G-Men Recover Gems, Nab 5 in $1,750,000 Theft

Called One of Biggest Among Jewel 'Finds' in U. S. History

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Federal agents announced the recovery today of $1,750,000 in gems stolen from a Pompano Beach jewelry store and called it one of the largest gem theft recoveries in the history of the country.

Wesley G. Grapp, chief of the FBI office in Miami, said the recovery represented the bulk of the gems stolen Saturday in a daylight holdup. Total loss in the robbery was not established.

Grapp said the gems were found when agents searched a rental automobile used by one of the robbers.

Also found in the car, Grapp said, were five loaded revolvers, three walkie-talkies, five sets of handcuffs and ammunition for the pistols.

Police held three men and two women on charges stemming from the robbery. Two other men were being sought.

Charged with robbery and held on $50,000 bond each were men identified as Paul Walter Pancsko, 28, Chicago; Richard Willard Kay, 38, Three Oaks, Mich.; and Edward H. Cook, 36, Oaklawn, Ill.

The women, held on $25,000 bond each, were booked as accessories. They were identified as Betty Jean Moody, 21, Riverdale, Md., and Mary Blanton, 33, Miami Beach, Fla.

FLASHED GUNS

Four men entered the jewelry store Saturday, flashed revolvers and pushed the manager, Joseph Taranove and an employe, Jessie Edwards, into a back room. A fifth man apparently waited outside in a car.

The robbers packed the loot in a suitcase.

Witnesses said the men drove south, parked their car, and jumped into two outboard boats. The boats were found later.

Police Chief James Boggs of Pompano Beach would not give details of the arrest, or how the women were linked to the crime.

Boggs said $300,000 in jewels was taken from the jewelry store in a 1958 robbery. He said three men were arrested at the time, but were never brought to trial for lack of evidence.

HOME AGAIN — Mr. and Mrs. Millard H. Pryor flash smiles as they escort their son Frederic from plane after arrival at Willow Run Airport Sunday. Pryor was released Saturday by East Germany Communists after spending the last five and one-half months as a prisoner. The 28-year-old Pryor was released in an exchange which swapped American U2 pilot Francis Powers for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel. Pryor today is home with his parents in Ann Arbor.

JFK-Macmillan Want Ministers to Consult First

Geneva Assembly Date Over Disarmament Set for March 14

WASHINGTON (AP) — The West appeared today to be preparing to turn down Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for an assembly of heads of government in Geneva next month.

Analysis on Page 18

But the British at least kept the door ajar for a possible later summit session.

In another development in the current high level exchanges over disarmament, it was disclosed that President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told Khrushchev last week that disarmament efforts "must not be allowed to drift into failure."

And they added: "Accordingly, we propose that we three accept a personal responsibility for directing the part to be played by our representatives in the forthcoming talks, and that we agree beforehand that our representatives will remain at the conference table until concrete results have been achieved, however long this may take."

SUGGEST PREMEETING

The Kennedy-Macmillan proposition was included in their message of last Thursday suggesting that there be a foreign ministers meeting preliminary to and in connection with the 18-nation disarmament conference which is to begin in Geneva March 14. The White House made the text of the note public today.

It was in response to this note that Khrushchev suggested in a letter delivered Sunday morning that there be a meeting of heads of government rather than a foreign ministers meeting.

The direction of the thinking apparently was reflected in remarks by British Ambassador David Ormsby Gore to newsmen after a forenoon conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the State Department.

Asked what the British position was, the ambassador said:

"We don't think it is suitable that the heads of government should start the conversation" in Geneva.

But, Ormsby Gore added, the possibility that the leaders should meet "at a later date" has to be kept open.

This was Ormsby Gore's second conference with Rusk in 24 hours. The British ambassador had called on Rusk on Sunday, when Rusk also received the ambassadors of France, Italy and Canada.

Floods Strike Western States

Hundreds Flee as Rain, Warm Weather Set Off Mountain Waterfalls

By The Associated Press

Warm temperatures and unusually heavy rain turned some mountain snowpacks — the West's water storage vaults — into flood waters over the weekend, routing hundreds from their homes in Idaho and Wyoming.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho declared a state of emergency and National Guard, Red Cross and civil defense units were called to help.

While in Southern California, the sixth day of saturation started spectacularly as cloudbursts opened up on parts of the Los Angeles area, creating lakes up to 7 feet deep.

There were flash floods in the Hollywood Hills and a house was torn loose from its foundation and pushed into the street.

7 FEET DEEP

At the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and Pacific Coast Highway early this morning the water was 7 feet deep.

It was 4 feet deep on Vermont Avenue between 88th and 90th streets in Los Angeles. It was over the rooftops of automobiles at some other points.

The police flood control office said all major streets in the Hollywood area were swash.

There was some flooding in Utah, too. The melted snow roared down U.S. Highway 40 at Heber east of Salt Lake City and closed the highway.

Rivers and creeks overflowed in the Riverton-Lander area of central Wyoming and forced more than 300 families to seek emergency shelter.

Temperatures in the 50s and rain loosened an avalanche in a canyon east of Afton in western Wyoming and killed an Afton dentist, Dr. Max H. Stock, 34, who was looking over a potential new ski area.

The Portneuf River in southeastern Idaho flooded on the southern edge of Pocatello. The river washed out two bridges at the Lava Hot Springs resort south of Pocatello. Idaho National Guardsmen rescued 36 patients from a rest home and took them to hospitals in Pocatello.

To Manage C. of C.

At a noon meeting today, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors named a Lansing man, Max Adams, to take over as manager of the chamber March 1.

Adams, 49, will succeed John W. Hirlinger, who announced his resignation from the position last December.

The new manager has a background of experience in industrial and business management and public relations work.

He will leave his job as manager of the Michigan State Employes Credit Union in Lansing to take the local job. Adams had also formerly been public relations director for the credit union and manager of the Manistee Chamber of Commerce.

He is married and has two daughters.

Mayor Rowston Decides Not to Run for 4th Term

Philip E. Rowston, Pontiac's mayor for the last four years, today announced he won't run for re-election to the City Commission this spring.

In making his decision not to run for a fourth two-year term as District 2 commissioner, Rowston said he wanted to devote more time to his law practice.

Rowston, 43, of 60 Cherokee Road, also will have to resign as a vice president of the Michigan Municipal League, a position he was elected to last fall. League officers are limited to municipal officials.

"Due to increased demands of my law practice it is necessary that I devote all of my efforts in behalf of this responsibility," Rowston said in a brief statement.

Rowston indicated he would continue to serve the city in a less official role.

WANTS TO SERVE

"My interest in Pontiac and all civic activities is not diminished by this decision and it is my hope to serve in other capacities but to a lesser degree in the coming years," Rowston concluded.

In December 1959, city commissioners appointed Rowston as the city's representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. It was the first time a commissioner had held the position. He still holds the post.

Rowston, married and the father of two daughters, was first appointed to fill a vacancy on the city commission in 1955.

He was elected to his first full term in 1956. In the fall of that year he was an unsuccessful candidate in the Democratic pri-

Powers Faces Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., asked the State Department today to give the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a "full report" on its interrogation of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American U2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers faces detailed grilling from U.S. intelligence agents when he completes a secret rendezvous with his wife.

Among questions awaiting the flier, free after 21 months in a Soviet prison, are: What really happened the morning of May 1, 1960, when he was downed deep inside the Soviet Union? How much did he tell the Russians about his mission?

Preliminary questioning presumably began shortly after the 32-year-old pilot crossed a Berlin bridge into American hands Saturday in a two-for-one trade for Soviet spy Rudolf I. Abel.

Official sources are not saying Powers is in military or government custody, but ever since he crossed a white line where Communist East Germany ends and West Berlin begins, a carefully contrived secrecy has cloaked his movements.

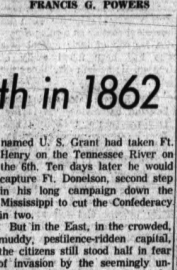

All the White House would say in a brief announcement Sunday was that Powers was home again and that he had been reunited with members of his family.

In a far-flung game of hide-and-seek dogged newsmen tried to find out for themselves where Powers and his wife, Barbara, were holding their reunion. Various leads pointed to Maryland's Eastern Shore, but the exact meeting place could not be pinned down.

The White House declined to say what family members Powers saw but presumably he met also with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers, of Norton, Va.

Cross and Abernethy Take Over Top Posts as Romney Steps Down

Special to The Press

A second major automobile company today adopted the "two quarterback" management system when American Motors Corp. directors announced the appointment of Richard E. Cross as chairman and Roy Abernethy as president and general manager.

Outgoing president and chairman George W. Romney announced the changes at a press conference this morning at the company's Detroit headquarters.

Romney, of Bloomfield Hills, was given an immediate temporary leave of absence, with no termination date, so as to complete his duties as constitutional convention delegate and then to run for governor.

General Motors Corp. made the first dual-leadership move several years ago with the naming of John F. Gordon as president and Frederick G. Donner as chairman of the board.

Romney's announcement took most newsmen by surprise as they had speculated that Abernethy, 55, of Bloomfield Township, would be handed Romney's positions as chairman and president.

TO REMAIN DIRECTOR

In his second press conference in 48 hours, Romney said he would continue as director of AMC, but with no salary or bonus consideration, and also hold the title as vice chairman of the board — "which has no duties except in the absence of new chairman Cross."

President Affected Personally by Grief

Lincoln Leader of Troubled North in 1862

By DON OAKLEY

On Feb. 12, 1862, Abraham Lincoln was 53 and president of a divided United States.

The first year of the Civil War was not yet over (and both North and South were now convinced that many more months of bitter fighting lay ahead before the madness should finally cease).

There were few tidings from the battlefronts that did anything to dispel the cold, damp, gray winter that had clamped on Washington.

Only in the distant West did the news tell of anything like victory. An unknown brigadier general named U. S. Grant had taken Ft. Henry on the Tennessee River on the 6th. Ten days later he would capture Ft. Donelson, second step in his long campaign down the Mississippi to cut the Confederacy in two.

But in the East, in the crowded, muddy, pestilence-ridden capital, the citizens still stood half in fear of invasion by the seemingly unbeatable Rebels just across the Potomac. And it was on Lincoln's tall, stooping shoulders that the hopes and fears and grief of an entire people rested.

But as if that were not enough for one man to bear, personal tragedy — not the first — was to visit him that month.

The President's birthday was a happy one, as happy as it could be. His son Willy seemed much better.

The little boy had been ailing for days. A public reception on the 5th had almost been canceled because of it.

3 Area Friends, 2 Others Hurt As Lift Jumps Track

Three Bloomfield Township neighbors plummeted 15 feet to the ground yesterday when a ski lift cable jerked out of its groove at Crystal Mountain Lodge near Beulah.

The two men and the wife of one of them are in satisfactory condition today at Frankfort Hospital. Two Beulah school girls also were injured.

Hospitalized with broken ribs were Robert J. Cousineau, 47, of 529 Westbourne Drive, and his cross-the-street neighbor, Vernor L. Caid, 42, of 520 Westbourne Drive.

About 60 persons were on the lift when the cable jumped out of its groove. Three double chairs in which the victims were riding hurtled to the ground.

Some 45 patrons were stranded, dangling precariously in mid-air, when the operator halted the lift. Some were 30 feet above ground.

All were removed in two hours by a rescue squad using ladders and ropes.

CHILDREN TO BLAME?

Keith Van Duizen, manager of the lodge which is located about 12 miles southeast of Beulah, said the accident might have been caused by youngsters on the lift jiggling their chairs up and down causing the cable to jump from the pulley.

On Dec. 21, a lift at Nuba Nob near Petoskey went out of control, killing Larry Orr, 32, of Ada, and injuring two seriously.

Another accident took place at the Mission Hill Ski Club near Sault Ste. Marie on Jan. 4 when a lift cable jumped from its groove. No one was injured.

a board of inquiry to look fully into the Powers case. CIA Director John A. McCone will determine the board's composition.

Another figure in the unprecedented exchange arrived home Sunday. James Britt Donovan, the New York lawyer who defended Abel in his 1957 espionage trial and then negotiated his deportation in a trade for Powers and student Frederic Pryor, brought word still another American imprisoned in the Soviet Union may win his freedom.

Marvin W. Makinen, 22, a student from Ashburnham, Mass, formerly of Chassel, Mich., is serving an eight-year sentence in Kiev on espionage charges.

Donovan said: "I have what I believe to be assurance that if the better relations contemplated by this exchange should develop, the Soviet Union would contemplate extending clemency to Makinen."

The secrecy that shrouded Powers' return was in sharp contrast to the homecoming of Pryor, the third principal in the trade.

The 28-year-old student arrived in Detroit Sunday on his way home to Ann Arbor, Mich., and talked freely with reporters. He described himself as "just a bonus in the deal" and said he was "happy and grateful to be here."

Pryor had been seized in East Berlin last August and held 5½ months in prison in the city for investigation of possible espionage activities.

The White House statement on Powers said that "as previously stated, he will be interviewed by appropriate U. S. government officials."

Former Editor at Press Hurt

H. Guy Moats, Sports Writer, 1 of 3 Injured in Weekend City Traffic

The former sports editor of The Pontiac Press was one of three persons hospitalized today as the result of weekend traffic accidents in Pontiac.

H. Guy Moats, 72, 115 State St., is in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

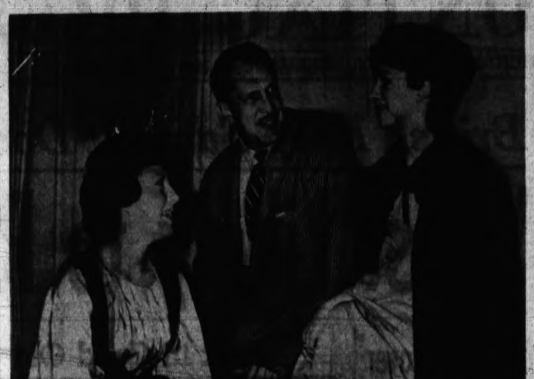

Also in satisfactory condition at the same hospital are Mrs. Jessie M. Young, 46, 651 E. Tennyson Ave., and Karen West, 15, 450 Rivard St.

Moats, who retired from The Press in September 1960, was driving east on Huron Street at 6:05 p.m. Saturday when, according to police, his car skidded on slippery pavement, skidded into the westbound lane and was struck by a car driven by William C. Hayes, 27, of S. Marshall St.

The West girl was a passenger in a car driven by Beverly V. Edwards, 16, 1355 Marylebon Road, Union Lake, which was in a collision about 9:30 p.m. Saturday at Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads.

Police said her car was struck when she made a left turn in front of an auto driven by Hendrick L. Schonstra, 35, 4048 Lomley St., Drayton Plains.

Mrs. Young was injured about 3 p.m. Saturday when a trailer-mounted compressor unit broke loose from a truck and struck the front of her auto at East Walton Boulevard near Arlene Street.

A Sad President of a Sad Nation

to the child in bed in a room on the very quiet second floor of the White House.

We do not know today what Willy Lincoln's sickness was.

Medical diagnoses of the time were often unreliable. But it was a lingering, fluctuating fever that undoubtedly etched new lines in the sad, gaunt fact of Lincoln as he spent what time he could at his son's bedside.

LOST OTHER SON

Undoubtedly, also, his thoughts went back to that other February in 1850, twelve years before. Eleven days before his 41st birthday that year, his second-born son had died. Eddie Lincoln had been not quite 4.

Children's deaths were common in those days, but then as now, it was the saddest thing in the world.

Abraham and Mary Lincoln had four sons: Robert, Edward, William and Thomas. In 1865, 19-year-old Bob was away at Harvard. Willy was 11 and Thomas, or Tad, was 8.

The Lincolns would be considered indulgent parents at any time. According to the Victorian standards of their day, they were extremely so.

Willy and Tad had the run of the White House, to the irritation and scandal of generals, congressmen, cabinet members and the numerous social climbers and office seekers who continually besieged the President.

What fun the boys had against the exciting background of the war and their father's important position!

There were real soldiers to play with, parades, visits to army camps.

More than one cabinet meeting was interrupted by their urgent need of their father, who was never too busy to handle such an important matter as signing a pardon for one of their animal pets who had been found guilty of treason. He seldom disciplined the boys.

Mrs. Lincoln later quoted her husband as saying, "It is my pleasure that my children are free, happy and unrestrained by parental tyranny. Love is the chain whereby to bind a child to its parents."

Of his sons, Willy was the one probably the most like his father. They thought and felt alike. He was a promising boy; he wrote poetry and wanted to be a preacher.

He was serious like his older brother Robert, yet had plenty of the impishness that characterized little Tad.

Now Willy lay deathly ill, and Tad, too, had come down with something and his life was feared for.

On Feb. 20, Willy Lincoln died. He was 11 years and two months old.

A people already full of mourning for its dead and dying youth felt the President's loss as their own.

The little body was placed in a temporary vault in Georgetown.

ADDED BURDEN

To Lincoln's anguish was added the burden of his wife's hysterical grief that bordered on the pathological, and the uncertainties that attended Tad's slow recovery.

Rest from sorrow finally came to Lincoln three years later.

The world knows the story of how that rest came, and how a shocked nation followed the winding course of his funeral train across the land as it made its slow way back home to Springfield.

But few know that Lincoln did not return alone. A smaller casket had been placed aboard that train. Willy Lincoln accompanied his beloved father on that long, last journey.

A key witness in a pending manslaughter trial was one of three traffic fatalities in Oakland County over the weekend.

The witness, William F. Roddewig, 37, of Lewiston, former Pontiac resident, was killed Sunday morning when his car hit a tree on Irwin road near Pontiac Lake road in Waterford Township.

The others, victims of south Oakland County crashes, were:

Mrs. Irene Tomkins, 62, of 622 Barrett St., Madison Heights.

Mrs. Betty Langereis, 56, of 12074 St. Mary's St., Detroit.

Police said Roddewig may have fallen asleep at the wheel as he drove south on Irwin. The auto went off the road just after it crossed Pontiac Lake Road and hit the tree.

Roddewig was to have testified against Kenneth L. Wilcoxen, 23, who is accused of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Mildred Kurtz. Police charge that Wilcoxen pushed the woman from his auto after a quarrel.

Roddewig, who owned the Annex Bar in Lewiston, set off the search for Mrs. Kurtz when he found her broken glasses in her trailer. Her body was found a day later.

VISITING IN AREA

The victim was visiting relatives in the Pontiac area since Christmas as he customarily did since his bar is operated with a resort license and closed during the winter months. He was a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and General Motors Institute.

Survivors include his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Gli Roddewig of Birmingham. He also leaves two brothers, James G. of Pontiac and Jerry V. of Clawson.

Arrangements are being made by the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Mrs. Tomkins was killed in a collision on 13-Mile Road in Royal Oak which injured seven persons. Three adults and a 7½-month-old baby were thrown through the windshield of one car after it collided with an oncoming car, police said.

Mrs. Tomkins, one of the adults thrown from the car, died 45 minutes after the 8:30 p.m. accident Sunday.

Driver of the other car, William D. Hillaker, 18, of 1018 E. 14-Mile Road, Royal Oak, told Royal Oak police that he was driving east on 13-Mile Road at about 25 miles an hour when he hit a chuckhole. After that, he told police, he does not remember what happened.

SAW HEADLIGHTS

The driver of the car in which the woman was fatally injured was Gordon H. Cinnamon, 31, of 3317 Normandy Road, Royal Oak. He told police that he was driving west on 13-Mile Road and that all he could remember was a pair of strong headlights suddenly coming toward him at an angle.

The accident occurred where the road changes from a three-lane highway into two lanes. The road was icy, and a freezing rain mixed with snow was falling.

A passenger in the second car, Barbara Krass, 15, of 2224 N. Wilson St., Royal Oak, is in fair condition in Beaumont Hospital. Also in fair condition is Hillaker with a possible skull fracture.

DIES IN SOUTHFIELD

Mrs. Langereis was killed in a second fatal accident in Southfield Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Langereis was in a car driven by her husband, Theodore A., 32, who said he was going north on Southfield Road and was making a left turn into a driveway when he was struck by a southbound car.

He said he thought he had enough time but that he pulled in front of a car driven by Morrey J. Kanter, 28, of 19939 Cooley Road, Detroit.

Kanter's car struck Langereis' car in the right side where Mrs. Langereis was sitting, bounced her out through the forced-open door onto the pavement, and crushed her.

Nikita Again Calling for German Treaty

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has called again for a peace treaty with Germany but still without setting any date for it.

In a greeting to a meeting of the society for German-Soviet friendship in East Berlin which ended Sunday he said: "The struggle for the conclusion of a German peace treaty, and on the basis of it, the normalizing of the situation in West Berlin, has at this time become the supreme concern of international political life. The success of this struggle will have a powerful significance for the solidifying peace in Europe and in the whole world."

Sneaks Photos Out of Havana

Refugee in Embassy Took Pictures of Life in Cabana Fortress

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Cuban underground fighter still in Havana has smuggled to New York at the risk of his life a series of concentration camp type pictures of life in Fidel Castro's Cabana Fortress.

The photographs were taken by Hiram Gonzalez, a former Castro army lieutenant now a political refugee in the Argentine embassy in Havana. He fled the Cabana fortress prison a few weeks ago on his third escape attempt.

In smuggling his pictures out, he told his colleagues in the 30th of November Revolutionary Movement in this country that they should be distributed to the world and he should be identified even if he became a "sacrifice."

Gonzalez insisted he be identified, Cuban exile friends said, because he wanted to lend maximum fled, Cuban exile friends said, believed the first to be made of the lot of political prisoners under Castro's dictatorial regime.

13 MONTHS IN CABANA

The young rebel officer spent 13 months in Cabana dungeons to which he was sentenced for being too openly anti-Communist to suit armed forces commander Maj. Raul Castro.

Gonzalez took the pictures with a vest-pocket type camera secreted on his person. He had never before taken a picture. He took many more than the 10 capable of reproduction, but most were lost because of his lack of knowledge of photography.

The pictures were offered to support what Gonzalez described as "bestial treatment" of political prisoners.

BIRMINGHAM — The Oakland County Road Commission will undertake the widening of East Maple Road along the entire stretch from Adams Road to Coolidge Highway rather than just the section from Eaton Street to the city limits (Coolidge).

The Eaton-Coolidge widening at this time had been proposed by the Birmingham City Commission.

The road commission said widening the entire stretch at one time would be the only way in which it would undertake the project.

The city commission several weeks ago had proposed three revisions affecting the proposed widening of Maple Road. These included:

THREE REVISIONS

1 — Widening only that portion of Maple from Eaton to Coolidge at this time;

2 — A width of 40 feet between Adams and Eaton;

3 — A width of 44 feet between Eaton and Coolidge.

In a letter to the city commission, a special projects engineer for the Oakland County Road Commission, Norman T. Knapp, said:

"Widening only that portion of Maple from Eaton to Coolidge would not be a practical approach to proper planning as related to the movement of vehicular traffic.

"In traveling east or west, between Hunter Blvd. and Coolidge, four usable lanes would be restricted to two-plus at an intermediate point.

"Unless we improve roads by following a pattern of continuity, we will not accomplish the purposed of an accelerated road construction program.

"Therefore we can consider only a complete project from Adams to Coolidge."

Regarding the other two city proposals, the road commission appears to be willing to make some compromise on the width of the street in the two sections.

The road commission has asked the city commission to direct city engineers to prepare studies and topographical surveys in this area on the lines laid out by the road commission.

The City Commission is expected to act on this request at its 8 p.m. meeting today in the Municipal Building.

French Leftists Spark Strikes

Walkouts Partially Successful; No Trouble Reported in Capital

PARIS (UPI)—A series of leftist-led token strikes called to protest the deaths of eight persons in riotous clashes with police last week were only partially successful in Paris today.

With more than 30,000 armed troops and riot police concentrated in the capital, there was no trouble. Security forces set up roadblocks on highways into Paris and searched cars for arms.

Before dawn, other police units searched the homes of 70 known extremists, seized documents about operations of the outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS), and held 15 persons for questioning.

But, as the Socialist party defied a government ban on demonstrations and summoned its forces to the vast Place de la Republique this evening (about 12:30 p.m. Pontiac time), there was a prospect of more trouble ahead.

RESUME TALKS

Amid this growing tension, French government sources disclosed that France and the Algerian rebel leaders have resumed secret talks and may be nearing a cease fire agreement.

One report said the meeting was taking place or would take place at St. Julien, in France close to the Swiss border.

Long distance railroad traffic was only slightly affected.

A Socialist party spokesman promised this morning that the evening demonstration today would be peaceful, with demonstrators making no attempt to break through police barriers.

But the government was deeply disturbed that the Communists might use the occasion for more trouble-making and violence.

Nasty Weather Casts Doubt on Glenn Space Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The worst sea conditions of the winter in the Central Atlantic today cast doubt on whether astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. will make his scheduled round-the-world orbital flight on Wednesday.

But space agency officials made no change in the date in hopes that the bad conditions might clear by launching time.

A weather advisory reported that winds of 35 knots were rolling up 10 foot waves today in an area between Bermuda and the Central Atlantic — where Glenn's space capsule would land if the flight were terminated after one orbit.

Ignore Red Attempts to Reserve Areas

Allies Fly Corridors to West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—Allied military and commercial planes flew the air corridors into West Berlin as usual today despite earlier Russian attempts to reserve parts of two of them for their own use.

Western officials said there was no doubt Communists were trying to undercut the West's most important links with the isolated city. The Allies were determined not to retreat an inch.

Passengers aboard regular commercial flights over East Germany today reported no unusual Russian activity in the corridors. However, commercial planes usually fly higher than the altitudes the Russians had tried to restrict for their own flights.

The officials called the Communist demands the most serious challenge to date of Western rights in Berlin, which lies deep inside East Germany. But they said that any Western backdown would only lead to further demands and restrictions.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment-for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or ever have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritation, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas. adv.

Farmer Takes a Poke at Hank Morgan's Car

TV's Henry Morgan, who drives a small, compact French Peugeot sedan, recently traveled through a farm belt and stopped at a small town for lunch. He saw a likely-looking place and parked his small car in front of it. When Morgan came out he found a lanky farmer in overalls circling the little vehicle, peering curiously at points that caught his interest. As Morgan approached, the farmer stepped back on the sidewalk.

"Good morning," said Morgan.

"Morning," returned the farmer, and, running a judicial eye over the compact Peugeot, added, "Picked that one before it was ripe, didn't you stranger?"

Frankly, 'Bird Dogs' Just Aren't Appealing

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Prof. Robert Baker of Cornell University reported at an agricultural meeting here that chicken hot dogs had been sold in an Ithaca supermarket, packaged under two different names to see which one was favored by housewives.

"Chicken franks" was favored over "bird dogs," he said. One housewife told him the "chicken franks" were wonderful but that the "bird dogs" tasted terrible.

Water Shortage Is Finally Ended

Wisconsin Town Gets Relief After a Week With Broken Main

MELLEN, Wis. (UPI) — It was the first wash day in more than a week for up to three-quarters of Mellen's homes today.

All but 20 homes had water flowing from the taps, for the first time since Feb. 5. The 20 were still without water but repairs were being made to the broken main which caused the mysterious drop in water pressure.

During the week without water some desperate housewives carried their family laundry to coin-operated washing machines on Michigan's Upper Peninsula, nearly 30 miles away.

Civil Defense authorities trucked in drinking water in paper milk cartons.

IT DIDN'T WORK

Some residents tried melting the area's ample snow cover for drinking water but the residue was blacky and gummy and had to be strained.

Leak detectors failed to spot any break in the city mains and local officials theorized the pressure drop might have been caused by unusually cold weather, which froze the ground, lowering the water table and cutting flow to wells.

But during the weekend City Councilman Mitchell Mesko noticed water rippling under the ice of the Bad River. He found it came from a storm sewer.

Workmen traced it back through the sewer and found it came from a broken 6-inch water main. The water ran directly into the culvert without coming to the surface, where it might have been seen.

Local JA Drive Edging Toward Goal of $9,600

With less than two weeks of the campaign remaining, Junior Achievement's 1962-63 fund dirve in Pontiac is about two-thirds of the way toward its goal of $9,600.

M. F. Rummel, local fund chairman and director of purchasing and production control for the Pontiac division, today annouced a net collection of $6,257 in this area.

The local campaign is running ahead of the JA fund drive in southeastern Michigan, which has received $143,982 to date, 58 per cent of its goal of $250,000.

Rummel said there are 8,000 teen-aged industrialists working part-time in 343 JA corporations in southeastern Michigan this year. The fund campaign ends Feb. 21.

'No Business' at Capital

Congressmen Mend Home Fences

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress shunts aside most of its legislative business this week to give its Republican members a chance to go home and mend their political fences while eulogizing Abraham Lincoln.

"No business" was the order of the week in both the Senate and the House, although several committees on both sides of the Capitol planned to hold hearings. Routine floor sessions were scheduled for Monday and Thursday in both chambers.

Several controversial proposals are ready for tests when Congress returns to work next Monday.

One of them is President Kennedy's reorganization plan to create a Cabinet-status department of urban affairs and housing headed by Robert C. Weaver, a Negro. The plan becomes effective at the end of March unless either the Senate or the House rejects it.

Voting is scheduled for the Senate next Monday. If the plan is not defeated there—and its backers don't believe it will be—the House may vote later in the week. The House Republican Policy Committee has opposed the new department and many Southern Democrats may join the GOP to beat the reorganization plan.

Also ready for House debate are bills to increase the national debt limit and to provide for a program of manpower retraining for displaced workers. With the debt nearing the current $298 billion limit, the House Ways and Means Committee last week approved an administration request for a $2-billion increase in the ceiling to $300 billion.

Bottled up in the House Rules Committee until after the recess, and perhaps much longer, is a school-aid bill passed by both the Senate and the House. The House voted funds only for college classroom construction. The Senate broadened the measure to include student scholarships and funds to help establish junior colleges.

The measure cannot get to a Senate-House conference without Rules Committee approval. Present prospects are that the committee won't grant clearance without prior assurance that the Senate provisions will be dropped in conference.

Deceased Michigan Man Lauded by State Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has named Robert A. McKinnon of Marenisco, Mich., posthumous winner of the State Department's superior service award.

McKinnon was the first American charge d'affaires in Ouagadougou, capital city of the new African republic of Upper Volta. He died Sept. 8, 1961, as the result of an illness. Rusk presented the decoration to McKinnon's wife and parents.

Now Is Unsuitable Time for Legislative Pay Hike

A bill proposed by State Senator BASIL W. BROWN, D-Detroit, would double the legislative salaries from $5,000 to $10,000 and increase their expense allowances from $1,250 to $2,500 a year.

With the State Treasury in such an embarrassing position we can't help but feel that Sen. BROWN is merely talking for the sake of publicity.

Just a few of the reasons we feel Legislators would shy from any such action:

November 6 election.

Michigan's contemplated $71,500,000 deficit.

One hundred forty-four potential rivals in Con-Con.

Fifty-six Con-Con delegates have already announced interest in running for Legislature.

Obviously this is not the time for any such raise in pay. First things must come first and we would suspect that would not include doubling legislative salaries.

Following his usual pattern, the Governor has indicated he would not veto the bill should it reach his desk.

We trust the issue is already dead.

There'll Be Lots of Wind From Coast to Coast

February may be the coldest month, but politically speaking it might well be the windiest. Witness the agreement between Senate Democratic Leader MIKE MANSFIELD, Montana, and Republican Leader EVERETT DIRKSEN that there will be no roll call votes between Feb. 9 and 13.

This is the annual deal which frees Senators to make Lincoln Day speeches across the country. Similar arrangements are made in the House. The four day slowdown is matched later in the month for the Democrats who have Jackson Day speeches to make.

The holiday for haranguing this year comes just as both Houses of Congress appeared to have gotten off to a somewhat more promising start than usual.

But violently as they may contend in campaign or debate, one great bond all Congressmen have in common: A healthy respect for their own and their fellows' freedom of speech, especially when it means speaking at $100-a-plate fund-raising dinners.

Macy Bringing Politics Into Civil Service Jobs

Generally speaking, two classes of officials staff the hundreds of Federal jobs in Washington. Civil service is supposed to be nonpartisan.

The other jobholders are handpicked from the party in power and quite naturally that is where their allegiance is.

Since this difference supposedly exists we are surprised at the public remarks of John Macy, Civil Service Commissioner (a political appointee). Word has it that he has told the career officials (civil service) that it is their duty, and also their right to promote the Administration's upcoming legislation.

Now, Mr. MACY, since when has civil service turned into a political arm to beat the drums for either of our parties? This type of maneuver is not cricket and it is actually offensive to some of the jobholders.

Government regulations forbid officials from spending Government time and money to push political bills. Mr. Macy gets around this ruling by saying that it is o. k. for the officials to "explain" the Administration's reasons for backing certain legislation.

Quite naturally, they won't explain arguments against certain bills. These same officials are urged to accept speaking engagements before interested public groups.

It isn't likely that the order will be ignored by many of the bureaucrats. They would like nothing better than more funds and personnel for their departments.

Our naive impression has always been that civil service was created to take such officials out of politics.

The Man About Town

Odd Lincoln Facts

Put Together by Pontiac Area's Genealogy Expert

Popular book: What now must be banned in Boston, and panned in Pontiac.

In observance of the 153rd birthday of

Abraham Lincoln

of Lake Orion, who is putting his findings in book form, "Genealogical Journeys With Our Presidents."

To show that Lincoln was an every-day man, Mr. Seger points out that he was born on Sunday, first elected to public office on Monday, twice elected president on Tuesday, admitted to the bar on Wednesday, delivered his Gettysburg address on Thursday, was shot on Friday, and died on Saturday.

He was our only G.I. president in all of our history, his military rank when elected president being that of a private.

Lincoln was the second member of his family to die by an assassin's bullet, the other being his grandfather. Both were named Abraham, both had a wife named Mary, both had a son Thomas, and the name Abraham has not since been given to any member of the Lincoln family.

The Lincoln Brothers, fourth cousins of the Great Emancipator, were governors of their respective states at the same time: Enoch of Maine, and Levi of Massachusetts; 1827-29.

The following epitaph appears on the tombstone of the early tragic sweetheart of Lincoln: "I am Ann Rutledge, who sleeps beneath these weeds; beloved of Abraham Lincoln: wedded to him, not through union, but through separation. Bloom forever, O Republic, from the dust of my bosom. January 7, 1813-August 25, 1835."

More of our feathered friends are coming the way of the Pontiac area. They quite evidently like our ways. The latest newcomers, according to

of Lake Orion, are a big flock who stopped at her home. She cannot find their description in any bird book.

A letter from former Pontiac resident, now living just west of Chicago, advises us to stop alluding to the "poor farmer." He says he bought 80 acres of rough land nine years ago for $8,000, and recently sold it for $35,000 — for a golf course.

Arnold Bellew,

Regardless of what other local historians may say,

Mrs. Prudence Benedict

of Drayton Plains phones that the icy walking has been the worst this winter in her 80 years recollection of the Pontiac area.

Just celebrating her 88th birthday,

Mrs. Maggie E. Partridge

David Lawrence Asks:

Who Apologized in Swap of Spies?

WASHINGTON — The American people were not fooled by the self-righteous attitude assumed by Premier Khrushchev as he demanded an "apology" from the President of the United States when Francis Gary Powers was forced down in his U2 plane in May 1960. The Soviet premier used the incident as an excuse to break up the "summit" meeting in Paris and to cause a further estrangement in the relations of the two countries as he added tension to an already serious crisis in world affairs.

LAWRENCE

But now, as the Soviet government officially exchanges its own master spy, Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, for the American pilot, the question may well be asked: "Who has apologized to whom?"

It will be recalled that the then senator from Massachusetts, John F. Kennedy, as he campaigned for the presidential nomination in the spring of 1960, said that he would have expressed "regret." This was construed by many as the equivalent of an apology.

Few people could have foreseen that it would become Kennedy's function as President about 21 months later to approve the exchange of two prisoners in what now is being interpreted in Moscow at least as a move toward the betterment of relations between the two countries.

The case of Col. Abel was not emphasized very much at the time of the crash of the U2. It was not generally realized that he began his spying in 1956 at just about the same time that the secret U2 flights were begun.

Abel was arrested in the summer of 1957 after one of his aides defected. He was convicted and sentenced to 30 years in prison. The Soviet government said it was "having nothing to do with the case." From that day to this, it has not acknowledged that he even worked for the Russian government. Today, however, the Soviet government is put in the position of officially acknowledging its own spy who actually stole American defense and atomic secrets. The deception hasn't worked.

RED SPY SYSTEM

For, during the entire time that the Soviet premier was denouncing Powers as a spy—though he never did more than photograph from the air as the Russians have been doing—the Soviet government was maintaining a comprehensive spy system on the ground in this and other western countries.

Some embarrassments may flow from the whole affair. Pilot Powers will be interrogated intensively and in secrecy as to why he didn't destroy his own plane and give his life so as to prevent capture.

He will be asked whether it is true, as the Russians claim, that he was shot down at a height of 14 miles by a Soviet rocket and, if so, how it happened that his plane was virtually intact and exhibited later by the Russians.

The biggest risk the Russians knew they would incur was that Powers, if released, would tell the whole truth. But they evidently so much wanted Col. Abel released that they were willing to pay the price.

Certainly the new satellites which America and the Soviet Union have launched can take photographs from great distances in outer space.

Russia has publicly boasted it had cameras aboard the planes of both Gagarin and Titov. Moscow press dispatches have claimed these were good enough to make photographs showing the difference between plowed and unplowed fields on earth.

Maybe "the orderly conduct of international affairs" now can be resumed since espionage on the ground by Abel—which was far worse than just taking pictures in outer space—has resulted in a mere exchange of two individuals who took big risks for their respective governments but now are once more free men.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

For by one Spirit we were all baptised into one body — Jews or Greeks, slaves or free — and all were made to drink of one Spirit.—I Cor. 12:13.

Equality is the share of every one at their advent upon earth, and equality is also theirs when placed beneath it.—Ninon de Lenclos.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Must Patrol Ourselves on Matters of Health

When that traffic cop chugs up and motions you to pull to the side of the road, he asks to see your driver's license and your car registration.

These requests are quite proper and you comply because you know the officer is acting in the best interests of the community that pays his salary from tax revenues contributed by you and your fellow citizens for your common protection.

Now there are times when you must assume personal responsibility for self-protection, in particular with reference to those who set themselves up as advisers on matters of health.

Let me illustrate what I am driving at by calling your attention to a pair of news stories that appeared recently. The first concerned a "doctor" who conducted a daily radio program on nutrition and allied subjects and who wrote a book on whose front cover he was listed as a "foremost nutritionist."

BOOK WAS SEIZED

The book was seized by the Food and Drug Agency on charges that the federal law prohibiting false labeling of foods and drugs was being violated. Specifically, the action challenged "false claims of the medical value of vitamin and mineral food supplements."

When the charges were brought to light, it was discovered that the doctorate was not in medicine as the reader might have supposed in view of the subject matter of the radio commentaries and the title of the book.

The doctorate was in philosophy in the fields of health education and recreation.

NO FORMAL TRAINING

Indeed, investigation disclosed the fact that the doctor had had no formal training or educational qualifications as a nutritionist.

The award was conferred at the U.S. embassy in Berne by our ambassador. When the award was called to the attention of the Swiss Canton of Grisons it was learned that the "Professor Doctor" honored by our academy and our ambassador was "neither a doctor nor a professor"

He was, in fact, "a former errend boy, newspaper vendor and baker's apprentice."

And as recently as June 26, 1958, he had been sentenced to a year in prison and a fine of $465 on charges that he had "bilked the gullible with a 'miracle' diagnosis machine."

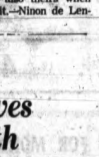

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Give Pupils Unique Mental Tonic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE L-431: Teddy R., aged 11, sat forlornly in my office.

His mother is a friend of Mrs. Crane's and had asked me to see what could be done for Teddy.

DR. CRANE

"What's the matter, Teddy?" I casually inquired, after I had shown him a couple of magic tricks to gain his cooperation.

"Oh, I'm the dummy in my class," he spoke bitterly.

"I can't read fast like the other kids. And the teacher nags at me. So does Mom.

SCHOOL TRAGEDIES

Teddy's father is a successful doctor. His mother is active in social affairs.

But Teddy still can't read properly. Yet when I gave him an intelligence test, he was normal.

So his problem is not due to lack of mental "horsepower" (I. Q.) And his vision is O. K.

So we psychologists would attribute his poor reading either to lack of proper "motivation" or "methods."

"Teddy," I began, "would you like to surprise everybody and become an expert reader?"

He nodded eagerly and his eyes were misty with unshed tears, so I knew he was sincere in his desire to get out of the "dummy" role.

"O. K.," I added, "I'll help you myself. But first you should realize that being a good reader means you must become a good detective.

He nodded with vigor.

"Well," you know that crooks often leave fingerprints, don't you?

"But did you ever stop to think that words are also like fingerprints?

"Those little black marks reveal the identity of words just as the ridges on your thumb will identify you.

"But it took thousands of years before anybody was smart enough to figure out a way for leaving mental 'fingerprints.'

"Think back thousands of years ago. If you had then gone to visit your grandmother or to a Scout Camp, your mother couldn't have written to you or told you any news about your dog or the other kids at home, for nobody in those days had invented these little black marks.

USE FLASH CARDS

Just cut white cardboard into strips about 2x12 inches.

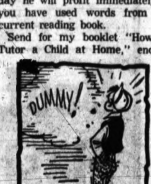

Then have the boy (or girl) go through his current school reader and point out the words he doesn't know.

Let him use a printing outfit from your local stationery or department store, or letter the words by hand, placing one on each strip.

Then hold up two, showing the difference in general contour or the "holes," such as the letter "O" in contrasting terms like "door" vs. "window." Shuffle the cards and now expose them, one at a time.

Keep adding new words. Next day he will profit immediately if you have used words from his current reading book.

Send for my booklet "How to Tutor a Child at Home," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Mrs. Crane and I used "flash cards" on our youngsters, so salvage your child's morale by doing likewise.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long (9 cent) stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs charts and pamphlets.

'Our Lavish Giveaway Plan Is Destroying Our Nation'

The United States has been and still is living beyond its means. The nation's money-credit system has deteriorated under the influence of continued inflation at home and lavish giving and lending to nations abroad.

The greatest threat is not Berlin, or Viet Nam or the Congo or Laos. It is the precarious situation of our balance of international payments and the potential erosion of world confidence in the dollar.

'Should Excuse Aged From Paying Taxes'

I think all persons of 65 or more should be excused from paying income tax. I also believe their social security benefits should not be cut if they earn a few more dollars than the $1,200 permitted.

With the extra money, these elders could pay their medical expenses. That would give them a greater feeling of independence.

Quotes Russian Text on Corrupting Youth

After listening to arguments on obscene books, I would like to quote from a Russian textbook used to train their agents on how to take over the world. It says:

"By making readily available drugs of various kinds, by the banning of all religious observances and the capitalistic Bible from the public schools, by giving the teen-age alcohol, by praising his wildness, by stimulating him with sex literature and advertising to him or her practices as taught at 'Sexpol,' the psychopolitical operator can create the necessary attitude of chaos, lawlessness and worthlessness into which can then be cast the solution which will give the teen-ager complete freedom everywhere."

Forced to Pay Fees on Stolen Auto

I was given the run around by my police. My car was stolen out of my yard and pushed in the road on Meadowlawn. The young hoodlums found it was locked and had no battery. I was given a hazardous driving ticket and paid $5 wrecker fee and was told if anyone comes in my yard, steals my car and wrecks it, if I want it back I still pay the damage cost. How is the city run?

'CD More Important Than Most Realize'

Why do some think civil defense is a lot of hooey? It means being prepared for any emergency on the home front and an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

'We Need Tax Law Like Indiana's'

Why doesn't Michigan adopt a tax law like Indiana? When you buy merchandise there you don't have to dig for those extra pennies for it. Most tax is taken out of your pay check, then you know where your dollars go. If something costs a dollar, that's exactly what you pay. I lived in Indiana for some time and thought it was swell.

'Responsible People Are Losing Out'

Provident, thoughtful people say that medical care for the aged should not come under social security. Under the present setup, medical welfare is something-for-nothing system. So the responsible citizen is on the wrong side—the side that keeps costing money for payment of other people's bills.

The poor-pay people constitute 30 per cent according to credit bureau sources, so costs are high when 7 payers have to carry 3 more.

Why not dock these while they're earning so provident people won't be stuck later? There's the great advantage of social security.

A better solution would be compulsory savings. But the expedient way appears to be via social security and both parties should support it.

'Foreign Aid Plan Doesn't Help U.S.'

The forthright testimony of Ambassador Pawley and Ambassador Hill leaves little doubt that the misguided policies of our state department directly assisted Castro in establishing the first Communist regime in the Western Hemisphere.

Again we are learning that giving away billions of dollars in aid has us neither friends nor respect. Latin America looks to the United States to lead and not to be led. Fairness and firmness in our foreign policy would command the respect of all nations. The United states should not be in the OAS as one of the 21 members nations but should exercise its power and influence from the outside.

'Coach Penalized for Tactics Used'

In a game between All Saints High School of Detroit and Assumption High of Detroit on Feb. 6, All Saints set a new record for the most points (151) ever scored in a high school game. Assumption only scored 28 points.

The next day Ralph Owen, athletic director of the Catholic League, put All Saints' coach on probation for one year for his tactics during that game. We all know what they were. Assumption's humiliation must have been great. Now it is vice versa. All Saints' coach will have to suffer.

Three cheers for Ralph Owen of Detroit. I think he handled the situation very well.

Believes In Contest U.S. Can't Lose

Arms Race Doesn't Faze Doolittle

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . things . . .

Jimmy Doolittle is one American not worried about the cost of the arms race with Russia.

"If it's just that, an arms race, we can't lose," says the man who led the first raid on Tokyo 20 years ago come April 18. "We can keep going indefinitely in any kind of contest like that, and the people would be called upon to make very few sacrifices, or just work a little harder. But such a long race would mean great hardship for the Russian people—because they don't have many creature comforts as it is.

"It might get so tough for them that they'd openly question whether communism is all their leaders say it's cracked up to be. Let's never be shy about pitching into an arms race with them."

Speaking of the Russians, the National Aeronautical and Space Administration wishes they'd knock down our Explorer I satellite.

It won't stop its eternal yacking.

Explorer I put the U.S. in the satellite race several years ago after several humiliating failures. Khrushchev laughed at its size, three and a half pounds, and it was called a grapefruit. But it went to work in a perfect orbit 1,000 miles out and, thanks to its solar batteries, has been reporting back by radio ever since. It could last out there for a century or two.

It told man that the earth he populates is shaped more like a pear than an orange. It hinted at the presence of what came to be known as the Van Allen radiation belts. Lately it's been measuring the weight of sunbeams, and just can't stop talking about that exotic experience.

We could use the channel on which Explorer I is gossiping for other satellites—a field in which we now are infinitely ahead of the Russians. Newer moonlets put in orbit contain clock devices which will shut them up as soon as the required information has been obtained.

Fred Loewe dropped by Cobina Wright's table at Chasen's the other night to accept that fair lady's applause over the sale of "My Fair Lady" to Warner Brothers for $5.5 million.

"There's never been anything like it in my experience here," Cobina said to the lyricist. "Just think—five million five."

"Plus 4½ per cent of the gross up to twenty million," Loewe sighed happily.

The stunned, envious silence at the table was broken by Frank Conniff, who up to this point had taken no part in the conversation.

"Jumped at the first offer, eh?" he said, critically, "You need a good agent."

"Fifty Lawrence Welk records. And a hammer."

All 7 Men Feared Lost as Tanker Plane Falls

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — A U. S. Air Force KB50 tanker plane with seven men aboard exploded in the air and crashed into the Atlantic Friday.

An Air Force spokesman said no parachutes were seen and it was assumed none of the crewmen bailed out. But an air-sea search for possible survivors was launched.

Trial Seeks Answer to $55-Million Question

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — Two U. S. corporate giants collide in a Houston, Tex., courtroom today over a $55-million question:

Who was responsible for the crashes of two prop-jet Electras in which 97 persons were killed — 34 at Buffalo, Tex., Sept. 29, 1959, and 63 at Tell City, Ind., March 17, 1960?

The contestants are Lockheed, manufacturer of the huge airliner, and the Allison Division of General Motors, which makes the plane's engines.

The trial itself, scheduled to open today in the 113th State District Court, involves a single suit brought against Lockheed, Allison and Braniff International Airways — the latter operator of the plane that crashed at Buffalo.

The plaintiffs are the widow and five children of one of the victims, Charles Quick III of Houston.

The Quicks are asking $500,000 in damages from the three defendants, but Braniff also is a cross plaintiff. The airline has sued Lockheed and Allison for the cost of the $2.3-million aircraft.

SUITS HINGE ON RESULTS

Suits filed against the two companies and airlines total about $55 million, but most of them may hinge on the results of this single trial.

The Electra itself has long been cleansed of the "bug" said to have caused the Buffalo and Tell City disasters—a phenomenon known as "whirl mode."

The Civil Aeronautics Board officially has blamed both accidents on whirl mode, which roughly can be compared to what happens when a gyroscopic top begins to wobble as it slows down.

Once weakened, the entire engine and propeller structure began to wobble until the violent motion was transmitted to the wings.

Once the nacelle flutter reaches the same frequency as the wing flutter, wing structural failure occurred.

SAYS SHAFTS BROKE

Lockheed is claiming that whirl mode cannot result unless a shaft in the engine itself breaks.

Lockheed charges that such breaks developed at both Buffalo and Tell City, and that the severance stemmed from rapid metal fatigue.

Allison denies that whirl mode could possibly result from a break in the shaft (technically, the reduction gear box which keeps the propeller from spinning as fast as the turbines).

It will present evidence that the shaft damage found in the two accidents resulted from either impact damage or violent maneuvers that took place BEFORE damage occurred.

Allison engineers are not even convinced that whirl mode was involved in either accident.

They probably will attempt to show that the Electra's wing failed from abnormally high loads — clear air turbulence in the case of Tell City, and autopilot malfunction resulting in an uncontrolled, high-speed dive at Buffalo.

The CAB itself absolved the engines themselves in its reports on the two accidents.

It said whirl mode developed from some prior damage in the outboard nacelle structure but could not pinpoint the exact location or cause of that damage.

STUDIES TEST RESULTS

Allison has been pouring data from recent tests into the CAB, designed to show that no part of the engines could have played a role in the two accidents.

A CAB spokesman said the test results were being studied, but declined to comment on whether they disproved the whirl mode theory.

"As of now we're convinced that whirl mode caused the accidents," he said, "but it's up to the courts to decide the responsibility for what caused the whirl mode."

The CAB official emphasized that no matter what the Houston jury decides, in effect it will be voting on past history and not the safety of the Electra as it is operating today.

"We are positive that the modification program ($25 million was spent to beef up the Electra's wing and nacelle structures) has cured the plane's weakness and that the Electra is as safe as any plane flying today," he said.

German Cars Symbols of Fear

Dominicans Remember Tyranny

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A large percentage of the Dominican population is unemployed. Many of them go hungry. They live in one-room shacks and their children beg in the streets.

But there is one thing you couldn't give them.

You couldn't force them to take a certain German-made car.

This make of car was used by secret police and spies under the dictatorial rule of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, assassinated last May 30.

For a private individual to possess one of these automobiles now is to invite disaster by being singled out as a former calie or informer.

A Dominican's life ceases to be his own once he's been branded a calie (pronounced ka-lee-aye).

RISK VIOLENCE

Some of the automobiles are used by police, who risk being objects of violence every time they venture out in them.

"If you happened to be driving along a dark road some night, looked in your rear view mirror and saw one of them, you'd try to outdistance it.

"If another one popped up in front of your car, you'd try to cut off and outrun them. If you lost, you'd probably disappear and never be seen again.

Newsboys and bootblacks hawk papers with the headline: "These Were the Informers."

Throughout the little newspapers put out by the leftist 14th of June political organization and other such groups are pictures of men and women accused by them of having been spies.

These so-called informers find it even more difficult to get a job than the other 400,000 or so unemployed.

They may be spat upon, or stoned.

They may get beaten insensible with long, flat boards by as many as 20 or 30 men and boys.

Their homes may be ransacked, or they may simply be murdered.

STIGMA FOLLOWS

The stigma is with them wherever they go, whether the accusations be true or not.

Daily newspapers often carry announcements placed there by these people, or those having similar names, attempting to refute the accusations, but usually to little avail.

The tyranny under which Dominican people lived for 31 years seems to remain with them in many ways.

Boy-Slayer Yenik Gets Life Sentence

NEWBERRY (AP) — Convicted slayer James Yenik was sentenced Saturday to life imprisonment by Luce County Circuit Judge George S. Baldwin.

Before announcing the sentence, Baldwin asked Yenik if he had any remarks. Yenik maintained his innocence.

State Men Joke About Weather at Alaska Post

FT. WAINWRIGHT, Alaska (AP) — Men from Michigan doing Arctic tests for military vehicles testified the weather can be rough.

The Army Ordnance Tank Automotive Command cites these as experiences of Charles G. Marshall, 41, of Grosse Pointe Woods and Dr. Charles Bruce Lee, 40, of Highland Park, among others on duty.

Dr. Lee, a human engineering expert, said he was surprised at the reaction of men to the rigorous climate. He said men were living in tents with the mercury 50 below and "joking about it."

Marshall and De Lee have been at Ft. Greeley. Alexander Hayes, 45, of Warren, and Tibor Czako, 38, of Detroit, are at Ft. Wainwright.

Ex-DSR Chief's Bid for 'Back' Pay Denied

DETROIT (AP) — A request by former Detroit Department of Street Railways general manager Leo J. Nowicki for $17,000 in cash to make up for 176 vacation days he didn't take during his 14 years as DSR manager was turned down Friday.

Assistant corporation counsel Vance G. Ingalls ruled that Nowicki was entitled to pay for as many unused days as accumulated in his last year of employment. That is 20 days, worth slightly over $1,400.

A specially designed helicopter, the Sikorsky s-34 will gets its first test as a loghauler early next year in Oregon. The twin-turbine carrier will have a payload capacity of more than eight tons and be capable of hoisting a load at a hovering height of 200 feet.

Vultures find carrion by sight rather than by scent. When one circling bird descends to feed, others quickly follow.

Experimental automobile tires are being made of synthetic rubber without fabric. Resistance to abrasion is said to be better than that of the rubber now used. Because the material is translucent, the tires may be illuminated from the inside.

Officials of 5 Fairs Agree to Plan Circuit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Managers of five major fairs in five states agreed Friday to make plans to form a circuit that would allow possible joint contracts with some entertainers and commercial exhibits.

Representatives from Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Mid-South (Memphis, Tenn.) fairs were generally in favor of combined bookings of entertainers for more than one fair, said James W. Browitt, executive director of the Kentucky State Fair.

Browitt suggested signing up a world championship rodeo, such as Kentucky had last year, for the proposed fair circuit.

The representatives agreed to meet again March 27 at Indianapolis.

Among those attending were Joseph Kurka, chairman of the Michigan State Fair Commission, and Walter Goodman, general manager of the Michigan State Fair.

Noted Sculptor Defends Female

Says Women Creative as Men

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Next time the party slumps, here's a sure-fire method for livening it up. Proclaim for all to hear that women have just as much creative ability as men.

The betting is, you'll be shouted down by numerous opinions on a subject which has interested mankind through the centuries.

One theory bound to be heard often is that men far outnumber the women as great composers, great artists and great architects because there just aren't that many women born geniuses.

Another theory is that woman already is the greater creator — she bears the children. And, by so doing, she sufficiently satisfies the creative instincts.

Still another argument is that nature blessed women equally with the men in the ability to write great music, paint great pictures. The men have just made it harder for the women to arrive.

And, if you need someone to speak convincingly on the subject, invite Arline Wingate to the party.

SUCCESSFUL SCULPTOR

Miss Wingate is 124 pounds of energy, with blue-green eyes, red hair and a low-register voice like Lucille Ball's.

Miss Wingate happens to be one of the nation's most successful sculptors, although pink-lacquered nails look as if they'd never touched chisel or butane torch.

"I just use polish to hide what's beneath," she said.

"Do I think men are more creative than women? No!," said the sculptor.

"I just think it's tougher for a woman.

HAS OTHER DUTIES

"If father is the artist of the family, he's let alone to be just that. Society doesn't demand that he be half a dozen other things. If he works at home, as most artists do, mother keeps the house running, and the kids quiet . . . shhh, father's at work."

"But the woman is wife, mother, housekeeper, family chauffeur . . . then artist."

"Maybe there'd be more great women composers, painters, sculptors, if it were woman's nature to live for herself . . . be so dedicated. But you know, few women are."

Miss Wingate manages to fill several roles.

FAMILY SYMPATHETIC

"But I have a family sympathetic with my time," she said in an interview at the family apartment where one of her two studios is located. The other is in the summer home at East Hampton, N. Y.

Miss Wingate in private life is Mrs. Clifford Hollander, wife of an investment banker, mother of a grown son, and grandmother of a boy, aged 6½.

A native of New York, the sculptress studied at Smith College and with a couple of sculpting's greats — Alexander Archipenko and Alfeo Faggi. She has been sculpting for 26 years, she said. Jules Bache, banker and art collector, sponsored her first exhibition.

NUMEROUS EXHIBITIONS

There have been numerous exhibits since, at museums or galleries in European and United States cities. The latest one is scheduled for New York's Feingarten Gallery beginning March 6.

The sculptress works in wood, stone, metal or plastic.

When she was sculpting his royal highness Prince William of Sweden, the prince kept ducking his head into a book.

"I was having trouble getting the face," said the sculptress, "and finally picked up enough courage to say, 'er, your highness, would you mind sitting up straight? I can't see you properly.'"

"My dear girl," royalty answered, "why didn't you say so sooner?"

Abby's Readers Think So

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Tell the girl who got rid of her wart by what some people would call hocus-pocus that I believe her.

I had a Lower bed of warts on my hand and a girl friend told me to cut a potato in as many slices as I had warts, feed the slices to a pig, and the warts would disappear.

ABBY

Well, I did it and in two weeks the warts disappeared. And they never came back.

WARTLESS

DEAR ABBY: If I told you all the degrees I had you would think I was bragging, but I only mention this so you won't think I'm a nut.

I have had experience with curing warts with a potato and it does work.

Only I cut the potato in half and rubbed my wart with it and buried the potato, cut side up. Within three weeks, my wart disappeared. Everyone I told this to got the same results.

A BELIEVER

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm crazy but I got rid of a wart when someone asked if they could "buy" it from me for a nickel. We just shook hands, I took the nickel, and sure enough, the wart went away.

Sincerely yours,
MINNIE

DEAR ABBY: The resident power within every human being to exercise his subconscious mind for relief of bodily ills has been recognized by medical science for several generations.

It is called "auto suggestion" —which is why the wart disappeared. It is neither voodoo nor new-do.

M. D.

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you tell that stupid reader that the STRING she tied around her wart cut off the blood supply and killed it, and the potato she buried had nothing to do with it?

How can anyone with any sense believe that potato booey?

NOT STUPID

DEAR ABBY: Don't laugh. When I was a child I had a wart on my little finger. I was told by an old lady to steal a dish rag from a friend, rub it over the wart and then bury the dish rag after dark.

Patients to Be Given 'Lift' by Beauticians

In observance of National Beauty Salon Week through Saturday members of the local National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association unit will bring a "beauty lift" to patients and residents of several area institutions this week.

Mrs. Rexford Smith, chairman of the NHCA's institutional service program for Pontiac, announces that professional cosmetologists of Oakland County will visit the Oakland County Medical Care Facility, Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Oakland County Children's Home and Pontiac State Hospital to give new spring haircuts, shampoos and a "psychological lift that cannot be measured." Many of the patients to be visited have not been out of beds, wheel chairs or institutions for many years, said Mrs. Smith.

"Since the NCHA's public service observance began with National Beauty Salon Week 12 years ago, doctors, nurses and institutional directors throughout the nation have had high praise for the program which bears out the feeling of many psychologists who believe good grooming has a direct relationship with patients' mental outlook," Mrs. Smith added.

Similar "beauty lift" projects by hairdressers will take place this week in hospitals and institutions from coast to coast. It is estimated over 500,000 such professional beauty services will be rendered this week.

Ouch, Cry the Women

Points Ruining Their Feet

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not long ago I wrote an article about the extremely- pointed-toe shoes and the damage they must do to feet. I heard from many of my readers concerning this, and think you will be interested in seeing some of the comments.

"I went shopping the other day for some comfortable, casual shoes. The minute I said, 'comfortable,' the salesman went white. When I complained about the extremely pointed toes, he looked at me curiously as though I were something from a distant planet, while the other lady customers were shocked that I would dare defy the dictates of style to that extent.

"I explained that I already have three pairs of so-called 'comfortable' shoes in my closet which I cannot wear without becoming a cripple, and that I have been walking about the house in my stocking feet. Now that winter is here, my feet are feeling a bit drafty.

"Well, I finally bought my shoes so now I have four pairs of pointed-toe casual shoes in my closet, and my feet are encased in two pairs of stockings while I go about my household chores."

"My neighbor and my daughter would like to join me in saying that we have corns (almost bunions), also corns between our toes which none of us ever had before there were pointed toe shoes."

"Because I tried to sell myself on the pointed-toe shoe, I bought them wider or longer or both. As a result, they are rubbing my toes causing corns, and rubbing my heels causing callouses."

"Today you hit my great pet peeve, the extremely pointed toe. Let me tell you what they have done to me. My left big toe now actually is overlapping my next toe.

"Anything that can be done to bring back a normal foot through proper shoe styling should be done.

"It's time someone took an interest in our feet. No wonder we cannot walk to the corner grocery any more."

"I did not develop corns from the pointed toes, but now my big toes turn in and almost cross the toes next to them."

If you would like to have my exercises for weak arches, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Readers "sound off" with pointed remarks in "Why Grow Old" about the uncomfortable, pain-producing, pointed-toed shoes in response to a former article by Josephine Lowman on the subject.

Tale of a Tub

During the Midde Ages, group bathing at the homes of the rich is said to have been so gay that it became a tourist attraction.

As musicians played and refreshments were served to the bathers, "the public" was admitted to special galleries where people who didn't have tubs of their own could observe the fun.

Marriage 'Understanding' Ultra Selfish

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Since my husband's first wife died two months ago her children have been living with an aunt. The older one — a girl of 13 — is especially jealous of me. Yet not a day goes by that my husband doesn't say it's my duty to open our home to them.

I am only 27 years old myself. I did not marry on the understanding that I had to raise another woman's children. Please write a column on the injustice of what my husband wants me to do.

Answer: Are you by any chance trying to organize an end to your marriage?

For a person of 27 years you seem to know very little about the human conscience. It is not a complicated thing. It works quite simply. It makes us hate anyone who forces us to do what we feel that it is wrong to do.

Clearly your husband feels that it is wrong to deny his home to his now half-orphaned children. It may be a noble feeling; it may be a silly and impractical one. Which, it is doesn't matter. What matters is that he believes it is wrong to refuse them his home — and all the king's horses and all the king's men will not put your marriage together again if you force him to do it.

If you do, his sense of loyalty to you will begin to weaken. Though he may agree to your wish, the knowledge that you have compelled him to do what he feels is wrong will breed distrust of his affection for you. Instead of the wife he loves, he will begin to see you as his fellow-conspirator against the rights of his children—and end by hating you for making him hate himself.

So I urge you both to consult a marriage counselor who may be able to help you work out some solution you can both accept.

In the meantime I suggest that you look at your attitude toward time and change. Nobody on earth can promise you unchanging circumstances. As time has moved you from childhood to womanhood, changing your circumstances regardless of your wishes, so it now moves your husband and his children, changing their situation through the death of the mother regardless of their wishes.

We are not Peter Pans, you know. We do not live in a clockless fairyland where time stands still, but in a real, human world where we all have to learn to submit to altering circumstances.

That "understanding" upon which you married your husband seems awfully romantic to me.

Phone Rings and Rings

Mom Turns Into Secretary

By RUTH MILLETT

According to the latest figures, Americans are talking on the telephone more every year. That may be good news for the telephone company — but many a housewife could wish that the family telephone didn't ring quite so often.

Especially could she do without those coy little calls where an unknown voice informs her that she has won a free dance lesson, a sitting for a photograph, or that if she can name the first President of the United States she will have won some other such "prize."

She could also do without the calls that try to sell her magazine subscriptions, air conditioning, life insurance and so on.

And while she is listing her "druthers" she would "druther" not have to take so many calls for the teen-age members of the household.

The calls themselves wouldn't be so much trouble if the woman of the house weren't supposed to be social secretary to her children.

MESSAGES

Such messages as, "When Bill comes in will you tell him to call Jim at home and if I'm not at home, to try Joe's house and if we aren't at Joe's we'll probably be at Ed's or Fred's." That kind of message is routine in any family where there are teen-agers.

Another kind of call the average housewife wouldn't mind giving up is the one that wants her to solicit money for this drive or that one . . . or the one urging her to vote for a certain candidate . . . or the one from the voice taking a survey.

The telephone is to the housewife both a convenience and an annoyance—and unfortunately it seems to become more of an annoyance the more it rings.

Three Honest Mirrors Promote Good Grooming

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Few accessories are of more help in encouraging better family grooming than an honest mirror. Better than one honest mirror are three that tell the full story, in the round so to speak.

Any member of a family will be forced to take a more critical look at posture, hem lengths, clothing fit and general appearance if placed in line with the revealing glass.

Our daughter, like most young girls, can spend hours scrutinizing her face and hair in a dressing table mirror but the examination stops at the neck. Would a longer mirror encourage a longer view and more attention to the petticoat showing or the hang of a coat on slumped shoulders?

I'm willing to try but finding space for a three-way mirror in a bedroom with limited closet and wall space is difficult.

CONSULT EXPERT

Such a mirror ranks almost as a necessity for a home sewer so I sought the advice of the best home sewer I know. Sure enough, Lucile had designed her own mirror arrangement for her tiny sewing room.

Her design utilizes the wall space between a closet door and the room door. Although the making of this unit is not too difficult for a home handyman, Lucile had a local carpenter makes hers for speed's sake.

To avoid blocking passage in and out of the room, this three-way folds flat when not in use. Pegboard is used as the base and frame for the mirror. A sheet about four feet wide by six feet long is mounted on a frame and braced solidly. The mirror consists of a center one about 24 inches wide by four feet long and two side panels, each about 12 inches by four feet.

The side panels are hinged to the sides of the center so they fold shut like a screen. Opened, they give complete front and side views. The mirrors are attached to the pegboard and the side panels are faced with more of the pegboard.

SPACE FOR HOOKS

To the sewer the pegboard area around the mirrors offers space for hooks to hold fabric swatches, special threads, pictures of future projects.

Group Holds Dinner Party

Sisterhood Plans Dames of Malta Anniversary Fete

Corrinne Sisterhood, Dames of Malta gathered at the Malta Temple Wednesday evening to make plans for their anniversary banquet Feb. 23.

Mrs. Karl Ely will be honored with an honorary membership, to be followed by a gifts presentation by Queen Esther Mrs. Merle Curless. Gifts are from the sisterhood to all protectors, charter members and past commanders of Corinthian Commandery, Knights of Malta.

Serving as chairman of the banquet will be Mrs. Clarence Vidlund, assisted by Mrs. Albert Clark, program chairman.

Shouldn't Send Check as Present

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: At lease a half dozen times during the past several years my husband and I have been house guests of an old fraternity brother of his and his wife. They have been to our house only twice for a day or two.

* * *

Last month we visited them again upon their insistence for a few days. During this visit, the wife mentioned that they would be celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on a certain date. My husband and I thought it would be nice to send them a present on this occasion in appreciation for their hospitality.

The wife has very definite likes and dislikes and has been known to give gifts she has received away if she did not happen to like them. Not wanting to run the risk of having her do this with our gift, we sent them a check for 25 dollars, one for each year of their marriage, and told them to buy whatever they liked with it. About 10 days later, much to my dismay, the check was returned with a note thanking us for our kind thought of them but that they just couldn't accept our check.

Needless to say, we are very hurt over this and think them extremely rude for returning our gift. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter.

A: Although they were very understandably embarrassed by receiving a check as a gift and wished to return it, it would have been gracious of them to have considered only the spirit in which it was sent and have kept it with thanks.

Q: I was married three weeks ago at a large wedding (300 guests). I received many wedding presents and the thought of having to sit down and write all of those thank-you notes has me in a dither, especially since I have so little free time—what with going to business and trying to keep house. In view of the number of presents received, would it be permissible to send printed thank-you cards?

A: I am sorry, but printed thank-you cards would not do at all. Personal notes must be written no matter how long this takes you.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like the booklet entitled "The New Baby," send 10 cents in coin, to cover cost of handling, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Q: When a man is asked to join two women friends who are already lunching, must he feel obliged to pay their checks? I mean, could he be considered "cheap" if he made no attempt to do this?

A: It is not his obligation to pay their checks and I can't imagine that they would consider him cheap for not doing so.

THREE COLORS

SWEETHEART CAKE — Valentine's Day brings family and friends together in an aura of affection. Show your feelings to those nearest you by preparing delectable foods and serving them attractively for this gayest of holidays. In the upper left-hand corner is a Valentine Cherry Mold.

Holiday and Every Day

Red Cherries Brighten Menus

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

What a fortunate coincidence! February is a month of several holidays that call for red food. There is an abundance of water packed or tart red cherries on the market. Put the two together and you get dishes for any meal.

At breakfast, for instance, serve a cherry sauce on waffles or pancakes; or make cherry muffins. For lunch make a Valentine Cherry mold. If your mold does not have a heart pattern the one shown is an antique), pour some plain gelatin into a shallow pan to chill. Then, at serving time, cut heart-shaped pieces with a cookie cutter and put them on top of the gelatin.

Valentine Cherry Mold

1 No. 303 can red water-packed cherries
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
⅔ cup cold water
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
1½ cups tiny cut-up marshmallows
½ cup chopped nuts

Heat cherries and sugar to boiling. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of cold water. Drain cherries and add hot juice to softened gelatin; stir to dissolve. Add remaining cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour ½ cup into bottom of 5-cup ring mold. Chill.

Soften cream cheese; add mayonnaise. Blend into remaining gelatin. Fold in cherries, marshmallows and nuts. Pour over cherry gelatin and chill. Serve with mayonnaise or favorite whipped dressing, if desired.

The antique mold is topped with gay red hearts — here's how to make them:

Pour the plain cherry gelatin mixture into a shallow pan to chill. Cut hearts using a cooky cutter and place these atop your ring mold.

Sweetheart Cherry Cake

1 package white cake mix
2-3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Dash of salt
1 No. 303 can red water-packed cherries
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 package fluffy frosting mix
1 4-ounce can flaked coconut

Prepare cake mix according to directions on package. Bake in 2 paperlined heart shaped pans* in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Blend in cherries and juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool.

Prepare frosting according to directions on package. Frost between layers and around outside of cake, bringing frosting up over edge to form a 1-inch border. Sprinkle cherry sauce into heart formed on top of cake.

*If you do not have heart shaped pans, bake cake in 2 round pans and form heart by outlining it with frosting.

Ginger Cherry Sauce is something new to serve with roast pork, ham or poultry. This can be kept in the refrigerator for use with several meals.

Ginger Cherry Sauce

1 No. 303 can red water-packed cherries
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
½ cup seedless raisins
¾ cup chopped unpeeled apple
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chaped celery
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
Dash of salt

Combine cherries and sugar; heat to boiling. Blend cornstarch with cold water. Add to hot cherries, stirring constantly, and cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients. Serve hot or cold with roast pork, ham or poultry. Makes 3½ cups.

A valentine to your family for a February 14 dessert, or an extraordinary conclusion to any winter meal, the Cherry Fritters are made with whole bran cereal. Cherries fill both the tiny golden fritters, fried quickly in deep fat, and the sauce which tops them.

Warm Dessert Sweet and Tart

Oatmeal and Nuts Blend Together in Crumb Topping

Reminiscent of the old stone cream pitcher and iron kitchen stove is this home-spun Cherry Crisp dessert. It's as old fashioned and deeply delicious as in the old days, but this Cherry Crisp recipe is up to date and easy to make. It blends the crunchy goodness of walnuts, oats and brown sugar with the tart, clean flavor of plump red cherries. Serve it warm—then, if you like, smother it with rich, whole cream.

Cherries Moved Westward With Early Settlers

When great-grandma journeyed west in a covered wagon, chances are she took a few young cherry trees along to plant in her new backyard. The fact is, cherries were almost as important in the "push to the Pacific" as great grandpa's rifle.

No sooner did a cherry tree begin to grow when a few more cabins were settled within a couple miles of his. Great-grandpa would holler something about a lack of elbow-room, pack up and move the family farther west—leaving a string of cherry trees to mark his progress.

Back East, relatives probably stayed at home to tend cherry orchards—which wasn't the easiest job in the world. The story goes that mischievous fellow named George cut down a cherry tree from his father's prized orchard.

At any rate, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says this delicious fruit is plentiful, either canned or frozen—and perfect for pies, tarts, cobblers, sauces, toppings and salads.

But, rest assured the cherry treats you prepare will be made from an abundance of bright, plump cherries your ancestors could only dream about.

You can broil orange halves just as you do grapefruit halves. Nice to serve with ham or poultry.

Low Calorie Cheesecake Crowned With Cherries

Count your blessings while you count your calories . . . for here is a delightfully flavored, unbaked cheesecake dessert, beautiful to behold, delicious to eat, easy to make, and surprisingly low in calories.

The addition of gelatin makes it possible to mold this dessert into any desired shape. It might even be turned into a pie shell. The gelatin, skim milk and cottage cheese all help to keep calories to a minimum, but most important is the use of the non-caloric sweetener, Sucaryl, to replace sugar. This sweetener saves all of sugar's calories, yet gives a delightful natural-tasting sweetness. And look at the calorie savings!

Cherry Cheesecake

2 tablespoons (or envelopes) unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
2 cups skim milk
3 tablespoons Sucaryl solution
4 cups skim-milk cottage cheese, sieved
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons almond extract
1/3 cup nonfat dry milk
1/3 cup ice water

1 1-pound can water-pack sour cherries
2 teaspoons Sucaryl solution
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over boiling water. Add to milk and Sucaryl, combined. Add sieved cottage cheese, lemon juice and almond extract. Chill until mixture begins to mound. Combine dry milk and ice water; beating on high speed of mixer until of consistency of whipped cream. Fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon into a 9-inch spring form pan. Chill until firm.

To make topping: Drain cherries; add Sucaryl to the cherry liquid. Gradually stir cherry liquid into cornstarch; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thick. Carefully stir in cherries. Spoon cherry sauce over cheesecake before serving.

Makes 12 servings. Each serving contains 127 calories; 19 grams protein; 0.5 gram fat; 11 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 245 calories.

Baked Stuffed Potatoes

Next time you're preparing baked stuffed potatoes, mash the potato pulp with sour cream, butter and minced parsley; top with cheddar cheese and reheat until piping hot through and the tops are lightly browned.

It's Old but New It's a Cobbler

Old-Fashioned Cherry Cobbler

2 No. 303 cans red cherries
1¼ cups sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
6 to 8 drops red food coloring if decired
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1½ cups prepared biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg

Combine sugar and cornstarch; add cherries and cook until thick. Add food coloring and lemon juice. Pour into a 8½x2-inch baking dish. Combine biscuit mix and sugar. Break egg into measuring cup and beat slightly with a fork. Add light cream to make ⅔ cup. Add to biscuit mix and stir to moisten flour.

Spoon over hot fruit. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in moderately hot (400 degrees) oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings. Serve with cream.

(Note: If sweetened cherries are used decrease sugar to 1 cup and cornstarch to 2 tablespoons.)

CHERRY CRISP — Here is a delicious cherry dessert that may be served at any time of year. The crunchy topping has both oatmeal and walnuts in it for a toasty flavor. Underneath is a rich red fruit sauce, a perfect complement to the upper layer.

CHERRY CHEESECAKE — Look at it — a smooth cheese mixture held together with gelatin and capped with a scarlet crown of cherries. Calories? Not so many as you would think; this dessert is made with Sucaryl, the substance that sweetens without adding a calorie to the dish.

OLD-FASHIONED — Cherry cobblers are old-fashioned. They have been a favorite in the dessert world for many years. Make them now, quick as a wink, with biscuit mix and tart red cherries. Cream, whipped cream or ice cream may be served with cherry cobbler which is best when warm.

CLASSY CHERRY ROLLS — Colorful red cherries fill the centers of fresh sweet rolls. Add a drizzle of confectioners sugar icing and you have a treat to serve at brunch. They say, "Be My Valentine" in the happiest kind of way. Use hot roll mix for swift, easy baking.

Rochester Schools Launching CD Program

ROCHESTER — The community schools here are launching what appears to be the first complete civil defense protection program for pupils in Oakland County.

The only known similar system of such extent is that of Paw, Paw, Mich.

The Rochester schools' CD plan was outlined Saturday to the Northeast Oakland Civil Defense Council by Director of Buildings and Grounds William VanderVen. It provides an answer to every shape or form of an atomic emergency.

By spring, the schools' plan to carry out the first large-scale evacuation test, using trained emergency drivers recruited from among students and teachers and checking over minimum two-day food supplies, medical supplies and emergency facilities.

It will be a move unparalleled anywhere in thorough planning and foresight. The plan's provisions are:

If there is an attack warning of two-and-a-half hours or more, VanderVen said, the schools will use regular school buses manned by trained students and teachers to take students home.

PROVISIONAL ACTION

If there is less than two-and-a-half hours and more than 45 minutes warning, only those students who live more than three miles from the school will be bussed home.

All others will be asked to go home on foot, except those whose parents have arranged other places to go or who insist their children be kept in school.

NEWS OF THE AREA

If there is less than 45 minutes warning, students will go to assigned shelters in school buildings. Only those who can walk home in less than 45 minutes will be sent home.

A survey will be made by each school, VanderVen said, to see whether parents want their children to stay in school or not, in those instances of the plan where there is a choice.

The Rochester Community School District comprises seven elementary schools, one junior high school and one senior high school.

Each school, VanderVen reported, has a two-day supply of food right now, with the exception of Avon Elementary School where food is prepared at Brooklands School and transported to Avon.

WILL BE SUPPLIED

However Avon School also will be supplied with a stock of food, he said. The food in the other schools is the normal supply kept for cafeteria use.

All schools also will be stocked with artificial light equipment and medical aid equipment.

VanderVen emphasized that the schools' Civil Defense Plan was not the result of "spur-of-the-moment decisions." A committee of school administrators, custodians, the chiefs of transportation and cafeterias have studied the problem for months.

The important thing, VanderVen pointed out, is to have a plan, without which disaster would be multiplied into panic.

"If we have drills for this sort of thing," he said, "I think we will have made real contribution to the safety of our children. We have fire drills now in which children calmly and quickly do what they are told to do.

"If we can have drills on our Civil Defense plan, I am certain we can get our children to shelter in an orderly, swift manner."

The school system's transportation department already has made lists of students' homes and drawn maps listing normal and emergency routes for the emergency bus drivers.

The plans are expected to be distributed to each school within two weeks. The emergency drivers will be trained by the school transportation department.

By spring, VanderVen hopes, all will be ready for the first test.

Milford Twp. Man's 'Barn' Is Real Luxury

No Wonder Horses Win for Him!

BY REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — A horse barn with an elegant cocktail lounge at one end? Rudy Speerschneider has one on his 44 scenic acres near Milford, and guests thoroughly enjoy the luxuriously furnished, plate-glass enclosed room.

Matter of fact, the barn is almost as elegant as the lounge. The 18 thoroughbred horses with their all-wool blankets strapped around them, are "stalled" in base-ray heated areas, with a half foot of clean, sweet-smelling straw to walk and sleep on.

Getting back to the lounge. It is paneled with light walnut (what paneling there is in the room), and the long, tile-covered bar is fully equipped with the necessary built-in units.

The horse theme is carried throughout.

Three beautiful table lamps have high-strutting model horses at the base, and the heavy drapes depict horses jumping over split-rail fences.

Comfortable chairs and low tables surround spacious sofas, and the acoustical tile ceiling keeps noise at a minimum. There are huge plate glass windows on both the west and north sides, and the view of Kensington Park is breathtaking.

OWNS DETROIT FIRM

Speerschneider, who owns a Detroit display firm, always has been interested in horses, but it wasn't until three years ago that he purchased the South Milford Road property and built the $100,000 barn and lounge.

It is not a riding stable, but a place where the finest Saddlebred horses in the country are raised and trained for show.

The ranch boasts more than 100 ribbons and trophies accumulated by Speerschneider's horses. Among them "Mountjoy's Magic Moment," who was Michigan's dual champion in 1960, (Champion in Hand and Champion Junior Fine Harness Horse),

"Oak Knoll Firefly" truly lives up to her name. This 7-year-old mare, born on the Speerschneider farm (Oak Knoll), is as quick and light on her feet as a flitting firefly. "Quick to learn, too," says Speerschneider.

And the high spirited horses are taught to BE good when they are carrying riders.

COCKTAIL LOUNGE — There are thoroughbred horses all over the place except in the beautiful cocktail lounge which is part of Oak Knoll's deluxe barn near Milford. Owner Rudy Speerschneider is making a success of an expensive hobby with the help of his manager Frank Nuccio, right, and riding instructor Gene Ann Nichols.

Started Town With 25 Acres in '28

Gingell Family Developed Gingellville

GINGELLVILLE—One hundred and twenty-seven years ago James McVean settled on a piece of good farmland on what is now Maybee Road. Not far away, on Silver Bell Road, James Gingell settled down to do some farming.

Today Ella Gingell McVean's granddaughter and the wife of Gingell's grandson, is the matriarch of a clan which almost alone has named and developed this sprawling little town.

Born Dec. 13, 1882, Mrs. Gingell has lived all her life in and near the town which bears her name.

She and her husband Frank and sons Francis and Harold started the Gingellville ball rolling in 1928 when they bought about 25 acres of farmland on Baldwin Road, three miles north of Pontiac.

SET UP SHOP

Starting with a "portable" schoolhouse 60 feet long, the boys and Mr. Gingell set up a combined gas station and grocery store. Then they went to work building houses.

The whole area was rolling farmland with peach orchards and scattered oak and maple trees. In 1928 Mrs. Gingell's present house at 4036 Baldwin Road was built and the boys were out of school.

Mr. Gingell died in 1936 and the next year Rev. Howard Schoof, then at the First Baptist Church of Pontiac, came out to Gingellville to start a branch of his church.

During the war building and business were slow and the boys were working the Maybee Road farm. Mrs. Gingell donated land to the branch church, then meeting at the Proper School, and the present building started to grow.

The decade following the war has proved to be the best for growth in the area. In 1944 Harold and Francis completed beauty and barber shops and returning veterans poured into the subdivision. The grocery store was completed in 1947.

In 1953 the brothers finished their hardware store. The next year a new gas station sprouted. Orion Township built a spanking new fire station here in 1954 and the community began to spread out.

'TOWN' GROWS

There are at least a dozen stores and businesses in the Gingellville area which spreads out two miles in each direction along Baldwin Road.

The Gingellville Community Center, built in 1946 by people from the community, is famous for its ocean haddock dinners the first Sunday of every month.

Harold cooks and Francis helps serve.

Today Mrs. Gingell estimates that there are from 500 to 600 people within the original 18-acre subdivision. Her only regret is that most of the people are young.

"There aren't any old people here in Gingellville," she said.

Church Founder to Talk at Event

Gingellville Baptist Sets Silver Anniversary; Rev. Schoof Is Speaker

GINGELLVILLE — Rev. Howard Schoof, dean of the Detroit Bible College and founder of the Gingellville Baptist Church, will speak at the church's silver anniversary dinner Wednesday.

Members and friends of the church have been invited to the 6:30 p.m. dinner and a special musical program to follow.

The church met until 1942 in the Proper School under its first pastor, Rev. William P. Miles, now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Capac.

In 1951 the building's superstructure was added to a foundation unit which was completed in 1942.

Last summer the congregation added a new wing. The land was originally donated in 1942 by Mrs. Ella Gingell and her sons Francis and Harold.

Present church pastor Rev. Sydney A. Hawthorne will hold special commemorative meetings nightly except Feb. 19, beginning Wednesday and lasting until Feb. 25. Speaker for these meetings will be Rev. Herbert Noe, pastor of the Galilean Baptist Church of Livonia.

Young men whose parents live in the Chicago milk shed area, which includes Michigan, are eligible to apply for the scholarship.

The scholarship is offered to stimulate enrollment in dairy technology programs, a field in which enrollment has dropped off in the past few years and a vocational area with broad opportunities.

The student winning the scholarship may select the college of his choice which has an accredited curriculum in dairy technology. Last year Michael Lindquist, a student at Michigan State University, won this scholarship.

Interested young men may write to Dr. M. D. Bonner, Krim-Ko Corp., 26 N. Garden St., Bensenville, Ill., for application and additional information. Filing deadline is March 15.

Growers Can Sign for Feed Grain Plan

Growers of corn and spring-planted barley can sign up now to take part in the 1962 Feed Grain Program, Robert H. Long, chairman, Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today.

The sign-up period will extend through March 30, 1962.

Operation of the program, the chairman explained, will be similar to the 1961 Feed Grain Program. Likewise its objectives are the same (1) to increase farm income; (2) to further reduce the excess feed grain stocks; (3) to reduce government costs of farm programs; (4) to reduce the risk of serious overproduction of meat, poultry and dairy products and (5) to assure consumers of fair and stable prices for these products.

All producers of corn and spring barley that have grown these crops in 1959 or 1960 are eligible to take part in the feed grain program, which calls for the diversion of acreage formerly planted to one or more of these crops into an approved soil-conserving use.

The program is voluntary, but program participation by farmers who produce these feed grain crops is required if they want to be eligible for price support on their feed grain crops, including oats and rye.

Long said that for corn, there must be a minimum reduction of 20 per cent from the farm's 1959-60 average acreage of these crops and the producer must not exceed the farm's barley base.

For barley there must be a minimum reduction of 20 per cent in the farm's average 1959-60 barley acreage and the producer must not exceed the farm's corn base.

Oakland County farmers can sign up at the County ASCS Office, 63 Oakland Ave., Room 3, Pontiac, Monday through Friday each week through March 30, between 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Highlighting the evening program will be the presentation of a distinguished service award, citing the guest for lifelong dedication to education and for service to the children of the community.

Schools Supt. Leroy R. Watt will welcome members and guests, and Mrs. Lewis Krug, a visiting teacher and guidance counselor, will give a brief resume of the special guest's career.

Under the direction of Mrs. William Bishop, Founders' Day chairman, a quartet of local artists will sing a medley of folk tunes. A short history of PTA will be outlined by Mrs. William U. Porter, district director of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Board Backs Police Captain

Royal Oak Twp. Unit Gives Nod to Watkins in Feud With Trustee

Wilson, who had called a special meeting of the board for the purpose of ousting Watkins, was told at the session that the board saw "no cause whatsoever to take any action with regard to firing Watkins."

The board received a letter from the police chief asking that they restrain Wilson from interfering in Watkin's handling of his police duties. The letter charged Wilson with making "abusive threats" and with "conduct unbecoming a township official."

Wilson asked the board to fire Watkins because of "insubordination and incompetence." According to a township official, Wilson had been against Watkin's appointment in the first place.

During the job dispute, Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons had been called in to take over control of the township police force until a settlement had been reached. He was also asked to investigate Wilson's ordering of police Sgt. Anniah Raffi to replace Watkins as chief.

Mary Jo Parker Weds Carl Robert Ruebelman

LAKE ORION—St. Mary's-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Mary Jo Parker and Carl Robert Ruebelman who exchanged their vows before an altar banked with white carnations, baby chrysanthemums and stock. Rev. Wilbur R. Schutze read the service.

The bridegroom's father assisted him as best man. David Parker, brother of the bride, and Roger Bock, were ushers.

Summit Request Is Latest Twist in K's Power Dance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Premier Khrushchev is like a watchmaker overdoing a dance. He has excellent timing but too much twist.

The latest twist is in the report of his newest proposal: an 18-nation summit meeting on disarmament next month.

He'd probably be more surprised than anyone if President Kennedy accepted. But, from his view, this is a good time to suggest it.

That's because he can handle foreign affairs like a TV Western where everyone is either a good guy or a bad one. Sometimes he acts like a bad guy. Then he tries to make up for it.

He was very much the bad guy outside Russia last September when he suddenly resumed nuclear testing. He got bad notices around the world and has been playing nice most of the time since.

Over the weekend he put on the good guy's hat again by releasing the American spy, U2 flier Francis Gary Powers. Moscow did not announce it was just swapping him for a Soviet spy caught here, Col. Rudolf Abel.

WORTH LITTLE NOW

Abel, jailed here since 1957, was under 30-years sentence. Powers, brought down over Russia May 1, 1960, got 10 years.

Neither man, after the initial publicity in each case, was worth anything to the country holding him. The U2 flights are ended and Abel is washed up as a spy.

But Khrushchev got worldwide publicity out of it and doubled his good guy bet by proposing the summit meeting, knowing beforehand that Kennedy, having taken the position there should be no summit meeting unless the two sides show more evidence of agreeing than they have so far, would almost certainly say no.

THE NIKITA TWIST

If Kennedy should then resume nuclear testing, unless he feels Khrushchev has now maneuvered him into a bad spot for resuming, the Russian can hope some of the bad public reaction would rub off on the President.

All of this goes to show the Khrushchev twist, which has been something to watch.

All the disarmament talks since World War II have gotten nowhere—as have talks on nuclear testing between the United States, Britain and Russia. They began negotiations on testing 39 months ago in Geneva. From then until last September no one tested.

K WAS READY

Kennedy was under pressure from some of his advisers, since the talks accomplished nothing, to resume testing. He did not. But Khrushchev was practicing one of his twists. The Russians for months had been secretly preparing to test.

When they were ready, on Aug. 31, 1961, Khrushchev suddenly announced in the midst of the talks that the tests would start. They did the next day. The talks collapsed Sept. 6.

There had been two big stumbling blocks: the West wanted an inspection system—which the Russians called spying — to prevent cheating and the Russians kept insisting test ban talks should be part of general disarmament talks.

TRIED SOMETHING NEW

Khrushchev then tried something he knew the West wouldn't buy at all. He said if he agreed to an inspection system, the West must agree to letting Russia have a veto. In other words: no inspection.

After Russia resumed testing, the United States and Britain called on him to agree to a non-inspected test ban. The answer: no. He said the main thing is general disarmament, not just a test ban.

After the Russian tests last fall, the three powers resumed their test ban talks. Now the West offered to go along with Khrushchev and let the test ban talks become part of general disarmament talks.

Khrushchev twisted again. Now he said he didn't want the test ban talks thrown in with the disarmament talks, even though that is what he had said he wanted and an 18-nation disarmament session had been arranged for March 14 in Geneva.

The United States and Britain then broke off the test ban talks Jan. 29. Pressure at home on Kennedy to resume testing increased. Last week he seemed on the verge of a go-ahead.

Then, hoping for something to come out of the disarmament talks next month, the President suggested to Khrushchev that the foreign ministers of the 18 nations, not just their specialists, should do the negotiating.

Now Khrushchev, doubling his bet on the publicity he got from releasing Powers, practically called the foreign ministers nobodies and suggests that only the top men meeting at the summit can do anything.

Peruvians Respond to Billy Graham Plea

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Billy Graham preached to 15,000 Peruvians in a bull ring Sunday night and afterward hundreds came forward in answer to his call to make "decisions for Christ."

The American evangelist referred to the current Peruvian election campaign and said he had sensed some of the Latin-American enthusiasm for politics.

"Why not give the same enthusiasm to a renewal of faith in Christ?" he asked.

"No one knows when Christ will return, but one thing is sure: the last word on this world will be spoken by Christ and not man."

Ike Pushing Younger Men to Run for High Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is reported to have told Republicans he has no intention of campaigning for "old men" in this year's elections.

Eisenhower, who is 71, was represented as pressing party members to work for the nomination of young candidates for governor and Senate and House seats. Some candidates quoted him as saying he wanted no "gray-haired old men" running on the GOP ticket if it could be helped.

This serve-the-youth movement apparently led the former president into some difficulties in his adopted state of Pennsylvania. He convinced Sen. Hugh Scott in a telephone conversation that Scott ought to make himself available for the party nomination for governor.

Scott reported that Eisenhower said he could support actively a ticket on which Scott was a member but could not campaign for a ticket on which Judge Robert E. Woodside of the State Superior Court would run for governor and Rep. James E. Van Zandt would oppose Sen. Joseph S. Clark, a Democrat for the Senate seat. Somehow the word got out that Eisenhower considered this a "miserable ticket."

What was reported was that Eisenhower said privately that he thought the Woodside-Van Zandt ticket too old. Woodside is 57; Scott is 61 but looks younger.

Subsequently Eisenhower felt constrained to say in a telegram to Van Zandt, who is 63, that what he had said was not "in any way intended as personally derogatory to you."

Whatever happens in Pennsylvania, Eisenhower has some comparatively youthful candidates going for him in several states.

He didn't have to urge Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is 53, to seek re-election in New York. But he encouraged Fred A. Seaton, 52, his former secretary of interior, to seek the Nebraska governorship.

The former president was one of those who helped convince former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is 48, that he ought to run for the Republican nomination for governor in California.

Eisenhower also had a potent influence on the decision of George Romney, American Motors president, to run for the GOP nomination for governor in Michigan. Romney is 54.

Politicians generally think that Nixon, Romney and Scott might figure in the 1964 scramble for the Republican presidential nomination—provided they can get elected to state office, along with Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who is 53.

Nixon is considered a draft possibility, Romney is regarded as a potential dark horse. Scott would present an even darker hue in the latter category, but would not be counted out because of his extensive acquaintance with the party organization as a former chairman and former counsel of the Republican National Committee.

Hoarded U.S. Materials Must Be Dumped Slowly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's excess hoard of strategic materials will have to be sold slowly—perhaps over 10 years—to avoid a stunning shock to the economy, say senators who have scanned secret reports.

The question of disposal likely will be one of the major problems of a Senate subcommittee preparing to act on President Kennedy's order for an inquiry into stockpiling.

And the stockpile's two giants—will get most of the attention.

Informed senators noted that a decision made in the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration — and concurred in currently by Kennedy—to cut the strategic requirement from a five-year supply to a three-year one contributes to the excesses.

The more than two million tons of aluminum and million tons of rubber presumably could be sold for a profit at present prices, providing a way would be worked out for gradual disposal.

WOULD HIT PRICES

If such heavy amounts of aluminum and rubber were thrown on the market in a relatively short time, it probably would drive down prices. This would hold true for other stockpile materials. A quick sale also might choke industries which supply the materials.

The amount the government spent for all raw materials—including some not regarded as strategic—was fixed by senators at more than $9 billion.

The stockpile has on hand more than 1.5 million tons of zinc—more than eight times what is needed.

The stockpile—which has piled up everything from opium and diamonds to feathers—is short on some items, iodine and asbestos are below quota. There is only a slight excess of copper, castor oil, abaca and sperm oil.

St. Patrick Hit With Scientific Shillelagh

CHICAGO (UPI) — The luck of the Irish that rid Erin of snakes came from the Ice Age and not St. Patrick.

Dr. Alfred E. Emerson of the University of Chicago, plans to say so at an Academy of Science lecture here Tuesday.

"St. Patrick was born about 1,500 years ago," Emerson will tell the audience. "The Ice Age froze out Ireland's snakes maybe 100,000 years before that."

Emerson is a specialist in zoogeography — the science that attempts to reconstruct where animals originated and how they came to be where they are today.

Emerson also will tell his audience of students and science teachers why Australia has so many pouched animals and why Africa is devoid of tigers.

Waterford to Talk New Sewer Rate

Discussion of a proposed sewer rate based on actual water consumption rather than a flat rate will take place at tonight's regular meeting of the Waterford Township Board scheduled for 7 p.m.

The flat rate charge by the City of Pontiac has been in effect since 1935, and since there are inequities in this plan, according to a recent survey, the board has chosen to explore the possibility of a rate based on consumption which would permit a sewer charge of 75 per cent of the water bill.

Other items up for consideration at tonight's meeting are a request for a new SDM license at 3340 Dixie Highway, site of the former Side-O-Shore grocery store and a recommendation of the Electrical Board that Waldron Keasey be reappointed as contractor member of the Waterford Township Electrical Board.

Freshmen Failing to Take Engineering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff reported today that fewer college freshmen enrolled in engineering last fall than two years ago.

"This is further evidence," Ribicoff said, "that the balance of brainpower may tip—and tip dangerously—against us if the nation does not awaken to the importance of education to the freedom of the Western world. . . .

"Our adversaries in the struggle for power have realized that the education and training of their youth offer the key to their power and strength. But we have not realized it."

Buckeyes Seek Big 10 Record Tonight

OSU Five at 'M' in Quest of 24th Straight Victory

Ohio Equals Old Mark Saturday by Clobbering Minnesota, 91-66

By The Associated Press

A record nearly a half century old is Ohio State's objective tonight when the top-ranked Buckeyes journey to Michigan in quest of a third straight Big Ten basketball championship.

Ohio State equalled the mark of 23 straight conference victories set by Wisconsin in 1913 when the Buckeyes smashed Minnesota, 91-6, Saturday night. It was OSU's eighth conference victory this season and 18th season win without defeat.

All-America Jerry Lucas scored 34 points in the Buckeyes' 32nd successive victory at home. He set a loop record by hitting 14 of 15 shots.

Wisconsin tenaciously remained in the thick of the race with a 77-72 triumph over Michigan State. It gave the Badgers a 6-1 Big Ten record.

Illinois boosted its record to 5-2 with a 91-81 victory over Iowa. Illinois was the only team to win away from home Saturday.

Terry Dischinger set another scoring record by pumping in 47 points in leading Purdue to a 105-93 victory over Indiana. Dischinger's three-year total now is 1,068 points and bettered the mark of Paul Ebert of Ohio State who compiled 1,027 through 1954.

Dischinger, almost a cinch to repeat as All-America, is not far from the four-year mark compiled by Indiana's Don Schlundt through 1955 when freshmen were allowed to play. Schlundt's total was 1,307 points and Dischinger has an excellent chance of also breaking the mark.

Dischinger, meanwhile regained the conference scoring lead from Indiana's Jimmy Rayl who was held to 18 points. Tom Bolyard led the Hoosiers with 30 points.

Northwestern climbed out of the Big Ten cellar with an 84-66 triumph over Michigan as Ralph Wells whipped in 21 points to lead the Wildcats.

The Buckeyes will be heavy favorites to win at Michigan but Wisconsin will be a decided underdog at Indiana. In other games, Northwestern will be at Illinois and Iowa at Purdue.

Dave Downey scored 28 points in Illinois' victory over Iowa while Hawkeye ace Don Nelson whipped in 25. The victory was Illinois' 15th in 16 games but coach Harry Combes was not on hand to witness it.

The Southeastern Conference furnishes a key attraction tonight—defending champion Bulldogs are out to capture a share of the conference lead but will find the going rough against the streaking Wildcats, who have won 16 straight counting Saturday night's 83-60 romp over Mississippi. Kentucky State is 13-1 and 7-1 after beating Tennessee 91-67 Saturday.

Hayes Jones Wins Hurdles at Los Angeles

Beatty Runs 3:58.9 Indoors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Beatty, the world's first indoor 4-minute miler, will run in New York the next two weeks.

And because he'll be away from home, the dark-haired 27-year-old North Carolina graduate might even better his American indoor record of 3:58.9.

Running with planned percision and the helpful pacing of teammates from the Los Angeles Track Club, Beatty broke Ron Delany's 3-year-old mark of 4:01.4 Saturday at the Los Angeles Times Indoor Games.

Beatty has run 3:58.0 outdoors, so his performance was not a shock. But later he admitted:

"Being here in Los Angeles and having to run in Los Angeles, it's hard sometimes to get ready. There's no different routine. I get up, get out of bed and there's nothing different going on.

"When I go out of town it's entirely different. You're going somewhere and you know why."

This week, he'll go to the New York A.C. Games, then a week later will run in the National AAU meet, also in New York. He'll run the mile in both.

ACCORDING TO PLAN

Beatty, only 5-foot-6 and 128 pounds, clicked off quarter-miles of :59.1, :60.5, :61.6 and :57.7, as he sped along the 160-yard board track. He used Laszlo Tabori and Jim Greele for pacesetters during the first three-quarters, then "took off" in a race that "went right according to plan."

Despite his brilliant performance before a packed house of 13,134, Beatty was only a narrow Athlete of the Meet winner over New Zealand's Peter Snell, who set an indoor mark for 1,000 yards.

Snell led from gun to tape as he powered to a 2:06.0, 1.9 seconds under Ernie Cunliffe's former American indoor standard.

Snell sped past the 880-yard flag in 1:50.2, an unofficial one-tenth under Arnie Sowell's American indoor record. Snell won't get the 880 record since no finish tape was there.

It was the fourth record since Jan. 27 for the 1960 Olympic Games 800-meter champion, who looks like a powerful halfback. He ran a 3:54.4 outdoor mile that day, then followed a week later with a 1:45.1 880 yards and 1:44.3 800 meters.

JONES TRIUMPHS

Snell's countryman, Murray Halberg, won the 2-mile Saturday in 8:42.5, more than 8 seconds off his own indoor record.

Hayes Jones of Pontiac won the 60-yard high hurdles. Fran Washington of Santa Clara Valley Youth Village was second. Jones' time was 7.3 seconds.

Gary Gubner, the massive 19 year-old New York University shotputter, bettered Parry O'Brien's listed indoor record with an effort of 63 feet 8 inches. But Gubner has a pending record of 63-10 , 8¾ inches beyond O'zbrien's standard.

Gubner got off a practice heave estimated by judges at 66-10. And he fouled on a throw past 66 feet.

Steve Haas of Occidental ran history's third-fastest indoor 500 —56.8. And Jack Yerman, former California quarter-miler, upset Jamaican George Kerr in a 1:10.2 600-yard run.

Wings 'Satisfy' Abel by Blanking Toronto

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Sid Abel called it the Detroit Red Wings' most satisfying victory this season.

"I wanted to dish it out to those guys somewhere along the line," said Abel, with a sparkling grin, after the Red Wings blanked the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-0 last night.

"They've been pretty rough on us the last few times, and they made big claims about how they're going to finish first. So it was a nice one to win," Abel said.

In their previous two meetings the Wings jumped into an early command but permitted Toronto to pull out a victory and a tie.

Last night, the Wings scored three first-period goals and two more in the second, but there was no let up as Detroit battled to protect Hank Bassen's second shutout in four games.

The Wings haven't lost since Bassen replaced injured Terry Sawchuk at goal, posting two victories and two ties.

First place in the National Hockey League is just a remote hope now for the staggering Leafs. They have only a tie in their last four games and fell nine points behind pacesetting Montreal last night. The Canadiens nipped the Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 on late goals by Jean Beliveau and Don Marshall.

The Red Wings' triumph kept them two points behind New York in the bristling scramble for fourth place and a spot in the playoffs. The Rangers roared from behind for a 5-3 verdict over Boston last night.

Three of Detroit's goals were scored while a Toronto player was in the penalty box. Norm Ullman, Alex Delvecchio and Parker MacDonald staked the Wings to a 3-0 lead in the first stanza. Rookie Larry Jeffrey, rushed in from the Edmonton farm club, and veteran Gordie Howe scored in the second period.

"I think we'll be keeping Jeffrey up with us for the rest of the season and send somebody else back to the minors when all our injured are better," said general manager Jack Adams. "He's a real pro."

Vic Stasiuk, Howie Glover, Sawchuk and MacGregor were recovering from ailments.

Bassen didn't have a tough time in his shutout bid until the final period. He made 15 of his 31 saves in the last 20 minutes.

Believeau's second goal brought the Canadiens into a 3-3 tie before Marashil won it with a tally six minutes before the end at Chicago. Murray Balfour, Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull were Chicago's marksmen.

Dean Prentice scored twice for the Rangers with Doug Harvey, Andy Bathgate and Aridy Hebenton notching the other goals. Boston's tallies were by Johnny Bucyk, Don McKenney and Ted Green.

Bathgate also had two assists for a three-point night and stretched his leadership over Howe to seven points in the NHL scoring race.

MIAA Cage Race Still Wide Open

Hope Takes 1st Place With 78-67 Win Over Kalamazoo

By The Associated Press

Hope saw to that in weekend action by surging into first place at the expense of the former occupant, Kalamazoo, with a 78-67 victory over the Hornets.

Hope leads with a 7-2 record compared to second-place Kalamazoo's 6-2. Others are close enough to keep the race lively. Albion tied with Kalamazoo for runnerup spot by winning from Adrian 90-63.

The weekend also was marked by a new school scoring record by Detroit's great Dave DeBusschere.

Debusschere accumulated 44 points as the Titans mauled Dayton 97-75. Debusschere's new mark supplants the 42 record set by Guy Sparrow against John Carroll in 1953.

Hope was a relatively easy winner over Kalamazoo in their MIAA first place fight. Jim Vander Hill topped Hopes with 25 points. Chuck Wood scored 21 for Kalamazoo.

Larry Pratt, scoring 27 points, led Albion to its rout over Adrian (1-8).

Sharp Putter Helps Ferree Win Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) —Jim Ferree, a bespectacled professional from Crystal River, Fla., credited his putter, behaving better than it has in a year, with his comeback victory in the Panama Open Golf Tournament.

"My putter hasn't been this hot since Jamaica," Ferree said after his 5-under-par round Sunday that brought him the one-stroke decision and $1,500 prize money. The reference was to his 1961 triumph in the Jamaica Open.

Ferree finished with a 72-hole total of 277, 11-under-par. Billy Maxwell, the Dallas, Tex., pro who led at the end of three rounds, was one stroke back. Don Whitt, Borrego Springs, Calif., had a 280 and Dow Finsterwald 281.

Win Sports Car Races

Titles for Moss, Gurney

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Quick-thinking Dan Gurney and lead-footed Stirling Moss are the winners of the first Daytona Continental three-hour race for sports and grand touring cars.

And Ferrari of Italy, to nobody's surprise, is off to a fast start in the 1962 competition for the world's automobile manufacturing championship.

Gurney won the $21,800 inaugural event Sunday with a dazzling speed of 104.101 miles an hour although he had to nudge his red Lotus sports car across the finish line with the starter after the engine died in the final stretch.

Moss, driving a Ferrari Berlinetta grand touring car, made a magnificent showing in competition against the faster prototype sports machine, crossing the line fourth in the field and first in his division.

Gurney, from Costa Mesa, Calif., and Moss, from London, each earned $7,500 and Moss earned eight points for Ferrari in the factory competition which now is limited to grand touring models.

Second place in the over-all finish went to Ricardo Rodriguez of Mexico City in a Ferrari sports car which had been driven during the first half of the race by Phil Hill, world road racing champion from Santa Monica, Calif.

The Californian had a flat 4-mile lead when his engine died on a turn approaching the finish line. Here, fast thinking and a thorough knowledge of racing rules saved him.

If he coasted across the line before the checkered flag fell, marking the end of the 3-hour race, he would be required to run another lap, an obvious impossibility with a dead engine.

Gurney braked to a stop 10 feet from the line, used up most of his lead waiting for the flag to fall, then nudged the car across with the starter to win by 46 seconds.

After much discussion among officials, it was finally decided that Gurney's action was legal and his number went up on the scoreboard as winner.

Dick Rathmann of Chicago was fifth in a Chaparral sports car. Others in the top 10 were George Constantine of Southbridge, Mass., in a Ferrari sports car; Bob Holbert of Warrington, Pa., in a Porsche sports; John Fulp of Anderson, S. C., in a Ferrari sports; Chuck Cassell of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in a Porsche sports, and Herb Swan of Cleveland Ohio, in a Porsche sports.

Spartans, 'M' Shine on Track

But Western Michigan Thinclads Cop Honors in MSU Relays

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State track coach Frank Ditrich figures the Big Ten title race this year will be decided by his MSU Spartans and Michigan with Indiana and Ohio strong darkhorses.

The Michigan State relays here Saturday night proved the traditional rivals are evenly matched. They also showed it's a good thing for both teams that Western Michigan isn't in the Big Ten.

An unofficial point count showed Western Michigan with 52 points, Michigan State with 48 and Michigan with 47½.

Coaches agreed it was a fair estimate of team strength.

Western did it mostly on great team depth. The Broncos placed in 14 of 18 events, although they only had one first.

This was in the high jump where Alonso Littlejohn, a junior from Jackson, contributed the only meet record with his leap of 6 feet 7⅛ inches. The old high of 6 feet 6¾ inches was set by Bernie Allard of Notre Dame in 1956.

Michigan's Bennie McRae was the only individual double winner. The Wolverine football star won both the 75-yard high and low hurdles races, both times beating out Michigan State halfback Herman Johnson by a faster start off the blocks. McRae's time in the high hurdles was :08.9, tying the meet and fieldhouse record set by the great Glenn Davis of Ohio State in 1958.

Michigan also won the two-mile relay and the distance medley relay.

A pair of sophomores provided two Michigan State firsts. Football scatback Sherman Lewis won the 300-yard dash in :32.8 and John Parker took the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 11 inches.

Michigan State was ahead in the shuttle hurdles relay but was cheated out of a win by a freak accident when Bill Mann stumbled over a student manager setting up hurdles.

Palmer Takes a Rest After 12-Stroke Win

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Golf's No. 1 miracle - maker, Arnold Palmer, is going to play only one tournament in the next five weeks, much to the pleasure of his fellow pros.

The long-driving Palmer has said for some time he needs a rest. After his performance in the $35,000 Phoenix Open many rivals agree.

Palmer won his second straight Phoenix title with a 72-hole score of 280, just one stroke off the course record. His nearest competitors were 12 strokes off the pace. The victory margin was also the largest ever for a PGA event.

"My driving was by far the greatest reason for the big margin," Palmer said as he pocketed the $5,300 top money. "Those long irons came through for me several times.

"But now I need a rest," he sighed.

The rest can't hurt him financially either. The 32-year-old golden boy is goldom's third biggest money-winner with total earnings of $275,754.76. He is only $7,200 short of Gary Middlecoff's career total and $9,600 behind Doug Ford.

Palmer plans to play next in the Baton Rouge Open, where he is defending champion. This will give other pros making the annual winter tour a chance to pocket the big change in the Tucson, New Orleans, Pensacola and St. Petersburg events.

It's been all Palmer the past two weeks. Before Phoenix he won the rich Palm Springs Classic.

He tucked away the Phoenix tourney with a 5-under-par 66, his eighth sub-par round in his last nine. In fact, Palmer has gone up to par only once in the past two tournaments, and this came on the third round of the Phoenix runaway.

Sharing second-place money at 281 were Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 National Amateur and intercollegiate champion, Bob McCallister, Don Fairfield and Bill Casper.

Casper trailed Palmer by five strokes after three rounds, but was betrayed by his usually infallible putter Sunday. He finished with a 2-over-par 73 on the 7,675-yard Phoenix Country Club course.

Red Sox Sign Carroll Hardy

He's Figured to Take Jensen's Position in Boston Outfield

By The Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox have signed light-hitting but highly regarded Carroll Hardy, a prime candidate to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of slugger Jackie Jensen.

Signing along with Hardy were catcher Jim Pagliaroni, first baseman Don Giles and pitchers Chet Nichols, Galen Cisco, Dave Busby, Hal Kolstad and Stew MacDonald.

The New York Yankees signed pitchers Jim Coates and Roland Sheldon but were unable to come to terms with home run king Roger Maris. General manager Roy Hamey said "We're still far apart" after a 35-minute session with Maris, asking for $75,000 as a reward for his 61 homers.

Pitchers Chuck Estrada and Wes Stock of Baltimore, catcher Smoky Burgess and pitcher Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell of Pittsburgh, pitcher Moe Drabowski of Cincinnati and infielders Rich Rollins and Jim Snyder of Minnesota also came to terms.

The Los Angeles Dodgers signed four players — catchers Norm Sherry and Mike Brumley and pitchers Willard Hunter and Paul Tillotson — while the New York Mets signed five — catcher Hobie Landrith, outfielders Neil Chrisley and Bobby Gene Smith and pitchers Jay Hook and Ken McKenzie.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minneapolis edged Muskegon 4-3 last night to take undisputed possession of first place in the International Hockey League.

The Millers now have 68 points, St. Paul 67 and Muskegon 66.

It was tied 1-1 after one period and 3-3 after two.

State Girls Place In Big Event

1st Slalom Organizer Hits Ski Amateurism

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — A pioneer of organized Alpine ski racing believes true amateurism in top-rank skiing has virtually come to an end.

Britain's Sir Arnold Lunn, who organized the world's first slalom race at Muerren, Switzerland in 1922, has blunt views on what he calls the pretense of amateurism in such events as the current World Ski Games.

The Chamonix games, originally scheduled as the world champion ship, had a training day today with no competition.

The first of the 1962 gold medals was won in the women's giant slalom Sunday by Austria's 19 yearold Marianne Jahn.

Joan Hannah of Franconia, N. H., North American giant slalom champion in 1959, was third, less than a quarter of a second behind Miss Jahn.

Barbara Ferries, Houghton, Mich., was fifth, followed by Jean Saubert, Lakeview, Mich., in sixth. Both finished the 50-gate course less than a half second after the winner. Linda Meyers, Mammoth Lake, Calif., was 15th.

"I'm very happy with the way it worked out," American Coach Bob Beattie said. "The girls have been improving all season long and this shows they're still improving. That's what we're working for."

The men's special slalom will be held Tuesday. Four Americans headed by Bud Werner, Steamboat Springs, Colo., were among the 30 who qualified. Werner will start in sixth; Chuck Ferries, Houghton, Mich., 10th; Billy Kidd, Skowe, Vt., 18th and Jimmy Heuga, Tahoe City, Calif., 29th.

Lunn, commenting on what he called the lack of amateurism in skiing, said, "there is no longer any possibility of maintaining genuine amateur standards among skiers in the Olympic Games or world championships. All such races should be open to amateurs and professionals alike.

"Amateurism cannot possibly be enforced in the communist countries, and it is almost equally difficult to enforce in the rest of the world," he said.

He said the exploitation of big ski events for the political and tourist propaganda purposes are partly responsible for the death of amateurism among the worlds top skiers.

Bloomfield Hills' Girls Take Honors

Walled Lake Wins Prep Ski Meet

What is called the Southeast Michigan High school ski meet should very well be called the Oakland County ski tournament, as county schools and individual skiers walked off with the honors at Mt. Holly Saturday.

Walled Lake pulled a surprise to win the team title by virtue Dave Currie's final slalom run. Bloomfield Hills took the honors in the girls team and finished second behind Walled Lake with the boys team.

Currie, a 17 - year - old senior, raced through the 24-gate slalom in 38.5 in his second run after a 31.5 in his first run. This gave him a combined time of 68.5. His time, plus that of John Stockling with 1:08.5 gave Walled Lake the title with a 2:01.5 total.

The Hills team finished with 2:02.1 led by Butch Bloemfeld's 1:00.5 and Lynn Smith's 1:02.5.

Kris Pochelon and Pam Waggoner of Bloomfield Hills took first and second individually to easily give their team the crown. Miss Pochelon had a combined time of 1:16.3 and Miss Waggoner had 1:21.9.

Royal Oak Kimball finished third and Berkely fourth. Southfield, which stayed in the running, finished sixth when Kirby Cooper was disqualified for missing a gate.

Westerford finished behind Bloomfield Hills in the girls' team competition followed by Walled Lake, Lakeview and Southfield. The PCH girls team failed to place in time results.

Two Jumpers Ride 121 Feet in Annual Meet

Earl Hill of Briar Hill Wins in Senior Class of 9th Tourney

One pair of skis turned out to be lucky for two ski jumpers in the 9th annual Kandahar Jumping Tournament yesterday at the Orr road site.

Earl Hill, a Detroiter who skis for the Briar Hill ski club, won the Seniors' class with jumps of 114 and 121 feet for 213 points.

Hill, who had his jumping skis stolen while eating dinner at a nearby restuarant, Saturday night, had to use the jumping skis of Clint Beach for the meet.

The skis were good for Beach also, as he won the class B division with jumps of 112-116 for 200.7 points.

The 116 foot mark held by Waterford's Dave Freeman, was surpassed by Hill and also Jan Simonsen. Simonsen, 1960 state champion from Flint, who also skis for Briar Hill, had jumps of 118 and 121 feet but finished third in points with 179.5. Berger Ericksen of Flint and Briar Hill was second with 192.3 points in jumps of 106 and 107.

Simonsen also had the longest standing free jump of the day at 119 feet.

SNOW SLOWS RUN

The record would probably have been much longer but the continuous snowfall slowed the runs. In practice the day before, jumpers were hitting marks of 135 feet.

Walt Hyry of Berkley, successfully defended his veteran's title. He had jumps of 113-115 feet for 209.3 points. Brother Alden Hyry was second and Les Granquist of Briar Hill was third.

John Grames of Pontiac, jumping for Grampian Mt. was runnerup to Beach in class B division with jumps of 108 and 108 feet for 199.2 points. Ralph Guthrie, also of Grampian was third and Hank Juntunen of Kandahar was fourth.

Carl Saul, member of the Briar Hill ski club, from Detroit was the junior class winner. He has jumps of 101 and 98 feet for 172 points.

A total of 31 jumpers took part in the meet and despite the weather nearly 1,000 spectators crowded the area to watch the meet.

Presentation of trophies was held afterward at the Eagles Lodge on M-59. Judges for the meet included Ed Drovedahl of Detroit, Ed Neuman of Detroit, Bill Hyvonen of Ferndale and Gene Blanchard of Livonia.

The Kandahar Ski Club will now have to wait before deciding whether a 100h annual jump should be held in 1963. The State Conservation Commission decided to buy 176 acres adjacent to the Pontiac Lake Recreation area and this includes the site of the ski club.

The club is making a proposal to the state for the operation of the site as a public ski area.

Westminster Show Opens in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The ancient Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show opened a two-day session in Madison Square Garden today but who was going to show up was a tight secret.

"We'll have 62 best-of-breed winners back from last year," said a Westminster official cautiously. "But that's all I can say."

How about the finalists?

"Can't reveal them."

Frank and Katherine Wheatley of Allen Park, Mich., have a strong contender in Ch. Conifer's Lance, a 5-year-old Irish setter. Lance won the big Chicago International last year.

PNH Seeks First Win Over Central Tuesday

For the second time this season, Pontiac Northern goes after its most elusive victory.

And for the second time, the Huskies will be underdogs when city rival Central invades the PNH gym. This will be the ninth basketball game between the schools.

Central has yet to suffer a loss in the series.

Coach Art Van Ryzin's Chiefs have been sputtering lately, and Northern has shown improvement, but Central will be a heavy favorite when the 8 p.m. starting time rolls around.

The Chiefs had little trouble beating Northern 58-40 in the first meeting this season.

There is a full slate of Oakland A games carded Tuesday, and two in the Wayne-Oakland League.

ST. BEN OUSTED

Detroit Visitation ousted Highland Park St. Benedict from the Catholic League tournament Sunday, 58-45. Redford Union handed Walled Lake its 14th straight setback Saturday, 56-48.

Clarence Douglas will be a doubtful started for Central. The sharpshooting senior missed Friday's game at Bay City Central because of illness.

Ed Williams replaced Douglas and sparked the Chiefs to their 10th victory in 12 games. Sophomore Al Keel returned from a brief stay with the junior varsity to start against the Wolves.

Paul Brown, Otto Kennedy and Rudy Ransom probably will get the nod against Northern. This front line averages 6-3 and will give the Chiefs a definite edge under the boards.

Rick Fisher has the cast removed from his finger, making him a two-handed player again.

The loser of the Avondale at Madison game can expect to stay a step ahead of last place Lake Orion. The Dragons have the task of invading Oakland A front runner Fitzgerald.

Avondale and Madison are deadlocked for fifth place. The Yellow Jackets have played good ball since coach Dick Bye made some lineup changes and could spoil things for Madison.

TROY IDLE

Lake Orion is a definite underdog against the Spartans. Clawson goes to Oak Park in the other league game. Troy is idle.

Clarkston hosts West Bloomfield with a chance to tie the Lakers for third in the W-O by winning. Holly can pull itself into the same deadlock by winning at Brighton, providing Clarkston wins.

Royal Oak Kimball tests first place East Detroit in the Shamrock's lair in an Eastern Michigan League contest. Ferndale goes to Hazel Park in the other loop game.

Other action Tuesday has South Lyon at Howell, Mayville at North Branch, North Farmington a Country Day, Farmington OLS at Utica St. Lawrence and Warren Lincoln at Utica.

St. Benedict, co-champion of the Suburban Catholic League, stayed close to Visitation in the opening quarter, But the eventual winners turned on the points and won going away.

Syracuse Giant Leads Victory Over Pistons

SYRACUSE (AP) — It might have been a reenactment of Jack the Giantkiller except that this time the giant won.

The Nats, paced by Halbrook's first half scoring burst, took an early lead and then held off the Pistons 132-116 in a National Basketball Association game here yesterday.

In other NBA games yesterday, Boston whipped Chicago 148-115, St. Louis stopped Cincinnati 129-109, and Philadelphia clipped New York 121-111.

Halbrook broke loose in the second period and the Pistons couldn't contain him as he lobbed in 16 points to boost Syracuse to a 68-57 lead that stood up the rest of the way.

Oddly enough Halbrook sat out the last half and played only 16 minutes in the first. He finished with 26 points for his career high as a pro.

Don Ohl and Gene Shue kept Detroit in the game with their outside shooting but they couldn't make up the difference. The closest the Pistons ever came in the second half was nine points when they launched a fourth-period rally with Jackie Moreland leading the charge. Moreland dropped in 14 points in this last big push but it wasn't enough.

OHL HIGH

Detroit now has a 28-33 record and is 14½ games behind Western Division leading Los Angeles.

The Warriors' victory over New York was their fifth in a row. Wilt Chamberlain once again led the way with 42 points and 25 rebounds.

Willie Naulls topped New York with 31 points.

Rangers Win 3rd Straight Crown

With Dave Parker firing three goals to lead the way, the Rangers skated to a 7-1 victory over the Union Lake Optimists in the finals of the double-elimination tournament.

Other Mountain View goals were scored by Nick Anderson, Bob Vanover, Bob Schaffer and Larry Lewis. The unbeaten Rangers tallied twice in the 1st period, once in the 2nd and four times in the finale.

Ramsey Will Coach Pittsburgh Defenses

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gerard (Buster) Ramsey, former head coach of the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, has been hired as a defensive coach by Pittsburgh of the National Football League, the Steelers announced today.

Ramsey was fired at Buffalo earlier this year after the Bills finished last in the AFL's Eastern Division.

The Steelers said Ramsey will replace defensive line coach Chuck Cherundolo, who resigned last Friday.

He was named as assistant coach at Detroit in 1951 and served under Buddy Parker, present coach of the Steelers.

YOU MAY BE ASTONISHED at the value that the nation's leading industries place on daily newspapers as an advertising medium. Last year, there were more than 100 national advertisers who invested more than $1 million each in daily newspapers—and the largest of them bought more than $40 million worth of space.* Retailers and local advertisers agree with these industrial giants that the newspaper sells best. These retailers and local advertisers last year invested $2.9 billion in daily newspapers—more than they spent in radio, TV, magazine, and outdoor advertising COMBINED!

Negotiation Plans Still Unsettled in Lear Strike

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Negotiation plans still were unsettled today in a strike at Lear, Inc., where 1,600 hourly wage members of United Auto Workers Local 330 have been off the job since Feb. 3.

Averages Look Upward

Small Investors on Holiday

Most changes were fractional and the averages showed a tiny edge to the upside.

The big investors, such as banks, insurance companies and other industrial concerns, were mostly closed because of Lincoln's birthday. The small investor apparently also was taking a holiday.

There was a short flurry of trading at the start but it died out quickly.

Many analysts anticipate that prices will fall off after the rather sharp recovery in the eight sessions preceding Friday.

Rails and oils were the major sections showing a plus advantage. Steels, aircrafts and chemicals slipped into the minus column. Mixed were motors, electronics, rubbers, utilities, tobacco and metals.

Steels opened a shade better then retreated. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Jones & McLaughlin were down fractions around midday. The steel section has been improving on optimism there won't be an industry strike when labor contracts run out June 30.

One broker said they fell off because investors were beginning to doubt whether an early settlement would have any beneficial effect on the price level of the stock.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher in quiet trading. Higher by more than a point were Oak Manufacturing, Wood Newspaper Machinery and DeJay stores. Anken Chemical gained about a point at one time. Among losers were Liberty Fabrics, Signal Oil, Seaman Bros., Jupiter Oils and Great Basins Petroleum.

Kelvinator Reports January Sales Up

The AMC appliance division said it was the 10th successive monthly increase as compared to the year previous.

Homer L. Travis, vice president sales, said industry sales of major appliances were slowed throughout the country by severe weather during the last 10 days of January.

S-P Getting Ready for Tuesday Output

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Workers started returning today to get the Studebaker-Packard Corp. plant ready to resume automobile production Tuesday for the first time since a strike started Jan. 2.

The strike was formally ended Saturday when members of Local 5 of the United Auto Workers overwhelmingly ratified a new three-year contract.

Sherman H. Egbert, company president, promptly called for "every effort" to get back into production quickly and said it was hoped output would be at better than a 60-car-an-hour rate by Tuesday. Egbert didn't say how long would be required to get all 6,400 workers back at their jobs.

Take Bull by the Horns

A Dull Course Can Be Made Interesting

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education
University of Southern California

"Why did I ever sign up for this course? I don't like it. I don't study. I get poor grades."

How many times have I heard that wail from a frustrated student! It's easy to sign up for a course—but if you don't like it, a semester is a long haul.

DR. NASON

Perhaps you signed up because the course came at the right time of day. Or because your pal was taking it. Or it had the right number of units. taking it. Or it had the right number of units.

Whatever the reason, you are in it now—and you CAN do something to make it less painful.

COMMON PROBLEM

Parents often say: "Our daughter (or son) makes As in the subjects she likes, but fails subjects in which she is not interested. She would like to go to college, but her over-all grades will be too low."

The parents of one boy whom we will call John encouraged him to come to me with such a problem.

John wished to go to college, but he lacked the self-discipline to study a course that didn't particularly appeal to him.

John and I agreed that problems seem less frightening if we are doing something actively about them. And we agreed that the right approach should make the course more interesting.

My advice to John:

Take the bull by the horns and start learning something about the course! The more you know about something the more enjoyable it is to think about.

Don't just sit looking at a book. Be active! Associate with your study such muscular activity as writing outlines or making sketches.

When you get to visualize something with sufficient accuracy so that you can sketch an illustration, you're on your way to true learning.

When you insist that your mind grasp the subject well enough to produce an outline, you are starting to grasp the big idea of the course!

Listen actively! Summarize the speaker's words. Write the ideas down in short sentences. Try hard to grasp his meaning.

Don't just complete the assignment. Take time to get the course straightened out in your mind. Do more than the teacher asks.

By following these procedures, you will find that you have suddenly become interested in the course.

You even may say: "I'm glad I signed up for this class!"

(If you have a question for Dr. Nason, write him in care of The Pontiac Press. He will discuss in his column those of most general interest.)

Jar of Dimes Pays Hospital for New Baby

He used the $360 to pay expenses for 8-pound Jonathan Keith Ray, born Sunday.

Ray said he and his wife started saving the coins when they found out a baby was on the way because they had no hospitalization insurance.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Great for exchanging thoughts, opinions. Time to "open up." Hiding light under bushel no benefit today. Be honest . . . analyze situation, problem and you come up with your best answers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Much career, professional activity indicated if you shake off lethargy. Read newspapers for knowledge . . . discard antiquated methods . . . strive for the streamlined version. Advance! Cycle good.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): If minor irritations permitted to rule day, you could say something to offend dear one. Accept and give affection . . . permit natural warmth of emotions to shine through. Strive for harmony.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Unusual day as far as income, budget procedures concerned. You actually appear to save more in long run by buying the very best . . . this applies to many situations. Good news due.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Publicity indicated . . . make sure it is of the constructive type. Tendency to become flamboyant must be controlled. Take it calm and easy . . . make claims which you can back up, verify. Think!

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Neptune turns retrograde in motion in third sector of your Solar chart. This means you should take care in traveling . . . in writing. Be diplomatic with relatives. Reread even little notes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Much working in your favor. You may be unaware of it, but there are those you helped in past . . . who now try to repay favor. Accept courtesies with smile, appreciation . . . win friends. Show abilities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Much personal magnetism could be brought into play. But be sure you attract persons GOOD for you . . . otherwise, you dissipate energy, talents. Could make wrong decision. Exercise discipline.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Remember saying about Rome . . . it was not built in day. If you attempt to rush, to push, to demand . . . you will be forced to backward steps. Not time for power plays . . . go slow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take care in expressing likes, dislikes. It would be easy today . . . to say wrong thing. There are those around you who could be extremely sensitive. Be true to yourself . . . and diplomatic.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Impatience is your foe today. You have ability, foresight, imagination to accomplish much. But also you are apt to demand almost immediate results. Trust time . . . it works in your favor!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Aid forthcoming from unexpected source . . . you could be pleasantly surprised. Might be best to stick close to home tonight . . . put house in order . . . attend to family matters. Stress security.

IF TUESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . strive for harmony in '62. Month of June could prove very exciting, filled with opportunities. You are a practical, yet imaginative individual. When you make up your mind to accomplish something . . . you usually do!

* * *

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for TAURUS, GEMINI, CANCER. Excellent for theater . . . luxury items . . . entertainment. Inventors could make announcements which let us all know we are indeed living in progressive age.

Georgia 'Hunt' Rounds Up 131 Rattlers

WHIGHAM, Ga. (AP) — From dawn until late afternoon Sunday snake hunters tracked through the woods of this south Georgia area. When the counting was done, there were 131 rattlers, a few coachwhips and other nonpoisonous varieties.

There were prizes for the biggest snakes, and prizes for the most. Snake experts were on hand to show how it's done.

* * *

The roundup, designed to reduce the area's snake population, was inaugurated last year after a teenager suffered a severe snake bite.

A commercial firm purchased the snakes for $2 each for extraction of venom for use in an antidote for poisonous snake bites.

Kennedy Lands in Indonesia

Anti-U. S. Signs Torn From Walls by Soldiers Before His Arrival

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived in Indonesia today for a six-day visit. Before his arrival soldiers scratched off anti-American slogans crudely painted along his route into the capital.

The airliner that brought Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, touched down at the Jakarta airport three hours late. Indonesian Atty Gen. Gunawan, who had invited Kennedy to visit the Socialist island republic, led the welcoming party.

Kennedy and his wife had flown from Hong Kong to Singapore, and they used their unexpected stopover there for a fast sightseeing drive about the British Commonwealth island.

Indonesian youths painted signs saying "Kennedy go home" and "United States no, Indonesia yes" on walls and buildings. They also handed out posters and leaflets.

Indonesians were annoyed because the United States permitted chartered Dutch airliners with uniformed troops aboard to refuel on U.S. territory en route to West New Guinea. Last week students stoned the U.S. embassy here in protest. The United States has banned such flights but commercial Dutch airliners carrying troops in civilian clothes can still land on U.S. territory.

Kennedy will have several meetings with President Sukarno —whom he has met before—and other government officials, including anti-Communist Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, the national security minister.

On the eve of Kennedy's arrival the Indonesian army sent 30,000 jungle fighters to eastern Indonesia, apparently to start infiltration of West New Guinea.

Wreckage, Bodies Found Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Searchers today found the burned and scattered wreckage of a Vietnamese military C47 transport plane that apparently carried 10 men—eight Americans and two Vietnamese—to death on a leaflet-dropping mission Sunday.

Bodies of nine men were found with the wreckage in a mountainous area 30 miles northeast of Saigon. Rescue teams assumed the 10th also perished, despite a report that parachutes had been seen in the area.

All the Americans aboard were personnel of U.S. Army and Air Force. At least one was assigned to psychological warfare work in South Viet Nam. Names were withheld.

Do Forget Me, Says Fred Pryor, of Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—"There is an oportunity to make a lot of cheap propaganda slaming East Germany—don't do it in my case," said Frederic L. Pryor, 28, Sunday on his return home after his release from a Soviet prison.

"After tomorrow, forget me," he said.

She had been waiting five and a half months.

The scene was nearby Willow Run Airort with a New York-Detroit airliner a backdrop.

Less than 48 hours earlier Frederic had been released by East German Communists who had picked him up as an espionage suspect in East Berlin last Aug. 25. His mother and father, who learned of his detention three weeks afterward, had spent most of their time since in Berlin.

Lapeer Girl, 6, Struck by Auto in Front of Home

LAPEER — A 6-year-old girl is listed in satisfactory condition at Lapeer County General Hospital today with injuries suffered yesterday when she was struck by a car in front of her home about four miles east of here.

Julie M. Morey, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt of 3258 Bowers Road, has possible internal injuries and a possible broken shoulder, hospital authorities said.

Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies said the girl was struck at 12:40 p.m. by a car driven by Richard L. Montgomery, 17, son of Mrs. Mildred M. Sturgis of 2823 Melleville Road.

Montgomery told deputies he was driving east along Bowers when the girl ran in front of his car. The road was slippery at the time and it was snowing, deputies said.

Neither Montgomery nor his sister, Marilyn I., 12, a passenger in his car, was injured. The Morey girl was thrown 36 feet by the impact, deputies said. Montgomery was not held.

Catch Youth, 14, Hooking Candy; Admits Break-Ins

A sweet tooth apparently was the downfall of a young burglary suspect who admitted four recent breakins yesterday after being caught inside the Interstate Trucking Co., 117 E. Brush St.

After noting that the trucking company's office appeared to have been burglarized about 6 p.m. yesterday, police investigated and found a 14-year-old juvenile inside.

Nothing was taken from the firm, but the boy apparently took time to open a carton of candy and some jelly in the warehouse.

He admitted two burglaries at the furniture store and two earlier break-ins at the trucking company. Turned over to juvenile authorities was James T. Mills, 210 E. Wilson St.

Prince Charles Okay After Appendectomy

LONDON, (UPI) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, was rushed 58 miles by ambulance to a London hospital where surgeons today performed an emergency operation to remove his appendix.

The 13-year-old son of Queen Elizabeth was pronounced in satisfactory condition after the operation.

Later this morning the hospital said he spent a "comfortable" night.

Kovacs Named Best Director

Wife Accepts Award in Behalf of Late Comic for '61 TV Production

Kovacs, who was killed Jan. 13 in an automobile accident, was honored posthumously Saturday night at the Directors Guild of America's annual awards dinner held here and in New York.

Runners-up to the Kovacs special, described as a study in silence, were "Doyle Against the House," "The Danny Kaye Show," "The Power and the Glory," which starred Sir Laurence Olivier and "Victoria Regina."

Kovacs' widow, commedienne Edie Adams, escorted by actor Edward G. Robinson, accepted the award for her late husband, before an audience of about 1,000 persons, including such film notables as Gregory Peck, Shirley Jones, Keely Smith, Jane Haver, and Fred MacMurray.

"I think Ernie would like to thank the crew," she said referring to Kovacs' assistants on the show. "I know Ernie is very happy about this as I am."

Big Party Will Honor Greek Mayor of Gary

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Quite a birthday party is in store for Mayor George Chacharis today.

Aides have scheduled a $25-a-plate special honoring Chacharis, who was 54 Sunday. A Democrat, he was born in Thebes, Greece.

City Controller John Vlachosky said more than 2,000 tickets have been sold which will bring the mayor at least $50,000.

Last Reubens, Painted in 1601, Will Be Sold

LONDON (AP) — Senior members of Sotheby's auction house will go to Spain May 4 to sell Rubens' portrait of the Duke of Lerna.

Sotheby's expects it will be sold for at least $770,000, the price paid for Rubens' "Adoration of the Magi" in June 1959. If the buyer plans to take it out of Spain the price of the painting automatically increases 20 per cent.

"A foreign purchaser could get a license to export it if he pays to the Spanish government a tax amounting to 30 per cent of the purchase price," he explained.

Wilson said the portrait on a canvas measuring 9¼ x 6 feet is the last great Rubens still in private hands. Painted in 1601 when Rubens was 24, it shows the duke on horseback with soldiers in the background. Its owner, a descendant of the duke, died recently and the portrait is part of his estate.

Lerner-Loewe Show a 60-Minute Delight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Take the product of a song-writing team which has turned out such shows as "My Fair Lady," "Gigi" and "Brigadoon." Cast their finest moments with talent like Julie Andrews and Maurice Chevalier. Let a director of taste and imagination pull it all together.

The result is a joy and a delight. And that is just what Sunday night's, "The Broadway of Lerner and Loewe" proved to be during an all-too-short hour on NBC.

Although the program was built around Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, the composers appeared only briefly—and never once got into the dull dreary trap of "And then we wrote—." Although Maurice Chevalier did sing his famous "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" and Stanley Holloway, his "Get Me to the Church on Time," most of the time the stars were doing great, popular songs with which they were not associated.

Chevalier—who was just wonderful—took on "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face." Richard Burton half-talked "Gigi," and Miss Andrews sang "With a Little Bit of Luck," originally Holloway's private domain.

60 Teen-Age Girls Tell Macmillan Posters Too Sexy

BLACKBURN, England (UPI)—Sixty teen-age girls here have protested to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that many movie house posters are "too sexy."

Posters that angered the girls appeared outside showings of "Nudes in the House," "The Young Have No Morals" and "The House of Sin."

Monica Stalker, leader of the group, which also is conducting a boycott, wrote the prime minister: "We are not prudes but we think these posters go too far."

13th Nuclear Explosion Announced by America

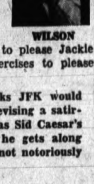

WASHINGTON — The United States conducted another nuclear test underground in Nevada. The Atomic Energy Commission described Friday's blast as low yield, meaning its explosive force was less than the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The test was the 13th announced by the commission since the United States resumed nuclear testing and the second in two days.

Comedian Dreams Up a JFK 'Command Act'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — President Kennedy is "ripe for satire," claims Charlie Manna, the Astronaut comedian who wouldn't go into space without his crayons—"because he loves show business and has shows at the White House."

WILSON

"So," says Manna, "let's imagine the White House having a booking agent to hire the acts."

Now Sophie Tucker, who did White House parties for President McKinley when it was still called Loew's White House, and who became known as the last of the White House Mamas, comes up for consideration by the booking agent . . .

"Hmmm," he says. "Great at Grossinger's, the Waldorf and Miami Beach but the WHITE HOUSE? If she didn't wear a French gown to please Jackie and drink milk while taking setting-up exercises to please Jack, she might bomb the joint!"

Manna, now at the Copacabana, thinks JFK would love being satirized in that way. Manna's devising a satirical TV show hoping it can be as brilliant as Sid Caesar's or Jackie Gleason's. I asked Manna how he gets along with Copacabana Prop. Jules Podell, who's not notoriously a satire-addict.

"Do you talk?" I asked him.

"Talk! Certainly!" said Manna. "He says 'Waiter!' and I say 'Yes SIR!'"

LBJ Hits Prejudice While Noting Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson, noting that Brotherhood Week opens next Sunday, said this nation cannot afford wasting its human resources through prejudice.

Johnson, who is national chairman of Brotherhood Week, made his comments in a message to Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Said the vice president:

"Each citizen must be able to work and to advance his line with his capabilities, regardless of the color of his skin, the religion he practices, or his ancestral origins. We cannot afford to waste our most valuable resources—human ability—because of petty prejudice and intolerance."

Dems Present Show of Unity

700 Turn Out to Honor Swainson and Wayne County Congresswoman

DETROIT (AP)—There was a big show of unity by Wayne County Democrats over the weekend, less than 24 hours after industrialist George Romney announced as a Republican candidate for governor.

It was the largest turnout for a Democratic affair in the history of the usually Democratic 17th district, and there was a show of considerable enthusiasm, especially for Swainson.

The gathering, however, was notable for its lack of any reference to Romney's announcement.

CAME CLOSEST

Swainson, tongue-in-cheek and smiling, came closest. Holding aloft a newspaper, the governor said:

After a little pause, he added:

"I see the Reds are freeing Mr. Powers, I never realized why one man should take so much punishment for mistakes of a previous administration.

U2 pilot Gary Powers, shot down on a spying mission over Russia in the Eisenhower administration, was freed Saturday by the Soviets.

U. S. and Soviet Spy Systems Have Much in Common

(Editor's Note — The exchange of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel has focused attention on the espionage struggle going on beneath the surface of the cold war. In the first of three dispatches, UPI correspondent Louis Cassels reports on the cost of spying and the information agents seek to ferret out.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Espionage is a venerable activity which all nations have publicly deplored and privately practiced since the dawn of history.

The Bible records that Moses sent spies into the promised land to find out how much military opposition the children of Israel could expect when they moved in.

Joshua sent secret agents into Jericho to check on the morale of its defenders. They returned with a report that "all the inhabitants of the country do faint because of us."

The basic purpose of espionage is the same today that it was in the days of Moses and Joshua: To appraise the strength of an enemy or potential enemy, and make sure he does not spring any surprises on you.

'A VITAL NECESSITY'

If this was important thousands of years ago, when armies advanced on foot to fight with swords and spears, it has become, in former President Eisenhower's words, a "vital necessity" in this age of nuclear bombs and continent-spanning missiles.

Russia and the United States have been spying on each other for years on a scale unprecedented in human history. Francis Gary Powers and Col. Rudolf L. Abel were only two of thousands of men engaged in this dangerous, clandestine phase of the cold war, which will continue as long as nations have reason to fear one another.

How Russia spies on the United States, and how the United States spies on Russia, will be covered in more detail in subsequent dispatches. This dispatch will be concerned with some features which their intelligence operations have in common.

First, they are expensive. Official U. S. sources estimate Russia's outlay on espionage and subversive activities at approximately $2 billion a year.

The amount of money available to America's principal spy outfit — the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) — is a secret which is carefully guarded by distributing CIA funds throughout the federal budget under various innocuous headings.

But congressional sources say the CIA gets upward of $400 million a year, and some guesses run as high as $1 billion.

A second common denominator of U. S. and Soviet intelligence systems is the heavy reliance that both place on simply gathering up information which is publicly available.

EASILY OBTAINED

There is no point in sending a spy out to take surreptitious photographs of a city's waterworks if you can obtain a set gratis from the local chamber of commerce.

A former Soviet agent who defected to the west told the FBI that military attaches of the Soviet embassy in Washington are able to obtain about 95 per cent of the information they send to Moscow through public channels — for example, ordinary highway maps, industrial brochures, newspapers, magazines and broadcasts, and congressional hearings.

The CIA, in turn, obtains openly about 80 per cent of what it knows about Communist countries. It buys every Communist publication it can lay hands on, and analyzes about 200,000 pieces of Soviet bloc literature every month.

It also obtains road maps, railroad time tables, statistical reports of Soviet government ministries, and the texts of speeches in which Russian functionaries boast, bemoan or alibi their performances in meeting production quotas or carrying out the goals of five year plans.

The higher percentage of information which Russia is able to gather openly simply reflects the fact that America is a free society, while Russia is a police state.

Part of the price a free society pays for keeping its own citizens informed is that it makes it somewhat easier for foreign intelligence operatives to do their work.

SOMETIMES STARTLED

Sometimes Soviet bloc agents are startled to learn how simple it can be to gain certain types of information in the United States.

A defector told the FBI of one instance in which Communist operatives were authorized to spend up to $50,000 to obtain certain data about U. S. port facilities.

They found they could obtain all the data asked — and much more — in a series of books prepared by the U. S. Army Engineers and sold by the U. S. government printing office for less than $50.

A third resemblance of U. S. and Soviet intelligence is that both make full use of modern technology.

The U2 reconnaissance plane which Powers was flying over Russia is a good example. This long-winged jet was designed to fly at altitudes of more than 80,000 feet, and equipped with cameras which could take sharply defined photographs of Soviet ground installations from that height.

U2's made regular flights over Russia for nearly four years before the Powers incident created an international furore that made it necessary to call them off.

'PRICELESS DATA'

They brought back millions of aerial photographs which gave the CIA priceless information about what the Soviet Union was doing in almost every field of activity from mackerel fishing to missile-building.

The Russians apparently were aware for a long time that the U2's were overhead, but were unable to reach them at that altitude either with rockets or fighter planes.

How Powers' plane was disabled is still a mystery. The Russians say they hit it with a rocket. U. S. officials believe the jet engine suffered an accidental flame-out.

That Russian spies also use ultra-modern techniques was made clear at Col. Abel's trial in 1957. Posing as a Brooklyn photographer named "Emil R. Goldfus," this highly trained Soviet agent eluded detection for nine years while serving in the biggest Russian spy ring ever uncovered in the United States.

'Missions' Grow Up, Bishop Explains

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A Protestant bishop said Sunday Americans can no longer expect Christians in other lands to accept the "Western concept of the church."

Bishop Reuben H. Mueller of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Indianapolis, said the "colonial theory of church expansion is no longer valid."

Bishop Mueller said the influence of younger Christian churches in other lands is gradually changing Christian faith and practice.

Churches of the Western world no longer predominate, he said, and younger Christian churches from Asia and Africa are beginning to have a strong influence on a world Christian community.

He said most members of local churches have not seen the significance of this new development, "but American churches are going to have to recognize the right of the younger churches to be churches in their own right.

"The younger churches are not merely mission fields," the bishop said.

Bishop Mueller made his remarks as the annual convention of the National Council of Churches' division of Christian education prepared to start today.

The bishop, who is chairman of the division, said the expansion of the Christian church must allow newer churches to become partners in the Christian community.

Unification of Protestant churches will be discussed at this week's meetings.

Police End Twist in Aisle at Theater

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Police were called to a downtown movie theater Sunday when teenagers began twisting in the aisles during a showing of "Twist Around the Clock."

Two fights broke out and a man and a teen-age girl were slightly injured, police said.

Leftist Strikes in France Only Small Success

No Trouble Reported in Capital as 30,000 Troops Keep Watch

PARIS (UPI) — A series of leftist-led token strikes called to protest the deaths of eight persons in riotous clashes with police last week were only partially successful in Paris today.

With more than 30,000 armed troops and riot police concentrated in the capital, there was no trouble. Security forces set up roadblocks on highways into Paris and searched cars for arms.

Before dawn, other police units searched the homes of 20 known extremists, seized documents about operations of the outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS), and held 15 persons for questioning.

But, as the Socialist party defied a government ban on demonstrations and summoned its forces to the vast Place de la Republique this evening (about 12:30 p.m. Pontiac time), there was a prospect of more trouble ahead.

RESUME TALKS

Amid this growing tension, French government sources disclosed that France and the Algerian rebel leaders have resumed secret talks and may be nearing a cease fire agreement.

One report said the meeting was taking place or would take place at St. Julien, in France close to the Swiss border.

Long distance railroad traffic was only slightly affected.

A Socialist party spokesman promised this morning that the evening demonstration today would be peaceful, with demonstrators making no attempt to break through police barriers.

But the government was deeply disturbed that the Communists might use the occasion for more trouble-making and violence.

Pryor was released Saturday by East German Communists after spending the last five and one-half months as a prisoner. U. S. Expected to Veto Proposal for Arms Talks

But Later Parley Seen; Khrushchev Tells Idea in Letter to Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev has proposed an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament to meet in Geneva in little more than a month. The West seemed certain to turn down the proposal, though a later summit session seems a definite possibility.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced Khrushchev's plan today. The proposal was contained in a letter to President Kennedy delivered at the State Department Sunday morning.

In the letter Khrushchev proposed that the 18-nation disarmament conference—scheduled to begin March 14 in Geneva—start work at the summit level.

It was understood that the session would be confined to the single subject of disarmament, based on a set of principles agreed to by the United States and the Soviet Union at the United Nations last September.

What stand the United States and its allies, and perhaps a number of non-aligned countries, will take in response to the Khrushchev proposal will be determined in urgent consultations expected to begin immediately.

The White House and State Department declined any immediate comment as word of the reported new Khrushchev maneuver quickly circulated through the capital.

There appeared to be no likelihood whatever that Kennedy would agree to a meeting with Khrushchev and other government chiefs at the outset of the March 14 talks.

The President often has said there must be adequate advance preparations for a summit conference. He told a recent news conference he did not think a meeting with Khrushchev would be advisable under present conditions.

MIGHT GO LATER

However, if the Geneva disarmament group can make progress toward translating general principles of disarmament into concrete programs of action, there is reason to believe Kennedy might be willing to go to a summit meeting at a late stage of the negotiations. The Geneva group is to report to the United Nations June 1.

Hundreds Flee Floods in Idaho, Wyoming

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm temperatures and unusually heavy rain turned some mountain snowpacks—the West's water storage vaults—into flood waters over the weekend, routing hundreds from their homes in Idaho and Wyoming.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho declared a state of emergency and National Guard, Red Cross and civil defense units were called to help.

There was some flooding in Utah, too. The melted snow roared down U.S. Highway 40 at Heber east of Salt Lake City and closed the highway.

Rivers and creeks overflowed in the Riverton-Lander area of central Wyoming and forced more than 300 families to seek emergency shelter.

Temperatures in the 50s and rain loosened an avalanche in a canyon east of Afton in western Wyoming and killed an Afton dentist, Dr. Max H. Stock, 34, who was looking over a potential new ski area.

The Portneuf River in southeastern Idaho flooded on the southern edge of Pocatello. The river washed out two bridges at the Lava Hot Springs resort south of Pocatello. Idaho National Guardsmen rescued 36 patients from a rest home and took them to hospitals in Pocatello.

Romney Quits Top AMC Posts

Cross New Chairman, Abernathy Is President, Operating Chief

GOP gubernatorial candidate George Romney today relinquished the managerial reigns of American Motors Corp. so that he may have a free hand to seek the political office.

At a press conference in AMC offices in Detroit he announced that Richard E. Cross has been elected chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of the firm, and Roy Abernathy new president and chief operating officer.

Romney was elected vice chairman by the AMC board and given an immediate leave of absence to run for governor.

While Romney will continue as a director of the automotive firm, he will receive no salary or bonus compensation, the board decided.

Cross, 51-year-old AMC legal counsel, also was elected chairman of the company's policy committee, replacing Romney. Cross lives in Detroit where he maintains a legal firm in addition to being a director of AMC.

Abernathy, 55, of 3940 Oakland Drive, Bloomfield Township, remains on the committee. He has been serving as executive vice president and general manager of the firm.

OTHERS ON COMMITTEE

Other members of the policy committee are executive vice presidents Roy D. Chapman Jr. and Bernard A. Chapman, and vice president Edward L. Cushman.

Cross has been legal counsel for American Motors since the company was formed in 1954.

Abernathy was promoted to executive vice president in charge of automotive appliance distribution and marketing in 1960. He was elected to the board of directors the same year, and named general manager last November.

In the press conference following a board of directors meeting Romney said he could not have resigned without knowing that the company would remain in "superb executive management, without a lag in the continuity of management."

He said of Cross and Abernathy "These are brilliant and resourceful men who have played core parts in the building of American Motors Corp. I am deeply grateful for the support they have given me in the past."

Name Lansing Man Chamber Manager

At a noon meeting today, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors named a Lansing man, Max Adams, to take over as manager of the chamber March 1.

Adams, 49, will succeed John W. Hirlinger, who announced his resignation from the position last December.

The new manager has a background of experience in industrial and business management and public relations work.

He will leave his job as manager of the Michigan State Employes Credit Union in Lansing to take the local job. Adams had also formerly been public relations director for the credit union and manager of the Manistee Chamber of Commerce.

He is married and has two daughters.

Powers Faces Questions

Among questions awaiting the free, free after 21 months in a Soviet prison, are: What really happened the morning of May 1, 1960, when he was downed deep inside the Soviet Union? How much did he tell the Russians about his mission?

Preliminary questioning presumably began shortly after the 32-year-old pilot crossed a Berlin bridge into American hands Saturday in a two-for-one trade for Soviet spy Rudolf I. Abel.

Official sources are not saying Powers is in military or government custody, but ever since he crossed a white line where Communist East Germany ends and West Berlin begins, a carefully contrived secrecy has cloaked his movements.

POWERS IS HOME

All the White House would say in a brief announcement Sunday was that Powers was home again and that he had been reunited with members of his family.

In a far-flung game of hide-and-seek dogged newsmen tried to find out for themselves where Powers and his wife, Barbara, were holding their reunion. Various leads pointed to Maryland's Eastern Shore, but the exact meeting place could not be pinned down.

The White House declined to say what family members Powers saw but presumably he met also with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers, of Norton, Va.

The Central Intelligence Agency was believed to be setting up a board of inquiry to look fully into the Powers case. CIA Director John A. McCone will determine the board's composition.

Another figure in the unprecedented exchange arrived home Sunday. James Britt Donovan, the New York lawyer who defended Abel in his 1957 espionage trial and then negotiated his deportation in a trade for Powers and student Frederic Pryor, brought word still another American imprisoned in the Soviet Union may win his freedom.

Marvin W. Makinen, 22 a student from Ashburnham, Mass, formerly of Chassel, Mich., is serving an eight-year sentence in Kiev on espionage charges.

Donovan said: "I have what I believe to be assurance that if the better relations contemplated by this exchange should develop, the Soviet Union would contemplate extending clemency to Makinen."

The secrecy that shrouded Powers' return was in sharp contrast to the homecoming of Pryor, the third principal in the trade.

The 28-year-old student arrived in Detroit Sunday on his way home to Ann Arbor, Mich., and talked freely with reporters. He described himself as "just a bonus in the deal" and said he was "happy and grateful to be here."

Pryor had been seized in East Berlin last August and held 5½ months in prison in the city for investigation of possible espionage activities.

The White House statement on Powers said that "as previously stated, he will be interviewed by appropriate U. S. government officials."

The United States has said he was a Lockheed test pilot working

By DON OAKLEY

On Feb. 12, 1862, Abraham Lincoln was 53 and president of a vided United States.

The first year of the Civil War was not yet over (and both North and South were now convinced that many more months of bitter fighting lay ahead before the madness should finally cease).

There were few tidings from the battlefronts that did anything to dispel the cold, damp, gray winter that had clamped on Washington.

Only in the distant West did the news tell of anything like victory. An unknown brigadier general named U. S. Grant had taken Ft.

Henry on the Tennessee River on the 6th. Ten days later he would capture Ft. Donelson, second step in his long campaign down the Mississippi to cut the Confederacy in two.

But in the east, in the crowded, muddy, pestilence-ridden capital, the citizens still stood half in fear of invasion by the seemingly unbeatable Rebels just across the Potomac. And it was on Lincoln's tall, stooping shoulders that the hopes and fears and grief of an entire people rested.

But in the East, in the crowded, for one man to bear, personal tragedy — not the first — was to visit him that month.

The President's birthday was a happy one, as happy as it could be. His son Willy seemed much better.

The little boy had been ailing for days. A public reception on the 5th had almost been canceled because of it.

Mayor Rowston Decides Not to Run for 4th Term

Philip E. Rowston, Pontiac's mayor for the last four years, today announced he won't run for re-election to the City Commission this spring.

In making his decision not to run for a fourth two-year term as District 2 commissioner, Rowston said he wanted to devote more time to his law practice.

Rowston, 43, of 60 Cherokee Road, also will have to resign as a vice president of the Michigan Municipal League, a position he was elected to last fall. League officers are limited to municipal officials.

"Due to increased demands of my law practice it is necessary that I devote all of my efforts in behalf of this responsibility," Rowston said in a brief statement.

Rowston indicated he would continue to serve the city in a less official role.

WANTS TO SERVE

"My interest in Pontiac and all civic activities is not diminished by this decision and it is my hope to serve in other capacities but to a lesser degree in the coming years," Rowston concluded.

In December 1959, city commissioners appointed Rowston as the city's representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. It was the first time a

Nasty Weather Casts Doubt on Glenn Space Shot

But space Agency officials made no change in the date in hopes that the bad conditions might clear by launching time.

A weather advisory reported that winds of 35 knots were rolling up 10 foot waves today in an area between Bermuda and the Central Atlantic — where Glenn's space capsule would land if the flight were terminated after one orbit. An official said acceptable conditions are seas of no more than five feet and finds of 15 to 18 knots.

3 Area Friends, 2 Others Hurt As Lift Jumps Track

Three Bloomfield Township neighbors plummeted 15 feet to the ground yesterday when a ski lift cable jerked out of its groove at Crystal Mountain Lodge near Beulah.

The two men and the wife of one of them are in satisfactory condition today at Frankfort Hospital. Two Beulah school girls also were injured.

Hospitalized with broken ribs were Robert J. Cousineau, 47, of 529 Westbourne Drive, and his cross-the-street neighbor, Vernor L. Cuid, 42, of 520 Westbourne Drive.

About 60 persons were on the lift when the cable jumped out of its groove. Three double chairs in which the victims were riding hurtled to the ground.

Some 45 patrons were stranded, dangling precariously in mid-air, when the operator halted the lift. Some were 80 feet above ground.

All were removed in two hours by a rescue squad using ladders and ropes.

CHILDREN TO BLAME?

Keith Van Duizen, manager of the lodge which is located about 12 miles southeast of Beulah, said the accident might have been caused by youngsters on the lift jiggling their chairs up and down causing the cable to jump from the pulley.

On Dec. 31, a lift at Nubs Nob near Petoskey went out of control, killing Larry Orr, 32, of Ada, and injuring two seriously.

Another accident took place at the Mission Hill Ski Club near Sault Ste. Marie on Jan. 4 when a lift cable jumped from its groove. No one was injured.

St. Patrick Hit With Scientific Shillelagh

CHICAGO (UPI) — The luck of the Irish that rid Erin of snakes came from the Ice Age and not St. Patrick.

Dr. Alfred E. Emerson of the University of Chicago, plans to say so at an Academy of Science lecture here Tuesday.

"St. Patrick was born about 1,500 years ago," Emerson will tell the audience. "The Ice Age froze out Ireland's snakes maybe 100,000 years before that."

Emerson is a specialist in zoogeography — the science that attempts to reconstruct where animals originated and how they came to be where they are today.

Emerson also will tell his audience of students and science teachers why Australia has so many pouched animals and why Africa is devoid of tigers.

Former Editor at Press Hurt

H. Guy Moats, Outdoor Writer, 1 of 3 Injured in Weekend City Traffic

The former outdoor editor of The Pontiac Press was one of three persons hospitalized today as the result of weekend traffic accidents in Pontiac.

H. Guy Moats, 72, 115 State St., is in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Also in satisfactory condition at the same hospital are Mrs. Jessie M. Young, 46, 651 E. Tennyson Ave., and Karen West, 15, 450 Rivard St.

Moats, who retired from The Press in September 1960, was driving east on Huron Street at 6:05 p.m. Saturday when, according to police, his car skidded on slippery pavement, skidded into the westbound lane and was struck by a car driven by William C. Hayes, 27, of S. Marshall St.

The West girl was a passenger in a car driven by Beverly V. Edwards, 16, 1555 Marylestone Road, Union Lake, which was in a collision about 9:30 p.m. Saturday at Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads.

Police said her car was struck when she made a left turn in front of an auto driven by Hendrick L. Schonstra, 35, 4048 Lomley St., Drayton Plains.

Mrs. Young was injured about 3 p.m. Saturday when a trailer-mounted compressor unit broke loose from a truck and struck the front of her auto at East Walton Boulevard near Arlene Street.

A Sad President of a Sad Nation

to the child in bed in a room on the very quiet second floor of the White House.

We do not know today what Willy Lincoln's sickness was.

Medical diagnoses of the time were often unreliable. But it was a lingering, fluctuating fever that undoubtedly etched new lines in the sad, gaunt fact of Lincoln as he spent what time he could at his son's bedside.

LOST OTHER SON

Undoubtedly, also, his thoughts went back to that other February in 1850, twelve years before. Eleven days before his 41st birthday that year, his second-born son had died, Eddie Lincoln had been not quite 4.

Children's deaths were common in those days, but then as now, it was the saddest thing in the world.

Abraham and Mary Lincoln had four sons: Robert, Edward, William and Thomas. In 1862, 18-year-old Bob was away at Harvard. Willy was 11 and Thomas, or Tad, was 8.

The Lincolns would be considered indulgent parents at any According to the Victorian standards of their day, they were extremely so.

Willy and Tad had the run of the White House, to the irritation and scandal of generals, congressmen, cabinet members and the numerous social climbers and office seekers who continually besieged the President.

What fun the boys had against the exciting background of the war and their father's important position!

There were real soldiers to play with, parades, visits to army camps.

More than one cabinet meeting was interrupted by their urgent need of their father, who was never too busy to handle such an important matter as signing a pardon for one of their animal pets who had been found guilty of treason. He seldom disciplined the boys.

Mrs. Lincoln later quoted her husband as saying, "It is my pleasure that my children are free, happy and unrestrained by parental tyranny. Love is the chain whereby to bind a child to its parents."

Of his sons, Willy was the one probably the most like his father. They thought and felt alike. He was a promising boy; he wrote poetry and wanted to be a preacher.

He was serious, like his older brother Robert, yet had plenty of the impishness that characterized little Tad.

Now Willy lay deathly ill, and Tad, too, had come down with something and his life was feared for.

On Feb. 20, Willy Lincoln died. He was 11 years and two months old.

A people already full of mourning for its dead and dying youth felt the President's loss as their own.

The little body was placed in a temporary vault in Georgetown.

ADDED BURDEN

To Lincoln's anguish was added the burden of his wife's hysterical grief that bordered on the pathological, and the uncertainties that attended Tad's slow recovery.

Rest from sorrow finally came to Lincoln three years later.

The world knows the story of how that rest came, and how a shocked nation followed the winding course of his funeral train across the land as it made its slow way back home to Springfield.

But few know that Lincoln did not return alone. A smaller casket had been placed aboard that train. Willy Lincoln accompanied his beloved father on that long, last journey.

Key Witness in Trial Killed in Area Crash

A key witness in a pending manslaughter trial was one of three traffic fatalities in Oakland County over the weekend.

The witness, William F. Roddewig, 37, of Lewiston, former Pontiac resident, was killed Sunday morning when his car hit a tree on Irwin road near Pontiac Lake road in Waterford Township.

The others, victims of South Oakland County crashes, were:

Mrs. Irene Tomkins, 62, of 622 Barrett St., Madison Heights.

Mrs. Betty Langereis, 56, of 12074 St. Mary's St., Detroit.

Police said Roddewig may have fallen asleep at the wheel as he drove south on Irwin. The auto went off the road just after it crossed Pontiac Lake Road and hit the tree.

Roddewig was to have testified against Kenneth L. Wilcoxen, 23, who is accused of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Mildred Kurtz. Police charge that Wilcoxen pushed the woman from his auto after a quarrel.

Roddewig, who owned the Annex Bar in Lewiston, set off the search for Mrs. Kurtz when he found her broken glasses in her trailer. Her body was found a day later.

VISITING IN AREA

The victim was visiting relatives in the Pontiac area since Christmas as he customarily did since his bar is operated with a resort license and closed during the winter months. He was a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and General Motors Institute.

Survivors include his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Gil Roddewig of Birmingham. He also leaves two brothers, James G. of Pontiac and Jerry V. of Clawson.

Arrangements are being made by the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Mrs. Tomkins was killed in a collision on 13-Mile Road in Royal Oak which injured seven persons. Three adults and a 7½-month-old baby were thrown through the windshield of one car after it collided with an oncoming car, police said.

Mrs. Tomkins, one of the adults thrown from the car, died 45 minutes after the 8:30 p.m. accident Sunday.

Driver of the other car, William D. Hillaker, 18, of 1018 E. 14-Mile Road, Royal Oak, told Royal Oak police that he was driving east on 13-Mile Road at about 25 miles an hour when he hit a chuckhole. After that, he told police, he does not remember what happened.

SAW HEADLIGHTS

The driver of the car in which the woman was fatally injured was Gordon H. Cinnamon, 31, of 3317 Normandy Road, Royal Oak. He told police that he was driving west on 13-Mile Road and that all he could remember was a pair of strong headlights suddenly coming toward him at an angle.

The accident occurred where the road changes from a three-lane highway into two lanes. The road was icy, and a freezing rain mixed with snow was falling.

A passenger in the second car, Barbara Krass, 15, of 2224 N. Wilson St., Royal Oak, is in fair condition in Beaumont Hospital. Also in fair condition is Hillaker with a possible skull fracture.

DIES IN SOUTHFIELD

Mrs. Langereis was killed in a second fatal accident in Southfield Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Langereis was in a car driven by her husband, Theodore A., 52, who said he was going north on Southfield Road and was making a left turn into a driveway when he was struck by a southbound car.

He said he thought he had enough time but that he pulled in front of a car driven by Mercy J. Kanter, 38, of 19939 Cooley Road, Detroit.

Kanter's car struck Langereis' car in the right side where Mrs. Langereis was sitting, bounced her out through the forced-open door onto the pavement, and crushed her.

Wreckage, Bodies Found Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— Searchers today found the burned and scattered wreckage of a Vietnamese military C47 transport plane that apparently carried 10 men—eight Americans and two Vietnamese—to death on a leaflet-dropping mission Sunday.

Bodies of nine men were found with the wreckage in a mountainous area 80 miles northeast of Saigon. Rescue teams assumed the 10th also perished, despite a report that parachutes had been seen in the area.

All the Americans aboard were personnel of U.S. Army and Air Force. At least one was assigned to psychological warfare work in South Viet Nam. Names were withheld.

Gales Battering Europe

LONDON —Roaring gales battered Northwest Europe today and spread a trail of wreckage across Britain with at least four dead. The meteorological office said a 123-mile-an-hour gust recorded at Lowther Hill, 2,377 feet above sea level at Lanarkshire in Scotland, was probably the fastest gust ever recorded in the British Isles.

Sneaks Photos Out of Havana

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Cuban underground fighter still in Havana has smuggled to New York at the risk of his life a series of concentration camp type pictures of life in Fidel Castro's Cabana Fortress.

The photographs were taken by Hiram Gonzalez, a former Castro army lieutenant now a political refugee in the Argentine embassy in Havana. He fled the Cabana fortress prison a few weeks ago on his third escape attempt.

In smuggling his pictures out, he told his colleagues in the 30th of November Revolutionary Movement in this country that they should be distributed to the world and he should be identified even if he became a "sacrifice."

Gonzalez insisted he be identified, Cuban exile friends said, because he wanted to lend maximum authenticity to the pictures, believed the first to be made of the lot of political prisoners under Castro's dictatorial regime.

13 MONTHS IN CABANA

The young rebel officer spent 13 months in Cabana dungeons to which he was sentenced for being too openly anti-Communist to suit armed forces commander Maj. Raul Castro.

Gonzalez took the pictures with a vest-pocket type camera secreted on his person. He had never before taken a picture. He took many more than the 18 capable of reproduction, but most were lost because of his lack of knowledge of photography.

The pictures were offered to support what Gonzalez described as "bestial treatment" of political prisoners.

Hold College Student on Bombing Charge

Steven Prescott, 19, a junior at Buena Vista College, Storm Lake, Iowa, was arrested Sunday on charges of sending a home-made bomb to the dean of women.

The bomb went off as the dean, Miss Effie Montgomery, opened it in a girls' residence hall, where she also serves as house mother.

Miss Montgomery and Alva Caldwell, 20, of Little Sioux, Iowa, suffered first and second degree burns about the face and arms. They were in fair condition in a hospital today.

Another student, Bonnie Parrish, 18, Sioux Falls, Iowa, suffered minor burns. She was treated and released.

Prince Charles Okay After Appendectomy

LONDON, (UPI) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, was rushed 58 miles by ambulance to a London hospital where surgeons early today performed an emergency operation to remove his appendix.

The 13-year-old son of Queen Elizabeth was pronounced in satisfactory condition after the operation.

Later this morning the hospital said he spent a "comfortable" night.

Queen Elizabeth kept in touch with the hospital by telephone from Windsor Castle, 20 miles west of London and was driving to her son's bedside today.

2 More Bakeries Hike Detroit Bread Prices

DETROIT —Bread prices were to be hiked a cent-a-loaf today by two more Detroit bakeries, bringing to seven the number of bakeries which had raised prices in a week.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Sets Limits for Widening of E. Maple

BIRMINGHAM — The Oakland County Road Commission will undertake the widening of East Maple Road along the entire stretch from Adams Road to Coolidge Highway rather than just the section from Eaton Street to the city limits (Coolidge).

The Eaton-Coolidge widening at this time had been proposed by the Birmingham City Commission.

The road commission said widening the entire stretch at one time would be the only way in which it would undertake the project.

The city commission several weeks ago had proposed three revisions affecting the proposed widening of Maple Road. These included:

THREE REVISIONS

1 — Widening only that portion of Maple from Eaton to Coolidge at this time;

2 — A width of 40 feet between Adams and Eaton;

3 — A width of 44 feet between Eaton and Coolidge.

In a letter to the city commission, a special projects engineer for the Oakland County Road Commission, Norman T. Knapp, said:

"Widening only that portion of Maple from Eaton to Coolidge would not be a practical approach to proper planning as related to the movement of vehicular traffic.

"In traveling east or west, between Hunter Blvd. and Coolidge, four usable lanes would be restricted to two-plus at an intermediate point.

"Unless we improve roads by following a pattern of continuity, we will not accomplish the purpose of an accelerated road construction program.

"Therefore we can consider only a complete project from Adams to Coolidge."

Regarding the other two city proposals, the road commission appears to be willing to make some compromise on the width of the street in the two sections.

The road commission has asked the city commission to direct city engineers to prepare studies and topographical surveys in this area on the lines laid out by the road commission.

The City Commission is expected to act on this request at its 8 p.m. meeting today in the Municipal Building.

Kennedy Lands in Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived in Indonesia today for a six-day visit. Before his arrival soldiers scratched off anti-American slogans crudely painted along his route into the capital.

The airliner that brought Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, touched down at the Jakarta airport three hours late. Indonesian Atty Gen. Gunawan, who had invited Kennedy to visit the Socialist island republic, led the welcoming party.

Kennedy and his wife had flown from Hong Kong to Singapore, and they used their unexpected stopover there for a fast sightseeing drive about the British Commonwealth island.

Indonesian youths painted signs saying "Kennedy go home" and "United States no, Indonesia yes' on walls and buildings. They also handed out posters and leaflets.

Indonesians were annoyed because the United States permitted chartered Dutch airliners with uniformed troops aboard to refuel on U.S. territory en route to West New Guines. Last week students stoned the U.S. embassy here in protest. The United States has banned such flights but commercial such airliners carrying troops in civilian clothes can still land on U.S. territory.

Kennedy will have several meetings with President Sukarno —whom he has met before—and other government officials, including anti-Communist Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, the national security minister.

On the eve of Kennedy's arrival the Indonesian army sent 10,000 jungle fighters to eastern Indonesia, apparently to start infiltration of West New Guinea.

Do Forget Me, Says Fred Pryor, of Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)— "There is an opportunity to make a lot of cheap propaganda slamming East Germany—don't do it in my case," said Frederic L. Pryor, 28, Sunday on his return home after his release from a Soviet prison.

"After tomorrow, forget me," he said.

His graying mother, Mrs. Mildred H. Pryor, beamed, "This is what I have been waiting for." She had been waiting five and a half months.

The scene was nearby Willow Run Airport with a New York-Detroit airliner as backdrop.

Less than 48 hours earlier Frederic had been released by East German Communists who had picked him up as an espionage suspect in East Berlin last Aug. 25. His mother and father, who learned of his detention three weeks afterward, had spent most of their time since in Berlin.

Ignore Red Attempts to Reserve Areas

Allies Fly Corridors to West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—Allied military and commercial planes flew the air corridors into West Berlin as usual today despite earlier Russian attempts to reserve parts of two of them for their own use.

Western officials said there was no doubt Communists were trying to undercut the West's most important links with the isolated city. The Allies were determined not to retreat an inch.

Passengers aboard regular commercial flights over East Germany today reported no unusual Russian activity in the corridors. However, commercial planes usually fly higher than the altitudes the Russians had tried to restrict for their own flights.

The officials called the Communist demands the most serious challenge to date of Western rights in Berlin, which lies deep inside East Germany. But they said that any Western backdown would only lead to further demands and restrictions.

Water Shortage Is Finally Ended

Wisconsin Town Gets Relief After a Week With Broken Main

MELLEN, Wis. (UPI) — It was the first wash day in more than a week for up to three-quarters of Mellen's homes today.

All but 20 homes had water flowing from the taps, for the first time since Feb. 5. The 20 were still without water but repairs were being made to the broken main which caused the mysterious drop in water pressure.

During the week without water some desperate housewives carried their family laundry to coin-operated washing machines on Michigan's Upper Peninsula, nearly 30 miles away.

IT DIDN'T WORK

Some residents tried melting the area's ample snow cover for drinking water but the residue was blacky and gummy and had to be strained.

Leak detectors failed to spot any break in the city mains and local officials theorized the pressure drop might have been caused by unusually cold weather, which froze the ground, lowering the water table and cutting flow to wells.

But during the weekend City Councilman Mitchell Mesko noticed water rippling under the ice of the Bad River. He found it came from a storm sewer.

Workmen traced it back through the sewer and found it came from a broken 6-inch water main. The water ran directly into the culvert without coming to the surface, where it might have been seen.

Local JA Drive Edging Toward Goal of $9,600

With less than two weeks of the campaign remaining, Junior Achievement's 1962-63 fund dirve in Pontiac is about two-thirds of the way toward its goal of $9,600.

M. F. Rummel, local fund chairman and director of purchasing and production control for the Pontiac division, today annouced a net collection of $6,257 in this area.

The local campaign is running ahead of the JA fund drive in southeastern Michigan, which has received $143,952 to date, 58 per cent of its goal of $250,000.

Rummel said there are 8,000 teen-aged industrialists working part-time in 343 JA corporations in Southeastern Michigan this year. The fund campaign ends Feb. 21.

Trial Seeks Answer to $55-Million Question

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — Two U. S. corporate giants collide in a Houston, Tex. courtroom today over a $55-million question:

Who was responsible for the crashes of two prop-jet Electras in which 97 persons were killed — 34 at Buffalo, Tex., Sept. 29, 1959, and 63 at Tell City, Ind., March 17, 1960?

The contestants are Lockheed, manufacturer of the huge airliner, and the Allison Division of General Motors, which makes the plane's engines.

The trial itself, scheduled to open today in the 113th State District Court, involves a single suit brought against Lockheed, Allison and Braniff International Airways — the latter operator of the plane that crashed at Buffalo.

The Quicks are asking $500,000 in damages from the three defendants, but Braniff also is a cross plaintiff. The airline has sued Lockheed and Allison for the cost of the $2.3-million aircraft.

SUITS HINGE ON RESULTS

Suits filed against the two companies and airlines total about $55 million, but most of them may hinge on the results of this single trial.

The Electra itself has long been cleansed of the "bug" said to have caused the Buffalo and Tell City disasters—a phenomenon known as "whirl mode."

The Civil Aeronautics Board officially has blamed both accidents on whirl mode, which roughly can be compared to what happens when a gyroscopic top begins to wobble as it slows down.

Once weakened, the entire engine and propeller structure began to wobble until the violent motion was transmitted to the wings.

Once the nacelle flutter reaches the same frequency as the wing flutter, wing structural failure occurred.

SAYS SHAFTS BROKE

Lockheed is claiming that whirl mode cannot result unless a shaft in the engine itself breaks.

Lockheed charges that such breaks developed at both Buffalo and Tell City, and that the severance stemmed from rapid metal fatigue.

Allison denies that whirl mode could possibly result from a break in the shaft (technically, the reduction gear box which keeps the propeller from spinning as fast as the turbines).

It will present evidence that the shaft damage found in the two accidents resulted from either impact damage or violent maneuvers that took place BEFORE damage occurred.

Allison engineers are not even convinced that whirl mode was involved in either accident.

They probably will attempt to show that the Electra's wing failed from abnormally high loads — clear air turbulence in the case of Tell City, and autopilot malfunction resulting in an uncontrolled, high-speed dive at Buffalo.

The CAB itself absolved the engines themselves in its reports on the two accidents.

It said whirl mode developed from some prior damage in the outboard nacelle structure but could not pinpoint the exact location or cause of that damage.

STUDIES TEST RESULTS

Allison has been pouring data from recent tests into the CAB, designed to show that no part of the engines could have played a role in the two accidents.

A CAB spokesman said the test results were being studied, but declined to comment on whether thy disproved the whirl mode theory.

"As of now we're convinced that whirl mode caused the accidents," he said, "but it's up to the courts to decide the responsibility for what caused the whirl mode."

The CAB official emphasized that no matter what the Houston jury decides, in effect it will be voting on past history and not the safety of the Electra as it is operating today.

"We are positive that the modification program ($25 million was spent to beef up the Electra's wing and nacelle structures) has cured the plane's weakness and that the Electra is as safe as any plane flying today," he said.

Marriage 'Understanding' Ultra Selfish

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Since my husband's first wife died two months ago her children have been living with an aunt. The older one — a girl of 13 — is especially jealous of me. Yet not a day goes by that my husband doesn't say it's my duty to open our home to them.

I am only 27 years old myself. I did not marry on the understanding that I had to raise another woman's children. Please write a column on the injustice of what my husband wants me to do.

Answer: Are you by any chance trying to organize an end to your marriage?

For a person of 27 years you seem to know very little about the human conscience. It is not a complicated thing. It works quite simply. It makes us hate anyone who forces us to do what we feel that it is wrong to do.

Clearly your husband feels that it is wrong to deny his home to his now half-orphaned children. It may be a noble feeling; it may be a silly and impractical one. Which, it is doesn't matter. What matters is that he believes it is wrong to refuse them his home — and all the king's horses and all the king's men will not put your marriage together again if you force him to do it.

If you do, his sense of loyalty to you will begin to weaken. Though he may agree to your wish, the knowledge that you have compelled him to do what he feels is wrong will breed distrust of his affection for you. Instead of the wife he loves, he will begin to see you as his fellow-conspirator against the rights of his children—and end by hating you for making him hate himself.

So I urge you both to consult a marriage counselor who may be able to help you work out some solution you can both accept.

In the meantime I suggest that you look at your attitude toward time and change. Nobody on earth can promise you unchanging circumstances. As time has moved you from childhod to womanhood, changing your circumstances regardless of your wishes, so it now moves your husband and his children, changing their situation through the death of the mother regardless of their wishes.

We are not Peter Pans, you know. We do not live in a clockless fairyland where time stands still, but in a real, human world where we all have to learn to submit to altering circumstances.

That "understanding" upon which you married your husband seems awfully romantic to me.

Phone Rings and Rings

Mom Turns Into Secretary

By RUTH MILLETT

According to the latest figures, Americans are talking on the telephone more every year. That may be good news for the teelphone company — but many a housewife could wish that the family telephone didn't ring quite so often.

Especially could she do without those coy little calls where an unknown voice informs her that she has won a free dance lesson, a sitting for a photograph, or that if she can name the first President of the United States she will have won some other such "prize."

She could also do without the calls that try to sell her magazine subscriptions, air conditioning, life insurance and so on.

And while she is listing her "druthers" she would "druther" not have to take so many calls for the teen-age members of the household.

The calls themselves wouldn't be so much trouble if the woman of the house weren't supposed to be social secretary to her children.

MESSAGES

Such messages as, "When Bill comes in will you tell him to call Jim at home and if I'm not at home, to try Joe's house and if we aren't at Joe's we'll probably be at Ed's or Fred's." That kind of message is routine in any family where there are teen-agers.

Another kind of call the average housewife wouldn't mind giving up is the one that wants her to solicit money for this drive or that one . . . or the one urging her to vote for a certain candidate . . . or the one from the voice taking a survey.

The telephone is to the housewife both a convenience and an annoyance—and unfortunately it seems to become more of an annoyance the more it rings.

Three Honest Mirrors Promote Good Grooming

By RAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Few accessories are of more help in encouraging better family grooming than an honest mirror. Better than one honest mirror are three that tell the full story, in the round so to speak.

Any member of a family will be forced to take a more critical look at posture, hem lengths, clothing fit and general appearance if placed in line with the revealing glass.

Our daughter, like most young girls, can spend hours scrutinizing her face and hair in a dressing table mirror but the examination stops at the neck. Would a longer mirror encourage a longer view and more attention to the petticoat showing or the hang of a coat on slumped shoulders?

I'm willing to try but finding space for a three-way mirror in a bedroom with limited closet and wall space is difficult.

CONSULT EXPERT

Such a mirror ranks almost as a necessity for a home sewer so I sought the advice of the best home sewer I know. Sure enough, Lucile had designed her own mirror arrangement for her tiny sewing room.

Her design utilizes the wall space between a closet door and the room door. Although the making of this unit is not too difficult for a home handyman, Lucile had a local carpenter makes hers for speed's sake.

To avoid blocking passage in and out of the room, this three-way folds flat when not in use. Pegboard is used as the base and frame for the mirror. A sheet about four feet wide by six feet long is mounted on a frame and braced solidly. The mirror consists of a center one about 24 inches wide by four feet long and two side panels, each about 12 inches by four feet.

The side panels are hinged to the sides of the center so they fold shut like a screen. Opened, they give complete front and side views. The mirrors are attached to the pegboard and the side panels are faced with more of the pegboard.

SPACE FOR HOOKS

Group Holds Dinner Party

Sisterhood Plans Dames of Malta Anniversary Fete

Serving as chairman of the banquet will be Mrs. Clarence Vidlund, assisted by Mrs. Albert Clark, program chairman.

The group also slated a card party for Feb. 17, with Mrs. George Kayga chairman of the social.

Ike Pushing Younger Men to Run for High Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is reported to have told Republicans he has no intention of campaigning for "old men" in this year's elections.

Eisenhower, who is 71, was represented as pressing party members to work for the nomination of young candidates for governor and Senate and House seats. Some confidantes quoted him as saying he wanted no "gray-haired old men" running on the GOP ticket if it could be helped.

This serve-the-youth movement apparently led the former president into some difficulties in his adopted state of Pennsylvania. He convinced Sen. Hugh Scott in a telephone conversation that Scott ought to make himself available for the party nomination for governor.

Scott reported that Eisenhower said he could support actively a ticket on which Scott was a member but could not campaign for a ticket on which Judge Robert E. Woodside of the State Superior Court would run for governor and Rep. James E. Van Zandt would oppose Sen. Joseph S. Clark, a Democrat for the Senate seat. Somehow the word got out that Eisenhower considered this a "miserable ticket."

What was reported was that Eisenhower said privately that he thought the Woodside-Van Zandt ticket too old. Woodside is 57; Scott is 61 but looks younger.

Subsequently Eisenhower felt constrained to say in a telegram to Van Zandt, who is 53, that what he had said was not "in any way intended as personally derogatory to you."

Whatever happens in Pennsylvania, Eisenhower has some comparatively youthful candidates going for him in several states.

He didn't have to urge Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is 53, to seek re-election in New York. But he encouraged Fred A. Seaton, 52, his former secretary of interior, to seek the Nebraska governorship.

The former president was one of those who helped convince former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is 48, that he ought to run for the Republican nomination for governor in California.

Eisenhower also had a potent influence on the decision of George Romney, American Motors president, to run for the GOP nomination for governor in Michigan. Romney is 54.

Politicians generally think that Nixon, Romney and Scott might figure in the 1964 scramble for the Republican presidential nomination—provided they can get elected to state office, along with Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who is 53.

Nixon is considered a draft possibility. Romney is regarded as a potential dark horse. Scott would present an even darker hue in the latter category, but would not be counted out because of his extensive acquaintance with the party organization as a former chairman and former counsel of the Republican National Committee.

PLANE WRECKAGE — This is the wreckage of a light plane in which two women were killed and two others critically injured in a crash south of the Des Moines Municipal Airport. Dead on arrival at the hospital was Mrs. Alice Pfanttz, 45, of Des Moines, veteran of four Powder Puff Derby air races. Her pilot, Mrs. Marilyn Williams, 38, also died following the crash.

Disney Shows $4.5 Million Profit

Stockholders Meeting Cheerful

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The annual stockholders meeting of Walt Disney Productions was called to order at 2 p.m., just as the notice said.

Present in the studio theater were 200 stockholders, mostly middle-aged and middle-classed, but with a sprinkling of juvenile capitalists. The latter remained silent during the meeting, except for one 12-year-old boy who seconded a motion.

The meeting was called to order by company counsel Gunther Lessing, a man who looked and sounded like Judge Hardy. He suggested waiving the reading of the minutes of the last meeting as well as the annual report.

"Is that satisfactory?" he asked. asked.

SHOWED PROFIT

"Very satisfactory," said a voice from the stockholders. The cheerful atmosphere may have been due to the firm's profits: $4,465,486 vs. a $1,342,037 loss the year before.

President Roy Disney made his report in down-to-earth Missourian tones. Production chief Walt was not present; "We've got to keep him working," explained his brother.

THOMAS

HAVING GOOD YEAR

"We had a very good year and we're on the way to another good year," Roy said reassuringly. He mentioned that "Pinocchio" on its fourth re-issue might do double its original release in 1940.

"We operate without any big names from the outside," he said. "A lot of people in our business are enamored with names. We think the important thing is the picture itself."

There was a report on Disneyland — attendance going up, $6 million in improvements this year. Then Roy fielded some questions from the stockholders.

BREAKING EVEN

What about returns from TV? "We're still about breaking even," he said. "We don't make money directly from TV, but use it to exploit our product in theaters. TV is a difficult game; you're limited by the sponsor's budget. You can't have a big pay-off."

What about selling old films to TV? "We're in show business," he answered. "Why sell your old clothes to a competitor? After 39 years, we still own all our negatives. And I might add that all our films would have no censorship problems on TV."

Pay TV? "We're watching it," Roy said. "We see no reason why pay TV couldn't operate side-by-side with commercial TV. But pay TV is years down the road yet."

Lessing drew chuckles with his denial that Nikita Khrushchev was in the employ of Disneyland as a press agent. "He tells that one every year," confided the man in the next seat.

The annual report was accepted and the directors elected, there being quorum of 88 per cent of outstanding shares — the Disneys own 750,000 of the 1,626,023 total. Stockholders were invited to pick up two free tickets to the park and stay in the theater to see "Moon Pilot."

Meeting adjourned at 3 p.m.

Mountain Climber Killed on Small Cliff

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—William S. Litterick Jr. was the most experienced mountain climber among six members of Stanford University's Alpine Club.

Although there are no mountains within miles of here, the medical student from Keuka Park, N. Y. and his companions came to practice scaling a nearby, sheer 100-foot cliff at an abandoned quicksilver mine.

Nearing the top, Litterick drove a piton into an outcrop but the rock crumbled when he put his weight on it. His belaying man, George Pastor, 40, Palo Alto, kept Litterick from falling to the cliff's base but the big rock Litterick had dislodged crashed down on him.

He died soon after being lowered to the ground.

Trade Pace Slows After Flurry

Changes Small Before Holiday

NEW YORK (AP) — Small price changes were the rule in early, irregular stock market trading today.

After a short flurry of activity the trading pace simmered down to semiholiday conditions expected by most Wall Streeters. Banks and other institutional investors in many parts of the country were closed for Lincoln's birthday.

The big brokerage firms specializing in over-the-counter trading of both stocks and bonds also were shut.

Most steel issues were a shade higher in a continuation of last week's rally. Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin were all higher by small fractions. Brokers have linked the improvement to growing optimism over the chances that an industry strike may be averted.

Several rail issues also opened a bit higher. Pennsylvania, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio all posted fractional gains. Rails found favor among institutional buyers last week.

Boeing and General Dynamics in the aircraft section fell fractionally. Standard (New Jersey) and Texaco picked up fractions.

There were few changes of as much as a full point. Exceptions were Woolworth and Public Service Electric & Gas, each up about 1 or so.

Opening blocks included: Pennsylvania Railroad up ⅝ at 18⅝ on 6,500 shares; General Motors off ⅛ at 56⅛ on 3,500, General Dynamics off ½ at 33⅝ on 1,000 and Jones & Laughlin up ¼ at 71½ on 1,000.

Opening American Stock Exchange prices also were irregular with narrow margins. Fractionally lower were Arkansas-Louisiana Gas, Draper, General Plywood, New Jersey Zinc and Technicolor. Top fractions were Anderson Chemical, Colonial Sand, General Development and Syntex.

American Stock Exch.

(Figures after decimals are in eighths)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—American stocks with unusual sling-boom design for easy mounting on tractors has been developed by Ford Motor Co.'s Tractor and Implement Division, Birmingham, as a means of reducing the cost of materials handling operations for farmers and contractors.

Because of the loader's easy-on-easy-off feature, the user's tractor can easily be freed for other operations.

Called the 722 Loader, it incorporates the field-tested design features of Ford's low-cost 711 farm loader, and adds an integral hydraulic pump and hydraulic dump controls.

In announcing the new loader's availability, L. E. Dearborn, divisional general sales manager, predicted immediate acceptance by landscapers, and sand, gravel and coal yard operators as well as farmers because of its rugged construction, controllability, and design simplicity, which provides excellent visibility for the operator.

A "bonus" feature, Dearborn said, is the loader's easy installation by one man in a few minutes without special tools or use of a crane.

Waterford to Talk New Sewer Rate

Discussion of a proposed sewer rate based on actual water consumption rather than a flat rate will take place at tonight's regular meeting of the Waterford Township Board scheduled for 7 p.m.

The flat rate charge by the City of Pontiac has been in effect since 1935, and since there are inequities in this plan, according to a recent survey, the board has chosen to explore the possibility of a rate based on consumption which would permit a sewer charge of 75 per cent of the water bill.

Other items up for consideration at tonight's meeting are a request for a new SDM license at 3340 Dixie Highway, site of the former Side-O-Shore grocery store and a recommendation of the Electrical Board that Waldron Keasey be reappointed as contractor member of the Waterford Township Electrical Board.

Ether was first used as an anaesthetic in surgery in a Boston hospital and the date was Oct. 15, 1846.

EPIC OF MAN — Class "A" winner of Michigan Tech's 1962 snow statue contest for the annual Winter Carnival was this scene "Epic of Man," sculptured by the Triumvirate, a group made up of residence hall students. Made up of four scenes showing man's progress from the cave, through the Roman Empire, to modern warfare, "Epic" predicts a future of cave-like existence in fallout shelters.

Niles Man Guilty Says Ohio Jury

Convicted in Extortion Try of Livonia Firm and Accepting $10,000

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A jury of seven women and five men has found Paul Lamonge, 48, of Niles, Michigan guilty of trying to extort $200,000 by threatening a Michigan contractor.

Lamonge was one of seven persons indicted by a Grand Jury last fall in an investigation of Warren's $4.5-million sewer project.

The common pleas jury convicted Lamonge on two counts Sunday: Threatening with intent to extort $200,000 from Eugene Brady, vice president of the Boam Construction Co. of Livonia, Mich., and accepting $10,000 on false pretenses.

He was adjudged innocent of a count alleging he tried to extort funds by threatening Al Cicchini, vice president of the Rocco Ferrara Construction Co., also of Livonia.

SENTENCE DEFERRED

Judge G. H. Birrell deferred sentencing and continued Lamonge's $10,000 bond pending a motion by his attorneys for a new trial.

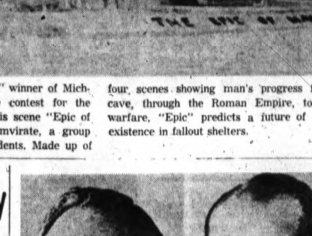

Three former Warren councilmen pleaded guilty to bribery charges last Nov. 20 in connection with awarding of the sewer contracts, and now are in prison.

Last month, Frank A. Cickelli, Democratic chairman for Trumbull County, was convicted on bribery charges. He is free on bond pending appeal.

Lamonge faces a possible 5-to-30 year sentence on the extortion charge and one to seven years for larceny by trick for accepting $10,000 in false pretenses.

The jury deliberated for about 10 hours Saturday and held a two-hour session Sunday before returning a verdict.

Cook Finds Umbrella Isn't a Parachute

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) —Chinese cook Bing Chee Chu was running out of time to board his ship in Sydney Harbor.

He was in a residential hotel in the city. It was late at night and the doors were locked.

The cook had an idea. He opened a window and tossed his suitcase 30 feet to the street.
