

Hopes for Adding to MSUO Budget Get Severe Jolt

Hopes of increasing Michigan State University Oakland's skimpy budget were jolted anew in Lansing yesterday when the House turned its back on all attempts to increase state spending.

Meanwhile, a group of GOP moderates in the Senate, led by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts of Oakland County, made an unsuccessful attempt for a compromise in the battle of the budget.

Waives Hearing in Rape-Slaying

Farm Hand Confesses Murder of Girl, 15, in Allegan County

ALLEGAN (AP) — Donald J. Moon, 19, waived examination at arraignment today on a murder warrant in the rape-slaying of Gertrude Williams, 15.

Municipal Judge Dwight Cheever ordered the youthful farm hand remanded to County Jail without bond. Moon was unrepresented by counsel and accompanied to court only by two state police officers.

The Rt. 2, Bangor, farm hand admitted in a statement to police Friday night that he was the assailant who forced the rural South Haven girl into his car, carried her to an abandoned Allegan County farm house, raped her and bludgeoned her to death with a rock Jan. 11 of this year, Andrews said.

Moon's arrest came on a tip from a private citizen who, Andrews said, will get the $500 reward offered for the arrest of the girl's killer.

The confession gave Allegan County authorities their second confession of the week to killings involving teen-age slayers and their girl victims.

James Scott Stephens, 16, was arrested in Kalamazoo, S. D., Wednesday and admitted that he shot Carol Kee, 11, and Margaret Chambers, 12, at point blank range in nearby Macatawa Park last Saturday.

Congress Eager to Spend on Space

JFK Cautions U.S. It Mustn't Relax on Feat

'We Have Long Way to Go in Field of Space' Despite Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States still has far to go and must not relax on pride over its first human flight into space.

While rejoicing with the country at Shepard's safe journey into the skies over the Atlantic, Kennedy reminded his news conference Friday that "We have a long way to go in the field of space."

"We are behind. But we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

He said he would seek more from Congress, where a House Committee already has recommended $136.6 million more than the administration originally sought for space projects.

He did not say how much he would ask at this time nor indicate how it should be used.

Kennedy emphasized that the United States would share its findings with other scientists in the world community and with "people who share our view that the probe into space should be peaceful, and should be for the common good."

He urged the Soviet Union to do the same. So far, he said, the Soviets have failed to come across with any information acquired from Yuri Gagarin's orbit of the globe last month.

Salute Mrs. Evans With 2-Hour Banquet

By PETE LOCHMILLER

For the gracious lady who forgot and left her orchid corsage on the kitchen table at home there was a new one of white irises to go with the heartfelt tribute of friends at Devon Gables Inn last night.

"This is one of the nicest things that every happened to me—such a pleasure—and I thank you so much for remembering me," retiring City Clerk Ada R. Evans told a gathering of more than 40 persons, two weeks before she leaves her 13-year post at Pontiac City Hall.

City Clerks Irene E. Hanley of Birmingham and Gertrude Cadger of Clawson provided the second corsage in the deft manner in which they had arranged for municipal clerks from Oakland County and Michigan salute silver-haired Mrs. Evans and her husband, Russell.

They plan to leave their Lake Michigan home later this month for a new one in Myrtle Beach, N.C.

"You're all welcome, please drop in," said the honored smiling guest at the end of the two-hour banquet.

For the toastmaster of the evening, Stanley Kilpatrick, who had driven 130 miles with Mrs. Kilpatrick from Grand Rapids where he is the city clerk, there was a kiss from Mrs. Evans as thanks.

Frank Niederstadt, city clerk in Saginaw, presented the honored couple, both 61, with a big package of phonograph records as an "au revoir" from long-time friends.

Clarence Ladd, city clerk of Wayne, gave the invocation, blessing the banquet honoring the retiring City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

SHEPARD REELED INTO COPTER — A Marine helicopter pulls astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. up from his bobbing space cabin after his journey into space Friday on the tip of a Redstone missile. The capsule landed in the Atlantic some 302 miles from its launching site at Cape Canaveral and was picked up by another copter later.

13-Year-Old Boy Killed When Car Strikes Bicycle

A 13-year-old boy on a bicycle was killed in Pontiac last evening when struck by a car on Joslyn Avenue just south of Brooks Street.

Leonard Vanderpool, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vanderpool was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

The driver of the car, Montie Smith, 30, of 3700 Grafton Road, Orion Township, told police he was headed south on Joslyn Avenue at 30 miles an hour when the boy suddenly turned his bicycle left, directly in the car's path.

Smith said he was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the youngster. The driver was released after making a statement at the county prosecutor's office. The body is at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Washington Anxiously Awaits Shepard

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's first manned space flight, the 27-year-old Navy officer, first American to travel into space, will receive the Distinguished Service Medal for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

He will be the second person to receive it.

There was even some talk of giving Shepard the nation's highest honor, the Medal of Honor—which would require a special act of Congress.

The White House today announced some changes in plans and some additional details of Shepard's visit.

Under the revised schedule, Shepard and his six fellow astronauts will reach Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland at 8:45 a. m. (Pontiac time) Monday.

There Shepard will be met by his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr. of Derry, N.H. There will be only a brief ceremony at the air base.

Then Shepard and the other astronauts will fly by helicopter to the south lawn of the White House, where they will be greeted by the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

In a ceremony in the White House Rose Garden, Kennedy will present the NASA Distinguished Service Medal to Shepard.

The only previous such medal was given to John Glenn.

British newspapers reflected the West's relief that the United States had achieved success after a Vatican audience, with London Daily Sketch editorial voiced a feeling widespread in Britain.

"Technically, they were runners-up. Morally, the cup is theirs. Every setback, every postponement was mercilessly exposed.

"This is the kind of achievement to understand in our part of the world. That's the way we would like to have done it."

Shepard's already famous journey during his 15-minute flight at 5,100 miles an hour—"What a ride!"—formed the same huge headline in the Mail, the Express and the Mirror.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, Prime Minister Harold MacMillan of Britain and Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy cabled their congratulations to President Kennedy.

Queen Elizabeth II was flying across Italy, on her way to Venice after a Vatican audience, with Pope John XXIII, when she heard the news. "I am very glad," an official quoted the British monarch, The spokesman said the queen intended to send Shepard a message.

Rusk Flies to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk flies to Europe today to tell allied foreign ministers that the strongly aggressive operations of the Communist bloc in such places as Laos and Cuba make greater unity and military strength imperative.

Plaudits From Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker today sent President Kennedy "warmest congratulations" on the successful space flight of Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.

was awarded in June 1959 to John W. Crowley, who retired after 38 years of government service and was honored for his contribution to the nation's aircraft, spacecraft and missile programs.

30 MINUTES IN PRIVATE

Following the public ceremony, the astronauts will spend about 30 minutes in private with the President, while Mrs. Kennedy has Shepard's wife and parents in for coffee.

Shortly before noon, the astronauts will drive to the Capitol for a reception for all members of Congress.

The reception will be at 11:30 a.m. in the old Supreme Court Chamber of the Capitol.

After that, the astronauts will go to the State Department Auditorium where at 1 p.m. Shepard will hold his first news conference since his historic space flight.

The arrival of Shepard at Andrews Air Force Base, at the White House, and his news conference all will be carried live by the major TV and radio networks.

The setting for the news conference is the same at which Kennedy appears.

While there will be no formal parade from the White House to the Capitol, citizens will have a chance to see the astronauts during the leisurely 15-minute drive from the White House to the Capitol.

Only Complaint: 'Flight Wasn't Long Enough'

GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND (AP)—Spaceman Alan Shepard said today "the only complaint I have is that the flight wasn't long enough."

He made the remark when asked by a Mercury press officer if he would issue a statement for newsmen.

Shepard said he would rather not say anything for political reasons until he meets the press in Washington Monday.

Earlier, officials reported this nation's first space pilot is in "excellent health" and very high spirits.

Shepard breakfasted before 8 a.m. on scrambled eggs, orange juice, toast and jelly and faced a busy day of more medical checkups and interviews with engineers, psychologists and psychiatrists.

The other four astronauts were due in today, to take part in learning Shepard's experiences as a pilot and what they might expect if they go aloft on future flights.

Two others flew here Friday. Engineers of Project Mercury are bringing over tapes of data recorded from his flight so they can talk more intelligently from what happened.

Sweet Success of Astronaut Softens Solons

'Tonic for Nation'... 'We Must Press On'... 'Well Done'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev today sent a telegram of congratulations to President Kennedy on the successful completion of the first U.S. manned space flight, the official Tass news agency said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gleeful over the first U.S. manned space flight, Congress seemed willing and eager today to provide extra money for the "substantially larger effort" President Kennedy promises for space exploration.

Minutes after he learned of Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.'s successful flight Friday, Kennedy issued a statement saluting the feat but calling for a redoubled endeavor for a true conquest of space.

Later, at a news conference, the President pledged "a substantially larger effort" and said he would ask Congress for additional funds to carry out the space program.

With success still sweet, many congressmen — on both sides of the aisle — seemed in a mood to go along with him.

With the Soviet man-in-orbit still fresh, many felt like Rep. Richard L. Rusk, who called the U.S. rocket success "a tonic for the whole nation — it certainly boosts my morale."

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services, Space and Appropriations committees, and chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said he believed Congress would provide additional funds "within reason" to speed the day when the U.S. sends a man into orbit.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and an influential member of both the space group and appropriations committee, said Congress stood ready to support fully a program that would give the United States predominance.

"A feeling of relief and a collective 'well done' arose from the hearts and minds of 180 million Americans with the news of Cmdr. Shepard's return from a successful visit to outer space," Russell said.

DAY'S WORK DONE — Spaceman Alan B. Shepard Jr. moved his spacecraft aboard the carrier Lake Champlain Friday after his successful flight to the edge of space, boosted by a Redstone missile. His capsule was spotted quickly and a helicopter picked him up and rushed him to the carrier.

SAYING "SO LONG" — A big smile is worn by Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans (center) as she says goodbye to Stanley Kilpatrick, city clerk of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Irene Hanley, city clerk of Birmingham, at a banquet two weeks before her retirement after 42 years of city service. She and her husband plan to retire to North Carolina.

Area Mom Sees Son in Picture on Space Shot

One Pontiac area woman got plenty excited over an astronaut photograph in yesterday's Pontiac Press but not because of the picture on the space shot. Alan B. Shepard Jr. was in it.

When Mrs. Henry A. Bayer of 37 Burdett St., White Lake Township, turned to a picture on the editorial page, the first thing she saw was her son.

Standing there (third from left) partially hidden was Air Force Capt. Edwin H. Bayer, a unit commander with the air police at Cape Canaveral.

Her reaction was what you'd expect of a proud mother. First, she said the paper open so Mr. Bayer, an assistant plant foreman at Pontiac Motor Division, would see it when he arrived home.

"Then I ran all over the neighborhood telling everybody. I was so thrilled, so surprised to see him," she happily related.

"I'm sending copies to all my friends and relatives," she said. Capt. Bayer, a graduate of Pontiac Central High and member of State University, has been under special security at Cape Canaveral since last August.

"He can't talk about his job and we don't hear from him often since he's so busy. That makes it even more wonderful to open my paper and see him," his mother asserted.

It Seems to Me . . .

State Theater Building, District Poor Spot for Civic Auditorium

Area citizens that I've seen are unfavorably impressed with the suggestion that the City purchase the State Theater as a possible civic auditorium.

The location and the building do not lend themselves to the purpose. Most citizens want a new, modern structure that can seat two or three times as many as the State Theater and which would be adaptable for large banquets or medium luncheons. Parking space must accommodate 1,000 cars. Also, there should be a half dozen meeting rooms of various sizes.

Unhappily, the State Theater does not meet these requirements. The best current suggestion points to a joint venture on MSU property where the University, the County, the City and other community agencies could pool their resources. University auditoriums are as basic as libraries and MSU faces the fact in the relatively near future. Civic pride suggests an attractive structure in a spacious location befitting the type and character of the building.

The State Theater location doesn't fit into the picture of downtown rehabilitation and would present new obstacles. There are enough now without complicating the picture. An Auditorium of sorts might be achieved on the State site economically, but it would be little short of a civic monstrosity in the light of what most of us envision. And current thinking doesn't embrace anything lavish or ostentatious. The original concept of a four or five million dollar Taj Mahal has been replaced by a cheery, functional building at a two million dollar maximum.

Change at N. Y. Times . . .

Just recently, The New York Times announced that ORVILLE E. DRYFOOS would succeed ARTHUR HAYS SULZBERGER as Publisher, with the latter standing quietly in the shadows as Chairman of the Board.

Many competent critics think The New York Times is the greatest newspaper in the world. A few have larger circulations — and it doesn't rank supreme in advertising — but it's a lusty and gallant competitor in both divisions. However, the editorial content is probably the most complete, the most penetrating and searching of anything published.

ARTHUR SULZBERGER is universally conceded to be one of the greatest figures in this exciting business. He richly deserves his honors and ORVILLE DRYFOOS gives promise of emulating his distinguished predecessor. Certainly, The Times is the most studious and the MRS. DRYFOOS most thorough of any daily newspaper published anywhere.

As a graphic example, when the four minute mile was beaten, every newspaper printed the fact.

The Times printed five columns. This event wasn't earth-shattering, but The Times recognized it instantly for what it was — news of widespread interest. The incident is indicative of Times procedure.

I served with Mr. Sulzberger on The Associated Press Board of Directors and I've known his son-in-law, ORVILLE E. DRYFOOS, for some time. But to me, an interesting and unsung star is Marian Sulzberger Dryfoos, the girl that neatly ties this whole package together. Her father has made her husband the Publisher. And Arthur Sulzberger never promoted anyone unless it was earned and deserved. Just confidentially, Mrs. Dryfoos is one of the most attractive young women I know and this isn't a secret or exclusive evaluation. It's relatively universal.

To divert, I crave your indulgence in closing by quoting the words of an Oakland County critic and omnivorous newspaper reader, GRAHAM JOHN GRAHAM: "The three greatest newspapers in the world," says he, "are The Pontiac Press, The New York Times and The Lapeer County Press — and in that order."

What discernment! What perspicacity!

But The Times is still The Times.

Off to Europe . . .

The Pontiac Press is sending Editor JOHN W. FITZGERALD to Europe with a selected Newspaper Study Mission. Some two dozen representatives will be privileged to observe first hand the conditions in Spain, France, Italy, Greece, Portugal, Yugoslavia, Egypt and Jordan. With the help of our State Department, arrangements have been made to hear talks from top personnel in each country. This is an unusual chance for American editors to get impressions of this important sector for background material and a better analytical understanding of the news.

It's a fine opportunity.

Garner Wouldn't Sell . . .

I still hear repercussions from the commercialism and sponsors of KENNEDY'S TV connection: A reader sends the following with the source anonymous:

"One of the outstanding exponents of moral values of our time was Vice President John Nance Garner. While he was Vice President, Mr. Garner was offered a large sum of money to permit his name to be used as author of an article in a national magazine. Mr. Garner's very cogent reply was, 'The name of John Nance Garner is not worth $25,000 and the office of the Vice President is not for sale.'"

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

The Democrats have it figured out like this: they're going to amend the law so JACK can hold the Presidency 16 years; then brother ROBERT will be available for the next sixteen. After that, CAROLINE will be 35 so she'll take over and serve indefinitely . . . My old friend, WILMA McCLELLAN, is Exalted Ruler of the Elks. This sounds like an A-1 choice . . . The underground rumor says EICHMANN will be found guilty but only given life in prison instead of the death penalty. Both combined would be too good . . . Women's bathing suits will be one piece this summer. O. K. Wonder which piece?

The Sporting News says Fort Lauderdale is spending $550,000 on a spring training stadium for the Yankees but what they really need is a bigger jail for the col-

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Mother's Day rests upon an historical foundation of faith: The Old and New Testaments say, "Honour thy father and thy mother." The pagan festival of the "Mother of the Gods" was transformed by Christianity into the celebration honoring the "Mother Church," during which the faithful returned with gifts to the church where they were baptized. Then as young men and women left home to become apprentices and servants, "Mothering Sunday" in Mid-Lent, was set apart for them to visit their parents with tokens of their love.

"Mother's Day" was first celebrated in America in Sunday schools and churches in Philadelphia in 1908. The idea came from Anna Jarvis, when she arranged a memorial service for her mother in a Virginia town. Congress passed the bill for the day in 1914: "Whereas the American mother is doing so much for the home, the moral uplift, and religion, hence so much for good government and humanity . . ."

Days of All Faiths:

Family Week Stresses Home Life

By DR. HOWARD W. HARKER
Next week, including next Sunday, will be Christian Family Week in many of the Protestant churches throughout the United States and legions students . . . Probably the most attractive young woman on TV last week was Miss Patti, the Michigan philosophy instructor. Dorothy Kilgallen contributed the most incongruous getup of 1961 . . . A New York night club comic says Russia will beat us to Venus but we'll be first to give foreign aid . . . U.S. western movies are in great demand in Japan where they dub in their own language. Imagine the bad man and the sheriff eating each other out in Japanese before they open fire in the Split Gulch Bar.

Trusted sources advise me that JOY MAZZA should be named as an especially attractive young lady in our area. Advice accepted . . . Two five-year-olds watched a fire engine flash past with a big Dalmatian on the seat. "Is that a mascot?" wondered one. "Nope," said his pal. "He feeds the hydrants." . . . CHESTER REYNOLDS' son, JACK, on a tour of duty with the armed forces, shot a 75 at St. Andrews . . . The Pentagon halls a current material that's stronger than steel but which floats. Extensive use will be made in spaceships and it's called beryllium . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—ALAN B. SHEPARD; the J's—spring weather.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

Canada. Sponsored by the National Council's Department of Family Life, this week always begins on the first Sunday in May and ends with Mother's Day. The emphasis is on the dedication of home life.

Long before Mother's Day or Family Week, the month of May belonged in a special way to women. Back in pagan times this was the month of the Feast of Bona Dea, honoring Mother Earth. It was exclusively a women's festival; no men were allowed. Some say this feminine monopoly on the month comes from the fact that May is named for, and therefore dedicated to, Maia, the mother of Hermes, by Zeus. Others believe that May and June were named for the two houses of the Roman legislature: the Maiors and the Juniors.

In Catholic tradition, May is the month of the greatest of all mothers, the Blessed Virgin Mary, and special devotions to her are carried on all through the month.

RURAL LIFE SUNDAY

Sunday, May 7 — Since the middle of the fifth century, the fifth Sunday after Easter has been a day of special prayers for farmers and their crops. It is called Rogation Sunday, from the Latin "rogare," to pray.

The observance began, of course, in a society that was almost 100 per cent agricultural. Now, with less than 10 per cent of the population engaged in farming, the National Council of Churches has felt the need to bring the emphasis up-to-date.

It has done this by pointing out that all of us, whether we live in urban or rural situations, are dependent on God for the fruits of the earth to keep us alive. This is a fact, no matter how many or how few of us actually do the cultivating of the fields.

Rural Life Sunday, as it is now called in the Protestant churches, is observed in both town and country, often with an exchange of pulpits between urban and rural ministers.

APARTITION OF ST. MICHAEL. Monday, May 8 — The Archangel Michael has two days set apart in his honor. We in the western world are more familiar with "Michaelmas," which is September 29. The Eastern churches put more emphasis on this day.

What happened to make this day important goes back to the year 492. A few days before May 8, 492 a wealthy Italian named Gargan raised one of his best bulls. After a search he found the animal in a hillside cave, wounded by an arrow which was still embedded in its flesh. As he reached to extract the arrow, it flew out of its own accord.

Gargan pondered the event and decided it was the sort of thing the Bishop would want to know about. The Bishop, upon hearing the story, fasted and prayed for three days, at the end of which period on May 8 — the Archangel Michael appeared to him and told him the cave was one of his favorite earthly spots and he wanted a church built there.

This is by no means the only time men have seen Michael. There are many records of similar appearances, and always a church has been built to mark the spot and the occasion.

One peculiarity common to all his appearances is that they always take place on hills and mountains. This is why most St. Michael's churches are on hills. It is also why the Archangel is the patron of mountaineers.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Christ's Narrative Formula

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE H — 478: Daniel D., aged 28, is a brilliant clergyman.

"But Dr. Crane," one of his Deacons began, "he is addicted to big words."

"He seems to think it is a sign of great education to use 5-syllable terms. I at times attempt to appear 'collegiate' when what we parishioners want is simple language, an interesting inspiring sermon, with a 20-minute duration."

"That's just typical of his just-liberal attempt to appear 'collegiate' when what we parishioners want is simple language, an interesting inspiring sermon, with a 20-minute duration."

"He wanders around for 35 to 45 minutes. When we tactfully tried to impress him about the 20-minute time limit, he grew angry and next week he actually bored us for 52 minutes!"

"He has some good traits but he is driving people away from church, so how can we give him a new slant?"

"We can always hire a new preacher, but it seems a shame for these seminary graduates to be such failures as speakers."

PREACHERS, BEWARE

The usual young preacher better set a 20-minute time limit on his sermons!

Most of us benevolent parishioners don't expect a younger minister to rival Daniel Webster or William Jennings Bryan.

Voice of the People:

Automatic Pay Increases Impossible, Say Readers

E.M. writes the Voice of the People and says he should have "an automatic raise every year."

Sure! Let's raise him this year. My business is off 25 per cent in 1961 and if he works for me he ought to be cut 25 per cent or laid off entirely and I'd prefer the latter.

An automatic raise every year will produce printing press money and national bankruptcy in a decade. "Automatic raises" ought to run the business for a while and pay the deficits.

Distressed Employer

E.M. certainly ought to get that "automatic raise." I mean an "automatic raise" cut out of the street. Me? I'm heading for the bank to borrow enough to meet this week's payroll.

Small Merchant

An automatic raise? How about an automatic raise in business every year for the suckers who try to keep meeting the payroll.

Today is Saturday, May 6, the 126th day of the year, with 239 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1840, the famous "penny black" stamp, the first postage stamp was issued in England.

In 1856, Sigmund Freud, Austrian neurologist and father of psychoanalysis, was born.

In 1937, 35 passengers aboard the German dirigible Hindenburg died as the giant airship exploded and burst into fire.

In 1941, Joseph Stalin became premier of Russia.

In 1960, England's Princess Margaret, sister of the queen, married a commoner, photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Thought for today: Joseph Stalin said: "History shows that there are no invincible armies."

Operate Business at Least Cost

It's time the worker took a look at what the union is doing to him and for him. They are pricing labor out of the market and of what use is a high rate of pay if there are no jobs?

I am not a business expert, but common sense tells me that operating at the least cost is a basic principle of any sane business. To continue to, using the forgetting sense (common business will not hire additional help, with all the red-tape it involves, all the fringe benefits and the extra book work to satisfy the union and government. It is cheaper to pay overtime to those already on the payroll, as needs extra workers.

Regardless of the fairly tales we hear, business is in business to make money, not for the benefit of its fellow man any more than a working man goes to his job every day to help his employer.

Too many fringe benefits, shorter hours and higher pay will result in more unemployed, not less. Think It Over

Editor's Note: If Billy White will telephone us and remove the libel from his letter and permit us to sign his name, we will be happy to print it.

Tax Cut Eyed for Next Year

But Dillon Careful to Avoid Commitments in Talking of Incentives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury is considering an income tax cut for next year. This was indicated Friday by Secretary Douglas Dillon, although he carefully avoided making any commitments about future tax policy.

Questioned by the House Ways and Means Committee on present and future plans, Dillon remarked with apparent approval:

There is "one theory the income tax, especially, should be somewhat lower. The idea is that a tax reduction would be an incentive to higher (economic) activity."

When questioned about a step-by-step reduction, Dillon said it is under study but that he doesn't know what his department will recommend. President Kennedy has told

Congress he is ordering a review of the possibility of a general tax revision recommendation next year.

What is Horsepower?

• We have all heard of horsepower. One of the chief sales points of new automobiles is the constantly increasing power under the hood. Modern appliances are also classified by the horsepower of their motors.

The horse is used today to define energy because, years ago, it was the principal source of power. One unit of energy is the amount of work a horse can do in a specific length of time.

The word "horsepower" has come to mean something else besides energy, too. It symbolizes those who work as a team. Before anything can be accomplished, people have to cooperate with each other. As soon as one person tries to accomplish more—or less—than he is supposed to, the result is confusion. Just as a team of horses must pull together to move a wagon, so men must pull together to get work done.

This is especially true when it comes to building or remodeling a home. From the planning stages to the finished job, everyone must function as a part of the team. In this way, the building or remodeling of your home is completed with a minimum of confusion and a maximum saving of dollars.

We, the members of your Council for Better Living, are such a team. We want to demonstrate how we can help you plan the building or remodeling of your home for better living in the future. Consult and buy with confidence where you see the emblem of the Council for Better Living — "As You Plan... Ask Us."

UNDERSTANDING

We meet someone. Without understanding there can be no rapport. When a child understands his lessons he goes rapidly forward. A family working at cross purposes is doomed to failure; understanding is the first step to a happy existence.

A corporation was having financial troubles. The president brought his employees and management together, explained the company's position and within a few minutes those employees understood. It was their suggestions that brought the company out of the red into a strong financial position. Two people were considered strange; they were. They avoided people, did not enter into any part of the social life of their community; they couldn't and keep a son in college. When he graduated, they did too—social acceptance. Understanding was the key.

Our Courts are clogged with misunderstandings. A recent sex disaster was explained, "I misunderstood his signals." "He is an understanding person" is one of the highest compliments you can pay to another person.

Merit this compliment.

Talks on Khrushchev

"Khrushchev Begins Russia's Invasion of America" will be the topic of Dr. Hyman Appelman's sermon when he preaches at an areawide mass rally at 3 p.m. Sunday in First Baptist Church.

As a special feature for the Spanish speaking churches cooperating in the Appelman Crusade, the sermon will be interpreted into Spanish.

The afternoon rally is one of the many services held in First Baptist and Waterford Community Churches this week. The crusade will continue all next week with services held nightly. Dr. Appelman will speak at the Waterford Church at 6:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. at First Baptist.

"The Four Horsemen Are Riding Again" will be the topic at Waterford Sunday evening and "The Man Who Preached Christ's Funeral" will be the sermon topic at First Baptist.

Dr. Appelman has been preaching to more than a thousand each night at First Baptist and several hundred in Waterford.

Born an Orthodox Jew in Mogilev, Russia—then White Russia, Dr. Appelman came to the United States at the age of 12 with his mother, and two brothers. His father had come here a year and a half earlier.

He knew Hebrew, had studied some Yiddish and had a fair command of German, Russian, Yiddish and Polish, but knew not one word of English.

Arriving in Chicago and weighing 150 pounds he was enrolled in the first grade of Hans Christian Andersen School. He completed grade school and entered preparatory school, eventually entering Northwestern University law school. In 1921 he was licensed to practice law in Illinois. His master of law was from De Paul University in Chicago.

Dr. Appelman was influenced into becoming a Christian by Dr. James E. Davis, then pastor of the Central Christian Church in Denver, Colo. While on a vacation for his health in Denver, he was advised by a YMCA leader to see Dr. Davis about a good doctor. It was the preacher who led him to believe Jesus Christ was the Son of God.

In 1930 Dr. Appelman gave up his law career to enter Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Tex. He was graduated in 1933 and spent the next eight years doing evangelistic work in Texas.

He was pastor of Victory Baptist Church in Dallas from 1931 to 1934 but hasn't had a church since that time. Evangelism has taken him to all corners of the earth.

"My parents and friends thought I had lost my mind completely. They say I wrecked my life when I gave up law to become a Christian evangelist."

"I've seen more than 300,000 persons profess their faith in Christ in my evangelistic crusades," says Appelman. "I've seen lives, even homes saved. This is my reward. It is worth more to me than all the money and fame in the world."

Dr. Appelman said that more people are searching for Christ than ever before. He attributes this to more education, with man's deeper awareness of his problems and greater sensitivity to God.

Author of 31 books, Dr. Appelman visited his native Russian conducting a series of revival crusades in 1957 and again in 1959. He will tell of religion in Russia Sunday afternoon. He said he spends at least three hours a day in prayerful devotion.

Evangelist Appelman plans another world tour in 1962.

"The Right One" will be the theme of the pastor's sermon at 11:15 Sunday morning. The Volunteers for Jesus Quartet will sing. At 7:30 p.m. the weekly Bible study will be on the fifth chapter of Galatians.

At 6:30 p.m. all youth groups will meet together to hear Harold Davis lead the discussion on the film, "To Serve the Living."

FIRST CHURCH OF GOD—Rev. Eustice D. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of God, announces plans are set for the construction of the first unit of a new church. Several months ago the congregation purchased 16 acres of ground with frontage on Galloway Lake near Mt. Clemens Street and Opdyke Road. The acreage has been cleared and a swimming beach made ready for summer. Picnic grounds and a ballfield will soon be ready for recreation. When completed the church will have a seating capacity of nearly 800. The cost is expected to be about $300,000. The fund-raising campaign, directed by Ralph Philie from the extension board of the denomination in Anderson, Ind., will close Sunday evening with a victory service. Heenan & Fuller Inc. are the architects.

LETTING THE LORD LEAD (No. 2)
In 1 Pet. 2:2, we read, "For even hereunto were you called because Christ suffered for us, that he might bring us to himself by his own blood, the cleansing of his flesh by water in the word, that he might present to himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works." There is a song which says, "Who is like unto thee, O Lord?" and a passage of Paul which reads, "As ye followers of me, so shall I also imitate of Christ." 1 Cor. 11:1. The ideas set forth by these expressions indicate that we should endeavor to follow the Lord in all of our endeavors and in our emulation in every respect.

We are indebted to God, his father and his son, for his abundant spirit God was well pleased with him. We should be obedient as to his word, and we should be zealous of good works. There are many reasons why people should be zealous of good works. (1) Because it is right. Jas. 4:17. (2) Because it is the will of God. (3) Because it is a means through which we demonstrate love. 1 Jn. 4:17. (4) It is a means through which we can bring glory to God. Mt. 5:16.

Few in U.S. Avoid Debt

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Families that earn the least money also owe the least, a report by the University of Michigan survey Research Center indicates. The survey, based on more than 7,000 interviews, also indicated that two out of three American families are debtors today.

About half the nation's families (48 per cent) have installment debts, 51 per cent have mortgages and 24 per cent have noninstallment credit. Many families owe more than one kind of debt.

The survey report said use of installment credit is concentrated in middle income families, those in the $3,000 to $4,000 a year bracket. It said families with an income of less than $2,000 a year are overwhelmingly debt-free, with only 14 per cent of this group owing debts of $50 or more.

Fashion Event to Raise Funds for Drill Unit

"Fun Time Fashions" is the theme of a gala card party and fashion show to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Elks Temple.

All proceeds will go to a $5,000 fund set up to pay expenses for a 32-girl precision drill team on its way to a national contest in Florida.

The teen-age girls, known as the Rae-Ven, have won the state championship title with their high-stepping precision formations and feel they have a chance to acquire higher honors, according to their instructor, Jackie Rae.

The public has been urged to attend the Wednesday party and see some of the drill team members and mothers model clothes presented by Bobette.

All types of card games will be in progress, and whether an individual comes alone or in a group, she will be welcome.

LOVE That Music, Says Band Director

(Editor's note: This is a feature story about Grand Haven High School senior Dave Merwin. This one is from the Grand Haven Tribune.)

By CLARENCE POEL
Grand Haven Daily Tribune

GRAND HAVEN (U)—When it comes to music, the kids must love it and have fun!

This sums up the philosophy of Grand Haven's popular school band Director Banister Merwin who has set all kinds of records in 20 years of swinging the baton.

Merwin, now in his 17th year, believes the more students play instruments the better. "That's public education," he emphasized.

TWO BANDS TO FIVE

His program in the Grand Haven public schools has grown from two bands and 75 musicians to five bands with 352 pupils from the fifth grade to high school.

He worked a 12-hour day for years getting his program rolling besides carrying a heavy load of responsibilities in district and state band organizations.

Merwin is now "one of the three old men" in the Western Michigan district band association. He helped organize. He has held all of the district offices but treasurer and handled the chairmanship of numerous committees.

However, his most satisfying reward in music has come in

The new gift shop at Pontiac General Hospital was opened today. Named "The General Store" by Mrs. Eugene Connell of Union Lake (center) it will be operated by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital. Mrs. Connell receives her award outside the shop from Mrs. Aleck Capsalis of Ottawa Drive with Mrs. S. V. Sekles of Ottawa Drive looking on.

Abby Says: Don't Be Unkind

About Face, Sister-in-Law! Phone and Say You're Sorry

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who claims she weighs the same today as she did when she was married 12 years ago, which is 112 pounds, and also a big lie. Anyone can see she weighs at least 135.

I lost my patience with her yesterday when I had a few girls in and the subject of weight and diet came up, and she made this ridiculous statement. I asked her to step on my bathroom scale and prove it. She refused, and left my house in a huff, saying I called her a liar. I didn't call her a liar. I only asked her to back up her statement. When my husband came home (he is her brother) I started to tell him the story and he had heard it already. She called him at work.

He says I should call her and apologize to keep peace in the family. I think she owes me an apology. Who owes whom an apology?

ROSE: DEAR ROSE: Call her and tell her you are sorry you offended her. Since you knew she was lying, you were unkind to embarrass her in the presence of the others. It's bad enough to lose one's figure without losing face, too.

DEAR ABBY: There is a certain girl in the eighth grade who sure thinks she is something! She has a shape on her like a high school senior, and she wiggles (on purpose) when she walks.

When older boys ask her for a date she tells them she is sorry she can't accept because she has another date. We happen to know that she can't accept because her mother won't let her date yet.

How can we help her to be more truthful? She is losing friends.

EIGHTH GRADE GIRLS: DEAR GIRLS: I doubt if the girl you are worried about will miss the friends she is losing.

Many Birmingham People Are Expecting Visitors

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BIRMINGHAM — Welcome visitors in Birmingham this week are Dr. and Mrs. G. Debie, Taylor of Jacksonville, Fla. They are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. L'Honnemieu of Glenhurst Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor gave a dinner Wednesday at the Fox and Hounds Inn.

Mrs. Steele L. Sellers and her sister Ann L'Honnemieu gave a luncheon for Mrs. Taylor, who is their cousin.

"Midge" Smith, at the Sellers' home on Aspen road Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Tischer have recently announced the engagement of their daughter Nancy Ann to Michael Lutomski of Detroit.

Nancy attended Miami University and was graduated from the University of Michigan.

Her fiancé attended Culver and Cranbrook schools and was graduated from Olivet College.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael G. Lutomski of Detroit.

Close friends and relatives

will plan for the out-of-town guests and wedding-party members on the day of the wedding.

Good friends of the David G. Nethercotts are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Micou, Mrs. William H. Manning and Mrs. Rawson Vaile who will be joint hosts at a luncheon June 17 when Julie Nethercott is married to William Danforth Mulliken in Christ Church Cranbrook.

William's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mulliken, will come from their home in Champaign, Ill., in time to give the rehearsal dinner at the Detroit Athletic Club.

Birmingham can be proud of Mrs. J. Vinton Birch, a member of Birmingham Society of Women Painters and the Bloomfield Art Association for the blue ribbon her entry won in the exhibition of the Detroit Society of Women Painters and Sculptors held at the Scarab Club in Detroit.

Mrs. Birch is a member and past president of the Detroit Society. The exhibit closed last Wednesday.

Close friends and relatives

will plan for the out-of-town guests and wedding-party members on the day of the wedding.

GOES TO INTERLOCHEN This will be the third summer Conductor Merwin will take the senior band to the Interlochen National Music Camp. Students raised $1,100—mostly through candy bar sales—to finance most of the week at camp. The active band parents association also contributed to the cause.

Merwin is one of 10 high school directors in Michigan who annually judge bands at festivals. This year he rated some 46 junior and senior bands in competition for performance records.

He also is chairman of the state judges committee that approves 200 high school and college directors as judges for festivals. Some years ago Mr. and Mrs. Merwin served as secretary of the Michigan Band and Orchestra Assn. and were followed by a paid secretary.

Born in Mayville, in the Thumb area, 44 years ago, Merwin came from a family of musicians. His father, the late Clyde Merwin, a salesman, was a violinist and his mother played the piano. A brother Alec—now the Grand Haven Junior High director—played a cornet. Banister started on the baritone.

Another brother, Wayne, a Pontiac industrial inspector, had no interest in music and neither did a sister, Mrs. Charles Swain of Metamora.

During the depression days, the father located old band instruments for the boys in an attic in Flint. Potatoes were traded for lessons given at the home. The brothers were first chair players in the Mt. Clemens High School band.

Learning all instruments easily, he later played the trombone, French horn and clarinet.

At Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant, he practiced two hours daily and upon graduation taught band music first at Koro Harbor for a year and then Ionia for two years before coming to Grand Haven 17 years ago.

He met his wife Esther at college and they were married in 1941. She is not a musician, but is doubly proud of her husband and son's musical talent.

'General' Store Opens, so Does Hospital Week

The Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital launched Hospital Week activities today with the formal opening of its new "General" Store.

The group's Aux-Mobile, a notions and sundry items cart for patients, earned sufficient funds to open the shop.

Mrs. Eugene Connell was the winner of a recent auxiliary-sponsored contest to name the shop, conducted among the hospital's employees.

Mrs. Forrest Wood, publicity chairman, has invited the public to browse throughout the hospital and see the auxiliary's projects and services during Hospital Week, which runs through May 13.

Exhibits connected with the observance will be featured at the hospital throughout the week.

The auxiliary's annual Florence Nightingale Tea is slated Wednesday at the hospital.

Rest With Your Feet Up

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I want to give you a few hints which I think you will find pleasant and restful and which will help you avoid some minor physical defects.

Many women write to ask what can be done for those little capillaries which so often appear on the upper legs. Most women have a few of these and they are never so noticeable to others as they are to the woman who has them.

These can be removed by a skin specialist, but the result may be only temporary.

However, these little blood vessels need not bother you today because there are many waterproof, liquid coverage cosmetic products. Some of these will entirely camouflage the capillaries when you wish to swim or wear shorts.

Standing on your feet for long periods of time and clothing which is too tight are contributors to these. Be sure that your girdle is not too tight at the bottom, and do not wear garters. Girdles which are too tight at this point also lead to ugly dents in the thighs.

The habits of resting for short periods with your feet higher than your head is helpful and also preventive to varicose veins and is restful. Even when you sit, put your feet up.

Here is another habit which is most refreshing. When you lie down for a few minutes, place eyes pads on the lids of your closed eyes. You can buy these or simply dip the cotton in ice cold water before using it. Most of us know Pres-these little tricks but we do not use them often and are surprised by how restful they can be.

Many folks find tired at the back of the neck. This is especially true if we have been doing close work with our head in much the same position for hours.

You will find the following exercise extremely restful. Stand with your back straight and your arms hanging at your sides. Let your arms hang loosely as you rotate your shoulders - make circles with them.

Circle for a while backward and then forward. The following addition gives the back of your neck a real massage. As your shoulders move backward drop your chin to your chest. As your shoulders move forward drop your head backward. Do this slowly.

If you would like to have my relaxing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 24 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Spades American Designer Pattern

N-1294 Kay Hammond

This tuss-on tie-n-button bit of fashion takes its cue from the "Tarzan-Me Jane" era to form the gayest partnership on the season's fun-and-sun scene. Designer Kay Hammond gives the lined bra top a bare-shoulder slant, then adorns it with a dashing sarong to snugly wrap the hips.

For relaxing at the beach, beside the pool, on the deck, almost anywhere under the sun, this saucy set (that can be reversible if you choose) takes next to no time to make in any colorful cotton. If you are Bikini sized on shore or uncomfortable in a wet suit after your swim, we suggest it in a reversible combination of thirty jersey cloth and bold-patterned rayon such as a batik or jungle print, to keep handy in your beach bag or cabana.

Size 12 requires 2 1/4 yards of 36-inch fabric for beach suit; 3 yards of 36-inch fabric for lining.

To order beach suit pattern N1294, state size and send $1.45 cents for first-class postage and special handling. For pattern forms 17 and 18, send $1 each.

Spades patterns are the only patterns using ready-to-wear sizes.

Trio Is Ready to Make Electric Cars in Kalamazoo

By HAYDEN BRADFORD
Kalamazoo Gazette
Written for The AP
KALAMAZOO (AP) — What is it? A wild dream? Or the start of a large new Kalamazoo industry? Only time will bring the answer to this basic question about the Voltair.

That's the name of the small, red car that's been silently skulking around Kalamazoo streets lately. It's an electric battery-powered experimental vehicle.

Its ambitious and enthusiastic local developers are Barry Stuart, 29-year-old president of Stuart Motors, Inc., and his two associates in the firm's new Research and Development Division, James Burleigh, 28, and William Black, 30. They have been working for months on the "re-invention" of the electric car. For their efforts to date they can already show the Voltair, a strictly experimental one-seater car undergoing continuous change as proposed production parts are tested.

They're pressing ahead as fast as possible already with the design of the Stuart electric—which they hope will become the first modern truly low-priced ($1,300-$1,800) car especially designed to utilize the advantage of electric power.

They see a ready market for an inexpensive utility car with seating space for two adults and two children (or comparable cargo).

Though this will be considerably larger than the 52-inch-wide, 138-inch-long Voltair, it would have the same speed and range the test model has already developed: 45 miles per hour and 50 miles on an overnight charge obtained simply by plugging into a regular household outlet.

Weighing only about 1,000 pounds, it would be only one-fourth as heavy as the only privately owned electric car now operating in Kalamazoo—a 1929 Detroit Electric owned by Burton H. Uppin.

This 4-250-pound car, powered by 62 14-volt Edison alkali batteries, will do "wide open on a straightaway, fully charged with a tail wind" at a top speed of 19 miles an hour. Its range is about 45 miles on a full charge.

Burleigh is in charge of prototype development of the Stuart electric, and Black handles the purchasing. Stuart, who started his retail car sales business as a student at Western Michigan University and was one of the first dealers here to take on an imported car franchise, is in overall charge of the project.

Basically, this team is in a race with at least half a dozen other firms scattered throughout the country trying to cash in on what at least on electric utility officials predicts will soar from today's total of 50 electric passenger cars on S.W. streets to 100,000 by 1965. To date, none of these firms has progressed beyond the experimental stage.

Those people who talk of the possible "comeback of the electric car," cite its low fuel cost (a small fraction of a cent a mile), simple maintenance, lack of noise and exhaust fumes, durability and efficiency of operation.

They point out that it needs no piston rings, no radiator, no anti-freeze, no distributor, no spark plugs, no carburetor, no air or oil filter, no muffler, no gear shift or transmission, and only two instruments—a speedometer and a power-reserve indicator.

Such a vehicle already has proven ideal for stop-and-go delivery operation in concentrated urban areas, since an electric motor stops and starts instantaneously and provides extreme economy for that type operation.

The aim of this Kalamazoo trio, however, is to eliminate—or at least reduce to insignificance—such drawbacks of earlier electric cars as limited speed and range.

Their optimism springs to a considerable degree from the recent development of better batteries, the popularity of electric cars in Long Beach, Calif., where about 4,000 are being used for urban errand running; and a similar trend in Florida.

They also cite statistics concluding that the average use of a second car is under 18 miles a day, while more than half travel less than five miles daily.

They expect to be able to obtain all parts from manufacturers within a 150-mile radius of Kalamazoo except for the Fiberglas body shell they hope to produce here. Economies from this nearness to suppliers are counted on to offset freight costs to the expected initial market in the South.

The Stuart electric would also be designed so that it might be updated without major change should any new energy conversion device, such as an economical fuel cell battery, suddenly appear on the market.

Stuart's team spent from September to November last year testing a bodyless chassis with electric golf cart components.

Hirohito Declares War Against Army of Crows

TOKYO (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito is at war.

The enemy: crows. Hirohito, who says his sprawling palace grounds are for the birds, but not for the crows—just been waging a determined fight to rid the wooded palace area of the raucous-sounding crows.

But the black birds appear to be winning most of the battles despite the employment by the imperial household agency of such weapons as whale bone flutes imported from the United States and poisoned whale meat.

The emperor's war, waged entirely within the confines of his moated Imperial Palace grounds, has been going on for some time.

He's called for assistance from the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry and, finally, as an appeal last week, the emperor and Empress Nagako, taking their usual after dinner stroll through the palace garden, noticed a flock of crows robbing the nests of the smaller birds they loved to watch.

The emperor, who often bird watches, called his imperial household chamberlains and heard their report that the crows were killing and driving away the smaller birds by plundering their nests.

"Expel those crows," said the emperor. A joint headquarters composed of the imperial household agency, the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry and imperial palace police was established to combat the crows. But it was dissolved in October because it proved ineffective.

The household agency imported a whale-bone flute from the United States, according to unofficial battle reports, on the belief that it would lure the crows and they could be killed or captured.

It didn't work. Only one baby crow was foolish enough to fall for the call of the flute.

Next came a "crow expert" from the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry.

His strategy was to stake out an owl, with a string around its leg to prevent it from escaping, on the theory that the crows would attack it and could be caught with a net.

The reports indicated that his strategy was successful the first time, when he netted 10 crows. But they never fell for that again. Poisoned whale meat never fooled the crows.

The palace police tried shooting the crows but that proved difficult, since the palace grounds are located in the heart of the city.

After all these failed, the reports indicated, the emperor ordered an all-out campaign, a sort of combined operation using all forces available.

This was a sustained three-day drive that succeeded in driving most of the crows from the grounds, but they returned when it was over.

And while they were gone, the reports said, the Canadian embassy complained of large flocks of crows that came to roost there and asked Japanese officials to drive them away.

Your Neighbor's House

Tri-Level Has Vietnamese Accents

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the past 5 years the tri-level with infinite variations has come into its own. Now the trend is slowing a bit and more regular two-story homes can be seen. But there is no doubt that the multi-level caught the fancy of American home buyers. Once set only on a sloping lot, it has been adapted to level areas too.

Employees of MSUO needed housing which was not immediately available near the school. Several new subdivisions have sprung up just east of the campus, one of which is Meadowbrook Subdivision. The Robert Swansons were the first people to build here.

After 2½ years in Viet Nam, Swanson came to MSUO as its business head. The home he and his family live in is pure American, vintage 1960; but many of the accessories speak of lands far more ancient.

Six-year-old Brett is just finishing kindergarten. His older brother, David, is away at boarding school.

When the Swansons moved in a year ago in March, it was 2 months before they could put their car in the garage. They had to park up on Adams road and come down to the house by a woodland path. Remember the mud we had last spring?

Dick Heinz designed the Swanson home which was built by R & C Builders, Inc. of Rochester. The exterior is gray brick with a white upper story. Shutters are gray blue.

There is a pebble glass window next to the front door. More pebble glass is used for the shade of the hanging lantern. This circle motif is repeated in the iron railing of the upper stairway. The floor is cork.

ANTIQUE TABLE

On one side of the entrance is a lowered door closet. Attached to the wall on the opposite side is a black antique half circle table. Wrought iron legs support it with metal flowers as decoration. The wall behind this table is papered in white with a tree scene in aqua, gold and black.

The picture window in the living room has a real purpose in the Swanson home. There's a view of trees and distant meadows which can be restful. The draperies are white floor length ones. Carpeting is beige. Walls are white with exposed beams in the cathedral ceiling. At one side of the room is a marble fireplace framed in white wood. The hearth is ceramic tile.

At the other side of the room a brown sofa, backed by a harvest table, makes a separate dining area. In the buffet the stereo set will have a spot.

Other furniture in the living room is Victorian. The loveseat and pair of matching chairs are walnut with green upholstery. In front of the long windows there is a low black coffee table.

A door leads out to the patio which is being "paved" with slices of trees.

One of the interesting Vietnamese accessories in the living room is a pair of bronze heads painted black. Mrs. Swanson explained to us that the Vietnamese have almost no art of their own and these heads represent one of the few native arts.

The Russell Wright people have gone over to Viet Nam to help the natives set up some crafts that would appeal to tourists and to individuals in other parts of the world. They are working with the crafts already practiced. One of the difficulties is that the dyes used in their fabrics are not available.

A planter separates the living room and the breakfast room. This latter area is part of the kitchen; one of the work counters with a breakfast bar on the outside marks the division.

The cathedral ceiling goes through this part of the ground floor area too. The linoleum on the floor is white with brown spatters. Wainscoting is fruitwood. All cabinets are also fruitwood.

Mrs. Swanson is refinishing the breakfast set which is man-ple with good sturdy lines. Cafe curtains are aqua, hung on brass poles.

On their way home from Viet Nam the Swansons took in part of the Orient and much of Europe. Souvenirs of this trip are the Bavarian plates on the wall, some wooden spoons from Sweden and a Danish server with numerous little bowls. This latter ornaments the kitchen and is used for condiments when curry is on the menu.

Kitchen counter tops are beige. The soffit is papered in aqua and yellow on white. Appliances are copper-tone.

Carpeting like that of the living room is continued up the stairs and through the upper hallway.

A turquoise and white lavatory is attached to the master bedroom. Carpeting and walls in the bedroom are turquoise. Curtains are white. The furniture is maple. In addition to the usual pieces there is a black chest of drawers and a pair of armless rust velvet chairs.

David's room has a linoleum floor covering that looks for all the world like knotty pine. He's a lover of horses so that his curtains have a horse print. There are statues of horses on his desk. His bed with the bookcase headboard has a gold spread on it.

Brett's room is red, white and blue. Three walls are painted white. The fourth one has patriotic paper — red, white and blue with a colonial design.

His desk and chest of drawers make a unit in one corner. Curtains and bed spread are red corduroy. Another chest is painted blue.

The Swansons wanted something practical to panel the stair wall leading to the lowest level. They settled on Congo wood which really comes from the Belgian Congo. It is hard and has an attractive grain.

There is both a family room and a study downstairs. Floors are tiled in white with brown marbling. There is more Congo wood used as paneling above the fireplace in the family room.

Wicker chairs and a table the Swansons used in Viet Nam were dismantled — the legs screw off — and brought back to the United States. They are glad now they bothered to bring them for they fit well into the new house.

In the study there are maps and more maps. Having lived right in the area where news now in headlines comes from, they cannot help but be interested in locations.

A Formica topped desk with slanting front is mounted on one wall of the study. Curtains in here are brown and white striped.

We have taken our journey into the past and have completed the circle by coming back to the present and its interesting houses. Future ones beckon us.

BREAKFAST ROOM—The southern end of the kitchen, separated by a counter and breakfast bar, is the eating area. An exposed beam runs through this side of the house as well as through the living room. Wainscoting and cabinets are fruitwood. The Scandinavian type light fixture has a walnut frame with opaque glass globes. Curtains are aqua. The planter makes a visual separation from the living room.

LOWER LEVEL FIREPLACE—This is the fireplace in the family room. There's a barbecue grill mounted over the grate for all-year picnics. Paneling is Congo wood. That wicked looking weapon is a ceremonial sword, minus its long handle. Mrs.

Swanson says that some Vietnamese dwellings have a row of the full length ones used as a room divider. The chairs which can be dismantled came from Hong Kong.

NEAR MSUO—The Robert Swansons were the first family to move into Meadowbrook Subdivision near MSUO. Their house is one of half a dozen on a hilly drive. Exterior is gray brick with blue shutters and white trim. R & C Builders, Inc., of Rochester did the construction work. Dick Heinz was the architect. The Swansons moved in during March of 1960.

OLD AND NEW—New is the concept of the multi-level house; old is the Victorian chair with the typical ornate carving and patterned upholstery. A bit of native art from the Far East hangs above the stairs. Congo wood is used to panel the stair wall.

A REAL PICTURE—The picture window in the living room frames a living scene of trees and distant meadow land. There is a patio outside this room. Draperies are floor length white ones. Most of the objects on the low coffee table are souvenirs of the Swansons' Asian-European tour. The lamp has a blue base.

Daytime Sleepers Need Dark, Cool, Quiet Room

The time may not be far off when signs like "Quiet Please, Daytime Sleeping Zone" may be put up in just about any neighborhood. Along with several million night workers who do their sleeping when the sun shines, there are an even larger number of youngsters who nap during the day. And, added to this total, are an indeterminate number of housewives who try to get in an extra "forty winks" after seeing the family off in the morning.

Although you can't stop people

from making noise during the day, there are some steps that can be taken to insure better sleeping conditions, Arthur Pearson, home specialist points out.

First, Pearson advises making sure that the rooms used for sleeping is made completely dark. This is now possible with custom-built Venetian blinds that are six times more effective than conventional blinds in keeping out daylight. Such Venetians literally turn day into night.

Next, the specialist says, pick a room for sleeping that does not face the street and is as far as possible from the playroom, TV set and other indoor noisemaking areas.

During the summer, it is also important that the daytime sleeping quarters be as cool as possible. A light colored aluminum awning to fend off the sun's rays can increase sleeping comfort considerably.

Finally, Pearson says, if you are buying a new house or remodeling an existing one, consider the installation of soundproofing materials in walls and ceilings. This will help keep out many of the harsh noises that lead to unhappy awakenings.

Mahogany for Future

Modern silviculture practiced in British Honduras and other Central American and African operations for the past 30 or 40 years has been so successful in developing a program of regeneration that we can count on a steady flow of high quality mahogany logs to meet all foreseeable future requirements.

To clean leather articles, rub equal parts of vinegar and linseed oil into the leather and polish with a dry, soft cloth.

BRAND NEW — The "complete line of fluorescent lamps" now includes a new shape in the form of a thin, square panel. Held here by model Sally Cummins in front of a display of a more familiar group of lamps, the new light source compresses a five-foot-long arc into a one-square-foot area. The waffle pattern of the lamp face is attractive either lighted or unlighted, and lends itself to the application of louvers to shield the light source. General Electric describes the lamp as one of the most significant product innovations since it introduced the fluorescent lamp in 1938.

Include Furniture Repair in Spring Cleaning Job

When spring zephyrs blow and the busy homemaker turns her thoughts to the annual rite of housecleaning, her husband or an older son is usually reminded that a long delayed "major project" should now be tackled.

If modern methods and extreme care are used, says the 20th edition of Seng Furniture Facts published by The Seng Company, Chicago and Los Angeles, even an amateur can do a creditable job of bringing furniture pieces back to life.

Excerpts from this handbook, presented below, show the proper steps to take when working on a number of furniture repair jobs that are likely to crop up at this time of the year.

(DO THIS OUTDOORS!)

Improving Sticky Leather: Wash surface twice with gasoline and allow to dry. Mix an ounce each of lacquer and lacquer thinner and, if possible, spray a coat on the leather. If sprayer is not available use a camel's hair brush and be sure not to repeat strokes. Leave the article in a dust-proof room until it is thoroughly dry.

Restoring Varnished Surfaces: A varnished finish turned white by the action of water or hot dishes can be quickly brought back to its original luster. Rub lightly with a piece of flannel dampened in spirits of camphor or essence of peppermint. After a few moments, apply a good wax furniture polish. Since the varnish is temporarily softened, rubbing must be positioned until it has dried.

Eliminating White Spots on Wax: Finishes: These usually result from scratches and may be removed by (1) sponging with turpentine and (2) applying fresh wax as soon as the turpentine fumes have evaporated.

Dents in Furniture: Wet the affected part with warm water. Fold a piece of brown kraft paper five or six times, soak the paper in warm water, and lay it on the dent. Apply a warm (not hot) iron until the moisture evaporates. If the dent is not gone repeat the process. If the surface is not broken the dent will disappear. Be sure to re-polish the area.

Scratches on Furniture: Shallow scratches on dark finished furniture can often be hidden by touching up with iodine and then polishing. But deep scratches require filling. Remove all loose splinters. Then brush stain — be sure it's lighter than surrounding wood — with a fine brush. Fill the scratch with white shellac but do not permit shellac to overlap the edges of the scratch.

You Can Paint on Vinyl If You'll Prime First

Painting vinyl wall coverings when you become tired of the old color is easy if proper methods are used. Smooth vinyl without a design should get a first coat of alkyl flat wall paint, this to be followed by a latex or an alkyl as your inclination dictates.

A primed vinyl must be given a first coat of latex primer-sealer. The second coat, again, can be a latex or an alkyl. The primer for textured vinyl fabric is an oil-primer sealer and the topcoat is an alkyl paint or enamel.

Double Corner Sink Is Ideal for Small Kitchen

A stainless steel corner sink with two contour bowls is an excellent choice for a small kitchen. The right-angled placement of the "wells" saves valuable space, and provides counter surfaces on both sides as well as in the rear.

Wonderful for either left or right-handed homemakers, this compact twin sink permits sudsing in one bowl, and then rinsing conveniently in the other.

Remove Tape Early

How soon after painting is finished should masking tape be removed? The sooner the better, experts say, usually as soon as the paint becomes set or tacky and will not run. Don't let the tape remain in place two or three days, since, as the paint film becomes tougher, there is more likelihood of a jagged edge when the tape is taken away.

Door Into Bookshelf

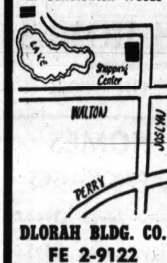

You can turn an unused doorway into a useful bookcase, if you don't need it for traffic. The depth of the wall is generally deep enough for the average bookshelf, which can be built of an attractive wood like Douglas fir.

Avoid Marring

Handle with care! In laying hardwood flooring, always use a waste scrap of flooring as a block when tapping home the edge or end of the strip. This procedure will avoid marring.

Laundry in Bath
Makes Sense

Know what a lot of smart home planners are doing nowadays? They're setting up the home laundry in a bathroom.

Why not? asks Margaret Spader, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association's home service consultant.

There are at least two good reasons for such a move, she says. First, most soiled clothes, towels, linens originate in the bathroom-bedroom area and usually have to be hauled to a downstairs laundry.

Second, in most homes the master bathroom is located directly over the kitchen which means it is in a direct line with water and gas pipes. This makes installation of a washer and gas dryer or combination washer-gas dryer a very simple matter.

Miss Spader says a survey of appliance and plumbing contractors shows more people every day are beginning to appreciate the practicality and convenience of the bathroom location for a laundry. Of course, she adds, the dryer must be vented to provide an escape for moisture and excess heat, but that's hardly more than a do-it-yourself job, and inexpensive even if it's handled by the appliance installer.

Most bathrooms have tile floors and walls. This provides an ideal setting for a laundering operation. Setting can be done on the top of the dryer or in the bathtub; and when play clothes and other items need a certain amount of self removal before they go into the washing machine, the bathroom sink is handy.

Even an electric connection for the appliance is no problem. A line can be run from the light switch plate or a wall tie can be removed behind the washer and replaced by a laundry socket.

Furniture Finishing Done in Way Ancestors Did

That more and more homes are being furnished with good colonial furniture — both old and reproductions — has become apparent to those in the home furnishings business. Now uniformity in the strict keeping with the colonial style has been added. In applying finishes to colonial furniture, modern Americans are doing what the early settlers did, especially when they apply thin coats of fresh, white shellac to the wood. Over appropriate dried stain, coats of shellac make a lasting finish.

New Booklet on Fireplaces Is Offered

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The Donley Brothers Company, 1388 Miles Ave., Cleveland 5, announces the publication of a new 100-page edition of "BOOK OF SUCCESSFUL FIREPLACES" illustrated with more than 300 photographs, drawings and diagrams. Home owners, architects, interior decorators, builders and do-it-yourself enthusiasts will find it an invaluable guide to the design, construction and use of fireplaces in the home.

In 20th century America the fireplace is charged with emotional significance and holds a unique position in the home. It is no longer required as a primary source of heat, but is frequently the center of interior decorating schemes.

Easy-to-read sections describe how to plan interiors with either traditional or contemporary fireplaces and review a wide variety of fireplace fronts, masonry designs, fireplace furnishings, Dutch ovens, barbecue fixtures and heat circulating units. Scale drawings show construction details for building fireplaces with proven designs which assure the homeowner complete operating satisfaction.

An interesting postscript traces the history of fireplaces from the earliest times to the present. It also contains contemporary fireplace design embodies many features developed in Britain, France, Germany and Scandinavia.

The price of the book is $1.00.

Too Big a Unit Is Bad

Buying oversized air conditioning can be just as bad as having a unit that's too small. The oversized installation will run briefly over-cool, then shut off. During these frequent shut-off periods the humidity level will gradually build up — something which doesn't happen with correctly specified equipment.

Pine Cleaner in Drains

Something that should go down the drain is pine cleaner. A small amount poured in the sink will cut grease and odor and leave your drain trouble-free.

OPEN PATIO — Patio fashioned of pebble color to family recreation area while supplying (exposed aggregate) concrete adds dash of a solid, long-lasting surface.

Open Patio Gets Heap 'o Living

An outdoor living area is a made-to-order pleasure room, pretty and private as you please. It takes pressure off the house and provides extra space for warm weather eating, playing and entertaining.

A patio or terrace deserves the same careful thought and planning that goes into the arrangement of a house itself. Your leisure-time quarters may be entirely open, have a roof or even walls. But it should be generous, at least twice the size of an indoor living room. The first step is to take a good look at the lot and decide on a location. Remember, on sunny summer days an open patio can get as hot as a city street unless properly shaded. Capitalize on trees and prevailing winds.

Keep in mind also that a back yard patio should be built to handle plenty of wear and tear with little or no upkeep. A durable, concrete surface is particularly ideal for this use since it is both non-slip and permanent. Home owners have their choice of several attractive finishes, many colors and various textures.

For example, the pebble concrete patio shown here has won great favor because it blends so well with the surrounding landscape. This striking surface finish is obtained when bright-colored pebbles (aggregates) are imbedded in concrete and left exposed.

For additional material on patios and other outdoor living features you should write to the Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Avenue, Chicago 10, Illinois.

Minneapolis Man First in the Field

The first home to be air-conditioned belonged to Charles G. Gates, financier and son of "Bet a Million Gates."

The year was 1912, and Gates had a special air conditioning installation put into his $900,000 mansion in Minneapolis, Minn. By today's standards, it was gigantic — about seven feet high, six feet wide, and more than 20 feet long exclusive of the refrigerating machine itself.

Today, units are small enough to be easily concealed, and much more efficient than that first home air conditioner, and require far less service. Best of all, air conditioning's cost today is only a fraction of what it once was.

Some Houses Should Get Wood Gutters

In some instances builders suggest wood or metal lined wood gutters on a new home.

It has been found that construction and installation of this type gutter is more costly than the readily available galvanized steel gutter.

Wood gutters of the required capacity to carry water drained from the roof must be heavy and bulky in order to have the proper strength. Sealing the joints between sections of wood gutters is difficult and improper sealing leads to leaks at these points.

Metal lined wood gutters have joints the full length of the gutter which must be properly and permanently sealed in order to perform correctly. These types of gutters are expensive since they have a lining of metal applied to a wood frame. A metal gutter is superior since it does not have many feet of potential leak and debris catching seams.

The use of galvanized steel on metal gutters has proven to be very satisfactory and there are types available that blend in nicely with the exterior appearance of the house. This type of gutter also eliminates the special problems introduced in attaching galvanized steel downspouts to wood gutters.

A paste made of equal parts of flour, vinegar, and salt makes an excellent cleaner for copper.

Install Your Own Iron Railings

Versa Phoe-Fused Iron Railings and Columns — new low-cost adjustable heavy-duty iron railings and columns specially manufactured by the Versa Products Company, Lodi, Ohio for "do-it-yourself" home craftsmen.

Heavy Sharon steel spindles are electronically fused to upper and lower chemically cleaned, pre-phosphated solid channel sections. This Phoe-Fused process assures a super-strong railing, better paint adhesion, greater rust resistance, easy maintenance and long-lasting beauty.

Assembled in 4 and 6 ft. sections, the high-strength railings are designed so that the homeowner can fit any stoop or stair with only three basic parts.

Column frames and heavy gauge posts are pre-phosphated and painted inside and out to assure rigidity and life-of-the-house service.

In building a new house, remodeling an older one, or dressing up a business establishment, Versa brings greater structural soundness and safety to porches, steps and dangerous stairwells.

Versa's complete adjustability plus unique design, captures the elegance and appeal of the most costly wrought-iron at savings of 30 to 40 per cent.

Garage Workshop Gains in Popularity

Sellers of new homes say that prospective purchasers are as interested in possible workshop locations as when the do-it-yourself boom was at its height.

Probably the best location for a home workshop is in the basement. Not only is there an almost unlimited amount of space available, but the usual concrete floor makes a stable base for power tool stands. This prevents the floor vibration that inevitably occurs when large power tools are operated on an upper floor.

It is also possible to enclose a basement room in such a manner that the amount of noise which penetrates upstairs is minimized. A prime factor in the isolation of such noise is the installation of acoustical ceiling tiles. Even the ordinary ceiling tiles absorb a certain amount of the sound that moves upward when a machine is in operation.

Thousands of new homes, however, have no basements. A home owner can, in that event, place his workshop in a utility room if there is extra space; in an attic, if there is one; or in the garage, if there is one and it is large enough. Putting the shop in the garage is becoming increasingly popular.

Because it helps to seal a house, many builders are adding a little more room in the garage so that a workshop will be practical. In some areas of the country, heat in the garage is a necessity if the workshop is to be used all year 'round.

But the chances are that most garages in those sections would be equipped with heat, workshop or not. Where there are exceptions, there are many types of space heaters, electric and gas that can be utilized.

SHIRT CASE—Every husband will welcome this storage unit of shallow drawers which permit ready access to shirts and ties.

Neidrick Building
65 Court Dr., Pontiac
FE 4-6909

A garage workshop has another advantage: the fact that there usually is open stuffing, to which shelves can be easily attached. The studs also serve as an excellent place for perforated hardboard. A 4 by 7 piece of this type of hardboard, equipped with special hooks, can be used effectively for hanging many small tools.

Handymen who work with large pieces of lumber and/or plywood can build a kind of hanging shelf from the garage ceiling for storing the material. And, as with a basement, a workshop usually has a concrete floor, with its natural advantage for large power tools.

ACCENT ON ECONOMY — A low-pitched roof plus a bow window, fence and full-width window box emphasize the wide look of this three-bedroom ranch. The house is designed for economy of maintenance and operating, and has plenty of roomy storage areas.

Length and width of the shell will be determined by the size of the packages that are used and the number of washday aids that good laundering requires. It's certainly long and wide enough to hold large boxes of one or two types of detergent and a family-sized package of modern chlorine bleach beads, since both of these are requirements for every batch of household wash.

Another long-step addition to laundry room efficiency is either shelf space or a corkboard to hold the instruction booklets that come with major appliances and the useful little leaflets about modern laundering methods. Space should be provided, preferably on a wall, for a sizeable stain-removal chart.

A file box to hold hangtags is another necessity. Make a file card for each garment that requires special handling in the wash and attach the hang-tag so that it can be consulted whenever there is a question as to the type of detergent, water temperature, etc.

FLOOR PLANS — Central hall and rear entrance vestibule provide convenient access to all parts of house. Note abundance of closets and storage areas.

Among the experts the Tile Council recommends that you seek out are the following:

1. An Architect. He can be invaluable in any major remodeling project, but particularly where structural changes are involved. He will advise as to the feasibility of the project; show you short cuts to save money; and recommend quality materials such as ceramic tile, which will increase the value of your home.

2. Mortgage Experts. Because they are engaged in such matters every day these men can advise you on the soundness of your remodeling plans and whether it is worth the investment.

3. Appraisers. They will evaluate your house as it now stands and tell you the increase in value, if any, that you can expect from remodeling.

4. Improvement Contractor. A reputable contractor can be most helpful in steering you away from many pitfalls in remodeling.

5. Ceramic Tile Contractor. If you plan to use ceramic tile extensively as a surfacing material, or are interested in learning about it, see your local tile contractor, for information about costs, colors, patterns and designs.

Two Factors Affect Cost of Electric Heat

Two factors affect the cost of operating the electric heating system—the construction and insulation of the house itself, and the local electric rates for heating. Generally the first requirement for any kind of electric heating is to reduce heat losses to the minimum. That calls for full insulation, weatherstripping, in addition to tight construction, and either storm windows or double-glazed windows and storm doors.

In short, it amounts to sealing up the structure against the normal infiltration of air seepage by which houses may be said to "breathe." So it becomes necessary in such houses, to provide for a direct fresh air intake under control, so the sealed-in air can be refreshed and changed as needed.

Another problem in some climates relate to the building up of high indoor humidity from activities and from the occupants themselves. This problem may be partially solved by the fresh air intake. An additional help is the use of tight vapor barriers with the insulation and for any crawl space. Outside drainage should have special attention.

Beyond these economy measures the cost of electric heating varies mainly with the power rates.

Must Prime Steel

Galvanized steel is painted most successfully when the proper primer is used. Highly recommended is a type known as zinc dust-zinc oxide paint, also called metallic zinc paint. If this cannot be obtained, use a primer which is described by its maker as being suitable for galvanized metal. The topcoat can be any paint suitable for the exposure.

Use That Space

Dormers in second floor bedrooms generally are head bumpers. Why not install sectional storage drawer cabinets to use space and remove temptation to walk too close? West coast hemlock makes a nice wood for this purpose.

Handy Walkways Are Simple to Lay

If the path from house or garage to garden or from the patio out across the yard is passable only during dry weather, do something about it.

This can be cured with addition of a little more sand to a walk's bed. After a time, grass will grow in tight around the path.

A dry path can be as inexpensive or costly, as simple or elaborate as you care to make it. Whatever material you use, the preparatory labor is the same. You still have to dig out the soil so that the paving material will lie flush with the ground around it. A path that cuts across the lawn should not get in the way of the lawnmower.

If drainage is relatively good and there's a little slope involved, you can use gravel. A gravel walkway around a flower bed will permit you to get close for working, will keep grass out of the flowers and will provide a strip upon which you can run the edge of the mower.

Use forms to keep the gravel from spilling out and grass from getting in. Use wood strips set on edge or corrugated metal or asbestos grass barriers slope.

Those are available at hardware and garden supply stores. Don't permit them to stick up—they'll be hazardous if they do, and they'll get in the way of the mower. If you use wood strips, make them in a wood preservative first. Plan on a four-inch layer of gravel.

The gravel path is generally a continuous one. Other paths can be laid out in the form of stepping-stones. Large flat stones, broken chunks of paving— even bricks can be used. Allow holes deep enough for the paving material and a two-inch layer of sand.

Patio blocks can be used in much the same way, if you can't make the investment.

And if you care to spend the time, you can make your own flagstones of concrete. Pour the concrete in a well-oiled form made of 2x4's. A sheet of paper, also oiled, should be placed beneath to prevent blocks from sticking to ground or pavement.

A simpler, less formal walk of concrete slabs can be made by scooping out holes along the path line and filling with concrete over a layer of stones.

Handsome walks have been made of log slices about four inches thick. These can be made chased, but if you know of someone who'll cut you a piece, you'll save quite a bit of money.

Redwood slabs can be purchased, but they are expensive. Ordinary wood can be made rot-proof with a good soaking in a wood preservative. Set the path slabs in holes partially filled with sand.

Paving materials may settle a

Plumbers Need to Know Troubles

When calling your plumbing contractor regarding service calls, you should be familiar with the terms used to describe the plumbing facilities. In the kitchen, the fixture for washing dishes is called a sink, while in the bathroom or powder room you wash your face and hands in a lavatory. Also, in the bathroom and powder room the toilet is termed as the water closet.

Your ability to describe the fixture where trouble has occurred will give your plumbing contractor an idea what tools he will need and what service is required. The end result is a more efficient job accomplished in a minimum of time.

Regardless of whether you are calling for service or other information make sure you contact a reputable plumbing contractor. The local association of plumbing contractors will be happy to give you a list of the competent contractors in your area. Keep the name and phone number of your contractor handy at all times.

Breech Climbed Up the Long Way

By BEN PHILLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

From buggies to railway equipment to taxis to buses and trucks to airplanes to automobiles and now back to airplanes.

For almost all of his 63 years Ernest Breech has lived transportation.

Thus it came as no surprise to his many friends when he was recently named board chairman of Trans World Airlines.

A dapper man with a meticulously trimmed reddish-brown mustache and boundless energy, Breech burst upon the Detroit scene in the mid-20s, rose rapidly through the upper ranks of General Motors and moved to Ford in 1946 as executive vice president at $200,000 per year.

STEPPED OUT

In the postwar years he rebuilt at his father's shop, helping install rims on a vital, serious challenger to the huge General Motors combine. Last July, calling his work well done, he stepped out as board chairman.

In January he relinquished his job as chairman of the financial committee at Ford and moved to Phoenix, severing his last direct automotive tie except for a Ford directorship for which he is a candidate for re-election on May 18.

But no one who knew him really believed he was ready for a sedentary retirement. Last December he became one of three trustees to vote the 78 percent interest in TWA formerly controlled by Howard Hughes through his Hughes Tool Co.

Breech, son of an Ozark blacksmith, was born Feb. 24, 1897 in Lebanon, Mo. His spare hours were spent with his brother Earl at their father's shop, helping install rims on a vital, serious challenger to the huge General Motors combine. Last July, calling his work well done, he stepped out as board chairman.

As a 12-year-old in knee breeches Ernest won the Lebanon High School declamation contest. He went on to Drury College at Springfield, Mo., on a scholarship but quit during his junior year.

At 20 he went to Chicago with a bankroll of $5 and found a bookkeeping job at $15 a week. After his first raise, to $18, he went home and married his childhood sweetheart, Thelma Bowden.

He went to night school in accounting, later won a gold medal for the highest score in Illinois on the certified public accountant examinations.

At 24 he became controller of a railway supply manufacturing firm. A year later the treasurer of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co. hired him on the spot after hearing him make a speech.

When Yellow Cab was taken over by General Motors, Breech went along to the GMC Truck and Coach Division in Pontiac and by the time he was 32 he was general assistant treasurer of GM.

At that time GM also owned Transcontinental & Western Airline, a predecessor to Trans World.

Breech became a director and engineer of the merger of the line with Eastern Airlines and Western Air Express into North American Aviation. He promptly became president and chairman of the new aviation firm.

HEADS ROLL

On his 63th birthday he was named president of Bendix Aviation Corp., then another GM subsidiary. Bendix made parts for both the automotive and aviation industries.

Under Breech, Bendix boomed from a $31-million-a-year business in 1938 to almost $1 billion in 1943. While trying to sell Bendix parts to Ford, Breech was offered a job by Henry Ford II.

Young Henry, not yet 29, had just been named president of the Ford empire. Breech was an ideal man to run it for him.

He brought over a team of GM executives, divided Ford into numerous operating divisions, similar to GM, and saw the company prosper on his diet of greater efficiency and lower costs.

Breech once summed up his business philosophy this way: "The key to success is a sound organization structure, staffed with capable management people who are given the right jobs to do and the proper tools of management with which to do them."

Beasts Roam at Will

Animals in South African Park Hazard to Visitors

WASHINGTON—A motorist with car trouble in Kruger National Park, South Africa, may get help from an elephant.

When one visitor's automobile stalled in the path of a herd, the leading animal gently pushed the car forward. The driver put the car in gear. It started, and he drove off.

Elephants and other large mammals roam the 4,000 square-mile park in the Union of South Africa's eastern Transvaal, the National Geographic Society says. A million beasts roam freely over the palm-dotted plains and dense thornbush of the world's largest game reserve.

Some animals roam too freely. They cross park boundaries at night to raid neighboring farms, but retreat before daybreak to the safety of their sanctuary. Work started recently on a 6-foot-high fence to keep straying animals in and poachers out. The barrier around the park's entire 800-mile perimeter will be one of the world's longest fences.

Even with the fence, animals in the mammoth open-air zoo will be less restricted than people. Visitors may drive the 1,200 miles of roadway, but cannot leave their cars except at specified points. The speed limit is 25 miles an hour, and lower speeds are recommended. A car racing around a bend might run into a pride of lions sunning on the road.

Lions often nap in the middle of park roads, placidly ignoring horn toots. Rangers advise motorists to approach the lions slowly but determinedly in low gear. When the bumper is a few yards away, the animals usually leave themselves up and play down at the side of the road.

The park lion has grown accustomed to automobiles and do not associate people in cars with danger.

Though peaceful in appearance, the ubiquitous animals represent a constant threat. One traveler

Wants U.N. Support

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed Friday that the U. N. General Assembly affirm that nations have the right "to freely carry out nationalization," expropriation and other measures for strengthening their sovereignty over their natural wealth. There was no mention of compensation.

A farm-raised mink pelt brings an average price of about $35.

California farmers are maintaining their position as leaders in cash receipts from farm marketings. Last year California, with receipts of more than 3 billion dollars out of the nation's total of 33 billion, showed a 6 per cent increase over 1958.

St. Lawrence Seaway Defies Prognosticators

TORONTO (AP)—To all intents and purposes, the experts have temporarily gone out of the predicting business as far as the St. Lawrence Seaway is concerned.

Before the waterway opened in 1959, they had worked out a set of estimates of the tonnage it would handle annually for the first 50 years of life.

The estimates were important because the seaway's toll structure was based on them.

In 1959, the estimates called for shipment of 25 million tons of cargo but only 20.5 million tons were moved. In 1960, when volume was supposed to increase to 29 million tons, it actually decreased to 20.279 million.

REEK REVISION GUIDE
Consequently, this year's original estimate of 33 million tons is no longer taken seriously.

Economists and businessmen are waiting for the actual 1961 figures in the hope that three years of operation will provide a sound basis for revised forecasts.

Unofficially, business and shipping circles anticipate an early-season traffic increase because of accumulated grain stores, followed by a decline because of the continuing slump in the United States' steel industry.

When the season opened, less than 22 million bushels of grain were stored in eastern elevators, which have a total licensed storage capacity of 110 million bushels.

Another 22.4 million bushels moved east in the first 10 days of navigation and lakehead shipping sources predicted a marked increase in the next few weeks.

Short-term prospects for iron ore are less promising. As the season began, the American steel industry, main customer for Labrador ore, had a 75 million-ton stockpile as a result of many months of light demand for its products.

COMPACT CARS EFFECT
Last year Labrador shipped 9.8 million tons compared with 13 million in 1957.

The extensive switch to production of compact cars has reduced the American automobile industry's demand for steel and has cut down another profitable source of seaway traffic by affecting the volume of European car imports.

Despite the two years in which it has offered a variety of opportunities to foreign shippers, the seaway continues to count most heavily on old Great Lakes mainstays, grain and iron ore.

At the lakehead, where 164 foreign ships and 1,261 domestic vessels called last year, officials look for as many or more this season.

Detroit to Traverse City Flights Asked by NCA

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Central Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for authority to operate daily nonstop-round-trip service between Detroit and Traverse City, Mich., each summer from June through September.

The nonstop flights would be in addition to the two daily flights currently operated between Escanaba and Detroit by way of Traverse City, Saginaw-Bay City and Midland.

$3 Library Hike Starts Monday

Fee for the Nonresident Cards to Be $5 Instead of Current $2

A $3 increase in the price of nonresident library cards will be effective in the Pontiac Public Library system Monday.

Phyllis Pope, city librarian, said the price would be upped from $2 to $5, bringing it to the level charged by most metropolitan area libraries.

She said rising costs of books and library services were factors behind the price increase.

There'll be a slight change Monday in the requirements for free library cards.

SHIFT IN POLICY

Miss Pope said they'll be issued to persons who live or own property within the city limits. This is a shift from the present policy of issuing cards to persons who own property or work within the city limits.

An exception in the non-resident rule applies to persons who possess a card at any of the North Oakland Library Project (NOLP) libraries.

Anyone with a card at either the Oxford, Clarkston, Ortonville, Holly, Highland or Milford libraries may also be issued a free card at the Pontiac Public Library, which is the center for the NOLP.

Will Aid Education

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The U. S. Steel Foundation said Friday it will contribute $2,750,000 for aid to education this year.

The American Federation of Labor was organized Nov. 15, 1881.

City Construction Permits Up to $688,538 in April

Commercial, industrial and of offices at the Fisher Body Division plant on Baldwin Avenue. The office remodeling, estimated at $158,600, was the biggest project of the month.

Permits were issued for 14 new homes in April with a total value of $97,500. This compares with 22 new homes in March with a value of $148,600. Five of last month's new homes were to be built on West Chicago Avenue, three on Arlene Street and the rest in scattered locations.

The city took out permits to wreck the brick office building at 113-121 Wayne Street for a parking lot. The city also received permits to wreck four urban renewal structures, at 254 S. Paddock St., 46 Park Place, 72-74 S. Parke St. and 50 Willard St.

All told, there were 90 building permits issued in April, compared with 84 in March.

Fires, Calls Decline Over 50 Pct. in April

There was less than half the total number of fires and calls in Waterford Township in April, with 61, than in March, with 140, according to Fire Chief Elmer Fangborn.

One of the main reasons for the drop was that in March there was a record high of 90 grass fires, compared to April's 31.

The fire department answered 56 telephone calls, and there were 46 building fires in April, compared to 129 during March.

Fires in automobiles were also down to four, compared to March's seven.

The fire department's estimate of fire loss for April this year was set at $13,250 against last year's $32,615 in April.

Izvestia Laments Styleless Dresses in Moscow Shops

MOSCOW (AP)—Dowdy dresses came under criticism from the Soviet press today.

"Spring is here," said the government newspaper Izvestia. "But in the shops there are no newly-styled cotton dresses and suits."

Izvestia complained that the stores are crammed with ready-made dresses that cost much to produce, but that no one wants to buy because they lack style.

Joins Brother in Jail in Stolen Property Charge

A Pontiac man joined his brother in the Oakland County Jail yesterday after he changed his plea to guilty to a charge of receiving property stolen in a March 30 burglary.

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum sentenced James E. Hendrix, 38, of 24 Western St., to 30 days in jail, the same sentence his brother Leon, 32, of 63 Chapman Ave., received earlier this week.

They were accused of receiving tools stolen in a break-in of Bell's Garage, 330 Wexsen St.

'Spaceman' Is Dead

DERBY, England (AP)—Herbert P. Kennedy, 23, a steelworker, was found dead Friday with a plastic bag over his head. A neighbor told police: "Herbert had read about the American astronaut and was playing at being a spaceman."

Michigan School Buses 7,000 to 1,800 in '46

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan has 7,000 school buses, compared with 1,800 in 1946, the State Highway Department states.

Mackie said consolidation of school districts was the major reason for the increase in the number of school buses.

The towers of San Francisco's famous Golden Gate Bridge each rise to a height of 746 feet.

Sacrifice Try Fails, So Boyer Hits Homer

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees, expected to blast down the walls, belted just one home run in their first crack at coxy Wright Field in Cleveland, but it kept them in a tie for the American League lead. And they got it only because Clete Boyer couldn't punt.

Boyer, coming to bat in the ninth inning with the tying run on first base, twice fouled off at a sacrifice bunt, and 5-2 defeat by Washington, Baltimore sent a 350-foot shot over the more-Kansas City was rained out.

Boyer drove in three runs for the Yankees, who were held to one hit and an unearned run for six innings by Ron Moeller. A single by Elton Howard, Boyer's double and a sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Deron Johnson gave New York two runs in the seventh for a 3-3 tie, but the Angels were ahead again in the same inning on singles by Gene Leek and ex-Yankee Fritz Brickett.

That's what it stood until the ninth, when losing reliever Tex Clevenger (2-1) walked Roger Maris and then gave up the homer. Danny McDevitt (1-1) won it in relief.

While the Yankees were held to five hits—and Mickey Mantle's hitting streak was halted at 16 games—the Angels managed six, one a two-run homer by K'n Aspromonte off starter Ralph Terry. It was the Angels' 15th at Wright Field, which has yielded a total of 26 in nine games.

Harry Bright cracked a two-run homer in the second inning for Washington and the Senators then beat Cleveland southpaw Johnny Antonelli (6-3) with two more in the third. Willie Tasby's single drove in the clincher. Antonelli, acquired from San Francisco in a winter deal, now is 0-8 as a starter since last May 31 and hasn't finished any of his last 11 starts. Ed Hogaugh, 28, a right-hander, gained his first major league victory with a five-hitter—one a doubleplay that gave Johnny Temple a 13-game hit streak.

The Twins picked up only their second victory in eight games and they got it the easy way. They scored once in the second off Tom Brewer (2-2) on three walks and a doubleplay, then scored the run Jack Krackit (2-1) needed for his second victory on Reno Bertolotti's infield hit, a wild pitch and an error in the third.

NEW YORK — Los Angeles' John Henry Johnson (2-1) pitched a 9-0 victory over the Yankees in the first game of a doubleheader at Yankee Stadium. Johnson, 28, a right-hander, gained his first major league victory with a five-hitter—one a doubleplay that gave Johnny Temple a 13-game hit streak.

They Build Chair for Old Sidewalk Superintendent

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Morning after morning for months, rain or shine, an elderly man put a loaf of bread under his arm and walked 14 blocks to watch a construction project.

He smiled but spoke to no one because he didn't know their language. Workmen on the project noticed the old man in the gray mustache as he watched them.

"Let's build him a chair," one suggested.

They did, and now Thomas Stavrou, nearing 90, will watch the completion of his church, the Sts. Thomas and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, in comfort.

Last Hope Fade for Adding Funds to MSUO Budget

Hopes of increasing Michigan State University Oakland's skimpy budget were jolted anew in Lansing yesterday when the House turned its back on all attempts to increase state spending.

Meanwhile, a group of GOP moderates in the Senate, led by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts of Oakland County, made an unsuccessful attempt for a compromise in the battle of the budget.

Teen Confesses Rape-Slaying

Admits Killing Girl, 15, in Allegan County; Is Jailed Near Stephens

United Press International

ALLEGAN (UPI) — A 17-year-old farm hand, already under arrest for one sex offense, today faced a murder charge for the rape-slaying of Geraldine Williams, 15.

Donald Jay Moon, 19, admitted the crime last night after almost 48 hours of intensive questioning by officers of the state police post at Paw Paw.

The confession gave Allegan County authorities their second confession of the week to killings involving teenage slayers and their girl victims.

James Scott Stephens, 36, was arrested in Kodak, S.D., Wednesday and admitted that he shot Carol Kee, 11, and Margaret Chambers, 12, at point blank range in nearby Macatawa Park last Saturday.

Authorities are returning Stephens to a cell in the old and tiny Allegan County jail only a few steps away from Moon's. They were expected to arrive tonight.

Moon, who worked on a farm only five miles away from the rural South Haven home of the Williams girl, said he had seen his victim several times prior to the Jan. 11 killing, but did not know her.

Congress Eager to Spend on Space

JFK Cautions U.S. It Mustn't Relax on Feat

'We Have Long Way to Go in Field of Space' Despite Success

WASHINGTON (AP)

President Kennedy says the United States still has far to go and must not relax on pride over its first human flight into space.

While rejoicing with the country at Shepard's safe journey into the skies over the Atlantic, Kennedy reminded his news conference Friday that "We have a long way to go in the field of space."

"We are behind. But we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

He said he would seek more funds from Congress, where a House Committee already has recommended $126.4 million more than the administration originally sought for space projects.

He did not say how much he would ask at this time nor indicate how it should be used.

Kennedy emphasized that the United States would share its findings with other scientists in the world community and with "people who share our view that the probe into space should be peaceful, and should be for the common good."

He nudged the Soviet Union to do the same. So far, he said, the Soviets have failed to come across with any information acquired from MAJ. Yuri Gagarin's orbit of the globe last month.

Facing a crowd of 388 reporters for more than a half-hour, he dealt with these questions:

Southeast Asia — The United States, he said, is considering whether to send troops to South Viet Nam. A decision on exactly what help will be furnished, this neighbor of Laos awaits consultation with the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Salute Mrs. Evans With 2-Hour Banquet

By PETE LOCHILLER

For the gracious lady who forgot and left her orchid corsage on the kitchen table at home there was a new one of white irises with the heartfelt tribute of friends at Devon Gables Inn last night.

"This is one of the nicest things that ever happened to me—such a pleasure—and I thank you so much for remembering me," retiring City Clerk Ada R. Evans told a gathering of more than 40 persons, two weeks before she leaves her 13-year post at Pontiac City Hall.

City Clerks Irene E. Hanley of Birmingham and Gertrude Cadger of Clawson provided the second corsage in the deft manner in which they had arranged for municipal clerks from Oakland County and Michigan salute silver-haired Mrs. Evans and her husband Russell.

They plan to leave their Lake Michigan home later this month for a new one in Myrtle Beach, N.C.

"You're all welcome, please drop in," said the honored smiling guest at the end of the two-hour banquet.

For the toastmaster of the evening, Stanley Kilpatrick, who had driven 250 miles with Mrs. Kilpatrick from Grand Rapids where he is the city clerk, there was a kiss from Mrs. Evans as thanks.

Frank Niederstadt, city clerk in Saginaw, presented the honored couple, both 61½ enthusiasts, with a big package of phonograph records as an "au revoir" from long-time friends.

Clarence Ladd, city clerk of Wayne, gave the invocation beginning the banquet honoring the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Monday for the 37-year-old Navy officer.

There was even some talk of the nation's highest honor — the Medal of Honor.

Everywhere in the capital there was pride and joy in Shepard's flight in the spacecraft Freedom 7. He was rocketed 115 miles into space and splashed into the Atlantic 302 miles below Cape Canaveral, Fla.

And while the President and the capital prepared a welcome for the spaceman, Congress also had plans.

The success eased the frustration of a long series of space disappointments.

Shepard will remain sequestered with doctors on Grand Bahama Island until Monday, when he flies to Washington. Then a grateful nation begins to shower honors on its first spaceman.

Everyone from President Kennedy on down was trying to get into the act, all across the nation.

N. Y. WANTS HIM

New York wanted Shepard for a ticker tape parade and his home state of New Hampshire planned a statewide celebration.

But Washington gets the first opportunity, and it doesn't plan to miss its chance.

Shepard is scheduled to arrive Andrews Air Force Base out of the Pentagon at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

He will be met by the base commander, Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, and will be taken to the White House.

Also accompanying Shepard on the flight to the capital will be the six other astronauts, some of whom will be chosen for future space flights.

The group will fly by helicopter from Andrews to the White House where President Kennedy will congratulate Shepard in a ceremony on the South Lawn. The festivities will be televised and broadcast nationally.

After the public ceremony, Kennedy will extend a private greeting to Shepard in the White House.

Shepard then goes to the State Department auditorium where he will hold his first full dress news conference since making his historic flight.

The setting for the news conference—which also will be carried live by network TV and radio—will be the same one used by the President for his own news conferences.

And while the President and the capital prepared a welcome for the spaceman, Congress also had plans.

Both Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Rep. Steven B. Dymally, R-N.Y., said they would ask Congress to give Shepard the Medal of Honor.

Normally awarded for valor in battle, it has been given only twice for exploits other than in combat.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner says New York wants to give Shepard its traditional welcome for heroes, a ticker tape parade. He invited the spaceman to set the date.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and an influential member of both the space group and appropriations committee, said Congress stood ready to support fully a program that would give the United States preeminence.

"A feeling of relief and a collective 'well done' arose from the hearts and minds of 180 million Americans with the news of Cmdr. Shepard's return from a successful visit to outer space," Russell said.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Appropriations Committee, a d chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said he believed Congress would provide additional funds "within reason" to speed the day when the U.S. sends a man into orbit.

And while the President and the capital prepared a welcome for the spaceman, Congress also had plans.

Both Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Rep. Steven B. Dymally, R-N.Y., said they would ask Congress to give Shepard the Medal of Honor.

Normally awarded for valor in battle, it has been given only twice for exploits other than in combat.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner says New York wants to give Shepard its traditional welcome for heroes, a ticker tape parade. He invited the spaceman to set the date.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and an influential member of both the space group and appropriations committee, said Congress stood ready to support fully a program that would give the United States preeminence.

"A feeling of relief and a collective 'well done' arose from the hearts and minds of 180 million Americans with the news of Cmdr. Shepard's return from a successful visit to outer space," Russell said.

GOP Ahead 9-2 on Con-Con Bids

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
With the deadline exactly a month away, Republican county candidates for this fall's constitutional convention have the jump on their Democratic counterparts.

Nine Republicans have announced to date, while but two Democrats have made their intentions known.

This doesn't mean Democrats aren't going to make a concerted effort to get their candidates for this fall's constitutional convention to the jump on their Democratic counterparts.

Rate Hike OK'd for Consumers

520,000 Natural Gas Customers Will Pay More Soon

LANSING (AP)—Rates for Consumers Power Co.'s 520,000 natural gas customers are going up $7.55, 000 a year.

The public service commission Friday said that it had approved the increase, to take effect after the company has worked out a new rate schedule and had it approved by the commission.

The new schedule probably will be set by the end of this week, said George E. Hill, commission chairman. Until then, he said, the average increase for residential customers cannot be determined.

Hill said more than half the increase will be met by raising the minimum monthly charge to customers from $1.40 to $1.80 and the minimum space heating rate from $1.20 to $2.

ASKED $1.5 MILLION
The utility, citing higher taxes and increased costs of gas, labor and materials, had petitioned for a $1.5-million rate boost.

It asked for a net 7.5 per cent increase on its investment. The increase allows a 6.54 per cent rate.

Consumers serves 30 counties in Southern Michigan.

The unanimous decision by the three-member commission marked Hill's last act as commissioner. He will start Monday as U.S. attorney for the Western Michigan District, working in Grand Rapids.

Gov. Swainson, accepting the resignation Friday, named John E. Torney of Lansing as acting chairman.

Worker Hurt in Tumble From Highway Bridge

A construction worker apparently escaped serious injury yesterday when he tumbled from a state highway bridge being built over Clarkston Road near Clarkston for the future Chrysler expressway.

Donald Mathis, 31, of Detroit, was reported to be in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital, after he lost his balance while working on the bridge and fell 20 feet to the ground. He brushed a scaffold on his way down, breaking his fall.

He suffered an injury to his high arm which was admitted to the hospital for observation.

Red-Faced City Will Give Back Shop's License

Embarrassed city officials said they were ready and willing to renew the license issued to Pontiac Rease Shop, 12 N. Cass Ave.

City Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. told City Clerk Ada E. Evans he had the wrong business place in mind when he issued Tuesday that the renewal be denied until used refrigerators were removed from the front lawn.

Mrs. Evans said a check by police showed there weren't any refrigerators in front of 12 N. Cass Ave., nor anyone on the street.

Taylor, who said he had noticed in the past that used refrigerators were on display on North Cass Avenue, was worried last Tuesday that the city might lose the door and accidentally suffocate.

Construction Worker Saved From Cave-In

A construction worker who was rescued by fellow workers when a 12-foot-deep ditch caved in on him yesterday in Bloomfield Township was reported in fair condition today.

Leo Morelli, 24, of Detroit, suffered a crushed foot in the mishap. A half-dozen fellow workers who witnessed the cave-in dug feverishly to extricate Morelli. They succeeded just seconds before he would have been buried completely by the soil of the ditch he had been digging.

Employees of the Oak Park Excavating Co. in Oak Park were digging a sewer ditch alongside Ford Circle in the township.

785,000 File for SUB Pay

Nearly Half of Claims for New Aid Reported From Six States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department reports about 785,000 unemployed workers have filed claims for extra unemployment compensation benefits during the first three weeks of the new government program.

Under a new law, idle workers are entitled to up to 13 additional weeks of benefits after their regular unemployment payments run out.

Claims filed in six states have accounted for nearly half of the claims filed through the week ended April 29. They are California with 80,300, Michigan 64,100, Pennsylvania 62,000, Ohio 61,000, New York 56,400 and Illinois 40,900.

School Conclave Opposes Federal Aid to Education

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The National School Boards Association was on record today opposing further extension of federal aid to education until the school boards of America "express the need for such funds."

A resolution adopted at the 21st annual convention of the association, which represents 90 per cent of the nation's 150,000 school districts, marked its first stand on the controversial issue of federal aid for public education.

The resolution was adopted after delegates had defeated soundly a previous resolution supporting the aid.

Ym Expansion Drive Climbs to $420,300

New reports totaling $20,100 this week have boosted the amount received in the YMCA expansion program campaign to $420,300, Robert M. Critchfield, general chairman, announced today.

Commenting on progress of the campaign, Critchfield pointed out that many of the larger potential contributors are awaiting decisions which must be made in out-of-town hope offices.

He added that there are a large number of prospects, including professional people, local business men and individuals, whose contributions are also unreported.

Critchfield said that with completion of the scheduled campaign, the $420,000 goal would only be reached if all prospects are contacted.

"We cannot leave any of our prospects unsolicited in a community this size," he warned.

Critchfield called on solicitors in all divisions to complete their assignments during the coming week and again stressed the convenience of allowance of four tax years for payment of all gifts.

He announced that a treasury gift had been received from the Order of the Eastern Star No. 28.

Critchfield also announced receipt of two memorial gifts—the

Instant Twister Kills 13, Hurts 59

Two Oklahoma Towns Devastated by Tornado; Family Reunion Ruined

POTEAU, Okla. (AP)—A tornado that didn't last 10 seconds killed 13 persons and injured 59 late Friday as it tore through two tiny towns in eastern Oklahoma.

A family reunion turned into a tale of horror when 13 died or were hurt as the twister smashed Reichert. Then it tore away half of Howe, a community of 500.

Elevated in Howe, four at Reichert.

It may have ripped a wing off a light plane. A young boy said he saw this happen and said he saw smoke rising from the forest on Windy Mountain after it crashed.

The death toll may go higher. So could the number of injuries. Both lists fluctuated Friday night, with victims taken to a half-dozen nearby cities.

"It didn't last 10 seconds," said Charles Lewman.

But in those 10 seconds the big, happy reunion turned into a nightmare. Four members of the family were killed or injured, including two children.

The storm was the worst of many that blanketed most of Oklahoma for the second straight day. It came on the first anniversary of a tornado that killed 13 and injured more than 100 at Wilburton, just 40 miles to the west.

Twisters struck in neighboring Arkansas, a few miles away. One person was killed near Dover and eight injured near Lake Hamilton.

There was little warning as the twister smashed out of torrential rain.

Karpolez was arrested by police after cashing the check at the Broadway Market, 108 Auburn Ave., Thursday.

He had passed three other checks for about the same amount in the area, according to police.

The checks were drawn on the account of a Livonia firm which has been defunct since 1958.

Arrested in Detroit after being implicated by Karpolez, Zietek was arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday.

Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan set bond on the defendants at $7,500 each. They are in the Oakland County Jail.

A third person named in the warrant is in police custody in Detroit on a similar charge, police said.

About 700 languages and dialects are spoken in Africa.

Second Saturday Session Called in Lassiter Case

DETROIT (AP)—A second Saturday session was called today in the first-degree murder and conspiracy trial of Mrs. Nelle Lassiter of 1939 Beverly Road, Beverly Hills, and Gordon Watson in the 1959 slaying of her husband Parvin, a Royal Oak auto dealer.

Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid indicated there would be no interruption to watch the Kentucky Derby on television, as suggested Friday by Watson's attorney, Albert Summer.

Several jurors spoke up, saying: "We'd rather watch." The panel of 11 women and three men is locked up each night in a downtown hotel and the state has called only the 18th of some 60 witnesses it intends to use.

Herbert A. Jones, 28-year-old ex-convict and one of the state's chief prosecutors, admitted that Lassiter Friday had been out drinking the night before with a state police captain, Calvin Lepien. The case against Watson, 45, and Mrs. Lassiter, 38, was built largely by state police.

Capt. Howard Whaley of state police told a reporter later that he had admitted testifying for his own records and pointed out he draws a witness fee.

Family Night Scheduled at Congregational Church

BIRMINGHAM—A family night is scheduled Thursday by the Congregational Church of Birmingham in observance of National Family Life Week, May 7-14.

Activities in which the entire family can participate are planned for the 6:30 p.m. program, including a songfest and recreational events.

A worship service conducted by Dr. and Mrs. Russell Burroughs and daughters Christine and Roslyn of 2161 Auburn Road will climax the program.

Educational and devotional material pointing out the importance of the family in development of Christian personality has been prepared by the family life committee of the church's board of Christian education and will be mailed next week to all families of the church.

WORSHIP PROGRAM
A program of worship, "The Festival of the Christian Home," will be conducted May 14 by the Rev. Mervin M. Bales.

Rev. Bales will preach at both services using the 1961 stewardship theme for his sermon title, "To Whom Much is Given."

The festival will feature the combined choir in the anthem "Children of the Heavenly Father" in the sanctuary choir in the Ludika-Benediction and pilgrim choir singing "O Bless the House What Ever Befall."

The entire music program is under the direction of Mrs. Paul Nicely, minister of music.

Detroit area alumnae of St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, will present a benefit luncheon-fair Saturday at 1 p.m. May 13 at Birmingham Country Club.

General chairman is Mrs. Frank X. Norton of Southfield. Mrs. John Chisham is fashion coordinator. Mrs. Robert J. Koch of Birmingham is supervising the alumnae luncheon committee.

Proceeds will go to the St. Mary's College of Notre Dame.

Nixon Punches at Cuban Flop

Cuts Political Silence With Charge Kennedy Mishandled Situation

CHICAGO (AP)—Richard M. Nixon didn't wait long to yank off his gloves and get down to political bare knuckles.

The Republican former vice president broke the silence he has kept since the election, and repeatedly he hammered on this theme:

"There was little warning as the twister smashed out of torrential rain."

Now come the domestic issues, although he doubtless will continue to bring up Cuba in each of his talks.

Commission Heads for Laos

INTERNATIONAL GROUP TO SUPERVISE CEASE FIRE IN TROUBLED COUNTRY

By HENRY BRADSHAW
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The International Commission to Supervise the Cease-Fire in Laos announced today it will leave for the Southeast Asian kingdom Sunday.

It enough airplanes can be located, officials said, the commission will take along military guards. Urgent calls for planes went out to the Indian and British governments and commercial airlines.

In Laos, royal army officers and pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebel guerrillas met a second time in Hanoi for a truce agreement, but again failed to agree on a site for talks by permanent delegations.

The rebels proposed the meeting after a negotiating session Friday failed to produce agreement on any major issues.

The control commission, made up of India, France and Canada, has charged with clearing the way for international negotiations on Laos by insuring that fighting does not continue.

The commission received its orders to go to Laos from Britain and the Soviet Union in a meeting at the Indian Ministry of Defense early today. Samar Sen of India is commission chairman.

Look Closely at Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A conference called by Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., to give officials a close look at federal programs and projects available to Michigan municipalities was attended Friday by 88 mayors and city officials.

City Manager Walter K. Willman and Mayor Philip E. Rowston represented Pontiac.

Participants in the all-day conference of city officials and federal agency spokesmen appeared to regard series of lectures and individual interviews as valuable.

"I don't know that we got anything to put in the cash register," Mayor Charles Hobbie of Flint remarked, "but we got a great deal of food for thought."

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Hart said he thought the conference had been helpful. "But the worst is in the hands of the people," he said.

"I am certain that the federal agency representatives who have been meeting here with the mayors understand better the needs, the complaints and the hopes of those who are on the receiving end of federal agency action. That certainly is desirable."

Spokesmen for a dozen federal departments and agencies explained various federal programs and aids available to cities, and answered specific questions on individual problems.

Hart also asked mayors and city representatives to list any municipal public works projects they might be able to start within a short time.

He said this information would be valuable in considering pending proposals to give federal grants amounting to 45 per cent of project costs for such state and local projects.

Tax Cut Eyed for Next Year

But Dillon Careful to Avoid Commitments in Talking of Incentives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury is considering an income tax cut for next year. This was indicated Friday by Secretary Douglas Dillon, although he carefully avoided making any commitments about future tax policy.

Questioned by the House Ways and Means Committee on present and future plans, Dillon remarked with apparent approval: "There is 'one theory the income tax, especially, should be somewhat lower. The idea is that a tax reduction would be an incentive to higher (economic) activity.'"

When questioned about a step-by-step reduction, Dillon said it is under study but that he doesn't know what his department will recommend. President Kennedy has told

Congress he is ordering a review of the possibility of a general tax revision recommendation next year.

What is Horsepower?

* We have all heard of horsepower. One of the chief sales points of new automobiles is the constantly increasing power under the hood. Modern appliances are also classified by the horsepower of their motors.

The horse is used today to define energy because, years ago, it was the principal source of power. One unit of energy is the amount of work a horse can do in a specific length of time.

The word "horsepower" has come to mean something else besides energy, too. It symbolizes those who work as a team. Before anything can be accomplished, people have to cooperate with each other. As soon as one person tries to accomplish more—or less—than he is supposed to, the result is confusion. Just as a team of horses must pull together to move a wagon, so men must pull together to get work done.

This is especially true when it comes to building or remodeling a home. From the planning stages to the finished job, everyone must function as a part of the team. In this way, the building or remodeling of your home is completed with a minimum of confusion and a maximum saving of dollars.

We, the members of your Council for Better Living, are such a team. We want to demonstrate how we can help you plan the building or remodeling of your home for better living in the future. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Barnhart by Monday. There is no charge for the dinner but a free-will offering will be taken.

Congregation to Cleanup at Church of the Advent

The Episcopal Church of the Advent on Middlebelt Road just north of West Long Lake Road will have a "suburban style" celebration of Rogation Sunday tomorrow.

In ancient times Rogation Sunday was the time to pray for a good season and harvest, timed to fall at the planting season.

Since the church does not plant crops, the day will be used to make the church and grounds look its shining best.

The congregation will attend short services dressed in work clothes, then work on a general cleanup of the building and property.

Everyone is asked to bring a picnic lunch for the family. Beverages will be provided. Arrangements will be provided for children to participate if old enough; and for their care if too young.

The program will be under the direction of Glenn Heathman, chairman of buildings and grounds.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at the 8 a. m. service.

'Sin Question,' Sermon Topic

"The Sin Question" will be the theme of Rev. Theodore R. Allebach's sermon at 10 a.m. Sunday at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

The Pioneer Youth group subject at 5:45 p.m. will be "Popular Pointers." The Builders Group at the same hour will discuss "Among the Untouchables."

Several church leaders will have charge of the Tuesday-evening service at Pontiac Rescue Mission. Regular prayer meetings are scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday and 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Rev. Lenworth Miner to Baptize Candidates

Rev. Lenworth R. Miner will baptize eight candidates at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at Macedonia Baptist Church.

The Missionaries Quartet will present a musical program at 3:30 p.m. Sponsoring the afternoon affair is the Holder Group with John Owens, president. Proceeds will benefit the expansion and improvement fund.

St. Anne de Beaupre, Roman Catholic pilgrimage near Quebec City, was first settled about 1657.

Daytime Sleepers Need Dark, Cool, Quiet Room

The time may not be far off when signs like "Quiet Please, Daytime Sleeping Zone" may be put up in just about any neighborhood. Along with several million night workers who do their sleeping when the sun shines, there are even larger number of youngsters who nap during the day. And, added to this total, are an indeterminate number of housewives who try to get in an extra "forty winks" after seeing the family off in the morning.

Although you can't stop people

from making noise during the day, there are some steps that can be taken to insure better sleeping conditions. Arthur Pearson, home specialist, points out:

First, Pearson advises making sure that the rooms used for sleeping is made completely dark. This is now possible with custom-fitted Venetian blinds that are six times more effective than conventional blinds in keeping out daylight. Such Venetians literally turn day into night.

Next, the specialist says, pick a room for sleeping that does not face the street and is as far as possible from the playground, TV set and other indoor noisemaking areas.

During the summer, it is also important that the daytime sleeping quarters be as cool as possible. A light colored aluminum awning to fend off the sun's rays can increase sleeping comfort considerably.

Finally, Pearson says, if you are buying a new home or remodeling an existing one, consider the installation of soundproofing materials in walls and ceilings. This will help keep out many of the harsh noises that lead to unhappy awakenings.

BRAND NEW—The "complete line of fluorescent lamps" now includes a new shape in the form of a thin, square panel. Held here by model Sally Cummins in front of a display of a more familiar group of lamps, the new light source compresses a five-foot-long arc into a one-square-foot area.

The waffle pattern of the lamp face is attractive either lighted or unlighted, and lends itself to the application of louvers to shield the light source. General Electric describes the lamp as one of the most significant product innovations since it introduced the fluorescent lamp in 1938.

Mahogany for Future

Modern silviculture practiced in British Honduras and other Central American and African operations for the past 30 or 40 years has been so successful in developing a program of regeneration that we can count on a steady flow of high quality mahogany logs to meet all foreseeable future requirements.

To clean leather articles, rub equal parts of vinegar and linseed oil into the leather and polish with a dry, soft cloth.

Include Furniture Repair in Spring Cleaning Job

When spring zephyrs blow and the busy homemaker turns her thoughts to the annual rite of housecleaning, her husband or an older son is usually reminded that a long delayed "major project" should now be tackled.

If modern methods and extreme care are used, says the 20th edition of Seng Furniture Facts published by The Seng Company, Chicago and Los Angeles, even an amateur can do a creditable job of bringing furniture pieces back to life.

Excerpts from this handbook, presented below, show the proper steps to take when working on a number of furniture repair jobs that are likely to crop up at this time of the year:

(DO THIS OUTDOORS!)

Improving Sticky Leather: Wash surface twice with gasoline and allow to dry. Mix an ounce of lacquer and lacquer thinner on the leather. If sprayer is not available use a camel's hair brush and be sure not to repeat strokes. Leave the article in a dust-proof room until it is thoroughly dry.

Restoring Varnished Surfaces: A varnished finish turned white by the action of water or hot dishes can be quickly brought back to its original luster. Rub lightly with a piece of flannel dampened in spirits of camphor or essence of peppermint. After a few moments, apply a good wax furniture polish. Since the varnish is temporarily softened, rubbing must be postponed until it has dried.

Eliminating White Spots on Wax Finishes: These usually result from scratches that may be removed by (1) sponging with turpentine and (2) applying fresh wax as soon as the turpentine fumes have evaporated.

Deals in Furniture: Wet the affected part with warm water. Fold a piece of brown kraft paper five or six times, soak the paper in warm water, and lay it on the dent. Apply a warm (not hot) iron until the moisture evaporates. If the bruises are not gone repeat the process. If the surface is not broken the dent will disappear. Be sure to re-polish the area.

Scratches on Furniture: Shallow scratches on dark finished furniture can often be hidden by touching up with iodine and then polishing. But deep scratches require filling. Remove all loose splinters. Then brush stain—be sure it's lighter than surrounding wood—with a fine brush. Fill the scratch with white shellac but do not permit shellac to overlap the edges of the scratch.

You Can Paint on Vinyl If You'll Prime First

Painting vinyl wall coverings when you become tired of the old color is easy if proper methods are used. Smooth vinyl without a design should get a first-coat of alkyd flat wall paint, this to be followed by a latex or an alkyd as your inclination dictates. A printed vinyl must be given a first coat of latex primer-sealer. The second coat, again, can be a latex or an alkyd. The primer for textured vinyl fabric is an oil-primer sealer and the topcoat is an alkyd paint or enamel.

Double Corner Sink is Ideal for Small Kitchen

A stainless steel corner sink with two contour bowls is an excellent choice for a small kitchen. The right-angled placement of the "wells" saves valuable space, and provides counter surfaces on both sides as well as in the rear.

Wonderful for either left or right-handed homemakers, this compact twin sink permits sitting in one bowl, and then rinsing conveniently in the other.
