4 Face Arraignment on GI Home Loans

Name 6 Others Co-Conspirators on 2nd Charge

Group Indicted Includes
Ex Teamster Official,
5 Members of Local 614

Four men, including a former Pontiac Teamsters official, were scheduled for arraignment today before Federal Judge Theodore Levin in Detroit charged with irregularities involving government insured GI home loans in Waterford Township.

Indicted yesterday were: Louis C. Linteau, 42, of 615 E. Tennyson Ave., formerly secretary-treasurer and business agent of Teamsters Local 614.

William N. Gilmore, 40, of 32035 Waltham St., Southfield Township, former salesman for the Walton Ranch Homes, Inc. and now in the building business.

Joe Pollina, 46, of 3540 Oakshire St., Waterford Township, superintendent of maintenance for Motorcar Transport Co. in Pontiac.

Leroy Stein, 42, of Detroit, formerly vice-president of the Walton homes corporation and now construction engineer for a building company.

Six others, including five present members of Local 614 and a past member, were named as co-conspirators in a second indictment.

U. S. Assistant District Attorney Dwight K. Hamborsky said the FBI had been checking purchases of homes in the township where the Walton company constructed 40 houses in 1951.

Linteau, in the first indictment, was charged with filing a false statement in 1953 with the Veterans Administration concerning the purchase of one of the homes. He was also named as a co-conspirator in the second indictment.

In it, Gilmore, Pollina, and Stein are charged with conspiring with the six, all veterans and eligible for GI loans, to have them file applications with the VA that they intended to occupy homes.

The indictments charge that the veterans named did not own, live in, or make down payments on the properties they applied for.

Listed as co-conspirators were: Alvy F. Bush, 29, Frank Orsini, 38, and Donald A. Stone, 29, all Local 614 business agents; Arthur Lee Costello, 29, former local member; and Bobbie L. Johnson, 36, and Horace M. Todd, 36, members of the local.

Hamborsky said the government charges that the veterans were promised $100 and better jobs to make false representations in their applications.

Linteau Once Target in Pontiac Bombing

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

One of four men indicted yesterday in an alleged GI home mortgage racket was once a central figure in the topsy-turvy history of Pontiac AFL Teamsters Local 614.

Louis C. Linteau, 42, of 615 Tennyson Ave., narrowly escaped death on Nov. 14, 1949, when a bomb exploded in the breezeway of his Pontiac home.

Law officials tagged the bombing, one of two that occurred that night, as "scare" bombings. They theorized that they might have stemmed from internal troubles of the local.

Leann Harrelson, then Pontiac's state representative and now acting president of the 3,500-member local, said the incidents were attacks against organized labor.

Dissatisfaction had resulted when member-backed candidates for a union election were forced off the ballot by a ruling that their dues had to be paid a month in ad-

Beck Tax Case to Be Reviewed

Union Boss Referred to Justice Department for Next Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The income tax case of Dave Beck, beleaguered boss of the Teamsters Union, has been referred to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

There were signs, however, that the department will proceed cautiously in acting on information collected during a three-year investigation by the Internal Revenue Service.

There still are conflicting reports about what happened at a closed meeting of the Teamsters' 13-man executive board here yesterday.

One version was that the 62-year-old Beck had been encouraged in his plan to set up a million dollar publicity fund to tell "my story."

DISCLOSURE FUND — One reliable source reported that when the million dollar fund came up for discussion before the executive board yesterday only Beck and his chief administrative assistant, Vice President Elmer Mohn, voted affirmatively.

This source said the board did authorize between $150,000 and $200,000 for a one-year advertising program in behalf of the union. The program was described as "limited strictly to telling the Teamsters' story" rather than Beck's story.

John English, veteran general secretary of the Teamsters Union, has been actively and openly opposing Beck's publicity fund idea. One report was that his views prevailed at yesterday's meeting.

Meanwhile Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate committee indicated the group may resume its public hearings about April 15. He said the next phase of the inquiry would involve some labor unions and employers in the Scranton, Pa., area.

Twister Leaves Chaos in Wake of Dash Through Dallas

TOORNADO'S FURY — An ominous black funnel darkens the sky over Dallas, Tex., (left) as the city felt the full fury of yesterday's tornado. Strength of the twister is indicated in the picture at right which shows strips of metal roofing that were blown into and wrapped around a Dallas tree. The tornado first hit in a residential area and plowed its way across town for about 25 miles in a little more than an hour. The city's west side received the most damage in the disaster.

Texas Twister Razes
800 Buildings; Damage
at Least $1½ Million

DALLAS (AP) — A huge, black tornado whirled and roared over a deadly, 21-mile path across Dallas yesterday as thousands watched in fear and awe. Nine persons were killed and police sought others reported missing.

Nearly 200 were treated at hospitals for injuries. Estimates place the total injured at 400, with 800 buildings destroyed.

Jess Curry, assistant police chief, said damage would be at least 1½ million dollars.

The alert on more tornadoes lasted through the forenoon today.

Tornadoes also plowed into southern Oklahoma and killed at least five persons.

Richard Dean, 24 and his wife Mary Ann, 23, of Lansing, Mich., were among the injured in the tornado which struck in Durant, Okla.

Rescue workers found the couple in a wrecked service station. Relatives in Lansing said they had learned that both had been taken to a hospital in Durant where Dean was reported in critical condition and his wife in serious condition.

Others in the service station were killed, reports indicated. The Deans were en route to Houston on vacation. Dean is a vocalist and his wife the organist.

Another person was killed near Paris, Tex., as a series of tornadoes ripped around north Texas.

The tornado lashed out of a black rainstorm. An estimated hundred thousand people watched as it swayed a leisurely, jerky course from South Oak Cliff through west Dallas and north-west Dallas.

For 40 horror-filled minutes the lashing funnel filled the dark sky above a frozen city.

Passengers and crew of a Braniff Airlines plane watched from the air as the plane circled after takeoff from Dallas' Love Field.

FANTASTIC JAMS — Traffic piled up into fantastic jams all over western Dallas.

"Oh, lawd, it roared down like a freight train and then was on us tearing our house down," Robert Thurman, 31, sobbed. Blood oozed from a wound in his head. He trembled from shock as he sat beside his injured wife at Parkland Hospital.

The hospital was jammed with crying, wailing, bloody people. There were dozens of children, many numb and soaked with blood.

Four of the dead were children, including three in one family. One was a month-old girl and the three brothers and sisters, aged 5, 3, and 2 years.

May Break Drought's Grip

Denver Area Hit by Record Snow

DENVER (AP) — The heaviest spring snowstorm in 22 years moved out of the Rocky Mountain states today, leaving five dead and abundant water for the area pinched by drought since 1949.

Jubilant farm leaders said the stacks of snow—some as high as five feet—on the mountain watersheds more than offset any livestock losses. The parched plains were drenched with rain and snow.

Schools in Denver, Cheyenne, Wyo., and most other cities joined rural districts in closing down until tomorrow.

Rail, highway and air travel—snarled and erratic for 36 hours—was due to return to normal today.

Heaviest snowfalls were reported in the mountains and in cities along the eastern slope of the Rockies.

15, Cheyenne, Wyo., 10 and Leadville, two miles high in the central Colorado Rockies, 27-inches.

"This is the greatest thing that could have happened moisture-wise to our state," said Gov. Steve McNichols of Colorado.

Paul Swisher, Colorado agriculture commissioner, said the storm "might be the forerunner of the end of the drought" that set in eight years ago.

Three Denver men died of heart attacks while shoveling snow or pushing automobiles stuck in the mushy drifts. Two men died in traffic accidents blamed on poor visibility.

Colorado Springs, 70 miles south of Denver, received the heaviest blows from the storm. City Forester Fred McKown said the damage to trees was the worst since a September 1935 storm.

Scores of utility and telephone lines in the Colorado Springs area snapped under the weight of falling tree limbs.

Red Cross officials declared Colorado Springs a disaster area and throughout yesterday a score of jeeps, manned by El Paso County sheriff deputies, ran emergency errands. These included supplying medicines and special foods to stranded householders.

1,500 Teamsters Jam Portland Meeting

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Some 1,500 Teamsters turned up at last night's meeting of their local and the session had to be postponed until a bigger hall could be hired. A new date has not been set. Usually "only a handful" of the 5,000-member General Teamster Local 163 shows up at meetings, a Teamster said.

Members filled the 900-seat auditorium early and by meeting time had spilled into the hall and out into the street.

The meeting was the first the local has had since Teamster President Dave Beck was accused by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee of misusing union funds.

Find Dead Body in Trunk of Car

Flint Ex-Convict Cicalo
Strangled, Tied, Beaten;
Long Police Record

DETROIT (INS) — The slaying of an ex-convict whose body was found stuffed in the trunk of his car was being investigated today by Detroit police.

The body of Joseph A. Cicalo, 43, of Flint, Mich., was discovered last night after his car was located in Detroit.

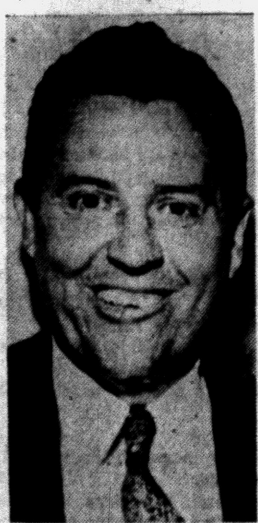

The Wayne County medical examiner's office said Cicalo had been strangled and apparently pistol-whipped. His skull was fractured and his nose smashed. His feet were bound and his hands tied behind his back.

Cicalo's wife, Margaret, 34, reported her husband missing last Saturday.

Mrs. Cicalo came to Detroit yesterday after being informed her husband's car was parked in front of a Detroit home. She found the body while searching the auto for a clue to her husband's disappearance.

Cicalo served time in federal prisons for counterfeiting and had a long police record. He appeared before a grand jury in Flint recently but his testimony reportedly was not too important.

Roberta Allred Declared Insane

Confessed murderer Roberta Sue Allred was declared insane yesterday, and ordered committed to Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

The 18-year-old former mental patient who told police of drowning her baby-sitter charge in a downtown Detroit hotel was examined by a three-member sanity commission.

Detroit Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause ruled after the sanity commission said Miss Allred was "a potential arsonist with a marked homicidal tendency."

Examining doctors said she had a split personality, and also had a persecution complex. The commission reported the teenager was unable to assist them, and was unable to understand the nature of her crime.

Before the examination she was charged with first degree murder in the death of Patricia Tiernan, 2½-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mildred Tiernan, 36 Florence St.

Dr. Albert J. Wallaert, sanity commission spokesman, told the court the commission was surprised the girl had been released from Pontiac State Hospital July 27, after three years of care.

Miss Allred of 33 Gingell Ct. blurted out the story of the killing when she was arrested by state police for loitering outside Jackson Prison, where she had gone to visit her brother Frank, an inmate.

She had been babysitting with Patricia and her younger sister, Catherine, 11 months old about three weeks. Catherine was left alone in the Tiernan apartment when Miss Allred took the trip to Detroit with Patricia March 14.

Three men escaped with $1,100 in cash, a watch, diamond ring and a quart of whisky after they entered a Pontiac home at gunpoint and left a housewife tied to a davenport yesterday.

Mrs. Hazel Grove, 171 Bassett St., told Pontiac police the men entered her home and robbed her after she had opened the front door in answer to a knock about 8:30 p.m.

They first tied her feet and hands and then strapped her to the davenport before they left, according to police.

Army Quells Uprisings in Chile, Haiti

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES
Army units were called on today to restore order in separate uprisings on Haiti and in Santiago, Chile.

The capital city of Chile was under a state of siege with army tanks and troops patrolling the streets to prevent violent student demonstrations which already have taken a possible 15 lives.

In Haiti, the army appeared in firm control of Haiti today as that volatile Caribbean Negro republic dumped its third President in four months.

ARMIES IN CHILE

Chilean President Carlos Ibanez early today promised the "energetic use of arms, whatever the consequences," to end a rising wave of violence stemming from anti-inflation demonstrations.

Estimates of the dead, including some policemen, ranged from eight to 20, but the Presdent of the Chamber of Deputies Julio Duren said 15 persons were killed in the fighting. Many were injured.

The state of siege proclamation was issued by the government last night after leaders of the principal political parties held an emergency meeting.

Santiago police were replaced with army troops, the capital garrison was reinforced from the provinces, schools were closed indefinitely, public transportation was suspended for two days and a nighttime curfew was ordered.

ARREST HAITIAN

Provisional President Frank Sylva of Haiti, who resigned last night under whipped-up public pressure, was reported under palace arrest pending investigation of an alleged bomb plot. The inquiry was launched after police found three caches of arms and explosives.

Word spread that Brig. Gen. L. M. Cantave, army chief of staff, may take over the presidential functions until Haiti's newest political muddle is cleared up and elections are held.

An informed source said Sylva had failed in an attempt to get away in a car driven by his sister-in-law, Undersecretary of Labor Lydia Jeanty. She was arrested later.

Sylva's Cabinet was forced out last week under charges the provisional chief of state was rigging the presidential election set for April 28 in favor of candidate Francois Duvalier. Nine other candidates are in the race.

CHILEANS PROTEST

Demonstrations by the Chilean Students Federation began five days ago in protest over government ordered increases in public transportation fares.

Texas Sending Dem to Senate

GOP Hopes Smashed by Election of Liberal Ralph Yarborough

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — The liberal wing of the Democratic Party — often a bridesmaid but seldom a bride in Texas politics — today rejoiced over the election of its standard-bearer, Ralph Yarborough of Austin, as the new junior senator from the Lone Star State. (See picture on page one.)

The 52-year-old party loyalist, who will be a moderate liberal on the national scene, defeated a score of opponents in a plurality contest yesterday, including the veteran conservative Martin Dies of Lufkin, now congressman-at-large.

Yarborough's victory burst a Republican bubble of hope that GOP candidate Thad Hutchison of Houston might win and give President Eisenhower's party control of the Senate, now slimly in the hands of the Democrats. It would have only taken his vote to tip the balance.

Yearborough will replace temporary Sen. William A. Blakley of Dallas, a conservative Democrat appointed by Gov. Allan Shivers on his last day in office. Yarborough will fill Price Daniel's unexpired term which ends Dec. 31, 1938. Daniel resigned from the Senate to become governor of Texas.

He said one of his first tasks as senator will be to see that Dallas, hit hard by a sneak tornado late yesterday, is declared a major disaster area for federal aid.

Yarborough also declared today he will work for "rebuilding the grand alliance" between the United States, France and England.

While huge searchlights arced in a victory celebration outside of his Austin campaign headquarters, the veteran of two world wars said he "realized I am the most junior of the junior senators and probably can't do much about changing foreign policy." But he added:

"I believe we should support only the democratic nations and we must not weaken our bonds with our oldest allies, France and England."

applications for home mortgages. Lintean is charged as being the "middle man" in the scheme, interesting teamsters in the offer. The Servicemen's Readjustment Act provides for mortgage loans insured by the VA at four per cent interest to veterans who intend to purchase and occupy their own homes.

It specifically prohibits the use of mortgages for investment purposes. Hamborsky said Lintean had acquired three of the homes and was receiving rent from them. The indictments are on misdemeanor counts with penalties up to a year in prison, plus $1,000 fines.

The said transactions in the indictments ran from 1931 through 1933. Hamborsky added that the Teamsters Local 614 as such did not enter into the charges.

2 Men to Be Sentenced on April 15 for Break-In

Two Pontiac men will be sentenced April 15 on charges they broke into the Downtown Auto Wash, 81 S. Perry St., March 17 to steal cigarettes and other things. More Than One Way to Kill a Book

BRIDLINGTON, England (INS) — The public library at Bridlington, in an effort to discourage certain reading habits, has placed on display books which were damaged by borrowers.

Among those exhibited are books mauled by dogs, books with pages burned, and one book with pages glued together by the yolk of an egg. But the prize exhibit is a book opened to the title page on which is written in ink, in large letters: "Fish and chips in oven. Make some fresh tea."

MEMO TO CAESAR

Disturbance in the Temple

(Another in a Lenten Series.)

Pilate's letter to Caesar went on . . . After entering Jerusalem, Jesus and his followers went into the temple which is the chief place of worship among their sect in this province. It is indeed a handsome place, but of late the courtyard has virtually been turned into a row of market stalls by vendors and money changers who have set up booths there to take advantage of the crowds.

I have told you this Jesus is a mild man, but according to Junius who concealed himself in the throng around him, he was anything but mild on this occasion. He ordered the traders, the salesmen, the pawnbrokers, and the panders out of the holy place and his eyes flashed as he spoke.

Junius records his words: "My house is the house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves."

When the place was restored to a semblance of quiet, the Nazarene began to preach, telling the crowd one of the parables they so much enjoy.

Destructive Fires Strike in Lansing, Detroit, Toledo

LANSING (INS) — Eight firemen were overcome by intense heat and smoke today in fighting a fire at the W. T. Grant Co. store in downtown Lansing.

Three of the injured firemen were hospitalized but Fire Chief Charles T. Decker said their condition was not serious.

The fire was discovered at 2:42 a.m. in the third floor of the four-story brick building at 117 N. Washington St., a block from the State Capitol in downtown Lansing.

Decker said the blaze had apparently been smoldering for some time, as neighbors later reported smelling smoke around midnight. Heavy smoke and the intense heat slowed efforts to put out the fire, which was brought under control at 4:30 a.m.

"It was just like an oven in there," Decker said. "The trouble was there were no windows in three sides of the building. We couldn't get at it until we knocked a hole in the roof."

Damage was confined to the Grant Building, owned by Michigan State University. The fire was mostly confined to the third and fourth floors, used for storage and offices. Two main floors and a basement are used for retail sales.

Decker said cause of the fire was still being investigated. No immediate estimate of damage was available.

DETROIT (INS) — A fire, apparently set by burglars trying to crack a safe with acetylene torches, swept through the Cobo Cleaners early today causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

The cleaning company is owned by Edward Cobo, nephew of Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo. Police were attracted to the building by a burglar alarm, saw flames inside and called firemen.

Officers found two torches by a safe. An attempt had been made to cut into the safe but it was unopened.

Loss was estimated by Leroy Androw, the company manager.

TOLEDO, Ohio (INS) — Twenty-seven race horses died early today when a barn went up in flames at Fort Miami Raceway, which opened a 44-day race meeting yesterday.

Every horse in the barn either died in the fire, or was burned so badly it had to be destroyed.

Track employees formed a bucket brigade, and set horses free from adjoining barns. Firemen from nearby Maumee and Adams Townships confined the blaze to the single barn, one of 16 at the track. A track spokesman said the cause has not been determined, although it was possibly an overloaded electrical circuit.

The track said today's racing program will go on as scheduled.

DETROIT (INS) — A Detroit fireman walked through a burning living room today to rescue a woman and her three-year-old son who were trapped in a bedroom of their three-room apartment.

Rescued by Robert Cherget were Mrs. Barbara Adams, 24, and her son, Kenneth.

The Adams apartment is on the seventh floor of the building and several other tenants on the floor were forced to flee their apartments because of smoke.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in a couch from a smoldering cigarette.

McGill said his organization had reports of 400 injured.

"JUST FELL IN"

"The house just fell in on top of us. The walls did, I mean, and the roof went somewhere else," sobbed Aron Armstrong. He brought his injured sister-in-law to the hospital. Blood poured from his own head wound.

"My wife and kids and sister-in-law laid down on the floor but I was watching and I got in a sort of trance and didn't move."

"This whirling wind was full of dirt and planks and when it got so close to me I didn't know what to do so I just stayed there."

Tornado in Dallas Kills 9, Injures 400 of twisters which hopped over the state. Other scattered injuries and damage were reported. A wide band of the northwest part of Texas was under a severe weather warning.

PANIC IN STREETS

Panic rose in the streets as traffic piled up.

"I've got to get out of this jam—it's hitting my house and my wife is home," a tearful old man begged and cried.

Many simply abandoned their autos, fearing the tornado was heading toward them. Police cars and ambulances, their sirens screaming, fought for passage.

The tornado was first spotted near Red Bird Airport, about 10 miles south of the heart of this north central Texas city of half a million.

It then plowed northward like a giant top, spinning through residential, business and manufacturing areas. It slammed through Oak Cliff, part of the Trinity industrial district, west Dallas and on the north.

It finally broke up near Love Field, northwest of downtown Dallas.

The base of the funnel apparently varied from 150 to 500 feet in width. Huge pieces of debris were whirled an estimated 2,000 feet into the air and sailed out sideways as the twister smashed houses, businesses, trees and vehicles. Brilliant flashes kept hopping about the base as power and trolley-bus lines snapped.

HOUSES LEVELED

The twister slammed into a Negro district of small frame houses in west Dallas, leveling 46 of them in a three- or four-block area. Nearly 50 persons were injured there.

Police evacuated a 13-block area where 197 homes were destroyed.

Bill McGill, state coordinator of defense and disaster relief, said a "survey shows 154 houses in Dallas demolished. One hundred sustained major damage and 85 minor damage. Four apartment houses were demolished and 10 commercial buildings destroyed. Two Red Cross shelters were opened for the homeless."

McGill said his organization had reports of 400 injured.

Ex-Wife of Booth Killed in Auto Crash

Mrs. Mary Booth, 54, of Palm Springs, Calif., the former wife of E. W. Booth Jr. of Grand Rapids, was killed early yesterday when the car in which she was riding collided with a truck on US-99 in Coacolla, Calif.

Mrs. Booth's daughter, Mrs. Ralph Willis, 33, of Atlanta, Ga., and another woman, Mrs. Ruth Bilbo, 65, passengers in the car are in satisfactory condition in a hospital after they suffered minor injuries. The truck driver escaped injury, police said.

Mrs. Booth was a daughter-in-law of the late Edmund W. Booth, formerly of Booth Publishing Co. Her husband was the nephew of the late George Booth of Cranbrook.

Officials Meet Again on Gas Strike Issues

DETROIT (INS) — State and federal mediators met with union officials and the Standard Oil Co. today in another effort to end the month-long gasoline and fuel oil strike in the Detroit area.

The strike, called by local 389 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union, has affected eight of the 10 major companies in the Detroit area.

Key issue is a union demand for a 25 cents an hour wage increase for about 700 employees. The best oil company offer so far has been nine cents an hour.

Dr. Adams' Counsel Asks for Dismissal

LONDON (INS) — Dr. John Bodkin Adams' counsel appeared to Justice Sir Patrick Arthur Devlin today to throw out the murder indictment against the society doctor from Eastbourne.

Chief defense counsel Geoffrey Lawrence argued the prosecution had failed to support its charge that the 58-year-old physician had drugged a rich old widow, Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, to death to get a chest of silver and a Rolls Royce automobile from her estate.

UNEF Shifts Forces in Gaza

Officials Study Reply by Egypt to U.S. Plan for Running Canal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — The United Nations moved to consolidate its emergency force in the Gaza Strip today amid renewed indications the "peace army" will stay put for a long time as a buffer between hostile Egyptians and Israelis.

At the request of UNEF Commander Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the U.N. approved a plan to move the emergency force's base camp from Abu Suweir in Egypt to Rafah, southernmost point of Gaza.

The UNEF air base at Abu Suweir will be shifted to El Arish, only 25 miles southwest of Rafah.

Officials studied today a reply from Egypt on U. S. proposals for revising Egypt's Suez Canal operating plan to protect the interests of user nations.

There was no immediate information on the contents of the note, received last night from Ambassador Raymond A. Hare in Cairo.

Gun Down Slayer of Anita Carroll

TEHRAN, Iran (INS) — The Interior Minister announced today loyal tribesmen had killed the slayer of Mrs. Anita Carroll in a two-hour gunfight outside a village in southeastern Iran.

A ministry spokesman said tribesmen, armed by the government to track down the slayers of Mrs. Carroll, her husband and another American, had gunned down Ghaderad, "reportedly the assistant" of fugitive bandit chief Dadshah.

The announcement said tribesmen spotted Ghaderad while he was trying to enter Benet village to get food and water for the other members of the gang.

The spokesman said Ghaderad was the bandit who slew Mrs. Carroll after the other Americans and two Iranians with them were killed in an ambush March 24.

Installing the club officials was Elmer Lepp, president of the Waterford Township Toastmasters Club.

It is estimated that the nation's 72,000,000 drivers travel an average 7,800 miles a year per driver.

'That's Where the Old Man Was Standing'

Dallas Homes Heap of Smashed Bricks

DALLAS (INS) — The homes of hundreds of Dallas residents exploded and crumbled yesterday as a tornado turned a crowded residential area into a heap of smashed bricks, boards, glass and household goods.

Ed Marsh, a heavily built Negro in his 40s, stood on a pile of gray concrete blocks that had been the walls of his service station.

He pointed to blood smeared on the bricks and said, "that's where the old man was standing." The unidentified old man was carried to a hospital. Marsh didn't know if he was alive.

Marsh found his father and 13-year-old daughter buried under the rubble of the station.

He and some friends pulled them out and they were taken to a hospital. He said they were seriously hurt.

Across the street from the service station the front wall of a two-story red brick building had been swept away by the churning tornado. Two bedrooms on the top floor were exposed — the maroon beds were draped perfectly on the beds, undisturbed.

Boys ran through the cafe on the first floor of the building taking bottles of pop.

Draped across telephone lines and tree limbs were sheets of corrugated steel from T. M. Davisson's wholesale oil and grease company. The metal carried 500 yards and strewn about like sheets of newspaper.

Davisson, who said his plant was "completely ruined," figured he was lucky to be alive.

"A customer drove into the yard and got out of his truck. I said 'Here comes a tornado.' The man asked 'What will we do?' Well we climbed into this big oil storage tank and stayed in there until the tornado passed. It sounded like a thousand freight trains. But we weren't touched."

In one of the worst battered sections of Dallas, a section crowded with frame homes on dirt streets, the tornado smashed 197 homes in a 13-block area.

Gas leaked from broken pipes, and live wires made the area dangerous. Sheriff's officers and policemen patrolled the area on foot to prevent looting. All residents were ordered to leave the area.

Red Cross and Salvation Army officials set up shelters for the hundreds of homeless.

One Negro woman, Eula Mae Land, sat on a chair next to the rubble that had been her home. It was night, and she said "I guess I'll go to my sister's house."

Her husband and four children had been taken to a hospital.

The Day in Birmingham

Local Woman Describes Earthquakes in California

BIRMINGHAM — Just back from California, Mrs. William Burlingame, says she thinks her preference runs to earthquakes rather than tornadoes. On the other hand, one nearly always has forewarning on tornadic storms. Deep in her heart she admits she can get along very well without either of them.

Mrs. Burlingame, well-known horticultural lecturer and writer, was in San Francisco during last month's earth quakes and says,

"The store was two-stories high," she said, "and the whole upper area was hung with jangles. When the tremors began the jangles all jangled and the earth seemed to go horizontal."

She admits pushing the panic button during one of the shocks. She was in her room at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel when the violent rocking began about 4 a.m. With no thought other than to save something and herself Mrs. Burlingame grabbed her empty purse and ran down the hall.

She said that to her however, the visit to Disneyland which she described as truly magnificent was ample recompense for all the quake scares.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley this morning announced the resignation of Sgt. Milton Jones effective April 20. Jones, a member of the local force since 1948, had served prior to that in Highland Park and is a Navy veteran. He will assume the duties of Chief of Police at Three Rivers on April 22. Jones is a graduate of the short-course at Northwestern University's Traffic Institute.

Meeting the first Tuesday of the month Bloomfield Township Auxiliary Police continue their training to be of assistance in time of disaster or need. The men are under the supervision of police chief Clark Green and Sidney Eder, civil defense deputy.

Henry Houston, head of the township's defense program, said last night's class on Self Defense and the Use of Fire Arms was conducted by trooper Gerald Tafer, Michigan State Police.

Embury Methodist Church will hold another in its series of Lenten Family Night Pot Luck dinners at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow. Mrs. Ralph Hartshorn will speak on Malaysia, her native land. She is the wife of the associate minister at the Cass Community Methodist Church in Detroit. A special film strip will be provided for children during the evening.

A trusteeship was clamped on the local by Teamsters boss Dave Beck in 1953 because of Lintean and Keating's prison terms. The union constitution states that such action will be taken when internal labor friction arises.

Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa stepped in as trustee, a position he still holds today. The international control of the local automatically tossed out all officers.

At the time it was believed that Hoffa reinstated Lintean and Keating as business agents in the local.

Today the trusteeship of Hoffa and some $1,000,000 in union dues collected between 1942 and 1952 are the basis for a request for an investigation of the local by Sen. McClellan's labor rackets committee.

Committee Counsel Robert Kennedy said a preliminary investigation into Local 614 here has already begun.

Bloomfield Township Votes All-Republican

In Bloomfield Township, all candidates were Republican.

Votes polled were: Supervisor, Arno L. Hulet 1318; clerk, Robert H. Dudley 1297; treasurer, Homer W. Cass 1312; trustee for a four-year term, Gordon T. Getsinger 1295 and trustee for a two-year term, Mark R. Kraus 1288. Justice of the peace is William R. Rudell, with 1291 votes, and highway commissioner is Jasper B. Reid Jr., 1296 votes.

Serving on the board of review will be Howard T. Keating Jr. with a vote totaling 1300. Constables are Maurice S. Morey 1283, Russell W. C. Pickering 1289, Karl E. Rhodes 1282 and Edward N. Schneider 1278.

Now You Just Pick a Number for Pot-O-Gold

Here's another of the new, easier Pot-O-Gold puzzles for you to try. Just select the right words and write the numbers in the appropriate blanks. If your entry has all the right numbers you will win at least $100 and possibly $200. It's as simple as that. How about getting busy?

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Waterford Girl's Art Idea Wins $10 Press Award

An enthusiasm for art and two younger sisters' interest in the Junior Editor column in The Pontiac Press netted Janis Hirst, 16, of 4690 Sherbourne, Waterford Township, $10.

Janet became acquainted with the feature when she saw her sisters, Ruthy and Betsy, working on them. She came up with four ideas, drew pictures of each and mailed them in.

One of the four, an idea for cutting out and making crocuses, won the $10 prize from the editors.

Janis, a student at Waterford Township High School, is interested in art and hopes to use her talent one day as an elementary school teacher.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

SPRING IS HERE

3. Billy's Crocuses Come Up

In the fall, Billy was given a bag of small crocus bulbs. He broke some earth in his back yard until it was soft and made a nice bed for them. Then he planted the brown bulbs and put up a sign which said "Crocuses."

Winter lasted a long time, but spring finally came and Billy went out to look at his crocus bed. There was nothing there, but a few days later he saw a tiny sprig of green poking through the earth, then another and another. Before long he had a bed of beautiful pink, blue and lavender crocuses.

Color the picture and paste it on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully. Fold up the front panel. Fold the side panel forward and paste flap A under edge B. Put Billy's cap on and fold the tabs down behind his head.

Put the arm behind Billy's right shoulder and attach it with a brass fastener. Push the arm down until the hand rests on Billy's knee, then raise it and you'll see Billy's crocuses.

(Janis Hirst of Pontiac, Mich., won $10 for this idea. Send your suggestions in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins, AP News-features.)

Ex-Gangster Meets Graham

Tells Spiritual Leader He Wants to Do Correct Thing in Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Cohen, an ex-gangster turned nurseryman, prayed and read the Bible yesterday with evangelist Billy Graham.

"I'm sincerely interested in anything that's the correct thing in life," said Cohen.

Graham said he believes Cohen is "sincerely interested in spiritual things and leading a new life."

The two met in Cohen's hotel suit. Cohen was once a reputed gambling czar in Los Angeles. The pugy ex-convict was also a frequent but elusive target for gang violence. He was shot at 10 times and bombed once.

He spent four years in prison for evading $150,000 in federal income taxes.

Cohen tried haberdashery for a while, but now operates a nursery in California — "Michael's Greenhouses, Inc."

Cohen said he flew to New York just to see Graham. He said he has known Graham since 1949 and plans to attend the evangelist's New York crusade in May. Cohen was raised in the Jewish faith, but he said he was "never a very religious person."

Mary McMahon Truly Treasures Her New Gift

She Knows How Much Sight Means

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

WESTPORT, Conn. (INS)—Seventeen years ago, when she was nine years old and shy and spindly-legged as a baby, Mary McMahon went to sleep under an anesthetic.

"When I woke up, I couldn't see," she remembers, "I was kind of scared, so finally I told the doctor. He said yes, he knew. I was blind."

From that day until two months ago, Mary was almost completely without light or hope. She had a useless two per cent sight, which means that under an intense light she could barely make out the form of the large "E" on an optometrist's test chart.

"Every doctor I went to see told me I'd stay just like I was, or I'd go completely blind."

Finally Mary decided never to see a doctor again. "They terrified me."

at Westport, mostly alone—her father is a house-painter, her mother a domestic, her sister and brother married—and read endlessly and listlessly in braille.

For only one mission would she pull together the courage to be led out into the dim world: To attend school sessions for the blind. At one of these she met "a friend who's been very nice to me" named Steve Pavlik Jr. Steve now is her fiancé. He is totally blind.

THE FIRST QUARREL

In late January, Mary quarreled with him, for the first time. He wanted her to go into New York City and see a young doctor who apparently had a magic method for restoring vision to almost totally sightless people.

Mary was "ridiculously stubborn," but Steve was "impossible," and as a result she came face to face with Dr. Morris Spivack. Though she stuttered badly, and was even more withdrawn than when she underwent her operation (for meningitis, which atrophied the optic nerve) Mary made herself clear.

She would not go blind, no matter what they did to her. Dimness was one thing, but darkness was too frightening.

With the understanding of one who is devoting his life to the restoration of sight because his best army buddy went blind, Dr. Spivack promised. She would not go blind, and if she worked hard, she would see more than she ever dreamed possible.

ALL CAME TRUE

In two months, it all came true. Mary's vision has improved 300 per cent—she now has 30 per cent vision. She can watch television, walk the streets alone, and she has just won for herself a job in a toy factory as "an inspector, can you believe it? I look toys over to be sure there are no defects."

The remarkable transformation in the pretty, 23-year-old girl's vision was exhibited last week at a special meeting of "Eyes Right, Inc.," the non-profit organization.

An 800-year-old statue of Hara Gouri in black marble, found in a Balahi village of India, has been flown-to Patna for study by archaeologists.

which devotes itself to rehabilitation of legally blind persons as Mary was.

Mary read from a magazine, using special thick, high-powered lenses, and her feat was described by experts as "unique."

But there is nothing that unique about it, according to Spivack. He says the system, which could help 133,000 of the 400,000 legally blind in America, involves newly developed optical aid lenses and a strongly lighted reading board on the almost-blind student props books and magazines.

Through stern practice with the powerful microscopic lenses, the optic nerves which are still alive can be trained to better "fixation." The stronger they grow, the more light and form they perceive.

The results are, in the words of some experts, "amazing."

In the words of Mary McMahon, who no longer stutters, it all means "I can read, I can see, I can go to college, I can marry Steve and oh my heavens—it will be real George!"

Brother's Taunts Mask Jealousy

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Overweight Cathy, 12, is trying to cut down on sugars and starches.
Her parents are anxiously supporting the effort. Her father brings her a new kind of dietetic candy every night; her mother feels guilty whenever she sneaks some butter for her own breakfast toast.

But Ted, Cathy's older brother, is anything but helpful. Always a tease, he now baits her almost to tears. He'll grab her ponytail chanting, "The old fat man ain't what she wants to be!" At dinner, he'll jibe, "What, no cream on your dessert, Fatty?"

When his parents ask for better kindness for Cathy, they just make things worse.

Naturally, Ted's feeling is that Cathy is already receiving too much kindness. He's jealous of it. He teases her to expose her as undeserving of it.

The extra attention their parents have shown her since she decided to deprive herself of sweets and starches have depressed him terribly. The extra teasing is his way of trying to reduce her appeal to them. By belittling her, he hopes to make her an unattractive person in their eyes.

NEEDS KINDNESS

Ted, the apparently self-confident high school sophomore, needs better kindness himself.

If his parents can see that this is true, they will themselves find the right words to restore his trust in their affection—and Ted will stop disparaging Cathy because he himself has ceased to feel disparaged.

An older child does not overcome his jealousy of a younger child in one clean, final conquest.

His struggle with it is intermittent but continuous.

Ted's old protesting anger at displacement by his baby sister was deep and intense. It sprang from fear that he had somehow proved an unsatisfactory child to his parents. He has never quite overcome this fear.

So any special interest his parents show in Sister, the Old Usurper, stings it into life again. The old bitterness that used to impel him to make Cathy cry by snatching her toys floods back again. The only difference is that today Ted tries to make her cry by snatching her sense of self-assurance.

His teasing cries out, "See, how poor a thing is your second-born child compared with me who should still be your only child!"

Rapid Spinning While Warm Makes Creases

Avoid Heat With Miracle Fabrics

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP) — Those miracle fabrics should be handled with care.

A manufacturer says cold water washing and moderate drying heat are necessary to prevent permanent damage.

A panel studying the handling of garments made of man-made fibers has found the most favorable temperature for washing synthetics was 60 degrees, although some can withstand 100 to 120-degree water.

A report submitted by Dr. R. W. Peterson at a meeting of the Textile Research Institute points out that the most harmful variable is spinning the fabrics while they are warm or hot in a drier.

According to the research team, heat activates the fiber molecules and places them in a mobile state. If the fibers are compressed by rapid spinning while warm, the fabric forms deep creases, which become set in the fabric upon cooling.

The recommended dried temperature is about 170 degrees. Light loads require a buffer material such as a towel.

Over the past 10 years, increased production of older man-made fibers and a newer series of synthetics have won a lion's share of the textile market.

U.S. Department of Commerce reports show that the world output of man-made fibers has grown to five billion pounds a year.

KINDS OF FIBERS

The department also has classified man-made fibers according to their basic raw material. They are:

1. Cellulosic fibers made from wood pulp and cotton linters (rayon and acetate).
2. Protein fibers made from corn, peanuts and milk (zein and casein fibers such as vicara).

3. Mineral fibers made from sand and limestone and soda ash (glass fibers).

4. Synthetic fibers made from petroleum and coal byproducts (nylon, acrylic, polyester, polyethylene and vinyl chloride).

Their manufacture includes three steps:

1. Chemical action or heat transforms the raw material into a viscous solution.

2. Fine streams are formed by forcing the solution through fine holes in a spinneret.

3. These streams harden in a space of a few feet and become solid filaments and then they are twisted and wound on bobbins to form thread.

While these fabrics have many attributes such as high tensile strength, durability and resistance to mildew, they have the drawback of a tendency to electrification by static.

Static electricity is lessened when the synthetics are blended with natural fibers. It is much less of a problem in synthetic fibers with a flat weave. This problem often is overcome with an anti-static compound or metal thread interspersed in the fabric to act as a "ground." But an effective anti-static method is yet to be devised.

DIFFICULT TO DYE

Dr. Peterson says the low moisture regain characteristics of syn-

Rough Fish Spearing Starts Slowly

By H. GUY MOATS

Although the season on rough fish, the usual spring spearing and bow-shooting activity in this area, is now underway, few hardy devotees of the sport have reported any luck.

Taking of carp, sucker, redhorse, dogfish and garpike became legal in Michigan Monday for Lower Peninsula non-trout waters.

Many Oakland county lakes have considerable populations of carp particularly. Taking of these "waterbogs" is legal on any waters of the county, conservation officers say.

Bow-shooters have had some exciting sport at times with the hefty mud-rooters, and some really big specimens have been taken.

Weather at present is not exactly propitious for either spearing or bow-hunting the rough fish, but a couple weeks of higher temperatures will stir activities in this direction. "Just now" conservation officer Warren Kendall said, "they will not do too well in this section. There will not be much action before the third week of the month, when carp, suckers and the garpike move into shallows for spawning."

Some of the infested carp lakes in the area include Walled Lake, Pine Lake, Cass and others, Kendall pointed out. At one time state conservation men did a big netting job for carp in Walled Lake, where the big, fat fish were becoming a real nuisance. There are still many left.

Heavy spring runs of carp have also been observed in other years in the west bay at Pine Lake and in some of the little bays on Cass.

Anglers, however, will wait on the beginning of trout season April 27, and the bass season on June 15 to set off the 1957 summer piscatorial campaigns.

While awaiting the "regular" openings, hard-bitten fishermen can take a whirl at the annual smelt-dipping. This sport, one only for the hardy, is at its best when temperatures rise considerably above current levels. Usual times for these runs in the Lower Peninsula occur around April 7 to April 12. Many streams entering the Great Lakes afford this sport and a list of legal waters can be obtained from the conservation department.

3,125 Whitetails Killed by Cars

Michigan Total Tops Legal Kill for Many Other States

Each year the number of deer killed by automobiles in Michigan exceeds the legal kill by hunters in several of the nation's deer-hunting states, conservation department reports.

Some 3,127 whitetails were killed on Michigan highways during 1956, while hunters in at least 9 states fall to bag that number. In 1954, for example, states shooting fewer than 3,000 deer included Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, Nebraska and Tennessee.

Traffic hazards created by deer increase during the springtime, particularly in northern counties. Areas close to highways are open to sunshine and are the first to "green-up" in the spring. Deer attracted to these areas often are startled by automobiles and rush into the path of a vehicle.

The situation is especially dangerous at night.

Check Your Gear Trouters Hear the 'Call'

By JACK PATTERSON

We don't often make predictions. But maybe because it's April we feel the urge coming on. We submit that barring continuous rainfall between now and the 27th we should see one of the best opening days for trout in many years. Lower Peninsula streams are generally very low now and there is no accumulated snow to provide a big runoff. Mild, not too wet, weather from now on will do the trick.

Of all items of fishing equipment, lines probably winter more poorly than any other. Fly lines, properly cared for, don't suffer too much but who cares for them properly? If the finish is intact they can be stretched out now and "rested" and be in good shape for opening day.

A little casting practice at this time you will quickly demonstrate how badly out of whack your timing can get during the winter lay-off. Pick a target and try to smack it on the first cast with bait casting, spinning or fly rod gear and you'll see what we mean.

Feel silly fishing in the back yard? Don't, because we've counted 19 people around town doing precisely that in the last week.

After watching dozens of fly fishermen experience difficulty in laying out a decent cast we've come to the conclusion that probably the most common reason for poor casting technique is using too tight a line. As most everyone knows by now nylon lines are appreciably lighter than silk lines of the same diameter yet most manufacturer's recommendations for line sizes seem to have silk in mind. If you have trouble laying out a decent cast try the next larger size line and we'll bet that in most every case your difficulties will be over.

Lists of favorite flies for various sections are very common and make a useful reference for fishermen planning to operate in those areas. To date we have never found a published list of favorite flies for Michigan trout fishing.

It may be that we'll have to undertake the job ourselves. To do so will require help from area fishermen. If readers happen to have some pet flies that seem to work more faithfully than the general run of patterns we'd like to hear about them. Particularly we'd like to know pattern and size, what time of year they're used, what streams (if any in particular) they seem to work best on.

Sports Boycott Explained

MOSCOW (U) — By way of explaining a U. S. boycott on sports events in the Soviet Union—a boycott that has the man in the street puzzled — the Literary Gazette claimed today that:

1. U. S. Intelligence tried to tempt Russian athletes with beautiful women at the Olympic Games in Melbourne last year.
2. That at the same games, "experienced provocateurs" tried to kidnap Soviet athletes.
3. That U. S. agents even tried to plant phony secret documents and anti-Soviet literature on the athletes.

But the whole scheme was a failure, the Literary Gazette noted, and the United States is sulking on its side of the Atlantic. That's why the United States won't take part in sports events in Russia, it added.

"American intelligence tried hard to acquaint Soviet sportsmen with the young women — their agents — who more than insistently proposed having a good time," the Literary Gazette frowned.

It also branded as the chief culprits of the scheme Secretary of State Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Houston Golfer Also Favored in Masters' Event

Says Victor Has to 'Play It Cozy, Hope for Best'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U) — Jackie Burke Jr. has set a line of strategy for his bid to become the first repeat winner of the Masters golf championship — "Play it cozy and hope for the best."

"Nobody ever won this tournament by trying to win it," the boyish pro from Houston, Tex., said today. "You have to play it cool and take chances that it's good enough."

The curly-haired offspring of one of the game's greatest pros, who sneaked in with a 289 last year after amateur Ken Venturi's last-day collapse, said he figured the title would be won or lost on the Augusta National's expansive greens.

"The man with the best lag putting touch will win it," he said. "That's why I'd have to stick with fellows like Carry Middlecoff, Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret. They'll usually get down in two from anywhere on the green."

Modesty prevented Burke from saying that the reason he is rated high among the threats is that he is one of the best lag putters in the game.

Lag putting is the art of snaking a long putt close enough to get down on the next nudge.

Burke's practice rounds — he had a 75 yesterday — haven't been up to the standard of some of his contemporaries but experience has shown that practice scores are seldom a good criterion of tournament performance.

A tall Canadian, Al Balding, had the best practice round yesterday, a 5-under-par 67. He got it with a red-hot putting stick which sank four balls from 10 to 30 feet; he one-putted three other greens.

Two of the prime favorites, National Open champion Middlecoff and Hogan, shot par 72. Snead also shot a 72. Demaret had 70.

Worst Leads in Series

CHICAGO (U) — Harold Worst of Grand Rapids, Mich., world champion three-cushion billiards player, beat Joe Chamaco of Mexico City 60-18 in 40 innings yesterday to take a 300-202 lead in their 1,200-point series.

Cards Whip Redlegs, 9-2

Musial Gets 5-for-5

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS
Stan Musial has won six batting titles in 14 years but, perfectionist that he is, the old pro is working as hard as a rookie to get a good start toward his individual 1957 goal—a seventh batting title.

That work started to pay off yesterday for the "player of the decade," when he had a perfect day by slashing out five hits in five times at bat.

The 36-year-old left-handed slugger, who has not taken a batting title since 1952, thus asserted himself as a top challenger for the crown won last year by Milwaukee's Hank Aaron.

Musial's four singles and a homer helped the St. Louis Cardinals to an easy 9-to-2 win over Cincinnati at Tampa.

The man, who disregards righty-lefty pitching percentages, piled up his string of hits despite the fact that the Redlegs used three southpaws—Joe Nuxhall, Pat Scandebury and Don Gross—before Art Fowler arrived on the scene in the ninth inning.

Herm Wehmeier, an almost sure bet to start opening day for the Cards, went the first seven innings in impressive fashion. Willard Schmidt and Hoyt Wilhelm finished up.

Johnny Kucks turned in his second brilliant route-going performance in a row for the New York Yankees as they whipped the Boston Red Sox, 1 to 0, at St. Petersburg.

The Brooklyn Dodgers whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 5, at Fort Myers and hurt the comeback chances of southpaw Paul Minner by scoring six runs off him in the first three innings. Ragdy Jackson and rookie catcher Jack Roseboro homered for the Brooks.

The Philadelphia Phils, throttled for five innings by Billy Pierce, got four quick runs off bonus baby Jim Derrington to beat the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, at Clearwater. Jim Rivera homered for the losers.

Gene Baker's 12th inning homer off Billy O'Dell gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-to-6 win over the Baltimore Orioles. Bob Nieman hit a three-run blast for the Birds. Turk Lown got the win.
