School Caliber at Stake in Vote

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

The Pontiac school system has a "program of excellence" for its some 20,000 students, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

But he says the caliber will drop if the Board of Education's request for a tax increase is not approved on a May 9 ballot.

"So far," said Whitmer, "the program has kept pace with increasing demands, but increasing costs and declining income have placed it in jeopardy."

The Pontiac school system has been cited as "progressive" by many laymen and professional educators alike.

HAPPY IDENTIFICATION

Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of schools, said he is pleased the school system is identified as such.

"Our progress in construction is well known," said Proud. "We are equally proud of progress in the instructional program."

He gave evidence: William Kath and Nick Trietsch, Pontiac Northern graduates, were two of the top three "scholars of the class" at Michigan State University Oakland.

Of 60 Pontiac Central High School students enrolled as freshmen in 1959 at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, eight were accepted in honors programs and classes, a superior achievement.

Only three of the 60 were found to leave college for scholastic difficulties, an excellent ratio considering that average "dropouts" range from 10 per cent upward.

Williams Can Help Lodge Realize Judgeship Hopes

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

For once, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge is looking to Gov. Williams for help.

Lodge, a strong critic of the governor's politics and corresponding spending policies, says now that a stroke of Williams' pen may help him write the next chapter in his career.

The Republican two-term senator hopes the governor will pen his signature across the bottom of House Bill 359, which provides for a second probate judge for Oakland County.

Lodge wants that job. County electors may if Williams signs the bill and county supervisors call for the election, elect the second judge this November.

From his Pontiac office yesterday, the lawyer admitted that he's eyeing the judgeship more than re-election as senator or return to his private law practice, as his wife wishes.

"Why shouldn't I," he said flatly. "It concerns something that I love better than anything else — the welfare of children."

Lodge has been with the Michigan Bar Association for 30 years. He was president twice. Lodge said, too, that the judgeship would mean a substantial pay hike — from $5,000 as senator to $22,000 as judge.

During last year's hectic session Lodge, like other lawmakers, bore moaned dwindling incomes caused by the added time spent away from their businesses.

Although a number of incumbent county officers and legislators have announced their future political intentions, Lodge had been like the cat that swallowed the mouse.

He wouldn't definitely commit himself, though he often said he'd "probably" seek re-election. He expressed disappointment (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Los Angeles Cringes at Puny 'Amoeba'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The announcement, "An amoeba is loose in downtown Los Angeles," sounded monstrous to unsuspecting residents.

Mothers called City Hall to ask if it was safe to send their children to school. Indignant callers wanted to know what city officials were doing about the marauding invader.

Patiently city officials explained (after investigating) that the "amoeba scare" was announced in jest by a local radio station. And, said officials, there was no need to worry — an amoeba is a "microscopic nucleated mass of protoplasm too small to be seen without a microscope."

Case Is Victor in N.J.; Davis La. Governor

Senator Wins Handily; Balladeer Tops GOP Opponent, Others

By The Associated Press

Sen. Clifford F. Case (R-N.J.) easily weathered a conservative challenge to his renomination and ballad-singing Jimmie Davis won the Louisiana governorship handily in Tuesday's elections.

Case will face Democrat Thorn Lord, Mercer County (Trenton) Democratic chairman in New Jersey's Senate election in November.

Case's margin of victory over Robert Morris, former chief counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, surpassed 100,000 votes.

But Morris declined to say if he would support Case in the November election despite a plea for unity from Sen. Thornton B. Morton (R-Ky.), the Republican national chairman.

"We fought this campaign on principles," Morris said after conceding defeat. "We lost. We're going to keep on fighting for the same principles."

It was Morris' second unsuccessful attempt to win a New Jersey Republican senatorial nomination.

He finished third in a three-way race in 1958 but got strong conservative backing in his campaign against Case.

Lord, an expected, won a lopsided victory over Richard M. Glanville, a Newark, N.J., attorney seeking election to his first public office.

In Louisiana, Davis smothered three opponents including Republican Francis Greenwood, who will succeed Earl K. Long as governor.

Although Greenberg made the best showing for a Republican in years in Louisiana, he was outdistanced by Davis by a better than 4 to 1 margin.

States Rights colorbearer Kent Courtney, a New Orleans publisher, and write-in candidate Maurice W. M. Clark, a post-philosopher from New Orleans, ran far behind.

Davis was governor between 1944 and 1948.

In other political news, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) accepted a challenge for a face-to-face debate with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.). Both are entered in West Virginia's May 10 presidential primary.

Humphrey expressed delight that Kennedy has accepted the challenge.

New Straley Feud Erupts

The curtain came down last night on the dissension-riddled City Commission of the last two years.

It came down with a crash that thundered in the face of Robert A. Straley, assistant city manager.

And again the focal point of the eruption — Police Chief Herbert W. Straley — wasn't even in the wings.

Straley, cast in the role as manager during Walter K. Willman's Florida vacation, was threatened with firing action by Commissioner Robert A. Landry for a directive he sent ordering Straley not to relocate offices in the Public Safety Building.

CONSTITUTIONS VIOLATION Straley reminded Straley in a letter yesterday that a change in the patrol bureau constitutes violation of an earlier memorandum from Willman, acting as public safety director, upon George D. Eastman's departure, prohibiting any major changes in policy procedures.

Straley defended his action as being within his powers as assistant city manager.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry and Landry disagreed sharply.

FLOYD P. MILES

Miles Raps Police Strife in Farewell

Pontiac needs another man like Harold B. Euler to "come to the front" and straighten out the troubled police department, outgoing City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles said last night.

In his "swan song" after six years on the City Commission, Miles said it has been only in the last two years that "it seems we have majored on minors."

"We have been in a constant wrangle because certain selfish interests have put themselves ahead of the best interest of our city," he did not mention names.

"It would be a great day for Pontiac if another Harold Euler would come to the front and do a job for the police department as has been done at Pontiac General Hospital," Miles stated.

Miles was defeated for re-election to a fourth two-year term in District 4 in Monday's municipal election.

Following the election, Miles laid his upset defeat to "dirty campaign tactics." Heated dissension on the police force played a big part, he said.

In bidding Miles farewell, fellow Commissioner John A. Dugan also attributed Miles' defeat to "dirty politics."

Mayor Philip E. Rowston praised Miles for his "concentric efforts" with the best interests of the city first and his own second.

At odds with Miles and others who oppose Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, Commissioners Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry made no farewell remarks to Miles.

Now did Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

"My opposition was the battle," said the owner of a religious gift and book store, "but I regret they lost the war."

Dugan said it was "a shame" that Miles was criticized, after all his efforts to settle the long bus strike in the city.

"Perhaps at this point I should feel real sick about the turn of affairs and say, 'I feel like a 10-ton load has been taken off my shoulders,'" Miles said in a prepared speech.

Reforms in Korea Pledged; Riots End

SEOUL, South Korea (U.P.) — President Syngman Rhee today pledged a redress of grievances as his soldiers smashed the last of the riotous resistance which brought this capital to the edge of revolution. New demonstrations were reported in other cities.

Sternly rebuked by the United States for his government's "repressive measures unsuited to a free democracy," the 53-year-old President said:

"The government will devote maximum energy to the investigation of these disturbances. Those who are guilty can be assured of punishment. Those with major grievances can be certain of redress."

Li Gen, Song Yo-Chan, in charge of the emergency management, laid clamped upon five cities Tuesday, said the last major groups of demonstrators had been broken up and their leaders arrested.

The wild rioting over the past two days in Seoul, climaxed by a surging march on Rhee's mansion, left a confirmed total of 92 dead and more than 300 wounded or injured, 50 of them critically.

The death toll was expected to climb.

This capital looked as if it had been through a wartime battle. Weeping crowds gathered outside hospitals. Bodies were returned to bereaved families. A government consolation payment of 500,000 won—$750—was proclaimed for the bereaved.

In Washington, two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposed that President Eisenhower reconsider his plan to visit Korea June 22 as a further protest against "repressive measures of Syngman Rhee's government."

A third, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), disagreed.

"I think it is a good time for the President to speak up, on the spot, for the political rights of the Korean people, and I hope he will do so," Humphrey said.

But Sens. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) joined Humphrey in applauding Rhee's remorselessness.

Rhee's statement, his first in nine days of anti-government demonstrations which began on Tuesday's wild violence, made no mention of U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's assertion that the uprisings reflected "popular dissatisfaction over the conduct of the recent election." Rhee did not mention, either, the call of Vice President John Chang, a member of the opposition Democratic, for new elections to restore public calm. He did emphasize that until "the necessary government buildings and major intersections" were secured.

Merchant Supports Rejuvenation Drive

The idea of a downtown rejuvenation campaign received "100 per cent" support today from Harold S. Goldberg, a prominent businessman.

"If there are any pros and cons about the need for such a campaign, I'm pro," said Goldberg. "I shall do all I can to improve downtown."

Goldberg is president of Shaw's Jewelers, Ward's Home Outfitting Co. and Thomas Jewelry Co.

He gave specific support to two initial phases of what many downtown leaders hope will develop into an all-out drive to revitalize downtown Pontiac as a retail shopping center.

The first proposal Goldberg supported was the one made last week to downtown merchants and property owners — that downtown interests embark immediately on a crash program of facelifting tired-looking store fronts.

The second is the development of a master plan for downtown under the wing of the mayor's steering committee for downtown redevelopment.

Goldberg said:

"I shall do all I can to improve my own downtown property and hope that this idea gains support quickly throughout downtown."

"The entire atmosphere of the downtown area must be rejuvenated. The atmosphere must be pleasant for the shoppers and that's going to require a lot of improvements."

"I don't know whether shoppers' mails are the answer, but we should find out."

"Merchants — all of us merchants — have been lax. Now we must realize that customers will be won back."

NEW YORK (U.P.) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner entered his second half-century today. Asked recently 15-20 m.p.h. late this afternoon how he felt about turning 50, he replied: "I thought years ago 50 was old. Now that I am just about in downtown Pontiac preceding 50 there, I don't feel that way any more."

Jobless Figure at Highest Point in Six Months

Labor Market Picks Up Boost From Auto Industry, Season

The Pontiac area is enjoying a healthy labor market, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today, with unemployment at its lowest point in six months.

Paul Kimball, manager of the MESPC Pontiac branch, said the claims load, or number of persons filing for unemployment compensation, has dropped to 2,300 during the past week.

This represents the lowest number of people without jobs in this area since October 1959.

Unemployment rolls totaled about 4,500 at Christmas, approximately 3,000 the first week in January, and had averaged 2,700 for some three months until last week's fall-off.

As the labor market picked up on this front (all of Oakland County north of 14-Mile road), unemployment in the Detroit metropolitan area rose 22,000 to a total of 114,000 from Feb. 15 to March 15.

Kimball attributed the Pontiac area success to the auto industry here and to the year.

"Seasonal workers are going back to work," Kimball said. "But other than that, it is starting out to be a good year economically."

"For the past three years, average placement has been 350 to 400 per month. This year we've been placing about 500 people a month for some time."

"There are quite a number of job openings in our community, they haven't been large scale layoffs so far, as has happened at this time of the year in the past."

"In previous years, car sales dropped in the spring months. This year the auto industry is doing well and the community benefits."

Kimball said his office did not foresee any large layoffs and expected the claims load to drop even lower as the summer progresses.

"We don't have too much unemployment," he said. "The labor market is the state's population increase is being absorbed by it."

"Our office here is an indication. We have 17 people who devote their time exclusively to job placement. It is the largest staff we've ever had for this purpose and it has grown in the past year."

The growth of our employment service shows that there are more jobs being created, more opportunities."

The MESPC said that approximately 7.5 per cent of the work force in the state were unemployed in the middle of March.

HST Dangles Red Label Over Sit-Ins

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Are sit-down demonstrations against lunch-counter segregation in the South Communist-inspired? "I wouldn't be surprised," says former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman, at a news conference Monday at Cornell University, recalled that the first sit-down strike in the nation in 1937 had been inspired by Communists.

He said he had told Cornell students at seminars that he was "against the Southern students shutting up a man's place of business" but, on the other hand, he did not believe a businessman should "harass anyone from his place of business."

Dairy Farmers' Income Rises by $15 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers' gross income last year from the sale of dairy products totaled $5,012,000,000 — a small increase over the $4,996,613,000 the year before.

Reporting this today, the Agricultural Marketing Service said the increase reflected a little improvement in prices. Total production was down a little. Prices averaged $4.09 a hundredweight compared with $4.06 the year before.

Senator Morse on Labor Fence

Is Paid for Speech but He Neither Accepts Nor Rejects Hoffa Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) says he was paid $500 plus traveling expenses for a speech he delivered at a Toledo, Ohio, Teamsters Union meeting last February.

But, he told a news conference Monday, he would neither accept nor reject the support of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Morse described the $500 as his regular lecture fee.

He estimated that his lecture fee total $1,250 monthly. He said he uses the money for his Senate office expenses.

Teamsters publications have praised Morse for his efforts to amend the labor problem bill adopted by Congress last year. The union also has distributed copies of a television tape made by Morse in which he criticized the bill.

Leaves Rio by the Sea

Brazil Moves Capital Tonight

BRASILIA, Brazil (UPI)—Brazil moves its capital from Rio de Janeiro to Brasilia at one minute after midnight tonight — a tribute to a nation's hopes and one man's dream.

When Brasilia succeeds Rio de Janeiro as the capital city with religious and government pomp and ceremony, it will be the culmination of a plan devised in the last century and pushed to fruition in the past few years by President Juscelino Kubitschek.

Hacked out of a wasteland on a 3,000-foot plateau 700 miles inland from Rio on the coast, it is planned city of daring and extreme modern architectural conception.

The three days of inauguration festivities starting with the official dedication have attracted more than 200,000 visitors to this unfinished capital and created a boomtown atmosphere.

Officially, two basic reasons are behind the shift. First, the need to move the nation's center of gravity away from the crowded, economically underdeveloped interior. Second, to free the government from the shackles of Rio, which has been the capital since 1763.

The principal factor, of course, is that although Brazil is the fourth largest country in the world and one which occupies half the land mass of South America, most of its population of 85 million is concentrated along the coast.

Kubitschek has pushed construction of Brasilia as the answer to the problems of a growing population.

Tom's paper, "The Hot News," has a circulation of 20.

Both come out whenever there is enough news to fill them, usually once or twice a fortnight. The new publication will be called the "Rocket Journal and Hot News."

Ask $480 Million to Put Up 1st Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said Tuesday he understands the Air Force favors a program that calls for the launching of manned Dyna Soar rocket vehicle in September 1964.

The project is aimed at putting a man in the fringe of space and permitting him to land under some control after orbiting the earth.

The program, submitted to the Air Force by the Boeing Airplane Co., one of the prime contractors for the winged rocket, calls for total appropriations of $60 million dollars through the 1965 fiscal year.

Magnuson told a reporter he understands that not only the Air Force but also Herbert F. York, the Defense Department's director of research would like to see the program carried out.

It involves the construction of 11 test capsules, three study test vehicles, four test vehicles for unmanned flights and four for manned flights.

Under the projected program, the first launching of an unmanned Dyna Soar would take place from a B52 over the Ft. Edwards Air Force base in 40 months. The first ground launching of an unmanned Dyna Soar would take place from Cape Canaveral after 43 months. And in September 1964, after 53 months, there would be a ground launching of a manned Dyna Soar.

Daylight Saving to Start Sunday

Will Usher in Annual Time of Confusion—23 States Don't Change

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Daylight Saving Time begins again Sunday—bringing with it some confusion over transportation schedules, protests from farmers and approval from the lovers of the outdoors. Twenty-three states ignore the change.

Many communities in 27 states will get their clocks an hour ahead to get an extra hour of sunlight during the summer months. Daylight Saving Time starts officially at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

will remain in effect in 18 of the states and the District of Columbia through Oct. 24. Localities in eight states will adhere to the old five-month period. No place in Michigan adopts daylight saving time.

Following are the areas which will have Daylight Time through October of last year:

Connecticut, Delaware, the District of Columbia, Illinois, Indiana (most of the state), Kentucky (scattered areas), Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri (some localities excepted), New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio (with some exceptions), Pennsylvania (exceptions), Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia (some counties), West Virginia (four counties only).

In the following states Daylight Time was observed through the last Sunday of September: Alabama (Huntsville only), California, Iowa (Bettendorf only), Minnesota, some communities excepted, Montana (Butte only), Nevada, North Dakota (Fargo and Mandan only), and Wisconsin.

Kennedy Ready for Air Debate

Takes Challenge From Sen. Humphrey to Meet in West Virginia

By HERB LITTLE
WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) Tuesday accepted a challenge from Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) for a face-to-face debate during their campaigning in West Virginia's May 10 presidential preference primary.

This was a new twist from the campaign leading up to the Wisconsin primary, where Kennedy defeated Humphrey. The Massachusetts senator had declined to accept an invitation from Humphrey for personal debate in Wisconsin.

Kennedy explained today that the reason for his refusal then was that he felt it would be "harmful to the party and to the candidates to have intense personal debate."

He added that "in view of the way the campaign is evolving in West Virginia, I can't accept the current attacks without fighting back."

Kennedy suggested that "maybe television would be the most effective way."

The debating mood of the two candidates underscored the brilliant attitude already expressed by Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, in taking the offensive on the religious question.

De Gaulle Wants to Talk to Nixon This Weekend

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—French President Charles de Gaulle has held a more lively to the political winds and requested a "serious private conference" with presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon while in Washington this weekend.

Although the vice president is hosting a formal dinner for him Saturday, the French war hero decided that this offered insufficient opportunity to impress his views on the man he apparently believes will head the U.S. government next year.

De Gaulle's action is not without precedent in this election year, although prior to the present administration few foreign heads of state beat a path to the vice presidential door.

Earlier this month, the five visiting foreign ministers of our NATO allies jointly requested an opportunity to meet with Nixon, and the GOP presidential contender invited them to his house on the final day of their conference here.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd then telephoned Nixon that he would have to depart a day early, but still wanted to discuss certain affairs of state with him.

Nixon consequently invited him to a private lunch at his home, and the two politicians held a long and serious talk.

West German President Konrad Adenauer went out of his way to seek a conference with the vice president while in Washington earlier this spring as did Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi.

At that time, Nixon was riding the crest of popularity in the public opinion polls, and he may have looked to foreign visitors like a shoo-in for the November election.

ANOTHER "N" — Corsica, the Mediterranean island which Horatio Nelson bombarded and where Napoleon was born, may have another "N" in its future future — nuclear. The French government is thinking of setting off underground A-blasts in the Corsica region for "public works and mining."

Since then he has slipped slightly below Democratic front-runner John F. Kennedy in the straw voting, but De Gaulle and the NATO foreign ministers seem to share former President Truman's distrust of polls.

It is obvious that an autocratic leader like De Gaulle would not crowd an already jam-packed schedule with a vice presidential conference, unless he believed that he might subsequently be dealing with Nixon at the summit.

Of course, foreign dignitaries, like our homespun politicians, can be wrong. Throughout the late summer and fall of 1958, representatives of our allies made frequent pilgrimages to the headquarters of Thomas E. Dewey—the "sure winner."

American motorists paid a total of $9,300,000,000 in special vehicle taxes in 1959, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Association. Almost two-thirds of the total was paid in state and local taxes.

Ex-UAW Agent Blackballed

Union Rules Paul Siren Can't Hold Office; Red Link Charged

DETROIT (UP)—The United Auto Workers Union said Tuesday that Paul Siren, a former UAW international representative in Canada, had been barred by the UAW's international executive board from holding any office, elected or appointed, anywhere in the Union. Siren was fired last December as an international representative and Toronto director of the UAW by George Burt, the Union's Canadian regional director.

Siren had been accused of having conferred with Communist Party leaders at party headquarters at Toronto during the UAW's 148-day strike against General Motors of Canada in 1948-49.

The accusation was investigated by UAW committee headed by Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey. It held Siren had violated a section of the Union's constitution which states:

"No member of any local union shall be eligible to hold any elective or appointed position in this international union if he is a member or subversive to any political organization such as the Communist, Fascist or Nazi organizations which owes its allegiance to any government other than the United States or Canada, directly or indirectly."

The committee's finding was upheld by the executive board. Siren can appeal the decision, if he desires.

When he was fired, Siren already had tendered his resignation, effective Feb. 1. He had been on Burt's staff 17 years.

Easter Spurt Good, Though

Business Has No Oomph

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Business is looking today for the push that will get it off dead center.

Good Easter sales were welcome. But industrialists say it will take a pickup in capital goods orders and construction awards to start the upward climb again. These are yet to become part of the record.

And meantime the stock market watches the profit reports and the industrial output trends. The consumer goes on spending. But he can't do much more. In most cases he already is committing about all the cash and credit he can. In some lines of work he has less to spend than a few months back. Wages in industry are off by 600 million dollars on an annual basis, and farm incomes off by 400 million dollars annually.

PERSONAL INCOME UP
The statistics on total personal income manage to pull ahead a bit. But that is due to increases in government salaries, and to such things as increased unemployment benefits and personal interest income.

This doesn't add up to had times, by any means. Total employment is high. Total personal income is high. Industrial output is still high by any standards, even including the peak set at the turn of the year.

Unemployment is up and troublesome, but the toll of hard March weather on outdoor jobs played a part, probably as big a one as the slowdown in some factory production lines.

INFLATION NOT FEARED
Credit isn't easy enough to incite fears of another inflationary upsurge of prices. But it isn't as tight as it was, either, relieving some of the worries of those who thought it might hamstring economic growth.

The corporate profit reports now coming in at a great rate are as mixed as the economic outlook itself. Some companies say they never had it so good as in the last three months. Others tell of a dip from year ago figures—some because sales are off and others, because operating costs are rising faster than sales.

Where will the hedge come from to get business off dead center?

Labor Market Will Be Tight

Mitchell Says Bosses to Hire More Women, Old Folks, Negroes

CHICAGO (UPI)—Labor Sec. James P. Mitchell said today a manpower pinch during the next 10 years will force employers to hire more Negroes, women and old folks.

He said the low birth rate of the depression years was responsible for the pinch. He explained that the number of workers in the 25-44 age bracket would increase by 1,600,000 in the next 10 years while the number of jobs would grow much faster.

"This will compel employers to abandon past discriminatory hiring practices," Mitchell told the Insurance Federation of Illinois in a prepared speech. "Employers will find a wealth of manpower among the older workers, women and Negroes."

He said the work force would jump from about 72,500,000 to about 87,000,000 during the next decade, the highest 10-year increase in history. He said the number of women workers would go up by 25 per cent while the number of men employees would increase only 15 per cent.

Japanese Trade Unions Boycott S. Africa Goods

TOKYO (UPI)—The powerful General Council of Japanese Trade Unions has declared a boycott of South African goods in protest against South Africa's racial policies.

A spokesman for the 3,700,000-member organization said its members will refuse to buy consumer goods produced in South Africa. He said its 70 unions will ask companies to likewise refrain from purchasing South African goods.

Lively Election Paves Road to Better City

Pontiac has just completed one of the liveliest elections in recent years. The die is cast. The voters have expressed their views.

With the turmoil and shouting now history, we can go forward to build a bigger and better Pontiac.

The electorate returned to office five incumbent City Commissioners and two newcomers to that post. Both incumbent Municipal judges were re-elected and two amendments to the City Charter were adopted.

The Press feels that the voters were wise in voting "yes" for the two new amendments. As a City, we have suffered immeasurably under the old system. Under the first amendment the police chief falls under the jurisdiction of the City Manager and is directly responsible to him. The second abolishes the post of Director of Public Safety.

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR of district 3 and WINFORD E. BOTTOM of district 4 will join incumbent Commissioners MILTON R. HENRY, PHILIP E. ROWSTON, JOHN A. DUGAN, WESLEY J. WOOD and ROBERT A. LANDRY in conducting the affairs of our City.

The Municipal bench will continue in the hands of MAURICE E. FINNEGAN and CECIL MCALLUM.

We wish all elected officeholders well and trust that the ensuing months will see new progress developed by our City government.

New Sewer System Lifts Keego Out of Mud

Pontiac's suburban city of Keego Harbor is accomplishing what most of its own residents considered impossible.

They felt that they must be content to live in conditions that made them think less of their founding fathers for ever starting a community on such low ground.

The start of their sewer system this week brings into focus a plan that causes them to reflect on the civic pride, untold determination, love of home surroundings and hard work, all of which have teamed up with modern methods to lay the foundation to remove any stigma on the community as a business or residential city.

A water works system should come next, and that seems inevitable.

Any city with the boosters behind it that could put across this sewer proposition can be depended upon to do most anything for their home town.

Starting from a lone shack that was used as a shelter by people waiting for the old interurban trolley cars, Keego just couldn't retard itself from growing into its present proportions.

And now, with greatly improved conditions, it should be in line for a more substantial growth than ever before.

Caution Can Prevent Spread of Grass Fires

The spring problem of grass fires has stress wailing and firemen tolling for hours to extinguish these pesky blazes.

Most of them are caused by carelessness in burning trash. A wandering spark and the season's gusty winds add up to trouble.

Many volunteer firemen in the suburban areas are called away from their jobs for hours to fight these fires which could be avoided with more caution upon the part of residents. Experts advise burning trash later in the day, when the winds have dropped, and humidity is higher.

"By 1968 a hospital room will cost $50 a day," says a hospital administrator. The time seems to be rapidly approaching when staying alive will scarcely be worth what it costs.

"Do you know what motivates you?" asks a psychologist. No, but in a lot of cases we wish it would quit doing it.

Signs of Spring Somewhat Delayed, Now Making Up for Lost Time

Junk. What you keep ten years and throw away just before you need it.

The pair of wild ducks who have been nesting for several years near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Selkirk at Pontiac Lake have arrived from the south. They bring with them four others which the Selkirks think are a pair that they hatched last year, who have mated up. All are now nest building.

First to report trilliums in bloom is Mrs. Georgiana Spellman of Clarkston, who says they are on the sunny side of a hill in a woods.

A potato that grew in the shape of an elephant's foot, including all of the toes, was dug last autumn by Chauncey Berdan of 847 Sarasota St. It now has grown sprouts on the toes, looking exactly like toe nails, and the withered skin resembles an elephant's hide.

Chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Delos Hamlin, accompanied by Mrs. Hamlin, sails from New York tomorrow on the "Queen Mary" for a visit with their daughter in France. They will journey through other European countries, and return by air, arriving home May 23.

Crocus blossoms in five different colors are reported by Mrs. Genevieve Lankton of Auburn Heights, who wonders if anybody has this first spring flower in a greater variety of colors.

As has been the case for several years, Mrs. Elisabeth Burroughs of Rochester is first to report cooking some dandelion greens.

When the family was away over the weekend, a pair of robins built a nest on the back porch of

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Leeson of Waterford. They are continuing their home life there, unmolested when the folks returned and seem to like the situation.

That invertebrate weather watcher, Jack Fiewelling, out Pontiac Trail, says the mercury dropped from 72 to exactly half that figure, 36, in 12 hours the other day. He adds, "Don't put this in the papers you send to Florida."

Happiest man in Keego Harbor is Pete Quinlan, who has worked on this sewer proposition since way back in the days when we were fellow jurors on the federal court in Detroit.

Red Gold Behind Demonstrations

WASHINGTON — Why do 75,000 people demonstrate in London demanding that Great Britain cut off all ties with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, give up all nuclear bases and in effect, take a pro-Communist position in world affairs? Why do mobs, claiming to be "peaceful," pursue riots and disturbances in many countries of the so-called free world? Why is the Cuban government so active toward Latin America in trying to set up anti-American and pro-Communist organizations and news services?

The simple answer is that the Communists are using hundreds of millions of dollars worth of gold pilfered from the mines in Russia by slave labor and are financing a worldwide apparatus of subversion.

To call attention to the Communist behavior is to invoke, as a rule, outbursts of denunciation. The tendency nowadays is to pooh-pooh Communist activity in the United States and brush it aside as just "McCarthyism."

Some British newspapers, forgetting that a British subject came to America with the clearance of the British government and stole atomic secrets, seem lately to be giving a lot of space to a condemnation of Americans who speak out against the Communist menace.

Referring to a somewhat similar attitude of disparagement that is beginning to prevail in America, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said in a speech in Chicago on Monday night:

"Despite the Communist Party's public record of treachery, deceit and inhumanity, tolerance of the danger of communism continues to grow. Today, those of us who actively oppose the subtle tactics of the Communist Party find ourselves subjected to mounting abuse and ridicule."

"Misguided and ill-informed persons, posing as alleged 'experts' on Communist subversion, would have it believed that the party is a shattered, broken and threadbare group of harmless misfits. Nothing could be further from the truth."

"The war between communism and the free world is not fought with bombs or other tangible weapons. It is being fought now by subversion through the medium of ideas."

"You can never tell," he said, "where you'll find the real Italian hand and it's not Italian—it's Russian."

The Communist technique is to infiltrate every country. It takes but a small number of agents who operate through many intermediaries, some of them innocent and glib, to influence political parties and pressure groups. Students have been found to be very useful in organizing demonstrations. Teen-agers in street gangs in big cities are readily organized to paint graffiti or to help carry on demonstrations.

Obviously there are plenty of just reasons for protest by factions and groups in every country on public questions but without the inspiration and often the financial help of the Communist stooges there wouldn't be such well-organized demonstrations.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Penicillin Once a Week Harmful to 6-Year-Old

One mother says that every time her young son catches cold it settles in his tonsils, and usually he has to have three penicillin shots to clear it up.

Another mother says her six-year-old has fever about once a week. She calls the doctor, who says the boy's throat is red and gives him a shot of penicillin and a prescription for sulfa and aspirin.

Giving penicillin in the minor illnesses the two mothers describe seems horrid.

I commented on this extravagant and indiscriminate administration of "shots" of penicillin and elicited a pretty sharp rebuke from an Ohio reader saying "I get the impression that the mother of the six-year-old boy has a little glass stick."

The Ohio reader wants to know how a mother is going to determine when to call the doctor if she doesn't take the child's temperature?

While I am reeling under the Ohio reader's reprimand she shouts that she never visited an M.D. who did not tell her temperature, and evidently I'm such a wonderful doctor that I need only examine one's handwriting to determine the nature of one's malady, etc., etc.

I merely contend that a clinical thermometer in the home does more harm than good. I believe a mother with a grain of good sense can tell by ordinary observation whether a doctor should be called, whether the child has fever or not.

NATURAL REACTION

A child usually has fever (elevation of temperature) with even the mildest (common respiratory infection), and the fever is not a bad sign; on the contrary it is a favorable sign, indicating that the patient is reacting to the infection in the normal or natural way, the way to recover.

So it seems to me that is not necessary to give the six-year-old penicillin, sulfa and aspirin once a week or at all. This indiscriminate use of penicillin impairs the efficacy of penicillin in case the patient develops a serious infection.

And besides, penicillin itself is not quite so harmless as some doctors seem to think. There have

Teenagers Need Heritage From the Older Generation

No wonder understanding 16ers have such a heavy load — their heads are swollen out of size. But most are somewhat swollen at that age. They shrink back in a few years when they realize how little they knew at 16.

Kids need to be taught more responsibilities and their load as an adult will be lighter. The mature, thinking and wisest of the older generation always hope the younger generation will be able to do its share to make this better world.

With all the work saving devices, parents have the greatest opportunity to help their children. The greatest drawback toward a better generation is a parent who doesn't spend time with their children, especially mothers who don't have to work but leave the raising of their children to babysitters or even the children themselves. Teenagers need the heritage of good handed down by their elders, to recognize harm caused by mistakes of the older generation so they'll be wise enough not to repeat those mistakes.

I Favor Lottery to Reduce Debt

I would vote against a national lottery for every purpose but one: reducing the national debt. Most people would favor that, and why don't they report out the bill, which is in committee right now?

'Obey God's Laws for Happier Life'

The Divine Mind or Power (God) who created this speck of dust called Earth and all the millions of stars, suns and planets and caused them to exist in union in space is so great no mortal can comprehend His greatness.

He has laid down laws for the universe and for man to live by. He's everywhere and if we have faith in him, we can feel his presence at all times and talk to him through prayer. If we ask him to help us help others, he'll help, but says an attitude of selfishness will keep us from helping ourselves.

He's a loving God and doesn't punish us. We punish ourselves by breaking His laws. If we live up to His laws, we'll have a happier life on earth and when the time comes, our spiritual body will be ready to return to God for his rewards.

Foreign Goods Astound Reader

My sister just got married and moved to Michigan and so she has been outfitting her home. I'm dumbfounded at the amount of foreign made goods on our markets. Diapers, pots and pans, household remedies, clothing and even cotton goods have foreign labels and they are cheaper. Our rising costs must stop or we'll be in a jam we made ourselves.

Praises Township for Road Repairs

The people of Pontiac Township are grateful to our supervisor for aiding us this past winter and early spring. When sidewalks were covered with ice that we couldn't leave our homes, he provided sand. When our tires skidded on the mud that came with the thaw, he obtained gravel to put our cars on top of the ground.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Unselfishness Is Key to True Love

Nora is a 20th century twin for Sidney Carton, hero of Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities." Scrapbook this inspiring case and discuss it in your church groups, for it helps teen-agers see the vast difference between sexual infatuation and true love.

For she shows the unselfishness of true love! You readers are familiar by this time with our Scientific Marriage Foundation, organized to help introduce eligible members of the opposite sex with a view to their developing friendship that may terminate in happy marriage.

Not long ago we received an Application, duly filled out by a prominent professional man.

Our clergyman Counselor had interviewed his three character references and had written a strong endorsement for this man.

But we do not handle such applications in the Scientific Marriage Foundation, so we were puzzled as to why our clergyman Counselor would have endorsed this man.

Mr. Crane wrote a letter to the Counselor asking for an explanation.

For Sidney Carton exchanged clothes with, and went to the gallows in place of, the other man.

'Murder Would Be Handled Lightly'

They sent a man to jail because he married a second wife when he already had one. He'll serve several years, but if he had thrown the first wife into an old well or shot her five times he would have got some kind of a suspended sentence or a year on probation or a very stern lecture from some judge and allowed to go on his way.

Agrees With Letter on Dog Situation

I'm in full agreement with Marcia Best about the stray dog situation in Waterford. Our dog is being cared for elsewhere until we're able to get fences up, get some kind of a suspended sentence or a year on probation or a very stern lecture from some judge and allowed to go on his way.

And find the kitchen bright... I know and I appreciate... the time you take to bed so late... With star-dust in your eyes... But pots and pans and kettles clean... In such a happy manner mean... And Ike's Not Even a Fan First Ball Toss Costs

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—It costs the American taxpayer thousands of dollars for President Eisenhower to participate in a commercial enterprise involving throwing out the first ball of the American League baseball season. There was the matter of flying Mr. Eisenhower and his party up from Augusta, Ga., where he's been golfing, the security precautions attendant to such a trip, radar tracking of his plane, ground transportation and other matters.

Organized Baseball actually hesitated for several years before installing Clark Griffith in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. Yet the late, great, crabby, imaginative, wonderful owner of the Washington Senators—consistently one of the worst and worst-paid teams in big league ball—was the man who named President William Howard Taft into throwing a ball from his box at the Washington ballpark almost half a century ago.

That single act did more to make baseball the "national pastime" than any other. No President can now veto the opening game of what is so often a disastrous Washington season. Big-league sports can be ignored.

Ike had about as much interest in interrupting his vacation to fly back to Washington for a ball game (though it unexpectedly turned out to be a good one) as he had in running for a third term.

To have neglected to do so, however, actually would have cost the Republican presidential candidate votes. It would have "proved" that the GOP isn't interested in the average working stiff who likes to see a ball game now and then. Nutty business, politics.

State Department Cool to Cuba Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department has reacted coolly to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's expressed desire to discuss U. S.-Cuban relations with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Department press officer Lincoln White said that U.S. ambassador to Cuba Phillip Bonsal was "prepared to discuss any question of Cuban-U. S. relations at any time."

Castro was quoted Sunday as saying that he believed talks with Eisenhower and Herter might help to ease tensions between the two countries. His statement apparently was not a formal bid for such discussions, however.

About one-tenth of a cubic foot of krypton, a colorless, odorless gas, is found in a million cubic feet of air.

College Hopetuls Cause Confusion by Applications

NEW YORK (AP)—A university official said today that all the talk of a classroom crisis in colleges is a statistical illusion.

There aren't too many applicants for admission, he said, just too many applications.

Young people and their parents, bombarded with dire warnings that enrollments will soon outpace facilities, "have begun pressing panic buttons," continued Fred E. Crossland, New York University director of admissions.

He said they flood the mails with applications to many colleges to insure admission to one, and "the result is confusion."

In an article in an NYU publication he wrote that, though school facilities are being planned to handle future enrollment growth.

3 Lutheran Sects to Merge Friday

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Three Lutheran denominations laid final plans today for their merger Friday into the new American Lutheran Church.

The American Lutheran Church (ALC), the Evangelical Lutheran Church (ELC) and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church (UELC) will begin their first joint convention Friday.

The convention will climax 11 years of preparation for the first 20th century merger of major Lutheran churches with different national backgrounds.

The new American Lutheran Church will embrace 2,258,082 members and will hold property valued at 400 million dollars.

State Curfew to Become Law

Pontiac Will Consider Revision of Old City Regulations

LANSING (AP)—A bill establishing a statewide curfew for Michigan's young folks will become a law without Gov. Williams' signature. The governor, citing conflicting views of experts on juvenile problems, said yesterday he was doubtful the curfew would be very effective but that he didn't want to reject the Legislature's decision. The curfew will take effect Aug. 15—30 days after adjournment of the Legislature—if lawmakers quit on scheduled May 13. It will not supplant local curfew regulations. (A 1915 Pontiac ordinance sets a 9 p.m. summer curfew for youngsters under 16 and 8 p.m. during the winter months. A curfew study group, however, now will consider a revision of the old ordinance in view of the state law.) Curfew regulations will prohibit children under 16 from loitering on the streets after midnight and require those under 12 to be home by 10 p.m. Children accompanied by adults, parents or other designated adults would be exempted as would those sent on a special errand by parents or guardians. The governor said he had directed the Michigan Youth Commission to make a study of how the law operates and make a report in November. Sam Rabinovitch of Detroit, commission chairman, said the curfew might help law enforcement agencies clamp down on juvenile delinquency by holding parents, adults running juvenile hang-outs and children themselves accountable for violations. But he added, "Police don't need it to keep the kids off the streets."

It also would put pressure on parents to be about violations to protect themselves and their children, he said. Midnight and 10 p.m. deadlines, moreover, would encourage children to stay out until just before the curfew fell, he said. "Any youngster on reaching 12 would feel he had a right to stay out until midnight," Rabinovitch said.

Census Takers Push Income Over Top

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hiring of 170,000 census workers boosted the total income of individual Americans to a record annual rate of 283 billion dollars last month. This was 500 million dollars above the February rate. Because of census hiring, government payrolls rose at a 700-million-dollar annual rate during March. That more than offset cutbacks in construction, automobile, aircraft, metals and building materials industries. Farm income declined by $90 million dollars to a 10-billion annual rate. Although temporary census employees did not begin their nose count until April 1 they were hired and trained during March.

SOFT DRINK AD? — U.S. Customs Inspector Anthony Altieri wears controversial new uniform cap and holds old style one in his hand. New cap has "U.S. Customs" inscribed in white braid on the visor. Some inspectors have said fairy braid makes them feel they are wearing an advertisement for a soft drink or toothpaste. The uniforms will be mandatory July 1. Altieri, pictured at New York's Idlewild Airport, also wears the new Norway blue uniform with silver buttons.

Set Seaway Limits for Pleasure Craft

OTTAWA (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway will be open this year to pleasure craft at least 20 feet long and 2 tons in weight, the seaway authority says. Tolls will be $2 per lock. Smaller craft will be allowed to use only the Iroquois, Snell and Eisenhower locks and will be charged the same rate. The Lachine and Cornwall canals, superseded by the seaway, are still free to pleasure craft. All pleasure craft using the seaway must obtain toll tickets in advance from seaway offices in either Canada or the United States.

Di Blasi Conducts Magnificent Final Concert

One Word for Symphony Violinist Dalley—'More'

By MARGORIE EICHER
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

Violinist John Dalley received the highest praise that can be given a soloist at Tuesday evening's final concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Bravos from the orchestra and its conductor, Francesco Di Blasi, were repeated by the audience.

A taut charged moment existed at the conclusion of his final solo number, the exquisite "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint Saens. Murmurs of "More, more" were heard as the artist was called back repeatedly to receive what must be called an ovation.

His "more," the encore Capriccio 14, by Paganini, was played unaccompanied. Musicians agree a work of this type exposes an artist unmercifully. Dalley's presentation proved his mastery of his instrument.

'RARE SOUND'

Concertgoers with whom we discussed the program were agreed that Dalley has a rare sound—a rich, gutty, masculine tone. This is his personal style which won him favor and respect at Curtis Institute. The fact that he grew up playing in a home where two cellists were making deep masculine tones may have had its influence, but conductors under whom he has played say his strength and tone are uniquely a "John Dalley sound."

Mozart's melodic "Concerto in D Major (K-218)" was the artist's opening work. Its allegro movement immediately displayed his fine sense of phrasing. The cadenza (unaccompanied solo part) at the conclusion of the movement was an exciting meld of virtuosity and disciplined skill. Listeners agreed in discussing the work at intermission.

The silken andante movement was given a dimension of depth by Dalley's rich tone. Many of his effects are achieved with the bow, a new one with which he said he was well pleased.

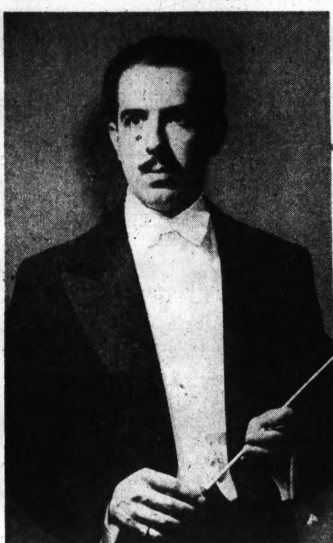

The double stops of the final movement and the concluding cadenza were skillfully presented by the violinist.

John Dalley's Mozart is considered tops. One ingredient must be his playing of the solo role as if he were playing ensemble. This approach elicits an ensemble response from the accompanying orchestra and a kind of teamwork is set in motion. The soloist gains stature by this type of sublimation.

The music is heard as it must have been conceived by the composer. And the listener's pleasure is climaxed by a reputation that concertgoers always seek but rarely find.

JOHN DALLEY

FRANCESCO DI BLASI

Observers agreed, this mood was present last night in the auditorium of Pontiac Northern High School.

ADMIRING COMMENTS

A large number of students was present—many coming in groups with their teachers. One young violinist was heard to say, "The thing that's hard about listening to John Dalley's Mozart is his way of making it sound so easy!"

A mother was overheard pointing out to her violin-playing daughter, "Just watch his bow. You can see how he feels his music."

ORCHESTRA SHINES

Conductor Di Blasi and the string section of the orchestra accompanied the Mozart with sensitivity. Notably difficult, the music is not often tackled by civic symphonies. Di Blasi's musicianship and the musical discipline he demands (and receives) not only result in an evening as pleasant as Tuesday's, but assure the orchestra's growth.

Mendelssohn's "Overture to Ruy Blas" was well played, displaying the orchestra's power. There were moments when Di Blasi must have conducted with his eyes and the sheer force of his magnetism.

A young musician in the audience respectfully saluted the conductor as a "sincere perfectionist," saying it would be a privilege to play under him.

Certainly his color, drive and dynamism have contributed a big share to this successful season, observers agree.

The final number, "Capriccio Espagnol" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, is one of the most popular works in the orchestral repertoire. It permits the sonorities of the orchestra to be heard, and revealed a mellow timbre in our orchestra's presentation last night.

WELL EXECUTED

Its many solo passages and cadenzas were well executed, members of the audience agreed, and the fervor of the orchestra added flavor.

Demanding an encore, the audience was happily rewarded with the Prelude to Act 3 of Lohengrin by Wagner.

The customary coffee hour which follows the last program of the season was graciously presented by the Women's Assn. of the Pontiac Symphony. Most of the large audience stayed for the social hour to chat with orchestra personnel.

Mrs. Arnold Hillerman and Mrs. Kenneth Turner presided at the tea table.

Concluding its seventh season, Pontiac's Symphony, civic leaders say, has contributed richly to the city's cultural climate. They go on to pay deserved tribute to its conductor and music committee and the fine teamwork of the many committee members behind the scenes.

Dear Abby Says: Mother Loves Her, Too

Be Generous About Your Sister

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column signed "HURT" is my case exactly — only just the opposite.

I am the younger daughter, 15, and my sister is 22 and married. She has a husband to support her, but my mother is always buying her things. Clothes and stuff for her kids and things for her house.

I don't see why my mother has to buy her anything more. After all, she doesn't live here. When I ask my mother for a new dress or pair of shoes she says I have plenty. You know, Abby, a girl can always use another skirt or blouse or pair of shoes. Do you think it is fair of my mother to buy my married sister things when I could use more?

ALSO HURT
DEAR ALSO HURT: How much is "plenty" — and who can use "more"? Your sister is your mother's daughter — married or single, so unless you are actually going barefoot or doing without, don't complain.

DEAR ABBY: In your opinion do you think the "facts of life" should be taught to boys and girls together in the same classroom?

Maybe I am old-fashioned, Abby, but I am a senior girl and it embarrasses me to sit there and have the teacher use a big chart with boys in the room.

Believe me, I don't think there is anything dirty about the human body or reproduction, but there are certain laws of nature that girls should learn with girls and boys should learn with boys. If I had my way I would walk out of the classroom and take an F, but I want to graduate. Does anyone else feel the way I do. I wonder?

MODEST GIRL
DEAR MODEST: I do.

DEAR ABBY: This may be the silliest letter you ever received, but I am writing to you because I don't know where else to inquire. A friend of mine bet me five dollars that Florence Chadwick swam the English Channel without a swim suit on. He claims all they did was grease her, but otherwise she was naked. Will you please find out for me?

KATHY
DEAR KATHY: I have covered all the reports of Florence Chadwick's historic swim, but I don't know what covered Florence. If your friend is correct, it was one slippery detail that escaped notice.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVER OF GIN": Were you DRINKING it? Or were you DRINKING it?

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Layer Angel Food Cake With Favorite Ice Cream

By JANET ODELL Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe is so simple that it hardly seems like a recipe. But it is such a good dessert with possibilities for infinite variations that we asked Mrs. William Miller if we might use it. She served it for refreshment at an afternoon party.

Mrs. Miller who retired from a teaching career some years ago is an extremely active individual. She belongs to a number of clubs, is president of her PEO chapter. Reading is one of her favorite leisure time activities. Right now she is excited over her forthcoming trip to Europe which starts this week.

ICE CREAM CAKE
By Mrs. William Miller
Bake an angel food cake in one long pan or in two bread pans. When thoroughly cooled, slice in three layers the long way of the cake.

Put the cake layers together with layers of ice cream. Mrs. Miller used pistachio which is a lovely spring color. Frost the complete cake with whipped cream or whipped dessert topping. Put this frosting if desired. Put in freezer until 15 minutes before serving time.

Mrs. Miller suggests peppermint candy ice cream with pink whipped cream. How about a chocolate angel food for that one? With all the varieties of angel food cake mixes available, you can let your imagination have free play.

This cake will keep almost indefinitely in a freezer. The recipe, using about one-half gallon of ice cream, serves from 16-20 people.

Rochester Hospital Dream Edges Closer to Reality

ROCHESTER—The dream of a community hospital in Rochester moved a step closer to reality last night with the naming of a temporary chairman and eight new members to serve on the proposed expanded Board of Directors.

Dr. Edgar J. Geist Jr. is new temporary chairman, succeeding Hilburn L. Carpenter, who has acted as head of the informal steering committee since the hospital idea was initiated three years ago.

On April 4, 1957, a group of professionals and business people met to discuss needs and methods of acquiring a hospital.

In order to function as a non-profit organization, the project was incorporated under the name of the Bertha Van Hosen Hospital, with temporary officers in lieu of formation of a formal hospital board or trusteeship.

The name was chosen to honor the memory of one of the area's native daughters who had achieved international fame in the field of medicine.

Dr. Van Hosen was founder and first president of the Medical Women's National Assn. and author of the best seller "Feticoat Surgeon" in 1947.

Research indicated that for the proposed 200-bed hospital—to cost about four million dollars—outside sources were necessary.

CONTACT 2 GROUPS

Temporary officers contacted the Greater Detroit Hospital Council and the Detroit Area Building Fund Committee.

After 2 1/2 years of working with these organizations, they found that the proposed Rochester hospital was "just outside these organizations' area of industrial help," Carpenter said last night.

The plans have been revised to build a 300-bed hospital, expandable to 80 beds, on the 20-acre site Q. Ennis, Robert Warren, Dr. Eve donated by Parke, Davis & Co. across from Parkdale Biological Laboratories at the northeast edge of the village.

In his report, "Why We Need a Hospital," Dr. Geist stated there are 17 practicing physicians in Rochester, plus 15 in the Lake Orion-Oxford area—"enough to staff the proposed hospital," he said. Many of these doctors were present.

Named to augment the original group on the proposed Board of Directors were Robert Scripps and Mrs. Walter Reuther, both of Oakland Township; Edward B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University; Oakland; Loy Sutherland of Lake Orion; Thelma Allen and Dr. Thomas Sasone, both of Rochester and Pontiac; Charles B. Stiffler of Avon Township; and Dr. Geist.

On the original steering committee beside Carpenter are Dr. Sarah Van Hosen Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Sorenson Jr., Earl Dean, Mrs. Helen Allen, Sydney

Schleie, Edward A. Potere, E. Tilton Peabody, Miss Alice Serrell and Mrs. George H. Goble.

ARCHITECTS ADVISE

The kind of a hospital needed to serve a population of 97,000 in the Rochester area was described by architects from Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates, Inc., Detroit.

They said a 300-bed hospital was needed, that 50 beds would be filled from the start. They estimated cost at $10,000 a bed, $8,000 below the national average.

Total cost would be between $750,000 and $1,000,000, the architects stated, pointing out what equipment and features would be included.

They compared the proposed Rochester hospital to those they have built for Romeo-Almont and Mason.

Also present was a professional fund raiser, Ward B. Jencks, who heads an Ann Arbor firm and directed the initial money-raising campaign for the year-old Community Hospital between Romeo and Almont.

Announcement was made that 120 residents of the Rochester area are being contacted to serve on a citizens' advisory committee.

PLAN MAY BANQUET

They will be invited to a banquet May 17 which is planned to "stimulate support of the hospital and advise the group on the progress made to date," Dr. Geist said.

Edward A. Potere, local attorney, was named to head the bylaws committee and pick two more to serve with him.

The next Board of Directors meeting will be May 3.

Mrs. Goble reported that the Rochester Junior Women's Club has already sold 400 tickets to its "Parade of Homes for Progress" May 20.

This is the first hospital benefit sanctioned before the formal fund drive, she said.

'YOU DID IT'—Janet James, 7, hands Jeff Waltz, 8, a prize for puncturing a balloon with a dart as they take in a little practice for the Thomas School PTA Fair Saturday. Watching the proceedings are Gordon Schild, school principal, and Mrs. Cecil Sherwood, chairman. The school is on Thomas road in Oxford Township.

Loses Race With Train in Sterling

The two area men driving together along 146-mile road in Sterling Township last night couldn't see why cars ahead were slowing up.

There was no oncoming traffic, so Ralph Vandavater, 33, of 41 E. Rutgers St., Pontiac, decided to pass.

He pressed down on the accelerator.

Suddenly he saw a freight train closing in on the path ahead. The northbound diesel engine speared the lead rear end of the car and spun it crazily before it broke loose.

Lucky to escape alive, Vandavater and his passenger William Hall, 63, of 43455 Beguine Rd., Troy, were dazed but only slightly bruised when they stepped from the demolished car.

Center Line State Police ticketed Vandavater for reckless driving. This was the third crash at the crossing between Van Dyke and Mound road since Jan. 1. It is marked only by a railroad crossing sign.

The railroad has announced it will set up a flasher signal at the crossing, as well as at others along the route.

New Violence at Dynamic—Pontiac Man Arrested

TROY — Reinforcements were called yesterday afternoon by the Troy police department as violence flared again at the strike-bound Dynamic Manufacturers, Inc., plant. A Pontiac man was arrested.

Some 45 pickets gathered at the gate as workers began to leave the plant. According to the Oakland County Sheriff's department, they threw nails under tires, kicked the cars, used obscene language and even pitched garter snakes through car windows.

Arrested was Robert L. Brown, 24, of 631 Cameron St., Pontiac, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Police said they saw him throwing nails on the road.

FIRST SINCE MARCH

These were the first incidents of violence at the struck plant at 475 Rochester Rd. since March 13, police said.

Some 300 workers walked off the job Feb. 15 following a wage negotiations dispute that was only one point from settlement a month ago.

The automotive parts plant was struck by Local 935 of the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

Called to assist local police at the strike scene, besides sheriff's deputies, were a patrol car from the Center Line State Police Post and one each from Clawson and Bloomfield Townships.

Adams had ordered Feb. 24 that pickets be limited to 20. There were about 45 there yesterday, police said.

The union had asked for a 35 cents-an-hour raise. Last month a settlement of five cents was ratified by the union membership, but negotiations broke down over the time the company proposed to retain employees hired to replace striking workers.

Announce Engagement

UNION LAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Daley of Lakeland announce the engagement of their daughter Sharon Lonetta to Richard O. Singleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Campbell of 7344 Hardisty Rd. An early June wedding in All Saints Church, East Lansing, is being planned. Both the bride-elect and her fiancé are students at Michigan State University.

Avon Photo Session Set

ROCHESTER — The April 26 meeting of the Avon Photo Club will feature talks on photographic techniques by two club members, Edward Markley and Charles Earl. It will be at 8 p.m. at Woodward Memorial Library.

The union had asked for a 35 cents-an-hour raise. Last month a settlement of five cents was ratified by the union membership, but negotiations broke down over the time the company proposed to retain employees hired to replace striking workers.

Called to assist local police at the strike scene, besides sheriff's deputies, were a patrol car from the Center Line State Police Post and one each from Clawson and Bloomfield Townships.

Adams had ordered Feb. 24 that pickets be limited to 20. There were about 45 there yesterday, police said.

AIKEN, S. C. (P) — A well-dressed, middle-aged man appeared in the choir loft of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church and asked the nun directing the children's choir if he might join in singing the offertory hymn.

After Mass the rejected vocalist told the pastor, they chuckled over the strictures of the choir director.

"Sunday I'd like to audition you, sister," said a smiling Bing Crosby as he left the church.

Government Finds Way Out

To Let Institutions Have Those Trading Stamps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government had its trading stamp problem licked today — or almost. Officials who have been wondering what to do with green and yellow stamps which have piled up in gas and oil purchases were told they can give them away, on one condition.

The condition, as set forth by the General Accounting Office (GAO), was that no federal money be spent in doing out the stamps.

The General Services Administration, which asked the GAO how to get rid of the stamps, is now working out a non-expensive way of doing so.

A GSA spokesman said the agency does not know how many trading stamps the government has "because it would cost too much to count them."

TO WORK OUT PLAN — The GSA was stuck with the problem because it is the government's housekeeping agency. The accounting office was called in since the stamps represent money and the GAO audits the federal books.

The auditors advised the GSA to "work out a plan of fair distribution at a local level and, above all, avoid any sort of administrative expense."

A GSA official said this was being done "but there is nothing definite and probably won't be for a couple of weeks."

The GAO, warned that trading stamps should not be considered in making contracts for federal purchases of gas, oil or anything else.

Several hospitals already have asked for the stamps, the GSA spokesman said.

The institutions said it would be sort of an occupational therapy to have patients sort and paste the stamps into books — and then exchange them for merchandise.

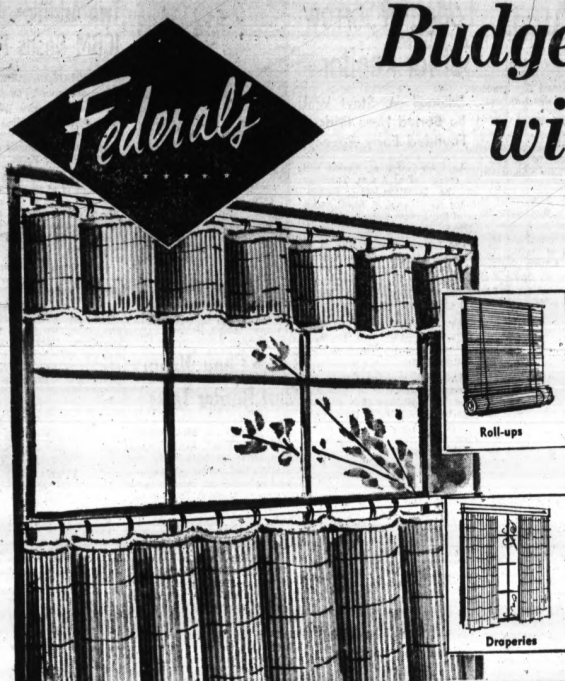

The GSA man said opportunities to collect the stamps from local and regional agencies may be given to veterans hospitals, public health units, federal prisons and Indian schools.

He said they could trade in the stamps for various types of merchandise — athletic equipment, television and radio sets, "or just anything that they could use."

Trade Group Issues 85 Trust Complaints

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal trade commission has reported a "sharp step-up" in law enforcement actions, including those against "trusts" and monopolies.

Basil J. McInnes, FTC acting executive director, said the commission issued 85 antitrust complaints from last July through March. This compared to 37 filed during the same period the previous fiscal year.

Tense Chou, Nehru Start Border Talks

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru and Red China's Chou En-lai got down to business today on their disputed Himalayan borders. The two met for the first of six days of talks and general skepticism that the negotiations will provide much of an advance toward agreement.

Since his arrival Tuesday, Chou has appeared tense and a bit apprehensive about his reception in a country angered at what it considers Chinese aggression.

All of New Delhi's newspapers underlined the somber reception for the Chinese premier on his arrival. Nehru himself set the tone with a declaration in his welcoming remarks that India's relations with Communist China "have been imperiled for the present and future."

The five previously designated are Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colo.; Ellsworth AFB, South Dakota; Mountain Home AFB, Idaho; Larson AFB, Washington, and Beale AFB, California.

Blindness Study Is Group's Aim

New Organization Will Work on Prevention of Impaired Vision

NEW YORK (UPD) — A new national organization has been formed to foster and underwrite research into causes of blindness or substantially impaired vision.

The organization, which has the backing of many of the nation's leading ophthalmologists, is called Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc. Its formation was announced by Jules C. Stein, an ophthalmologist who changed his field to music and now is chairman of the board of the giant Music Corporation of America, Inc. (MCA).

Associated with Stein in setting up the organization are Mrs. Albert D. Lasker, millionaire philanthropist, James S. Adams, general partner of the banking firm of Lazard Freres, and Robert E. McCormick, vice president of Otis - Matheson Chemical Corp.

"Many existing organizations are concerned with alleviating the plight of the person after he becomes blind," said Stein. "However, it is the feeling of our group that basic research into the causes that blind over 4,000 persons annually in the United States should be vigorously stimulated and financed."

Stein said 150 million dollars is spent annually in the United States to provide care for the blind, but only 4 million dollars is spent by private and government agencies to support research to prevent blindness.

He said Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc. will cooperate with all existing voluntary agencies and the U.S. Public Health Service to increase this outlay and coordinate research.

The executive director of the new organization will be Mervyn R. Runyon, former executive vice president of the American Cancer Society. Dr. C. J. Van Slyke, recently retired deputy director of the National Institute of Health of the U.S. Public Health Service, will be scientific director, and William J. Vanden Heuvel, Stein's son-in-law, will be secretary and counsel.

Losers in Quiz Show Files $2 Million Suit

NEW YORK (UPD) — Cab driver Leo Goldberg, a loser on the scandal-ridden $64,000 Question quiz show, filed suit yesterday for $2,025,000 because of a rigged question he was asked.

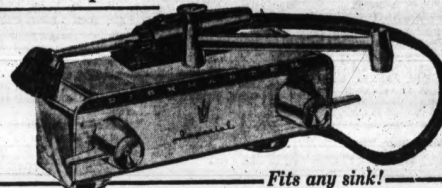

The suit said Goldberg was used as a "pawn in an avaricious game" by the Columbia Broadcasting System; Revlon, Inc., sponsor of the defunct television television quiz, and Hal March, the program's master of ceremonies. They are among numerous individuals and agencies named as defendants.

Goldberg put much time and effort into studying up on geography, his category when he appeared on the show Sept. 24, 1957, the suit said. He was disqualified for failing to answer the question "Where is the International Court of Justice seated?"

The suit said there was no reason for Goldberg to know the court is seated in The Hague because the question was not one of geography but of a meeting place for a body of men.

Dried Figs Figure in Spring Recipes

And just when hope had worn down to nothingness, Spring arrived—gently nudging her way back into our winter-weary hearts, her dress as fragile as an April promise, and just as endearing.

Of the homemaker, Spring demands bright menus—with favors as fresh and as sprightly as a spray of dogwood. For you, here are new suggestions using California Dried Figs, with their built-in sunshine and storehouse of nutrition. Try them—we think you'll like them!

Fig Orange Whip
1 package orange flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water

Fig Cookies
1 cup chopped dried figs
1 cup water
1½ cups sifted flour

Broiled Ham 'n Figs
1½ dried figs
6 thin slices boiled ham
Mustard

Cover the figs with water; simmer over low heat about 10 to 15 minutes. Drain. Cut ham slices in half. Spread with mustard. Wrap around fig, hold together with toothpick. Place under broiler for 2 to 3 minutes. Turn on other side and broil. Serve as an appetizer or for a special brunch.

For Fluffier Rice
When cooking minute rice, put a paper towel under the lid after removing the pan from the stove and let the rice stand. The grains will become dry and separate.

Pepper Steak Given Oriental Soy Flavor
A skillet dish, quick to make.

Pepper Steak
1 pound boneless flank steak (trimmed of fat and partly frozen)
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons dry sherry
2 tablespoons minced green peppers (cut in wide strips)
1 cup water

Slice steak into strips about 1 inch wide and ¼ inch thick. Coat with mixture of cornstarch, soy sauce, garlic, sugar and sherry. Heat 1 tablespoon of the oil in a 10-inch skillet; add the green peppers and cook a few minutes; remove with slotted spoon. Add remaining tablespoon of oil to skillet; heat. Add meat and brown quickly, turning with a wide spatula. Return peppers to pan; add water. Cook and stir gently until small amount of sauce thickens. Peppers will be bright green and crisp. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Low-Cost Dessert
As a dessert for a teen-age romp, you might offer this Apple Sauce Ice Cream Fluff: Simply blend softened vanilla ice cream—1 pint of the ice cream to 2 cups of apple sauce is a good proportion. You can count on 8 generous servings. (And what a low-cost dessert!)

Cherries Too Good To Use Only in Pie
A "Cherry Checkup" recently showed that many homemakers are "cherries for pie only" cooks. There is a whole world of other uses, says Josephine Sawyer, Consumers Marketing Information Agent for Oakland County.

Cherry fritters, cherry parafalls, cherry cakes and cherry sauces are just a few ways you can use cherries.

Jellied cherry sauce in a can makes nice company for meats, fish, poultry or hot toast. It has an advantage over other sauces, for when heated to boiling point and poured into a mold, it will firm again in the new shape, as it chills.

A can of Dessert Cherries, water pack Red Tart Cherries or a can of Cherry Pie Filling make other types of sauce. Make it sweet for toppings on cake, fritters or ice cream...or spicy for meats.

Lemon-Apple Pie
Here's a quick four-step trick that produces a two-story pie... handsome to look at and even more handsome to eat: (1) Bake 9" pie shell, cool. (2) Spread 1 can of sliced apples in pie shell. Sprinkle with sugar, nutmeg and cinnamon. (3) Top with lemon filling made from lemon filling mix. Chill until set. (4) Circle top with whipped cream. Serve proudly.

Florida Strawberry Crop Delicious in Shortcakes

It's strawberry picking time in Florida, only place in the country that produces a winter strawberry crop.

Some of the small pint crates find their way to bakeries and restaurants. A great many more to supermarkets where housewives snap them up to use in tangy strawberry tarts, with fresh cream, and many other wonderful ways.

Perhaps the most popular use of fresh strawberries is in the old fashioned shortcake.

Try this quickie recipe for shortcake cooked in a fraction of the time it took grandmother to do so—but with the same old-fashioned goodness.

1 cup packaged blend mix
1 cup milk
1 cup fresh strawberries
1 cup whipping cream
1 cup water

Mash half the strawberries and cover with 1/2 cup sugar and water. Stir milk, 2 tablespoons sugar and butter into mix with fork and beat 1/2 minute. Knead on board dusted with mix. Pat out and place dough into round pan. Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until light brown.

Cook shortcake and slice in half. Whip cream, sweeten to taste and add vanilla if desired. Spread mashed berries over bottom layer of cake, cover with whipped cream. Place top layer on and cover with whole strawberries and rest of whipped cream.

Basic Cheese Dip Can Be Varied Ten Ways

With the chip 'n' dip innovation now an integral part of all entertaining, busy hostesses are constantly looking for new dips to vary their party fare. Some very interesting dips, particularly tasty with crisp potato chips, are those developed by renowned culinary artist, Ernest Imhof, executive chef for the famous Longchamps Restaurants.

The easy-to-make basic dip has the mellow flavor of Swiss cheese, cream and sweet butter combined with the intriguing tang of nutmeg. And the nine variations that can be made starting with the basic dip, are equally taste-tempting.

The 10-in-1 Chip Dip
1 1/2 cups imported Swiss cheese, grated
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup butter
Salt, pepper, nutmeg, to taste

Mix cheese and cream thoroughly and force through sieve. Beat butter with water until very fluffy, add cheese mixture to beaten butter and blend well. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. If a thinner dip is required, add a little more water.

Using the above basic chip dip, here are nine appetizing variations:

1. To 2 1/2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 1 1/2 tablespoons puree of anchovies. Mix well.

2. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 2 tablespoons French mustard. Mix well.

3. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 1/2 cup finely diced bologna and 2 tablespoons French mustard. Mix well.

4. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 1/2 cup finely chopped eggs yolk. Mix well.

5. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 1/2 cup diced red pepper. Mix well.

6. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 1 1/2 cups finely chopped ham,

1/4 cup diced dill pickle and 4 tablespoons French mustard. Mix well.

7. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 1/2 cup sliced pineapple and 4 tablespoons French mustard. Mix well.

8. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 3 tablespoons finely cut chives. Mix well.

9. To 2 cups of Basic Chip Dip add 3 tablespoons grated Sapsago Cheese. Mix well.

Kitchen trick: Carrots added to stock should be scrubbed in cold water but do not necessarily have to be pared.

Vegetable Rice Salad

Cooked leftover rice, after chilling, may be used in a salad with such other cooked vegetables as peas, snap beans, carrots. Add a little diced celery for crispness and dress with mayonnaise-type salad dressing.

Neapolitan Pie

Line a 9-inch pie plate with 1 quart pistachio or chocolate chip mint ice cream. Freeze. Cut 13 fig newtons into quarters. Mix with 1 quart vanilla ice cream. Pile into ice cream 'crust' and freeze. Allow to soften slightly at room temperature before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Anyway, It's His Birthday... 71 Today

School Children Say: Who's Hitler?

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Germans went to work as usual today on what once was one of the year's biggest holidays — Adolf Hitler's birthday.

The brown-shirted dictator, whose "thousand-year reich" crumbled in less than 13, would have been 71 today had he not died in a bunker in the flaming ruins of Berlin.

Today many school children don't even know who he was. In a recent survey several hundred of them were asked to write down what they knew about Hitler.

One called him a "German chancellor who followed Bismarck" (Bismarck died in 1898). Another said he was one of the present government ministers.

One child said flatly "Hitler was a madman." But did not elaborate.

Fifteen years after the end of World War II, Hitler's capital and his nation are still split between East and West, his monuments are destroyed, and his memory, for a large part of the population, almost obliterated.

That memory was stirred during the past winter when a few, die-hard Nazi sympathizers and a host of cranks and hoodlums smeared swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans at points throughout the country.

Their actions were repudiated by responsible Germans, and Hitler's birthday — as in past years — was expected to pass without mention in the nation's press.

Hitler was born in the pleasant

Austrian town of Braunau on the Inn River April 20, 1889. In nazism's heyday the house bore a large inscription and was decorated with flags and flowers. During birthday celebrations ranks of brown-clad troops goose-stepped past it.

INSCRIPTION GONE

Today the building is a public library, and the flags flanking the doorway are those of Austria. The inscription is gone.

Most adults who lived through the triumphs and the horrors of the Third Reich keep quiet about Hitler and the Nazi era, preferring to forget him, look forward, and take their share of West Germany's postwar "Wirtschaftswunder" or "economic miracle."

Children are not taught much about that earlier Germany, either.

er. Despite demands that schools give them an anti-Nazi indoctrination, most authorities are hesitant to tread in such a sensitive area or to lay down such a compulsory policy.

How much latent nazism still exists in Germany has long been an open question. But if the past winters wave of incidents proved that there is some, it also brought evidence of a strong and militant anti-Nazi reaction and genuine hope at the policies of the man whose birthday once was marked on every German calendar.

Approximately 7,400 persons lost their lives in fires that caused an estimated $1.3 billion worth of damage in 1939, according to fire prevention specialists of Allied Chemical's Barrett Division.

To Investigate Death of Danish Diplomat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators will hold public hearings within 30 days on the mysterious death last year of Danish diplomat Povl Bang-Jensen, it was announced by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.).

Dodd, second in command of the Senate internal security subcommittee, said there are "facts here which bear on the internal security of the country."

He said the full committee and the Senate "should know about them."

Dodd, back at his desk after seven weeks of recuperating from a collapse from fatigue, said committee staff members have been investigating the Bang-Jensen case since last December.

Bang-Jensen, a former employee of the United Nations, was found shot to death in New York City Park last Thanksgiving Day. His death was ruled a suicide, but it has been the subject of controversy.

He had been suspended last year for refusing to turn over to the U.N. a secret list of names. At the time he was on the staff of a U.N. special committee on Hungary.

Of $41 federal income tax fraud cases that came to trial in 1959, 497 resulted in convictions.

Boy Sentenced to 7 Saturday Nights in Jail

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A 17-year-old Springfield high school senior will have to spend the next seven Saturday nights in jail.

Officers caught Mark Anthony Earmhardt driving 90 miles an hour in a 65-mile zone April 6. Last Saturday they chased him at speeds up to 115 miles an hour.

Magistrate E. A. Barbour Jr. Monday sentenced Earmhardt to jail from noon Saturday until noon Sunday for seven weekends, allowing him to keep up with school work.

Consumers Get 1st Commercial Atomic Power

CHICAGO (UPI) — Electricity flowed to Illinois consumers today from the world's first privately financed atomic power plant.

The $1 million dollar plant was built by General Electric for Commonwealth Edison Co. in Dresden, about 50 miles from Chicago.

Engineers successfully completed the first stage of testing over the weekend and pushed production up to 60,000 kilowatts. The plant is expected to reach full capacity of 180,000 kilowatts this summer, after further testing.

"The electricity is produced by steam, as it is in other generators used by Commonwealth. But the steam at Dresden comes from water heated by an atomic reactor rather than by coal."

Cederberg Runs Again From Tenth District

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Elford A. Cederberg (R-Bay City) today announced he will run for re-election to a fifth term. Cederberg has been in Congress representing Michigan's 10th District since 1952.

U.S. Report Flays Marketing in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A government report Tuesday condemned Detroit's wholesale food marketing facilities as inadequate and inefficient and suggested their replacement at a cost of from 60 to more than 85 million dollars.

By such replacement, the report said, the city could save nearly 5 million dollars a year on food distribution.

The report, prepared at the request of the urban development division of the Detroit Tomorrow Committee, was presented at a meeting of the group by Harry

G. Clowes, marketing expert of the Department of Agriculture. All Detroit's major marketing locations, including the big Eastern and Western markets, were found wanting in one way or another and some more than 100 years old.

The report cited congestion poor locations, fire hazards, poor equipment and "antiquated" buildings, some more than 100 years old.

Heads N.Y. Parks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newbold Morris, head of the City Council under the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, was named by Mayor Robert F. Wagner as the second citywide park commissioner in New York's history. He succeeds Robert Moses, who resigned to become president of the 1964 New York World's Fair.

Your Dentist Gets Tired of Hearing:

'I Can't Thay Mithithippi Yet'

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks of a dentist gets tired of hearing: "Here's one that will jaw you. "Seen any interesting new teeth lately?" "London bridge is falling down — and so is yours." "Generally speaking, I prefer a local anesthetic so long as it numbers me all over." "Before you start to drill, let me tell you a story that will amuse you." "Ouch!" "Who fixes your teeth, Doc? They look awful sore." "Can you do anything about our daughter? She is 12 and still sucks her thumb. We don't mind but her fiance objects." "Put the novocaine needle in the wallet, Doc. Then give me the bill."

"Since you put in the new plates, the carats. I deal with the public can still say Ohio okay. But whenever I try to say Mississippi out loud, cabs drive up."

"I hear George Washington wore iron teeth. I always admired him, but I wouldn't want a severe expression. How much cheaper is it?"

"Ouch!" "Certainly they look all right. But why is it when I laugh people around me seem so nervous?" "They may fit your mind, Doc, but they don't fit my mouth."

IT'S MY LAST ONE
"As a matter of personal pride, I would like to save it as long as I can. It's my last wisdom tooth, and if you pull it I'll be left kinda lonesome." "I don't quite know how to say it, doctor, but when you gave me the gas I had the strangest feeling. My, what interesting wallpaper."

"Ouch!" "It is imperative that you take the braces off my daughter's teeth as soon as possible. She has met a man from Harvard — and they have so much to talk about."

"Dear Doc, the gal in your office phoned to say it was time to have my teeth cleaned. Should I bring them in — or mail them?" "The blue looks nicer in the mirror, but I sure do miss the feeling of the teeth being together." "You should have warned me, Doc. All I did was take one bite of an apple — and I hand you the result."

"I know you've done your best, but in my own mind I'll always remember that before I met her I enjoyed steak and corn on the cob — and haven't since."

"Ouch!" "I'd rather not have the gold show if you can help it, but if it does have to show, don't spare the builders said."

Rail Rates to Meet Seaway Competition

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad plans to reduce rates on some industrial products to meet competition offered by the St. Lawrence Seaway. Arthur Baylis, vice president, said today that the reductions will be made within two weeks and will average about 20 per cent.

"Reductions will apply to iron and steel rods, chinaware, trucks, passenger cars, paper and paper products, pulpboard and fiberboard and agricultural implements."

Last year the road cut rates 10 to 25 per cent on grain, flour, bauxite, molasses, sugar, greases and tallow in a move to combat the seaway. No slashes were made on industrial products.

DETROIT (U.P.)—Federal agents couldn't figure it out. Every night during the two weeks they watched 24 trucks stopped at the Warehouse & Prager Bakery and dropped off large loads of sugar.

So they made movies, lowered a microphone into the alley behind the bakery to pick up conversations and finally went in and arrested the owner, Mrs. Rae Goldman.

Mrs. Goldman will be examined May 17 on charges of unlawful possession of sugar for use in making illegal whiskey.

LA Officials Say Tape Lists Two Major Film Stars, Producers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Officials say they have a tape recording in which Beverly Adland's mother boasts her daughter had affairs with two major film actors, a movie producer and two millionaires.

But, says the district attorney's office, Hollywood personalities won't be questioned about it because there's nothing to support Florence Adland's rambling claims.

Beverly, 17, was the late Errol Flynn's final fling. She has been in custody since a young man-about-town was fatally shot in her bed. Detectives say the slaying of William Stancu, 21, was accidental.

Mrs. Adland, 53, faces a hearing next Monday on charges she contributed to her daughter's delinquency.

Investigators made the tape recording public Tuesday. They said Lee Dimon was wired with a miniature recorder by district attorney investigators after the 26-year-old Hollywood hanger-on reported that Mrs. Adland wanted to hire him to beat up one of Beverly's admirers.

Mrs. Adland landed the tape blackmailer attempt. "Someone ought to be arrested," said the bleached-blond, ex-showgirl.

Plans Gas, Oil Concessions at Airport

Tentative approval was voiced last night of a new gas and oil concessions agreement for the booming business at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

City commissioners instructed Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer to prepare agreements on the plan and return them for final approval next week.

It would take from the city the responsibility of dispensing gasoline and oil to planes, a business which is expected to multiply as developments at the local field attract larger aircraft, Stierer explained.

Initially, the one-year agreement would give to four companies, presently based at the field, licenses to sell the two necessities. Only the city receiving fees of three cents for every gallon of gas sold and five cents for every quart of oil purchased.

At the present sale value, Stierer said, this means an estimated profit to the city of $8,041 annually.

"The city will come out a little ahead initially and considerably ahead as business picks up," the official said.

The plan has the approval of Hon. D. Hoskins, airport manager. The old system has been in effect since 1940.

The companies have the trucks and personnel to carry out the new project, Stierer said.

Air Service Survey Pushed by 'Citizens'

A broad survey of present and future air service needs in Southeastern Michigan has been urged by Detroit Mayor Louis C. Mirani's citizens advisory group on aviation.

The survey proposed by the Greater Detroit Air Transportation Committee would presumably cover the six-county area of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

Pontiac's Mayor Philip E. Rowland is on the executive committee of the group.

George W. Walker, group chairman, expressed confidence that a survey would "prove conclusively that our area needs and deserves additional routes and service connections with other parts of the country."

Such a survey, he was recommended to the area by the recent airport need study completed by Landrum & Brown Co., the organization that picked Pontiac as the only logical site for a second major jet airport for Southeastern Michigan.

Walker said that failure of recent moves to obtain from the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington permission to add such new service in Southeastern Michigan as transcontinental jet flights shows "there is a critical need for conclusive and indisputable statistical evidence" in support of added flight service.

A survey would provide the necessary evidence, he indicated.

32 Killed; 20 Survive Colombia Air Crash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Thirty-two persons were killed and 20 survived the crash Tuesday night of a Colombian airliner at Bogota's new airport.

The Lloyd Aereo Colombiano plane, arriving from Miami, Fla., crashed as it was preparing to land in a fog.

On its approach to the main runway, the plane hit a 15-foot mound of dirt, split in two, caught fire, and fell into a lake near the airfield.

Many of the crash victims drowned in the muddy waters.

Firemen, customs guards and airport personnel fought the flames and rescued 20 persons.

Only the tail of the plane emerged from the muddy waters. The craft was a twin-engine C-46. The first list of survivors did not indicate nationalities.

U.S. Offered Building for Ike's Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Eisenhower Presidential Library Commission of the State of Kansas has offered the United States a $3 million dollar building to hold the public documents and papers of the President.

The offer came to light as Franklin Floeter, head of the General Services Administration, sent Congress a report on the library. Under law, the United States cannot accept title to the library until the report has been before Congress for 60 days.

The report also included a copy of a letter from Eisenhower stating he would give "several million documents" to the library.

The President said some of the documents would be held by the library under seal until enough time had elapsed to erase the need for secrecy.

The library, scheduled for completion by Jan. 20, 1961, is located on a nine-acre tract next to the Eisenhower Museum in Abilene, Kan. Both buildings are close to the boyhood home of the President.

The $5,000 square foot structure will be built of Kansas limestone, have marble floors, and ornamental bronze doors and windows.

Rocky Fails in Seven Trips as Tigers Win, 4-2, in 15 Innings

Kuenn Hurt, No Duel With Colavito Today

Pulled Muscle Puts Harvey Out of Action

Burnside Gains Victory in Longest AL Opener Since '26

By DICK BUCK (Special to The Pontiac Press)

CLEVELAND — Round two of the heretofore duel between Rocky Colavito and Harvey Kuenn won't take place today.

Kuenn will be out of the game with a pulled leg muscle. Harvey won the hearts of Cleveland fans while his new team lost the game to his former mates, the Tigers, 4-2, in a day-night, singleheader that lasted nearly five hours.

Popular Pete Burnside took the win in the opener for both squads. Al Kaline intruded in the Colavito-Kuenn debate by slashing a deciding two-run single in center in the 13th inning.

Well under half of the 32,756 fans were on hand when the game ended, four hours and 37 minutes after the first pitch was thrown. A wicked wind off Lake Erie drove most of the spectators to the shelter of home.

It was the longest opening day tilt in the American League since Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics battled that length in 1926.

The Detroiters proved they could win without Kuenn and "without" Colavito, too. Rocky did play the entire game, but his debut as a Tiger was somewhat less than artistic.

Cleveland's departed hero struck out four times, with Kaline on base for three of those occasions, rapped into a double play and lost Tito Francona's fly ball in the sun to give him a single.

A walk, which played no role in any scoring, was just about Colavito's only positive effort.

But Manager Jimmy Dykes was quick to hop on anyone who wanted to knock The Rock. "He just picked the wrong time to have an off-day," Dykes observed between cigar puffs.

"Sure, he felt kind of low about it. But I told him he was on the winning side. He'll have days like this every so often. And he'll have plenty of good ones," the skipper declared.

Kuenn, on the other hand, took two hits in seven trips to the plate and reached first another time when Bengal starter Frank Lary dropped a toss from first baseman Steve Bilko.

Harvey injured himself on a flyball in the fifth inning, aggravated the condition running out an infield hit in the 12th. Tribe manager Joe Gordon wanted to replace Kuenn, but there was no one left on the bench but pitchers.

The marathon battle saw the teams struggle through 10 scoreless innings before starters Lary and Gary Bell tied the game.

Both had chained the opposition with masterful hurling. Lary allowed four hits and struck out five in the first 10 frames. His knuckleball was working well as the Tribe hit only six balls out of the infield in that span.

Bell was stinger to the batters, giving up only three binges and fanning 12.

He gave way to Bob Grim in the 11th after Lou Berberet walked and Lary singled, as the Tribe hit only six balls out of the infield in that span.

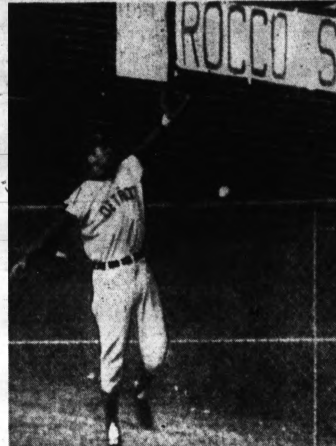

Dykes called on Neil Christley to bat for Frank Bolling. Christley continued his spring training streak, banging a single to right to bring in two runs.

The Indians also used a pinch-hitter, Jimmy Piersall, to notch the equalizers. Piersall slapped a bases-fly single to center off reliever Tom Burnham, who came in after Francona singled and Russ Nixon doubled to start the inning.

Cleveland missed a chance to win in the 14th as Francona fouled off a fly ball with two runners on and two out.

In the final 15th, the Tribe's third pitcher, Jim Grant, walked Burnside, induced Tony to fly out and gave up a double to replace catcher Red Wilson.

Finnish Farmer Is Winner of 64th Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Finland's Pravo Kotila, 32, won the 64th annual Boston AA marathon, beating a field of 166 runners in a time of 2 hours, 20 minutes and 54 seconds.

Kotila, a countryman, Veikko Kotikainen, came in fifth. The victory marked the fourth time in seven years a Finnish B.A.A. laureate. No less than 14 men from Finland have won first or better in an eight-year span.

Johnny Kelley, 29-year old Groton, Conn., schoolteacher, was the favorite but did not finish due to blistered feet. After the race he commented it was his last competitive effort. He set the course record of 2:20:02 in 1957.

Minnie Has Six RBI as Chicago Beats KC, 10-9

United Press International

The Rocky Colavito-Harvey Kuenn trade may be the one they're shouting about but the Minnie Minoso deal may be the one they'll pay off on.

The 31-year-old native of Matanzas, Cuba, returned to Chicago's south side as a hometown favorite for the first time in three years Tuesday and demonstrated how he's beefed up the White Sox "go go" attack by driving in six runs in a 10-9 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Cleveland fans, angered at General Manager Frank Lane over the Colavito-Kuenn trade, went a one-day conversion. When the two swapped players were introduced before the game, boos and cheers were about equal.

Minoso stole the American League's opening day spotlight despite a program during which:

The Detroit Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians 4-2 in a 15-inning struggle that tied the big league record for the longest opening-day game.

Roger Maris made a sensational debut for the New York Yankees, who awoke from their spring coma to whip the Boston Red Sox 8-4.

Rookies Ron Hansen and Marv Mullenbarger each had three double plays as the Baltimore Orioles downed the Washington Senators 3-2.

Minoso, acquired from the Indians in a seven-player trade last December, made a 48-foot grand slam homer in the fourth inning after knocking in an early run with a sacrifice fly and then snapped a 9-0 tie with a second homer in the sixth.

Minoso's 10th home run, a 9-0 tie, was the fourth by the Sox in a three-run fifth and then he kayaked Mike Garcia with two in the sixth.

Norm Siebern's homer and Ken Hamlin's run-scoring single tied the score for the A's in the top of the ninth but Minoso's blast sent the club's opening-day record crowd of 41,661 home happy a few moments later.

Maris, the Yankees' key winter acquisition, drove in four runs with two homers, a double and a single and Bill Skowron also had four hits to lead New York's 17-hit attack on Tom Brewer and four successions. Jim Coates yielded nine Red Sox hits, including Ted Williams' second homer of the season. It was Williams' 49th of his career, placing him fourth on the New England list behind Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx and Mel Ott.

Hansen and Breeding fielded brilliantly in their debuts and Jack Fisher did the rest with 3½ innings of shutout relief ball. Gene Woodling doubled home Jackie Brandt from first base in the seventh to give the Orioles' debut run before 32,747 hometown fans.

Short Stay for Andy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Argentine heavyweight Alejandro Lavarante made short work of Asbel Isaacs of Los Angeles Tuesday night. The 6-3, 205-pounder knocked him out in 2:08 of the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Fullmer Defends Crown Tonight

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — Joey Giardello, getting his first tilt in 12 years of campaigning, guns for the National Boxing Assn. version of the middleweight championship tonight against rugged Gene Fullmer, defending his crown for the second time.

The 13,200-seat fieldhouse on the mountain-rimmed campus of Montana State College is nearly sold out for the nationally televised-ABC-TV, 10 p.m. EST-15-round match.

Fullmer collects all the $100,000 TV payoff and Giardello, veteran of 106 fights since 1948, pockets $25,000 plus $5,000 expenses. Co-promoters Fran Hann and Norman Rothschild said the advance sale had topped 10,000 tickets and $90,000 receipts.

Cowboys, cattle ranchers and wheat farmers from hundreds of miles away flocked into this college-and-cow town of some 15,000 population. TV has been blacked out of Montana, Utah, and parts of Idaho, Wyoming and Washington.

This city's living quarters bulged and the fight crowd spilled over into nearby towns like Livingston, 26 miles east of here, where Giardello, Brooklyn native fighting out of Philadelphia, trained since March 27.

Fullmer said, "I figure Giardello will be coming out fast in the opening rounds, but I always go into the ring expecting Joey to be the 25-year-old champion from West Jordan, Utah, is among those who think the fight could go the distance.

Fullmer is a 13-5 favorite. He has a 51-4 record with 22 knockouts and was knocked out only by Sugar Ray Robinson in 1937.

Giardello, ranked No. 7 by the NBA and No. 3 by Ring Magazine, boasted of winning and claimed he is in better shape than he has been for several years.

Although this is his first 15-round bout, the 25-year-old ring warrior said, "Don't worry about Joey going the distance. I sparred more than 100 rounds in training. Fullmer the guy that better be in shape."

Joey's record is 83-17-5, with one no-decision. He has knocked out opponents and has been counted out three times.

Sidelights on Tigers' Opener at Cleveland

CLEVELAND — Rocky Colavito wasn't the only Tiger to have a bumpy debut yesterday. Mountainous first baseman Steve Bilko, playing his first regular season tilt as a Tiger, struck out four times and failed to get a hit.

Bilko dropped Johnny Temple's routine pop foul in the eighth and members of the Temple knocked a base hit to press. Several were booked on an error on the next pitch. No 8:15 p.m. flight to Detroit.

Since the game ended just shy of 8 o'clock, some scampering was needed to get on later planes. Tiger President Bill De Witt decided to forget about it and stay overnight.

"It's been a long day," he said with a weary smile.

Frank Bolling hurried out of Cleveland by plane last night when he learned his wife was seriously ill at a Mobile, Ala., hospital.

Two bases spelled disaster for base runners. For the Tigers, it was second. Two men were thrown out trying to steal.

Vic Power met an ill fate at home plate twice, once on a daring pillar try and later as he tried to score from third when Harvey Kuenn tugged in front of the plate.

162,326 Fans See AL Games

Total Is—17,500 Less Than First Day Figure in Senior Circuit

By The Associated Press

The American League drew 162,326 fans for four games Tuesday as it finally got its 1960 season underway out of a way-a-week behind the National.

The total was some 17,500 less than the four-game crowd of 179,826 drawn by the National last Tuesday. The NL counted 528,229 in its first week.

Cleveland's home game with Detroit attracted the AL's largest crowd, 32,756 undoubtedly with the help of Sunday's controversial trade that sent Rocky Colavito to the Tigers in return for Harvey Kuenn.

The defending champion Chicago White Sox bettered their 21-year-old opener record with 41,611 for their game with Kansas City. The opener game total, including the 28,327 who sat in on Monday's presidential opener at Washington, was 190,633. A year ago, the American's opening program (four games) drew 110,371.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARL MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "I keep hitting behind the ball."

DIAGNOSIS: Dropping the right shoulder.

TREATMENT: Whenever you find your clubhead plowing into the ground before it gets to the ball you can be pretty sure that you dropped your right shoulder at some point during the downswing. The shoulders should stay generally level throughout the swing.

The main cause of this faulty shoulder action is trying to scoop the ball up into the air instead of letting the loft of the clubface do its proper work for you.

Whatever the cause, the cure can be affected by keeping the shoulders parallel to the ground. Remember that the shoulders TURN—they don't move up and down.

Whenever you find yourself scuffing your shots in the manner described above, slow down your swing and determine to let the clubface do the work of getting the ball properly airborne. Each club in your bag was engineered to do a specific job—give it a chance to do it.

PNH Double Winner in Prep Tests

Pontiac Northern's Huskies, Walter's Skippers and Walter's Vikings came through yesterday's area track competition with convincing victories. Huskies got off to a 1-4 baseball game victory, 7-0, over Southfield in the season's opener. Rich Lamphere threw a no-hitter.

Huskies defeated a strong Melvindale team 63-46. Skippers nearly annihilated Rochester on the latter's field, 92-17, while Walled Lake outscored Milford 72-38 in a night meet at Milford.

Bob Hoching and Bill Young were double winners for PNH. Bob taking the pole vault and broad jump, with a new PNH mark of 11.7 for the 100. Steve Tuth also boosted a school mark in the shot with a 47-foot, 3-inch toss.

Vidings won eight firsts with the mile, won by George Beeman (4:45.3) a feature. Beeman edged Milford's Ted Nelson in a hot finish. Gary Wilkoff of Milford was a triple winner, taking the broad jump, high and low hurdles. Norm

Irked Golf Club
Proxy Wants Sam
to Go Elsewhere

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The president of the Starmount Forest Country Club, site of last week's $20,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament, said Tuesday he'd be happy if Sam Snead did his golfing elsewhere.

Edward B. Benjamin made the statement in replying to criticism Snead had for the Starmount course during the four-day tournament which ended Sunday.

Snead won the event for the seventh time since 1958. In accepting his $2,500 top money check, the White Sulphur Springs pro good-naturedly chided Benjamin because the course was not in better condition.

The professionals attending the tournament in 1959 were unanimous in their praise of the course's condition under normal circumstances.

14,000 Trout Going Into Area Streams and Lakes

By The Press Outdoor Editor

The fish division of Michigan's Conservation Department is making certain that the southeastern part of the state is well prepared for the opening of the 1960 trout season—with plenty of legal size brookies, rainbows and brownies.

As in many years past, the Drayton Plains fish hatchery plays a major part in providing the piscatorial prizes for the most of the Metropolitan area, whose near-home trout fishing centers in Oakland county, Lapeer county and in Washtenaw county waters.

BROOK TROUT BULK OF PLANTING

Around 14,000 trout are being placed in area waters. Most will be turned loose in the many streams, but some lake plants are accomplished also, along with the several trout ponds of the section. Drayton hatchery supervisor Harold Hughes said today it is expected that the final batch of fish will be loosed in area waters by next Friday (April 29), day before the season gets under way.

Hughes said that 5,000 fish will be brookies. There will be 3,000 each of rainbow and German brownies. The browns have done very well in area waters, the hatchery veteran reports, and some nice fish were among last season's prizes in this section. The "plants" are being hauled in to Drayton Plains this week from the Wolf Lake hatchery.

In other state trout water areas planting has been stepped up to high gear, with a total state-wide production of more than 245,000 in streams and an additional 105,000 in lakes. Start of the trout season also marks resumption of muskies, northern pike and walleye pike fishing. Ban on taking these species until April 30 was imposed to protect them during spawning periods.

FISHERMEN SHOULD CHECK REGULATIONS

Trout anglers should familiarize themselves with the new regulations, such as designated "files only" streams where some changes have been made from last summer. Consult conservation men for proper information.

Considerable emphasis is being placed at present on raising of walleye and northern pike fingerlings at the Drayton Plains Hatchery, while some interesting fertilization is going on in the station's ponds. The eggs come from Lake Erie (walleyes), then shipped out for stocking around the state. Farm manure is a factor of the pond fertilization.

LOTS OF EGGS ARE REQUIRED

"The state wants about 200,000 fingerlings. That means we will hatch between 50-80 quarts of eggs (120,000 eggs to a quart) to produce the necessary fish," Hughes said.

There are plenty of walleyes in area lakes, says Hughes. "We have been stocking Loon Lake for some time. There are lots of this gamey fish in Cass Lake, too. We saw a good run there last week."

Walleyes are taken from area waters infrequently, although some really big specimens have been reported from time to time. Reason for the fact is that so few are taken is because the fish is a nocturnal feeder, stays deep down during daylight hours.

"Spring must be here," A. J. Shaff, 80 South Sanford, suggests to this column. "Because a few days ago I heard a large flock of Canada geese moving over my house near Eastern Junior High, at 11:30 p.m. There must have been at least 200 of the big birds, they made such a racket. They were heading north."

FLY-FISHING FOR SHAD

Raymond H. Pigman, 5902 Jerome, would like information about any possible shad runs in this area. He figures there's a lot of sport fly-fishing for the silvery fish, during spawning runs, which should be under way at this time.

There are shad in Great Lakes waters, including Lake Huron, Lake St. Clair and St. Clair river. But this observer does not recall similar runs in Oakland county waters.

Says Pigman, "If the sport is anywhere near what it is reputed to be, I would like to give it a try."

(This column may have something more about this sport later on).

About that flyrod-line balance question. The size and style of line to use with your rod depends on the weight of the rod and its normal action. Say your rod is a 7 1/2 to 8 foot glass (or split bamboo) with normal action. Any well-known make of line with a taper, in the HEH or HIRI classification (double taper), should work well.

The floating lines come in a number of price ranges, based on quality and length, but are not necessarily expensive. Most reputable fishing goods store can advise you on this point. (I use both HEH, for a 4 1/2 ounce rod, and HDH on a 3 1/2 ounce whip, find them very satisfactory).

Fishermen Are Reminded to Observe Regulations

LANSING (U) — Fishermen are reminded by the state conservation department that non-trout fishing as well as trout streams will be closed this year to muskellunge, northern pike and walleye pike fishing until April 30.

The regulation, new this season, is designed to protect the three species during their spawning period.

Blue gills, perch, sunfish, rock bass and a few other species will remain legal catches on non-trout streams and lakes. A section of the Muskegon River downstream from Rogers dam in Mecosta County, the connecting link.

State Ships Out 460 Canadas to Many Areas

Goose 'Buildup' Under Way

LANSING — Approximately 460 resident and semi-resident goose nesting colonies.

The geese are wing-clipped to confine them to their release sites. It is hoped by fall when the birds are able to fly they will have become well enough accustomed to their new homes that they will return to them next year for nesting. Some 400 two-year-olds were set free in Shiawassee River State Game Area and the adjoining National Wildlife Refuge, Saginaw county; Fish Point Wildlife Area, Tuscola county; Betzle River State Game Area, Benzie county; Rifle River Area, Ogemaw county; Lapeer State Game Area, Lapeer county; Crow Island State Game Area, Saginaw county; and Tobacco State Game Area, Bay county. The department will send 15

'Kingfish' Is Host for Legion Fish Fry

There'll be a big fish fry, Sunday, at American Legion Post No. 377, and all who like tasty smelt are invited. Serving will begin at 11 a.m., and continue until the 200 pounds of succulent Lake Erie smelt has been exhausted.

The "fry" was arranged by "Kingfish" Marshall Charter (head man at 377), and it is expected that 200 will take part. It will be held in the Lake Oakland headquarters of the post.

Charter's committee includes Guy Harrell, Emil Deaton, Bob Graves, Bill Watson, John Harrington, Ladies Auxiliary will prepare the fish.

Area Resident Sees an Unusual Sparrow

Ever see a red sparrow? Not just a rusty-colored bird, but a really red feathered member of the ubiquitous tribe.

"I saw one on Sunday," Mrs. Ford Paddock, 234 Draper, reported to this page. "It was with other ordinary sparrows, bore all the usual sparrow markings, including the black throat patch. But its color was a real red, not rusty or brownish. I never saw one like it before."

Mrs. Paddock feeds chickadees, Baltimore Orioles, and many other birds, and has had some amazing experiences. Such as the time when she opened her garage to let the birds feed in shelter and a sparrow chased a mouse out into the snow.

Down Is the Mouth

Boatfish have mouths that open downward, indicating bottom feeding. They live on crabs and mollusks.

Mailmen Check Wildlife Populations Aid Conservation Work

One of the important sources of great job each spring in checking the pheasant populations. They listen for rooster crows, cackling of the hens, upon which to base their counts, as well as counting birds they see.

For example, Wisconsin is eager to know something about the progress the Hungarian partridge is making in that state. They asked the mail carriers to lend a hand. Since 1954, 214 post offices and 416 rural mail carriers with routes which pass through the birds' range have been counting covers seen along the road. These accurate population estimates can be made.

These people don't get paid for the extra work involved. They do it out of the goodness of their own hearts. The hunters and bird lovers of the nation owe them a large debt of gratitude. Michigan's rural carriers do a

Shells Become Animals in Children's Playtime

REDDINGTON BEACH, Fla. — Billy Schumacher, 10, and his sister, Mary Margaret, 8, could hardly wait for their daily tutor.

Mrs. Emilie Baum, Lesonske, came easily because each day was topped off with a shell-making session. Billy and Mary made pelicans, cranes, flamingoes, elephants, horses, frogs, penguins and dogs out of sea shells, pipe cleaners and glue. A dab of paint and each animal had eyes.

The children spent six weeks here while their father, Hal Schumacher, former New York Giant first-pitcher, made the rounds taking major league orders for baseball bats.

Michigan Boasts 40 Great Lakes Shoreline Areas

LANSING — Michigan boasts 40 of the 66 Great Lakes shoreline areas recommended by the federal government for acquisition and development as state, national or county parks and state forests.

From a thorough federal survey of existing and potential shoreline sites in the Great Lakes states during the summers of 1957 and 1958, 13 Upper Peninsula areas were chosen which feature nearly 195 miles of frontage on Lake Superior, Michigan and Huron.

Selected in the Lower Peninsula were 27 sites, with approximately 100 miles of shoreline along lakes Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Erie and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers.

In some cases, the areas involve existing state parks where additional lands are needed to provide for growing public use and to protect outstanding park values.

Earning special attention among these sites are the Sleeping Bear Dunes, Huron Mountains and Pictured Rocks areas which are being eyed as possible national shoreline recreation areas.

Two Are Poisonous

Of the three thousand kinds of lizards that are to be found in the world, only two are known to have poisonous glands. Both are residents of the North American continent.

Vaccination of Pets Urged

Sharp Gain in Rabies

LANSING — A sharp increase in rabies among both domestic and wild animals in the first quarter of the year, with 14 of 18 cases reported occurring in March, has prompted the Michigan Department of Health to remind people to be sure their pets are vaccinated.

Dr. Donald Cochran, the public health veterinarian in the acute communicable disease section, said the 18 cases in the first three months were 11 more than were reported in a corresponding period last year. A large number of cases of rabies among skunks this early in the year is unique, according to Dr. Cochran.

Counties in which cases have been reported are Allegan, two cats; Alpena, a skunk; Clinton, a skunk; Genesee, two dogs; Isabella, three skunks and a dog; Kalamazoo, a cat and dog; Manistee, a dog; Mecosta, a skunk and dog; Missaukee, a dog; Saginaw, a dog; and Van Buren, a skunk. Stepped up activity of both domestic and wild animals in the spring increases the possibility of further spreading of the disease.

In order to help keep rabies from continuing its unusually high incidence, the health department recommends the following preventive measures:

1. Rabies vaccination of dogs and cats.
2. Increased control over stray dogs and cats in communities.
3. Keeping pets from running at large.
4. Leaving wild animals, particularly skunks, alone.

Lizards Change Colors

Horned lizards often bury themselves in the sand as they lie in wait for their prey, matching the color of their sand or earth background, and can change from dark to light, and back again, in a few minutes.

Indonesians Study Conservation Work

LANSING (UPI) — Three government officials from Indonesia visited the conservation department's operations last week at Hiking Lake Conservation School, Grayling Fish Hatchery and other installations near regional headquarters at Roscommon.

Soyono Hadipranoto, Mohamad Jahni and Johan Leatemia were guests of the department in Lansing also.

Three other Indonesian officials are visiting Michigan to study conservation this week. The department said. All are touring municipal, state and county administrations under the auspices of the U.S. International Cooperation Administration and the department of University.

Card Selected as 1960 Prexy for Audubons

Members of Pontiac Audubon club have arranged for a nature hike Sunday April 24. Those planning to take part in the tour should convene at Hawthorne School at 2 p.m.

The club named its 1960 officers at the last meeting.

James K. Card is president; Don Nagel vice-president; Rex D. Wonders treasurer; Mrs. Elmer E. Thorpe secretary.

Gary Wilson entertained the club, following election, with an informative talk on mammals of Oakland County. He illustrated his discussion with skulls, pelts and pictures of animals found in the area.

Judges Rule on Rails, Trucks

High Court, 5-4, Holds Low Bors Injunctions in Some Strikes

WASHINGTON (U-P) — The Supreme Court has ruled against railroad and trucking unions in a major strike injunction case, but at the same time has granted 24 eastern lines a hearing in their fight against a heavy damage award made to the trucking industry.

The 5-4 ruling Monday held the Norris-LaGuardia Act bars injunctions by federal courts to prevent strikes when railroads seek to eliminate stations, services and lines with resulting loss of jobs.

Federal courts in Chicago enjoined a strike threatened by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers against the Chicago & North Western Railway. The employer contended the Union's effort to bargain about the elimination of stations and jobs was unlawful.

But Justice Black for the majority of the high tribunal said the effort to bargain was not in violation of the Norris-LaGuardia Act. Arguments citing financial debilitation of the Chicago & North Western, and to the absolute necessity for abandonment of stations said Black, were made to the wrong forum.

"If the scope of the Norris-LaGuardia Act is to be cut down in order to prevent waste by the railroads, Congress should be the body to do so," he asserted.

Justice Clark, among the dissenters, said the court was telling the railroad it must bargain with the Union or suffer a strike. "The latter would be the death knell of the railroad," Clark declared, because the Union would never approve cutting off hundreds of surplus employees from the payroll.

Justices Whitaker, Frankfurter and Stewart were the other dissenters.

Arguments will be heard next fall on the appeal by 24 eastern railroads against $852,074 damages awarded by U.S. District Judge Thomas J. Clary in Philadelphia in favor of the trucking industry.

Clary also issued an injunction after finding the lines violated the Sherman Antitrust Act. His award was made on a suit by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. and other trucking companies which charged the railroads conducted a campaign of vilification against the trucking industry. Their suit, begun in 1953, had asked $30 million in damages.

Industrialists Andrew Carnegie who said "to die rich is to die disgraced," gave away $300,000,000 before his death in 1919.

Youngsters Are Wiser Than We Think

Oh, to See Through Childhood's Eyes

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — The young son of my boss confounded his family recently by asking a simple question.

"What do people mean," he frowned, "when they say, 'I'll never grow up'?"

The boss, never at a loss for words, explained, "They mean exactly what they say. If they were you, they wouldn't do whatever you are doing."

"It's they was me," he said wearily, "they would too do what I do."

There you are. This shows that children think. It shows more. It shows that children think more precisely and clearly than adults — a fact that small ones know intuitively. But adults, with all their mixed-up experience, have no time for intuition, much less the feel for it.

One man, an artist in Japan named Susumu Fuyuyama, has recently announced that he is enrolling as a kindergarten student again. "To wake up the child's sense in myself," at the age of 45, he said.

Poor Susumu doubtless is going through the tortures of the doddo. He may be laughed out of every Gelsen house in town, but I think he's on the right track.

One day in a kindergarten class probably would do most of us a lot of good. It would take the age of 25 as much good as hundreds of dollars worth of airline tickets, Scotch and sodas, dancing girls and cover charges.

What we are all searching for (if I can think precisely and clearly enough to see my own motives) is "life" or freedom from the most crippling and destructive force to our mental and physical capacities—boredom.

So we travel abroad, see shows, drink whisky to release our thoughts from their conventional clamps, accumulate new possessions to temporarily tease our fancies: All this keeps us, briefly, from boredom. At enormous cost, of course, but then this is the richest nation on earth.

Kids don't need any of this jazz. Remember when you were one?

You could spot every make of every car on the road in a flash, could tell what kind of plane was overhead without looking. You knew every wildflower, by its real name or your special name for it. You were fascinated by mankind, every color, every age; you took time and the interest to analyze them and decide whether you approved or disapproved. And you were usually right.

You could make wild monsters out of clouds and pets out of rodents. You could be completely enchanted by "in insect, and un-abraded. You knew pretty much without anybody telling you what was phony and what was not, and enjoyed exposing it. "It seems to me, Mama," you were capable of saying flatly, with masterful sensitivity and good eyes, "that Santa Claus is wearing father's shoes."

Children merit more observation by grownups. Instead of being laughed at for their statements, which seem so wildly funny because they are so completely, naively true, they should be emulated. Are we so tall that we cannot see the fascinating things going on under our noses, and so old that we cannot get an emotional kick out of them?

Last week the superintendent of our apartment building, a nice imaginative Norwegian, was standing out front, guarding two large rubbish cans, between which was strung a rope. The barrier was to protect a square of new cement in the pavement. We asked what he was up to.

"I'm just watching," he said, "to see how many damn fools walk right into that rope and break their fool necks."

There had been 16, he said, in an hour, though no broken necks yet.

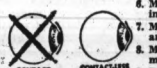

Of course, that was in New York. But obviously there also are people who need to observe better in Tokyo, And, I imagine, everywhere.

Ypsilanti School Grows Up

Cleary College Moving

YPSILANTI (P)—Seventy-seven years ago the first graduates of Cleary College learned, in a one-room "school of penmanship and institute of shorthand" over an Ypsilanti dry goods store, to make their penmanship round and suitable. This was a prime requisite in the business world before the day of the typewriter.

From founder Patrick Roger Cleary, for a time their only teacher, they learned the skills and practical deportment that were to make Cleary students known in offices throughout Michigan and later across the country and abroad.

After that humble beginning in 1883, the graduates today number about 10,000 in Michigan and world business. They have studied not only typing and accounting, but such subjects as corporation law, psychology of advertising, creative thinking and applied imagination.

They probably hold an accredited bachelor of business administration degree in industrial management or have taken the certified public accounting examination.

The faculty now numbers 34, not counting the basketball coach. For the final year, classes are being held in a three-story, nine-classroom building, occupied by the college since 1931, at the edge of the Ypsilanti business district.

With over 500 students in day, evening and summer classes, the structure, built for 300, is bursting at the seams.

On the west side of Ypsilanti where there is room to grow, a combination administration and 50 classroom building, costing approximately $600,000, is rising on a 20-acre campus and is expected to be open for the 1960 fall term. Capacity of the new Cleary College will be 800.

Total cost for the five-building campus will be $1,500,000. After the administration-classroom building there will be a women's dormitory, cafeteria-dining room, men's dormitory, auditorium-gymnasium and heating plant.

The wonder of Cleary College is not so much its numerical growth, which could be credited partially to population increase and skyrocketing public interest in education beyond the high school level, as it is the fact that, with hard-headed business sense, the non-tax-supported college has paid its own way entirely from student tuitions, private endowments and gifts. Not one cent of government aid has been asked or given.

To insure continuity of its educational program, P. R. Cleary turned the college, along with $5,000, over to the community to be kept in the care of a self-perpetuating board of trustees.

Through the depression of the early 1930s and the 1968 recession, Cleary College still grew. Dr. Owen J. Cleary, son of the late P. R. Cleary who died in 1948, is now the president of the college and chairman of the board of trustees.

He said in 1958, by way of explanation for the school's expansion even during hard times, "the potential of higher future incomes through specialized business training is considered by many as better than money in the bank."

Cleary must rely on the generosity of alumni, trustees, industry and friends for its capital outlay building program. The faith is paying off, with such responses as $47,000 from the Edward C. Hough-Mary Hough Kimble Foundation for a library; and an interest-free loan of $130,000 from an anonymous donor.

Paper Says Connole Will Be Replaced, by Democrat

ST LOUIS (P)—The Post-Dispatch reports the Eisenhower administration has decided not to reappoint William R. Connole to the Federal Power Commission.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Washington by Harry D. Keim, said Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) was advised of the decision by David W. Kendall, special counsel to the President.

The White House's present policy, the newspaper said, is to replace Connole with Harry D. Keim, a Democrat and chief counsel of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. Connole lists himself as a political independent.

"The decision against giving Connole another five-year term on the FPC could provoke a sharp fight on Capitol Hill," the Post-Dispatch said.

"Some Democrats are known to believe that he is being dropped because of his votes in favor of the consumer in several important natural gas cases."

Connole was named to the commission by President Eisenhower in 1953 and his term expires June 22. He is a former chief legal officer of the Connecticut Public Utilities Commission.

The law specifies no more than three of the five commission members may be of the same political party. Three Republicans currently are members.

Fights Dismissal as Head of Schools

FLINT (UPI)—Mrs. Daisy Howard is putting up a fight against her dismissal as Genesee County school superintendent after 30 years service.

Mrs. Howard showed up at the County Tax Allocation Board meeting and announced "I am appearing here because I have a contract which runs until June 30, 1960."

She took a seat next to Claude Elmore, former assistant superintendent in Oakland County who has replaced her. But an attorney for the county said Mrs. Howard is no longer school superintendent.

"It's like a baseball manager. When he let go he does not have the right to come around to continue his duties," said Joe attorney.

The allocation board turned the matter over to its attorney.

Riebenack Named Head of Bay City Hoist Firm

BAY CITY (P)—Max Ribenack III of Bay City Tuesday was named president of Industrial Brown Hoist Corp. of Bay City. He also was named a director.

Riebenack headed the company from 1953 to 1958. Since then, Warren J. Hayes has headed the firm as executive vice president and general manager.

Appointment of a new board of directors also was announced by John E. Carroll, president of American Hoist and Derrick Co. of St. Paul, Minn., which acquired Industrial Brown Hoist last month. The Bay City firm will operate as a subsidiary of American.

Grain Futures Creep Up, but in Fractions

CHICAGO (U-P) — A firmer trend boosted some grain futures contracts major fractions of a cent today in early light dealings on the Board of Trade.

A small amount of export buying was apparent in wheat, corn and soybeans and it probably was the strengthening influence in those grains.

Japan, Pakistan, the United States and corn and soybeans overnight but the totals were not large in any commodity.

3 Youngsters Congratulated for 'Big Idea'

LOS ANGELES (U-P) — Three 16-year-olds have been congratulated by the Department of the Interior for one of the biggest ideas by a dam site.

This is the plan the kids sent to President Eisenhower: "Dam up the Gulf of Mexico and drain the basin for farm land."

"We have the plan for it on the playground at school—I think it would only cost about two million dollars," said young Scott Teutenbaum, who shared the idea with classmates Steve Goldstein and Ted Cohen.

A letter to the youngsters from the Department of Interior said it was "the biggest idea that we have seen in a long time."

Pears Won't Challenge Rep. Hoffman This Year

LANSING (U-P) — Rep. D. R. Pears (R-Buchanan), speaker of the state House of Representatives, said today he would not put off plans to run for Congress until 1962.

Blue Chips Sag as Market Falls

NEW YORK (U-P) — Blue chips sagged as the stock market resumed a slow retreat early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Key stocks declined from fractions to about 2 points. Scattered gains among selected issues cushioned the decline which was not very sharp on average.

Steel, motors, rails, utilities, drugs and electrical equipments took losses. Airlines, mail orders, aircrafts and tobacco showed very little change.

The market was irregularly lower at the start. An attempt to rally fizzled. Then prices edged off still lower.

The mixed nature of first quarter earnings reports continued to cause uncertainty. Technicians noted that the market had failed to pierce a "resistance area" in the vicinity of 536 in the Dow Jones Industrial Average and may be in the process of "testing" the lows of March.

American Telephone, which is owned by more shareholders than any other stock, dropped more than a point as the annual meeting opened. The issue topped out at a day-to-day rise to new highs yesterday.

Du Pont dropped more than 3, apparently in continued reaction to disappointing earnings. General Electric, affected by similar disappointment, fell about 3. Radio Corp., recently strong, was off about 2.

Texas Instruments, up slightly in earlier dealings, retreated to a loss of more than a point.

Some institutions were reported selling and this was reflected by sizeable blocks of high quality issues at marked-down prices. At the same time, other institutions were picking up some stock, brokers said.

Among the "romance" stocks, Amperex and Beckman Instruments held gains of about a point. Losses of around a point were suffered by U. S. Steel, Ford, Chrysler, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric and Union Carbide.

Even Board Unsettled at Georgia School

Pairing Furr Series

HAHRA, Ga. (AP) — Teachers and pupils went back to classes at Hahra High School today, a paddling controversy settled, and calm restored in this south Georgia farming center.

The return of the 600 pupils, the principal and 32 teachers was in striking contrast to Tuesday's furor over the paddling last week of Earl Cornelius, 14.

The entire faculty resigned, more than 150 pupils staged a demonstration in front of the building chanting, "We want our teachers back" and parents failed about organizing a mob to take the Lowndes County seat, Valdosta.

The school was closed and the five-man county board of education hurried over from Valdosta, 12 miles away, to hold an emergency meeting.

PARENTS HELPED

The board and the teachers solved the problem with the help of school bus driver Elmer Cornelius and his wife, parents of the youth who was paddled.

CURVES AHEAD—Mamie Ann Doren has the kind of trouble most girls would like to have—curves. In her latest picture, "Adam and Eve," she probably reaches an all-time high for sex-pots. Legions of Decey beauty have too suggestive in the role of Eve.

"We regret the situation going as far as it did," Meacham said.

The settlement was reached after Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius agreed to withdraw warrants alleging the principal and Mrs. Dwight Maples, a teacher, paddled Earl to severe a week ago.

In addition, the board granted Mrs. Maples, who is seven months pregnant, a maternity leave of absence. But the board made it clear she could withdraw her request for the leave if she wished. Meacham explained the board had not been able to rally to the support of the school staff while the warrants were outstanding. Failure of the board to take a stand earlier on Earl's thrashing led to the mass resignations.

Earl's parents alleged Mrs. Maples paddled the lanky, 101-pound youth "30 times with a board" last Wednesday after the principal already had given him a milder licking.

But principal and teacher contended they gave Earl only customary treatment with the school paddle, first, for leaving the school without authorization and later, for fibbing to get out of Mrs. Maples' room.

"Paddlings aren't prevalent at Hahra," the principal said, "but they are sometimes necessary, and when they are, we give them."

Two Pontiac area teachers have been asked to participate in a National Science Foundation summer institute at Michigan State University from June 20 to Sept. 2.

They are Charles Murphy Jr., teacher at Madison Junior High School, and Stanley W. Wareck, from Bloomfield Hills High School.

Attending the 11-week institute on the East Lansing campus will be high school and college teachers of science and mathematics from 19 states.

The institute, designed to improve the teaching of science and mathematics, will be conducted in sessions alternating with regular courses or special programs designed for their specific needs.

The radar is designed to be carried by aircraft which can over their work while flying safely over friendly territory. It makes a picture so clear that the terrain being mapped looks as if it were directly beneath the plane.

The radar has obvious implications for improved missile aiming. Most objects stand out in real size in radar images and do not merge together as closely spaced "targets."

By way of illustration, the Army pointed out how a long range of telephone poles merge together in the distance when viewed by human eyes. With the new radar, buildings stand out plainly rather than merging with surrounding areas.

The University of Michigan's Van Run laboratories developed the airborne radar device for the Army. Texas Instruments, Inc., built, put together the first four prototype models.

The Army wanted the radar to enable its battlefront commanders to keep instantly informed of tactical changes in a nuclear warfare.

But the new radar also might be a boon to any "open skies" system for peering through a disarmament pact. Militarily, it seemingly could be adapted for use in long-range bombing by missiles and aircraft.

One authority said German Field Marshall Von Rundstedt could not have built up his forces for the Battle of the Bulge in December, 1944, without such an all-weather surveillance system had been available.

He suggested no private automobiles, smaller buses, shorter taxis and flower gardens in the streets.

Sen. Morris Appoints Heads for Fund Drive

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—State Sen. Carlton Morris (R-Kalamazoo) has named Kalamazoo attorney Kenneth Long and James Anderson, president of Simon Iron & Steel Co. at Lansing, as co-chairmen of the committee to raise funds for his campaign for governor.

Morris also appointed Terry Morris, 26, as his publicity director. Miller resigned as a reporter for the Kalamazoo Gazette to take the post. He formerly worked as a newspaper man at St. Joseph and South Haven.

2 Area Teachers

Get NSF Grants

Two Pontiac area teachers have been asked to participate in a National Science Foundation summer institute at Michigan State University from June 20 to Sept. 2.

They are Charles Murphy Jr., teacher at Madison Junior High School, and Stanley W. Wareck, from Bloomfield Hills High School.

Attending the 11-week institute on the East Lansing campus will be high school and college teachers of science and mathematics from 19 states.

The institute, designed to improve the teaching of science and mathematics, will be conducted in sessions alternating with regular courses or special programs designed for their specific needs.

Charlotte M. Mrs. Ruby Thorpe, assistant Eaton County treasurer, has been named treasurer. Mrs. Thorpe was selected Monday to finish out the late Ford Twichell's term as treasurer. The term expires at the end of this year.

No reigning monarch has lived there since Queen Victoria moved to Buckingham Palace, but it has been the home of many royal red-tails—the Duchess of Kent, an aunt of the Queen, who uses it as her London residence.

The radar is designed to be carried by aircraft which can over their work while flying safely over friendly territory. It makes a picture so clear that the terrain being mapped looks as if it were directly beneath the plane.

In this respect, the new system, developed by the Army Signal Corps, outperforms the human eye, cameras and previous radar.

The radar has obvious implications for improved missile aiming. Most objects stand out in real size in radar images and do not merge together as closely spaced "targets."

By way of illustration, the Army pointed out how a long range of telephone poles merge together in the distance when viewed by human eyes. With the new radar, buildings stand out plainly rather than merging with surrounding areas.

Pledges Redress of Grievances—but Punishment

Senators Suggest the Cancel Proposed Trip to Battle-Scarred Land

SEOUL, South Korea (U)—President Syngman Rhee today pledged a redress of grievances as his soldiers smashed the last of the riotous resistance which brought this capital to the edge of revolution. New demonstrations were reported in other cities.

Sternly rebuked by the United States for his government's "repressive measures" unsuited to a free democracy, the 85-year-old President said:

"The government will devote maximum energy to the investigation of these disturbances. Those who are guilty can be assured of punishment. Those with major grievances can be certain of redress."

U. Gen. Song Yo-Chan, in charge of the emergency martial law clamped upon five cities Tuesday, said the last major groups of demonstrators had been broken up and their leaders arrested.

The wild rioting over the past two days in Seoul, climaxed by a surging march on Rhee's mansion, left a confirmed total of 32 dead and more than 300 wounded or injured, 50 of them critically.

The death toll was expected to climb.

This capital looked as if it had been through a wartime battle. Weeping crowds gathered outside Rhee's mansion, where they were bereaved families. A government consolation payment of 500,000 won—$730—was proclaimed for the bereaved.

In Washington, two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposed that President Eisenhower reconsider his plan to visit Korea June 23 as a further gesture against "repressive measures" of Syngman Rhee's government.

A third, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), disagreed.

"I think it is a good time for the President to speak up on the spot for the political rights of the Korean people, and I hope he will do so," Humphrey said.

But Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) joined Humphrey in applauding Rhee's remonstrance.

Rhee's statement, his first in nine days of anti-government demonstrations which burgeoned into Tuesday's wild violence, showed no mention of U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's suggestion that the uprisings reflected "popular dissatisfaction over the conduct of the recent election."

An uneasy calm settled over the capital while Rhee's Cabinet met on this most grave crisis since Korea became a republic 15 years ago. Tanks and soldiers guarded government buildings and major intersections.

Los Angeles Cringes at Puny Amoeba

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The announcement, "An amoeba is loose in downtown Los Angeles," sounded monstrous to unsuspecting residents.

Mothers called City Hall to ask if it was safe to send their children to school. Indignant callers wanted to know what city officials were doing about the marauding invader.

Patiently city officials explained after investigating that the "amoeba scare" was announced in jest by a local radio station. And, said officials, there was no need to worry—an amoeba is a "microscopic nucleated mass of protoplasm too small to be seen without a microscope."

TONGUE-LASHED ENVOY—South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang was given a stern rebuke by U. S. Secretary of State Christian Herter yesterday. Herter called on the government of President Syngman Rhee to "end unfair discrimination against political opponents." Yang is shown arriving for the dressing-down.

Williams Can Help Lodge Realize Judgeship Hopes

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

For once, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge is looking to Gov. Williams for help.

Lodge, a strong critic of the governor's politics and corresponding spending policies, says now that a stroke of Williams' pen may help him write the next chapter in his career.

The Republican two-term senator hopes the governor will pen his signature across the bottom of House Bill 358, which provides for a second probate judge for Oakland County.

Lodge wants that job.

County elections may, if Williams signs the bill and county supervisors call for the election, elect the second judge this November. From his Pontiac office yesterday, the lawyer has admitted that he's eyeing the judgeship more than re-election as senator or return to his private law practice, as his wife wishes.

"Why shouldn't I," he said Friday. "It concerns something that I love better than anything else—the welfare of children."

Lodge has been with the Michigan Children's Aid Society for 30 years. He was president twice. Lodge said, too, that the judgeship would mean a substantial pay hike—from $5,000 as senator to $22,500 as judge.

During last year's hectic session Lodge, like other lawmakers, bemoaned dwindling incomes caused by the added time being spent away from their businesses.

Although other incumbent county officers and legislators have announced their future political intentions, Lodge had been like the cat that swallowed the mouse.

He wouldn't definitely commit himself, though he often said he "probably" seek re-election. He expressed disappointment (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Case Is Victor in N.J.; Davis La. Governor

Senator Wins Handily; Balladeer Tops GOP Opponent, Others

By The Associated Press

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) easily weathered a conservative challenge to his renomination and balladsing Jimmie Davis won the Louisiana governorship handily in Tuesday's elections.

Case will face Democrat Thorn Lord, Mercer County (Trenton) Democratic chairman in New Jersey's Senate election in November.

Case's margin of victory over Robert Morris, former chief counsel for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, surpassed 100,000 votes.

But Morris declined to say if he would support Case in the November election despite a plea for unity from Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), the Republican national chairman.

"We fought this campaign on principles," Morris said after conceding defeat. "We lost. We're going to keep on fighting for the same principles."

It was Morris' second unsuccessful attempt to win a New Jersey Republican senatorial nomination.

He finished third in a three-way race in 1958 but got strong conservative backing in his campaign against Case.

Lord, 50, expected, won a lopsided victory over Richard M. Glassner, a Newark, N.J., attorney-seeking election to his first public office.

TO SUCCEED LONG

In Louisiana, Davis smothered three opponents including Republican Francis G. Long as governor.

Although Greenberg made the best showing for a Republican in years in Louisiana, he was outpolled by Davis by a better than 4 to 1 margin.

States Rights collaborator Kent Courtney, a New Orleans publisher, and write-in candidate Maurice W. M. E. Clark, a post-philosopher from New Orleans, ran far behind.

The cornerstone laid in 1912 will be opened, and the speeches and telegrams in it will be sold.

Commission Booms Out

The curtain came down last night on the dissension-riddled City Commission of the last two years.

It came down with a crash that hounded in the face of Robert A. Straley, assistant city manager.

And again the focal point of the eruption—Police Chief Herbert W. Straley—wasn't even in the wings.

Straley, cast in the role as manager during Walter K. Willman's Florida vacation, was threatened with firing action by Commissioner

CONSTITUTES VIOLATION

Straley reminded Straley in a letter yesterday that a change in the patrol bureau constitutes a violation of an earlier memorandum from Willman, acting as public safety director, on George D. Eschman's departure, prohibiting any major changes in policy procedures.

Straley defended his action as being within his powers as assistant city manager.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry and Landry disagreed sharply.

Landry threatened to go to Circuit Court to find out what Straley's duties are under the city charter. "Right now we have a stogie," he said.

The voting machines in Monday's municipal election, from which Straley faces possible ouster for alleged political campaigning, had just stopped clicking when the Straley rhubarb flared anew.

It was the last session of the 1959-60 City Commission. The nine one, with two new faces, meets for the first time Monday to organize.

'STOP SENDING DIRECTIVES'

Landry, a strong supporter of Straley along with Henry, strenuously objected to Straley's directive as an "attempt to crush the chief before the ink is dry on the ballots."

"I ask that we instruct Straley to stop sending these directives," he said.

"It he doesn't comply, I say we should recall Willman, and if this doesn't work, next Tuesday I'll ask that the assistant city manager be fired for managerial incompetence."

Straley acknowledged yesterday that he's compiling a list of alleged political activities by the chief during the past campaign. This could mean his dismissal upon Willman's return May 2.

Adding fuel to the three years of strife in the police force was the passage Monday of two charter amendments giving Willman nearly a free hand to boot the controversial chief.

NEW YORK (U)—Scientists are testing a new, more potent Salk vaccine that cuts the immunization dosage by two-thirds.

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

The Pontiac school system has a "program of excellence" for its some 20,000 students, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitner, superintendent of schools.

But he says the caliber will drop if the Board of Education's request for a tax increase is not approved on a May 9 ballot.

"So far," said Whitner, "the program has kept pace with increasing demands, but increasing costs and declining income have placed it in jeopardy."

The Pontiac-school system has been cited as "progressive" by many laymen and professional educators alike.

HAPPY IDENTIFICATION

Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of schools, said he is pleased the school system is identified as such.

"Our progress in construction is well known," said Proud. "We are equally proud of progress in the instructional program."

He gave evidence:

William Kath and Nick Trietsch, Pontiac Northern graduates, were two of the top three "scholars of the class" at Michigan State University Oakland.

Of 60 Pontiac Central High School students enrolled as freshmen in 1959 at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, eight were accepted in honors programs and classes, a superior achievement.

Only three of the 60 were found to leave college for scholarly difficulties, an excellent record considering that average "dropouts" range from 10 per cent upward.

Dem Platform Hearing Set May 12 in Detroit

WASHINGTON (U)—The Democratic National Committee today scheduled another public hearing on ideas for the party's 1960 platform, this one at Detroit May 12.

The topic at this session will be "the individual's stake in economic growth."

Wagner a Young 50

NEW YORK (U)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner entered his second birthday today. Asked recently how he felt about turning 50, he replied: "I thought years ago 50 was old. Now that I am just about 50, I don't feel that way any more."

Miles Cites 2 Years of Strife in Farewell

Pontiac needs another man like Harold B. Miles to "come to the front" and straighten out the troubled police department, outgoing City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles said last night.

In his "swan song" after six years on the City Commission, Miles said it has been only in the last two years that "it seems we have majored on minors."

"We have been in a constant wrangle because certain selfish interests have put themselves ahead of the best interest of our city," he didn't mention names.

"It would be a great day for Pontiac if another Harold B. Miles would come to the front and do a job for the police department as has been done at Pontiac General Hospital," Miles stated.

Miles was defeated for re-election to a fourth two-year term from District 4 in Monday's municipal election.

Following the election, Miles said his upset defeat "dirty campaign tactics." Heated dissent on the police force played a big part, he said.

In bidding Miles farewell, fellow Commissioner John A. Dugan also attributed Miles' defeat to "dirty politics."

Mayor Philip E. Rowland praised Miles for his "conscientious efforts" with the best interests of the city first and your district second.

At odds with Miles and others who opposed the firing of Herbert W. Straley, Commissioner Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry made no farewell remarks to Miles. Nor did Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

"My opposition was the battle," said the owner of a religious gift and book store, "but I predict they lost the war."

Dugan said that was "a shame" that Miles was criticized, "and all his efforts to settle the long bus strike in the city."

"Perhaps at this point I should feel sick about the turn of events, but somehow, rather, I feel like a 10-ton load had been taken off my shoulders," Miles said from a prepared speech.

"What happens to an individual commissioner is not all important, but what happens to our city is important," he added.

He called for "a position of strong leadership on the new Commission to settle matters in the police departments since voters Monday approved two charter amendments which could affect Straley and the department."

Jobless Total Lowest Since Last October

MESC Reports Idle Count Here at 2,300; Detroit Toll Rises

The Pontiac area is enjoying a healthy labor market, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today, with unemployment at its lowest point in six months.

Paul Kimball, manager of the MESC Pontiac branch, said the claims load, or number of persons filing for unemployment compensation, has dropped to 2,300 during the past week.

This represents the lowest number of people without jobs in this area since October 1959.

Unemployment tolls totaled about 4,500 at Christmas, approximately 5,000 the first week in January and had averaged 5,700 for some three months until last week's fall-off.

As the labor market picked up on this front (all of Oakland County north of 14-Mile road), unemployment in the Detroit metropolitan area rose 23,000 to a total of 114,000 from Feb. 15 to March 15.

Kimball attributed the Pontiac area success to the auto industry here and time of the year.

"Seasonal workers are going back to work," Kimball said. But other than that, this is starting out to be a good year economically.

"For the past three years, average placement has been 350 to 400 per month. This year we've been averaging about 500 people a month on jobs. We expect to get jobs for 600 people in April."

"There are quite a number of job openings in our community. There haven't been any large scale layoffs so far, as has happened at this time of the year in the past."

"In previous years, car sales dropped in the spring months. The auto industry is doing well now and the community benefits."

Kimball said his office did not foresee any large layoffs and expected the claims load to drop (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

The Pontiac school system has a "program of excellence" for its some 20,000 students, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitner, superintendent of schools.

But he says the caliber will drop if the Board of Education's request for a tax increase is not approved on a May 9 ballot.

"So far," said Whitner, "the program has kept pace with increasing demands, but increasing costs and declining income have placed it in jeopardy."

The Pontiac-school system has been cited as "progressive" by many laymen and professional educators alike.

HAPPY IDENTIFICATION

Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of schools, said he is pleased the school system is identified as such.

"Our progress in construction is well known," said Proud. "We are equally proud of progress in the instructional program."

He gave evidence:

William Kath and Nick Trietsch, Pontiac Northern graduates, were two of the top three "scholars of the class" at Michigan State University Oakland.

Of 60 Pontiac Central High School students enrolled as freshmen in 1959 at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, eight were accepted in honors programs and classes, a superior achievement.

Only three of the 60 were found to leave college for scholarly difficulties, an excellent record considering that average "dropouts" range from 10 per cent upward.

Spring to Prevail for Next 5 Days

Temperatures reaching into the upper 50s and dropping to lows near 50 are forecast during the next five days in the Pontiac area.

Thursday will be partly cloudy with a high of 72. Friday and Saturday will be cooler but Sunday will be warmer.

Precipitation will total near 1/4 inch in showers or thunderstorms Thursday night and Friday with a chance of showers again Monday.

Light southeasterly morning winds will become southerly at 15-20 m.p.h. late this afternoon and evening.

The lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 38. The mercury had climbed to 65 by 1 p.m.

'All for Campaign,' Says Leading Merchant

Backs Downtown Rejuvenation

The idea of a downtown rejuvenation campaign received "100 per cent support today from Harold S. Goldberg, a prominent businessman."

"If there are any pros and cons about the need for such a campaign, I'm sure," said Goldberg, "I shall do all I can to improve downtown."

Goldberg is president of Shaw's Jewelers, Ward's Home Outfitting Co. and Thomas Jewelry Co.

He gave specific support to two vital phases of what many downtown leaders hope will develop into an all-out drive to reshape downtown Pontiac as a retail shopping center.

The first proposal Goldberg supported was the one made last week to downtown merchants and property owners—that downtown interests embark immediately on a crash program of facelifting tired-looking store fronts.

The second is the development of a master plan for downtown under the wing of the mayor's steering committee for downtown redevelopment.

Goldberg said: "I shall do all I can to improve my own downtown properties and hope that this idea gains support quickly throughout downtown."

"The entire atmosphere of the downtown area must be rejuvenated. The atmosphere must be pleasant for the shoppers and that's going to require a lot of improvements."

"I don't know whether shoppers' malls are the answer, but we should find out."

"MERCHANTS LAX"

"Merchants—all of us merchants—have been lax. Now we must realize that customers will there. I don't feel that way any more."

There were 174 classes, clubs, and committees using the building's facilities last year.

Other statistics showed 247 children in the Pontiac "Y" summer fun club program. The Athletic Club was used by 178 members.

The "Y" reported income for 1959 of $68,899.43 and an outlay of $66,250.10, ending the year in the black by $1,649.33.

Guest speaker was John Nuveen, director of the Nuveen Investment

Firm of Chicago. A trustee of the University of Chicago, he recently completed a six-month tour of the Near and Far East.

He said Americans are inefficient spenders of millions of dollars for foreign aid "in great Communism."

"The nation is not aware that there is taking place a social and religious revolution," he said. He added that spiritual values should be stressed by Americans in the Near and Far East.

"The peoples of the awakening nations must be given religious convictions which can be translated into forms of government under which they can lead a full and free life," he said.

Entertainment was supplied by the Girls' Vocal Ensemble from Pontiac Central High School. Toastmaster for the banquet preceding the meeting was Jerry McLeod, of the Toastmasters Club.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Henry Sawyer, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Moore Zips 109 Miles in Day

Runs Last 40 Going to Lovelock, Nev.; Loses Bag-Toting Escort

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore, British veterinarian who walked and ran 109 miles yesterday, is tiring out her continental hie without an escort.

"I'll have to carry my own bag now," she said. "This slows down my pace as I can swing only one arm."

David Solomon, a salesman from New York, left the bag in Lovelock with Marie Jean, an Associated Press correspondent. Solomon said Dr. Moore refused to endorse his firm's vegetable juice extracting machine and that he was quitting the venture.

Dr. Moore, 56, said she could not "in good conscience" endorse the product commercially. "Our arrangements were unworkable. They were made hurriedly," she said.

"I may overtake those soldiers tomorrow," she said, after running the last 40 miles into Lovelock. She was on the road 17 hours.

British Sigs. Patrick Molefy and Mervyn Evans, who left San Francisco a day ahead of Dr. Moore, are 53 miles ahead of her. All three Britons hope to better the 73-day record for a hike across the United States.

Despite Stier's assurances, commissioners agreed, since the question has been raised, to postpone final approval until next Tuesday so City Attorney William A. Ewart could check the law and Stier, could hold consultations.

Stier said this still would provide a deadline for getting the plan off to Chicago.

Chessman Cellblock Idol

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Caryl Chessman may die in California's gas chamber May 2, but he'll live forever in cellblock jurisprudence.

That's the opinion expressed Tuesday by Westerns from 27 states at the annual convention of the West-Central Wardens' Assn.

Chessman, they said, has superseded famed attorney Clarence Darrow as the idol of every jail-house lawyer in the land.

"Every art bug has studied up and passed the behind-bar exam, it seems," said Warden Frank Eymann of the Arizona State Prison.

"They'll write a writ of habeas corpus for a pack of cigarettes, and start a federal appeal for two or three packs."

That lack of financial backing prevents him from seeking "the job I wanted above everything else," U. S. Senator.

Early in the February, Rep. Farrell E. Roberts introduced a bill in the House calling for the second jurist to lessen the load on veteran Proctor Judge Arthur E. Moore, a Republican. Roberts' bill would like a bill to introduce in the Senate.

Lodge, however, insists he gave no thought at the time to the possible opening on the bench.

Roberts' measure emerged yesterday, 1924 in the lower chamber, and 31.0 in the Senate. The Waterford Township senator helped gain the Senate passage both on Roberts' bill and his companion measure, which was approved by 26-6 vote.

Gov. Williams now has until 11:45 a.m. Saturday to sign the bill. It could become law without his signature after the 10-day waiting period.

Meanwhile, Lodge, a former assistant attorney general and Oakland prosecutor, is patiently waiting word from Lansing.

Another possibility is that the governor, disturbed that he didn't get an earlier opportunity to appoint an interim judge, might veto the measure.

"He'd be a stinker if he did," Lodge declared. He said it is in his plan he should have done it while the Legislature was still in session. It's adjourned until May 11.

A veto could be overridden by two-thirds vote of both chambers. Lodge said, this, however, probably wouldn't come in time so the Board of Supervisors could move to put the proposition on the ballot for the non-partisan to meet a June 14 filing deadline.

One county Republican feared some local Democrats, maybe even the state's new major party, might have a chance electing their candidate to the non-partisan post in this Republican - strong county, might convince Williams to veto the bill.

At tonight's GOP county convention in Pontiac, Lodge plans no announcement of his future plans. He's billed as a speaker.

His official announcement will come Monday, he said.

"If that is the plan," he said, to decide is David R. Calhoun, Huntington Woods mayor who, observers say, could give Lodge probably the toughest primary battle for the nomination.

He decides to seek re-election.

Giving priority to the judgeship over the state's new major party, the potential fight, the cigar-smoking lawmaker insists.

"I've always had a fight," he declared.

Nor, he added, did the fact that the Democrats, who placed him high on the list of "get-it-out-of-their-system" candidates, to place him in the judgeship over re-election, if that is his final choice.

"You've never seen me back away from a fight yet," he replied. "If that is the plan, I'll be in there pitching all the harder to show them where the bell went through the backwater."

Most of Nation Gets Typical Spring Weather

By The Associated Press

Typical spring weather prevailed across the nation today.

There were some showery, windy and cool spots but skies were clear and temperatures around normal in most of the country.

Rain fell in western Washington and northwest Oregon but amounts were under one inch in most places. In the Southeast, rain was drenched by a thunderstorm, with nearly two inches of rain in a brief period. Foggy winds accompanied the showers.

Strong winds also swept the plains, reaching 50 m.p.h. in some areas.

Light rain sprinkled parts of the western plains, central Rockies, northern Idaho and northern Lake Michigan. Snow flurries fell in northern Maine.

UNICEF Stages Basic Food Demonstration
Society Nibbles on Fish Crackers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rich foods made with basic products readily available in underdeveloped nations.

The fish-flour crackers are only one of these basic products. Fish flour, now being made near Valparaiso, Chile, also is used in breads and stews to supplement the diets of more than 300,000 Chilean school children.

Its advantage is its abundance.

Behind the demonstration and development of the foods was the theory that most of the world's population is not making effective use of nourishing food right at its doorstep.

UNICEF officials said that of the one billion children, nearly 750,000,000 live in underdeveloped areas and do not get a proper diet.

Police in Africa Arrest 345 More
Raid Negro Village for 2nd Time, Send 271 to Prison Tuesday

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Two hundred police supported by armored cars raided the Duncan Village Negro settlement near the Indian Ocean port of East London today and arrested 345 Negroes.

It was the second big raid on Duncan Village in three days and brought the number of arrests there since Monday to 725. In an 11-hour trial Tuesday, an East London court sentenced 271 Negroes to prison terms of various lengths.

Police say the raids are to clean out Negroes who have burned their passbooks in defiance of government regulations, agitators used to incite violation of race regulations, looters and illegal residents who are not employed in East London.

The raids also were considered a government move to prevent the week-long work stoppage which the outlawed African National Congress tried to launch this week. Most nonwhites went to work under the watchful eyes of police Tuesday and the boycott fizzled.

Failure of the work stoppage heightened calls from liberal white elements for an end to the emergency regulations, under which the government raids the Negro settlements without search warrants and is holding hundreds in jail indefinitely. Among those held is David Pratt, wealthy white English-born farmer who tried to assassinate Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd April 9.

WON'T PERMIT MAKERS TO SET BOTTOM PRICES
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee has turned thumbs down on a controversial bill to permit manufacturers to set minimum retail prices for brand-name merchandise.

The committee took its stand in the face of lobbying pressure from the legislation from druggists, hardware dealers, jewelers, other independent retailers and some oil companies.

That New Star Is Just the Fellow Next Door

By JAMES RACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One way to make your son famous is to see that he's born and reared in a certain neighborhood of South Philadelphia.

That intelligence came after a chat with Frankie Avalon and Fabian, the teen-agers' delights. Both come from the same neighborhood in South Philadelphia that produced Eddie Fisher, the late Mario Lanza, James Darren, Bobby Rydell, Al Martino, Buddy Greco and Jody Sands.

"All of us come from an eight-block radius," says Fabian. Avalon adds, "It's the only place in the country where mothers ask: 'How's your son's record doing?'"

Although Fabian and Avalon compete for the same rock 'n' roll dollar, they are the best of friends—even share an apartment here.

"We're just old neighbors," says Fabian. Avalon is 19 and Fabian has just turned 17.

Both boys are doing very well in pictures. Avalon was in "Guns of the Timberland" with Alan Ladd and just finished "The Alamo" with John Wayne.

Wayne calls him one of the finest young acting discoveries in recent years. "They'll forget him as a rock 'n' roll singer when they see this picture," says Big Duke.

Fabian is making a movie with Bing Crosby, who might be called the Frankie Avalon of Fabian of 1950.

Fabian says Bing is one swell guy but he's not his favorite singer. Who's that?

Avalon's favorite is Frank Sinatra.

"I got every record he ever made. No one can sing worse like he does. Phrasing, that's the key to selling records."

Fabian still going to high school, also studies acting with Sandy Meisner, the famed coach. He is an honest recording star, one of the few to admit he hasn't sold his first million record yet. "I had a couple around 800,000 but that's the closest."

Chrysler Plans to Add Compact

Colbert Tells Stock Confab Smaller Dodge Due in Fall

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., last of the auto builders to produce a compact car, will have a second such car for sale this fall by Dodge dealers.

L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, confirmed persistent reports about a smaller Dodge at yesterday's annual company meeting.

He gave no details and his announcement provoked neither applause nor comment from the 300 shareholders who attended.

M. C. Patterson, general manager of Dodge Division, told the Associated Press last December Dodge had such a car and was only waiting for an appropriate time to market it.

FEELS MARKET RIPE

Colbert left no doubt that the corporation feels the market is ripe for additional economy models.

He said more than 72 per cent of all domestic cars sold during the first three months of this year were in the Plymouth-Dart-Valet price range.

The smaller Dodge, still officially unnamed, has been described by the trade press as a luxury version of the Valiant. One name most frequently heard for the car is the Lancer.

Dodge Division has been booming this year on the strength of the lower-priced Dart, which basically is a Plymouth with different exterior styling.

Colbert admitted yesterday some of Dart's success has come at the expense of the larger Dodges.

Colbert Blunts Minor Revolt

Promises Chrysler Will Be 'in the Black' by End of Year

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. President L. E. Colbert blunted a minority stockholder revolt yesterday, and promised a brighter future for the company.

Colbert told the company's stockholder meeting that Chrysler would "definitely be in the black" at the end of the current quarter and said steps were being taken to keep it that way.

A minor revolt against Colbert's leadership was sparked by Detroit attorney S. A. Dunn, largely because the company last month during the past two years.

Dunn accused Colbert and other Chrysler board members of nepotism, mismanagement, and awarding contracts at excessive cost in exchange for personal gifts and favors.

But Colbert blamed the company's troubles in the last two years on supplier difficulties, expenses involved in improving its products in 1959 and a "profit margin squeeze brought about by the present economy market."

After listening to both presentations, stockholders voted 7,543, 000 to 20,501 to retain all members of the present board.

They voted 5,564,000 to 663,000 against changing the method of voting for board members, a proposal which was sponsored by the insurgents.

About 81 per cent of the 8,786,300 shares outstanding were voted in person or by proxy at the meeting attended by 300 shareholders.

Truck Buckles; Royal Oak Girl Injured Slightly

Diane D. Dresselhouse was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Her mother, Mrs. Carol P. Dresselhouse, 36, of 807 Orchard Grove Rd., was driving.

The truck driver was Michael Tomlinson, 30, of Flint, said troops.

Public Controls Wealth, He Says

No Capitalism in America, Romney Tells Newsmen

MILWAUKEE (AP)—George Romney, Republican vice-presidential pick, said today that there is no capitalism in America and that the country is headed for a socialist future.

Romney, addressing the fourth annual Gridiron Dinner of the Milwaukee Press Club, said, "In my judgment we do not have capitalism in this country—the power of the wealth is dispersed, as well as distributed as political power." Romney is president of American Motors Corp.

"Although he has been called a possible Republican candidate either vice president of the United States, U.S. senator from Michigan or governor of Michigan, Romney singled out President Dwight Eisenhower for some of his sharpest criticism.

Referring to the President's South American tour, in which Eisenhower frequently spoke of "one system of capitalism," Romney said, "This is ridiculous."

He added, "Economic power is political power and we have made the people beneficiaries of our economic system."

"We desperately need a new word to communicate the fact that our economic power is in the hands of the people, just as is the political power."

"We are not free to do as we please," he said. "That is absolutely a false premise. We have the obligations of our beliefs—to our creator, to our concept of the brotherhood of man, to the form of government we believe in."

Describing the United States as an island of prosperity in a starving world, Romney said, "It is a fact that Khrushchev and the Communists will pick up our agricultural technology and our opportunity."

"We are a sitting duck for anyone who wants to pick up our technology and feed the hungry of the world while we sit surrounded by our surplus."

Romney said that the United States has about 3,000 islands.

Plans Gas, Oil Concessions at Airport

Tentative approval was voiced last night of a new gas and oil concessions agreement for the booming business at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

City commissioners instructed Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer to return agreements on the plan and prepare them for final approval next week.

It would take from the city the responsibility of dispensing gasoline and oil to planes, a business which is expected to multiply as developments at the local field attract larger aircraft, Stierer explained.

U.S. Offered Building for Ike's Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Eisenhower Presidential Library Commission of the State of Kansas has offered the United States a $3 million dollar building to hold the public documents and papers of the President.

The offer came to light as Franklin Floete, head of the General Services Administration, sent Congress a report on the library. Under law, the United States cannot accept title to the library until the report has been before Congress for 60 days.

The report also included a copy of a letter from Eisenhower stating he would give "several million documents" to the library.

The President said some of the documents would be held by the library under seal until enough time had elapsed to erase the need for secrecy.

The library, scheduled for completion by Jan. 30, 1961, is located on a nine-acre tract next to the Eisenhower Museum in Abilene, Kan. Both buildings are close to the boyhood home of the President.

The 55,000 square foot structure will be built of Kansas limestone, have marble floors, and ornamental bronze doors and windows.

Built by private contributions, the library will be maintained by the National Archives at an estimated annual cost of $165,000.
