Salk Vaccine Whips Dreaded Crippling Polio

From Parke, Davis Laboratory

Rochester Supplies Polio Vaccine

Major supplier of the Salk-type vaccine to be used in the polio immunizations scheduled this month is Parke, Davis & Co., which produces the vaccine at its polio unit in Rochester.

The Oakland County installation was among the first to begin production of the vaccine in August, 1953, and turned out most of the supply for last year's field tests.

Dr. Fred Stimpert of Watkins Lake, director of biological research at Parke, Davis' Detroit laboratories, said his staff has improved considerably on early methods of manufacturing the vaccine.

He said a total of 140 persons are now engaged solely in vaccine production at the firm's Rochester polio unit, and that a new building had been erected to provide additional space for the project.

Aiding Dr. Stimpert in production and development of new methods for making the vaccine are Dr. I. W. McLean, his assistant, and Dr. A. E. Hook, superintendent in charge of the polio unit at Rochester.

In manufacture of the vaccine, polio virus is grown in the cells of treated monkey kidney tissue. The living virus is harvested, killed with a dilute formaldehyde solution, and the resulting fluid, after being filtered, is bottled.

Exhaustive five-week tests are conducted with each new batch of vaccine to insure its purity and effectiveness.

These tests are carried out with monkeys, mice, guinea pigs and other laboratory animals.

The vaccine works by exciting the human body to produce virus-killing antibodies which immediately attack any stray polio virus which finds its way into the body.

Dr. Stimpert also said the firm plans to enlarge its facilities for producing the vaccine, in order to supply an expected heavy demand from doctors and hospitals.

He emphasized, however, that Parke, Davis cannot begin marketing the vaccine until a license is issued by the National Institute of Health.

This license is expected to follow quickly final approval of the vaccine as a result of the report on last year's field tests.

As soon as the license is issued, Parke, Davis will begin supplying the vaccine to doctors, hospitals and other medical agencies, for use in prevention of polio among adults as well as children.

Current estimates are that huge supplies of the vaccine will be needed to satisfy the demand of thousands who will seek protection from polio, particularly if further studies show the vaccine has a lasting effect.

Already, Dr. Robert H. Baker of Pontiac, president of the Michigan State Medical Society, has proposed a voluntary priority system for allocating the commercial supply of the vaccine.

He has urged that whatever amount of the vaccine is left after the mass immunizations of first and second graders should be used to protect other groups which have a high rate of susceptibility to the disease.

These are children below school age who have passed their first birthdays, school children in grades 3 through 8, and pregnant women.

Cost for a 3-shot series from a hospital or physician will be $6, plus the doctor's fee for administering the vaccine.

Give Report on Vaccine

Doctor Believes Discovery Will Eventually Spell Doom of Infantile Paralysis

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Salk polio vaccine is safe, effective and potent, it was officially announced today.

The vaccine was found 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio in tests last year, anxious parents were told today by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh immediately declared he is sure the vaccine is potentially almost 100 per cent effective and can bring complete triumph over polio and its lieutenants of terror and tragedy.

Dr. Francis' official report declared the vaccine had produced an "extremely successful effect" among children with bulbar polio, the most dangerous type.

There is no doubt that children now can be vaccinated successfully to end the threat of polio.

The vaccine was found incredibly safe and with only .4 of 1 per cent of children suffering minor reactions.

So called "major reactions" were almost completely lacking.

The time of protection from the vaccine appears reasonably good.

"The effect was maintained with but moderate decline after five months."

A tense, emotional scene in the newsroom greeted announcement of the Salk polio vaccine's success.

It was a madhouse as newspaper men and radio and television announcers reached for their copies of Dr. Francis' historic report.

There were more than 200 persons jammed into the rectangular newsroom of the plush Rackham Building on the University of Michigan campus.

Photographers and motion picture men stood on chairs, tables — anything — to get their shots.

Dr. Salk's voice was hurried and terse after he learned today that his six-year battle against the polio virus had won an initial, startling victory.

The 40-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist had advance notice of the results of the long-awaited Francis report only hours earlier.

"The way I feel — I can't say anything about that now. I haven't time to talk about the whole thing. After this, there just isn't any time," Salk said.

The Francis report showed paralysis occurred in 33 children who received the vaccine in areas where children were given either the real vaccine or dummy shots. None died.

Just one child given the vaccine died of polio and this death followed removal of tonsils two days after his second shot of vaccine in an area where polio was already prevalent.

Dr. Salk urged that children this year be given only two shots of vaccine in order to step up the effectiveness of the vaccine. He

Opponents of Toll Roads Say Program Too Costly

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

The chairman of a group battling planned construction of toll highways in Michigan last night predicted the "rent-a-road" program could throw the state's entire travel system out of balance unless quashed.

Robert VanderKloot's remarks opened a meeting of the Citizens' Protective Assn. of Mich., Inc., attended by some 400 enthusiasts packed into a Devon Gables' dining hall.

Present for part of the meeting was the toll road authority's chief engineer, E. Thomas Baker. He said he wanted to show the group a 25-foot strip map of the route through Oakland County.

VanderKloot said Baker and two aides, who hadn't informed the association of their coming, could sit in on the regular meeting, then answer questions at its conclusion.

But the three turnpike men left shortly before the 2½ hour regular session concluded.

During the meeting, group members presented figures which they said show the turnpike will be overly costly and is designed longer than necessary in order to draw enough vehicles to pay for itself.

They asserted the revenue bonds to finance the close to $200 million dollar utility would carry a 3½ per cent interest rate, compared to slightly under 2 per cent for regular State Highway - Department - issued notes.

It was alleged the higher interest rate would cost Michigan more and provide a "tidy profit" for eastern financiers.

The association started with a small group of Bloomfield Township and Franklin Village residents fearful the turnpike would hurt property values.

The enlarged group now plans a two-pronged offensive against the Michigan Turnpike Authority (MTA).

First, they hope to mass 1,500 to 2,000 fellow fighters against the turnpike at Lansing April 20 in support of a bill to dissolve the MTA introduced by State Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak).

County Asks Record Budget

Board of Supervisors Meets Monday to Give Tentative Approval

The largest Oakland County budget in history was submitted to the Board of Supervisors this morning to cover 1956 governmental operations.

The board will meet next Monday to give tentative approval to the $7,826,763 budget, some $1,136,354 higher than this year's.

Of this, $6,063,512 is expected to be raised through taxation, with the remaining $1,763,251 to come from service fees.

A large increase is slated in salaries which are hiked from $3,203,677 to $3,743,321, according to Chairman of the Board of Auditors Robert Y. Moore.

Expense, excluding salaries, of operating 22 departments, 5 institutions and 10 special funds are set at $3,417,263, compared with $2,888,466 this year.

Some 22 appropriations will be made to various agencies and services which the county offers or helps support.

Largest single allotment is $325,000 to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. Another $135,000 is recommended to help operate state institutions serving Oakland.

After the board gives the expected tentative budget approval Monday, it will be up to the Tax Allocation Board to decide what tax rate is needed to bring in the necessary amount.

The budget is not given final approval until the board's September meeting.

Major Leagues' 'Big Start' Is Hit by Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain put a damper today on the full-scale opening of the major league baseball season, forcing cancellation of three games and threatening others.

Cold showers which swept through the East forced postponement until Wednesday of the champion New York Giants' opener against the Phillies at Philadelphia; Brooklyn's game with Pittsburgh at Ebbets Field and the New York Yankees' American League debut against Washington at Yankee stadium.

Showers Predicted for Pontiac Area

April showers have already brought green to the grass. More rain is predicted for today with showers and thunderstorms tomorrow.

Low tonight is expected to be 54-58 degrees, high Wednesday 66-70.

Temperatures in downtown Pontiac yesterday ranged from a low of 48 to high of 65. This morning at 8 o'clock, the thermometer registered 50 degrees rising to 64 by 1 p.m.

Congress Eyes Campaign Costs

Senate Group Hearing Party Chairmen's Bids to Raise Ceilings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican and Democratic party national chairmen tell Congress today what spending ceilings they think should be fixed for presidential and congressional election campaigns.

Both Leonard W. Hall, the Republican, and Paul M. Butler, the Democrat, seemed likely to endorse a boost in present limits widely described as outmoded and meaningless.

A Senate elections subcommittee headed by Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) plans six days of hearings this month.

Hennings wants a 12-million-dollar ceiling on spending by a national committee in the 1956 presidential election, as compared with three million under present law.

His measure would fix a limit of 20 cents for each vote cast for the office of president in any of the three most recent elections; the peak was 61 million ballots cast in 1952.

The measure would fix a range of $50,000 to $250,000 for spending by a candidate for the Senate in both primary and general elections, as compared with $25,000 now in the general election.

The range for a candidate for the House would be $12,500 to $25,000, as compared with $5,000 now.

Two Detroit Groups Listed as Subversive

WASHINGTON (INS)—Two Detroit groups were among 21 added yesterday by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. to the list of subversive organizations.

The list, used to guide government officials responsible for the security program, included the Johnson-Forest Group (also known as Johnsonites) and the Michigan Council of Peace, both with headquarters in Detroit.

Almost Became Lawyer

Salk's Devotion to Work Makes Vaccine Possible

ANN ARBOR (INS)—"How many hours a week do you work?" Dr. Jonas E. Salk was asked.

"As many hours as necessary," came the quiet reply as a characteristic shy, quick smile lighted his normally serious face for a moment.

The remark illustrates the single-mindedness and absolute devotion of this 40-year-old man who today may very well be the most important man in the world on the basis of the Ann Arbor announcement of the effectiveness of his polio vaccine.

"As many hours as necessary" usually turns out to be from before dawn until after nightfall.

While hard work is the Salk "system," it is grounded on a firm faith that he has chosen the right methods to reach his objective—the conquest of polio.

That faith was underlined when he gave shots of his "killed" virus vaccine to his wife, Donna, and their three small boys, Peter, 11; Darrell, 8, and Jonathan, 5, long before the vaccine was used in the mass test last summer.

Those injections, incidentally, provided one of the few daytime moments Dr. Salk has been able to spend with his sons in recent years, although he is a devoted and affectionate father.

In fact, only by cutting off all social ties has Dr. Salk been able to see his family at all.

Friends and associates say that the gains against polio made possible by Dr. Salk are the result of "the right man being in the right place at the right time."

The quiet, intense scientist started out to be a lawyer, considered a career in dentistry and then went to medical school.

While Dr. Salk himself makes it plain that his vaccine research was built on foundations laid by many other scientists, he was the first to achieve a serum judged good enough to be used in medical history's greatest mass "field trial."

Old family friends of Salk recall that Jonas always was a cool and "objective" boy. The son of a garment worker, Jonas grew up on the crowded streets of the middle class East Bronx in New York City.

In public high school, his academic record was good but not remarkable. He never took a science course until his freshman year in college, and he was uncertain about his future career.

After being graduated from the College of the City of New York (CCNY), Salk went to New York University Medical School. And there he was recognized as an outstanding researcher and student.

Dr. Salk's associates always stress three characteristics about him—his scientific knowledge and research skill; his determination and his drive.

But Dr. Salk's friends insist that a picture of a "machine-like man" is not a fair one. They explain:

"He has a lovely wife and three fine young boys and he likes to spend every minute he can with them.

"But he always has felt there is so much to do and so little time to do it in."

Williams Plans Near East Trip

Leaving on Thursday for 23-Day Tour; Due Back May 5

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams will be off Thursday on a 23-day trip to the Near East.

He expects to return to Lansing about May 5 or 6.

Williams will leave Detroit Thursday for New York where personal business will occupy him Friday. On Saturday, he will attend the testimonial dinner in Washington, D. C., for speaker Sam Rayburn and will be briefed by the State Department for his Near Eastern tour.

Williams will leave Idlewild Airport Monday going via London to Istanbul where he will spend Tuesday and Wednesday in Turkey.

April 21 Williams will fly from Istanbul to Beirut in Lebanon and go thence by car to Damascus on April 22, Amman in Jordon April 23 and Jerusalem and Bethlehem on April 24.

Williams will spend April 25 in Lebanon and then go to Tel Aviv, capital of Israel, to participate in the Israel independence day celebration.

UM's Francis Taught Dr. Salk

Polio Serum Evaluator Is Proud of Work Done by Brightest Student

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A proud professor made an historic report to the world today on the work of his brightest student.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. delivered the long-awaited "evaluation report" on how safe and effective against polio is the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk.

When Salk was a young student at New York University, one professor from whom he received both inspiration and instruction was Dr. Francis. And when Francis joined the University of Michigan faculty Salk went there to study under him, from 1942 to 1947.

Francis, 54, is a world-famous medical research scientist in the field of epidemics. He has received many honors and awards for his work on influenza and the common cold, as well as infantile paralysis.

His colleagues at the University of Michigan say that although he is a small man physically, one of the main reasons he was chosen for the important job of evaluating the polio vaccine tests is that "he can't be pushed around."

The doctor is known as a fearless and intense researcher. He becomes aggressive under pressure; his tongue sharpens and his usually soft voice becomes gravel-pitched and angry.

Dr. Francis is a congenial family man. He has a wife, Dorothy, and two children, Mary Jane, 18, and Thomas Francis III, 15.

The doctor is a native of Gas City, Ind. He obtained his bachelor of science degree at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa., and his M. D. at Yale Medical School in 1925. He came to the University of Michigan in 1942.

$10 Million Spent to Develop Vaccine

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Every penny of the vaccine cost came directly from the American people, by their "March of Dimes" gifts.

Last spring's mass testing cost $7,500,000. The evaluation which was announced today cost $890,000. Scientific development of the vaccine cost around $1,000,000 and various miscellaneous expenses brought the total up to $10,000,000.

F.D.R. Affliction Made Conquest of Polio Possible

ANN ARBOR (UP)—The official report on the value of the Salk anti-polio vaccine was made on the 10th anniversary of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt—and that was no coincidence.

Roosevelt's own affliction with the crippling disease made possible the years of expensive scientific research which culminated with the vaccine.

He was founder of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. "Birthday balls"—his birthday—have raised many millions for polio care and research.

Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation since its inception and once Roosevelt's law partner, has always been inspired by "My friend Frank."

It was O'Connor who saw to it that today's announcement was made today—and was a commemoration of his friend's memory.

Where Would He Hide?

Stevenson Rips Policy in Asia

Adlai Doesn't Believe in Risking War Over Quemoy, Matsus

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says the United States has put itself in a position in Asia where it faces "another damaging and humiliating retreat, or else the hazard of war."

He called for a joint declaration by the free nations condemning the use of force in the 100-mile-wide strait between Nationalist Formosa and Communist China.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, in a nationwide radio broadcast last night, said a "deadend policy" of the Eisenhower administration put the United States in its present position in Asia.

The administration's "policy of extravagant words" in the Far Eastern situation, he declared, "has alarmed our friends a good deal more than it has deterred the aggressors."

"The tragedy is that the possibility of war just now seems to hinge upon Quemoy and Matsu, small islands that lie almost as close to the coast of China as Staten Island does to New York," he said.

Figures Show Effectiveness of Salk Vaccine

ANN ARBOR (INS) — Here is what the figure of 80-90 per cent effectiveness for the Salk vaccine is based on:

Out of 440,000 children receiving the three shots, 71 of them got paralytic polio.

Out of 210,000 who received the dummy water solution shot, 115 contracted paralytic polio.

Out of 1,080,680 who were in an observation group, 330 developed paralytic polio.

Fifteen of the non-Salk vaccinated children died of polio—four from the dummy shot group and 11 from the observation group.

One Salk vaccine inoculated child died. This death followed a tonsillectomy performed two days after the injection of the vaccine in an area where polio was already prevalent.

Four Men Injured as Car Overturns

Four men were injured, none seriously, when their car overturned on M59 near Shoman road yesterday, according to Waterford Township Police.

Treated for cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital were the driver, Clark E. Tipton, 26, Milford; Joseph R. Sroka, 34, Hamtramck; Edward St. Aubin, 26, of Mt. Clemens; and Deo Ledlow, 36, of 434 Erwin Ave., Pontiac.

Witnesses told police Tipton was attempting to pass another car when he apparently lost control and overturned in the roadway.

V-Day for Polio

Salk Vaccine Will Be Made Available to Millions as Soon as It Is Licensed

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Today is V-day over polio and its lieutenants of terror and tragedy.

Some 440,000 children received the actual vaccine, 210,000 the dummy shots. More than a million others had nothing, but were studied to see what happened to them in a polio year.

Dr. Thomas Francis and his staff assembled all the reports, learning which children took sick, which were paralyzed, which had received the vaccine.

Blood tests were made by 27 laboratories to measure antibodies from the vaccine and to test for evidence of virus in the blood or stools of children who had been diagnosed as having polio. All this had to be drawn into one final, meaningful report.

Even before Francis spoke, the answers were available to the most critical questions parents could ask if the vaccine was found practical:

How much and when?

The vaccine must first be approved and licensed by the National Institutes of Health. That should come very quickly; vaccinations could start in some places in two weeks or less, in others as early as April 18.

Enough vaccine for up to 30 million complete courses—each course consisting of three shots—is being produced by six drug firms.

Some nine million vaccinations will be supplied free by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis—at a cost of nine million dollars in March of Dimes monies—to offer free shots for all children in the first and second grades of all public, parochial and private schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

The free vaccine will also be offered to children in third grades who took part in the big mass testing.

The rest will be sold by the drug firms for administration by doctors to private patients.

Cost?

One firm is selling three shots of vaccine for $4.20; others have announced prices slightly higher. On top of that will be the doctors' fee for administering it.

Priority?

Several medical societies urged the vaccine go first to children aged 1 through the first grade with the second highest priority to children of ages through the fifth grade and thirdly to pregnant women. The aim — hit polio hardest by inoculating those most susceptible.

Adults?

A vaccine successful in children would be successful in adults. Adults have less need for it. By about age 18, most of us have been exposed already to one or more of the three dangerous types of virus and have become immune.

What is the vaccine?

A red liquid containing billions of dead viruses, of all three types, which can cause paralysis in humans. The killed viruses cannot cause sickness, but can stimulate the receiver to make antibodies. The vaccine has been triple-tested for safety and for potency.

How long does it protect?

Only time can answer. There are hopes it might be for years, perhaps requiring occasional booster shots.

How was it found?

In the labors of many scientists. Five separate landmarks helped make the vaccine possible.

Discovery in 1909 by Dr. Karl Landsteiner that virus causes polio.

Discovery in 1949 by Dr. John F. Enders and Dr. Thomas H. Weller, of Harvard, and Frederick C. Robbins, of Western Reserve University, that polio virus can be grown in test tubes containing monkey kidney tissues. This meant vast quantities of virus could be grown and harvested. For this discovery, they won a Nobel Prize.

Determination in 1951 by a big team of researchers that only three types of virus cause paralytic human polio. This cost $1,190,000 in March of Dime funds. There's no need to worry about polio virus that causes fever or aches but never paralysis.

Detection in 1951 by Dr. Dorothy Horstman, of Yale, and Dr. David Bodian, Johns Hopkins University, that virus can exist in the blood stream before it invades the nerves. This meant antibodies in the blood could intercept and stop the virus before it caused real sickness or paralysis.

Demonstration in 1952 by Dr. William McD. Hammon, University of Pittsburgh, that G.G., or gamma globulin, borrowed from people who had become immune to polio could help stop polio if given in time. The borrowed antibodies didn't last very long. But this work showed relatively small amounts of antibodies could prevent paralytic polio.

All this helped pave the way to demonstration in 1953 by Dr. Salk that a vaccine of killed virus could stimulate antibodies to a great degree. The answer as to whether these prevented polio had to come from the big field trials.

Future?

Research may well improve this vaccine, or discover better ones made out of living, but altered, virus. If a vaccine made of killed virus works against polio, then vaccines of dead virus may lead to better control over other diseases.

Research still is needed to learn how polio spreads and to fill in gaps in human knowledge about this mysterious disease.

Rescue 3 Crewmen of Crashed Airliner

SINGAPORE (AP) — The British navy reported that three Indian crewmen of a crashed airliner were rescued by a coastal ship today in the South China Sea.

Fifteen persons were still missing, including eight Communist Chinese officials, a North Vietnamese and two Polish journalists — all bound for the African-Asian conference in Indonesia.

The survivors were reported suffering slight injuries.

The four-engine Indian Constellation disappeared Monday night after sending three distress signals. British Royal Air Force fliers sighted the wreckage and empty lifejackets off the Great Natuna Islands, some 200 miles northeast of Singapore, earlier today.

The Constellation Kashmir Princess was one of two Air India International planes the Peiping government had chartered to fly its delegation to the meeting opening in Indonesia next week.

The second, a four-engine Skymaster, will carry Premier Chou En-lai and other top delegates from Kunming, China, over the Himalayas to Rangoon, Burma, tomorrow.

Foes of Toll Roads Hit Program Cost

his measure at 7:30 p.m. in the Senate chambers.

As its second front, the group hopes to secure sufficient cash to fight the MTA in the courts should legislative attempts to abolish the authority fail.

Chairman VanderKloot said, "In 1953 when the MTA was set up it looked good at first glance. It seemed to provide a method for building superhighways without increasing taxes by using private funds paid by toll road users to retire revenue bonds.

"But on closer examination, the plan is revealed as no cure-all."

The latest figure as to cost of the Flat Rock-Saginaw route is 186 million dollars, said VanderKloot. "The MTA act supposedly states that revenue bonds issued to cover this cost would not make the state responsible to pay them off if tolls could not.

"But attorneys consulted by us are of the opinion that Michigan would have to make any toll-shortages good."

The authority act says the bonds would be paid off within 24 years and then the highway would become a freeway, the chairman stated. Many toll facilities built in other parts of the country have not been made freeways, he declared.

"The MTA apparently has the power to refinance the bonds and continue to charge tolls indefinitely. Many such roads in the east have paid for themselves several times over. But they are continued as rental facilities and the money is used to build more pay-as-you-ride highways."

As more turnpikes are built, freeways must be designed to feed cars into them so they can obtain sufficient revenue. "Thus freeways are built to supply toll roads, not built where they are needed."

The impending hike in Michigan gas and weight taxes to get money for road building plus the ripening federal plan to step-up interstate road construction make the need for toll roads here "old fashioned," VanderKloot declared.

Existing roads between Toledo and Bay City are 150 miles long, he stated, while the turnpike "would wind 180 miles to get betwen the same two points."

Toll roads, allowing relatively few commercial establishments along their frontage, lower property values for about a mile on either side, the chairman said.

A free superhighway over about the same route as the proposed turnpike would actually raise property values, he asserted. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has said such a route has been planned by his department.

Jordan H. Stover, chairman of the association's fact-finding committee, said, "A toll-free express highway will cost from $700,000 to $1,000,000 per mile, compared with the MTA's estimate of $1,250,000 per mile as the toll road cost—yet will be built to identical highway engineering standards for traffic safety and smooth flow."

A freeway, he stated, would carry 50 per cent more traffic than the toll road "because it will have more frequent access and exit facilities to permit short-trip as well as long-trip traffic."

If the federal highway program passes Congress, Stover said, at least 75 per cent of the freeway cost would come from federal funds. A freeway would be planned to fit into long-range state and local road programs, whereas the toll route would conflict with them, he charged.

Chairman of the Dearborn City Plan Commission Irving ImOberstag said his city (which the toll road would run through) has started court action to block issuance of $13,000,000 in promissory notes by the MTA.

The authority is attempting to issue the notes to obtain cash so condemnation proceedings can be started.

The group's treasurer, Robin Morton, appealed for donations to build up a fund for legal fees. John Poole, of Bloomfield Hills, has been retained as the association's legal consultant.

Ann Arbor Agog Over Polio Report

ANN ARBOR (INS)—The quiet university town of Ann Arbor was turned into a coaxial circus today as the greatest medical show on earth got under way.

Television camermen and college presidents, news reporters and epidemiologists, took over the University of Michigan campus to hear a portly scientist read an encyclopedic statistical evaluation of the Salk polio vaccine.

A massed bank of TV cameras focussed on Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. as he mounted the lecturn in august Rackham Hall to deliver a bulky 100-page report on the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine in preventing all three types of paralytic polio.

Fire Sears 1,640 Acres

LANSING (AP)—Fire destroyed 1,640 acres of Michigan forests and grasslands last week, the State Conservation Department said today. So far this year, fires have burned 2,010 acres in the state, the department said. Last year, total losses were 3,884 acres, a record low.

MRS. HARRY E. BALL

Lifetime Resident Succumbs Monday

Mrs. Harry E. (Blanche M.) Ball, 58, of 110 Gladstone Place, died at her home yesterday after an illness of six months.

Born May 14, 1896 in Pontiac, she was the daughter of Clarence E. and Catherine Craig Bigelow and married here May 9, 1917.

Mrs. Ball had lived all her life in Pontiac where she has been a member of the First Congregational Church and a former member of the Pontiac Rebecca Lodge. She was a graduate of Pontiac Business College.

Surviving are her husband, owner of H. E. Ball Motor Freight, three children, Clarence E., Donald H. and Roy E. Ball, all of Pontiac, and two grandchildren.

Service will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home with the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor of her church officiating. Burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Cecil Skinner

Service will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Pursley Funeral Home for Mrs. Cecil (Marzee M.) Skinner, 52, of A Arcadia Ct. The Rev. David Mortensen of the Marimont Baptist Church will officiate with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Skinner died at her home Sunday after a four-month illness.

Mrs. William J. Webster

Funeral for Mrs. William (Martha J.) Webster, 72, of 1925 Maddy Lane, Keego Harbor, was held today at 3 p.m. from All Saints Episcopal Church with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Suriving are a daughter, Mrs. Margaret L. Sage of Elizabeth Lake, a son, Clergue W. Webster of Sylvan Lake, six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Phillip Jacobs of Sault St. Marie, Mrs. Myrtle Hall of San Francisco, Calif. and a brother, James F. Morrison of Newberry.

said the shots should be spaced two to four weeks apart with the third one delayed for at least seven months afterward.

Dr. Salk said he finds the best protection comes when the shots are spaced this way instead of being given all within five weeks as was done last year.

He said some variations in the vaccination results were apparently due to some bad or impotent batches of vaccine.

Salk also urged that children vaccinated last year be given a booster shot as soon as the vaccine is available.

Licensing of the vaccine by the National Institute of Health is expected today to make possible a quick beginning of the huge vaccination program.

It is estimated there will be enough vaccine for 30 million children, but if Dr. Salk's recommendation of two shots instead of three immediately is followed this would make possible innoculation of 45 million children.

Dr. Francis revealed his report at a meeting of 400 scientists and doctors.

Out of 1,800,000 children in the test program, 1,013 cases of polio developed.

In areas where the vaccine and dummy shots were used interchangeably 428 out of 749,236 came down with polio.

In observed control areas where only second graders were inoculated 585 of 1,080,680 children developed polio.

Of children receiving dummy shots 115 became paralyzed.

In the areas where vaccine was used on some and others merely observed 38 children became paralyzed as opposed to 330 who did not get the vaccine.

Four children who received dummy shots died of polio as against none of those vaccinated in areas where dummy shots and vaccine were used interchangeably.

In areas where it was known that children received vaccine not one died while there were 11 deaths among children who were being merely observed.

The vaccine protected well against outbreaks of polio within families.

Only one out of 223 vaccinated children developed polio from family contacts as against eight out of 244 who received dummy shots.

The Day in Birmingham

2 Receive Oaths of Office; Renfrew Renamed Mayor

BIRMINGHAM — The new look took effect last night as Mrs. Florence H. Willett, took her oath of office as the first female city commissioner since 1933 and the second female lawmaker in Birmingham's history.

Harry Denyes Jr. was also sworn in. Absent from the ceremonies was Manley Bailey who led the commission ticket when votes were tallied at last week's election.

The new commission then settled down to the task of choosing the mayor and mayor pro-tem.

Charles Renfrew will hold the top honor for the second year in a row with James C. Allen as mayor pro tem.

In routine business, commissioners adopted a Recreation Board resolution for a $3,781 appropriation from the Eton Park improvement fund.

Work to be accomplished includes grading and seeding and a drinking fountain near the new tennis courts, evergreen plantings and a clean-up upon completion of the artificial ice skating rink. A new softball diamond will also be finished.

Shocking pink or chartreuse — not even Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley knew what new colors any future police cars for the department might be, but his suggestion for colored cars to aid in traffic regulation, was approved.

Two new cars will be purchased from low bidder Floyd Rice Sales and Service, Inc., at a net cost of $1,195.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert will negotiate with the Board of Education and the State Board of Health in carrying out stipulations set up by the health board before allowing construction of the Columbia relief sewer.

It will currently serve only to take sanitary flow from the junior high school to be built at Adams and Derby roads.

Nearly $378,000 worth of property was endangered by fire during March, but the estimated loss was only $300 on buildings and $150 on contents, reports Fire Chief Vernon W. Griffith.

The department answered 33 alarms during the month, of which 22 were for fires and fire investigation. Only one was false. The others were for investigation of suspected gas, first aid and miscellaneous reasons.

They involved nearly 95 miles of travel by department trucks.

From bicycles to slipper sox to towels were sold at the weekend police auction, bringing in over $310, according to Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley.

The second such annual sale, it was a financial improvement over last year's and will be continued in the future, Moxley said.

A blaze believed by Fire Department officials to have been caused by wires shorting in a car, destroyed both the auto and the garage it was parked in yesterday afternoon.

Flames then spread from the car and garage of Howard N. Chapel, 545 Madison, scorching the garage next door at 537 Madison. Assistant Fire Chief Park Smith estimated damage to the Chapel garage at $1,200. Both the garage and car were a total loss, he said.

Naval Reserves Face Inspection Here Tomorrow

The 183 officers and men of Pontiac's Naval Reserve Division 9-104 will stand inspection tomorrow by a 4-man team representing the 9th Naval District.

A preliminary to selecting the best division in the 13-state district, the annual inspection will be conducted in the unit's training center on East Boulevard.

Heading the inspecting team will be Cmdr. W. W. Carlson, commanding officer of the Detroit NRTC (Naval Reserve Training Center).

Although the review will be an all-day affair, the inspection of the unit's men and training procedure has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Pontiac's unit is competing with 166 other divisions in the nation's largest Naval district. Selection as the top district division would entitle the unit to compete with other top divisions throughout the country for the Forrestal Trophy awarded annually to the top surface unit. The local division won the trophy in 1952.

Divisions are rated on a basis of readiness, neatness and efficiency of personnel, administration and training procedure. Results of the inspection will be released several weeks after the review.

The local division, comprising 165 enlisted men and 18 officers is commanded by Lt. Cmdr. M. A. Evans.

9 Delegates Attend Detroit Conference

H. E. Lohr, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Mrs. Charles Butler, Mrs. Floyd Cronkright, Mrs. Addie Gotshell, Mrs. Charles Hudson, Mrs. Harry Martin, Mrs. Walter Plunz, James Rogers and Edmond Schermerhorn are delegates to the Biennial Convention of the Michigan Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in Detroit today and tomorrow, at the Fort Shelby Hotel.

J. I. Robison, an associate secretary of the church's worldwide headquarters in Washington, D. C. M. L. Rice and H. A. Shepard, president and secretary-treasurer, of the Lake Union Conference will also be attending the session.

Delegates have been chosen on the basis of one per church, plus one delegate for every 40 members of each church.

Speakers today are Dr. G. E. Hutches, president of the Michigan Conference and H. F. Roll, secretary and treasurer of Lansing.

Bitter Corsi Ready to Leave Washington

WASHINGTON (INS) — Bitter, ousted State Department official Edward J. Corsi prepared today to quit Washington — and leave in his wake one of the fiercest political controversies of the Republican administration.

The Italian-born New York Republican yesterday spurned a State Department "peace offer" job, denounced the U.S. immigration program and called Assistant Secretary of State Scott McLeod a liar.

CHRISTOS J. MEKROS

Service will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. from the St. George Greek Orthodox Church for Christos J. Mekros, 23, of 510 S. Paddock St. The Rev. Soterios D. Gouvellis will officiate with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Mekros, a Korean veteran, died Sunday in Dearborn Veteran's Hospital after a year's illness.

Prayer will be read at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. by his pastor, the Rev. Mr. Gouvellis.

Way Is Cleared for Southfield Township Vote

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors today cleared the way for a vote on incorporation of Southfield Township as a home-rule city.

The incorporation petition was submitted at last September's supervisors' meeting, but was tabled on a motion by Southfield Supervisor William Roeser.

Roeser indicated he would like to keep the matter tabled until it could be put up at a special election when voters would have only one question to rule on.

Last Jan. 21, Bingham Farms, a one-square-mile area of the township located east of Franklin, submitted a petition for incorporation as a village. This created a question as to which petition should be voted on first.

The board indicated this morning both areas would be allowed to vote June 7 on their respective incorporations.

Foreign Liners Planning Calls on Great Lakes

MONTREAL, Que. (AP)—Shipping interests say the planned St. Lawrence Seaway is bringing new foreign lines to the Great Lakes.

Since the beginning of this year, seven new lines have announced plans, involving 22 ships, for Great Lakes operations.

Great Lakes fleets this season will fly the flags of Norway, France, Britain, Germany, the Netherlands, Sweden and Finland as well as the United States and Canada.

Shipping men say the aim of these lines is primarily the inland trade, as contrasted to the more than 70 other lines which come to Montreal harbor.

How soon the ships will be able to enter the Great Lakes through the Lachine Canal depends largely on weather. The canal is expected to be open by mid-April. Montreal harbor opened last week and since then ice-breakers have been working to keep the St. Lawrence channel clear to the gulf.

Ferndale Youths Placed on Three-Year Probation

In Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday, two Ferndale youths were placed on three years probation and assessed $200 costs by Judge George B. Hartrick.

Bradley Tingley, 17, of 257 E. Saratoga, and Michael Todd, 19, of 924 W. Marshall, admitted March 28 entering a market March 13 at 1700 Stephenson, Royal Oak.

ANTICIPATION—Terry Bretzke likes flapjacks, as anyone can see. The eight-year-old Boy Scout from Minneapolis, Minn. dug in not only to fill his tummy, but also to fill the coffers of a fund to build a crippled children's summer camp. The Minneapolis Southwest Lions Club invited Terry's scout troop to a pancake-eating contest and donated 50c to the camp for each flapjack the boys ate.

Mother Confesses to Suffocating Tots

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Betty Thelen, 26, a former mental patient, has admitted slaying her three small children by suffocation, police said.

Coroner Roy Louderman said Mrs. Thelen told him she suffocated the children yesterday by locking each in a piece of baggage. She told him, "They were sick, dying inside and there was no hope for them." They cried all the time, wouldn't mind her and wouldn't go to the bathroom, she said.

Her husband Kenneth found the bodies of his daughter Kathy, 3, and his two sons, Terry, 2, and Jimmy, 7 months, when he came home for lunch. Mrs. Thelen said they had been in a suitcase and two small trunks for about three hours.

Louderman said Mrs. Thelen, a slender brunette, had been in a private mental institution and that she twice had attempted suicide. She was held by authorities without charge pending further investigation.

Bank Robbery Suspect Has Alibi—in Sing Sing

NEW YORK (AP) — Police have scratched Edward Schirmer off the list of persons they want to question about a $305,000 bank robbery in Queens last wednesday.

They were seeking the ex-convict in connection with the holdup at the Woodside branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank, the biggest bank cash take on record.

With some embarrassment yesterday they disclosed Schirmer was in Sing Sing Prison, having been returned there for parole violation about a year ago.

Missouri Mules Are Sassy

By MARGARET LATROBE

No matter what the subject of conversation, before you know it George Washington and the State of Missouri turn up. In New England, a house is without prestige unless our first President spent a night in an upstairs bedroom. And you'll have to show me any living human who wasn't from Missouri or at least claiming kinfolks in Jefferson City or St. Joseph.

Well, it isn't too farfetched that in a spirited chat about the mule industry, the Missouri angle would crop up. Everybody knows that at the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition in '76 (Fairmount Park, May 10-Nov. 10) a pair of Missouri mules ran off with the first prize, making Kentucky and Kansas look pretty silly.

This pair was owned by a renowned horse fancier, Mr. Jilson P. Harrison of Calloway County, Mo., whose 10 children could judge mule colts with great accuracy before they were knee high to same. Otherwise, they got smacked off the ladder to the hay loft.

(Everybody knows, too, that mules are slow-witted but extremely agile customers, and youngsters hanging around the barn are taught to select a high perch with two exits when the mules are in the lot.)

Missouri was settled in the early days predominantly by Kentuckians and Virginians, who had choice saddle horses then as they do yet. By hybridizing a fine strain of horse with the donkey, a work animal resulted which was almost immune from disease, sure-footed as a goal, inheriting great stamina and an insensitive hide to withstand hot summers in the field.

As often happens, unfortunately, the offspring inherited from the paternal side a sassy and obstinate streak which spoiled what might have been a lovable personality, and gave rise to the expression "stubborn as a Missouri mule." The natives of this State deny that their long-eared friends are a bit balky—maintaining they require only the light and intelligent lead not to be found in some other states you could mention.

Long before this, George Washington himself got into the act. Through a present from the king of Spain he received the first donkeys known in America. Mount Vernon stables, no less, were the birthplace of the first and most famous American jack, "Compound" by name, who was the forebear of the Missouri mule. Indirectly, of course.

The last mule count in this country was 1948, when there were two and a half million. Somebody is now counting jackasses, and when the figures are available you shall be the first to know.

THE STORY OF BREAD—2

The Harvest

When wheat is ripe and a golden brown color, it is ready for harvest. A reaper cuts it close to the ground and ties it into bundles or sheaves. Another machine then threshes the wheat, or separates the grains from the stalks. Sometimes one machine, called the combine, reaps and threshes in one operation.

Years ago, men cut the wheat with long handled curved knives called scythes or the shorter curved sickles. After the wheat is threshed, it is weighed, stored in grain elevators or storehouses and finally shipped to flour mills. Then begins the process which turns the grains into bread.

Denise, a little French girl who lives on a farm, is shown in the picture gathering by hand some wheat that was missed by the reaper as it rolled across her father's fields. The shocks of wheat behind her are left to dry in the sunshine.

Color the picture carefully, save it and add it to your growing story of a most important food—bread.

Drys Losing Fight in France

Mendes' Drive Against Alcoholism Is Faltering Under New Regime

PARIS (AP) — Backers of a campaign to cut down the average Frenchman's alcohol intake have had some heavy jolts since Premier Pierre Mendes-France was forced to quit.

First thing they knew, the National Assembly repealed one of his pet decrees — raising license fees for bars and earmarking the revenue for a campaign against patronizing them.

The new Cabinet has promised that funds for the campaign will be found somewhere, but as things stand the committee Mendes-France appointed to run the campaign has $22,857 to pay its staff and get to work.

Another haymaker came in the form of a decision to put a subsidy of about 3 cents a quart on shipment of cheap wine to French overseas territories.

Edgar Faure, the new premier, has promised to carry on the fight against excess drinking, but his methods are more diplomatic than Mendes-France's.

Faure's Cabinet may have to lay it on the line after the National Assembly comes back into session next month. Mendes-France put several of his proposals into an omnibus bill now before the Public Health Committee. If and when it is reported out, the new government may have to say where it stands on such issues as the sale of hard liquor before 10 a.m., and freedom of advertising for manufacturers of apertifs.

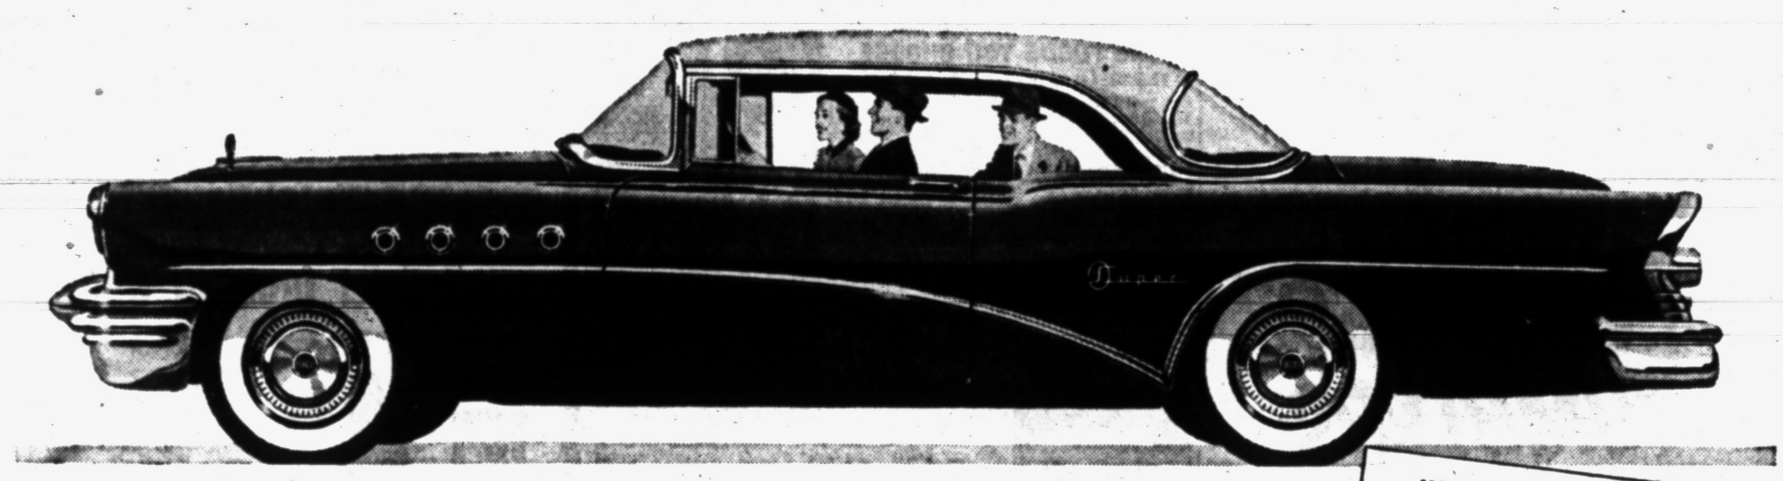
Want to feel like a pilot feels?



HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" of America's best sellers.

*Today's the day to "Join The Test Pilot Club" and see what a thrill you get when you try Variable Pitch Dynaflow

We're not kidding.

When you try a '55 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow, you'll feel like a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway for take-off.

For you, in the driver's seat, are doing what that pilot does—you're changing the pitch of your propellers—one way for instant response on getaway—another way for better gas mileage in cruising.

Your propellers are whirling in oil, deep inside the Dynaflow unit. When you press the pedal in the normal way, you hold those propellers in their economy angle—and you enjoy plenty more miles from your gasoline.

But when you want instant acceleration—for quick getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge of emergency power—you just press the pedal way down, and—with absolute smoothness—you get the action you want, and split-second quick.

It's the thrill that's the talk of the industry—performance unlike anything you have ever known before on the ground.

And so many folks have been asking to try it that we Buick dealers across America have set up April as "Test Pilot Club" Month. All it takes to join the "Club" is a test drive at the wheel of a new Buick. That's all.

So we cordially invite you to win your "wings"—to try the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and to feel the mighty V8 power that puts the whip to these gorgeous new Buick beauties. Drop in this week.

Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.*

Local Delivered Price of the 1955 Buick SPECIAL 2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan, Model 48 (illustrated) is $2267.88

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.78; Radio & Antenna—$92.80.

Thrill of the year is Buick

Said a sleuth: Ah! The mystery's unravelin'—
About cars that "take off like a javelin."
But with Dynaflow's switch
Of it's Variable Pitch—
You were here. Now you're there.
Boy, that's travelin'!
(Why don't you try a Buick?)

Kills Gunman, Saves Family

Kentucky State Official Rescues Wife, 3 Kids; Death Ends Grudge

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three hours of horror for a mother and her children and a 20-year-old grudge ended in death yesterday for a mad gunman.

Guy C. Shearer, chairman of the Kentucky State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, fired the shot that finished the revenge plot of Thomas Fay Redfern, 35, short of its objective.

After holding Mrs. Shearer and her three children as hostages, Redfern sat down to discuss his mission with Shearer, Police Chief Carl Heustis and Dr. S. Spafford Ackerly, a psychiatrist who had befriended him several years ago.

Shearer, who had flown to Louisville from his office at Frankfort, listened as Redfern, flushed with anger, reminded him of an arrest 20 years ago when Shearer was a probation officer.

"I want compensation for what you've done," Redfern cried.

He reached for a gun in his belt.

Heustis lunged across a desk and felled Redfern with a flying tackle. Dr. Ackerly grabbed the man's gun hand by the wrist and forced it floorward.

Shots rang out in Shearer's fashionable East Louisville home and Redfern went limp with a bullet through the heart.

Shearer had fired a pistol obtained from a state trooper as he entered his home.

Police with heavy arms and tear gas surrounded the place after Shearer got word from Redfern by telephone that his family was being held hostage to await his arrival.

AEC Reveals License Rules

Regulations for Users of Nuclear Materials Listed by Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today the regulations under which it will license utilities and other private firms to use nuclear materials for peaceful purposes.

This is one of the key steps designed to pave the way for expanded development and use of the atom in industry, medical treatment and other peaceful pursuits.

The new rules will not be effective until the lapse of 30 days, during which interested persons may submit suggestions and comments.

The AEC said these are the key provisions in the regulations:

1. "The applicant must be a reliable person, qualified through training and experience to use the material safely."

2. "The applicant's equipment and facilities must be adequate to protect health and minimize danger to life or property."

3. "The use to which material is to be put must be authorized by the Atomic Energy Act." The authorized uses include power development, medical therapy and other peacetime purposes.

4. "The licensee must keep records of special nuclear material received, on hand and transferred, but the regulation does not prescribe detailed accounting procedures nor the type of physical protention to be given the material."

5. "Licenses for special nuclear material to be used in reactors will contain provisions allocating the amount . . . estimated to be necessary for operation of the reactor during the period for which it is licensed. Similar long-term allocation may be included in the licenses for other uses if needed by the applicant."

Britain's Anthony Eden a Warm Friend of U. S.

For British voters the big question is what will be the political effect of Sir Anthony Eden's rise to the prime ministership.

For Americans it is reassuring to know that the 57 year old successor to the great Winston Churchill is, like his 80 year old mentor, a staunch and long time friend of the United States.

Advices from London indicate that there will be little if any major shifts in policy as a result of the change at No. 10 Downing Street. In fact it is quite likely that with one or two exceptions the entire cabinet which resigned with Churchill will be asked to continue in office for the present.

One of these exceptions is Minister of Defense Harold MacMillan. Eden has named this wartime friend of President Eisenhower foreign secretary, a post the new Prime Minister has held in three governments.

The major early result of the shift in leadership, of course, is expected to be a call for a general election possibly as soon as May 26. In the opinion of political experts the split in the Labor Party over Bevanism makes it wise for the Conservatives to go to the country now. Legally their five year term doesn't expire until October, 1956.

Sir Anthony is no newcomer to British politics. First elected to Commons from the Warwick and Leamington division in 1923, he has represented that area with ability and distinction ever since. He takes into his new high office long experience in diplomacy and the benefits of 13 years close association with one of the outstanding statesmen of modern times.

Harmony Marks Start of Auto Wage Talks

Eyes of industrial and labor leaders alike are focused this week on Detroit where General Motors and the UAW-CIO wage talks are in progress.

Within a short time similar negotiations will be instituted between the union and the Ford Motor Company and the American Motors Corp. In all cases the number one topic of discussion is certain to be the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

By what it has come to call GAW, the union means contract terms which would ensure the employe 40 hours pay if he works any part of a week. In any week he is laid off completely the employe would be guaranteed enough to "maintain his living standards."

What makes the results of these negotiations so vital is the threat of the 1,500,000 man UAW-CIO to enforce its demands by striking when the GM and Ford contracts expire May 29 and June 1 respectively.

Reports emanating from the scene of the General Motors' negotiations indicate they were started in an atmosphere of good will and friendliness. This is reassuring to the millions of people whose economic well being is directly dependent on continued large scale motor car production.

In such an atmosphere there always is hope that differences, no matter how great, can be settled without resort to a paralyzing strike.

One cool judgment is worth a thousand hasty councils.

Red China's First Purge

With its first purge an admitted fact, Red China now qualifies in all respects as a Communist state.

Because little is known of that country's internal politics, caution is necessary in assessing the meaning of a rift now revealed to have occurred a year ago.

Victims in the purge are Kao Kang, said to be a suicide, and Jao Shu-shin, also expelled from the party but reported alive. Circumstances of Kao Kang's defection aren't known in detail. As late as 1952 he was being referred to in the controlled press as a trusted servant of Peiping and an "ever correct leader."

A real friend of Soviet Russia, Kao Kang actually was the ruler of Manchuria. The Peiping communique charges that he was trying to establish an "independent Kingdom of Kao Kang."

This seems to indicate an effort to foster a Manchurian separatist movement either as an end in itself or as a means of challenging Peiping rulers for control of all China.

It would be a mistake to consider this news from Peiping a sign of weakness. The facts seem to be that the Mao Tze-tung regime has moved to strengthen itself and that we of the West would do well to follow the Cromwellian advice and keep our powder dry.

The Man About Town

First Big Expansion of Seed Company Was Here

Smog: What makes Los Angeles famous.

There's a Pontiac touch in the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post. In several pages and numerous illustrations it tells the story of the Ferry-Morse Seed Company. It was away back in the last century that the late of Detroit bought a large tract of land on what now is South Boulevard in Pontiac, and began raising garden seeds. It grew into big business, and several present day Pontiac men, including earned their first school vacation money in pulling weeds on the farm. This land, now covered with industrial plants, was sold early in the present century, and several hundred acres near Rochester bought for seed raising. A few years ago most of the land there was sold to

Dexter M. Ferry

for the grain raising unit of his Great Oaks Stock Farms. However, over 200 acres there is still used by the seed company for experimental purposes, under the management of who has held that position for 26 years. The company's principal seed raising farm now is in California.

A pair of canaries in the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Marchel J. Scarbrough of 727 Young St., hatched their first bird on Easter last year, and on Easter this year they hatched two.

Products of Oakland County continue to win the first prizes in big city events. Latest is the springer spaniel of of Oak Park, who topped everything in the recent Toledo dog show.

Taking full advantage of modern methods was the Scott Lake man who used an air mail stamp to bring his Football Contest entry five miles. It arrived on time. Incidentally, over 40 entries have been received that were postmarked after the closing hour Saturday.

Quite alarmed is Pontiac Fire Chief

and other chiefs in this area over the carelessness with which grass fires are started. In many communities a permit is necessary in order to burn off the old grass on your own property.

A Scotch collie dog at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Largent

in Birmingham has never paid any attention to a railroad locomotive whistle, but runs into its kennel and whines when a Diesel siren blows.

"Now if the Detroit Tigers will do as much to stimulate interest in the game as the Man About Town contest," writes of Lapeer, "we should have a good baseball season."

Sumner Achten

A Stamp—but Not a Rubber One

James Marlow Says:

Stevenson Fails to Tackle Matsu-Quemoy Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is the latest to give President Eisenhower unasked advice on what to do about defending or not defending the Matsu and Quemoy islands if the Red Chinese attack.

So far as is publicly known Eisenhower hasn't made up his mind.

But Stevenson, making a 4,000-word broadcast last night, never quite got around to saying flatly the islands should or shouldn't be defended. Matsu and Quemoy, unlike Formosa 100 miles offshore, are close to the Red China coast.

Stevenson expressed gloom at the thought of getting into war with Red China over Matsu and Quemoy. But he never directly tackled this No. 1 question:

What should the United States do about stopping attack on the islands if it came tomorrow or next week or any time before this country could carry out some of Stevenson's suggestions for making defense of the islands unnecessary?

Stevenson, who won fame as a wit when he ran against Eisenhower for the presidency in 1952, had no light touches in last night's talk, no lively phrasing, no memorable figures of speech.

This country is pledged to defend Formosa, where Chiang Kai-shek has his main Nationalist forces, but not to defend the tiny islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Eisenhower's position, as his administration explains it, is to decide if the time comes whether a Red attack on Matsu and Quemoy would endanger Formosa and therefore require American intervention and war with China.

This lack of decision may puzzle the Reds and make them wary of a move that might end in war with the United States. But it has also puzzled Americans and caused the broadest kind of argument.

Some of Eisenhower's own Republicans, particularly Sen. Knowland of California, want the islands defended. Some of Stevenson's own Democrats don't.

So Eisenhower, before he makes up his mind, is enabled to learn what support he can expect at home and abroad on any decision he makes. This may be the real reason he hasn't made up his mind at least publicly.

What was Stevenson's solution for the Formosa problem? One that might take a long time in doing, too long, perhaps, if the Reds attack in these next few months. He proposed:

This country should try to get its allies and uncommitted nations to declare open opposition to war in the Formosa Strait and "stand with us in defense of Formosa against aggression," pending some final settlement.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

We fail to see myopia to astigmatism with the Brooklyn judge who clinked a delinquent boy's old man.

Thirty years ago we wrote that anything can happen in Brooklyn and does.

Because the boy broke a window with a dornick the judge put his father in the shade for thirty days. We'll say his honor had little to do.

We'll concede the window happened to be in back of a bank. And the boy went through to sweep up the bits so the cashier wouldn't step on 'em in his bare feet.

That's just a boyish caper in Brooklyn. You should see one of their pranks.

The last prank we attended there was a parade of paddy-wagons that took two hours to pass a disputed point.

It was after the bartender had tossed the last man out in a game between the Bums and the Jints. The argument was over Casey Stengel's claim a bird in the hat was worth two in the bushes.

If the sins of the son shall be visited on the father we advise the old man to get himself a cat-o-nine-tails and return the visit.

You could carry a sentence like that to the Supreme Court. In order for you to get an even break they'd have to vote four-and-a-half to four-and-a-half. It would be a delicate operation.

Main hitch in the judge's decision is it makes it easy for a kid to get hunky-dory with his old man. The boy steps out and shorts a heap. His old man gets a fiver in the iron theater for not having a driver's license.

This makes it as unconstitutional as lumps in the mashed potatoes. The old man did the thirty days just the same.

We'll be seeing him next month at father-and-son day at the reform school.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.—Luke 15:20.

Case Records of a Psychologist

People Needing Advice on Problems Deserve Direct Authoritative Answers

Wilton Hall was surprised at the way many people get "vaccinated" against insanity and divorce via the booklets offered through this column.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-302: Wilton E. Hall, eminent South Carolina publisher, recently entertained Mrs. Crane and me in his home.

We discussed many of the aspects of this clinical column, and he was especially interested in the mail service connected with it.

"Dr. Crane, I think your readers would like to know more about this unique educational service," Hall commented.

'And I presume many editors don't fully understand just how you handle your huge volume of letters each day.

"Perhaps they don't realize how you get into thousands of homes of their newspaper readers and help solve domestic problems."

At Hall's request, therefore, I'll give you a quick panorama of this column.

To begin with, I launched my column 20 years ago to offer the average citizen all the helpful scientific facts from psychology that had too long been hidden in college text books.

I felt that this helpful knowledge should be disseminated to everybody. And the newspaper is the very best medium in the world for reaching all literate folks.

Dorothy Dix, Angelo Patri, Mary Haworth and many other able writers have been trying to inform the public via newspapers and they have all made very worthwhile contributions to happiness.

But they often conclude their advice by such a comment as this:

"I'd recommend that you immediately consult a psychiatrist for further advice."

Well, I am a psychiatrist, and the father of five children, so I feel that you readers deserve a frank scientific answer to all your problems in black and white.

So, instead of parrying your questions, I reply to them directly, and when you need detailed sexual counsel for marriage problems, I offer you pertinent medico-psychological booklets thereon.

The mail input to this column thus runs about 1,000 letters per day. But I don't personally reply to all of you with a typed letter, since maybe 95 per cent request a specific booklet by name, such as "Sex Problems in Marriage," or "How to Lose 10 Lbs. in 10 Days" etc.

Your editor has informed you that you are at liberty to inquire about any psychological dilemma that worries you. This unique psychological service is offered because your editor realizes that the best cure for mental ailments is "vaccination."

It is far better, and even cheaper for the taxpayer, to take teenagers who are shy, fearful, sexually demoralized or developing persecution complexes, and reorganize their thinking, than to wait till they arrive at a juvenile court or a mental institution where they may require expensive treatment.

Your newspaper is really a great local "University in Print" and the mail service rendered via this clinical column in practical psychology, amounts to a college correspondence course.

We simply ask you to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, plus a dime, to help pay the typing and mail handling charges.

Actually, it costs over 14 cents per piece for every letter that reaches me, so I not only donate my time to help conduct this mail service, but then make up the 4 cents extra on every piece of mail that comes in.

So don't think your editor or the newspaper syndicate or Dr. Crane gets a single cent of your 10 cents. Instead, you receive this educational service at less than cost.

Our universities and colleges also must be subsidized by alumni and philanthropists to teach your sons and daughters, for colleges are non-profit institutions so a similar type of subsidy makes this daily mail service possible.

Don't hesitate to write, therefore, if you have problems, for this column is maintained as an aid to better social and marital relations.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Voice of the People

Urges Keego Harbor Residents to Attend Meeting Regarding Incorporation of Area

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the writer is critical in its nature.

Keego Harbor residents, don't be high pressured by a few. A vital issue is at hand that will determine your future as a permanent resident of your area. Did you read the proposed charter that appeared in the Inter-Lake News?

If you have or haven't, still attend the scheduled meeting at the Roosevelt School, Thursday, April 14, at 8 p.m. Know what is in the charter, and the meaning thereof before you vote to accept it.

It takes a group of highly intelligent and educated men to conduct an incorporated area. Do you feel we have such? Most of the businessmen in the proposed area live in other communities, therefore they cannot be on your council.

The intended area has positively no space for expansion so new incoming taxpayers can share the burden. Believe me, it will be a burden considering the officials it would take, also the purchasing of the fire department, a city hall, police force, garbage truck and disposal. The cost of the Township police is $22,000 a year. Wouldn't that be quite an expense for a police force to patrol a mile and a half radius?

Every eligible voter, renter and property owner, should be at the above mentioned meeting this week. If a charter is not accepted, the area reverts back under the Township jurisdiction.

Interested In All The People

Do You Want to Join a Club of Young Adults?

I am writing in the interest of the "Young Adult Club" that Mr. Lepp talked about in this column.

I feel there is a real need for an organization of this kind. There are such few places in the City of Pontiac that one can go to enjoy planned recreation of a wholesome type.

Many people would be interested, as I am, in supporting this type of organization. If you are interested, write Mr. Elmer Lepp Jr., Box 531, Waterford, Mich.

An Interested Young Adult

Subdivision Restrictions Confusing to Resident

I would like to find out just what subdivision restrictions and township ordinances stand for and if there is a law to stand behind them. If so, what is the law?

I have talked to a lawyer, a township supervisor and a building and health inspector and as yet I have no sure way to enforce restrictions which are supposed to be law.

I am beginning to believe it is just another way to get more money for the lots and the restrictions are not worth the paper they are written on.

I am hoping to find out just what they stand for.

One Who Has Tried

Editor's Note: A township ordinance can be enforced by the township zoning board. Plans for homes are supposed to be checked by the building inspector and these are to conform to the zoning rules. If not, the building inspector can stop construction until the plans do conform.

Guaranteed Wage Not Worth Strike

Why are people so gullible as far as the union is concerned? The union has done much for the workers, I agree, but why go for higher stakes and risk losing everything you have for a guaranteed wage?

The factory is paying good wages. They pay for holidays that you don't work, for overtime and vacations. Isn't that enough? Why let a handful of men say "strike" and have to go without a paycheck and let children go hungry?

If you expect the union to keep you with the money they're supposed to take out of your paychecks, you have another thought coming. The last strike, ten years ago, was the same deal. One family I personally know went to the union and asked for help. The union said, "Go to the welfare."

Where does your money go? Don't risk losing. Fight a winning battle. Turn the union down on the guaranteed wage pay. We have four sons. My husband works everyday. He brings home a paycheck every week—there is no substitute for that.

Smiles

Safety First

A farmer was making his nightly rounds, when he saw a furtive figure beside the barn, holding a lantern. "Who are you?" he yelled.

"It's only me—Jim," the intruder answered, with a giggle.

"What are you doing here so late?"

"Er—I'm courting Sarah."

"But why the lantern?" the farmer inquired. "When I was courting my missus, I didn't take a lantern."

"Yes, sir," Jim answered, solemnly. "Anybody can see that."

Find Words

John was, or had been, Aunt Matilda's favorite nephew. His name was still on her list for the annual gift distribution.

"What did you give him last year?" asked a friend.

"A check," said Aunt Matilda "and, poor boy, he told me he couldn't find words with which to express his thanks."

"What are you giving him now?"

"A dictionary."

Do As She Likes

Two sisters had lived together for many years. Then, when one was ninety-eight and the other ninety-six, the older died.

The doctor who undertook the task of breaking the news to the survivor feared that the shock might have serious results. But the old lady bore up wonderfully.

"Ah, well," she said, "now I suppose I shall be able to have my tea made the way I like it."

Keep the Money

Father and son were at a bazaar when a pretty girl was selling kisses in aid of a local charity.

"My boy," said the father, "here's a dollar; go and kiss her. When I was young I used to make 'em scream."

The son returned a few minutes later.

"Well, did you kiss her?" asked father.

"Yes."

"Did you make her scream?"

"Rather! I kept the dollar.

Brady Would Never Take Digitalis for Heart Trouble

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Concerning treatment of a person after a heart attack, a physician who presumably has had some experience as a consultant, writes:

"In many cases the man's doctor would have preferred not to give him any medicine, but he knew if he didn't give some medicine the patient or his wife or family would feel that he was being badly neglected."

So you see, poor souls, why some eminent specialists keep their customers taking digitalis indefinitely. Indeed some of them make their customers believe that life itself depends on taking the daily dose of digitalis or some similar medicine.

It's funny how a doctor can be so busy as these trick specialists pretend to be and yet be afraid to tell a patient he doesn't need any medicine.

Many times in my early practice—the honest years—I tried it, and the experiment proved costly. The patient would go straight from my office to the office of a more experienced doc or who considered medicine indispensable. I not only lost business but sometimes gained the enmity of the patient that way; the patient could be pretty indignant if I decided after careful examination that he needed no medicine and yet charged a fee for my advice.

It took several years—lean, unhappy years—for me to learn to hand such patients six cents worth of inert tablets and keep him coming.

Then, after I became callous about that, I wasn't entirely happy, except that the children got more of the pleasures other children enjoyed.

Digitalis may possibly be beneficial in some circumstances. At least a lot of good doctors seem to think so. Some good doctors have tried to explain to me, in language simple enough for a child to understand, how and why digitalis is good for certain conditions of the heart. Trouble is, they become first nettled, then vehement, and finally so darn mad. . .

I used to say I'd never take digitalis unless my doctor ordered me to take it or else.

Now I must amend that, to read as follows:

I would not take digitalis in any conceivable circumstance. If I consulted a physician and the physician prescribed digitalis, I'd say "Uh-uh."

If the doctor gave me the take-it-or-else routine I'd say "Well, that's too bad, Doctor. I liked you. But without digitalis. Give it to some poor goof who doesn't know anything abot therapeutics."

It is my sincere belief that the heart tonic I recommend in the booklet C V D, about heart and artery troubles, would prove a boon to most poor geeks who think they have to take digitalis daily to keep going. For the booklet send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Gland Surgery Tried in Cancer

Doctors Report Partial Success by Relocating Adrenals in Women

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Three San Francisco doctors disclosed that they have developed a revolutionary operation for the treatment of cancer, involving a transplant of the adrenal glands.

The doctors said the operation has helped 10 of 17 women patients who submitted to the treatment although it is still in the experimental stage.

The operation has relieved patients of pain, restored appetites, resulted in substantial gains in weight, and in some cases, caused shrinkage or disappearance of the cancer.

Announcement of the operation was made at the 39th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology here.

Reports on the radically new treatment were made by Dr. Donald E. Bernstein, Dr. George R. Biskind and Dr. Lincoln Brown, all of San Francisco's Mount Zion Hospital.

They said animal experiments by themselves and other scientists showed it was possible to transplant the adrenal glands so that their hormone secretions would drain through the liver.

Knowing that the female hormone estrogen stimulates the growth of some breast cancer, they discovered that the liver somehow rids the hormone of its cancer-producing qualities.

The doctors said the operation begins with removal of the ovaries of the patient, the body's largest hormone producer. Then the adrenal glands are removed from their normal position over the kidneys and sliced and attached to various parts of the lower bowel tract.

The removed adrenals are cut into from four to 25 tiny pieces before being replaced, they said. This gives a good chance for at least some of the pieces to regrow and develop veins that empty into the blood stream, which in turn, is purified by the liver.

With Bag and Baggage

KENT, Ohio (UP) — Thousands of trees are summer picnic grounds for tiny visitors who bring their own tents and sleeping bags. These leaf-eating campers include the bagworm, which weaves its own silk-lined case, and the tent caterpillar, which rests in a tent of spun silk. Davey tree experts report considerable damage from such pests.

Cigar Smoke Means Last GAR Vet Better

DULUTH, Minn., (UP)— Cigar smoke drifting from the hospital room of old Albert Woolson today was a sure sign to friends that the last of the Union Army veterans of the Civil War was well on the road to recovery.

The 108-year-old former drummer boy was hospitalized last Thursday for the second time in five weeks with a lung congestion. An ardent smoker, Woolson puffs on about eight a day.

Woolson's daughter, Mrs. John Kobus, said today her father is "again making a remarkable recovery" and would probably leave the hospital by the middle of the week.

Gillespie said his company now has sufficient ore blocked out to warrent immediate use of the mill.

Bob Considine Says:

Writer, 81, Dips Into His Memories

CAIRO (INS)—"My Dear Viegand," the crown prince told the distinguished newspaper correspondent from America, "We have lost the war. Father doesn't know it. The long-beards around father won't tell him, and he gets frightfully angry with me if I try to bring it up. Please tell him."

Karl Von Wiegand, dean of foreign correspondents, was dipping back into his treasury of memories. A group of touring newsmen literally sat spellbound at his feet. At 81, Von Wiegand is a chipper man whose acquaintances in the chancellories of the nations are without equal. He has seen more wars and more statesmen come and go, at first hand, than any other newspaperman in the world. But there doesn't seem to be a jaded hormone in his body.

He was as eager to talk about Gamal Abdel Nasser ("an excellent young man, dedicated, curiously free of venality") as about Sir Winston Churchill ("got his start here in Egypt, you know. An over-rated statesman and poor peace-time politician, but an absolute marvel of defiance —in war.")

The crown prince he mentioned was heir to the German throne. "Father," of course, was Kaiser Wilhelm. The astonishing part of the story, however, was the time. Crown Prince Willie, who had an army of his own and was generally considered an imbecilic fop, made his plea to Von Wiegand in November, 1914, hardly three months after the start of a bloody war that was to last four more years.

Von Wiegand stroked his little inverted pyramid of a goatee and recalled that he journeyed to the Kaiser's temporary headquarters in the Ardennes to give him the momentous prediction of his son but the "long-beards" had got wind of the mission. Von Wiegand's only glimpse of the kaiser was at a distance. "He was cutting wood," the veteran correspondent remembered.

"Well, sir, I was as mad as a March hen," he went on. "I walked about the place, trying to cool off, and came upon a building which housed the top German navy people. Then I recalled that Admiral Von Tirpitz had asked me to call on him not long before. I sent in my card by way of an officious flunky who assured me the admiral was much too busy to see an American reporter, but in an instant he was before me again, flushed of face, with the news that the admiral would see me at once.

"We had a three and one half hour talk. The admiral sat on the edge of a French bed and remarked, 'Those Frenchmen! They have no baths, but they do have wonderful beds.' Then he asked me very earnestly, 'My Dear Wiegand, what will America do if I declare ruthless warfare on all types of British shipping?' Before I could reply he launched into an indignant defense of his position. The British were trying to starve Germany into defeat; well, he'd starve Britain. That was his point.

"I suggested that he let me write the story and he'd soon know what the American reaction was. He agreed to speak on the record only if I did not show my story to the foreign minister or the chancellor. Chancellor Bethman-Hollweg, a fine man but stupid. Anyway, the admiral ordered a navy captain in communications to get the story out of the country for me.

"It was later to be called 'the interview that won a war,' because it mobilized sentiment in America for the Allies whereas there had been great indifference in the states as to the outcome. But Von Tirpitz was not angry with me. When I showed him the copy all he said was 'Not strong enough! Not strong enough!' and dictated several more vehement statements, which cost him his position."

Early in 1918, the year of Allied victory, Col. E. M. House, President Wilson's spokesman, called Van Wiegand to Washington and stunned him with the assertion that the Allies had lost the war because the French, bled white, were about to quit. House wanted Von Wiegand to go to Stockholm and meet with German officials there to feel out a negotiated peace.

"But before I got my final instructions, Von Ludendorf's armies bogged down in Amiens and Lord Haig and General Pershing agreed that Marshal Foch should get central command to boost French morale. That did it, as you know."

Von Wiegand first came to Cairo as a winter resident 20 years ago and speaks glowingly of its weather, which he says militates against colds. His villa is within walking distance of the Giza pyramids and the Sphinx. Early next month he'll move on to his Italian villa for the summer.

One of these years, he assured us, he'll have time to write his memoirs. But first he'd like to get in the proper frame of mind. "The book won't be just a chronology of events and anecdotes," he told us. "I want it to be a philosophical appraisal of what has passed before my eyes."

I'd buy one, sir.

"She must be as strong as an ox—I'm cold!"

Billy Graham Heard Over Wire Network

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Billy Graham's voice was carried throughout Scotland last night by a telephone relay to an audience of between 75,000 and 100,000.

Next week his audience will be even greater when the telephone hookup is extended to cities in England, Wales and Ireland.

Kelvin Hall, where the American evangelist is conducting services in his all-Scotland crusade, was packed last night with 17,540, the largest congregation there since he began his campaign March 21.

Loud-speakers were set up in 31 town halls and churches over the country to bring his sermon simultaneously to the scattered congregations.

When he completes the crusade in Scotland in mid-May, Graham will conduct a week of services in London.

Admiral Pride Sails Off After Formosa Talks

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride put to sea this morning aboard his U.S. 7th fleet flagship, the USS Rochester, after conferences with top Nationalist Chinese and American officers.

Nationalist press reports said without confirmation he was to observe air and sea maneuvers in the Strait of Formosa. American sources said the heavy cruiser would be gone only seven hours.

Pride, who arrived here Sunday, had been conferring on questions related to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores, which the United States is bound by treaty to protect.

Lt. Gen. Robert H. Pepper, commander of the U.S. Marines in the Pacific, flew to southern Formosa this morning to inspect the Nationalist Chinese Marine force.

Ike Reveals Bigger Asian Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving to spike Communist propaganda guns, President Eisenhower has announced the United States is ready to give a bigger lift to Asian nations in their quest for economic development and a "rising standard of living."

The President said last night he will send Congress next week a foreign aid program "including economic aid to the free nations of south and east Asia."

The announcement was made as delegates began gathering for an Afro-Asian conference at Bandung Indonesia. Red China is one of the nations expected to play a leading role there—a role that might involve an attempt to woo nations friendly to the United States.

It seemed likely the foreign aid message would be timed close to the opening of the Afro-Asian conference next Sunday.

Eisenhower mentioned no dollar amounts in his announcement, but come to about 3½ billions. About two-thirds of this would be earmarked for Asia.

Reds 'Convert' Greek Children

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

KASTORIA, Greece, April 12 (AP)—"Perhaps we would like some caramels," said the Romanian Communist teacher.

The Greek children, sitting on a blanket in the courtyard of a school in Bucharest, chorused eager assent.

"All right," said the teacher. "Why don't you try praying to God for your caramels?"

Under her direction, the children prayed to God. Nothing happened.

"Now," said the teacher, "we shall pray to Lenin for caramels."

The children did as they were told. As if by magic, caramels showered on them from the windows of the school.

That was the beginning of Communist indoctrination for this group of children, newly abducted from their homeland during the Greek civil war of 1948. They were selected for special pampering. One day they might have a Red mission in their homeland.

Adult repatriates newly arrived in this northern Greek town tell about it with fierce anger.

In all, possibly 50,000 persons either were driven or fled voluntarily across the borders in the civil war. Of these, about 28,000 by official Greek estimate were children. In virtually all cases, children were separated from parents and placed in special schools for training. Some were chosen for specialized indoctrination. Others got harsh treatment.

Athena Koranis, now 17, was one who did not get the special treatment. She arrived back in her native Greece last December and still lives in one of two abandoned schoolhouses in Kastoria. As many as 15 or 20 repatriates may be housed in a single schoolroom, sleeping in shifts.

Her eyes blazing, Athena said she was taken first to Albania, then to Romania, where the Communists placed her in a school set aside for certain of the Greek children.

"I remember when Stalin died," she recalled bitterly. "All the children in my class were lined up and ordered to cry."

"Did they teach the children to watch one another and report on one another?" I asked through an interpreter.

The girl jumped up excitedly.

"Oh, yes! They did! They did! They did!"

She went on pouring out the story of how children were taught to ridicule any of their number who shirked or believed in God. The children were told America was a place of slaves, where the workers were beaten and tortured. They were told if they went back to Greece they would be beaten and tortured by the "Monarcho-Fascistr in the pay of the Americans."

But harsh treatment was the exception rather than the rule.

As the children learned to use modern tools and work at modern jobs, they were subjected to endless "political enlightenment" tied in with the idea that only in a Communist country could they hope to achieve a full life. In many cases, this indoctrination was effective.

Fused gradually back into the Greek body politic, even a small number of indoctrinated and convinced repatriates could represent an internal threat. Many Greek officials are seriously concerned.

Steps are already being taken to counteract the Red propaganda among the young. The Queen's Schools, operated under auspices of the Queen's Fund, are available for the task. But of the 1,300 children thus far returned, only 280 are enrolled. They cannot be forced into the schools, because of a condition that the repatriates must be returned to the areas of their origin.

Thus far, houses have been built for 330 repatriated families. Plans are under way to build homes for 550 more, in Epirus and the Kastoria area, the regions hardest hit by the civil war exodus. Credits are to be extended these families to buy agricultural materials and implements.

But there are big personal problems involved. Many of those repatriated to date are alone, without their families. Some families are only partly reunited. Many have had a long taste of city life abroad and resent being sent back to live in villages.

Greeks are still pondering the Communist crime and its implications. Why were the Greek children kidnaped in the first place?

Two explanations are offered: The Communists may have wanted hostages for blackmail purposes in the future. Or they may have been thinking in terms of preparing a future guerrilla fifth column. Greeks recall the words of the Old Bolsheviks of Russia: "Give us a child of 10 and we will make of him such a Communist that nothing on earth will change."

Tomorrow: Indoctrination by contrast.

Professor Helen Lockwood, head of the English department at Vassar College, and Professor Arthur Jensen, head of English at Dartmouth College, will discuss "What to Expect in College."

Yong honor students and English instructors from Liggett, Kingswood School Cranbrook, Grosse Pointe University School, Detroit Country Day School, Cranbrook and Maumee Valley Country Day School will be present to hear the talks.

All of these independent schools, with the exception of Kingswood, are members of the national Cum Laude Society, which corresponds to Phi Beta Kappa in colleges and universities.

The day FDR died

Where were you when you heard the news of President Roosevelt's death? Lela Stiles, former White House secretary, was behind the scenes in Washington. Here are her moving recollections of what happened on that fateful day, exactly ten years ago. Get your copy of The Saturday Evening Post and read it today!

For Dulles and GOP

Corsi Firing May Be Costly Political Error

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles appeared today to have committed a potentially costly political error in the Edward J. Corsi case.

Ironically, he may have been motivated by an eagerness to get along with Democrats in Congress—specifically with Rep. Walter (D-Pa), who had tangled bitterly with Corsi.

Dulles terminated his "old friend" Corsi's employment as special assistant in charge of speeding immigration of European refugees after Walter said Corsi had once belonged to groups later tagged as subversive. Corsi disputed that. He said his support for liberal immigration policies was responsible for Walter's opposition to him.

Corsi announced yesterday he will not accept a substitute job offered him by Dulles—that of surveying the possibility of settling some immigrants in Latin America.

Corsi is a veteran GOP officeholder in New York state. The political implications were pointed up by the public plea of Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that Corsi continue to serve the Eisenhower administration.

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York promptly jumped into the matter by saying he had offered Corsi sometime ago a job on the State Refugee Commission. Aides said the job is an unsalaried one.

Arriving in New York from a Florida vacation, Harriman said:

"I think it's utterly outrageous and disgraceful, whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, that a man is fired just because someone makes an allegation against him after he has held office for 25 years as a servant of the public."

In a bitterly worded letter to Dulles rejecting the substitute post, Corsi gave administration critics some new political ammunition.

He called the administration's refugee program a "scandalous failure" with fewer than 1,000 admitted to this country in 16 months. He said it had been sabotaged by "an intolerent minority both in Congress and within the department itself."

The State Department said Corsi had been appointed for 90 days during a security check and couldn't be continued on the rolls because that time was up and the check wasn't complete. In announcing last week the abrupt end of Corsi's job, Dulles said no question of security was involved.

What Dulles may have gained in the way of cooperation with Walter, Republicans may have lost by giving minority sections of the electorate cause for reflection. Corsi has been a leader among Italian-Americans within the Relican party.

Dozens of religious and civic groups interested in the refugee program have filed protests over the Corsi ouster.

TB Association Slated to Hear Health Official

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, Michigan state health commissioner, will discuss new trends in tuberculosis treatment at the annual dinner meeting of Oakland County TB Assn. Tuesday, April 19.

A. R. Musson, executive secretary, will present the annual report of the county organization at the affair, to be held at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Cooley Lake road.

Dr. Charles Neafie, chairman of the nominating committee, will present a slate of six candidates for the board of directors.

Following the general meeting, board members will vote on the candidates and prepare a budget for 1955-56.

The meeting is open to the public, and persons who wish to attend should make reservations by calling the TB association's office at FEderal 2-1253.

Wayne County Canvass Gives Democrats 693

DETROIT (AP) — Democrats gai a net of 693 votes in the official canvass of last week's election returns in Wayne County.

Errors in the unofficial tabulation had shortchanged Democrats of 709 votes and Republicans of 16, the County Board of Canvassers said yesterday.

Most of the errors involved failure of precinct workers to tally straight ticket votes, the board said.

The Democratic gains cut sharply into slim leads held by Republicans in the contests for superintendent of public instruction and one seat on the state board of education.

Carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere has increased by about 10 per cent or more in the last 50 years.

Powder Room the Last Oasis in Las Vegas

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

LAS VEGAS (INS) — If you ever find yourself in the awkward position of being in Las Vegas with no money to speak of and an aversion to loud night-club noises, do put this on your "must" list—the ladies' rooms.

I have spent a great deal of time poking around the local ladies' parlors, and I can say with all honesbty that these are the finest. They neither clink, tinkle, blare, laugh nor cry, as other Vegas salons do.

And they are very reasonable. If one comes in with a grim, defeated expression on one's face, the admissions ladies are perfectly contented with 25 cents in exchange for their coos of encouragement.

Having found this sanctuary from the noise and bankruptcy, it was disillusioning to learn from Bill Miller — part-owner of the Sahara, one of these flossy Las Vegas hotels — that "something must be done to liven up the ladies' rooms next year."

Like what? I asked Mr. Miller.

"Oh, we'll put in a few slots and a little combo, maybe," he said. Maybe they could buy Phil Spitalny's band and split it up into small parcels to be rotated through the powder rooms? A dreamy look came upon his genial tan face. "Francine in the mezzanine parlor —what a draw!" he sid.

You my think Bill Miller is kidding. I may think Bill Miller is kidding. Trouble is HE doesn't think so. A former owner of the fancy "Riviera" nightery across the Hudson River from New York City, Miller thinks people should have top entertainment constantly and everywhere.

His foremost rival and formidable contender is Jack Entratter, handsome ex - producer of New York's Copacabana and now the million-dollar spender for the lavish Sands hotel. As Entratter says: "The Las Vegas customer must get more exciting entertainment attractions for his money than any other place in the country."

Consequently, to cheer up the customers' morale when their bankrolls are down, Las Vegas hotel owners are paying the most fantastic salaries in show business history for talented human noise-makers.

Liberace, who will open here April 20th in conjunction with the blow-out dedication of a new hotel called the Riviera, will receive $50,000 a week. Mario Lanza, who was scheduled to open at the same salary in the New Frontier hotel last week, became either panicky or laryngitic or over-medicated at the thought and failed to appear.

All the hotel owners are trying to keep their price down to $20,000 or $25,000 a week, figuring this is unheard-of enough to lure the hottest stars to their jernts. But salaries appear to be getting out of hand, and if Miller or Entratter or their opposition hotelmen ever sign up the notable Las Vegas holdouts—like Judy Garland, Marlon Brando, Perry Como or President Eisenhower—goodness knows what the fee might be!

This is all very well, and I am glad to see people like Helen Traubel and Ezio Pinza get a $20,000 a week break after slaving at the Met for years for comparative peanuts. I am also happy to see that the conscientious gamblers get some return for their dollar, and that their wives and kiddies can be royally entertained while papa is away, temporarily, on business.

But as a girl who prefers silence to even the best-intended and highest-paid noise, I am urging the continued sanctity of the ladies' rooms.

This will do no good. So hurry, hurry, hurry ladies, and see it while it lasts . . . the powder room, last oasis of golden Las Vegas.

Boys' Changing Voices Are Not Total Loss

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—The teenaged boy who is going through a change of voice is not a dead duck when it comes to singing in the opinion of Professor Irvin Cooper, an authority on juvenile voice problems at Florida State University of Tallahassee.

Cooper said music teachers can "develop a very rich and satisfying program" with growing youngsters, if they are taught to sing within their range during the changing period.

Cooper, who has studied more than 400,000 juvenile voices, gave that advice to the University of Wisconsin's midwinter music clinic.

Hal Boyle Says:

Napoleon Too Plump for Pyramids

By HAL BOYLE

CAIRO (AP)—Leaves from a tourist's notebook:

At last I've done something Napoleon Bonaparte didn't do. I've climbed the great pyramid at Giza, one of the seven wonders of the world.

It's the quickest way I know for a fat man to take an inch off his waistline in 40 minutes. But your legs cry "ouch" for four days afterward.

The great pyramid, one of three at Giza, now a suburb of Cairo, is the largest of Egypt's 80 pyramids. It was the tomb of Cheops some 4,500 years ago. Legend has it that it took a hundred thousand men 20 years to build it.

The pyramid weighs about five million tons, contains more than two million huge stones, covers 13 acres at its base. It originally towered 481 feet, but the top 31 feet now are missing.

My ambition to scale the monument arose after reading that Napoleon, a plump man himself, had refused an invitation to do so during his campaigns here.

While some of his staff officers made the ascent, the bored commander got busy with pencil and paper. When they returned, he told them he had figured there was enough stone in the three pyramids to build a wall ten feet high and one foot thick entirely around France.

Presumably this was Napoleon's way of showing his boys that, while they are working up sweat performing a juvenile feat, he had kept his brain busy doing something useful.

When I told a Cairo acquaintance I wanted to climb the great pyramid, he remarked cheerfully:

"You know a number of soldiers were killed during the last war climbing around on these pyramids. They say getting up isn't as bad as getting down. Someone estimated that if you fell from the top of one pyramid, you would bounce only four times before landing in the sand at the bottom."

This cooled me off for two days, then I decided to go ahead anyway. After all, thousands of tourists have made the trip up and down safely through the centuries. My insurance was paid up, and there was this wish to get an edge on Napoleon.

To cut down the burial rate of tourists, the government now insists you have to make the climb with a guide. This was something of a problem in my case. A couple of natives took a look at my stomach and turned me down.

I could read their minds. They knew their ancesters had had enough trouble raising the stones in place centuries ago. Why should they have to bother with rigging up a block and tackle to get down a fat man like me, in case I collapsed like a tired balloon during the trip?

Finally, after I crossed the palm of veteran guide Ahmad Ganm with enough piasters to send his family to Mecca, he consented against his better judgment to show me which way was up. I sweated out the 450-foot climb—rock by rock—with Ahmad at my heels, poised to catch me when my wind gave out. It didn't.

The nicest part of the pilgrimage was reaching the top and feeling a cool desert wind on these stones that had been here through all recorded history.

But the thrill was dampened by the thought of the climb down. I asked Ahmad who is 59 and first made the ascent at 17 how many times he had climbed the great pyramid.

"More than one thousand times," he replied.

"Ever lose a tourist?" I asked him. Not that I cared, of course. Just to make conversation.

"No."

I felt better. Still I kept thinking of what would happen if I slipped. Only four bounces in a 450-foot fall. I slid most of the journey down on the seat of my pants, a stone at a time, my eyes closed most of the way. Every time I sit down for the next week I'll remember the great pyramid.

On reaching the bottom, knees wobbling with weakness, I thanked Ahmad and remarked, after looking at my watch, that the trip had been pretty fast. Only 40 minutes.

"Yes, very good," he observed politely, then added that a young native guide during a race had climbed up and down in seven minutes.

Seven minutes? Oh, well, he'd probably done it without shoes in an updraft. But still I have something on Napoleon. But it may not be common sense.

Supreme Court Hearing Arguments on Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arguments before the Supreme Court on how and when to wipe out racial segregation in the public schools moved briskly today with attention focused on Virginia and South Carolina.

Those two states, like Kansas and Delaware—whose views were given yesterday—want time and freedom to integrate in their own way.

But attorneys for Negro children in all four states want the high court to order color lines eliminated by the start of school next fall; certainly not later than September 1956.

Both sides agree for the most part that the Supreme Court should turn over to lower federal courts the job of supervising the desegregation process. However, the states want the district courts to be given little if any instruction on how to carry out the task while the Negroes insist the Supreme Court shold spell it out.

The Supreme Court last May 17 ruled unanimously it was unconstitutional for the states to maintain separate schools for whites and Negroes. But it put off until now trying to decide how and when unified school systems should be achieved.

Some deep south states—Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina—have said they will keep their separate schools regardless of what the Supreme Court does.

The court heard both sides of the Kansas, Delaware and District of Columbia cases yesterday and started a combined hearing on Virginia and South Carolina before recessing after 3½ hours of argument.

After arguments in the Virginia and South Carolina cases today, six states not directly involved in the specific cases at hand get a chance to make "friend of the court arguments." These are Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Maryland and Texas.

The arguments will be completed possibly tomorrow, by Solicitor General Simon B. Sobeloff speaking for the Justice Department.

Attorneys for Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia all argued they were making progress toward school desegregation and should be allowed to continue their efforts.

Frogmen Will Inspect Paris Bridge Supports

PARIS (AP)—Three frogmen began diving today to inspect the foundations of the 30 bridges which span the River Seine in Paris.

The bridges were built in the days of horsedrawn carriages. Now some of them carry more than 15,000 vehicles, including heavy trucks, each working day. City officials fear the Seine's floodwater earlier this year may have weakened the big stone pillars.

The underwater inspection is expected to take about three months.

MSC to Give Awards to 13 for Achievements

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State College will present special centennial year awards this week to 12 business executives and a labor educator.

The 13 men will participate in a symposium, "Business in the Future," scheduled today and Wednesday by the college as one of its centennial year features.

The awards will be presented for "outstanding contributions to society, for achieving distinction in their endeavors and for setting the highest standards of accomplishment."

Talbott to View Base

MADRID (AP)—Harold E. Talbott, U.S. Air Force secretary, left today by plane for Zaragoza to inspect the American Air Base under construction near that city. It is a final stop on his four-day visit in Spain before returning to Washington.

Surgery Unnecessary, Loretta's Doctor Says

OKNARD, Calif. (AP)—The vacation of acress Loretta Young has been interrupted by illness.

Dr. Hillary Mangin said she has a "subsiding localized peritonitis." Her Hollywood physician, Dr. W. L. Marxer, described it as an inflammation of the lining of the abdominal cavity. The doctors said she is responding to treatment and surgery will not be necessary.

Egypt's Nasser Arrives in India to See Nehru

NEW DELHI (AP)—Police wielded steel-tipped bamboo sticks today to hold back a surging airport crowd of 5,000 Indians welcoming Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Nasser flew here after a visit to Pakistan for three days of talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

Nasser is the second delegation head to confer with Nehru in advance of the African-Asian conference opening in Bandung, Indonesia, next Monday. Communist North Viet Nam's Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong was a visitor last week.

The Indian and Egyptian premiers will fly to Rangoon, Burma, Friday to join Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Burmese Prime Minister U Nu. The four government heads then fly to Indonesia together the next day.

Diplomatic sources said Nasser is expected to ask Nehru's support in the Arab dispute with Israel. These sources said the Indian leader probably wouldn't go along, however, since his government generally favored establishment of the Jewish nation.

Brass Winds, Percussions Spell Rich Tones

By GOLDA HOGUE

The symphony orchestra has for it third and fourth groups of instruments the brass winds and percussions, which include some of the oldest instruments known to man.

It has been said that the tone quality of the brass choir sounds blatant or "brassy" but, when the music is correctly written and the instruments properly employed, it is capable of the most beautiful rich tones, which nearly resemble the organ.

Chief difficulty in playing the brass instruments is controlling the various lip pressures which make up the different embouchures, for the tone is produced by vibrating the lips of the player against the cup-shaped metal mouth piece.

The tones are raised or lowered by means of valves and pistons that are worked by the player's fingers, as in the trumpet, horns and tuba—or by directly contracting the length, as in the trombone.

Pontiac Symphony's trumpet section is made up of David Abels, Robert Swider, and Ronald Williams. Principal player, Robert Swider, is in his senior year at MacKenzie High School in Detroit where he plays in both band and orchestra.

He is very busy with his music for he also plays in the Grosse Pointe Symphony, the University of Michigan Extension Symphony and the Detroit Recreational Orchestra. He has been awarded a music scholarship to Wayne University for entrance next fall.

The trumpet, the soprano of the brass choir, has its origin in the first primitive instruments of civilization. Used by the ancient Greeks and Romans, in the old Hebrew religious ceremonies, it has played an important part in history and in music down through the ages.

Its quality is brilliant and noble, most penetrating in loud passages of the orchestra but also most clear and beautiful in soft music.

The trombone is another of the oldest instruments we have and has a tone of great beauty and nobility, its grave and majestic tones playing an important role in all solemn, dignified music.

Most composers have felt that the trombones are not to be used too often but should be employed only for the expression of overwhelming impressiveness.

Tom Herman, James Morris and Joseph Skrzynski make up the trombone section. Mr. Morris is a graduate of Pontiac High School and now has his own music store. During the war he played in the Army Band and also in the El Paso Symphony.

The French horn too has a long history and because of its more genial tone is often considered part of the wood winds. Very difficult to play, its tone is even, full and mellow.

While it is often heard as a solo in slow legato melodies it also blends with either wood winds or brasses and sounds well too by contrast with the strings.

Steve Seiffert, principal French horn player, is a junior in Rochester High School, playing in the school band. He is a member of the Plymouth Orchestra, has played in the Youth Symphony in Ann Arbor and in the All-State Orchestra at Interlochen Camp, which he attended the past three summers.

Other French horn players are Eric Allen, Leah Chastain, Lucius Patterson, and David Rogers.

The tuba is the double bass of the brass family, providing a foundation for all the brasses, having the lowest tone of all the winds. Though deep in pitch the tuba is surprisingly agile with a voice of considerable richness and sonority.

It becomes powerful and brilliant in loud passages and is most useful in noble, dignified effects. When combined with the double basses of the strings it imparts clarity and definiteness to the tone, which is often required.

Fred Johnson, tuba player of the Pontiac Symphony, is in his third year at Wayne University where he is majoring in music education. He began his music training while attending Royal Oak High School where he played the tuba in the band and is now a member of both the Wayne University Orchestra and Concert Band.

The percussions (or "battery") consist of those instruments which accent the rhythmic rather than the melodic and harmonic structure of the orchestra. Most important is the tympani or "kettle drum" which is usually heard more consistently than any other throughout the concert.

Other percussions having definite pitch when sounded are bells, glockenspiel, celesta, and xylophone.

There is also a large group of percussions which do not produce any definite pitch, each one of which, however, has a definite sound or effect, easily recognizable. In this group belong side or snare drum, bass drum, tambourine, Chinese drum or tom-tom, triangle, castanets, and gongs.

Three or four players usually handle the necessary percussions and the number of instruments used at any performance is of course determined by the musical score being played.

Percussion men of the symphony are Milton Harris, Richard Cole, and Michael Kelingos. To Mr. Harris goes a great deal of credit for the organization of the Pontiac Symphony, as it was he who introduced conductor Francesco Di Blasi to Pontiac music lovers who were desirous of having an orchestra in this area.

A graduate of Pontiac High School, Mr. Harris has played in the Indianapolis Symphony, the St. Louis Symphonietta, has taught at the University of Michigan Music School and is now affiliated with the Detroit Institute of Musical arts.

Aside from the beautiful music produced by a fine symphony such as ours, the concert-goer's interest is constantly intrigued by the great variety of instruments, each with its peculiar difficulty to be overcome by the skill of the performer, each with its own voice—heard in solo or combination with the others—so different from every other voice.

Behind the listener's enjoyment there grows a great respect for the genius of the composer who conceived this great music to which we listen, and for the skilled conductor who molds this music and his players into the musical experience we are enjoying.

The third and fourth groups of instruments in the Pontiac Symphony are the brass winds and the percussions. Members of these groups to be heard in the final concert April 20 are Steve Seiffert of Rochester, Dave Abels of Detroit, Robert Swider of Dearborn, Thomas Herman of Clarkston and James Morris of Longfellow street (left to right).

Now They're Probing Deeper

Girls Go for Gadgets in Selecting New Car

By JEANNE LUDTKE

You can't judge a book by its cover, they say.

Yet it's a known fact that women, not men, are most instrumental in selection and purchase of the new family auto.

Car manufacturers and dealers will admit, somewhat benignly, that it's "those cute fenders," or "that yummy color" or "all that luscious chrome" that usually wins the little lady over.

Only the male race has understood the vehicle's inner working parts.

And now the auto men are out to give "her" even more authority.

It's something new — only months old — and it's been tried out with amazing results in 21 U. S. cities.

It's "Gas, Gaskets and Glamour."

It's a program that works as a sort of X-ray for feminine eyes that heretofore may have seen only the flossy facade of an automobile hood.

Underneath she has seen nothing but a mess of greasy, foreign-shaped objects whose names have meant nothing — a tangled network of wires that have meant even less.

With G, G, and G all that stands to be changed.

For with G, G, and G, they'll learn the A, B, C's of the mystifying automobile. All they have to do is attend the simplified, non-technical school in auto mechanics —in six easy lessons.

The programs will include demonstrations, charts, films, instruction by some of Pontiac's automotive experts, and plenty of time for questions.

First in the series to be held April 26 at Pontiac Retail Store will be on "the inside story of the automobile."

After that, classes will follow in "what makes the wheels go 'round," car care and "the seasons — your car — and you."

Winding up the school will be briefings on "you're in the driver's seat" and "your car is an investment."

When the gals are finished, they'll be able to roll up their sleeves and change a flat tire as well as the next guy.

Or know how to handle the machine when it stalls on a hill.

No frustration when she's caught in such a predicament — and none of this being taken by a would-be gyp artist who tells milady it'll cost so many dollars to repair something that might once have sounded like so much Greek, "Transmission," "carburetor" — those words will roll off her tongue as easily as "vacuum cleaner."

Most of all, the course — written, naturally, by a woman — will teach greater economy in operating a car. The "woman driver" phrase should take on new and heightened meaning.

This first class, restricted in number, is being filled rapidly, instructors advise.

So, it's G, G, G — that stands for go, girls, go!

Federation Meets in Kennedy Home

The executive board of the Republican Women's Federation of Oakland County met at the Wenonah drive home of its president Mrs. William A. Kennedy Monday.

During the session preceding the federation meeting Mrs. Kenneth Nichols was appointed chairman of the membership breakfast which will be held May 17 at Northwood Inn.

Committees for this event will be appointed at a later date.

Sunset Club Meets at Wilson School

William Hess was a guest of the Sunset Club when members gathered recently at Wilson school for a cooperative luncheon. The remainder of the afternoon was spent singing and dancing.

The next meeting will be held April 21 at the school.

Scouts Begin Annual Cookie Sale

Friday will mark the beginning of the largest cookie sale sponsored by the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council. The project supports the organization's resident and troop camping program.

The sale will continue through April 28. During this time Girl Scouts and Brownies will be knocking at the doors of neighbors and friends with boxes of cookies under their arms.

The cookies may also be purchased at "cookie cupboards" set up in stores throughout the area.

Eighty per cent of the net profits from the sale is earmarked for Camp Sherwood. At this 115 acre site near Lapeer girls have fun while learning the skills of outdoor living with girls their own age.

Ten per cent of the net profits will buy supplies to loan to troops who want to go "troop camping." This means spending two or more days camping at an approved camp site. Ten per cent of the profits is also designated for camp scholarships.

Cookies will be delivered Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to neighborhood cookie chairmen. The deliveries will begin at 7:30 a.m. in Westacres and will continue in Walled Lake, Wixom, Highland, Holly, Dublin and Four Towns.

Wednesday afternoon and Thursday deliveries are scheduled in Waterford, Clarkston, Ortonville, Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester, Brooklands and Auburn Heights. Cookies will be delivered in Pontiac Friday morning.

District cookie chairmen for the project are Mrs. Gordon Bennett of Waterford; Mrs. Leonard Austin of Ortonville; Mrs. James Gleason of Holly; Mrs. Fred Connelly of Oxford and Mrs. Stanley Schumacher of Lake Orion.

Others are Mrs. Edward Knickerbocker, Gingellville; Mrs. Raymond Ruggles, Clarkston; Mrs. Howard Blanchard, Avon; Mrs. Frank Brooks, Pontiac and Mrs. Orville Templeton of New Hudson.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD WILTON

Gwen Anderson Wears Brocaded Satin and Net

A wedding trip to Canada was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilton. The bride is the former Gwen Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson of North Merrimac street.

Morley Wilton of Sunderland street and Mrs. Mildred Anderson of Saline are the bridegroom's parents.

Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church was the setting for the eight o'clock ceremony performed Saturday evening by the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach.

Bows and sprays of lily of the valley marked the pews and spring flowers and candelabra decorated the church as the bride approached the altar in the presence of 300 guests.

Her gown was fashioned of brocaded satin and net. The bodice featured an illusion neckline. The floor length skirt ended in a cathedral length train.

A tiara of pearls and rhinestones secured her veil, and she carried the bridegroom's gift of a white Bible and an orchid.

Mrs. Clare Blades attended the bride as matron of honor wearing a gown of light green nylon chiffon. The fitted bodice was trimmed with beads. She carried an arrangement of yellow carnations in cascading design.

Other attendants were Mrs. Robert Newlin and Patricia Wilton, sister of the bridegroom. They wore gowns of light yellow and carried cascade arrangements of green carnations.

Cynthia Anderson wore a dress of white eyelet over blue for her duties as flower girl. She wore a blue sash and carried a basket trimmed with blue ribbon. Michael Stowe of Batavia, Ohio, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

William Coffing sang the bridal recital accompanied by Mrs. Glora Luck.

Gerald Rood served as best man and seating the guests were Lowell Satterlee and Phillip Anderson, brother of the bride.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church parlors. The bride's mother wore a light blue suit with pink and navy accessories and a beige suit with red accessories was chosen by the bridegroom's mother.

As the couple left for their wedding trip the new Mrs. Wilton was wearing a navy linen suit with navy and white accessories.

The couple will reside on Oakland avenue. He attended Highland Park Junior College.

St. Joseph Auxiliary Plans Tea

Final plans for the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary's annual membership tea were announced Monday afternoon when the organization met at the hospital.

April 19th was decided upon as the date for the event. Tea hours will be from 3 to 5 p.m.

Held for the purpose of welcoming prospective members into the organization and renewing friendships with old members, the setting this year will be the Birmingham home of Mrs. Charles J. O'Connor on Avon lane.

Mrs. Edward G. Rockwell is assisting the membership chairman, Mrs. S. G. Stauffer, is addressing and mailing out invitations to some 250 members in Pontiac, Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

During the business meeting Mrs. Harold E. Brady reported on the results of a recent sale held by the auxiliary.

New Sylvanites Honor Member

Mrs. Donald Elliott opened her home on Maplewood avenue recently for a meeting of the New Sylvanites Club. Honored guest was Mrs. A. Orin Blink who plans to move to Florida in the near future.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. Burton Clark on Inverness avenue.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Mother Confuses Daughter's Shyness With Jealousy, Aggressiveness

Wife Irked If Relatives Open Mail

Writer Suggests Open Discussion With Husband

By EMILY POST

A young wife writes me as follows: "I was married six months ago to a man in the service and I am living in a small town near the Army camp at the present time.

As we have no permanent address, a good deal of our mail is sent to us in care of his parents at their house and it is then forwarded to us.

I have noticed that very often the mail is opened before it is sent on. Some of this mail is rather personal and I resent very much having it opened and read by someone else.

Will you please tell me how to put an end to this without hurting anyone's feelings?"

It would be best for your husband to take this up with his parents as he is the only one who can do so without hurting their feelings.

If he does not want to speak about this, you will have to have your mail sent to some other address, possibly to "General Delivery" at the post office of the town you are living in, or to your husband's army address.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have recently broken my engagement and am about to return the presents I received from friends and relatives. I would like to know if it is necessary to send a written explanation along with each present; and if so, will you please tell me what to say.

Answer: A brief note of explanation should accompany each present. For example: "I know you will be sorry to learn that John and I have broken our engagement and I am therefore turning your lovely gift."

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has recently received his Ph.D. degree and I would like to know on what occasions he may correctly use the title Dr.?

Answer: If the title is purely an honorary one, he uses it only in his professional work, and in private life he continues to call himself Mister.

If he is well known say perhaps in the field of science or education, then according to best present-day usage, he may use Doctor instead of Mister at all times.

McBride Finds TV-Less Haven

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

At this moment I am on visiting terms with only two families who do not own television sets. One of these households is headed by a journalist who is trying to write a novel in his spare time and fears TV would lure him away from his midnight typewriter. He has a compliant wife and no children.

The other out-of-step family consists of an advertising executive, his wife and their three children. The parents plan to continue televisionless until the younger girl is 14, which will not be for six years.

The elder Duanes are very vocal about their theories: The children have no theories: they just want to be like all their friends and have a television set.

"The American home started disintegrating when the automobile went into mass production," Tom Duane declares, not too originally, but then this is but the preface to his real thesis.

Mostly, for a good while now, he maintains, home has been only a place in which to sleep, eat and change one's clothes. The husband leaves in the morning for work, the children for school, the wife for shopping or meetings.

After school, the children's lives are so organized that they never have any time for unsupervised thinking or play. Dinner over there are engagements for father and mother. Everything in this carefully planned world involves activity away from the hearth.

"We know and say that the foundation of American life is the family yet we go on breaking up that unit," Tom maintains.

Then he gets down to television, which is his real target. He refutes the would-be comforting proposition that TV is bringing the family back into the home, contending that people sitting silent before a television set "have their noses plastered against a window that shows vistas farther away from home than ever."

Two years ago Tom and Jean decided—and it's a decision that will never be popular with their offspring—to make an earnest effort to return to family life. To this end, they've deliberately eliminated some of the children's outside activities.

Anne dropped ballet lessons this year. Tom Jr. had to choose between his Boy Scout troop and the church dramatics group. Barbara, instead of gadding (her father's word) most of the week-end, is at home.

"Barbara has discovered books," Tom exults. "I was afraid she would write me her point of view, never would. Anne, who is musical spends hours playing the piano for her own enjoyment. Tom Jr. and his friends fill the cellar, playing games and building things.

Best of all, we have real conversation at the dinner table and afterwards. It has been hard, of course, to make the children understand why their home should be different. But I know we're all better, stronger, more resourceful and far closer as a family."

I wish Barbara, if she reads this, would write me her point of view.

Mother Organizes Work Into Good Paying Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Mother has always been kind of a fusspot," a reader writes. "You know, a nut on cleanliness.

But can you imagine, she has capitalized on it in the most wonderful way, and it is practically making her living for her.

"After Father died, Mother had a very small income, but not nearly enough to live on. She had to give up the house—which, incidentally, she had devoted her life to cleaning and keeping immaculate.

And she moved in with me and my husband and two children.

"We all love Mother," this young woman continued, "but after a while it got to be pretty awful.

She is so much neater than I, and she kept picking up after me, and redoing floors that I had already cleaned, and wiping things off the minute the kids touched anything. It got nerve-wracking.

"One day, we got some beautiful wallpaper for our foyer, and a week later, the kids had almost ruined it with sticky hands.

Mother set to work to clean it up, but it was quite a job. She got in touch with the manufacturer of cleaning fluids, and found just what was the right way to clean our wallpaper.

It's much more complicated than it sounds, chalk paste for grease marks, ink eradicator for ink, carbon tetrachloride for crayon marks, art gum for pencil marks, and so forth. Anyway, it worked, and we were very grateful.

"We told all our friends about it, and first thing you know, one of them asked if Mother would clean some of their valuable picture frames.

"That was two years ago, and Mother began to be an expert at tapestry, damask, lamp shades, and all kinds of things. She set a charge for her services, contacted decorators, put a small ad in the paper.

Before you knew it, she had a good many odd jobs, and was making a comfortable amount of money.

Now she has enough, added to her insurance, to have her own small apartment, and she's happy as a lark.

We are too, because it was hard to have anyone so neat living with us, who are not so neat, but once in a while, we call on her for a cleaning job, and pay her, too!"

Cheesecake Has Unusual Crust

Mrs. Willihnganz Translates Recipe From German Cook

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The recipe for a most interesting cheesecake came to our desk recently. Mrs. R. A. Willihnganz of Westacres got this recipe from a German refugee neighbor in 1939 and had to translate it from grams to American measures. She says the crust makes it unusually delicious.

Mrs. Willihnganz leads an interesting life. Since she has a nighttime job in a hospital, she goes to bed as soon as her children leave for school in the mornings. During the long night watches she catches up on reading and knitting and has been studying Spanish. She also takes an interest in community affairs.

GERMAN CHEESE CAKE
By Mrs. R. A. Willihnganz

Crust:
¼ cup butter
½ cup white sugar
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg

Mix with your hands in order of ingredients, as for pie crust. Press into heavy aluminum pan or ordinary cake pan, evenly on bottom and sides. Pour in filling and bake in 350-degree oven until a knife comes out clean.

Filling:
1 pint cottage cheese, sieved
3 eggs, separated
¼ cup flour
½ cup white sugar
dash salt
1 cup evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix all together, beating egg whites well and adding last.

Timid Girl Feels Deep Inferiority

Believes She Is Without Talent, Personal Appeal

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: My daughter, who is just past 15, has several problems on which we need your help. I wish she could talk well to other people and get along better with them.

"She's a little on the jealous side. She won't speak to people unless they speak first. Do you have a booklet that would be good for her to read and study?"

It sounds to me as though your daughter is basically on the shy and timid side. Oh, she may be aggressive enough in some ways. But she obviously doesn't think she has anything worth giving, so she gives little enough of herself to her personal relationships.

Her feeling of inferiority in comparison with others can be changed. That feeling is why she waits for others to speak first. She won't stick her neck out for fear of being rebuffed.

And she may be jealous because she rates others higher than she rates herself.

So I'm sending you a copy of my booklet, Why Be Shy to give to her. It will help her get a different slant on herself. It will help her understand herself a bit better, and evaluate her own capabilities and possibilities in a fashion more complimentary to herself.

What she needs is self-confidence in large doses. And I think my booklet will help to give it to her.

"Dear Miss Woodward: Our 16-year-old boy is going on his first formal dance date, in fact it's really his first date.

"I'm sure you will have some suggestions that will help him out. We have never worried at any time about him or his sister.

"We try to consider their judgment and their choice of friends. Our home has always been open for their company.

"They always let us know where and when we can reach them, and they're double dating on this adventure. What tips have you for our son?"

My booklet, Be a Smooth Date, is made to order for him. In it he'll find tips on starting out the evening smoothly, keeping up the small talk and the girl's interest, doing the right thing in the big and little details, and winding it up with a flourish.

It should help him make his first date the happy beginning of a successful career. I'm rushing him off a copy.

"Dear Miss Woodward: All of the girls in our club go out and we'd like to know what is the matter with necking, because all the boys ask us to. Can you answer our questions?"

My booklet, Why Neck? is just what you need—now that the big question has come up on your dates.

You'll find out why not to neck, how to get out of it, and how to make boys happy with a turndown. A copy is on its way to you and your club.

Anyone else can have copies of these booklets by writing me for them, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for each booklet requested.

Visiting a Friend in Sorrow . . .

. . . Can be a trying experience. There are certain simple rules that will help — if you bear them in mind.

Try to keep conversation light. Do not take advantage of a friend's bereavement to pour out your troubles. Do everything in good taste. Do not stay too long. Be helpful — but not insistent — and thereby be a good friend.

Little White House Remains Unchanged on Tenth Anniversary of F.D.R.'s Death

(The author of the following dispatch is the senior White House correspondent. He has covered Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower. His latest book, "Meet Mr. Eisenhower," was published yesterday. He was at Warm Springs, Ga., with the presidential party when F.D.R. died 10 years ago.)

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (UP)—Ten years ago today, Frankling D. Roosevelt was sitting in a white clapboard cottage here, posing for a portrait. It was 1:15 p.m.

Suddenly he clapped his hand to the back of his head. His face twitched in pain and he said: "I have a terrific headache."

Two hours and 20 minutes later he was dead.

The man is gone but he still lives here in the minds and hearts of the people who reside around and near the "Little White House."

Looking around the cottage you get the idea that Mr. Roosevelt merely has stepped out for a few minutes. His old floppy Panama hat rests on a cupboard shelf just off the kitchen. His wheelchair waits by the front door. His monogrammed towels are stacked in an open linen closet.

Fala's leash hangs from a hook in another closet as though the venerable Scottie were waiting for a walk along the wooded paths outside the house.

I have just been back revisiting Warm Springs. It seems such a shorter time than 10 years. The epic events of those days still stand out in great headlines in my memory.

World War II was racing to its victorious close. Mr. Roosevelt had just returned from Yalta and come here for one of those breaks that had so often refreshed him. But the signs of his coming death were there for those who looked closely.

I shall never forget the sultry Easter of April 1 when he went for the last time to the small white chapel on the grounds of the Warm Springs Foundation. Around him in the church were his fellow victims of infantile paralysis.

During the service F.D.R.'s head began to shake and quiver in the manner of a palsied man. A loud chord from the choir made his head bob even more pronouncedly. Sweat burst from his forehead and his glasses fell suddenly from his face to the seat of the pew.

A wide-eyed youngster lay on a litter nearby. He looked in surprise at the President, then at one of the foundation officials. The man shrugged his shoulders mutely as if to say, "I don't know."

A few days later he had three of us reporters in for a talk. We sat on a small couch in his tiny workroom. It was cluttered with mail, documents just flown in from Washington by special courier, newspapers and other personal odds and ends.

We talked about the forthcoming United Nations conference in San Francisco and a host of other subjects.

He smoked constantly, fitting cigarets into his much-cartooned and burned ivory holder. Each time he lighted what he called "a cig," it seemed to require unusual effort on his part to scratch a kitchen match. I'd never seen his hand shake so badly.

BY QUEEN'S MILLINER—This period sailor in blue and white with matching gloves and umbrella was shown by Aage Thaarup, Queen Elizabeth's milliner, in London.

Five days later he was posing for the New York artist, Elizabeth Shoumatoff. He was in the living room of the cottage, sitting somewhat despondently, gray and tired in a leather chair given to him by members of his "Cuff Links Gang" who had tried to elect him vice president in 1920.

When he suddenly collapsed and sagged against the side of the chair, the artist was terrified. The President's cousin, Laura Delano, raced from the rear of the room where she had been sewing and cried out for help.

House servants carried him to his small bedroom. He was unconscious. Secret service agents outside the cottage could hear him gasping for his life. He never recovered consciousness. He died at 3:35 p.m. of the cerebral hemorrhage.

When I revisited the cottage last week it was a gray, rainy day. The stream of tourists (110,000 a year) dropped their voices as they entered. They looked in silence at the unfinished Shoumatoff portrait. It had been left exactly as it was when the artist dropped her brush in dismay.

Mr. Roosevelt would be proud to see the progress and development of "his" foundation. He would be most happy about Roosevelt Hall, a handsome new structure dedicated to the rehabilitation of polio victims.

I watched there with an unashamed shake of emotion as four-year-old Michael Finlay of Sasser, Ga., struggled manfully with the metal supports on his wasted little arms. He finally managed to do what most children can do with no effort at all—eat a cookie.

82 Civilian Criminals Executed Last Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Prison Bureau said today 82 ci- last year—20 more than in 1953. Ten were teen-agers.

Although the 1954 total was much higher than the previous year, the report contined to reflect a much smaller use of the death penalty than was the case a few years ago.

Draft Objectors Jailed for Leaving Hospitals

BALTIMORE (UP)—Two conscientious objectors who were given jobs in state hospitals in lieu of being drafted were given two-year prison sentences yesterday because they quit the two-year jobs.

Both members of Jehova's Witnesses said they left their jobs because they objected to being ordered to work.

Judge W. Calvin Chesnut sentenced 23-year-old Ernest W. Dykes, of Salisbury, and Charles W. Smith III, 21 of Annapolis, after a hearing in U.S. District Court.

Pup Welcome Now

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP) — The James Ameigh family had been trying to get rid of Tippy, a 6-month - old stray puppy, since Thanksgiving. Yesterday, the Ameighs and their five children were awakened by Tippy's barking. The house was full of smoke from a defective furnace. "From now on," said Mrs. Ameigh, "that puppy will have the place of honor in our home."

Local Officials, Citizens Give Views on Death Penalty

"Do you think capital punishment should be instituted in Michigan"?

This question was put to several Pontiac citizens recently by the Pontiac Press. Here are their answers:

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem:

ZIEM

"I see no reason for keeping alive the person who murdered Barbara Gaca, if we have proved conclusively that he is guilty.

"I favor anything that will cure this type of thing. But it might be wise to study the effect capital punishment has had in a state using it, such as Ohio.

"We don't want to do something hastily that we may be sorry for later on. An error can't be corrected after a man's dead.

"It's also a prosecutor's job to protect the rights of innocent people. If a capital punishment act were passed I think it should provide a jury the alternative of recommending life imprisonment. The judge would rule on the jury's recommendation."

Mrs. William Wright, Pontiac PTA Council president:

"I have mixed feelings on capital punishment. There might be instances when it could serve a purpose, but as a whole I don't think it will solve the problem, which is more deep-rooted.

"You've got to get to the base of the problem, not just the end result.

"I would want to study statistics in states that have capital punishment. I do know that in some of those states they still have the same crimes we have here."

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of Pontiac detectives:

"I happen to be strictly in favor of capital punishment, only in matters or cases where there is no question of guilt and the crime committed. I think capital punishment should apply to persons committing rape and murder against anyone, not only against girls under the age of 12 as a recent proposal said.

WHEATON

"Too many deviates are released after they are supposed to be cured, but later on they commit the same offenses."

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley:

.. "I'm not in favor of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. There are means of punishment for wrong-doers, logical punishment.

"As far as taxpayers are concerned, I suppose they wouldn't want to support such a criminal for life in prison. However, this just happens to be the burden placed on society.

"I can't go along with capital punshiment.

"On the other hand, I can't go along with paroling killers and granting them new trials for such serious crimes—in such cases it's a miscarriage of justice.

STRALEY

"When they are sentenced to life they should serve life in prison. It's up to the Legislature and the people to provide room for these criminals in institutions. We can't allow mad dogs to run around nor can serious offenders.

"I can't see releasing them. But some are always looking for ways to release criminals and reduce their sentences. If errors are claims in a trial, the case should be retried immediately while the circumstances are fresh in the minds of all, and not after 20 or 30 years.

Mrs. Paul Gorman, president of the Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs:

"I'm against it. I don't believe you can overcome any evil by killing a person—by taking a life.

"I think a person who is (a potential sex criminal) should not be allowed to roam the countryside free. He should be kept away from the public where he cannot harm others."

She added her belief that capital punishment would not prove a deterrent to the sex killer. "Most of these people would commit the crime anyway and some would probably prefer execution to facing life in prison."

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor who advocated the death penalty as a means of checking the increase in first degree murder and rape cases in a Pontiac Press article published March 21):

TAYLOR

"I think the threat of capital punishment would make those with homicidal leanings think twice before deliberately planning a murder," he stated.

"When a person knows he could have his own life taken as a result of committing a certain anti-social act, he might be more apt to hesitate."

The rape penalty is now any number of years up to life, Taylor pointed out. "This violent type of crime disrupts society perhaps even more than premeditated murder and should be punished to the limit."

Mrs. Harry King, Pontiac Board of Education member:

MRS. KING

"I am in favor of capital punishment, especially in connection with attacks on children. But I don't think it should be limited just to those attacking children. Anyone involved in a sex crime where murder is committed should have the same punishment.

"My interest wouldn't be so much in punishment as in a deterrent.

"But there should be safeguards in a capital punishment law so innocent people wouldn't suffer.

"Where a person is convicted of a crime with the possibility of death, the jury should all agree and the jury should make a recommendation for capital punishment."

Although it seldom comes to light, Michigan does have capital punishment for one offense, Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today.

State law provides the death penalty for anyone convicted of treason against the state, he explained.

The law reads: "Every person who shall commit the crime of treason against this state shall suffer the punishment of death . . .

"No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court."

Pontiac Junior Achievement Company Wins Honor for Business Successes

A company operated by 24 Pontiac teenagers has won one of Junior Achievement's highest honors for its business successes in making and marketing plastic fish hook holders.

The firm, Plastico, was among 20 Junior Achievement companies selected from 236 organizations in southeastern Michigan to receive the local Industry Awards.

Three other Oakland County JA companies won similar honors in different divisions. They are the Wee-Ma-Kit and J-Ad firms of Birmingham and Teens & Co. of Ferndale.

JA officials in Detroit said Plastico is the first Pontiac JA firm to win the high honor. Plastico and the other 19 companies will compete in a nationwide JA contest later this month.

Judges based their selections on quality of production or service, business management skills, and production and sales achievements. Under the JA program, students organize and operate their own companies to get a fuller understanding of democratic principles and the free enterprise system.

Composed of students from Pontiac, St. Michael and St. Frederick high schools, Plastico is headed by Larry Decker, 17, of 267 Elizabeth Lake Rd. It's sponsor is GMC Truck & Coach Division and its advisers are GMC employes L. B. Gately, J. D. Harlan and J. W. Manning.

Since starting production last fall in the Pontiac JA building at 54 Mill St., Plastico has manufactured and sold some 400 fish hook holders at a net profit of about $100.

Wee-Ma-Kit, spot remover maker sponsored by Detrex Corp., is headed by Dick Martin, 17, of 533 Bennaville, Birmingham. The other Birmingham firm, J-Ad, handles advertising for other JA firms. Its president is Ted Donay, 18, of Birmingham, and its sponsor is the Birmingham Eccentric.

Teens & Co. of Ferndale, manufacturer of radio extension speakers, is sponsored by Hodges Auto Sales. Its president is Joseph Evangelista, 17, of 170 W. George Hazel Park.

Judges of the local Industry Awards contest were Richards, Henry Moses of People's Outfitting Co., Norman Piegler of Woodall Industries, Richard Logan of Chrysler Corp., and Jack Carver of McDonald Ice Cream Company.

S. C. Richards, member of the JA Board and Detroit manager of the F. Burkart Manufacturing Co., said winners of the National Industry Awards contest will be announced in mid-May and presidents of the winning firms will receive expense-paid trips to the National Junior Achievers Conference at Oxford, Ohio, next fall.

Public Housing Ban Petition Report Slated

Will Top Agenda for Commission

City Clerk Finishes Verifying 2,100 Names on Requests

A report from the city clerk on an initiative ordinance to prohibit constructing additional public housing units in Pontiac heads the agenda for tonight's City Commission meeting.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans' staff yesterday finished verifying 2,100 signatures on petitions calling for such an ordinance.

Within 20 days, the Commission must pass the proposed ordinance or call a special election to be held within 90 days.

In other business, the Commission will consider renewal of tavern and Class C liquor licenses for 1955 and rezoning most of Glenwood Estates from manufacturing to residential.

Also to be mulled are separate requests for a carnival and a circus in June, plus three reports from the City Plan Commission.

The first report recommends rescinding previous action and rezoning lots, 3, 4, and 5, Merrimac Subdivision to commercial 1 classification.

The second concerns a plan commission deadlock on rezoning to manufacturing land bounded by Madison, Arlene and Perry.

The last recommends deferring approval of an ordinance for 30 days to rezone to commercial 1 lots 1 to 7, assessor's plat 147 and lots 63 to 65, assessor's plat 103.

A communication from the owner of an auto parts company and a request that Anastasia Challis be appointed special administratrix of a Class C license at 848 S. Saginaw St. are also up for action.

Resolutions are scheduled authorizing the city clerk to advertise for bids for eight-inch reinforced concrete on various streets and a declaration of public necessity for concrete paving on Portland street from Montcalm to Owen and Kennett road from Baldwin to Wing.

Public hearings are set on special assessment rolls for curb, gutter and drainage on Burt avenue from Montcalm to Hillside and Hillside drive from Burt to Summit, and for a water main in Third avenue from Laurel to Highwood Subdivision.

A resolution is slated to receive the special assessment roll for a sanitary sewer on Wyoming avenue from the trunk sewer east of Motor to a point 80 feet west of Motor.

Engineer's estimates are scheduled for the following projects:

Sanitary sewer on Nebraska avenue from trunk sewer east of Motor to Franklin road.

Sanitary sewer on Colorado avenue from trunk sewer east of Motor to Motor.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Beverly avenue from Baldwin to University.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Sheffield avenue from Baldwin to University.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Cornell avenue from Baldwin to University.

Curb, gutter and drainage on Ypsilanti avenue from Baldwin to University.

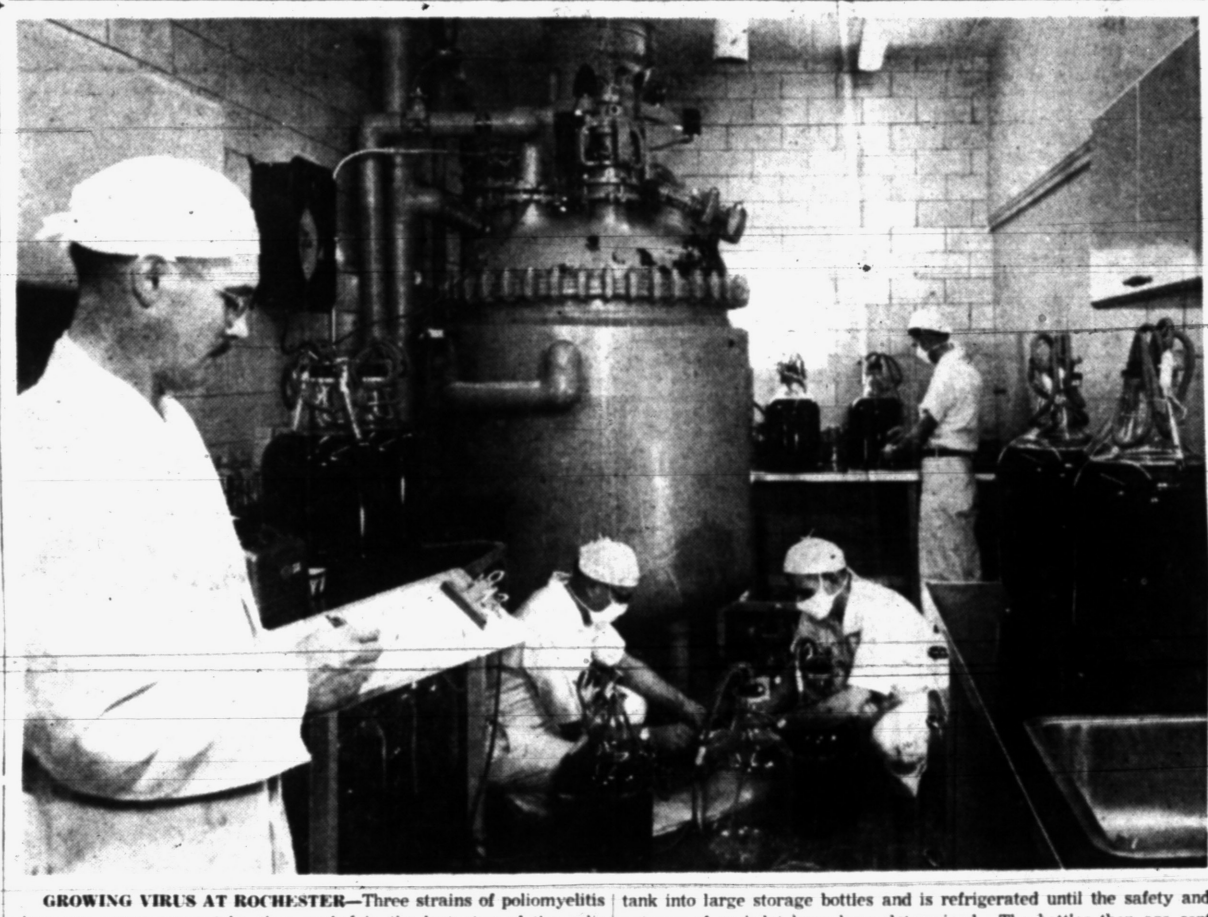
Water main in Featherstone avenue from Kenilworth to the Belt Line Railroad.

Police in Flint Nursing Three-Week-Old Lamb

FLINT (UP) — Flint policemen were playing nursemaid to a three-week-old lamb today

Two students at the General Motors Institute found the animal wandering through the business district of this industrial city last nigh.

Offices of the humane society were closed, so police, equipped with warm milk and a nursing bottle, agreed to take care of the lamb, at least for one night.



GROWING VIRUS AT ROCHESTER—Three strains of poliomyelitis virus are grown separately, then pooled in the last step of the polio vaccine production process at the specially-built laboratories of Parke, Davis & Company at Rochester. Pooled vaccine is drawn from the tank into large storage bottles and is refrigerated until the safety and potency of each lot have been determined. The bottles then are sent to the firm's main laboratories in Detroit for packaging in smaller containers and shipment.

City Manager to See A-Blast

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

To learn first-hand the result of an atomic bomb explosion on the homefront, City Manager Walter K. Willman will attend a special public A-bomb detonation in Nevada.

Willman, who is civil defense director for Pontiac, will be one of the hundreds of civilian observers and newsmen attending the blast at Yucca Flat, about 80 miles from Las Vegas.

The detonation is scheduled for April 26 and Willman will leave Pontiac April 21. After his arrival from Willow Run he and the others attending will undergo four days of briefing at Las Vegas and the site.

The exercise is the latest in a continuing study of civil effects of nuclear detonations which has been part of the program at the Nevada test site since it was put into operation in 1951.

The residence and shlter test programs begun two years ago will be continued.

To be exposed to nuclear detonation are several residences, some provided by industry, and new types of shelters. Steel and aluminum industrial buildings will also be tested.

Radio, television and electronics manufacturers are cooperating in an extensive test commercial equiment.

In addition, there will be tests of food and utility installations such as electrical utilities, liquified petroleum gas and natural and manufactured gas.

Thermal tests will include the exposure of industrial equipment, metal and wood products and textiles. Four trailer associations will cooperate in determining the effects on mobile homes.

Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson has said the exercise will be "the most comprehensive and valuable civil defense technical test program to date."

"We expect not only to derive much data of value to the entire civil defense system, but to demonstrate through the media of press, radio, television and motion pictures, some of the points on self-protection and community organization which civil defense has emphasized in the past," he said.

LELAND C. DENNIS

Leland C. Dennis will be installed as Emminent Commander of Pontiac Commandry Knights Templar No. 2 tonight at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 18½ E. Lawrence St. Thomas Corbin is retiring commander. Fourteen other newly-elected officers also will be installed during the ceremony.

Cranbrook Sets Conference for Next Saturday

A School and College Conference April 16 at Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, will gather English scholars from the east and midwest for participation.

The conference, announces Carl G. Wonnberger, head of Cranbrook's English department, is designed especially for members of the Michigan Council of English Teachers and persons interested in teaching English in independent schools.

Talks by nationally renowned educators, panel discussions and small group meetings will encompass all phases of secondary preparation in English for college.

Among conference participants will be Arthur Jensen, chairman of English Dartmouth College; Helen D. Lockwood, chairman of English, Vassar College, and Warner Rice, chairman of English, University of Michigan.

Open to persons attending the conference will be the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries, museum of Cranbrook Institute of Science, the 40-acre gardens and park of Cranbrook House and Christ Church Cranbrook.

Income Taxpayers Start Deadline Rush

DETROIT (UP)—A. M. Menninger, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, reported today returns are lacking from 700,000 Michigan taxpayers with the income tax deadline only three days off.

Michigan has 2,700,000 federal income taxpayers.

Menninger said, however, the last-minute rush already has started. About 65,000 returns were received in the mail yesterday. Another 2,000 persons went to the federal building for assistance in making out returns.

Veteran of City Industry to Mark 80th Birthday

A veteran of Pontiac industry who started his business, The Pontiac Varnish Company, here 53 years ago in 1902, will celebrate his 80th birth anniversary on Thursday. He is C. H. Hutchins of 108 Ottawa Drive.

C. H. HUTCHINS

Though formally retired, Mr. Hutchins still goes to the main office and plant of his business at 30 Brush street, for a short period daily. The company also has a retail store at 2 South Cass Avenue.

A family gathering is planned for the occasion, Mrs. Lottie E. Hutchins, his wife, says, with just the family members in attendance. That will include the George Zimmermans, the Paul Ziegelbauers and Mrs. C. Sanborn Hutchins and family.

Waterford Board Approves Increase in Police Force

Pick Committee to Study Parking

President of Milford Bartlett Smith Starts Survey of Situation

MILFORD — The committee to check off-street parking in Milford was appointed by village president Bartlett Smith at last night's council meeting.

The group includes John Peele, George Richardson, Wilbur Johnson, and Smith.

They will visit various surrounding towns to see how Main Street parking problems have been handled elsewhere.

The present set-up in Milford provides parking meters both on Main street and Union street, one block east. For the time being, there will be no charge for parking off Main Street, as a test project.

Appointed fire chief was John Murphy, replacing Patrick Turner, who has been with the volunteer fire department for many years.

Floyd (Pop) Harger, who has been with the police department 22 years, was appointed police chief.

In other business, the council approved $60 to financing the new Ground Observer Fire and Police Corps, which begins instruction tomorrow night at the Legion Hall.

Bids are being asked by the council for garbage and rubbish disposal. The contract will be awarded at the next meeting.

The possibility of a new railroad underpass at the DeGarmo Lumber Co. on Liberty Street is being investigated by surveyors.

A proposal for rezoning land along North Milford Road was dismissed by the council, due to study of the newly appointed Planning Commission. The planners are working on plans to revamp the entire commercial zoning in Milford.

Friday Night Parking Meters Hit by Businessmen in Downtown Romeo

ROMEO — Recently elected members of the Romeo Village Council, William Toten and George Tapley, attended their first regular meeting last night. They participated in a discussion on the use of parking meters between 6-9 p.m. Friday evenings.

A request had been made to the village council by local businessmen that the council discontinue the use of the meters during Friday evening shopping hours.

The matter was referred to a council committee for further study. At last night's meeting, reports were submitted telling how neighboring towns handle the problem, along with the violation fees there.

As a result of the talk, the council requested a petition from the merchants carrying an endorsement of at least two-thirds majority of affected merchants to discontinue use of the meters during the specified hours Friday evenings.

This was required before the council would act on the matter.

Samuel Bentley, commander of Romeo Amvet post 150 requested council permission to hold a carnival on the Old Athletic field, April 23-May 1.

The request was granted with the proviso that the veterans group furnish adequate police protection during the week. The Amvets are staging the affair to raise funds for their building program.

Approval of tavern licenses for the Romeo Hotel, Cedar Inn, Ted's Bar and the Peerless Cafe was granted by the council.

Civil Defense Director Maurice Foltz was granted $100 to underwrite a trip to Nevada, where he will witness atomic bomb tests, and receive instruction in the latest civil defense procedures.

The appointment by village president Philip Stone of William Cotten to act as chairman of a committee to promote Michigan Week, May 15-21, in Romeo was approved. Lynn Posey and George Tapley were named to serve on the committee.

2 Changes Proposed in Southfield Budget

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—There were two major changes in the proposed budget at the township board meeting last night.

Civil Defense was raised from a $100 budgetary item to $1,000. A second alteration allowed $6,200 for recreation, previously not in the budget.

Tthe toal general and administrative costs were set at $45,165 for the coming year.

The total budget figure was $396,200, subject to revision.

Building department, fire department and police forces were awarded a five per cent pay boost over present salary.

They have 14 grandchildren.

Favor Addition of 5 New Men

More Traffic, Growth of Township Factors in Decision

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Police Chief Frank Van Atta was given authority to add five more men to his department when his proposed department budget was unanimously accepted by the township board last night.

Additions to the staff would include two sergeants, two detectives, and one radio and telephone man.

This would raise the total police department staff to 14.

Rapid township growth, increase in township traffic, and a balanced police department budget during its first year of operation were major factors considered by Board members in favoring the increase.

Also included on the evening's agenda was the resignation of Leland Barker, township assessor, which was accepted by the board.

Board members agreed that the township would share one-third of the cost of chloriding township roads, as was the policy in the past.

A police department report for March was accepted, and the police chief was authorized to attend a safety conference in Grand Rapids, April 26-28.

Several permits were approved. A dance hall permit to Sherman Van Dusen, 3521 Sashabaw Rd., a soft drink license to Marion Truhn, 6512 Hatchery Rd.; and a similar license to Martha and Lyman Rieck, 3118 W. Huron, were approved.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE OSIF

Betty Zegelien Married in Drayton Church Rites

DRAYTON PLAINS—The United Presbyterian Church of Drayton Plains was the scene of the nuptials of Betty Zegelien and George Osif recently.

Rev. Walter Teeuwissen performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zegelien of Drayton Plains, Mr. and Mrs. George Osif of Freeland, Pa., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white net and lace over satin, with a fingertip veil. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white carnations and red roses.

Alma Zegelien, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and another sister, Mary Zegelien, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Charles Zegelien, brother of the bride, was best man, and the guests were seated by Fred and Dorman Zegelien, brothers of the bride.

Approximately 65 guests attended the reception held in the church parlors after the ceremony. The couple will live in Highland Park.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Highlight of the Cub Scout Pack meeting at Lambert School Wednesday evening will be a tree planting ceremony.

Cubs of Pack 30 are donating the tree to their sponsoring unit, the Lambert PTA, at the 7 p. m. meeting.

Handicraft made by the boys will be on display during the meeting. Best of the handicraft will be chosen to send to the Scout-o-rama at Walled Lake Jr. High School Saturday.

Speaker Chosen for Troy Meeting

Livonia Mayor Slated for April 19 Parley on Incorporation

TROY TOWNSHIP—Albert M. Hartom, mayor of Livonia, will be the guest speaker at the April 19 meeting of the Troy Township Incorporation Committee.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Troy High School. Livonia is one of the townships of the state which incorporated its entire limits into a city.

Troy Supervisor Norman Barnard will be present, along with other township officials, and members of the incorporation committee. After Hartom's speech on incorporation, there will be a question and answer session.

Petitions seeking the incorporation of Troy Township have been filed with Oakland County officials, no date has been set yet for a vote on the matter.

"The meeting is open to the public, and we hope for a good turnout to hear the explanations of this important step," E. W. Gray, chairman of the incorporation committee said.

Walled Lake Rotary to Sponsor League

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Rotary Club has announced that it will sponsor Baby Ruth baseball league in the area, for boys 13-15 this summer.

The action was taken following a report by William Staman at a Rotary meeting last night.

A mass meeting will be held in the near future for the organization of the league. Parents, boys, prospective coaches and sponsors will be expected to attend.

The Rotary Board of Directors also voted to pay the round fare to New York, plus spending money, if a Walled Lake student is selected by the Michigan Council of Churches to spend a summer in Germany.

The youths live in homes of former German exchange students to Michigan.

Police Nab Driver, 8, on Way to Grandma's

NEW YORK (AP)—While an astonished policeman held the door, 8-year-old Frank Biondo slid from behind the steering wheel of his father's car and announced that driving was no problem at all.

"Why, it was simple," he said, calmly overlooking the fact that he had bumped two cars and passed six red lights during his drive through Brooklyn.

The boy told policeman Albert Leone he was just driving over to see his grandmother. He said he had taken the car keys from his mother's coat pocket. He learned to drive by watching his parents, he said.

He was charged with juvenile delinquency and released in the custody of his mother for a hearing.

Lucy Marlow Learns Acting From Veteran

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lucy Marlow, a brown-haired beauty who wants to be a movie star, has the best possible teacher—Joan Crawford.

As a matter of fact, Lucy started out her film career as a make-believe movie star. She was the gushy actress who appeared at a premiere in early scenes of "A Star Is Born." Her brief performance made such an impression that she landed a contract at Columbia.

Now she is playing her biggest role thus far in "Queen Bee." She portrays a young girl who idolizes a Southern matron (Crawford). The picture shows Lucy's disillusionment as she discovers her idol is really a wicked woman.

Crawford, who has lasted longer than any star in Hollywood history, is naturally a starlet's ideal. When "Queen Bee" started, Lucy said to the star: "I'm new at this, and you know so much. I wish you would criticize me."

So Joan took Lucy under her wing. It's been quite an education.

"I've learned all kinds of things," the young actress remarked. "She knows everything about lighting. Miss Crawford—she says to call her Joan, but I still can't get used to it—can stand in a whole bunch of lights and know which one of them is not focused correctly.

"I'm amazed at how she makes every minute count. Whenever she isn't busy on the picture, she's handling some business or answering fan mail. She answers every letter herself.

"I've learned a world of things about wardrobe. She went with me to a fitting and showed me things I should know. Like having a low collar in back so the full line of the neck would show. And avoiding tight collars, so they won't make lines in the neck when you turn your head. And having loose sleeves so the fabric won't wrinkle when you lift your arms."

Fire Truck Goes Just One Block Minus Tillerman

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)— John Cox's headache turned out to be one for his whole fire station here last night.

Cox, a tillerman on a hook and ladder rig, obtained permission from his captain to step across the street to get some aspirin.

While he was in the drugstore, an alarm rang.

Away went the book and ladder truck—without a tillerman.

At the first corner, the wildly swinging ladder trailer bashed into an automobile, smashed the car, part of the fire equipment and was itself disabled. It had to be towed back to the station.

Fire Chief James Burke ordered an investigation to determine why no one noticed there was no tillerman when the truck took off.

It was a false alarm.

Turkish Sub Captain Convicted of Negligence

CANAKKALE, Turkey (AP) — A Turkish court convicted navy Capt. Sabri Tchelebioglou yesterday of negligence in a March, 1953, submarine disaster in which 81 lives were lost. He was sentenced to 20 months in prison.

Tchelebioglou was the commander and one of five survivors of the Turkish submarine Dumlupinar, which was sunk in the Turkish Straits after a nighttime collision with the Swedish freighter Naboland.

Correspondent's Body Identified

Confirm Death in 1950 of AP's Bill Moore, on Korean Battlefield

TOKYO (AP)— The Army today identified the body of AP Correspondent William R. Moore nearly five years after he was killed in desperate American fighting to check a Korean Communist drive on Pusan.

Moore died July 31, 1950, at the age of 40. He had dropped his pencil and notes to help care for the wounded of an American tank platoon, overwhelmed by Red forces near Chinju, about 50 miles west of Pusan.

The fight in which Moore and most of the platoon's men lost their lives established for the first time that the Korean Reds were end-running far to the south of the Taejon battle in which Maj. Gen. William Dean was captured.

Bill, as his colleagues knew him, had cheerfully accepted the assignment to check the new threat in the South only a few days after getting safely out of the Taejon battle.

Bill was first to report the Red Korean atrocity killings of captured Americans who had been shot with their hands tied behind their backs.

Moore was born in Nowata, Okla. He worked on the Daily Oklahoman in Oklahoma City before joining The AP at Denver in 1937.

Actress Laurie Denies Plans to Wed Schine

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Piper Laurie says that right now she isn't going to marry "him, or anyone else." The "him" is the Army's famous private first class — G. David Schine.

They were seen on dates together when Schine, now a military policeman at a fort at Anchorage, Alaska, was in Hollywood. Rumors set wedding bells prematurely a - tinkle yesterday when an unsigned marriage license for the pair, dated April 5, popped up in official files in Anchorage.

Schine, 26, had no comment. Miss Laurie, who is 21, said through her studio:

"David Schine and I have been friends for several years and have dated intermittently during that time. But right now I have no plans to marry him or anyone else. And I have never taken out any marriage licenses."

Schine, center of the stormy Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954, has been a member of the Ft. Richardson military police detail in Alaska since last fall.

Baer Claims Wife Bossed Him Around

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Ex-heavyweight fighter Buddy Baer—6 feet 6 and 270 pounds—says that his wife demanded "obedience and acquiescence" from him.

Baer made the assertion yesterday in filing a cross-complaint to his wife's separate maintenance suit. Mrs. Baer is movie magazine writer May Mann, who was Miss Utah of 1938. Baer, now an actor, said that she also threatened to ruin his career in the movies if he didn't obey.

They were married in 1949.

Miss Mann, 37, alleged Baer, 39, that he was "indifferent" toward making a living and wanted to live off her earnings.

Streets of New York Yield Touching Story

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — This is not really an Easter story . . . though maybe there's a religious undertone.

You see, my wife's asked me about 1,000 times, "Why don't you write about New York streets?"

"Sixth Avenue's fascinating—but do you tell people? No!" So I began patroling it—and it was "real Dullsville" at first.

"Oh, I rather enjoyed the game and gadget shops on the "Avenue of the Americas"—the "We Buy Diamonds" signs "Television Haircuts" . . . "Guitar Lessons" . . . souvenir newspapers with your own headlines:

"Richard Davis Attains

But I didn't enjoy looking down 52d St. and seeing Leon & Eddie's now a parking lot. Nor in 57th. seeing the old La Martinique—cradle of Danny Kaye and Danny Thomas — now a mambotorium.

One night I came to a crowd in front of a movie and heard a street preacher assailing a young father who held his small daughter's hand.

FRED ALLEN

"Aren't you ashamed . . . taking your child to a movie . . . when you should be going to church?" he shouted.

★ ★ ★ ★

But then there came another night when I chanced on Fred Allen walking along about 11:30.

We talked. And presently from out of the gutter shuffled a bent-over little old panhandler in his sixties or seventies.

They wring your heart when they're so old and alone. I wondered, perhaps unkindly, whether this little old man knew he'd happened on Fred Allen—"the softest touch in town."

But I don't think so, for, with eyes lowered to the sidewalk, he mumbled as much to me as to Fred:

"I'm on my way to Central Park."

Central Park . . . and bed on a park bench. We were about five blocks from there.

"Well," Fred laughingly addressed the small and aged one, "do you want to take a cab?"

Fred, serious now, handed the man a $1 bill. The bent-over little old panhandler's eyes grew large, and in a breaking voice, he said:

"I won't have to sleep in the park now. I'll go to the Bowery and get a room.

"This'll pay for a bed for two nights."

★ ★ ★ ★

As he crept away—toward the Bowery—he left us standing there being thankful Life had been kinder to us. And I, greatly moved by the incident, had to admit that maybe New York streets aren't "Dullsville" after all.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Gloria Vanderbilt's not a Stage Door Jane but she did wait for Sidney Lumet, the young director, after his CBS "Best of Broadway" . . . Annabella's expected to marry her young admirer, Michel Romanoff, great great nephew of Nicholas II.

Joe Howard, 86, and Pat Rooney Sr. will play the Las Vegas Showboat . . . Copa Couple: Audrey Meadows and Milton Rackmill . . . Rhonda Fleming and model Suzy Parker, red-haired look-alikes, met at a restaurant where Suzy got offers. Rhonda revealed divorce problems: in trying to file in Switzerland, she became a "resident" of Switzerland, must now become a U. S. resident again.

★ ★ ★ ★

Red Buttons is in line for the "Teahouse" movie in David Wayne's role. . . . Billy Daniels, subbing for Lanza at 25 G's a week, has a problem — he's under contract April 15 to the Stage Coach Inn in N. J. . . . Rita Dimitri, Lilo's understudy in "Can Can" may be featured when the show tours.

RITA DIMITRI

Frank Sinatra's parents got a private screening of "Not As a Stranger" . . . Nancy Valentine, the former Maharanee of Cooch-Behar, writes she'll leave the Calif. convent.

Gregory Peck and his Veronica plan a Dec. wedding, when his Calif. divorce is final . . . The Nat Coles are celebrating their seventh ann'y . . . Gloria DeHaven had to dye her hair black for "Seventh Heaven" and she's unhappy 'bout it.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Stan Freeman, just back from Miami, says one hotel is so expensive it costs 35c to get change of a quarter.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Along Broadway, figures George Shearing, the success of a cocktail party often depends on the people who DON'T show up.

Austrian Chancellor Makes Kremlin Call

MOSCOW (AP)—Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab and his aides made courtesy calls at the Kremlin today preliminary to opening talks on the Austrian independence treaty.

The Austrians visited both Premier Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov this morning. No business was discussed in these brief meetings.

The visitors also had been scheduled to call on President Klementi Voroshilov, but did not do so.

The discussions of the state treaty to restore Austria's independence and end her occupation by the wartime allies were to begin this afternoon. They are expected to continue four days.

Raab arrived in Moscow yesterday at Molotov's invitation. He is staying at a government guest house next door to the Austrian Embassy. Vice Chancellor Adolf Schaerf and Foreign Minister Leopold Figl, who accompanied him, are at the Sovietskaya Hotel.

Moscow's big newspapers — Pravda, Izvestia and Trud — all splashed reports and photographs of the Austrians' arrival on their front pages, but there was no editorial comment on their mission.

First adhesive postage stamps, bearing portraits of George Washington and Benjamin Franklin, were on sale in the United States on July 1, 1847.

Young, Eager Tigers Meet A's in Opener

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Detroit Tigers, young and eager, meet an old foe in a new setting today.

Whether the old Philadelphia Athletics can learn any new tricks in Kansas City remains to be seen.

The recently completed Municipal Stadium was ready for a capacity crowd of 35,000 paying customers to see Kansas City take its 3rd shot at big league baseball with the American League's Athletics opening their season against Detroit.

Kansas City was a member of the National League in 1889 and the old American League in 1900.

A bargain-size dish of baseball's top brass is in town for the game starting at 3 p.m. (Eastern Standard time).

Major concern of fans early today was a threat of rain forecast by the weather bureau.

Connie Mack—a household name with baseball folk for more than half a century — is scheduled to hand the ball to former president Harry Truman who in turn will deliver his 9th opening day pitch.

Detroit fields a team whose average age just tops 26 years but whose hustle manager Bucky Harris hopes will pull them to a 1st division finish this season.

Only infielders Ray Boone and Fred Hatfield are over the 30 year mark.

Pitcher Ned Garver, picked by Harris to start for Detroit, won't reach 30 until next Christmas. Jay Porter, who starts at 1st for the ailing Ferris Fain, is just 22. Bubba Phillips, another of the younger players, takes over for Porter in the outfield.

Manager Lou Boudreau, one of the few new things about the Athletics, has picked veteran lefthander Alex Kellner to start for the A's.

Kellner won 6 and lost 17 last year. Garver had a 14-11 record with Detroit ast season.

Detroit goes into the game with an 8-14 won-lost exhibition season after a 5th place finish in the American League last season.

Harris has made no secret of the fact he is disappointed over not having Fain's batting power behind his team for opening day. But the crippled Fain, two-time batting champion, who was picked up from the Chicago White Sox in a six-man swap last winter, still is hobbling around with a bad knee, and Harris doesn't want to take a chance with him.

Porter and Phillips will be the only new faces on the Tiger team. All the rest are holdovers from last year.

Kellner's selection was something of a surprise to the Tigers. Detroit had been expecting Arnold Portocarrero or Bobby Shantz to face them.

Steve Gromek who gave Detroit a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in last year's opener is scheduled to start the 2nd game against the A's tomorrow.

Second game is being billed as another opening day to accommodate fans unable to get tickets for today's official opener.

Probable lineup:

Detroit		Kansas City
Kuenn, ss		Power, 1b
Hatfield, 2b		Suder, 2b
Kaline, rf		Finigan, 3b
Boone, 3b		Zernial, lf
Porter, 1b		Renna, rf
Tuttle, cf		Wilson, cf
Phillips, lf		Shantz, c
Wilson, c		Littrell, ss
Garver, p		Kellner, p

STARTERS — Ned Garver (above) of the Detroit Tigers and Alex Kellner of the Athletics are scheduled to be the opposing pitchers as the Bengals help the A's make their debut before the fans of the newest major league city, Kansas City, this afternoon.

Majors Expect to Draw Over 200,000 Today

Cleveland, Milwaukee, Kansas City Set for Largest Crowds

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball expects to draw 258,000 fans to its full slate of eight season opening games today, with Kansas City, Cleveland and Milwaukee hoping to pull in 125,000 all by themselves.

The total attendance estimate tops last season's actual first day crowds by about 21,500. The 1954 openers attracted 236,414.

The American League, which drew 121,511 of the total in last April's openers, places its estimates at 151,000. The National hopes for 107,000, some 8,000 below the 1954 opening gate.

Kansas City, the major league newcomer after taking over Philadelphia's American League franchise, looks for 35,000, topping Municipal Stadium's 30,716 capacity, to sit in as the Athletics open against Detroit.

The other opening day estimates: American League: Chicago at Cleveland, 50,000; Boston at Baltimore, 41,000; Washington at New York, 25,000, National League: Cincinnati at Milwaukee, 40,000; New York at Philadelphia, 25,000; St. Louis at Chicago, 25,000; Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, 17,000.

Monday's early openers drew 58,879. In the National League, Chicago at Cincinnati drew an overflow 32,195 as the Cubs won 12-5. In the American, Washington had 26,684 as the Senators beat Baltimore 12-5.

Future Up to IOC

Brundage Warns '56 Games Could Be Moved

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) —Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, flatly warned Australians the 1956 Olympic Games could be taken from Melbourne if the city is not ready in time.

Apparently unmindful of a storm of protest swirling up over his criticism of preparations for the games, Brundage told a press conference he had a cable in his pocket from one city asking to take over the games and said there had been requests from others. He was not prepared at this stage to say who the other cities were.

"We are not threatening to take the games from Melbourne, for it would be a big embarrassment to us if that happened," Brundage said.

He spoke after meeting with Prime Minister Robert Menzies, who he said, was devoted to the success of the Melbourne games.

"I think the Prime Minister is more interested in the games being a triumph than anyone else," he commented.

He said the future of the games would be discussed at a Paris meeting of the IOC and that there would be some people there unfriendly to Melbourne continuing as the games' site.

While he was speaking, Brundage frequently was interrupted by Wilfred Kent-Hughes, Australian interior minister and chairman of the games organizing committee. Hughes sharply disagreed with Brundage's accusations that the Australians were dragging their feet and claimed the only delay so far has been in building the main Olympic stadium. This, Hughes promised, would soon be overcome.

Baseball Drills Start Today for Shamrock 9

St. Mikes Returning to Track Competition Also

Spring sports at St. Michael's High School get under way today with practice beginning in both baseball and track.

It will be the North Siders first venture into track in 3 years, since the Shamrocks were regional champions.

The team will be comprised of 9th and 10th grade students and Oakland County area schools desiring to schedule reserve meets with St. Mikes should contact Bob Mineweaser.

A veteran-studded team will represent the Shamrocks in the 8-game Suburban Catholic League baseball campaign, which opens April 21 with St. James meeting St. Mikes on the north diamond at Columbia-Joslyn.

Pitcher Dave Smith returns along with Bill Hall, who did some pitching in addition to playing outfield. Catcher Bud Schwartz is back along with infielders Joe Wilhelm, Bob Anderson, Dan Dropps and Marty Keller.

In addition to Hall, veteran outfielders returning are Joe Schultz and Ron Elmy.

It has been nearly a month since the Shamrock basketball team surged to the district championship, but their feat has not gone forgotten at the North Side school. The SCL champions, coach Mineweaser and the cheer leading team will attend Saturday night's College All Star-Harlem Globetrotter game at Olympia in reward for their fine season.

The annual All-Sports banquet at St. Mikes is scheduled Tuesday, May 10.

Dressen Still Leads League

By The Associated Press

Charlie Dressen is right back where he was when he left — in first place.

He's in a new league and a new town, but the peppery little guy who quit the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1953 after leading them to two successive pennants is still riding high.

After his first game as manager of Washington, he and his Senators find themselves right on top today by virtue of yesterday's 12-5 opening day victory over Baltimore in the American League's only game. The rest of the circuit gets going today.

The National League had an early opener too. This was ruined for the home folks, however, when Chicago thrashed the Redlegs 7-5 for the Cubs' sixth successive opening day triumph.

The Cubs blasted four Cincinnati hurlers for 11 hits, including home runs by Gene Baker and Harry Chiti. Ted Kluszewski, the majors' 1954 home run king, hit one for the Reds.

In Washington, a pair of veteran right-handers — President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Bob Porterfield — combined their talents to throttle the Orioles with six hits.

The chief executive jinxed Washington's opposition for the second straight year, tossing out the first ball. Porterfield picked up from there and went the distance. A year ago, the Senators beat the New York Yankees 5-3 in their opener.

All 16 clubs swing into action today. Kansas City makes its American League debut at the refurbished Municipal Stadium against Detroit. The city whooped it up for its new heroes yesterday with a colorful parade through the downtown streets. It hopes to do the same today after southpaw Alex Kellner takes the mound against the Tigers' Ned Garver.

Today's largest crowd is expected in Cleveland, where some 50,000 fans may see the Indians make their opening defense of the American League title against the Chicago White Sox. Bob Lemon, a 23-game winner, will oppose Virgil Trucks, who won 19.

The National League Lines up with New York's champion Giants at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, Cincinnati at Milwaukee and St. Louis at Chicago.

Reynolds Sues Philly Bus Line for $235,250

Ex-Chief of Yankees Claims Injuries Put End to Career

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Transportation Co. has been sued for $235,250 damages by former pitching star Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees.

Reynolds, who retired this year, claimed he suffered "severe, painful and permanent" injuries when a chartered PTC bus in which he was riding crashed under an elevated train trestle here July 7, 1953.

The bus was taking Yankees players from Connie Mack Stadium to Pennsylvania Railroad Station after a ball game.

Reynolds' suit, filed in U. S. District Court Monday, contended the accident was caused "solely by the negligence of the company and its employes."

Reynolds attributed his retirement to a recurring back ailment.

Orioles' Appeal Gets First Test

Baltimore Hopes to Exceed 1954 Opening Crowd of 46,354

BALTIMORE (AP) — The second season crowd appeal of the revamped Baltimore Orioles comes up for its first scrutiny today with the Boston Red Sox in the accompanying role.

The Baltimore ticket sellers were pressing hard to get rid of all their 47,866 seats. Last year's opening attendance, first at a major league game in Baltimore in 52 years, was 46,354. The high for the season was 46,796 on the Orioles' 13th home appearance.

The Oriole owners gave the fans a new boss in Paul Richards and he gave them practically a new team in an effort to better last year's seventh place finish. Five of today's starters are new.

Olson Favored in Video Bout

Middleweight Champ Is 2-1 Choice Over Joey Maxim in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The "little man-big man" theory gets a thorough test here Wednesday night when "little" Carl (Bobo) Olson tangles with "big" Joey Maxim in the Cow Palace ring.

Olson, the world's middleweight boxing champion, was a 2-1 favorite to make Maxim, former light-heavyweight titlist, his 21st successive victim before a national television audience (CBS—10 p.m. EST) and what could be a $150,000 gross turnout. The match is a non-title overweight 10-rounder.

The feeling around the fight crowd here, presumably flavored by the fact that this is Olson's hometown, was that the head man of Sid Flaherty's stable has too much youth and stamina for the aging Maxim, who is required to trim down to 175 pounds. Olson, 26, is expected to weigh about 170.

Doctor Reports Babe Zaharias in 'Fine Shape'

Golfing Star to Play in Own Tournament in Beaumont, Texas

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A doctor says Mrs. Babe Zaharias "is in fine shape."

Mrs. Zaharias, scheduled to play in the annual Babe Zaharias Open Golf Tournament in her home town of Beaumont, Tex., next week, left here Sunday after undergoing a physical checkup.

Dr. R. N. Moore said, "there is nothing wrong with her. She is in fine shape. She just had some X-rays taken in San Antonio and wanted to have a checkup before going on to Beaumont."

Two years ago Mrs. Zaharias underwent an operation. She returned to the fairways as a leading competitor among wofen progolfers.

But Babe Is Ready to Battle for Top Money in Zaharias Open

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—The nation's top women golfers were moving into Beaumont today for the $5,000 Babe Zaharias Open with the Babe herself feeling fit and ready to take down first money.

The tournament was named for Mrs. Zaharias, famed Texas woman athlete, and she won the first one two years ago just before undergoing an operation for cancer.

The Babe has just had a physical checkup and found to be in perfect condition with no trace of the cancer found.

Louise Suggs of Lexington, Ky., the 1954 champion and heaviest winner on the winter trail, will be the favorite for top money here, however.

Nagy's Team Misses ABC Top Spot by Three Pins

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—There were two new teams among the first 10 in the American Bowling Congress Tournament today after Monday night's heavy firing.

Steve Nagy's Cleveland All-Stars missed taking over first place by three pins but the 3,013 total put them right behind the two teams which share the top spot.

Howard's Clothes of St.Paul, Minn., and the Cole Finder Mercury quintet of Chicago share the top spot with 3,015.

Chuck O'Donnell paced Nagy's team with a blistering 690 series which put him in a good position to challenge for the all events lead today. Nagy had the only other 600 on the team, getting a 601.

Bowes Seal Fast of Indianapolis rolled into a tie for sixth place on the final squad getting a 2,968.

Two changes also resulted earlier in the day in the minor events. George Hundycz and Joe Galini of Fulton, N.Y., rolled into fifth in the doubles with 1,249 while Leo Slominski of St.Louis took over sixth in the singles with 686.

83 Trojans Drill in 83 Temperature

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When the University of Southern California opened spring football practice Monday there were 83 candidates for places on the Trojan 1955 varsity.

Lowry Gains Decision Over Petey Adams

NEW YORK (AP)—Pat Lowry holds a 2-0 edge today over Pete (One-Finger) Adams, but if they were to meet for a third time there still would be a lot of support for the New Jersey welterweight.

Lowry, a 25-year-old ex-Marine from Toledo, O., finished with a rush last night to score a majority decision over the 23-year-old Adams in a telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

In the other network telecast bout of the night, Danny Giovanelli of Brooklyn used his seven pound weight edge—150 to 143—to bull out a one-sided, 10-round decision over Denmark's Chris Christensen at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Return of 2 Stars Helps Hollywood 9

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood's pennant chances took a sharp rise today as the Pittsburgh Pirates announced they are sending back to the Stars catcher Jim Mangan and outfielder Lee Walls, both righthanders.

Walls batted .294 with Hollywood last year and hit 16 homers and batted in 89 runs He is 22. Mangan, 23, hit .262 in 43 games with the Stars last year after being released from the Navy.

Tiger, Red Wing Tilts on Television Today

Baseball and hockey were on the menu for area television fans today. The Detroit Tigers sports fans today. The Detroit Tigers season opener at Kansas City will be televised over WJBK-TV (channel 2) starting at 3 p.m.

The Detroit Red Wings' attempt to wind up the Stanley Cup playoffs against the Montreal Canadiens at Montreal will be carried on CKLW-TV (channel 9) starting at 9:30. The usual radio networks will carry the games as well.

Arcaro Says He'll Pilot Nashua in Run for Roses

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Arcaro starts serving a 20-day sentence today for two infractions of racing rules but the nation's No. 1 stake rider says he'll be in shape to pilot the highly regarded Nashua in the Kentucky Derby, May 7.

"You have to be in condition to handle that horse," said Eddie after being advised the Bowie stewards had set him down 10 days for "careless" riding in the fourth race at the Maryland track Saturday. Previously, he had been suspended 10 days by the Jamaica stewards for the same violation Friday.

Eddie starts serving his Jamaica suspension today. When he completes that sentence, the Bowie suspension will start. That means he'll be able to resume riding May 4.

Eddie said he'll have three days of riding, in addition to exercising horses, before the Derby and added, "I'll get in a couple of races before the big one at Churchill Downs."

Arcaro blamed nobody but himself for the suspension.

"I certainly did deserve both of them," he said. "I don't know what I was thinking about."

He was found guilty of bearing out with Betsann at Jamaica and with Singalea at Bowie. The Jamaica suspension is based on calendar days, the Bowie one on racing days.

Union Nine Practices

First practice session of the season for CIO No. 594 baseball team has been set for 5:30 p. m. today at Washington Junior High field. Players wishing to try out for the club are invited to appear at this time. Manager Harper Hearns says another drill will be held at the same site, same time, Thursday.

Scolari Is Candidate for LaSalle Position

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —A spokesman close to LaSalle College says Fred Scolari, one of the "originals" in modern professional basketball major leagues, is a candidate for the job of coaching the Explorers' cage teams.

The source said Monday Scolari would be given serious consideration if Jim Pollard, the Minneapolis Lakers star forward, decides to turn down an offer of a 3-year contract for the job.

'Campy' Batting 8th in Dodger Lineup

BROOKLYN (AP)—Despite his own reports that his left hand is as good as new, catcher Roy Campanella will be batting eighth today for the Brooklyn Dodgers in their 1955 opener against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

His low position in the batting order was the only surprise sprung by Manager Walt Alston.

Proud Lake Camp Will Open in May

Trucks Asks Million Dollars for Deer Food

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Kenneth O. Trucks (R-Baldwin) asked the legislature today to spend one million dollars annually on artificial feeding of deer.

Trucks, chairman of the House Conservation Committee, filed a bill to raise the deer license fee from $3.50 to $5.50. The additional two dollars would be used to purchase the deer food.

Wildlife Measures Offered State Body

LANSING (UP) — Three controversial wildlife measures were introduced in the state House of Representatives yesterday.

The proposals would: (1) shorten the trout fishing season; (2) open the hunting season in black squirrels; and (3) increase deer hunting fees by $2.

Rep. Frederic J. Marshall (R-Allen) sponsored the proposal to change the trout season from the last Saturday in April through the 2nd Sunday in September to the 2nd Saturday in May through Labor day.

'Y' Swimmers Bring Back 4 Firsts From State Test

Pontiac YMCA swimmers took four first places in the state YMCA swimming and diving championships at Jenison Fieldhouse Pool at East Lansing over the weekend.

Dennis Simonson won the intermediate Class A 150-yard individual medley in one minute, 47.4 seconds. The Pontiac intermediate Class B 150-yard medley relay team also was a winner.

Dick Willard, Bruce Sias and Jim Cornforth covered the distance in 1:34.7.

Prep 75-yard medley relay—4th, Ed Kummert, Mike Harrington, Robert Roberts, 49.3 seconds.

Junior 50-yard free style—Charles Redenius, 5th, 30.2 seconds.

Intermediate "B" 50-yard free style—Bruce Sias, 2nd, 27 seconds.

Intermediate "B" 200-yard free style—Roger Klair, 3rd, 2:32.3.

Prep 25-yard backstroke—Kummert, 5th, 18.2 seconds.

Junior 100-yard free style—Redenius, 6th, 1:11.2.

Intermediate "B" 100 yard free style—Roger Klarr, 3rd, 1:06.4; Pat Stinson, 4th, 1:14.6.

Intermediate "B" 150-yard individual medley—Cornforth, 2nd, 1:57.

Diving—Richard Richards, 5th, prep division; Dennis Simonson, 2nd, intermediate Class A.

Spartan Hopes High as Spring Football Drills Start; Pat Wilson Currently Running 1st String

EAST LANSING (AP)—High hopes were undampened by a spring rain as Michigan State College started 1955 football practice yesterday.

This is a building year for coach Duffy Daugherty, who is intent on improving on last year's sad record of only three wins and six losses.

There were more than 140 candidates reporting—but only 18 of them lettermen.

"I never saw so many new faces," Daugherty said. "This is a year for the new men to break in. We'll have to find out in a hurry just how many of them are football players."

In a preliminary pep talk to his prospects, Daugherty emphasized that "hustle" will be the key word this season. "I don't want anyone dogging it," he said.

To illustrate the type of hustle wanted, coaches had Don Coleman of Flint, All-American tackle of a few years back working with the squad as a volunteer assistant.

Coleman, still a trim 190 pounds nearly split open a tackling dummy with one of his charges.

After his preliminary lecture, Daugherty broke up the large mass of candidates into smaller groups for squad work. The Spartans will have 20 days of spring practice, daily except Friday and Sunday, and ending with an inter-squad game May 7.

When he lined up a first team to run through a few plays, Pat Wilson was at quarterback, Clarence Peaks at left half, Rudy Gaddini at right half and Jerry Planutis at quarterback.

Jim Hinesley and John Lewis were at end, Carl Diener and Embry Robinson at tackle, Norm Masters and Buck Nystrom at guard and Joe Badaczewski at center.

Philly Still Willing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia still wants the 1956 Olympic Games if Melbourne, Australia, can't get ready for them in time.

That word was sent yesterday to Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee by John B. elly, Sr., and Arthur C. Kaufmann, co-chairmen of the Philadelphia Olympic Committee.

Irvin Plans Shifts for Crucial Cup Battle

MONTREAL (AP) — Coach Dick Irvin of the Montreal Canadiens had another mystery going today as his crippled team prepared to do battle with the Detroit Red Wings in a game they have to win to stay in the Stanley Cup quest.

Irvin said last night he plans "two changes" in his lineup for tonight's game, with Montreal trailing the best-of-seven series, 3-2 in games.

The Canadiens' coach said he will have Dick Gamble at left wing. Gamble, former Canadien player, was with Buffalo of the American League this season. Bisons were eliminated from the Calder Cup playoffs by Pittsburgh Sunday night.

Irvin kept his other change a deep secret but there was speculation that he planned to recall a defenseman. Dollard St. Laurent has been playing in the series with deep and painful cuts on the inside of his legs. He goes into the hospital after each game and stays there until shortly before the next game.

If Irvin decides to bring up a defenseman he would probably have to raid either Shawinigan Falls Cataracts or Montreal Royals, now engaged in the Quebec Hockey League finals. He could get Al Dewsbury, a former Chicago rearguard, from the Royals, or Jean-Guy Talbot from Shawinigan Falls. Talbot played three games with the Canadiens during the season.

Red Wings, who took the same train here as the Canadiens, reported everyone in topshape except Terry Sawchuk, who has a touch of the flu. The Detroit goalie stayed in bed on the train and was reported in better condition on arrival.

Ted Lindsay had a healthy shiner.

General manager Jack Adams figures the Wings have a good chance of winding up the series tonight.

"We're a good road club and although this has been a home-ice series so far there's no reason we can't win a road game," he said.

Coach Jim Skinner made no predictions.

Irvin was bitter about a ruling by referee Bill Chadwick on a protested goal at Detroit. He contended that Alex Delvecchio of the Wings illegally knocked or dropped the puck directly in front of Gordie Howe's stick in front of the Canadiens' net and the big right-winger poked in what proved to be the winning goal.

Irvin also tried to needle a little more fight into some of his players.

"There are at least four who haven't lost a pound during the series," he said. "Maybe some of them are even putting on weight."

PHS Nine, Thinclads Open Home Season Today, Against Cranbrook, Flint Central

Along with the major leagues, Pontiac High School athletes today swing into regular action, along at least two lines, Coach Ed Heikkinen's baseball club takes on the well-conditioned Cranbrook nine in a game at Wisner diamond, starting at 3:30 o'clock. Half an hour later, at 4 p.m. Coach Wally Schloerke will trot out his thinclads for the first home appearance, in a dual meet with Flint Central. That is, if weather and field conditions permit.

Cranes probably should rate slight favorites, largely on the result of a seven-game (3-4) southern training trip, concluded last week. Chiefs have been working outside for better than a week, but this will be their 1st competition.

Bob Johnston was expected to open for Chiefs on the mound. With Al Hayward, backstop, Bob will try to repeat what Marv Caswell and his mates did in the 1954 opener. PHS won that one 9-1.

Five who went against Cranes a year ago are back. They are Ted Wharry, 1b; Jerry Vallad, 2b; Don Daniels, ss; Dick Slade, 3b; and Walt Poe, cf. Bob Smith in right and Bob Murphy, lf, round out the probable batting order.

For the Cranes, Coach Fred Campbell said he was undecided between Pete Bedford and Dave Campbell for pitching chores. However, rest of his batting order will be: Joe Prendergast ss; Mark Cunningham, c; Jim Grube, lf; Pete Dawkins, 1b; George Gary cf; Charles Dunkel 3b; Dave Cooper 2b; Chuck Grube rf.

Pontiac's trackmen performed spectacularly in the recent Central Michigan College invitational, with an overwhelming victory over several SVC foes, and should be rated strong favorites in today's dual.

Schloerke, who has been out of town for several days, returned today to direct his squad. Dean Wilson ran things during his absence, and reported that PHS looks to be much stronger than the Indians, in the overall picture.

The Tribe lost to Saginaw in lost week's dual, with the best performances in the medley relay, the 880 relay and in the dashes. The latter events may produce some of today's highlights. Herm Windom, Indian sprinter, last season consistently beat Pontiac's Freeman Watkins. He is the one favored Tribesman.

Chiefs should dominate the high jump, pole vault, the hurdles, possibly the broad jump, the quarter-mile, and maybe the distances. Pontiac showed surprising strength all around, at Mt. Pleasant.

Today's meet covers all the usual events (13) including the 100 and 220 which will be run for the 1st time this season by the PHS crew.

PHS entries will be about the same as those at Mt. Pleasant, with additions to most events.

Sees 63rd Buc Opener

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—Edgar Cypher, 80-year-old Bedford hotel proprietor, plans to be at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh Thursday to see his 63rd consecutive Pirate baseball home opener. Cypher hasn't missed an opening game since 1893.

Entries Open for Net Test

Entrants are now being registered for the annual Michigan State Girls' Open Tennis Championships to be held between May 12 and 22 at Kingswood School Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.

Final entry date is May 7 for the singles tournament for girls under 15 years old. Playoffs for this group will take place May 12 through 15.

Girls from 16 to 18 years old will compete May 19 to 22. Entries for this group must be in by May 14.

Entry blanks and further information may be obtained from the tennis tournament manager, Kingswood School Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills. Tournament regulations permit unlimited entry in both events.

In past years young tennis players from all over Michigan as well as the central states area have come to Kingswood to participate in the annual tournament.

10 Teams Slated for City Loop Softball Action

Four Entries Listed in Class A; 6 Clubs Set in Class B

A total of 10 teams have filed entries for softball play in Class A and B in Pontiac this summer.

To date, four teams are listed for Class A, with 6 teams set in "B." There still is room for more entries and managers of interested teams should contact John Streit of the Parks and Recreation department, FE 3-7131.

Set for action in Class A are Shaw's Jewelers, Elks, General Motors and Town and Country of Birmingham. Class B entries include Stadium Inn, White Brothers, Louie's Tavern, Franklin Products, City Employees and one team as yet unnamed.

Practice times for all teams, except Birmingham, have been allotted. Town and Country, managed by Roger Reynolds, will drill in Birmingham. Here is the practice schedule for the other teams:

Shaw's Jewelers (Clint Plympton)—North Side, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Elks (Ed Baker)—Beaudette, Tuesdays and Thursdays. GMC (John Hicks)—Beaudette, Mondays and Wednesdays. Stadium Inn (Ray White)—Oriole Field, Mondays and Wednesdays. White Brothers (Ed Prokchs)—Oakland Park, Mondays and Wednesdays. Louie's Tavern (Dick Stafford)—Bagley Field, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Unnamed team (Robert Overcashier)—Crofoot Field, Mondays and Wednesdays. Franklin Products (John Emanuel)—Crofoot Field, Tuesdays and Thursdays. City Employes (Clyde Townsend, Bob Sutton)—Oriole Field, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Move Under Way to Clear Area Hardtop Race Picture

Hardtop drivers and owners are invited to join with Detroit-area racing people at a general meeting with NASCAR officials Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Danish Brotherhood Temple on West Forest in Detroit.

An attempt will be made at the meeting to clear up the hardtop racing picture for the area, which became clouded when the three major tracks, Motor City, Flat Rock and Pontiac M-59 Speedways, elected to have NASCAR sanction races at their layouts this season.

Bill France, national president of NASCAR, will attend the meeting along with Sheldon Hayes, Michigan-Ohio representative for the organization, Andy Barto, racing promoter at both Motor City and Flat Rock, and Don Pike, manager of the Pontiac Speedway.

NASCAR officials feel that this session with drivers and owners of the cars that ordinarily run at these tracks will resolve present difficulties. In addition to other problems, a clarification and interpretation of NASCAR car specifications will be made.

Members of the Michigan Modified Stock Car Association have voted to boycott both Motor City and Flat Rock, reportedly over a reduction in guarantee from $1,000 to $500. Under the NASCAR setup, season point-fund money is emphasized and single night guarantees are lowered. "All drivers, however, race "against 40 per cent of the gate."

Land O'Lakes Racing Association, which embraces most of the hardtop drivers and owners in this area, has had a close working agreement with the Michigan Modified in the past and is expected to go along with the "boycott".

However, a number of drivers, who competed in the past under the banner of the Land O'Lakes, will likely race at the Pontiac oval under the NASCAR setup.

Sellout Crowd Greets Braves for '55 Debut

Spahn to Face Gerry Staley as Milwaukee 9 Starts Flag Bid

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, pick of the nation's baseball writers to win the National League pennant, open the season today against the Cincinnati Redlegs before a sellout crowd of 43,110 rabid fans at Milwaukee County Stadium.

With the same team that finished only eight games behind New York last season, plus Bobby Thomson, the Braves appear to be one of the best-balanced clubs in the league. Thomson missed most of last season because of an ankle injury.

Lefty Warren Spahn, the Braves' pitching mainstay since even before they moved here from Boston, will do the home team's pitching after Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin throws out the first ball. Gerry Staley, acquired from St. Louis, in an off season trade, will pitch his first game in a Cincinnati uniform.

The Redlegs started the season in unsatisfactory fashion Monday, losing to Chicago 7-5.

The weatherman promised rain late in the afternoon, but probably not until after the game, scheduled for 2:30 (EST), is over.

Jerry Hoyt Wins AAA Race at Oklahoma City

OAKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Jerry Hoyt of Indianapolis won the 30-lap AAA big car feature race on a muddy track Sunday night at the Oklahoma City Fairgrounds.

The victory for Hoyt was worth $600 of the $4,600 purse. He won over Mike Nazuruk, Bellmore, N.Y., and Bob Sweikert, Indianapolis. The winner narrowly missed sailing over a fence on the 13th lap of the ½-mile track.

They Pay As They Serve
... Your Tax-Paying Partners!
THOSE trucks and trailers that haul the food you eat, the clothes you wear, the things you use — they pay as they serve you, yes, pay handsomely in taxes that go a long way to build and maintain the roads you travel and enjoy.
Think of it — trucks, though they make up only 12% of all motor vehicle registrations, currently pay 33% of all special highway taxes.
Trucks pay a large share of the cost of ALL Michigan's roads — — county and state roads — even though they use principally the main highways.
Yes, you as a motorist would pay a lot more than you're paying now for the roads you have in Michigan if it weren't for trucks and trailers. They pay as they serve, in big, fat figures that will amaze you.
As compared to the approximately $45 a year the average passenger car owner pays in registration fees and gasoline taxes, one 5-axle tractor-trailer pays nearly $2,000 a year!
Who says trucks don't pay their way?

Farmer Harvests Crop in Buffalo Backyard

BUFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Angelo Monachino harvested a sizeable peach crop on his "farm"—only three blocks removed from the city's business section.

The downtown farmer reaped about 15 bushels from his seven heavily laden trees. In his backyard, Monachino also has apple, prune and apricot trees and grows tomatoes, beets, cucumbers, broccoli, cabbage, beans and Swiss chard.

He has only one complaint about being a city farmer. Too many kids climb over his fence at night to sample the fruit.

Politicians Shocked

HARTFORD, Conn (UP) — A new rug on the floor of the State Senate created a shocking experience. Senators complained of static electricity shocks when shaking hands while standing on the rug. A manufacturer was called to bathe the rug with a solution to get rid of the electricity.

I HAD TO EARN MORE MONEY

So I sent $6 to The Wall Street Journal

High prices and taxes were getting me down. I had to have more money or reduce my standard of living. Like Alice in Wonderland, I had to run faster to stay in the same place.

So I started reading The Wall Street Journal. I heeded its warnings. I cashed in on the ideas it gave me for earning extra income and cutting expenses. I got the money I needed. Now I'm slowly forging ahead. Believe me, reading The Journal every day is a wonderful get-ahead plan.

This experience is typical. Each day The Wall Street Journal tells you about far-reaching changes taking place in America. New inventions. New industries. New ways of doing business. New opportunities to earn money. The Journal gives you quick warning of any new trend that may affect your pocketbook. The Journal is a wonderful aid to salaried men making $7,000 to $20,000. It is valuable to the owner of a small business. It can be of priceless benefit to young men who want to win advancement.

The Wall Street Journal is the complete business DAILY. Has largest staff of writers on business and finance. The only business paper served by all four big press associations. It costs $20 a year, but you can get a Trial Subscription for three months for $6. Just tear out this ad and attach check for $6 and mail. Or tell us to bill you.

Kroger Offering 97 Scholarships for Coming Term

Ninety-seven outstanding high school graduates will begin college studies in agriculture and home economics under the Kroger Scholarship Plan for 1955, it has been announced by C. Olaf Talla, manager of the retail food firm's Detroit branch which operates stores in this area.

The $200 one-year awards are available for next fall at land-grant colleges in 17 midwestern and southern states in which Kroger operates, as well as California and Florida where the company's produce procurement offices are located.

Any graduate of an accredited high school is eligible. Applications should be made directly to the dean of the college of agriculture, or through county agents, home demonstration agents, home economics teachers, or vocational agriculture instructors.

Selection of winners will be made by the scholarship committee at each college. Awards will be made on the basis of scholastic achievements in high school as well as leadership qualities demonstrated in school, church, 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, New Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, or similar organizations.

Heavy Selling Shakes Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy selling shook down wheat and soybean prices on the Board of Trade today. Feed grains, particularly corn, help up quite well.

At one time soybeans declined as four cents while wheat was down around 2½ cents. Both grains rallied slightly from their extreme lows, registered during the first fifteen minutes of trading. Selling was based on yesterday's Agriculture Department crop report.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1⅛ to 1½ lower, May $2.08; corn ¼ lower to ¼ higher, May $1.42⅛; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, May 70⅝; rye ¼ lower to ½ higher, May 97½; soybeans 1 to 2½ lower, May $2.48¾; and lard 3 to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $13.17.

Ford to Release Financial Data

Half-Century Blackout on Monetary Dealings Will Be Lifted

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. plans to make public details of its financial operations this year for the first time in more than half-a-century.

The decision to reveal the heretofore closely-guarded financial secrets of the giant automotive company was disclosed last night by Ernest R. Breech, Ford chairman.

"Some time this year," he told the New York Financial Writers Assn., "the financial and operating facts of the Ford Motor Co. will be made public."

Since 1903, Ford's financial ups and downs have been veiled from public scrutiny.

The only public clues to Ford's finances have appeared in the company's annual report filed in Massachusetts as required under the laws of that state.

Breech said he hoped the financial statement would include the year 1946 when the company was losing 10 million dollars a month and was short of cash to meet its operating expenses.

"Let me just say," he added, "that since 1946, from the standpoint of profits goals, of determining the amount of dividend payments, of financing new plant and facilities and in every other operating particular, the policies of the Ford Motor Co. have been exactly the same as they would have been had we actually been held accountable by thousands of stockholders."

Ford stock is held chiefly by the Ford family and the Ford Foundation.

Commenting on problems peculiar to the auto industry, Breech denied allegations the auto makers are overproducing; discounted automation as a threat to employment; cited company efforts to stabilize employment; said dealers' profits before taxes are running more than double last year's figures; and declared that legislation was not the answer to the "bootlegging" of new cars through used car dealers.

Straits Ferry Schedule Goes Into Effect Friday

LANSING (AP) — The spring ferry schedule at the Straits of Mackinac will go into effect Friday, one week earlier than planned, the State Highway Department said today.

The earlier schedule results from the absence of ice in the straits.

Under the ew schedule ferries will leave St. Igace ad Mackinaw City at 2 a.m., 3 a.m. nd inaw City at 2 a.m., 3 a.m. and 4 p.m. and no departures from St. Ignace at 1 a.m., 2 a.m. and 3 a.m.

Student on Motorbike Struck by Automobile

Reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital this morning was George L. Beltz, 17, of 265 Cottage St. He suffered a broken jaw after an auto struck his motorbike at Auburn Ave. and Perry St.

L. C. Ennis, 33, of 467 Howard McNeill St., told Pontiac Police he was making a left turn from Auburn onto Perry and "didn't see the boy on the bike," traveling west on Auburn. Beltz was on his way to Pontiac High when the accident occurred.

Judge Makes Habit of Taking Office Oaths

RALEIGH, N. C. (UP)—Taking the oath of office is becoming a habit for Judge Francis O. Clarkson of Charlotte.

Clarkson took an oath when he was appointed a special judge in 1953. In February 1954 he became a regular superior court judge, succeeding an appointee to the State Supreme Court, and again took an oath.

He was elected to a "short term" in the general election Nov. 2, 1954, and took another oath. The short term expired Jan. 1 and he took his fourth oath of office in 18 months to begin a full term as an elected regular judge.

Market Reflects Salk Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Producers of the new Salk vaccine were active and higher today in early dealings in the stock market.

Their gains went from fractions to between 1 and 2 points. Higher were Parke Davis, Pfizer and Merck.

The rest of the market was generally higher with changes running from between 1 and 2 points higher today around a point lower.

Major divisions showing improvement included steels, motors, rubbers, chemicals and oils.

Aircrafts were generally lower as were the airlines. Other sections were steady to mixed.

Higher stocks included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott Copper, American Cyanamid, Monsanto Chemical and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Lower were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Sears, Roebuck, Boeing, United Aircraft, Southern Pacific and Eastern Airlines.

Yesterday's market was slightly higher with the steels and aircrafts lower. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 20 cents at $162.

Family of Eight Burns to Death

More Than 50 People Flee Blazing Building in Resort Town

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., (AP)—A mother and father and six children perished early today as fire leveled a downtown business and apartment building.

More than 50 persons lived in the three-story frame structure in the business section of this upstate resort.

Many fled, screaming, to the street, half-dressed. One man was hospitalized with burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Abeel, their children, and 10-year-old Garry La Rue were trapped as the flames engulfed the building.

The ages of the Abeel children ranged up to 11.

William Selby, 43, suffered burns of the face and back.

Carl Baxter, one of those who escaped, said he awoke to find smoke filling his apartment. He aroused his wife and their five children and they groped their way down the front steps.

Freeman Green, assistant fire chief, said that firemen answering the alarm found the back of the building "a mass of flames."

A bar, a paint store and a furniture store room occupied the first floor of the structure, in Caroline St.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Ford Beginning GAW Parleys

Company, Union Meet Today for First Talks on New Contract

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. today joins the dramatic, high-stakes poker game being played in the booming auto industry over the union demand for guaranteed year-around employment.

Representatives of the CIO United Auto Workers start new contract bargaining talks with Ford similar to those begun last week with General Motors Corp.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW and the CIO, has said he expects to put over the guaranteed annual wage idea with the spread it throughout the UAW's spread it throughout the UAW's claimed 1½ million membership and eventually throughout American industry.

Both Ford and GM, while avoiding taking any public stand on the year-around pay plan, have stressed in pronouncements this week that they have done a good job in regularizing pay and employment.

Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, said in a speech to New York financial writers last night that Ford is doing "everything in our power to maintain stable employment in an industry that has usually been subject to wide siwngs in consumer demand."

Ford workers have been averaging better than 40 hours a week of work for some time and enjoyed an average $107 weekly pay in March, Breech said. He said his company is paying out a lot of money in premium overtime pay instead of hiring temporary workers who would only have to be laid off.

In 1927, he said, when Ford shifted from the Model T to Model A cars, the company was shut down completely for 4½ months and it was a full year later before full production was attained.

By contrast, he said, less than a quarter of Ford's 136,000 production force was laid off as long as two weeks in the change-over to 1955 models.

At Belleair, Fla., NAM President Henry G. Riter III said yesterday that guaranteed annual wage talk is meaningless until someone learns how to guarantee annual sales volume and income to industry.

77 Million Persons See 60 GM Films

DETROIT—Nearly 77,000,000 persons—approximately half the population of the United States—last year viewed the 60 documentary movies available through General Motors' film library.

Requests for the films, which range in interest from "Fishin' for Fun" to "ABC of Jet Propulsion," totaled 96,211, a 22 per cent increase over 1953. The jet propulsion story recently won the American Film Assembly "Oscar" as the best documentary in the science category.

Since 1939 General Motors has produced films on varied subjects for free distribution to civic groups, schools, churches and similar organizations. Last year the 6,000 reels were shown 259,450 times. Schools and colleges were the biggest users.

Top-Level Shifts Listed in GM Assembly Division

Appointment of two plant managers and several other organization changes were announced today by J. L. Conlon, general manager of the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac Assembly Division of General Motors.

Conlon named Kenneth N. Scott manager of the Southern California plant at South Gate, succeeding H. L. Cole, who is on leave of absence. Robert J. Hammand succeeds Scott as manager of the Arlington, Texas, plant.

Joseph C. Christy was appointed production manager of the Southern California plant, succeeding E. L. Christopher, who has been placed on special assignments.

H. F. Settle was appointed production manager of the Arlington Plant, succeeding Richard J. Howlett. Howlett was named production manager of the Atlanta, Georgia, plant, succeeding Hammond.

'Love Thief' Loses Try for Liberty but Raps Foe

CHICAGO (INS) — Mrs. Alma Fergerson, jailed as a love thief, lost her second try for freedom but got in a crushing feminine blow at her antagonist, Mrs. Theresa M. Pritchard.

Mrs. Fergerson, 52, declared in Criminal Court yesterday that Mrs. Pritchard is 17 years older than she says.

Mrs. Pritchard indignantly denied the charge, then put up another $3.50 to keep in jail another week the woman she claims stole her former husband, Roy Fergerson, 49.

Chief Justice Richard B. Austin denied Mrs. Fergerson's bid for release on a writ of habeas corpus. The jailed woman's attorney argued that there was no demand by Mrs. Pritchard for the $25,000 Mrs. Fergerson was ordered to pay her for alienation of affection before having her jailed, and therefore the incarceration was improper.

Fergerson guilty of alienation with malice, and Judge Austin agreed no demand for payment of damages is necessary.

"Why is she allowed to misstate her age? She is not 42, as she says. She is 59," Mrs. Fergerson blurted.

Mrs. Pritchard, who resumed the name of a former husband after Fergerson divorced her, replied huffily, "That's a lie."

Mrs. Pritchard can keep her love rival behind bars for six months by paying $3.50 a week for her board. She said this week's money was sent to her by a sympathetic Florida newspaper reader.

The Florida writer, obviously a woman, wrote Mrs. Pritchard:

"It's about time the law begins to do something about unscrupulous women who see a husband, decide they want him and move in like a cat."

Business Notes

P. F. Karner, 711 Menominee, salesman for Hardware Mutuals, has just completed an advance training course put on by his company in Detroit, Michigan.

The course was designed for the company's insurance counselors to increase their proficiency in fire, casualty and group insurance lines.

750,000 New Fords Delivered in 5 Months

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. said today that more than 750,000 new Ford cars and trucks have been delivered to retail customers since 1955 models were introduced five months ago today.

Ford said this was a post-war record and exceeds by almost 100,000 units retail sales in the first five months after introduction of the 1954 models.

Section 7. That Section 4 of said Ordinance No. 2 being the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance, be amended to read as follows

Section 4. Districts

For the purpose of this Ordinance, Independence Township is hereby divided into the following Zoning Districts which may be referred to as either Districts or Zones and designated as follows:

Residence 1 District designate as R 1
commercial 1 District, designate as C 1
Manufacturing 1 District, designate as M 1
Manufacturing 2 District, designate as M 2
Suburban Farms District, designate as S F
Agricultural District designate as A
Recreational District, designate as R
Gravel-Sand District, designate as G S

The boundaries of said district shown upon the map marked and designated Zoning District Map of Independence Township where is attached hereto and made a part of this Ordinance are hereby established; said map and all notations, references, and other information shown thereon shall be as much a part of this Ordinance as if the matters and information set forth by said map were all fully set forth and contained herein.

Section 8. That Section 5 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed.

Section 9. That sub-sections 6.1, sub-heading 7 of Section 6; and sub-sections 6.5, and 6.7 of Section 6; be amended to read as follows:

6.1 sub-heading 7) Accessory uses customarily incident to any of the above permitted uses including not more than one private garage.

6.5 Rear Yards. In a Residence 1 District, there shall be on every lot a rear yard, the minimum depth of which shall be five (5) feet for a one-story building, provided; however, that a private garage may be constructed in said rear yard. On a lot occupied by a church or other building in which persons congregate or which is designed, arranged, remodeled or normally used for the congregation of persons, in numbers in excess of twenty-five (25) the depth of the rear yard shall not be less than fifty (50) feet.

The depth of a rear yard abutting upon a street shall be not less than the depth of front yard required for a building of the same size, and kind on the adjoining interior lot, fronting on such rear street.

6.7 Buildings on the Same Lot. Accessory buildings and portions thereof not exceeding one story in height may occupy not more than fifteen percent (15 per cent) of the lot area. On a corner lot accessory buildings shall not occupy any part of the minimum required side yard space abutting upon a street nor any of that portion of the rear yard lying nearer to the street than the width of side yard required on such lot and abutting on such street. One (1 dwelling only shall be erected on a lot which is part of a recorded plat.

Section 10. That sub-division 4 and 7 of sub-section 9.1 of Section be amended to read as follow,:

4. Parish houses, community buildings, and clubs.

7. A Trailer Coach Park if the Board of Appeals finds such would be constructed and operated in accordance with the State Law but no permit therefor shall be issued until after a hearing has been had thereon by the Board of Appeals after 5 days previous notice thereof has been given to a majority of property owners within 2,000 feet of the perimeter of the site of the proposed Trailer Coach Park and the Board of Appeals determines after such hearing that the use of the proposed Trailer Coach Park would not be detrimental to the interest of the majority of the property owners within 2,000 feet of the perimeter of the proposed site.

Section 11 That sub-division 8 of subsection 9.1 of Section 9 be added to said Ordinance No. 2

8. Apartment houses multiple dwellings, motels All buildings erected, altered, or moved into this district to be used for the housing of two or more families, either permanently or transiently shall conform to the requirements for other buildings permitted in this district except as follows

(a) Area of Lot. A minimum width of one hundred (100) feet at the highway or street together with an area of not less than fifteen thousand (15,000) square feet, provided however that in dwellings housing more than two (2) families the area shall be increased six hundred (600) square feet for each additional family

(b) Side yards. There shall be a minimum side yard width of ten (10) feet on each side of every principal building. For buildings containing more than two (2) families this width shall increase three (3) feet per family for each side yard however this shall not require in any case a greater width than twenty (20) feet.

(c) Rear yards. There shall be a minimum rear yard of fifteen (15) feet for every lot which shall not include any space allotted for parking areas.

(d) Area of Buildings. For apartments, multiple dwellings and motels housing two (2) or more families and containing complete housekeeping units, the floor area shall contain not less than four hundred twenty (420) square feet per family exclusive of any garage, accessory building or utility room space and this area shall be divided into not less than two (2) rooms and one (1) bath. For motels where no housekeeping facilities are provided the floor area of each unit shall contain not less than two hundred twenty four (224) square feet and shall be divided into not less than one (1) room and one (1) bath.

(e) Parking Area. A definite allocating of space for off-street parking of not less than two hundred (200) square feet exclusive of driveway and other area-ways shall be provided and set aside for each dwelling unit for the purpose of parking motor vehicles. In case of partial occupancy such as commercial and dwelling, this space shall be in addition to that set aside for commercial purposes.

(f) Inside Courts. In cases where a building is so constructed that part of its front may face into a court and its rear faces both the side lines and the rear lines, then the side lines shall be treated as rear lines provided however, that for continuous buildings containing more than two families the so-called rear yard depth of fifteen (15) feet shall be increased three (3) feet per family for each rear and side yard however, this shall not require in any case a greater depth than twenty (20 feet.

(g) Outer Courts. Where a building is designed for both commercial and dwelling purposes outer courts may be substituted in lieu of side yards for the part of the building used for dwelling purposes, provided however that driveway access to rear of lot must be provided on one side of property and provisions of Section 9.2 (a) relating to walls abutting or facing side lot lines have been complied with. At any given level such outer court shall be six (6) inches in width for each foot of height of the highest wall abutting said court but in no case shall such width be less than ten (10) feet, nor less in length than one and one-half (1½) times the width.

Whenever any room in which people live or sleep cannot be lighted and ventilated from a street rear yard, side yard, or outer court an inner court must be provided At any given level such inner court shall not be less than 9 inches wide for each foot of height of the highest wall abutting such inner court but in no case shall any inner court be less than ten (10) feet wide or less in length than one and one-half (1½) times the width.

Section 12. That sub-section 9.4 of said Section 9 of said Ordinance No. 2 be amended to read as follows:

9.4 Height. Building or portions of buildings shall not exceed a height of of two and one-half (2½) stores or thirty-five (35) feet except that towers, steeples and similar structures may be erected to a greater height when permitted by the Board of Appeals.

Section 13. That sub-section of 11.2 of said Ordinance be amended to read as follows:

11.2 Area of Buildings and Lots. No dwelling shall be erected or altered in this district which provides less than six hundred twenty-four (624) square feet of floor area per family at the first floor level, exclusive of any garage area or area in any accessory building. The area of a utility room in dwellings constructed without a basement shall not be included in the computation of square feet. All lots in this District shall contain a minimum of three (3) acres and shall have a minimum width on the highway of two hundred (200) feet.

Section 14. That sub-sections 11.6 and 11.7 of Section 11 be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 15. That sub-section 11.8 of Section 11 be amended to read as follows and that a new section sub-section 11.10 be added to said Section 11.

11.8 Tenant House. The owner of land in this District may erect a tenant house for use of employees in connection with the land providing said tenant house meets all requirements for dwellings built in this District as to area and yard space.

11.10 Accessory Buildings. All accessory buildings except garages used in connection with the dwellings, shall be built at least two hundred (200) feet from the highway upon which the lot fronts and seventy-five (75) feet from the side and rear-lot lines.

Section 16. That sub-section 12.2 of Section 12 be amended to read as follows:

12.2 Dwellings. All dwellings hereafter erected in this district shall provide a minimum of six hundred twenty-four (624) square feet of floor area per family at the first floor level exclusive of any garage area or area in any accessory building. The area of a utility room shall not be included in the computation of square feet. Dwellings and garages used in connection thereof built in this District shall have a minimum front yard depth of forty (40) feet and a minimum side yard depth of ten (10) feet.

Section 17. That Section 12A be added to said Ordinance No. 2 to read as follows:

Section 12.A Gravel-Sand District.

Section 12 A (1). Uses. In a Gravel-Sand District no buildings or land, except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance shall be erected or used except for one or more of the following specified purposes:

a. Any use permitted in a Residence 1 District.

b. Mining, quarrying, excavating of sand or gravel or both.

c. Location of processing plants for the purpose of stockpiling of sand or gravel, or both, mined on the premises.

Section 12.A (2). Requirements and Regulations.

a. No gravel or sand shall hereafter be mined in any part of Independence Township, to which this odinance applies, unless a permit for such work has been issued by the Township Board of Appeals.

b. Applications for the permits mentioned in sub-paragraph a. of Section 12.A (2) shall be made in writing and shall be accompanied by a corporate surety bond for the faithful performance of all of the applicable requirements set out in Section 12.A (2). Said bond shall be in the amount fixed by the Township Board of Appeals, but not less than one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars and shall be with sureties approved by the Township Board of Appeals. Said bond shall specify the time for the completion of all of the applicable requirements of said Section 12.A (2). Such permit shall be renewed for like periods provided an application accompanied by bond is filed within six (6) months before any expiration date, with the said Township Board of Appeals as provided herein in case of original application, provided the applicant is carrying out the requirements of his permit in good faith and there exists no judicial determination at said time to the contrary.

All equipment used for the production of sand or gravel shall be constructed, maintained and operated in such a manner as to eliminate as far as practicable noises, vibrations or dust which are injurious or annoying to persons living in the vicinity.

d. No production of sand or gravel shall be permitted nearer than fifty (50) feet to the boundary of a district designated Gravel-Sand District nor shall such production be permitted nearer than fifty (50) feet to the boundary of an adjoining property within any such Gravel-Sand District unless the written consent of the owner in fee of such adjoining property is first secured.

e. No excavation shall be made closer than seventy-five (75) feet from the right-of-way line of any existing or platted street, road, or highway, except mining of sand and gravel may be conducted within such limits in order to reduce the elevation thereof in conformity to the existing elevation of the adjoining and existing or platted street road or highway and provided further however, that the excavated area shall be backfilled within twelve (12) months for a distance of one hundred and fifty (150) feet from the right-of-way line of any existing platted street, road or highway so assure an elevation in conformity to the existing elevation of the adjoining platted street, road or highway.

f. All excavating must either be made to a water producing depth such depth to be not less than five (5) feet measured from the low water mark, or graded and backfilled with the strippings to assure the following:

1. That the excavated area will not collect and permit to remain therein stagnant water.

2. That the surface of such area be backfilled with the strippings, over-burden and top soil removed from the excavation and graded as necessary to reduce peaks and depressions thereof to a surface which will result in a gentle rolling topography. The banks of all excavations shall be backfilled and graded as provided herein and shall be sloped at a slope which will not be less than one and one-half (1½) feet horizontal to one (1) foot vertical and said bank shall be sodded or surfaced with a minimum of six (6) inches of suitable soil and the same shall be seeded with grass seed.

3. To plant trees, shrubs, legumes or grasses upon the parts of such area where revegetation is possible.

4. That the banks of all excavations not backfilled as provided in sub-paragraph f. of sub-section 12.A (2) shall be sloped to the water line at a slope which shall not be less than one and one-half (1½) feet horizontal, to one (1) foot vertical and said bank shall be sodded or surfaced with a minimum of six (6) inches of suitable soil, and the same shall be seeded with grass seed.

h. Whenever the permit referred to in sub-paragraph a of subsection 12.A (2) hereof shall have expired or whenever any gravel or sand pit or excavation shall have been abandoned for any period exceeding twelve (12) consecutive months, all plants, buildings structures (except fences) stockpiles and equipment shall be entirely removed from such property.

Section 18. That sub-sections 13.2 13.5 and 13.6 of Section 13 of said Ordinance be amended to read as follows

13.2 Alterations, Moving, Repairs. No existing building shall be repaired at a cost of more than two hundred (200) dollars, nor shall any work be commenced for the construction or erection of a new building or excavation therefor, nor any existing structure moved from without into another district nor moved within a district and placed upon a new foundation without first obtaining a building permit issued by the Building Inspector of the Township.

13.5 Permits. If the Township Building Inspector finds the application conforms to the requirements of this Ordinance and the Statutes, he shall mark all copies of the application approved over his signature, one copy of which shall be retained by him, one copy shall be filed with the Township Clerk and the other copy shall be returned to the applicant, together with a construction card signed by the Building Inspector stating the extent of the work authorized which card shall be attached to and remain on the building during the progress of the work authorized. The approval of the application and the issuance of the construction card by the Building Inspector shall not be binding upon the Township Board or the Board of Appeals. In case it is subsequently discovered that the plans or the completed building do not conform to the requirements of this Ordinance, if the Building Inspector refuses to issue a building permit, he shall in all cases state such refusal in writing with the cause and reasons for said refusal.

13.6 Use and Occupancy Certificate. No building constructed or altered at an expense of two hundred (200) dollars or more nor any building moved into nor moved within and placed upon a foundation in any district in Independence Township shall be used or occupied until the Building Inspector has after inspection, issued a certificate of occupancy and compliance. No fee shall be charged therefor and such inspection and certificate shall be issued within five (5) days after request therefor has been made if at the time of the inspection the improvement has been completed

Section 19. This Ordinance shall be published in accordance with the provisions of Act 184 of Public Acts of 1943 of Michigan as amended and also submitted to the County Zoning Commission in accordance with Act 183 of Public Acts of 1943 of Michigan as amended.

Section 20. This Ordinance shall take effect 30 days from and after the date of its final passage by the Township Board of Independence Township.

Fifth Avenue Is Gay, Dignified

Sparkling Style Shows, Holiday Spirit Crowd Television Channels

NEW YORK (INS) — A gayety and dignity ruled along Fifth Avenue as TV's cameras went to the Easter Parade.

Gone — the walking billboards, incredible gimmicks and weird publicity stunts of former years —as New York put its best foot forward for the TV lenses.

Among the thousands jamming the Avenue in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the cameras didn't pick up one chapeau draped with a squirming rabbit, or even one chorus girl from a Broadway show prancing in costume.

TV will have to split credit with the police department, which saw to it that all publicity hounds were exiled to Siberia (Madison Avenue).

Spring styles held the spotlight on NBC, with the best fashion shows we've seen presented on TV to date.

Arlene Francis held the frippery fort from the Pierre Hotel with Ben Grauer describing the goings-on at 59th Street's Plaza.

Tex and Jinx MC'd a lunch fashion show from the Waldorf with Eleanor Lambert stage-directing and narrating the high-fashion parade, which was smooth, well-paced and exciting to look at.

Practically every other program from "Omnibus" (which signed off for the summer) to "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" to the Stork Club got into the Easter spirit script-wise.

Our only complaint, a sore hand from dial-swiveling. Too much good going on at the same time.

Robert Montgomery Unable to Do Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Television producer Robert Montgomery had planned one of his rare recent appearances as an actor last night in the title role of "The Great Gatsby," but an attack of influenza upset things.

Montgomery, who usually limits himself to introducing guest players in his NBC-TV show Robert Montgomery Presents, collapsed during an afternoon rehearsal of the scheduled play. A film of "Such a Busy Day Tomorrow" was substituted for the evening show.

"The Great Gatsby" was rescheduled for four weeks later.

Dulles Warns About Peace at Any Price

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says Communist leaders are scheming to build up "a popular demand for peace at any price."

If such a mood became prevalent, he said, the Communists could "easily conquer the world."

Addressing the fifth annual All-Jesuit Alumni Dinner, Dulles said last night the Communists could "confront the free peoples with successive choices between peace and surrender; and if peace is the absolute goal, then surrenders become inevitable."

In such circumstances, he said, "peace can be a cover whereby evil men can perpetrate diabolical wrongs."

"Craven purchase of peace at the expense of principle" could destroy man's "capacity for moral and intellectual judgment," he said, and give world leadership to "those who believe that men are in fact nothing more than animated bits of matter."

Sir Anthony Moves Into No. 10 Downing

LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden moved today into No. 10 Downing St., the official residence of British prime ministers for 220 years.

He arrived at the drab, brick-fronted house just as his predecessor Sir Winston Churchill left by plane for a two-week holiday in Sicily.

Eden, who became prime minister last Wednesday, stepped jauntily from an official car to the entrance of No. 10 and paused a moment for press photographers. Only three spectators were there to watch his arrival.

Eden spent his first weekend as prime minister at Chequers, his official country residence.

Deer antlers are made of solid bone and are shed once each year, while horns have only a bony core surrounded by a horny sheath and are a permanent fixture, never shed except in the case of the prong-horned antelope.

FLYING PLATFORM—This unusual aircraft, called the Flying Platform, takes off with Pilot Phil Johnston at the controls. It was built at Palo Alto, Calif., for the Office of Naval Research. Russians Go to Church Too, Visiting Texan Discovers

(Editor's note: Alfred G. Hill of the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) Oakridger and George Johnson of the Long Beach (Calif.) Independent-Press-Telegram returned to New York today after a tour behind the Iron Curtain with a group of American editors. Herewith they tell of a happy adventure experienced by a Texas Baptist in Moscow.)

By ALFRED G. HILL and GEORGE JOHNSON

NEW YORK (INS)—Marshall Formby Jr., 240-pound Texan, was back in the United States today convinced that he has pierced the Iron Curtain in Russia.

It all came about on the final Sunday our party was in Russia and Formby, good Baptist that he is, located the Church of the Baptist Union in Moscow.

He was not prepared for the reception that was his. Entering the front door of the crowded church, an aged woman usher guided Formby to a rear basement, and then up a winding stairway to the church platform.

Looking out over an auditorium the visiting Texan estimated that 2,000 persons were packed in the room, a high proportion older women with shawls over their heads.

The audience listened avidly, and joined an excellent choir located in the gallery in an impressive singing service. One of the church officials could speak English and Formby arranged to return that evening in order to make a tape recording of a portion of the service.

To his amazement, the Texas' radio man found that the evening audience was as large as that of the morning. Formby was asked to speak, his greeting being translated, paragraph after paragraph.

Then Formby told us, came the climax. Just before he departed, the audience arose and sang "Till We Meet Again," the music being the good American brand, but the words were in Russian. Then the entire audience waved handkerchiefs in farewell.

"I'll confess that that song and the chautauqua salute really got me," Formby said. "Tears were still in my eyes when I was a block away from the church.

"I learned a number of things about that church. There are 4,000 members, and was told the Baptist Union has nearly 500,000 members in the entire Soviet.

"Next summer they will have representatives at an international meeting of Baptists to be held in London. One other thing, while a high proportion of the audience was made up of older people, I learned that there were to be 42 baptisms during the coming week."

There was one other episode in Moscow which Formby said he will remember. He visited the American Club, which is maintained for the benefit of service men stationed at the embassy and other special duty. When a Texas Marine saw Formby's ten gallon hat, he insisted upon a trade. So the big Texas radio operator returned to the States wearing a Russian fur cap.

Dream House Lands Winner in the Jailhouse

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Russell L. Brand's sad story: from dream house to county jail.

Brand said the dream house — a $60,000 home, built for a motion picture and awarded to him in a 1948 contest — started all his troubles.

His attorney said Brand had to mortgage the house for $15,000 to pay the taxes on it. After he moved into the mansion pressure mounted, the attorney said. Business losses put Brand deeper in debt.

Finally Brand was arrested on grand theft charges for allegedly bilking people in used car dealings. Three charges against him were dismissed yesterday in Superior Court, but he got six months for a fourth.

Brand said he wouldn't be moving back into the dream house after he finishes his jail sentence. He said he had to sell it — to satisfy his creditors.

Boy Found in Store

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eight-year-old Robert Whiting was reported missing yesterday. Civilian volunteers joined city, county and state police in a seven-hour search for the boy. Robert was found last night in a downtown drugstore drinking pop.

Hot-Air Heating Popular Again

Dual Role for Cooling Home in Summer Aids Comeback of Units

NEW YORK (AP) — The urge to cool off in hot weather is aiding the comeback of an institution of grandfather's day—hot-air furnace.

The warm-air heating industry is teaming up with the air-conditioning industry. Add in some assists from the all-but-total electrification of American homes, the rapid increase in the use of fuel oil and natural gas in the heating units, and the nation's home building boom.

Result: a 45 per cent increase in sales of the warm-air heating industry in the last five years. The American Institute of Management estimates wholesale totals last year reached 183 million dollars on 773,500 units sold.

The present warm-air system isn't too much like the cast-iron furnace into which grandfather shoveled coal, to let the hot air rise through ducts to the upper floors.

Now it's streamlined, made of steel, is equipped with electric blowers and fans, regulated by thermostats, and may be heated by oil and gas.

And of late, it is increasingly being combined with cooling equipment to serve as an all-year round conditioner of air and controller of temperature in the modern home.

The institute forecasts that the warm-air heaters—which fell out of favor for a time—will stage an even greater comeback in the next 10 years. It foresees a continuing sizable market for new homes, plus "an almost unlimited replacement market of poorly engineered, antiquated or badly installed furnace units."

Operation Fatty Trims Waists of Bulgy Airmen

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Operation Fatty is trimming waistlines for bulgy members of the 17th U.S. Air Force at nearby Wheelus Field.

Lt. Col. Claud M. Mears, 42, of Helena, Mont., commanding officer at the base hospital, said he lost 14 pounds as the result of a slimming diet he drafted in conjunction with U.S. Air Force dietitians.

The diet provides 1,000 calories a day—and admonitions to eat nothing between meals and cut out both alcoholic and soft drinks.

Each member of the Air Force is weighed weekly. Bulgies are directed to the base hospital for trimming down action.

two poached eggs, one slice of toast, one pat butter.

Breakfast—Two small grapefruit.

Lunch — Average serving roast beef, half cup green beans, tossed salad with lemon or vinegar dressing, two peach halves.

Supper — Large broiled steak, half cup peas, pears with grated cheese salad, two small tangerines.

Coffee is served with all meals but minus cream or sugar.

Four fifths of the accidental deaths among U.S. carpenters and painters occur off the job.

You Just Can't Cash Those Cash Due Notices

DENVER (AP) — You just can't cash those tax due notices like checks, a government official told Coloradoans yesterday.

In plaintive tones George H. Allan, state director for the Internal Revenue Service, conceded the statements of what a taxpayer still owes may look a little like refund checks. The latest to reach his desk, a dun for $15.37, was cashed by a supermarket here but payment was refused at a bank.

Priests Form Union

WAKAYAMA, Japan (AP) — Sixty-three Buddhist priests of the 1,150-year-old Koyasan Kongobuji temple have formed a union. Their stated aim: protection against "arbitary personnel changes."

Rheumatic Fever Takes Heavy Toll

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)—Rheumatic fever is the largest single cause of death from disease in the age group from 5 to 16 years, according to a member of Iowa's Health Department.

Dr. Walter L. Beirring, director, division of gerontology, heart and chronic diseases, said rheumatic fever takes twice as many lives as does tuberculosis, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough or diphtheria.

He said many deaths in adult life are blamed on heart disease, when rheumatic fever is the basic cause. Dr. Beirring said careful surveys show that 90 per cent of all heart disease under 30 years of age is caused by rheumatic fever.

Sales and Gas Taxes Bring In the Revenue

CHICAGO (UP) — Sales or gasoline taxes were the greatest single source of revenue for three-fourths of the states in 1954, Commerce Clearing House reports.

Twenty-two states relied on sales and use taxes for the biggest fraction of their total tax collections. Thirteen others depended most on gasoline taxes.

In 10 other states, income taxes were the major revenue producers. Severance taxes topped all others in Texas and Louisiana, and New Jersey's biggest revenues came from vehicle license fees.

Fire Served a La Carte

HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP) — Noticing his seat cushions ablaze, Hanson drove his auto to the fire station, sounded the alarm, and waited for the fire to be extinguished. He then drove away, sitting on a wet seat.
