GM in Canada Faces Layoffs Due to Strikes

Lack of Parts Hitting 10,000 as U.S. Disputes Continue Locally

DETROIT (AP)—The push to settle more General Motors local U.S. strikes went on today with a big layoff in Canada as a prod.

A shortage of auto parts because of GM's strikes in this country is leading to a layoff of 10,000 of the company's production workers in Canada by the end of the week.

Approximately 75,000 men, or less than a fourth of GM's national complement, are back to work. GM's total normal employment is 275,000 hourly paid employes.

Thirty-two of GM's 126 plants were in operation after a few more recent local-issue settlements. The strikes date back to Oct. 2 settlement with the United Auto Workers on a national contract.

GM's Canadian officials met yesterday with the UAW at Oshawa, Ont., the center of the company's operations in Canada.

Both American Motors and Chrysler continued contract negotiations in Detroit with the UAW, the latter with regard to its 8,000 salaried engineers and office workers.

Approximately 85,000 men, or less than a third of GM's national United Auto Workers force, were back to work. GM's normal UAW employment totals 275,000.

Forty-two union bargaining units have settled local-issue strikes or have gone back to work pending settlement. They are scattered among some 35 of GM's 126 UAW-represented plants.

Local-issue strikes, which at one time had all GM plants down, date back to a 12-hour walkout Oct. 2 that preceded a UAW-GM master contract. The UAW advised locals not to go back until local disputes were settled.

Latest to settle were 3,500 at GM's Detroit Technical Center, which has eight UAW units; 3,100 at Milwuakee's AC Sparkplug Plant, and 2,200 at the Buick-Oldsmobile - Pontiac Assembly Plant in Wilmington, Del. The latter's union is voting on ratification today. Wilmington's is the first assembly plant to settle and probably will be GM's first back into production of 1959 automobiles.

Workers at a third among GM's six plants represented by the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) reached a settlement on local issues last night. It is a Delco-Remy plant employing 500 at New Brunswick, N. J.

Stengel Signs With Yankees

No salary figures were announced, but it was believed Stengel, 68, would receive between $75,000 and $80,000 for each of the next two years.

Urges Compulsory Voting to Turn Tide of Apathy

Numerous reasons have been given for the sparse voter registration and election turnouts in Pontiac and throughout the state, but few effective means have been discovered to find a solution.

Recent registration figures for the City of Pontiac have prompted Arthur J. Law, Democratic candidate for state representative from the city, to come up with what he believes might be the answer.

"Why not adopt a system of compulsory voting like that in Australia," Law suggested.

"Since so many people have sold themselves short of this great American privilege of voting, I think its about time something be done correctively to those who do not exercise this privilege," the former Pontiac mayor and city commissioner said.

Australians are fined if they are physically and mentally capable to vote and don't.

But in this country it's common for many a non-voter to shrug off his or her failure to cast a ballot with the hackneyed saying, "Oh, well, my one vote wouldn't make any difference anyway."

Although Law calls his suggestion a "drastic" step, he believes all other remedies have failed and that this might be an answer. He said he didn't believe the Australian system of "vote-or-befined" is likened to a dictatorship.

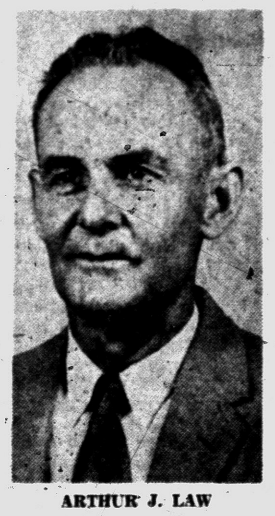

"It's as much a person's duty to vote as it is to serve the country in case of war," reminded the 52-year-old Pontiac grocery store owner.

What can be done until such a system might become a reality, Law was asked?

"An intensive education program on the part of newspapers and schools to stress the importance of the American's right to vote is the answer now," was the reply.

Lowering the voting age to 18 years is not the answer, Law added. Nor would it help to extend election day to more than one day.

ARTHUR J. LAW

Law agreed with many that apathy and an unawareness of what it is like to be deprived of the voting privilege are the major factors for the smaller turnouts on election days.

He gave credit to many organizations, such as the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce and League of Women Voters, who spend time in "get-out-the vote" campaigns. But in most cases the results do not reflect the amount of work which goes into such drives, Law asserted.

"I, like many, am at a complete loss why any physically and mentally capable voter should have to be persuaded and hauled to the voting booth," Law remarked.

★ ★ ★

Law said he favored making registration as convenient as possible, such as the booth in downtown Pontiac and often-suggested door-to-door registration.

Detective Tells How Bet Ring Was Cracked

Racing Forms Gave State Police Agents Tip on Activities

While racing forms by themselves are innocent enough, their presence encouraged agents into daring acts during the search for evidence against the ring, it was disclosed in Municipal Court yesterday.

On the stand was Det. Stephen Galat, testifying against five persons accused of conspiring to operate the ring in violation of state gambling laws.

The five, being examined before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum are LaRue E. Gullett, 41, former deputy city treasurer, and his wife, Gladys, 35, both of 301 Dick Ave.; Basil W. Burke, 59, of 29 Salmer Ave., described by State Police as the ring leader; Charles D. Apley, 44, of the same address, and James Pruzor, 54, of 4 S. Saginaw St.

Gullett is accused of keeping the ring's books; Apley and Pruzor are charged with gathering bets.

Galat, a member of the State Police rackets squad, was field commander for the undercover work and helped lead the Aug. 29 raids that authorities say smashed the ring's activities.

Galat testified that he secretly followed Burke, Pruzor and Apley and on different occasions at the beginning of the investigation noticed they carried racing forms.

Burke habitually carried what appeared to be a racing form from his Pontiac apartment to the apartment house at 3292 Auburn Rd. in Auburn Heights, where the ring's activities were allegedly centered, Galat said.

It also became apparent, Galat continued, that Apley picked up two racing forms at a downtown Pontiac newsstand in the mornings, delivered one to Burke's apartment and kept the other for himself.

Apley and Pruzor frequented the same Pontiac restaurant in the mornings, and both were seen carrying racing forms, the detective went on, consulting a 107-page sheaf of notes compiled by himself and two other detectives as-

Indian Summer Due to Stay This Week

Warm, hazy days of Indian summer will continue throughout the week, partly cloudy with little or no precipitation.

Temperatures will average five to ten degrees above the normal high of 62 and normal low of 43. According to the U.S. Weather Bureau, the period will be warm except for Friday which will be slightly cooler but Saturday will be warm again. Tonight's low will be near 56; the high tomorrow 78.

The mercury dropped from a high of 80 yesterday afternoon to a mild 56 in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. reading was 80.

GM Motorama Ready for Opening

Top Billing for Firebird

By DAVID J. WILKIE

NEW YORK (AP) — An automobile without steering wheel, brake pedal or foot accelerator, but with nearly everything else that could be crowded into its mechanism, will go on public display here starting tomorrow.

The lavish presentation, staged mainly in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, has "Imagination in Motion," as its theme. It will run here from Oct. 16 through Oct. 22. Its only other showing will be at Boston starting Nov. 8.

GM's several car divisions have brought 26 of their different 1959 models for display at the show. Besides these approximately 50 non-automotive exhibits or displays other than automobiles will be shown.

But General Motors' car of some distant tomorrow is certain to attract most visitor interest. No engineering expert has made a public estimate of the cost involved in putting Firebird III together. It undoubtedly is the costliest automobile ever built. It is the first car ever designed around a single-stick control system.

Aside from the hand-controlled acceleration, steering and braking, the car has a dual engine system—a 10 horsepower aluminum piston-type unit to drive all accessories, and a 225-horsepower gas turbine engine to drive the rear wheels.

A two-passenger vehicle, the Firebird III is missile-like in appearance. Its body is of fiberglas. It has a wide, tapered nose, twin plastic bubbles over the passengers and seven fins clustered around the rear of the body.

Electronics, transistors and computors are used lavishly. The interior of the equipment section resembles the inside of a complicated electronic bookkeeping machine. By the use of a button the car can be converted to automatic guidance and speed control.

Most likely to appear in conventional cars in the next few years is the small 10-horsepower piston-type engine that operates accessories. It is housed in the nose of the Firebird. It operates a generator that develops 110 volts of alternating current.

GM engineers say this would be adaptable to the operation of regular type household equipment on camping trips and also for power in cases of local or national emergencies.

The Firebird has a 119-inch wheelbase and 57-inch front and rear treads. Its over-all length is 284.4 inches. It has ground clearance of 6.35 inches. It weighs 5,275 pounds with full fuel and oil tanks.

Height from ground to top of a dorsal fin dominating rear of the car is 57.3 inches.

GMC Truck Official Sees Sales Upturn

NEW YORK—A strong recovery in truck sales for 1959 reaching a total of 1,100,000 vehicles for domestic and export use was forecast today by R. C. Woodhouse, general sales manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division.

At a press conference here Woodhouse said this figure was a 21 per cent increase over expected truck sales for 1958, which will be in the area of 900,000.

He estimated there would be between 730,000 and 740,000 domestic retail truck deliveries this year with approximately 160,000 additional units for Canada, and other export points.

Next year's forecast includes 900,000 deliveries and 200,000 Export.

"Business factors that will favorably influence next year's truck market are the revival in the home-building industry, the stimulation of the highway program which will be going at an increasingly fast pace and the increase in public spending — particularly defense and the continuing rise in outlays by state and local governments," the GMC sales executive said.

Woodhouse said that the dip in the national economy this year had caused many truck operators to postpone purchases of new equipment but that this slack in replacement sales would have to be taken up soon to meet the normal demands of obsolescence.

GMC truck sales have been on the rise since February, Woodhouse said, with August being the best sales month since April of 1957 and September remaining steady.

The first 10 days of October indicate that this upsurge in truck sales activity is continuing.

He gave special mention to one GMC model, a Diesel in the 60,000 gross combination weight class, that in the five months since its introduction had been setting sales records.

'59 Pontiacs Selling Like Hotcakes

Nationwide acceptance of the new, 1959 Pontiac was evidenced today as Pontiac dealers reported sales and confirmed orders of more than 20,500 cars during the first three days of sale, according to S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

Knudsen termed the early customer response "unprecedented in our history" as national reports by Pontiac dealers listed 2,561 on-the-spot sales and more than 18,000 orders on hand.

"Customer reaction to our new line substantiates the confidence that 1959 will be a year of opportunity for Pontiac," Knudsen said.

"Customer orders were 250 per cent more than a year ago, even though dealer stocks are limited by the strike. Dealers report enthusiastic acceptance of Pontiac's styling and great interest in Pontiac's revolutionary wide track."

Civilian Agency 'Grab' Draws Military Fire

Move to Switch 2,100 Scientists, Von Braun Awaits Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has yet to make a final decision on what missile facilities will be transferred to the new national space agency.

He indicated at his news conference that a request by Keith Glennan, NASA diretcor, for transfer of 2,100 missile scientists from the Army's Redstone Arsenal to the space agency is only a recommendation and not a final decision.

The President said a complete study is being made as to what facilities should be placed under the space bureau.

He said when a final decision is made he will make it.

Top Army missile chiefs planned a direct appeal to Eisenhower today to protest a request that the Army surrender its major space talent and facilities to the new civilian space agency.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, head of the Army's Ordnance Missile Command, flew into Washington Tuesday night soon after disclosure of the request from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It was learned Medaris asked Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker to arrange an appointment with Eisenhower for this morning.

Brucker, queried by a reporter, refused to discuss the proposed transfer of talent. "Anything I might say at this time would be wrong," he said.

However, Pentagon officials, who asked not to be identified, said Dr. Keith Glennan, NASA director, had asked Brucker to turn

Chrysler in Dark on Science 'Transfer'

DETROIT (UPI) — The production center for the Army's Jupiter missiles was in the dark today about a reported plan by the new civilian space agency to take over the missile facilities of the Army.

C. Allen Brady, general manager of the Chrysler Missile Plant in Center Line, said he had not heard of the proposed transfer of operations. The Chrysler plant builds the Redstone 200-mile ballistic missile and the longer, 1,500-mile Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

Bond Plan for Parking Lot Wins Commission's OK

City Commissioners last night stamped final approval on the $175,000 revenue bond plan to help finance a 214-stall municipal parking lot for Pontiac General Hospital.

If no public objections are raised, the plan will be sent to the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing in 30 days and, if approved there, the bonds will be sold afterwards, City Manager Walter K. Willman said.

Slated for completion July 1, the lot will be located on ten lots the city is acquiring south of the hospital between Johnson and Seminole avenues.

TOTAL PRICE $225,000

The total price is $225,000, with $50,000 coming from capital improvement funds. Both loans are to be paid back through meter revenues from the lot, according to the provisions of the bonding ordinance passed last night.

To clear way for the lot legally, Commissioners set up a new municipal parking lot district under authority of the revenue bond act adopted by the city two years ago.

In addition to the metered space in the proposed municipal lot, the ordinance requires the city to install 75 meters on Huron, Oneida and Seminole streets. Other meters are planned on Johnson.

Commissioners also authorized purchase of a sixth parcel in the parking lot area, leaving the city with four more lots yet to be purchased, Willman said.

A $13,500 price plus realtor's commission was set on the home and property owned by Bruce Reigle at 67 Seminole Ave.

General funds advanced for purchase of this and other properties acquired for the lot are to be reimbursed from the bond money.

To Drink... or Not to Drink

Episcopal Church Takes Stand on Alcohol

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Alcoholic drinks are a gift of God if used properly—but a horror if misused, Episcopalians were advised today.

A report to the church's general convention, now in its second and final week, said that moderate social drinking is in full accord with Old and New Testament teaching.

It cited scriptural references from Genesis to St. Paul's Epistles.

But the report added that there are some signs in modern America that plenty of occasions on which liquor is served are degenerating into plain drinking bouts —with no sociable purposes.

At an "evening party at home for relaxation with friends," the report suggested, the host seems to be "becoming more and more of a bartender, continuously and anxiously filling all glasses."

"Many forms of the so-called 'cocktail party' fail to fulfill the needs of wholesome social fellowship and deteriorate into pointless and unhealthy confusion," the report added.

★ ★ ★

Drawn up by a commission on alcoholism, headed by Delaware's Bishop J. Brooke Mosley of Wilmington, it traced the full range of Biblical teaching on alcoholic drinks.

"There is no scriptural command requiring total abstinence for the God-fearing man," the report said.

"A Christian who drinks moderately with due regard for the feelings and needs of his brothers and with a conscientious care for the claims of God can drink with thanksgiving to Him for these blessings."

The report added that it is "sub-Christian" to drink shamefacedly as it's a minor compromise with evil because this in itself is belittling part of God's creation—the "fruit of the vine."

The report said there are scrip-

Young Driver Found Guilty

Two-Year Sentence Is Possible in Fatal Injury of Chum on Orion Road

A 17-year-old Rochester youth, whose driving carried a chum to his death in April, today faced a possible prison sentence after being convicted yesterday of negligent homicide.

It took a jury of nine women and three men around 45 minutes to bring back a verdict of "guilty as charged" against Frederick W. Swords of 77 Ludlow St., according to Paul M. Mandel, assistant prosecutor on the case.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams said he would impose sentence Oct. 27. Maximum sentence for negligent homicide is two years in prison or a $2,000 fine, or both.

Swords, who faced loss of his driver's license several weeks before, drove his car April 2 at such high speeds, deputies said, that he missed a turn on Orion road in Oakland Township.

His 1956 auto, carrying five of his companions, hurtled off the road and struck a utility pole. The car turned over and crushed to death 16-year-old Gary Bridge, of 138 Glendale St., Rochester.

Several boys in the car told investigating officers a friend had boasted about making the same turn at 80 m.p.h. The other boys in the Swords car were injured in the crash.

Swords' driving record for 1957 consisted of four convictions for speeding and one for reckless driving.

Public Gets Look at New Rocket Ship Designed to Take Man to Outer Space

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A rocket ship designed to carry man to outer space and back will be rolled out for public view today.

★ ★ ★

Vice President Nixon and a shiny array of governmental brass will be on hand for the ceremony, the first public debut ever staged for an experimental plane.

The new supership, the X15, is expected to make its maiden flight in January. Soon thereafter it will begin streaking through the sky—a stainless steel needle with its tail on fire—on test hops at speeds that may range up to 4,500 miles an hour.

One day, if all goes well, the X15 will blast up to its maximum altitude, estimated at 400 miles above earth, and man will have reached the threshold of the stars.

There, in the satellite zone, the pilot will push his ship's nose over and try to get back to earth—alive.

As the thickening atmosphere begins to drag at his craft, this spaceman will see something no human has ever seen before: the polished metal skin of the X15 will glow, then turn cherry red from the thousands of degrees of heat building up along the surfaces of its stubby wings.

If the ship holds together—if the pilot does everything just right—he will land safe. If ship or pilot fail, a smoking cinder high in the sky will mark the spot where another hero died.

When will this all-out effort take place?

Nobody knows. Space boss Roy W. Johnson recently disclosed plans to shoot a man into space within the next 24 to 36 months and many assumed he was talking about the X15.

Who will the man be?

Lean-lipped Scott Crossfield, 37-year-old test pilot who was the first to fly at twice the speed of sound, has been chosen as the first to take the X15 aloft.

Actually, there are three X15s, and two other pilots will take part in the long series of tests. The others are Air Force Capt. Robert White and Joseph Walker of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. Which will be the first man to reach outer space is anybody's guess.

All three will face hazards never before experienced by man — the radiation barrier and the thermal thicket.

Extreme radiation from somewhere in space has been reported by America's Explorer satellites. The X15 is expected to soar far out into the satellite zone. Shielding against these deadly rays presumably has been built into the X15 but its maker, North American Aviation, Inc., says all such information is secret.

The X15 will run into the so-called thermal thicket when it tries to re-enter the earth's atmosphere at high speed. North American officials have estimated the X15 will get as hot as a normal size bedroom with 80 floor furnaces going full blast. They refuse, however, to talk about measures taken to cool the plane down to the limits of human endurance.

They may have adapted certain tricks used to cool the exhaust chambers of giant missiles. The X15 will be propelled by a mixture of hydrogen peroxide and liquid oxygen. The temperature of liquid oxygen is 300 degrees below zero. Circulation of this super-cold liquid keeps the nozzles of missiles from melting and the same principle may be employed to cool the X15's skin.

New Move Due in Kean Case

Tsermengas' Lawyer Wants Murder Charge Dropped or Reduced

A motion is expected to be made for a further reduction of the charge against Demitrios B. Tsermengas, an attorney for the accused killer of Texas hoodlum George Kean said yesterday.

Pontiac attorney Clarence L. Smith announced his decision to ask for the dismissal of the murder charge against Tsermengas when his client was arraigned on a second-degree charge before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Judge Doty entered a plea of innocent for Tsermengas when Smith said he wished to stand mute on the charge. Tsermengas, 39, was returned to the county jail. He has been unable to furnish a $15,000 bond.

His attorney said a new motion would be filed as soon as he received and reviewed a transcript of the examination hearing of Tsermengas at which time the charge was lowered from first-degree murder.

Smith contends that either the charge should be dropped altogether, or at least lowered to manslaughter, as there has been no evidence of premeditation or malice shown in the Kean killing.

Kean was shot in the head in a Commerce Township, cottage last December as Tsermengas and two other members of Kean's gang attempted to wrestle several pistols away from him. Kean had threatened to kill the three of them, Tsermengas told police in describing what he says was an "accidental" shooting.

Kean's body wasn't discovered until last month when a tip to Texas Rangers led them to it buried near Alpena. Tsermengas and the other two men had buried him there.

Charged with the killing along with Tsermengas are Lowell E. McComb and Thomas D. Smith. Extradition proceedings to bring them from Texas are still pending, according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

The Day in Birmingham

Village Players Will Debut With 'Point of No Return'

BIRMINGHAM — Opening their 36th season Friday and Saturday, the Village Players of Birmingham will present Dr. John (Jack) Hassberger in the leading role of "Point of No Return."

Repeat performances will be given next weekend at the Playhouse on Chestnut street. Curtain time will be 9 p.m. each evening.

This will be the first production by the Players since the stage was enlarged and a new light panel installed this past summer.

"The play's technical details are putting all of us to a test," Mrs. Riebling said. "Flashbacks in time are presenting some problems, but our biggest headache has been a train scene where we have had to create the illusion of shifting landscapes behind the actors seated in the train."

Dr. Hassberger, a member of the group for about 25 years, has established himself as one of the Players' most popular actors. Along with handling a variety of roles, he has had considerable success as a director.

Bloomfield Hills city commissioners last night considered possible adoption of the new state school bus law, which requires all vehicles to stop when a bus is receiving or discharging passengers.

City Clerk Robert Stadler said that since the Hills School District uses commercial buses, action has been postponed pending discussion with school officials on whether the state law will be adopted locally.

Mrs. Aline Saarinen, art critic for the New York Times, will speak Monday at 8:15 p.m. at the library. She will base some of her talk on her new book, "Proud Possessors."

Future speakers will include James Milholland, editor of Harcourt Brace publishing company; Linn Smith, one of the architects designing the Baldwin Library addition; Dwight Cooke, CBS foreign news analyst; and Magnus Von Braun, engineer at the Chrysler Corp. Missile Division in Warren. He is the brother of Werner Von Braun, leading U.S. missile expert.

Carl H. Sander, contracting manager for the American Bridge Division of the U.S. Steel Corp., and a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, will speak at the Men's Club dinner meeting at 6:45 p.m. tomorrow at the church. He will show slides on the Mackinac Straits Bridge.

Caribou Owners Lose Fire Suit

'No Cause for Action' Verdict in Case Over Clarkston Inn Blaze

Owners of the Caribou Inn lost out in a law suit in which they sued three insurance companies to collect payments on the fire-damaged building in Clarkston.

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury of 10 women and two men yesterday returned a verdict of "no cause for action" by the owners, after deliberating about four hours.

Ernest A. Felice, his wife and mother sued the companies in June saying they were entitled to $31,744 in insurance after fire swept the ancient village landmark March 4.

It was the contention of the attorney for the companies, Cashan P. Head, of Detroit, that evidence showed Felice had attempted to burn the inn, thus making the insurance policies void.

State Police fire marshal inspectors and Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem have ruled the fire was the work of arsonists. As yet no criminal warrants have been issued.

TELLS OF THREATS

During the course of the trial before Judge H. Russel Holland, Mrs. Felice testified she and her husband had received threatening phone calls from villagers, because they were negotiating for the sale of the inn to Negroes.

Fire swept the 100-year-old frame building in the heart of Clarkston the day a court condemnation jury was to inspect it.

Village officials sought to condemn the building to make way for an off-street parking lot. The village won the suit, but attorneys for the Felices immediately asked for a new trial.

Because Head charged Felice with "intentionally setting" the fire when he answered the Felices' law suit, Felice turned around and filed a $250,000 libel suit against the Finnish Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Calumet, one of the companies Head represents. This libel suit is pending.

Field Marshal Montgomery Says:

Ike Failed to Understand Basic Plan During War

NEW YORK (UPI)—Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery said today that Dwight D. Eisenhower, as allied commander, "failed to comprehend the basic plan" for defeating Germany after the Allied invasion of Europe in 1944.

In the second instalment of his memoirs published in Life magazine, Montgomery said the master plan for the land battle in Normandy was to draw the main enemy strength to the British front on the Eastern flank so that the American forces could break out more easily in the western flank.

MONTGOMERY

But he said Eisenhower later gave the impression in a report to the combined chiefs of staff "that the British and Canadians had failed (to break out) in the Caen sector and that therefore the Americans had to take on the job of breaking out in the west."

"This reflection on the Second Army is a clear indication that Eisenhower failed to comprehend the basic plan to which he had himself cheerfully agreed," Montgomery wrote.

"This false conception existed only at supreme headquarters, and none of the senior officers responsible for the conduct of the actual fighting in Normandy (Gen. Omar) Bradley included, had any doubt about the true plan."

He also said that when Eisenhower took personal command of the troops in Europe there was "a lack of grip, and operational direction and control was lacking," and blamed lack of proper operational plan in part for Russia's foothold in Europe today.

The British field marshal, who recently retired, said Eisenhower was a "great and good man, now one of my greatest friends." But he said he and Eisenhower "were poles apart when it came to the conduct of the war."

"My military doctrine was based on unbalancing the enemy while keeping well-balanced myself," he said.

"I planned always to make the enemy commit his reserves on a wide front in order to plug holes in his defenses; having forced him to do this, I then committed my own reserves on a narrow front in a hard blow.

"Eisenhower's creed appeared to me to be that there must be aggressive action on the part of everyone at all times. Everybody must attack all the time.

"I remember (Gen.) Bedell Smith once likened Eisenhower to a football coach; he was up and down the line all the time, encouraging everyone to get on with the game. This philosophy was expensive in life."

★ ★ ★

Montgomery said he believed Eisenhower was too conscious of public opinion in the United States.

free days of operation, had two walkouts on its hands in Detroit today and said one would force the noon closing of a third plant.

Pickets turned back workers at the Detroit Plymouth Assembly Plant, where 200 were scheduled to report. Pickets protested less than full-back recall following a local-issues work stoppage.

The company said only 200 were needed to ease the plant toward full-scale production using 1,200. It said this would close its Detroit Plymouth Body Plant employing 1,500.

Chrysler's Lynch Road Gear and Axle Plant in Detroit was shut and 1,200 idled by a walkout protesting the disciplinary layoff of a chief union steward. The company said the steward took more company time than allowed for union business.

Both American Motors and Chrysler continued contract negotiations in Detroit with the UAW. The UAW and Chrysler negotiators met all night but failed to reach agreement on a contract section covering 8,000 union-represented office workers. They scheduled a new meeting tomorrow. Chrysler and the UAW have settled on all union workers except the office employes.

AMC and the union are working against a contract expiration deadline of 10 a.m. (EST) Friday.

The union, bargaining for 13,000 AMC workers, wants a contract similar to the Big Three pattern of an estimated 24 to 30 cents an hour pay increase for three years and other concessions.

AMC and the UAW are operating under an extension of the old three-year contract which expired last spring.

Missile Team 'Grab' Plan Rocks Army

In addition, the officials said, Glennan asked the Army to surrender the entire facilities and personnel of its Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Los Angeles.

First word of the proposal was reported Tuesday night by Mark Watson, military writer for the Baltimore Sun.

He said the transfer could include 110 German scientists comprising the core of the Redstone Arsenal's ballistic missile team headed by Medaris.

These scientists, of whom Dr. Wernher von Braun is the most prominent, are among those who produced the Army's 1,500-mile Jupiter missile and who launched the nation's first satellite — Explorer I.

In Huntsville, Von Braun was not available for comment. Other scientists, declining to be quoted by name, expressed opposition to the transfer proposal.

When queried, official Army spokesmen said they had to remain tight-lipped.

But they said loss of such key scientists as Von Braun could seriously undermine the Army's advanced work on military missiles—such as the Zeus antimissile missile.

These officials also voiced fear that the loss of key space experts might relegate the Army missile agency to doing mere support work for the civilian space agency.

NASA, created this year by Congress to take over aspects of space exploration and pioneering that have no direct military bearing, was established Oct. 1.

Until Dec. 31, the agency has the authority—if the President so directs—to tap the military services for space personnel and facilities. After Dec. 31, any such transfer will require congressional approval.

Army officials expressed fear that any attempt to transfer its missile teams to NASA might prompt some of the scientists to heed offers of higher paying jobs in private industry.

The Army's Ballistic missile Agency at Huntsville employs about 4,100 persons, of whom 1,200 are civilians.

President Defends Plan He Used in World War II

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today he brought about Germany's defeat in World War II in 11 months after the Normandy invasion whereas most military authorities had predicted it would require two years.

That was his answer to an assertion by British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery that Eisenhower's strategy as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe prolonged the war and was "expensive in lives."

Detective Tells How Bet Raid Developed

Pruzor was also spotted in conversation with Apley at the latter's gas station, 25 S. Perry St., five times in June, Galat continued. The detective testified he saw Pruzor pass Apley a "white, business-size envelope" on two of the occasions.

The detective testified that on the fifth occasion, June 17, he boldly followed Pruzor into the gas station.

Galat said he did not know the contents of these and other envelopes described during his testimony yesterday. But if the police theory is correct, the envelopes may have contained bet money or betting slips, it appeared.

The Gullets were first linked to the ring on May 8, Galat continued. Apley was seen going into their home that day carrying a brown envelope, he said.

On June 2, Gullet was observed driving Burke to the Auburn Heights apartment house, the testimony went on, while on May 13 and June 8 Burke visited the Gullet home. On the latter occasion, Mrs. Gullet was home, Galat testified.

Pushing his undercover work further, the detective testified that on June 10 he followed Burke up the rear stairs of the Auburn Heights building to the second floor and saw him enter the northeast apartment.

Galat said he had already noticed repeatedly from the outside that when Burke was in the building, the light in the northeast apartment was on.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he planned to call the other two detectives to the stand to report on their observations during the long secret surveillance in Pontiac.

He hoped to show in detail how the web of evidence tightened as the long probe gathered momentum.

Taylor predicted that detailed testimony would continue today and next Tuesday, when the examination is tentatively scheduled to reconvene.

Social Drinking Code Drawn Up by Church

tural grounds why certain individuals should be total abstainers, if reasons such as these exist:

That drinking would hurt others; that health or occupation make it unwise; that the individual feels alcohol is a luxury he should give up or want to abstain as an act of discipline or devotion or because he just doesn't like the stuff.

★ ★ ★

"If a man does not drink, it is important that he not drink for the right reason," the report said. "Similarly, it is important that if a man drinks, he should drink for the right reasons."

The report said that if drinking itself becomes the primary motive of any occasion, rather than a secondary asset to sociability, then what is good has been prevented.

★ ★ ★

It offered these tips to hosts:

Never give a party for the main purpose of drinking.

Always serve food with drinks. Serve the food without undue delay if drinks come first.

Never allow pressure on guests to drink if they don't want to.

Never leave it up to liquor to do your job of creating a wholesome, sociable atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

The report noted that in modern life, with its tensions and pace, drinking has become both "more attractive and more dangerous."

★ ★ ★

About 70 million Americans drink, the report said, and spend about 10 billion dollars annually on it—an average of $150 a year each. There are about four million alcoholics whose "distressing situation cries out for help," according to the report.

'Hoffa Could Control Destiny of the U.S.'

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—James Hoffa, the Teamster Union boss, could someday control the political and economic destiny of the United States, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said last night.

If Hoffa is allowed to amalgamate all transportation unions into the Teamsters, "this country would be faced with a monopoly like it has never seen before," McClellan said.

"This would place the political and economic destiny of the nation in Hoffa's hands," he added in an address to a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

If the courts do not act upon evidence of union racketeering unearthed by his Senate Rackets Committee, the senator said, then Congress will have to pass legislation to do so.

Waterford Youth Hurt in Scooter Accident

Melvin H. Hall, 15, of 7158 Terrell St., Waterford Township, was injured yesterday when his motor scooter ran off the road and into an embankment. He told State Police he was thrown off the vehicle.

The accident occurred on Dorothy Lane near Terrell in Waterford Township. He was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Oxford Quads Eager to Meet New Quartet

"You can take it from me," said Mrs. Kenneth Rosebush of Oxford to Mrs. Chester Ullman of Clawson.

★ ★ ★

"You're in for a lot of work, but there's a lot of enjoyment, too," said the mother of the seven-year-old Rosebush quadruplets to the mother of the 2½-day Ullman quads.

It appeared today that Michigan's two sets of quadruplet children may be introduced to each other soon.

★ ★ ★

The Rosebush children — Keith, Kenneth, Krystal and Kristine — are anxious to meet the little Ullman girls — Helen, Martha, Marion and Catherine.

Once unique in Michigan, now the Rosebush youngsters are "all excited" over the once-in-every-750,000-births event in Detroit Sunday, Mrs. Rosebush said.

The quadruplet daughters born to Mrs. Ullman are identical, Dr. William Stanley, an obstetrician, said today.

Dr. Stanley said the determination was made through tests of the 2½-day-old girls, who he said were "doing real fine" today.

But Southern California Swelters

Mild Weather Rules U.S.

By United Press International

The mercury climbed to 94 degrees in Los Angeles Tuesday, equaling the all-time high for the date set in 1914 and contributing to an eye-smarting smog alert, the city's fourth this year. More hot weather was seen for the area today.

★ ★ ★

Scattered showers were seen for Texas today where workmen succeeded in saving the city of Brownsville from severe flooding from the rampaging Rio Grande River.

However, the 4,000 persons of Ciudad Carmargo, Mexico, across the river from Rio Grande City, Tex., were evacuated yesterday when a tributary of the Rio Grande threatened to flood the city.

Warmer weather pushed into the North Atlantic region during the night, boosting readings into the 40s and 50s as compared with temperatures in the 20s and 30s early Tuesday.

A band of clouds extended from Texas northeastward into Missouri and Kentucky, but the only rain in the area occurred in Southern Missouri and Western Kentucky.

Clouds also blanketed the Upper Great Lakes east into the North Atlantic States with light rain falling on parts of New York State and Pennsylvania. Heaviest amounts were around one-fourth inch at Olean, N. Y., and Bradford, Pa.

★ ★ ★

Mostly fair and warm weather was expected over most of the country again Wednesday. Occasional drizzle or light rain was predicted along the northern Pacific Coast and the Great Lakes.

A few showers also were seen for the North Atlantic States, parts of Florida and parts of the Middle Mississippi Valley.

No Settlement Yet at Pontiac or Fisher

No change in the status of negotiations was reported today at the strike-bound Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body division plants here.

Both plants have been shut down and an estimated 9,100 UAW workers idled since Oct. 2, the date of the national General Motors Corp. strike. The negotiations are over local working agreements and grievances.

Top Pupils Get 'Letters'

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — Starting this year, Asbury Park High School will award varsity letters to students for academic as well as athletic prowess. The Board of Education voted to award a varity "A" to all students with a yearly general average of 90 or higher.

Speaks for Space Age, Too

Shakespeare No Laggard

LONDON (UPI) — The weekly "Spectator" reported the results of a contest in which entrants were asked last week to find lines in Shakespeare appropriate for comment on the American moon rocket attempt.

Some winners:

"Thou canst not hit it, hit it, hit it; thou canst not hit it, my good man!" (Love's Labor Lost, Act IV, Scene 2.)

"I see thy glory like a shooting star, fall to the base earth from the firmament." (Richard II, Act II, Scene 4.)

"How ill agrees it with your gravity." (Comedy of Errors, Act II, Scene 2.)

"Come, let's make haste — she'll soon be back again." Macbeth, Act III, Scene 4.)

Man Outwits Frost

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) — Donald R. McDermott, 52, arrested for picking two bushels of apples from an orchard, told police "I thought I might as well get them before the frost did."

28 County Men Inducted Through Pontiac Boards

A total of 28 Oakland County men were inducted through Pontiac Draft Boards 65 and 67 during the month of September, it was announced today.

Of the total, 10 were Pontiac draftees. They were Charles W. Phipps, 118 Center St.; Homer E. Gilder, 64 Utah St.; Neil E. McClellan, 123 Pingree Ave., and Danny L. Emery Jr., 19 Hartung Count.

Other Pontiac men were Gillis H. Henson, 185 N. Perry St.; Melvin Sheffer, 369 S. East Blvd.; Gerald M. Pederson, 362 S. East Blvd.; Frank Fettig, 167 S. Park St.; Roberto R. Lopez, 467½ S. Saginaw St., and Limmie Laster, 181 Crestwood St.

Draftees from the county area were Gerald C. Stephens, Lawrence S. Arquette and Gerald W. Sawchuk, all of Milford; Benjamin C. Mott III, Robert W. Vincent II and Thomas P. Estes, all of Birmingham.

Included in the list are Donald E. Houghton, Richard Q. Sweet and Johnny W. Nutt, all of Waterford Township; Glen R. Warner of Farmington and Paul K. Garlick of Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

Others were Laurence G. Lupear and William N. Mero, both of Commerce Township; Jorge H. Jarquin of Bloomfield Township and William W. Miller and James L. Hatley, both of Keego Harbor.

Rounding out the list of September draftees were Donald H. Jentzen of Rochester and Melvin R. Sawyers of Walled Lake.

Heads Canvass of Businesses

UF Picks Cochairman of Waterford Township Commercial Division

The solicitations of businesses in Waterford Township for this year's tenth anniversary Pontiac Area United Fund drive will be directed by Mrs. Ralph G. Bump of 2608 West Walton Blvd.

Mrs. Bump has been appointed Commercial Division cochairman for Waterford.

This post is a United Fund innovation this year, and Mrs. Bump was the unanimous choice of Fund workers to direct solicitation of funds from businesses and their employes in Waterford Township.

This year's drive will be the first in which the Drayton Plains and Waterford shopping areas will have been solicited exclusively by women.

Mrs. Bump has handpicked six Waterford women to aid her in making the calls. They are Mrs. David Edstrom, Mrs. James Green, Mrs. Lee Kaines, Mrs. Donald Redmond, Mrs. William Shunck and Mrs. Edmund Windeler.

"We're planning to call on every business in Waterford, and we're shooting for 100 per cent participation from employer and employe alike," stated Mrs. Bump.

"There are a number of handicapped and needy people who are depending on us not to let them down. A lot of innocent people will suffer if the 55 UF agencies are forced to curtail aspects of their service because we failed to meet our goal," Mrs. Bump added.

FRANKLIN A. CRAWFORD

Franklin Crawford Honored as Carrier

Walled Lake High School senior Franklin A. Crawford is one of ten Pontiac Press carriers honored recently for his record of service, citizenship, salesmanship and courtesy.

Seventeen-year-old Franklin divides his interests between music and football. He plays the tuba, and is a member of the South Oakland Symphony and the Youth Symphony of Ann Arbor.

He plans to attend college after graduation from high school to study law and engineering.

Franklin has been a Pontiac Press newspaperboy in Commerce since July, 1956. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin G. Crawford of 704 W. Commerce Rd.

U. of M. A-Scientist Dies of Heart Attack

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Shortly after exercising on a trampoline, Prof. Donald A. Gilbert, 38, University of Michigan atomic scientist, collapsed and died of a heart attack yesterday.

Gilbert, a physics professor and former physicist for the Atomic Energy Commission, died at the University Athletic Intramural Building. He had been exercising a few minutes before. The trampoline is a gymnastics jumping device. Gilbert exercised with it regularly. He collapsed while sitting on a bench after his workout.

Runaway Trailer Perils 2 Drivers in Waterford

Two motorists traveling south on Dixie highway in Waterford Township narrowly missed serious injury yesterday when a trailer carrying a large tractor broke loose from a truck.

★ ★ ★

A trailer hitch broke on the back of the truck driven by Wayne Bentley, 21, of Gladwin, sending the careening trailer across Dixie highway, where it plowed to a stop on the lawn in front of the Pontiac Trailer Co.

★ ★ ★

The rear end of a new pickup truck driven by William Sutter, 27, of Holly, was damaged considerably, and an unidentified woman motorist drove off the road to avoid being hit by the runaway trailer.

Warsaw, Poland, founded in the 13th century, is nevertheless one of Europe's youngest cities today. About 85 per cent of it was destroyed during World War II and more than one million people live in the rebuilt city.

Saul Pett Writing for Hal Boyle:

Let's Give Air Travel Back to the Birds!

NEW YORK (AP)—I like airplanes but:

I don't like the noise, the vibration, the sense of constantly rushing and, of course, the sense of nothing between you and the ground. As far as I can tell, man has gained nothing from the age of flight except the ability to go some place he can't afford.

You can now get from here to there in half the time it takes to claim your luggage.

Airplanes can be uncomfortable. For example:

I can never seem to find the little ash tray on the end of the arm rest. I always seem to grind out my cigaret on my knee.

I think the trays and the silverware and packets of salt and pepper and salad dressing they serve on airplanes are awfully cute, and my kids have enjoyed them for a long time. But I think the meals served on most airplanes are overly ambitious, overly cooked, and overrated. Why, when meals have to be cooked many hours in advance, why do so many airlines insist on serving steak? The steak is so leathery it ought to have a baggage check on it.

I find the stewardesses charming and efficient and solicitous, like hospital nurses wheeling you up to surgery. Instead of these Florence Nightingales, I would prefer the old type of railroad conductor who collected your ticket with a snarl, consulted a huge old watch drawn from his blue serge vest, and then, without a word, retreated to the back of the car to read somebody else's newspapers.

I don't find the announcements made over the PA system by the pilot informative, interesting, or reassuring because I can rarely hear them over the static. Besides, he's always announcing Chattanooga on our left when I'm on the right.

And why is it that the pilot always sounds like that old Armageddon voice of the "March of Time" man when he starts: "Now don't get alarmed. We are about to switch engines into a higher speed level. It will seem for a second or two like the engines are stopping, but. . ."

Until then I wasn't alarmed. Why doesn't the big mouth tend to his knitting and keep quiet?

Long after everyone else—children, the aged, the infirm—has fallen asleep, the tiny light over my seat is still on, and I'm still reading the airline's instructions for ditching and donning the yellow life jackets. I'm sure if we do go down there'll be a nasty scene between me and the stewardess on the end of the wing because I have insisted on putting on three life jackets backwards.

While we're on the subject of reading on airplanes, why is the tiny light so rigidly directed at one tiny spot somewhere between the solar plexus and the ash tray? Reading by that light, requires a combination of yoga, double-jointedness, and squatter's rights on your neighbor's arm rest.

Least of all am I reassured when I buy air insurance at one of those little counters they have at airports. After pressing me for details on amount of coverage, next of kin and beneficiary, the lady then wishes me, in tones of a mortuary: "A pleasant, safe flight."

BIRDS OF A FEATHER—Flocking together, as if to exchange the latest gossip, long-necked birds make their headquarters on a picturesque old dock at the Sailing Marina in Washington. The question is, are the birds cranes or herons? The answer is unknown as the birds take wing and fly away as soon as any investigator gets too close. This picture was taken with telescopic lens.

500,000 Aliens Hired

WASHINGTON — About 500,000 foreigners normally come to the United States each year to work on the nation's farms. Most of them come from Mexico, which sent 434,000 last year. Others come from Canada, the West Indies, and Japan.

CASTINE, Maine (UPI) — During the last 10 years, Mrs. Lloyd Farley's cat, "Baby," has given birth to 101 kittens.

Private Braille Library Available to Iowa Blind

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — What is believed to be the largest private Braille library in the world is awaiting shipment from Oakland, Calif., for use by Iowa's blind.

Kenneth Jernigan, 32-year-old Tennessee-born director of the Iowa Commission for the Blind, is owner of the collection, which he began accumulating in his days back at Peabody College in Nashville. He is the first blind person ever to head the Iowa agency.

The library will be set up in the basement of Jernigan's home. The 3,000-volume collection — ranging from Shakespeare to science fiction — would cost an estimated $15,000 to replace, he said.

The library was built by a lot of patience, money and letter-writing.

Some of the specialty reading, such as science fiction of which he is an avid fan, had to be specially transcribed by hand. Others are discarded books from Braille libraries throughout the nation and the Library of Congress. Still others have come from England, where Braille is printed at much cheaper rates than in the U.S.

In the collection are all of Shakespeare's plays and sonnets (38 Braille volumes), Tolstoy's essays, Westerns, classics and poetry.

"Very few people," Jernigan said, "make a hobby of collecting Braille books. I haven't heard of a larger collection anywhere, certainly not in the United States.

Nasser's Next Target—a Share of Kuwait's Oil

Egypt's President NASSER has turned his propaganda guns on the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Kuwait and the British port of Aden.

The sheikdom, smaller than New Jersey, provides the greatest part of the United Kingdom's oil and is London's largest single source of new capital. The base at Aden dominates the Red Sea and the northeastern coast of Africa.

Last year Kuwait's Sheik ABDULLAH SALEM AS-SABAH, who is said to own $750 million in British government bonds, called on President NASSER in Damascus. No results were apparent and last week NASSER brought strong pressure on Kuwait to join his United Arab Republic. This little country, a British protectorate, has one-quarter of the world's oil reserve and is the third largest producer in the free world. The UAR has little or none.

★ ★ ★

The British stake in Kuwait is vital to them. The oil can be paid for in pounds rather than in scarce dollars and this prevents a drain of one billion dollars a year. Then, too, the ruling family of Kuwait invests about one-third of its oil earnings in British securities. The oil company is owned by Britons and Americans.

But the Kuwaitis and their rulers have the biggest stake of all in maintaining present relationships, says U. S. News and World Report. Eight years ago Kuwait was a barren expanse of desert and its people had little more than their camels and mud huts. British and American oilmen changed all that when their country was found to be "floating on oil."

Oil profits at the rate of one million dollars a day are pouring into Kuwait's treasury. New buildings including hospitals which provide free treatment, and free schools, paved main roads, automobile traffic, Western made appliances and goods in the shops all contribute to the air of prosperity. There is no such thing as unemployment as is common in most Arab countries and no income tax.

In fact it would appear that Kuwait's regime is making wise use of its oil profits for the benefit of all the people. For this reason there is great doubt that NASSER's Arab unity plea will get him what he wants, a share of the oil riches of the sheikdom.

Porcupine Smorgasbord From Pulpwood Trees

When it comes to destroying trees, it is interesting to note that the No. 1 killer after fire is the porcupine. In the course of a year Erethizon Dorsatum, also known as the American porcupine, can kill 2,000 trees.

★ ★ ★

This loss is far more than is suffered from blight or disease. It is claimed that if half the trees destroyed by a single porcupine in a year are pulpwood trees, the raw material for more than 50 tons of newsprint would be lost.

Like many creatures of the forest the porky has smorgasbord habits; that is, instead of confining his repast to one or two trees which have enough bark to satisfy him, he nibbles here and there on many trees.

Unfortunately, the juicy inner bark seems to be his favorite and he will chew his way around a trunk, killing the tree. He will not remain and finish off one tree, but instead moves on to another tree.

Authentic reports show that one porcupine has killed as as many as 39 seedlings and 32 other trees in one six day period. It is apparent that these quilled little animals are the bane of the north woods foresters.

In a report from the Ontario Royal Commissioner of Forestry, he said of porcupines: "They constitute a very serious loss and I have not been able to discover any specific compensating factor." The Commissioner then recommended that for a few years, the killing of porcupines be encouraged and that research be carried on.

It would seem that any animal that affects this amount of any raw material (newsprint in this case) should be destroyed. It is quite obvious that their destroying qualities far outnumber any good they might do.

"Pound Slippers"

My Flint scout sends word that two Pontiac area young men,

Peter Lee and James Truxton,

both of Holly, have enlisted at Flint in the U.S. Air Force.

Despite reports to the contrary, a year round drive of over 50 miles daily on Oakland County roads reveals a shortage of pheasants.

By actual count, a flock of 215 Canadian geese was observed by

of Waterford the other morning on their southern migration.

David Lawrence Says:

Parties May Lose Within Ranks

WASHINGTON — It may sound paradoxical, but it looks now as if Republicans will defeat Republicans in the 1958 congressional elections and Democrats may defeat Democrats in the 1960 presidential elections.

LAWRENCE

There are sufficient Republican votes in the country to elect a majority of the members of both the Senate and House this year, but at present it seems probable that a lower percentage than usual will go to the polls this November.

As for 1960, there would appear to be enough electoral votes in sight already in the North—based on current trends—to give the Democrats a victory in the presidential race, but this assumes the South will cast its electoral vote for the Democrats instead of for a third party.

The present outlook, however, is for a third party to emerge by 1960 in the South because of cleavages on the "civil rights" issue. This could mean defeat in the electoral college for the regular Democratic Party nominees for president and vice president.

The problem for the Republicans in the 1958 congressional elections has meanwhile been complicated by the split inside the party on the subject of "modernism" and "conservatism."

The so-called "modernists" have done much to alienate conservatives and now, when the call is for harmony and efforts are being made to persuade conservative Republicans to let bygones be bygones, it is being discovered that it takes a lot more than a few weeks' exhortation just before an election to overcome the mistakes of the past.

Too much of the Republican strategy heretofore seems to have been influenced by the mistaken belief that the "independent" vote is always anti-Republican and that concessions must be made to the "left wing" side of the economic argument of the day in order to win the support of "independents."

The Democrats have cleverly cultivated that point of view to such an extent that many Republicans in the administration have hesitated until recently to use the work "conservative" in reference to the economic battle, though they have at last—and with good reason—begun to point to the "socialistic" trends among the northern and western Democrats.

It is true the southern Democrats who are conservative have saved the day many a time for the Republican administration's legislative program in Congress, but it is also true that these southern Democrats will be very much in the minority and will have less and less influence in Congress if the northern and western socialists and radicals get the upper hand in the councils of the Democratic Party in November.

Some businessmen have been saying to themselves that a Congress controlled by the Democratic Party isn't so bad after all, since the last four years have not been disastrous, legislatively speaking, for the conservative side.

But if the Democrats get a substantial majority in Congress, radicalism and socialism will be hard to beat, especially if there are many more "modern" Republicans elected in the North to form a coalition with the radical Democrats.

There is a deep-seated ideological conflict going on now inside both major parties. The labor union leaders of the country are making a strenuous effort this year to elect a majority in Congress who will be favorable to their cause.

It is an open secret that millions upon millions of dollars, as well as the services of tens of thousands of precinct workers, are being supplied by the labor unions for the benefit of Democratic Party candidates this autumn.

Neither political party in the last half-century has had a regular organization in any election campaign comparable in money or numbers of precinct workers to what the labor leaders are contributing this time to the Democratic Party side.

The labor union bosses will own the party—or at least will deserve to have the dominant say—for they will have won the election.

The Country Parson

"The one way a machine is better than man is that its feelings aren't hurt when you try to make improvements in it."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Simple Breathing Routine Is Beneficial to Women

Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, for many years medical adviser for women in Stanford University, found that a simple breathing exercise, practiced daily without interruption, corrected painful, excessive, irregular or prolonged menstruation in most instances. Here are instructions, given in her book "Personal Hygiene for Women," published by Stanford University Press available in public or school libraries:

DR. BRADY

1. All tight clothing removed, the woman lies on her back on a level surface in horizontal position.

2. Knees are flexed, arms placed at sides to secure perfect relaxation.

3. One hand rests on the (excuse the gaucheries) abdominal wall without exerting pressure, to serve as an indicator of the amount of movement (inflation of the bellows, that is).

4. Raise the hand by lifting the abdominal wall without straining, then see how far the hand can be lowered by the voluntary contraction of the abdominal muscles, the importance of this contraction being especially emphasized.

5. This exercise is repeated 8 or 10 times, night and morning, in a well ventilated room, while the woman is still in bed in her night clothing. Avoid jerky movements; strive for smooth, rhythmical raising and lowering of the abdominal wall.

6. The exercise should be taken twice daily every day in the month including the time of menstruation. The bladder should always be emptied before the exercises.

Do not hold the breath while doing the exercise. To prevent holding the breath keep the mouth open, breathing naturally. Concentrate attention on the abdominal muscles and forget the breathing, which will take care of itself.

In women who need this exercise, voluntary contraction of the bellows muscles will be slight at first. If the woman has depended on artificial support instead of her own muscles, the exercise must be continued over a long period of time to develop the flabby muscles so they will function normally without conscious effort.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Effort Will Solve Most Problems

Here is the final instalment of the threatened divorce between John and Alice. It will show you that marriage problems can usually be solved quite successfully if the feuding couple will honestly try and if they have the proper analysis of their dilemma. But it is smarter to vaccinate your home against divorce long in advance!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 345: John and Alice are the young married couple who were on the verge of divorce.

★ ★ ★

Alice charged that John didn't need her at all, and was stingy with words, though she admitted he was liberal with money.

DR. CRANE

Three years earlier, they had been devoted sweethearts. But John was an introvertive engineer who knew a lot about steel girders but not much about the female ego.

Besides, he had had a father who cherished the old-fashioned European viewpoint that a wife should be a kitchen slave and not have any ideas of merit.

So John ignored Alice's desire to be admired as a person.

He didn't talk about his workaday problems. He failed to ask her advice.

And he seldom paid her a compliment on her cooking or apparel, so Alice quite naturally decided he didn't love her and certainly didn't need her.

If a woman feels her mate needs her, she will usually stick to him through thick and thin, for an evidence of such need is one of the greatest compliments in the mind of every normal wife.

COMPLIMENT CLUB

So I persuaded John and Alice to launch upon the "Compliment Club" project for 30 days.

★ ★ ★

And they were to offer each other a sincere spoken compliment every day, in addition to those they paid to outsiders.

John was also to bring his business problems home. Too many husbands think they are being gallant or superior by refusing to discuss business with their wives.

That is usually a wrong notion on their part, for wives generally prefer to know the worries troubling their mates.

Besides, American women are not pretty nitwits, to be kept as sex playthings for their husbands.

Most American wives are smart girls who were employed before marriage as nurses, office employes, clerks or private secretaries, so they have a lot of savvy concerning men's work.

Indeed, they often can solve their husband's business worries quickly by use of their feminine viewpoint, so smart husbands use their wives as a convenient "consumer poll" for checking on company policies.

SEX PROBLEMS

Then I also tutored this couple on the proper sexual technique in the bedroom.

★ ★ ★

For one reason why John tried to flaunt his superiority to Alice in the business realm, was the fact he felt he wasn't dominating her properly in the erotic phase of their marriage.

This is a common ruse of husbands. When they sense the fact they are not successful in their love life, they try to browbeat their mates in other ways.

★ ★ ★

And a man like John whose miserliness refers to words, also may

The physical side of marriage is largely ignored in our college courses, so university graduates may be as ignorant and incompetent as the fellow who failed to finish the 8th grade.

And you don't inherit a knowledge of how to be a good husband, so send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Within 30 days John and Alice had regained their earlier sweetheart zest, for you can change your personality fast when you know how and really want to.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

City Man Says to Beware of the Contract Swindle

If you haven't been taken on the contract swindle yet, you may be in for a bag full of thrills and excitement. But they won't be the kind you'll enjoy.

★ ★ ★

Here's how it works: A very convincing business agent "forgets" to explain all the terms of the contract. After baiting the hook, he hurries you for a quick signature. Confident that your agent is honest, you trustingly sign it. When you discover you've been tricked, it's too late. For when you return to have it corrected, you're told there was no mistake. The deal is closed. So you hire a lawyer and file suit.

★ ★ ★

But it's a losing fight. Absurd as the contract may be, it's legal. At least the court must uphold it as such, for your sharpie agent has covered his tracks well. Even though you describe how you've been tricked in exact detail, the agent simply denies it. It's only your word against his. And, brother, you've had it—lawyer's fees, court costs and all.

★ ★ ★

The advice "Never sign anything without reading it first" is not good enough. The contract swindle is a slick operation. Better play it safe: Always obtain legal counsel before you sign anything important.

'Welfare Plan Needs Changes'

I'm writing this for the benefit of others as well as myself.

It's odd how the Welfare can help some women whose husbands are working and won't help a young girl with a small baby. She can't work and her parents can't and won't help her and her husband threw her and her baby out. This was the only place she had to go.

Welfare won't help because she was out of the state for two years. Something should be done about this.

What, if any, arrangements have been made for the City of Pontiac to honor United States Day, October 23?

Aren't we proud enough of this country to give this day at least as much honor as we would a new car or a merchant's bargain day?

'Gambling Laws Are Ambiguous'

The recent chain letter scheme, using Savings Bonds as currency for exchange, was in effect, gambling. Yet this was a large scale operation for U. S. Savings Bonds and could not have been equaled under any other sales promotion.

★ ★ ★

We could see that Prosecutor Taylor had the law to uphold under such circumstances, voicing openly conspiracy of violate state gambling laws. But we in Michigan spend at the astounding rate in millions annually at legalized gambling centers in Hazel Park, Detroit Race Track and Northville Downs.

★ ★ ★

This is one of the states where a spade is not called a spade. The state gambling laws are changed to meet the situation. Our lawmen do not find it necessary to arrest race track enthusiasts.

Bob Considine Quotes:

'Holy Ghost Will Have to Lead Cardinals'

ROME — A high-ranking American churchman, close to the three American cardinals who will help select the successor to Pius XII, told this writer today "The Holy Ghost will have to take the American and other cardinals by the arm and lead them to the right man."

It was a reference to the difficulty he and many others here feel the college of cardinals will experience in finding a cardinal big enough, by Church and worldly standards, to fill the velvet shoes of the unique churchman-statesman who now sleeps with his predecessors.

★ ★ ★

The source, who entertained us at the Vatican's North American College, could not permit his name to be used. He would not hazard a guess as to the length of the conclave that begins Oct. 25.

But he recalled with a tight smile that the election of Pope Gregory X (1271-1276) came only after a conclave that lasted two years, nine months and two days.

There is no favorite at this time among the 52 or 53 cardinals who will become prisoners within the Vatican after the conclave begins 4 p. m. Oct. 25 until they open the doors of the Sistine Chapel to announce their choice.

★ ★ ★

Total voting strength of the college of cardinals is 55, but Cardinals Mindczenty of Hungary and Stepinac of Yugoslavia will not be able to attend and Cardinal Wscznyski of Poland is a doubtful participant.

"In a sense this election is a bigger proposition than the Catholic Church itself," my informant stated. "This past Pope became a figure that transcended his office as shepherd of his own flock.

"He became the voice of morality in the world. He supplied what the people of many faiths hungered for and continue to hunger for — and that is dogmatic religious instruction.

"The people are tired of the psychological approach to religion. They want somebody to tell them what is right and what is wrong, what is true and what is false, what is white, black and gray.

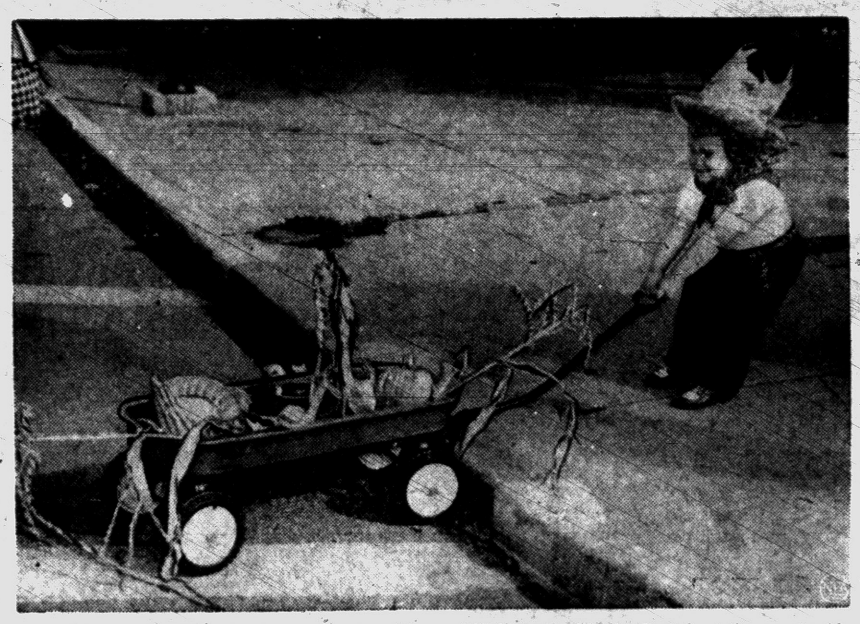

"There is no overabundance, let's say, of these teachers among our temporal leaders. It takes a strong voice to be dogmatic in a religious sense. It must be a voice of justice and honesty and simplicity and authority at the same time. This accounts for the enormous popularity in the United States of Fulton Sheen. He gave millions of Americans of all faiths what they wanted in the way of dogma.

"He was lauded especially by Protestants who sometimes find their ministers denying the very divinity of Christ."

The churchman wondered if, right now, the cardinal who will be selected as Pope is truly fitted to succeed Pius XII and whether the electors are up to the job of picking the man who will preserve or even expand the prestige given this faith by the late Pope.

"Those cardinals are going to have to do a lot of praying between now and Oct. 25 to make the right choice, and even then they are going to need the Holy Ghost himself to steer them. As for the man elected, I think that the grace of God, as we call it, will descend upon him in time and make of him a better and nobler man than he is today."

CURBED DETERMINATION — A nasty old curb was only a temporary obstacle to little two-year-old Sue Viney on her way to the "Sun 'n' Soil Festival" in Frankfort, Ind. Sue hauled a wagonload of harvest items (including a bowl of goldfish) to the Kiddies Parade at the countywide event, held to give thanks for a bountiful harvest. Her efforts were rewarded, for she won first prize in the decorated wagon division of the parade.

Chicago Air Is Cleaner

CHICAGO — During the first part of this year Chicagoans enjoyed the cleanest atmosphere they have had in years. 'Doldrums' a Healthy Sign

New Job May Be Answer

Before it's too late stop sitting on your aspirations and get going now in the right job direction, says Walter Lowen, noted vocational counselor and placement specialist in a recent article in a national magazine.

Referring in particular to those persons nearing the age of 40, when job frustration seems to hit its peak, Walter Lowen says, "The first thing that men near 40 should realize is that job doldrums are not something to dread or to be ashamed of.

"Rather, the appearance of job doldrums is a healthy sign that you have not fallen into a rut, that you have not compromised with life. On the contrary, you may be on the verge of making the best use of a tremendous career potential."

In advising those who feel they are job trapped, Lowen lists questions which help evaluate whether the person or his job is responsible for the dissatisfaction.

If a person answers negatively questions which ask whether he is objectively making progress, if he has security and a fair chance of advancement, if the boss ever expresses interest in his work, and if he is contributing to the overall success of the firm, "then it is safe to assume that the doldrums have developed because of faults in your job. This largely is the case among 35-45 year old men whose maturing abilities have outplaced the requirements of their work."

Obviously the two ways to improve matters, says the article, is either to try to move ahead in the present job or change to another one.

Lowen says, "I cannot state too strongly my opinion that no man is ever too old to start from scratch in a new job — even a new business or profession — if he will buckle down to hard work."

Radio Amateur Suspects New Satellite in Sky

★ ★ ★

The 59-year-old Melton said he heard a new signal Tuesday night at intervals of 100, 105 and 117 minutes. Melton, who listens almost nightly for Sputnik No. 3, insists it is a new signal. "Sputnik 3 sounds like a slow letter A," he said. "This one resembles a fast T, about four dashes a second."

He said he first heard the radio signal Monday morning and it has been growing stronger. The Naval Research Laboratory in Washington said it had not received any new signals.

★ ★ ★

Melton said one of Tuesday night's signals came two minutes after the expected "beep" of Sputnik III. The signal comes in on the same frequency as Sputnik III —20.005 megacycles, he said.

School Meet Set at Waterford

Shunck to Give Report on Present and Future Needs in Township

A specific report on present and future Waterford Township school district requirements regarding enrollment and operation will be presented by superintendent William Shunck at tomorrow night's (Thurs.) 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Three issues will be presented regarding requirements to meet current enrollment, increase in enrollment produced by present membership, and anticipated enrollment increases produced by further development of Waterford Township, Shunck said.

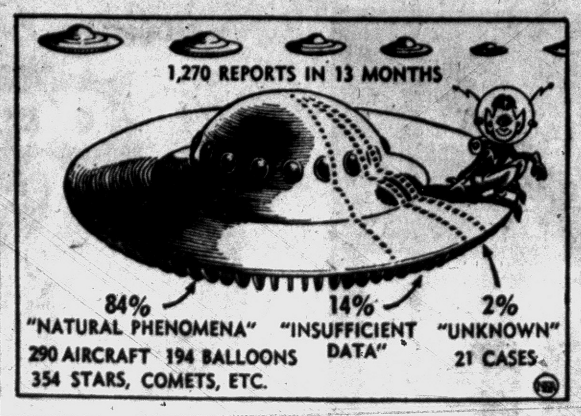

Another report regarding the problem produced in the educational program by limited funds for operation and a recommended procedure for solution of these problems will also be presented to board members.

Other business will include a discussion for a proposed 12-month recreation department personnel program.

A report will also be presented by the building committee regarding final negotiations relative to an elementary school site in the Jayno Adams area on Walton Blvd., and an additional senior high school site north of Hatchery Rd., known as the Benson property.

Parents of children in the Schoolcraft school area have requested an investigation of conditions in over-crowded classrooms in that school.

Residents pointed out that there are 76 new homes in the process of construction in the area, and that there has been an increased enrollment of 184 pupils in the school this year. They indicated that they will support any additional building programs planned by the board of education.

Airlines to Hike Passenger Fares

Increases OK'd by CAB on Temporary Basis Through July 31

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's airlines have been given authority to raise the price of round trip tickets and family plan passenger fares.

The Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday authorized increases on a temporary basis through next July 31. The increases weren't made permanent because the board is conducting a broad inquiry into all passenger fares. The inquiry is expected to be completed next summer.

Major airlines had petitioned the CAB to grant the increases. The changes can go into effect any time after midnight Sunday with the filing of statements with the agency.

The chief change will eliminate the 5 per cent discount which has been allowed on round trips by eight airlines. Another airline—Capital—asked to reduce its discount by 2½ per cent.

The family plan hike will mean a lowering of the 50 per cent discount allowed members other than the head of a household, who pays the full rate. Most of the airlines proposed cutting the amount to 33⅓ per cent.

★ ★ ★

The CAB also authorized elimination of fare concessions at stopovers. Travelers no longer will be permitted to stop at any point along the flight and have their fare computed on the basis of the entire trip.

Recently Hurt in Crash, Elderly Woman Dies

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — A 77-year-old Detroit woman who was injured nearly a month ago in a car accident died yesterday.

Mrs. May Burnham of 4225 Meldrum St., Detroit, suffered a crushed chest and broken arm in the two-car collision near Burlington Sept. 17.

Claims Cities Turning Into Negro Slums

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Why are middle- and upper-bracket income families deserting United States metropolitan centers for the suburbs?

More than 1,300 delegates to the 35th Conference of the National Assn. of Housing and Redevelopment officials have heard a number of reasons. Among them: A growing "racial schism," property values and tax relief.

Dr. Morton Grodzins of the University of Chicago told the conference yesterday "racial schism is the biggest impediment to improved housing" in big cities. This division, he added, "is turning many central cities into lower class, largely Negro, slums."

Stephen G. Thompson, associate editor of architectural forum, suggested income tax laws are driving families out of rented city apartments.

"Real estate taxes paid by a home owner are a deductible income tax item—amounting to a discount of 20 per cent or more," he said. "But a renter gets no such inducement."

Judge Orders Removal of Private Junk Yard

A Rochester couple has been ordered by Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer to remove a junk yard which the Village of Rochester says is on village property and interfering with the entrance to its sanitary fill and sewage disposal plant.

Judge Beer gave Jess J. Richardson and his wife, Myrtle, 30 days to vacate the property located at the east end of Third street.

Richardson, who defended himself in the suit brought by the village, admitted the village possessed the deed to the property, less than an acre in size, but questioned the validity of the deed.

Should Strikers Get U.S. Surplus Food?

OWOSSO (AP) — The question of whether the Shiawassee County Welfare Department legally may dole out government surplus food to men on strike has been put to the board of supervisors.

Welfare Director Ted Hicks raised the issue after three United Auto Workers Union strikers asked that they and fellow strikers be allocated surplus food.

Hicks refused on grounds strikers "have their own strike fund." The applicants retorted that a $30 weekly union allocation would not take care of their families.

Hicks estimated 1,000 Shiawassee residents are employed in Flint and Lansing plants of General Motors Corp. where UAW strikes are in progress.

'His Honor' Charged With Disorderly Conduct

'Fired' Aurora Police Chief Jails Mayor

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Mayor Paul Egan, who has been feuding and fussing with the police chief he fired but who has refused to quit, was jailed Tuesday night—by the chief.

★ ★ ★

Egan, the controversial and publicity-minded chief executive, stayed in his cell about five hours, long after his bond of $200 was posted. He had been charged with disorderly conduct.

The 60-year-old mayor wouldn't leave until bond for four college youths had been posted. They had been arrested when they refused to disperse from the mayor's emergency citizen's meeting. Police broke up the meeting, declaring it an unlawful assembly.

Egan had called the meeting to organize a law enforcement group to replace the city's 68-man police force, which he also has fired.

★ ★ ★

He was in the midst of a tirade against the world in general and Police Chief Donald Curran in particular when the chief and eight policemen walked into the Council chamber.

"We got 10,000 people in America worse than anything they've got in Russia," Egan told the crowd of about 400, "And that Curran is the worst criminal in the whole world. He's worse than Khrushchev."

Curran, speaking over a portable loud-speaker, drowned out the mayor's words, as he said: "Mayor Egan, I arrest you in the name of the law for disorderly conduct and creating a disturbance."

★ ★ ★

"You'll hear about this," Egan shouted as the cops seized him. "This is going to be the most costly thing you ever did."

The crowd booed as the policemen grabbed Egan and took him down stairs and put him in a cell. About an hour later a friend posted $200 bond and he was told he could go home.

The mayor refused. He wouldn't leave, he said, until similar bonds were posted for the four youths arrested on similar charges.

At 12:30 a.m., bond was posted for the college boys. Egan still refused to leave. He said he would stay until his 250-pound bodyguard, V. L. Stevenson, 59, of Chicago, was released. Police, however, held Stevenson for investigation and refused to let him out.

★ ★ ★

The mayor's troubles with the police erupted about three weeks ago when he fired Curran and the police force for failing to clamp down on bingo. But the City Council, voting 4-1, backed Curran and the police force. Egan's efforts to take charge have been frustrated on every front.

To Stand Trial Here After Serving Term

A Keego Harbor man, wanted here for the past five months on a cruelty to children charge, will still face the charge upon his release from the Minnesota State Reformatory where he is serving a five-year sentence for auto theft.

Robert D. Long, first assistant Oakland County prosecutor, has notified reformatory officials that a bench warrant is outstanding here on Frank Szumowski Jr., formerly of 2066 Willow Beach Rd.

The warrant was issued in May against Szumowski, a former amateur boxer, when he failed to appear to stand trial for beating his 10-year-old stepdaughter, Diane Dube, with a razor strop in February.

The 25-year-old Szumowski made it as far as his arraignment when he stood mute, and was not seen again. Judge Frank L. Doty ordered a $500 property bond forfeited when he failed to appear for trial on the charge.

Keego Harbor Police Chief James K. Sisk later received information of Szumowski's sentence to the reformatory at Saint Cloud, Minn., and so informed Long.

Tallahassee, Fla., was the only Southern state capital not captured by Federal troops during the Civil War.

How Russia's Exhibit Compares With Ours

Soviet March on Science Featured at Brussels Fair

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a two-part series by Howard H. Fitzgerald, Pontiac Press business manager on his observations while attending the Brussels Fair.)

By HOWARD H. FITZGERALD II

Probably the most frequently asked question of persons who have visited the Brussels Fair is: How does the Russian exhibit compare with that of the United States?

First, let's start with the physical dimensions. The Russian sector covers some 5.9 acres with the Pavilion proper and its outbuildings covering 3.9 acres. This building is 500 feet long by 233 feet wide and is 70 feet high.

Unlike the majority of other Fair buildings, this structure is based on the prefabrication principle and it is going to be dismantled after the Exhibition and shipped by rail and water to Moscow where it will be used as a permanent exhibition hall. (The other nations have offered their buildings to the government of Belgium, but due to nature and construction, they are going to be torn down.) The central part of the roof is made of glass, thus completing a vast covered courtyard where the existing trees have been left to stand around a gigantic statue of Lenin.

Next to the Soviet Pavilion, a large hall has been constructed for the exhibition of heavy industrial goods, contrary to agreed Fair exhibiting procedures, and of extractive industries, mines, petroleum, etc. This includes a 187-foot oil rig and an automatic mine.

The Russians have included a 1,000-seat theater and concert hall, the undergart of which includes a restaurant featuring the cuisines of many of the nations within the Soviet Union.

Around the circumference of the Pavilion the Russians have parked giant earth - moving equipment. Upon entering the building one will gain an idea of the territory, population and natural riches of Russia, its social and state structure, and the progress made within the Union. There's a map showing the various commercial and ecomonic relations with other countries.

As one walks into the main part of the building, two things strike you immediately. First, Lenin's statue which is at least 35 feet high; second, Sputnik, Mutnik and an assortment of Russian rockets. The various components have been well labeled and explained.

There's a model of the nose cone and the satellite which electrified the world. In the case of Mutnik, a cut-away of the actual container with all the instrumentation that went into orbit with the dog is displayed. This is singularly impressive.

Displayed in the industrial section are achievements of the Soviet chemical, metallurgical, and oil industries, and also models of Soviet automated factories. The power industry is represented by a model of the Kuibyshev Hydroelectric Plant which is the largest in the world. This plant contains their huge turbogenerators which are second to none.

There are two automobiles similar in size to our Pontiac Vista model. They seemed much heavier and the style was definitely European.

Also, there were photographs and models of electric and diesel locomotives, jet airliners—I saw one of these ships at Schiphol Airport in Amsterdam and know they are a flying reality — and other displays illustrating the work in the transportation field.

Carrying out the theme of the Geophysical Year, Russia had a gigantic display of their Polar Expedition with a liberal sampling of he equipment used. This showed great thought and technical knowhow on their part.

Their Modern Art was more acceptable than ours because it was not so extreme. They also had a good display of classical paintings, both landscapes and portraits.

In their Medical Section a model of a new hospital was displayed. A note attached said that if a person spent one minute in each room, it would take 29 days to visit the hospital. Also, they had a model and photographs of one of their TB sanatoriums, which compared very favorably with our best.

One learned of the system of free medical service, the work in medical research, the the training of medical personnel. An interesting fact was brought out at one display, namely, 70 per cent of all doctors are women.

There was a large display of consumer goods running from butter to furs to caviar and wines. The majority of the foods could be purchased in the restaurant.

The clothing was extensive due to the different peoples of the Soviet Union and the climates in which they live. It was interesting to note that the pelts in their mink coats ran horizontal instead of vertical. In my opinion, the clothing lacked imagination and styling as we know it.

One section was devoted to "Atomic Energy for Peace." Here the Soviets developed the theme that atomic energy is finding more and more application in metallurgy, medicine, agriculture, power production and other fields. The exhibit includes a model of the world's first industrial proton synchrophasotron, the most powerful in the world.

As one leaves the building and is desirous of visiting Russia, there's an exhibit which will help one to choose an interesting itinerary. Also, souvenirs are obtainable here.

Granted, the majority of exhibits were models. Maybe they were operative and maybe they weren't. However, one thought is left: We had better reappraise our entire educational, scientific, and medical program if we are going to continue being world leaders. I can feel that hot Russian breath on my neck now and it isn't comfortable.

March 25, 1957, marked an economic milestone for the free countries of Europe. For it was on this day in Rome that as a result of lengthy negotiations the treaties were signed which created the Eutopean Common Market.

Since the launching of the Marshall Plan in 1947, the United States has sought such an economic atmosphere. Paul G. Hoffman, then head of the Marshall Plan, urged in Paris the creation of a single market free of tariff barriers. For several years, his suggestion was not taken seriously.

However, the economic crisis faced by Western Europe after the Israeli - French - British aggression against Egypt in the fall of 1956 pointed up the fact that a common market would not only be convenient but would be necessary.

During July, 1957, the treaties were ratified by the German Federal Republic, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The European Economic Community or Common Market was established to improve the standard of living of its members, to unite their economies, and to avoid disequilibrium in their balance of payments. Over a 12 to 15 year period, customs, duties and import quotas are to be gradually abolished and a common tariff leveled against goods coming from outside this area.

One year after the signing of the treaty, the six states are supposed to reduce mutual tariffs uniformly by 10 per cent. Eighteen months later, they are to be reduced from five to ten per cent. Eventually they would disappear.

The members agreed to establish a common external tariff based on a mathematical average of their tariff rates which existed prior to the signing of the treaty.

Agricultural produce was accorded a special place in order to permit stabilization of the market, regulation of competition and the maintenance of a minimum price system.

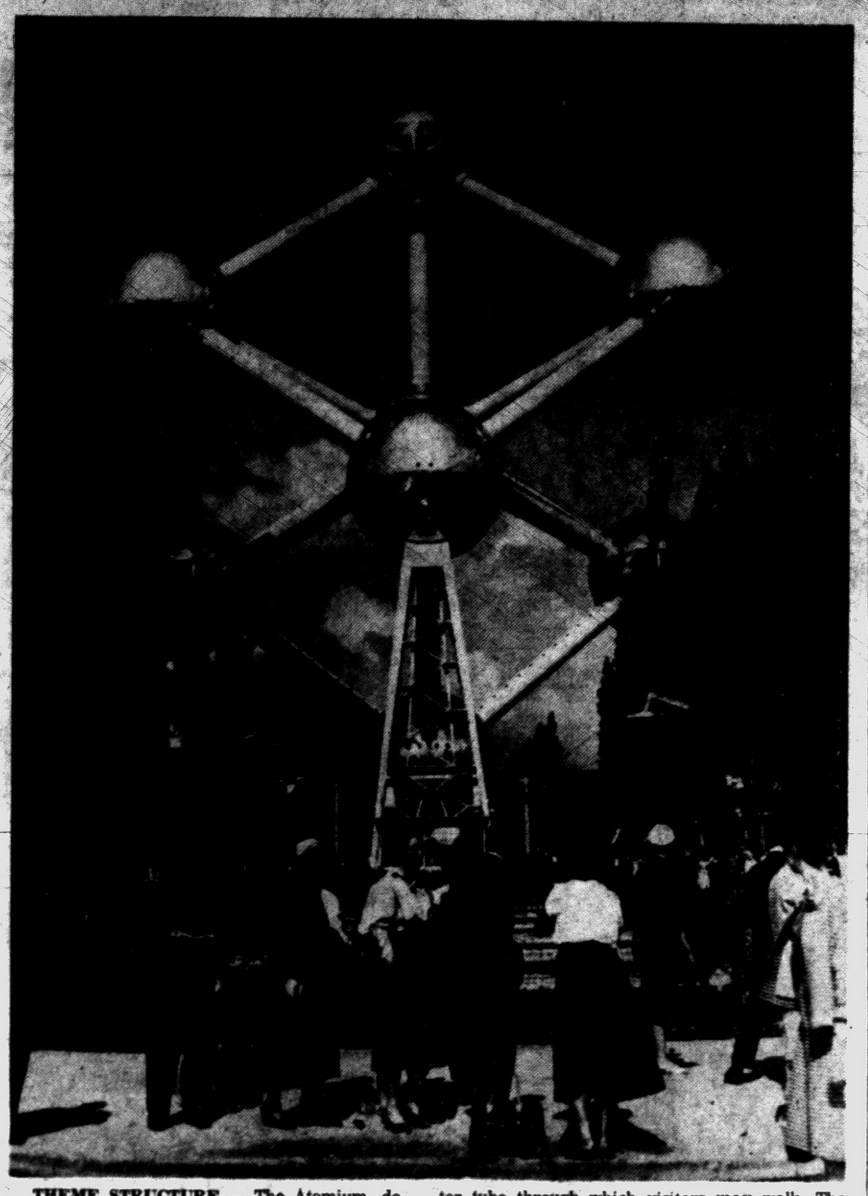

A one billion dollar fund will be created by the member nations to finance (1) projects which could be easily promoted from the resources of one state; (2) government sponsored reconversion schemes which were rendered necessary by the transition to the Common Market; and (3) basic industrial projects in the less developed and underdeveloped areas of the community.

The Market is governed by (1) an Assembly composed of 140 delegates chosen by member states; (2) a Council consisting of one representative of each state. This is the main decision making body; (3) a Commission made up of nine members of which no state may name more than two; and (4) a Court of Justice consisting of seven judges appointed for a six-year term. Its function is to interpret treaties, settle disputes among members and rule on violations.

By giving up a portion of their sovereignty as regards the determination of economic policies, each of the six members stands to gain something substantial in return.

The Common Market shows promise of success because it was founded, not on altruistic theories of cooperation, but rather on a realistic calculation of the various members' vital interests.

THEME STRUCTURE — The Atomium, designed and constructed by the government of Belgium as the theme of the 1958 Universal and International Exhibition, is symbolic of the atomic age in which we live. Each sphere, 60 feet in diameter, is connected by a 10-foot diameter tube through which visitors may walk. The top sphere towers some 340 feet above the Fair, affording an all-encompassing view of the exhibition. The central tube houses an elevator which takes some 500 people per our to the restaurant housed at the top.

Troy Votes Down Hiking School Tax

TROY — In the largest election turnout since its consolidation 10 years ago, 1,880 Troy School District voters yesterday defeated all four tax increase proposals.

The $2,800,000 bond issue for two new schools and the modernization of four others was rejected by a margin of 924 to 836.

A graduated millage increase for three years met defeat, 934 to 913. This money would have been used for operating expenses.

The proposed increase of the millage limitation to seven mills was turned down, 1,003 to 839.

School Superintendent Rex Smith said youngsters in the school system already will begin to feel the pinch Monday when bus transportation will be stopped within a one and a half mile radius of the school.

This would affect all pupils, kindergarten through high school, Smith said, and will cut operational expenses about $20,000 a year. The district still will operate on a $30,000 deficit this year, he said.

"Transportation stoppage is the only major change we can make this year," Smith said. Half-day sessions will be put into effect next September.

There is little use, Smith said, in calling for another vote in the near future. Similar tax increase proposals had been rejected by School District voters three times this year prior to yesterday's election.

Rule on Shell Houses in Orion Township

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Orion Township Board, meeting last night, adopted a resolution requiring that all shell houses — homes unfinished inside — must have a bathroom, septic tank and disposal field. This must be included in the specifications before a building permit will be issued.

The low bid of approximately $13,000 by Stanley Jones of Orion Township for paving of Conklin road between Paul boulevard and Forest Lake drive was accepted by the board.

It was announced the Michigar Inspection Bureau will be asked to inspect the township's fire-fighting equipment in both the village and the township as the first step toward having it brought up to necessary standards.

Call Industrial Physicians

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. physicians will meet in Detroit Friday and Saturday for a two-day industrial health seminar. Chrysler employs 33 doctors, 110 nurses and eight industrial hygienists at 47 installations in seven states.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL J. CARTER

Marilynn Ileen Hotchkiss Married at Ortonville

ORTONVILLE — Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday evening at New Hope Bible Church by Marilynn Ileen Hotchkiss and Daniel J. Carter. Performing the double-ring candlelight rite was the Rev. Marvin Porritt of the Community Missionary Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hotchkiss of 2390 Sashabaw Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edward Carter of 325 Granger Rd.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Roger Jacobs of Ortonville. Other attendants were the bride's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Loren Hotchkiss and Mrs. Lyle Hotchkiss.

★ ★ ★

Serving as best man for his brother was Donald Carter of Clarkston. Groomsmen were the bride's brothers, Loren and Lyle. Ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Robert, and his brother-in-law, Kenneth Austin.

Victory Is Rewarded

Walled Lake to Award Bids on School Nov. 10

WALLED LAKE — Bids for construction of an 11-room addition to Walled Lake Senior High School will be awarded Nov. 10, the Walled Lake Board of Education announced.

Plans and specifications, approved this week by the Board, are being advertised.

In other business at its Monday night meeting, the Board opened bids on kitchen equipment for the new junior high school now under construction. The low bid of $21,772 was submitted by the Great Lakes Hotel and Supply Co. of Detroit.

The Board also announced it will borrow $50,000 from the Community National Bank of Pontiac against future state aid payments. The bank's bid of 2¼ per cent was low. The money will be used for operating expenses.

The Board approved the following:

1—A work schedule of 8½ hours a day for five consecutive days each week.

2—Accumulation of sick leave for 60 days, with half of the accumulated sick leave time to be paid upon retirement or death of the employe, providing he has had 15 consecutive years of service.

3—Establishment of an overtime rate of $2 an hour, except on Saturday and Sunday when the rate will be $2.50. This will become effective Oct. 20.

Langerman also reported that due to poor response by parents, the fall camping program will be cancelled. The spring dates are still open, however, he said.

A request from the Dublin School District, asking that some of its junior high students be permitted to attend Walled Lake schools beginning September, 1959, was presented to the Board.

Superintendent Clifford H. Smart was instructed by the Board to examine the prospective enrollments and inform the Dublin District that these students would be accepted as space permits.

★ ★ ★

The Board also announced that it will ask the State Municipal Finance Commission for approval to sell $650,000 in bonds. The sale was approved by voters in June for school construction.

Southfield Council OKs Fund Transfer

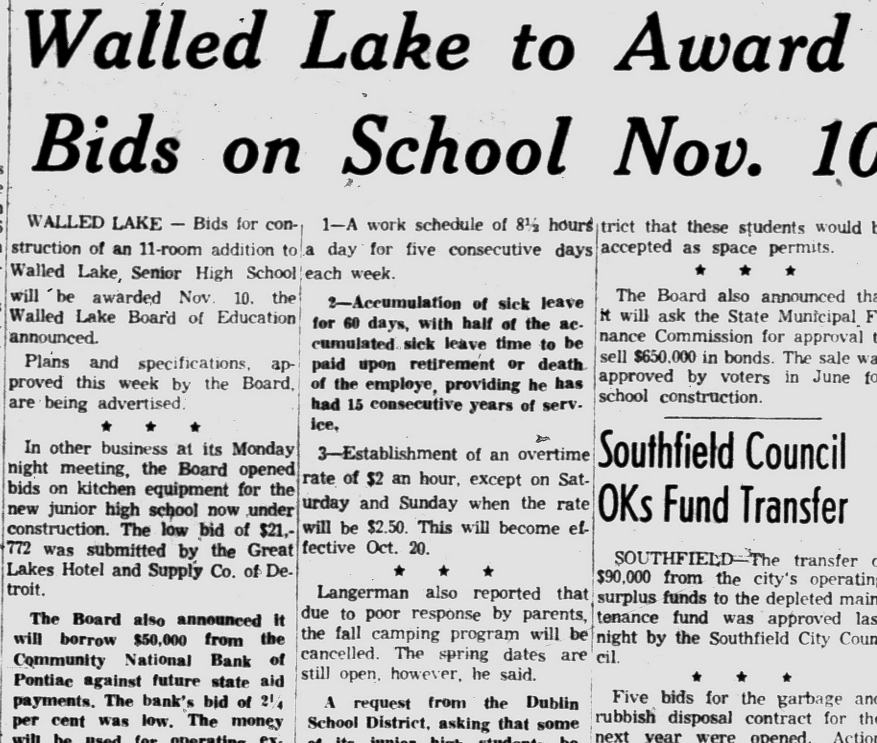

SOUTHFIELD—The transfer of $90,000 from the city's operating surplus funds to the depleted maintenance fund was approved last night by the Southfield City Council.

★ ★ ★

Five bids for the garbage and rubbish disposal contract for the next year were opened. Action was postponed until Oct. 21.

Adlai Berates Foreign Policy

Sees Americans United on Formosa, but Split Over Quemoy, Matsu

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson says, "We must make our own foreign policy and not permit it to be made for us."

★ ★ ★

As he made the statement he said Americans are united in the belief that U.S. commitments to defend Formosa should be honored.

What differences of views exist, he added, relate to Quemoy and Matsu, which he described as "hardly defensible."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) agreed with Stevenson's appraisal of the American people's attitude at a news conference Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Also at the news conference with the two-time presidential nominee and Humphrey were three other Democrats—Gov. Averell Harriman, running for re-election; Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, candidate for U.S. senator from New York; and former U.S. Sen. Herbert S. Lehman of New York.

Stevenson said the New York state election is regarded by the country and the world as a referendum on the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration.

★ ★ ★

For this reason, Stevenson said, it is important that New York state have a Democratic victory Nov. 4 to demonstrate the anxiety which he said the people feel about the conduct of the nation's foreign policy.

Imports of sweet-chocolate candy from Britain, Holland, Switzerland, and other candy-making countries exceeded 7,000,000 pounds in 1957, an increase of 16 per cent over 1956.

Nixon Brings Message of Cheer to California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Nixon brought a message intended to cheer on California Republicans in his second campaign visit in two weeks.

★ ★ ★

He told a $100-a-plate dinner Tuesday night there has been a sharp upturn in Republican prospects throughout the country since his last tour of his home state.

"These next three weeks will determine the result in California," he said.

"If we step up our campaign and make the fight of our lives we shall elect our entire Republican ticket this November."

Sen. William F. Knowland, fighting an uphill battle for governor, asserted flatly, "We will carry this election."

The vice president, with Knowland on his left and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight on his right, spoke of the campaign as a great cause—"bigger than any differences between Republicans."

That was close as he has come to any public reference to the split between Knowland and Knight. Knight gave up his quest for re-election and became the GOP nominee for the Senate after Knowland entered the gubernatorial race.

Knowland told some 1,500 diners in the Cow Palace that he has been asked in his campaign travels why he raised controversial issues.

★ ★ ★

He mentioned no specific issues, but presumably he referred chiefly to his advocacy of "right-to-work" legislation. He is the only candidate of either ticket to openly favor the initiative measure on California's November ballot to outlaw the union shop.

Knowland said his answer to his questioners is that he doesn't believe in sacrificing principle for expediency.

★ ★ ★

He said that unless Americans were willing to raise controversial issues, this country never would have gained its independence or abolished slavery.

Nixon declared the Democratic tide has reached its peak throughout the nation and is now "melting away."

"Our opponents are fresh out of issues," he said, "They are boring the people to death with the same worn-out discredited charges. Every issue they have tried has fizzled like a wet firecracker."

Denies Having Windows Broken to Stir Business

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An auto glass shop owner says he didn't send out the help—including a 15-year-old worker—to break windshields to drum up some business.

Archie Lever, 39, was released in $2,000 bond on charges of malicious injury to property and causing a minor to become a delinquent. Lever denied both charges.

★ ★ ★

Joe Louis Nash, 18, a Lever employe arrested Tuesday, told police that he and the younger worker shattered between 100 and 150 windshields and car windows.

Detective Sgt. William Pollack reported that Nash said he and the other youth were hired by Lever to stimulate business.

Lever's own car window was among those broken. Nash told police that Lever admonished him: "You stupid idiot, don't you know my car when you see it?"

Nash was held for investigation; the other youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Judge Naively by Looks

College Boys Tell How to 'Pinpoint' Women

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Men often are so clever and witty as individuals that a woman tends to forget how naive and dull men can be in a clump.

Today comes the reminder.

In a recent test at a Southern University, a large group of male students claimed that they can separate the "ladies" from the "she-wolves" strictly by analyzing photographs of female faces.

Faced with the photos of some 50 dolls, the men — to a boy — marked down the same reactions.

They were wary of thin-lipped ladies. Thin lips were the mark of grimness.

Thin eyebrows meant a phony.

Girls with full lips were assumed to be sensual, and wide bright eyes indicated, said the students, a faithful and loyal personality.

Lines in the forehead were a certain sign, not of poor eyesight or sun-squinting, but of a humorless femme.

For reasons only a college boy could explain, a square face and straight lips were evidence the girl is generous.

THE EXPERIENCED TYPE

And bow-shaped lips, admirably formed, were a sign—not that nature had caressed her — but, according to a lot of men: a "girl who's been around."

The boys claimed also to see more than a sleepless night in the past of the female with droopy eyelids. The eyelid at half-mast was the mark of the menace, utterly unacceptable for family viewing.

A soft complexion, as the boys saw it, was a sign of "character." And an extra-wide smile, of course, was the mark of the wholesome.

We would not think of disillusioning our collegiate friends, even though every woman is aware that powder, paint and a good eyebrow liner could turn the most vicious thin-lipped, slit-eyed, forehead-lined lady into a wholesome American girl.

We think it pertinent to note, however, that as these young see-all, know-littles grow up, they will learn never to judge a woman's contents by her packaging.

After Trip Behind Bamboo Curtain, Strohm Finds:

It's Fatal to Have Ideas in Red China

By JOHN STROHM

NEW YORK (NEA)—I had been chatting informally with a Red Chinese government official for some time when he leaned forward and asked:

"What did you hear about China before you came here?"

I decided frankness was the best policy. So I replied:

STROHM

"Some good — but mostly bad."

"I realize your monopoly press slanders our country," he said quickly.

"Well," I countered, "what about all of those people you shot? Isn't that true?"

"They deserved to be punished," he retorted. "They would not cooperate with the land reform and it was impossible to liberate our potential productive capacity without land reform."

So there it was, a flat confirmation of one of the big questions about the Red republic, and uttered with calm assurance that no reasonable person could be shocked.

The British, who recognize Peiping and admittedly have more precise sources than most Western nations, estimate that Mao Tse-tung's regime actually shot 800,000 to one and a half million Chinese during the "land reform."

The American figure is five to 10 million, but it may include some sentenced to prison or "rehabilitation."

All of these souls are gone without a trace, but a new kind of purge is evident everywhere. It is the purge of ideas.

"What we aim at is to wipe out all harmful ideas opposed to socialist construction—but not the people who harbor those ideas," a party official told me.

"And what happens to them?"

"They're remolded," he said.

This "remolding" is perhaps the most dramatic single enterprise in Red China. Hundreds of thousands—some say even millions—of government officials, writers, artists and businessmen have been sent out to farms or construction projects to work the "conservative" ideas out of their systems. Or as the Party puts it "to purify themselves for communism."

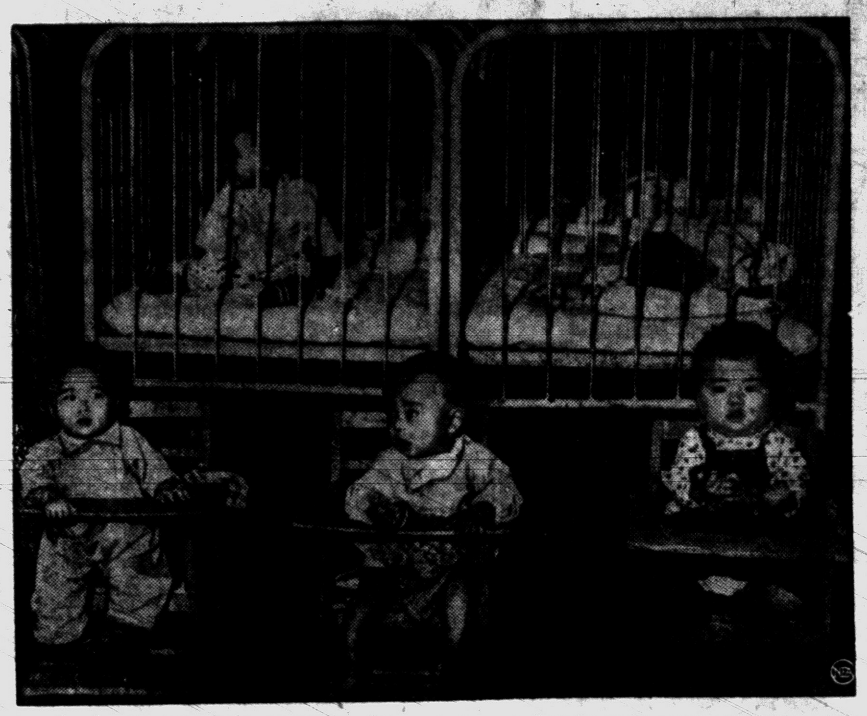

Three cabinet ministers, top authors and movie stars are among the intellectual elite put out to redeem themselves.

These are the ones who spoke up when Mao published a report in 1956 entitled: "Let flowers of all kinds blossom, diverse schools of thought contend."

Their sin was in criticizing the Party. The current doctrine puts it this way: the decision has been made that the Communist Party knows what's best for the people of China. So anything in China is subject for criticism except the Communist Party.

One who, as I, has just come from an extensive tour of Russia is at once impressed by the speed of Mao's campaign to communalize life.

The Chinese are hurtling toward pure communism at a pace that makes Russia look like it's standing still. They are intoxicated with the thrill of running their own show—they're no Russian stooges.

PARKED BY THE DAY OR WEEK — In a state-run kindergarten in Peiping, these youngsters are brought up in communal fashion while their parents work in a textile mill.

I heard more Marx quoted in Red China than on any trip to Russia, heard more denunciation of Yugoslavia's Tito.

"Don't forget we've had the benefit of Soviet leadership" — and then with a smile—"and of Soviet mistakes."

In most factories I saw Russian machinery. In every hotel I ate in the same dining room with Soviet technicians. However, I saw no more evidence that Russia is running China than that American technical assistance people are running Nehru's India.

Farmers are paid like factory workers. Canteens feed them three times a day so housewives can be "emancipated" from their grinding stones and rice pots to work with rake or lathe.

If the farmer rips his pants he gets them mended in a communal tailor shop. Laundry is done the same way. The kids are parked in state kindergartens, sometimes for the day, sometimes all week.

Some of the communes are experimenting with a system whereby the farmer and his wife work apart all week and only live together weekends. Russia tried some of these stunts early in the revolution but the Chinese seem bent on starting communism at "A" despite anything that may be said about learning from Russian errors.

Russia has agreed to finance and build 210 major projects in the first Chinese Five-Year Plan and 45 in the second—for a fee, of course. Many times I looked at the name-plate on a machine tool to see the country of origin. Factory officials would speak up: Russian—but we can now make these machines in China."

The Chinese have built 139 different types of tractors in the past five months and some of those that I examined looked efficient, although there were also a conglomeration of steam, electric and wood-burning jobs.

Actually if China does catch up with Britain, because of its greater size the Chinese will have only 10 per cent of the living standard of the British.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Yomar Group Chairman Is Mrs. Wright

Mrs Richard Wright was elected chairman of the Yomar Group of the First Presbyterian Church at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Sashabaw road home of Mrs. Fred Turek.

Other officers are Mrs. Earl Van Dyke, vice chairman; Mrs. Gene Feneley, secretary, and Mrs. L. V. Ostrander, treasurer.

Participating in the meeting were Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Edson Doolittle, Mrs. Lester Martindale and Mrs. George Stinnett.

Voters League Fund Turn-In Set Friday

Friday is the final "turn-in" date for League of Women Voters of Pontiac fund campaign, Mrs. Fredric Bailey, finance chairman has announced. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the YWCA, with Mrs. Bailey and Laura Belz, treasurer on hand to receive funds and kits.

Twenty-three women from the league have been making calls on the public for the past two weeks to collect donations.

Among the league jobs are interviewing candidates for the City Commission and Board of Education. This group also has maintained a speakers bureau on constitutional revision since January.

To Wash Woolens

A primary rule for washing woolens is to use warm water and more soap or detergent than is normal for other fibers. Wool fibers are so absorbent that you need to use suds lavishly.

Symphony Opens Here

By WILLIAM WALROD

Last night the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra presented its first concert of the 1958-59 season under the direction of Francesco di Blasi. This opening concert was presented at the Lincoln Junior High School Auditorium. Future concerts will be held at the new Northern High School Auditorium.

Guest soloist at the orchestra's concert was the renowned violinist, Mischa Mischakoff, concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Before coming to Detroit in 1952, Mr. Mischakoff was concertmaster of the NBC Symphony Orchestra from 1937 until 1952 under the late Maestro Arturo Toscanini.

Mr. di Blasi and the orchestra opened the concert with the Overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by Felix Mendelssohn. This composition is lively and lyrical, well portraying the happy, joyous spirit of this gifted 19th Century composer. The fine balance of the woodwind section of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra was particularly noticeable in this work.

VIOLIN SPOTLIGHTED

Highlight of the concert was Henri Wieniawski's "Violin Concerto No. 2 in D Minor," featuring Mischakoff as violin soloist. Mr. Wieniawski was himself a very talented violinist; consequently, this concerto is one of the more technically difficult violin concerti.

Mischakoff, di Blasi and the orchestra did a superb performance of interpreting this masterpiece. The tempo was moderate and moving, but not so fast that it "showed off" the technical skill of the violinist in such a way that the proper artistry of interpretation was slighted. In addition to the concerto, Mischakoff presented three encores: compositions for unaccompanied violin by Kreisler and Bach and a Swiss lullaby.

This excerpt gave the orchestra an opportunity to demonstrate the skill and majesty of its brass section, which was forcefully but artistically done. Wagner's music requires tremendous endurance on the part of the performers, yet the orchestra performed this work with finesse and artistry.

Arnell and Delius are both 20th Century British composers. Arnell's Sonata, although only eight minutes in length, is a masterpiece combining classic sonata-allegro form with modern 20th Century harmonies. Delius' "The Walk to the Paradise Garden' is a lovely reverie from a little known opera entitled "A Village Romeo and Juliet."

CHANGE IN PACE

A drastic change in pace was the Grieg music as arranged by Wright and Forrest for the musical show, "The Song of Norway." Although many critics and musicologists take exception to this type of musical production, it cannot be denied that this show brought Grieg before many people who might otherwise never appreciate this most gifted Norwegian composer. These selections provided a fitting climax to a varied and interesting program of 19th and 20th Century music.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and its capable director, Mr. di Blasi, are to be highly complimented on last evening's professional sounding concert.

The members of the Pontiac Symphony are men and women from many walks of life who join together to rehearse and perform because they love and enjoy serious music and are willing to contribute their time and energy in order that Pontiac might have a fine symphony orchestra.

It is this civic spirit that has gained for Pontiac a membership in the American Symphony League and a reputation as one of the fine civic orchestras in this part of the country.

Beth Jacob Women Slate U.N. Program

Mrs. Leo Goldberg of Ann Arbor will speak and show slides of a trip she and Dr. Goldberg recently made to Russia when the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob sponsors a United Nations Program and luncheon at 1 p.m. Oct. 21 at the synagogue on Elizabeth Lake avenue. Mrs. Goldberg is the former Charlotte Wyman.

The affair is open to the public.

Musicale Acclaims Dalley

By CHRIS GAENSBAUER

Perfect autumn weather on Tuesday afternoon and the prospect of a fine musical program brought a capacity crowd of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale members to the opening meeting at Grace Lutheran Fellowship Hall.

The artist for this first concert was John Dalley, violinist, who was introduced by program chairman Mrs. J. B. Forman.

Mr. Dalley currently is teaching violin at Oberlin College, and his appearance here aroused more than passing interest because he is the son of Orien Dalley, orchestral conductor with the University of Michigan School of Music, and nephew of Dr. S. J. Dalley of Pontiac.

SHOWS GREAT TALENT

There is always pleasure and satisfaction in listening to a very young artist who displays great talent that has been highly developed technically. Mr. Dalley possesses these qualities to a high degree, plus a pleasing stage presence and no inclination to indulge in superfluous histrionics often noted in violinists.

★ ★ ★

The program opened with the well known sonata by Tartini, popularly called "The Devil's Trill." It was immediately evident from the smooth, flowing tone of the legato first movement to the unbelievably difficult trill itself, that here was a violinist whose technical control and dexterity were developed to the point where the technique was the servant of the music and the musician.

This was again exemplified in the short Paganini Sonata which followed, with its simple statement of theme and the lively variations in double stop skillfully performed.

★ ★ ★

The audience enjoyed the Suite of Roumanian Dances by the late Bela Bartok. These contained an infinite variety of mood and melancholy typical of Slavic folk music. Mr. Dalley seems to have unusual skill in varying the quality and texture of the tone he produces. In the Nigun (Improvisation) by Block, he revealed the dramatic, sonorous, sometimes brilliant quality of this composer, whose music is always reminiscent of his Hebrew heritage.

FINE CLIMAX

The violin tone took on luster and an ethereal quality for the gently beautiful "Beau Soir" of Debussy arranged by Kneisler. This was a high spot on the program.

To close, Mr. Dalley played the ever popular "Gypsy Airs" of Sarasati and obliged with "Variations on a Theme of Corelli" by Tartini, arranged by Kneisler.

Tuesday Musicale members were unanimous in their approval of this young artist who seems destined for a distinguished musical career. Accompanying Mr. Dalley here from Oberlin was Edward Mattos who provided fine support at the piano.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ralph Norvell, club president, presided over the business meeting preceding the program. Members were urged to support the Pontiac Symphony, and a plan for volunteers to help with musical therapy at Pontiac State Hospital was presented.

The social committee was headed by Mrs. William Donaldson and Mrs. E. G. Wynn, cochairman. Assisting were Mrs. Philip Rowston, Mrs. Elmer Reynolds, Mrs. Howard Marsh, Mrs. Charles Galloway, Mrs. Basil Kimball and Mrs. John Little. Door hostesses were Mrs. D. E. Redman and Mrs. N. K. Hunter.

Don't Trade Real Values for Fantasy — Abby

Golden Voice Sends Mother of 3 on Wings of Surrealist Romance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Please don't throw this letter away thinking it's from a mixed-up school girl. I am a married woman of 34 and have three children and am very unhappy in my marriage. Just for the fun of it I called up a man who has a radio program. I fell in love with his voice. He doesn't know who I am and wants to keep it that way.

ABBY

"Abby, just to hear his voice does something to me. In a few minutes of conversation with my secret lover get all the warmth and happiness I've always wanted. He doesn't know how I feel about him and I would never tell him. I have made a scrap book of his pictures and writeups. Could this be real love?"

IN LOVE WITH A VOICE

DEAR IN: This is not love—it's "hero worship." We have to live in a real world with real people. Come back to reality and direct some of that energy to your husband and children. They can reciprocate.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I take a trip back home to see my parents in another state every summer. For the last two summers when I was gone, I got letters from my friends telling me that my husband has been seen around town with a very good looking blonde divorcee. My husband is a very friendly type and I never was jealous because he sees a lot of women for business reasons. This one bothers me more than the others. Do you think he is seeing her for business reasons?" ANNETTE

DEAR ANNETTE: It's possible. What's her business?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: The letter from 'Unpaid Seamstress' hit home with me. I was one of those women who couldn't say 'no' when my friends would ask me to 'run up a seam' for them. I found myself sewing for friends so much I didn't have time for my own housework, so my husband told me that when a friend would ask me to sew I should say, 'I'd love to, but here are six shirts and three dresses for you to iron, and also a little mending if you get time.' I did—nobody has bothered me since."

ANOTHER SEAMSTRESS

"DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a swell fellow. We were planning on being married, but recently we've had to change our plans because he received a letter from a girl he met while he was still in the service. She says she is pregnant, and my boy friend is the father and he had better hurry and do something about it because she isn't able to button her skirts anymore.

"Abby, I am crazy about this fellow, and love him all the more because he was honest enough to tell the truth about this girl. We hate to have to go to court about this matter, but he says the chances are 50-50 she is lying. Please give us some advice. Fast."

IN A JAM

DEAR IN: The only place you'll find a solution to this problem is in a lawyer's office. Go! Fast!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: They say in Old Testament days Jewish mothers did not suffer the agonies of childbirth as Gentile mothers did because they were God's chosen people. I am wondering if this blessing still holds true today?"

A GENTILE

DEAR GENTILE: I don't know where you got your information, but it wasn't from any Jewish mothers. Jewish mothers (along with Gentiles) go down "the same valley in the shadow of death" according to the Good Book.

★ ★ ★

ARTHUR FERRANTA — LOUIS TEICHER

Sunday at Waterford

Slate 2 Pianists

Arthur Ferrante and Louis Teicher, young concert pianists, will be the featured players at Waterford Township Civic Music Association's first concert of the season. The concert will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at Isaac E. Crary Junior High School Auditorium.

The two have been playing pianos together since they were six years old, when they met as students in Juilliard School of Music, New York City.

Traveling by car, accompanied by their specially designed truck with driver and two concert grands, they have played in 48 states and Canada since their first performance with The Toledo Symphony in 1957.

They also have appeared on every major radio network and in TV. In their recitals they combine classical music with their own arrangements of popular composers. They have devised original gadgets to extend the tonal range of their pianos.

★ ★ ★

Ferrante, the son of a violinist, was born in New York City. Teicher was born in Wilkes Barre, Pa. Both served as faculty members at Juilliard.

Officers Named by Daughters of Isabella

Officers of Daughters of Isabella were elected Tuesday evening at Knights of Columbus Hall. They are Mrs. Daniel Scott, regent; Mrs. George Michael, vice regent; Mrs. Martin Buikema, financial secretary; Stella Stevens, recording secretary, and Mrs. Louis Koprince, treasurer.

Others are Mrs. Fern Stuman, trustee; Mrs. Frank Quinlan, custodian; Mrs. Robert Copeman, chancelor; Mrs. Ernest George, monitor; Mrs. Charles Burch, banner bearer; Mrs. Joseph Pfeffer, outer guard; Lucille Younce, inner guard; Caroline Buikema, first guide; Regina Dechane, second guide; Rose Griffin, scribe, and Mrs. Warren Cosgrove, organist.

Installation for new officers will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 27 at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Noble Grands Plan Christmas Party

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. Florence McCrae, Dec. 9. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hazel Wegner of Rochester.

VFW 1008 Auxiliary Donates to 4 Funds

A number of donations were made when the VFW 1008 Auxiliary met Monday evening at the post rooms on Pike street. Funds were given for a needy family, cancer research, the United Fund and Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Plans were made for a money-making project to be held Oct. 25.

Williamson, Mrs. Velma Baynes, Mrs. LemMon, Mrs. Ernest Hassenzahl, Carol Hassenzahl, Mrs. W. E. Bartlebaugh and Mrs. Laura Harris, both of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Benson Kaiser of Holland, and Mrs. Vern Bresette of New Baltimore.

No Signs Please, in Home

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Since my wife's recent hospitalization she gets very sick when people smoke in our house. We have explained this to our friends and they refrain from smoking when they are here. However, there are many times when we have visitors who do not know of this and they proceed to smoke.

"In order to avoid this and the embarrassment of asking them to please put out their cigarettes, could I possibly put up a "No smoking, please" sign as they often do in doctors' offices? I would certainly appreciate your opinion on this."

Answer: No, please don't even think of the sign. You will simply have to be watchful and try to stop anyone who takes out a cigarette before he (or she) is able to light it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who is going abroad and I would like to know where I had better send my bon voyage present. How do I address it if sent to the boat?"

Answer: Personal presents, as well as books or magazines, are often given beforehand, but all perishable or bulky items such as flowers, fruit, etc., should be sent to the boat, addressed: Miss Mary Blank, 1st cabin passenger, S.S. Gigantic, United States Line, New York.

It is imperative to remember that unless you give something that can be used on the voyage and any remainder thrown away upon leaving the ship, it should be something really useful and that will take up little space in her luggage.

Dear Mrs. Post: When my husband and I dine in a restaurant, is it proper that he order the food for both of us or should I give my order directly to the waiter?"

Answer: He should ask you what you would like and then give your order and his own to the waiter.

PEO Chapter Holds Luncheon

The home of Mrs. Charles W. Buck on Oxford road was the scene of a luncheon given by Chapter CL of PEO Sisterhood Monday afternoon.

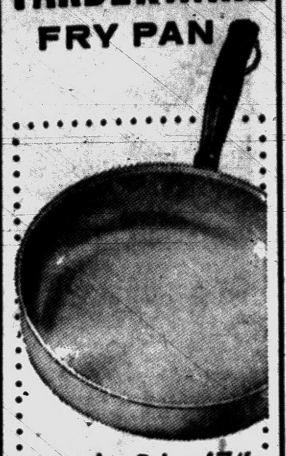

Mrs. James Henderson presented a talk on a PEO project, the International Peace Scholarships. She reported that 87 scholarships were given last year and it is hoped that the number may be increased considerably this coming year. Many area groups entertain these foreign scholarship students, having them appear at gatherings in their native costumes.

Elda Sutter, luncheon committee chairman, was assisted by Mrs. H. M. O'Toole, Mrs. M. J. Wager, Mrs. Max Fell and Mrs. Henderson.

Mother Cannot Be Child's Whole World

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. T. writes, "Some months ago when my daughter was seriously ill, I took over the care of her two-year-old son. Recently I realized that she resents the attachment Dickie developed for me during this time.

The other day when I was visiting her she snatched him off my lap and frankly accused me of trying to steal his affection from her. I was so hurt I couldn't defend myself, and still don't know how to deal with this jealousy . . ."

The people who are supposed to know are constantly telling you how important you are to your baby. They say his welfare depends on the kind of love you give him. If it's satisfying, he'll be a credit to you. But if it isn't, he'll become a candidate for psychotherapy. As his mother, you alone possess the power to make him a well-adjusted child.

A young mother who's struggling to deliver this satisfying love would be bound to feel severe self-approach if her child showed need for somebody else's love — and clambered up on Grandma's lap too often. His action would accuse her of failing to deliver that all-important, satisfying love.

UNDERSTAND JEALOUSY

If we can see her jealousy as her strained attempt to be all-in-all to Dickie, it may stop hurting us and begin to arouse our compassion instead.

We might be able to say to her, "Why do you try to be everything to Dickie? Little children love many things—toys, ice cream, puddles, grandparents, other children. As you cannot be the world to Dickie, it's pretty silly to make yourself miserable whenever you discover that you're not."

However, to be useful, these words would have to be gently spoken.

A daughter who is pressed by an inflamed sense of responsibility for her child can't stand our taking too much responsibility for her. If we want her to give Dickie the freedom to love us, we have to give her freedom to accept or reject what we say.

So we don't want to infuse our words with resentment that would give them force, but just lay them quietly down to be picked up or ignored according to our grown child's need of them.

★ ★ ★

Scout Camp Invites Inspection

Camp Sherwood will hold its Fall Open House from 2 to 4 o'clock Sunday to give families of girls new to Scouting or camping in this area an opportunity to visit the camping facilities owned by Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

There will be a walking tour of the camping units, located on Davis Lake north of Lapeer. Anyone interested is welcome.

Recent figures show that two-week attendance by girls registered in this council have increased from 113 in 1956 to 266 in 1958.

While Girl Scouts is an agency of the United Fund, Camp Sherwood is partially by camper fees and 85 per cent of the annual cookie sale proceeds.

Mary Ellen Kenifeck Wed

MRS. W. W. O'SHAUGHNESSY

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Kenifeck of Birmingham, followed the Saturday wedding of Mary Ellen Kenifeck and Wayne W. O'Shaughnessy at St. Dunstan's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook. Mr. O'Shaughnessy is the son of Carl O'Shaughnessy of Keego Harbor.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over silk taffeta featuring long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held by a cap of Chantilly lace outlined with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of orchids and carnations.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Charles W. Stone. She was dressed in a pink Parisienne-length gown with a full gathered skirt of chiffon accented wtih a shirred chiffon cummerbund and a floating hem-length panel.

Mrs. Kenifeck wore a dress of rose lace over taffeta with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding.

The couple will live in Birmingham.

Attention Getter

Giant plaids are in fashion everywhere, and they come in dazzling colors. Since they also call attention to a woman's figure, it's a wise shopper who buys herself a new foundation garment when she buys a plaid dress or tunic.

Bathe Furniture

Wood furniture can be washed safely and actually needs an occasional bath. A well-sudsed, damp cloth or sponge will do the job. Never soak furniture but wipe it carefully, rinse with a damp cloth and rub dry.

What's in Future for Eddie Fisher?

(This is the second of three dispatches on the personalities involved in the Liz Taylor-Eddie Fisher-Debbie Reynolds triangle and how it is affecting their careers and personal lives.)

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — A wise man once noted that a halo need slip only 10 inches to become a noose.

The big question in Hollywood these days is just how Eddie Fisher's halo has slipped with the public since he began dating Elizabeth Taylor—the widow of his best friend, Mike Todd—and broke up his "storybook" marriage to Debbie Reybolds.

Ed Fisher, a publicist at Screen Gems Films who has received some of the singer's mail by mistake, said: "A lot of people who wrote are rather discouraged with their hero. The letters were favorable to Debbie but not to Eddie. They seem to forget he's just a normal human being who makes mistakes."

What are the prospects, then, for the future of the 30-year-old singer?

Eddie Cantor, who discovered him nine years ago when he sang at Jennie Grossinger's resort in the Catskill mountains, said:

"I wish I knew, but I don't. If I did, I'd be a network president."

George Jessel, an old friend of the Fishers and the Todds, said:

"The only way Eddie can possibly be hurt is by a client (sponsor). In the television business, the client can hurt you more directly than the public, particularly if they get a lot of letters."

Hopefully, he added: "Personally, I think the only thing that can hurt Eddie with the public is if he sings badly."

Some of Fisher's friends think differently. Said one:

"The smartest thing that Eddie can do is realize that people will no longer think of him as the bashful young son of a poor vegetable peddler. He left that league when he started seeing Liz.

"He's got to develop a new, more worldly and mature personality. And actually, that's what he's really wanted for a long time. You hear a lot of stories about how much he worshipped Mike Todd, but the guy he really wants to be like is Frank Sinatra."

"I used to be very shy and bashful, and a little bit stays with you. When I lived in Philadelphia as a boy, my mother would ask me to sing for relatives, and I'd go upstairs and hide under the bed."

When Eddie was scaling the peaks, one of his advisors remarked: "There's only one thing that worries me. What will he be like a year from now?"

Colorful Cranberry Ice Made With Ginger Ale

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Fresh cranberries are now in the stores and a welcome sight they are. Get a pound and make this simple Cranberry Ice, as suggested by Mrs. John Onken.

Both the Onkens belong to the West Bloomfield Township Players. Onken likes bowling and pinochle. She loves to sew for herself and her three children.

CRANBERRY ICE
By Mrs. John Onken

1 pound cranberries
2 cups hot water
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups ginger ale

Combine cranberries and hot water. Cook until berries pop. Put through a sieve. Combine with other ingredients and pour into freezing trays. Freeze until firm.

This may be served as a dessert, with a fruit salad or as a meat accompaniment. Serves 8-10.

Eddie-Debbie Break May Teach Lesson

RUTH MILLETT

It was the day after the news broke that Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher's romantic love story and highly publicized "perfect marriage" had turned into just another Hollywood triangle.

I was having a cup of coffee in a drugstore and in the next booth five teen-age girls were having sodas and discussing what to them was a stunning bit of news.

"I just can't believe it," said one of the young voices. "I never thought anything like this could happen to them," said another. "Imagine anybody married to Debbie even looking at that old Elizabeth Taylor," exclaimed another of the girls.

And then she added thoughtfully, "Why she's been married I don't know how many times. I just can't picture Eddie Fisher with her. He and Debbie were the cutest couple together."

The talk went on and on. To me the surprising thing was the sad disillusionment in the young voices. They were genuinely shocked and hurt by the news that anything could happen to a couple who in their eyes were the luckiest young people in the world.

All over the country there must be this same kind of shocked disbelief among teenagers at this chapter in the Debbie-Fisher romance.

Don't feel too disillusioned, kids. Perhaps, you have learned cheaply a very important lesson. Marriage is much more than a couple's looking cute together.

A happy marriage is based on a much more solid foundation. It's based on love plus character. Young people don't hear much about character these days. If they did they wouldn't be so stunned that a couple who had everything could fail to live happily ever after.

It's a good idea to have a place in the kitchen where you can sit down and do your planning, suggests a specialist in home management. If you have enough space you may want a desk for taking care of all family business right in the kitchen.

Ruth Baumann Is Honored at Bridal Shower

★ ★ ★

The bride-elect took this occasion to announce her attendants. Miss Willow will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Alice Bego and Judy Palmer, with Mary Jo Schwartz of Toledo, Ohio, as flower girl.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Harold Jennett also has honored Miss Baumann at a shower at the Dakota drive home of her mother, Mrs. V. A. Yakel.

Parents of the engaged couple are Mrs. Helen Baumann of Washington street and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Neff of Milford.

Holiday Farms Garden Club Holds Meeting

★ ★ ★

Also speaking at the meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Raymond McMorris on Lynsue drive, was Mrs. Arthur Arnold, a member of the Waterford Branch. The topic was "Dried Arrangements".

Not for Real Hefties

Exercise Will Take Off the Inches

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I think that many women are confused by the problem which the following presents. This reader writes, "Dear Mrs. Lowman: This is a request for enlightenment.

If you are only a few pounds overweight, you can lose in inches with exercise.

Several weeks ago I read a series about weight, weight reduction and the myths and stories surrounding same. Among other things the concluding chapter stated emphatically that there isn't any way to lose weight in certain localized portions of the body, whether through exercise, machines, manipulation or what have you.

"While the aforementioned makes sense, I am not in complete agreement. Reading your daily columns I see that you, too, have not accepted such glib advice. You specify various exercises for various portions of the body which are not in proportion.

"After working some time with exercise I reduced my thighs and hips and now have a fine figure. At the time I was on a sensible diet since I always have been interested in nutrition for its health as well as its esthetic value.

"I am writing you now to clear up one point which is worrying me to distraction. Is it a fact that nothing really affects portions of the body except careful dieting resulting in an overall loss of weight — or can one adopt a sensible regime and work with exercise on a particular portion of the body for a loss in inches?"

I will try to straighten this out for my readers. If you are many pounds overweight, it will be necessary for you to count calories. It would be futile for you to try to reduce by exercise alone. However, if you are only a few pounds overweight, you can lose in inches with exercise. If you are many pounds overweight, you can speed the loss in inches in certain spots with certain exercises, and therefore have a better figure than you would have with diet alone.

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise planned especially for women send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

OKs Proclamation Here to Know Credit Unions

Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston today signed a proclamation urging all citizens of the city tomorrow to be cognizant of the importance of credit unions. He proclaimed Thursday "Credit Union Day" as part of a worldwide celebration.

With the mayor when he signed the proclamation was Harry J. Woodman, general manager and treasurer of the GMTC Employes Federal Credit Union and president of the Oakland County Chapter of Credit Unions.

Woodman announced that Thursday will mark the 110th anniversary of the founding of the first credit union in Germany.

Raises Old Political Specter

Ike Implies Vote for Democrats Leads to Socialism

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has joined the ranks of Republican leaders who say or imply that socialism may result if the Democrats retain control of Congress.

The raising of this old political specter apparently is a deliberate GOP strategy born of acute shortage of campaign contributions.

Hardening of the financial arteries is not restricted to the Republican party alone. The Democrats also are finding their supporters slow with a buck this year.

But there is a basic difference between the two parties in the way they parcel out their campaign money in congressional elections. The Republicans have more central control, in Washington, while the Democrats depend on local contributions raked up by the individual candidates.

Republicans figure each of their campaign committees — national, House and Senate—needs a million dollars this year for a total of three million dollars. So far, they have collected about 40 per cent of that.

The Democrats' House committee had a $250,000 campaign budget last time. This year it has been cut to $75,000.

Eisenhower is reported to have appealed to affluent Republicans for more open-handed contributions during White House stag dinners. Tuesday, combining his 68th birthday celebration with party politics at a partisan breakfast, he said:

"We started off in 1952 to break away from the kind of government the kind of political philosophy that wants to put all power, all direction of our economy and of our whole population, in the hands of a central bureaucracy."

Nine days ago GOP leaders went beyond that. After meeting with Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon at the White House Oct. 6, they issued a statement saying:

"Either we Americans dedicate ourselves to strengthening and preserving private enterprise, using the only dependable political instrument available—the Republican party—or we are certain to go down the left lane which leads inescapably to socialism."

Three days later, on Oct. 9, Nixon was in Columbus, Ohio, making a campaign speech. In it, the vice president argued that the Eisenhower administration had done more than its Democratic predecessors to increase Social Security benefits, raise wages and stabilize the cost of living.

Such seeming inconsistencies — warning against socialism one day and boasting of Social Security gains three days later—are what Americans generally expect in a campaign year. Former President Truman's slam-bang tactics demonstrate that no party has a patent on political doubletalk.

In this case, it appears to have a precise purpose—to yell "boo" at the people who are most afraid of ghosts. Moneyed, ultraconservative Republicans—no matter how disenchanted with Eisenhower-type "Modern Republicanism" — might be made to part with bigger checks if convinced the alternative was the socialism they so despise.

But neither party has yet solved another factor. Republicans say some of their people will not contribute because they are sure the GOP will lose and why waste money on a sure loser.

Democrats say an argument they run into is just the opposite —we're a shoo-in, and you don't need my money.

Dirt Gardeners Club Elects New Officers

New plans and an election of officers for the Waterford Township Dirt Gardeners Club for 1958-59 were decided at the group's annual dinner held at Kingsley Inn last night.

A visit to a rose greenhouse at Mt. Clemens and an every-member monthly flower arrangement were three of the major projects scheduled for next year.

Human Interest Loan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An elderly man walked into a savings and loan association office here, seeking to borrow 15 cents to ride a bus home. An employe gave him the money from his own pocket. The man returned a day later and repaid the loan.

Soap to Pay the Fare

DETROIT (AP) — Special coupons from a variety of soap and household paper products will be accepted by city bus drivers in lieu of cash fares Monday. Each coupon will have a value of five cents.

Home-Grown Meal

FLINT (AP)—Michigan Republicans who pay $100 a plate at a dinner to be addressed by Vice President Nixon Oct. 27 will find their plates heaping with Michigan-grown food: Van Buren County apple juice, Kalamazoo celery hearts, Berrien pickles, Kent carrots, St. Joseph cottage cheese, Wayne salt, Saginaw Valley baked beans with native salt pork, Muskegon beet and onion salad, Genesee dark bread, Grand Traverse cherry tarts, Clinton County mints.

New Jetliners Offer Speed, Safety, Comfort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sometime this November, the voice of an air traffic controller at New York's International Airport will crackle impersonally in the earphones of a pilot . . .

"Pan-Am 114, you are cleared for takeoff."

The pilot will shove four throttles forward. Four jet engines packing the equivalent power of 40 piston engines will shriek like a thousand banshees. The plane, a Boeing 707 jetliner, will move down Idlewild's longest runway.

And as she lifts her 125-ton bulk off the ground and heads for Paris, the United States will have entered the commercial jet air age.

This is what the entry will mean to the people who will ride in, command and operate the jetliners:

PASSENGERS

To the traveling public, the jet age will bring a world of incomparable speed, smoothness and comfort.

Speed that will whisk you from New York to Paris between breakfast and lunch . . . from New York to Los Angeles in about five hours . . . you will board a jetliner in New York at 9 a.m. and when you land in Los Angeles, the clocks will say 11:15 a.m.

★ ★ ★

In the huge, luxurious, fluorescent-lighted cabins you will notice such things as:

—A complete lack of noise and vibration.

—Ceiling dome lights with color controlled to match the natural light outside the plane.

—Far less turbulence, because jetliners (1) will fly above 98 per cent of the weather and (2) will have swept-back wings designed to absorb turbulence.

—Toilets that flush.

For safety, passengers will find:

—Oxygen masks by every seat, in case of sudden depressurization at altitudes of up to 35,000-40,000 feet.

★ ★ ★

—Inflatable escape slides by all four doors; a stewardess merely opens the door, pulls a bar on the ceiling and the escape hatch automatically slides through the door and inflates.

PILOTS

To the men who will fly them, the jetliners bring mixed blessings.

The giant planes are inherently safer—but in some ways inherently more temperamental.

Jetliners are the strongest aircraft ever built, with wings that could carry a load of automobiles stacked as high as the Washington Monument.

Their engines are up to six times more reliable than piston-power plants because a jet engine is simpler. Fire dangers are substantially reduced because jet engines are mounted in "pods" underneath the wings, thus removing the source of fires from vital structural areas.

In most ways, the jetliners are easier to fly than conventional aircraft. Despite their tremendous bulk, they are maneuverable, stable and far less complicated. They have at least 100 fewer cockpit instruments and controls than a piston-engine transport.

But in bringing crew and passengers alike a new world of greater air safety, the jetliner also presents a host of new problems.

It gulps fuel in awesome quantitites—4,000 pounds an hour with the engines just idling on the ground; 12,000 pounds an hour at normal cruising speed. It is 8,000 pounds lighter 150 seconds after it leaves the runway. All of which requires fuel tanks that hold up to 23,000 gallons—enough to operate the average automobile 25 years.

MORE FLIGHT PLANS

The high fuel consumption will require meticulous flight planning on an order never before approached in aviation history. Planning for a typical New York-Los Angeles non-stop flight will involve eight to 10 hours of blueprinting weather, winds, speed, altitude, fuel consumption, runway lengths, temperatures, payload and other traffic.

★ ★ ★

The jetliner's swept-back wings are a factor for both speed and safety. They cut wind resistance and, as noted, are less affected by turbulence. But they are designed for high-altitude operation; at low altitudes, swept-back wings create handling problems in cross-winds. The jetliners will be simpler to fly, but landing one in a cross-wind calls for a lot of flying skill.

THE AIRLINES

In aviation's most expensive gamble, they have ordered more than 400 new planes at a cost of $2.5 billion. Another half-billion will go for new ground facilities, ranging from a $50 million electronic reservations system to a new kind of self-propelled vacuum cleaner for keeping runways clear of foreign objects (which could ruin a jet engine).

★ ★ ★

The cost of entering the jet air age is staggering.

A jetliner costs an airline $2,500 a day just sitting on the ground—for insurance and depreciation.

A single jet engine costs a quarter of a million dollars—more than what the airlines paid for an entire plane a few years ago.

A jetliner carries a $6 million price tag—more than double that of the DC-7. It adds up to $42 a pound for the DC-8, compared to $29 for the DC-7.

The airlines already have spent millions in jet-age planning, ranging from million dollar flight simulators for pilot training to a new $16 coffee maker.

SUPPRESS NOISE

They are spending $100,000 per plane for noise suppressors for engines—and $100 per plane for a mechanical refrigerator that will make ice cubes faster for pre-dinner cocktails.

They are working on new methods of air traffic control — and more pleasing color schemes for cabins.

They are writing up intricate new schedules — and little handbooks that tell passengers how a jet engine works.

How to pay for all this is one gigantic headache. The airlines admit to being $825 million short of necessary financing. They hope to win a fare increase from the Civil Aeronautics Board that will help them climb out of the red ink ocean into which they are diving. This, plus what they pray will be increased passenger volume, should bring reasonable returns from their $3 billion dollar gamble.

In short, the airlines are ready for the start of the jet age . . . Ready—but with fingers crossed.

Teepee Tom-Tom Tholen

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP)—Police Chief Burton W. Moon said he thought someone was joking in reporting the theft of a "tom-tom at the teepee." William Riley, the caller, was serious, however. Riley, a drummer, said someone stole the tom-tom he uses at the Trading Post, a tavern everyone calls the "T. P."

The normal child does 75 per cent of his learning through vision.

Police Call Off Hunt for U. of M. Student

MONTREAL (AP) — The search for Alan Price, 21-year-old University of Michigan student missing since early August with a friend in the rugged country near Senneterre, Que., has been called off by Provincial Police.

The body of his companion, Robert Carey, 23, was found last week beside an empty canoe by Indians searching the area 200 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Price's father, Dr. Percival Price, a Michigan professor, had been in Senneferre organizing search parties since the students' disappearance on an exploration trip.

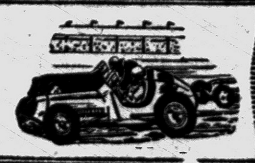

Police said yesterday that formation of ice on the river made further search impossible.

Senate Race in State to Test Voter-Reaction on Recession

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Staff Correspondent

LANSING (NEA) — Michigan this season tests the power at the polls of two things: the 1957-58 recession, worse here than almost anywhere, and a new way of politicking aimed at catching the elusive voter in his busy daily rounds.

The testers are incumbent Republican U.S. Sen. Charles E. Potter, a legless veteran with 11 years of Washington experience, and his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, second man for four years to Gov. G. Mennen "Soapy" Williams.

This is the state where, despite the recent upturn, some 16 per cent of the total labor force remains out of work. In Detroit it's 19 per cent. The state figure is roughly twice the national average.

Veteran observers feel the long sag in the motor industry — still in effect and compounded by model changeovers and sporadic strikes — will have inevitable impact on Michigan voters.

★ ★ ★

Yet the Republicans aren't tossing in the towel on this issue. Their counter-punch: Williams, in alliance with United Auto Workers' President Walter Reuther, is driving industry out of the state and has cost it at least 200,000 jobs in five yaars.

DEM'S CLAIM GAINS

Democrats snap back with claims of a net gain of 200,000 jobs. Somewhere in the no-man's-land of that 400,000 spread lies the fact.

★ ★ ★

But neither Potter nor Hart is contenting himself with argument drawn from the statistician's dusty file, or even with issues generally.

In 1958 you can't get the citizen out for old style political meetings, so you have to hit him where he is — at the supermarket, the factory or shop, the restaurant, the street corner, the bowling alley.

In Michigan they call it the "Williams system." Whether he invented it or not, his companion on the ticket, Hart, is working it hard.

Hart, 45, is a slender man of medium height, with a lean face, high forehead and boyish grin. He seems to like sport coats, quiet ties and button-down shirts.

As he floats among voters in their haunts, he chats a bit, handing out little biography cards like casting seeds on the wind, hoping they'll grow into full-fledged votes Nov. 4.

IN EVERY CORNER

In a factory he hunts down workers in every cranny, reaching through steel trusswork for a couple of strays, breaking into huddles around the canteen, ducking behind big machines that hide their operators.

Hart smiles, offers his hand, plants the card and says: "I'm leaving my application for employment."

If they're busy, he lays a card nearby and stuffs it in a man's pocket. He thumb-tacked one to a bulletin board crammed with pictures of scantily clad women. "That'll get attention!"

Eating time? Hart heads for the big restaurants and starts table-hopping. Now and then he runs into a nest of Republican bankers. He retreats with a smile, firing cards as he falls back, saying:

"Read about the guy you're gonna vote against."

At a farmer's market, a woman scanned his card and said: "Says here he's married and has eight kids. Well, he needs the job."

By night Hart is prowling the bowling alleys, still smiling, still flicking out cards like a warm-hearted IBM machine.

★ ★ ★

Potter isn't a card man, but his day at the game of "go find the voter" has much the same earmarks. He works through three factories in the morning, blasts Walter Reuther before Rotary at lunch in Grand Ledge, talks world affairs to high school seniors at Charlotte.

On his afternoon slate is a stop at a small welding shop near, of all places, Potterville. There he finds an old Army buddy, Dick Twichell, who went through basic and officers' training with the senator.

He had no way of knowing then that on a cold night in the winter of 1944-45 he would step on a high explosive land mine in the Colmar pocket and blast his legs off. Nor that at 41, chunkier, with a patch of wispy hair fighting a rear guard action on his roundish head, he'd be battling another wounded veteran, Hart, for a second term in the U.S. Senate.

★ ★ ★

Hours later, it's not a picture album he's holding, but a hymn book. For Potter's last turn for the day is to hand out some high-minded thoughts on freedom and individuality to a Sunday school convention in Lansing.

The new way of politicking is a saturation technique, too much for the candidate alone. So both Jane Briggs Hart and Lorraine Eddy Potter are on the road for their husbands constantly, drumming up interest at coffees, teas and other gossipy spots.

Occasionally Potter voices wistful hope he may encounter his wife soon. But their campaign paths don't cross for 10 days at a time.

Hart's luck is a bit better. Jane, the daughter of a wealthy Detroit manufacturer, is a veteran plane pilot and now the first licensed woman helicopter pilot in Michigan. So she whips Hart around the state in a rented eggbeater from time to time.

On Nov. 4 Michigan will show how it feels about Potter and Hart and the recession. And what effect a string of five Williams victories has had on the GOP organization. After that, one of the two men will have plenty of time at home with his wife.

IMPORTED PRODUCT — GOP Sen. Charles Potter poses with Dennis Ruder, a three-year-old Korean orphan, who was admitted to the U. S. through Potter's efforts and adopted by two of his constituents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Ruder of Jerome.

HOWDY, LADY! — Michigan's Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart corners shopper Mrs. Herman Zachariason in a Muskegon supermarket as he campaigns for the U. S. Senate seat held by Republican Charles Potter.

Spectacular New Oil Deal May Affect Arab Politics

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

ROME (AP)—Saudi Arabia is concluding negotiations on a spectacular new oil deal. The terms can jolt the international petroleum industry and have a decided impact on Arab politics.

The deal now will be placed before the board of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana. It would strike a new blow at the 50-50 concept of oil profit sharing in the Middle East. In addition, it would prescribe Saudi participation in operations and profits all the way to the consumer in an "integrated" company.

If Indiana Standard accepts the terms, now being offered on an all-or-nothing basis by Saudi Arabia, the giant Arabian American Oil Co. faces a difficult decision. Under its concession agreement it must have an opportunity to meet these terms. But in doing so it could increase heavy pressures upon its own organization.

The deal is being negotiated by Frank C. Hendryx, an American attorney retained by the Saudi Arabian government. If it is accepted, or if the terms are met by Aramco, it then goes before the government for final approval.

The company involved is Pan-American Petroleum Corp. This company is owned, through another affiliate, by Indiana Standard. Pan-American already has breached the 50-50 pattern in non-Arab Iran. It concluded a deal with the National Iranian Oil Co. giving the government a half interest in a joint producing company. Thus, Iran gets half the profits as host government and half the producing company's profits. This became known as a 75-25 deal.

The 50-50 pattern also was broken in the Saudi peninsula in a Japanese 56-44 deal with Saudi Arabia and a 57-43 deal with Kuwait, both in the off-shore neutral zone.

The new concession would seem to go well beyond the other deals in acceding to a producing country's demands.

This deal would grant a concession to Pan-American based on blocks of land totaling 10,000 square miles in the central part of the desert country. Since this involves an area known as the "Preferential Zone" in which Aramco has preferential rights, the concession arrangements require Saudi Arabia to offer this area first to Aramco.

Aramco's concession of 440,000 square miles — bigger than all France — runs beyond the year 2000. Aramco is owned by four parent companies: Standard of California, Standard of New Jersey, the Texas Co., and Socony Mobiloil.

The new concession, if accepted by Pan-American, would permit and require exploration and exploitation, refining, transportation and marketing in a worldwide "integrated" operation. For the Saudis, the agreement reflects great ambitions, although the operation would be small in comparison with the giant Aramco setup.

★ ★ ★

The exact Saudi share in the Pan-American deal would be difficult to assess now because of the ramifications of the industry. It obviously goes well beyond other Arab oil deals. But more importantly, it lays down a pattern of company-government relations which would exert increased psychological pressure on all Middle East oil companies to abandon the present mould of their operations.

Some oil sources in the area concede it is probable American and British oilmen will not long be able to withstand the pressure for a larger Arab share in participation and profits.

Nationalist-minded Arabs in the producing countries demand much more of the profits, some of which they apparently hope to devote to all-Arab schemes aimed at a greater degree of economic independence from the West.

★ ★ ★

Tunisia Renews Nasser Feud

The newly intensified feud between Nasser and pro-Western President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia indicated a struggle for the allegiance of other North African Arabs and a continuing roadblock to Nasser's ambition to dominate the Arab world.

Morocco sought to patch up the quarrel.

The feud flared up Saturday when Tunisia broke up an Arab League meeting in Cairo by accusing some big Arab nations of trying to dominate the 10-nation group. Tunisian spokesmen later said they meant the U.A.R.

★ ★ ★

Tunisia's foreign minister, Dr. Sadok Mokkadem, told newsmen in Tunis there were two main reasons for the action in Cairo: interference by the U.A.R. in Tunisian internal affairs and U.A.R. support for a group of Tunisians hostile to Bourguiba's government, particularly Salah ben Youssef.

Lana Sure to Fight for Cheryl's Custody

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Any change in the custody of Cheryl Crane will bring a fight between her parents, Lana Turner and Stephen Crane, attorneys say.

The Juvenile Court placed Cheryl, 14, in the custody of her grandmother Mrs. Mildred Turner after Cheryl stabbed her mother's lover Johnny Stompanato to death last April 4.

Crane's attorney Harold Rhoden said that if Miss Turner attempts to gain custody, Crane will "fight her tooth and nail."

Miss Turner's attorney Jerry Giesler replied, "You can be sure that when the Juvenile Court releases custody of Cheryl, Miss Turner will be in there fighting with everything she has to keep custody of her daughter."

Skunks Raising Stink in California County

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The Marin County, Calif., Board of Supervisors met Tuesday to consider skunks and heard a dozen complaints were coming in daily from people who smelled trouble.

Thomas Peryam, agricultural commissioner, said there is a bumper crop of skunks because there is a bumper crop of field mice because there is a bumper crop of worms.

He recommended poison and traps. The board turned him down. It said children and pets might be victims too. It asked Peryam to study a bounty for skunks.

Look for Cannon Used in Revolutionary War

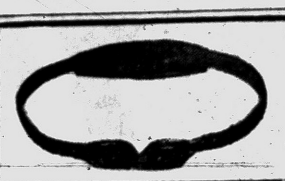

DORCHESTER, S.C. (AP)—Officers are looking for a 600-pound Revolutionary War cannon that disappeared the night winds from Hurricane Helene swept through the community.

But no storm carried off the massive historical marker. "It couldn't have been handled by less than three men," said the sheriff's department, "and indications are they used a wrecker crane to lift the cannon."

The four-foot cannon was valued at $10 as junk but was "priceless" historically.

Who Swiped the Old Dance Hall?

State Finds Field of Wheat Gone, Too

LANSING (AP) — There's a true story told in the right of way division of the State Highway Department that almost has become a legend—of the time someone swiped a dance hall belonging to the state.

It happened quite a time ago and the details are a little fuzzy. But the old-timers agree on the basic facts.

The department had to buy an old dance hall that was on a strip of property needed for highway right of way. There was no immediate use for a dance hall so the white elephant was forgotten for a while.

When a routine check was made, the big, barn-like building was missing. Someone had it hauled away for their own purposes. The dance hall eventually was recovered—too big to hide.

More recently, a field of wheat was stolen in St. Joseph County.

About 15 acres seeded to wheat was included in a routine land purchase. The department decided to leave the farm land untouched until some kind of a deal could be made on the harvest.

But someone else moved in to reap the harvest. The legal eagles are busy trying to run that one down.

The Highway Department is probably the biggest real estate operator in Michigan. By 1960, it's estimated, the department will have to spend up to 60 million dollars in a single year on right of way for new highways.

Several hundred homes and buildings of all other types have to be purchased yearly along with the land they stand on—the number varying according to whether the new construction is in rural or urban areas.

Pilfering from state property of that type always has been a nuisance. The right of way division hopes to keep it from becoming a major problem when it starts buying homes in wholesale lots.

"Some people have a peculiar attitude toward state property," explained Joseph H. Cox, assistant director of the right of way division.

"They wouldn't dream of taking something from private property. But when a place is unoccupied and becomes state property they seem to think it's open house."

Everything up to—and including several—kitchen sinks have been stolen from houses purchased by the department. Furnaces have been taken, plumbing and lighting fixtures have been ripped out, even door knobs have been stolen. Vandalism and window breakage is a common headache.

The expressways now are pushing into more populous areas. By 1960, when the extension of the Eedsel Ford Expressway is being built into St. Clair Shores and the Walter Chrysler Expressway is continued into Detroit, the right of way division estimates it will be purchasing 1,500 homes and buildings.

"We can't patrol the buildings ourselves," said Cox, "but we will try to lick it three ways: By heavy posting of warning signs, by asking more cooperation from local enforcement officials and by trying for a quicker turnover of the property."

Not all the people they deal with are despoilers of property—just the small minority. Enough nice things happen to restore faith in human nature in the right of way division.

The department often makes agreements with people selling their homes to lease or rent them back until the site is needed. These people often make improvements on the property during that interval.

When the right of way division has a home or other property to dispose of, it first tries to sell it to the highest bidder for use elsewhere. Failing that, it's sold to a wrecker for what he can salvage in materials.

The division is trying to speed up these sales by holding them in the actual district instead of the Lansing headquarters, by heavier advertising in local newspapers

"There will be some fine homes up for sale when we cut into that new subdivision property down near Detroit," Cox said. Frame homes in the $10,000-$15,000 bracket.

"People should watch them for bargains if they can finance the buying and moving them to another location. It seems a terrible waste just to tear down some of those homes for lumber."

Odds Favor Kennedy to Win

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Staff Correspondent

BOSTON (NEA) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, six feet of thin-sawed presidential timber, battles with Republican Vincent J. Celeste for re-election in a Massachusetts race the whole nation takes as a trial run for bigger things in 1960.

Kennedy gamely tries to keep the contest within senatorial bounds. But as he goes pounding around the campaign trail, many in Massachusetts won't let him.

Crowds of obvious admirers swirl and eddy about him at every stop, smiling, shouting, pressing in for handshakes and autographs. They're of every kind: toothless oldsters, businessmen, factory hands, teenage girls, the hula hoop set.

Local leaders put that extra glow into their introductions. Into Kennedy's hands are thrust plaques, certificates, small gifts, flags. Into the arms of his attractive wife, Jacqueline, go bouquets by the dozen.

To these people this slender slat with an awning of tousled brown hair makes an image they find refreshing and stimulating on the political scene. He's handsome, clean-cut, warm and friendly, with an air of candor and forthrightness.

His opponent, 34-year-old East Boston lawyer with a stocky build and a hard punch, is doing his utmost to knock down that image by portraying Kennedy as a man who is buying his way and has sacrificed the interests of Massachusetts to personal ambition.

But no big sign exists that his attacks are cutting deep. Most experts in this state think the 41-year-old Democrat will win with a smashing score, as they agree he must to keep his national momentum.

In 1952, Kennedy beat Henry Cabot Lodge by some 70,000, bucking the first Eisenhower tide. He did it by cracking 27 of the state's 39 cities, meantime losing in all but 35 of the 312 towns.

This time the vastly better Kennedy organization is slashing into solid GOP territory. Organization men are already in 279 of the 312 towns, with more to come.

On the senator's side is an increase in Democratic registrations over 1952. His people count also on evidences of a national trend, and the fact that the GOP settled on a relative unknown to oppose him.

But that unknown, Celeste, rises to the challenge when anybody dares say he's been put up for deliberate slaughter. "I'm no sacrificial lamb," he retorts, "I'm so sacrificial I forced Kennedy to cut short his European tour and come home to campaign early."

He doesn't accept any of the statistical measurements being put upon this race by others. He says he's convinced there's widespread anti-Kennedy feeling in Massachusetts. He points to the fact that another Italian, Gov. Foster Furcolo, Democrat, outdid Kennedy's total by some 6,700 votes this year in a primary wherein neither had opposition. Some observers discount this result on the ground that special and local factors were involved.

The one measurement Celeste dwells upon is the wealth of the Kennedy family. The senator's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, financier, former ambassador to Britain, made many millions.

As he dashes from store to store or pounds the campaign table, Celeste declares again and again that he's up against a "financial giant" who can wheel up "wagonloads of money."

★ ★ ★

And he swats Kennedy repeatedly with the charge that he has "sold out" Massachusetts by Senate votes on civil rights, farm supports, the St. Lawrence seaway and labor issues designed to "pick up friends around the country" who will promote his larger ambitions.

Lady Accused of Enticing Yachtsman From Wife

Grimshaw became master of the 500-ton yacht Natalie two years ago after retiring as commodore of a shipping line. Lady Crane, 46-year-old widow of cycle manufacturer Sir Edmund Crane, is now living aboard the yacht in the English Channel islands.

No further details of Mrs. Grimshaw's suit were revealed. The case is expected to come up shortly in the London courts.

Pledge $100 Million to Develop Nations

★ ★ ★

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), a U.S. delegate to the General Assembly, promised 38 million dollars in advance of the special pledging conference. Soviet Delegate G. P. Arkadyev said the Soviet Union also would contribute but didn't say how much.

★ ★ ★

The Assembly authorized a 50-million-dollar fund to help the underdeveloped nations train technicians and plan large-scale development projects.

★ ★ ★

The other 50-million-dollar program is the U.N.'s regular technical assistance program, which provides specialists to advise local farmers, businessmen and others.

Aid Exceeds 4.3 Billion

OTTAWA — Financial assistance made available by Canada to overseas countries between 1945 and 1958 totaled more than $4,300,000,000. More than half was in outright grants and the remainder in loans that have been partly repaid. The largest single amount, 51,570,000,000, was for Canada's partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Believe Bomb Ring Cracked

Atlanta Police Arrest Suspects in Dynamiting of Jewish Temples

ATLANTA (AP)—Police believe they hold the key that will unlock the mystery of Southwide bombings by a secret ring of anti-Jewish fanatics.

★ ★ ★

Officers investigating the dynamiting of the Temple arrested a fifth man and booked him on suspicion of bombing. The Temple was bombed early Sunday.

Capt. R. E. Little identified the man as Wallace H. Allen and said he was one of two men who helped plot the Atlanta bombing last May. The other man accused of taking part in the May meeting is George Michael Bright, 35. Both live in Atlanta.

The break in the investigation stemmed from a statement by an unidentified man who said he and four others attended the meeting and planned the bombing.

Allen, a cripple, told arresting officers: "If it's the bombing you're interested in, I don't know anything about it. I've never even seen a stick of dynamite." Detectives said they found penciled drawings of a Nazi swastika and anti-Semitic literature in Allen's home.

Under arrest in addition to Allen and Bright were Robert A. Bowling, 25; Luther King Corley, 26; and Kenneth Chester Griffin, 32, all of Atlanta.

Investigators said they believe that when the $200,000 Atlanta blast is solved, it will clear up other synagogue bombings in Miami and Jacksonville, Fla.; Nashville, Tenn.; and an attempted dynamiting in Birmingham, Ala. All the bombings have occurred in the past eight months.

Rewards for the Atlanta dynamiters have climbed to $15,000.

Girl, 5, Struck by Car Still on Critical List

A five-year-old Pontiac girl who was struck by a car on North Paddock street yesterday morning was reported still on the critical list at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today.

The girl, Claudia Whitaker, of 28 McKinley Dr., suffered a skull fracture and severe concussion. The hospital reported her condition improved.

The child was hit by a car driven by Ray I. Hartung, 37, of 1605 Stirling Ave. Hartung told police he was driving south on N. Paddock, between Ellwood avenue and Oak Hill street when he saw the girl dart down a bank on the west side of the street and into the path of the car.

★ ★ ★

He told police he applied his brakes, but was unable to stop in time. Hartung was not held after making a statement to police.

Area Driver Injured, Fell Asleep at Wheel

Douglas G. Warren, 38, of 1071 Lake Angelus Rd., Pontiac Township, is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital after suffering facial injuries in an auto accident early this morning.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission OKs Lease for New Hangar at Airport

More expansion at Pontiac Municipal Airport was in the making today after City Commissioners approved leasing additional land to Flite Line, Inc. for a new hangar.

The lease runs five years at $900 a year and covers the lot next to the $125,000 hangar and office which the sales and service firm has occupied since April.

★ ★ ★

The press of present business and the anticipated surge in airport activity when the city's proposed new terminal building and tower are completed lie behind the firm's expansion plans, said Joseph Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Miller said the new hangar would be 100 by 120 feet in size and cost about $50,000.

Commissioners, in other business, last night approved two changes to bring the city's fire control laws up to date and extend them throughout the city. Both the fire limits ordinance and the building code ordinance were amended.

RESTRICT MATERIALS

Both changes restrict the types of building materials and inflammables used in new construction. The old restrictions applied only to the downtown area. New controls cover other commercial areas, industrial zones and residential neighborhoods.

Assessment rolls for two neighborhood improvements met no objections at public hearings. Approved were combined sewers on both sides of Walton boulevard, Baldwin to the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad, and extension of the Featherstone road water main, Kenilworth to the Jordan road line.

Hearings on two proposed zoning changes were set for Nov. 12. One calls for rezoning five lots on the northwest corner of E. Walton boulevard and University avenue to Commercial 1; the other rezoning of 196 W. Howard St. from Residential to Commercial 1. The Howard street site is occupied by a bakery, which wants to expand.

★ ★ ★

Sent to the Planning Commission for study was a petition calling for rezoning of the western corner of Montcalm street and Lakeside drive from Residential 1 to Commercial 1.

A hearing was scheduled for Oct. 21 on intention to lay sidewalk on the west side of East boulevard north of Michigan avenue. The assessed cost was set at $729; city cost, $401; cost for a 33-foot lot, $66.

Assessments for curbs and gutters installed this year on Gladstone place, Cooper to Edison, were confirmed in three annual payments.

Quemoy Troops May Be Cut

Say Nationalists Now Resigned to Reducing Forces at U.S. Urging

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists appear more and more likely to pull a sizable number of their troops out of Quemoy.

★ ★ ★

Competent sources in Taipei said Nationalist leaders were resigned to accepting the U.S. proposal that new weapons with greater firepower replace some of the manpower of the offshore island's garrison.

Some sources said as many as half the 100,000 to 120,000 troops in the offshore areas might be pulled back to Formosa.

The American idea is to cut the threat of Nationalist invasion of the mainland as a bargaining point in talks with the Communists, but to leave the island garrisons strong enough to repel a Red landing.

In Manila, U.S. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said he thinks there will be a modernization of the Nationalist equipment and that Chiang Kai-shek's government will consider reducing the offshore garrisons. McElroy, on a round-the-world tour of U.S. installations, conferred earlier this week with Chiang.

In Taipei, possibilities were considered good for a Communist extension of the Quemoy cease-fire beyond the present expiration date, midnight Oct. 26.

Little Rock School Injunction Extended

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The U. S. Eighth Court of Appeals today extended a temporary injunction to prevent the leasing of Little Rock public schools to a private, white corporation until it decides on an appeal from a U. S. district court.

★ ★ ★

The three-judge court adjourned after hearing 45 minutes of testimony and indicated it will hand down a written opinion on the appeal in the near future—"perhaps in a month."

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People appealed a dismissal of its suit asking that the school-leasing proposal be declared invalid.

U. S. District Judge John E. Miller of Arkansas refused to rule in the case because he claimed it involved the constitutionality of Arkansas law.

Engineer to Get Back Salary

Judge Orders Payment by Madison Heights to Total $49,095

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty today said he would issue a writ of mandamus against the City of Madison Heights ordering officials there to pay a back salary of $49,095 to its former city engineer.

James H. Salle, presently a Detroit engineer, filed suit this month claiming his former employer reneged on his pay which he had accrued during his two years as city engineer.

The city had paid $12,997 of a total of $62,093 owed Salle, but questioned whether a legal quorum of a newly-elected city council was in attendance when the balance was ordered paid.

Judge Doty, after hearing arguments on both sides this morning, said there was a proper quorum, and notice had been received of the special meeting when the action was taken.

"There's no question in my mind that Salle earned the money and that the city owed it to him," Judge Doty said.

Highland Man Hurt in Tractor Accident

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said that Sheldon E. Thornton, 73, of 905 W. Livingston Rd., was injured in the freak accident while cleaning up trash near his home.

He was driving a tractor with a trailer attached when he stopped on a hill on Livingston road. The tractor's brakes didn't hold, said deputies, and it rolled backward.

Deputies said the tractor evidently ran off onto the road shoulder and overturned pinning Thornton under it. He suffered chest injuries.

Expecting Arrests in Two Burglaries

SOUTHFIELD — Arrests of suspects in burglaries of $5,500 worth of new furniture from two new, unoccupied Southfield homes were expected today, according to Southfield City Police.

★ ★ ★

Furniture, valued at $5,000, was taken over the weekend from the garage of a new home at 22470 W. Nine Mile Rd. The owner, George Giacinto of 21525 Mayfair St., Farmington, said he had stored it there, planning to move into the house next week.

The $500 worth of furniture was taken from a house at the corner of Acacia and 10-Mile road, owned by the Star Fire Building Co. of Detroit.

Pilgrims Wait as Fifth Mass Said for Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Only a handful of visitors were in St. Peter's Basilica today as the fifth of nine daily Requiem Masses was said for Pope Pius XII.

The titular Bishop of Adana, Diego Venini, celebrated the Mass before a symbolic empty coffin in the Chapel of the Choir. The chapel gates were closed against the visitors, mostly pilgrims from abroad.

A cardinal often mentioned among possible successors to the late Pope joined cardinals gathering for the election of a new pontiff beginning Oct. 25. He is Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, 66-year-old archbishop of Bologna, Italy.

But speculation hardened today that Gregory Peter XV Cardinal Agagianian, 63, an Armenian, would be the next Pope if the Sacred College of Cardinals breaks with 400-year-old tradition and selects a non-Italian.

Amendments Asked by Oakland Schools

Property owners wishing adjustments in school district boundaries in Oakland County will have to pay the cost for proceedings in the future if a proposed law change receives favorable reaction in Lansing next year.

Also, the change would require citizens with grievances against local school boards to appeal first to the board, which in turn would submit the appeal to the State Board of Education.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors has made a part of the county's 1959 suggested legislative program amendments to a 1957 act to make such changes possible.

Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of county schools, has urged the amendments to make the adjustment hearing proceedings more efficient.

Ford List Price Up 4 Per Cent

1 Edsel Model, Truck Show Decrease, Cost of Continental Rises

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has announced suggested list prices for its new 1959 model cars and trucks which contain an overall average increase of four per cent over 1958 models.

The suggested list price is the factory retail price as distinguished from the dealer's price. The list price does not include distribution and delivery charges, taxes, optional equipment or accessories.

Ford said last night its prices range from decreases of $124 on one type of the Edsel passenger car and $189 on the Ford truck to an increase of $179.20 on the Continental passenger car.

In the Ford passenger car models the 1959 price range is from $1,934 for the Custom 300 Business Tudor to $3,063 for the Fairlane 500 Skyliner. The 1958 range was $1,809.60 to $2,909.20.

The Ford Thunderbird hardtop is listed at $3,368 against $3,330 in 1958 and the convertible at $3,631 as compared with $3,593 for 1958.

The 1959 Mercury range is from $2,511 for the Monterey two-door sedan to $3,823 for the Parklane convertible. The comparable 1958 range was from $2,422 to $3,788. The new Edsel ranges from $2,398 for the two-door Ranger sedan to $2,634.50 for the four-door hardtop Corsair. Comparable 1958 prices were $2,350.63 and $2,649.13.

The range on the 1959 Lincoln is from $4,479.10 for the two-door hardtop to $5,123.20 for the four-door hardtop Premier. The 1958 range was from $4,415 to $5,124.

The 1959 Continental ranges from $6,037.30 for the two-door hardtop to $6,462.20 for the convertible as compared to the 1958 range of $5,858 to $6,283.

The lowest temperature ever recorded in Honolulu was 56 degrees. The highest on record was 88.

Hazel Trumble Takes Detroit Education Post

ROCHESTER — Mrs. Hazel Arnold Trumble of 604 W. Fifth St., has been named communications assistant for the Detroit Board of Education.

She will assume her post Nov. 17 at a starting salary of $10,000 a year, the board announced.

Co-author of the book, "Schools Are News," Mrs. Trumble has been education editor for the Pontiac Press and education reviewer for the Saturday Review.

Thais Have Kite Fights

BANGKOK, Thailand — Kite fighting is a popular sport in Thailand. Slivers of glass are attached to kite strings, and combatants strive to cut down other kites.

TO USE MORE SUGAR

Michigan Made Sugar helps you control your weight, because only sugar satisfies your appetite so fast with so few calories. In fact there are only 18 calories in a level teaspoonful. Just enough to sustain you through 7½ minutes of normal activity. And since calories used up in the body are non-fattening, you can use sugar, and still slim down, or simply stay as trim as you are now.

Michigan Made Sugar lifts up your energy fast, because sugar supplies energy to the body faster than any other food. It really helps give you that get-up-and-go feeling . . . that pep and vitality that makes work easier—play more fun!

Michigan Made Sugar makes good food taste better, because sugar is nature's own pure-food sweetener. It not only adds its own delicious taste, but brings out the best flavor of other foods.

Ike Says U.S. Future Bright

Record Prosperity Seen, President Tells Audience in TV Interview

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower says the United States apparently is headed toward record prosperity.

"All the evidence is that we are on the road to a new peak of prosperity," Eisenhower said Tuesday night during a statewide filmed television interview with Rep. Kenneth Keating, Republican candidate for U.S. senator.

Eisenhower said: "We don't shut our eyes to the fact that a free economy does have cycles—and you have down slopes and upward trends. . . . For example, just in September, this tremendous rise in jobs exceeded our best expectations. I think it was something like 600,000 just for the one month.

★ ★ ★

"That to my mind is another example of the kind of recovery that you can expect when there is a sound, sensible leadership displacing a hysterical sort of proposition that can do nothing but put this government and this whole country deeper into debt."

The President told Keating that one Democratic senator submitted antirecession bills that would have cost the government 35 billion dollars. He did not name the senator.

Home Loans to Ease

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Buyers will be able to get loans for new homes more easily in November, Federal Housing Commissioner Norman P. Mason said. "While I don't expect us to have the same easy-money situation as in April and May, in another month the market will not be so tight as it is now," He said at a Kentucky real estate meeting.

WINS GOOD CITIZEN AWARD — Donovan Shaw, manager of the Kroger store at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center, has been named 1958 Good Citizen of the Year for the Detroit division of the retail food firm.

His record of community service was judged tops among 101 Kroger managers in the Detroit division.

Shaw, who lives at 2915 Otsego, Pontiac, was presented an engraved silver beverage server and certificate from the National Association of Food Chains by C. F. McCaffery, personnel, public relations manager of the Detroit Division, at the Kroger Store in the Miracle Mile Shopping Center. He has been with the Kroger organization since June of 1941 and has been manager of the store at Miracle Mile since last October.

Tailor of Papal Robes Preparing 3 Sizes

ROME (AP) — "Nineteen years ago," said Bonaventura Gammarelli, "everybody knew who would be coming out of the conclave as the new pontiff. But now, things are different.

★ ★ ★

"In 1939, it just had to be either Cardinal Pacelli (chosen Pope Pius XII) or Cardinal Maglione, and I tailored the pontifical robes according to their measurements. Today, there are many names."

The papal robes must be ready for their new wearer soon after his election. But Gammarelli, official purveyor to the apostolic seat, seemed hardly worried.

"This will be a pontifical cassock," Gammarelli explained. "It was on the same table that I tailored the robes for our late Pope in 1939."

The Gammarellis have been tailors for the princes of the church since 1798. Beside the wide shelves in his workshop, filled to capacity with bales of previous cloth and silk, hang pictures of various pontiffs, awarding a Gammarelli the title of official purveyor.

★ ★ ★

"We are quite busy," Gammarelli said, playing nervously with a yellow tape measure. "The conclave is only a week from next Saturday and there are many pieces to be made."

The robes will be placed in the sacristy of the Sistine Chapel so the new pontiff can be dressed immediately.

★ ★ ★

"What size is the largest?" Gammarelli was asked. "Would it fit a man six feet tall?"

The tailor smiled diplomatically. "That I cannot tell you. Just write there'll be three sizes."

What an Explanation!

DALLAS (AP)—The same armored car has driven into the basement of the new City Hall to pick up funds nearly every day for a couple of years. Tuesday the top of the truck ripped a heating duct loose from overhead. Maintenance engineer H. L. Garland quickly found the trouble. "They got new tires today," he said. "New tread."

Transfers Swamp Arkansas School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—So many pupils transferred from Little Rock's closed-down Negro high school to a small county school that facilities broke down, a school official announced Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

School Supt. E. F. Dunn of Pulaski County said authorities would start today revoking many of the 205 transfers.

Dunn said the normal 395 enrollment at the J. C. Vook Negro High School at Wrightsville, 10 miles south of Little Rock, was swollen to 600 during the past week.

★ ★ ★

He said the transfers from Horace Mann High, one of the four Little Rock high schools closed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus last month to avoid integration, were permitted without his knowledge and contrary to instructions.

★ ★ ★

He said the influx of new pupils had disrupted the entire school program.

No plans have been made for private education of Negroes.

Original paintings of any date are duty free if brought into the United States.

Right-to-Work Issue in Ohio

GOP Nervous Although Voters Slated to Okay Curb on Unions

By ART PARKS
(Part of Series)

Right now, the Ohio capitol is solidly Republican from cellar to cupola. All officeholders from Gov. C. William O'Neill on down seek re-election, not for two-year terms as in the past, but for four-year terms. Another GOP stalwart, John W. Bricker, is a candidate for a third U.S. Senate term.

This strange and fascinating campaign, in the opinion of competent observers, appears to be shaping up in this singular pattern:

Ohio voters probably will write into the state constitution a right-to-work section—a provision prohibiting union shop contracts which require union membership as a condition for holding a job.

★ ★ ★

But Republican Gov. O'Neill, who is stumping for the proposal, appears on the ragged edge of defeat after only one term in office.

His Democratic challenger, Michael V. DiSalle, who personally opposes the union shop prohibition, sees victory finally within his grasp despite a trouncing by O'Neill in 1956.

And Bricker, who delayed taking a public position on the constitutional proposal, appears a cinch to coast to another victory, this one over former Ohio Congressman-at-large Stephen M. young, Democrat.

Republicans who now control the Ohio delegation in the U.S. House 17-6 and both houses of the Ohio Legislature are plainly scared—but hoping for the best.

Why, after rolling up huge majorities in 1956, are they running scared this year? Three reasons:

1. They fear that a Democratic trend, noted nationally, has seeped into Ohio. They recall that for the first time in a generation Democrats outvoted Republicans in the May primaries—by 100,000 votes.

2. They expect organized labor's desperate campaign to stave off the right-to-work proposal will lure many union members to the polls. Among union members, the GOP figures, there are more Democrats than Republicans.

★ ★ ★

3. Voter registration, in the populous counties which require it, is at a record high for a non-presidential election year. Election officials say the right-to-work issue is responsible. True, they say, many Ohioans registered so they would be able to vote for it, but the big push for registrations was among the groups fighting it.

Report Martha Raye Planning Marriage

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Comedienne Martha Raye and a former Connecticut policeman are reported planning to be married.

Miss Raye is performing at the Sahara Hotel. Also here is Robert O'Shea, who was divorced Tuesday in Bridgeport, Conn. Mrs. Barbara Ann Farr O'Shea testified her husband had told her he was in love with Miss Raye and that they were living together. A hotel spokesman said they are occupying separate quarters.

The spokesman said O'Shea told him no date has been set for the marriage but that it may occur after they go to New York next week. O'Shea is 31, Miss Raye 42.

Mrs. O'Shea's attorney said her $50,000 alienation of affections suit against Miss Raye has been settled for a substantial amount.

Mexican Starlet Lands Role Opposite Brando

Producer Frank Rosenberg spotted her starring as Anne in the stage and television versions of "The Diary of Anne Frank" in Mexico City. A screen test brought her the role in Brando's "One-eyed Jacks."

Hollywood Headlines

Joseph Cotton Wanted for New Space Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Here we go again — more spacemen coming to town. This time it is H. G. Wells' "The Time Machine" which Benedict Bogeaus has set ticking. If Ben gets his wish, Joseph Cotton will star as the time traveler, a character on a par with Wells' notably durable creation, "The Invisible Man."

Joe is currently in the hit play, "Once More With Feeling," with Arlene Francis, but he might like the idea of portraying a character who can project himself into a future world of superior human beings and their conflict with an antagonistic people known as the Morlocks.

That horror producer Herman Cohen — and I am, believe me, being complimentary when I call him that — has approached two of my favorite young people, Barbara and Richard Lyon, about playing in his next-shudder-maker, "The Headless Ghost."

In case you don't know of Mr. Cohen, he's the smart lad who discovered there's gold in them thar chills. He has put out such masterpieces as "I Was a Teenage Werewolf" and such.

★ ★ ★

Such a charming story behind the second wedding of La Verne Andrews of the Andrews Sisters and Lou Rogers, at Los Angeles St. Matthews Church last Thursday.

It seems that Lou, whose real name is Luigi Rogero, was a boyhood pal of Danny Rinaldi, who became a priest in Panama.

Last week, Father Rinaldi came visiting here for the first time in 20 years. When he discovered that La Verne and Lou, while wed for 10 years, had never been married in the church, he begged them to have the religious ceremony, with himself officiating. Patti and Maxine Andrews have been married and divorced, but this is the one and only for La Verne and Lou.

Zsa Zsa Gabor writes from Rome as only Zsa Zsa can write, to say that everybody was wrong about Mario Lanza with whom she is making "For The First Time" and that he is a very sweet person.

The first day on the set Mrs. Lanza arranged a surprise party for Zsa Zsa with a big basket of flowers surrounded with salami and hundreds of little Hungarian sausages and Hungarian wine, replete with music box of all the characters in the picture dancing to the tune of "Moulin Rouge."

Lana Turner, who hasn't been doing much nightclubbing since her trouble in the spring, was at The Crescendo to hear the Mary Kaye Trio, escorted by Dick Steenberg, a friend of many years. She sat through two shows.

★ ★ ★

A wire from Jack Dempsey says, "absolutely no truth my life story for motion picture abandoned. We're well under way through my assistant, Jules Alberti."

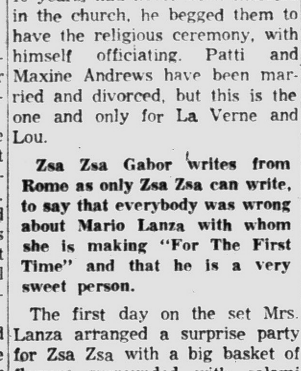

The George Raft - Betsy Duncan dating is beginning to look serious. She is the entertainer at Dino's — and she was certainly entertaining George at Jack Dennison's Cafe.

Jim Arness of "Gunsmoke," flew 11 of his CBS bosses to Las Vegas to see the Red Buttons show. They were all very pleased with Red, as everyone is who sees him.

★ ★ ★

Martha Raye and Robert O'Shea, her ex-policeman boy friend, will be married in New York the last of the month. She will wait until she finishes her engagement at the Sahara in Las Vegas.

Reports Drop in Income

NEW YORK (AP) — International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. reported today its net income for the first six months this year declined to $12,346,828, equal to $1.72 a share, from $12,989,254 or $1.81 a share in the first half of 1957.

The Anglo-Saxon names of Edgar, Edmund, Edward and Edwin have slightly different meanings. Edgar means "protector of property"; Edmund means "defender of property"; Edward means "guardian of property"; and Edwin means "gainer of property."

5-Mile Railroad Tribute to Pioneers

Line Twists, Turns to Oblivion

OBLIVION, S. D. (UPI) — Riding a narrow-gauge railroad to Oblivion is now possible. And it's quite an adventure.

Oblivion is the name given to the terminus of the Black Hills Central Railroad, the first new rail line to be established in this part of the country in half a century.

★ ★ ★

The BHCR is the brainchild of two Chicago men, William B. Heckman and Robert D. Freer, who developed a love for antique engines while working as executives of conventional lines.

They decided that the narrow-gauge railroad should not disappear from the American scene. After years of searching for a suitable site, they settled on the Black Hills of western South Dakota.

Heckman and Freer made an arrangement with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad to use one rail of a standard-gauge track that the Burlington operates occasionally to haul mine ore from Keystone, S. D., a few miles from Mt. Rushmore, to Hill City, S. D.

They couldn't use the other rail of the regular tracks because the gauge was too wide. Instead, they added their own third track to achieve a narrow gauge and built terminals and switching facilities at Hill City and Oblivion.

The terminals are only five miles apart, but the track between them twists and climbs through a deer-filled mountain valley so steep that the oil-burning locomotive has to huff and puff to make the grade.

CREATE SHINE

At the Oblivion end of the line, Heckman and Freer have created sidings where they already have two old locomotives and a club car parked as the basis of what they hope will eventually become a "shrine of American railroading."

The motive power for the three-car train — the cars are old Colorado and Southern flatcars, open-sided but covered and fitted with benches for passengers — is a 50-year-old engine called "Klondike Casey."

The locomotive was brought to South Dakota from Skagway, Alaska, where it saw service for 48 years on the historic White Pass and Yukon Line. Also available for pulling the train is "Chief Crazy Horse," a coal burner that formerly operated on the Colorado and Southern.

★ ★ ★

Heckman explained that Oblivion was picked for the outward terminal because it means "the state of being forgotten" and "we are here to see that the narrow-gauge railroad that contributed so much to America is never forgotten."

Ray Anthony Sued

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Dee Keating is suing her former husband, band leader Ray Anthony, for $5,625 in support payments. Miss Keating's complaint said Anthony has paid her nothing since last April 28 although he agreed to pay $225 weekly for life or until she remarried.

Jail Colorful, Unusual, if Not Too Comfortable

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The temporary jail here may not have all the comforts of home but it is at least colorful. There is a yellow tint called bamboo for the main structure, a silver smoke-gray for the base, Pinehurst green for the trim and a delicate beige for the terracotta bull head ornaments.

★ ★ ★

The city jail was demolished to make way for an expressway and an old meat market is serving as the temporary Bastille.

There is no more handsome gesture than to offer...

Williams Blitzes Way Through Kent County

(This is the first of several dispatches that will be written from time to time on the way campaigns for the Nov. 4 election are being conducted by candidates for governor and U. S. senator.)

By GEORGE WEEKS
United Press International

GRAND RAPIDS — Bow ties, biscuits and bags of cookies passed from hand to hand yesterday as Gov. G. Mennen Williams blitzed through Kent County in a 20-hour demonstration of campaign stamina.

★ ★ ★

When it was all over, the 47-year-old governor stretched out on a mattress in his 1957 DeSoto while an aide drove him to Kalamazoo County.

At 6:15 a.m., Williams was at a plant gate in southwest Grand Rapids to greet about 600 workers, who got the first of nearly 5,000 miniature bow ties passed out by the governor and his aides yesterday.

By 10 a.m., Williams had been to two more plants, greeted shoppers in Rockford, and had breakfast. He then delivered a speech on collective bargaining at a meeting of 2,000 union members who had gathered to ratify a contract.

Williams arrived at a Grand Rapids television station (WOOD-TV) just in time to get in a brief rehearsal before a politically sponsored show in which he blamed Republicans for "smearing Michigan."

He had a little trouble reading cue cards hastily prepared by aides.

For about two hours last night, Williams was without his famed polkadot bow tie. He wore a tuxedo and black bow tie to a formal meeting of the Eastern Star Grand Rapids Chapter.

Williams was more than an hour late for his final appearance of the day, a civil rights rally with 450 Negroes at the A.M.E. Community Church. But he stayed an hour longer than he had planned.

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) has suggested that President Eisnehower order U. S. flags flown at half-staff next Sunday in memory of those who died in the Hungarian revolution two years ago.

Star Witness in Jelke Case Seeks Divorce

★ ★ ★

A hearing was ordered for Friday before Dade Circuit Judge Harold R. Vann on her third divorce suit in two months.

The first two were dismissed after the former Miss Ward reported reconciliations with the wealthy Savarese.

In her latest action, Mrs. Savarese contended that although her husband lavished thousands of dollars worth of gifts on her, he beat her with his fists, with a bullwhip and with a marble ash tray wrapped in a turkish towel.

She married Savarese in Mexico Nov. 11 after he took her to a bank and gave her a box containing $22,000 in cash, the suit said.

The suit said that Savarese, an amateur gymnast and weight lifter, reported an $84,000 income last year and spent much of it on her.

★ ★ ★

She listed $2,000 annual rent for her apartment, $2,000 a month for clothing, $1,000 mink stole, a $300 cashmere sweater and $200 a week spending money.

Pacific Mishap Kills 3 Airmen

Pilot Bails Out, Dies; 2 in 'Copter Lose Lives in Rescue Attempt

HONOLULU (AP) — Two Air Force jet fighter planes ran low on fuel over the Pacific Tuesday and the pilot of one died when he bailed out 90 miles northeast of here.

★ ★ ★

Six supersonic, swept-wing F101 Voodoos were ferrying to Honolulu from McClellan AFB, Calif., where a spokesman said they had refueled Tuesday morning after a hop from Langley AFB, Va. One of them radioed he was running out of fuel.

A KC50 tanker and two rescue planes were sent out. Due to air turbulence, the Air Force said, connections could not be made for the aerial refueling and the pilot ejected in what appeared to be a normal bail-out.

★ ★ ★

But he was found dead, floating in his inflated life jacket, by one of two Marine helicopters on the rescue mission.

It deposited his body on the destroyer Forrest Sherman along with the crewmen who had been lowered by cable to pick him up.

As the chopper pulled away, it blew up, presumably killing its two remaining crewmen.

No names were released.

★ ★ ★

The second helicopter, meanwhile, was forced to ditch near the destroyer, possibly because of turbulence and low fuel after an unsuccessful attempt to land on the destroyer.

Police Hunting Slayer of 10-Year-Old Girl

★ ★ ★

Sandra, one of seven children, was found choked and beaten to death in a neighbor's yard yesterday. The family lives in a multi-family residence near the downtown district.

★ ★ ★

Police said Sandra apparently had been carried from the bed that she shared with a 4-year-old brother. Medical examination indicated she was slain between 1 and 2 a.m.

Red Germany Cries for Doctors' Return

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today virtually begged hundreds of its doctors who have fled westward to return to their practices in the satellite country.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Kurt Hager, a secretary of the Communist party's Central Committee, made the plea as a critical shortage of hospital physicians and family doctors was reported from all over East Germany.

Nearly 500 doctors have fled the satellite since the beginning of this year because of political interference in their professional and private lives.

★ ★ ★

In an article in Neues Deutschland, the official party organ, Hager promised that "every doctor who returns will receive work, leading doctors will receive appropriate positions, and private practitioners will again have the right to conduct their own practices."

The U.S. Army Transportation Corps has developed new types of swift, mobile, off-road transport for improved mobility in snow, marsh and desert.

Pupils' Protest Forces Teacher to Cut Work

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Rankin High School history teacher has agreed to reduce the homework of 88 junior pupils if they return to school.

★ ★ ★

Thomas A. Rodgers made the promise Tuesday night at the second stormy School Board meeting in two nights.

The pupils walked out Monday, protesting that Rodgers assigned as much as four hours of homework each night. They carried placards stating he was unfair.

At Tuesday night's meeting Supt. Maurice Silverstein announced that Rodgers would not teach history to the junior class for a 20-day "cooling-off" period.

★ ★ ★

Silverstein described Rodgers, who has been at the school 21 years, this way: "Mr. Rodgers might be a little strict but he does a good job. If anyone learns anything in this school, it's in Mr. Rodgers' class."

Rodgers had estimated that his assignments could be done by the average student in 40 minutes.

According to local educators, the amount of homework time estimated by Rodgers is more than generally assigned for one subject, but not overwhelmingly so.

Appearing rather dejected over the outcome of the meeting, Rodgers only comment was: "I can't say anything—but if they take my classes away from me I haven't gained anything."

British Airport Tieup Boon to U.S. Flights

LONDON (AP) — A strike of British Overseas Airways Corp. employes today threatened the British Comet jetliner in its tussle with America's Boeing 707 for the Atlantic jet passenger trade.

BOAC officials said they would not be able to meet their Nov. 14 schedule for starting daily Comet trips across the Atlantic.

That could give Pan American Airways a clear field when it puts the Boeing 707 on a daily New York-London run Nov. 17.

The strike against BOAC by 4,000 ground engineers and maintenance men has halted crew training for the Comet.

The strikers claim that five of their colleagues were fired for refusing to work overtime. BOAC says the men were warned but not dismissed.

2 Dead Squirrels Cause of Wreck, Bruises and Fine

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Ray Clemens and Bob Leeson of the Conservation Department were tipped that someone was hunting out of season. They were waiting when Hobart Godbey, 24, strode, from the woods holding two dead squirrels.

Then, in quick order, Godbey:

Began backing his car away when he saw the two agents but lost control and it tumbled down a 35-foot embankment.

Jumped through a smashed window, dashed down the hill and ran smack into a barbed wire fence.

Purdue Recalls MSU's Most Bitter Loss

'Spoilermakers' Halted 28-Game Streak in 1953

Spartans at Lafayette on Saturday to Settle an Old 6-0 Score

EAST LANSING (AP) — There's only one game you could possibly pick if asked for the most memorable Michigan State defeat in modern football history.

The villain? You guessed it. The Spoilermakers of Purdue, coming up next on the schedule.

Munn had won 28 in a row, dating back to an upset by Maryland early in 1950. His teams were undefeated in 1951 and 1952.

These were the years of the "pony backfield" with Leroy Bolden, Billy Wells and Tommy Yewcic.

It was midway in the season of 1953. State had rolled over four teams early in the season. The Spartans were No. 1 in the nation and conceded well on the way to the Rose Bowl and a Big Ten championship. The 28th consecutive victim was Indiana, 47-18.

Then came Purdue, a team with an indifferent record.

He was a Grand Rapids Catholic High graduate who had been at Michigan State — didn't impress the coaches enjoying a wealth of material at the spot — and transferred to the campus at Lafayette.

On the very next play after the Purdue score, the Spartans roared back. Bolden took the kickoff and rampaged like a berserk bulldozer 96 yards through the Purdue defense to the goal line.

But the touchdown was called back on a clipping penalty. And the official who called it happened to be an old teammate of Munn's at Minnesota.

The football players gave way to their emotions entirely in the dressing room afterward. Some wept. Others, caught up in a frustrated rage at themselves, hammered their fists raw against lockers and benches.

Munn was the calmest one present. He tongue-lashed the players back to sanity.

He told them a bitter defeat like that happens in the lifetime of every team.

"It's how to come back after getting beaten that counts," he said.

He ordered the players to go out of the dressing room with their heads up. And he promised: "We'll still be in the Rose Bowl."

★ ★ ★

They stormed through Oregon State, Ohio State, Michigan and Marquette. They did go to the Rose Bowl — Michigan State's first — and beat UCLA 28-20 in another football classic.

So any game at Purdue has become something out of the ordinary — especially at Lafayette, Ind., scene of the blackest moment in modern football history at Michigan State.

Northwestern Carries 3-0 Record Against Wolverines

Wildcats Aim to Upset 'M'

CHICAGO (AP) — Anyone suggesting a couple of months ago that Northwestern would be undefeated after its first three games would probably have been told to see a headshrinker.

★ ★ ★

Well, Mom, put away the straight jacket. Not only is Northwestern undefeated but the Wildcats — who didn't win a game last year — are given an excellent chance of beating Michigan.

Parseghian, addressing the Chicago football writers yesterday, said, "We have a chance against Michigan. I don't make predictions and even though we are 3-0, we'll probably be underdogs. But if fight and determination have anything to do with winning, we'll be in the game all the way."

Parseghian, however, said he considered this year's Wolverines a lot better than the 1957 team which defeated the winless Wildcats, 34-14.

"Last year I honestly thought we could have beaten Michigan," said Parseghian. "We were 14-14 in the last quarter and then the roof caved in. Even with the loss of its fullback, John Herrnstein, Michigan will be rough for us.

"Most of our kids," he continued, "will be up against the single wing and the multiple offense for the first time. They might not be able to cope with it."

Parseghian said he considered Herrnstein — who will not play Saturday and might be lost for the season—the best fullback in the Big Ten but Michigan "has a capable replacement in Tony Rio who looked very good against Navy."

Oosterbaan, who spoke to the writers via telephone, complained about Michigan's injuries and Northwestern's speed.

"Northwestern has always given us a tough battle," said the Wolverine coach, "so we know it'll be a rough, tough game. I know they're ready and I only hope we are."

"We don't have the speed to match their halfbacks Ron Burton and Willmer Fowler," he continued. "Brad Myers is our fastest man but he's the only speed we have. Herrnstein is fast for a big man but, of course, he will not play."

Michigan, unquestionably, is Northwestern's big test. The Wildcats have beaten Washington State, Stanford and Minnesota. Should they slip past Michigan which has a 1-1-1 record, the Wildcats will definitely stamp themselves as contenders for the Big Ten title.

And that's not bad at all for a team which hasn't won a conference game since 1956 until its last minute victory over Minnesota last Saturday.

AP Wirephoto

LOOKOUT, MSU — Fullback Bob Jarus, 197-pound junior who is the leading scorer on the Purdue football team, will be the man Michigan State will have to watch in their game at Lafayette, Saturday. Purdue has been the Michigan State jinx team in the Big Ten.

Pistons to Tie String on Dukes

Giant Center Skipped Lansing Game; Play at Jackson Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — If the Detroit Pistons are tying a string to Walter Dukes to keep him handy, they're not saying so.

But it has been indicated they have taken some steps, at least.

★ ★ ★

Dukes, the Pistons' towering center, failed to show up for the exhibition game with Minneapolis at Lansing Monday night. Dukes was in Flint. He thought the game was there. At Lansing, the Pistons were defeated.

General manager Nick Kerbawy of the pro basketballers had a 90-minute meeting with Dukes yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"We just had a discussion and set down some rules and regulations," Nick said. "I'm certain Walter, and the other players, too, will abide by them."

Colavito American League Leader

Banks Slugging Champ in Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Banks the major league leader in home runs and runs batted in, also won the National League slugging championship with a .616 average in 1958. He is the first Chicago Cubs' player to win the title since Hack Wilson did it in 1930 on the strength of 56 home runs.

Banks pounded out 24 doubles, 11 triples and 47 home runs among his 193 hits. He compiled 380 total bases — also a big league high. The 27-year-old shortstop drove in 129 runs.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, last year's pacesetter, finished second the past season with a .583 percentage. Mays collected 350 total and 29 homers.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee had 328 total bases in 601 trips and finished third with .546. He had 196 hits including 34 doubles, four triples and 30 home runs.

Stan Musial of St. Louis was fourth with .528 followed by Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh, .527; Harry Anderson of Philadelphia, .524; Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco, .512 and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, .504.

Musial holds the National League record for the highest slugging average among players who have been in the majors 12 or more seasons. His lifetime mark is .578. The American League standard is .692 set by Babe Ruth.

Colavito had fewer total bases than both Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and Bob Cerv of Kansas City at the close of the 1958 campaign. But the Indians' outfielder had only 489 official times at bat compared to 519 for Mantle and 515 for Cerv.

★ ★ ★

Slugging averages are based on total bases accumulated on all hits and times at bat.

The leaders, based on 400 or more times at bat:

State Prep Grid Polls

Nothing changed between the top two class A teams in the Associated Press or the United Press International high school football polls this week.

Bay City and Flint Central tied 1-2-3 and each remained on top of the respective polls. Bay City was first in AP ratings last week and remained the same, and Flint Central was first in UPI and also stayed on top.

Two Royal Oak schools, Dondero and Kimball each moved into the top 10 of the AP poll with identical 3-0-1 records.

★ ★ ★

Northville moved up to 4th in class B of the AP poll, while West Bloomfield is 13th. They have their showdown this week.

Almont, number one in UPI class C last week, fell after its loss to Imlay City to 8th place.

Senators Eying AL Hitting Stars

Hoping to Land Howard and Colavito in Trades With Rivals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators, who could stand another big bat or two in the lineup, are eyeing a couple of the American League's top hitters—New York's Elston Howard and Cleveland's Rocky Colavito.

★ ★ ★

Owner Calvin Griffith said yesterday he might give up pitchers Pedro Ramos and Dick Hyde to land the likes of Colavito and Howard.

The Indians are interested in Ramos, the mainstay of the Nats' pitching staff despite his 14-18 record this past season. The 23-year-old right-handed Cuban is regarded as a youngster with a bright big league future.

The Yankees want both Ramos and Hyde, who turned in an excellent job as a relief hurler during the 1958 campaign. Winning 10 and losing but three, Hyde posted a 1.75 earned run average —lowest mark for any Washington pitcher since Walter Johnson.

In exchange for Ramos and Hyde, the Senators' owner said the Yankees had offered Washington a choice of pitchers Tom Sturdivant or Johnny Kucks, infielder Jerry Lumpe or Bobby Richardson and first baseman John Jaciuk from Richmond of the International League.

Casey Stengel May Sign New Contract Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees have called a press conference today and undoubtedly will announce that Casey Stengel has signed a new contract to manage the team for the next two years.

★ ★ ★

Stengel, 68, joined the Yankees in 1949 and the new two-year contract he will sign will be his sixth one with the club.

★ ★ ★

Reports popped up earlier in the week that the veteran Yankee skipper might decide to quit, but the United Press International learned authoritatively and reported during the world series that he will be back at the helm again next year.

★ ★ ★

Since coming to the Yankees, Casey has won nine American League pennants and seven world championships.

St. Louis Hawks Pin Defeat on Minneapolis

FLAT RIVER, Mo. (AP) — Veteran Bob Pettit and rookie Hub Reed led the St. Louis Hawks to a 111-102 National Basketball Assn. exhibition victory Tuesday night over the Minneapolis Lakers.

It was the first of a five-game pre-season series between the clubs.

Pettit scored 27 points and Reed put in 13. Reed scored all his points in the second quarter.

The Lakers crept to within two points of the Hawks in the fourth quarter but Pettit lashed out with eight points to sew up the game.

McIntyre, obtained in an eight-player deal with the Chicago Black Hawks early last season, counted 15 goals and assisted on 11 in 1957-58. He was placed at Hershey on an immediate recall basis.

Chiefs Saginaw-Bound for 2nd Straight Week

By BILL CORNWELL

Through a quirk in scheduling, the Pontiac Central football team goes to the city of Saginaw for the second straight week on Friday night to lock horns with another Saginaw Valley Conference foe.

The Chiefs can only hope that this journey is more profitable than the last one.

After rolling to three consecutive victories over non-league opponents, the Chiefs traveled to Saginaw last Friday to open their Valley season against Arthur Hill.

The result of that trip is well-recorded history. The Lumberjacks, giving their finest performance of the year, moved in high gear and handcuffed PCH for an unbelievably easy 27-0 triumph.

Now the Central gridders are making the northward trek again, this time to meet the high school on the other side of town — Saginaw Eastern.

Pontiac and the badly-battered Trojans collide Friday under the lights at Saginaw's Alumni Field at 8 o'clock. Pontiac will once more be looking for its first SVC win. Saginaw is still looking for its first win — period.

If the Chiefs are going to win anything at all in the Valley circuit this fall, this should be the time.

★ ★ ★

The Trojans, under new head coach Jim Blenkhorn, have seen nothing but misery in 1958. One veteran Saginaw sports writer has called them the weakest Valley football team in several years.

Saginaw thus far has been thoroughly squelched by four schools. They have yielded a total of 147 points while scoring just 13 themselves.

Grand Rapids South handed them a 54-0 pasting in their season opener, then they bowed to Bay City Handy, 25-7, and Midland, 21-6, before taking a 47-0 pounding from Flint Northern last week in their SVC inaugural.

Blenkhorn, a former All-State fullback at Saginaw High and later a grid star at Michigan State, has had little to cheer about in his first year as coach of his prep alma mater.

He was faced with a vast rebuilding job after taking over the reins from Herb Korf, who resigned at the close of the 1957 campaign. Saginaw's best showing this fall was against a strong Midland aggregation.

It may prove to be a hex, but Pontiac will be slightly favored to take the measure of the Trojans.

Braves Deny Team May Go on Sale

CHICAGO (AP) — A report that the Milwaukee Braves are about to be sold cropped up again early today, but was quickly denied in Milwaukee.

The report, from a source which has been reliable in the past, said that a deal had been made to sell the club to the Miller Brewing interests and that the principals were waiting for an appropriate time to announce it.

Norman Klug, president of the Miller Company, said in Milwaukee, "the report is not correct. If it were I would tell you so. I don't think I should expand on it in any way."

Six City Teams Vie for Honors

Industrial Golf Tourney Saturday

Pontiac's third annual Industrial Golf Tournament, vying for the Philip Monaghan Trophy, will be held Saturday at Pontiac Country Club with six teams battling for honors.

Defending champion of the tournament is General Motors Truck which won with a three-under par total of 293, followed by Pontiac Motor with 299 and Fisher Body at 306.

The competition this year is expected to be much keener as all teams entered are considered stronger.

The six squads entered are Pontiac Motor, Bell Telephone, G.M. Truck, Fisher Body, American Forge and Baldwin Rubber.

★ ★ ★

The Bell Telephone squad has Val Bleech who went the furthest among Michigan players in the National Publinx at Chicago this year before being eliminated.

The tournament Saturday gets under way at 11 a.m. at PCC and in event of inclement weather it will be played Sunday.

FISHER BODY: J. Ross, B. Pittman, C. Tarchalski and J. Anderson.

Pairings for Saturday:

11:00 a.m. — Wideman, Latozas, Gerlack, Bowers.
11:07 a.m. — Anderson, Cantor, Cappell, Mathews.
11:14 a.m. — Lampson, Fender, Tarchalski, Rath.

Sam Williams Honored

EAST LANSING (UPI) — An end who didn't catch a single pass Saturday is the United Press International midwest lineman of the week.

Big Sammy Williams didn't even get his hands on the ball as he sparked Michigan State to a 22-8 victory over Pitt.

The 6-foot, 5-inch All-American candidate got the ball and high tribute from coach Duffy Daugherty after the game for his brilliant blocking and tackling.

Daugherty called Williams "the finest all-around end I've seen in all my years at Michigan State."

Gresham Is Winner of Motor City Bout

Orioles Send Oertel to Miami

Tigers Add 2nd Negro Player

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have a second Negro player. He is Maurice Wills, an infielder from Spokane of the Pacific Coast League and was obtained yesterday.

The Tigers' first Negro player, Ozzie Virgil, also an infielder, was brought up from Charleston in midseason this year.

Wills, a switch hitter, batted .253 for Spokane last season and .267 the year before with Seattle. He now is playing winter ball at Maracaibo, Venezuela.

The Tigers also announced the purchase of infielder Bob Johnson from Charleston of the American Assn. and pitcher Joe Grzenda and infielder Steve Demeter from Birmingham of the Southern Association.

★ ★ ★

Both Johnson and Grzenda currently are serving in the Armed Forces, but they are expected to be discharged in time for spring practice.

Johnson batted .242 in playing with the Toronto Leafs of the International League in the 1958 season. Demeter hit .310 with the champion Birmingham club.

Grzenda had a 16-7 record for Birmingham, with a 3.19 earned run average.

Baltimore and San Francisco have also announced player switches.

Pontiac's Chuck Oertel was involved in an Oriole move Tuesday. The former St. Fred ace, who finished the season with Baltimore and belted a long home run off Jim Bunning at Detroit, has been sent to Miami of the International League.

Baltimore signed a limited working agreement with Miami yesterday. Former Tiger hurler Lou Sleater and infielder Foster Castleman are among others going to Miami.

Oertel had been used mostly as a pinch hitter and runner while with the parent club and saw almost no service at all after his Detroit homer. Manager Paul Richards had promised the local boy he would be given a good look during spring training.

The Orioles recalled five players from Vancouver including $100,000 bonus baby Dave Nicholson and sold veteran flychaser Joe Taylor to the same club.

★ ★ ★

Texan Top Lineman

By The Associated Press

A couple of guards achieved the goal of every lineman by running for touchdowns last week, but the Lineman of the Week honor today went to an end, big Bob Bryant of Texas.

Valo, now 37, told a newsman today General Manager Buzzy Bavasi gave him notice just before the season ended. He said he has written all major league club owners asking for a job.

★ ★ ★

"Bavasi gave me a letter," the personable Valo said, "in which he told me I could either go to the Montreal Royals of the International League or act as a free agent with an unconditional release."

Chips Top List With 5-0

4 State Teams Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Only four of the state's 17 college football teams remain unbeaten—and Western Michigan's Lovell Coleman retains his scoring lead although his club has dropped three of four contests.

Albion and Michigan dropped out of the undefeated ranks last weekend, while three other teams established themselves as major factors in conference races.

Coleman scored Western's only touchdown, going 100 yards with a kickoff, as his team dropped a 40-6 decision to Bowling Green. But that single touchdown gave Coleman a four-game total of 58 points.

Walt Beach of undefeated Central Michigan and Ron Bekius of Hope are Coleman's nearest rivals. In five games, Beach has scored 42 points. Bekius has 42 points in four contests.

Only one other player in the state has scored as much as 30 points, although eight have 20 or more. Len Fase of Alma scored three times Saturday in his team's 27-12 victory over Adrian, and is fourth in scoring with 30.

Michigan teams have a 17-12 record against out-of-state competition. The home teams have won 25 games and the visitors 21 in games played thus far.

U-D Halfback Ranked 4th in Rushing

DETROIT (AP) — Halfback Bruce Maher of the University of Detroit ranks fourth nationally in major college rushing.

He has been stopped for losses only six times, and has accounted for 20 of his team's first downs.

Major Hoople Sez: Tulane Over Navy

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Revered by Varsity Men

Egad! I have been baffled, since the season's outset, by the high frequency of ties — which because of my integrity are counted as losses — among the Hoople football predictions.

For example, Michigan, rather than pull the upset of the ages and trounce Michigan State, could only gain a 12-12 tie. Alabama, rather than defeat Vanderbilt in a surprise, could only get a scoreless tie.

Zillions of readers have come to place absolute reliance upon Hoople throughout the years. Hak-kaff! I am told more than a few have supplemented their income each fall by placing small wagers on my predictions.

Therefore, I was faced with the additional problem of trying to read possble ties into my predictions for this week. A refining process was called for. Egad! The fractions were broken down to their lowest common demoninators, as it were! Out of this has come an unswaying, steelhard conviction that my predictions this week will be 100 per cent correct!

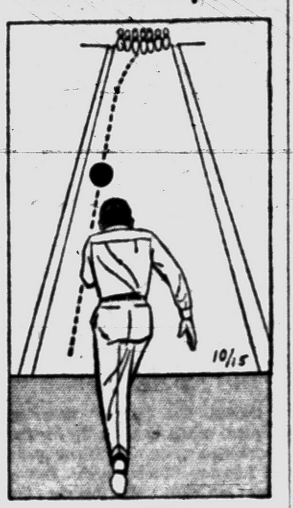

In fact, during my refining process, I noted that there can be no winner between Pittsburgh and West Virginia. It will end in a 13-13 deadlock. An upset ending at that!

There is the Navy-Tulane game. Heh-heh! Navy is all powerful, you say? Well the Hoople findings show that Tulane will be a fired-up 21-6 victor!

Strikes and Spares

By Joe Wilman

If you're a left-handed bowler and are wondering if you should switch over to the right-handed style, let me list a few of the advantages and disadvantages of continuing as a southpaw.

Almost every left-handed bowler I've seen has a natural, easy hook ball. That's something a right-hander works many long hours to develop, so a southpaw is that much ahead. If he can control his hook, he has quite a head start on becoming a good bowler.

I'd never advise a southpaw to change, however, unless his style was very poor and his control bad. One other exception would be a southpaw incurring an injury to his left hand, wrist, elbow, arm or shoulder, forcing a change. In any case, let a qualified instructor advise you about changing styles.

PWBA Will Hold 1st Meeting Sunday

The Pontiac Women's Bowling Association will hold its first open meeting of the 1958-59 season Sunday at the Elks Temple starting at 1:30 p.m.

Among the items on the agenda will include the selection of delegates to attend the WIBC convention to be held at Buffalo this year and the discussion of plans for this year's city tournament.

All members are requested to attend the meeting.

Beard Playing Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ralph Beard, former college and Olympic star, will make a return to professional basketball this season with the Baltimore Bullets in the Eastern League.

Trabert, Gonzales Win

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Tony Trabert defeated Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 6-2, in a pro tennis match before a crowd of 2,700 Tuesday night.

In the other match Pancho Gonzales turned back Pancho Segura, 8-10, 6-4, 6-4.

Dramatic Battle of City Rivals May Decide Title

Suburban Catholic Lead and New Steve Griffin Trophy at Stake

By CHUCK ABAIR

The stage is being set for one of the most dramatic football meetings in the 24-year history of the St. Michael-St. Frederick rivalry slated for Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Hanging in the balance for the victor will be a good shot at the Suburban Catholic League championship since the city rivals go into the big tussle as the only teams unbeaten in loop play.

Each has won three straight after dropping a non-league opener.

Another key feature of the contest will be the annual duel for the Steven Griffin Memorial Trophy offered each year by Rose Griffin.

The award up for grabs Sunday will be a new one since St. Michael captured the trophy for the 4th straight time in a 19-16 verdict last fall. A team must win the game two successive years to retain the prize. The Shamrocks have won the last eight contests between the schools.

St. Fred, possessing some of the best backs ever to wear the Red and Black, was a strong pre-season SCL choice and the Rams have lived up to their billings.

St. Michael was of questionable status after the untimely departure of veteran coach Bob Mineweaser but the Shamrocks have apparently settled down now. Their 31-21 Homecoming upset of defending champion St. Benedict last Saturday set up a probable all local scramble for title honors.

★ ★ ★

Most observers had picked St. Frederick to keep rolling right on past St. Mike in early forecasts but the Shamrocks impressive dumping of St. Ben has changed all that.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Since the locals played here on different days last week each staff had plenty of chance to get in some scouting so the results should be interesting.

In their first pro league season in 1934, the Detroit Lions won seven straight and all by shutout margins.

CITY'S BEST — Eugene Cox of Pontiac has that satisfied look after being named the Class A City Baseball League's Most Valuable Player in 1958. The Pontiac Press MVP trophy was awarded to Cox in recognition of his outstanding all-around play as an outfielder-pitcher for the Jets this year.

Unknown Briton Decisions Folley

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Last night, Cooper, a little known heavyweight, got a debatable decision after 10 rounds against Zora Folley, an American who ranks No. 2 in line for Patterson's world title.

★ ★ ★

Cooper boxes only fairly and he cuts easily. He lost four of his last six fights, has fought professionally only 30 times and has spent much time recently as a chopping block-sparring mate for mainbouters.

★ ★ ★

Snead-Hogan to Play in Canada Cup Match

NEW YORK (AP) — Ben Hogan and Sam Snead are next to get a shot trying to stem the tide of international sports trophies flowing to other lands.

These two old pros have been named as Uncle Sam's representatives in the sixth annual Canada Cup golf matches at the Club de Golf in Mexico City Nov. 20-23. If they should lose, it would only mark another in a disheartening series of U.S. sports reversals in recent years.

The latest trophy to be won by outsiders was the Eisenhower Cup, symbol of world amateur golf supremacy. The Australians won it this week in a playoff with the Yanks.

The Canada Cup and the International Golf championship are a competition for pro golfers of the world, sponsored by the International Golf Assn.

A couple of amazing Japanese, Torakichi Nakamura and Koichi Ono, startled the golf world by winning both the team and individual championships last year in Tokyo. Nakamura was the individual winner, beating out Snead and Jimmy Demaret plus the best golfers of 28 other countries.

Nearly 30 countries will send their two best golfing pros to Mexico City next month for the event. Snead and Hogan teamed at Wentworth, England, in 1956 to capture the Canada Cup team prize. Hogan won the individual trophy with a score of 277.

Both are working hard for the tournament . . . Snead, who has won more than 100 tournaments, has captured 13 straight matches in a televised series. Recently he played Winged Foot, site of the 1959 National Open, in 35-31—66.

Along the Outdoor Trail

With H. GUY MOATS

Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

Ringneck 'Derby' Begins Monday

By H. GUY MOATS

Conservation field men report the pheasant crop, this fall, in Michigan is up again. And that's good news for Oakland county bird hunters who await the start of the ringneck season with considerable impatience, particularly those who plan to participate in the annual Pontiac Press "big pheasant derby". Michigan's general pheasant season (Lower Peninsula) opens Oct. 20, next Monday, runs through Nov. 10.

★ ★ ★

The long established "derby" offers U.S. Savings Bonds to the winners of its two divisions. There'll be a $50 bond for the hunter who bags the heaviest rooster, a $25 bond for the one that downs the longest bird.

"Derby" rules are simple.

Only FULL-TIME Oakland county residents are eligible.

Pheasants may be shot anywhere (or taken by bow and arrow), in the state where such hunting is legal, during the regular pheasant season.

All entries must be registered, measured and weighed at The Press Sports department, between 7 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. daily, except that none will be taken after 12 noon, Saturday and none Sundays.

No hunter may win both divisions.

A near-record rooster topped the 1957 "big bird" contest. It was a 4-pound-8½-ounce entry by Auburn Heights' Ellsworth Guerin. John D. Kelly of Union Lake downed the longest bird, a 39¼ inch (tip of beak to tip of long tail). Both were expected to try again, this fall.

★ ★ ★

Both of last year's winners were fairly early entries. But they stood up against a long list of hunters whose birds were close, but didn't quite make the grade.

★ ★ ★

Observers in the usual "hot spots" for pheasant hunting (particularly in the Thumb area), report seeing, and hearing many birds. This observer has also seen many fine, big mature roosters, in full plumage.

★ ★ ★

There have also been reports of smaller, immature birds, not yet fully decked out in the brilliant "cloak" of the male bird. These apparently came from late spring or early summer hatches, or perhaps, a second hatch.

★ ★ ★

Season opens at 10 a.m. Monday. Bag limits are two in one day, four in possession and eight for the season.

★ ★ ★

Pheasant Population Up; Hunting Prospects Good

LANSING (UPI)—Countless guns of Michigan hunters will swing skyward Monday when a predicted bright pheasant season gets under way—bright that is for all except the pheasants.

★ ★ ★

From all indications, according to game experts, prospects are near-excellent for a heavy pheasant harvest with most counties reporting more birds than a year ago.

In fact, R. A. MacMullin, research chief in the conservation department's game division, said many farmers have complained about too many pheasants and the damage they are causing crops.

★ ★ ★

MacMullin said pheasant counts pheasant years, the department gets little or no kick from farmers on pheasants but this year, even in the truck gardening areas near Detroit, gripes come into the office about "clouds of pheasants."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mac Mullin said pheasant counts in Ottawa county were down some time ago but it is now expected the bird population is back up and that nearly all the sections of the state should see good hunting.

★ ★ ★

About 20 northern Michigan conservation officers are being assigned to southern areas for the opening days also. Officials said a shortage of officers prohibits bringing down as many as would be needed but about 20 is the maximum number that can be re-assigned.

★ ★ ★

Farmer-hunter relations, sometimes a sore spot in the past, may be better too. Indications are they will. The Michigan United Conservation Clubs has waged a battle against misunderstanding between the farmer and the sportsman.

★ ★ ★

The MUCC, working with its allied sportsmen's groups and the Michigan Farm Bureau, the Grange and other farm organizations, has held annual farmer-hunter meetings in different areas of the state to "make each aware of the other's situation."

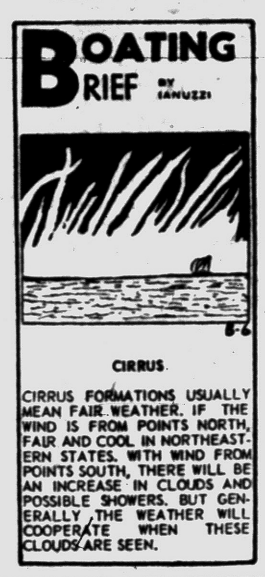

★ ★ ★

Along with the pheasant season opening Monday, will come the season on ruffed grouse, rabbits, squirrels and fox. The squirrel picture is also bright for hunters with nesting conditions good and early counts on squirrels and rabbits indicating a good population.

Unlawful Doe Kill Hurts Deer Herd

By JACK PATTERSON

One of the more fatiguing aspects of being identified with the outdoor picture is having to listen to the anti-doe season "broken record" of the state's deer hunters. For some strange reason possession of a red coat and a rifle automatically confers on the owner a doctorate in wildlife management, deer division, and an authoritative eminence on all problems, great and small.

These crusaders know that shooting does is inexcusable because: (a) it thins out the deer herd; (b) it thins out the deer herd; (c) it destroys unborn fawns, which thins out the deer herd; (d) the game division is in favor of it.

The arguments in favor of thinning out the deer herd are so well known that it would be idle to list them here. But to get the crusaders to listen to any of them would be at least as hard as inducing an Anti-Saloon Leaguer to go on a 10-day bender.

But let's skip the question of whether thinning the herd is necessary and look at something of greater importance to the hunter. Does the legal take under special doe permits result in fewer shootable deer the following season?

Here's where the crusaders really go to town. "No deer left in my area," says one. "Drove 50 miles at night without seeing a deer, where we used to see 100," says another. These fellows aren't making this up. In many areas they do see fewer deer than they used to. The only question we'd like to raise is whether the game division's plan of limited doe shooting is the reason.

★ ★ ★

We'll do a little experting and say no. Agreed the crusaders are right in the bare premise that shooting does would result in no fawns from those does the following spring. But not enough does are legally taken under permit to have much effect on the herd at large.

What does have an effect on the herd, and is responsible for fewer deer being seen in heavily hunted areas is the heavy illegal kill of does in those areas.

Before the crusaders get up in arms and blame the game division for ruinous conservation practices, they'd better do a little research and find which way the accusing finger should point. The game division can only experiment, study and make recommendations. The future of the deer herd is where it has always been, in the hands and consciences of the hunters.

Big Bass Gives Angler Bad Time

He landed the same bass several days later, with the original hook still in its mouth, but in the tussle De Pointer lost his eyeglasses in the water.

Local Men Win NRA's Approval

Two Pontiac firearms experts have just been certified by the National Rifle Association of America as instructors in marksmanship and rifle and pistol teaching.

Donald R. Bennett, 3069 Eastwood, was certified as a rifle marksmanship instructor. Kenneth E. Farnum, 1026 Holbrook street, received certification as an instructor for both rifle and pistol.

Both were required to pass a specified series of tests, and serve a prescribed period of time in training activities. Both may now conduct classes in gun operation, safe gun handling and technique of shooting on the target range, and in the field.

Flint 'Diana' Bags Bear in Annual Hunt

KALKASKA (UPI) — The third annual all-women's national bear hunt was cut short by rain during the weekend but it was a success when one of the 57 women who participated bagged a bear.

Mary Ann Decker of Flint was the lucky hunter. She used two shots to get her trophy.

The hunt was rained out Saturday and rain halted the hunt again Sunday at noon. While waiting for the rain to stop, the women made plans for next year's hunt.

Little Stories About Outdoors

Attesting the value of the solunar periods, published each Wednesday on this page, was the comment, yesterday, of an avid outdoors enthusiast who has for some time followed the suggested times for fishing and hunting with what she described as "amazing success".

Seeking some advance information regarding solunar activities during the coming week, Mrs. Clarke Hagstcrom, 131 East Iroquois road remarked that she and her husband make frequent fishing trips to the Au Sable, and have made constant use of the John Alden Knight solunar tables.

"It's amazing how accurate these periods are" said Mrs. Hagstrom. "The fish start hitting right on the dot. We have watched the times closely for beginning of fish activity, and they are almost always just as published."

★ ★ ★

"We really had a busy day, last Sunday," reported former Pontiac High track coach, Wally Schloerke. Reason for all the hurrying and scurrying about the "admiral's" menage was the arrival of a litter of 10 speckled Dalmatian pups. Mother of the "5-and-5" litter is the Schloerke's perky Dalmatian, two-year-old Lady Ka-Na.

★ ★ ★

Snow's flying already, in the Upper Peninsula, where Les Wilder and Nelson Brown of Birmingham were hunting ruffed grouse near Ralph, at Pickeral lake. The Oakland county pair had two days of it, found birds hard to flush after the flurries passed.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Woodbridge of Sylvan Lake did all right with the "ruffs," getting six the first day, eight the next, hunting near Saginaw.

Bagging Moose on First Hunt Is Big Thrill

Two area hunters, making their first trip into the storied Canadian moose-hunting section near Oba, Ont. (Pine Portage Camp), experienced their biggest shooting thrills when they each bagged a fine bull.

Brooks Barr, 1824 Allendale, Pontiac, and John R. Geggie, 610 S. Chester, Birmingham, both General Motors Truck & Coach sheet metal department men, downed 1,200-pound and 1,100-pound animals on a 6-day trip. Geggie got his bull an hour and a half after arrival at the hunting area. Barr had to wait until a few hours before leaving the section.

"We saw a number of other moose, but didn't get any shots," Geggie related, adding, "that was the first time I ever saw a moose except in a zoo. It was a terrific experience. That is certainly magnificent country."

★ ★ ★

More Than 200,000 Seek Deer Permits

LANSING (UP) — More than 200,000 hunters—a record—submitted applications for permits to hunt deer of either sex in 37 special areas next month, the state conservation department said today.

★ ★ ★

The number of applications surpassed the previous record set last year by more than 88,000. More than two of every five deer hunters asked for a permit.

Total permits will surpass 55,000. Drawings for special areas in the upper peninsula will be held Friday at Marquette, drawing for lower peninsula areas Oct. 21 in Lansing.

Cox said all applicants should know whether their applications were drawn by Nov. 2 or 3.

State, U.S. Trade Forest Land Areas

WHITE PINE (UP) — With two commissioners insisting that the swapping odds were too lopsided, Michigan's conservation commission has voted 4 to 2 to give the United States Forest Service 2,827 scattered acres of state land in Mackinac County for 695 acres on Bois Blanc Island, off Cheboygan.

★ ★ ★

The island area will be dedicated as a nature study area and will guarantee perpetuation of a section of virgin forest.

★ ★ ★

The commission approved purchase of public access sites, on the Muskegon River, Newaygo county; Silver River, Baraga county; Witch Lake, Marquette county; and Little Shag Lake, Marquette county. It authorized revision of the already approved purchase of virtually all private lands on High Island, Lake Michigan, to avoid any possible question of clear title on four small tracts.

★ ★ ★

Basic Training Course Continues

Soldiers Needed in Modern Warfare

(What role will the foot soldier play in this era of missiles and satellites? What awaits American boys who face Army service in the immediate future? To get the answers, UPI reporter Ira Lurvey accompanied Fifth Army Commander Lt. Gen. William H. (Hap) Arnold on a tour of one of the nation's largest training centers. This is the first of two dispatches telling what he found.)

By IRA LURVEY

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (UPI) — On a remote chunk of Ozark rock, a spit of South Carolina sand, a stub of California hill, the Army quietly goes on — even in this atomic and missile age — molding its ultimate weapon: man.

"Fire all the missiles and rockets you want," a captain said. "In the long run, what will count will be the men who hold the land under them."

It starts here at Ft. Leonard Wood. Or at Fort Jackson, S.C.; Fort Ord, Calif; Fort Dix, N. J.; Fort Chaffee, Ark.; Fort Knox, Ky.; Fort Carson, Colo.; Fort Hood, Tex.; or a handful of other basic combat training centers.

Every inductee — no matter what his eventual assignment — first completes basic training. It hasn't changed too much since the days of World War II.

★ ★ ★

"What good is a cook who can't fire a rifle?" a major asked. "What'll he do if the enemy slips through? Give him a bowl of spiked soup?"

★ ★ ★

Training begins, usually on a Sunday. They line up by roster stakes and march — eternally out of step — for three sets of fatigues, a jacket and some caps.

What's it like, this training?

"Basic attempts to accomplish three things: instill military discipline, teach basic combat skills and train men to live within groups," Fifth Army commander Lt. Gen. William H. (Hap) Arnold said.

The first days are "Zero Week," filled with equipment issue, processing and testing.

Between tests are the lectures: Achievements and Traditions, Military Courtesy and Customs, and the Uniform Code of Military Justice, under whose law the trainee now must live.

"There's nothing strange or terrifying about the code," said Lt. Col. Roger Currier, staff judge advocate general. "It's quite similar to Federal law. We find most trainees in trouble have civilian police records."

★ ★ ★

His immediate leader now is a company commander. The Army says the leader should be a captain. Due to personnel shortages, it's often a second lieutenant.

The first week of "Cycle" is heavy on lectures. There are Chaplain - directed Character Guidance, Troop Information, Drills and Ceremonies, First Aid and Guard Duty.

"There's not enough of it," a major said. "It should be scheduled daily, not just a few times weekly. A man in top physical shape is in top mental shape, too."

★ ★ ★

It's riflery, however, which occupies most of the first four weeks. ("There's no such thing in the infantry as a 'gun' trooper." "Drop that rifle, son, and you'll sleep with it.")

★ ★ ★

By the fifth week, emphasis shifts to the field. The company marches out after breakfast, maybe one mile, or two or three —rarely more—and learns about gas, bivouacs, forced marches, atomic blasts and night warfare.

"Night is no more than day without light," a captain said. "We show them there's nothing to fear."

The sixth week is bivouac. They sleep in pup tents and learn about foxholes and buddies. ("You got a shovel, your buddy a pick. Swap. That's what buddies are for.") In between, there's field sanitation, guerrilla warfare and line infiltration.

Then, too, there's the fabled infiltration course, where they crawl across a barbed-wire field while a machine gun fires overhead ("We haven't lost a man in years, trooper. Just keep your head down. You hear? Down.") and well-shielded explosion pits shower mud.

★ ★ ★

Week seven is more field work and some tests but now, somehow, it all seems easier.

"When a soldier is through basic," the Army says, "he knows how a battlefield sounds, smells, looks and feels. When he finds himself in actual combat, he should be able to react with a maximum of efficiency and a minimum of shock."

Lung Cancer Study Will Last 3 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — A three-year study of lung cancer by the American Cancer Society and the Veterans Administration will begin next month.

★ ★ ★

Under the program announced, all persons admitted to six centers for retired and handicapped veterans during the three years will undergo semi-annual chest X-ray and sputum examinations.

Radiologists will study the X-rays and cytologists will examine the sputum preparations. (Cytology is a branch of biology treating of cells with reference to their structure, functions, multiplication and life history).

The society said this will be the first program of periodic cytologic examination for lung cancer ever undertaken.

Grain Demand Continues Sag

★ ★ ★

Most corn futures again hit new lows for the season in a very quiet trade. Volume was extremely light and the trade mixed.

Wheat was off fractions on small scattered commission house selling. There was no confirmation of expected export wheat business with Brazil or additional purchases by India.

Soybeans, too, were weaker, with demand lacking. There was scattered commission house selling around the opening, with local traders the best buyers.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower, Dec. $1.95¼; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, old style Dec. $1.11¾; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, Dec. 63¾; rye ½ to ⅞ lower, Dec. $1.29½; and soybeans ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, Nov. $2.14¾.

Metals Pace Brisk Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — Coppers and steels paced a vigorous stock market recovery early today. Trading was heavy.

Gains went from fractions to a point or more. The ticker tape was late.

Coppers, which triggered yesterday's decline, were outstanding in the recovery. Anaconda was a point or so higher and Magna rose about 2. American Smelting was another 1-point gainer and International Nickel rose a sizable fraction.

★ ★ ★

The recovery affected most major divisions. American Telephone, Chrysler, Boeing, Westinghouse Electric and American Airlines rose fractions.

Death Notice

ORVILLE M. GRANT

Word has been received of the death of Orville M. Grant, of Empire, Ore., a former Pontiac resident. He died Monday in North Bend Hospital there after a long illness.

Mr. Grant, 56, had been an employe of Fisher Body Division before moving to Oregon in 1945.

Surviving are his wife, Dot; and two sisters, Mrs. Neva Martin and Mrs. Harriett Storts, both of Pontiac.

Service and burial will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday from the Mills Funeral Home in Coos Bay, Ore.

Rising Corporation Profits Reflect Recovery Trend

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The recovery is bringing a pleasing flush to many business firms today. It's the touch of color they love—rising profits.

★ ★ ★

Earnings for the July, August and September quarter, now starting to flood in, show many corporations doing better than they did in the first part of the year. A sizable number also report doing better this year than last.

General Electric, for example, reports its third-quarter profits set a record for the period, and were 6 per cent higher than in the July-September period of last year, although sales still trailed last year by about 4 per cent.

Giant American Telephone & Telegraph shows a nice profit gain over last year. Most utilities, in fact, are expected to report more profits than a year ago, reflecting the steady increase in household use of light and power offsetting any drop in industrial use.

Increasing numbers of corporations are predicting that the pickup in the third quarter will be accelerated in the fourth, bringing the total for 1958 up with or perhaps ahead of 1957.

The Department of Commerce put the first-quarter profits at an annual rate of 15½ billion dollars. The bettering picture now leads it to estimate the total for the year will be about 18 billion.

Many textile firms, for example, are looking up. Among those showing a better third quarter this year than last (based on fiscal rather than calendar years) are J. P. Stevens, Wyandotte Worsted, Indian Head Mills and American Enka.

Minneapolis - Moline reports a strikingly better quarter this year than last, and Caterpillar tractor is well ahead, while Deere and J. I. Case report results for the first nine months top the 1957 period nicely.

★ ★ ★

Beatrice Foods reports a better three months this year. So do Safeway and Federated Department Stores.

★ ★ ★

There are laggards, of course, companies that haven't yet turned the profits corner. But the general picture is much better than it was the first of the year.

GINGER ROGERS

To Be Her First Program on TV

Dancer Is Confident After Studying Tricks of Video Camera

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "That television camera has a tendency to make you appear square-shaped," says Ginger Rogers, who is not in the least square-shaped.

★ ★ ★

"It will play some awfully maughty tricks on a woman." She cannot recall, however, that it has played distorting tricks on her.

Despite these feminine reservations, she is not worried about her first television program, in which she will appear as a singing, dancing hostess instead of as a guest. CBS-TV will present the special hour show tonight.

★ ★ ★

Her confidence is based principally on the fact that the program will be produced and directed by Bob Banner as his first CBS production after leaving the Dinah Shore Show.

★ ★ ★

Dancers face special hazards on television, she says.

"You're completely at the mercy of the cameraman. If they aren't on target, they can louse you up badly. They can cut off your feet or they can pull back so far at such a high angle that you look like a small dot away down there to the audience."

It's important to rehearse dancing for a TV show in the same place where the show will be televised, she says, so that you'll know the exact geography of the stage and your routine. "Your partner has to know exactly where to be—and the cameras have to," she adds.

Fortunately for both Dinah Shore and Miss Rogers, her guest, they rehearsed a dance number together with soap bubbles floating down before a show went on the air some time ago. When the bubbles hit the stage, it was made slippery.

"If the stage had been that slippery when the show was on the air," Miss Rogers said, "absolutely anything could have happened to us. And how would we have explained it? Announce to the audience that soap is slippery?"

Of reports that she is negotiating with NBC-TV for her own program series, Miss Rogers will say only this:

"We're engaged. But we haven't picked a date for the wedding or a church where it will be held. I don't have a ring or a trousseau and we haven't the vaguest idea where we'll go on our honeymoon."

To Let Negro Lawyers Join Bar Association

WASHINGTON (AP) — The District of Columbia Bar Assn. voted Tuesday night to admit Negro lawyers into membership for the first time.

The vote was 583 out of 807, or 46 more than the necessary two-thirds.

Natives of the Faeroe Islands, which are about halfway between Iceland and Scotland, catch seabirds with nets on long poles. But, they catch no birds carrying fish. This is a sign they are bringing food to youngsters in their nests.

State Schools Using $16 Million in Tools

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan schools use machine tools valued at more than 16 million dollars, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn Bartlett said in commenting on an inventory of shops in public schools.

★ ★ ★

Bartlett said the inventory was made because no complete listing had been made before and when federal sources made surplus equipment available to public schools, a good formula wasn't available to help in assigning the equipment.

Bartlett said the study was needed "with the demand for trained technicians becoming more acute with each passing day."

Mennonite emigrants from Russia arrived in Kansas in 1874, bringing with them the famous Red Turkey hard winter wheat that was adapted to make Kansas the nation's leading wheat producing state.

Adds Story of Elbows' Chickens to Sermon

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I was preaching my favorite sermon — about decaying American morals—when a man called Harry Contrary said I should spin you the yarn of Elbows and the Chickens.

WILSON

"I think it will show that today we are all angels," Harry Contrary said.

"You remember, it happened at the old Cotton Club, where the Latin Quarter is now," he went on. "In that little office—across from the bar."

"I know it well. But how'm I going to explain Elbows? What's he doing now?" I said.

"Still hustlin' fins," shrugged Harry Contrary, meaning that he was begging $5 bills. "But in 1937 during prohibition he had the stealing concession at several dives. He was allowed to go through overcoat pockets in the checkroom and take anything that amused him.

"One night he came into the Cotton Club into that little office where we were all playing cards.

"Big Frenchy was in the game. Big Frenchy was the greatest safecracker in the world and owned the Cotton Club. We used to have Duke Ellington's band playin', and Bill Robinson, Ethel Waters and Cab Calloway all in the same show. The waiters got a dollar a night. Big Frenchy was the boss of the mob.

"Elbows—he was called that because of a legend that he used his elbows in fighting—said to the card players, 'I got a hell of an opportunity, if I could get about four chickens, I could make myself $50 a night.'

"Big Frenchy turned from his cards and said, 'How could you make $50?'

★ ★ ★

"Elbows said, 'Very simple. Up at Dickey Wells' late spot, they are going to let me have the food concession. I'll take a chicken and I'll chop it up. I'll take a chicken leg and bread it up—I'll use a lot of bread—I'll blow it up big and charge $3 or $4 for a leg. I'll bread up a wing and . . .'

"Big Frenchy laughed. He said to one of his men, 'Let the bum get himself four chickens.'

"Well, a little later, Elbows came down and stood behind Frenchy. He was kibitzin' the game and he was makin' noises with his mouth while watching. And he had the bag of chickens in his hands.

★ ★ ★

"Frenchy yelled, 'For —— sake, quit blowin' down my neck!' And he swung around with his hand and hit the bag—and 12 chickens fell out."

5 PTAs Meet in Waterford

Panel Discussions, Visit to Classrooms Planned for Parents Thursday

Five schools in Waterford Township have scheduled Parent-Teacher Association meetings for Thursday night.

A panel discussion illustrating four different services available to local children will open the program at 8 p.m. at the Donelson School PTA meeting.

Panel members will include County Nurse Ayleen Wright, Homebound Teacher Mildred Williams, Speech Correctionist Mary Sax and Visiting Teacher Frieda Huggett. Donelson School Teacher Robert Gavette will be moderator for the discussion.

"Working Together For Our Children," is the theme scheduled for discussion at the 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Waterford Center PTA.

Leaders of this group will be principal Mrs. Gladys Rohrer, and Speech Correction Teacher Mrs. Norma Wilson, along with Music Teacher Mary Phipps, Recreation Director Tom Belton, School Nurse Patricia Skelley and Co-ordinator Mrs. Gary Hubbell.

★ ★ ★

Beginning at 8 p.m., parents of children attending the Schoolcraft school, will visit each room of each class attended by their children during the regular school day.

★ ★ ★

"Back to School For Parents" is the theme that parents will follow throughout the evening, and teachers will explain new methods being introduced in school curriculums.

The same program has been scheduled for the William Beaumont school beginning at 7:30 p.m. Teachers will introduce methods being taught at the various grade levels.

"Books and Your Child," is the theme that Oakland County Reading Consultant Richard Elder has chosen for the Jayne Adams PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m.

All parents have been urged to attend the various PTA meetings throughout Waterford Township, and participate in better understanding of teacher-pupil-parent relationship.

Hoffa, Taxi Local Sued for $100,000 in Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A $100,000 damage suit has been filed in state court against Teamster Union Boss James Hoffa and Taxicab Drivers Local 349.

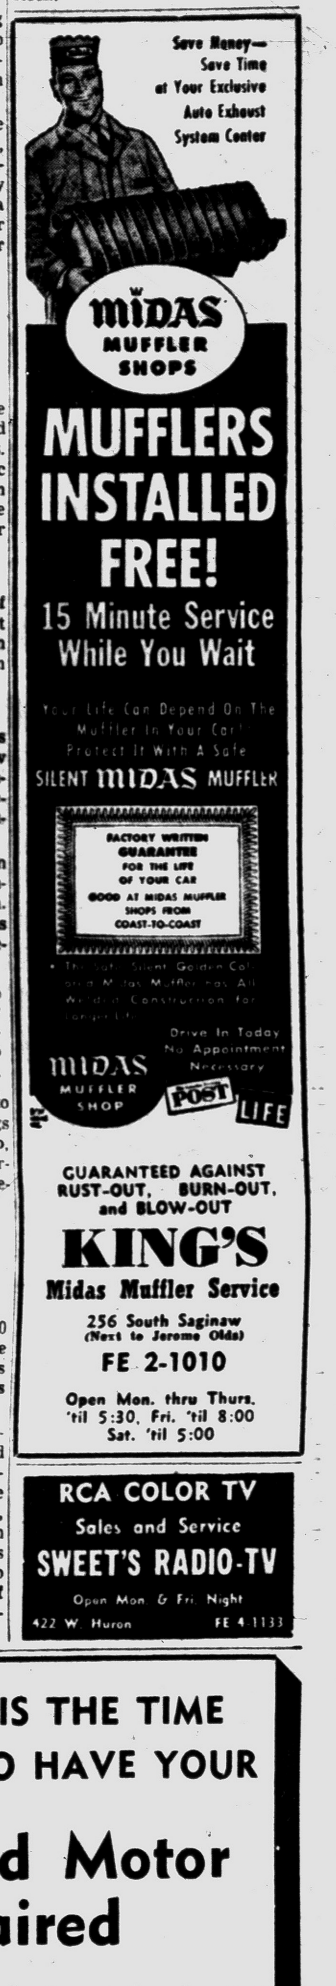

Louis Banks, owner of the non-union Checker and Black and White Cab Companies, filed a petition yesterday alleging that the union, on Hoffa's personal orders, conducted a terrorist campaign against him because several of his drivers who formerly belonged to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters withdrew their membership.

Recover Poison Pellets Stolen at Nashville

NASHVILLE (AP) — A case of poison pellets, sought for a week in the Nashville area after a theft from a seed salesman's truck, has been recovered intact by police.

Officers Ben Kenyon and Don Langham said a 14-year-old boy yesterday admitted the theft. They said he also admitted taking $42 in cash from the truck. Some of the money has been recovered.

Latest Probe—What Makes Tourist Tick

NEW YORK (UPI) — The long-suffering American tourist in Europe, looking only for a good time but so often criticized as a boor, is going to be put under the microscope again.

The investigation to determine "what kind of guy is the American abroad" will be launched at the 28th national convention of the American Society of Travel Agents, to be held in New York Nov. 2-7.

Among the convention's aims is "developing better methods of analyzing the American tourist for the benefit of the travel trade (and) launch a campaign to help government 'educate' the traveler to his ambassadorial responsibilities."

According to the travel agents' group, half of the 1,500,000 Americans who traveled abroad in 1958 were women—housewives, secretaries, clerks and students. About six per cent of the total were in the unskilled labor class. Teachers, students, merchants and engineers made up most of the rest.

About half the tourists travel alone. One-third travel in family groups; the rest with friends or business associates.

★ ★ ★

The tourists spend an average of $300 abroad — most of it in Britain, France and Italy — on clothes, jewelry, watches, perfume, pottery and china, silverware, liquor, antiques and cameras.

But "what kind of a guy" the average American tourist is still eludes the experts—so they're having another go at trying to find the answer.

Can Register Now for 'Y' Dance Course

The Pontiac YMCA announced today that registrations are being accepted for a dance instruction course to be held Monday evenings in the "Y" green room from 7:30 to 9.

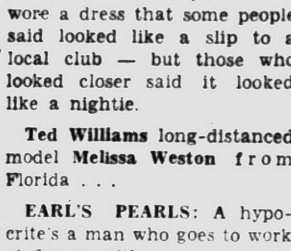

★ ★ ★

Any 10th-12th grade students may register for the 10-week course which will emphasize fox trot and swing (jitterbug).

Fees for the course will be $15 for YMCA members and $18 for non-members.

Robert Wisdom, youth director, stated the course is tentatively set to begin Nov. 3. All interested persons should bring their registration fee to the YMCA on or before Oct. 27.

4-Man Cabinet for Lebanon

Represents Civil War Main Factions in Hope of Curbing Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new four-man Cabinet representing the main factions in the Lebanese civil war was formed today in hopes of stopping increasing violence.

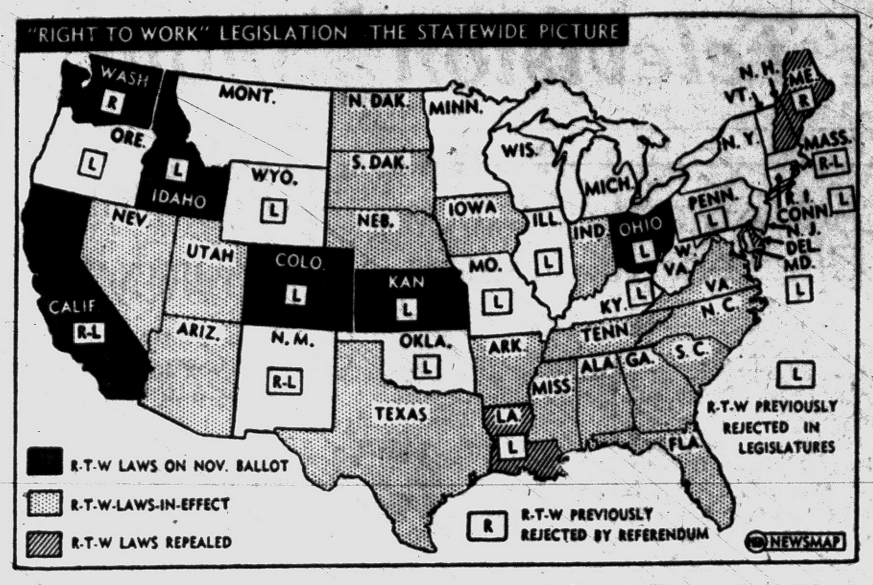

Rashid Karami, a leader of the rebellion against former President Camille Chamoun, remained premier. But his deputy premier now is Pierre Gemayel, leader of the pro-Chamoun Phalange party whose three-week strike had closed most business establishments and brought down Karami's first Cabinet.

The other two members are Hussein Oweini, whose National Front spearheaded the rebellion against Chamoun, and Raymond Edde, a neutral who had tried to mediate the civil war.

The new government called on all citizens to "resume work and restore order to permit Lebanon to return to a normal life." The east Mediterranean Arab state has been torn by violence since May 10. Lately the situation has grown uglier with daily slayings and kidnapings.

The Lebanese Federation of Free Trade Unions, dominated by Phalangists, called off a strike scheduled today for 20,000 workers to support Phalange demands for a place in the new government.

BIG ISSUE IN SOME STATES — An important and controversial side issue to the upcoming congressional elections is the so-called "Right-to-Work" question. Newsmap above spots the six states which will vote on proposed R-T-W legislation in November, plus those which now have, or once had, such legislation. Also indicated are numerous states, including the six voting on it this year, which have previously rejected R-T-W, either by referendums or in their legislatures. In other states R-T-W has not yet become an issue.

Women Want 'More Drama'

U.S. Homes' Front Doors Too Common for Them

WASHINGTON (AP) — The women told the builders front doors of America's homes are too commonplace. They want "more drama" in them.

The builders are listening intently to ideas tossed around by the 83 selected women attending a three-day housing conference sponsored by the National Assn. of Home Builders and the United Industry Committee.

★ ★ ★

The women said make the doors bigger. They said natural wood is good, but they thought some gay color might be even better and suggested red and maybe aqua as starters.

The front door should have something special to reflect the taste of the people inside and be unique, they said.

Conferring in the modernistic atmosphere of the National Housing Center here, the women hold 40-minute sessions. They give their own ideas and answer questions bothering the building industry. At the blast of a whistle they take a 10-minute break and then start again.

Every word they say is being taken down in shorthand so the builders can mull it over later.

They told the builders to take the medicine cabinet off the wall above the sink—where bottles can fall out and break, and put it somewhere else—with a lock to keep youngsters from getting into it. Over the sink in its place, they advised, a big mirror.

Bee Sting Kills Man

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—The sting of a bee proved fatal to Louis McPherson, 28. Hospital officials said he died from the shock of the bee stinger, which apparently carried a pollen to which the victim was allergic.

Iowa Welcome Ready for Ike

To Greet Eisenhowers With 'Old Home Week' Atmosphere, Big Crowd

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—Two magic ingredients — a big crowd and an old home week flavor—will be present when President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower visit Iowa Friday to give a presidential fillip to the 1958 political campaign.

The crowd of 100,000 or more will be on hand at the National Corn Picking Contest northeast of here where Eisenhower is to speak.

The old home week flavor will be at Jackson School here where Mrs. Eisenhower attended kindergarten. While the President is at the big farm event, the First Lady will take part in Jackson's diamond jubilee.

The Iowa appearance was added to the California and Chicago speaking dates which signaled the President's decision to give active, personal leadership ot the GOP 1958 campaign.

His impending visit has buoyed hopes of Iowa Republicans who are battling to unseat Herschel C. Loveless, this state's first Democratic governor in 20 years. While Eisenhower was carrying Iowa by 228,000 votes in 1956, Loveless won by a 28,000-vote margin.

Loveless will head the official reception line for Eisenhower at the contest but will leave quickly. His Republican opponent, Iowa State economics professor William G. Murray, will be on the speakers' platform.

There were less than half a billion people on earth when Magellen circumnavigated the globe 500 years ago. Today there are nearly 3 billion people.
