies are looking for two men who drove off with $26.65 from the cash register of Doty's Service Station, on Milford Rd. at Harvey Lake Rd. Saturday night.

While one of the men, his coat collar turned up around his face, ordered two dollars' worth of gas, the other sauntered into the station and opened the cash register.

Attendant Clifford Priestly, 17, of Milford, told deputies he didn't notice the loss for almost an hour, because the bandit had left several bills inside the cash register.

Priestly said he had seen the second man standing by the cash register when he turned on the electric pumps.

Inoculation Plan Reduces Number of Rabies Shots

The dog-vaccination program underway in the unincorporated section of Oakland County has reduced the number of rabies treatments given humans in addition to decreasing the rabid dog population.

This was pointed out today by County Health Director Dr. John D. Monroe after it was revealed Saturday that no rabid animals have been reported in the vaccination area for nearly 18 months.

"In 1952, the year before the control program was started, we gave 1,004 Pasteur treatments to humans bitten by rabid dogs or animals suspected of being infected," Dr. Monroe stated.

"But the total has declined each succeeding year to only 151 in 1955," he added.

The driver, James A. Cabe, 31, of 3481 Taylor St., told police he thought the woman was going to wait for him to complete a left turn.

Five Men Arrested in Parking Lot Fight

Five men were arrested Saturday night by police investigating reports of gun-fire during a fight outside a bar near the corner of Franklin Rd. and Crystal Lake Dr.

A sixth man, Herod Bailey, 33, of 56 Gillespie St., was treated for a five-inch knife wound on his chin and later released from Pontiac General Hospital, authorities said.

Arrested on investigation of felonious assault were William H. Seay, 28, 72 Clovese St.; Charles Seay, 29, of 487 Colorado St.; Hugh E. Seay, 32, 72 Cloveses St., and Willie Harris, 41, of 357 Howard McNeil St.

A fifth man, Steve Mason, 27, of 403 Ditmar St., was caught running from the scene by Officers Thomas E. Larrison and Patrick F. Weaver, who jailed him on investigation of carrying a concealed weapon.

They said they found a 25 caliber pistol he allegedly had thrown away during the chase.

Police Probe Larcenies From Parked Autos

Larcenies from two cars, parked in St. Frederick's School parking lot Sunday afternoon, are being investigated by Pontiac Police, who said that juveniles are suspected.

They said that one woman, Alice K. Smith, 23885 Telegraph rd., Southfield Township, reported a window of her car smashed and $4.50 missing from her purse, which was lying on the front seat.

Another woman, Mrs. Robert Girardot, of Rochester, reported the contents of her glove compartment were scattered, but said there was nothing missing. She told police the car was unlocked.

Bob Considine Says:

Broadway Show Praised for Its Contents

NEW YORK (INS)—People . . . places . . . things . . .

"The Great Sebastians," which opened on Bway the other night and should never close, can boast of three great distinctions:

It has Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

It was written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse.

It has no bawdy house scene.

The latter is a risky thing for Lindsay and Crouse to leave out of a Broadway presentation these days. A regular playgoer in his growing bewilderment by now must have come to the conclusion that such a setting is required by all backers before they shell out. But, these are daring writers, this team. They venture along without four-letter words, fallen women, neurotics, erotics and narcotics.

In "The Great Sebastians" they say a lot of immensely interesting things about subjects as varied—yet in this case superbly related—as the ham quotient of the theater, the fall of Czechoslovakia to communism, the tragic death of Jan Masaryk, the love of husband and wife and . . . well, go see it.

It is, as ticketed, a "melodramatic comedy," delightfully created by big leaguers. It is hard to believe that there can be belly-laughs on the perimeter of the historic tragedy of Masaryk, but, as we were saying, go see it.

Bugs Baer, who is 70 today, recently became a grandfather twice within the space of days. Daughter Atra and son Arthur, Jr., presented him with grandsons almost simultaneously.

"Taking calcium shots," Bugs said.

Please exclude the First Commercial Bank of Chicago from the list of organizations which feel our youth is headed plumb for perdition. Last August it announced that students between the ages of 13 and 19 who have part-time jobs are eligible to borrow money from the "teen age loan fund." No co-signers or collateral would be needed, and interest would be cut to three per cent.

Well, sir, it seemed right risky to a lot of people. But not to a man named Howard K. Hurwith, chairman of the bank's board. The compulsion to pay one's debts is instilled early in mortal man, he said, or splendid words to that effect. He turned out to be right. The bank hasn't lost a quarter. In fact, it is making money off the idea — as well as demonstrating confidence in youngsters at a time when teen-age crime gets much more attention than teen-age accomplishment.

Loans have ranged from $5 to $50, and the average time for repayment is three months.

Stevenson Raps Ike's Message

U.S. Foreign Relations 'Perilous'; Report Was 'Political,' Says Adlai

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says the nation's relationships with other countries have "never been more perilous than now" and that he can't understand why President Eisenhower pictured them otherwise.

Stevenson tossed new criticism at the President's State of the Union message in a television interview on CBS Face the Nation yesterday.

He called the report to Congress "less a State of the Union message than a state of the Republican party message." He said the message was "political in tone."

He said the President's claim that the United States maintains its lead in international affairs was "a curious statement. . . . It was not accurate."

Stevenson, who lost the 1952 election to Eisenhower and now is seeking the 1956 Democratic nomination for president, said it "appears to be the case" that the United States has lost its military lead to Soviet Russia.

"From Iceland to Japan, we have never been in more peril," he said.

He urged greater economic aid to underdeveloped countries and less "threat and bluff and bluster."

Stevenson agreed with Eisenhower that taxes cannot be cut now, but said there should be a tax adjustment to benefit the low-income groups.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Diapers and safety pins sent Mrs. Letizia Holloway around the world.

Life was humdrum, she said, for 75 of her 76 years. Then, a year ago, she told the Baby Sitters Guild of Hollywood she was going away.

"It was fun, but oh, it fatigues me when I think how many diapers I changed to earn the money for my trip," she recalled last night.

She left San Francisco on a freighter for Japan. Thereafter she traveled by other ships, trains, planes, buses and taxis to Hong Kong, Singapore, Bangkok. And then to Burma, India, Egypt, Syria, Turkey, France, Germany and Spain.

She was describing a riot in Istanbul when her phone rang.

"Got to run," she announced when she had answered the call. "An assignment."

Yep, Mrs. Holloway is babysitting again. But she has a lot more to think about.

Bandits Err; Lose Loot

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two masked gunmen made the mistake of shoving William Stranger into a room with a shotgun and some shells at the Richmond Boat Club. Moments later, the club's assistant manager stepped from the basement locker room—the door wasn't locked—and fired a 12-gauge blast from the hip. The bandits dropped $230 in loot and fled.

into consideration — will be substantially less than the apparent cost in payments made on certificates.

I emphasize that this program is specifically intended to provide an income to farmers while the essential adjustment in stocks is being accomplished.

There are many virtues in the plan.

It will help remove the crushing burden of surpluses, the essential precondition for the successful operation of a sound farm program.

It will reduce the massive and unproductive storage costs on government holdings—costs that are running about a million dollars a day.

* * *

It will provide an element of insurance since farmers are assured income from the reserve acres even in a year of crop failure.

It will ease apprehension among our friends abroad over our surplus disposal program.

Conservation Reserve

The second part of the soil bank—the Conservation Reserve Program—affects both today's surpluses and tomorrow's needs of our growing population.

Under the pressures of war and the production incentives continued in postwar years, large areas have come into cultivation which wise land use and sound conservation would have reserved to forage and trees.

In greater or lesser degree this problem exists throughout the nation. Continued cropping of these lands results, on the one hand, in wastage of soil and water resources, and on the other, in production of commodities now in surplus.

Today the nation does not need these acres in harvested crops.

We cannot accurately predict our country's food needs in the years ahead, except that they will steadily increase. We do know, however, that the sound course both for today and tomorrow is wisely to safeguard our precious heritage of food-producing resources so we may hand on an enriched legacy to future generations. The Conservation Reserve Program will contribute materially to that end.

Further, production from the acres today diverted from surplus crops is now seriously affecting other segments of our agriculture. The acreage of feed grains, notably oats, barley and grain sorghums, has been increased. The end product of this diversion has been greatly enlarged supplies of and lower prices for hogs, cattle, and dairy and poultry products.

Producers of fruit, vegetables, and other crops have been adversely affected. The proposed conservation reserve can also make a major contribution to solving this problem of diverted acres.

I propose that farmers be asked to contract voluntarily with the government to shift into forage, trees and water storage cultivated lands most needing conservation measures. Any farmer would be eligible to participate in this program regardless of the crop he produces or the area where his farm is located. I would hope that some 25 million acres would be brought into the conservation reserve.

Government Should Pay Fair Share of Costs

Forest lands under good management are a constant and a renewable resource. One-third of our forest area is in farm woodlands. From this source can come a large share of the lumber, pulpwood and other forest products to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy. The Conservation Reserve can mean productive and protective tree forest products to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy. The Conservation Reserve can mean productive and protective tree cover for less productive lands now used for cultivated crops.

The government itself must encourage this transfer in order to achieve the advantages to the general welfare that will follow from improved resource use. I propose, therefore, that the government pay a fair share of the costs of establishing the conservation use, up to a specified per acre maximum that will vary by regions. The government's share will be sufficiently high to encourage broad participation and thus assure the success of the program.

Further, as the farmer reorganizes his farm along these soil conserving lines, I recommend the government provide certain annual payments for a period of years related to the length of time needed to establish the new use of the land. The Congress will need to develop the basis and procedures for determining the amount of the payments. Here, as in the acreage reserve program, I would not let the farmer's cooperation impair his historic acreage allotments.

The farmer, in turn, will agree that the acres put into this Conservation Reserve will be in addition to any land that he may put into the acreage reserve, and will represent a reduction in cropland cultivated. He will agree to carry out sound soil and water conservation on these acres, and to refrain from returning them to crop production, and from grazing them for a specified period.

I urge the Congress to approve this program with the least possible delay so that a significant part of the desired 25 million acres can come into the program in 1956.

My estimate is that if the Congress acts in time, some 350 million dollars will be invested in the conservation reserve during the calendar year, 1956, and a total of about a billion dollars over the next 3 years. Sums expended under this program will be in addition to the 250 million dollars provided for the agricultural conservation program for the coming fiscal year.

Plan Will Bring These Large Rewards

In return the Conservation Reserve Program will bring these large rewards:

It will result in improved use of soil and water resources for the benefit of this and future generations.

It will increase our supply of much-needed farm-grown forest products.

It will help hold rain and snow where they fall and make possible more ponds and reservoirs on the farm.

It will reduce the undue stimulus to livestock production, and consequent low livestock prices, induced by feed-grain production on diverted acres.

It will similarly provide protection for producers of the many small-acreage crops whose markets are threatened by even a few diverted acres.

In combination with the acreage reserve program for crops in surplus, the Conservation Reserve Program will help during the next several years to reduce the total volume of farm production and improve the balance among different farm commodities, both of which are important to a general improvement in farm prices.

Surplus Disposal

Production adjustments effected by the soil bank are needed to halt current additions to surpluses, and to reduce stocks on hand. But additional relief must be obtained from the price-depressing influence of these huge carry-overs. In public law 480 the Congress has provided basic legislation for this purpose. The problem still exists, but not for lack of viogrous efforts to deal with it.

Surplus disposals have permitted substantial reductions in stocks of butter, dried milk, cottonseed oil and meal, flaxseed and linseed oil and seeds. Surplus disposals by the Commodity Credit Corporation have risen from just over half a billion dollars in fiscal 1953 to more than 1.4 billion dollars in fiscal 1954, and to more than 2.1 billion dollars in fiscal 1955.

In the last fiscal year sales of government-owned price-supported commodities into the domestic market reached 403 million dollars. These were made with due care for the adverse effect they might have on prices received by farmers for current sales. Domestic donations to supply food for needy persons totaled an additional 196 million dollars. Overseas disposals, through barter and donations for constructive purposes, totaled 1.1 billion dollars. In spite of these vigorous efforts, the Commodity Credit Corporation investment in price-supported commodities increased by about one billion dollars during the fiscal year.

Because the problem continues to be so serious and stubborn, the Secretary of Agriculture is appointing an agricultural surplus disposal administrator who will report directly to the secretary. The duties of the administrator will relate to all activities of the department associated with the utilization of Commodity Credit Corporation stocks and of our current abundant production.

Expanded opportunities will be sought to barter agricultural products, which deteriorate and are costly to store, for increased quantities of non-perishable strategic materials. Additional legislation may be needed in this field.

The bulk of price-supported commodities held by the government cannot now by law be sold into the domestic market except at prices equal to at least 105 per cent of the support price plus carrying charges. This restriction has worked to the disadvantage of both farmers and the government by blocking sales that would clearly have been advantageous to both. I recommend legislation to permit, under proper safeguards, sales at not less than support levels plus carrying charges.

Present provisions of surplus disposal legislation permit export dispositions of government stocks to friendly nations only. Opportunities clearly to our interest may develop in the future to sell to countries excluded by this legislation. To enable us to realize on such opportunities I recommend repeal of section 304 of public law 480.

Commodity Programs to Be Strengthened

Our frontal attack on the problems of surpluses, diverted acres, unbalanced production and unwise land use is carried in major part by the soil bank through the Acreage Reserve and the Conservation Reserve Programs.

These proposals are wholly in keeping with the fundamental principles of sound farm policy set forth in my special agricultural message of two years ago. In keeping with these principles the administration:

(A) Whenever possible will continue to ease or eliminate controls over farmers; and

(B) For commodities on which price supports are discretionary, will continue to support these prices at the highest levels possible without accumulating new price-depressing surpluses.

In keeping with this latter principle, I am advised by the Secretary of Agriculture that, as a direct result of operation of various parts of our present farm program, the supply and demand conditions for soybeans and flaxseed are now such as to warant an increase in the price support levels for these crops in 1956. The higher support levels will be announced shortly.

In respect to other commodity programs I submit the following specific suggestions:

A. CORN

In recent years many farmers have chosen not to observe acreage allotments on corn. Considerably less than half of the 1955 crop was raised within acreage allotments limitations and thus eligible for price support. It is apparent that price supports alone, even at levels closely approaching the legal maximum, are an insufficient inducement for participation in a corn acreage allotment program.

I recommend therefore that Congress give serious consideration to adapting the Acreage Reserve Program to corn. One grave difficulty must be overcome. Unlike wheat and cotton, most of the corn crop is fed on the farms where it is produced. For this reason, marketing quotas such as are used on wheat and cotton are not feasible.

Three Benefits Accrue From Acreage Program

Thus, broad and effective participation by corn producers in an acreage allotment program is imperative for the Acreage Reserve Program to achieve its objective of reducing the corn surplus. With broad and effective participation, in both programs, the Acreage Reserve program would:

A. Reduce the carryover stocks which currently depress the market.

B. Make possible a higher level of price support than would otherwise prevail for the 1956 crop, and

C. Reduce the incentive to farmers to produce excessive supplies of hogs and fed cattle.

If Congress should choose not to authorize the Acreage Reserve program for corn, Congress may wish to consider an alternative; to eliminate acreage allotments for corn and put price supports for corn on a discretionary basis comparable with the other feed grains. With no acreage allotments and with discretionary supports, all corn producers would be eligible for price supports at a level substantially above the market price which prevailed during the 1955 harvest.

B. WHEAT

The problems of wheat are difficult and complex. The proposed soil bank, with its Acreage Reserve Program, will make a major contribution toward their solution. This program is particularly well-suited to wheat since this crop is grown in large acreage and is now burdened under an accumulated carry-over in excess of a full year's needs. The Conservation Reserve Program and the Great Plains Program, described later, will also help. Other changes are necessary also, both for current adjustments and for long-term balance between production and consumption.

(A) Legislation already has passed the Senate and is pending in the House which would exempt from marketing quotas those producers who use for feed, food, or seed in their own farms all the wheat they raise. Because of the failure to pass this legislation last year, the Department of Agriculture has been compelled by law to hale before the courts farmers whose only offense was to raise and feed wheat outside their quotas. Again the administration urges prompt enactment of this legislation. Correction of this problem should be delayed no longer.

(B) Historically a significant proportion of the annual wheat crop has been used for livestock feed. The quantity fed in pre-world War II years ranged from 100 to 150 million bushels a year, about twice the quantity fed in more recent years. This reduced consumption has aggravated the surplus burden.

I recommend that Congress give consideration to authorizing the annual sale for feeding purposes, at the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture, of limited quantities of Commodity Credit Corporation wheat of less desirable milling quality. The authorized sale price should reflect the feeding value of the wheat, precautions being exercised as to the effect of such sales on prices of other feed grains. There are opportunities to use more wheat for feed in feed-deficit areas distant from the corn belt.

(C) I recommend legislation to expand the non-commercial wheat area beyond the 12 states now so designated. This action would eliminate acreage and marketing controls for many farmers who characteristically feed on their own farms most of the wheat they raise, and who contribute little to commercial supplies or surplus stocks.

(D) I recommend extension for one year of legislation which exempts durum wheat from acreage and marketing controls. This type of wheat is in short supply and production should not be restricted.

* * *

We are participating in negotiations for possible renewal of the international wheat agreement, which will terminate July 1, 1956, unless it is renewed.

C. COTTON

As in the case of wheat, the Acregae Reserve Program is especially well-suited to cotton. This crop as well is burdened by an accumulated carry over in excess of a full year's requirements. Other legislative changes for cotton, in addition to the Soil Bank Program, that require consideration are these:

Urges Amendment to Affect Cotton

(A) For all crops except cotton, price support legislation requires that parity prices shall be computed on the basis of the average grade and quality of the crop. For cotton a special provision of law designates middling ⅞" cotton as the standard grade for parity calculations and price support. Currently less than 5 per cent of cotton production is of this grade or lower.

I urge an amendment to provide for cotton, as for other crops, that the average grade and quality of the crop be utilized for parity-price computations. This recommendation is, in general terms, in keeping with the intent of legislation already pending before the Senate.

(B) The shortcomings of acreage allotments as a means of controlling production on cotton are evident. In 1955, on an acreage allotment calculated to yield 10 million bales of cotton, nearly 15 million were harvested. Rapidly advancing technology is resulting in production far outrunning expectations based on acreage alone. This is especially true when prices are supported at wartime production incentive levels.

When production controls must be applied as a result of supply and market conditions, it is imperative to have controls that are effective. As surpluses are reduced through the proposed Acreage Reserve Program of the soil bank and through other means, new accumulations of surplus must definitely be avoided.

For these reasons the Congress should consider replacing acreage allotments on cotton with quantity allotments beginning with the crop of 1957. The Congress could well consider similar action for other crops under marketing quotas.

D. RICE

Under the law, accumulated supplies of rice have required a 40 per cent reduction in acreage for 1956 compared with 1954, and a decline in the support level to 75 per cent of parity.

Rice production in this country is the most efficient in the world. However, our rice is rapidly being priced out of world markets and is being diverted into government warehouses and even into the feed markets.

Congress Can Study Two Alternatives

There are two alternative courses of action to which Congress should give consideration:

1. Inclusion of rice in the Acreage Reserve Program. This will require continuation of production controls and marketing quotas.

2. Elimination of existing production and marketing controls on rice. Prices could then be supported on a disretionary basis at levels which would permit rice producers to improve their competitive market position.

If Congress considers the latter course to serve the long-term best interest of rice producers, it may wish to consider use of the Acreage Reserve Program to make the transition.

E. PEANUTS

The peanut price-stabilization program has experienced serious difficulties stemming in part from a fixed national minimum peanut acreage. With improving technology this minimum acreage will normally produce more peanuts than the markets will absorb at the support price. Consequently, I recommend elimination of provisions for the minimum national acreage allotment.

F. SUGAR

The legislation to renew the sugar act of 1948, as amended, should promptly be completed. The Congress is aware of the need to give producers, as well as foreign suppliers and the entire sugar industry, as much advance notice as possible in planning their operations.

G. SCHOOL MILK PROGRAM

The special school milk program provided for in the Agricultural Act of 1954 has met with gratifying success. Approximately nine million children had the health benefits of this program last year, including children in some 7,000 schools in which milk was not previously served. Consumption was increased by over 450 million half pints of milk.

This is a good example of constructive use of a surplus product to meet a present need. We thus contribute to better health habits and at the same time promote an enlarged market for the future. Several thousand additional schools are participating in the program in the current school year.

I have been advised that, in some states, milk program funds are nearing depletion. We must see to it that the program is carried forward intact through this fiscal year.

I recommend that the program be extended for two years beyond June 30, 1956, with authorization to use Commodity Credit Corporation funds increased from 50 million dollars a year to 75 million dollars.

H. LIVESTOCK

For livestock producers, many parts of the program I have already discussed have special significances.

Establishment of the soil bank will alleviate the undue stimulus to livestock production and the resulting downward pressure on livestock prices which arise from using for feed-grain production much of the acreage already diverted from wheat and cotton. Restrictions against grazing the soil bank acres will safeguard the interests of beef producers and dairymen.

Periodically livestock markets become glutted and prices disrupted. In such periods, where assistance will be constructive, timely and vigorous government purchase and diversion programs are essential to bolster prices and help producers adjust to market demands. Such programs have been undertaken by this administration. The Pork Purchase Program now in progress will shortly be stepped up to supply new and expanded outlets now being developed. Sales promotion and the development of better merchandizing methods cooperatively with the livestock trade are part of this effort to meet the impact of heavy marketing.

Special programs of an emergency nature will be provided to help livestock producers as needed. For example, emergency credit and low-cost feed in the event of drought will be available whenever disaster strikes.

Increased research on nutrition, disease control, better breeding, more profitable use of by-products and improved marketing will help lower production costs and facilitate the smooth flow of livestock products into consumption.

Wants Dollar Limit on Price Supports

The average size of farms in American agriculture, as measured by capital or by acres, has rapidly increased. To the degree that this trend is associated with the development of more economic and more efficient farm units it is in the interest of farm families and of the nation. To the degree, however, that it has resulted in the removal of risk for large farm businesses by reason of price supports, it is much less wholesome and constitutes a threat to the traditional family farm.

Under the price support machinery as it has been functioning, price support loans of tremendous size have occasionally occurred. It is not sound government policy to underwrite at public expense such formidable competition with family operated farms, which are the bulwark of our agriculture.

I ask the Congress to consider placing a dollar limit on the size of price support loans to any one individual or farming unit. The limit should be sufficiently high to give full protection to efficiently operated family farms.

Asks Congress Act on Farm Development

In my message of January 11, 1954, I pointed out that the chief beneficiaries of our farm programs have been the 2 million larger, more productive farm units. Production on nealy 3 million other farms is so limited that the families thereon benefit only in small degree from the types of programs that heretofore have dominated our activities.

On April 26, 1955, I transmitted to Congress recommendations of the Secretary of Agriculture for attacking the problems of low income farm families. The Congress has met only in part these recommendations for legislation and appropriations. Despite the resultant handicaps, the interest in this program has been so great that pilot work is already under way in well over 30 counties widely spread throughout the United States. There is activity now in more than one-half of the states.

Four departments of the federal government — Commerce, Labor, Health, Education and Welfare, and Agriculture — are actively at work on this program with state and local leadership to aid low income farm families.

Not only the welfare of these families but also of the people as a whole require that this program go forward. Once again, therefore, I urge the Congress to enact the full

Women's Editor Attends Previews

New York Showings Open Today

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Some 200 fashion editors from all over the United States and Canada arrived in New York today to catch the latest news in fashions for milady this spring of 1956.

A few of the trends these editors were alerted to watch for included the European and the Far Eastern influences in next season's fashions.

Although we haven't seen a Mrs. Clemence show at this writing (it's Sunday afternoon) we're aware that the long narrow princess dresses of the 1900's (when Poiret was the greatest fashion designer), and the American "dollar princess" have their echoes in spring collections.

Out of the East come harem hemlines, the narrow semi-flared Oriental coat shape, mandarin necklines, kimono sleeves and colars, obi waistlines and a strong blend of Far Eastern colors.

Fashion is in a fickle mood. It flirts with both the slim and full silhouette and sometimes changes in the middle of a dress, or so it has been hinted.

From the fashion picture we note that there is an agreement on slimness and on a natural figure drawn in long lines. Beyond that it's the designer's and wearer's choices.

Tunic dresses and long-torso dresses drop the waistline to the hipbone or thigh and regency dresses raise it to the armhole, some of the editors advance.

MURIEL JEAN CRIVEA

The engagement of Muriel Jean Crivea to Orton L. Armstrong is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Crivea of Myrtle street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Armstrong of Fremont street. A March 9 wedding is planned.

Sheaths we hear will be covered by panels or overskirts for double-feature effects. There are full skirts that cling and full skirts that float or stand out crisply.

We've been told to watch for terse understatement in the daytime silhouette and an all-out feminine frou frou or siren allure at night.

There'll be a great deal going on behind your back this spring. Although the front of most of the costumes will remain simple, the back intrigues the eye with shape, drape or some decoration.

The silhouette sweeps back, and rows of buttons or bows center trimming behind. Jackets may button down the back as well as the front. And most ball gowns might be called "grand exit" rather than "grand entrance."

We've been introduced to a new fashion adjective, "soignee" which describes the look of tomorrow, replacing that longtime and hard-working favorite, "elegant." Soignee means perfectly groomed as well as perfectly dressed.

There'll be a strong return of the short suit jacket and a continuation of the three-quarter and seven-eighths length coat.

It just makes sense that every little spring breeze will tell a fashion story. We know that fabrics will be more lustrous and that it will be a field day for flowers.

And one thing you can make sure of is the finished costume look—hat, gloves, shoes and dress or suit made for each other, and often to match.

Spring colors will vibrate like the colors in a modern painting or an Oriental bazaar. Strong blues, garden greens, tawny browns will be favored, we overheard.

Tomorrow we'll let you in on our firsthand glimpse of next spring's fashions.

St. Mary-in-the-Hills Holds First Meeting of Parish

Indianwood Country Club was the setting for the first parish meeting Friday night of St. Mary-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church. The Rev. William C. Hamm, vicar of the church, presided at the meeting.

In his annual message to the parish, the vicar stated that this was a milestone in the church, that with Sunday activities being paramount in the church and divine worship the most important of these activities, they can go from strength to strength in God's service.

Mrs. S. B. Clay reported for St. Mary Guild and announced the officers for the year. Mrs. George Albert will serve as president, Mrs. Russell Lepp, vice president; Mrs. Thomas Lombardo, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Culbert, corresponding secretary and Mrs. H. W. Robinson, treasurer.

Officers of the Angelus Guild are Mrs. Bernard Zinn, president; Mrs. A. R. Dodge, vice president; Mrs. Robert Lake, treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Butler, recording secretary; Mrs. George King, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Newton Skillman, social chairman.

During the evening Mr. Hamm presented awards in recognition of service to Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Zinn, Mrs. George Titus, Mrs. Culbert, Mrs. George Kimber, William Brenner, Mrs. Leonard Grinnel and Edgar Beatty.

Greetings were presented by Elmer Quine, Dr. Luther Leader, Mrs. Raymond L. Cole, the Rev. Louis Towler and letters of greeting to the parish were read from Bishop Richard S. Emerich of the Diocese of Michigan and the Rev. Edgar A. Lucas of Rochester.

Elected to the first vestry of the church at the Friday dinner meeting were Carroll Crawford, Arthur Dodge, George Hodges, Dr. Daniel McGeen, H. W. Robinson, Dr. Hayden Palmer, George Titus, Merle Yockey, Edgar Beatty, Thomas Culbert, George Kimber, Ellis Kimball, Russell Lepp, Waldo Leipprandt and Allan Malcomson.

At the organizational meeting of the newly elected vestry, officers were elected and the vicar was elected rector of the parish. Mr. Hodges will serve as senior warden, Mrs. Dodge, junior warden, Dr. McGeen, secretary and Mr. Titus, treasurer.

Delegates o the diocesan convention to be held Feb. 1-3 in Detroit are Mr. Hodges, Mr. Robinson and Dr. McGeen. Mr. Beatty, Mr. Lepp and Mr. Crawford are alternates.

Fruit Bowl Is Broken in the Mail

Must Sender Pay for Ruined Present or Replace It?

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter tells me: "At the time of my engagement last year I received a beautiful cut-glass fruit bowl from my fiance's aunt. My engagement was broken a month ago and I returned all the presents to their givers.

"I received a note from my ex-fiance's sister telling me that the fruit bowl arrived in several pieces. I immediately submitted a claim to the post office for the estimated value of the gift, for which I had it insured. The exact value of the bowl was unknown to me.

"Am I under obligation to replace the gift, send her the money for it, or would a note of apology suffice? Please let me hear from you."

Answer: The best thing to do would be to write a note saying how distressed you are about it but fortunately you had it insured and you are enclosing the amount the post office paid you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I have been having an agrument as to the correct position of the fork and coffee spoon when serving refreshments. Once a month we have a dessert bridge at which either pie or cake topped with whipped cream is served.

"I place the fork and coffee spoon to the right of the dessert plate. My sister says that the fork should be put at the left of the plate and the coffee spoon the right. Will you please tell us which is right?"

Answer: The coffee spoon should be put on the saucer and the fork on the right of the plate. When there is only one implement it is put on the right because it is picked up in the right hand. If there is a knife you of course put the knife on the right and the fork on the left.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When going to a beauty salon where more than one person takes care of you (Each one doing a specific job, such as cutting, setting, manicure, etc.) is it necessary to give each a tip?"

Answer: Yes. You divide a generous total tip between them.

Lots of women have discovered it: the little clutch in fabric (or fur) makes the handiest cosmetic case possible. Neat in the handbag, it keeps everything in one place. It can cost as little or as much as you want to pay.

MARY MILLER

The engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary, to Homer Thrower is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Miller of Wolfe street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thrower of East New York avenue. A Jan. 24 wedding is planned.

A flavorsome sausage-apple casserole: cut unpeeled apples into wedges and place in bottom of greased casserole; arrange pork sausage links over them; sprinkle with brown sugar and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Three Girl Friends Tangle Up Boy's Life

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Everything was going fine there for a while. I was dating three girls and nobody was mad.

"But I suddenly decided I didn't want to date Peg any more and we had a big fight. And Judy doesn't want me to go out with Patty any more because she thinks she's too unrestrained.

"To make matters worse, Peg's been telling everybody not to date me because I'm too gabby. What can I do to get myself out of this mess?"

Answer: You're in a twister all right. Golly, when a boy has three girls converging on him, the smart thing to do is run!

About Peg. It might be a good idea to make up with her. Forget all the reasons you thought you had for not wanting to go out with her any more. For pure politics' sake, make peace.

Her nose is completely out of joint since you tossed her over and had that big fight. She's feeling spiteful and mean about you, and she's spreading detrimental propaganda. So get her back on your side by having a date with her.

Have several dates with her at intervals so she'll get the idea that you regret your hasty decision. She won't be able to say anything mean if she's convinced that you like her all over again.

Judy. She's been listening to rumors about Patty. Only the boys or the girls who have been on double-dates with her would know about her lack of inhibitions.

You can counter Judy's ultimatum with very sincere remarks about Patty's behavior when she's been out with you. You can't understand what it's all about because Patty has always been very dignified and restrained with you.

All this is aimed at persuading Judy (without saying it straight out) that you don't appreciate being told by one girl that you shouldn't date another. Whom you date is your business. And you have your own reasons for picking the girls.

And when a boy picks three girls who know each other well, see each other all the time, and run around with the same crowd, he has to walk a chalk line. Otherwise, his behavior gets a good going-over.

So, don't talk about one girl with the others. And if the girls bring up others' names, change the subject with a quip that doesn't let anybody know how you feel about anybody.

And mind your grabbiness. Don't tangle with girls who are going to compare notes. Not if you expect to keep them all on the string.

Cream Soup Ideal Dish for Winter

Mrs. Jacobson Adds Eggs to Hot Mix Before Serving

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When the family is all home for lunch over the weekend, you can assure them of a good meal with Cream of Corn Soup. Add a green salad and a light dessert, as well as crackers or your favorite hot bread.

Mrs. Elmer Jacobson shares this good recipe with us. She combines homemaking for her husband and three sons with a part-time job. Her club activities include membership in the Altar Society of her church. She enjoys cooking for her family.

CREAM OF CORN SOUP
By Mrs. Elmer Jacobson

2 cups cream style corn
½ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 quart boiling water
1 pint milk
1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 cup cream or undiluted evaporated milk
Salt and pepper

To the corn add celery, onion and boiling water. Simmer one hour. Put through sieve. Add heated milk, sugar and butter. Beat eggs slightly, stir into cream and add to soup just before serving. Blend thoroughly and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Chicago Explosion Kills One and Injures Two

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion which firemen believe was caused by gas wrecked an apartment house, killed one person and injured two others last night.

Joseph Fernandez, 8, died of burns two hours after the blast which occurred in a three-story building south of the Loop. Two women were hurt.

Fire Marshals Frank Thielmann estimated damage at between $6,000 and $7,000. He ordered residents of houses on each side of the wrecked building to move out temporarily because of possible collapse of the remainder of the structure.

program recommended in my message of April 26, 1955.

Great Plains Study Results to Be Told

Between the prairies of the Central West and the Rocky Mountains is a vast area embracing all or part of 10 states, in which erratic climate, wind and water erosion, and special problems of land use constitute a continuing hazard. For more than a year intensive new studies of conditions and problems peculiar to this Great Plains region have been in progress. The work has been carried on cooperatively between the leadership of the 10 states involved, the Department of Agriculture and the Great Plains Council, which includes technical people from the states of the region. This study will help to define the respective responsibilities of individuals and local, state, and federal agencies.

The proposed soil bank, with its Acreage Reserve Program to reduce promptly production of crops in surplus and with its Conservation Reserve Program to take less productive lands out of crops, will meet in part some of the conditions especially serious in the Great Plains. Other desirable modifications of existing legislation include:

1. Provision for long-time cost-sharing commitments under the agricultural conservation program, and

2. Relaxation of planting requirements to maintain base acreage for wheat allotments.

Shortly I will transmit to the Congress a report containing certain recommendations for providing a more stable agriculture in this important region.

Research Develops Needs for Future

Scientific research has been the means of fundamentally important developments both in agriculture and industry. It has resulted in improved quality, new and better techniques, new products, new markets, new high levels of material well-being for our people, and new horizons for our future. Most individual farmers are not in a position to carry on scientific investigations. Government has special responsibility in this area—and particularly is this the case since the benefits of research related to agriculture are widely shared by all the people.

Not only can research provide for the material needs of future generations, but it also can contribute in many ways to the fuller utilization of our present abundance.

We must look for new uses of agricultural products that can contribute to human welfare, such as livestock by-products for medicinal purposes or such as coarse fibers for construction materials already have contributed.

We must find new markets, as we have for tallow in industry or as have followed upon the development of frozen and powdered juice concentrates. We must find new crops offering such new opportunities and benefits as are exemplified by soybeans and sorghums.

We must further improve our marketing mechanism, as already has been done through refrigeration and new processing techniques, so that the benefits of our abundance may be still more widely distributed. Marketing margins have continued to increase, even while farm prices have been declining. Thus the farmer's share of the retail food dollar has shrunk appreciably. Retail prices have changed little, thereby impeding desired increases in consumption.

We must find ways to lower costs of food distribution. Research is an effective way to help attain that important goal. The Secretary of Agriculture is actively engaged in an expanded inquiry directed toward reducing the costs of distribution.

Our basic scientific knowledge from which all practical applications of science are made is vitally important and must be expanded. This knowledge is essential also to continue the attack on the ravages of plant and animal pests and diseases. We cannot use or reap benefits from what we do not know. A major frontier of agriculture lies in our laboratories and experimental fields.

In the budget message, I will request the maximum increase in agricultural research funds that can be effectively used next year with the technical manpower and facilities available. This will be an increase of one-fourth, to a total of 103 million dollars.

Adequate Credit Ready for Farmers

In making the transition from war to peace, and similarly in making the investment adjustments associated with a dynamic agriculture, farmers are experiencing increased need for credit. This is especially true for young men, particularly veterans, who have started farming in recent years.

Private financial institutions, individuals, and government agencies are furnishing credit for agriculture. Administrative, budgetary, and legislative changes now being developed in government all point toward assuring adequate and sympathetic coverage of agricultural credit requirements, which cannot be met by private financial institutions.

Loans made by the Farmers Home Administration have increased gradually during the past four years from 212 million dollars to well over 300 million dollars, and can increase further as the new provisions for insured loans become more widely used.

The Farm Credit Administration has been reorganized to give farmers a greater voice in its operation. Further legislation will be proposed to combine the production credit corporations and the federal intermediate credit banks. Federal land bank loans made by the Farm Credit Administration have increased from 237 million dollars four years ago to more than 400 million dollars last year.

The administration is determined to see to it that an adequate supply of credit remains readily available to our farmers at all times.

Cut Gasoline Tax

One of the farmer's operating costs is the federal tax on gasoline. About one-half of the gasoline bought by farmers is used on the farm. I recommend that legislation be passed to relieve the farmer of the federal tax on purchases of gasoline so used.

Warns on Growth of Corporation Farms

Historically agricultural policy in this country has sought to foster family-sized owner-operated farms. This has been a sound and wise policy—not only in the development of an efficient agriculture which has become the envy of the world, but also in fostering a sturdy, resourceful, self-reliant citizenry.

Farm organization and farming operations are undergoing profound change as science and technology rapidly alter the structure of agriculture. Great care must be exercised that these changes do not result in huge corporation farms on the one hand or in unrewarding subsistence units on the other. The time-proven commercial family farm must continue as the basic social and economic unit of agriculture. Accordingly farm policy must encourage such farms, sufficiently large and productive to provide satisfactions in farm living equal to those enjoyed by other Americans.

Insofar as the problems of agriculture can best be solved by government action, government should accept the responsibility.

The proper role of government however, is that of partner with the farmer — never his master. By every possible means we must develop and promote that partnership—to the end that agriculture may continue to be a sound, enduring foundation for our economy and that farm living may be a profitable and satisfying experience.

Assisted by experienced farm people both in and out of government, I have been earnestly studying this problem for many months. I believe that the nine-point program, set forth in this message, building on our present program, meets the urgent needs of our farmers today and does so in a way consistent with our basic traditions. It offers no nostrums or panaceas. Our farm folk expect better of us than to deal in that kind of specious practice.

Farmers expect programs that are forward-looking, economically sound and fair. This program offers a workable approach to reducing the surpluses, bringing production and markets into balance at fair prices, and so raising the income and advancing the security of our farm families.

Should this program be enacted, its degree of success will be dependent upon the degree of farmer participation and upon a common determination to work together in ridding ourselves of burdensome surpluses. With such a spirit, this program will speed the transition to a stable, prosperous and free peacetinfe agriculture with a bright future.

Again I urge upon the Congress the need for swift legislative action on these recommendations, in the interest of our farm people, in the interest of every American citizen.

Heredity Plays Major Role

Facts on Heart Attacks

LOS ANGELES (UP) — A leading specialist blames heredity more than high-pressure living for the increasing rate of heart deaths.

He is Dr. Irvine Page, Cleveland, Ohio, president of the American Heart Assn.

"I think that men lived at high pressure ever since they built the Pyramids in Egypt," he said. "Something else is responsible for our continued increase in heart deaths.

"About 800,000 are dying of heart disease now, and we have predicted that no less than 1,200,000 will succumb to heart disease in 1960."

DIET IS FACTOR

Heredity, he says, is probably responsible for the fact that heart disease strikes so many more Caucasian Americans than it does Navajo Indians or Japanese. But diet also is a factor, he added.

Fats are being withheld from 15,000 persons to see if this helps prevent hardening of the arteries, said Dr. Page. There is some reason to believe that reducing fats at least 30 per cent would be advisable.

"More exercise before we become ill may deter later heart ailments, but you can't escape heredity as a factor," he said.

"People can't get too much education about heart dieseases. And, at last, doctors are beginning to think of heart diseases in terms of causes instead of just effects. We aren't just treating symptoms."

Village in India Claims Rain Title of 555 Inches

CALCUTTA, India (UP)—Mawsynram held on to its distinction today as the most rain-soaked place on earth.

The village had 555.76 inches of rain in 1955. The figure is official, and came from Shillong, capital of the northeastern Indian seate of Assm, 35 miles from Mawsynram.

In 1954 the village first claimed the world rain record. Before that, Cherrapunji, also in Assm, held it. This year, Cherrapunji's rainfall was a mere 446.41 inches.

New York City had 42.76 inches of rain in 1955. The Weather Bureau said the annual average for the period 1871-1954 is 42.94 inches.

More than 20 million acres of U.S. land are currently under lease for the exploration of oil deposits.

Science Bares Findings on Transplanting Organs

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) — A step toward giving humans new glands, kidneys or hearts to replace their own sick or worn ones was announced today.

It may lead to smashing nature's roadblock against transplanting living tissues from one person to another. Healthy skin, glands or organs taken from persons who had just died then could be given as spare parts to people who needed them.

It is discovery of a chemical that broke this roadblock in transplanting living cells between mice. This is a natural chemical nicknamed ES, meaning "enhancing substance."

The research was done by scientists of the Roscoe J. Jackson Memorial Laboratory here, and announced by the American Cancer Society, supporting the work.

The findings may be important in cancer control.

Dr. George D. Snell directed the research, with collaboration in various phases with Doctors Nathan Kaliss, Avrion Mitchison, Andrew Kandutsch, Sally Allen and Shiela Counce.

The great significance is this: Your body sets up antibodies to destroy any "foreign" materials entering your system. It creates antibodies against germs, for example, and that is very helpful. But you also create antibodies against living tissues borrowed from someone else.

Snell and his associates discovered that living cells from one mouse could be transplanted successfully into another mouse, if that mouse was first given injections of ES.

The ES was extracted from cells of the type that were being transplanted. The scientists find that ES occurs in red blood cells, in the spleen and other normal tissues, and in tumors. It is manufactured under control of certain genes, or controllers of heredity.

Apparently every individual produces a different kind of ES.

This raises the possibility that ES from one person could be given to another to suppress an antibody reaction that would destroy a gland, kidney or skin transplanted a bit later from the first person to the second.

Right now, skin or an entire kidney can be transplanted successfully only between identical twins, who have identical heredity and makeup.

Skin borrowed from someone else soon dies. It can serve as a temporary covering over a burn until the person can have some of his own skin transplanted from another part of his body to the burned area. His own skin will "take" and grow.

Younger St. Laurent Is Seated in Ottawa

OTTAWA (AP)—The House of Commons gets its first father-son team in almost 65 years tomorrow when Jean-Paul St. Laurent, 43-year-old son of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, takes his seat.

The younger St. Laurent says he doesn't expect to make any speeches this session. "The reason," he explains, "is that anything I will say will be interpreted as coming from Louis St. Laurent."

Jean-Paul, a Quebec City lawyer in his father's old firm, was elected as a Liberal member from the Quebec constituency of Temiscouata in a by-election Sept. 26. He got a majority of about 4,000 votes over Progressive Conservative Jean-Paul Berube. Some 20,000 votes were cast.

Misses Sunday School for 1st Time in 34 Years

ATLANTA (AP) — Hugh Allen missed attending Sunday school for the first time in more than 34 years yesterday.

Allen, treasurer of his class at Decatur Presbyterian Church, figured he attended Sunday school for 1,769 consecutive weeks without a miss.

Juvenile Judge Takes Advice to Be Sterner

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Juvenile Judge Louis H. Jull is going to take the advice of his youth advisory committee and put up a sterner front for young offenders.

The judge received a report from the teenage group yesterday and efforts termed "95 per cent diagnosis and 5 per cent treatment."

It was then that he decided to try out some of the recommendations, such as instituting an atmosphere of "formality . . . to make the juvenile's first appearance in court one that would leave a lasting impression and if necessary a frightening one."

Jull appointed the committee to advise him on problems of the court.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

A VISIT TO WASHINGTON—1
Where the Laws are Made

The city of Washington is the capital of our country. Its site was chosen by President Washington. Having been a surveyer in his younger days he took a keen interest in the planning of this new venture.

Washington is situated on the banks of the Potomac River and the unusual plan for its streets was made by Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a French engineer who had fought in the American Revolution.

On September 18, 1793, the cornerstone of the Capitol building where Congress meets and passes our national laws, was laid. In 1800 the government was moved from New York to Washington, then a remote and somewhat wild site. The Capitol was built of white sandstone and marble. It is 750 feet long and has a massive dome, topped with a figure called Armed Freedom.

JUNIOR EDITORS pays $10 for any reader's idea that is used. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper; it cannot be acknowledged or returned and in case of duplication of ideas, the first submission will be accepted.

NY Guild Set to Surrender in Boxing War

Group Ready to Give Up Unconditionally to Athletic Commission

NEW YORK (AP)—Its back broken, its morale shattered, the once-defiant New York Boxing Managers Guild was ready today to surrender unconditionally to the State Athletic Commission.

The guild's board of governors scheduled a meeting late today, and one informant told the Associated Press the organization would be voted out of existence.

Just four says ago the guild voted 66-0 to defy Julius Helfand, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, who ordered the guild to dissolve by Jan. 16 because he alleged some of the pilots were consorting with criminals.

But the swift-moving developments that followed the guild's vote led to an abrupt turnabout. They included:

1. The International Boxing Club headed by Jim Norris, the biggest promoter in the country, aligning itself behind Helfand.

2. The refusal of the Maryland state commission to sanction bouts by the London Sporting Club, which has been operating at St. Nicholas Arena here.

3. The resignation of Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, from the guild.

Said one guild member:

"Most of us were badly advised when we were told to refuse to testify at the recent hearings Helfand conducted. Everyone knows that the International Boxing Guild (the parent body to the New York local) ran things. But we needed it for the fine things it did in negotiating television and other contracts.

* * *

"We will ask Helfand to form an organization acceptable to him. Certainly if our members are "clean" he cannot object."

Bobby Gleason, manager of heavyweight Nino Valdes, said he would try to revive the old "Ring Board of Trade," which would act as a managers' association.

Invitation—Lead On, Mad Piper!

By GRANTLAND RICE

Get out your leather and sharpen your cleats,
What wants to bother with worry or strife?
Pan, the Mad Piper, is loose in the streets,
Filling our veins with the red wine of life.
Who cares for glory or money or fame?
I want to revel, to shout or to dance.
I want to play or to follow some game.
I want a grip on forgotten romance.
Come on, Mad Piper, and lead me astray.
I'm sick of cobwebs that clutter my brain.
Let's duck the path that is weary and gray,
Lead me, O lead me to April again.

Birmingham Sword Club to Hold Initial Meeting

First meeting of the newly organized Birmingham Fencing Club will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Birmingham High School.

Beginners classes will be open to the public every Tuesday night at the high school with the cooperation of the city department of Parks and Recreation.

Spearheading the organization of the club are Jim Campoli, former captain and now coach of the Lawrence Tech fencing team, and Dick Perry, fencing coach at the University of Detroit.

Campoli is presently the Michigan champion in all three fencing divisions, foil, epee and saber.

Last year Perry's U of D team posted a 15-2 record and captured high honors in NCAA competition.

Ladies are also invited to attend the classes. They will be tutored by Joan Snyder, renown figure in state fencing circles.

Club members and those attending classes will be expected to purchase their own fencing equipment. None will be needed for tomorrow's session.

Erickson Takes Class 'C' Title

Michigan Skier Gets 223.2 Points in Eau Claire, Wis. Event

EAU CLAIR, Wis. (AP)—Willie Erickson of Iron Mountain, Mich., won the Class C championship in the 13th annual Eau Claire Ski Club jumping tournament yesterday.

Erickson had jumps of 181 and 185 feet for 223.2 points. John St. Andre of Ishpeming, Mich., was runner-up with leaps of 164 and 172 feet for 205.2 points.

Clarence Hill of Ishpeming, former national Class A champion, was third in the Class A competition, won by Keith Zuehlke of Eau Claire, who soared 186 feet for the longest ride of the day.

Zuehlke's long jump was only four feet short of the Henrickson Hill record and his other jump of 181 feet gave him 228.1 points.

Art Tokle of Chicago was second with 218.6 points on leaps of 172 and 176 feet. Hill jumped 171 and 183 feet for 215.8 points.

Official Awards Forfeit of Contest After Being Struck With Coins

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Referee Al Lightner was hanged in effigy yesterday at the University of California where he forfeited a basketball game to Southern Cal after thrown objects hit him twice.

The official, who is sports editor of the Oregon Statesman at Salem, said: "I was thinking not only of my personal safety but also of the players on the floor who might also have been hit or might have stepped on one of those pennies, slipped, fallen and broken a leg."

* * *

After a coin hit him in the right eye, he said, he had an announcer warn rooters. He forfeited the game when he was hit on the neck.

Southern Cal was ahead, 77-64, when the game stopped with 3 minutes left.

Tatum Quits Terps for North Carolina

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Jim Tatum, "like an Old Br'er Rabbit going back to the rabbit patch," has quit the job that earned him a reputation as one of football's master tacticians to become head coach at his alma mater, the University of North Carolina.

He announced his resignation yesterday as football coach and athletic director at the University of Maryland to take a job that will pay less, but lighten the load of his responsibilities. Simultaneously, Chancellor Robert B. House of North Carolina announced Tatum had been signed to oversee the Tar Heel grid fortunes.

Terms of Tatum's contract were not announced. But Jake Wade, North Carolina's athletic publicity director, said the salary will not exceed the $15,000 limit placed on the position by the State Legislature.

Tatum said, "I'm not going down there as athletic director and coach, only as coach. You ought to get some idea from that, that Carolina can't afford to pay me as much as Maryland was." He received an $18,200 yearly stipend at Maryland.

But trading two jobs for one was worth the salary cut to Tatum. "The job as football coach and athletic director got to be so mammoth at Maryland," he said, "I felt I was spreading myself too thin. . . .

At Maryland, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, the president, said: "All realize the great contribution he has made to the university and the State of Maryland. We are sorry to see him leave. We will miss him, but we wish him the best of luck at Carolina."

Speculation about a replacement burgeoned in the wake of the Tatum announcement.

Close friends of Wilbur (Weeb) Ewbank, head coach of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, said he had been approached by members of the Terrapin Club, a university alumni group, to see if he would be interested. Ewbank was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Tatum, without naming anyone, said he hoped Maryland would choose a successor from his staff.

A native of McColl, S.C., Tatum played tackle on the 1934 Tar Heel team captained by George Barclay, whom he succeeds at Chapel Hill. Barclay's three-year contract was not renewed after his 1955 team won 3 and lost 7.

Tatum accompanied Carl Snavely to Cornell in 1936 as an assistant. He returned to Carolina as director of freshman athletics and became head football coach in 1942, his team posting a 5-2-2 record.

Following a stretch in the Navy, he coached Oklahoma to an 8-3 record and then moved to Maryland.

A master of defensive football, Tatum led his Terrapin teams to 73 victories while losing only 15 and tying 4 in his 9-year tenure. The Terps were unbeaten in 1951, '53, and '55.

He passed up a unique offer from Maryland—life tenure, meaning that barring undesirable personal conduct the job was his for life—to return to his native Southland. He also turned down the pleas of many personal friends, including Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, that he remain.

Michigan Wins Overtime Tilt

Stops Gopher Rally at 71-All, Goes On to Take 81-79 Victory

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Michigan's basketball Wolverines, with Ron Kramer benched by fouls in the closing minutes of regulation play, withstood rallying Minnesota Saturday night and won 81-79 in overtime.

For the Wolverines, who were in complete command through most of the game, it was the 1st Big Ten victory of the season in two starts.

Kramer, the big football end who has become the top scorer on the cage squad, went out of the game via the foul route with four and a half minutes left in regulation play.

Minnesota took advantage of Kramer's departure and tied the score 71-71 to push the game into overtime.

Spartans Upset Hawkeye Cagers

McCoy Fires Winning Goal for 65-64 Win in Final Minute

IOWA CITY (AP)—Big Julius McCoy broke the shackles of a close guarding Iowa in the closing minutes Saturday night and paced a Michigan State rally to a 65-64 upset over the Hawkeyes, defending Big Ten basketball champs.

McCoy had been held to only five points until midway in the 2nd half. Then he broke loose, flipping in two free throws and the winning basket in the final minute of play.

The Spartans trailed Iowa most of the way, except for a brief 41-39 lead they fashioned early in the 2nd half on McCoy's field goal.

The mentor confirmed last night a story in the Dayton Journal Herald in which Sports Editor Ritter Collett quoted him as saying:

"I feel we've got a going program at the University of Dayton and I hope to see it through."

Miami Probation Considered

Violations, Telecasting Open NCAA Confab Agenda

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 50th annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) opened today with consideration of the University of Miami's probation confronting the administrative council.

The Florida school, placed on probation for violation of various NCAA tenets in October, 1954, was to explain its present position at a closed council session.

On the opening agenda also were two roundtable discussions on the recruiting problem, with athletic directors and faculty representatives taking part. The NCAA Television Committee was expected to present its report on the results of the 1954 program tonight, plus recommendations for a 1956 schedule of college football telecasting.

The Miami problem, with Vice President James M. Godard presenting his school's views, was considered likely to occupy the council's closed session most of the day. The university was placed on probation originally for paying the transportation costs of prospective athletes to the campus, for conducting tryout sessions and for granting excessive financial aid in the form of providing transportation to athletes' home at Christmas and summer vacations.

The probation originally was for one year and would have expired last October. However, the council at that time expressed itself as "dissatisfied" with corrections made, according to Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary, and the probation was continued until the present convention.

Byers said that continuation of the probation, which bans Miami from competing in NCAA tournaments or post-season events such as football bowl games, was based primarily on a loan foundation which provided funds from which athletes could borrow for vacation transportation to their homes.

"If the council is satisfied that proper corrections have been made, the probation probably will be lifted," Byers said. "If not, it can be continued or more drastic steps taken."

Byers reported also that the council was "very gratified" with results of surveys conducted to determine compliance by member schools with NCAA recruiting regulations.

He said that all except two of the 398 member colleges and universities had returned signed certificates attesting to their adherance to NCAA principles.

"We've never heard from one of the two," said Byers, who refused to identify the schools. "The other said it didn't agree with our program and had no intention of signing. We hope to change the thinking of that school."

The council admitted the new Air Force Academy in Colorado to associate membership. Byers said that since the academy still had not graduated a class, it did not meet requirements for full membership.

Compete Sunday

Pontiac Fencers Fare Well in Detroit Meet

A group of Pontiac fencers competed in an individual foil and sabre tournament Sunday at Detroit and performed in commendable fashion. The fencers represented the city's fencing classes being conducted at Pontiac High School by the Parks and Recreation Department.

Most successful fencer was Wally Gannon who tied for 1st in the foil competition before losing to his Detroit opponent in the playoff, Eldon Gardner, co-instructor of the PHS classes, tied for 3rd place.

Bob McDonald finished 8th in the foil division and Jim Elmore and Richard Byers competed with the foils but did not place. Pontiac's lone contestant with the sabre, Ralph Waterman, came in 5th. Waterman is Gardner's teaching partner at PHS.

Pontiac will compete in two tournaments on successive Sundays in Detroit. Next Sunday the city's fencers will enter the Waffa handicap tourney and on Sunday, Jan. 22, a foil tournament. Pontiac will enter two teams in each event.

Devlin Breaks One Ski Mark, Ties Another

The senior member of the U.S. Olympic ski-jump team set a competitive record for the 55-meter hill in St. Lawrence University's Ski Bowl with a leap of 184 feet.

Devlin also made another jump of 182 feet, equalling the old competitive mark set by Art Tokle four years ago.

Canadian Pair Claims Record for Effort in Weekend Play

LONGUEUIL, Quebec (AP) — Two young Canadians today claimed a world record for keeping a table tennis ball in action, sending it back and forth across the net without missing for 14 hours and 19 minutes.

Norman Dozois, 20, and Jacques Hurtubise, 21, began playing in this Montreal suburb at 8:33 a.m. Saturday. They finally called it quits at 10:52 p.m. after helping themselves to hot drinks and sandwiches as they pinged and ponged.

Their time, they said, beat the so-called world mark of 13 hours and 20 minutes established in 1954 by Pierre Hurtubise, Jacques' brother, and Claude Turgeon.

Team Ready to Fly

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Olympic bobsled team will fly to Europe within the next few days.

Collegians Take Pro Lessons, 51-20

HONOLULU (AP) — The pros say they had fun and the college boys say they got some schooling—and the final score of yesterday's 10th annual Hula Bowl football game bears them out.

The 11 pros, playing for the Hawaii All-Stars, swamped a College All-Star squad 51-20 before 24,000 in Honolulu Stadium.

San Francisco 49er quarterback Y.A. Tittle, who had as good a time as anyone tossing six touchdown passes, summed up for the pros:

Norm Masters, Michigan State tackle, voiced the dressing room views of a number of the 17 mainland college stars:

The lessons came thick and fast, not only from Tittle but from his 49er teammates Carroll Hardy and Hugh McElhenny, the retiring Doak Walker of the Detroit Lions and end Elroy Hirsch of the Los Angeles Rams.

Hirsch snared three touchdown passes, Hardy caught two and went over a third time on a spectacular 97-yard kickoff reverse play with a handoff from McElhenny. Walker also caught one touchdown pass and booted all 7 extra points.

The college stars couldn't get over the goal until midway in the third quarter when quarterback Fred Wyant of West Virginia hit UCLA end Rommie Loudd on a pass play good for 28 yards. Late in the final period, Loudd took a 39-yard Wyant pass at midfield and streaked to a touchdown.

Halfback Sam Brown of UCLA gave the college players their finest single moment when he faked a fourth-down punt in the third quarter and zigzagged 61 yards to score.

UCLA fullback Bob Davenport had trouble checking some of the pros on pass defense, but his pile-driving runs won him the votes for the Most Valuable Player Trophy on the college team.

The win was the first for the Hawaii All-Stars since 1952 when another 49er quarterback, Frankie Albert, teamed with another Ram end, Tom Fears, to lead a group of local stars to a 39-27 win over the collegians.

Junior Hockey Tourney Moves Into Third Round

Union Lake, Nestor's All-Stars, and Kelly's Hardware moved into 3rd-round games of the city's Junior Hockey Tournament by virtue of Sunday morning victories at the North Side Ice Rink.

Union Lake's sextet skated to its 2nd win in the tourney, downing Dick & Wes, 3-1. The Lakers scored two goals in the 1st period and were never headed. Norm Dierkes slapped in two goals and Don Aird chalked up the other while Tom LaValley accounted for Dick & Wes' lone tally.

Nestor's All-Stars, making their 1st appearance, scored one goal in each period to edge Lake Orion, 3-2. Two goals were banged in by Harold Goshen and the other by Tom Bryce. Paul Raychok and Dick Johnson tallied for Lake Orion.

The tourney, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, will continue Saturday morning with two games slated. Union Lake meets Nestor's in a battle of the unbeatens at 10 o'clock and Weldon Sports faces Dick & Wes in the opener at 9 a.m.

Ice Fishing Throughout Michigan Reported Good

LANSING (AP) — Ice fishing in Michigan now is generally good, with good panfish catches being reported widely and bluegills hitting best in the late afternoon.

That is the report from the State Conservation Department's field offices.

The report said pike and walleye fishing was fair to good, perch fishing was good on Hubbard Lake and fair on Tawas Bay.

Pike fishing was good on Goose, Long, Whitlock and Crooked Lakes in Missaukee County and on Green Lake in Grand Traverse County.

Perch fishing was good on Crystal Lake in Benzie County, although the whole lake was not frozen over. Few whitefish were reported.

The department said spearing was good on Hamlin and Pere Marquette lakes, perch fishing was fair on lakes adjoining Lake Michigan, some walleyes were being taken from Muskegon Lake, pike fishing was good on the Fletcher floodwaters, perch were good on Long Lake in Alpena County, walleye fishing was good on Burt Lake, perch and smelt were fair to good on Lake Charlevoix and perch fishing was fair to good on Saginaw Bay with the fish running small.

The department said cottontail rabbit hunting was good in the Baldwin district, but that snowshoe hare hunting is only fair.

Brazilian, U.S. Girl Win Dixie Net Titles

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Armando Vieira, a little ballhawk from Brazil, and Shirley Fry, court strategist from nearby St. Petersburg, hold the major championships of the 1956 Dixie Tennis Tournament.

Vieira, champion of his homeland for seven years, defeated Allen Morris of Presbyterian College yesterday by his persistent pressure and ability to cover the court.

Miss Fry won the women's title for the third straight year but got a battle from Dorothy Head Knode of Alameda, Calif. Miss Fry won 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Wings Victors in Rough Bout

13,032 Watch Afternoon Tilt on Detroit Ice

Howe's 2 Goals Set Pace for 4-3 Count Over Boston Sextet

They drew a standing room crowd of 13,032, and they beat the Boston Bruins, 4-3, in a rough National Hockey league game at Olympia Stadium.

The audience topped by a thousand the largest crowd to see Boston play in Detroit in recent seasons.

Incidentally, a Detroit audience hasn't seen the Bruins win since Oct. 31, 1953. Boston hasn't beaten the Red Wings this season and over the last 26 months have lost 12 times and tied five times on Olympia ice.

Two blazing 55-foot goals by Gordie Howe paced Detroit's Sunday victory against goalie Terry Sawchuk, who tended Red Wing nets last season. They were Howe's 18th and 19th goals of the season.

Sawchuk managed to get his mitt on both of Howe's shots, but couldn't hold them, and the second was hit so hard the puck dislocated a finger and the game had to be delayed while Sawchuk was repaired.

Other Detroit goals were scored by Marty Pavelich, his second of the season, and by Alex Delvecchio, his 18th.

It was the 7th straight defeat for the last place Bruins, but they made a fight of it all the way. Referee Red Storey called 19 penalties, and a fight between Hal Laycoe, of Boston, and Delvecchio enlivened a rowdy 3rd period.

Laycoe was tripped and came up swinging with his stick. Delvecchio was the target and the two quickly tangled, with fists flying. Laycoe, only NHL player to wear glasses, got them smashed.

Doug Mohns, of Boston, suffered a shoulder separation which Boston said would keep him out of play for two weeks. It was the 2nd time this season Mohns had hurt the shoulder.

After Boston cut the score to 4-3 in the last minute, Bruins pulled Sawchuk from the nets and twice almost tied it with a six-man gang attack.

Parker's Team Beaten in Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A fumbled punt return in the fourth quarter of the Senior Bowl game was the turning point, Coach Buddy Parker of the losing North team said today.

This was the situation:

The South was leading 6-2. The North had been moving well in the second half after being outplayed in the first two periods.

It was third down on the South 41 for the Southerners and 13 to go, George Herring of Mississippi Southern punted 43 yards to Gary Lowe of Michigan State on the North 16. Lowe charged back to the 30 where he was tackled hard and fumbled.

Tulane guard Tony Sardisco covered the ball on the North 37—and that was the game as far as Parker was concerned.

The South, coached by Paul Brown, scored six plays later with Joe Childress, Auburn fullback, ramming over from the 2 with 2 minutes and 15 seconds remaining in the game. That made the score 12-2 and that was the way it ended.

Brown, coach of the pro champion Cleveland Browns, did not agree. He felt that the turning point was in the second quarter when quarterback Jerry Reichow of Iowa failed by inches to make first down on a keep play after the North had moved to the South 4.

Childress, who also scored from the 2 after a 56-yard drive in the first quarter, was named the outstanding back for the South. Bill Murakowski of Purdue was chosen outstanding back for the North, and end Harold Burnine of Missouri the top lineman for the Yankees.

Michigan Sailor Wins Lightning Title in South

Carlin's boat, the Glen Garry, weathered winds of 25 miles an hour and rough seas that capsized a dozen of 14 starters. the 40-year-old auto parts manufacturer finished third, first and second in the three-heat race.

You've often heard people say that, haven't you? And it implies an American way of doing business — a complete confidence in the other fellow's ethics and knowledge of his field.

The only important question is "Who is HE?" If the man who handles your insurance is a PROFESSIONAL independent insurance agent, you can rest easy. This man knows his business — and his business is one of the most complex of today's business sciences. More than that, he represents — not one company and one kind of policy — but the greatest insurance companies in the world with literally hundreds of policies to work with in setting up your insurance program so it is both CORRECT and CORRECTLY PRICED.

If, on the other hand, your insurance, like Topsy, has "just growed" . . . buying this policy because the seller was "a good guy" . . . or that policy because it seemed to be a "bargain" . . . don't let another day go by before you have your insurance situation analyzed.

We will be happy to make such an analysis for you without obligation. If your insurance is good, we'll tell you so. If not, we'll make suggestions and the decision is yours.

Very often such analysis reveals premium duplication, uninsured risks, and may result, too, in an actual saving to you. In any event, you will KNOW FOR SURE before you suffer a loss.

CARTER PUSH-BALL—At first glance you could pardonably chuckle at Don Carter's form. His style is that odd. He's in so deep a crouch at the foul line that "chin on the floor" aptly describes what he looks like.

Yet with his different, homemade form he has been twice national match king. That proves what he does is worth copying—in part or altogether.

Actually it isn't how he gets to the foul line, but what he does there in releasing the ball, that makes him great. It isn't difficult to do, and you might want to try it. First of all, he breaks his elbow in the backswing. Brings the arm straight back, elbow bent, to produce a sort of piston-action. He then pushes the ball onto the alley. Reaches out toward the pins. No wrist turn. Lifts the arm ever so little as he releases the ball, yet with the lift creates enough finger spin to mix the pins.

With Carter, as with Buzz Fazio in last Friday's article, it's roll for pin action; reach for control.

MAGIC PUTTER NOT WORKING — Tommy Boldt, whose red-hot putter clicked off eight birdies to establish a tournament record round of 3 Saturday, stomps foot in dismay as 15-footer fails to drop on the 1st green in 3rd round play of the Los Angeles Golf tourney. With 205, he was five strokes behind leader Lloyd Mangrum at the start of today's final round in the $30,000 Open at the Rancho Valley course.

Mangrum Leads Finale at LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum held a solid lead of five strokes going into the final round of the $30,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament today. While he would not predict victory, he admitted:

Such was the picture as 65 survivors of a field cut down from more than 150 set forth over the 7,048-yard, par 36-35—71 Rancho Municipal Golf Course.

Nearest to the 41-year-old Mangrum, seeking his fourth win in the event and the $6,000 that goes with it, were Tommy Bolt and Jerry Barber.

Mangrum broke par for the third straight day yesterday, scoring a 68 for a new tournament record—200 for 54 holes.

Bolt cooled off from the spectacular 63 of Saturday, taking a par 71, and Barber got into the act with his second straight 67, leaving them both at 205.

The two tied, then Mangrum eclipsed, the 54-hole record of 205 set by Jimmy Demaret in 1939 and Jimmy Thomson in 1938, both at another municipal course, Griffith Park.

"I hope to do better than that," Mangrum commented.

The next nearest challenger was Cary Middlecoff, who shot a 68 for 207, and one stroke behind him were Dutch Harrison (70) and John Barnum (72).

Mangrum said he could recall only one occasion when he led after three rounds and then lost, and he added he once shot 194 for three rounds.

Was he playing with the glass shaft clubs with which he is associated in the manufacture?

"Certainly. I never use obsolete equipment," said deadpan Lloyd as the golf writers guffawed.

Mangrum had a bogey on the fifth yesterday, but he settled Bolt with three straight birdies finishing the nine as Tommy was collecting plain par.

Mangrum had an even greater lead until he came to the last two holes when the gallery crowded him a bit and interfered with his play. He lost a stroke to par on each one.

"It got me all confused. I didn't know what I was doing for a minute," he said.

Further out of the picture were Gene Littler, the 1955 winner, with a 73 for 213; Doug Ford, 74-219; Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill., 69-209; Bill Casper, 73-211; Gardiner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla., 69-211; Cecil Harris, 74-212.

Puerto Rican in TV Fight

Tonight's Fight Between Ortiz and Portilla May End Monday Bouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Monday night fights still come out of New York's St. Nicholas Arena for at least this Monday night with a match between 19-year old Carlos Ortiz of Puerto Rico, unbeaten in 12 bouts, and Ray Portilla of New York.

Ortiz can fight only eight rounds because of his age under New York rules. With 12 straight victories, nine by knockouts, he will be favored over Portilla.

Du Mont will telecast.

American Ski Team Trails Austrians in Tuneup for Coming Olympic Test

WENGEN, Switzerland (AP)—With the start of the winter Olympics less than three weeks away, American skiers still have a long way to go if they are to be serious threats.

Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence of Parshall, Colo., who won two slalom titles in the 1952 games, and Ralph Miller of Hanover, N.H., have looked most impressive of the Americans competing in the big international tournament here.

But the consensus among the experts is that they'll both have to improve considerably.

As a result of the men's meet here and the women's tournament in neighboring Grindelwald, two significant developments emerged:

1. The powerful Austrian men's Alpine squad became the heavy favorite to win both slalom events and the downhill. The Austrians took the first five places in the slalom yesterday and four of the first five spots in the downhill Saturday. That's nearly perfection.

2. Madeline Berthod of Switzerland, a 22-year-old rugged mountain girl who tends her family's cattle during the summer, is going to provide stern competition for Mrs. Lawrence, who has had three children since the 1952 games.

Mrs. Lawrence has been coming along and finished third in the combined classification among the girl competitors of 17 nations.

Miller, who was 26th, was the top American to finish. He had runs of 61.2 and 70.5, plus a 5-second penalty on the second run for faulty gate passing for a 136.7 total.

The Austrians were led by Anderl Molterer. Then following in order were Josl Rieder, Toni Sailer, Walter Schuster and Othmar Schneider. Two of the top Austrian skiers, Toni Spiss and Ernst Oberaigner, did not compete.

The Austrians also took the first three places in the combined, Sailer and Molterer finishing in that order.

It is significant to note, however, that 19-year-old Wallace Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., has beaten Molterer twice. Werner, who finished near the end of the slalom, has been dogged by hard-luck falls.

Three Among Top Rated Quints Handed Setbacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco and Dayton, the mighty and the high among the nation's college basketball teams, should have little trouble extending their unbeaten streaks this week.

But don't bet on it.

Particularly after the hectic action over the weekend, when four of the top 10 teams — including second-ranked North Carolina State — were beaten. The Wolfpack, after 23 straight successes, dropped a 68-58 decision to Duke.

If top-rated San Francisco wins both its games this week it will equal the collegiate record for consecutive victories — 39.

The Dons play Santa Clara tomorrow and Fresno State Friday. Neither is expected to spring the big surprise, but Santa Clara has shown improvement in winning its last three games.

Dayton's tall Flyers, led by seven-foot center Bill Uhl, were easy winners over Iona Saturday 83-64. They'll take their 11-0 slate into Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium Saturday night against Canisius.

The standings of the Big Ten are likely to be scrambled tonight. Purdue and Indiana head the pack with 2-0 records but each is down to play away from home—Purdue at Michigan and Indiana at Minnesota. Ohio State and Illinois, both 1-0, also will see action, the Buckeyes against defending champion Iowa and the Illini against Wisconsin.

In other games Vanderbilt, ranked fourth in the latest Associated Press poll, goes against Georgia Tech in a Southeastern Conference encounter. Maryland is at South Carolina, Alabama at Mississippi State, Auburn at Mississippi, Davidson at Virginia Tech and Kansas at Missouri.

George Washington, No.7, was the other top 10 team upset. The Colonials lost to unpredictable Richmond 78-67.

Solution Offered for Deer Killing

Compromise Proposed to Control Starvation Losses

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Emil Peltz (R-Rogers City) proposed a compromise solution of the renewed controversy over discretionary deer herd control by the State Conservation Commission.

Peltz said that after a conference with the Michigan United Conservation clubs and the State Conservation Department, he would sponsor a compromise bill in the 1956 legislature.

He proposed that the commission be given power to permit the killing of specified numbers of "any deer" in specified areas where field investigations and surveys show there is a shortage of winter food and that deer starvation is likely. The power would also cover areas where deer are doing damage to farm crops.

Peltz said his bill would conform to the MUCC's feeling that the commission should have state-wide authority to offset deer starvation losses.

Peltz also said he would sponsor a bill forbidding hunting on state and county roads both as a conservation measure and to further sportsmen-farmer relations. He said it was endorsed by the MUCC legislative committee, the State Farm Bureau and State Grange.

In an earlier deer control compromise, Rep. Kenneth O. Trucks (R-Baldwin) suggested specified numbers of deer of any sex be killed in areas determined by a legislative committee.

U. of M. Puck Team Beats MSU Twice

Michigan rang up two weekend Western Collegiate Hockey League victories over Michigan State.

St. Louis Leads Missouri Valley; Titans Beat Tulsa

By THE ASOCIATED PRESS

Houston's Cougars won't have much time to ponder how they lost to St. Louis in the first big game of the Missouri Valley season. They face Tulsa and Oklahoma A&M—a double defensive nightmare—in three days this week.

The victory shot St. Louis into sole possession of first place with 2-0 to Houston's 3-1. Both teams stand 8-2 in all games.

Eddie Hickey's sharpshooters will take on Bradley (1-1) at St. Louis Wednesday, then travel Saturday to Detroit (2-3), which upset Tulsa (0-1) 80-72. The Bills are unbeaten on the road with Indiana among their victims.

The Valley's top scorer, Bill Ebben of Detroit, was held to 13 points by Tulsa, but Titan center Don Haase hit 22.

Only three outside games are on tap this week. Houston plays at home against Oklahoma City tonight and Detroit is host to Drake. DePaul will be Bradley's foe in Chicago stadium Saturday.

Valley teams lost two of three outside games last week but that didn't tarnish their shiny intersectional standing—48 won, 15 lost.

Detroiter Captures Ice Skate Carnival

Gesquiere totaled 13 points to 11 for Saginaw's Wally Renshaw.

B36 Plane Flies With A-Reactor

Experiment on Bomber Part of Plan to Make Atoms Work for AF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Experiments with an atomic reactor in a huge B36 as part of a program to develop atomic-powered aircraft were announced yesterday by the Air Force and Convair aircraft.

"Among other things the reactor is used to investigate problems of shielding against radiation to study effects of radiation on aircraft, materials and systems to develop airborne nuclear instruments," the joint announcement said.

All safety precautions have been taken and "the public can be assured that there is no danger of a nuclear explosion resulting from an accident to the aircraft," it said.

"The reactor is never operated during takeoffs and landings. It is operated only when the aircraft is flying over a predesignated area where maximum public safety is attainable.

"Precautions taken also include informing local public officials throughout the Southwest concerning public safety measures to be taken in the unlikely event of an accident.

"In past months the aircraft has made numerous successful flights during which the reactor was operated. The aircraft is presently on the ground at the Convair plant undergoing preparations for further test flights."

The announcement follows a Fort Worth Star-Telegram report Saturday that police agencies in this area had been alerted on how to handle crowds if the bomber should crash.

Betsy Blair Returns; Eyes Voluptuous Roles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Film actress Betsy Blair is home from film work in Europe and she says that from now on she wants to be voluptuous and mean in pictures.

Miss Blair arrived at International Airport last night from Paris and was met by her husband, dancer Gene Kelly, and their daughter, Kerrie.

"American producers want me to continue playing a wallflower," Miss Blair said. "From now on I want to be mean and sexy in the movies."

She completed "Return To Paris" and plans to leave soon for Spain and work in another film.

Leetle Leely Pons Uses Sugar for Fast Enairgy

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I'm one of the Metropolitan Opera's devoted "intermission-lovers" — but I happen to be in love with Lettle Leely Pons. I've always been high on Leely but my admiration ballooned during the excitement over the 25th anniversary of her Met debut.

★ ★ ★ ★

In the madhouse I chanced to be offered a coffee — and reached for a saccharine.

"But you need sugar," Leely squealed.

"For enairgy like me," Leely continued. "Seenging ees a job. You have to be an athlett. I dreenk 3 or 4 sugar cubes in water at the start of my show, 3 or 4 more an eentermeesion. "I don't drink or smoke. I'm deprived of the theater — you might catch cold. Parties I leave airly —eef you don't enjoy before 12, you won't after 12. I have meesed many enjoyments," Leetle Leely added, "but eet can wait."

LEETLE LEELY

In a box sat her proud husband, Andre Kostelanetz. With him was maestro Leopold Stokowski, whose white hair stood out in the black auditorium like a snow-capped hydrant on a dark street.

"What do you do for amusement?" I asked the coloratura.

"I go to Palm Spreengs. 'Orseback riding, walking een the wilderness. I love it and at night you hear the coyotes laughing. At 5:30 a.m. I get up to see the meercle of the dawn. Ees out of town and when the city of Palm Spreengs lights up at night, ees like a theater."

"You must have been very young when you made your debut Jan. 3, 1931."

"I was a bebe. Only one months in theese country."

The files show she was born April 12, 1904, making her 3 months short of 52. She was a baby of 26 when she made her debut.

★ ★ ★ ★

That's all the more credit to the greatness of Lettle Leely who had three or four changes of diamonds and a couple hundreds yards of lace in her gown. She wasn't conceited, either. She was at the Met around 6 o'clock.

"I am too nervous," she said, "to stay home." Home being a little penthouse, too.

Katharine Hepburn—filming "Not for Money" with Bob Hope in London—was so unhappy about the script she went AWOL to Paris for a day . . . The song, "Trouble with Harry," won't be played on Margaret Truman's "weekday" show 'cause NBC thinks 'twouldn't be fittin'. . .

John Wayne's daughter Toni, 19, weds in June . . . The tax dept. is checking songwriters who pen tunes under different names, then file separate returns for each name . . . Jazz pianist Joe Bushkin has quit cafe work for serious composing.

Call for One Brings in Three — All Guilty

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—When word was passed at Pueblo County Jail that the sheriff wanted to see "the Gallegos who wants to plead guilty," Joe, Sam and Louise Gallegos — no relation — stepped forward.

All pleaded guilty to separate charges of theft. Probation investigations were ordered for all three.

Reds Give Visa Okay for Caviar Fish Study

LONDON (AP)—Jon Miller of the London Zoo has Kremlin permission for a visit to Russia to study fresh water fish that produce caviar.

Miller said his study of the life and habits of the sturgeon will take him up and down the Volga, particularly the waters around Saratov.

Will he eat much caviar?

"I hate the stuff," he said.

A Confusing State

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—It had to happen. A fire was reported exactly at 10 p.m., just when the fire whistle is supposed to sound the curfew. Firemen explained that they just blew it louder and longer—then quickly put out a fire in the living room of the Ed-Weinster home.

'I Am Available,' Lausche Avers

Ohio Governor States He Will Accept Dem Bid if Offered

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche says he "would be available" for the Democratic nomination for president, but has no present plans for seeking it.

Citizens in half a dozen states have given him encouragement to make the race, said Ohio's five-term governor. He named five—Florida, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Indiana and Minnesota.

But he said last night he "dreaded the thought of occupying the highest office" because of its burdens, is not seeking it, and "presently I have no plans of going outside Ohio."

FAVORITE SON

In Ohio, he is letting his name be used as a favorite son candidate. He also is running for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican George Bender, and probably will have no opposition in the Democratic primary.

Often outspoken as an admirer of President Eisenhower, he said he hoped the President would regain his health and be the Republican candidate again. But in that case, "if everything else was equal, I would support the Democrat" who runs against Eisenhower, he replied to a question.

He likened himself to Eisenhower of four yeas ago, saying that when Eisenhower first was offered the nomination he "did not flee from responsibility."

His answers were made on the NBC radio and television program Meet the Press.

Injury to Comedian Halts Musical Revue

While offstage at the Music Box Theater, Johnson accidentally shot himself in the left leg. He was treated for powder burns and skin lacerations and taken home.

Johnson and his partner, Ole Olsen, have fired an estimated five million rounds of blank ammunition the last 20 years without any such mishap, a spokesman said.

The show will be resumed later this week.

Hollywood Headlines:

Paul Newman Is Training for Rocky Graziano Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—My friend of many years, Bill Corum, famous sports writer and commentator, will play himself in "Somebody Up There Likes Me," the biography based on Rocky Graziano's life. Bill will handle the ringside color at the epic Graziano-Tony Zale middleweight championship fight.

Rocky Graziano and his wife were due yesterday in company with Paul Newman who will play Rocky. Paul's been living with the Grazianos in New York since December 22nd, so Paul can copy all of Rocky's mannerisms first hand.

The very first deal Jack Warner made in the new year was to tie up Alan Ladd and his Jaguar Productions on a contract. Alan's first under the Warner banner was "Drumbeat" and his next under the new contract is "Buffalo Grass," the western I told you about by Frank Gruber.

He is now finishing "Santiago" on the Warner lot and seems perfectly happy there and, I might add, it is a mutually happy arrangement.

The world need no longer wonder if Bob Hope is in bad with the royal family in London. He was roundly criticized for certain remarks on his TV show about the Queen and Princess Margaret which were all in good fun.

WRITER CONCERNED

Apparently some columnists were more concerned than the royal family, for Bob made a charity film for the Duke of Edinburgh's Boys Club and when Bob walked out on the stage at Pinewood, there was Prince Phillip himself waiting to take part in the motion picture. This impressed Logan Gurley, London reporter, who wrote a whole column about it, and about Bob's standing at Buckingham.

In Detroit a few days ago, a call came from Ava Gardner from Spain, Said Ava, "I must have an automobile in a hurry!" So a car was put on a plane and shipped to her in Madrid.

This sounds very much as if Ava is lingering longer in the land of the bullfighters.

I met Charles Vidor at Chasen's and he told me any girl who wants to become a princess should just make a picture with him.

"I had just finished 'Gilda' with Rita Hayworth when she married Prince Aly Khan," said Charlie. "I'm directing 'The Swan' with Grace Kelly, and what does she up and do but get herself engaged to Prince Rainier III."

Snapshots of Hollywood:

Joan Benny who leaves for Reno any day to obtain her divorce from Seth Baker, was in the George Burns party at Chasen's with Buddy Rudolph. Everyone thinks Joan will marry him when she's free.

Janet Leigh won't make any more movies until after the birth of her baby. Tony Curtis let her make her own decision on this, and she doesn't want to take any chances.

The London Daily Telegraph named Arlene Dahl as one of the ten top stars and as the world's most beautiful woman in 1955.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Inspection of Tongues Useless, Says Doctor

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Irvine Loudon told the medical profession today that doctors are wasting their tie by asking patients to stick out their tongues.

Writing in the British Medical Journal, he said he had examined 700 patients with coated tongues and discovered:

Many nonsmokers with upset stomachs do not have coated tongues.

Some perfectly healthy people can have a furred tongue even if they do not smoke.

Dealings Active in Grain Market

Dealings were quite active in all pits although soybeans appeared to be most in demand. The market opened with fractional gains, extended these substantially during the first 15 minutes of trading and then backed down again.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ¾ lower, March $2.10⅝; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, March $1.30⅛; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, March 67⅛; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, March $1.24¾; soybeans ¼ to 2½ higher, January $2.41, and lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $11.25.

Practical Joke Brings Deluge of Yule Trees

If the Fred E. Sheldons, of 3390 Burning Bush Rd., had their way an anonymous practical joker would be strapped to a pyre of discarded Christmas trees and pelted with old ornaments.

The Sheldons recently received more than a hundred telephone calls after the prankster ran an advertisement in an area weekly stating that the couple would be eager to pay 30 cents apiece for old Yule trees.

'T'weren't funny, says Sheldon, who is currently wide open to suggestions as to whom a certain chap with a monstrous sense of humor might be.

High Tendency Seen in Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A slightly higher tendency was found today in the stock market. The list, however, displayed a broad mixture of gains and losses covering a narrow range that only occasionally exceeded a point.

The pace of trading was around 2,500,000 shares for the day. That compares with 2,570,000 shares traded Friday when the market was higher.

Aircrafts were higher at the start and then turned mixed. Many leaders were bolstered by defense order announcements out of Washington.

The steels and motors had some soft spots. The easing in motor production is being felt increasingly in the steel industry, it is reported.

International Telephone was active and slightly higher after opening on a block of 30,000 shares up ⅞ at 32⅞. It was Friday's most active issue up 1⅞.

General Motors, which has been at or near the top of the most active list for weeks, opened on 10,000 shares unchanged at 44⅞, and it maintained a fairly steady price.

At noon, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $179.40.

Quakes Shock Acapulco Injuring 106; None Killed

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Mexico's leading Pacific Coast resort, its swank hotels packed with North American visitors, today counted 106 injured and heavy damage in the wake of six Sunday earthquakes.

There were no dead, and no U.S. citizens were reported among those injured in the holiday center jammed with 35,000 inhabitants and thousands of tourists.

Fearful of further quakes, hundreds spent last night on the wide curving beaches, on the streets and in cars.

The shocks, first major Mexican quakes in two years, were felt over a wide area of southern Mexico. In Mexico City, the capital 195 miles north of Acapulco, skyscrapers swayed.

Arica, north Chilean port 2,300 miles south of Acapulco, also was hit by two major quakes yesterday afternoon. No serious injuries or deaths were reported.

NEW LACQUER FOR PONTIACS—A plastic lacquer, which developers say will revolutionize the auto paint industry, gleams as it goes through a drying oven at the Pontiac Motor Division. Known as "Lucite Acrylic Lacquer," the material does not chalk or change color even under the most adverse sun and moisture conditions. It reportedly lasts two or three times longer than ordinary car lacquers and enamels.

New Lacquer for Pontiacs Hits High in Durability

A new plastic car finish of unusual durability and ability to resist weather wear has been introduced to 1956 Pontiacs, General Manager R.M. Critchfield has announced.

Known as "Lucite Acrylic Lacquer," the new finish is utilized in Sun Beige and Sandalwood, the "Vogue two-toning used upon the Star Chief Custom Catalina coupes and Catalina sedans.

The new finish is entirely a synthetic product and is considered the most significant car paint development since Duco enamel was pioneered by Pontiac on the Oakland automobile in 1923, according to Critchfield.

Virtually impervious to sun, salt air, rain and temperature changes, it offers greater durability especially to owners long plagued by the chalking effects of water or moisture and hot sun exposures.

Tests under road conditions and at experimental stations in Florida have shown the new plastic lacquer up to three to four times more durable than ordinary car lacquers and enamels.

The "Lucite Acrylic Lacquer," chemically related to the clear plastics identified as "Lucite" or under other trade names, offers as added advantage reduction in waxing and polishing requirements. It actually gets harder and brighter with age, Pontiac designers say.

It is thought Lucite lacquer will open completely new fields in color treatment for cars, according to Pontiac paint engineers. In addition to retaining its high gloss with only minimum use of polishes and retention of original color under adverse conditions, the plastic lacquer is compatible with many types of metallic powders which will offer new richness and depth of color effects.

So far, aluminum has been used with the plastic lacquers on Pontiac's production line, but others are under consideration, according to Critchfield, and an almost unlimited variety of tonal qualities are possible for the Pontiac of the future.

Ike OK to Run, Says Doctor Poll

246 Answer Questions on Form; Three of Five Think He's Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—Among 246 heart specialists giving definite answers in a poll on President Eisenhower's health, three out of five say he is physically fit to seek a second term. The others say he is not.

* * *

Results of the poll were published today under copyright by U.S. News and World Report, a news magazine. The poll was conducted for the magazine by the research organization of Benson — Benson, Inc., Princeton, N. J.

The American Medical Assn. had questioned the propriety of the poll and urged doctors not to answer.

444 SENT

Questionnaires were sent to the 444 doctors certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine as heart specialists. Of this number, 275 or about 62 per cent replied. Twenty-nine of these did not give direct answers.

The two questions asked and the replies, as given by the magazine:

"Based on what you have read about the nature of the President's illness, and assuming a normal convalescence in the next few months, do you think Mr. Eisenhower can be regarded as physically able to serve a second term? Yes: 141, or 60.3 per cent; No: 93, or 39.7 per cent.

"Do you think a man who has suffered a heart attack can be regarded as physically able to serve a term as president?" Yes: 152, or 64.4 per cent; No: 84, or 35.6 per cent.

No names of physicians were used by the magazine, nor did the research organization ask that replies be signed.

The Journal of the AMA, in an editorial published last Friday, said the questionnaires "should be tossed into the wastebasket." It said among other things that "the questions are very definitely slanted politically," and that "consultation without examination is absurd."

A & P Head Predicts Stable Food Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Retail food prices will remain at about present levels during 1956 and supplies should be adequate to meet demand, a food industry leader forecasts.

Ralph W. Burger, presient of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., coupled this prediction with a warning.

"If we are going to continue to hold the price line and at the same time assure farmers of an adequate return," said Burger, "We must be alert to resist inflationary trends developing within the industry."

Burger said food prices in 1955 were 1.5 per cent lower than in 1954 and 5.8 per cent below the post-World War II peak reached in 1952. He said the overall cost of living in 1955 was down only four-tenths of one per cent.

Good Deed Brings Fine and Pennies to UM Student

WATERBURY, Vt. (AP) — A bunch of pennies were in the mails today for Frank McLenon at the University of Michigan.

Some folks up here got perturbed about McLenon being fined $11.85 Friday for playing good samaritan and dropping a penny into a parking meter in an effort to save an absent motorist an overtime parking ticket.

William V. Mason began the pennies for McLenon campaign while gabbing with a group of friends in the Post Office lobby Saturday morning. They read about McLenon's fine in the Burlington Free Press and got indignant.

"I'm going to send him a penny," Mason said.

"By gosh I will, too," another spoke up.

McLenon, 20, of Gibraltar, Mich., pleaded guilty in Ann Arbor to violation of a city ordinance which prohibits anyone but the agent or associate of a car owner or driver to extend time on a parking meter. The fine resulted.

Minor Pleads Guilty to Beer Possession

Judge Cecil McCallum freed Gregory Jaso, 18, of 290 Rockwell Ave., on $100 bond and deferred sentence until Friday.

There are about 7,500 public libraries in the U.S. and about 30 per cent have budgets of less than $1,000 per year.

'Hanging Judge' to Star Author

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Raymond Massey, who has the reputation of being one of the least excitable actors in the world, is excited.

The cause is the production of "The Hanging Judge" on "Climax!" (CBS-TV) Thursday. Massey, who has appeared frequently on television, is not especially concerned about his own appearance. He's excited at the prospect of his own play appearing on the nation's TV screens.

For "The Hanging Judge" is an adaptation of Massey's only effort at creative writing—a play based on a novel of that title by Bruce Hamilton. It concerns the ironic fate that befalls an English judge with a merciless sense of justice. It enjoyed a pleasant run in England, but has not appeared in this country.

"I bought the dramatic rights to the novel after reading it," says Massey, "and approached several professional writers about doing an adaptation. But we couldn't work out an agreement, so I decided to do it myself. It was hard work writing—but it was exciting work. Now I can't quite get over the fact that millions of people will see the dramatization on television."

Official Tells Probers of Cowboy Revisions

NEW YORK (INS) — The old-time western cowboy ain't - what - he-used-to-be these days podner, but the National Broadcasting Company insists any changes made are all for the good of the kiddies.

Strockton Hellfrich, director of continuity for the NBC TV network explained to a state Legislative committee investigating offensive and obscene material yesterday that definite changes have been made and junior will benefit in the long run.

For instance, the cowboy has foregone the "Last Chance Saloon" and local poolroom. Now he meets his buddies in railroad stations and post offices.

Our cowboy hero never slays the villian, Hellfrich told the committee, he only "wings' him and allows formal justice of the court to take over.

On top of all that, them thar rip-snortin', pistol packin', varmints speak nothing but the king's English and are avoiding any dialects or improper pronunciations.

McGuire Sister Given Divorce

Florida Court Grants Dorothy Decree From Her Air Force Hubby

BUNNELL, Fla. (AP)—A Florida circuit judge has awarded a divorce to Dorothy McGuire, the Arthur Godfrey singer once romantically linked with crooner Julius La Rosa.

Judge George W. Jackson signed the decree Friday. It becomes final upon filing today, said Joseph Hirschman, attorney for the husband, Air Force Sgt. John Henry Brown.

Brown originally brought suit Aug. 16—seven months after she announced their reconciliation — and Dorothy filed a countersuit Aug. 30. Both charged cruelty and Judge Jackson appointed an examiner to take testimony.

Details of the testimony were not announced. Hirschman said no financial or property settlement was involved and Brown will not contest the decree.

Miss McGuire, 27, married Brown in her home town of Miamisburg, Ohio, July 30, 1951. They have no children.

Brown was in Korea when La Rosa's romance with Dorothy—one of a singing sister trio—was reported in 1954. Godfrey fired the crooner but denied the romance had anything to do with it.

La Rosa declared he would marry Dorothy if she could gain her freedom and Brown returned to this country to win her back. She announced a reconciliation Jan. 19 last year but they separated in April.

La Rosa said last week he plans to marry Rosemary Meyer, 24, secretary to another crooner, Perry Como.

Italy Merchants Start 'Poujadist' Tax Drive

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Inspired by the surprising success of antitax crusader Pierre Poujade in the French election, Italian shopkeepers are launching a Poujadist movement of their own.

Its leader, Raffaele Garbin, chairman of the Milan fishmongers' union, said the movement will be tailored to Italian conditions and will not be simply against taxes.

Garbin told reporters the party will be essentially a nonpolitical movement of the middle class. It will demand that the old Italian fiscal system be modernized and the minimum annual taxable income be raised from the present 240,000 lire (about $400) to 700,000 lire (about $1,170).

More than 100 different safety devices, machines and methods have been put into use in American coal mines in the past 25 years.

Labor Chief Gaitskell Fomenting Trouble for Eden

BY JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

And a main "needler" is a man with a pugnacious nose, shrewd eyes and wavy brown hair. He is Hugh Gaitskell, the 49-year-old energetic new leader of the opposition Labor party.

Gaitskell attacked vigorously when the Labor party smelled "a scandal" in the disposal of old British war tanks, which it turned out were rehabilitated in Belgium and shipped to Egypt. Sir Anthony's conservative government was accused of favoring Egypt over Israel.

Gaitskell demanded the early recall of Parliament to debate the entire British policy in the Middle East. Parliament is due to reassemble Jan. 24, only two days before Sir Anthony plans to leave for his conference with President Eisenhower.

Some Laborite sources say the party might try to force him to postpone the Washington trip by proposing a censure motion as soon as Parliament meets.

In fending off the Laborites Sir Anthony has promised to issue a "white paper," or statement, outlining all the deals in the "scrap iron arms race." But this has failed to satisfy even some sections of the conservative press.

One conservative newspaper advised Sir Anthony editorially either to supply the "guts of leadership" or quit. This is a reflection of worry over waning British influence in the Middle East and lack of any bold policy to counter the growing Soviet penetration in the vital area.

This attack was made in the London Daily Sketch which in later editions toned down its editorial but still criticized Sir Anthony by quoting critics to the effect that "Eden "will do nothing until he is shoved into it—that he drifts rather than makes decisions."

Some other staunchly conservative organs have blasted Eden, not only on the surplus arms deals but for failure to halt anti-British outbreaks in Cyrus and the so-called bungling of the recent effort to get Jordan to join the Baghdad Pact.

Eden's supporters argue that the Arab-Israeli situation also involves the United States and France, therefore debate should be postponed until after Sir Anthony talks with President Eisenhower.

Middle Eastern problems will be a main discussion point in the Washington talks late this month. There is speculation Eden will try to obtain American participation in the Baghdad Pact. If he could get the U.S. to join, it would aid his damaged prestige at home.

Oh, Come Now, Fella!

KNOWATA, Okla. (AP) — Robert Bruce Hill, 42, who was bound over for District Court trial Saturday by County Judge Leslie J. Coffman on a charge of drunk driving—his second offense—had a novel story. He explained in court his wrecked car had pinned him to the ground and that a helpful stranger came by and "poured whisky down my throat" to alleviate the suffering.

Bogus Checks Total $42,083 During Year

Bad checks totaling $42,083 were handled by the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office in 1955, a drop of $9,395 from the previous year's $51,478, Chief Investigator Robert C. Miller said yesterday.

Total number of checks also decreased from 594 in 1954 to 478 last year. Of the 1955 total, 329 were processed at the Pontiac office and 149 in Royal Oak.

The flow of checks remained fairly constant throughout the year, said Miller, totaling $20,259 for the first six months and $21,824 during the second half year.
