High Court Upholds '64 Hoffa Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the 1964 conviction of James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, on jury tampering charges.

"The use of secret informers is not per se unconstitutional," Justice Potter Stewart said in delivering the court's divided decision.

In his appeal, Hoffa claimed his rights were violated by use of a paid government informer to gather information against him.

Stewart swept aside this and other of the union leader's constitutional claims in affirming his conviction.

★ ★ ★

Chief Justice Earl Warren dissented. Justices Tom C. Clark and William O. Douglas filed a brief opinion saying they would have dismissed the appeal. Justices Byron R. White and Abe Fortas took no part in the case or in the decision.

SIX TO ONE

With two justices sitting out and two saying they would not have heard the case at all, the effective division of the court was 6 to 1 against Hoffa.

There was no immediate comment from Hoffa.

Hoffa was tried in federal court in Chattanooga, Tenn., and was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000.

★ ★ ★

Apart from Hoffa's prominence, the case was significant because of the use of Edward Grady Partin, a Baton Rouge Teamsters local official, as what Hoffa called a government informer.

HOTEL SUITE

Hoffa's attorney, Joseph A. Fanelli, said Partin was placed in Hoffa's hotel suite in Nashville to gather information for the government.

★ ★ ★

However, Stewart said "Partin did not enter the suite by force or by stealth. He was not a surreptitious eavesdropper."

Ike's Condition Termed 'Good' After Surgery

Gallbladder Removed in Washington, D.C., Hospital This Morning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition was reported "good" by Walter Reed Army Hospital today following removal of his gallbladder.

The report on the 76-year-old Eisenhower's condition was made to newsmen at 11 a.m., about three-quarters of an hour after the surgery had been completed.

The hospital said further details would be forthcoming soon on the general's condition.

Maj. James Sonneborn of the hospital's public information staff said a further statement would be made soon on details of the operation.

NO WORD ON LENGTH

"The operation has been completed and Gen. Eisenhower was back in his room at Ward 8 of the hospital at 10:15 a.m.," he said.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate word on how long the surgery itself lasted. But it had previously been reported that it began promptly at 8 a.m. as scheduled.

★ ★ ★

Doctors had said prior to the operation that it was expected it would take "about an hour and a half."

After giving the announcement, Sonneborn was asked, "How does he feel?"

Sonneborn said he had no information on that at the moment, but that he expected to get it momentarily.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was the first since shortly after the surgery began.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Walter Reed Army Hospital officials announced at 8:05 a.m. that the surgery scheduled for 8 o'clock was already under way.

★ ★ ★

Senior at Kettering Is New Junior Miss

Waterford Township's new Junior Miss, Jennifer Siegwart, a petite senior at Kettering High School, fares well in competition against the fair set.

Her latest honor, achieved in Saturday night's Waterford Township Junior Miss Pageant at Mason Junior High School, marked the second time in as many contests she has emerged victorious.

Saturday, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Siegwart of 3258 Wormer, Waterford Township, bested 14 other contestants, all high school seniors, to succeed Gayanne Mansfield as Junior Miss.

For winning, Jennifer was awarded the Waterford Township Jaycees' Carol Gray Memorial Scholarship and a trophy and gained a berth in the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 27-28 at Pontiac Northern High School.

The dark-haired, hazel-eyed new Junior Miss plans to use the $250 scholarship at Ferris State College at Big Rapids where she will major in dental hygiene.

GYMNASTIC ROUTINE

Sun to Smile for Awhile

The sunshine which replaced the weekend's snowfall will remain through Wednesday, according to the weatherman's predictions.

Tonight's low temperature will range between 10 to 18. Tomorrow's clear skies will help warm the mercury and temperatures will climb to the 30s.

Lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 15. By 2 p.m. it had warmed to a brisk 33.

GM Head Sees Bright Picture

Says 1967 Could Be Best in Auto History

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto industry may be heading for one of its best years in history in 1967, Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp., said today.

★ ★ ★

In a year-end statement on the U.S. economic outlook, Donner predicted that total retail sales of motor vehicles "could well exceed our long-term" estimate of 10,250,000 cars and trucks in 1967.

But the chairman of the nation's biggest auto firm added:

"Economic developments in 1967 will be importantly influenced by the magnitude of the resources required for Vietnam and the nature and extent of government actions in the areas of monetary and fiscal policy."

Donner expressed optimism

County Republicans at Odds

By JIM LONG

Oakland County Republicans appear to be heading toward a tough battle in the near future. But the war cry isn't coming from the Democrats.

The fight is among party members, between the moderates headed by County Chairman Joseph R. Farnham, and conservatives led by Sen. Robert J. Huber of Troy.

Huber announced today that he intends to form a group "for the sole purpose of opposing Farnham and his followers."

Farnham was reelected chairman of the county GOP at a meeting of the Republican executive committee Saturday. The vote was 30-5.

★ ★ ★

He was first elected to the post in January, succeeding Dale Feet who resigned.

Differing philosophies in the way the party should be run and what it should stand for has kept Huber and Farnham at odds throughout the year.

Several attempts have been made by Huber and other con-

Hard to Buy for Male?

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth in a nine-part series on shopping tips for Christmas gift buying.)

By JEANNE NELSON

Is your man the "hard to buy for type?" This Christmas make him feel pampered with his very own bottle of bubble bath oil made especially for men. Wickedly scented, he can luxuriate for weeks at $3.50 a bottle.

If he's the shower type, surprise him with a cake of shampoo soap on a rope in his yule stocking. This also sells for about $3.50. A home adding machine with its blue metal case would be a welcome gift throughout the year. It runs about $11.95.

Relax and let him be the life of the party this New Year's Eve with a set of Bongo drums complete with shakers at $8.95. Or encourage him to show off with half a dozen or so new rolls for that old player piano. Each roll will cost about 98 cents.

You could add to his collection of guns with a 22-caliber revolver priced about $64.25. If he's a golfer there is a combination cart-bag out. It's made of tubular steel, light, carries all clubs and accessories on wheels. About $25.

For the Lodge man, there are Masonic rings and cuff links in varying prices. Help him keep trim with a black vinyl exercise board. This will cost about $14.95. Weight lifting equipment runs upwards of $15.

For the hunter a set of walkie-talkies will let him stay in touch with others of his party. The price is $29.98. If he's particular about the looks of his car, you could buy him a battery operated vacuum cleaner for about $6.

Romney Moves to New Forum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's George Romney carries his presidential ambitions into a new forum today after what one colleague called "some hard sells and some soft sells" aimed at other Republican governors.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan governor is a center of GOP presidential attention as the Republican Coordinating Committee meets to rejoice in the party's election comeback and talk about the political road ahead.

★ ★ ★

Two men who could stand in Romney's presidential path are due at the session, too. One is former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, trailing Romney in postelection polls but, rated a likely rival to head the next GOP ticket.

BARRY COMING

The other is Barry Goldwater, still dissatisfied with Romney's explanation of his refusal to endorse the 1964 Republican ticket the Arizonan led.

On the eve of the meeting, the Washington Post reported that students and political leaders listed as temporary officers of a "Youth for Romney" organization knew nothing about the group and had not authorized use of their names.

Formation of 111 Youth for Romney groups had been announced at the Colorado Springs, Colo., conference of the Republican Governors Association by Merlo K. Gates, an unsuccessful candidate for the state legislature from Wichita, Kan., who identified himself as chairman of the youth group.

But the Post quoted five of the 13 asserted temporary officers as saying they didn't know about the group. Several indicated the names had come from a list of sponsors of a national student leadership seminar organized in May 1965.

—DEMOCRATS, TOO

Pennsylvania's retiring Gov. William W. Scranton described the hard sell-soft sell tactics the Romney forces followed Friday and Saturday at Colorado Springs.

★ ★ ★

Romney insisted, privately as well as publicly, that he had not made up his mind about a presidential bid, and wouldn't, for about six months. But one Romney associate said it would be naive to deny that the governor is testing the political climate for a White House bid.

Scranton said Romney had picked up strength at the conference, although no commitments were claimed.

★ ★ ★

"I think George probably went out stronger than he came in," said Scranton, who made a futile nomination bid of his own at the 1964 GOP National Convention.

Republicans Head Toward Tough Battle

servative members to wrestle control from Farnham.

In August, Farnham narrowly won the chairmanship of the county's delegation to the state convention when he defeated Huber by a 105-96 vote.

Farnham, however, gained prestige, and assurance that he would be reelected county chairman when all but one of the candidates nominated by moderates were elected to the executive committee.

'THOROUGHLY UPSET'

Huber, who represents the county's 14th District, said he was "thoroughly upset" by a remark made by Farnham after his election Saturday that he would establish a "Kitchen Cabinet."

"In my opinion," said Huber, "this would be an advisory group, not elected by party members, to give direction to Farnham.

"The executive committee would be no more than a rubber stamp," Huber said. There is no provision in the law for a "Kitchen Cabinet."

★ ★ ★

Huber said it would be early in January when be calls together supporters to make plans to raise funds, and to "clean up Farnham's mess."

"He's drifted far afield," said Huber. "He doesn't represent all the Republicans in the county."

Farnham, 40, of 2061 Avon, Birmingham, is assistant chief engineer in the Engine Electrical Department of Chrysler Corp.

'Apathy' Party Is Aptly Named

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A political party recently formed at the Wichita State University apparently has been well named.

Leaders of the "Apathy" party met to consider the possibility of changing the party name to that of "lethargy" party. The motion died when no one at the meeting rose to second it.

Ohioan Balking at Return in Shooting of City Man

A Youngstown, Ohio, man was reported ready to fight extradition to Michigan today following his arrest in the near-fatal shooting of a Pontiac man yesterday.

Thad Dennis, 40, is held at the Sandusky County Jail in Fremont, Ohio, after being apprehended about 5:50 a.m. by Ohio State Police.

Pontiac Detective Dallas J. Flesher said police would seek a warrant charging Dennis with attempted murder.

★ ★ ★

If Dennis refuses to waive extradition to Michigan, it will be necessary for the Oakland County prosecutor's office to petition the governor for a special hearing.

HEARING SOON

The hearing would be held in Circuit Court in Ohio within a few days, police said.

Alexander, according to Pontiac police, was shot twice in the head with a 25-caliber revolver about 1:30 a.m. at a home at 577 Harvey.

Dennis, who drove from Youngstown to the party earlier in the evening, was in the kitchen with the victim and several other persons, according to Bell.

Witnesses told police Dennis suddenly grabbed Alexander by the coat collar, and fired a revolver twice into the victim's head.

Dennis then stuffed the gun in a pocket, gathered together his wife, two children, and another couple who came with him, and fled, police were told.

One man jumped into a car and chased Dennis' speeding automobile on Woodward as far as Square Lake Road, but could not keep pace, police said.

Troopers of the Ohio State Patrol were sent a description of the automobile and apprehended Dennis about 5:50 a.m. at Swanton, about 15 miles west of Toledo.

Possible '67 Record Seen by GM Head

that national defense expenditures could be held within recently announced levels and that there would be no major changes in the areas of monetary and fiscal policy.

"In addition," he said, "we believe that there are current indications that some of the sources of extreme pressure on the economy may now be moderating."

The GM chief said motor vehicle (cars, trucks, buses, etc.) sales this year will total about 10.6 million units, second only to the record volume of more than 10.8 million in 1965.

The 1967 model cars went on sale late in September, and Donner said that for October and November "the annual rate of sales . . . is above the normal trend estimate for 1967 and is strong evidence that the industry's 1967 line of cars and trucks have been well received."

If the economic climate remains favorable, 1967 could be "among the best of the past four high - volume model years when sales ranged from 9 to over 10.8 million units," Donner said.

Donner said this year there was "a continuing expansion of the economy as a whole, with most measures of general economic conditions indicating strong advance."

He cited "a new and expanding market opportunity in the growth of sales in so-called "personal" cars, as compared with the "traditional concept of the family car."

Man Facing Arraignment in Fight Case

Witnesses told Pontiac police Stevens knocked Bowens to the ground, hit him in the head with a pistol, and then held the gun to Bowen's head.

★ ★ ★

Stevens was then grabbed by another employe and persuaded to drop the weapon before he fled, police were told. Plant officers took him into custody a short time later.

Bowen, a welder, escaped serious injury, police said.

Others are Ralph Pickrell, Marvin Beyers, George Smith, Charles Goddy, George Lintz, Dick Lance and Joseph Warren.

Battle Survivor Retells Events

GI, 20, Wonders Why He Wasn't Scared

SUOI DA, South Vietnam (AP) — Pfc. Eugene Hicks, 20, punched and pulled his machine gun that had jammed for the sixth time in as many minutes and wondered why, in the midst of the noises of the bloody battlefield, he wasn't scared.

★ ★ ★

"I was sort of elated I was shaping up so well, that my reaction to fire was so good," Hicks recalled, remembering back to Sunday morning when his 30-man platoon stumbled on a large Viet Cong force, engaged them, and took heavy casualties.

★ ★ ★

Hicks, from Chicago, Ill., didn't realize until he crawled across the battlefield afterward how bad it had been.

★ ★ ★

"I just thought the men were lying down there to keep out of the way of our own artillery that had been coming in pretty close and even spraying dirt across my back," Hicks said. "But then I saw the blood, the head wounds, the bodies all twisted. Those men weren't alive. Oh, it was Black Sunday."

WOUNDED BEFORE

Like others in the ill-fated Platoon from C Company, 1st Battalion, 16th Regiment, Hicks had been wounded before in Vietnam, the first time in the thigh with mortar fragments on his first day in the field.

★ ★ ★

"The first time I was in action, and hit, I was so scared. But this time, I don't know why, I reacted good," Hicks said.

City to Consider Traffic Lights

BIRMINGHAM — The need for up-to-date pedestrian signals at three intersections in the city will be considered by the City Commission tonight.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Highway Department's district traffic engineer has agreed to conduct a survey of the Hunter-Maple, Oakland-Hunter and Woodward-Lincoln intersections if the commission gives its approval.

Following completion of the survey, the district engineer will make recommendations plus a request for partial participation in the cost of changing the present signals.

Police records show that two pedestrian accidents have occurred at the Hunter and Maple intersection this year.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Ralph Moxley said the signals give pedestrians ample time to reach the median but not enough to cross all eight lanes of traffic.

'INADEQUATE'

The signals are "completely inadequate" and "obsolete," according to Moxley and can be read only by pedestrians" with better than normal eyesight." He said they were probably installed when the bypass was constructed in 1939.

★ ★ ★

Details of a proposed indepth study of the east leg of the ring road will be presented to the commission by Reid and Cool traffic engineering consultants.

Traffic assignments and geometric layouts of the six routes being considered for the east leg will be made as part of the study and will be reviewed with the Chamber of Commerce Traffic Committee and the city administration.

Police Chief Hearing Set in Romeo

Village President Byron Nichols said, "It's on the agenda."

Nichols asked for Jewell's resignation last week.

Jewell submitted the resignation and then "on the strength of public support" he requested that it be withdrawn and that a public hearing be granted him at tonight's meeting.

* * *

The appointment of a police chief is the prerogative of the village president as set down in Romeo statutes. Jewell's current appointment was to run until April 1.

SIMILAR DISPUTES

Similar controversy has surrounded the position of chief here at least three times previously, village records show.

* * *

Also on the docket tonight is the council's decision of whether or not to accept an already approved $14,910 planning grant for an Urban Renewal project. The village would share $5,000 of the cost.

New Bid to Remove Sand, Gravel Slated

AVON TOWNSHIP — A new bid for permission to remove sand and gravel from 56 acres on Sheldon will be made by Sidney Weinberger at a hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals tonight at the township hall.

Weinberger's original application was turned down as result of a public hearing Sept. 13 conducted by the township.

* * *

Some 350 residents protested what they said would result in serious noise and dust problems.

* * *

Weinberger's request at this time promises that no processing of the dirt will take place on the property, and that removal of what he anticipates as 2 million yards of material will be accomplished in three years.

Proper School Yule Concert Is 7:30 Tonight

ORION TOWNSHIP — Proper School PTA will host the school's annual Christmas concert at 7:30 tonight.

The program will feature the school chorus directed by Mrs. Mary Lou Tolbert and the band under the baton of Howard Johnson.

* * *

Selections will include songs by the Lake Orion Community High School Girls' Glee Clubs, the Melotones, Mixed Chorus and Four Derbies. Keith Coble is head of the high school vocal music department.

Dinner for AAUW Set Wednesday

ROCHESTER — The American Association of University Women, Rochester Branch, will meet for a Christmas dinner at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Bedell's, 2395 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

* * *

Mrs. Helen Williams of Rochester, juvenile book authority, will discuss "Christmas at Fair Acre"; and Michael Reinhart of Utica, a student of Van Cliburn at Interlochen National Music Camp, will play the piano.

* * *

His selections are "Tocatta in F" by Khachaturian; Bach Invention No. 8; and "Waltz in E Minor" by Chopin.

Woman, 40, Dead of Crash Injuries

Mrs. Charles Matia, 40, of Columbiaville died early yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Flint, of injuries sustained in a head-on crash Nov. 30 near Otisville.

* * *

James M. Foltz, 41, of Columbiaville, driver of the other car, was killed in the crash. Charles Matia, 42, driver of the Matia car, was also injured.

* * *

Board to View School Plans

Walled Lake May Act on New Senior High

WALLED LAKE — Preliminary plans for the school district's proposed new senior high school will be presented to the board of education for possible action tonight.

Schools Supt. George Garver said preliminary plans are to be approved so that working drawings can be started on the foundation of the building.

Approval for construction of the new building was given by voters as part of a $9.7 million bond issue in October.

School authorities hope the new facility will be ready for use in the fall of 1969.

* * *

Designed to accommodate about 1,300 students in grades 9-12, the new building would take pressure off the present school, currently housing about 500 more pupils than it was designed to accommodate.

HEARING DUE

Also scheduled for tonight's board meeting is a hearing on a grievance between the Walled Lake Education Association and the board.

* * *

The grievance was filed after Garver denied a teacher's request that he be paid for a conference period spent supervising a math test.

Group to Aid Sisters Elects First Officers

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The newly organized Friends of the Oxford Dominican Sisters elected Mrs. Frank Syron, 4335 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, as their first president.

The group is composed of parents of the Sisters as well as others interested in the growth of the Oxford Township community.

Marvin E. Vest of 1377 Tull, Waterford Township, was named first vice president and William C. Zandi of Flint, second vice president. Mrs. James Parker of Detroit is secretary.

The group plans to organize similar chapters in Detroit, Flint and Pontiac for the purpose of aiding the sisters.

* * *

The Oxford Dominicans have teaching missions in Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin and conduct Dominican Academy, a girls' board high school, and deLima College, a two-year liberal arts college for women, at Oxford.

* * *

Polish Carols

Shoe Spotting Beats 'Poker'

By JEAN SAILE

But on the expressway there are those who vote for shoe spotting as the most exciting entertainment of all.

Remember the steamy days of August — the long stretches of unbroken landscape — the feel of the car taking to and holding the banked curves — the overpowering desire to yawn — and then you see it!

A shoe!

REALLY WAY OUT

There it is — half a mile from nowhere, or the nearest exit, and in an area fenced off from the surrounding fields.

BUT DADDY...

The sneaky trick of a child made to sit still too long in the backseat?

A rakish look of teenagerism — obviously leapt out of by a hurrying student who went soleless to school or home or wherever he went.

* * *

Perhaps it was the shock of meeting a teacher downtown when he (and the teacher) were supposed to be in class.

A good shoe-watcher can hope to turn up about three shoes a week just while driving back and forth to work. That's during good weather.

Crash Kills Six; State Toll Is 19

By theAssociated Press

Six persons died and one was injured critically Sunday when a car ripped into the side of an auto at a Muskegon Heights intersection.

The six were among 19 persons killed during the weekend in Michigan highway mishaps. Two other multiple-death accidents claimed a total of five lives.

Lt. Floyd Henry of Muskegon Heights Police said four persons were killed in one car.

He identified them as Evia Jean Briggs, 22; Roscoe Johnson, 28; Ezell Moore, 24; and James Hill, 21. The injured man, Joseph Richardson, 20, also was in this car.

Richardson suffered damage to his head and ribs and was hospitalized in Muskegon Heights. His condition was listed as critical.

Killed in the other car were David Lee Bowen, 21, and Michael George Avdek, 21. Henry said Bowen apparently was driving at the time of the crash.

The Bowen car struck the passenger side of the other vehicle. The Bowen car, a convertible, flipped over after the crash; crushing the soft top of the car and pinning the two men against the pavement.

The other car slid into the lawn of a nearby house, stopping about 15 yards from the house. One body was thrown from the car into the street and two others onto the lawn.

Also killed:

Samuel P. Brown, 28, and his wife, Charlik Anette, 22, of Mason, when their car ran off a road Sunday night near Mason in Ingham County.

Larry Ault, 21; his wife, Faith, 22, and their son, Jerry, 1, all of near Flat Rock when their car and an Ann Arbor Railroad freight train collided Sunday at an icy crossing four miles northwest of Ida in Monroe County.

Patrick Lynn Hodges, 4, son of John W. Hodges, Drayton Plains, Sunday, when he fell out of his father's car on U. S. 10 in Waterford Township and was struck by an oncoming car.

Frank Whipple, 60, of Standish, Saturday in a two-car, head-on crash on U. S. 23, 10 miles south of East Tawas.

Clyde Culver, 58, of Shelbyville, Friday, in a two-car collision in Wayland.

Mobile Home Park Bid Aired

ALMONT — A petition to rezone 40 acres in the northwest quarter of the village for use as a mobile home park was discussed recently by the village council.

A public hearing on the matter was set tentatively for Jan. 17 at which time nearby property owners and legal consultants were invited to appear.

The council also discussed the flood control project on the North Branch of the Clinton River which flows through the village.

Councilmen felt the project would in no way benefit Almont, yet Almont might be charged for improvements now contemplated in Macomb County.

The matter was tabled until further information became available.

Suspect Got Rifle Hour Before Killings

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say Gustave Williams, the 29-year-old former mental patient accused of killing two strollers in a city park near Times Square, purchased his bolt-action rifle only an hour before the shooting Saturday night.

They also disclosed Sunday that Williams was released late last month from a Queens state hospital which he had voluntarily entered in September. He had been referred to an after-care clinic for follow-up treatment.

Williams was shot down in a barrage of 16 shots fired by five city policemen and an upstate Troy officer who was here Christmas shopping. He was hit four times and remained in critical condition today.

Detectives said the 30-caliber rifle and 10 rounds of ammunition were purchased at a surplus arms store about 5 p.m. For the next half-hour, Williams wandered through busy Times Square.

★ ★ ★

About 5:30 p.m., Williams was in Bryant Park, a block to the east, where he sat on a bench for another half hour. Then he allegedly stood up and began shooting, police said.

Laws Attacked

CHICAGO (AP) — Justice Theodore Souris of the Michigan State Supreme Court Saturday night attacked "stop and frisk" laws, saying they invade constitutional rights of the individual and act only against the poor. Such laws give police the right to stop and search people without reasonable cause, he said.

Animal Tests Show LSD 'Dangerous'

★ ★ ★

It was the effect of the hallucinatory drug LSD, fed to animals for two years by Dr. M. Jackson Marr, a psychology professor at Georgia Tech who hopes to find out what happens to animals — including people — on an LSD "trip."

His conclusion: LSD can be extremely dangerous when not administered under professional direction. "I would rather distribute cyanide free than LSD, because most people know how dangerous cyanide is," he said.

The drug has beneficial effects in treating patients, he said, but under improper application its dangers are "directly proportional to the incompetency of the person."

DIVERSE COMPLEX

Reactions to LSD are as diverse and complex as the personalities of the users, Marr said, and it's the same with animals.

Failure to yield right-of-way
Speeding
Tailgating

Hence, the primary cause of highway crashes, which often result in death, lies in the simple failure to be a gentleman, or relinquish a "legal right." Just think: refusing to allow the other chap to take the right-of-way results in more tragedies than any other cause.

It's pitiful, isn't it?

Why must we be so assertive?

The second and third causes are rather obvious and can be expected. But the chief offender is an indictment of mankind's instincts and actions. Why can't we be a shade more polite? Even if the corner is clearly and unmistakably ours, can't we delay a few seconds—maybe even as many as eight or ten?

★ ★ ★

But no!

We simply must assert ourselves with a show of belligerence on both sides. Remember that ancient but painfully accurate adage: "the cemetery is full of drivers that had the right-of-way."

★ ★ ★

The fact you feel that a certain lane is yours is hardly sufficient cause for a crash, smashed automobiles, ambulances, red flashing police cars and unsympathetic stares from a horde of passing motorists. Frequently, when you're so cocksure that the road belongs to you, the other driver may be laboring under the same delusion.

Perhaps you're both wrong.

Perhaps you're both right.

But does either of these circumstances justify a bloody crash, broken bones, smashed cars, hospitalization and perhaps a call from the Grim Reaper?

Can't we all become a shade more patient, a shade more tolerant, a shade more willing to step aside for a brother driver? The time lost is infinitesimal. The stupidity displayed by both cars is monumental.

Forthright Declaration . . .

Many of us have been mightily amused at Secretary JAMES M. HARE'S forthright declarations as he ties the tin can to Democrats who didn't "get in there and pitch" during the past campaign.

Many statesmen would have taken this action quietly and under cover, but the outspoken Lansing politician wants his associates to understand he expects value received for value extended. That's fair enough in any league. It's par for the course. We bow before this stern tactician who bluntly tosses all his cards on the table face up and says directly: "Now you all know where you stand."

'You're An Imperialist Brute And By The Way, Get It Up, I'm Hungry!'

David Lawrence Asks:

Is LBJ Leveling on Finances?

WASHINGTON — Attention is slowly but surely centering on the "credibility gap" — a suspicion by the public that the administration isn't "leveling" with the people on financial facts and other important information to which citizens are entitled.

LAWRENCE

Nothing is more conducive to weakening the confidence of the electorate in an incumbent administration that the latter's failure to disclose the truth, irrespective of whether it is palatable or unpalatable.

Much criticism has developed lately out of the belated announcement by President Johnson that he would request a supplemental appropriation of 9 to 10 billion dollars for the Vietnam war.

It is being asked why the government waited so long to make known its policy and in the meantime permitted the nondefense estimates to grow.

★ ★ ★

A wall Street Journal editorial says:

"Why, then, did the administration make such a colossal budget blunder? . . .

'PRESSURES'

"We do not necessarily mean to say that the administration consciously underestimated defense costs to facilitate passage of further social-welfare appropriations.

"But it is plain that the wishful thinking displayed in the Defense Department estimates could have resulted from intense pressures to hold military estimates to a minimum for domestic political reasons."

Some idea of the sensational rise in governmental expenditures in recent years can be derived from looking at a table of what has happened to government finances in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

★ ★ ★

The figures for the first six years given below are from the U.S. Budget Bureau, and those for 1967 and 1968 are a conservative minimum as estimated by private economists.

UNDER 'LEAKED' FIGURES

FISCAL YEAR	INCOME (Billions)	OUTGO (Billions)	DEFICIT (Billions)
1961	77.7	81.5	3.9
1962	81.4	87.8	6.4
1963	86.4	92.6	6.3
1964	89.5	97.7	8.2
1965	93.1	96.5	3.4
1966	104.7	107.0	2.3
1967*	117.0	125.0	8.0
1968*	119.0	131.0	12.0

*Estimate

The custom in the past has been to ask for maximum amounts for defense outlays while keeping down nonmilitary expenses.

Under the present administration, there has been a tendency to underestimate military expenses and then ask for supplemental appropriations at the end of a year.

Meanwhile, the rate of nonmilitary spending actually keeps on going upward.

The sooner the administration discloses all the facts about its budgetary procedures the quicker will the confidence of the nation be restored and the "credibility gap" overcome.

Bob Considine Says:

Let Youth See China, Romulo's Not Worried

MANILA — Carlos Romulo, the best friend America has in all Asia, has taken a strong stand on the raging question of whether 60 students at Philippine University should accept an invitation to visit Red China.

CONSIDINE

The prevailing opinion is that the students should not be allowed to go. Romulo, who is not only president of the university but the nation's secretary of education, disagrees.

"Of course they should go," the perpetually bouncy little statesman told us today at his office on the campus. "They can surely stand off the blandishments of the Communists. Any person raised in a democracy can do that.

"I want them to go to China and to see what it is like in a totalitarian system. I want them to see how the Red Guards are destroying what is left of freedom in that country. I want them to see at first hand the continuing death of communism.

★ ★ ★

"Communism once was hailed as the wave of the future and it seemed for a time that this was a valid claim. But it has failed or is failing everywhere it has been exported.

'DYING IDEOLOGY'

"It is a dying ideology because those who follow it see signs everywhere that they cannot depend on it for support when in trouble.

"For example, neither Peking nor Moscow raised a finger to save the 350,000 Indonesian Communists and Communist sympathizers who were murdered in the recent purge.

"On the other hand they see the United States sending men and arms halfway across the world to save freedom in Viet Nam. They see it keeping its word in a lot of other places, too,

"If any of our 60 students has Communist leanings, the trip to Communist China should open his eyes. The trip of Khrushchev to the United States was a case in point. It knocked a lot of preconceived notions out of his head.

'FRESH UNDERSTANDING'

"He saw the fruits of the democratic system from the enormous industrial and military might to the well-being and happiness of its peoples. He gained a fresh understanding of how those people could go through with a Berlin airlift, a determined fight in Korea, a firm stand in Lebanon and elsewhere.

"He knew when he had that eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation with President Kennedy over Cuban missiles that it wasn't going to be Kennedy who blinked first. So I say, let our kids go. They'll come back."

Can you condemn a whole race just by the actions of a few individuals? Everyone is different regardless of race, color or creed and each acts and thinks differently. How can you say Negroes are not ready for freedom when we had brothers, uncles or fathers who served and died in Korea, Vietnam and even Alabama and Mississippi?

★ ★ ★

Many incidents have happened that you couldn't condem the white race for, such as the assassination of President Kennedy and beating small, innocent children. Instead of condemning, try to understand and set a good example.

I'M PROUD TO BE A NEGRO

I agree that the behavior of some Negro teen-agers is not good and something must be done. The writer stated that most Negroes are not ready for equal rights. This is a statement of a Negro who is still suffering from the brainwashing that American society inflicted upon us when we first arrived in this country. It's pathetic when one feels that the Negro must become ready before he can become a human being and receive the rights given to all others.

I am a Negro mother of two sons and I refuse to raise them to feel inferior or ashamed to be a Negro because of the actions of a few ill-trained individuals.

'Bus Drivers Felt Roads Too Hazardous'

The Waterford schools were without bus service December 6, because the majority of drivers felt it was against all rules of safety to drive in such hazardous conditions and endanger lives of hundreds of children.

★ ★ ★

As all the drivers are parents, we feel that our judgment should be considered both as an adult and as a parent. We wonder how the administration would have felt if we had carried out their orders and an accident occurred, killing or maiming several children. The responsibility in this case would be legally placed on the drivers, but morally our administration would be the guilty party.

Rainy Day Problem

The Milwaukee Journal

Milwaukee will get tangible help, nearly $1.5 million worth, from the federal government in seeking a new approach to a vexing old water pollution problem which affects nearly a third of the Nation's people. The problem: "Rainy day pollution."

★ ★ ★

The city, like others in Wisconsin and elsewhere, has large areas served only by combined sewer systems. They handle both sanitary and storm water wastes. In times of heavy rainfall, sewage treatment facilities cannot carry this immense burden.

A sewage load equivalent to that of 55,000 people may be discharged, untreated, into the harbor during such periods.

In rainy periods some of the combined sewer overflow will be stored in the tank instead of being discharged into the river. Later it will be returned to the system bit by bit for treatment.

★ ★ ★

This will be a demonstration project, only a partial solution and not a quick cure for Milwaukee's combined sewer woes. If it works, additional holding tanks may be built.

All have a chance to help overcome a problem that plagues 1,900 American communities.

Limited Legislature

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

The Supreme Court's decision that the Georgia Legislature denied Julian Bond's Constitutional rights in denying him a seat seems incontrovertible. Beyond that, Missouri and other states might look for inferences in what the court did.

★ ★ ★

Julian Bond was twice elected and twice barred from a seat in the Georgia Legislature, ostensibly because of criticism of the Vietnamese war and the military draft system.

A lower court concluded by 2 to 1 that the legislators had a right to keep him out because the Legislature had authority to pass on the qualifications of its own members. The argument was that a man of Mr. Bond's views could not honestly take the oath of office to support the Constitution.

★ ★ ★

As the Chief Justice said, "Legislators have an obligation to take positions on controversial political questions." If a legislative majority could effectively prohibit legislative dissent in one case it could do it in another, and the road to "tyranny of the majority" would be wide open.

The high court has said that the traditional power of a Legislature to judge members' qualifications cannot override the Federal Constitution.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

There's Good News for Arthritis Sufferers

The Arthritis Foundation has recently brought two of its pamphlets up-to-date. "Today's Facts About Arthritis" discusses the cause, symptoms, diagnosis and treatment of rheumatic arthritis (the crippling kind) and osteoarthritis with a brief mention of gouty arthritis and several less common varieties.

BRANDSTADT

In both pamphlets great emphasis is placed on the fact that no case of this disease is hopeless and that the outlook is constantly getting brighter with the discovery of new methods of treatment.

The foundation also has pamphlets on diet and arthritis, on home care for the arthritic and on rheumatoid arthritis in children.

Any of these that you need can be obtained free either from local chapters or by writing to The Arthritis Foundation, Box 2525, New York, N. Y. 10001.

A—I know of no arthritis with that name but there is a hemophilic arthritis (seen in hereditary bleeders) and hemoglobin S-C disease (a variant of sickle cell anemia in which there is destruction of the joints of the long bones).

Arthritis may also be a complication of various other blood diseases.

Q—Is Indocin a new drug for arthritis? Is it the best?

A — Indomethacin (Indocin) has been available for a little over a year in this country.

Whether or not it would be best for you I could not say because one man's cure is another man's curse.

This drug, however, has given excellent results in about 80 per cent of the victims of osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and several other varieties.

In the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis it may be given in place of aspirin in adequate doses.

ADVANTAGES

The chief advantages of indomethacin are that, unlike cortisone, it can be taken for prolonged periods and, if such side effects as headache, depression, dizziness or stomach upset occur, they can usually be controlled by reducing the dose.

This drug should not be taken by persons who have ulcers of the stomach or intestines.

Q—Is there any value in taking honey and apple cider daily for arthritis?

A—No.

U.S.-Russian Film Advances--Producer

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

THOMAS

The position of producer is new for Tiomkin, for 34 years one of Hollywood's most noted writers of musical scores—four Oscars, 20 nominations. But he has leaped into it with customary gusto and appears to be succeeding where others have failed, in bringing about an American-Russian film venture.

★ ★ ★

Before flying on a Christmas journey to the Soviet Union — "Vot a terrible time to go!" — Tiomkin explained how the deal came about.

He had originally been signed to produce a dramatic-musical subject for National General's proposed theater-television system, to be used in the theater chain's movie houses. Tiomkin came up with the idea of life of Tschaikovsky, which would be made in the Soviet Union. To his surprise, the Russians seemed interested.

KNOWN BY RUSSIANS

"They knew my work, strangely enough," he remarked. "During the war, I had been with Frank Capra on the making of films for the government, and one of them was 'The Battle of Russia,' which the Russians liked. Also, they still remembered fondly 'The Great Waltz,' for which I adapted the Strauss music."

National General dropped its proposed program, but Tiomkin wasn't dissuaded. He began discussing project with CBS and Lowell Thomas to do the Tschaikovsky project for television.

"But then I saw the success of 'My Fair Lady' and 'The Sound of Music,'" he remarked, "and I thought to myself, it might be better to do it as a moving picture."

The Russians were still interested, and Tiomkin decided he also needed the backing of a capitalistic American studio. He solicited Warner Brothers and drew an enthusiastic reponse.

Under the deal, the Soviet Union will pay the production costs, which Tiomkin estimates between 8 and 10 million dollars. Warners guarantees certain payments in return for rights to release "Tschaikovsky" throughout the world except in Communist countries and Finland.

"Most of the picture will be shot in Russia," said the producer, "but we will also have locations at Carnegie Hall in New York, and in Paris and Florence, Italy."

The cast will be mostly Russian, but an American or English actress may play the composer's patroness, Madame von Meck. The title role will be enacted by I. Smoktunovsky, noted for his "Hamlet" Russian-style. Shooting is expected to start in March or April and continue for six months.

Improved Aid for Bad Burns

By Science Service

ST. LOUIS — An improved treatment for severe burns has been reported, adding a colloidal silver nitrate complex alternately with silver nitrate for burns exceeding 30 per cent of body surface.

Both treatments were developed at Washington University School of Medicine here. The colloidal silver complex alone has proved as effective as silver nitrate in a number of patients with burns covering up to 30 per cent of the body, and it virtually does away with the need for mineral supplements.

Dr. William W. Monafo reported one patient with burns covering 58 per cent of his body who had been treated with silver nitrate. But he also required 30 grams of sodium chloride by mouth to restore salt losses from highly vascularized wounds.

The salt caused severe diarrhea and nausea, but when the dressings were changed to colloidal silver nitrate complex and oral administration of the salt was stopped, serum sodium and chloride returned to normal and diarrhea ceased. Subsequent grafts grew rapidly under the colloidal dressing and the patient recovered.

Dem Victors Hare, Kelley Eye Powerful Coalition

LANSING (AP) — Safe and snug in their jobs for at least another term, the only two Democrats to win in statewide races Nov. 8 are thinking of joining forces to increase their influence within the battered party.

★ ★ ★

Both Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Secretary of State James Hare, successful in reelection bids last month, also are looking hard for bright young Democrats to join their office staffs and their political factions.

Hare, apparently, thinks he has found a few. He announced recently he plans to oust between 10 and 20 of his 214 fee-paid branch managers. The reason: He doesn't think they've worked hard enough for the party.

Hare appoints the managers and they serve at his pleasure. If he says they're through, they're through. Not surprisingly, many managers tend to agree with Hare on a number of political issues.

★ ★ ★

Kelley's office is different. He picks about 40 special assistants, mainly for part-time jobs, and nominates 100 public administrators who are appointed by the governor.

Kelley said recently that in the future, he'll pay more attention than previously to the political record of a would-be appointee.

"Of course he'll have to be a lawyer and qualified," Kelley said, "but in the future I will also demand an outstanding record of service to the party."

As the party's top vote-getters and the distributors of considerable patronage, Hare and Kelley have become men of considerable standing among the Democrats.

★ ★ ★

If the two form a "united front" and agree on a slate of issues, they might have even more to say about party operations.

TOGETHERNESS

Hare says flatly he's trying to unite with Kelley. The attorney general, when asked for comment, said "I intend to work closely with him in matters of politics."

State Dem Budget Largest for a Noncompaign Period

EAST LANSING (AP)—Meeting for the first time since the Republican-dominated Nov. 8 election, the Democratic State Central Committee Sunday approved a proposed $280,066 budget for 1967—largest ever for a noncampaign period.

★ ★ ★

The major portion of the 4½-hour meeting was devoted to adoption of the budget and revision of the party dues structure with party leaders reserving the final half hour for what some called a "post mortem" on election losses.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats won only two statewide offices and lost control of the Legislature after two years of rule in an election that saw Republican Gov. George Romney win a landslide third-term victory.

Democratic leaders appeared to agree that the defeat was largely due to a failure of Democratic voters to go to the polls —particularly in Wayne County —and a national tide in favor of the Republicans.

LEADERS ISSUE CALLS

With an eye on the 1968 elections, party leaders such as former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, National Committeeman Neil Staebler and State Chairman Zolton Ferency called for a widening of party participation, increased attention to communication with the voters and increased efforts to gain the support of young people.

"We haven't, during the last campaign, been able to appeal to young people," said Williams, who was unsuccessful in his bid Nov. 8 against U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

★ ★ ★

"This area is becoming a disproportionately large one," he said, "and one where the Democrats should have an automatic appeal."

Williams said he was "quite confident we are going to put on the kind of campaign in 1968 that will reverse the decision of last fall."

PREDICTS MAJORITY

He predicted the next election will produce a Democratic majority in the State Legislature and in Congress.

Noting that the proposed budget was the "largest ever adopted for a noncampaign period," Staebler described it as "an excellent answer to the party's present position."

★ ★ ★

Staebler said he felt the Republicans had "learned something from their past defeats and outworked us."

"More than money, it takes manpower and womanpower," Staebler said.

Ferency, who lost to Romney, said he had "no regrets."

"Our political opponents have had the opportunity to produce instant candidates — ones they don't have to introduce," Ferency said. "We'll expect the Democrats to do likewise in the future."

The financial committee reported total present financial obligations of $115,138.01 with $13,748.64 cash on hand—leaving a debt of $101,389.37.

Party membership was reported to have grown by 14,865 persons in 1966—largest increase in the last four years and comparing with 13,317 new members in 1965.

The committee also:

—Approved Feb. 18-19 for the state convention in Grand Rapids, and Feb. 3 for county and district conventions.

—Asked the chairman to appoint a special committee to review the question of state support for osteopathic education and make a recommendation to the spring state convention.

—Recommended that an effort be made to improve relations between the national committee and the college young Democrats.

'LITTLE BLACK BOOK' — This is a page from a "little black book" seized by Detroit police last January in a raid on a restaurant in Detroit's "Greektown" district. A police board said Saturday that materials in the book give no cause to suppose any Detroit police officials have been taking bribes or are guilty of any other misdeeds.

Detroit 'Black Book' Mystery Remains

DETROIT (AP)—The mystery of the much-publicized "little black books" involving Detroit police officers remains as strong today as ever.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit Police Department Board of Inquiry produced Saturday its report on the four documents, some containing the names and addresses of Detroit police officials.

But, the report said, "the actual meaning of the documents still remains unresolved."

Ten officers' names were in one book, five in another, but the board said it could find "nothing of an incriminating nature" involving the men.

"No reasonable conclusions could be drawn concerning misconduct of police officers on the basis of their names appearing in this document," the board said.

Prohibition ended Dec. 5, 1933, when whisky making went under federal control.

Royal Vows Are Planned for January

BAARN, Netherlands, — The marriage banns were published Saturday for Dutch Princess Margriet, 23, and her commoner fiance, Pieter Van Vollenhoven, 26.

They were proclaimed bride and bridegroom at a brief civil ceremony in the small town of Baarn, residence of Margriet's parents, Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard.

The couple will be married Jan. 10 at the Hague.

★ ★ ★

Today's ceremony was performed by Baarns Burgomaster, Dr. F. J. Van Beeck Calkoen. With publication of the banns, Pieter and Margriet signed the register giving their intention to marry.

National flags hung from official buildings throughout the nation and the event was broadcast nationwide by radio and television.

The union, generally approved, has caused no controversy such as the national split over the wedding of Crown Princess Beatrix and German-born Prince Claus last March 10 in Amsterdam.

Margriet was dressed in two-colored velvet ensemble with matching coat and hat. Her bridegroom, a doctor at law, was in an officer's uniform of the Royal Dutch Air Force. He works in the juridicial section of the Air Force.

Spring vows are planned by Mary Susan Coleman, daughter of the M. F. Colemans of Wards Point and Edward H. Broadwell, son of the H. W. Broadwells of Bloomfield Village. She is an alumna of Alma College. Her fiance is a graduate student at Wayne State University.

Custom Tailored Gifts for Recognizable Types

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Christmas gifts for people who don't have all the mannerly traits necessary for membership in the human race:

Two weeks in an echo canyon. This is suitable for loudmouths. It will give them a chance to hear themselves the way others do. The resulting trauma to their ears might teach them to speak softly in the future.

★ ★ ★

Keep-cool pills. One three times a day should help hot tempered drivers who go into slow and fast burns during trying situations on the highway.

Ear plugs. These should be designed to stay in place a week of more. Give them to people who like to eavesdrop.

MEMORY PILLS

First in line for this gift would be teachers who pile on homework to be done over a holiday weekend. Good also for big folks who go "tsk tsk" when viewing the hair-dos, clothes, or dances of teen-agers.

A portable radio that doesn't work when around washers and dryers. Other people at the laundromat will appreciate it if someone gives such a radio to the women who contribute to the noise pollution by playing their portables — several at once — at full blast while waiting for their clothes to come clean.

A gift of silence to replace the gift of gab when in supermarkets. This should go to the women who lock their carts in the middle of an aisle during busy times at supermarkets.

If they have the gift of silence they can't stand there and catch up on President Johnson, the draft, the high cost of living, their congressman, taxes and the woman next door.

★ ★ ★

Human muzzles. These are for dogs in the habit of howling through the night. Also good for little children who like to broadcast tales of happenings that should be kept within the sacred privacy of the home.

Foam rubber soles to be worn over the regular one on shoes. These are good, in sufficient supply, for the people who have late dance parties in the apartment above yours.

Just leave a basket full of padded soles on the doorstep. Tell them if the padded shoes don't work, next time it might be a padded cell.

★ ★ ★

Defrost pills. These ought to help warm the hearts of those who, confronted by a beggar's cup while Christmas shopping, say — "I pay my taxes. Let Uncle Sam help that 'beggar' or 'cripple'."

This Group Wants Gala for Officer

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a new superintendent of schools was elected for our city. He will not assume his position until some time in January. In the meantime we have an interim superintendent of schools.

The local PTA Council president wishes to have a reception for the new superintendent and his wife soon. Some of us feel that this is premature and it should not be held until he definitely assumes the office. I'd greatly appreciate a reply as this affects me personally. Thelma

Dear Thelma: I'm all for having the celebration as the PTA president wishes. It is the fact that the man has won the election which is cause for celebration, not the act of assuming his duties.

So the sooner the better and congratulations to your new superintendent!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been separated for three months. We have five children under six years old, and I am seven months pregnant now.

ABBY

There is this tramp in town who has been spoiling my husband. She bought him about $300 worth of new clothes, a new rifle, a fishing rod and reel, plus she keeps him in liquor and cigarets, and has furnished him with a car and gas. He hasn't even been working because she gives him spending money.

He is 23, and she is 26. His mother is all for it. She says he is lucky to have a woman who is so good to him, and besides, now that he isn't working he has time to see her. I can't compete with this woman, Abby. I still love my husband, no matter what, and want him back. Please help me.

CAN'T COMPETE

DEAR CAN'T: You are fighting a losing battle over what appears to be a doubtful "prize." You can't force a man to live with you, but the law can make him support you and your children. The apple (your husband) didn't fall far from the tree (his mother), and yours acts as though he was bruised in the fall.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I may be old-fashioned, but I think it's in very poor taste to give money for Christmas. My mother-in-law sends my child a check every Christmas, and I get furious with her. I have been so tempted to send it back or to send HER a check in the same amount.

I feel if she can't take the time (of which she has plenty) to shop for her grandchild, she can just keep her money. My child would be more impressed with a candy bar sent by a maid than with grandma's check. Should I tell her to forget it?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: No. You could explain to your child that the check is his to be saved or spent for something he wants. I think it's preferable to giving a child a gift he neither likes nor can use, but feels he must keep (or worst yet, wear) because it's grandma's Christmas gift.

One thing about money, the color is always right, and you don't have to worry about "fit." It fits into any pocketbook.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "HURT," whose husband went to an office party after telling her that no wives were invited, but she later learned that wives HAD BEEN invited.

For a long time I believed those stories about office parties, retirement parties, picnics, and outings where no wives were invited, only to find out that not only were they invited, but my husband had been escorting another man's wife and introducing her as his own.

Widow Asks---Can She Pay More Rent?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Maybe what they say is true—that the woman who has the most respect for a man's business sense is a widow. When it comes her turn to manage money, even though it's only her own modest finances, she often feels inadequate to meet the challenge.

MARY FEELEY

It's a lot easier to spend another $25 or $30 a month if you have somebody to argue with about it! Mrs. V.P.H., of Auburn, Ala. has to decide for herself, now, whether she's making the right move in raising her own rent. She writes:

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am a widow living alone, and am wondering if I can afford a more expensive apartment than I now have.

My take-home pay is $240.90 a month, and I get a small insurance check of approximately $67 monthly, making a total income of about $308. The kind of apartment I would like — with two bedrooms — would rent for $70 or $80 a month, not including utilities. I pay $45 a month now for a one-bedroom apartment.

* * *

My hospital insurance and car and household insurance amount to around $20 a month. I am seldom charged medical fees, since I am the widow of a physician. However, this does not apply to medicines and drugs. I have $10,000 in savings and loan and I will get Social Security as well as some retirement income.

* * *

Do you think I can afford to take on the added expense of a larger apartment?

Mrs. V.P.H., Auburn, Ala.

Dear Mrs. H.:

I am assuming you want this larger apartment with a second bedroom in order to have friends and relatives visit. And I say go ahead and rent it, even at the cost of another $30 more a month.

Money is for living as well as saving. And if you put aside that difference of $30 in rent, say, for five years, you'd have $1,800 in savings not including interest. So which would be the better buy from where you sit — a couple of thousand dollars or five years of companionship? Only you can really answer that one.

* * *

As long as you have some savings — $10,000 worth earning interest — and can count on a Social Security check and some retirement funds, I can see some justification for taking the risk.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am one of those lone older women, aged 73 — the last of my family and not even a cousin left as far as I know. My problem seems to be that I am entitled to no benefits of any kind.

Or am I?

I do not receive Social Security benefits, since I taught piano privately years ago before Social Security was ever heard of. I do not have Medicare because I cannot spare the money to pay for it.

I don't want charity. But if I am entitled to any benefits at all —the Age 72 Special Payment of $35 a month — I would apply for them. Am I?

M.L., St. Thomas, Virgin Islands

Dear M.L.:

You're not, and I am sorry, too. You're not eligible, since a citizen living outside the 50 states cannot collect these benefits. However, you are eligible for Medicare — and there's nothing to pay for.

This health insurance is free. But you'll have to wait until October, 1967, to sign up for Medicare protection since you missed out on the last opportunity to register—which was in July, 196

Dear Mary Feeley:

I am a 64-year-old widow, getting $90 a month Social Security. I receive about $3,000 a year interest on my savings account. I have no other income.

I have been told that a widow doesn't have to file an income tax report. Right?

Mrs. R.O'K., Brooklyn

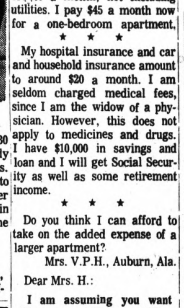
Dear Mrs. O'K.:

Wrong. Everyone under 65 years of age, whether single, widowed, or married, who resides in the U.S. and had a gross income of $600 or more during the year must file a federal income tax return.

Your Social Securtty benefits aren't considered income. But the interest from your savings account is.

* * *

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press.)



At a cocktail party Sunday in their home on Lakewind Drive, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Lorenz announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann, to Erick Roger Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fox of Florence Avenue. A Sept. 30 wedding in 1967 is being planned.

Polly's Pointers

Advice on Planting

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Helen a simple way to grow a potato plant. Put the sweet potato in a jar or vase of water with the end of the potato that was pulled off the vine down in the water. Keep the jar filled so that about half the potato is in the water. Before too long, it will sprout and grow a vine.—Mrs. H. H. J.

DEAR GIRLS — Do not expect this to happen overnight as it took mine about two weeks to really root and start sprouting at the top. Ellie finds they are prettier if evenly formed, straight potatoes are used and then set in a narrow glass so that when vines start to grow they are all out of the container, where you want them. Pinch off some of the tips if you want the plant to grow thicker.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When my yard man saw sweet potato vines growing in glasses on my window sill, he suggested that I cut potatoes in half and put them in a large pan of warm water and forget them for awhile. Then, when they were full of roots, to transfer them to the pretty glasses. I do wish Helen could see my windowsill full of vines. They are beautiful.

I am now starting some to take to shut-in friends. My helper also told me that this works with carrots, white potatoes and, if one can stand the odor, turnips, too,—M.C.

DEAR POLLY — I have two ladder-back chairs with rush seats. Can you or one of the readers please tell me how to clean these rush seats successfully? — MRS. R. C.

DEAR POLLY — After a full quart of orange juice had slipped from my hand and smashed on the floor as I tried to hold it on a smooth-topped table while loosening the tight cap, I discovered a sure method to prevent a reoccurrence of such an accident. Stand the bottle or jar to be opened in one of the top drawers of the kitchen cabinet which has been pulled out just far enough to receive the bottle.

This brings the cap to a more convenient height for working and, if the bottle should slip, it cannot fall on the floor.—F.G.C.

Virginia J. Thrift Weds Michael C. Mathews

MRS. M. C. MATHEWS

A six o'clock ceremony and reception Saturday in the Calvary Lutheran Church, Clarkston, marked the vows of Virginia Jane Thrift and Michael C. Mathews.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Thomas R. Thrift attended her sister-in-law.

Kirk Mathews stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews of Hummingbird Lane, Independence Township. Thomas R. Thrift and Tony Garneau seated the guests.

★ ★ ★

After a northern honeymoon the couple will reside in Kalamazoo where he will attend Western Michigan University.

Case No. B-511

Need Common Bond

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-511: Eleanor Z., aged 25, has a common gripe.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "we have been married for 3 years.

"And I love my husband, though I sometimes feel like scratching his eyes out!

DR. CRANE

"For he is too silent, if you know what I mean.

"He doesn't talk or tell me any exciting things that have occurred at the office.

"Instead, he slumps down in his chair with the newspaper and merely grunts when I talk to him.

"Except for the physical bond that holds us together, I think we have little in common.

TEST YOUR SWEETHEART

Apply that test right now to your mate and see how you rate.

Do you enjoy many things in common, such as sports, gardening, church, music, fishing, auto trips, card playing, singing duets, etc?

Remember, the erotic bond that blinds many young couples at the outset, will subside greatly as the years pass by.

Then you must have many mutual interests or hobbies, or you will experience the frustrating lack of rapport during those in-between times when you are not romancing.

Young couples should deliberately cultivate civic and church obligations TOGETHER, so they will weld themselves into closer friendship as the years pass.

★ ★ ★

One of the reasons why having children also helps prevent divorce is the fact that the children give papa and mamma many mutual problems to discuss and future educational goals to strive for.

★ ★ ★

So it would be excellent insurance for happy marriage if every prospective husband took a course in salesmanship.

★ ★ ★

And if he tried a sales job, even for no more than six weeks, his rating would zoom remarkably as a husband.

For salesmen become adept with spoken words.

★ ★ ★

Thus, they make much more entertaining companions and consequently rate higher with their wives on the "friendship" score.

★ ★ ★

Sex is usually not as important to a woman as conversation!

If you teen-agers can't sit and talk for hours with your sweetheart, you are bad risks for marriage!

★ ★ ★

The magnetic attraction of kisses may preoccupy your attention when you are 17 or 18, but unless you can talk happily and be good friends the rest of the time, don't be blinded by mere sexual infatuation!

★ ★ ★

Sex may be considered the dessert in the usual seven-course marriage menu, but you can't live exclusively on dessert!

★ ★ ★

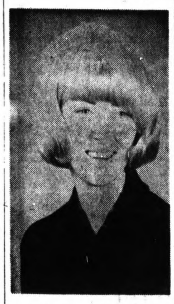
★ ★ ★

So send for my 200-point "Rating Scales for Successful Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)



The Wayne Newcombs of Lenox Street announce the engagement of their daughter Linda to Samuel Charles Wiscombe, son of the Samuel Wiscombes of West Pike Street. He attended Oakland University. An April 1 wedding date is set.

Never store clothing without having it cleaned or laundered. Soiled materials attract moths. The grime also becomes embedded in the folds and often shows telltale signs of neglect the next season.

Never throw away good draperies that are merely too short. Piece both ends several inches from both top and bottom. Sew ball fringe over the seams and no one will guess that they have been pieced. Photo Albums

Make Up a Personal Photo Album

Ladies, here is a gift for the men in your life that you can make yourself in almost no time — a photo album filled with his favorite pictures.

Made with the man in mind, the gift wrap used here is totally masculine and would fit in with the decor in his den or on his desk. The thoughtfulness and time involved in making it will be important to him too. And it's so easy:

MATERIALS

1 roll Norcross "Indigo Treasure" gift wrap
1 roll Norcross "Pirate Gold" gift wrap
1 roll Norcross "Sun Chariot Lustre-Cord" corrugated cardboard 11½"x-21¾" wallpaper paste or rubber cement his favorite photographs
white glue

Score cardboard vertically four times at points 5" and 6" inside either edge, making sure edges meet at center when folded shut. Paste (or cement) "Indigo Treasure" gift wrap to outside of album, bringing overlap to inside.

★ ★ ★

Safe Scissors

Always keep scissors out of small children's reach, but as an extra precaution, stick an ordinary bottle cork over the tips of the blades.

★ ★ ★

This makes the points safer and also provides a place to keep your thimble. Slip it over the smaller end of the cork and it will save time in having to hunt for it when you need it again.

Brush Out Dirt

You can dislodge dirt from etched or deep-cup crystal pieces with a toothbrush that has been dipped in suds or a bit of well-lathered cotton on a toothpick.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't blame your baby! Don't blame overweight on "eating for two." There is no reason why a woman should become obese during pregnancy and important reasons why she shouldn't. Here are some of the facts.

Many women use this time as an excuse for overindulging in food while others truly think that they should eat twice or more as much because of the growing child.

Actually, the need for more calories increases very little, but the need for the vital essentials in the diet with which to build the baby increases greatly.

Usually, the requirements for nutrients such as proteins, vitamins and minerals (especially calcium and iron) increase about 30 per cent during the fourth, fifth, and sixth months and about 50 per cent during the seventh, eighth, and ninth months.

Gather around, but don't hate me for telling you that the expectant mothers need for calories increases only about 10 per cent during the last few months.

CHOOSE CAREFULLY

Therefore, it is necessary for you to choose your diet carefully, because although you should not eat for two in quantity, two are dependent on your diet for good nutrition.

This means a well-balanced diet with emphasis on proteins (eggs, meat, fish, fowl, cheese, milk) and vitamins and minerals (fruits and vegetables). The minerals are widely distributed in foods, but your increased need for calcium will probably call for more milk.

Anemia sometimes appears during pregnancy. This is one reason for the blood tests. If this does occur, it can be remedied by changes in the diet and additions to the diet which your doctor will prescribe.

★ ★ ★

Carbohydrates and fats should be a part of the pregnant woman's diet, but since they supply a substantial amount of calories, they should not be eaten in large quantities. Avoid fried foods, gravy, rich sauces, pastries, rich salad dressings, pies and candy, as a general rule.

Heredity is the main factor in determining the baby's weight. A woman who gains 30 pounds may have a six pound baby while another who gains only 10 pounds may have a nine pound baby.

GOOD DIET

A good diet is important for the mother as well as the child. While the child is dependent on the mother's food intake, if her diet is lacking in ingredients it needs, these will be taken from the mother's tissues, generally to her detriment.

Not only is her diet important to the baby but to her. A good diet is one of a pregnant woman's most important responsibilities. If she chooses food wisely, she can have an adequate nourishing diet without gaining weight.

If you would like to have my new booklet, "Don't Blame Your Baby" (which gives you detailed directions for preserving your figure, feminine hygiene, and all sorts of information which is too detailed for a newspaper column), send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Clean Routinely

Make flatware care a part of your regular dishwashing. Use a soft sponge and a gentle foam cleaner to remove food stains from silverware and to restore the luster.

The same cleaner also removes stains from holloware.

For Lovely Eyes

When eye pouches form it could be from something as simple as lack of sleep. Don't let the condition become chronic. Lie down on a couch and place cotton squares soaked in chilled good quality witch hazel over the eyes. With the fingertips knead the under-eye area ever so gently. As the pads become warm, resoak them in the chilled witch hazel and repeat the exercise.

PRINTED PATTERN

Watch her whiz off to school in this new trio — pop-top, Peter Pan shirt, pleated skirt. Sewing is simple and washable wools are wonderful for wear now and next term.

Printed Pattern 4942: Children's Sizes 2, 4, 6, 8. See Pattern for yardage.

FIFTY CENTS in coins for each pattern — add 15 cents for each pattern for first-class mailing and special handling. Send to Anne Adams, care of The Pontiac Press, 137 Pattern Dept., 243 West 17th St., New York, N.Y. 10011. Print NAME, ADDRESS with ZIP, SIZE and STYLE NUMBER.

Shoplifting—1

Christmas Season a Holiday for Thievery

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of three articles on shoplifting in the United States, written by United Press International newsman Harry Ferguson.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — 'Tis the season to be jolly, of course, but don't try to sell that idea to American retail merchants. December is the fattest month for shoplifters, and between now and Christmas something like $600 million worth of merchandise will be stolen across the country.

* * *

The shoplifters will be old and young, rich and poor, amateurs and professionals. Most of those caught will be women because they spend more time in stores than men do. One store detective put it this way:

"People steal in the same way they buy. A man comes in with something definite in mind. He sees it, takes it and he leaves.

"Women shop around. They look at this and that. They handle the merchandise, feel it, smell it, put it down, come back and go away again.

"They're not sure if they want it or not. You go crazy watching them."

TWO MYTHS

There are two myths about shoplifting that will not die and we might as well explode them now:

● A myth that most shoplifters are kleptomaniacs. Not so.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation says only 1 per cent of the shoplifters suffer from kleptomania, an ailment that manifests itself in a compulsion to steal something whether you need it or not.

The FBI says the kleptomaniac usually comes from the upper middle class families and from wealthy or financially stable homes.

* * *

Some psychiatrists lean to the theory that the kleptomaniac is suffering from some sort of sexual frustration, but scientific research so far has failed to come up with any definitive findings.

* * *

● A myth that in every city there are little old ladies who go through stores helping themselves to the merchandise and are never bothered by detectives.

The story goes that their sons pay for everything the little old lady steals.

Mary Owen Cameron, in her book "The Booster and the Snitch" says this: "She is reported from coast to coast. Her son is usually a politician or someone equally in the public eye.

* * *

"She is never a 'little old man.' She could not exist in a modern urban area. No merchant could legally become an accessory to the fact by allowing this procedure."

TWO CATEGORIES

Shoplifters fall into two broad categories — the boosters and the snitches. Boosters are the professionals who steal merchandise to resell it. Snitches steal things for their own use.

Miss Cameron gives this picture of a booster she calls "Mrs. Wells" who was arrested in a Chicago store:

Once when she had stolen a fur jacket. Once when she had attempted to carry out three women's suits with hangers fastened to a strap around her neck . . . she had been apprehended by the detectives 14 times in 10 years.

* * *

"Mrs. Wells also knew the store protection staff. 'Bill,' she said, 'your wife was having a baby when you picked me up the last time. How's everything?'

PROUD PARENT

"Bill took out his wallet filled with baby pictures and Mrs. Wells looked at them with interest. 'You know,' she said, 'I've got two boys of my own.

" 'One of them is a senior at Purdue and the other graduated. He's an engineer in Korea.'

" 'I put both of my boys through college!' Bill said, 'The hell you did; this store put them through.' "

* * *

A snitch goes for things she intends to use immediately and you would be surprised how many housewives are snitches.

USES CHILDREN

The FBI says:

"The housewife, sometimes because of her small budget, will steal wearing apparel for her family, occasionally using her children as accomplices.

"In such instances the usual technique is to approach a counter where there is a fairly large crowd. Here she fumbles through merchandise, selecting the article she wants.

* * *

"She signals to the child who steals it and shoves it into a bag he is carrying.

USUALLY GETS AWAY

"If the child is caught in the act, the mother loudly berates her offspring for his dishonesty and replaces the article. She usually gets away with this act."

Some snitches spend hours practicing techniques of stealing, especially what the FBI calls "crotch carriers":

"They place a stolen article under the skirt between the thighs and then walk slowly away, carrying the loot unobserved.

PRACTICES

"It may be two cans of coffee, a canned ham, a turkey or cartons of cigarettes . . . one shoplifter admitted that she practiced walking with a telephone directory between her thighs to strengthen the muscles.

Another one placed three phonograph records between her thighs and walked out of a store without dropping or breaking them."

Both classes of shoplifters naturally prefer small articles to large ones because they are easier to hide. But once a snitch decides he wants something for his own use, he will go for it.

TOO GREEDY

The classic story, true too, is about two men who walked into the sporting goods section of a Midwest store, picked up a canoe and carried it out to their car.

They would have gotten away with it if they hadn't suddenly become too greedy. They went back into the store to get the paddles and were arrested.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAFETY PIN

QUESTION: Who invented the safety pin?

ANSWER: Ancient peoples knew about the general principle of the safety pin. We illustrate one used in Greece about 1100 B.C.

It is curious that, after 500 A.D., this simple and useful idea was forgotten. Then, one day in 1846, an inventive American, Walter Hunt, twisted a bit of wire around and suddenly arrived at the same general principle of the ancient clasp or fibula which the Greeks had used for fastening their cloaks.

Hunt made an improvement by sharpening the end of the pin so it could stick through cloth, yet having the sharp end safely covered when the pin was closed.

Hunt, however, did not realize the tremendous value of what he had invented for he at once sold the rights to manufacture his pin for the very small sum of $400.

FOR YOU TO DO: Inventing is fun. Try to invent something yourself, like a new way to hang up your ties or keep track of your friends' birthdays.

Gunman Kills Welsh Bookie

CARDIFF, Wales (AP) — A Welsh bookmaker, once jailed for a racing conspiracy, answered a knock at his door Sunday night and was shot dead.

* * *

Charles was jailed for two years in 1954 for his part in a horse-switching case described in court as "one of the most complicated racing plots ever hatched."

Fourth Success in Space Series

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — In the fourth successful dual launch in a series, two satellites were sent into orbit, one with a bit of simulated human tissue to check radiation danger to man, the Air Force reports.

* * *

The two 220-pound craft, called OV1-9 and OV1-10, rode into space Sunday atop an Atlas D rocket. They contained 12 radiation-measuring experiments.

Snow Avalanches Cause Widespread Damage

WASHINGTONN — Winter brings one of nature's most destructive phenomena—the snow avalanche.

Snowslides send millions of tons of ice and snow racing down mountains to smash villages, bury people and animals, erase railroads and highways, and dam rivers.

Avalanches approach the energy of tornadoes, earthquakes and floods. A slide of dry snow may attain speeds up to about 280 miles an hour.

An avalanche of very light snow lives up to its byname, "white death." Fine powder sifting into nostrils and throat can choke people fatally half a mile from the slide.

A thawing Andean glacier on Peru's highest peak—22,205-foot Nevado Huascaran—triggered a disaster that took 3,500 lives ni 1962.

* * *

A National Geographic article described the tragedy: "From its first fall off the cliff, the avalanche had struck an uninhabited slope. Then the whole flotilla-sized ice mass had actually bounced.

"Surveyors later counted five impact points—an insane zigzag ricocheting from the sides of the gorge. The mass, stirring tempests of shrill wind, carvd and collected its own debris: topsoil, crushed houses from four mountain villages, flocks of sheep, granite boulders."

Avalanches are activated by changes in both the internal and external forces that bind a mass of snow together on a slope. Factors include overloading, vibration, shearing, and temperature. Spring thaws increase the hazard of avalanches.

* * *

A skier cutting across a slope or heavy snow falling from a tree may jar loose a huge slab of packed snow and send it rumbling down a mountain.

Thunder, a pistol shot, even the crack of a whip can cause vibrations that will trigger an avalanche. Swiss legend has it that the dulcet tones of a cello once touched off a major slide, which may account for that instrument's unpopularity in Switzerland.

For years, mountaineers have defended themselves against major avalanches by building canted walls, picket fences — and creating slides prematurely.

Avalanche hunters in the American West fire mortar shells into mountainsides to bring down snow masses before they grow in size and danger. Air Force jet planes sometimes create sonic booms to set off avalanches in Glacier Park, Mont.

Most recently, a University of Wisconsin scientist has been "painting" avalanches out of existence. By using an antifreeze type of chemical, he prevents the buildup of the icy slides or "depth hoar" on which avalanches slip down mountains.

The finish line is drawing near in a preliminary race between two American aircraft companies, to see which one is selected to build the first U.S. supersonic jetliner capable of carrying 300 passengers at three times the present speeds. President Johnson is expected to make the final choice about Jan. 1 between the prototypes built by Lockheed above, or Boeing, upper right, to see which one represents this country in the international race for a jumbo jet.

Already America trails in the worldwide sweepstakes, behind the joint French-British Concorde. Russia is also busy on a prototype. Of the American hopefuls, Lockheed has designed a double delta fixed-wing craft, shown in the drawing above. The Boeing design at right, which also shows an interior mockup, has a movable swing wing, allowing a change of 30 degrees in the wing projection from the fuselage. Whichever one is chosen, a U.S. supersonic jet is expected to be in service by 1974.

Machines Sense Speech Pattern

By Science Service

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Machines speaking with foreign accents and a man who paints speech on cellophane are working to upgrade the efficiency of modern language teaching and improve understanding of human communications.

Electronic machines are being used to transform handpainted speech patterns into intelligible sound similar to the way a player piano translates paper notes into music.

* * *

Changes can be made in the painted patterns to find out what modifications of sound result from each change in speech.

Hopefully, one day scientists will learn the musical cues by which vowel and consonants are perceived.

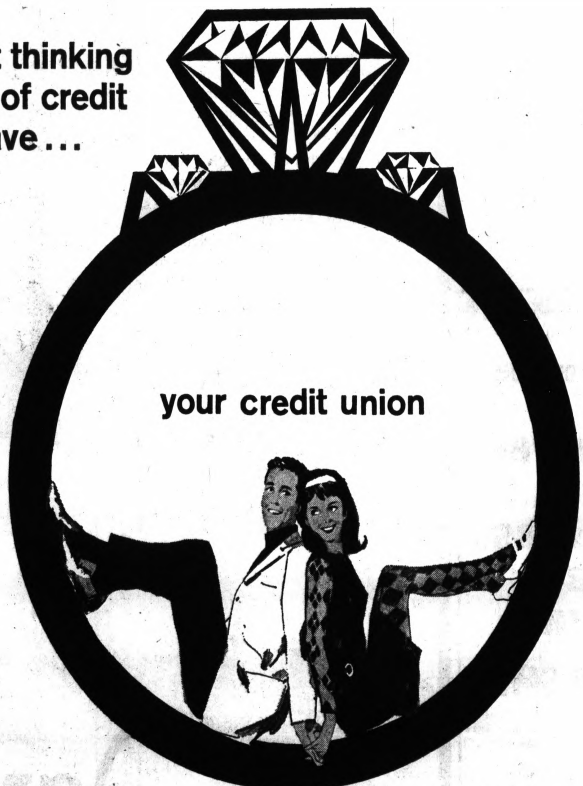
Looking at rings?
Now's the time to start thinking about the best source of credit a young couple can have . . .



Half the fun of marriage is setting up housekeeping. Buying furniture, dishes, rugs, drapes. Renting an apartment. Buying a house. Maybe a car. But all this takes money. And few young couples have that much cash.

The answer? A source of credit that's fast, friendly, and not expensive. That last one's the joker. This kind of credit is often very expensive — unless you join a credit union.

Credit unions are not in business to make money. They're in business to help their members — with low cost loans, with generous dividends on savings and life insurance to all qualified members as an added benefit at no extra cost. There are more than a million C.U. members in Michigan.

Yes, credit unions make marriages run smoother. Shouldn't you belong?

For full details, contact the C.U. where you work — or the one in your parish or neighborhood — or write Michigan Credit Union League, 13235 Woodrow Wilson, Detroit, Michigan 48238.

FTC Probing Car Warranty

Questionnaire Asks Auto Makers Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) is examining new car warranties in an apparent effort to see just how much they offer the consumer.

★ ★ ★

The FTC inquiry comes in the form of a 27-page questionnaire which the auto makers are to return to the government later this month.

It asks for details on warranty practices and how many customers were satisfied with warranty service.

Commission spokesmen will not say what they plan to do with the answers, but the director of its Bureau of Deceptive Practices said it would act only if a matter of public interest were involved.

★ ★ ★

The director, Charles Sweeney said "The only determination the commission has made is that there may be a problem here.

PROBE NEED

"From the information we have, we feel there is justification to conduct an investigation," Sweeney said.

Sweeney conceded the FTC never intended to make its investigation public — at least not at this point. But FTC chairman Paul Rand Dixon disclosed recently that warranties were being studied by his agency. He refused to comment further.

In the questionnaires, carmakers are asked how many complaints they received from customers on warranty claims during the 1964-1966 model years.

★ ★ ★

They were asked to break down the complaints by type — gas mileage, mechanical defects, etc., and by make and model.

A NEW AUTO

One questioned asked how many times the car makers gave a customer a ne wcar when it was unable to satisfactorily repair a defective one.

The questionnaire also asks how much the car makers budgeted and spent for warranty claims the past three years, how much was spent on so-called "callback" campaigns and whether the company pays dealers to perform warranty repairs at the same rates the dealers charge for nonwarranty work.

Presumably, the investigation includes the warranty relationship between manufacturer and dealers. In most cases, dealers make repairs and are reimbursed by the maker.

In an earlier investigation, the Bureau of Labor Statistics found that higher prices for 1967 model cars were justified by their "increased quality."

MORE COVERAGE

A major portion of the higher costs, the department reported, was expanded warranties in terms of expanded coverage between 1966 and 1967.

The FTC seemed to be talking about warranties in terms of what the manufacturer will actually pay and how hard it is to get one to do so.

In many cases, warranties are considered void unless repairs and maintenance work are done by an authorized dealer of the manufacturer.

Thus, some warranties are nullified if on a trip, for example, a motorist goes to a gas station or a garage which is not a dealer for the manufacturer of the car involved.

It is this kind of thing the FTC appeared to be most interested in.

BRIGHTON (AP)—"Grab the boy and jump. . . grab the boy and jump."

Despite braking power fully applied, the Cheasapeake & Ohio freight glided on down the tracks and brought tragedy to a Boy Scout hike Saturday.

Howard T. Lovell, 50, leader of Detroit Troop 586, and John Gresham, 11, a member of the troop, were killed. Both were from Detroit.

CAUGHT BY SURPRISE

Lovell died while apparently trying to shove young Gresham to safety after the train, going 55 miles an hour, caught the Scouts by surprise on the Huron River trestle in Island Lake State Park.

Another Scout, 14-year-old Kevin Connors of Detroit, suffered a broken leg when he jumped from the trestle and fell 30 feet to the ground. He was hospitalized at Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

State Police said the boy is deaf and did not hear the train's warning whistle. He jumped because he saw the others in the party scrambling for safety, officers said.

Thirty-four Scouts escaped harm, some of them by leaping from the trestle as young Connors did.

200 YARDS AWAY

Green, 63, of Inkster said the train rounded a curve about 200 yards from the trestle when he saw the group of boys.

"They were running down the ties," he said. "I saw a man chasing the kids."

Suspect Held in 2 Slayings

DETROIT (AP)—Police were holding a 49-year-old ex-convict today in the weekend slaying of an East Side couple.

★ ★ ★

Police said the Trombley's were shot to death in the entrance of the Lafayette Clinic on the near East Side. They were leaving the clinic after visiting their son, Ramon Jr., 14, a patient.

Kennedy Challenges Hoover in Eavesdropping Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has challenged FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to make public his entire file on who authorized what eavesdropping while Kennedy was attorney general.

★ ★ ★

The New York Democrat fired the challenge Sunday night in a new round of the Kennedy-Hoover disagreement which erupted Saturday.

The furor opened with publication of a Hoover letter which said Kennedy knew all about FBI eavesdropping.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said he didn't, that Hoover "has been misinformed." Hoover said Kennedy's retort was "absolutely inconceivable." Hoover produced a document backing his stand from the same FBI official Kennedy had quoted for his side.

PEACEMAKER

Then Kennedy called for Hoover to make his entire file public. "There is no indication that Mr. Hoover ever asked me for authorization for any single bugging device," said Kennedy.

Another former attorney general, Kennedy successor Nicholas Katzenbach, emerged as a sort of would-be peacemaker with a terse statement giving credit to each side and in essence chalking the dispute up to misunderstanding.

Meanwhile, the practical effects of hidden surveillance were scored in New York by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

"We can't pick up a phone in Washington without fear and trepidation that someone is listening in," he said in a television interview.

CITES DANGER

"I don't know who is doing it," said Celler. "The abuse of these devices is all over. Whatever benefit they might be for the police departments, it is far outweighed by the danger implicit in them."

The Hoover letter, to Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, said use of wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping equipment increased during Kennedy's stint as attorney general, from 1961 until 1964.

★ ★ ★

Hoover said the FBI had always followed a practice "that no interception was to be undertaken or continued without first obtaining the approval of the attorney general."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's office retorted with a letter from Courtney A. Evans, assistant FBI head during Kennedy's term as attorney general, who said he did not know of any discussion or correspondence with Kennedy concerning use of microphones for eavesdropping.

'MISINFORMED'

Evans' letter said prior attorneys general had told the FBI that attorney general approval was needed only for telephone taps, but not other buggings.

Kennedy said Hoover had been misinformed.

Hoover said in a third-person statement from the FBI Sunday it was "absolutely inconceivable" that Kennedy could say Hoover had been misinformed.

Hoover produced another Evans' document, this one a memorandum of a July 7, 1961, conference between Kennedy and Evans. The memo said Kennedy was told the FBI was using microphones "in all instances where this was technically feasible and where valuable information might be expected."

Kennedy fired back Sunday night, acknowledging that "perhaps I should have known and since I was the attorney general I certainly take the responsibility for it, but the plain fact of the matter is that I did not know."

All animal hides and skins can be tanned.

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE—American troops attempting to battle the Vietcong in the Mekong River Delta area for the first time have entered a wet world where water is king. They must move along the waterways (left) using sampans to haul equipment in the canal, and when they get back to base camp, they may find it flooded (right). This makes laundering relatively simple.

GIs in Mekong Delta

A New Kind of War

BEN LUC, Vietnam (AP) — Three sniper bullets whined through the rice that was ripening in the sun. Men of the U.S. infantry squad fell to their knees, the platoon commander cursing quietly.

The snipers obviously were holed up in a village hidden in coconut groves and banana trees 800 yards across the shimmering paddy fields. Anywhere else in Vietnam the Americans could call in artillery, and maybe an air strike, to chase the snipers away.

But this was the Mekong River delta, a new kind of war for the U.S. troops in Vietnam. They had to take the village the hard way.

The infantrymen, from the 4th Battalion, 9th Infantry, 25th Division, were operating out of Ben Luc, a district town 20 miles south of Saigon on the northern edge of the Mekong delta.

TAKING A LOOK

The village and the snipers up ahead were a typical obstacle for the U.S. troops.

They had reached the area after a morning that began in pouring rain at their base camp in Ben Luc. They moved down to the Vaico Oriental River that bisects the north delta, then climbed into Vietnamese navy craft that took them five miles upstream.

From there, the unit plunged into the coconut groves and the paddy fields, wading waist deep through canals, searching for Viet Cong supplies cached in sampans hidden in reeds and poking at stacks of rice straw.

The mud caked on their trousers and their forearms. At times, the heavy-weapons men got bogged in swamps and had to be pulled out by their buddies.

Moving through the paddy fields was slow work. The hard dikes were good footpaths, but too dangerous. Snipers 1,000 yards across the flat rice fields could pick them off.

The three whirring bullets indicated that the snipers were trying.

Elsewhere in Vietnam, standard operating procedure is to pour in artillery and air strikes on snipers. In the delta, however, the test units have been ordered not to do this. Too many innocent people live in the villages. To bring heavy fire down upon them might kill scores.

STANDING BY WATER — An American soldier of the 25th Infantry Division is reflected in the water of a rice paddy while standing on a dike.

MOVE FORWARD

So the 25th Division troops deployed along the paddy field edges, firing bursts from their M16 automatic rifles as they moved forward.

A few more staccato sniper shots rang out. The forward American elements ran into the village, dodging around the large, earthenware water pots, running through the thatch-roof houses looking for the snipers, lifting off well lids.

No men could be found in the village of 50 or so houses. But there were plenty of women and children. None had been hurt in the small arms assault.

One mother with a baby in her arms and three young daughters at her feet looked impassively at an American soldier guarding her. Other soldiers searched her humble home.

LAUGHING GIRL

The U.S. soldiers shook their heads in quiet amazement at the scene — shot at one minute, then laughed at. What kind of war was this?

Then they began the trek home across the rice fields to the river. They had no casualties, but they were still happy to leave.

According to the South Vietnamese premier, Nguyen Cao Ky, American troops will deploy into the delta in force later in December, and gradually build up their strength next year.

Entertainers Leave to Visit Troops During Holidays

NEW YORK (AP) — As Christmas draws near a different sort of buildup is taking place in Vietnam. It's an entertainment escalation, and the "old soldiers" heading for the combat zone include Bob Hope, Martha Raye, Frances Langford, Anita Bryant and Johnny Grant.

* * *

Hope, who ought to rate as many hash marks as a 30-year sergeant, is making his 15th Christmas tour. "You should have seen me at Appomattox," he said. "I was a smash there."

* * *

Phyllis Diller, making her first trip to Vietnam as a member of the Hope entourage, said she is helping Lady Bird Johnson's "Keep America Beautiful" campaign by leaving the country. She is taking along a half-million pieces of bubble gum, which ought to set a few jaws to wagging.

The USO shows lined up for Vietnam over the holidays include the Bob Hope show, Martha Raye, Frances Langford, and the Clara Ward Singers, a Gospel group.

BRINGING GIRLS

Disc jockey Johnny Grant, making his 29th overseas tour, is taking along actresses Tippi Hedren and Diane McBain to cheer up servicemen from Saigon to Da Nang. "The soldiers call me the GI Santa Claus who brings thm pretty girls," Grant said.

Martha Raye has been in Vietnam for months, and will be there well into the new year. Besides entertaining and visiting the GIs, she has helped out as a battlefield nurse.

* * *

Singer-comedienne Frances Langford left for the Far East last month. She was a member of the first Hope tour in World War II — and many since then — and will team up again with Hope over there.

Other troupes — including two college groups — will entertain American servicemen in Europe, the Pacific, Caribbean, Alaska, and Greenland.

MILITARY SECRET

Hope leaves Hollywood about Dec. 16 for two weeks, but his exact itinerary overseas is a military secret. The American high command in Vietnam figures the Communists wouldn't pass up an opportunity to ambush the entertainers if they knew their schedule.

* * *

Others on the Hope safari are singer Anita Bryant, Les Brown and his band, and the Korean Kittens, a song and dance group. Jerry Colonna is being kept home this year by illness.

* * *

"I always look forward to making the tour — that comes from an appreciation of the GIs and the job they're doing and knowing it helps their morale," said Miss Bryant, making her seventh trip — and third visit to Vietnam — with Hope.

As for missing the holidays at home, the singer said:

"I've never spent Christmas at home in the seven years we've been married, but it's no sacrifice compared to what our fighting men are doing."

She and her husband, Bob Green, put up a tree in their Miami home and celebrated an early Christmas of sorts with their children, Bobby Jr., 3, and Gloria Lynn, 2. "When we come back," she said, "we'll open our gifts on New Year's Eve."

* * *

Despite any personal qualms some entertainers may have about American involvement in Vietnam, there have been no difficulties recruiting performers for the tours.

* * *

"We offer the performers the motivation that a lot of young Americans are over there and they need help, regardless of any personal feelings about the war," said Col. Jerome Coray, director of shows for the USO.

GETTING BIGGER

Said Hope: "It's getting bigger and rougher, but if we don't do anything, our children will pay for it and we'll lose this beautiful Shangri-la we have in America."

"Of course, I object to war," said Tippi Hedren, "but I stand behind my country on whatever they feel is right."

* * *

One performer who wants to entertain American prisoners in North Vietnam is Negro comedian Dick Gregory. He left New York for Hanoi on Dec. 5 to try to make the arrangements, but stopped at London when American planes bombed the outskirts of the North Vietnam capital. He then returned to the United States to resume private negotiations to visit Hanoi. The U.S. forbids travel to North Vietnam.

* * *

Coray said Grant is doing "what we call a 'visitation.'" which means the stars mingle with the military personnel, visit hospitals, sign autographs, then relay personal messages to the folks at home.

SPENT MONEY

Raymond Burr, who pioneered the technique, spent $1,500 of his own money on his return calling the families of servicemen he met.

Other stars also combine visitations with performing. "We spend as much time talking to the boys as entertaining," Miss Bryant said.

Coray said the visitations had proved so popular that after the first of the year five entertainers a month will be going over, including sports stars.

Other shows going overseas for holiday visits to service personnel include:

The Hank Snow Show, the Wellingtons and a group from Fresno State College, who will tour Japan, Korea and other Pacific bases.

Is Strangler Still Roaming or Can Cincinnati Relax?

CINCINNATI (UPI) — For the past year, since that wintry day when Mrs. Emogene Harrington was strangled with a plastic clothesline and then raped in a basement lavatory, the people of Cincinnati have felt the gnawing presence of fear.

Though not much at first, their anxieties heightened as life was choked from more and more victims. By last Friday, the sixth — some say the seventh — woman died in this way.

The fear became known to Cincinnatians as "The Strangler."

Detectives believe he struck for the last time Friday when he garroted an 81-year-old spinster with her own stocking in a self-service elevator.

★ ★ ★

NO CHARGES FILED

Today, he was still undergoing questioning. No charges were filed.

Identified as Pesteal Laskey Jr., the suspect is technically being held as a parole violator under a conviction for an assault which occurred Friday, shortly before Lulu Kerrick, the 81-year-old woman, was strangled in the elevator after returning from a Roman Catholic Mass.

Laskey, short and wiry with a police record for assaults, denied any knowledge of the six strangler slayings. Investigators were checking his whereabouts at the time of the killings. They also have sent evidence against him to the FBI laboratory in Washington for analysis.

★ ★ ★

Laskey was tentatively identified by six witnesses in a police lineup as the man who impersonated a cabdriver the night 31-year-old Barbara Bowman was picked up by a cabdriver at the Lark Cafe.

She was stabbed to death near her home in suburban Price Hill. Police say Miss Bowman also may have been a victim of The Strangler.

'EVERYTHING'

"They're trying to pin everything since the Abraham Lincoln assassination on him," said Laskey's court - appointed lawyer, Donald Roney.

Roney, a former Hamilton County assistant prosecutor, charged, "They're loading the wagon because the mule is blind."

Laskey, who occasionally has played the bass fiddle in jazz combos, was convicted by Municipal Court Judge George Heitzler of assault against Mrs. Sandra Chapas, 22, shortly before Miss Kerrick was strangled.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Chapas, a pretty brunette, testified Saturday that Laskey was the man who trailed her by car on West Court Street and followed her up the stairs in her apartment house, less than two blocks from where Miss Kerrick was strangled.

SUSPECT'S MOTHER

Mrs. Nancy Laskey, the suspect's mother, told United Press International:

"My boy isn't a killer. He couldn't have done it. I lock my door just like all the women do here. You don't know where The Strangler will strike next."

Dr. Feuss believes the killer was a necrophiliac (lover of the dead). All of the strangling victims except Miss Kerrick were raped after death. Like the police, Dr. Feuss says the killer may have been frightened away before carrying out his full intentions in the Kerrick slaying.

"The strangler showed a comtempt as if he were spitting in the eye of the police in the last two stranglings," Dr. Feuss said. "Miss Winstel was killed right after The Strangler murdered Mrs. Alice Hochhausler Oct. 11 when the police force was mobilized to its peak on an emergency basis.

"Miss Kerrick was killed within three blocks of the central police station. In a sense, the strangler was expressing his hostility toward society."

The stranglers began with the murder of Mrs. Emogene Harrington, 52, wife of a prominent University of Cincinnati aerospace scientist, Dec. 2, 1965.

★ ★ ★

She was killed with a piece of plastic clothesline in a basement lavatory of an apartment house in the city's Walnut Hills section.

SLAIN WITH STOCKING

The next strangling took place April 4 in the Price Hill apartments where Mrs. Lois Dant, 58, was slain with a stocking apparently taken off a clothesline in her bathroom. Mrs. Dant may have let her killer into her apartment unwittingly.

Shortly before dawn June 10 — the day of the University of Cincinati summer graduation exercises — Mrs. Jeannette Mathilde Messer, 56, was strangled with a necktie in Burnet Woods Park near the university.

Mrs. Messer was walking her dog, who was meticulously tied to a tree by the killer before he fled.

On a National Scale

It's Budget Time for Ex-Pfc.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the busiest men in Washington these days is a former Army private first class now presiding over one of government's most exacting jobs — preparing the nation's budget.

★ ★ ★

A native of Alexandria, Va., Schultze takes in stride decisions which could make even the most hard-headed official shudder.

"A small decision here is measured in millions," he said in an interview, "but you sometimes find yourself arguing and worrying about the smallest amounts, even a few thousand dollars."

STAFF OF 500

Schultze, backed by a staff of 500 housed mainly in the Executive Office Building next door to the White House, is now putting the finishing touches on the budget, which is expected to approach a record $140 billion in spending for the fiscal year which begins next July 1. This does not include the trust accounts such as Social Security and highway funds.

Schultze views his role as that of a coordinator and screen or funnel between the President and the rest of government.

★ ★ ★

"We have to settle things which don't need the President's attention and we must make sure the items which do need his attention get to him in proper form," Schultze said.

To do this, the budget director normally is up at 7:30 each morning and, after a quick shower and breakfast, spends about 45 minutes working at home before arriving at the office about 9 a.m.

Sometimes, he said, the President might telephone before he leaves home, "Usually when I'm in the shower."

Schultze frequently eats lunch at his desk and at this time of year — the peak period in his job which pays $30,000 annually — rarely gets home before 9:30 or 10:30 at night.

★ ★ ★

He also works on Saturdays, tries to avoid going to the office on Sunday, but isn't always successful and always brings some work home with him.

The President's budget will be presented to Congress about Jan. 20.

YOUNGEST MAN

Although his private profession is teaching, Schultze has spent most of his working life in government and was the youngest man ever named budget bureau director. Johnson appointed him to the post 18 months ago.

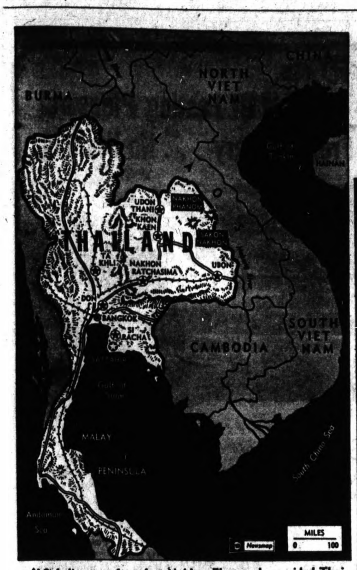
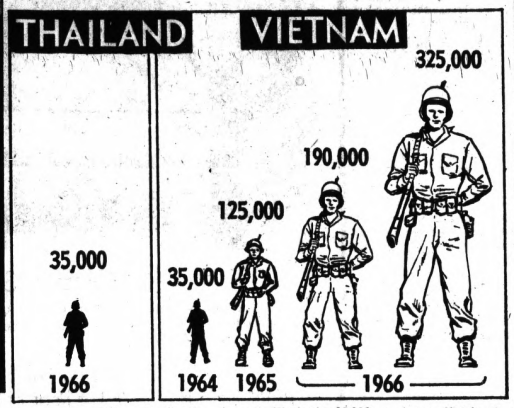
OPERATION THAILAND

Disclosure that U.S. helicopters have aided Thai troops battling Communist guerrillas confirms reports that the U.S. military presence in Thailand is aiding the Thais in their own struggle against Red infiltration as well as supporting operations in Vietnam. Newsmap locates major American bases and site of recent operations. News-Graphic compares U.S. military strength in Thailand and Vietnam.



U.S. helicopters based at Nakhon Phanom have aided Thai forces in several battles near the Sakon Nakhon, one of several areas in the northeast provinces of increasing Communist guerrilla activity during the past year.



The announced figure for American forces in Thailand is 25,000 men but unofficial estimates place it at closer to 35,000, about U.S. troop strength in Vietnam in 1964, before the rapid build-up to 190,000 at the start of this year and 325,000 by the end.

Childhood Asthma Hard to Outgrow

By Science Service

LONDON — Adults who suffered from asthma as children, but were symptom-free for an average of six years, still can develop a recurrence of their symptoms, a British study has shown.

Comparing the ventilatory capacity of eight such adults with that of a group of healthy adults and a group of asthmatic adults, the investigators concluded that the symptom-free, onetime asthmatics are in a latent phase of asthma, in which they might or might not remain indefinitely.

The ventilatory capacity of the symptom-free adults seemed directly related to the severity of their childhood asthma, as measured by frequency of attacks.

U.S. Violence Resurrects European Fears

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — The visitor to Europe finds almost everyone convinced that the United States has become a nation of almost casual violence.

It is an opinion spurred by the recent mass killings in Chicago and Texas and shared by the man-in-the-street and such influential European newspapers as the Times of London and Le Monde of Paris.

There is still the vivid memory of President Kennedy's assassination and the televised murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, three summers of ghetto rioting, racial violence in the South and startling statistics on the U.S. crime climb.

Old and fearful European views of everyday America, once based on unrealistic movie exports about Indian wars and gangland battles, have been resurrected.

★ ★ ★

"The violence in your country must be incredible," said a Frenchman here. Then, inevitably, he asked, "Why?"

READS STORY

He had been reading a story in a Paris newspaper about a 15-year-old boy in Roscoe, Tex., who shot and killed a night watchman.

"I been thinking why I did it," the by was quoted by a juvenile officer. "I wanted to have fun like those guys in Chicago and Austin who had fun — killing people."

Editorially, major European newspapers have tried to answer "why?" for their dumbfounded readership.

★ ★ ★

In London, the Times wrote: grandparents experienced Indian raids. . ." And now "the Indians have been replaced by casual gunmen."

BACKS OPINION

The Times backed American opinion for an unrestricted gun market, saying: "The private citizen can still argue that he needs to be armed for protection."

A Washington correspondent for Le Monde, discussing U.S. proposals to limit the sale of firearms, wrote that "Death in the United States is a form of commerce and cult.

"None has any complacent illusions as to the effect of a good law on the level of delinquency. But this (delinquency) in the United States is only one aspect of criminality."

★ ★ ★

What such a law could do, he said, is to make it more difficult to practice "the sport of killing" in America.

TEXAS SINGLED OUT

Singling out Texas, one newspaper said that the violence has spread from the "traditional crime centers, Chicago and New York" to all parts of the United States.

It noted, in editorial comment on Charles Whitman's rampage in Austin, that Lee Oswald and Richard Speck were "both children of Dallas, of this Texas where somber dangers lurk."

Concensus in Europe is that the United States, for all its sophistication in other areas, is emotionally immature, "still growing up."

★ ★ ★

Said a London newspaperman: "Perhaps Europeans are too quick to criticize when we want for so many improvements ourselves.

REPEATED VIOLENCE

"Nevertheless, we read repeatedly of American violence. And everyday we meet more and more American tourists."

"Now there is a genuine fear in Europe that next America will export this kind of violence. We have crime here, most certainly, but not in so tragic and so violent proportions," he said.

Tragic, too, was the comment of a touring American coed, ironically sitting alone at night at a sidewalk cafe in a Paris park:

'Christmas Company' Digs In at Phoenix Hotel

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The "Christmas Company" — 54 Vietnam veterans straight from the battlefields — have dug in at a plush hotel in Phoenix for a week of relaxation and forgetting.

The relaxing came easy. The forgetting was difficult.

"When a good buddy gets hit, you want to cry. But you can't, you've got work to do," said Army Spec. 5 Ivea Mosley, 21, of Reidsville, Ga.

He looked up at the 10-foot Christmas tree he and some of the other men were decorating and the former medic with the 101st Airborne Division shook his head.

LONG WAY AWAY

"The war seems a long time ago, a long way away," said Mosley, who left Vietnam about a week ago.

"In Vietnam you got so that you don't have any feelings. A buddy gets hit, but you've got to watch out for your own skin," said Passaro, who was with the Army's 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division.

Passaro's right hand was bandaged with a wound he had received trying to take a knife away from a berserk buddy. The back of his left hand carried the scar of a bullet wound that won him a Purple Heart.

SHIELD EYES

Looking from windows of the Camelback Inn, Mosley, Passaro and their buddies shielded their eyes as the bright Arizona sun reflected from leaves of a palm tree and the glistening swimming pool beneath it.

A golf course provided a deep green background for the riding stables. It seemed unreal to the men, who only a week ago were plodding through Vietnam rice fields.

★ ★ ★

Some succeeded, but others smiled for a while and wandered away. For them there was still too much to remember — and forget.

SQUAD LEADER

Marine Sgt. Gregory Dixon, 21, of Philadelphia was in Vietnam for 10 months with the 1st Marine Division. He was a squad leader in Operation Hastings, and saw his men cut down by Vietcong bullets.

"It was Feb. 14 — Valentine's Day — when we lost our company commander and about 20 other men," remembers Army Staff Sgt. James R. Geroldis, 38, of Anna, Ill., a veteran of 5th Infantry Division action.

★ ★ ★

Army Spec. 5 John Bryant, 24, of Atlanta, Ga., testing the thick piling of the lobby's carpet as he gazed at the crowded swimming pool, said: "There's no where else I'd rather be right now, except Atlanta."

Marine Sgt. Dennis R. Personius, 22, of Jordan, Minn., recalled almost matter-of-factly that "we were stationed just south of Da Nang when the mortars opened up on us."

GUESTS OF OWNER

The men are the guests of hotel owner Jack Stewart, who invited a similar number of men from Vietnam last Christmas.

"This is one way we can express our appreciation for the sacrifices these fighting men have made for us," said Stewart, who with some 30 other Phoenix businessmen sponsored the affair.

Reward Raised

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A reward for arrest and conviction of an archer who shot caged deer in a private Macomb County zoo was increased to $450 over the weekend. The Michigan Archers Association contributed $100 and other archery clubs the remainder. Previously, $100 had been posted, also by archery clubs.

Insect Builders True Craftsmen

Elaborate Dwellings Constructed by Bugs

Social insects, relying on the highly disciplined group to make up for their weakness as individuals, tackle the most ambitious projects, the National Geographic Society says.

African termites build towering fortresses, some 20 feet tall, with interiors as well-planned as those of a modern office building. Most members of the colony are workers, whose job is to repair and extend the network of passages and highways.

Termite builders and other insect wonders are explored by National Geographic in "The Hidden World," a television special to be shown tomorrow on CBS.

WOOD TERMITES

In the United States, most wood-eating termites live in vast underground complexes, some linked to the surface by ventilation tubes.

These insects shun light; if it becomes necessary for them to use exposed areas where tunneling is impossible, they bridge the gap with a covered arcade made of wood fiber and saliva.

In contrast, the tree ants of southern Asia, New Guinea, and northern Australia dwell high above the ground. Their favorite building material is the leaf of a living tree.

★ ★ ★

The tiny ants swarm onto the edges of an enormous leaf. They hold onto one another by their jaws to form bridges between the leaf's edges and pull them together.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The ants turn the leaves into honeycomb structures, then plant a species of mushroom. The insect farmers, by cultivating and feeding on the mushrooms, practice a true form of agriculture.

★ ★ ★

Paper walls of the wasps' nests are separated by air spaces, thus insulating the rooms from heat and cold.

★ ★ ★

When the weather becomes uncomfortably hot, some wasps cool their nests by dampening the walls. If this effort fails, worker wasps beat their wings furiously to circulate air through the stuffy passageways.

Jayne's Son Still Improving

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Doctors say 6-year-old Zoltan Hargitay — who has undergone surgery twice since being mauled by a lion Nov. 26 — continues to improve.

★ ★ ★

Zoltan, the son of actress Jayne Mansfield and her ex-husband, actor Mickey Hargitay, nonetheless was listed in serious condition Sunday. He is suffering from spinal meningitis discovered after operations for a fractured skull and removal of a ruptured spleen.

Payless Paydays Possible in Ecorse

ECORSE (AP)—Time and the money flowing may soon put Ecorse in a bitter financial bind, officials said Saturday.

Payless paydays are a possibility.

"We have enough to meet the payroll next week, but that will just about do it," said Charles C. Coman, city controller.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

Synopsis: The Harp Witch tells Billy he can slay Goko the giant if he brings her the Rosanna Ruby to set in a magic necklace.

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER SEVEN
Three Islands

The Harp Witch told Santa there was an island where diamonds and amethysts and pearls and opals grew on trees.

"Among the trees," said the witch, "there is a grove of rubies and here the Rosanna Ruby is to be found. It is the fairest stone of all.

"If you can pluck it you need have no fear of Goko. I shall put the stone in a magic necklace that will tighten around his throat and he will be helpless."

★ ★ ★

SEES ISLAND

Water splashed over the sides. The wind beat the sail and the boom swung back and forth knocking them all to the bottom of the wobbly little boat.

At last Theodore called out, "There is an island straight ahead!"

Thank goodness, thought Billy. He was feeling seasick. He had already had enough sea voyage to last him all his life. But when they came ashore they found this was not the Jewel Island after all.

★ ★ ★

A round cheeked brownie was sitting on the beach beating on a child's drum. He told them this was the Island of Lost Toys. "Have you lost a toy?" he asked Billy.

LOTS OF LOST TOYS

"Oh, yes," and Billy. "I've lost lots of toys! A whistle and a red and blue rubber ball and a baseball bat and a little tin soldier and—"

"They are all here," said the brownie. He pointed to a mountain of balls and toy trucks and dolls and pocket knives and kites and tops and even pogo sticks.

They were all lost toys, he explained. "Every toy that is lost is brought to this island by the Play Brownies."

★ ★ ★

"What happens to them then?" asked Santa.

"Once a year the brownies take the toys back to the world and hide them in strange places for children to come upon unexpectedly."

MISSING SKATE

"I once found my missing roller skate behind the kitchen stove!" exclaimed Billy.

"I expect the brownies put it there," smiled the brownie. "Now why don't you look for your other missing toys here?"

Billy was already shuffling through a pile of tin soldiers but Santa said they must hurry on their way.

★ ★ ★

They piled back in their rocket boat and rocked off. Twice more they came ashore and twice more they found they had not yet come to the Isle of Jewels.

CANDY ISLAND

Caramels and marshmallows and chocolate creams had been pouring out of the machine ever since and no one had been able to turn it off.

★ ★ ★

Santa said no they must go on for they had lost so much time already and they must hurry and find the Rosanna Ruby.

NEXT LAND

The next land they came to was Kangaroo Land where kangaroos lived like you and I.

They lived in houses and went to school and worked in offices. There were kangaroo policemen and kangaroo children who went to kangaroo birthday parties.

They found a kangaroo sailor standing on the shore. Santa asked him if he could tell them how to reach the Isle of Jewels.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly," said the kangaroo sailor. He pointed over Santa's shoulder. "Just hop over there!"

Santa turned and saw land that had not been there a moment before. It was an island glittering with the sparkle of precious stones.

Tomorrow: The Rosanna Ruby

The kangaroo sailor pointed to the Isle of Jewels

White House Yule Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The holiday season opens formally in the capital today when Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson unveils the White House Christmas decorations for 600 members of Washington's women's press corps at a buffet party.

★ ★ ★

During the weekend, White House staff members worked round the clock to adorn the mansion's formal rooms with a glittering array of holiday bouquets and greenery.

Where Have All the Petunias Gone?

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — I am writing this in a cubbyhole office on the top floor of the U.S. Capitol. The furnishings are not much, but the view is terrific.

WEST

It has a big double window overlooking a smog bank. In fact, it provides one of the best views of air pollution in the entire city.

I know it's selfish of me, but I have been so concerned about my own lungs I have scarcely given any thought to the effect the smog has on petunias.

Fortunately, the U.S. government has been more considerate.

Recognizing that petunias like to breathe, too, the government is building a "plant air pollution laboratory" to look into the matter and possibly find a few solutions.

★ ★ ★

Scientists will study not only petunias but oats, alfalfa and beans as well. These are plants that are known to be sensitive to smog.

POSSIBLE PROBLEM

Dr. Howard E. Heggestad, a pathologist who has charge of the project, says smog damage to plants "may now be a problem in most urban areas."

Heggestad is absolutely right about that.

Last summer the squash plants in my backyard "victory garden" turned pale and collapsed in midseason.

★ ★ ★

At the time I suspected a nutritional deficiency. I'm now convinced that it was an oxygen shortage.

Heggestad says the laboratory will explore the possibility of using chemicals that can be applied to foliage to combat pollutants.

If the antioxidants work, maybe Heggestad will pass them around. I'd like to try rubbing them on my chest.

The laboratory's other approach will be to identify and develop plants that have a natural resistance to smog.

It may be that in the process of evolution, human beings also will develop smog immunity. But don't hold your breath.

On second thought, you might live longer if you do stop breathing.

Walking, Talking Hubert Likes His New Residence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has told his new neighbors he has "lots of eccentricities — you'll get used to them."

The neighborhood, a combination of chic and run-down, doesn't seem to mind. Two thousand persons turned out Sunday at three gatherings in the area to welcome the Humphreys to their new home, an apartment in a fancy high-rise building.

* * *

Humphrey gave them the ground rules for living around a vice president:

"I like to talk.

"I like to walk.

"I expect you to come up and say hello."

As for Mrs. Humphrey, she said, "Some of you have already seen me out walking my little dog, or at the supermarket. Please say hello."

LIKES MOVING

The vice president says moving has been a second honeymoon.

He has planted trees on his balconies and can walk to the Capitol. Their former home in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., was 45 minutes by car from downtown.

He also indicated he had to be roped into moving.

Call Helps FBI Catch Fugitive

Sister Tips Police to Suspect's Cave Lair

OSCODA (AP) — Fugitive Thomas J. Sergent Jr. "probably was fed up with his cave-dwelling life and wanted to get out in the bright lights and spend some of that dough."

That's the explanation of Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell of Iosco County about Sergent's telephone call which led to his capture by FBI agents Saturday.

* * *

Sergent, 25, of Hazel Park, Mich., had been sought in the slaying near Silverton, Colo., of Milton Moeller, 56, of Phoenix, and his wife, Mildred, 55. Both were found shot in the chest. They were last seen in Durango, Colo., Sept. 25.

Sergent is being held under $10,000 bond at Flint, 100 miles south of Oscoda, pending an extradition hearing on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder and interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

TIP FROM SISTER

With Sergent was his sister, Patricia, 22, of Madison Heights, Mich. She first tipped police about her brother's whereabouts, a cave hideout in a wooded area near Oscoda.

O'Farrell said officers found about $1,000 in cash and two handguns in a footlocker Sergent had with him. Sergent offered no resistance, he said, adding:

"The money was all that was left from a $2,900 burglary at Oscoda High School. We found a lot of canned goods and a radio taken in the robbery at the cave."

Police said Sergent had been living in the lair for about five weeks.

O'Farrell said police had kept the wooded area near Oscoda under surveillance since the middle of last week when Miss Sergent informed police her brother had telephoned her at her suburban Detroit home.

Author Steinbeck in Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Author John Steinbeck has come to wartorn Vietnam to "go up the rivers, into the mountains. To listen to it, to see it for myself."

The bearded 64-year-old Nobel Prize winner said in an interview today he will learn to fire the M16 automatic rifle and the M79 grenade launcher.

* * *

"How can I write about these things if I don't know them?" he asked.

SON TO BE GUIDE

"I'll poke around and write what I see and feel. No deadlines," he said with a grin.

His reports will appear as a series of letters, he said, in Newsday, the Long Island, N.Y., newspaper.

* * *

Steinbeck's guide part of the time, will be his son John (Catbird) Steinbeck, 20, who has been in Vietnam since last June. He is an Army Specialist Fourth Class assigned to the armed forces radio and television network.

Father and son sat together over black coffee on the garden terrace of an old hotel and discussed the war and the writer's plans. He has another son in Army basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif.

Steinbeck said he has been deeply concerned about the war for some time.

"I had to come and see it for myself," he said.

In a now-famous exchange of letters with Soviet poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko over the morality of the conflict, Steinbeck urged that both sides recognize their responsibilities

* * *

"My opinion has not changed essentially over the years," he said. "I'm convinced that if we hadn't been in Korea and were not now in Vietnam, this whole area, including Australia, would be under Red Chinese domination.

"We've got to realize the real reason we are here, and I don't think this has been made clear, either by the government or the press."

Sheriff's Officer Thwarts Jailbreak in Macomb County

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A sheriff's lieutenant grabbed the arm of a prisoner holding a makeshift knife at the throat of a guard, thwarting the escape of three prisoners Sunday from the Macomb County Jail. Two guards were injured, neither seriously.

Lt. Frank Coluzzi, who was trying to talk the three men into returning to their cells, unexpectedly leaped at the prisoners, pulling the weapon away from the throat of sheriff's deputy Joseph Jamrus.

Other officers quickly subdued the prisoners once Jamrus, father of two children, was out of danger.

The prisoners, Johnny Ray Prince, 21, of 319 Chandler, Bruce Twp.; Larry Golembiewski, 20, of Warren; and Dennis Burger, 21, of Madison Heights immediately were placed in maximum security cells.

The sheriff's office said charges of attempted jail break and assault with intent to commit murder would be brought against the three today.

Sheriff's deputies said the three prisoners jumped Jamrus as he returned with Prince to the cell block.

Prince is awaiting sentence after pleading guilty to a second degree murder charge in the death last August of Mrs. John Riemann, 61, co-owner of Riemann's Nursery in Romeo. He had left his cell with Jamrus to make a telephone call.

While he was gone, Golembiewski and Burger managed to open their cell doors, deputies said. Both men were awaiting trial on armed robbery charges.

BLACKJACKS

Deputies said Burger and Golembiewski, using homemade blackjacks made from socks filled with bar soap, knocked Jamrus momentarily unconscious and took his keys.

Using Jamrus as a hostage, the men began making their way out of the cell block. Golembiewski held the knife, fashioned from a metal cup handle and a toothbrush, at Jamrus' throat.

The three men opened other cell doors, but other prisoners did not join the attempted escape, police said.

Jamrus managed a brief shout before being subdued, and another deputy, Albert Gekiere, set off an alarm. Gekiere was slugged by one of the prisoners but managed to escape his grasp.

MOVE TO GARAGE

As the three prisoners and Jamrus made their way to a garage, they were met by Coluzzi and other officers. Coluzzi asked the men to return to their cells, saying escape was impossible.

The three men demanded guns and a car, threatening Jamrus, already bleeding from cuts at his throat, if their demands were not met.

'Russia Won't Fight for China'

Yank Says Red Rift 'a National Conflict'

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Foy D. Kohler, former U.S. Ambassador in Moscow, says the Soviet Union would never go to war with the United States because of China.

The Soviet-Chinese split is a national conflict, he told a conference of the Florida Department of the American Legion Sunday.

* * *

"There is a built-in antipathy in the Russians against the Chinese," Kohler said. "I made a speech in 1951 saying it was unthinkable that long-range Chinese-Soviet interests would remain the same.

"I can assure you this split is for real. The Russians are never going to war with the United States for Chinese reasons."

Kohler, now deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, also said trade was a lever the United States can use to help the people of Eastern Europe evolve along nationalist rather than doctrinaire Communist lines.

Cuban Exile Chief on Trial for Terrorism

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The head of a militant Cuban exile anti-Castro group goes on trial in federal court today, accused of terrorizing other exiles.

* * *

* * *

They are alleged to have terrorized other exiles in an effort to obtain war chest funds.

Bosch, who has clashed frequently with U.S. officials trying to contain his raids on Cuba, and Garcia say they had nothing to do with unsigned letters — typewritten in Spanish — that the prosecution plans to present.

'BOMBING THREATS'

The letters allegedly threaten bombings.

The prosecution claims they were received two years ago by Julio Iglesias, a Clewiston sugar grower; Alberto Badia, an architect; and Roberto Mendoza, a bank exploye.

Opening lead—♥K

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Our old friend, Gordon Keel of Vancouver, British Columbia, writes, "You have said that when both sides lead the same suit one is crazy. Here is a hand that disproves this theory. I was certain that the bidding and the opening trump lead had marked West with both minor suit kings. In that case the winning play had to be a trump return at trick two."

JACOBY

We have also said that there is no "always" and no "nevers" in bridge. You only want to play the same suit your opponents lead on rare occasions. This was one of them. So you return hearts at trick two.

West led a spade at trick three. Gordon ruffed, entered dummy by finessing the queen of diamonds, ruffed a second spade, led a diamond to dummy's ace, ruffed the last spade and threw West in with his last diamond.

Dummy's fourth diamond was now good and poor West had his choice of leading a club up to Gordon's ace-queen, or a spade which would allow Gordon to ruff in his own hand and to discard a club from dummy.

Gordon points out that he would have been crazy if West had shown up with four diamonds and East had held the king of clubs.

His play worked and it was unquestionably the best line but Gordon did not have to return a heart at trick two. He could have taken the diamond finesse instead, ruffed a spade and led the second heart at trick four.

The trap to avoid was not to release the ace of diamonds before leading that second trump. If Gordon had done that he would not have been able to ruff out all dummy's spades and West would not have been caught in the end play.

The CARD Sense

West	North	East	South
			1♣
Pass	1♦	Pass	1♠
Pass	3♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠AK87 ♥A3 ♦543 ♣K986

What do you do now?

TODAY'S QUESTION

Scouts Push Rock, Kill One

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Two 15-year-old Boy Scouts pushed a rock over a cliff Sunday and killed a student sunbathing with his girlfriend on the beach 20 feet below.

Police said the boys were playing and did not realize people were on the beach near Sorrento, 50 miles south of Melbourne.

Closing Delayed

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Soo Locks on the St. Mary's River, which links Lake Superior with the other Great Lakes, will be closed at 11:59 p.m. Saturday, instead of Thursday as was originally planned, the Army Corps of Engineers said Saturday. The corps said the extension was requested by shippers of grain and taconite. About five ships are downbound from Lake Superior.

Jordan Puts String on Letting Alien Troops In

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan has agreed to let in Iraqi and Saudi Arabian troops within two months but only if U.N. peace-keeping forces are withdrawn from the frontier between Israel and the United Arab Republic, a Jordanian government spokesman said Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

The Jordanian stipulation appeared to check the plans of other Arab leaders to extend their troops further along the Israeli frontier since it was unlikely that the United Nations would remove its forces and risk a further increase in Middle East tensions.

★ ★ ★

Jordan has expressed fear that foreign troops admitted to its territory would be used to overthrow King Hussein.

★ ★ ★

Nor was U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, with 55,000 of his troops fully occupied in Yemen, thought to want the U.N. forces withdrawn. He has long sought to curb the militancy of other Arab leaders, warning that they are unable to wage war successfully on Israel because of their lack of unity.

A multination U.N. force, now numbering about 4,000 men, has patrolled the 145-mile Israel-U.A.R. border since 1957, after the two nations battled in the Sinai Desert.

Jordanian Information Minister Abdul Hamid Sheraf said Jordan's position was presented over the weekend to a meeting in Cairo of the Arab League Defense Council. The council met to consider action following an Israeli attack on three Jordanian border villages Nov. 13.

The U.N. Security Council censured Israel for the attack. Israel said it acted in reprisal for border raids by Arab terrorists.

Reports from Cairo said the Arab Council had forced Jordan into a unanimous decision to let in Iraqi and Saudi Arabian troops. But the minister said the troops could enter Jordan only as part of an over-all Arab military plan agreed on at previous conferences.

BASIC CONDITIONS

He said the plan included as "basic conditions" the U.N. withdrawal and removal of the U.A.R. force from Yemen. The U.A.R. supports the Republican regime in Yemen and Saudi Arabia backs the ousted royalist forces which control much of the country.

★ ★ ★

Jordan also refused demands by the Palestine Liberation Organization to let its troops enter Jordan "to take up positions on the front line against Israel." Jordan has accused the PLO of fomenting antigovernment demonstrations among Arab refugees in Jordan following the Israeli attack.

The Arab Council agreed to meet by the middle of next month to "review the implementation" of the entry of Saudi Arabian and Iraqi troops into Jordan. It decided that Arab states should make no military agreements among themselves contrary to plans of the Unified Military Command and that no troop movements should be made without the command's prior approval.

BOOBY TRAP VICTIM — A soldier of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division bends over a seriously wounded and blinded comrade who fell victim to a Vietcong booby trap during a search-and-destroy action at Minh Tan, 30 miles northeast of Saigon. The mine was hidden in the roof of a hut, exploding in the soldier's face as he entered.

Lung Cancer Surge Laid to Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's top advisory panel on cancer says an "enormous man-made epidemic" of lung cancer has hit the country as a result of cigarette smoking.

The National Advisory Cancer Council said yesterday in a report to the U.S. Public Health Service that "more active steps" are strongly recommended to bring the epidemic to public attention.

And, the council said, lung cancer is largely preventable if smokers would drop their habit.

The report was the first overall analysis of the campaign against all types of cancer by the 29-year-old council, which despite its alarm over lung cancer, did find some signs of improved treatment and cures for other forms of the disease.

The council's report appeared to use somewhat harsher language in its descriptions of smoking's role in producing lung cancer than that of the U.S. surgeon general on smoking and health in 1964.

MOST STRIKING

"The most striking increase in cancer incidence and mortality," the council said, "has been that for cancer of the lung in men, which is 10 times what it was 30 years ago.

"The rate for women has also been increasing, although more slowly," the report said.

"In 1966, approximately 42,000 men and 8,000 women will die of lung cancer, a largely preventable disease for which cigarette smoking is largely responsible."

Cancer, the nation's second leading cause of death, is killing Americans at an ever-increasing rate, the council said. In 1967, it will claim about 305,000 lives.

HIT BY CANCER

Despite improved treatments, cancer will claim 153 of every 100,000 persons in 1967. It killed 112 of every 100,000 in 1937. In 1937, about one in four cancer patients was cured. Today, one in three will be saved.

The most alarming increase was in lung cancer. Almost unknown 50 years ago, it now kills 50,000 persons every year. It is the leading cause of cancer deaths among men and is fatal in 95 of every 100 cases.

And while the report said smoking was the leading cause of lung cancer, air pollution, radiation and influenza virus were also named as possible causes. The report said smokers were 10 times as likely to develop lung cancer as nonsmokers.

BREAST CANCER

The report predicted there would be 63,000 new cases of breast cancer this year with 27,000 resultant deaths. It said this was the most common type of cancer in women and usually occurred after the age of 45.

Leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming organs, was expected to claim 14,000 lives out of 18,000 new cases. But the report said major progress has been made in treating the disease.

The report cited the case of two children who were treated with a combination of drugs and have been free of any signs of leukemia for more than 1,000 days. Drug treatment also has significantly prolonged the lives of other sufferers.

The death rate from cancer of the uterus has been cut almost in half, the report disclosed. The major factor in the increased survival rate has been early detection provided by the pap smear test.

The report forecast 44,000 new cases of uterine cancer in 1967. About 30,000 women will survive, the report said.

Schools Plan for Pregnant

NEW YORK (AP) — The city school system, proposing a record billion-dollar budget, has requested $300,000 to provide pregnant teen-age pupils with instruction in child care while continuing their education.

The program, which calls for two new special teaching facilities, was included in a $1.09-billion school budget for 1967 submitted Sunday night by Superintendent of Schools Bernard E. Donovan. The centers would take in about 400 mothers-to-be each year.

School officials said there were 1,876 known pregnancies among the 200,000 adolescent girls attending the city's public schools last year. The figure, they said, represented an increase of 20 per cent over the previous year.

"We're not doing this because of panic," one school official said. "We have had this under consideration for many years."

PUPILS SUSPENDED

Under current procedures, pregnant pupils are suspended from classes, but permitted to return to a different school after the child's birth. Each could enter approved shelters during her pregnancy.

The school budget is up $151 million from the $948 million allocated to the school board this year.

Ford Foundation Files TV Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans for a $10-million Ford Foundation grant to show the potential of educational television through a series of national programs were to be filed in Washington today with the Federal Communications Commission.

The Sunday night programs, tentatively scheduled to begin next Sept. 3, will explore in detail news developments of the previous week.

Bundy said, "We see particular promise in a proposal to pull together the intellectual and cultural resources of this country to speak directly, once a week, to the great issues of the day in every field of action."

He said the purpose of the grant was to use existing relay facilities on the ground to demonstrate what educational television could produce if it had domestic communication satellite facilities and adequate financing for more diversified programming. No operating domestic satellite system is expected for two years at the earliest.

In a brief, Bundy also supports the foundation's plan of last August for a nonprofit communications satellite system whose income would go to support educational television.

While strongly endorsing the nonprofit satellite system, the foundation indicated that noncommercial television could not survive without a federal subsidy of at least $100 million a year.

Unidentified Body Yields Clue--a Key

TROUT LAKE (AP)—Investigators hoped today that a key, stamped with the numerals 330, would eventually solve the mystery of the slaying of a young man whose body was found Nov. 11.

★ ★ ★

The body, never identified, was found by hunters near Naugle Creek Bridge five miles north of Trout Lake on M123.

Celler Urges Powell Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, calling fellow Rep. Adam Clayton Powell "a bone in the throat of Congress," has proposed an investigation of what he says are the Harlem Democrat's "wrongs and excesses."

"I will support a motion to have Powell stand aside and not take his seat while a committee appointed by Congress can examine" him, Celler said Sunday. "However, it would be too drastic to expel him from Congress."

Celler, a Brooklyn Democrat and dean of the House in term of service years, called Powell "a lawmaker who has refused to obey the law."

The congressman referred to Powell's convictions in one criminal and three civil contempt cases stemming from a $164,000 libel judgment he has yet to pay a Harlem widow. Powell has been sentenced to a year and 60 days in jail in the cases.

Celler's comments came on a television program and in an interview.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Yule Star Marks Site of Beacon for Slaves

★ ★ ★

ESCAPE ROUTE

Rankin burned a light in an upper window of the house to guide the fugitive slaves. Some historians say he helped 2,000 slaves elude their pursuers on the way north.

Ripley then was a busy river port. Now it is a quiet village except during the midwinter burley tobacco sales season. It has Ohio's only burley warehouses and auctions.

Lions Huddle in NFL Cellar

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The day was not entirely all dismal, however, even though 42,000 fans had the courage to sit in snow covered seats to watch the disgusting performance.

Wrapped in an estimated $250,000 contract with Honolulu Blue and Silver ribbons, the Lions had their first stocking filled. The prize rookie was Nick Eddy who made his appearance at halftime after signing his contract Sunday morning after two days of negotiations with personnel director Russ Thomas.

In order to bring back the Lions' roar instead of the purr they displayed on the playing field, many more of the stockings will have to be filled.

EASY SCORE

The first touchdown, a 30-yard pass play from Frank Tarkenton to Jim Phillips was easy. It came after a 27-yard pass from Tarkenton to Dave Osborn. Phillips took the ball on the Detroit 20, was pinned by Bobby Thompson and Mike Lucci, but broke away and went the distance.

After John Henderson, substituting for the injured Pat Studstill, dropped a perfect pass from Karl Sweetan on the 10-yard line, the Lions had to settle for a 44-yard field goal by Garo Yepremian early in the second quarter.

Immediately after the ensuing kickoff, Minnesota marched again, going 72 yards in seven plays and it was a 22-yard Tarkenton to Paul Flately pass which brought the touchdown. With Fred Cox' point it was 14-3.

A moment later, a Detroit punt hit Lion Doug Van Horn on the back of the head and the 15-yard penalty for interference with the receiver helped the Vikings start their next drive.

ONE YARD TD

They went 41 yards in six plays with Bill Brown going the final yard to make it 21-3 with the point.

A Sweetan to Ron Kramer touchdown on a six-yard pass was nullified and the Lions were assessed 15 yards for offensive interference.

Yepremian again had to kick a three pointer from the 30-yard line and it was 21-6 at halftime. Key play here was a 52-yard pass to Henderson to the Minnesota seven.

After Bruce Maher made a 56-yard return of an interception in the third quarter to the Viking 13, the Lions still couldn't cross the goal line and Yepremian made it 21-9 from the 17.

★ ★ ★

When they had another drive going, a Sweetan pass was dropped by Gail Cogdill and after the punt, Minnesota went 73 yards in seven plays.

Kettering, Skippers in Nonleague Tilt

Captains' Crew Tries Unbeaten Clarkston Five

Waterford Entertains West Bloomfield; Key Parochial Games Set

Waterford's Skippers and Kettering's Captains take on nonconference foes on the basketball court tomorrow night, and the task that awaits the Captains is a most difficult one.

Kettering won its opener two weeks ago and has been idle since, while Clarkston was taking three in a row.

★ ★ ★

Last season and that first two games of this campaign, the Wolves only consistent scorer was forward Dan Fife, who averaged 32 points a game last season and matched that figure in his first two outings this year.

WOLVES HOWL

But Friday night, while Hills was busy defensing Fife, the other Wolves began to howl and four players wound up in double figures in the scoring column.

★ ★ ★

Along with Fife's 17 points, Mark Richard and Tom Allen contributed 12 apiece and Randy Nicoson tossed in 10.

Kettering has the same team back that forged a 15-1 record last season and captured the Tri-County League championship.

Waterford owns a 1-1 record and should have little trouble with the Lakers of West Bloomfield (0-2). The Lakers are playing without the big man in the lineup, Tim Moller, leading scorer last year who is still recuperating from a broken leg suffered this summer.

FULL SLATE

A full schedule is on tap in the Macomb Catholic League where St. Michael will be trying to extend its winning string to four games by playing host to Marine City Holy Cross (2-0).

★ ★ ★

Two other Macomb games have Waterford Our Lady of Lakes visiting St. Rose and St. Frederick traveling to Anchor Bay Catholic.

★ ★ ★

In the Northwest Parochial League, unbeaten Orchard Lake St. Mary, seeking its third straight championship, entertains winless Highland Park St. Benedict (0-4) and the Eaglets (4-0) are expected to maintain their lead in the loop race.

Two other Northwest games have once-beaten Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows at St. Francis de Sales and Ferndale St. James at Royal Oak St. Mary.

Two Pontiac Bowlers Qualify for Nationals

Special to The Press

SAGINAW — Art Pearson and Shirley Pointer, familiar names in Pontiac bowling, qualified Sunday for the National All-Star Tournament next spring in St. Louis.

They were among five qualifiers at the Michigan East District Eliminations from Saginaw's Stardust Lanes.

Mrs. Pointer, a Huron Bowl employe and veteran local bowler, qualified for her second National All-Star Tournament with a 192 average for 16 games and second place behind Flint's Jeanette Robinson.

Mrs. Pointer had 3079 actual pins and 500 bonus pins (winning 10 of her head-to-head matches) for a better than 150-pin lead over the third-place alternate.

BIG JUMP

Pearson made the biggest impression among the men although he was the last qualifier. The Oakland University employe jumped from ninth to third by winning all 12 of his matches yesterday.

Pearson, 22, lives in Southfield but bowls in Pontiac. This is his first time to qualify for the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America glamour tournament.

He averaged 221 Sunday and 210 for the 24 games during the weekend. Don Rieman of Jackson and Frank Gulczinski of Saginaw were one-two.

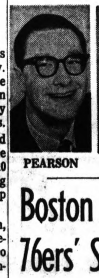
★ ★ ★

The Detroit qualifiers included: Syl Thiel, Rick Kendall. Bill Smith, Fred Vitali, Carl Klencon and Tony Puglie among the men; and Yvonne Barnes, Doris O'Brinski and Lorrene Curtis.



PEARSON POINTER

Upsets Keep Packer's Playoff Foe in Doubt

By the Associated Press

Doesn't anybody want to start the New Year with the Green Bay Packers for company?

The Dallas Cowboys, given a clear shot at nailing a Jan. 1 date with the Packers in the National Football League championship game, inadvertently backed off Sunday, bowing to Washington 34-31 on a Charley Gogolak field goal with eight seconds to play.

Neither St. Louis nor Cleveland, however, profited from the Dallas setback. Atlanta's surprising young Falcons upended the punchless Cards 16-10 and Philadelphia, sparked by Al Nelson's 100-yard touchdown burst, ended the Browns' title hopes 33-21.

WIN OR TIE

The Cowboys, assured of no worse than a first-place tie, can take their first division crown if second-place St. Louis stumbles against Cleveland Saturday. Should the Cards beat the Browns, Dallas must either win or tie at New York next Sunday to avert a playoff with St. Louis.

Green Bay clinched its second straight Western Conference title by downing Baltimore 14-10 Saturday and will be the visiting team in the NFL championship battle.

In Sunday's other action, Pittsburgh crushed the defenseless Giants 47-28; San Francisco drubbed Chicago 41-14 and Minnesota trounced Detroit 28-16.

Gogolak's 29-yard field goal decided a free-wheeling offensive duel between the Redskins, led by veteran passer Sonny Jurgensen, and the explosive Cowboys.

Boston Snaps 76ers' Streak

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, bidding for a ninth straight National Basketball Association title, face a do-it-yourself task and they're confident they can overtake the Philadelphia 76ers in the Eastern Division race.

The Celtics posted their sixth straight victory and snapped Philadelphia's 11-game winning streak by defeating Wilt Chamberlain & Co. for the second time in three meetings 117-103 Sunday night.

In the only other game played, the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Cincinnati Royals 119-118 on the West Coast as Jerry West scored a jump shot with 28 seconds to play. The loss was the seventh straight for the Royals.

The victory was the 21st in 26 games for the Celtics, but they still trail the 76ers by 3½ games. Philadelphia, which has lost to only one other club, boasts a fantastic 26-3 mark. The two rivals have seven regular season meetings left.

Highlanders Beat Schoolcraft Five

The Highlanders of Oakland Community College won their fourth straight basketball game Saturday night and avenged an earlier loss by trimming Schoolcraft CC, 84-74.

Down 40-35 at intermission, the Highland Lakes campus quintet moved ahead and then pulled away midway through the second half. The win boosted it above .500 at 4-3.

Backliners' John Olander and Ed Pruitt led the way for the Highlanders with strong assists from forwards Bob Adsit and Willie Craft.

Olander, from Farmington, hit 27 points for game scoring laurels. Ex-Pontiac Central cagers Pruitt and Craft had 19 and 12, respectively, with Craft also garnering 13 rebounds. Adsit (Waterford Township) hit 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds in his top performance of the campaign.

Auburn CC Five Suffers Losses in Two Games

Two weekend trips brought Oakland Community College's Auburn Hills Campus basketball defeats despite some excellent scoring by former Pontiac Central athlete Cedric Patterson.

Patterson had 56 points as the Nikes lost, 111-96, to Windsor University's freshmen Saturday and, 100-75, to Kellogg Community College Friday night.

Patterson's 29 at Windsor took game scoring honors over the winners' Ron Wydrinsky who had 26. Auburn's Bill Clugston (Berkley) hit 19 and Harold Reiser (Hazel Park) 17.

The Nikes are 2-5 and have lost three straight games.

Gardner 'Settles' Down

Goalie Moves Wings

NICK EDDY
Rookie Enters Lions' Den

DETROIT (UPI) — After the hectic past three days, little George Gardner is used to moving around.

And that's exactly what he did Sunday night — he moved in front of just about every shot the Toronto Maple Leafs took as he roused the Detroit Red Wings to a 4-1 victory in a National Hockey League game.

★ ★ ★

"Then I had a 10-hour trip to Montreal for last night's game before getting to Detroit."

"Well, I don't know," he grinned, "I could be in San Diego by tomorrow."

But Red Wings General Manager-Coach Sid Abel isn't about to ship out the rookie goaltender from the Pittsburg farmclub as long as Roger Crozier is being bothered by an attack of the flu.

He gave up five goals Saturday night but after a 10-hour trip and with Montreal firing nearly 50 shots on goal, he couldn't really be blamed.

TIP SHOT

Ironically, the young goalie played just one game with Detroit last season, also, and held Toronto to one goal.

Norm Ullman scored the first Detroit goal and Parker MacDonald, called up with Gardner from the Pittsburgh Saturday, scored the second.

Howe's last goal came with just 12 seconds left on the clock. He slapped the puck into an empty net after Toronto coach Punch Imlach had pulled his goalie.

The Wings, still looking for their first road win of the year, will meet the Rangers in New York on Wednesday and return to Olympia Stadium to face Boston on Thursday.

Palmer Takes Money Crown

Pairs With Nicklaus in PGA Team Win

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, favorite son of Latrobe, Pa., will be honored at a Chamber of Commerce banquet there today, and for openers he can state that he's won more money in one season than any golfer in history.

Palmer cracked the dollar mark Saturday after pairing with Jack Nicklaus to win the $50,000 first prize in the PGA National Team Championship, a tournament which set a record itself as the richest ever with purses totaling $275,000.

Palmer's $25,000 share of the purse boosted his earnings to $154,692 on the U.S. tour this year, enabling him to steal the one-year money crown from Nicklaus by some $346. Nicklaus won $154,346 two years ago and this year has amassed a total of $140,635.

And so far as official earnings go — money won in PGA — sanctioned tournaments only — the 26-year-old Nicklaus still is king with $140,752.

Surprising U. of M. Cagers Looking for Third Victory

From Our News Wires

Michigan's Wolverines, with a couple of surprising wins under their belts in five outings, will try for their third basketball win of the season when they entertain Butler tonight at Yost Fieldhouse in Ann Arbor.

Michigan State's Spartans romped to their fourth straight victory by routing Wichita State Saturday, 103-68, while University of Detroit's Titans were knocked off by Xavier, 104-89.

In those final 12 minutes, Stewart tossed in 16 points and finished with 22. The Wolverines took the lead (70-66) on a field goal by Jim Pitts and a pair of free throws by Stewart.

LEADS MSU

Matthew Aitch paced the Spartans with 25 points, a career high, and sophomore Lee Lafayette contributed 20. Coach John Bennington pulled his starters with 13 minutes left. MSU now takes 10 days off before returning to action.

TOP SCORER — Richard Green rolled a 625 at Huron Bowl yesterday and his handicap boosted the score to 698, best among the Huron bowlers who qualified for the Pontiac Open Bowling tournament.

317 Total Qualifiers

Bowlers Look to Tourney Finish

This constitutes a record 40 per cent of the total number of entries who hit the target score of 600 or better in three weeks of qualifying, as 137 qualified yesterday at the four sites participating.

None of the lists of qualifiers is official until averages are checked, and this officially will not be known until Friday.

Bowlers will be assigned to one of three squads for next Sunday morning's semi-finals, beginning at 9:00 a.m., 10;30 a.m. and noon.

At 1:00 p.m. the Actual's Invitational will be held at 300 Bowl, and at 3:00, the finals will get under way at 300 Bowl.

TOP SCORE STANDS

Yesterday, Dick Green led the qualifiers at Huron Bowl with a 698 total. This score did not however erase first week total of 742 by Wiley Keeth, which still stands as the top qualifying score of the tournament.

* * *

At 300 Bowl, Marv Teske led all qualifiers with a 723 total, while John Buniack hit 727 at Airway Lanes and Dick Stafford totalled 681 at Cooley Lanes.

The high game of tourney qualifying was turned in yesterday in a most unusual series by Andy Hernandez who started with 123, 161 and then 278 in his final game. He picked up a split in the 5th frame.

A trophy award goes to the top qualifier at each house for the overall 3-week qualifying period, but final decision here must also await check of averages.

The high qualifiers and early bird special prize will be made known Wednesday; the Actual's Invitational List on Thursday and the semi-final pairings on Friday.

These were yesterday's qualifiers:

U.S. Netter Is Upset; Ray Ruffels Victor

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., the No. 1 foreign seed, was upset today by Ray Ruffels, seeded eighth among the Australians, in the men's singles of the South Australian Tennis Championships.

Ruffels won the tension-packed third round men's singles match 6-0, 10-8, 3-6, 6-4.

Gusty winds hampered the players, especially the visitors, and Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico was the lone American to win his third-round men's singles match. Cliff Richey of Dallas, Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., and Allen Fox of Los Angeles all went down to defeat.

Pasarell eliminated Bill Bowrey of Australia 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1. Australian Owen Davidson ousted Richey 6-2, 8-6, 6-3. Fred Stolle, the No. 2 Australian seed, sidelined McManus 6-4, 6-0, 6-3. Australian Tony Roche disposed of Fox 10-8, 6-1, 6-2.

Americans Nancy Richey and Rosemary Casals posted third-round victories. Miss Richey, brother of Cliff, defeated Australia's Evonne Goolagong 6-1, 6-0 and Miss Casals, of San Francisco, beat Jan O'Neill of Australia 6-1, 1-6, 6-4.

Early in the fourth period Sweetan climaxed a 79-yard march, helped by two pass interference penalties, by running 15 yards for a touchdown and it was 28-16.

Jerry Rush, former Pontiac Central and Michigan State star, played most of the second half in place of Alex Karras and did an outstanding job.

Wheelright with a nine-yard scoring pass, Lou Kirouac kicked three field goals and Atlanta's defense held the sagging Cardinals touchdown-less until the final 64 seconds as the Falcons won their second game in a row and third of the season.

BROWN'S OUSTED

The Eagles eliminated Cleveland from the Eastern race, scoring three touchdowns — including Nelson's 100-yard gallop with a missed Lou Groza field goal try — in the second period. Sam Baker added four field goals as Philadelphia climbed into a third-place deadlock with the Browns.

Bill Nelsen fired two touchdown passes and Bill Asbury and rookie Dick Leftridge each ran for two scores in the Steelers' victory over a New York club that now has yielded 484 points — an all-time record.

Defensive backs Kermit Alexander and Alvin Randolph wrecked the Bears as San Francisco stayed in the running for second-place in the West. Alexander scored twice, going 14 yards with a fumble and 44 with a punt, while Randolph sped 94 yards with a pass theft for another touchdown.

The Packers won the West Saturday by overcoming a 10-7 Baltimore lead in the closing minutes and then stopping a final Colt drive when linebacker Dave Robinson pounced on a John Unitas fumble at the Green Bay 11.

Liberty Bowl to Miami, 14-7

By United Press International

A rugged Miami defense and Bill Miller's passes made the difference Saturday as the Hurricanes scored a come-from-behind 14-7 win over Virginia Tech in the eighth annual Liberty Bowl.

Miami, which already had scored regular-season wins over bowl-bound Georgia, South Cal, and Florida, fell behind early when Tech moved to a 7-0 lead on tailback Tommy Francisco's first-period touchdown plunge.

But then the Hurricane defense, whose stinginess broke school records this season, stiffened and quarterback Miller went to work.

OU Quintet Tops Jayvees From Calvin

Oakland University's basketball team pushed its record to 3-1 for the season by downing the Calvin Jayvees, 97-87, Saturday.

* * *

Four players hit in double figures for OU, led by Chuck Clark's 24 and Jon Blocher's 21. Clark also picked off 20 rebounds in the victory which saw Oakland take the lead to stay, 43-42, on Jay Shutt's bucket late in the first half.

The Calvin quint closed it to 81-78 in the second half but never gained the lead.

Calvin's 6-6 center Tom Exoo fouled out in the first half, while OU lost a pair of starters, Shutt and Dave Yennior with 10 minutes left in the game.

* * *

Mark Brasch, ex-St. Fred cager, hit two free throws with 23 seconds left to play to lead the OU junior varsity to a 65-62 win over Monroe Community College in the preliminary tilt.

Patriots Crunch Oilers to Keep Lead in East

Boston Wins, 38-14; Kansas City Edges Miami Crew, 19-18

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A van from a Buffalo radio station sat in the cold outside Rice Stadium, its electric sign hopefully flashing encouragement to the Houston Oilers, who were inside doing battle with the Boston Patriots.

★ ★ ★

It was a futile gesture. If Buffalo is going to get any help in overcoming the Patriots for the American Football League's Eastern Division championship, it will have to come from New York. The Oilers just weren't equal to the task.

★ ★ ★

Boston's 38-14 crunching of Houston was as solid a game as the Patriots have put together this season. They piled up 31 first downs and never had to punt. Quarterback Babe Parilli completed 15 passes for 173 yards and three touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

And Jim Nance, already the top ground gainer in the history of the league, wasn't exactly idle. The big fullback gained 146 of Boston's 185 yards on the ground including a 57-yard touchdown dash in the third quarter.

In other AFL games, Kansas City edged Miami, 19-18, San Diego crushed New York, 42-27, and Oakland took Denver, 28-10.

UCLA Has Intermission

Top Quintets Play

By the Associated Press

Unbeaten Texas Western, which, despite its national championship, has found itself crowded off college basketball's center stage by the new smash hit on the West Coast, gets its chance for the spotlight again this week.

The second-ranked Miners from El Paso, Tex., meet No. 6 New Mexico at home Friday and play Kansas at Chicago Saturday.

Meanwhile, top-ranked UCLA's Lew Alcindor and cast have an intermission until Dec. 22 when the Bruins meet Colorado State University at home.

Texas Western, playing on the road for the first time this season Saturday night, won its fifth straight by downing Southern Methodist 71-62 behind Dave Lattin's 21 points, but once again the rave notices went to UCLA.

Friday night, the Blue Devils tripled teamed Alcindor, and he scored just 19 points but passed off for many others as the Bruins won 88-54. Saturday, the sensational sophomore was only doubled teamed and scored 38. He scored 56 against Southern California in his varsity debut.

Pat Riley's two foul shots with only two seconds left gave third-ranked Kentucky a 118-116 victory over Northwestern at Evanston, Ill., in another key game Saturday night. The victory followed an overtime defeat by Illinois.

Two other ranked teams also had trouble before winning Saturday. No. 4 Louisville had to go two overtimes on its home court before beating Southern Illinois 70-66 and Cincinnati, No. 10, needed an extra period to edge Miami of Ohio 45-44 on its home floor.

★ ★ ★

The other three members of the Top Ten to see action — No. 5 Houston, New Mexico and No. 9 Brigham Young — won easily. No. 8 North Carolina was idle.

Houston smashed Hawaii 93-59, New Mexico trounced Texas Tech 80-59 and Brigham Young walloped St. Mary's of California 108-57. All three were home court victories.

Auto Stocks Buoyed

Market Rally Widens Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally widened its gains in active trading early this afternoon.

Auto stocks were buoyed by a statement from General Motors Chairman Frederic G. Donner who said the auto industry may be heading for one of its best years in history.

★ ★ ★

GM common spurted more than 2 points in an unusual show of strength. Ford advanced more than a point, Chrysler nearly a point, American Motors a fraction.

Oils were buoyed by an optimistic Wall Street estimate of earnings and produced a string of moderate gains.

BIG BLOCKS TRADED

Big blocks in a variety of issues were traded, mostly at higher prices. This was characteristic of typical "year-end rally" operations, brokers said.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.13 at 819.15, coming close to its Nov. 16 recovery high of 820.87.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 289.0 with industrials up 2.3, rails up .2 and utilities up .2.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF My mother, Buford J. Turnage, who passed away 2 years ago.
God gave me strength to bear it,
The courage to take Him;
But what it meant to lose her,
No one will ever know.
When everything seems to go wrong,
And I sit here all alone;
To my heart there comes a longing,
If she could just come home.

Can you qualify in Pontiac?

A marketing study just completed shows Pontiac is ready, and long overdue, for an AAMCO Transmission Center. Current registrations show 307,786 cars already in the county with an estimated 58 million dollars going for parts and repairs. Since most cars over two years old need some transmission work, an AAMCO center could possibly show annual earnings exceeding $50,000.

We are now seeking the one man in Pontiac to profit from this growing billion dollar market. No previous automotive experience is necessary.

The man who qualifies for the AAMCO transmission center will be completely trained in a four week intensive program. He'll learn every phase of the transmission business, including proven management and merchandising techniques and be backed by a year 'round advertising and promotion program. If you can invest about $17,500 . . . AAMCO will put you in business, and show you the way to a rewarding future. Call or wire collect, or mail coupon below.

NY Mayor Ducks City Woes, Can't Duck Quips at Benefit

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Mayor Lindsay is terribly busy with city problems, but he got to the AGVA Youth Fund's tribute to Marty Allen & Steve Rossi at the Americana . . . where toastmaster Joey Adams called him "One of the funniest mayors we ever had," adding, "Some of the things you do at City Hall, when you make it there, are pretty funny."

WILSON

"Thank you, Joey Adams, you're improving," said the Mayor.

The Mayor added that he was naming Marty Allen "Commissioner of Hair Pollution." There was kidding throughout. Joey Adams alleged that when Allen & Rossi's first film was seen at Paramount, an executive said, "Get that organ grinder out of here and make him take his monkey with him."

★ ★ ★

Some quickies: Soupy Sales to Judge Di Falco: "Hey, Judge, you're funny! Not tonight! In court yesterday" . . . Joe Franklin: "We hope Allen & Rossi never get their own TV show. We don't want to lose them" . . . Steve Rossi, in a serious mood, "We should all help the youth of today so we don't have to cope with the problems of the adults of tomorrow."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Harry Hershfield celebrated his 81st birthday—and got a standing ovation, his second of the day . . . Ed Sullivan's wife Sylvia says her two yearling trotters are better off than she is: "They're spending the winter in Florida" . . . Secret Stuff: A playwright has taken over a show trying out on the road because the regular director's too often fuzzy . . . One of the most beautiful girls here is hurt because the singer of her choice no longer loves her. (And his wife feels the same way.)

Shapely Susan Hart has been tagged by London producers to get the same sexy buildup given Ursula Andress and Raquel Welch . . . David Merrick's aides laugh off the rumor that he might never open "Breakfast at Tiffany's," but just preview it forever . . . Julie Newmar in her glasses was almost incognito at El Morocco with Sam Sperber . . . A best-seller authoress and her publisher are having a spectacular breaking-off of relations . . . Dagmar was never so complimented as when Mayor Lindsay told the accordion joke about her.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: George Gobel described a night club orchestra: "They were so loud they made my ears water."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "What this country really needs is someone who knows what this country really needs."

EARL'S PEARLS: To millions of Americans who have been saving for a rainy day, Christmas is the monsoon season.

It's Spreading

Travelitis Epidemic

"It is carried by an organism called prosperity," says Dr. Scarlett, "and is due to a highly contagious virus which is intensified by jet propulsion.

★ ★ ★

AMA COMMENTS

"With another season of winter cold at hand, millions of Americans are dreaming again about going south for the winter — 'for their health'.

"This brings up once again a question that has long puzzled physicians — what effect does climate actually have on health?

★ ★ ★

So much for weather and health.

CHANGE OF SENSE

Dr. Scarlett addressed himself more to that periodic frenzy which has less to do with a change of climate than with a change of scene.

"The advance symptoms," he said, "may be seen in an intense restlessness which causes people to agglutinate in the offices of tourist agencies, to indulge feverishly in the purchase of apparel not indigenous to their habitat, and to haunt camera shops where they acquire all sorts of impedimenta."

"When the disease reaches its height," according to Scarlett, "There is the spectacle of hordes of people pushing about in every direction, like a number of confused armies in combat on a vast dusty plain.

★ ★ ★

"The resulting babel of voices and tongues surpasses anything the ancient Tower of Babel ever experienced. As the epidemic subsides, the sufferers from the disease, called by epidemiologists 'tourists', return to their separate places in a physically and financially exhausted state."

ECHOES OF DELIRIUM

"Convalescence," Scarlett wrote, "is marked by a curious urge to show to their families and circles of friends a vast array of colored slides . . . interspersed with echoes of the recent delirium — how bad the water is in France, how good the wine is in Florence, how exciting the bullfight is, what poverty and dirt there is abroad, and so on."

Scarlett has this word of comfort for victims of travelitis furiosus:

Model of Hull for Sub Shown

The vehicle is a 49-foot submarine which will be able to descend as much as 3,500 feet to remove the crew from a disabled sub resting on the bottom, Lockheed said.

The rescue sub will take on 24 crewmen. An inner hull will be made of steel, built to withstand great pressure. Each of the spheres will be interconnected. Two of the spheres are to house the rescued crewmen and the third will be for the pilot, copilot and medical corpsman.

New Pact OK'd; Carboloy Plant Strike Is Ended

WARREN (AP) — Some 1,100 workers ended an eight-week strike against General Electric's Carboloy plant in Warren Sunday, accepting a compromise settlement over two workers fired for picket line violence.

Approval of the agreement and a new labor contract was voted at a ratification meeting of the United Auto Workers union Local 771.

A company spokesman said the three-year contract calls for three pay increases — four per cent immediately, and an additional three percent next October and in September 1968. In addition, he said, there will be two cost-of-living increases and improvements in fringe benefits.

The company said some workers would be back on the job Monday, with the entire work force expected to be called back in two or three days.

The UAW first went on strike against Carboloy, a major manufacturer of industrial diamonds for tools, Oct. 3, but workers returned to their jobs in response to a plea from President Johnson. They walked out again Oct. 17.

When two of the workers allegedly hit company officials, they were fired. The union insisted that the firings be submitted to arbitration, but GE refused.

Gallbladders Big News Now

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Gallbladder publicity connected with people in high places — President Lyndon B. Johnson in October 1965 and now former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—has sent a number of lesser gallbladder patients to their doctors for advice.

Gen. Eisenhower was admitted to Walter Reed Army Medical Center here yesterday.

Science Service interviewed Dr. Robert E. Coffey, director of surgery at Georgetown Hospital here, about the chances of recovery among elderly persons who have operations for gallstones. Gen. Eisenhower is 76.

"Recovery chances are excellent," Dr. Coffey said. "It is wise to have the surgery unless there has been a recent heart attack or some other condition that would make it dangerous.

If a person is diabetic it is particularly necessary to have the gallbladder removed in case of inflammation or stones."

Photos Tell Life Story

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

David Douglas Duncan is unique among photojournalists, that vanishing breed of independent, rugged, skillful photographer-writers adept at covering any unusual or dangerous assignment anywhere on the globe.

At hand is a colorful, weighty volume, the successful conclusion of his longest — but self-imposed-assignment: his autobiography. "Yankee Nomad . . . A Photographic Odyssey" by David Douglas Duncan was conceived in 1951, started in 1960 and finally finished by devoting 18-hour work days to it for the past couple of years.

Published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston ($23), the book was printed and bound in Holland by craftsmen under Duncan's supervision. He had also made all the photographic prints to final size, selected the type, designed the layout and supervised production.

I first heard of Duncan's photographic talent from my youngest brother, Max Desfor, when he was covering the Pacific phase of World War II for the Associated Press.

In the later part of 1950, Duncan's name was mentioned often by Max when they shared the hardships and problems of photographing the Korean War in the bitter months of winter cold and U.S. retreat.

When I met Duncan years later, it was like meeting an old family friend. He has a striking personality, is individualistic in dress and thoroughly engaging in conversation with total recall of past events.

As a magazine photojournalist, he roamed the world with a penetrating camera eye and intelligent mind, photographing people, problems and philosophy of places ranging alphabetically from Afghanistan to Viet Nam.

Once in a while he settled long enough to probe deeply into subjects that held his attention like the art treasures at the Kremlin and the private world and unseen paintings of Pablo Picasso. These pictorial probings became best-selling art books.

Duncan turned up again recently at the 1966 Photokina in Cologne, Germany. He joined my breakfast table and, like a proud poppa with his newest offspring, showed us a just-off-the-press copy of his personal story.

Not the least of his achievements was his ability to retrieve all the pictures he had shot for Life Magazine, the U.S. Marine Corps and private and museum explorations . . . probably a half million negatives in all.
